a year of retribution,[h] to uphold Zion's cause.
9 Edom's streams will be turned into pitch, her dust into burning sulfur;[i] her land will become blazing pitch!
10 It will not be quenched[j] night and day;
its smoke will rise forever.[k]
From generation to generation[l] it will lie desolate;[m] no one will ever pass through it again.

11 The desert owl[y][n] and screech owl[y] will possess it;
the great owl[y] and the raven[o] will nest there.
God will stretch out over Edom[p]
the measuring line of chaos[q] and the plumb line[r] of desolation.
12 Her nobles will have nothing there to be called a kingdom, all her princes[s] will vanish[t] away.
13 Thorns[u] will overrun her citadels, nettles and brambles her strongholds.[v]
She will become a haunt for jackals,[w] a home for owls.[x]
14 Desert creatures[y] will meet with hyenas,[z] and wild goats will bleat to each other;
there the night creatures[a] will also repose and find for themselves places of rest.
15 The owl will nest there and lay eggs, she will hatch them, and care for her young under the shadow of her wings;[b] there also the falcons[c] will gather, each with its mate.

16 Look in the scroll[d] of the LORD and read:

None of these will be missing,[e] not one will lack her mate.
For it is his mouth[f] that has given the order,[g]
and his Spirit will gather them together.

34:5 drunk its fill. Cf. Eze 39:18–20. Edom. Symbolic of all the enemies of God and his people, like Moab in 25:10–12. See note on 21:11. The Edomites were driven from their homeland by the Nabatean Arabs, perhaps as early as 500 B.C.

34:6 fat. Considered the best part of the meat, and therefore offered to the Lord in the sacrifices (see Lev 3:9–11). lambs and goats. Symbolizing the people. sacrifice. Battles are often compared to sacrifices (see Jer 46:10; 50:27; Eze 39:17–19). Bozrah. An important city of Edom and a sheep-herding center, it was located about 25 miles southeast of the southern end of the Dead Sea. The name means "grape-gathering" (cf. 63:1–3).

34:7 wild oxen ... great bulls. Symbolizing the troops and/or leaders of the nations. drenched with blood. See v. 3.

34:8 day of vengeance. See 35:4; 61:2. The Edomites opposed Israel at every opportunity (see 2Sa 8:13–14) and rejoiced when Jerusalem was destroyed (La 4:21; Ps 137:7). But Edom's day would come (see 63:4).

34:9 burning sulfur. Edom's destruction is compared with the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah (see Jer 49:17–18). See also 1:31 and note; Ge 19:24 and note.

34:10 smoke ... forever. Applied to Babylon in Rev 19:3 (see also Rev 14:10–11). lie desolate. See 13:20–22 and note; Mal 1:3–4.

34:11 desert owl ... screech owl ... great owl ... raven. "Unclean" birds (see Dt 14:14–17). Such birds would also live in the ruins of Babylon (13:21) and Nineveh (Zep 2:14). measuring line ... plumb line. See 28:17 and note. chaos ... desolation. The Hebrew for these words is used in Ge 1:2 (see note there) to describe the earth in its "formless" and "empty" state (see also Jer 4:23 and note).

34:13 Thorns ... nettles. Cf. 7:24–25.

34:14 Desert creatures ... hyenas. See 13:21–22. wild goats. Sometimes connected with demons (see note on 13:21). night creatures. Outside the Bible a related Semitic word refers to a "night demon."

34:15 owl ... falcons. Ceremonially unclean (see v. 11 and note; Dt 14:13,15–17).

34:16 scroll. After the destruction of Edom, people will read this prophecy given by Isaiah. these. The creatures just listed.

17 He allots their portions;[h] his hand distributes them by measure.
They will possess it forever and dwell there from generation to generation.[i]

Joy of the Redeemed

35 The desert[j] and the parched land will be glad;
the wilderness will rejoice and blossom.[k]
Like the crocus,[l] 2 it will burst into bloom;
it will rejoice greatly and shout for joy.[m]
The glory of Lebanon[n] will be given to it, the splendor of Carmel[o] and Sharon;[p]
they will see the glory[q] of the LORD, the splendor of our God.[r]

3 Strengthen the feeble hands, steady the knees[s] that give way;
4 say[t] to those with fearful hearts,[u]
"Be strong, do not fear;[v] your God will come,[w] he will come with vengeance;[x] with divine retribution
he will come to save[y] you."

5 Then will the eyes of the blind be opened[z] and the ears of the deaf[a] unstopped.
6 Then will the lame[b] leap like a deer,[c] and the mute tongue[d] shout for joy.[e]
Water will gush forth in the wilderness and streams[f] in the desert.
7 The burning sand will become a pool,
the thirsty ground[g] bubbling springs.[h]
In the haunts where jackals[i] once lay, grass and reeds[j] and papyrus will grow.

8 And a highway[k] will be there;
it will be called the Way of Holiness.[l]
The unclean[m] will not journey on it;
it will be for those who walk in that Way;
wicked fools will not go about on it.[z]
9 No lion[n] will be there, nor will any ferocious beast[o] get up on it;
they will not be found there.
But only the redeemed[p] will walk there,
10 and the ransomed[q] of the LORD will return.
They will enter Zion with singing;[r] everlasting joy[s] will crown their heads.
Gladness[t] and joy will overtake them,
and sorrow and sighing will flee away.[u]

[z] 8 Or / the simple will not stray from it

34:17 allots their portions. God will give the creatures of vv. 11,13–15 clear title to the land of Edom.

35:1 desert ... will be glad. The personification of nature is common in Isaiah (see 33:9; 44:23; 55:12). wilderness. The Arabah (see note on 33:9). crocus. See NIV text note on SS 2:1.

35:2 rejoice ... shout for joy. See 54:1. Lebanon ... Carmel ... Sharon. Fertile areas renowned for their beautiful trees and foliage (see note on 33:9). glory of the LORD. In the great transformation just announced. See 6:3 and note.

35:4 Be strong, do not fear. Cf. God's words of encouragement to Joshua in Jos 1:6–7,9,18. God will come. Similar language is used of the coming of the Messiah (see 62:11; cf. Rev 22:12). vengeance ... retribution. See note on 34:8.

35:5 eyes ... ears. See 29:18; 32:3; 42:7 and notes. Spiritual and physical healing are also linked together in Christ's ministry (see Mt 11:5).

35:6 lame leap ... mute tongue shout. Signs of the Messianic age (see Mt 12:22; Ac 3:7–8). Water ... streams. See 32:2 and note. Cf. God's provision of water in Ex 17:6; 2Ki 3:15–20.

35:7 springs. Cf. 41:18. reeds and papyrus. Plants that grow in marshes and lakes (cf. 19:6–7).

35:8 highway. A road built up to make travel easier (see 11:16; 40:3 and notes). the Way of Holiness. The way set apart for those who are holy; only the redeemed (v. 9) could use it. In ancient times, certain roads between temples were open only to those who were ceremonially pure.

35:9 lion ... beast. Sometimes wild animals made travel dangerous (see Dt 8:15; Jdg 14:5). redeemed. Those the Lord has delivered from bondage (cf. 1:27; 51:10; 62:12; Lev 25:47–48; Dt 7:8).

35:10 Repeated verbatim in 51:11. enter Zion with singing. As the Israelites did when they returned from Babylonian exile (see Ps 126). overtake them. They will be pursued, not by wild animals (v. 9) but by gladness and joy (cf. Ps 23:6). sorrow ... will flee. Cf. 25:8; 65:19.

36:1–39:8 Much of chs. 36–39 is paralleled, sometimes verbatim, in 2Ki 18:13–20:19. The compiler of 2 Kings may have used Isa 36–39 as one of his sources, or both may have drawn on a common source. Chs. 36–37 describe the fulfillment of many predictions about Assyria's collapse, while chs. 38–39 point toward the Babylonian context of chs. 40–66.

36:1 fourteenth year of ... Hezekiah's reign. 701 B.C., the 14th year of his sole reign. Hezekiah ruled as sole fied cities of Judah and captured them.[x] 2Then the king of Assyria sent his field commander with a large army from Lachish[y] to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem. When the commander stopped at the aqueduct of the Upper Pool, on the road to the Washerman's Field,[z] 3Eliakim[a] son of Hilkiah the palace administrator,[b] Shebna[c] the secretary,[d] and Joah[e] son of Asaph the recorder[f] went out to him.

" 'This is what the great king, the king of Assyria, says: On what are you basing this confidence of yours? 5You say you have strategy and military strength—but you speak only empty words. On whom are you depending, that you rebel[g] against me? 6Look now, you are depending[h] on Egypt,[i j] that splintered reed[k] of a staff, which pierces a man's hand and wounds him if he leans on it! Such is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who depend on him. 7And if you say to me, "We are depending[l] on the LORD our God"—isn't he the one whose high places and altars Hezekiah removed,[m] saying to Judah and Jerusalem, "You must worship before this altar"?[n]

8" 'Come now, make a bargain with my master, the king of Assyria: I will give you two thousand horses[o]—if you can put riders on them! 9How then can you repulse one officer of the least of my master's officials, even though you are depending on Egypt[p] for chariots[q] and horsemen?[r] 10Furthermore, have I come to attack and destroy this land without the LORD? The LORD himself told[s] me to march against this country and destroy it.' "

11Then Eliakim, Shebna and Joah[t] said to the field commander, "Please speak to your servants in Aramaic,[u] since we understand it. Don't speak to us in Hebrew in the hearing of the people on the wall."

12But the commander replied, "Was it only to your master and you that my master sent me to say these things, and not to the men sitting on the wall—who, like you, will have to eat their own filth and drink their own urine?[v]"

13Then the commander stood and called out in Hebrew,[w] "Hear the words of the great king, the king of Assyria![x] 14This is what the king says: Do not let Hezekiah deceive[y] you. He cannot deliver you! 15Do not let Hezekiah persuade you to trust in the LORD when he says, 'The LORD will surely deliver[z] us; this city will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria.'[a]

16"Do not listen to Hezekiah. This is what the king of Assyria says: Make peace with me and come out to me. Then every one of you will eat from his own vine and fig tree[b] and drink water from his own cistern,[c] 17until I come and take you to a land like your own[d]—a land of grain and new wine,[e] a land of bread and vineyards.

18"Do not let Hezekiah mislead you when he says, 'The LORD will deliver us.' Has the god of any nation ever delivered his land from the hand of the king of Asking from 715 to 686 but was a co-regent from c. 729 (see note on 2Ki 18:1). Sennacherib. Reigned over Assyria from 705 to 681. all the ... cities. In his annals Sennacherib lists 46 such cities (see note on 2Ki 18:13).

36:2 large army. Cf. 37:36. Lachish. An important city about 30 miles southwest of Jerusalem that guarded the main approach to Judah's capital from that quarter (see Jer 34:7). aqueduct ... Field. See 7:3 and note; see also note on 2Ki 18:17.

36:3 Eliakim. See 22:20–21 and notes. palace administrator. In charge of the palace (see 22:15 and note). Shebna. See 22:15 and note. secretary. Perhaps equivalent to secretary of state (see Jer 36:12; see also note on 2Sa 8:17). recorder. An official position also associated elsewhere with "secretary" (see 1Ki 4:3). See also note on 2Sa 8:16.

36:5 rebel. By refusing to pay the expected tribute (see 2Ki 17:4; 18:7).

36:6 Egypt. Hezekiah had been under pressure to make an alliance with Egypt since 715 B.C. or earlier (see 20:5; 30:1 and notes). splintered reed. Egypt is compared to a reed again in Eze 29:6–7. Such is Pharaoh. Cf. 30:3,7.

36:7 high places and altars. Hezekiah had destroyed these popular shrines often dedicated to Baal worship (see note on 2Ki 18:4; see also 2Ch 31:1). this altar. In Solomon's temple.

36:8 two thousand horses. A sizable number for any army. Horses and chariots were highly prized (see note on 30:16). if you can put riders on them! See note on 2Ki 18:23. riders. Probably charioteers, since cavalry was not employed by these nations this early (see v. 9).

36:10 The LORD ... told me. The Lord had used Assyria to punish Israel (see 10:5–6), but now it was Assyria's turn to be judged. Pharaoh Neco claimed God's approval on his mission according to 2Ch 35:21.

36:11 Eliakim ... Joah. See v. 3 and note. Aramaic. The diplomatic language of that day (see note on 2Ki 18:26). Don't speak ... in Hebrew. The officials feared that the commander's speech might damage the people's morale.

36:12 eat ... filth ... drink ... urine. A crude way of describing the horrors of famine if Jerusalem was to be besieged (cf. 2Ki 6:25). Contrast v. 16.

36:14 deceive you. Cf. 37:10.

36:16 own vine and fig tree. Symbols of security and prosperity in the best of times (see 1Ki 4:25; Mic 4:4).

36:17 come and take you. The Assyrians deported rebellious peoples to reduce their will to revolt (see 2Ki 15:29; 17:6). grain and new wine. Two of the staples of Israel (cf. Dt 28:51; Hag 1:11).

36:18–20 The commander's words echo the boasts of the proud Assyrians in 10:8–11. See note on 2Ki 18:33–35.

syria? 19Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad?[f] Where are the gods of Sepharvaim?[g] Have they rescued Samaria[h] from my hand? 20Who of all the gods[i] of these countries has been able to save his land from me? How then can the LORD deliver Jerusalem from my hand?"[j]

21But the people remained silent and said nothing in reply, because the king had commanded, "Do not answer him."[k]

22Then Eliakim[l] son of Hilkiah the palace administrator, Shebna the secretary, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder[m] went to Hezekiah, with their clothes torn,[n] and told him what the field commander had said.

Jerusalem's Deliverance Foretold

37 When King Hezekiah heard this, he tore his clothes[o] and put on sackcloth[p] and went into the temple[q] of the LORD. 2He sent Eliakim[r] the palace administrator, Shebna[s] the secretary, and the leading priests, all wearing sackcloth, to the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz.[t] 3They told him, "This is what Hezekiah says: This day is a day of distress[u] and rebuke and disgrace, as when children come to the point of birth[v] and there is no strength to deliver them. 4It may be that the LORD your God will hear the words of the field commander, whom his master, the king of Assyria, has sent to ridicule[w] the living God,[x] and that he will rebuke him for the words the LORD your God has heard.[y] Therefore pray[z] for the remnant[a] that still survives."

5When King Hezekiah's officials came to Isaiah, 6Isaiah said to them, "Tell your master, 'This is what the LORD says: Do not be afraid[b] of what you have heard—those words with which the underlings of the king of Assyria have blasphemed[c] me. 7Listen! I am going to put a spirit[d] in him so that when he hears a certain report,[e] he will return to his own country, and there I will have him cut down[f] with the sword.' "

9Now Sennacherib[i] received a report[j] that Tirhakah, the Cushite[ak] king ⌊of Egypt⌋, was marching out to fight against him. When he heard it, he sent messengers to Hezekiah with this word: 10"Say to Hezekiah king of Judah: Do not let the god you depend on deceive[l] you when he says, 'Jerusalem will not be handed over to the king of Assyria.'[m] 11Surely you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the countries, destroying them completely. And will you be delivered?[n] 12Did the gods of the nations that were destroyed by my forefathers[o] deliver them—the gods of Gozan, Haran,[p] Rezeph and the people of Eden[q] who were in Tel Assar? 13Where is the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad,[r] the king of the city of Sepharvaim,[s] or of Hena or Ivvah?"[t]

36:19 Hamath and Arpad. See 10:9 and note. Sepharvaim. Probably located in northern Aram (Syria) not far from Hamath. Residents of Sepharvaim were deported to Samaria, though they still worshiped the gods Adrammelech and Anammelech. See 2Ki 17:24,31. Samaria. The Assyrians assumed that each people had its own gods and so did not associate the God of Judah with that of Samaria.

36:21 people remained silent. The Assyrians had hoped that the masterful psychology of vv. 4–20 would produce panic.

36:22 See v. 3 and note. clothes torn. See note on 2Ki 18:37.

37:1 clothes ... sackcloth. See Ge 37:34 and note; see also note on 2Ki 18:37. temple. Designated as a place of prayer by Solomon (see 1Ki 8:33). The Assyrian references to Hezekiah's dependence on the Lord (36:7,15,18) were true.

37:2 Eliakim ... Shebna. See note on 36:3. leading priests. See note on 2Ki 19:2. Isaiah son of Amoz. See note on 1:1. Prophet, priests and king join in supplication.

37:3 day of distress. See 5:30; 26:16; 33:2 and notes. point of birth. An even more vivid description than that of the pains of childbirth (see 13:8 and note).

37:4 ridicule. The Hebrew is translated "insult" in vv. 17,23–24. pray. See note on 2Ki 19:4. remnant. Jerusalem was left almost alone (see 36:1 and notes on 1:9; 2Ki 19:4; see also 10:20–22).

37:6 Do not be afraid. Cf. 7:4; see 35:4 and note.

37:7 spirit. Perhaps a compulsion or a disposition (cf. 1Ch 5:26). report. See note on 2Ki 19:7. return ... cut down with the sword. See vv. 37–38.

37:8 Lachish. See note on 36:2. Libnah. See note on 2Ki 8:22; see also Jos 10:31.

37:9 Tirhakah, the Cushite king. In 701 B.C. he was actually a prince (the brother of the new pharaoh Shebitku, who sent him with an army to help Hezekiah withstand the Assyrian invasion); he did not become king until 690. But this part of Isaiah was not written before 681 (see note on v. 38), so it was natural to speak of Tirhakah as king. See 18:1 and note.

37:10 god ... deceive. See 36:14–15,18. The message of vv. 10–13 is similar to that of 36:18–20 (see note there).

37:12 Gozan. A city in northern Mesopotamia to which some of the Israelites had been deported by the Assyrians (see 2Ki 17:6). Haran. A city west of Gozan where Abraham lived for a number of years (see Ge 11:31 and note). Rezeph. A city between Haran and the Euphrates River. Eden. The state of Bit Adini, located between the Euphrates and Balikh rivers (see note on 2Ki 19:12).

37:13 Hamath ... Arpad. See 10:9 and note. Sepharvaim. See 36:19 and note.

Hezekiah's Prayer

14Hezekiah received the letter[u] from the messengers and read it. Then he went up to the temple[v] of the LORD and spread it out before the LORD. 15And Hezekiah prayed[w] to the LORD: 16"O LORD Almighty, God of Israel, enthroned[x] between the cherubim,[y] you alone are God[z] over all the kingdoms[a] of the earth. You have made heaven and earth.[b] 17Give ear, O LORD, and hear;[c] open your eyes, O LORD, and see;[d] listen to all the words Sennacherib[e] has sent to insult[f] the living God.[g]

18"It is true, O LORD, that the Assyrian kings have laid waste all these peoples and their lands.[h] 19They have thrown their gods into the fire[i] and destroyed them,[j] for they were not gods[k] but only wood and stone, fashioned by human hands.[l] 20Now, O LORD our God, deliver[m] us from his hand, so that all kingdoms on earth[n] may know that you alone, O LORD, are God.[bo]"

Sennacherib's Fall

37:21–38pp — 2Ki 19:20–37; 2Ch 32:20–21

21Then Isaiah son of Amoz[p] sent a message to Hezekiah: "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Because you have prayed to me concerning Sennacherib king of Assyria, 22this is the word the LORD has spoken against him:

"The Virgin Daughter[q] of Zion[r] despises and mocks you.
The Daughter of Jerusalem tosses her head[s] as you flee.
23Who is it you have insulted and blasphemed?[t]
Against whom have you raised your voice[u]
and lifted your eyes in pride?[v]
Against the Holy One[w] of Israel!
24By your messengers you have heaped insults on the Lord.
And you have said,
'With my many chariots[x]
I have ascended the heights of the mountains,
the utmost heights[y] of Lebanon.[z]
I have cut down its tallest cedars, the choicest of its pines.[a]
I have reached its remotest heights,
the finest of its forests.
25I have dug wells in foreign lands[c]
and drunk the water there.
With the soles of my feet
I have dried up[b] all the streams of Egypt.[c]'

26"Have you not heard?
Long ago I ordained[d] it.
In days of old I planned[e] it;
now I have brought it to pass,
that you have turned fortified cities into piles of stone.[f] 27Their people, drained of power, are dismayed and put to shame.
They are like plants in the field,
like tender green shoots,
like grass[g] sprouting on the roof,[h] scorched[d] before it grows up.

28"But I know where you stay and when you come and go[i] and how you rage[j] against me.
29Because you rage against me and because your insolence[k] has reached my ears,
I will put my hook[l] in your nose[m]
and my bit in your mouth, and I will make you return
by the way you came.[n]

37:25 dug wells. Desert lands could not stop him. dried up all the streams. The branches of the Nile were no obstacle either. This boast was almost a claim to deity. See 11:15; 44:27 and notes.

30"This will be the sign[o] for you,
O Hezekiah:

"This year[p] you will eat what grows
by itself,
and the second year what springs from that.
But in the third year[q] sow and reap, plant vineyards[r] and eat their fruit.[s]
31Once more a remnant of the house of Judah will take root[t] below and bear fruit[u] above.
32For out of Jerusalem will come a remnant,[v] and out of Mount Zion a band of survivors.[w]
The zeal[x] of the LORD Almighty will accomplish this.

33"Therefore this is what the LORD says concerning the king of Assyria:

"He will not enter this city[y] or shoot an arrow here.
He will not come before it with shield or build a siege ramp[z] against it.
34By the way that he came he will return;[a] he will not enter this city,"
declares the LORD.
35"I will defend[b] this city and save it, for my sake[c] and for the sake of David[d] my servant!"

36Then the angel[e] of the LORD went out and put to death[f] a hundred and eighty-five thousand men in the Assyrian[g] camp. When the people got up the next morning—there were all the dead bodies! 37So Sennacherib[h] king of Assyria broke camp and withdrew. He returned to Nineveh[i] and stayed there.

38One day, while he was worshiping in the temple[j] of his god Nisroch, his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer cut him down with the sword, and they escaped to the land of Ararat.[k] And Esarhaddon[l] his son succeeded him as king.[m]

Hezekiah's Illness

38 In those days Hezekiah became ill and was at the point of death. The prophet Isaiah son of Amoz[n] went to him and said, "This is what the LORD says: Put your house in order,[o] because you are going to die; you will not recover."[p]

2Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD, 3"Remember, O LORD, how I have walked[q] before you faithfully and with wholehearted devotion[r] and have done what is good in your eyes.[s]" And Hezekiah wept[t] bitterly.

4Then the word[u] of the LORD came to Isaiah: 5"Go and tell Hezekiah, 'This is what the LORD, the God of your father David,[v] says: I have heard your prayer and seen your tears;[w] I will add fifteen years[x] to your life. 6And I will deliver you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria. I will defend[y] this city.

7" 'This is the LORD's sign[z] to you that the LORD will do what he has promised: 8I will make the shadow cast by the sun go back the ten steps it has gone down on the stairway of Ahaz.' " So the sunlight went back the ten steps it had gone down.[a]

9A writing of Hezekiah king of Judah after his illness and recovery:

10I said, "In the prime of my life[b]

38:8 [a] Jos 10:13 38:10 [b] Ps 102:24

37:30 sign. See 7:11,14 and notes. what grows by itself. See note on 2Ki 19:29. second ... third year. See note on 2Ki 19:29. Probably the second year was to begin shortly, so the total time was less than 36 months. Another three-year sign was given in 20:3. plant vineyards and eat. The response to Assyria's proposal in 36:16 (see note there).

37:31–32 remnant. See notes on v. 4; 1:9; 2Ki 19:4,30–31.

37:31 take root ... bear fruit. See 4:2; 11:1,10; 27:6 and notes.

37:32 The zeal ... this. See 9:7 and note.

37:33 siege ramp. To help the invaders bring up battering rams and scale the walls (see 2Sa 20:15).

37:35 sake of David. God had promised David an enduring throne in Jerusalem (see 9:7; 55:3; 2Sa 7:16).

37:36 angel of the LORD ... put to death. Cf. the striking down of the firstborn in Egypt (Ex 12:12) and the angel's sword poised against Jerusalem (2Sa 24:16). The Greek historian Herodotus attributed this destruction to a bubonic plague. The death of these soldiers fulfills the prophecies of 10:33–34; 30:31; 31:8.

37:37 Nineveh. The capital of Assyria. See Jnh 1:2.

37:38 in the temple. Hezekiah had gone to the Lord's temple and gained strength (vv. 1,14). Twenty years later (681 B.C.) Sennacherib went to the temple of his god and was killed. Ararat. Urartu, north of Assyria in Armenia (see note on Ge 8:4). Esarhaddon. Reigned 681–669. See Ezr 4:2.

38:1 In those days. Sometime before Sennacherib's invasion of 701 B.C. (see v. 6). Isaiah. He is prominent in this historical interlude (chs. 36–39). Put your house in order. See note on 2Ki 20:1. you are going to die. Elisha similarly predicted the death of Ben-Hadad (2Ki 8:9–10). See note on 2Ki 20:1.

38:2 wall. Perhaps of the nearby temple. prayed. Hezekiah apparently had no son and successor to the throne yet (cf. 39:7; 2Ki 21:1).

38:3 wholehearted devotion. Like David (1Ki 11:4), Hezekiah was truly faithful (see 36:7; 2Ki 18:3–5).

38:6 deliver ... this city. See 31:5; 37:35.

38:7 sign. See 7:11,14 and notes.

38:8 sunlight went back. Perhaps the miracle involved the refraction of light. See 2Ki 20:9–11; Jos 10:12–14.

38:10–20 A hymn of thanksgiving in two stanzas, similar to many of the psalms. Hezekiah was deeply interested in the psalms of David and Asaph (see 2Ch 29:30).

38:10–14 Hezekiah voices his complaint.

must I go through the gates of death[ec] and be robbed of the rest of my years?[d]" 11I said, "I will not again see the LORD, the LORD,[e] in the land of the living;[f]
no longer will I look on mankind, or be with those who now dwell in this world.[f] 12Like a shepherd's tent[g] my house has been pulled down[h] and taken from me.
Like a weaver I have rolled[i] up my life,
and he has cut me off from the loom;[j]
day and night[k] you made an end of me.
13I waited patiently[l] till dawn, but like a lion he broke[m] all my bones;[n]
day and night[o] you made an end of me.
14I cried like a swift or thrush,
I moaned like a mourning dove.[p]
My eyes grew weak[q] as I looked to the heavens.
I am troubled; O Lord, come to my aid!"[r]
15But what can I say?[s]
He has spoken to me, and he himself has done this.[t]
I will walk humbly[u] all my years because of this anguish of my soul.[v] 16Lord, by such things men live;
and my spirit finds life in them too.
You restored me to health and let me live.[w] 17Surely it was for my benefit[x] that I suffered such anguish.[y]
In your love you kept me from the pit[z] of destruction;
you have put all my sins[a] behind your back.[b] 18For the grave[ec] cannot praise you, death cannot sing your praise;[d]
those who go down to the pit[e] cannot hope for your faithfulness.
19The living, the living—they praise[f] you,
as I am doing today;
fathers tell their children[g]
about your faithfulness.
20The LORD will save me,
and we will sing[h] with stringed instruments[i]
all the days of our lives[j]
in the temple[k] of the LORD.
21Isaiah had said, "Prepare a poultice of figs and apply it to the boil, and he will recover."
22Hezekiah had asked, "What will be the sign[l] that I will go up to the temple of the LORD?"

Envoys From Babylon

39:1–8pp — 2Ki 20:12–19

39 At that time Merodach-Baladan son of Baladan king of Babylon[m] sent Hezekiah letters and a gift, because he had heard of his illness and recovery. 2Hezekiah received the envoys[n] gladly and showed them what was in his storehouses—the silver, the gold,[o] the spices, the fine oil, his entire armory and everything found among his treasures.[p] There was nothing in his palace or in all his kingdom that Hezekiah did not show them.

S 45:8 [f] Ps 23:6; S 63:4; 116:2 [g] Ps 116:17-19

[d] 11 A few Hebrew manuscripts; most Hebrew manuscripts in the place of cessation

38:11 the LORD, the LORD. See 26:4. land of the living. Cf. Ps 27:13.

38:12 rolled up my life. Cf. the rolling up of the sky like a scroll in 34:4 (see also Heb 1:12).

38:13 broke all my bones. Physical or spiritual distress is often described in terms of aching or broken bones (see Ps 6:2; 32:3).

38:15–20 Hezekiah offers praise for God's healing.

38:15 what can I say? See 2Sa 7:20. Hezekiah wonders how he can praise God.

38:16 by such things. Perhaps referring to God's promises and gracious acts, though his gracious acts can include such experiences as sickness and peril.

38:17 pit of destruction. The grave (see Ps 55:23). all my sins. Physical and spiritual healing are sometimes linked together (see 53:4–5). sins behind your back. God not only puts our sins out of sight; he also puts them out of reach (Mic 7:19; Ps 103:12), out of mind (Jer 31:34) and out of existence (Isa 43:25; 44:22; Ps 51:1,9; Ac 3:19).

38:18 cannot hope. Knowledge about the afterlife was limited in the OT period, but the gospel of Christ has "brought . . . immortality to light" (2Ti 1:10).

38:20 sing with stringed instruments. Instrumental music and hymns of praise were closely linked in worship (cf. Ps 33:1–3). all . . . our lives in the temple. Hezekiah, like David (Ps 23:6), loved God's house.

38:21 Prepare . . . apply. The verbs are plural (probably addressed to the court physicians). poultice of figs. Figs were used for medicinal purposes in ancient Ugarit. he will recover. Contrast v. 1. God answered Hezekiah's prayer for healing (see v. 5).

39:1 Merodach-Baladan. Reigned 721–710 B.C. and again later (see note on 2Ki 20:12). Babylon. See note on 13:1. sent . . . letters and a gift. Merodach-Baladan probably wanted Hezekiah's support in a campaign against Assyria. During his career, he organized several revolts against his hated neighbors. See note on 2Ki 20:12.

39:2 silver . . . gold . . . treasures. See 2Ch 32:27–29,31. Probably Hezekiah was seeking help from the Babylonians against the Assyrian threat (see note on 2Ki 20:13). But the information gained during this ill-advised tour escorted by Hezekiah would be valuable to Merodach-Baladan's powerful successors (vv. 5–7).

3Then Isaiah the prophet went to King Hezekiah and asked, "What did those men say, and where did they come from?"

"From a distant land,[q]" Hezekiah replied. "They came to me from Babylon."

4The prophet asked, "What did they see in your palace?"

"They saw everything in my palace," Hezekiah said. "There is nothing among my treasures that I did not show them."

5Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word[r] of the LORD Almighty: 6The time will surely come when everything in your palace, and all that your fathers have stored up until this day, will be carried off to Babylon.[s] Nothing will be left, says the LORD. 7And some of your descendants, your own flesh and blood who will be born to you, will be taken away, and they will become eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.[t]"

8"The word of the LORD you have spoken is good,[u]" Hezekiah replied. For he thought, "There will be peace and security in my lifetime.[v]"

Comfort for God's People

40 Comfort, comfort[w] my people, says your God.
2Speak tenderly[x] to Jerusalem, and proclaim to her that her hard service[y] has been completed,[z]
that her sin has been paid for,[a] that she has received from the LORD's hand
double[b] for all her sins.

3A voice of one calling:
"In the desert prepare the way[c] for the LORD[g];
make straight[d] in the wilderness
a highway for our God.[h e] 4Every valley shall be raised up,[f] every mountain and hill[g] made low;
the rough ground shall become level,[h]
the rugged places a plain.
5And the glory[i] of the LORD will be revealed, and all mankind together will see it.[j]
For the mouth of the LORD has spoken."[k]

6A voice says, "Cry out."
And I said, "What shall I cry?"

"All men are like grass,[l] and all their glory is like the flowers of the field.
7The grass withers[m] and the flowers fall, because the breath[n] of the LORD blows[o] on them.
Surely the people are grass.

[g]3 Or A voice of one calling in the desert: / "Prepare the way for the LORD [h]3 Hebrew; Septuagint make straight the paths of our God

39:3 Isaiah the prophet. Earlier God had sent Isaiah to confront Ahaz (7:3); cf. also Nathan's rebuke of David (2Sa 12:1,7).

39:5 word of the LORD. Contrast the word of hope in 38:4–6.

39:6 carried off to Babylon. The first mention of Babylon as Jerusalem's conqueror, though 14:3–4 implied the Babylonian captivity. The wickedness of Hezekiah's son Manasseh was a major cause of the captivity (see 2Ki 21:11–15). See also note on 2Ki 20:17.

39:7 your descendants. Such as King Jehoiachin (2Ki 24:15). eunuchs. Cf. Da 1:3–6, where the Hebrew for "court officials" (Da 1:3) can also be translated "eunuchs." king of Babylon. Nebuchadnezzar.

39:8 word . . . is good. See note on 2Ki 20:19. peace . . . in my lifetime. See 2Ki 22:20. "Peace" recurs in a refrain in 48:22; 57:21, dividing the last 27 chapters into 3 sections of 9 chapters each (40–48; 49–57; 58–66).

40:1–66:24 In chs. 1–35 Isaiah prophesied against the backdrop of the Assyrian threat against Judah and Jerusalem, in chs. 36–39 he recorded Assyria's failure and warned about the future rise of Babylon, and in chs. 40–66 he wrote as if the Babylonian exile of Judah was almost over.

40:1 Comfort, comfort. Repeated for emphasis ("Comfort greatly"). The double imperative is found also in 51:9,17; 52:1,11; 57:14; 62:10.

40:2 Speak tenderly. The Hebrew for this phrase is used also in 2Ch 32:6, where Hezekiah "encouraged" Judah to trust in God in spite of the Assyrian invasion. hard service. The exile in Babylon (cf. Ps 137:1–6; La 1:1–2,9,16–17,21). sin . . . paid for. By enduring the punishment of captivity (see Lev 26:41). double. Full (or enough) punishment. Cf. the "double calamities" of 51:19.

40:3 voice. Three voices are mentioned (vv. 3,6,9), each showing how the comfort of v. 1 will come about. The NT links the voice of v. 3 with John the Baptist in Mt 3:3; Mk 1:3; Lk 3:4; Jn 1:23. prepare the way. Clear obstacles out of the road (cf. 57:14; 62:10). The language of vv. 3–4 has in view the ancient Near Eastern custom of sending representatives ahead to prepare the way for the visit of a monarch. The picture is that of preparing a processional highway for the Lord's coming to Jerusalem. In Mt 3:1–8 John declares that repentance is necessary to prepare the way for Christ. make straight . . . a highway. See 11:16; 35:8 and notes.

40:4 rough ground . . . level. See 26:7 and note.

40:5 glory . . . revealed. God would redeem Israel from Babylon (see 35:2 and note; 44:23), and all the nations would see the deliverance (52:10; cf. Lk 3:6). Ultimately the glory of the redeeming God would be seen in Jesus Christ (Jn 1:14; 11:4,40; 17:4; Heb 1:3), especially at his return (Mt 16:27; 24:30; 25:31; Rev 1:7)—but also in the redeemed (see 1Co 10:31; 2Co 3:18; Eph 3:21). See also Isa 6:3 and note.

40:6,8 Quoted in part in 1Pe 1:24–25.

40:6 like grass. See 37:27 and note; 51:12. all their glory . . . field. Even the power of Assyria and Babylon would soon vanish.

8 The grass withers and the flowers[p] fall, but the word[q] of our God stands[r] forever.[s]"

9 You who bring good tidings[t] to Zion, go up on a high mountain.
You who bring good tidings to Jerusalem,[iu] lift up your voice with a shout, lift it up, do not be afraid;
say to the towns of Judah,
"Here is your God!"[v]
10 See, the Sovereign LORD comes[w] with power,[x] and his arm[y] rules[z] for him.
See, his reward[a] is with him,
and his recompense accompanies him.
11 He tends his flock like a shepherd:[b]
He gathers the lambs in his arms[c] and carries them close to his heart;[d]
he gently leads[e] those that have young.[f]

12 Who has measured the waters[g] in the hollow of his hand,[h] or with the breadth of his hand marked off the heavens?[i]
Who has held the dust of the earth in a basket, or weighed the mountains on the scales and the hills in a balance?[j] 13 Who has understood the mind[jk] of the LORD, or instructed him as his counselor?[l]
14 Whom did the LORD consult to enlighten him, and who taught him the right way?
Who was it that taught him knowledge[m] or showed him the path of understanding?[n]

15 Surely the nations are like a drop in a bucket;
they are regarded as dust on the scales;[o]
he weighs the islands as though they were fine dust.[p] 16 Lebanon[q] is not sufficient for altar fires, nor its animals[r] enough for burnt offerings.
17 Before him all the nations[s] are as nothing;[t] they are regarded by him as worthless and less than nothing.[u]

18 To whom, then, will you compare God?[v]
What image[w] will you compare him to?
19 As for an idol,[x] a craftsman casts it,
and a goldsmith[y] overlays it with gold[z]
and fashions silver chains for it.
20 A man too poor to present such an offering selects wood[a] that will not rot.
He looks for a skilled craftsman to set up an idol[b] that will not topple.[c]

[iu] 9 Or O Zion, bringer of good tidings, / go up on a high mountain. / O Jerusalem, bringer of good tidings
[jk] 13 Or Spirit; or spirit

40:8 word of our God stands. The plans and purposes of the nations will not prevail (see 8:10 and note).

40:9 good tidings. The news that God is leading his people back to Judah (vv. 10–11). He cares for his people and will redeem them (52:7–10; 61:1). The NT expands this "good news" or "gospel" to refer to the salvation that Christ brings to all people (1Co 15:1–4). See NIV text note for an alternative translation. Here is your God! The Lord is returning to Jerusalem. These words apply to the return from exile (52:7–9), the first coming of Christ (Mt 21:5) and the second coming of Christ (62:11; Rev 22:12). See 35:4 and note.

40:10 arm rules. Cf. 51:9; 59:16. He is characterized by both strength and gentleness (v. 11). reward ... recompense. His delivered people, the flock of v. 11 (see 62:11–12).

40:11 tends his flock. Cf. Jer 31:10; Eze 34:11–16.

40:12–31 Rhetorical questions are used to persuade the people to trust in the Lord, who has the ability to deliver, strengthen and restore his people.

40:12 measured the waters. See Job 28:25; 38:8. In Job 38–41 the Lord overwhelms Job with a description of his greatness. marked off the heavens. See 48:13.

40:13 Quoted in Ro 11:34; 1Co 2:16. counselor. See 9:6 and note.

40:15 nations ... a drop in a bucket. See note on v. 6. dust. See 17:13 and note; 29:5.

40:16 Lebanon. The wood of its cedar trees. its animals. Cf. Ps 104:16–18. Sacrifices, however numerous, could never do justice to the greatness of God.

40:17 nothing ... worthless. In spite of the temporary splendor they might possess (see 13:19 and note).

40:18–20 More than any other prophet, Isaiah shows the folly of worshiping idols. His sarcastic caricature, satire and denunciation of these false gods reach a peak in 44:9–20 (see 41:7,22–24; 42:17; 46:5–7; 48:5).

40:18 To whom ... compare God? See v. 25; 46:5.

40:19 craftsman ... goldsmith. See 41:7; 44:10–12. gold ... silver. See 2:20; Hab 2:18–19 and notes.

40:20 wood. See 44:14–16,19. that will not topple. See 41:7; 46:7.

40:21 from the beginning. God's work as Creator is emphasized in the rest of the chapter (cf. 37:26; 41:4,26).

Has it not been told[c] you from the beginning?[f]
Have you not understood[g] since the earth was founded?[h] 22He sits enthroned[i] above the circle of the earth,
and its people are like grasshoppers.[j]
He stretches out the heavens[k] like a canopy,[l] and spreads them out like a tent[m]
to live in.[n]
23He brings princes[o] to naught and reduces the rulers of this world to nothing.[p] 24No sooner are they planted, no sooner are they sown, no sooner do they take root[q] in the ground, than he blows[r] on them and they wither,[s] and a whirlwind sweeps them away like chaff.[t]

25"To whom will you compare me?[u]
Or who is my equal?" says the Holy
One.[v] 26Lift your eyes and look to the heavens:[w]
Who created[x] all these?
He who brings out the starry host[y]
one by one,
and calls them each by name.
Because of his great power and mighty strength,[z] not one of them is missing.[a] 27Why do you say, O Jacob, and complain, O Israel,

"My way is hidden from the LORD;
my cause is disregarded by my God"?[b]
28Do you not know?
Have you not heard?[c]

the Creator[e] of the ends of the earth.[f]
He will not grow tired or weary,[g] and his understanding no one can fathom.[h]
29He gives strength[i] to the weary[j] and increases the power of the weak.
30Even youths grow tired and weary, and young men[k] stumble and fall;[l]
31but those who hope[m] in the LORD will renew their strength.[n]
They will soar on wings like eagles;[o]
they will run and not grow weary,
they will walk and not be faint.[p]

40:24 whirlwind . . . like chaff. See 17:13 and note; 41:15–16.
40:25 See v. 18. Apparently some Israelite doubters were comparing their God with the gods of their captors, and they believed that the Lord was failing the test. Holy One. See 1:4 and note.
40:26 created. See vv. 21–22 and notes. brings out. The Hebrew for this expression is used for bringing forth the constellations in Job 38:32. starry host. Also worshiped by the people (see 47:13; Jer 19:13). each by name. See Ps 147:4. not one . . . missing. See 34:16 and note.
40:27–31 As in many psalms of praise, Isaiah now stresses the goodness of God after describing his majesty (vv. 12–26). Such a God is able to deliver and restore his distressed people if they will wait in faith for him to act. They are to trust in him and draw strength from him.
40:27 way. Condition. hidden . . . disregarded. Cf. 49:14; 54:8.
40:28 everlasting God. See 9:6. Creator. See vv. 21–22 and notes. ends of the earth. See 11:12 and note; cf. 5:26; 41:9; 43:6. not grow tired. Contrast 44:12.
40:30 grow tired . . . stumble. See note on 5:27.
40:31 hope in. Trust in or look expectantly to (see 5:2; 49:23). renew. Lit. "exchange." Their weakness will give way to God's strength (v. 29). The Hebrew for this verb is used of changes of clothes (Ge 35:2; Jdg 14:12), which can symbolize strength and beauty (Isa 52:1). Paul tells believers to clothe themselves with Christ (Ro 13:14; cf. Eph 4:24; Col 3:10). eagles. Known for their vigor (Ps 103:5) and speed (Jer 4:13; 48:40).
41:1,5 islands. Or "coastlands" (see 11:11 and note).
41:1 renew their strength. See 40:31. The nations and their gods are challenged to display the same power and wisdom as Israel's God (see vv. 21–24).
41:2 one from the east. Cyrus the Great, king of Persia (559–530 B.C.), who conquered Babylon in 539 (see 13:17 and note) and issued the decree allowing the Jews to return to Jerusalem (see Ezr 1:1–4; 6:3–5). Cyrus is referred to also in v. 25; 44:28–45:5,13; 46:11. calling him in righteousness. Like the servant of the Lord in 42:6, Cyrus was chosen to carry out God's righteous purposes. subdues kings. Such as Croesus king of Lydia in Asia Minor. windblown chaff. See 17:13 and note. his bow. The Persians were renowned for their ability as archers.

He turns them to dust[z] with his sword, to windblown chaff[a] with his bow.[b] 3He pursues them and moves on unscathed,[c] by a path his feet have not traveled before.
4Who has done this and carried it through, calling[d] forth the generations from the beginning?[e]
I, the LORD—with the first of them and with the last[f]—I am he.[g]"

5The islands[h] have seen it and fear;
the ends of the earth[i] tremble.
They approach and come forward;

7The craftsman[k] encourages the goldsmith,[l]

spurs on him who strikes the anvil.
He says of the welding, "It is good."
He nails down the idol so it will not topple.[m]

8"But you, O Israel, my servant,[n]
Jacob, whom I have chosen,[o]
you descendants of Abraham[p] my friend,[q] 9I took you from the ends of the earth,[r]
from its farthest corners I called[s] you.
I said, 'You are my servant';[t]
I have chosen[u] you and have not rejected you.
10So do not fear,[v] for I am with you;[w]
do not be dismayed, for I am your God.
I will strengthen[x] you and help[y] you;
I will uphold you[z] with my righteous right hand.[a]

11"All who rage[b] against you will surely be ashamed and disgraced;[c] those who oppose[d] you will be as nothing and perish.[e] 12Though you search for your enemies, you will not find them.[f]
Those who wage war against you will be as nothing[g] at all.
13For I am the LORD, your God, who takes hold of your right hand[h] and says to you, Do not fear;
I will help[i] you.
14Do not be afraid,[j] O worm[k] Jacob, O little Israel,
for I myself will help[l] you," declares the LORD,
your Redeemer,[m] the Holy One[n] of Israel.
15"See, I will make you into a threshing sledge,[o]
new and sharp, with many teeth.

41:4 from the beginning. See 40:21 and note. with the first . . . with the last. Since the Lord was present with the first of the generations and will still be there with the last of them, he is the eternal Lord of history and nations (see Heb 13:8; Rev 1:8,17; 2:8; 21:6; 22:13).

41:5–7 By 546 B.C. Cyrus had fought his way victoriously to the west coast of Asia Minor, where his leading opponent was Croesus king of Lydia. Sarcasm and satire are used in the description of the frantic efforts in vv. 6–7—all of them futile (cf. 40:19–20).

41:5 ends of the earth. See 11:12 and note.

41:6 Be strong! See 35:4 and note.

41:7 hammer. Cf. 44:12. so it will not topple. See 40:18–20 and notes.

41:8–9 my servant. A significant term in chs. 41–53, referring sometimes to the nation of Israel and other times to an individual. In these passages the title refers to one who occupies a special position in God's royal administration of his kingdom, as in "Moses his servant" (Ex 14:31; Nu 12:7), "my servant David" (2Sa 3:18; 7:5,8), "my servants the prophets" (2Ki 17:13; Jer 7:25). See note on 42:1; see also 20:3; 22:20; 42:1,19; 43:10; 44:1–2,21; 45:4; 49:3,5–7; 50:10; 52:13; 53:11.

41:8 But. In contrast to the nations of vv. 5–7, Israel does not need to be afraid (v. 10). my friend. See Ge 18; 2Ch 20:7; Jas 2:23. Some believe, however, that here "my friend" refers to "descendants" (Israel), thus paralleling "my servant" and "whom I have chosen."

41:9 ends of the earth. See v. 5; probably a reference to Mesopotamia and Egypt (see Ge 11:31; 12:1; 15:7; Ps 114:1–2; Jer 31:32).

41:10 do not fear . . . be dismayed. See vv. 13–14; 43:1,5; see also 35:4 and note. strengthen . . . help you. As one called to God's service (see vv. 9,15–16). See also v. 14; 40:29; 44:2; 49:8. right hand. A hand of power and salvation (see Ex 15:6,12; Ps 20:6; 48:10; 89:13; 98:1).

41:11 be ashamed and disgraced. Cf. 45:17; 50:7; 54:4. will be as nothing. See vv. 15–16 and notes.

41:13 takes hold . . . right hand. To strengthen them and keep them from stumbling. Do not fear. See v. 10 and note.

41:14 worm. A reference to their feeble and despised condition in exile (cf. Job 25:6). Redeemer. Deliverer from Babylonian exile (in a new exodus). The Hebrew for this word refers to an obligated family protector and thus portrays the Lord as the Family Protector of Israel. He is related to Israel as Father (63:16; 64:8) and Husband (54:5). As Redeemer (or Family Protector), he redeems their property (for he regathers them to their land, 54:1–8), guarantees their freedom (35:9; 43:1–4; 48:20; 52:11–12), avenges them against their tormentors (47:3; 49:25–26; 64:4) and secures their posterity for the future (61:8–9). See note on Ru 2:20. Holy One of Israel. See vv. 16,20; see also 1:4 and note. The title occurs with "Redeemer" also in 43:14; 47:4; 48:17; 49:7; 54:5.

41:15 threshing sledge. Cf. 28:27; Mic 4:13; Hab 3:12. mountains . . . hills. Probably represents the nations. See 2:14. reduce . . . to chaff. See v. 2; 17:13 and note; 29:5–6.

You will thresh the mountains[p] and crush them,
and reduce the hills to chaff.[q] 16You will winnow[r] them, the wind will pick them up, and a gale[s] will blow them away.[t]
But you will rejoice[u] in the LORD and glory[v] in the Holy One[w] of Israel.

17"The poor and needy search for but there is none;

their tongues are parched with thirst.[y]
But I the LORD will answer[z] them;
I, the God of Israel, will not forsake[a] them.
18I will make rivers flow[b] on barren heights,
and springs within the valleys.
I will turn the desert[c] into pools of water,[d]
and the parched ground into springs.[e]
19I will put in the desert[f]
the cedar and the acacia,[g] the myrtle and the olive.
I will set pines[h] in the wasteland,
the fir and the cypress[i] together,[j] 20so that people may see and know,[k] may consider and understand,[l] that the hand[m] of the LORD has done this,
that the Holy One[n] of Israel has created[o] it.

21"Present your case,[p]" says the LORD.
"Set forth your arguments," says
Jacob's King.[q]

Tell us what the former things[s]

41:19 These trees will beautify the desert (cf. 35:1–2). Several are named in 60:13 in connection with adorning the place of God's sanctuary. Acacia wood was used for the tabernacle (Ex 25:5,10,13). The pine tree and myrtle replace thorns and briers in 55:13.

41:20 created it. These fruitful conditions are part of God's new creation in behalf of his people (see 48:7; 57:19; 65:17–18).

41:21–22 God takes the nations and their idols to court (see v. 1 and note).

41:24 less than nothing ... worthless. Like the nations that worship them. See 40:17; 44:9; Hos 9:10. detestable. Like those who marry idolaters (see Mal 2:11).

41:25 stirred up. See v. 2 and note. from the north. Cyrus came from the east (v. 2) but conquered a number of kingdoms north of Babylon early in his reign. From the perspective of a writer in Jerusalem, invasions came primarily from the north (see 14:31; Jer 1:14; 6:1,22; 10:22; 46:20; 50:3,9,41; 51:48). calls on my name. Cyrus used the Lord's name in his decree (Ezr 1:2) but did not acknowledge him (see 45:4–5). treads on ... mortar ... clay. Similar to Assyria in 10:6. Cf. Mic 7:10; Na 3:14.

42 "Here is my servant,[o] whom I uphold,
my chosen one[p] in whom I delight;[q]
I will put my Spirit[r] on him and he will bring justice[s] to the 2He will not shout or cry out,[u]

3A bruised reed[v] he will not break,[w]

In faithfulness he will bring forth justice;[y]
4 he will not falter or be discouraged till he establishes justice[z] on earth.
In his law[a] the islands[b] will put

5This is what God the LORD says—he who created the heavens[d] and stretched them out, who spread out the earth[e] and all that comes out of it,[f]
who gives breath[g] to its people,
and life to those who walk on it:
6"I, the LORD, have called[h] you in

I will keep[k] you and will make you to be a covenant[l] for the people and a light[m] for the Gentiles,[n] 7to open eyes that are blind,[o] to free[p] captives from prison[q] and to release from the dungeon those who sit in darkness.[r]

8"I am the LORD;[s] that is my name!

9See, the former things[w] have taken place,
and new things I declare;

I announce[x] them to you."

42:1–4 Quoted in part in Mt 12:18–21 with reference to Christ. There are four "servant songs" in which the servant is the Messiah: 42:1–4 (or 42:1–7 or 42:1–9); 49:1–6 (or 49:1–7 or 49:1–13); 50:4–9 (or 50:4–11); 52:13–53:12. He is "Israel" in its ideal form (49:3). The nation was to be a kingdom of priests (Ex 19:6), but the Messiah would be the high priest who would atone for the sins of the world (53:4–12). Cyrus was introduced in ch. 41 as a deliverer from Babylon, but the servant would deliver the world from the prison of sin (see v. 7).

42:1 my servant. See 41:8–9 and note; Zec 3:8. In the royal terminology of the ancient Near East "servant" meant something like "trusted envoy" or "confidential representative." chosen one. See 41:8–9 and note. delight. Cf. Lk 3:22. my Spirit on him. Like the "Branch" of 11:2 (see note there); cf. 61:1. justice. A righteous world order (see v. 4); see also 9:7 and note; 11:4 and note.

42:3 bruised reed. Someone who is weak (see Ps 72:2,4). The servant will mend broken lives.

42:4 falter. Cf. 40:28. justice. Perfect order (see v. 1 and note). In his law ... hope. As do the nations in 2:2–4. The servant will be a new Moses (see Dt 18:15–18; Ac 3:21–23,26). islands. See note on 11:11.

42:6 called ... righteousness. Similar to the call of Cyrus (see 41:2 and note). take hold of your hand. See 41:13 and note. covenant. See 49:8. The Messiah will fulfill the Davidic covenant as king (9:7) and will institute the new covenant by his death (Jer 31:31–34; Heb 8:6–13; 9:15). people. Probably the Israelites (see 49:8; Ac 26:17–18). light. Parallel to "salvation" in 49:6 (cf. 51:4).

42:7 open eyes. See 29:18; 32:3; 35:5 and notes. free ... from prison. From the prison of Babylon and also from spiritual and moral bondage (compare 61:1 with Lk 4:18).

42:8 my glory. See 40:5 and note.

42:9 former things. See 41:22 and note. new things. The restoration of Israel (43:19). Cf. 48:6.

42:10 new song. To celebrate the "new things" of v. 9. ends of the earth. See 11:12 and note; 41:5. islands. See v. 12; 11:11 and note.

42:12 give glory ... praise. See 24:14–16.

42:13 mighty man. God will fight as he did at the Red Sea (Ex 15:3); see 9:6 and note. zeal. Cf. 9:7; 37:32; 59:17; 63:15. raise the battle cry. To cause panic among the enemy (see 1Sa 4:5–8).

and will triumph over his enemies.[p]

14"For a long time I have kept silent,[q]
I have been quiet and held myself back.[r]
But now, like a woman in childbirth,
I cry out, I gasp and pant.[s] 15I will lay waste[t] the mountains[u] and hills and dry up all their vegetation;
I will turn rivers into islands and dry up[v] the pools.
16I will lead[w] the blind[x] by ways they have not known, along unfamiliar paths I will guide them;
I will turn the darkness into light[y] before them and make the rough places smooth.[z]
These are the things I will do;
I will not forsake[a] them.
17But those who trust in idols, who say to images, 'You are our gods,'[b] will be turned back in utter shame.[c]

Israel Blind and Deaf

18"Hear, you deaf;[d]
look, you blind, and see!
19Who is blind[e] but my servant,[f]
and deaf like the messenger[g] I send?
Who is blind like the one committed[h] to me,
blind like the servant of the LORD?
20You have seen many things, but have paid no attention;
your ears are open, but you hear nothing."[i] 21It pleased the LORD for the sake[j] of his righteousness to make his law[k] great and glorious.

42:14 For a long time. During Israel's humiliation and exile. held myself back. See 63:15; 64:12. The Hebrew verb is also used of Joseph, who controlled his emotions while he tested his brothers (Ge 43:31; 45:1). See 30:18 and note.

42:15 lay waste . . . dry up. The opposite of 35:1–2; 41:18. rivers into islands. Perhaps to make travel easier. See 37:25; 44:27.

42:16 blind. Israel (vv. 19–20). rough places smooth. See 40:4. not forsake. Cf. 40:27; 49:14; 54:8.

42:18 deaf . . . blind. See 6:10 and note.

42:19 my servant. Israel. See note on 41:8–9. messenger I send. A term associated with prophets (see Hag 1:13; cf. Isa 44:26; Mal 3:1).

42:21 law great and glorious. Especially the law of Moses, given in the awesome setting of Mount Sinai (see Ex 34:29).

42:22 plundered and looted. By the Assyrians (see 10:6 and note) and the Babylonians (see 39:6). trapped in pits . . . prisons. See v. 7 and note. Cf. Jdg 6:2–4.

42:24 Who handed Jacob over . . . ? Babylon conquered Israel, not because their gods were stronger than the Lord (see 40:17–18; 1Ki 20:23), but because the Lord was punishing his people.

43:1 created . . . formed. God made the nation Israel as surely as he made the first man (see Ge 1:27; see also Isa 43:7,15,21; 44:2,24). Fear not. See 41:10 and note. redeemed you. See notes on 35:9; 41:14. The verb is also used in 29:22; 44:22–23; 48:20 (cf. Ex 15:13). summoned . . . by name. God chose Israel to serve him in a special way. See 45:3–4 (Cyrus). In Ex 31:2; 35:30 the Hebrew underlying this expression is translated "chosen."

43:2 waters . . . rivers. Probably an allusion to crossing the Red Sea (Ex 14:21–22) and the Jordan River (Jos 3:14–17). Cf. Ps 66:6,12. walk through the fire. Fulfilled literally in the experience of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego (Da 3:25–27). Contrast 42:25.

God's Mercy and Israel's Unfaithfulness

14This is what the LORD says—
your Redeemer,[t] the Holy One[u] of Israel:
"For your sake I will send to Babylon and bring down as fugitives[v] all the Babylonians,[m][w] in the ships in which they took pride.
15I am the LORD,[x] your Holy One,
Israel's Creator,[y] your King.[z]"

[l]3 That is, the upper Nile region [m]14 Or Chaldeans

43:3 Holy One of Israel. See notes on 1:4; 41:14. Savior. Who delivers from the oppression of Egypt or Babylon and from the spiritual oppression of sin (see 19:20 and note; 25:9 and note; 33:22; 35:4 and note; 43:11–12; 45:15,21–22; 49:25; 60:16; 63:8–9). The name "Isaiah" means "The LORD saves." ransom. The Persians conquered Egypt, Cush and Seba, and perhaps this was a reward or ransom for Persia's kindness to Israel (see note on 41:2; cf. Eze 29:19–20). Cush. See note on 18:1. Seba. A land near Cush (cf. 45:14) or Sheba (Ps 72:10). It was probably either in south Arabia (see Ge 10:7 and note; see also Eze 27:21–22) or across the Red Sea in Africa.

43:5 Do not be afraid. See 41:10 and note. east. Especially Assyria and Babylonia. See 11:11–12 and notes; cf. Ps 107:3. west. For example, the "islands" of 11:11 (see also 24:14–15; 49:12).

43:6 north. For example, Hamath (see 10:9 and note; 11:11). south. Egypt. ends of the earth. See note on 11:12 (cf. 41:5; 42:10).

43:7 called by my name. People belonging to God. created ... formed. See v. 1 and note.

43:8 blind ... deaf. Probably referring to Israel (see 6:10 and note; 42:18–20).

43:9–13 A court scene; see also 41:21–22.

43:9 nations ... peoples assemble. See 41:1 and note. foretold. See 41:26 and note. former things. See 41:22 and note. witnesses. To verify the accuracy of earlier predictions by idols or their worshipers (see 41:26).

43:10 You are my witnesses. See also v. 12; 44:8. God's work in behalf of Israel is proof of his saving power. my servant. See 41:8–9 and note.

43:11 The main thrust is repeated in 44:6,8; 45:5–6, 18,21–22; 46:9 (see also Dt 32:39). savior. See v. 3 and note.

43:12 foreign god. Cf. Dt 32:12,16. Israel repeatedly worshiped other gods (see Jdg 2:12–13). witnesses. See v. 10 and note.

43:13 See v. 11. No one can deliver ... hand. Quoted verbatim from Dt 32:39.

43:14 Redeemer. See 41:14 and note. Holy One of Israel. See 1:4; 41:14 and notes. Babylon. See note on 13:1. fugitives ... in the ships. The Babylonians used the Persian Gulf, as well as the Tigris and Euphrates rivers, for trading purposes. But their splendid ships (cf. 2:16) would one day become their means of flight (cf. Jer 51:13).

43:15 Creator. See v. 1 and note. King. God was called

16 This is what the LORD says—
he who made a way through the sea,
a path through the mighty waters,[a] 17 who drew out[b] the chariots and horses,[c]
the army and reinforcements together,[d]
and they lay[e] there, never to rise again, extinguished, snuffed out like a wick:[f] 18 "Forget the former things;[g]
do not dwell on the past.

Now it springs up; do you not perceive it?
I am making a way in the desert[i]

20 The wild animals[k] honor me,
the jackals[l] and the owls,
because I provide water[m] in the desert and streams in the wasteland, to give drink to my people, my chosen, 21 the people I formed[n] for myself[o]
that they may proclaim my praise.[p]

22 "Yet you have not called upon me, O Jacob, you have not wearied[q] yourselves for me, O Israel.[r] 23 You have not brought me sheep for burnt offerings,[s] nor honored[t] me with your sacrifices.[u]
I have not burdened[v] you with grain offerings nor wearied you with demands[w] for incense.[x] 24 You have not bought any fragrant calamus[y] for me, or lavished on me the fat[z] of your sacrifices.
But you have burdened me with your sins and wearied[a] me with your offenses.[b]

25 "I, even I, am he who blots out your transgressions,[c] for my own sake,[d] and remembers your sins[e] no more.[f] 26 Review the past for me, let us argue the matter together;[g]
state the case[h] for your innocence.
27 Your first father[i] sinned;
your spokesmen[j] rebelled[k] against me.
28 So I will disgrace the dignitaries of your temple, and I will consign Jacob to destruction[n][l] and Israel to scorn.[m]

[t] Jer 30:10; 46:27
[u] S Nu 23:21; S Dt 32:15

[n] 28 The Hebrew term refers to the irrevocable giving over of things or persons to the LORD, often by totally destroying them.

"king over Jeshurun" (Israel) in Dt 33:5 (contrast 1Sa 8:7).

43:16–17 A reference to crossing the Red Sea (see v. 2 and note). Pharaoh's chariots and horsemen were destroyed as Israel's God fought against them (see 51:10; Ex 14:28; 15:4).

43:17 snuffed out like a wick. Contrast 42:3.

43:19 new thing. See 42:9 and note. way in the desert. See 35:8; 40:3 and notes. streams in the wasteland. See v. 20; 32:2 and note. Contrast 42:15 and note.

43:20 jackals ... owls. Creatures of the desert (see 13:21–22; 34:13–15; 35:7).

43:21 people ... proclaim my praise. Cf. 42:12.

43:22–24 The Israelites may have brought sacrifices (see 1:11–15 and note), but their hearts were not right with God.

43:22 not called ... not wearied. Apparently their prayers were halfhearted (contrast Ps 69:3).

43:23 not burdened ... nor wearied. God did not make excessive demands on his people.

43:24 calamus. Linked with incense (see v. 23) also in SS 4:14; Jer 6:20. fat. See note on 34:6. burdened ... wearied. See 1:14.

43:25 blots out ... transgressions. In spite of the punishment Israel must suffer (v. 28), God is eager to forgive his people (see 1:18; 44:22; see also 40:2 and note).

43:26 state the case. The Lord takes Israel to court, as he did the nations in 41:21–22.

43:27 first father. See 51:2. Even Abraham was a sinner (see Ge 12:18; 20:9). spokesmen. Probably the priests and prophets.

43:28 consign ... to destruction. See NIV text note; see also note on 34:2. Any town of Israel that harbored idolatry was to receive this fate (Dt 13:12–15). Jerusalem suffered destruction at the hands of the Babylonians (2Ki 25:8–9) because of idolatry (see Eze 7:15–22).

44:1–2 my servant. See 41:8–9 and note.

44:2 formed you. See 43:1 and note. in the womb. See v. 24. The tenderness of the Creator is shown (see also 49:5; Jer 1:5). Do not be afraid. See v. 8; 41:10 and note. Jeshurun. Israel (see v. 1); found elsewhere only in Dt 32:15 (see NIV text note there); 33:5,26.

3For I will pour water[v] on the thirsty land, and streams on the dry ground;[w]
I will pour out my Spirit[x] on your offspring, and my blessing[y] on your descendants.[z] 4They will spring up like grass[a] in a meadow, like poplar trees[b] by flowing streams.[c] 5One will say, 'I belong[d] to the LORD';
another will call himself by the name of Jacob;
still another will write on his hand,[e] 'The LORD's,'[f]
and will take the name Israel.

The LORD, Not Idols

6"This is what the LORD says—
Israel's King[g] and Redeemer,[h] the LORD Almighty:
I am the first and I am the last;[i] apart from me there is no God.[j] 7Who then is like me?[k] Let him proclaim it.
Let him declare and lay out before me what has happened since I established my ancient people, and what is yet to come—
yes, let him foretell[l] what will come.
8Do not tremble, do not be afraid.
Did I not proclaim[m] this and foretell it long ago?
You are my witnesses. Is there any God[n] besides me?
No, there is no other Rock;[o] I know not one."

9All who make idols[p] are nothing, and the things they treasure are worthless.[q]
Those who would speak up for them are blind;[r]
they are ignorant, to their own shame.[s] 10Who shapes a god and casts an idol,[t] which can profit him nothing?[u] 11He and his kind will be put to shame;[v] craftsmen are nothing but men.
Let them all come together and take their stand;
they will be brought down to terror and infamy.[w]

12The blacksmith[x] takes a tool and works with it in the coals;
he shapes an idol with hammers,
he forges it with the might of his arm.[y]
He gets hungry and loses his strength;
he drinks no water and grows faint.[z] 13The carpenter[a] measures with a line and makes an outline with a marker;
he roughs it out with chisels and marks it with compasses.
He shapes it in the form of man,[b]
of man in all his glory, that it may dwell in a shrine.[c] 14He cut down cedars, or perhaps took a cypress or oak.
He let it grow among the trees of the forest,
or planted a pine,[d] and the rain made it grow.
15It is man's fuel[e] for burning;
some of it he takes and warms himself,
he kindles a fire and bakes bread.
But he also fashions a god and worships[f] it;
he makes an idol and bows[g] down to it.
16Half of the wood he burns in the fire;

44:3 pour water ... streams. See 30:25; 32:2; 35:6–7 and notes; see also 41:18. pour out my Spirit. Associated with the Messianic age in 32:15 (see note there) and Joel 2:28.

44:4 grass. A symbol of luxuriant growth also in 35:7 (contrast 37:27; 40:6–8).

44:5 call ... by the name. A willingness to identify with Jacob, the Lord's people. See 43:7 and note. write on his hand. Perhaps a mark of ownership (cf. 49:16; Rev 13:16) or a reminder of one's allegiance (cf. Ex 13:9,16).

44:6 King. See 43:15 and note. Redeemer. See v. 24; 41:14 and note. first ... last. See 41:4 and note. apart ... God. See 43:11 and note.

44:7 foretell. See 41:22,26 and notes.

44:8 You are my witnesses. See 43:10 and note. Rock. See 17:10 and note. As in v. 2; 43:11–13, Isaiah may be drawing on the song of Moses, which describes God as "the Rock" (Dt 32:4,15,30–31), but the metaphor is also common in the Psalms (see note on Ps 18:2).

44:9–20 A satire on the folly of idolatry (see 40:18–20 and note).

44:9 nothing ... worthless. Like the nations and their idols (see 40:17; 41:24 and notes). shame. Cf. v. 11; 42:17; 45:16.

44:11 craftsmen. See 40:19 and note.

44:12–20 Two idols are described: a metal one in v. 12 and a wooden one in vv. 13–20. The latter was more common (see 40:20).

44:12 grows faint. But God never gets tired (40:28).

44:13 in the form of man. Man was made in the image of God (see Ge 1:26–27 and notes), but an idol is made in the image of man (Dt 4:16; Ro 1:23).

44:14 cedars ... cypress ... oak. The most valuable kinds of wood then known. See 9:10; 41:19 and notes.

44:15 worships ... bows down. Repeated in vv. 17,19; see 2:8,20.

44:16 roasts his meat ... warms himself. Although wood serves common purposes, it is also made into an idol (see v. 19).

over it he prepares his meal,
he roasts his meat and eats his fill.
He also warms himself and says,
"Ah! I am warm; I see the fire.[h]" 17From the rest he makes a god, his idol;
he bows down to it and worships.[i]
He prays[j] to it and says,
"Save[k] me; you are my god."
18They know nothing, they understand[l] nothing;
their eyes[m] are plastered over so they cannot see,
and their minds closed so they cannot understand.
19No one stops to think,
no one has the knowledge or understanding[n] to say,
"Half of it I used for fuel;[o]
I even baked bread over its coals,
I roasted meat and I ate.
Shall I make a detestable[p] thing from what is left?
Shall I bow down to a block of wood?"[q] 20He feeds on ashes,[r] a deluded[s] heart misleads him;
he cannot save himself, or say,
"Is not this thing in my right hand a lie?[t u]"

21"Remember[v] these things, O Jacob, for you are my servant, O Israel.[w]
I have made you, you are my servant;[x]
O Israel, I will not forget you.[y] 22I have swept away[z] your offenses like a cloud, your sins like the morning mist.
Return[a] to me,
for I have redeemed[b] you."

23Sing for joy,[c] O heavens, for the LORD has done this;
shout aloud, O earth[d] beneath.
Burst into song, you mountains,[e]
you forests and all your trees,[f] for the LORD has redeemed[g] Jacob, he displays his glory[h] in Israel.

Jerusalem to Be Inhabited

24"This is what the LORD says—
your Redeemer,[i] who formed[j] you in the womb:[k]

I am the LORD,
who has made all things,
who alone stretched out the heavens,[l]
who spread out the earth[m] by myself,

44:17 Save me. King Amaziah was condemned for worshiping the gods of Seir, a nation he had defeated in battle (2Ch 25:14–15). Isaiah denounces such idolatry as totally irrational (see 45:20). Whereas those who worshiped idols associated the god with the idol, for Isaiah there was no god for the idol to represent, so he depicts idolatry as worship of a mere "block of wood" (v. 19).

44:18 eyes are plastered . . . minds closed. Israel's condition in 6:9–10 (see note there). The description ironically characterizes both the idols and those who worship them. See also Ps 82:5.

44:19 detestable thing. The Lord detests idols (see Dt 27:15). In 1Ki 11:5,7; 2Ki 23:13 Molech and Chemosh are called detestable gods. Those who worship idols are also called detestable (see 41:24 and note).

44:20 feeds on ashes. Even devoted worship does not benefit the idolater. Cf. Hos 12:1. lie. Or "fraud." See 2Th 2:11.

44:21 my servant. See vv. 1–2; 41:8–9 and note.

44:22 swept away your offenses. As in 40:2 (see note there), the suffering of Israel has paved the way for forgiveness and the restoration of the nation (see 43:25 and note). Return to me. Cf. Jer 31:18. redeemed. Cf. v. 23; see notes on 35:9; 41:14; 43:1.

44:23 Sing for joy . . . shout aloud. Nature is called on to join in praise (see also 35:1; 49:13). Burst into song, you mountains. See 49:13; 55:12. displays his glory. See 35:2 and note; 40:5 and note.

44:24 Redeemer. See 41:14 and note. stretched out . . . spread out. See 40:22 and note; cf. 51:13.

44:25 signs of false prophets. See Dt 13:1–3. diviners. The Hebrew for this word is used of Balaam (Jos 13:22), the witch of Endor (1Sa 28:8) and false prophets (Jer 27:9). It is linked with soothsaying and sorcery (see 3:2–3 and note; Dt 18:10–11). overthrows . . . the wise. See 29:14 and note.

44:26 servants . . . messengers. The true prophets (see 42:19 and note; Jer 7:25). inhabited . . . built. See Jer 32:15; cf. Isa 58:12; 61:4. ruins . . . restore. Contrast 6:11.

44:27 Be dry. A reference to the crossing of the Red Sea (see 11:15; 37:25; 43:16–17 and notes; cf. 50:2; 51:10).

44:28 Cyrus. See 41:2 and note. shepherd. Often applied to rulers (see 2Sa 5:2; Jer 23:2). Jerusalem . . . temple. The decree of Cyrus (Ezr 1:2–4; 6:3–5) authorized the rebuilding of the temple, which would lead to a restored Jerusalem (see 45:13).

and will accomplish all that I please;
he will say of Jerusalem,[y] "Let it be rebuilt," and of the temple,[z] "Let its foundations[a] be laid." '

45 "This is what the LORD says to his anointed,[b]

[p] 13 Hebrew him

45:1 anointed. "Messiah" comes from the Hebrew for this word. Cyrus, a foreign emperor, is called "his anointed" just as he is called "my shepherd" (44:28), because God has appointed him to carry out a divine commission in his role as king. Nebuchadnezzar is similarly called "my servant" (Jer 25:9; 27:6; 43:10). The servant—Christ (see note on 42:1–4)—is called "the Anointed One" in Da 9:25–26 (see NIV text note on Mt 1:17). See also Ps 2:2 and note. right hand I . . . hold. See 41:13 and note.

45:2 gates of bronze . . . bars of iron. Normally the doors of city gates were made of wood, and the bars were metal (see Jdg 16:3 and note).

45:3 that you may know. God's actions reveal his power (cf. Eze 6:7; 7:27). summons you by name. To indicate God's control of Cyrus's activities. See v. 4; see also note on 43:1.

45:4 my servant. See 41:8–9 and note. title of honor. Perhaps "anointed" (v. 1). though . . . not acknowledge me. See v. 5. Cyrus apparently worshiped the chief Babylonian deity, Marduk, whom he praised in his inscriptions.

45:5 I . . . there is no other. See vv. 6,14,18,21–22; 43:11 and note.

45:6 rising . . . to . . . setting. The whole earth (see Mal 1:11 and note).

45:7 darkness . . . disaster. Such as the darkness that plagued the Egyptians (see Ex 10:21–23; Ps 105:28; cf. Isa 47:11; Am 3:6).

45:8 rain down . . . shower. A picture of abundance (see Hos 10:12). righteousness. In v. 13; 41:2 Cyrus is mentioned in connection with God's righteousness. God is "making things right" through the Persian king. salvation spring up. God will deliver his people. righteousness grow. Peace and justice will prevail (see 11:4 and note).

I will make all his ways straight.[n]
He will rebuild my city[o]
and set my exiles free, but not for a price or reward,[p]
says the LORD Almighty."

14 This is what the LORD says:

"The products[q] of Egypt and the merchandise of Cush,[q] and those tall Sabeans[r]— they will come over to you[s] and will be yours;
they will trudge behind you,[t]
coming over to you in chains.[u]
They will bow down before you and plead[v] with you, saying,
'Surely God is with you,[w] and there is no other;
there is no other god.[x]' "

15 Truly you are a God who hides[y]
himself,
O God and Savior[z] of Israel.
16 All the makers of idols will be put to shame and disgraced;[a] they will go off into disgrace together.
17 But Israel will be saved[b] by the LORD with an everlasting salvation;[c] you will never be put to shame or disgraced,[d]
to ages everlasting.

18 For this is what the LORD says—
he who created the heavens,
he is God;
he who fashioned and made the earth,[e]
he founded it;
he did not create it to be empty,[f]
but formed it to be inhabited[g]—
he says:
"I am the LORD,
and there is no other.[h] 19 I have not spoken in secret,[i] from somewhere in a land of darkness;[j]
I have not said to Jacob's descendants,[k]
'Seek[l] me in vain.'
I, the LORD, speak the truth;
I declare what is right.[m]

20 "Gather together[n] and come; assemble, you fugitives from the
nations.
Ignorant[o] are those who carry[p]
about idols of wood, who pray to gods that cannot save.[q]
21 Declare what is to be, present it—let them take counsel together.
Who foretold[r] this long ago, who declared it from the distant past?[s]
Was it not I, the LORD?
And there is no God apart from me,[t] a righteous God[u] and a Savior;[v]
there is none but me.

22 "Turn[w] to me and be saved,[x]
all you ends of the earth;[y] for I am God, and there is no other.[z]
23 By myself I have sworn,[a] my mouth has uttered in all integrity[b]
a word that will not be revoked:[c]
Before me every knee will bow;[d]
by me every tongue will swear.[e]
24 They will say of me, 'In the LORD alone are righteousness[f] and strength.[g]' "

... ways straight. Enabling him to reach his goals (see v. 2; see also 40:3 and note; cf. Pr 3:6). rebuild my city. See note on 44:28. not for a price. Since God had not received a payment when he sold them (see 52:3 and note; contrast note on 43:3).

45:14 products ... merchandise. See 18:7 and note. Egypt ... Cush ... Sabeans. See notes on 18:1; 43:3. coming over to you ... bow down. See Ps 68:31. Israel's future domination over her former enemies has been mentioned in 11:14; 14:1–2 (see note on 14:1); it is also the theme of 49:23; 54:3; 60:11–14. Surely God is with you. One day the nations will acknowledge Israel's God (see v. 23; 19:23–25; Zec 8:20–23).

45:15 hides himself. God's plans and actions are a mystery to man (cf. 54:8; 55:8–9). Savior. See v. 21 and note on 43:3.

45:16 put to shame. See 42:17; 44:9.

45:17 everlasting salvation. Cf. the "everlasting kindness" of 54:8. never be put to shame. See 29:22 and note.

45:18 created ... fashioned. See 40:21–22 and notes. empty. Or "formless" or "chaotic" (see Ge 1:2 and note). to be inhabited. The Holy Land was now empty (see 6:11; Jer 4:23–26) and chaotic but would soon have inhabitants (see 44:26,28) and be orderly again.

45:19 in secret ... darkness. Probably an allusion to the clandestine ways of mediums and spiritists (see 8:19; 29:4). Seek me in vain. Cf. Jer 29:13–14.

45:20 Ignorant ... save. See 44:17–18 and notes.

45:21 Declare ... present. See 41:21–22 and note. foretold ... distant past. See 41:26 and note.

45:22 Turn ... be saved. Cf. 49:6 and the invitation of 55:7. ends of the earth. See 11:12 and note; 42:10.

45:23 By myself I have sworn. Explained in Heb 6:13. See also 62:8. word ... not ... revoked. See 55:10–11. every knee ... every tongue. See v. 14 and note. Paul quotes this portion of Isaiah in Ro 14:11 and Php 2:10–11 to describe Christ's exalted position.

45:24 In the LORD alone ... strength. See v. 5 and note. This is the climax of the refrain that runs through the chapter. All ... put to shame. Very similar to 41:11 except for "against you" (Israel).

All who have raged against him will come to him and be put to shame.[h]
25 But in the LORD all the descendants[i] of Israel will be found righteous[j] and will exult.[k]

Gods of Babylon

46 Bel[l] bows down, Nebo stoops low;
their idols[m] are borne by beasts of burden.[n]
The images that are carried[n] about are burdensome, a burden for the weary.
2 They stoop and bow down together;
unable to rescue the burden,
they themselves go off into captivity.[o]

3 "Listen[p] to me, O house of Jacob, all you who remain[q] of the house of Israel,
you whom I have upheld since you were conceived,[r] and have carried[s] since your birth.[t]
4 Even to your old age and gray hairs[u]
I am he,[v] I am he who will sustain you.
I have made you and I will carry you;
I will sustain[w] you and I will rescue you.

5 "To whom will you compare me or count me equal?
To whom will you liken me that we may be compared?[x]
6 Some pour out gold from their bags and weigh out silver on the scales;
they hire a goldsmith[y] to make it into a god,
and they bow down and worship it.[z]
7 They lift it to their shoulders and carry[a] it;
they set it up in its place, and there it stands.
From that spot it cannot move.[b]
Though one cries out to it, it does not answer;[c] it cannot save[d] him from his troubles.

8 "Remember[e] this, fix it in mind, take it to heart, you rebels.[f]
9 Remember the former things,[g] those of long ago;[h]
I am God, and there is no other;
I am God, and there is none like me.[i]
10 I make known the end from the beginning,[j] from ancient times,[k] what is still to come.[l]
I say: My purpose will stand,[m] and I will do all that I please.
11 From the east I summon[n] a bird of prey;[o]
from a far-off land, a man to fulfill my purpose.
What I have said, that will I bring about;
what I have planned,[p] that will I do.[q] 12 Listen[r] to me, you stubborn-hearted,[s]
you who are far from righteousness.[t] 13 I am bringing my righteousness[u] near,
it is not far away;
and my salvation[v] will not be delayed.
I will grant salvation to Zion,[w]
my splendor[x] to Israel.

Even on the aged

47:2 millstones and grind. A menial task performed by women (see Ex 11:5 and note; Jdg 9:53 and note). through the streams. Probably on the way to exile.
47:3 nakedness will be exposed. See Eze 16:36. Babylon is no longer a queen (see vv. 5,7); she is reduced to a servant girl or a prostitute (see v. 8). take vengeance. See 34:8 and note. spare no one. See 13:18–20.
47:4 Redeemer. See note on 41:14. LORD Almighty. See 13:4 and note. Holy One of Israel. See 1:4; 41:14 and notes.
47:5 queen of kingdoms. Babylon was a very beautiful city (see 13:19 and note).
47:6 angry ... desecrated my inheritance. See 10:5–6 (where Assyria is God's tool); 42:24 and note; 43:28 and note; La 2:2. Even on the aged. Their suffering fulfilled Moses' curse for covenant disobedience (Dt 28:49–50).
47:7 I will continue forever. Cf. the arrogant words of Nebuchadnezzar in Da 4:30.
47:8,10 I am ... none besides me. Almost a claim of deity (cf. the Lord's words in 43:11; 45:5–6,18,22). See also 14:12–15 and note.
47:8 lounging in your security. Similar language is used of the complacent women of Jerusalem in 32:9,11. widow. Deserted and distressed. loss of children. See v. 9; 13:16,18; 14:22.
47:9,12 sorceries ... spells. Magical practices to avoid danger and to inflict harm on the enemy (see 3:2–3 and note).

47:14 stubble. This will be a rapid, powerful fire. See note on 1:31; cf. Mal 4:1. cannot ... save themselves. In contrast to the mighty Savior of Israel (see 43:3 and note), astrologers and sorcerers are as helpless as idols (see 44:17 and note). no coals to warm anyone. A subtle reference to firewood, a material from which pagans sometimes made idols (see 44:15).

there is not one that can save[x]
you.

Stubborn Israel

48 "Listen to this, O house of Jacob, you who are called by the name of Israel[y]
and come from the line of Judah,[z] you who take oaths[a] in the name of the LORD[b] and invoke[c] the God of Israel—but not in truth[d] or righteousness—
2you who call yourselves citizens of the holy city[e]
and rely[f] on the God of Israel—
the LORD Almighty is his name:[g] 3I foretold the former things[h] long ago,
my mouth announced[i] them and I made them known;
then suddenly[j] I acted, and they came to pass.
4For I knew how stubborn[k] you were;
the sinews of your neck[l] were iron,
your forehead[m] was bronze.
5Therefore I told you these things long ago;
before they happened I announced[n] them to you
so that you could not say,
'My idols did them;[o]
my wooden image and metal god ordained them.'
6You have heard these things; look at them all.
Will you not admit them?

"From now on I will tell you of new things,[p]
of hidden things unknown to you.
7They are created[q] now, and not long ago;[r]
you have not heard of them before today.
So you cannot say,
'Yes, I knew[s] of them.'
8You have neither heard nor understood;[t] from of old your ear[u] has not been open.
Well do I know how treacherous[v]
you are;
you were called a rebel[w] from birth.
9For my own name's sake[x] I delay my wrath;[y]
for the sake of my praise I hold it back from you,
so as not to cut you off.[z] 10See, I have refined[a] you, though not as silver;
I have tested[b] you in the furnace[c]
of affliction.
11For my own sake,[d] for my own sake,
I do this.
How can I let myself be defamed?[e]
I will not yield my glory to another.[f]

Israel Freed

12"Listen[g] to me, O Jacob,
Israel, whom I have called:[h]
I am he;[i]
I am the first and I am the last.[j] 13My own hand laid the foundations of the earth,[k]
and my right hand spread out the heavens;[l]
when I summon them,
they all stand up together.[m]

48:1 called by the name. They belong to Israel (see 43:7 and note). Israel. See Ge 32:28 and note. Judah. The main tribe of the southern kingdom. See Ge 49:8 and note. not in truth. Contrast the oaths of 65:16.

48:2 holy city. Jerusalem, where the temple was located (see 2:2–4 and note; 52:1; 56:7; 57:13; 64:10–11; 65:11). See also 1:26 and note; 4:3 and note; Da 9:24. rely on . . . God. Theoretically at least (10:20). Contrast 31:1; 36:6,9; Eze 29:6–7. LORD Almighty. See 13:4 and note.

48:3 former things. See 41:22 and note. they came to pass. See 42:9.

48:4 stubborn . . . bronze. See Jer 6:28; cf. Eze 3:7.

48:5 My idols did them. See Isaiah's harsh words about idolatry in 44:17–20 (see also notes there). wooden image and metal god. See note on 44:12–20.

48:6 new things. For example, Israel's restoration (see 42:9 and note). The Messianic age and the new heavens and new earth may also be in view (cf. 65:17). hidden things. Cf. Ro 16:25–26.

48:7 created now. Now given substance in the prophetic announcement of their coming.

48:8 neither heard nor understood. See 1:3. ear . . . not . . . open. See 6:10 and note. rebel. See 1:2; 46:8 and notes.

48:9 delay my wrath. Cf. Ps 78:38. my praise. The praise God is worthy of.

48:10 refined . . . tested. Images of judgment (see Jer 9:7; Eze 22:18–22). Purifying fire is also mentioned in 1:25; 4:4. furnace of affliction. For Israel, Egypt had been an "iron-smelting furnace" (Dt 4:20; 1Ki 8:51; Jer 11:4). The fall of Jerusalem and the Babylonian exile were a similar furnace.

48:11 For . . . defamed. Jerusalem's fall and God's scattered people had brought dishonor to God's name (see Eze 36:20–23). my glory. See 40:5 and note.

48:12 called. To be God's servant, his chosen people. See 42:6; see also 41:2; 43:1 and notes. first and . . . last. See 41:4 and note.

48:13 laid the foundations . . . spread out the heavens. Isaiah often refers to God as Creator (see 40:21–22; 42:5; 51:13 and notes). Cf. Ps 102:25. when I summon . . . all stand up. All creation does God's bidding (see 40:26 and note; Ps 103:22).

14"Come together,[n] all of you, and listen:
Which of [the idols] has foretold[o] these things?
The LORD's chosen ally[p] will carry out his purpose[q] against Babylon;[r] his arm will be against the Babylonians.[t] 15I, even I, have spoken;
yes, I have called[s] him.
I will bring him,
and he will succeed[t] in his mission.

16"Come near[u] me and listen[v] to this:

"From the first announcement I have not spoken in secret;[w] at the time it happens, I am there."

And now the Sovereign LORD[x] has sent[y] me, with his Spirit.[z]

17This is what the LORD says—
your Redeemer,[a] the Holy One[b] of Israel:
"I am the LORD your God,
who teaches[c] you what is best for you,
who directs[d] you in the way[e] you should go.
18If only you had paid attention[f] to my commands, your peace[g] would have been like a river,[h]
your righteousness[i] like the waves of the sea.
19Your descendants[j] would have been like the sand,[k] your children like its numberless grains;[l] their name would never be cut off[m] nor destroyed from before me."

20Leave Babylon,
flee[n] from the Babylonians!
Announce this with shouts of joy[o] and proclaim it.
Send it out to the ends of the earth;[p] say, "The LORD has redeemed[q] his servant Jacob." 21They did not thirst[r] when he led them through the deserts;
he made water flow[s] for them from the rock;
he split the rock
and water gushed out.[t]

22"There is no peace,"[u] says the LORD, "for the wicked."[v]

The Servant of the LORD

49 Listen[w] to me, you islands;[x] hear this, you distant nations:
Before I was born[y] the LORD called[z] me;
from my birth he has made mention of my name.[a] 2He made my mouth[b] like a sharpened sword,[c] in the shadow of his hand[d] he hid me;
he made me into a polished arrow[e]
and concealed me in his quiver.

[t] 14 Or Chaldeans; also in verse 20

48:14 idols ... foretold. See 41:21–23,26; 43:9 and notes. chosen ally. Cyrus the Great (see 41:2 and note). his purpose. See 46:10–11 and note. Babylon. See 13:1 and note.
48:15 called him. Cyrus (see 41:2 and note). will succeed. See 44:28; 45:1–4 and notes.
48:16 first announcement. The prediction about Cyrus and his mission (see 41:25–27 and notes). not spoken in secret. See 45:19 and note. has sent me, with his Spirit. A reference to either Isaiah or the servant of the Lord. The Spirit of the Lord comes upon the servant in 42:1 (see note there) and upon the Messianic prophet of 61:1 (see note there).
48:17 Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel. See 41:14 and note. teaches you ... the way you should go. Through the prophets (see 30:20–21 and notes; Ps 32:8).
48:18 peace ... like a river, righteousness like the waves. Abundant and overflowing peace and righteousness (see 45:8 and note; Am 5:24 and note). Peace and righteousness are also linked in 9:7; 32:17; 54:13–14; 60:17; Ps 85:10; Heb 7:2.
48:19 descendants ... like the sand. See 10:22; see also Ge 13:16 and note; Ge 22:17; Jer 33:22 and note. name ... never be cut off. Israel's name would not be completely obliterated (see v. 9; 54:3).
48:20 Leave Babylon, flee. Although the Jews did not have to flee (see 52:12), they were encouraged to depart quickly because of the judgment coming on Babylon (cf. Rev 18:4). This is the last mention of Babylon by name in Isaiah. shouts of joy. See 44:23; 49:13; 52:9 and notes. ends of the earth. See 11:12; 42:10 and notes. redeemed. See 43:1 and note. his servant. See 41:8–9 and note.
48:21 did not thirst ... water ... from the rock. A reference to God's provision after the exodus (see Ex 17:6 and note; Nu 20:11; see also Isa 32:2; 35:6; 43:19; 49:10 and notes). God's people would have water on the way home from Babylonian exile also.
48:22 Repeated almost verbatim in 57:21. peace. See 39:8 and note. wicked. Those who rebel against the Lord (see note on 1:2).
49:1–6 (or 1–7 or 1–13) The second of the four servant songs (see note on 42:1–4).
49:1 islands. Or "coastlands." In 42:4 the islands "put their hope" in the servant's law. Before I was born ... called me. Cf. v. 5. The language is similar to that of the call of the prophet Jeremiah (Jer 1:5) and of the apostle Paul (Gal 1:15). Cf. 41:9. made mention of my name. See 43:1 and note.
49:2 my mouth ... sharpened sword. See Eph 6:17; Heb 4:12; Rev 1:16; 2:12,16. In 11:4 a powerful rod comes from the mouth of the Messiah. shadow of his hand. Descriptive of protection (see 30:2–3; 51:16). polished arrow. Arrows are used of God's judgment in Dt 32:23,42, of the deadly words of the wicked in Ps 64:3–4 and of Satan's schemes and temptations in Eph 6:11,16.

3 He said to me, "You are my servant,[f]
Israel, in whom I will display my splendor.[g]" 4 But I said, "I have labored to no
purpose;
I have spent my strength in vain[h] and for nothing.
Yet what is due me is in the LORD's hand,[i]
and my reward[j] is with my God."[k]

5 And now the LORD says—
he who formed me in the womb[l]
to be his servant
to bring Jacob back to him and gather Israel[m] to himself, for I am honored[n] in the eyes of the LORD
and my God has been my strength[o]—
6 he says:
"It is too small a thing for you to be my servant[p]
to restore the tribes of Jacob and bring back those of Israel I have kept.[q]
I will also make you a light[r] for the Gentiles,[s] that you may bring my salvation to the ends of the earth."[t]

7 This is what the LORD says—
the Redeemer and Holy One of Israel[u]—
to him who was despised[v] and abhorred by the nation,
to the servant of rulers:
"Kings[w] will see you and rise up, princes will see and bow down,[x]
because of the LORD, who is faithful,[y] the Holy One of Israel, who has chosen[z] you."

Restoration of Israel

8 This is what the LORD says:

"In the time of my favor[a] I will answer you,
and in the day of salvation I will help you;[b]
I will keep[c] you and will make you to be a covenant for the people,[d] to restore the land[e] and to reassign its desolate inheritances,[f]
9 to say to the captives,[g] 'Come out,' and to those in darkness,[h] 'Be free!'

"They will feed beside the roads and find pasture on every barren hill.[i]
10 They will neither hunger nor thirst,[j] nor will the desert heat or the sun beat upon them.[k]
He who has compassion[l] on them will guide[m] them and lead them beside springs[n] of water.
11 I will turn all my mountains into roads,

49:3 my servant, Israel. See notes on 41:8–9; 42:1–4; 42:1. "Servant" here cannot mean literally national Israel, since in v. 5 this servant has a mission to Israel. Rather, the Messianic servant is the ideal Israel through whom the Lord will be glorified. He will succeed where national Israel failed. display my splendor. Through the redemption he will accomplish (see notes on 35:2; 40:5).

49:4 labored to no purpose ... in vain. Just as the nation Israel had toiled in vain (see 65:23), so Christ would encounter strong opposition during his ministry and would temporarily suffer apparent failure. The "suffering servant" theme is developed in the third and fourth of the four servant songs (50:4–9 or 50:4–11; 52:13–53:12). what is due me ... my reward. Perhaps referring to the spiritual offspring of the servant (see 53:10)—Jews and Gentiles alike who believe in him (vv. 5–6); see 40:10 and note. In any case, he will be vindicated and rewarded (50:8; 53:10–12; 1Ti 3:16).

49:5 formed me in the womb. See v. 1; 44:2 and notes. bring Jacob back ... gather Israel. A prophecy of release from captivity in Babylon (see vv. 9–12,22; 41:2 and note) and from the greater captivity of sin (see 42:7 and note). my strength. See 12:2.

49:6 Together with Ge 12:1–3; Ex 19:5–6, this verse is sometimes called the "great commission of the OT" and is quoted in part by Paul and Barnabas in Ac 13:47. those ... I have kept. Probably referring to the remnant (see 1:9 and note). light for the Gentiles. See 42:6 and note; Ac 26:23. Christ is the light of the world (Lk 2:30–32; Jn 8:12; 9:5), and Christians reflect his light (Mt 5:14). ends of the earth. See 11:12 and note; see also 41:5; 42:10; 48:20.

49:7 Redeemer and Holy One of Israel. See 41:14 and note. despised. Applied twice to the suffering servant in 53:3. In 60:14 Zion is despised by her enemies. nation. Refers to either Israel (1:4) or Gentiles. Kings will see ... bow down. See v. 23. This reaction to the servant is similar to that of 52:15. Former oppressors bow before a restored Jerusalem in 60:14 (cf. 45:14; 60:11–12; 66:23). chosen you. See 41:8–9; 42:1 and notes.

49:8 Quoted in part in 2Co 6:2. time of my favor ... day of salvation. The background of this verse is probably the Year of Jubilee (see 61:1–2; Lev 25:10). The return from exile will bring the same restoration of land for the people as that year of liberty did. keep you ... to be a covenant. See 42:6 and note. reassign its desolate inheritances. See 44:26. It was under Joshua that the land had been divided among individual tribes and families (Jos 14:1–5). The Messianic servant will be a new Joshua—as well as a new Moses (see vv. 9–10, which echo Israel's deliverance from Egypt and her desert experiences under Moses during the period of the exodus).

49:9 captives. The exiles. See 42:7 and note. barren hill. See 41:18 and note.

49:10 neither hunger nor thirst. See 48:21 and note. has compassion. See 14:1 and note. will guide them. As a shepherd (see 40:11 and note). This whole verse is also a picture of heaven according to Rev 7:16–17.

49:11 mountains into roads. See 26:7 and note. highways ... raised up. See 11:16; 35:8; 40:3; 62:10 and notes.

and my highways[o] will be raised up.[p]

15"Can a mother forget the baby at her breast and have no compassion on the child[a] she has borne?
Though she may forget,
I will not forget you![b]
16See, I have engraved[c] you on the palms of my hands;

17Your sons hasten back,
and those who laid you waste[e] depart from you.
18Lift up your eyes and look around;
all your sons gather[f] and come to you.
As surely as I live,[g]" declares the LORD,
"you will wear[h] them all as ornaments;
you will put them on, like a bride.
19"Though you were ruined and made desolate[i] and your land laid waste,[j]
now you will be too small for your people,[k]
and those who devoured[l] you will be far away.
20The children born during your bereavement will yet say in your hearing,
'This place is too small for us;
give us more space to live in.'[m] 21Then you will say in your heart,
'Who bore me these?[n]
I was bereaved[o] and barren;
I was exiled and rejected.[p]
Who brought these[q] up?
I was left[r] all alone,[s] but these—where have they come from?' "

22This is what the Sovereign LORD[t] says:

"See, I will beckon to the Gentiles,
I will lift up my banner[u] to the peoples;
they will bring[v] your sons in their arms and carry your daughters on their shoulders.[w] 23Kings[x] will be your foster fathers,

Israel's Sin and the Servant's Obedience

50 This is what the LORD says:

"Where is your mother's certificate of divorce[s]
with which I sent her away?
Or to which of my creditors did I sell[t] you?
Because of your sins[u] you were sold;[v]
because of your transgressions your mother was sent away.
[2]When I came, why was there no one?
When I called, why was there no one to answer?[w]
Was my arm too short[x] to ransom you?
Do I lack the strength[y] to rescue you?
By a mere rebuke[z] I dry up the sea,[a]
I turn rivers into a desert;[b] their fish rot for lack of water and die of thirst.
[3]I clothe the sky with darkness[c]
and make sackcloth[d] its covering."

[4]The Sovereign LORD[e] has given me an instructed tongue,[f]
to know the word that sustains the weary.[g]
He wakens me morning by morning,[h] wakens my ear to listen like one being taught.[i] [5]The Sovereign LORD[j] has opened my ears,[k] and I have not been rebellious;[l]
I have not drawn back.
[6]I offered my back to those who beat[m] me, my cheeks to those who pulled out my beard;[n]
I did not hide my face from mocking and spitting.[o]
[7]Because the Sovereign LORD[p] helps[q] me,
I will not be disgraced.
Therefore have I set my face like flint,[r] and I know I will not be put to shame.[s]
[8]He who vindicates[t] me is near.[u]
Who then will bring charges against me?[v]
Let us face each other![w]

49:26 oppressors. See 14:4; 16:4; 51:13. eat their own flesh. During the siege of Jerusalem its people were reduced to cannibalism (La 4:10). drunk on their own blood. Cf. 51:22–23. mankind will know. See v. 23 and note. Savior. See 43:3 and note; 60:16. Redeemer. See 41:14 and note. Mighty One of Jacob. See 1:24 and note; 60:16.

50:1 certificate of divorce. A husband was required to give this to a wife he wished to divorce (see Dt 24:1,3; Mt 19:7; Mk 10:4). According to Jer 3:8 God gave the northern kingdom of Israel her certificate of divorce, and Isa 54:6–7 indicates that God had left Judah (see 62:4). Perhaps Isaiah's point is that God did not initiate the divorce; Judah broke her relationship with him. The exile, then, was actually a temporary period of separation (see 54:7) rather than a divorce. my creditors. If a man's debts were not paid, his children could be sold into slavery (see 2Ki 4:1). But God has no creditors. you were sold. Cf. 45:13; 52:3.

50:2 I came . . . called. Through his servants the prophets (see Jer 25:4). no one to answer. Israel was deaf toward God (see 6:10 and note; 66:4). arm too short. The arm represented power. dry up the sea. A reference to crossing the Red Sea (see 43:16–17 and notes; Ps 106:9). rivers into a desert. See 42:15 and note. fish rot. Perhaps a reference to one of the plagues in Egypt (see 19:5–6,8; Ex 7:18).

50:3 sky with darkness. Perhaps an allusion to the plague of darkness (Ex 10:21); but see 13:10 and note.

50:4–9 (or 4–11) The third of the four servant songs (see note on 42:1–4).

50:4–5,7,9 Sovereign LORD. The only uses of this title in the servant songs.

50:4 word that sustains the weary. In 42:3 the servant assisted the weak (contrast 49:2). Cf. Jer 31:25. wakens my ear. Unlike Israel (see v. 2), the servant was responsive to God.

50:5 opened my ears. A sign of obedience (see 1:19; Ps 40:6 and second NIV text note there). not been rebellious. Unlike Israel (see 1:2 and note; 1:20).

50:6 my back to those who beat me. Beatings were for criminals or fools (see Pr 10:13; 19:29; 26:3; Mt 27:26; Jn 19:1). pulled out my beard. A sign of disrespect and contempt (see 2Sa 10:4–5; Ne 13:25). mocking and spitting. To show hatred (Job 30:10) or to insult or disgrace (Dt 25:9; Job 17:6; Mt 27:30). This treatment of the servant anticipates his ultimate suffering in 52:13–53:12.

50:7 helps me. See v. 9; 49:8. not be disgraced . . . put to shame. See 29:22 and note. Ultimately the servant will be honored (see 49:7; 52:13; 53:10–12). my face like flint. Like the prophets, the servant will endure with great determination. Cf. Lk 9:51, where Jesus "resolutely set out for Jerusalem" (lit. "resolutely set his face to go to Jerusalem").

50:8 vindicates me. The Lord will find him righteous (see 45:25; for its ultimate fulfillment see 1Ti 3:16). bring charges. See 49:25 and note. Because Christ was sinless, he also nullifies the charges brought against any who believe in him (see Ro 8:31–34). my accuser. Cf. 54:17.

Who is my accuser?
Let him confront me!
9It is the Sovereign LORD[x] who helps[y] me.
Who is he that will condemn[z] me?
They will all wear out like a garment;
the moths[a] will eat them up.

10Who among you fears[b] the LORD and obeys[c] the word of his servant?[d]
Let him who walks in the dark, who has no light,[e] trust[f] in the name of the LORD and rely on his God.
11But now, all you who light fires and provide yourselves with flaming torches,[g] go, walk in the light of your fires[h] and of the torches you have set ablaze.
This is what you shall receive from my hand:[i]
You will lie down in torment.[j]

Everlasting Salvation for Zion

51 "Listen[k] to me, you who pursue righteousness[l] and who seek[m] the LORD:
Look to the rock[n] from which you were cut and to the quarry from which you were hewn; 2look to Abraham,[o] your father,
and to Sarah, who gave you birth.
When I called him he was but one,
and I blessed him and made him many.[p] 3The LORD will surely comfort[q] Zion[r] and will look with compassion on all her ruins;[s] he will make her deserts like Eden,[t] her wastelands[u] like the garden of the LORD.
Joy and gladness[v] will be found in her, thanksgiving[w] and the sound of singing.

4"Listen to me, my people;[x]
hear me,[y] my nation:
The law[z] will go out from me;
my justice[a] will become a light to the nations.[b] 5My righteousness draws near speedily, my salvation[c] is on the way,[d]
and my arm[e] will bring justice to the nations.
The islands[f] will look to me and wait in hope[g] for my arm.
6Lift up your eyes to the heavens,
look at the earth beneath;
the heavens will vanish like smoke,[h]
the earth will wear out like a garment[i] and its inhabitants die like flies.
But my salvation[j] will last forever,[k]
my righteousness will never fail.[l]

7"Hear me, you who know what is right,[m]
you people who have my law in your hearts:[n]
Do not fear the reproach of men or be terrified by their insults.[o] 8For the moth will eat them up like a garment;[p]
the worm[q] will devour them like wool.
But my righteousness will last forever,[r]
my salvation through all generations."

50:9 wear out like a garment; the moths. Those who falsely accuse the righteous succumb to moths in 51:8 (i.e., they will be destroyed).

50:10 fears the LORD. See Ge 20:11; Pr 1:7 and notes. Cf. 25:3; 59:19. in the dark. Perhaps trouble or distress, similar to the experience of the servant (cf. 8:22). trust ... rely. The Lord encouraged such trust in 12:2; 31:1.

50:11 light fires ... flaming torches. Perhaps a reference to wicked practices that will ultimately destroy those who engage in them. Fire is a frequent figure of punishment (see 1:31 and note; cf. 9:18; 47:14; Ps 7:13). torment. Cf. 66:24.

51:1 who pursue righteousness. Cf. v. 7; Dt 16:20; Pr 15:9. rock. Abraham (v. 2). Elsewhere God is called "the Rock" (see 17:10 and note).

51:3 comfort ... compassion. See 49:13 and note. deserts like Eden. See 35:1–2. The contrast between the lush splendor of Eden and the barrenness of the desert is found also in Joel 2:3. Cf. Ge 2:8,10. Joy and gladness. See v. 11; 25:9 and note.

51:4 law ... my justice. The rule of the servant would bring justice also (see 2:2–4; 42:4 and notes). light to the nations. The servant is the light in 42:6; 49:6.

51:5 righteousness draws near. In the deliverance from exile. Ultimately, salvation through Christ will come to all nations. See 46:13 and note. arm. Symbolizes power. islands. See 11:11 and note. look to me ... hope. See 40:31 and note; 42:4 and note.

51:6 Lift ... to the heavens. See 40:26. heavens will vanish. See 34:4 and note. earth will wear out like a garment. See 24:4; Heb 1:10–11; cf. Isa 50:9. last forever. See v. 8; 45:17. The word of God will also endure forever (see 40:8 and note; Mt 24:35; Lk 21:33).

51:7 who know what is right. See v. 1 and note. who have my law in your hearts. See Ps 37:31; Jer 31:33. reproach ... insults. Such as those borne by the servant in 50:6–7.

51:8 moth ... like a garment. See 50:9 and note; cf. 51:6.

51:9,17 Awake, awake! See 52:1 for the same double command (see also 40:1 and note).

51:9 Clothe ... with strength. Cf. 50:2; see note on 40:31.

awake, as in days gone by,
as in generations of old.[v]
Was it not you who cut Rahab[w] to pieces, who pierced that monster[x] through?
10 Was it not you who dried up the sea,[y]
the waters of the great deep,[z] who made a road in the depths of the sea[a] so that the redeemed[b] might cross over?
11 The ransomed[c] of the LORD will return.
They will enter Zion with singing;[d] everlasting joy will crown their heads.
Gladness and joy[e] will overtake them,
and sorrow and sighing will flee away.[f]

12 "I, even I, am he who comforts[g] you.
Who are you that you fear[h] mortal men,[i]
the sons of men, who are but grass,[j] 13 that you forget[k] the LORD your Maker,[l] who stretched out the heavens[m]
and laid the foundations of the earth, that you live in constant terror[n] every day because of the wrath of the oppressor, who is bent on destruction?
For where is the wrath of the oppressor?[o]
14 The cowering prisoners will soon be set free;[p]
they will not die in their dungeon, nor will they lack bread.[q]
15 For I am the LORD your God, who churns up the sea[r] so that its waves roar[s]—
the LORD Almighty[t] is his name.

16 I have put my words in your mouth[u]
and covered you with the shadow of my hand[v]—
I who set the heavens in place, who laid the foundations of the earth,[w]
and who say to Zion, 'You are my people.[x]' "

The Cup of the LORD's Wrath

17 Awake, awake![y]
Rise up, O Jerusalem, you who have drunk from the hand of the LORD
the cup[z] of his wrath,[a] you who have drained to its dregs[b]
the goblet that makes men stagger.[c] 18 Of all the sons[d] she bore there was none to guide her;[e]
of all the sons she reared there was none to take her by the hand.[f] 19 These double calamities[g] have come upon you—who can comfort you?[h]— ruin and destruction,[i] famine[j] and sword[k]— who can[w] console you?
20 Your sons have fainted;
they lie at the head of every street,[l]
like antelope caught in a net.[m]
They are filled with the wrath[n] of the LORD and the rebuke[o] of your God.

21 Therefore hear this, you afflicted[p] one, made drunk,[q] but not with wine.

[w] 19 Dead Sea Scrolls, Septuagint, Vulgate and Syriac; Masoretic Text / how can I

arm of the LORD. Symbol of God's power (cf. v. 5). See 30:30; 50:2 and notes; 52:10; 53:1; 63:12. Rahab ... monster. Egypt. See 27:1 and note; 30:7 and note.

51:10 sea. The Red Sea (see 50:2 and note). the redeemed. See 35:9 and note.

51:11 This verse is the same as 35:10 (see note there).

51:12 who comforts. See v. 3; 49:13 and note. grass. See 37:27; 40:6 and notes.

51:13 stretched out the heavens and ... earth. See v. 16; 48:13 and note. wrath of the oppressor. See 49:26 and note. Babylon's wrath was insignificant beside the mighty wrath of God (cf. 13:3,5; 30:27).

51:14 prisoners ... set free. The exiles in Babylon (see 42:7 and note; 49:9). in their dungeon. Cf. 42:7; Jer 37:16.

51:15 churns up the sea. Cf. Job 26:12; Ps 107:25; Jer 31:35. LORD Almighty. See 13:4 and note.

51:16 my words. Primarily the law of Moses, mentioned in v. 7. Like the servant of 49:2, the people are responding to God's word (cf. 59:21; Jos 1:8). shadow of my hand. See 49:2 and note. set the heavens ... earth. See v. 13 and note.

51:17 cup of his wrath. See vv. 20–22; 13:3 and note. Experiencing God's judgment is often compared to becoming drunk on strong wine. It is the fate of wicked nations in particular. See 29:9; 63:6; Ps 60:3; 75:8; Jer 25:15–16; La 4:21; Eze 23:32–34; Hab 2:16; Zec 12:2; cf. Jn 18:11.

51:18 Children were expected to take care of parents who were sick or unsteady.

51:19 who can comfort you? A question also asked in Jer 15:5. Contrast v. 3.

51:20 caught in a net. Cf. Pr 7:22. rebuke. See 17:13; 54:9; 66:15.

51:21 afflicted one. Jerusalem (see 54:11). made drunk. On God's wrath (see v. 17 and note).

22This is what your Sovereign LORD says, your God, who defends[r] his people:
"See, I have taken out of your hand
the cup[s] that made you stagger;
from that cup, the goblet of my wrath,
you will never drink again.
23I will put it into the hands of your tormentors,[t]
who said to you,
'Fall prostrate[u] that we may walk[v] over you.'
And you made your back like the ground, like a street to be walked over."[w]

52 Awake, awake,[x] O Zion, clothe yourself with strength.[y]
Put on your garments of splendor,[z]
O Jerusalem, the holy city.[a]
The uncircumcised[b] and defiled[c] will not enter you again.[d] 2Shake off your dust;[e] rise up,[f] sit enthroned,
O Jerusalem.
Free yourself from the chains on your neck,[g]
O captive Daughter of Zion.[h]

3For this is what the LORD says:

"You were sold for nothing,[i] and without money[j] you will be redeemed.[k]"

4For this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

"At first my people went down to Egypt[l] to live;
lately, Assyria[m] has oppressed them.

5"And now what do I have here?" declares the LORD.
"For my people have been taken away for nothing, and those who rule them mock,[x]" declares the LORD.
"And all day long
my name is constantly blasphemed.[n] 6Therefore my people will know[o] my name;[p] therefore in that day[q] they will know that it is I who foretold[r] it.
Yes, it is I."

7How beautiful on the mountains[s] are the feet of those who bring good news,[t] who proclaim peace,[u] who bring good tidings, who proclaim salvation,
who say to Zion,
"Your God reigns!"[v] 8Listen! Your watchmen[w] lift up their voices;[x] together they shout for joy.[y]
When the LORD returns[z] to Zion,[a] they will see it with their own eyes.
9Burst into songs of joy[b] together,
you ruins[c] of Jerusalem,
for the LORD has comforted[d] his people,
he has redeemed Jerusalem.[e] 10The LORD will lay bare his holy arm[f] in the sight of all the nations,[g] and all the ends of the earth[h] will see the salvation[i] of our God.

[x]5 Dead Sea Scrolls and Vulgate; Masoretic Text wail

51:22 defends his people. See 49:25 and note. cup ... of my wrath. See v. 17 and note.

51:23 your tormentors. The Babylonians. See vv. 13–14; 14:4. your back like the ground. Perhaps figurative, but cf. Jos 10:24.

52:1 Awake, awake ... clothe ... with strength. See 51:9,17 and notes. garments of splendor. Perhaps the robes of the priests, which belong to Jerusalem as a "holy city." See 49:18 and note. holy city. See 48:2 and note. uncircumcised and defiled. Foreign invaders. See 35:8 and note; Jdg 14:3 and note.

52:2 Shake off your dust. Contrast the fate of Babylon in 47:1 (see note there). Free yourself. See 42:7 and note; 49:9; 51:14. Daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants.

52:3 sold for nothing. The enemy paid the Lord nothing for acquiring Jerusalem. See 45:13; 50:1 and notes. without money ... redeemed. See 41:14 and note; 43:1; 45:13.

52:4 Assyria ... oppressed them. See 9:4 and note.

52:5 Quoted in part in Ro 2:24. for nothing. See v. 3 and note. my name is ... blasphemed. The captivity brought disrespect to the God of helpless Jerusalem (see Eze 36:20–23). Cf. Assyria's blasphemy in 37:23–24.

52:6 know my name. See 49:26 and note. in that day. The day of deliverance from Babylon. See 10:20,27 and note. foretold it. The return from exile.

52:7 feet of those who bring good news. A reference to messengers who ran from the scene of a battle to bring news of the outcome to a waiting king and people (see 2Sa 18:26). Here the news refers to the return from exile (vv. 11–12; see 40:9 and note; 41:27), a deliverance that prefigures Christ's deliverance from sin. See Ro 10:15; Eph 6:15. salvation. See 49:8 and note. Your God reigns! See Ps 96:10. The return of God's people to Jerusalem emphasizes his sovereign rule over the world (see 40:9 and note). God's kingdom will come more fully at the second coming of Christ (see Rev 19:6).

52:8 watchmen. Those in Jerusalem watching for the arrival of the messengers (cf. 62:6–7; 2Sa 18:24–27).

52:9 Burst into songs. See 44:23 and note. comforted. See 49:13 and note. redeemed. See v. 3 and note.

52:10 holy arm. See 51:9 and note. God's arm is often associated with redemption and salvation (see Ex 6:6). all the ends of the earth. Equivalent to "all mankind" in 40:5 (see note there). Cf. 45:22.

[11]Depart,[j] depart, go out from there!
Touch no unclean thing![k]
Come out from it and be pure,[l]
you who carry the vessels[m] of the LORD.
[12]But you will not leave in haste[n] or go in flight;
for the LORD will go before you,[o]
the God of Israel will be your rear guard.[p]

The Suffering and Glory of the Servant

[13]See, my servant[q] will act wisely[y];
he will be raised and lifted up and highly exalted.[r] [14]Just as there were many who were appalled[s] at him[z]— his appearance was so disfigured[t] beyond that of any man and his form marred beyond human likeness[u]— [15]so will he sprinkle[v] many nations,[a] and kings[w] will shut their mouths[x] because of him.
For what they were not told, they will see,
and what they have not heard, they will understand.[y]

53 Who has believed our message[z] and to whom has the arm[a] of the LORD been revealed?[b] [2]He grew up before him like a tender shoot,[c]
and like a root[d] out of dry ground.
He had no beauty or majesty to attract us to him,
nothing in his appearance[e] that we should desire him.
[3]He was despised and rejected by men,
a man of sorrows,[f] and familiar with suffering.[g]
Like one from whom men hide[h] their faces
he was despised,[i] and we esteemed him not.

[4]Surely he took up our infirmities and carried our sorrows,[j] yet we considered him stricken by God,[k] smitten by him, and afflicted.[l]
[5]But he was pierced[m] for our transgressions,[n]
he was crushed[o] for our iniquities;
the punishment[p] that brought us peace[q] was upon him,

y 13 Or will prosper z 14 Hebrew you a 15 Hebrew; Septuagint so will many nations marvel at him

52:11 Depart, depart . . . ! See note on 40:1. unclean thing. Perhaps referring to pagan religious objects (cf. Ge 31:19; 35:2). you who carry the vessels. Cyrus allowed the people to take back the articles of the temple seized by Nebuchadnezzar (Ezr 1:7–11). The priests and Levites were responsible for them (see Nu 3:6–8; 2Ch 5:4–7).

52:12 not leave in haste. See 48:20 and note. go before you . . . be your rear guard. As he did for the Israelites when they were freed from Egypt (see Ex 13:21; 14:19–20; cf. Isa 42:16; 49:10; 58:8).

52:13–53:12 The fourth and longest of the four servant songs (see note on 42:1–4). It constitutes the central and most important unit in chs. 40–66 as well as in chs. 49–57 (see note on 39:8). The song contains five stanzas of three numbered verses each. It is quoted more frequently in the NT than any other OT passage and is often referred to as the "gospel in the OT."

52:13 my servant. See note on 42:1. act wisely. A mark of God's blessing (see 1Sa 18:14) and of obedience to God's word (see Jos 1:8). The Messianic King will "reign wisely" (Jer 23:5). Cf. 53:10. raised and lifted up. Words that describe the Lord in Isaiah's vision (see 6:1 and note; 57:15). Christ's exaltation is referred to in Ac 2:33; 3:13; Eph 1:20–23; Php 2:9–11 (see also 1Pe 1:10–11).

52:14 appalled at him. When they saw Christ's suffering on the cross. Cf. the reaction to the ruined city of Tyre (Eze 27:35). disfigured. A term used of a "blemished animal," which should not be offered to the Lord (Mal 1:14). Cf. the disgraceful treatment of the servant (see 50:6 and note). beyond that of any man. Cf. Ps 22:6. His treatment was inhuman.

52:15 sprinkle many nations. With the sprinkling of cleansing (see Lev 14:7; Nu 8:7; 19:18–19) and/or of consecration (see Ex 29:21; Lev 8:11,30). But see NIV text note. kings will shut their mouths. In astonishment at the suffering and exaltation of the servant (see 49:6–7 and notes). Cf. Job 21:5. For what . . . understand. Quoted in Ro 15:21. Even though they have not heard the prophetic word, kings will understand the mission of the servant when they see his humiliation and exaltation (contrast 6:9–10).

53:1 Quoted in whole or in part in Jn 12:38; Ro 10:16. our message. The good news about salvation, given by the prophets to Israel and the nations (see 52:7,10). arm of the LORD. See 51:9 and note.

53:2 tender shoot. The Messiah would grow from the "stump of Jesse." See 4:2; 11:1 and notes. His beginnings would be humble. root. See 11:10 and note. beauty. The Hebrew for this word is used of David in 1Sa 16:18, where it is translated "fine-looking." Christ had nothing of the bearing or trappings of royalty.

53:3 despised. See 49:7 and note; Ps 22:6. rejected . . . esteemed. The Hebrew words used here occur together also in 2:22 (see note there). Cf. Jn 1:10–11. sorrows. The Hebrew for this word is used of both physical and mental pain (see v. 4; Ex 3:7). hide their faces. See 1:15 and note; 8:17.

53:4 Quoted in part in Mt 8:17 with reference to Jesus' healing ministry. infirmities. Diseases often result from sinful living and are ultimately the consequences of original (Adamic) sin. See 1:5–6 and note. stricken by God. With a terrible disease (see Ge 12:17; 2Ki 15:5). People (Israel in particular) thought the servant was suffering for his own sins. afflicted. Or "humbled," or "oppressed" (see v. 7; 58:10).

53:5 pierced. See Ps 22:16; Zec 12:10; Jn 19:34. crushed. In spirit (see Ps 34:18; cf. Isa 57:15). The sins of the world weighed heavily upon him. healed. Here probably equivalent to "forgiven" (see 6:10; Jer 30:17; see also note on 1Pe 2:24).

and by his wounds[r] we are healed.[s] 6We all, like sheep, have gone astray,[t] each of us has turned to his own way;[u]
and the LORD has laid on him
the iniquity[v] of us all.

7He was oppressed[w] and afflicted, yet he did not open his mouth;[x] he was led like a lamb[y] to the slaughter,[z]
and as a sheep before her shearers is silent,
so he did not open his mouth.
8By oppression[b] and judgment[a] he was taken away.
And who can speak of his descendants?
For he was cut off from the land of the living;[b]
for the transgression[c] of my people he was stricken.[c] 9He was assigned a grave with the wicked,[d]
and with the rich[e] in his death, though he had done no violence,[f] nor was any deceit in his mouth.[g]

10Yet it was the LORD's will[h] to crush[i] him and cause him to suffer,[j] and though the LORD makes[d] his life a guilt offering,[k] he will see his offspring[l] and prolong his days, and the will of the LORD will prosper[m] in his hand.
11After the suffering[n] of his soul, he will see the light[o] ⌊of life⌋[e] and
be satisfied[f];
by his knowledge[g] my righteous servant[p] will justify[q] many,
and he will bear their iniquities.[r] 12Therefore I will give him a portion among the great,[h][s] and he will divide the spoils[t] with the strong,[i] because he poured out his life unto death,[u]
and was numbered with the transgressors.[v]
For he bore[w] the sin of many,[x] and made intercession[y] for the transgressors.

53:6 have gone astray. Cf. Ps 119:176; Jer 50:6; Eze 34:4–6,16; 1Pe 2:25. laid on him the iniquity of us all. Just as the priest laid his hands on the scapegoat and symbolically put Israel's sins on it (Lev 16:21). See 1Pe 2:24.

53:7–8 Verses read by the Ethiopian eunuch in the presence of Philip (Ac 8:32–33).

53:7 oppressed. Like Israel. See 49:26 and note. The Hebrew for this word is translated "slave drivers" in Ex 5:6. lamb to the slaughter. Cf. Ps 44:22; Rev 5:6. John the Baptist called Jesus "the Lamb of God" (Jn 1:29,36). did not open his mouth. Jesus remained silent before the chief priests and Pilate (Mt 27:12–14; Mk 14:60–61; 15:4–5; Jn 19:8–9) and before Herod (Lk 23:8–9).

53:8 By oppression and judgment. Jesus was given an unfair trial. his descendants. To die without children was considered a tragedy (2Sa 18:18). Cf. also v. 10. But see second NIV text note here.

53:9 the wicked. The manner of his death would indicate that, as far as those who condemned him were concerned, he was to be buried with executed criminals. the rich. Not as a burial with honor. The parallelism (with its effective wordplay in Hebrew) makes clear that Isaiah here associates the rich with the wicked, as do many OT writers—because they acquired their wealth by wicked means and/or trusted in their wealth rather than in God (see, e.g., Ps 37:16,35; Pr 18:23; 28:20; Jer 5:26–27; Mic 6:10,12). According to the Gospels (Mt 27:57–60 and parallels), the wealthy Joseph of Arimathea gave Jesus an honorable burial by placing his body in his own tomb. But this was undoubtedly an act of love growing out of his awareness that he had been forgiven much (see Lk 7:47). Thus the fulfillment fitted but also transcended the prophecy. he had done no violence, nor . . . deceit in his mouth. Peter quotes these lines as he encourages believers to endure unjust suffering (1Pe 2:22).

53:10 crush him. See v. 5 and note. guilt offering. An offering where restitution was usually required (Lev 5:16; 6:5) and the offender sacrificed a ram (Lev 5:15). his offspring. Spiritual descendants. prolong his days. Christ would live forever (see 9:7 and note). prosper. See 52:13 and NIV text note there.

53:11 light ⌊of life⌋. A reference to the resurrection of Christ; see 1Co 15:4 (but see also the first two NIV text notes here). For "of life" see also Job 33:28,30; Ps 49:19; 56:13. be satisfied. In 1:11, where the same Hebrew word appears, God had "more than enough" of innumerable sacrifices that accomplished nothing. Here the one sacrifice of Christ brings perfect satisfaction. his knowledge. His true knowledge of the true God (see 1:3; 6:9; 43:10; 45:4–5; 52:6; 56:10). The Spirit of knowledge (11:2) rested on the Messiah (but see the third NIV text note here). Cf. 52:13. my . . . servant. See 41:8–9; 42:1 and notes. justify. Cause many to be declared righteous. See 5:23 ("acquit"); Ro 5:19 and note. many. See NIV text notes on v. 12; see also 52:15; Da 12:3.

53:12 among the great . . . with the strong. God will reward his servant as if he was a king sharing in the spoils of a great victory (see 52:15). divide the spoils. God's gift to his suffering servant (cf. 9:3). poured out his life. As a sacrifice (see v. 10). unto death. See Php 2:8. and was numbered with the transgressors. Quoted in Lk 22:37 with reference to Jesus. bore. The Hebrew for this verb is translated "took up" in v. 4. made intercession. See Jer 7:16 ("pray"); 27:18 ("plead"). Cf. 59:16; Heb 7:25.

The Future Glory of Zion

54 "Sing, O barren woman,[z]
you who never bore a child; burst into song, shout for joy,[a] you who were never in labor;[b] because more are the children[c] of the desolate[d] woman than of her who has a husband,[e]"
says the LORD.
2"Enlarge the place of your tent,[f] stretch your tent curtains wide,
do not hold back;
lengthen your cords,
strengthen your stakes.[g] 3For you will spread out to the right and to the left;
your descendants[h] will dispossess nations[i]
and settle in their desolate[j] cities.
4"Do not be afraid;[k] you will not suffer shame.[l]
Do not fear disgrace;[m] you will not be humiliated.
You will forget the shame of your youth[n]
and remember no more the reproach[o] of your widowhood.[p] 5For your Maker[q] is your husband[r]—
the LORD Almighty is his name—the Holy One[s] of Israel is your Redeemer;[t] he is called the God of all the earth.[u]
6The LORD will call you back[v] as if you were a wife deserted[w] and distressed in spirit—
a wife who married young,[x]
only to be rejected," says your God.
7"For a brief moment[y] I abandoned[z]
you,
but with deep compassion[a] I will bring you back.[b]
8In a surge of anger[c]
I hid[d] my face from you for a moment,
but with everlasting kindness[e]
I will have compassion[f] on you," says the LORD your Redeemer.[g] 9"To me this is like the days of Noah, when I swore that the waters of Noah would never again cover the earth.[h]
So now I have sworn[i] not to be angry[j] with you,
never to rebuke[k] you again.
10Though the mountains be shaken[l m] and the hills be removed, yet my unfailing love[n] for you will not be shaken[o]
nor my covenant[p] of peace[q] be removed,"
says the LORD, who has compassion[r] on you.
11"O afflicted[s] city, lashed by storms[t]
and not comforted,[u]
I will build you with stones of turquoise,[j v] your foundations[w] with sapphires.[k x] 12I will make your battlements of rubies,
your gates[y] of sparkling jewels,

[j] 11 The meaning of the Hebrew for this word is uncertain. [k] 11 Or lapis lazuli

54:1 This verse is applied by Paul to Sarah and the covenant of promise, representing "the Jerusalem that is above" (Gal 4:26–27). Sing ... burst into song. See 12:6; 44:23; 52:9 and notes. barren woman. Jerusalem (representing Israel), especially during the exile (see 49:21). In the Near East, barrenness was considered a disgrace (see 4:1 and note). more are the children of the desolate woman. See 49:19–20 and note. Israel will be restored both physically and spiritually (cf. 62:4). husband. See 50:1 and note.

54:2 See 26:15; 33:20 and notes. your tent. Jerusalem is viewed as a woman living in her own tent.

54:3 spread out. See 49:19–20 and note; cf. Ge 28:14. dispossess nations. See 11:14; 49:7 and notes.

54:4 not suffer shame ... disgrace. See 29:22 and note; 45:17. shame of your youth. Probably the period of slavery in Egypt. Cf. Jer 31:19; Eze 16:60. reproach of your widowhood. Probably referring to the exile, when Israel was alone, like a widow (vv. 6–7).

54:5 husband. See 62:4–5. Holy One of Israel ... Redeemer. See 1:4, 41:14 and notes.

54:6–7 wife deserted ... abandoned. Israel's experience in exile (see 49:14; 50:1 and note; 62:4).

54:7–8,10 compassion. See 14:1; 49:10,13; 51:3.

54:7 brief moment. The Babylonian exile was relatively brief (see 26:20; 50:1 and notes).

54:8 surge of anger. See 9:12,17,21 and note; 60:10. hid my face. See 1:15 and note. everlasting kindness. See v. 10; 55:3 and note. Cf. 45:17. Redeemer. See v. 5.

54:9 never again cover the earth. See Ge 9:11 and note. not to be angry. See 12:1 and note.

54:10 mountains ... be removed. Cf. 51:6; Ps 46:2; 102:26–27. unfailing love ... covenant of peace. A reference to either the covenant with Israel or the Davidic covenant, described in similar terms in 55:3 (see note there). Cf. Jer 33:20–21; for the language see Nu 25:11–13.

54:11–12 A figurative description of restored Jerusalem, echoed in the description of the new Jerusalem in Rev 21:10,18–21.

54:11 afflicted city. Jerusalem. See 51:21. lashed by storms. See 28:2 and note. turquoise. Perhaps a bluish-green stone. It was used in Solomon's temple (1Ch 29:2). sapphires. Cf. the "pavement made of sapphire" (a blue stone) in Ex 24:10 (see also Eze 1:26; 10:1).

54:12 battlements. Parapets on the top of walls. walls. Cf. 26:1.

you will have nothing to fear.[e] Terror[f] will be far removed;
it will not come near you.
15If anyone does attack you, it will not be my doing;
whoever attacks you will surrender[g] to you.

16"See, it is I who created the blacksmith[h] and forges a weapon[i] fit for its work.

And it is I who have created the destroyer[j] to work havoc;

and you will refute[l] every tongue that accuses you.
This is the heritage of the servants[m] of the LORD,
and this is their vindication[n] from me,"
declares the LORD.

Invitation to the Thirsty

55 "Come, all you who are thirsty,[o] come to the waters;[p]
and you who have no money, come, buy[q] and eat!
Come, buy wine and milk[r]
without money and without cost.[s] 2Why spend money on what is not bread, and your labor on what does not satisfy?[t]
Listen, listen to me, and eat what is good,[u]
and your soul will delight in the richest[v] of fare.
3Give ear and come to me;
hear[w] me, that your soul may live.[x]
I will make an everlasting covenant[y] with you, my faithful love[z] promised to David.[a] 4See, I have made him a witness[b] to the peoples, a leader and commander[c] of the peoples.
5Surely you will summon nations[d] you know not,
and nations that do not know you will hasten to you,[e]
because of the LORD your God,
the Holy One[f] of Israel,
for he has endowed you with splendor."[g]

6Seek[h] the LORD while he may be found;[i] call[j] on him while he is near.

54:13–14 peace . . . righteousness. See 48:18 and note.
54:13 taught by the LORD. Like the servant of the Lord in 50:4. Cf. Jer 31:34.
54:14 Tyranny . . . Terror . . . far removed. Cf. 14:4; 33:18–19.
54:15 surrender to you. See v. 3.
54:16 created the destroyer. God raised up nations such as Assyria and Babylonia to punish Israel (see 10:5 and note; 33:1 and note).
54:17 refute every tongue. Just as no legitimate charges could be brought against the servant of 50:8–9. servants of the LORD. After ch. 53 the singular "servant" no longer occurs in Isaiah. The "servants" (see 63:17; 65:8–9,13–15; 66:14) are true believers—both Jew and Gentile (see 56:6–8)—who are faithful to the Lord. They are in a sense the "offspring" of the servant (53:10). See 49:19–20 and note.
55:1 The exiles are summoned to return and be restored. thirsty. Spiritual thirst is primary (see 41:17; 44:3; Ps 42:1–2; 63:1). waters. Figurative for spiritual refreshment. Cf. Wisdom's invitation in Pr 9:5. Christ similarly invited people to drink the water of life (Jn 4:14; 7:37). no money. In hard times even water had to be purchased (see La 5:4). wine and milk. Symbols of abundance, enjoyment and nourishment. without money. The death of the servant (53:5–9) paid for the free gift of life (see Ro 6:23).
55:2 what is not bread. Perhaps the husks of pagan religious practices. Cf. Dt 8:3. richest of fare. Great spiritual blessings are compared to a banquet (see 25:6 and note; Ps 22:26; 34:8; Jer 31:14).
55:3 everlasting covenant. David had been promised an unending dynasty, one that would culminate in the Messiah (see 9:7; 54:10; 61:8; 2Sa 7:14–16 and notes). faithful love. Assuring the continuation of the nation. See 54:8 and note. Christ's resurrection was further proof of God's faithfulness to David (see Ac 13:34, which quotes from this verse).
55:4 witness to the peoples. A reference either to David, who exalted the Lord among the nations (Ps 18:43,49–50), or to David's Son, the Messiah, who was a light to the nations (see 42:6; 49:6 and notes). leader . . . of the peoples. Similar titles are used of David (1Sa 13:14; 25:30) and the Messiah (Da 9:25).
55:5 you will summon nations. The attraction of nations to Zion and to the God of Israel is a major Biblical theme (see, e.g., 2:2–4; 45:14; Zec 8:22 and notes). that do not know you. The reverse of the exile, when Israel was sent to a nation unknown to them (see Dt 28:36). Ruth left Moab to live with a people she "did not know before" (Ru 2:11). Holy One of Israel. See 1:4; 41:14 and notes. endowed . . . with splendor. See 4:2; 60:9. The nation will be restored physically and spiritually.
55:6 Seek the LORD. See Jer 29:13–14; Hos 3:5; Am 5:4,6,14 (contrast the hypocritical seeking of 58:2).
55:7 wicked forsake. See 1:16. turn to the LORD . . . freely pardon. See 43:25 and note; 44:22 and note.

and the evil man his thoughts.[l]
Let him turn[m] to the LORD, and he will have mercy[n] on him, and to our God, for he will freely pardon.[o]

8"For my thoughts[p] are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways,"[q] declares the LORD.
9"As the heavens are higher than the earth,[r] so are my ways higher than your ways and my thoughts than your thoughts.[s] 10As the rain[t] and the snow come down from heaven, and do not return to it without watering the earth and making it bud and flourish,[u] so that it yields seed[v] for the sower and bread for the eater,[w] 11so is my word[x] that goes out from my mouth:
It will not return to me empty,[y]
but will accomplish what I desire and achieve the purpose[z] for which I sent it.
12You will go out in joy[a] will burst into song[c] before you,

and all the trees[d] of the field will clap their hands.[e]

for an everlasting sign, which will not be destroyed."

Salvation for Others

56 This is what the LORD says:
"Maintain justice[i]
and do what is right,[j] for my salvation[k] is close at hand and my righteousness[l] will soon be revealed.
2Blessed[m] is the man who does this,
the man who holds it fast,
who keeps the Sabbath[n] without desecrating it,
and keeps his hand from doing any evil."

3Let no foreigner[o] who has bound himself to the LORD say,
"The LORD will surely exclude me from his people."[p]
And let not any eunuch[q] complain,
"I am only a dry tree."

4For this is what the LORD says:
"To the eunuchs[r] who keep my Sabbaths, who choose what pleases me and hold fast to my covenant[s]— 5to them I will give within my temple and its walls[t] a memorial[u] and a name better than sons and daughters;
I will give them an everlasting name[v]
that will not be cut off.[w] 6And foreigners[x] who bind themselves to the LORD to serve[y] him,
to love the name[z] of the LORD,
and to worship him,

55:9 my ways higher. See Ps 145:3.
55:11 my word. Especially the promises of vv. 3,5,12. The word is viewed as a messenger also in 9:8; Ps 107:20. Cf. Jn 1:1. achieve the purpose. See 46:10–11 and note; cf. 40:8; Heb 4:12.
55:12 go out in joy. The departure from Babylon provides the background (see 35:10 and note; 52:9–12 and notes). mountains ... will burst into song. See 44:23 and note. hands. Branches. The language is figurative (cf. 1Ch 16:33; Ps 98:8; 114:3–6).
55:13 thornbush ... pine tree ... briers ... myrtle. The reverse of the desolation Isaiah had prophesied about earlier (5:6; 32:13). For the significance of trees see 35:2; see also 41:19 and note. LORD's renown. Similar to God's fame in the exodus (see 63:12,14). everlasting sign. God's deliverance would never be forgotten. Cf. 19:20; 56:5.
56:1 salvation ... righteousness. See 45:8; 46:13; 51:5 and notes.
56:2 keeps the Sabbath. See vv. 4,6. Just as the Sabbath had been instituted after the exodus from Egypt (see Ex 20:8–11) as a sign of the Mosaic covenant (see Ex 31:13–17), so God's new deliverance (55:12) afforded an opportunity to obey him fully, an obedience summed up in "keeping the Sabbath" (see 58:13; 66:23; Jer 17:21–27; Eze 20:20–21).
56:3 foreigner. See v. 6. Members of certain nations who came to live among the Israelites had been excluded from worship, at least for several generations (see Ex 12:43; Dt 23:3,7–8). But the work of the servant of the Lord would change this (see 49:19–20; 54:17; 60:10 and notes). Cf. 14:1. eunuch. See v. 4. Eunuchs were also excluded from the assembly of the Lord (Dt 23:1), but they could still be part of God's offspring (see Ac 8:27,38–40).
56:4,6 hold fast to my covenant. Keeping the Sabbath was a sign of the covenant (see Ex 31:13–17; Eze 20:12,20), as was circumcision (see Ge 17:11).
56:5 memorial. Absalom built a "Monument" (same Hebrew word) as a memorial since he had no surviving sons (2Sa 18:18). name. The Hebrew for this word is translated "renown" in 55:13. The Hebrew for "a memorial and a name" (yad vashem) was chosen from v. 5 as the name of the main Holocaust monument in Jerusalem in modern Israel. that will not be cut off. An idiom sometimes referring to the preserving of a name through one's descendants.
56:6 serve. Cf. 60:7,10.

all who keep the Sabbath[a] without desecrating it and who hold fast to my covenant—7these I will bring to my holy mountain[b] and give them joy in my house of prayer.
Their burnt offerings and sacrifices[c]
will be accepted on my altar;
for my house will be called a house of prayer for all nations.[d]"[e] 8The Sovereign LORD declares—he who gathers the exiles of Israel:
"I will gather[f] still others to them besides those already gathered."

God's Accusation Against the Wicked

9Come, all you beasts of the field,[g] come and devour, all you beasts of the forest!
10Israel's watchmen[h] are blind, they all lack knowledge;[i]
they are all mute dogs,
they cannot bark;
they lie around and dream,
they love to sleep.[j] 11They are dogs with mighty appetites;
they never have enough.
They are shepherds[k] who lack understanding;[l]
they all turn to their own way,[m]
each seeks his own gain.[n] 12"Come," each one cries, "let me get wine![o]
Let us drink our fill of beer!
And tomorrow will be like today,
or even far better."[p]

57 The righteous perish,[q] and no one ponders it in his heart;[r]
devout men are taken away, and no one understands that the righteous are taken away to be spared from evil.[s] 2Those who walk uprightly[t]
enter into peace;
they find rest[u] as they lie in death.

3"But you—come here, you sons of a sorceress,[v]
you offspring of adulterers[w] and prostitutes![x]
4Whom are you mocking?
At whom do you sneer
and stick out your tongue?
Are you not a brood of rebels,[y]
the offspring of liars?
5You burn with lust among the oaks[z] and under every spreading tree;[a] you sacrifice your children[b] in the ravines
and under the overhanging crags.
6The idols[c] among the smooth stones of the ravines are your portion;
they, they are your lot.
Yes, to them you have poured out drink offerings[d]
and offered grain offerings.
In the light of these things, should I relent?[e] 7You have made your bed on a high and lofty hill;[f]
there you went up to offer your sacrifices.[g] 8Behind your doors and your doorposts you have put your pagan symbols.
Forsaking me, you uncovered your bed,
you climbed into it and opened it wide;
you made a pact with those whose beds you love,[h] and you looked on their nakedness.[i]

56:7 my holy mountain. See 2:2–4 and note. offerings ... accepted on my altar. Cf. 60:7; contrast 1:11–13. house of prayer for all nations. Solomon may have anticipated this in his prayer of dedication for the temple (1Ki 8:41–43).

56:8 gathers the exiles. See 11:11–12 and notes. gather still others. Including Gentiles (see v. 3 and note; cf. Jn 10:16).

56:9–59:15 Many verses in these sections could apply to conditions before or during the Babylonian exile.

56:9 beasts. Foreign invaders (see 18:6 and note).

56:10 watchmen. The prophets (see Hab 2:1). blind ... love to sleep. Cf. 29:9–10. mute dogs. Watchdogs who guarded the sheep (cf. Job 30:1).

56:11 mighty appetites. They devour the sheep. See Eze 34:3. shepherds. Rulers may be included. See Eze 34:1–6.

56:12 wine ... beer. Cf. the behavior of priests and prophets in 28:7. tomorrow will be ... far better. Cf. the words of the rich fool in Lk 12:19.

57:1 spared from evil. Huldah explained that righteous King Josiah would die before disaster struck (2Ki 22:19–20).

57:2 peace. Contrast v. 21. find rest. Cf. Paul's words in Php 1:21,23.

57:3 sorceress. One who practices soothsaying or magic (see 3:2; 47:12; Dt 18:10). adulterers and prostitutes. Spiritual adultery (idolatry) is in view (see vv. 5–8).

57:4 mocking ... sneer. The people mocked Isaiah in 28:9,14. brood of rebels. See 1:4; 46:8 and note.

57:5 oaks. Sacred trees (see 1:29 and note). spreading tree. Associated with high places of pagan worship in 1Ki 14:23. Cf. Jer 2:20; 3:13. sacrifice your children. Often associated with the worship of Molech (cf. v. 9; see note on 30:33, "Topheth") or Baal (Jer 19:5). Ps 106:37–38 says that children were sacrificed to idols and demons.

57:6 ravines. Possibly the Hinnom Valley, southwest of Jerusalem, where Molech was worshiped. drink offerings. These pagan libations were especially popular.

57:7 high and lofty hill. "High places" or "mountain shrines" (see Jer 3:6; Eze 16:16; 22:9).

57:8 those ... you love. Pagan deities or idols.

9You went to Molech[l][j] with olive oil and increased your perfumes.[k]
You sent your ambassadors[m][l] far away;
you descended to the grave[n][m] itself!
10You were wearied[n] by all your ways,
but you would not say, 'It is hopeless.'[o]
You found renewal of your strength,[p]
and so you did not faint.

11"Whom have you so dreaded and feared[q] that you have been false to me, and have neither remembered[r] me
nor pondered[s] this in your hearts?
Is it not because I have long been silent[t]
that you do not fear me?
12I will expose your righteousness and your works,[u]
and they will not benefit you.
13When you cry out[v] for help,
let your collection ⌞of idols⌟ save[w] you!
The wind will carry all of them off,
a mere breath will blow[x] them away.
But the man who makes me his refuge[y] will inherit the land[z] and possess my holy mountain."[a]

Comfort for the Contrite

14And it will be said:

"Build up, build up, prepare the road![b]
Remove the obstacles out of the way of my people."[c] 15For this is what the high and lofty[d] One says—he who lives forever,[e] whose name is holy:
"I live in a high[f] and holy place, but also with him who is contrite[g] and lowly in spirit,[h]
to revive the spirit of the lowly and to revive the heart of the contrite.[i] 16I will not accuse[j] forever, nor will I always be angry,[k] for then the spirit of man would grow faint before me—
the breath[l] of man that I have created.
17I was enraged by his sinful greed;[m]
I punished him, and hid[n] my face in anger, yet he kept on in his willful ways.[o]
18I have seen his ways, but I will heal[p] him;
I will guide[q] him and restore comfort[r] to him,
19 creating praise on the lips[s] of the mourners in Israel.
Peace, peace,[t] to those far and near,"[u] says the LORD. "And I will heal them."
20But the wicked[v] are like the tossing sea,[w]
which cannot rest,
whose waves cast up mire[x] and mud.
21"There is no peace,"[y] says my God,
"for the wicked."[z]

True Fasting

58 "Shout it aloud,[a] do not hold back.
Raise your voice like a trumpet.[b] and to the house of Jacob their sins.[d]

57:9 Molech. The main god of the Ammonites (see v. 5 and note; 1Ki 11:7). olive oil. Used as an ointment for perfume. See SS 4:10, where the Hebrew word for "oil" is translated "perfume." to the grave. Cf. 8:19.

57:10 It is hopeless. Ironically, the people said that turning away from their own plans or from foreign gods was hopeless. renewal of your strength. Contrast 40:30–31.

57:11 so dreaded and feared. They feared men (see 51:12), neither remembered me. See 51:13. long been silent. God had not acted in judgment (see 42:14 and note).

57:12 righteousness. See 58:2–3; 64:6.

57:13 idols save you. See 44:17 and note. wind will carry . . . breath will blow. Idols are no stronger than men. me his refuge. See 25:4. inherit the land. See 49:8 and note. my holy mountain. See 2:2–4 and note.

57:17 hid my face in anger. See 54:8; see also 1:15 and note.

57:18 heal him. See v. 19; 6:10; 30:26; Jer 3:22. God will forgive and restore his people. guide. Cf. 40:11; 42:16; 49:10. restore comfort. See 49:13 and note.

57:19 mourners. Those mourning the judgment on Jerusalem (see 66:10). Peace, peace. Contrast Jer 6:13–14; 8:10–11. those far. Either Gentiles or exiled Jews. Paul probably had this verse in mind in Eph 2:17.

57:20 like the tossing sea. See Jer 49:23. cannot rest. Contrast v. 2.

57:21 See 39:8; 48:22 and notes.

58:1 voice like a trumpet. God's powerful voice is compared to a trumpet blast at Mount Sinai (see Ex 19:19; 20:18–19). rebellion. See 1:2 and note. sins. See 1:4; 59:12–13.

2For day after day they seek[e] me out;
they seem eager to know my ways,
as if they were a nation that does what is right and has not forsaken[f] the commands of its God.
They ask me for just decisions and seem eager for God to come near[g] them.
3'Why have we fasted,'[h] they say,
'and you have not seen it?
Why have we humbled[i] ourselves, and you have not noticed?'[j]

"Yet on the day of your fasting, you do as you please[k]
and exploit all your workers.
4Your fasting ends in quarreling and strife,[l] and in striking each other with wicked fists.
You cannot fast as you do today and expect your voice to be heard[m] on high.
5Is this the kind of fast[n] I have chosen,
only a day for a man to humble[o]
himself?
Is it only for bowing one's head like a reed[p]
and for lying on sackcloth and ashes?[q]
Is that what you call a fast,
a day acceptable to the LORD?

6"Is not this the kind of fasting[r] I have chosen:
to loose the chains of injustice[s] and untie the cords of the yoke, to set the oppressed[t] free and break every yoke?[u] 7Is it not to share your food with the hungry[v]
and to provide the poor wanderer with shelter[w]— when you see the naked, to clothe[x]
him,
and not to turn away from your own flesh and blood?[y] 8Then your light will break forth like the dawn,[z]
and your healing[a] will quickly appear;
then your righteousness[o][b] will go
before you,
and the glory of the LORD will be your rear guard.[c] 9Then you will call,[d] and the LORD will answer;[e]
you will cry for help, and he will say: Here am I.

"If you do away with the yoke of oppression,
with the pointing finger[f] and malicious talk,[g] 10and if you spend yourselves in behalf of the hungry and satisfy the needs of the oppressed,[h]
then your light[i] will rise in the darkness,
and your night will become like the noonday.[j] 11The LORD will guide[k] you always;
he will satisfy your needs[l] in a sun-scorched land[m]
and will strengthen[n] your frame.
You will be like a well-watered garden,[o]
like a spring[p] whose waters never fail.
12Your people will rebuild the ancient ruins[q]

[o] 8 Or your righteous One

58:2 seek me out. See 55:6 and note. Cf. the frequent sacrifices of 1:11. eager for God to come near. The same hypocrisy is mentioned in 29:13 (see note there).

58:3 fasted ... fasting. See v. 6; a time of self-denial and repentance for sin. After the fall of Jerusalem, the number of fast days increased (see Lev 16:29 and NIV text note; see also Zec 7:5). humbled ourselves. Cf. 2Ch 7:14; 1Ki 21:29. you have not noticed. Note the same attitude in Mal 3:14; cf. Lk 18:12. exploit all your workers. See 3:14–15; 10:2.

58:4 to be heard on high. Hypocritical religious activity is a hindrance to prayer (see 1:15; 59:2).

58:5 like a reed. A sign of weakness and humility (see 42:3 and note). sackcloth and ashes. Cf. 1Ki 21:27; Jnh 3:5–8. acceptable. A term often applied to sacrifices (see 56:7; 60:7; Lev 1:3).

58:6 chains of injustice. During the siege of Jerusalem, Hebrew slaves were rightly released—only to be reclaimed by their masters (see Jer 34:8–11). yoke. See v. 9; 9:4; 10:27, where the yoke imposed by Assyria is mentioned. oppressed. See 1:17.

58:7 share your food ... provide ... shelter ... clothe. The outward evidence of genuine righteousness. See Job 31:17–20; Eze 18:7,16 and Jesus' identification with the hungry and naked in Mt 25:35–36. flesh and blood. Probably refers to close relatives (Ge 37:27), but see 2Sa 5:1.

58:8 light. The joy, prosperity and salvation brought by the Lord (see 9:2; 60:1–3). healing. See 57:18 and note. go before you ... be your rear guard. See 52:12 and note. The Lord will protect them and guide them. glory of the LORD. Probably a reference to the pillar of cloud and fire in the desert (see 4:5–6; Ex 13:21; 14:20 and notes).

58:9 LORD will answer. See 30:19 and note. Here am I. See 65:1. pointing finger. A gesture of either contempt (see Pr 6:13) or accusation. malicious talk. See Pr 6:12–14.

58:10 hungry ... oppressed. See vv. 6–7 and notes. light. See v. 8 and note.

58:11 guide you. See 57:18 and note. needs. Both material and spiritual (see note on 32:2). sun-scorched land. See 35:7; 49:10. well-watered garden. In 1:30 Jerusalem was a garden without water. spring ... never fail. Cf. the "living water" Jesus gives in Jn 4:10,14.

58:12 ancient ruins ... age-old foundations. See 44:26,28 and notes; 61:4; Eze 36:10; Am 9:11,14. Repairer of Broken Walls. Cf. the work of Nehemiah in Ne 2:17.

and will raise up the age-old foundations;[r]
you will be called Repairer of Broken Walls,[s] Restorer of Streets with Dwellings.

13"If you keep your feet from breaking the Sabbath[t]
and from doing as you please on my holy day, if you call the Sabbath a delight[u]
and the LORD's holy day honorable, and if you honor it by not going your own way and not doing as you please or speaking idle words,[v] 14then you will find your joy[w] in the LORD, and I will cause you to ride on the heights[x] of the land and to feast on the inheritance[y] of your father Jacob."
The mouth of the LORD has spoken.[z]

Sin, Confession and Redemption

59 Surely the arm[a] of the LORD is not too short[b] to save, nor his ear too dull to hear.[c] 2But your iniquities have separated[d]
you from your God;
your sins have hidden his face from you,
so that he will not hear.[e] 3For your hands are stained with blood,[f]
your fingers with guilt.[g]
Your lips have spoken lies,[h] and your tongue mutters wicked things.
4No one calls for justice;[i]
no one pleads his case with integrity.
They rely[j] on empty arguments and speak lies;[k]
they conceive trouble and give birth to evil.[l] 5They hatch the eggs of vipers[m] and spin a spider's web.[n]
Whoever eats their eggs will die, and when one is broken, an adder is hatched.
6Their cobwebs are useless for clothing;
they cannot cover themselves with what they make.[o]
Their deeds are evil deeds, and acts of violence[p] are in their hands.
7Their feet rush into sin;
they are swift to shed innocent blood.[q]
Their thoughts are evil thoughts;[r] ruin and destruction mark their ways.[s] 8The way of peace they do not know;[t]
there is no justice in their paths.
They have turned them into crooked roads;[u] no one who walks in them will know peace.[v]

9So justice is far from us,
and righteousness does not reach us.
We look for light, but all is darkness;[w]
for brightness, but we walk in deep shadows.
10Like the blind[x] we grope along the wall,
feeling our way like men without eyes.
At midday we stumble[y] as if it were twilight;
among the strong, we are like the dead.[z] 11We all growl like bears;
we moan mournfully like doves.[a]
We look for justice, but find none;

58:14 joy in the LORD. See 61:10. ride on the heights. Thus controlling the land. See 33:16 and note; see also Hab 3:19. feast on the inheritance. Enjoying plentiful food in the promised land (see Dt 32:13–14). mouth ... has spoken. See 40:5 and note.

59:3 stained with blood. See v. 7; 1:15,21; Eze 7:23.

59:4 justice ... pleads his case. The poor and helpless could not receive fair trials (see v. 14; 1:17–23; 5:7,23). they conceive ... evil. This statement appears verbatim in Job 15:35. Cf. Isa 33:11; Ps 7:14.

59:5 spider's web. Verse 6 and Job 8:14–15 stress how fragile it is.

59:6 acts of violence. See v. 3; Jer 6:7; Eze 7:11.

59:7–8 Quoted in part in Ro 3:15–17 by Paul to show the universality of sin.

59:7 Their feet rush ... to shed innocent blood. This sentence appears in Pr 1:16. evil thoughts. God's thoughts are different (see 55:7–9). ruin and destruction. Contrast 60:18.

59:8 way of peace. Cf. 26:3,12; 57:20–21; Lk 1:79. crooked roads. Unsafe (see Jdg 5:6 and note).

59:9 us ... We. The prophet includes himself with the people. justice ... righteousness. Personified here and in v. 14. See v. 4 and note; 1:21. darkness ... deep shadows. Similar language describes conditions when Assyria invaded Israel (see 5:30; 8:21–22; 9:1–2). Contrast 58:8.

59:10 Like the blind we grope ... At midday. The fulfillment of the curse for disobedience in Dt 28:29. Cf. Job 5:14. strong. Perhaps enemies or oppressors.

59:11 growl like bears. Impatient and frustrated.

for deliverance, but it is far away.

12For our offenses[b] are many in your sight,
and our sins testify[c] against us.
Our offenses are ever with us,
and we acknowledge our iniquities:[d] 13rebellion[e] and treachery against the LORD, turning our backs[f] on our God,
fomenting oppression[g] and revolt,
uttering lies[h] our hearts have conceived.
14So justice[i] is driven back,
and righteousness[j] stands at a distance;
truth[k] has stumbled in the streets,
honesty cannot enter.
15Truth[l] is nowhere to be found,
and whoever shuns evil becomes a prey.

The LORD looked and was displeased that there was no justice.[m] 16He saw that there was no one,[n]
he was appalled that there was no one to intervene;[o]
so his own arm worked salvation[p] for him, and his own righteousness[q] sustained him.
17He put on righteousness as his breastplate,[r]

he put on the garments[t] of vengeance[u]

[p] 19 Or When the enemy comes in like a flood, / the Spirit of the LORD will put him to flight

59:12 offenses are many. See 58:1. we acknowledge our iniquities. Like Ezra (9:6–7), Isaiah confesses the sins of the nation. In this verse he uses the three most common Hebrew words for evil thoughts and deeds.

59:13 rebellion and treachery. See 46:8; 48:8 and notes. turning our backs. See 1:4. oppression. See 30:12. lies. See vv. 3–4.

59:14 justice . . . truth. Cf. the personification of wisdom in Pr 8:1–9:12. righteousness stands at a distance. Cf. v. 9; contrast 46:13 and note.

59:15 Truth. Restored Jerusalem is called the "City of Truth" in Zec 8:3 (see 1:21 and note). becomes a prey. See 32:7.

59:16 there was no one. To help (see 63:5, a parallel to the whole verse). Cf. Eze 22:30. appalled. Cf. the reaction to the servant in 52:14. intervene. Cf. the intercession of the servant in 53:12 (see note there). his own arm worked salvation. See 51:9; 52:10. For the meaning of salvation see 43:3; 49:8; 52:7 and notes. righteousness. For the relationship between righteousness and salvation see 45:8; 46:13 and notes.

59:17 righteousness as his breastplate. The Lord's armor is compared to the believer's armor in the battle against Satan in Eph 6:14. garments of vengeance. Cf. the blood-spattered garments of 63:1–3. God's vengeance is described also in 34:8 (see note there); 63:4. It is part of the day of the Lord (see 34:2 and note). zeal. God's jealous love (see 9:7 and note; 37:32; 42:13).

59:18 enemies . . . foes. God will judge the nations, but he must also punish wicked Israelites (see 65:6–7; 66:6; Jer 25:29). Only the remnant will be blessed (see v. 20; see also 1:9 and note). islands. See note on 11:11.

59:19 From the west . . . rising of the sun. All nations will see God's saving work in behalf of his people (see 40:5; 45:6; 52:10 and notes). name. See 30:27 and note. pent-up flood. The coming of the Lord will be irresistible, like a "rushing torrent" that overwhelms the enemy (see 30:28).

59:20 Redeemer. See 41:14 and note. come to Zion. In the return from exile, but more fully in the person of Christ. See 35:4; 40:9; 52:7 and notes. Cf. Zec 8:3. those . . . who repent. See 1:27–28 and note; 30:15; 31:6; Eze 18:30–32.

59:21 covenant. The description fits the "new covenant" best (see 42:6 and note; Jer 31:31–34). My Spirit. See 11:2 and note; 32:15; Eze 36:27; Jn 16:13. you . . . your . . . your . . . your. In Hebrew the pronouns are singular but are probably intended in a collective sense—the citizens of Zion. my words . . . in your mouth. Then Israel will truly be God's people (see 51:16 and note; Jer 31:33). not depart from your mouth. See Jos 1:8.

60:1–2 glory. Probably an allusion to the pillar of cloud, but announcing a new manifestation of God's redeeming glory (see 58:8 and note). See also 35:2 and note.

60:1 light. See 58:8 and note. Here the Lord himself is viewed as the light (see vv. 19–20).

2 See, darkness[m] covers the earth and thick darkness[n] is over the peoples, but the LORD rises upon you and his glory appears over you.
3 Nations[o] will come to your light,[p]

4 "Lift up your eyes and look about you:
All assemble[r] and come to you;

and your daughters[t] are carried on the arm.[u]
5 Then you will look and be radiant,[v] your heart will throb and swell with joy;[w]

to you the riches of the nations will come.

And all from Sheba[b] will come,
bearing gold and incense[c]
and proclaiming the praise[d] of the LORD.
7 All Kedar's[e] flocks will be gathered to you,
the rams of Nebaioth will serve you;
they will be accepted as offerings[f] on my altar,[g]
and I will adorn my glorious temple.[h]

8 "Who are these[i] that fly along like clouds,[j]

[q]9 Or the trading ships

60:2 darkness. A symbol of gloom, oppression and sin (see 8:22; 9:2; 59:9).

60:3 Nations will come. See vv. 5,10–12 and notes. This theme was first mentioned in 2:2–4 (see note there). light. See 42:6; 49:6 and notes.

60:4 The first two lines are almost identical to the beginning of 49:18, the last two to the end of 49:22 (see note there). The setting there was the return from exile, but here much broader implications are involved. afar. See v. 9; 49:12 and note.

60:5 wealth on the seas. Jerusalem will be enriched by the nations (see v. 11; 61:6; 66:12; see also 18:7; 23:18; 45:14 and notes). The contribution of King Darius to Zerubbabel's temple may be a partial fulfillment (Ezr 6:8–9). Some interpret this verse as referring to conditions during the future phase of the Messianic kingdom, while others apply it to the influx of Gentiles into the church (see note on 2:2–4). See Rev 21:26 (the new Jerusalem); see also Hag 2:7; Zec 14:14 and notes.

60:6 camels will cover your land. As caravans bringing goods. Ironically it was on camels that the Midianites once devastated Israel (see 9:4; Jdg 6:1–6). Midian. Abraham's son through Keturah (Ge 25:2). The Midianites roamed the deserts of Transjordan. Ephah. A son of Midian (Ge 25:4). Sheba. A wealthy land in southern Arabia, perhaps roughly equal to modern Yemen (see Ge 25:3; 1Ki 10:1–2). gold and incense. The queen of Sheba brought gold and spices to Solomon (1Ki 10:2). Jer 6:20 mentions the incense of Sheba. Cf. Ps 72:10; Mt 2:11. proclaiming the praise. Cf. the queen's words in 1Ki 10:9.

60:7 Kedar's flocks. See note on 21:16. Nebaioth. The firstborn son of Ishmael (Ge 25:13). The name is probably preserved in that of the later Nabatean kingdom. serve. See v. 10; 56:6. accepted as offerings. See 56:7; 58:5 and notes.

60:9 islands look to me. See 11:11 and note. ships of Tarshish. See note on 2:16. bringing your sons. See 49:22 and note. silver and gold. Ships of Tarshish had brought these to Solomon every three years (1Ki 10:22). Holy One of Israel. See v. 14; 1:4 and note. endowed . . . with splendor. See 55:5 and note.

60:10 Foreigners . . . kings. See vv. 12,14; 49:7,23; 61:5. will rebuild your walls. In 445 B.C. King Artaxerxes issued the decree allowing Nehemiah to rebuild the walls of Jerusalem (Ne 2:8). Some also apply the rebuilt walls to the building up of the church through Gentile believers (Ac 15:14–16). Though in anger . . . compassion. See 54:7–8 and notes.

60:12 nation . . . will perish. Israel's future political domination is referred to also in 11:14; 14:2; 49:23 (cf. vv. 10,14).

60:13 glory of Lebanon. Its magnificent cedar trees, which were used in the construction of Solomon's temple, along with pine trees (1Ki 5:10,18). See also 35:2. The glory of Solomon's era would return. pine . . . fir . . . cypress. See 41:19 and note. Perhaps the trees would be ornamental rather than building material. adorn . . . sanctuary. See v. 7. place of my feet. The temple, and especially the ark of the covenant, God's "footstool."

together,[b]
to adorn the place of my sanctuary;[c] and I will glorify the place of my feet.[d] 14The sons of your oppressors[e] will come bowing before you;
all who despise you will bow down[f] at your feet and will call you the City[g] of the LORD,
Zion[h] of the Holy One[i] of Israel.

15"Although you have been forsaken[j] and hated,
with no one traveling[k] through,
I will make you the everlasting pride[l]
and the joy[m] of all generations.
16You will drink the milk of nations and be nursed[n] at royal breasts.
Then you will know[o] that I, the LORD, am your Savior,[p] your Redeemer,[q] the Mighty One of Jacob.[r]
17Instead of bronze I will bring you gold,[s]
and silver in place of iron.
Instead of wood I will bring you bronze,
and iron in place of stones.
I will make peace[t] your governor and righteousness your ruler.[u] 18No longer will violence[v] be heard in your land,
nor ruin or destruction[w] within your borders,
but you will call your walls Salvation[x]
and your gates Praise.[y] 19The sun will no more be your light by day,
nor will the brightness of the moon shine on you,
for the LORD will be your everlasting light,[z]
and your God will be your glory.[a] 20Your sun[b] will never set again, and your moon will wane no more;
the LORD will be your everlasting light,
and your days of sorrow[c] will end.
21Then will all your people be righteous[d]
and they will possess[e] the land forever.
They are the shoot I have planted,[f]
the work of my hands,[g]
for the display of my splendor.[h] 22The least of you will become a thousand,
the smallest a mighty nation.[i]
I am the LORD;
in its time I will do this swiftly."[j]

The Year of the LORD's Favor

61 The Spirit[k] of the Sovereign LORD[l] is on me,
because the LORD has anointed[m] me to preach good news[n] to the poor.[o]
He has sent me to bind up[p] the brokenhearted, to proclaim freedom[q] for the captives[r] and release from darkness for the prisoners,[r]

[r] 1 Hebrew; Septuagint the blind

60:14 oppressors ... bow down. See 49:7,23 and notes. Cf. vv. 10,12. the City of the LORD. Cf. the names for the future Jerusalem in 1:26; 62:4; Eze 48:35; Zec 8:3; Heb 12:22.
60:15 forsaken and hated. See 6:11–12; 62:4; Jer 30:17. pride ... joy. See 4:2 and note.
60:16 nursed at royal breasts. Jerusalem will receive the very best nourishment, the "riches of the nations" (v. 5). Then ... Jacob. For this sentence see 49:26 and note.
60:17 gold ... silver. As in Solomon's day gold and silver were plentiful (1Ki 10:21,27), so the future Jerusalem will have the most valuable metals as well as the strongest (iron). Cf. 9:10. peace ... righteousness. Both are also present in the rule of the Messianic king in 9:7. See note on 48:18.
60:18 No longer ... violence. Cf. 54:14. ruin or destruction. See 51:19 and note. walls Salvation. See 26:1.
60:19 sun ... moon. According to Rev 21:23; 22:5 their light will no longer be needed in the new Jerusalem, since God and the Lamb will be the "everlasting light." glory. See vv. 1–2 and note; Zec 2:5.
60:20 sun will never set. There will be no night there (cf. Rev 22:5) but only the light of joy and salvation (see 58:8 and note). sorrow will end. See 25:8; 35:10; 51:11; 65:19; Rev 21:4.
60:21 people be righteous. Only the redeemed will be there (see 4:3; 35:8; Rev 21:27). possess the land forever. Enter into full blessing (see 49:8 and note; see also 57:13; 61:7; Ps 37:11,22). shoot I have planted. Cf. the vineyard of 5:2,7 (see also 11:1). work of my hands. God made them as a potter forms clay (see 64:8; see also 29:23; 45:11). display of my splendor. They are the evidence of God's redemptive work. See 49:3; 61:3; see also notes on 35:2; 40:5.
60:22 least ... will become a thousand. See 51:2; 54:3 and notes. The blessing of Lev 26:8 is similar. do this swiftly. Cf. 5:19, where the same Hebrew verb is translated "hasten."
61:1–2 Jesus applied these verses to himself in the synagogue at Nazareth (see Lk 4:16–21; cf. Mt 11:5).
61:1 Spirit ... is on me. The statement may refer to Isaiah in a limited sense, but the Messianic servant is the main figure intended (cf. what is said of him in 42:1; see 11:2; 48:16 and notes). Sovereign LORD. See 50:4–5,7,9 and note. anointed me. See 45:1 and note. good news. See 40:9 and note. poor. Cf. 11:4; 29:19. bind up the brokenhearted. See 30:26 and note. freedom for the captives. Freedom is used of the Year of Jubilee in Lev 25:10 (see 49:8 and note). Release from sin has as its background release from Babylon (see 42:7 and note).

[2]to proclaim the year of the LORD's favor[s] and the day of vengeance[t] of our God,
to comfort[u] all who mourn,[v]
[3] and provide for those who grieve in Zion—to bestow on them a crown[w] of beauty instead of ashes,[x]
the oil[y] of gladness instead of mourning,[z]
and a garment of praise instead of a spirit of despair.
They will be called oaks of
righteousness,
a planting[a] of the LORD
for the display of his splendor.[b]

[4]They will rebuild the ancient ruins[c] and restore the places long devastated;
they will renew the ruined cities that have been devastated for generations.
[5]Aliens[d] will shepherd your flocks; foreigners will work your fields and vineyards.
[6]And you will be called priests[e] of the LORD,
you will be named ministers of our God.
You will feed on the wealth[f] of
nations,
and in their riches you will boast.

[7]Instead of their shame[g]
my people will receive a double[h]
portion,
and instead of disgrace
they will rejoice in their inheritance;
and so they will inherit[i] a double portion in their land, and everlasting joy[j] will be theirs.

Zion's New Name

62 For Zion's sake I will not keep silent,[u] for Jerusalem's sake I will not remain quiet,
till her righteousness[v] shines out like the dawn,[w]
her salvation[x] like a blazing torch.

61:2 year of the LORD's favor. Corresponds to the "day of salvation" in 49:8 (see note there) and the "year of my redemption" in 63:4. Christ ended his quotation at this point (Lk 4:19–20), probably because the "day of vengeance" will not occur until his second coming. day of vengeance. See 34:2,8 and notes. comfort all who mourn. See 49:13; 57:19 and notes; 66:10; Jer 31:13; Mt 5:4.

61:3 crown of beauty. A "turban" (as the Hebrew for this phrase is translated in Eze 24:17) or headdress. In 3:20 the women of Jerusalem were to lose their beautiful headdresses. oil of gladness. Anointing with olive oil was common on joyous occasions (see Ps 23:5; 45:7; 104:15; 133:1–2; cf. 2Sa 14:2). See also 1:6 and note. garment of praise. Contrast the "garments of vengeance" in 59:17. oaks of righteousness. Contrast the oaks of 1:30. planting ... for the display. See 60:21 and note.

61:4 rebuild the ancient ruins ... ruined cities. See 58:12 and note.

61:5 Aliens ... foreigners. See 14:1–2; 56:3; 60:10 and notes.

61:6 priests of the LORD. See 66:21. True Israel will be a "kingdom of priests" among the Gentiles (see Ex 19:6 and note). ministers. Priests. See 1Ki 8:11, where the Hebrew word for "minister" is translated "perform their service." wealth of nations. See 60:5 and note.

61:7 shame ... disgrace. See 45:17; 54:4. double portion. The firstborn son received a double share of the inheritance (see Dt 21:17; Zec 9:12). Contrast the "double" punishment Israel received (40:2). everlasting joy. See 35:10; 51:11; cf. Ps 16:11.

61:8 love justice. Cf. 30:18; 59:15. robbery and iniquity. Israel had been mistreated by her conquerors. Cf. 42:24; 59:18. everlasting covenant. Probably the new covenant (see 55:3; 59:21 and notes; cf. Jer 31:35–37; 32:40).

61:9 people the LORD has blessed. See 44:3; 65:23 and the promises to Abraham in Ge 12:1–3.

61:10 Zion is probably the speaker. garments of salvation. See v. 3; 52:1 and note. head like a priest. Putting on a turban or headband (see note on v. 3). bride ... with her jewels. See 49:18 and note.

61:11 sprout ... grow. Cf. 55:10. righteousness and praise spring up. See 45:8 and note.

62:1,6 I. The Lord.

62:1 not keep silent ... quiet. See v. 6; 42:14; 57:11 and note; 64:12; 65:6; see also Ps 28:1. righteousness ... salvation. See 46:13 and note. dawn. Cf. 58:8.

2 The nations[v] will see your righteousness,
and all kings your glory;
you will be called by a new name[z] that the mouth of the LORD will bestow.
3 You will be a crown[a] of splendor in the LORD's hand,
a royal diadem in the hand of your God.
4 No longer will they call you Deserted,[b] or name your land Desolate.[c]
But you will be called Hephzibah,[s d]
and your land Beulah[t];
for the LORD will take delight[e] in you,
and your land will be married.[f] 5 As a young man marries a maiden, so will your sons[u] marry you;
as a bridegroom[g] rejoices over his bride,
so will your God rejoice[h] over you.

6 I have posted watchmen[i] on your walls, O Jerusalem;
they will never be silent day or night.
You who call on the LORD,
give yourselves no rest,[j] 7 and give him no rest[k] till he establishes Jerusalem and makes her the praise[l] of the earth.

8 The LORD has sworn[m] by his right hand
and by his mighty arm:
"Never again will I give your grain[n]
as food for your enemies, and never again will foreigners drink
the new wine
for which you have toiled;
9 but those who harvest it will eat[o] it and praise the LORD,[p] and those who gather the grapes will drink it
in the courts of my sanctuary."[q]

10 Pass through, pass through the gates![r]
Prepare the way for the people.
Build up, build up the highway![s t]
Remove the stones.
Raise a banner[u] for the nations.

11 The LORD has made proclamation to the ends of the earth:[v]
"Say to the Daughter of Zion,[w]
'See, your Savior comes![x]
See, his reward is with him, and his recompense accompanies him.' "[y]
12 They will be called[z] the Holy People,[a]
the Redeemed[b] of the LORD;
and you will be called Sought After,
the City No Longer Deserted.[c]

62:2 nations will see ... glory. See 52:10; see also 40:5; 60:3 and notes. your. Jerusalem's (see vv. 1,6). new name. To reflect a new status (see vv. 4,12; see also 1:26; 60:14; Ge 32:28 and notes).

62:3 crown of splendor. In 28:5 the Lord is a "glorious crown" for his people (cf. Zec 9:16).

62:4 Deserted ... Desolate. See 54:6–7; 60:15 and note. Hephzibah. Also the name of Hezekiah's wife (2Ki 21:1). married. Israel's relationship with the Lord will be restored. See 50:1 and note.

62:5 sons marry you. The Israelites will again possess the land once deserted. Cf. 54:1. Or the Hebrew for "sons" could be read as "Builder," referring to God (see note on 49:17).

62:6 watchmen. Probably those (the prophets especially; see 56:10) waiting for the messenger with good news (see 52:8 and note). never be silent. They will be praying that God will not be silent (see v. 1) but will restore Jerusalem. give yourselves no rest. Cf. David's intense prayer as he searched for a home for the ark (Ps 132:1–5).

62:7 praise of the earth. Cf. Jer 33:9; Zep 3:19–20; see 60:3 and note.

62:12 Holy People. See 4:3; Ex 19:6 and notes. Redeemed. See 35:9 and note. Sought After ... No Longer Deserted. See v. 4.

63:1 Edom. See 21:11; 34:5 and notes. Edom here symbolizes a world that hates God's people. Bozrah. See 34:6 and note. stained crimson. Cf. Christ's robe "dipped in blood" (Rev 19:13) as he wages war at his second coming. righteousness, mighty to save. See 45:8; 46:13; 59:16 and notes.

