4:15 routed. See note on v. 7. The Hebrew for this word is also used of the panic that overcame the Egyptians at the "Red Sea" (Ex 14:24) and the Philistines at Mizpah (1Sa 7:10).

4:18 he entered her tent. Since ancient Near Eastern custom prohibited any man other than a woman's husband or father from entering her tent, Jael seemed to offer Sisera an ideal hiding place.

4:19 skin. Containers for liquids were normally made from the skins of goats or lambs. milk. See note on 5:25. Jael, whose name means "mountain goat," gave him milk to drink—and it was most likely goat's milk (see Ex 23:19; Pr 27:27).

DEBORAH

NAME MEANS: "Bee"
OCCUPATION: Prophetess, judge over Israel
BEST KNOWN FOR:

- being the only female judge over Israel
- her prophetic abilities
- her song (Jdg 5:2–31)—one of the earliest examples of Hebrew poetry

he told her. "If someone comes by and asks you, 'Is anyone here?' say 'No.' "

21But Jael,[f] Heber's wife, picked up a tent peg and a hammer and went quietly to him while he lay fast asleep,[g] exhausted. She drove the peg through his temple into the ground, and he died.[h]

22Barak came by in pursuit of Sisera, and Jael[i] went out to meet him. "Come," she said, "I will show you the man you're looking for." So he went in with her, and there lay Sisera with the tent peg through his temple—dead.[j]

23On that day God subdued[k] Jabin,[l] the Canaanite king, before the Israelites. 24And the hand of the Israelites grew stronger and stronger against Jabin, the Canaanite king, until they destroyed him.[m]

The Song of Deborah

5 On that day Deborah[n] and Barak son of Abinoam[o] sang this song:[p]

2"When the princes in Israel take the lead, when the people willingly offer[q] themselves—
praise the LORD![r]

3"Hear this, you kings! Listen, you rulers!
I will sing to[u] the LORD, I will sing;[s]
I will make music to[v] the LORD, the God of Israel.[t]

4"O LORD, when you went out[u] from Seir,[v] when you marched from the land of Edom, the earth shook,[w] the heavens poured,
the clouds poured down water.[x] 5The mountains quaked[y] before the LORD, the One of Sinai, before the LORD, the God of Israel.

6"In the days of Shamgar son of Anath,[z] in the days of Jael,[a] the roads[b] were abandoned;
travelers took to winding paths.[c] 7Village life[w] in Israel ceased, ceased until I,[x] Deborah,[d] arose, arose a mother in Israel.
8When they chose new gods,[e] war came to the city gates,[f] and not a shield or spear[g] was seen among forty thousand in Israel.
9My heart is with Israel's princes, with the willing volunteers[h] among the people.
Praise the LORD!

10"You who ride on white donkeys,[i] sitting on your saddle blankets, and you who walk along the road, consider 11the voice of the singers[y] at the watering places.
They recite the righteous acts[j] of the LORD,

4:21 drove the peg through his temple. The laws of hospitality normally meant that one tried to protect a guest from any harm (see 19:23; Ge 19:8). Jael remained true to her family's previous alliance with Israel (she may not have been an Israelite) and so undid her husband's deliberate breach of faith. Armed only with domestic implements, this dauntless woman destroyed the great warrior whom Barak had earlier feared.

4:22 there lay Sisera . . . dead. With Sisera dead the kingdom of Jabin was no longer a threat. The land "flowing with milk and honey" had been saved by the courage and faithfulness of "Bee" (see note on v. 4) and "Mountain Goat" (see note on v. 19).

5:1–31 To commemorate a national victory with songs was a common practice (see Ex 15:1–18; Nu 21:27–30; Dt 32:1–43; 1Sa 18:7). The "Book of the Wars of the LORD" (see note on Nu 21:14) and the "Book of Jashar" (see note on Jos 10:13) were probably collections of such songs.

The song was probably written by Deborah or a contemporary (see v. 7 and NIV text note) and is thus one of the oldest poems in the Bible. It highlights some of the central themes of the narrative (cf. Ex 15:1–18; 1Sa 2:1–10; 2Sa 22; 23:1–7; Lk 1:46–55,68–79). In particular, it celebrates before the nations (v. 3) the righteous acts of the Lord and of his warriors (v. 11). The song may be divided into the following sections: (1) the purpose of the song (praise) and the occasion for the deeds it celebrates (vv. 2–9); (2) the exhortation to Israel to act in accordance with her heroic past (vv. 10–11a); (3) the people's appeal to Deborah (vv. 11b–12); (4) the gathering of warriors (vv. 13–18); (5) the battle (vv. 19–23); (6) the crafty triumph of Jael over Sisera (vv. 24–27); (7) the anxious waiting of Sisera's mother (vv. 28–30); and (8) the conclusion (v. 31).

5:4–5 Poetic recalling of the Lord's terrifying appearance in a storm cloud many years before, when he had brought Israel through the desert into Canaan (see Dt 33:2; Ps 68:7–8; Mic 1:3–4; see also Ps 18:7–15).

5:4 Seir. Edom. For a similar association of Seir (and Mount Paran) with Sinai see Dt 33:2. the heavens poured. See Ps 68:7–10.

5:5 the One of Sinai. See Ps 68:8. An earthquake and thunderstorm occurred when God appeared at Mount Sinai (Ex 19:16–18).

5:6 Shamgar. See note on 3:31. roads were abandoned. Because of enemy garrisons and marauding bands (see note on 4:1–2) the roads were unsafe.

5:7 Village life . . . ceased. The inhabitants of villages fled to walled towns for protection.

5:8 not a shield or spear was seen. Either because Israel had made peace with the native Canaanites (see 3:5–6) or because she had been disarmed (see 1Sa 13:19–22).

5:10 who ride on white donkeys. An allusion to the nobles and the wealthy (see 10:4; 12:14).

5:11 voice of the singers. The leaders are encouraged by the songs of the minstrels at the watering places—songs that rehearse the past heroic achievements of the Lord and his warriors.

the righteous acts of his warriors[z] in Israel.

"Then the people of the LORD went down to the city gates.[k]
12'Wake up,[l] wake up, Deborah![m]
Wake up, wake up, break out in song!
Arise, O Barak![n]
Take captive your captives,[o] O son of Abinoam.'

13"Then the men who were left came down to the nobles;
the people of the LORD came to me with the mighty.
14Some came from Ephraim,[p] whose roots were in Amalek;[q]
Benjamin[r] was with the people who followed you.
From Makir[s] captains came down, from Zebulun those who bear a commander's staff.
15The princes of Issachar[t] were with Deborah;[u]
yes, Issachar was with Barak,[v] rushing after him into the valley.
In the districts of Reuben
there was much searching of heart.
16Why did you stay among the

In the districts of Reuben
there was much searching of heart.
17Gilead[y] stayed beyond the Jordan.
And Dan, why did he linger by the ships?
Asher[z] remained on the coast[a] and stayed in his coves.

18The people of Zebulun[b] risked their very lives;
so did Naphtali[c] on the heights of the field.[d]

19"Kings came[e], they fought; the kings of Canaan fought at Taanach by the waters of Megiddo,[f]
but they carried off no silver, no plunder.[g] 20From the heavens[h] the stars fought, from their courses they fought against Sisera.
21The river Kishon[i] swept them away,
the age-old river, the river Kishon.
March on, my soul; be strong![j] 22Then thundered the horses' hoofs—galloping, galloping go his mighty steeds.[k]
23'Curse Meroz,' said the angel of the LORD.
'Curse its people bitterly, because they did not come to help the LORD, to help the LORD against the mighty.'

24"Most blessed of women[l] be Jael,[m] the wife of Heber the Kenite,[n] most blessed of tent-dwelling women.
25He asked for water, and she gave him milk;[o] in a bowl fit for nobles she brought him curdled milk.

5:12 Wake up. A plea to take action (see Ps 44:23; Isa 51:9). Take captive your captives. The same action is applied to God in Ps 68:18 and to Christ in Eph 4:8.

5:13–18 The warriors of the Lord who gathered for the battle. The tribes who came were Ephraim, Benjamin, Manasseh ("Makir" is possibly both East and West Manasseh; see Dt 3:15; Jos 13:29–31; 17:1), Zebulun (vv. 14,18), Issachar (v. 15) and Naphtali (v. 18). Especially involved were Zebulun and Naphtali (v. 18; see 4:10), the tribes most immediately affected by Sisera's tyranny. Reuben (vv. 15–16) and Gad (here referred to as Gilead, v. 17), from east of the Jordan, and Dan and Asher, from along the coast (v. 17), are rebuked for not responding. Judah and Simeon are not even mentioned, perhaps because they were already engaged with the Philistines. Levi is not mentioned because it did not have military responsibilities in the theocracy (kingdom of God).

5:14 roots ... in Amalek. Some Amalekites apparently once lived in the hill country of Ephraim (see 12:15). Makir. The firstborn son of Manasseh (Jos 17:1). Although the descendants of Makir settled on both sides of the Jordan (see Dt 3:15; Jos 13:29–31; 17:1; 1Ch 7:14–19), reference here is to those west of the Jordan (see v. 17; Jos 17:5).

5:18 on the heights of the field. Perhaps connected to Ge 49:21, where Naphtali is described as a "doe set free."

5:19 Megiddo. Megiddo and Taanach dominated the main pass that runs northeast through the hill country from the plain of Sharon to the Valley of Jezreel. Because of its strategic location, the "plain of Megiddo" (2Ch 35:22) has been a frequent battleground from the earliest times. There Pharaoh Thutmose III defeated a Canaanite coalition in 1468 B.C., and there in A.D. 1917 the British under General Allenby ended the rule of the Turks in Palestine by vanquishing them in the Valley of Jezreel opposite Megiddo. In Biblical history the forces of Israel under Deborah and Barak crushed the Canaanites "by the waters of Megiddo" (v. 19), and there Judah's good king Josiah died in battle against Pharaoh Neco II in 609 B.C. (2Ki 23:29). See also the reference in Rev 16:16 to "the place that in Hebrew is called Armageddon" (i.e., "Mount Megiddo") as the site of the "battle on the great day of God Almighty" (Rev 16:14).

5:20 stars fought. A poetic way of saying that the powers of heaven fought in Israel's behalf (see note on 4:7).

5:21 swept them away. See note on 4:7.

5:23 Meroz. Because of its refusal to help the army of the Lord, this Israelite town in Naphtali was cursed. Other cities were also punished severely for refusing to participate in the wars of the Lord (see 8:15–17; 21:5–10).

5:25 curdled milk. Artificially soured milk made by shaking milk in a skin-bottle and then allowing it to ferment (due to bacteria that remained in the skin from previous use).

She struck Sisera, she crushed his head, she shattered and pierced his temple.[p]
27 At her feet he sank, he fell; there he lay.
At her feet he sank, he fell;
where he sank, there he fell—dead[q].

28 "Through the window[r] peered Sisera's mother;
behind the lattice she cried out,[s]
'Why is his chariot so long in coming?
Why is the clatter of his chariots delayed?'
29 The wisest of her ladies answer her;
indeed, she keeps saying to herself, 30 'Are they not finding and dividing the spoils:[t]
a girl or two for each man, colorful garments as plunder for Sisera,
colorful garments embroidered, highly embroidered garments[u] for my neck—
all this as plunder?[v]'

31 "So may all your enemies perish,[w]
O LORD!
But may they who love you be like the sun[x]
when it rises in its strength."[y]

Then the land had peace[z] forty years.

Gideon

6 Again the Israelites did evil in the eyes of the LORD,[a] and for seven years he gave them into the hands of the Midianites.[b] 2 Because the power of Midian was so oppressive,[c] the Israelites prepared shelters for themselves in mountain clefts, caves[d] and strongholds.[e] 3 Whenever the Israelites planted their crops, the Midianites, Amalekites[f] and other eastern peoples[g] invaded the country. 4 They camped on the land and ruined the crops[h] all the way to Gaza[i] and did not spare a living thing for Israel, neither sheep nor cattle nor donkeys. 5 They came up with their livestock and their tents like swarms of locusts.[j] It was impossible to count the men and their camels;[k] they invaded the land to ravage it. 6 Midian so impoverished the Israelites that they cried out[l] to the LORD for help.

7 When the Israelites cried[m] to the LORD because of Midian, 8 he sent them a prophet,[n] who said, "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: I brought you up out of Egypt,[o] out of the land of slavery.[p] 9 I snatched you from the power of Egypt and from the hand of all your oppressors.[q] I drove them from before you and gave you their land.[r] 10 I said to you, 'I am the LORD your God; do not worship[s] the gods of the Amorites,[t] in whose land you live.' But you have not listened to me."

11 The angel of the LORD[u] came and sat down under the oak in Ophrah[v] that belonged to Joash[w] the Abiezrite,[x] where his son Gideon[y] was threshing[z] wheat

5:28 This graphic picture of the anxious waiting of Sisera's mother heightens the triumph of Jael over the powerful Canaanite general and presents a contrast between this mother in Canaan and the triumphant Deborah, "a mother in Israel" (v. 7).

5:31 The song ends with a prayer that the present victory would be the pattern for all future battles against the Lord's enemies (see Nu 10:35; Ps 68:1–2). your enemies . . . they who love you. The two basic attitudes of people toward the Lord. As Lord of the covenant and royal Head of his people Israel, he demanded their love (see Ex 20:6), just as kings in the ancient Near East demanded the love of their subjects. forty years. A conventional number of years for a generation (see Introduction: Background).

6:1–9:57 The Gideon and Abimelech narratives are a literary unit and constitute the center account of the judges. They are bracketed by the stories of Deborah (from Ephraim, a son of Joseph; west of the Jordan) and Jephthah (from Manasseh, the other son of Joseph; east of the Jordan)—which in turn are bracketed by the stories of the heroes Ehud (from Benjamin) and Samson (from Dan). In this center narrative, the crucial issues of the period of the judges are emphasized: the worship of Baal, and the Lord's kingship over his covenant people Israel.

6:1 Midianites. See notes on Ge 37:25; Ex 2:15. Since they were apparently not numerous enough to wage war against the Israelites alone, they often formed coalitions with surrounding peoples—as with the Moabites (Nu 22:4–6; 25:6–18), the Amalekites and other tribes from the east (v. 3). Their defeat was an event long remembered in Hebrew history (see Ps 83:9; Isa 9:4; 10:26; Hab 3:7).

6:3 Amalekites. See note on Ge 14:7. Normally they were a people of the Negev, but they are in coalition here with the Midianites and other eastern peoples, who were nomads from the desert east of Moab and Ammon.

6:5 swarms of locusts. A vivid picture of the marauders who swarmed across the land, leaving it stripped bare (see 7:12; Ex 10:13–15; Joel 1:4). camels. The earliest OT reference to the use of mounted camels in warfare.

6:7 cried to the LORD. The Israelites' cries of distress occurred in each recurring cycle of the judges (see Introduction: Literary Features).

6:8 prophet. See notes on 2:1; 10:11. The unnamed prophet rebuked Israel for forgetting that the Lord had saved them from Egyptian bondage and had given them the land (vv. 9–10).

6:10 Amorites. Probably here includes all the inhabitants of Canaan (see note on Ge 10:16).

6:11 angel of the LORD. See note on Ge 16:7. Ophrah. To be distinguished from the Benjamite Ophrah (Jos 18:23). Abiezrite. The Abiezrites (v. 24) were from the tribe of Manasseh (Jos 17:2). threshing wheat in a winepress. Rather than in the usual, exposed area (see note on Ru 1:22). Gideon felt more secure threshing in this better protected but very confined space.

in a winepress[a] to keep it from the Midianites. 12When the angel of the LORD appeared to Gideon, he said, "The LORD is with you,[b] mighty warrior.[c]"

13"But sir," Gideon replied, "if the LORD is with us, why has all this happened to us? Where are all his wonders[d] that our fathers told[e] us about when they said, 'Did not the LORD bring us up out of Egypt?' But now the LORD has abandoned[f] us and put us into the hand of Midian."

14The LORD turned to him and said, "Go in the strength you have[g] and save[h] Israel out of Midian's hand. Am I not sending you?"

15"But Lord,[b]" Gideon asked, "how can I save Israel? My clan[i] is the weakest in Manasseh, and I am the least in my family.[j]"

16The LORD answered, "I will be with you[k], and you will strike down all the Midianites together."

17Gideon replied, "If now I have found favor in your eyes, give me a sign[l] that it is really you talking to me. 18Please do not go away until I come back and bring my offering and set it before you."

And the LORD said, "I will wait until you return."

19Gideon went in, prepared a young goat,[m] and from an ephah[c][n] of flour he made bread without yeast. Putting the meat in a basket and its broth in a pot, he brought them out and offered them to him under the oak.[o]

20The angel of God said to him, "Take the meat and the unleavened bread, place them on this rock,[p] and pour out the broth." And Gideon did so. 21With the tip of the staff[q] that was in his hand, the angel of the LORD touched the meat and the unleavened bread.[r] Fire flared from the rock, consuming the meat and the bread. And the angel of the LORD disappeared. 22When Gideon realized[s] that it was the angel of the LORD, he exclaimed, "Ah, Sovereign LORD! I have seen the angel of the LORD face to face![t]

23But the LORD said to him, "Peace! Do not be afraid.[u] You are not going to die."[v]

25That same night the LORD said to him, "Take the second bull from your father's herd, the one seven years old.[d] Tear down your father's altar to Baal and cut down the Asherah pole[e][y] beside it. 26Then build a proper kind of[f] altar to the LORD your God on the top of this height. Using the wood of the Asherah pole that you cut down, offer the second[g] bull as a burnt offering.[z]"

27So Gideon took ten of his servants and did as the LORD told him. But because he was afraid of his family and the men of the town, he did it at night rather than in the daytime.

28In the morning when the men of the town got up, there was Baal's altar,[a] demolished, with the Asherah pole beside it cut down and the second bull sacrificed on the newly built altar!

29They asked each other, "Who did this?"

When they carefully investigated, they were told, "Gideon son of Joash[b] did it."

30The men of the town demanded of Joash, "Bring out your son. He must die, because he has broken down Baal's altar[c] and cut down the Asherah pole beside it."

31But Joash replied to the hostile crowd around him, "Are you going to plead Baal's cause?[d] Are you trying to save him? Whoever fights for him shall be put to death by morning! If Baal really is a god, he can defend himself when someone breaks down his altar." 32So that day

6:12 mighty warrior. Apparently Gideon belonged to the upper class, perhaps a kind of aristocracy (see v. 27), in spite of his disclaimer in v. 15.

6:14 LORD turned. See vv. 22–23. Apparently this appearance of the "angel of the LORD" (v. 11) was a theophany (a manifestation of God). Go... Am I not sending you? Gideon was commissioned to deliver Israel as Moses had been (see Ex 3:7–10).

6:15 how can I ...? The Lord usually calls the lowly rather than the mighty to act for him (see notes on Ge 25:23; 1Sa 9:21).

6:17 give me a sign. See vv. 36–40; cf. the signs the Lord gave Moses as assurance that he would be with him in his undertaking (see Ex 3:12; 4:1–17).

6:21 consuming the meat. Indicating that Gideon's offering was accepted (see Lev 9:24).

6:23 not going to die. See 13:22 and notes on Ge 16:13; 32:30.

6:25 Tear down ... altar. Gideon's first task as the Lord's warrior was to tear down an altar to Baal, as Israel had been commanded to do (see 2:2; Ex 34:13; Dt 7:5). Baal. See note on 2:13. Asherah pole. See NIV text note; see also notes on 2:13; Ex 34:13.

6:26 proper kind of altar. See Ex 20:25.

6:30 He must die. The Israelites were so apostate that they were willing to kill one of their own people for the cause of Baal (contrast Dt 13:6–10, where God told Moses that idolaters must be stoned).

6:32 Jerub-Baal. See NIV text note. This name later occurs as Jerub-Besheth (2Sa 11:21) by substituting a degrading term (Hebrew bosheth, "shameful thing") for the name of Baal, as in the change of the names Esh-Baal and they called Gideon "Jerub-Baal,[h e]" saying, "Let Baal contend with him," because he broke down Baal's altar.

33Now all the Midianites, Amalekites[f] and other eastern peoples[g] joined forces and crossed over the Jordan and camped in the Valley of Jezreel.[h] 34Then the Spirit of the LORD came upon[i] Gideon, and he blew a trumpet,[j] summoning the Abiezrites[k] to follow him. 35He sent messengers throughout Manasseh, calling them to arms, and also into Asher,[l] Zebulun and Naphtali,[m] so that they too went up to meet them.[n]

36Gideon said to God, "If you will save[o] Israel by my hand as you have promised— 37look, I will place a wool fleece[p] on the threshing floor.[q] If there is dew only on the fleece and all the ground is dry, then I will know[r] that you will save Israel by my hand, as you said." 38And that is what happened. Gideon rose early the next day; he squeezed the fleece and wrung out the dew—a bowlful of water.

39Then Gideon said to God, "Do not be angry with me. Let me make just one more request.[s] Allow me one more test with the fleece. This time make the fleece dry and the ground covered with dew." 40That night God did so. Only the fleece was dry; all the ground was covered with dew.[t]

Gideon Defeats the Midianites

7 Early in the morning, Jerub-Baal[u] (that is, Gideon[v]) and all his men camped at the spring of Harod.[w] The camp of Midian[x] was north of them in the valley near the hill of Moreh.[y] 2The LORD said to Gideon, "You have too many men for me to deliver Midian into their hands. In order that Israel may not boast against me that her own strength[z] has saved her, 3announce now to the people, 'Anyone who trembles with fear may turn back and leave Mount Gilead.[a]' " So twenty-two thousand men left, while ten thousand remained.