[2]Why are your garments red, like those of one treading the winepress?[i] [3]"I have trodden the winepress[j] alone;
from the nations no one was with me.
I trampled[k] them in my anger and trod them down in my wrath;[l] their blood spattered my garments,[m] and I stained all my clothing.
[4]For the day of vengeance[n] was in my heart, and the year of my redemption has come.
[5]I looked, but there was no one[o] to help,
I was appalled that no one gave support;
so my own arm[p] worked salvation for me,
and my own wrath sustained me.[q] [6]I trampled[r] the nations in my anger;
in my wrath I made them drunk[s] and poured their blood[t] on the ground."

Praise and Prayer

[7]I will tell of the kindnesses[u] of the LORD, the deeds for which he is to be praised,
according to all the LORD has done for us—
yes, the many good things[v] he has done for the house of Israel,
according to his compassion[w] and many kindnesses.
[8]He said, "Surely they are my people,[x] sons who will not be false to me";
and so he became their Savior.[y] [9]In all their distress he too was distressed, and the angel[z] of his presence[a] saved them.
In his love and mercy he redeemed[b] them;
he lifted them up and carried[c] them
all the days of old.[d]
[10]Yet they rebelled[e] and grieved his Holy Spirit.[f]
So he turned and became their enemy[g]
and he himself fought[h] against them.
[11]Then his people recalled[v] the days of old,
the days of Moses and his people—where is he who brought them through the sea,[i] with the shepherd of his flock?[j]
Where is he who set his Holy Spirit[k] among them, [12]who sent his glorious arm[l] of power to be at Moses' right hand, who divided the waters[m] before them,
to gain for himself everlasting renown,[n] [13]who led[o] them through the depths?[p]
Like a horse in open country,
they did not stumble;[q] [14]like cattle that go down to the plain, they were given rest[r] by the Spirit of the LORD.

[v] 11 Or But may he recall

63:2 Why . . . ? Isaiah responds with a question. treading the winepress. See 16:10 and note.

63:3 trodden the winepress. A figure of judgment also in La 1:15; Joel 3:13; Rev 14:17–20; 19:15. in my anger . . . wrath. The day of the Lord. See v. 6; 13:3; 34:2 and notes.

63:4 day of vengeance . . . year of my redemption. See 61:2 and note. The day of judging the enemy meant at the same time redemption for God's people. See 35:9; 41:14 and notes.

63:5 See 59:16 (a parallel to the whole verse) and note. wrath. In 59:16 "righteousness" is used. God's righteousness and holiness resulted in his wrath.

63:6 made them drunk. They drank the "cup of his wrath" (see 51:17 and note). poured their blood. Here the battle is compared to a sacrifice, as in 34:6.

63:7–64:12 A prayer of Isaiah, asking the Lord to bring about the redemption he has promised—as one of the "watchmen" the Lord has posted on the walls of Jerusalem (see 62:6 and note). It is similar to a national lament (see, e.g., Ps 44).

63:7 kindnesses. A demonstration of God's unfailing love as he stood true to his covenant with Israel. many good things. Cf. Jos 21:45; 1Ki 8:66. compassion. See 54:7–8,10 and note.

63:8 my people, sons who will not be false. But see 1:2–4. Savior. See 43:3 and note.

63:9 In all their distress . . . distressed. The suffering in Egypt and during the period of the judges is probably in view (see Jdg 10:16). angel of his presence. See Ex 23:20–23; 33:14–15. redeemed. See 41:14; 43:1 and notes. lifted . . . carried. Like a father (see Dt 1:31; 32:10–12).

63:10 rebelled. In the desert (see 1:2 and note; 30:1; Nu 20:10; Ps 78:40). grieved his Holy Spirit. See Ps 106:33; cf. Isa 11:1–2; 42:1. became their enemy. See 43:28 and note.

63:11 sea. The Red Sea (see 50:2 and note; 51:10). shepherd. Moses. Holy Spirit. See note on Ps 51:11. The Spirit rested on Moses and 70 elders (Nu 11:17,25). See also v. 14.

63:12 arm of power. See 51:9 and note; Ex 15:16. divided the waters. See Ex 14:21; cf. 11:15; 51:10. everlasting renown. See 55:13 and note.

63:13 depths. Of the Red Sea (see Ex 15:5,8; Ps 106:9). But the crossing of the Jordan may be intended as well (see v. 14 and note).

63:14 to the plain. To find pasture and water. given rest. They found a home in Canaan, the promised land (see Dt 12:9; Jos 1:13; 21:44).

This is how you guided your people to make for yourself a glorious name.

15 Look down from heaven[s] and see from your lofty throne,[t] holy and glorious.
Where are your zeal[u] and your might?
Your tenderness and compassion[v] are withheld[w] from us.
16 But you are our Father,[x] though Abraham does not know us or Israel acknowledge[y] us;
you, O LORD, are our Father, our Redeemer[z] from of old is your name.
17 Why, O LORD, do you make us wander[a] from your ways and harden our hearts[b] so we do not revere[c] you?
Return[d] for the sake of your servants,
the tribes that are your inheritance.[e] 18 For a little while[f] your people possessed your holy place, but now our enemies have trampled[g] down your sanctuary.[h]
19 We are yours from of old;
but you have not ruled over them, they have not been called by your name.[w i]

64 Oh, that you would rend the heavens[j] and come down,[k] that the mountains[l] would tremble
before you!
2 As when fire sets twigs ablaze and causes water to boil, come down to make your name[m] known to your enemies and cause the nations to quake[n]
before you!

3 For when you did awesome[o] things that we did not expect, you came down, and the mountains
trembled[p] before you.
4 Since ancient times no one has heard,
no ear has perceived,
no eye has seen any God besides you,[q]
who acts on behalf of those who wait for him.[r]
5 You come to the help of those who gladly do right,[s]
who remember your ways.
But when we continued to sin against them,
you were angry.[t]
How then can we be saved?
6 All of us have become like one who is unclean,[u]
and all our righteous[v] acts are like filthy rags;
we all shrivel up like a leaf,[w]
and like the wind our sins sweep us away.[x]
7 No one[y] calls on your name[z] or strives to lay hold of you;
for you have hidden[a] your face from us
and made us waste away[b] because of our sins.

8 Yet, O LORD, you are our Father.[c]
We are the clay, you are the potter;[d]
we are all the work of your hand.[e]
9 Do not be angry[f] beyond measure,
O LORD;
do not remember our sins[g]
forever.
Oh, look upon us, we pray,

[w] 19 Or We are like those you have never ruled, / like those never called by your name

63:15 lofty throne. See 6:1. zeal. See 9:7; 42:13 and notes. tenderness and compassion. Cf. Hos 11:8. withheld. See 42:14 and note.

63:16 Father. See 64:8; Dt 32:6. Abraham does not know. Even if their human fathers abandon them, God will not (see 49:14–15 and notes). Redeemer. See 41:14 and note.

63:17 make us wander. When Israel went astray (see 53:6), God let them wander. harden our hearts. The people's hearts were hard (see 6:10; Ps 95:8), and the Lord confirmed that condition (see 6:10; Ex 4:21 and notes). servants. True believers (see 54:17 and note).

63:18 enemies. The Babylonians. trampled down your sanctuary. Graphically described in Ps 74:3–7; cf. Isa 64:11. Since it was God's sanctuary, his honor was at stake (cf. 48:11).

63:19 called by your name. See 43:7 and note.

64:1 rend the heavens. The sky is compared to a tent curtain. For this and the further description of the cosmic effects of God's coming in judgment and redemption see Jdg 5:4–5; Ps 18:7–15; 144:5; Na 1:5; Hab 3:3–7.

64:2 make your name known. See 30:27 and note.

64:3 awesome things. See Ps 66:3,5–6.

64:4 no . . . God besides you. See 43:11 and note. wait for him. See 30:18; see also 40:31 and note.

64:5 do right. See 56:1. you were angry. See 9:12,17,21 and note. God's anger culminated in the exile. saved. Or "delivered" (see 43:3 and note).

64:6 unclean. Ceremonially unclean, like a person with a terrible disease (see 6:5; Lev 5:2; 13:45). righteous acts. See 57:12 and note. filthy rags. The cloths a woman uses during her period, a time when she is "unclean" (see Lev 15:19–24; Eze 36:17). shrivel up like a leaf. A figure used also in 1:30. like the wind. Which blows away the chaff (see 17:13; 40:24 and note).

64:7 No one calls on your name. The Lord urges earnest prayer in times of distress (see, e.g., 2Ch 7:14). hidden your face. See 1:15 and note.

64:8 Father. See 63:16 and note. clay . . . potter. See 45:9 and note. work of your hand. See 60:21 and note.

64:9 Do not be angry. Cf. the promise to end that anger in 54:7–8 (see notes there). do not remember our sins. See 43:25 and note; Jer 31:34; Mic 7:18. your people. See 63:17–19; Ps 79:13.

for we are all your people.[h] 10Your sacred cities[i] have become a desert;
even Zion is a desert, Jerusalem a desolation.[j] 11Our holy and glorious temple,[k] where our fathers praised you,
has been burned with fire,
and all that we treasured[l] lies in ruins.
12After all this, O LORD, will you hold yourself back?[m]
Will you keep silent[n] and punish us beyond measure?

Judgment and Salvation

65 "I revealed myself to those who did not ask for me;
I was found by those who did not seek me.[o]
To a nation[p] that did not call on my name,[q]
I said, 'Here am I, here am I.'
2All day long I have held out my hands to an obstinate people,[r] who walk in ways not good, pursuing their own imaginations[s]— 3a people who continually provoke me to my very face,[t] offering sacrifices in gardens[u] and burning incense[v] on altars of brick; 4who sit among the graves[w]
and spend their nights keeping secret vigil;
who eat the flesh of pigs,[x]
and whose pots hold broth of unclean meat; 5who say, 'Keep away; don't come near me,
for I am too sacred[y] for you!'
Such people are smoke[z] in my nostrils,
a fire that keeps burning all day.
6"See, it stands written before me:
I will not keep silent[a] but will pay back[b] in full;
I will pay it back into their laps[c]— 7both your sins[d] and the sins of your fathers,"[e]
says the LORD.
"Because they burned sacrifices on the mountains and defied me on the hills,[f]
I will measure into their laps
the full payment[g] for their former deeds."
8This is what the LORD says:
"As when juice is still found in a cluster of grapes[h] and men say, 'Don't destroy it, there is yet some good in it,' so will I do in behalf of my servants;[i]
I will not destroy them all.
9I will bring forth descendants[j] from Jacob,
and from Judah those who will possess[k] my mountains;
my chosen[l] people will inherit them,
and there will my servants live.[m] 10Sharon[n] will become a pasture for flocks,[o]
and the Valley of Achor[p] a resting place for herds, for my people who seek[q] me.

64:11 holy and glorious temple. See 60:7; 63:15. burned with fire. Isaiah here reaches the climax of his lament. See 63:18 and note.

64:12 hold yourself back ... keep silent. See 42:14; 57:11; 62:1,6–7 and notes.

65:1–66:24 The grand conclusion to chs. 58–66, as well as to chs. 40–66 and to the whole book.

65:1 did not ask ... did not seek. The Lord now proceeds to answer Isaiah's prayer. Israel failed to stay close to the Lord, though they sought him in a superficial way (see 55:6; 58:2 and notes). did not call on my name. See 64:7. Here am I. See 58:9.

65:2 obstinate people. See 1:2; 30:1,9 and notes. imaginations. See 59:7 and note.

65:3 provoke me. By worshiping idols (see Jdg 2:12–13). to my very face. Defiantly (cf. 3:8–9). gardens. See 1:29 and note. burning incense. As when worshiping the Queen of Heaven (see Jer 44:17–19).

65:4 sit among the graves. Perhaps to consult the dead (see 8:19 and note; 57:9; Dt 18:11). flesh of pigs. Considered ceremonially unclean (see 66:3,17; Lev 11:7–8).

65:5 I am too sacred for you. Those who engage in pagan rituals believe they are superior to others (cf. the attitude of the Pharisees in Mt 9:11; Lk 7:39; 18:9–12).

65:6 not keep silent. The answer to 64:12. pay back. See 59:18 and note.

65:7 burned sacrifices on the mountains. Offered to Baal on the high places (see 57:7; Hos 2:13). defied me. See Eze 20:27–28.

65:8 cluster of grapes. Israel was a vineyard that had produced bad grapes (5:2,4,7). servants. See vv. 9,13–15; 54:17 and note. Here the Lord's servants are equivalent to the remnant (see 1:9 and note).

65:9 descendants. See Jer 31:36. Jacob ... Judah. The northern and southern kingdoms respectively. possess my mountains. See 49:8; 60:21 and notes. "Mountains" refers to the whole land, since so much of it was hilly (see Jdg 1:9; Eze 6:2–3). chosen people. See 41:8–9 and note. inherit. See 57:13 and note.

65:10 Sharon. See 33:9 and note. Valley of Achor. A valley near Jericho (see Jos 7:24,26; Hos 2:15). Since Sharon and Achor are on the western and eastern edges of the land respectively, they probably represent the whole country. seek me. See v. 1; 51:1 and notes.

11 "But as for you who forsake[r] the LORD and forget my holy mountain,[s] who spread a table for Fortune and fill bowls of mixed wine[t] for Destiny, 12 I will destine you for the sword,[u]
and you will all bend down for the slaughter;[v]
for I called but you did not answer,[w]
I spoke but you did not listen.[x]
You did evil in my sight and chose what displeases me."[y]

13 Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

"My servants will eat,[z]
but you will go hungry;[a] my servants will drink,[b]
but you will go thirsty;[c]
my servants will rejoice,[d]
but you will be put to shame.[e] 14 My servants will sing[f] out of the joy of their hearts, but you will cry out[g]
from anguish of heart and wail in brokenness of spirit.
15 You will leave your name to my chosen ones as a curse;[h]
the Sovereign LORD will put you to death, but to his servants he will give another name.[i] 16 Whoever invokes a blessing[j] in the land will do so by the God of truth;[k] he who takes an oath in the land will swear[l] by the God of truth.
For the past troubles[m] will be forgotten and hidden from my eyes.

New Heavens and a New Earth

17 "Behold, I will create new heavens and a new earth.[n]
The former things will not be remembered,[o]
nor will they come to mind.
18 But be glad and rejoice[p] forever in what I will create, for I will create Jerusalem[q] to be a delight and its people a joy.
19 I will rejoice[r] over Jerusalem and take delight[s] in my people;
the sound of weeping and of crying[t]
will be heard in it no more.

20 "Never again will there be in it an infant[u] who lives but a few days, or an old man who does not live out his years;[v]
he who dies at a hundred will be thought a mere youth;
he who fails to reach[x] a hundred will be considered accursed.
21 They will build houses[w] and dwell in them;
they will plant vineyards and eat their fruit.[x] 22 No longer will they build houses and others live in them,[y] or plant and others eat.
For as the days of a tree,[z]
so will be the days[a] of my people;
my chosen[b] ones will long enjoy the works of their hands.

See note on 5:22; cf. v. 3; Jer 7:18. Fortune ... Destiny. The pagan gods of good fortune and fate. See Jos 11:17, where "Gad" may mean "Fortune."
65:12 sword. Designed for God's enemies, such as Edom (34:5–6), but the wicked of Israel would also suffer (see 1:20; 59:18 and note; 66:16). called ... not answer. See 50:2 and note; 2Ch 36:15–16. chose what displeases me. Contrast the faithfulness of the eunuchs in 56:4. The last four lines of v. 12 are almost identical to those of 66:4.

Judgment and Hope

66 This is what the LORD says:
"Heaven is my throne,[n]
and the earth is my footstool.[o]
Where is the house[p] you will build for me?
Where will my resting place be?
2 Has not my hand made all these things,[q] and so they came into being?"
declares the LORD.
"This is the one I esteem:
he who is humble and contrite in spirit,[r] and trembles at my word.[s] 3 But whoever sacrifices a bull[t] is like one who kills a man,
and whoever offers a lamb,
like one who breaks a dog's neck;
whoever makes a grain offering is like one who presents pig's[u] blood, and whoever burns memorial incense,[v]
like one who worships an idol.
They have chosen their own ways,[w]
and their souls delight in their abominations;[x] 4 so I also will choose harsh treatment for them and will bring upon them what they dread.[y]
For when I called, no one answered,[z] when I spoke, no one listened.
They did evil[a] in my sight and chose what displeases me."[b] 5 Hear the word of the LORD,
you who tremble at his word:[c]
"Your brothers who hate[d] you, and exclude you because of my name, have said,
'Let the LORD be glorified, that we may see your joy!'
Yet they will be put to shame.[e]
6 Hear that uproar from the city, hear that noise from the temple!
It is the sound[f] of the LORD
repaying[g] his enemies all they deserve.
7 "Before she goes into labor,[h]
she gives birth;
before the pains come upon her,
she delivers a son.[i]
8 Who has ever heard of such a thing?
Who has ever seen[j] such things?
Can a country be born in a day[k] or a nation be brought forth in a moment?
Yet no sooner is Zion in labor than she gives birth to her children.[l]

Jeremiah

Author and Date

The book preserves an account of the prophetic ministry of Jeremiah, whose personal life and struggles are known to us in greater depth and detail than those of any other OT prophet. The meaning of his name is uncertain. Suggestions include "The LORD exalts" and "The LORD establishes," but a more likely proposal is "The LORD throws," either in the sense of "hurling" the prophet into a hostile world or of "throwing down" the nations in divine judgment for their sins. Jeremiah's prophetic ministry began in 626 B.C. and ended sometime after 586 (see notes on 1:2–3). His ministry was immediately preceded by that of Zephaniah. Habakkuk was a contemporary, and Obadiah may have been also. Since Ezekiel began his ministry in Babylon in 593 he too was a late contemporary of the great prophet in Jerusalem. How and when Jeremiah died is not known; Jewish tradition, however, asserts that while living in Egypt he was put to death by being stoned (cf. Heb 11:37).

Jeremiah was a priest, a member of the household of Hilkiah. His hometown was Anathoth (1:1), so he may have been a descendant of Abiathar (1Ki 2:26), a priest during the days of King Solomon. The Lord commanded Jeremiah not to marry and raise children because the impending divine judgment on Judah would sweep away the next generation (16:1–4). Primarily a prophet of doom, he attracted only a few friends, among whom were Ahikam (26:24), Gedaliah (Ahikam's son, 39:14) and Ebed-Melech (38:7–13; cf. 39:15–18). Jeremiah's closest companion was his faithful secretary, Baruch, who wrote down Jeremiah's words as the prophet dictated them (36:4–32). He was advised by Jeremiah not to succumb to the temptations of ambition but to be content with his lot (ch. 45). He also received from Jeremiah and deposited for safekeeping a deed of purchase (32:11–16), and accompanied the prophet on the long road to exile in Egypt (43:6–7). It is possible that Baruch was also responsible for the final compilation of the book of Jeremiah itself, since no event recorded in chs. 1—51 occurred after 580 B.C. (ch. 52 is an appendix added by a later hand).

Given to self-analysis and self-criticism (10:24), Jeremiah has revealed a great deal about his character and personality. Although timid by nature (1:6), he received the Lord's assurance that he would become strong and courageous (1:18; 6:27; 15:20). In his "confessions" (11:18–23; 12:1–4; 15:10–21; 17:12–18; 18:18–23; 20:7–18) he laid bare the deep struggles of his inmost being, sometimes making startlingly honest statements about his feelings toward God (12:1; 15:18). On occasion, he engaged in calling for redress against his personal enemies (12:1–3; 15:15; 17:18; 18:19–23)—a practice that explains the origin of the English word "jeremiad," referring to a denunciatory tirade or complaint. Jeremiah, so often characterized by anguish of spirit (4:19; 9:1; 10:19–20; 23:9), has justly been called the "weeping prophet." But it is also true that the memory of his divine call (1:17) and the Lord's frequent reaffirmations of his commissioning as a prophet (see, e.g., 3:12; 7:2,27–28; 11:2,6; 13:12–13; 17:19–20) made Jeremiah fearless in the service of his God (cf. 15:20).

Background

Jeremiah began prophesying in Judah halfway through the reign of Josiah (640–609 B.C.) and continued throughout the reigns of Jehoahaz (609), Jehoiakim (609–598), Jehoiachin (598–597) and Zedekiah (597–586). It was a period of storm and stress when the doom of entire nations—including Judah itself—was being sealed. The smaller states of western Asia were often pawns in the power plays of such imperial giants as Egypt, Assyria and Babylon, and the time of Jeremiah's ministry was no exception. Ashurbanipal, last of the great Assyrian rulers, died in 627. His successors were no match for Nabopolassar, the founder of the Neo-Babylonian empire, who began his rule in 626 (the year of Jeremiah's call to prophesy). Soon after Assyria's capital city Nineveh fell under the onslaught of a coalition of Babylonians and Medes in 612, Egypt (no friend of Babylon) marched northward in an attempt to rescue Assyria, which was near destruction. King Josiah of Judah made the mistake of trying to stop the Egyptian advance, and his untimely death near Megiddo in 609 at the hands of Pharaoh Neco II was the sad result (2Ch 35:20–24). Jeremiah, who had found a kindred spirit in the godly Josiah and had perhaps proclaimed the messages recorded in 11:1–8; 17:19–27 during the king's reformation movement, lamented Josiah's death (2Ch 35:25).

Josiah's son Jehoahaz (see NIV text note on 22:11), also known as Shallum, is mentioned only briefly in the book of Jeremiah (22:10b-12), and then in an unfavorable way. Neco put Jehoahaz in chains and made Eliakim, another of Josiah's sons, king in his place, renaming him Jehoiakim. Jehoahaz had ruled for a scant three months (2Ch 36:2), and his reign marks the turning point in the court's attitude toward Jeremiah. Once the king's friend and confidant, the prophet now entered a dreary round of persecution and imprisonment, alternating with only brief periods of freedom (20:1–2; 26:8–9; 32:2–3; 33:1; 36:26; 37:12–21; 38:6–13,28).

Jehoiakim was relentlessly hostile toward Jeremiah. On one occasion, when an early draft of the prophet's writings was being read to Jehoiakim (36:21), the king used a scribe's knife to cut the scroll apart, three or four columns at a time, and threw it piece by piece into the firepot in his winter apartment (vv. 22–23). At the Lord's command, however, Jeremiah simply dictated his prophecies to Baruch a second time, adding "many similar words" to them (v. 32).

Just prior to this episode in Jeremiah's life, an event of extraordinary importance took place that changed the course of history: In 605 B.C., the Egyptians were crushed at Carchemish on the Euphrates by Nebuchadnezzar (46:2), the gifted general who succeeded his father Nabopolassar as ruler of Babylon that same year. Neco returned to Egypt with heavy losses, and Babylon was given a virtually free hand in western Asia for the next 70 years. Nebuchadnezzar besieged Jerusalem in 605, humiliating Jehoiakim (Da 1:1–2) and carrying off Daniel and his three companions to Babylon (Da 1:3–6). Later, in 598–597, Nebuchadnezzar attacked Jerusalem again, and the rebellious Jehoiakim was heard of no more. His son Jehoiachin ruled Judah for only three months (2Ch 36:9). Jeremiah foretold the captivity of Jehoiachin and his followers (22:24–30), a prediction that was later fulfilled (24:1; 29:1–2).

Mattaniah, Jehoiachin's uncle and a son of Josiah, was renamed Zedekiah and placed on Judah's throne by Nebuchadnezzar in 597 B.C. (37:1; 2Ch 36:9–14). Zedekiah, a weak and vacillating ruler, sometimes befriended Jeremiah and sought his advice but at other times allowed the prophet's enemies to mistreat and imprison him. Near the end of Zedekiah's reign, Jeremiah entered into an agreement with him to reveal God's will to him in exchange for his own personal safety (38:15–27). Even then the prophet was under virtual house arrest until Jerusalem was captured in 586 (38:28).

While trying to flee the city, Zedekiah was overtaken by the pursuing Babylonians. In his presence his sons were executed, after which he himself was blinded by Nebuchadnezzar (39:1–7). Nebuzaradan, commander of the imperial guard, advised Jeremiah to live with Gedaliah, whom Nebuchadnezzar had made governor over Judah (40:1–6). After a brief reign, Gedaliah was murdered by his opponents (ch. 41). Others in Judah feared Babylonian reprisal and fled to Egypt, taking Jeremiah and Baruch with them (43:4–7). By that time the prophet was probably over 70 years old. His last recorded words are found in 44:24–30, the last verse of which is the only explicit reference in the Bible to Pharaoh Hophra, who ruled Egypt from 589 to 570 B.C.

Themes and Message

Referred to frequently as "Jeremiah the prophet" in the book that bears his name (20:2; 25:2; 28:5,10–12,15; 29:1,29; 32:2; 34:6; 36:8,26; 37:2,3,6; 38:9–10,14; 42:2,4; 43:6; 45:1; 46:1,13; 47:1; 49:34; 50:1) and elsewhere (2Ch 36:12; Da 9:2; Mt 2:17; 27:9; see Mt 16:14), Jeremiah was ever conscious of his call from the Lord (1:5; 15:19) to be a prophet. As such, he proclaimed words that were spoken first by God himself (19:2) and were therefore certain of fulfillment (28:9; 32:24). Jeremiah had only contempt for false prophets (14:13–18; 23:13–40; 27:14–18) like Hananiah (ch. 28) and Shemaiah (29:24–32). Many of his own predictions were fulfilled in the short term (e.g., 16:15; 20:4; 25:11–14; 27:19–22; 29:10; 34:4–5; 43:10–11; 44:30; 46:13), and others were—or will yet be—fulfilled in the long term (e.g., 23:5–6; 30:8–9; 31:31–34; 33:15–16).

As hinted earlier, an aura of conflict surrounded Jeremiah almost from the beginning. He lashed out against the sins of his countrymen (44:23), scoring them severely for their idolatry (16:10–13,20; 22:9; 32:29; 44:2–3,8,17–19,25)—which sometimes even involved sacrificing their children to foreign gods (7:30–34). But Jeremiah loved the people of Judah in spite of their sins, and he prayed for them (14:7,20) even when the Lord told him not to (7:16; 11:14; 14:11).

Judgment is one of the all-pervasive themes in Jeremiah's writings, though he was careful to point out that repentance, if sincere, would postpone the inevitable. His counsel of submission to Babylon and his message of "life as usual" for the exiles of the early deportations branded him as a traitor in the eyes of many. Actually, of course, his advice against rebellion marked him as a true patriot, a man who loved his countrymen too much to stand by silently and watch them destroy themselves. By warning them to submit and not rebel, Jeremiah was revealing God's will to them—always the most sensible prospect under any circumstances.

For Jeremiah, God was ultimate. The prophet's theology conceived of the Lord as the Creator of all that exists (10:12–16; 51:15–19), as all-powerful (32:27; 48:15; 51:57), as everywhere present (23:24). Jeremiah ascribed the most elevated attributes to the God whom he served (32:17–25), viewing him as the Lord not only of Judah but also of the nations (5:15; 18:7–10; 25:17–28; chs. 46—51).

At the same time, God is very much concerned about individual people and their accountability to him. Jeremiah's emphasis in this regard (see, e.g., 31:29–30) is similar to that of Ezekiel (see Eze 18:2–4), and the two men have become known as the "prophets of individual responsibility." The undeniable relationship between sin and its consequences, so visible to Jeremiah as he watched his beloved Judah in her death throes, made him—in the pursuit of his divine vocation—a fiery preacher (5:14; 20:9; 23:29) of righteousness, and his oracles have lost none of their power with the passing of the centuries.

Called to the unhappy task of announcing the destruction of the kingdom of Judah (thoroughly corrupted by the long and evil reign of Manasseh and only superficially affected by Josiah's efforts at reform), it was Jeremiah's commission to lodge God's indictment against his people and proclaim the end of an era. At long last, the Lord was about to inflict on the remnant of his people the ultimate covenant curse (see Lev 26:31–33; Dt 28:49–68). He would undo all that he had done for them since the day he brought them out of Egypt. It would then seem that the end had come, that Israel's stubborn and uncircumcised (unconsecrated) heart had sealed her final destiny, that God's chosen people had been cast off, that all the ancient promises and covenants had come to nothing.

But God's judgment of his people (and the nations), though terrible, was not to be the last word, the final work of God in history. Mercy and covenant faithfulness would triumph over wrath. Beyond the judgment would come restoration and renewal. Israel would be restored, the nations that crushed her would be crushed, and the old covenants (with Israel, David and the Levites) would be honored. God would make a new covenant with his people in which he would write his law on their hearts (31:31–34) and thus consecrate them to his service. The house of David would rule them in righteousness, and faithful priests would serve. God's commitment to Israel's redemption was as unfailing as the secure order of creation (ch. 33).

Jeremiah's message illumined the distant as well as the near horizon. It was false prophets who proclaimed peace to a rebellious nation, as though the God of Israel's peace was indifferent to her unfaithfulness. But the very God who compelled Jeremiah to denounce sin and pronounce judgment was the God who authorized him to announce that the divine wrath had its bounds, its 70 years. Afterward forgiveness and cleansing would come—and a new day, in which all the old expectations, aroused by God's past acts and his promises and covenants, would yet be fulfilled in a manner transcending all God's mercies of old.

Literary Features

Jeremiah is the longest book in the Bible, containing more words than any other book. Although a number of chapters were written mainly in prose (chs. 7; 11; 16; 19; 21; 24—29; 32—45), including the appendix (ch. 52), most sections are predominantly poetic in form. Jeremiah's poetry is as lofty and lyrical as any found elsewhere in Scripture. A creator of beautiful phrases, he has given us an abundance of memorable passages (e.g., 2:13,26–28; 7:4,11,34; 8:20,22; 9:23–24; 10:6–7,10,12–13; 13:23; 15:20; 17:5–9; 20:13; 29:13; 30:7,22; 31:3,15,29–30,31–34; 33:3; 51:10).

Poetic repetition was used by Jeremiah with particular skill (see, e.g., 4:23–26; 51:20–23). He understood the effectiveness of repeating a striking phrase over and over. An example is "sword, famine and plague," found in 15 separate verses (14:12; 21:7,9; 24:10; 27:8,13; 29:17–18; 32:24,36; 34:17; 38:2; 42:17,22; 44:13). He made use of cryptograms (see NIV text notes on 25:26; 51:1,41) on appropriate occasions. Alliteration and assonance were also a part of his literary style, examples being zarim wezeruha ("foreigners . . . to winnow her," 51:2) and paḥad wapaḥat wapaḥ ("Terror and pit and snare," 48:43; see note on Isa 24:17).

Like Ezekiel, Jeremiah was often instructed to use symbolism to highlight his message: a ruined and useless belt (13:1–11), a smashed clay jar (19:1–12), a yoke of straps and crossbars (ch. 27), large stones in a brick pavement (43:8–13). Symbolic value is also seen in the Lord's commands to Jeremiah not to marry and raise children (16:1–4), not to enter a house where there is a funeral meal or where there is feasting (16:5–9), and to buy a field in his hometown, Anathoth (32:6–15). Similarly, the Lord used visual aids in conveying his message to Jeremiah: potter's clay (18:1–10), two baskets of figs (ch. 24).

The Call of Jeremiah

4The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

5"Before I formed you in the womb[g] I knew[a][h] you,

I appointed you as a prophet to the nations.[k]"

6"Ah, Sovereign LORD," I said, "I do not know how to speak;[l] I am only a child."[m]

7But the LORD said to me, "Do not say, 'I am only a child.' You must go to everyone I send you to and say whatever I command you. 8Do not be afraid[n] of them, for I am with you[o] and will rescue[p] you," declares the LORD.[q]

[a] 5 Or chose

1:1–3 The background and setting of Jeremiah's call are stated concisely but comprehensively.

1:1 The words of. See 36:10; see also Ne 1:1; Ecc 1:1; Am 1:1; cf. Dt 1:1. Jeremiah. For the meaning of the name see Introduction: Author and Date. Nine other OT men had the same name (see 1Ch 5:24; 12:4,10,13; Ne 10:2; 12:1,34), two of whom were the prophet's contemporaries (Jer 35:3; 52:1). Hilkiah. Means "The LORD is my portion." For Hilkiah's possible relationship to a priestly house dating back to King Solomon see Introduction: Author and Date. Two other men named Hilkiah (a common OT name) were also Jeremiah's contemporaries (see 29:3; Ezr 7:1 and note). priests. Like Ezekiel (Eze 1:3) and Zechariah (see Introduction to Zechariah: Author), Jeremiah was both prophet and priest. Anathoth. See 11:21–23; 32:6–9. The Hebrew word is the plural form of the name of the Canaanite deity Anat(h), goddess of war. Anathoth had had priestly connections in Israel as early as the times of Joshua (Jos 21:18) and Solomon (1Ki 2:26), and its pagan origins had presumably been almost forgotten by Jeremiah's time. Present-day Anata, three miles northeast of Jerusalem, preserves the ancient name, though the ancient site was about half a mile southwest of Anata. Benjamin. Anathoth was one of the four Levitical towns in the tribal territory of Benjamin (Jos 21:17–18), and after the exile Benjamites settled there again (Ne 11:31–32).

1:2 The word of the LORD came. The most common way of introducing a divine oracle at the beginning of a prophetic book (see Eze 1:3; Jnh 1:1; Hag 1:1; Zec 1:1; cf. Hos 1:1; Joel 1:1; Mic 1:1; Zep 1:1). to him. Beginning in v. 4, Jeremiah speaks in the first person (see, e.g., vv. 11,13; 2:1). thirteenth year. 626 B.C. (see 25:3). Josiah. See 3:6; 36:2. He was the last good and godly king of Judah. Jeremiah sympathized with and supported his attempts at spiritual reformation and renewal (see 22:15b–16), which began in earnest in 621 (see 2Ki 22:3–23:25; 2Ch 34:8–35:19; cf. 2Ch 34:3–7).

1:3 Jehoiakim. His predecessor (Jehoahaz) and successor (Jehoiachin) are not mentioned, since they each reigned only three months. In contrast to his father Josiah, Jehoiakim was a wicked ruler (see 2Ki 23:36–37; 2Ch 36:5)—as Jeremiah discovered almost immediately (see Introduction: Background; see also 22:13–15a,17–19; 26:20–23). fifth month of the eleventh year. Ab (July-August), 586 B.C. (see 52:12). Zedekiah. The last king of Judah (see Introduction: Background), as wicked in his own way as Jehoiakim (see 52:1–2; 2Ch 36:11–14; see also Jer 24:8; 37:1–2). exile. The main captivity of Judah's people coincided with the destruction of Jerusalem and Solomon's temple by Nebuchadnezzar in 586 (see 2Ki 25:8–11).

1:4–19 The account of Jeremiah's call includes two prophetic visions (vv. 10–16) and some closing words of exhortation and encouragement (vv. 17–19).

1:4 See note on v. 2.

1:5 See Jdg 13:5; Gal 1:15. I formed you. See Isa 49:5. God's creative act (see Ge 2:7; Ps 119:73) is the basis of his sovereign right (see 18:4–6; Isa 43:21) to call Jeremiah into his service. I knew you. In the sense of making Jeremiah the object of his choice (see NIV text note). The Hebrew verb used here is translated "chosen" in Ge 18:19; Am 3:2. I appointed you. The Hebrew for this verb is not the same as that in v. 10, but both refer to the commissioning of the prophet. prophet. Lit. "one who has been called" to be God's spokesman (see Ex 7:1–2; 1Sa 9:9 and notes). nations. Although Judah's neighbors are probably the primary focus (see 25:8–38; chs. 46–51), Judah herself is not excluded.

1:6 not know how to speak. Like Moses (Ex 4:10), Jeremiah claimed inability to be a prophet; God nevertheless made him his spokesman (15:19). only a child. See 1Ki 3:7. Jeremiah's objection is denied immediately by the Lord (v. 7).

1:7 Youth and inexperience do not disqualify when God calls (see 1Ti 4:12); he equips and sustains those he commissions.

1:8 Do not be afraid. See 10:5; 30:10; 40:9; 42:11; 46:27–28; 51:46; see also Isa 35:4 and note; 41:10. I am with you. See v. 19; 15:20. God's promise of his continuing presence should calm the fears of the most reluctant of prophets (see Ex 3:12; see also note on Ge 26:3). rescue. See v. 19; 15:20; 39:17. The Lord does not promise that Jeremiah will not be persecuted or imprisoned, but that no serious physical harm will come to him.

1:9 touched my mouth. Either in prophetic vision (see note on v. 11) or figuratively—or both (cf. Isa 6:7). I have put my words in your mouth. Continues the figure of speech begun earlier in the verse and provides a classic description of the relationship between the Lord and his prophet (see 5:14; Ex 4:15; Nu 22:38; 23:5,12,16; Dt 18:18; Isa 51:16; cf. 2Pe 1:21).

[a] 15 Or Judah, / 16 and they will pronounce my judgments

1:10 appoint. See note on v. 5. uproot and tear down ... destroy and overthrow ... build and ... plant. See 12:14–15,17; 18:7–10; 24:6; 31:28; 42:10; 45:4. The first two pairs of verbs are negative, stressing the fact that Jeremiah is to be primarily a prophet of doom, while the last pair is positive, indicating that he is also to be a prophet of restoration—even if only secondarily. The first verb ("uproot") is the opposite of the last ("plant"), and fully half of the verbs ("tear down," "destroy," "overthrow") are the opposite of "build."

1:11 What do you see ...? Often spoken by the Lord (or his representative) to introduce a prophetic vision (see v. 13; Am 7:8; 8:2; Zec 4:2; 5:2).

1:12 watching. See NIV text note. Just as the almond tree (v. 11) blooms first in the year (and therefore "wakes up" early—the Hebrew word for "watching" means to be wakeful), so the Lord is ever watchful to make sure that his word is fulfilled.

1:13 pot. The Hebrew for this word is translated "caldron" in Job 41:31 and stresses its large size (see Eze 24:3–5).

1:14 From the north disaster. See note on Isa 41:25. will be poured out. The Hebrew for this word has a similar sound to that for "boiling" in v. 13. Although the verb usually means "be opened," in Isa 14:17 it is translated "let ... go," a meaning similar to that in this verse. land. Judah (see v. 15).

1:15 northern kingdoms. Since Assyria posed a minimal threat to Judah after the death of Ashurbanipal in 627 B.C., reference is most likely to Babylon and her allies. set up their thrones in ... the gates of Jerusalem. For the fulfillment see 39:3. Since the gateway of a city was the place where its ruling council sat (see notes on Ge 19:1; Ru 4:1), the Babylonians replaced Judah's royal authority with their own (cf. 43:10; 49:38).

1:16 my judgments on my people. God, sovereign over his own, judges his own for their sins, using the Babylonians as his agents of judgment. burning incense to other gods. A common feature of pagan worship (e.g., 7:9; 11:12–13,17; 18:15; 19:13; 32:29; 44:17). what their hands have made. Idols (see 16:19–20; 25:6; 2Ki 22:17; 2Ch 33:22; Isa 46:6).

1:17 Get yourself ready! Lit. "Tighten your belt around your waist!" For related expressions see Ex 12:11; 1Ki 18:46; 2Ki 4:29; 9:1; Job 38:3; 40:7.

1:18 fortified city. A symbol of security and impregnability (see 5:17; Pr 18:11,19). iron pillar. Unique in the OT, the expression signifies dignity and strength. bronze wall. See 15:20. Jeremiah would be able to withstand the abuse and persecution that his divine commission would evoke, even though his enemies themselves would be "bronze and iron" (6:28). kings ... officials ... priests ... people. The whole nation would defy the prophet and his God (see, e.g., 2:26; 23:8; 32:32).

1:19 See note on v. 8; see also 15:20.

2:1–6:30 It is generally agreed that these chapters are among Jeremiah's earliest discourses, delivered during the reign of Josiah (3:6). The basic theme is the virtually total apostasy of Judah (chs. 2–5), leading inevitably to divine retribution through foreign invasion (ch. 6).

2:1–3:5 The wickedness and backsliding of God's people are vividly portrayed in numerous colorful figures of speech.

2:1 See note on 1:2.

2:2 devotion. The Hebrew for this word refers to the most intimate degree of loyalty, love and faithfulness that can exist between two people or between an individual and the Lord. youth ... as a bride. Early in her history, Israel had enjoyed a close and cordial relationship with the Lord, who is often described figuratively as Israel's husband (3:14; 31:32; Isa 54:5; Hos 2:16). you loved me. But later God's people forsook him and loved "foreign gods" (v. 25), tragically abandoning their first love (cf. Rev 2:4). followed me. But later they followed "worthless idols" (vv. 5,8), "the Baals" (v. 23). desert. Sinai (see v. 6).

and followed me through the desert,[p]

declares the LORD.

4Hear the word of the LORD, O house of all you clans of the house of Israel.

5This is what the LORD says:

"What fault did your fathers find in me,
that they strayed so far from me?
They followed worthless idols[v] and became worthless[w] themselves.
6They did not ask, 'Where is the LORD,

But you came and defiled my land and made my inheritance detestable.[c]

2:3 holy to the LORD. Set apart to him and his service (see notes on Ex 3:5; Lev 11:44; Dt 7:6). firstfruits. Just as the "best of the firstfruits" of Israel's crops were to be brought to the Lord (Ex 23:19; see Nu 18:12; 2Ch 31:5; Eze 44:30), so also the people themselves were his first and choicest treasure (cf. Jas 1:18; Rev 14:4). disaster overtook them. See, e.g., Ex 17:8–16.

2:4 Hear. A common divine imperative in prophetic writings, summoning God's people—as well as the nations—into his courts to remind them of their legal obligations to him and, when necessary, to pass judgment on them (see, e.g., 7:2; 17:20; 19:3; 21:11; 22:2,29; 31:10; 42:15; 44:24,26; Isa 1:10; Eze 13:2; Hos 4:1; Am 7:16).

2:5 This is what the LORD says. The so-called messenger formula, introducing God's word through the prophet. Though frequent in overall occurrence, its use is restricted to Jeremiah, Isaiah (e.g., 7:7), Ezekiel (e.g., 2:4), Amos (e.g., 1:3), Obadiah (1), Micah (3:5), Nahum (1:12), Haggai (e.g., 1:2), Zechariah (e.g., 1:3) and Malachi (1:4). strayed. See 4:1; 23:13,32; 31:19; 50:6; Isa 53:6; Eze 34:4–6,16; 1Pe 2:25. followed worthless idols. See vv. 8,23; see also note on v. 2. "Worthless" is Jeremiah's favorite way of describing idols (8:19; 10:8,15; 14:22; 16:19; 51:18). became worthless themselves. See 2Ki 17:15. Idolaters are no better than the idols they worship (see Ps 115:8).

2:6 LORD ... brought us up out of Egypt. The Lord, Israel's Redeemer (see notes on Ge 2:4; Ex 3:15), freed his people from Egyptian bondage so that they might serve him alone (Ex 20:2–6). led us. As a shepherd leads his sheep (see v. 17; Dt 8:15; Ps 23:2–3). land of deserts ... land of ... darkness. The desert often symbolized darkness with its attendant dangers, including death (v. 31; 9:10; 12:12; 17:6; 23:10; Ps 44:19).

2:7 fertile. The Hebrew for this word is karmel, translated "orchards" in 48:33 and also used as the name of a place (see Isa 33:9 and note). Rendered "fruitful land" in 4:26, it is the opposite of a desert. defiled my land. Made it ceremonially unclean (see 3:1–2,9; 16:18; see also note on Lev 4:12). inheritance. The promised land, given by God to Israel as a legacy and often intimately associated with the people themselves (see especially 12:7–9,14–15). detestable. See note on Lev 7:21.

2:8 No one consulted the Lord (see v. 6). priests ... leaders ... prophets. See note on 1:18. Those who deal with the law. Priests (see Dt 31:11 and note). leaders. Lit. "shepherds," a term used elsewhere to denote rulers (23:1–4; 49:19; 50:44; see especially Eze 34:1–10,23–24). by Baal. In the name of Baal (cf. 11:21; 14:15; 23:25; 26:9). worthless. Lit. "unprofitable" (see v. 11; the Hebrew for this word is not the same as that in v. 5, though the meaning is similar).

2:9 bring charges against. See note on v. 4; see also 25:31; Hos 4:1; 12:2; Mic 6:2.

2:10 Kittim. Represents the western nations and regions. Kedar. Represents the eastern nations and regions (see NIV text note; see also 49:28; Isa 21:16 and note).

2:11 Has ... gods? A rhetorical question, clearly expecting a negative answer and emphasizing how incredible is Judah's practice of substituting idolatry for the worship of the Lord. their Glory. God (see Ps 106:20; Hos 4:7; see also 1Sa 15:29). worthless. See note on v. 8.

2:12 Be appalled ... O heavens. See note on Isa 1:2; see also Mic 6:1–2 and note. The Hebrew for these phrases offers a striking play on words: shommu shamayim.

2:13 See 1:16. me, the spring of living water. See 17:13. God himself provides life-giving power to his people (see Ps 36:9; see also note on Jn 4:10; Isa 55:1 and

2:15 Lions. Possibly literal (see 2Ki 17:25–26), though probably here symbolizing Assyria (see v. 18; 50:17; see also notes on 4:7; Isa 15:9). roared . . . growled. See Am 3:4. laid waste his land. See 4:7; 18:16; 50:3. towns are burned and deserted. The Hebrew for this phrase is very similar to that in 4:7, rendered there "towns will lie in ruins without inhabitant" (cf. 22:6).

2:16 Memphis. See 44:1; 46:14,19; see also note on Isa 19:13. Tahpanhes. Probably the city later called Daphnai by the Greeks, located just south of Lake Menzaleh in the eastern delta region of Egypt and known today as Tell Defneh (see 43:7–9; 44:1; 46:14; Eze 30:18). shaved the crown of your head. Figurative for bringing disgrace and devastation (see 47:5; 48:37; see also notes on Isa 3:17; 7:20).

2:17 he led you. See note on v. 6. the way. See Ex 18:8; 23:20; Dt 1:33.

2:18 See v. 36. The tendency of Israel or Judah to seek help alternately from Egypt and Assyria was not restricted to Jeremiah's time (see, e.g., Hos 7:11; 12:2). drink water. Provided by enemies, whether national or spiritual, rather than by God (see v. 13; Isa 8:6–8 and notes).

2:19 backsliding. See 3:22; 5:6; 14:7. The word implies repeated apostasy.

2:20–3:6 The rebellion of Judah against God is vividly portrayed by Jeremiah with the use of numerous figures of speech.

2:20 Like a stubborn draft animal (see Hos 4:16), Judah refuses to obey the Lord's commands. broke off your yoke and tore off your bonds. See 5:5; see also 31:18; cf. Ps 2:3. Judah has broken God's law and violated his covenant. on every high hill and under every spreading tree. Locales of pagan worship (see 1Ki 14:23; 2Ki 17:10; Eze 6:13). as a prostitute. Ritual prostitution was a particularly detestable practice (see, e.g., Hos 4:10–14).

2:21 See Isa 5:1–7; see also Ps 80:8–16; Eze 17:1–10; Hos 10:1–2; cf. Jn 15:1–8. choice vine. See Isa 5:2. The Hebrew for this word refers to a grape of exceptional quality. wild. Lit. "foreign." A vine symbolizing Israel should not be like a vine symbolizing Israel's enemies (see Dt 32:32).

2:22 soda . . . soap. Mineral alkali and vegetable alkali respectively. Sins can be removed and forgiven (see Ps 51:2,7; Isa 1:18), but only when the sinner repents and confesses (see Pr 28:13; cf. 1Jn 1:7,9).

2:23 defiled. Ceremonially unclean (see 19:13; see also note on Lev 4:12). run after. See note on v. 2; see also v. 25. Baals. See 9:14; see also note on Jdg 2:11. the valley. Probably the Hinnom Valley (see note on Jos 15:5), known also as the Valley of Ben Hinnom (7:31–32; 19:2,6; 32:35). running here and there. Instead, the people of Judah should have been obeying the Lord, not turning aside either "to the right or to the left" (Dt 28:14).

2:24 wild donkey. An unruly (see Ge 16:12) and intractable (see Job 39:5–8) animal. accustomed to the desert. See 14:6; Job 24:5. sniffing the wind. The picture is one of active searching, not passive waiting (see Hos 2:7,13).

2:25 your feet are bare. You wear out your sandals. It's no use! See 18:12; see also note on Isa 57:10. I love foreign gods. As opposed to the love Judah was expected to express toward God under the terms of their covenant relationship (see, e.g., Dt 6:6; 7:7–13; Hos 2:14–3:1). go after them. See v. 23; see also note on v. 2.
2:26 disgraced when he is caught. See, e.g., Ex 22:3–4. The Hebrew word underlying "disgraced" means lit. "shame," a term often used as a pejorative synonym for the name of Baal, the chief god of Canaan (see 11:13 and note; Hos 9:10; see also note on Jdg 6:32). kings ... officials ... priests ... prophets. See note on 1:18.
2:27 See Isa 44:13–17; contrast Dt 32:6,18; Isa 64:8; Mal 2:10. Come ... save. See v. 28.
2:28 as many gods as ... towns. See 11:13; cf. 1Co 8:5. Every ancient Near Eastern town of any importance had its own patron deity (cf. Ac 19:28,34–35), and many towns were named after deities (see, e.g., note on 1:1).
2:29 bring charges against. Cf. v. 9; see 12:1; Job 33:13.
2:30 I punished your people. Cf. Heb 12:6. did not respond to correction. See 5:3. sword has devoured your prophets. See, e.g., 26:20–23; 2Ki 21:16; 24:4; see also Ne 9:26.
2:31 generation. Often has negative connotations (see, e.g., Dt 32:5). Have I been a desert ... a land of great darkness? On the contrary, the Lord led his people through the desert and its darkness (v. 6). The phrase "great darkness" translates the Hebrew for "darkness of the LORD" (i.e., darkness sent by the Lord; cf. 1Sa 26:12), just as "mighty flame" in SS 8:6 translates "flame of the LORD" (see NIV text note there).
2:32 See Isa 49:15,18 and notes. bride. Cf. v. 2. my people have forgotten me. See 18:15; see also 3:21; 13:25; Isa 17:10; Eze 22:12; 23:35; Hos 8:14. Israel was always to "remember" the Lord and all that he had done for her (Dt 7:18; 8:18) and so trust and worship him alone, but she often "forgot" him—put him out of mind (see Jdg 2:10; Hos 2:13).
2:33 love. Here, worship of pagan gods (see note on v. 20).
2:34 See Am 2:6–8; 4:1; 5:11–12. catch them breaking in. See Ex 22:2 and note.
2:36 disappointed by Egypt ... by Assyria. See vv. 15–18 and notes. The days of Ahaz (see 2Ch 28:21), and perhaps the days of Zedekiah (see 37:7), are in view here.
2:37 with your hands on your head. Ancient reliefs depict captives with wrists tied together above their heads. those you trust. Egypt and Assyria.
3:1 If ... defiled? Cf. Dt 24:1–4. Divorce and remarriage on a widespread scale defiles not only the participants but also the land in which they live (cf. v. 2; Lev 18:25–28). lived as a prostitute. See note on 2:20. many. See note on 2:28. return to me. Repent of your sins against me (see vv. 12–14,22; 4:1).

Would not the land be completely defiled?[e]
But you have lived as a prostitute with many lovers[f]— would you now return to me?"[g]
declares the LORD.
2"Look up to the barren heights[h] and
see.
Is there any place where you have not been ravished?
By the roadside[i] you sat waiting for lovers,
sat like a nomad[k] in the desert.
You have defiled the land[j] with your prostitution[k] and wickedness.
3Therefore the showers have been withheld,[l]
and no spring rains[m] have fallen.
Yet you have the brazen[n] look of a prostitute;
you refuse to blush with shame.[o] 4Have you not just called to me:
'My Father,[p] my friend from my youth,[q]
5will you always be angry?[r]
Will your wrath continue forever?'
This is how you talk,
but you do all the evil you can."

Unfaithful Israel

6During the reign of King Josiah,[s] the LORD said to me, "Have you seen what faithless[t] Israel has done? She has gone up on every high hill and under every spreading tree[u] and has committed adultery[v] there. 7I thought that after she had done all this she would return to me but she did not, and her unfaithful sister[w] Judah saw it.[x] 8I gave faithless Israel[y] her certificate of divorce[z] and sent her away because of all her adulteries. Yet I saw that her unfaithful sister Judah had no fear;[a] she also went out and committed adultery. 9Because Israel's immorality mattered so little to her, she defiled the land[b] and committed adultery[c] with stone[d] and wood.[e] 10In spite of all this, her unfaithful sister Judah did not return[f] to me with all her heart, but only in pretense,[g]" declares the LORD.[h]

11The LORD said to me, "Faithless Israel is more righteous[i] than unfaithful[j] Judah.[k] 12Go, proclaim this message toward the north:[l]

" 'Return,[m] faithless[n] Israel,'
declares the LORD,
'I will frown on you no longer,
for I am merciful,'[o] declares the LORD,
'I will not be angry[p] forever.
13Only acknowledge[q] your guilt—you have rebelled against the LORD
your God,
you have scattered your favors to foreign gods[r]
under every spreading tree,[s] and have not obeyed[t] me,' "
declares the LORD.

14"Return,[u] faithless people," declares

[k]2 Or an Arab

3:2 barren heights. Places where pagan gods were consulted and worshiped (see v. 21; 12:12; Nu 23:3). ravished. Cf. Dt 28:30. By the roadside you sat. See Ge 38:14 and note; Pr 7:10,12. The connection of this imagery with ritual prostitution is made explicit in Eze 16:25. like a nomad in the desert. Waiting in ambush to waylay a traveler (see Lk 10:30). defiled the land. See v. 9.

3:3 showers have been withheld. See 14:1–6; Am 4:7–8. This is the reverse of God's gracious response to his people in Hos 2:21; 6:3. spring rains. See note on Dt 11:14. brazen look. See Pr 7:13.

3:4 My Father. See v. 19; contrast 2:27 and see note there. Compared to the NT, the title "Father" for God is relatively rare in the OT. However, it often occurs in personal names—compound names that begin with Abi- (e.g., Abinadab and Abiram) refer to God as "(my) Father." my friend. Claiming intimate association (see Ps 55:13; Pr 16:28; 17:9; Mic 7:5); perhaps even claiming to be the Lord's faithful wife (cf. Pr 2:17). from my youth. See note on 2:2.

3:5 Will your wrath continue forever? Not if God's people repent (vv. 12–13).

3:6–6:30 The unfaithfulness of Judah (3:6–5:31) will ultimately bring the Babylonians as God's instrument of judgment (ch. 6).

3:6 King Josiah. See Introduction: Background; see also note on 1:2. faithless Israel. The northern kingdom, destroyed in 722–721 B.C. (see vv. 8,11–12). on every high hill and under every spreading tree . . . committed adultery. See note on 2:20.

3:7 her unfaithful sister Judah. The southern kingdom (see vv. 8,10–11). Samaria (Israel's capital) and Jerusalem (Judah's capital) are similarly compared as adulterous sisters in Eze 23. it. Israel's adultery.

3:8 certificate of divorce. See v. 1 and note; see also Dt 24:1–14; Isa 50:1 and notes. sent her away. Into exile in 721 B.C. Judah had no fear. She refused to learn from Israel's tragic experience.

3:9 committed adultery with stone and wood. Worshiped pagan deities (see 2:27).

3:10 in pretense. Judah's response to Josiah's reform measures (see note on 1:2) was superficial and hypocritical.

3:11 Israel is more righteous than . . . Judah. See note on v. 8; see also Eze 16:51–52; 23:11.

3:12 Go, proclaim. See 2:2. north. Assyria's northern provinces, to which many Israelites had been exiled. Return. Repent (see v. 13). merciful. The Hebrew for this word is used of God elsewhere only in Ps 145:13,17, where it is translated "loving." not be angry forever. See note on v. 5.

3:14 husband. See 31:32; Hos 2:16–17. The Hebrew root underlying this word is ba'al. Instead of allowing God to be their husband, his people followed "the Baals" (2:23; see note on Jdg 2:11). one . . . two. A remnant will return (see the LORD, "for I am your husband.[v] I will choose you—one from a town and two from a clan—and bring you to Zion. 15Then I will give you shepherds[w] after my own heart,[x] who will lead you with knowledge and understanding. 16In those days, when your numbers have increased greatly in the land," declares the LORD, "men will no longer say, 'The ark[y] of the covenant of the LORD.' It will never enter their minds or be remembered;[z] it will not be missed, nor will another one be made. 17At that time they will call Jerusalem The Throne[a] of the LORD, and all nations[b] will gather in Jerusalem to honor[c] the name of the LORD. declares the LORD.

note on Isa 10:20–22). Zion. Jerusalem.

3:15 See 23:4. shepherds. Rulers (see note on 2:8). after my own heart. Like David (see 1Sa 13:14; see also Eze 34:23; Hos 3:5).

3:16 In those days. The Messianic age (see v. 18; 31:29). numbers have increased. See 23:3; Eze 36:11. For the fuller meaning of the Hebrew underlying this phrase see note on Ge 1:28. nor will another one be made. The ark of the covenant, formerly symbolizing God's royal presence (see 1Sa 4:3 and NIV text note), will be irrelevant when the Messiah comes.

3:17 Throne. The Lord had been "enthroned between the cherubim" above the ark (see 1Sa 4:4 and note), but Jerusalem itself would someday be his throne. all nations will gather. See Zec 2:11; see also note on Isa 2:2–4. they. Israel. follow the stubbornness of their evil hearts. A stock phrase referring to Israel's disobedience and often involving the worship of pagan gods (see 9:14; 11:8; 13:10; 16:12; 18:12; 23:17).

3:18 Judah will join . . . Israel. In the Messianic age God's divided people will again be united (see, e.g., Isa 11:12; Eze 37:15–23; Hos 1:11). northern land. Where they had been exiles (see note on v. 12; see also 31:8). land I gave . . . as an inheritance. See note on 2:7.

3:19 sons. Israel was the Lord's firstborn (see Ex 4:22; cf. Hos 11:1). desirable land. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "pleasant land" in Ps 106:24; Zec 7:14. beautiful inheritance. Judah, Jerusalem, the people themselves—ideally, all were beautiful in God's eyes (see 6:2; 11:16). Father. See note on v. 4.

3:20 A concise summary of the story told in Hos 1–3.

3:21 barren heights. See note on v. 2. weeping and pleading. A description of repentance, verbalized in vv. 22b–25. forgotten. See note on 2:32.

3:22 See v. 14. Return, faithless . . . backsliding. Each of these three words is derived from the same Hebrew root, producing a striking series of puns. I will cure you. See 30:17; 33:6; Hos 6:1; 14:1,4. Yes. The people's repentance begins.

3:23 commotion. See, e.g., 1Ki 18:25–29. in the LORD . . . is . . . salvation. See Ge 49:18; Ps 3:8; Jnh 2:9 and note.

3:24 our youth. The period of the judges. shameful gods. See notes on 2:26; 11:13. consumed the fruits. False worship is costly, both financially and spiritually. sons and daughters. Often sacrificed to pagan gods (see note on 7:31).

3:25 shame. The Hebrew for this word is translated "shameful gods" in v. 24.

4:1 go astray. The Hebrew for this word implies wandering, as in Ge 4:12,14 (see NIV text note on Ge 4:16).

4:2 truthful, just and righteous. The piling up of qualifying words underscores the need for repen-

[3]This is what the LORD says to the men of Judah and to Jerusalem:

"Break up your unplowed ground[g] and do not sow among thorns.[h] [4]Circumcise yourselves to the LORD, circumcise your hearts,[i]
you men of Judah and people of Jerusalem,

[5]"Announce in Judah and proclaim[n] in Jerusalem and say:
'Sound the trumpet[o] throughout the land!'
Cry aloud and say:
'Gather together!
Let us flee to the fortified cities!'[p]
[6]Raise the signal[q] to go to Zion!
Flee for safety without delay!
For I am bringing disaster[r] from the north,[s] even terrible destruction."

[7]A lion[t] has come out of his lair;[u]
a destroyer[v] of nations has set out.
He has left his place

Your towns will lie in ruins[x] without inhabitant.
[8]So put on sackcloth,[y]

for the fierce anger[a] of the LORD has not turned away from us.

[9]"In that day," declares the LORD,
"the king and the officials will lose heart,[b]
the priests will be horrified, and the prophets will be appalled."[c]

[10]Then I said, "Ah, Sovereign LORD, how completely you have deceived[d] this people and Jerusalem by saying, 'You will have peace,'[e] when the sword is at our throats."

[11]At that time this people and Jerusalem will be told, "A scorching wind[f] from the barren heights in the desert blows toward my people, but not to winnow or cleanse; [12]a wind[g] too strong for that comes from me.[1] Now I pronounce my judgments[h] against them."

[13]Look! He advances like the clouds,[i]

tance that is sincere and not perfunctory. As surely as the LORD lives. See note on Ge 42:15. nations will be blessed by him. Reflects the language of the seventh of God's great promises to Abram (see Ge 12:2–3 and note). Israel's repentance is a necessary precondition for the ultimate blessing of the nations.

4:3 Break up your unplowed ground. Probably quoted from Hos 10:12. do not sow among thorns. See Mt 13:7,22. Openness to the Lord's overtures is necessary, as is total commitment to him (see Eze 18:31).

4:4 circumcise your hearts. Consecrate your hearts (see 6:10 and NIV text note; 9:26; see also Ge 17:10 and note; Dt 10:16; 30:6). wrath will . . . burn with no one to quench. See 21:12; see also Isa 1:31; Am 5:6. because of the evil you have done. Probably quoted from Dt 28:20.

4:5–31 The invaders from the north will bring God's judgment against his unrepentant people (see ch. 6).

4:5 Sound the trumpet. To warn of impending doom (see 6:1; see also note on Joel 2:1). flee to the fortified cities. See v. 6. To avoid capture by hostile troops, people living in the countryside would take refuge in the nearest walled town (see 5:17; 8:14; 34:7; 48:18).

4:6 See 6:1. Raise the signal. See note on Isa 5:26. disaster from the north. The Babylonians (see 1:14; see also note on Isa 41:25). terrible destruction. See 6:1; cf. 48:3; 50:22; 51:54.

4:7 lion. A symbol of Babylon (see note on 2:15). destroyer. Usually refers to Babylon (6:26; 15:8; 48:8,32), but in 51:1,56 it refers to Persia and her allies (see 51:48,53). towns . . . without inhabitant. See note on 2:15; see also v. 25; 46:19.

4:8 sackcloth. See note on Ge 37:34. anger . . . has not turned away. Contrast 2:35.

4:9 In that day. See note on Isa 2:11,17,20. king . . . officials . . . priests . . . prophets. See note on 1:18.

4:10 you have deceived. Not directly, but through false prophets (see, e.g., 1Ki 22:20–23 and note on 1Ki 22:23). You will have peace. Here the words of false prophets, not of God (see 14:13; 23:17; see also 6:13–14; 8:10–11). throats. The Hebrew for this word is usually translated "soul" or "life," but originally it had the meaning "throat, neck" (see, e.g., Ps 69:1).

4:11 scorching wind. The sirocco or khamsin, a hot, dry wind that brings sand and dust (see Ps 11:6; Isa 11:15; Jnh 4:8). winnow. See note on Ru 1:22.

4:12 too strong for that. Neither winnowing (separating grain from chaff) nor cleansing (blowing dust from the grain), God's judgments will sweep away good and bad alike.

4:13 advances like the clouds. Cf. Eze 38:16. chariots . . . like a whirlwind. See 2Ki 2:11; 6:17; Ps 68:17; Isa 66:15. horses are swifter than eagles. See Hab 1:8, where the Babylonians (Hab 1:6) use horses that are "swifter than leopards" and employ cavalry that "fly like a vulture" (the Hebrew word for "vulture" is translated "eagle" in 4:13; see Dt 28:49). ruined. See v. 20; 9:19; 48:1.

14 O Jerusalem, wash[o] the evil from your heart and be saved.[p]
How long[q] will you harbor wicked thoughts?
15 A voice is announcing from Dan,[r] proclaiming disaster from the hills of Ephraim.[s] 16 "Tell this to the nations, proclaim it to Jerusalem:
'A besieging army is coming from a distant land,[t] raising a war cry[u] against the cities of Judah.[v]
17 They surround[w] her like men guarding a field,
because she has rebelled[x] against me,' "
declares the LORD.
18 "Your own conduct and actions[y] have brought this upon you.[z]
This is your punishment.
How bitter[a] it is!
How it pierces to the heart!"

19 Oh, my anguish, my anguish![b]
I writhe in pain.[c]
Oh, the agony of my heart!
My heart pounds[d] within me,
I cannot keep silent.[e]
For I have heard the sound of the trumpet;[f]
I have heard the battle cry.[g]
20 Disaster follows disaster;[h]
the whole land lies in ruins.[i]
In an instant my tents[j] are destroyed,
my shelter in a moment.
21 How long must I see the battle standard[k]
and hear the sound of the trumpet?[l]

22 "My people are fools;[m]
they do not know me.[n]
They are senseless children;
they have no understanding.[o]
They are skilled in doing evil;[p] they know not how to do good."[q]

23 I looked at the earth, and it was formless and empty;[r]
and at the heavens,
and their light[s] was gone.
24 I looked at the mountains, and they were quaking;[t]
all the hills were swaying.
25 I looked, and there were no people;
every bird in the sky had flown
away.[u]
26 I looked, and the fruitful land was a desert;[v]
all its towns lay in ruins[w] before the LORD, before his fierce anger.[x]

27 This is what the LORD says:

"The whole land will be ruined,[y] though I will not destroy[z] it completely.
28 Therefore the earth will mourn[a] and the heavens above grow dark,[b] because I have spoken and will not relent,[c]
I have decided and will not turn back.[d]"

4:14 wash. See 2:22 and note. wicked thoughts. Against other people (see Pr 6:18; Isa 59:7).

4:15 Dan. Far away, close to the northern border of Israel (see 8:16). Ephraim. A few miles north of Jerusalem. The enemy, in the mind's eye of the prophet, is making fearfully rapid progress toward the holy city.

4:16 besieging army. See Isa 1:8. distant land. Babylon. raising a war cry. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "growled" in 2:15.

4:17 surround her. See 1:15.

4:19–26 A brief personal interlude, broken only by the divine complaint in v. 22. Jeremiah voices his agony at the approaching destruction of his beloved land and its people.

4:19 See 10:19–20. anguish. Often associated with labor pangs, as here (see 6:24; 49:24; 50:43). heart pounds. See Job 37:1; Ps 38:10; Hab 3:16. sound of the trumpet. See note on v. 5.

4:20 lies in ruins. See v. 13; 9:19; 48:1. shelter. Lit. "tent curtains" (as in Isa 54:2), usually made of goat hair (see Ex 26:7) and therefore strong enough to protect from cold and rain (see 10:20).

4:21 battle standard . . . sound of the trumpet. See notes on vv. 5–6.

4:22 The Lord speaks. fools. See NIV text note on Pr 1:7. do not know me. See 2:8. Leaders and people alike had committed the ultimate sin (see Isa 1:3; Hos 4:1). senseless. See 5:21; 10:8,14,21; 51:17. skilled in doing evil. See Mic 7:3.

4:23–26 The striking repetition of "I looked" at the beginning of each verse ties this poem together and underscores its visionary character, as the prophet sees his beloved land in ruins after the Babylonian onslaught. Creation, as it were, has been reversed.

4:23 formless and empty. The phrase occurs elsewhere only in Ge 1:2 (see note there). In Jeremiah's vision, the primeval chaos has returned. light was gone. Contrast Ge 1:3.

4:24 See Na 1:5.

4:25 there were no people. The Hebrew underlying this phrase occurs elsewhere only in Ge 2:5, where it is translated "there was no man." Again, uncreation has replaced creation.

4:26 fruitful land. See note on 2:7. fierce anger. See v. 8; Isa 13:13; Na 1:6.

4:27 not destroy it completely. See 5:10,18; 30:11; 46:28. God's mercy tempers the total judgment envisioned by Jeremiah in vv. 23–26.

4:28 will not relent. Unless his people repent (see 18:7–8).

4:29 archers. Babylon's evil deeds against Judah will someday recoil on her (see 50:29). Some go. See Jdg 6:2; 1Sa 13:6; Isa 2:19,21. Even people living in fortified towns every town takes to flight.[f]

Some go into the thickets;
some climb up among the rocks.[g]
All the towns are deserted;[h]
no one lives in them.

30 What are you doing,[i] O devastated one?
Why dress yourself in scarlet and put on jewels[j] of gold?
Why shade your eyes with paint?[k]
You adorn yourself in vain.
Your lovers[l] despise you;
they seek your life.[m]

31 I hear a cry as of a woman in labor,[n] a groan as of one bearing her first child—the cry of the Daughter of Zion[o] gasping for breath,[p] stretching out her hands[q] and saying,
"Alas! I am fainting;
my life is given over to murderers."[r]

Not One Is Upright

5 "Go up and down[s] the streets of Jerusalem, look around and consider,[t]
search through her squares.
If you can find but one person[u]
who deals honestly[v] and seeks the truth,
I will forgive[w] this city.
2 Although they say, 'As surely as the LORD lives,'[x] still they are swearing falsely.[y]"

3 O LORD, do not your eyes[z] look for truth?
You struck[a] them, but they felt no pain;
you crushed them, but they refused correction.[b]
They made their faces harder than stone[c]
and refused to repent.[d] 4 I thought, "These are only the poor; they are foolish,[e]
for they do not know[f] the way of the LORD,
the requirements of their God.
5 So I will go to the leaders[g]
and speak to them;
surely they know the way of the LORD,
the requirements of their God."
But with one accord they too had broken off the yoke and torn off the bonds.[h] 6 Therefore a lion from the forest[i] will attack them,
a wolf from the desert will ravage[j] them,
a leopard[k] will lie in wait near their towns to tear to pieces any who venture out, for their rebellion is great and their backslidings many.[l]

7 "Why should I forgive you?
Your children have forsaken me and sworn[m] by gods that are not gods.[n]
I supplied all their needs, yet they committed adultery[o]
and thronged to the houses of prostitutes.[p] 8 They are well-fed, lusty stallions, each neighing for another man's wife.[q] 9 Should I not punish them for this?"[r] declares the LORD.
"Should I not avenge[s] myself feel unsafe. deserted. Contrast Isa 62:4.

4:30 paint. Antimony, a black powder used to enlarge the eyes and make them more attractive (see 2Ki 9:30; Eze 23:40). lovers. The Hebrew root underlying this word is found elsewhere only in Eze 23:5,7,9,12,16,20, where it is used of Samaria and Jerusalem, the adulterous sisters (see notes on 2:20; 3:7) who "lusted" after foreign nations and their gods. seek your life. They are intent only on murdering you (see v. 31).

4:31 Daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants (see 6:2,23). stretching out her hands. In prayer for help (see Job 11:13).

5:1–31 Jeremiah resumes his vivid description of the wickedness of the people of Judah and Jerusalem.

5:1 See Zep 1:12. The Lord challenges anyone to find just one righteous person in Israel—a rhetorical way of charging that corruption pervaded the city (see Ps 14:1–3; Isa 64:6–7; Hos 4:1–2; Mic 7:2). If you can find . . . I will forgive. See Ge 18:26–32.

5:2 As surely as the LORD lives. See 4:2; see also Ge 42:15 and note. they are swearing falsely. In violation of Lev 19:12 (see note on Ex 20:7). The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "commit . . . perjury" in 7:9 (see NIV text note there).

5:3 refused correction. See 2:30. made their faces harder than stone. A striking portrayal of rebellion (see Eze 3:7–9).

5:4 poor. Concerned about basic physical needs (cf. 39:10; 40:7), they are uninformed of God's word and way. foolish. See 4:22; see also Nu 12:11 and NIV text note on Pr 1:7. do not know . . . requirements of their God. They are more ignorant than the birds of the heavens (see 8:7).

5:5 leaders. Lit. "great ones." Although possessing every advantage, they were no more righteous than the poorest of the common people. broken . . . bonds. See note on 2:20.

5:6 lion . . . wolf . . . leopard. See Lev 26:22; Eze 14:15; cf. 2Ki 17:25–26. lie in wait. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "watching" in 1:12. backslidings. See 2:19; 3:22; 14:7. The word implies repeated apostasy.

5:7 Why should I forgive you? See v. 1. gods that are not gods. Idols (see 2:11). I supplied . . . yet they. See Dt 32:15–16; Hos 2:8. committed adultery. See note on 2:20.

5:8 Religious prostitution (v. 7; see Am 2:7) leads quite naturally to literal adultery, the breaking of God's law (see Ex 20:14,17). lusty stallions. See 13:27; 50:11; Eze 23:20.

10"Go through her vineyards and ravage them, but do not destroy them completely.[t] Strip off her branches,
for these people do not belong to the LORD.
11The house of Israel and the house of Judah have been utterly unfaithful[u] to me,"
declares the LORD.

12They have lied[v] about the LORD;
they said, "He will do nothing!
No harm will come to us;[w]
we will never see sword or famine.[x] 13The prophets[y] are but wind[z]
and the word is not in them;
so let what they say be done to them."

14Therefore this is what the LORD God Almighty says:

"Because the people have spoken these words,
I will make my words in your mouth[a] a fire[b] and these people the wood it consumes.[c] 15O house of Israel," declares the LORD,
"I am bringing a distant nation[d] against you—an ancient and enduring nation,
a people whose language[e] you do not know,
whose speech you do not understand.
16Their quivers[f] are like an open grave;
all of them are mighty warriors.
17They will devour[g h] your harvests and food, devour[i j] your sons and daughters;
they will devour[k] your flocks and herds,
devour your vines and fig trees.[l]
With the sword[m] they will destroy the fortified cities[n] in which you trust.[o]

18"Yet even in those days," declares the LORD, "I will not destroy[p] you completely. 19And when the people ask,[q] 'Why has the LORD our God done all this to us?' you will tell them, 'As you have forsaken me and served foreign gods[r] in your own land, so now you will serve foreigners[s] in a land not your own.'

20"Announce this to the house of Jacob and proclaim[t] it in Judah:
21Hear this, you foolish and senseless people,[u] who have eyes[v] but do not see,
who have ears but do not hear:[w] 22Should you not fear[x] me?" declares the LORD.
"Should you not tremble[y] in my presence?
I made the sand a boundary for the sea,[z]
an everlasting barrier it cannot cross.
The waves may roll, but they cannot prevail;
they may roar,[a] but they cannot cross it.
23But these people have stubborn and rebellious[b] hearts;
they have turned aside[c] and gone away.
24They do not say to themselves,
'Let us fear[d] the LORD our God,

5:13 prophets are but wind. Like images of false gods (see Isa 41:29). let what they say be done to them. See note on 4:29; see also Ps 7:16; 54:5.

5:14 my words in your mouth a fire. In contrast to the total lack of God's word in the mouths of false prophets (v. 13). consumes. See note on Isa 1:31.

5:15 distant nation. See note on 4:16. ancient and enduring nation. Babylon's history reached back 2,000 years and more. whose language you do not know. See Dt 28:49 and note.

5:16 open grave. Symbolizing insatiability, destruction and death (see Ps 5:9; Pr 30:15–16).

5:17 devour your sons and daughters. Either as sacrifices to pagan gods (see note on 3:24), or as casualties of war (see 10:25). fortified cities in which you trust. See note on 4:5; see also Dt 28:52.

5:24 God, who gives. See v. 7 and note. autumn and spring rains. See 3:3; see also note on Dt 11:14. regular weeks of harvest. Perhaps the seven weeks between Passover and the Feast of Weeks (see Lev 23:15–16).

Jerusalem Under Siege

6 "Flee for safety, people of Benjamin!
Flee from Jerusalem!
Sound the trumpet[u] in Tekoa![v]
Raise the signal over Beth Hakkerem![w]
For disaster looms out of the north,[x]
even terrible destruction.
2 I will destroy the Daughter of Zion,[y]
so beautiful and delicate.[z]
3 Shepherds[a] with their flocks will come against her;
they will pitch their tents around[b] her,
each tending his own portion."

4 "Prepare for battle against her!
Arise, let us attack at noon![c]
But, alas, the daylight is fading, and the shadows of evening grow long.
5 So arise, let us attack at night and destroy her fortresses!"

6 This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"Cut down the trees[d]
and build siege ramps[e] against Jerusalem.
This city must be punished;
it is filled with oppression.[f]
7 As a well pours out its water,
so she pours out her wickedness.
Violence[g] and destruction[h] resound in her;
her sickness and wounds are ever before me.
8 Take warning, O Jerusalem,

5:26 traps. Lit. "destroyer" (see, e.g., Ex 12:23) or "destruction" (see, e.g., Eze 21:31). men. Innocent (see Isa 29:21), godly, upright people (see Mic 7:2).
5:27 cages. Traps woven of wicker; the Hebrew for this word is translated "basket" in Am 8:1–2. deceit. Riches gained through extortion and deception (see Hab 2:6).
5:28 grown fat and sleek. Symbolic of prosperity (see Dt 32:15). evil deeds have no limit. See Ps 73:7. they do not plead the case. What the wicked will not do, God must do (see Dt 10:18)—and so must those who truly know and serve him (see 22:16; Jas 1:27).
5:29 Repeated from v. 9.
5:31 See 1:18 and note. prophesy lies. See 20:6 (often, and arrogantly, in God's name; see 23:25; 27:15; 29:9). people love it this way. See note on Am 4:5.
6:1–30 The prophet envisions the future Babylonian attack on Jerusalem.
6:1 The Lord speaks in vv. 1–3. Verse 1 is strongly reminiscent of 4:6 (see note there). But whereas in 4:6 the command was to seek protection in Jerusalem, in 6:1 the people are to flee from Jerusalem, because no place—not even the holy city itself—will be safe from the invader. Benjamin. The tribal territory bordering Judah north of Jerusalem. Jeremiah himself was from Benjamite territory (see 1:1). Sound . . . Tekoa. In the Hebrew there is a play on these words. Tekoa was the hometown of Amos (see Introduction to Amos: Author). Raise . . . signal. In the Hebrew there is a play on words, made possible by using a different Hebrew word (found also in Lachish Letter 4:10) for "signal" (caused by the smoke of a fire; see Jdg 20:38,40) than the one used in 4:6. Beth Hakkerem. Mentioned elsewhere only in Ne 3:14 (see note there). disaster . . . out of the north. See 1:14 and note.
6:2 destroy. The Hebrew for this verb is found with the meaning "destroy" also in Hos 4:5. Daughter of Zion. See v. 23; see also note on 4:31. delicate. Used to describe the city of Babylon in Isa 47:1.
6:3 See 1:15. Shepherds with their flocks. Rulers (see note on 2:8) with their troops. pitch. The Hebrew for this verb continues the pun on "Tekoa" in v. 1 (see note on v. 8). each . . . his own portion. The Hebrew for this phrase is used similarly ("each . . . his own place") in Nu 2:17. tending. Grazing or depasturing, and thus destroying.
6:4 The invaders speak in vv. 4–5. Prepare for. Lit. "Consecrate" (also in Joel 3:9; Mic 3:5). Since ancient battles had religious connotations, soldiers had to prepare themselves ritually as well as militarily (see Dt 20:2–4; 1Sa 25:28). at noon. To take advantage of the element of surprise, since the usual time of attack was early in the morning.
6:5 at night. Since attacking soldiers normally retired for the night and resumed siege the following morning, the phrase underscores their eagerness and determination.
6:6 The Lord addresses the Babylonian troops. siege ramps. To help them bring up battering rams and scale Jerusalem's walls (see 33:4). oppression. Against its own people (see note on Isa 30:12).
6:7 sickness and wounds. Jerusalem suffers from spiritual decay and disease (see v. 14), and is not aware of it.
6:8 Take warning. The better part of wisdom (see v. 10; Ps 2:10). turn away. In sorrow, but also in disgust. The Hebrew for this phrase continues the pun on "Tekoa" in v. 1 (see note on v. 3). desolate so no one can live in it. See 22:6.

or I will turn away[i] from you and make your land desolate
so no one can live in it."

9This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"Let them glean the remnant[j] of Israel
as thoroughly as a vine;
pass your hand over the branches again,
like one gathering grapes."

10To whom can I speak and give warning?
Who will listen[k] to me?
Their ears are closed[m l]
so they cannot hear.[m]
The word[n] of the LORD is offensive to them;
they find no pleasure in it.
11But I am full of the wrath[o] of the LORD, and I cannot hold it in.[p]

"Pour it out on the children in the street and on the young men[q] gathered together;
both husband and wife will be caught in it,
and the old, those weighed down with years.[r] 12Their houses will be turned over to others,[s] together with their fields and their wives,[t]
when I stretch out my hand[u] against those who live in the land,"
declares the LORD.
13"From the least to the greatest,
all[v] are greedy for gain;[w] prophets and priests alike,
all practice deceit.[x] 14They dress the wound of my people as though it were not serious.
'Peace, peace,' they say,
when there is no peace.[y]
15Are they ashamed of their loathsome conduct?
No, they have no shame at all;
they do not even know how to blush.[z]
So they will fall among the fallen;
they will be brought down when I punish[a] them,"
says the LORD.

16This is what the LORD says:

"Stand at the crossroads and look;
ask for the ancient paths,[b]
ask where the good way[c] is, and walk in it,
and you will find rest[d] for your souls.
But you said, 'We will not walk in it.'
17I appointed watchmen[e] over you and said,
'Listen to the sound of the trumpet!'[f]
But you said, 'We will not listen.'[g] 18Therefore hear, O nations;
observe, O witnesses,
what will happen to them.
19Hear, O earth:[h]
I am bringing disaster[i] on this people, the fruit of their schemes,[j]
because they have not listened to my words[k]
and have rejected my law.[l] 20What do I care about incense from Sheba[m] or sweet calamus[n] from a distant land?
Your burnt offerings are not acceptable;[o]

6:10 Jeremiah speaks. give warning. See note on v. 8. ears are closed. See NIV text note; see also 4:4 and note. The imagery of uncircumcised ears is found elsewhere only in Ac 7:51.

6:11 The prophet speaks, then the Lord resumes his speech (through v. 23). full of the wrath. See 25:15. children . . . young men . . . husband and wife . . . old. All will be judged, from youngest to oldest (see v. 13). in the street. Where children play (see 9:21; Zec 8:5).

6:12–15 Repeated almost verbatim in 8:10–12.

6:12 houses . . . fields . . . wives. See Ex 20:17; Dt 5:21. turned over to others. As Dt 28:30 warned—one of the covenant curses. stretch out my hand against. To destroy (see 15:6).

6:13 See 1:18 and note.

6:14 wound. See note on v. 7. Peace . . . when there is no peace. A common message of false and greedy prophets (see Eze 13:10; Mic 3:5). The wicked, in any case, cannot expect to enjoy peace (Isa 48:22; 57:21).

6:16 ancient paths. The tried and true ways of Judah's godly ancestors (see 18:15; Dt 32:7). walk in it. See Isa 30:21. you will find rest for your souls. Quoted by Jesus in Mt 11:29 (see Isa 28:12; cf. Ps 119:165).

6:17 watchmen. True prophets (see Eze 3:17; 33:7; Hab 2:1). sound of the trumpet. To warn of approaching danger (see v. 1; see also note on Joel 2:1).

6:18 hear, O nations. See Mic 1:2.

6:19 rejected my law. Disobeyed the law of Moses (see 8:8–9).

6:20 Sheba. Located in southwestern Arabia, it was the center of the spice trade (see Isa 60:6 and note). calamus. See SS 4:14; Isa 43:24 and notes. The Hebrew for this word is translated "cane" in Ex 30:23; calamus, which probably came from India, was an ingredient in the sacred anointing oil (Ex 30:25). burnt offerings are not acceptable. The attitude of one's heart and the manner of one's life are far more important than the ritual of sacrifice (see note on Isa 1:11–15).

False Religion Worthless

7 This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: 2"Stand[o] at the gate of the LORD's house and there proclaim this message:

" 'Hear the word of the LORD, all you people of Judah who come through these gates to worship the LORD. 3This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Reform your ways[p] and your actions, and I will let you live[q] in this place. 4Do not trust[r] in deceptive[s] words and say, "This is the temple of the

6:21 obstacles. The Babylonian invaders (see v. 22).
6:22–24 Repeated almost verbatim in 50:41–43.
6:22 land of the north. Babylonia (see 4:6; Isa 41:25 and notes). from the ends of the earth. See 25:32; 31:8.
6:23 spear. The Hebrew for this word is translated "javelin" in 1Sa 17:6. Another possibility is "sword," as attested in The War of the Sons of Light against the Sons of Darkness, one of the Dead Sea Scrolls (see "The Time between the Testaments," p. 1424). like the roaring sea. See Isa 5:30; see also Isa 17:12 and note. horses. See note on 4:13; see also 8:16. Daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants (see v. 2; 4:31).
6:24–26 The prophet speaks to, and on behalf of, the people of Judah.
6:24 hands hang limp. Courage will fail (see Isa 13:7). anguish. See note on 4:19.
6:25 terror on every side. A favorite expression of Jeremiah (20:10; 46:5; 49:29). The Hebrew for this phrase is used once as a proper name, "Magor-Missabib" (20:3; see NIV text note there).
6:26 put on sackcloth. See 4:8; see also note on Ge 37:34. roll in ashes; mourn. See Eze 27:30–31; cf. Mic 1:10. only son. A father's most precious possession (see Ge 22:12,16; Am 8:10; Zec 12:10; Ro 8:32). destroyer. Babylon (see note on 4:7).
6:27–30 The Lord speaks to Jeremiah and appoints him to test the people of Judah as a refiner tests metals (see 9:7; Isa 1:25; Mal 3:2–3).
6:27 tester of metals. See Job 23:10.
6:28 going about to slander. Contrary to Lev 19:16. bronze and iron. Base metals when compared to gold and silver. act corruptly. See Dt 31:29; Isa 1:4.
6:29 In ancient times, lead was added to silver ore in the refining process. When the crucible was heated, the lead oxidized and acted as a flux to remove the alloys. Here the process fails because the ore is not pure enough (cf. Eze 24:11–13).
6:30 They are . . . rejected. The "hardened rebels" (v. 28), the "wicked" (v. 29), have failed to pass the Lord's test. Nothing worthwhile can be made of them.
7:1–10:25 A series of temple messages delivered by Jeremiah, perhaps over a period of several years. Since 26:2–6,12–15 is very similar in content to ch. 7, it is possible that chs. 7–10 (or at least ch. 7) date to the reign of Jehoiakim (see 26:1). On the other hand, Jeremiah may have repeated various themes on several occasions during his lengthy ministry. In any event, nothing in chs. 7–10 is inappropriate to the time of King Josiah.
7:1–8:3 The straightforward narrative of this section asserts that Solomon's temple in Jerusalem will not escape the fate of the earlier sanctuary at Shiloh if the people of Judah persist in worshiping false gods.
7:1 the word that came. See 1:2 and note; 1:4,11,13; 2:1.
7:2 gate. In the wall between the inner and outer courts of the temple, perhaps the so-called New Gate (26:10; 36:10). Hear. See note on 2:4. all you people . . . who come . . . to worship. Perhaps during one of the three annual pilgrimage festivals (see Dt 16:16 and note). gates. Leading into the outer court.
7:3 this place. The land God had given them (see v. 7; 14:13,15; 24:5–6).
7:4 deceptive words. Spoken by false prophets. The idea that God would not destroy Jerusalem simply because his dwelling, the temple, was located there was a LORD, the temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD!" 5If you really change[t] your ways and your actions and deal with each other justly,[u] 6if you do not oppress[v] the alien, the fatherless or the widow and do not shed innocent blood[w] in this place, and if you do not follow other gods[x] to your own harm, 7then I will let you live in this place, in the land[y] I gave your forefathers[z] for ever and ever. 8But look, you are trusting[a] in deceptive[b] words that are worthless.

9"'Will you steal[c] and murder,[d] commit adultery[e] and perjury,[n][f] burn incense to Baal[g][h] and follow other gods[i] you have not known, 10and then come and stand[j] before me in this house,[k] which bears my Name, and say, "We are safe"—safe to do all these detestable things?[l] 11Has this house,[m] which bears my Name, become a den of robbers[n] to you? But I have been watching![o] declares the LORD.

12"'Go now to the place in Shiloh[p] where I first made a dwelling[q] for my Name,[r] and see what I did[s] to it because of the wickedness of my people Israel. 13While you were doing all these things, declares the LORD, I spoke[t] to you again and again,[u] but you did not listen;[v] I called[w] you, but you did not answer.[x] 14Therefore, what I did to Shiloh[y] I will now do to the house that bears my Name,[z] the temple[a] you trust in, the place I gave to you and your fathers. 15I will thrust you from my presence,[b] just as I did all your brothers, the people of Ephraim.'[c]

16"So do not pray for this people nor offer any plea[d] or petition for them; do not plead with me, for I will not listen[e] to you. 17Do you not see what they are doing in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? 18The children gather wood, the fathers light the fire, and the women knead the dough and make cakes of bread for the Queen of Heaven.[f] They pour out drink offerings[g] to other gods to provoke[h] me to anger. 19But am I the one they are provoking?[i] declares the LORD. Are they not rather harming themselves, to their own shame?[j] delusion, fostered in part by the miraculous deliverance of the city during the reign of Hezekiah (see 2Ki 19:32–36; cf. 2Sa 7:11b–13; Ps 132:13–14). In the light of Judah's sinful rebellion against the Lord such an idea was "worthless" (v. 8; see Mic 3:11). This is. Lit. "They are," referring to the buildings that constituted the entire temple complex. temple ... temple ... temple. Vain and repetitious babbling (cf. Mt 6:7). Often such a threefold repeating of a word or phrase is for emphasis (see 22:29; see also note on Isa 6:3).

7:6 Rulers and people alike needed to hear and act on these prophetic words (see 22:2–3). alien ... fatherless ... widow. See Dt 16:11,14; 24:19–21; 26:12–13; 27:19. innocent blood. See 19:4; 22:17; 26:15; see also the frightening example of King Manasseh (2Ki 21:16).

7:7 land ... for ever and ever. See Ge 17:8 and note.

7:8 deceptive words. See note on v. 4.

7:9 This one verse mentions the violation of fully half of the Ten Commandments (cf. Hos 4:2). burn incense to Baal. See note on 1:16. follow other gods you have not known. See 19:4. Tragically, such sins would be the cause of their exile to lands they had not known (see 9:14,16; 16:11,13).

7:10 house, which bears my Name. See vv. 11,14,30; 25:29; 32:34; 34:15; 1Ki 8:43; 2Ch 6:33; 20:9; Da 9:18. The "Name" of God is equivalent to his gracious presence in such passages (see vv. 12,15). We are safe. See 12:12. detestable. See 2:7; see also note on Lev 7:21.

7:11 Together with the last half of Isa 56:7, part of this verse is quoted by Jesus in Mt 21:13; Mk 11:17; Lk 19:46. den of robbers. As thieves hide in caves and think they are safe, so the people of Judah falsely trust in the temple to protect them in spite of their sins.

7:12 See note on 7:1–8:3. place in Shiloh ... see what I did to it. See v. 14; 26:6,9; Ps 78:60–61. The tabernacle had been set up in Shiloh after the conquest of Canaan (Jos 18:1) and was still there at the end of the period of the judges (see 1Sa 1:9 and NIV text note). Modern Seilun, near a main highway about 18 miles north of Jerusalem, preserves the name of the ancient site. Archaeological excavations there indicate that it was destroyed by the Philistines c. 1050 B.C. The tabernacle itself was not included in that destruction, since it was still in existence at Gibeon during David's reign (see 1Ch 21:29). One or more auxiliary buildings had apparently been erected at Shiloh near the tabernacle in connection with various aspects of public worship there (cf. the reference to the "doors of the house of the LORD" in 1Sa 3:15). Such structures would have been destroyed with the city itself, perhaps sometime after the events of 1Sa 4.

7:13 again and again. The Hebrew idiom underlying this phrase is found frequently in Jeremiah (v. 25; 11:7; 25:3–4; 26:5; 29:19; 32:33; 35:14–15; 44:4), but appears nowhere else in the OT.

7:15 thrust you from my presence. Into exile (see Dt 29:28). just as I did all your brothers. God sent Israel, the northern kingdom, into captivity in 721 B.C. (see 2Ki 17:20). Ephraim. Another name for Israel (see, e.g., 31:9)—and, ironically, the tribal territory in which Shiloh was located.

7:16 Perhaps the events of ch. 26 belong chronologically between vv. 15 and 16 (see Introduction: Outline). do not pray for this people. As a true prophet would (see 27:18; Ex 32:31–32; 1Sa 12:23). See 11:14; 14:11. There is virtually no hope for them. On various occasions, however, Jeremiah prayed for his countrymen (see, e.g., 18:20).

7:18 children ... fathers ... women. Entire families participate in idolatrous worship. cakes of bread. See 44:19. Queen of Heaven. A Babylonian title for Ishtar, an important goddess in the Babylonian pantheon (see 44:17–19,25). drink offerings to other gods. And sometimes to the Queen of Heaven herself (see 44:19,25). provoke me to anger. See Dt 31:29.

7:19 their own shame. See 3:25.

7:20 All nature suffers when God judges sinners (see

5:17; Ro 8:20–22). burn and not be quenched. See 4:4; 21:12; see also Isa 1:31; Am 5:6.

7:21 Because of your sinful deeds your sacrifices are worthless, so you might as well eat them yourselves.

7:22–23 Sacrifices are valid only when accompanied by sincere repentance and joyful obedience (see 6:20; Isa 1:11–15 and note).

7:23 I will be ... my people. The most basic summary of the relationship between God and Israel implied in the covenant at Sinai (see Ex 6:7; Lev 26:12 and notes; Dt 26:17–18).

7:24 followed ... evil hearts. See note on 3:17; see also Ge 6:5 and note.

7:25 again and again. See note on v. 13. my servants the prophets. See 25:4; 26:5; 29:19; 35:15; 44:4; see also Zec 1:6 and note. God had promised that Moses would be the first in a long line of prophets who would speak in the Lord's name and serve him faithfully (see Dt 18:15–22 and notes).

7:26 stiff-necked. See 17:23; 19:15; see also notes on Ex 32:9; Ne 3:5.

7:28 not ... responded to correction. See 2:30; 5:3. Truth ... has vanished from their lips. No one seeks the truth (see 5:1 and note).

7:29 Addressed to Jerusalem. Cut off your hair. A sign of mourning (see Job 1:20; Mic 1:16). The Hebrew for the word "hair" is related to the word "Nazirite" (see Nu 6:2) and referred originally to the diadem worn by the high priest (see Ex 29:6). The Nazirite's hair was the symbol of his separation or consecration (Nu 6:7). As the Nazirite was commanded to cut off his hair when he became ceremonially unclean (Nu 6:9), so also Jerusalem must cut off her hair because of her sins. lament on the barren heights. See 3:21; see also note on 3:2.

7:30 set up their ... idols in the house. Manasseh had put a carved Asherah pole (see NIV text note on 2Ki 13:6) in the temple (2Ki 21:7). Jeremiah's contemporary, the good King Josiah, removed the pole and other accessories to idol worship (2Ki 23:4–7). But less than 20 years after Josiah's death, Ezekiel reported that there were numerous idols in the temple courts (see Eze 8:3,5–6,10,12). defiled it. See note on 2:7.

7:31 high places. Pagan cult centers, usually (but not here) located on natural heights (see 1Sa 9:13–14; 10:5; 1Ki 11:7). Topheth. See v. 32; 19:6,11–14; see also note on Isa 30:33. The word may be of Aramaic origin with the meaning "fireplace," though in cultures outside Israel it was used as a common noun meaning "place of child sacrifice." Its vocalization was perhaps intentionally conformed to that of Hebrew bosheth, "shameful thing" (see note on Jdg 6:32), often used in connection with idol worship (see notes on 2:26; 3:25). The OT Topheth had a fire pit (see Isa 30:33), into which the hapless children were apparently thrown. Valley of Ben Hinnom. See v. 32; 19:2,6; 32:35; see also note on Jos 15:5. It was used as a trash dump and also as a place for sacrificing children to pagan gods. From the abbreviated name "Valley of Hinnom" (see Ne 11:30), Hebrew ge' hinnom, came "Gehenna" (Greek geenna), consistently translated in the NT as "hell," the place of eternal, fiery punishment for all who die without having trusted Christ as Savior (see, e.g., Mt 18:9; Mk 9:47–48). burn their sons and daughters in the fire. A horrible ritual, prohibited in the law of Moses (see Lev 18:21 and note; Dt 18:10) but practiced by Ahaz (see 2Ki 16:2–3) and Manasseh (2Ki 21:1,6).

7:32 So beware ... Valley of Slaughter. Repeated almost verbatim in 19:6. Their place of sacrifice would become their cemetery when the people of Judah were slaughtered by the Babylonian invaders.

7:33 The punishment announced here is one of the says:

5Why then have these people turned

Why does Jerusalem always turn curses for covenant disobedience (see Dt 28:26). food for the birds ... of the earth. See 16:4; 19:7; see also 34:20, where the same judgment is the result of violating God's covenant (34:18–19). To remain unburied was an unspeakable abomination in ancient times.

7:34 See 16:9; 25:10; contrast 33:10–11. land will become desolate. Another covenant curse (Lev 26:31,33).

8:2 exposed to the sun ... moon ... stars. To hasten their disintegration, and perhaps also to demonstrate that the heavenly bodies, which had been worshiped by some of Judah's kings (see 2Ki 21:3,5; 23:11), among others, were powerless to help. loved and served and ... followed and consulted and worshiped. Acts of homage and adoration that should have been given to God alone. They. The bones. not be gathered up or buried. Contrast 2Sa 21:13–14. refuse. Lit. "dung" (see 9:22; 16:4; 25:33).

8:3 survivors. See note on 6:9.

8:4–9:26 In contrast to 7:1–8:3, this section is almost completely in poetic form. Jeremiah resumes his extended commentary on the inevitability of divine judgment against sinners.

8:4 Say to them. Connects this section with the previous (see 7:28). turns away ... return. The Hebrew for these two verbs is identical, forming a play on words.

8:5 The general truths stated in v. 4 are routinely and perversely violated by the people of Jerusalem. turned away ... turn away ... return. Continuing the wordplay of v. 4.

8:6 I. The Lord. pursues. The Hebrew for this word continues the wordplay of vv. 4–5. his own course. And therefore evil (see 23:10).

8:7 See Isa 1:3. Although migratory birds obey their God-given instincts, God's rebellious people refuse to obey his laws. swift ... thrush. Linked also in Isa 38:14. do not know ... requirements of the LORD. See note on 5:4.

8:8–9 law of the LORD ... word of the LORD. Misinterpreting and manipulating the first (the written law of Moses) leads to rejection of the second (God's truth as found in the law and proclaimed by his servants the prophets).

8:8 lying pen. Symbolizes mistreatment of the written law. scribes. The earliest mention of them as a recognizable group. They were apparently organized on the basis of families (see 1Ch 2:55; 2Ch 34:13). handled it falsely. Contrast 2Ti 2:15.

8:9 rejected ... wisdom. Contrast Dt 4:5–6.

8:10–12 See 6:12–15 and notes.

8:13–9:24 This section is read aloud in synagogues every year on the ninth of Ab (see chart on "Hebrew Calendar," p.101), the day the temple in Jerusalem was destroyed by the Babylonians in 586 B.C. and by the Romans in A.D. 70.
8:13 vine. Israel (see 2:21 and note). grapes . . . figs. Symbolic of individual people also in Mic 7:1; see ch. 24. leaves will wither. Contrast 17:8; Ps 1:3.
8:14–16 On behalf of the people the prophet speaks, envisioning the Babylonian invasion.
8:14 Gather together! See 4:5. The Hebrew for this phrase forms a wordplay with the Hebrew for "take away" and "harvest" in v. 13. flee to the fortified cities. See note on 4:5. poisoned water. The phrase is unique to the prophet Jeremiah (see 9:15; 23:15; cf. 25:15).
8:15 Repeated almost verbatim in 14:19. peace. Under the circumstances, a false hope (see notes on 4:10; 6:14). healing. See note on 6:7.
8:16 the enemy's horses. See note on 4:13. Dan. Far away, close to the northern border of Israel. stallions. Lit. "mighty ones"; the Hebrew word is translated "stallions" again in 50:11, "steeds" in 47:3.
8:17 vipers that cannot be charmed. Such are the wicked always (see Ps 58:4–5).
8:18 The prophet speaks. my heart is faint. See La 1:22; 5:17.
8:19 The prophet speaks in the first part of the verse, the Lord in the last part. my people from a land far away. Judah in Babylonian exile (see Ps 137:1–4) as Jeremiah envisions the future. Is the LORD not in Zion? Cf. Mic 3:11. The people are perplexed at their fate, still wondering how God could have permitted the destruction of his land and temple (see note on 7:4). King. God (see Isa 33:22). provoked me to anger. See 7:18; Dt 31:29. worthless . . . idols. See note on 2:5.
8:20 The people speak from the hopelessness of their exile. we are not saved. We have been captured by the enemy.
8:21 Jeremiah identifies himself with his exiled countrymen. grips me. See 6:24.
8:22 balm in Gilead. See 46:11; 51:8. The territory of Gilead was an important source of spices and medicinal herbs (see note on Ge 37:25). no healing for the wound. Contrast 30:17.
9:1–2 The prophet's frustration is highlighted as he speaks of his countrymen with tender sympathy in v. 1 and with indignant disgust in v. 2.
9:1 Jeremiah is often called the "weeping prophet"—a well-deserved title (see v. 10; the book of Lamentations; cf. 2Sa 18:33; Mt 23:37; Ro 9:2–4; 10:1).
9:2 The prophet wants to get as far away from his wicked countrymen as possible (cf. Ps 55:6–8). adulterers. See note on 2:20. crowd. The Hebrew for this word is always used elsewhere in the OT in the sense of a solemn religious assembly (see, e.g., Dt 16:8), sometimes perverted by the worshipers and therefore falling under divine judgment (see Isa 1:13; Am 5:21). unfaithful. Toward God (see note on 3:7).
9:3–9 The Lord speaks.

like a bow, to shoot lies;[p] it is not by truth
that they triumph[q] in the land.
They go from one sin to another;
they do not acknowledge[q] me,"
declares the LORD.
4"Beware of your friends;[r]
do not trust your brothers.[s]
For every brother is a deceiver,[rt] and every friend a slanderer.[u] 5Friend deceives friend,[v]
and no one speaks the truth.[w]
They have taught their tongues to lie;[x]
they weary themselves with sinning.
6You[s] live in the midst of deception;[y] in their deceit they refuse to acknowledge me,"
declares the LORD.

7Therefore this is what the LORD Almighty says:

"See, I will refine[z] and test[a] them,
for what else can I do
because of the sin of my people?
8Their tongue[b] is a deadly arrow;
it speaks with deceit.
With his mouth each speaks cordially to his neighbor,[c]
but in his heart he sets a trap[d] for him.[e] 9Should I not punish them for this?"
declares the LORD.
"Should I not avenge[f] myself on such a nation as this?"

10I will weep and wail for the mountains and take up a lament concerning the desert pastures.[g]
They are desolate and untraveled, and the lowing of cattle is not heard.
The birds of the air[h] have fled and the animals are gone.

11"I will make Jerusalem a heap[i] of ruins, a haunt of jackals;[j]
and I will lay waste the towns of Judah[k]
so no one can live there."[l]

12What man is wise[m] enough to understand this? Who has been instructed by the LORD and can explain it? Why has the land been ruined and laid waste like a desert that no one can cross?

13The LORD said, "It is because they have forsaken my law, which I set before them; they have not obeyed me or followed my law.[n] 14Instead, they have followed[o] the stubbornness of their hearts;[p] they have followed the Baals, as their fathers taught them." 15Therefore, this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: "See, I will make this people eat bitter food[q] and drink poisoned water.[r] 16I will scatter them among nations[s] that neither they nor their fathers have known,[t] and I will pursue them with the sword[u] until I have destroyed them."[v]

17This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"Consider now! Call for the wailing women[w] to come;
send for the most skillful of them.
18Let them come quickly and wail over us

9:3 tongue like a bow. See vv. 5,8; see also Ps 64:3–4; Jas 3:5–12. do not acknowledge me. See v. 6; Jdg 2:10; 1Sa 2:12; Job 18:21; Hos 4:1; Ro 1:28; contrast Hos 6:3.

9:4 deceiver. See NIV text note; Ge 25:26 and note; NIV text note on Ge 27:36; Hos 12:2–3 and NIV text note on Hos 12:2.

9:6 refuse to acknowledge me. The situation has deteriorated even further (v. 3 says simply "do not acknowledge me").

9:7 refine and test. See 6:27–30 and notes. The Lord will test his people "in the furnace of affliction" (see Isa 48:10 and note).

9:8 tongue ... deceit. See v. 3 and note. With his mouth ... but in his heart. See Ps 55:21. cordially. The Hebrew for this word is translated "peace" in 6:14 (see note there).

9:9 Repeated from 5:9,29.

9:10 The prophet speaks. See 4:23–26 and notes. weep and wail. See v. 18; see also note on v. 1. desert pastures. Good for poor grazing at best (see 1Sa 17:28; cf. Ex 3:1). desolate. Lit. "burned" (as in 2:15); here parched by the blazing sun. untraveled. See v. 12; Eze 33:28.

9:11 The Lord speaks. haunt of jackals. See 10:22; 49:33; 51:37; Ps 44:19; Isa 13:21–22; La 5:18; Eze 13:4; Mal 1:3; contrast Isa 35:7. no one can live there. See 2:15; 4:7 and notes.

9:12 The prophet asks a series of questions. What man is wise ... ? See Hos 14:9.

9:13 The Lord answers the prophet and then continues to speak through v. 19. law, which I set before them. In the days of Moses (see Dt 4:8).

9:14 stubbornness. See note on 3:17. Baals. See 2:23; see also note on Jdg 2:11.

9:15 eat bitter food and drink poisoned water. Repeated in 23:15; see note on 8:14. Centuries earlier, Moses had warned the Israelites concerning just such a fate (see Dt 29:18).

9:16 I will scatter them. See 13:24; 18:17; 30:11; 46:28. This warning was given in Dt 28:64 as one of the covenant curses. pursue them with the sword. See 42:16. destroyed them. But not to the last man (see note on 4:27; see especially 44:27–28).

9:17 wailing women. Professionals, paid to mourn at funerals and other sorrowful occasions (see 2Ch 35:25; Ecc 12:5; Am 5:16).

9:18 The purpose of the professional mourners was to arouse the bereaved to weep and lament. wail. See v. 10. eyes overflow with tears. See v. 1.

till our eyes overflow with tears and water streams from our eyelids.[x] 19The sound of wailing is heard from Zion:
'How ruined[y] we are!
How great is our shame!
We must leave our land
because our houses are in ruins.' "

20Now, O women, hear the word of the LORD;
open your ears to the words of his mouth.[z]
Teach your daughters how to wail;
teach one another a lament.[a] 21Death has climbed in through our windows[b] and has entered our fortresses;
it has cut off the children from the streets and the young men[c] from the public squares.

22Say, "This is what the LORD declares:

" 'The dead bodies of men will lie like refuse[d] on the open field, like cut grain behind the reaper,
with no one to gather them.' "

23This is what the LORD says:

"Let not the wise man boast of his wisdom[e] or the strong man boast of his strength[f] or the rich man boast of his riches,[g] 24but let him who boasts boast[h] about this:
that he understands and knows[i] me,
that I am the LORD,[j] who exercises kindness,[k]
justice and righteousness[l] on earth, for in these I delight,"
declares the LORD.

25"The days are coming," declares the LORD, "when I will punish all who are circumcised only in the flesh[m]— 26Egypt, Judah, Edom, Ammon, Moab and all who live in the desert in distant places.[t n] For all these nations are really uncircumcised,[o] and even the whole house of Israel is uncircumcised in heart.[p]"

God and Idols

10:12–16pp — Jer 51:15–19

10 Hear what the LORD says to you, O house of Israel. 2This is what the LORD says:

"Do not learn the ways of the nations[q] or be terrified by signs[r] in the sky, though the nations are terrified by them.
3For the customs of the peoples are worthless;
they cut a tree out of the forest,
and a craftsman[s] shapes it with his chisel.[t]
4They adorn it with silver[u] and gold;

9:19 How ruined we are! See 4:13,20; 48:1.
9:20–21 The prophet speaks.
9:20 The wailing women will have to teach their daughters how to lament, so great will be the need for their services.
9:21 Death. Personified here (as in Hab 2:5). Canaanite mythology included a deity named Mot (a word related to the Hebrew word for "death"), the god of infertility and the netherworld. climbed in through our windows. Said of enemy soldiers in Joel 2:9. children ... young men. See 6:11.
9:22 dead bodies. See 7:33 and note. like refuse. See note on 8:2. reaper. The concept of death as the "grim reaper" comes largely from this verse.
9:23 Let not ... the rich man boast of his riches. An almost exact parallel occurs in the Aramaic Words of Ahiqar, written about a century after Jeremiah's time: "Let not the rich man say, 'In my riches I am glorious.' "
9:24 1Co 1:31 summarizes: "Let him who boasts boast in the Lord." this ... these. Ultimately, only God and our knowledge of and love for him are worthwhile. understands and knows. See 3:15; see also note on 4:22. I am the LORD. Ex 6:2–8, a key passage on the doctrine of redemption, begins and ends with this statement of divine self-disclosure. kindness. The Hebrew for this word is translated "devotion" in 2:2 (see note there). in these I delight. See Ps 11:7; 33:5; 99:4; 103:6; Mic 6:8; 7:18.
9:25–26 See Ro 2:25–29; see also note on Ge 17:10.
9:26 who live ... in distant places. Arab tribes (see 25:23; 49:32), later to be attacked by the Babylonians under Nebuchadnezzar (see 49:28–33). With the NIV text note contrast Lev 19:27. uncircumcised in heart. See 4:4 and note.
10:1–25 Jeremiah concludes his series of temple messages with a poetic section that focuses primarily on the vast difference between idols and the Lord (vv. 2–16). Idols and their worshipers are condemned in vv. 2–5,8–9,11,14–15, while the one true God is praised in the alternate passages (vv. 6–7,10,12–13,16). See Isa 40:18–20; 41:7; 44:9–20; 46:5–7.
10:1 Hear. See note on 2:4.
10:2 Do not ... be terrified. See 1:17. ways. The Hebrew for this word is singular and refers to the religious practices of the nations. The early Christians often called their distinctive beliefs "the Way" (see Ac 9:2; 19:9,23; 22:4; 24:14,22). signs in the sky. The heavenly bodies were created by the Lord for purposes other than idolatrous worship (see Ge 1:14–18 and notes). nations are terrified. Not only by the heavenly bodies themselves but also by unusual phenomena associated with them (such as comets, meteors and eclipses).
10:3 worthless. A term that Jeremiah often applies to idols (see vv. 8,15; see also note on 2:5). cut a tree. See Isa 44:14–15. craftsman. The word is often used of idol-makers who work usually—but not always (see Isa 40:19)—with wood (see Isa 41:7). chisel. Cf. Isa 44:13.
10:4 silver and gold. Wooden idols were plated with precious metals to beautify them (see Isa 30:22; 40:19). fasten it ... so it will not totter. See Isa 40:20; 41:7; cf. 46:7;

they fasten it with hammer and nails
so it will not totter.[v] 5Like a scarecrow in a melon patch, their idols cannot speak;[w] they must be carried because they cannot walk.[x]
Do not fear them;
they can do no harm[y]
nor can they do any good."[z]

6No one is like you,[a] O LORD;
you are great,[b]
and your name is mighty in power.
7Who should not revere[c] you,
O King of the nations?[d]
This is your due.
Among all the wise men of the nations
and in all their kingdoms,
there is no one like you.
8They are all senseless[e] and foolish;[f]
they are taught by worthless wooden idols.[g] 9Hammered silver is brought from Tarshish[h] and gold from Uphaz.
What the craftsman and goldsmith have made[i]
is then dressed in blue and purple—
all made by skilled workers.
10But the LORD is the true God;
he is the living God,[j] the eternal King.[k]
When he is angry,[l] the earth trembles;[m]
the nations cannot endure his wrath.[n]

11"Tell them this: 'These gods, who did not make the heavens and the earth, will perish[o] from the earth and from under the heavens.' "[u]

12But God made[p] the earth[q] by his power;
he founded the world by his wisdom[r] and stretched out the heavens[s] by his understanding.
13When he thunders,[t] the waters in the heavens roar;
he makes clouds rise from the ends
of the earth.
He sends lightning[u] with the rain[v] and brings out the wind from his storehouses.[w]

14Everyone is senseless and without knowledge;
every goldsmith is shamed[x] by his idols.
His images are a fraud;[y]
they have no breath in them.
15They are worthless,[z] the objects of mockery;
when their judgment comes, they will perish.
16He who is the Portion[a] of Jacob is not like these,
for he is the Maker of all things,[b] including Israel, the tribe of his inheritance[c]—
the LORD Almighty is his name.[d]

contrast 1Sa 5:2–4.

10:5 The impotence of idols is described in classic form in Ps 115:4–7; 135:15–18. scarecrow. Verse 70 in the Apocryphal Letter of Jeremiah uses the same imagery. melon patch. See Isa 1:8 and note. must be carried. Usually on the backs of animals. See Isa 46:1. harm nor . . . good. Idols can do nothing at all (see Isa 41:23).

10:6 No one. Among the gods (see Ps 86:8). your name is mighty in power. See 16:21.

10:7 King of the nations. See Ps 47:8–9; 96:10. Unlike the tribal deities, limited to their own territories, the Lord is King over all. This. Reverence. Among all the wise men . . . no one like you. See Isa 19:12; 29:14; 1Co 1:20.

10:8 senseless and foolish. See vv. 14,21; 5:21; see also NIV text note on Pr 1:7. taught by . . . idols. Instead of by the Lord (see Dt 11:2; Job 5:17; Pr 3:11, where the Hebrew word for "taught by" is translated "discipline"). worthless. See note on v. 3.

10:9 silver . . . from Tarshish. See Eze 27:12; see also notes on Isa 23:6; Jnh 1:3. Uphaz. Mentioned only here; location unknown. craftsman and goldsmith. See Isa 40:19; 41:7. dressed in blue and purple. To make it look regal. all. The idols.

10:10 Everything that idols are not, the Lord is. true. See 1Th 1:9. living. See Dt 5:26. eternal. See Ex 15:18; Ps 10:16; 29:10. When . . . wrath. See Ps 97:5; Na 1:5.

10:11 See NIV text note. The other major Aramaic passages in the OT are Ezr 4:8–6:18; 7:12–26; Da 2:4–7:28. This verse is in prose. them. Pagan idolaters, who would have been more likely to understand Aramaic (the language of diplomacy during this period) than Hebrew.

10:12–16 Repeated almost verbatim in 51:15–19.

10:12 But God. In contrast to the false gods of v. 11. stretched out the heavens. Like a tent or canopy (see Ps 104:2; Isa 40:22 and note).

10:13 he makes clouds . . . his storehouses. Repeated in Ps 135:7, where the one true God is contrasted to false gods (see Ps 135:5,15–17); cf. Job 38:22.

10:14 senseless. See vv. 8,21; see also note on 4:22. images. Cast in metal; the Hebrew for this word is translated "metal god" in Isa 48:5 and "metal images" in Da 11:8. no breath. See Ps 135:17.

10:15 worthless. See note on v. 3.

10:16 Portion of Jacob. A title for God, used again only in 51:19 (see Ps 73:26; 119:57; 142:5; La 3:24). tribe of his inheritance. See Isa 63:17. the LORD Almighty is his name. See Isa 54:5; Am 4:13.

10:17–22 Destruction and exile are imminent.

10:18 hurl out. As from a sling.

"At this time I will hurl[f] out
those who live in this land;
I will bring distress[g] on them
so that they may be captured."

[19]Woe to me because of my injury!
My wound[h] is incurable!
Yet I said to myself,
"This is my sickness, and I must endure[i] it."
[20]My tent[j] is destroyed;
all its ropes are snapped.
My sons are gone from me and are no more;[k]
no one is left now to pitch my tent or to set up my shelter.
[21]The shepherds[l] are senseless[m] and do not inquire of the LORD;[n] so they do not prosper[o]
and all their flock is scattered.[p] [22]Listen! The report is coming—a great commotion from the land of the north![q]
It will make the towns of Judah desolate,[r]
a haunt of jackals.[s]

The Covenant Is Broken

11 This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: [2]"Listen to the terms of this covenant[b] and tell them to the people of Judah and to those who live in Jerusalem. [3]Tell them that this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: 'Cursed[c] is the man who does not obey the terms of this covenant— [4]the terms I commanded your forefathers when I brought them out of Egypt,[d] out of the iron-smelting furnace.[e]' I said, 'Obey[f] me and do everything I command you, and you will be my people,[g] and I will be your God. [5]Then I will fulfill the oath I swore[h] to your forefathers, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey'[i]—the land you possess today."

I answered, "Amen,[j] LORD."

[6]The LORD said to me, "Proclaim[k] all these words in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem: 'Listen to the terms of this covenant and follow[l] them. [7]From the time I brought your forefathers up from Egypt until today, I warned them again and again,[m] saying, "Obey me." [8]But they did not listen or pay attention;[n] instead, they followed the stubbornness of their evil hearts.[o] So I brought on them all the curses[p] of the covenant I had commanded them to follow but that they did not keep.[q]' "

10:19–20 On behalf of his countrymen, the prophet bemoans their fate and his own (see 4:19–21).

10:20 sons. The people of Judah and Jerusalem (Jeremiah never married or had children; see 16:2). shelter. See note on 4:20.

10:21 shepherds . . . flock. Rulers and people (see note on 2:8). senseless. See vv. 8,14; see also note on 4:22. do not inquire of the LORD. Instead, they consult the heavenly bodies (see 8:2). scattered. See note on 9:16.

10:22 great commotion. The sound of the invaders (see 6:23; 8:16). land of the north. Babylonia (see 4:6; 6:22; see also note on Isa 41:25). haunt of jackals. See 9:11 and note.

10:23–25 On the people's behalf, the prophet prays for divine justice.

10:23 Only the Lord can direct people's steps (see Ps 37:23; Pr 16:9).

10:25 Repeated almost verbatim in Ps 79:6–7, where the context (see Ps 79:1–5) shows that the prayer is not vengeful but is an appeal for God's justice. The verse is recited annually by Jews during their Passover service.

11:1–13:27 Because of Judah's violations of its covenant obligations, the people will be exiled to Babylonia. The section is perhaps to be dated to the reign of Josiah (but see note on 13:18).

11:1–17 God's people have broken his covenant with them.

11:2 Listen. See note on 2:4. terms. Lit. "words," a technical term for covenant stipulations (see vv. 3–4,6; 34:18; see also note on Ex 20:1). this covenant. See vv. 3,6,8,10; Dt 29:9. Reference is to the covenant established by God with Israel through Moses at Mount Sinai (see v. 4; Ex 19–24). tell them. Periodic public reading of covenants was a common and necessary practice (see Dt 31:10–13; Jos 8:34–35).

11:3 Cursed is the man. The phrase appears at the beginning of every verse in Dt 27:15–26 (and "Amen" appears at the end; see note on v. 5). Blessings resulted from obedience to the covenant (see Dt 28:1–14); curses resulted from disobedience (see Dt 28:15–68; see also Dt 11:26–28; 29:20–21).

11:4 out of Egypt . . . the iron-smelting furnace. See note on Dt 4:20. Obey me. See v. 7; 7:23; Ex 19:5. you will be my people . . . your God. See note on 7:23.

11:5 land flowing with milk and honey. See 32:22; see also note on Ex 3:8. Amen. Appears at the end of every verse in Dt 27:15–26 (and "Cursed is the man" appears at the beginning; see note on v. 3). fulfill the oath I swore. See Ge 15:17–18 and notes; Dt 7:8.

11:6 Proclaim. See 2:2; 3:12.

11:7 again and again. See note on 7:13.

11:8 See 7:24. stubbornness of their evil hearts. See note on 3:17. curses of the covenant. See note on v. 3. So I brought on them. See 2Ki 17:18–23.

9Then the LORD said to me, "There is a conspiracy[r] among the people of Judah and those who live in Jerusalem. 10They have returned to the sins of their forefathers,[s] who refused to listen to my words.[t] They have followed other gods[u] to serve them.[v] Both the house of Israel and the house of Judah have broken the covenant[w] I made with their forefathers. 11Therefore this is what the LORD says: 'I will bring on them a disaster[x] they cannot escape.[y] Although they cry[z] out to me, I will not listen[a] to them. 12The towns of Judah and the people of Jerusalem will go and cry out to the gods to whom they burn incense,[b] but they will not help them at all when disaster[c] strikes. 13You have as many gods[d] as you have towns,[e] O Judah; and the altars you have set up to burn incense[f] to that shameful[g] god Baal are as many as the streets of Jerusalem.'

14"Do not pray[h] for this people nor offer any plea or petition for them, because I will not listen[i] when they call to me in the time of their distress.

15"What is my beloved doing in my temple as she works out her evil schemes with many?
Can consecrated meat[j] avert [L] your punishment?[k]
When you engage in your wickedness, then you rejoice.[v]"

16The LORD called you a thriving olive tree[l] with fruit beautiful in form.
But with the roar of a mighty storm he will set it on fire,[m]
and its branches will be broken.[n]

17The LORD Almighty, who planted[o] you, has decreed disaster[p] for you, because the house of Israel and the house of Judah have done evil and provoked[q] me to anger by burning incense to Baal.[r]

Plot Against Jeremiah

18Because the LORD revealed their plot to me, I knew it, for at that time he showed me what they were doing. 19I had been like a gentle lamb led to the slaughter;[s] I did not realize that they had plotted[t] against me, saying,

"Let us destroy the tree and its fruit;
let us cut him off from the land of the living,[u] that his name be remembered[v] no more."

20But, O LORD Almighty, you who judge righteously[w] and test the heart[x] and mind,[y]
let me see your vengeance[z] upon them, for to you I have committed my cause.

21"Therefore this is what the LORD says about the men of Anathoth[a] who are seeking your life[b] and saying, 'Do not prophesy[c] in the name of the LORD or you will die[d] by our hands'— 22therefore this is what the LORD Almighty says: 'I will punish them. Their young men[e] will die by the sword, their sons and daughters by famine. 23Not even a remnant[f] will be left to them, because I will bring disaster on the men of Anathoth in the year of their punishment.[g]' "

11:17 Fulfilled when Judah was destroyed in 586 B.C. (see 44:2–3). provoked me to anger. See 8:19; Dt 31:29.

11:18–23 The first of Jeremiah's "confessions" (see Introduction: Author and Date).

11:18 their . . . they. Jeremiah's personal enemies, the "men of Anathoth" (vv. 21,23), his hometown.

11:19 lamb led to the slaughter. See 51:40; see also Isa 53:7 and note. destroy the tree and its fruit. Contrast 12:2. cut him off from the land of the living. See Isa 53:8; contrast Ps 27:13. name. Since Jeremiah had no children (see 16:2), his name would die with him. be remembered no more. As though he were evil (see Job 24:20; Eze 21:32).

11:20 Repeated almost verbatim in 20:12; see also 17:10. you who judge righteously. See note on Ge 18:25.

11:23 remnant. See 6:9; Isa 10:20–22 and notes. them. The conspirators in Anathoth, not its entire population, since 128 men of Anathoth returned to their hometown after the exile (see Ezr 2:23).

Jeremiah's Complaint

12 You are always righteous,[h]
O LORD,
when I bring a case[i] before you.
Yet I would speak with you about your justice:[j]
Why does the way of the wicked prosper?[k]
Why do all the faithless live at ease?
2You have planted[l] them, and they have taken root;
they grow and bear fruit.[m]
You are always on their lips but far from their hearts.[n] 3Yet you know me, O LORD;
you see me and test[o] my thoughts about you.
Drag them off like sheep[p] to be butchered!
Set them apart for the day of slaughter![q]
4How long will the land lie parched[w][r] and the grass in every field be withered?[s]
Because those who live in it are wicked,
the animals and birds have perished.[t]
Moreover, the people are saying,
"He will not see what happens to us."

God's Answer

5"If you have raced with men on foot and they have worn you out,
how can you compete with horses?
If you stumble in safe country,[x]
how will you manage in the thickets[u] by[y] the Jordan?
6Your brothers, your own family—
even they have betrayed you;
they have raised a loud cry against you.[v]
Do not trust them,
though they speak well of you.[w]

7"I will forsake[x] my house, abandon[y] my inheritance;
I will give the one I love[z]
into the hands of her enemies.[a] 8My inheritance has become to me like a lion[b] in the forest.
She roars at me;
therefore I hate her.[c] 9Has not my inheritance become to me like a speckled bird of prey that other birds of prey surround and attack?
Go and gather all the wild beasts;
bring them to devour.[d] 10Many shepherds[e] will ruin my vineyard
and trample down my field;
they will turn my pleasant field into a desolate wasteland.[f] 11It will be made a wasteland,[g] parched and desolate before me;[h]
the whole land will be laid waste because there is no one who cares.

[w] 4 Or land mourn [x] 5 Or If you put your trust in a land of safety [y] 5 Or the flooding of

12:1–6 The second of Jeremiah's "confessions," continuing (and closely related to) the first (11:18–23). Jeremiah speaks in vv. 1–4, and God responds in vv. 5–6.

12:1 You are ... righteous. See note on Ge 18:25; see also 11:20; Ps 51:4; Ro 3:4. Because God is righteous, he is a dependable arbiter and judge. Yet. He is nevertheless ready to listen to our questions and complaints. Why does ... the wicked prosper? The question is not unique to Jeremiah (see, e.g., Job 21:7–15; Mal 3:15). The Lord replies that ultimately the wicked in Judah will perish (vv. 7–13) and that the wicked invaders who destroy them will themselves be destroyed (vv. 14–17).

12:2 You have planted them. But a sovereign God can always reconsider his intentions if conditions warrant a change (see 18:9–10). bear fruit. The wicked flourish, while Jeremiah's fellow citizens plot to destroy his own "fruit" (see 11:19). on their lips ... far from their hearts. Quoted in part by Jesus in Mt 15:8–9.

12:3 test my thoughts. See 11:20. like sheep to be butchered. Jeremiah asks that his wicked countrymen receive the fate mentioned for himself in 11:19. His request arises not so much out of a desire for revenge as for the vindication of God's righteousness.

12:4 parched ... withered. See 23:10; see also 3:3; 14:1. Apparently there was a series of droughts in Judah during Jeremiah's ministry. He will not see. The prophet's enemies do not believe that his predictions will be fulfilled.

12:5 The Lord warns Jeremiah that in the future his troubles will increase (see, e.g., 38:4–6). stumble. The Hebrew for this word, which usually means "trust" (see NIV text note), has a negative meaning in a few passages (see, e.g., Pr 14:16, where it is translated "reckless"). thickets. Providing cover for lions (see 49:19; 50:44; Zec 11:3). If the Hebrew for this word means "flooding" (see NIV text note) here, an ancient example is described in Jos 3:15.

12:6 family. Lit. "house," linking this verse verbally with the following context (see v. 7). Apparently, members of Jeremiah's own family were included in the "men of Anathoth" (11:21,23) who wanted to kill him.

12:7–17 The Lord will judge Judah (vv. 7–13) as well as the wicked neighboring nations (vv. 14–17).

12:7 house. Judah (see, e.g., 11:17). inheritance. God's land and people (see vv. 8–9,14–15; see also Ex 15:17 and note; Dt 4:20; Isa 19:25; 47:6). the one I love. See note on 11:15.

12:8 I hate her. I will withdraw my love from her by giving her "into the hands of her enemies" (v. 7; see Mal 1:3).

12:9 other birds of prey ... wild beasts. Judah's enemies (see Isa 56:9 and note).

12:10 shepherds. Rulers (see note on 2:8). my vineyard. Judah (see 2:21 and note). pleasant field. See 3:19 and note.

12:11 parched. See v. 4 and note. A total of seven s-sounds and seven m-sounds in the Hebrew of this brief verse provides a striking example of Jeremiah's literary gifts.

[12]Over all the barren heights in the desert destroyers will swarm, for the sword[i] of the LORD[j] will devour[k] from one end of the land to the other;[l]
no one will be safe.[m] [13]They will sow wheat but reap thorns;
they will wear themselves out but gain nothing.[n]
So bear the shame of your harvest because of the LORD's fierce anger."[o]

[14]This is what the LORD says: "As for all my wicked neighbors who seize the inheritance[p] I gave my people Israel, I will uproot[q] them from their lands and I will uproot[r] the house of Judah from among them. [15]But after I uproot them, I will again have compassion[s] and will bring[t] each of them back to his own inheritance and his own country. [16]And if they learn[u] well the ways of my people and swear by my name, saying, 'As surely as the LORD lives'[v]—even as they once taught my people to swear by Baal[w]—then they will be established among my people.[x] [17]But if any nation does not listen, I will completely uproot and destroy[y] it," declares the LORD.

A Linen Belt

13 This is what the LORD said to me: "Go and buy a linen belt and put it around your waist, but do not let it touch water." [2]So I bought a belt, as the LORD directed, and put it around my waist.

[3]Then the word of the LORD came to me a second time:[z] [4]"Take the belt you bought and are wearing around your waist, and go now to Perath[za] and hide it there in a crevice in the rocks." [5]So I went and hid it at Perath, as the LORD told me.[b]

[6]Many days later the LORD said to me, "Go now to Perath and get the belt I told you to hide there." [7]So I went to Perath and dug up the belt and took it from the place where I had hidden it, but now it was ruined and completely useless.

[8]Then the word of the LORD came to me: [9]"This is what the LORD says: 'In the same way I will ruin the pride of Judah and the great pride[c] of Jerusalem. [10]These wicked people, who refuse to listen[d] to my words, who follow the stubbornness of their hearts[e] and go after other gods[f] to serve and worship them,[g] will be like this belt—completely useless![h] [11]For as a belt is bound around a man's waist, so I bound the whole house of Israel and the whole house of Judah to me,' declares the LORD, 'to be my people for my renown[i] and praise and honor.[j] But they have not listened.'[k]

[z4] Or possibly the Euphrates; also in verses 5-7

12:12 barren heights. Places of idolatrous worship (see 3:2; Nu 23:3). destroyers. The Babylonians (see note on 4:7). sword of the LORD. Symbolizing God's instruments of judgment (see 25:29; 47:6). from one end . . . to the other. See 25:33. no one will be safe. Lit. "there will be no peace for anyone" (see 6:14 and note).

12:13 See 14:2–4.

12:14 wicked neighbors. See, e.g., 2Ki 24:2. seize. Lit. "touch," used in the context of attack and plunder in Zec 2:8. uproot. Carry off into exile (see, e.g., 1Ki 14:15).

12:15 The exiles from Judah, and those from the neighboring nations, will eventually be brought back to their respective lands (see v. 16; 32:37,44; 33:26; 48:47; 49:6).

12:16 See Isa 56:6–7. The Messianic age is in view (see Isa 2:2–4). ways. See note on 10:2. be established. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "prosper" in Mal 3:15.

13:1–27 A series of five warnings, the first two (vv. 1–11, 12–14) written in prose and the last three (vv. 15–17, 18–19, 20–27) in poetry.

13:1–11 The story of the ruined, useless belt is the first major example of the Lord's commanding Jeremiah to perform symbolic acts to illustrate his message (see Introduction: Literary Features).

13:1–2,4–7 Go and buy . . . So I bought . . . Take the belt . . . and hide it . . . So I went and hid it . . . Go now to Perath and get the belt . . . So I went to Perath and dug up the belt. Like his spiritual ancestor Abraham (see note on Ge 12:4), Jeremiah was characterized by prompt obedience.

13:1 linen. The material of which the priests' garments were made (see Eze 44:17–18), symbolic of Israel's holiness as a "kingdom of priests" (see Ex 19:6 and note). The linen belt is a symbol of the formerly intimate relationship between God and Judah (see v. 11). do not let it touch water. Do not wash it—symbolic of Judah's sinful pride (see v. 9).

13:3 Then. Some time later.

13:4 Perath. Perhaps the same as Parah (Jos 18:23), near the modern Wadi Farah, three miles northeast of Anathoth. Since in other contexts the Hebrew for Perath refers to the river Euphrates (see NIV text note), it serves as an appropriate symbol of the corrupting Assyrian and Babylonian influence on Judah that began during the reign of Ahaz (see 2Ki 16).

13:6 Many days later. Perhaps a reference to the lengthy Babylonian exile.

13:7 dug up. The belt had either been buried by the prophet or silted over by the water of the wadi. it was ruined. As foreseen in Lev 26:39, God's people in exile would waste away because of their sins and the sins of their ancestors.

13:9 pride . . . great pride. Contrast 9:23–24. Judah's vaunted pride would be a cause of her downfall and exile (see vv. 15,17), as foreshadowed in Lev 26:19.

13:10 refuse to listen. See note on 9:6. stubbornness of their hearts. See note on 3:17. completely useless. See 24:8.

13:11 But they have not listened. And therefore the promise of Dt 26:19 can no longer be fulfilled in them.

13:12–14 The Lord uses the imagery of filled wineskins to should be filled with wine.' And if they say to you, 'Don't we know that every wineskin should be filled with wine?' 13then tell them, 'This is what the LORD says: I am going to fill with drunkenness[l] all who live in this land, including the kings who sit on David's throne, the priests, the prophets and all those living in Jerusalem. 14I will smash them one against the other, fathers and sons alike, declares the LORD. I will allow no pity[m] or mercy or compassion[n] to keep me from destroying[o] them.' "

Threat of Captivity

15Hear and pay attention, do not be arrogant,
for the LORD has spoken.[p] 16Give glory[q] to the LORD your God before he brings the darkness, before your feet stumble[r] on the darkening hills.
You hope for light,
but he will turn it to thick darkness and change it to deep gloom.[s] 17But if you do not listen,[t]
I will weep in secret
because of your pride;
my eyes will weep bitterly, overflowing with tears,[u] because the LORD's flock[v] will be taken captive.[w]

18Say to the king[x] and to the queen mother,[y]
"Come down from your thrones, for your glorious crowns[z] will fall from your heads."
19The cities in the Negev will be shut up,
and there will be no one to open
them.
All Judah[a] will be carried into exile, carried completely away.

20Lift up your eyes and see those who are coming from the north.[b]
Where is the flock[c] that was entrusted to you,
the sheep of which you boasted?
21What will you say when [the LORD] sets over you those you cultivated as your special allies?[d]
Will not pain grip you like that of a woman in labor?[e] 22And if you ask yourself,
"Why has this happened to me?"[f]— it is because of your many sins[g] that your skirts have been torn off[h] and your body mistreated.[i] 23Can the Ethiopian[a] change his skin or the leopard its spots?
Neither can you do good who are accustomed to doing evil.[j]

24"I will scatter you like chaff[k] driven by the desert wind.[l] 25This is your lot, the portion[m] I have decreed for
you,"
declares the LORD,
"because you have forgotten[n] me
and trusted in false gods.[o] 26I will pull up your skirts over your face

[a]23 Hebrew Cushite (probably a person from the upper Nile region)

point toward the eventual destruction of Judah's leaders and people.

13:13 drunkenness. In a literal sense (see, e.g., Isa 28:7), but also symbolizing the effects of the wine of God's wrath (see 25:15–29; Ps 60:3; Isa 51:17–20; Eze 23:32–34). kings ... priests ... prophets ... all those living in Jerusalem. See 26:16; see also note on 1:18.

13:14 smash them one against the other. The various factions in Judah produced only confusion and chaos in the face of determined outside enemies. no pity or mercy or compassion. See 21:7; see also Eze 5:11.

13:15–17 Sinful pride carries the seeds of its own destruction, says the prophet.

13:15 Hear. See note on 2:4. do not be arrogant. See v. 17; see also note on v. 9.

13:16 Give glory to ... God. Confess your sins (see Jos 7:19; Jn 9:24 and NIV text notes). You hope for light, but. Cf. the description of the day of the Lord in Am 5:18–20; 8:9.

13:17 I will weep. See note on 9:1. pride. See v. 15; see also note on v. 9. flock. People (see v. 20; Zec 10:3; see also notes on 2:8; 10:21). taken captive. Into exile (see v. 19).

13:18–19 The prophet speaks: Exile is imminent.

13:18 king and ... queen mother. Probably Jehoiachin and Nehushta (2Ki 24:8). If so, the date is 597 B.C., about 12 years after Josiah's death (see note on 11:1–13:27). your ... crowns will fall. See 22:24–26; 29:2; 2Ki 24:15.

13:19 Negev. The dry southland (see note on Ge 12:9). shut up. Blocked by debris (see Isa 24:10). carried completely away. See Am 1:6,9.

13:20–27 First the prophet speaks (vv. 20–23), then the Lord (vv. 24–27). Judah's willful rebellion has made exile inevitable.

13:20 your ... you ... you. Jerusalem, personified as a woman (see vv. 21–22,26–27), is being addressed. the north. Babylonia (see 4:6; see also note on Isa 41:25). flock ... sheep. See note on v. 17.

13:21 special allies. Perhaps Egypt and Babylon, who alternated in dominating Judah (see Introduction: Background). like ... a woman in labor. See 6:24; 49:24; 50:43.

13:22 skirts ... torn off. Disgraced publicly, like a common prostitute (see vv. 26–27; Isa 47:3; Hos 2:3,10).

13:23 A rhetorical question, expecting a negative answer (see 17:9).

13:24 like chaff driven. The fate of the wicked (see, e.g., Ps 1:4). desert wind. See note on 4:11.

13:25 forgotten me. See note on 2:32.

13:26 See v. 22 and note.

that your shame may be seen[p]— [27]your adulteries and lustful neighings, your shameless prostitution![q]
I have seen your detestable acts on the hills and in the fields.[r]
Woe to you, O Jerusalem!
How long will you be unclean?"[s]

Drought, Famine, Sword

14 This is the word of the LORD to Jeremiah concerning the drought:[t]

[2]"Judah mourns,[u]
her cities languish;
they wail for the land,
and a cry goes up from Jerusalem.
[3]The nobles send their servants for water;
they go to the cisterns
but find no water.[v]
They return with their jars unfilled;
dismayed and despairing,
they cover their heads.[w] [4]The ground is cracked because there is no rain in the land;[x]
the farmers are dismayed and cover their heads.
[5]Even the doe in the field deserts her newborn fawn because there is no grass.[y]
[6]Wild donkeys stand on the barren heights[z]
and pant like jackals;
their eyesight fails
for lack of pasture."[a]

[7]Although our sins testify[b] against us,
O LORD, do something for the sake of your name.[c]
For our backsliding[d] is great;
we have sinned[e] against you.
[8]O Hope[f] of Israel, its Savior[g] in times of distress,[h]
why are you like a stranger in the land, like a traveler who stays only a night?
[9]Why are you like a man taken by surprise, like a warrior powerless to save?[i]
You are among[j] us, O LORD, and we bear your name;[k]
do not forsake[l] us!

[10]This is what the LORD says about this people:

"They greatly love to wander;
they do not restrain their feet.[m]
So the LORD does not accept[n] them;
he will now remember[o] their wickedness and punish them for their sins."[p]

[11]Then the LORD said to me, "Do not pray[q] for the well-being of this people. [12]Although they fast, I will not listen to their cry;[r] though they offer burnt offerings[s] and grain offerings,[t] I will not accept[u] them. Instead, I will destroy them with the sword,[v] famine[w] and plague."[x]

[13]But I said, "Ah, Sovereign LORD, the prophets[y] keep telling them, 'You will not see the sword or suffer famine.[z] Indeed, I will give you lasting peace[a] in this place.' "

[14]Then the LORD said to me, "The

13:27 adulteries and lustful neighings. See note on 5:8. shameless prostitution. See Eze 16:27. How long . . . ? There is yet hope, however slender, to postpone the divine wrath (cf., e.g., 12:14–16).

14:1–15:21 Messages delivered by Jeremiah during an especially severe drought, the date of which is unknown.

14:1–15:9 After an initial vivid description of the drought (14:2–6), Jeremiah alternately prays (14:7–9,13,19–22) and God responds (14:10–12,14–18; 15:1–9).

14:1 drought. See 17:8. Unlike that in 3:3; 12:4, the suffering is increased because an enemy has invaded the land (see v. 18). Drought was one of the curses threatened (see 23:10) for disobedience to the covenant (see Lev 26:19–20; Dt 28:22–24).

14:2 cities. Lit. "gates" (see note on Ge 22:17); see 15:7.

14:3 nobles. A drought is no respecter of class distinctions. cover their heads. In mourning (see v. 4; 2Sa 15:30; cf. 2Sa 19:4).

14:4 because there is no rain. See 1Ki 17:7. Unlike Egypt, where the mighty Nile waters the ground, the Holy Land depends on adequate rainfall.

14:6 pant. The Hebrew underlying this word is translated "sniffing the wind" in 2:24. There a female wild donkey (Jerusalem) was in the heat of desire, while here the male wild donkeys are panting because of a drought brought on by Judah's sin.

14:7–9 The prophet prays on behalf of the people (see v. 11).

14:7 for the sake of your name. See v. 21; Jos 7:9; Isa 48:9–11. backsliding. See 2:19; 3:22; 5:6. The word implies apostasy.

14:8 O Hope of Israel. See v. 22; 17:13; 50:7; Ac 28:20.

14:9 we bear your name. We belong to you, our ever-present Savior (see note on 7:10).

14:10–12 The Lord responds.

14:10–11 this people. God does not acknowledge them as his own (see Isa 6:9–10; 8:6,11–12).

14:10 wander. After false gods (see 2:23,31). the LORD does not . . . their sins. The Hebrew for these three lines is quoted verbatim from Hos 8:13 (cf. Hos 9:9).

14:11 Do not pray. See note on 7:16; cf. 1Sa 7:8; 12:19.

14:12 not accept them. See v. 10. Sacrifice is to no avail when unaccompanied by repentance (see note on 6:20). sword, famine and plague. Curses for violating God's covenant (see Lev 26:25–26); the first occurrence of this triad, which occurs 15 times in Jeremiah (see Introduction: Literary Features).

14:13 Jeremiah reminds the Lord of what the false prophets are saying. not . . . sword or . . . famine. See 5:12. lasting peace. Jeremiah's elaboration of the false prophets' "Peace, peace" (see 6:14; 8:11).

14:14 lies. See 5:12. in my name. See Dt 18:20,22. delusions of their own minds. See 23:26.

prophets are prophesying lies[b] in my name. I have not sent[c] them or appointed them or spoken to them. They are prophesying to you false visions,[d] divinations,[e] idolatries[b] and the delusions of their own minds. 15Therefore, this is what the LORD says about the prophets who are prophesying in my name: I did not send them, yet they are saying, 'No sword or famine will touch this land.' Those same prophets will perish[f] by sword and famine.[g] 16And the people they are prophesying to will be thrown out into the streets of Jerusalem because of the famine and sword. There will be no one to bury[h] them or their wives, their sons or their daughters.[i] I will pour out on them the calamity they deserve.[j]

17"Speak this word to them:

" 'Let my eyes overflow with tears[k] night and day without ceasing;
for my virgin[l] daughter—my people—has suffered a grievous wound, a crushing blow.[m]
18If I go into the country,
I see those slain by the sword;
if I go into the city,
I see the ravages of famine.[n]
Both prophet and priest have gone to a land they know not.[o]' "

19Have you rejected Judah completely?[p]
Do you despise Zion?
Why have you afflicted us
so that we cannot be healed?[q]
We hoped for peace
but no good has come,
for a time of healing
but there is only terror.[r] 20O LORD, we acknowledge[s] our wickedness and the guilt of our fathers;[t]
we have indeed sinned[u] against you.
21For the sake of your name[v] do not despise us;
do not dishonor your glorious throne.[w]
Remember your covenant[x] with us and do not break it.
22Do any of the worthless idols[y] of the nations bring rain?[z]
Do the skies themselves send down showers?
No, it is you, O LORD our God.
Therefore our hope is in you,
for you are the one who does all this.[a] 15 Then the LORD said to me: "Even if Moses[b] and Samuel[c] were to stand before me, my heart would not go out to this people.[d] Send them away from my presence![e] Let them go! 2And if they ask you, 'Where shall we go?' tell them, 'This is what the LORD says:

" 'Those destined for death, to death;
those for the sword, to the sword;[f]
those for starvation, to starvation;[g]
those for captivity, to captivity.'[h]

3"I will send four kinds of destroyers[i] against them," declares the LORD, "the sword[j] to kill and the dogs[k] to drag away and the birds[l] of the air and the beasts of the earth to devour and destroy.[m] 4I will make them abhorrent[n]

14:16 no one to bury them. See note on 7:33. wives ... sons ... daughters. All would perish, because all had worshiped false gods (see note on 7:18).
14:17 my eyes overflow with tears. See 9:18; 13:17. virgin daughter. Used of Jerusalem in Isa 37:22 (see note there; see also Isa 23:12 and note); see 18:13.
14:19–22 The prophet prays on behalf of the people.
14:20 guilt of our fathers. See 2:5–6; 7:25–26. we have ... sinned. Repentance brings restoration (see Dt 30:2–3).
14:21 your glorious throne. The Jerusalem temple (see 17:12; 2Ki 19:14–15; Ps 99:1–2). Remember your covenant ... do not break it. Jeremiah pleads the ancient promise of God in Lev 26:44–45.

15:1–9 The Lord responds, concluding this section (see note on 14:1–15:9).
15:1 Moses and Samuel. Famed for their intercession for sinful Israel (see Ex 32:11–14,30–34; Nu 14:13–23; Dt 9:18–20,25–29; 1Sa 7:5–9; 12:19–25; Ps 99:6–8). stand before me. The posture of God's servants as they are about to pray to him (see Ge 18:22). Send them away. The people are so wicked that God refuses to hear prayers offered on their behalf. They are beyond divine help (see notes on 7:16; 14:11–12).
15:2 See Eze 14:21; 33:27. death. Probably by plague; see 14:12 (and note), where "sword, famine and plague" are God's three agents of destruction, paralleling the first three here (the Hebrew word for "starvation" here is the same as that for "famine" in 14:12).
15:3–4 Foreseen in Dt 28:25–26.
15:3 four kinds. Not the same four as in v. 2, but an elaboration of three of the fates awaiting the corpses of those killed by the sword. The seventh-century B.C. vassal treaties of Esarhaddon present similar curses: "May Ninurta, leader of the gods, fell you with his fierce arrow, fill the plain with your corpses, and give your flesh to the eagles and vultures to feed on ... May dogs and pigs eat your flesh." dogs. See 1Ki 21:23. beasts of the earth. See Rev 6:8.
15:4 abhorrent. The Hebrew for this word is translated "a thing of horror" in the parallel in Dt 28:25. what Manasseh ... did in Jerusalem. Manasseh, good King Josiah's grandfather, was the most wicked king in to all the kingdoms of the earth[o] because of what Manasseh[p] son of Hezekiah king of Judah did in Jerusalem.

5"Who will have pity[q] on you,
O Jerusalem?
Who will mourn for you?
Who will stop to ask how you are?
6You have rejected[r] me," declares the LORD.
"You keep on backsliding.
So I will lay hands[s] on you and destroy you;
I can no longer show compassion.[t] 7I will winnow[u] them with a winnowing fork
at the city gates of the land.
I will bring bereavement[v] and destruction on my people,[w] for they have not changed their ways.[x] 8I will make their widows[y] more numerous
than the sand of the sea.
At midday I will bring a destroyer[z] against the mothers of their young men;
suddenly I will bring down on them anguish and terror.[a] 9The mother of seven will grow faint[b] and breathe her last.[c]
Her sun will set while it is still day;
she will be disgraced[d] and humiliated.
I will put the survivors to the sword[e]
before their enemies,"[f]
declares the LORD.

10Alas, my mother, that you gave me birth,[g] a man with whom the whole land strives and contends![h]
I have neither lent[i] nor borrowed, yet everyone curses[j] me.

11The LORD said,

"Surely I will deliver you[k] for a good purpose;
surely I will make your enemies plead[l] with you in times of disaster and times of distress.

12"Can a man break iron—iron from the north[m]—or bronze?
13Your wealth[n] and your treasures
I will give as plunder,[o] without charge,[p]
because of all your sins
throughout your country.[q] 14I will enslave you to your enemies in[c] a land you do not know,[r] for my anger will kindle a fire[s] that will burn against you."

15You understand, O LORD;
remember me and care for me.
Avenge me on my persecutors.[t]
You are long-suffering[u]—do not take me away;
think of how I suffer reproach for your sake.[v]
16When your words came, I ate[w] them;

Judah's long history (see 2Ki 21:1–11,16). His sins were a primary cause of Judah's eventual destruction (see 2Ki 21:12–15; 23:26–27; 24:3–4).

15:5–9 A poem concerning the forthcoming destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C (see La 1:1,12,21; 2:13,20).

15:5 Cf. Mt 23:37.

15:6 You keep on backsliding. Lit. "You go backward" (cf. 7:24; see note on 2:19).

15:7 winnow. See note on Ru 1:22. Winnowing as a figure of judgment is found also in 51:2; Pr 20:8,26; Isa 41:16. city gates of the land. Or, more simply, "gates of the land" (as in Na 3:13), i.e., the approaches to the land. bereavement ... on my people. The young men will fall in battle, and Judah and Jerusalem will be left childless (see Eze 5:17). not changed. Lit. "not repented of," reminiscent of the refrain in Am 4:6,8–11: "yet you have not returned to me," where the same Hebrew verb is used (see note on 3:1).

15:8 widows more numerous than the sand of the sea. A tragic reversal of the covenant promise of innumerable offspring (see Ge 22:17 and note). At midday ... suddenly. Military attacks at noon were unexpected (see note on 6:4). destroyer. Babylon (see note on 4:7). anguish. See note on 4:19.

15:9 seven. The complete, ideal number of sons (see Ru 4:15 and note)—soon to be destroyed. sun will set while it is still day. See Am 8:9; cf. Mt 27:45. survivors. Lit. "remnant" (see note on 6:9). Even they will be put to the sword (see Mic 6:14).

15:10–21 The third of Jeremiah's "confessions" (see Introduction: Author and Date), including in this case two responses by the Lord (vv. 11–14, 19–21).

15:10 See 20:14–15; Job 3:3–10. mother. See v. 8. In the OT, adjacent paragraphs are often linked by key words. have neither lent nor borrowed. Have not become involved in matters likely to evoke dispute or difference of opinion.

15:11–14 The Lord speaks, first to Jeremiah (v. 11), then to the people of Judah (vv. 12–14).

15:11 God encourages Jeremiah. I will make your enemies plead with you. Fulfilled, e.g., in 21:1–2; 37:3; 38:14–26; 42:1–3.

15:12 A rhetorical question assuming a negative answer. iron. Symbolic of great strength (see 28:13). from the north. From Babylonia (see note on Isa 41:25).

15:13–14 Repeated in large part in 17:3–4.

15:13 Fulfilled in 52:17–23. without charge. Cf. Isa 55:1. People and plunder alike would be free for the taking (see note on Isa 52:3).

15:14 for my anger will kindle a fire. Quoted verbatim from Dt 32:22, where the Hebrew is translated "For a fire has been kindled by my wrath."

15:15 You understand. The Lord is aware of what Jeremiah has suffered (see v. 10). remember. Express concern for (see note on Ge 8:1).

15:16 your words ... I ate them. I digested them, I assimilated them, I made them a part of me (see Eze 2:8–3:3; Rev 10:9–10). came. Lit. "were found"—perhaps they were my joy and my heart's delight,[x]

for I bear your name,[y]
O LORD God Almighty.
17I never sat[z] in the company of revelers,
never made merry with them;
I sat alone because your hand[a] was on me and you had filled me with indignation.
18Why is my pain unending and my wound grievous and incurable?[b]
Will you be to me like a deceptive brook,
like a spring that fails?[c]

19Therefore this is what the LORD says:

"If you repent, I will restore you that you may serve[d] me;
if you utter worthy, not worthless,
words,
you will be my spokesman.[e]
Let this people turn to you,
but you must not turn to them.
20I will make you a wall[f] to this people,
a fortified wall of bronze;
they will fight against you but will not overcome[g] you, for I am with you to rescue and save you,"[h]
declares the LORD.
21"I will save[i] you from the hands of the wicked[j]
and redeem[k] you from the grasp of the cruel."[l]

Day of Disaster

16 Then the word of the LORD came to me: 2"You must not marry[m] and have sons or daughters in this place." 3For this is what the LORD says about the sons and daughters born in this land and about the women who are their mothers and the men who are their fathers:[n] 4"They will die of deadly diseases. They will not be mourned or buried[o] but will be like refuse lying on the ground.[p] They will perish by sword and famine,[q] and their dead bodies will become food for the birds of the air and the beasts of the earth."[r]

5For this is what the LORD says: "Do not enter a house where there is a funeral meal; do not go to mourn or show sympathy, because I have withdrawn my blessing, my love and my pity[s] from this people," declares the LORD. 6"Both high and low will die in this land.[t] They will not be buried or mourned,[u] and no one will cut[v] himself or shave[w] his head for them. 7No one will offer food[x] to comfort those who mourn[y] for the dead—not even for a father or a mother—nor will anyone give them a drink to console[z] them.

8"And do not enter a house where there is feasting and sit down to eat and drink.[a] 9For this is what the LORD Al-referring to the discovery of the Book of the Law in the temple during the reign of Josiah in 621 B.C. (see 2Ki 22:13; 23:2; see also note on 1:2). they were ... my heart's delight. See Ps 1:2. I bear your name. See 14:9. I belong to you (see note on 7:10).

15:17 sat alone. Jeremiah never married (see 16:1), and he attracted only a few friends (see Introduction: Author and Date). your hand. Divine constraint (see 2Ki 3:15; Isa 8:11 and note; Eze 1:3; 3:14,22; 37:1; 40:1). indignation. At the sins of Judah (see 6:11).

15:18 Two rhetorical questions used by Jeremiah to express his nagging doubts about himself, his mission and God's faithfulness. pain unending ... wound grievous and incurable. Jerusalem is similarly described in 30:12–15, together with God's promise of healing in 30:17. Will you be to me ...? See Ps 22:1; Mt 27:46. deceptive brook. See Mic 1:14, where also "deceptive" probably refers to the kind of intermittent streams described in Job 6:15–20. Jeremiah here accuses God of being undependable, in contrast to the Lord's own earlier description of himself as a "spring of living water" (see 2:13 and note).

15:19–21 The Lord commands Jeremiah to repent, then encourages him and renews his call.

15:19 repent ... restore ... turn ... turn. The Hebrew root is the same for all four words (see notes on 3:1; Isa 1:25–26). serve. Lit. "stand before"—the appropriate posture for the obedient servant (see Nu 16:9; Dt 10:8). spokesman. Lit. "mouth" (see 1:9 and note; Ex 4:15–16; see also note on Ex 7:1–2).

15:20 See 1:8,18–19 and notes.

15:21 save you from ... the wicked. See, e.g., 36:26; 38:6–13.

16:1–17:18 Messages of disaster and comfort, with the note of disaster predominating (16:1–13,16–18; 16:21–17:6; 17:9–13,18). The first half of the section is prose (16:1–18), the second half poetry (16:19–17:18).

16:2 Jeremiah's ministry was such that he had to face life alone (see note on 15:17), without the comfort and support a family can provide. You must not. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is used for the most forceful of negative commands, as, e.g., in the Ten Commandments (see Ex 20:3–4,7,13–17). this place. Judah and Jerusalem, especially the latter (see, e.g., Zep 1:4).

16:4 diseases. The Hebrew for this word is translated "ravages" in 14:18. not be mourned or buried. See v. 6; 7:33 and note; 8:2; 14:16; 25:33. refuse. Lit. "dung" (see 8:2; 9:22; 25:33). perish by sword and famine. See 14:15–16; see also note on 5:12. food for the birds ... and the beasts. See note on 7:33.

16:5 do not go to mourn. See the similar command of God in Eze 24:16–17,22–23.

16:6 cut himself ... shave his head. Actions forbidden in the law (see Lev 19:28; 21:5 and note; Dt 14:1 and note), but sometimes practiced by Israelites (see 41:5; Eze 7:18; Mic 1:16).

16:7 Food was customarily offered to mourners (see 2Sa 3:35; 12:16–17; Eze 24:17,22; Hos 9:4). drink to console them. Lit. "cup of consolation," in later Judaism a special cup of wine for the chief mourner.

16:8 do not enter a house where there is. The present crisis is a time for neither feasting nor mourning (see v. 5).

16:9 See 7:34; 25:10; contrast 33:10–11.

mighty, the God of Israel, says: Before your eyes and in your days I will bring an end to the sounds[b] of joy and gladness and to the voices of bride[c] and bridegroom in this place.[d]

10"When you tell these people all this and they ask you, 'Why has the LORD decreed such a great disaster against us? What wrong have we done? What sin have we committed against the LORD our God?'[e] 11then say to them, 'It is because your fathers forsook me,' declares the LORD, 'and followed other gods and served and worshiped[f] them. They forsook me and did not keep my law.[g] 12But you have behaved more wickedly than your fathers.[h] See how each of you is following the stubbornness of his evil heart[i] instead of obeying me. 13So I will throw you out of this land[j] into a land neither you nor your fathers have known,[k] and there you will serve other gods[l] day and night, for I will show you no favor.'[m]

14"However, the days are coming,"[n] declares the LORD, "when men will no longer say, 'As surely as the LORD lives, who brought the Israelites up out of Egypt,'[o] 15but they will say, 'As surely as the LORD lives, who brought the Israelites up out of the land of the north[p] and out of all the countries where he had banished them.'[q] For I will restore[r] them to the land I gave their forefathers.[s]

16"But now I will send for many fishermen," declares the LORD, "and they will catch them.[t] After that I will send for many hunters, and they will hunt[u] them down on every mountain and hill and from the crevices of the rocks.[v] 17My eyes are on all their ways; they are not hidden[w] from me, nor is their sin concealed from my eyes.[x] 18I will repay[y] them double[z] for their wickedness and their sin, because they have defiled my land[a] with the lifeless forms of their vile images[b] and have filled my inheritance with their detestable idols.[c]"[d]

19O LORD, my strength and my fortress,

Yes, but they are not gods!"[j]

21"Therefore I will teach them—

16:10–13 The same question but a more elaborate answer than in 5:19 (see 9:12–16; 22:8–9; Dt 29:24–28; 1Ki 9:8–9).

16:10 Cf. the similar questions in Mal 1:6–7; 2:17; 3:7–8,13.

16:11 See 11:10, where committing sins like those mentioned here is called breaking the Lord's covenant.

16:12 behaved more wickedly than your fathers. See 1Ki 14:9. The coming judgment cannot be blamed on the sins of previous generations (see 31:29–30; Eze 18:2–4). following the stubbornness of his evil heart. See note on 3:17; see also 7:24.

16:13 See Dt 28:36,64. I will throw you out. Into exile (see 7:15; 22:26; Dt 29:28). land neither you nor your fathers have known. Babylonia (see 9:16).

16:14–15 Repeated almost verbatim in 23:7–8, the passage outlines nearly 1,000 years of Israelite history: exodus (c. 1446 B.C.), exile (586), restoration (537). See Isa 43:16–21; 48:20–21; 51:9–11. As surely as the LORD lives. See note on Ge 42:15.

16:15 land of the north. Babylonia (see note on Isa 41:25).

16:16 fishermen ... hunters. Symbolic of conquerors (see Eze 12:13; 29:4; Am 4:2 and note). mountain and hill. To which the people would flee in vain (see 4:29 and note). crevices of the rocks. The phrase occurs outside Jeremiah only in Isa 7:19. The Lord may be recalling here the episode of the ruined linen belt, hidden in a "crevice in the rocks" (13:4).

16:17 My eyes are on all their ways. See 32:19. they are not hidden from me. See 23:24.

16:18 repay them double. See 17:18; Isa 40:2 and note. defiled my land. Made it ceremonially unclean (see 2:7; 3:1–2; see also note on Lev 4:12). lifeless forms of their vile images. See Lev 26:30. Idols have no life in them (see Ps 115:4–7; 135:15–17). my inheritance. God's land (see 17:4; see also note on 2:7). detestable. Abominable in the Lord's eyes (see 2:7; see also note on Lev 7:21).

16:19–20 The prophet interjects a few brief words of hope.

16:19 strength ... fortress ... refuge in time of distress. Such descriptions of God's dependability and protecting power are common in the Psalms (see, e.g., Ps 18:1–2; 28:7–8; 59:9,16–17). to you the nations will come. See 4:2 and note; see also Isa 2:2–4; 42:4; 45:14; 49:6; Zec 8:20–23; 14:16. worthless idols. See note on 2:5. did them no good. Were unprofitable to them (see note on 2:8).

16:20 not gods. See 5:7.

16:21–17:4 The Lord responds to Jeremiah and continues his solemn warnings that began in v. 1.

16:21 teach ... teach ... know. The same Hebrew root underlies each of these words. God would "cause them to know," and then they would surely "know." them ... they. Probably includes Judah as well as the nations (see Eze 36:23; 37:14). know that my name is the LORD. "Name" often means "person" or "being" in the OT (see note on Ps 5:11). Ezekiel's equivalent of Jeremiah's phrase is "know that I am the LORD," found in his prophecy about 65 times (see note on Eze 5:13).

17:1 engraved with an iron tool. The method used to inscribe the most permanent of records (see Job 19:24). flint. One of the hardest of stones known to ancient man (see and on the high hills.[p] 3My mountain in the land and your[e] wealth and all your treasures

I will give away as plunder,[q]
together with your high places,[r] because of sin throughout your country.[s]
4Through your own fault you will lose the inheritance[t] I gave you.
I will enslave you to your enemies[u]
in a land[v] you do not know,
for you have kindled my anger,
and it will burn[w] forever."

5This is what the LORD says:

"Cursed is the one who trusts in man,[x]
who depends on flesh for his strength and whose heart turns away from the LORD.[y] 6He will be like a bush in the wastelands;
he will not see prosperity when it comes.
He will dwell in the parched places[z]
of the desert,
in a salt[a] land where no one lives.

7"But blessed[b] is the man who trusts[c] in the LORD,
whose confidence is in him.
8He will be like a tree planted by the water that sends out its roots by the stream.[d]
It does not fear when heat comes;
its leaves are always green.
It has no worries in a year of drought[e]
and never fails to bear fruit."[f]

9The heart[g] is deceitful above all things
and beyond cure.
Who can understand it?

10"I the LORD search the heart[h] and examine the mind,[i] to reward[j] a man according to his conduct,
according to what his deeds deserve."[k]

11Like a partridge that hatches eggs it did not lay is the man who gains riches by unjust means.
When his life is half gone, they will desert him,
and in the end he will prove to be a fool.[l]

12A glorious throne,[m] exalted from the beginning,
is the place of our sanctuary.

Eze 3:9; Zec 7:12). tablets of their hearts. For the same imagery see Pr 3:3; 7:3. horns of their altars. The people of Judah have backslid so badly that their sins are engraved not only on their hearts but also on their altars—to be remembered by God rather than to be atoned for (see Lev 16:18).

17:2 altars and Asherah poles. See notes on Ex 34:13; Dt 7:5. spreading trees . . . high hills. See note on 2:20.

17:3–4 Repeated in large part from 15:13–14 (see notes there).

17:3 My mountain. Mount Zion, the location of the temple in Jerusalem (see Ps 24:3; Isa 2:3; Zec 8:3). high places. Locales of idolatrous worship.

17:4 inheritance. The land of Canaan (see 16:18; see also note on 2:7).

17:5–8 See Ps 1 and notes.

17:5 Cursed. See note on 11:3. flesh. The opposite of "spirit" (see Isa 31:3; see also Job 10:4).

17:6 bush. See 48:6 and NIV text note. Apart from these two places in Jeremiah, the Hebrew for this word appears elsewhere in the OT only in Ps 102:17, where it is translated "destitute." prosperity. Lit. "good." The Hebrew for this word is translated "bounty" in Dt 28:12, where it refers to rain. salt land. An evidence of God's curse also in Dt 29:23.

17:7 trusts . . . confidence. The same Hebrew root underlies both words.

17:8 planted. Or "transplanted." stream. See Isa 44:4, where the same Hebrew root is used again to illustrate the source of the righteous man's strength. drought. See note on 14:1. bear fruit. The Lord's answer to Jeremiah's complaint in 12:1–2 (see notes there).

17:9 The prophet makes an observation, then asks a rhetorical question. The heart. The "wellspring of life," in which wickedness must not be allowed to take root (Pr 4:23). deceitful. The Hebrew root for this word is the basis of the name Jacob (see NIV text note on Ge 27:36).

17:10 The Lord responds to Jeremiah's question. search . . . examine. See 11:20; 12:3. mind. Lit. "kidneys" (see 11:20). The Hebrew for this word is translated "heart(s)" in 12:2. what his deeds deserve. Lit. "the fruit of his deeds" (cf. 6:19).

17:11 The prophet uses a proverb to make his point (as in v. 9); see especially Pr 23:5. partridge. Mentioned elsewhere in the OT only in 1Sa 26:20. hatches eggs. The Hebrew root underlying this phrase is found again only in Isa 34:15. Its Aramaic cognate, however, is used to explain Job 39:14 in the Targum (ancient Aramaic paraphrase). When his life is half gone. Lit. "In the midst of his days" (as in Ps 102:24). fool. Morally and spiritually reprobate (see note on Pr 1:7).

17:12–18 The fourth of Jeremiah's "confessions" (see Introduction: Author and Date).

17:12 glorious throne. See note on 14:21; see also Isa 6:1. The Lord is often represented as sitting on a throne between the cherubim on the ark of the covenant in the temple (see, e.g., Ps 80:1; 99:1). exalted. Mount Zion is the "high mountain of Israel" (Eze 20:40). from the beginning. From time immemorial, Zion had been chosen by God as the place of his sanctuary (see Ex 15:17).

13 O LORD, the hope[n] of Israel, all who forsake[o] you will be put to shame.
Those who turn away from you will be written in the dust[p]

for you are the one I praise.[t] 15 They keep saying to me,

you know I have not desired the day of despair.

17 Do not be a terror[w] to me;
you are my refuge[x] in the day of disaster.[y] 18 Let my persecutors be put to shame, but keep me from shame;
let them be terrified,
but keep me from terror.
Bring on them the day of disaster;

Keeping the Sabbath Holy

19 This is what the LORD said to me: "Go and stand at the gate of the people, through which the kings of Judah go in and out; stand also at all the other gates of Jerusalem.[a] 20 Say to them, 'Hear the word of the LORD, O kings of Judah and all people of Judah and everyone living in Jerusalem[b] who come through these gates.[c] 21 This is what the LORD says: Be careful not to carry a load on the Sabbath[d] day or bring it through the gates of Jerusalem. 22 Do not bring a load out of your houses or do any work on the Sabbath, but keep the Sabbath day holy, as I commanded your forefathers.[e] 23 Yet they did not listen or pay attention;[f] they were stiff-necked[g] and would not listen or respond to discipline.[h] 24 But if you are careful to obey me, declares the LORD, and bring no load through the gates of this city on the Sabbath, but keep the Sabbath day holy[i] by not doing any work on it, 25 then kings who sit on David's throne[j] will come through the gates of this city with their officials. They and their officials will come riding in chariots and on horses, accompanied by the men of Judah and those living in Jerusalem, and this city will be inhabited forever.[k] 26 People will come from the towns of Judah and the villages around Jerusalem, from the territory of Benjamin and the western foothills, from the hill country and the Negev,[l] bringing burnt offerings and sacrifices, grain offerings,

17:13 hope of Israel. See note on 14:8. dust. Lit. "earth," sometimes referring to the netherworld (see note on Ps 61:2; see also note on Job 7:21), as also in Canaanite and Mesopotamian literature. "Written in the dust" would then mean "destined for death," the opposite of "written in the book" of life (see Ex 32:32; Da 12:1; see also Ps 69:28 and note; Lk 10:20; Rev 20:12; 21:27). forsaken ... spring of living water. Contrast 15:18; see note on 2:13.

17:14 Heal me. See 15:18; Ps 6:2. you are the one I praise. Lit. "you are my praise" (see Dt 10:21).

17:15 See 20:8. Jeremiah's enemies accuse him of being a false prophet (see Dt 18:21–22). The accusation must have been voiced before the first invasion of Judah by the Babylonians in 605 B.C. after the battle of Carchemish (see 46:2; see also Introduction: Background).

17:16 shepherd. Symbolic of leadership (see note on 2:8), and therefore of Jeremiah's role as a prophet.

17:17 my refuge. See note on 16:19. day of disaster. See v. 18; 15:11.

17:18 my persecutors. See 15:15. double. see 16:18; Isa 40:2 and note.

17:19–27 An extended commentary on the Sabbath-day commandment (the covenant sign of God's relationship with Israel; see Ex 31:13–17; Eze 20:12), probably the version recorded in Dt 5:12–15 (see especially note on v. 22).

17:19 people. Lit. "sons of the people." The Hebrew for this word is translated "common people" in 26:23; 2Ki 23:6 and "lay people" in 2Ch 35:5,7. The latter meaning seems intended here, and therefore the "gate of the people" is most likely the east gate of the temple, where the people assembled in large numbers and which the kings would be expected to use frequently.

17:20 kings of Judah. The current king and all subsequent ruling members of David's dynasty (see, e.g., v. 25; 1:18; 2:26; 13:13; 19:3).

17:21 Be careful. See Jos 23:11. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "watch yourselves ... carefully" in Dt 4:15, and a similar expression is translated "guard yourself in your spirit" in Mal 2:15, stressing the urgency and solemnity of the Lord's command.

17:22 Do not. See note on 16:2. The Hebrew for this negative expression is stronger than that in v. 21. not ... do any work ... keep the Sabbath day holy. Specific references to the Sabbath-day commandment of Ex 20:8,10; Dt 5:12,14. as I commanded. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is unique to the Ten Commandments as recorded in Deuteronomy (see Dt 5:12,15–16; see note on vv. 19–27).

17:23 did not listen ... were stiff-necked. Repeated from 7:26 (see note there; see also 11:10). not ... respond to discipline. See 2:30; 5:3.

17:25 Repeated in part in 22:4. King David's dynasty will last forever (see 23:5–6; 30:9; 33:15; 2Sa 7:12–17), and Jerusalem will be inhabited for all time (Zec 2:2–12; 8:3; 14:11), if the people of Judah obey the Lord (see v. 27)—and they will, according to 31:33–34.

17:26 territory of Benjamin. Jeremiah's hometown was located there (see 1:1). western foothills ... hill country. See note on Dt 1:7. Negev. See note on Ge 12:9. thank offerings. Lit. "bringing thank offerings." The repetition here of "bringing" from earlier in the verse separates the thank offerings from the other specific sacrifices mentioned and gives them the more general designation of offerings of thanksgiving (as intended also in 33:11).

incense and thank offerings to the house of the LORD. 27But if you do not obey[m] me to keep the Sabbath[n] day holy by not carrying any load as you come through the gates of Jerusalem on the Sabbath day, then I will kindle an unquenchable fire[o] in the gates of Jerusalem that will consume her fortresses.' "[p]

At the Potter's House

18 This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: 2"Go down to the potter's house, and there I will give you my message." 3So I went down to the potter's house, and I saw him working at the wheel. 4But the pot he was shaping from the clay was marred in his hands; so the potter formed it into another pot, shaping it as seemed best to him.

5Then the word of the LORD came to me: 6"O house of Israel, can I not do with you as this potter does?" declares the LORD. "Like clay[q] in the hand of the potter, so are you in my hand,[r] O house of Israel. 7If at any time I announce that a nation or kingdom is to be uprooted,[s] torn down and destroyed, 8and if that nation I warned repents of its evil, then I will relent[t] and not inflict on it the disaster[u] I had planned. 9And if at another time I announce that a nation or kingdom is to be built[v] up and planted, 10and if it does evil[w] in my sight and does not obey me, then I will reconsider[x] the good I had intended to do for it.[y]

11"Now therefore say to the people of Judah and those living in Jerusalem, 'This is what the LORD says: Look! I am preparing a disaster[z] for you and devising a plan[a] against you. So turn[b] from your evil ways,[c] each one of you, and reform your ways and your actions.'[d] 12But they will reply, 'It's no use.[e] We will continue with our own plans; each of us will follow the stubbornness of his evil heart.[f]' "

13Therefore this is what the LORD says:

"Inquire among the nations:
Who has ever heard anything like this?[g]
A most horrible[h] thing has been done by Virgin[i] Israel.
14Does the snow of Lebanon ever vanish from its rocky slopes?
Do its cool waters from distant sources ever cease to flow?[f] 15Yet my people have forgotten[j] me;
they burn incense[k] to worthless idols,[l] which made them stumble[m] in their ways and in the ancient paths.[n]

17:27 Disobedience will bring disaster and will negate—at least temporarily—the promises of vv. 24–26. gates of Jerusalem. The symbols of Sabbath violation would be the first structures destroyed. kindle ... fire ... consume her fortresses. Common prophetic language for divine judgment against rebellious cities (see 49:27; 50:32; Am 1:4,7,10,12,14; 2:2,5; cf. Jer 21:14).

18:1–20:18 Three chapters focusing on lessons the Lord taught Jeremiah at the potter's workshop, probably before 605 B.C. (see note on 17:15).

18:1–17 As the potter controls what he does with the clay, so the Lord is sovereign over the people of Judah.

18:2 Go down. The potter's workshop was probably located on the slopes of the Valley of Ben Hinnom near the Potsherd Gate (see 19:2 and note).

18:3 wheel. Lit. "two stones." Both wheels were attached to a single upright shaft, one end of which was sunk permanently in the ground. The potter would spin the lower wheel with his foot and would work the clay on the upper wheel; the process is described in the Apocryphal book of Ecclesiasticus (38:29–30).

18:4 marred. The Hebrew for this word is translated "ruined" in 13:7 with respect to the linen belt that Jeremiah had hidden (see note there). as seemed best to him. The flaw was in the clay itself, not in the potter's skill.

18:6 Like clay ... so are you. Biblical imagery often pictures mankind as made of clay by a potter (see Job 4:19 and note). potter. The Hebrew for this word is translated "Maker" in 10:16 with reference to God.

18:7–10 The Lord retains the right of limiting his own absolute sovereignty on the basis of human response to his offers of pardon and restoration and his threats of judgment and destruction. If ... if ... if ... if. God's promises and threats are conditioned on man's actions. God, who himself does not change (see Nu 23:19; Mal 3:6; Jas 1:17), nevertheless will change his preannounced response to man, depending on what the latter does (see note on 4:28; see also Joel 2:13; Jnh 3:9 and note; Jnh 3:8–4:2; 4:11).

18:7 uprooted, torn down and destroyed. See 1:10 and note.

18:8 See 26:3. evil ... disaster. The Hebrew is the same for both words (also in v. 11).

18:9 built up and planted. See 1:10 and note.

18:11 devising a plan. See Est 8:3; 9:25; Eze 38:10. turn from. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "repents of" in v. 8.

18:12 It's no use. See 2:25; see also note on Isa 57:10. follow the stubbornness of his evil heart. See note on 3:17.

18:13–17 See 2:10–13.

18:13 horrible thing. See 5:30; 23:14; Hos 6:10. Virgin Israel. See 14:17 and note.

18:14–15 Although nature is reliable (v. 14), Judah is fickle and unfaithful (v. 15).

18:14 Lebanon. One of the highest of the northern mountains (see 22:6), reaching an altitude of over 10,000 feet.

18:15 my people have forgotten me. Repeated from 2:32 (see note there). burn incense. See note on 1:16. worthless idols. Lit. "nothing" (see Ps 31:6). The Hebrew for this phrase is different from that in either 2:5 or 2:8 (see note on 2:8). which made them stumble. See 2Ch 28:23. ancient paths. See note on 6:16. roads not built up. See note on Isa 35:8.

18:16 waste ... appalled. The same Hebrew root underlies both words. object of ... scorn. See 19:8; 25:9,18; 29:18; 51:37. The phrase implies hissing or whistling to express shock, ridicule and contempt. all ... appalled. See 19:8; 1Ki 9:8. shake their heads. See 48:27; Job 16:4 and note; see also Ps 44:14; 109:25.

18:17 wind from the east. See note on 4:11; see also Ps 48:7. show them my back and not my face. As the people themselves had done to God (see 2:27). His face symbolizes his gracious blessing and favor (see Nu 6:24–26).

18:18–23 The fifth of Jeremiah's "confessions" (see Introduction: Author and Date).

18:18 They. Jeremiah's enemies (see note on 17:15). plans against Jeremiah. See v. 12; 11:18–23; 12:6; 15:10–11,15–21. teaching of the law. Delegated to the priests (see note on Dt 31:11). priest ... wise ... prophets. See 8:8–10; see also Eze 7:26, where the wise are replaced by the elders. attack him with our tongues. See note on 9:3.

18:20 good ... repaid with evil. See Ps 35:12. dug a pit. Symbolic of his enemies' plots against him (see v. 22; Ps 57:6 and note; Pr 22:14; 23:27). stood before you. See note on 15:1. spoke in their behalf. See 14:7–9,21.

18:21 hand them over to the power of the sword. The Hebrew underlying this phrase occurs also in Ps 63:10; Eze 35:5. be put to death. Lit. "be slain by death," probably referring to plague, as in 15:2 (see note there).

18:22–23 See Ps 141:8–10.

18:23 you know, O LORD. See 12:3; 15:15. Do not forgive their crimes ... Let them be overthrown before you. A prayer not for human vengeance but for divine vindication. blot out. The Phoenician cognate of the Hebrew for this phrase appears in a ninth-century B.C. inscription on a gateway: "If ... a man ... blots out the name of Azitawadda from this gate ... may (the gods) wipe out ... that man!"

19:1–15 A jar deliberately broken by Jeremiah (vv. 1–10) symbolizes the forthcoming destruction of Judah and Jerusalem (vv. 11–15). In ch. 18, the potter's clay was still moist and pliable, making it possible to reshape and rework it (see 18:1–11). In ch. 19, however, the clay jar is hard and, if unsuitable for the owner's use, can only be destroyed (see v. 11).

19:1 jar. The Hebrew for this word implies a vessel with a narrow neck, perhaps the water decanter frequently found in excavations and ranging from 5 to 12 inches high. elders. See note on Ex 3:16. of the people. See 1Ki 8:1–3. of the priests. See 2Ki 19:2, "leading priests" (lit. "elders of the priests"). Elders in Israel were of two kinds, one performing primarily civil functions and the other primarily religious functions.

19:2 Valley of Ben Hinnom. See note on 7:31. Potsherd Gate. The Hebrew underlying the word "Potsherd" is the same as that translated "clay" in v. 1. The Jerusalem Targum identified the Potsherd Gate (so called because it overlooked the main dump for broken pottery) with the Dung Gate of Ne 2:13 (see note there); 3:13–14; 12:31.

19:3 kings. See note on 17:20. disaster ... make the ears ... tingle. Echoed from 2Ki 21:12 (see 1Sa 3:11). The phrase refers to the shock of hearing an announcement of threatened punishment.

the ears of everyone who hears of it tingle.[u] 4For they have forsaken[v] me and made this a place of foreign gods[w]; they have burned sacrifices[x] in it to gods that neither they nor their fathers nor the kings of Judah ever knew, and they have filled this place with the blood of the innocent.[y] 5They have built the high places of Baal to burn their sons[z] in the fire as offerings to Baal—something I did not command or mention, nor did it enter my mind.[a] 6So beware, the days are coming, declares the LORD, when people will no longer call this place Topheth[b] or the Valley of Ben Hinnom,[c] but the Valley of Slaughter.[d]

7" 'In this place I will ruin[g] the plans[e] of Judah and Jerusalem. I will make them fall by the sword before their enemies,[f] at the hands of those who seek their lives, and I will give their carcasses[g] as food[h] to the birds of the air and the beasts of the earth. 8I will devastate this city and make it an object of scorn;[i] all who pass by will be appalled[j] and will scoff because of all its wounds.[k] 9I will make them eat[l] the flesh of their sons and daughters, and they will eat one another's flesh during the stress of the siege imposed on them by the enemies[m] who seek their lives.'

10"Then break the jar[n] while those who go with you are watching, 11and say to them, 'This is what the LORD Almighty says: I will smash[o] this nation and this city just as this potter's jar is smashed and cannot be repaired. They will bury[p] the dead in Topheth until there is no more room. 12This is what I will do to this place and to those who live here, declares the LORD. I will make this city like Topheth. 13The houses[q] in Jerusalem and those of the kings of Judah will be defiled[r] like this place, Topheth—all the houses where they burned incense on the roofs[s] to all the starry hosts[t] and poured out drink offerings[u] to other gods.' "

14Jeremiah then returned from Topheth, where the LORD had sent him to prophesy, and stood in the court[v] of the LORD's temple and said to all the people, 15"This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'Listen! I am going to bring on this city and the villages around it every disaster[w] I pronounced against them, because they were stiff-necked[x] and would not listen[y] to my words.' " g7 The Hebrew for ruin sounds like the Hebrew for jar (see verses 1 and 10).

19:4 they. All who tried to combine the worship of idols with the worship of the one true God. this ... place. Jerusalem. burned sacrifices. The Hebrew for this phrase is always translated "burned incense" elsewhere in Jeremiah (see note on 1:16). filled this place with the blood of the innocent. The blood of godly people (see 2:34; 7:6; 22:3,17; 26:15), specifically as shed by wicked King Manasseh (see 15:4 and note; see also especially 2Ki 21:16).

19:5–6 Repeated in large part from 7:31–32 (see notes there).

19:7 ruin. Lit. "pour out"; see NIV text note (see also note on v. 1). As Jeremiah was saying this, he may have been pouring water from the jar to the ground (cf. 2Sa 14:14). fall by the sword before their enemies. The Babylonians are the instruments of the divine threat (see 20:6). carcasses as food ... beasts of the earth. See 7:33 and note.

19:8 Echoes the language of 18:16 (see note there; see also Eze 27:35; Zep 2:15). devastate ... appalled. The same Hebrew root underlies both words. scorn ... scoff. The same Hebrew root underlies both words.

19:9 One of the covenant curses (see Lev 26:29; Dt 28:53–57). eat the flesh of their sons and daughters ... eat one another's flesh. When Jerusalem's food supply ran out during the Babylonian siege in 586 B.C., cannibalism resulted (see La 2:20; 4:10; Eze 5:10). Such shocking activity was not unprecedented in Israel (see 2Ki 6:28–29), and it would occur again in A.D. 70 during the Roman siege of Jerusalem (see Zec 11:9 and note): "A woman ... who ... had fled to Jerusalem ... killed her son, roasted him, and ate one half, concealing and saving the rest" (Josephus, Jewish War, 6.3.4).

19:11 smash this nation ... as this potter's jar is smashed. Egyptians of the 12th Dynasty (1991–1786 B.C.) inscribed the names of their enemies on pottery bowls and then smashed them, hoping to break the power of their enemies by so doing. cannot be repaired. See note on vv. 1–15.

19:13 will be defiled like ... Topheth. King Josiah had earlier "desecrated Topheth" (2Ki 23:10). burned incense. See note on 1:16. on the roofs. See 32:29; see also note on Isa 15:3. The kings of Judah had built pagan altars on the roof of the palace in Jerusalem (see 2Ki 23:12). The Ugaritic Keret epic of the 14th century B.C. (see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii) describes a similar practice: "Go to the top of a tower, bestride the top of the wall ... Honor Baal with your sacrifice ... Then descend ... from the housetops." starry hosts. Worship of the sun, moon and stars was common in Judah throughout much of the later history of the monarchy (see, e.g., 2Ki 17:16; 21:3,5; 23:4–5; Zep 1:5). drink offerings to other gods. See note on 7:18.

19:14 all the people. A much larger audience than the elders of v. 1.

19:15 the villages around it. The towns of Judah that were dependent on Jerusalem (see 1:15; 9:11). were stiff-necked and would not listen. Repeated from 7:26 (see note there; see also 11:10).

20:1–6 Pashhur's response to Jeremiah's symbolic act (vv. 1–2), and Jeremiah's rejoinder (vv. 3–6).

20:1 Pashhur. One or more different men with the same name appear in 21:1; 38:1. Immer. Perhaps a descendant of the head of the 16th division of priests in the Jerusalem temple (see 1Ch 24:14). chief officer. The priest in charge of punishing troublemakers, real or imagined, in the temple courts (see v. 2; 29:26). The position was second only to that of the chief priest himself (compare 29:25–26 with 52:24).

temple of the LORD, heard Jeremiah prophesying these things, 2he had Jeremiah the prophet beaten[b] and put in the stocks[c] at the Upper Gate of Benjamin[d] at the LORD's temple. 3The next day, when Pashhur released him from the stocks, Jeremiah said to him, "The LORD's name[e] for you is not Pashhur, but Magor-Missabib.[h f] 4For this is what the LORD says: 'I will make you a terror to yourself and to all your friends; with your own eyes[g] you will see them fall by the sword of their enemies. I will hand[h] all Judah over to the king of Babylon, who will carry[i] them away to Babylon or put them to the sword. 5I will hand over to their enemies all the wealth[j] of this city—all its products, all its valuables and all the treasures of the kings of Judah. They will take it away[k] as plunder and carry it off to Babylon. 6And you, Pashhur, and all who live in your house will go into exile to Babylon. There you will die and be buried, you and all your friends to whom you have prophesied[l] lies.' "

Jeremiah's Complaint

7O LORD, you deceived[l m] me, and I was deceived[l];
you overpowered[n] me and prevailed.
I am ridiculed[o] all day long;
everyone mocks[p] me.
8Whenever I speak, I cry out proclaiming violence and destruction.[q]
So the word of the LORD has brought me insult and reproach[r] all day long.
9But if I say, "I will not mention him or speak any more in his name,"[s] his word is in my heart like a fire,[t] a fire shut up in my bones.
I am weary of holding it in;[u]
indeed, I cannot.
10I hear many whispering,
"Terror[v] on every side!
Report[w] him! Let's report him!"
All my friends[x]
are waiting for me to slip,[y] saying,
"Perhaps he will be deceived;
then we will prevail[z] over him and take our revenge[a] on him."

11But the LORD[b] is with me like a mighty warrior;
so my persecutors[c] will stumble and not prevail.[d]
They will fail and be thoroughly disgraced;[e] their dishonor will never be forgotten.
12O LORD Almighty, you who examine the righteous

[h] 3 Magor-Missabib means terror on every side. [l] 7 Or persuaded

20:2 The first of many recorded acts of physical violence against Jeremiah. the prophet. The first time Jeremiah is so called in the book (see Introduction: Themes and Message), here to stress the enormity of Pashhur's actions. beaten. Probably in accordance with the Mosaic law of Dt 25:2–3 (see note on Dt 25:3). stocks. Lit. "restraint, confinement" (the Hebrew for this word is translated "prison" in 2Ch 16:10). Upper Gate of Benjamin. Probably the same as the "north gate of the inner court" (Eze 8:3; see 2Ki 15:35; see also Eze 9:2). at the LORD's temple. The qualifying phrase distinguishes the temple's Gate of Benjamin from the "Benjamin Gate" in the city wall (37:13; 38:7). Both gates were in the northern part of the city, facing the territory of Benjamin.

20:3 Magor-Missabib. See NIV text note; see also note on 6:25. The phrase "terror on every side" (see v. 10) is found in the plural in La 2:22.

20:4 Pashhur's new name symbolizes terror to all Judah, whose people will be exiled to Babylonia or put to death. friends. Associates and allies in the sense of covenant partners (see v. 6). king of Babylon. Nebuchadnezzar, who acceded to the Babylonian throne in 605 B.C. (see notes on 17:15; 18:1–20:18).

20:5 Fulfilled in 597 B.C. (see 2Ki 24:13) and in 586 (see 52:17–23; 2Ki 25:13–17).

20:6 you, Pashhur, . . . will go into exile. Probably in 597 B.C., because shortly after that year (see 29:2) two other men in succession had replaced Pashhur as chief officer in the temple (see 29:25–26). you have prophesied lies. The priest Pashhur had pretended to be a prophet.

20:7–18 The sixth, last and longest of Jeremiah's "confessions" (see Introduction: Author and Date). In some respects, it is the most daring and bitter of them all.

20:7 Cf. 15:18. deceived. Lit. "seduced" (Ex 22:16) or "enticed" (1Ki 22:20–22); see v. 10. Jeremiah feels that when the Lord originally called him to be a prophet, he had overly persuaded him (see NIV text note; see also 1:7–8,17–19; cf. Eze 14:9).

20:8 Jeremiah attributes his suffering to the Lord's demands on his life. violence and destruction. The prophet's message echoes the Lord's word (see 6:7). reproach. See Ps 44:13; 79:4.

20:9 A classic description of prophetic reluctance overcome by divine compulsion (see 1:6–8; Am 3:8; Ac 4:20; 1Co 9:16). his word is . . . like a fire. See 5:14; 23:29. The figure is unique to the prophet Jeremiah (see also La 1:13).

20:10 The Hebrew of the first two lines is identical with that of the first two lines of Ps 31:13. Terror on every side! See note on 6:25. The phrase is here used as a nickname for Jeremiah in the light of his doleful message. friends. Lit. "men of my peace/welfare" (a similar Hebrew phrase appears in Ps 41:9, where it is translated "close friend"). waiting for me to slip. See Ps 35:15; 38:16. deceived. See v. 7 and note. we will prevail over him. Or so they think (see v. 11). take our revenge on him. His enemies will not give up, no matter what it takes (see 11:19; 12:6; 26:11; cf. Ps 56:5–6; 71:10).

20:11 the LORD is with me. See 1:8 and note. mighty. The Hebrew for this word is translated "cruel" in 15:21, where it describes Jeremiah's enemies. Here it has a different nuance and is applied to God, whose "might" overcomes all "cruelty." warrior. See notes on Ex 14:14; 15:3.

20:12 Repeated almost verbatim from 11:20.

God Rejects Zedekiah's Request

21 The word came to Jeremiah from the LORD when King Zedekiah[s] sent to him Pashhur[t] son of Malkijah and the priest Zephaniah[u] son of Maaseiah. They said: [2]"Inquire[v] now of the LORD for us because Nebuchadnezzar[j][w] king of Babylon[x] is attacking us. Perhaps the LORD will perform wonders[y] for us as in times past so that he will withdraw from us."

[3]But Jeremiah answered them, "Tell Zedekiah, [4]'This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: I am about to turn[z] against you the weapons of war that are in your hands, which you are using to fight the king of Babylon and the Babylonians[k] who are outside the wall besieging[a] you. 20:13 Sing . . . Give praise. See 31:7; see also introduction to Ps 9. rescues . . . from the hands of the wicked. See 15:21; 21:12. needy. See 22:16. By Jeremiah's time, "poor/needy" had become virtually synonymous with "righteous" (see Am 2:6; see also notes on Ps 9:18; 34:6).

20:14–18 See Job 3:3–19. From the heights of exultation (v. 13), Jeremiah now sinks to the depths of despair. The irreversibility of his divine call (v. 9), the betrayal of his friends (v. 10), the relentless pursuit of his enemies (vv. 7,11), the negative and condemnatory nature of his message (v. 8)—all have combined to bring to his lips a startling expression of despondency and hopelessness. The passage serves also as a transition to the next major section of the book. Judah and Jerusalem, Jeremiah will soon say, are now irrevocably doomed (see 21:1–10).

20:14 Cursed be the day I was born! See note on Job 3:3. The prophet questions the very basis of his divine commission (see 1:5).

20:15 News of the birth of a son, normally a blessing in ancient times (see, e.g., Ge 29:31–35), Jeremiah sees as a curse in his own case. Cursed be the man. A rhetorical curse, not directed against the man personally.

20:16 towns the LORD overthrew. Sodom and Gomorrah (see Ge 19:24–25,29). By Jeremiah's time, their wickedness had long been proverbial (see 23:14; Dt 29:23; see also note on Isa 1:9–10). battle cry. See 4:19. at noon. See note on 6:4.

20:17 enlarged. Lit. "pregnant." In his anguish, Jeremiah wishes that his mother's womb, which gave him birth, had been instead his eternal tomb.

21:1–24:10 The prophet denounces Judah's rulers (21:1–23:7), false prophets (23:8–40) and sinful people (ch. 24). Although for the most part chs. 1–20 relate events in chronological order, chs. 21–52 are arranged on the basis of subject matter rather than chronology (see 24:1; 25:1; 26:1; 27:1; 29:2; 32:1; 35:1; 36:1; 37:1; 45:1; 49:34; 51:59; 52:4).

21:1–23:7 The rulers of Judah, who bear the primary responsibility for the nation's economic, social and spiritual ills, are the first to be denounced by Jeremiah.

21:1 The word came. The phrase does not appear again until 25:1, suggesting that chs. 21–24 constitute an integral section in the book. Zedekiah. Means "The LORD is my righteousness." See Introduction: Background. Pashhur son of Malkijah. Not the same as the Pashhur of 20:1–6 (see 38:1). the priest Zephaniah son of Maaseiah. Not the same as the prophet Zephaniah (see 29:25,29; 37:3; 52:24; see also Zep 1:1).

21:2 Inquire . . . of the LORD. A request for knowledge or information (see Ge 25:22; 2Ki 22:13), not necessarily for help. Nebuchadnezzar. See NIV text note. The name means "O Nabu [a god], protect my son/boundary!" He was the most famous ruler (605–562 B.C.) of the Neo-Babylonian empire (612–539). is attacking. About 588, because the brash Zedekiah had rebelled against Babylon (see 52:3). us. Jerusalem. perform wonders . . . as in times past. For example, in the days of Hezekiah (see Isa 37:36). he will withdraw. See Isa 37:37.

21:4 turn against you the weapons. Your defense of Jerusalem will fail. Babylonians. See NIV text note; see also note on Job 1:17. gather them inside this city. Either (1) the weapons, meaning that Judah's troops would be totally unable to defend the approaches to the city, or (2) the Babylonians, meaning that Jerusalem's defeat is imminent and inevitable.

21:5 I myself will fight against you. The Lord, usually his people's defender, will now destroy them and seal their doom. with an outstretched hand and a mighty arm. See 27:5; 32:17. A similar phrase is used to describe God's powerful redemption of Israel at the exodus (see 32:21; Dt 4:34; 5:15; 7:19; 26:8), but here God turns his wrath against his own people. in anger and fury and great wrath. Probably quoted from Dt 29:28, where the Hebrew for this phrase is translated "in furious anger and in great wrath."

plague.[f] 7After that, declares the LORD, I will hand over Zedekiah[g] king of Judah, his officials and the people in this city who survive the plague,[h] sword and famine, to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon[i] and to their enemies[j] who seek their lives.[k] He will put them to the sword;[l] he will show them no mercy or pity or compassion.'[m]

8"Furthermore, tell the people, 'This is what the LORD says: See, I am setting before you the way of life[n] and the way of death. 9Whoever stays in this city will die by the sword, famine or plague.[o] But whoever goes out and surrenders[p] to the Babylonians who are besieging you will live; he will escape with his life.[q] 10I have determined to do this city harm[r] and not good, declares the LORD. It will be given into the hands[s] of the king of Babylon, and he will destroy it with fire.'[t]

11"Moreover, say to the royal house[u] of Judah, 'Hear the word of the LORD; 12O house of David, this is what the LORD says:

" 'Administer justice[v] every morning;
rescue from the hand of his oppressor[w]
the one who has been robbed, or my wrath will break out and burn because of the evil[y] you have 13I am against[a] you, Jerusalem, you who live above this valley[b]

declares the LORD—
you who say, "Who can come against us?
Who can enter our refuge?"[c] 14I will punish you as your deeds[d] deserve,
declares the LORD.
I will kindle a fire[e] in your forests[f] that will consume everything around you.' "

Judgment Against Evil Kings

22 This is what the LORD says: "Go down to the palace of the king[g] of Judah and proclaim this message there: 2'Hear[h] the word of the LORD, O king of Judah, you who sit on David's throne[i]—you, your officials and your people who come through these gates.[j] 3This is what the LORD says: Do what is just[k] and right. Rescue from the hand of his oppressor[l] the one who has been robbed. Do no wrong or violence to the alien, the fatherless or the widow,[m] and do not shed innocent blood[n] in this place. 4For if you are careful to carry out these commands, then kings[o] who sit

21:7 I will hand over Zedekiah ... his officials and the people. Fulfilled in 52:8–11,24–27 (see Eze 12:13–14). plague, sword and famine. See v. 9. For this triad see note on 14:12. no mercy or pity or compassion. For this triad see 13:14; see also Eze 5:11. The three triads here heighten the literary effect of the passage.

21:8–10 See 27:12–13. Similar advice is offered in 38:2–3,17–18 (see Dt 30:15–20).

21:8 See, I am setting before you. See Dt 11:26. The people are offered a choice, but few of them will make the right decision. the way of life and the way of death. See Dt 30:15,19; see also Pr 6:23.

21:9 Repeated almost verbatim in 38:2. Jeremiah's counsel of surrender branded him as a traitor in the eyes of many (see 37:13), but he was in fact a true patriot who wanted to stay in Judah even after Jerusalem was destroyed (see 37:14; 40:6; 42:7–22). whoever ... surrenders to the Babylonians ... will live. Fulfilled in 39:9; 52:15. he will escape with his life. Lit. "his life will be his (only) booty." The victorious in battle can expect to share plunder; the defeated are fortunate indeed if their lives are spared.

21:12 Administer justice. See 5:28; 22:16; 1Ki 3:28; La 3:59. The king was obliged and expected to do so, as was the future Messiah (see 23:5; 33:15). every morning. When the mind is clear and the day is cool (court sessions were held outside, at the city gate; see notes on Ge 19:1; Ru 4:1). rescue ... robbed. Repeated in 22:3. or my wrath ... no one to quench it. Repeated verbatim from 4:4 (see Am 5:6). wrath will ... burn. See 15:14; 17:4,27.

21:13 valley. Jerusalem, surrounded on three sides by valleys (see note on Isa 22:7), is called the "Valley of Vision" in Isa 22:1,5. rocky plateau. Mount Zion. you who say. The pronouns are plural in the second half of the verse (referring to Jerusalem's inhabitants), singular in the first half (referring to Jerusalem personified). Who can come against us? The people think that no one can successfully besiege them (see notes on 7:4; 8:19).

21:14 as your deeds deserve. See note on 17:10. kindle a fire ... consume. See note on 17:27. forests. The Hebrew for this word is singular and perhaps refers figuratively to Jerusalem's royal palace, called the "Palace of the Forest of Lebanon" (1Ki 7:2; 10:17,21; see Isa 22:8) because of the cedar (see 22:7,14,15,23) used in its construction. The palace (see 22:1) is compared to the "summit of Lebanon" in 22:6 (see 22:23 and NIV text note).

22:1 Go down. The palace was at a lower elevation than the temple (see 26:10; 36:10–12).

22:2 king of Judah. Probably Zedekiah (see 21:3,7; compare v. 3 with 21:12), whose predecessors are mentioned in sequence later in the chapter (Josiah, vv. 10a,15b–16; Jehoahaz/Shallum, vv. 10b–12; Jehoiakim, vv. 13–15a,17–19; Jehoiachin/Coniah, vv. 24–30). David's throne. Though all the kings of the Davidic dynasty failed to a greater or lesser degree, the victorious Messiah would someday appear as the culmination of David's royal line (see 23:5 and NIV text note; 33:15; Eze 34:23–24; Mt 1:1). who come through these gates. See 17:25 and note.

22:3 Contrast Isa 11:3–5 with Eze 22:6–7.

22:4 Repeated in part from 17:25.

on David's throne will come through the gates of this palace, riding in chariots and on horses, accompanied by their officials and their people. 5But if you do not obey[p] these commands, declares the LORD, I swear[q] by myself that this palace will become a ruin.' "

6For this is what the LORD says about the palace of the king of Judah:

"Though you are like Gilead[r] to me,
like the summit of Lebanon,[s]
I will surely make you like a desert,[t]
like towns not inhabited.
7I will send destroyers[u] against you,
each man with his weapons,
and they will cut[v] up your fine cedar beams and throw them into the fire.[w]

8"People from many nations will pass by this city and will ask one another, 'Why has the LORD done such a thing to this great city?'[x] 9And the answer will be: 'Because they have forsaken the covenant of the LORD their God and have worshiped and served other gods.[y]' "

10Do not weep for the dead[z] ⌊king⌋ or mourn[a] his loss;
rather, weep bitterly for him who is exiled, because he will never return[b]
nor see his native land again.

11For this is what the LORD says about Shallum[1c] son of Josiah, who succeeded his father as king of Judah but has gone from this place: "He will never return. 12He will die[d] in the place where they have led him captive; he will not see this land again."

13"Woe[e] to him who builds[f] his palace by unrighteousness, his upper rooms by injustice,
making his countrymen work for nothing,
not paying[g] them for their labor.
14He says, 'I will build myself a great palace[h]
with spacious upper rooms.'
So he makes large windows in it, panels it with cedar[i]
and decorates it in red.[j]

15"Does it make you a king to have more and more cedar?
Did not your father have food and drink?
He did what was right and just,[k]
so all went well[l] with him.
16He defended the cause of the poor and needy,[m]
and so all went well.
Is that not what it means to know[n] me?"
declares the LORD.
17"But your eyes and your heart are set only on dishonest gain,[o] on shedding innocent blood[p]
and on oppression and extortion."[q]

18Therefore this is what the LORD says about Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah:

22:5 See 17:27 and note. swear by myself. See notes on Ge 22:16; Isa 45:23; see also 49:13; 51:14; cf. 44:26. become a ruin. Fulfilled in 52:13 (see 27:17).

22:6 Gilead . . . Lebanon. Renowned for their forests. Lebanon in particular supplied cedar for the royal palace (see note on 21:14; see also 1Ki 5:6,8–10; 7:2–3; 10:27).

22:7 send. Lit. "consecrate" (see note on 6:4). destroyers. The Babylonians (see note on 4:7; see also 12:12). each man with his weapons. See Eze 9:2. cut up your . . . cedar. Cf. Isa 10:33–34; cf. especially the vivid description of the Babylonian troops smashing the carved paneling of the Jerusalem temple with their axes and hatchets (Ps 74:3–6).

22:8–9 Echoed in 1Ki 9:8–9; see Dt 29:24–26.

22:9 forsaken the covenant . . . and served other gods. A gross violation of the first and second stipulations of the Mosaic covenant (see Ex 20:3–5 and notes).

22:10 weep for the dead king. Josiah, who was mourned long after his death (see 2Ch 35:24–25). him who is exiled. Jehoahaz/Shallum. In 609 B.C., Pharaoh Neco "carried him off to Egypt, and there he died" (2Ki 23:34).

22:11 Shallum. See 1Ch 3:15. "Shallum" was his personal name, "Jehoahaz" his throne name (the latter means "The LORD seizes").

22:12 the place where they have led him captive. Egypt (see note on v. 10).

22:13–19 A scathing denunciation of King Jehoiakim, who is described in the third person (vv. 13–14), then rhetorically addressed in the second person (vv. 15,17), then identified by name (v. 18), meaning "The LORD raises up." Good King Josiah is referred to in vv. 15b–16 by way of contrast.

22:13 Woe to him who builds. See Hab 2:9,12. by unrighteousness . . . by injustice. Contrast v. 3; 21:12. upper rooms. See note on Jdg 3:20. making his countrymen work for nothing. Contrary to the law (see Lev 25:39; Dt 24:14–15). Jehoiakim's refusal to pay them may have been due partly to inability, since Judah was under heavy tribute to Egypt during the early part of his reign (see 2Ki 23:35).

22:14 large windows. The windows described here may well be the same as those found in the ruins of Beth Hakkerem (see 6:1; see also note on Ne 3:14) by archaeologists in the early 1960s. panels. Haggai similarly deplores the use of paneling as an extravagant and unneeded luxury in certain situations (see Hag 1:4).

22:15 your father. Josiah. have food and drink. Enjoy life (see Ecc 2:24–25; 3:12–13). did what was right and just. Like his ancestor David (see 2Sa 8:15); contrast v. 13 (see note there).

22:16 James defines a proper relationship to God in similar terms (see Jas 1:27); contrast 5:28 (see note there). poor and needy. See note on 20:13. to know me. To love God fully, which results in living a pious life and serving those in need (see Dt 10:12–13; Hos 6:6; Mic 6:8).

22:17 your. Jehoiakim's (see v. 18). dishonest gain. See 6:13; 8:10. shedding innocent blood. See note on 19:4; for an illustration of Jehoiakim's cruelty in this regard see 26:20–23. oppression. See v. 3; 6:6; 21:12.

22:18 Contrast 2Ch 35:24–25. They will not mourn for him: "Alas, my brother!" Contrast 1Ki 13:30.

"They will not mourn[r] for him:
'Alas, my brother! Alas, my sister!'
They will not mourn for him:
'Alas, my master! Alas, his splendor!'
19He will have the burial[s] of a donkey—dragged away and thrown[t]
outside the gates of Jerusalem."

20"Go up to Lebanon and cry out,[u] let your voice be heard in Bashan,[v] cry out from Abarim,[w]
for all your allies[x] are crushed.
21I warned you when you felt secure,[y]
but you said, 'I will not listen!'
This has been your way from your youth;[z]
you have not obeyed[a] me.
22The wind[b] will drive all your shepherds[c] away,
and your allies[d] will go into exile.
Then you will be ashamed and disgraced[e]
because of all your wickedness.
23You who live in 'Lebanon,[m][f]' who are nestled in cedar buildings, how you will groan when pangs come upon you,
pain[g] like that of a woman in labor!

24"As surely as I live," declares the LORD, "even if you, Jehoiachin[n][h] son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, were a signet ring[i] on my right hand, I would still pull you off. 25I will hand you over[j] to those who seek your life, those you fear—to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and to the Babylonians.[o] 26I will hurl[k] you and the mother[l] who gave you birth into another country, where neither of you was born, and there you both will die. 27You will never come back to the land you long to return[m] to."

28Is this man Jehoiachin[n] a despised, broken pot,[o]
an object no one wants?
Why will he and his children be hurled[p] out, cast into a land[q] they do not know?
29O land,[r] land, land,
hear the word of the LORD!
30This is what the LORD says:
"Record this man as if childless,[s] a man who will not prosper[t] in his lifetime, for none of his offspring[u] will prosper, none will sit on the throne[v] of David or rule anymore in Judah."

22:19 burial of a donkey. Tantamount to no burial at all (see 36:30); fulfilled in 2Ki 24:6, where no burial is described and where it says that Jehoiakim "rested with his fathers," a euphemism for dying (see notes on Ge 25:8; 1Ki 1:21). dragged away. See 15:3.

22:20–23 The Lord speaks to Jerusalem, which is personified as a woman (see v. 23).

22:20 Lebanon ... Bashan ... Abarim. Mountainous regions (see v. 6; Nu 27:12; 33:47–48; Dt 32:49; Jdg 3:3; Ps 68:15), the first two in the north and the third in the south, suitable heights from which the whole land of Israel could be rhetorically addressed. allies. Lit. "lovers" (see 4:30 and note), here referring to nations joined together by treaty. Judah's onetime allies included Egypt, Assyria (see 2:36), Edom, Moab, Ammon and Phoenicia (see 27:3), all of whom had been—or soon would be—conquered by Babylonia (see 27:6–7; 28:14). crushed. See 14:17.

22:21 not listen ... not obeyed me. See 7:22–26; 11:7–8. your youth. The days of Israel's early history in Egypt (see 2:2 and note; Hos 2:15).

22:22 drive ... shepherds ... wickedness. The Hebrew root is the same for the first two words, and that of the third is very similar. For "shepherds" see 2:8 and note; 10:21; 23:1–4. The initial fulfillment of this verse took place in 597 B.C. (see 2Ki 24:12–16). wind will drive ... away. See 13:24; Job 27:21; Isa 27:8.

22:23 Lebanon ... cedar. See NIV text note; see also 21:14 and note; Eze 17:3–4,12. pain like that of a woman in labor. See 4:31; 6:24; 13:21; see also note on 4:19.

22:24–30 A prophecy against King Jehoiachin (fulfilled in 24:1; 29:2), who was also known as Coniah (see NIV text note on v. 24), a shortened form of Jeconiah (see NIV text note on 24:1); see Introduction: Background. All three forms of the name mean "The LORD establishes."

22:24 As surely as I live. See note on Ge 42:15. even if you ... were a signet ring. The curse on Jehoiachin is apparently reversed in Hag 2:23 (see note there).

22:25 hand you over to ... those you fear. Contrast 39:17.

22:26 Fulfilled in 597 B.C. (see 29:2; 2Ki 24:15). hurl ... into another country. Send into exile in Babylonia (see 7:15; 16:13; Dt 29:28). you and the mother who gave you birth. Jehoiachin and Nehushta (see note on 13:18).

22:28 A rhetorical question, answered in v. 30. broken pot ... hurled out. Jehoiachin and his descendants, like Judah itself (see 19:10–11), are under God's judgment. he and his children. Though Jehoiachin was only 18 years old at the time of his exile (see 2Ki 24:8), he already had more than one wife (see 2Ki 24:15) and therefore probably one or more children.

22:29 land, land, land. The repetition implies the strongest possible emphasis and intensity (see 7:4; 23:30–32; Eze 21:27; see also note on Isa 6:3).

22:30 as if childless. Not in the sense of Jehoiachin's having no children at all (he had at least seven; see 1Ch 3:17–18), but of having none to sit on the throne of David in Judah. Jehoiachin's grandson Zerubbabel (1Ch 3:17–19; Mt 1:12) became governor of Judah (see Hag 1:1), but not king. Zedekiah was a son of Josiah (see 37:1), not of Jehoiachin, and he and his sons died before the latter (see 52:10–11). Jehoiachin therefore was Judah's last surviving Davidic king—until Christ.

The Righteous Branch

23 "Woe to the shepherds[w] who are destroying and scattering[x] the sheep of my pasture!"[y] declares the LORD. 2Therefore this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says to the shepherds[z] who tend my people: "Because you have scattered my flock[a] and driven them away and have not bestowed care on them, I will bestow punishment on you for the evil[b] you have done," declares the LORD. 3"I myself will gather the remnant[c] of my flock out of all the countries where I have driven them and will bring them back to their pasture,[d] where they will be fruitful and increase in number. 4I will place shepherds[e] over them who will tend them, and they will no longer be afraid[f] or terrified, nor will any be missing,[g]" declares the LORD.

5"The days are coming," declares the LORD,
"when I will raise up to David[p] a righteous Branch,[h] a King[i] who will reign[j] wisely and do what is just and right[k] in the land.
6In his days Judah will be saved and Israel will live in safety.[l]
This is the name[m] by which he will be called:
The LORD Our Righteousness.[n]

7"So then, the days are coming,"[o] declares the LORD, "when people will no longer say, 'As surely as the LORD lives, who brought the Israelites up out of Egypt,'[p] 8but they will say, 'As surely as the LORD lives, who brought the descendants of Israel up out of the land of the north and out of all the countries where he had banished them.' Then they will live in their own land."[q]

Lying Prophets

9Concerning the prophets:

My heart[r] is broken within me;
all my bones tremble.[s]
I am like a drunken man,
like a man overcome by wine, because of the LORD
and his holy words.[t] 10The land is full of adulterers;[u] because of the curse[q][v] the land lies parched[r] and the pastures[w] in the desert are withered.[x]
The ⌞prophets⌟ follow an evil course and use their power unjustly.

[p] 5 Or up from David's line [q] 10 Or because of these things [r] 10 Or land mourns

23:1–8 A summary statement (probably dating to Zedekiah's reign; see note on v. 6) that includes God's intention to judge the wicked rulers and leaders of Judah (vv. 1–2), to ultimately bring his people back from exile (vv. 3–4,7–8), and to raise up an ideal Davidic King (vv. 5–6).

23:1 See 10:21 and note. sheep. The people of Judah (see v. 2).

23:2 bestowed care ... bestow punishment. The same Hebrew root underlies both phrases (see v. 4 and note). What Judah's rulers had failed to do is summarized in Eze 34:4.

23:3 remnant. See notes on 6:9; Isa 10:20–22. I have driven. Although Judah's sins and the sins of their leaders had caused them to be "driven ... away" (v. 2) into exile, the Lord himself ultimately carried out the results of his people's repeated violations of their covenant commitments. be fruitful and increase. See note on Ge 1:28.

23:4 be afraid ... terrified. The absence of a concerned shepherd invites attacks by wild animals (see Eze 34:8). be missing. See Nu 31:49. The Hebrew root underlying this phrase is the same as that for "bestowed care" and "bestow punishment" in v. 2 (see note there).

23:5–6 One of the most important Messianic passages in Jeremiah, echoed in 33:15–16.

23:5 raise up. See 2Sa 7:12; see also 30:9; Eze 34:23–24; 37:24. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "place" in v. 4. to David. See NIV text note; see also Mt 1:1 and NIV text note on Mt 1:17. The Messiah, unlike any previous descendant of David, would be the ideal King. He would sum up in himself all the finest qualities of the best rulers, and infinitely more. Branch. A Messianic title (see note on Isa 4:2). The Targum (ancient Aramaic paraphrase) reads "Messiah" here. reign wisely. See note on Isa 52:13. do what is just and right. See 22:3,15; said also of King David (see 2Sa 8:15).

23:6 Judah ... and Israel. God's reunited people will be restored (see Eze 37:15–22). be saved ... live in safety. The deliverance will be both spiritual and physical (see Dt 33:28–29). The LORD Our Righteousness. Although Zedekiah did not live up to the meaning of his name, "The LORD is my righteousness," Jesus the Messiah would bestow on his people the abundant blessings (see Eze 34:25–31) that come from the hands of a King who does "what is just and right" (v. 5).

23:7–8 Repeated almost verbatim from 16:14–15 (see notes there).

23:9–40 False prophets denounced (see 2:8; 4:9; 5:30–31; 6:13–15; 8:10–12; 14:13–15; 18:18–23; 26:8,11,16; 27–28; Isa 28:7–13; Eze 13; Mic 3:5–12).

23:9 Concerning. Introduces headings also in 46:2; 48:1; 49:1,7,23,28. his holy words. Contrast the unholy words of the false prophets (see vv. 16–18).

23:10 See Isa 24:4–6. adulterers. See 5:7–8; 9:2; see also note on 2:20. curse. Brought on by violating the Lord's covenant (see 11:3 and note; 11:8). parched ... withered. See 12:4 and note. To worship other gods is to deny to the land the fertility that only the Lord can bring (see Hos 2:5–8,21–22; Am 4:4–9). pastures in the desert. See note on 9:10. evil course. Evil because it is their own and not God's (see 8:6).

23:11 even in my temple ... wickedness. For examples see 32:34; 2Ki 16:10–14; 21:5; Eze 8:5,10,14,16.

even in my temple[z] I find their wickedness,"
declares the LORD.
12"Therefore their path will become slippery;[a] they will be banished to darkness and there they will fall.
I will bring disaster on them in the year they are punished,[b]"
declares the LORD.

13"Among the prophets of Samaria
I saw this repulsive thing:
They prophesied by Baal[c]
and led my people Israel astray.[d] 14And among the prophets of Jerusalem
I have seen something horrible:[e]
They commit adultery and live a lie.[f]
They strengthen the hands of evildoers,[g]
so that no one turns from his wickedness.[h]
They are all like Sodom[i] to me;
the people of Jerusalem are like Gomorrah."[j]

15Therefore, this is what the LORD Almighty says concerning the prophets:

"I will make them eat bitter food and drink poisoned water,[k] because from the prophets of Jerusalem
ungodliness[l] has spread throughout the land."

16This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"Do not listen[m] to what the prophets are prophesying to you;
they fill you with false hopes.
They speak visions[n] from their own minds,
not from the mouth[o] of the LORD.
17They keep saying[p] to those who despise me,
'The LORD says: You will have peace.'[q]
And to all who follow the stubbornness[r] of their hearts they say, 'No harm[s] will come to
you.'
18But which of them has stood in the council[t] of the LORD to see or to hear his word?
Who has listened and heard his word?
19See, the storm[u] of the LORD
will burst out in wrath,
a whirlwind[v] swirling down
on the heads of the wicked.
20The anger[w] of the LORD will not turn back[x]
until he fully accomplishes
the purposes of his heart.
In days to come
you will understand it clearly.
21I did not send[y] these prophets, yet they have run with their message;
I did not speak to them,
yet they have prophesied.
22But if they had stood in my council,[z] they would have proclaimed[a] my words to my people
and would have turned[b] them from their evil ways
and from their evil deeds.[c]

23"Am I only a God nearby,[d]"
declares the LORD,
"and not a God far away?
24Can anyone hide[e] in secret places so that I cannot see him?"
declares the LORD.
"Do not I fill heaven and earth?"[f]
declares the LORD.

who prophesy lies[g] in my name. They

23:14 They ... live a lie. See 14:13. strengthen the hands of. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "encouraged" in Eze 13:22. no one turns from his wickedness. See Eze 13:22. like Sodom ... like Gomorrah. See note on 20:16.
23:15 I will make ... poisoned water. Repeated almost verbatim from 9:15 (see note there). ungodliness. See v. 11.
23:16 visions. "Revelations" or "prophecies" (see 1Sa 3:1; Pr 29:18; Isa 1:1; Ob 1). from their own minds. See v. 26; 14:14. False prophets are like preachers of a "different gospel" (Gal 1:6–9).
23:17 You will have peace. The essential message of the false prophets (see 6:14 and note; 8:11; 14:13 and note; cf. 28:8–9). stubbornness of their hearts. See note on 3:17.
23:18 council of the LORD. God's heavenly confidants (see v. 22; Job 15:7–10 and note; see also 1Ki 22:19–22; Job 1:6; 2:1; 29:4 and note; Ps 89:7). In Am 3:7 the Hebrew for "council" is translated "plan," the purposes that God has promised to reveal to his chosen servants (see v. 20).
23:19–20 Repeated almost verbatim in 30:23–24.
23:19 storm ... whirlwind. A vivid image of God's wrath.
23:20 you will understand it clearly. Unlike the false prophets, who continued to mislead their hearers even in Babylonia after the exile of 597 B.C. (see 29:20–23).
23:21 I did not send. See v. 32; 29:9; contrast 1:7; Isa 6:8; Eze 3:5. did not speak to them. See 29:23.
23:22 my council. See note on v. 18.
23:23 God nearby ... God far away. God is both transcendent and immanent; he lives "in a high and holy place, but also with him who is ... lowly in spirit" (Isa 57:15).
23:24 hide ... so that I cannot see him. See Job 26:6; Ps 139:7–12; Am 9:2–4. I fill heaven and earth. See Isa 66:1.
23:25 lies. See 5:12. in my name. See Dt 18:20,22. dream. Usually not a means of divine revelation to a true prophet (see 27:9; Dt 13:1–3; 1Sa 28:6; Zec 10:2; but cf. Nu 12:6; Joel 2:28).

say, 'I had a dream![h] I had a dream!' [26]How long will this continue in the hearts of these lying prophets, who prophesy the delusions[i] of their own minds?[j] [27]They think the dreams they tell one another will make my people forget[k] my name, just as their fathers forgot[l] my name through Baal worship.[m] [28]Let the prophet who has a dream[n] tell his dream, but let the one who has my word[o] speak it faithfully. For what has straw to do with grain?" declares the LORD. [29]"Is not my word like fire,"[p] declares the LORD, "and like a hammer[q] that breaks a rock in pieces?

[30]"Therefore," declares the LORD, "I am against[r] the prophets[s] who steal from one another words supposedly from me. [31]Yes," declares the LORD, "I am against the prophets who wag their own tongues and yet declare, 'The LORD declares.'[t] [32]Indeed, I am against those who prophesy false dreams,[u]" declares the LORD. "They tell them and lead my people astray[v] with their reckless lies,[w] yet I did not send[x] or appoint them. They do not benefit[y] these people in the least," declares the LORD.

False Oracles and False Prophets

[33]"When these people, or a prophet or a priest, ask you, 'What is the oracle[z] of the LORD?' say to them, 'What oracle?[t] I will forsake[a] you, declares the LORD.' [34]If a prophet or a priest or anyone else claims, 'This is the oracle[b] of the LORD,' I will punish[c] that man and his household. [35]This is what each of you keeps on saying to his friend or relative: 'What is the LORD's answer?'[d] or 'What has the LORD spoken?' [36]But you must not mention 'the oracle of the LORD' again, because every man's own word becomes his oracle and so you distort[e] the words of the living God,[f] the LORD Almighty, our God. [37]This is what you keep saying to a prophet: 'What is the LORD's answer to you?' or 'What has the LORD spoken?' [38]Although you claim, 'This is the oracle of the LORD,' this is what the LORD says: You used the words, 'This is the oracle of the LORD,' even though I told you that you must not claim, 'This is the oracle of the LORD.' [39]Therefore, I will surely forget you and cast[g] you out of my presence along with the city I gave to you and your fathers. [40]I will bring upon you everlasting disgrace[h]—everlasting shame that will not be forgotten."

Two Baskets of Figs

24 After Jehoiachin[u][i] son of Jehoiakim king of Judah and the officials, the craftsmen and the artisans of Judah were carried into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, the LORD showed me two baskets of figs[j] placed in front of the temple of the LORD. [2]One basket had very good figs, like those that ripen early;[k] the other basket had very poor[l] figs, so bad they could not be eaten.

[s]33 Or burden (see Septuagint and Vulgate)
[t]33 Hebrew; Septuagint and Vulgate You are the burden. (The Hebrew for oracle and burden is the same.)
[u]1 Hebrew Jeconiah, a variant of Jehoiachin

23:26 hearts . . . minds. The Hebrew is the same for both words. their own minds. See note on v. 16.

23:27 my name. To forget the Lord's name is tantamount to forgetting him. forgot . . . through Baal worship. When Judah's ancestors forgot God, they began to serve Baal (see Jdg 3:7; 1Sa 12:9–10).

23:28–29 The true word of God is symbolized in three figures of speech (grain, fire, hammer).

23:28 straw . . . grain. Of the two, only grain can feed and nourish (see note on 15:16).

23:29 like fire. See note on 20:9. The fire of the divine word ultimately tests "the quality of each man's work" (1Co 3:13). like a hammer. Similarly, the divine word works relentlessly, like a sword or hammer, to judge "the thoughts and attitudes of the heart" (Heb 4:12).

23:30–32 I am against. The threefold statement is for emphasis (see note on 22:29).

23:31 prophets who . . . declare. False prophets are claiming that their own prophecies are the oracles of God. The Hebrew for this verb is used only here with someone other than God as the subject. The phrase "declares the LORD" or its equivalent occurs hundreds of times in the OT, more frequently in Jeremiah (over 175 times) than in any other book.

23:32 did not send. See v. 21 and note.

23:33 oracle. The Hebrew for this word can also mean "burden" (see NIV text note), a term that may refer to a burdensome message from the Lord (see, e.g., Na 1:1).

23:36 The three divine titles at the end of the verse enhance the solemnity of what is being said. living God. See 10:10; Dt 5:26.

23:39 forget. The Hebrew for this word is a pun on the Hebrew for the word "oracle" in vv. 33–34,36,38. the city. Jerusalem.

23:40 Echoed from 20:11.

24:1–10 See Am 8:1–3. Having denounced Judah's leaders (21:1–23:8) and false prophets (23:9–40), Jeremiah now describes the division of Judah's people into good and bad (24:1–3) and summarizes the Lord's determination to restore the good (vv. 4–7) but destroy the bad (vv. 8–10).

24:1 Jehoiachin . . . and the officials . . . were carried into exile. In 597 B.C. craftsmen and . . . artisans. See 29:2; 2Ki 24:14,16. Only the poorest and weakest people were left behind in Judah (see 2Ki 24:14). the LORD showed me. A common way of introducing prophetic visions (see Am 7:1,4,7). figs. See note on 8:13. placed. The Hebrew root underlying this word is translated "meet" in Ex 29:42–43. As the Lord desired to "meet" with the Israelites at the entrance to the tabernacle, so the figs (symbolizing the people of Judah) would be "met" by him in front of the Jerusalem temple.

24:2 very good figs . . . that ripen early. The first figs in June are especially juicy and delicious (see Isa 28:4; Hos 9:10; Mic 7:1; Na 3:12).

3Then the LORD asked me, "What do you see,[m] Jeremiah?"

"Figs," I answered. "The good ones are very good, but the poor ones are so bad they cannot be eaten."

4Then the word of the LORD came to me: 5"This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: 'Like these good figs, I regard as good the exiles from Judah, whom I sent[n] away from this place to the land of the Babylonians.[v] 6My eyes will watch over them for their good, and I will bring them back[o] to this land. I will build[p] them up and not tear them down; I will plant[q] them and not uproot them. 7I will give them a heart to know[r] me, that I am the LORD. They will be my people,[s] and I will be their God, for they will return[t] to me with all their heart.[u]

8" 'But like the poor[v] figs, which are so bad they cannot be eaten,' says the LORD, 'so will I deal with Zedekiah[w] king of Judah, his officials[x] and the survivors[y] from Jerusalem, whether they remain in this land or live in Egypt.[z] 9I will make them abhorrent[a] and an offense to all the kingdoms of the earth, a reproach and a byword,[b] an object of ridicule and cursing,[c] wherever I banish[d] them. 10I will send the sword,[e] famine[f] and plague[g] against them until they are destroyed from the land I gave to them and their fathers.[h]' "

Seventy Years of Captivity

25 The word came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah in the fourth year of Jehoiakim[i] son of Josiah king of Judah, which was the first year of Nebuchadnezzar[j] king of Babylon. 2So Jeremiah the prophet said to all the people of Judah[k] and to all those living in Jerusalem: 3For twenty-three years—from the thirteenth year of Josiah[l] son of Amon king of Judah until this very day—the word of the LORD has come to me and I have spoken to you again and again,[m] but you have not listened.[n]

4And though the LORD has sent all his servants the prophets[o] to you again and again, you have not listened or paid any attention.[p] 5They said, "Turn[q] now, each of you, from your evil ways and your evil practices, and you can stay in the land[r] the LORD gave to you and your fathers for ever and ever. 6Do not follow other gods[s] to serve and worship them; do not provoke me to anger with what your hands have made. Then I will not harm you."

7"But you did not listen to me," declares the LORD, "and you have provoked[t] me with what your hands have made,[u] and you have brought harm[v] to yourselves."

8Therefore the LORD Almighty says this: "Because you have not listened to my words, 9I will summon[w] all the peoples of the north[x] and my servant[y] Nebuchadnezzar[z] king of Babylon," declares the LORD, "and I will bring them against

[v] 5 Or Chaldeans

24:3 What do you see . . . ? See note on 1:11.

24:5–6 Just as good figs should be protected and preserved by their owner, so also the exiles of 597 B.C., who were the best of Judah's leaders and craftsmen (see 2Ki 24:14–16), would be watched over and cared for by the Lord (see 29:4–14).

24:6 My eyes will watch over them for their good. Contrast Am 9:4. bring them back. In 538 B.C. build them up . . . tear them down . . . plant . . . uproot. See 1:10 and note.

24:7 a heart to know me. For a more comprehensive prediction including the same promise see 31:31–34. my people . . . their God. The classic statement of covenant relationship (see 31:33; 32:38; see also notes on Ge 17:7; Zec 8:8). with all their heart. See 29:13.

24:8 live in Egypt. Perhaps those deported with Jehoahaz in 609 B.C. (see 22:10b–12 and notes; 2Ki 23:31–34) and/or those who fled to Egypt after the Babylonians defeated the Egyptians in the battle of Carchemish in 605 (see 46:2).

24:9 abhorrent . . . to all the kingdoms. See 34:17. reproach . . . object of ridicule. See Dt 28:37. byword. See notes on 1Ki 9:7; Job 17:6.

24:10 sword, famine and plague. See note on 14:12. destroyed from the land. In 586 B.C. (see 52:4–27).

25:1–29:32 The dominant theme in chs. 25–29 is the forthcoming destruction of Jerusalem and exile to Babylonia in 586 B.C. (hinted at briefly in 24:10).

25:1–38 Divine judgment will descend not only on Judah but on "all the surrounding nations" (v. 9) as well.

25:1 fourth year of Jehoiakim . . . first year of Nebuchadnezzar. The synchronism yields the date 605 B.C. (see note on Da 1:1).

25:3 twenty-three years. Nineteen under Josiah and four under Jehoiakim (see v. 1). thirteenth year of Josiah. 626 B.C. (or possibly as early as 627); see 1:2. again and again. See v. 4; see also note on 7:13. you have not listened. Jeremiah, now halfway through his prophetic ministry, had been warned at the time of his call that the people of Judah would oppose him (see 1:17–19).

25:4 Echoed from 7:25–26; see also 35:15. his servants the prophets. See note on 7:25.

25:5 stay in the land the LORD gave . . . your fathers for ever and ever. Echoed from 7:7; see Ge 17:8 and note.

25:6 provoke me to anger. See 7:18; Dt 31:29. what your hands have made. Idols (see note on 1:16).

25:7 brought harm to yourselves. See 7:6.

25:9 peoples of the north. Babylonia and her allies (see 1:15 and note). my servant Nebuchadnezzar. See 27:6; 43:10. "Servant" is used here not in the sense of "worshiper" but of "vassal" or "agent of judgment," just as the pagan ruler Cyrus is called the Lord's "shepherd" in Isa 44:28 and his "anointed" in Isa 45:1. this land. Judah. surrounding nations. Named in vv. 19–26. completely destroy. See NIV text note; 50:21,26; 51:3; see also note on Dt 2:34. object of horror and scorn. See note on 18:16. everlasting ruin. See 49:13; Ps 74:3; Isa 58:12 and note.

this land and its inhabitants and against all the surrounding nations. I will completely destroy[w a] them and make them an object of horror and scorn,[b] and an everlasting ruin.[c] [10]I will banish from them the sounds[d] of joy and gladness, the voices of bride and bridegroom,[e] the sound of millstones[f] and the light of the lamp.[g] [11]This whole country will become a desolate wasteland,[h] and these nations will serve[i] the king of Babylon seventy years.[j]

[12]"But when the seventy years[k] are fulfilled, I will punish the king of Babylon[l] and his nation, the land of the Babylonians,[x] for their guilt," declares the LORD, "and will make it desolate[m] forever. [13]I will bring upon that land all the things I have spoken against it, all that are written[n] in this book and prophesied by Jeremiah against all the nations. [14]They themselves will be enslaved[o] by many nations[p] and great kings; I will repay[q] them according to their deeds and the work of their hands."

The Cup of God's Wrath

[15]This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, said to me: "Take from my hand this cup[r] filled with the wine of my wrath and make all the nations to whom I send[s] you drink it. [16]When they drink[t] it, they will stagger[u] and go mad[v] because of the sword[w] I will send among them."

[17]So I took the cup from the LORD's hand and made all the nations to whom he sent[x] me drink it: [18]Jerusalem[y] and the towns of Judah, its kings and officials, to make them a ruin[z] and an object of horror and scorn[a] and cursing,[b] as they are today;[c] [19]Pharaoh king[d] of Egypt,[e] his attendants, his officials and all his people, [20]and all the foreign people there; all the kings of Uz;[f] all the kings of the Philistines[g] (those of Ashkelon,[h] Gaza,[i] Ekron, and the people left at Ashdod); [21]Edom,[j] Moab[k] and Ammon;[l] [22]all the kings of Tyre[m] and Sidon;[n] the kings of the coastlands[o] across the sea; [23]Dedan,[p] Tema,[q] Buz[r] and all who are in distant places[y];[s] [24]all the kings of Arabia[t] and all the kings of the foreign people[u] who live in the desert; [25]all the kings of Zimri,[v]

[w]9 The Hebrew term refers to the irrevocable giving over of things or persons to the LORD, often by totally destroying them. [x]12 Or Chaldeans [y]23 Or who clip the hair by their foreheads

25:11–12 seventy years. See 29:10. This round number (as in Ps 90:10; Isa 23:15) probably represents the period from 605 (see notes on v. 1; Da 1:1) to 538 B.C., which marked the beginning of Judah's return from exile (see 2Ch 36:20–23; see also notes on Da 9:1–2). The 70 years of Zec 1:12 are not necessarily the same as those here and in 29:10. They probably represent the period from 586 (when Solomon's temple was destroyed) to 516 (when Zerubbabel's temple was completed). See note on Zec 7:5.

25:11 This ... country ... and these nations. Judah and the nations named in vv. 19–26.

25:12 punish the king ... and his nation. See 50:18. The city of Babylon was captured by the Medes and Persians in 539 B.C. (near the end of Jeremiah's 70 years; see note on vv. 11–12). for their guilt. See 50:11,31–32; 51:6,49,53,56; Isa 13:19. make it desolate forever. See 50:12–13; 51:26; see also note on Isa 13:20.

25:13 book. After this word, the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) inserts the material found in chs. 46–51, though rearranged.

25:14 many nations. Media, Persia and their allies. great kings. Cyrus and his associates. repay them according to their deeds. See 50:29; 51:24.

25:15 cup filled with the wine of my wrath. Symbolic of divine judgment, especially against wicked nations (see Isa 51:17 and note; see also 51:7; Rev 18:6). nations to whom I send you. See 1:5 and note.

25:16 stagger and go mad. See 13:12–14 and notes; Rev 14:8. because of the sword. As the sting of wine causes people to stagger, so the stroke of the sword causes them to fall, never to rise again (see v. 27).

25:17 A symbolic description of Jeremiah's announcement of divine judgment against the nations.

25:18 Jerusalem and ... Judah. God's own people are to be judged first (see v. 29; see also Eze 9:6; 1Pe 4:17). its kings. See note on 17:20. ruin ... horror ... scorn ... cursing. See vv. 9,11; 18:16; 19:8.

25:19–26 The roster of nations begins with Egypt and ends with Babylon, as in chs. 46–51; but Damascus (see 49:23–27) is omitted, and a few other regions are added.

25:19 Egypt. See 46:2–28.

25:20 foreign people. See v. 24; Ne 13:3. Uz. See note on Job 1:1. Philistines. See ch. 47; see also note on Ge 10:14. Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron. See note on Jdg 1:18. people left at Ashdod. According to the Greek historian Herodotus (2.157), the Egyptian pharaoh Psammetichus I (664–610 B.C.) destroyed Ashdod after a long siege. By Nehemiah's time, it was inhabited again (see note on Ne 4:7). The fifth main Philistine city, Gath (see Jos 13:3), though important earlier (see, e.g., 1Sa 21:10–12), was destroyed and apparently not rebuilt (in later centuries it is not mentioned with the other four cities; see Am 1:6–8; Zep 2:4; Zec 9:5–6).

25:21–22 See 27:3–5.

25:21 Edom. See 49:7–22; see also note on Ge 36:1. Moab and Ammon. See 48:1–49:6; see also note on Ge 19:36–38.

25:22 Tyre and Sidon. See 47:4; see also notes on Isa 23:1–2,4,12. coastlands across the sea. Island and maritime regions, some of them Phoenician colonies, located to the west and northwest of Tyre and Sidon (see notes on Eze 27:15; Da 11:18).

25:23 Dedan. See 49:8; see also notes on Isa 21:13; Eze 25:13. Tema. See note on Isa 21:14. Buz. A desert region in the east. who are in distant places. See note on 9:26.

25:24 Arabia. See 49:28–33; see also 3:2 and NIV text note. foreign people. See v. 20; Ne 13:3. The same Hebrew root underlies "Arabia" and "foreign people."

25:25 Zimri. Not to be confused with the Israelite king of that name, Zimri is perhaps the same as Zimran, whom Keturah bore to Abraham (see Ge 25:1–2). The region known as Zimri (location unknown) would then have been

Elam[w] and Media;[x] [26]and all the kings of the north,[y] near and far, one after the other—all the kingdoms[z] on the face of the earth. And after all of them, the king of Sheshach[z,a] will drink it too.

[27]"Then tell them, 'This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Drink, get drunk[b] and vomit, and fall to rise no more because of the sword[c] I will send among you.' [28]But if they refuse to take the cup from your hand and drink[d], tell them, 'This is what the LORD Almighty says: You must drink it! [29]See, I am beginning to bring disaster[e] on the city that bears my Name,[f] and will you indeed go unpunished?[g] You will not go unpunished, for I am calling down a sword[h] upon all[i] who live on the earth,[j] declares the LORD Almighty.'

[30]"Now prophesy all these words against them and say to them:

" 'The LORD will roar[k] from on high;
he will thunder[l] from his holy dwelling[m]
and roar mightily against his land.
He will shout like those who tread[n] the grapes,
shout against all who live on the earth.
[31]The tumult[o] will resound to the ends of the earth, for the LORD will bring charges[p] against the nations;
he will bring judgment[q] on all[r] mankind and put the wicked to the sword,[s]' "
declares the LORD.

[32]This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"Look! Disaster[t] is spreading from nation to nation;[u] a mighty storm[v] is rising from the ends of the earth."[w]

[33]At that time those slain[x] by the LORD will be everywhere—from one end of the earth to the other. They will not be mourned or gathered[y] up or buried,[z] but will be like refuse lying on the ground.

[34]Weep and wail, you shepherds;[a] roll[b] in the dust, you leaders of the flock.
For your time to be slaughtered[c] has come;
you will fall and be shattered like fine pottery.[d] [35]The shepherds will have nowhere to flee, the leaders of the flock no place to escape.[e] [36]Hear the cry[f] of the shepherds,[g]
the wailing of the leaders of the flock, for the LORD is destroying their pasture.
[37]The peaceful meadows will be laid waste because of the fierce anger of the LORD.
[38]Like a lion[h] he will leave his lair, and their land will become desolate[i] because of the sword[a] of the oppressor[j] and because of the LORD's fierce anger.[k]

25:34 roll in the dust. Or "roll in ashes" (as in 6:26). your time . . . has come. See La 4:18. shattered like fine pottery. Cf. the description of Jehoiachin in 22:28.

26:1–24 A summary (vv. 2–6)—and its results (vv. 7–24)—of one of Jeremiah's temple messages in ch. 7 (see note on 7:1–10:25).

26:1 Early in the reign. See 27:1. The Babylonian equivalent of the Hebrew for this phrase implies that the first year of King Jehoiakim (609–608 B.C.) is probably meant.

26:2 courtyard of the LORD's house. Perhaps near the New Gate (see v. 10; see also note on 7:2). who come to worship. See 7:2 and note. do not omit a word. See Dt 4:2 and note.

ple of the towns of Judah who come to worship in the house of the LORD.[n] Tell[o] them everything I command you; do not omit[p] a word. 3Perhaps they will listen and each will turn[q] from his evil way. Then I will relent[r] and not bring on them the disaster I was planning because of the evil they have done. 4Say to them, 'This is what the LORD says: If you do not listen[s] to me and follow my law,[t] which I have set before you, 5and if you do not listen to the words of my servants the prophets, whom I have sent to you again and again (though you have not listened[u]), 6then I will make this house like Shiloh[v] and this city an object of cursing[w] among all the nations of the earth.' "

7The priests, the prophets and all the people heard Jeremiah speak these words in the house of the LORD. 8But as soon as Jeremiah finished telling all the people everything the LORD had commanded[x] him to say, the priests, the prophets and all the people seized[y] him and said, "You must die![z] 9Why do you prophesy in the LORD's name that this house will be like Shiloh and this city will be desolate and deserted?"[a] And all the people crowded[b] around Jeremiah in the house of the LORD.

10When the officials[c] of Judah heard about these things, they went up from the royal palace to the house of the LORD and took their places at the entrance of the New Gate[d] of the LORD's house. 11Then the priests and the prophets said to the officials and all the people, "This man should be sentenced to death[e] because he has prophesied against this city. You have heard it with your own ears!"[f]

26:8 You must die. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "you will surely die" in Ge 2:17. A similar phrase describes the ultimate penalty for gross violations of the law of Moses (see, e.g., Ex 21:15–17; Lev 24:16–17,21; Dt 18:20; cf. 1Ki 21:13).
26:9 crowded around. With hostile intent (see Nu 16:3).
26:10 officials of Judah. Those responsible for making legal decisions concerning disputes taking place in the temple precincts. The priests and (false) prophets, who had a vested interest in Jerusalem and its temple, felt that Jeremiah should be sentenced to death because he was predicting the destruction of both the city and the Lord's house (see vv. 8–9,11). After hearing Jeremiah's defense (vv. 12–15), the officials decided in his favor (v. 16). The people, fickle and easily swayed, first opposed Jeremiah (vv. 8–9), then supported him (v. 16). New Gate. See 36:10; possibly the same as the "Upper Gate of Benjamin" (see 20:2 and note).
26:11 Jeremiah's enemies judge him before he has a chance to defend himself (see Dt 19:6).
26:12 The LORD sent me. Contrast 23:21.
26:13 reform your ways and your actions. Repeated from 7:3 (see also 18:11; 35:15). relent. See vv. 3,19; see also notes on 4:28; 18:7–10.
26:15 innocent blood. See 7:6 and note; see also Mt 27:24–25; Ac 5:28.
26:16 Contrast v. 11; see note on v. 10.
26:17 elders. See 19:1; see also note on Ex 3:16.
26:18–19 The elders cite the precedent of Micah, who lived a century earlier and who (together with Isaiah) convinced King Hezekiah to pray for forgiveness on behalf of his people. The Lord answered the prayers of the king and the prophets, and in 701 B.C. Jerusalem and the temple were spared (see Isa 37:33–37).
26:18 Micah of Moresheth. See Introduction to Micah: Author. Zion will be plowed . . . overgrown with thickets. Quoted verbatim from Mic 3:12—the only place in the OT where one prophet quotes another and identifies his source.
26:19 seek his favor. Lit. "stroke his face" (cf. Ps 119:58), "pat his cheek" (see Ex 32:11; 1Sa 13:12; 2Ki 13:4). relent.

Hezekiah[w] fear the LORD and seek[x] his favor? And did not the LORD relent,[y] so that he did not bring the disaster[z] he pronounced against them? We are about to bring a terrible disaster[a] on ourselves!"

[20](Now Uriah son of Shemaiah from Kiriath Jearim[b] was another man who prophesied in the name of the LORD; he prophesied the same things against this city and this land as Jeremiah did. [21]When King Jehoiakim[c] and all his officers and officials[d] heard his words, the king sought to put him to death.[e] But Uriah heard of it and fled[f] in fear to Egypt. [22]King Jehoiakim, however, sent Elnathan[g] son of Acbor to Egypt, along with some other men. [23]They brought Uriah out of Egypt and took him to King Jehoiakim, who had him struck down with a sword[h] and his body thrown into the burial place of the common people.)[i]

[24]Furthermore, Ahikam[j] son of Shaphan supported Jeremiah, and so he was not handed over to the people to be put to death.

Judah to Serve Nebuchadnezzar

27 Early in the reign of Zedekiah[ck] son of Josiah king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD: [2]This is what the LORD said to me: "Make a yoke[l] out of straps and crossbars and put it on your neck. [3]Then send[m] word to the kings of Edom, Moab, Ammon,[n] Tyre and Sidon[o] through the envoys who have come to Jerusalem to Zedekiah king of Judah. [4]Give them a message for their masters and say, 'This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: "Tell this to your masters: [5]With my great power and outstretched arm[p] I made[q] the earth and its people and the animals[r] that are on it, and I give[s] it to anyone I please. [6]Now I will hand all your countries over to my servant[t] Nebuchadnezzar[u] king of Babylon; I will make even the wild animals subject to him.[v] [7]All nations will serve[w] him and his son and his grandson until the time[x]

[v]Jer 28:14; Da 2:37-38 27:7 [w]S 2Ch 36:20; Da 5:18 [x]S Jer 25:12

[c] 1 A few Hebrew manuscripts and Syriac (see also Jer. 27:3, 12 and 28:1); most Hebrew manuscripts Jehoiakim (Most Septuagint manuscripts do not have this verse.)

See vv. 3,13; see also notes on 4:28; 18:7–10.

26:20–23 A parenthesis, cited as an example of the contrast between how a good king, Hezekiah, treated the Lord's prophets and how a wicked king, Jehoiakim, was known to have treated them.

26:20 Uriah. Not mentioned elsewhere in the OT, though it has been claimed (but not substantiated) that he appears in one of the Lachish letters (see note on 34:7; see also chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii).

26:21 officers. Lit. "strong men" (perhaps the royal bodyguard). Uriah ... fled ... to Egypt. A fatal mistake, for now he could be accused of treason and sedition.

26:22 Elnathan son of Acbor. One of King Jehoiakim's highest officials (see 36:12), he was impressed on another occasion by Jeremiah's prophecies (see 36:16), "urged the king not to burn" Jeremiah's scroll (36:25), and warned the prophet to hide (see 36:19). An Elnathan (perhaps the same man) was Jehoiakim's father-in-law (see 2Ki 24:6,8). An Acbor (perhaps the father of this Elnathan) was one of King Josiah's officials (see 2Ki 22:12,14; see also note on v. 24).

26:23 brought Uriah out of Egypt. Mutual rights of extradition were a part of the treaty imposed on Judah by Egypt when Jehoiakim became the vassal of Pharaoh Neco II (see 2Ki 23:34–35). Jehoiakim ... had him struck down. Apart from divine intervention, Jeremiah probably would have fallen victim to the same fate (see 36:26). burial place of the common people. See note on 17:19. Commoners were buried in the Kidron Valley east of Jerusalem (see 2Ki 23:6).

26:24 Ahikam son of Shaphan. One of King Josiah's officials (see 2Ki 22:12,14), along with an Acbor who may have been the father of the Elnathan in v. 22 (see note there). Ahikam was also the father of Gedaliah, who would become governor of Judah after Jerusalem was destroyed in 586 B.C. (see 40:5) and who also befriended Jeremiah (see 39:14). supported Jeremiah. Ahikam's high position in Jehoiakim's court was doubtless instrumental in saving the prophet's life.

27:1–29:32 Further attempts by Jeremiah to counteract the teachings of false prophets, who were claiming that Babylon's doom was near and that rebellion against Nebuchadnezzar was therefore warranted and desirable.

27:1–22 Jeremiah tells the nations (see vv. 3–11), King Zedekiah (see vv. 12–15), and the priests and people of Judah (see vv. 16–22) to submit to the Babylonian yoke.

27:1 Early in the reign. See note on 26:1. In this case, however, the phrase has been extended in meaning to include Zedekiah's fourth year (593 B.C.; see 28:1).

27:2 yoke. Of the kind worn by oxen, it was a symbol of political submission (see vv. 8,11–12; Lev 26:13). That Jeremiah actually wore such a yoke for a time is clear from 28:10,12.

27:3 send word. In his role as a "prophet to the nations" (1:5). Edom, Moab, Ammon. Lands east and south of Judah (see 25:21 and note). Tyre and Sidon. Prominent cities in Phoenicia, north of Judah (see 25:22 and note). envoys ... have come ... to Zedekiah. Perhaps to discuss rebellion against Babylonia. They may have counted on support from Egypt, where Psammetichus II had become pharaoh a year earlier (594 B.C.). Zedekiah went to Babylon in 593 (see 51:59), perhaps to be interrogated by Nebuchadnezzar. In any case, Zedekiah rebelled against him (see 52:3).

27:5 great power and outstretched arm. See note on 21:5.

27:6 my servant Nebuchadnezzar. See note on 25:9. make ... wild animals subject to him. Nothing would be beyond the reach of Nebuchadnezzar's dominion (see 28:14; Da 2:38).

27:7 him ... his son ... his grandson. Three generations of rulers, not necessarily in direct father-son relationships (cf. Dt 6:2). The words "son" and "father" are often used figuratively in the OT (see note on Da 5:1; see also NIV text notes on Ge 10:2,8). time for his land comes. Babylonia will be judged (see note on 25:26). many nations and great kings. See note on 25:14.

for his land comes; then many nations and great kings will subjugate[v] him.

8" ' "If, however, any nation or kingdom will not serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon or bow its neck under his yoke, I will punish[z] that nation with the sword,[a] famine[b] and plague,[c] declares the LORD, until I destroy it by his hand. 9So do not listen to your prophets,[d] your diviners,[e] your interpreters of dreams,[f] your mediums[g] or your sorcerers[h] who tell you, 'You will not serve[i] the king of Babylon.' 10They prophesy lies[j] to you that will only serve to remove[k] you far from your lands; I will banish you and you will perish. 11But if any nation will bow its neck under the yoke[l] of the king of Babylon and serve him, I will let that nation remain in its own land to till it and to live[m] there, declares the LORD." ' "

12I gave the same message to Zedekiah king of Judah. I said, "Bow your neck under the yoke[n] of the king of Babylon; serve him and his people, and you will live.[o] 13Why will you and your people die[p] by the sword, famine and plague[q] with which the LORD has threatened any nation that will not serve the king of Babylon? 14Do not listen[r] to the words of the prophets[s] who say to you, 'You will not serve the king of Babylon,' for they are prophesying lies[t] to you. 15'I have not sent[u] them,' declares the LORD. 'They are prophesying lies in my name.[v] Therefore, I will banish you and you will perish,[w] both you and the prophets who prophesy to you.' "

16Then I said to the priests and all these people, "This is what the LORD says: Do not listen to the prophets who say, 'Very soon now the articles[x] from the LORD's house will be brought back from Babylon.' They are prophesying lies to you. 17Do not listen[y] to them. Serve the king of Babylon, and you will live.[z] Why should this city become a ruin? 18If they are prophets and have the word of the LORD, let them plead[a] with the LORD Almighty that the furnishings remaining in the house of the LORD and in the palace of the king of Judah and in Jerusalem not be taken to Babylon. 19For this is what the LORD Almighty says about the pillars, the Sea,[b] the movable stands and the other furnishings[c] that are left in this city, 20which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon did not take away when he carried[d] Jehoiachin[de] son of Jehoiakim king of Judah into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon, along with all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem— 21yes, this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says about the things that are left in the house of the LORD and in the palace of the king of Judah and in Jerusalem: 22'They will be taken[f] to Babylon and there they will remain until the day[g] I come for them,' declares the LORD. 'Then I will bring[h] them back and restore them to this place.' "

The False Prophet Hananiah

28 In the fifth month of that same year, the fourth year, early in the reign of Zedekiah[i] king of Judah, the prophet Hananiah son of Azzur, who was from Gibeon,[j] said to me in the house of the LORD in the presence of the priests and all the people: 2"This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel,

[d] 20 Hebrew Jeconiah, a variant of Jehoiachin

27:8 yoke. See note on v. 2. sword, famine and plague. See note on 14:12. until I destroy. See 9:16; 24:10.

27:9 See 29:8. your prophets. False prophets. diviners ... mediums ... sorcerers. Forbidden in Israel (see Lev 19:26; Dt 18:10–11). The Hebrew for "sorcerers" is a loanword from Akkadian (the language of Assyria and Babylonia). interpreters of dreams. Including prophets and diviners (see 23:25–28; 29:8).

27:10 prophesy lies. See note on 5:31; cf. 2Ti 4:3–4.

27:11 yoke. See note on v. 2. serve ... till. The Hebrew underlying both words is the same ("work" is the common denominator in serving and tilling).

27:12 your neck ... serve ... live. The Hebrew for all these words is plural, since Jeremiah is speaking to the people of Judah as well as to Zedekiah (see v. 13). yoke. See note on v. 2.

27:13 See v. 8. sword, famine and plague. See note on 14:12.

27:14 See v. 10.

27:15 See 14:14; 23:21 and note.

27:16 prophets who say, 'Very soon now ...' As the prophet Hananiah was saying (see 28:1–3). articles from the LORD's house. Some were carried off to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar in 605 B.C. (see Da 1:1–2), others in 597 (see 2Ki 24:13). Still others would be carried off in 586 (see vv. 21–22; 52:17–23).

27:18 If they are prophets ... let them plead. If they are true prophets and in communion with the Lord, let them intercede for Judah, because the Lord has announced his intention to judge the nation.

27:19 the pillars, the Sea, the movable stands. See 52:17; see also 1Ki 7:15–37 and notes.

27:22 They will be taken to Babylon. In 586 B.C. (see 52:17–23). I will bring them back. In 538 and shortly afterward (see Ezr 1:7–11).

28:1–17 The true prophet Jeremiah confronts the false prophet Hananiah.

28:1 fourth year ... of Zedekiah. 593 B.C. early in the reign. See notes on 26:1; 27:1. prophet. The word is used for all prophets, whether true (vv. 5,10–12,15) or false (vv. 1,5,10,12,15,17). Hananiah. Means "The LORD is gracious," an appropriate name for a prophet who believed strongly (though mistakenly) that the Lord would soon bring back the exiles of Judah and the temple articles (see vv. 3–4,11). Gibeon. See 41:12,16; see also note on Jos 9:3.

says: 'I will break the yoke[k] of the king of Babylon. [3]Within two years I will bring back to this place all the articles[l] of the LORD's house that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon removed from here and took to Babylon. [4]I will also bring back to this place Jehoiachin[e][m] son of Jehoiakim king of Judah and all the other exiles from Judah who went to Babylon,' declares the LORD, 'for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.' "[n]

[5]Then the prophet Jeremiah replied to the prophet Hananiah before the priests and all the people who were standing in the house of the LORD. [6]He said, "Amen! May the LORD do so! May the LORD fulfill the words you have prophesied by bringing the articles of the LORD's house and all the exiles back to this place from Babylon.[o] [7]Nevertheless, listen to what I have to say in your hearing and in the hearing of all the people: [8]From early times the prophets who preceded you and me have prophesied war, disaster and plague[p] against many countries and great kingdoms. [9]But the prophet who prophesies peace will be recognized as one truly sent by the LORD only if his prediction comes true.[q]"

[10]Then the prophet Hananiah took the yoke[r] off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah and broke it, [11]and he said[s] before all the people, "This is what the LORD says: 'In the same way will I break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon off the neck of all the nations within two years.' " At this, the prophet Jeremiah went on his way.

[12]Shortly after the prophet Hananiah had broken the yoke off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah, the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: [13]"Go and tell Hananiah, 'This is what the LORD says: You have broken a wooden yoke, but in its place you will get a yoke of iron. [14]This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I will put an iron yoke[t] on the necks of all these nations to make them serve[u] Nebuchadnezzar[v] king of Babylon, and they will serve him. I will even give him control over the wild animals.[w]' "

[15]Then the prophet Jeremiah said to Hananiah the prophet, "Listen, Hananiah! The LORD has not sent[x] you, yet you have persuaded this nation to trust in lies.[y] [16]Therefore, this is what the LORD says: 'I am about to remove you from the face of the earth.[z] This very year you are going to die,[a] because you have preached rebellion[b] against the LORD.' "

[17]In the seventh month of that same year, Hananiah the prophet died.[c]

A Letter to the Exiles

29 This is the text of the letter[d] that the prophet Jeremiah sent from Jerusalem to the surviving elders among the exiles and to the priests, the prophets and all the other people Nebuchadnezzar had carried into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon.[e] [2](This was after King Jehoiachin[e][f] and the queen mother,[g] the court officials and the leaders of Judah and Jerusalem, the craftsmen and the artisans had gone into exile from Jerusalem.) [3]He entrusted the letter to Elasah son of Shaphan and to Gemariah son of

28:3 Hananiah's prediction directly contradicts the words of Jeremiah (see 27:16–22 and notes). two years. See v. 11. Contrast Jeremiah's 70 years (25:11–12; 29:10).

28:4 bring back. Contradicting Jeremiah's prophecy (see 22:24–27), which was fulfilled (see 52:34). Jehoiachin ... went to Babylon. In 597 B.C. yoke. See note on 27:2.

28:6 See 1Ki 1:36. Amen. See 11:5 and note. may the LORD fulfill. A sign of a true prophecy (see v. 9).

28:7 Nevertheless. Though in sympathy with what Hananiah is predicting, Jeremiah reminds him that their true predecessors were basically prophets of doom (see v. 8).

28:8 war, disaster and plague. An appropriate modification of Jeremiah's usual triad (see note on 14:12).

28:9 peace. Ordinarily the message of false prophets (see 6:14 and note).

28:10 yoke off the neck of the prophet. See note on 27:2. broke it. Perhaps symbolically to break the power of Jeremiah's earlier prophecies (see 25:11–12; 27:7), which contradicted his own.

28:11 two years. See note on v. 3.

28:13 yoke of iron. The wooden yoke of submission (see note on 27:2) would be exchanged for the iron yoke of servitude (see v. 14; 38:17–23).

28:14 all these nations ... will serve him. See 27:7. control over the wild animals. See 27:6 and note.

28:15 The LORD has not sent you. A mark of the false prophet (see 23:21 and note).

28:16 remove. The Hebrew root underlying this word is the same as that underlying "sent" in v. 15. The Lord had not "sent" Hananiah to prophesy, and therefore he would soon be "sent away" to his death. preached rebellion. Such activity on the part of false prophets was punishable by death (see Dt 13:5; see also Dt 18:20; cf. Eze 11:13; Ac 5:1–11).

28:17 In the seventh month ... Hananiah ... died. He who had falsely prophesied restoration "within two years" (vv. 3,11) himself died within two months (see v. 1).

29:1–32 Jeremiah's letter to the exiles of 597 B.C. (vv. 4–23) is followed by God's message of judgment against the false prophet Shemaiah (vv. 24–32).

29:2 queen mother. Nehushta (2Ki 24:8). craftsmen and ... artisans. See 24:1 and note.

29:3 entrusted the letter to. Placed it in the ancient equivalent of the diplomatic pouch to ensure its safe arrival. Shaphan. Perhaps the father also of Ahikam (see 26:24 and note) and/or Gemariah (see 36:10), both of whom were sympathetic to Jeremiah and his mission. Hilkiah. Perhaps the Hilkiah who was high priest under Josiah (see 2Ki 22:12, where Hilkiah and one or more Shaphans are mentioned together). Zedekiah ... sent to King Nebuchadnezzar. Possibly at or about the same time (593 B.C.) that Zedekiah himself went to Babylon for a brief period (see 51:59). The purpose of the journey(s) is unknown.

Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah king of Judah sent to King Nebuchadnezzar in Babylon. It said:

4This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says to all those I carried[h] into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon: 5"Build[i] houses and settle down; plant gardens and eat what they produce. 6Marry and have sons and daughters; find wives for your sons and give your daughters in marriage, so that they too may have sons and daughters. Increase in number there; do not decrease.[j] 7Also, seek[k] the peace and prosperity of the city to which I have carried you into exile. Pray[l] to the LORD for it, because if it prospers, you too will prosper." 8Yes, this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: "Do not let the prophets[m] and diviners among you deceive[n] you. Do not listen to the dreams[o] you encourage them to have.[p] 9They are prophesying lies[q] to you in my name. I have not sent[r] them," declares the LORD.

10This is what the LORD says: "When seventy years[s] are completed for Babylon, I will come to you[t] and fulfill my gracious promise[u] to bring you back[v] to this place. 11For I know the plans[w] I have for you," declares the LORD, "plans to prosper[x] you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.[y] 12Then you will call[z] upon me and come and pray[a] to me, and I will listen[b] to you. 13You will seek[c] me and find me when you seek me with all your heart.[d] 14I will be found by you," declares the LORD, "and will bring you back[e] from captivity.[f] I will gather you from all the nations and places where I have banished you," declares the LORD, "and will bring you back to the place from which I carried you into exile."[f]

15You may say, "The LORD has raised up prophets for us in Babylon," 16but this is what the LORD says about the king who sits on David's throne and all the people who remain in this city, your countrymen who did not go with you into exile— 17yes, this is what the LORD Almighty says: "I will send the sword, famine and plague[g] against them and I will make them like poor figs[h] that are so bad they cannot be eaten. 18I will pursue them with the sword, famine and plague and will make them abhorrent[i] to all the kingdoms of the earth and an object of cursing[j] and horror,[k] of scorn[l] and reproach, among all the nations where I drive them. 19For they have not listened to my words,"[m] declares the LORD, "words that I sent to them again and again[n] by my servants the prophets.[o] And you exiles have not listened either," declares the LORD.

20Therefore, hear the word of the LORD, all you exiles whom I have sent[p] away from Jerusalem to Babylon. 21This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says about Ahab son of Kolaiah and Zedekiah son of Maaseiah, who are prophesying lies[q] to you in my name: "I will

[f] 14 Or will restore your fortunes

29:4 I. The Lord (see v. 7). Since it is God who has exiled his people, they are to submit to their captors and not rebel against them.

29:5 Build ... plant. Reminiscent of Jeremiah's call (see 1:10), but here used in a literal sense. settle down. Ezekiel, e.g., lived in his own house in Babylonia (see Eze 8:1).

29:6 find wives. But among the exiles themselves, not among the women of Babylonia (cf. Dt 7:3–4; Ezr 9:1–2).

29:7 An unprecedented and unique concept in the ancient world: working toward and praying for the prosperity of one's captors. peace and prosperity ... prospers ... prosper. The Hebrew word is shalom in all three cases. city. Every place in which the exiles settle down. Pray ... for it. See Ezr 6:10 and note; Mt 5:44; in the Apocrypha cf. 1 Maccabees 7:33.

29:8 prophets and diviners ... dreams. See 27:9 and notes. among you. The exiles in Babylon had their share of false prophets (see vv. 21,31), who had doubtless accompanied them when they were deported in 597 B.C.

29:9 See v. 31; see also notes on 23:16,21.

29:10 seventy years. See note on 25:11–12. bring you back. See note on 27:22.

29:11 I know. See v. 23. Appearances to the contrary notwithstanding, the Lord has not forgotten his people. prosper. See note on v. 7. and not ... harm. God is the ultimate source of both prosperity and disaster (see Isa 45:7).

29:12–13 Echoed from Dt 4:29–30. The Lord's gracious gift of prosperity is contingent on his people's willingness to repent.

29:14 A summary of Dt 30:3–5. bring you back from captivity. See NIV text note; see also 30:3,18; 31:23; 32:44; 33:7,11,26; 48:47; 49:6,39; and note on Ps 126:4. The Hebrew for "bring back" sounds very similar to that for "captivity."

29:15 prophets ... in Babylon. See note on v. 8.

29:16 the king ... on David's throne. Zedekiah. sits ... remain. The Hebrew for both words is identical. King and people alike are guilty.

29:17 sword, famine and plague. See v. 18; see also note on 14:12. poor figs ... so bad they cannot be eaten. See 24:8.

29:18 See 24:9 and note.

29:19 again and again. See note on 7:13. my servants the prophets. See note on 7:25. you exiles have not listened. See Eze 2:5,7; 3:7,11.

29:21 Ahab ... and Zedekiah. Not the well-known kings (of Israel and Judah respectively); rather, they were false prophets (see note on v. 8).

hand them over to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he will put them to death before your very eyes. 22Because of them, all the exiles from Judah who are in Babylon will use this curse: 'The LORD treat you like Zedekiah and Ahab, whom the king of Babylon burned[r] in the fire.' 23For they have done outrageous things in Israel; they have committed adultery[s] with their neighbors' wives and in my name have spoken lies, which I did not tell them to do. I know[t] it and am a witness[u] to it," declares the LORD.

Message to Shemaiah

24Tell Shemaiah the Nehelamite, 25"This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: You sent letters in your own name to all the people in Jerusalem, to Zephaniah[v] son of Maaseiah the priest, and to all the other priests. You said to Zephaniah, 26'The LORD has appointed you priest in place of Jehoiada to be in charge of the house of the LORD; you should put any madman[w] who acts like a prophet into the stocks[x] and neck-irons. 27So why have you not reprimanded Jeremiah from Anathoth, who poses as a prophet among you? 28He has sent this message[y] to us in Babylon: It will be a long time.[z] Therefore build[a] houses and settle down; plant gardens and eat what they produce.' "

29Zephaniah[b] the priest, however, read the letter to Jeremiah the prophet. 30Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: 31"Send this message to all the exiles: 'This is what the LORD says about Shemaiah[c] the Nehelamite: Because Shemaiah has prophesied to you, even though I did not send[d] him, and has led you to believe a lie, 32this is what the LORD says: I will surely punish Shemaiah the Nehelamite and his descendants.[e] He will have no one left among this people, nor will he see the good[f] things I will do for my people, declares the LORD, because he has preached rebellion[g] against me.' "

Restoration of Israel

30 This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: 2"This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: 'Write[h] in a book all the words I have spoken to you. 3The days[i] are coming,' declares the LORD, 'when I will bring[j] my people Israel and Judah back from captivity[g] and restore[k] them to the land I gave their forefathers to possess,' says the LORD."

4These are the words the LORD spoke concerning Israel and Judah: 5"This is what the LORD says:

" 'Cries of fear[l] are heard—terror, not peace.
6Ask and see:
Can a man bear children?
Then why do I see every strong man with his hands on his stomach like a woman in labor,[m]

29:22 curse ... burned. The Hebrew underlying each of these words sounds like Kolaiah, the name of Ahab's father (v. 21). fire. Used in Babylonia as a method of execution (see Da 3:6,24; this is also evident in the Code of Hammurapi, sections 25; 110; 157).

29:23 done outrageous things in Israel. See Ge 34:7 and note. committed adultery ... and ... spoken lies. See note on 23:10. I know. See v. 11.

29:24 Shemaiah. A false prophet (see v. 31). Nehelamite. The Hebrew root underlying this word is the same as that for "dreams" in v. 8 (see 27:9 and note).

29:25 Zephaniah. Not the prophet of that name (see note on 21:1).

29:26 Jehoiada. Not the same as the priest during the days of King Joash (see 2Ki 12:7). in charge of the house of the LORD. See note on 20:1. madman. Prophetic behavior sometimes appeared deranged to the casual observer (see 2Ki 9:11). stocks. See note on 20:2.

29:27 Anathoth. See note on 1:1.

29:28 See v. 5 and note. a long time. Here 70 years (see 25:11–12 and note; see also 2Sa 3:1).

29:29 Zephaniah ... however. He was apparently sympathetic toward Jeremiah (see 21:1–2; 37:3).

29:31–32 The Lord's threat against Shemaiah is similar to that against Hananiah (see 28:15–16).

29:31 led ... to believe a lie. See 28:15.

29:32 preached rebellion against. See 28:16 and note.

30:1–33:26 Often called Jeremiah's "book of consolation," the section depicts the ultimate restoration of both Israel (the northern kingdom) and Judah (the southern kingdom) and is the longest sustained passage in Jeremiah concerned with the future hope of the people of God (for other and briefer passages on restoration see 3:14–18; 16:14–15; 23:3–8; 24:4–7). The information in 32:1 may be used to date the entire section to 587 B.C., the year before Jerusalem was destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar and its people exiled to Babylon.

30:1–31:40 Written almost entirely in poetry, these two chapters are filled with optimism as the prophet looks forward to the time when God would redeem his people.

30:1 The heading for chs. 30–31 (and perhaps chs. 32–33 as well).

30:2 Write. In order to preserve for future generations the predictions of restoration. book. In scroll form (see, e.g., 36:2,4; 45:1; see also note on Ex 17:14). all the words I have spoken to you. Concerning the future redemption of God's people. The phrase is less comprehensive here than in 36:2.

30:3 bring ... back from captivity. See note on 29:14. Israel and Judah. The northern and southern kingdoms, the first of which was exiled in 721 B.C. and the second of which would be entering the final stage of its exile in about a year (see note on 30:1–33:26).

30:5 Cries of fear ... terror. The sounds of battle and destruction.

30:6 woman in labor. A symbol of anguish and distress (see note on 4:19).

30:7 A description of the day of the Lord (see notes on Isa 2:11,17,20; Am 5:18; 8:9). Jeremiah's immediate reference is to the foreseeable future (see vv. 8,18), but a more remote time in the Messianic age is also in view. awful. Lit. "great" (as in Joel 2:11; Zep 1:14; cf. Joel 1:15). None will be like it. See Da 12:1; Joel 2:2; Mt 24:21. time of trouble. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "time of distress" in Da 12:1 (see Mt 24:21 and note; Rev 16:18). Jacob. Israel (see v. 10).

30:8 In that day. See note on Isa 2:11,17,20. yoke. See note on 27:2. tear off their bonds. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "break their chains" in Ps 2:3, where the nations plot to free themselves from the Lord and his anointed ruler. Here the Lord promises to free his people from enslavement to the nations. foreigners. Including, but not limited to, Babylonia.

30:9 David their king. The Messiah (see note on 23:5). The Targum (ancient Aramaic paraphrase) here reads "Messiah, the son of David, their king." raise up. See note on 23:5.

30:10–11 Repeated almost verbatim in 46:27–28.

30:10 Jacob my servant. See Isa 41:8–9 and note; 44:1–2,21; 45:4; 48:20. no one will make him afraid. Contrast v. 5; see Lev 26:6; Job 11:19; Isa 17:2; Eze 34:28; 39:26; Mic 4:4 and note; Zep 3:13.

30:11 I am with you and will save you. Words spoken originally to Jeremiah alone (see 1:8,19; 15:20) are now spoken to all God's people. scatter. See 9:16 and note; 23:1–2. not completely destroy. See 4:27 and note. not . . . go . . . unpunished. See 25:29; 49:12.

30:12–13 See 8:22; Hos 5:13; 6:1; 7:1; 11:3.

30:12 Your. Judah's. wound is incurable. See 15:18 and note. injury beyond healing. See 14:17.

30:13 plead your cause. Against your enemies. no remedy for your sore. See Hos 5:13.

30:14 allies. See note on 22:20. Egypt, e.g., often supported Judah against the Babylonians (see 37:5–7). because your guilt . . . so many. See 5:6; 13:22. The Hebrew for this clause is repeated verbatim in v. 15.

30:16 all who devour you. See 3:24; 5:17; 8:16; 10:25. will be devoured. See note on 25:26; see also 51:48–49. will be plundered. See Isa 17:14.

30:17 restore you to health. Contrast 8:22; see 33:6; Isa 58:8.

30:18 restore the fortunes. See note on 29:14. the city . . . the palace. Lit. "a city . . . a palace," perhaps referring to Judah's cities and palaces in general (see Am 9:14). It is possible, however, that only Jerusalem and its palace are intended (see 31:38). ruins. The Hebrew for this word is tel(l), referring to a mound of ruins resulting from the accumulation of the debris of many years or centuries of occupation and on which successive series of towns were often built (see, e.g., Jos 11:13).

" 'I will restore the fortunes[v] of Jacob's tents[w]
and have compassion[x] on his dwellings;
the city will be rebuilt[y] on her ruins,
and the palace will stand in its proper place.
19From them will come songs[z] of thanksgiving[a]
and the sound of rejoicing.[b]
I will add to their numbers,[c]
and they will not be decreased;
I will bring them honor,[d]
and they will not be disdained.
20Their children[e] will be as in days of old,
and their community will be established[f] before me;
I will punish[g] all who oppress
them.
21Their leader[h] will be one of their own;
their ruler will arise from among them.[i]
I will bring him near[j] and he will come close to me,
for who is he who will devote himself
to be close to me?'
declares the LORD.
22" 'So you will be my people,[k] and I will be your God.[l]' "

23See, the storm[m] of the LORD
will burst out in wrath,
a driving wind swirling down
on the heads of the wicked.

24The fierce anger[n] of the LORD will not turn back[o]
until he fully accomplishes
the purposes of his heart.
In days to come
you will understand[p] this.

31 "At that time," declares the LORD,
"I will be the God[q] of all the clans of Israel, and they will be my people."

2This is what the LORD says:

"The people who survive the sword will find favor[r] in the desert;
I will come to give rest[s] to Israel."

3The LORD appeared to us in the past,[h] saying:

"I have loved[t] you with an everlasting love;
I have drawn[u] you with loving-kindness.
4I will build you up again and you will be rebuilt,[v]
O Virgin[w] Israel.
Again you will take up your tambourines[x]
and go out to dance[y] with the joyful.[z]
5Again you will plant[a] vineyards on the hills of Samaria;[b]
the farmers will plant them and enjoy their fruit.[c]

30:19 songs of thanksgiving. See 33:11. rejoicing. See 31:4 and note; contrast 15:17. add ... not be decreased. See 29:6; Eze 36:37–38. honor ... not be disdained. See Isa 9:1.

30:20 days of old. Probably the early days of the united kingdom, especially the reign of David. community. In 1Ki 12:20 the Hebrew for this word is translated "assembly," the political and religious governing body of the people. will be established before me. See Ps 102:28; 2Sa 7:24.

30:21 leader ... ruler. Although the Targum renders "Messiah" here, the terms probably refer in the first place to the rulers of Judah immediately after the exile. But Jesus Christ ultimately fulfills the promise. one of their own ... from among them. Not foreigners (cf. Dt 18:15,18). bring him near ... come close. See Nu 16:5; contrast Ex 24:2. Unauthorized approaches into God's presence were punishable by death (see Ex 19:21; Nu 8:19).

30:23–24 Repeated almost verbatim from 23:19–20 (see notes there).

31:1–40 Continuing the theme of restoration begun in 30:1, Jeremiah records the words of the Lord to (1) all the people of God, v. 1 (prose); (2) the restored northern kingdom of Israel, vv. 2–22 (poetry); (3) the restored southern kingdom of Judah, vv. 23–26 (prose); and (4) Israel and Judah together, vv. 27–40 (prose prologue, vv. 27–30; poetic body, vv. 31–37; prose epilogue, vv. 38–40—each section beginning with the words "The days are coming").

31:1 See 30:22; see also note on 7:23. all the clans of Israel. All 12 tribes.

31:2 people who survive the sword. The righteous remnant (see v. 7; see also note on 6:9), who will return from captivity. desert. The Arabian Desert, the antitype of the Sinai Desert through which Israel's ancestors marched after the exodus. Return from exile is often pictured as or compared to release from Egyptian slavery at the time of the exodus (see 16:14–15 and note; see also Isa 35:1–11 and notes; 40:3–4; 42:14–16; 43:18–21; 48:20–21; 51:9–11; cf. Hos 2:14–15). rest. See 6:16; contrast Dt 28:65. See notes on Dt 3:20; Jos 1:13. Israel. The northern kingdom (see also vv. 4,7,9–10,21). Other names for it are Samaria (v. 5), Ephraim (vv. 6,9,18,20), Jacob (vv. 7,11) and Rachel (v. 15).

31:3 drawn ... with loving-kindness. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "Continue ... love" in Ps 36:10 (see note on Ps 6:4).

31:4 build. See 1:10 and note. Virgin Israel. See v. 21; 18:13; see also 14:17 and note. tambourines. Used on joyful occasions (see Ps 68:25), especially following a military victory (see Ex 15:20 and note; Jdg 11:34)—in contrast to Judah's experience during the exile (see Ps 137:1–3). dance. See v. 13; often a religious activity in ancient times (see 2Sa 6:14). joyful. The Hebrew for this word is translated "rejoicing" in 30:19.

31:5 plant. See 1:10 and note. Samaria. Conquered in 722–721 B.C. (see 2Ki 17:24), it would someday be resettled by God's people. plant them and enjoy their fruit. See Dt 28:30; Isa 62:8–9; 65:21–22. Since the law stipulated that the fruit of a tree could not be eaten until the fifth year after planting it (see Lev 19:23–25), a return to normalcy is envisioned here.

6 There will be a day when watchmen[d] cry out on the hills of Ephraim,
'Come, let us go up to Zion, to the LORD our God.' "[e]

7 This is what the LORD says:

"Sing[f] with joy for Jacob;
shout for the foremost[g] of the
nations.
Make your praises heard, and say,
'O LORD, save[h] your people,
the remnant[i] of Israel.'
8 See, I will bring them from the land of the north[j]
and gather[k] them from the ends of the earth.
Among them will be the blind[l] and the lame,[m] expectant mothers and women in labor;
a great throng will return.
9 They will come with weeping;[n]
they will pray as I bring them back.
I will lead[o] them beside streams of water[p]
on a level[q] path where they will not stumble,
because I am Israel's father,[r] and Ephraim is my firstborn son.

10 "Hear the word of the LORD, O nations; proclaim it in distant coastlands:[s]
'He who scattered[t] Israel will gather[u] them and will watch over his flock like a shepherd.'[v]
11 For the LORD will ransom Jacob and redeem[w] them from the hand of those stronger[x] than they.
12 They will come and shout for joy[y]
on the heights[z] of Zion;
they will rejoice in the bounty[a] of the LORD—
the grain, the new wine and the oil,[b]
the young of the flocks[c] and herds.
They will be like a well-watered garden,[d]
and they will sorrow[e] no more.
13 Then maidens will dance and be glad,
young men and old as well.
I will turn their mourning[f] into gladness;
I will give them comfort[g] and joy[h] instead of sorrow.
14 I will satisfy[i] the priests[j] with abundance, and my people will be filled with my bounty,[k]"
declares the LORD.

15 This is what the LORD says:

"A voice is heard in Ramah,[l]
mourning and great weeping, Rachel weeping for her children and refusing to be comforted,[m] because her children are no more."[n]

16 This is what the LORD says:

"Restrain your voice from weeping

31:6 watchmen ... on the hills. For example, in later times watchmen were stationed in appropriate locations to observe and give notice of the appearance of various phases of the moon to fix the times of the most important feasts (see Dt 16:16). Ephraim ... to Zion. In the days of Jeroboam I, the people of the northern kingdom had been required to worship at northern shrines (see 1Ki 12:26–30). In the future, however, they would worship the Lord only in Jerusalem (cf. Jn 4:20). go up. The verb is often used of journeys to Jerusalem (see, e.g., Ezr 1:3; 7:7; Isa 2:3), whose elevation is above the surrounding countryside.

31:7 foremost of the nations. See Dt 26:19; Am 6:1. Israel was the greatest nation not because of intrinsic merit but because of divine grace and appointment (see Dt 7:6–8; 2Sa 7:23–24). save. The Hebrew for this word is the basis of "Hosanna," the cry of the people of Jerusalem on Palm Sunday (see Mt 21:9 and NIV text note; see also Ps 20:9; 28:9; 86:2; and especially 118:25). remnant. See note on 6:9.

31:8 land of the north. See 3:18 and note; 4:6 and note; 6:22; 16:15. ends of the earth. See 6:22; 25:32. blind ... lame. See Isa 35:5–6 and notes; 42:16.

31:9 with weeping. Contrast Ps 126:5–6; Isa 55:12. lead them. See Isa 40:11; 48:21; contrast Isa 20:4. beside streams of water. See Isa 49:10; see also 41:18. level path. See Isa 40:3–4 and notes; 43:16,19. I am Israel's father. See 3:4 and note; see also Dt 32:6; Isa 63:16; 64:8. firstborn son. Cf. v. 20; see Ex 4:22 and note; Hos 11:1–4.

31:10 distant coastlands. Remote areas to the west of Israel (see 2:10; 25:22 and note; 47:4; Ps 72:10; Isa 41:1,5; 42:10,12; 49:1). scattered Israel ... watch over his flock like a shepherd. See 23:1–3 and notes.

31:11 redeem. See note on Ru 2:20. As the Lord had redeemed his people from Egyptian slavery (see Ex 6:6; 15:13; Dt 7:8; 9:26), so now he would redeem their descendants from Babylonian exile (see Isa 41:14 and note; 43:1 and note; 52:9). from ... those stronger than they. See Ps 35:10.

31:12 heights of Zion. See note on 17:12. bounty of the LORD. Primarily material blessings (see v. 14; Hos 3:5). grain ... new wine ... oil. See note on Dt 7:13; see also Hos 2:8. like a well-watered garden. See Isa 58:11 and note. sorrow no more. See note on Isa 25:8.

31:14 abundance. Either (1) a synonym for God's bounty (see Ps 36:8; 63:5; Isa 55:2) or (2) a reference to the special portions of the sacrificial animal reserved for the priests (see Lev 7:31–36).

31:15 Quoted in Mt 2:18, where Herod's orders to kill all the male infants "in Bethlehem and its vicinity" (Mt 2:16) are stated to be a fulfillment of this passage. Ramah. Located about five miles north of Jerusalem, it was one of the towns through which Jerusalem's people passed on their way to exile in Babylonia (see 40:1; cf. Isa 10:29; Hos 5:8). Rachel. Jacob's favorite wife (see Ge 29:30) and the grandmother of Ephraim and Manasseh (see Ge 30:22–24; 48:1–2), the two most prominent and powerful tribes in the northern kingdom. The name is used here to personify that kingdom (see note on v. 2).

31:16 for your work will be rewarded. Echoed in 2Ch 15:7. Here the work is the bearing and raising of children.

and your eyes from tears,[o] for your work will be rewarded,[p]"
declares the LORD.
"They will return[q] from the land of the enemy.
17So there is hope[r] for your future,"
declares the LORD.
"Your children[s] will return to their own land.

18"I have surely heard Ephraim's moaning:
'You disciplined[t] me like an unruly calf,[u]
and I have been disciplined.
Restore[v] me, and I will return, because you are the LORD my God.
19After I strayed,[w]
I repented;
after I came to understand,
I beat[x] my breast.
I was ashamed[y] and humiliated because I bore the disgrace of my youth.'[z]
20Is not Ephraim my dear son,
the child[a] in whom I delight?
Though I often speak against him,
I still remember[b] him.
Therefore my heart yearns for him;
I have great compassion[c] for him,"
declares the LORD.

21"Set up road signs;
put up guideposts.[d]
Take note of the highway,[e]
the road that you take.
Return,[f] O Virgin[g] Israel, return to your towns.
22How long will you wander,[h]

23This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: "When I bring them back from captivity,[il] the people in the land of Judah and in its towns will once again use these words: 'The LORD bless[m] you, O righteous dwelling,[n] O sacred mountain.'[o] 24People will live[p] together in Judah and all its towns—farmers and those who move about with their flocks.[q] 25I will refresh the weary[r] and satisfy the faint."[s]

30Instead, everyone will die for his own sin;[c] whoever eats sour grapes—his own teeth will be set on edge.

31:17 hope for your future. See 29:11. children will return. Cf. Hos 11:10–11.

31:18–19 Restore ... return ... strayed. The same Hebrew root underlies all three words (see 8:4–5 and notes).

31:18 like an unruly calf. The same figure of speech is used in Hos 4:16; 10:11.

31:19 beat my breast. A gesture of mourning and grief (see Eze 21:12). Similar expressions are found in other ancient literature, such as the Babylonian Descent of Ishtar, verse 21; Homer, Iliad, 15.397–398; 16.125; Odyssey, 13.198–199. ashamed and humiliated. See Isa 45:16. youth. Early history (see 2:2; 3:24–25; 22:21; 32:30; Isa 54:4; Eze 16:22).

31:20 child in whom I delight. Cf. Isa 5:7. Though ... I have great compassion for him. See Hos 11:1–4,8–9. my heart yearns. See Isa 16:11.

31:21 The departing exiles are advised to set up markers along their path to exile so that in due time they will be able to find their way back to Judah. road signs. Tombstone-shaped markers (see 2Ki 23:17; Eze 39:15). Virgin Israel. See v. 4; see also 14:17 and note.

31:22 unfaithful daughter. The people of Judah are apostate (see 3:14,22). create a new thing. See Isa 42:9 and note. surround. Embrace with tender and unfailing love (see Ps 32:7,10; see also Ps 26:6). Judah would someday return to the Lord and love him without reservation.

31:23 bring ... back from captivity. See note on 29:14. The LORD bless you. See Ps 128:5; 134:3. righteous dwelling. Jerusalem (cf. Isa 1:21,26). sacred mountain. The temple hill (see Ps 2:6; 48:1–2; Isa 2:2–3; 11:9; 27:13; 66:20).

31:26 I awoke. Jeremiah had evidently received the previous divine revelation (beginning in 30:3) in a dream (for similar examples see Da 10:9; Zec 4:1). sleep ... pleasant. See Pr 3:24.

31:27 plant ... offspring. See Eze 36:8–11. The same Hebrew root underlies both words. Israel and ... Judah. North and south would again be united (see 3:18 and note.)

31:29 The fathers ... set on edge. Repeated in Eze 18:2. This was apparently a popular proverb that originated in a misunderstanding of such passages as Ex 20:5 and Nu 14:18, which teach that a man's sins can have a negative effect on his descendants. In the time of Jeremiah and Ezekiel, many people felt that God's hand of judgment against them was due not to their own sins, but to the sins of their ancestors.

31:30 everyone will die for his own sin. See Dt 24:16; Eze 18:3,20; 33:7–18. Although group or collective responsibility is an important concept, Jeremiah and Ezekiel emphasize individual responsibility as both preparation and explanation for the imminent destruction of Jerusalem, which the people might have been tempted to blame on the sins of their forefathers.

31 "The time is coming," declares the LORD,
"when I will make a new covenant[d] with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah.
32 It will not be like the covenant[e]
I made with their forefathers[f]
when I took them by the hand to lead them out of Egypt,[g]
because they broke my covenant, though I was a husband[h] to[k] them,[l]"
declares the LORD.
33 "This is the covenant I will make with the house of Israel after that time," declares the LORD.
"I will put my law in their minds[i]
and write it on their hearts.[j]
I will be their God,
and they will be my people.[k]
34 No longer will a man teach[l] his neighbor, or a man his brother, saying, 'Know the LORD,' because they will all know[m] me, from the least of them to the greatest,"
declares the LORD.
"For I will forgive[n] their wickedness and will remember their sins[o] no more."

35 This is what the LORD says,
he who appoints[p] the sun
to shine by day,
who decrees the moon and stars to shine by night,[q]
who stirs up the sea[r]
so that its waves roar[s]—
the LORD Almighty is his name:[t] 36 "Only if these decrees[u] vanish from my sight,"
declares the LORD,
"will the descendants[v] of Israel ever cease to be a nation before me."

37 This is what the LORD says:

"Only if the heavens above can be measured[w] and the foundations of the earth below be searched out will I reject[x] all the descendants of Israel because of all they have done,"
declares the LORD.

38 "The days are coming," declares the LORD, "when this city will be rebuilt[y] for me from the Tower of Hananel[z] to the Corner Gate.[a] 39 The measuring line[b] will stretch from there straight to the hill of Gareb and then turn to Goah. 40 The

31:31–34 The high point of Jeremiah's prophecies, this passage is the longest sequence of OT verses to be quoted in its entirety in the NT (see note on Heb 8:8–12; see also Heb 10:16–17). Verse 31 contains the only OT use of the phrase "new covenant," which (together with its NT echoes) has come down to us (via Latin) as "new testament," the name that would later be applied to the distinctively Christian part of the Biblical canon.

31:31 The time is coming. Lit. "The days are coming" (as in vv. 27,38), a phrase that often refers to the Messianic era. make. Lit. "cut" (see notes on 34:18; Ge 15:18). new covenant. See note on vv. 31–34; see also 1Co 11:25; 2Co 3:6; Heb 9:15; 12:24; and NIV text notes on Mt 26:28; Mk 14:24). As the old covenant was solemnized by the blood of sacrificial animals, so the new would be solemnized by the blood of Christ. house of Israel ... house of Judah. The reunited people of God (see 3:18 and note).

31:32 covenant I made with their forefathers. See 7:23; 11:1–8; Ex 19:5; 20:22–23:19 and notes. The covenant at Sinai eventually became known as the "old covenant" (2Co 3:14) or "first covenant" (Heb 8:7; 9:15,18). took them by the hand. See Hos 11:3–4. they broke my covenant. See 11:10. The people, not God, were responsible for violating his covenant (see note on Isa 24:5). I was a husband. See 3:14 and note.

31:33 house of Israel. Here includes both Israel and Judah (see v. 31 and note on 3:18). put my law in their minds. Internally (see Dt 6:6; 11:18; 30:14; Eze 11:19; 18:31; 36:26–27), in contrast to setting it before them externally (see 9:13; Dt 4:8; 11:32). write it on their hearts. So that it effectively governs their lives, in contrast to the ineffectiveness of merely presenting it in writing, though inscribed on durable stone (see Ex 24:4; 31:18; 32:15–16; 34:28–29; Dt 4:13; 5:22; 9:9,11; 10:4). I will be ... my people. See note on 7:23. The "new" covenant does not abolish the "old" but supersedes it in the sense that through the new covenant the old is fulfilled and its purpose achieved.

31:34 No longer ... teach his neighbor. When the Lord has done his new work, there will no longer be among his people those who are ignorant of him and his will for human lives. True knowledge of the Lord will be shared by all—young and old, the peasant and the powerful (see 5:4–5 and notes; see also 32:38–40; Isa 54:13 and note; Eze 11:19–20; 36:25–27; Eph 3:12; Heb 4:16; 10:19–22). Know. In the experiential, not the academic, sense (see Ex 6:3 and note). I will forgive ... their sins. The glorious basis of the new covenant (see Heb 10:14–17).

31:35 appoints the sun ... moon ... stars. See Ge 1:16–18 and notes. who stirs up ... is his name. The same line is found in Isa 51:15 (see Ps 46:3; Isa 17:12).

31:36 See 33:20–21,25–26. Just as God's creation order is established and secure, so also Israel will always have descendants.

31:37 reject all. Israel will continue to exist, even though a terrible judgment is about to sweep the kingdom of Judah away.

31:38–40 See Zec 14:10–11.

31:38 this city. Jerusalem. Tower of Hananel ... Corner Gate. The eastern and western ends of the northern wall (see note on Zec 14:10).

31:39 measuring line. Mentioned in connection with restored Jerusalem also in Eze 40:3; Zec 1:16; 2:1. Gareb ... Goah. Exact locations unknown, but probably to the west of Jerusalem.

31:40 valley. Probably the Hinnom Valley (see 2:23 and note). Horse Gate. See note on Ne 3:28. holy to the LORD. See Zec 14:20 and note. uprooted ... demolished. See note whole valley[c] where dead bodies[d] and ashes are thrown, and all the terraces out to the Kidron Valley[e] on the east as far as the corner of the Horse Gate,[f] will be holy[g] to the LORD. The city will never again be uprooted or demolished."

Jeremiah Buys a Field

32 This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the tenth[h] year of Zedekiah king of Judah, which was the eighteenth[i] year of Nebuchadnezzar. 2The army of the king of Babylon was then besieging[j] Jerusalem, and Jeremiah the prophet was confined[k] in the courtyard of the guard[l] in the royal palace of Judah.

3Now Zedekiah king of Judah had imprisoned him there, saying, "Why do you prophesy[m] as you do? You say, 'This is what the LORD says: I am about to hand this city over to the king of Babylon, and he will capture[n] it. 4Zedekiah[o] king of Judah will not escape[p] out of the hands of the Babylonians[mq] but will certainly be handed over to the king of Babylon, and will speak with him face to face and see him with his own eyes. 5He will take[r] Zedekiah to Babylon, where he will remain until I deal with him,[s] declares the LORD. If you fight against the Babylonians, you will not succeed.' "[t]

6Jeremiah said, "The word of the LORD came to me: 7Hanamel son of Shallum your uncle is going to come to you and say, 'Buy my field at Anathoth,[u] because as nearest relative it is your right and duty[v] to buy it.'

8"Then, just as the LORD had said, my cousin Hanamel came to me in the courtyard of the guard and said, 'Buy my field[w] at Anathoth in the territory of Benjamin. Since it is your right to redeem it and possess it, buy it for yourself.'

"I knew that this was the word of the LORD; 9so I bought the field[x] at Anathoth from my cousin Hanamel and weighed out for him seventeen shekels[n] of silver.[y] 10I signed and sealed the deed,[z] had it witnessed,[a] and weighed out the silver on the scales. 11I took the deed of purchase—the sealed copy containing the terms and conditions, as well as the unsealed copy— 12and I gave this deed to Baruch[b] son of Neriah,[c] the son of Mahseiah, in the presence of my cousin Hanamel and of the witnesses who had signed the deed and of all the Jews sitting in the courtyard of the guard.

13"In their presence I gave Baruch these instructions: 14'This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Take these documents, both the sealed[d] and unsealed copies of the deed of purchase, and put them in a clay jar so they will last a long time. 15For this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Houses, fields and vineyards will again be bought in this land.'[e]

16"After I had given the deed of purchase to Baruch[f] son of Neriah, I prayed to the LORD:

17"Ah, Sovereign LORD,[g] you have [n] 9 That is, about 7 ounces (about 200 grams)

on 1:10.

32:1–44 Though with some reluctance (see v. 25), Jeremiah obeys the Lord's command to buy a field in Anathoth from his cousin (see vv. 8–9) even as the Babylonians are besieging Jerusalem (see vv. 2,24).

32:1 tenth year of Zedekiah . . . eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar. 587 B.C., the year before Jerusalem was destroyed by the Babylonians (see 52:12–13). The siege began in 588 (see 39:1; 52:4).

32:2 confined in the courtyard of the guard. See Ne 3:25 and note. Jeremiah was imprisoned by King Zedekiah (see 37:21) and remained in the courtyard of the guard until Jerusalem fell (see 38:13,28; 39:14).

32:3–5 See 21:3–7; 34:2–5; 37:17. The fulfillment is recorded in 52:7–14.

32:5 until I deal with him. After his capture by the Babylonians, Zedekiah was taken to Babylon, where he eventually died (see 52:11). you will not succeed. See note on 29:4.

32:7 Anathoth. Jeremiah's hometown (see note on 1:1). as nearest relative . . . duty to buy it. In accordance with the ancient law of redemption (see Lev 25:23–25; see also notes on Ru 2:20; 4:3).

32:8 came to me in the courtyard. Though imprisoned, Jeremiah was allowed to have visitors. in the territory of Benjamin. Some time earlier, Jeremiah had been on his way home "to get his share of the property" in Benjamin (37:12), but he was arrested, falsely accused of treason, and thrown into prison (see 37:13–16).

32:9 so I bought. In obedience to the Lord's command (see v. 7). weighed out. Coinage had not yet been invented. seventeen shekels of silver. See NIV text note. The size of the field is unknown, but the price was probably not exorbitant (contrast Ge 23:15; see note there).

32:10 sealed. Not to attest his signature (as, e.g., in Est 3:12; see note on Ge 38:18) but to guarantee the contents of the deed and keep it from being tampered with (see Isa 8:16; 29:11; Da 12:4,9; Rev 15:1–5).

32:11 unsealed copy. For ready reference, the authenticity of which would then be guaranteed by the sealed copy if the unsealed deed should be lost, damaged or changed (deliberately or otherwise). Examples of tied and sealed papyrus documents of the fifth and subsequent centuries B.C. have been found at Elephantine in southern Egypt, in the desert of Judah west of the Dead Sea, and elsewhere (see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii).

32:12 Baruch. Means "blessed (by the Lord)." He was Jeremiah's faithful secretary and friend (see Introduction: Author and Date).

32:14 put them in a clay jar so they will last a long time. Documents found in clay jars at Elephantine (see note on v. 11) and Qumran (west of the Dead Sea) were preserved almost intact for more than 2,000 years (see "The Time between the Testaments," p. 1424).

32:15 Jeremiah's deed of purchase would enable him (or his heirs) to reclaim the field as soon as normal economic activity resumed after the exile.

32:17 See 27:5. great power and outstretched arm. See made the heavens and the earth[h] by your great power and outstretched arm.[i] Nothing is too hard[j] for you. 18You show love[k] to thousands but bring the punishment for the fathers' sins into the laps[l] of their children[m] after them. O great and powerful God,[n] whose name is the LORD Almighty,[o] 19great are your purposes and mighty are your deeds.[p] Your eyes are open to all the ways of men;[q] you reward everyone according to his conduct and as his deeds deserve.[r] 20You performed miraculous signs and wonders[s] in Egypt[t] and have continued them to this day, both in Israel and among all mankind, and have gained the renown[u] that is still yours. 21You brought your people Israel out of Egypt with signs and wonders, by a mighty hand[v] and an outstretched arm[w] and with great terror.[x] 22You gave them this land you had sworn to give their forefathers, a land flowing with milk and honey.[y] 23They came in and took possession[z] of it, but they did not obey you or follow your law;[a] they did not do what you commanded them to do. So you brought all this disaster[b] upon them.

What you said[e] has happened,[f] as you now see. 25And though the city will be handed over to the Babylonians, you, O Sovereign LORD, say to me, 'Buy the field[g] with silver and have the transaction witnessed.[h]' "

v. 21; see also note on 21:5. Nothing is too hard for you. See note on Ge 18:14. The Lord's reply to Jeremiah echoes these words (see v. 27).

32:18 show love to thousands but ... punishment for the fathers' sins. See Ex 20:5–6; 34:7; see also note on Ex 20:6. bring ... into the laps. A symbol of retribution (see Ps 79:12; Isa 65:6–7; cf. 32:25 Jeremiah expresses his doubts concerning what must seem to him to be an unwise investment. Nevertheless, he remains the obedient servant (see vv. 8–9).

32:27 the LORD, the God of all mankind. Echoes Nu 16:22; 27:16, emphasizing God's universal dominion. Is anything too hard for me? Responds to the description in Jeremiah's prayer (see v. 17 and note on Ge 18:14), stressing God's omnipotence. God is worthy of obedience because he is always faithful in fulfilling his promises.

Promise of Restoration

33 While Jeremiah was still confined[f] in the courtyard[g] of the guard, the word of the LORD came to him a second time:[h] 2"This is what the LORD says, he who made the earth,[i] the LORD who formed it and established it—the LORD is his name:[j] 3'Call[k] to me and I will answer you and tell you great and unsearchable[l] things you do not know.' 4For this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says about the houses in this city and the royal palaces of Judah that have been torn down to be used against the siege[m] ramps[n] and the sword 5in the fight with the Babylonians[q]: 'They will be filled with the dead bodies of the men I will slay in my anger and wrath.[o] I will hide my face[p] from this city because of all its wickedness.

6" 'Nevertheless, I will bring health and healing to it; I will heal[q] my people and will let them enjoy abundant peace[r] and security. 7I will bring Ju-

32:36 You. The pronoun is plural, referring to the people of Judah as a whole. sword, famine and plague. See note on 14:12. but. After judgment on the wicked comes restoration for the righteous.

32:37 See Dt 30:1–5. furious anger and great wrath. See note on 21:5. bring them back ... let them live. See Eze 36:11,33; Hos 11:11. The Hebrew underlying the first phrase sounds like that underlying the second.

32:38 See 31:33; see also note on 7:23.

32:39 singleness of heart. See 24:7; 31:32 and note; Eze 11:19. their children after them. See Dt 4:9–10.

32:40 everlasting covenant. See Isa 55:3 and note; Eze 16:60; 37:26. Unlike the old covenant (see 31:32; Isa 24:5), the new covenant would never be broken. inspire them to fear me. See Dt 6:24; see also note on Ge 20:11. never turn away from me. See 26:3; Isa 53:6.

32:41 rejoice in doing them good. See Dt 30:9; Isa 62:5; 65:19.

32:43–44 fields will be bought. The field purchased by Jeremiah (see v. 9) is symbolic of the many fields that will be purchased in Judah after the Babylonian exile, when economic conditions return to normal (see note on v. 15).

32:43 you. See note on v. 36. desolate waste, without men or animals. See 4:23–26 and notes.

32:44 territory of Benjamin. See 1:1. Here Benjamin is mentioned first because it was the region in which Jeremiah's hometown was located (see vv. 7–8 and notes). hill country ... western foothills. See note on Dt 1:7. Negev. See note on Ge 12:9. restore their fortunes. See note on 29:14.

33:1–26 Concluding Jeremiah's "book of consolation" (see note on 30:1–33:26), the section is divided into two roughly equal parts: (1) vv. 1–13, which continues and builds on ch. 32, and (2) vv. 14–26, which summarizes a wider range of earlier passages in Jeremiah and elsewhere—it is not found in the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT).

33:1 still confined. In 587 B.C. (see note on 32:1). courtyard of the guard. See 32:2 and note. a second time. Ch. 32 comprises the first time.

33:2 See 10:12; 32:17; 51:15; see also 31:35 and note.

33:3 Call ... and I will answer. Man's prayer invites—and assures—God's response (see Ps 3:4; 4:3; 18:6; 27:7; 28:1–2; 30:8; 55:17; Mt 7:7; contrast 11:14). great and unsearchable. The Hebrew for this phrase usually refers to the formidable cities of Canaan and is translated "large, with walls up to the sky" (Dt 1:28; see Nu 13:28; Dt 9:1; Jos 14:12). unsearchable things you do not know. The Hebrew (with the change of one letter) for this phrase echoes Isa 48:6: "hidden things unknown to you." As the rest of ch. 33 demonstrates, the Lord will first judge his people (vv. 4–5) and then restore them in ways that will be nothing short of incredible (vv. 6–26).

33:4 Jerusalem's houses—including those of the king—were torn down so that their stones could be used to repair the city's battered walls (see Isa 22:10 and note). siege ramps. To help the invaders bring up battering rams and scale Jerusalem's walls (see 6:6).

33:5 fight with the Babylonians. See 32:5. dead bodies. Of Jerusalem's defenders.

33:6 health and healing. See 30:17; contrast 8:22.

33:7 bring ... back from captivity. See vv. 11,26; see also dah[s] and Israel back from captivity[r] and will rebuild[u] them as they were before.[v] 8I will cleanse[w] them from all the sin they have committed against me and will forgive[x] all their sins of rebellion against me. 9Then this city will bring me renown,[y] joy, praise[z] and honor[a] before all nations on earth that hear of all the good things I do for it; and they will be in awe and will tremble[b] at the abundant prosperity and peace I provide for it.'

10"This is what the LORD says: 'You say about this place, "It is a desolate waste, without men or animals."[c] Yet in the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem that are deserted,[d] inhabited by neither men nor animals, there will be heard once more 11the sounds of joy and gladness,[e] the voices of bride and bridegroom, and the voices of those who bring thank offerings[f] to the house of the LORD, saying,

"Give thanks to the LORD Almighty, for the LORD is good;[g]
his love endures forever."[h]

For I will restore the fortunes[i] of the land as they were before,[j]' says the LORD.

12"This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'In this place, desolate[k] and without men or animals[l]—in all its towns there will again be pastures for shepherds to rest their flocks.[m] 13In the towns of the hill[n] country, of the western foothills and of the Negev,[o] in the territory of Benjamin, in the villages around Jerusalem and in the towns of Judah, flocks will again pass under the hand[p] of the one who counts them,' says the LORD.

14" 'The days are coming,' declares the LORD, 'when I will fulfill the gracious promise[q] I made to the house of Israel and to the house of Judah.

15" 'In those days and at that time
I will make a righteous[r] Branch[s]

19The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: 20"This is what the LORD says: 'If you can break my covenant with the day[c] and my covenant with the night, so that day and night no longer come at their appointed time,[d] 21then my covenant[e] with David my servant—and my covenant with the Levites[f] who are priests ministering before me—can be broken and David will no longer have a descendant to reign on his throne.[g] 22I will make the descendants of David my ser-note on 29:14. Judah and Israel. See note on 3:18.

33:8 forgive all their sins. The basis of the institution of the new covenant (see 31:34 and note; see also 50:20; Eze 36:25–26).

33:9 tremble at the abundant prosperity. See Hos 3:5.

33:10 See 32:43 and note.

33:11 joy and gladness ... bride and bridegroom. The glorious reversal of the judgment proclaimed in 7:34; 16:9; 25:10. those who bring thank offerings. See note on 17:26. restore the fortunes. See note on 29:14.

33:13 hill country ... towns of Judah. See 17:26 and note; 32:44. flocks ... pass under the hand ... counts them. See Eze 20:37.

33:15–16 Repeated from 23:5–6 (see notes there).

33:16 it will be called. Because of Jerusalem's intimate relationship to the Messiah, it is given the same name by which he is called in 23:6 (for other examples see Jdg 6:24; Eze 48:35). But see NIV text note.

33:17–26 In the face of the impending judgment in which the nation will be swept away and the promised land reduced to a desolate wasteland, all God's past covenants with his people appear to be rendered of no effect—his covenants with Israel, with David and with Phinehas (see chart on "Major Covenants in the OT," p. 19). This series of oracles, however, gives reassurance that the ancient covenants are not being repudiated, that they are as secure as God's covenant concerning the creation order, and that in the future restoration they will all yet be fulfilled.

33:17 See 2Sa 7:12–16; 1Ki 2:4; 8:25; 9:5; 2Ch 6:16; 7:18. This passage is fulfilled ultimately in Jesus (see Lk 1:32–33).

33:18 See Nu 25:13. The priestly covenant with the Levites, like the royal covenant with David, was not a private grant to the priestly family involving only that family and the Lord. It was rather an integral part of the Lord's dealings with his people in which Israel was assured of the ministry of a priesthood that was acceptable to the Lord and through whose mediation they could enjoy communion with him. That ministry was and is being fulfilled by Jesus, who administers a higher and better priesthood (see Ps 110:4; Heb 5:6–10; 6:19–20; 7:11–25). priests, who are Levites. See Dt 17:9,18.

33:20 covenant with the day and ... the night. See v. 25; 31:35–36. Although reference may be to God's sovereign establishment of the creation order in the beginning, more likely the covenant of Ge 9:8–17 (see Ge 8:22) is in view.

33:21 covenant with the Levites. See Mal 2:4.

33:22 In words that echo the covenant promises to the patriarchs (Abraham, Ge 22:17; Isaac, Ge 26:4; Jacob, Ge 32:12), the Lord assures the flourishing of the two mediatorial (royal and priestly) families and thus the

vant and the Levites who minister before me as countless[h] as the stars of the sky and as measureless as the sand on the seashore.' "

[23]The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: [24]"Have you not noticed that these people are saying, 'The LORD has rejected the two kingdoms[i] he chose'? So they despise[j] my people and no longer regard them as a nation.[k] [25]This is what the LORD says: 'If I have not established my covenant with day and night[l] and the fixed laws[m] of heaven and earth,[n] [26]then I will reject[o] the descendants of Jacob[p] and David my servant and will not choose one of his sons to rule over the descendants of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. For I will restore their fortunes[uq] and have compassion[r] on them.' "

Warning to Zedekiah

34 While Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army and all the kingdoms and peoples[s] in the empire he ruled were fighting against Jerusalem[t] and all its surrounding towns, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD: [2]"This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Go to Zedekiah[u] king of Judah and tell him, 'This is what the LORD says: I am about to hand this city over to the king of Babylon, and he will burn it down.[v] [3]You will not escape from his grasp but will surely be captured and handed over[w] to him. You will see the king of Babylon with your own eyes, and he will speak with you face to face. And you will go to Babylon.

[4]" 'Yet hear the promise of the LORD, O Zedekiah king of Judah. This is what the LORD says concerning you: You will not die by the sword;[x] [5]you will die peacefully. As people made a funeral fire[y] in honor of your fathers, the former kings who preceded you, so they will make a fire in your honor and lament, "Alas,[z] O master!" I myself make this promise, declares the LORD.' "

[6]Then Jeremiah the prophet told all this to Zedekiah king of Judah, in Jerusalem, [7]while the army of the king of Babylon was fighting against Jerusalem and the other cities of Judah that were still holding out—Lachish[a] and Azekah.[b] These were the only fortified cities left in Judah.

Freedom for Slaves

continuation of this ministry in the spiritual commonwealth he has established with his people. This promise of a numerous progeny to both the royal and priestly families is no doubt fulfilled in that great throng who (will) reign with Christ (see Ro 5:17; 8:17; 1Co 6:3; 2Ti 2:12; Rev 3:21; 5:10; 20:5–6; 22:5; see also Mt 19:28; Lk 22:30) and who in Christ have been consecrated to be priests (see 1Pe 2:5,9; Rev 1:6; 5:10; 20:6; see also Isa 66:21; Ro 6:13; 12:1; 15:16; Eph 5:2; Php 4:18; Heb 13:15–16).

33:24 two kingdoms. Israel and Judah. But since the Hebrew uses a word here that commonly refers to families (see NIV text note), the reference may be to the two mediatorial (royal and priestly) families, or to the families of Jacob and David (see v. 26). he chose. See Am 3:2 and note.

33:25–26 See v. 20 and note.

33:26 restore their fortunes and have compassion. Echoes Dt 30:3; see note on 29:14.

34:1–35:19 The first major division of the book (chs. 2–35) now draws to a close. Jeremiah's warnings and exhortations to Judah are concluded with a historical appendix (chs. 34–35), a technique used to conclude the third major division of the book (chs. 39–45) as well (see note on 45:1–5). Ch. 52, written by someone other than Jeremiah, serves as a fitting historical appendix to the entire book.

34:1–22 The chapter divides naturally into two parts (vv. 1–7 and 8–22), each of which dates to 588 B.C. (see notes on vv. 7,21–22).

34:1–7 Jeremiah's warning to King Zedekiah parallels the prophet's similar admonition in 21:1–10 (see notes there).

34:1 kingdoms and peoples in the empire he ruled. Nebuchadnezzar's empire was vast (see Eze 26:7; Da 3:2–4; 4:1; cf. the similar description of the Medes in 51:28). fighting against Jerusalem. Subject nations were expected to supply troops to fight alongside those of their overlord (see 2Ki 24:2). In a 14th-century B.C. treaty between the Hittite ruler Mursilis II and Duppi-Tessub king of the Amorites, Mursilis says, "If you do not send your son or brother with your foot soldiers and charioteers to help the Hittite king, you act in disregard of the gods of the oath." all its surrounding towns. See 19:15 and note.

34:2–3 See 32:3–5 and note; see also 39:4–7; Eze 12:12–13; 17:11–20.

34:4 not die by the sword. See 32:5; 38:17,20; 52:11; Eze 17:16.

34:5 funeral fire in honor of . . . the former kings. Not cremation (see 2Ch 16:14; 21:19; see also note on Am 6:10). Alas, O master! Words of mourning at the death of a king (see 22:18; cf. 1Ki 13:30).

34:7 Lachish and Azekah. Solomon's son Rehoboam had fortified them (see 2Ch 11:5,9), but Lachish was later besieged (701 B.C.) during Hezekiah's reign by the Assyrian king Sennacherib (see 2Ch 32:9). A contemporary relief depicting Sennacherib's conquest states that he "sat on a throne and passed in review the plunder taken from Lachish." In 1935, 18 ostraca (broken pottery fragments used as writing material) were discovered at Lachish, nearly all of them in the ruins of the latest occupation level (588 B.C.) of the Israelite gate-tower. Ostracon 4, written to the commander at Lachish shortly after the events described here, ends as follows: "We are watching for the fire-signals of Lachish . . . for we cannot see Azekah." See note on 6:1.

34:8–22 Contemporary with the events of 37:4–12 (see note on vv. 21–22).

34:8 proclaim freedom. See Lev 25:10 and note. freedom for the slaves. In accordance with the general provisions of the law of Moses (see Ex 21:2–11 and notes; Lev 25:39–55; Dt 15:12–18).

9 Everyone was to free his Hebrew slaves, both male and female; no one was to hold a fellow Jew in bondage.[e] 10 So all the officials and people who entered into this covenant agreed that they would free their male and female slaves and no longer hold them in bondage. They agreed, and set them free. 11 But afterward they changed their minds[f] and took back the slaves they had freed and enslaved them again.

12 Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: 13 "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: I made a covenant with your forefathers[g] when I brought them out of Egypt, out of the land of slavery.[h] I said, 14 'Every seventh year each of you must free any fellow Hebrew who has sold himself to you. After he has served you six years, you must let him go free.'[vi] Your fathers, however, did not listen to me or pay attention[j] to me.
15 Recently you repented and did what is right in my sight: Each of you proclaimed freedom to his countrymen.[k] You even made a covenant before me in the house that bears my Name.[l] 16 But now you have turned around[m] and profaned[n] my name; each of you has taken back the male and female slaves you had set free to go where they wished. You have forced them to become your slaves again.

17 "Therefore, this is what the LORD says: You have not obeyed me; you have not proclaimed freedom for your fellow countrymen. So I now proclaim 'freedom' for you,[o] declares the LORD—'freedom' to fall by the sword, plague[p] and men who have violated my covenant[s] and have not fulfilled the terms of the covenant they made before me, I will leaders of Judah and Jerusalem, the court officials,[u] the priests and all the people of the land who walked between the pieces of the calf, 20 I will hand over[v]

the birds of the air and the beasts of the earth.[x]

dah and his officials[z] over to their enemies[a] who seek their lives, to the army of the king of Babylon,[b] which has reign of Jehoiakim[g] son of Josiah king of Judah: 2 "Go to the Recabite[h] family

34:9 Hebrew. See Ex 21:2; see also note on Ge 14:13. no one . . . hold a fellow Jew in bondage. See Lev 25:39,42.

34:10 They . . . set them free. To gain God's blessing, and/or in the hope that the freed slaves would be more willing to help defend Jerusalem.

34:11 afterward. When the Babylonian siege was temporarily lifted due to Egyptian intervention (see vv. 21–22; 37:5,11). took back the slaves they had freed. In violation of Dt 15:12. enslaved them. Cf. 2Ch 28:10.

34:13 land of slavery. Lit. "house of slaves" (see Ex 13:3,14; 20:2; Dt 5:6; 6:12; 8:14; 13:5; Jos 24:17; Jdg 6:8). The Israelites were to free their slaves because God had earlier freed the Israelites (see Dt 15:15).

34:14 Every seventh year . . . let him go free. A loose quotation of Dt 15:12.

34:15–16 you repented . . . you have turned around. The Hebrew for the two phrases is identical, providing an ironic play on words (see note on v. 18).

34:16 you have . . . profaned my name. By breaking the Lord's covenant. Zedekiah was a man whose word could not be trusted (see Eze 17:15,18). go where they wished. See Dt 21:14.

34:17 sword, plague and famine. See note on 14:12. abhorrent to all the kingdoms of the earth. See 15:4 and note.

34:18 violated . . . walked. The Hebrew root underlying both words is the same, again providing an ironic play on words (see note on vv. 15–16). made . . . cut. The Hebrew for the two words is identical. In ancient times, making a covenant involved a self-maledictory oath ("May thus and so be done to me if I do not keep this covenant"), which was often symbolized by cutting an animal in two and walking between the two halves (see Ge 15:18 and note). between its pieces. See note on Ge 15:17.

34:20 food for the birds . . . of the earth. See 7:33 and note.

34:21–22 Because of the arrival of the Egyptians on the scene, the Babylonians in 588 B.C. temporarily lifted the siege of Jerusalem (see note on v. 11).

34:21 withdrawn from you. See the hope expressed in 21:2.

34:22 I will bring them back. See 37:8.

35:1–19 The family of the Recabites, who obeyed their forefather's command, are an example and rebuke to the people of Judah, who have disobeyed the Lord (see v. 16). The mention of "Babylonian and Aramean armies" (v. 11) dates the chapter to no earlier than the eighth year of King Jehoiakim, who began his reign in 609 B.C., whose capital city of Jerusalem was besieged in 605 (see Da 1:1 and note) by Nebuchadnezzar, and who rebelled against Nebuchadnezzar three or four years later—an unwise act that led to raids on his territory by Babylonians, Arameans and others (see 2Ki 24:1–2). (The raids are perhaps reflected in 12:7–13.)

35:1 during the reign of Jehoiakim. Chs. 35–36 (see 36:1) are a flashback to the reign of Jehoiakim (609–598 B.C.; see Introduction: Outline).

35:2 Recabite family. A nomadic tribal group related to the Kenites (see 1Ch 2:55), some of whom lived among or near the Israelites (see Jdg 1:16; 4:11; 1Sa 27:10) and were on friendly terms with them (see 1Sa 15:6; 30:26,29). side rooms of the house of the LORD. Used for storage and/or as living quarters (see 1Ki 6:5; 1Ch 28:12; 2Ch 31:11; Ne side rooms[t] of the house of the LORD and give them wine to drink."

3So I went to get Jaazaniah son of Jeremiah, the son of Habazziniah, and his brothers and all his sons—the whole family of the Recabites. 4I brought them into the house of the LORD, into the room of the sons of Hanan son of Igdaliah the man of God.[j] It was next to the room of the officials, which was over that of Maaseiah son of Shallum[k] the doorkeeper.[l] 5Then I set bowls full of wine and some cups before the men of the Recabite family and said to them, "Drink some wine."

6But they replied, "We do not drink wine, because our forefather Jonadab[m] son of Recab gave us this command: 'Neither you nor your descendants must ever drink wine.[n] 7Also you must never build houses, sow seed or plant vineyards; you must never have any of these things, but must always live in tents.[o] Then you will live a long time in the land[p] where you are nomads.' 8We have obeyed everything our forefather[q] Jonadab son of Recab commanded us. Neither we nor our wives nor our sons and daughters have ever drunk wine 9or built houses to live in or had vineyards, fields or crops.[r] 10We have lived in tents and have fully obeyed everything our forefather Jonadab commanded us. 11But when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon invaded[s] this land, we said, 'Come, we must go to Jerusalem[t] to escape the Babylonian[w] and Aramean armies.' So we have remained in Jerusalem."

12Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying: 13"This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Go and tell[u] the men of Judah and the people of Jerusalem, 'Will you not learn a lesson[v] and obey my words?' declares the LORD. 14'Jonadab son of Recab ordered his sons not to drink wine and this command has been kept. To this day they do not drink wine, because they obey their forefather's command.[w] But I have spoken to you again and again,[x] yet you have not obeyed[y] me. 15Again and again I sent all my servants the prophets[z] to you. They said, "Each of you must turn[a] from your wicked ways and reform[b] your actions; do not follow other gods[c] to serve them. Then you will live in the land[d] I have given to you and your fathers." But you have not paid attention or listened[e] to me. 16The descendants of Jonadab son of Recab have carried out the command their forefather[f] gave them, but these people have not obeyed me.'

17"'Therefore, this is what the LORD God Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'Listen! I am going to bring on Judah and on everyone living in Jerusalem every disaster[g] I pronounced against them. I spoke to them, but they did not listen;[h] I called to them, but they did not answer.' "[i]

18Then Jeremiah said to the family of the Recabites, "This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'You have obeyed the command of your forefather[j] Jonadab and have followed all his instructions and have done everything he ordered.' 19Therefore, this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'Jonadab son of Recab will never fail[k] to have a man to serve[l] me.' "

13:4–5).

35:3 Jaazaniah. Means "The LORD hears." It was a common name in Jeremiah's time (see 40:8; Eze 8:11; 11:1) and appears on a stamp seal (discovered at Tell en-Nasbeh north of Jerusalem and dating c. 600 B.C.) as well as on one of the Lachish ostraca (see note on 34:7). Jeremiah. Not the prophet.

35:4 sons. Perhaps here in the sense of "disciples" (see Am 7:14 and note). man of God. A synonym for "prophet" (see 1Ki 12:22; see also note on 1Sa 9:9), emphasizing his relationship to the One who has called him. Maaseiah. Perhaps the man of the same name mentioned in 21:1; 29:25; 37:3. doorkeeper. One of three supervisors (see 52:24) over those who guarded the entrances to the temple (see 2Ki 12:9).

35:5 bowls. Large vessels, from which smaller cups would be filled.

35:6 We do not drink wine. A permanent vow taken by the Recabites; cf. the Nazirites' temporary vow (see Nu 6:2–3,20; Jdg 13:4–7). Malkijah son of Recab may have been a later renegade exception to the Recabite vow, since he was "ruler of the district of Beth Hakkerem" (Ne 3:14), which means "house of the vineyard." Jonadab. Spelled "Jehonadab" in 2Ki 10:15,23. Nearly 250 years before the days of Jeremiah, he helped King Jehu destroy Baal worship (at least temporarily) in the northern kingdom.

35:7 must always live in tents. Except during times of national emergency (see v. 11). Then you will live a long time in the land. An echo of Ex 20:12, where honoring one's parents is commanded.

35:8 We have obeyed ... Jonadab. Contrast Judah's disobedience toward God (see v. 16).

35:11 See note on vv. 1–19.

35:13 learn a lesson. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "respond(ed) to correction" in 2:30; 7:28 (see 5:3; 17:23 and note).

35:14–15 again and again. See note on 7:13.

35:15 See 25:4–5 and notes.

35:17 See 11:11.

35:19 never fail to have a man to serve me. See 33:18. Various traditions in the Jewish Mishnah claim that the Recabites were later given special duties to perform in connection with the Jerusalem temple built after the return from Babylonian exile.

36:1–38:28 Three chapters united by the common theme word came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

2"Take a scroll[n] and write on it all the words[o] I have spoken to you concerning Israel, Judah and all the other nations from the time I began speaking to you in the reign of Josiah[p] till now.
3Perhaps[q] when the people of Judah hear[r] about every disaster I plan to inflict on them, each of them will turn[s] from his wicked way; then I will forgive[t] their wickedness and their sin."

4So Jeremiah called Baruch[u] son of Neriah,[v] and while Jeremiah dictated[w] all the words the LORD had spoken to him, Baruch wrote them on the scroll.[x] 5Then Jeremiah told Baruch, "I am restricted; I cannot go to the LORD's temple.
6So you go to the house of the LORD on a day of fasting[y] and read to the people from the scroll the words of the LORD that you wrote as I dictated.[z] Read them to all the people of Judah[a] who come in from their towns. 7Perhaps they will bring their petition[b] before the LORD, and each will turn[c] from his wicked ways, for the anger[d] and wrath pronounced against this people by the LORD are great."

8Baruch son of Neriah did everything Jeremiah the prophet told him to do; at the LORD's temple he read the words of the LORD from the scroll. 9In the ninth month[e] of the fifth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, a time of fasting[f] before the LORD was proclaimed for all the people in Jerusalem and those who had come from the towns of Judah.
10From the room of Gemariah[g] son of Shaphan[h] the secretary,[i] which was in the upper courtyard at the entrance of the New Gate[j] of the temple, Baruch read to all the people at the LORD's temple
the words of Jeremiah from the scroll.

11When Micaiah son of Gemariah, the son of Shaphan, heard all the words of the LORD from the scroll, 12he went down to the secretary's[k] room in the royal palace, where all the officials were sitting: Elishama the secretary, Delaiah son of Shemaiah, Elnathan[l] son of Acbor, Gemariah son of Shaphan, Zedekiah son of Hananiah, and all the other officials.[m] 13After Micaiah told them everything he had heard Baruch read to the people from the scroll, 14all the officials sent Je-hudi[n] son of Nethaniah, the son of Shel-emiah, the son of Cushi, to say to Baruch, "Bring the scroll[o] from which you have read to the people and come." So Baruch son of Neriah went to them with the scroll in his hand. 15They said to him,
"Sit down, please, and read it to us."

So Baruch read it to them. 16When they heard all these words, they looked at each other in fear[p] and said to Baruch, "We must report all these words to the king." 17Then they asked Baruch,
"Tell us, how did you come to write[q] all this? Did Jeremiah dictate it?"

18"Yes," Baruch replied, "he dictated[r] all these words to me, and I wrote them in ink on the scroll."

19Then the officials[s] said to Baruch,
"You and Jeremiah, go and hide.[t] Don't let anyone know where you are."

20After they put the scroll in the room of Elishama the secretary, they went to the king in the courtyard and reported everything to him. 21The king sent Jehudi[u] to get the scroll, and Jehudi brought it from the room of Elishama the secretary and read it to the king[v] and all the officials standing beside him. 22It was the ninth month and the king was sitting in the winter apartment,[w] with a fire burning in the firepot in front of him. 23Whenof Jeremiah's suffering and persecution.

36:1–32 An account of King Jehoiakim's attempt to destroy Jeremiah's written prophecies.

36:1 fourth year of Jehoiakim. 605 B.C.—a critical year in Judah's history (see notes on 25:1; 46:2).

36:2 scroll. See notes on 30:2; Ex 17:14. write on it. To preserve Jeremiah's messages for future generations. all the words I have spoken to you. This "earliest edition" of Jeremiah's prophecies may have included all or most of chs. 1–26; 46–51. began speaking to you in the reign of Josiah. See note on 1:2.

36:3 Perhaps . . . then. If the people repent, the Lord will relent (see 18:7–10 and note; 26:3).

36:4 Baruch. See note on 32:12.

36:5 I am restricted. Perhaps because of his unpopular temple message(s) (see 7:2–15; 26:2–6), or perhaps because of the events recorded in 19:1–20:6.

36:6 day of fasting. Proclaimed because of a national emergency (cf. Joel 2:15), perhaps in this case the Babylonian attack of 605 B.C. (see Da 1:1 and note).

36:7 See v. 3 and note.

36:8 If the book were in chronological order, ch. 45 would appear after this verse (see Introduction: Outline).

36:9 ninth month of the fifth year. December, 604 B.C., during a time of cold weather (see v. 22).

36:10 Cf. 2Ki 23:2. room. See note on 35:2. Gemariah. A common name in Jeremiah's time (see 29:3), found on one of the Lachish ostraca (see note on 34:7) as well as in at least two of the Elephantine papyri (see note on 32:11) a century later. Shaphan. Secretary of state under King Josiah (see 2Ki 22:3; see also notes on 26:24; 29:3). entrance of the New Gate. See 26:10 and note.

36:12 Elnathan son of Acbor. See note on 26:22.

36:18 ink. Mentioned only here in the OT (but see also 2Co 3:3; 2Jn 12; 3Jn 13). In ancient times, ink was made from soot or lampblack mixed with gum arabic, oil, or a metallic substance (as in the case of the Lachish ostraca; see note on 34:7).

36:19 The officials were understandably concerned about the safety of Jeremiah and Baruch (cf. 26:20–23).

36:20 put. For safekeeping (the Hebrew root for this word is translated "store" in Isa 10:28).

36:22 ninth month. See note on v. 9. winter apartment. Lit. "winter house" (as in Am 3:15), here probably a large room in the king's palace. firepot. A depression or container in the middle of the floor where coals were kept burning to warm the room.

36:23 Contrast King Josiah's desire to know the word of ever Jehudi had read three or four columns of the scroll,[x] the king cut them off with a scribe's knife and threw them into the firepot, until the entire scroll was burned in the fire.[y] 24The king and all his attendants who heard all these words showed no fear,[z] nor did they tear their clothes.[a] 25Even though Elnathan, Delaiah[b] and Gemariah[c] urged the king not to burn the scroll, he would not listen to them. 26Instead, the king commanded Jerahmeel, a son of the king, Seraiah son of Azriel and Shelemiah son of Abdeel to arrest[d] Baruch the scribe and Jeremiah the prophet. But the LORD had hidden[e] them.

27After the king burned the scroll containing the words that Baruch had written at Jeremiah's dictation,[f] the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: 28"Take another scroll[g] and write on it all the words that were on the first scroll, which Jehoiakim king of Judah burned up. 29Also tell Jehoiakim king of Judah, 'This is what the LORD says: You burned that scroll and said, "Why did you write on it that the king of Babylon would certainly come and destroy this land and cut off both men and animals[h] from it?"[i] 30Therefore, this is what the LORD says about Jehoiakim[j] king of Judah: He will have no one to sit on the throne of David; his body will be thrown out[k] and exposed[l] to the heat by day and the frost by night.[m] 31I will punish him and his children[n] and his attendants for their wickedness; I will bring on them and those living in Jerusalem and the people of Judah every disaster[o] I pronounced against them, because they have not listened.[p]' "

32So Jeremiah took another scroll and gave it to the scribe Baruch son of Neriah, and as Jeremiah dictated,[q] Baruch wrote[r] on it all the words of the scroll that Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned[s] in the fire. And many similar words were added to them.

Jeremiah in Prison

37 Zedekiah[t] son of Josiah was made king[u] of Judah by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; he reigned in place of Jehoiachin[xv] son of Jehoiakim. 2Neither he nor his attendants nor the people of the land paid any attention[w] to the words the LORD had spoken through Jeremiah the prophet.

3King Zedekiah, however, sent[x] Jehucal[y] son of Shelemiah with the priest Zephaniah[z] son of Maaseiah to Jeremiah the prophet with this message: "Please pray[a] to the LORD our God for us."

4Now Jeremiah was free to come and go among the people, for he had not yet been put in prison.[b] 5Pharaoh's army had marched out of Egypt,[c] and when the Babylonians[y] who were besieging Jerusalem heard the report about them, they withdrew[d] from Jerusalem.[e]

6Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah the prophet: 7"This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Tell the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire[f] of me, 'Pharaoh's army, which has marched[g] out to support you, will go back to its own land, to Egypt.[h] 8Then the Babylonians will return and attack this city; they will capture[i] it and burn[j] it down.'

9"This is what the LORD says: Do not deceive[k] yourselves, thinking, 'The Babylonians will surely leave us.' They

God and obey it (see 2Ki 22:11–23:3; 23:21–24). columns. Lit. "doors," so called because of their rectangular shape. cut. Lit. "tore." Instead of tearing his clothes (see note on v. 24), the king tore the prophet's scroll.

36:24 attendants . . . showed no fear. See v. 31. Contrast the response of the "officials" (v. 12; see vv. 16,25). nor did they tear their clothes. Contrast the response of Jehoiakim's father Josiah (see 2Ki 22:11; cf. 1Ki 21:27).

36:26 son of the king. Since Jehoiakim was only about 30 years old (see 2Ki 23:36), the phrase probably is not to be understood literally but means "member of the royal court" (as also in 38:6; 1Ki 22:26; Zep 1:8).

36:30 Jehoiakim . . . will have no one to sit on the throne. His son Jehoiachin (see 2Ki 24:6) "ruled" only 3 months (see 2Ki 24:8) and then was captured and carried off to exile in Babylonia (see 2Ki 24:15), where he eventually died (see 52:33–34). his body will be thrown out. As punishment for the fact that he "threw" (v. 23) the prophet's scroll into the fire (see 22:18–19 and notes).

36:31 See 11:11; 19:15; 35:17. attendants. See note on v. 24.

36:32 another scroll. Cf. similarly Ex 34:1.

37:1–38:28 During the last two years of Zedekiah's reign (588–586 B.C.), Jeremiah is imprisoned by the authorities (see 20:2 and note).

37:1 See 2Ki 24:15,17–18. Zedekiah. Means "The LORD is my righteousness." See Introduction: Background. reigned in place of Jehoiachin. In 597 B.C. This fulfills the prophecy concerning Jehoiakim in 36:30.

37:3 Zedekiah . . . sent . . . to Jeremiah. Jehucal son of Shelemiah. Later became Jeremiah's enemy (see 38:1,4). the priest Zephaniah son of Maaseiah. See 21:1 and note. pray . . . for us. See 21:2 and note; perhaps to ask the Lord to make the temporary withdrawal of the Babylonians in 588 B.C. (see note on 34:21–22) permanent.

37:5 Pharaoh's army. The troops of Hophra (see 44:30), called Apries by Greek historians. marched out of Egypt. Probably to help Zedekiah at his request; Lachish ostracon 3 (see note on 34:7) mentions a visit to Egypt made by the commander of Judah's army. All such ploys by Zedekiah would fail, however (see Eze 17:15,17). Babylonians . . . withdrew. To deal with the Egyptian threat (see 34:21 and note).

will not! 10Even if you were to defeat the entire Babylonian[z] army that is attacking you and only wounded men were left in their tents, they would come out and burn[l] this city down."

11After the Babylonian army had withdrawn[m] from Jerusalem because of Pharaoh's army, 12Jeremiah started to leave the city to go to the territory of Benjamin to get his share of the property[n] among the people there. 13But when he reached the Benjamin Gate,[o] the captain of the guard, whose name was Irijah son of Shelemiah, the son of Hananiah, arrested him and said, "You are deserting to the Babylonians!"[p]

14"That's not true!" Jeremiah said. "I am not deserting to the Babylonians." But Irijah would not listen to him; instead, he arrested[q] Jeremiah and brought him to the officials. 15They were angry with Jeremiah and had him beaten[r] and imprisoned[s] in the house[t] of Jonathan the secretary, which they had made into a prison.

16Jeremiah was put into a vaulted cell in a dungeon, where he remained a long time. 17Then King Zedekiah sent[u] for him and had him brought to the palace, where he asked[v] him privately,[w] "Is there any word from the LORD?"

"Yes," Jeremiah replied, "you will be handed over[x] to the king of Babylon."

18Then Jeremiah said to King Zedekiah, "What crime[y] have I committed against you or your officials or this people, that you have put me in prison? 19Where are your prophets[z] who prophesied to you, 'The king of Babylon will not attack you or this land'? 20But now, my lord the king, please listen. Let me bring my petition before you: Do not send me back to the house of Jonathan the secretary, or I will die there."[a]

21King Zedekiah then gave orders for Jeremiah to be placed in the courtyard of the guard and given bread from the street of the bakers each day until all the bread[b] in the city was gone.[c] So Jeremiah remained in the courtyard of the guard.[d]

Jeremiah Thrown Into a Cistern

38 Shephatiah son of Mattan, Gedaliah son of Pashhur[e], Jehucal[af] son of Shelemiah, and Pashhur son of Malkijah heard what Jeremiah was telling all the people when he said, 2"This is what the LORD says: 'Whoever stays in this city will die by the sword, famine or plague,[g] but whoever goes over to the Babylonians[b] will live. He will escape with his life; he will live.'[h] 3And this is what the LORD says: 'This city will certainly be handed over to the army of the king of Babylon, who will capture it.' "[i]

4Then the officials[j] said to the king, "This man should be put to death.[k] He is discouraging[l] the soldiers who are left in this city, as well as all the people, by the things he is saying to them. This man is not seeking the good of these people but their ruin."

5"He is in your hands,"[m] King Zedekiah answered. "The king can do nothing[n] to oppose you."

6So they took Jeremiah and put him

37:10 wounded. Lit. "pierced through," "mortally wounded." Though seriously handicapped, the Babylonians would still destroy Jerusalem.

37:12 territory of Benjamin. Where Jeremiah's hometown, Anathoth, was located (see note on 1:1). get his share of the property. See 1Sa 30:24. While there was a brief lull in the Babylonian invasion, Jeremiah wanted to settle matters of estate with the other members of his family.

37:13 Benjamin Gate. See 38:7; see also note on Zec 14:10. You are deserting to the Babylonians. Irijah's fear was understandable, since Jeremiah recommended surrendering to the Babylonians (see 21:9; 38:2) and since many Judahites in fact defected (see 38:19; 39:9; 52:15).

37:14 That's not true! Lit. "A lie" (see 2Ki 9:12).

37:15 had him beaten. See 20:2 and note. house of Jonathan. Jeremiah would later look back on this prison as a place of great danger for him (see v. 20; 38:26).

37:16 dungeon. Lit. "house of the cistern," probably underground (see Ex 12:29).

37:17 Zedekiah . . . asked him privately. Not wanting to do so in the presence of his officials, whom he apparently feared. you will be handed over to the king of Babylon. See 32:4; 34:3.

37:19 your prophets. False prophets (see Dt 18:22).

37:20 bring my petition before you. See 36:7.

37:21 courtyard of the guard. A less objectionable prison than the dungeon of v. 16 (see note on 32:2). street of the bakers. Perhaps near the Tower of the Ovens (see note on Ne 3:11). until all the bread . . . was gone. The Hebrew word for "bread" is translated "food" in 52:6.

38:1 Pashhur. See note on 20:1. Jehucal son of Shelemiah. See note on 37:3. Pashhur son of Malkijah. See note on 21:1. Jeremiah was telling all the people. Though he was confined in the courtyard of the guard (see 37:21), he was allowed to have visitors and to speak freely to them (see 32:8,12).

38:2 Echoes 21:9 (see note there).

38:3 Echoes 32:28 (see 34:2; 37:8).

38:4 officials. Those named in v. 1. discouraging. See Ezr 4:4; lit. "weakening the hands of," as in a similar situation in Lachish ostracon 6 (see note on 34:7): "The words of the officials are not good; they serve only to weaken our hands." Contrast Isa 35:3. seeking the good. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "seek the peace and prosperity" in 29:7 (see note there). good . . . ruin. The Hebrew for these words is translated "prosperity . . . disaster" in Isa 45:7.

38:5 The king can do nothing. Not because of inability or lack of authority but through failure of nerve. He feared his own officials (see vv. 25–26; see also 37:17 and note).

38:6 cistern. Shaped like a bell, with the narrow end at the top (see 37:16 and note). king's son. See note on 36:26. cistern . . . had no water in it. Zedekiah's officials wanted into the cistern of Malkijah, the king's son, which was in the courtyard of the guard.[o] They lowered Jeremiah by ropes[p] into the cistern; it had no water in it,[q] only mud, and Jeremiah sank down into the mud.[r]

[7]But Ebed-Melech,[s] a Cushite,[c] an official[d][t] in the royal palace, heard that they had put Jeremiah into the cistern. While the king was sitting in the Benjamin Gate,[u] [8]Ebed-Melech went out of the palace and said to him, [9]"My lord the king, these men have acted wickedly in all they have done to Jeremiah the prophet. They have thrown him into a cistern,[v] where he will starve to death when there is no longer any bread[w] in the city."

[10]Then the king commanded Ebed-Melech the Cushite, "Take thirty men from here with you and lift Jeremiah the prophet out of the cistern before he dies."

[11]So Ebed-Melech took the men with him and went to a room under the treasury in the palace. He took some old rags and worn-out clothes from there and let them down with ropes[x] to Jeremiah in the cistern. [12]Ebed-Melech the Cushite said to Jeremiah, "Put these old rags and worn-out clothes under your arms to pad the ropes." Jeremiah did so, [13]and they pulled him up with the ropes and lifted him out of the cistern. And Jeremiah remained in the courtyard of the guard.[y]

Zedekiah Questions Jeremiah Again

[14]Then King Zedekiah sent[z] for Jeremiah the prophet and had him brought to the third entrance to the temple of the LORD. "I am going to ask you something," the king said to Jeremiah. "Do not hide[a] anything from me."

[15]Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "If I give you an answer, will you not kill me? Even if I did give you counsel, you would not listen to me."

[16]But King Zedekiah swore this oath secretly[b] to Jeremiah: "As surely as the LORD lives, who has given us breath,[c] I will neither kill you nor hand you over to those who are seeking your life."[d]

[17]Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "This is what the LORD God Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'If you surrender[e] to the officers of the king of Babylon, your life will be spared and this city will not be burned down; you and your family will live.[f] [18]But if you will not surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, this city will be handed over[g] to the Babylonians and they will burn[h] it down; you yourself will not escape[i] from their hands.' "

[19]King Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "I am afraid[j] of the Jews who have gone over[k] to the Babylonians, for the Babylonians may hand me over to them and they will mistreat me."

[20]"They will not hand you over," Jeremiah replied. "Obey[l] the LORD by doing what I tell you. Then it will go well[m] with you, and your life[n] will be spared. [21]But if you refuse to surrender, this is what the LORD has revealed to me: [22]All the women[o] left in the palace of the king of Judah will be brought out to the officials of the king of Babylon. Those women will say to you:

" 'They misled you and overcame you—those trusted friends[p] of yours.
Your feet are sunk in the mud;[q]
your friends have deserted you.'

[23]"All your wives and children[r] will be brought out to the Babylonians. You to kill Jeremiah (see v. 4), but not by taking his life with their own hands (cf. Ge 37:20–24).

38:7 Ebed-Melech. Means "king's servant." king was sitting in the Benjamin Gate. See 37:13; see also note on Zec 14:10. Since a city gateway was often used as a courtroom or town hall (see notes on Ge 19:1; Ru 4:1), Zedekiah may have been settling various legal complaints on this occasion (see 2Sa 15:2–4) and would therefore be in a position to help Ebed-Melech.

38:9 no longer any bread in the city. See 37:21 and note.

38:10 thirty men. The large number was probably to keep the officials (see v. 4) and their friends from trying to prevent Jeremiah's rescue.

38:11 room under the treasury. Perhaps a wardrobe storeroom (see 2Ki 10:22).

38:12 Put these old rags . . . to pad the ropes. Ebed-Melech's kindnesses to Jeremiah were evidence that he trusted in the Lord, and the Lord rewarded him (see 39:15–18).

38:13 remained in the courtyard of the guard. See note on 32:2.

38:14 something . . . anything. Lit. "a word . . . a word," probably referring to a "word from the LORD" (37:17).

38:16 As surely as the LORD lives. See note on Ge 42:15. those who are seeking your life. Zedekiah's officials (see v. 4 and note).

38:17–18 See vv. 2–3; 21:9–10; 32:3–4; 34:2–5. surrender. Lit. "come out" (see 2Ki 18:31; 24:12). officers of the king of Babylon. Those in charge of the siege of Jerusalem (see 39:3,13).

38:19 I am afraid. See v. 5 and note. If Zedekiah had trusted in the Lord, he would not have had to fear either officials or deserters (see Pr 29:25). gone over to the Babylonians. See 37:13 and note. mistreat me. See Jdg 19:25; 1Ch 10:4.

38:22 women . . . in the palace . . . brought out to the officials. Women in a conquered king's harem became the property of the conquerors (cf. 2Sa 16:21–22). misled you and overcame you—those trusted friends of yours. Repeated almost verbatim in Ob 7 (see 20:10 and note). Zedekiah's so-called friends were his officials (see v. 4) and false prophets (see 37:19). feet are sunk in the mud. Symbolic of great distress (see Ps 69:14).

yourself will not escape[s] from their hands but will be captured[t] by the king of Babylon; and this city will[e] be burned down."[u]

[24]Then Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "Do not let anyone know[v] about this conversation, or you may die. [25]If the officials hear that I talked with you, and they come to you and say, 'Tell us what you said to the king and what the king said to you; do not hide it from us or we will kill you,' [26]then tell[w] them, 'I was pleading with the king not to send me back to Jonathan's house[x] to die there.' "

[27]All the officials did come to Jeremiah and question him, and he told them everything the king had ordered him to say. So they said no more to him, for no one had heard his conversation with the king.

[28]And Jeremiah remained in the courtyard of the guard[y] until the day Jerusalem was captured.

The Fall of Jerusalem

39:1–10pp — 2Ki 25:1–12; Jer 52:4–16

39 This is how Jerusalem[z] was taken: [1]In the ninth year of Zedekiah[a] king of Judah, in the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar[b] king of Babylon marched against Jerusalem with his whole army and laid siege[c] to it. [2]And on the ninth day of the fourth[d] month of Zedekiah's eleventh year, the city wall[e] was broken through.[f] [3]Then all the officials[g] of the king of Babylon came and took seats in the Middle Gate: Nergal-Sharezer of Samgar, Nebo-Sarsekim[f] a chief officer, Nergal-Sharezer a high official and all the other officials of the king of Babylon. [4]When Zedekiah king of Judah and all the soldiers saw them, they fled; they left the city at night by way of the king's garden, through the gate between the two walls,[h] and headed toward the Arabah.[g][i]

[5]But the Babylonian[h] army pursued them and overtook Zedekiah[j] in the plains of Jericho. They captured[k] him and took him to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon at Riblah[l] in the land of Hamath, where he pronounced sentence on him. [6]There at Riblah the king of Babylon slaughtered the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes and also killed all the nobles[m] of Judah. [7]Then he put out Zedekiah's eyes[n] and bound him with bronze shackles to take him to Babylon.[o]

[8]The Babylonians[i] set fire[p] to the royal palace and the houses of the people and broke down the walls[q] of Jerusalem. [9]Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard carried into exile to Babylon the people who remained in the city, along with those who had gone over to him,[r] and the rest of the people.[s] [10]But Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard left behind in the land of Judah some of the poor people, who owned nothing; and at that time he gave them vineyards and fields.

[11]Now Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had given these orders about Jeremiah through Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard: [12]"Take him and look after him; don't harm[t] him but do for him whatever he asks." [13]So Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard, Nebushazban a chief officer, Nergal-Sharezer a high official and all the other officers[u] of the king of Babylon [14]sent and had Jer-

39:1–2 Summarizes 52:4–7a.
39:1 ninth year of Zedekiah . . . tenth month. The final Babylonian siege of Jerusalem began on the tenth day of the month (see 52:4; 2Ki 25:1; Eze 24:1–2), or Jan. 15, 588 B.C.
39:2 ninth day . . . fourth month . . . eleventh year. July 18, 586 B.C. (see 52:5–6; 2Ki 25:2–3). The siege lasted just over two and a half years.
39:3 took seats in the Middle Gate. In fulfillment of 1:15. The Middle Gate may have been located in the wall separating the citadel of Mount Zion from the lower city, therefore serving as a strategic vantage point for the invaders. Nergal-Sharezer. Means "Nergal [a god; see 2Ki 17:30], protect the king." One of the two men so named here (see v. 13) is probably Neriglissar, who later became a successor of Nebuchadnezzar as ruler of Babylonia (560–556 B.C.). chief officer. See v. 13; see also note on 2Ki 18:17. high official. See v. 13. The Hebrew for this phrase is cognate to Babylonian rab mu(n)gi, a high military official who sometimes served as an envoy to foreign rulers.
39:4–7 See 52:7–11; see also 2Ki 25:4–7 and notes.
39:5 plains. The Hebrew for this word is the plural of the word for "Arabah" (v. 4).
39:8–10 See 52:12–16; see also 2Ki 25:8–12 and notes.
39:12 look after him. See note on 40:4.
39:13 Nergal-Sharezer. See note on v. 3.
39:14 had Jeremiah taken out. Either (1) a summary statement of Jeremiah's release from prison, the specific details of which are given in 40:1–6; or (2) a brief description of the first of two releases, the second of which (made necessary because Jeremiah had been arrested again by mistake in the confusion surrounding the capture and transporting of thousands of exiles) is detailed in 40:1–6. courtyard of the guard. See note on 32:2. Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan. See note on 26:24.

emiah taken out of the courtyard of the guard.[v] They turned him over to Gedaliah[w] son of Ahikam,[x] the son of Shaphan,[y] to take him back to his home. So he remained among his own people.[z]

15While Jeremiah had been confined in the courtyard of the guard, the word of the LORD came to him: 16"Go and tell Ebed-Melech[a] the Cushite, 'This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I am about to fulfill my words[b] against this city through disaster,[c] not prosperity. At that time they will be fulfilled before your eyes. 17But I will rescue[d] you on that day, declares the LORD; you will not be handed over to those you fear. 18I will save[e] you; you will not fall by the sword[f] but will escape with your life,[g] because you trust[h] in me, declares the LORD.'"