4But the LORD said to Gideon, "There are still too many[b] men. Take them down to the water, and I will sift them for you there. If I say, 'This one shall go with you,' he shall go; but if I say, 'This one shall not go with you,' he shall not go."

5So Gideon took the men down to the water. There the LORD told him, "Separate those who lap the water with their tongues like a dog from those who kneel down to drink." 6Three hundred men[c] lapped with their hands to their mouths. All the rest got down on their knees to drink.

7The LORD said to Gideon, "With the three hundred men that lapped I will save you and give the Midianites into your hands.[d] Let all the other men go, each to his own place."[e] 8So Gideon sent the rest of the Israelites to their tents but kept the three hundred, who took over the provisions and trumpets of the others.

Now the camp of Midian lay below him in the valley. 9During that night the LORD said to Gideon, "Get up, go down against the camp, because I am going to give it into your hands.[f] 10If you are afraid to attack, go down to the camp with your servant Purah 11and listen to what they are saying. Afterward, you will be encouraged to attack the camp." So he and Purah his servant went down to the outposts of the camp. 12The Midianites, the Amalekites[g] and all the other eastern peoples had settled in the valley, thick as locusts.[h] Their camels[i] could no more be counted than the sand on the seashore.[j]

Merib-Baal (1Ch 8:33–34) to Ish-Bosheth and Mephibosheth (see notes on 2Sa 2:8; 4:4). Let Baal contend with him. Let Baal defend himself against Gideon.

6:33 Valley of Jezreel. See note on 5:19.

6:34 Spirit ... came upon. Lit. "Spirit ... clothed himself with." This vivid figure, used only three times (here; 1Ch 12:18; 2Ch 24:20), emphasizes that the Spirit of the Lord empowered the human agent and acted through him (see note on 3:10).

6:35 Manasseh. West Manasseh. Asher. This tribe earlier had failed to answer the call to arms (5:17).

6:39 just one more request. Cf. Abraham's words in Ge 18:32.

7:1–8 As supreme commander of Israel, the Lord reduced the army so that Israel would know that the victory was by his power, not theirs.

7:1 Harod. Means "trembling" and may refer to either the timidity of the Israelites (v. 3) or the great panic of the Midianites when Gideon attacked (v. 21). The Hebrew verb form is translated "routing" in 8:12. hill of Moreh. Located across the Valley of Jezreel, approximately four miles from the Israelite army.

7:3 may turn back. Those who were afraid to fight the Lord's battle were not to go out with his army so that they would not demoralize the others (Dt 20:8). Mount Gilead. Perhaps used here as another name for Mount Gilboa.

7:6 lapped. The 300 remained on their feet, prepared for any emergency.

7:8–14 The Lord provided Gideon with encouraging intelligence information for the battle.

GIDEON

NAME MEANS: "One who cuts down [the enemy]" OCCUPATION: Judge over Israel
BEST KNOWN FOR:

- asking for a sign to confirm God's call (Jdg 6:36–40)
- defeating the powerful Midianites with few men and no weapons
- his strategic and military aptitude

13 Gideon arrived just as a man was telling a friend his dream. "I had a dream," he was saying. "A round loaf of barley bread came tumbling into the Midianite camp. It struck the tent with such force that the tent overturned and collapsed."

14 His friend responded, "This can be nothing other than the sword of Gideon son of Joash,[k] the Israelite. God has given the Midianites and the whole camp into his hands."

15 When Gideon heard the dream and its interpretation, he worshiped God.[l]
He returned to the camp of Israel and called out, "Get up! The LORD has given the Midianite camp into your hands."[m] 16 Dividing the three hundred men[n] into three companies,[o] he placed trumpets[p] and empty jars[q] in the hands of all of them, with torches[r] inside.

17 "Watch me," he told them. "Follow my lead. When I get to the edge of the camp, do exactly as I do. 18 When I and all who are with me blow our trumpets,[s] then from all around the camp blow yours and shout, 'For the LORD and for Gideon.' "

19 Gideon and the hundred men with him reached the edge of the camp at the beginning of the middle watch, just after they had changed the guard. They blew their trumpets and broke the jars[t] that were in their hands. 20 The three companies blew the trumpets and smashed the jars. Grasping the torches[u] in their left hands and holding in their right hands the trumpets they were to blow, they

7:13–14 Although revelations by dreams are frequently mentioned in the OT, here both dreamer and interpreter are non-Israelite. Contrast Joseph, who interpreted dreams in Egypt (Ge 40:1–22; 41:1–32), and Daniel, who interpreted dreams in Babylon (Da 2:1–45; 4:4–27).

7:13 round loaf of barley bread. Since barley was considered an inferior grain and only one-half the value of wheat (see 2Ki 7:1), it is a fitting symbol for Israel, which was inferior in numbers.

7:16 three companies. A strategy adopted by Israel on several occasions (9:43; 1Sa 11:11; 2Sa 18:2). trumpets. Rams' horns (see Ex 19:13).

7:19 middle watch. The Hebrews divided the night into three watches (see note on Mt 14:25). The "beginning of the middle watch" would be after the enemy had gone to sleep.

Gideon's Battles

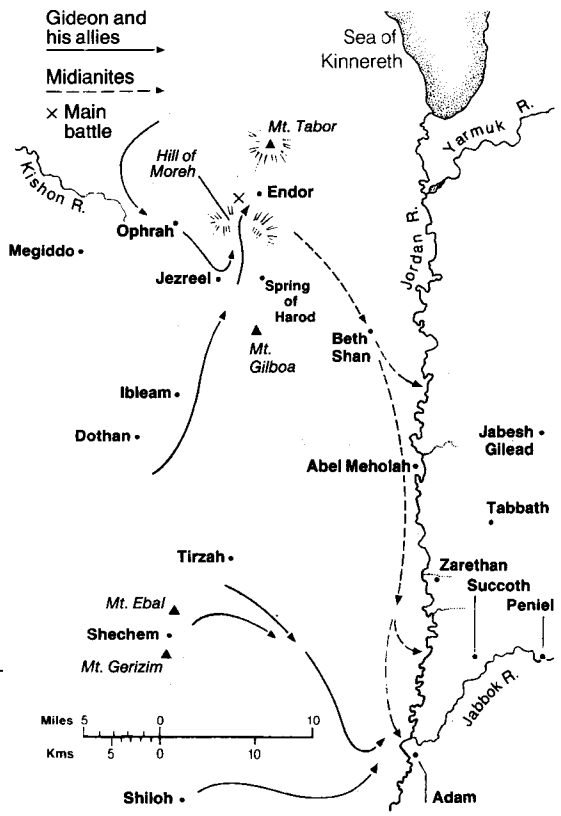
The story of Gideon begins with a graphic portrayal of one of the most striking facts of life in the Fertile Crescent: the periodic migration of nomadic people from the Aramean desert into the settled areas of Palestine. Each spring the tents of the bedouin herdsmen appeared overnight almost as if by magic, scattered on the hills and fields of the farming districts. Conflict between these two ways of life (herdsmen and farmers) was inevitable.

In the Biblical period, the vast numbers and warlike practice of the herdsmen reduced the village people to near vassalage. Gideon's answer was twofold: (1) religious reform, starting with his own family; and (2) military action, based on a coalition of northern Israelite tribes. The location of Gideon's hometown, "Ophrah of the Abiezrites," is not known with certainty, but probably was ancient Aper (modern Afula) in the Valley of Jezreel.

The battle at the spring of Harod is justly celebrated for its strategic brilliance. Denied the use of the only local water source, the Midianites camped in the valley and fell victim to the small band of Israelites, who attacked them from the heights of the hill of Moreh.

The main battle took place north of the hill near the village of Endor at the foot of Mount Tabor. Fleeing by way of the Jordan Valley, the Midianites were trapped when the Ephraimites seized the fords of the Jordan from below Beth Shan to Beth Barah near Adam.



shouted, "A sword[v] for the LORD and for Gideon!" [21]While each man held his position around the camp, all the Midianites ran, crying out as they fled.[w]

[22]When the three hundred trumpets sounded,[x] the LORD caused the men throughout the camp to turn on each other[y] with their swords.[z] The army fled to Beth Shittah toward Zererah as far as the border of Abel Meholah[a] near Tabbath. [23]Israelites from Naphtali, Asher[b] and all Manasseh were called out,[c] and they pursued the Midianites.[d] [24]Gideon sent messengers throughout the hill country of Ephraim, saying, "Come down against the Midianites and seize the waters of the Jordan[e] ahead of them as far as Beth Barah."

So all the men of Ephraim were called out and they took the waters of the Jordan as far as Beth Barah. [25]They also captured two of the Midianite leaders, Oreb and Zeeb[f]. They killed Oreb at the rock of Oreb,[g] and Zeeb at the winepress of Zeeb. They pursued the Midianites[h] and brought the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon, who was by the Jordan.[i]

Zebah and Zalmunna

8 Now the Ephraimites asked Gideon,[j] "Why have you treated us like this? Why didn't you call us when you went to fight Midian?[k"l] And they criticized him sharply.[m]

[2]But he answered them, "What have I accomplished compared to you? Aren't the gleanings of Ephraim's grapes better than the full grape harvest of Abiezer?[n] [3]God gave Oreb and Zeeb,[o] the Midianite leaders, into your hands. What was I able to do compared to you?" At this, their resentment against him subsided.

[4]Gideon and his three hundred men, exhausted yet keeping up the pursuit, came to the Jordan[p] and crossed it. [5]He said to the men of Succoth,[q] "Give my troops some bread; they are worn out,[r] and I am still pursuing Zebah and Zalmunna,[s] the kings of Midian."

[6]But the officials of Succoth[t] said, "Do you already have the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna in your possession? Why should we give bread[u] to your troops?"[v]

[7]Then Gideon replied, "Just for that, when the LORD has given Zebah and Zalmunna[w] into my hand, I will tear your flesh with desert thorns and briers."

[8]From there he went up to Peniel[ix] and made the same request of them, but they answered as the men of Succoth had. [9]So he said to the men of Peniel, "When I return in triumph, I will tear down this tower."[y]

[10]Now Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor with a force of about fifteen thousand men, all that were left of the armies of the eastern peoples; a hundred and twenty thousand swordsmen had fallen.[z] [11]Gideon went up by the route of the nomads east of Nobah[a] and Jogbehah[b] and fell upon the unsuspecting army. [12]Zebah and Zalmunna, the two kings of Midian, fled, but he pursued them and captured them, routing their entire army.

[13]Gideon son of Joash[c] then returned from the battle by the Pass of Heres.[d] [14]He caught a young man of Succoth and questioned him, and the young man wrote down for him the names of the seventy-seven officials of Succoth,[e] the elders[f] of the town. [15]Then Gideon came and said to the men of Succoth, "Here are Zebah and Zalmunna, about whom you taunted me by saying, 'Do you already have the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna in your possession? Why

7:22 three hundred trumpets. Normally only a comparatively small number of men in an army carried trumpets. turn on each other. A similar panic occurred among the Ammonites, Moabites and Edomites (2Ch 20:23) and, on a somewhat smaller scale, among the Philistines at Gibeah (1Sa 14:20). See Eze 38:21; Zec 14:13; see also note on Jdg 4:15. toward Zererah. Toward the southeast.

7:23 were called out. Encouraged by the turn of events, many of those who had departed now joined the battle.

7:24 hill country of Ephraim. Gideon needed the aid of the Ephraimites to cut off the retreat of the Midianites into the Jordan Valley. waters of the Jordan. Probably the river crossings in the vicinity of Beth Shan. By controlling the river the Israelites could prevent the escape of the fleeing Midianites (see note on 3:28). Beth Barah. Exact location unknown, but it must have been some distance down the river. Gideon's pursuit of the enemy across the river took him to Succoth, a town near the Jabbok River (8:5).

7:25 Oreb. Means "raven" (see Isa 10:26). Zeeb. Means "wolf." heads. Frequently parts of the bodies of dead victims, such as heads, hands (8:6) and foreskins (1Sa 18:25), were cut off and brought back as a kind of body count.

8:1 Ephraimites. Contrast Gideon, who placates the wrath of this tribe (vv. 2–3), with Jephthah, who brings humiliation and defeat to it (12:1–6).

8:2 gleanings. Leftover grain after the main gathering of the harvest (see note on Ru 1:22). Here Gideon implies that Ephraim has accomplished more than he and all the other forces involved in the initial attack. Abiezer. Gideon's clan (see note on 6:11). The name means "My (divine) Father is helper" or "My (divine) Father is strong."

8:3 their resentment ... subsided. "A gentle answer turns away wrath" (Pr 15:1).

8:5 kings of Midian. Zebah and Zalmunna may have belonged to different Midianite tribes (see Nu 31:8).

8:6 hands. See note on 7:25. Why should we give bread ...? The officials of Succoth doubted Gideon's ability to defeat the Midianite coalition and feared reprisal if they gave his army food.

8:8 Peniel. The place where Jacob had wrestled with God (Ge 32:30–31).

should we give bread to your exhausted men?[g]' " [16]He took the elders of the town and taught the men of Succoth a lesson[h] by punishing them with desert thorns and briers. [17]He also pulled down the tower of Peniel[i] and killed the men of the town.[j]

[18]Then he asked Zebah and Zalmunna, "What kind of men did you kill at Tabor?[k]"

"Men like you," they answered, "each one with the bearing of a prince."

[19]Gideon replied, "Those were my brothers, the sons of my own mother. As surely as the LORD lives,[l] if you had spared their lives, I would not kill you." [20]Turning to Jether, his oldest son, he said, "Kill them!" But Jether did not draw his sword, because he was only a boy and was afraid.

[21]Zebah and Zalmunna said, "Come, do it yourself. 'As is the man, so is his strength.' " So Gideon stepped forward and killed them, and took the ornaments[m] off their camels' necks.

Gideon's Ephod

[22]The Israelites said to Gideon, "Rule over us—you, your son and your grandson—because you have saved us out of the hand of Midian."

[23]But Gideon told them, "I will not rule over you, nor will my son rule over you. The LORD will rule[n] over you." [24]And he said, "I do have one request, that each of you give me an earring[o] from your share of the plunder.[p]" (It was the custom of the Ishmaelites[q] to wear gold earrings.)

[25]They answered, "We'll be glad to give them." So they spread out a garment, and each man threw a ring from his plunder onto it. [26]The weight of the gold rings he asked for came to seventeen hundred shekels,[j] not counting the ornaments, the pendants and the purple garments worn by the kings of Midian or the chains[r] that were on their camels' necks. [27]Gideon made the gold into an ephod,[s] which he placed in Ophrah,[t] his town. All Israel prostituted themselves by worshiping it there, and it became a snare[u] to Gideon and his family.[v]

Gideon's Death

[28]Thus Midian was subdued before the Israelites and did not raise its head[w] again. During Gideon's lifetime, the land enjoyed peace[x] forty years.

[29]Jerub-Baal[y] son of Joash[z] went back home to live. [30]He had seventy sons[a] of his own, for he had many wives. [31]His concubine,[b] who lived in Shechem, also bore him a son, whom he named Abimelech.[c] [32]Gideon son of Joash died at a good old age[d] and was buried in the tomb of his father Joash in Ophrah of the Abiezrites.

[33]No sooner had Gideon died than the Israelites again prostituted themselves to the Baals.[e] They set up Baal-Berith[f] as their god[g] and [34]did not remember[h] the LORD their God, who had rescued them from the hands of all their enemies on every side. [35]They also failed to show kindness to the family of Jerub-Baal[i] (that is, Gideon) for all the good things he had done for them.[j]

Abimelech

j26 That is, about 43 pounds (about 19.5 kilograms)

8:19 sons of my own mother. In an age when men often had several wives it was necessary to distinguish between full brothers and half brothers.

8:21 do it yourself. Dying at the hands of a boy may have been considered a disgrace (see 1Sa 17:42). ornaments. Crescent necklaces, as in Isa 3:18.

8:23 I will not rule . . . The LORD will rule. Gideon, like Samuel (1Sa 8:4–20), rejected the establishment of a monarchy because he regarded it as a replacement of the Lord's rule. God's rule over Israel (theocracy) is a central issue in Judges.

8:24 earring. Or possibly "nose ring" (see Ge 24:47; Eze 16:12). Ishmaelites. Related to the Midianites (Ge 25:1–2) and sometimes identified with them (vv. 22,24; Ge 37:25–28; 39:1). See note on Ge 37:25.

8:27 ephod. Sometimes a holy garment associated with the priesthood (Ex 28:6–30; 39:2–26; Lev 8:7), at other times a pagan object associated with idols (17:5; 18:14,17).

8:28 forty years. A conventional number of years for a generation (see Introduction: Background).

8:29 Jerub-Baal. See note on 6:32.

8:30 seventy sons. A sign of power and prosperity (see 12:14; 2Ki 10:1).

8:31 concubine. She was originally a slave in his household (9:18; see note on Ge 16:2). Abimelech. Appears elsewhere as a royal title (Ge 20:2; 26:1; Ps 34 title) and means "My (divine) Father is King." Gideon, in naming his son, acknowledges that the Lord (here called "Father") is King.

8:32 at a good old age. A phrase used elsewhere only of Abraham (Ge 15:15; 25:8) and David (1Ch 29:28).

8:33 Baals. See notes on 2:11,13. Baal-Berith. Means "lord of the covenant"; the same deity is called El-Berith ("god of the covenant") in 9:46. There was a temple dedicated to him (see 9:4) in Shechem. The word "covenant" in his name probably refers to a solemn treaty that bound together a league of Canaanite cities whose people worshiped him as their god. Ironically, Shechem (v. 31), near Mount Ebal, was the site at which Joshua had twice renewed the Lord's covenant with Israel after they had entered Canaan (Jos 8:30–35; 24:25–27). See also note on 2:11.

9:1–57 The stories of Gideon and Abimelech form the literary center of Judges (see Introduction: Literary Features). Abimelech, who tried to set himself up like a Canaanite city king with the help of Baal (v. 4), stands in sharp contrast to his father Gideon (Jerub-Baal), who had mother's clan, 2"Ask all the citizens of Shechem, 'Which is better for you: to have all seventy of Jerub-Baal's sons rule over you, or just one man?' Remember, I am your flesh and blood.[m]" 3When the brothers repeated all this to the citizens of Shechem, they were inclined to follow Abimelech, for they said, "He is our brother." 4They gave him seventy shekels[k] of silver from the temple of Baal-Berith,[n] and Abimelech used it to hire reckless adventurers,[o] who became his followers. 5He went to his father's home in Ophrah and on one stone murdered his seventy brothers,[p] the sons of Jerub-Baal. But Jotham,[q] the youngest son of Jerub-Baal, escaped by hiding.[r] 6Then all the citizens of Shechem and Beth Millo[s] gathered beside the great tree[t] at the pillar in Shechem to crown Abimelech king.

7When Jotham[u] was told about this, he climbed up on the top of Mount Gerizim[v] and shouted to them, "Listen to me, citizens of Shechem, so that God may listen to you. 8One day the trees went out to anoint a king for themselves. They said to the olive tree, 'Be our king.'

9"But the olive tree answered, 'Should I give up my oil, by which both gods and men are honored, to hold sway over the trees?'

10"Next, the trees said to the fig tree, 'Come and be our king.'

11"But the fig tree replied, 'Should I give up my fruit, so good and sweet, to hold sway over the trees?'

12"Then the trees said to the vine, 'Come and be our king.'

13"But the vine answered, 'Should I give up my wine,[w] which cheers both gods and men, to hold sway over the trees?'

14"Finally all the trees said to the thornbush, 'Come and be our king.'

15"The thornbush said to the trees, 'If you really want to anoint me king over you, come and take refuge in my shade;[x] but if not, then let fire come out[y] of the thornbush and consume the cedars of Lebanon!'[z]

16"Now if you have acted honorably and in good faith when you made Abimelech king, and if you have been fair to Jerub-Baal and his family, and if you have treated him as he deserves— 17and to think that my father fought for you, risked[a] his life to rescue you from the hand of Midian 18(but today you have revolted against my father's family, murdered his seventy sons[b] on a single stone, and made Abimelech, the son of his slave girl, king over the citizens of Shechem because he is your brother)— 19if then you have acted honorably and in good faith toward Jerub-Baal and his family today,[c] may Abimelech be your joy, and may you be his, too! 20But if you have not, let fire come out[d] from Abim-attacked Baal worship and insisted that the Lord ruled over Israel. Abimelech attempted this Canaanite revival in the very place where Joshua had earlier reaffirmed Israel's allegiance to the Lord (Jos 24:14–27). In every respect Abimelech was the antithesis of the Lord's appointed judges.

9:1 Shechem. See note on Ge 33:18. Ruins dating from the Canaanite era give evidence of a sacred area, probably to be associated with the temple of Baal-Berith or El-Berith (vv. 4,46). Archaeological evidence, which is compatible with the destruction of Shechem by Abimelech, indicates that its sacred area was never rebuilt after this time.

9:2 citizens. The singular form of the Hebrew for this word is ba'al. It means "lord" or "owner" and probably refers here to the aristocracy or landowners of the city. flesh and blood. Being half-Canaanite, Abimelech intimated that it was in their best interest to make him king rather than be under the rule of Gideon's 70 sons. The following he gathered was based on this relationship and became a threat to the people of Israel.

9:4 from the temple. Ancient temples served as depositories for personal and civic funds. The payments of vows and penalties, as well as gifts, were also part of the temple treasury. The temple of Baal-Berith is probably to be identified with a large building found at Shechem by archaeologists. reckless adventurers. Use of mercenaries to accomplish political or military goals was common in ancient times. Others who used them are Jephthah (11:3), David (1Sa 22:1–2), Absalom (2Sa 15:1), Adonijah (1Ki 1:5), Rezon (1Ki 11:23–24) and Jeroboam (2Ch 13:6–7).