Jeremiah Freed

40 The word came to Jeremiah from the LORD after Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard had released him at Ramah.[i] He had found Jeremiah bound in chains among all the captives[j] from Jerusalem and Judah who were being carried into exile to Babylon. 2When the commander[k] of the guard found Jeremiah, he said to him, "The LORD your God decreed[l] this disaster[m] for this place.[n] 3And now the LORD has brought it about; he has done just as he said he would. All this happened because you people sinned[o] against the LORD and did not obey[p] him. 4But today I am freeing[q] you from the chains[r] on your wrists. Come with me to Babylon, if you like, and I will look after you; but if you do not want to, then don't come. Look, the whole country lies before you; go wherever you please."[s] 5However, before Jeremiah turned to go,[j] Nebuzaradan added, "Go back to Gedaliah[t] son of Ahikam,[u] the son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon has appointed[v] over the towns[w] of Judah, and live with him among the people, or go anywhere else you please."[x]

Then the commander gave him provisions and a present[y] and let him go. 6So Jeremiah went to Gedaliah son of Ahikam at Mizpah[z] and stayed with him among the people who were left behind in the land.

Gedaliah Assassinated

40:7–9; 41:1–3pp — 2Ki 25:22–26

7When all the army officers and their men who were still in the open country heard that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam as governor[a] over the land and had put him in charge of the men, women and children who were the poorest[b] in the land and who had not been carried into exile to Babylon, 8they came to Gedaliah at Mizpah[c]—Ishmael[d] son of Nethaniah, Johanan[e] and Jonathan the sons of Kareah, Seraiah son of Tanhumeth, the sons of Ephai the Netophathite,[f] and Jaazaniah[k] the son of the Maacathite,[g] and their men. 9Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, took an oath to reassure them and their men. "Do not be afraid to serve[h] the Babylonians,[l i]" he said. "Settle down in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it will go well with you.[j] 10I myself will stay at Mizpah[k] to represent you before the Babylonians who come to us, but you are to harvest the wine,[l] summer fruit and oil, and

39:15–18 See note on 38:12.

39:16 Go and tell. Though confined in prison, Jeremiah was permitted to have visitors (see note on 38:1). I am about to fulfill my words against this city. See 19:15.

39:17 those you fear. The court officials (see 38:1) who, in Ebed-Melech's judgment, had "acted wickedly" (38:9).

39:18 escape with your life. See note on 21:9. you trust in me. Ebed-Melech had expressed his faith in God by securing Jeremiah's release from the cistern (see 38:7–13; see also note on 38:12).

40:1–44:30 A lively narrative of the aftermath of the fall of Jerusalem. Chronologically, the chapters are the latest in the book (although 52:31–34 is later, it is part of the appendix and not of the book proper).

40:1 The word came. A heading introducing the prophecies of Jeremiah after the exile, just as "The word ... came" (1:2) introduces his prophecies from the time of his call up to the exile (see 1:3). Nebuzaradan ... released him. See note on 39:14. Ramah. See note on 31:15. chains. Manacles that were fastened to the wrists (see v. 4; see also Job 36:8; Isa 45:14).

40:2–3 Nebuzaradan doubtless knew the basic content of Jeremiah's prophetic message against Jerusalem, and he here repeats it to the prophet in summary fashion.

40:4 I will look after you. Nebuzaradan promises to carry out Nebuchadnezzar's wishes concerning Jeremiah (see 39:12). the whole country lies before you. Cf. Abram's offer to Lot in Ge 13:9.

40:5 Gedaliah son of Ahikam. See note on 26:24. provisions. The Hebrew for this word is translated "allowance" in 52:34.

40:10 harvest the wine, summer fruit and oil. Nebuzaradan (see 39:9) had arrived in Jerusalem in August of 586 B.C. (see note on 52:12). Grapes, figs and olives are harvested in the Holy Land during August and September.

put them in your storage jars,[m] and live in the towns you have taken over."[n]

[11]When all the Jews in Moab,[o] Ammon, Edom[p] and all the other countries[q] heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant in Judah and had appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, as governor over them, [12]they all came back to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah at Mizpah, from all the countries where they had been scattered.[r] And they harvested an abundance of wine and summer fruit.

[13]Johanan[s] son of Kareah and all the army officers still in the open country came to Gedaliah at Mizpah[t] [14]and said to him, "Don't you know that Baalis king of the Ammonites[u] has sent Ishmael[v] son of Nethaniah to take your life?" But Gedaliah son of Ahikam did not believe them.

[15]Then Johanan[w] son of Kareah said privately to Gedaliah in Mizpah, "Let me go and kill[x] Ishmael son of Nethaniah, and no one will know it. Why should he take your life and cause all the Jews who are gathered around you to be scattered[y] and the remnant[z] of Judah to perish?"

[16]But Gedaliah son of Ahikam said to Johanan[a] son of Kareah, "Don't do such a thing! What you are saying about Ishmael is not true."

41 In the seventh month Ishmael[b] son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, who was of royal blood and had been one of the king's officers, came with ten men to Gedaliah son of Ahikam at Mizpah. While they were eating together there, [2]Ishmael[c] son of Nethaniah and the ten men who were with him got up and struck down Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, with the sword,[d] killing the one whom the king of Babylon had appointed[e] as governor over the land.[f] [3]Ishmael also killed all the Jews who were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, as well as the Babylonian[m] soldiers who were there.

[4]The day after Gedaliah's assassination, before anyone knew about it, [5]eighty men who had shaved off their beards,[g] torn their clothes[h] and cut[i] themselves came from Shechem,[j] Shiloh[k] and Samaria,[l] bringing grain offerings and incense[m] with them to the house of the LORD.[n] [6]Ishmael son of Nethaniah went out from Mizpah to meet them, weeping[o] as he went. When he met them, he said, "Come to Gedaliah son of Ahikam."[p] [7]When they went into the city, Ishmael son of Nethaniah and the men who were with him slaughtered them and threw them into a cistern.[q] [8]But ten of them said to Ishmael, "Don't kill us! We have wheat and barley, oil and honey, hidden in a field."[r] So he let them alone and did not kill them with the others. [9]Now the cistern where he threw all the bodies of the men he had killed along with Gedaliah was the one King Asa[s] had made as part of his defense[t] against Baasha[u] king of Israel. Ishmael son of Nethaniah filled it with the dead.

[10]Ishmael made captives of all the rest of the people[v] who were in Mizpah—

[m] 3 Or Chaldean

40:14 Baalis. Either (1) "King Ba'lay," as his name is written on an early sixth-century B.C. bottle discovered in Jordan, or (2) Ba'al-Yasha', an Ammonite king whose name appears on a stamp seal found at Tell el-'Umeiri in Jordan in 1984. Ammonites. Ammon was among the nations that earlier had been allies against Babylonia (see 27:3 and note; see also Eze 21:18–32).

40:15 privately. See note on 38:16. remnant. See note on 6:9.

40:16 not true. Lit. "a lie" (see 37:14 and note). Gedaliah's naive faith in Ishmael's integrity would cost him his life.

41:1–3 See 2Ki 25:25 and note.

41:1 one of the king's officers. Ishmael's loyalty to Zedekiah might explain his assassination of Gedaliah, whom he considered to be a Babylonian puppet ruler. they were eating together. Ancient custom with respect to hospitality probably made Gedaliah assume that his guests would not harm him, much less kill him (see note on Jdg 4:21).

41:5 shaved off their beards, torn their clothes and cut themselves. Signs of mourning (see 16:6 and note; see also note on Ezr 9:3), probably over the destruction of Jerusalem. came. In the "seventh month" (v. 1) to celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles (see note on Ex 23:16). Shechem, Shiloh and Samaria. Formerly worship centers in the north (see notes on 7:12; Ge 12:6; see also Jos 24:25–26). After the northern kingdom was destroyed in 722–721 B.C., many Israelites made periodic pilgrimages to Jerusalem, especially during the reform movements of Hezekiah (see 2Ch 30:11) and Josiah (see 2Ch 34:9). grain offerings and incense. Bloodless offerings, since the altar of the Jerusalem temple had been destroyed. house of the LORD. Though the temple itself was in ruins, the site was still considered holy.

41:6 weeping. Pretending to share the sorrow of the mourners from the north.

41:7 the city. Mizpah. cistern. A favorite place to dispose of victims, whether living or dead (see 37:16 and note; 38:6).

41:8 wheat and barley, oil and honey. Supplies that Ishmael perhaps would have taken with him when he fled to Ammon (see v. 15).

41:9 the cistern ... was the one King Asa had made. Probably as part of the fortifications Asa had built at Mizpah (see 1Ki 15:22), since cisterns were essential for storing water during times of siege. Archaeologists have discovered numerous cisterns in the ruins of ancient Mizpah (modern Tell en-Nasbeh, seven and a half miles north of Jerusalem).

41:10 king's daughters. Women who had been members of King Zedekiah's court, not necessarily daughters of the king himself (see note on 36:26). Ammonites. See 40:14 and note.

the king's daughters[w] along with all the others who were left there, over whom Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard had appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam. Ishmael son of Nethaniah took them captive and set out to cross over to the Ammonites.[x]

11When Johanan[y] son of Kareah and all the army officers who were with him heard about all the crimes Ishmael son of Nethaniah had committed, 12they took all their men and went to fight[z] Ishmael son of Nethaniah. They caught up with him near the great pool[a] in Gibeon. 13When all the people[b] Ishmael had with him saw Johanan son of Kareah and the army officers who were with him, they were glad. 14All the people Ishmael had taken captive at Mizpah[c] turned and went over to Johanan son of Kareah. 15But Ishmael son of Nethaniah and eight of his men escaped[d] from Johanan and fled to the Ammonites.

Flight to Egypt

16Then Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers[e] who were with him led away all the survivors[f] from Mizpah whom he had recovered from Ishmael son of Nethaniah after he had assassinated Gedaliah son of Ahikam: the soldiers, women, children and court officials he had brought from Gibeon. 17And they went on, stopping at Geruth Kimham[g] near Bethlehem[h] on their way to Egypt[i] 18to escape the Babylonians.[n] They were afraid[j] of them because Ishmael son of Nethaniah had killed Gedaliah[k] son of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon had appointed as governor over the land.

42 Then all the army officers, including Johanan[l] son of Kareah and Jezaniah[o] son of Hoshaiah,[m] and all the people from the least to the greatest[n] approached 2Jeremiah the prophet and said to him, "Please hear our petition and pray[o] to the LORD your God for this entire remnant.[p] For as you now see, though we were once many, now only a few[q] are left. 3Pray that the LORD your God will tell us where we should go and what we should do."[r]

4"I have heard you," replied Jeremiah the prophet. "I will certainly pray[s] to the LORD your God as you have requested; I will tell[t] you everything the LORD says and will keep nothing back from you."[u]

5Then they said to Jeremiah, "May the LORD be a true[v] and faithful[w] witness[x] against us if we do not act in accordance with everything the LORD your God sends you to tell us. 6Whether it is favorable or unfavorable, we will obey the LORD our God, to whom we are sending you, so that it will go well[y] with us, for we will obey[z] the LORD our God."

7Ten days later the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah. 8So he called together Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers[a] who were with him and all the people from the least to the greatest.[b] 9He said to them, "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, to whom you sent me to present your petition,[c] says:[d] 10'If you stay in this land,[e] I will build[f] you up and not tear you down; I will plant[g] you and not uproot you,[h] for I am grieved over the disaster I have inflicted on you.[i] 11Do not be afraid of the king of Babylon,[j] whom you now fear.[k] Do not be afraid of him, declares the LORD, for I am with you and will save[l] you and deliver you from his hands.[m] 12I will show you compassion[n] so that he will have compassion on you and restore you to your land.'[o]

13"However, if you say, 'We will not stay in this land,' and so disobey[p] the LORD your God, 14and if you say, 'No, we will go and live in Egypt,[q] where we will not see war or hear the trumpet[r] or be hungry for bread,'[s] 15then hear the

41:12 great pool in Gibeon. Perhaps the same as the one mentioned in 2Sa 2:13.

41:15 eight of his men escaped. Ishmael lost only two of his men (see v. 2) in the fight with Johanan.

41:17 Geruth Kimham. Location unknown; perhaps means "lodging place of Kimham," a friend of David who returned with him to Jerusalem after Absalom's death (see 2Sa 19:37–40).

42:1 Jezaniah son of Hoshaiah. Possibly the same as "Jaazaniah the son of the Maacathite" (40:8; see NIV text note there). Apparently Jezaniah was also known as Azariah (see NIV text note; see also 43:2), as was King Uzziah (see NIV text notes on 2Ki 14:21; 2Ch 26:1).

42:2 Jeremiah. Had probably been among the "survivors from Mizpah" (41:16). hear our petition. See v. 9; 37:20.

word of the LORD,[t] O remnant of Judah. This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'If you are determined to go to Egypt and you do go to settle there, [16]then the sword[u] you fear[v] will overtake you there, and the famine[w] you dread will follow you into Egypt, and there you will die.[x] [17]Indeed, all who are determined to go to Egypt to settle there will die by the sword, famine and plague;[y] not one of them will survive or escape the disaster I will bring on them.' [18]This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'As my anger and wrath[z] have been poured out on those who lived in Jerusalem,[a] so will my wrath be poured out on you when you go to Egypt. You will be an object of cursing[b] and horror,[c] of condemnation and reproach;[d] you will never see this place again.'[e]

[19]"O remnant[f] of Judah, the LORD has told you, 'Do not go to Egypt.'[g] Be sure of this: I warn you today [20]that you made a fatal mistake[p] when you sent me to the LORD your God and said, 'Pray to the LORD our God for us; tell us everything he says and we will do it.'[h] [21]I have told you today, but you still have not obeyed the LORD your God in all he sent me to tell you.[i] [22]So now, be sure of this: You will die by the sword, famine[j] and plague[k] in the place where you want to go to settle."[l]

43 When Jeremiah finished telling the people all the words of the LORD their God—everything the LORD had sent him to tell them[m]— [2]Azariah son of Hoshaiah[n] and Johanan[o] son of Kareah and all the arrogant[p] men said to Jeremiah, "You are lying![q] The LORD our God has not sent you to say, 'You must not go to Egypt to settle there.'[r] [3]But Baruch[s] son of Neriah is inciting you against us to hand us over to the Babylonians,[q] so they may kill us or carry us into exile to Babylon."[t]

[4]So Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers and all the people[u] disobeyed the LORD's command[v] to stay in the land of Judah.[w] [5]Instead, Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers led away all the remnant of Judah who had come back to live in the land of Judah from all the nations where they had been scattered.[x] [6]They also led away all the men, women[y] and children and the king's daughters whom Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard had left with Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, and Jeremiah the prophet and Baruch[z] son of Neriah. [7]So they entered Egypt[a] in disobedience to the LORD and went as far as Tahpanhes.[b]

[8]In Tahpanhes[c] the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: [9]"While the Jews are watching, take some large stones[d] with you and bury them in clay in the brick[e] pavement at the entrance to Pharaoh's palace[f] in Tahpanhes. [10]Then say to them, 'This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I will send for my servant[g] Nebuchadnezzar[h] king of Babylon, and I will set his throne[i] over these stones I have buried here; he will spread his royal canopy[j] above them. [11]He will come and attack Egypt,[k] bringing death[l] to those destined[m] for death, captivity to those destined for captivity,[n] and the sword to those destined for the sword.[o] [12]He[r] will set fire[p] to the temples[q] of the gods[r] of Egypt; he will burn their temples and take their gods captive.[s] As a shepherd wraps[t] his garment around him, so will he wrap Egypt around himself and depart from there unscathed. Disaster Because of Idolatry

44 This word came to Jeremiah concerning all the Jews living in Lower Egypt[w]—in Migdol,[x] Tahpanhes[y] and Memphis[tz]—and in Upper Egypt[u]:[a] 2"This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: You saw the great disaster[b] I brought on Jerusalem and on all the towns of Judah.[c] Today they lie deserted and in ruins[d] 3because of the evil[e] they have done. They provoked me to anger[f] by burning incense[g] and by worshiping other gods[h] that neither they nor you nor your fathers[i] ever knew. 4Again and again[j] I sent my servants the prophets,[k] who said, 'Do not do this detestable[l] thing that I hate!' 5But they did not listen or pay attention;[mn] they did not turn from their wickedness[o] or stop burning incense[p] to other gods.[q] 6Therefore, my fierce anger was poured out;[r] it raged against the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem and made them the desolate ruins[s] they are today.

7"Now this is what the LORD God Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Why bring such great disaster[t] on yourselves by cutting off from Judah the men and women,[u] the children and infants, and so leave yourselves without a remnant?[v] 8Why provoke me to anger with what your hands have made,[w] burning incense[x] to other gods in Egypt,[y] where you have come to live?[z] You will destroy yourselves and make yourselves an object of cursing and reproach[a] among all the nations on earth. 9Have you forgotten the wickedness committed by your fathers[b] and by the kings[c] and queens[d] of Judah and the wickedness committed by you and your wives[e] in the land of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem?[f] 10To this day they have not humbled[g] themselves or shown reverence,[h] nor have they followed my law[i] and the decrees[j] I set before you and your fathers.[k]

11"Therefore, this is what the LORD Almighty,[l] the God of Israel, says: I am determined to bring disaster[m] on you and to destroy all Judah. 12I will take away the remnant[n] of Judah who were determined to go to Egypt to settle there. They will all perish in Egypt; they will fall by the sword or die from famine. From the least to the greatest,[o] they will die by sword or famine.[p] They will become an object of cursing and horror, of condemnation and reproach.[q] 13I will punish[r] those who live in Egypt with the sword,[s] famine and plague,[t] as I punished Jerusalem. 14None of the remnant of Judah who have gone to live in Egypt will escape or survive to return to the land of Judah, to which they long to return and live; none will return except a few fugitives."[u]

15Then all the men who knew that their wives[v] were burning incense[w] to other gods, along with all the women[x] who were present—a large assembly—and all the people living in Lower and Upper Egypt,[vy] said to Jeremiah, 16"We will not listen[z] to the message you have spoken to us in the name of the LORD![a] 17We will certainly do everything we said we would:[b] We will burn incense[c] to the Queen of Heaven[d] and will pour out

20Then Jeremiah said to all the people, both men and women, who were answering him, 21"Did not the LORD remember[q] and think about the incense[r] burned in the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem[s] by you and your fathers,[t] your kings and your officials and the people of the land?[u] 22When the LORD could no longer endure[v] your wicked actions and the detestable things you did, your land became an object of cursing[w] and a desolate waste[x] without inhabitants, as it is today.[y] 23Because you have burned incense and have sinned against the LORD and have not obeyed him or followed[z] his law or his decrees[a] or his stipulations, this disaster[b] has come upon you, as you now see."[c]

24Then Jeremiah said to all the people, including the women,[d] "Hear the word of the LORD, all you people of Judah in Egypt.[e] 25This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: You and your wives[f] have shown by your actions what you promised when you said, 'We will certainly carry out the vows we made to burn incense and pour out drink offerings to the Queen of Heaven.'[g]

"Go ahead then, do what you promised! Keep your vows![h] 26But hear the word of the LORD, all Jews living in Egypt:[i] 'I swear[j] by my great name,' says the LORD, 'that no one from Judah living anywhere in Egypt will ever again invoke my name or swear, "As surely as the Sovereign[k] LORD lives."[l] 27For I am watching[m] over them for harm,[n] not for good; the Jews in Egypt will perish[o] by sword and famine[p] until they are all destroyed.[q] 28Those who escape the sword[r] and return to the land of Judah from Egypt will be very few.[s] Then the whole remnant[t] of Judah who came to live in Egypt will know whose word will stand[u]—mine or theirs.[v]

29" 'This will be the sign[w] to you that I will punish[x] you in this place,' declares the LORD, 'so that you will know that my threats of harm against you will surely stand.'[y] 30This is what the LORD says: 'I am going to hand Pharaoh[z] Hophra king of Egypt over to his enemies who seek his life, just as I handed Zedekiah[a] king of Judah over to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, the enemy who was seeking his life.' A Message About Egypt

46 This is the word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning the nations:[u]

2Concerning Egypt:[v]

This is the message against the army of Pharaoh Neco[w] king of Egypt, which was defeated at Carchemish[x] on the Euphrates[y] River by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon in the fourth year of Jehoiakim[z] son of Josiah king of Judah:

3"Prepare your shields,[a] both large and small,
and march out for battle!
4Harness the horses,
mount the steeds!
Take your positions with helmets on!
Polish[b] your spears,
put on your armor![c] 5What do I see?
They are terrified,
they are retreating,
their warriors are defeated.
They flee[d] in haste
without looking back,
and there is terror[e] on every side,"
declares the LORD.
6"The swift cannot flee[f]
nor the strong escape.
In the north by the River Euphrates[g]
they stumble and fall.[h]

7"Who is this that rises like the Nile, like rivers of surging waters?[i] 8Egypt rises like the Nile,[j] like rivers of surging waters.
She says, 'I will rise and cover the
earth;
I will destroy cities and their people.'[k]
9Charge, O horses!
Drive furiously, O charioteers![l]
March on, O warriors—men of Cush[w][m] and Put who carry shields,
men of Lydia[n] who draw the bow.
10But that day[o] belongs to the Lord,
the LORD Almighty—
a day of vengeance[p], for vengeance on his foes.
The sword will devour[q] till it is satisfied,
till it has quenched its thirst with blood.[r]
For the Lord, the LORD Almighty, will offer sacrifice[s] in the land of the north by the River Euphrates.[t]

45:4 overthrow ... built ... uproot ... planted. See note on 1:10; see also 2:21; 31:4–5,28,40; 32:41; 33:7. land. Or "earth" (see "all people" in v. 5; see also 25:15,31; 46–51).

45:5 great things ... Seek them not. See Ps 131:1. Baruch's brother Seraiah would occupy an important position under King Zedekiah (see 32:12; 51:59), but Baruch himself was not to be ambitious or self-seeking. escape with your life. See note on 21:9.

46:1–51:64 See notes on 25:1–38; 25:13; 25:19–26. Chs. 46–51 consist of a series of prophecies against the nations (see Isa 13–23; Eze 25–32; Am 1–2; Zep 2:4–15). They begin with Egypt (ch. 46) and end with Babylonia (chs. 50–51), the two powers that vied for control of Judah during Jeremiah's ministry. The arrangement of the prophecies is in a generally west-to-east direction.

46:1 This is the word of the LORD ... concerning. See 14:1; 47:1; 49:34; 50:1. nations. To whom Jeremiah was called to prophesy (see 1:5 and note).

46:2 Concerning Egypt. See Isa 19–20; Eze 29–32. Neco. Ruled Egypt 610–595 B.C. Carchemish. See 2Ch 35:20; Isa 10:9. The name means "fortress of Chemosh" (chief god of Moab; see 2Ki 23:13), as clarified by the Ebla tablets (see Introduction to Genesis: Background; see also chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii). by Nebuchadnezzar. Egypt's defeat by Babylonia at Carchemish was one of the most decisive battles in the ancient world, ending Egypt's agelong claims and pretensions to power in Syro-Palestine. fourth year of Jehoiakim. 605 B.C., the first year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign (see 25:1).

46:3 Prepare. Spoken to the Egyptians in sarcasm (see, e.g., Na 2:1; 3:14).

46:4 horses. Egypt was a prime source for the finest horses (see 1Ki 10:28). put on your armor. See 51:3.

46:5 terror on every side. The phrase is used in 6:25 (see note there) with reference to the Babylonian army (see 6:22 and note).

46:7–8 rivers of surging waters. In the northern Egyptian delta, where the Nile branches out into numerous streams.

46:8 rise and cover the earth. The same metaphor is used of Assyria in Isa 8:7–8 (see note there). cities. The Hebrew for this word is in the singular but is used as a generic plural ("city" is generic also in 8:16).

46:9 Charge. See note on v. 3; see also 8:6; Na 3:3. Drive furiously, O charioteers! See Na 2:4. Put. See note on Ge 10:6. Lydia. See note on Isa 66:19. Men from Cush, Put and Lydia were mercenaries in the Egyptian army.

46:10 day of vengeance. See Isa 34:8 and note. The Lord will avenge Egypt's cruelties toward Judah (see, e.g., 2Ki 23:29,33–35). sword will devour. See v. 14. quenched its thirst with blood ... offer sacrifice. Battles are often compared with sacrifices (see Isa 34:5–7 and notes; Zep 1:7–8).

46:11 Gilead ... balm. See 8:22 and note. Virgin Daughter of Egypt. See v. 19; Isa 23:12 and note; Isa 47:1; see also

O Virgin[t] Daughter of Egypt.
But you multiply remedies in vain;
there is no healing[w] for you.
12The nations will hear of your shame;
your cries will fill the earth.
One warrior will stumble over another;
both will fall[x] down together."

13This is the message the LORD spoke to Jeremiah the prophet about the coming of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon[y] to attack Egypt:[z]

14"Announce this in Egypt, and proclaim it in Migdol; proclaim it also in Memphis[xa] and Tahpanhes:[b]
'Take your positions and get ready, for the sword devours[c] those around you.'
15Why will your warriors be laid low?
They cannot stand, for the LORD will push them down.[d] 16They will stumble[e] repeatedly;
they will fall[f] over each other.
They will say, 'Get up, let us go back to our own people[g] and our native lands, away from the sword of the oppressor.'[h] 17There they will exclaim,
'Pharaoh king of Egypt is only a loud noise;[i]
he has missed his opportunity.[j]' 18"As surely as I live," declares the King,[k] whose name is the LORD Almighty,
"one will come who is like Tabor[l] among the mountains,
like Carmel[m] by the sea.
19Pack your belongings for exile,[n]
you who live in Egypt,
for Memphis[o] will be laid waste[p] and lie in ruins without inhabitant.

20"Egypt is a beautiful heifer, but a gadfly is coming against her from the north.[q] 21The mercenaries[r] in her ranks are like fattened calves.[s]
They too will turn and flee[t] together, they will not stand their ground,
for the day[u] of disaster is coming upon them,
the time[v] for them to be punished.
22Egypt will hiss like a fleeing serpent as the enemy advances in force;
they will come against her with axes,
like men who cut down trees.[w] 23They will chop down her forest,"
declares the LORD,
"dense though it be.
They are more numerous than locusts,[x]
they cannot be counted.
24The Daughter of Egypt will be put to shame, handed over to the people of the north.[y]"

25The LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: "I am about to bring punishment

14:17 and note; 18:13; 31:4,21. remedies in vain . . . no healing for you. The statement is ironic in the light of Egypt's reputation for expertise in the healing arts.

46:12 stumble . . . fall. See vv. 6,16.

46:13 Nebuchadnezzar . . . to attack Egypt. In 568–567 B.C. (see note on 43:11), long after the battle of Carchemish (see note on v. 2).

46:14 Migdol. See note on 44:1. Memphis and Tahpanhes. See 44:1; see also notes on 2:16; Isa 19:13. Take your positions. See v. 4. sword devours. See v. 10.

46:15 warriors. The Hebrew for this word is not the same as that for "warrior" in vv. 5,9,12. It is lit. "strong ones," often referring to powerful animals ("stallions" in 8:16; 50:11; "steeds" in 47:3; Jdg 5:22). In Ps 22:12; 50:13; 68:30; Isa 34:7 the Hebrew word is translated "bulls" (see note on Ps 68:30). be laid low. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "Apis has fled" in the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT). Apis was a bull-god worshiped in Egypt, especially at Memphis (see v. 14). An alternative translation of v. 15 would then read as follows: "Why did Apis flee? Why did your bull [many manuscripts have the singular form] not stand? Because the LORD pushed him down."

46:16 They will stumble repeatedly. See vv. 6,12; lit. "He will make many stumble." They will say, '. . . let us go.' The mercenaries in Pharaoh's army (see v. 9 and note) will decide to return to their homelands. sword of the oppressor. See 25:38; 50:16.

46:17 only a loud noise. In Isa 30:7, Egypt is called "the Do-Nothing." missed his opportunity. After the battle of Carchemish (see v. 2), Nebuchadnezzar returned to Babylonia on learning of his father's death. Egypt failed to press its advantage at that time.

46:18 As surely as I live. See notes on Ge 22:16; 42:15. King. God is called "King" also in 8:19; 10:7,10; 48:15; 51:57. one. Nebuchadnezzar. Tabor . . . Carmel. Two prominent mountains in Israel (see notes on Jdg 4:6; SS 7:5; Isa 33:9).

46:19 Pack your belongings for exile. Echoed in Eze 12:3. Egypt. Lit. "Daughter of Egypt" (see v. 11 and note). laid waste. Judah is so described in 2:15; 9:12.

46:20 heifer. Perhaps an ironic reference to Egyptian bull-worship (see note on v. 15). gadfly. Nebuchadnezzar. Insects are often used to symbolize an attacking enemy (see note on Ex 23:28).

46:21 mercenaries. See note on v. 9. calves. See note on v. 20. day of disaster. See 18:17. time for them to be punished. See 11:23; 23:12; 50:27.

46:22 serpent. Often used by Egyptian pharaohs as a symbol of their sovereignty (see note on Ex 4:3). the enemy . . . like men who cut down trees. See 21:14; see also Isa 10:18–19,33–34 and notes.

46:23 more numerous than locusts. Here an invading army is compared to locusts. In Joel 2:11,25 locusts are compared to an invading army.

46:24 Daughter of Egypt. See note on v. 11.

46:25 Amon. The chief god of Egypt during much of its history. Wicked King Manasseh may have named his son after the Egyptian deity (see 2Ki 21:18; 2Ch 33:22). Thebes. The capital of Upper (southern) Egypt (see Eze 30:14–16).

[26]I will hand them over[d] to those who seek their lives, to Nebuchadnezzar king[e] of Babylon and his officers. Later, however, Egypt will be inhabited[f] as in times past," declares the LORD.

[27]"Do not fear,[g] O Jacob[h] my servant;[i]

I will not let you go entirely unpunished."

A Message About the Philistines

47 This is the word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning the Philistines[m] before Pharaoh attacked Gaza:[n]

[2]This is what the LORD says:

"See how the waters are rising in the north;[o]
they will become an overflowing torrent.
They will overflow the land and everything in it,
the towns and those who live in them.
The people will cry out;
all who dwell in the land will wail[p] [3]at the sound of the hoofs of galloping steeds, at the noise of enemy chariots[q] and the rumble of their wheels.
Fathers will not turn to help their children;
their hands will hang limp.[r] [4]For the day has come to destroy all the Philistines and to cut off all survivors who could help Tyre[s] and Sidon.[t]
The LORD is about to destroy the Philistines,[u]
the remnant from the coasts of Caphtor.[zv]
[5]Gaza will shave[w] her head in mourning;
Ashkelon[x] will be silenced.
O remnant on the plain,
how long will you cut[y] yourselves?
[6]" 'Ah, sword[z] of the LORD,' you cry,
'how long till you rest?
Return to your scabbard;
cease and be still.'[a] [7]But how can it rest when the LORD has commanded it,
when he has ordered it to attack Ashkelon and the coast?"[b]

9Put salt[t] on Moab, for she will be laid waste[f];[u]
her towns will become desolate, with no one to live in them.

10"A curse on him who is lax in doing the LORD's work!
A curse on him who keeps his sword[v] from bloodshed![w]

11"Moab has been at rest[x] from youth, like wine left on its dregs,[y] not poured from one jar to another—she has not gone into exile.
So she tastes as she did,
and her aroma is unchanged.
12But days are coming,"
declares the LORD,
"when I will send men who pour from jars,
and they will pour her out;
they will empty her jars
and smash her jugs.
13Then Moab will be ashamed[z] of Chemosh,[a] as the house of Israel was ashamed when they trusted in Bethel.[b]

15Moab will be destroyed and her towns invaded;

Reuben (see Jos 13:19 and note). Nebo, Kiriathaim and several other towns referred to in this chapter are mentioned also in an important Moabite inscription written by Mesha king of Moab (see 2Ki 3:4) and discovered in 1868 (see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii).

48:2 Heshbon. See vv. 34,45; 49:3; Nu 21:25. Originally allotted to Reuben (see Nu 32:37; Jos 13:17), it was later reassigned to Gad as a Levitical town (see Jos 21:39). will plot. The Hebrew for this phrase is a pun on "Heshbon." Madmen. Location unknown; perhaps a longer spelling of "Dimon" (Isa 15:9—but see note there). In Isa 25:10, the feminine form of the Hebrew word madmen is translated "manure." sword will pursue you. See 9:16; 42:16.

48:3 Horonaim. See vv. 5,34; location unknown.

48:4 broken. Like a clay jar (see 19:11).

48:5 Luhith. Location unknown (see Isa 15:5).

48:6 Flee! Run for your lives. See 51:6. like a bush. See note on 17:6.

48:7 Chemosh. See vv. 13,46; the national god of Moab (see 1Ki 11:7,33; 2Ki 23:13). The Hebrew text here implies the alternate spelling Chemish, as in "Carchemish" (see note on 46:2). will go into exile ... and officials. A stock phrase (see 49:3; Am 1:15). Images of pagan deities were often carried about from place to place (see 43:12; Am 5:26).

48:8 destroyer. See v. 32; probably Nebuchadnezzar. valley ... plateau. Much of western Moab overlooks the Jordan Valley.

48:9 See 17:6. Put salt on Moab. To make its farmland unproductive and barren (see note on Jdg 9:45).

48:10 lax. Or "lazy" (as in Pr 10:4; 12:24). Those whom the Lord designates to destroy Moab are urged on in their appointed task.

48:11 A copy of the Hebrew text of this verse has been found inscribed on a large clay seal, dating to the early Christian era and apparently used for stamping the bitumen with which the mouths of wine jars were sealed. from youth. From her early history. like wine. An apt figure, since Moab was noted for her vineyards (see vv. 32–33; Isa 16:8–10). left on its dregs. In order to improve with age (see Isa 25:6). she has not gone into exile. Unlike Israel.

48:12 days are coming. Moab will be destroyed (see note on v. 1). pour from jars. Gently, in order to leave the unwanted sediment in the bottom. But these men will be the agents of divine judgment and will "smash" Moab (see v. 4 and note).

48:13 Chemosh. See note on v. 7. house of Israel. The northern kingdom, destroyed and exiled in 722–721 B.C. Bethel. Either (1) the well-known town where one of Jeroboam's golden calves was placed (see 1Ki 12:28–30) or, (2) in parallelism with Chemosh, the West Semitic deity known from contemporary Babylonian inscriptions as well as from the Elephantine papyri a century later.

48:14 How can you say ... ? See 2:23; 8:8.

48:15 go down in the slaughter. See 50:27; for war depicted as the slaughter of sacrificial animals see Isa 34:6 and note. King. See note on 46:18. The true King is the Lord, not Chemosh.

16"The fall of Moab is at hand;[h] her calamity will come quickly.
17Mourn for her, all who live around her,
all who know her fame;[i] scepter,[j]

how broken the glorious staff!' 18"Come down from your glory will come up against you and ruin your fortified cities.[m] to all the towns[a] of Moab, far and

declares the LORD.
26"Make her drunk,[d]
for she has defied[e] the LORD.
Let Moab wallow in her vomit;[f]
let her be an object of ridicule.[g] 27Was not Israel the object of your ridicule?[h]
Was she caught among thieves,[i] that you shake your head[j] in scorn[k]
whenever you speak of her?
28Abandon your towns and dwell

you who live in Moab.
Be like a dove[l] that makes its nest

29"We have heard of Moab's pride[n]— her overweening pride and conceit, her pride and arrogance
and the haughtiness[o] of her heart.
30I know her insolence but it is futile,"
declares the LORD,
"and her boasts[p] accomplish

33 Joy and gladness are gone from the orchards and fields of Moab.
I have stopped the flow of wine[u]
from the presses;
no one treads them with shouts of joy.[v]
Although there are shouts,
they are not shouts of joy.

34 "The sound of their cry rises from Heshbon[w] to Elealeh[x] and Jahaz,[y] from Zoar[z] as far as Horonaim[a] and Eglath Shelishiyah, for even the waters of Nimrim are dried up.[b] 35 In Moab I will put an end to those who make offerings on the high places[c] and burn incense[d] to their gods,"
declares the LORD.
36 "So my heart laments[e] for Moab like a flute;
it laments like a flute for the men of Kir Hareseth.[f]
The wealth they acquired[g] is gone.
37 Every head is shaved[h] and every beard[i] cut off;
every hand is slashed
and every waist is covered with sackcloth.[j] 38 On all the roofs in Moab and in the public squares[k]
there is nothing but mourning, for I have broken Moab like a jar[l] that no one wants,"
declares the LORD.
39 "How shattered[m] she is! How they wail!
How Moab turns her back in shame!
Moab has become an object of ridicule,[n] an object of horror to all those around her."

40 This is what the LORD says:

"Look! An eagle is swooping[o] down, spreading its wings[p] over Moab.
41 Kerioth[hq] will be captured and the strongholds taken.
In that day the hearts of Moab's warriors[r] will be like the heart of a woman in labor.[s] 42 Moab will be destroyed[t] as a nation[u]
because she defied[v] the LORD.
43 Terror[w] and pit and snare[x] await you,
O people of Moab,"
declares the LORD.
44 "Whoever flees[y] from the terror will fall into a pit, whoever climbs out of the pit
will be caught in a snare;
for I will bring upon Moab
the year[z] of her punishment,"
declares the LORD.

45 "In the shadow of Heshbon
the fugitives stand helpless, for a fire has gone out from Heshbon, a blaze from the midst of Sihon;[a] it burns the foreheads of Moab,
the skulls[b] of the noisy boasters.
46 Woe to you, O Moab![c]
The people of Chemosh are destroyed;
your sons are taken into exile and your daughters into captivity.

47 "Yet I will restore[d] the fortunes of Moab
in days to come,"
declares the LORD.

Here ends the judgment on Moab.

A Message About Edom

49:9–10pp — Ob 5–6
49:14–16pp — Ob 1–4

7Concerning Edom:[v]

This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"Is there no longer wisdom in Teman?[w]
Has counsel perished from the prudent?
Has their wisdom decayed?
8Turn and flee, hide in deep caves,[x]
you who live in Dedan,[y] for I will bring disaster on Esau at the time I punish him.
9If grape pickers came to you,
would they not leave a few grapes?
If thieves came during the night,
would they not steal only as much as they wanted?
10But I will strip Esau bare;
I will uncover his hiding places,[z]
so that he cannot conceal himself.
His children, relatives and neighbors will perish, and he will be no more.[a] 11Leave your orphans;[b] I will protect their lives.
Your widows[c] too can trust in me."

12This is what the LORD says: "If those who do not deserve to drink the cup[d] must drink it, why should you go unpunished?[e] You will not go unpunished, but must drink it. 13I swear[f] by myself," chief god of the Ammonites (see 1Ki 11:5,7,33), also known as Milcom (see NIV text note on 1Ki 11:5). Both titles are related to the West Semitic word for "king" (see NIV text note here). taken possession of Gad. Probably refers to the aftermath of Tiglath-Pileser III's conquest of Transjordan in 734–732 B.C. The Ammonites later apparently recovered from their defeat and overran some of the territory owned by the Israelite tribe of Gad. his. Molech's.

Its location is unknown. walls. The Hebrew for this word refers not to city walls but to walls separating vineyards from each other (see Nu 21:24). Molech. See note on v. 1. will go into exile ... and officials. See note on 48:7.

49:4 unfaithful daughter. Applied to the people of Judah in 31:22. you trust in your riches. Spoken to Moab in 48:7. Who will attack me? According to Josephus (Antiquities, 10.9.7) Nebuchadnezzar destroyed Ammon in the 23rd year of his reign (582 B.C.).

49:6 See 48:47; see also note on 29:14.

49:7–22 Shares many memorable phrases and concepts with the book of Obadiah.

49:7 Concerning Edom. See Isa 21:11–12; Eze 25:12–14; Am 1:11–12; Ob 1–16. wisdom. For which Edom was justly famed (see notes on Job 1:1; 2:11). Teman. An important Edomite town located south of the Dead Sea (see note on Job 2:11). In v. 20 it is used in parallelism with Edom itself.

49:8 Turn and flee. See v. 24; 46:21. Dedan. See 25:23; see also notes on Isa 21:13; Eze 25:13. Esau. The patriarch Jacob's brother, and another name for Edom (see Ge 25:29–30; 36:1), just as Israel was another name for Jacob (see Ge 32:28). The fact that Esau was Jacob's brother made Edom's enmity toward Israel all the more reprehensible (see Am 1:11; Ob 10).

49:9–10 Paralleled in Ob 5–6.

49:9 grape pickers. See note on v. 13. leave a few grapes. For the poor to glean (see note on Ru 2:2).

49:10 strip ... bare. See note on 13:22. be no more. See 31:15; Isa 19:7.

49:12 Echoed from 25:28–29. those who do not deserve ... must drink it. Though they are God's chosen ones, the people of Judah will be punished because of their sin (see Am 3:2).

49:13 swear by myself. See notes on Ge 22:16; Isa 45:23; see also 22:5; 51:14. Bozrah. Not the Bozrah of 48:24 (see note there); the Edomite Bozrah was probably the capital of Edom in the days of Jeremiah (see v. 22; Ge 36:33; see also notes on Isa 34:6; Am 1:12). The Hebrew root underlying Bozrah is the same as that for "grape pickers" in v. 9. ruin ... cursing. See 25:18. in ruins forever. See 25:9; Ps declares the LORD, "that Bozrah[g] will become a ruin and an object of horror,[h] of reproach[i] and of cursing; and all its towns will be in ruins forever."[j]

14 I have heard a message from the LORD:
An envoy was sent to the nations to say,
"Assemble yourselves to attack it!
Rise up for battle!"

15 "Now I will make you small among the nations, despised among men.
16 The terror you inspire and the pride[k] of your heart have deceived you, you who live in the clefts of the rocks,[l]
who occupy the heights of the hill.
Though you build your nest[m] as high as the eagle's, from there I will bring you down,"
declares the LORD.
17 "Edom will become an object of horror;[n]
all who pass by will be appalled and will scoff because of all its wounds.[o]
18 As Sodom[p] and Gomorrah[q] were overthrown, along with their neighboring towns,"
says the LORD,
"so no one will live there;
no man will dwell[r] in it.

19 "Like a lion[s] coming up from Jordan's thickets[t]
to a rich pastureland,
I will chase Edom from its land in an instant.
Who is the chosen one I will appoint for this?
Who is like[u] me and who can challenge me?[v]
And what shepherd[w] can stand against me?"
20 Therefore, hear what the LORD has planned against Edom,[x]
what he has purposed[y] against those who live in Teman:[z]
The young of the flock[a] will be dragged away;
he will completely destroy[b] their pasture because of them.[c] 21 At the sound of their fall the earth will tremble;[d] their cry[e] will resound to the Red Sea.[j] 22 Look! An eagle will soar and swoop[f] down, spreading its wings over Bozrah.[g]
In that day the hearts of Edom's warriors[h] will be like the heart of a woman in labor.[i]

A Message About Damascus

23 Concerning Damascus:[j]

"Hamath[k] and Arpad[l] are dismayed, for they have heard bad news.
They are disheartened,
troubled like[k] the restless sea.[m] 24 Damascus has become feeble, she has turned to flee
and panic has gripped her;
anguish and pain have seized her,
pain like that of a woman in labor.[n]
25 Why has the city of renown not been abandoned, the town in which I delight?
26 Surely, her young men[o] will fall in the streets;
all her soldiers will be silenced[p] in that day,"
declares the LORD Almighty.
27 "I will set fire[q] to the walls of Damascus;[r] it will consume[s] the fortresses of Ben-Hadad.[t]"

49:17 Echoed from 19:8.

49:18 Repeated almost verbatim in 50:40, and echoed in part in v. 33. Sodom and Gomorrah were overthrown. See Ge 19:24–25. Later calamities were often compared with the one that befell Sodom and Gomorrah (see note on Am 4:11). their neighboring towns. Primarily Admah and Zeboiim (see Ge 14:2,8; Dt 29:23; Hos 11:8).

49:19–21 Repeated almost verbatim in the oracle against Babylon (see 50:44–46).

49:19 Jordan's thickets. See 12:5 and note. shepherd. Ruler (see note on 2:8).

49:20 Teman. See note on v. 7. flock. The people of Edom.

49:22 Echoed from 48:40–41. eagle. Represents Nebuchadnezzar in 48:40 (see note there), and probably here also. A more complete subjugation of the Edomites, however, was accomplished by Nabatean Arabs (perhaps the "desert jackals" of Mal 1:3) beginning c. 550 B.C. Bozrah. See note on v. 13.

49:23 Concerning Damascus. See Isa 17; Am 1:3–5 (see also note on Isa 17:1). Hamath. An important city in the kingdom of Aram (see Isa 10:9 and note). Arpad. See note on Isa 10:9. troubled like the restless sea. See Isa 57:20.

49:24 anguish. See note on 4:19.

A Message About Kedar and Hazor

28 Concerning Kedar[u] and the kingdoms of Hazor,[v] which Nebuchadnezzar[w] king of Babylon attacked:

This is what the LORD says:

"Arise, and attack Kedar and destroy the people of the East.[x] 29 Their tents and their flocks[y] will be taken;
their shelters will be carried off with all their goods and camels.
Men will shout to them,
'Terror[z] on every side!'

30 "Flee quickly away!
Stay in deep caves,[a] you who live in Hazor,[b]"
declares the LORD.
"Nebuchadnezzar[c] king of Babylon has plotted against you;
he has devised a plan against you.

31 "Arise and attack a nation at ease, which lives in confidence,"
declares the LORD,
"a nation that has neither gates nor bars;[d]
its people live alone.
32 Their camels[e] will become plunder,
and their large herds[f] will be booty.
I will scatter to the winds[g] those who are in distant places[1][h] and will bring disaster on them from every side,"
declares the LORD.
33 "Hazor[i] will become a haunt of jackals,[j]
a desolate[k] place forever.
No one will live there;
no man will dwell[l] in it."

A Message About Elam

34 This is the word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning Elam,[m] early in the reign of Zedekiah[n] king of Judah:

35 This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"See, I will break the bow[o] of Elam,
the mainstay of their might.
36 I will bring against Elam the four winds[p]
from the four quarters of the heavens;[q]
I will scatter them to the four winds, and there will not be a nation
where Elam's exiles do not go.
37 I will shatter Elam before their foes, before those who seek their lives;
I will bring disaster upon them,
even my fierce anger,"[r]
declares the LORD.
"I will pursue them with the sword[s]
until I have made an end of them.
38 I will set my throne in Elam and destroy her king and officials,"
declares the LORD.

39 "Yet I will restore[t] the fortunes of Elam
in days to come,"
declares the LORD.

A Message About Babylon

51:15–19pp — Jer 10:12–16

50 This is the word the LORD spoke through Jeremiah the prophet concerning Babylon[u] and the land of the Babylonians[m]:

[1] 32 Or who clip the hair by their foreheads [m] 1 Or Chaldeans; also in verses 8, 25, 35 and 45

49:28 Concerning Kedar. See Isa 21:13–17; see also 2:10 and note. kingdoms of Hazor. See vv. 30,33; not the Hazor north of the Sea of Galilee (see Jos 11:1). These kingdoms may have included Dedan, Tema, Buz and other Arab regions (see 25:23–24 and notes), since the Hebrew root of the proper name Hazor often serves as a common noun meaning "settlement" (see especially Isa 42:11; see also Ge 25:16). Nebuchadnezzar ... attacked. In 599–598 B.C. people of the East. See Job 1:3; Eze 25:4. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "eastern peoples" in Jdg 6:3 (see note there).

49:29 Terror on every side. See note on 6:25.

49:30 Stay in deep caves. See v. 8.

49:31 at ease. Completely secure (see Job 21:23). in confidence. In safety, unsuspecting (see Jdg 18:7; Eze 38:11). has neither gates nor bars. Lives in unwalled villages (see Dt 3:5; cf. 1Sa 23:7). alone. A condition that elsewhere characterizes Israel (see Nu 23:9; Dt 33:28).

49:32 scatter to the winds. See Eze 5:12; 12:4. who are in distant places. See note on 9:26. disaster ... from every side. Contrast the description of Solomon's realm in 1Ki 5:4.

49:33 haunt of jackals. See note on 9:11. No one ... dwell in it. Repeated verbatim from v. 18.

49:34 This is the word of the LORD ... concerning. See note on 46:1. Elam. See note on Isa 11:11. Zedekiah. Ruled 597–586 B.C.

49:35 bow. The Elamites were skilled archers (see Isa 22:6).

49:36 Contrast Isa 11:12. to the four winds. In every direction (see Eze 37:9; Da 7:2; 8:8; see also NIV text note on Zec 6:5).

49:37 I will pursue ... made an end of them. The Hebrew for this sentence is repeated verbatim from 9:16.

49:38 set my throne in. See 1:15 and note.

49:39 See note on 29:14.

50:1–51:64 See Isa 13:1–14:23; 21:1–9. Jeremiah's prophecy concerning Babylon is by far the longest of his oracles against foreign nations (chs. 46–51) and expands on his earlier and briefer statements (see 25:12–14,26). Its date, in whole or in part, is 593 B.C. (see 51:59 and note). The two chapters divide into three main sections (50:2–28; 50:29–51:26; 51:27–58), each of which begins with a summons concerning war against Babylon, Judah's mortal enemy (see 50:2–3; 50:29–32; 51:27–32).

50:1 word. Or "message" (as in 46:13), comprising chs. 50–51. through. See 37:2. The message would eventually be sent by the prophet to Babylon itself (see 51:59–61).

[2]"Announce and proclaim[v] among the nations, lift up a banner[w] and proclaim it;
keep nothing back, but say,
'Babylon will be captured;[x]
Bel[y] will be put to shame,[z]
Marduk[a] filled with terror.
Her images will be put to shame and her idols[b] filled with terror.'
[3]A nation from the north[c] will attack her and lay waste her land.
No one will live[d] in it;
both men and animals[e] will flee away.

[4]"In those days, at that time,"
declares the LORD,
"the people of Israel and the people of Judah together[f] will go in tears[g] to seek[h] the LORD their God.
[5]They will ask the way[i] to Zion and turn their faces toward it.
They will come[j] and bind themselves to the LORD in an everlasting covenant[k] that will not be forgotten.

[6]"My people have been lost sheep;[l] their shepherds[m] have led them astray[n]
and caused them to roam on the mountains.
They wandered over mountain and hill[o]
and forgot their own resting place.[p] [7]Whoever found them devoured[q] them;
their enemies said, 'We are not guilty,[r]
for they sinned against the LORD, their true pasture, the LORD, the hope[s] of their fathers.'
[8]"Flee[t] out of Babylon;[u] leave the land of the Babylonians, and be like the goats that lead the flock.
[9]For I will stir[v] up and bring against Babylon an alliance of great nations[w] from the land of the north.[x]
They will take up their positions against her,
and from the north she will be captured.[y]
Their arrows[z] will be like skilled warriors who do not return empty-handed.
[10]So Babylonia[n] will be plundered;[a] all who plunder her will have their fill,"
declares the LORD.

[11]"Because you rejoice and are glad,
you who pillage my inheritance,[b] because you frolic like a heifer[c] threshing grain and neigh like stallions, [12]your mother will be greatly ashamed;
she who gave you birth will be disgraced.[d]
She will be the least of the nations—
a wilderness, a dry land, a desert.[e] [13]Because of the LORD's anger she will not be inhabited but will be completely desolate.[f]
All who pass Babylon will be horrified[g] and scoff[h] because of all her wounds.[i]

[n] 10 Or Chaldea

50:2 Announce and proclaim. See 4:5; 46:14. lift up a banner. See note on Isa 5:26. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "raise the signal" in 4:6. Babylon will be captured. Fulfilled in 539 B.C. Bel. See 51:44; Isa 46:1 and note. put to shame . . . filled with terror. The repetition of each of these phrases emphasizes that the chief god of Babylon and his images and idols are alike doomed. Her . . . her. Babylon's. idols. Lit. "little pellets of dung." Derogatory references concerning idols and idolatry are common in the OT (see, e.g., Isa 44:9–20).

50:3 nation from the north. In Jeremiah, the foe from the north is almost always Babylon (see, e.g., 1:14–15). Here, however, the reference is probably to Persia. Babylon's nemesis is expanded to "an alliance of great nations" in v. 9, specified by name in 51:27–28. men and animals will flee. See 33:12.

50:4 Israel and . . . Judah together. See note on 3:18. tears. Of repentance (see 3:21–22; 31:9).

50:5 everlasting covenant. See 32:40 and note; see also 31:31–34; 33:20–21.

50:6 lost sheep. See Jesus' parable in Lk 15:3–7. shepherds. Rulers (see note on 2:8). mountain and hill. Places where pagan gods were worshiped (see note on 2:20). their own resting place. The Lord (see v. 7).

50:7 hope of their fathers. See 14:8,22; Ac 28:20.

50:8 like the goats that lead the flock. Judah would be among the first of the captive peoples to be released from exile in Babylon.

50:9 alliance of great nations. See Isa 13:4. They are named in 51:27–28 (see note on v. 3). not return empty-handed. See Isa 55:11.

50:11 you. Babylon. my inheritance. God's land and people (see 2:7; 12:7 and notes). frolic like a heifer. See Mal 4:2. stallions. See note on 8:16.

50:12 mother. Either (1) the city or, more likely, (2) the land (see Isa 50:1; Hos 2:5). least. Lit. "last." As Amalek, "first among the nations" (Nu 24:20) to attack Israel, was destroyed, so Babylon, the last to attack Israel (up to Jeremiah's time), would be destroyed.

50:13 not be inhabited. See Isa 13:20 and note. All who pass . . . because of all her wounds. Said of Jerusalem in 19:8 and of Edom in 49:17.

14"Take up your positions around Babylon,
all you who draw the bow.[j]
Shoot at her! Spare no arrows,[k] for she has sinned against the LORD.
15Shout[l] against her on every side!
She surrenders, her towers fall,
her walls[m] are torn down.
Since this is the vengeance[n] of the LORD,
take vengeance on her;
do to her[o] as she has done to others.[p]
16Cut off from Babylon the sower, and the reaper with his sickle at harvest.
Because of the sword[q] of the oppressor
let everyone return to his own people,[r]
let everyone flee to his own land.[s]

17"Israel is a scattered flock[t] that lions[u] have chased away.
The first to devour[v] him
was the king[w] of Assyria; the last to crush his bones[x] was Nebuchadnezzar[y] king[z] of Babylon."

18Therefore this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says:

"I will punish the king of Babylon and his land
as I punished the king[a] of Assyria.[b] 19But I will bring[c] Israel back to his own pasture and he will graze on Carmel and Bashan;
his appetite will be satisfied[d] on the hills[e] of Ephraim and Gilead.[f]
20In those days, at that time,"
declares the LORD,
"search will be made for Israel's guilt,
but there will be none,[g]
and for the sins[h] of Judah,
but none will be found,
for I will forgive[i] the remnant[j] I spare.

21"Attack the land of Merathaim and those who live in Pekod.[k] Pursue, kill and completely destroy[o]
them,"
declares the LORD.
"Do everything I have commanded
you.
22The noise[l] of battle is in the land,
the noise of great destruction!
23How broken and shattered is the hammer[m] of the whole earth![n]
How desolate[o] is Babylon
among the nations!
24I set a trap[p] for you, O Babylon, and you were caught before you knew it;
you were found and captured[q]
because you opposed[r] the LORD.
25The LORD has opened his arsenal

[o] 21 The Hebrew term refers to the irrevocable giving over of things or persons to the LORD, often by totally destroying them; also in verse 26.

50:14 you who draw the bow. Including the Medes (see Isa 13:17–18).

50:15 Shout. Give the battle cry (see Jos 6:16). vengeance of the LORD. See v. 28; 51:11. Though originating in his sovereign holiness, it was often carried out by his people (see Nu 31:3).

50:16 sword of the oppressor. See 46:16. let everyone ... to his own land. The Hebrew for this passage has a parallel in Isa 13:14. The captive peoples are warned to flee Babylon in order to avoid being cut down by her invaders.

50:17 scattered flock. See Joel 3:2. lions. Symbolic of Assyria and Babylon (see 4:7; Isa 15:9 and notes). The first ... was the king of Assyria. The Assyrians destroyed Israel (the northern kingdom) in 722–721 B.C. the last ... was Nebuchadnezzar. The Babylonians destroyed Judah (the southern kingdom) in 586 B.C.

50:18 I punished the king of Assyria. Nineveh, the proud Assyrian capital, fell in 612 B.C., and Assyria herself was conquered by a coalition of Medes and Babylonians in 609.

50:19 Carmel. See Isa 33:9 and note. Bashan. See note on Isa 2:13. hills of Ephraim. The lush mountainsides of central Israel (see Eze 34:13–14). Gilead. See Nu 32:1; Mic 7:14.

50:20 See 33:8 and note; see also 36:3; Mic 7:18–19.

50:21 Merathaim. Means "double rebellion [against the Lord]," perhaps referring to vv. 24,29 (see Jdg 3:8; Isa 40:2 and notes). It is probably a pun on the Babylonian word marratu, which sometimes referred to a region in southern Babylonia that was characterized by briny waters. Pekod. See Eze 23:23; means "punishment [from the Lord]," a pun on Puqudu, the Babylonian name for an Aramean tribe living on the eastern bank of the lower Tigris River. completely destroy. See NIV text note; v. 26; 25:9; 51:3; see also note on Dt 2:34.

50:22 great destruction. See 4:6; 6:1; cf. 48:3; 51:54.

50:23 hammer of the whole earth. See note on Isa 10:5. How desolate ... among the nations! The Hebrew for this sentence is repeated verbatim in 51:41.

50:24 caught before you knew it. The Persian attack in 539 B.C. would catch the city of Babylon completely by surprise (see 51:8; Isa 47:11).

50:25 weapons of his wrath. The nations (see 51:27–28) that the Lord would use to conquer Babylon (see Isa 13:5 and note). the ... LORD ... has work to do. See 48:10.

50:26 heaps of grain. The Hebrew for this expression is used in Ne 4:2 to describe heaps of rubble that had been burned. Completely destroy her. By burning (see note on v. 21; see also Jos 11:11–13).

Completely destroy[u] her and leave her no remnant.
Kill all her young bulls;[x]
let them go down to the slaughter![y] Woe to them! For their day[z] has come,
the time[a] for them to be punished.
Listen to the fugitives[b] and refugees from Babylon declaring in Zion[c] how the LORD our God has taken vengeance,[d]
vengeance for his temple.[e]

"Summon archers against Babylon, all those who draw the bow.[f] Encamp all around her;
let no one escape.[g]
Repay[h] her for her deeds;[i] do to her as she has done.
For she has defied[j] the LORD,
the Holy One[k] of Israel.
Therefore, her young men[l] will fall in the streets;
all her soldiers will be silenced in that day,"
declares the LORD.
"See, I am against[m] you, O arrogant one," declares the Lord, the LORD Almighty,
"for your day[n] has come,
the time for you to be punished.
The arrogant[o] one will stumble and fall[p]
and no one will help her up;[q]
I will kindle a fire[r] in her towns that will consume all who are around her."

This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"The people of Israel are oppressed,[s] and the people of Judah as well.
All their captors hold them fast,
refusing to let them go.[t]
Yet their Redeemer[u] is strong;
the LORD Almighty[v] is his name.
He will vigorously defend their cause[w]
so that he may bring rest[x] to their land, but unrest to those who live in Babylon.

"A sword[y] against the Babylonians!"[z]
declares the LORD—
"against those who live in Babylon and against her officials and wise[a] men!
A sword against her false prophets!
They will become fools.
A sword against her warriors![b]
They will be filled with terror.[c]
A sword against her horses and chariots[d]
and all the foreigners in her ranks!
They will become women.[e]
A sword against her treasures![f]
They will be plundered.
A drought on[p] her waters![g]
They will dry[h] up.
For it is a land of idols,[i] idols that will go mad with terror.

"So desert creatures[j] and hyenas will live there,
and there the owl will dwell.
It will never again be inhabited or lived in from generation to generation.[k]
As God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah[l]
along with their neighboring towns,"
declares the LORD,
"so no one will live there;
no man will dwell in it.[m]

"Look! An army is coming from the north;[n]

50:27 young bulls. The people of Babylon, including especially her fighting men (see Isa 34:6–7 and notes). go down to the slaughter. See note on 48:15. time for them to be punished. See 11:23; 23:12; 46:21.

50:28 fugitives and refugees. Jewish exiles who had fled the destruction overtaking Babylon. vengeance, vengeance for his temple. See v. 15 and note; 46:10; 51:6. The conquest of Babylon was the Lord's response to Babylon's burning of the Jerusalem temple.

50:29 Repay her for her deeds. Echoed from 25:14 (see 51:24). do to her as she has done. See v. 15. Holy One of Israel. A title of God found frequently in Isaiah (see note on Isa 1:4), it occurs in Jeremiah only here and in 51:5.

50:30 Repeated almost verbatim from 49:26.

50:31–32 A distant echo of 21:13–14, spoken there to Jerusalem but here to Babylon.

50:33 their captors. See Isa 14:2. refusing to let them go. Reminiscent of Pharaoh's repeated refusals before the exodus (see, e.g., Ex 7:14; 8:2,32; 9:2,7).

50:34 Redeemer. See 31:11 and note. defend their cause. See 51:36. bring rest. See 31:2 and note; see also Isa 14:3,7 and notes on Dt 3:20; Jos 1:13.

50:35–38 Cf. Eze 21.

50:36 false prophets . . . will become fools. See Isa 44:25; see also Nu 12:11 and NIV text note on Pr 1:7.

50:37 against her horses and chariots. See Isa 43:17; see also Ps 20:7. foreigners. See 25:20,24; Ne 13:3. will become women. See Na 3:13.

50:39 See Isa 13:20–22 and notes.

50:40 Repeated almost verbatim from 49:18 (see note there).

50:41–43 Repeated almost verbatim from 6:22–24 (see notes there). The earlier oracle, referring to Jerusalem, is here applied to Babylon.

are being stirred[o] up from the ends of the earth.[p] 42They are armed with bows[q] and spears;
they are cruel[r] and without mercy.[s]
They sound like the roaring sea[t]
as they ride on their horses;
they come like men in battle formation to attack you, O Daughter of Babylon.[u]
43The king of Babylon has heard reports about them,
and his hands hang limp.[v]
Anguish has gripped him, pain like that of a woman in labor.[w] 44Like a lion coming up from Jordan's thickets[x]
to a rich pastureland,
I will chase Babylon from its land in an instant.
Who is the chosen[y] one I will appoint for this?
Who is like me and who can challenge me?[z]
And what shepherd can stand against me?"
45Therefore, hear what the LORD has planned against Babylon, what he has purposed[a] against the land of the Babylonians:[b]
The young of the flock will be dragged away;
he will completely destroy their pasture because of them.
46At the sound of Babylon's capture the earth will tremble;[c] its cry[d] will resound among the nations.

51 This is what the LORD says:
"See, I will stir[e] up the spirit of a destroyer against Babylon[f] and the people of Leb Kamai.[q]
2I will send foreigners[g] to Babylon to winnow[h] her and to devastate her land;
they will oppose her on every side
in the day[i] of her disaster.
3Let not the archer string his bow,[j] nor let him put on his armor.[k]
Do not spare her young men;
completely destroy[r] her army.
4They will fall[l] down slain in Babylon,[s]
fatally wounded in her streets.[m] 5For Israel and Judah have not been forsaken[n]
by their God, the LORD Almighty, though their land[t] is full of guilt[o]
before the Holy One of Israel.

6"Flee[p] from Babylon!
Run for your lives!
Do not be destroyed because of her sins.[q]
It is time[r] for the LORD's vengeance;[s] he will pay[t] her what she deserves.
7Babylon was a gold cup[u] in the LORD's hand;
she made the whole earth drunk.
The nations drank her wine;
therefore they have now gone mad.
8Babylon will suddenly fall[v] and be broken.
Wail over her!
Get balm[w] for her pain;
perhaps she can be healed.

9" 'We would have healed Babylon,
but she cannot be healed;
let us leave[x] her and each go to his
own land,
for her judgment[y] reaches to the skies,
it rises as high as the clouds.'

10" 'The LORD has vindicated[z] us;

50:44–46 Repeated almost verbatim from 49:19–21 (see notes there). The oracle against Edom is here applied to Babylon.

51:1 stir up the spirit. See 1Ch 5:26; Hag 1:14. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "aroused . . . the hostility of" in 2Ch 21:16. destroyer. See note on 4:7; here including the "kings of the Medes" (v. 11). Leb Kamai. Lit. "the heart of my attackers" (cf. Rev 17:5, where Babylon is called "the mother of prostitutes and of the abominations of the earth"). Concerning the NIV text note see note on 25:26.

51:2 foreigners . . . to winnow her. The Hebrew for this phrase is an excellent example of alliteration and assonance (see Introduction: Literary Features).

51:3 completely destroy. See NIV text note; 25:9; 50:21,26; see also note on Dt 2:34.

51:4 fall . . . in her streets. See 49:26; 50:30.

51:5 forsaken. Lit. "widowed"; contrast Isa 54:4,6–7 and notes. Holy One of Israel. See note on 50:29.

51:6 Flee . . . ! Run for your lives! See v. 45; 48:6. This was spoken to the people of Judah (as in 50:8). the LORD's vengeance. See note on 50:15. pay her what she deserves. See Isa 59:18; 66:6.

51:7 See 25:15–16 and notes. Babylon was . . . gold. See note on Da 2:32–43.

51:8 Babylon will . . . fall. See Isa 21:9 and note. balm. See note on 8:22.

51:9 The speakers are the nations conquered by Babylon. each go to his own land. See 50:16 and note. her judgment. Her sin, deserving of judgment. reaches to the skies . . . high as the clouds. Poetic exaggeration (see Dt 1:28; Ps 57:10; 108:4).

51:10 Judah speaks (see 50:28). The LORD has vindicated us. See Ps 37:6.

you who destroy the whole earth,"[m]
declares the LORD.
"I will stretch out my hand[n] against you,
roll you off the cliffs,
and make you a burned-out mountain.[o]

for you will be desolate[p] forever,"
declares the LORD.

51:12 prepare an ambush. To keep defenders from retreating to the safety of their fortifications (see Jos 8:14–22; Jdg 20:29–39).

51:13 many waters. The "rivers of Babylon" (Ps 137:1), including the mighty Euphrates along with a magnificent system of irrigation canals, were proverbial. cut off. Like a thread from the loom (see Isa 38:12).

51:14 sworn by himself. See note on Ge 22:16. as with . . . locusts. See 46:23. shout in triumph. See note on 48:33.

51:15–19 Repeated almost verbatim from 10:12–16 (see notes there).

51:20–23 Illustrates Jeremiah's fondness for the effective use of repetition (see 4:23–26; see also Introduction: Literary Features).

51:20 You are my war club. Cf. Pr 25:18; either (1) Cyrus of Persia, soon to conquer Babylon, or, more likely, (2) Babylon, destroyer of nations (see 50:23; see also note on Isa 10:5). shatter. See vv. 21–23. The Hebrew root for this verb is the same as that for "war club." See also Ex 15:6. The Hebrew verb is translated "dash (to pieces)" in Ps 2:9; 137:9; Hos 10:14; 13:16.

51:24 your. Judah's. repay . . . for all the wrong they have done. See v. 6; 50:15,29.

51:25 destroying mountain. Symbolizes a powerful kingdom (see Da 2:35,44–45), here Babylon. burned-out mountain. After being judged by the Lord, Babylon will be like an extinct volcano.

51:26 desolate forever. See 25:12; 50:12–13; see also note on Isa 13:20.

27"Lift up a banner[q] in the land!
Blow the trumpet among the nations!
Prepare the nations for battle against her;
summon against her these kingdoms:[r]
Ararat,[s] Minni and Ashkenaz.[t]
Appoint a commander against her;
send up horses like a swarm of locusts.[u] 28Prepare the nations for battle against her—the kings of the Medes,[v]
their governors and all their officials, and all the countries they rule.[w] 29The land trembles[x] and writhes, for the LORD's purposes[y] against Babylon stand—to lay waste[z] the land of Babylon so that no one will live there.[a] 30Babylon's warriors[b] have stopped fighting;
they remain in their strongholds.
Their strength is exhausted;
they have become like women.[c]
Her dwellings are set on fire;[d]
the bars[e] of her gates are broken.
31One courier[f] follows another and messenger follows messenger to announce to the king of Babylon that his entire city is captured,[g] 32the river crossings seized, the marshes set on fire,[h]
and the soldiers terrified.[i]"

33This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says:

"The Daughter of Babylon[j] is like a threshing floor[k]
at the time it is trampled;
the time to harvest[l] her will soon come.[m]"

34"Nebuchadnezzar[n] king of Babylon has devoured[o] us,[p] he has thrown us into confusion,
he has made us an empty jar.
Like a serpent he has swallowed us and filled his stomach with our delicacies, and then has spewed[q] us out.
35May the violence[r] done to our flesh[v] be upon Babylon," say the inhabitants of Zion.
"May our blood be on those who live in Babylonia," says Jerusalem.[s]

36Therefore, this is what the LORD says:

"See, I will defend your cause[t]
and avenge[u] you;
I will dry up[v] her sea
and make her springs dry.
37Babylon will be a heap of ruins,
a haunt[w] of jackals,
an object of horror and scorn,[x]
a place where no one lives.[y] 38Her people all roar like young lions,[z] they growl like lion cubs.
39But while they are aroused,
I will set out a feast for them and make them drunk,[a] so that they shout with laughter—then sleep forever[b] and not awake," declares the LORD.[c] 40"I will bring them down like lambs to the slaughter, like rams and goats.[d]

41"How Sheshach[we] will be captured,[f]
the boast of the whole earth seized!
What a horror[g] Babylon will be among the nations!
42The sea will rise over Babylon;

"Consecrate" (see note on 6:4). these kingdoms. Allies of the Medes (see v. 11 and note). Ararat. See note on Ge 8:4. Minni. A region mentioned in Assyrian inscriptions, it was located somewhere in Armenia. Ashkenaz. See note on Ge 10:3. commander. The Hebrew for this word appears again in the OT only in Na 3:17 ("officials"). It is a Babylonian loanword meaning lit. "scribe." like ... locusts. See note on 46:23.

51:42 sea ... its roaring waves. See Isa 17:12 and note; here and in v. 55, Babylon's enemies (see 46:7 and note).

43Her towns will be desolate, a dry and desert[i] land,
a land where no one lives,
through which no man travels.[j] 44I will punish Bel[k] in Babylon and make him spew out[l] what he has swallowed.
The nations will no longer stream to him.
And the wall[m] of Babylon will fall.

45"Come out[n] of her, my people!
Run[o] for your lives!
Run from the fierce anger[p] of the LORD.
46Do not lose heart[q] or be afraid[r]
when rumors[s] are heard in the land;
one rumor comes this year, another the next,
rumors of violence in the land and of ruler against ruler.
47For the time will surely come when I will punish the idols[t] of Babylon;
her whole land will be disgraced[u]
and her slain will all lie fallen within her.[v] 48Then heaven and earth and all that is in them will shout[w] for joy over Babylon, for out of the north[x] destroyers[y] will attack her,"
declares the LORD.

49"Babylon must fall because of Israel's slain, just as the slain in all the earth have fallen because of Babylon.[z] 50You who have escaped the sword, leave[a] and do not linger!
Remember[b] the LORD in a distant land,[c]
and think on Jerusalem."

51"We are disgraced,[d] for we have been insulted and shame covers our faces, because foreigners have entered the holy places of the LORD's house."[e]

52"But days are coming," declares the LORD,
"when I will punish her idols,[f] and throughout her land
the wounded will groan.[g] 53Even if Babylon reaches the sky[h] and fortifies her lofty stronghold,
I will send destroyers[i] against her,"
declares the LORD.

54"The sound of a cry[j] comes from Babylon, the sound of great destruction[k]
from the land of the Babylonians.[x] 55The LORD will destroy Babylon;
he will silence[l] her noisy din.
Waves[m] ⌞of enemies⌟ will rage like great waters;
the roar of their voices will resound.
56A destroyer[n] will come against Babylon;
her warriors will be captured, and their bows will be broken.[o]
For the LORD is a God of retribution;
he will repay[p] in full.
57I will make her officials[q] and wise[r] men drunk,[s] her governors, officers and warriors as well;
they will sleep[t] forever and not awake," declares the King,[u] whose name is the LORD Almighty.

58This is what the LORD Almighty says:

"Babylon's thick wall[v] will be leveled and her high gates[w] set on fire;

59This is the message Jeremiah gave to the staff officer Seraiah son of Neriah,[a] the son of Mahseiah, when he went to Babylon with Zedekiah[b] king of Judah in the fourth[c] year of his reign. 60Jeremiah had written on a scroll[d] about all the disasters that would come upon Babylon—all that had been recorded concerning Babylon. 61He said to Seraiah, "When you get to Babylon, see that you read all these words aloud. 62Then say, 'O LORD, you have said you will destroy this place, so that neither man nor animal will live in it; it will be desolate[e] forever.' 63When you finish reading this scroll, tie a stone to it and throw it into the Euphrates.[f] 64Then say, 'So will Babylon sink to rise no more[g] because of the disaster I will bring upon her. And her people[h] will fall.' "[i]

The words of Jeremiah end[j] here.

The Fall of Jerusalem

52:1–3pp — 2Ki 24:18–20; 2Ch 36:11–16
52:4–16pp — Jer 39:1–10
52:4–21pp — 2Ki 25:1–21; 2Ch 36:17–20

52 Zedekiah[k] was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eleven years. His mother's name was Hamutal daughter of Jeremiah; she was from Libnah.[l] 2He did evil in the eyes of the LORD, just as Jehoiakim[m] had done. 3It was because of the LORD's anger that all this happened to Jerusalem and Judah,[n] and in the end he thrust them from his presence.[o]

Now Zedekiah rebelled[p] against the king of Babylon.

6By the ninth day of the fourth month the famine in the city had become so severe that there was no food for the people to eat.[u] 7Then the city wall was broken through, and the whole army fled.[v] They left the city at night through the gate between the two walls near the king's garden, though the Babylonians[y] were surrounding the city. They fled toward the Arabah,[z] 8but the Babylonian[a] army pursued King Zedekiah and overtook him in the plains of Jericho. All his soldiers were separated from him and scattered, 9and he was captured.[w]

He was taken to the king of Babylon at Riblah[x] in the land of Hamath,[y] where he pronounced sentence on him. 10There at Riblah the king of Babylon slaughtered the sons[z] of Zedekiah before his eyes; he also killed all the officials of Judah. 11Then he put out Zedekiah's eyes, bound him with bronze shackles and took him to Babylon, where he put him in prison till the day of his death.[a]

12On the tenth day of the fifth[b] month, in the nineteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, Nebuzaradan[c] commander of the imperial guard, who served the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. 13He set fire[d] to the temple[e] of the LORD, the royal palace and all the houses[f] of Jerusalem. Every important building he burned down. 14The whole Babylonian army under the commander of the imperial guard broke down all the walls[g] around Jerusalem. 15Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard carried into exile[h] some of the poorest people and those who remained in the city, along with the rest of the craftsmen[b] and those who had gone over[i] to the king of Babylon. 16But Nebuzaradan left behind[j] the rest of the poorest people

51:59–64 A prose conclusion to the book in general and to the oracle against Babylon in particular.

51:59 staff officer. Lit. "resting-place officer" (see Nu 10:33), the official responsible for determining when and where his men on the march should stay overnight. Seraiah son of Neriah. An ancient seal has been found that bears the inscription "Belonging to Seraiah son of Neriah," and it no doubt refers to the man mentioned here. He was a brother of Jeremiah's secretary, Baruch (see 32:12). he. Seraiah. Zedekiah ... fourth year. 593 B.C. Zedekiah may have been summoned to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar to be interrogated by him (see note on 27:3).

51:60 scroll. See note on Ex 17:14. all that had been recorded concerning Babylon. Probably the oracle of 50:2–51:58 (see note on 50:1).

51:62 you have said. See v. 26.

51:64 The words of Jeremiah end here. A note by the final compiler of the book of Jeremiah (see 48:47).

52:1–27,31–34 Paralleled almost verbatim in 2Ki 24:18–25:21,27–30 (see notes there). (52:4–27 is summarized in 39:1–10; see notes there.) The writer(s) of Kings and the writer of the appendix to Jeremiah (perhaps Baruch) doubtless had access to the same sources. It is unlikely that either of the two accounts copied from the other, since each has peculiarities characteristic of the larger work that it concludes. In a few passages, Jeremiah is fuller than Kings (compare especially vv. 10–11 with 2Ki 25:7; v. 15 with 2Ki 25:11; vv. 19–23 with 2Ki 25:15–17; v. 31 with 2Ki 25:27; v. 34 with 2Ki 25:30).

52:1 Jeremiah. Not the prophet.

52:12 tenth day. The parallel in 2Ki 25:8 reads "seventh day"; one of the numbers is a copyist's error, but we cannot tell which (see vv. 22,25,31).

of the land to work the vineyards and fields.

17The Babylonians broke up the bronze pillars,[k] the movable stands[l] and the bronze Sea[m] that were at the temple of the LORD and they carried all the bronze to Babylon.[n] 18They also took away the pots, shovels, wick trimmers, sprinkling bowls,[o] dishes and all the bronze articles used in the temple service.[p] 19The commander of the imperial guard took away the basins, censers,[q] sprinkling bowls, pots, lampstands,[r] dishes[s] and bowls used for drink offerings[t]—all that were made of pure gold or silver.[u]

20The bronze from the two pillars, the Sea and the twelve bronze bulls[v] under it, and the movable stands, which King Solomon had made for the temple of the LORD, was more than could be weighed.[w] 21Each of the pillars was eighteen cubits high and twelve cubits in circumference[c]; each was four fingers thick, and hollow.[x] 22The bronze capital[y] on top of the one pillar was five cubits[d] high and was decorated with a network and pomegranates[z] of bronze all around. The other pillar, with its pomegranates, was similar. 23There were ninety-six pomegranates on the sides; the total number of pomegranates[a] above the surrounding network was a hundred.[b]

24The commander of the guard took as prisoners Seraiah[c] the chief priest, Zephaniah[d] the priest next in rank and the three doorkeepers.[e] 25Of those still in the city, he took the officer in charge of the fighting men, and seven royal advisers. He also took the secretary[f] who was chief officer in charge of conscripting the people of the land and sixty of his men who were found in the city. 26Nebuzaradan[g] the commander took them all and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. 27There at Riblah,[h] in the land of Hamath, the king had them executed.

So Judah went into captivity, away[i] from her land. 28This is the number of the people Nebuchadnezzar carried into exile:[j] in the seventh year, 3,023 Jews;

29in Nebuchadnezzar's eighteenth year,
832 people from Jerusalem;
30in his twenty-third year,
745 Jews taken into exile[k] by Nebuzaradan the commander of the imperial guard.
There were 4,600 people in all.[l]

Jehoiachin Released

52:31–34pp — 2Ki 25:27–30

31In the thirty-seventh year of the exile of Jehoiachin[m] king of Judah, in the year Evil-Merodach[e] became king of Babylon, he released Jehoiachin king of Judah and freed him from prison on the twenty-fifth day of the twelfth month. 32He spoke kindly to him and gave him a seat of honor higher than those of the other kings who were with him in Babylon. 33So Jehoiachin put aside his prison clothes and for the rest of his life ate regularly at the king's table.[n] 34Day by day the king of Babylon gave Jehoiachin a regular allowance[o] as long as he lived, till the day of his death.

52:21–23 See notes on 1Ki 7:15–22.

52:22 five. The parallel in 2Ki 25:17 reads "three" (see NIV text note there), probably a copyist's error.

52:25 seven. The parallel in 2Ki 25:19 reads "five"; see note on v. 12.

52:28 seventh year. Of Nebuchadnezzar's reign (see vv. 29–30), which was 597 B.C. 3,023. Probably includes only adult males, since the corresponding figure(s) in 2Ki 24:14,16 are significantly higher.

52:29 eighteenth year. 586 B.C. In v. 12 the same year is called the "nineteenth year"; the difference is due to alternate ways of computing regnal years (for a similar case see note on Da 1:1).

52:30 twenty-third year. 581 B.C. taken into exile by Nebuzaradan. Either (1) to quell further rebellion (see v. 3), or (2) in belated reprisal for Gedaliah's assassination (see 41:1–3).

52:31–34 Paralleled almost verbatim in 2Ki 25:27–30 (see notes there). Jeremiah and Kings thus conclude with the same happy ending.

52:31 twenty-fifth. The parallel in 2Ki 25:27 reads "twenty-seventh"; see note on v. 12.

52:34 till the day of his death. See v. 11. Since the phrase does not appear in the parallel verses in 2 Kings in either case, its intention is probably to highlight the contrast between Zedekiah, who remained in prison till the day he died (see v. 11), and Jehoiachin, who was released from prison and treated well by the Babylonian kings till the day he died.

Lamentations

Title

The Hebrew title of the book is 'ekah ("How . . . !"), the first word not only in 1:1 but also in 2:1; 4:1. Because of its subject matter, the book is also referred to in Jewish tradition as qinot, "Lamentations" (the title given to it in the Greek Septuagint and Latin Vulgate).

Author and Date

Although Lamentations is anonymous and we cannot be certain who wrote it, ancient Jewish and Christian tradition ascribes it to Jeremiah. This is partly on the basis of 2Ch 35:25 (though the "Laments" are not to be identified with the OT book of Lamentations); partly on the basis of such texts as Jer 7:29; 8:21; 9:1,10,20; and partly because of the similarity of vocabulary and style between the books of Jeremiah and Lamentations. Also, since the prophet Jeremiah was an eyewitness to the divine judgment on Jerusalem in 586 B.C., it is reasonable to assume that he was the author of the book that so vividly portrays the event. Lamentations poignantly shares the overwhelming sense of loss that accompanied the destruction of the city, temple and ritual as well as the exile of Judah's inhabitants.

The earliest possible date for the book is 586 B.C., and the latest is 516 (when the rebuilt Jerusalem temple was dedicated). The graphic immediacy of Lamentations argues for an earlier date, probably before 575.

Literary Features

The entire book is poetic. Each of its five laments contains 22 verses (except the third, which has 66 verses—3 times 22), reflecting the number of letters in the Hebrew alphabet. Moreover, the first four are alphabetic acrostics (see NIV text notes on 1:1; 2:1; 3:1; 4:1). The first three laments are equal in length; in the first and second each verse (except 1:7) has three Hebrew lines, while in the third each of the 66 verses has one Hebrew line. The fourth is shorter (each of its 22 verses has two Hebrew lines), and the fifth is shorter still (each verse has one Hebrew line). Use of the alphabet as a formal structure indicates that, however passionate these laments, they were composed with studied care.

Themes and Theology

Lamentations is not the only OT book that contains individual or community laments. (A large number of the Psalms are lament poems, and every prophetic book except Haggai includes one or more examples of the lament genre.) However, it is the only book that consists solely of laments.

As a series of laments over the destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C., it stands in a tradition with such ancient non-Biblical writings as the Sumerian "Lamentation over the Destruction of Ur," "Lamentation over the Destruction of Sumer and Ur," and "Lamentation over the Destruction of Nippur." Orthodox Jews customarily read it aloud in its entirety on the ninth day of Ab, the traditional date of the destruction of Solomon's temple in 586 as well as the date of the destruction of Herod's temple in A.D. 70. Many also read it each week at the Western Wall (known also as the "Wailing Wall") in the Old City of Jerusalem. In addition the book is important in traditional Roman Catholic liturgy, where it is read during the last three days of Holy Week.

This latter tradition reminds us that the book of Lamentations describes Jerusalem's destruction not only for its own sake but also for the profound theological lessons to be learned from it. The horrors of 586 B.C. are not overlooked, of course:

1. Wholesale devastation and slaughter engulf kings (2:6,9; 4:20), princes (1:6; 2:2,9; 4:7–8; 5:12), elders (1:19; 2:10; 4:16; 5:12), priests (1:4,19; 2:6,20; 4:16), prophets (2:9,20) and commoners (2:10–12; 3:48; 4:6) alike.
2. Starving mothers are reduced to cannibalism (2:20; 4:10).
3. The flower of Judah's citizenry is dragged off into ignominious exile (1:3,18).
4. An elaborate system of ceremony and worship comes to an end (1:4,10).

But other matters, ultimately of far greater significance, are probed as well.

The author of Lamentations understands clearly that the Babylonians were merely the human agents of divine retribution and that God himself has destroyed his city and temple (1:12–15; 2:1–8,17,22; 4:11). Nor was the Lord's action arbitrary; blatant, God-defying sin and covenant-breaking rebellion were the root causes of his people's woes (1:5,8–9; 4:13; 5:7,16). Although weeping (1:16; 2:11,18; 3:48–51) is to be expected and cries for redress against the enemy (1:22; 3:59–66) are understandable, the proper response in the wake of judgment is sincere, heartfelt contrition (3:40–42). The book that begins with lament (1:1–2) rightly ends in repentance (5:21–22).

In the middle of the book, the theology of Lamentations reaches its apex as it focuses on the goodness of God. He is the Lord of hope (3:21,24–25), of love (3:22), of faithfulness (3:23), of salvation (3:26). In spite of all evidence to the contrary, "his compassions never fail. They are new every morning; great is your faithfulness" (3:22–23).

7In the days of her affliction and wandering Jerusalem remembers all the treasures that were hers in days of old.
When her people fell into enemy hands,
there was no one to help her.[v]
Her enemies looked at her and laughed[w] at her destruction.

8Jerusalem has sinned[x] greatly and so has become unclean.[y]
All who honored her despise her, for they have seen her nakedness;[z]
she herself groans[a] and turns away.

she did not consider her future.[b]
Her fall[c] was astounding;
there was none to comfort[d] her.

for the enemy has triumphed."

10The enemy laid hands on all her treasures;[f]
she saw pagan nations enter her sanctuary[g]—
those you had forbidden[h]
to enter your assembly.

11All her people groan[i] as they search for bread;[j] they barter their treasures for food
to keep themselves alive.
"Look, O LORD, and consider, for I am despised."

[a] This chapter is an acrostic poem, the verses of which begin with the successive letters of the Hebrew alphabet.

1:1 How . . . ! Expresses a mixture of shock and despair (see 2:1; 4:1–2; Isa 1:21; Jer 48:17). deserted lies. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "sat alone" in Jer 15:17. There the prophet sat alone; here his beloved city does the same. city. Jerusalem. once so full of people. See Isa 1:21. full . . . great. The Hebrew is the same for both words. great among the nations. Contrast Jer 49:15. slave. The Hebrew for this word is translated "forced labor" in Ex 1:11; 1Ki 4:6.

1:2 Bitterly she weeps. As did Jeremiah, and for much the same reason (see Jer 13:17). at night. See 2:18–19. lovers . . . friends. Political allies (see, e.g., Jer 2:36–37; 27:3). none to comfort her. See vv. 9,16–17,21. All . . . have betrayed her. See v. 19; like Edom (see 4:21–22; Ps 137:7) and Ammon (see Jer 40:14; Eze 25:2–3,6). become her enemies. See v. 17.

1:3 among the nations . . . finds no resting place. As Moses warned in Dt 28:65.

1:4 mourn. Are deserted and desolate (see Jdg 5:6; Isa 33:8 and notes). appointed feasts. See Ex 23:14–17 and notes; Lev 23:2. maidens grieve. A sign of utter defeat (contrast Ex 15:20 and note; Jdg 21:19,21; Ps 68:25; Jer 31:13).

1:5 masters. Lit. "head"—in accordance with Dt 28:44 (contrast Dt 28:13). at ease. See Jer 12:1.

1:6 Daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants. Her princes . . . have fled before the pursuer. See Jer 52:7–8.

1:7 affliction and wandering. See 3:19. treasures. See vv. 10–11. days of old. For example, the days of David and Solomon. fell into enemy hands. See 2Sa 24:14. destruction. Lit. "cessation." The Hebrew root for this word is the same as that for "Sabbath"—and may be intended as an ironic pun (see Lev 26:34–35).

1:8 unclean. See v. 17 and note. It refers to the ceremonial uncleanness of a woman during her monthly period (see Lev 12:2,5; 15:19); Jerusalem is here personified as a woman (see v. 6).

1:9 filthiness. Ceremonial uncleanness (see note on Lev 4:12), here caused by willful sin. did not consider her future. See Isa 47:7. Look, O LORD. See vv. 11,20. enemy has triumphed. See v. 16.

1:10 forbidden to enter your assembly. See Eze 44:7,9.

1:11 search for bread. Food shortages were an ever-present problem during and after the siege of Jerusalem. keep themselves alive. See v. 19; 1Sa 30:12.

1:12 See v. 18. Up to this point, the author has been the main speaker. Now, at the halfway mark of ch. 1, the main Look around and see.

Is any suffering like my suffering[l]
that was inflicted on me, that the LORD brought on me
in the day of his fierce anger?[m]

13"From on high he sent fire, sent it down into my bones.[n]
He spread a net[o] for my feet and turned me back.
He made me desolate,[p]
faint[q] all the day long.

14"My sins have been bound into a yoke[b];[r]
by his hands they were woven together.
They have come upon my neck and the Lord has sapped my strength.
He has handed me over[s]
to those I cannot withstand.

15"The Lord has rejected
all the warriors in my midst;[t] he has summoned an army[u] against me to[c] crush my young men.[v]
In his winepress[w] the Lord has trampled[x]
the Virgin Daughter[y] of Judah.

16"This is why I weep and my eyes overflow with tears.[z]
No one is near to comfort[a] me, no one to restore my spirit.
My children are destitute
because the enemy has prevailed."[b]

17Zion stretches out her hands,[c] but there is no one to comfort her.
The LORD has decreed for Jacob that his neighbors become his foes;[d] Jerusalem has become an unclean[e] thing[f] among them.

18"The LORD is righteous,[g]
yet I rebelled[h] against his command.
Listen, all you peoples;
look upon my suffering.[i]
My young men and maidens
have gone into exile.[j]

19"I called to my allies[k]
but they betrayed me.
My priests and my elders perished[l] in the city while they searched for food
to keep themselves alive.

20"See, O LORD, how distressed[m] I am!
I am in torment[n] within,
and in my heart I am disturbed,[o]
for I have been most rebellious.[p]
Outside, the sword bereaves;
inside, there is only death.[q]

21"People have heard my groaning,[r]
but there is no one to comfort me.[s]
All my enemies have heard of my distress;
they rejoice[t] at what you have done.
May you bring the day[u] you have announced
so they may become like me.

22"Let all their wickedness come before you;
deal with them
as you have dealt with me because of all my sins.[v]
My groans[w] are many and my heart is faint."

speaker changes to Jerusalem personified. fierce anger. See 2:3,6; 4:11. The expression is common in Jeremiah (see Jer 4:8,26; 12:13; 25:37–38; 44:6; 49:37; 51:45).

1:13 From on high he sent fire. See 1Ki 18:38; 2Ki 1:10,12,14; 2Ch 7:1. my bones. The bones of Jerusalem (personified as a woman; see note on v. 8). In a strikingly similar image, the word of the Lord was like fire in the bones of the prophet (see Jer 20:9 and note). spread a net for my feet. See Ps 57:6; Pr 29:5. desolate. Like Absalom's sister Tamar (see 2Sa 13:20).

1:15 In his winepress ... trampled. A common metaphor of divine judgment (see Isa 63:2–3; Joel 3:13; Rev 14:19–20; 19:15). Virgin Daughter of Judah. See 2:13; see also notes on 2Ki 19:21; Jer 14:17.

1:16 eyes overflow with tears. See 3:48; Jer 9:18; 13:17; 14:17; see also Jer 9:1. enemy has prevailed. See v. 9.

1:18 The LORD is righteous. See Dt 32:4; 2Ch 12:6; Ps 119:137; Jer 12:1; see also note on Ps 4:1. rebelled against his command. See Nu 20:24. Listen, all you peoples. See 1Ki 22:28; Ps 49:1; Mic 1:2.

1:19 allies ... betrayed me. See v. 2 and note. keep themselves alive. See note on v. 11.

1:20 I am in torment within. Repeated in 2:11. Outside ... inside. See Jer 14:18. The Sumerian "Lamentation over the Destruction of Ur" contains a striking parallel: "Inside it we die of famine, outside we are killed by weapons" (lines 403–404).

1:21 day you have announced. Day of God's judgment on the nations (see Jer 25:15–38).

1:22 wickedness ... before you. See Ps 109:14–15. my heart is faint. The same expression is found in Jer 8:18; see La 5:17; Isa 1:5.

2:1 How ...! See note on 1:1. Daughter of Zion. See 1:6 and note. hurled down the splendor of Israel. The imagery is that of a falling star (as in Isa 14:12). footstool. Either (1) the ark of the covenant (see 1Ch 28:2) or, more likely, (2) Mount Zion (see Ps 99:5,9).

He has hurled down the splendor of Israel from heaven to earth;
he has not remembered his footstool[y]
in the day of his anger.[z]

[2]Without pity[a] the Lord has swallowed[b] up all the dwellings of Jacob;
in his wrath he has torn down
the strongholds[c] of the Daughter of Judah.
He has brought her kingdom and its princes down to the ground[d] in dishonor.

[3]In fierce anger he has cut off
every horn[e] of Israel.
He has withdrawn his right hand[f] at the approach of the enemy.
He has burned in Jacob like a flaming fire that consumes everything around it.[g]

[4]Like an enemy he has strung his bow;[h] his right hand is ready.
Like a foe he has slain
all who were pleasing to the eye;[i] he has poured out his wrath[j] like fire[k]
on the tent[l] of the Daughter of Zion.

[5]The Lord is like an enemy;[m]
he has swallowed up Israel.
He has swallowed up all her palaces and destroyed her strongholds.[n]
He has multiplied mourning and lamentation[o]
for the Daughter of Judah.[p]

[6]He has laid waste his dwelling like a garden;
he has destroyed[q] his place of meeting.[r]
The LORD has made Zion forget her appointed feasts and her Sabbaths;[s] in his fierce anger he has spurned both king and priest.[t]

[7]The Lord has rejected his altar and abandoned his sanctuary.[u]
He has handed over to the enemy
the walls of her palaces;[v]
they have raised a shout in the house of the LORD as on the day of an appointed feast.[w]

[8]The LORD determined to tear down the wall around the Daughter of Zion.[x]
He stretched out a measuring line[y]
and did not withhold his hand from destroying.
He made ramparts[z] and walls lament;
together they wasted away.[a]

[9]Her gates[b] have sunk into the ground;
their bars[c] he has broken and destroyed.
Her king and her princes are exiled[d] among the nations,
the law[e] is no more,

The young women of Jerusalem have bowed their heads to the ground.[l]

[y] 3 Or all the strength; or every king; horn here symbolizes strength.

2:2 swallowed up all the dwellings. See v. 5. Daughter of Judah. See note on 1:15.
2:3 cut off every horn. See Jer 48:25. flaming fire that consumes. See Nu 11:3; Job 1:16; Ps 106:18.
2:4 strung his bow. See Dt 32:42; Ps 7:12–13; Zec 9:13–14. poured out his wrath. See Ps 69:24; 79:6; Jer 6:11; 7:20; 10:25; 42:18; 44:6; Hos 5:10; Zep 3:8.
2:5 palaces ... strongholds. See Hos 8:14. He has multiplied ... Daughter of Judah. The Sumerian "Lamentation over the Destruction of Sumer and Ur" offers this parallel: "In the desolate city there was uttered nothing but laments and dirges" (lines 361–362, 486–487). Daughter of Judah. See note on 1:15.
2:6 his dwelling. Originally the tabernacle, later the temple (see Ps 27:4–5). like a garden. Cf. Isa 5:5–6; Jer 5:10; 12:10. his place of meeting. The tabernacle/temple, where God met with his people (see Ex 25:22; 29:42–43; Ps 74:4).
2:7 rejected ... abandoned. These two verbs are found in Ps 89:38–39 ("rejected ... renounced") in connection with the Lord's forsaking of the king from the dynasty of David. raised a shout in the house of the LORD. See Ps 74:4. as on the day of an appointed feast. See Hos 12:9.
2:8 determined to tear down. See Jer 32:31. Daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants. stretched out a measuring line. To destroy with the same standards of precision and propriety used in building (see Isa 28:17 and note; Am 7:7–8 and notes). ramparts ... walls. See Isa 26:1. The ramparts were the outer fortifications (see 2Sa 20:15).
2:9 prophets no longer find visions. The Lord was no longer communicating to his people through prophets (see Ps 74:9; Am 8:11 and note; Mic 3:7).
2:10 elders. See note on Ex 3:16. sit on the ground in silence ... sprinkled dust on their heads and put on sackcloth ... bowed their heads. Signs of mourning (see Job 2:12–13; Ps 35:13–14). young women of Jerusalem. See 1:4 and note.
2:11 My eyes fail. See note on Ps 6:7. weeping. See note on 1:16. I am in torment within. Repeated from 1:20. my people. Lit. "the daughter of my people" (see 3:48; 4:10; see

I am in torment within,[n]
my heart[o] is poured out[p] on the ground because my people are destroyed,[q]
because children and infants faint[r] in the streets of the city.

12 They say to their mothers,
"Where is bread and wine?"[s] as they faint like wounded men in the streets of the city, as their lives ebb away[t] in their mothers' arms.[u]

13 What can I say for you?[v]
With what can I compare you,
O Daughter[w] of Jerusalem?
To what can I liken you,
that I may comfort you,
O Virgin Daughter of Zion?[x]
Your wound is as deep as the sea.[y]
Who can heal you?

14 The visions of your prophets were false[z] and worthless;
they did not expose your sin to ward off your captivity.[a]
The oracles they gave you were false and misleading.[b]

15 All who pass your way
clap their hands at you;[c] they scoff[d] and shake their heads[e] at the Daughter of Jerusalem:[f]
"Is this the city that was called the perfection of beauty,[g]
the joy of the whole earth?"[h]

16 All your enemies open their mouths wide against you;[i] they scoff and gnash their teeth[j] and say, "We have swallowed her up.[k]
This is the day we have waited for;
we have lived to see it."[l]

17 The LORD has done what he planned;
he has fulfilled[m] his word,
which he decreed long ago.[n]
He has overthrown you without pity,[o]
he has let the enemy gloat over you,[p]
he has exalted the horn[g] of your foes.[q]

18 The hearts of the people cry out to the Lord.[r]
O wall of the Daughter of Zion,[s] let your tears[t] flow like a river day and night;[u]
give yourself no relief,
your eyes no rest.[v]

19 Arise, cry out in the night, as the watches of the night begin;
pour out your heart[w] like water in the presence of the Lord.[x]
Lift up your hands[y] to him for the lives of your children, who faint[z] from hunger
at the head of every street.

20 "Look, O LORD, and consider:
Whom have you ever treated like this?
Should women eat their offspring,[a]
the children they have cared for?[b] Should priest and prophet be killed[c] in the sanctuary of the Lord?[d]

21 "Young and old lie together in the dust of the streets;
my young men and maidens
have fallen by the sword.[e]
You have slain them in the day of your anger;
you have slaughtered them without pity.[f]

also note on Jer 14:17).

2:12 lives ebb away. See Job 30:16; Ps 107:5; Jnh 2:7.

2:13 say for you. See Job 29:11. Daughter of Jerusalem ... Virgin Daughter of Zion. See notes on 1:6; Jer 14:17.

2:14 prophets ... false. Jeremiah often denounced false prophets (see Jer 5:12–13; 6:13–15; 8:10–12; 14:13–15; 23:9–40; 27:9–28:17). worthless. Or "whitewash(ed)"; for an explanation of this image see Eze 13:10–16; 22:28. misleading. The unusual Hebrew word underlying this word comes from the same root as that underlying "banish" in Jer 27:10,15: The lies of false prophets "mislead" the people and thus lead to "banishment" by the Lord—so they are "banishing" in their effect.

2:15 who pass your way. See 1:12. clap their hands. See Job 27:23. scoff. See v. 16; see also note on Jer 19:8. shake their heads. See note on Job 16:4; see also Ps 44:14; 109:25; Jer 18:16. Daughter of Jerusalem. See notes on 1:6; Jer 14:17. was called the perfection of beauty. As in Ps 50:2 (see note there). was called ... the joy of the whole earth. As in Ps 48:2 (see note there; cf. Jer 51:41).

2:16 swallowed her up. See vv. 2,5; Jer 51:34.

2:17 fulfilled his word. See Isa 55:11 and note. long ago. The days of Moses (see, e.g., the threats of Lev 26:23–39; Dt 28:15–68). exalted the horn. Increased the strength (see NIV text note; see also 1Sa 2:1; Ps 75:4).

2:18 See Jer 14:17. O wall. A city gate is similarly addressed in Isa 14:31. Daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants.

2:19 watches of the night begin. See note on Jdg 7:19; see also Ps 63:6. pour out your heart. In earnest prayer (see Ps 62:8). like water. A common simile with "pour out" (see Dt 12:16,24; 15:23; Ps 79:3; Hos 5:10). Lift up your hands. In prayer and praise (see Ps 28:2; 63:4; 1Ti 2:8). children, who faint from hunger. See vv. 11–12.

2:20–22 The prayer called for in v. 19.

2:20 women eat their offspring. See note on Jer 19:9.

2:21 See Jer 6:11 and note.

2:22 summoned against me. See 1:15. terrors on every side. See note on Jer 6:25. day of the LORD's anger. The chapter ends as it began (see v. 1). no one escaped or survived. See Jer 42:17; 44:14.

3 [h]I am the man who has seen affliction[j]
by the rod of his wrath.[k] [2]He has driven me away and made me walk
in darkness[l] rather than light;
[3]indeed, he has turned his hand against me[m]
again and again, all day long.

[4]He has made my skin and my flesh grow old[n]
and has broken my bones.[o]
[5]He has besieged me and surrounded me
with bitterness[p] and hardship.[q] [6]He has made me dwell in darkness like those long dead.[r]

[7]He has walled me in so I cannot escape;[s] he has weighed me down with chains.[t]
[8]Even when I call out or cry for help,[u]
he shuts out my prayer.[v]
[9]He has barred[w] my way with blocks of stone;
he has made my paths crooked.[x]

[10]Like a bear lying in wait, like a lion[y] in hiding,[z] [11]he dragged me from the path and mangled[a] me
and left me without help.

[12]He drew his bow[b] and made me the target[c] for his arrows.[d]

[13]He pierced[e] my heart with arrows from his quiver.[f] [14]I became the laughingstock[g] of all my people;[h]
they mock me in song[i] all day long.
[15]He has filled me with bitter herbs and sated me with gall.[j]

[16]He has broken my teeth with gravel;[k]
he has trampled me in the dust.[l]
[17]I have been deprived of peace;
I have forgotten what prosperity is.
[18]So I say, "My splendor is gone and all that I had hoped from the LORD."[m]

[19]I remember my affliction and my wandering,
the bitterness[n] and the gall.[o] [20]I well remember them, and my soul is downcast[p] within me.[q]
[21]Yet this I call to mind and therefore I have hope:

[22]Because of the LORD's great love[r] we are not consumed,[s]
for his compassions never fail.[t] [23]They are new every morning;
great is your faithfulness.[u]

3:1–2 I ... me. Whether the author is Jeremiah or an anonymous mourner, he speaks not only for himself but also for the suffering community of which he is a part (see "we" and "us" in vv. 22,40–47). The Hebrew text of v. 1 is at the exact center of the book.
3:1 affliction. See v. 19. rod of his wrath. See Job 9:34; 21:9. The reference is to Babylon (see Isa 10:5 and note). his. God's.
3:2 darkness rather than light. See Job 12:25; characteristic of the "day of the LORD" (Am 5:18).
3:4 grow old. See Job 13:28 ("wastes away"); Ps 49:14 ("decay"). broken my bones. See Isa 38:13 and note.
3:5 bitterness. Lit. "poison" (see Jer 8:14 and note).
3:6 Reminiscent of Ps 143:3.
3:7 walled. The Hebrew for this word is the same as that for "barred" in v. 9 (see Job 19:8; Hos 2:6). cannot escape. See Ps 88:8.
3:8 shuts out my prayer. See v. 44; Ps 18:41; Pr 1:28; Jer 7:16 and note.
3:9 blocks of stone. Of enormous size, like those used in the foundation of Solomon's temple (see 1Ki 5:17). made ... crooked. Or "ruined/destroyed" (as in Isa 24:1); for the imagery see Job 30:13.
3:10 Like a bear ... like a lion. See Ps 10:9; 17:12; Jer 4:7; 5:6; 49:19; 50:44.
3:11 See 1:2.
3:12 drew his bow. See note on 2:4. made me the target. See note on Job 6:4.
3:13 heart. Lit. "kidneys" (as in Job 16:13).
3:14 See Jeremiah's complaint in Jer 20:7. mock me in song. See v. 63; Ps 69:12.
3:15 filled me with bitter herbs. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "overwhelm me with misery" in Job 9:18 (see note on Jer 9:15). For the significance of the bitter herbs eaten during the Passover meal see note on Ex 12:8.
3:18 the LORD. The first mention of God in ch. 3.
3:19 The poet remembers all these experiences and verbalizes them once again. affliction and ... wandering. See 1:7.
3:21–26 The theological high point of the book of Lamentations (see Introduction: Themes and Theology).
3:22 great love. See v. 32. The Hebrew for this phrase is plural (as also in Ps 107:43) and denotes the Lord's loving faithfulness to his covenant promises (see Ps 89:1). See note on Ps 6:4; see also Isa 63:7 ("kindnesses") and note. we. See note on vv. 1–2.
3:23 They. The "great love" and "compassions" (v. 22) of the Lord. every morning. See Isa 33:2. great is your faithfulness. It is beyond measure (see note on v. 32; see also Ps 36:5).

24 I say to myself, "The LORD is my portion;[v]
therefore I will wait for him."

25 The LORD is good to those whose hope is in him,
to the one who seeks him;[w] 26 it is good to wait quietly[x]
for the salvation of the LORD.[y] 27 It is good for a man to bear the yoke while he is young.

28 Let him sit alone in silence,[z]
for the LORD has laid it on him.
29 Let him bury his face in the dust[a]— there may yet be hope.[b] 30 Let him offer his cheek to one who would strike him,[c]
and let him be filled with disgrace.[d]

31 For men are not cast off by the Lord forever.[e] 32 Though he brings grief, he will show compassion,
so great is his unfailing love.[f] 33 For he does not willingly bring affliction or grief to the children of men.[g]

34 To crush underfoot
all prisoners in the land, 35 to deny a man his rights
before the Most High,[h] 36 to deprive a man of justice—would not the Lord see such things?[i]

37 Who can speak and have it happen
if the Lord has not decreed it?[j]
38 Is it not from the mouth of the Most High that both calamities and good things come?[k]

3:24 The LORD is my portion. See Ps 73:26; 142:5. He was the inheritance share of the priests and Levites (see Nu 18:20; see also note on Ge 15:1). therefore I will wait. The Hebrew for this phrase is the same as that for "therefore I have hope" in v. 21 and serves as a refrain.
3:25 The LORD is good. See Ps 34:8; 86:5. whose hope is in him. See Ps 25:3; 69:7.
3:26 See Isa 26:3; 30:15.
3:27 a man to bear the yoke. Echoes the thought of v. 1: "the man who has seen affliction."
3:28 sit alone. See note on 1:1. it. The yoke (see v. 27).
3:29 there may yet be hope. See Job 11:18.
3:30 offer his cheek. See Mt 5:39. filled with disgrace. See Ps 123:3–4.
3:31 See Jer 3:5 and note.
3:32 The same God who judges also restores (see Job 5:18; Ps 30:5; Isa 54:8). great is his unfailing love. See note on v. 22; see also "great is your faithfulness" (v. 23)—faithfulness and unfailing love are often used together to sum up God's covenant mercies toward his people.
3:33 does not willingly bring affliction. See Eze 18:23,32; Hos 11:8; 2Pe 3:9.

hunted me like a bird.[g] 53They tried to end my life in a pit[h] and threw stones at me; 54the waters closed over my head,[i] and I thought I was about to be cut off.[j]

55I called on your name, O LORD, from the depths[k] of the pit.[l] 56You heard my plea:[m] "Do not close your ears to my cry for relief."
57You came near[n] when I called you, and you said, "Do not fear."[o]

58O Lord, you took up my case;[p]
you redeemed my life.[q]
59You have seen, O LORD, the wrong done to me.[r]
Uphold my cause![s]
60You have seen the depth of their vengeance, all their plots against me.[t]

61O LORD, you have heard their insults,[u]
all their plots against me—
62what my enemies whisper and mutter against me all day long.[v] 63Look at them! Sitting or standing, they mock me in their songs.[w]

64Pay them back what they deserve, O LORD, for what their hands have done.[x] 65Put a veil over their hearts,[y]
and may your curse be on them!
66Pursue[z] them in anger and destroy them from under the heavens of the LORD.

4 [i]How the gold has lost its luster,
the fine gold become dull!
The sacred gems are scattered at the head of every street.[a]

2How the precious sons of Zion,[b] once worth their weight in gold,
are now considered as pots of clay,
the work of a potter's hands!

3Even jackals offer their breasts to nurse their young,
but my people have become heartless like ostriches in the desert.[c]

4Because of thirst[d] the infant's tongue sticks to the roof of its mouth;[e]
the children beg for bread, but no one gives it to them.[f]

5Those who once ate delicacies are destitute in the streets.
Those nurtured in purple[g]
now lie on ash heaps.[h]

6The punishment of my people is greater than that of Sodom,[i] which was overthrown in a moment without a hand turned to help her.

7Their princes were brighter than snow and whiter than milk,
their bodies more ruddy than rubies,
their appearance like sapphires.[j]

8But now they are blacker[j] than soot;
they are not recognized in the streets.
Their skin has shriveled on their bones;[k] it has become as dry as a stick.

9Those killed by the sword are better off than those who die of famine;[l] racked with hunger, they waste away for lack of food from the field.[m]

10With their own hands compassionate women have cooked their own children,[n] who became their food
when my people were destroyed.

11 The LORD has given full vent to his wrath;[o]
he has poured out[p] his fierce anger.[q]
He kindled a fire[r] in Zion that consumed her foundations.[s]

12 The kings of the earth did not believe, nor did any of the world's people, that enemies and foes could enter the gates of Jerusalem.[t]

13 But it happened because of the sins of her prophets and the iniquities of her priests,[u] who shed within her
the blood[v] of the righteous.

14 Now they grope through the streets like men who are blind.[w]
They are so defiled with blood[x] that no one dares to touch their garments.

15 "Go away! You are unclean!" men cry to them.
"Away! Away! Don't touch us!"
When they flee and wander[y] about,
people among the nations say,
"They can stay here no longer."[z]

16 The LORD himself has scattered them;
he no longer watches over them.[a]
The priests are shown no honor, the elders[b] no favor.[c]

17 Moreover, our eyes failed, looking in vain[d] for help;[e]
from our towers we watched for a nation[f] that could not save us.

18 Men stalked us at every step,
so we could not walk in our streets.
Our end was near, our days were numbered,
for our end had come.[g]

19 Our pursuers were swifter than eagles[h] in the sky;
they chased us[i] over the mountains and lay in wait for us in the desert.[j]

20 The LORD's anointed,[k] our very life breath, was caught in their traps.[l]
We thought that under his shadow[m]
we would live among the nations.

21 Rejoice and be glad, O Daughter of Edom, you who live in the land of Uz.[n]
But to you also the cup[o] will be passed;
you will be drunk and stripped naked.[p]

22 O Daughter of Zion, your punishment will end;[q]
he will not prolong your exile.
But, O Daughter of Edom, he will punish your sin and expose your wickedness.[r]

5 Remember, O LORD, what has happened to us;
look, and see our disgrace.[s]
2 Our inheritance[t] has been turned over to aliens,[u]
our homes[v] to foreigners.[w] 3 We have become orphans and fatherless, our mothers like widows.[x]
4 We must buy the water we drink;[y] our wood can be had only at a price.[z]
5 Those who pursue us are at our heels;
we are weary[a] and find no rest.[b]
6 We submitted to Egypt and Assyria[c]
to get enough bread.
7 Our fathers[d] sinned and are no more,
and we bear their punishment.[e]

Ezekiel

Background

Ezekiel lived during a time of international upheaval. The Assyrian empire that had once conquered the Syro-Palestinian area and destroyed the northern kingdom of Israel (which fell to the Assyrians in 722–721 B.C.) began to crumble under the blows of a resurgent Babylon. In 612 the great Assyrian city of Nineveh fell to a combined force of Babylonians and Medes. Three years later, Pharaoh Neco II of Egypt marched north to assist the Assyrians and to try to reassert Egypt's age-old influence over Palestine and Aram (Syria). At Megiddo, King Josiah of Judah, who may have been an ally of Babylon as King Hezekiah had been, attempted to intercept the Egyptian forces but was crushed, losing his life in the battle (see 2Ki 23:29–30; 2Ch 35:20–24).

Jehoahaz, a son of Josiah, ruled Judah for only three months, after which Neco installed Jehoiakim, another son of Josiah, as his royal vassal in Jerusalem (609 B.C.). In 605 the Babylonians overwhelmed the Egyptian army at Carchemish (see Jer 46:2), then pressed south as far as the Philistine plain. In the same year, Nebuchadnezzar was elevated to the Babylonian throne and Jehoiakim shifted allegiance to him. When a few years later the Egyptian and Babylonian forces met in a standoff battle in southwestern Palestine, Jehoiakim rebelled against his new overlord.

Nebuchadnezzar soon responded by sending a force against Jerusalem, subduing it in 597 B.C. Jehoiakim's son Jehoiachin and about 10,000 Jews (see 2Ki 24:14), including Ezekiel, were exiled to Babylon, where they joined those who had been exiled in Jehoiakim's "third year" (see Da 1:1 and note). Nebuchadnezzar placed Jehoiachin's uncle, Zedekiah, on the throne in Jerusalem, but within five or six years he too rebelled. The Babylonians laid siege to Jerusalem in 588, and in July, 586, the walls were breached and the city plundered. On Aug. 14, 586, the city and temple were burned.

Under Nebuchadnezzar and his successors, Babylon dominated the international scene until it was crushed by Cyrus the Persian in 539 B.C. Israel's monarchy was ended; the City of David and the Lord's temple no longer existed.

Author

What is known of Ezekiel is derived solely from the book that bears his name. He was among the Jews exiled to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar in 597 B.C., and there among the exiles he received his call to become a prophet (see 1:1–3). He was married (see 24:15–18), lived in a house of his own (see 3:24; 8:1) and, along with his fellow exiles, had a relatively free existence.

He was of a priestly family (see NIV text note on 1:3) and therefore was eligible to serve as a priest. As a priest-prophet called to minister to the exiles (cut off from the temple of the Lord with its symbolism, sacrifices, priestly ministrations and worship rituals), his message had much to do with the temple (see especially chs. 8—11; 40—48) and its ceremonies.

Ezekiel was obviously a man of broad knowledge, not only of his own national traditions but also of international affairs and history. His acquaintance with general matters of culture, from shipbuilding to literature, is equally amazing. He was gifted with a powerful intellect and was capable of grasping large issues and of dealing with them in grand and compelling images. His style is often detached, but in places it is passionate and earthy (see chs. 16; 23).

More than any other prophet he was directed to involve himself personally in the divine word by acting it out in prophetic symbolism.

Occasion, Purpose and Summary of Contents

Though Ezekiel lived with his fellow exiles in Babylon, his divine call forced him to suppress any natural expectations he may have had of an early return to an undamaged Jerusalem. For the first seven years of his ministry (593–586 B.C.) he faithfully relayed to his fellow Jews the harsh, heart-rending, hope-crushing word of divine judgment: Jerusalem would fall (see chs. 1—24). Their being God's covenant people and Jerusalem's being the city of his temple would not bring their early release from exile or prevent Jerusalem from being destroyed (see Jer 29—30). The only hope the prophet was authorized to extend to his hearers was that of living at peace with themselves and with God during their exile.

After being informed by the Lord that Jerusalem was under siege and would surely fall (24:1–14), Ezekiel was told that his beloved wife would soon die. The delight of his eyes would be taken from him just as the temple, the delight of Israel's eyes, would be taken from her. He was not to mourn openly for his wife, as a sign to his people not to mourn openly for Jerusalem (24:15–27). He was then directed to pronounce a series of judgments on the seven nations of Ammon, Moab, Edom, Philistia, Tyre, Sidon and Egypt (chs. 25—32). The day of God's wrath was soon to come, but not on Israel alone.

Once news was received that Jerusalem had fallen, Ezekiel's message turned to the Lord's consoling word of hope for his people—they would experience revival, restoration and a glorious future as the redeemed and perfected kingdom of God in the world (chs. 33—48).

Date

Since the book of Ezekiel contains more dates (see chart below) than any other OT prophetic book, its prophecies can be dated with considerable precision. In addition, modern scholarship, using archaeology (Babylonian annals on cuneiform tablets) and astronomy (accurate dating of eclipses referred to in ancient archives), provides precise modern calendar equivalents.

Twelve of the 13 dates specify times when Ezekiel received a divine message. The other is the date of the arrival of the messenger who reported the fall of Jerusalem (33:21).

Having received his call in July, 593 B.C., Ezekiel was active for 22 years, his last dated oracle being received in April, 571 (see 29:17). If the "thirtieth year" of 1:1 refers to Ezekiel's age at the time of his call, his prophetic career exceeded a normal priestly term of service by two years (see Nu 4:3). His period of activity coincides with Jerusalem's darkest hour, preceding the 586 destruction by 7 years and following it by 15.

Themes

The OT in general and the prophets in particular presuppose and teach God's sovereignty over all creation, over people and nations and the course of history. And nowhere in the Bible are God's initiative and control expressed more clearly and pervasively than in the book of Ezekiel. From the first chapter, which graphically describes the overwhelming invasion of the divine presence into Ezekiel's world, to the last phrase of Ezekiel's vision ("THE LORD IS THERE") the book sounds and echoes God's sovereignty.

This sovereign God resolved that he would be known and acknowledged. No less than 65 occurrences of the clause (or variations) "Then they will know that I am the LORD" testify to that divine desire and intention. Chs. 1—24 teach that God will be revealed in the fall of Jerusalem and the destruction of the temple; chs. 25—32 teach that the nations likewise will know God through his judgments; and chs. 33—48 promise that God will be known through the restoration and spiritual renewal of Israel.

God's total sovereignty is also evident in his mobility. He is not limited to the temple in Jerusalem. He can respond to his people's sin by leaving his sanctuary in Israel, and he can graciously condescend to visit his exiled children in Babylon.

God is free to judge, and he is equally free to be gracious. His stern judgments on Israel ultimately reflect his grace. He allows the total dismemberment of Israel's political and religious life so that her renewed life and his presence with her will be clearly seen as a gift from the Lord of the universe.

Furthermore, as God's spokesman, Ezekiel's "son of man" status (see note on 2:1) testifies to the sovereign God he was commissioned to serve.

Literary Features

The three major prophets (Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel) and Zephaniah all have the same basic sequence of messages: (1) oracles against Israel, (2) oracles against the nations, (3) consolation for Israel. In no other book is this pattern as clear as in Ezekiel (see Outline).

Besides clarity of structure, the book of Ezekiel reveals symmetry. The vision of the desecrated temple fit for destruction (chs. 8—11) is balanced by the vision of the restored and purified temple (chs. 40—48). The God presented in agitated wrath (ch. 1) is also shown to be a God of comfort ("THE LORD IS THERE," 48:35). Ezekiel's call to be a watchman of divine judgment (ch. 3) is balanced by his call to be a watchman of the new age (ch. 33). In one place (ch. 6) the mountains of Israel receive a prophetic rebuke, but in another (ch. 36) they are consoled.

Prophetic books are usually largely poetic, the prophets apparently having spoken in imaginative and rhythmic styles. Most of Ezekiel, however, is prose, perhaps due to his priestly background. His repetitions have an unforgettable hammering effect, and his priestly orientation is also reflected in a case-law type of sentence (compare 3:19, "If you do warn the wicked . . . ," with Ex 21:2, "If you buy a Hebrew servant . . .").

The book contains four visions (chs. 1—3; 8—11; 37:1–14; 40—48) and 12 symbolic acts (3:22–26; 4:1–3; 4:4–8; 4:9–11; 4:12–14; 5:1–3; 12:1–16; 12:17–20; 21:6–7; 21:18–24; 24:15–24; 37:15–28). Five messages are in the form of parables (chs. 15; 16; 17; 19; 23).

Theological Significance

Other prophets deal largely with Israel's idolatry, with her moral corruption in public and private affairs, and with her international intrigues and alliances on which she relied instead of the Lord. They announce God's impending judgment on his rebellious nation but speak also of a future redemption: a new exodus, a new covenant, a restored Jerusalem, a revived Davidic dynasty, a worldwide recognition of the Lord and his Messiah and a paradise-like peace.

The contours and sweep of Ezekiel's message are similar, but he focuses uniquely on Israel as the holy people of the holy temple, the holy city and the holy land. By defiling her worship, Israel had rendered herself unclean and had defiled temple, city and land. From such defilement God could only withdraw and judge his people with national destruction.

But God's faithfulness to his covenant and his desire to save were so great that he would revive his people once more, shepherd them with compassion, cleanse them of all their defilement, reconstitute them as a perfect expression of his kingdom in the promised land under the hand of David, overwhelm all the forces and powers arrayed against them, display his glory among the nations and restore the glory of his presence to the holy city.

Ezekiel powerfully depicts the grandeur and glory of God's sovereign rule (see Themes) and his holiness, which he jealously safeguards. The book's theological center is the unfolding of God's saving purposes in the history of the world—from the time in which he must withdraw from the defilement of his covenant people to the culmination of his grand design of redemption. The message of Ezekiel, which is ultimately eschatological, anticipates—even demands—God's future works in history proclaimed by the NT.

The Living Creatures and the Glory of the LORD

1 In the[a] thirtieth year, in the fourth month on the fifth day, while I was among the exiles[a] by the Kebar River,[b] the heavens were opened[c] and I saw visions[d] of God.

2On the fifth of the month—it was the fifth year of the exile of King Jehoiachin[e]— 3the word of the LORD came to Ezekiel[f] the priest, the son of Buzi,[b] by the Kebar River in the land of the Babylonians.[c] There the hand of the LORD was upon him.[g]

10Their faces looked like this: Each of the four had the face of a man, and on the right side each had the face of a lion, and on the left the face of an ox; each also had the face of an eagle.[q] 11Such were their faces. Their wings[r] were spread out upward; each had two wings, one touching the wing of another creature on either side, and two wings covering its body. 12Each one went straight ahead. Wherever the spirit would go, they would go, without turning as they went.[s] 13The appearance of the living creatures was like burning coals[t] of fire or like torches. Fire moved back and forth among the creatures; it was bright, and lightning[u] flashed out of it. 14The creatures sped back and forth like flashes of lightning.[v]

15As I looked at the living creatures,[w] I saw a wheel[x] on the ground beside each creature with its four faces. 16This was the appearance and structure of the wheels: They sparkled like chrysolite,[y] and all four looked alike. Each appeared to be made like a wheel intersecting a wheel. 17As they moved, they would go in any one of the four directions the creatures faced; the wheels did not turn[z] about[d] as the creatures went. 18Their rims were high and awesome, and all four rims were full of eyes[a] all around.

19When the living creatures moved,

[a] 1 Or my [b] 3 Or Ezekiel son of Buzi the priest
[c] 3 Or Chaldeans [d] 17 Or aside

1:1 thirtieth year. Probably Ezekiel's age (see NIV text note). According to Nu 4:3, a person entered the Levitical priesthood in his 30th year. Denied the priesthood in exile, Ezekiel received another commission—that of prophet. Kebar River. A canal of the Euphrates near the city of Nippur, south of Babylon, and possibly a place of prayer for the exiles (see Ps 137:1; cf. Ac 16:13). visions of God. A special term, always in the plural and always with the word "God" (not with the more personal "LORD"). The expression precedes this and the two other major visions of the prophet (8:3; 40:2).

1:2 fifth year of the exile. Verses 2–3, written in the third person (the only third-person narrative in the book), clarify the date in v. 1. King Jehoiachin. Led an early group of exiles to Babylon in 597 B.C. (see Introduction: Historical Background). Ezekiel was among them and received his prophetic call in 593.

1:3 Ezekiel. See 24:24. Means "God is strong" (cf. 3:14), "God strengthens" (cf. 30:25; 34:16) or "God makes hard" (cf. 3:8). Jehezkel (1Ch 24:16) is the same name in Hebrew but does not refer to the same person. priest. Member of a priestly family (see NIV text note). hand of the LORD. A phrase repeated six times in the book (3:14,22; 8:1; 33:22; 37:1; 40:1), indicating an overpowering experience of divine revelation.

1:4 I looked. Introduces the first part of the vision: storm and living creatures (vv. 4–14). The "I looked" of v. 15 introduces the second part: wheels and the glory of the Lord. windstorm. See Ps 18:10–12.

1:5 four living creatures. "Four," which stands for completeness (cf. the four directions in Ge 13:14 and the four quarters of the earth in Isa 11:12), is used often in this chapter—and over 40 times in the book. The living creatures, called "cherubim" in ch. 10, are throne attendants, here (see v. 10) representing God's creation: "man," God's ordained ruler of creation (see Ge 1:26–28; Ps 8); "lion," the strongest of the wild beasts; "ox," the most powerful of the domesticated animals; "eagle," the mightiest of the birds. These four creatures appear again in Rev 4:7 and often are seen in the paintings and sculpture of the Middle Ages, where they represent the four Gospels.

1:7 like those of a calf. Perhaps indicates agility (cf. Ps 29:6; Mal 4:2).

1:12 the spirit. See v. 20.

1:16 chrysolite. The precise identification of this stone is uncertain. See Ex 28:20 (and NIV text note), where the stone appears in the priestly breastplate. a wheel intersecting a wheel. Probably two wheels intersecting at right angles in order to move in all four directions (see v. 17). The imagery symbolizes the omnipresence of God.

1:18 full of eyes. Symbolizes God's all-seeing nature.

EZEKIEL

NAME MEANS: "God is (or makes) strong" OCCUPATION: Priest, prophet
BEST KNOWN FOR:

- the visions of destruction he received and his graphic early prophecies
- the many ways that God used this prophet's life as an analogy of Israel
- proclaiming God's consolation to the exiles

the wheels beside them moved; and when the living creatures rose from the ground, the wheels also rose. 20Wherever the spirit would go, they would go,[b] and the wheels would rise along with them, because the spirit of the living creatures was in the wheels. 21When the creatures moved, they also moved; when the creatures stood still, they also stood still; and when the creatures rose from the ground, the wheels rose along with them, because the spirit of the living creatures was in the wheels.[c]

22Spread out above the heads of the living creatures was what looked like an expanse,[d] sparkling like ice, and awesome. 23Under the expanse their wings were stretched out one toward the other, and each had two wings covering its body. 24When the creatures moved, I heard the sound of their wings, like the roar of rushing[e] waters, like the voice[f] of the Almighty,[e] like the tumult of an army.[g] When they stood still, they lowered their wings.

25Then there came a voice from above the expanse over their heads as they stood with lowered wings. 26Above the expanse over their heads was what looked like a throne[h] of sapphire,[fi] and high above on the throne was a figure like that of a man.[j] 27I saw that from what appeared to be his waist up he looked like glowing metal, as if full of fire, and that from there down he looked like fire; and brilliant light surrounded him.[k] 28Like the appearance of a rainbow[l] in the clouds on a rainy day, so was the radiance around him.[m]

This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory[n] of the LORD. When I saw it, I fell facedown,[o] and I heard the voice of one speaking.

Ezekiel's Call

2 He said to me, "Son of man,[p] stand[q] up on your feet and I will speak to you.[r]" 2As he spoke, the Spirit came into me and raised me[s] to my feet, and I heard him speaking to me.

3He said: "Son of man, I am sending you to the Israelites, to a rebellious nation that has rebelled against me; they and their fathers have been in revolt against me to this very day.[t] 4The people to whom I am sending you are obstinate and stubborn.[u] Say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says.'[v] 5And whether they listen or fail to listen[w]—for they are a rebellious house[x]—they will know that a prophet has been among them.[y] 6And you, son of man, do not be afraid[z] of them or their words. Do not be afraid, though briers and thorns[a] are all around you and you live among scorpions. Do not be afraid of what they say or terrified by them, though they are a rebellious house.[b] 7You must speak[c] my words to them, whether they listen or fail to listen, for they are rebellious.[d] 8But you, son of man, listen to what I say to you. Do not rebel[ef] like that rebellious house;[g] open your mouth and eat[h] what I give you."

9Then I looked, and I saw a hand[i] stretched out to me. In it was a scroll,[j] 10which he unrolled before me. On both sides of it were written words of lament and mourning and woe.[k]

3 And he said to me, "Son of man, eat what is before you, eat this scroll; then go and speak to the house of Israel."

1:22 expanse. The same word occurs in Ge 1:6–8, where its function is to separate the waters above from the waters below. Here it separates the creatures from the glory of the Lord.

1:26 a figure like that of a man. Ezekiel is reporting his vision of God, but he carefully avoids saying he saw God directly (see Ge 16:13; Ex 3:6; Jdg 13:22).

1:28 likeness. See note on v. 26. glory of the LORD. When God's glory was symbolically revealed, it took the form of brilliant light (see Ex 40:34; Isa 6:3). What is remarkable about Ezekiel's experience is that God's glory had for centuries been associated with the temple in Jerusalem (see 1Ki 8:11; Ps 26:8; 63:2; 96:6; 102:16). Now God had left his temple and was appearing to his exiled people in Babylon—a major theme in the first half of Ezekiel's message (see 10:4; 11:23). In his vision of the restored Jerusalem the prophet saw the glory of the Lord returning (43:2).

2:1 Son of man. A term used 93 times in Ezekiel, emphasizing the prophet's humanity as he was addressed by the transcendent God (see note on Ps 8:4). Da 7:13 and 8:17 are the only other places where the phrase is used as a title in the OT. Jesus' frequent use of the phrase in referring to himself showed that he was the eschatological figure spoken of in Da 7:13 (see, e.g., Mk 8:31 and note).

2:2 the Spirit came into me and raised me to my feet. The Spirit of God, who empowered the chariot wheels (1:12,19; 10:16–17) and the creatures (1:20), now entered Ezekiel—symbolizing the Lord's empowering of the prophet's entire ministry.

2:3 rebellious nation. A keynote of Ezekiel's preaching: The entire nation throughout its history had been rebellious against God.

2:6 briers and thorns . . . scorpions. Vivid images of those who would make life difficult for the prophet.

2:10 On both sides. Normally, ancient scrolls were written on one side only. The implication here is that the scroll was thoroughly saturated with words of divine judgment. See Zec 5:3 and Rev 5:1 for the same figure. lament and mourning and woe. Although Ezekiel was later commanded to preach hope (see note on 33:1–48:35), his initial commission (until the fall of Jerusalem) was to declare God's displeasure and the certainty of his judgment on Jerusalem and all of Judah.

2So I opened my mouth, and he gave me
the scroll to eat.
3Then he said to me, "Son of man, eat this scroll I am giving you and fill your stomach with it." So I ate[l] it, and it tasted as sweet as honey[m] in my mouth.
4He then said to me: "Son of man, go now to the house of Israel and speak my words to them.[n] 5You are not being sent to a people of obscure speech and difficult language,[o] but to the house of Israel— 6not to many peoples of obscure speech and difficult language, whose words you cannot understand. Surely if I had sent you to them, they would have listened to you.[p] 7But the house of Israel is not willing to listen[q] to you because they are not willing to listen to me, for the whole house of Israel is hardened and obstinate.[r] 8But I will make you as unyielding and hardened as they are.[s] 9I will make your forehead[t] like the hardest stone, harder than flint.[u] Do not be afraid of them or terrified by them, though they are a rebellious house.[v]" 10And he said to me, "Son of man, listen carefully and take to heart[w] all the words I speak to you. 11Go[x] now to your countrymen in exile and speak to them. Say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says,'[y] whether they listen or fail to listen.[z]" 12Then the Spirit lifted me up,[a] and I heard behind me a loud rumbling sound—May the glory of the LORD be praised in his dwelling place!— 13the sound of the wings of the living creatures[b] brushing against each other and the sound of the wheels beside them, a loud rumbling sound.[c] 14The Spirit[d]
then lifted me up[e] and took me away, and I went in bitterness and in the anger of my spirit, with the strong hand of the LORD[f] upon me. 15I came to the exiles who lived at Tel Abib near the Kebar River.[g] And there, where they were living,
I sat among them for seven days[h]— overwhelmed.

Warning to Israel

16At the end of seven days the word of the LORD came to me:[i] 17"Son of man, I have made you a watchman[j] for the house of Israel; so hear the word I speak and give them warning from me.[k] 18When I say to a wicked man, 'You will surely die,'[l] and you do not warn him or speak out to dissuade him from his evil ways in order to save his life, that wicked man will die for[g] his sin, and I will hold you accountable for his blood.[m] 19But if you do warn the wicked man and he does not turn[n] from his wickedness[o] or from his evil ways, he will die[p] for his sin; but you will have saved yourself.[q]
20"Again, when a righteous man turns[r] from his righteousness and does evil, and I put a stumbling block[s] before him, he will die. Since you did not warn him, he will die for his sin. The righteous things he did will not be remembered, and I will hold you accountable for his blood.[t] 21But if you do warn the righteous man not to sin and he does not sin, he will surely live because he took warning, and you will have saved yourself.[u]" 22The hand of the LORD[v] was upon me there, and he said to me, "Get up and go[w] out to the plain,[x] and there I will

3:3 sweet as honey in my mouth. What Jeremiah experienced emotionally (Jer 15:16) was experienced by Ezekiel in a more sensory way: Words from God are sweet to the taste (see Ps 19:10; 119:103)—even when their content is bitter (see Rev 10:9–10).

3:6 Surely if I had sent you to them. Jesus spoke similar words to Israel (see Mt 11:21).

3:9 I will make your forehead like the hardest stone. Strength and courage were necessary equipment for a prophet, especially when preaching judgment. Jeremiah was similarly equipped (see Jer 1:18).

3:10 listen carefully and take to heart. The prophet is to stand in marked contrast to the people, who do not listen.

3:11 Go now to your countrymen in exile. Ezekiel's ministry was to the exilic community, most of whom refused to believe that God would abandon Jerusalem and the temple. After the fall of Jerusalem, therefore, they were strongly inclined to despair.

3:14 in bitterness and in the anger of my spirit. The prophet, knowing the righteousness of God's anger, personally identified with the divine emotions. strong hand of the LORD upon me. See note on 1:3.

3:15 Tel Abib. The only mention of the specific place where the exiles lived. In Babylonian the name meant "mound of the flood [i.e., destruction]," apparently referring to the ruined condition of the site. When used of the modern Israeli city, Tel Aviv, this name (Abib and Aviv are the same word in Hebrew) is understood to mean "hill of grain." seven days—overwhelmed. Ezekiel was in the same state of spiritual shock that others in the Bible experienced after an encounter with God (see Ezr 9:4; Job 2:13; 40:4–5; Ac 9:9). Considering Ezekiel's priestly background (see note on 1:3), the seven-day period may have been a parallel to the time required for a priest's ordination (see Lev 8:1–33).

3:17 I have made you a watchman. In ancient Israel, watchmen were stationed on the highest parts of the city wall to inform its inhabitants of the progress of a battle (1Sa 14:16) or of approaching messengers (2Sa 18:24–27; 2Ki 9:17–20). The prophets were spiritual watchmen, relaying God's word to the people (see Jer 6:17; Hos 9:8; Hab 2:1). Ezekiel's function as a watchman was not so much to warn the exiles of the impending doom of Jerusalem as to teach that God holds each one responsible for his own behavior. This commission, repeated in 33:7–9, is spelled out in ch. 18.

speak to you." 23So I got up and went out to the plain. And the glory of the LORD was standing there, like the glory I had seen by the Kebar River,[y] and I fell face-down.[z] 24Then the Spirit came into me and raised me[a] to my feet. He spoke to me and said: "Go, shut yourself inside your house.[b] 25And you, son of man, they will tie with ropes; you will be bound so that you cannot go out among the people.[c] 26I will make your tongue stick to the roof[d] of your mouth so that you will be silent and unable to rebuke them, though they are a rebellious house.[e] 27But when I speak to you, I will open your mouth and you shall say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says.'[f] Whoever will listen let him listen, and whoever will refuse let him refuse; for they are a rebellious house.[g]

Siege of Jerusalem Symbolized

4 "Now, son of man, take a clay tablet, put it in front of you and draw the city of Jerusalem on it. 2Then lay siege to it: Erect siege works against it, build a ramp[h] up to it, set up camps against it and put battering rams around it.[i] 3Then take an iron pan,[j] place it as an iron wall between you and the city and turn your face toward[k] it. It will be under siege, and you shall besiege it. This will be a sign[l] to the house of Israel.[m]

4"Then lie on your left side and put the sin of the house of Israel upon yourself.[h] You are to bear their sin for the number of days you lie on your side. 5I have assigned you the same number of days as the years of their sin. So for 390 days you will bear the sin of the house of Israel.

6"After you have finished this, lie down again, this time on your right side, and bear the sin[n] of the house of Judah. I have assigned you 40 days, a day for each year.[o] 7Turn your face[p] toward the siege of Jerusalem and with bared arm prophesy against her. 8I will tie you up with ropes so that you cannot turn from one side to the other until you have finished the days of your siege.[q]

9"Take wheat and barley, beans and lentils, millet and spelt;[r] put them in a storage jar and use them to make bread for yourself. You are to eat it during the 390 days you lie on your side. 10Weigh out twenty shekels[i][s] of food to eat each day and eat it at set times. 11Also measure out a sixth of a hin[j] of water and drink it at set times.[t] 12Eat the food as you would a barley cake; bake it in the sight of the people, using human excrement[u] for fuel." 13The LORD said, "In this way the people of Israel will eat defiled food among the nations where I will drive them."[v]

14Then I said, "Not so, Sovereign LORD![w] I have never defiled myself. From my youth until now I have never eaten anything found dead[x] or torn by wild animals. No unclean meat has ever entered my mouth.[y]"

15"Very well," he said, "I will let you bake your bread over cow manure instead of human excrement."

16He then said to me: "Son of man, I will cut off[z] the supply of food in Jerusalem. The people will eat rationed food in anxiety and drink rationed water in despair,[a] 17for food and water will be scarce.[b] They will be appalled at the sight of each other and will waste away because of[k] their sin.[c]

3:26 you will be silent. Verses 26–27 indicate that the prophet would be unable to speak except when he had a direct word from the Lord. His enforced silence underscored Israel's stubborn refusal to take God's word seriously. This condition was relieved only after the fall of Jerusalem (24:27; 33:22). From that time on, Ezekiel was given messages of hope, which he continually shared with his fellow exiles.

4:1 take a clay tablet. The first of several symbolic acts to be performed by the prophet. After inscribing a likeness of the city of Jerusalem on a moist clay tablet, such as those commonly used in Babylonia, Ezekiel was to place around it models of siege works to represent the city under attack (v. 2). He was then to place an iron pan (perhaps a baking griddle) between himself and the symbolized city (v. 3) to indicate the unbreakable strength of the siege.

4:3 you shall besiege it. Ezekiel's own presence in the scene signified that the siege would actually be laid by the Lord himself.

4:4 You are to bear their sin. A representative rather than a substitutionary bearing of sin. The prophet's action symbolized Israel's sins; it did not remove them.

4:5 for 390 days. The 390 years may represent the period from the time of Solomon's unfaithfulness to the fall of Jerusalem. Correspondingly, the 40 years of v. 6 may represent the long reign of wicked Manasseh before his repentance (see 2Ki 21:11–15; 23:26–27; 24:3–4; 2Ch 33:12–13).

4:6 on your right side. Lying on his left side (see v. 5) placed Ezekiel to the north of the symbolic city; lying on his right side placed him to the south—signifying the northern and southern kingdoms respectively.

4:9 Take wheat and barley, beans and lentils, millet and spelt. A scant, vegetarian diet representing the meager provisions of a besieged city.

4:15 cow manure. Commonly used in the Near East as a fuel for baking, even today. Ezekiel again showed his sensitivity to things ceremonially unclean (see note on 1:3), and God graciously responded to the prophet's objection by allowing this substitute for human excrement.

5:1 take a sharp sword. What Isaiah had expressed in a metaphor (Isa 7:20) Ezekiel acted out in prophetic zor[d] to shave[e] your head and your beard.[f] Then take a set of scales and divide up the hair. 2When the days of your siege come to an end, burn a third[g] of the hair with fire[h] inside the city. Take a third and strike it with the sword all around the city. And scatter a third to the wind.[i] For I will pursue them with drawn sword.[j] 3But take a few strands of hair and tuck them away in the folds of your garment.[k] 4Again, take a few of these and throw them into the fire[l] and burn them up. A fire will spread from there to the whole house of Israel.

5"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: This is Jerusalem, which I have set in the center of the nations, with countries all around her.[m] 6Yet in her wickedness she has rebelled against my laws and decrees more than the nations and countries around her. She has rejected my laws and has not followed my decrees.[n]

7"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: You have been more unruly than the nations around you and have not followed my decrees or kept my laws. You have not even[1] conformed to the standards of the nations around you.[o]

8"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I myself am against you, Jerusalem, and I will inflict punishment on you in the sight of the nations.[p] 9Because of all your detestable idols, I will do to you what I have never done before and will never do again.[q] 10Therefore in your midst fathers will eat their children, and children will eat their fathers.[r] I will inflict punishment on you and will scatter all your survivors to the winds.[s] 11Therefore as surely as I live,[t] declares the Sovereign[u] LORD, because you have defiled my sanctuary[v] with all your vile images[w] and detestable practices,[x] I myself will withdraw my favor; I will not look on you with pity or spare you.[y] 12A third of your people will die of the plague or perish by famine inside you; a third will fall by the sword outside your walls; and a third I will scatter to the winds[z] and pursue with drawn sword.[a]

13"Then my anger will cease and my wrath[b] against them will subside, and I will be avenged.[c] And when I have spent my wrath upon them, they will know that I the LORD have spoken in my zeal.[d]

14"I will make you a ruin and a reproach among the nations around you, in the sight of all who pass by.[e] 15You will be a reproach[f] and a taunt, a warning[g] and an object of horror to the nations around you when I inflict punishment on you in anger and in wrath and with stinging rebuke.[h] I the LORD have spoken.[i] 16When I shoot at you with my deadly and destructive arrows of famine, I will shoot to destroy you. I will bring more and more famine upon you and cut off your supply of food.[j] 17I will send famine and wild beasts[k] against you, and they will leave you childless. Plague and bloodshed[l] will sweep through you, and I will bring the sword against you. I the LORD have spoken.[m]" symbolism.

5:5 This is Jerusalem. After wordlessly acting out the symbols (beginning in 4:1), Ezekiel received and probably related the divine explanations. center of the nations. A privileged position, which made Israel's responsibility and judgment all the more severe (see note on 38:12).

5:8 I myself am against you. A short and effective phrase of judgment used often by Ezekiel (see 13:8; 21:3; 26:3; 28:22; 29:3,10; 30:22; 34:10; 35:3; 38:3; 39:1; see also Jer 23:30–32; 50:31; 51:25; Na 2:13; 3:5).

5:10 fathers will eat their children. Cannibalism, the most gruesome extremity of life under siege, was threatened as a consequence of breaking the covenant (Dt 28:53; see Jer 19:9; La 2:20; Zec 11:9).

5:11 as surely as I live. See note on 18:3.

5:13 spent my wrath upon. An expression frequently used by the Lord in this book (see 6:12; 7:8; 13:15; 20:8,21). they will know that I the LORD have spoken. The first of 65 occurrences in Ezekiel of this or similar declarations. God's acts of judgment and salvation reveal who he is. Since the people would not listen to God's words, they would be taught by his actions.

5:15 a reproach and a taunt, a warning and an object of horror. A fourfold list (see note on 1:5).

6:3 high places. Open-air sanctuaries of Canaanite origin, condemned throughout the OT. The high places, together with the "altars," "incense altars" and "idols" (v. 4), make up a list of four objects (see note on 1:5).

6:4 incense altars. Made of burnt clay, about two feet high, usually inscribed with animal figures and idols of Canaanite gods. idols. The Hebrew for this word is a derisive term (lit. "dung pellets"), used especially by Ezekiel (38 times, as opposed to only 9 times elsewhere in the OT).

will be demolished and your incense altars[s] will be smashed; and I will slay your people in front of your idols.[t] 5I will lay the dead bodies of the Israelites in front of their idols, and I will scatter your bones[u] around your altars.[v] 6Wherever you live,[w] the towns will be laid waste and the high places[x] demolished, so that your altars will be laid waste and devastated, your idols[y] smashed and ruined, your incense altars[z] broken down, and what you have made wiped out.[a] 7Your people will fall slain[b] among you, and you will know that I am the LORD.[c]

8" 'But I will spare some, for some of you will escape[d] the sword when you are scattered among the lands and nations.[e] 9Then in the nations where they have been carried captive, those who escape will remember[f] me—how I have been grieved[g] by their adulterous hearts, which have turned away from me, and by their eyes, which have lusted after their idols.[h] They will loathe themselves for the evil[i] they have done and for all their detestable practices.[j] 10And they will know that I am the LORD;[k] I did not threaten in vain to bring this calamity on them.[l]

11" 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Strike your hands together and stamp your feet and cry out "Alas!" because of all the wicked and detestable practices of the house of Israel, for they will fall by the sword, famine and plague.[m] 12He that is far away will die of the plague, and he that is near will fall by the sword, and he that survives and is spared will die of famine. So will I spend my wrath[n] upon them.[o] 13And they will know that I am the LORD, when their people lie slain among their idols[p] around their altars, on every high hill and on all the mountaintops, under every spreading tree and every leafy oak[q]—places where they offered fragrant incense to all their idols.[r] 14And I will stretch out my hand[s] against them and make the land a desolate waste from the desert to Diblah[m]—wherever they live. Then they will know that I am the LORD.[t]' "

The End Has Come

7 The word of the LORD came to me: 2"Son of man, this is what the Sovereign LORD says to the land of Israel: The end![u] The end has come upon the four corners[v] of the land. 3The end is now upon you and I will unleash my anger against you. I will judge you according to your conduct[w] and repay you for all your detestable practices.[x] 4I will not look on you with pity[y] or spare you; I will surely repay you for your conduct and the detestable practices among you. Then you will know that I am the LORD.[z]

5"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Disaster![a] An unheard-of[n] disaster is coming. 6The end[b] has come! The end has come! It has roused itself against you. It has come! 7Doom has come upon you—you who dwell in the land. The time has come, the day[c] is near;[d] there is panic, not joy, upon the mountains. 8I am about to pour out my wrath[e] on you and spend my anger against you; I will judge you according to your conduct and repay you for all your detestable practices.[f] 9I will not look on you with pity or spare you;[g] I will repay you in accordance with your conduct and the detestable practices among you.[h] Then you will know that it is I the LORD who strikes the blow.[i]

10"The day is here! It has come! Doom has burst forth, the rod[j] has budded, arrogance has blossomed! 11Violence[k] has grown into[o] a rod to punish wickedness; none of the people will be left, none of that crowd—no wealth, nothing of value.[l] 12The time has come, the day has arrived. Let not the buyer[m] rejoice nor the seller grieve, for wrath is upon the whole crowd.[n] 13The seller will not recover the land he has sold as long as

6:9 those who escape will remember me. The corrective outcome God intends from the severe judgment to come (see v. 10).

6:11 Strike your hands together. A command to Ezekiel, calling for his personal involvement in the tragedy—though Israel's enemies were condemned for the same practice (see 25:6).

6:14 I will stretch out my hand against. A common expression in Ezekiel (see 14:9,13; 16:27; 25:7; 35:3). Diblah. Perhaps the Beth Diblathaim of Jer 48:22, a city in Moab; or Riblah, a city north of Damascus on the Orontes River (see NIV text note).

7:2 four corners of the land. The whole world would be affected by God's judgment on the land of Israel (see note on 1:5).

7:7 the day. The day of the Lord. Beginning with Amos (Am 5:18–20), that day is seen by all the prophets as a day of great judgment—and often (though not here) as a judgment that sweeps away all the enemies that threaten God's people, thereby bringing peace. panic, not joy. Cf. Am 5:20 ("darkness, not light").

7:8 pour out my wrath. A common expression in Ezekiel (see 9:8; 14:19; 20:8,13,21; 22:31; 30:15; 36:18).

7:12 Let not the buyer rejoice. End-time advice similar to that of Jesus (see Mt 24:17–18).

both of them live, for the vision concerning the whole crowd will not be reversed. Because of their sins, not one of them will preserve his life.[o] 14Though they blow the trumpet[p] and get everything ready, no one will go into battle, for my wrath[q] is upon the whole crowd.

15"Outside is the sword, inside are plague and famine; those in the country will die by the sword, and those in the city will be devoured by famine and plague.[r] 16All who survive[s] and escape will be in the mountains, moaning like doves[t] of the valleys, each because of his sins.[u] 17Every hand will go limp,[v] and every knee will become as weak as water.[w] 18They will put on sackcloth[x] and be clothed with terror.[y] Their faces will be covered with shame and their heads will be shaved.[z] 19They will throw their silver into the streets,[a] and their gold will be an unclean thing. Their silver and gold will not be able to save them in the day of the LORD's wrath.[b] They will not satisfy[c] their hunger or fill their stomachs with it, for it has made them stumble[d] into sin.[e] 20They were proud of their beautiful jewelry and used it to make[f] their detestable idols and vile images.[g] Therefore I will turn these into an unclean thing for them.[h] 21I will hand it all over as plunder[i] to foreigners and as loot to the wicked of the earth, and they will defile it.[j] 22I will turn my face[k] away from them, and they will desecrate my treasured place; robbers will enter it and desecrate it.[l]

23"Prepare chains, because the land is full of bloodshed[m] and the city is full of violence.[n] 24I will bring the most wicked of the nations to take possession of their houses; I will put an end to the pride of the mighty, and their sanctuaries[o] will be desecrated.[p] 25When terror comes, they will seek peace, but there will be none.[q] 26Calamity upon calamity[r] will come, and rumor upon rumor. They will try to get a vision from the prophet;[s] the teaching of the law by the priest will be lost, as will the counsel of the elders.[t] 27The king will mourn, the prince will be clothed with despair,[u] and the hands of the people of the land will tremble. I will deal with them according to their conduct,[v] and by their own standards I will judge them. Then they will know that I am the LORD.[w]"

Idolatry in the Temple

8 In the sixth year, in the sixth month on the fifth day, while I was sitting in my house and the elders[x] of Judah were sitting before[y] me, the hand of the Sovereign LORD came upon me there.[z] 2I looked, and I saw a figure like that of a man.[p] From what appeared to be his waist down he was like fire, and from there up his appearance was as bright as glowing metal.[a] 3He stretched out what looked like a hand[b] and took me by the hair of my head. The Spirit lifted me up[c] between earth and heaven and in visions[d] of God he took me to Jerusalem, to the entrance to the north gate of the inner court,[e] where the idol that provokes to jealousy[f] stood. 4And there before me was the glory[g] of the God of Israel, as in the vision I had seen in the plain.[h]

5Then he said to me, "Son of man, look toward the north." So I looked, and in the entrance north of the gate of the altar I saw this idol[i] of jealousy.

6And he said to me, "Son of man, do you see what they are doing—the utterly

7:19 They will throw their silver. See Isa 2:20.
7:20 beautiful jewelry. See Ex 32:2–4.
7:22 my treasured place. The Jerusalem temple.
7:24 pride of the mighty. The Jerusalem temple, described by the word "pride" (as in 24:21; 33:28).
7:26 prophet ... priest ... elders. There would be no guidance from God and no direction from the elders (see 1Sa 28:6; Am 8:11–12; Mic 3:6–7).
7:27 king ... prince. Here both nouns describe the same person. Ezekiel considered Jehoiachin to be the true king (1:2) and Zedekiah a mere prince (12:12). people of the land. Full citizens of Judah who owned land and served in the army (cf. 12:19; 45:16,22; 46:3).
8:1–11:25 The vision contained in these four chapters vividly depicts the departure of the divine glory from the corrupted temple (see 8:4; 9:3; 10:18–19; 11:23).
8:1 In the sixth year, in the sixth month on the fifth day. Sept. 17, 592 B.C.—the second of 13 dates in Ezekiel. This one, like those in 1:2 and 40:1, introduces a vision. sitting in my house. The exiles were free to build houses (see Jer 29:5). elders of Judah were sitting before me. They also had freedom of movement, assembly and worship. A year and two months after his inaugural vision and preaching, the prophet commanded a hearing. Some have seen in such meetings the beginnings of the synagogue form of worship. hand of the Sovereign LORD. See note on 1:3.
8:2 figure like that of a man. An angel, similar in appearance to God in 1:26–27. like fire ... as bright as glowing metal. A way of describing the blinding brightness of the divine messenger (see Mt 28:3; cf. Ac 9:3).
8:3 took me to Jerusalem. Ezekiel had been directed to prophesy stern judgments on Jerusalem (chs. 1–7). Now he was transported to Jerusalem in visions of God (see 11:24) and shown the reason for the judgments. idol that provokes to jealousy. Any idol in the temple provoked the Lord to jealousy, but this one seems to be a statue of Asherah, the Canaanite goddess of fertility, which Josiah had removed some 30 years previously (see 2Ki 23:6).
8:5 idol of jealousy. See note on v. 3.

detestable[j] things the house of Israel is doing here, things that will drive me far from my sanctuary?[k] But you will see things that are even more detestable."

7Then he brought me to the entrance to the court. I looked, and I saw a hole in the wall. 8He said to me, "Son of man, now dig into the wall." So I dug into the wall and saw a doorway there.

9And he said to me, "Go in and see the wicked and detestable things they are doing here." 10So I went in and looked, and I saw portrayed all over the walls[l] all kinds of crawling things and detestable[m] animals and all the idols of the house of Israel.[n] 11In front of them stood seventy elders[o] of the house of Israel, and Jaazaniah son of Shaphan was standing among them. Each had a censer[p] in his hand, and a fragrant cloud of incense[q] was rising.[r]

12He said to me, "Son of man, have you seen what the elders of the house of Israel are doing in the darkness,[s] each at the shrine of his own idol? They say, 'The LORD does not see[t] us; the LORD has forsaken the land.'" 13Again, he said, "You will see them doing things that are even more detestable."

14Then he brought me to the entrance to the north gate of the house of the LORD, and I saw women sitting there, mourning for Tammuz.[u] 15He said to me, "Do you see this, son of man? You will see things that are even more detestable than this."

16He then brought me into the inner court[v] of the house of the LORD, and there at the entrance to the temple, between the portico and the altar,[w] were about twenty-five men. With their backs toward the temple of the LORD and their faces toward the east, they were bowing down to the sun[x] in the east.[y]

17He said to me, "Have you seen this, son of man? Is it a trivial matter for the house of Judah to do the detestable things[z] they are doing here? Must they also fill the land with violence[a] and continually provoke me to anger? Look at them putting the branch to their nose! 18Therefore I will deal with them in anger;[c] I will not look on them with pity[d] or spare them. Although they shout in my ears, I will not listen[e] to them."

Idolaters Killed

9 Then I heard him call out in a loud voice, "Bring the guards of the city here, each with a weapon in his hand." 2And I saw six men coming from the direction of the upper gate, which faces north, each with a deadly weapon in his hand. With them was a man clothed in linen[f] who had a writing kit at his side. They came in and stood beside the bronze altar.

3Now the glory[g] of the God of Israel went up from above the cherubim,[h] where it had been, and moved to the threshold of the temple. Then the LORD called to the man clothed in linen who had the writing kit at his side 4and said to him, "Go throughout the city of Jerusalem[i] and put a mark[j] on the foreheads of those who grieve and lament[k] over all the detestable things that are done in it."

5As I listened, he said to the others, "Follow him through the city and kill, without showing pity[m] or compassion.[n] 6Slaughter[o] old men, young men and maidens, women and children,[p] but do not touch anyone who has the mark.[q] Begin at my sanctuary." So they began with the elders[r] who were in front of the temple.[s]

7Then he said to them, "Defile the temple and fill the courts with the slain.[t] Go!" So they went out and began killing throughout the city. 8While they were killing and I was left alone, I fell facedown,[u] crying out, "Ah, Sovereign LORD![v] Are you going to destroy the en-

8:10 all kinds of crawling things and detestable animals. Probably reflecting Egyptian influence (see 2Ki 23:31–35).

8:11 Jaazaniah. Not the same person as in 11:1. Ironically, the name means "The LORD hears," and the irony is sharpened by the quotation in v. 12.

8:14 Tammuz. The only Biblical reference to this Babylonian fertility god. The women of Jerusalem were bewailing his dying, which they felt caused the annual wilting of vegetation. According to some interpreters, he is alluded to in Da 11:37 ("the one desired by women").

8:16 With their backs toward the temple. Almost all ancient temples were oriented toward the east. Worshiping the sun as it rose required one to turn his back to the temple.

8:17 putting the branch to their nose. A ceremonial gesture in nature worship, not documented elsewhere in the Bible.

9:1 loud voice. The thunderous voice of God (see Ex 19:19 and NIV text note; see also Ps 29).

9:2 six men coming from the direction of the upper gate. These six guardian angels of the city, plus the seventh clothed in linen (cf. the seven angels of the judgment in Rev 8:2,6), came from the place where the idol that provoked to jealousy stood (see 8:3 and note). deadly weapon. Probably a war club or a battle-ax.

9:3 the glory . . . went up. God began to vacate the temple, his glory moving to the door (see note on 8:1–11:25).

9:4 mark. A taw, the last letter of the Hebrew alphabet, which originally looked like an "x" (cf. Rev 7:2–4; 13:16; 14:9,11; 20:4; 22:4). those who grieve and lament. The remnant (see Ex 12:23; 1Ki 19:18).

9:6 Begin at my sanctuary. Judgment begins with God's people (see 1Pe 4:17).

9:8 Are you . . . Jerusalem? One of the few times Ezekiel questioned the Lord (see 11:13).

tire remnant of Israel in this outpouring of your wrath[w] on Jerusalem?[x]"

9He answered me, "The sin of the house of Israel and Judah is exceedingly great; the land is full of bloodshed and the city is full of injustice.[y] They say, 'The LORD has forsaken the land; the LORD does not see.'[z] 10So I will not look on them with pity[a] or spare them, but I will bring down on their own heads what they have done.[b]"

11Then the man in linen with the writing kit at his side brought back word, saying, "I have done as you commanded."

The Glory Departs From the Temple

10 I looked, and I saw the likeness of a throne[c] of sapphire[q][d] above the expanse[e] that was over the heads of the cherubim.[f] 2The LORD said to the man clothed in linen,[g] "Go in among the wheels[h] beneath the cherubim. Fill[i] your hands with burning coals[j] from among the cherubim and scatter them over the city." And as I watched, he went in.

3Now the cherubim were standing on the south side of the temple when the man went in, and a cloud filled the inner court. 4Then the glory of the LORD[k] rose from above the cherubim and moved to the threshold of the temple. The cloud filled the temple, and the court was full of the radiance of the glory of the LORD. 5The sound of the wings of the cherubim could be heard as far away as the outer court, like the voice[l] of God Almighty[r] when he speaks.[m]

6When the LORD commanded the man in linen, "Take fire from among the wheels,[n] from among the cherubim," the man went in and stood beside a wheel. 7Then one of the cherubim reached out his hand to the fire[o] that was among them. He took up some of it and put it into the hands of the man in linen, who took it and went out. 8(Under the wings of the cherubim could be seen what looked like the hands of a man.)[p]

9I looked, and I saw beside the cherubim four wheels, one beside each of the cherubim; the wheels sparkled like chrysolite.[q] 10As for their appearance, the four of them looked alike; each was like a wheel intersecting a wheel. 11As they moved, they would go in any one of the four directions the cherubim faced; the wheels did not turn about[s] as the cherubim went. The cherubim went in whatever direction the head faced, without turning as they went. 12Their entire bodies, including their backs, their hands and their wings, were completely full of eyes,[r] as were their four wheels.[s] 13I heard the wheels being called "the whirling wheels." 14Each of the cherubim[t] had four faces:[u] One face was that of a cherub, the second the face of a man, the third the face of a lion,[v] and the fourth the face of an eagle.[w]

15Then the cherubim rose upward. These were the living creatures[x] I had seen by the Kebar River.[y] 16When the cherubim moved, the wheels beside them moved; and when the cherubim spread their wings to rise from the ground, the wheels did not leave their side. 17When the cherubim stood still, they also stood still; and when the cherubim rose, they rose with them, because the spirit of the living creatures was in them.[z]

18Then the glory[a] of the LORD departed from over the threshold of the temple and stopped above the cherubim.[b] 19While I watched, the cherubim spread their wings and rose from the ground, and as they went, the wheels went with them.[c] They stopped at the entrance to the east gate of the LORD's house, and the glory[d] of the God of Israel was above them.

20These were the living creatures I had seen beneath the God of Israel by the Kebar River,[e] and I realized that they were cherubim. 21Each had four faces[f] and four wings,[g] and under their wings was what looked like the hands of a man. 22Their faces had the same appearance as those I had seen by the Kebar River.[h] Each one went straight ahead.

[q] 1 Or lapis lazuli [r] 5 Hebrew El-Shaddai [s] 11 Or aside

10:1 I looked. Ch. 10 echoes ch. 1, underscoring the identity of what Ezekiel saw at the Kebar River with what he now sees in his vision (see 8:4). The creatures in ch. 1 are here called cherubim (see note on 1:5).

10:2 burning coals. While in 1:13 the living creatures looked like burning coals, here there are real coals. scatter them over the city. A judgment by fire (see Ge 19:24; Am 7:4).

10:7 one of the cherubim reached out his hand. Though the "man clothed in linen" was initially commanded to get the coals himself (v. 2), he received them from the hand of one of the creatures (see 1:8). who took it and went out. No further report is given, but the destructive spreading of the coals over Jerusalem is assumed.

10:14 One face was that of a cherub. While the faces of the man, lion and eagle are identical with those in 1:10, the ox is here called a cherub (see note on Ge 3:24).

10:19 to the east gate ... and the glory of the God of Israel was above them. A second movement of the glory, again in an easterly direction (see 9:3; 10:4; see also note on 8:1–11:25).

11:1 Jaazaniah. See note on 8:11. Pelatiah. Means "The house of the LORD that faces east. There at the entrance to the gate were twenty-five men, and I saw among them Jaazaniah son of Azzur and Pelatiah[i] son of Benaiah, leaders[j] of the people.[k] 2The LORD said to me, "Son of man, these are the men who are plotting evil[l] and giving wicked advice in this city.[m] 3They say, 'Will it not soon be time to build houses?[t] This city is a cooking pot,[n] and we are the meat.'[o] 4Therefore prophesy[p] against them; prophesy, son of man."

5Then the Spirit of the LORD came upon me, and he told me to say: "This is what the LORD says: That is what you are saying, O house of Israel, but I know what is going through your mind.[q] 6You have killed many people in this city and filled its streets with the dead.[r]

7"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: The bodies you have thrown there are the meat and this city is the pot,[s] but I will drive you out of it.[t] 8You fear the sword,[u] and the sword is what I will bring against you, declares the Sovereign LORD.[v] 9I will drive you out of the city and hand you over[w] to foreigners and inflict punishment on you.[x] 10You will fall by the sword, and I will execute judgment on you at the borders of Israel.[y] Then you will know that I am the LORD. 11This city will not be a pot[z] for you, nor will you be the meat in it; I will execute judgment on you at the borders of Israel. 12And you will know that I am the LORD,[a] for you have not followed my decrees[b] or kept my laws but have conformed to the standards of the nations around you.[c]"

13Now as I was prophesying, Pelatiah[d] son of Benaiah died. Then I fell facedown and cried out in a loud voice, "Ah, Sovereign LORD! Will you completely destroy the remnant of Israel?[e]"

14The word of the LORD came to me: 15"Son of man, your brothers—your brothers who are your blood relatives[u] and the whole house of Israel—are those of whom the people of Jerusalem have said, 'They are[v] far away from the LORD; this land was given to us as our possession.'[f]

Promised Return of Israel

16"Therefore say: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Although I sent them far away among the nations and scattered them among the countries, yet for a little while I have been a sanctuary[g] for them in the countries where they have gone.'

17"Therefore say: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will gather you from the nations and bring you back from the countries where you have been scattered, and I will give you back the land of Israel again.'[h]

18"They will return to it and remove all its vile images[i] and detestable idols.[j] 19I will give them an undivided heart[k] and put a new spirit in them; I will remove from them their heart of stone[l] and give them a heart of flesh.[m] 20Then they will follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws.[n] They will be my people,[o] and I will be their God.[p] 21But as for those whose hearts are devoted to their vile images and detestable idols,[q] I will bring down on their own heads what they have done, declares the Sovereign LORD.[r]"

22Then the cherubim, with the wheels beside them, spread their wings, and the glory[s] of the God of Israel was above them.[t] 23The glory[u] of the LORD went up from within the city and stopped above the mountain[v] east of it. 24The Spirit[w] lifted me up and brought me to the exiles in Babylonia[w] in the vision[x] given by the Spirit of God.

LORD delivers."

11:3 soon . . . time to build houses? The residents of Jerusalem who were not exiled in 597 B.C. felt smugly secure, thinking that nothing worse would befall them. cooking pot. As in ch. 24, Jerusalem is compared to a cooking pot. Those left behind boasted that they were the "meat," the choice portions—the inference being that the exiles in Babylon were the discarded bones (see v. 15).

11:7 The bodies you have thrown there are the meat. The meat, redefined by the prophet, is not those in power in Jerusalem (who will be driven out) but the innocent people they killed.

11:11 at the borders of Israel. At Riblah (see 2Ki 25:20–21).

11:13 Will you . . . Israel? See note on 9:8.

11:16 I have been a sanctuary for them. A key verse in Ezekiel. Although the exiles had been driven from Jerusalem and its sanctuary (the symbol of God's presence among his people), God himself became their sanctuary, i.e., he was present among them. Later Christ also became a substitute for the temple (see Jn 2:19–21).

11:19 undivided heart . . . new spirit. Inner spiritual and moral transformation that results in single-minded commitment to the Lord and to his will (see 36:26).

11:20 They will be my people, and I will be their God. The heart of God's covenant promise (see Ex 6:7).

11:23 The glory of the LORD went up. The final eastward movement of the glory (as the Lord left his temple), which stopped above the Mount of Olives (see 9:3; 10:4,19; see also note on 8:1–11:25).

11:24 See note on 8:3.

Then the vision I had seen went up from me, 25and I told the exiles everything the LORD had shown me.[y]

The Exile Symbolized

12 The word of the LORD came to me: 2"Son of man, you are living among a rebellious people.[z] They have eyes to see but do not see and ears to hear but do not hear, for they are a rebellious people.[a]

3"Therefore, son of man, pack your belongings for exile and in the daytime, as they watch, set out and go from where you are to another place. Perhaps[b] they will understand,[c] though they are a rebellious house.[d] 4During the daytime, while they watch, bring out your belongings packed for exile. Then in the evening, while they are watching, go out like those who go into exile.[e] 5While they watch, dig through the wall[f] and take your belongings out through it. 6Put them on your shoulder as they are watching and carry them out at dusk. Cover your face so that you cannot see the land, for I have made you a sign[g] to the house of Israel."

7So I did as I was commanded.[h] During the day I brought out my things packed for exile. Then in the evening I dug through the wall with my hands. I took my belongings out at dusk, carrying them on my shoulders while they watched.

8In the morning the word of the LORD came to me: 9"Son of man, did not that rebellious house of Israel ask you, 'What are you doing?'[i]

10"Say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: This oracle concerns the prince in Jerusalem and the whole house of Israel who are there.' 11Say to them, 'I am a sign[j] to you.'

"As I have done, so it will be done to them. They will go into exile as captives.[k]

12"The prince among them will put his things on his shoulder at dusk[l] and leave, and a hole will be dug in the wall for him to go through. He will cover his face so that he cannot see the land.[m] 13I will spread my net[n] for him, and he will be caught in my snare;[o] I will bring him to Babylonia, the land of the Chaldeans,[p] but he will not see[q] it, and there he will die.[r] 14I will scatter to the winds all those around him—his staff and all his troops—and I will pursue them with drawn sword.[s]

15"They will know that I am the LORD, when I disperse them among the nations[t] and scatter them through the countries. 16But I will spare a few of them from the sword, famine and plague, so that in the nations where they go they may acknowledge all their detestable practices. Then they will know that I am the LORD.[u]"

17The word of the LORD came to me: 18"Son of man, tremble as you eat your food,[v] and shudder in fear as you drink your water. 19Say to the people of the land: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says about those living in Jerusalem and in the land of Israel: They will eat their food in anxiety and drink their water in despair, for their land will be stripped of everything[w] in it because of the violence of all who live there.[x] 20The inhabited towns will be laid waste and the land will be desolate. Then you will know that I am the LORD.[y]' "

21The word of the LORD came to me: 22"Son of man, what is this proverb[z] you have in the land of Israel: 'The days go by and every vision comes to nothing'?[a] 23Say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am going to put an end to this proverb, and they will no longer quote it in Israel.' Say to them, 'The days are near[b] when every vision will be fulfilled.[c] 24For there will be no more false visions or flattering divinations[d] among the people of Israel. 25But I the LORD will speak what I will, and it

12:2 eyes to see but do not see. The hardening about which the Lord had spoken to Isaiah (Isa 6:9–10).

12:3 pack your belongings. Another symbolic act, which, like those in chs. 4–5, follows a vision. Perhaps they will understand. Some hope remained that they would change.

12:5 dig through the wall. Not the city wall, which was made of stone and was many feet thick, but the sun-dried brick wall of his house.

12:6 sign. Prophets were often instructed to perform symbolic acts (see, e.g., v. 11; 24:24,27).

12:8 In the morning. After Ezekiel "did as . . . commanded" (v. 7). Again the divine explanation follows the prophet's unquestioning obedience (see note on 8:3).

12:9 What are you doing? The book's first indication of the people's response to the prophet's symbolic acts.

12:10 prince in Jerusalem. Zedekiah (see note on 7:27).

12:13 he will not see it. Nebuchadnezzar's men would put out Zedekiah's eyes (see 2Ki 25:7).

12:18 tremble as you eat. Another prophetic symbol. Ezekiel's trembling must have been particularly violent, because the Hebrew word for "tremble" is used elsewhere to describe an earthquake (see 1Ki 19:11; Am 1:1).

12:19 people of the land. See note on 7:27.

12:22 proverb. A mocking proverb (probably coined by false prophets; see ch. 13; Jer 23:9–40; 28), which had become a popular saying. vision. The Hebrew for this word is not the same as that used in 1:1 but is the one used in 7:26, referring to a message that could be written down (see Hab 2:2, "revelation")—specifically Ezekiel's oracles of judgment.