9:5 on one stone. Abimelech's 70 brothers were slaughtered like sacrificial animals (see 13:19–20; 1Sa 14:33–34). In effect he inaugurated his kingship by using his Israelite half brothers as his coronation sacrifices (see 2Sa 15:10,12; 1Ki 1:5,9; 3:4).

9:6 Beth Millo. "Millo" is derived from a Hebrew verb meaning "to fill" and probably refers to the earthen fill used to erect a platform on which walls and other large structures were built. Beth Millo may be identical to the "stronghold" of v. 46. great tree. See Jos 24:25–26; see also note on Ge 12:6.

9:7 top. Probably a ledge that overlooked the city.

9:8 trees went out. Fables of this type, in which inanimate objects speak and act, were popular among Eastern peoples of that time (see 2Ki 14:9).

9:9–13 The olive tree, the fig tree and the vine were all plants that produced fruit of great importance to the people of the Near East.

9:13 gods. It was commonly believed that the gods participated in such human experiences as drinking wine.

9:14 thornbush. Probably the well-known buckthorn, a scraggly bush common in the hills of Palestine and a constant menace to farming. It produced nothing of value and was an apt figure for Abimelech.

9:15 shade. Ironically, in offering shade to the trees, the thornbush symbolized the traditional role of kings as protectors of their subjects (see Isa 30:2–3; 32:1–2; La 4:20; Da 4:12). cedars of Lebanon. The most valuable of Near Eastern trees, here symbolic of the leading men of Shechem (see v. 20).

9:20 fire come out ... and consume. A grim prediction that Abimelech and the people of Shechem would destroy elech and consume you, citizens of Shechem[e] and Beth Millo,[f] and let fire come out from you, citizens of Shechem and Beth Millo, and consume Abimelech!"

21Then Jotham[g] fled, escaping to Beer,[h] and he lived there because he was afraid of his brother Abimelech.

26Now Gaal son of Ebed[n] moved with his brothers into Shechem, and its citizens put their confidence in him. 27After they had gone out into the fields and gathered the grapes and trodden[o] them, they held a festival in the temple of their god.[p] While they were eating and drinking, they cursed Abimelech. 28Then Gaal son of Ebed[q] said, "Who[r] is Abimelech, and who is Shechem, that we should be subject to him? Isn't he Jerub-Baal's son, and isn't Zebul his deputy? Serve the men of Hamor,[s] Shechem's father! Why should we serve Abimelech? 29If only this people were under my command![t] Then I would get rid of him. I would say to Abimelech, 'Call out your whole army!' "[l][u]

30When Zebul the governor of the city heard what Gaal son of Ebed said, he was very angry. 31Under cover he sent messengers to Abimelech, saying, "Gaal son of Ebed and his brothers have come to Shechem and are stirring up the city against you. 32Now then, during the night you and your men should come and lie in wait[v] in the fields. 33In the morning at sunrise, advance against the city. When Gaal and his men come out against you, do whatever your hand finds to do.[w]"

34So Abimelech and all his troops set out by night and took up concealed positions near Shechem in four companies. 35Now Gaal son of Ebed had gone out and was standing at the entrance to the city gate[x] just as Abimelech and his soldiers came out from their hiding place.[y]

36When Gaal saw them, he said to Zebul, "Look, people are coming down from the tops of the mountains!"

Zebul replied, "You mistake the shadows of the mountains for men."

37But Gaal spoke up again: "Look, people are coming down from the center of the land, and a company is coming from the direction of the soothsayers' tree."

38Then Zebul said to him, "Where is your big talk now, you who said, 'Who is Abimelech that we should be subject to him?' Aren't these the men you ridiculed?[z] Go out and fight them!"

39So Gaal led out[m] the citizens of Shechem and fought Abimelech. 40Abimelech chased him, and many fell wounded in the flight—all the way to the entrance to the gate. 41Abimelech stayed in Arumah, and Zebul drove Gaal and his brothers out of Shechem.

42The next day the people of Shechem went out to the fields, and this was reported to Abimelech. 43So he took his men, divided them into three companies[a] and set an ambush[b] in the fields. When he saw the people coming out of the city, he rose to attack them. 44Abimelech and the companies with him rushed forward to a position at the entrance to the city gate. Then two companies rushed upon those in the fields and struck them down. 45All that day Abimelech pressed his attack against the city until he had captured it and killed its each other. Fire spreads rapidly through bramble bushes and brings about swift destruction (see Ex 22:6; Isa 9:18).

9:21 Beer. A very common name, meaning "a well."

9:22 Israel. Those Israelites who recognized Abimelech's authority, mainly in the vicinity of Shechem.

9:23 evil spirit. Perhaps a spirit of distrust and bitterness. The Hebrew for "spirit" is often used to describe an attitude or disposition. acted treacherously. The one who founded his kingdom by treachery is himself undone by treachery.

9:26 put their confidence in him. Just as the fickle population had followed Abimelech, so they are now swayed by the deceptive proposals of Gaal.

9:27 held a festival. The vintage harvest was one of the most joyous times of the year (see Isa 16:9–10; Jer 25:30), but festivals and celebrations held at pagan temples often degenerated into debauched drinking affairs.

9:28 Hamor. The Hivite ruler who had founded the city of Shechem (Ge 33:19; 34:2; Jos 24:32).

9:32 lie in wait. Ambush succeeded against Gibeah in Benjamin (20:37) and against Ai (Jos 8:2).

9:34 four companies. Smaller segments meant less chance of detection. Also, attack from several directions was good strategy.

9:37 center of the land. See note on Eze 38:12. soothsayers' tree. Probably a sacred tree in some way related to the temple of Baal-Berith (see note on Ge 12:6).

9:43 three companies. See note on 7:16.

9:45 scattered salt over it. To condemn it to perpetual barrenness and desolation (see Dt 29:23; Ps 107:33–34; Jer 17:6; Zep 2:9).

people. Then he destroyed the city[c] and scattered salt[d] over it.

46On hearing this, the citizens in the tower of Shechem went into the stronghold of the temple[e] of El-Berith. 47When Abimelech heard that they had assembled there, 48he and all his men went up Mount Zalmon.[f] He took an ax and cut off some branches, which he lifted to his shoulders. He ordered the men with him, "Quick! Do what you have seen me do!" 49So all the men cut branches and followed Abimelech. They piled them against the stronghold and set it on fire over the people inside. So all the people in the tower of Shechem, about a thousand men and women, also died.

50Next Abimelech went to Thebez[g] and besieged it and captured it. 51Inside the city, however, was a strong tower, to which all the men and women—all the people of the city—fled. They locked themselves in and climbed up on the tower roof. 52Abimelech went to the tower and stormed it. But as he approached the entrance to the tower to set it on fire, 53a woman dropped an upper millstone on his head and cracked his skull.[h]

54Hurriedly he called to his armor-bearer, "Draw your sword and kill me,[i] so that they can't say, 'A woman killed him.' " So his servant ran him through, and he died. 55When the Israelites saw that Abimelech was dead, they went home.

56Thus God repaid the wickedness that Abimelech had done to his father by murdering his seventy brothers. 57God also made the men of Shechem pay for all their wickedness.[j] The curse of Jotham[k] son of Jerub-Baal came on them.

3He was followed by Jair[q] of Gilead, who led Israel twenty-two years. 4He had thirty sons, who rode thirty donkeys.[r] They controlled thirty towns in Gilead, which to this day are called Havvoth Jair.[os] 5When Jair[t] died, he was buried in Kamon.

Jephthah

6Again the Israelites did evil in the eyes of the LORD.[u] They served the Baals and the Ashtoreths,[v] and the gods of Aram,[w] the gods of Sidon,[x] the gods of Moab, the gods of the Ammonites[yz] and the gods of the Philistines.[a] And because the Israelites forsook the LORD[b] and no longer served him, 7he became angry[c] with them. He sold them[d] into

[n] 2 Traditionally judged; also in verse 3 [o] 4 Or called the settlements of Jair

9:46 stronghold. Probably the Beth Millo of v. 6. El-Berith. Baal-Berith (v. 4).

9:49 set it on fire. In fulfillment of Jotham's curse (v. 20).

9:53 woman. While the men used bows, arrows and spears, women helped to defend the tower by dropping heavy stones on those who came near it. upper millstone. See note on 3:16. The upper, revolving stone of a mill was circular, with a hole in the center. Grinding grain was women's work (see Ex 11:5), usually considered too lowly for men to perform (see 16:21). Abimelech was killed by a woman using a domestic implement (see also 4:21).

9:54 armor-bearer. A military leader usually had a young man carry his shield and spear (see 1Sa 14:6; 31:4). A woman killed him. It was considered a disgrace for a soldier to die at the hands of a woman. Abimelech's shameful death was long remembered (2Sa 11:21).

9:56 God repaid. God was in control of the events. As Israel's true King, he brought Abimelech's wickedness to a quick and shameful end.

9:57 curse of Jotham. See v. 20.

10:1 a man of Issachar, Tola son of Puah. Tola and Puah bear names of two of the sons of Issachar (Ge 46:13; Nu 26:23; 1Ch 7:1).

10:3 Jair. Since Jair came from Gilead (the territory assigned to Manasseh) and since a descendant of Manasseh bore the same name (Nu 32:41; Dt 3:14; 1Ki 4:13), it appears that Jair was a Manassite.

10:4 thirty sons ... thirty donkeys ... thirty towns. Evidence of wealth and position. Havvoth Jair. See NIV text note.

10:6–12:7 Israel now turned to Jephthah, a social outcast whom they had driven from the land and caused to become an outlaw without an inheritance in Israel. The author notes this to Israel's shame. The account of Jephthah's judgeship balances that of Deborah in the story of the judges (see note on 4:1–5:31; see also Introduction: Literary Features).

10:6 gods of Aram. The chief gods were Hadad (Baal), Mot, Anath and Rimmon. gods of Sidon. The Sidonians worshiped essentially the same gods as the Canaanites (see notes on 2:11,13). gods of Moab. The chief deity of Moab was Chemosh. gods of the Ammonites. Molech was the chief Ammonite deity (see 1Ki 11:7) and was sometimes worshiped by the offering of human sacrifice (Lev 18:21; 20:2–5; 2Ki 23:10). This god is also called Milcom (see NIV text notes on 1Ki 11:5; 2Ki 23:13). Both Molech and Milcom are forms of a Semitic word for "king." gods of the Philistines. While the Philistines worshiped most of the Canaanite gods, their most popular deities appear to have been Dagon and Baal-Zebub. The name Dagon is the same as a Hebrew word for "grain," suggesting that he was a vegetation deity. He was worshiped in Babylonia as early as the second millennium B.C. Baal-Zebub was worshiped in Ekron (2Ki 1:2–3,6,16). The name means "lord of the flies," a deliberate change by followers of the Lord (Yahweh) to ridicule and protest the worship of Baal-Zebul ("Baal the prince"), a name known from ancient Canaanite texts (see Mt 10:25; 12:24 and NIV text notes).

the hands of the Philistines and the Ammonites, 8who that year shattered and crushed them. For eighteen years they oppressed all the Israelites on the east side of the Jordan in Gilead,[e] the land of the Amorites. 9The Ammonites also crossed the Jordan to fight against Judah,[f] Benjamin and the house of Ephraim;[g] and Israel was in great distress.

10Then the Israelites cried[h] out to the LORD, "We have sinned[i] against you, forsaking our God and serving the Baals."[j]

11The LORD replied, "When the Egyptians,[k] the Amorites,[l] the Ammonites,[m] the Philistines,[n] 12the Sidonians, the Amalekites[o] and the Maonites[pp] oppressed you[q] and you cried to me for help, did I not save you from their hands? 13But you have forsaken[r] me and served other gods,[s] so I will no longer save you. 14Go and cry out to the gods you have chosen. Let them save[t] you when you are in trouble![u]"

15But the Israelites said to the LORD, "We have sinned. Do with us whatever you think best,[v] but please rescue us now." 16Then they got rid of the foreign gods among them and served the LORD.[w] And he could bear Israel's misery[x] no longer.[y]

17When the Ammonites were called to arms and camped in Gilead, the Israelites assembled and camped at Mizpah.[z] 18The leaders of the people of Gilead said to each other, "Whoever will launch the attack against the Ammonites will be the head[a] of all those living in Gilead."

11 Jephthah[b] the Gileadite was a mighty warrior.[c] His father was Gilead;[d] his mother was a prostitute.[e] 2Gilead's wife also bore him sons, and when they were grown up, they drove Jephthah away. "You are not going to get any inheritance in our family," they said, "because you are the son of another woman." 3So Jephthah fled from his brothers and settled in the land of Tob,[f] where a group of adventurers[g] gathered around him and followed him.

4Some time later, when the Ammonites[h] made war on Israel, 5the elders of Gilead went to get Jephthah from the land of Tob. 6"Come," they said, "be our commander, so we can fight the Ammonites."

7Jephthah said to them, "Didn't you hate me and drive me from my father's house?[i] Why do you come to me now, when you're in trouble?"

8The elders of Gilead said to him, "Nevertheless, we are turning to you now; come with us to fight the Ammonites, and you will be our head[j] over all who live in Gilead."

9Jephthah answered, "Suppose you take me back to fight the Ammonites and the LORD gives them to me—will I really be your head?"

10The elders of Gilead replied, "The LORD is our witness;[k] we will certainly do as you say." 11So Jephthah went with the elders[l] of Gilead, and the people made him head and commander over them. And he repeated[m] all his words before the LORD in Mizpah.[n]

12Then Jephthah sent messengers to the Ammonite king with the question: "What do you have against us that you have attacked our country?"

13The king of the Ammonites answered Jephthah's messengers, "When Israel came up out of Egypt, they took away my land from the Arnon[o] to the Jabbok,[p] all the way to the Jordan. Now give it back peaceably."

14Jephthah sent back messengers to the Ammonite king, 15saying:

10:11 The LORD replied. See note on 2:1. The Lord rebuked Israel for forgetting that he had delivered them from their oppressors in Canaan (see notes on 2:16–19; 6:8).

10:12 Maonites. See NIV text note; or perhaps the same as the Meunites, who along with the Philistines and Arabs opposed Israel (2Ch 26:7).

10:17 Mizpah. Means "watchtower." Several places bore this name. Jephthah's headquarters was a town or fortress in Gilead (11:11) called "Mizpah of Gilead" (11:29). It may have been the same as Ramath Mizpah (Jos 13:26), located about 30 miles east of Beth Shan.

10:18 The Gileadites wanted to resist the Ammonite incursion but lacked the courageous military leadership to press their cause. people. Fighting men.

11:1 his mother was a prostitute. Therefore Jephthah was a social outcast.

11:3 Tob. The men of Tob were later allied with the Ammonites against David (2Sa 10:6–8). adventurers. See note on 9:4.

11:8 be our head. In addition to their initial offer of military command during the war with Ammon (v. 6), the Gileadites now also offer to make Jephthah regional head after the fighting is over.

11:11 The proposal of the elders was ratified by the people, a process followed in the election of Saul (1Sa 11:15), Rehoboam (1Ki 12:1) and Jeroboam (1Ki 12:20).

11:13 my land. When the Israelites had first approached Canaan, this area was ruled by the Amorite king Sihon, who had taken it from the Moabites (Nu 21:29). The Ammonites had since become dominant over Moab and now claimed all previous Moabite territory.

11:14–27 Jephthah responded in accordance with international policies of the time; his letter is a classic example of contemporary international correspondence. It also reflects—and appeals to—the common recognition that the god(s) of a people established and protected their political boundaries and decided all boundary disputes. Jephthah's defense of Israel's claim to the land is threefold: (1) Israel took it from Sihon king of the

did not take the land of Moab[q] or the land of the Ammonites.[r] 16But when they came up out of Egypt, Israel went through the desert to the Red Sea[qs] and on to Kadesh.[t] 17Then Israel sent messengers[u] to the king of Edom, saying, 'Give us permission to go through your country,'[v] but the king of Edom would not listen. They sent also to the king of Moab,[w] and he refused.[x] So Israel stayed at Kadesh.

18"Next they traveled through the desert, skirted the lands of Edom[y] and Moab, passed along the eastern side[z] of the country of Moab, and camped on the other side of the Arnon.[a] They did not enter the territory of Moab, for the Arnon was its border.

19"Then Israel sent messengers[b] to Sihon king of the Amorites, who ruled in Heshbon,[c] and said to him, 'Let us pass through your country to our own place.'[d] 20Sihon, however, did not trust Israel[r] to pass through his territory. He mustered all his men and encamped at Jahaz and fought with Israel.[e]

21"Then the LORD, the God of Israel, gave Sihon and all his men into Israel's hands, and they defeated them. Israel took over all the land of the Amorites who lived in that country, 22capturing all of it from the Arnon to the Jabbok and from the desert to the Jordan.[f]

23"Now since the LORD, the God of Israel, has driven the Amorites out before his people Israel, what right have you to take it over? 24Will you not take what your god Chemosh[g] gives you? Likewise, whatever the LORD our God has given us,[h] we will possess. 25Are you better than Balak son of Zippor,[i] king of Moab? Did he ever quarrel with Israel or fight with them?[j] 26For three hundred years Israel occupied[k] Heshbon, Aroer,[l] the surrounding settlements and all the towns along the Arnon. Why didn't you retake them during that time? 27I have not wronged you, but you are doing me wrong by waging war against me. Let the LORD, the Judge,[sm] decide[n] the dispute this day between the Israelites and the Ammonites.[o]"

28The king of Ammon, however, paid no attention to the message Jephthah sent him.

29Then the Spirit[p] of the LORD came upon Jephthah. He crossed Gilead and Manasseh, passed through Mizpah[q] of Gilead, and from there he advanced against the Ammonites.[r] 30And Jephthah made a vow[s] to the LORD: "If you give the Ammonites into my hands, 31whatever comes out of the door of my house to meet me when I return in triumph[t] from the Ammonites will be the LORD's, and I will sacrifice it as a burnt offering.[u]"

32Then Jephthah went over to fight the Ammonites, and the LORD gave them into his hands. 33He devastated twenty towns from Aroer to the vicinity of Minnith,[v] as far as Abel Keramim. Thus Israel subdued Ammon.

34When Jephthah returned to his home in Mizpah, who should come out to meet him but his daughter, dancing[w] to the sound of tambourines![x] She was an only child.[y] Except for her he had neither son nor daughter. 35When he saw her, he tore his clothes[z] and cried, "Oh! My daughter! You have made me miserable and wretched, because I have made a vow to the LORD that I cannot break.[a]"

36"My father," she replied, "you have given your word to the LORD. Do to me just as you promised,[b] now that the Amorites, not from the Ammonites (vv. 15–22); (2) the Lord gave the land to Israel (vv. 23–25); (3) Israel had long possessed it (vv. 26–27).

11:16 Kadesh. Kadesh Barnea; see note on Nu 20:1.

11:21 LORD, the God of Israel. War was viewed not only in military terms but also as a contest between deities (see v. 24; Ex 12:12; Nu 33:4).

11:24 Chemosh. The chief deity of the Moabites. At this time either the king of Ammon also ruled Moab or there was a military confederacy of the two peoples.

11:25 Balak. See Nu 22–24.

11:26 three hundred years. For the relevance of this phrase in establishing the time span for Judges see Introduction: Background.

11:27 Judge. See 1Sa 24:15. As the divine Judge, the Lord is the final court of appeal. It is significant that in the book of Judges the singular noun "judge" is found only here, where it is used of the Lord, Israel's true Judge.

11:29 Spirit of the LORD. See note on 3:10. In the OT the unique empowering of the Spirit was given to an individual primarily to enable him to carry out the special responsibilities God had given him.

11:30 made a vow. A common practice among the Israelites (see Ge 28:20; 1Sa 1:11; 2Sa 15:8). The precise nature of this vow has been the subject of wide speculation, but v. 31 indicates the promise of a burnt offering and leads to the conclusion that Jephthah probably offered his daughter as a human sacrifice (v. 39). A vow was not to be broken (see Nu 30:2; Dt 23:21–23; see also Ecc 5:4–5).

11:34 dancing. It was customary for women to greet armies returning victoriously from battle in this way (see Ex 15:20; 1Sa 18:6).

11:35 tore his clothes. A common practice for expressing extreme grief (see Ge 37:34 and note).

LORD has avenged you[c] of your enemies,[d] the Ammonites. [37]But grant me this one request," she said. "Give me two months to roam the hills and weep with my friends, because I will never marry."

[38]"You may go," he said. And he let her go for two months. She and the girls went into the hills and wept because she would never marry. [39]After the two months, she returned to her father and he did to her as he had vowed. And she was a virgin.

From this comes the Israelite custom [40]that each year the young women of Israel go out for four days to commemorate the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite.

Jephthah and Ephraim

12 The men of Ephraim called out their forces, crossed over to Zaphon[e] and said to Jephthah,[f] "Why did you go to fight the Ammonites without calling us to go with you?[g] We're going to burn down your house over your head."

[2]Jephthah answered, "I and my people were engaged in a great struggle with the Ammonites, and although I called, you didn't save me out of their hands. [3]When I saw that you wouldn't help, I took my life in my hands[h] and crossed over to fight the Ammonites, and the LORD gave me the victory[i] over them. Now why have you come up today to fight me?"

[4]Jephthah then called together the men of Gilead[j] and fought against Ephraim. The Gileadites struck them down because the Ephraimites had said, "You Gileadites are renegades from Ephraim and Manasseh.[k]" [5]The Gileadites captured the fords of the Jordan[l] leading to Ephraim, and whenever a survivor of Ephraim said, "Let me cross over," the men of Gilead asked him, "Are you an Ephraimite?" If he replied, "No," [6]they said, "All right, say 'Shibboleth.' " If he said, "Sibboleth," because he could not pronounce the word correctly, they seized him and killed him at the fords of the Jordan. Forty-two thousand Ephraimites were killed at that time.

[7]Jephthah led[t] Israel six years. Then Jephthah the Gileadite died, and was buried in a town in Gilead.

Ibzan, Elon and Abdon

[8]After him, Ibzan of Bethlehem[m] led Israel. [9]He had thirty sons and thirty daughters. He gave his daughters away in marriage to those outside his clan, and for his sons he brought in thirty young women as wives from outside his clan. Ibzan led Israel seven years. [10]Then Ibzan died, and was buried in Bethlehem.

[11]After him, Elon the Zebulunite led Israel ten years. [12]Then Elon died, and was buried in Aijalon[n] in the land of Zebulun.

[13]After him, Abdon son of Hillel, from Pirathon,[o] led Israel. [14]He had forty sons and thirty grandsons,[p] who rode on seventy donkeys.[q] He led Israel eight years. [15]Then Abdon son of Hillel died, and was buried at Pirathon in Ephraim, in the hill country of the Amalekites.[r]

The Birth of Samson

13 Again the Israelites did evil in the eyes of the LORD, so the LORD delivered them into the hands of the Philistines[s] for forty years.[t]

11:37 I will never marry. To be kept from marrying and rearing children was a bitter prospect for an Israelite girl.
11:39 Israelite custom. Probably a local custom, since no other mention of it is found in the OT.
12:1 burn down your house. The Philistines issued a similar threat to Samson's wife (14:15). See also 20:48.
12:2 answered. Again Jephthah tried diplomacy first (see 11:12,14; see also note on 8:1). I called. New information on the sequence of events.
12:6 Shibboleth. Ironically, the word meant "floods" (see, e.g., Ps 69:2,15). Apparently the Israelites east of the Jordan pronounced its initial letter with a strong "sh" sound, while those in Canaan gave it a softer "s" sound. (Peter was similarly betrayed by his accent; see Mt 26:73.)
12:7 led Israel ... years. A new formula for closing out the account of a judge (see note on 3:11; see also Introduction: Literary Features).
12:8 Bethlehem. Probably the Bethlehem in western Zebulun.
12:9 thirty sons and thirty daughters. See note on 10:4.
12:11 Elon. Also the name of a clan in the tribe of Zebulun (Ge 46:14; Nu 26:26).
12:14 forty sons and thirty grandsons. A total of 70 (see notes on 8:30; 10:4).
12:15 hill country of the Amalekites. See note on 5:14. The background of this reference is unknown; the Amalekites are otherwise associated with the Negev (Nu 13:29).
13:1–16:31 Samson (from the tribe of Dan), like Ehud (from the tribe of Benjamin), was a loner, whose heroic exploits involved single-handed triumphs over powerful enemies. His story therefore balances that of Ehud (3:12–30). He typifies the nation of Israel—born by special divine provision, consecrated to the Lord from birth and endowed with unique power among his fellowmen. The likeness is even more remarkable in light of his foolish chasing of foreign women, some of ill repute, until he was cleverly subdued by one of them. In this he exemplified Israel, who during the period of the judges constantly prostituted herself to Canaanite gods to her own destruction.
13:1 did evil in the eyes of the LORD. See note on 3:7.
13:2 Zorah. A town first assigned to Judah (Jos 15:33), but later given to Dan (Jos 19:41). It became the point of departure for the Danite migration northward (18:2,8,11). Danites. See 1:34 and note. sterile ... childless. The same condition, before divine intervention, as that of Sarah, the mother of Isaac (Ge 11:30; 16:1); Rebekah, the mother of Jacob (Ge 25:21); Hannah, the mother of Samuel (1Sa 1:2); and Elizabeth, the mother of John the Baptist (Lk 1:7).

childless.[x] 3The angel of the LORD[y] appeared to her[z] and said, "You are sterile and childless, but you are going to conceive and have a son.[a] 4Now see to it that you drink no wine or other fermented drink[b] and that you do not eat anything unclean,[c] 5because you will conceive and give birth to a son.[d] No razor[e] may be used on his head, because the boy is to be a Nazirite,[f] set apart to God from birth, and he will begin[g] the deliverance of Israel from the hands of the Philistines."

6Then the woman went to her husband and told him, "A man of God[h] came to me. He looked like an angel of God,[i] very awesome.[j] I didn't ask him where he came from, and he didn't tell me his name. 7But he said to me, 'You will conceive and give birth to a son. Now then, drink no wine[k] or other fermented drink[l] and do not eat anything unclean, because the boy will be a Nazirite of God from birth until the day of his death.[m]' "

8Then Manoah[n] prayed to the LORD: "O Lord, I beg you, let the man of God[o] you sent to us come again to teach us how to bring up the boy who is to be born."

9God heard Manoah, and the angel of God came again to the woman while she was out in the field; but her husband Manoah was not with her. 10The woman hurried to tell her husband, "He's here! The man who appeared to me[p] the other day!"

11Manoah got up and followed his wife. When he came to the man, he said, "Are you the one who talked to my wife?"

"I am," he said.

12So Manoah asked him, "When your words are fulfilled, what is to be the rule for the boy's life and work?"

13The angel of the LORD answered, "Your wife must do all that I have told her. 14She must not eat anything that comes from the grapevine, nor drink any wine or other fermented drink[q] nor eat anything unclean.[r] She must do everything I have commanded her."

15Manoah said to the angel of the LORD, "We would like you to stay until we prepare a young goat[s] for you."

16The angel of the LORD replied, "Even though you detain me, I will not eat any of your food. But if you prepare a burnt offering,[t] offer it to the LORD." (Manoah did not realize[u] that it was the angel of the LORD.)

17Then Manoah inquired of the angel of the LORD, "What is your name,[v] so that we may honor you when your word comes true?"

18He replied, "Why do you ask my name?[w] It is beyond understanding.[u]"

19Then Manoah took a young goat, together with the grain offering, and sacrificed it on a rock[x] to the LORD. And the LORD did an amazing thing while Manoah and his wife watched: 20As the flame[y] blazed up from the altar toward heaven, the angel of the LORD ascended in the flame. Seeing this, Manoah and his wife fell with their faces to the ground.[z] 21When the angel of the LORD did not show himself again to Manoah and his wife, Manoah realized[a] that it was the angel of the LORD.

22"We are doomed[b] to die!" he said to his wife. "We have seen[c] God!"

23But his wife answered, "If the LORD had meant to kill us, he would not have accepted a burnt offering and grain offering from our hands, nor shown us all these things or now told us this."[d]

24The woman gave birth to a boy and named him Samson.[e] He grew[f] and the LORD blessed him,[g] 25and the Spirit

13:3 angel of the LORD. See note on Ge 16:7. you are going to ... have a son. Cf. the announcements of the births of Ishmael (Ge 16:11), Isaac (Ge 18:10), Immanuel (Isa 7:14), John the Baptist (Lk 1:13) and Jesus (Lk 1:31).

13:5 Nazirite. From the Hebrew word meaning "separated" or "dedicated." For the stipulations of this vow see Nu 6:1–21 and notes. Samson's vow was not voluntary, and it applied to his whole lifetime (v. 7). The same was true of Samuel (1Sa 1:11) and John the Baptist (Lk 1:15). begin the deliverance ... from ... the Philistines. The deliverance was continued in the time of Samuel (1Sa 7:10–14) and completed under David (2Sa 5:17–25; 8:1).

13:6 man of God. An expression often used of prophets (see Dt 33:1; 1Sa 2:27; 9:6–10; 1Ki 12:22), though it is clear from vv. 3,21 that this messenger was not a prophet but the angel of the Lord.

13:8 teach us. Not the usual parental concern, but a special concern based on the boy's special calling.

13:12 When your words are fulfilled. A declaration of faith. To Manoah it was not a matter of whether these events would occur, but of when (v. 17).

13:15 stay until we prepare a young goat. Such food was considered a special delicacy. Hospitality of this kind was common in the ancient Near East (see 6:18–19; Ge 18:1–8).

13:17 What is your name ...? A messenger's identity was considered very important. when your word comes true. Fulfilled prophecy was a sign of the authenticity of a prophet (Dt 18:21–22; 1Sa 9:6).

13:18 beyond understanding. See NIV text note. In Isa 9:6 the Hebrew for this phrase (translated "Wonderful") applies to One who would come as "Mighty God."

13:22 doomed to die. See 6:23 and notes on Ge 16:13; 32:30.

13:24 Samson. The name is derived from a Hebrew word meaning "sun" or "brightness," and is used here either as an expression of joy over the birth of the child or as a reference to the nearby town of Beth Shemesh, "house of the sun(-god)." He grew and the LORD blessed him. Cf. 1Sa 2:26 (Samuel) and Lk 2:52 (Jesus).

of the LORD began to stir[h] him while he was in Mahaneh Dan,[i] between Zorah and Eshtaol.

Samson's Marriage

14 Samson[j] went down to Timnah[k] and saw there a young Philistine woman. 2When he returned, he said to his father and mother, "I have seen a Philistine woman in Timnah; now get her for me as my wife."[l]

3His father and mother replied, "Isn't there an acceptable woman among your relatives or among all our people?[m] Must you go to the uncircumcised[n] Philistines to get a wife?[o]"

But Samson said to his father, "Get her for me. She's the right one for me." 4(His parents did not know that this was from the LORD,[p] who was seeking an occasion to confront the Philistines;[q] for at that time they were ruling over Israel.)[r] 5Samson went down to Timnah together with his father and mother. As they approached the vineyards of Timnah, suddenly a young lion came roaring toward him. 6The Spirit of the LORD came upon him in power[s] so that he tore the lion apart[t] with his bare hands as he might have torn a young goat. But he told neither his father nor his mother what he had done. 7Then he went down and talked with the woman, and he liked her.

8Some time later, when he went back to marry her, he turned aside to look at the lion's carcass. In it was a swarm of bees and some honey, 9which he scooped out with his hands and ate as he went along. When he rejoined his parents, he gave them some, and they too ate it. But he did not tell them that he had taken the honey from the lion's carcass.

10Now his father went down to see the woman. And Samson made a feast[u] there, as was customary for bridegrooms. 11When he appeared, he was given thirty companions.

12"Let me tell you a riddle,[v]" Samson said to them. "If you can give me the answer within the seven days of the feast,[w] I will give you thirty linen garments and thirty sets of clothes.[x] 13If you can't tell me the answer, you must give me thirty linen garments and thirty sets of clothes."

"Tell us your riddle," they said. "Let's hear it."

14He replied,

"Out of the eater, something to eat;
out of the strong, something sweet."[y]

For three days they could not give the answer.

15On the fourth[v] day, they said to Samson's wife, "Coax[z] your husband into explaining the riddle for us, or we will burn you and your father's household to death.[a] Did you invite us here to rob us?"

16Then Samson's wife threw herself on him, sobbing, "You hate me! You don't really love me.[b] You've given my peoon 18:12).

14:1 Timnah. Identified as Tell Batash in the Sorek Valley, west of Beth Shemesh. Archaeologists have uncovered the Philistine layer of the town. young Philistine woman. The disappointment of Samson's parents (v. 3; cf. Esau, Ge 26:35; 27:46; 28:1) is understandable in light of the prohibition against marriage with the peoples of Canaan (Ex 34:11,16; Dt 7:1,3; see also Jdg 3:5–6).

14:2 get her for me. See Ge 34:4. As the head of the family, the father exercised authority in all matters, often including the choice of wives for his sons (see 12:9; Ge 24:3–9; Ne 10:30).

14:3 uncircumcised. A term of scorn, referring to those not bound by covenant to the Lord, used especially of the Philistines (see note on 1Sa 14:6). right one for me. The Hebrew for this expression is similar to that translated "did as he saw fit" in 17:6; 21:25. The author anticipates this theme, which recurs in chs. 17–21.

14:4 this was from the LORD. See Jos 11:20; 1Ki 12:15. The Lord uses even the sinful weaknesses of men to accomplish his purposes and bring praise to his name (see Ge 45:8; 50:20; 2Ch 25:20; Ac 2:23; 4:28; Ro 8:28–29).

14:5 vineyards of Timnah. The Sorek Valley (in which Timnah was located) and its surrounding areas were noted for their luxurious vineyards. young lion. Lions were once common in southern Canaan (see 1Sa 17:34; 2Sa 23:20; 1Ki 13:24; 20:36).

14:6 Spirit . . . came upon him. See 13:25; 14:19; 15:14; see also notes on 3:10; 11:29. tore the lion apart. David (1Sa 17:34–37) and Benaiah (2Sa 23:20) later performed similar feats.

14:10 feast. Such a special feast was common in the ancient Near East (see Ge 29:22) and here lasted seven days (v. 12; see Ge 29:27). Since it would have included drinking wine, Samson may have violated his Nazirite vow (see 13:4,7).

14:11 companions. These are the "guests of the bridegroom" (cf. Mt 9:15). They were probably charged with protecting the wedding party against marauders.

14:12 riddle. The use of riddles at feasts and special occasions was popular in the ancient world. sets of clothes. Mentioned, together with silver, as gifts of great value in Ge 45:22; 2Ki 5:22 (see also Zec 14:14).

14:16 don't really love me. Delilah used the same tactics (16:15).

SAMSON

NAME MEANS: "Sun" or "brightness"
BIRTH DATA: An angel announced Samson's birth to his parents OCCUPATION: Renegade judge over Israel
BEST KNOWN FOR:

- his awesome, God-given physical strength
- giving in to the seductress Delilah
- tearing down the temple of the Philistines in his last earthly act ple a riddle, but you haven't told me the answer."

"I haven't even explained it to my father or mother," he replied, "so why should I explain it to you?" 17She cried the whole seven days[c] of the feast. So on the seventh day he finally told her, because she continued to press him. She in turn explained the riddle to her people.

18Before sunset on the seventh day the men of the town said to him,

"What is sweeter than honey?
What is stronger than a lion?"[d]

Samson said to them,

"If you had not plowed with my heifer, you would not have solved my riddle."

19Then the Spirit of the LORD came upon him in power.[e] He went down to Ashkelon,[f] struck down thirty of their men, stripped them of their belongings and gave their clothes to those who had explained the riddle. Burning with anger,[g] he went up to his father's house. 20And Samson's wife was given to the friend[h] who had attended him at his wedding.

Samson's Vengeance on the Philistines

15 Later on, at the time of wheat harvest,[i] Samson[j] took a young goat[k] and went to visit his wife. He said, "I'm going to my wife's room."[l] But her father would not let him go in.

2"I was so sure you thoroughly hated her," he said, "that I gave her to your friend.[m] Isn't her younger sister more attractive? Take her instead."

3Samson said to them, "This time I have a right to get even with the Philistines; I will really harm them." 4So he went out and caught three hundred foxes[n] and tied them tail to tail in pairs. He then fastened a torch[o] to every pair of tails, 5lit the torches[p] and let the foxes loose in the standing grain of the Philistines. He burned up the shocks[q] and standing grain, together with the vineyards and olive groves.

6When the Philistines asked, "Who did this?" they were told, "Samson, the Timnite's son-in-law, because his wife was given to his friend.[r]"

So the Philistines went up and burned her[s] and her father to death.[t] 7Samson said to them, "Since you've acted like this, I won't stop until I get my revenge on you." 8He attacked them viciously and slaughtered many of them. Then he went down and stayed in a cave in the rock[u] of Etam.[v]

9The Philistines went up and camped in Judah, spreading out near Lehi.[w] 10The men of Judah asked, "Why have you come to fight us?"

"We have come to take Samson prisoner," they answered, "to do to him as he did to us."

11Then three thousand men from Judah went down to the cave in the rock of Etam and said to Samson, "Don't you realize that the Philistines are rulers over us?[x] What have you done to us?"

He answered, "I merely did to them what they did to me."

12They said to him, "We've come to tie you up and hand you over to the Philistines."

Samson said, "Swear to me[y] that you won't kill me yourselves."

13"Agreed," they answered. "We will only tie you up and hand you over to them. We will not kill you." So they bound him with two new ropes[z] and led him up from the rock. 14As he approached Lehi,[a] the Philistines came to-

14:18 my heifer. Samson's wife (see v. 15). Since heifers were not used for plowing, Samson is accusing them of unfairness.

14:19 Spirit ... came upon him. God's purposes for Samson included humbling the Philistines. Ashkelon. One of the five principal cities of the Philistines (see map, p.327).

14:20 friend. See 15:2; probably the young man who had attended Samson (cf. Jn 3:29), in all likelihood one of his 30 companions (v. 11).

15:1 time of wheat harvest. Near the end of May or the beginning of June (see note on Ru 1:22). young goat. Such a gift was customary, as with Judah and Tamar (Ge 38:17).

15:2 younger sister. Samson's father-in-law felt he had to make a counterproposal because he had received the bride-price from Samson. Similar marital transactions were made by Laban and Jacob (Ge 29:16–28) and Saul and David (1Sa 18:19–21).

15:4 foxes. The Hebrew word may refer to foxes or jackals, both of which are still found in modern Israel.

15:5 burned up. The wheat harvest (v. 1) comes at the end of a long dry season, thus making the fields extremely vulnerable to fire.

15:7 revenge. A common feature of life in the ancient Near East. Six cities of refuge were designated by the Lord to prevent endless killings (Jos 20:1–9).

15:9 Lehi. Means "jawbone." This locality probably did not receive the name until after the events described here; the author uses the name in anticipation of those events—a common device in Hebrew narrative. The exact site of Lehi is not known.

15:11 three thousand men from Judah. The only time a force from Judah is explicitly mentioned in connection with any of the judges (but see note on 1:2). The men of Judah were well aware of Samson's capabilities, and even with a large force they did not attempt to tie him up without his consent (vv. 12–13). Philistines are rulers over us. Much of Judah was under Philistine rule, and the tribe was apparently content to accept it. They mustered a force, not to support Samson, but to capture him for the Philistines.

15:14 shouting. A battle cry (see 1Sa 17:52). They came shouting against Samson as the lion had come roaring against him (14:5). Spirit of the LORD. See notes on 3:10; ward him shouting. The Spirit of the LORD came upon him in power.[b] The ropes on his arms became like charred flax,[c] and the bindings dropped from his hands. [15]Finding a fresh jawbone of a donkey, he grabbed it and struck down a thousand men.[d]

[16]Then Samson said,

"With a donkey's jawbone
I have made donkeys of them.[w e]
With a donkey's jawbone
I have killed a thousand men."

[17]When he finished speaking, he threw away the jawbone; and the place was called Ramath Lehi.[x f]

[18]Because he was very thirsty, he cried out to the LORD,[g] "You have given your servant this great victory.[h] Must I now die of thirst and fall into the hands of the uncircumcised?" [19]Then God opened up the hollow place in Lehi, and water came out of it. When Samson drank, his strength returned and he revived.[i] So the spring[j] was called En Hakkore,[y] and it is still there in Lehi.

[20]Samson led[z] Israel for twenty years[k] in the days of the Philistines.

Samson and Delilah

16 One day Samson[l] went to Gaza,[m] where he saw a prostitute.[n] He went in to spend the night with her. [2]The people of Gaza were told, "Samson is here!" So they surrounded the place and lay in wait for him all night at the city gate.[o] They made no move during the night, saying, "At dawn[p] we'll kill him."

[3]But Samson lay there only until the middle of the night. Then he got up and took hold of the doors of the city gate, together with the two posts, and tore them loose, bar and all. He lifted them to his shoulders and carried them to the top of the hill that faces Hebron.[q]

[4]Some time later, he fell in love[r] with a woman in the Valley of Sorek whose name was Delilah.[s] [5]The rulers of the Philistines[t] went to her and said, "See if you can lure[u] him into showing you the secret of his great strength[v] and how we can overpower him so we may tie him up and subdue him. Each one of us will give you eleven hundred shekels[a] of silver."[w]

[6]So Delilah[x] said to Samson, "Tell me the secret of your great strength and how you can be tied up and subdued."

[7]Samson answered her, "If anyone ties me with seven fresh thongs[b] that have not been dried, I'll become as weak as any other man."

[8]Then the rulers of the Philistines brought her seven fresh thongs that had not been dried, and she tied him with them. [9]With men hidden in the room,[y] she called to him, "Samson, the Philistines are upon you!"[z] But he snapped the thongs as easily as a piece of string snaps when it comes close to a flame. So the secret of his strength was not discovered.

[10]Then Delilah said to Samson, "You have made a fool of me;[a] you lied to me. Come now, tell me how you can be tied."

[11]He said, "If anyone ties me securely with new ropes[b] that have never been used, I'll become as weak as any other man."

[12]So Delilah took new ropes and tied him with them. Then, with men hidden in the room, she called to him, "Samson, the Philistines are upon you!"[c] But he snapped the ropes off his arms as if they were threads.

15:15 struck down a thousand men. Cf. the exploits of Shamgar, who struck down 600 Philistines with an oxgoad (3:31).

15:18 Must I now die of thirst . . . ? Mighty Samson was, after all, only a mortal man.

15:19 water came out of it. God provided for Samson as he had for Israel in the desert. See Ex 17:1–7 (Massah and Meribah); Nu 20:2–13 (Meribah).

15:20 led Israel . . . years. See note on 12:7. twenty years. Round numbers are frequently used in Judges (see Introduction: Background).