12:23 every vision will be fulfilled. Divine affirmation of the true prophetic word (cf. Isa 55:11).

shall be fulfilled without delay.[e] For in your days, you rebellious house, I will fulfill[f] whatever I say, declares the Sovereign LORD.[g]' "

[26]The word of the LORD came to me: [27]"Son of man, the house of Israel is saying, 'The vision he sees is for many years from now, and he prophesies about the distant future.'[h]

[28]"Therefore say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: None of my words will be delayed any longer; whatever I say will be fulfilled, declares the Sovereign LORD.' "

False Prophets Condemned

13 The word of the LORD came to me: [2]"Son of man, prophesy against the prophets[i] of Israel who are now prophesying. Say to those who prophesy out of their own imagination:[j] 'Hear the word of the LORD![k] [3]This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Woe to the foolish[x] prophets[l] who follow their own spirit and have seen nothing![m] [4]Your prophets, O Israel, are like jackals among ruins. [5]You have not gone up to the breaks in the wall to repair[n] it for the house of Israel so that it will stand firm in the battle on the day of the LORD.[o] [6]Their visions are false[p] and their divinations a lie. They say, "The LORD declares," when the LORD has not sent[q] them; yet they expect their words to be fulfilled.[r] [7]Have you not seen false visions[s] and uttered lying divinations when you say, "The LORD declares," though I have not spoken?

[8]" 'Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because of your false words and lying visions, I am against you,[t] declares the Sovereign LORD. [9]My hand will be against the prophets who see false visions and utter lying[u] divinations. They will not belong to the council of my people or be listed in the records[v] of the house of Israel, nor will they enter the land of Israel. Then you will know that I am the Sovereign LORD.[w]

[10]" 'Because they lead my people astray,[x] saying, "Peace,"[y] when there is no peace, and because, when a flimsy wall is built, they cover it with whitewash,[z] [11]therefore tell those who cover it with whitewash that it is going to fall. Rain will come in torrents, and I will send hailstones[a] hurtling down,[b] and violent winds will burst forth.[c] [12]When the wall collapses, will people not ask you, "Where is the whitewash you covered it with?"

[13]" 'Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: In my wrath I will unleash a violent wind, and in my anger hailstones[d] and torrents of rain[e] will fall with destructive fury.[f] [14]I will tear down the wall[g] you have covered with whitewash and will level it to the ground so that its foundation[h] will be laid bare. When it[y] falls,[i] you will be destroyed in it; and you will know that I am the LORD. [15]So I will spend my wrath against the wall and against those who covered it with whitewash. I will say to you, "The wall is gone and so are those who whitewashed it, [16]those prophets of Israel who prophesied to Jerusalem and saw visions of peace for her when there was no peace, declares the Sovereign LORD.[j]" '

[17]"Now, son of man, set your face[k] against the daughters[l] of your people who prophesy out of their own imagination. Prophesy against them[m] [18]and say, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Woe to the women who sew magic charms on all their wrists and make veils of various lengths for their heads in order to ensnare people. Will you ensnare the lives of my people but preserve your own? [19]You have profaned[n] me among

[x]3 Or wicked [y]14 Or the city

12:27 many years from now. Whereas the first proverb denies that Ezekiel's words would ever be fulfilled, this one allows that they might be fulfilled in the distant future, beyond the concern of the present generation.
13:2 out of their own imagination. Cf. Jer 23:21–22.
13:3 have seen nothing. No revelation from God was received.
13:4 jackals. Animals that travel in packs and feed on dead flesh—a powerfully negative image (see Ps 63:10; La 5:18).
13:5 You have not gone up. The function of true prophets is described (cf. 22:30; Ps 106:23). day of the LORD. See note on 7:7.
13:6 Their visions are false. Whether the false prophets had actual visions is unknown, but they claimed to have received revelations from God when in reality their messages only proclaimed what their hearers wanted to hear (see Isa 30:10; Jer 23:9–17; 2Ti 4:3).
13:8 I am against you. See 5:8 and note.
13:9 They will not belong. Part of a threefold punishment, resulting in total exclusion from the community.
13:10 "Peace," when there is no peace. See v. 16; Jer 6:14; 8:11. whitewash. The Hebrew for this word is used only by Ezekiel (see 22:28). A similar-sounding Hebrew word means "unsatisfying things," and Ezekiel may have chosen the word he did because of its similarity to the other one.
13:11 Rain will come in torrents. The violent thunderstorm of God's judgment (imagery frequently used in the OT) was about to sweep them away (see, e.g., Ps 18:7–15; 77:17–18; 83:15; Isa 28:17; 30:30; Jer 23:19; 30:23).
13:18 magic charms. Exactly what the women were doing is not known, but that it was some kind of black magic or voodoo is clear. The Bible consistently avoids explicit description of occult practices.
13:19 for a few handfuls of barley. Involvement in religious matters of any kind for mere gain is consistently condemned in the Bible (see, e.g., Jer 6:13; 8:10; Mic

my people for a few handfuls of barley and scraps of bread.[o] By lying to my people, who listen to lies, you have killed those who should not have died and have spared those who should not live.[p]

20"'Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against your magic charms with which you ensnare people like birds and I will tear them from your arms; I will set free the people that you ensnare like birds.[q] 21I will tear off your veils and save my people from your hands, and they will no longer fall prey to your power. Then you will know that I am the LORD.[r] 22Because you disheartened the righteous with your lies,[s] when I had brought them no grief, and because you encouraged the wicked not to turn from their evil ways and so save their lives,[t] 23therefore you will no longer see false visions[u] or practice divination.[v] I will save[w] my people from your hands. And then you will know that I am the LORD.[x]'"

Idolaters Condemned

14 Some of the elders of Israel came to me and sat down in front of me.[y] 2Then the word of the LORD came to me: 3"Son of man, these men have set up idols in their hearts[z] and put wicked stumbling blocks[a] before their faces. Should I let them inquire of me at all?[b] 4Therefore speak to them and tell them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: When any Israelite sets up idols in his heart and puts a wicked stumbling block before his face and then goes to a prophet, I the LORD will answer him myself in keeping with his great idolatry. 5I will do this to recapture the hearts of the people of Israel, who have all deserted[c] me for their idols.'[d]

6"Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Repent![e] Turn from your idols and renounce all your detestable practices![f]

7"'When any Israelite or any alien[g] living in Israel separates himself from me and sets up idols in his heart and puts a wicked stumbling block[h] before his face and then goes to a prophet to inquire[i] of me, I the LORD will answer him myself. 8I will set my face against[j] that man and make him an example[k] and a byword.[l] I will cut him off from my people. Then you will know that I am the LORD.[m]

9"'And if the prophet[n] is enticed[o] to utter a prophecy, I the LORD have enticed that prophet, and I will stretch out my hand against him and destroy him from among my people Israel.[p] 10They will bear their guilt—the prophet will be as guilty as the one who consults him. 11Then the people of Israel will no longer stray[q] from me, nor will they defile themselves anymore with all their sins. They will be my people,[r] and I will be their God, declares the Sovereign LORD.[s]'"

Judgment Inescapable

12The word of the LORD came to me: 13"Son of man, if a country sins[t] against me by being unfaithful and I stretch out my hand against it to cut off its food supply[u] and send famine upon it and kill its men and their animals,[v] 14even if these three men—Noah,[w] Daniel[z x] and Job[y]—were in it, they could save only themselves by their righteousness,[z] declares the Sovereign LORD.

15"Or if I send wild beasts[a] through that country and they leave it childless and it becomes desolate so that no one can pass through it because of the beasts,[b] 16as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, even if these three men were in it, they could not save their own sons or daughters. They alone would be saved, but the land would be desolate.[c]

17"Or if I bring a sword[d] against that country and say, 'Let the sword pass throughout the land,' and I kill its men and their animals,[e] 18as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, even if these three men were in it, they could not save their own sons or daughters. They alone would be saved.

3:5,11; Ac 8:9–24; Tit 1:11). For the proper attitude and motivation see 2Co 11:7; 2Th 3:8; 1Ti 3:3. you have killed. The women had used their evil powers to unjust ends, involving even matters of life and death.

14:1 elders of Israel. Apparently interchangeable with "elders of Judah" (see note on 8:1).

14:3 idols. See note on 6:4. inquire. A technical term for seeking an oracle from a prophet (see 2Ki 1:16; 3:11; 8:8).

14:4 I the LORD will answer him myself. The punishment for idolatry was death (Dt 13:6–18).

14:6 Repent! First of three calls for repentance from Ezekiel, who elsewhere proclaims inescapable judgment (see 18:30; 33:11).

14:9 enticed. Related to the divine hardening (3:20; cf. 1Ki 22:19–23).

14:14,20 Noah, Daniel and Job. Three ancient men of renown, selected because of their proverbial righteousness. As the NIV text note indicates, another Daniel may be referred to (Ugaritic literature speaks of an honored "Danel"; see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii), since the Biblical Daniel's righteousness probably had not become proverbial so soon (Daniel and Ezekiel were contemporaries; see Da 1:1). If the Biblical Daniel is meant, what he shared in common with Noah and Job was not only righteousness but also deliverance (part of Ezekiel's emphasis).

and pour out my wrath[f] upon it through bloodshed,[g] killing its men and their animals,[h] 20as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, even if Noah, Daniel and Job were in it, they could save neither son nor daughter. They would save only themselves by their righteousness.[i]

21"For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: How much worse will it be when I send against Jerusalem my four dreadful judgments[j]—sword[k] and famine[l] and wild beasts and plague[m]—to kill its men and their animals! 22Yet there will be some survivors[o]—sons and daughters who will be brought out of it.[p] They will come to you, and when you see their conduct[q] and their actions, you will be consoled[r] regarding the disaster I have brought upon Jerusalem—every disaster I have brought upon it. 23You will be consoled when you see their conduct and their actions, for you will know that I have done nothing in it without cause, declares the Sovereign LORD.[s]"

Jerusalem, A Useless Vine

15 The word of the LORD came to me: 2"Son of man, how is the wood of a vine[t] better than that of a branch on any of the trees in the forest? 3Is wood ever taken from it to make anything useful?[u] Do they make pegs[v] from it to hang things on? 4And after it is thrown on the fire as fuel and the fire burns both ends and chars the middle, is it then useful for anything?[w] 5If it was not useful for anything when it was whole, how much less can it be made into something useful when the fire has burned it and it is charred?

6"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: As I have given the wood of the vine among the trees of the forest as fuel for the fire, so will I treat the people living in Jerusalem. 7I will set my face against[x] them. Although they have come out of the fire[y,z], the fire will yet consume them. And when I set my face against them, you will know that I am the LORD.[a] 8I will make the land desolate[b] because they have been unfaithful,[c] declares the Sovereign LORD."

An Allegory of Unfaithful Jerusalem

16 The word of the LORD came to me: 2"Son of man, confront[d] Jerusalem with her detestable practices[e] 3and say, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says to Jerusalem: Your ancestry[f] and birth were in the land of the Canaanites; your father[g] was an Amorite[h] and your mother a Hittite.[i] 4On the day you were born[j] your cord was not cut, nor were you washed with water to make you clean, nor were you rubbed with salt or wrapped in cloths. 5No one looked on you with pity or had compassion enough to do any of these things for you. Rather, you were thrown out into the open field, for on the day you were born you were despised.

6" 'Then I passed by and saw you kicking about in your blood, and as you lay there in your blood I said to you, "Live!"[ak] 7I made you grow[l] like a plant of the field. You grew up and developed and became the most beautiful of jewels.[b] Your breasts were formed

[a] 6 A few Hebrew manuscripts, Septuagint and Syriac; most Hebrew manuscripts "Live!" And as you lay there in your blood I said to you, "Live!" [b] 7 Or became mature

14:20 neither son nor daughter. When God comes in judgment against a nation or people, no one can count on another's righteousness—not even that of his parents—to deliver him.

14:21 my four dreadful judgments. See note on 1:5. sword and famine and wild beasts and plague. Cf. the "four horsemen of the Apocalypse" (see Rev 6:1–8, and especially Rev 6:8).

14:23 You. Plural; i.e., the exiles in Babylon. will be consoled. When the exiles see the wickedness of those brought to Babylon from Jerusalem, they will know that God's judgment on the city was just.

15:2 vine. For Israel as a vine see Ps 80:8–13; cf. Lk 20:9–19; Jn 15:1–17.

15:3 Do they make pegs from it to hang things on? See Isa 22:23–25.

15:4 is it then useful for anything? Whereas Isaiah (5:1–7) and Jeremiah (2:21) express divine disappointment over Israel's failure to produce good fruit, Ezekiel typically laments her total uselessness.

15:7 Although they have come out of the fire. A reference to the siege of Jerusalem in 597 B.C., which resulted in the exile of which Ezekiel was a part (see 1:2; 2Ki 24:10–16). fire will yet consume them. Prophecy threatening another and more devastating siege—Ezekiel's main message before 586 (see 5:2,4; 10:2,7).

16:3 Cf. Dt 26:5. Your ancestry and birth. Jerusalem had a centuries-old, pre-Israelite history (Ge 14:18), and the city long resisted Israelite conquest (Jos 15:63). It became fully Israelite only after David's conquest (2Sa 5:6–9). father . . . mother. A reference to Jerusalem's non-Israelite origin generally, not to any specific individuals. Amorite. Cf. v. 45. Like the Canaanites, the Amorites were pre-Israelite, Semitic inhabitants of Canaan (Ge 48:22; Jos 5:1; 10:5; Jdg 1:34–36). Hittite. The Hittites were non-Semitic residents of Canaan, who earlier had flourished in Asia Minor during the second millennium B.C. (see Ge 23:10–20; 26:34; 1Sa 26:6; 2Sa 11:2–27; 1Ki 11:1).

16:4 rubbed with salt. This practice has been observed among Arab peasants in the Holy Land as late as A.D. 1918. wrapped in cloths. Cf. Lk 2:7.

16:5 thrown out into the open field. Abandoned to die. Exposure of infants, common in ancient pagan societies, was abhorrent to Israel.

16:6 blood. Of childbirth. Live! God's basic desire for all people, summed up in one word (see 18:23,32; 1Ti 2:4; 2Pe 3:9).

16:7 hair. Pubic hair (see Isa 7:20).

and your hair grew, you who were naked and bare.[m]

8" 'Later I passed by, and when I looked at you and saw that you were old enough for love, I spread the corner of my garment[n] over you and covered your nakedness. I gave you my solemn oath and entered into a covenant[o] with you, declares the Sovereign LORD, and you became mine.[p]

9" 'I bathed[c] you with water and washed[q] the blood from you and put ointments on you. 10I clothed you with an embroidered[r] dress and put leather sandals on you. I dressed you in fine linen[s] and covered you with costly garments.[t] 11I adorned you with jewelry:[u] I put bracelets[v] on your arms and a necklace[w] around your neck, 12and I put a ring on your nose,[x] earrings[y] on your ears and a beautiful crown[z] on your head.[a] 13So you were adorned with gold and silver; your clothes[b] were of fine linen and costly fabric and embroidered cloth. Your food was fine flour, honey and olive oil.[c] You became very beautiful and rose to be a queen.[d] 14And your fame[e] spread among the nations on account of your beauty,[f] because the splendor I had given you made your beauty perfect, declares the Sovereign LORD.[g]

15" 'But you trusted in your beauty and used your fame to become a prostitute. You lavished your favors on anyone who passed by[h] and your beauty became his.[di] 16You took some of your garments to make gaudy high places,[j] where you carried on your prostitution.[k] Such things should not happen, nor should they ever occur. 17You also took the fine jewelry I gave you, the jewelry made of my gold and silver, and you made for yourself male idols and engaged in prostitution with them.[l] 18And you took your embroidered clothes to put on them, and you offered my oil and incense[m] before them. 19Also the food I provided for you—the fine flour, olive oil and honey I gave you to eat—you offered as fragrant incense before them. That is what happened, declares the Sovereign LORD.[n]

Was your prostitution not enough?[q] 21You slaughtered my children and sacrificed them[e] to the idols.[r] 22In all your detestable practices and your prostitution you did not remember the days of your youth,[s] when you were naked and bare,[t] kicking about in your blood.[u]

[e] 21 Or and made them pass through (the fire)

16:8 spread the corner of my garment. Symbolic of entering a marriage relationship (see notes on Dt 22:30; Ru 3:9). covenant. Since the maiden symbolizes Jerusalem, this does not refer to the Sinai covenant but to marriage as a covenant (see Mal 2:14).

16:9 blood. Menstrual blood, indicating sexual maturity (see NIV text note on v. 7).

16:10 embroidered dress ... leather sandals ... fine linen. Representative of the very best garments. embroidered dress. See 27:16,24; colored, variegated material fit for a queen (see Ps 45:14). leather sandals. The same kind of leather was used to cover the tabernacle ("hides of sea cows," Ex 25:5; 26:14).

16:11 bracelets on your arms. See Ge 24:22.

16:12 ring. Not piercing the nose but worn on the outer part of the nose (see Ge 24:47). earrings. Circular ear ornaments, worn by men (Nu 31:50). The Hebrew for this word is not the same as that used in Ge 35:4; Ex 32:2–3. crown. The wedding crown (see SS 3:11, where the groom wears it).

16:13 gold and silver. Cf. Hos 2:8. fine flour. Used in offerings, therefore of high quality (see v. 19; 46:14). olive oil. Cf. Hos 2:8. For the combination of honey and oil see Dt 32:13. You became very beautiful. Cf. Eph 5:27.

16:14 your fame spread. Especially in the time of David and Solomon.

16:15 prostitute. The accusation of prostitution referred both to spiritual turning away from the Lord and to physical involvement with the fertility rites of Canaanite paganism (cf. Jer 3:1–5; Hos 4:13–14; 9:1). favors. Sexual favors. Verb and noun forms of the Hebrew for this word occur 23 times in this chapter. anyone who passed by. Cf. Ge 38:14–16.

16:16 garments. All of the Lord's previous gifts were used by Jerusalem in prostituting herself. Cloths of some kind were needed in the Asherah cult practices (see 2Ki 23:7). They may have been used as curtains or as bedding (see Am 2:7–8).

16:17 male idols. Phallic symbols or pictures of naked men (see 23:14).

16:20 sons and daughters ... sacrificed. See 20:26,31; 23:37; 2Ki 21:6; 23:10; Jer 7:31; 19:5; 32:35. Laws against child sacrifice are recorded in Lev 18:21; 20:2; Dt 12:31; 18:10.

16:24 mound ... lofty shrine. Cultic prostitution was moved from the high places (v. 15), which were outside the towns, into Jerusalem.

16:26 lustful. The Hebrew is more graphic: "having oversized organs." The language reflects both God's and Ezekiel's disgust with Jerusalem's apostasy. neighbors. Nowhere else in the OT are the Egyptians called "neighbors."

provoked[c] me to anger with your increasing promiscuity.[d] 27So I stretched out my hand[e] against you and reduced your territory; I gave you over[f] to the greed of your enemies, the daughters of the Philistines,[g] who were shocked by your lewd conduct. 28You engaged in prostitution with the Assyrians[h] too, because you were insatiable; and even after that, you still were not satisfied.[i] 29Then you increased your promiscuity to include Babylonia,[tj] a land of merchants, but even with this you were not satisfied.[k]

30"'How weak-willed you are, declares the Sovereign LORD, when you do all these things, acting like a brazen prostitute![l] 31When you built your mounds at the head of every street and made your lofty shrines[m] in every public square, you were unlike a prostitute, because you scorned payment.

32"'You adulterous wife! You prefer strangers to your own husband! 33Every prostitute receives a fee,[n] but you give gifts[o] to all your lovers, bribing them to come to you from everywhere for your illicit favors.[p] 34So in your prostitution you are the opposite of others; no one runs after you for your favors. You are the very opposite, for you give payment and none is given to you.

35"'Therefore, you prostitute, hear the word of the LORD! 36This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because you poured out your wealth[s] and exposed your nakedness in your promiscuity with your lovers, and because of all your detestable idols, and because you gave them your children's blood,[q] 37therefore I am going to gather all your lovers, with whom you found pleasure, those you loved as well as those you hated. I will gather them against you from all around and will strip[r] you in front of them, and they will see all your nakedness.[s] 38I will sentence you to the punishment of women who commit adultery and who shed blood;[t] I will bring upon you the blood vengeance of my wrath and jealous anger.[u] 39Then I will hand you over[v] to your lovers, and they will tear down your mounds and destroy your lofty shrines. They will strip you of your clothes and take your fine jewelry and leave you naked and bare.[w] 40They will bring a mob against you, who will stone[x] you and hack you to pieces with their swords. 41They will burn down[y] your houses and inflict punishment on you in the sight of many women.[z] I will put a stop[a] to your prostitution, and you will no longer pay your lovers. 42Then my wrath against you will subside and my jealous anger will turn away from you; I will be calm and no longer angry.[b]

43"'Because you did not remember[c] the days of your youth but enraged me with all these things, I will surely bring down[d] on your head what you have done, declares the Sovereign LORD. Did you not add lewdness to all your other detestable practices?[e]

44"'Everyone who quotes proverbs[f] will quote this proverb about you: "Like mother, like daughter." 45You are a true daughter of your mother, who despised[g] her husband[h] and her children; and you are a true sister of your sisters, who despised their husbands and their children. Your mother was a Hittite and your father an Amorite.[i] 46Your older sister[j] was Samaria, who lived to the north of you with her daughters; and your younger sister, who lived to the south of you with her daughters, was Sodom.[k] 47You not only walked in their ways and copied their detestable practices, but in all your ways you soon became more depraved than they.[l] 48As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign[m] LORD, your sister Sodom[n] and her daughters never did what you and your daughters have done.[o]

49"'Now this was the sin of your sister Sodom:[p] She and her daughters were arrogant,[q] overfed and unconcerned;[r] they did not help the poor and needy.[s]

[t] 29 Or Chaldea [s] 36 Or lust

16:27 reduced your territory. After the 701 B.C. siege of Jerusalem, the Assyrian king Sennacherib gave some of Jerusalem's territory to the Philistines.

16:33 you give gifts to all your lovers. Jerusalem's perversity is here pictured as worse than adultery and ordinary prostitution (see also v. 34).

16:37 strip you. A reversal of the marriage covering (v. 8) and a return to the state described in v. 7.

16:38 sentence you. The punishment was death (see Lev 20:10; Dt 22:22) by stoning (see v. 40; Dt 22:21–24; Jn 8:5–7) or burning (Ge 38:24).

16:39 your mounds . . . your lofty shrines. The cultic centers within the city (see v. 24).

16:40 mob . . . will stone you. Cf. 23:47.

16:41 burn down your houses. A common form of punishment (see Jdg 12:1; 15:6). no longer pay your lovers. See v. 33.

16:44 Like mother, like daughter. Referring to Jerusalem's continual and seemingly hereditary tendency toward evil (cf. vv. 3,45).

16:46 daughters. Suburbs or satellite cities.

16:47 more depraved than they. The Bible frequently compares a city or people to Sodom (see v. 46) as the epitome of evil and degradation (see Dt 29:23; 32:32; Isa 1:9–10; 3:9; Jer 23:14; La 4:6; Mt 10:15; 11:23–24; Jude 7).

50They were haughty[t] and did detestable things before me. Therefore I did away with them as you have seen.[u] 51Samaria did not commit half the sins you did. You have done more detestable things than they, and have made your sisters seem righteous by all these things you have done.[v] 52Bear your disgrace, for you have furnished some justification for your sisters. Because your sins were more vile than theirs, they appear more righteous[w] than you. So then, be ashamed and bear[x] your disgrace, for you have made your sisters appear righteous.

53" 'However, I will restore[y] the fortunes of Sodom and her daughters and of Samaria and her daughters, and your fortunes along with them,[z] 54so that you may bear your disgrace[a] and be ashamed of all you have done in giving them comfort. 55And your sisters, Sodom with her daughters and Samaria with her daughters, will return to what they were before; and you and your daughters will return to what you were before.[b] 56You would not even mention your sister Sodom in the day of your pride, 57before your wickedness was uncovered. Even so, you are now scorned[c] by the daughters of Edom[hd] and all her neighbors and the daughters of the Philistines—all those around you who despise you. 58You will bear the consequences of your lewdness and your detestable practices, declares the LORD.[e]

59" 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will deal with you as you deserve, because you have despised my oath by breaking the covenant.[f] 60Yet I will remember the covenant[g] I made with you in the days of your youth,[h] and I will establish an everlasting covenant[i] with you. 61Then you will remember your ways and be ashamed[j] when you receive your sisters, both those who are older than you and those who are younger. I will give them to you as daughters,[k] but not on the basis of my covenant with you. 62So I will establish my covenant[l] with you, and you will know that I am the LORD.[m] 63Then, when I make atonement[n] for you for all you have done, you will remember and be ashamed[o] and never again open your mouth[p] because of your humiliation, declares the Sovereign LORD.[q]' "

Two Eagles and a Vine

17 The word of the LORD came to me: 2"Son of man, set forth an allegory and tell the house of Israel a parable.[r] 3Say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: A great eagle[s] with powerful wings, long feathers and full plumage of varied colors came to Lebanon.[t] Taking hold of the top of a cedar, 4he broke off[u] its topmost shoot and carried it away to a land of merchants, where he planted it in a city of traders.

5" 'He took some of the seed of your land and put it in fertile soil. He planted it like a willow by abundant water,[v] 6and it sprouted and became a low, spreading vine. Its branches[w] turned toward him, but its roots remained under it. So it became a vine and produced branches and put out leafy boughs.[x]

7" 'But there was another great eagle with powerful wings and full plumage. The vine now sent out its roots toward him from the plot where it was planted and stretched out its branches to him for water.[y] 8It had been planted in good soil by abundant water so that it would produce branches,[z] bear fruit and become a splendid vine.'

9"Say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Will it thrive? Will it not be uprooted and stripped of its fruit so that it withers? All its new growth will wither. It will not take a strong arm or many people to pull it up by the roots.[a] 10Even if it[b] is transplanted, will it

16:56 day of your pride. Referring to a time long before Ezekiel, when Jerusalem (as an Israelite city) was still relatively uncorrupted—as in the days of David and the early years of Solomon.

16:57 scorned by the daughters of Edom. The OT frequently condemns Edom for this (see 25:12–14; 35; Isa 63:1; Obadiah).

16:59 covenant. See v. 8 and note.

16:60 everlasting covenant. See 37:26; Isa 55:3; Jer 32:40.

17:2 allegory . . . parable. The allegory is in vv. 3–10, the explanation in vv. 11–21.

17:3 great eagle. Nebuchadnezzar (see v. 12). Lebanon. Jerusalem (see v. 12). cedar. David's dynasty; his royal family.

17:4 topmost shoot. Jehoiachin. land of merchants. The country of Babylonia (see v. 12; 16:29). city of traders. Babylon.

17:5 seed. Zedekiah son of Josiah; he was the brother of Jehoahaz and Jehoiakim and uncle of Jehoiachin (see 2Ki 23–24). planted it. Made him king (2Ki 24:17).

17:6 low, spreading vine. No longer a tall cedar, because thousands of Judah's leading citizens had been deported (see 2Ki 24:15–16; see also Jer 52:28). But see note on 15:2.

17:7 another great eagle. An Egyptian pharaoh, either Psammetichus II (595–589 B.C.) or Hophra (589–570). Hophra, mentioned in Jer 44:30, is probably the pharaoh who offered help to Jerusalem in 586 (see Jer 37:5). If the fact that ch. 17 is located between ch. 8 (dated 592) and ch. 20 (dated 591) is chronologically meaningful, Psammetichus is meant. sent out its roots toward him. Zedekiah appealed to Egypt for military aid (v. 15), an act of rebellion against Nebuchadnezzar (see 2Ki 24:20).

17:10 east wind. The hot, dry wind known as the khamsin, which withers vegetation (see 19:12). Here it stands for thrive? Will it not wither completely when the east wind strikes it—wither away in the plot where it grew?[c]' "

11Then the word of the LORD came to me: 12"Say to this rebellious house, 'Do you not know what these things mean?[d]' Say to them: 'The king of Babylon went to Jerusalem and carried off her king and her nobles,[e] bringing them back with him to Babylon.[f] 13Then he took a member of the royal family and made a treaty[g] with him, putting him under oath.[h] He also carried away the leading men[i] of the land, 14so that the kingdom would be brought low,[j] unable to rise again, surviving only by keeping his treaty. 15But the king rebelled[k] against him by sending his envoys to Egypt[l] to get horses and a large army.[m] Will he succeed? Will he who does such things escape? Will he break the treaty and yet escape?[n]

16" 'As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, he shall die[o] in Babylon, in the land of the king who put him on the throne, whose oath he despised and whose treaty he broke.[p] 17Pharaoh[q] with his mighty army and great horde will be of no help to him in war, when ramps[r] are built and siege works erected to destroy many lives.[s] 18He despised the oath by breaking the covenant. Because he had given his hand in pledge[t] and yet did all these things, he shall not escape.

19" 'Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: As surely as I live, I will bring down on his head my oath that he despised and my covenant that he broke.[u] 20I will spread my net[v] for him, and he will be caught in my snare. I will bring him to Babylon and execute judgment[w] upon him there because he was unfaithful[x] to me. 21All his fleeing troops will fall by the sword,[y] and the survivors[z] will be scattered to the winds.[a] Then you will know that I the LORD have spoken.[b]

22" 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I myself will take a shoot[c] from the very top of a cedar and plant it; I will break off a tender sprig from its topmost shoots and plant it on a high and lofty mountain.[d] 23On the mountain heights[e] of Israel I will plant it; it will produce branches and bear fruit[f] and become a splendid cedar. Birds of every kind will nest in it; they will find shelter in the shade of its branches.[g] 24All the trees of the field[h] will know that I the LORD bring down[i] the tall tree and make the low tree grow tall. I dry up the green tree and make the dry tree flourish.[j]

" 'I the LORD have spoken, and I will do it.[k]' "

The Soul Who Sins Will Die

18 The word of the LORD came to me: 2"What do you people mean by quoting this proverb about the land of Israel:

" 'The fathers eat sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge'?[l]

3"As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, you will no longer quote this proverb[m] in Israel. 4For every living soul belongs to me, the father as well as the son—both alike belong to me. The soul who sins[n] is the one who will die.[o]

Nebuchadnezzar and his Babylonian forces.

17:12 this rebellious house. See 2:3 and note.

17:15 Will he break the treaty and yet escape? The point of the chapter (see vv. 16,18).

17:16 he shall die in Babylon. See 2Ki 25:7.

17:19 my oath ... my covenant. The king of Judah would have sworn faithfulness to the treaty in the name of the Lord. To swear such an oath and then violate it was to despise God.

17:22 I myself. A beautiful Messianic promise follows, using the previous imagery in a totally new and unexpected way. shoot. A member of David's family (cf. Isa 11:1; Zec 3:8; 6:12). cedar. See note on v. 3. plant it. Make him king (see v. 5). high and lofty mountain. Jerusalem.

17:23 Birds ... will nest in it. See Mk 4:32.

18:2 this proverb. Cf. Jer 31:29, which indicates that the proverb arose first in Jerusalem. Jeremiah predicted the cessation of the proverb, and Ezekiel said its end had come. about the land of Israel. And about the fate of those who have suffered loss. The fathers ... on edge. The proverb, though it expresses self-pity, fatalism and despair, and though it mocks the justice of God, had its origin in Israelite belief in corporate solidarity (see Ex 20:5; 34:7 and Ezekiel's own words in chs. 16; 23). In La 5:7 the thought appears as a sincere confession. set on edge. The Hebrew for this phrase perhaps means "blunted" or "worn" (cf. Ecc 10:10), but it may refer to the sensation in the mouth when eating something bitter or sour.

18:3 As surely as I live. A divine oath, revealing God's unalterable intention. It is used often in Ezekiel (5:11; 14:16,18,20; 16:48; 17:16,19; 20:3,31,33; 33:11,27; 34:8; 35:6,11).

18:4 The soul who sins is the one who will die. Or "Only the soul ..." Ezekiel spoke out against a false use the people were making of a doctrine of inherited guilt (perhaps based on a false understanding of Ex 20:5; 34:7). What follows is his description of three men, standing for three generations, who break the three/four-generation pattern. soul. "Life" or "person," not used here to distinguish spirit from body.

18:5 righteous man. The first generation that keeps the law. The following 15 commandments are partly ceremonial but are mostly moral injunctions. See the Ten Commandments in Ex 20 and Dt 5; cf. Ps 15:2–5; 24:3–6; Isa 33:15.

6 He does not eat at the mountain[p] shrines or look to the idols[q] of the house of Israel.
He does not defile his neighbor's wife or lie with a woman during her period.[r] 7 He does not oppress[s] anyone, but returns what he took in pledge[t] for a loan.
He does not commit robbery[u]
but gives his food to the hungry[v] and provides clothing for the naked.[w] 8 He does not lend at usury or take excessive interest.[ix]
He withholds his hand from doing wrong and judges fairly[y] between man and man.
9 He follows my decrees[z]
and faithfully keeps my laws.
That man is righteous;[a]
he will surely live,[b]
declares the Sovereign LORD.

10 "Suppose he has a violent son, who sheds blood[c] or does any of these other things[j] 11 (though the father has done none of them):

"He eats at the mountain shrines.[d]
He defiles his neighbor's wife.
12 He oppresses the poor[e] and needy.
He commits robbery.
He does not return what he took in pledge.[f]
He looks to the idols.
He does detestable things.[g]
13 He lends at usury and takes excessive interest.[h]

Will such a man live? He will not! Because he has done all these detestable things, he will surely be put to death and his blood will be on his own head.[i]

14 "But suppose this son has a son who sees all the sins his father commits, and though he sees them, he does not do such things:[j]

15 "He does not eat at the mountain shrines[k] or look to the idols[l] of the house of Israel.
He does not defile his neighbor's wife.
16 He does not oppress anyone or require a pledge for a loan.
He does not commit robbery
but gives his food to the hungry[m] and provides clothing for the naked.[n] 17 He withholds his hand from sin[k]
and takes no usury or excessive interest.
He keeps my laws[o] and follows my decrees.

He will not die for his father's sin; he will surely live. 18 But his father will die for his own sin, because he practiced extortion, robbed his brother and did what was wrong among his people.

19 "Yet you ask, 'Why does the son not share the guilt of his father?' Since the son has done what is just and right and has been careful to keep all my decrees, he will surely live.[p] 20 The soul who sins is the one who will die.[q] The son will not share the guilt of the father, nor will the father share the guilt of the son. The righteousness of the righteous man will be credited to him, and the wickedness of the wicked will be charged against him.[r]

21 "But if[s] a wicked man turns away from all the sins he has committed and keeps all my decrees[t] and does what is just and right, he will surely live; he will not die.[u] 22 None of the offenses he has committed will be remembered against him. Because of the righteous things he has done, he will live.[v] 23 Do I take any pleasure in the death of the wicked? de-

[i] 8 Or take interest; similarly in verses 13 and 17
[j] 10 Or things to a brother [k] 17 Septuagint (see also verse 8); Hebrew from the poor

18:6 eat at the mountain shrines. Eating meat sacrificed to idols on the high places (see 6:3; Hos 4:13). look to. Seek help from (see 23:27; 33:25; Ps 121:1). idols. See note on 6:4. defile. Adultery (condemned in Ex 20:14; Dt 22:22; Lev 18:20; 20:10) is here associated with a menstrual prohibition (see Lev 15:19–24; 18:19; 20:18), which is absent from the two listings that follow (cf. vv. 11,15).

18:7 oppress. The rich taking advantage of the poor. returns what he took in pledge. See Ex 22:26; Dt 24:12–13; Am 2:8. robbery. See the commandment against stealing in Ex 20:15; Dt 5:19. This is violent ("armed") robbery rather than secret theft or burglary (see Lev 19:13). food to the hungry. See Dt 15:7–11; Mt 25:31–46.

18:8 lend at usury. See 22:12; Ps 15:5; Pr 28:8. What is forbidden in Ex 22:25; Lev 25:35–37; Dt 23:19 is interest on loans to the needy. Dt 23:20 allows an Israelite to "charge a foreigner interest"; Ezekiel condemns usury. (Interest on modern commercial loans is a different matter.)

18:9 That man is righteous; he will surely live. After the checklist of commandments has been gone over, the verdict is rendered (cf. Ps 15:5; 24:5). live. See note on 16:6. This is life as more than mere existence; it includes communion with God (see Ps 63:3; 73:27–28).

18:10 violent son. Evil, second generation. About half (eight) of the previous commandments follow, but in a different order.

18:13 his blood will be on his own head. He is held responsible for his own sin (see Lev 20:9,11–12,16,27).

18:14 a son. Righteous, third generation. Twelve commandments follow.

18:21 But if a wicked man turns ... and keeps ... he will surely live. Verses 1–20 indicate that the chain of inherited guilt can be broken, and vv. 21–29 teach that the power of guilt accumulated within a person's life can be overcome.

clares the Sovereign LORD. Rather, am I not pleased[w] when they turn from their ways and live?[x]

24"But if a righteous man turns[y] from his righteousness and commits sin and does the same detestable things the wicked man does, will he live? None of the righteous things he has done will be remembered. Because of the unfaithfulness[z] he is guilty of and because of the sins he has committed, he will die.[a]

25"Yet you say, 'The way of the Lord is not just.'[b] Hear, O house of Israel: Is my way unjust?[c] Is it not your ways that are unjust? 26If a righteous man turns from his righteousness and commits sin, he will die for it; because of the sin he has committed he will die. 27But if a wicked man turns away from the wickedness he has committed and does what is just and right, he will save his life.[d] 28Because he considers all the offenses he has committed and turns away from them, he will surely live; he will not die.[e] 29Yet the house of Israel says, 'The way of the Lord is not just.' Are my ways unjust, O house of Israel? Is it not your ways that are unjust?

30"Therefore, O house of Israel, I will judge you, each one according to his ways, declares the Sovereign LORD. Repent![f] Turn away from all your offenses; then sin will not be your downfall.[g] 31Rid[h] yourselves of all the offenses you have committed, and get a new heart[i] and a new spirit. Why[j] will you die, O house of Israel?[k] 32For I take no pleasure in the death of anyone, declares the Sovereign LORD. Repent[l] and live![m]

A Lament for Israel's Princes

19 "Take up a lament[n] concerning the princes[o] of Israel 2and say:

" 'What a lioness[p] was your mother
among the lions!
She lay down among the young lions and reared her cubs.[q] 3She brought up one of her cubs, and he became a strong lion.
He learned to tear the prey
and he devoured men.
4The nations heard about him,
and he was trapped in their pit.
They led him with hooks[r]
to the land of Egypt.[s]

5" 'When she saw her hope unfulfilled, her expectation gone,
she took another of her cubs[t]
and made him a strong lion.[u] 6He prowled among the lions, for he was now a strong lion.
He learned to tear the prey
and he devoured men.[v] 7He broke down[l] their strongholds and devastated[w] their towns.
The land and all who were in it were terrified by his roaring.
8Then the nations[x] came against him,
those from regions round about.
They spread their net[y] for him,
and he was trapped in their pit.[z] 9With hooks[a] they pulled him into a cage and brought him to the king of Babylon.[b]
They put him in prison,
so his roar[c] was heard no longer
on the mountains of Israel.[d]

10" 'Your mother was like a vine in your vineyard[m][e]
planted by the water;[f] it was fruitful and full of branches because of abundant water.[g] 11Its branches were strong,

18:24 But if a righteous man turns. See Heb 2:3; 2Pe 2:20–22 for warnings against those who knowingly and willfully turn from righteousness.

18:26 If a righteous man. Verses 26–29 repeat the argument developed in vv. 21–25.

18:30 Therefore. Concluding, summary oracle. each one. While the house of Israel as a whole was guilty, God's judgment would be just and individual. Repent! Second call to repentance (see 14:6).

18:31 get a new heart. What had been promised unconditionally (11:19; 36:26) is here portrayed as attainable but not inevitable (cf. the same tension between Php 2:12 and 2:13).

18:32 I take no pleasure. Verse 23 is echoed in this final, grand summary, called by some the most important message in the whole book of Ezekiel (see note on 16:6).

19:1 lament. A metered (three beats plus two beats) chant usually composed for funerals of fallen leaders (as in 2Sa 1:17–27), but often used sarcastically by the OT prophets to lament or to ironically predict the death of a nation (see Isa 14:4–21; Am 5:1–3). See also 2:10. princes. Kings.

19:2 lioness. Although a lament, this chapter is an allegory like that in ch. 17 (to which it is related in content). Ch. 17 gives an interpretation, but this one does not. The lioness may be a personification of Israel (see v. 1), Judah (see 4:6; 8:1,17; 9:9) or Jerusalem (see 5:5), all of which may be considered to be mother to the kings (see vv. 10–14).

19:3 one of her cubs. Jehoahaz (see 2Ki 23:31–34; Jer 22:10–12), who reigned only three months. devoured men. A reference to his oppressive policies (see Jer 22:13).

19:5 another of her cubs. Perhaps Jehoiachin (who reigned only three months, 2Ki 24:8), but probably Zedekiah (of whom v. 7 appears a more likely description). Both were taken to Babylon (v. 9). If the reference is to Jehoiachin (2Ki 24:15), this was a true lament; if to Zedekiah, it was a prediction (2Ki 25:7).

19:10 Your mother was like a vine. The one previously pictured as a lioness (v. 2) is here a vine (see 15:2 and note; 17:7).

14Fire spread from one of its main[n]

Rebellious Israel

20 In the seventh year, in the fifth month on the tenth day, some of the elders of Israel came to inquire[q] of the LORD, and they sat down in front of me.[r]

2Then the word of the LORD came to me: 3"Son of man, speak to the elders[s] of Israel and say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Have you come to inquire[t] of me? As surely as I live, I will not let you inquire of me, declares the Sovereign LORD.[u]'

4"Will you judge them? Will you judge them, son of man? Then confront them with the detestable practices of their fathers[v] 5and say to them: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: On the day I chose[w] Israel, I swore with uplifted hand[x] to the descendants of the house of Jacob and revealed myself to them in Egypt. With uplifted hand I said to them, "I am the LORD your God.[y]" 6On that day I swore[z] to them that I would bring them out of Egypt into a land I had searched out for them, a land flowing with milk and honey,[a] the most beautiful of all lands.[b] 7And I said to them, "Each of you, get rid of the vile images[c] you have set your eyes on, and do not defile yourselves with the idols[d] of Egypt. I am the LORD your God.[e]"

8"'But they rebelled against me and would not listen to me;[f] they did not get rid of the vile images they had set their eyes on, nor did they forsake the idols of Egypt.[g] So I said I would pour out my wrath on them and spend my anger against them in Egypt.[h] 9But for the sake of my name I did what would keep it from being profaned[i] in the eyes of the nations they lived among and in whose sight I had revealed myself to the Israelites by bringing them out of Egypt.[j] 10Therefore I led them out of Egypt and brought them into the desert.[k] 11I gave them my decrees and made known to them my laws, for the man who obeys them will live by them.[l] 12Also I gave them my Sabbaths[m] as a sign[n] between us,[o] so they would know that I the LORD made them holy.[p]

[n] 14 Or from under its

19:12 east wind. Nebuchadnezzar and his army (see note on 17:10).
19:13 desert. Babylonia—which to Israel seemed like a desert (see 20:35).
19:14 Fire. Rebellion (see 2Ki 24:20). one of its main branches. Zedekiah. to be used as a lament. Indicates repeated use (see Ps 137:1).
20:1 seventh year ... fifth month ... tenth day. Aug. 14, 591 B.C., the third date (see 1:2; 8:1). Since Ezekiel had received many revelations before this (see opening verses of chs. 12–18), the date must emphasize the importance of this chapter. Like chs. 16 and 23, it presents a negative view of Israel's history; unlike them, it does not employ allegory. elders of Israel. See notes on 8:1; 14:1. inquire. See v. 3 and note on 14:3.
20:3 As surely as I live. See note on 18:3. inquire. See note on 14:3.
20:5 I chose. The only occurrence of the word "choose" (election vocabulary) in Ezekiel. Verses 5–26 present Israel's history in three acts (vv. 5–9, Egypt; vv. 10–17, Desert, Part 1; vv. 18–26, Desert, Part 2); but see note on v. 28. Each act has four scenes: (1) revelation, (2) rebellion, (3) wrath, (4) reconsideration. With uplifted hand. A symbolic act accompanying the swearing of an oath (see vv. 15,23,42). I am the LORD your God. See Ex 3:6,14–15 and notes.
20:6 land flowing with milk and honey. See note on Ex 3:8. most beautiful of all lands. Cf. Dt 8:7–10; Jer 3:19 for the land's natural beauty. Its real beauty lay in being selected as God's dwelling place (Dt 12:5,11).
20:7 idols. See note on 6:4.
20:8 But they rebelled. See vv. 13,21; see also Jos 24:14. So I said I would pour out my wrath on them. An internal refrain (see vv. 13,21); see also note on 7:8. spend my anger against. See note on 5:13.
20:9 for the sake of my name. See vv. 14,22,44. Name and person are closely connected in the Bible. God's name is his identity and reputation—that by which he is known. The phrase used here is equivalent to "for my own sake" (cf. Isa 37:35; 43:25). God's acts of deliverance—past and future—identify him, revealing his true nature (see 36:22; Ps 23:3; Isa 48:9). profaned. By ridicule (see Nu 14:15–16).
20:10 desert. Act Two (see note on v. 5).
20:11 will live. See vv. 13,21; contrast v. 25. See notes on 16:6; 18:9; see also Lev 18:5 and note.
20:12 Sabbaths as a sign. Israel's observance of the Sabbath was to serve as a sign that she was the Lord's holy people (see Ex 31:13–17). Ezekiel highlights the Sabbath (see 22:8,26; 23:38; 44:24; 45:17; 46:3), as did Jeremiah (Jer 17:19–27; cf. Ne 13:17–18). Jewish legalism later corrupted the Sabbath law (see Mt 12:1–14).

13"'Yet the people of Israel rebelled[q] against me in the desert. They did not follow my decrees but rejected my laws[r]—although the man who obeys them will live by them—and they utterly desecrated my Sabbaths.[s] So I said I would pour out my wrath[t] on them and destroy[u] them in the desert.[v] 14But for the sake of my name I did what would keep it from being profaned[w] in the eyes of the nations in whose sight I had brought them out.[x] 15Also with uplifted hand I swore[y] to them in the desert that I would not bring them into the land I had given them—a land flowing with milk and honey, most beautiful of all lands[z]— 16because they rejected my laws[a] and did not follow my decrees and desecrated my Sabbaths. For their hearts[b] were devoted to their idols.[c] 17Yet I looked on them with pity and did not destroy[d] them or put an end to them in the desert. 18I said to their children in the desert, "Do not follow the statutes of your fathers[e] or keep their laws or defile yourselves[f] with their idols. 19I am the LORD your God;[g] follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws.[h] 20Keep my Sabbaths[i] holy, that they may be a sign[j] between us. Then you will know that I am the LORD your God.[k]"

21"'But the children rebelled against me: They did not follow my decrees, they were not careful to keep my laws[l]—although the man who obeys them will live by them—and they desecrated my Sabbaths. So I said I would pour out my wrath on them and spend my anger[m] against them in the desert.[n] 22But I withheld[o] my hand, and for the sake of my name[p] I did what would keep it from being profaned in the eyes of the nations in whose sight I had brought them out. 23Also with uplifted hand I swore to them in the desert that I would disperse them among the nations and scatter[q] them through the countries, 24because they had not obeyed my laws but had rejected my decrees[r] and desecrated my Sabbaths,[s] and their eyes lusted after[t] their fathers' idols.[u] 25I also gave them over[v] to statutes that were not good and laws they could not live by;[w] 26I let them become defiled through their gifts—the sacrifice[x] of every firstborn[o]—that I might fill them with horror so they would know that I am the LORD.[y]'

27"Therefore, son of man, speak to the people of Israel and say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: In this also your fathers[z] blasphemed[a] me by forsaking me:[b] 28When I brought them into the land[c] I had sworn to give them and they saw any high hill or any leafy tree, there they offered their sacrifices, made offerings that provoked me to anger, presented their fragrant incense and poured out their drink offerings.[d] 29Then I said to them: What is this high place[e] you go to?'" (It is called Bamah[p] to this day.)

Judgment and Restoration

30"Therefore say to the house of Israel: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Will you defile yourselves[f] the way your fathers did and lust after their vile images?[g] 31When you offer your gifts—the sacrifice of your sons[h] in[q] the fire—you continue to defile yourselves with all your idols to this day. Am I to let you inquire of me, O house of Israel? As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, I will not let you inquire of me.[i]

32"'You say, "We want to be like the nations, like the peoples of the world, who serve wood and stone." But what you have in mind will never happen. 33As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, I will rule over you with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm[j] and with outpoured wrath.[k] 34I will bring you from the nations[l] and gather[m] you from the countries where you have been scattered—with a mighty hand[n] and an outstretched arm and with outpoured wrath.[o] 35I will bring

[o] 26 Or —making every firstborn pass through the fire,
[p] 29 Bamah means high place. [q] 31 Or —making your sons pass through 20:13 desecrated. By not observing the Sabbath-rest (see Jer 17:21–23) or by not observing it in the manner and spirit God intended (see Am 8:5).

20:18 I said to their children. Act Three (see note on v. 5). God began anew with the second generation in the desert (see Nu 14:26–35).

20:25–26 Cf. the principle of divine working in Ro 1:24–32.

20:26 sacrifice of every firstborn. See v. 31 and note on 16:20. so they would know that I am the LORD. God will go to any lengths to get his people to acknowledge him (see Introduction: Themes).

20:28 When I brought them into the land. Apparently Act Four in Ezekiel's history (see note on v. 5), but it is not carried through with the same schematic consistency.

20:30 Will you . . . ? The point of the chapter: "How will you act?"

20:31 inquire. See note on 14:3.

20:32 like the nations. The temptation to lose its uniqueness was always present for Israel (see 1Sa 8:5). will never happen. As happened to those who were exiled to Egypt (see Jer 44:15–19).

20:33 mighty hand . . . outstretched arm. Terminology of the exodus (cf. Dt 4:34; 5:15; 7:19; 11:2; 26:8).

you into the desert[p] of the nations and there, face to face, I will execute judgment[q] upon you. 36As I judged your fathers in the desert of the land of Egypt, so I will judge you, declares the Sovereign LORD.[r] 37I will take note of you as you pass under my rod,[s] and I will bring you into the bond of the covenant.[t] 38I will purge[u] you of those who revolt and rebel against me. Although I will bring them out of the land where they are living, yet they will not enter the land of Israel. Then you will know that I am the LORD.[v]

39"'As for you, O house of Israel, this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Go and serve your idols,[w] every one of you! But afterward you will surely listen to me and no longer profane my holy name[x] with your gifts and idols.[y] 40For on my holy mountain, the high mountain of Israel,[z] declares the Sovereign LORD, there in the land the entire house of Israel will serve me, and there I will accept them. There I will require your offerings[a] and your choice gifts,[r] along with all your holy sacrifices.[b] 41I will accept you as fragrant incense[c] when I bring you out from the nations and gather[d] you from the countries where you have been scattered, and I will show myself holy[e] among you in the sight of the nations.[f] 42Then you will know that I am the LORD,[g] when I bring you into the land of Israel,[h] the land I had sworn with uplifted hand to give to your fathers.[i] 43There you will remember your conduct[j] and all the actions by which you have defiled yourselves, and you will loathe yourselves[k] for all the evil you have done.[l] 44You will know that I am the LORD, when I deal with you for my name's sake[m] and not according to your evil ways and your corrupt practices, O house of Israel, declares the Sovereign LORD.[n]'"

Prophecy Against the South

45The word of the LORD came to me: 46"Son of man, set your face toward[o] the south; preach against the south and prophesy against[p] the forest of the southland.[q] 47Say to the southern forest:[r] 'Hear the word of the LORD. This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am about to set fire to you, and it will consume[s] all your trees, both green and dry. The blazing flame will not be quenched, and every face from south to north[t] will be scorched by it.[u] 48Everyone will see that I the LORD have kindled it; it will not be quenched.[v]'"

49Then I said, "Ah, Sovereign LORD![w] They are saying of me, 'Isn't he just telling parables?[x]'"

[r] 40 Or and the gifts of your firstfruits

Hos 2:14).

20:37 pass under my rod. The way a shepherd counts or separates his flock (see Jer 33:13; Mt 25:32–33). I will bring you into the bond of the covenant. As he had in the Sinai Desert (see 16:60,62).

20:38 purge. As in the first desert experience, many were not allowed to enter the land (see Nu 14:26–35).

20:39 Go and serve your idols. Irony; the opposite is meant (cf. 1Ki 22:15; Am 4:4).

20:40 my holy mountain. Mentioned only here in Ezekiel, it refers to Jerusalem or Zion (see Ps 2:6; 3:4; 15:1; see also Isa 11:9; 56:7; 57:13; 65:11; Ob 16; Zep 3:11). entire house of Israel. Includes the northern kingdom, which fell in 722–721 B.C. (see 11:15; 36:10). I will require. See Dt 23:21 ("demand"); Mic 6:8. offerings. Possibly refers to a prescribed contribution. The other 19 occurrences in Ezekiel of the Hebrew for this word are confined to chs. 44–48, where the reference is to the land set aside for the temple and priests (see 45:1; 48:8–10, "portion") or to the special gifts for the priests (see 44:30). choice gifts. Voluntary contributions (but see NIV text note).

20:41 as fragrant incense. Either in a metaphorical sense (as in Eph 5:2) or in a literal sense (as in 6:13). bring you out. Cf. v. 34.

20:43 you will remember . . . and . . . loathe yourselves. A thorough repentance (see 6:9; 16:63; 36:31; Lk 15:17–19).

20:44 for my name's sake. Summarizes and concludes the oracle (see note on v. 9).

20:46 set your face. A posture required eight times of Ezekiel (here; 13:17; 21:2; 25:2; 28:21; 29:2; 35:2; 38:2). toward the south. Toward Judah and Jerusalem, the object of all of Ezekiel's prophesying in these chapters. Any Babylonian invasion would traverse the Holy Land from north to south (see 26:7).

20:47 set fire. Common figurative language for invading forces (see Isa 10:16–19; Jer 15:14; 17:4,27; 21:14; see also note on 15:7). both green and dry. All trees (cf. 17:24; Lk 23:31). from south to north. Expresses totality, not direction; equivalent to saying, "from the border on the right to that on the left."

20:49 parables. See note on 17:2; for other ridiculing of the prophet see 12:21–28; 33:32.

21:2 set your face. See note on 20:46. against the sanctuary. See 9:6 and note.

21:3 I am against you. See note on 5:8. my sword. For the sword of the Lord's judgment see Isa 31:8; 34:6; 66:16. This is the first of five sword oracles (see vv. 8–17, 18–24, 25–27, 28–32). Here the sword refers to Babylon and Nebuchadnezzar (v. 19). both the righteous and the wicked. Indicates the completeness of the judgment that is about to come on Israel. No one will escape its devastating effects, not even the righteous in the land. Contrast God's deliverance of Noah (Ge 6:7–8) and Lot (Ge 18:23; 19:12–13).

will draw my sword[d] from its scabbard and cut off from you both the righteous and the wicked.[e] [4]Because I am going to cut off the righteous and the wicked, my sword[f] will be unsheathed against everyone from south to north.[g] [5]Then all people will know that I the LORD have drawn my sword[h] from its scabbard; it will not return[i] again.'[j]

[6]"Therefore groan, son of man! Groan before them with broken heart and bitter grief.[k] [7]And when they ask you, 'Why are you groaning?[l]' you shall say, 'Because of the news that is coming. Every heart will melt[m] and every hand go limp;[n] every spirit will become faint[o] and every knee become as weak as water.'[p] It is coming! It will surely take place, declares the Sovereign LORD."

[8]The word of the LORD came to me: [9]"Son of man, prophesy and say, 'This is what the Lord says:

" 'A sword, a sword,
sharpened and polished—
[10]sharpened for the slaughter,[q] polished to flash like lightning!

" 'Shall we rejoice in the scepter of my son ⌞Judah⌟? The sword despises every such stick.[r] [11]" 'The sword is appointed to be polished,[s]

to be grasped with the hand;
it is sharpened and polished, made ready for the hand of the slayer.
[12]Cry out and wail, son of man,
for it is against my people;
it is against all the princes of Israel.
They are thrown to the sword along with my people.
Therefore beat your breast.[t]

[13]" 'Testing will surely come. And what if the scepter ⌞of Judah⌟ which the sword despises, does not continue? declares the Sovereign LORD.'

[14]"So then, son of man, prophesy and strike your hands[u] together.
Let the sword strike twice,
even three times.
It is a sword for slaughter—
a sword for great slaughter, closing in on them from every side.[v]
[15]So that hearts may melt[w] and the fallen be many,
I have stationed the sword for slaughter[x]
at all their gates.
Oh! It is made to flash like lightning, it is grasped for slaughter.[x] [16]O sword, slash to the right, then to the left,
wherever your blade is turned.
[17]I too will strike my hands[y] together,
and my wrath[z] will subside.
I the LORD have spoken.[a]"

[18]The word of the LORD came to me: [19]"Son of man, mark out two roads for the sword[b] of the king of Babylon to take, both starting from the same country. Make a signpost[c] where the road branches off to the city. [20]Mark out one road for the sword to come against Rabbah of the Ammonites[d] and another against Judah and fortified Jerusalem. [21]For the king of Babylon will stop at the fork in the road, at the junction of the two roads, to seek an omen: He will cast lots[e] with arrows, he will consult his idols,[f] he will examine the liver.[g]

21:4 from south to north. See note on 20:47.

21:6 groan . . . with broken heart and bitter grief. Ezekiel's display of intense grief is to serve as another prophetic sign and as an occasion for a new message of impending judgment.

21:7 when they ask you. Cf. 12:9 for the people's response to Ezekiel's behavior. This is Ezekiel's seventh symbolic act (see Introduction: Literary Features).

21:9 A sword, a sword. A sword song (see note on v. 3), possibly accompanied by dancing or symbolic actions. Such songs may have been sung by warriors about to go into battle (see note on 2Sa 1:18).

21:10b To think that the Babylonians would conquer every other country except Judah was a false hope. scepter. Represents rule, government or kingdom. my son ⌞Judah⌟. Corresponds to "my people" in v. 12 (see Ge 49:9). sword. Babylon and Nebuchadnezzar (v. 19).

21:11 slayer. Nebuchadnezzar (v. 19).

21:12 Cry out and wail . . . beat your breast. Eighth symbolic act (see Introduction: Literary Features).

21:13 come. On Judah. what if the scepter . . . does not continue? See note on v. 10b. The question anticipates the final interruption of Davidic kingship, which came in 586 B.C. (see vv. 25–27).

21:14 strike your hands. See 6:11 and note. Let the sword strike twice. Cf. 2Ki 13:18–19.

21:17 strike my hands. In scorn and in harmony with God's command to Ezekiel in v. 14.

21:19 king of Babylon. Nebuchadnezzar. same country. Babylon, or possibly Aram (Syria)—Nebuchadnezzar headquartered at Riblah in northern Aram (see 2Ki 25:6).

21:20 Rabbah. Capital of Ammon (Jer 49:2); modern Amman (capital of Jordan).

21:21 cast lots with arrows. Divination with arrows, for the purpose of seeking good omens for the coming campaign—a practice not elsewhere mentioned in the Bible. Apparently arrows were labeled (e.g., "Rabbah," "Jerusalem"), placed into a quiver and drawn out, one with each hand. Right-hand selection was seen as a good omen (see v. 22). idols. The Hebrew for this word is translated "household gods" in Ge 31:19. Consulting them is referred to in Hos 3:4; Zec 10:2. The household gods of Ge 31:19–35 were small enough to hide in a saddle, but others were life-size (1Sa 19:13–16). examine the liver. Looking at the color and configurations of sheep livers to foretell the future was common in ancient Babylonia and Rome, but the practice is not mentioned elsewhere in the Bible.

22 Into his right hand will come the lot for Jerusalem, where he is to set up battering rams, to give the command to slaughter, to sound the battle cry,[h] to set battering rams against the gates, to build a ramp[i] and to erect siege works.[j] 23It will seem like a false omen to those who have sworn allegiance to him, but he will remind[k] them of their guilt[l] and take them captive.

24"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: 'Because you people have brought to mind your guilt by your open rebellion, revealing your sins in all that you do—because you have done this,
you will be taken captive.

25" 'O profane and wicked prince of Israel, whose day has come,[m] whose time of punishment has reached its climax,[n]
26this is what the Sovereign LORD says:
Take off the turban, remove the crown.[o] It will not be as it was: The lowly will be exalted and the exalted will be brought low.[p] 27A ruin! A ruin! I will make it a ruin! It will not be restored until he comes to whom it rightfully belongs;[q] to him I will give it.'[r]

28"And you, son of man, prophesy and say, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says about the Ammonites[s] and their insults:

" 'A sword,[t] a sword,
drawn for the slaughter,
polished to consume
and to flash like lightning!
29Despite false visions concerning you and lying divinations[u] about you, it will be laid on the necks of the wicked who are to be slain, whose day has come,
whose time of punishment has reached its climax.[v]

for I the LORD have spoken.' "

Jerusalem's Sins

22 The word of the LORD came to me:
2"Son of man, will you judge her?
Will you judge this city of bloodshed?[d]
Then confront her with all her detestable practices[e] 3and say: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: O city that brings on herself doom by shedding blood[f] in her midst and defiles herself by making idols, 4you have become guilty because of the blood you have shed[g] and have become defiled by the idols you have made. You have brought your days to a

21:23 false omen. The leaders of Jerusalem, once submissive to Nebuchadnezzar but now in rebellion (2Ki 24:20), hoped that the result of the omen-seeking (vv. 21–22) was misleading.

21:25 prince of Israel. Zedekiah (see note on 7:27).

21:26 turban. Only here is it mentioned as royal headwear. Elsewhere it is worn by priests (Ex 28:4,37,39; 29:6; 39:28,31; Lev 8:9; 16:4), as a setting for the crown (Ex 28:36–37; 29:6; 39:31; Lev 8:9). It was made of fine linen (Ex 28:39; 39:28). lowly ... exalted ... exalted ... brought low. A common Biblical expression for the reversal of human conditions because of the intervention of the Lord (see 17:24; 1Sa 2:7–8; Lk 1:52–53).

21:27 A ruin! A ruin! ... a ruin! Threefold repetition for emphasis (see Isa 6:3; Jer 7:4). until he comes to whom it rightfully belongs. The Messiah; apparently an allusion to Ge 49:10 (see note there). Or possibly the reference is to Nebuchadnezzar, translating "... whose is the judgment" or "... who pronounces sentence" (see 2Ki 25:6).

21:28 Ammonites. See v. 20. After judgment on Jerusalem, the foreigners would be dealt with (cf. Isa 10:5). their insults. See 25:3,6; also cf. 36:15. A sword, a sword. Nebuchadnezzar's (see vv. 9,19 and notes).

21:29 false visions ... lying divinations. Apparently Ammon also had false prophets of peace (see v. 10 and note; 13:10; Jer 6:14; 8:11–12). it. The sword.

21:30 Return the sword. Addressing Nebuchadnezzar.

21:31 brutal men. The people of the East, as in 25:4.

22:2 will you judge her? Cf. 20:4. this city. Jerusalem, the usual focal point of Ezekiel's prophecy (see 5:5).

22:3 shedding blood ... making idols. Two categories of sins are developed: social injustices and idol worship. idols. See note on 6:4.

22:6 princes of Israel. Leaders generally, not kings; contrast 21:12 with 19:1.

22:7 mistreated the fatherless and the widow. Cf. Isa 1:17.

22:8 Sabbaths. A major concern in Ezekiel (see note on 20:12).

22:9 eat at the mountain shrines and commit lewd acts. See notes on 6:3; 16:15; 18:6.

blood;[r] in you are those who eat at the mountain shrines[s] and commit lewd acts.[t] 10In you are those who dishonor their fathers' bed;[u] in you are those who violate women during their period,[v] when they are ceremonially unclean.[w] 11In you one man commits a detestable offense with his neighbor's wife,[x] another shamefully defiles his daughter-in-law,[y] and another violates his sister,[z] his own father's daughter.[a] 12In you men accept bribes[b] to shed blood; you take usury[c] and excessive interest[t] and make unjust gain from your neighbors[d] by extortion. And you have forgotten[e] me, declares the Sovereign LORD.[f]

13" 'I will surely strike my hands[g] together at the unjust gain[h] you have made and at the blood[i] you have shed in your midst.[j] 14Will your courage endure[k] or your hands[l] be strong in the day I deal with you? I the LORD have spoken,[m] and I will do it.[n] 15I will disperse you among the nations and scatter[o] you through the countries; and I will put an end to[p] your uncleanness.[q] 16When you have been defiled[u] in the eyes of the nations, you will know that I am the LORD.' "

23Again the word of the LORD came to me: 24"Son of man, say to the land, 'You are a land that has had no rain or showers[v] in the day of wrath.'[b] 25There is a conspiracy[c] of her princes[w] within her like a roaring lion[d] tearing its prey; they devour people,[e] take treasures and precious things and make many widows[f] within her. 26Her priests do violence to my law[g] and profane my holy things; they do not distinguish between the holy and the common;[h] they teach that there is no difference between the unclean and the clean;[i] and they shut their eyes to the keeping of my Sabbaths, so that I am profaned[j] among them.[k] 27Her officials[l] within her are like wolves[m] tearing their prey; they shed blood and kill people[n] to make unjust gain.[o] 28Her prophets whitewash[p] these deeds for them by false visions and lying divinations.[q] They say, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says'—when the LORD has not spoken.[r] 29The people of the land practice extortion and commit robbery;[s] they oppress the poor and needy and mistreat the alien,[t] denying them justice.[u]

30"I looked for a man among them who would build up the wall[v] and stand before me in the gap on behalf of the land so I would not have to destroy it, but I found none.[w] 31So I will pour out my wrath on them and consume them with my fiery anger,[x] bringing down[y] on their own heads all they have done, declares the Sovereign LORD.[z]"

[v]24 Septuagint; Hebrew has not been cleansed or rained on

22:10 violate women. Cf. 18:6.

22:11 detestable offense. All the sins mentioned in this verse were specifically forbidden in the law (Lev 18:7–20; 20:10–21; Dt 22:22–23,30; 27:22).

22:12 usury and excessive interest. See note on 18:8.

22:13 strike my hands. In anger (see 21:14,17).

22:18 dross. For references to Jerusalem as a furnace see Isa 1:21–26; Jer 6:27–30. Typically, imagery used by others to represent purifying was used by Ezekiel to picture total destruction (see note on 15:4).

22:25 princes. Ezekiel begins to speak plainly concerning the "dross" of vv. 18–22. All of Jerusalem's leaders and people were included: princes (here), priests (v. 26), officials (v. 27), prophets (v. 28), people (v. 29). like a roaring lion. Cf. v. 27; 13:4; Zep 3:3.

22:26 distinguish between the holy and the common. The main duty of priests (see 44:23). Sabbaths. See note on v. 8.

22:28 whitewash. See 13:10 and note.

22:29 people of the land. See 7:27 and note.

22:30 I looked for a man. Cf. Isa 51:18; 59:16; 63:5. stand before me in the gap. See note on 13:5. To intercede with God in behalf of the people was part of a prophet's task (Ge 20:7; 1Sa 12:23; Jer 37:3; 42:2). Some interpret the task here as teaching, particularly calling the people to repentance. Cf. the task of the prophetic "watchman" (3:17–21; 33:1–6).

gaging in prostitution[c] from their youth.[d] In that land their breasts were fondled and their virgin bosoms caressed.[e] 4The older was named Oholah, and her sister was Oholibah. They were mine and gave birth to sons and daughters. Oholah is Samaria, and Oholibah is Jerusalem.[f]

5"Oholah engaged in prostitution while she was still mine; and she lusted after her lovers, the Assyrians[g]—warriors[h] 6clothed in blue, governors and commanders, all of them handsome young men, and mounted horsemen. 7She gave herself as a prostitute to all the elite of the Assyrians and defiled herself with all the idols of everyone she lusted after.[i] 8She did not give up the prostitution she began in Egypt,[j] when during her youth men slept with her, caressed her virgin bosom and poured out their lust upon her.[k]

9"Therefore I handed her over[l] to her lovers,[m] the Assyrians, for whom she lusted.[n] 10They stripped[o] her naked, took away her sons and daughters and killed her with the sword. She became a byword among women,[p] and punishment was inflicted[q] on her.[r]

11"Her sister Oholibah saw this,[s] yet in her lust and prostitution she was more depraved than her sister.[t] 12She too lusted after the Assyrians—governors and commanders, warriors in full dress, mounted horsemen, all handsome young men.[u] 13I saw that she too defiled herself; both of them went the same way.[v]

14"But she carried her prostitution still further. She saw men portrayed on a wall,[w] figures of Chaldeans[x] portrayed in red,[x] 15with belts[y] around their waists and flowing turbans on their heads; all of them looked like Babylonian chariot officers, natives of Chaldea.[y] 16As soon as she saw them, she lusted after them and sent messengers[z] to them in Chaldea.[a] 17Then the Babylonians[b] came to her, to the bed of love, and in their lust they defiled her. After she had been defiled by them, she turned away from them in disgust.[c] 18When she carried on her prostitution openly and exposed her nakedness,[d] I turned away[e] from her in disgust, just as I had turned away from her sister.[f] 19Yet she became more and more promiscuous as she recalled the days of her youth, when she was a prostitute in Egypt. 20There she lusted after her lovers, whose genitals were like those of donkeys and whose emission was like that of horses. 21So you longed for the lewdness of your youth, when in Egypt your bosom was caressed and your young breasts fondled.[zg]

22"Therefore, Oholibah, this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will stir up your lovers[h] against you, those you turned away from in disgust, and I will bring them against you from every side[i]— 23the Babylonians[j] and all the Chaldeans,[k] the men of Pekod[l] and Shoa and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them, handsome young men, all of them governors and commanders, chariot officers and men of high rank, all mounted on horses.[m] 24They will come against you with weapons,[a] chariots and wagons[n] and with a throng of people; they will take up positions against you on every side with large and small shields and with helmets. I will turn you over to them for punishment,[o] and they will punish you according to their standards. 25I will direct my jealous anger[p] against you, and they will deal with you in fury. They will cut off your noses and your ears, and those of you who are left will fall by the sword. They will take away your sons and daughters,[q] and those of you who are left will be consumed by fire.[r] 26They will also strip[s] you of your clothes and take your fine jewel-

[x] 14 Or Babylonians [y] 15 Or Babylonia; also in verse 16 [z] 21 Syriac (see also verse 3); Hebrew caressed because of your young breasts [a] 24 The meaning of the Hebrew for this word is uncertain.

23:4 Oholah. Means "her tent." Oholibah. Means "My tent is in her." Cf. the two sisters of Jer 3:6–12. "Tent" could stand for Canaanite high places, for the Lord's tabernacle (except that Ezekiel never uses the word elsewhere for the legitimate shrine) or for Israel's tent-dwelling origin.

23:5 prostitution. Here represents political alliances with pagan powers—not idolatry as in ch. 16 (see note on 16:15). The graphic language of the chapter underscores God's and Ezekiel's disgust with Israel for playing the worldly game of international politics rather than relying on the Lord for her security—as clear a case of religious prostitution as idolatry. Assyrians. See 2Ki 15:19.

23:8 in Egypt. Cf. 20:5–8. Israel's entire history was marked by unfaithfulness. For her attachment to Egypt see Ex 17:3; Nu 11:5,18,20; 14:2–4; 21:5.

23:10 stripped her naked. A reference to the fall of Samaria to the Assyrians in 722–721 B.C.

23:14 men portrayed on a wall. Arousal through pictures was even more perverted (see 16:17 and note). portrayed in red. Jeremiah, too, noted red interior decorations with disfavor (Jer 22:14).

23:15 belts. Cf. Isa 5:27 for similar Assyrian military equipment.

23:20 genitals. See note on 16:26.

23:23 Babylonians ... Chaldeans. Often identified with one another (see 1:3 and NIV text note there; 12:13), here distinguished (as in v. 15), probably because the Chaldeans were relative newcomers. Pekod. Aramaic people located east of Babylon. Shoa and Koa. Babylonian allies of uncertain origin and location.

23:24 their standards. Which were cruel and gruesome (see v. 25).

23:25 fire. See notes on 15:7; 20:47.

ry.[t] 27So I will put a stop[u] to the lewdness and prostitution you began in Egypt. You will not look on these things with longing or remember Egypt anymore.

28"For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am about to hand you over[v] to those you hate, to those you turned away from in disgust. 29They will deal with you in hatred and take away everything you have worked for. They will leave you naked[w] and bare, and the shame of your prostitution will be exposed.[x] Your lewdness[y] and promiscuity[z] 30have brought this upon you, because you lusted after the nations and defiled yourself with their idols.[a] 31You have gone the way of your sister; so I will put her cup[b] into your hand.[c]

32"This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

"You will drink your sister's cup,
a cup large and deep;
it will bring scorn and derision,[d]
for it holds so much.[e] 33You will be filled with drunkenness and sorrow,
the cup of ruin and desolation,
the cup of your sister Samaria.[f] 34You will drink it[g] and drain it dry;
you will dash it to pieces and tear your breasts.

I have spoken, declares the Sovereign LORD.[h]

35"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Since you have forgotten[i] me and thrust me behind your back,[j] you must bear[k] the consequences of your lewdness and prostitution."

36The LORD said to me: "Son of man, will you judge Oholah and Oholibah? Then confront[l] them with their detestable practices,[m] 37for they have committed adultery and blood is on their hands. They committed adultery with their idols; they even sacrificed their children, whom they bore to me,[b] as food for them.[n] 38They have also done this to me: At that same time they defiled my sanctuary[o] and desecrated my Sabbaths.[p] 39On the very day they sacrificed their children to their idols, they entered my sanctuary and desecrated[q] it. That is what they did in my house.[r]

40"They even sent messengers for men who came from far away,[s] and when they arrived you bathed yourself for them, painted your eyes[t] and put on your jewelry.[u] 41You sat on an elegant couch,[v] with a table[w] spread before it on which you had placed the incense[x] and oil that belonged to me.[y]

42"The noise of a carefree[z] crowd was around her; Sabeans[c][a] were brought from the desert along with men from the rabble, and they put bracelets[b] on the arms of the woman and her sister and beautiful crowns on their heads.[c] 43Then I said about the one worn out by adultery, 'Now let them use her as a prostitute,[d] for that is all she is.' 44And they slept with her. As men sleep with a prostitute, so they slept with those lewd women, Oholah and Oholibah. 45But righteous men will sentence them to the punishment of women who commit adultery and shed blood,[e] because they are adulterous and blood is on their hands.[f]

46"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Bring a mob[g] against them and give them over to terror and plunder.[h] 47The mob will stone them and cut them down with their swords; they will kill their sons and daughters[i] and burn[j] down their houses.[k]

48"So I will put an end[l] to lewdness in the land, that all women may take warning and not imitate you.[m] 49You will suffer the penalty for your lewdness and bear the consequences of your sins of idolatry.[n] Then you will know that I am the Sovereign LORD.[o]"

23:42 Sabeans. Men from Sheba, located at the southwest corner of the Arabian peninsula (modern Yemen), known for trading (see Job 6:19; see also Eze 27:22; 38:13; 1Ki 10:1–10). But see NIV text note.
24:1 ninth year ... tenth month ... tenth day. Jan. 15, 588 B.C.; Ezekiel's fourth date (see 1:2; 8:1; 20:1).
24:2 record this date ... because. God revealed to Ezekiel what was happening in Jerusalem.
24:3 rebellious house. The last occurrence of this con-rebellious house[s] a parable[t] and say to them: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

" 'Put on the cooking pot;[u] put it on and pour water into it.
4Put into it the pieces of meat, all the choice pieces—the leg and the shoulder.
Fill it with the best of these bones;[v]
5 take the pick of the flock.[w]
Pile wood beneath it for the bones;
bring it to a boil
and cook the bones in it.[x]

6" 'For this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

" 'Woe[y] to the city of bloodshed,[z]
to the pot now encrusted, whose deposit will not go away!
Empty it piece by piece without casting lots[a] for them.[b]

7" 'For the blood she shed is in her midst:
She poured it on the bare rock;
she did not pour it on the ground,
where the dust would cover it.[c]
8To stir up wrath and take revenge
I put her blood on the bare rock, so that it would not be covered.

9" 'Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

" 'Woe to the city of bloodshed!
I, too, will pile the wood high.
10So heap on the wood and kindle the fire.
Cook the meat well,
mixing in the spices;
and let the bones be charred.
11Then set the empty pot on the coals till it becomes hot and its copper glows
so its impurities may be melted and its deposit burned away.[d] 12It has frustrated all efforts; its heavy deposit has not been removed,
not even by fire.

13" 'Now your impurity is lewdness. Because I tried to cleanse you but you would not be cleansed[e] from your impurity, you will not be clean again until my wrath against you has subsided.[f]

14" 'I the LORD have spoken.[g] The time has come for me to act.[h] I will not hold back; I will not have pity,[i] nor will I relent.[j] You will be judged according to your conduct and your actions,[k] declares the Sovereign LORD.[l]' "

Ezekiel's Wife Dies

15The word of the LORD came to me: 16"Son of man, with one blow[m] I am about to take away from you the delight of your eyes.[n] Yet do not lament or weep or shed any tears.[o] 17Groan quietly;[p] do not mourn for the dead. Keep your turban[q] fastened and your sandals[r] on your feet; do not cover the lower part of your face[s] or eat the customary food ⌞of mourners⌟.[t]"

18So I spoke to the people in the morning, and in the evening my wife died. The next morning I did as I had been commanded.[u]

19Then the people asked me, "Won't you tell us what these things have to do with us?[v]"

20So I said to them, "The word of the LORD came to me: 21Say to the house of Israel, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am about to desecrate my sanctuary[w]—the stronghold in which you take pride,[x] the delight of your eyes,[y] the object of your affection. The sons and daughters[z] you left behind will fall by the sword.[a] 22And you will do as I have done. You will not cover the lower part of your face[b] or eat the customary food ⌞of mourners⌟.[c] 23You will keep your demning phrase in Ezekiel (see 2:5,6,8; 3:9,26–27; 12:2–3,9,25; 17:12). Jerusalem's rebellion would soon be crushed. parable. Cf. 17:2; 20:49. cooking pot. The image of 11:3–12, a discussion of the remnant, here pictures total destruction. The cooking pot is Jerusalem (cf. 11:3).

24:4 choice pieces. The people of Jerusalem who thought they were spared the exile in 597 B.C. because of their goodness (see 11:3 and note).

24:5 wood. Nebuchadnezzar's siege equipment.

24:6 city of bloodshed. Cf. 22:3. encrusted. Representing Jerusalem's irredeemable situation. without casting lots for them. After the siege of Jerusalem in 597, perhaps the Babylonians had cast lots to see whom they would take away into exile. Now everyone would go.

24:7 blood . . . on the bare rock. Jerusalem had brazenly left on display the blood she unjustly shed (cf. Isa 3:9). For uncovered blood see Ge 4:10; Job 16:18; Isa 26:21.

24:8 wrath. God's wrath. What Jerusalem had begun (v. 7), God would complete through judgment. Compare Ex 8:32 with Ex 9:12.

24:11 empty pot. Jerusalem, emptied of inhabitants, would be set to the torch, in a vain final effort at purification.

24:13 lewdness. See 16:27; 22:9.

24:16 blow. Some swiftly fatal disease, one that often reached plague proportions (see Ex 9:14; Nu 14:37). delight of your eyes. The object of loving attention (see vv. 21,25)—apparently a conventional way of referring to a man's wife.

24:17 Keep your turban fastened. The mourner normally removed it and put dust on his head (see Jos 7:6; 1Sa 4:12). sandals on your feet. To remove them showed grief (see 2Sa 15:30). cover . . . face. A gesture of shame (Mic 3:7) or uncleanness (Lev 13:45). food ⌞of mourners⌟. The funeral meal (see Jer 16:7).

24:19 Then the people asked me. The third time that the people responded to Ezekiel's behavior (see 12:9; 21:7).

24:21 desecrate. By letting Nebuchadnezzar burn it down.

25"And you, son of man, on the day I take away their stronghold, their joy and glory, the delight of their eyes,[k] their heart's desire,[l] and their sons and daughters[m] as well— 26on that day a fugitive will come to tell you[n] the news. 27At that time your mouth will be opened; you will speak with him and will no longer be silent.[o] So you will be a sign to them, and they will know that I am the LORD.[p]"

A Prophecy Against Ammon

25 The word of the LORD came to me: 2"Son of man, set your face against[q] the Ammonites[r] and prophesy against them.[s] 3Say to them, 'Hear the word of the Sovereign LORD. This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because you said "Aha![t]" over my sanctuary when it was desecrated[u] and over the land of Israel when it was laid waste and over the people of Judah when they went into exile,[v] 4therefore I am going to give you to the people of the East[w] as a possession. They will set up their camps[x] and pitch their tents among you; they will eat your fruit and drink your milk.[y] 5I will turn Rabbah[z] into a pasture for camels and Ammon into a resting place for sheep.[a] Then you will know that I am the LORD. 6For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because you have clapped your hands[b] and stamped your feet, rejoicing with all the malice of your heart against the land of Israel,[c] 7therefore I will stretch out my hand[d] against you and give you as plunder[e] to the nations. I will cut you off from the nations and exterminate you from the countries. I will destroy[f] you, and you will know that I am the LORD.[g]' "

A Prophecy Against Moab

8"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: 'Because Moab[h] and Seir[i] said, "Look, the house of Judah has become like all the other nations," 9therefore I will expose the flank of Moab, beginning at its frontier towns—Beth Jeshimoth[j], Baal Meon[k] and Kiriathaim[l]—the glory of that land. 10I will give Moab along with the Ammonites to the people of the East as a possession, so that the Ammonites will not be remembered[m] among the nations; 11and I will inflict punishment on Moab. Then they will know that I am the LORD.' "[n]

[d] 23 Or away in

24:24 Ezekiel. The prophet speaks of himself in the third person. Elsewhere his name occurs only in 1:3. sign. See note on 12:6.

24:26 fugitive. The first of the exiles of 586 B.C. news. About the siege—its beginning (verifying the accuracy of vv. 1–2) and its ending (see note on 33:21).

24:27 no longer be silent. Ezekiel's wife died the same day the temple was burned (Aug. 14, 586 B.C.; see 2Ki 25:8–9). See notes on 3:26; 33:21. sign. See note on 12:6.

25:1–32:32 Oracles against the nations. Frequently in the prophets, God's word of judgment on Israel is accompanied by oracles of judgment on the nations. These make clear that, while judgment begins "with the family of God" (1Pe 4:17), the pagan nations would not escape God's wrath. Often these judgments are implicit messages of salvation for Israel (see 28:25–26) since the Lord's victories over hostile powers remove an enemy of his people or punish them for their cruel attacks on his people. In the case of Ezekiel there are seven oracles (the seventh of which has seven parts, each introduced by the phrase "The word of the LORD came to me"; see Introduction: Outline).

25:2 set your face. See note on 20:46. Ammonites. Ammon (part of modern Jordan) was immediately east of Israel (see 21:20; see also Jer 9:26; 49:1–6; Am 1:13–15; Zep 2:8–11). For hostile Ammonite action during this time and later see 2Ki 24:2; Ne 4:7.

25:3 Aha! A cry of malicious joy (cf. 26:2; 36:2; Ps 35:21–25).

25:4 people of the East. Probably nomadic tribes of the desert east of Ammon, though this could be a reference to Nebuchadnezzar and his army (see 21:31).

25:5 Rabbah. See note on 21:20. pasture . . . resting place. A common OT description for destroyed cities (see Isa 34:13–15; Zep 2:13–15). The sites were returned to the conditions they were in before the cities were built, representing the undoing of human efforts.

25:6 clapped your hands. See 6:11 and note.

25:7 I will stretch out my hand against. See note on 6:14. plunder to the nations. Cf. 26:5; 34:28. cut you off. Cf. v. 16.

25:8 Moab. Immediately to the south of Ammon, east of the Dead Sea (see Isa 15–16; Jer 48; Am 2:1–3; Zep 2:8–11). Seir. Edom, a country south of Moab and south of the Dead Sea (see ch. 35, especially v. 15; 36:5; Isa 34:5–17; 63:1–6; Jer 49:7–11; Am 1:11–12). like all the other nations. Israel wanted to be like the nations (see 20:32 and note), but when the nations saw Judah in her apparent vulnerability and lost their awe of her, they failed to take her God seriously (cf. La 4:12).

25:9 flank of Moab. Lower hills rising from the Dead Sea, visible from Jerusalem. Beth Jeshimoth. A town in the plains of Moab. Baal Meon. A major Moabite town mentioned in an inscribed monument of Mesha, king of Moab (see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii). Kiriathaim. A city also mentioned in the Mesha inscription (cf. 2Ki 3:4–5).

25:12 Edom. See note on v. 8 ("Seir"). took revenge. By not harboring Judah's refugees after 586 B.C. (see Ob 11–14).

guilty by doing so, [13]therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will stretch out my hand[p] against Edom and kill its men and their animals.[q] I will lay it waste, and from Teman[r] to Dedan[s] they will fall by the sword.[t] [14]I will take vengeance on Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they will deal with Edom in accordance with my anger[u] and my wrath; they will know my vengeance, declares the Sovereign LORD.' "[v]

A Prophecy Against Philistia

[15]"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: 'Because the Philistines[w] acted in vengeance and took revenge with malice[x] in their hearts, and with ancient hostility sought to destroy Judah, [16]therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am about to stretch out my hand against the Philistines,[y] and I will cut off the Kerethites[z] and destroy those remaining along the coast.[a] [17]I will carry out great vengeance[b] on them and punish[c] them in my wrath. Then they will know that I am the LORD,[d] when I take vengeance on them.[e]' "

A Prophecy Against Tyre

26 In the eleventh year, on the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me:[g] [2]"Son of man, because Tyre[h] has said of Jerusalem, 'Aha![i] The gate to the nations is broken, and its doors have swung open to me; now that she lies in ruins I will prosper,' [3]therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against you, O Tyre, and I will bring many nations against you, like the sea[j] casting up its waves. [4]They will destroy[k] the walls of Tyre[l] and pull down her towers; I will scrape away her rubble and make her a bare rock. [5]Out in the sea[m] she will become a place to spread fishnets,[n] for I have spoken, declares the Sovereign LORD. She will become plunder[o] for the nations,[p] [6]and her settlements on the mainland will be ravaged by the sword. Then they will know that I am the LORD.

[7]"For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: From the north I am going to bring against Tyre Nebuchadnezzar[eq] king of Babylon, king of kings,[r] with horses and chariots,[s] with horsemen and a great army. [8]He will ravage your settlements on the mainland with the sword; he will set up siege works[t] against you, build a ramp[u] up to your walls and raise his shields against you. [9]He will direct the blows of his battering rams against your walls and demolish your towers with his weapons.[v] [10]His horses will be so many that they will cover you with dust. Your walls will tremble at the noise of the war horses, wagons and chariots[w] when he enters your gates as men enter a city whose walls have been broken through. [11]The hoofs[x] of his horses will trample all your streets; he will kill your people with the sword, and your strong pillars[y] will fall to the ground.[z] [12]They will plunder your wealth and loot your merchandise; they will break down your walls and demolish your fine houses and throw your stones, timber and rubble into the sea.[a] [13]I will put an end[b] to your noisy songs,[c] and the music of your harps[d] will be heard

[e] 7 Hebrew Nebuchadrezzar, of which Nebuchadnezzar is a variant; here and often in Ezekiel and Jeremiah

25:13 Teman. A district near Petra in central Edom (see Jer 49:7,20; Am 1:12; Ob 9; Hab 3:3). Dedan. A tribe and territory in southern Edom (see 27:20; 38:13; Isa 21:13; Jer 49:8).

25:15 Philistines. Inhabitants of the coastal plain along the Mediterranean west of Judah (1Sa 6:17), who strove for control of Canaan until subdued by David. Their hostility to Israel continued, however (see Isa 14:29–31; Jer 47; Am 1:6–8; Zep 2:4–7), until Nebuchadnezzar deported them.

25:16 Kerethites. Related to, if not identical with, the Philistines (see 1Sa 30:14 and note; 2Sa 8:18; 15:18; 20:7). coast. Of the Mediterranean.

26:1 eleventh year . . . first day. The number of the month is missing. The entire year dates from Apr. 23, 587, to Apr. 13, 586 B.C. The oracle must date from the end of that year, in the 11th (Feb. 13, 586) or the 12th month (Mar. 15, 586). See note on 33:21. This is the fifth date in the book (see 1:2; 8:1; 20:1; 24:1).

26:2 Tyre. The island capital of Phoenicia, present-day Lebanon. It was involved in an anti-Assyrian coalition in 594 B.C. (see Jer 27:3). Ezekiel, more than any other prophet, prophesied against Tyre (see chs. 27–28; but see Isa 23; Jer 25:22; 47:4; Joel 3:4–5; Am 1:9–10; Zec 9:2–4). Aha! See note on 25:3. gate to the nations. Because of its geographical location, its political importance and the central role it played in international trade. The anti-Assyrian summit meeting was held there (see Jer 27).

26:3 I am against you. See note on 5:8. like the sea casting up its waves. For invading armies likened to waves of the sea cf. Isa 17:12–13. Since Tyre was an island, the metaphor is especially appropriate here.

26:5 plunder for the nations. Cf. 25:7; 34:28.

26:7 north. The direction from which Nebuchadnezzar would descend on Tyre after first marching his army up the Euphrates River valley rather than across the Arabian Desert (cf. Jer 1:13). I am going to bring. A clear indication of God's sovereignty over the nations (cf. 28:7; 29:8). Nebuchadnezzar. The first of four references to him in Ezekiel (see 29:18–19; 30:10). He ruled from 605 to 562 B.C., and his name means "O (god) Nabu, protect my son" or "O (god) Nabu, protect my boundary." Jeremiah and Ezekiel both proclaimed that this pagan king would be used by God to do his work (see Jer 25:9; 27:6).

26:8 siege. Nebuchadnezzar's 15-year siege of Tyre began shortly after the fall of Jerusalem. There is no record that Tyre fell at this time (see note on 29:18).

no more.[e] [14]I will make you a bare rock, and you will become a place to spread fishnets. You will never be rebuilt,[f] for I the LORD have spoken, declares the Sovereign LORD.

[15]"This is what the Sovereign LORD says to Tyre: Will not the coastlands[g] tremble[h] at the sound of your fall, when the wounded groan[i] and the slaughter takes place in you? [16]Then all the princes of the coast will step down from their thrones and lay aside their robes and take off their embroidered[j] garments. Clothed[k] with terror, they will sit on the ground,[l] trembling[m] every moment, appalled[n] at you. [17]Then they will take up a lament[o] concerning you and say to you:

" 'How you are destroyed, O city of renown, peopled by men of the sea!
You were a power on the seas,
you and your citizens;
you put your terror
on all who lived there.[p] [18]Now the coastlands tremble[q] on the day of your fall;
the islands in the sea
are terrified at your collapse.'[r]

[19]"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: When I make you a desolate city, like cities no longer inhabited, and when I bring the ocean depths[s] over you and its vast waters cover you,[t] [20]then I will bring you down with those who go down to the pit,[u] to the people of long ago. I will make you dwell in the earth below, as in ancient ruins, with those who go down to the pit, and you will not return or take your place[i] in the land of the living.[v] [21]I will bring you to a horrible end and you will be no more.[w] You will be sought, but you will never again be found, declares the Sovereign LORD."[x]

A Lament for Tyre

27 The word of the LORD came to me: [2]"Son of man, take up a lament[y] concerning Tyre. [3]Say to Tyre,[z] situated at the gateway to the sea,[a] merchant of peoples on many coasts, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

" 'You say, O Tyre,
"I am perfect in beauty.[b]" [4]Your domain was on the high seas;
your builders brought your beauty to perfection.[c]
[5]They made all your timbers of pine trees from Senir[g];[d]
they took a cedar from Lebanon[e]
to make a mast for you.
[6]Of oaks[f] from Bashan
they made your oars;
of cypress wood[h] from the coasts of Cyprus[ig]
they made your deck, inlaid with ivory.
[7]Fine embroidered linen[h] from Egypt was your sail
and served as your banner;
your awnings were of blue and purple[i]
from the coasts of Elishah.[j] [8]Men of Sidon and Arvad[k] were your oarsmen;
your skilled men, O Tyre, were aboard as your seamen.[l] [9]Veteran craftsmen of Gebal[jm] were on board
as shipwrights to caulk your seams.
All the ships of the sea[n] and their sailors came alongside to trade for your wares.

[i] 6 Hebrew Kittim [j] 9 That is, Byblos

26:14 never be rebuilt. Eventually fulfilled by Alexander's devastating siege in 332 B.C. (see note on Isa 23:1).
26:16 princes of the coast. Called kings in 27:35, they were probably trading partners with Tyre. lay aside their robes. Usually mourners tore their clothes (Job 2:12) and put on sackcloth, but cf. the king of Nineveh (Jnh 3:6). Clothed with terror. Because of political shock waves from the fall of such a powerful city (cf. 7:27; Ps 35:26; 109:29).
26:17 lament. See note on 19:1.
26:19 ocean depths. The primeval, chaotic mass—the "deep" of Ge 1:2. Tyre's collapse into the sea is described in almost cosmic terms.
26:20 pit. The grave, "the earth below" (cf. Ps 69:15). people of long ago. Those long dead (Ps 143:3; La 3:6). not return or take your place in the land of the living. As Israel would (see 37:1–14).
26:21 See 27:36; 28:19.
27:2 lament. See note on 19:1.
27:3 I am perfect in beauty. See 28:12; cf. 28:2 for a similar prideful statement. Since Tyre is described as a stately ship in the following verses, some translate, "You are a ship, perfect in beauty."
27:4 brought your beauty to perfection. See v. 11.
27:5 Senir. Amorite name for Hermon, the Anti-Lebanon mountain (or range) famed for cedar.
27:6 Bashan. See note on 39:18. Cyprus. The Hebrew word Kittim (see NIV text note) was originally the name of a town in southern Cyprus colonized by Phoenicia.
27:7 Elishah. A city on the east side of Cyprus; also the oldest name for Cyprus (but see note on Ge 10:4).
27:8 Sidon. A harbor city 25 miles north of Tyre, which sometimes rivaled her in political and commercial importance (see note on 28:21). Arvad. Another Phoenician island-city, off the Mediterranean coast and north of Sidon.
27:9 Gebal. Byblos, an important ancient city on the coast between Sidon and Arvad (see NIV text note and 1Ki 5:18).

10 " 'Men of Persia,[o] Lydia[p] and Put[q] served as soldiers in your army.
They hung their shields[r] and helmets on your walls, bringing you splendor.
11 Men of Arvad and Helech manned your walls on every side;
men of Gammad
were in your towers.
They hung their shields around your walls;
they brought your beauty to perfection.[s]

12 " 'Tarshish[t] did business with you because of your great wealth of goods;[u] they exchanged silver, iron, tin and lead for your merchandise.

13 " 'Greece,[v] Tubal and Meshech[w] traded with you; they exchanged slaves[x] and articles of bronze for your wares.

14 " 'Men of Beth Togarmah[y] exchanged work horses, war horses and mules for your merchandise.

15 " 'The men of Rhodes[kz] traded with you, and many coastlands[a] were your customers; they paid you with ivory[b] tusks and ebony.

16 " 'Aram[lc] did business with you because of your many products; they exchanged turquoise,[d] purple fabric, embroidered work, fine linen,[e] coral[f] and rubies for your merchandise.

17 " 'Judah and Israel traded with you; they exchanged wheat[g] from Minnith[h] and confections,[m] honey, oil and balm[i] for your wares.[j]

18 " 'Damascus,[k] because of your many products and great wealth of goods,[l] did business with you in wine from Helbon and wool from Zahar.

19 " 'Danites and Greeks[m] from Uzal[n] bought your merchandise; they exchanged wrought iron, cassia[o] and calamus for your wares.

20 " 'Dedan[p] traded in saddle blankets with you.

21 " 'Arabia[q] and all the princes of Kedar[r] were your customers; they did business with you in lambs, rams and goats.

22 " 'The merchants of Sheba[s] and Raamah traded with you; for your merchandise they exchanged the finest of all kinds of spices[t] and precious stones, and gold.[u]

23 " 'Haran,[v] Canneh and Eden[w] and merchants of Sheba, Asshur[x] and Kilmad traded with you. 24 In your marketplace they traded with you beautiful garments, blue fabric, embroidered work and multicolored rugs with cords twisted and tightly knotted.

[k] 15 Septuagint; Hebrew Dedan [l] 16 Most Hebrew manuscripts; some Hebrew manuscripts and Syriac Edom [m] 17 The meaning of the Hebrew for this word is uncertain.

27:10 Lydia. In Asia Minor. Put. Libya, in North Africa, west of Egypt. soldiers. The ship image is abandoned, and Tyre is now described literally—as a city (see "walls" and "towers" in this and the next verse), complete with a mercenary army gathered from the whole world.

27:11 Arvad. See note on v. 8. Helech. Cilicia, the mountainous region in southeast Asia Minor. The name occurs only here in the Bible. Gammad. Either (1) northern Asia Minor, or (2) a coastal town near Arvad. It is not mentioned elsewhere in the Bible.

27:12 Tarshish. Traditionally located on the coast of southern Spain, but the island of Sardinia has also been suggested. Passages such as 1Ki 10:22; Jnh 1:3 imply that it was a long distance from the Canaanite coast. The list of places in vv. 12–23 generally follows a west-to-east direction.

27:13 Tubal and Meshech. Both in Asia Minor.

27:14 Beth Togarmah. In eastern Asia Minor, present-day Armenia (see 38:6). work horses. Asia Minor was known for its horses (see 1Ki 10:28 and NIV text notes there).

27:15 Rhodes. A large island off the southwest coast of Asia Minor that served as gateway to the Aegean islands. It was an early major trading center (see Ac 21:1).

27:16 Aram. Syria. Since Damascus, the capital of Aram, is mentioned in v. 18, perhaps Edom is meant here (see NIV text note; see also 25:12 and note).

27:17 Israel traded with you. In the past. Since 722–721 B.C. Israel had ceased to exist as a political state. Minnith. An Ammonite town, apparently famous for its wheat; "wheat from Minnith" possibly denoted a superior quality of wheat. balm. Gum or oil from one of several plants; a product of Gilead (see Ge 37:25; Jer 8:22; 46:11).

27:18 Damascus. Capital of Aram (see note on v. 16; see also Isa 7:8). Helbon. A town north of Damascus, still in existence and still a wine-making center. The name occurs only here in the Bible. Zahar. Modern Saṣra, an area northwest of Damascus, where grazing is still common today.

27:19 Danites. A term that Homer used for Greeks. Some read (as does the Septuagint) "and wine from" for "Danites and Greeks from." Uzal. See Ge 10:27; 1Ch 1:21; perhaps Yemen or the area between Haran and the Tigris. cassia. Similar to the cinnamon tree. The only other Biblical mention of it is in Ex 30:24, where it appears in a list of aromatic plants. calamus. An aromatic reed.

27:20 Dedan. See note on 25:13.

27:21 Arabia and . . . Kedar. A general expression for the Bedouin tribes from Aram to the Arabian Desert. For Kedar see Isa 42:11; 60:7; Jer 49:28.

27:22 Sheba. See note on 23:42. Raamah. A city in southern Arabia.

27:23 Haran. A city east of Carchemish, in present-day eastern Turkey. It was well-known in ancient times as a center both for trade and for the worship of the moon-god Sin. From here Abraham moved to Canaan (see Ge 11:31; 12:4). Canneh. Of uncertain location, presumably in Mesopotamia. It is often identified with Calneh (Isa 10:9; Am 6:2). Eden. A district south of Haran, mentioned in connection with Haran in 2Ki 19:12. See Beth Eden in Am 1:5. Sheba. See note on 23:42. Asshur. Can mean the city, the country (Assyria) or the people (Assyrians). Here it is probably the city south of Nineveh that gave its name to the country. Kilmad. If a town, it is yet unidentified; presumably in Mesopotamia. Some read "all Media."

25" 'The ships of Tarshish[y] serve as carriers for your wares.
You are filled with heavy cargo in the heart of the sea.[z] 26Your oarsmen take you out to the high seas.
But the east wind[a] will break you to pieces
in the heart of the sea.
27Your wealth,[b] merchandise and wares,
your mariners, seamen and shipwrights,
your merchants and all your soldiers, and everyone else on board will sink into the heart of the sea[c] on the day of your shipwreck.
28The shorelands will quake[d]
when your seamen cry out.
29All who handle the oars
will abandon their ships;
the mariners and all the seamen will stand on the shore.
30They will raise their voice and cry bitterly over you;
they will sprinkle dust[e] on their heads and roll[f] in ashes.[g] 31They will shave their heads[h] because of you
and will put on sackcloth.
They will weep[i] over you with anguish of soul
and with bitter mourning.[j] 32As they wail and mourn over you, they will take up a lament[k]
concerning you:
"Who was ever silenced like Tyre, surrounded by the sea?[l]" 33When your merchandise went out on the seas,[m]
you satisfied many nations;
with your great wealth[n] and your
wares
you enriched the kings of the earth.
34Now you are shattered by the sea in the depths of the waters;
your wares and all your company have gone down with you.[o] 35All who live in the coastlands[p] are appalled[q] at you;
their kings shudder with horror and their faces are distorted with fear.[r]
36The merchants among the nations hiss at you;[s]
you have come to a horrible end and will be no more.[t]' "

A Prophecy Against the King of Tyre

28 The word of the LORD came to me:
2"Son of man[u], say to the ruler of Tyre, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD
says:

" 'In the pride of your heart
you say, "I am a god;
I sit on the throne[v] of a god
in the heart of the seas."[w]
But you are a man and not a god, though you think you are as wise
as a god.[x]
3Are you wiser than Daniel[n]?[y]
Is no secret hidden from you?
4By your wisdom and understanding you have gained wealth for yourself and amassed gold and silver in your treasuries.[z] 5By your great skill in trading[a] you have increased your wealth,[b] and because of your wealth your heart has grown proud.[c]
6" 'Therefore this is what the Sovereign
LORD says:

" 'Because you think you are wise,
as wise as a god,
7I am going to bring foreigners against
you,
the most ruthless of nations;[d] they will draw their swords against your beauty and wisdom[e]
and pierce your shining splendor.[f] 8They will bring you down to the pit,[g]
and you will die a violent death[h] in the heart of the seas.[i] 9Will you then say, "I am a god," in the presence of those who kill
you?
You will be but a man, not a god,[j] in the hands of those who slay
you.[k] 10You will die the death of the uncircumcised[l]
at the hands of foreigners.

I have spoken, declares the Sovereign
LORD.' "

[n] 3 Or Danel; the Hebrew spelling may suggest a person other than the prophet Daniel.

27:25 Tarshish. See note on v. 12. The ship image is resumed (see notes on vv. 3,10).

27:26 east wind. Disastrous at sea (Ps 48:7) as well as on land (Jer 18:17). It possibly symbolizes Nebuchadnezzar (as in 17:10; 19:12).

27:30 dust on their heads. See 26:16 for a similar scene. roll in ashes. Cf. Mic 1:10.

27:31 shave their heads. Cf. 7:18; Isa 15:2; 22:12.

28:2 ruler of Tyre. May refer to the city of Tyre as ruler, or to Ethbaal II, the king then ruling Tyre (see v. 12). pride. Cf. 27:3; Pr 16:18; Ac 12:21–23.

28:3 Daniel. See note on 14:14.

28:7 foreigners. The Babylonians; see next phrase.

28:8 pit. Cf. Job 33:22,24; see note on 26:20.

28:10 uncircumcised. Used here in the sense of barbarian or uncouth. The Phoenicians, like the Israelites and the Egyptians, practiced circumcision (see 31:18; 32:19).

11The word of the LORD came to me:
12"Son of man, take up a lament[m] concerning the king of Tyre and say to him:
'This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

" 'You were the model of perfection, full of wisdom and perfect in beauty.[n]

every precious stone[q] adorned you:
ruby, topaz and emerald,
chrysolite, onyx and jasper,
sapphire,[o] turquoise[r] and beryl.[p]
Your settings and mountings[q] were made of gold;
on the day you were created they were prepared.[s] 14You were anointed[t] as a guardian cherub,[u]
for so I ordained you.
You were on the holy mount of God;
you walked among the fiery stones.
15You were blameless in your ways from the day you were created till wickedness was found in you.
16Through your widespread trade you were filled with violence,[v]
and you sinned.
So I drove you in disgrace from the mount of God, and I expelled you, O guardian cherub,[w]
from among the fiery stones.
17Your heart became proud[x]
on account of your beauty, and you corrupted your wisdom
because of your splendor.
So I threw you to the earth;
I made a spectacle of you before kings.[y] 18By your many sins and dishonest trade
you have desecrated your sanctuaries.
So I made a fire[z] come out from you,
and it consumed you,
and I reduced you to ashes[a] on the ground in the sight of all who were watching.[b] 19All the nations who knew you are appalled[c] at you;
you have come to a horrible end
and will be no more.[d]' "

A Prophecy Against Sidon

20The word of the LORD came to me:
21"Son of man, set your face against[e] Sidon;[f] prophesy against her 22and say:
'This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

" 'I am against you, O Sidon, and I will gain glory[g] within you.
They will know that I am the LORD, when I inflict punishment[h] on her and show myself holy[i] within her.
23I will send a plague upon her and make blood flow in her streets.
The slain will fall within her,
with the sword against her on every side.
Then they will know that I am the LORD.[j]

24" 'No longer will the people of Israel have malicious neighbors who are painful briers and sharp thorns.[k] Then they will know that I am the Sovereign LORD.
25" 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: When I gather[l] the people of Israel from the nations where they have been scattered,[m] I will show myself holy[n] among them in the sight of the nations. Then they will live in their own land, which I gave to my servant Jacob.[o]

28:12 lament. See note on 19:1. king of Tyre. Cf. v. 2, but see note on Isa 14:12–15. model of perfection. "Model" is lit. "seal," as in Hag 2:23, where Zerubbabel is called God's "signet ring." With cutting irony Ezekiel depicts the proud king of Tyre as the first man created, radiant with wisdom and beauty.

28:13 You were in Eden. Like Adam (Ge 2:15). Ezekiel continues to use imagery of the creation and the fall to picture the career of the king of Tyre (see 31:9,16,18). every precious stone. Unlike Adam, who was naked (Ge 2:25), the king is pictured as a fully clothed priest, ordained (v. 14) to guard God's holy place. The 9 stones are among the 12 worn by the priest (Ex 28:17–20). (The Septuagint lists all 12.) settings and mountings. For the precious stones. on the day you were created. Cf. v. 15; Ge 5:2.

28:14 as a guardian cherub. Cf. v. 16. The Genesis account has cherubim (plural) stationed at the border of the garden after the expulsion of Adam and Eve (Ge 3:24). Some read "with" instead of "as." holy mount of God. Cf. v. 16. This does not reflect the Genesis story. See Isa 14:13 for the figure of God dwelling on a mountain. fiery stones. The precious stones (v. 13; cf. Rev 4:1–6; 21:15–21).

28:15 You were blameless ... till. The parallel to Ge 2–3 is clear (see Ge 6:9; 17:1).

28:16 widespread trade ... filled with violence. Tyre's major crime.

28:17 threw you to the earth. Expulsion from the heavenly garden.

28:21 set your face. See note on 20:46. Sidon. See 27:8 and note. This is the only time in the OT that Sidon is mentioned apart from Tyre (cf. Isa 23:1–4; Jer 47:4; Joel 3:4; Zec 9:2).

28:22 I am against you. Possibly because of Sidon's involvement in the Jerusalem summit conference (Jer 27:3; see note on 5:8). I will gain glory within you. The Lord's glory would be recognized in Sidon's punishment.

28:24 painful briers. For references to Israel's enemies as briers see Nu 33:55; Jos 23:13.

28:25 When I gather ... Israel. A frequent promise in Ezekiel and later (see 11:17; 20:34,41–42; 29:13; 34:13; 36:24; 37:21; 38:8; 39:27; Ne 1:9; Zec 10:8,10). my servant Jacob. Cf. 37:25. For the promise see Ge 28:13; 35:12; Ps 105:10–11.

[26]They will live there in safety[p] and will build houses and plant[q] vineyards; they will live in safety when I inflict punishment[r] on all their neighbors who maligned them. Then they will know that I am the LORD their God.[s]' "

A Prophecy Against Egypt

29 In the tenth year, in the tenth month on the twelfth day, the word of the LORD came to me:[t] [2]"Son of man, set your face against[u] Pharaoh king of Egypt[v] and prophesy against him and against all Egypt.[w] [3]Speak to him and say: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

" 'I am against you, Pharaoh[x] king of Egypt,
you great monster[y] lying among your streams.
You say, "The Nile[z] is mine;
I made it for myself."
[4]But I will put hooks[a] in your jaws and make the fish of your streams stick to your scales.
I will pull you out from among your streams,
with all the fish sticking to your scales.[b] [5]I will leave you in the desert, you and all the fish of your streams.
You will fall on the open field and not be gathered[c] or picked up.
I will give you as food to the beasts of the earth and the birds of the air.[d]

[6]Then all who live in Egypt will know that I am the LORD.

" 'You have been a staff of reed[e] for the house of Israel. [7]When they grasped you with their hands, you splintered[f] and you tore open their shoulders; when they leaned on you, you broke and their backs were wrenched.[rg]

[8]" 'Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will bring a sword against you and kill your men and their animals.[h] [9]Egypt will become a desolate wasteland. Then they will know that I am the LORD.

" 'Because you said, "The Nile[i] is mine; I made it,[j]" [10]therefore I am against you[k] and against your streams, and I will make the land of Egypt[l] a ruin and a desolate waste[m] from Migdol[n] to Aswan,[o] as far as the border of Cush.[sp] [11]No foot of man or animal will pass through it; no one will live there for forty years.[q] [12]I will make the land of Egypt desolate[r] among devastated lands, and her cities will lie desolate forty years among ruined cities. And I will disperse the Egyptians among the nations and scatter them through the countries.[s]

[13]" 'Yet this is what the Sovereign LORD says: At the end of forty years I will gather the Egyptians from the nations where they were scattered. [14]I will bring them back from captivity and return them to Upper Egypt,[tt] the land of their ancestry. There they will be a lowly[u] kingdom.[v] [15]It will be the lowliest of kingdoms and will never again exalt itself above the other nations.[w] I will make it so weak that it will never again rule over the nations. [16]Egypt will no longer be a source of confidence[x] for the people of Israel but will be a reminder[y] of their sin in turning to her for help.[z] Then they will know that I am the Sovereign LORD.[a]' "

28:26 live there in safety. A perennial ideal that had become an especially meaningful promise (cf. 34:28; 38:8,11,14; 39:26; Lev 25:18–19; Jer 23:6; 32:37; 33:16). houses . . . vineyards. Basic necessities of the good life (cf. Isa 65:21; Jer 29:5,28; Am 9:14).

29:1 tenth year . . . tenth month . . . twelfth day. Jan. 7, 587 B.C.; the sixth date in Ezekiel (see 1:2; 8:1; 20:1; 24:1; 26:1). This is the first of seven oracles against Egypt, all of which are dated, except one (30:1). They represent divine and prophetic anger at Egypt's actions (or nonactions) at this time.

29:2 set your face. See note on 20:46. Pharaoh. Hophra, 589–570 B.C. (see Jer 44:30).

29:3 I am against you. See note on 5:8. great monster. Or "crocodile"; pictured as being in the Nile. See note on Ex 4:3; see also Job 41:1 and NIV text note; Isa 27:1 ("monster"). your streams. Nile delta and canals (cf. Isa 7:18; 19:6; 37:25). You say. Boasts inscribed on Egyptian monuments (such as in Shelley's "Ozymandias") had become proverbial.

29:4 hooks. Cf. 19:4. fish of your streams. Egypt's conquered territories or mercenaries.

29:5 food to the beasts. Particularly frustrating to the pharaoh's great hopes for an afterlife, as symbolized by the pyramids and expressed in the Egyptian "Book of the Dead."

29:6 You have been a staff of reed. A comparison made earlier (see Isa 36:6). Hophra briefly but unsuccessfully diverted the Babylonians from laying siege to Jerusalem (see Jer 37:1–10).

29:8 sword. Nebuchadnezzar's (see note on 21:3). For the entire expression, which is not found in other prophetic books, see 6:3; 11:8; 14:17; 33:2; see also Lev 26:25.

29:10 Migdol. Location unknown; probably in northern Egypt (see Jer 44:1; 46:14). Aswan. A town in southern Egypt. "From Migdol to Aswan" (see 30:6) probably indicated all Egypt, just as "from Dan to Beersheba" meant all Israel (see, e.g., Jdg 20:1; 1Sa 3:20).

29:11 forty years. Sometimes used to signify a long and difficult period (cf. 4:6).

29:14 Upper Egypt. Southern Egypt (see 30:14; Jer 44:1,15).

17In the twenty-seventh year, in the first month on the first day, the word of the LORD came to me:[b] 18"Son of man, Nebuchadnezzar[c] king of Babylon drove his army in a hard campaign against Tyre; every head was rubbed bare[d] and every shoulder made raw.[e] Yet he and his army got no reward from the campaign he led against Tyre. 19Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am going to give Egypt to Nebuchadnezzar king[f] of Babylon, and he will carry off its wealth. He will loot and plunder[g] the land as pay for his army.[h] 20I have given him Egypt[i] as a reward for his efforts because he and his army did it for me, declares the Sovereign LORD.[j]

21"On that day I will make a horn[u k] grow for the house of Israel, and I will open your mouth[l] among them. Then they will know that I am the LORD.[m]"

A Lament for Egypt

30 The word of the LORD came to me: 2"Son of man, prophesy and say: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

" 'Wail[n] and say,
"Alas for that day!"
3For the day is near,[o]
the day of the LORD[p] is near—a day of clouds,
a time of doom for the nations.
4A sword will come against Egypt,[q]
and anguish will come upon Cush.[v r]
When the slain fall in Egypt, her wealth will be carried away and her foundations torn down.[s]

5Cush and Put,[t] Lydia and all Arabia,[u] Libya[w] and the people[v] of the covenant land will fall by the sword along with Egypt.[w]

6" 'This is what the LORD says:

" 'The allies of Egypt will fall and her proud strength will fail.
From Migdol to Aswan[x]
they will fall by the sword within her,
declares the Sovereign LORD.
7" 'They will be desolate
among desolate lands, and their cities will lie
among ruined cities.[y] 8Then they will know that I am the LORD, when I set fire[z] to Egypt and all her helpers are crushed.[a]

9" 'On that day messengers will go out from me in ships to frighten Cush[b] out of her complacency. Anguish[c] will take hold of them on the day of Egypt's doom, for it is sure to come.[d]

10" 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

" 'I will put an end to the hordes of Egypt
by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar[e] king of Babylon.[f] 11He and his army—the most ruthless of nations[g]— will be brought in to destroy the land.
They will draw their swords against Egypt and fill the land with the slain.[h] 12I will dry up[i] the streams of the Nile[j] and sell the land to evil men;
by the hand of foreigners
I will lay waste[k] the land and everything in it.

I the LORD have spoken.

13" 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

29:17 The second oracle against Egypt (see note on v. 1). twenty-seventh year ... first month ... first day. Apr. 26, 571 B.C.; the seventh date in Ezekiel (see v. 1; 1:2; 8:1; 20:1; 24:1; 26:1) and the latest date given in the book. Since the remaining dated oracles are in more or less chronological order, the date is mentioned here probably because of the subject matter (Egypt).

29:18 hard campaign. Nebuchadnezzar besieged Tyre for 15 years, from 586 to 571 B.C. (see 26:7–14). every head was rubbed bare. Probably from the leather helmets.

29:19 I am going to give. God's sovereignty over the nations is again proclaimed.

29:21 make a horn grow for. Revive the strength of (see NIV text note). The passage is not a Messianic prophecy. open your mouth. Ezekiel's muteness (3:26; 24:27) would be removed, and this word anticipates that of 33:22.

30:1 The third oracle against Egypt (see note on 29:1). No date is given, but it was probably between January and April of 587 B.C. Compare 29:1 with 30:20. Jerusalem was under siege at this time.

30:2–3 that day ... the day of the LORD. The day of God's coming in judgment (see 7:7 and note). Egypt's judgment is announced.

30:3 the day is near. Cf. Isa 13:6. day of clouds. Cf. Joel 2:2; Zep 1:15.

30:4 sword. Nebuchadnezzar's (see v. 10; see also note on 21:3).

30:5 Put. Libya, in Africa (see note on 27:10). Lydia. Not in Asia Minor (see note on 27:10) but somewhere in northern Africa. people of the covenant land. Apparently Jews living in Egypt (see Jer 44).

30:6 From Migdol to Aswan. See note on 29:10.

30:8 set fire to. Make war on.

30:9 messengers ... in ships. See Isa 18 for a similar oracle on Cush, involving ships on the Nile.

30:11 most ruthless of nations. A common phrase for the Babylonians, who were known for their cruelty (see 2Ki 25:7).

30:13 idols. See note on 6:4. Memphis. Located 15 miles south of Cairo, Memphis was a former capital of Egypt and

" 'I will destroy the idols[l] and put an end to the images in Memphis.[x m]
No longer will there be a prince in Egypt,[n]
and I will spread fear throughout the land.
14I will lay[o] waste Upper Egypt,[y] set fire to Zoan[p]
and inflict punishment on Thebes.[z q]
15I will pour out my wrath on Pelusium,[a]
the stronghold of Egypt, and cut off the hordes of Thebes.
16I will set fire[r] to Egypt;
Pelusium will writhe in agony.
Thebes will be taken by storm;
Memphis[s] will be in constant distress.
17The young men of Heliopolis[b t] and Bubastis[c]
will fall by the sword, and the cities themselves will go into captivity.
18Dark will be the day at Tahpanhes[u]
when I break the yoke of Egypt;[v] there her proud strength will come to an end.
She will be covered with clouds, and her villages will go into captivity.[w]
19So I will inflict punishment[x] on Egypt,
and they will know that I am the LORD.' "

20In the eleventh year, in the first month on the seventh day, the word of the LORD came to me:[y] 21"Son of man, I have broken the arm[z] of Pharaoh[a] king of Egypt. It has not been bound up for healing[b] or put in a splint so as to become strong enough to hold a sword. 22Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against Pharaoh king of Egypt.[c] I will break both his arms, the good arm as well as the broken one, and make the sword fall from his hand.[d] 23I will disperse the Egyptians among the nations and scatter them through the countries.[e] 24I will strengthen[f] the arms of the king of Babylon and put my sword[g] in his hand, but I will break the arms of Pharaoh, and he will groan[h] before him like a mortally wounded man. 25I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, but the arms of Pharaoh will fall limp. Then they will know that I am the LORD, when I put my sword[i] into the hand of the king of Babylon and he brandishes it against Egypt.[j] 26I will disperse the Egyptians among the nations and scatter them through the countries. Then they will know that I am the LORD.[k]"

A Cedar in Lebanon

31 In the eleventh year,[l] in the third month on the first day, the word of the LORD came to me:[m] 2"Son of man, say to Pharaoh king of Egypt and to his hordes:

" 'Who can be compared with you in majesty?
3Consider Assyria,[n] once a cedar in Lebanon,[o]
with beautiful branches
overshadowing the forest;
it towered on high,
its top above the thick foliage.[p] 4The waters[q] nourished it, deep springs made it grow tall;
their streams flowed
all around its base
and sent their channels to all the trees of the field.[r]

one of her largest cities. The list of towns reveals no discernible pattern but is a literary device used to underscore the scope of the destruction (cf. Isa 10:9–11,27–32; Mic 1:10–15; Zep 2:4). prince. King.

30:14 Upper Egypt. See 29:14 and note. Zoan. A city in northeast Egypt in the delta region; also called Rameses (see Ex 1:11), Avaris and Tanis (see Isa 19:11,13; 30:4). Thebes. Capital of Upper Egypt; present-day Luxor and Karnak (see NIV text note).

30:15 Pelusium. A fortress in the eastern delta region of the Nile (see NIV text note).

30:17 Heliopolis. Greek name (meaning "city of the sun") for On (see NIV text note), located six miles northeast of Cairo. Bubastis. At one time the capital of Lower (northern) Egypt; located 40 miles northeast of Cairo.

30:18 Dark. A common Biblical metaphor describing ruin, destruction or death. Tahpanhes. In extreme northeast Egypt. Johanan son of Kareah and his men fled there after the murder of Gedaliah (see Jer 43:4–7). covered with clouds. See v. 3 and note; 32:7.

30:20 The fourth oracle against Egypt (see note on 29:1). eleventh year ... first month ... seventh day. Apr. 29, 587 B.C.; the eighth date in Ezekiel (see 1:2; 8:1; 20:1; 24:1; 26:1; 29:1,17).

30:21 broken the arm. Refers to Pharaoh Hophra's defeat by Nebuchadnezzar the previous year (see notes on 29:6; Jer 37:10).

30:24 put my sword in his hand. See note on 21:3.

31:1 The fifth oracle against Egypt (see note on 29:1). eleventh year ... third month ... first day. June 21, 587 B.C.; the ninth date in Ezekiel (see 1:2; 8:1; 20:1; 24:1; 26:1; 29:1,17; 30:20).

31:3 Consider Assyria. A great nation that had fallen. In 609 B.C. Pharaoh Neco went to Carchemish to help the Assyrian empire, which was reeling from Babylonian attacks. The effort failed and Assyria passed from history. once a cedar. The beginning of another allegory (see Ezekiel's allegorical use of the cedar in ch. 17). Lebanon. Known for its cedars (see vv. 15–18; Jdg 9:15; 1Ki 4:33; 5:6; 2Ki 14:9; Ezr 3:7; Ps 29:5; 92:12; 104:16).

31:4 waters. The Tigris and Euphrates. deep springs. Or "the deep" (see note on 26:19).

5 So it towered higher[s] than all the trees of the field;
its boughs increased and its branches grew long, spreading because of abundant waters.[t]
6 All the birds of the air nested in its boughs,
all the beasts of the field gave birth[u] under its branches;
all the great nations
lived in its shade.[v]
7 It was majestic in beauty, with its spreading boughs,
for its roots went down to abundant waters.[w] 8 The cedars[x] in the garden of God could not rival it, nor could the pine trees
equal its boughs,
nor could the plane trees[y]
compare with its branches—no tree in the garden of God could match its beauty.[z] 9 I made it beautiful with abundant branches, the envy of all the trees of Eden[a] in the garden of God.[b]

10 "'Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because it towered on high, lifting its top above the thick foliage, and because it was proud[c] of its height, 11 I handed it over to the ruler of the nations, for him to deal with according to its wickedness. I cast it aside,[d] 12 and the most ruthless of foreign nations[e] cut it down and left it. Its boughs fell on the mountains and in all the valleys;[f] its branches lay broken in all the ravines of the land. All the nations of the earth came out from under its shade and left it.[g] 13 All the birds of the air settled on the fallen tree, and all the beasts of the field were among its branches.[h] 14 Therefore no other trees by the waters are ever to tower proudly on high, lifting their tops above the thick foliage. No other trees so well-watered are ever to reach such a height; they are all destined[i] for death,[j] for the earth below, among mortal men, with those who go down to the pit.[k]

15 "'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: On the day it was brought down to the grave[d] I covered the deep springs with mourning for it; I held back its streams, and its abundant waters were restrained. Because of it I clothed Lebanon with gloom, and all the trees of the field withered away.[l] 16 I made the nations tremble[m] at the sound of its fall when I brought it down to the grave with those who go down to the pit. Then all the trees[n] of Eden,[o] the choicest and best of Lebanon, all the trees that were well-watered, were consoled[p] in the earth below.[q] 17 Those who lived in its shade, its allies among the nations, had also gone down to the grave with it, joining those killed by the sword.[r]

18 "'Which of the trees of Eden can be compared with you in splendor and majesty? Yet you, too, will be brought down with the trees of Eden to the earth below; you will lie among the uncircumcised,[s] with those killed by the sword.

"'This is Pharaoh and all his hordes, declares the Sovereign LORD.'"

A Lament for Pharaoh

32 In the twelfth year, in the twelfth month on the first day, the word of the LORD came to me:[t] 2 "Son of man, take up a lament[u] concerning Pharaoh king of Egypt and say to him:

"'You are like a lion[v] among the nations;
you are like a monster[w] in the seas[x] thrashing about in your streams, churning the water with your feet and muddying the streams.[y]

3 "'This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

"'With a great throng of people
I will cast my net over you,
and they will haul you up in my net.[z]

Ezekiel a Watchman

33 The word of the LORD came to me: 2"Son of man, speak to your countrymen and say to them: 'When I bring the sword[s] against a land, and the people of the land choose one of their men and make him their watchman,[t] 3and he sees the sword coming against the land and blows the trumpet[u] to warn the people, 4then if anyone hears the trumpet but does not take warning[v] and the sword comes and takes his life, his blood will be on his own head.[w] 5Since he heard the sound of the trumpet but did not take warning, his blood will be on his own head.[x] If he had taken warning, he would have saved himself.[y] 6But if the watchman sees the sword coming and does not blow the trumpet to warn the people and the sword comes and takes the life of one of them, that man will be taken away because of his sin, but I will hold the watchman accountable for his blood.'[z]

7"Son of man, I have made you a watchman[a] for the house of Israel; so hear the word I speak and give them warning from me.[b] 8When I say to the wicked, 'O wicked man, you will surely die,[c]' and you do not speak out to dissuade him from his ways, that wicked man will die for[g] his sin, and I will hold you accountable for his blood.[d] 9But if you do warn the wicked man to turn from his ways and he does not do so,[e] he will die for his sin, but you will have saved yourself.[f]

death of the wicked, but rather that they turn from their ways and live.[i] Turn![j] Turn from your evil ways! Why will you die, O house of Israel?'[k]

12"Therefore, son of man, say to your countrymen,[l] 'The righteousness of the righteous man will not save him when he disobeys, and the wickedness of the wicked man will not cause him to fall when he turns from it. The righteous man, if he sins, will not be allowed to live because of his former righteousness.'[m] 13If I tell the righteous man that he will surely live, but then he trusts in his righteousness and does evil, none of the righteous things he has done will be remembered; he will die for the evil he has done.[n] 14And if I say to the wicked man, 'You will surely die,' but he then turns away from his sin and does what is just[o] and right— 15if he gives back what he took in pledge[p] for a loan, returns what he has stolen,[q] follows the decrees that give life, and does no evil, he will surely live; he will not die.[r] 16None of the sins[s] he has committed will be remembered against him. He has done what is just and right; he will surely live.[t]

But it is their way that is not just. 18If a righteous man turns from his righteousness and does evil,[u] he will die for it.[v] 19And if a wicked man turns away from his wickedness and does what is just and right, he will live by doing so.[w] 20Yet, O house of Israel, you say, 'The way of the Lord is not just.' But I will judge each of you according to his own ways."[x]

Jerusalem's Fall Explained

21In the twelfth year of our exile, in the tenth month on the fifth day, a man who had escaped[y] from Jerusalem came to me and said, "The city has fallen![z]"

22Now the evening before the man arrived, the hand of the LORD was upon me,[a] and he opened my mouth[b] before the man came to me in the morning. So my mouth was opened and I was no longer silent.[c]

23Then the word of the LORD came to me: 24"Son of man, the people living in those ruins[d] in the land of Israel are saying, 'Abraham was only one man, yet he possessed the land. But we are many;[e] surely the land has been given to us as our possession.'[f] 25Therefore say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Since you eat[g] meat with the blood[h] still in it and look to your idols and shed blood, should you then possess the land?[i] 26You rely on your sword, you do detestable things,[j] and each of you defiles his neighbor's wife.[k] Should you then possess the land?'

27"Say this to them: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: As surely as I live, those who are left in the ruins will fall by the sword, those out in the country I will give to the wild animals to be devoured, and those in strongholds and caves will die of a plague.[l] 28I will make the land a desolate waste, and her proud strength will come to an end, and the mountains[m] of Israel will become desolate so that no one will cross them.[n] 29Then they will know that I am the LORD, when I have made the land a desolate[o] waste because of all the detestable things they have done.'[p]

30"As for you, son of man, your countrymen are talking together about you by the walls and at the doors of the houses, saying to each other, 'Come and hear the message that has come from the LORD.' 31My people come to you, as they usually do, and sit before[q] you to listen to your words, but they do not put them into

33:17 The way of the Lord is not just. Cf. 18:25,29.

33:21 twelfth year ... tenth month ... fifth day. Jan. 8, 585 B.C., five months after the Jerusalem temple was burned. See date in 2Ki 25:8, which in modern reckoning is Aug. 14, 586. The journey between Jerusalem and Babylon could be made in four months (Ezr 7:9). man who had escaped. The first of the exiles of 586 (see 24:26, "fugitive"). A Jerusalem Jew would not "escape" to Babylonian captivity. The city has fallen! With this statement all of Ezekiel's previous prophecies were fulfilled and vindicated. He was then sent with a new mission: pastoral comfort.

33:22 no longer silent. The muteness that had come upon him at the beginning of his ministry was lifted (see 3:26 and note).

33:24 people living in those ruins. The residents of Jerusalem not exiled in 586 B.C. Abraham was only one man ... But we are many. A boast by the unrepentant, similar to that of 11:15 (cf. Lk 3:8).

33:25 eat meat with the blood. Forbidden in Ge 9:4; Lev 7:26–27; 17:10; Dt 12:16,23. look to your idols. See note on 18:6.

33:27 As surely as I live. See note on 18:3. sword ... wild animals ... plague. Cf. the threefold threat in 5:12; 7:15; 12:16 and the fourfold threat in 14:12–21.

33:30–33 Words of assurance meant for Ezekiel alone.

33:31 sit before you. As the elders had (8:1; 14:1). greedy. The people were waiting for Ezekiel to tell them how they could personally profit from the situation rather than what God's larger designs were for them (cf. Mt 20:20–28).

practice. With their mouths they express devotion, but their hearts are greedy[r] for unjust gain.[s] 32Indeed, to them you are nothing more than one who sings love songs[t] with a beautiful voice and plays an instrument well, for they hear your words but do not put them into practice.[u]

33"When all this comes true—and it surely will—then they will know that a prophet has been among them.[v]"

Shepherds and Sheep

34 The word of the LORD came to me: 2"Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel; prophesy and say to them: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Woe to the shepherds of Israel who only take care of themselves! Should not shepherds take care of the flock?[w] 3You eat the curds, clothe yourselves with the wool and slaughter the choice animals, but you do not take care of the flock.[x] 4You have not strengthened the weak or healed[y] the sick or bound up[z] the injured. You have not brought back the strays or searched for the lost. You have ruled them harshly and brutally.[a] 5So they were scattered because there was no shepherd,[b] and when they were scattered they became food for all the wild animals.[c] 6My sheep wandered over all the mountains and on every high hill.[d] They were scattered[e] over the whole earth, and no one searched or looked for them.[f]

7" 'Therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of the LORD: 8As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, because my flock lacks a shepherd and so has been plundered[g] and has become food for all the wild animals,[h] and because my shepherds did not search for my flock but cared for themselves rather than for my flock,[i] 9therefore, O shepherds, hear the word of the LORD: 10This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against[j] the shepherds and will hold them accountable for my flock. I will remove them from tending the flock so that the shepherds can no longer feed themselves. I will rescue[k] my flock from their mouths, and it will no longer be food for them.[l]

11" 'For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I myself will search for my sheep[m] and look after them. 12As a shepherd[n] looks after his scattered flock when he is with them, so will I look after my sheep. I will rescue them from all the places where they were scattered on a day of clouds and darkness.[o] 13I will bring them out from the nations and gather[p] them from the countries, and I will bring them into their own land.[q r s t] I will pasture them on the mountains of Israel, in the ravines and in all the settlements in the land.[u v w] 14I will tend them in a good pasture, and the mountain heights of Israel[x] will be their grazing land. There they will lie down in good grazing land, and there they will feed in a rich pasture[y] on the mountains of Israel.[z] 15I myself will tend my sheep and have them lie down,[a] declares the Sovereign LORD.[b] 16I will search for the lost and bring back the strays. I will bind up[c] the injured and strengthen the weak,[d] but the sleek and the strong I will destroy.[e] I will shepherd the flock with justice.[f]

17" 'As for you, my flock, this is what

33:32 one who sings. May indicate that Ezekiel chanted his oracles (see 2Ki 3:15; Isa 5:1), but more likely the prophet was using a metaphor. they hear ... but do not ... practice. See Isa 29:13; Mt 21:28–32; cf. Jas 1:22–25.

34:2 shepherds of Israel. Those responsible for providing leadership, especially the kings and their officials (see 2Sa 7:7; Jer 25:18–19), but also the prophets and priests (see Isa 56:11; Jer 23:9–11). Ezekiel had earlier singled out the princes, priests and prophets for special rebuke (ch. 22). To call a king a shepherd was common throughout the ancient Near East. For David's rise from shepherd to shepherd-king see Ps 78:70–71. For condemnation of the shepherds cf. Jer 23:1–4.

34:3 eat ... clothe ... slaughter. Legitimate rewards for shepherds. Their crime was that they did not care for the flock.

34:4 searched for the lost. Cf. Jer 50:6; Mt 18:12–14; Lk 15:4; 19:10.

34:5 scattered. Often used by Ezekiel to describe Israel's exile and dispersion (11:16–17; 12:15; 20:23,34,41; 22:15; 28:25). no shepherd. A picture used often in the Bible (e.g., Mk 6:34).

34:8 wild animals. Hostile foreign nations; but see v. 28, where they are contrasted.

34:10 I am against the shepherds. See note on 5:8.

34:11 I myself will search for my sheep. Having dealt with the faithless shepherds (vv. 1–10), the Lord committed himself to shepherd his flock (see Jer 23:3–4).

34:12 from all the places. Babylon was not the only place where the Israelites had gone (see Jer 43:1–7). day of clouds and darkness. The day of the Lord that had come upon Israel when Jerusalem fell in August of 586 B.C. (see 7:7 and note).

34:13 I will bring them out. The promises of restoration—begun in 11:17 and repeated in 20:34,41–42; 28:25—find special emphasis in this part (chs. 33–39) of Ezekiel (see 36:24; 37:21; 38:8; 39:27). mountains of Israel. Compare the tone of 6:3–7 with judgment now past (see v. 12). The mountains perhaps represented the scene of salvation.

34:14 I will tend them. See Isa 40:11; Jn 10:11.

34:16 the sleek and the strong. Those with power who had fattened themselves by oppressing the other "sheep" (see vv. 17–22).

34:17 rams and goats. People of power and influence who were oppressing poorer Israelites. This prophetic word shows the same concern for social justice

the Sovereign LORD says: I will judge between one sheep and another, and between rams and goats.[g] 18Is it not enough[h] for you to feed on the good pasture? Must you also trample the rest of your pasture with your feet?[i] Is it not enough for you to drink clear water? Must you also muddy the rest with your feet? 19Must my flock feed on what you have trampled and drink what you have muddied with your feet?

20" 'Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says to them: See, I myself will judge between the fat sheep and the lean sheep.[j] 21Because you shove with flank and shoulder, butting all the weak sheep with your horns[k] until you have driven them away, 22I will save my flock, and they will no longer be plundered. I will judge between one sheep and another.[l] 23I will place over them one shepherd, my servant David, and he will tend[m] them; he will tend them and be their shepherd.[n] 24I the LORD will be their God,[o] and my servant David[p] will be prince among them.[q] I the LORD have spoken.[r]

25" 'I will make a covenant[s] of peace[t] with them and rid the land of wild beasts[u] so that they may live in the desert and sleep in the forests in safety.[v] 26I will bless[w] them and the places surrounding my hill.[i] I will send down showers in season;[x] there will be showers of blessing.[y] 27The trees of the field will yield their fruit[z] and the ground will yield its crops;[a] the people will be secure[b] in their land. They will know that I am the LORD, when I break the bars of their yoke[c] and rescue them from the hands of those who enslaved them.[d] 28They will no longer be plundered by the nations, nor will wild animals devour them. They will live in safety,[e] and no one will make them afraid.[f] 29I will provide for them a land renowned[g] for its crops, and they will no longer be victims of famine[h] in the land or bear the scorn[i] of the nations.[j] 30Then they will know that I, the LORD their God, am with them and that they, the house of Israel, are my people, declares the Sovereign LORD.[k] 31You my sheep,[l] the sheep of my pasture,[m] are people, and I am your God, declares the Sovereign LORD.' ## A Prophecy Against Edom

35 The word of the LORD came to me: 2"Son of man, set your face against Mount Seir;[n] prophesy against it 3and say: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against you, Mount Seir, and I will stretch out my hand[o] against you and make you a desolate waste.[p] 4I will turn your towns into ruins[q] and you will be desolate. Then you will know that I am the LORD.[r]

5" 'Because you harbored an ancient hostility and delivered the Israelites over to the sword[s] at the time of their calamity,[t] the time their punishment reached its climax,[u] 6therefore as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, I will give you over to bloodshed[v] and it will pursue you.[w] Since you did not hate bloodshed, bloodshed will pursue you. 7I will make Mount Seir a desolate waste[x] and cut off from it all who come and go.[y] 8I found elsewhere in the prophets (see Isa 3:13–15; 5:8; Am 5:12; 6:1–7; Mic 2:1–5). Cf. the treatment of slaves Jeremiah observed (Jer 34:8–11).

34:23 my servant David. A ruler like David and from his line (see Ps 89:4,20,29; Jer 23:5–6).

34:24 prince. The Lord announced a theocracy, a kingdom where he would be King and the earthly king a "prince" (cf. 37:25; 44:3; 45:7,16–17,22; 46:2–18; 48:21–22).

34:25 covenant of peace. Cf. 37:26. All of God's covenants aim at peace (see Ge 26:28–31; Nu 25:12; Isa 54:10; Mal 2:5). This covenant (the "new covenant" spoken of by Jeremiah, 31:31–34) looks to the final peace, initiated by Christ (Php 4:7) and still awaiting final fulfillment. "Peace" (Hebrew shalom) is more than absence of hostility; it is fullness of life enjoyed in complete security. sleep in the forests. Often dangerous (see Ps 104:20–21; Jer 5:6).

34:26 showers in season. Autumn rains, which signal the beginning of the rainy season, and spring rains, which come at the end (cf. Jer 5:24). showers of blessing. Blessing, the power of life promised to God's people through Abraham (Ge 12:1–3), is beautifully symbolized in the life-giving effects of rain.

34:27 bars of their yoke. The bars were wooden pegs inserted down through holes in the yoke and tied below the animal's neck with cords (Isa 58:6) to form a collar (cf. 30:18; Lev 26:13; Jer 27:2; 28:10–13). The entire picture represents foreign domination.

34:29 scorn of the nations. See 22:4.

34:30 I, the LORD their God, am with them . . . they . . . are my people. Covenant language (cf. 11:20; Ex 6:7; Hos 1:9), though the exact wording of this verse has no parallel elsewhere in Ezekiel.

35:2 set your face against. See note on 20:46. Mount Seir. Edom (v. 15), Israel's relative (Jacob and Esau being twins, Ge 25:21–30) and constant enemy, from whom brotherhood was sought but seldom found (cf. Am 1:11). Edom had to be dealt with before Israel could find peace (cf. Ge 32–33). See 25:12 and note; Isa 63:1–6.

35:3 I am against you. See note on 5:8.

35:5 ancient hostility. Beginning with Jacob's deception of Isaac for Esau's blessing (Ge 27; see especially v. 41) and continuing later (Nu 20:14–21; 2Sa 8:13–14; 1Ki 9:26–28). time of their calamity. Edom looted Jerusalem in 586 B.C. (see Ob 11–14).

35:6 as surely as I live. See note on 18:3. bloodshed will pursue you. Retributive justice based on Ge 9:6.

will fill your mountains with the slain; those killed by the sword will fall on your hills and in your valleys and in all your ravines.[z] [9]I will make you desolate forever;[a] your towns will not be inhabited. Then you will know that I am the LORD.[b]

You said, "They have been laid waste and have been given over to us to devour.[f]" [13]You boasted[g] against me and spoke against me without restraint, and I heard it.[h] [14]This is what the Sovereign LORD says: While the whole earth rejoices, I will make you desolate.[i] [15]Because you rejoiced[j] when the inheritance of the house of Israel became desolate, that is how I will treat you. You will be desolate, O Mount Seir,[k] you and all of Edom.[l] Then they will know that I am the LORD.' "

A Prophecy to the Mountains of Israel

36 "Son of man, prophesy to the mountains of Israel[m] and say, 'O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD. [2]This is what the Sovereign LORD says:[n] The enemy said of you, "Aha![o] The ancient heights[p] have become our possession.[q]" ' [3]Therefore prophesy and say, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because they ravaged[r] and hounded you from every side so that you became the possession of the rest of the nations and the object of people's malicious talk and slander,[s] [4]therefore, O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Sovereign LORD: This is what the Sovereign LORD says to the mountains and hills, to the ravines and valleys,[t] to the desolate ruins[u] and the deserted[v] towns that have been plundered and ridiculed[w] by the rest of the nations around you[x]— [5]this is what the Sovereign LORD says: In my burning[y] zeal I have spoken against the rest of the nations, and against all Edom, for with glee and with malice in their hearts they made my land their own possession so that they might plunder its pastureland.'[z] [6]Therefore prophesy concerning the land of Israel and say to the mountains and hills, to the ravines and valleys: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I speak in my jealous wrath because you have suffered the scorn of the nations.[a] [7]Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I swear with uplifted hand[b] that the nations around you will also suffer scorn.[c]

[8]" 'But you, O mountains of Israel, will produce branches and fruit[d] for my people Israel, for they will soon come home. [9]I am concerned for you and will look on you with favor; you will be plowed and sown,[e] [10]and I will multiply the number of people upon you, even the whole house of Israel. The towns will be inhabited and the ruins[f] rebuilt.[g] [11]I will increase the number of men and animals upon you, and they will be fruitful[h] and become numerous. 36:5 my burning zeal. The Lord was personally offended by the ridicule of the nations because it was his special land they were mocking and plundering (see "my land" later in the verse). Edom. Singled out because of their long-standing hostility to Israel (see ch. 35, especially vv. 2,5 and notes).

36:8 branches and fruit. Signs of productivity (see 17:8,23) and the Lord's restored favor (see Lev 26:3–5); to be contrasted with Edom's desolation in 35:3,7,15. soon. As judgment neared (7:7; 12:23), a speedy return of the exiles was announced.

36:11 be fruitful and become numerous. Identical terminology to the divine blessing at creation (Ge 1:22,28; see Ge 8:17; 9:1,7) and the subsequent covenant blessing (see Ge 17:6; 35:11; 48:3–4; Ex 1:7). Then you will know that I am the LORD. These words of recognition, used throughout the book to express God's revelation through judgment, here point to God's self-disclosure in salvation (see note on 5:13; cf. 34:30).
36:12 walk upon you. The mountains of Israel are still being addressed. deprive them of their children. The mountains are poetically pictured as having contributed to the cause people, my people Israel, to walk upon you. They will possess you, and you will be their inheritance;[l] you will never again deprive them of their children.

13" 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because people say to you, "You devour men[m] and deprive your nation of its children," 14therefore you will no longer devour men or make your nation childless, declares the Sovereign LORD. 15No longer will I make you hear the taunts of the nations, and no longer will you suffer the scorn of the peoples or cause your nation to fall, declares the Sovereign LORD.[n]' "

16Again the word of the LORD came to me: 17"Son of man, when the people of Israel were living in their own land, they defiled it by their conduct and their actions. Their conduct was like a woman's monthly uncleanness[o] in my sight.[p] 18So I poured out[q] my wrath on them because they had shed blood in the land and because they had defiled it with their idols. 19I dispersed them among the nations, and they were scattered[r] through the countries; I judged them according to their conduct and their actions.[s] 20And wherever they went among the nations they profaned[t] my holy name, for it was said of them, 'These are the LORD's people, and yet they had to leave his land.'[u] 21I had concern for my holy name, which the house of Israel profaned among the nations where they had gone.[v]

22"Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: It is not for your sake, O house of Israel, that I am going to do these things, but for the sake of my holy name,[w] which you have profaned[x] among the nations where you have gone.[y] 23I will show the holiness of my great name,[z] which has been profaned[a] among the nations, the name you have profaned among them. Then the nations will know that I am the LORD,[b] declares the Sovereign LORD, when I show myself holy[c] through you before their eyes.[d]

24" 'For I will take you out of the nations; I will gather you from all the countries and bring you back into your own land.[e] 25I will sprinkle[f] clean water on you, and you will be clean; I will cleanse[g] you from all your impurities[h] and from all your idols.[i] 26I will give you a new heart[j] and put a new spirit in you; I will remove from you your heart of stone[k] and give you a heart of flesh.[l] 27And I will put my Spirit[m] in you and move you to follow my decrees[n] and be careful to keep my laws.[o] 28You will live in the land I gave your forefathers; you will be my people,[p] and I will be your God.[q] 29I will save you from all your uncleanness. I will call for the grain and make it plentiful and will not bring famine[r] upon you. 30I will increase the fruit of the trees and the crops of the field, so that you will no longer suffer disgrace among the depopulation brought by the exile. This may refer to the fact that Canaan contained the Canaanites and their religious centers ("high places"), which had led Israel astray and so brought God's wrath down on his people (see 6:3 and note).

36:16–38 Summarizes all that Ezekiel prophesied concerning Israel.

36:18 shed blood ... defiled it with their idols. A summary reference to Israel's social injustices and idolatrous religious practices (see 22:3 and note). idols. See note on 6:4.

36:20 they profaned my holy name. Because Israel had been removed from her land, it seemed to the nations that her God was unable to protect and preserve his people (cf. Nu 14:15–16; 2Ki 18:32–35; 19:10–12).

36:22 It is not for your sake. Not because God did not care for Israel, but because they did not deserve what he was about to do (cf. Dt 9:4–6). Statements like these make Ezekiel a preacher of pure grace. for the sake of my holy name. The reason given in ch. 20 for the withholding of divine punishment (see 20:9,14,22) is here given as a reason for divine restoration.

36:23 Then the nations will know that I am the LORD. The ultimate purpose of God's plans with Israel is that the whole world may know the true God.

36:24 I will take ... gather ... bring you back. The first of four stages of restoration in this central passage of Ezekiel: return of the exiles.

36:25 I will sprinkle clean water. For sprinkling with water as a ritual act of cleansing see Ex 30:19–20; Lev 14:51; Nu 19:18; cf. Zec 13:1; Heb 10:22. I will cleanse. See v. 33; 37:23; Jer 33:8. idols. See note on 6:4.

36:26–27 Contains "new covenant" terminology (see Jer 31:33–34).

36:26 new heart. See notes on 11:19; 18:31. put a new spirit in you. Transform your mind and heart. Here and in 11:19 God declared that he would bring about the change. In 18:31 (see note there) he called on his people to effect the change. What he requires of his people he always provides. heart of flesh. "Flesh" in the OT is often a symbol for weakness and frailty (Isa 31:3); in the NT it often stands for the sinful nature as a God-opposing force (as in Ro 8:5–8). Here it stands (in opposition to stone) for a pliable, teachable heart.

36:27 my Spirit. God bestows his Spirit to enable the human spirit to do his will. Verses 25–27 are closely paralleled in Ps 51:7–11.

36:28 my people ... your God. Covenant language (see 11:20 and note).

36:29 from all your uncleanness. From cultic and moral defilement (see v. 25; 37:23). I will call. As at the beginning when God called creation into being (cf. Ge 1:5,8,10).

36:30 disgrace. As in v. 15.

nations because of famine.[s] 31Then you will remember your evil ways and wicked deeds, and you will loathe yourselves for your sins and detestable practices.[t] 32I want you to know that I am not doing this for your sake, declares the Sovereign LORD. Be ashamed[u] and disgraced for your conduct, O house of Israel![v]

33" 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: On the day I cleanse[w] you from all your sins, I will resettle your towns, and the ruins[x] will be rebuilt.[y] 34The desolate land will be cultivated instead of lying desolate in the sight of all who pass through it. 35They will say, "This land that was laid waste has become like the garden of Eden;[z] the cities that were lying in ruins, desolate and destroyed, are now fortified and inhabited.[a]" 36Then the nations around you that remain will know that I the LORD have rebuilt what was destroyed and have replanted what was desolate. I the LORD have spoken, and I will do it.'[b]

37"This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Once again I will yield to the plea[c] of the house of Israel and do this for them: I will make their people as numerous as sheep,[d] 38as numerous as the flocks for offerings[e] at Jerusalem during her appointed feasts. So will the ruined cities be filled with flocks of people. Then they will know that I am the LORD.[f]"

The Valley of Dry Bones

37 The hand of the LORD was upon me,[g] and he brought me out by the Spirit[h] of the LORD and set me in the middle of a valley;[i] it was full of bones.[j] 2He led me back and forth among them, and I saw a great many bones on the floor of the valley, bones that were very dry. 3He asked me, "Son of man, can these bones live?"

I said, "O Sovereign LORD, you alone know.[k]"

4Then he said to me, "Prophesy to these bones and say to them, 'Dry bones, hear the word of the LORD![l] 5This is what the Sovereign LORD says to these bones: I will make breath[j] enter you, and you will come to life.[m] 6I will attach tendons to you and make flesh come upon you and cover you with skin; I will put breath in you, and you will come to life. Then you will know that I am the LORD.[n]' "

7So I prophesied as I was commanded. And as I was prophesying, there was a noise, a rattling sound, and the bones came together, bone to bone. 8I looked, and tendons and flesh appeared on them and skin covered them, but there was no breath in them.

9Then he said to me, "Prophesy to the breath;[o] prophesy, son of man, and say to it, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Come from the four winds,[p] O breath, and breathe into these slain, that they may live.' " 10So I prophesied as he commanded[q] me, and breath entered them; they came to life and stood up on their feet—a vast army.[r]

11Then he said to me: "Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. They say, 'Our bones are dried up and our hope is gone; we are cut off.'[s] 12Therefore prophesy and say to them: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: O my people, I am going to open your

36:31 Then you will remember. God's undeserved grace leads to recollection and repentance (cf. 6:9; 16:63; 20:43; Ps 130:4).
36:32 not . . . for your sake. See note on v. 22.
36:33 On the day. Connects the promise of cleansing (vv. 24–32) and the promise of repopulation (vv. 33–36).
36:35 garden of Eden. Primeval fertility is suggested (cf. 28:13; 31:9). fortified. In contrast to 38:11.
36:36 nations . . . will know. See note on v. 23.
37:37 yield to the plea. Allowing petitions to come to him again, God reversed his earlier refusals to hear (cf. 14:3; 20:3,31).
36:38 as numerous as the flocks for offerings. See 1Ki 8:63; 1Ch 29:21; 2Ch 35:7 for the appropriateness of the comparison.
37:1–28 One of Ezekiel's major visions. Surprisingly no date is given (as in 1:2; 8:1; 40:1), but the event must have occurred sometime after 586 B.C.
37:1 hand of the LORD. See note on 1:3. Spirit of the LORD. Used elsewhere in Ezekiel only in 11:5; usually simply "the Spirit," as in 8:3; 11:1,24. valley. The Hebrew for this word is the same as that translated "plain" in 3:22–23; 8:4. Ezekiel now received a message of hope, where he had previously heard God's word of judgment. bones. Verse 11 interprets them as symbolizing Israel's apparently hopeless condition in exile.
37:2 a great many bones. Symbolizing the whole community of exiles. very dry. Long dead, far beyond the reach of resuscitation (1Ki 17:17–24; 2Ki 4:18–37; but see 2Ki 13:21).
37:4 Prophesy to these bones. Ezekiel had previously prophesied to inanimate objects (mountains, 6:2; 36:1; forests, 20:47) and now prophesied to lifeless bones and the "breath" (v. 9).
37:6 tendons . . . flesh . . . skin . . . breath. Lists of four items are common in Ezekiel (see note on 1:5).
37:7 rattling sound. Probably the sound of the bones coming together, but possibly recalling the sound accompanying God's presence, as in 3:12–13 ("rumbling sound").
37:8 but there was no breath. This visionary re-creation of God's people recalls the two-step creation of man in Ge 2:7, where man was first formed from the dust and then received the breath of life.
37:9 breath. See NIV text note on v. 5. four. See note on 1:5. slain. What Ezekiel saw was a battlefield strewn with the bones of the fallen (see v. 10).
37:11 Our bones . . . cut off. A sense of utter despair, to which the vision offers hope.
37:12 graves. The imagery shifts from a scattering of bones on a battlefield (see note on v. 9) to a cemetery with sealed graves.

graves and bring you up from them; I will bring you back to the land of Israel.[t] 13Then you, my people, will know that I am the LORD,[u] when I open your graves and bring you up from them.[v] 14I will put my Spirit[w] in you and you will live, and I will settle[x] you in your own land. Then you will know that I the LORD have spoken, and I have done it, declares the LORD.[y]' "

One Nation Under One King

15The word of the LORD came to me: 16"Son of man, take a stick of wood and write on it, 'Belonging to Judah and the Israelites[z] associated with him.'[a] Then take another stick of wood, and write on it, 'Ephraim's stick, belonging to Joseph and all the house of Israel associated with him.' 17Join them together into one stick so that they will become one in your hand.[b]

18"When your countrymen ask you, 'Won't you tell us what you mean by this?'[c] 19say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am going to take the stick of Joseph—which is in Ephraim's hand—and of the Israelite tribes associated with him, and join it to Judah's stick, making them a single stick of wood, and they will become one in my hand.'[d] 20Hold before their eyes the sticks you have written on 21and say to them, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will take the Israelites out of the nations where they have gone. I will gather them from all around and bring them back into their own land.[e] 22I will make them one nation in the land, on the mountains of Israel.[f] There will be one king over all of them and they will never again be two nations or be divided into two kingdoms.[g] 23They will no longer defile[h] themselves with their idols and vile images or with any of their offenses, for I will save them from all their sinful backsliding,[ki] and I will cleanse them. They will be my people, and I will be their God.[j]

24" 'My servant David[k] will be king[l] over them, and they will all have one shepherd.[m] They will follow my laws and be careful to keep my decrees.[n] 25They will live in the land I gave to my servant Jacob, the land where your fathers lived.[o] They and their children and their children's children will live there forever,[p] and David my servant will be their prince forever.[q] 26I will make a covenant of peace[r] with them; it will be an everlasting covenant.[s] I will establish them and increase their numbers,[t] and I will put my sanctuary among them[u] forever.[v] 27My dwelling place[w] will be with them; I will be their God, and they will be my people.[x] 28Then the nations will know that I the LORD make Israel holy,[y] when my sanctuary is among them forever.[za]' "

[k] 23 Many Hebrew manuscripts (see also Septuagint); most Hebrew manuscripts all their dwelling places where they sinned

37:14 I will settle you in your own land. These words make it clear that the Lord is not speaking here of a resurrection from the dead but of the national restoration of Israel.

37:16 take a stick. Ezekiel's last symbolic act involving a material object (cf. 4:1,3,9; 5:1). write on it. Zec 11:7 seems to be based on this passage in Ezekiel.

37:17 Join them together. The sticks may have been miraculously joined, or Ezekiel may have joined the sticks together in his hand.

37:18 Won't you tell us . . . ? The symbolic act successfully aroused the people's curiosity (see 12:9; 21:7; 24:19).

37:19 they will become one in my hand. God would duplicate Ezekiel's symbolic act by uniting the two kingdoms separated since Solomon's death (see 1Ki 12). For similar prophecies of the reunion of Israel see 33:23,29; Jer 3:18; 23:5–6; Hos 1:11; Am 9:11.

37:22 mountains of Israel. See 6:2–3; 34:13; 36:1. one king. Only here and in v. 24 is the word "king" used of the future ruler. Usually "prince" is used (see note on 34:24), as in v. 25. See 7:27 and note; see also 44:3; 45:7–9 and frequently in chs. 45–48, where the ruler in the ideal age is always referred to as "prince."

37:23 idols. The old and basic offense (see note on 6:4). backsliding. Cf. Jer 2:19; 3:22. cleanse. Cf. 36:25 for the same notion. my people . . . their God. See note on 11:20.

37:24 My servant David. As in 34:23 (see note there) the coming Messianic ruler is called David because he would be a descendant of David and would achieve for Israel what David had—except more fully. king. See note on v. 22. shepherd. As in 34:23 the coming ruler is likened to a shepherd who cares for his flock (cf. Jn 10, especially v. 16).

37:25 my servant Jacob. See 28:25 and note.

38:1 This statement, repeated often for receiving God's word, stands as an introduction to chs. 38–39, which are a unit. The future restoration of Israel under the reign of the house of David (ch. 37) will bring about a massive coalition of world powers to destroy God's kingdom. But the vast host that comes against Jerusalem will end up as dead bodies strewn over the fields of the promised land. Israel will become the cemetery of the enemy hordes (cf. ch. 37).

against Gog,[b] of the land of Magog,[c] the chief prince of[l] Meshech and Tubal;[d] prophesy against him [3]and say: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against you, O Gog, chief prince of[m] Meshech and Tubal.[e] [4]I will turn you around, put hooks[f] in your jaws and bring you out with your whole army—your horses, your horsemen fully armed, and a great horde with large and small shields, all of them brandishing their swords.[g] [5]Persia, Cush[n][h] and Put[i] will be with them, all with shields and helmets, [6]also Gomer[j] with all its troops, and Beth Togarmah[k] from the far north[l] with all its troops—the many nations with you.

[7]" 'Get ready; be prepared,[m] you and all the hordes gathered about you, and take command of them. [8]After many days[n] you will be called to arms. In future years you will invade a land that has recovered from war, whose people were gathered from many nations[o] to the mountains of Israel, which had long been desolate. They had been brought out from the nations, and now all of them live in safety.[p] [9]You and all your troops and the many nations with you will go up, advancing like a storm;[q] you will be like a cloud[r] covering the land.[s]

[10]" 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: On that day thoughts will come into your mind[t] and you will devise an evil scheme.[u] [11]You will say, "I will invade a land of unwalled villages; I will attack a peaceful and unsuspecting people[v]—all of them living without walls and without gates and bars.[w] [12]I will plunder and loot and turn my hand against the resettled ruins and the people gathered from the nations, rich in livestock and goods, living at the center of the land." Have you gathered your hordes to loot, to carry off silver and gold, to take away livestock and goods and to seize much plunder?[a]" '

[14]"Therefore, son of man, prophesy and say to Gog: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: In that day, when my people Israel are living in safety,[b] will you not take notice of it? Rev 20:8

[l]2 Or the prince of Rosh, [m]3 Or Gog, prince of Rosh, [n]5 That is, the upper Nile region [o]13 Or her strong lions

38:2 Son of man. See note on 2:1. set your face. See note on 20:46. Gog. Apparently a leader or king whose name appears only here and in Rev 20:8. Several identifications have been attempted, notably Gyges, king of Lydia (c. 660 B.C.). Possibly the name is purposely vague, standing for a mysterious, as yet undisclosed, enemy of God's people. of the land of Magog. In Ge 10:2; 1Ch 1:5 Magog is one of the sons of Japheth, thus the name of a people. In Eze 39:6 it appears to refer to a people. But since the Hebrew prefix ma- can mean "place of," Magog may here simply mean "land of Gog." Israel had long experienced the hostility of the Hamites and other Semitic peoples; the future coalition here envisioned will include—and in fact be led by—peoples descended from Japheth (cf. Ge 10). chief prince. Military commander-in-chief. The NIV text note gives the possible translation "prince of Rosh," and if it is correct, Rosh is probably the name of an unknown people or place. Identification with Russia is unlikely, and in any case cannot be proven. Meshech and Tubal. These sons of Japheth (see Ge 10:2; 1Ch 1:5) are probably located in eastern Asia Minor (cf. 27:13; 32:26). They are peoples and territories to the north of Israel (cf. vv. 6,15; 39:2). As in the days of the Assyrians and Babylonians, the major attack will come from the north.

38:3 I am against you. See note on 5:8.

38:4 I will turn you around. Emphasis is on the fact that God is completely in control of all that is to follow. put hooks in your jaws. As with Pharaoh in 29:4, Gog is likened to a beast led around by God.

38:5 Cush. See NIV text note. The invading forces from the north (see v. 2 and note) are joined by armies from the south. Put. Libya (Africa).

38:6 Gomer. Another of Gog's northern allies (see note on v. 2), mentioned in Ge 10:3; 1Ch 1:6 as one of the sons of Japheth. According to non-Biblical sources, these peoples originated north of the Black Sea. Beth Togarmah. See note on 27:14. According to Ge 10:3 and 1Ch 1:6 Togarmah is one of the children of Gomer.

38:8 After many days ... In future years. After all the events of national restoration, the immigration and settlement in Israel as described in chs. 34–37 will be completed.

38:9 like a cloud. Jeremiah similarly describes the invasion from the north in Jer 4:13.

38:10 On that day. A phrase also common to other prophetic writings; here it refers to the day of Gog's invasion of Israel. thoughts will come into your mind. The divine initiative (v. 4) is paralleled, as it often is in Scripture, by human action (cf. Dt 31:3; Isa 10:6–7). evil scheme. A raiding expedition (see v. 12).

38:11 land of unwalled villages. Speaks of a blissfully peaceful, ideal future time when walls no longer will be needed. See Zec 2:4–5, which assumes, as does this passage, that the Lord alone is sufficient protection (cf. 36:35–36).

38:12 center of the land. The Hebrew for "center" also means "navel," a graphic image for the belief that Israel was the vital link between God and the world (the idea occurs also in 5:5). The word occurs elsewhere in the Bible only in Jdg 9:37. Since the Hebrew for "land" can also mean "earth," theologically Jerusalem is both the center of the land of Israel and the center of the earth.

38:13 Sheba. Southwest corner of the Arabian peninsula (modern Yemen), known for trading (Job 6:19; see 23:42; 27:22; 1Ki 10:1–2). Dedan. See note on 25:13. Tarshish. See note on 27:12.

self holy[g] through you before their eyes.[h]

17"'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Are you not the one I spoke of in former days by my servants the prophets of Israel? At that time they prophesied for years that I would bring you against them. 18This is what will happen in that day: When Gog attacks the land of Israel, my hot anger will be aroused, declares the Sovereign LORD. 19In my zeal and fiery wrath I declare that at that time there shall be a great earthquake[i] in the land of Israel.[j] 20The fish of the sea, the birds of the air, the beasts of the field, every creature that moves along the ground, and all the people on the face of the earth will tremble[k] at my presence. The mountains will be overturned,[l] the cliffs will crumble[m] and every wall will fall to the ground.[n] 21I will summon a sword[o] against Gog on all my mountains, declares the Sovereign LORD. Every man's sword will be against his brother.[p] 22I will execute judgment[q] upon him with plague and bloodshed;[r] I will pour down torrents of rain, hailstones[s] and burning sulfur[t] on him and on his troops and on the many nations with him.[u] 23And so I will show my greatness and my holiness, and I will make myself known in the sight of many nations. Then they will know that I am the LORD.[v]'

39 "Son of man, prophesy against Gog[w] and say: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against you, O Gog, chief prince of[p] Meshech[x] and Tubal.[y] 2I will turn you around and drag you along. I will bring you from the far north[z] and send you against the mountains of Israel.[a] 3Then I will strike your bow[b] from your left hand and make your arrows[c] drop from your right hand. 4On the mountains of Israel you will fall, you and all your troops and the nations with you. I will give you as food to all kinds of carrion birds[d] and to the wild animals.[e] 5You will fall in the open field, for I have spoken, declares the Sovereign LORD.[f] 6I will send fire[g] on Magog[h] and on those who live in safety in the coastlands,[i] and they will know[j] that I am the LORD.

7"'I will make known my holy name among my people Israel. I will no longer let my holy name be profaned,[k] and the nations will know[l] that I the LORD am the Holy One in Israel.[m] 8It is coming! It will surely take place, declares the Sovereign LORD. This is the day[n] I have spoken of.

9"'Then those who live in the towns of Israel will go out and use the weapons for fuel and burn them up—the small and large shields, the bows and arrows,[o] the war clubs and spears. For seven years they will use them for fuel.[p] 10They will not need to gather wood from the fields or cut it from the forests, because they will use the weapons for fuel. And they will plunder[q] those who plundered them and loot those who looted them, declares the Sovereign LORD.[r]

11"'On that day I will give Gog a burial place in Israel, in the valley of those who travel east toward[q] the Sea.[r] It will block the way of travelers, because Gog and all his hordes will be buried[s] there. So it will be called the Valley of Hamon Gog.[st]

[p] 1 Or Gog, prince of Rosh, [q] 11 Or of [r] 11 That is, the Dead Sea [s] 11 Hamon Gog means hordes of Gog.

38:17 Are you not the one I spoke of . . . ? Probably a general reference to earlier prophecies of divine judgment on the nations arrayed against God and his people.
38:19 earthquake. Signaling the mighty presence of God, who comes to overwhelm the great army invading his land.
38:20 The fourfold listing of the animal world indicates the totality of nature (see note on 1:5; cf. Ge 9:2; 1Ki 4:33; Job 12:7–8 for similar listings).
38:21 I will summon a sword. God's sword of judgment (Isa 34:5–6; Jer 25:29). Every man's sword will be against his brother. The coalition of Israel's enemies will turn on itself, as did the armies that attacked Judah in the time of Jehoshaphat (2Ch 20:22–23).
38:22 The list of divine weapons suggests that God will intervene directly without the benefit of an earthly army.
39:1 Gog, chief prince of Meshech. See note on 38:2. While vv. 1–16 add new details, the same basic events as those in ch. 38 are described.
39:2 from the far north. As in 38:6,15.
39:3 bow. Cf. Jer 6:23. The Lord will disarm Israel's enemies before they can shoot an arrow.
39:4 food to all kinds of carrion birds. A theme expanded in vv. 17–20.
39:6 I will send fire. See 30:8 and note.
39:9 burn them up. Cf. Ps 46:9, where God does the burning. seven. A symbolic number signifying the finality of this great battle against God's people, as well as indicating the size of the invading armies.
39:11 toward. The NIV text note reading "of" seems preferable, since the other three times this preposition occurs "east of" is meant (see Ge 2:14; 4:16; 1Sa 13:5).
39:12 seven. As in v. 9, the number seven symbolizes totality, completeness and finality, and it also reveals the large number of invaders. cleanse the land. Ritual purity is a basic element in Ezekiel's theology (see 22:26; 24:13; 36:25,33; 37:23). Corpses were especially unclean (see Lev 5:2; 21:1,11; 22:4; Nu 5:2; 6:6–12; 19:16; 31:19).
39:13 people of the land. See 7:27 and note, though here a special class may not be implied.

glorified[v] will be a memorable day for them, declares the Sovereign LORD.

14"'Men will be regularly employed to cleanse the land. Some will go throughout the land and, in addition to them, others will bury those that remain on the ground. At the end of the seven months they will begin their search. 15As they go through the land and one of them sees a human bone, he will set up a marker beside it until the gravediggers have buried it in the Valley of Hamon Gog. 16(Also a town called Hamonah[t] will be there.) And so they will cleanse the land.'

17"Son of man, this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Call out to every kind of bird[w] and all the wild animals: 'Assemble and come together from all around to the sacrifice I am preparing for you, the great sacrifice on the mountains of Israel. There you will eat flesh and drink blood.[x] 18You will eat the flesh of mighty men and drink the blood of the princes of the earth as if they were rams and lambs, goats and bulls—all of them fattened animals from Bashan.[y] 19At the sacrifice[z] I am preparing for you, you will eat fat till you are glutted and drink blood till you are drunk. 20At my table you will eat your fill of horses and riders, mighty men and soldiers of every kind,' declares the Sovereign LORD.[a]

21"I will display my glory among the nations, and all the nations will see the punishment I inflict and the hand I lay upon them.[b] 22From that day forward the house of Israel will know that I am the LORD their God. 23And the nations will know that the people of Israel went into exile for their sin, because they were unfaithful to me. So I hid my face from them and handed them over to their enemies, and they all fell by the sword.[c] 24I dealt with them according to their uncleanness and their offenses, and I hid my face from them.[d]

25"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will now bring Jacob back from captivity[u][e] and will have compassion[f] on all the people of Israel, and I will be zealous for my holy name.[g] 26They will forget their shame and all the unfaithfulness they showed toward me when they lived in safety[h] in their land with no one to make them afraid.[i] 27When I have brought them back from the nations and have gathered them from the countries of their enemies, I will show myself holy through them in the sight of many nations.[j] 28Then they will know that I am the LORD their God, for though I sent them into exile among the nations, I will gather them[k] to their own land, not leaving any behind.[l] 29I will no longer hide my face[m] from them, for I will pour out my Spirit[n] on the house of Israel, declares the Sovereign LORD.[o]"

The New Temple Area

40 In the twenty-fifth year of our exile, at the beginning of the year,

[t] 16 Hamonah means horde. [u] 25 Or now restore the fortunes of Jacob

39:14 Men will be regularly employed. After the seven-month burial period observed by all the people, special squads will be hired full time to ensure total cleansing of the land—by marking for burial any human bones that may have been missed. Total ritual purity is the aim.

39:15 marker. Probably of stone, either a large one or a heap of smaller ones.

39:17 Call out to every kind of bird ... to the sacrifice. Various interpretations are: 1. Since the enemies are all dead and buried, this section (vv. 17–20) is perhaps to be understood as poetic imagery. 2. However, if the passage reverts back to v. 4, a more literal interpretation is possible—the dead bodies were not all buried at once. 3. Verses 17–20 involve a restating of vv. 9–16, employing a different figure (see Isa 34:6; Jer 46:10; Zep 1:7). The metaphor of sacrifice suggests a consecration to the Lord in judgment, as with Jericho (see Jos 6:17 and NIV text note).

39:18 You will eat the flesh of mighty men. A gory description of what birds of prey commonly do (see previous note and Rev 19:17–21). as if they were. The bodies of the victims are compared to animals commonly used for sacrifices. Bashan. Rich pastureland east of the Sea of Galilee, known for its sleek cattle (Dt 32:14; Ps 22:12; Am 4:1) and its oak trees (27:6; Isa 2:13).

39:19 eat fat ... drink blood. Further indication that this is the Lord's sacrificial feast, in that fat and blood were normally reserved for God (see 44:15; Lev 3:17).

39:20 my table. Sacrificial altar. See 40:38–43 and 41:22 for description of the tables in the new temple.

39:21 my glory. God's visible presence in the world (see note on 1:28). Here that visibility is due to divine intervention in history.

39:22–23 the house of Israel will know ... And the nations will know. As God had made himself known to Israel and the nations through his saving acts in Israel's behalf (see Ex 6:7; 7:5,17; 10:2; 14:18; 16:6–7,12; Jos 3:10; 4:24; cf. Jos 2:9–11; 5:1), so now Israel and the nations will see him again at work as he judges his people for their sin (see v. 27).

39:23 I hid my face. Expression of divine displeasure (see Ps 30:7; Isa 54:8; 57:17).

39:24 their uncleanness and their offenses. Spelled out especially in ch. 22, but also throughout chs. 6–24.

39:25 Jacob. The nation of Israel, as in 20:5. The parallelism within the verse supports this identity. my holy name. See note on 20:9.

39:26 They will forget their shame. The remembrance of shame previously called for (6:9; 20:43; 36:31) is here erased.

39:27 I will show myself holy through them. God will reveal himself anew in a restored, holy people (cf. 20:41; 28:25; 36:23).

39:28 Then they will know. See note on v. 22.

39:29 I will pour out my Spirit. The gift of God's enabling Spirit (see 11:19; 36:26–27; 37:14).

40:1 twenty-fifth year ... beginning ... tenth. Apr. 28, 573 B.C. of our exile. All the dates in the book of Ezekiel (see chart on "Dates in Ezekiel," p. 1220) are reckoned from the 597 exile, but only here and in 33:21 is the exile specifically on the tenth of the month, in the fourteenth year after the fall of the city[p]—on that very day the hand of the LORD was upon me[q] and he took me there. 2In visions[r] of God he took me to the land of Israel and set me on a very high mountain,[s] on whose south side were some buildings that looked like a city. 3He took me there, and I saw a man whose appearance was like bronze;[t] he was standing in the gateway with a linen cord and a measuring rod[u] in his hand. 4The man said to me, "Son of man, look with your eyes and hear with your ears and pay attention to everything I am going to show you,[v] for that is why you have been brought here. Tell[w] the house of Israel everything you see.[x]"

The East Gate to the Outer Court

5I saw a wall completely surrounding the temple area. The length of the measuring rod in the man's hand was six long cubits, each of which was a cubit[y] and a handbreadth.[w] He measured[y] the wall; it was one measuring rod thick and one rod high.

6Then he went to the gate facing east.[z] He climbed its steps and measured the threshold of the gate; it was one rod deep.[x] 7The alcoves[a] for the guards were one rod long and one rod wide, and the projecting walls between the alcoves were five cubits thick. And the threshold of the gate next to the portico facing the temple was one rod deep.

8Then he measured the portico of the gateway; 9it[y] was eight cubits deep and its jambs were two cubits thick. The portico of the gateway faced the temple.

10Inside the east gate were three alcoves on each side; the three had the same measurements, and the faces of the projecting walls on each side had the same measurements. 11Then he measured the width of the entrance to the gateway; it was ten cubits and its length was thirteen cubits. 12In front of each alcove was a wall one cubit high, and the alcoves were six cubits square. 13Then he measured the gateway from the top of the rear wall of one alcove to the top of the opposite one; the distance was twenty-five cubits from one parapet opening to the opposite one. 14He measured along the faces of the projecting walls all around the inside of the gateway—sixty cubits. The measurement was up to the portico[z] facing the courtyard.[ab] 15The distance from the entrance of the gateway to the far end of its portico was fifty cubits. 16The alcoves and the projecting walls inside the gateway were surmounted by narrow parapet openings all around, as was the portico; the openings all around faced inward. The faces of the projecting walls were decorated with palm trees.[c]

The Outer Court

17Then he brought me into the outer court.[d] There I saw some rooms and a pavement that had been constructed all around the court; there were thirty rooms[e] along the pavement.[f] 18It abutted the sides of the gateways and was as mentioned (see 1:2). the beginning of the year. Hebrew Rosh Hashanah, the well-known Jewish New Year festival. It has long occurred in the fall (in either September or October), but since throughout the book Ezekiel uses a different and older religious calendar, the spring date as given above is correct (see note on Lev 23:24). hand of the LORD was upon me. See note on 1:3.

40:2 visions of God. Introduces all three of Ezekiel's major visions (see 1:1; 8:3). very high mountain. Mount Zion, also seen as extraordinarily high in other prophetic visions (17:22; Isa 2:2; Mic 4:1; Zec 14:10). Height here signifies importance, as the earthly seat of God's reign. on whose south side. With the city located on its southern slopes, the mountain is to the north (cf. Ps 48; see Ps 48:2 and note).

40:3 like bronze. Indicates the man was other than human. in the gateway. Presumably of the outer court (see vv. 17–19). linen cord. Used for longer measurements such as those in 47:3. measuring rod. Used for shorter measurements—about ten feet and four inches long.

40:5 wall completely surrounding the temple area. Separating the sacred from the secular. six long cubits. In using the long cubit (seven handbreadths, or about 21 inches), which was older than the shorter cubit (six handbreadths, or about 18 inches), Ezekiel was returning to more ancient standards for the new community (see 2Ch 3:3).

40:6 gate facing east. The gate of the outer court. The three gates (east, north, south) of the outer court were similar to the three in the inner court (v. 32), having six alcoves for the guards (three on each side) and a portico (vv. 8–9). Comparable gate plans have been discovered at Megiddo, Gezer and Hazor, all dating from the time of Solomon (see 1Ki 9:15). The guards kept out anyone who might profane the temple area (see Ezr 2:62). climbed its steps. The first of three sets of stairs leading to the temple. This one had seven steps (v. 22); the next one (inner court), eight (v. 31); the last (temple), ten (v. 49; see NIV text note)— possibly indicating increasing degrees of "holiness" (sacredness).

40:9 portico of the gateway faced the temple. The reverse position of the porticoes of the inner court gates, which faced away from the temple (v. 34).

40:10 three alcoves. The alcoves for the guards, mentioned in v. 7.

40:16 palm trees. As in Solomon's temple (see 1Ki 6:29,32,35).

40:17 thirty rooms. The exact location of these rooms is not given. They were probably intended for the people's use (see Jer 35:2,4).

Ezekiel uses a long or "royal" cubit, 20.4 inches or 51.81 cm ("cubit and a handbreadth," Eze 40:5) as opposed to the standard Hebrew cubit of 17.6 inches or 44.7 cm.

Scripture describes a floor plan, but provides few height dimensions. This artwork shows an upward projection of the temple over the floor plan. This temple existed only in a vision of Ezekiel (Eze 40:2), and has never actually been built as were the temples of Solomon, Zerubbabel and Herod.

wide as they were long; this was the lower pavement. 19Then he measured the distance from the inside of the lower gateway to the outside of the inner court;[g] it was a hundred cubits[h] on the east side as well as on the north.

The North Gate

20Then he measured the length and width of the gate facing north, leading into the outer court. 21Its alcoves[i]—three on each side—its projecting walls and its portico[j] had the same measurements as those of the first gateway. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. 22Its openings, its portico[k] and its palm tree decorations had the same measurements as those of the gate facing east. Seven steps led up to it, with its portico opposite them.[l] 23There was a gate to the inner court facing the north gate, just as there was on the east. He measured from one gate to the opposite one; it was a hundred cubits.[m]

The South Gate

24Then he led me to the south side and I saw a gate facing south. He measured its jambs and its portico, and they had the same measurements[n] as the others. 25The gateway and its portico had narrow openings all around, like the openings of the others. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.[o] 26Seven steps led up to it, with its portico opposite them; it had palm tree decorations on the faces of the projecting walls on each side.[p] 27The inner court[q] also had a gate facing south, and he measured from this gate to the outer gate on the south side; it was a hundred cubits.[r]

Gates to the Inner Court

28Then he brought me into the inner court through the south gate, and he measured the south gate; it had the same measurements[s] as the others. 29Its alcoves,[t] its projecting walls and its portico had the same measurements as the others. The gateway and its portico had openings all around. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.[u] 30(The porticoes[v] of the gateways around the inner court were twenty-five cubits wide and five cubits deep.) 31Its portico[w] faced the outer court; palm trees decorated its jambs, and eight steps led up to it.[x]

32Then he brought me to the inner court on the east side, and he measured the gateway; it had the same measurements[y] as the others. 33Its alcoves,[z] its projecting walls and its portico had the same measurements as the others. The gateway and its portico had openings all around. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. 34Its portico[a] faced the outer court; palm trees decorated the jambs on either side, and eight steps led up to it.

35Then he brought me to the north gate[b] and measured it. It had the same measurements[c] as the others, 36as did its alcoves,[d] its projecting walls and its portico, and it had openings all around. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. 37Its portico[be] faced the outer court; palm trees decorated the jambs on either side, and eight steps led up to it.[f]

The Rooms for Preparing Sacrifices

38A room with a doorway was by the portico in each of the inner gateways, where the burnt offerings[g] were washed. 39In the portico of the gateway were two tables on each side, on which the burnt offerings,[h] sin offerings[i] and guilt offerings[j] were slaughtered.[k] 40By the outside wall of the portico of the gateway, near the steps at the entrance to the north gateway were two tables, and on the other side of the steps were two tables. 41So there were four tables on one side of the gateway and four on the other—eight tables in all—on which the sacrifices were slaughtered. 42There were also four tables of dressed stone[l] for the burnt offerings, each a cubit and a half long, a cubit and a half wide and a cubit high. On them were placed the utensils for slaughtering the burnt offerings and the other sacrifices.[m] 43And double-pronged hooks, each a handbreadth long, were attached to the wall all around. The tables were for the flesh of the offerings.

40:19 hundred cubits. Over 170 feet separated the outer wall from the inner wall and was the width of the outer court.

40:20 gate facing north. Both it and the south gate (v. 24) were identical to the east gate.

40:22 Seven steps. See note on v. 6.

40:28 south gate. Of the inner wall, which is not described but must be assumed. it had the same measurements as the others. In both the outer walls (see note on v. 6).

40:34 eight steps. See note on v. 6.

40:38 portico in each of the inner gateways. The porticoes of the inner gateways were on the side of the outer court, facing away from the temple. washed. The inner parts and the legs were washed (Lev 1:9).

40:39 burnt offerings. Probably one of the oldest kinds of sacrifice. The entire animal was burned in consecration to God (see Lev 1). sin offerings and guilt offerings. Discussed in Lev 4–7. The fellowship offerings, which were more festive, are notable by their absence from this listing (see 43:27; 45:17; 46:2,12).

44Outside the inner gate, within the inner court, were two rooms, one[c] at the side of the north gate and facing south, and another at the side of the south[d] gate and facing north. 45He said to me, "The room facing south is for the priests who have charge of the temple,[n] 46and the room facing north[o] is for the priests who have charge of the altar.[p] These are the sons of Zadok,[q] who are the only Levites who may draw near to the LORD to minister before him.[r]"

47Then he measured the court: It was square—a hundred cubits long and a hundred cubits wide. And the altar was in front of the temple.[s]

The Temple

48He brought me to the portico of the temple[t] and measured the jambs of the portico; they were five cubits wide on either side. The width of the entrance was fourteen cubits and its projecting walls were[e] three cubits wide on either side. 49The portico[u] was twenty cubits wide, and twelve[f] cubits from front to back. It was reached by a flight of stairs,[g] and there were pillars[v] on each side of the jambs.

41 Then the man brought me to the outer sanctuary[w] and measured the jambs; the width of the jambs was six cubits[h] on each side.[i] 2The entrance was ten cubits wide, and the projecting walls on each side of it were five cubits wide. He also measured the outer sanctuary; it was forty cubits long and twenty cubits wide.[x]

3Then he went into the inner sanctuary and measured the jambs of the entrance; each was two cubits wide. The entrance was six cubits wide, and the projecting walls on each side of it were seven cubits wide. 4And he measured the length of the inner sanctuary; it was twenty cubits, and its width was twenty cubits across the end of the outer sanctuary.[y] He said to me, "This is the Most Holy Place.[z]"

5Then he measured the wall of the temple; it was six cubits thick, and each side room around the temple was four cubits wide. 6The side rooms were on three levels, one above another, thirty[a] on each level. There were ledges all around the wall of the temple to serve as supports for the side rooms, so that the supports were not inserted into the wall of the temple.[b] 7The side rooms all around the temple were wider at each successive level. The structure surrounding the temple was built in ascending stages, so that the rooms widened as one went upward. A stairway[c] went up from the lowest floor to the top floor through the middle floor.

8I saw that the temple had a raised base all around it, forming the foundation of the side rooms. It was the length of the rod, six long cubits. 9The outer wall of the side rooms was five cubits thick. The open area between the side rooms of the temple 10and the ⌞priests'⌟ rooms was twenty cubits wide all around the temple. 11There were entrances to the side rooms from the open area, one on the north and another on the south; and the base adjoining the open area was five cubits wide all around.

12The building facing the temple courtyard on the west side was seventy cubits wide. The wall of the building was five cubits thick all around, and its length was ninety cubits.

13Then he measured the temple; it was a hundred cubits long, and the temple courtyard and the building with its walls were also a hundred cubits long. 14The width of the temple courtyard on the east, including the front of the temple, was a hundred cubits.[d]

15Then he measured the length of the building facing the courtyard at the rear of the temple, including its galleries[e] on each side; it was a hundred cubits.

40:47 altar. Described in 43:13–17.

40:48 portico. Similar to the portico in Solomon's temple but slightly larger (see 1Ki 6:3).

40:49 pillars. Called Jakin and Boaz in Solomon's temple (see 1Ki 7:21).

41:1 outer sanctuary. Or nave, the largest of the three rooms comprising the temple (see 1Ki 6:3–5, where it is called the main hall). This outer sanctuary was identical in size to Solomon's (see 1Ki 6:17).

41:3 he went into the inner sanctuary. Only the angel, not Ezekiel, entered the Most Holy Place. Lev 16 forbids any but the high priest to enter it, and then only once a year (see Heb 9:7). six cubits wide. Note the progressive narrowness of the door openings as one approaches the inner sanctuary (40:48, 14 cubits; 41:2, 10 cubits).

41:6 thirty on each level. These 90 side rooms were probably storerooms for the priests, possibly for the tithes (see Mal 3:10).

41:13 hundred. The 100-cubit symmetry stood for perfection.

windows[f] and galleries around the three of them—everything beyond and including the threshold was covered with wood. The floor, the wall up to the windows, and the windows were covered.[g] 17In the space above the outside of the entrance to the inner sanctuary and on the walls at regular intervals all around the inner and outer sanctuary 18were carved[h] cherubim[i] and palm trees.[j] Palm trees alternated with cherubim. Each cherub had two faces:[k] 19the face of a man toward the palm tree on one side and the face of a lion toward the palm tree on the other. They were carved all around the whole temple.[l] 20From the floor to the area above the entrance, cherubim and palm trees were carved on the wall of the outer sanctuary.

21The outer sanctuary[m] had a rectangular doorframe, and the one at the front of the Most Holy Place was similar. 22There was a wooden altar[n] three cubits high and two cubits square[j]; its corners, its base[k] and its sides were of wood. The man said to me, "This is the table[o] that is before the LORD." 23Both the outer sanctuary[p] and the Most Holy Place had double doors.[q] 24Each door had two leaves—two hinged leaves[r] for each door. 25And on the doors of the outer sanctuary were carved cherubim and palm trees like those carved on the walls, and there was a wooden overhang on the front of the portico. 26On the sidewalls of the portico were narrow windows with palm trees carved on each side. The side rooms of the temple also had overhangs.[s]

Rooms for the Priests

42 Then the man led me northward into the outer court and brought me to the rooms[t] opposite the temple courtyard[u] and opposite the outer wall on the north side.[v] 2The building whose door faced north was a hundred cubits[l] long and fifty cubits wide. 3Both in the section twenty cubits from the inner court and in the section opposite the pavement of the outer court, gallery[w] faced gallery at the three levels.[x] 4In front of the rooms was an inner passageway ten cubits wide and a hundred cubits[m] long. Their doors were on the north.[y] 5Now the upper rooms were narrower, for the galleries took more space from them than from the rooms on the lower and middle floors of the building. 6The rooms on the third floor had no pillars, as the courts had; so they were smaller in floor space than those on the lower and middle floors. 7There was an outer wall parallel to the rooms and the outer court; it extended in front of the rooms for fifty cubits. 8While the row of rooms on the side next to the outer court was fifty cubits long, the row on the side nearest the sanctuary was a hundred cubits long. 9The lower rooms had an entrance[z] on the east side as one enters them from the outer court.

10On the south side[n] along the length of the wall of the outer court, adjoining the temple courtyard[a] and opposite the outer wall, were rooms[b] 11with a passageway in front of them. These were like the rooms on the north; they had the same length and width, with similar exits and dimensions. Similar to the doorways on the north 12were the doorways of the rooms on the south. There was a doorway at the beginning of the passageway that was parallel to the corresponding wall extending eastward, by which one enters the rooms.

13Then he said to me, "The north[c] and south rooms[d] facing the temple courtyard[e] are the priests' rooms, where the priests who approach the LORD will eat the most holy offerings. There they will put the most holy offerings—the grain offerings,[f] the sin offerings[g] and the guilt offerings[h]—for the place is holy.[i] 14Once the priests enter the holy precincts, they are not to go into the outer court until they leave behind the garments[j] in which they minister, for these are holy. They are to put on other clothes before they go near the places that are for the people.[k]"

15When he had finished measuring what was inside the temple area, he led me out by the east gate[l] and measured

41:18 cherubim. Who served as guards (cf. Ge 3:24). These, as opposed to those mentioned in ch. 10, have only two faces—a man's and a lion's (see 1Ki 6:29,32,35).

41:22 wooden altar. As the great altar stood outside the temple proper (43:13–17), so a smaller altar (3'5" square by 5' high) stood outside the Most Holy Place. It served as a table, no doubt to hold the bread of the Presence (Ex 25:30; Lev 24:5–9; see 1Ki 7:48 and note). Ezekiel makes no mention of an altar of incense or of lampstands, such as were found in Solomon's temple and in the tabernacle before it. Also not included are the "Sea" (1Ki 7:23) and the ark of the covenant.

41:23 double doors. Folding doors, so that the entry could be made still narrower.

42:1 rooms opposite the temple courtyard. Their function is described in vv. 13–14. They have no parallel in Solomon's temple as described in 1Ki 6.

42:13 priests who approach the LORD. The sons of Zadok (see 40:6 and note on 44:15). eat the most holy offerings. The priests normally received partial maintenance by being allowed to eat certain sacrifices (see Lev 2:3; 5:13; 6:16,26,29; 7:6,10).

[18]He measured the south side; it was five hundred cubits by the measuring rod. [19]Then he turned to the west side and measured; it was five hundred cubits by the measuring rod. [20]So he measured[m] the area[n] on all four sides. It had a wall around it,[o] five hundred cubits long and five hundred cubits wide,[p] to separate the holy from the common.[q]

The Glory Returns to the Temple

43 Then the man brought me to the gate facing east,[r] [2]and I saw the glory of the God of Israel coming from the east. His voice was like the roar of rushing waters,[s] and the land was radiant with his glory.[t] [3]The vision I saw was like the vision I had seen when he[q] came to destroy the city and like the visions I had seen by the Kebar River, and I fell facedown. [4]The glory[u] of the LORD entered the temple through the gate facing east.[v] [5]Then the Spirit[w] lifted me up[x] and brought me into the inner court, and the glory[y] of the LORD filled the temple.[z]

[6]While the man was standing beside me, I heard someone speaking to me from inside the temple. [7]He said: "Son of man, this is the place of my throne[a] and the place for the soles of my feet. This is where I will live among the Israelites forever. The house of Israel will never again defile[b] my holy name—neither they nor their kings—by their prostitution[r] and the lifeless idols[s] of their kings at their high places.[c] [8]When they placed their threshold next to my threshold and their doorposts beside my doorposts, with only a wall between me and them, they defiled my holy name by their detestable practices. So I destroyed them in my anger. [9]Now let them put away from me their prostitution and the lifeless idols of their kings, and I will live among them forever.[d]

[10]"Son of man, describe the temple to the people of Israel, that they may be ashamed[e] of their sins. Let them consider the plan, [11]and if they are ashamed of all they have done, make known to them the design of the temple—its arrangement, its exits and entrances—its whole design and all its regulations[t] and laws. Write these down before them so that they may be faithful to its design and follow all its regulations.[f]

[12]"This is the law of the temple: All the surrounding area[g] on top of the mountain will be most holy.[h] Such is the law of the temple.

42:20 five hundred cubits long and five hundred cubits wide. Perfect symmetry in the ideal temple's total area.

43:2 I saw the glory. The high point of chs. 40–48. The temple had been prepared for this moment, and all that follows flows from this appearance. coming from the east. The direction Ezekiel had seen God leave (see 11:23). In the book of Ezekiel God's glory is always active (see vv. 4–5; 3:23; 9:3; 10:4,18; 44:4). like the roar of rushing waters. Ezekiel experienced an audition as well as a vision. For the comparison see 1:24; Rev 1:15; 14:2; 19:6. the land was radiant with his glory. God's visible glory is always described as being very bright (see 10:4; Lk 2:9; Rev 21:11,23).

43:3 like the vision I had seen. And yet it was different, for no creatures or wheels are mentioned here. when he came to destroy the city. See ch. 9. by the Kebar River. See ch. 1. I fell facedown. See 1:28; 3:23; 9:8; 11:13; 44:4.

43:4 through the gate facing east. See note on v. 2.

43:5 Then the Spirit lifted me up. With God being nearer, the function of the guiding angel was taken over by the Spirit of God. Ezekiel was transported into the inner court but not into the temple (cf. 3:14; 8:3; 11:1,24). filled the temple. As at the consecration of Solomon's temple (1Ki 8:11; see Ex 40:34–35; Isa 6:4).

43:6 someone. God, but out of reverence not named here, preserving an air of awe and mystery.

43:7 place of my throne. See Isa 6:1; Jer 3:17. place for the soles of my feet. See 1Ch 28:2; Ps 99:5; 132:7; Isa 60:13; La 2:1. I will live among the Israelites forever. Renewing the promise of 37:26–28 (see v. 9; 1Ki 6:13; Zec 2:11). prostitution. As the NIV text note indicates, the word can stand either for the sacred prostitution in the Canaanite religion (Baalism) or for spiritual apostasy from true worship of the Lord (see note on 16:15). lifeless idols. As the NIV text note indicates, the reference is either to idols or to monuments or graves of past kings. Fourteen kings of Judah were buried in Jerusalem, possibly near (too near for Ezekiel) the temple area (see 2Ki 21:18,26; 23:30).

43:8 their threshold next to my threshold. Solomon's temple was surrounded by many of his own private structures (see 1Ki 7:1–12). The distinction between God's holy temple and the rest of the world is a central idea in the book of Ezekiel (see v. 12; 44:23). So I destroyed them. As elsewhere in Ezekiel, the unstable practices of the people and their kings brought about their destruction (see 5:11; 18:10–12; and especially 22:1–15).

43:12 This is the law. Refers to the contents of chs. 40–42.

43:13 altar. Alluded to in 40:47 and here described in detail. Although the material is not mentioned, dressed stones were probably to be used. Ex 20:24–26 allowed an altar to be made of earth, but use of dressed stones for those altars was strictly forbidden (see notes on Ex 20:24–25). Solomon's altar was bronze (1Ki 8:64). Ezekiel's altar, much larger than Solomon's, was over 20 feet tall, made up of three slabs of decreasing size, like a pyramid or Babylonian ziggurat: the "lower ledge" (v. 14), two cubits high; the "larger ledge" (v. 14), four cubits high;

cubit[u] and a handbreadth[v]: Its gutter is a cubit deep and a cubit wide, with a rim of one span[w] around the edge. And this is the height of the altar: 14From the gutter on the ground up to the lower ledge it is two cubits high and a cubit wide, and from the smaller ledge up to the larger ledge it is four cubits high and a cubit wide. 15The altar hearth[j] is four cubits high, and four horns[k] project upward from the hearth. 16The altar hearth is square, twelve cubits long and twelve cubits wide.[l] 17The upper ledge[m] also is square, fourteen cubits long and fourteen cubits wide, with a rim of half a cubit and a gutter of a cubit all around. The steps[n] of the altar face east.[o]"

18Then he said to me, "Son of man, this is what the Sovereign LORD says: These will be the regulations for sacrificing burnt offerings[p] and sprinkling blood[q] upon the altar when it is built: 19You are to give a young bull[r] as a sin offering to the priests, who are Levites, of the family of Zadok,[s] who come near[t] to minister before me, declares the Sovereign LORD. 20You are to take some of its blood and put it on the four horns of the altar[u] and on the four corners of the upper ledge[v] and all around the rim, and so purify the altar[w] and make atonement for it. 21You are to take the bull for the sin offering and burn it in the designated part of the temple area outside the sanctuary.[x]

22"On the second day you are to offer a male goat without defect for a sin offering, and the altar is to be purified as it was purified with the bull. 23When you have finished purifying it, you are to offer a young bull and a ram from the flock, both without defect.[y] 24You are to offer them before the LORD, and the priests are to sprinkle salt[z] on them and sacrifice them as a burnt offering to the LORD.

The Prince, the Levites, the Priests

44 Then the man brought me back to the outer gate of the sanctuary, the one facing east,[f] and it was shut. 2The LORD said to me, "This gate is to remain shut. It must not be opened; no one may enter through it.[g] It is to remain shut because the LORD, the God of Israel, has entered through it. 3The prince himself is the only one who may sit inside the gateway to eat in the presence[h] of the LORD. He is to enter by way of the portico of the gateway and go out the same way.[i]"

4Then the man brought me by way of the north gate[j] to the front of the temple. I looked and saw the glory of the LORD filling the temple[k] of the LORD, and I fell facedown.[l]

5The LORD said to me, "Son of man, look carefully, listen closely and give attention to everything I tell you concerning all the regulations regarding the temple of the LORD. Give attention to the entrance[m] of the temple and all the exits of the sanctuary.[n] 6Say to the rebellious house[o] of Israel, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Enough of your detestand the "altar hearth" (v. 15), four cubits high.

43:15 altar hearth. The Hebrew for this term appears only here in the OT and may also mean "mountain of God" or "lion of God"; it is a variant of a form that appears in Isa 29:1–2. four horns. Stone projections from each of the four corners of the altar hearth. On earlier altars they afforded a refuge of last resort for an accused person (see Ex 21:12–14; 1Ki 1:50–51; 2:28–29).

43:17 steps of the altar. Forbidden in Ex 20:26 but here required because of the size (see note on v. 13).

43:18 burnt offerings. See note on 40:39. sprinkling blood. See Ex 29:16; Lev 4:6; 5:9.

43:19 sin offering. To cleanse the altar from the pollution of human sin (see note on 40:39). of the family of Zadok. See note on 44:15.

43:21 outside the sanctuary. As prescribed in Ex 29:14; Lev 4:12,21; 8:17; 9:11; 16:27. This action foreshadows one aspect of Christ's sacrifice (see Heb 13:11–13).

43:22 purified. By the sprinkling of the blood (see v. 20).

43:27 fellowship offerings. After the seven-day consecration by burnt offerings and sin offerings, the altar was ready for the celebration of the more festive fellowship offerings where the people partook of some of the meat (see Lev 3).

44:2 It is to remain shut because. The reason given here is that God entered through the east gate (43:1–2), thus making it holy. Related reasons may be that God would never again leave as before (10:19; 11:23) and that sun worship would be made impossible (see 8:16). Today the east gate (called the Golden Gate) of the sacred Moslem area (Haram esh-Sharif) in Jerusalem is likewise sealed shut as a result of a later but possibly related tradition.

able practices, O house of Israel! 7In addition to all your other detestable practices, you brought foreigners uncircumcised in heart[p] and flesh into my sanctuary, desecrating my temple while you offered me food, fat and blood, and you broke my covenant.[q] 8Instead of carrying out your duty in regard to my holy things, you put others in charge of my sanctuary.[r] 9This is what the Sovereign LORD says: No foreigner uncircumcised in heart and flesh is to enter my sanctuary, not even the foreigners who live among the Israelites.[s]

10" 'The Levites who went far from me when Israel went astray[t] and who wandered from me after their idols must bear the consequences of their sin.[u] 11They may serve in my sanctuary, having charge of the gates of the temple and serving in it; they may slaughter the burnt offerings[v] and sacrifices for the people and stand before the people and serve them.[w] 12But because they served them in the presence of their idols and made the house of Israel fall[x] into sin, therefore I have sworn with uplifted hand[y] that they must bear the consequences of their sin, declares the Sovereign LORD.[z] 13They are not to come near to serve me as priests or come near any of my holy things or my most holy offerings; they must bear the shame[a] of their detestable practices.[b] 14Yet I will put them in charge of the duties of the temple and all the work that is to be done in it.[c]

15" 'But the priests, who are Levites and descendants of Zadok[d] and who faithfully carried out the duties of my sanctuary when the Israelites went astray from me, are to come near to minister before me; they are to stand before me to offer sacrifices of fat[e] and blood, declares the Sovereign LORD.[f] 16They alone are to enter my sanctuary; they alone are to come near my table[g] to minister before me and perform my service.[h]

17" 'When they enter the gates of the inner court, they are to wear linen clothes;[i] they must not wear any woolen garment while ministering at the gates of the inner court or inside the temple. 18They are to wear linen turbans[j] on their heads and linen undergarments[k] around their waists. They must not wear anything that makes them perspire.[l] 19When they go out into the outer court where the people are, they are to take off the clothes they have been ministering in and are to leave them in the sacred rooms, and put on other clothes, so that they do not consecrate[m] the people by means of their garments.[n]

20" 'They must not shave[o] their heads or let their hair grow long, but they are to keep the hair of their heads trimmed.[p] 21No priest is to drink wine when he enters the inner court.[q] 22They must not marry widows or divorced women; they may marry only virgins of Israelite descent or widows of priests.[r] 23They are to teach my people the difference between the holy and the common[s] and show them how to distinguish between the unclean and the clean.[t]

24" 'In any dispute, the priests are to serve as judges[u] and decide it according

44:7 uncircumcised in heart. Spiritually unfit.

44:9 No foreigner uncircumcised . . . is to enter my sanctuary. Nehemiah enforced this restriction when he dismissed Tobiah (Ne 13:8), an Ammonite (Ne 2:10; see Dt 23:3). Foreigners could, however, be a part of Israel (see 47:22).

44:10 Levites. Members of the tribe of Levi served as priests from the earliest days (see Dt 33:8–11; Jdg 17:13). when Israel went astray. The reference is mainly to the period of the monarchy, especially to the last years, during which Ezekiel so often criticized the people's idolatry (see 6:3–6; 14:3–11; 16:18–21; 23:36–49; 36:17–18; 37:23).

44:11 stand before the people. Cf. standing before the Lord (see v. 15); the Levites still had an honorable position.

44:15 Zadok. Traced his Levitical lineage to Aaron through Aaron's son Eleazar (1Ch 6:50–53). He served as priest under David, along with Abiathar (see 2Sa 8:17 and note; 15:24–29; 20:25). He supported Solomon (as opposed to Abiathar, who pledged himself to Adonijah) and thus secured for himself and his descendants the privilege of serving in the Jerusalem temple (see 1Ki 1). Later the Zadokites were removed from office, but the Qumran (Dead Sea Scrolls) community remained loyal to them. who faithfully carried out. A distinction Ezekiel did not make in his oracles of judgment (see 7:26; 22:26 and the thrust of all of ch. 8). In chs. 40–48, however, the Zadokites received special consideration because of their faithfulness.

44:16 They alone are to enter. This elevation of the Zadokites and demotion of the Levites were part of the concern for ritual purity, a major theme of chs. 40–48. Only the fittest were to serve. my table. Either the table that held the bread (see 41:22 and note) or the large altar on which the Lord's food was presented (v. 7).

44:17 linen. Cooler than wool (see v. 18).

44:18 turbans. Ezekiel wore one (24:17).

44:19 take off the clothes. In the interest of ritual purity.

44:20 must not shave their heads. Because it was a mourning ritual (7:18) that rendered the mourner unclean (see Lev 21:1–5). or let their hair grow long. Because it implied the taking of a vow that might prevent the priest from serving (see Nu 6:5; Ac 21:23–26).

44:23 difference between the holy and the common. One of Ezekiel's central concerns. The important task of declaring God's will on matters of clean and unclean food, the fitness of sacrificial animals and ritual purity either had been done for pay (see Mic 3:11) or had been neglected altogether (see Jer 2:8; Eze 22:26). See Hag 2:10–13 for a positive example.

44:24 priests are to serve as judges. One of their functions from earliest days (see NIV text note on 1Sa 4:18; see also 2Ch 19:8–11).

to my ordinances. They are to keep my laws and my decrees for all my appointed feasts,[v] and they are to keep my Sabbaths holy.[w]

25" 'A priest must not defile himself by going near a dead person; however, if the dead person was his father or mother, son or daughter, brother or unmarried sister, then he may defile himself.[x] 26After he is cleansed, he must wait seven days.[y] 27On the day he goes into the inner court of the sanctuary[z] to minister in the sanctuary, he is to offer a sin offering[a] for himself, declares the Sovereign LORD.

28" 'I am to be the only inheritance[b] the priests have. You are to give them no possession in Israel; I will be their possession. 29They will eat[c] the grain offerings, the sin offerings and the guilt offerings; and everything in Israel devoted[y] to the LORD[d] will belong to them.[e] 30The best of all the firstfruits[f] and of all your special gifts will belong to the priests. You are to give them the first portion of your ground meal[g] so that a blessing[h] may rest on your household.[i] 31The priests must not eat anything, bird or animal, found dead[j] or torn by wild animals.[k]

Division of the Land

45 " 'When you allot the land as an inheritance,[l] you are to present to the LORD a portion of the land as a sacred district, 25,000 cubits long and 20,000[z] cubits wide; the entire area will be holy.[m] 2Of this, a section 500 cubits square[n] is to be for the sanctuary, with 50 cubits around it for open land. 3In the sacred district, measure off a section 25,000 cubits[a] long and 10,000 cubits[b] wide. In it will be the sanctuary, the Most Holy Place. 4It will be the sacred portion of the land for the priests,[o] who minister in the sanctuary and who draw near to minister before the LORD. It will be a place for their houses as well as a holy place for the sanctuary.[p] 5An area 25,000 cubits long and 10,000 cubits wide will belong to the Levites, who serve in the temple, as their possession for towns to live in.[cq]

6" 'You are to give the city as its property an area 5,000 cubits wide and 25,000 cubits long, adjoining the sacred portion; it will belong to the whole house of Israel.[r]

7" 'The prince will have the land bordering each side of the area formed by the sacred district and the property of the city. It will extend westward from the west side and eastward from the east side, running lengthwise from the western to the eastern border parallel to one of the tribal portions.[s] 8This land will be his possession in Israel. And my princes will no longer oppress my people but will allow the house of Israel to possess the land according to their tribes.[t]

9" 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: You have gone far enough, O princes of Israel! Give up your violence and oppression[u] and do what is just and right.[v] Stop dispossessing my people, declares the Sovereign LORD. 10You are to use accurate scales,[w] an accurate ephah[dx] and an accurate bath.[e] 11The ephah[y] and the bath are to be the same size, the bath containing a tenth of [e] 10 A bath was a liquid measure.

44:25 dead person. Contact with the dead made a person ceremonially unclean (Lev 21:1–3; Hag 2:13).

44:28 no possession. The statement that priests were not to own land agrees with Nu 18:20,23–24; Dt 10:9; Jos 13:14,33; 18:7.

44:31 found dead. This restriction applied to all Israel according to Lev 7:24.

45:1 When you allot the land. Envisioned a new acquisition and redistribution of the land. present to the LORD. The entire square area in the center of the land was to be set aside for the Lord. 20,000 cubits. With the 5,000-cubit city area (v. 6) it was a perfect square. entire area will be holy. Set apart for the Lord and owned by no tribe.

45:2 section 500 cubits square. The temple area discussed in 42:16–20. open land. An unoccupied strip of land that served as a buffer between the more holy and the less holy, though the whole area was holy (see 42:20).

45:3 measure off a section. The middle strip of the holy square was specifically for the temple.

45:4 land for the priests. Not to own (see 44:28) but to live on.

45:5 area . . . to the Levites. A section of equal size just to the north was for the Levites to dwell on, even though it was in the holy area. The Levites, as opposed to the Zadokite priests, could hold land as a possession.

45:6 city. The former Jerusalem contained the temple area. The new holy city would not, but would be adjacent to the temple. 5,000 cubits wide. The southernmost section of the city completed the perfectly square area. it will belong to the whole house of Israel. Not to any one tribe or person as in former days.

45:7 The prince will have the land. A considerable portion of territory. In view of the next verse (cf. 46:18) the generous allotment should have kept the prince from greed like that of Ahab (see 1Ki 21). The prince was also responsible for sizable offerings (v. 17).

45:9 O princes of Israel! The language of this verse is reminiscent of the preaching Ezekiel did before 586 B.C. (see 22:6).

45:10 You are to use accurate scales. Israel was not to repeat the economic injustices of the past. The OT often warns against cheating in weights and measures (see Lev 19:35–36; Dt 25:13–16; Mic 6:10–12).

45:11 same size. A little more than half a bushel. homer. About six bushels.

a homer[f] and the ephah a tenth of a homer; the homer is to be the standard measure for both. 12The shekel[g] is to consist of twenty gerahs.[z] Twenty shekels plus twenty-five shekels plus fifteen shekels equal one mina.[h]

Offerings and Holy Days

13" 'This is the special gift you are to offer: a sixth of an ephah from each homer of wheat and a sixth of an ephah from each homer of barley. 14The prescribed portion of oil, measured by the bath, is a tenth of a bath from each cor (which consists of ten baths or one homer, for ten baths are equivalent to a homer). 15Also one sheep is to be taken from every flock of two hundred from the well-watered pastures of Israel. These will be used for the grain offerings, burnt offerings[a] and fellowship offerings[i] to make atonement[b] for the people, declares the Sovereign LORD. 16All the people of the land will participate in this special gift for the use of the prince in Israel. 17It will be the duty of the prince to provide the burnt offerings, grain offerings and drink offerings at the festivals, the New Moons[c] and the Sabbaths[d]—at all the appointed feasts of the house of Israel. He will provide the sin offerings, grain offerings, burnt offerings and fellowship offerings to make atonement for the house of Israel.[e]

18" 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: In the first month[f] on the first day you are to take a young bull without defect[g] and purify the sanctuary.[h] 19The priest is to take some of the blood of the sin offering and put it on the doorposts of the temple, on the four corners of the upper ledge[i] of the altar[j] and on the gateposts of the inner court. 20You are to do the same on the seventh day of the month for anyone who sins unintentionally[k] or through ignorance; so you are to make atonement for the temple.

21" 'In the first month on the fourteenth day you are to observe the Passover,[l] a feast lasting seven days, during which you shall eat bread made without yeast. 22On that day the prince is to provide a bull as a sin offering for himself and for all the people of the land.[m] 23Every day during the seven days of the Feast he is to provide seven bulls and seven rams[n] without defect as a burnt offering to the LORD, and a male goat for a sin offering.[o] 24He is to provide as a grain offering[p] an ephah for each bull and an ephah for each ram, along with a hin[j] of oil for each ephah.[q]

25" 'During the seven days of the Feast,[r] which begins in the seventh month on the fifteenth day, he is to make the same provision for sin offerings, burnt offerings, grain offerings and oil.[s]

46 " 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: The gate of the inner court[t] facing east[u] is to be shut on the six working days, but on the Sabbath day and on the day of the New Moon[v] it is to be opened. 2The prince is to enter from the outside through the portico[w] of the gateway and stand by the gatepost. The priests are to sacrifice his burnt offering[x] and his fellowship offerings.[k] He is to worship at the threshold of the gateway and then go out, but the gate will not be shut until evening.[y] 3On the Sabbaths[z] and New Moons the people of the land are to worship in the presence of the LORD at the entrance to that gateway.[a] 4The burnt offering the prince brings to the LORD on the Sabbath day is to be six male lambs and a ram, all without defect. 5The grain offering given with the ram is to be an ephah,[l] and the grain offering with the lambs is to be as much as he pleases, along with a hin[j] of

45:13 special gift. Given to the prince as distinct from the gifts given to the priests (44:30). The prince is to use these gifts in part for the offerings to the Lord (see v. 16).

45:17 drink offerings. Usually wine is meant (see Nu 15:5; Hos 9:4); but wine is not mentioned here, though oil is (vv. 14,24).

45:18–46:24 This entire section involves so many variations from Pentateuchal law that the rabbis spent a great deal of effort trying to reconcile them. For example, the provision in 45:18 for an annual purification of the temple does not seem to take into consideration the Day of Atonement ritual of Lev 16.

45:19 priest. High priest.

45:22 sin offering. See note on 40:39.

45:25 the Feast, which begins in the seventh month. In some respects the most important of the festivals—called the Feast of Ingathering (Ex 23:16; 34:22) and the Feast of Tabernacles (Dt 16:16).

46:1 gate of the inner court. While the east gate of the outer court was permanently closed (44:2), the east gate of the inner court could be opened on festival days.

46:2 through the portico of the gateway. The portico of the gate of the inner court faced the outer court. stand by the gatepost. Which had been ritually cleansed (45:19). From there the prince could observe the sacrifices being performed on the great altar in the inner court, but he was not allowed into the inner court itself.

46:3 at the entrance to that gateway. But in the outer court.

46:4 six male lambs and a ram. Another example of a difference from Pentateuchal laws (see note on 45:18–46:24). Nu 28:9 calls for two lambs and no ram on the Sabbath.

46:5 ephah. Contrast Nu 28:9.

oil for each ephah.[b] 6On the day of the New Moon[c] he is to offer a young bull, six lambs and a ram, all without defect.[d] 7He is to provide as a grain offering one ephah with the bull, one ephah with the ram, and with the lambs as much as he wants to give, along with a hin of oil with each ephah.[e] 8When the prince enters, he is to go in through the portico[f] of the gateway, and he is to come out the same way.[g]

9" 'When the people of the land come before the LORD at the appointed feasts,[h] whoever enters by the north gate to worship is to go out the south gate; and whoever enters by the south gate is to go out the north gate. No one is to return through the gate by which he entered, but each is to go out the opposite gate. 10The prince is to be among them, going in when they go in and going out when they go out.[i]

11" 'At the festivals and the appointed feasts, the grain offering is to be an ephah with a bull, an ephah with a ram, and with the lambs as much as one pleases, along with a hin of oil for each ephah.[j] 12When the prince provides[k] a freewill offering[l] to the LORD—whether a burnt offering or fellowship offerings—the gate facing east is to be opened for him. He shall offer his burnt offering or his fellowship offerings as he does on the Sabbath day. Then he shall go out, and after he has gone out, the gate will be shut.[m]

13" 'Every day you are to provide a year-old lamb without defect for a burnt offering to the LORD; morning by morning[n] you shall provide it.[o] 14You are also to provide with it morning by morning a grain offering, consisting of a sixth of an ephah with a third of a hin of oil[p] to moisten the flour. The presenting of this grain offering to the LORD is a lasting ordinance.[q] 15So the lamb and the grain offering and the oil shall be provided morning by morning for a regular[r] burnt offering.[s]

19Then the man brought me through the entrance[x] at the side of the gate to the sacred rooms facing north,[y] which belonged to the priests, and showed me a place at the western end. 20He said to me, "This is the place where the priests will cook the guilt offering and the sin offering and bake the grain offering, to avoid bringing them into the outer court and consecrating[z] the people."[a]

21He then brought me to the outer court and led me around to its four corners, and I saw in each corner another court. 22In the four corners of the outer court were enclosed[m] courts, forty cubits long and thirty cubits wide; each of the courts in the four corners was the same size. 23Around the inside of each of the four courts was a ledge of stone, with places for fire built all around under the ledge. 24He said to me, "These are the kitchens where those who minister at the temple will cook the sacrifices of the people."

46:6 day of the New Moon. The first day of the month. Contrast the requirement of Nu 28:11.

46:7 as a grain offering one ephah. Contrast Nu 28:12.

46:9 whoever enters by the north gate. These appear to be crowd control measures. If so, the new era would see masses of people thronging the sanctuary on the festival day.

46:12 freewill offering. Above and beyond what was required of the prince.

46:13 morning by morning. Contrast Nu 28:3–8, where the daily sacrifice consists of one lamb in the morning and one in the evening (see 1Ch 16:40; 2Ch 13:11; 31:3). A different custom appears in 2Ki 16:15, where a burnt offering was offered in the mornings, a grain offering in the evenings.

46:14 sixth of an ephah . . . third of a hin. Contrast Nu 28:5.

46:16 his descendants. Ezekiel pictured a hereditary rulership.

46:17 until the year of freedom. The Year of Jubilee—held, theoretically, every 50th year (see Lev 25:8–15, especially v. 13).

46:18 The prince must not take. See note on 45:7.

46:19–24 Fits well after 42:13–14, where other rooms for priests are described. The provisions here are a fitting conclusion to the sacrifice laws. The priests' area (vv. 19–20) was to be kept separate from the cooking areas of the Levites (vv. 21–24).

47:1 man. The angelic guide (40:3), who here appears for the last time, concluded Ezekiel's visionary tour of the new temple. entrance of the temple. Ezekiel was standing in the inner court. water. The rest of this section (vv. 1–12) makes it clear that healing, life-nurturing water is meant (see Ps 36:8; 46:4 and notes; see also Joel 3:18; Zec 13:1; 14:8; Rev 22:1–2). In the larger background was the river flowing from the Garden of Eden (Ge 2:10).

water[b] coming out from under the threshold of the temple toward the east (for the temple faced east). The water was coming down from under the south side of the temple, south of the altar.[c] 2He then brought me out through the north gate[d] and led me around the outside to the outer gate facing east, and the water was flowing from the south side.

3As the man went eastward with a measuring line[e] in his hand, he measured off a thousand cubits[n] and then led me through water that was ankle-deep. 4He measured off another thousand cubits and led me through water that was knee-deep. He measured off another thousand and led me through water that was up to the waist. 5He measured off another thousand, but now it was a river[f] that I could not cross, because the water had risen and was deep enough to swim in—a river that no one could cross.[g] 6He asked me, "Son of man, do you see this?"

Then he led me back to the bank of the river. 7When I arrived there, I saw a great number of trees on each side of the river.[h] 8He said to me, "This water flows toward the eastern region and goes down into the Arabah,[oi] where it enters the Sea.[p] When it empties into the Sea,[p] the water there becomes fresh.[j] 9Swarms of living creatures will live wherever the river flows. There will be large numbers of fish, because this water flows there and makes the salt water fresh; so where the river flows everything will live.[k] 10Fishermen[l] will stand along the shore; from En Gedi[m] to En Eglaim there will be places for spreading nets.[n] The fish will be of many kinds[o]—like the fish of the Great Sea.[qp] 11But the swamps and marshes will not become fresh; they will be left for salt.[q] 12Fruit trees of all kinds will grow on both banks of the river.[r] Their leaves will not wither, nor will their fruit[s] fail. ### The Boundaries of the Land

13This is what the Sovereign LORD says: "These are the boundaries[v] by which you are to divide the land for an inheritance among the twelve tribes of Israel, with two portions for Joseph.[w] 14You are to divide it equally among them. Because I swore with uplifted hand to give it to your forefathers, this land will become your inheritance.[x]

15"This is to be the boundary of the land:[y]

47:2 brought me out through the north gate. Because the east gate was closed (44:2).

47:5 measured off another thousand. For a total of four measurings (see note on 1:5). river that no one could cross. Amazing, in that a stream fed by no tributaries does not increase as it flows.

47:7 great number of trees. Reminiscent of Eden (Ge 2:9).

47:8 toward the eastern region. Contrast Zec 14:8. Arabah. Here the waterless region between Jerusalem and the Dead Sea (see NIV text note). the Sea. Usually means the Mediterranean Sea, but here obviously the Dead Sea is intended (see NIV text note). becomes fresh. The Hebrew says, figuratively, "becomes healed." That this lowest (1,300 feet below sea level) and saltiest (25 percent) body of water in the world should sustain such an abundance of life indicates the wonderful renewing power of this "river of the water of life" (Rev 22:1).

47:9 Swarms of living creatures. Overtones of Ge 1:20–21 point to a new creation.

47:10 En Gedi. Means "spring of the goat"; a strong spring midway along the western side of the Dead Sea. En Eglaim. Means "spring of the two calves." It is possibly Ain Feshkha, at the northwestern corner of the Dead Sea, though some suggest a location on the east bank. the Great Sea. See NIV text note.

47:11 they will be left for salt. Perhaps to provide the salt needed in the sacrifices (43:24).

47:12 Every month they will bear. A marvelous extension of the promises in 34:27; 36:30 (see Am 9:13).

47:13 two portions for Joseph. Since the tribe of Levi received none (44:28), Ephraim and Manasseh, Joseph's two sons adopted by Jacob (Ge 48:17–20), each received an allotment (see 48:4–5).

47:14 Because I swore. A reference to the covenant made with Abram (Ge 15:9–21; see Eze 20:5; 36:28).

47:15 This is to be the boundary. Approximates Israel's borders at the time of David and Solomon, except that Transjordan is not included (see v. 18)—which, in any event, was never within the boundaries of the promised land proper. The following specified boundaries closely resemble those in Nu 34:1–12. Hethlon road. Probably situated on the Mediterranean coast, somewhere in present-day Lebanon. Lebo Hamath. See NIV text note. Lebo, however, probably does not mean "entrance," but should be identified with modern Lebweh, about 15 miles northeast of Baalbek and 20 miles southwest of Kadesh on the Orontes River, near Riblah. At one time Lebo must have served as a fortress guarding the southern route to Hamath. Perhaps the phrase should be translated "Lebo of Hamath." It is often referred to in Scripture as the northern limit of Israel (see v. 20; 48:1; Nu 13:21; 34:8; Jos 13:5; 1Ki 8:65; 2Ki 14:25; Am 6:14). Zedad. Mentioned in Nu 34:8 but otherwise unknown.

47:16 Berothah. Probably to be identified with the Berothai of 2Sa 8:8, but otherwise unknown. Sibraim. Location unknown; probably the Sepharvaim of 2Ki 17:24; 18:34. Damascus. Capital of Aram (Syria); according to v. 17 it was included in Israel. Hamath. A city about 120 miles north of Damascus on the Orontes River. Hazer Hatticon. Means "the middle enclosure." Its location is unknown, but it is possibly the same as Hazar Enan in v. 17.

rothah[sb] and Sibraim (which lies on the border between Damascus and Hamath),[c] as far as Hazer Hatticon, which is on the border of Hauran. 17The boundary will extend from the sea to Hazar Enan,[t] along the northern border of Damascus, with the border of Hamath to the north. This will be the north boundary.[d]

18"On the east side the boundary will run between Hauran and Damascus, along the Jordan between Gilead and the land of Israel, to the eastern sea and as far as Tamar.[u] This will be the east boundary.[e]

19"On the south side it will run from Tamar as far as the waters of Meribah Kadesh,[f] then along the Wadi ⌊of Egypt⌋[g] to the Great Sea.[h] This will be the south boundary.

20"On the west side, the Great Sea will be the boundary to a point opposite Lebo[v] Hamath.[i] This will be the west boundary.[j]

21"You are to distribute this land among yourselves according to the tribes of Israel. 22You are to allot it as an inheritance[k] for yourselves and for the aliens[l] who have settled among you and who have children. You are to consider them as native-born Israelites; along with you they are to be allotted an inheritance among the tribes of Israel.[m] 23In whatever tribe the alien settles, there you are to give him his inheritance," declares the Sovereign LORD.[n]

The Division of the Land

48 "These are the tribes, listed by name: At the northern frontier, Dan[o] will have one portion; it will follow the Hethlon road[p] to Lebo[w] Hamath;[q] Hazar Enan and the northern border of Damascus next to Hamath will be part of its border from the east side to the west side.

2"Asher[r] will have one portion; it will border the territory of Dan from east to west.

3"Naphtali[s] will have one portion; it will border the territory of Asher from east to west.

4"Manasseh[t] will have one portion; it will border the territory of Naphtali from east to west.

5"Ephraim[u] will have one portion; it will border the territory of Manasseh[v] from east to west.[w]

6"Reuben[x] will have one portion; it will border the territory of Ephraim from east to west.

7"Judah[y] will have one portion; it will border the territory of Reuben from east to west.

8"Bordering the territory of Judah from east to west will be the portion you are to present as a special gift. It will be 25,000 cubits[x] wide, and its length from east to west will equal one of the tribal portions; the sanctuary will be in the center of it.[z]

9"The special portion you are to offer to the LORD will be 25,000 cubits long and 10,000 cubits[y] wide.[a] 10This will be the sacred portion for the priests. It will be 25,000 cubits long on the north side, 10,000 cubits wide on the west side, 10,000 cubits wide on the east side and 25,000 cubits long on the south side. 47:19 Meribah Kadesh. A district about 50 miles south of Beersheba, identified with Kadesh Barnea in Nu 34:4. Wadi ⌊of Egypt⌋. The Wadi el-Arish, a deeply cut riverbed with seasonal flow that runs from the Sinai north-northwest until it enters the Mediterranean, 50 miles south of Gaza. It marked the southernmost extremity of Solomon's kingdom (1Ki 8:65).

47:22 You are to consider them as native-born Israelites. A gracious inclusiveness that went beyond the provision of 14:7. It reflects the same universalism that is found in such prophecies as Isa 56:3–8.

48:1 Dan. Occupies its historical location as the northernmost tribe (see the phrase "from Dan to Beersheba," giving northern and southern boundaries—e.g., in Jdg 20:1; 1Sa 3:20). Dan was born to Rachel's maidservant Bilhah (Ge 35:25). Hethlon ... Lebo Hamath. See note on 47:15. Hazar Enan. See note on 47:16.

48:2 Asher. Born to Leah's maidservant Zilpah (Ge 35:26). The tribes descended from maidservants were placed farthest from the sanctuary (see Dan, v. 1; Naphtali, v. 3; Gad, v. 27).

48:8–22 An expansion of 45:1–8.

48:9 10,000 cubits wide. The width of the entire sacred district was 20,000 cubits (see 45:1). This must refer to the width of either the priests' or the Levites' area. The Septuagint reads "20,000."

astray as the Levites did when the Israelites went astray.[c] [12]It will be a special gift to them from the sacred portion of the land, a most holy portion, bordering the territory of the Levites.

[13]"Alongside the territory of the priests, the Levites will have an allotment 25,000 cubits long and 10,000 cubits wide. Its total length will be 25,000 cubits and its width 10,000 cubits.[f] [14]They must not sell or exchange any of it. This is the best of the land and must not pass into other hands, because it is holy to the LORD.[g]

[15]"The remaining area, 5,000 cubits wide and 25,000 cubits long, will be for the common use of the city, for houses and for pastureland. The city will be in the center of it [16]and will have these measurements: the north side 4,500 cubits, the south side 4,500 cubits, the east side 4,500 cubits, and the west side 4,500 cubits.[h] [17]The pastureland for the city will be 250 cubits on the north, 250 cubits on the south, 250 cubits on the east, and 250 cubits on the west. [18]What remains of the area, bordering on the sacred portion and running the length of it, will be 10,000 cubits on the east side and 10,000 cubits on the west side. Its produce will supply food for the workers of the city.[i] [19]The workers from the city who farm it will come from all the tribes of Israel. [20]The entire portion will be a square, 25,000 cubits on each side. As a special gift you will set aside the sacred portion, along with the property of the city.

[21]"What remains on both sides of the area formed by the sacred portion and the city property will belong to the prince. It will extend eastward from the 25,000 cubits of the sacred portion to the eastern border, and westward from the 25,000 cubits to the western border. Both these areas running the length of the tribal portions will belong to the prince, and the sacred portion with the temple sanctuary will be in the center of them.[j] [22]So the property of the Levites and the property of the city will lie in the center of the area that belongs to the prince. The area belonging to the prince will lie between the border of Judah and the border of Benjamin.

[24]"Simeon[l] will have one portion; it will border the territory of Benjamin from east to west.

[25]"Issachar[m] will have one portion; it will border the territory of Simeon from east to west.

[26]"Zebulun[n] will have one portion; it will border the territory of Issachar from east to west.

[27]"Gad[o] will have one portion; it will border the territory of Zebulun from east to west.

[28]"The southern boundary of Gad will run south from Tamar[p] to the waters of Meribah Kadesh, then along the Wadi ⌊of Egypt⌋ to the Great Sea.[z][q]

[29]"This is the land you are to allot as an inheritance to the tribes of Israel, and these will be their portions," declares the Sovereign LORD.[r]

The Gates of the City

[30]"These will be the exits of the city: Beginning on the north side, which is 4,500 cubits long, [31]the gates of the city will be named after the tribes of Israel. The three gates on the north side will be the gate of Reuben, the gate of Judah and the gate of Levi.

[32]"On the east side, which is 4,500 cubits long, will be three gates: the gate of Joseph, the gate of Benjamin and the gate of Dan.

[33]"On the south side, which measures 4,500 cubits, will be three gates: the gate of Simeon, the gate of Issachar and the gate of Zebulun.

[34]"On the west side, which is 4,500 cubits long, will be three gates: the gate of Gad, the gate of Asher and the gate of Naphtali.[s]

[35]"The distance all around will be 18,000 cubits.

"And the name of the city from that time on will be:

THE LORD IS THERE.[t]"

Daniel

Author, Date and Authenticity

The book mentions Daniel as its author in several passages, such as 9:2 and 10:2. That Jesus concurred is clear from his reference to " 'the abomination that causes desolation,' spoken of through the prophet Daniel" (Mt 24:15), quoting 9:27; 11:31; 12:11. The book was probably completed c. 530 B.C., shortly after the capture of Babylon by Cyrus in 539.

The widely held view that the book of Daniel is largely fictional rests mainly on the modern philosophical assumption that long-range predictive prophecy is impossible. Therefore all fulfilled predictions in Daniel, it is claimed, had to have been composed no earlier than the Maccabean period (second century B.C.), after the fulfillments had taken place. But objective evidence excludes this hypothesis on several counts:

1. To avoid fulfillment of long-range predictive prophecy in the book, the adherents of the late-date view usually maintain that the four empires of chs. 2 and 7 are Babylon, Media, Persia and Greece. But in the mind of the author, "the Medes and Persians" (5:28) together constituted the second in the series of four kingdoms (2:36–43). Thus it becomes clear that the four empires are the Babylonian, Medo-Persian, Greek and Roman. See chart on "Visions in Daniel," p. 1301.

2. The language itself argues for a date earlier than the second century. Linguistic evidence from the Dead Sea Scrolls (which furnish authentic samples of Hebrew and Aramaic writing from the second century B.C.; see "The Time between the Testaments," p. 1424) demonstrates that the Hebrew and Aramaic chapters of Daniel must have been composed centuries earlier. Furthermore, as recently demonstrated, the Persian and Greek words in Daniel do not require a late date. Some of the technical terms appearing in ch. 3 were already so obsolete by the second century B.C. that translators of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) translated them incorrectly.

3. Several of the fulfillments of prophecies in Daniel could not have taken place by the second century anyway, so the prophetic element cannot be dismissed. The symbolism connected with the fourth kingdom makes it unmistakably predictive of the Roman empire (see 2:33; 7:7,19), which did not take control of Syro-Palestine until 63 B.C. Also, the prophecy concerning the coming of "the Anointed One, the ruler," 483 years after "the issuing of the decree to restore and rebuild Jerusalem" (9:25), works out to the time of Jesus' ministry.

Objective evidence, therefore, appears to exclude the late-date hypothesis and indicates that there is insufficient reason to deny Daniel's authorship.

Theme

The theological theme of the book is God's sovereignty: "The Most High God is sovereign over the kingdoms of men" (5:21). Daniel's visions always show God as triumphant (7:11,26–27; 8:25; 9:27; 11:45; 12:13). The climax of his sovereignty is described in Revelation: "The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our Lord and of his Christ, and he will reign for ever and ever" (Rev 11:15; cf. Da 2:44; 7:27).

Literary Form

The book is made up primarily of historical narrative (found mainly in chs. 1—6) and apocalyptic (revelatory) material (found mainly in chs. 7—12). The latter may be defined as symbolic, visionary, prophetic literature, usually composed during oppressive conditions and being chiefly eschatological in theological content. Apocalyptic literature is primarily a literature of encouragement to the people of God (see Introduction to Zechariah: Literary Form; see also Introduction to Revelation: Literary Form). For the symbolic use of numbers in apocalyptic literature see Introduction to Revelation: Distinctive Feature.

Daniel's Training in Babylon

1 In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim[a] king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar[b] king of Babylon[c] came to Jerusalem and besieged it.[d] 2And the Lord delivered Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, along with some of the articles from the temple of God. These he carried[e] off to the temple of his god in Babylonia[a] and put in the treasure house of his god.[f]

3Then the king ordered Ashpenaz, chief of his court officials, to bring in some of the Israelites from the royal family and the nobility[g]— 4young men without any physical defect, handsome,[h] showing aptitude for every kind of learning,[i] well informed, quick to understand, and qualified to serve in the king's palace. He was to teach them the language[j] and literature of the Babylonians.[b] 5The king assigned them a daily amount of food and wine[k] from the king's table.[l] They were to be trained for three years,[m] and after that they were to enter the king's service.[n]

8But Daniel resolved not to defile[s] himself with the royal food and wine, and he asked the chief official for permission not to defile himself this way. 9Now God had caused the official to show favor[t] and sympathy[u] to Daniel, 10but the official told Daniel, "I am afraid of my lord the king, who has assigned your[c] food and drink.[v] Why should he see you looking worse than the other young men your age? The king would then have my head because of you."

11Daniel then said to the guard whom the chief official had appointed over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, 12"Please test[w] your servants for ten days: Give us nothing but vegetables to eat and water to drink. 13Then compare our appearance with that of the young men who eat the royal food, and treat your servants in accordance with what you see."[x] 14So he agreed to this and tested[y] them for ten days.

15At the end of the ten days they looked healthier and better nourished than any of the young men who ate the royal food.[z] 16So the guard took away their choice food and the wine they were to drink and gave them vegetables instead.[a]

17To these four young men God gave knowledge and understanding[b] of all kinds of literature and learning.[c] And Daniel could understand visions and dreams of all kinds.[d]

18At the end of the time[e] set by the king to bring them in, the chief official

[a] 2 Hebrew Shinar [b] 4 Or Chaldeans [c] 10 The Hebrew for your and you in this verse is plural.

1:1 third year. According to the Babylonian system of computing the years of a king's reign, the third year of Jehoiakim would have been 605 B.C., since his first full year of kingship began on New Year's Day after his accession in 608. But according to the Judahite system, which counted the year of accession as the first year of reign, this was the fourth year of Jehoiakim (Jer 25:1; 46:2).

1:2 carried off. Judah was exiled to Babylonia because she disobeyed God's word regarding covenant-keeping, the sabbath years and idolatry (see Lev 25:1–7; 26:27–35; 2Ch 36:14–21). The first deportation (605 B.C.) included Daniel, and the second (597) included Ezekiel. A third deportation took place in 586, when the Babylonians destroyed Jerusalem and the temple.

1:4 language and literature of the Babylonians. Including the classical literature in Sumerian and Akkadian cuneiform, a complicated syllabic writing system. But the language of normal communication in multiracial Babylon was Aramaic, written in an easily learned alphabetic script (see 2:4).

1:6 Daniel. Means "God is (my) Judge." Hananiah. Means "The LORD shows grace." Mishael. Means "Who is what God is?" Azariah. Means "The LORD helps."

1:7 Belteshazzar. Probably means, in Babylonian, "Bel (i.e., Marduk), protect his life!" Shadrach. Probably means "command of Aku (Sumerian moon-god)." Meshach. Probably means "Who is what Aku is?" Abednego. Means "servant of Nego/Nebo (i.e., Nabu)."

1:8 royal food and wine. Israelites considered food from Nebuchadnezzar's table to be contaminated because the first portion of it was offered to idols. Likewise a portion of the wine was poured out on a pagan altar. Ceremonially unclean animals were used and were neither slaughtered nor prepared according to the regulations of the law. he asked . . . not to defile himself. He demonstrated the courage of his convictions.

1:9 God had caused the official to show favor . . . to Daniel. The careers of Joseph and Daniel were similar in many respects (see Ge 39–41).

1:12 test your servants. Daniel used good judgment by offering an alternative instead of rebelling. ten. Often had the symbolic significance of completeness.

1:17 With God's help, Daniel and his friends mastered the Babylonian literature on astrology and divination by dreams. But in the crucial tests of interpretation and prediction (see 2:3–11; 4:7), all the pagan literature proved worthless. Only by God's special revelation (2:17–28) was Daniel able to interpret correctly.

DANIEL

NAME MEANS: "God is (my) Judge" (Da 1:6—see study note)

OCCUPATION: Exiled Jew, student in the Babylonian court, powerful ruler in Babylon

BEST KNOWN FOR:

- his God-given wisdom and talent as a dream interpreter
- his meteoric rise in the Babylonian and Persian governments
- his faith and courage while in the den of lions presented them to Nebuchadnezzar.

19The king talked with them, and he found none equal to Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah; so they entered the king's service.[f] 20In every matter of wisdom and understanding about which the king questioned them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians[g] and enchanters in his whole kingdom.[h]

21And Daniel remained there until the first year of King Cyrus.[i]

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream

2 In the second year of his reign, Nebuchadnezzar had dreams;[j] his mind was troubled[k] and he could not sleep.[l] 2So the king summoned the magicians,[m] enchanters, sorcerers[n] and astrologers[d,o] to tell him what he had dreamed.[p] When they came in and stood before the king, 3he said to them, "I have had a dream that troubles[q] me and I want to know what it means.[e]"

4Then the astrologers answered the king in Aramaic,[f,r] "O king, live forever![s] Tell your servants the dream, and we will interpret it."

5The king replied to the astrologers, "This is what I have firmly decided:[t] If you do not tell me what my dream was and interpret it, I will have you cut into pieces[u] and your houses turned into piles of rubble.[v] 6But if you tell me the dream and explain it, you will receive from me gifts and rewards and great honor.[w] So tell me the dream and interpret it for me."

7Once more they replied, "Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will interpret it."

8Then the king answered, "I am certain that you are trying to gain time, because you realize that this is what I have firmly decided: 9If you do not tell me the dream, there is just one penalty[x] for you. You have conspired to tell me misleading and wicked things, hoping the situation will change. So then, tell me the dream, and I will know that you can interpret it for me."[y]

10The astrologers[z] answered the king, "There is not a man on earth who can do what the king asks! No king, however great and mighty, has ever asked such a thing of any magician or enchanter or astrologer.[a] 11What the king asks is too difficult. No one can reveal it to the king except the gods,[b] and they do not live among men."

12This made the king so angry and furious[c] that he ordered the execution[d] of all the wise men of Babylon. 13So the decree was issued to put the wise men to death, and men were sent to look for Daniel and his friends to put them to death.[e]

17Then Daniel returned to his house and explained the matter to his friends Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah.[f] 18He urged them to plead for mercy[g] from the God of heaven[h] concerning this mystery,[i] so that he and his friends might not be executed with the rest of the wise men of Babylon. 19During the night the mystery[j] was revealed to Daniel in a vision.[k] Then Daniel praised the God of heaven[l] 20and said:

"Praise be to the name of God for ever and ever;[m]
wisdom and power[n] are his.
21He changes times and seasons;[o]
he sets up kings[p] and deposes[q]
them.
He gives wisdom[r] to the wise and knowledge to the discerning.[s] 22He reveals deep and hidden things;[t] he knows what lies in darkness,[u]
and light[v] dwells with him.
23I thank and praise you, O God of my fathers:[w]

1:21 first year of King Cyrus. Over Babylon (539 B.C.). Daniel was still living in the year 537 (10:1), so he saw the exiles return to Judah from Babylonian captivity.

2:1 second year of . . . Nebuchadnezzar. 604 B.C.

2:4 Aramaic. Since the astrologers were of various racial backgrounds, they communicated in Aramaic, the language everyone understood. From here to the end of ch. 7 the entire narrative is in Aramaic. These six chapters deal with matters of importance to the Gentile nations of the Near East and were written in a language understandable to all. But the last five chapters (8–12) revert to Hebrew, since they deal with special concerns of the chosen people.

2:11 do not live among men. Are not readily accessible.

2:14 Arioch. Meaning uncertain. It is also the name of a Mesopotamian king who lived centuries earlier (Ge 14:1,9).

2:18 God of heaven. See note on Ezr 1:2. mystery. A key word in Daniel (2:19,27–30,47; 4:9). It also appears often in the writings (Dead Sea Scrolls) of the Qumran sect (see "The Time between the Testaments," p. 1424). The Greek equivalent is used in the NT to refer to the secret purposes of God that he reveals only to his chosen prophets and apostles (see note on Ro 11:25).

Daniel Interprets the Dream

[24]Then Daniel went to Arioch,[z] whom the king had appointed to execute the wise men of Babylon, and said to him, "Do not execute the wise men of Babylon. Take me to the king, and I will interpret his dream for him."

[25]Arioch took Daniel to the king at once and said, "I have found a man among the exiles[a] from Judah[b] who can tell the king what his dream means."

[26]The king asked Daniel (also called Belteshazzar),[c] "Are you able to tell me what I saw in my dream and interpret it?"

[27]Daniel replied, "No wise man, enchanter, magician or diviner can explain to the king the mystery he has asked about,[d] [28]but there is a God in heaven who reveals mysteries.[e] He has shown King Nebuchadnezzar what will happen in days to come.[f] Your dream and the visions that passed through your mind[g] as you lay on your bed[h] are these:[i]

[29]"As you were lying there, O king, your mind turned to things to come, and the revealer of mysteries showed you what is going to happen.[j] [30]As for me, this mystery has been revealed[k] to me, not because I have greater wisdom than other living men, but so that you, O king, may know the interpretation and that you may understand what went through your mind.

[31]"You looked, O king, and there before you stood a large statue—an enormous, dazzling statue,[l] awesome[m] in appearance. [32]The head of the statue was made of pure gold, its chest and arms of silver, its belly and thighs of bronze, [33]its legs of iron, its feet partly of iron and partly of baked clay. [34]While you were watching, a rock was cut out, but not by human hands.[n] It struck the statue on its feet of iron and clay and smashed[o] them.[p] [35]Then the iron, the clay, the bronze, the silver and the gold were broken to pieces at the same time and became like chaff on a threshing floor in the summer. The wind swept them away[q] without leaving a trace. But the rock that struck the statue became a huge mountain[r] and filled the whole earth.[s]

[36]"This was the dream, and now we will interpret it to the king.[t] [37]You, O king, are the king of kings.[u] The God of heaven has given you dominion[v] and power and might and glory; [38]in your hands he has placed mankind and the beasts of the field and the birds of the air. Wherever they live, he has made you ruler over them all.[w] You are that head of gold.

[39]"After you, another kingdom will rise, inferior to yours. Next, a third kingdom, one of bronze, will rule over the whole earth.[x] [40]Finally, there will be a fourth kingdom, strong as iron—for iron breaks and smashes everything—and as iron breaks things to pieces, so it will crush and break all the others.[y] [41]Just as you saw that the feet and toes were partly of baked clay and partly of iron, so this will be a divided kingdom; yet it will have some of the strength of iron in it, even as you saw iron mixed with clay. [42]As the toes were partly iron and partly clay, so this kingdom will be partly strong and partly brittle. [43]And just as you saw the iron mixed with baked clay, so the people will be a mixture and will not remain united, any more than iron mixes with clay.

[44]"In the time of those kings, the God of heaven will set up a kingdom that will never be destroyed, nor will it be left to another people. It will crush[z] all those kingdoms[a] and bring them to an end, but it will itself endure forever.[b] [45]This is the meaning of the vision of the rock[c] cut out of a mountain, but not by human hands[d]—a rock that broke the iron, the bronze, the clay, the silver and the gold to pieces.

"The great God has shown the king what will take place in the future.[e] The dream is true[f] and the interpretation is trustworthy."

[46]Then King Nebuchadnezzar fell prostrate[g] before Daniel and paid him honor

2:32–43 See map No. 7b and map No. 13 at the end of the Study Bible. The gold head represents the Neo-Babylonian empire (v. 38; see Jer 51:7); the silver chest and arms, the Medo-Persian empire established by Cyrus in 539 B.C. (the date of the fall of Babylon); the bronze belly and thighs, the Greek empire established by Alexander the Great c. 330; the iron legs and feet, the Roman empire. The toes (v. 41) are understood by some to represent a later confederation of states occupying the territory formerly controlled by the Roman empire. The diminishing value of the metals from gold to silver to bronze to iron represents the decreasing power and grandeur (v. 39) of the rulers of the successive empires, from the absolute despotism of Nebuchadnezzar to the democratic system of checks and balances that characterized the Roman senates and assemblies. The metals also symbolize a growing degree of toughness and endurance, with each successive empire lasting longer than the preceding one.

2:44 The fifth kingdom is the eternal kingdom of God, built on the ruins of the sinful empires of man. Its authority will extend over "the whole earth" (v. 35) and ultimately over "a new heaven and a new earth" (Rev 21:1).

and ordered that an offering[h] and incense be presented to him. 47The king said to Daniel, "Surely your God is the God of gods[i] and the Lord of kings[j] and a revealer of mysteries,[k] for you were able to reveal this mystery.[l]"

48Then the king placed Daniel in a high[m] position and lavished many gifts on him. He made him ruler over the entire province of Babylon and placed him in charge of all its wise men.[n] 49Moreover, at Daniel's request the king appointed Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego administrators over the province of Babylon,[o] while Daniel himself remained at the royal court.[p]

The Image of Gold and the Fiery Furnace

3 King Nebuchadnezzar made an image[q] of gold, ninety feet high and nine feet[g] wide, and set it up on the plain of Dura in the province of Babylon. 2He then summoned the satraps,[r] prefects, governors, advisers, treasurers, judges, magistrates and all the other provincial officials[s] to come to the dedication of the image he had set up. 3So the satraps, prefects, governors, advisers, treasurers, judges, magistrates and all the other provincial officials assembled for the dedication of the image that King Nebuchadnezzar had set up, and they stood before it.

4Then the herald loudly proclaimed, "This is what you are commanded to do, O peoples, nations and men of every language:[t] 5As soon as you hear the sound of the horn, flute, zither, lyre, harp,[u] pipes and all kinds of music, you must fall down and worship the image[v] of gold that King Nebuchadnezzar has set up.[w] 6Whoever does not fall down and worship will immediately be thrown into a blazing furnace."[x]

7Therefore, as soon as they heard the sound of the horn, flute, zither, lyre, harp and all kinds of music, all the peoples, nations and men of every language fell down and worshiped the image of gold that King Nebuchadnezzar had set up.[y]

8At this time some astrologers[h][z] came forward and denounced the Jews. 9They said to King Nebuchadnezzar, "O king, live forever![a] 10You have issued a decree,[b] O king, that everyone who hears the sound of the horn, flute, zither, lyre, harp, pipes and all kinds of music must fall down and worship the image of gold,[c] 11and that whoever does not fall down and worship will be thrown into a blazing furnace. 12But there are some Jews whom you have set over the affairs of the province of Babylon—Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego[d]—who pay no attention[e] to you, O king. They neither serve your gods nor worship the image of gold you have set up."[f]

13Furious[g] with rage, Nebuchadnezzar summoned Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. So these men were brought before the king, 14and Nebuchadnezzar said to them, "Is it true, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, that you do not serve my gods[h] or worship the image[i] of gold I have set up? 15Now when you hear the sound of the horn, flute, zither, lyre, harp, pipes and all kinds of music, if you are ready to fall down and worship the image I made, very good. But if you do not worship it, you will be thrown immediately into a blazing furnace. Then what god[j] will be able to rescue[k] you from my hand?"

16Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego[l] replied to the king, "O Nebuchadnezzar, we do not need to defend ourselves before you in this matter. 17If we are thrown into the blazing furnace, the God we serve is able to save[m] us from it, and he will rescue[n] us from your hand, O king. 18But even if he does not, we want you to know, O king, that we will not serve your gods or worship the image of gold you have set up.[o]"

19Then Nebuchadnezzar was furious

3:2 The seven classifications of government officials were to pledge full allegiance to the newly established empire as they stood before the image. The image probably represented the god Nabu, whose name formed the first element in Nebuchadnezzar's name (in Akkadian Nabu-kudurri-uṣur, meaning "Nabu, protect my son!" or "Nabu, protect my boundary!").

3:5 The words for "zither," "harp" and "pipes" are the only Greek loanwords in Daniel. Greek musicians and instruments are mentioned in Assyrian inscriptions written before the time of Nebuchadnezzar.

He ordered the furnace heated seven[p] times hotter than usual [20]and commanded some of the strongest soldiers in his army to tie up Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego[q] and throw them into the blazing furnace. [21]So these men, wearing their robes, trousers, turbans and other clothes, were bound and thrown into the blazing furnace. [22]The king's command was so urgent and the furnace so hot that the flames of the fire killed the soldiers who took up Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego,[r] [23]and these three men, firmly tied, fell into the blazing furnace.

[24]Then King Nebuchadnezzar leaped to his feet in amazement and asked his advisers, "Weren't there three men that we tied up and threw into the fire?"

They replied, "Certainly, O king."

[25]He said, "Look! I see four men walking around in the fire, unbound and unharmed, and the fourth looks like a son of the gods."

[26]Nebuchadnezzar then approached the opening of the blazing furnace and shouted, "Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, servants of the Most High God,[s] come out! Come here!"

So Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego came out of the fire, [27]and the satraps, prefects, governors and royal advisers[t] crowded around them.[u] They saw that the fire[v] had not harmed their bodies, nor was a hair of their heads singed; their robes were not scorched, and there was no smell of fire on them.

[28]Then Nebuchadnezzar said, "Praise be to the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, who has sent his angel[w] and rescued[x] his servants! They trusted[y] in him and defied the king's command and were willing to give up their lives rather than serve or worship any god except their own God.[z] [29]Therefore I decree[a] that the people of any nation or language who say anything against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego be cut into pieces and their houses be turned into piles of rubble,[b] for no other god can save[c] in this way."

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream of a Tree

4 King Nebuchadnezzar,

To the peoples, nations and men of every language,[e] who live in all the world:

May you prosper greatly![f]

[2]It is my pleasure to tell you about the miraculous signs[g] and wonders that the Most High God[h] has performed for me.

[3]How great are his signs, how mighty his wonders![i]
His kingdom is an eternal kingdom;
his dominion endures[j] from generation to generation.

[4]I, Nebuchadnezzar, was at home in my palace, contented[k] and prosperous. [5]I had a dream[l] that made me afraid. As I was lying in my bed,[m] the images and visions that passed through my mind[n] terrified me.[o] [6]So I commanded that all the wise men of Babylon be brought before me to interpret[p] the dream for me. [7]When the magicians,[q] enchanters, astrologers[i] and diviners[r] came, I told them the dream, but they could not interpret it for me.[s] [8]Finally, Daniel came into my presence and I told him the dream. (He is called Belteshazzar,[t] after the name of my god, and the spirit of the holy gods[u] is in him.)

[9]I said, "Belteshazzar, chief[v] of the magicians, I know that the spirit of the holy gods[w] is in you, and no mystery is too difficult for you. Here is my dream; interpret it for me. [10]These are the visions I saw while lying in my bed:[x] I looked, and there before me stood a tree in the middle of the land. Its height was enormous.[y] [11]The tree grew large and strong and its top touched the sky; it was visible to the ends of the earth.[z] [12]Its leaves were beautiful, its fruit abundant, and on it was food for all. Under it the beasts of the field found shelter, and the birds

Daniel Interprets the Dream

19Then Daniel (also called Belteshazzar) was greatly perplexed for a time, and his thoughts terrified[n]

4:13 messenger. Angel. See NIV text note.
4:15 let the stump . . . remain. Implies that the tree will be revived later (see v. 26).
4:16 seven. Signifies completeness. times. See NIV text note. The term referred to a given season of the year, and so to the year as a whole (see 7:25). For example, every recurrent spring meant that another full year had elapsed since the previous spring. Alternatively, "times" can refer to indefinite periods.
4:17 messengers. The agents of God, who is the ultimate source (v. 24).
4:19 Daniel . . . was greatly perplexed. Possibly over how him. So the king said, "Belteshazzar, do not let the dream or its meaning alarm you."[o]

Belteshazzar answered, "My lord, if only the dream applied to your enemies and its meaning to your adversaries! [20]The tree you saw, which grew large and strong, with its top touching the sky, visible to the whole earth, [21]with beautiful leaves and abundant fruit, providing food for all, giving shelter to the beasts of the field, and having nesting places in its branches for the birds of the air[p]— [22]you, O king, are that tree![q] You have become great and strong; your greatness has grown until it reaches the sky, and your dominion extends to distant parts of the earth.[r]

[23]"You, O king, saw a messenger, a holy one,[s] coming down from heaven and saying, 'Cut down the tree and destroy it, but leave the stump, bound with iron and bronze, in the grass of the field, while its roots remain in the ground. Let him be drenched with the dew of heaven; let him live like the wild animals, until seven times pass by for him.'[t u]

[24]"This is the interpretation, O king, and this is the decree[v] the Most High has issued against my lord the king: [25]You will be driven away from people and will live with the wild animals; you will eat grass like cattle and be drenched[w] with the dew of heaven. Seven times will pass by for you until you acknowledge that the Most High[x] is sovereign over the kingdoms of men and gives them to anyone he wishes.[y] [26]The command to leave the stump of the tree with its roots[z] means that your kingdom will be restored to you when you acknowledge that Heaven rules.[a] [27]Therefore, O king, be pleased to accept my advice: Renounce your sins by doing what is right, and your wickedness by being kind to the oppressed.[b] It may be that then your prosperity[c] will continue.[d]"

The Dream Is Fulfilled

[28]All this happened[e] to King Nebuchadnezzar. [29]Twelve months later, as the king was walking on the roof of the royal palace of Babylon, [30]he said, "Is not this the great Babylon I have built as the royal residence, by my mighty power and for the glory[f] of my majesty?"[g]

[31]The words were still on his lips when a voice came from heaven, "This is what is decreed for you, King Nebuchadnezzar: Your royal authority has been taken from you.[h] [32]You will be driven away from people and will live with the wild animals; you will eat grass like cattle. Seven times will pass by for you until you acknowledge that the Most High is sovereign over the kingdoms of men and gives them to anyone he wishes."[i]

[33]Immediately what had been said about Nebuchadnezzar was fulfilled. He was driven away from people and ate grass like cattle. His body was drenched[j] with the dew of heaven until his hair grew like the feathers of an eagle and his nails like the claws of a bird.[k]

[34]At the end of that time, I, Nebuchadnezzar, raised my eyes toward heaven, and my sanity[l] was restored. Then I praised the Most High; I honored and glorified him who lives forever.[m]

His dominion is an eternal dominion; his kingdom[n] endures from generation to generation.[o]
[35]All the peoples of the earth

He does as he pleases[q]
with the powers of heaven and the peoples of the earth.
No one can hold back[r] his hand[s] or say to him: "What have you

[36]At the same time that my sanity was restored, my honor and splendor were returned to me for the glory of my kingdom.[u] My advisers and nobles sought me out, and I was restored to my throne and became

The Writing on the Wall

5 King Belshazzar[a] gave a great banquet[b] for a thousand of his nobles[c] and drank wine with them. 2While Belshazzar was drinking[d] his wine, he gave orders to bring in the gold and silver goblets[e] that Nebuchadnezzar his father[l] had taken from the temple in Jerusalem, so that the king and his nobles, his wives and his concubines[f] might drink from them.[g] 3So they brought in the gold goblets that had been taken from the temple of God in Jerusalem, and the king and his nobles, his wives and his concubines drank from them. 4As they drank the wine, they praised the gods[h] of gold and silver, of bronze, iron, wood and stone.[i]

5Suddenly the fingers of a human hand appeared and wrote on the plaster of the wall, near the lampstand in the royal palace. The king watched the hand as it wrote. 6His face turned pale[j] and he was so frightened[k] that his knees knocked[l] together and his legs gave way.[m]

7The king called out for the enchanters,[n] astrologers[m o] and diviners[p] to be brought and said to these wise[q] men of Babylon, "Whoever reads this writing and tells me what it means will be clothed in purple and have a gold chain placed around his neck,[r] and he will be made the third[s] highest ruler in the kingdom."[t]

10The queen,[n] hearing the voices of the king and his nobles, came into the banquet hall. "O king, live forever!"[x] she said. "Don't be alarmed! Don't look so pale! 11There is a man in your kingdom who has the spirit of the holy gods[y] in him. In the time of your father he was found to have insight and intelligence and wisdom[z] like that of the gods.[a] King Nebuchadnezzar your father—your father the king, I say—appointed him chief of the magicians, enchanters, astrologers and diviners.[b] 12This man Daniel, whom the king called Belteshazzar,[c] was found to have a keen mind and knowledge and understanding, and also the ability to interpret dreams, explain riddles[d] and solve difficult problems.[e] Call for Daniel, and he will tell you what the writing means."[f]

13So Daniel was brought before the king, and the king said to him, "Are you Daniel, one of the exiles my father the king brought from Judah?[g] 14I have heard that the spirit of the gods[h] is in you and that you have insight, intelligence and outstanding wisdom.[i] 15The wise men and enchanters were brought before me to read this writing and tell me what it means, but they could not explain it.[j] 16Now I have heard that you are able to give interpretations and to solve difficult problems.[k] If you can read this writing and tell me what it means, you will be clothed in purple and have a gold chain placed around your neck,[l] and you will be made the third highest ruler in the kingdom."[m]

17Then Daniel answered the king, "You may keep your gifts for yourself and give your rewards to someone else.[n] Nevertheless, I will read the writing for the king and tell him what it means.

18"O king, the Most High God gave your father Nebuchadnezzar[o] sovereignty and greatness and glory and splendor.[p] 19Because of the high position he gave him, all the peoples and nations and men of every language dreaded and feared him. Those the king wanted to put to death, he put to death;[q] those he wanted to spare, he spared; those he wanted to promote, he promoted; and those he wanted to humble, he humbled.[r] 20But when his heart became arrogant and hardened with pride,[s] he

Daniel in the Den of Lions

6 It pleased Darius[r] to appoint 120 satraps[s] to rule throughout the kingdom, [2]with three administrators over them, one of whom was Daniel.[t] The satraps were made accountable[u] to them so that the king might not suffer loss. [3]Now Daniel so distinguished himself among the administrators and the satraps by his exceptional qualities that the king planned to set him over the whole kingdom.[v] [4]At this, the administrators and the satraps tried to find grounds for charges[w] against Daniel in his conduct of government affairs, but they were unable to do so. They could find no corruption in him, because he was trustworthy and neither corrupt nor negligent. [5]Finally these men said, "We will never find any basis for charges against this man Daniel unless it has something to do with the law of his God."[x]

[6]So the administrators and the satraps went as a group to the king and said: "O King Darius, live forever![y] [7]The royal administrators, prefects, satraps, advisers and governors[z] have all agreed that the king should issue an edict and enforce the decree that anyone who prays to any god or man during the next thirty days, except to you, O king, shall be thrown into the lions' den.[a] [8]Now, O king, issue the decree and put it in writing so that it cannot be altered—in accordance with the laws of the Medes and Persians, which cannot be repealed."[b] [9]So King Darius put the decree in writing.

[10]Now when Daniel learned that the decree had been published, he went home to his upstairs room where the windows opened toward[c] Jerusalem. Three times a day he got down on his knees[d] and prayed, giving thanks to his

5:22–23 Three charges were brought against Belshazzar: (1) He sinned not through ignorance but through disobedience and pride (v. 22); (2) he defied God by desecrating the sacred vessels (v. 23a); and (3) he praised idols and so did not honor God (v. 23b).

5:26–28 See NIV text notes. Three weights (mina, shekel, and half mina/shekel) may be intended, symbolizing three rulers (respectively): (1) Nebuchadnezzar, (2) either Evil-Merodach (2Ki 25:27; Jer 52:31) or Nabonidus, and (3) Belshazzar.

5:27 weighed on the scales. Measured in the light of God's standards (cf. Job 31:6; Ps 62:9; Pr 24:12).

5:28 Medes and Persians. The second kingdom of the series of four predicted in ch. 2 (see Introduction: Author, Date and Authenticity).

5:30 That very night. See Pr 29:1; Lk 12:20.

5:31 Darius the Mede. Perhaps another name for Gubaru, referred to in Babylonian inscriptions as the governor that Cyrus put in charge of the newly conquered Babylonian territories. Or "Darius the Mede" may have been Cyrus's throne name in Babylon (see NIV text note on 6:28; see also 1Ch 5:26 for a similar phenomenon). took over the kingdom. The head of gold is now no more, as predicted in 2:39.

6:7 The conspirators lied in stating that "all" the royal administrators supported the proposed decree, since they knew that Daniel (totally unaware of the proposal) was the foremost of the three administrators.

6:10 toward Jerusalem. See 2Ch 6:38–39. Three times a day. See Ps 55:17.

God, just as he had done before.[e]
11Then these men went as a group and found Daniel praying and asking God for help.[f] 12So they went to the king and spoke to him about his royal decree: "Did you not publish a decree that during the next thirty days anyone who prays to any god or man except to you, O king, would be thrown into the lions' den?"

The king answered, "The decree stands—in accordance with the laws of the Medes and Persians, which cannot be repealed."[g]

13Then they said to the king, "Daniel, who is one of the exiles from Judah,[h] pays no attention[i] to you, O king, or to the decree you put in writing. He still prays three times a day." 14When the king heard this, he was greatly distressed;[j] he was determined to rescue Daniel and made every effort until sundown to save him.

15Then the men went as a group to the king and said to him, "Remember, O king, that according to the law of the Medes and Persians no decree or edict that the king issues can be changed."[k]

16So the king gave the order, and they brought Daniel and threw him into the lions' den.[l] The king said to Daniel, "May your God, whom you serve continually, rescue[m] you!"

17A stone was brought and placed over the mouth of the den, and the king sealed[n] it with his own signet ring and with the rings of his nobles, so that Daniel's situation might not be changed. 18Then the king returned to his palace and spent the night without eating[o] and without any entertainment being brought to him. And he could not sleep.[p]

19At the first light of dawn, the king got up and hurried to the lions' den. 20When he came near the den, he called to Daniel in an anguished voice, "Daniel, servant of the living God, has your God, whom you serve continually, been able to rescue you from the lions?"[q]

21Daniel answered, "O king, live forever![r] 22My God sent his angel,[s] and he shut the mouths of the lions.[t] They have not hurt me, because I was found innocent in his sight.[u] Nor have I ever done any wrong before you, O king."

23The king was overjoyed and gave orders to lift Daniel out of the den. And when Daniel was lifted from the den, no wound[v] was found on him, because he had trusted[w] in his God.

24At the king's command, the men who had falsely accused Daniel were brought in and thrown into the lions' den,[x] along with their wives and children.[y] And before they reached the floor of the den, the lions overpowered them and crushed all their bones.[z]

25Then King Darius wrote to all the peoples, nations and men of every language[a] throughout the land:

"May you prosper greatly![b]

26"I issue a decree that in every part of my kingdom people must fear and reverence[c] the God of Daniel.[d]

"For he is the living God[e] and he endures forever;[f]
his kingdom will not be destroyed, his dominion will never end.[g] 27He rescues and he saves;[h] he performs signs and wonders[i] in the heavens and on the earth.
He has rescued Daniel from the power of the lions."[j]

28So Daniel prospered during the reign of Darius and the reign of Cyrus[u][k] the Persian.[l]

Daniel's Dream of Four Beasts

7 In the first year of Belshazzar[m] king of Babylon, Daniel had a dream, and visions[n] passed through his mind[o] as he was lying on his bed.[p] He wrote[q] down the substance of his dream.

2Daniel said: "In my vision at night I looked, and there before me were the four winds of heaven[r] churning up the great sea. 3Four great beasts,[s] each different from the others, came up out of the sea.

4"The first was like a lion,[t] and it had

6:16 serve continually. See 1Co 15:58.

6:23 he . . . trusted in his God. That the lions were ravenously hungry (v. 24) was no obstacle to the Lord's rewarding Daniel's faith by saving his life.

6:24 along with their wives and children. In accordance with Persian custom.

7:1 first year of Belshazzar. Probably 553 B.C. The events of ch. 7 preceded those of ch. 5.

7:2 the great sea. The world of nations and peoples (see also vv. 3,17).

7:3 beasts. The insignia or symbols of many Gentile nations were beasts (or birds) of prey (see v. 17).

7:4–7 The lion with an eagle's wings is a cherub (see note on Ge 3:24), symbolizing the Neo-Babylonian empire. The rest of v. 4 perhaps reflects the humbling experience of Nebuchadnezzar, as recorded in ch. 4. The bear (v. 5), raised up on one of its sides, refers to the superior status of the Persians in the Medo-Persian federation. The three ribs may represent the three principal conquests: Lydia (546 B.C.), Babylon (539) and Egypt (525). The leopard with four wings (v. 6) represents the speedy conquests of Alexander the Great (334–330), and the four heads correspond to the four main divisions into which his empire fell after his untimely death in 323 (see 8:22): Macedon and Greece (under Antipater and Cassander), Thrace and Asia Minor (under Lysimachus), Syria (under Seleucus I), the Holy Land and Egypt (under Ptolemy I). 5"And there before me was a second beast, which looked like a bear. It was raised up on one of its sides, and it had three ribs in its mouth between its teeth. It was told, 'Get up and eat your fill of flesh!'[v]

6"After that, I looked, and there before me was another beast, one that looked like a leopard.[w] And on its back it had four wings like those of a bird. This beast had four heads, and it was given authority to rule.

7"After that, in my vision[x] at night I looked, and there before me was a fourth beast—terrifying and frightening and very powerful. It had large iron[y] teeth; it crushed and devoured its victims and trampled[z] underfoot whatever was left.[a] It was different from all the former beasts, and it had ten horns.[b]

8"While I was thinking about the horns, there before me was another horn, a little[c] one, which came up among them; and three of the first horns were uprooted before it. This horn had eyes like the eyes of a man[d] and a mouth that spoke boastfully.[e]

the hair of his head was white like wool.[i] coming out from before him.[l]

Visions in Daniel

ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him.
The court was seated,
and the books[m] were opened.

[11]"Then I continued to watch because of the boastful words the horn was speaking.[n] I kept looking until the beast was slain and its body destroyed and thrown into the blazing fire.[o] [12](The other beasts had been stripped of their authority, but were allowed to live for a period of time.)

[13]"In my vision at night I looked, and there before me was one like a son of man,[p] coming[q] with the clouds of heaven.[r] He approached the Ancient of Days and was led into his presence. [14]He was given authority,[s] glory and sovereign power; all peoples, nations and men of every language worshiped him.[t] His dominion is an everlasting dominion that will not pass away, and his kingdom[u] is one that will never be destroyed.[v]

The Interpretation of the Dream

[15]"I, Daniel, was troubled in spirit, and the visions that passed through my mind disturbed me.[w] [16]I approached one of those standing there and asked him the true meaning of all this.

"So he told me and gave me the interpretation[x] of these things: [17]'The four great beasts are four kingdoms that will rise from the earth. [18]But the saints[y] of the Most High will receive the kingdom[z] and will possess it forever—yes, for ever and ever.'[a]

[19]"Then I wanted to know the true meaning of the fourth beast, which was different from all the others and most terrifying, with its iron teeth and bronze claws—the beast that crushed and devoured its victims and trampled underfoot whatever was left. [20]I also wanted to know about the ten horns[b] on its head and about the other horn that came up, before which three of them fell—the horn that looked more imposing than the others and that had eyes and a mouth that spoke boastfully.[c] [21]As I watched, this horn was waging war against the saints and defeating them,[d] [22]until the Ancient of Days came and pronounced judgment in favor of the saints of the Most High, and the time came when they possessed the kingdom.[e]

[23]"He gave me this explanation: 'The fourth beast is a fourth kingdom that will appear on earth. It will be different from all the other kingdoms and will devour the whole earth, trampling it down and crushing it.[f] [24]The ten horns[g] are ten kings who will come from this kingdom. After them another king will arise, different from the earlier ones; he will subdue three kings. [25]He will speak against the Most High[h] and oppress his saints[i] and try to change the set times[j] and the laws. The saints will be handed over to him for a time, times and half a time.[vk]

[26]" 'But the court will sit, and his power will be taken away and completely destroyed[l] forever. [27]Then the sovereignty, power and greatness of the kingdoms[m] under the whole heaven will be handed over to the saints,[n] the people of the Most High.[o] His kingdom will be an everlasting[p] kingdom, and all rulers will worship[q] and obey him.'

[28]"This is the end of the matter. I, Daniel, was deeply troubled[r] by my thoughts,[s] and my face turned pale,[t] but I kept the matter to myself."

Daniel's Vision of a Ram and a Goat

8 In the third year of King Belshazzar's[u] reign, I, Daniel, had a vision,[v] after the one that had already appeared to me. [2]In my vision I saw myself in the citadel of Susa[w] in the province of Elam;[x] in the vision I was beside the Ulai Canal. [3]I looked up,[y] and there before me was a ram[z] with two horns, standing beside the canal, and the horns were long. One of the horns was longer than the other but grew up later. [4]I watched the ram as he charged toward the west and the north and the south. No animal could stand against him, and none could rescue from his power.[a] He did as he pleased[b] and became great.

7:13 like a son of man. See Rev 1:13. This is the first reference to the Messiah as the Son of Man, a title that Jesus applied to himself. He will be enthroned as ruler over the whole earth (previously misruled by the four kingdoms of men), and his kingdom "will never be destroyed" (v. 14), whether on earth or in heaven. coming with the clouds of heaven. See Mk 14:62; Rev 1:7.

7:16 one of those standing there. An angel.

7:18 saints. Exalted privileges will be enjoyed by Christ's followers during the Messianic kingdom age (Mt 19:28–29; Lk 22:29–30). See also Rev 1:6; 20:4–6.

7:24 ten kings. All the political powers (see note on 1:12) that will arise out of the fourth kingdom—not necessarily simultaneously (but see 2:44). three kings. Some of the ten. Three often signified a small, indefinite number.

7:25 He. See note on v. 8. a time, times and half a time. See NIV text note.

7:27 handed over to the saints. For their benefit. God and the Messiah will rule (see Rev 19–22).

8:1–12:13 These chapters are written in Hebrew (see note on 2:4).

8:1 third year. About 551 B.C. The events of ch. 8 preceded those of ch. 5.

5 As I was thinking about this, suddenly a goat with a prominent horn between his eyes came from the west, crossing the whole earth without touching the ground. 6 He came toward the two-horned ram I had seen standing beside the canal and charged at him in great rage. 7 I saw him attack the ram furiously, striking the ram and shattering his two horns. The ram was powerless to stand against him; the goat knocked him to the ground and trampled on him,[c] and none could rescue the ram from his power.[d] 8 The goat became very great, but at the height of his power his large horn was broken off,[e] and in its place four prominent horns grew up toward the four winds of heaven.[f]

9 Out of one of them came another horn, which started small[g] but grew in power to the south and to the east and toward the Beautiful Land.[h] 10 It grew until it reached[i] the host of the heavens, and it threw some of the starry host down to the earth[j] and trampled[k] on them. 11 It set itself up to be as great as the Prince[l] of the host;[m] it took away the daily sacrifice[n] from him, and the place of his sanctuary was brought low.[o] 12 Because of rebellion, the host ⌊of the saints⌋[w] and the daily sacrifice were given over to it. It prospered in everything it did, and truth was thrown to the ground.[p]

13 Then I heard a holy one[q] speaking, and another holy one said to him, "How long will it take for the vision to be fulfilled[r]—the vision concerning the daily sacrifice, the rebellion that causes desolation, and the surrender of the sanctuary and of the host that will be trampled[s] underfoot?"

14 He said to me, "It will take 2,300 evenings and mornings; then the sanctuary will be reconsecrated."[t]

The Interpretation of the Vision

15 While I, Daniel, was watching the vision[u] and trying to understand it, there before me stood one who looked like a man.[v] 16 And I heard a man's voice from the Ulai[w] calling, "Gabriel,[x] tell this man the meaning of the vision."[y]

17 As he came near the place where I was standing, I was terrified and fell prostrate.[z] "Son of man," he said to me, "understand that the vision concerns the time of the end."[a]

18 While he was speaking to me, I was in a deep sleep, with my face to the ground.[b] Then he touched me and raised me to my feet.[c]

19 He said: "I am going to tell you what will happen later in the time of wrath,[d] because the vision concerns the appointed time[e] of the end.[x f] 20 The two-horned ram that you saw represents the kings of Media and Persia.[g] 21 The shaggy goat is the king of Greece,[h] and the large horn between his eyes is the first king.[i] 22 The four horns that replaced the one that was broken off represent four kingdoms that will emerge from his nation but will not have the same power.

23 "In the latter part of their reign, when rebels have become completely wicked, a stern-faced king, a master of intrigue, will arise. 24 He will become very strong, but not by his own power. He will cause astounding devastation and will succeed in whatever he does. He will destroy the mighty men and the holy people.[j] 25 He will cause deceit[k] to prosper, and he will consider himself su-

8:5 The rapidly charging goat is Greece, and the prominent horn is Alexander the Great, "the first king" (v. 21).

8:7 shattering his two horns. Greece crushes Medo-Persia.

8:8 his large horn was broken off. The death of Alexander the Great at the height of his power (323 B.C.). four prominent horns: See note on 7:4–7 ("four heads").

8:9–12 "Another horn" (v. 9) emerges not from the ten horns belonging to the fourth kingdom (as in 7:8), but rather from one of the four horns belonging to the third kingdom. The horn that "started small" is Antiochus IV Epiphanes, who during the last few years of his reign (168–164 B.C.) made a determined effort to destroy the Jewish faith. He in turn served as a type of the even more ruthless beast of the last days, who is also referred to in 7:8 as a "little" horn. Antiochus was to extend his power over Israel, "the Beautiful Land" (v. 9; see Jer 3:19), and defeat the godly believers there (referred to as "the host of the heavens," v. 10; see also v. 12), many of whom died for their faith. Then he set himself up to be the equal of God ("the Prince of the host," v. 11) and ordered the daily sacrifices to end. Eventually the army of Judas Maccabeus recaptured Jerusalem and rededicated the temple (v. 14) to the Lord (December, 165)—the origin of the Feast of Hanukkah (see Jn 10:22), still celebrated by Jews today (in the Apocrypha see 1 Maccabees 1–4).

8:13 a holy one. An angel.

8:14 There were two daily sacrifices for the continual burnt offering (9:21; Ex 29:38–42), representing the atonement required for Israel as a whole. The 2,300 evenings and mornings probably refer to the number of sacrifices consecutively offered on 1,150 days, the interval between the desecration of the Lord's altar and its reconsecration by Judas Maccabeus on Kislev 25, 165 B.C. The pagan altar set up by Antiochus on Kislev 25, 168, was apparently installed almost two months after the Lord's altar was removed, accounting for the difference between 1,095 days (an exact three years) and the 1,150 specified here.

8:17 Son of man. See note on Eze 2:1.

8:23–25 A description of Antiochus IV and his rise to power by intrigue and deceit (he was not the rightful successor to the Seleucid throne).

8:25 Prince of princes. God. destroyed, but not by human power. Antiochus died in 164 B.C. at Tabae in Persia through illness or accident; God "destroyed" him.

perior. When they feel secure, he will destroy many and take his stand against the Prince of princes.[l] Yet he will be destroyed, but not by human power.[m]

26"The vision of the evenings and mornings that has been given you is true,[n] but seal[o] up the vision, for it concerns the distant future."[p]

27I, Daniel, was exhausted and lay ill[q] for several days. Then I got up and went about the king's business.[r] I was appalled[s] by the vision; it was beyond understanding.

Daniel's Prayer

9 In the first year of Darius[t] son of Xerxes[u] (a Mede by descent), who was made ruler over the Babylonian[z] kingdom— 2in the first year of his reign, I, Daniel, understood from the Scriptures, according to the word of the LORD given to Jeremiah the prophet, that the desolation of Jerusalem would last seventy[v] years. 3So I turned to the Lord God and pleaded with him in prayer and petition, in fasting,[w] and in sackcloth and ashes.[x]

4I prayed to the LORD my God and confessed:[y]

"O Lord, the great and awesome God,[z] who keeps his covenant of love[a] with all who love him and obey his commands, 5we have sinned[b] and done wrong.[c] We have been wicked and have rebelled; we have turned away[d] from your commands and laws.[e] 6We have not listened[f] to your servants the prophets,[g] who spoke in your name to our kings, our princes and our fathers,[h] and to all the people of the land.

7"Lord, you are righteous,[i] but this day we are covered with shame[j]—the men of Judah and people of Jerusalem and all Israel, both near and far, in all the countries where you have scattered[k] us because of our unfaithfulness[l] to you.[m] 8O LORD, we and our kings, our princes and our fathers are covered with shame because we have sinned against you.[n] 9The Lord our God is merciful and forgiving,[o] even though we have rebelled against him;[p] 10we have not obeyed the LORD our God or kept the laws he gave us through his servants the prophets.[q] 11All Israel has transgressed[r] your law[s] and turned away, refusing to obey you.

"Therefore the curses[t] and sworn judgments[u] written in the Law of Moses, the servant of God, have been poured out on us, because we have sinned[v] against you. 12You have fulfilled[w] the words spoken against us and against our rulers by bringing upon us great disaster.[x] Under the whole heaven nothing has ever been done like[y] what has been done to Jerusalem.[z] 13Just as it is written in the Law of Moses, all this disaster has come upon us, yet we have not sought the favor of the LORD[a] our God by turning from our sins and giving attention to your truth.[b] 14The LORD did not hesitate to bring the disaster[c] upon us, for the LORD our God is righteous in everything he does;[d] yet we have not obeyed him.[e]

15"Now, O Lord our God, who brought your people out of Egypt with a mighty hand[f] and who made for yourself a name[g] that endures to this day, we have sinned, we have done wrong. 16O Lord, in keeping with all your righteous acts,[h] turn away[i] your anger and your wrath[j] from Jerusalem,[k] your city, your holy hill.[l] Our sins and the iniquities of our fathers have made Jerusalem and your people an object of scorn[m] to all those around us.

17"Now, our God, hear the prayers and petitions of your servant. For your sake, O Lord, look with favor[n] on your desolate sanctuary. 18Give ear,[o] O God, and hear;[p] open your eyes and see[q] the desolation of the city that bears your Name.[r] We do not make requests of you because we are righteous, but because of your great mercy.[s] 19O Lord, listen! O Lord, forgive![t] O Lord, hear and act! For your sake,[u] O my God,

The Seventy "Sevens"

20While I was speaking and praying, confessing[v] my sin and the sin of my people Israel and making my request to the LORD my God for his holy hill[w]— 21while I was still in prayer, Gabriel,[x] the man I had seen in the earlier vision, came to me in swift flight about the time of the evening sacrifice.[y] 22He instructed me and said to me, "Daniel, I have now come to give you insight and understanding.[z] 23As soon as you began to pray,[a] an answer was given, which I have come to tell you, for you are highly esteemed.[b] Therefore, consider the message and understand the vision:[c]

24"Seventy 'sevens'[a] are decreed for your people and your holy city[d] to finish[b] transgression, to put an end to sin, to atone[e] for wickedness, to bring in everlasting righteousness,[f] to seal up vision and prophecy and to anoint the most holy.[c]

25"Know and understand this: From the issuing of the decree[d] to restore and rebuild[g] Jerusalem until the Anointed One,[e h] the ruler,[i] comes, there will be seven 'sevens,' and sixty-two 'sevens.' It will be rebuilt with streets and a trench, but in times of trouble.[j] 26After the sixty-two 'sevens,' the Anointed One will be cut off[k] and will have nothing.[f] The people of the ruler who will come will destroy the city and the sanctuary. The end will come like a flood:[l] War will continue until the end, and desolations[m] have been decreed.[n] 27He will confirm a covenant with many for one 'seven.'[g] In the middle of the 'seven'[g] he will put an end to sacrifice and offering. And on a wing [L]of the temple[J] he will set up an abomination that causes desolation, until the end that is decreed[o] is poured out on him."[h i]

Daniel's Vision of a Man

10 In the third year of Cyrus[p] king of Persia, a revelation was given to Daniel (who was called Belteshazzar).[q] Its message was true[r] and it concerned a great war.[j] The understanding of the message came to him in a vision.

2At that time I, Daniel, mourned[s] for three weeks. 3I ate no choice food; no meat or wine touched my lips;[t] and I used no lotions at all until the three weeks were over.

4On the twenty-fourth day of the first month, as I was standing on the bank[u] of the great river, the Tigris,[v] 5I looked up[w] and there before me was a man dressed in linen,[x] with a belt of the finest gold[y] around his waist. 6His body was like chrysolite,[z] his face like lightning,[a] his eyes like flaming torches,[b] his arms and legs like the gleam of burnished bronze,[c] and his voice[d] like the sound of a multitude.

7I, Daniel, was the only one who saw the vision; the men with me did not see it,[e] but such terror overwhelmed them that they fled and hid themselves. 8So I was left alone,[f] gazing at this great vi-

9:20 While I was speaking. See Isa 65:24.

9:24 sevens. Probably seven-year periods of time, making a total of 490 years, but the numbers may be symbolic. Of the six purposes mentioned (all to be fulfilled through the Messiah), some believe that the last three were not achieved by the crucifixion and resurrection of Christ but await his further action: the establishment of everlasting righteousness (on earth), the complete fulfillment of vision and prophecy, and the anointing of the "most holy" (see NIV text note).

9:25–27 The time between the decree authorizing the rebuilding of Jerusalem (v. 25) and the coming of the Messiah ("the Anointed One") was to be 69 (7 plus 62) "sevens," or 483 years (see note on Ezr 7:11). The "seven 'sevens' " may refer to the period of the complete restoration of Jerusalem (partially narrated in Ezra and Nehemiah) and the "sixty-two 'sevens' " to the period between that restoration and the Messiah's coming to Israel. The final (70th) "seven" is not mentioned specifically until v. 27, following the prophecy of the destruction of Jerusalem by "the people of the ruler who will come" (Titus in A.D. 70). Therefore, while many hold that the 70th "seven" was fulfilled during Christ's earthly ministry and the years immediately following, others conclude that there is an indeterminate interval between the 69th and the 70th "seven"—a period of "war" and "desolation" (v. 26). According to this latter opinion, in the 70th "seven" the little horn or beast of the last days (referred to here as the one who sets up an "abomination that causes desolation" and who is the antitype of the Roman Titus) will establish a covenant for seven years with the Jews (the "many") but will violate the covenant halfway through that period (but see also note on v. 27). The cutting off of the Anointed One (v. 26) refers to the crucifixion of Christ.

9:27 He will confirm a covenant . . . will put an end to sacrifice. According to some, a reference to the Messiah's ("the Anointed One," v. 26) instituting the new covenant and putting "an end" to the OT sacrificial system; according to others, a reference to the antichrist's ("the [ultimate] ruler who will come," v. 26) making a treaty with the Jews in the future and then disrupting their system of worship. abomination that causes desolation. See note on 11:31.

10:1 third year of Cyrus. The third year after his conquest of Babylonia in 539 B.C.

10:3 See 1:8–16.

10:5–6 See Rev 1:12–16.

10:7 Cf. Ac 9:7.

sion; I had no strength left,[g] my face turned deathly pale[h] and I was helpless.[i] 9Then I heard him speaking, and as I listened to him, I fell into a deep sleep, my face to the ground.[j]

10A hand touched me[k] and set me trembling on my hands and knees.[l] 11He said, "Daniel, you who are highly esteemed,[m] consider carefully the words I am about to speak to you, and stand up,[n] for I have now been sent to you." And when he said this to me, I stood up trembling.

12Then he continued, "Do not be afraid,[o] Daniel. Since the first day that you set your mind to gain understanding and to humble[p] yourself before your God, your words[q] were heard, and I have come in response to them.[r] 13But the prince[s] of the Persian kingdom resisted me twenty-one days. Then Michael,[t] one of the chief princes, came to help me, because I was detained there with the king of Persia. 14Now I have come to explain[u] to you what will happen to your people in the future,[v] for the vision concerns a time yet to come.[w]"

15While he was saying this to me, I bowed with my face toward the ground and was speechless.[x] 16Then one who looked like a man[k] touched my lips, and I opened my mouth and began to speak.[y] I said to the one standing before me, "I am overcome with anguish[z] because of the vision, my lord, and I am helpless. 17How can I, your servant, talk with you, my lord? My strength is gone and I can hardly breathe."[a]

18Again the one who looked like a man touched[b] me and gave me strength.[c] 19"Do not be afraid, O man highly esteemed," he said. "Peace![e] Be strong now; be strong."[f]

When he spoke to me, I was strengthened and said, "Speak, my lord, since you have given me strength."[g]

20So he said, "Do you know why I have come to you? Soon I will return to fight against the prince of Persia, and when I go, the prince of Greece[h] will come; 21but first I will tell you what is written in the Book of Truth.[i] (No one supports me against them except Michael,[j] your prince. 1And in the first year of Darius[k] the Mede, I took my stand to support and protect him.)

The Kings of the South and the North

2"Now then, I tell you the truth:[l] Three more kings will appear in Persia, and then a fourth, who will be far richer than all the others. When he has gained power by his wealth, he will stir up everyone against the kingdom of Greece.[m] 3Then a mighty king will appear, who will rule with great power and do as he pleases.[n] 4After he has appeared, his empire will be broken up and parceled out toward the four winds of heaven.[o] It will not go to his descendants, nor will it have the power he exercised, because his empire will be uprooted[p] and given to others.

5"The king of the South will become strong, but one of his commanders will become even stronger than he and will rule his own kingdom with great power. 6After some years, they will become allies. The daughter of the king of the South will go to the king of the North to make an alliance, but she will not retain her power, and he and his power[l] will not last. In those days she will be handed over, together with her royal escort and her father[m] and the one who supported her.

7"One from her family line will arise to take her place. He will attack the forces of the king of the North[q] and enter his fortress; he will fight against them and be victorious. 8He will also seize their

[9]Then the king of the North will invade the realm of the king of the South but will retreat to his own country. [11]"Then the king of the South will march out in a rage and fight against the king of the North, who will raise a large army, but it will be defeated.[u] [12]When the army is carried off, the king of the South will be filled with pride and will slaughter many thousands, yet he will not remain triumphant. [13]For the king of the North will muster another army, larger than the first; and after several years, he will advance with a huge army fully equipped.

[14]"In those times many will rise against the king of the South. The violent men among your own people will rebel in fulfillment of the vision, but without success. [15]Then the king of the North will come and build up siege ramps[v] and will capture a fortified city. The forces of the South will be powerless to resist; even their best troops will not have the strength to stand. [16]The invader will do as he pleases;[w] no one will be able to stand against him.[x] He will establish himself in the Beautiful Land and will have the power to destroy it.[y] [17]He will determine to come with the might of his entire kingdom and will make an alliance with the king of the South. Soon after the death of Alexander the Great in 323 B.C., his generals divided his empire into four parts, two of which—Egypt and Syria—were under the rule of the Ptolemies and Seleucids respectively. The Holy Land was controlled from Egypt by the Ptolemaic dynasty from 323 to 198, and was subsequently governed by the Seleucids of Syria from 198 to 142.

The Diadochi, as the successors of Alexander were called, struggled bitterly for power over his domain. At first Ptolemy I seized his own satrapy, Egypt and North Africa, which had splendid resources and natural defense capabilities. Seleucus gained Syria and Mesopotamia, and by 301 Lysimachus held Thrace and Asia Minor and Cassander ruled Macedon. The situation changed again by 277, when only three major Hellenistic kingdoms stabilized in Egypt, in Syria, and in Macedonia under the Antigonids (277-168). Each continued until the eventual triumph of Rome.

Da 11 treats the "king of the South" and the "king of the North," describing their conflicts, wars and alliances. Their hostility toward the people of God culminated in the "abomination that causes desolation" (Da 11:31), identified historically with the reign of Antiochus IV Epiphanes (175-164). The Maccabean revolt followed, leading eventually to the founding of the Hasmonean dynasty.

In Ecclesiasticus (an Apocryphal book written c. 190 B.C.), Jesus ben Sira spoke of "the twelve prophets" (Ecclesiasticus 49:10) as a unit parallel to Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel. He thus indicated that these 12 prophecies were at that time thought of as a unit and were probably already written together on one scroll, as is the case in later times. Josephus (Against Apion, 1.8.3) also was aware of this grouping. Augustine (The City of God, 18.25) called them the "Minor Prophets," referring to the small size of these books by comparison with the major prophetic books and not at all suggesting that they are of minor importance.

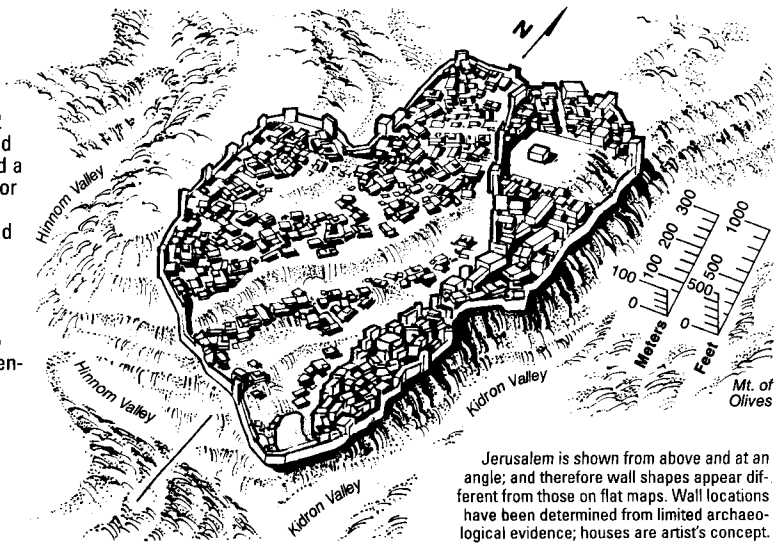
In the traditional Jewish canon these works are arranged in what was thought to be their chronological order: (1) the books that came from the period of Assyrian power (Hosea, Joel, Amos, Obadiah, Jonah, Micah), (2) those written about the time of the decline of Assyria (Nahum, Habakkuk, Zephaniah) and (3) those dating from the postexilic era (Haggai, Zechariah, Malachi). On the other hand, their order in the Septuagint (the earliest Greek translation of the OT) is: Hosea, Amos, Micah, Joel, Obadiah, Jonah, Nahum, Habakkuk, Zephaniah, Haggai, Zechariah, Malachi (the order of the first six was probably determined by length, except for Jonah, which is placed last among them because of its different character).

In any event, it appears that within a century after the composition of Malachi the Jews had brought together the 12 shorter prophecies to form a book (scroll) of prophetic writings, which was received as canonical and paralleled the three major prophetic books of Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel. The great Greek manuscripts Alexandrinus and Vaticanus place the Twelve before the major prophets, but in the traditional Jewish canon and in all modern versions they appear after them.

Jerusalem during the Time of the Prophets

c. 750–586 B.C.

Refugees arrived in Jerusalem about the time of the fall of the northern kingdom (722 B.C.). Settlement spread to the western hill, and a new wall was added for protection. Hezekiah carved an underground aqueduct out of solid rock to bring an ample water supply inside the city walls, enabling Jerusalem to survive the siege of Sennacherib in 701.



Jerusalem is shown from above and at an angle; and therefore wall shapes appear different from those on flat maps. Wall locations have been determined from limited archaeological evidence; houses are artist's concept.

Hosea

Author and Date

Hosea son of Beeri prophesied about the middle of the eighth century B.C., his ministry beginning during or shortly after that of Amos. Amos threatened God's judgment on Israel at the hands of an unnamed enemy; Hosea identifies that enemy as Assyria (7:11; 8:9; 10:6; 11:11). Judging from the kings mentioned in 1:1, Hosea must have prophesied for at least 38 years, though almost nothing is known about him from sources outside his book. He was the only one of the writing prophets to come from the northern kingdom (Israel), and his prophecy is primarily directed to that kingdom. But since his prophetic activity is dated by reference to kings of Judah, the book was probably written in Judah after the fall of the northern capital, Samaria (722–721)—an idea suggested by references to Judah throughout the book (1:7,11; 4:15; 5:5,10,13; 6:4,11; 10:11; 11:12; 12:2). Whether Hosea himself authored the book that preserves his prophecies is not known. The book of Hosea stands first in the division of the Bible called the Book of the Twelve (in the Apocrypha; see Ecclesiasticus 49:10) or the Minor Prophets (a name referring to the brevity of these books as compared to Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel).

Background

Hosea lived in the tragic final days of the northern kingdom, during which six kings (following Jeroboam II) reigned within 25 years (2Ki 15:8—17:41). Four (Zechariah, Shallum, Pekahiah, Pekah) were murdered by their successors while in office, and one (Hoshea) was captured in battle; only one (Menahem) was succeeded on the throne by his son. These kings, given to Israel by God "in anger" and taken away "in wrath" (13:11), floated away "like a twig on the surface of the waters" (10:7). "Bloodshed" followed "bloodshed" (4:2). Assyria was expanding westward, and Menahem accepted that world power as overlord and paid tribute (2Ki 15:19–20). But shortly afterward, in 733 B.C., Israel was dismembered by Assyria because of the intrigue of Pekah (who had gained Israel's throne by killing Pekahiah, Menahem's son and successor). Only the territories of Ephraim and western Manasseh were left to the king of Israel. Then, because of the disloyalty of Hoshea (Pekah's successor), Samaria was captured and its people exiled in 722–721, bringing the northern kingdom to an end.

Theme and Message

The first part of the book (chs. 1—3) narrates the family life of Hosea as a symbol (similar to the symbolism in the lives of Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel) to convey the message the prophet had from the Lord for his people. God ordered Hosea to marry an adulterous wife, Gomer, and their three children were each given a symbolic name representing part of the ominous message. Ch. 2 alternates between Hosea's relation to Gomer and its symbolic representation of God's relation to Israel. The children are told to drive the unfaithful mother out of the house; but it was her reform, not her riddance, that was sought. The prophet was ordered to continue loving her, and he took her back and kept her in isolation for a while (ch. 3). The affair graphically represents the Lord's relation to the Israelites (cf. 2:4,9,18), who had been disloyal to him by worshiping Canaanite deities as the source of their abundance. Israel was to go through a period of exile (cf. 7:16; 8:14; 9:3,6,17; 11:5).

But the Lord still loved his covenant people and longed to take them back, as Hosea took back Gomer. This return is described with imagery recalling the exodus from Egypt and settlement in Canaan (cf. 1:11; 2:14–23; 3:5; 11:10–11; 14:4–7). Hosea saw Israel's past experiences with the Lord as the fundamental pattern, or type, of God's future dealings with his people.

The second part of the book (chs. 4—14) gives the details of Israel's involvement in Canaanite religion, but a systematic outline of the material is difficult. Like other prophetic books, Hosea carried a call to repentance. Israel's alternative to destruction was to forsake her idols and return to the Lord (chs. 6; 14). Information gleaned from materials discovered at Ugarit (dating from the 15th century B.C.; see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii) and from the writings of the early Christian historian Eusebius enables us to know more clearly the religious practices against which Hosea protested.

Hosea saw the failure to acknowledge God (4:6; 13:4) as Israel's basic problem. God's relation to Israel was that of love (2:19; 4:1; 6:6; 10:12; 12:6). The intimacy of the covenant relationship between God and Israel, illustrated in the first part of the book by the husband-wife relationship, is later amplified by the father-child relationship (11:1–4). Disloyalty to God was spiritual adultery (4:13–14; 5:4; 9:1; cf. Jer 3). Israel had turned to Baal worship and had sacrificed at the pagan high places, which included associating with the sacred prostitutes at the sanctuaries (4:14) and worshiping the calf image at Samaria (8:5; 10:5–6; 13:2). There was also international intrigue (5:13; 7:8–11) and materialism. Yet despite God's condemnation and the harshness of language with which the unavoidable judgment was announced, the major purpose of the book is to proclaim God's compassion and love that cannot—finally—let Israel go.

Special Problems

The book of Hosea has at least two perplexing problems. The first concerns the nature of the story told in chs. 1—3 and the character of Gomer. While some interpreters have thought the story to be merely an allegory of the relation between God and Israel, others claim, more plausibly, that the story is to be taken literally. Among the latter, some insist that Gomer was faithful at first and later became unfaithful, others that she was unfaithful even before the marriage.

The second problem of the book is the relation of ch. 3 to ch. 1. Despite the fact that no children are mentioned in ch. 3, some interpreters claim that the two chapters are different accounts of the same episode. The traditional interpretation, however, is more likely, namely, that ch. 3 is a sequel to ch. 1—i.e., after Gomer proved unfaithful, Hosea was instructed to take her back.

Hosea's Wife and Children

2When the LORD began to speak through Hosea, the LORD said to him, "Go, take to yourself an adulterous[i] wife and children of unfaithfulness, because the land is guilty of the vilest adultery[j] in departing from the LORD." 3So he married Gomer[k] daughter of Diblaim, and she conceived and bore him a son.

4Then the LORD said to Hosea, "Call him Jezreel,[l] because I will soon punish the house of Jehu for the massacre at Jezreel, and I will put an end to the kingdom of Israel. 5In that day I will break Israel's bow in the Valley of Jezreel.[m]"

6Gomer[n] conceived again and gave birth to a daughter. Then the LORD said to Hosea, "Call her Lo-Ruhamah,[bo] for I will no longer show love to the house of Israel,[p] that I should at all forgive them. 7Yet I will show love to the house of Judah; and I will save them—not by bow,[q] sword or battle, or by horses and horsemen, but by the LORD their God.[r]"

8After she had weaned Lo-Ruhamah,[s] Gomer had another son. 9Then the LORD said, "Call him Lo-Ammi,[c] for you are not my people, and I am not your God.[t]

10"Yet the Israelites will be like the sand on the seashore, which cannot be measured or counted.[u] In the place where it was said to them, 'You are not my people,' they will be called 'sons of the living God.'[vw] 11The people of Judah and the people of Israel will be reunited,[x] and they will appoint one leader[y] and will come up out of the land,[z] for great will be the day of Jezreel.[a]

2 "Say of your brothers, 'My people,' and of your sisters, 'My loved one.'[b]

Israel Punished and Restored

for she is not my wife, and I am not her husband.
Let her remove the adulterous[d] look between her breasts.

3Otherwise I will strip[e] her naked

I will make her like a desert,[g] turn her into a parched land, and slay her with thirst.

[a]1 Hebrew Joash, a variant of Jehoash
[b]6 Lo-Ruhamah means not loved. [c]9 Lo-Ammi means not my people.

1:1 word of the LORD. A claim of authority paralleling that of Joel (1:1), Micah (1:1) and Zechariah (1:1,7). Hosea. Means "salvation." Uzziah. Reigned 792–740 B.C. Jotham. 750–732. Ahaz. 735–715. Hezekiah. 729–686. Some of the reigns overlapped, the co-regency of Ahaz and Hezekiah being the longest (see note on Isa 36:1). Jeroboam. Jeroboam II, 793–753. Hosea was a contemporary of Isaiah, Amos and Micah (see the similar first verse in their prophecies).

1:2 take ... an adulterous wife. See Introduction: Special Problems. unfaithfulness. The one great sin of which the Lord (through Hosea) accuses Israel.

1:3 Gomer. Not mentioned outside this book. him. The omission of this word in vv. 6, 9 may indicate that Hosea was not the father of Gomer's next two children.

1:4 Jezreel. Means "God scatters," here used to reinforce the announcement of judgment on the reigning house (see notes on v. 11; 2:22). Jeroboam II was of the dynasty of Jehu (841–814 B.C.), which was established at Jezreel by the overthrow of Ahab's son Joram (2Ki 9:14–37; cf. 1Ki 19:16–17). Jehu's dynasty ended with the murder of Zechariah in 753 (2Ki 15:8–10).

1:5 Israel's bow. Israel's military power, broken in 724 B.C., though Samaria held out under siege for some two years longer (2Ki 17:5–6).

1:6 Lo-Ruhamah. See NIV text note. The naming represents a reversal of the love (compassion) that God had earlier shown to Israel (Ex 33:19; Dt 7:6–8) but that later was promised again (2:23).

1:7 Judah ... I will save. They were saved from Assyria by the Lord in 722–721 B.C. and again in 701 (see 2Ki 19:32–36).

1:9 Lo-Ammi. See NIV text note. The naming represents a break in the covenant relationship between the Lord and Israel (see Ex 6:7; Jer 7:23), which later, however, would be restored (v. 10; 2:1,23). The warnings became more severe in moving from the first to the third child.

1:10 Cited in Ro 9:26; 1Pe 2:10 and applied to the mission to the Gentiles. Yet. The threatened punishment (vv. 4–9) would be for only a limited time, and a period of blessing would follow. sand on the seashore. See the promise to Abraham and Jacob (Ge 22:17; 32:12; cf. Jer 33:22; Heb 11:12). sons. Contrasts with "children of unfaithfulness" (v. 2; 2:4). living God. Contrasts with idols—"which are not God" (Dt 32:17).

1:11 reunited. Israel and Judah would become one nation again. out of the land. Possibly the land of exile (cf. Ex 1:10). Another interpretation is that they would spring up from the ground as plants do. Jezreel. Here "God scatters" (see note on v. 4) refers to sowing or planting, indicating a reversal of the meaning of the first child's name (see 2:21–23).

2:1 My people ... My loved one. The negatives associated with the names of Hosea's children (see NIV text notes on 1:6,9) are dropped.

2:2 not my wife. The marriage was broken by unfaithfulness, but reconciliation, not divorce, was sought (cf. vv. 7–15).

2:3 strip her. The husband supplied the wife's clothing (see Ex 21:10; Eze 16:10), and here her unfaithfulness was exposed (see Jer 13:26; Eze 16:39). bare. As Israel was when the Lord found her in Egypt—in slavery and with nothing (cf. Eze 16:4–8; Na 3:5).

4 I will not show my love to her children,[h] because they are the children of adultery.[i] 5 Their mother has been unfaithful and has conceived them in disgrace.
She said, 'I will go after my lovers,[j] who give me my food and my water, my wool and my linen, my oil and my drink.'[k]
6 Therefore I will block her path with thornbushes;
I will wall her in so that she cannot find her way.[l]
7 She will chase after her lovers but not catch them;
she will look for them but not find them.[m]
Then she will say,
'I will go back to my husband[n] as at first,[o]
for then I was better off[p] than now.'
8 She has not acknowledged[q] that I was the one who gave her the grain, the new wine and oil,[r] who lavished on her the silver and gold[s]— which they used for Baal.[t] 9 "Therefore I will take away my grain[u] when it ripens, and my new wine[v] when it is ready.
I will take back my wool and my linen,
intended to cover her nakedness.
10 So now I will expose[w] her lewdness before the eyes of her lovers;[x]
no one will take her out of my hands.[y] 11 I will stop[z] all her celebrations:[a] her yearly festivals, her New Moons, her Sabbath days—all her appointed feasts.[b] 12 I will ruin her vines[c] and her fig trees,[d] which she said were her pay from her lovers;[e]
I will make them a thicket,[f]
and wild animals will devour them.[g] 13 I will punish her for the days she burned incense[h] to the Baals;[i] she decked herself with rings and jewelry,[j] and went after her lovers,[k] but me she forgot,[l]"
declares the LORD.[m]
14 "Therefore I am now going to allure her;
I will lead her into the desert[n]
and speak tenderly to her.
15 There I will give her back her vineyards, and will make the Valley of Achor[d][o] a door of hope.
There she will sing[e][p] as in the days of her youth,[q]
as in the day she came up out of Egypt.[r]
16 "In that day," declares the LORD,
"you will call me 'my husband';[s]

[d] 15 Achor means trouble. [e] 15 Or respond

2:4 children of adultery. See 1:2. This contrasts with being "sons" of the Lord (1:10; 11:1).
2:5 go after. The wife was chasing other men (see Jer 3:2; Eze 16:33). lovers. See vv. 7,10. The reference is to Canaanite deities (such as Baal), whose worshipers hoped to gain agricultural fertility. who give my food . . . my drink. Ugaritic texts attribute crops to rain given by Baal. wool . . . linen . . . oil . . . drink. The agricultural staples of the Holy Land. Israel does not know the true source of her blessings.
2:6 block her path. Rather than punish Israel with death (cf. Dt 22:21; Eze 16:39–40; Na 3:5–7), the Lord would isolate her.
2:7 chase. A cultic term in Hosea; elsewhere the Hebrew for this word is translated "press on" or "pursue" (6:3; 8:3; 12:1). look for. See 5:6,15. not find. See 5:6. go back. The Hebrew for this expression often means "repent." my husband. The Lord.
2:8 She has not acknowledged. The Canaanites attributed grain, wine and oil to Baal. silver and gold. Used for making idols (see 8:4; 9:6; 13:2). Baal. The Canaanite god who was believed to control the weather and the fertility of crops, animals and man (see note on Jdg 2:13).
2:9 take away. By withholding the fruits of field and flock, the Lord made known the true source of those blessings.
2:10 expose her lewdness. The unfaithful wife was exposed to public shame (see La 1:8; Eze 16:37; 23:29). no one will take her. Baal had no power.
2:11 stop . . . celebrations. In exile these joyous seasons would be only a memory. yearly festivals. See Ex 23:14–17; Dt 16:16. See also chart on "OT Feasts and Other Sacred Days," p. 174. New Moons. See 2Ki 4:23; Isa 1:13; Am 8:5. Sabbath. See Ex 20:8–11.
2:12 pay from her lovers. The harlot's pay (see 9:1; Dt 23:18; Eze 16:33; Mic 1:7). Israel attributed her agricultural products to the false gods she worshiped, rather than to the Lord (see Dt 11:13–14). thicket. See Isa 5:5–6; 7:23; 32:13; Mic 3:12.
2:13 days. Festival days. Baals. See v. 17; 11:2. Hosea used the plural here, suggesting the idols at the many local shrines (see Jer 2:23; 9:14). went after. See note on v. 5. forgot. The opposite of "know" in Hosea (cf. 13:4–6).
2:14 into the desert. For a second betrothal (see vv. 19–20). It refers back to the days of Israel's desert wandering, before she was tempted by the Baals in Canaan. speak tenderly to. Reassure, encourage, comfort (cf. Ge 34:3; Ru 2:13; Isa 40:2). God continually shows love in the midst of judgment.
2:15 Valley of Achor. Near Jericho (see Jos 7:1–26; 15:7; Isa 65:10). As the prophet reversed the meaning of the names of his children, so also the meaning of Achor (see NIV text note)—where God first judged his people in the promised land—became a symbol of new opportunity.
2:16–17 husband . . . master . . . Baals. A play on words.

you will no longer call me 'my master.[f]' 17I will remove the names of the Baals from her lips;[t]
no longer will their names be invoked.[u] 18In that day I will make a covenant for them with the beasts of the field and the birds of the air and the creatures that move along the ground.[v]
Bow and sword and battle
I will abolish[w] from the land,
so that all may lie down in safety.[x]
19I will betroth[y] you to me forever;
I will betroth you in[g] righteousness and justice,[z]
in[h] love and compassion.[a] 20I will betroth you in faithfulness, and you will acknowledge[b] the LORD.[c]

21"In that day I will respond,"
declares the LORD—
"I will respond[d] to the skies,
and they will respond to the earth;
22and the earth will respond to the grain,
the new wine and oil,[e]
and they will respond to Jezreel.[i][f]

23I will plant[g] her for myself in the land;
I will show my love to the one I called 'Not my loved one.[j][h]'
I will say to those called 'Not my people,[k]' 'You are my people';[i] and they will say, 'You are my God.[j]' "

Hosea's Reconciliation With His Wife

3 The LORD said to me, "Go, show your love to your wife again, though she is loved by another and is an adulteress.[k] Love her as the LORD loves the Israelites, though they turn to other gods and love the sacred raisin cakes.[l]"

2So I bought her for fifteen shekels[l] of silver and about a homer and a lethek[m] of barley. 3Then I told her, "You are to live with[n] me many days; you must not be a prostitute or be intimate with any man, and I will live with[n] you."

4For the Israelites will live many days without king or prince,[m] without sacrifice[n] or sacred stones,[o] without ephod[p] or idol.[q] 5Afterward the Israel-

Of the two Hebrew words for husband, one (master) is identical with the name of the god Baal (see NIV text note on v. 16). There will be such a vigorous reaction against Baal worship that this Hebrew word for "master" will no longer be used of the Lord.

2:18 make a covenant. See 6:7; 8:1. Animals, the instruments of destruction in v. 12, as well as birds and insects, would no longer threaten life. Nature and history combine in a picture of peace (see Isa 11:6–9; 65:25). Bow and sword. See 1:5. War is terminated. land. Israel (see 1:2; 4:1,3; 9:3; 10:1). lie down in safety. See Jer 33:16; Eze 34:24–28.

2:19–20 Rather than money, these five traits necessary to the covenant relationship make up the bride-price (see Ex 22:16–17; Dt 22:23–29; 1Sa 18:25; 2Sa 3:14).

2:19 righteousness. See 10:12; Jer 23:6; Am 6:12; Mic 6:5. justice. See Am 5:24. love. See 4:1; 6:4; 10:12; 12:6. compassion. A reversal of God's threatened withdrawal of compassion (see 1:6 and NIV text note). "Lo-Ruhamah" means lit. "not shown compassion" (cf. Ps 51:1; 103:3–14).

2:20 faithfulness. Dependability (see Dt 32:4; Ps 88:11). acknowledge. The Hebrew for this word can refer to intimate marital relations (Ge 19:8; Nu 31:17–18,35), but it also refers to active acknowledgment of a covenant partner (see 4:1,6; 5:4; 6:3,6; 8:2; 11:3; 13:4).

2:21 respond. The woman (Israel) responded to the Lord's overtures (see NIV text note on v. 15); now God responded to her new behavior. The land also responded in becoming productive (vv. 21–22).

2:22 Jezreel. Here used in the sense "God plants" (see NIV text note and v. 23; see also note on 1:11). The threats represented by the names of the children are turned into blessings (see 1:10). The terms of the covenant were: "I will take you as my own people, and I will be your God" (Ex 6:7; see note on Zec 8:8).

2:23 You are my God. The people respond to God's graciousness. This verse is quoted in part in Ro 9:25; 1Pe 2:10 and applied to Gentiles coming into the church.

3:1 said to me. Ch. 3 is narrated in the first person, ch. 1 in the third person. Go ... love ... your wife. Hosea's love for unfaithful Gomer illustrated God's love for unfaithful Israel. God's love for Israel (see 11:1; 14:4) is the basic theme of the book. other gods. See Ex 20:3; Dt 31:20. raisin cakes. Offered to Baal in thanksgiving for harvest.

3:2 Gomer had evidently become a slave, and Hosea bought her back. fifteen shekels. Half the usual price of a slave (Ex 21:7,32) or of the redemption value of a woman's vow (Lev 27:4). lethek. See NIV text note. Comparison with prices in 2Ki 7:1,16,18 suggests that half was paid in money (silver) and half in produce (barley)—for a total value of 30 shekels.

3:3–5 A picture of exile and return.

3:3 many days. Not forever. There would be an "afterward" (v. 5), a future. live with. Suggests a period of isolation (see NIV text note; see also 2:6), comparable to Israel's exile.

3:4 king. See 1:4; 5:1; 8:4,10; 10:15; 13:10–11. prince. See 5:10; 7:3,5; 8:4; 13:10. without sacrifice. See 6:6; 8:11,13. sacred stones. See 10:1–2; Dt 16:22; 1Ki 14:23; 2Ki 17:10; Mic 5:13. ephod. Here an image associated with idols (see Jdg 8:27; 17:5). idol. See Ge 31:30; 1Sa 19:13,16.

3:5 return. A basic word in Hosea's vocabulary (see 2:7; 5:4; 6:1; 7:10; 11:5; 12:6; 14:1–2). seek. Israel's repentance is envisioned (cf. 5:15)—the reverse of her present stubborn rebellion (7:10). LORD their God. See 12:9; 13:4; Jer 50:4. David their king. The Messianic king from the dynasty of David (see Jer 30:9; Eze 34:24). After the death of Solomon, Israel (the northern kingdom) had abandoned ites will return and seek[r] the LORD their God and David their king.[s] They will come trembling[t] to the LORD and to his blessings in the last days.[u]

The Charge Against Israel

4 Hear the word of the LORD, you Israelites, because the LORD has a charge[v] to bring against you who live in the land:[w]
"There is no faithfulness,[x] no love,
no acknowledgment[y] of God in the land.[z] 2There is only cursing,[o] lying[a] and murder,[b] stealing[c] and adultery;[d]
they break all bounds, and bloodshed follows bloodshed.[e] 3Because of this the land mourns,[p][f] and all who live in it waste away;[g]
the beasts of the field and the birds of the air and the fish of the sea are dying.[h]

4"But let no man bring a charge, let no man accuse another,
for your people are like those who bring charges against a priest.[i] 5You stumble[j] day and night, and the prophets stumble with you.
So I will destroy your mother[k]—
6 my people are destroyed from lack of knowledge.[l]
"Because you have rejected knowledge,
I also reject you as my priests;
because you have ignored the law[m] of your God,
I also will ignore your children.
7The more the priests increased,
the more they sinned against me;
they exchanged[q] their[r] Glory[n] for something disgraceful.[o] 8They feed on the sins of my people and relish their wickedness.[p] 9And it will be: Like people, like priests.[q]
I will punish both of them for their ways and repay them for their deeds.[r] 10"They will eat but not have enough;[s] they will engage in prostitution[t] but not increase, because they have deserted[u] the LORD to give themselves 11to prostitution,[v]
to old wine[w] and new,
which take away the understanding[x] 12of my people.
They consult a wooden idol[y]

the Davidic kings. his blessings. The vineyards and olive groves that had been taken away (see 2:12–13,21) and all of God's gifts (see Jer 31:12–14). last days. The Hebrew for this phrase occurs 13 times in the OT, sometimes simply meaning the future ("days to come," Ge 49:1), but most of the time, as no doubt here, referring to the Messianic age ("afterward," Joel 2:28; cf. Ac 2:17; Heb 1:2).

4:1–14:9 Deals with Israel's involvement in Canaanite religion, her moral sins and her international intrigues.

4:1 Hear the word. See, e.g., Isa 1:10; Jer 2:4; Eze 6:3. charge. As the Lord's spokesman, Hosea brought charges against unfaithful, covenant-breaking Israel (cf. v. 4; Isa 3:13; Jer 2:9; Mic 6:2). faithfulness. Loyalty to the covenant Lord (Jos 24:14) and right dealing with men (Pr 3:3). love. See 2:19; 10:12. acknowledgment of God. See 2:20 and note; 5:4; 6:6.

4:2 cursing ... adultery. The sins detailed (paralleled in Jer 7:9) transgress the Ten Commandments (see Ex 20:13–16; Dt 5:17–20). bloodshed. Includes (1) murder (see 6:8–9), (2) the assassinations following the death of Jeroboam II when three kings reigned in one year (2Ki 15:10–14) and (3) human sacrifice (Ps 106:38; Eze 16:20–21; 23:37). Where God is not acknowledged (v. 1), moral uprightness disappears.

4:3 land mourns. God's judgment on man's sin affects all living things in man's world (see, e.g., Isa 24:3–6; Jer 4:23–28). waste away. See Isa 19:8; Jer 14:2; 15:9; Joel 1:10.

4:4–9 An indictment against the priests, whose duty it was to be guardians of God's law and to furnish religious instruction (see Dt 31:9–13; 33:10; 2Ch 17:8–9; Ezr 7:6,10; Jer 18:18). Hosea warned the priests not to lodge charges against the people for bringing God's judgment down on the nation, for they themselves were guilty, and the people could also bring charges against them—as Hosea proceeded to do (see v. 9; Isa 28:7; Jer 2:26; 4:9; 23:11).

4:5 stumble. See 5:5. prophets. See Mic 2:6,11; 3:5–7. your mother. The nation (see 2:2,5; Isa 50:1).

4:6 my people. Israel (see vv. 8,12; 2:1,23; 6:11; 11:7; Mic 6:3). destroyed from lack of knowledge. Partly because the priests had failed to teach God's word to the people. rejected knowledge ... reject you. Punishment in kind. law of your God. Israel's source of life (see Dt 32:47), which the priests should have been faithfully promoting.

4:7 their Glory. God (see Ps 106:20).

4:8 feed on the sins. Priests devoured the sacrifices (1Sa 2:13–17), profiting from the continuation of the sin rather than helping to cure it (see 8:13).

4:9 Like people, like priests. Without exception, all would be punished for their sins.

4:10 eat but not have enough. The punishment fit the sin. prostitution. See vv. 12,18; 2:4; 6:10; 9:1; Ps 106:39. Instead of giving themselves to the Lord, they gave themselves to prostitution.

4:11 old wine. See 7:5; 9:10; 14:7. new. See 2:8–9,22; 7:14; 9:2.

4:12 wooden idol. An image of a god (see Jer 2:27; 10:8; Hab 2:19). stick of wood. Either the wooden idol or a diviner's rod (see Eze 21:21). spirit of prostitution. See 5:4. Hebrew idioms often describe inner tendencies in terms of "spirit."

and are answered by a stick of wood.[z]
A spirit of prostitution[a] leads them astray;[b]
they are unfaithful[c] to their God.
13 They sacrifice on the mountaintops and burn offerings on the hills,
under oak,[d] poplar and terebinth,
where the shade is pleasant.[e]
Therefore your daughters turn to prostitution[f]
and your daughters-in-law to adultery.[g]

14 "I will not punish your daughters when they turn to prostitution, nor your daughters-in-law
when they commit adultery, because the men themselves consort with harlots[h] and sacrifice with shrine prostitutes[i]— a people without understanding[j] will come to ruin![k]

15 "Though you commit adultery,
O Israel,
let not Judah become guilty.

"Do not go to Gilgal;[l]
do not go up to Beth Aven.[sm]
And do not swear, 'As surely as the LORD lives!'[n] 16 The Israelites are stubborn,[o]
like a stubborn heifer.[p]
How then can the LORD pasture them like lambs[q] in a meadow?
17 Ephraim is joined to idols;
leave him alone!
18 Even when their drinks are gone,
they continue their prostitution;
their rulers dearly love shameful ways.
19 A whirlwind[r] will sweep them away,
and their sacrifices will bring them shame.[s]

Judgment Against Israel

5 "Hear this, you priests!
Pay attention, you Israelites!
Listen, O royal house!
This judgment[t] is against you:
You have been a snare[u] at Mizpah,
a net[v] spread out on Tabor.
2 The rebels are deep in slaughter.[w]
I will discipline all of them.[x]
3 I know all about Ephraim;
Israel is not hidden[y] from me.
Ephraim, you have now turned to prostitution;
Israel is corrupt.[z]

4 "Their deeds do not permit them to return[a] to their God.
A spirit of prostitution[b] is in their heart;
they do not acknowledge[c] the LORD.

[s]15 Beth Aven means house of wickedness (a name for Bethel, which means house of God).

4:13 sacrifice. See 8:13. mountaintops. Places commonly chosen for pagan altars (see 10:8; Dt 12:2; 1Ki 14:23; 2Ki 17:10; Jer 2:20; 3:6). Clay tablets from Ugarit (see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii) tell of fertility rites carried out by the Canaanites at the high places. oak ... terebinth. Trees noted for their shade. turn to prostitution. Canaanite fertility rites involved sexual activity (v. 14) that led to general erosion of morals.

4:14 not punish. The men would punish their women for immorality, but God would have no part in their hypocrisy. harlots. Common prostitutes (see Ge 34:31; Lev 21:14; Eze 16:31). shrine prostitutes. Women of the sanctuaries who served as partners for men in cultic sexual activity (cf. Ge 38:21–22; Dt 23:18). without understanding. Contrast 14:9.

4:15 Judah. An aside warning (see Introduction: Author and Date). guilty. See 10:2; 13:1; 14:1. Do not go. The nation as a whole was addressed. Gilgal. A site near Jericho (see 9:15; 12:11; Jos 4:19–20; 1Sa 11:13–15) where the Israelites had established a religious shrine. Beth Aven. A sarcastic substitute name for Bethel (see NIV text note; see also 5:8), site of one of the cult centers established by Jeroboam I (1Ki 12:29). As surely as the LORD lives. A form of solemn oath (see Jdg 8:19; Ru 3:13; 1Sa 14:39; 26:10,16; Jer 4:2; 38:16). Though proper in itself—since it invoked the true God (see Dt 6:13; 10:20; Jos 23:7)—it was here forbidden because it was being used deceitfully, as though the Israelites were truly honoring the Lord (see Jer 5:2).

4:16 stubborn. See Ne 9:29; Zec 7:11. stubborn heifer. See 10:11; Jer 2:20; an apt figure for unruly Israel (see 11:4; Jer 31:18).

4:17 Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. idols. The golden calf (8:5; 13:2; 1Ki 12:28) and the cult of Baal (2:8,13). leave him alone. Nothing could be done to help (see 2Sa 16:11; 2Ki 23:18).

4:19 A whirlwind will sweep them away. Lit. "The wind will catch them up with its wings," probably a metaphor from the threshing floor (see 13:3; Ps 1:4) for the sudden violence that would bring the exile. Since the Hebrew for the words "wind" and "spirit" is the same, there is a possible play on words with the "spirit of prostitution" (v. 12; 5:4). shame. By means of their sacrifices they hoped to flourish, but God's punishment for their idolatry would bring them into disgrace among the nations (see 10:6).

5:1 priests ... Israelites ... royal house. The three groups addressed were all responsible for maintaining justice, but it miscarried at their hands. snare ... net. Devices for catching animals and birds, here used as metaphors for those who by economic and legal devices took cruel advantage of innocent people (see Job 18:8–10; Ps 140:5; Pr 29:5; La 1:13). Mizpah. Either (1) Mizpah in Gilead east of the Jordan (Ge 31:43–49) or (2) Mizpah in Benjamin (1Sa 7:5–6; 10:17). Tabor. A mountain at the southeastern edge of the Jezreel Valley. Reference must have been to well-known events that illustrated Israel's corruption.

5:2 discipline. A significant word in the prophets for God's corrective action against his people (see Isa 26:16; Jer 2:30; 5:3; 7:28).

5:3 Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. prostitution. See 1:2; 4:10,18.

5:4 Their deeds. See 4:9; 7:2; 9:15; 12:2. Persistent sin can make repentance impossible (see Jer 13:23; Jn 8:34; Ro 6:6,16). spirit of prostitution. See 4:12. not acknowledge the LORD. See 4:6; Isa 1:2–4.

5 Israel's arrogance testifies[d] against them;
the Israelites, even Ephraim, stumble[e] in their sin;
Judah also stumbles with them.[f]
6 When they go with their flocks and herds to seek the LORD,[g]
they will not find him;
he has withdrawn[h] himself from them.
7 They are unfaithful[i] to the LORD;
they give birth to illegitimate[j] children.
Now their New Moon festivals[k] will devour[l] them and their fields.

8 "Sound the trumpet[m] in Gibeah,[n] the horn in Ramah.[o]
Raise the battle cry in Beth Aven[t];[p] lead on, O Benjamin.
9 Ephraim will be laid waste[q] on the day of reckoning.[r]
Among the tribes of Israel I proclaim what is certain.[s]
10 Judah's leaders are like those who move boundary stones.[t]
I will pour out my wrath[u] on them like a flood of water.
11 Ephraim is oppressed, trampled in judgment, intent on pursuing idols.[u][v]
12 I am like a moth[w] to Ephraim, like rot[x] to the people of Judah.

13 "When Ephraim[y] saw his sickness, and Judah his sores, then Ephraim turned to Assyria,[z] and sent to the great king for help.[a]
But he is not able to cure[b] you, not able to heal your sores.[c]
14 For I will be like a lion[d] to Ephraim, like a great lion to Judah.
I will tear them to pieces[e] and go away;
I will carry them off, with no one to rescue them.[f]
15 Then I will go back to my place[g] until they admit their guilt.[h]
And they will seek my face;[i] in their misery[j] they will earnestly seek me.[k]"

Israel Unrepentant

6 "Come, let us return[l] to the LORD.
He has torn us to pieces[m] but he will heal us;[n]
he has injured us but he will bind up our wounds.[o]
2 After two days he will revive us;[p] on the third day[q] he will restore[r] us, that we may live in his presence.
3 Let us acknowledge the LORD;
let us press on to acknowledge him.
As surely as the sun rises, he will appear;
he will come to us like the winter rains,[s]
like the spring rains that water the earth.[t]"

[t] 8 Beth Aven means house of wickedness (a name for Bethel, which means house of God). [u] 11 The meaning of the Hebrew for this word is uncertain.

5:5 arrogance. Stubborn rebellion against the Lord (see Dt 1:43; 1Sa 15:23; Ne 9:16; Job 35:12; Ps 10:2; Eze 16:56–57). testifies. In the case God presented against his people (see 4:1 and note). stumble. Experience calamity (see 4:5). Judah. See Introduction: Author and Date.

5:6 seek the LORD. Go to him with prayer and sacrifices (see 3:5; Am 5:4–5). not find him. Offering sacrifices in their situation was useless (see 2:7; cf. Isa 1:10–14; Am 5:21–25; Mic 6:6–8). The Lord would be "found" by Israel only when she turned to him with integrity of heart (see 3:5; 5:15; Dt 4:29–31; Jer 29:13).

5:7 unfaithful. See Jer 5:11. illegitimate children. Children they had prayed to the Baals for and had credited to their fertility rites. New Moon. Usually a festive occasion (see, e.g., 2:11; 1Sa 20:5,18; Am 8:5; Col 2:16), but now a time of judgment. Or the meaning may be that one month would be sufficient to accomplish their punishment.

5:8 Some interpreters suggest that the Aramean (Syrian)-Ephraimite (Israelite) war (2Ki 16:5–9; Isa 7:1–9) forms the background of this oracle. trumpet. Made of a ram's horn, which here sounds the alarm that an army is approaching (see 8:1). Gibeah. Two miles north of Jerusalem. Ramah. North of Gibeah. Beth Aven. See note on 4:15. lead on, O Benjamin. Thought to be the Benjamite war cry (see Jdg 5:14).

5:9 waste. See Jer 25:11,38.

5:10 move boundary stones. Judah had seized Israelite territory (1Ki 15:16–22; see Dt 19:14; 27:17; Pr 22:28; 23:10; Isa 5:8; Mic 2:2). my wrath. See 13:11.

5:12 moth . . . rot. Both consume (see Job 13:28).

5:13 sickness . . . sores. Metaphors for the national wounds the two nations had suffered at the hands of their enemies (see Isa 1:5–6; 17:4,11; Jer 30:12–13). turned to Assyria. Assyrian records tell of the tribute paid to Tiglath-Pileser III by the Israelite kings Menahem and Hoshea (cf. 2Ki 15:19–20; 17:3). not able to cure. The alliances were worthless.

5:14 lion. See 13:7. The Lord might use human agents (Isa 10:5–6), but he would be responsible for Israel's punishment, from which there was no escape (see Isa 5:29; 42:22; Am 9:1–4; Mic 5:8).

5:15 go back to my place. God threatened to withdraw from Israel until, out of desperation, she truly repented. This idea sets the stage for the prophet's next theme.

6:1 let us return. A shallow (see v. 4) proposal of repentance (using phrases from 5:13–15), in which Israel acknowledged that God, not Assyria (cf. 5:13), was the true physician (cf. 7:1).

6:2 two days . . . third day. A brief time. Israel supposed that God's wrath would only be temporary.

6:3 acknowledge the LORD. A key concept in Hosea (see v. 6; 2:8,20; 4:1,6; 5:4). like the winter rains . . . spring rains. Israel believed that, as surely as seasonal rains fell, reviving the earth, God's favor would return and restore her.

4"What can I do with you, Ephraim?[u]
What can I do with you, Judah?
Your love is like the morning mist, like the early dew that disappears.[v] 5Therefore I cut you in pieces with my prophets,
I killed you with the words of my mouth;[w]
my judgments flashed like lightning upon you.[x]
6For I desire mercy, not sacrifice,[y]

rather than burnt offerings.[a]

they were unfaithful[c] to me there.

stained with footprints of blood.

committing shameful crimes.[g] 10I have seen a horrible[h] thing and Israel is defiled.[i]

[v]7 Or As at Adam; or Like men

6:4 What can I do . . . ? See Isa 5:4. God saw through Israel's superficial repentance. Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. Judah. See Introduction: Author and Date. love. See 2:19; see also note on v. 6. morning mist . . . dew. Figurative for that which is temporary.

6:5 my prophets. God's spokesmen (see Jer 1:9; 15:19) had denounced the people's sin. words of my mouth. The judgments spoken by the Lord's faithful prophets. like lightning. See Dt 32:41.

6:6 mercy. Hebrew hesed, a word that can refer to right conduct toward one's fellowman or loyalty to the Lord or both—the sum of what God requires of his servants. Here it perhaps refers to both. The same Hebrew word is translated "love" in v. 4. not sacrifice. Sacrifice apart from faithfulness to the Lord's will is wholly unacceptable to him (see 1Sa 15:22–23; Isa 1:11–20; Jer 7:21–22; Am 5:21–24; Mic 6:6–8; Mt 9:13; 12:7).

6:7 Like Adam. The allusion is uncertain, since Scripture records no covenant with Adam. The NIV text note suggests a place named Adam (Tell ed-Damiyeh) at the Jordan (see Jos 3:16), as suggested by the reference to "there" at the end of the sentence. A third interpretation takes Adam as "mankind" (see NIV text note). broken the covenant. See 8:1; Jos 7:11.

6:8 Gilead. See 12:11; Jdg 10:17; 12:7. footprints of blood. The allusion is unclear, but Hosea may have been referring to a more recent event than the bloodbath of Jdg 12:1–6—such as Pekah's rebellion against Pekahiah (see 2Ki 15:25).

6:9 they murder. The specific event is unknown.

6:10 prostitution. See chs. 2; 4.

6:11 harvest. A figure for God's judgments (see 8:7; 10:12–13; Jer 51:33; Joel 3:13; Mt 13:39; Rev 14:15). restore the fortunes. Paralleling "heal" (7:1), the phrase refers to the restoration of the wounded national body (see Joel 3:1; Zep 3:20).

7:1 heal. See 5:13; 6:1; 11:3; 14:4; Jer 51:8–9. sins. See 4:8; 5:5; 8:13. Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. exposed . . . revealed. God sees them. crimes. See v. 3. Samaria. Another name for the northern kingdom, of which Samaria was the royal city, selected by Omri to be capital of Israel (1Ki 16:24). deceit. See Jer 6:13; 8:10; probably refers to both feigned repentance and treacherous foreign alliances. thieves. See 4:2. bandits. See 6:9; Ge 49:19; Jer 18:22.

7:2 I remember. All is open before the Lord (see Ps 90:8), but the wicked believe God does not see (see Ps 10:6,11; 14:1; Eze 8:12).

7:3 delight the king. Probably in conjunction with one of the palace revolts (see 2Ki 15:8–30). king . . . princes. Paired also in 3:4; 8:4; 13:10. lies. See 11:12; Ps 59:12; Na 3:1.

7:4 adulterers. See 3:1; 4:2,13; Jer 9:2; Eze 23:37. fire. A metaphor for political intrigue (see vv. 6–7). The fire was banked until ready to use; then it broke out. baker. Perhaps the leader of the conspiracy.

7:5 festival of our king. Probably a coronation or birthday that became a drunken party. King Elah died in drunkenness (1Ki 16:9–10). mockers. See Pr 21:24. Isaiah (28:1–8,14) condemned Israel's drunkenness and her scoffers.

7:6 The intrigue was kept secret until a suitable time.

7:7 rulers . . . kings. Four kings were assassinated in 20 years, Zechariah and Shallum in a seven-month they devour their rulers.

All their kings fall,[x]
and none of them calls[y] on me.

8"Ephraim mixes[z] with the nations;
Ephraim is a flat cake not turned over.
9Foreigners sap his strength,[a]
but he does not realize it.
His hair is sprinkled with gray,
but he does not notice.
10Israel's arrogance testifies against him,[b] but despite all this he does not return[c] to the LORD his God or search[d] for him.

11"Ephraim is like a dove,[e] easily deceived and senseless—now calling to Egypt,[f]
now turning to Assyria.[g]
12When they go, I will throw my net[h] over them;
I will pull them down like birds of the air.
When I hear them flocking together,
I will catch them.
13Woe[i] to them,
because they have strayed[j] from me!
Destruction to them,
because they have rebelled against me!
I long to redeem them
but they speak lies[k] against me.[l] 14They do not cry out to me from their hearts[m] but wail upon their beds.
They gather together[w] for grain and new wine[n]
but turn away from me.[o] 15I trained[p] them and strengthened them, but they plot evil[q] against me.
16They do not turn to the Most High;[r]
they are like a faulty bow.[s]
Their leaders will fall by the sword because of their insolent[t] words.
For this they will be ridiculed[u]
in the land of Egypt.[v]

Israel to Reap the Whirlwind

8 "Put the trumpet[w] to your lips!
An eagle[x] is over the house of the LORD because the people have broken my covenant[y] and rebelled against my law.[z] 2Israel cries out to me,
'O our God, we acknowledge you!'
3But Israel has rejected what is good;
an enemy will pursue him.[a] 4They set up kings without my consent;
they choose princes without my approval.[b]
With their silver and gold they make idols[c] for themselves to their own destruction.
5Throw out your calf-idol,
O Samaria![d]
My anger burns against them.
How long will they be incapable of purity?[e]
6 They are from Israel!
This calf—a craftsman has made it;

[w] 14 Most Hebrew manuscripts; some Hebrew manuscripts and Septuagint They slash themselves period (2Ki 15:10–15). none of them calls on me. The reason for the shameful situation.

7:8 flat cake. A metaphor describing unwise policies. Baked on hot stones (cf. 1Ki 19:6), the cake was burned on the bottom and raw on the top.

7:9 hair . . . gray. He was old before his time, but ignored the danger signals. Tribute to Tiglath-Pileser (2Ki 15:19–20,29) and to Egypt had sapped the country economically.

7:10 return. See 3:5; 5:4; Am 4:6–11. search. See 2:7; 5:6.

7:11 dove. See 11:11 and note, where a different image is intended. See also note on Ps 68:13. senseless. See Jer 5:21. Menahem turned to Assyria (2Ki 15:19–20), and Pekah to Egypt. Hoshea alternated in allegiance to both (2Ki 17:4).

7:12 my net. The Lord himself was the hunter—not the nations—and Israel was certain to be caught.

7:13 Woe. Often used in conjunction with threats of judgment (see 9:12). Destruction. See 9:6; Isa 13:6. redeem. See 13:14; also used for deliverance from Egypt (see, e.g., Ex 6:6; Mic 6:4). lies. Possibly of ascribing prosperity and destiny to gods other than the Lord.

7:14 wail. See Joel 1:13. They gather together. See NIV text note; cf. Lev 19:28; 21:5. grain and new wine. See 2:8,22; 9:1–2.

7:15 I trained them. As children (or, perhaps, as troops). strengthened them. Lit. "strengthened their arms" (see Eze 30:24–25).

7:16 Most High. See 11:7. faulty bow. See Ps 78:57. The arrow missed the mark; Israel missed her purpose for being. ridiculed. Egypt would fail to assist Israel and then would belittle God's power (see Dt 9:28). Egypt. See 8:13; 9:6; 11:5. There is no record of a forced exile of large numbers to Egypt. Some captives were taken there (2Ki 23:34; Jer 22:11–14), and some fugitives voluntarily went there (2Ki 25:26; Jer 42–44). A return from Egypt is envisioned in 11:11; Isa 11:11; 27:13; Zec 10:10.

8:1 trumpet. Of alarm (see 5:8; Joel 2:1; Am 3:6). your. The prophet's. eagle. Or "vulture," referring to Assyria. house of the LORD. The land of Israel, not just the temple (see 9:15 and note; cf. Ex 15:17). covenant. The demands of the covenant.

8:2 we acknowledge you. But their worship of the Lord was thoroughly corrupted by pagan notions and practices, as vv. 3–6 indicate (see Am 2:4,7–8; 3:14; 5:26).

8:4 set up kings. After Jeroboam II, five kings ruled over Israel in 13 years (2Ki 15:8–30), three of whom seized the throne by violence (see 7:7).

8:5 calf-idol. Jeroboam I (930–909 B.C.) had set up golden calves in Bethel and Dan, saying, "Here are your gods" (see 1Ki 12:28–33 and note on 1Ki 12:28).

8:6 a craftsman has made it. For prophetic satire on idolatry see Isa 40:20; 41:22–24; 44:9–20; see also Ps 115:4–8. Aaron (Ex 32:8) and Jeroboam I had said, "These are your gods"; but Hosea said, "It is not God."

it is not God.[f]
It will be broken in pieces, that calf[g] of Samaria.[h]

7"They sow the wind and reap the whirlwind.[i]
The stalk has no head;
it will produce no flour.[j]
Were it to yield grain, foreigners would swallow it up.[k] 8Israel is swallowed up;[l] now she is among the nations like a worthless[m] thing.
9For they have gone up to Assyria[n]
like a wild donkey[o] wandering
alone.
Ephraim has sold herself to lovers.[p] 10Although they have sold themselves
among the nations,
I will now gather them together.[q]
They will begin to waste away[r] under the oppression of the mighty king.

11"Though Ephraim built many altars for sin offerings,
these have become altars for sinning.[s] 12I wrote for them the many things of my law,
but they regarded them as something alien.[t] 13They offer sacrifices given to me and they eat[u] the meat, but the LORD is not pleased with them.[v]
Now he will remember[w] their wickedness
and punish their sins:[x]
They will return to Egypt.[y] 14Israel has forgotten[z] his Maker[a]
and built palaces;
Judah has fortified many towns.
But I will send fire upon their cities that will consume their fortresses."[b]

Punishment for Israel

9 Do not rejoice, O Israel; do not be jubilant[c] like the other
nations.
For you have been unfaithful[d] to
your God;
you love the wages of a prostitute[e] at every threshing floor.
2Threshing floors and winepresses will not feed the people;
the new wine[f] will fail them.
3They will not remain[g] in the LORD's land;
Ephraim will return to Egypt[h] and eat unclean[x] food in Assyria.[i] 4They will not pour out wine offerings[j] to the LORD, nor will their sacrifices please[k]
him.
Such sacrifices will be to them like the bread of mourners;[l]
all who eat them will be unclean.[m]
This food will be for themselves;

[x]3 That is, ceremonially unclean

8:7 sow ... reap. A familiar proverb about the results of doing evil (see 10:13; Job 4:8; Ps 126:5–6; Pr 11:18; 22:8; 2Co 9:6; Gal 6:7). Israel sowed the wind of idolatry and reaped the whirlwind of Assyria. stalk ... flour. The prophet played on the similar sound of the Hebrew words. foreigners. Assyria.

8:8 Israel was chosen to be God's own people (Ex 19:5; Am 3:2), but since she had conformed to the other nations, she lost her special identity and so became worthless to God.

8:9 Ephraim has sold herself to lovers. For the "prostitute's fees" of Assyrian protection. Menahem (2Ki 15:19) and Hoshea (2Ki 17:3), kings of Israel, paid tribute to Assyria.

8:10 Even though Israel paid tribute to Assyria, that would not buy her security, for God would send judgment by the king of Assyria. Israel's real "enemy" was the Lord himself (see 2:8–9,13; 7:12).

8:11 built many altars. To Baal.

8:13 offer sacrifices. See v. 2 and note. eat the meat. Some of the sacrifices were partly eaten by the offerer and priests (see Lev 7:11–18; Dt 12:7; Jer 7:21). not pleased with them. See note on 6:6. Egypt. Israel, who had trusted in Egypt and Assyria, was to go back to "Egypt," i.e., into bondage in a foreign land, primarily Assyria (see 9:3). But see note on 7:16.

8:14 Israel has forgotten. The cause of all their problems (cf. Jdg 2:10). built palaces ... fortified many towns. Israel's trust was not in her Maker but in what she herself had accomplished. Judah. See Introduction: Author and Date. fire. See Am 1:4,7,10,14; 2:5.

9:1 This verse begins a section that was probably spoken at a harvest festival, such as the Feast of Tabernacles (Lev 23:33–43; Dt 16:13–15). unfaithful. See 1:2; 2:2–5. wages of a prostitute. See 2:5,12; not to be taken literally, but in the sense of spiritual adultery. at every threshing floor. Since the threshing floor at threshing time was a man's world—the threshers stayed there all night to protect the grain and feasted at the end of the day's labors—prostitutes were not uncommon visitors (see Ru 3:2–3 and notes).

9:3 LORD's land. The promised land, which the Lord claimed as his own (cf. Lev 25:23; Jos 22:19; Jer 2:7; Eze 38:16; Joel 1:6). Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. Egypt ... Assyria. Israel was threatened with exile to the lands it depended on—where the temple sacrifice could not be offered (see 8:13 and note). unclean. A foreign country was unclean (see NIV text note; see also Am 7:17 and NIV text note). What grew there was likewise unclean, because it was the product of fertility credited to pagan gods (see Eze 4:13).

9:4 bread of mourners. Unclean, like bread in a house where there had been a death (see Nu 19:14; Dt 26:14; Jer 16:7). All who touched it became ceremonially unclean. not come into the temple of the LORD. In exile Israel would have no place (not even those places established by Jeroboam I; 1Ki 12:28–33) where she could bring sacrifices to the Lord or celebrate her religious festivals (v. 5).

it will not come into the temple of the LORD.[n]

5 What will you do[o] on the day of your appointed feasts,[p] on the festival days of the LORD?
6 Even if they escape from destruction,
Egypt will gather them,[q]
and Memphis[r] will bury them.[s]
Their treasures of silver[t] will be taken over by briers, and thorns[u] will overrun their tents.
7 The days of punishment[v] are coming,
the days of reckoning[w] are at hand.
Let Israel know this.
Because your sins[x] are so many and your hostility so great,
the prophet is considered a fool,[y]
the inspired man a maniac.[z]
8 The prophet, along with my God, is the watchman over Ephraim,[y]
yet snares[a] await him on all his paths, and hostility in the house of his God.[b] 9 They have sunk deep into corruption,[c] as in the days of Gibeah.[d]
God will remember[e] their wickedness and punish them for their sins.[f]

10 "When I found Israel, it was like finding grapes in the desert;
when I saw your fathers,
it was like seeing the early fruit[g] on the fig[h] tree.
But when they came to Baal Peor,[i] they consecrated themselves to that shameful idol[j]
and became as vile as the thing they loved.
11 Ephraim's glory[k] will fly away like a bird[l]— no birth, no pregnancy, no conception.[m]
12 Even if they rear children,
I will bereave[n] them of every one.
Woe[o] to them
when I turn away from them![p] 13 I have seen Ephraim,[q] like Tyre, planted in a pleasant place.[r]
But Ephraim will bring out their children to the slayer."[s]

14 Give them, O LORD—what will you give them?
Give them wombs that miscarry and breasts that are dry.[t]

15 "Because of all their wickedness in Gilgal,[u]
I hated them there.
Because of their sinful deeds,[v]
I will drive them out of my house.
I will no longer love them;[w] all their leaders are rebellious.[x] 16 Ephraim[y] is blighted, their root is withered,
they yield no fruit.[z]
Even if they bear children,
I will slay[a] their cherished offspring."

17 My God will reject[b] them because they have not obeyed[c] him;
they will be wanderers among the nations.[d]

10 Israel was a spreading vine;[e] he brought forth fruit for himself.

[y] 8 Or The prophet is the watchman over Ephraim, / the people of my God

9:6 Egypt. See 7:16 and note. Memphis. The capital of Lower (northern) Egypt. briers, and thorns. Cf. a similar threat against Edom (Isa 34:13).
9:7 inspired man. See Mic 2:11; 3:8. maniac. See 2Ki 9:11; Jer 29:26; cf. 1Sa 21:15.
9:8 watchman. See Isa 56:10; Jer 6:17; Eze 3:17; 33:2–8. snares . . . hostility. Israel showed only hostility toward the watchmen (the true prophets) whom God sent to warn his people of the great dangers that threatened (see Jer 1:19; 11:19; 15:10; Am 7:10–12).
9:9 corruption. The word used of the Israelites who worshiped the golden calf (Ex 32:7; Dt 9:12; 32:5). days of Gibeah. A reference to the corrupt events of Jdg 19–21. God will remember. Sins unrepented of are remembered, as well as the accumulated sins of generations (see 13:12).
9:10 The covenant relation is traced back to the desert (see 2:14–15; 13:5; Dt 32:10). grapes . . . fig. Refreshing delicacies (see Isa 28:4; Mic 7:1). The images used here (grapes in the desert, early fruit of the fig tree) beautifully convey God's delight in Israel when she, out of all the nations, committed herself to him in covenant at Sinai. Baal Peor. A shortened form of Beth Baal Peor. Peor was a mountain (Dt 3:29). Baal Peor refers to the god of Peor (Nu 25:1–4) and was used interchangeably with Beth Peor, "the temple of Peor" (see Dt 3:29; 4:3,46; Jos 13:20). Hosea refers here to the incident in Nu 25. became . . . vile. See Isa 5:2,4,7.
9:11 Ephraim's glory. Her large population and prosperity. The punishment fit the sin. Prostitution produces no increase (see 4:10).
9:12 to them. To the children.
9:13 Tyre. Noted for its wealth, pleasant environment and security (see Eze 27:2–26).
9:14 Hosea did not pray out of hateful vengeance against Israel, but because he shared God's holy wrath against her sins.
9:15 Gilgal. See note on 4:15. drive them out of my house. As the unfaithful wife was driven from the husband's house, so Israel was driven from God's "house"—i.e., his land (see 8:1 and note). leaders . . . rebellious. A wordplay in Hebrew.
9:17 My God. Hosea's words alone, for God was no longer Israel's God. reject. See 4:6; 2Ki 17:20. wanderers. Like Cain (Ge 4:14–15).
10:1 Israel. The nation personified and called by the name of its ancestor. vine. A frequent metaphor for Israel

As his fruit increased,
he built more altars;[f]
as his land prospered,[g]
he adorned his sacred stones.[h] 2Their heart is deceitful,[i] and now they must bear their guilt.[j]
The LORD will demolish their altars[k]
and destroy their sacred stones.[l]

3Then they will say, "We have no king because we did not revere the LORD.
But even if we had a king,
what could he do for us?"
4They make many promises, take false oaths[m]
and make agreements;[n]
therefore lawsuits spring up like poisonous weeds[o] in a plowed field.
5The people who live in Samaria fear for the calf-idol[p] of Beth Aven.[zq]
Its people will mourn over it, and so will its idolatrous priests,[r]
those who had rejoiced over its splendor, because it is taken from them into exile.[s] 6It will be carried to Assyria[t] as tribute[u] for the great king.[v]
Ephraim will be disgraced;[w]
Israel will be ashamed[x] of its wooden idols.[a] 7Samaria and its king will float away[y] like a twig on the surface of the waters.
8The high places[z] of wickedness[ba] will be destroyed—
it is the sin of Israel.
Thorns[b] and thistles will grow up and cover their altars.[c]
Then they will say to the mountains,
"Cover us!"[d]
and to the hills, "Fall on us!"[e]

9"Since the days of Gibeah,[f] you have sinned,[g] O Israel, and there you have remained.[c]
Did not war overtake the evildoers in Gibeah?
10When I please, I will punish[h] them;
nations will be gathered against them
to put them in bonds for their double sin.
11Ephraim is a trained heifer that loves to thresh;
so I will put a yoke[i]

I will drive Ephraim,
Judah must plow,
and Jacob must break up the ground.
12Sow[j] for yourselves righteousness,[k] reap the fruit of unfailing love, and break up your unplowed ground;[l]
for it is time to seek[m] the LORD, until he comes
and showers righteousness[n] on you.
13But you have planted wickedness,
you have reaped evil,[o]
you have eaten the fruit of deception.[p]
Because you have depended on your own strength and on your many warriors,[q]

so that all your fortresses will be devastated[r]—

[z]5 Beth Aven means house of wickedness (a name for Bethel, which means house of God). [a]6 Or its counsel [b]8 Hebrew aven, a reference to Beth Aven (a derogatory name for Bethel) [c]9 Or there a stand was taken (Dt 32:32; Ps 80:8–11; Isa 5:1; Jer 2:21; cf. Jn 15:1). prospered. The prosperity during the period of Jeroboam II (793–753 B.C.) was probably in view.