16:1 Gaza. An important Philistine seaport on the Mediterranean coast of southwest Palestine. prostitute. While Samson certainly possessed physical strength, he lacked moral strength, which ultimately led to his ruin.

16:2 dawn. By that time they expected Samson to be exhausted and sleeping soundly.

16:3 bar. Probably made of bronze (1Ki 4:13) or iron (Ps 107:16; Isa 45:2). faces Hebron. That is, in the direction of Hebron, which was 38 miles away in the hill country. Since Hebron was the chief city of Judah, this must be seen as Samson's response to what the men of Judah had done to him (see 15:11–13).

16:5 rulers of the Philistines. See note on 3:3. subdue him. The Philistines were not interested in killing him quickly; they sought revenge by a prolonged period of torture. eleven hundred shekels. An extraordinarily generous payment in light of 17:10 (see note there). (The total amount paid by the five Philistines would have been equivalent to the price of 275 slaves, at the rate offered for Joseph centuries earlier; see Ge 37:28.) Micah stole a similar amount of silver from his mother (17:2).

16:7 seven fresh thongs. The number seven had special significance to the ancients, symbolizing completeness or fullness. Note that Samson's hair was divided into seven braids (v. 13).

16:11 new ropes. The Philistines apparently did not know that this method had already been tried and had failed (15:13–14).

13Delilah then said to Samson, "Until now, you have been making a fool of me and lying to me. Tell me how you can be tied."

He replied, "If you weave the seven braids of my head into the fabric ⌞on the loom⌟ and tighten it with the pin, I'll become as weak as any other man." So while he was sleeping, Delilah took the seven braids of his head, wove them into the fabric 14and[c] tightened it with the pin.

Again she called to him, "Samson, the Philistines are upon you!"[d] He awoke from his sleep and pulled up the pin and the loom, with the fabric.

15Then she said to him, "How can you say, 'I love you,'[e] when you won't confide in me? This is the third time[f] you have made a fool of me and haven't told me the secret of your great strength.[g]" 16With such nagging she prodded him day after day until he was tired to death.

17So he told her everything.[h] "No razor has ever been used on my head," he said, "because I have been a Nazirite[i] set apart to God since birth. If my head were shaved, my strength would leave me, and I would become as weak as any other man."

18When Delilah saw that he had told her everything, she sent word to the rulers of the Philistines[j], "Come back once more; he has told me everything." So the rulers of the Philistines returned with the silver in their hands.[k] 19Having put him to sleep on her lap, she called a man to shave off the seven braids of his hair, and so began to subdue him.[d] And his strength left him.[l]

20Then she called, "Samson, the Philistines are upon you!"[m]

He awoke from his sleep and thought, "I'll go out as before and shake myself free." But he did not know that the LORD had left him.[n]

21Then the Philistines[o] seized him, gouged out his eyes[p] and took him down to Gaza.[q] Binding him with bronze shackles, they set him to grinding[r] in the prison. 22But the hair on his head began to grow again after it had been shaved.

The Death of Samson

23Now the rulers of the Philistines assembled to offer a great sacrifice to Dagon[s] their god and to celebrate, saying, "Our god has delivered Samson, our enemy, into our hands."

24When the people saw him, they praised their god,[t] saying,

"Our god has delivered our enemy into our hands,[u]
the one who laid waste our land and multiplied our slain."

25While they were in high spirits,[v] they shouted, "Bring out Samson to entertain us." So they called Samson out of the prison, and he performed for them.

When they stood him among the pillars, 26Samson said to the servant who held his hand, "Put me where I can feel the pillars that support the temple, so that I may lean against them." 27Now the temple was crowded with men and women; all the rulers of the Philistines were there, and on the roof[w] were about three thousand men and women watching Samson perform. 28Then Samson prayed to the LORD,[x] "O Sovereign LORD, remember me. O God, please strengthen me just once more, and let me with one blow get revenge[y] on the Philistines for my two eyes." 29Then Samson reached toward the two central pillars on which the temple stood. Bracing himself against them, his right hand on the one and his left hand on the other, 30Samson said, "Let me die with the Philistines!" Then he pushed with all his might, and down came the temple on the rulers and all the 16:13 Out of disdain, Samson arrogantly played with his Philistine adversaries. tighten it with the pin. Probably from a weaver's shuttle. The details of the account suggest that the loom in question was the vertical type with a cross-beam from which warp threads were suspended. Samson's long hair was woven into the warp and beaten up into the web with the pin, thus forming a tight fabric.

16:19–20 his strength left him . . . the LORD had left him. The source of Samson's strength was ultimately God himself.

16:20 he did not know. One of the most tragic statements in the OT. Samson was unaware that he had betrayed his calling. He had permitted a Philistine woman to rob him of the sign of his special consecration to the Lord. The Lord's champion lay asleep and helpless in the arms of his paramour.

16:21 gouged out his eyes. Brutal treatment of prisoners of war to humiliate and incapacitate them was common (see 1Sa 11:2; 2Ki 25:7; see also note on Jdg 1:6). to Gaza. In shame and weakness, Samson was led to Gaza, the place where he had displayed great strength (vv. 1–3). set him to grinding. See note on 9:53.

16:23 Dagon. See note on 10:6. Our god has delivered. It was common to attribute a victory to the national deities.

16:27 on the roof. The temple complex probably surrounded an open court and had a flat roof where a large number of people had gathered to get a glimpse of the fallen champion.

16:30 pushed. Samson pushed the wooden pillars from their stone bases. Archaeologists have discovered a Philistine temple with a pair of closely spaced pillar bases. killed many more. Samson previously had slain well over 1,000 people (see 15:15; see also 14:19; 15:8).

people in it. Thus he killed many more when he died than while he lived.

31Then his brothers and his father's whole family went down to get him. They brought him back and buried him between Zorah and Eshtaol in the tomb of Manoah[z] his father. He had led[ea] Israel twenty years.[b]

Micah's Idols

17 Now a man named Micah[c] from the hill country of Ephraim 2said to his mother, "The eleven hundred shekels[f] of silver that were taken from you and about which I heard you utter a curse—I have that silver with me; I took it."

Then his mother said, "The LORD bless you,[d] my son!"

3When he returned the eleven hundred shekels of silver to his mother, she said, "I solemnly consecrate my silver to the LORD for my son to make a carved image and a cast idol.[e] I will give it back to you."

4So he returned the silver to his mother, and she took two hundred shekels[g] of silver and gave them to a silversmith, who made them into the image and the idol.[f] And they were put in Micah's house.

5Now this man Micah had a shrine,[g] and he made an ephod[h] and some idols[i] and installed[j] one of his sons as his priest.[k] 6In those days Israel had no king;[l] everyone did as he saw fit.[m]

7A young Levite[n] from Bethlehem in Judah,[o] who had been living within the clan of Judah, 8left that town in search of some other place to stay. On his way[h] he came to Micah's house in the hill country of Ephraim.

9Micah asked him, "Where are you from?"

"I'm a Levite from Bethlehem in Judah,[p]" he said, "and I'm looking for a place to stay."

10Then Micah said to him, "Live with me and be my father[q] and priest,[r] and I'll give you ten shekels[i] of silver a year, your clothes and your food." 11So the Levite agreed to live with him, and the young man was to him like one of his sons. 12Then Micah installed[s] the Levite, and the young man became his priest[t] and lived in his house. 13And Micah said, "Now I know that the LORD will be good to me, since this Levite has become my priest."[u]

16:31 went down to get him. The freedom of his family to secure his body and give it a burial indicates that the Philistines had no intention of further dishonoring him (contrast Saul's death, 1Sa 31:9–10). led Israel . . . years. See note on 12:7. twenty years. Round numbers are frequently used in Judges (see Introduction: Background).

17:1–21:25 Two episodes forming an epilogue to the story of the judges (see Introduction: Literary Features). The events narrated evidently took place fairly early in the period of the judges (see notes on 18:30; 20:1,28). They illustrate the religious and moral degeneracy that characterized the age—when "Israel had no king" and "everyone did as he saw fit" (17:6; 21:25). Writing at a time when the monarchy under the Davidic dynasty had brought cohesion and order to the land and had reestablished a center for the worship of the Lord, the author portrays this earlier era of the judges as a dismal period of national decay, from which it was to be rescued by the house of David.

17:1–18:31 The first episode illustrates corruption in Israelite worship by telling of Micah's establishment of a local place of worship in Ephraim, aided by a Levite claiming descent from Moses. This paganized worship of the Lord is taken over by the tribe of Dan when that tribe abandons its appointed inheritance and migrates to Israel's northern frontier.

17:2 eleven hundred shekels. See note on 16:5. I heard you utter a curse. Fear of the curse seems to have motivated his returning the stolen money. The LORD bless you. A blessing to counteract the curse.

17:3 mother . . . son. With their paganized view of the God of Israel, both were idolaters in disobedience to the law (Ex 20:4,23; Dt 4:16). a carved image and a cast idol. The image was probably made of wood overlaid with silver; the idol was made of solid silver or of cheaper metal overlaid with silver.

17:4 silversmith. A maker of idols, as in Ac 19:24 (cf. Isa 40:19 and Jer 10:9, where the Hebrew for this word is translated "goldsmith").

17:5 ephod. See 8:27 and note on Ex 28:6. idols. Household gods, used in this case for divining (cf. Eze 21:21; Zec 10:2). Some of them were in human form (1Sa 19:13).

17:6 had no king. See 18:1; 19:1; 21:25; suggests that Judges was written after the establishment of the monarchy (see Introduction: Author and Date). did as he saw fit. The expression implies that Israel had departed from the covenant standards of conduct found in the law (see Dt 12:8).

17:7 Bethlehem in Judah. Not among the 48 designated Levitical cities (Jos 21).

17:8 left that town. The failure of the Israelites to obey the law probably resulted in a lack of support for the Levites, which explains the man's wandering in search of his fortune.

17:10 father. A term of respect used also for Elijah (2Ki 2:12) and Elisha (2Ki 6:21; 13:14). See Ge 45:8; Mt 23:9. ten shekels. See NIV text note. In the light of this remuneration for a year's service, the stated amounts in 16:5 and 17:2 take on special significance. The offer of wages, clothing and food was more than this Levite could resist (v. 11). Clearly material concerns were at the root of his decision, because later he accepts an even more attractive offer (18:19–20).

17:12 installed the Levite. An attempt to make his shrine legitimate and give it prestige. Micah probably removed his son (see v. 5).

18:1 seeking a place. The Danite allotment was at the west end of the strip of land between Judah and Ephraim (Jos 19:41–46), but, due to the opposition of the Amorites

And in those days the tribe of the Danites was seeking a place of their own where they might settle, because they had not yet come into an inheritance among the tribes of Israel.[w] 2So the Danites[x] sent five warriors[y] from Zorah and Eshtaol to spy out[z] the land and explore it. These men represented all their clans. They told them, "Go, explore the land."[a]

The men entered the hill country of Ephraim and came to the house of Micah,[b] where they spent the night. 3When they were near Micah's house, they recognized the voice of the young Levite;[c] so they turned in there and asked him, "Who brought you here? What are you doing in this place? Why are you here?"

4He told them what Micah had done for him, and said, "He has hired me and I am his priest.[d]"

5Then they said to him, "Please inquire of God[e] to learn whether our journey will be successful."

6The priest answered them, "Go in peace[f]. Your journey has the LORD's approval."

7So the five men[g] left and came to Laish,[h] where they saw that the people were living in safety, like the Sidonians, unsuspecting and secure.[i] And since their land lacked nothing, they were prosperous.[j] Also, they lived a long way from the Sidonians[j] and had no relationship with anyone else.[k]

8When they returned to Zorah and Eshtaol, their brothers asked them, "How did you find things?"

9They answered, "Come on, let's attack them! We have seen that the land is very good. Aren't you going to do something? Don't hesitate to go there and take it over.[k] 10When you get there, you will find an unsuspecting people and a spacious land that God has put into your hands, a land that lacks nothing[l] whatever.[m]"

14Then the five men who had spied out the land of Laish[s] said to their brothers, "Do you know that one of these houses has an ephod,[t] other household gods, a carved image and a cast idol?[u] Now you know what to do." 15So they turned in there and went to the house of the young Levite at Micah's place and greeted him. 16The six hundred Danites,[v] armed for battle, stood at the entrance to the gate. 17The five men who had spied out the land went inside and took the carved image, the ephod, the other household gods[w] and the cast idol while the priest and the six hundred armed men[x] stood at the entrance to the gate.

18When these men went into Micah's house and took[y] the carved image, the ephod, the other household gods[z] and the cast idol, the priest said to them, "What are you doing?"

19They answered him, "Be quiet![a] Don't say a word. Come with us, and be our father and priest.[b] Isn't it better that you serve a tribe and clan[c] in Israel as priest rather than just one man's household?" 20Then the priest was glad. He took the ephod, the other household gods and the carved image and went along with the people. 21Putting their lit-

(Jdg 1:34) and the Philistines, the Danites were unable to occupy that territory (see note on 13:2).

18:2 spy out. See 1:23 and note on Nu 13:2.

18:3 recognized the voice. Perhaps they recognized him by his dialect or accent.

18:5 inquire of God. The request is for an oracle, probably by using the ephod and household gods (see note on 17:5). God had already revealed his will by the allotments given to the various tribes (Jos 14–20). They were searching for an oracle that would guarantee the success of their journey.

18:6 Go in peace. The Levite gave them the message they wanted to hear. He was even careful to use the name of the Lord to give the message credibility and authority.

18:7 Laish. The journey northward was about 100 miles from Zorah and Eshtaol (v. 2). This town is called Leshem in Jos 19:47. After its capture by the Danites, Laish was renamed Dan (v. 29), and it was Israel's northernmost settlement (see 20:1; 1Sa 3:20; 2Sa 3:10). Excavations there have disclosed that the earliest Israelite occupation of Dan was in the 12th century B.C. and that the first Israelite inhabitants apparently lived in tents or temporary huts. Occupation of the site continued into the Assyrian period, but the town was destroyed and rebuilt many times. A large high place attached to the city was often extensively rebuilt and refurbished and was in use into the Hellenistic period. Sidonians. A peaceful Phoenician people who engaged in commerce throughout the Mediterranean world. had no relationship. They did not feel threatened by other powers and therefore sought no treaties for mutual defense.

18:11 six hundred men. As leaders of the tribe of Dan, they represented the entire tribe's migration to its new location in the north. Cf. the 600 men who constituted the remnant of the tribe of Benjamin (20:47).

18:19 father. See note on 17:10. a tribe and clan. Only one clan from the tribe of Dan is ever mentioned—Shuham (Nu 26:42; called Hushim in Ge 46:23). The Danites appealed to the Levite's vanity and materialism.

18:21 in front of them. For protection in case of attack; see Ge 33:2–3 (Jacob and Esau).

tle children, their livestock and their possessions in front of them, they turned away and left.

22When they had gone some distance from Micah's house, the men who lived near Micah were called together and overtook the Danites. 23As they shouted after them, the Danites turned and said to Micah, "What's the matter with you that you called out your men to fight?"

24He replied, "You took[d] the gods I made, and my priest, and went away. What else do I have? How can you ask, 'What's the matter with you?' "

25The Danites answered, "Don't argue with us, or some hot-tempered men will attack you, and you and your family will lose your lives." 26So the Danites went their way, and Micah, seeing that they were too strong for him,[e] turned around and went back home.

27Then they took what Micah had made, and his priest, and went on to Laish, against a peaceful and unsuspecting people.[f] They attacked them with the sword and burned[g] down their city.[h] 28There was no one to rescue them because they lived a long way from Sidon[i] and had no relationship with anyone else. The city was in a valley near Beth Rehob.[j]

The Danites rebuilt the city and settled there. 29They named it Dan[k] after their forefather Dan, who was born to Israel—though the city used to be called Laish.[l] 30There the Danites set up for themselves the idols, and Jonathan son of Gershom,[m] the son of Moses,[m] and his sons were priests for the tribe of Dan until the time of the captivity of the land. 31They continued to use the idols Micah had made,[n] all the time the house of God[o] was in Shiloh.[p]

A Levite and His Concubine

19 In those days Israel had no king. Now a Levite who lived in a remote area in the hill country of Ephraim[q] took a concubine from Bethlehem in Judah.[r] 2But she was unfaithful to him. She left him and went back to her father's house in Bethlehem, Judah. After she had been there four months, 3her husband went to her to persuade her to return. He had with him his servant and two donkeys. She took him into her father's house, and when her father saw him, he gladly welcomed him. 4His father-in-law, the girl's father, prevailed upon him to stay; so he remained with him three days, eating and drinking,[s] and sleeping there.

5On the fourth day they got up early and he prepared to leave, but the girl's father said to his son-in-law, "Refresh yourself[t] with something to eat; then you can go." 6So the two of them sat down to eat and drink together. Afterward the girl's father said, "Please stay tonight and enjoy yourself.[u]" 7And when the man got up to go, his father-in-law persuaded him, so he stayed there that night. 8On the morning of the fifth day, when he rose to go, the girl's father said, "Refresh yourself. Wait till afternoon!" So the two of them ate together.

11When they were near Jebus and the day was almost gone, the servant said to his master, "Come, let's stop at this city

18:24 You took the gods. Micah was concerned about the loss of gods that could not even protect themselves. What else do I have? The agonizing cry of one whose faith is centered in helpless gods.

18:28 Beth Rehob. Probably the same as Rehob in Nu 13:21.

18:30 Jonathan. The Levite is here identified as Jonathan son of Gershom, the son of Moses (Ex 2:22; 18:3; 1Ch 23:14–15). In an effort to prevent desecration of the name of Moses, later scribes modified the name slightly, making it read "Manasseh" (see NIV text note). If Jonathan was the grandson of Moses, the events in this chapter must have occurred early in the period of the judges (see notes on 20:1,28). captivity of the land. The date of this captivity has not been determined (see note on v. 7 regarding Laish).

18:31 all the time the house of God was in Shiloh. See Jos 18:1. For Shiloh's destruction see Ps 78:60; Jer 7:12,14; 26:6. Archaeological work at Shiloh indicates that the site was destroyed c. 1050 B.C. and was left uninhabited for many centuries.

19:1–21:25 The second episode of the epilogue (see note on 17:1–18:31). It illustrates Israel's moral corruption by telling of the degenerate act of the men of Gibeah—an act remembered centuries later (Hos 9:9; 10:9). Although that town showed itself to be as wicked as any Canaanite town, it was defended by the rest of the tribe of Benjamin against the Lord's discipline through the Israelites, until nearly the whole tribe was destroyed.

19:1–30 An account of an Israelite town that revived the ways of Sodom (see Ge 19).

19:1 Levite. Unlike the Levite of chs. 17–18, this man is not named. concubine. See note on Ge 25:6.

19:3 gladly welcomed him. The separation of the concubine from the Levite was probably a matter of family disgrace, and so his father-in-law was glad for the prospect of the two being reunited.

19:10 Jebus. See 1:21; see also note on Ge 10:16.

of the Jebusites[w] and spend the night."
12His master replied, "No. We won't go into an alien city, whose people are not Israelites. We will go on to Gibeah." 13He added, "Come, let's try to reach Gibeah or Ramah[x] and spend the night in one of those places." 14So they went on, and the sun set as they neared Gibeah in Benjamin.[y] 15There they stopped to spend the night.[z] They went and sat in the city square,[a] but no one took them into his home for the night.

16That evening[b] an old man from the hill country of Ephraim,[c] who was living in Gibeah (the men of the place were Benjamites), came in from his work in the fields. 17When he looked and saw the traveler in the city square, the old man asked, "Where are you going? Where did you come from?"[d]

18He answered, "We are on our way from Bethlehem in Judah to a remote area in the hill country of Ephraim where I live. I have been to Bethlehem in Judah and now I am going to the house of the LORD.[e] No one has taken me into his house. 19We have both straw and fodder[f] for our donkeys[g] and bread and wine[h] for ourselves your servants—me, your maidservant, and the young man with us. We don't need anything."

20"You are welcome at my house," the old man said. "Let me supply whatever you need. Only don't spend the night in the square." 21So he took him into his house and fed his donkeys. After they had washed their feet, they had something to eat and drink.[i]

22While they were enjoying themselves,[j] some of the wicked men[k] of the city surrounded the house. Pounding on the door, they shouted to the old man who owned the house, "Bring out the man who came to your house so we can have sex with him.[l]"

23The owner of the house went outside[m] and said to them, "No, my friends, don't be so vile. Since this man is my guest, don't do this disgraceful thing.[n] 24Look, here is my virgin daughter,[o] and his concubine. I will bring them out to you now, and you can use them and do to them whatever you wish. But to this man, don't do such a disgraceful thing."

29When he reached home, he took a knife[r] and cut up his concubine, limb by limb, into twelve parts and sent them into all the areas of Israel.[s] 30Everyone who saw it said, "Such a thing has never been seen or done, not since the day the Israelites came up out of Egypt.[t] Think about it! Consider it! Tell us what to do![u]"

19:12 alien city. With the city under the control of the Jebusites, the Levite was afraid that he would receive no hospitality and might be in mortal danger.

19:14 Gibeah in Benjamin. Distinguished from the Gibeah in Judah (Jos 15:20,57) and the Gibeah in the hill country of Ephraim (Jos 24:33). As the political capital of Saul's kingdom, it is called Gibeah of Saul in 1Sa 11:4; see also 1Sa 13:15.

19:15 took them into his home. See notes on 13:15; Ge 18:2.

19:18 house of the LORD. Apparently the Levite was planning to go to Shiloh (see 18:31; Jos 18:1) to present a thank offering to the Lord or a sin offering for himself and his concubine.

19:21 washed their feet. An evidence of hospitality in the ancient Near East, where travelers commonly wore sandals as they walked the dusty roads (see Ge 18:4; 24:32; 43:24; Lk 7:44; Jn 13:5–14).

19:22 wicked men. The Hebrew for this expression refers to the morally depraved (see note on Dt 13:13). Elsewhere the expression is associated with idolatry (Dt 13:13), drunkenness (1Sa 1:16) and rebellion (1Sa 2:12). Here the reference is to homosexuality. Bring out the man. The sexual perversion of these wicked men is yet another example of the decadence of an age when "everyone did as he saw fit" (17:6; 21:25). A similar request was made by the men of Sodom (Ge 19:5). Homosexuality was common among the Canaanites.

19:23 don't be so vile. An expression of outrage at the willful perversion of what is right and natural (see Ge 19:7; 2Sa 13:12; see also Ro 1:27).

19:24 my virgin daughter, and his concubine. The tragedy of this story lies not only in the decadence of Gibeah, but also in the callous selfishness of men who would betray defenseless women to be brutally violated for a whole night. Cf. Ge 19:8, where Lot offered his two daughters to the men of Sodom.

19:25 took. Here the Hebrew for this verb suggests taking by force.

19:29 cut up his concubine. Dismembering the concubine's body and sending parts to each of the 12 tribes was intended to awaken Israel from its moral lethargy and to marshal the tribes to face up to their responsibility. It is ironic that the one who issued such a call was himself so selfish and insensitive. See also Saul's similar action in 1Sa 11:7.

20:1–48 All Israel (except Jabesh Gilead; see 21:8–9) assembled before the Lord to deal with the moral outrage of Gilead came out as one man[x] and assembled[y] before the LORD in Mizpah.[z] 2The leaders of all the people of the tribes of Israel took their places in the assembly of the people of God, four hundred thousand soldiers[a] armed with swords.

3(The Benjamites heard that the Israelites had gone up to Mizpah.) Then the Israelites said, "Tell us how this awful thing happened."
4So the Levite, the husband of the murdered woman, said, "I and my concubine came to Gibeah[b] in Benjamin to spend the night.[c] 5During the night the men of Gibeah came after me and surrounded the house, intending to kill me.[d] They raped my concubine, and she died.[e] 6I took my concubine, cut her into pieces and sent one piece to each region of Israel's inheritance,[f] because they committed this lewd and disgraceful act[g] in Israel. 7Now, all you Israelites, speak up and give your verdict.[h]"
8All the people rose as one man, saying, "None of us will go home. No, not one of us will return to his house. 9But now this is what we'll do to Gibeah: We'll go up against it as the lot directs.[i] 10We'll take ten men out of every hundred from all the tribes of Israel, and a hundred from a thousand, and a thousand from ten thousand, to get provisions for the army. Then, when the army arrives at Gibeah[n] in Benjamin, it can give them what they deserve for all this vileness done in Israel." 11So all the men of Israel got together and united as one man[j] against the city.
12The tribes of Israel sent men throughout the tribe of Benjamin, saying, "What about this awful crime that was committed among you?[k] 13Now surrender those wicked men[l] of Gibeah so that we may put them to death and purge the evil from Israel.[m]"

But the Benjamites would not listen to their fellow Israelites. 14From their towns they came together at Gibeah to fight against the Israelites. 15At once the Benjamites mobilized twenty-six thousand swordsmen from their towns, in addition to seven hundred chosen men from those living in Gibeah. 16Among all these soldiers there were seven hundred chosen men who were left-handed,[n] each of whom could sling a stone at a hair and not miss.
17Israel, apart from Benjamin, mustered four hundred thousand swordsmen, all of them fighting men.
18The Israelites went up to Bethel[oo] and inquired of God.[p] They said, "Who of us shall go first[q] to fight[r] against the Benjamites?"
The LORD replied, "Judah[s] shall go first."
19The next morning the Israelites got up and pitched camp near Gibeah. 20The men of Israel went out to fight the Benjamites and took up battle positions against them at Gibeah. 21The Benjamites came out of Gibeah and cut down twenty-two thousand Israelites[t] on the battlefield that day. 22But the men of Israel encouraged one another and again took up their positions where they had stationed themselves the first day. 23The Israelites went up and wept before the LORD[u] until evening,[v] and they inquired of the LORD.[w] They said, "Shall we go up again to battle[x] against the Benjamites, our brothers?"

committed by the men of Gibeah. Having first inquired of God for divine direction, they marched against Gibeah and the Benjamites as the disciplinary arm of the Lord (see Jos 22:11–34), following him as their King.

20:1 Dan to Beersheba. A conventional way of speaking of all Israel from north (Dan) to south (Beersheba); see 1Sa 3:20; 2Sa 3:10; 24:2; 1Ch 21:2; 2Ch 30:5. The use of this expression, however, does not mean that the events of this chapter occurred after Dan's move to the north (18:27–29); rather, it indicates the author's perspective at the time of writing (Judges was probably written after the Davidic dynasty was fully established; see Introduction: Author and Date). Here the expression refers to the disciplinary action of all Israel (except Jabesh Gilead; see 21:8–9) against Gibeah and the rest of the Benjamites. Such a united response must have occurred early in the time of the judges, before the period of foreign domination of various parts of the land. as one man. Cf. vv. 8,11; 1Sa 11:7. assembled . . . in Mizpah. A gathering place of the tribes during the days of Saul (1Sa 7:5–17; 10:17).

20:9 lot. Casting lots was a common method of determining the will of God (see notes on Ex 28:30; Jnh 1:7; Ac 1:26).

20:10 ten men. Support for the large army had to be well organized and efficient. One man was responsible for providing food for nine men fighting at the front.

20:13 surrender those wicked men. The demand of Israel was not unreasonable. They wanted to punish only those directly involved in the crime. wicked men. See note on Dt 13:13. put them to death. The sin of the men of Gibeah called for the death penalty, and Israel had to punish the sin if she was to avoid guilt herself (see Dt 13:5; 17:7; 19:19–20).

20:16 left-handed. The Benjamite Ehud was also left-handed (3:15). sling a stone. Cf. Zec 9:15. The sling was a very effective weapon, as David later demonstrated in his encounter with Goliath (1Sa 17:49). A slingstone, weighing one pound or more, could be hurled at 90–100 miles an hour. miss. In other contexts the Hebrew for this verb is translated "to sin."

20:18 Bethel. At this time the ark of the covenant and the high priest Phinehas were at Bethel (see vv. 26–28). inquired of God. Probably by priestly use of Urim and Thummim (see notes on Ex 28:30; 1Sa 2:28). Who of us shall go first . . . ? See 1:1–36. Judah. See note on 1:2.

20:21 twenty-two thousand Israelites. A rousing victory for the Benjamites, who numbered 25,700 and therefore had slain nearly one man apiece.

The LORD answered, "Go up against them."

24Then the Israelites drew near to Benjamin the second day. 25This time, when the Benjamites came out from Gibeah to oppose them, they cut down another eighteen thousand Israelites,[y] all of them armed with swords.

26Then the Israelites, all the people, went up to Bethel, and there they sat weeping before the LORD.[z] They fasted[a] that day until evening and presented burnt offerings[b] and fellowship offerings[p][c] to the LORD.[d] 27And the Israelites inquired of the LORD.[e] (In those days the ark of the covenant of God[f] was there, 28with Phinehas son of Eleazar,[g] the son of Aaron, ministering before it.)[h] They asked, "Shall we go up again to battle with Benjamin our brother, or not?"

The LORD responded, "Go, for tomorrow I will give them into your hands.[i]"

29Then Israel set an ambush[j] around Gibeah. 30They went up against the Benjamites on the third day and took up positions against Gibeah as they had done before. 31The Benjamites came out to meet them and were drawn away[k] from the city. They began to inflict casualties on the Israelites as before, so that about thirty men fell in the open field and on the roads—the one leading to Bethel[l] and the other to Gibeah.

32While the Benjamites were saying, "We are defeating them as before,"[m] the Israelites were saying, "Let's retreat and draw them away from the city to the roads."

33All the men of Israel moved from their places and took up positions at Baal Tamar, and the Israelite ambush charged out of its place[n] on the west[q] of Gibeah.[r] 34Then ten thousand of Israel's finest men made a frontal attack on Gibeah. The fighting was so heavy that the Benjamites did not realize[o] how near disaster was.[p] 35The LORD defeated Benjamin[q] before Israel, and on that day the Israelites struck down 25,100 Benjamites, all armed with swords. 36Then the Benjamites saw that they were beaten.

Now the men of Israel had given way[r] before Benjamin, because they relied on the ambush[s] they had set near Gibeah. 37The men who had been in ambush made a sudden dash into Gibeah, spread out and put the whole city to the sword.[t] 38The men of Israel had arranged with the ambush that they should send up a great cloud of smoke[u] from the city,[v] 39and then the men of Israel would turn in the battle.

The Benjamites had begun to inflict casualties on the men of Israel (about thirty), and they said, "We are defeating them as in the first battle."[w] 40But when the column of smoke began to rise from the city, the Benjamites turned and saw the smoke of the whole city going up into the sky.[x] 41Then the men of Israel turned on them,[y] and the men of Benjamin were terrified, because they realized that disaster had come[z] upon them. 42So they fled before the Israelites in the direction of the desert, but they could not escape the battle. And the men of Israel who came out of the towns cut them down there. 43They surrounded the Benjamites, chased them and easily[s] overran them in the vicinity of Gibeah on the east. 44Eighteen thousand Benjamites fell, all of them valiant fighters.[a] 45As they turned and fled toward the desert to the rock of Rimmon,[b] the Israelites cut down five thousand men along the roads. They kept pressing after the Benjamites as far as Gidom and struck down two thousand more.

46On that day twenty-five thousand Benjamite[c] swordsmen fell, all of them valiant fighters. 47But six hundred men turned and fled into the desert to the rock of Rimmon, where they stayed four months. 48The men of Israel went back to Benjamin and put all the towns to the sword, including the animals and everything else they found. All the towns they came across they set on fire.[d] us will give[s] his daughter in marriage to a Benjamite."

[2]The people went to Bethel,[t] where they sat before God until evening, raising their voices and weeping bitterly. [3]"O LORD, the God of Israel," they cried, "why has this happened to Israel? Why should one tribe be missing[h] from Israel today?"

[4]Early the next day the people built an altar and presented burnt offerings and fellowship offerings.[u i]

[5]Then the Israelites asked, "Who from all the tribes of Israel[j] has failed to assemble before the LORD?" For they had taken a solemn oath that anyone who failed to assemble before the LORD at Mizpah should certainly be put to death.

[6]Now the Israelites grieved for their brothers, the Benjamites. "Today one tribe is cut off from Israel," they said. [7]"How can we provide wives for those who are left, since we have taken an oath[k] by the LORD not to give them any of our daughters in marriage?" [8]Then they asked, "Which one of the tribes of Israel failed to assemble before the LORD at Mizpah?" They discovered that no one from Jabesh Gilead[l] had come to the camp for the assembly. [9]For when they counted the people, they found that none of the people of Jabesh Gilead were there.

[10]So the assembly sent twelve thousand fighting men with instructions to go to Jabesh Gilead and put to the sword those living there, including the women and children. [11]"This is what you are to do," they said. "Kill every male[m] and every woman who is not a virgin.[n]" [12]They found among the people living in Jabesh Gilead four hundred young women who had never slept with a man, and they took them to the camp at Shiloh[o] in Canaan.

[13]Then the whole assembly sent an offer of peace[p] to the Benjamites at the rock of Rimmon.[q] [14]So the Benjamites returned at that time and were given the women of Jabesh Gilead who had been spared. But there were not enough for all of them.

[15]The people grieved for Benjamin,[r] because the LORD had made a gap in the tribes of Israel. [16]And the elders of the assembly said, "With the women of Benjamin destroyed, how shall we provide wives for the men who are left? [17]The Benjamite survivors must have heirs," they said, "so that a tribe of Israel will not be wiped out.[s] [18]We can't give them our daughters as wives, since we Israelites have taken this oath:[t] 'Cursed be anyone who gives[u] a wife to a Benjamite.' [19]But look, there is the annual festival of the LORD in Shiloh,[v] to the north of Bethel[w], and east of the road that goes from Bethel to Shechem,[x] and to the south of Lebonah."

[20]So they instructed the Benjamites, saying, "Go and hide in the vineyards [21]and watch. When the girls of Shiloh come out to join in the dancing,[y] then rush from the vineyards and each of you seize a wife from the girls of Shiloh and go to the land of Benjamin. [22]When their fathers or brothers complain to us, we will say to them, 'Do us a kindness by helping them, because we did not get wives for them during the war, and you are innocent, since you did not give[z] your daughters to them.' "

[23]So that is what the Benjamites did.

21:1 taken an oath. This vow, probably taken in the name of the Lord, was not an ordinary vow but invoked a curse on oneself if the vow was broken (v. 18; see also Ac 23:12–15).

21:2 Bethel. See 20:18,26–27. weeping bitterly. Earlier the Israelites wept because they were defeated by the Benjamites (20:23,26). Now they weep because the disciplinary action against the Benjamites has nearly annihilated one of the tribes (see v. 3).

21:5 failed to assemble. The tribes had a mutual responsibility in times of military action (see note on 5:13–18). Those who failed to participate were often singled out and sometimes punished (5:15–17,23). solemn oath. Complicating the situation for Israel was the fact that they had taken a second oath, calling for the death of those who did not participate in the battle.

21:10 twelve thousand. A thousand from each tribe (see Nu 31:6), with 1,000 supplied to represent the tribe of Benjamin.

21:11 Kill every male. The punishment of Jabesh Gilead seems brutal, but the covenant bond between the tribes was extremely important. Even though delinquency on some occasions was not punished (5:15–17), the nature of the crime in this case, coupled with Benjamin's refusal to turn over the criminals, caused Israel to take this oath (v. 5).

21:12 in Canaan. Emphasizes the fact that the women were brought across the Jordan from the east.

21:19 festival of the LORD. In light of the mention of vineyards (v. 20), it is likely that this reference is to the Feast of Tabernacles (see note on 1Sa 1:3), though it may have been a local festival. north of Bethel . . . south of Lebonah. This detailed description of Shiloh's location may indicate that this material was written at a time when Shiloh was in ruins, perhaps after its destruction during the battle of Aphek (1Sa 4:1–11).

21:21 seize a wife. With the Benjamites securing wives in this manner, the other tribes were not actually "giving" their daughters to them (see note on v. 22).

21:22 When their fathers or brothers complain. It was customary for the brothers of a girl who had been abducted to demand satisfaction (see Ge 34:7–31; 2Sa 13:20–38). It was therefore important that the elders anticipate this response and be prepared to get cooperation from the girls' families.

While the girls were dancing,[a] each man caught one and carried her off to be his wife. Then they returned to their inheritance[b] and rebuilt the towns and settled in them.[c]

Ruth

Title

The book is named after one of its main characters, a young woman of Moab, the great-grandmother of David and an ancestress of Jesus (Mt 1:1,5). The only other Biblical book bearing the name of a woman is Esther.

Background

The story is set in the time of the judges, a time characterized in the book of Judges as a period of religious and moral degeneracy, national disunity and general foreign oppression. The book of Ruth reflects a temporary time of peace between Israel and Moab (contrast Jdg 3:12–30). Like 1Sa 1—2, it gives a series of intimate glimpses into the private lives of the members of an Israelite family. It also presents a delightful account of the remnant of true faith and piety in the period of the judges, relieving an otherwise wholly dark picture of that era.

Author and Date of Writing

The author is unknown. Jewish tradition points to Samuel, but it is unlikely that he is the author because the mention of David (4:17,22) implies a later date. Further, the literary style of Hebrew used in Ruth suggests that it was written during the period of the monarchy.

Theme and Theology

The author focuses on Ruth's unswerving and selfless devotion to desolate Naomi (1:16–17; 2:11–12; 3:10; 4:15) and on Boaz's kindness to these two widows (chs. 2—4). He presents striking examples of lives that embody in their daily affairs the self-giving love that fulfills God's law (Lev 19:18; cf. Ro 13:10). Such love also reflects God's love, in a marvelous joining of man's actions with God's (compare 2:12 with 3:9). In God's benevolence such lives are blessed and are made a blessing.

It may seem surprising that one who reflects God's love so clearly is a Moabitess (see map on "The Book of Ruth," p. 362). Yet her complete loyalty to the Israelite family into which she has been received by marriage and her total devotion to her desolate mother-in-law mark her as a true daughter of Israel and a worthy ancestress of David. She strikingly exemplifies the truth that participation in the coming kingdom of God is decided, not by blood and birth, but by the conformity of one's life to the will of God through the "obedience that comes from faith" (Ro 1:5). Her place in the ancestry of David signifies that all nations will be represented in the kingdom of David's greater Son.

As an episode in the ancestry of David, the book of Ruth sheds light on his role in the history of redemption. Redemption is a key concept throughout the account; the Hebrew word in its various forms occurs 23 times. The book is primarily a story of Naomi's transformation from despair to happiness through the selfless, God-blessed acts of Ruth and Boaz. She moves from emptiness to fullness (1:21; 3:17; see notes on 1:1,3,5–6,12,21–22; 3:17; 4:15), from destitution (1:1–5) to security and hope (4:13–17). Similarly, Israel was transformed from national desperation at the death of Eli (1Sa 4:18) to peace and prosperity in the early days of Solomon (1Ki 4:20–34; 5:4) through the selfless devotion of David, a true descendant of Ruth and Boaz. The author thus reminded Israel that the reign of the house of David, as the means of God's benevolent rule in Israel, held the prospect of God's promised peace and rest. But this rest would continue only so long as those who participated in the kingdom—prince and people alike—reflected in their daily lives the selfless love exemplified by Ruth and Boaz. In Jesus, the great "son of David" (Mt 1:1), and his redemptive work, the promised blessings of the kingdom of God find their fulfillment.

Literary Features

The book of Ruth is a Hebrew short story, told with consummate skill. Among historical narratives in Scripture it is unexcelled in its compactness, vividness, warmth, beauty and dramatic effectiveness—an exquisitely wrought jewel of Hebrew narrative art.

Marvelously symmetrical throughout (see Outline), the action moves from a briefly sketched account of distress (1:1–5; 71 words in Hebrew) through four episodes to a concluding account of relief and hope that is drawn with equal brevity (4:13–17; 71 words in Hebrew). The crucial turning point occurs exactly midway (see note on 2:20). The opening line of each of the four episodes signals its main development (1:6, the return; 2:1, the meeting with Boaz; 3:1, finding a home for Ruth; 4:1, the decisive event at the gate), while the closing line of each episode facilitates transition to what follows (see notes on 1:22; 2:23; 3:18; 4:12). Contrast is also used to good effect: pleasant (the meaning of "Naomi") and bitter (1:20), full and empty (1:21), and the living and the dead (2:20). Most striking is the contrast between two of the main characters, Ruth and Boaz: The one is a young, alien, destitute widow, while the other is a middle-aged, well-to-do Israelite securely established in his home community. For each there is a corresponding character whose actions highlight, by contrast, his or her selfless acts: Ruth—Orpah, Boaz—the unnamed kinsman.

When movements in space, time and circumstance all correspond in some way, a harmony results that both satisfies the reader's artistic sense and helps open doors to understanding. The author of Ruth keeps his readers from being distracted from the central story—Naomi's passage from emptiness to fullness through the selfless acts of Ruth and Boaz (see Theme and Theology). That passage, or restoration, first takes place in connection with her return from Moab to the promised land and to Bethlehem ("house of food"; see note on 1:1). It then progresses with the harvest season, when the fullness of the land is gathered in. All aspects of the story keep the reader's attention focused on the central issue. Consideration of these and other literary devices (mentioned throughout the notes) will aid understanding of the book of Ruth.

1 In the days when the judges ruled,[a][a] there was a famine in the land,[b] and a man from Bethlehem in Judah,[c] together with his wife and two sons, went to live for a while[d] in the country of Moab.[e] 2The man's name was Elimelech,[f] his wife's name Naomi, and the names of his two sons were Mahlon and Kilion.[g] They were Ephrathites[h] from Bethlehem,[i] Judah. And they went to Moab and lived there.

3Now Elimelech, Naomi's husband, died, and she was left with her two sons. 4They married Moabite women,[j] one named Orpah and the other Ruth.[k] After they had lived there about ten years, 5both Mahlon and Kilion[l] also died,[m] and Naomi was left without her two sons and her husband.

8Then Naomi said to her two daughters-in-law, "Go back, each of you, to your mother's home.[r] May the LORD show kindness[s] to you, as you have shown to your dead[t] and to me. 9May the LORD grant that each of you will find rest[u] in the home of another husband."

1:1 when the judges ruled. Probably from c. 1380 to c. 1050 B.C. (see Introduction to Judges: Background). By mentioning the judges, the author calls to mind that period of Israel's apostasy, moral degradation and oppression. famine. Not mentioned in Judges. Bethlehem in Judah. David's hometown (1Sa 16:18). Bethlehem (the name suggests "house of food") is empty.

1:2 Elimelech. Means "(My) God is King" (see note on Jdg 8:23). Naomi. See NIV text note on v. 20. Ephrathites. Ephrathah was a name for the area around Bethlehem (see 4:11; Ge 35:19; 1Sa 17:12; Mic 5:2).

1:3 Elimelech, Naomi's husband, died. Naomi's emptying begins (see v. 21).