10:2 Their heart is deceitful. Israel formally called to God (8:2), but they dishonored him by pagan worship.

10:3 We have no king. Such would soon be their condition when Assyria destroyed the nation.

10:4 They make many promises. The last kings of Israel were notoriously corrupt and deceitful.

10:5 Samaria. The royal city of Israel (see note on 7:1). calf-idol of Beth Aven. The idol that Jeroboam set up at Bethel (see NIV text note; see also 1Ki 12:32–33).

10:6 Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom.

10:8 high places. See 4:13–14. wickedness. See NIV text note. Cover us! . . . Fall on us! Cries of utter despair; quoted by Jesus (Lk 23:30) and alluded to in Rev 6:16 (see Isa 2:19).

10:9 Gibeah. See 9:9 and note. As war came on Gibeah, so war and captivity would come on Israel.

10:11 trained heifer. Up to now Ephraim (Israel) had been as contented as a young cow that ate while threshing grain. But now God would cause Israel (here called both Ephraim and Jacob) and Judah to do the heavy work of plowing and harrowing under a yoke—a picture of going into the Assyrian and Babylonian captivities. Judah. See Introduction: Author and Date.

10:12 reap the fruit of unfailing love. If Israel would only do what was right ("unfailing love" translates the Hebrew word hesed; see note on 6:6), she would be blessed by God. break up your unplowed ground. Be no longer unproductive, but repentant, making a radical new beginning and becoming productive and fruitful. righteousness. God's covenant blessings that in righteousness he would shower on his people if they in righteousness were loyal to him, their covenant Lord.

10:13 deception. Israel had been living a lie—and by lies (see 7:3; 10:4; 12:1).

10:14 Shalman devastated Beth Arbel. The event is otherwise unknown, as are the names mentioned. Atrocities against civilians were common in ancient warfare (cf. 9:13; 13:16; 2Ki 8:12–13; Ps 137:8–9; Isa 13:16; Am 1:13; Na 3:10).

when mothers were dashed to the ground with their children.[t] 15Thus will it happen to you, O Bethel, because your wickedness is great.
When that day dawns,
the king of Israel will be completely destroyed.[u]

God's Love for Israel

11 "When Israel was a child,[v] I loved[w] him, and out of Egypt I called my son.[x] 2But the more I[d] called Israel, the further they went from me.[e][y]
They sacrificed to the Baals[z] and they burned incense to images.[a] 3It was I who taught Ephraim to walk, taking them by the arms;[b]
but they did not realize it was I who healed[c] them.
4I led them with cords of human kindness, with ties of love;[d]
I lifted the yoke[e] from their neck and bent down to feed[f] them.[g]

5"Will they not return to Egypt[h]

declares the LORD.

[e] 2 Septuagint; Hebrew them [f] 9 Or come against any city

11:1 A third appeal to history (see 9:10; 10:9) traces God's choice of Israel back to Egypt, the exodus from that country (cf. 12:9; 13:4) having given birth to the nation. Israel's response to the Lord is now illustrated by the wayward son rather than by the unfaithful wife (chs. 1–3). For Israel as a son see Ex 4:22–23; Isa 1:2–4; and for God as Father see Dt 32:6; Jer 2:14. Hosea saw God's love as the basis (cf. 3:1) for the election of Israel. Matthew found in the call of Israel from Egypt a typological picture of Jesus' coming from Egypt (see Mt 2:15 and note).
11:2 images. See Dt 7:25; 12:3.
11:3 Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. walk. This picture of a father teaching his child to walk is one of the most tender in the OT. did not realize. See 2:5–8. healed. See 5:13; 6:1; 7:1.
11:4 The imagery is unclear, but the figure seems to change to a farmer tending his work animals. Another interpretation sees a continuation of the son image, with the father lifting the son to his cheek. feed them. God supplied miraculous food in the desert (see Ex 16; Dt 8:16).
11:5 Egypt ... Assyria. See 8:13 and note; 9:3. The tender tone (vv. 1–4) changes to threat of exile to the two countries between which Israel had vacillated. It is ironic that the people rescued from Egypt should be returned there because of their disloyalty to the one who had rescued them.
11:7 call to the Most High. See 7:16.
11:8 The stubborn son was subject to stoning (Dt 21:18–21), but the Lord's compassion overcame his wrath and he refused to destroy Ephraim (Israel). Admah ... Zeboiim. Cities of the plain (Ge 10:19; 14:2,8), overthrown when Sodom was destroyed (Ge 19:24–25; Dt 29:23; Jer 49:18) and symbolizing total destruction.
11:9 God, and not man. Although Israel has been as unreliable as man, God will not be untrue to the love he has shown toward Israel (see vv. 1–4; see also 1Sa 15:29; Mal 3:6). Israel was to be punished, but not destroyed. the Holy One among you. See notes on Isa 1:4; 6:1; cf. Isa 12:6. God's holiness is alluded to only here in Hosea.
11:10 The return from exile. roar like a lion. Rather than threatening destruction (cf. 5:14; 13:7), God's roar was now a clear signal to return from exile. the west. The islands of the sea (as well as coastlands).
11:11 from Egypt ... Assyria. See 9:3. like birds ... like doves. Suggests swiftness of return (cf. Isa 60:8) and is not derogatory, as was the earlier comparison to a silly dove (7:11). declares the LORD. See 2:13,16,21.
11:12 lies ... deceit. See 7:3; 10:13 and note. Judah. See Introduction: Author and Date. unruly against God. See Jer 2:31.
12:1 wind. See 8:7; Ecc 1:14. east wind. See 13:15; Job 15:2; 27:21; Isa 27:8; Jer 18:17. Pursuing the wind symbolized Israel's futile foreign policy, which vacillated between Egypt (2Ki 17:4; Isa 30:6–7) and Assyria (cf. 5:13; 7:11; 8:9; 2Ki 17:3).

12:2 charge. See 4:1. Judah. See Introduction: Author and Date. Jacob. Israel (see 10:11). The Lord indicted both kingdoms—all the descendants of Father Jacob. In their deceitfulness, Israel and Judah were living up to the name of their forefather (see NIV text note).

12:3 In the womb. See Ge 25:26; 27:36. grasped his brother's heel. See NIV text note on v. 2. God's covenant people here relived the experiences of Father Jacob and now had to return to God, just as Jacob was called back to Bethel (Ge 35:1–15).

12:4 struggled with the angel. See Ge 32:22–28 and NIV text note on Ge 32:28. Bethel. See Ge 28:12–19; 35:1–15. In Hosea's time, Bethel was the most important royal sanctuary in the northern kingdom (cf. Am 7:13).

12:5 LORD God Almighty. Paralleled in Am 3:13; 6:14; 9:5.

12:6 love. Hebrew hesed; See 6:6 ("mercy") and note. justice. See Am 5:15,24; Mic 6:8.

12:7 merchant. As Hosea had played on the meaning of Jacob in v. 2, he here uses a wordplay on Canaan (the Hebrew for "merchant" sounds like Canaan) to charge that Israel was no better than a Canaanite.

12:8 I am very rich. Riches brought a sense of self-sufficiency (cf. 10:13; Dt 32:15–18). not find in me any iniquity. Like a dishonest merchant, Ephraim (Israel) was confident that her deceitfulness (cf. 11:12) would not come to light.

12:9 I am the LORD your God. See 13:4; cf. Ex 20:2. tents. As during the desert journey long ago (cf. 2:14–15). appointed feasts. Probably the Feast of Tabernacles (Lev 23:42–44), which commemorated the desert journey.

12:10 spoke to the prophets. See 6:5; Am 2:11; Heb 1:1. There had been ample warning. visions. Revelations (see Nu 12:6–8; Am 1:1). parables. Containing messages of warning from God (see 2Sa 12:1–4; Ps 78:2; Isa 5:1–7; Eze 17:2; 24:3).

12:11 Gilead wicked. See 6:8–9 and notes. Gilead was overrun by Assyria in 734–732 B.C. (2Ki 15:29). Gilgal. See 4:15; 9:15. The Hebrew contains a wordplay between "Gilgal" and "piles" (Hebrew gallim). Rather than assuring safety, the altars themselves would be destroyed. on a plowed field. Israelite farmers gathered into piles the stones turned up by their plows.

12:12 Jacob fled from Esau to Paddan Aram (Ge 28:2,5), serving Laban seven years for each wife (Ge 29:20–28), and then continued as Laban's herdsman (Ge 30:31; 31:41).

12:13 prophet. Moses (cf. Nu 12:6–8; Dt 18:15; 34:10). cared for him. As Jacob had cared for Laban's flocks, so the Lord cared for Israel during her desert wandering. Earlier leadership by the prophet Moses stands in contrast with Israel's present disregard for prophets (cf. 4:5; 6:5; 9:7).

12:14 Ephraim . . . provoked him. Despite warnings. bloodshed. Cf. 1:4; 4:2; 5:2; 6:8. This may refer either to violence against the prophets or to human sacrifice (cf. 2Ki 17:17). In legal passages (Lev 20:11–27), "their blood will be on their own heads" describes guilt. The prophet drew a contrast between past divine preservation and present divine anger that would bring punishment. repay. See Isa 65:7.

13:1 When Ephraim spoke. In accordance with Jacob's blessing (Ge 48:10–20), Ephraim became a powerful tribe (Jdg 8:1–3; 12:1–7; 1Sa 1:1–4), from which came such prominent leaders as Joshua (Jos 24:30) and Jeroboam I (1Ki 11:26; 12:20). Israel. The 12 tribes. died. The wages of sin was death (cf. Ro 6:23), and the end of the nation was at hand.

he was exalted[o] in Israel.

2Now they sin more and more;

3Therefore they will be like the morning mist,

4"But I am the LORD your God,

Where, O death, are your plagues?
Where, O grave,[l] is your destruction?[x]

"I will have no compassion,

13:3 "Mist" and "dew" (see 6:4), "chaff" (see Ps 1:4; 35:5; Isa 17:13; 29:5) and "smoke" (see Ps 37:20; 68:2; Isa 51:6) are all figurative for Ephraim, who was soon to vanish as a nation.

13:4 I am the LORD. See 12:9; Ex 20:2–3; Dt 5:6. The contrast is with Jeroboam's declaration, "Here are your gods" (1Ki 12:28). acknowledge ... God. See 4:1; 6:3; 8:2.

13:5 desert. See 2:14; 9:10.

13:6 satisfied. See Dt 6:11–12; 8:10–14; 11:15–16. forgot me. Cf. Dt 8:14; 31:20; 32:15,18.

13:7–8 The Lord, previously pictured as a shepherd (4:16), would attack like the wild beasts that often ravaged the flocks.

13:7 lion. See 5:14. leopard. See Jer 5:6; Rev 13:2.

13:8 bear robbed of her cubs. See 2Sa 17:8; 2Ki 2:24; Pr 17:12.

13:9 helper. See Ps 10:14; 30:10; 54:4.

13:10 Where is your king ... ? Help is only from the Lord, not from kings. The prophet likely alludes to the royal assassinations of his day (see 3:4; 7:7; 8:4; 10:3). Give me a king. Though all Israel asked for a king in the days of Samuel (1Sa 8:5,20), the reference here is only to the northern monarchy. They selected Jeroboam I (1Ki 12:26) in preference to the Davidic kings.

13:11 The monarchy is here considered a rebellion (see 1Sa 8:7).

13:12 guilt ... stored up. See 9:9 and note; Job 14:17. Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. sins ... on record. See 7:2; Dt 32:34–35.

13:13 Pains as of ... childbirth. Their helpless situation was comparable to that of a woman in childbirth (see Isa 13:8; 21:3; 26:17; Jer 4:31; 13:21; Mic 4:9–10; Mt 24:8) who cannot deliver the child (see 2Ki 19:3; Isa 37:3) and consequently dies.

13:14 I will ransom. A promise of redemption from death. death. The personified reference is to the death of the nation (see v. 1). Paul applies this passage to resurrection (1Co 15:55). grave. See NIV text note. For a description of Sheol see Job 3:13–19; Ps 18:5; 116:3; Isa 14:9–10; see also notes on Ge 37:35; Jnh 2:2.

13:15 thrives. In Hebrew a wordplay on Ephraim (meaning "fruitful"). The drought-bringing east wind (cf. Job 1:19; Isa 27:8; Jer 4:11; 13:24; 18:17) is here a figure for Assyria, an instrument of the Lord (Isa 10:5,15). Assyria invaded the northern kingdom in 734 B.C., then crushed it and exiled its people in 722–721. all its treasures. See Na 2:9.

Repentance to Bring Blessing

14 Return,[i] O Israel, to the LORD
your God.
Your sins[j] have been your downfall![k]
2 Take words with you and return to the LORD.
Say to him:
"Forgive[l] all our sins and receive us graciously,[m] that we may offer the fruit of our lips.[mn]
3 Assyria cannot save us;[o] we will not mount war-horses.[p]
We will never again say 'Our gods'[q] to what our own hands have made,[r]
for in you the fatherless[s] find compassion."

4 "I will heal[t] their waywardness[u]
and love them freely,[v]
for my anger has turned away[w] from them.

5 I will be like the dew[x] to Israel;
he will blossom like a lily.[y]
Like a cedar of Lebanon[z]
he will send down his roots;[a] 6 his young shoots will grow.
His splendor will be like an olive tree,[b]
his fragrance like a cedar of Lebanon.[c]
7 Men will dwell again in his shade.[d]
He will flourish like the grain.
He will blossom[e] like a vine, and his fame will be like the wine[f] from Lebanon.[g]
8 O Ephraim, what more have I[n] to do with idols?[h]
I will answer him and care for him.
I am like a green pine[i] tree;
your fruitfulness comes from me."

9 Who is wise?[j] He will realize these things.
Who is discerning? He will understand them.[k]
The ways of the LORD are right;[l]
the righteous walk[m] in them,
but the rebellious stumble in them.

13:16 Samaria. See 7:1 and note; 8:5–6; 10:5,7; here, the northern kingdom. rebelled against. See Ps 5:10; Eze 20:8,13,21. little ones ... women. For atrocities against women and children see 10:14; 2Ki 8:12; 15:16; Ps 137:8–9; Isa 13:16; Am 1:13; Na 3:10.

14:1 Return. Another appeal for repentance (see 10:12; 12:6). Unlike that of ch. 6, this repentance would have to be sincere in order for the people to receive the gracious response from the Lord promised in vv. 4–8 (cf. Ps 130:7–8; Isa 55:6–9).

14:2 Take words. None could appear empty-handed (Ex 23:15; 34:20), but animal sacrifices would not be enough. Only words of true repentance would be sufficient. fruit of our lips. As thank offerings to the Lord.

14:3 fatherless. Penitent Israel (see Ps 10:14; 68:5; La 5:3). find compassion. Cf. the name of the child Lo-Ruhamah (see 1:6 and note; see also 2:1,23).

14:4 heal. See 11:3. waywardness. See 11:7. love. See 3:1; 11:1,8–9. love ... freely. See Isa 54:6–8. anger ... turned away. Contrasts with the burning anger that brought destruction (see 8:5).

14:5 dew. Here not a symbol of transitoriness (cf. 6:4; 13:3) but of God's blessing (cf. Dt 33:13). cedar of Lebanon. See notes on Jdg 9:15; 1Ki 5:6; Isa 9:10. cedar. See Ps 80:9–11. Lebanon. See Ps 104:16; Isa 35:2; 60:13.

14:7 shade. Protection (cf. Jdg 9:15; SS 2:3; La 4:20; Eze 31:6). vine. See 10:1; Isa 5:1–7.

14:8 Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. tree. Only here in the OT is God compared to a tree. For the point of the imagery see Eze 31:3–7; Da 4:12. fruitfulness. Ephraim ("fruitful"; cf. Ge 41:52) received his fruitfulness from the Lord (cf. 2:8).

14:9 ways of the LORD. See Ps 18:21. The prophet concludes by offering each reader the alternatives of walking or stumbling (cf. 4:5; 5:5)—of obedience or rebellion.

Joel

Author

The prophet Joel cannot be identified with any of the 12 other figures in the OT who have the same name. He is not mentioned outside the books of Joel and Acts (Ac 2:16). The non-Biblical legends about him are unconvincing. His father, Pethuel (1:1), is also unknown. Judging from his concern with Judah and Jerusalem (see 2:32; 3:1,6,8,16–20), it seems likely that Joel lived in that area.

Date

The book contains no references to datable historical events, but a good case can be made for its being written in the ninth century B.C. Many interpreters, however, date the book as late as the postexilic period (sixth century), after Haggai and Zechariah. In either case, its message is not significantly affected by its dating.

The book of Joel has striking linguistic parallels to those of Amos, Micah, Zephaniah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel. The literary relationships of these books are determined by one's view of the date of Joel. If it was written early, the other prophets borrowed his phrases; if it was later, the reverse may have taken place. Some scholars maintain that all the prophets drew more or less from the religious literary traditions that they and their readers shared in common—liturgical and otherwise.

Message

Joel sees the massive locust plague and severe drought devastating Judah as a harbinger of the "great and dreadful day of the LORD" (2:31). (The locusts he mentions in 1:4; 2:25 are best understood as real, not as allegorical representations of the Babylonians, Medo-Persians, Greeks and Romans, as held by some interpreters.) Confronted with this crisis, he calls on everyone to repent: old and young (1:2–3), drunkards (1:5), farmers (1:11) and priests (1:13). He describes the locusts as the Lord's army and sees in their coming a reminder that the day of the Lord is near. He does not voice the popular notion that the day will be one of judgment on the nations but deliverance and blessing for Israel. Instead—with Isaiah (2:10–21), Jeremiah (4:6), Amos (5:18–20) and Zephaniah (1:7–18)—he describes the day as one of punishment for unfaithful Israel as well. Restoration and blessing will come only after judgment and repentance.

1 The word of the LORD that came[a] to Joel[b] son of Pethuel.

An Invasion of Locusts

2 Hear this,[c] you elders;[d]
listen, all who live in the land.[e]
Has anything like this ever happened in your days
or in the days of your forefathers?[f] 3 Tell it to your children,[g]
and let your children tell it to their children, and their children to the next generation.[h] 4 What the locust[i] swarm has left the great locusts have eaten;
what the great locusts have left the young locusts have eaten;
what the young locusts have left[j]
other locusts[a] have eaten.[k]

5 Wake up, you drunkards, and weep!
Wail, all you drinkers of wine;[l]
wail because of the new wine,
for it has been snatched[m] from your lips.
6 A nation has invaded my land, powerful and without number;[n]
it has the teeth[o] of a lion,
the fangs of a lioness.
7 It has laid waste[p] my vines and ruined my fig trees.[q]
It has stripped off their bark and thrown it away,
leaving their branches white.

8 Mourn like a virgin[b] in sackcloth[r] grieving for the husband[c] of her youth.
9 Grain offerings and drink offerings[s]
are cut off from the house of the LORD.
The priests are in mourning,[t]
those who minister before the LORD.
10 The fields are ruined,
the ground is dried up[d];[u]
the grain is destroyed,
the new wine[v] is dried up,
the oil fails.[w]
11 Despair, you farmers,[x]
wail, you vine growers;
grieve for the wheat and the barley,[y]
because the harvest of the field is destroyed.[z] 12 The vine is dried up and the fig tree is withered;[a]
the pomegranate,[b] the palm and the apple tree—all the trees of the field—are dried up.[c] Surely the joy of mankind is withered away.

A Call to Repentance

13 Put on sackcloth,[d] O priests, and mourn;
wail, you who minister[e] before the altar.
Come, spend the night in sackcloth,
you who minister before my God;
for the grain offerings and drink offerings[f] are withheld from the house of your God.
14 Declare a holy fast;[g]
call a sacred assembly.

1:1 The word of the LORD . . . came to Joel. Joel's claim of prophetic authority is similar to that of several other prophets (see Jer 1:2; Eze 1:3; Hos 1:1; Jnh 1:1,3; 3:1; Mic 1:1; Zep 1:1; Hag 1:1; Zec 1:1; Mal 1:1). Joel. Means "The LORD is God"; cf. Elijah's name, which means "(My) God is the LORD."

1:2 elders. Either the older men of the community or the recognized officials (see v. 14; 2:16,28; see also note on Ex 3:16).

1:4 See 2:25.

1:5 drunkards. Although Joel calls for repentance, drunkenness is the only specific sin mentioned in the book. It suggests a self-indulgent life-style (cf. Isa 28:7–8; Am 4:1) pursued by those who value material things more than spiritual. weep. Various segments of the community (drunkards, here; general population, v. 8; farmers, v. 11; priests, v. 13) are called to mourn. The destruction of the vines by the locusts leaves the drunkards without a source of wine.

1:6 The locusts are compared here to a nation; cf. the ants and coneys in Pr 30:25–26, where the Hebrew word for "creatures" means lit. "(a) people." Elsewhere they are called the Lord's "army" (2:11,25). The reverse comparison—that of armies to locusts in regard to numbers—is as old as Ugaritic literature (15th century B.C.) and is common in the OT (see Jdg 6:5; 7:12; Jer 46:23; 51:14,27; Na 3:15). without number. A phrase used to describe the locusts in the plague in Egypt (see Ps 105:34; see also Ex 10:4–6,12–15). teeth. Joel's comparison of the locusts' teeth to lions' teeth is reflected in Rev 9:8.

1:7 my. The personal pronouns here and elsewhere in Joel (vv. 6,13–14; 2:13–14,17–18,23,26–27; 3:2–5,17) offer a hint of hope, since they indicate that the people belong to the Lord (cf. Jos 22:19).

1:8 virgin. The community is addressed. In Israel, when a woman was pledged to be married to a man, he was called her husband and she his wife, though she was still a virgin (see Dt 22:23–24). This verse refers to such a husband who died before the marriage was consummated. sackcloth. See v. 13; Ge 37:34 and note.

1:9 offerings. The locusts have left nothing that can be offered as sacrifice. The grain offering (Lev 2:1–2) and the drink offering, which was a libation of wine (Lev 23:13), were part of the daily offering (Ex 29:40; Nu 28:5–8).

1:10 dried up. The destruction caused by the locusts was intensified by drought. grain . . . new wine . . . oil. An important OT triad, related to the agriculture of that day (see 2:19).

1:13 your God. See note on v. 7. The phrase occurs eight times in Joel (here; v. 14; 2:13; 2:14; 2:23; 2:26; 2:27; 3:17).

1:14 fast . . . assembly. See 2:15. Fasting, required on the Day of Atonement (see note and NIV text note on Lev 16:29) and also practiced in times of calamity (see Jdg 20:26; 2Sa 12:16; Jer 14:12; Jnh 3:4–5; Zec 7:3), was a sign of penitence and humility. The Bible speaks against outward signs that do not reflect a corresponding inward

An Army of Locusts

2 Blow the trumpet[z] in Zion;[a] sound the alarm on my holy hill.[b]
Let all who live in the land tremble, for the day of the LORD[c] is coming.
It is close at hand[d]—
2 a day of darkness[e] and gloom,[f g] a day of clouds[h] and blackness.[i] Like dawn spreading across the mountains
a large and mighty army[j] comes,
such as never was of old[k]
nor ever will be in ages to come.

3 Before them fire[l] devours, behind them a flame blazes.
Before them the land is like the garden of Eden,[m]
behind them, a desert waste[n]—
nothing escapes them.
4 They have the appearance of horses;[o]
they gallop along like cavalry.
5 With a noise like that of chariots[p]
they leap over the mountaintops, like a crackling fire[q] consuming stubble,
like a mighty army drawn up for battle.

[e] 15 Hebrew Shaddai [f] 17 The meaning of the Hebrew for this word is uncertain.

belief or attitude (see Mt 6:1–8; 23:1–36).

1:15 day of the LORD. This phrase occurs five times in Joel and is the dominant theme (here; 2:1; 2:11; 2:31; 3:14). Six other prophets also use it: Isaiah (13:6,9), Ezekiel (13:5; 30:3), Amos (5:18,20), Obadiah (15), Zephaniah (1:7,14) and Malachi (4:5); and an equivalent expression occurs in Zec 14:1. Sometimes abbreviated as "that day," the term often refers to the decisive intervention of God in history, such as through the invasion of locusts in Joel or at the battle of Carchemish, 605 B.C. (see Jer 46:2,10). It can also refer to Christ's coming to consummate history (see Mal 4:5; Mt 11:24; 1Co 5:5; 2Co 1:14; 1Th 5:2; 2Pe 3:10). When the term is not used for divine judgments in the midst of history, it refers to the final day of the Lord, which generally has two aspects: (1) God's triumph over and punishment of his enemies and (2) his granting of rest (security) and blessing to his people. destruction ... Almighty. The Hebrew for each of these two words is a pun on the other (as in Isa 13:6).

1:18 Cf. the description of a drought in Jer 14:5–6. moan. The Hebrew for this word is used for the groaning of Israel in Egypt (Ex 2:23) and of others in distress (Pr 29:2; Isa 24:7; La 1:4,8,11,21; Eze 9:4; 21:12). mill about. The Hebrew for this verb is used to describe Israel's confused movements in the desert (Ex 14:3). even ... sheep. Sheep are the last to suffer, because they can even grub the grass roots out of the soil.

1:19–20 fire. Although the destruction caused by the locusts is elsewhere compared to that of a fire (see 2:3), here the prophet likely is describing the effects of a drought. In both cases he evokes the fire of God's judgment (see, e.g., Jer 4:4; 15:14; 17:27; Eze 5:4; 15:6–7; 20:47; 21:32; Hos 8:14; Am 1:4,7,10,12,14; 2:2,5).

2:1 trumpet. See v. 15. Made of a ram's or bull's horn, it was used to signal approaching danger (Jer 4:5; 6:1; Eze 33:3). Its sound brought trembling (from fear) to the people (see Am 3:6). Zion. See v. 15; 3:17. Here, parallel to God's "holy hill" (see note on Ps 2:6), it refers to Jerusalem as the capital of the nation.

2:2 day of darkness. Darkness is a common prophetic figure used of the day of the Lord (see Am 5:18,20) and is generally a metaphor for distress and suffering (see Isa 5:30; 8:22; 50:3; 59:9; Jer 2:6,31; 13:16; La 3:6; Eze 34:12). dawn. Usually suggests relief from sorrow or gloom, the end of darkness (cf. Isa 8:20; 58:8). Here, however, it is used as bitter irony, describing the locust infestation that spreads across the land like the light of dawn, which first lights up the eastern horizon and then spreads across the whole countryside.

2:3–11 The staccato character of the poetry is appropriate for the imagery of war.

2:3 Before them. Joel creates a special impact by using this phrase three times (twice in v. 3 and once in v. 10), "behind them" twice (v. 3) and "At the sight of them" once (v. 6). Eden. See Ge 2:8,15 (the garden before the fall); Ge 13:10 (the Jordan Valley before the destruction of Sodom); and Isa 51:3; Eze 28:13; 31:8–9,16,18; 36:35 (all of which describe a desert that has become like Eden).

2:4 horses. Whereas Job compared the horse to a locust (Job 39:20), Joel does the opposite.

2:5 Mountains, though barriers to ordinary horses and chariots, are no deterrent to locusts.

6 At the sight of them, nations are in anguish;[r]
every face turns pale.[s] 7 They charge like warriors;[t]
they scale walls like soldiers.
They all march in line,[u]
not swerving[v] from their course.
8 They do not jostle each other;
each marches straight ahead.
They plunge through defenses without breaking ranks.
9 They rush upon the city;
they run along the wall.
They climb into the houses;[w]
like thieves they enter through the windows.[x]

10 Before them the earth shakes,[y]
the sky trembles,[z]
the sun and moon are darkened,[a] and the stars no longer shine.[b] 11 The LORD[c] thunders[d] at the head of his army;[e] his forces are beyond number,
and mighty are those who obey his command.
The day of the LORD is great;[f] it is dreadful.
Who can endure it?[g]

Rend Your Heart

12 "Even now," declares the LORD,
"return[h] to me with all your heart,[i] with fasting and weeping and mourning."

13 Rend your heart[j]
and not your garments.[k]
Return[l] to the LORD your God, for he is gracious and compassionate,[m]
slow to anger and abounding in love,[n]
and he relents from sending calamity.[o] 14 Who knows? He may turn[p] and have pity[q] and leave behind a blessing[r]—
grain offerings and drink offerings[s]
for the LORD your God.

15 Blow the trumpet[t] in Zion,[u] declare a holy fast,[v]
call a sacred assembly.[w] 16 Gather the people,
consecrate[x] the assembly;
bring together the elders,[y]
gather the children,
those nursing at the breast.
Let the bridegroom[z] leave his room
and the bride her chamber.
17 Let the priests, who minister[a] before the LORD, weep[b] between the temple porch and the altar.[c]
Let them say, "Spare your people, O LORD.
Do not make your inheritance an object of scorn,[d]
a byword[e] among the nations.
Why should they say among the peoples,
'Where is their God?[f]' "

The LORD's Answer

18 Then the LORD will be jealous[g] for his land and take pity[h] on his people.

2:6 At the sight of them. Parallels "Before them" (vv. 3,10). in anguish. Because of the famine that the locusts will cause.

2:9 climb into the houses. As in the Egyptian plague of locusts (Ex 10:6). Latticed windows with no glass would not stop them.

2:10 earth shakes. See Ps 68:8; 77:18; Isa 24:18–20; Jer 4:23–24; Am 8:8; Na 1:5–6. sky trembles. See 2Sa 22:8; Isa 13:13; Hag 2:21; Heb 12:26–28. darkened. Joel links God's judgment through the locusts to the cosmic phenomena of the day of the Lord.

2:11 Just as Isaiah saw the Assyrians (Isa 10:5–7; 13:4) and Jeremiah the Babylonians (Jer 25:9; 43:10) as the Lord's instruments, so Joel sees the locusts as the Lord's army (cf. Jos 5:14; Ps 68:7,17; Hab 3:8–9)—the army of the Lord with which he will come against his enemies in the day of the Lord (see 3:9–11). This passage parallels Zep 1:14 (cf. v. 31; 3:14; Mal 4:1,5). thunders. See 3:16. great . . . dreadful. Two ideas often associated in the OT, though sometimes the Hebrew word underlying "dreadful" means "awesome" (see Dt 7:21; 10:21; Ps 106:21–22). The terms are frequently used to describe the day of the Lord (see v. 31; Mal 4:5). Who can endure it? See Na 1:6; Mal 3:2; Rev 6:17. There is no escape except in turning to God.

2:13 gracious . . . abounding in love. Recalls the great self-characterization of God in Ex 34:6–7, which runs like a golden thread through the OT (see note on Ex 34:6–7; see also Dt 4:31; Mic 7:18).

2:15 trumpet. Not an alarm as in v. 1, but a call to religious assembly (see Lev 23:24; 25:9; Nu 10:10; Jos 6:4–5; 2Ch 15:14; Ps 47:5; 81:3; 98:6; 150:3). fast . . . assembly. See note on 1:14.

2:16 As with the call to mourning in ch. 1, no segment of the community was exempt. assembly. The Hebrew for this word refers to the religious community (see Nu 16:3; 2Ch 30:2,4,13,23–25; Mic 2:5). elders. See note on 1:2. chamber. The place where the marriage was consummated.

2:17 your inheritance. Israel is God's special possession (see Ex 19:5 and note; see also Ex 15:17; 34:9). Judah is to plead, not her innocence, but that God's honor is at stake before the world (see Ex 32:12; Nu 14:13; Dt 9:28; Jos 7:9). byword. See note on 1Ki 9:7. Where is their God? A rhetorical question with sarcastic intent (see Ps 42:3,10; 79:10; 115:2; Mic 7:10).

2:18 Joel begins a new section by turning from the destruction caused by the locusts to the blessings God will give to a repentant people. jealous. See note on Ex 20:5. The Lord will respond to the prayer of v. 17 and arouse himself to defend his honor and have pity on his people.

19The LORD will reply[g] to them:

"I am sending you grain, new wine[t]
and oil,[j]
enough to satisfy you fully;[k] never again will I make you an object of scorn[l] to the nations.

20"I will drive the northern army[m] far from you,
pushing it into a parched and barren land,
with its front columns going into the eastern[n] sea[h] and those in the rear into the western sea.[i]
And its stench[o] will go up;
its smell will rise."

Surely he has done great things.[j]

21 Be not afraid,[p] O land;
be glad and rejoice.[q]
Surely the LORD has done great things.[r]

22 Be not afraid, O wild animals, for the open pastures are becoming green.[s]
The trees are bearing their fruit;
the fig tree[t] and the vine[u] yield their riches.[v]

23Be glad, O people of Zion, rejoice[w] in the LORD your God,
for he has given you
the autumn rains in righteousness.[kx]
He sends you abundant showers,[y] both autumn[z] and spring rains,[a] as before.

24The threshing floors will be filled with grain;
the vats will overflow[b] with new wine[c] and oil.

25"I will repay you for the years the locusts[d] have eaten[e]—
the great locust and the young locust,
the other locusts and the locust swarm[l]—
my great army[f] that I sent among
you.

26You will have plenty to eat, until you are full,[g]
and you will praise[h] the name of the LORD your God, who has worked wonders[i] for
you;
never again will my people be shamed.[j]

27Then you will know[k] that I am in Israel,
that I am the LORD[l] your God,
and that there is no other;
never again will my people be shamed.[m]

The Day of the LORD

28"And afterward,
I will pour out my Spirit[n] on all people.[o]
Your sons and daughters will prophesy,[p]
your old men will dream dreams,[q] your young men will see visions.

29Even on my servants,[r] both men and women,
I will pour out my Spirit in those [j] 20 Or rise. / Surely it has done great things."

[k] 23 Or / the teacher for righteousness:
[l] 25 The precise meaning of the four Hebrew words used here for locusts is uncertain.

2:19 grain, new wine and oil. See note on 1:10.

2:20 northern army. Since enemies in ancient times did not invade from the sea or across the desert, Canaan's geographical location made her vulnerable only from the south (Egypt) and from the north (Assyria and Babylon). The hordes of locusts are pictured here as a vast army of Israel's most feared enemies. stench. Because the locusts are now dead.

2:21–23 As there was a threefold call to grief (1:5,8,13), so there is a threefold call to joy: The land (v. 21), the wild animals (v. 22) and the people (v. 23) are called on to rejoice in the Lord's bounty.

2:22 The wild animals now find green open pastures (cf. 1:19–20). The same land, with its trees (see 1:7,12,19) that the locusts and drought had devastated, is now productive.

2:23 autumn rains in righteousness. See NIV text note. The religious sect at Qumran (which produced most of the Dead Sea Scrolls; see "The Time between the Testaments," p. 1424) hailed their most revered teacher of the law, whom they called the "Teacher of Righteousness," as the fulfillment of this prophecy. The immediate context, however, seems to support the translation in the NIV text.

2:24 threshing floors. See note on Ru 1:22.

2:25 See 1:4.

2:26 wonders. God worked wonders for the people when they were in Egypt (see Ex 7:3), and now will work wonders in restoring the devastated land.

2:27 Israel. Probably refers to all God's people, with no distinction between the northern and southern kingdoms, as also in 3:2,16. I am the LORD your God. This clause recalls the covenant at Sinai (see Ex 20:2). there is no other. See note on Dt 4:35.

2:28–32 Quoted by Peter at Pentecost (Ac 2:16–21), but with a few variations from both the Hebrew text and the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT).

2:28 afterward. In the Messianic period, beyond the restoration just spoken of. pour out my Spirit. See v. 29; Isa 32:15; 44:3; Jer 31:33–34; Eze 36:26–27; 39:29; Zec 12:10–13:1. all people. All will participate without regard to sex, age or rank; and then Moses' wish (Nu 11:29) will be realized (cf. Gal 3:28). Peter extends the "all" of this verse and the "everyone" of v. 32 to the Gentiles ("all who are far off," Ac 2:39), who will not be excluded from the Spirit's outpouring or deliverance (cf. Ro 11:11–24). prophesy . . . dream dreams . . . see visions. See Nu 12:6.

2:30–31 These cosmic events are often associated with the day of the Lord (see Isa 13:9–10; 34:4; Mt 24:29; Rev

The Nations Judged

3 "In those days and at that time, when I restore the fortunes[d] of Judah[e] and Jerusalem, 2I will gather[f] all nations and bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat.[mg]
There I will enter into judgment[h] against them concerning my inheritance, my people Israel, for they scattered[i] my people among the nations
and divided up my land.
3They cast lots[j] for my people and traded boys for prostitutes;
they sold girls for wine[k]
that they might drink.

4"Now what have you against me, O Tyre and Sidon[l] and all you regions of Philistia?[m] Are you repaying me for something I have done? If you are paying me back, I will swiftly and speedily return on your own heads what you have done.[n] 5For you took my silver and my gold and carried off my finest treasures to your temples.[o] 6You sold the people of Judah and Jerusalem to the Greeks,[p] that you might send them far from their homeland.

7"See, I am going to rouse them out of the places to which you sold them,[q] and I will return[r] on your own heads what you have done. 8I will sell your sons[s] and daughters to the people of Judah,[t] and they will sell them to the Sabeans,[u] a nation far away." The LORD has spoken.[v]

9Proclaim this among the nations:
Prepare for war![w]
Rouse the warriors![x]
Let all the fighting men draw near
and attack.
10Beat your plowshares into swords and your pruning hooks[y] into spears.[z]
Let the weakling[a] say,
"I am strong!"[b] 11Come quickly, all you nations from every side,
and assemble[c] there.

Bring down your warriors,[d] O LORD!

[m]2 Jehoshaphat means the LORD judges; also in verse 12.

6:12; 8:8–9; 9:1–19; 14:14–20; 16:4,8–9).

2:30 blood. From war. fire . . . smoke. Signs of God's presence (see Ge 15:17 and note; Ex 19:18).

2:31 blood. The moon will become blood-red.

2:32 calls on the name of the LORD. Worships God (cf. Ge 4:26; 12:8) and prays to him (see Ps 116:4). saved. Delivered from the wrath of God's judgment (see Mt 24:13). as the LORD has said. Perhaps Joel is recalling the Lord's covenant with David (see 2Sa 7; Ps 132:13–18). survivors. See Zec 13:8–9; 14:2.

3:1 In those days. At the time of Israel's final redemption. restore the fortunes of. Or "bring back from captivity" (see vv. 6–7; see also Jer 29:14 and NIV text note).

3:2 Valley of Jehoshaphat. See v. 12. Called the "valley of decision" in v. 14, it seems to be a symbolic name for a valley near Jerusalem that is here depicted as the place of God's ultimate judgment on the nations gathered against Jerusalem (see NIV text note). There King Jehoshaphat had witnessed one of the Lord's historic victories over the nations (see 2Ch 20:1–30). my inheritance. See note on 2:17. Eight times in four verses (vv. 2–5) God uses "my," emphasizing his covenant relationship with Israel. Israel. See note on 2:27.

3:3 cast lots for my people. This happened to Judah at the time of the captivity (586 B.C.) and is mentioned in Ob 11. The Israelites were treated by their enemies as mere chattel, to be traded off for the pleasures of prostitution and wine.

3:4–8 A parenthetical interlude. In vv. 1–3,9–11 God announces judgment against the nations hostile to Israel, but here he addresses the nations directly.

3:4 me. The Lord. Tyre . . . Sidon . . . Philistia. Tyre had sold Israelites as slaves (see Am 1:9), and Philistia had often plundered Israel (see Jdg 13:1; 1Sa 5:1; 2Ch 21:16–17; Eze 25:15–17). God punished them by allowing Sidon to be enslaved by Antiochus III in 345 B.C. and by allowing Tyre to be besieged by the Babylonians in 586 and to be captured by the Greeks (under Alexander the Great) in 332.

3:6 The Greeks were trading with the Phoenicians as early as 800 B.C.

3:8 Sabeans. From Sheba, whose queen visited Solomon (see 1Ki 10:1–13). far away. It was located in the southern part of the Arabian peninsula (present-day Yemen).

3:9–21 In vv. 9–11 Joel is the speaker; in vv. 12–13 God speaks; in vv. 14–16, Joel; and in vv. 17–21, God. When Joel speaks, he does so as the spokesman of the Lord, who has commissioned him to be his prophet.

3:9–11 Joel commands that the nations be told to prepare for battle, for the Lord would come against them with his invincible heavenly army and bring them into judgment (cf. Eze 38–39; Rev 19).

3:10 The first part of this verse is the reverse of Isa 2:4 and Mic 4:3, where the peaceful effect of God's reign is portrayed. Here God's enemies are summoned to their last great confrontation with him.

3:11 assemble there. In the Valley of Jehoshaphat for judgment (vv. 2,12).

let them advance into the Valley of Jehoshaphat,[e] for there I will sit to judge[f] all the nations on every side.
13Swing the sickle,[g]
for the harvest[h] is ripe.
Come, trample the grapes,[i] for the winepress[j] is full and the vats overflow—
so great is their wickedness!"

14Multitudes,[k] multitudes in the valley[l] of decision!
For the day of the LORD[m] is near in the valley of decision.[n] 15The sun and moon will be darkened, and the stars no longer shine.[o] 16The LORD will roar[p] from Zion and thunder from Jerusalem;[q]
the earth and the sky will tremble.[r]

[n] 18 Or Valley of Shittim

3:13 As a result of the Lord's great army that had marched against Judah (2:3–11), there had been no harvest (2:3). That harvest was to be restored (2:19,22,24,26). In the final great day of the Lord, there will also be a harvest—the harvest of God's judgment on the nations. Rev 14:14–20 draws heavily on this picture of judgment.

3:14 valley of decision. The Valley of Jehoshaphat (judgment) of vv. 2,12. "Jehoshaphat" speaks of God's role as Judge (see note on v. 2). Here "decision" (from a different Hebrew word) refers to the heavenly Judge's decision or judicial decree. The valley is now viewed as the place where that decree will be executed.

3:15 See 2:10 and note.

3:16 roar. Like a lion, God will destroy the nations. The first two lines occur also in Am 1:2 (see Jer 25:30). thunder. As God at the head of his army had thundered against Jerusalem (2:11), so he will then thunder against Jerusalem's enemies, and he will do so from his royal city, from which he rules his "inheritance" (see v. 17; Am 1:2).

3:17–21 God blesses his people in a dual way: negatively, by destroying their enemies; and positively, by giving them good things.

3:17 I . . . dwell in Zion. The Lord himself will dwell with them (see v. 21). The same picture is found in 2:27; Ps 46:4 (cf. Rev 21:3). The final blessed state of the now unholy and vulnerable city will be God's abiding presence in her (see v. 21 and note; Rev 21). Then she will be holy and impregnable.

3:18 In that day. The same as "In those days" of v. 1. The Edenic lushness pictured in this verse is in great contrast to the drought in 1:10 (see Am 9:13). A fountain will flow out of the LORD's house. Flowing from God's presence, streams of blessing will refresh his people and make their place endlessly fruitful (cf. Ps 36:8; 46:4; 87:7; Eze 47:1–12; Rev 22:1–2). acacias. Since acacias flourish in dry soil, the picture is that of a well-watered desert.

3:19 Egypt . . . Edom. As old enemies of Israel, they here represent all the nations hostile to God's people. desolate . . . desert waste. Figures for the removal of all life-sustaining blessings, thus setting in sharp focus the contrasting destinies of God's people and the enemies of God's kingdom. This picture of desolation also recalls the earlier description of Judah's condition (2:3).

3:20 will be inhabited forever. When God's judgment and redemption are consummated, his kingdom will endure and flourish eternally.

3:21 This book of judgment ends on a promising and encouraging note: "The LORD dwells in Zion," and therefore all is right with those who trust in God and live with him.

Amos

Author

Amos was from Tekoa (1:1), a small town about 6 miles south of Bethlehem and 11 miles from Jerusalem. He was not a man of the court like Isaiah, or a priest like Jeremiah. He earned his living from the flock and the sycamore-fig grove (1:1; 7:14–15). Whether he owned the flocks and groves or only worked as a hired hand is not known. His skill with words and the strikingly broad range of his general knowledge of history and the world preclude his being an ignorant peasant. Though his home was in Judah, he was sent to announce God's judgment on the northern kingdom (Israel). He probably ministered for the most part at Bethel (7:10–13; see note on Ge 12:8), Israel's main religious sanctuary, where the upper echelons of the northern kingdom worshiped.

The book brings his prophecies together in a carefully organized form intended to be read as a unit. It offers few, if any, clues as to the chronological order of his spoken messages—he may have repeated them on many occasions to reach everyone who came to worship. The book is addressed also to the southern kingdom (hence the references to Judah and Jerusalem).

Date and Historical Situation

According to the first verse, Amos prophesied during the reigns of Uzziah over Judah (792–740 B.C.) and Jeroboam II over the Israel (793–753). The main part of his ministry was probably carried out c. 760–750. Both kingdoms were enjoying great prosperity and had reached new political and military heights (cf. 2Ki 14:23—15:7; 2Ch 26). It was also a time of idolatry, extravagant indulgence in luxurious living, immorality, corruption of judicial procedures and oppression of the poor. As a consequence, God would soon bring about the Assyrian captivity of the northern kingdom (722–721).

Israel at the time was politicaly secure and spiritually smug. About 40 years earlier, at the end of his ministry, Elisha had prophesied the resurgence of Israel's power (2Ki 13:17–19), and more recently Jonah had prophesied her restoration to a glory not known since the days of Solomon (2Ki 14:25). The nation felt sure, therefore, that she was in God's good graces. But prosperity increased Israel's religious and moral corruption. God's past punishments for unfaithfulness were forgotten, and his patience was at an end—which he sent Amos to announce.

With Amos, the messages of the prophets began to be preserved in permanent form, being brought together in books that would accompany Israel through the coming debacle and beyond. Since Amos was a contemporary of Hosea and Jonah, see Introductions to those books.

Theme and Message

The dominant theme is clearly stated in 5:24, which calls for social justice as the indispensable expression of true piety. Amos was a vigorous spokesman for God's justice and righteousness, whereas Hosea emphasized God's love, grace, mercy and forgiveness. Amos declared that God was going to judge his unfaithful, disobedient, covenant-breaking people. Despite his special choice of Israel and his kindnesses to her during the exodus and conquest and in the days of David and Solomon, his people continually failed to honor and obey him. The shrines at Bethel and other places of worship were often paganized, and Israel had a worldly view of even the ritual that the Lord himself had prescribed. They thought performance of the rites was all God required, and, with that done, they could do whatever they pleased—an essentially pagan notion. Without commitment to God's law, they had no basis for standards of conduct. Amos condemns all who make themselves powerful or rich at the expense of others. Those who had acquired two splendid houses (3:15), expensive furniture and richly furnished tables by cheating, perverting justice and crushing the poor would lose everything they had.

God's imminent judgment on Israel would not be a mere punitive blow to warn (as often before, 4:6–11), but an almost total destruction. The unthinkable was about to happen: Because they had not faithfully consecrated themselves to his lordship, God would uproot his chosen people by the hands of a pagan nation. Even so, if they would repent, there was hope that "the LORD God Almighty (would) have mercy on the remnant" (5:15; see 5:4–6,14). In fact, the Lord had a glorious future for his people, beyond the impending judgment. The house of David would again rule over Israel—even extend its rule over many nations—and Israel would once more be secure in the promised land, feasting on wine and fruit (9:11–15). The God of Israel, the Lord of history, would not abandon his chosen people or his chosen program of redemption.

The God for whom Amos speaks is God of more than merely Israel. He also uses one against another to carry out his purposes (6:14). He is the Great King who rules the whole universe (4:13; 5:8; 9:5–6). Because he is all-sovereign, the God of Israel holds the history and destiny of all peoples and of the world in his hands. Israel must know not only that he is the Lord of her future, but also that he is Lord over all, and that he has purposes and concerns that reach far beyond her borders. Israel had a unique, but not an exclusive, claim on God. She needed to remember not only his covenant commitments to her but also her covenant obligations to him. (See further the prophecy of Jonah.)

1 The words of Amos, one of the shepherds of Tekoa[a]—what he saw concerning Israel two years before the earthquake,[b] when Uzziah[c] was king of Judah and Jeroboam[d] son of Jehoash[a] was king of Israel.[e]

[2]He said:

"The LORD roars[f] from Zion and thunders[g] from Jerusalem;[h]
the pastures of the shepherds dry up,[b] and the top of Carmel[i] withers."[j]

Judgment on Israel's Neighbors

[3]This is what the LORD says:

"For three sins of Damascus,[k]
even for four, I will not turn back ⌊my wrath⌋.[l]
Because she threshed Gilead with sledges having iron teeth, [4]I will send fire[m] upon the house of Hazael[n]
that will consume the fortresses[o] of Ben-Hadad.[p]
[5]I will break down the gate[q] of Damascus;
I will destroy the king who is in[c] the Valley of Aven[d] and the one who holds the scepter in Beth Eden.[r]
The people of Aram will go into exile to Kir,[s]" says the LORD.[t]

[6]This is what the LORD says:

"For three sins of Gaza,[u]
even for four, I will not turn back ⌊my wrath⌋.[v] Because she took captive whole communities and sold them to Edom,[w]
[7]I will send fire upon the walls of Gaza that will consume her fortresses.
[8]I will destroy the king[e] of Ashdod[x]
and the one who holds the scepter in Ashkelon.
I will turn my hand[y] against Ekron, till the last of the Philistines[z] is dead,"[a]
says the Sovereign LORD.[b]

[a] 1 Hebrew Joash, a variant of Jehoash
[b] 2 Or shepherds mourn
[c] 5 Or the inhabitants of [d] 5 Aven means wickedness.
[e] 8 Or inhabitants

1:1 Amos. Apparently a shortened form of a name like Amasiah (2Ch 17:16), meaning "The LORD carries" or "The LORD upholds." shepherds. The Hebrew for this word occurs elsewhere in the OT only in reference to the king of Moab (2Ki 3:4, where it is translated "raised sheep"). Cf. 7:14, where a different Hebrew word is used. Amos was not a professional prophet who earned his living from his ministry; he stood outside religious institutions. Tekoa. See Introduction: Author. saw. Received by divine revelation. earthquake. Evidently a major shock, long remembered, and probably the one mentioned in Zec 14:5. Reference to the earthquake suggests that the author viewed it as a kind of divine reinforcement of the words of judgment. Uzziah. See Introduction: Date and Historical Situation; see also note on Isa 6:1. Jeroboam. See Introduction: Date and Historical Situation.

1:2–2:16 A series of oracles against the nations. After pronouncing judgments on Israel's neighbors for various atrocities—judgments that Israel would naturally applaud—Amos announces God's condemnation of his own two kingdoms for despising God's laws. His listing of Israel's sins under the same form of indictment used against the other nations shockingly pictures Israel's sins alongside those of her pagan neighbors.

1:2 A thematic verse, ominously announcing the main thrust of Amos's message. roars. Amos, a shepherd, was sent to Israel to warn her that he had heard a lion roar and that the lion is none other than the Lord himself, who has only wanted to be Israel's shepherd. For the use of this imagery in other contexts see Jer 25:30; Joel 3:16. from Zion. The Lord established his earthly throne in Jerusalem, among his special people, and from there he announces his judgments on them, as well as on the other nations. pastures . . . top of Carmel. See 9:3. From the driest portion of the land to the greenest, the Lord's judgment will be felt like a severe drought that devastates the whole land.

1:3 For three sins . . . four. For their many sins, especially the one named; see also vv. 6,9,11,13; 2:1,4,6. For similar numerical expressions see Pr 6:16; 30:15,18,21,29; Mic 5:5. Damascus. Capital of the Aramean state directly north of Israel and a constant enemy in that day. Her crime was brutality to the conquered people of Gilead, Israel's territory east of Galilee. threshed . . . sledges. Heads of grain were threshed by driving a wooden sledge fitted with sharp teeth over the cut grain (cf. Job 41:30; Isa 28:27; 41:15; see 2Ki 13:7 and note on Ru 1:22).

1:4 send fire . . . that will consume. See vv. 7,10,12; 2:2,5; cf. v. 14; a common description of the threat of divine judgment, usually carried out by a devastating war that resulted in the burning of major cities and fortresses. See the judgments mentioned in Jer 17:27; 49:27; 50:32; Hos 8:14. Hazael. King of Damascus c. 842–796 B.C. and founder of a new line of kings (see 2Ki 8:7–15). fortresses. See vv. 7,10,12,14; 2:2,5; perhaps referring to the fortress-like palatial dwellings of the rich and powerful. Ben-Hadad. Son of Hazael (2Ki 13:24) and the second king with this name (cf. 2Ki 8:14–15), ruling c. 796–775.

1:5 king. See v. 8; lit. "one who sits [enthroned]." Valley of Aven. Possibly the Beqaa Valley between the Lebanon and Anti-Lebanon mountains, but may refer to the river valley in which Damascus is located, calling it the "valley of wickedness" (see NIV text note). Beth Eden. Probably Damascus, the garden spot of that region. Kir. An unidentified place, possibly in the vicinity of Elam (2Ki 16:9; Isa 22:6), from which the Arameans of Damascus are said to have come (9:7).

1:6 Gaza. One of the five Philistine cities (see map on p. 327); it guarded the entry to Canaan from Egypt. whole communities. See v. 9; not just warriors captured in battle. The reference may be to villages in south Judah on the trade route from Edom to Gaza. to Edom. See v. 9; trading the people like cattle to another country.

1:8 Ashdod . . . Ashkelon . . . Ekron. Three more cities of the Philistine group (see note on v. 6). Gath, the fifth (cf. 6:2), may already have been subdued by Uzziah (see 2Ch 26:6). the last. There would be no remnant. Philistia was finally destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar.

1:9 Tyre. The senior Phoenician merchant city, allied to

⌊my wrath⌋.[d]
Because she sold whole communities of captives to Edom, disregarding a treaty of brotherhood,[e]
10I will send fire upon the walls of Tyre that will consume her fortresses.[f]"

11This is what the LORD says:

"For three sins of Edom,[g]
even for four, I will not turn back
⌊my wrath⌋.
Because he pursued his brother with a sword,[h]
stifling all compassion,[i] because his anger raged continually and his fury flamed unchecked,[j] 12I will send fire upon Teman[j]
that will consume the fortresses of Bozrah.[k]"

13This is what the LORD says:

"For three sins of Ammon,[l]
even for four, I will not turn back
⌊my wrath⌋.
Because he ripped open the pregnant women[m] of Gilead
in order to extend his borders, 14I will set fire to the walls of Rabbah[n]
that will consume[o] her fortresses amid war cries[p] on the day of battle, amid violent winds[q] on a stormy
day.
15Her kings[g] will go into exile, he and his officials together,[r]"
says the LORD.[s]

2 This is what the LORD says:

"For three sins of Moab,[t]
even for four, I will not turn back
⌊my wrath⌋.
Because he burned, as if to lime,[u]
the bones of Edom's king, 2I will send fire upon Moab
that will consume the fortresses of Kerioth.[h][v]
Moab will go down in great tumult amid war cries[w] and the blast of the trumpet.[x]
3I will destroy her ruler[y] and kill all her officials with him,"[z]
says the LORD.[a]

4This is what the LORD says:

"For three sins of Judah,[b]
even for four, I will not turn back
⌊my wrath⌋.
Because they have rejected the law[c] of the LORD
and have not kept his decrees,[d] because they have been led astray[e] by false gods,[i][f]
the gods[j] their ancestors followed,[g]
5I will send fire[h] upon Judah that will consume the fortresses[i] of Jerusalem.[j]"

Israel by a "treaty of brotherhood" in the days of David (1Ki 5:1), later in the time of Solomon (1Ki 5:12) and later still during the reign of Ahab, whose father-in-law ruled Tyre and Sidon (1Ki 16:30–31). she sold. Her crime was like Philistia's (v. 6).

1:10 walls. Tyre was an almost impregnable island, boastful of her security (cf. Eze 26:1–28:19).

1:11 Edom. The nation descended from Esau (Ge 36; cf. Ge 25:23–30; 27:39–40). brother. Israel (cf. Ob 8–10). Reference may be to treaty "brother" (see note on v. 9). Edom's crime was in violating this relationship by persistent hostility.

1:12 Teman ... Bozrah. Major cities of Edom, the former thought to be near Petra, the latter now identified with Buseirah, 37 miles to the north. With their destruction, Edom would lose its capacity for continual warfare.

1:13 Ammon. Judgment centered on Rabbah (see note on Dt 3:11), modern Amman. Greed for land bred a brutal genocide that would be punished by a tumult of men and nature, leaving the state without leaders to continue such practices.

1:14 Fulfilled through the Assyrians.

1:15 See Jer 49:3 and NIV text note on Jer 49:1.

2:1 burned ... the bones of Edom's king. Thus depriving the king's spirit of the rest that was widely believed to result from decent burial.

2:2 Kerioth. Perhaps a plural noun meaning "cities" (see NIV text note) or the name of a major town (see Jer 48:24) and shrine of Chemosh, the national god of Moab (see 1Ki 11:7,33).

2:4 rejected the law of the LORD. Judah's sins differed in kind from those of the other nations. Those nations violated the generally recognized laws of humanity, but Judah disobeyed the revealed law of God. These sins may be included in the indictment against Israel that follows.

2:5 fire ... consume the fortresses. Judah's punishment is the same as Aram's (1:4), Gaza's (1:7), Tyre's (1:10), Edom's (1:12), Ammon's (1:14) and Moab's (2:2)—loss of the defenses and wealth in which they trusted.

2:6 Israel's sins revealed the general moral deterioration of the nation. the righteous. Probably those who were not in debt and whom there was no lawful reason to sell (cf. Lev 25:39–43). the needy. God had commanded that they be helped (Dt 15:7–11), but they were instead sold for failure to repay a (perhaps paltry) debt, for which a pair of sandals had been given in pledge (see 8:6).

2:7 trample. See 8:4. poor ... oppressed. To care for them and to protect them from injustice were clearly commanded by Israel's law (Ex 23:6–8); also, throughout the ancient Near East, kings were supposed to defend such people. Father and son use the same girl. Whether the girl in question was a household servant (in which case father and son used her as a family prostitute) is not clear. In any case, the law required that if there were sexual relations with a girl, marriage was obligatory (Ex 22:16; Dt 22:28–29). For a father and son to have sexual relations with the same girl or woman was strictly forbidden (Lev 18:7–8,15; 20:11–12). profane my holy name. Cf. Lev 18:21; 19:12; 20:3; 21:6; 22:2,32; Jer 34:16; Eze 20:9,14,22,39; 36:20–23; 39:7.

2:8 beside every altar ... In the house of their god. Israelites who broke the laws protecting the powerless brazenly used their wrongly gotten gains even in places supposed to be holy. garments taken in pledge. The law prohibited keeping a man's cloak overnight as a pledge (Ex 22:26–27; Dt 24:12–13), or taking a widow's cloak at all (Dt 24:17). fines. Claimed as restitution for damages suffered. Exorbitant claims or even false charges of damage seem to be suggested.

2:9 I destroyed. Israel not only had known God's law but had been specially favored by his powerful help. Amorite. Here used for all the inhabitants of Canaan (see notes on Ge 10:16; 15:16; Jdg 6:10; see also Dt 7:1 and note). his fruit above and his roots below. That is, totally.

2:10 I brought you up. See 3:1. God's great blessings to Israel in the past added to her guilt, and now they are recalled as a part of the Lord's indictment against his people.

2:11 I also raised up prophets ... and Nazirites. Prophets, as God's faithful spokesmen (Dt 18:15–19), and Nazirites, as those uniquely dedicated to him (Nu 6:1–21; Jdg 13:5), are singled out as special gifts to his people. These persons who were outside the priesthood were used by God through word and example to call his people to faithfulness.

2:12 But you. They showed utter disdain for God's faithful servants and thus betrayed their callous insensitivity to God's working among them (cf. 7:16).

2:13 A loaded cart crushes anything that falls beneath its wheels.

2:14–16 No one who might be expected to stand his ground or escape would be able to save himself.

2:16 that day. The day God comes in judgment—as he did through the Assyrian invasion that swept the northern kingdom away.

3:1–5:17 Oracles that underscore the certainty of God's judgment on Israel.

3:1 Hear this word. See 4:1; 5:1. The Lord calls his people to account because of their sins. I. He now speaks more directly than in 1:2–2:16.

3:2 You only. Israel's present strength and prosperity gave rise to complacency about her privileged status as the Lord's chosen people. She is shockingly reminded of the long-forgotten responsibilities her privileges entailed.

3:3–6 With these rhetorical questions (involving comparisons) Amos builds up to the statements of vv. 7–8, to explain why he is speaking such terrifying words. Each picture is of cause and effect, using figures drawn from daily life—and culminating in divine action (v. 6).

5 Does a bird fall into a trap on the ground where no snare[q] has been set?
Does a trap spring up from the earth
when there is nothing to catch?
6 When a trumpet[r] sounds in a city,

[k] 12 The meaning of the Hebrew for this line is uncertain.

3:8 The lion. Echoes 1:2. who can but prophesy? Amos speaks because God has spoken.

3:9 The rich and powerful of Philistia and Egypt are summoned to witness the Lord's indictment against those who store up ill-gotten riches in the fortresses of Samaria (see v. 15). fortresses. See note on 1:4. great unrest. The result of a violent, selfish power structure that was heedless of the justice called for in God's law.

3:10 who hoard. Cf. 2:6–8. The prosperity of Israel's wealthy depended on oppression and robbery. The following verses announce God's judgment on such greed (cf. Hab 2:6–11).

3:11 enemy. Assyria. plunder your fortresses. Those that Samaria's wealthy had greedily filled with plunder.

3:12 As a shepherd saves ... only two leg bones. To prove to the owner that the sheep had been eaten by a wild animal, not stolen by the shepherd. be saved. Only a mutilated remnant would survive. The nation as such would be more than wounded—it would be destroyed. those who sit. In idle luxury (cf. 6:4). in Damascus on their couches. See NIV text note. Since at this time Israel had extended its influence over Damascus, the rich merchants of Samaria may have maintained luxurious houses also in Damascus along with market privileges in that city (cf. 1Ki 20:34).

3:13 Hear ... testify. Addressed to those summoned in v. 9. The rich and powerful of Philistia and Egypt are called upon to hear the Lord's indictment of the rich and powerful in Samaria and to testify that his indictment is true and that his judgment is warranted. Even these pagans will agree with God's judgment.

3:14 altars of Bethel. Israel's sins were rooted in the false shrine built by Jeroboam I at Bethel (1Ki 12:26–33). horns of the altar. Even the last refuge for a condemned man (cf. 1Ki 1:50–53) will afford Israel no protection.

3:15 winter house ... summer house. Cf. 6:11; further signs of opulence that would not benefit their owners on the day of God's judgment—nor would expensive imported decorations, carvings and inlays of ivory (cf. 6:4; 1Ki 22:39). Many examples of such carvings have been found in ruined palaces in Samaria and other cities.

4:1 Hear this word. See note on 3:1. cows of Bashan. Upper-class women, directly addressed, are compared with the best breed of cattle in ancient Canaan, which were raised (and pampered) in the pastures of northern Transjordan (cf. Ps 22:12; Eze 39:18). Whether the metaphor was intended as an insult or as ironic flattery is uncertain.

4:2 The Sovereign LORD has sworn. Stresses the solemnity of the situation and the certainty of the events. by his holiness. Contrasts with Israel's sin, reminding them of what they could have been (Ex 19:6) if they had faithfully kept their side of the covenant—as God had his. hooks. According to Assyrian reliefs (pictures engraved on stone), prisoners of war were led away with a rope fastened to a hook that pierced the nose or lower lip (cf. 2Ki 19:28; 2Ch 33:11; Eze 19:4,9; Hab 1:15). The Hebrew word here may, in fact, refer to ropes.

when you will be taken away[v] with hooks,[z]

3You will each go straight out through breaks in the wall,[a] and you will be cast out toward Harmon,[1]"
declares the LORD.
4"Go to Bethel[b] and sin;
go to Gilgal[c] and sin yet more.
Bring your sacrifices every morning,[d]
your tithes[e] every three years.[m][f] 5Burn leavened bread[g] as a thank offering and brag about your freewill offerings[h]— boast about them, you Israelites, for this is what you love to do,"
declares the Sovereign LORD.
6"I gave you empty stomachs[n] in every city and lack of bread in every town, yet you have not returned to me,"
declares the LORD.[i] 7"I also withheld[j] rain from you when the harvest was still three months away.
I sent rain on one town,
but withheld it from another.[k]
One field had rain;
another had none and dried up.
8People staggered from town to town for water[l]
but did not get enough[m] to drink, yet you have not returned[n] to me,"
declares the LORD.[o]
9"Many times I struck your gardens and vineyards,
I struck them with blight and mildew.[p]
Locusts[q] devoured your fig and olive trees,[r] yet you have not returned[s] to me,"
declares the LORD.
10"I sent plagues[t] among you as I did to Egypt.[u]
I killed your young men[v] with the sword, along with your captured horses.
I filled your nostrils with the stench[w] of your camps, yet you have not returned to me,"[x]
declares the LORD.[y] 11"I overthrew some of you as I[o] overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah.[z]
You were like a burning stick[a] snatched from the fire, yet you have not returned to me,"
declares the LORD.[b]
12"Therefore this is what I will do to you, Israel, and because I will do this to you,
prepare to meet your God,
O Israel."
13He who forms the mountains,[c] creates the wind,[d]
and reveals his thoughts[e] to man,
he who turns dawn to darkness,
and treads the high places of the earth[f]—
the LORD God Almighty is his name.[g]

4:3 breaks in the wall. See 2Ki 17:5. Harmon. Appears to be a place-name, though it is not otherwise known (see NIV text note).

4:4–5 Spoken in irony.

4:4 Bethel . . . Gilgal. These towns had historical importance as places where God's help was commemorated (cf. Ge 35:1–15; Jos 4:20–24), and both were popular places of worship in Amos's day (5:5; cf. Hos 4:15; 9:15; 12:11). sacrifices every morning. See Ex 29:38–42. tithes. Apparently the special tithe that was to be brought every three years (cf. Dt 14:28; 26:12). years. See NIV text note. The Hebrew word for "days" sometimes stands for years.

4:5 leavened bread. The burning of leavened bread in the sacrifices was strictly forbidden (see Lev 6:17; 7:12). Either Amos rebukes the Israelites for willful transgression of the law, or he speaks of burning in a general way for offering inappropriate gifts to the Lord. Leavened bread could accompany a fellowship offering (see Lev 7:13). what you love to do. They loved the forms and rituals of religion but did not love what God loves—goodness, mercy, kindness, justice (see 5:15; Isa 5:7; 61:8; Hos 6:6; Mic 6:8).

4:6–11 In the past, God had used natural disasters to discipline and warn his people, but those lessons were soon forgotten (cf. Dt 28:22,39–40,42,48,56–57).

4:6 I. These were not simply natural disasters; they were direct acts of God (3:6). yet . . . me. See vv. 8–11.

4:7–8 Lack of rain three months before harvest would prevent full development of the grain.

4:9 Locusts. Cf. 7:1; Joel 1:4.

4:10 plagues . . . as . . . Egypt. See Ex 7:14–12:30.

4:11 Sodom and Gomorrah. Exemplified total destruction, God's judgment on those cities (see Ge 19:24–25) having already become proverbial (cf. Dt 29:23; Isa 1:9; 13:19; Jer 49:18; 50:40; Zep 2:9). burning stick snatched from the fire. Saved only by God's grace (cf. Zec 3:2).

4:12 prepare to meet your God. Devastated Israel, brought to her knees by the Assyrians, would meet the God she had covenanted with at Sinai and had now so grievously offended.

4:13 See note on 5:8–9. The God of such power and majesty is easily able to execute the judgment announced in v. 12.

5:1 Hear this word. See note on 3:1. this lament. Amos sorrowfully fashioned a lament as if Israel were already dead.

5:2 Virgin Israel. See Jer 18:13; 31:4,21; see also notes on 2Ki 19:21; Isa 23:12. deserted. Left like a dead body on the open field (cf. Jer 9:22).

5:3 city ... town. The Hebrew expression denotes communities of varying size, all of which would suffer.

5:4 Seek. See vv. 6,14. live. If they would seek the Lord, they (or at least a remnant, v. 15) could yet escape the violent death anticipated in Amos's lament.

5:5 Bethel ... Gilgal. See note on 4:4. Beersheba. Located in the south of Judah, it also had evidently become a place of pilgrimage and idolatry (cf. 8:14). All shrines where the worship of God was abused would be destroyed.

5:6 The places of idolatry were doomed; yet if Israel turned to God, there was hope for her as a nation. Otherwise the people, too, would be destroyed. house of Joseph. The northern kingdom of Israel, dominated by the tribe of Ephraim, descendants of Joseph (also in v. 15; 6:6). Bethel. The main religious center of the northern kingdom (see 7:13; see also 3:14; 4:4; 7:10). The god the Israelites worshiped there would be powerless to save the place when the true God brought his judgment.

5:7 You who turn justice into bitterness. They corrupted the procedures and institutions of justice (the courts), making them instruments of injustice ("bitterness"). Turning God's order upside down is inevitable in a society that ignores his law and despises true religion (see 6:12).

5:8–9 As in 4:13, a brief hymn is inserted (see 9:5–6). Here Amos highlights the contrast between "you who turn" good into bad (v. 7) and the One "who turns" night into day and governs the order of the universe—and whose power can smash the walls his people hide behind.

5:8 Pleiades. A group of seven stars (part of the constellation Taurus); always mentioned in connection with Orion (see note on Job 9:9). blackness into dawn ... day into night. The orderly sequence of day and night (cf. Jer 31:35). waters of the sea. The waters above the expanse (see 9:6; Ge 1:7; see also notes on Ps 36:8; 42:7; 104:3,13); alternatively, waters evaporated from the sea and condensed as rain.

5:10 Continues the sentence begun in v. 7. This poetic paragraph is continued and completed in vv. 12b–13, which (in the Hebrew) use the third person, while the preceding passage (vv. 11–12a) uses the second person. The indictment of vv. 7,10,12b–13 is therefore more objective and descriptive, while that of vv. 11–12a is more direct and pointed. reproves ... tells the truth. Those who are concerned that the courts uphold justice.

5:11 though you have built. God would take away their prized possessions acquired through wrongful gain. Their prosperity would be turned to grief (cf. Dt 28:30,38–40).

5:13 prudent man. He knows he cannot change the state of affairs, and therefore only awaits judgment.

5:14 Seek good. Cf. "Seek me" (v. 4); see Isa 1:16–17 and note on Isa 1:17. that you may live. The purpose is more definitely expressed than in vv. 4,6, and the way to change is explicit. with you. As your security and source of blessing.

Then the LORD God Almighty will be with you,
just as you say he is.
15Hate evil,[q] love good;[r]
maintain justice in the courts.[s] Perhaps[t] the LORD God Almighty will have mercy[u]
on the remnant[v] of Joseph.

16Therefore this is what the Lord, the LORD God Almighty, says:

"There will be wailing[w] in all the streets[x]
and cries of anguish in every public square.
The farmers[y] will be summoned to weep
and the mourners to wail.
17There will be wailing[z] in all the
vineyards,
for I will pass through[a] your midst,"
says the LORD.[b]

The Day of the LORD

18Woe to you who long for the day of the LORD![c]
Why do you long for the day of the LORD?[d]
That day will be darkness,[e] not light.[f]
19It will be as though a man fled from a lion
only to meet a bear,[g] as though he entered his house and rested his hand on the wall only to have a snake bite him.[h]

Though you bring choice fellowship

23Away with the noise of your songs!
I will not listen to the music of your 24But let justice[t] roll on like a river, righteousness[u] like a never-failing stream![v]

forty years[x] in the desert, O house of Israel?
26You have lifted up the shrine of your

the pedestal of your idols,[y]
the star of your god[r]— which you made for yourselves.

5:15 Perhaps. Emphasizes the danger of presuming on God's grace. Even a widespread change of attitude would need the test of time to prove its genuineness. remnant. Implies that a change now would benefit the individual survivors of the disaster, though the nation as a whole would perish.

5:16–17 A return to the theme of lament with which this section began (vv. 1–2). streets ... square ... farmers ... vineyards. All will be affected by God's punishment. Even farmers, usually too busy for such things, would join the professional mourners in lament, and mourning would overflow from the cities to the vineyards. When the holy God "will pass through" (as he did in Egypt, Ex 12:12), punishment for the unholy and unjust will be inescapable (cf. Isa 6:5).

5:18 day of the LORD. The time when God will show himself the victor over the world, vindicating his claims to be the Lord over all the earth (see notes on 8:9; Isa 2:11,17,20). Israel expected to be exalted as his people and longed for that day to come. Amos warned that the day would come, but not as Israel expected—it would be a day of "darkness, not light" (v. 20) for her, because she had not been faithful to God. (Cf. "the day of our Lord Jesus Christ" and variations in 1Co 1:8; 3:12–15; 5:5; 2Co 1:14; Php 1:6,10; 2:16.) Amos speaks primarily of an imminent and decisive judgment on Israel, not exclusively of the last day.

5:19–20 The two pictures (v. 19) emphasize vividly the inescapability of God's coming judgment.

5:21–27 Again God directly addresses Israel with the charge of unfaithfulness.

5:21–23 These three verses summarize and reject the current practice of religion in Israel. The institutions were not wrong in themselves; it was the worshipers and the ways they worshiped that were wrong. The people had no basis on which to come to God, because their conduct reflected disobedience to his law (see Isa 1:11–15 and note).

5:21 I cannot stand. Lit. "I do not inhale with delight."

5:24 justice ... righteousness. Prerequisites for acceptance by God; but these are what Israel had rejected and scorned (cf. vv. 7,10,12b). river ... never-failing stream. In contrast to stream beds that are dry much of the year. The simile is especially apt: As plant and animal life flourishes where there is water, so human life flourishes where there is justice and righteousness.

5:25 Israel's right relationship with the Lord was never established primarily by sacrifices. It was above all based on obedience (see 1Sa 15:22–23; cf. Ro 1:5). forty years in the desert. See Nu 14:32–35.

5:26 The obscure language of this verse speaks of Israelite idolatry, but whether it was in the desert long ago or more recently in the promised land, or both, is not clear. The NIV text note takes two nouns as proper names derived from Akkadian. The Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) represents a somewhat different text, which is followed by Ac 7:42–43.

5:27 This punishment is the final one—exile from the God-given land to remote foreign places.

6 Woe to you[b] who are complacent[c] in Zion, and to you who feel secure[d] on Mount Samaria,[e]
you notable men of the foremost nation, to whom the people of Israel come![f] 2Go to Calneh[g] and look at it;
go from there to great Hamath,[h] and then go down to Gath[i] in Philistia.
Are they better off than[j] your two kingdoms?
Is their land larger than yours?
3You put off the evil day and bring near a reign of terror.[k] 4You lie on beds inlaid with ivory and lounge on your couches.[l]
You dine on choice lambs and fattened calves.[m] 5You strum away on your harps[n] like David and improvise on musical instruments.[o] 6You drink wine[p] by the bowlful and use the finest lotions, but you do not grieve[q] over the ruin of Joseph.[r] 7Therefore you will be among the first to go into exile;[s] your feasting and lounging will end.[t]

The LORD Abhors the Pride of Israel

8The Sovereign LORD has sworn by himself[u]—the LORD God Almighty declares:

"I abhor[v] the pride of Jacob[w] and detest his fortresses;[x]
I will deliver up[y] the city and everything in it.[z]"

9If ten[a] men are left in one house, they too will die. 10And if a relative who is to burn the bodies[b] comes to carry them out of the house and asks anyone still hiding there, "Is anyone with you?" and he says, "No," then he will say, "Hush![c] We must not mention the name of the LORD."

11For the LORD has given the command, and he will smash[d] the great house[e] into pieces and the small house into bits.[f]

12Do horses run on the rocky crags?
Does one plow there with oxen?
But you have turned justice into poison[g]
and the fruit of righteousness[h] into bitterness[i]— 13you who rejoice in the conquest of Lo Debar[s] and say, "Did we not take Karnaim[t] by our own strength?[j]"

14For the LORD God Almighty declares,
"I will stir up a nation[k] against you, O house of Israel, that will oppress you all the way from Lebo[u] Hamath[l] to the valley of the Arabah.[m]"

6:1 in Zion ... on Mount Samaria. Although Amos spoke primarily to Israel, Judah (Zion) also deserved his rebuke (cf. 2:4–5), for Israel properly comprised all 12 tribes. foremost nation. In Israel's self-complacent eyes in this time of her newly recovered power and prosperity.

6:2 Perhaps Calneh and Hamath had fallen in Jeroboam II's campaign (2Ki 14:28), and the wall of Gath had been broken down by Uzziah (2Ch 26:6). These words may have been spoken by the "people of Israel" (v. 1) who, when they came before their notables, flattered their vanity and thus reinforced their arrogant complacency.

6:4 ivory. See 3:15 and note.

6:5 like David. See 1Sa 16:15–23; 2Sa 23:1.

6:6 Joseph. See note on 5:6.

6:8 sworn by himself. See note on Ge 22:16; cf. Heb 6:13–14. By this oath God declares that the verdict is final.

6:10–11 A fearful scene: Apparently a survivor is cowering inside the house, the relative forbidding him even to pray because God's wrath had fallen on the city.

6:10 burn the bodies. Reference may be to burning a memorial fire in honor of the dead (see Jer 34:5). Cremation was not generally practiced, being reserved primarily for serious offenders (see Lev 20:14; 21:9; Jos 7:15,25; cf. 1Sa 31:11–13).

6:11 great house ... small house. Cf. perhaps the "summer house" and "winter house" of 3:15.

6:12 plow there with oxen. The Hebrew for this phrase is sometimes translated (with a slight textual change) "plow the sea with oxen." Israel's perversion of justice flies in the face of even common human wisdom about the right order of things.

6:13 Lo Debar ... Karnaim. See NIV text notes for Amos's ironic play on the meanings of these place names. They seem to have been regained from Hazael by Jehoash (2Ki 10:32–33; 13:25), then taken by the Assyrians ("a nation," v. 14) soon after Amos's day (2Ki 15:29)—beginning the sequence of events that would lead to the loss of all territory conquered by Jeroboam II.

6:14 from Lebo Hamath to the valley of the Arabah. From the Orontes River in north Lebanon to the Dead Sea—thus the whole land (cf. 2Ki 14:25).

7:1 showed me. Introduces reports of visions that convey God's message through things seen as well as heard (see vv. 4,7; 8:1; cf. 9:1). locusts. Cf. 4:9; Joel 1:4. king's share. Apparently the earlier crop, from which the royal taxes were taken. second crop. The growth that came up in the share had been harvested and just as the second crop was coming up. 2When they had stripped the land clean,[p] I cried out, "Sovereign LORD, forgive! How can Jacob survive?[q] He is so small![r]"

3So the LORD relented.[s]

4This is what the Sovereign LORD showed me: The Sovereign LORD was calling for judgment by fire;[u] it dried up the great deep and devoured[v] the land. 5Then I cried out, "Sovereign LORD, I beg you, stop! How can Jacob survive? He is so small![w]"

6So the LORD relented.[x]

"This will not happen either," the Sovereign LORD said.[y]

7This is what he showed me: The Lord was standing by a wall that had been built true to plumb, with a plumb line in his hand. 8And the LORD asked me, "What do you see,[z] Amos?[a]"

"A plumb line,[b]" I replied.

Then the Lord said, "Look, I am setting a plumb line among my people Israel; I will spare them no longer.[c]

Amos and Amaziah

10Then Amaziah the priest of Bethel[g] sent a message to Jeroboam[h] king of Israel: "Amos is raising a conspiracy[i] against you in the very heart of Israel. The land cannot bear all his words.[j] 11For this is what Amos is saying:

" 'Jeroboam will die by the sword, and Israel will surely go into exile,[k]
away from their native land.' "[l]

12Then Amaziah said to Amos, "Get out, you seer![m] Go back to the land of Judah. Earn your bread there and do your prophesying there.[n] 13Don't prophesy anymore at Bethel,[o] because this is the king's sanctuary and the temple[p] of the kingdom.[q]"

14Amos answered Amaziah, "I was neither a prophet[r] nor a prophet's son, but I was a shepherd, and I also took care of sycamore-fig trees.[s] 15But the LORD took me from tending the flock[t] and said to me, 'Go,[u] prophesy[v] to my people Israel.'[w] 16Now then, hear[x] the word of the LORD. You say,

" 'Do not prophesy against[y] Israel, and stop preaching against the house of Isaac.'

fields after the grains and early hay were harvested. On these the flocks and herds pastured until the summer drought stopped all growth (cf. 1Ki 18:5).

7:2 See v. 5. How ... survive? Mass starvation would afflict all the people. Jacob. Israel. so small. Powerless to withstand the calamity. Amos makes no appeal to the Lord's covenant with Israel—perhaps because Israel's unfaithfulness had removed all right to such an appeal.

7:3 See v. 6. the LORD relented. In response to the prophetic intercession (cf. Ge 20:7)—but forgiveness is not offered.

7:4 great deep. Probably the Mediterranean Sea. land. Lit. "portion," probably referring to the promised land or, more precisely, to everything growing on the land (cf. Joel 1:19).

7:5 See note on v. 2.

7:6 See note on v. 3.

7:7 Israel is compared to a wall built true to plumb—what she should have been, after all the Lord had done for her.

7:8–9 In vv. 1–6 God proposed wholesale punishments amounting to total destruction, but relented at Amos's prayer—though without promise of forgiveness. Now the Lord is no longer open to such intercession (cf. Jer 7:16; 11:14; 14:11; 15:1).

7:8 plumb line. God's people had been "built" (v. 7) according to God's standards. They were expected to be true to those standards, but were completely out of plumb when tested (cf. 2Ki 21:13). my people. Here, for the first time in the book of Amos, the Lord calls Israel "my people" (see v. 15; 8:2; 9:10,14). spare them no longer. See 8:2.

7:9 high places ... sanctuaries ... house. The centers of religious and political pretension and of self-righteous pride would be wiped out. Isaac. Israel's (Jacob's) father, a way of referring to Israel found only in Amos (see v. 16). Jeroboam. The oracles of chs. 1–6 were spoken to the leading people of Israel and Samaria as a whole; here Amos names one man, the king.

7:11 Amaziah's words summarize Amos's message (see note on v. 17). Jeroboam. That is, his "house" (v. 9), the king's name also representing his dynasty. will die. Jeroboam died naturally (2Ki 14:29), but his son and successor Zechariah (2Ki 15:8) was assassinated (2Ki 15:10).

7:12 seer. Amaziah dismissed Amos as a prophet for hire whom he need not take seriously.

7:13 king's sanctuary. Amaziah served the king in Samaria, not Israel's heavenly King; hence he would not allow a prophetic word to be spoken against Jeroboam or his realm at the royal chapel.

7:14 neither a prophet nor a prophet's son. Amos denied any previous connection with the prophets or their disciples (see note on 1Ki 20:35). No one had hired him to come and announce judgment on Jeroboam and Israel. shepherd. See note on 1:1, but the Hebrew uses a different word here—one not found elsewhere in the OT. The Hebrew for this word is, however, related to a word for "cattle," suggesting that Amos may also have tended cattle. sycamore-fig trees. A large tree, yielding fig-like fruit as well as useful timber. To ensure good fruit, the gardener had to slit the top of each fig—which may be the procedure referred to by the obscure Hebrew word here rendered "took care of."

7:15 tending. Or "following" (as in 2Sa 7:8), the Hebrew for which stresses the location of the shepherd rather than his activity. Go. Amos was in Bethel because God had sent him to prophesy there.

7:16 Do not prophesy. Cf. 2:12.

17"Therefore this is what the LORD says:

" 'Your wife will become a prostitute[z] in the city, and your sons and daughters will fall by the sword.
Your land will be measured and divided up,
and you yourself will die in a pagan[v] country.
And Israel will certainly go into exile,[a] away from their native land.[b]' "

A Basket of Ripe Fruit

8 This is what the Sovereign LORD showed me:[c] a basket of ripe fruit.
2"What do you see,[d] Amos?[e]" he asked.

"A basket[f] of ripe fruit," I answered.

Then the LORD said to me, "The time is ripe for my people Israel; I will spare them no longer.[g]

3"In that day," declares the Sovereign LORD, "the songs in the temple will turn to wailing.[w h] Many, many bodies—flung everywhere! Silence![i]"

skimping the measure, boosting the price
and cheating[o] with dishonest scales,[p] 6buying the poor[q] with silver and the needy for a pair of sandals, selling even the sweepings with the wheat.[r]

7The LORD has sworn by the Pride of Jacob:[s] "I will never forget[t] anything they have done.[u]

8"Will not the land tremble[v] for this,
and all who live in it mourn?
The whole land will rise like the Nile;
it will be stirred up and then sink
like the river of Egypt.[w]

9"In that day," declares the Sovereign LORD,

"I will make the sun go down at noon

10I will turn your religious feasts[y] into and all your singing into weeping.[z]

I will make all of you wear sackcloth[a]
and shave[b] your heads.
I will make that time like mourning for an only son[c]

8:6 See note on 2:6.

8:7 sworn by the Pride of Jacob. Israel took pride in the fact that the Lord was her God.

8:8 rise like the Nile. Because of the heavy seasonal rains in Ethiopia, the Nile in Egypt annually rose by as much as 25 feet, flooding the whole valley except for the towns and villages standing above it. Its waters carried a large amount of rich soil, which was deposited on the land—perhaps referred to by the words "stirred up."

8:9 that day. See note on 5:18. darken the earth. As elsewhere, the "day of the LORD" is described as one in which the cosmic (world) order is disrupted and light is turned to darkness (see Isa 13:10; 24:23; 34:4; 50:3; Eze 32:7–8; Joel 2:10,31; Mic 3:6), as if creation is being undone (see Jer 4:23).

8:10 mourning. Illustrated by King David (2Sa 18:33). wear sackcloth . . . shave your heads. Signs of mourning (see Ge 37:34; Jer 47:5). only son. On whose life the future of the family depended (cf. 2Sa 18:18). bitter day. The opposite of the "day of celebration" (Est 9:22).

8:11 days. When God's judgment begins to take effect. famine of hearing the words of the LORD. In times of great distress Israel turned to the Lord for a prophetic word of hope or guidance (see, e.g., 2Ki 19:1–4,14; 22:13–14; Jer 21:2; Eze 14:3,7), but in the coming judgment the Lord will answer all such appeals with silence—the awful silence of God (see 1Sa 28:6; Eze 7:26; 20:1–3; Mic 3:4,7).

8:12 sea to sea . . . north to east. Throughout the land of searching for the word of the LORD, but they will not find it.[h]

13"In that day

"the lovely young women and strong young men[i] will faint because of thirst.[j] 14They who swear by the shame[x] of Samaria,[k] or say, 'As surely as your god lives, O Dan,'[l]
or, 'As surely as the god[y] of Beersheba[m] lives'— they will fall,[n]
never to rise again.[o]"

Israel to Be Destroyed

9 I saw the Lord standing by the altar, and he said:

"Strike the tops of the pillars
so that the thresholds shake.
Bring them down on the heads[p] of all the people;
those who are left I will kill with the sword.
Not one will get away,
none will escape.[q]
2Though they dig down to the depths of the grave,[z][r]
from there my hand will take them.
Though they climb up to the heavens,[s]
from there I will bring them down.[t] 3Though they hide themselves on the top of Carmel,[u]
there I will hunt them down and seize them.[v]
Though they hide from me at the bottom of the sea,[w]
there I will command the serpent[x] to bite them.[y] 4Though they are driven into exile by their enemies,
there I will command the sword[a] to slay them.
I will fix my eyes upon them
for evil[b] and not for good."[c][d]

5The Lord, the LORD Almighty, he who touches the earth and it melts,[e]
and all who live in it mourn—
the whole land rises like the Nile, then sinks like the river of Egypt[f]— 6he who builds his lofty palace[a][g] in the heavens and sets its foundation[b] on the earth,
who calls for the waters of the sea and pours them out over the face of
the land—
the LORD is his name.[h]

7"Are you Israelites the same to me as the Cushites[c]?"[i]
declares the LORD.
"Did I not bring Israel up from Egypt, the Philistines[j] from Caphtor[d][k]
and the Arameans from Kir?[l]

8"Surely the eyes of the Sovereign LORD are on the sinful kingdom.
I will destroy[m] it from the face of the earth—
yet I will not totally destroy

8:13 thirst. Both physical and spiritual. Their strength sapped, even the lovely girls and strong boys of the nation would faint and fall useless.

8:14 They who swear. By the gods of their various religious centers (see NIV text notes)—the false gods in which they trusted rather than in the Lord.

9:1 I saw the Lord. See note on 7:1. God is now poised on earth. by the altar. God is about to initiate the destruction from the very place from which the people expect to hear a word of peace and blessing. tops of the pillars. God will shatter the temple completely, from the decorated capitals down to the heavy stone thresholds. The next lines depict the destruction. Whether the vision shows the Lord at Jerusalem or at Bethel is unclear, but we know of no temple structure at Bethel.

9:2–4 These verses emphasize the impossibility of escape from God's impending judgment. The imaginary extremes to which a person might go may be compared with those in Ps 139:7–12. God's domain includes every place, even the realm of the grave (v. 2).

9:3 top of Carmel. See note on 1:2. serpent. In pagan mythology, the fierce monster of the sea. If someone should seek to escape by hiding in the depths, he could still not evade God, for even there all are subject to him.

9:4 driven ... by their enemies ... I will command. Even those dispersed among the nations will not escape God's judgment. I will fix my eyes ... for evil. Contrast Ps 33:18; 34:15.

9:5 The Lord ... who. Introduces a hymnic reminder that Israel's God is the Creator and Sustainer of the universe, thus underlining the pronouncements of the previous verses (cf. 4:13; 5:8–9). earth ... melts. See note on Ps 46:6. like the Nile. See 8:8 and note.

9:6 his lofty palace. Contrasts the scale of God with the scale of man, whose structures fall at the movement of the earth (v. 5). See Ps 104:3 and note. sea. See 5:8 and note.

9:7 Cushites. A dark-skinned people who lived south of Egypt (cf. Jer 13:23 and NIV text note). Did I not bring Israel up ...? See note on Ex 20:2. Israel could not rely on God's past blessings as an assurance of his future benevolence. Her stubborn rebelliousness robbed the exodus of all special meaning for her; her journey from Egypt is reduced to no more significance than the movements of other peoples. Philistines from Caphtor. See note on Jer 47:4. Kir. See note on 1:5.

9:8 sinful kingdom. Israel, the chosen, whose disobedience was far worse than the sins of other nations (cf. 1:3–2:16; 3:1–2).

9:10 All the sinners . . . will die. For their persistent rebellion.

9:11 The verse is also regarded as Messianic in the Jewish Talmud. I will restore. Raises a hope underlying Amos's words—one that runs through the whole OT from Ge 3:15 on: God will bring blessing after judgment and will not ultimately reject Israel. tent. Lit. "hut" (or rough booth)—either the dynasty ("house") of David or the united kingdom of the 12 tribes (David's kingdom). The word "hut" may have been chosen to recall David's humble beginnings. as it used to be. In the days of David and Solomon.

9:12 remnant of Edom. Whatever is left of Israel's bitter enemy (see note on 1:11) after her punishment. all the nations that bear my name. Refers to the extent of the rule of the Lord's anointed future King, recalling that David had reigned over many nations surrounding Israel. It represents the fulfillment of the Abrahamic and Davidic covenants. The Messiah will reign even over former enemies, of whom Edom is symbolic (see note on Isa 34:5). will do these things. God does what he says.

9:13–15 After all the forecasts of destruction, dearth and death (cf. 5:9,11,27), Amos's final words picture a glorious Edenic prosperity, when the seasons will run together so that sowing and reaping are without interval, and there will be a continuous supply of fresh produce (a reversal of the conditions portrayed in 4:6–11).

9:13 Note the similarity to Joel 3:18.

9:14–15 I will bring . . . they will rebuild . . . They will plant . . . I will plant. In the promised land, God will make his people productive, fruitful and secure.

9:14 my . . . people. See note on 7:8; contrast Hos 1:9, but cf. Hos 2:23. rebuild the ruined cities. See Isa 58:12 and note.

9:15 never again. When Israel is finally and fully restored, she will never again be destroyed. your God. Contrast Hos 1:9, but cf. Hos 2:23.

Obadiah

Author

The author's name is Obadiah, which means "servant (or worshiper) of the LORD." His was a common name (see 1Ki 18:3–16; 1Ch 3:21; 7:3; 8:38; 9:16; 12:9; 27:19; 2Ch 17:7; 34:12; Ezr 8:9; Ne 10:5; 12:25). Neither his father's name nor the place of his birth is given.

Date and Place of Writing

The date and place of composition are disputed. Dating the prophecy is mainly a matter of relating vv. 11–14 to one of two specific events in Israel's history:

1. The invasion of Jerusalem by Philistines and Arabs during the reign of Jehoram (853–841 B.C.); see 2Ki 8:20–22; 2Ch 21:8–20. In this case, Obadiah would be a contemporary of Elisha.

2. The Babylonian attacks on Jerusalem (605–586). Obadiah would then be a contemporary of Jeremiah. This alternative seems more likely.

The parallels between Ob 1–9 and Jer 49:7–22 have caused many to suggest some kind of interdependence between Obadiah and Jeremiah, but it may be that both prophets were drawing on a common source not otherwise known to us.

Unity and Theme

There is no compelling reason to doubt the unity of this brief prophecy. Its theme is that Edom, proud over her own security, has gloated over Israel's devastation by foreign powers. However, Edom's participation in that disaster will bring on God's wrath. She herself will be destroyed, but Mount Zion and Israel will be delivered, and God's kingdom will triumph.

Edom's hostile activities have spanned the centuries of Israel's existence. The following Biblical references are helpful in understanding the relation of Israel and Edom: Ge 27:41–45; 32:1–21; 33; 36; Ex 15:15; Nu 20:14–21; Dt 2:1–6; 23:7; 1Sa 22 with Ps 52; 2Sa 8:13–14; 2Ki 8:20–22; 14:7; Ps 83; Eze 35; Joel 3:18–19; Am 1:11–12; 9:12.

Since the Edomites are related to the Israelites (v. 10), their hostility is all the more reprehensible. Edom is fully responsible for her failure to assist Israel and for her open aggression. The fact that God rejected Esau (Ge 25:23; Mal 1:3; Ro 9:13) in no way exonerates the Edomites. Edom, smug in its mountain strongholds, will be dislodged and sacked. Israel will prosper because God is with her.

[1]The vision[a] of Obadiah.

1–4pp — Jer 49:14–16
5–6pp — Jer 49:9–10

This is what the Sovereign LORD says about Edom[b]—

We have heard a message from the LORD:
An envoy[c] was sent to the nations to say,
"Rise, and let us go against her for battle"[d]—

[2]"See, I will make you small[e] among the nations;
you will be utterly despised.
[3]The pride[f] of your heart has deceived you, you who live in the clefts of the rocks[a][g]
and make your home on the heights,
you who say to yourself,
'Who can bring me down to the ground?'[h] [4]Though you soar like the eagle and make your nest[i] among the stars, from there I will bring you down,"[j] declares the LORD.[k]
[5]"If thieves came to you,
if robbers in the night—
Oh, what a disaster awaits you—
would they not steal only as much as they wanted?
If grape pickers came to you,
would they not leave a few grapes?[l]
[6]But how Esau will be ransacked, his hidden treasures pillaged!
[7]All your allies[m] will force you to the border;
your friends will deceive and overpower you;
those who eat your bread[n] will set a trap for you,[b]
but you will not detect it.

[8]"In that day," declares the LORD,
"will I not destroy[o] the wise men of Edom,
men of understanding in the mountains of Esau?
[9]Your warriors, O Teman,[p] will be terrified, and everyone in Esau's mountains will be cut down in the slaughter.
[10]Because of the violence[q] against your brother Jacob,[r] you will be covered with shame;
you will be destroyed forever.[s] [11]On the day you stood aloof while strangers carried off his wealth and foreigners entered his gates and cast lots[t] for Jerusalem, you were like one of them.[u]
[12]You should not look down[v] on your brother in the day of his misfortune,[w]
nor rejoice[x] over the people of Judah

1 vision. Commonly used in the OT to designate a revelation from God. Obadiah. See Introduction: Author. We. Either (1) the editorial "we," or (2) the prophet's association of Israel with himself, or (3) other prophets' pronouncements against Edom. In any case, the rest of the verse sets the stage for Obadiah's prophetic message, which begins with v. 2. message. Or "report." An envoy had been sent to the nations, calling them to battle against Edom. Perhaps a conspiracy was under way between some of Edom's allies (v. 7). Although Edom feels secure (trusting in her mountain fortresses and her wise men, vv. 2–4,8–9), Obadiah announces God's judgment on her for her hostility to Israel.

2 I will make you small. Cf. the colloquial expression, "cut one down to size."

3 rocks. See NIV text note. Sela was the capital of Edom. Perhaps the later Petra (both Sela and Petra mean "rock" or "cliff"), this rugged site is located some 50 miles south of the southern end of the Dead Sea. See note on 2Ki 14:7.

4 eagle. A proud and regal bird, noted for strength, keenness of vision and power of flight. stars. Hyperbole for high, inaccessible places in the mountains.

5 If thieves ... If grape pickers. For a similar oracle against Edom see Jer 49:9.

6 hidden treasures. The ancient Greek historian Diodorus Siculus indicates that the Edomites put their wealth—accumulated from trade—in vaults in the rocks.

7 set a trap for you. However the Hebrew for this expression is understood (see NIV text note), it must indicate some act of treachery on the part of previously trusted close friends. Those who "eat bread with" are one's companions (Latin cum, "with," and panis, "bread"). See note on Ps 41:9.

8 In that day. The day of Edom's destruction; but the words also have an eschatological ring. Since in OT prophecy Edom was often emblematic of all the world powers hostile to God and his kingdom, her judgment anticipates God's complete removal of all such opposition in that day. wise men. In whom Edom put so much confidence for her security (see Jer 49:7). Eliphaz, one of Job's three friends, was a Temanite (see next note). Esau. Another name for Edom (see Ge 36:1).

9 Teman. A reference to all Edom, as in Jer 49:7,20 (see also Am 1:12). Teman means "south," and the name probably refers to Edom as the southland. Some, however, identify Teman with Tawilan, a site about three miles east of Petra.

10 your brother Jacob. Edom's violent crimes are all the more reprehensible because they were committed against the brother nation. covered with shame. A striking expression since shame is usually associated with nakedness.

11 See Introduction: Date and Place of Writing. strangers ... foreigners. These terms put in relief the sin of Edom: He did not act like a brother (v. 12) but was like one of the strangers.

12–14 A rebuke of Edom's hostile actions. The eight rebukes in this section proceed from the general to the particular. See Eze 35:13 and Ps 137 for examples of Edom's reactions to Judah's misfortunes.

in the day of their destruction,[y] nor boast[z] so much in the day of their trouble.[a] 13You should not march through the gates of my people
in the day of their disaster,
nor look down on them in their calamity[b]
in the day of their disaster,
nor seize their wealth
in the day of their disaster.
14You should not wait at the crossroads to cut down their fugitives,[c] nor hand over their survivors in the day of their trouble.

15"The day of the LORD is near[d] for all nations.
As you have done, it will be done to you;
your deeds[e] will return upon your own head.
16Just as you drank[f] on my holy hill,[g]
so all the nations will drink[h] continually;
they will drink and drink and be as if they had never been.[i] 17But on Mount Zion will be deliverance;[j] it will be holy,[k]
and the house of Jacob will possess its inheritance.[l] 18The house of Jacob will be a fire and the house of Joseph a flame;
the house of Esau will be stubble,
and they will set it on fire[m] and consume[n] it.
There will be no survivors[o]
from the house of Esau."
The LORD has spoken.

19People from the Negev will occupy the mountains of Esau,
and people from the foothills will possess
the land of the Philistines.[p]
They will occupy the fields of Ephraim and Samaria,[q] and Benjamin[r] will possess Gilead.
20This company of Israelite exiles who are in Canaan will possess ⌊the land⌋ as far as Zarephath;[s]
the exiles from Jerusalem who are in Sepharad will possess the towns of the Negev.[t] 21Deliverers[u] will go up on[c] Mount Zion to govern the mountains of Esau.
And the kingdom will be the LORD'S.[v]

15 The day of the LORD is near for all nations. If there was an eschatological glimmering in "in that day" (v. 8), it here becomes a strong ray. The day of the Lord brings judgment for the nations (including, but not limited to, Edom) and salvation for the house of Jacob. upon your own head. The situation will be reversed in retribution for Edom's hostility against God's people detailed in vv. 11–14. Ezekiel's denunciation of Edom (ch. 35) reflects a similar punishment-fits-the-crime principle.

16 Just as you drank. As the Edomites profaned the holy mountain by carousing, so the nations will drink and drink. Their drinking, however, is that of the bitter potion of God's judgment—which they will be compelled to keep on drinking. For drinking as punishment see Jer 25:15–16; 49:12.

17 But on Mount Zion will be deliverance. Beginning with this verse the blessings on the house of Jacob are mentioned. Eschatological references are twofold: judgment on God's enemies, blessing on God's people.

18 Jacob . . . Joseph. Previously it was stated that the Lord would destroy Edom, using other nations (v. 7); now it is to be done by God's people. no survivors. The final word to Esau is that his house (or nation) will be totally destroyed; there will be no Edomite survivors. Yet compare Am 9:12 with Ac 15:17 and see note on Am 9:12.

19 People . . . will occupy. With Edom annihilated, others will occupy Edomite territory. Although not expressly identified, these are most likely the remnant of Israel referred to in the lines immediately following. Negev. See note on Ge 12:9. Philistines. See note on Ge 10:14. Gilead. See notes on Ge 31:21; SS 4:1.

20 Zarephath. See note on 1Ki 17:9. Sepharad. Usually taken to refer to Sardis in Asia Minor (present-day Turkey), though some think that Sparta (the city in Greece) might be meant.

21 Deliverers. Having developed the theme of possessing lands around Zion, the prophet now turns to the center. The "deliverers" come from Mount Zion and rule over the mountains of Esau. Mount Zion is exalted over the mountains of Esau. The Messiah, the Deliverer par excellence, may ultimately be in view. the kingdom will be the LORD'S. The conclusion of the prophecy—and the final outcome of history. The last book of the Bible echoes this theme (Rev 11:15).

Jonah

Title

The book is named after its principal character, whose name means "dove"; see the simile used of Ephraim in Hos 7:11 to portray the northern kingdom as "easily deceived and senseless." See also Ps 68:13; 74:19 and notes.

Author

Though the book does not identify its author, tradition has ascribed it to the prophet himself, Jonah son of Amittai (1:1), from Gath Hepher (2Ki 14:25) in Zebulun (Jos 19:10,13). In view of its many similarities with the narratives about Elijah and Elisha, however, it may come from the same prophetic circles that originally composed the accounts about those prophets, perhaps in the eighth century B.C. (see Introduction to 1Kings: Author, Sources and Date).

Background

In the half-century during which the prophet Jonah ministered (800–750 B.C.), a significant event affected the northern kingdom of Israel: King Jeroboam II (793–753) restored her traditional borders, ending almost a century of sporadic seesaw conflict between Israel and Damascus.

Jeroboam, in God's good providence (2Ki 14:26–27), capitalized on Assyria's defeat of Damascus (in the latter half of the ninth century), which temporarily crushed that center of Aramean power. Prior to that time, not only had Israel been considerably reduced in size, but the king of Damascus had even been able to control internal affairs in the northern kingdom (2Ki 13:7). However, after the Assyrian campaign against Damascus in 797, Jehoash, king of Israel, had been able to recover the territory lost to the king of Damascus (2Ki 13:25). Internal troubles in Assyria subsequently allowed Jeroboam II to complete the restoration of Israel's northern borders. Nevertheless, Assyria remained the real threat from the north at this time.

The prophets of the Lord were speaking to Israel regarding these events. About 797 B.C. Elisha spoke to the king of Israel concerning future victories over Damascus (2Ki 13:14–19). A few years later Jonah prophesied the restoration that Jeroboam II accomplished (2Ki 14:25). But soon after Israel had triumphed, she began to gloat over her new-found power. Because she was relieved of foreign pressures—relief that had come in accordance with encouraging words from Elisha and Jonah—she felt jealously complacent about her favored status with God (Am 6:1). She focused her religion on expectations of the "day of the LORD" (Am 5:18–20), when God's darkness would engulf the other nations, leaving Israel to bask in his light.

It was in such a time that the Lord sent Amos and Hosea to announce to his people Israel that he would "spare them no longer" (Am 7:8; 8:2) but would send them into exile "beyond Damascus" (Am 5:27), i.e., to Assyria (Hos 9:3; 10:6; 11:5). During this time the Lord also sent Jonah to Nineveh to warn it of the imminent danger of divine judgment.

Since Jonah was a contemporary of Amos, see Introduction to Amos: Date and Historical Situation for additional details.

Date of Writing

For a number of reasons, including the preaching to Gentiles, the book is often assigned a postexilic date. At least, it is said, the book must have been written after the destruction of Nineveh in 612 B.C. But these considerations are not decisive. The similarity of this narrative to the Elijah-Elisha accounts has already been noted. One may also question whether mention of the repentance of Nineveh and the consequent averted destruction of the city would have had so much significance to the author after Nineveh's overthrow. And to suppose that proclaiming God's word to Gentiles had no relevance in the eighth century is to overlook the fact that already in the previous century Elijah and Elisha had extended their ministries to foreign lands (1Ki 17:7–24; 2Ki 8:7–17). Moreover, the prophet Amos (c. 760–750) set God's redemptive work in behalf of Israel in the context of his dealings with the nations (Am 1:3—2:16; 9:7,12). Perhaps the third quarter of the eighth century is the most likely date for the book, after the public ministries of Amos and Hosea and before the fall of Samaria to Assyria in 722–721.

Interpretation

Many have questioned whether the book of Jonah is historical. The supposed legendary character of some of the events (e.g., the episode involving the great fish) has caused them to suggest alternatives to the traditional view that the book is historical, biographical narrative. Although their specific suggestions range from fictional short story to allegory to parable, they share the common assumption that the account sprang essentially from the author's imagination, despite its serious and gracious message.

Such interpretations, often based in part on doubt about the miraculous as such, too quickly dismiss (1) the similarities between the narrative of Jonah and other parts of the OT and (2) the pervasive concern of the OT writers, especially the prophets, for history. They also fail to realize that OT narrators had a keen ear for recognizing how certain past events in Israel's pilgrimage with God illumine (by way of analogy) later events. (For example, the events surrounding the birth of Moses illumine the exodus, those surrounding Samuel's birth illumine the series of events narrated in the books of Samuel, and the ministries of Moses and Joshua illumine those of Elijah and Elisha.) Similarly, the prophets recognized that the future events they announced could be illumined by reference to analogous events of the past. Overlooking these features in OT narrative and prophecy, many have supposed that a story that too neatly fits the author's purpose must therefore be fictional.

On the other hand, it must be acknowledged that Biblical narrators were more than historians. They interpretatively recounted the past with the unswerving purpose of bringing it to bear on the present and the future. In the portrayal of past events, they used their materials to achieve this purpose effectively. Nonetheless, the integrity with which they treated the past ought not to be questioned. The book of Jonah recounts real events in the life and ministry of the prophet himself.

Literary Characteristics

Unlike most other prophetic parts of the OT, this book is a narrative account of a single prophetic mission. Its treatment of that mission is thus similar to the accounts of the ministries of Elijah and Elisha found in 1,2 Kings, and to certain narrative sections of Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel.

As is often the case in Biblical narratives, the author has compressed much into a small space; 40 verses tell the entire story (eight additional verses of poetry are devoted to Jonah's prayer of thanksgiving). In its scope (a single extended episode), compactness, vividness and character delineation, it is much like the book of Ruth.

Also as in Ruth, the author uses structural symmetry effectively. The story is developed in two parallel cycles that call attention to a series of comparisons and contrasts (see Outline). The story's climax is Jonah's grand prayer of confession, "Salvation comes from the LORD"—the middle confession of three from his lips (1:9; 2:9; 4:2). The last sentence emphasizes that the Lord's word is final and decisive, while Jonah is left sitting in the hot, open country outside Nineveh.

The author uses the art of representative roles in a straightforward manner. In this story of God's loving concern for all people, Nineveh, the great menace to Israel, is representative of the Gentiles. Correspondingly, stubbornly reluctant Jonah represents Israel's jealousy of her favored relationship with God and her unwillingness to share the Lord's compassion with the nations.

The book depicts the larger scope of God's purpose for Israel: that she might rediscover the truth of his concern for the whole creation and that she might better understand her own role in carrying out that concern.

Jonah Flees From the LORD

1 The word of the LORD came to Jonah[a] son of Amittai:[b] 2"Go to the great city of Nineveh[c] and preach against it, because its wickedness has come up before me."

3But Jonah ran[d] away from the LORD and headed for Tarshish[e]. He went down to Joppa,[f] where he found a ship bound for that port. After paying the fare, he went aboard and sailed for Tarshish to flee from the LORD.[g]

4Then the LORD sent a great wind on the sea, and such a violent storm arose that the ship threatened to break up.[h] 5All the sailors were afraid and each cried out to his own god. And they threw the cargo into the sea to lighten the ship.[i]

But Jonah had gone below deck, where he lay down and fell into a deep sleep. 6The captain went to him and said, "How can you sleep? Get up and call[j] on your god! Maybe he will take notice of us, and we will not perish."[k]

7Then the sailors said to each other, "Come, let us cast lots to find out who is responsible for this calamity."[l] They cast lots and the lot fell on Jonah.[m]

8So they asked him, "Tell us, who is responsible for making all this trouble for

1:1 The word of the LORD came. See 3:1; a common phrase used to indicate the divine source of the prophet's revelation (see, e.g., 1Ki 17:8; Jer 1:2,4; Hos 1:1; Joel 1:1; Hag 1:1,3; Zec 1:1,7). Jonah. See Introduction: Title; Author.

1:2 great city. See 3:2; 4:11; see also note on 3:3. According to Ge 10:11–12, it was first built by Nimrod (perhaps along with Rehoboth Ir, Calah and Resen) and was traditionally known as the "great city." About 700 B.C. Sennacherib made it the capital of Assyria, which it remained until its fall in 612 (see Introduction to Nahum: Background). Nineveh is over 500 miles from Gath Hepher, Jonah's hometown. its wickedness has come up. Cf. Sodom and Gomorrah (Ge 18:20–21). Except for the violence (3:8) of Nineveh, her "evil ways" (3:8,10) are not described in Jonah. Nahum later states that Nineveh's sins included plotting evil against the Lord (Na 1:11), cruelty and plundering in war (Na 2:12–13; 3:1,19), prostitution and witchcraft (Na 3:4) and commercial exploitation (Na 3:16).

1:3 ran away. The reason is found in 4:2. The futility of trying to run away from the Lord is acknowledged in Ps 139:7,9–10. Tarshish. Perhaps the city of Tartessus in southwest Spain, a Phoenician mining colony near Gibraltar. By heading in the opposite direction from Nineveh, to what seemed like the end of the world, Jonah intended to escape his divinely appointed task.

1:4–5 Although Jonah's mission was to bring God's warning of impending judgment to the pagan world, his refusal to go to Nineveh brings these pagan sailors into peril.

1:4 the LORD sent a great wind. God's sovereign working in Jonah's mission is evident at several other points also: the fish (v. 17), the release of Jonah (2:10), the vine (4:6), the worm (4:7) and the wind (4:8).

1:5 his own god. Apparently the sailors, who may have come from various ports, worshiped several pagan gods.

1:6 The captain went to him. The pagan captain's concern for everyone on board contrasts with the believing prophet's refusal to carry God's warning to Nineveh.

1:7 let us cast lots. The casting of lots was a custom widely practiced in the ancient Near East. The precise method is unclear, though it appears that, for the most part, sticks or marked pebbles were drawn from a receptacle into which they had been "cast." lot fell on Jonah. By the lot of judgment the Lord exposed the guilty one (cf. Jos 7:14–26; 1Sa 14:38–44; Pr 16:33).

The Book of Jonah

Nineveh and Tarshish represented opposite ends of the Levantine commercial sphere in ancient times. The story of Jonah extends to the boundaries of OT geographic knowledge and provides a rare glimpse of seafaring life in the Iron Age. Inscriptions and pottery from Spain demonstrate that Phoenician trade linked the far distant ends of the Mediterranean, perhaps as early as the 12th century B.C.

us? What do you do? Where do you come from? What is your country? From what people are you?"

9He answered, "I am a Hebrew and I worship the LORD,[n] the God of heaven,[o] who made the sea[p] and the land.[q]"

10This terrified them and they asked, "What have you done?" (They knew he was running away from the LORD, because he had already told them so.)

11The sea was getting rougher and rougher. So they asked him, "What should we do to you to make the sea calm down for us?"

12"Pick me up and throw me into the sea," he replied, "and it will become calm. I know that it is my fault that this great storm has come upon you."[r]

13Instead, the men did their best to row back to land. But they could not, for the sea grew even wilder than before.[s] 14Then they cried to the LORD, "O LORD, please do not let us die for taking this man's life. Do not hold us accountable for killing an innocent man,[t] for you, O LORD, have done as you pleased."[u] 15Then they took Jonah and threw him overboard, and the raging sea grew calm.[v] 16At this the men greatly feared[w] the LORD, and they offered a sacrifice to the LORD and made vows[x] to him.

17But the LORD provided[y] a great fish to swallow Jonah,[z] and Jonah was inside the fish three days and three nights.

Jonah's Prayer

2 From inside the fish Jonah prayed to the LORD his God. 2He said:

"In my distress I called[a] to the LORD,[b] and he answered me.
From the depths of the grave[a][c] I called for help,
and you listened to my cry.
3You hurled me into the deep,[d]
into the very heart of the seas,
and the currents swirled about me;
all your waves[e] and breakers swept over me.[f]
4I said, 'I have been banished from your sight;[g]
yet I will look again
toward your holy temple.'[h] 5The engulfing waters threatened me,[b]
the deep surrounded me;
seaweed was wrapped around my head.[i] 6To the roots of the mountains[j] I sank down;
the earth beneath barred me in forever.
But you brought my life up from the pit,[k]
O LORD my God.

1:9 Hebrew. See note on Ge 14:13. God of heaven, who made the sea and the land. The sailors would have understood Jonah's words as being descriptive of the highest divinity. Their present experiences confirmed this truth, since, in the religions of the ancient Near East generally, the supreme god was master of the seas (see note on Jos 3:10). This is Jonah's first confessional statement, and, like those that follow (2:9d; 4:2), it is thoroughly orthodox. Though orthodox in his beliefs, Jonah refuses to fulfill his divine mission to Nineveh.

1:10 What have you done? This rhetorical question is really an accusation.

1:12 throw me into the sea. Jonah's readiness to die to save the terrified sailors contrasts with his later callous departure from Nineveh to watch from a safe distance while the city perishes—at least he still hoped it would perish (see 4:5).

1:13 did their best to row. The Hebrew uses the picturesque word meaning "to dig" (with oars) to indicate strenuous effort. The ship could be driven by sails, oars, or both. The reluctance of the sailors to throw Jonah into the sea stands in sharp contrast to Jonah's reluctance to warn Nineveh of impending judgment.

1:16 greatly feared the LORD. There is no evidence that the sailors renounced all other gods (contrast Naaman, 2Ki 5:15). Ancient pagans were ready to recognize the existence and power of many gods. At the least, however, the sailors acknowledged that the God of Israel was in control of the present events, that he was the one who both stirred up and calmed the storm, and that at this moment he was the one to be recognized and worshiped.

1:17 the LORD provided. This characteristic phrase occurs also in 4:6–8. great fish. The Hebrew here and the Greek of Mt 12:40 are both general terms for a large fish, not necessarily a whale. This great fish is carefully distinguished from the sinister "serpent" of the sea (Am 9:3)—otherwise called "Leviathan" (Isa 27:1)—and the "monster of the deep" (Job 7:12; see Ps 74:13; Eze 32:2). three days and three nights. The phrase used here may, as in Mt 12:40, refer to a period of time including one full day and parts of two others (see notes on Mt 12:40; Lk 9:28; 1Co 15:4). In any case, the NT clearly uses Jonah's experience as a type (foreshadowing) of the burial and resurrection of Jesus, who was entombed for "three days and three nights" (Mt 12:40; see Mt 16:4; Lk 11:29–32).

2:2–9 A psalm of thanksgiving for deliverance from death in the sea. Jonah recalls his prayer for help as he was sinking into the depths. His gratitude is heightened by his knowledge that he deserved death but that God had shown him extraordinary mercy. The language of this song indicates that Jonah was familiar with the praise literature of the Psalms.

2:2 grave. Figurative for Jonah's near-death experience in the sea (see Ps 18:5; 30:3). See also note on Ge 37:35.

2:3 You hurled me . . . your waves. Jonah recognizes that the sailors (1:15) were agents of God's judgment.

2:4 yet I will look again toward your holy temple. The same note of hopeful expectation found in the prayers of the Psalms (e.g., Ps 5:7; 27:4). "Temple" here probably refers to the temple in Jerusalem, while "temple" in v. 7 refers to God's heavenly temple. The Israelites held these two residences of God in inseparable association (see 1Ki 8:38–39).

2:6 pit. The grave (see note on v. 2; see also Ps 30:3).

7"When my life was ebbing away,
I remembered[l] you, LORD,
and my prayer[m] rose to you,
to your holy temple.[n]

8"Those who cling to worthless idols[o] forfeit the grace that could be theirs.
9But I, with a song of thanksgiving,[p]
will sacrifice[q] to you.
What I have vowed[r] I will make good.
Salvation[s] comes from the LORD."

10And the LORD commanded the fish, and it vomited Jonah onto dry land.

Jonah Goes to Nineveh

3 Then the word of the LORD came to Jonah[t] a second time: 2"Go to the great city of Nineveh and proclaim to it the message I give you."

3Jonah obeyed the word of the LORD and went to Nineveh. Now Nineveh was a very important city—a visit required three days. 4On the first day, Jonah started into the city. He proclaimed:[u] "Forty more days and Nineveh will be overturned." 5The Ninevites believed God. They declared a fast, and all of them, from the greatest to the least, put on sackcloth.[v]

6When the news reached the king of Nineveh, he rose from his throne, took off his royal robes, covered himself with sackcloth and sat down in the dust.[w] 7Then he issued a proclamation in Nineveh:

"By the decree of the king and his nobles:

Do not let any man or beast, herd or flock, taste anything; do not let them eat or drink.[x] 8But let man and beast be covered with sackcloth. Let everyone call[y] urgently on God. Let them give up[z] their evil ways[a] and their violence.[b] 9Who knows?[c] God may yet relent[d] and with compassion turn[e] from his fierce anger[f] so that we will not perish."

10When God saw what they did and how they turned from their evil ways, he had compassion[g] and did not bring upon them the destruction[h] he had threatened.[i]

Jonah's Anger at the LORD's Compassion

4 But Jonah was greatly displeased and became angry.[j] 2He prayed to the LORD, "O LORD, is this not what I said when I was still at home? That is why I was so quick to flee to Tarshish. I knew[k] that you are a gracious[l] and compassionate God, slow to anger and abounding in love,[m] a God who relents[n] from sending calamity.[o] 3Now, O LORD, take away my life,[p] for it is better for me to die[q] than to live."[r]

4But the LORD replied, "Have you any right to be angry?"[s]

5Jonah went out and sat down at a place east of the city. There he made himself a shelter, sat in its shade and waited to see what would happen to the city. 6Then the LORD God provided[t] a vine and made it grow up over Jonah to give shade for his head to ease his dis-

It is Jonah's second confessional statement (see note on 1:9) and stands at the literary midpoint of the book.

3:2 proclaim to it the message I give you. A prophet was the bearer of a message from God, not primarily a foreteller of coming events.

3:3 obeyed. But reluctantly, still wanting the Ninevites to be destroyed (4:1–5). very important city. See 4:11, which says the city had more than 120,000 inhabitants. Archaeological excavations indicate that the later imperial city of Nineveh was about eight miles around. The fact, however, that "a visit required three days" may suggest a larger area, such as the four-city complex of Nineveh, Rehoboth Ir, Calah and Resen mentioned in Ge 10:11–12. Greater Nineveh covered an area of some 60 miles in circumference. On the other hand, "three days" may have been a conventional way of describing a medium-length distance (see Ge 30:36; Ex 3:18; Jos 9:16–17).

3:5–6 fast ... sackcloth ... dust. Customary signs of humbling oneself in repentance (see 1Ki 21:27; Ne 9:1).

3:5 believed God. This may mean that the Ninevites genuinely turned to the Lord (cf. Mt 12:41). On the other hand, their belief in God may have gone no deeper than had the sailors' fear of God (see note on 1:16). At least they took the prophet's warning seriously and acted accordingly.

3:6 king of Nineveh. King of Assyria.

3:8 Inclusion of the domestic animals was unusual and expressed the urgency with which the Ninevites sought mercy.

3:9 God often responds in mercy to man's repentance by canceling threatened punishment (v. 10). See note on Jer 18:7–10.

4:1 angry. Jonah was angry that God would have compassion on an enemy of Israel. He wanted God's goodness to be shown only to Israelites, not to Gentiles.

4:2 gracious ... love. See Ex 34:6–7 and note. Jonah again uses a fixed, confessional formula (see note on 1:9). slow to anger. In contrast, Jonah became angry quickly (vv. 1,9).

4:3 take away my life. Cf. 1Ki 19:4 (Elijah). To Jonah, God's mercy to the Ninevites meant an end to Israel's favored standing with him. Jonah shortly before had rejoiced in his deliverance from death, but now that Nineveh lives, he prefers to die.

4:5 shelter. Apparently this shelter did not provide enough shade since the next verse indicates that God provided a vine to give more shade. waited to see. Jonah still hoped that Nineveh would be destroyed.

4:6 the LORD God provided. This characteristic phrase oc-comfort, and Jonah was very happy about the vine. 7But at dawn the next day God provided a worm, which chewed the vine so that it withered.[u] 8When the sun rose, God provided a scorching east wind, and the sun blazed on Jonah's head so that he grew faint. He wanted to die,[v] and said, "It would be better for me to die than to live."

9But God said to Jonah, "Do you have a right to be angry about the vine?"[w]

4:7 [u] Joel 1:12
4:8 [v] S 1K 19:4
4:9 [w] ver 4

"I do," he said. "I am angry enough to die."

10But the LORD said, "You have been concerned about this vine, though you did not tend it or make it grow. It sprang up overnight and died overnight. 11But Nineveh[x] has more than a hundred and twenty thousand people who cannot tell their right hand from their left, and many cattle as well. Should I not be concerned[y] about that great city?"

4:11 [x] Jnh 1:2; 3:2 [y] Jnh 3:10

curs also in vv. 7–8; 1:17. vine. Probably a castor oil plant, a shrub growing over 12 feet high with large, shady leaves. God graciously increased the comfort of his stubbornly defiant prophet.

4:8 better for me to die. See note on v. 3.

4:10 sprang up overnight and died overnight. Indicative of fleeting value.

4:11 cannot tell their right hand from their left. Like small children (cf. Dt 1:39; Isa 7:15–16), the Ninevites needed God's fatherly compassion. and many cattle as well. God's concern extended even to domestic animals. Should I not be concerned . . .? God had the first word (1:1), and he also has the last. The commission he gave Jonah displayed his mercy and compassion to the Ninevites, and his last word to Jonah emphatically proclaimed that concern for every creature, both man and animal. Not only does the "LORD . . . preserve both man and beast" (Ps 36:6; see Ne 9:6; Ps 145:16), but he takes "no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but (desires) rather that they turn from their ways and live" (Eze 33:11; see Eze 18:21–23). Jonah and his countrymen traditionally rejoiced in God's special mercies to Israel but wished only his wrath on their enemies. God here rebukes such hardness and proclaims his own gracious benevolence.

Micah

Author

Little is known about the prophet Micah beyond what can be learned from the book itself and Jer 26:18. Micah was from the town of Moresheth (1:1), probably Moresheth Gath (1:14) in southern Judah. The prophecy attests to Micah's deep sensitivity to the social ills of his day, especially as they affected the small towns and villages of his homeland.

Micah prophesied sometime between 750 and 686 B.C. during the reigns of Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, kings of Judah (1:1; Jer 26:18). He was therefore a contemporary of Isaiah (see Isa 1:1) and Hosea (see Hos 1:1). Micah predicted the fall of Samaria (1:6), which took place in 722–721. This would place his early ministry in the reigns of Jotham (750–732) and Ahaz (735–715). (The reigns of Jotham and Ahaz overlapped.) Micah's message reflects social conditions prior to the religious reforms under Hezekiah (715–686). (The reigns of Ahaz and Hezekiah seem to have overlapped from c. 729 to 715; see 2Ki 18:9 and note on Isa 36:1.)

Background

The background of the book is the same as that found in the earlier portions of Isaiah, though Micah does not exhibit the same knowledge of Jerusalem's political life as Isaiah does. Perhaps this is because he, like Amos, was from a Judahite village.

Israel was in an apostate condition. Micah predicted the fall of her capital, Samaria (1:5–7), and also foretold the inevitable desolation of Judah (1:9–16).

Three significant historical events occurred during this period:

1. In 734–732 B.C. Tiglath-Pileser III of Assyria led a military campaign against Aram (Syria), Philistia and parts of Israel and Judah. Ashkelon and Gaza were defeated. Judah, Ammon, Edom and Moab paid tribute to the Assyrian king, but Israel did not fare as well. According to 2Ki 15:29 the northern kingdom lost most of its territory, including all of Gilead and much of Galilee. Damascus fell in 732 and was annexed to the Assyrian empire.
2. In 722–721 Samaria fell, and the northern kingdom of Israel was conquered by Assyria.
3. In 701 Judah joined a revolt against Assyria and was overrun by King Sennacherib and his army, though Jerusalem was spared.

Literary Characteristics

Micah's style is similar to that of Isaiah. Both prophets use vigorous language and many figures of speech; both show great tenderness in threatening punishment and in promising justice. Micah makes frequent use of plays on words, 1:10–15 (see NIV text notes there) being the classic example.

Theme and Message

As the Outline shows, Micah's message alternates between oracles of doom and oracles of hope. The theme is judgment and deliverance by God. Micah also stresses that God hates idolatry, injustice, rebellion and empty ritualism, but he delights in pardoning the penitent. Finally, the prophet declares that Zion will have greater glory in the future than ever before. The Davidic kingdom, though it will seem to come to an end, will reach greater heights through the coming Messianic deliverer.

1 The word of the LORD that came to Micah of Moresheth[a] during the reigns of Jotham,[b] Ahaz[c] and Hezekiah,[d] kings of Judah[e]—the vision[f] he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

2 Hear,[g] O peoples, all of you,[h]
listen, O earth[i] and all who are in it, that the Sovereign LORD may witness[j] against you,
the Lord from his holy temple.[k]

Judgment Against Samaria and Jerusalem

3 Look! The LORD is coming from his dwelling[l] place;
he comes down[m] and treads the high places of the earth.[n]
4 The mountains melt[o] beneath him[p] and the valleys split apart,[q]
like wax before the fire,
like water rushing down a slope.
5 All this is because of Jacob's transgression, because of the sins of the house of Israel.
What is Jacob's transgression?
Is it not Samaria?[r]
What is Judah's high place?
Is it not Jerusalem?

6 "Therefore I will make Samaria a heap of rubble, a place for planting vineyards.[s]
I will pour her stones[t] into the valley and lay bare her foundations.[u]
7 All her idols[v] will be broken to pieces;[w] all her temple gifts will be burned with fire;
I will destroy all her images.[x]
Since she gathered her gifts from the wages of prostitutes,[y] as the wages of prostitutes they will again be used."

Weeping and Mourning

8 Because of this I will weep[z] and wail;
I will go about barefoot[a] and naked.
I will howl like a jackal
and moan like an owl.
9 For her wound[b] is incurable;[c] it has come to Judah.[d]
It[a] has reached the very gate[e] of my people, even to Jerusalem itself.
10 Tell it not in Gath[b];
weep not at all.[c]
In Beth Ophrah[d]
roll in the dust.
11 Pass on in nakedness[f] and shame,
you who live in Shaphir.[e]
Those who live in Zaanan[f] will not come out.

[a] 9 Or He [b] 10 Gath sounds like the Hebrew for tell. [c] 10 Hebrew; Septuagint may suggest not in Acco. The Hebrew for in Acco sounds like the Hebrew for weep. [d] 10 Beth Ophrah means house of dust. [e] 11 Shaphir means pleasant. [f] 11 Zaanan sounds like the Hebrew for come out.

1:1 Micah. Means "Who is like the LORD?" Moresheth. See Introduction: Author. Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah. See Introduction: Date. For background on these kings and the book of Micah see 2Ki 15:32–16:20; 18–20. Isaiah, Hosea and Micah prophesied at roughly the same time (see Isa 1:1; Hos 1:1). vision. See Isa 1:1 and note. Samaria and Jerusalem. The capitals of Israel and Judah respectively. The judgment predicted by Micah involved these nations and not just their capital cities.

1:2 Hear. The Hebrew for this word introduces prophetic addresses also in 3:1 and 6:1, where it is translated "Listen" (see also 3:9; 6:2). peoples . . . earth. All nations—an announcement that the day of the Lord is at hand, when God will call the nations to account. In view of that day Micah speaks in his prophecy of the impending judgments on Israel and Judah. holy temple. Heaven (see v. 3), as in Ps 11:4; Jnh 2:7; Hab 2:20.

1:3 The LORD is coming. An OT expression describing the Lord's intervention in history (see Ps 18:9; 96:13; 144:5; Isa 26:21; 31:4; 64:1–3). high places. May refer to mountains as well as to pagan shrines, since both are cited here (vv. 4–5). Cf. Am 4:13.

1:4 mountains melt. See Ps 97:5; Na 1:5.

1:5 Jacob's. Jacob was an alternate name for Israel (see Ge 32:28 and note; 35:10). Israel. Here (and in v. 13) specifically the northern kingdom, but Micah uses the name also for the southern kingdom (see 3:1,8–9; 5:1,3) or for the whole covenant people (see vv. 14–15; 2:12; 5:2; 6:2). high place. Pagan center of idolatry (see 2Ch 28:25).

1:6–7 God is the speaker. This prophecy was fulfilled during Micah's lifetime when Assyria destroyed Samaria in 722–721 B.C. (2Ki 17:6).

1:6 into the valley. Samaria was built on a hill (1Ki 16:24).

1:7 prostitutes. Prostitution is often an OT symbol for idolatry or spiritual unfaithfulness (Ex 34:15–16; Jdg 2:17; Eze 23:29–30). wages. The wealth that Samaria had gained from her idolatry will be taken by the Assyrians and placed in their own temples to be used again in the worship of idols.

1:8 this. The coming destruction of Samaria. barefoot. A sign of mourning (2Sa 15:30). It is possible that Micah actually walked stripped and barefoot through Jerusalem (cf. Isa 20:2). naked. Clothed only in a loincloth.

1:9 wound. The judgment about to overtake Samaria. incurable. See Isa 17:11 and note; Jer 30:12. gate. The Assyrian destruction of the northern kingdom will spread like a malignant disease to the gate of Jerusalem (v. 12). The gate was where the process of town government was carried on (see Ge 19:1 and note; Ru 4:1–4).

1:10–15 Several plays on words are explained in the NIV text notes. The towns mentioned lie in the Shephelah, i.e., the foothills (500–1,500 feet high) between the Mediterranean coastal plain and the mountains of Judah.

1:10 Tell it not in Gath. These words introduce a funeral lament over Judah. Micah did not want the pagan people in Gath to gloat over the downfall of God's people. Cf. 2Sa 1:20. roll in the dust. As a sign of grief over the coming catastrophe. See Isa 47:1 and note.

1:11 nakedness and shame. A reference to their future condition as prisoners (see Isa 20:4). will not come out. Because of the invasion, the people will not dare to go outside their houses.

Beth Ezel is in mourning;
its protection is taken from you.
12Those who live in Maroth[g] writhe in pain, waiting for relief,[g]
because disaster[h] has come from the LORD,
even to the gate of Jerusalem.
13You who live in Lachish,[hi] harness the team to the chariot.
You were the beginning of sin to the Daughter of Zion,[j] for the transgressions of Israel were found in you.
14Therefore you will give parting gifts[k]
to Moresheth[l] Gath.
The town of Aczib[im] will prove deceptive[n]
to the kings of Israel.
15I will bring a conqueror against you who live in Mareshah.[jo]
He who is the glory of Israel will come to Adullam.[p] 16Shave[q] your heads in mourning for the children in whom you delight;
make yourselves as bald as the vulture,
for they will go from you into exile.[r]

Man's Plans and God's

2 Woe to those who plan iniquity, to those who plot evil[s] on their beds![t]
At morning's light they carry it out because it is in their power to do it.
2They covet fields[u] and seize them,[v]
and houses, and take them.
They defraud[w] a man of his home,
a fellowman of his inheritance.[x]

3Therefore, the LORD says:

"I am planning disaster[y] against this people,
from which you cannot save yourselves.
You will no longer walk proudly,[z]
for it will be a time of calamity.
4In that day men will ridicule you;
they will taunt you with this mournful song:
'We are utterly ruined;[a] my people's possession is divided up.[b]
He takes it from me!
He assigns our fields to traitors.' "

5Therefore you will have no one in the assembly of the LORD to divide the land[c] by lot.[d]

False Prophets

6"Do not prophesy," their prophets say.
"Do not prophesy about these things;
disgrace[e] will not overtake us.[f]" 7Should it be said, O house of Jacob:
"Is the Spirit of the LORD angry?
Does he do such things?"

"Do not my words do good[g]
to him whose ways are upright?[h] 8Lately my people have risen up like an enemy.
You strip off the rich robe
from those who pass by without a care, like men returning from battle.
9You drive the women of my people from their pleasant homes.[i]
You take away my blessing from their children forever.
10Get up, go away!

[g] 12 Maroth sounds like the Hebrew for bitter.
[h] 13 Lachish sounds like the Hebrew for team.
[i] 14 Aczib means deception. [j] 15 Mareshah sounds like the Hebrew for conqueror.

1:12 has come. Micah foresees the future so clearly that to him it seems as though it has already come.

1:13 Lachish. One of the largest towns in Judah (see Isa 36:2 and note). Later, Sennacherib was so proud of capturing it that he decorated his palace at Nineveh with a relief picturing his exploits. harness the team. In order to escape. Daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants.

1:14 parting gifts. The Hebrew for these words is translated "wedding gift" in 1Ki 9:16. Jerusalem must give up Moresheth Gath, as a father gives a "wedding gift" to his daughter when she marries. Aczib. See NIV text note. The word "deceptive" is used in Jer 15:18 to describe a brook that has dried up in summer. Like such a brook, the city of Aczib will cease to exist. Israel. See note on 1:5.

1:15 Micah again represents God as speaking, as in vv. 6–7. glory of Israel. God himself (see 1Sa 15:29). will come to Adullam. In judgment.

1:16 Israel was taken into exile by the Assyrians in 722–721 B.C., and Judah by the Babylonians in 586.

2:1–5 Directed primarily against wealthy landowners who oppressed the poor.

2:1 power to do it. The rich, oppressing classes continued to get rich at the expense of the poor because they controlled the power structures of their society.

2:2 They covet. In violation of the tenth commandment (see Ex 20:17 and note; Dt 5:21). inheritance. Land that was to be the permanent possession of a particular family. See Lev 25:10,13 (Year of Jubilee); Nu 27:1–11; 36:1–12 (Zelophehad's daughters); 1Ki 21:1–19 (Naboth's vineyard).

2:3 Therefore. Because of the sins of Israel's influential classes, calamity will strike. disaster. The impending exile.

2:4 We ... me. The rich landowners, on whom God's judgment will fall. He. God. traitors. The treacherous Assyrians (see Isa 33:1 and note) who will capture the land.

2:5 you. The oppressing classes—the rich landowners. no one ... to divide the land. They will be cut off from all the promises of the covenant people.

2:6 their prophets. The false prophets whose words were addressed to Micah.

2:7 Verses 6–7a are spoken by Micah; vv. 7b–13 are spoken by God.

2:10 resting place. A place that could be regarded as

For this is not your resting place,[j] because it is defiled,[k]
it is ruined, beyond all remedy.
11If a liar and deceiver[l] comes and says,
'I will prophesy for you plenty of wine and beer,'[m]
he would be just the prophet for this people![n]

Deliverance Promised

12"I will surely gather all of you, O Jacob;
I will surely bring together the remnant[o] of Israel.
I will bring them together like sheep in a pen,
like a flock in its pasture;
the place will throng with people.[p] 13One who breaks open the way will go up before[q] them;
they will break through the gate[r] and go out.
Their king will pass through before them,
the LORD at their head."

Leaders and Prophets Rebuked

3 Then I said,

"Listen, you leaders[s] of Jacob,
you rulers of the house of Israel.
Should you not know justice,
2 you who hate good and love evil;
who tear the skin from my people and the flesh from their bones;[t] 3who eat my people's flesh,[u] strip off their skin and break their bones in pieces;[v] who chop[w] them up like meat for the pan, like flesh for the pot?[x]"

4Then they will cry out to the LORD,
but he will not answer them.[y]
At that time he will hide his face[z] from them because of the evil they have done.[a]

5This is what the LORD says:

"As for the prophets who lead my people astray,[b]
if one feeds them,
they proclaim 'peace';[c]
if he does not,
they prepare to wage war against him.
6Therefore night will come over you, without visions, and darkness, without divination.[d]
The sun will set for the prophets,[e]
and the day will go dark for them.[f] 7The seers will be ashamed[g] and the diviners disgraced.[h]
They will all cover[i] their faces[j]
because there is no answer from God.[k]"

8But as for me, I am filled with power, with the Spirit of the LORD,
and with justice and might,
to declare to Jacob his transgression, to Israel his sin.[l] 9Hear this, you leaders of the house of Jacob,
you rulers of the house of Israel,
who despise justice
and distort all that is right;[m] 10who build[n] Zion with bloodshed,[o]
and Jerusalem with wickedness.[p] 11Her leaders judge for a bribe,[q] her priests teach for a price,[r] and her prophets tell fortunes for money.[s]
Yet they lean[t] upon the LORD and say,
"Is not the LORD among us?
No disaster will come upon us."[u]
12Therefore because of you,
Zion will be plowed like a field,
Jerusalem will become a heap of rubble,[v]
the temple[w] hill a mound overgrown with thickets.[x] one's own possession, where a people could settle in security (cf. Jos 1:13–15; 21:43–44; 22:4).

3:1–12 Verses 1–4 deal with the sins of the leaders of Israel, vv. 5–7 with the false prophets and vv. 9–12 with the leaders, priests and prophets.

3:1 Jacob ... Israel. Both names refer to Judah here (see vv. 9–10).

3:2–3 tear the skin ... like flesh for the pot. A series of figures of speech describing the cruel way the leaders treat the people.

3:2 hate good and love evil. Contrast Am 5:15; Ro 12:9.

3:4 they. The leaders. he will not answer. See v. 7. hide his face. See Dt 31:17; Isa 1:15 and note. Disobedience leads to separation from God.

3:5 proclaim 'peace.' The false prophets predicted peace for Judah while Micah predicted destruction and captivity (see v. 12; 4:10). See also Jer 6:13–14; 8:10–11.

3:7 seers. An older term for "prophets" (see note on 1Sa 9:9).

3:8 One of the chief purposes of Micah was to declare to Judah its sin. filled ... with the Spirit. The prophets were Spirit-filled messengers (see Isa 48:16).

3:11 for a bribe. See Isa 1:23; 5:23.

3:12 The destruction of Jerusalem occurred in 586 B.C. This verse was quoted a century later in Jer 26:18. Jer 26:19 indicates that Micah's preaching may have been instrumental in the revival under King Hezekiah (see 2Ki 18:1–6; 2Ch 29–31).

The Mountain of the LORD

4:1–3pp — Isa 2:1–4

4 In the last days
the mountain[y] of the LORD's temple will be established
as chief among the mountains;
it will be raised above the hills,[z]
and peoples will stream to it.[a]

[2]Many nations will come and say,

"Come, let us go up to the mountain of the LORD,[b]
to the house of the God of Jacob.[c]
He will teach us[d] his ways,[e]
so that we may walk in his paths."
The law[f] will go out from Zion, the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.
[3]He will judge between many peoples and will settle disputes for strong nations far and wide.[g]
They will beat their swords into plowshares
and their spears into pruning hooks.[h]
Nation will not take up sword against nation,
nor will they train for war[i] anymore.[j]
[4]Every man will sit under his own vine and under his own fig tree,[k]
and no one will make them afraid,[l] for the LORD Almighty has spoken.[m] [5]All the nations may walk in the name of their gods;[n]
we will walk in the name of the LORD our God for ever and ever.[o]

The LORD's Plan

[6]"In that day," declares the LORD,

"I will gather the lame;[p]
I will assemble the exiles[q]
and those I have brought to grief.[r] [7]I will make the lame a remnant,[s] those driven away a strong nation.[t]
The LORD will rule over them in Mount Zion[u]
from that day and forever.[v]

[8]As for you, O watchtower of the flock, O stronghold[k] of the Daughter of Zion,
the former dominion will be restored[w] to you;
kingship will come to the Daughter of Jerusalem.[x]"

[9]Why do you now cry aloud—have you no king?[y]
Has your counselor perished, that pain seizes you like that of a woman in labor?[z]
[10]Writhe in agony, O Daughter of Zion, like a woman in labor,
for now you must leave the city to camp in the open field.
You will go to Babylon;[a]
there you will be rescued.
There the LORD will redeem[b] you out of the hand of your enemies.

[11]But now many nations are gathered against you.
They say, "Let her be defiled, let our eyes gloat[c] over Zion!"
[12]But they do not know
the thoughts of the LORD;
they do not understand his plan,[d]
he who gathers them like sheaves to the threshing floor.

[13]"Rise and thresh,[e] O Daughter of Zion,
for I will give you horns of iron;
I will give you hoofs of bronze and you will break to pieces many nations."[f]

You will devote their ill-gotten gains to the LORD,[g] their wealth to the Lord of all the earth.

A Promised Ruler From Bethlehem

5 Marshal your troops, O city of troops,[l]
for a siege is laid against us.
They will strike Israel's ruler on the cheek[h] with a rod.

4:1–3 See notes on Isa 2:2–4, a passage that is almost the same as these verses.

4:4 vine and ... fig tree. A reference to the peaceful security of the kingdom of God. See 1Ki 4:25; Zec 3:10. no one will make them afraid. See Zep 3:13. Fear will be a thing of the past.

4:5 walk in the name of the LORD. Confess, love, obey and rely on the Lord. Cf. Zec 10:12.

4:6 In that day. The Messianic period (see v. 1; see also note on Isa 2:11,17,20).

4:7 remnant. The people of God (see 2:12; see also note on Isa 1:9).

4:8 watchtower of the flock. The capital city of David, the shepherd-king. former dominion. The kingdom of David will be restored under the Messiah.

4:9–13 In vv. 9–10 Micah foresees the collapse of the monarchy and the impending exile in 586 B.C. as well as the restoration beginning in 538. Verses 11–13 are a prophecy of judgment against the gloating enemies of Jerusalem.

5:1 Jerusalem will be besieged, and her kings will be seized and taken to Babylon (the last king, Zedekiah, was blinded; see 2Ki 25:7).

5:2 In contrast to the dire prediction of v. 1, Micah shifts to a positive note. Ephrathah. The region in which Bethlehem was located (see Ru 1:2; 4:11; 1Sa 17:12). ruler. Ultimately Christ, who will rule (see note on 4:8) for God the Father. origins ... from of old. His beginnings were much earlier than his human birth (see Jn 8:58). from ancient times. Within history (cf. 2Sa 7:12–16; Isa 9:6–7; Am 9:11), and even from eternity (see NIV text note).

though you are small among the clans[m] of Judah, out of you will come for me
one who will be ruler[k] over Israel, whose origins[n] are from of old,[l]

3 Therefore Israel will be abandoned[n] until the time when she who is in labor gives birth and the rest of his brothers return to join the Israelites.

4 He will stand and shepherd his flock[o]
in the strength of the LORD, in the majesty of the name of the LORD his God.
And they will live securely, for then his greatness[p]
will reach to the ends of the earth.

5 And he will be their peace.[q]

Deliverance and Destruction

When the Assyrian invades[r] our land and marches through our fortresses, we will raise against him seven shepherds,
even eight leaders of men.[s]
6 They will rule[p] the land of Assyria with the sword, the land of Nimrod[t] with drawn sword.[q][u]
He will deliver us from the Assyrian when he invades our land and marches into our borders.[v]

7 The remnant[w] of Jacob will be in the midst of many peoples
like dew[x] from the LORD, like showers on the grass,[y]
which do not wait for man or linger for mankind.
8 The remnant of Jacob will be among the nations,
in the midst of many peoples,
like a lion among the beasts of the forest,[z]
like a young lion among flocks of sheep, which mauls and mangles[a] as it goes,
and no one can rescue.[b]
9 Your hand will be lifted up[c] in triumph over your enemies, and all your foes will be destroyed.

10 "In that day," declares the LORD,

"I will destroy your horses from among you and demolish your chariots.[d] 11 I will destroy the cities[e] of your land and tear down all your strongholds.[f] 12 I will destroy your witchcraft and you will no longer cast spells.[g] 13 I will destroy your carved images[h] and your sacred stones from among you;[i] you will no longer bow down to the work of your hands.[j] 14 I will uproot from among you your Asherah poles[r][k]
and demolish your cities.
15 I will take vengeance[l] in anger and wrath upon the nations that have not obeyed me."

The LORD's Case Against Israel

6 Listen to what the LORD says:

"Stand up, plead your case before the mountains;[m]
let the hills hear what you have to say.
2 Hear,[n] O mountains, the LORD's accusation;[o]
listen, you everlasting foundations of the earth.

5:3 Israel will be abandoned. Until the Messiah is born and begins his rule. Israel. See note on 1:5.

5:4 strength ... majesty. The Messiah will shepherd and rule in the strength and majesty of God the Father.

5:5 their peace. Jesus is "our peace" (Eph 2:14). In addition to freedom from war, the Hebrew word for "peace" also connotes prosperity in the OT. See notes on Isa 9:6 ("Prince of Peace"); Lk 2:14. Assyrian. Symbolic of all the enemies of God's people in every age. See Isa 11:11; Zec 10:10–11. we. The people of God. seven ... eight. A figurative way of saying "many" (see note on Job 5:19).

5:6 land of Nimrod. Assyria. See Ge 10:8–11. he. The ruler of v. 2.

5:8 lion. Like the previous simile (v. 7) this pictures the inevitable progress of the people of God toward triumph over their enemies (v. 9).

5:10–14 In the Messianic era the people of God will not depend on weapons of war or pagan idols. The successes of his people are always achieved by dependence on him.

6:1–16 This chapter depicts a courtroom scene in which the Lord lodges a legal complaint against Israel. In vv. 1–2 the Lord summons the people to listen to his accusation and to prepare their defense against the charges that follow in vv. 9–16. The Lord speaks in vv. 3–5, poignantly reminding the people of his gracious acts in their behalf. In vv. 6–7 Israel is speaking, and in v. 8 Micah responds directly to the nation, answering the questions of vv. 6–7. God charges the people with specific wrongs in vv. 9–16.

6:1–2 mountains ... foundations of the earth. Inanimate objects were called on as third-party witnesses because of their enduring nature and because they were witnesses to his covenant (see Dt 32:1; Jos 24:27; Isa 1:2 and note).

6:2 Israel. Primarily Judah here.

For the LORD has a case[p] against his people;
he is lodging a charge[q] against Israel.

3"My people, what have I done to you?
How have I burdened[r] you?[s]
Answer me.
4I brought you up out of Egypt[t]
and redeemed you from the land of slavery.[u]
I sent Moses[v] to lead you, also Aaron[w] and Miriam.[x] 5My people, remember what Balak[y] king of Moab counseled and what Balaam son of Beor answered.
Remember ⌞your journey⌟ from Shittim[z] to Gilgal,[a] that you may know the righteous acts[b] of the LORD."

6With what shall I come before[c] the LORD and bow down before the exalted God?
Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves a year old?[d] 7Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams,[e] with ten thousand rivers of oil?[f]
Shall I offer my firstborn[g] for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?[h] 8He has showed you, O man, what is good.
And what does the LORD require of you?
To act justly[i] and to love mercy and to walk humbly[j] with your God.[k]

Israel's Guilt and Punishment

9Listen! The LORD is calling to the city—and to fear your name is wisdom—
"Heed the rod[l] and the One who appointed it.[s] 10Am I still to forget, O wicked house, your ill-gotten treasures
and the short ephah,[t] which is accursed?[m] 11Shall I acquit a man with dishonest scales,[n] with a bag of false weights?[o] 12Her rich men are violent;[p] her people are liars[q]
and their tongues speak deceitfully.[r] 13Therefore, I have begun to destroy[s] you,
to ruin you because of your sins.
14You will eat but not be satisfied;[t]
your stomach will still be empty.[u]
You will store up but save nothing,[u]
because what you save I will give to the sword.
15You will plant but not harvest;[v]
you will press olives but not use the oil on yourselves, you will crush grapes but not drink the wine.[w] 16You have observed the statutes of Omri[x] and all the practices of Ahab's[y] house,
and you have followed their traditions.[z] Therefore I will give you over to ruin[a] and your people to derision;
you will bear the scorn[b] of the nations.[v]"

Israel's Misery

7 What misery is mine!
I am like one who gathers summer fruit
at the gleaning of the vineyard;
there is no cluster of grapes to eat,
none of the early figs[c] that I crave.
2The godly have been swept from the land;[d]
not one[e] upright man remains.

6:6 The same thought is expressed in 1Sa 15:22; Ps 51:16; Hos 6:6; Isa 1:11–15 (see note there). Micah does not deny the desirability of sacrifices but shows that it does no good to offer them without obedience.
6:8 man. The use of the singular makes the accusation personal, though Micah is speaking to all Israel (see also Dt 10:12–13). act justly ... love mercy. The kind of obedience God expects from his covenant people.
6:9 city. Jerusalem.

6:16 Omri ... Ahab's. 1Ki 16:25,30 says that they did more evil than all the kings who preceded them.
7:1–20 The speakers in this chapter are Micah (vv. 1–7), Zion (vv. 8–10), Micah (vv. 11–13), perhaps Zion (v. 14), God (v. 15), Micah (vv. 16–20). The chapter begins on a note of gloom but ends with a statement of hope.
7:1–2 Looking for the godly is like looking for summer fruit when the harvest has ended (see also Jer 8:20).

3 Both hands are skilled in doing evil;[j]
the ruler demands gifts,
the judge accepts bribes,[k]
the powerful dictate what they desire—they all conspire together.
4 The best of them is like a brier,[l]
the most upright worse than a thorn[m] hedge.
The day of your watchmen has come,
the day God visits you.
Now is the time of their confusion.[n]
5 Do not trust a neighbor;
put no confidence in a friend.[o]
Even with her who lies in your embrace be careful of your words.
6 For a son dishonors his father, a daughter rises up against her mother,[p] a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law—
a man's enemies are the members of his own household.[q]

7 But as for me, I watch[r] in hope[s] for the LORD,
I wait for God my Savior;
my God will hear[t] me.

Israel Will Rise

8 Do not gloat over me,[u] my enemy!
Though I have fallen, I will rise.[v]
Though I sit in darkness, the LORD will be my light.[w]
9 Because I have sinned against him,
I will bear the LORD's wrath,[x]
until he pleads my case[y]
and establishes my right.
He will bring me out into the light;[z]
I will see his righteousness.[a] 10 Then my enemy will see it and will be covered with shame,[b]
she who said to me,
"Where is the LORD your God?"[c]
My eyes will see her downfall;[d] even now she will be trampled[e] underfoot like mire in the streets.

11 The day for building your walls[f] will come,
the day for extending your boundaries.
12 In that day people will come to you from Assyria[g] and the cities of Egypt, even from Egypt to the Euphrates and from sea to sea and from mountain to mountain.[h] 13 The earth will become desolate because of its inhabitants, as the result of their deeds.[i]

15 "As in the days when you came out of Egypt,

They will lay their hands on their mouths[r]

Lk 1:54–55). All believers are ultimately included in this promise (Ro 4; Gal 3:6–29; Heb 11:12).

Nahum

Author

The book contains the "vision of Nahum" (1:1), whose name means "comfort" and is related to the name Nehemiah, meaning "The LORD comforts" or "comfort of the LORD." (Nineveh's fall, which is Nahum's theme, would bring comfort to Judah.) Nothing is known about him except his hometown (Elkosh), and even its general location is uncertain.

Date

In 3:8–10 the author speaks of the fall of Thebes, which happened in 663 B.C., as already past. In all three chapters Nahum prophesied Nineveh's fall, which was fulfilled in 612. Nahum therefore uttered this oracle between 663 and 612, perhaps near the end of this period since he represents the fall of Nineveh as imminent (2:1; 3:14,19). This would place him during the reign of Josiah and make him a contemporary of Zephaniah and the young Jeremiah.

Background

Assyria (represented by Nineveh, 1:1) had already destroyed Samaria (722–721 B.C.), resulting in the captivity of the northern kingdom of Israel, and posed a present threat to Judah. The Assyrians were brutally cruel, their kings often being depicted as gloating over the gruesome punishments inflicted on conquered peoples. They conducted their wars with shocking ferocity, uprooted whole populations as state policy and deported them to other parts of their empire. The leaders of conquered cities were tortured and horribly mutilated before being executed (see note on 3:3). No wonder the dread of Assyria fell on all her neighbors!

About 700 B.C. King Sennacherib made Nineveh the capital of the Assyrian empire, and it remained the capital until it was destroyed in 612. Jonah had announced its destruction earlier (Jnh 3:4), but the people repented and the destruction was temporarily averted. Not long after that, however, Nineveh reverted to its extreme wickedness, brutality and pride. The brutality reached its peak under Ashurbanipal (669–627), the last great ruler of the Assyrian empire. After his death, Assyria's influence and power waned rapidly until 612, when Nineveh was overthrown (see notes on 1:14; 2:1). (Further historical information is given in notes throughout the book.)

Recipients

Some words are addressed to Judah (see 1:12–13,15), but most are addressed to Nineveh (see 1:11,14; 2:1,13; 3:5–17,19) or its king (3:18). The book, however, was meant for Judahite readers.

Literary Style

The contents are primarily judicial (judgment oracles), with appropriate descriptions and vocabulary, as well as intense moods, sights and sounds. The language is poetic, with frequent use of metaphors and similes, vivid word pictures, repetition and many short—often staccato—phrases (see, e.g., 3:2–3). Rhetorical questions punctuate the flow of thought, which has a marked stress on moral indignation toward injustice.

Theological Themes

The focal point of the entire book is the Lord's judgment on Nineveh for her oppression, cruelty, idolatry and wickedness. The book ends with the destruction of the city.

According to Ro 11:22, God is not only kind but also stern. In Nahum, God is not only "slow to anger" (1:3) and "a refuge . . . for those who trust in him" (1:7), but also one who "will not leave the guilty unpunished" (1:3). God's righteous and just kingdom will ultimately triumph, for kingdoms built on wickedness and tyranny must eventually fall, as Assyria did.

In addition, Nahum declares the universal sovereignty of God. God is Lord of history and of all nations; as such he controls their destinies.

1 An oracle[a] concerning Nineveh.[b]
The book of the vision[c] of Nahum the Elkoshite.

The LORD's Anger Against Nineveh

2 The LORD is a jealous[d] and avenging
God;
the LORD takes vengeance[e] and is filled with wrath.
The LORD takes vengeance on his foes and maintains his wrath against his enemies.[f]
3 The LORD is slow to anger[g] and great in power;
the LORD will not leave the guilty
unpunished.[h]
His way is in the whirlwind[i] and the storm,[j]
and clouds[k] are the dust of his feet.
4 He rebukes[l] the sea and dries it up;[m]
he makes all the rivers run dry.
Bashan and Carmel[n] wither and the blossoms of Lebanon fade.
5 The mountains quake[o] before him and the hills melt away.[p]
The earth trembles[q] at his presence, the world and all who live in it.[r]
6 Who can withstand[s] his indignation?
Who can endure[t] his fierce anger?[u]
His wrath is poured out like fire;[v]
the rocks are shattered[w] before him.

7 The LORD is good,[x]
a refuge in times of trouble.[y]
He cares for[z] those who trust in him,[a] 8 but with an overwhelming flood[b]
he will make an end of ⌞Nineveh⌟;
he will pursue his foes into darkness.

9 Whatever they plot[c] against the LORD
he[a] will bring to an end; trouble will not come a second time.
10 They will be entangled among thorns[d]
and drunk[e] from their wine;
they will be consumed like dry stubble.[b][f]
11 From you, ⌞O Nineveh,⌟ has one come forth who plots evil against the LORD and counsels wickedness.

12 This is what the LORD says:

"Although they have allies and are numerous,
they will be cut off[g] and pass away.
Although I have afflicted you,
⌞O Judah,⌟
I will afflict you no more.[h] 13 Now I will break their yoke[i] from your neck
and tear your shackles away."[j]

14 The LORD has given a command concerning you, ⌞Nineveh⌟:
"You will have no descendants to bear your name.[k]

[a] 9 Or What do you foes plot against the LORD? / He

1:1 The title of the book. oracle. See note on Isa 13:1. Nineveh. See Introduction: Background; see also notes on Jnh 1:2; 3:3. Here the capital city stands for the entire Assyrian empire. vision. See note on Isa 1:1. Nahum the Elkoshite. See Introduction: Author.

1:2–3 The covenant name Yahweh ("the LORD") is emphasized.

1:2 jealous. See note on Ex 20:5. avenging ... vengeance ... vengeance. God acts justly in judgment toward all who oppose him and his kingdom. The repetition is for emphasis.

1:3 the guilty. Such as Nineveh. whirlwind ... storm ... clouds. See notes on Ps 18:7–15; 68:4; 77:16–19; 104:3–4.

1:4 rebukes the sea and dries it up. As at the crossing of the Red Sea (Ex 14). makes all the rivers run dry. As at the crossing of the Jordan (Jos 3). Bashan ... Carmel ... Lebanon. See notes on SS 7:5; Isa 2:13; 33:9; 35:2; Am 4:1. These three places were noted for their fertility, vineyards and trees, but at the Lord's word they wither.

1:5 mountains ... hills ... earth ... world. Emblems of stability and permanence.

1:6 Who can withstand ...? Who can endure ...? Rhetorical questions. If mountains quake before the Lord (v. 5), what human being can think that he is not vulnerable? Cf. Ro 2:3–5.

1:7 those who trust in him. Such as Judah.

1:8 overwhelming flood. Symbolic of an invading army (see Isa 8:7–8). end ... darkness. In 612 B.C. that end came for Nineveh, and the darkness enveloped her. Through the ministry of Jonah, Nineveh had formerly experienced the light of God. But she later rejected it, and the result was the darkness of judgment.

1:9 they plot. See note on v. 11. trouble will not come a second time. God never permitted the Assyrians a second victory over the Judahites; the first was the fall of Samaria (722–721 B.C.) and of the northern kingdom (Sennacherib's invasion in 701 was not a complete victory; see 2Ki 18:13–19:37; Isa 36–37).

1:10 drunk from their wine. See 3:11 and note; but perhaps the line here should read: "and drenched as with their wine,/yet they ..." (see NIV text note).

1:11 one ... who plots evil. Possibly the Assyrian king Ashurbanipal (669–627 B.C.), the last great Assyrian emperor, whose western expeditions succeeded in subduing Egypt and to whom King Manasseh had to submit as a vassal (see 2Ch 33:11–13).

1:12 they. The Assyrians. I have afflicted you. God had used Assyria as the rod of his anger against his covenant-breaking people in the days of Ahaz (Isa 10:5) and again in the time of Manasseh.

1:13 I will break their yoke. Judah was Assyria's vassal; that yoke would be broken.

1:14 I will prepare your grave. God used the Babylonians, the Medes and the Scythians to dig Nineveh's grave in 612 B.C. For the fulfillment of this prophecy see Eze 32:22–23.

I will destroy the carved images[l] and cast idols that are in the temple of your gods.
I will prepare your grave,[m]
for you are vile."

15 Look, there on the mountains, the feet of one who brings good news,[n]
who proclaims peace![o]
Celebrate your festivals,[p] O Judah, and fulfill your vows.
No more will the wicked invade you;[q]
they will be completely destroyed.

Nineveh to Fall

2 An attacker[r] advances against you, ⌊Nineveh⌋.
Guard the fortress,
watch the road,
brace yourselves,
marshal all your strength!

2 The LORD will restore[s] the splendor[t] of Jacob like the splendor of Israel, though destroyers have laid them waste and have ruined their vines.

3 The shields of his soldiers are red;
the warriors are clad in scarlet.[u]
The metal on the chariots flashes on the day they are made ready;
the spears of pine are brandished.[c]

4 The chariots[v] storm through the streets, rushing back and forth through the squares.
They look like flaming torches;
they dart about like lightning.

5 He summons his picked troops,
yet they stumble[w] on their way.
They dash to the city wall;
the protective shield is put in place.
6 The river gates[x] are thrown open and the palace collapses.
7 It is decreed[d] that ⌊the city⌋
be exiled and carried away.
Its slave girls moan[y] like doves and beat upon their breasts.[z]
8 Nineveh is like a pool, and its water is draining away.
"Stop! Stop!" they cry,
but no one turns back.
9 Plunder the silver!
Plunder the gold!
The supply is endless,
the wealth from all its treasures!
10 She is pillaged, plundered, stripped!
Hearts melt,[a] knees give way, bodies tremble, every face grows pale.[b]

[c] 3 Hebrew; Septuagint and Syriac / the horsemen rush to and fro [d] 7 The meaning of the Hebrew for this word is uncertain.

1:15 mountains. Of Jerusalem and Judah. feet of one who brings good news. This verse sets forth a principle that is applicable in several contexts of deliverance. Here the reference is to the good news of deliverance from the Assyrian threat; in Isa 52:7, deliverance from Babylonian exile; in Ro 10:15, deliverance from sin through the gospel ("good news") of Christ. Celebrate your festivals. In the joy of your deliverance. fulfill your vows. Those you uttered in the time of distress (see note on Ps 7:17). No more will the wicked invade you. The Assyrian invasion in the days of Manasseh was the last. wicked. See note on Dt 13:13. completely destroyed. Fulfilled in 612 when Nineveh fell (see note on v. 14).

2:1 attacker. Refers to the alliance of the Babylonians, the Medes and the Scythians—particularly the Medes under Cyaxares and the Babylonians under Nabopolassar. Guard the fortress . . . marshal all your strength! Probably irony, touched with sarcasm. road. By which the enemies will come.

2:2 restore the splendor of Jacob . . . Israel. The whole nation will be restored and united again.

2:3 his soldiers. Those of the attacker (v. 1), or perhaps those of Nineveh itself. red. Either (1) the color of the shields, or (2) a reference to blood on them, or (3) the result of the reflection of the sun shining on them. brandished. Ready to use.

2:4 chariots . . . rushing. Refers to either (1) the Assyrian war chariots and their unprecedented speed as the Assyrians take frantic but vain steps to defend themselves, or (2) the chariots of Nineveh's invaders.

2:5 He. Probably the king of Assyria. city wall. A moat 150 feet wide had to be filled in before reaching Nineveh's wall, which was almost 8 miles long with 15 gates. Then battering rams were moved up. protective shield. Of the defenders—a framework covered with hides to deflect stones and arrows directed by the invaders at the defenders on the wall.

2:6 river gates. Perhaps the dams on the Khoser River, which ran through the city to the Tigris River. They were either already in place, or quickly built, to back up the river water, then suddenly released so the flood would damage the walls. palace collapses. One ancient historian (the author of the Babylonian Chronicles) speaks of a flood that washed away some of the wall, making it easier for the invaders to enter the city.

2:7 slave girls. Possibly temple prostitutes, whose places of business and idols were being destroyed.

2:8 like a pool . . . water is draining away. Some think that this refers to the Tigris and the smaller rivers encircling and running through parts of the city, and to a system of dams to make the city more impenetrable. Others take the language less literally as a reference to Nineveh's people fleeing, like water draining from a pool.

2:9 The cry of the invaders.

2:10 pillaged, plundered, stripped. The Hebrew for all three words is similar. The Babylonian Chronicles confirms the fact that a great quantity of plunder was carried off by the invaders. Hearts melt. The powerful, insolent Ninevites become helpless with fear.

2:11–13 Nahum ironically contrasts the devastated and desolate city of Nineveh with its former glory and power, expressed in figurative terms.

2:11 lion and lioness. Cf. Isa 5:29; Jer 4:7; Hos 5:14; Mic 5:8. The lion is an appropriate image to apply to Assyria because of the rapacious ways of the Assyrian monarchs and because Nineveh contained numerous lion the place where they fed their young,

where the lion and lioness went,
and the cubs, with nothing to fear?
12The lion killed[d] enough for his cubs and strangled the prey for his mate, filling his lairs[e] with the kill and his dens with the prey.[f]

13"I am against[g] you,"
declares the LORD Almighty.
"I will burn up your chariots in smoke,[h]
and the sword[i] will devour your young lions.
I will leave you no prey on the earth.
The voices of your messengers will no longer be heard."[j]

Woe to Nineveh

3 Woe to the city of blood,[k] full of lies,[l]
full of plunder,
never without victims!
2The crack of whips,
the clatter of wheels,
galloping horses
and jolting chariots!
3Charging cavalry,
flashing swords
and glittering spears!
Many casualties,
piles of dead,
bodies without number,
people stumbling over the corpses[m]— 4all because of the wanton lust of a harlot,
alluring, the mistress of sorceries,[n] who enslaved nations by her prostitution[o]
and peoples by her witchcraft.

5"I am against[p] you," declares the LORD Almighty.
"I will lift your skirts[q] over your face.
I will show the nations your nakedness[r]
and the kingdoms your shame.
6I will pelt you with filth,[s]
I will treat you with contempt[t]
and make you a spectacle.[u] 7All who see you will flee[v] from you and say,
'Nineveh[w] is in ruins[x]—who will mourn for her?'[y]
Where can I find anyone to comfort[z] you?"

8Are you better than[a] Thebes,[eb] situated on the Nile,[c]
with water around her?
The river was her defense,
the waters her wall.
9Cush[fd] and Egypt were her boundless strength;
Put[e] and Libya[f] were among her allies.
10Yet she was taken captive[g]
and went into exile.
Her infants were dashed[h] to pieces
at the head of every street.
Lots[i] were cast for her nobles, and all her great men were put in sculptures.

2:12 filling his lairs . . . with the prey. Nineveh was filled with the spoils of war from many conquered nations.

2:13 I will burn up. Nineveh's fall will not be caused by merely natural forces or the superior power of her attackers; it will be an act of God. Nineveh had been put on trial, found guilty and sentenced to destruction. voices . . . no longer be heard. History has confirmed this prediction.

3:1 city of blood. Nineveh's bloody massacres of her conquered rivals were well known. never without victims. The Assyrians were noted for their ruthlessness, brutality and terrible atrocities. Many of their victims were beheaded, impaled or burned.

3:3 piles of dead. The Assyrian king Shalmaneser III boasted of erecting a pyramid of chopped-off heads in front of an enemy's city. Other Assyrian kings stacked corpses like cordwood by the gates of defeated cities. Nahum's description of the cruel Assyrians is apropos.

3:4 harlot. Probably a reference to the chief love goddess of Nineveh and, by extension, to the city as a whole. The lure of luxury and wealth brought multitudes to Nineveh. sorceries . . . witchcraft. See Dt 18:10.

3:5 lift your skirts over your face. The punishment of prostitutes and adulteresses.

3:6 Nineveh will be humiliated.

3:7 who . . . ? Where . . . ? Rhetorical questions. Nineveh will receive no sympathy.

3:8 Thebes. See NIV text note. No Amon means "city of (the god) Amon." Thebes was the great capital of Upper Egypt. Its site is occupied today by the towns of Luxor and Karnak. It was destroyed by the Assyrians in 663 B.C.

3:9 Put. A neighbor of Egypt, but its location is uncertain.

3:10 her great men were put in chains. Assyrian kings often did this; e.g., King Ashurbanipal gave this description of his treatment of a captured leader: "I . . . put a dog chain on him and made him occupy a kennel at the eastern gate of Nineveh."

3:11 will become drunk. Probably from the cup of God's wrath.

3:12 like fig trees with their first ripe fruit. A simile for the eagerness with which the victors gather the rich loot of Nineveh. figs fall into the mouth of the eater. Nineveh's fortresses will finally fall just as easily.

fire has consumed their bars.[q]

14 Draw water for the siege,[r] strengthen your defenses![s]
Work the clay,
tread the mortar,
repair the brickwork!
15 There the fire[t] will devour you;
the sword[u] will cut you down and, like grasshoppers, consume you.
Multiply like grasshoppers,
multiply like locusts![v]
16 You have increased the number of your merchants till they are more than the stars of the sky, but like locusts[w] they strip the land and then fly away.

17 Your guards are like locusts,[x] your officials like swarms of locusts that settle in the walls on a cold day—but when the sun appears they fly away, and no one knows where.

18 O king of Assyria, your shepherds[g] slumber;[y]

Your people are scattered[a] on the mountains
with no one to gather them.
19 Nothing can heal your wound;[b] your injury is fatal.

claps his hands[c] at your fall, for who has not felt your endless cruelty?[d]

[g] 18 Or rulers

3:13 your troops ... are all women! They are weak and unable to stand against the invading armies. their bars. The bars of the gates.

3:14 Draw water. A normal preparation for siege. strengthen your defenses! Irony, the point being that it will do no good (see note on 2:1).

3:15 There. Inside your strong fortifications. fire will devour you. Confirmed by history and archaeology. Assyria's king died in the flames of his palace.

3:16 your merchants ... are more than the stars. Speaks of Assyria's vast trading and commercial enterprises. they strip the land. In the time of Nineveh's adversity the merchants stripped the land of its treasures, and the trade network was destroyed.

3:17 locusts. Feared by the farmers of the ancient Near East, because they came in huge swarms and devoured everything in their path. Their activity provided an apt simile for the exploitative actions of Nineveh's officials during her destruction. no one knows where. Thus will Nineveh's officials disappear, without a trace. Interestingly, for centuries no one knew where Nineveh itself lay buried; in 1845 it was finally uncovered by archaeologists.

3:18 O king. The reigning king at the time of Nineveh's fall was Sin-Shar-Ishkun; so these words are prophetically addressed to him. shepherds. Leaders. lie down to rest. Die. people are scattered. The age-old scene of refugees fleeing a place of destruction is repeated at Nineveh.

3:19 your injury is fatal. Nineveh was so totally destroyed that it was never rebuilt, and within a few centuries it was covered with windblown sand. So that "great city" (Jnh 1:2; cf. 3:2) fell in 612 B.C., never to rise again—all in fulfillment of God's word through his prophet Nahum.