1:4 They married. Prospect of continuing the family line remained. Moabite women. See Ge 19:36–37. Marriage with Moabite women was not forbidden, though no Moabite—or his sons to the tenth generation—was allowed to "enter the assembly of the LORD" (Dt 23:3). Ruth. The name sounds like the Hebrew for "friendship." Ruth is one of four women in Matthew's genealogy of Jesus. The others are Tamar, Rahab and Bathsheba (Mt 1:3,5–6).

1:5 Mahlon. Ruth's husband (4:10), whose name probably means "weakling." Naomi was left. Naomi's emptiness is complete: She has neither husband nor sons. She has only two young daughters-in-law, both of them foreigners and childless.

1:6 the LORD had come to the aid of his people. At several points in the account, God's sovereign control of events is acknowledged (here; vv. 13,21; 2:20; 4:12–15). food. Bethlehem ("house of food") again has food. prepared to return home. Empty Naomi returns to the newly filled land of promise.

1:8 Go back. Desolate Naomi repeatedly urges her daughters-in-law to return to their original homes in Moab (here; vv. 11–12,15); she has nothing to offer them. show kindness. See 2:20; 3:10.

The Book of Ruth

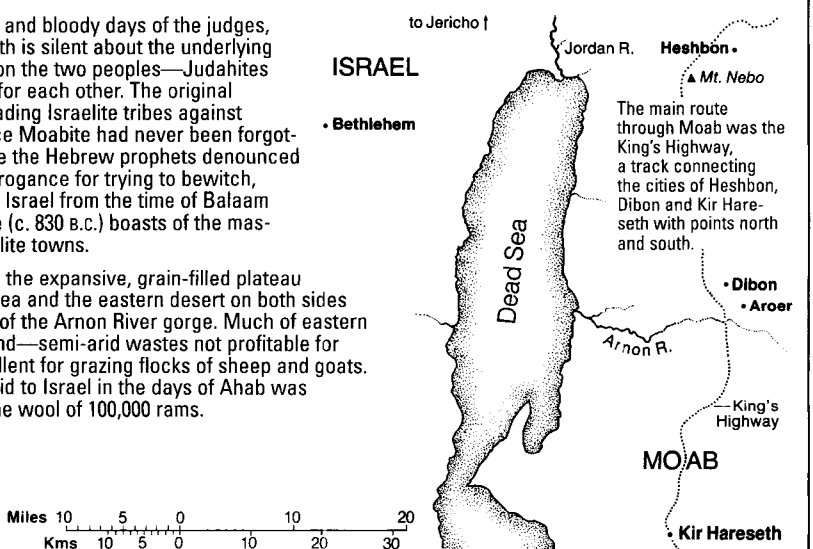
Set in the dark and bloody days of the judges, the story of Ruth is silent about the underlying hostility and suspicion the two peoples—Judahites and Moabites—felt for each other. The original onslaught of the invading Israelite tribes against towns that were once Moabite had never been forgotten or forgiven, while the Hebrew prophets denounced Moab's pride and arrogance for trying to bewitch, seduce and oppress Israel from the time of Balaam on. The Mesha Stele (c. 830 B.C.) boasts of the massacre of entire Israelite towns.

Moab encompassed the expansive, grain-filled plateau between the Dead Sea and the eastern desert on both sides of the enormous rift of the Arnon River gorge. Much of eastern Moab was steppeland—semi-arid wastes not profitable for cultivation, but excellent for grazing flocks of sheep and goats. The tribute Moab paid to Israel in the days of Ahab was 100,000 lambs and the wool of 100,000 rams.



aloud[w] [10]and said to her, "We will go back with you to your people."

[11]But Naomi said, "Return home, my daughters. Why would you come with me? Am I going to have any more sons, who could become your husbands?[x] [12]Return home, my daughters; I am too old to have another husband. Even if I thought there was still hope for me—even if I had a husband tonight and then gave birth to sons— [13]would you wait until they grew up?[y] Would you remain unmarried for them? No, my daughters. It is more bitter[z] for me than for you, because the LORD's hand has gone out against me!"[a]

[14]At this they wept[b] again. Then Orpah kissed her mother-in-law[c] goodby,[d] but Ruth clung to her.[e]

[15]"Look," said Naomi, "your sister-in-law[f] is going back to her people and her gods.[g] Go back with her."

[16]But Ruth replied, "Don't urge me to leave you[h] or to turn back from you. Where you go I will go,[i] and where you stay I will stay. Your people will be my people[j] and your God my God.[k] [17]Where you die I will die, and there I will be buried. May the LORD deal with me, be it ever so severely,[l] if anything but death separates you and me."[m] [18]When Naomi realized that Ruth was determined to go with her, she stopped urging her.[n]

[19]So the two women went on until they came to Bethlehem.[o] When they arrived in Bethlehem, the whole town was stirred[p] because of them, and the women exclaimed, "Can this be Naomi?"

[20]"Don't call me Naomi,[b]" she told them. "Call me Mara,[c] because the Almighty[dq] has made my life very bitter.[r] [21]I went away full, but the LORD has brought me back empty.[s] Why call me Naomi? The LORD has afflicted[e] me;[t] the Almighty has brought misfortune upon me."

[22]So Naomi returned from Moab accompanied by Ruth the Moabitess,[u] her daughter-in-law,[v] arriving in Bethlehem as the barley harvest[w] was beginning.[x]

Ruth Meets Boaz

2 Now Naomi had a relative[y] on her husband's side, from the clan of Elimelech,[z] a man of standing,[a] whose name was Boaz.[b]

2:1 [x]2Sa 21:9 [y]Ru 3:2; Pr 7:4 [z]S Ru 1:2 [a]1Sa 9:1; 1Ki 11:28 [b]Ru 4:21; 1Ch 2:12; Mt 1:5; Lk 3:32

[b]20 Naomi means pleasant; also in verse 21.
[c]20 Mara means bitter. [d]20 Hebrew Shaddai; also in verse 21 [e]21 Or has testified against

1:11 sons, who could become your husbands. Naomi alludes to the Israelite law (Dt 25:5–6) regarding levirate marriage (see notes on Ge 38:8; Dt 25:5–10; see also Mk 12:18–23), which was given to protect the widow and guarantee continuance of the family line.

1:12 I am too old. Naomi can have no more sons; even her womb is empty.

1:13 the LORD's hand . . . against me. See notes on vv. 5–6; see also vv. 20–21.

1:14 Orpah's departure highlights the loyalty and selfless devotion of Ruth to her desolate mother-in-law.

1:15 her gods. The chief god of the Moabites was Chemosh.

1:16 This classic expression of loyalty and love discloses the true character of Ruth. Her commitment to Naomi is complete, even though it holds no prospect for her but to share in Naomi's desolation. For a similar declaration of devotion see 2Sa 15:21.

1:17 May the LORD deal with me, be it ever so severely. See note on 1Sa 3:17. Ruth, a Gentile, swears her commitment to Naomi in the name of Israel's God, thus acknowledging him as her God (see v. 16).

1:20 Naomi . . . Mara. See NIV text notes. In the ancient Near East a person's name was often descriptive. Almighty. See note on Ge 17:1.

1:21 full . . . empty. These words highlight the central theme of the story—how the empty Naomi becomes full again.

1:22 Ruth the Moabitess. Several times the author reminds the reader that Ruth is a foreigner from a despised people (2:2,6,21; 4:5,10; see 2:10). harvest. Harvesting grain in ancient Canaan took place in April and May (barley first, wheat a few weeks later; see 2:23). It involved the following steps: (1) cutting the ripened standing grain with hand sickles (Dt 16:9; 23:25; Jer 50:16; Joel 3:13)—usually done by men; (2) binding the grain into sheaves—usually done by women; (3) gleaning, i.e., gathering stalks of grain left behind (2:7); (4) transporting the sheaves to the threshing floor—often by donkey, sometimes by cart (Am 2:13); (5) threshing, i.e., loosening the grain from the straw—usually done by the treading of cattle (Dt 25:4; Hos 10:11), but sometimes by toothed threshing sledges (Isa 41:15; Am 1:3) or the wheels of carts (Isa 28:28); (6) winnowing—done by tossing the grain into the air with winnowing forks (Jer 15:7) so that the wind, which usually came up for a few hours in the afternoon, blew away the straw and chaff (Ps 1:4), leaving the grain at the winnower's feet; (7) sifting the grain (Am 9:9) to remove any residual foreign matter; (8) bagging for transportation and storage (Ge 42–44). Threshing floors, where both threshing and winnowing occurred, were hard, smooth, open places, prepared on either rock or clay and carefully chosen for favorable exposure to the prevailing winds. They were usually on the east side—i.e., downwind—of the village. was beginning. Naomi and Ruth arrive in Bethlehem just as the renewed fullness of the land is beginning to be harvested—an early hint that Naomi will be full again. Reference to the barley harvest also prepares the reader for the next major scene in the harvest fields (see Introduction: Literary Features).

2:1 relative. A sign of hope (see note on v. 20). Boaz. Probably means "In him is strength." Boaz is included in both genealogies of Jesus (Mt 1:5; Lk 3:32).

RUTH

NAME SUGGESTS: "Friendship"
OCCUPATION: Caretaker, gleaner
BEST KNOWN FOR:

- her love and concern for her mother-in-law Naomi
- traveling to a new land in faith
- through Boaz, becoming a member of Jesus' family line

2 And Ruth the Moabitess[c] said to Naomi, "Let me go to the fields and pick up the leftover grain[d] behind anyone in whose eyes I find favor.[e]"

Naomi said to her, "Go ahead, my daughter." 3So she went out and began to glean in the fields behind the harvesters.[f] As it turned out, she found herself working in a field belonging to Boaz, who was from the clan of Elimelech.[g]

4Just then Boaz arrived from Bethlehem and greeted the harvesters, "The LORD be with you![h]"

"The LORD bless you![i]" they called back.

5Boaz asked the foreman of his harvesters, "Whose young woman is that?"

6The foreman replied, "She is the Moabitess[j] who came back from Moab with Naomi. 7She said, 'Please let me glean and gather among the sheaves[k] behind the harvesters.' She went into the field and has worked steadily from morning till now, except for a short rest[l] in the shelter."

8So Boaz said to Ruth, "My daughter, listen to me. Don't go and glean in another field and don't go away from here. Stay here with my servant girls. 9Watch the field where the men are harvesting, and follow along after the girls. I have told the men not to touch you. And whenever you are thirsty, go and get a drink from the water jars the men have filled."

10At this, she bowed down with her face to the ground.[m] She exclaimed, "Why have I found such favor in your eyes that you notice me[n]—a foreigner?[o]"

11Boaz replied, "I've been told all about what you have done for your mother-in-law[p] since the death of your husband[q]—how you left your father and mother and your homeland and came to live with a people you did not know[r] before.[s] 12May the LORD repay you for what you have done. May you be richly rewarded by the LORD,[t] the God of Israel,[u] under whose wings[v] you have come to take refuge.[w]"

13"May I continue to find favor in your eyes,[x] my lord," she said. "You have given me comfort and have spoken kindly to your servant—though I do not have the standing of one of your servant girls."

14At mealtime Boaz said to her, "Come over here. Have some bread[y] and dip it in the wine vinegar."

When she sat down with the harvesters,[z] he offered her some roasted grain.[a] She ate all she wanted and had some left over.[b] 15As she got up to glean, Boaz gave orders to his men, "Even if she gathers among the sheaves,[c] don't embarrass her. 16Rather, pull out some stalks for her from the bundles and leave them for her to pick up, and don't rebuke[d] her."

17So Ruth gleaned in the field until evening. Then she threshed[e] the barley she had gathered, and it amounted to about an ephah.[ff] 18She carried it back to town, and her mother-in-law saw how much she had gathered. Ruth also brought out and gave her what she had left over[g] after she had eaten enough.

19Her mother-in-law asked her, "Where did you glean today? Where did you work? Blessed be the man who took notice of you![h]"

Then Ruth told her mother-in-law about the one at whose place she had been working. "The name of the man I worked with today is Boaz," she said.

20"The LORD bless him![i]" Naomi said

2:2 Let me go. Although Ruth is an alien and, as a young woman alone, obviously quite vulnerable in the harvest fields, she undertakes to provide for her mother-in-law. In 3:1 Naomi undertakes to provide for Ruth. pick up the leftover grain. The law of Moses instructed landowners to leave what the harvesters missed so that the poor, the alien, the widow and the fatherless could glean for their needs (Lev 19:9; 23:22; Dt 24:19).

2:3 As it turned out. Divine providence is at work (vv. 19–20).

2:4 The exchange of greetings between Boaz and his laborers characterizes Boaz as a godly man with a kind spirit.

2:9 follow along after the girls. It was customary for the men to cut the grain and for the servant girls to go behind them to bind the grain into sheaves. Then Ruth could glean what they had left behind (see note on 1:22).

2:11 Ruth's commitment to care for her desolate mother-in-law remains the center of attention throughout the book.

2:12 under whose wings. A figure of a bird protecting her young under her wings (see Mt 23:37; see also note on 3:9).

2:13 your servant. A polite reference to herself.

2:15 gave orders to his men. Boaz goes beyond the requirement of the law in making sure that Ruth's labors are abundantly productive (see 3:15).

2:17 threshed. See note on 1:22. In Ruth's case, as in that of Gideon (Jdg 6:11), the amount was small and could be threshed by hand simply by beating it with a club or stick. ephah. See NIV text note; an unusually large amount for one day's gleaning.

2:20 The LORD . . . has not stopped showing his kindness. See 1:8. In 3:10 Boaz credits Ruth with demonstrating this same virtue. kinsman-redeemers. Redemption is a key concept in Ruth (see Introduction: Theme and Theology). The kinsman-redeemer was responsible for protecting the interests of needy members of the extended family—e.g., to provide an heir for a brother who had died (Dt 25:5–10), to redeem land that a poor relative had sold outside the family (Lev 25:25–28), to redeem a relative who had been sold into slavery (Lev 25:47–49) and to avenge the killing of a relative (Nu 35:19–21; "avenger" and "kinsman-redeemer" are translations of the same Hebrew word). Naomi is encouraged when she hears that the Lord to her daughter-in-law.[j] "He has not stopped showing his kindness[k] to the living and the dead." She added, "That man is our close relative;[l] he is one of our kinsman-redeemers.[m]"

[21]Then Ruth the Moabitess[n] said, "He even said to me, 'Stay with my workers until they finish harvesting all my grain.' "

[22]Naomi said to Ruth her daughter-in-law, "It will be good for you, my daughter, to go with his girls, because in someone else's field you might be harmed."

[23]So Ruth stayed close to the servant girls of Boaz to glean until the barley[o] and wheat harvests[p] were finished. And she lived with her mother-in-law.

Ruth and Boaz at the Threshing Floor

3 One day Naomi her mother-in-law[q] said to her, "My daughter, should I not try to find a home[sr] for you, where you will be well provided for? [2]Is not Boaz, with whose servant girls you have been, a kinsman[s] of ours? Tonight he will be winnowing barley on the threshing floor.[t] [3]Wash[u] and perfume yourself,[v] and put on your best clothes.[w] Then go down to the threshing floor, but don't let him know you are there until he has finished eating and drinking.[x] [4]When he lies down, note the place where he is lying. Then go and uncover his feet and lie down. He will tell you what to do."

[5]"I will do whatever you say,"[y] Ruth answered. [6]So she went down to the threshing floor[z] and did everything her mother-in-law told her to do.

[7]When Boaz had finished eating and drinking and was in good spirits,[a] he went over to lie down at the far end of the grain pile.[b] Ruth approached quietly, uncovered his feet and lay down. [8]In the middle of the night something startled the man, and he turned and discovered a woman lying at his feet.

[9]"Who are you?" he asked.

"I am your servant Ruth," she said. "Spread the corner of your garment[c] over me, since you are a kinsman-redeemer.[d]"

[10]"The LORD bless you,[e] my daughter," he replied. "This kindness is greater than that which you showed earlier:[f] You have not run after the younger men, whether rich or poor. [11]And now, my daughter, don't be afraid. I will do for you all you ask. All my fellow townsmen know that you are a woman of noble character.[g] [12]Although it is true that I am near of kin, there is a kinsman-redeemer[h] nearer than[i] I. [13]Stay here for the night, and in the morning if he wants to redeem,[j] good; let him redeem. But if he is not willing, as surely as the LORD lives[k] I will do it.[l] Lie here until morning."

[14]So she lay at his feet until morning, but got up before anyone could be recognized; and he said, "Don't let it be known that a woman came to the threshing floor.[m]"[n]

[15]He also said, "Bring me the shawl[o] you are wearing and hold it out." When she did so, he poured into it six measures has led Ruth to the fields of a relative who might serve as their kinsman-redeemer. This moment of Naomi's awakened hope is the crucial turning point of the story.

2:23 until the barley and wheat harvests were finished. This phrase rounds out the harvest episode and prepares for the next major scene on the threshing floor (see Introduction: Literary Features).

3:1 Naomi's awakened hope (cf. 1:8–13) now moves her to undertake provision for Ruth's future (see note on 2:2).

3:2 Tonight he will be winnowing. See note on 1:22. In the threshing season it was customary for the landowner to spend the night near the threshing floor to protect his grain from theft.

3:3 Ruth is instructed to prepare herself like a bride (see Eze 16:9–12). go down to the threshing floor. Women were not normally present at the evening revelries of the threshers (v. 14). eating and drinking. Harvest was a time of festivity (Isa 9:3; 16:9–10; Jer 48:33).

3:4 uncover his feet and lie down. Although Naomi's instructions may appear forward, the moral integrity of Naomi and Ruth is never in doubt (see v. 11). Naomi's advice to Ruth is clearly for the purpose of appealing to Boaz's kinsman obligation. Ruth's actions were a request for marriage. Tamar, the mother of Perez (4:12), had also laid claim to the provision of the levirate (or kinsman-redeemer) law (Ge 38:13–30).

3:9 Spread the corner of your garment over me. A request for marriage (see Eze 16:8); a similar custom is still practiced in some parts of the Middle East today. There is a play on the words "wings" of the Lord (2:12) and "corners" (lit. "wings") of the garment (here), both signifying protection. Boaz is vividly reminded that he must serve as the Lord's protective wing to watch over Ruth.

3:10 kindness . . . you showed earlier. See 2:11–12.

3:11 woman of noble character. See Pr 31:10. The Hebrew for this expression is similar to that used of Boaz in 2:1; thus the author maintains a balance between his descriptions of Ruth and Boaz.

3:12 a kinsman-redeemer nearer than I. How Boaz was related to Ruth's former husband (Mahlon) is unknown, but the closest male relative had the primary responsibility to marry a widow. Naomi instructed Ruth to approach Boaz because he had already shown himself willing to be Ruth's protector. Boaz, however, would not bypass the directives of the law, which clearly gave priority to the nearest relative.

3:13 as surely as the LORD lives. Boaz commits himself by oath (cf. 1:17) to redeem the family property and to arrange Ruth's honorable marriage.

3:15 Boaz goes beyond the requirement of the law in supplying Ruth with grain from the threshing floor (see 2:15).

of barley and put it on her. Then he[h] went back to town.

16When Ruth came to her mother-in-law, Naomi asked, "How did it go, my daughter?"

Then she told her everything Boaz had done for her 17and added, "He gave me these six measures of barley, saying, 'Don't go back to your mother-in-law empty-handed.' "

18Then Naomi said, "Wait, my daughter, until you find out what happens. For the man will not rest until the matter is settled today."[p]

Boaz Marries Ruth

4 Meanwhile Boaz went up to the town gate[q] and sat there. When the kinsman-redeemer[r] he had mentioned[s] came along, Boaz said, "Come over here, my friend, and sit down." So he went over and sat down.

2Boaz took ten of the elders[t] of the town and said, "Sit here," and they did so.[u] 3Then he said to the kinsman-redeemer, "Naomi, who has come back from Moab, is selling the piece of land that belonged to our brother Elimelech.[v] 4I thought I should bring the matter to your attention and suggest that you buy it in the presence of these seated here and in the presence of the elders of my people. If you will redeem it, do so. But if you[i] will not, tell me, so I will know. For no one has the right to do it except you,[w] and I am next in line."

"I will redeem it," he said.

5Then Boaz said, "On the day you buy the land from Naomi and from Ruth the Moabitess,[x] you acquire[j] the dead man's widow, in order to maintain the name of the dead with his property."[y]

6At this, the kinsman-redeemer said, "Then I cannot redeem[z] it because I might endanger my own estate. You redeem it yourself. I cannot do it."[a]

7(Now in earlier times in Israel, for the redemption[b] and transfer of property to become final, one party took off his sandal[c] and gave it to the other. This was the method of legalizing transactions[d] in Israel.)[e]

8So the kinsman-redeemer said to Boaz, "Buy it yourself." And he removed his sandal.[f]

9Then Boaz announced to the elders and all the people, "Today you are witnesses[g] that I have bought from Naomi all the property of Elimelech, Kilion and Mahlon. 10I have also acquired Ruth the Moabitess,[h] Mahlon's widow, as my wife,[i] in order to maintain the name of the dead with his property, so that his name will not disappear from among his family or from the town records.[j] Today you are witnesses![k]"

11Then the elders and all those at the gate[l] said, "We are witnesses.[m] May the LORD make the woman who is coming into your home like Rachel and Leah,[n] who together built up the house of Israel. May you have standing in Ephrathah[o] and be famous in Bethlehem.[p]

3:17 empty-handed. Again the empty-full motif (see note on 1:21).

3:18 Wait. The Hebrew underlying this word is translated "sat" in 4:1. Thus the author prepares the reader for the next major scene, in which Boaz sits at the town gate to see the matter through.