Habakkuk

Author

Little is known about Habakkuk except that he was a contemporary of Jeremiah and a man of vigorous faith rooted deeply in the religious traditions of Israel. The account of his ministering to the needs of Daniel in the lions' den in the Apocryphal book Bel and the Dragon is legendary rather than historical.

Date

The prediction of the coming Babylonian invasion (1:6) indicates that Habakkuk lived in Judah toward the end of Josiah's reign (640–609 B.C.) or at the beginning of Jehoiakim's (609–598). The prophecy is generally dated a little before or after the battle of Carchemish (605), when Egyptian forces, who had earlier gone to the aid of the last Assyrian king, were routed by the Babylonians under Nabopolassar and Nebuchadnezzar and were pursued as far as the Egyptian border (Jer 46). Habakkuk, like Jeremiah, probably lived to see the initial fulfillment of his prophecy when Jerusalem was attacked by the Babylonians in 597.

Message

Among the prophetic writings, Habakkuk is somewhat unique in that it includes no oracle addressed to Israel. It contains, rather, a dialogue between the prophet and God (see Outline). (The book of Jonah, while narrative, presents an account of conflict between the Lord and one of his prophets.) In the first two chapters, Habakkuk argues with God over his ways that appear to him unfathomable, if not unjust. Having received replies, he responds with a beautiful confession of faith (ch. 3).

This account of wrestling with God is, however, not just a fragment from a private journal that has somehow entered the public domain. It was composed for Israel. No doubt it represented the voice of the godly in Judah, struggling to comprehend the ways of God. God's answers therefore spoke to all who shared Habakkuk's troubled doubts. And Habakkuk's confession became a public expression—as indicated by its liturgical notations (see note on 3:1).

Habakkuk was perplexed that wickedness, strife and oppression were rampant in Judah but God seemingly did nothing. When told that the Lord was preparing to do something about it through the "ruthless" Babylonians (1:6), his perplexity only intensified: How could God, who is "too pure to look on evil" (1:13), appoint such a nation "to execute judgment" (1:12) on a people "more righteous than themselves" (1:13)?

God makes it clear, however, that eventually the corrupt destroyer will itself be destroyed. In the end, Habakkuk learns to rest in God's appointments and await his working in a spirit of worship.

Literary Features

The author wrote clearly and with great feeling, and penned many memorable phrases (2:2,4,14,20; 3:2,17–19). The book was popular during the intertestamental period; a complete commentary on its first two chapters has been found among the Dead Sea Scrolls (see "The Time between the Testaments," p. 1424).

I. Title (1:1)
II. Habakkuk's First Complaint: Why does the evil in Judah go unpunished? (1:2–4)
III. God's Answer: The Babylonians will punish Judah (1:5–11)
IV. Habakkuk's Second Complaint: How can a just God use wicked Babylon to punish a people more righteous than themselves? (1:12—2:1)
V. God's Answer: Babylon will be punished, and faith will be rewarded (2:2–20)
VI. Habakkuk's Prayer: After asking for manifestations of God's wrath and mercy (as he has seen in the past), he closes with a confession of trust and joy in God (ch. 3)

1 The oracle[a] that Habakkuk the prophet received.

Habakkuk's Complaint

2 How long,[b] O LORD, must I call for help, but you do not listen?[c]
Or cry out to you, "Violence!"
but you do not save?[d]
3 Why do you make me look at injustice?
Why do you tolerate[e] wrong?[f]
Destruction and violence[g] are before me;
there is strife,[h] and conflict abounds.
4 Therefore the law[i] is paralyzed, and justice never prevails.
The wicked hem in the righteous,
so that justice[j] is perverted.[k]

The LORD's Answer

5 "Look at the nations and watch—and be utterly amazed.[l]
For I am going to do something in your days that you would not believe,
even if you were told.[m]
6 I am raising up the Babylonians,[a][n] that ruthless and impetuous people, who sweep across the whole earth[o]
to seize dwelling places not their own.[p] 7 They are a feared and dreaded people;[q]
they are a law to themselves and promote their own honor.
8 Their horses are swifter[r] than leopards, fiercer than wolves[s] at dusk.
Their cavalry gallops headlong;
their horsemen come from afar.
They fly like a vulture swooping to devour;
9 they all come bent on violence.
Their hordes[b] advance like a desert wind and gather prisoners[t] like sand.
10 They deride kings and scoff at rulers.[u]
They laugh at all fortified cities;
they build earthen ramps[v] and capture them.
11 Then they sweep past like the wind[w] and go on—guilty men, whose own strength is their god."[x]

Habakkuk's Second Complaint

12 O LORD, are you not from everlasting?[y]
My God, my Holy One,[z] we will not die.[a]
O LORD, you have appointed[b] them to execute judgment;
O Rock,[c] you have ordained them to punish.
13 Your eyes are too pure[d] to look on evil;
you cannot tolerate wrong.[e]
Why then do you tolerate[f] the treacherous?[g]
Why are you silent while the wicked swallow up those more righteous than themselves?[h] 14 You have made men like fish in the sea, like sea creatures that have no ruler.

1:1 oracle. Such as the two found here (vv. 5–11; 2:2–20). Oracles were frequently received in visions. The Hebrew word for "oracle" (possibly meaning "burden," but perhaps only "pronouncement") often refers to revelations containing warnings of impending doom (cf. Isa 15:1; 19:1; 22:1), but in Zec 9:1; 12:1; Mal 1:1 it refers to messages that also contain hope. Habakkuk. The name is probably Babylonian and refers to a kind of garden plant. prophet. Habakkuk is called a prophet also in 3:1, tying ch. 3 closely to chs. 1–2.

1:2–2:20 A dialogue between the prophet and God. The basic theme is age-old: Why does evil seem to go unpunished? Why does God not respond to prayer?

1:2 Violence! At this time Judah was probably under King Jehoiakim, who was ambitious, cruel and corrupt. Habakkuk describes the social corruption and spiritual apostasy of Judah in the late seventh century B.C.

1:3 you tolerate. See v. 13. The prophet was amazed that God seemed to condone cruelty and violence.

1:4 law is paralyzed ... justice is perverted. Because wealthy landowners controlled the courts through bribery.

1:5 would not believe. To the people of Judah it was incredible that God would give them over to the arrogant Babylonians.

1:6 The apostate nation of Judah is to be punished by an invasion of the Babylonians, a powerful people who regained their independence from Assyria in 626 B.C., destroyed Assyrian power completely in 612–605, and flourished until 539. In this context, the Chaldeans (see NIV text note) are synonymous with the newly resurgent Babylonians. seize dwelling places. See 2:6–8.

1:7 promote their own honor. A mark of arrogance.

1:8 The speed with which Babylon conquered her enemies had become proverbial.

1:9 gather prisoners like sand. Like their Assyrian predecessors, the Babylonians deported conquered peoples as a matter of deliberate national policy (see 2:5).

1:10 build earthen ramps. A siege method.

1:11 whose own strength is their god. The Babylonians were so proud and confident of their military might that it had virtually become their god (see v. 16).

1:12 Habakkuk cannot see the justice in Judah's being punished by an even more wicked nation, and thinks that the Babylonians surely would not be allowed to conquer Judah completely. from everlasting. See Ps 90:2. LORD, you have appointed them. The prophet recognizes Babylon as God's agent of judgment (cf. Isa 7:18–20; 44:28–45:1).

1:13 A classic statement of the problem of evil within the context of Israel's faith: Why does evil appear to flourish unchecked by a just and holy God? treacherous ... wicked. The Babylonians. those more righteous. Judah.

15 The wicked[t] foe pulls all of them up he catches them in his net,[k]

he gathers them up in his dragnet;
and so he rejoices and is glad.
16 Therefore he sacrifices to his net and burns incense[l] to his dragnet, and enjoys the choicest food.

17 Is he to keep on emptying his net, destroying nations without mercy?[m]

1:15 hooks. See note on Am 4:2. catches them in his net. Babylon's victims are as powerless as fish swimming into a net. Mesopotamian reliefs portray, in symbolic fashion, conquering rulers capturing the enemy in fishnets.
1:16 See note on v. 11.
2:1 I will stand at my watch. The figure of a guard looking out from a tower and expecting a response to his challenge. Any rebuke (see NIV text note) would be for questioning God's justice. ramparts. The walls of Jerusalem.
2:2–3 revelation. See 1Ch 17:15; Pr 29:18. The Hebrew for this word refers specifically to a prophet's vision (see, e.g., Isa 1:1).
2:2 so that a herald may run with it. Lit. "so that he who reads it may run," i.e., so that a messenger may run to deliver the message and read it to those to whom he has been sent.
2:3 wait for it. The following message deals with the fall of Babylon in 539 B.C., about 66 years after Habakkuk's prophecy. The Lord tells Habakkuk (and Judah) that fulfillment of the prophecy may "linger," but that he and the people are to expect it (see 3:16).
2:4 he. Collective for the Babylonians, but with special reference to their king. but. In contrast to the Babylonians, whose desires are not upright. the righteous will live by his faith. See NIV text note; see also Isa 26, especially vv. 1–6. In light of God's revelation about how (and when) he is working, his people are to wait patiently and live by faith—trusting in their sovereign God. The clause is quoted frequently in the NT to support the teaching that people are saved by grace through faith (Ro 1:17; Gal 3:11; cf. Eph 2:8) and should live by faith (Heb 10:38–39). It became the rallying cry of the Protestant Reformation in the 16th century. The same principle that was applicable in the realm of national deliverance is applicable in the area of spiritual deliverance (salvation).
2:5 greedy as the grave. The grave never says, "Enough" (Pr 30:15–16).
2:6–20 This taunt falls into two halves of ten (Hebrew) lines each (vv. 6–14 and vv. 15–20), each half concluding with a significant theological statement (vv. 14,20). Together these two statements set the five "woes" pronounced against Babylon (vv. 6,9,12,15,19; cf. Isa 5:8–23; Mt 23:13–32; Lk 6:24–26; Rev 9:12; 11:14) in a larger frame of reference.
2:6 all of them taunt him. The threatened victims of the Babylonian onslaught, especially Judah, will taunt ruthless Babylon. Woe. The Babylonians' greed for conquest is condemned.
2:8 you have shed man's blood. See v. 17. Therefore Babylon's blood would be shed (see note on Ge 9:6).
2:9 Woe. The Babylonians' pride in building is condemned. nest on high. Like the eagle building an inaccessible nest, the Babylonians thought their empire to be unconquerable (see Ob 3–4; cf. Isa 14:4,13–15).

11 The stones[n] of the wall will cry out, and the beams of the woodwork will echo it.

12 "Woe to him who builds a city with and establishes a town by crime!

13 Has not the LORD Almighty determined that the people's labor is only fuel for the fire,[p]
that the nations exhaust themselves for nothing?[q]
14 For the earth will be filled with the knowledge of the glory[r] of the LORD,
as the waters cover the sea.[s]

15 "Woe to him who gives drink[t] to his neighbors,
pouring it from the wineskin till they are drunk,
so that he can gaze on their naked bodies.
16 You will be filled with shame[u]
instead of glory.[v]
Now it is your turn! Drink[w] and be exposed[i]![x]
The cup[y] from the LORD's right hand is coming around to you,
and disgrace will cover your glory.
17 The violence[z] you have done to Lebanon will overwhelm you, and your destruction of animals will terrify you.[a]
For you have shed man's blood;[b] you have destroyed lands and cities and everyone in them.

18 "Of what value[c] is an idol,[d] since a man has carved it?
Or an image[e] that teaches lies?
For he who makes it trusts in his own creation;
he makes idols that cannot speak.[f]
19 Woe to him who says to wood, 'Come

Or to lifeless stone, 'Wake up!'[g]
Can it give guidance?
It is covered with gold and silver;[h]
there is no breath in it.[i]

[i] 16 Masoretic Text; Dead Sea Scrolls, Aquila, Vulgate and Syriac (see also Septuagint) and stagger
[j] 1 Probably a literary or musical term

2:11 The stones ... will cry out, and the beams. The stones and beams in Babylonian houses were purchased with plunder, and thus testified against the occupants.

2:12 Woe. Babylonian injustice is condemned.

2:13 fuel for the fire. The cities built by the labor of the Babylonians (v. 12) will be burned.

2:14 The Lord's future destruction of proud Babylon and all her worldly glory will cause his greater glory to be known throughout the world (see Ex 14:4,17–18; Isa 11:9; Rev 17:1–19:4).

2:15 Cf. Ge 9:20–22. Woe. Babylonian violence is condemned. Her rapacious treatment of her neighbors, which stripped them of all their wealth (cf. what she later did to Jerusalem, 2Ki 25:8–21), is compared to one who makes his neighbor drunk so he can take lewd pleasure from the man's nakedness.

2:16 be filled with shame ... be exposed. The Lord will do to Babylon what she has done to others. cup from the LORD's right hand. A symbol of divine retribution (see Isa 51:17,22; Jer 25:15–17; La 4:21; Rev 14:10; 16:19).

2:17 violence you have done to Lebanon. The Babylonians apparently had ravaged the cedar forests of Lebanon to adorn their temples and palaces (cf. Isa 14:8). destruction of animals. Assyrian inscriptions record hunting expeditions in the Lebanon range, and such sport may have been indulged in by the invading Babylonians as well. Babylonian violence was destructive of all forms of life, not only of lands and cities.

2:18 idols. The Hebrew for this word means "godlets" or "nonentities" (cf. Isa 41:29; 44:9; Jer 10:15 and the condemnation of idolatry in Ex 20:4–5; Ps 115:4–8).

2:19 Woe. Babylonian idolatry is condemned.

2:20 But. The stone and wood idols of the nations (v. 19) are silent before people, but the people of the world are to be silent before the true God, who is about to judge (cf. Isa 41:1; Zep 1:7; Zec 2:13). holy temple. Heaven.

3:1 In the strict sense, petition is found in this prayer only in v. 2 but, as with many of the psalms, it is set in a larger context of recollection (vv. 3–15) and expression of confidence and trust (vv. 16–19). In fact, Habakkuk's prayer appears to have been used as a psalm; note the psalm-like heading (v. 1) and the musical and/or literary notations (vv. 1,3,9,13,19).

3:2 heard of your fame. In vv. 3–15 Habakkuk recalls a poetic celebration of God's mighty saving acts of old—perhaps one he had heard at the temple (see v. 16).

3:3 God came. When celebrating the exodus, the OT poets (and poet-prophets) combined recollections of the mighty acts of God with conventional images of a fearsome manifestation of the Lord. He came down with his heavenly host and rode on the mighty thunderstorm as his chariot, with his arrows flying in all directions, a cloudburst of rain descending on the earth and the mountains quaking before him (see Dt 33:2; Jdg 5:4–5; Ps 18:7–15; 68:4–10,32–35; 77:16–19; Mic 1:3–4). Such figures characterize many of the references in the following verses. Teman. Means "southland." God is pictured as coming from the area south of Judah during the exodus. Mount Paran. See Dt 33:2; probably northwest of the Gulf of Aqaba and south of Kadesh Barnea, between Edom and Sinai. filled the earth. See note on 2:14.

the Holy One[s] from Mount Paran.[t] Selah[k]
His glory covered the heavens[u]
and his praise filled the earth.[v] 4His splendor was like the sunrise;[w] rays flashed from his hand,
where his power[x] was hidden.
5Plague[y] went before him;
pestilence followed his steps.
6He stood, and shook the earth;
he looked, and made the nations
tremble.
The ancient mountains crumbled[z]
and the age-old hills[a] collapsed.[b]
His ways are eternal.[c]
7I saw the tents of Cushan in distress, the dwellings of Midian[d] in anguish.[e]

8Were you angry with the rivers,[f]
O LORD?
Was your wrath against the streams?
Did you rage against the sea[g]
when you rode with your horses and your victorious chariots?[h] 9You uncovered your bow,
you called for many arrows.[i]
Selah
You split the earth with rivers;
10 the mountains saw you and writhed.[j]
Torrents of water swept by;
the deep roared[k]
and lifted its waves[l] on high.

11Sun and moon stood still[m] in the heavens
at the glint of your flying arrows,[n] at the lightning[o] of your flashing spear.

12In wrath you strode through the earth and in anger you threshed[p] the
nations.
13You came out[q] to deliver[r] your people,
to save your anointed[s] one.
You crushed[t] the leader of the land of wickedness,
you stripped him from head to foot.
Selah
14With his own spear you pierced his head when his warriors stormed out to scatter us,[u]
gloating as though about to devour
the wretched[v] who were in hiding.
15You trampled the sea[w] with your horses,
churning the great waters.[x]

16I heard and my heart pounded,
my lips quivered at the sound;
decay crept into my bones,
and my legs trembled.[y]
Yet I will wait patiently[z] for the day of calamity
to come on the nation invading
us.
17Though the fig tree does not bud and there are no grapes on the vines,
though the olive crop fails and the fields produce no food,[a] though there are no sheep in the pen
and no cattle in the stalls,[b]
18yet I will rejoice in the LORD,[c]

3:5 Plague ... pestilence. Means of divine punishment (cf. Ex 7:14–12:30; Lev 26:25; Ps 91:3,6).

3:6 God's presence was frequently marked by earthquakes (see Ex 19:18; Ps 18:7; Jer 4:24–26; 10:10). Landslides may also be alluded to here.

3:7 Cushan ... Midian. Arab tribes living near Edom. distress ... anguish. When Israel was delivered from Egypt under Moses, neighboring peoples were filled with fear (see Ex 15:14–16; Jos 2:9–10).

3:8 Poetic allusions to the plague on the Nile (Ex 7:20–24) and/or the stopping of the Jordan (Jos 3:15–17), and to the parting of the Red Sea (Ex 14:15–31). But see note on v. 3.

3:9 arrows. Probably thunderbolts unleashed by the heavenly archer. split the earth with rivers. Caused by the accompanying thunderstorms.

3:11 Sun and moon stood still. Probably an allusion to the victory at Gibeon (Jos 10:12–13), indicating that God's triumph over his enemies would be just as complete as on that occasion.

3:12 threshed. See note on Am 1:3.

3:13 deliver your people. God fought against the nations of Canaan (v. 12) but delivered his people. save. By giving victory to. anointed one. The covenant nation, the "kingdom of priests" (Ex 19:6), which God came to deliver. He destroyed the enemy, and in this great act of wrath (v. 12) remembered mercy (v. 2). leader of the land of wickedness. Pharaoh (see Ex 14:5–9).

3:14–15 Another reference to the destruction of the Egyptians in the Red Sea. God will likewise vanquish present foes.

3:15 horses. See v. 8 and note.

3:16 Hearing the hymnic recollection of God's mighty deeds of old in Israel's behalf (vv. 3–15) fills the prophet with an awe so profound that he feels physically weak. Alternatively, it is possible that the message from the Lord that Babylon would be sent against Judah (1:5–11) had so devastated him that he felt ill—until he heard the Lord's further word. wait patiently. See note on 2:3. nation invading us. Babylonia.

3:17 Probably anticipates the awful results of the imminent Babylonian invasion and devastation.

3:18–19 Habakkuk has learned the lesson of faith (2:4)—to trust in God's providence regardless of circumstances. He declares that even if God should send suffering and loss, he would still rejoice in his Savior-God—one of the strongest affirmations of faith in all Scripture.

I will be joyful in God my Savior.[d]

19 The Sovereign LORD is my strength;[e]

3:19 [e] S Dt 33:29; Ps 46:1-5 [f] S Dt 32:13; Ps 18:33

3:19 makes my feet like the feet of a deer. Gives me sure-footed confidence. director. Probably the conductor of the temple musicians. This chapter may have formed part of the temple prayers that were chanted with the accompaniment of instruments (see 1Ch 16:4–7). stringed instruments. Including harp and lyre (Ps 33:2; 92:3; 144:9).

Zephaniah

Author

The prophet Zephaniah was evidently a person of considerable social standing in Judah and was probably related to the royal line. The prophecy opens with a statement of the author's ancestry (1:1), which in itself is an unusual feature of the Hebrew prophetic tradition. Zephaniah was the fourth-generation descendant of Hezekiah, a notable king of Judah from 715 to 686 B.C. Apart from this statement, nothing more is said about his background. Whereas the prophet Micah dealt carefully and sympathetically with the problems of the common people of Judah, Zephaniah's utterances show a much greater familiarity with court circles and current political issues. Zephaniah was probably familiar with the writings of such prominent eighth-century prophets as Isaiah and Amos, whose utterances he reflects, and he may also have been aware of the ministry of the young Jeremiah.

Date

According to 1:1, Zephaniah prophesied during the reign of King Josiah (640–609 B.C.), making him a contemporary of Jeremiah, Nahum and perhaps Habakkuk. His prophecy is probably to be dated relatively early in Josiah's reign, before that king's attempt at reform (and while conditions brought about by the reigns of Manasseh and Amon still prevailed) and before the Assyrian king Ashurbanipal's death in 627 (while Assyria was still powerful, though threatened).

Background

See Introductions to Jeremiah and Nahum: Background; see also 2Ki 22:1–23:30; 2Ch 34–35 and notes.

Purpose and Theme

The intent of the author was to announce to Judah God's approaching judgment. A Scythian incursion into Canaan may have provided the immediate occasion. This fierce, horse-mounted people originated in what is now southern Russia, but by the seventh century B.C. had migrated across the Caucasus and settled in and along the northern territories of the Assyrian empire. Alternately the enemies and allies of Assyria, they seem to have thrust south along the Mediterranean sometime in the 620s, destroying Ashkelon and Ashdod and halting at the Egyptian border only because of a payoff by Pharaoh Psamtik (Psammetichus). Ultimately, however, the destruction prophesied by Zephaniah came at the hands of the Babylonians after they had overpowered Assyria and brought that ancient power to its end.

Zephaniah's main theme is the coming of the day of the Lord (see notes on Isa 2:11,17,20; Joel 1:15; 2:2; Am 5:18; 8:9), when God will severely punish the nations, including apostate Judah. He portrays the stark horror of that ordeal with the same graphic imagery found elsewhere in the prophets. But he also makes it clear that God will yet be merciful toward his people; like many other prophets, he ends his pronouncements of doom on the positive note of Judah's restoration.

1 The word of the LORD that came to Zephaniah son of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the son of Hezekiah, during the reign of Josiah[a] son of Amon[b] king of Judah:

Warning of Coming Destruction

2"I will sweep away everything from the face of the earth,"[c]
declares the LORD.
3"I will sweep away both men and animals;[d]
I will sweep away the birds of the air[e]
and the fish of the sea.
The wicked will have only heaps of rubble[a] when I cut off man from the face of the earth,"[f]
declares the LORD.[g]

Against Judah

4"I will stretch out my hand[h] against Judah and against all who live in Jerusalem.
I will cut off from this place every remnant of Baal,[i]
the names of the pagan and the idolatrous priests[j]— 5those who bow down on the roofs to worship the starry host,[k] those who bow down and swear by the LORD and who also swear by Molech,[b][l] 6those who turn back from following[m] the LORD and neither seek[n] the LORD nor inquire[o] of him.
7Be silent[p] before the Sovereign LORD, for the day of the LORD[q] is near.
The LORD has prepared a sacrifice;[r]
he has consecrated those he has invited.
8On the day of the LORD's sacrifice
I will punish[s] the princes and the king's sons[t]
and all those clad in foreign clothes.
9On that day I will punish all who avoid stepping on the threshold,[c][u] who fill the temple of their gods with violence and deceit.[v] 10"On that day,[w]" declares the LORD,
"a cry will go up from the Fish Gate,[x] wailing[y] from the New Quarter, and a loud crash from the hills.
11Wail,[z] you who live in the market district[d];
all your merchants will be wiped out,
all who trade with[e] silver will be ruined.[a] 12At that time I will search Jerusalem with lamps

[d] 11 Or the Mortar
[e] 11 Or in

1:1 The word of the LORD. A common introductory phrase in the prophets (see, e.g., Jer 1:4; Hos 1:1; Mic 1:1). Zephaniah. Means "The LORD hides" or "The LORD protects," perhaps referring to God's protection of Zephaniah during the infamous reigns of Manasseh and Amon, the predecessors of good King Josiah. son of . . . Hezekiah. From the author's pedigree, scholars suggest that he was in his early 20s when he began to prophesy. He is more closely identified with the ruling class than was Isaiah, although Isaiah also moved regularly in court circles and was perhaps of noble birth.

1:2–3 sweep away. Zephaniah speaks of the coming catastrophe in language reminiscent of God's utterances prior to the flood (Ge 6:7). But this time it will be by God's fire (v. 18; 3:8).

1:3 heaps of rubble. See NIV text note. Alternatively, the sense may be that God will place formidable obstacles in the paths of the wicked and destroy them completely.

1:4–6 Seems to indicate that Zephaniah's main ministry took place before 621 B.C., since the practices condemned here were abolished in Josiah's reforms (2Ki 23:4–16). Perhaps Zephaniah's message was partly instrumental in motivating King Josiah and the people to undertake the reforms (cf. 2Ch 34:1–7).

1:4 Judah is censured for its unrepentant participation in the gross idolatry of Baal worship. this place. Jerusalem, where Zephaniah probably lived. Baal. See note on Jdg 2:13.

1:5 on the roofs. See 2Ki 23:12; Jer 19:13. worship the starry host. See Dt 4:15–19; 2Ki 17:16; 21:3; Isa 47:13. swear by the LORD . . . by Molech. Syncretism (worship of one's own god along with other gods). Molech. Worshiped by the Ammonites, his rituals sometimes involved child sacrifice. Molech worship was forbidden to the Israelites (Lev 18:21; 20:1–5). Despite this, Solomon set up an altar to Molech on the Mount of Olives (1Ki 11:7). Manasseh established the rituals in the Valley of Ben Hinnom (2Ch 33:6; Jer 7:31; 32:35).

1:7 Be silent before the Sovereign LORD. See Hab 2:20. day of the LORD. Zephaniah's main theme (see Introduction: Purpose and Theme); not of deliverance for Judah, but of divine vengeance on the idolatrous covenant nation. sacrifice. The victim is Judah. consecrated. Since the coming slaughter of judgment is called a sacrifice, God's preparation of his guests is called his consecration of them—in preparation for their feasting on the plunder. those . . . invited. The pagan conquerors (mainly Babylon).

1:9 avoid stepping on the threshold. Perhaps referring to a pagan custom that began in the time of Samuel (see NIV text note).

1:10–13 Wailing throughout the city (contrast 3:14–17).

1:10 Merchants who had grown rich through corrupt business practices would be destroyed. Fish Gate. See note on Ne 3:3. New Quarter. See note on Ne 11:9.

1:11 market district. May have been an area in the Tyropoeon Valley, just south of Mount Moriah, where some foreign merchants lived (see 1Ki 20:34 and note).

1:12 search Jerusalem with lamps. The Babylonians later dragged people from houses, streets, sewers and tombs, where they had hidden. The LORD will do nothing. A typical depiction of the arrogance of the wicked (see note on Ps 10:11).

and punish those who are who are like wine left on its who think, 'The LORD will do nothing,[d]

13Their wealth will be plundered,[f]
their houses demolished.
They will build houses
but not live in them;
they will plant vineyards
but not drink the wine.[g]

The Great Day of the LORD

14"The great day of the LORD[h] is near[i]—
near and coming quickly.
Listen! The cry on the day of the LORD will be bitter,
the shouting of the warrior there.
15That day will be a day of wrath,
a day of distress and anguish,
a day of trouble and ruin,
a day of darkness[j] and gloom,
a day of clouds and blackness,[k] 16a day of trumpet and battle cry[l] against the fortified cities and against the corner towers.[m] 17I will bring distress[n] on the people and they will walk like blind[o]
men,
because they have sinned against
the LORD.
Their blood will be poured out[p] like dust
and their entrails like filth.[q] 18Neither their silver nor their gold will be able to save them on the day of the LORD's wrath.[r]
In the fire of his jealousy[s] the whole world will be consumed,[t]
for he will make a sudden end of all who live in the earth.[u]"

Against Philistia

4Gaza[e] will be abandoned and Ashkelon[f] left in ruins.
At midday Ashdod will be emptied

5Woe to you who live by the sea,
O Kerethite[g] people;

O Canaan, land of the Philistines.

"I will destroy you,

7It will belong to the remnant[k] of the

there they will find pasture.

[f] 6 The meaning of the Hebrew for this word is uncertain. [g] 7 Or will bring back their captives

1:13 The assets of those who have become wealthy through dishonesty will be exposed and plundered (see Dt 28:30).

1:14–18 In a dramatic passage of great lyrical power, the Lord describes the destruction that will sweep the earth in the day of God's wrath.

1:15 darkness ... blackness. See Am 5:18–20.

1:17 like blind men. See Dt 28:28–29.

1:18 Neither ... silver nor ... gold will ... save them. In the day of God's judgment, material wealth cannot buy deliverance from punishment.

2:1–3 The prophet's exhortation to repent. This call to repentance and the later indictment of Jerusalem for refusal to repent (see 3:6–8 and note) frame the series of judgments that illustratively detail God's acts in the coming day of the Lord (2:4–3:5).

2:2 like chaff. See note on Ps 1:4.

2:3 Seek the LORD. Even though destruction is imminent, there is still time to be sheltered from the calamity if only the nation will repent. humble. Those who abandon the arrogance of their idolatry and wickedness and humble themselves in repentance before God.

2:4–3:8 God's coming judgment on the nations—including Jerusalem (cf. Am 1–2).

2:4 Gaza ... Ashkelon ... Ashdod ... Ekron. See notes on Jos 13:3; Jdg 3:3; Am 1:6,8.

2:5 Kerethite. See note on 1Sa 30:14. Canaan. See note on Ge 10:6. I ... left. The Lord's announced purpose.

2:6 The once-populous Philistine cities will revert to pastureland. Kerethites. See NIV text note.

2:7 The faithful remnant of Judah will occupy this land and graze their flocks on it. restore their fortunes. See NIV text note. Here and in vv. 9,11 the prophet anticipates the ultimate outcome of the day of the Lord, which he spells out more fully in 3:9–20.

2:8 Moab ... Ammonites. See notes on Ge 19:36–38; Am 1:13. For the hostility of Ammon and Moab toward Israel see Am 1:13–15; 2:1–3. They had often threatened to occu-and made threats against their land.[q] 9Therefore, as surely as I live," declares the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel,

"surely Moab[r] will become like Sodom,[s]
the Ammonites[t] like Gomorrah—a place of weeds and salt pits,
a wasteland forever.
The remnant of my people will plunder[u] them;
the survivors[v] of my nation will inherit their land.[w]" 10This is what they will get in return for their pride,[x] for insulting[y] and mocking the people of the LORD Almighty.[z] 11The LORD will be awesome[a] to them when he destroys all the gods[b] of the land.[c]
The nations on every shore will worship him,[d]
every one in its own land.

Against Cush

12"You too, O Cushites,[he] will be slain by my sword.[f]"

Against Assyria

13He will stretch out his hand against the north and destroy Assyria,[g] leaving Nineveh[h] utterly desolate and dry as the desert.[i] 14Flocks and herds[j] will lie down there,

2:9 Sodom ... Gomorrah. See Ge 19. They were used in the OT to typify complete destruction at the hands of God (see Dt 29:23; Isa 13:19; Jer 49:18), and their mention added ominous overtones to the prophet's description of the day of the Lord. weeds. A symbol of depopulation (see Isa 7:23–25). remnant ... will inherit their land. See note on v. 7.

2:10 in return for their pride, for insulting and mocking. In reprisal, the faithful remnant will occupy Ammonite and Moabite territory.

2:11 nations ... will worship him. See 3:9 and note.

2:12 You too. Without elaboration, the prophet simply announces God's purpose against Egypt (see v. 5 and note). Cushites. See NIV text note. Egypt was ruled from 715 to 663 B.C. by a Cushite dynasty. my sword. Probably Babylon.

2:13 north. Although Nineveh was east of Judah, Assyrian armies normally invaded Canaan from the north, having first marched west along the Euphrates. Nineveh. See the books of Jonah and Nahum. Since Nineveh was destroyed in 612 B.C., Zephaniah's ministry had to be before that date. utterly desolate. Even the site of Nineveh was later forgotten—until discovered through modern excavations.

2:15 I am ... none besides me. See Isa 47:10. Assyria's boast belongs properly to God alone (see Isa 45:5–6,18,21). has become. Anticipating Nineveh's impending destruction.

3:6–8 Jerusalem's refusal to repent (see 2:1–3 and note).

3:6 I have cut off nations. The destruction of other nations was meant to serve as a warning to wanton Judah, but to no avail (see v. 7). will be. Or "is."

Haggai

Author

Haggai was a prophet who, along with Zechariah, encouraged the returned exiles to rebuild the temple (see Ezr 5:1–2; 6:14). "Haggai" means "festal," which may indicate that the prophet was born during one of the three pilgrimage feasts (Unleavened Bread, Pentecost or Weeks, and Tabernacles; cf. Dt 16:16). Based on 2:3 (see note there) Haggai may have witnessed the destruction of Solomon's temple. If so, he must have been in his early 70s during his ministry.

Background

In 538 B.C. the conqueror of Babylon, Cyrus king of Persia, issued a decree allowing the Jews to return to Jerusalem and rebuild the temple (see Ezr 1:2–4; 6:3–5). Led by Zerubbabel (but see note on Ezr 1:8, "Sheshbazzar"), about 50,000 Jews journeyed home and began work on the temple. About two years later (536) they completed the foundation amid great rejoicing (Ezr 3:8–10). Their success aroused the Samaritans and other neighbors who feared the political and religious implications of a rebuilt temple in a thriving Jewish state. They therefore opposed the project vigorously and managed to halt work until Darius the Great became king of Persia in 522 B.C. (Ezr 4:1–5,24).

Darius was interested in the religions of his empire, and Haggai and Zechariah began to preach in his second year, 520 B.C. (see 1:1; Zec 1:1). The Jews were more to blame for their inactivity than their opponents, and Haggai tried to arouse them from their lethargy. When the governor of Trans-Euphrates and other officials tried to interfere with the rebuilding efforts, Darius fully supported the Jews (Ezr 5:3–6; 6:6–12). In 516 B.C. the temple was finished and dedicated (Ezr 6:15–18).

Date

The messages of Haggai were given during a four-month period in 520 B.C., the second year of King Darius. The first message was delivered on the first day of the sixth month (Aug. 29), the last on the 24th day of the ninth month (Dec. 18). See notes on 1:1; 2:1,10; see also Introduction to Zechariah: Dates.

Themes and Teaching

Next to Obadiah, Haggai is the shortest book in the OT, but its teachings are none the less significant. Haggai clearly shows the consequences of disobedience (1:6,11; 2:16–17) and obedience (2:7–9,19). When the people give priority to God and his house, they are blessed rather than cursed. Obedience brings the encouragement and strength of the Spirit of God (2:4–5).

Ch. 2 speaks of the coming of the Messiah, called the "desired of all nations" in v. 7 (but see note there). His coming would fill the rebuilt temple with glory (see 2:9 and note). The Lord made Zerubbabel his "signet ring" as a guarantee that the Messiah would come (see 2:23 and note). These passages are linked with the judgment of the nations at Christ's second coming, when the nations will be shaken and kingdoms overthrown (see 2:6–7,21–22 and notes; cf. Heb 12:25–29).

Literary Features

Like Malachi, Haggai uses a number of questions to highlight key issues (see 1:4,9; 2:3,19). He also makes effective use of repetition: "Give careful thought" occurs in 1:5,7; 2:15,18, and "I am with you" in 1:13; 2:4. "I will shake the heavens and the earth" is found in 2:6,21. The major sections of the book are marked off by the date on which the word of the Lord came "to" (or "through") Haggai (1:1; 2:1,10,20).

Several times the prophet appears to echo other Scriptures (compare 1:6 with Dt 28:38–39 and 2:17 with Dt 28:22). The threefold use of "Be strong" in 2:4 (see note there) reflects the encouragement given in Jos 1:6–7,9,18.

A Call to Build the House of the LORD

1 In the second year of King Darius,[a] on the first day of the sixth month, the word of the LORD came through the prophet Haggai[b] to Zerubbabel[c] son of Shealtiel, governor[d] of Judah, and to Joshua[ae] son of Jehozadak,[f] the high priest:[g]

2This is what the LORD Almighty[h] says: "These people[i] say, 'The time has not yet come for the LORD's house to be built.[j]' "

3Then the word of the LORD came through the prophet Haggai:[k] 4"Is it a time for you yourselves to be living in your paneled houses,[l] while this house remains a ruin?[m]"

5Now this is what the LORD Almighty says: "Give careful thought[n] to your ways. 6You have planted much, but have harvested little.[o] You eat, but never have enough.[p] You drink, but never have your fill.[q] You put on clothes, but are not warm. You earn wages,[r] only to put them in a purse with holes in it."

7This is what the LORD Almighty says: "Give careful thought[s] to your ways. 8Go up into the mountains and bring down timber[t] and build the house, so that I may take pleasure[u] in it and be honored,[v]" says the LORD. 9"You expected much, but see, it turned out to be little.[w] What you brought home, I blew[x] away. Why?" declares the LORD Almighty. "Because of my house, which remains a ruin,[y] while each of you is busy with his own house. 10Therefore, because of you the heavens have withheld[z] their dew[a] and the earth its crops.[b] 11I called for a drought[c] on the fields and the mountains,[d] on the grain, the new wine,[e] the oil[f] and whatever the ground produces, on men and cattle, and on the labor of your hands.[g]"

12Then Zerubbabel[h] son of Shealtiel, Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and the whole remnant[i] of the people obeyed[j] the voice of the LORD their God and the message of the prophet Haggai, because the LORD their God had sent him. And the people feared[k] the LORD.

13Then Haggai,[l] the LORD's messenger,[m] gave this message of the LORD to the people: "I am with[n] you," declares the LORD. 14So the LORD stirred up[o] the spirit of Zerubbabel[p] son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua son of Jehozadak,[q] the high priest, and the spirit of the whole remnant[r] of the people. They came and began to work on the house of the LORD Almighty, their God, 15on the twenty-fourth day of the sixth month[s] in the second year of King Darius.[t]

[a] 1 A variant of Jeshua; here and elsewhere in Haggai

1:1 second year ... first day ... sixth month. Aug. 29, 520 B.C. King Darius. Darius Hystaspis (or Hystaspes) ruled Persia from 522 to 486 B.C. It was he who prepared the trilingual inscription on the Behistun (Bisitun) cliff wall (located in modern Iran), through which cuneiform languages were deciphered. first day. The New Moon was the day on which prophets were sometimes consulted (see 2Ki 4:22–23 and note on Isa 1:14). Zerubbabel. See note on Ezr 1:8, "Sheshbazzar." Shealtiel. According to 1Ch 3:17–19 he was Zerubbabel's grandfather (in Hebrew "son" sometimes means "grandson"). Joshua. Mentioned with Zerubbabel also in vv. 12,14; 2:2,4. Jehozadak. Had been taken captive by Nebuchadnezzar (1Ch 6:15).

1:2 LORD Almighty. Used more than 90 times in Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi. See note on Isa 13:4. These people. See 2:14. Because of their sin, the nation is not called "my people" (see Isa 6:9; 8:6,11–12; Jer 14:10–11; see also note on Hos 1:9). time has not yet come. After the foundation of the temple had been laid in 536 B.C. (see Ezr 3:8–10), opposition hindered and then halted the work until 520 (see Ezr 4:1–5,24).

1:4 paneled houses. Usually connected with royal dwellings, which had cedar paneling (1Ki 7:3,7; Jer 22:14).

1:6 planted much ... harvested little. A curse for disobedience (see Dt 28:38–39). Lev 26:20 also describes the unfruitfulness of a land judged by God. drink ... fill. Cf. Isa 55:1–2. The people experience futility in all their activities, legitimate or illegitimate (cf. Hos 4:10–11). purse with holes. Famine causes prices to rise sharply.

1:8 mountains ... timber. Perhaps wood from the hills around Jerusalem was to supplement the cedar wood already purchased from Lebanon (see Ezr 3:7). take pleasure in it. And in the sacrifices offered there (contrast Isa 1:11). be honored. An obedient nation would bring praise and honor to God (see Jer 13:11).

1:9 busy with. Lit. "running to."

1:10 dew. Normally abundant, and often as valuable as rain (see 2Sa 1:21; 1Ki 17:1).

1:11 mountains. The hills were cultivated, especially through terracing (see Ps 104:13–15; Isa 7:25; Joel 3:18). the grain, the new wine, the oil. The three basic crops of the land, often mentioned in a context of blessing or cursing (see Dt 7:13; 11:14; 28:51; Hos 2:8,22). Olive oil was used as food, ointment or medicine. men and cattle. The drought affected men and cattle and so could be said to be "on" them too.

1:12 remnant. See note on Isa 1:9. feared the LORD. Showing reverence, respect and obedience (see Dt 31:12–13; Mal 1:6; 3:5,16).

1:13 messenger. A title for prophets (see 2Ch 36:15; Isa 42:19 and note) or priests (see Mal 2:7). I am with you. A sure indication of success (see 2:4; Nu 14:9; Ge 26:3 and note).

1:14 stirred up the spirit. The Hebrew for this expression is translated "moved (the) heart" in Ezr 1:5, where God stirred up many of these same people to return home and rebuild the temple.

1:15 twenty-fourth day of the sixth month. Sept. 21, 520 B.C.

The Promised Glory of the New House

2 On the twenty-first day of the seventh month,[u] the word of the LORD came through the prophet Haggai:[v]
2"Speak to Zerubbabel[w] son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, to Joshua son of Jehozadak,[x] the high priest, and to the remnant[y] of the people. Ask them, 3'Who of you is left who saw this house[z] in its former glory? How does it look to you now? Does it not seem to you like nothing?[a] 4But now be strong, O Zerubbabel,' declares the LORD. 'Be strong,[b] O Joshua son of Jehozadak,[c] the high priest. Be strong, all you people of the land,' declares the LORD, 'and work. For I am with[d] you,' declares the LORD Almighty.
5'This is what I covenanted[e] with you when you came out of Egypt.[f] And my Spirit[g] remains among you. Do not fear.'[h]
6"This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'In a little while[i] I will once more shake the heavens and the earth,[j] the sea and the dry land.
7I will shake all nations, and the desired[k] of all nations will come, and I will fill this house[l] with glory,[m]' says the LORD Almighty.
8'The silver is mine and the gold[n] is mine,' declares the LORD Almighty.
9'The glory[o] of this present house[p] will be greater than the glory of the former house,' says the LORD Almighty. 'And in this place I will grant peace,[q]' declares the LORD Almighty."

Blessings for a Defiled People

10On the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month,[r] in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to the prophet Haggai:
11"This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'Ask the priests[s] what the law says:
12If a person carries consecrated meat[t] in the fold of his garment, and that fold touches some bread or stew, some wine, oil or other food, does it become consecrated?[u]' "

The priests answered, "No."

13Then Haggai said, "If a person defiled by contact with a dead body touches one of these things, does it become defiled?"

"Yes," the priests replied, "it becomes defiled.[v]"

14Then Haggai said, " 'So it is with this people[w] and this nation in my sight,' declares the LORD. 'Whatever they do and whatever they offer[x] there is defiled.

15" 'Now give careful thought[y] to this

2:1 twenty-first day of the seventh month. Oct. 17, 520 B.C., the last day of the Feast of Tabernacles. It was a time to celebrate the summer harvest (see Lev 23:34–43), though the crops were meager (see 1:11; cf. Jn 7:37). Solomon had dedicated the temple during this feast (1Ki 8:2).

2:3 is left. Some of the older exiles (perhaps including Haggai himself) had seen Solomon's magnificent temple, destroyed by the Babylonians 66 years earlier. this house in its former glory. See vv. 7,9. Zerubbabel's temple was considered a continuation of Solomon's. seem ... like nothing. Cf. the reaction when the foundation of the temple was finished (Ezr 3:12).

2:4 be strong ... work. David used these words in 1Ch 28:20 when he encouraged Solomon to build the temple. Joshua son of Nun had been exhorted with similar words (Jos 1:6–7,9,18). I am with you. See 1:13 and note; 1Ch 28:20. The same God who helped Solomon will empower Zerubbabel and the people.

2:5 my Spirit. The Holy Spirit had rested on Moses and the 70 elders as they had led the people out of Egypt and through the desert (see Nu 11:16–17,25; Isa 63:11). See also Zec 4:6 and note. Do not fear. See notes on v. 4; Jos 1:18; Isa 41:10.

2:6 An announcement of the coming day of God's judgment on the nations—which the fall of Persia to Alexander the Great (333–330 B.C.) would foreshadow. Heb 12:26–27 relates this verse to the judgment of the nations at the second coming of Christ. The background for the shaking of the nations here and in vv. 21–22 is the judgment on Egypt at the Red Sea. Cf. also Isa 14:16–17.

2:7 desired ... will come. "Desired" can refer to individuals, as in 1Sa 9:20; Da 9:23 (where the same Hebrew verb is translated "highly esteemed"); 11:37. Thus it may have Messianic significance (cf. Mal 3:1). The same Hebrew word can also refer to articles of value, however (see 2Ch 20:25; 32:27)—such as the contribution of King Darius to the temple (Ezr 6:8). If that is the intent here, the bringing of the "riches of the nations" to Zion in Isa 60:5 is a close parallel (see note there). fill ... with glory. "Glory" can refer to material splendor (see Isa 60:7,13 and notes) or to the presence of God (Ex 40:34–35; 1Ki 8:10–11). The latter references connect the glory of the Lord with the cloud that filled the sanctuary. When Christ came to the earthly temple, God's presence was evident as never before (see Lk 2:27,32).

2:8 silver ... gold. God provided for Solomon's temple (1Ch 29:2,7) and for Zerubbabel's (Ezr 6:5).

2:9 glory ... greater. Ultimately because the Messiah would be present there (see v. 7 and note). this place. Probably Jerusalem (see Isa 60:17 and note). I will grant peace. Probably an allusion to the priestly benediction (see Nu 6:26).

2:10 twenty-fourth day ... ninth month. Dec. 18, 520 B.C.—when winter crops were planted.

2:11 priests. They were consulted about the precise meaning of the law (see Jer 18:18; Mal 2:7–9).

2:12 consecrated meat. Meat from an animal set apart for a sacrifice. does it become consecrated? A question about transmitting holiness. Consecrated meat made the garment "holy" because it was in direct contact with that garment (see Lev 6:27), but the garment could not pass on that holiness to a third object. Cf. Eze 46:20.

2:13 does it become defiled? Ceremonial uncleanness is transmitted much more easily than holiness. Anything touched by an unclean person becomes unclean (see Nu 19:11–13,22).

2:14 this people. See 1:2 and note. Whatever they do ... is defiled. Even though the people were back in the holy land, that holiness did not make them pure. They needed to obey the Lord, particularly with regard to rebuilding the temple. See notes on vv. 12–13.

2:15 before one stone was laid. Before the 24th day of from this day on[b]—consider how things were before one stone was laid[z] on another in the LORD's temple.[a] 16When anyone came to a heap[b] of twenty measures, there were only ten. When anyone went to a wine vat[c] to draw fifty measures, there were only twenty.[d] 17I struck all the work of your hands[e] with blight,[f] mildew and hail,[g] yet you did not turn[h] to me,' declares the LORD.[i] 18'From this day on, from this twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, give careful thought[j] to the day when the foundation[k] of the LORD's temple was laid. Give careful thought: 19Is there yet any seed left in the barn? Until now, the vine and the fig tree, the pomegranate[l] and the olive tree have not borne fruit.[m]

" 'From this day on I will bless[n] you.' "

Zerubbabel the LORD's Signet Ring

20The word of the LORD came to Haggai[o] a second time on the twenty-fourth day of the month:[p] 21"Tell Zerubbabel[q] governor of Judah that I will shake[r] the heavens and the earth. 22I will overturn[s] royal thrones and shatter the power of the foreign kingdoms.[t] I will overthrow chariots[u] and their drivers; horses and their riders[v] will fall, each by the sword of his brother.[w]

23" 'On that day,[x]' declares the LORD Almighty, 'I will take you, my servant[y] Zerubbabel[z] son of Shealtiel,' declares the LORD, 'and I will make you like my signet ring,[a] for I have chosen you,' declares the LORD Almighty."

2:16 heap. Probably of grain (see Jer 50:26). only ten ... only twenty. The poor harvests were related to the sin of the people. See 1:11; Isa 5:10 and note. wine vat. A trough into which grape juice flowed. See note on Isa 16:10.

2:17 blight, mildew. Mentioned as a curse for disobedience in Dt 28:22. See also 1Ki 8:37; Am 4:9. The blight was probably caused by a scorching east wind (see Ge 41:6 and note). hail. Sent to destroy the fields and livestock of Egypt (see Ex 9:25; Ps 78:47–48). you did not turn. See Am 4:9.

2:18 when the foundation ... was laid. The same potential for blessing existed at the time when the foundation of the temple was laid in 536 B.C. (Ezr 3:11). This is a warning not to fail again.

2:19 vine ... fig tree ... pomegranate ... olive tree. Grapes, figs and pomegranates ripened in August and September, and olives from September to November. These harvests, like the earlier grain crops, had produced little. See 1:11 and note. I will bless you. Because of their response to Haggai's message, future abundance is assured. Cf. Mal 3:10.

2:20 See note on v. 10.

2:21 shake ... the earth. See v. 6 and note.

2:22 overturn ... overthrow. The Hebrew for these words is used with reference to Sodom and Gomorrah (see Ge 19:25; Am 4:11). chariots ... horses ... riders. Cf. the destruction of Pharaoh's army at the Red Sea (Ex 15:1,4,19,21). each by ... his brother. The plight of the armies of Midian (Jdg 7:22), Gog (Eze 38:21) and the nations fighting against Jerusalem in the last days (Zec 14:13).

2:23 On that day. The day of the Lord. See Isa 2:11,17,20; 10:20,27; Zec 2:11 and notes. my servant. A term applied to prophets (see Isa 20:3 and note), political leaders (Isa 22:20) and the Messiah (see Isa 41:8–9; 42:1 and notes). signet ring. A kind of seal that functioned as a signature (see Est 8:8) and was worn on one's finger (Est 3:10). Like other seals (cf. Ge 38:18) it could be used as a pledge or guarantee of full payment. Its mention here probably reverses the curse placed on King Jehoiachin in Jer 22:24 (cf. Jdg 17:2). Zerubbabel would then be a guarantee that someday the Messiah descended from David will come (cf. Mt 1:1,12). In 2Co 1:22 the Holy Spirit is the seal guaranteeing the believer's future inheritance (cf. Eph 1:13–14). chosen you. See Isa 41:8–9; 42:1 and notes.

Zechariah

Background

Zechariah's prophetic ministry took place in the postexilic period, the time of the Jewish restoration from Babylonian captivity. For historical details see Introduction to Haggai: Background.

Author and Unity

Like Jeremiah (1:1) and Ezekiel (1:3), Zechariah was not only a prophet (1:1) but also a priest. He was born in Babylonia and was among those who returned to Judah in 538 B.C. under the leadership of Zerubbabel and Joshua (his grandfather Iddo is named among the returnees in Ne 12:4). At a later time, when Joiakim was high priest, Zechariah apparently succeeded Iddo (1:1,7) as head of that priestly family (Ne 12:10–16). Since the grandson succeeded the grandfather, it has been suggested that the father (Berekiah, 1:1,7) died at an early age.

Zechariah was a contemporary of Haggai (Ezr 5:1; 6:14) but continued his ministry long after him (compare 1:1 and 7:1 with Hag 1:1; see also Ne 12:1–16). His young age (see 2:4) in the early period of his ministry makes it possible that he ministered even into the reign of Artaxerxes I (465–424 B.C.).

Most likely Zechariah wrote the entire book that bears his name. Some have questioned his authorship of chs. 9—14—citing differences in style and other compositional features, and giving historical and chronological references that allegedly require a different date and author from those of chs. 1—8. All these objections, however, can be explained in other satisfactory ways, so there is no compelling reason to question the unity of the book.

Dates

The dates of Zechariah's recorded messages are best correlated with those of Haggai and with other historical events as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| 1. Haggai's first message (Hag 1:1–11; Ezr 5:1) | Aug. 29, 520 B.C. |
| 2. Resumption of the building of the temple (Hag 1:12–15; Ezr 5:2) (The rebuilding seems to have been hindered from 536 to c. 530 [Ezr 4:1–5], and the work ceased altogether from c. 530 to 520 [Ezr 4:24].) | Sept. 21, 520 |
| 3. Haggai's second message (Hag 2:1–9) | Oct. 17, 520 |
| 4. Beginning of Zechariah's preaching (1:1–6) | Oct./Nov., 520 |
| 5. Haggai's third message (Hag 2:10–19) | Dec. 18, 520 |
| 6. Haggai's fourth message (Hag 2:20–23) | Dec. 18, 520 |
| 7. Tattenai's letter to Darius concerning the rebuilding of the temple (Ezr 5:3—6:14) (There must have been a lapse of time between the resumption of the building and Tattenai's appearance.) | 519–518 |
| 8. Zechariah's eight night visions (chs. 1:7—6:8) | Feb. 15, 519 |
| 9. Joshua crowned (chs. 6:9—15) | Feb. 16 (?), 519 |

|---|---|
| 10. Repentance urged, blessings promised (chs. 7—8) | Dec. 7, 518 |
| 11. Dedication of the temple (Ezr 6:15–18) | Mar. 12, 516 |
| 12. Zechariah's final prophecy (chs. 9—14) | After 480 (?) |

Occasion and Purpose

The occasion is the same as that of the book of Haggai (see Background; Dates). The chief purpose of Zechariah (and Haggai) was to rebuke the people of Judah and to encourage and motivate them to complete the rebuilding of the temple (Zec 4:8–10; Hag 1—2), though both prophets were clearly interested in spiritual renewal as well. In addition, the purpose of the eight night visions (1:7—6:8) is explained in 1:3,5–6: The Lord said that if Judah would return to him, he would return to them. Furthermore, his word would continue to be fulfilled.

Theological Teaching

The theological teaching of the book is related to its Messianic as well as its apocalyptic and eschatological motifs. Regarding the Messianic emphasis, Zechariah foretold Christ's coming in lowliness (6:12), his humanity (6:12; 13:7), his rejection and betrayal for 30 pieces of silver (11:12–13), his crucifixion (struck by the "sword" of the Lord; 13:7), his priesthood (6:13), his kingship (6:13; 9:9; 14:9,16), his coming in glory (14:4), his building of the Lord's temple (6:12–13), his reign (9:10; 14) and his establishment of enduring peace and prosperity (3:10; 9:9–10). These Messianic passages give added significance to Jesus' words in Lk 24:25–27,44.

Concerning the apocalyptic and eschatological emphasis, Zechariah foretold the siege of Jerusalem (12:1–3; 14:1–2), the initial victory of Judah's enemies (14:2), the Lord's defense of Jerusalem (14:3–4), the judgment on the nations (12:9; 14:3), the topographical changes in Judah (14:4–5), the celebration of the Feast of Tabernacles in the Messianic kingdom age (14:16–19) and the ultimate holiness of Jerusalem and her people (14:20–21).

There is also theological significance in the prophet's name, which means "The LORD (Yahweh) remembers." "The LORD" is the personal, covenant name of God and is a perpetual testimony to his faithfulness to his promises (see note on Ex 3:14). He "remembers" his covenant promises and takes action to fulfill them. In the book of Zechariah God's promised deliverance from Babylonian exile, including a restored kingdom community and a functioning temple (the earthly throne of the divine King), leads into even grander pictures of the salvation and restoration to come through the Messiah.

Finally, the book as a whole teaches the sovereignty of God in history, over people and nations—past, present and future.

Literary Form and Themes

The book is primarily a mixture of exhortation (call to repentance, 1:2–6), prophetic visions (1:7—6:8) and judgment and salvation oracles (chs. 9—14). The prophetic visions of 1:7—6:8 are called apocalyptic (revelatory) literature, which is essentially a literature of encouragement to God's people. When the apocalyptic section is read along with the salvation (or deliverance) oracles in chs. 9—14, it becomes obvious that the dominant emphasis of the book is encouragement because of the glorious future that awaits the people of God.

In fact, encouragement is the book's central theme—primarily encouragement to complete the rebuilding of the temple. Various means are used to accomplish this end, and these function as subthemes. For example, great stress is laid on the coming of the Messiah and the overthrow of all anti-kingdom forces by him so that God's rule can be finally and fully established on earth. The then-current local scene thus becomes the basis for contemplating the universal, eschatological picture.

A Call to Return to the LORD

1 In the eighth month of the second year of Darius,[a] the word of the LORD came to the prophet Zechariah[b] son of Berekiah,[c] the son of Iddo:[d]

2"The LORD was very angry[e] with your forefathers. 3Therefore tell the people: This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'Return[f] to me,' declares the LORD Almighty, 'and I will return to you,'[g] says the LORD Almighty. 4Do not be like your forefathers,[h] to whom the earlier prophets[i] proclaimed: This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'Turn from your evil ways[j] and your evil practices.' But they would not listen or pay attention to me,[k] declares the LORD.[l] 5Where are your forefathers now? And the prophets, do they live forever? 6But did not my words[m] and my decrees, which I commanded my servants the prophets, overtake your forefathers?[n]

"Then they repented and said, 'The LORD Almighty has done to us what our ways and practices deserve,[o] just as he determined to do.' "[p]

The Man Among the Myrtle Trees

7On the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month, the month of Shebat, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to the prophet Zechariah son of Berekiah, the son of Iddo.[q]

8During the night I had a vision—and there before me was a man riding a red[r] horse! He was standing among the myrtle trees in a ravine. Behind him were red, brown and white horses.[s]

9I asked, "What are these, my lord?"

The angel[t] who was talking with me answered, "I will show you what they are."[u]

10Then the man standing among the myrtle trees explained, "They are the ones the LORD has sent to go throughout the earth."[v]

11And they reported to the angel of the LORD,[w] who was standing among the myrtle trees, "We have gone throughout the earth and found the whole world at rest and in peace."[x]

12Then the angel of the LORD said, "LORD Almighty, how long[y] will you withhold mercy[z] from Jerusalem and from the towns of Judah,[a] which you have been angry with these seventy[b] years?" 13So the LORD spoke[c] kind and comforting words[d] to the angel who talked with me.[e]

14Then the angel who was speaking to me said, "Proclaim this word: This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'I am very jealous[f] for Jerusalem and Zion, 15but I am very angry with the nations that feel secure.[g] I was only a little angry,[h] but they added to the calamity.'[i]

1:1 eighth month of the second year. October-November, 520 B.C. Haggai also began his prophetic ministry in Darius's second year, on the first day of the sixth month, i.e., on Aug. 29, 520 (Hag 1:1). the word of the LORD. A technical phrase for the prophetic word of revelation (see 9:1; 12:1; Jer 1:2; Eze 1:3; Hos 1:1; Joel 1:1; Jnh 1:1; 3:1; Mic 1:1; Zep 1:1; Hag 1:1; Mal 1:1). See also note on 6:9. prophet. One called by God to be his spokesman (see note on Ex 7:1–2). Iddo. See v. 7; Ezr 5:1; 6:14; Ne 12:4,16; see also Introduction: Author.

1:2 very angry with your forefathers. The Lord was angry because of the covenant-breaking sins of the Jews' preexilic forefathers, resulting in the destruction of Jerusalem and the temple in 586 B.C., followed by exile to Babylonia. God's anger should not be explained away, for to deny that God has genuine emotions is to deprive him of one of the clear marks of personality.

1:3 Return to me . . . and I will return to you. Cf. 7:13. If the people of Zechariah's day would change their course and go in the opposite direction from that of their forefathers (v. 4), the Lord would return to them with blessing instead of with a curse (see v. 16; see also Jer 18:7–10).

1:4 earlier prophets. Such as Isaiah (see Isa 45:22), Jeremiah (see Jer 18:11) and Ezekiel (see Eze 33:11). See also 7:7,12; Jer 25:4–5; 35:15.

1:5 do they live forever? No, but God's words through them live on to be fulfilled (see v. 6).

1:6 did not my words . . . overtake your forefathers? Cf. Isa 40:6–8; 55:10–11. For the imagery of "overtake" see Dt 28:2 ("accompany" is lit. "overtake"),15,45. my servants the prophets. See 2Ki 9:7; 17:13,23; 21:10; 24:2; Ezr 9:11; Jer 7:25 and note; 25:4; Eze 38:17; Da 9:6,10; Am 3:7. they repented. Apparently a reference to what happened to some of the preexilic forefathers and/or their offspring during the exile and immediately afterward (cf. Ezr 9; 10:1–17; Da 9:1–19).

1:7–17 The first vision. Although God's covenant people are troubled while the oppressing nations are at ease, God is jealous (see note on Ex 20:5) for his people and will restore them and their towns and the temple. The imagery of the first vision is reflected in that of the eighth and final vision (6:1–8).

1:7 twenty-fourth day of . . . Shebat. Feb. 15, 519 B.C., about three months after the date of v. 1.

1:8 During the night. Zechariah had all eight visions (1:7–6:8) in one night. vision. Not a dream (see 4:1).The visions were given to Zechariah while he was fully awake. man riding. The angel of the Lord (v. 11). He must not be confused with the interpreting angel, who is mentioned in vv. 9,13–14,19; 2:3; 4:1,4–5; 5:5,10; 6:4–5. horses. Perhaps angelic messengers (v. 10).

1:11 angel of the LORD. See note on Ge 16:7. at rest. Cf. 6:8. While the Persian empire as a whole was secure and at ease by this time (v. 15), the Jews in Judah were oppressed and still under foreign domination (v. 12).

1:12 seventy years. See 7:5 and note; Jer 25:11–12 and note; 29:10; cf. 2Ch 36:21; Ezr 1:1; Da 9:2.

1:13 comforting words. Those of vv. 14–17.

1:14 jealous. See 8:2. Through the use of such language the Lord's love for Judah is shown (see note on Ex 20:5; cf. Jas 4:4). The key idea is that of God vindicating Judah for the violations against her (v. 15).

1:15 added to the calamity. God was angry with Israel and used the Assyrians (Isa 10:5) and Babylonians (Isa 47:6; Jer 25:9) to punish her, but they went too far by trying to destroy the Jews as a people.

16"Therefore, this is what the LORD says: 'I will return[j] to Jerusalem with mercy, and there my house will be rebuilt. And the measuring line[k] will be stretched out over Jerusalem,' declares the LORD Almighty.[l]

17"Proclaim further: This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'My towns will again overflow with prosperity, and the LORD will again comfort[m] Zion and choose[n] Jerusalem.' "[o]

Four Horns and Four Craftsmen

18Then I looked up—and there before me were four horns! 19I asked the angel who was speaking to me, "What are these?"

He answered me, "These are the horns[p] that scattered Judah, Israel and Jerusalem."

20Then the LORD showed me four craftsmen. 21I asked, "What are these coming to do?"

He answered, "These are the horns that scattered Judah so that no one could raise his head, but the craftsmen have come to terrify them and throw down these horns of the nations who lifted up their horns[q] against the land of Judah to scatter its people."[r]

A Man With a Measuring Line

2 Then I looked up—and there before me was a man with a measuring line in his hand! 2I asked, "Where are you going?"

He answered me, "To measure Jerusalem, to find out how wide and how long it is."[s]

3Then the angel who was speaking to me left, and another angel came to meet him 4and said to him: "Run, tell that young man, 'Jerusalem will be a city without walls[t] because of the great number[u] of men and livestock in it.[v] 5And I myself will be a wall[w] of fire[x] around it,' declares the LORD, 'and I will be its glory[y] within.'[z a]

6"Come! Come! Flee from the land of the north," declares the LORD, "for I have scattered[b] you to the four winds of heaven,"[c] declares the LORD.[d]

7"Come, O Zion! Escape,[e] you who live in the Daughter of Babylon!"[f] 8For this is what the LORD Almighty says: "After he has honored me and has sent me against the nations that have plundered you—for whoever touches you touches the apple of his eye[g]— 9I will surely raise my hand against them so that their slaves will plunder them.[a h] Then you will know that the LORD Almighty has sent me.[i]

10"Shout[j] and be glad, O Daughter of Zion.[k] For I am coming,[l] and I will live among you,"[m] declares the LORD.[n] 11"Many nations will be joined with the LORD in that day and will become my people.[o] I will live among you and you will know that the LORD Almighty has sent me to you.[p] 12The LORD will inherit[q] Judah[r] as his portion in the holy land and will again choose[s] Jerusalem. 13Be still[t] before the LORD, all mankind, because he has roused himself from his holy dwelling.[u]"

1:16 I will return. See note on v. 3. mercy. Or "motherly compassion" (also in v. 12). my house will be rebuilt. See Ezr 6:14–16. measuring line. A symbol of restoration (cf. Jer 31:38–40).

1:17 choose Jerusalem. See 2:12; 3:2.

1:18–21 The second vision. The nations that devastated Israel (v. 19) will in turn be destroyed by other nations.

1:18 four. If the number is to be taken literally, the reference is probably to Assyria, Egypt, Babylonia and Medo-Persia. horns. Symbolic of strength in general (Ps 18:2), or the strength of a country, i.e., its king (Ps 89:17; Da 7:7–8; 8:20–21; Rev 17:12), or, as here (see v. 21), the power of a nation in general.

1:20 four craftsmen. If the number is to be understood literally, probably the reference is to Egypt, Babylonia, Persia and Greece. What is clear is that all Judah's enemies will ultimately be defeated (v. 21).

2:1–13 The third vision. There will be full restoration and blessing for the covenant people, temple and city.

2:1 measuring line. See note on 1:16.

2:4 young man. Evidently Zechariah. without walls. The city's population will overflow to the point that it will be as though it had no walls (see 10:8,10; see also note on Isa 49:19–20).

2:5 wall of fire. Here symbolic of divine protection (see Ex 13:21 and note; Isa 4:5–6 and note). glory. See Ex 40:34.

2:6 land of the north. Babylon (v. 7) invaded Judah from the north (Jer 1:14; 4:6; 6:1,22; 10:22). to the four winds. In all directions. The exiles would return from north, south, east and west (Isa 43:5–6; 49:12).

2:7 Zion. Jerusalem's exiles in Babylon. Escape . . . Babylon. Cf. Rev 18:4–8.

2:8 apple of his eye. See note on Dt 32:10.

2:9 hand. Power.

2:10 See 9:9. I will live among you. See v. 11; 8:3; Lev 26:11–12; Eze 37:27; Jn 1:14; 2 Co 6:16; Rev 21:3.

2:11 Many nations. In fulfillment of the promise to Abraham (Ge 12:3; cf. Zec. 8:20–23; Ge 18:18; 22:18; Isa 2:2–4; 60:3). that day. The day of the Lord (see 3:10; see also note on Isa 2:11,17,20).

2:12 holy land. This designation occurs only here in Scripture. The land was rendered holy chiefly because it was the site of the earthly throne and sanctuary of the holy King, who dwelt there among his covenant people. See note on Ex 3:5. choose Jerusalem. See 1:17; 3:2.

2:13 Be still before the LORD. See Hab 2:20; Zep 1:7. roused himself. To judge (cf. v. 9).

Clean Garments for the High Priest

3 Then he showed me Joshua[bv] the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, and Satan[cw] standing at his right side to accuse him. 2The LORD said to Satan, "The LORD rebuke you,[x] Satan! The LORD, who has chosen[y] Jerusalem, rebuke you! Is not this man a burning stick[z] snatched from the fire?"[a]

3Now Joshua was dressed in filthy clothes as he stood before the angel. 4The angel said to those who were standing before him, "Take off his filthy clothes."

Then he said to Joshua, "See, I have taken away your sin,[b] and I will put rich garments[c] on you."

5Then I said, "Put a clean turban[d] on his head." So they put a clean turban on his head and clothed him, while the angel of the LORD stood by.

6The angel of the LORD gave this charge to Joshua: 7"This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'If you will walk in my ways and keep my requirements,[e] then you will govern my house[f] and have charge[g] of my courts, and I will give you a place among these standing here.[h]

[b] 1 A variant of Jeshua; here and elsewhere in Zechariah
[c] 1 Satan means accuser. [d] 9 Or facets

3:1–10 The fourth vision. Israel will be cleansed and restored as a priestly nation (see Ex 19:6 and note).

3:1 Joshua. The same person's name is spelled "Jeshua" in Ezra and Nehemiah (see NIV text note; Ezr 2:2; Ne 7:7; see also NIV text note on Hag 1:1). Here he represents the sinful nation of Israel (see vv. 8–9). The names "Joshua" and "Jeshua" were common in ancient times. The Greek equivalent is spelled "Jesus" in English, and all three forms of the name mean "The LORD saves" (see NIV text note on Mt 1:21). standing before. Ministering before—as priest (see Dt 10:8; 2Ch 29:11; Eze 44:15). angel of the LORD. See 1:11; see also note on Ge 16:7. Satan. See NIV text note; cf. Job 1:6–12; 2:1–7; Rev 12:10. right side. See Ps 109:6. accuse. The Hebrew for this word has the same root as the Hebrew for "Satan."

3:2 rebuke ... rebuke. Repeated for emphasis (see 4:7; see also note on Isa 40:1). chosen Jerusalem. See 1:17; 2:12. burning stick snatched from the fire. The Jews were retrieved from the fire of Babylonian exile to carry out God's future purpose for them (see Am 4:11; see also Zec 13:8–9; Dt 4:20 and note; 7:7–8; 1Ki 8:51; Isa 48:10; Jer 11:4; 30:7; Rev 12:13–16).

3:4 those who were standing before him. Probably angels (see also v. 7). Take off his filthy clothes. Thus depriving him of his priestly office. The act is here symbolic also of the removal of sin (see note on v. 9).

3:5 Put a clean turban on his head. Thus reinstating him into his high-priestly function so that Israel once again has a divinely authorized priestly mediator. On the front of the turban were the words: "HOLY TO THE LORD" (Ex 28:36; 39:30; cf. 14:20).

3:7 If Joshua and his priestly associates are faithful, they will be co-workers with the angels in the carrying out of God's purposes for Zion and Israel. these standing here. See note on v. 4.

3:8 associates. Fellow priests. my servant. See notes on Ex 14:31; Ps 18 title; Isa 41:8–9; 42:1–4; 42:1; Ro 1:1. Branch. A Messianic title (see 6:12; Isa 4:2 and note; 11:1; Jer 23:5; 33:15).

3:9 stone. Probably another figure of the Messiah (cf. Ps 118:22–23; Isa 8:13–15; 28:16 and note; Da 2:35,45; Mt 21:42; Eph 2:19–22; 1Pe 2:6–8). seven eyes. Perhaps symbolic of infinite intelligence (omniscience). See note on 4:10. I will remove the sin of this land. The symbolic act of v. 4 is now explained. "Land" stands for the people of Israel. For the cleansing spoken of here see also 12:10–13:1. in a single day. Ultimately Good Friday, though some believe that the reference also includes Christ's second coming.

3:10 that day. The day of the Lord (see 2:11; see also note on Isa 2:11,17,20). sit under his vine and fig tree. A proverbial picture of peace, security and contentment (see 2Ki 18:31; Mic 4:4 and note).

4:1–14 The fifth vision. The Jews are encouraged to rebuild the temple by being reminded of their divine resources. The light from the lampstand in the tabernacle/temple represents the reflection of God's glory in the consecration and the holy service of God's people (see note on Ex 25:31)—made possible only by the power of God's Spirit (see v. 6; the oil, v. 12). This enabling power will equip and sustain Zerubbabel in the rebuilding of the temple (vv. 6–10). And in the performance of their offices, Zerubbabel and Joshua (as representatives of the royal and priestly mediatorial offices) will channel the Spirit's enablement to God's people (vv. 11–14).

4:1 wakened me. On the same night (see note on 1:8).

4:2 What do you see? See 5:2; see also Jer 1:11 and note. The vision here was probably of seven lamps arranged around a large bowl that served as a bountiful reservoir of oil. The "seven channels to the lights" conveyed the oil from the bowl to the lamps. But the text is also open to a different interpretation, namely, that the "channels" are "lips" or "spouts" that hold the wicks of these oil lamps, and that each of these lamps had seven of them (thus a total of 49 flames). In any event, the bowl represents an abundant supply of oil, symbolizing the fullness of God's power through his Spirit, and the "seven ... seven" represents the abundant light shining from the lamps (seven being the number of fullness or completeness).

lights. 3Also there are two olive trees[w] by it, one on the right of the bowl and the other on its left."

4I asked the angel who talked with me, "What are these, my lord?"

5He answered, "Do you not know what these are?"

"No, my lord," I replied.[x]

6So he said to me, "This is the word of the LORD to Zerubbabel:[y] 'Not[z] by might nor by power,[a] but by my Spirit,'[b] says the LORD Almighty.

7"What[c] are you, O mighty mountain? Before Zerubbabel you will become level ground.[c] Then he will bring out the capstone[d] to shouts[e] of 'God bless it! God bless it!' "

8Then the word of the LORD came to me: 9"The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundation[f] of this temple; his hands will also complete it.[g] Then you will know that the LORD Almighty has sent me[h] to you.

10"Who despises the day[i] of small things?[j] Men will rejoice when they see the plumb line in the hand of Zerubbabel.[k]

"(These seven are the eyes[l] of the LORD, which range throughout the earth.)"

11Then I asked the angel, "What are these two olive trees[m] on the right and the left of the lampstand?"

12Again I asked him, "What are these two olive branches beside the two gold pipes that pour out golden oil?"

13He replied, "Do you not know what these are?"

"No, my lord," I said.

14So he said, "These are the two who are anointed[n] to[f] serve the Lord of all the earth."

The Flying Scroll

5 I looked again—and there before me was a flying scroll![o]

2He asked me, "What do you see?"[p]

I answered, "I see a flying scroll, thirty feet long and fifteen feet wide.[g]"

3And he said to me, "This is the curse[q] that is going out over the whole land; for according to what it says on one side, every thief[r] will be banished, and according to what it says on the other, everyone who swears falsely[s] will be banished. 4The LORD Almighty declares,

[e] 7 Or Who [f] 14 Or two who bring oil and
[g] 2 Hebrew twenty cubits long and ten cubits wide (about 9 meters long and 4.5 meters wide)

4:3 two olive trees. Cf. Rev 11:4. The two olive trees stand for the priestly and royal offices and symbolize a continuing supply of oil. The two olive branches (v. 12) stand for Joshua the priest (ch. 3) and Zerubbabel from the royal house of David (ch. 4; cf. v. 14). These two leaders were to do God's work (e.g., on the temple and in the lives of the people) in the power of his Spirit (v. 6). The combination of the priestly and royal lines and their functions points ultimately to the Messianic King-Priest and his offices and functions (cf. 6:13).

4:4 these. The two olive trees of v. 3, as v. 11 makes clear. The answer to the question is postponed until v. 14.

4:6 Not by might nor by power. Even though Zerubbabel does not possess the royal might and power that David and Solomon had enjoyed. by my Spirit. Interprets the symbolism of the oil (v. 12). The angel encouraged Zerubbabel to complete the rebuilding of the temple (vv. 7–10) and assured him of the Spirit's enablement.

4:7 mountain . . . level ground. Faith in the power of God's Spirit can overcome mountainous obstacles. The figurative mountain probably included opposition (Ezr 4:1–5,24) and the people's unwillingness to persevere (Hag 1:14; 2:1–5). Cf. the same or similar imagery in Isa 40:4; 41:15; 49:11; Mt 17:20; 21:21; Mk 11:23; 1Co 13:2; 2Co 10:4. capstone. The final stone to be put in place (see Ps 118:22), marking the completion of the restoration temple by Zerubbabel (see v. 9). God bless it! God bless it! Repeated for emphasis (see 3:2; see also note on Isa 40:1).

4:8 See note on 6:9.

4:9 laid the foundation. In 537–536 B.C. (Ezr 3:8–11; 5:16). complete it. In 516 (Ezr 6:14–16).

4:10 day of small things. Some thought the work on the temple was insignificant (Ezr 3:12; Hag 2:3), but God was in the rebuilding program and, by his Spirit (v. 6), would enable Zerubbabel to finish it. plumb line. The meaning of the Hebrew for this phrase is uncertain. If "plumb line" is correct, the text states that the people would rejoice when they saw this implement in Zerubbabel's hand to complete the task. But the Hebrew for these words may also be rendered "separated (i.e., chosen) stone," referring to the capstone of v. 7. seven . . . eyes. See note on 3:9. God oversees the whole earth and is therefore in control of the situation in Judah.

4:14 The meaning of the vision is now explained. two . . . anointed. Zerubbabel from the royal line of David and Joshua the priest. The oil (v. 12) used in anointing symbolizes the Holy Spirit (v. 6). The combination of ruler and priest points ultimately to the Messianic King-Priest (cf. 6:13; Ps 110; Heb 7). Lord of all the earth. The master of the circumstances in which Zerubbabel and the people found themselves.

5:1–4 The sixth vision. Lawbreakers are condemned by the law they have broken; sinners will be purged from the land.

5:1 flying. Unrolled and waving like a banner, for all to read. scroll. See note on Ex 17:14.

5:2 What do you see? See 4:2; see also Jer 1:11 and note. thirty . . . fifteen. Unusually large (especially in its width), for all to see. Such a bold, clear message of judgment against sin should spur the people on to repentance and righteousness.

5:3 curse. See Dt 27:26 and note. on one side . . . on the other. Like the two tablets of the law (Ex 32:15), the scroll is inscribed on both sides (cf. Eze 2:9–10; Rev 5:1). thief. He breaks the eighth commandment (Ex 20:15). everyone who swears falsely. See 8:17. Such a person violates the third commandment (compare v. 4 with Ex 20:7). Although theft and perjury may have been the most common forms of lawbreaking at the time, they are probably intended as representative sins. The people of Judah had been guilty of infractions against the whole law (cf. Jas 2:10).

5:4 it will enter . . . and destroy. "It" refers to the curse (v. 3). God's word, whether promise (ch. 4) or

'I will send it out, and it will enter the house of the thief and the house of him who swears falsely[t] by my name. It will remain in his house and destroy it, both its timbers and its stones.[u]' "

The Woman in a Basket

5Then the angel who was speaking to me came forward and said to me, "Look up and see what this is that is appearing."

6I asked, "What is it?"

He replied, "It is a measuring basket.[hv]" And he added, "This is the iniquity[i] of the people throughout the land."

7Then the cover of lead was raised, and there in the basket sat a woman! 8He said, "This is wickedness," and he pushed her back into the basket and pushed the lead cover down over its mouth.[w]

9Then I looked up—and there before me were two women, with the wind in their wings! They had wings like those of a stork,[x] and they lifted up the basket between heaven and earth.

10"Where are they taking the basket?" I asked the angel who was speaking to me.

11He replied, "To the country of Babylonia[jy] to build a house[z] for it. When it is ready, the basket will be set there in its place."[a]

Four Chariots

6 I looked up again—and there before me were four chariots[b] coming out from between two mountains—mountains of bronze! 2The first chariot had red horses, the second black,[c] 3the third white,[d] and the fourth dappled—all of them powerful. 4I asked the angel who was speaking to me, "What are these, my lord?"

5The angel answered me, "These are the four spirits[ke] of heaven, going out from standing in the presence of the Lord of the whole world.[f] 6The one with the black horses is going toward the north country, the one with the white horses toward the west,[l] and the one with the dappled horses toward the south."

7When the powerful horses went out, they were straining to go throughout the earth.[g] And he said, "Go throughout the earth!" So they went throughout the earth.

8Then he called to me, "Look, those going toward the north country have given my Spirit[m] rest[h] in the land of the north."[i] warning (as here), always accomplishes its purpose (cf. Ps 147:15; Isa 55:10–11; Heb 4:12–13).

5:5–11 The seventh vision. Not only must flagrant, persistent sinners be removed from the land (vv. 1–4), but the whole sinful system will be removed—apparently to a more fitting place (Babylonia).

5:6 measuring basket. See NIV text note. A normal ephah-sized container would not be large enough to hold a person. This one was undoubtedly enlarged (like the flying scroll of vv. 1–2) for the purpose of the vision. iniquity. See v. 8 ("wickedness").

5:7 woman. Perhaps the reason the people's wickedness was personified as a woman (cf. also Rev 17:3–6) is that the Hebrew word for "wickedness" (v. 8) is feminine in gender.

5:8 wickedness. A general word denoting moral, religious and civil evil—frequently used as an antonym of righteousness (e.g., Pr 13:6; Eze 33:12). The whole evil system was to be destroyed (cf. 2Th 2:6–8).

5:9 two women. Divinely chosen agents. wind. Also an instrument of God (Ps 104:3–4). The removal of wickedness would be the work of God alone.

5:11 Babylonia. See Ge 10:10 and NIV text note; 11:2 and NIV text note; Rev 17–18. Babylonia, a land of idolatry, was an appropriate locale for wickedness—but not Israel, where God chose to dwell with his people. Only after purging it of its evil would the promised land truly be the "holy land" (2:12).

6:1–8 The eighth and last vision. It corresponds to the first (1:7–17), though there are differences in details, such as in the order and colors of the horses. As in the first vision, the Lord is depicted as the one who controls the events of history. He will conquer the nations that oppress Israel.

6:1 four chariots. Angelic spirits as agents of divine judgment (v. 5). two mountains. Possibly Mount Zion and the Mount of Olives, with the Kidron Valley between them. bronze. Perhaps symbolic of judgment (cf. Nu 21:9).

6:2–3 red ... black ... white ... dappled. The horses may signify various divine judgments on the earth (see note on v. 8). See also Rev 6:1–8 and note on Rev 6:2.

6:4 these. The chariots, with the horses harnessed to them.

6:5 four spirits. See note on v. 1. Lord of the whole world. See note on 4:14.

6:8 north country. Primarily Babylonia, but also the direction from which most of the Israelites' foes invaded their nation (see note on 2:6). my Spirit. If the alternative translation in the NIV text note ("spirit") is taken, the meaning is that the angelic beings dispatched to the north have triumphed and thus have pacified or appeased God's spirit (i.e., his anger; cf. Ecc 10:4, where the same Hebrew word is translated "anger"). See 1:15, where God's displeasure was aroused against oppressive nations. In either case, since conquest was announced in the north, victory was assured over all enemies.

6:9–15 The fourth and fifth visions were concerned with the high priest and the civil governor (in the Davidic line). Zechariah now relates the message of those two visions to the Messianic King-Priest.

6:9 Introduces a prophetic oracle (see 4:8; 7:4,8; 8:1,18; see also note on 1:1).

6:10 ⌊silver and gold⌋. Gifts for the temple (cf. Ezr 6:5; Hag 2:8).

arrived from Babylon.[i] Go the same day to the house of Josiah son of Zephaniah. [11]Take the silver and gold and make a crown,[k] and set it on the head of the high priest, Joshua[l] son of Jehozadak.[m] [12]Tell him this is what the LORD Almighty says: 'Here is the man whose name is the Branch,[n] and he will branch out from his place and build the temple of the LORD.[o] [13]It is he who will build the temple of the LORD, and he will be clothed with majesty and will sit and rule on his throne. And he will be a priest[p] on his throne. And there will be harmony between the two.' [14]The crown will be given to Heldai,[n] Tobijah, Jedaiah and Hen[o] son of Zephaniah as a memorial[q] in the temple of the LORD. [15]Those who are far away will come and help to build the temple of the LORD,[r] and you will know that the LORD Almighty has sent me to you.[s] This will happen if you diligently obey[t] the LORD your God."

Justice and Mercy, Not Fasting

7 In the fourth year of King Darius, the word of the LORD came to Zechariah[u] on the fourth day of the ninth month, the month of Kislev.[v] [2]The people of Bethel had sent Sharezer and Regem-Melech, together with their men, to entreat[w] the LORD[x] [3]by asking the priests of the house of the LORD Almighty and the prophets, "Should I mourn[y] and fast in the fifth[z] month, as I have done for so many years?"

[4]Then the word of the LORD Almighty came to me: [5]"Ask all the people of the land and the priests, 'When you fasted[a] and mourned in the fifth and seventh[b] months for the past seventy years,[c] was it really for me that you fasted? [6]And when you were eating and drinking, were you not just feasting for yourselves?[d] [7]Are these not the words the LORD proclaimed through the earlier prophets[e] when Jerusalem and its surrounding towns were at rest[f] and prosperous, and the Negev and the western foothills[g] were settled?' "[h]

[8]And the word of the LORD came again to Zechariah: [9]"This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'Administer true justice;[i] show mercy and compassion to one another.[j] [10]Do not oppress the widow[k] or the fatherless, the alien[l] or the poor.[m] In your hearts do not think evil of each other.'[n]

[n]14 Syriac; Hebrew Helem [o]14 Or and the gracious one, the

6:11 crown. The Hebrew for this word is not the same as that used for the high priest's turban, but one referring to an ornate crown with many diadems (cf. Rev 19:12). The royal crowning of the high priest foreshadows the goal and consummation of prophecy—the crowning and reign of the Messianic King-Priest (see vv. 12–13; cf. Ps 110:4; Heb 7:1–3).

6:12 Here is the man. Cf. Pilate's introduction of Jesus in Jn 19:5. Branch. See note on 3:8. According to the Aramaic Targum (a paraphrase), the Jerusalem Talmud (a collection of religious instruction) and the Midrash (practical exposition), Jews early regarded this verse as Messianic. branch out. The NIV here reflects the wordplay in the Hebrew text. temple. Cf. Isa 2:2–3; Eze 40–43; Hag 2:6–9.

6:13 his throne. See 2Sa 7:16; Isa 9:7 and note; Lk 1:32. priest on his throne. The coming Davidic King will also be a priest. two. Probably the royal and priestly offices. Such a combination was not normally possible in Israel. For this reason, the sect of Qumran (see "The Time between the Testaments," p. 1424) expected two Messianic figures—a high-priest Messiah and a Davidic one. But the two offices and functions would in fact be united in the one person of the Messiah (cf. Ps 110; Heb 7).

6:14 Hen. Means "gracious one" (see NIV text note), perhaps another name for Josiah—to honor him for his hospitality (v. 10).

6:15 Those who are far away will . . . help. Cf. Isa 60:4–7.

7:1 fourth year . . . fourth day . . . ninth month. Dec. 7, 518 B.C.—not quite two years after the eight night visions (see note on 1:7).

7:3 prophets. Including Zechariah. I. The people of Bethel collectively. fast in the fifth month. See note on 8:19. so many years. "The past seventy years" (v. 5).

7:4–7 A rebuke for selfish and insincere fasting on the part of the people and the priests.

7:4,8 See note on 6:9.

7:5 fasted . . . fifth and seventh. See note on 8:19. seventy years. See 1:12 and note. Since these fasts commemorated events related to the destruction of Jerusalem and the temple (see note on 8:19), the 70 years here are to be reckoned from 586 B.C. Strictly speaking, 68 years had transpired; 70 is thus a round number.

7:6 for yourselves. Cf. Isa 1:11–17; 58:1–7,13–14.

7:7,12 earlier prophets. See note on 1:4.

7:7 Negev. See note on Ge 12:9. western foothills. Sloping toward the Mediterranean.

7:9–10 Four tests of faithful covenant living, consisting of a series of social, moral and ethical commands.

7:9 justice. The proper ordering of all society (cf. 8:16; see Isa 42:1,4; Mic 6:8). mercy. Or "faithful love" (cf. Hos 10:12; 12:6). compassion. See note on 1:16.

7:10 oppress. Oppression is denounced frequently in the OT (e.g., Am 2:6–8; 4:1; 5:11–12,21–24; 8:4–6). widow . . . fatherless . . . alien . . . poor. For the Biblical concern for such people see, e.g., Dt 10:18; Isa 1:17 and note; Jer 5:28; Jas 1:27; 1Jn 3:16–18. In the ancient Near East, the ideal king was expected to protect the oppressed and needy members of society. think evil of each other. In 8:17 the almost identical Hebrew is translated "plot evil against your neighbor," which is probably the sense here as well.

7:11 they. The preexilic forefathers, as the reference to the "earlier prophets" in v. 12 shows. stubbornly they turned their backs. See Dt 9:6,13,27. stopped up their ears. See Ps 58:4; Isa 6:10 and note; cf. Isa 33:15.

and stopped up their ears.[q] 12They made their hearts as hard as flint[r] and would not listen to the law or to the words that the LORD Almighty had sent by his Spirit through the earlier prophets.[s] So the LORD Almighty was very angry.[t]

13"'When I called, they did not listen;[u] so when they called, I would not listen,'[v] says the LORD Almighty.[w] 14'I scattered[x] them with a whirlwind[y] among all the nations, where they were strangers. The land was left so desolate behind them that no one could come or go.[z] This is how they made the pleasant land desolate.[a]'"

The LORD Promises to Bless Jerusalem

8 Again the word of the LORD Almighty came to me. 2This is what the LORD Almighty says: "I am very jealous[b] for Zion; I am burning with jealousy for her."

3This is what the LORD says: "I will return[c] to Zion[d] and dwell in Jerusalem.[e] Then Jerusalem will be called the City of Truth,[f] and the mountain[g] of the LORD Almighty will be called the Holy Mountain.[h]"

4This is what the LORD Almighty says: "Once again men and women of ripe old age will sit in the streets of Jerusalem,[i] each with cane in hand because of his age. 5The city streets will be filled with boys and girls playing there.[j]"

6This is what the LORD Almighty says: "It may seem marvelous to the remnant of this people at that time,[k] but will it seem marvelous to me?[l]" declares the LORD Almighty.

7This is what the LORD Almighty says: "I will save my people from the countries of the east and the west.[m] 8I will bring them back[n] to live[o] in Jerusalem; they will be my people,[p] and I will be faithful and righteous to them as their God.[q]"

9This is what the LORD Almighty says: "You who now hear these words spoken by the prophets[r] who were there when the foundation[s] was laid for the house of the LORD Almighty, let your hands be strong[t] so that the temple may be built. 10Before that time there were no wages[u] for man or beast. No one could go about his business safely[v] because of his enemy, for I had turned every man against his neighbor. 11But now I will not deal with the remnant of this people as I did in the past,"[w] declares the LORD Almighty.

12"The seed will grow well, the vine will yield its fruit,[x] the ground will produce its crops,[y] and the heavens will drop their dew.[z] I will give all these things as an inheritance[a] to the remnant of this people.[b] 13As you have been an object of cursing[c] among the nations, O Judah and Israel, so will I save[d] you, and you will be a blessing.[e] Do not be

7:12 hard as flint. See Eze 3:8–9. words ... sent by his Spirit. The words of the prophets were inspired by God's Spirit (cf. Ne 9:30; 2Pe 1:21). very angry. See 1:2,15.

7:13 See note on 1:3.

7:14 scattered them. One of the curses for covenant disobedience (Dt 28:36–37,64–68; see note on Dt 28:64). whirlwind. See Pr 1:27; Isa 40:24; Hos 4:19. land ... desolate. See Dt 28:41–42,45–52. This is how. By their sins. pleasant land. Cf. Ps 106:24; Jer 3:19.

8:1–23 Ten promises of blessing, each beginning with "This is what the LORD (Almighty) says" (vv. 2,3,4,6,7,9,14,19,20,23).

8:1,18 See note on 6:9.

8:2 jealous. See 1:14; see also note on Ex 20:5.

8:3 I will return. See 1:3 and note; 1:16. dwell. See note on 2:10. the City of Truth. Cf. v. 16; see Isa 1:26 and note. the Holy Mountain. Cf. 14:20–21.

8:4–5 See Isa 11:6–9 and note; 65:20–25.

8:6,11–12 remnant. See notes on Isa 1:9; 10:20–22.

8:6 will it seem marvelous to me? See Ge 18:14 and note; Jer 32:17,27.

8:7 save my people. Deliver them from exile, bondage and dispersion (cf. Isa 11:11–12; 43:5–7; Jer 30:7–11; 31:7–8). from the countries of the east and west. Lit. "from the land of the sunrise and from the land of the going in of the sun," i.e., from everywhere—wherever the people are (cf. Ps 50:1; 113:3; Mal 1:11).

8:8 they will be my people, and I will be ... their God. Covenant terminology, pertaining to intimate fellowship in a covenant relationship (see 13:9; Ge 17:7 and note; Ex 6:7; 29:45–46; Lev 11:45; 22:33; 25:38; 26:12 and note; 26:45; Nu 15:41; Dt 29:13; Jer 24:7; 31:33; 32:38; Eze 34:30–31; 36:28; 37:27; Hos 1:9–10; 2:23; 2Co 6:16; Heb 8:10; Rev 21:3). faithful and righteous. Judah's restoration to covenant favor and blessing rests on the faithfulness (dependability) and righteousness of God.

8:9 prophets. Including Haggai (1:1) and Zechariah (1:1; cf. Ezr 5:1–2). hands be strong. See v. 13. The Hebrew for this expression is translated "be encouraged" in Jdg 7:11.

8:10 Before that time. Before the temple foundation was laid (see v. 9). no wages. See Hag 1:6–11; 2:15–19. enemy. For example, the Samaritans (Ezr 4:1–5).

8:11 But now. The reasons for discouragement have passed; God will now provide the grounds for encouragement.

8:12 Contrast with Hag 1:10–11. In Hag 2:19 God had predicted just such a reversal as is depicted here. Fertility and bounty are part of the covenant blessings for obedience promised in Lev 26:3–10; Dt 28:11–12; cf. Eze 34:25–27.

8:13 object of cursing among the nations. Part of the covenant curses for disobedience threatened in Dt 28:15–68 (see Dt 28:37); cf. Jer 24:9; 25:18. Judah and Israel. The whole nation will experience this deliverance and blessing (cf. Jer 31:1–31; Eze 37:15–28). blessing. See vv. 20–23; cf. Ge 12:2. hands be strong. See note on v. 9.

afraid,[f] but let your hands be strong.[g]"

14This is what the LORD Almighty says: "Just as I had determined to bring disaster[h] upon you and showed no pity when your fathers angered me," says the LORD Almighty, 15"so now I have determined to do good[i] again to Jerusalem and Judah.[j] Do not be afraid. 16These are the things you are to do: Speak the truth[k] to each other, and render true and sound judgment[l] in your courts;[m] 17do not plot evil[n] against your neighbor, and do not love to swear falsely.[o] I hate all this," declares the LORD.

18Again the word of the LORD Almighty came to me. 19This is what the LORD Almighty says: "The fasts of the fourth,[p] fifth,[q] seventh[r] and tenth[s] months will become joyful[t] and glad occasions and happy festivals for Judah. Therefore love truth[u] and peace."

20This is what the LORD Almighty says: "Many peoples and the inhabitants of many cities will yet come, 21and the inhabitants of one city will go to another and say, 'Let us go at once to entreat[v] the LORD and seek[w] the LORD Almighty. I myself am going.' 22And many peoples and powerful nations will come to Jerusalem to seek the LORD Almighty and to entreat him."[x]

23This is what the LORD Almighty says: "In those days ten men from all languages and nations will take firm hold of one Jew by the hem of his robe and say, 'Let us go with you, because we have heard that God is with you.' "[y]

Judgment on Israel's Enemies

An Oracle[z]

9 The word of the LORD is against the land of Hadrach and will rest upon Damascus[a]— for the eyes of men and all the tribes of Israel are on the LORD—[p] 2and upon Hamath[b] too, which borders on it, and upon Tyre[c] and Sidon,[d] though they are very skillful.
3Tyre has built herself a stronghold;
she has heaped up silver like dust,
and gold like the dirt of the streets.[e] 4But the Lord will take away her possessions and destroy[f] her power on the sea, and she will be consumed by fire.[g]
5Ashkelon[h] will see it and fear;
Gaza will writhe in agony,

[g]S Isa 23:1; Jer 25:22; Eze 26:3-5; 27:32-36; 28:18
9:5 [h]Jer 47:5

[p] 1 Or Damascus. / For the eye of the LORD is on all mankind, / as well as on the tribes of Israel,

8:14–17 Verses 14–15 specify God's part in the people's restoration to favor and blessing; vv. 16–17 delineate their part.

8:14 your fathers angered me. See note on 1:2.

8:15 do good. See vv. 12–13.

8:16–17 See 7:9–10. Such moral and ethical behavior sums up the character of those who are in covenant relationship with the Lord.

8:16 courts. Lit. "gates" (see Ge 19:1 and note; 2Sa 18:24).

8:17 swear falsely. Perjure oneself (see note on 5:3). I hate all this. Pr 6:16–19 lists seven things the Lord hates, three of which relate directly to vv. 16–17 here: "a lying tongue," "a heart that devises wicked schemes" and "a false witness who pours out lies."

8:19 See 7:2–6. fourth. The fast that lamented the breaching of the walls of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar (2 Ki 25:3–4; Jer 39:2; 52:6–7). fifth. Commemorated the burning of the temple and the other important buildings (2Ki 25:8–10; Jer 52:12–14). seventh. Marked the anniversary of Gedaliah's assassination (2Ki 25:22–25; Jer 41:1–3). tenth. Mourned the beginning of Nebuchadnezzar's siege of Jerusalem (2Ki 25:1; Jer 39:1; 52:4; Eze 24:1–2). happy festivals. Cf. Isa 65:18–19; Jer 31:10–14.

8:20–23 For similar predictions about Gentiles seeking the Lord see 2:11 and note; Isa 2:2–4; Mic 4:1–5.

8:22 powerful. Or "numerous" (as in Ex 1:9; NIV text note on Isa 53:12); anticipates a fulfillment of the promise of Gentile blessing in the Abrahamic covenant (Ge 12:3; Gal 3:8,26–29; see also Isa 55:5; 56:6–7; cf. Mk 11:17).

8:23 ten. One way of indicating a large or complete number in Hebrew (see Ge 31:7 and note; Lev 26:26; Nu 14:22; 1Sa 1:8; Ne 4:12). Jew. The word, used of the people of the kingdom of Judah after the exile, occurs first in Jer 32:12. we have heard that God is with you. True godliness attracts others to the Lord (see Ge 26:28; 30:27; see also notes on Ge 39:2–6; 1Co 14:24).

9:1–8 Probably a prophetic description of the Lord's march south to Jerusalem, destroying—as Divine Warrior—the traditional enemies of Israel. As history shows, the agent of his judgment was Alexander the Great (333 B.C.).

9:1 An Oracle/The word of the LORD. The Hebrew for this phrase occurs only two other times in the OT (12:1; Mal 1:1), making it likely that Zec 9–14 and Malachi were written during the same general period (see Introduction: Date). Hadrach. Hatarikka, north of Hamath on the Orontes River (see v. 2). Damascus. The leading city-state of the Arameans. eyes . . . on the LORD. The thought may be that the eyes of men, especially all the tribes of Israel, are turned toward the Lord (for deliverance).

9:2 upon Hamath too. Judgment will rest upon Hamath, just as upon Hadrach and Damascus. Hamath is modern Hama. See Am 6:2. it. Damascus. Tyre and Sidon. Phoenician (modern Lebanese) coastal cities. Their judgment (vv. 3–4) is also foretold in Isa 23; Eze 26:3–14; 28:20–24; Am 1:9–10.

9:3 stronghold. The Hebrew for this word is a pun on the Hebrew for "Tyre" (meaning "rock"). The stronghold was Tyre's island fortress (Isa 23:4; Eze 26:5). It fell (v. 4) to Alexander in 332 B.C. silver like dust . . . gold like the dirt. Cf. 1Ki 10:21,27. Tyre was a center of trade and commerce, and her wealth was proverbial (see Isa 23:2–3,8,18; Eze 26:12; 27:3–27,33; 28:4–5,7,12–14,16–18).

9:5–7 The Philistine cities were greatly alarmed at Alexander's steady advance.

9:5 her hope will wither. As the northernmost city of Philistia, Ekron would be the first to suffer. Her hope that Tyre would stem the tide would meet with disappointment.

and Ekron too, for her hope will wither.
Gaza will lose her king and Ashkelon will be deserted.
6Foreigners will occupy Ashdod, and I will cut off[i] the pride of the Philistines.
7I will take the blood from their mouths,
the forbidden food from between their teeth.
Those who are left will belong to our God[j]
and become leaders in Judah, and Ekron will be like the Jebusites.[k]
8But I will defend[l] my house against marauding forces.[m]
Never again will an oppressor overrun my people, for now I am keeping watch.[n]

The Coming of Zion's King

9Rejoice greatly, O Daughter of Zion![o]
Shout,[p] Daughter of Jerusalem!
See, your king[q] comes to you,[q] righteous and having salvation,[r] gentle and riding on a donkey,[s] on a colt, the foal of a donkey.[t] 10I will take away the chariots from Ephraim and the war-horses from Jerusalem, and the battle bow will be broken.[u]
He will proclaim peace[v] to the nations.
His rule will extend from sea to sea and from the River[r] to the ends of the earth.[s w] 11As for you, because of the blood of my covenant[x] with you,
I will free your prisoners[y] from the waterless pit.[z] 12Return to your fortress,[a] O prisoners of hope;
even now I announce that I will restore twice[b] as much to you.
13I will bend Judah as I bend my bow[c] and fill it with Ephraim.[d]
I will rouse your sons, O Zion, against your sons, O Greece,[e]
and make you like a warrior's sword.[f]

The LORD Will Appear

14Then the LORD will appear over them;[g] his arrow will flash like lightning.[h]
The Sovereign LORD will sound the trumpet;[i]
he will march in the storms[j] of the south, 15 and the LORD Almighty will shield[k] them.
They will destroy

[q] 9 Or King [r] 10 That is, the Euphrates [s] 10 Or the end of the land

9:6 Foreigners. People of mixed nationality; they characterized the postexilic period (Ne 13:23–24). I. God. Philistines. See note on Ge 10:14. At one time their control of Canaan was so extensive that the land was eventually named after them ("Palestine").

9:7 blood. Of idolatrous sacrifices. forbidden food. Ceremonially unclean food. Jebusites. These ancient inhabitants of Jerusalem (see note on Ge 10:16) were absorbed into Judah (e.g., Araunah in 2Sa 24:16–24; 1Ch 21:18–26). So would it be with a remnant of the Philistines.

9:8 defend my house against marauding forces. See 2:5. Alexander spared the temple and the city of Jerusalem. oppressor. The Hebrew for this word is translated "slave driver" in Ex 3:7; 5:6,10 and elsewhere; thus it echoes the Egyptian bondage motif. keeping watch. See Ex 3:7; Ps 32:8.

9:9 Quoted in the NT as Messianic and as referring ultimately to the Triumphal Entry of Jesus into Jerusalem (Mt 21:5; Jn 12:15). Daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants. your king. The Davidic ("your") Messianic King. righteous. Conforming to the divine standard of morality and ethics, particularly as revealed in the Mosaic legislation; a characteristic of the ideal king (see 2Sa 23:3–4; Ps 72:1–3; Isa 9:7; 11:4–5; 53:11; Jer 23:5–6; 33:15–16). gentle. Or "humble" (cf. Isa 53:2–3,7; Mt 11:29). riding on a donkey. A suitable choice, since the donkey was a lowly animal of peace (contrast the war-horse of v. 10) as well as a princely mount (Jdg 10:4; 12:14; 2Sa 16:2) before the horse came into common use. The royal mount used by David and his sons was the mule (2Sa 18:9; 1Ki 1:33).

9:10 take away the chariots . . . war-horses . . . battle bow. A similar era of disarmament is foreseen in Isa 2:4; 9:5–7; 11:1–10; Mic 5:10–11. Ephraim. See note on v. 13. peace to the nations. In sharp contrast to Alexander's empire, which was founded on bloodshed, the Messianic King will establish a universal kingdom of peace as the ultimate fulfillment of the Abrahamic covenant (cf. 14:16; see Ge 12:3; 18:18; 22:18). His rule will extend from . . . to. It will be universal (see Ps 22:27–28; 72:8–11; Isa 45:22; 52:10; 66:18).

9:11 blood of my covenant with you. Probably the Mosaic covenant (Ex 24:3–8). prisoners. Perhaps those still in Babylonia, the land of exile. waterless pit. Cf. Ge 37:24; Jer 38:6.

9:12 fortress. Either (1) Jerusalem (Zion) and environs or (2) God himself (cf. 2:5). hope. In the future delivering King (vv. 9–10). twice as much. Full or complete restoration (cf. Isa 61:7).

9:13 See note on 10:4. The Lord compares himself to a warrior who uses Judah as his bow and Ephraim (the northern kingdom) as his arrow. your sons, O Zion. The Maccabees (see note on Da 11:34). your sons, O Greece. The Seleucids of Syria (after the breakup of Alexander's empire).

9:14 See Ps 18:7–15; Hab 3:3–15. trumpet. Probably a reference to thunder (cf. Ex 19:16–19). south. In the region of Mount Sinai, where the Mosaic covenant was given (see v. 11) and where the Lord's dwelling was (see Jdg 5:4–5; Ps 68:8; Hab 3:3).

9:15 The Apocryphal book 1 Maccabees (3:16–24; 4:6–16; 7:40–50) records a partial fulfillment of this verse. slingstones. Hurled at defenders on the city wall and onto the inhabitants inside. bowl used for sprinkling. See Ex 27:1–3; Lev 4:6–7.

and overcome with slingstones.[l]
They will drink and roar as with wine;[m] they will be full like a bowl[n] used for sprinkling[l] the corners[o] of the altar.
16The LORD their God will save them on that day[p] as the flock of his people.
They will sparkle in his land like jewels in a crown.[q] 17How attractive and beautiful they will be!
Grain will make the young men thrive,
and new wine the young women.

The LORD Will Care for Judah

10 Ask the LORD for rain in the springtime;
it is the LORD who makes the storm clouds.
He gives showers of rain[r] to men,
and plants of the field[s] to everyone.
2The idols[t] speak deceit, diviners[u] see visions that lie;
they tell dreams[v] that are false,
they give comfort in vain.[w]
Therefore the people wander like sheep oppressed for lack of a shepherd.[x]

3"My anger burns against the shepherds, and I will punish the leaders;[y]
for the LORD Almighty will care for his flock, the house of Judah, and make them like a proud horse in battle.[z] 4From Judah will come the cornerstone,[a] from him the tent peg,[b] from him the battle bow,[c]
from him every ruler.
5Together they[u] will be like mighty men trampling the muddy streets in battle.[d]
Because the LORD is with them,
they will fight and overthrow the horsemen.[e] 6"I will strengthen[f] the house of Judah and save the house of Joseph.
I will restore them because I have compassion[g] on them.[h]
They will be as though
I had not rejected them, for I am the LORD their God and I will answer[i] them.
7The Ephraimites will become like mighty men,
and their hearts will be glad as with wine.[j]
Their children will see it and be joyful;
their hearts will rejoice[k] in the LORD.
8I will signal[l] for them and gather them in.
Surely I will redeem them;
they will be as numerous[m] as before.
9Though I scatter them among the peoples,
yet in distant lands they will remember me.[n]
They and their children will survive, and they will return.

l15 Or bowl, / like m4,5 Or ruler, all of them together. / s*They*

9:16 that day. See note on 2:11.

10:1 it is the LORD who . . . gives showers . . . plants. The Lord, not the Canaanite god Baal, is the one who controls the weather and the rain, giving life and fertility to the land (see Jer 14:22; Am 5:8). Therefore God's people are to pray to and trust in him. See further Isa 55:10–12; Hos 2:8; 6:3; Joel 2:21–27; Mt 5:45.

10:2 idols. Household gods (see Ge 31:19 and note). They were used for divination during the period of the judges (Jdg 17:5; 18:14–20). diviners. Included among false prophets, they were the occult counterpart to true prophets. Cf. Jer 23:30–32; 27:9–10. Resorting to such sources for information and guidance is expressly forbidden in Dt 18:9–14 because God provided true prophets (and ultimately the Messianic Prophet) for that purpose (Dt 18:15–22; see Jn 4:25; 6:14; Ac 3:22–23,26; see also note on Ge 30:27). people wander like sheep. See Isa 53:6 and note. lack of a shepherd. Spiritual leadership is missing (cf. Mk 6:34). "Shepherd" is primarily a royal motif, whether referring to human kings (2Sa 5:2; Isa 44:28; Jer 23:2–4) or to God as King (Ps 23:1; 100:3; Eze 34:11–16) or to the Messianic, Davidic King (Eze 34:23–24; Jn 10:11–16; Heb 13:20; 1Pe 5:4).

10:3 I will punish the leaders. Cf. Eze 34:1–10. like a proud horse. Triumphant.

10:4 Probably Messianic (indicated by the Aramaic Targum). From Judah. See Ge 49:10; Jer 30:21; Mic 5:2. cornerstone. See note on 3:9; see especially Isa 28:16; Eph 2:20. tent peg. The ruler as the support of the state (see note on Isa 22:23; see also Isa 22:24). battle bow. Part of the Divine Warrior terminology (cf. 9:13; Ps 7:12; 45:5; La 2:4; 3:12; Hab 3:9).

10:5 they. Judah (v. 4), i.e., its people. the LORD is with them. See Jos 1:5; Jer 1:8,19; 15:20. overthrow. Partly fulfilled in the Maccabean victories (during the period between the OT and the NT).

10:6 Judah . . . Joseph. The people of the southern and northern kingdoms will be reunited (see note on 8:13).

10:7 Ephraimites. See note on 9:13. glad as with wine. Cf. Ps 104:15.

10:8 signal. Lit. "whistle," a continuation of the shepherd metaphor (see Jdg 5:16). redeem. The Hebrew for this word is often used of ransoming from slavery or captivity (see Isa 35:10; Mic 6:4; cf. 1Pe 1:18–19). as numerous as before. See Ex 1:6–20.

10:9 they will remember me. According to the meaning of Zechariah's name, "the LORD remembers" (his covenant people and promises). Now they will remember him.

[10]I will bring them back from Egypt and gather them from Assyria.[o]
I will bring them to Gilead[p] and Lebanon, and there will not be room[q]
enough for them.
[11]They will pass through the sea of trouble;
the surging sea will be subdued and all the depths of the Nile will dry up.[r]
Assyria's pride[s] will be brought down and Egypt's scepter[t] will pass
away.[u]
[12]I will strengthen[v] them in the LORD and in his name they will walk,[w]"
declares the LORD.

11 Open your doors, O Lebanon,[x] so that fire[y] may devour your cedars!
[2]Wail, O pine tree, for the cedar has fallen;
the stately trees are ruined!
Wail, oaks[z] of Bashan;
the dense forest[a] has been cut down![b]
[3]Listen to the wail of the shepherds;
their rich pastures are destroyed!
Listen to the roar of the lions;[c]
the lush thicket of the Jordan is ruined![d]

Two Shepherds

[4]This is what the LORD my God says:
"Pasture the flock marked for slaughter.[e] [5]Their buyers slaughter them and go unpunished. Those who sell them say,
'Praise the LORD, I am rich!'
Their own shepherds do not spare them.[f] [6]For I will no longer have pity on the people of the land,"
declares the LORD.
"I will hand everyone over to his neighbor[g] and his king.
They will oppress the land, and I will not rescue them from their hands."[h]
[7]So I pastured the flock marked for slaughter,[i] particularly the oppressed of the flock.
Then I took two staffs and called one Favor and the other Union, and I pastured the flock.
[8]In one month I got rid of the three shepherds.

The flock detested[j] me, and I grew weary of them
[9]and said, "I will not be your shepherd.
Let the dying die, and the perishing perish.[k]
Let those who are left eat[l] one another's flesh."

[10]Then I took my staff called Favor[m]

10:10 Egypt . . . Assyria. See v. 11. Probably representing all the countries where the Israelites are dispersed, these two evoke memories of slavery and exile. gather them. See Isa 11:11–16; Eze 39:27–29. Gilead. See note on Ge 31:21; see also SS 6:5; Jer 50:19; Mic 7:14. Lebanon. See 2Ki 19:23; Isa 33:9 and note; 35:2 and note; Jer 22:6. not be room enough. See v. 8; 2:4; see also note on Isa 49:19–20.

10:11 pass through the sea of trouble. As at the Red Sea (see Ex 14:22 and note).

11:1–3 Some interpret this brief poem as a taunt song related to the lament that will be sung over the destruction of the nations' power and arrogance (ch. 10), represented by the cedar, the pine and the oak (vv. 1–2). Their kings are represented by the shepherds and the lions (v. 3). Understood in this way, vv. 1–3 would provide the conclusion to the preceding section. Other interpreters, however, without denying the presence of figurative language, see the piece more literally as a description of the devastation of Syro-Palestine due to the rejection of the Messianic Good Shepherd (vv. 4–14). Verses 1–3 would then furnish the introduction to the next section. The geography of the text—Lebanon, Bashan and Jordan—would seem to favor this interpretation. Part of the fulfillment would be the destruction and further subjugation of the area by the Romans, including the fall of Jerusalem in A.D. 70 and of Masada in 73. Understood in this way, the passage is in sharp contrast with ch. 10 and its prediction of Israel's full deliverance and restoration to the covenant land. Now the scene is one of desolation for the land (vv. 1–3), followed by the threat of judgment and disaster for both land and people (vv. 4–6).

11:1 Lebanon. See 10:10 and note.

11:2 Bashan. See note on Isa 2:13. The Israelites took this region from the Amorite king, Og, at the time of the conquest of Canaan (Nu 21:33–35). It was allotted to the half-tribe of Manasseh (Jos 13:29–30; 17:5). dense forest. Of Lebanon.

11:3 If the language is figurative, the shepherds and lions represent the rulers or leaders of the Jews (see v. 5; 10:3; cf. Jer 25:34–36). lush thicket of the Jordan. Where the lions had their lairs.

11:4–14 The reason for the judgment on Israel in vv. 1–3 is now given, namely, the people's rejection of the Messianic Shepherd-King. Just as the Servant in the "servant songs" (see note on Isa 42:1–4) is rejected, so here the Good Shepherd (a royal figure) is rejected. The same Messianic King is in view in both instances.

11:4 says. To Zechariah. flock. Israel.

11:5 buyers. The sheep (the Jews) are bought as slaves by outsiders. Part of the fulfillment came in A.D. 70 and the following years. Those who sell them. "Their own shepherds (rulers or leaders)."

11:6 land. the Holy Land. king. Perhaps the Roman emperor (cf. Jn 19:15). They. Includes the Romans prophetically.

11:7 I. Zechariah, as a type (foreshadowing) of the Messianic Shepherd-King. called one Favor. To ensure divine favor on the flock. Union. See Eze 37:15–28. Such unity would be the result of the gracious leadership of the Good Shepherd. (For the significance of the subsequent breaking of the two staffs see vv. 10,14.)

11:8 got rid of the three shepherds. Although the three cannot be specifically identified, the Good Shepherd will dispose of all such unfit leaders. I grew weary of them. Cf. Isa 1:13–14.

11:9 Let the dying die. The Good Shepherd terminates his providential care of the sheep. eat one another's flesh. According to Josephus, this actually happened during the Roman siege of Jerusalem in A.D. 70 (cf. also La 4:10).

11:10 covenant. Apparently a covenant of security and restraint, by which the Shepherd had been holding back the nations from his people (cf. Eze 34:25; Hos 2:18). Now, however, the nations (e.g., the Romans) will be permitted to overrun them.

and broke it, revoking[n] the covenant I had made with all the nations. [11]It was revoked on that day, and so the afflicted of the flock who were watching me knew it was the word of the LORD.

[12]I told them, "If you think it best, give me my pay; but if not, keep it." So they paid me thirty pieces of silver.[o]

[13]And the LORD said to me, "Throw it to the potter"—the handsome price at which they priced me! So I took the thirty pieces of silver[p] and threw them into the house of the LORD to the potter.[q]

[14]Then I broke my second staff called Union, breaking the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.

[15]Then the LORD said to me, "Take again the equipment of a foolish shepherd. [16]For I am going to raise up a shepherd over the land who will not care for the lost, or seek the young, or heal the injured, or feed the healthy, but will eat the meat of the choice sheep, tearing off their hoofs.

Jerusalem's Enemies to Be Destroyed

An Oracle[u]

12 This is the word of the LORD concerning Israel. The LORD, who stretches out the heavens,[v] who lays the foundation of the earth,[w] and who forms the spirit of man[x] within him, declares: [2]"I am going to make Jerusalem a cup[y] that sends all the surrounding peoples reeling.[z] Judah[a] will be besieged as well as Jerusalem. [3]On that day, when all the nations[b] of the earth are gathered against her, I will make Jerusalem an immovable rock[c] for all the nations. All who try to move it will injure[d] themselves. [4]On that day I will strike every horse with panic and its rider with madness," declares the LORD. "I will keep a watchful eye over the house of Judah, but I will blind all the horses of the nations.[e] [5]Then the leaders of Judah will say in their hearts, 'The people of Jerusalem are strong,[f] because the LORD Almighty is their God.'

[6]"On that day I will make the leaders of Judah like a firepot[g] in a woodpile, like a flaming torch among sheaves. They will consume[h] right and left all the surrounding peoples, but Jerusalem will remain intact[i] in her place.

[7]"The LORD will save the dwellings of Judah first, so that the honor of the house of David and of Jerusalem's inhab-

11:11 the afflicted of the flock. Probably the faithful few, who recognize the authoritative word of the Lord (see also v. 7, where the same Hebrew phrase is rendered "the oppressed of the flock"). it. Probably Israel's affliction by the nations. word of the LORD. The faithful discern that what happens (e.g., the judgment on Jerusalem and the temple in A.D. 70) is a fulfillment of God's prophetic word—as a result of such actions as those denounced in Mt 23, which led to the rejection of the Good Shepherd.

11:12 give me my pay. Refers to the severance of the relationship. keep it. A more emphatic way of ending the relationship. thirty pieces of silver. The price of a slave among the Israelites in ancient times (see note on Ex 21:32); also, a way of indicating a trifling amount.

11:13 handsome price. Irony and sarcasm. threw them into the house of the LORD to the potter. For the NT use of vv. 12–13 see Mt 26:14–15; 27:3–10; see also note on Mt 27:9.

11:14 broke my second staff called Union. Signifying the dissolution of the covenant nation, particularly of the unity between the south and the north. The breaking up of the nation into parties hostile to each other was characteristic of later Jewish history; it greatly hindered the popular cause in the war against Rome (cf. Jn 11:48).

11:15 again. See v. 7. foolish shepherd. With the Shepherd of the Lord's choice removed from the scene, a foolish and worthless (v. 17) shepherd replaces him. A selfish, greedy, corrupt leader will arise and afflict the flock (the people of Israel).

11:16 seek the young. Cf. Ge 33:13; Isa 40:11. tearing off their hoofs. Apparently in a greedy search for the last edible piece.

11:17 worthless shepherd. See note on v. 15. This counterfeit shepherd may have found a partial historical fulfillment in such leaders as Simeon bar Kosiba or Kokhba (who led the Jewish revolt against the Romans in A.D. 132–135 and who was hailed as the Messiah by Rabbi Akiba). But it would seem that the final stage of the progressive fulfillment of the complete prophecy awaits the rise of the final antichrist (cf. Eze 34:2–4; Da 11:36–39; Jn 5:43; 2Th 2:3–10; Rev 13:1–8). deserts the flock. Contrast the Good Shepherd of Jn 10:11–16. May his arm be completely withered. May his power be paralyzed. his right eye totally blinded. May his intelligence be nullified. Thus this leader will be powerless to fight.

12:1–14:21 This second oracle in Part II of the book revolves around two scenes: the final siege of Jerusalem, and the Messiah's return to defeat Israel's enemies and establish his kingdom.

12:1 An Oracle. See note on 9:1. Israel. The whole nation, not just the northern kingdom. Judah and Jerusalem, however, are the main focus of attention. The LORD, who stretches ... lays ... forms. This description of the Lord's creative power shows that he is able to perform what he predicts; it also strengthens the royal and sovereign authority of the message.

12:2 cup that sends all ... reeling. See note on Isa 51:17.

12:3 that day. See note on 2:11. The phrase is used often in chs. 12–14 (12:4,6,8–9,11; 13:1–2,4; 14:4,6,8–9,13,20–21). all the nations ... gathered against her. See 14:2,12; Joel 3:9–16; cf. Rev 16:16–21.

12:4 panic ... madness ... blind. Listed in Dt 28:28 among Israel's curses for disobeying the stipulations of the covenant. Now these curses are turned against Israel's enemies. watchful eye. See Ps 32:8; 33:18.

12:6 Like a fire destroying wood and sheaves of grain, Judah's discerning leaders (see v. 5) will consume their enemies (cf. Jdg 15:3–5; see note on Isa 1:31).

itants may not be greater than that of Judah.[j] 8On that day the LORD will shield[k] those who live in Jerusalem, so that the feeblest[l] among them will be like David, and the house of David will be like God,[m] like the Angel of the LORD going before[n] them. 9On that day I will set out to destroy all the nations[o] that attack Jerusalem.[p]

Mourning for the One They Pierced

10"And I will pour out on the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit[v q] of grace and supplication.[r] They will look on[w] me, the one they have pierced,[s] and they will mourn for him as one mourns for an only child,[t] and grieve bitterly for him as one grieves for a firstborn son.[u] 11On that day the weeping[v] in Jerusalem will be great, like the weeping of Hadad Rimmon in the plain of Megiddo.[w] 12The land will mourn,[x] each clan by itself, with their wives by themselves: the clan of the house of David and their wives, the clan of the house of Nathan and their wives, 13the clan of the house of Levi and their wives, the clan of Shimei and their wives, 14and all the rest of the clans and their wives.[y]

Cleansing From Sin

13 "On that day a fountain[z] will be opened to the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, to cleanse[a] them from sin and impurity.

2"On that day, I will banish the names of the idols[b] from the land, and they will be remembered no more,"[c] declares the LORD Almighty. "I will remove both the prophets[d] and the spirit of impurity from the land. 3And if anyone still prophesies, his father and mother, to whom he was born, will say to him, 'You must die, because you have told lies[e] in the LORD's name.' When he prophesies, his own parents will stab him.[f]

4"On that day every prophet will be ashamed[g] of his prophetic vision. He will not put on a prophet's garment[h] of hair[i] in order to deceive.[j] 5He will say, 'I am not a prophet. I am a farmer; the land has been my livelihood since my youth.[x k] 6If someone asks him, 'What are these wounds on your body[y]?' he will answer, 'The wounds I was given at the house of my friends.'

12:10 a spirit. See NIV text note; see also Isa 32:15 and note; 44:3; 59:20–21; Jer 31:31,33; Eze 36:26–27; 39:29; Joel 2:28–29. look on. See NIV text note. The emphasis seems to be on looking "to" the Messiah in faith (cf. Nu 21:9; Isa 45:22; Jn 3:14–15). pierced. Cf. Ps 22:16; Isa 53:5; Jn 19:34; partly fulfilled in Jn 19:37. mourns for an only child. Cf. Jer 6:26. grieves for a firstborn son. Cf. Ex 11:5–6.

12:11 Hadad Rimmon. The name of either (1) a place near Megiddo, where the people mourned the death of King Josiah (2Ch 35:20–27; see v. 22 there for the plain of Megiddo and vv. 24–25 for the mourning), or (2) a Semitic storm god (see 2Ki 5:18), whose name means "Hadad the thunderer" in Babylonian (as in the Epic of Gilgamesh, 11:98; see also Eze 8:14 for an example of the practice of weeping for a Babylonian deity).

12:12 Nathan. David's son (2Sa 5:14; cf. Lk 3:31).

12:13 Shimei. Son of Gershon, the son of Levi (Nu 3:17–18,21). The repentance and mourning are led, then, by the civil (royal) and religious leaders.

13:1 cleanse them from sin. See 3:4–9; one of the provisions of the new covenant (Jer 31:34; Eze 36:25).

13:2 names of the idols. The influence and fame, and even the very existence, of the idols. prophets. False prophecy was still a problem in the postexilic period (see Ne 6:12–14) and would again be a problem in the future (see Mt 24:4–5,11,23–24; 2Th 2:2–4).

13:3 lies. False prophecies. parents will stab him. In obedience to Dt 13:6–9. The Hebrew for "stab" is the same as the verb for "pierced" in 12:10, perhaps indicating that the feelings and actions exhibited in piercing the Messiah will now be directed toward the false prophets.

13:4–6 Because of the stern measures just mentioned, a false prophet will be reluctant to identify himself as such and will be evasive in his responses to interrogation. To help conceal his true identity, he will not wear a "prophet's garment of hair" (v. 4), such as Elijah wore (2Ki 1:8; see also Mt 3:4). Instead, to avoid the death penalty (v. 3), he will deny being a prophet and will claim to have been a farmer since his youth (v. 5). And if a suspicious person notices marks on his body and inquires about them (v. 6), he will claim he received them in a scuffle with friends (or perhaps as discipline from his parents during childhood). Apparently the accuser suspects that the false prophet's wounds were self-inflicted to arouse his prophetic ecstasy in idolatrous rites (as in 1Ki 18:28; cf. also Lev 19:28; 21:5 and note; Dt 14:1; Jer 16:6; 41:5; 48:37).

13:5 the land . . . my youth. If the alternative translation in the NIV text note is taken, the meaning is that someone sold him as a slave while still young.

13:6 Some take this verse as Messianic, but the interpretation given above seems preferable from the context (e.g., v. 5).

13:7 my shepherd. The royal (Messianic) Good Shepherd (cf. the true Shepherd of 11:4–14; contrast the foolish and worthless shepherd of 11:15–17). Strike the shepherd. In 11:17 it was the worthless shepherd who was to be struck; now it is the Good Shepherd (cf. also 12:10). sheep will be scattered. In fulfillment of the curses for covenant disobedience (Dt 28:64; 29:24–25). This part of the verse is quoted by Jesus not long before his arrest (Mt 26:31; Mk 14:27) and applied to the scattering of the apostles (Mt 26:56; Mk 14:49–50), who in turn are probably typological of the dispersion of the Jews in A.D. 70 and the subsequent years.

The LORD Comes and Reigns

14 A day of the LORD[x] is coming when your plunder[y] will be divided among you.
2I will gather all the nations[z] to Jerusalem to fight against it;[a] the city will be captured, the houses ransacked, and the women raped.[b] Half of the city will go into exile, but the rest of the people will not be taken from the city.[c]
3Then the LORD will go out and fight[d] against those nations, as he fights in the day of battle.[e] 4On that day his feet will stand on the Mount of Olives,[f] east of Jerusalem, and the Mount of Olives will be split[g] in two from east to west, forming a great valley, with half of the mountain moving north and half moving south. 5You will flee by my mountain valley, for it will extend to Azel. You will flee as you fled from the earthquake[zh] in the days of Uzziah king of Judah. Then the LORD my God will come,[i] and all the holy ones with him.[j]
6On that day there will be no light,[k] no cold or frost. 7It will be a unique[l] day, without daytime or nighttime[m]—a day known to the LORD. When evening comes, there will be light.[n]
8On that day living water[o] will flow[p] out from Jerusalem, half to the eastern[q] sea[a] and half to the western sea,[b] in summer and in winter.[r]
9The LORD will be king[s] over the whole earth.[t] On that day there will be one LORD, and his name the only name.[u]
10The whole land, from Geba[v] to Rimmon,[w] south of Jerusalem, will become like the Arabah. But Jerusalem will be raised up[x] and remain in its place,[y] from the Benjamin Gate[z] to the site of the First Gate, to the Corner Gate,[a] and from the Tower of Hananel[b] to the royal winepresses. 11It will be inhabited;[c] never again will it be destroyed. Jerusalem will be secure.[d]
12This is the plague with which the LORD will strike[e] all the nations that fought against Jerusalem: Their flesh will rot while they are still standing on their feet, their eyes will rot in their sockets, and their tongues will rot in their mouths.[f] 13On that day men will be

14:1 your ... you. Jerusalem (v. 2) is the object of the plunder.

14:2 all the nations ... fight against it. See v. 12; see also note on 12:3.

14:3 day of battle. Any occasion when the Lord supernaturally intervenes to deliver his people, such as at the Red Sea (see note on Ex 14:14).

14:4 Mount of Olives. Called by this name elsewhere in the OT only in 2Sa 15:30. This prophecy is probably referred to in Ac 1:11–12. east. Thus it faced the temple mount and, being about 2,700 feet high, rose about 200 feet above it. Cf. Eze 11:23; 43:1–2.

14:5 Azel. The name of a place east of Jerusalem, marking the eastern end of the newly formed valley. The location is unknown. holy ones. May include both believers and angels. They will accompany our Lord when he comes (cf. Mt 25:31; 1Th 3:13; Jude 14; Rev 19:14).

14:7 unique day. Due to the topographical, cosmic and cataclysmic changes. See also Isa 60:19–20 and notes; cf. Rev 21:23–25; 22:5.

14:8 living water will flow. Perhaps both literal and symbolic (cf. Ps 46:4; 65:9; Isa 8:6; Jer 2:13; Eze 47:1–12; Joel 3:18; Jn 4:10–14; 7:38; Rev 22:1–2).

14:9 The LORD will be king over the whole earth. A pervasive theological theme in Scripture. one LORD. See Dt 6:4; Isa 43:11 and notes.

14:10 Geba. About six miles north-northeast of Jerusalem at the northern boundary of Judah (2Ki 23:8). Rimmon. Also called En Rimmon (Ne 11:29; cf. Jos 15:32), it was about 35 miles south-southwest of Jerusalem, where the hill country of Judah slopes away into the Negev. Arabah. See note on Dt 1:1. All the land around Jerusalem is to be leveled. Jerusalem will be raised up. See note on Isa 2:2–4. The elevation may be both physical and in prominence. Benjamin Gate ... First Gate ... Tower of Hananel. All were probably at the northeastern part of the city wall (cf. Jer 31:38; 37:12–13; 38:7). Corner Gate. At the northwest corner (cf. Jer 31:38). royal winepresses. Just south of the city. Thus the whole city is included.

14:11 inhabited. See 2:4. never again ... destroyed. As at the time of the exile to Babylonia (see Isa 43:28 and note). Jerusalem will be secure. See Jer 31:40.

14:12 plague. See Isa 37:36 and note. nations that fought against Jerusalem. See v. 2; see also note on 12:3.

14:13 great panic ... attack each other. See note stricken by the LORD with great panic.[g] Each man will seize the hand of another, and they will attack each other.[h] [14]Judah[i] too will fight at Jerusalem. The wealth of all the surrounding nations will be collected[j]—great quantities of gold and silver and clothing. [15]A similar plague[k] will strike the horses and mules, the camels and donkeys, and all the animals in those camps.

[16]Then the survivors[l] from all the nations that have attacked Jerusalem will go up year after year to worship[m] the King,[n] the LORD Almighty, and to celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles.[o] [17]If any of the peoples of the earth do not go up to Jerusalem to worship[p] the King, the LORD Almighty, they will have no rain.[q] [18]If the Egyptian people do not go up and take part, they will have no rain. The LORD[c] will bring on them the plague[r] he inflicts on the nations that do not go up to celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles.[s] [19]This will be the punishment of Egypt and the punishment of all the nations that do not go up to celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles.[t]

[20]On that day HOLY TO THE LORD[u] will be inscribed on the bells of the horses, and the cooking pots[v] in the LORD's house will be like the sacred bowls[w] in front of the altar. [21]Every pot in Jerusalem and Judah will be holy[x] to the LORD Almighty, and all who come to sacrifice will take some of the pots and cook in them. And on that day[y] there will no longer be a Canaanite[d][z] in the house[a] of the LORD Almighty.[b]

14:14 gold and silver and clothing. The plunder of battle, thus reversing the situation in v. 1.

14:15 A similar plague will strike the beasts of burden, preventing the people from using them to escape.

14:16 See Isa 2:2–4 and note. Feast of Tabernacles. See notes on Ex 23:16; Ps 81:3. Of the three great pilgrimage festivals (see Ex 23:14–17), perhaps Tabernacles was selected as the one for representatives of the various Gentile nations because it was the last and greatest festival of the Hebrew calendar, gathering up into itself the year's worship. (See note on Eze 45:25.) It was to be a time of grateful rejoicing (Lev 23:40; Dt 16:13–15; Ne 8:17). Beginning with the period of Ezra and Nehemiah, the reading and teaching of "the Book of the Law of God" became an integral part of the festivities (Ne 8:18; cf. Isa 2:3). The festival seems to speak of the final, joyful regathering and restoration of Israel, as well as of the ingathering of the nations. See chart on "OT Feasts and Other Sacred Days," p. 174.

14:18 Egyptian people . . . will have no rain. See NIV text note. With either reading, the withholding of rain may still be included, for drought would cause even the Nile inundation to fail.

14:20 HOLY TO THE LORD. Engraved on the gold plate worn on the high priest's turban (Ex 28:36–38) as a reminder of his consecration to the Lord's service. See note on 3:5. God's original purpose for Israel (see Ex 19:6 and note) will be realized.

14:21 Every pot in Jerusalem . . . holy. See Joel 3:17. Even common things become holy when they are used for God's service. Canaanite. Represents anyone who is morally or spiritually unclean—anyone who is not included among the chosen people of God (cf. Isa 35:8; Eze 43:7; 44:9; Rev 21:27).

Malachi

Author

The book is ascribed to Malachi, whose name means "my messenger." Since the term occurs in 3:1, and since both prophets and priests were called messengers of the Lord (see 2:7; Hag 1:13), some have thought "Malachi" to be only a title that tradition has given the author. The view has been supported by appeal to the early Greek translation (the Septuagint), which translates the term in 1:1 "his messenger" rather than as a proper noun. The matter, however, remains uncertain, and it is still very likely that Malachi was in fact the author's name.

Background

Spurred on by the prophetic activity of Haggai and Zechariah, the returned exiles under the leadership of their governor Zerubbabel finished the temple in 516 B.C. In 458 the community was strengthened by the coming of Ezra the priest and several thousand more Jews. King Artaxerxes of Persia encouraged Ezra to develop the temple worship (Ezr 7:17) and to make sure the law of Moses was being obeyed (Ezr 7:25–26).

Thirteen years later (445) the same Persian king permitted his cupbearer Nehemiah to return to Jerusalem and rebuild the walls (Ne 6:15). As newly appointed governor, Nehemiah also spearheaded reforms to help the poor (Ne 5:2–13), and he convinced the people to shun mixed marriages, to keep the Sabbath (Ne 10:30–31) and to bring their tithes and offerings faithfully (Ne 10:37–39).

In 433 B.C. Nehemiah returned to the service of the Persian king, and during his absence the Jews fell into sin once more. Later, however, Nehemiah came back to Jerusalem to discover that the tithes were ignored, the Sabbath was broken, the people had intermarried with foreigners, and the priests had become corrupt (Ne 13:7–31). Several of these sins are condemned by Malachi (see 1:6–14; 2:14–16; 3:8–11).

Date

The similarity between the sins denounced in Nehemiah and those denounced in Malachi suggest that the two leaders were contemporaries. Malachi may have been written after Nehemiah returned to Persia in 433 B.C. or during his second period as governor. Since the governor mentioned in 1:8 (see note there) probably was not Nehemiah, the first alternative may be more likely. Malachi was most likely the last prophet of the OT era (though some place Joel later).

Themes and Theology

Although the Jews had been allowed to return from exile and rebuild the temple, several discouraging factors brought about a general religious malaise: (1) Their land remained but a small province in the backwaters of the Persian empire, (2) the glorious future announced by the prophets (including the other postexilic prophets, Haggai and Zechariah) had not (yet) been realized, and (3) their God had not (yet) come to his temple (3:1) with majesty and power (as celebrated in Ps 68) to exalt his kingdom in the sight of the nations. Doubting God's covenant love (1:2) and no longer trusting his justice (2:17; 3:14–15), the Jews of the restored community began to lose hope. So their worship degenerated into a listless perpetuation of mere forms, and they no longer took the law seriously.

Malachi rebukes their doubt of God's love (1:2–5) and the faithlessness of both priests (1:6—2:9) and people (2:10–16). To their charge that God is unjust ("Where is the God of justice?" 2:17) because he has failed to come in judgment to exalt his people, Malachi answers with an announcement and a warning. The Lord they seek will come—but he will come "like a refiner's fire" (3:1–4). He will come to judge—but he will judge his people first (3:5).

Because the Lord does not change in his commitments and purpose, Israel has not been completely destroyed for her persistent unfaithfulness (3:6). But only through repentance and reformation will she again experience God's blessing (3:6–12). Those who honor the Lord will be spared when he comes to judge (3:16–18).

In conclusion, Malachi once more reassures and warns his readers that "the day ['that great and dreadful day of the LORD,' 4:5] is coming" and that "it will burn like a furnace" (4:1). In that day the righteous will rejoice, and "you will trample down the wicked" (4:1–3). So "remember the law of my servant Moses" (4:4). To prepare his people for that day the Lord will send "the prophet Elijah" to call them back to the godly ways of their forefathers (4:5–6).

Literary Features

Malachi is called an "oracle" (see 1:1 and note) and is written in what might be called lofty prose. The text features a series of questions asked by both God and the people. Frequently the Lord's statements are followed by sarcastic questions introduced by "But you ask" (1:2,6–7; 2:14,17; 3:7–8,13; cf. 1:13). In each case the Lord's response is given.

Repetition is a key element in the book. The name "LORD Almighty" occurs 20 times. The book begins with a description of the wasteland of Edom (1:3–4) and ends with a warning of Israel's destruction (4:6).

Several vivid figures are employed within the book of Malachi. The priests sniff contemptuously at the altar of the Lord (1:13), and the Lord spreads on their faces the offal from their sacrifices (2:3). As Judge, "he will be like a refiner's fire or a launderer's soap" (3:2), but for the righteous "the sun of righteousness will rise with healing in its wings. And you will go out and leap like calves released from the stall" (4:2).

1 An oracle:[a] The word[b] of the LORD to Israel through Malachi.[a]

Jacob Loved, Esau Hated

2"I have loved[c] you," says the LORD.

"But you ask,[d] 'How have you loved us?'

"Was not Esau Jacob's brother?" the LORD says. "Yet I have loved Jacob,[e] 3but Esau I have hated,[f] and I have turned his mountains into a wasteland[g] and left his inheritance to the desert jackals.[h]"

4Edom[i] may say, "Though we have been crushed, we will rebuild[j] the ruins."

But this is what the LORD Almighty says: "They may build, but I will demolish.[k] They will be called the Wicked Land, a people always under the wrath of the LORD.[l] 5You will see it with your own eyes and say, 'Great[m] is the LORD—even beyond the borders of Israel!'[n]

Blemished Sacrifices

6"A son honors his father,[o] and a servant his master.[p] If I am a father, where is the honor due me? If I am a master, where is the respect[q] due me?" says the LORD Almighty.[r] "It is you, O priests, who show contempt for my name.

"But you ask,[s] 'How have we shown contempt for your name?'

7"You place defiled food[t] on my altar.

"But you ask,[u] 'How have we defiled you?'

"By saying that the LORD's table[v] is contemptible. 8When you bring blind animals for sacrifice, is that not wrong? When you sacrifice crippled or diseased animals,[w] is that not wrong? Try offering them to your governor! Would he be pleased[x] with you? Would he accept you?" says the LORD Almighty.[y]

9"Now implore God to be gracious to us. With such offerings[z] from your hands, will he accept[a] you?"—says the LORD Almighty.

10"Oh, that one of you would shut the temple doors,[b] so that you would not light useless fires on my altar! I am not pleased[c] with you," says the LORD Almighty, "and I will accept[d] no offering[e] from your hands. 11My name will be great[f] among the nations,[g] from the rising to the setting of the sun.[h] In every place incense[i] and pure offerings[j] will be brought to my name, because my name will be great among the nations," says the LORD Almighty.

12"But you profane it by saying of the Lord's table,[k] 'It is defiled,' and of its food,[l] 'It is contemptible.' 13And you say, 'What a burden!'[m] and you sniff at it contemptuously,[n]" says the LORD Almighty.

"When you bring injured, crippled or diseased animals and offer them as sacrifices,[o] should I accept them from your hands?"[p] says the LORD. 14"Cursed is the cheat who has an acceptable male in his

[a] 1 Malachi means my messenger.

1:1 oracle. See Zec 9:1 and note; 12:1; see also Hab 1:1 and note.

1:2 loved you. The Lord's reassuring word to his disheartened people.

1:3 Esau I have hated. If Israel doubts God's covenant love, she should consider the contrast between God's ways with her and his ways with Jacob's brother Esau (Edom). Paul explains God's love for Jacob and hatred for Esau on the basis of election (Ro 9:10–13). God chose Jacob but not Esau. For the use of "love" and "hate" here, cf. how Leah was "hated" in that Jacob loved Rachel more (Ge 29:31,33; cf. Dt 21:16–17). Likewise, believers are to "hate" their parents (Lk 14:26) in the sense that they love Christ even more (Mt 10:37). wasteland. Malachi's words about Edom echo those of the earlier prophets (see Isa 34:5–15; Jer 49:7–22; Eze 25:12–14; 35:1–15; Obadiah). Between c. 550 and 400 B.C. the Nabatean Arabs gradually forced the Edomites from their homeland.

1:4 Edom may say. Her proud self-reliance has not assured her security and will not secure her future (cf. Jer 49:16).

1:5 Great ... Israel. When she sees the ultimate fate of Edom, doubting Israel will acknowledge that the Lord is the great Ruler over all the nations.

1:6–2:9 The Lord rebukes the priests.

1:6 son honors his father. Cf. Isa 1:2–3. priests, who show contempt for my name. Contrast 2:5; cf. Isa 1:4.

1:7 food. The offerings (see v. 12; Lev 21:8,21). defiled you. By offering defiled sacrifices they defile the Lord himself. the LORD's table. The altar (see v. 12; Eze 44:16). Since the priests ate from the sacrifices, the altar was also the table from which they got their food. contemptible. As the priests considered the Lord's altar and its sacrifices (v. 12) contemptible, so the Lord would cause the priests to be considered contemptible by the people (see 2:9 and note).

1:8 blind ... crippled. Animals with defects or serious flaws were unacceptable as sacrifices (see Dt 15:21). governor. Probably the Persian governor.

1:10 shut the temple doors. Better no sacrifices than sacrifices offered with contempt (cf. Isa 1:11–15).

1:11 great among the nations. Cf. v. 14. God's judgment on Edom (v. 5) and other nations demonstrates his superiority over their gods, and it ultimately will evoke their recognition of him (see Zep 2:11). incense and pure offerings. Cf. the acceptable offerings presented by foreigners in Isa 56:6–7; 60:7. Some interpreters understand "incense" to mean "prayer" (cf. Rev 5:8) and "offerings" to mean "praise" (cf. Heb 13:15).

1:12 defiled ... contemptible. See v. 7.

1:13 sniff at it contemptuously. Cf. the behavior of Eli's sons in 1Sa 2:15–17. injured ... diseased. See v. 8 and note.

1:14 vows ... a blemished animal. An animal sacrificed in fulfillment of a vow had to be a male without defect or blemish (see Lev 22:18–23). great king. See Zec 14:9. my name ... feared. More than the governor of v. 8 (see v. 11 flock and vows to give it, but then sacrifices a blemished animal[q] to the Lord. For I am a great king,[r]" says the Lord Almighty, "and my name is to be feared[t] among the nations.[u]

Admonition for the Priests

2 "And now this admonition is for you, O priests.[v] [2]If you do not listen,[w] and if you do not set your heart to honor[x] my name," says the Lord Almighty, "I will send a curse[y] upon you, and I will curse your blessings.[z] Yes, I have already cursed them, because you have not set your heart to honor me.

[3]"Because of you I will rebuke[b] your descendants[c]; I will spread on your faces the offal[a] from your festival sacrifices, and you will be carried off with it.[b] [4]And you will know that I have sent you this admonition so that my covenant with Levi[c] may continue," says the Lord Almighty. [5]"My covenant was with him, a covenant[d] of life and peace,[e] and I gave them to him; this called for reverence[f] and he revered me and stood in awe of my name. [6]True instruction[g] was in his mouth and nothing false was found on his lips. He walked[h] with me in peace[i] and uprightness,[j] and turned many from sin.[k]

[7]"For the lips of a priest[l] ought to preserve knowledge, and from his mouth men should seek instruction[m]—because he is the messenger[n] of the Lord Almighty. [8]But you have turned from the way[o] and by your teaching have caused many to stumble;[p] you have violated the covenant[q] with Levi,"[r] says the Lord Almighty. [9]"So I have caused you to be despised[s] and humiliated[t] before all the people, because you have not followed my ways but have shown partiality[u] in matters of the law."[v]

Judah Unfaithful

[10]Have we not all one Father[d]? Did not one God create us?[x] Why do we profane the covenant[y] of our fathers by breaking faith[z] with one another?

[11]Judah has broken faith. A detestable[a] thing has been committed in Israel and in Jerusalem: Judah has desecrated the sanctuary the Lord loves,[b] by marrying[c] the daughter of a foreign god.[d] [12]As for the man who does this, whoever he may be, may the Lord cut him off[e] from the tents of Jacob[e f]—even though he brings offerings[g] to the Lord Almighty.

[13]Another thing you do: You flood the Lord's altar with tears.[h] You weep and wail[i] because he no longer pays attention[j] to your offerings or accepts them and note).

2:2 curse your blessings. It was the function of the priests to pronounce God's blessing on the people (see Nu 6:23–27), but their blessings will become curses so that their uniquely priestly function will be worse than useless.

2:3 spread on your faces. To disgrace you (see Na 3:6). offal. The entrails of an animal that were taken "outside the camp" and burned along with its hide and flesh (see Ex 29:14; Lev 8:17; 16:27).

2:4 Levi. The priests were chosen from the tribe of Levi (see Nu 3:12–13; Ne 13:29).

2:5 covenant of life and peace. An allusion to the covenant with Phinehas, Aaron's grandson, in Nu 25:10–13. Phinehas defended God's honor by killing two offenders involved in the idolatry and immorality connected with the Baal of Peor (Nu 25:1–3). he revered me. Phinehas showed this by his zeal for God (see Nu 25:13).

2:6–7 instruction. Priests were responsible to teach the law of Moses (see Lev 10:11; see also notes on Zep 3:4; Hag 2:11).

2:6 peace and uprightness. Linked together also in Ps 37:37, but here "walked with me in peace and uprightness" probably refers to covenant loyalty.

2:7 messenger. As teacher of the law and as one through whom people could inquire of God (see notes on 3:1; Hag 1:13).

2:8 violated the covenant. By unfaithful teaching, but also, it seems, by intermarriage with foreigners (see Ezr 9:1; 10:18–22; Ne 13:27–29). with Levi. See v. 4 and note on v. 5.

2:9 despised. In Hebrew the same word that is translated "contemptible" in 1:7,12 (see note on 1:7). shown partiality. Forbidden in Lev 19:15. The priests were to be like God in this respect (see Dt 10:17).

2:10–16 Malachi rebukes the people—in a passage framed by references to "breaking faith." Two examples of their sin are specifically mentioned: marrying pagan women and divorce.

2:10 one Father. See Isa 63:16. create us. As his special people (see Isa 43:1 and note). covenant of our fathers. The covenant God made with their forefathers at Mount Sinai. breaking faith. One could not even trust his own fellow Israelites or the national leaders—like the priests.

2:11 daughter of a foreign god. A pagan woman. Such marriages were strictly forbidden in the covenant law because they would lead to apostasy (see Ex 34:15–16; Dt 7:3–4; 1Ki 11:1–6; cf. Jos 23:12–13). Ezra and Nehemiah both wrestled with this problem (Ezr 9:1–2; Ne 13:23–29).

2:12 The alternative given in the NIV text note (particularly "gives testimony") is supported, e.g., by the use of the same Hebrew verb in Ge 30:33; Dt 5:20; Ru 1:21; 1Sa 12:3; 2Sa 1:16; Isa 3:9; Jer 14:7. On this reading, the one to be cut off is the one who speaks in defense of the wrongdoer. tents of Jacob. A figurative expression for the community (see Jer 30:18).

2:13 weep and wail. Because the Lord does not respond to their sacrifices with blessing, they add wailing to their prayers.

with pleasure from your hands.[k] 14You ask,[l] "Why?" It is because the LORD is acting as the witness[m] between you and the wife of your youth,[n] because you have broken faith with her, though she is your partner, the wife of your marriage covenant.[o]

15Has not [the LORD] made them one?[p] In flesh and spirit they are his. And why one? Because he was seeking godly offspring.[q] So guard yourself[r] in your spirit, and do not break faith[s] with the wife of your youth.

16"I hate divorce," says the LORD God of Israel, "and I hate a man's covering himself[g] with violence[u] as well as with his garment," says the LORD Almighty.

So guard yourself in your spirit,[v] and do not break faith.

The Day of Judgment

17You have wearied[w] the LORD with your words.

"How have we wearied him?" you ask.[x]

By saying, "All who do evil are good in the eyes of the LORD, and he is pleased[y] with them" or "Where is the God of justice?[z]"

3 "See, I will send my messenger,[a] who will prepare the way before me.[b] Then suddenly the Lord[c] you are seeking will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant,[d] whom you desire,[e] will come," says the LORD Almighty.

2But who can endure[f] the day of his coming?[g] Who can stand[h] when he appears? For he will be like a refiner's fire[i] or a launderer's soap.[j] 3He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver;[k] he will purify[l] the Levites and refine them like gold and silver.[m] Then the LORD will have men who will bring offerings in righteousness,[n] 4and the offerings[o] of Judah and Jerusalem will be acceptable to the LORD, as in days gone by, as in former years.[p]

5"So I will come near to you for judgment. I will be quick to testify against sorcerers,[q] adulterers[r] and perjurers,[s] against those who defraud laborers of their wages,[t] who oppress the widows[u] and the fatherless, and deprive aliens[v] of justice, but do not fear[w] me," says the LORD Almighty.

Robbing God

6"I the LORD do not change.[x] So you, O descendants of Jacob, are not destroyed.[y] 7Ever since the time of your forefathers you have turned away[z] from my decrees and have not kept them. Re-

[f] 15 Or 15But the one [who is our father] did not do this, not as long as life remained in him. And what was he seeking? An offspring from God [g] 16 Or his wife

2:14 witness ... marriage covenant. Marriage was a covenant (see Pr 2:17; Eze 16:8), and covenants were affirmed before witnesses (see notes on Dt 30:19; 1Sa 20:23; Isa 8:1–2).

2:15 one. See Ge 2:24 and note. godly offspring. Marriage "sanctifies" the children (see 1Co 7:14 and note). If the alternative translation in the NIV text note is taken, this verse refers to Abraham, who "married" the foreigner Hagar in order to have a son (Ge 16:1–4). But Abraham did not divorce Sarah, who had suggested the union with Hagar in the first place.

2:16 I hate divorce. See Isa 50:1 and note. violence. See 3:5.

2:17–4:6 The second half of Malachi's prophecy speaks of God's coming to his people. They had given up on God (see 2:17, which introduces this section) and had grown religiously cynical and morally corrupt. So God's coming will mean judgment and purification as well as redemption.

2:17 wearied the LORD with your words. In Isa 43:24 Israel's sins had wearied God. All who do evil are good. Such was the depth of their cynicism. Where is ... justice? Cf. the sarcastic taunts of Isa 5:19.

3:1 my messenger. The Hebrew for these words is mal'aki; it is normally used of a priest or prophet (see Hag 1:13 and note). This is fulfilled in John the Baptist (see Mt 11:10; Mk 1:2; Lk 1:76). who will prepare the way. When the Lord comes, it will be to purify (v. 3) and judge (v. 5), but he will mercifully send one before him to prepare his people (see 4:5–6 and notes; see also Isa 40:3 and note). the Lord you are seeking ... whom you desire, will come. See Hag 2:7 and note. messenger of the covenant. The Messiah, who as the Lord's representative will confirm and establish the covenant (see note on Isa 42:6).

3:2 day of his coming. The day of the Lord (see 4:1; see also note on Isa 2:11,17,20). Malachi announces the Lord's coming to complete God's work in history, especially the work he outlines in the rest of his book. His word is fulfilled in the accomplishments of the Messiah. Who can stand ...? Those who desire the Lord's coming must know that clean hands and a pure heart are required (cf. Ps 24:3–4; Isa 33:14–15). refiner's fire. See Isa 1:25; Zec 13:8–9 and notes. launderer's soap. See Isa 7:3 and note. White clothes signified purity (cf. Mk 9:3; Rev 3:5).

3:3 purify the Levites. Those who are supposed to be "messengers" of the Lord and who serve at the altar will be purged of their sins and unfaithfulness—such as the Lord has rebuked in 1:6–2:9.

3:4 be acceptable. See 1:8 and note. days gone by. Probably the time of Moses and Phinehas (see note on 2:5).

3:5 When he comes, the Lord will both purify the Levites (vv. 3–4) and judge the people. sorcerers. Common in the ancient Near East (see Ex 7:11; Dt 18:10).

3:6 do not change. See Jas 1:17. Contrary to what many in Malachi's day were thinking, God remains faithful to his covenant. not destroyed. In contrast to Edom (1:3–5) and in spite of Israel's history of unfaithfulness.

3:7 Return ... and I will return. If the Lord is to come for Israel's redemption, she must repent.

turn[a] to me, and I will return to you,"[b] says the LORD Almighty.

"But you ask,[c] 'How are we to return?'

8"Will a man rob[d] God? Yet you rob me.

"But you ask, 'How do we rob you?'

"In tithes[e] and offerings. 9You are under a curse[f]—the whole nation of you—because you are robbing me. 10Bring the whole tithe[g] into the storehouse,[h] that there may be food in my house. Test me in this," says the LORD Almighty, "and see if I will not throw open the floodgates[i] of heaven and pour out[j] so much blessing[k] that you will not have room enough for it.[l] 11I will prevent pests from devouring[m] your crops, and the vines in your fields will not cast their fruit,[n]" says the LORD Almighty. 12"Then all the nations will call you blessed,[o] for yours will be a delightful land,"[p] says the LORD Almighty.[q]

13"You have said harsh things[r] against me," says the LORD.

"Yet you ask,[s] 'What have we said against you?'

14"You have said, 'It is futile[t] to serve[u] God. What did we gain by carrying out his requirements[v] and going about like mourners[w] before the LORD Almighty? 15But now we call the arrogant[x] blessed. Certainly the evildoers[y] prosper,[z] and even those who challenge God escape.' "

16Then those who feared the LORD talked with each other, and the LORD listened and heard.[a] A scroll[b] of remembrance was written in his presence concerning those who feared[c] the LORD and honored his name.

17"They will be mine,[d]" says the LORD Almighty, "in the day when I make up my treasured possession.[h e] I will spare[f] them, just as in compassion a man spares his son[g] who serves him. 18And you will again see the distinction between the righteous[h] and the wicked, between those who serve God and those who do not.[i]

The Day of the LORD

4 "Surely the day is coming;[j] it will burn like a furnace.[k] All the arrogant[l] and every evildoer will be stubble,[m] and that day that is coming will set them on fire,[n]" says the LORD Almighty. "Not a root or a branch[o] will be left to them. 2But for you who revere my name,[p] the sun of righteousness[q] will rise with healing[r] in its wings. And you will go out and leap[s] like calves released from the stall. 3Then you will trample[t] down the wicked; they will be ashes[u] under the soles of your feet on the day when I do these things," says the LORD Almighty.

3:11 pests ... cast their fruit. Examples of the threatened covenant curses (see Dt 28:39–40).
3:12 call you blessed. In fulfillment of the promise to Abraham (see Ge 12:2–3; see also Isa 61:9 and note).
3:14 It is futile to serve God. Because the redemption they longed for had not yet been realized. like mourners. In sackcloth and ashes.
3:15 arrogant. Evildoers—those who challenge God (see note on Ps 10:11). blessed. In their unbelief, the Jews call blessed those whom the godly know to be cursed (see Ps 119:21)—but it is they who will be called blessed if they repent (v. 12). evildoers prosper ... escape. Note the psalmist's struggle with the prosperity of the wicked in Ps 73:3,9–12.
3:16 those who feared the LORD. Those who had not given way to doubts and cynicism. talked with each other. In the face of the widespread complaining against God (vv. 14–15), they sought mutual encouragement in fellowship. scroll of remembrance. Analogous to the records of notable deeds kept by earthly rulers (see Est 6:1–3; Isa 4:3; Da 7:10; 12:1). honored his name. Contrast the priests (1:12) and many among the people (vv. 14–15; 2:17).
3:17 my treasured possession. See note on Ex 19:5. spare them. In the day of judgment (see 4:1–2). who serves him. Cf. 1:6.
3:18 you will again see. As they apparently do not now see; hence their cynicism. the righteous and the wicked. See 2:17 and note.
4:1 the day. The day of the Lord (see v. 5; 3:2 and note). burn like a furnace. See 3:2–3; Isa 1:31; 66:15–16 and notes. arrogant. See 3:15 and note. stubble ... fire. See Isa 47:14 and John the Baptist's prophecy about the work of Christ in Mt 3:12. Not a root or a branch. Nothing of them will be left (see Eze 17:8–9).
4:2 sun of righteousness. God and his glory are compared with the sun in Isa 60:1,19 (see notes there). Christ is the "rising sun" from heaven (see Lk 1:78–79; see also Isa 9:2 and note). righteousness ... healing. Salvation and renewal are intended (see Isa 45:8; 46:13; 53:5; Jer 30:17 and notes). its wings. The sun's rays (cf. Ps 139:9). like calves released from the stall. Frisky young calves often frolic about when released from confinement.
4:3 trample ... the wicked. As one treads the winepress (see Isa 63:2–3 and notes).
4:4 Remember the law. A final exhortation to those who impatiently wait for the Lord's coming. my servant. See Ex 14:31; Dt 34:5; Jdg 2:8; Ps 18 title; Isa 20:3; 41:8–9; 42:1 and

4:5 See 3:1 and note. Elijah. As Elijah came before Elisha (whose ministry was one of judgment and redemption), so "Elijah" will be sent to prepare God's people for the Lord's coming. John the Baptist ministered "in the spirit and power of Elijah" (Lk 1:17; see Mt 11:13–14; 17:12–13; Mk 9:11–13). And some feel that Elijah may also be one of the two witnesses in Rev 11:3. great and dreadful day. See v. 1; 3:2 and note; Joel 2:11,31.

4:6 turn the hearts. Cf. Ge 18:19; Dt 7:9–11. According to Lk 1:17 John the Baptist sought to accomplish this. curse. Total destruction. If Israel does not repent, she will be dealt with as God had dealt with Edom (see Isa 34:5; cf. Mal 1:3–4).

From Malachi to Christ

THE PERSIAN PERIOD
450-330 B.C.

For about 200 years after Nehemiah's time the Persians controlled Judah, but the Jews were allowed to carry on their religious observances and were not interfered with. During this time Judah was ruled by high priests who were responsible to the Jewish government.

Rule of Alexander the Great

THE HELLENISTIC PERIOD
330-166 B.C.

In 333 B.C. the Persian armies stationed in Macedonia were defeated by Alexander the Great. He was convinced that Greek culture was the one force that could unify the world. Alexander permitted the Jews to observe their laws and even granted them exemption from tribute or tax during their sabbath years. When he built Alexandria in Egypt, he encouraged Jews to live there and gave them some of the same privileges he gave his Greek subjects. The Greek conquest prepared the way for the translation of the OT into Greek (Septuagint version) c.250 B.C.

Rule of the Ptolemies of Egypt

Rule of the Seleucids of Syria

THE HASMONEAN PERIOD
166-63 B.C.

When this historical period began, the Jews were being greatly oppressed. The Ptolemies had been tolerant of the Jews and their religious practices, but the Seleucid rulers were determined to force Hellenism on them. Copies of the Scriptures were ordered destroyed and laws were enforced with extreme cruelty. The oppressed Jews revolted, led by Judas the Maccabee.

Hasmonean Dynasty

THE ROMAN PERIOD
63 B.C. . . .

In the year 63 B.C. Pompey, the Roman general, captured Jerusalem, and the provinces of Palestine became subject to Rome. The local government was entrusted part of the time to princes and the rest of the time to procurators who were appointed by the emperors. Herod the Great was ruler of all Palestine at the time of Christ's birth.

The Time between the Testaments

The time between the Testaments was one of ferment and change—a time of the realignment of traditional power blocs and the passing of a Near Eastern cultural tradition that had been dominant for almost 3,000 years.

In Biblical history, the approximately 400 years that separate the time of Nehemiah from the birth of Christ are known as the intertestamental period (c. 432–5 B.C.). Sometimes called the "silent" years, they were anything but silent. The events, literature and social forces of these years would shape the world of the NT.

History

With the Babylonian captivity, Israel ceased to be an independent nation and became a minor territory in a succession of larger empires. Very little is known about the latter years of Persian domination because the Jewish historian Josephus, our primary source for the intertestamental period, all but ignores them.

With Alexander the Great's acquisition of Palestine (332 B.C.), a new and more insidious threat to Israel emerged. Alexander was committed to the creation of a world united by Greek language and culture, a policy followed by his successors. This policy, called Hellenization, had a dramatic impact on the Jews.

At Alexander's death (323 B.C.) the empire he won was divided among his generals. Two of them founded dynasties—the Ptolemies in Egypt and the Seleucids in Syria and Mesopotamia—that would contend for control of Palestine for over a century.

The rule of the Ptolemies was considerate of Jewish religious sensitivities, but in 198 B.C. the Seleucids took control and paved the way for one of the most heroic periods in Jewish history.

The early Seleucid years were largely a continuation of the tolerant rule of the Ptolemies, but Antiochus IV Epiphanes (whose title means "God made manifest" and who ruled 175–164 B.C.) changed that when he attempted to consolidate his fading empire through a policy of radical Hellenization. While a segment of the Jewish aristocracy had already adopted Greek ways, the majority of Jews were outraged.

Antiochus's atrocities were aimed at the eradication of Jewish religion. He prohibited some of the central elements of Jewish practice, attempted to destroy all copies of the Torah (the Pentateuch) and required offerings to the Greek god Zeus. His crowning outrage was the erection of a statue of Zeus and the sacrificing of a pig in the Jerusalem temple itself.

Opposition to Antiochus was led by Mattathias, an elderly villager from a priestly family, and his five sons: Judas (Maccabeus), Jonathan, Simon, John and Eleazar. Mattathias destroyed a Greek altar established in his village, Modein, and killed Antiochus's emissary. This triggered the Maccabean revolt, a 24-year war (166–142 B.C.) that resulted in the independence of Judah until the Romans took control in 63 B.C.

The victory of Mattathias's family was Pyrrhic, however. With the death of his last son, Simon, the Hasmonean dynasty that they founded soon evolved into an aristocratic, Hellenistic regime sometimes hard to distinguish from that of the Seleucids. During the reign of Simon's son, John Hyrcanus, the orthodox Jews who had supported the Maccabees fell out of favor. With only a few exceptions, the rest of the Hasmoneans supported the Jewish Hellenizers. The Pharisees were actually persecuted by Alexander Janneus (102–76 B.C.).

The Hasmonean dynasty ended when, in 63 B.C., an expanding Roman empire intervened in a dynastic clash between the two sons of Janneus, Aristobulus II and Hyrcanus II. Pompey, the general who subdued the East for Rome, took Jerusalem after a three-month siege of the temple area, massacring priests in the performance of their duties and entering the Most Holy Place. This sacrilege began Roman rule in a way that Jews could neither forgive nor forget.

Literature

During these unhappy years of oppression and internal strife, the Jewish people produced a sizable body of literature that both recorded and addressed their era. Three of the more significant works are the Septuagint, the Apocrypha and the Dead Sea Scrolls.

Septuagint. Jewish legend says that 72 scholars, under the sponsorship of Ptolemy Philadelphus (c. 250 B.C.), were brought together on the island of Pharos, near Alexandria, where they produced a Greek translation of the OT in 72 days. From this tradition the Latin word for 70, "Septuagint," became the name attached to the translation. The Roman numeral for 70, LXX, is used as an abbreviation for it.

Behind the legend lies the probability that at least the Torah (the five books of Moses) was translated into Greek c. 250 B.C. for the use of the Greek-speaking Jews of Alexandria. The rest of the OT and some noncanonical books were also included in the LXX before the dawning of the Christian era, though it is difficult to be certain when.

The Septuagint quickly became the Bible of the Jews outside Palestine who, like the Alexandrians, no longer spoke Hebrew. It would be difficult to overestimate its influence. It made the Scriptures available both to the Jews who no longer spoke their ancestral language and to the entire Greek-speaking world. It later became the Bible of the early church. Also, its widespread popularity and use contributed to the retention of the Apocrypha by some branches of Christendom.

Apocrypha. Derived from a Greek word that means "hidden," Apocrypha has acquired the meaning "false," but in a technical sense it describes a specific body of writings. This collection consists of a variety of books and additions to canonical books that, with the exception of 2 Esdras (c. A.D. 90), were written during the intertestamental period. Their recognition as authoritative in Roman and Eastern Christianity is the result of a complex historical process.

The canon of the OT accepted by Protestants today was very likely established by the dawn of the second century A.D., though after the fall of Jerusalem and the destruction of the temple in 70. The precise scope of the OT was discussed among the Jews until the Council of Jamnia (c. 90). This Hebrew canon was not accepted by the early church, which used the Septuagint. In spite of disagreements among some of the church fathers as to which books were canonical and which were not, the Apocryphal books continued in common use by most Christians until the Reformation. During this period most Protestants decided to follow the original Hebrew canon while Rome, at the Council of Trent (1546) and more recently at the First Vatican Council (1869–70), affirmed the larger "Alexandrian" canon that includes the Apocrypha.

The Apocryphal books have retained their place primarily through the weight of ecclesiastical authority, without which they would not commend themselves as canonical literature. There is no clear evidence that Jesus or the apostles ever quoted any Apocryphal works as Scripture (but see note on Jude 14). The Jewish community that produced them repudiated them, and the historical surveys in the apostolic sermons recorded in Acts completely ignore the period they cover. Even the sober, historical account of 1 Maccabees is tarnished by numerous errors and anachronisms.

There is nothing of theological value in the Apocryphal books that cannot be duplicated in canonical Scripture, and they contain much that runs counter to its teachings. Nonetheless, this body of literature does provide a valuable source of information for the study of the intertestamental period.

Dead Sea Scrolls. In the spring of 1947 an Arab shepherd chanced upon a cave in the hills overlooking the southwestern shore of the Dead Sea that contained what has been called "the greatest manuscript discovery of modern times." The documents and fragments of documents found in those caves, dubbed the "Dead Sea Scrolls," included OT books, a few books of the Apocrypha, apocalyptic works, pseudepigrapha (books that purport to be the work of ancient heroes of the faith), and a number of books peculiar to the sect that produced them.

Approximately a third of the documents are Biblical, with Psalms, Deuteronomy and Isaiah—the books quoted most often in the NT—occurring most frequently. One of the most remarkable finds was a complete 24-foot-long scroll of Isaiah.

The Scrolls have made a significant contribution to the quest for a form of the OT texts most accurately reflecting the original manuscripts; they provide copies 1,000 years closer to the originals than were previously known. The understanding of Biblical Hebrew and Aramaic and knowledge of the development of Judaism between the Testaments have been increased significantly. Of great importance to readers of the Bible is the demonstration of the care with which OT texts were copied, thus providing objective evidence for the general reliability of those texts.

Social Developments

The Judaism of Jesus' day is, to a large extent, the result of changes that came about in response to the pressures of the intertestamental period.

Diaspora. The Diaspora (dispersion) of Israel begun in the exile accelerated during these years until a writer of the day could say that Jews filled "every land and sea."

Jews outside Palestine, cut off from the temple, concentrated their religious life in the study of the Torah and the life of the synagogue (see below). The missionaries of the early church began their Gentile ministries among the Diaspora, using their Greek translation of the OT.

Sadducees. In Palestine, the Greek world made its greatest impact through the party of the Sadducees. Made up of aristocrats, it became the temple party. Because of their position, the Sadducees had a vested interest in the status quo.

Relatively few in number, they wielded disproportionate political power and controlled the high priesthood. They rejected all religious writings except the Torah, as well as any doctrine (such as the resurrection) not found in those five books.

Synagogue. During the exile, Israel was cut off from the temple, divested of nationhood and surrounded by pagan religious practices. Her faith was threatened with extinction. Under these circumstances, the exiles turned their religious focus from what they had lost to what they retained—the Torah and the belief that they were God's people. They concentrated on the law rather than nationhood, on personal piety rather than sacramental rectitude, and on prayer as an acceptable replacement for the sacrifices denied to them.

When they returned from the exile, they brought with them this new form of religious expression, as well as the synagogue (its center), and Judaism became a faith that could be practiced wherever the Torah could be carried. The emphases on personal piety and a relationship with God, which characterized synagogue worship, not only helped preserve Judaism but also prepared the way for the Christian gospel.

Pharisees. As the party of the synagogue, the Pharisees strove to reinterpret the law. They built a "hedge" around it to enable Jews to live righteously before God in a world that had changed drastically since the days of Moses. Although they were comparatively few in number, the Pharisees enjoyed the support of the people and influenced popular opinion if not national policy. They were the only party to survive the destruction of the temple in A.D. 70 and were the spiritual progenitors of modern Judaism.

Essenes. An almost forgotten Jewish sect until the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Essenes were a small, separatist group that grew out of the conflicts of the Maccabean age. Like the Pharisees, they stressed strict legal observance, but they considered the temple priesthood corrupt and rejected much of the temple ritual and sacrificial system. Mentioned by several ancient writers, the precise nature of the Essenes is still not certain, though it is generally agreed that the Qumran community that produced the Dead Sea Scrolls was an Essene group.

Because they were convinced that they were the true remnant, these Qumran Essenes had separated themselves from Judaism at large and devoted themselves to personal purity and preparation for the final war between the "Sons of Light and the Sons of Darkness." They practiced an apocalyptic faith, looking back to the contributions of their "Teacher of Righteousness" and forward to the coming of two, and possibly three, Messiahs. The destruction of the temple in A.D. 70, however, seems to have delivered a death blow to their apocalyptic expectations.

Attempts have been made to equate aspects of the beliefs of the Qumran community with the origins of Christianity. Some have seen a prototype of Jesus in their "Teacher of Righteousness," and both John the Baptist and Jesus have been assigned membership in the sect. There is, however, only a superficial, speculative basis for these conjectures.

The Synoptic Gospels

A careful comparison of the four Gospels reveals that Matthew, Mark and Luke are noticeably similar, while John is quite different. The first three Gospels agree extensively in language, in the material they include, and in the order in which events and sayings from the life of Christ are recorded. (Chronological order does not appear to have been rigidly followed in any of the Gospels, however.) Because of this agreement, these three books are called the Synoptic Gospels (syn, "together with"; optic, "seeing"; thus "seeing together"). For an example of agreement in content see Mt 9:2–8; Mk 2:3–12; Lk 5:18–26. An instance of verbatim agreement is found in Mt 10:22a; Mk 13:13a; Lk 21:17. A mathematical comparison shows that 91 percent of Mark's Gospel is contained in Matthew, while 53 percent of Mark is found in Luke. Such agreement raises questions as to the origin of the Synoptic Gospels. Did the authors rely on a common source? Were they interdependent? Questions such as these constitute what is known as the Synoptic Problem. Several suggested solutions have been advanced:

1. The use of oral tradition. Some have thought that tradition had become so stereotyped that it provided a common source from which all the Gospel writers drew.

2. The use of an early Gospel. Some have postulated that the Synoptic authors all had access to an earlier Gospel, now lost.

3. The use of written fragments. Some have assumed that written fragments had been composed concerning various events from the life of Christ and that these were used by the Synoptic authors.

4. Mutual dependence. Some have suggested that the Synoptic writers drew from each other with the result that what they wrote was often very similar.

5. The use of two major sources. The most common view currently is that the Gospel of Mark and a hypothetical document, called Quelle (German for "source") or Q, were used by Matthew and Luke as sources for most of the materials included in their Gospels.

6. The priority and use of Matthew. Another view suggests that the other two Synoptics drew from Matthew as their main source.

7. A combination of most of the above. This theory assumes that the authors of the Synoptic Gospels made use of oral tradition, written fragments, mutual dependence on other Synoptic writers or on their Gospels, and the testimony of eyewitnesses.

Author

The early church fathers were unanimous in holding that Matthew, one of the 12 apostles, was the author of this Gospel. However, the results of modern critical studies—in particular those that stress Matthew's alleged dependence on Mark for a substantial part of his Gospel—have caused some Biblical scholars to abandon Matthean authorship. Why, they ask, would Matthew, an eyewitness to the events of our Lord's life, depend so heavily on Mark's account? The best answer seems to be that he agreed with it and wanted to show that the apostolic testimony to Christ was not divided.

Matthew, whose name means "gift of the LORD," was a tax collector who left his work to follow Jesus (9:9–13). In Mark and Luke he is called by his other name, Levi.