4:1 town gate. The "town hall" of ancient Israel, the normal place for business and legal transactions, where witnesses were readily available (vv. 9–12; see note on Ge 19:1). my friend. The other kinsman remains unnamed.

4:2 ten of the elders. A full court for legal proceedings.

4:3 selling the piece of land. See note on 2:20. Two interpretations are possible: 1. Naomi owns the land but is so destitute that she is forced to sell. It was the duty of the kinsman-redeemer to buy any land in danger of being sold outside the family. 2. Naomi does not own the land—it had been sold by Elimelech before the family left for Moab—but by law she retains the right of redemption to buy the land back. Lacking funds to do so herself, she is dependent on a kinsman-redeemer to do it for her. It is the right of redemption that Naomi is "selling." brother. Used in the broader sense of "relative."

4:5 you acquire the dead man's widow. Now Boaz reveals the other half of the obligation—the acquisition of Ruth. Levirate law (Dt 25:5–6) provided that Ruth's firstborn son would keep Mahlon's name alive and would possess the right of ownership of the family inheritance.

4:6 I cannot redeem it. Possibly he fears that, if he has a son by her and if that son is his only surviving heir, his own property will transfer to the family of Elimelech (see note on Ge 38:9). In that case his risk was no greater than that assumed by Boaz. This kinsman's refusal to assume the kinsman-redeemer's role highlights the kindness and generosity of Boaz toward the two widows—just as Orpah's return to her family highlights Ruth's selfless devotion and loyalty to Naomi.

4:7 one party took off his sandal. The process of renouncing one's property rights and passing them to another was publicly attested by taking off a sandal and transferring it to the new owner (cf. Am 2:6; 8:6). The Nuzi documents (see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii) refer to a similar custom.

4:9 witnesses. The role of public witnesses was to attest to all legal transactions and other binding agreements.

4:10 name of the dead. See Dt 25:6.

4:11 Rachel and Leah . . . built up the house of Israel. Cf. Dt 25:9. The Israelite readers of Ruth would have associated the house of Jacob (Israel), built up by Rachel and Leah, with the house of Israel, rebuilt by David, the descendant of Ruth and Boaz, after it had been threatened with extinction (1Sa 4). They also knew that the Lord had covenanted to "build" the house of David as an enduring dynasty, through which Israel's blessed destiny would be assured (see 2Sa 7:27–29). Ephrathah. See note on 1:2.

mar[r] bore to Judah."

13So Boaz took Ruth and she became his wife. Then he went to her, and the LORD enabled her to conceive,[s] and she gave birth to a son.[t] 14The women[u] said to Naomi: "Praise be to the LORD,[v] who this day has not left you without a mous throughout Israel! 15He will renew your life and sustain you in your old age.

For your daughter-in-law,[x] who loves you and who is better to you than seven sons,[y] has given him birth."

16Then Naomi took the child, laid him in her lap and cared for him. 17The women living there said, "Naomi has a son."
And they named him Obed. He was the

4:12 Perez, whom Tamar bore to Judah. Perez was Boaz's ancestor (vv. 18–21; Mt 1:3; Lk 3:33). His birth to Judah was from a union based on the levirate practice (Ge 38:27–30; see note on 1:11). Perez was therefore an appropriate model within Boaz's ancestry for the blessing the elders gave to Boaz. Moreover, the descendants of Perez had raised the tribe of Judah to a prominent place in Israel. So the blessing of the elders—that, through the offspring Ruth would bear to Boaz, his family would be like that of Perez—was fully realized in David and his dynasty. Thus also v. 12 prepares the reader for the events briefly narrated in the conclusion.

4:13–17 The conclusion of the story balances the introduction (1:1–5): (1) In the Hebrew both have the same number of words; (2) both compress much into a short space; (3) both focus on Naomi; (4) the introduction emphasizes Naomi's emptiness, and the conclusion portrays her fullness.

4:13 the LORD enabled her to conceive. See note on 1:6.

4:14 kinsman-redeemer. The child Obed, as v. 15 makes clear. May he become famous. This same wish is expressed concerning Boaz in v. 11.

4:15 better to you than seven sons. See 1Sa 1:8. Since seven was considered a number of completeness, to have seven sons was the epitome of all family blessings in Israel (see 1Sa 2:5; Job 1:2; 42:13). Ruth's selfless devotion to Naomi receives its climactic acknowledgment.

4:16 laid him in her lap. Possibly symbolizing adoption (see note on Ge 30:3).

4:17 Naomi has a son. Through Ruth, aged Naomi, who can no longer bear children, obtains an heir in place of Mahlon. Obed. The name means "servant," in its full form possibly "servant of the LORD."

4:18–22 See 1Ch 2:5–15; Mt 1:3–6; Lk 3:31–33. Like the genealogies of Ge 5:3–32; 11:10–26, this genealogy has ten names (see note on Ge 5:5). It brings to mind the reign of David, during which, in contrast to the turbulent period of the judges recalled in 1:1, Israel finally entered into rest in the promised land (see 1Ki 5:4). It signifies that, just as Naomi was brought from emptiness to fullness through the selfless love of Ruth and Boaz, so the Lord brought Israel from unrest to rest through their descendant David, who selflessly gave himself to fight Israel's battles on the Lord's behalf. The ultimate end of this genealogy is Jesus Christ, the great "son of David" (Mt 1:1), who fulfills prophecy and will bring the Lord's people into final rest.

1 Samuel

Title

1 and 2 Samuel are named after the person God used to establish kingship in Israel. Samuel not only anointed both Saul and David, Israel's first two kings, but he also gave definition to the new order of God's rule over Israel that began with the incorporation of kingship into its structure. Samuel's importance as God's representative in this period of Israel's history is close to that of Moses (see Ps 99:6; Jer 15:1) since he, more than any other person, provided for covenant continuity in the transition from the rule of the judges to that of the monarchy.

1 and 2 Samuel were originally one book. It was divided into two parts by the translators of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT)—a division subsequently followed by Jerome (the Latin Vulgate) and by modern versions. The title of the book has varied from time to time, having been designated "The First and Second Books of Kingdoms" (Septuagint), "First and Second Kings" (Vulgate) and "First and Second Samuel" (Hebrew tradition and most modern versions).

Literary Features, Authorship and Date

Many questions have arisen pertaining to the literary character, authorship and date of 1,2 Samuel. Certain literary characteristics of the book suggest that it was compiled with the use of a number of originally independent sources, which the author may have incorporated into his own composition as much as possible in their original, unedited form.

Who the author was cannot be known with certainty since the book itself gives no indication of his identity. Some have suggested Zabud, son of Nathan the prophet, who is referred to in 1Ki 4:5 as the "personal adviser" to King Solomon. He would have had access to information about David's reign from his father Nathan, as well as from court records. Whoever the author was, he must have lived shortly after Solomon's death (930 B.C.) and the division of the kingdom (see references to "Israel and Judah" in 11:8; 17:52; 18:16; 2Sa 5:5; 24:1–9 and the expression "kings of Judah" in 1Sa 27:6). Also, he doubtless had access to records of the life and times of Samuel, Saul and David. Explicit reference in the book itself is made to only one such source (the Book of Jashar, 2Sa 1:18), but the writer of Chronicles refers to four others that pertain to this period (the book of the annals of King David, 1Ch 27:24; the records of Samuel the seer; the records of Nathan the prophet; the records of Gad the seer, 1Ch 29:29).

Contents and Theme: Kingship and Covenant

1 Samuel portrays the establishment of kingship in Israel. Before the author describes this momentous change in the structure of the theocracy (God's rule), he effectively depicts the complexity of its context. The following events provide both historical and theological context for the birth of the monarchy:

1. The birth, youth and calling of Samuel (chs. 1—3). In a book dealing for the most part with the reigns of Israel's first two kings, Saul and David, it is significant that the author chose not to include a birth narrative of either of these men, but to describe the birth of their forerunner and anointer, the prophet Samuel. This in itself accentuates the importance the author attached to Samuel's role in the events that follow. He seems to be saying in a subtle way that flesh and blood are to be subordinated to word and Spirit in the process of the establishment of kingship. For this reason chs. 1—3 should be viewed as integrally related to what follows, not as a more likely component of the book of Judges or as a loosely attached prefix to the rest of 1,2 Samuel. Kingship is given its birth and then nurtured by the prophetic word and work of the prophet Samuel. Moreover, the events of Samuel's nativity thematically anticipate the story of God's working that is narrated in the rest of the book.

2. The "ark narratives" (chs. 4—6). This section describes how the ark of God was captured by the Philistines and then, after God wreaked havoc on several Philistine cities, how it was returned to Israel. These narratives reveal the folly of Israel's notion that possession of the ark automatically guaranteed victory over her enemies. They also display the awesome power of the Lord (Yahweh, the God of Israel) and his superiority over the Philistine god Dagon. The Philistines were forced to confess openly their helplessness against God's power by their return of the ark to Israel. The entire ark episode performs a vital function in placing Israel's subsequent sinful desire for a human king in proper perspective.

3. Samuel as a judge and deliverer (ch. 7). When Samuel called Israel to repentance and renewed dedication to the Lord, the Lord intervened mightily in Israel's behalf and gave victory over the Philistines. This narrative reaffirms the authority of Samuel as a divinely ordained leader; at the same time it provides evidence of divine protection and blessing for God's people when they place their confidence in the Lord and live in obedience to their covenant obligations.

All the material in chs. 1—7 serves as a necessary preface for the narratives of chs. 8—12, which describe the rise and establishment of kingship in Israel. The author has masterfully arranged the stories in chs. 8—12 in order to accentuate the serious theological conflict surrounding the historical events. In the study of these chapters, scholars have often noted the presence of a tension or ambivalence in the attitude toward the monarchy: On the one hand, Samuel is commanded by the Lord to give the people a king (8:7,9,22; 9:16–17; 10:24; 12:13); on the other hand, their request for a king is considered a sinful rejection of the Lord (8:7; 10:19; 12:12,17,19–20). These seemingly conflicting attitudes toward the monarchy must be understood in the context of Israel's covenant relationship with the Lord.

Moses had anticipated Israel's desire for a human king (Dt 17:18–20), but Israelite kingship was to be compatible with the continued rule of the Lord over his people as their Great King. Instead, when the elders asked Samuel to give them a king (8:5,19–20), they rejected the Lord's kingship over them (8:7; 10:19; 12:17,19). Their desire was for a king such as the nations around them had—to lead them in battle and give them a sense of national security and unity. The request for a king constituted a denial of their covenant relationship to the Lord, who was their King. Moreover, the Lord not only had promised to be their protector but had also repeatedly demonstrated his power in their behalf, most recently in the ark narratives (chs. 4—6), as well as in the great victory won over the Philistines under the leadership of Samuel (ch. 7).

Nevertheless the Lord instructed Samuel to give the people a king (8:7,9,22). By divine appointment Saul was brought into contact with Samuel, and Samuel was directed to anoint him privately as king (9:1—10:16). Subsequently, Samuel gathered the people at Mizpah, where, after again admonishing them concerning their sin in desiring a king (10:18–19), he presided over the selection of a king by lot. The lot fell on Saul and publicly designated him as the one whom God had chosen (10:24). Saul did not immediately assume his royal office, but returned home to work his fields (11:5,7). When the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead were threatened by Nahash the Ammonite, Saul rose to the challenge, gathered an army and led Israel to victory in battle. His success placed a final seal of divine approval on Saul's selection to be king (cf. 10:24; 11:12–13) and occasioned the inauguration of his reign at Gilgal (11:14—12:25).

The question that still needed resolution, then, was not so much whether Israel should have a king (it was clearly the Lord's will to give them a king), but rather how they could maintain their covenant with God (i.e., preserve the theocracy) now that they had a human king. The problem was resolved when Samuel called the people to repentance and renewal of their allegiance to the Lord on the very occasion of the inauguration of Saul as king (11:14—12:25; see note on 10:25). By establishing kingship in the context of covenant renewal, Samuel placed the monarchy in Israel on a radically different footing from that in surrounding nations. The king in Israel was not to be autonomous in his authority and power; rather, he was to be subject to the law of the Lord and the word of the prophet (10:25; 12:23). This was to be true not only for Saul but also for all the kings who would occupy the throne in Israel in the future. The king was to be an instrument of the Lord's rule over his people, and the people as well as the king were to continue to recognize the Lord as their ultimate Sovereign (12:14–15).

Saul very quickly demonstrated that he was unwilling to submit to the requirements of his theocratic office (chs. 13—15). When he disobeyed the instructions of the prophet Samuel in preparation for battle against the Philistines (13:13), and when he refused to totally destroy the Amalekites as he had been commanded to do by the word of the Lord through Samuel (ch. 15), he ceased to be an instrument of the Lord's rule over his people. These abrogations of the requirements of his theocratic office led to his rejection as king (15:23).

The remainder of 1 Samuel (chs. 16—31) depicts the Lord's choice of David to be Saul's successor, and then describes the long road by which David is prepared for accession to the throne. Although Saul's rule became increasingly anti-theocratic in nature, David refused to usurp the throne by forceful means but left his accession to office in the Lord's hands. Eventually Saul was wounded in a battle with the Philistines and, fearing capture, took his own life. Three of Saul's sons, including David's loyal friend Jonathan, were killed in the same battle (ch. 31).

Chronology

Even though the narratives of 1,2 Samuel contain some statements of chronological import (see, e.g., 1Sa 6:1; 7:2; 8:1,5; 13:1; 25:1; 2Sa 2:10–11; 5:4–5; 14:28; 15:7), the data are insufficient to establish a precise chronology for the major events of this period of Israel's history. Except for the dates of David's birth and the duration of his reign, which are quite firm (see 2Sa 5:4–5), most other dates can only be approximated. The textual problem with the chronological data on the age of Saul when he became king and the length of his reign (see NIV text notes on 1Sa 13:1) contributes to uncertainty concerning the precise time of his birth and the beginning of his reign. No information is given concerning the time of Samuel's birth (1Sa 1:1) or death (25:1). His lifetime must have spanned, at least in part, that of Samson and that of Obed, son of Ruth and Boaz and grandfather of David. It is indicated that he was well along in years when the elders of Israel asked him to give them a king (see 8:1,5). One other factor contributing to chronological uncertainty is that the author has not always arranged his material in strict chronological sequence. It seems clear, for example, that 2Sa 7 is to be placed chronologically after David's conquests described in 2Sa 8:1–14 (see notes on 2Sa 7:1; 8:1). The story of the famine sent by God on Israel during the reign of David because of Saul's violation of a treaty with the Gibeonites is found in 2Sa 21:1–4, though chronologically it occurred prior to the time of Absalom's rebellion recorded in 2Sa 15—18 (see further the notes on 2Sa 21:1–2). The following dates, however, provide an approximate chronological framework for the times of Samuel, Saul and David.

VII. Final Reflections on David's Reign (2Sa 21—24)

The Birth of Samuel

1 There was a certain man from Ramathaim,[a] a Zuphite[ab] from the hill country[c] of Ephraim,[d] whose name was Elkanah[e] son of Jeroham, the son of Elihu, the son of Tohu, the son of Zuph, an Ephraimite. 2He had two wives;[f] one was called Hannah and the other Peninnah. Peninnah had children, but Hannah had none.

3Year after year[g] this man went up from his town to worship[h] and sacrifice to the LORD Almighty at Shiloh,[i] where Hophni and Phinehas, the two sons of Eli,[j] were priests of the LORD. 4Whenever the day came for Elkanah to sacrifice,[k] he would give portions of the meat to his wife Peninnah and to all her sons and daughters.[l] 5But to Hannah he gave a double portion[m] because he loved her, and the LORD had closed her womb.[n] 6And because the LORD had closed her womb, her rival kept provoking her in order to irritate her.[o] 7This went on year after year. Whenever Hannah went up to the house of the LORD, her rival provoked her till she wept and would not eat.[p] 8Elkanah her husband would say to her, "Hannah, why are you weeping? Why don't you eat? Why are you downhearted? Don't I mean more to you than ten sons?[q]"

9Once when they had finished eating and drinking in Shiloh, Hannah stood up. Now Eli the priest was sitting on a chair by the doorpost of the LORD's temple.[br] 10In bitterness of soul[s] Hannah wept much and prayed to the LORD. 11And she made a vow,[t] saying, "O LORD Almighty[u], if you will only look upon your servant's misery and remember[v] me, and not forget your servant but give her a son, then I will give him to the LORD for all the days of his life,[w] and no razor[x] will ever be used on his head."

12As she kept on praying to the LORD, Eli observed her mouth. 13Hannah was praying in her heart, and her lips were moving but her voice was not heard. Eli thought she was drunk 14and said to her, "How long will you keep on getting drunk? Get rid of your wine."

15"Not so, my lord," Hannah replied, "I am a woman who is deeply troubled.[y] I have not been drinking wine or beer;

[a] 1 Or from Ramathaim Zuphim [b] 9 That is, tabernacle

1:1 Ramathaim. The name occurs only here in the OT and appears to be another name for Ramah (see 1:19; 2:11; 7:17; 19:18; 25:1). It is perhaps to be identified with the Ramah of Benjamin (see Jos 18:25) located in the hill country about five miles north of Jerusalem near the border of Ephraim and Benjamin. Zuphite. See NIV text note. It is not entirely clear whether this word refers to the man or the place. If it refers to the man, it indicates his descent from Zuph (see 1Ch 6:34–35). If it refers to the place, it designates the general area in which Ramathaim is located (see 9:5). Ephraimite. Although Elkanah is here called an Ephraimite, he was probably a Levite whose family belonged to the Kohathite clans that had been allotted towns in Ephraim (see Jos 21:20–21; 1Ch 6:22–26).

1:2 two wives. See notes on Ge 4:19; 16:2; 25:6.

1:3 Year after year this man went up. Three times a year every Israelite male was required to appear before the Lord at the central sanctuary (Ex 23:14–19; 34:23; Dt 16:16–17). The festival referred to here was probably the Feast of Tabernacles, which not only commemorated God's care for his people during the desert journey to Canaan (see Lev 23:43) but more especially celebrated, with joy and feasting, God's blessing on the year's crops (see Dt 16:13–15). On such festive occasions Hannah's deep sorrow because of her own barrenness was the more poignant. the LORD Almighty. Traditionally "the LORD of hosts." This is the first time in the Bible that God is designated by this title. The Hebrew for "host(s)" can refer to (1) human armies (Ex 7:4; Ps 44:9); (2) the celestial bodies such as the sun, moon and stars (Ge 2:1; Dt 4:19; Isa 40:26); or (3) the heavenly creatures such as angels (Jos 5:14; 1Ki 22:19; Ps 148:2). The title, "the LORD of hosts," is perhaps best understood as a general reference to the sovereignty of God over all powers in the universe (hence the NIV rendering, "the LORD Almighty"). In the account of the establishment of kingship in Israel it became particularly appropriate as a reference to God as the God of armies—both of the heavenly army (Dt 33:2; Jos 5:14; Ps 68:17; Hab 3:8) and of the army of Israel (1Sa 17:45). Shiloh. The town in Ephraim between Bethel and Shechem where the central sanctuary and the ark of the covenant were located (see Jos 18:1; Jdg 21:19).

1:4 sacrifice. Here refers to a sacrifice that was combined with a festive meal signifying fellowship and communion with the Lord and grateful acknowledgment of his mercies (see Lev 7:11–18; Dt 12:7,17–18).

1:5 the LORD had closed her womb. The Lord gives and withholds children (see Ge 18:10; 29:31; 30:2,22).

1:6 her rival. See note on Ge 16:4.

1:9 temple. Here and in 3:3 the central sanctuary, the tabernacle (see NIV text note), is referred to as "the LORD's temple." It is also called "the house of the LORD" (v. 7; 3:15), "the Tent of Meeting" (2:22) and "my dwelling" (2:32). The references to the tabernacle as a "house" and a "temple," as well as references to sleeping quarters and doors (3:2,15), give the impression that at this time the tabernacle was part of a larger, more permanent building complex to which the term "temple" could legitimately be applied (cf. Jer 7:12,14; 26:6).

1:11 vow. See Ge 28:20–22; Nu 21:2; Ps 50:14; 76:11; 116:14,18; 132:2–5; Pr 20:25; 31:2. Regulations for the making of vows by women are found in Nu 30. remember. To remember is more than simply to recall that Hannah existed. It is to go into action in her behalf (see v. 19; see also note on Ge 8:1). all the days of his life. In contrast to the normal period of service for Levites, which was from age 25 to 50 (see Nu 8:23–26). no razor. Hannah voluntarily vows for her son that which God had required of Samson (Jdg 13:5). Long hair was a symbol of dedication to the service of the Lord and was one of the characteristics of the Nazirite vow (see Nu 6:1–21). The vow was normally taken for a limited time rather than for life.

1:13 drunk. Eli's mistake suggests that in those days it was not uncommon for drunken people to enter the sanctuary. Further evidence of the religious and moral deterioration of the time is found in the stories of Jdg 17–21.

I was pouring[z] out my soul to the LORD. [16]Do not take your servant for a wicked woman; I have been praying here out of my great anguish and grief."[a]

[17]Eli answered, "Go in peace,[b] and may the God of Israel grant you what you have asked of him.[c]"

[18]She said, "May your servant find favor in your eyes.[d]" Then she went her way and ate something, and her face was no longer downcast.[e]

[19]Early the next morning they arose and worshiped before the LORD and then went back to their home at Ramah.[f] Elkanah lay with Hannah his wife, and the LORD remembered[g] her. [20]So in the course of time Hannah conceived and gave birth to a son.[h] She named[i] him Samuel,[cj] saying, "Because I asked the LORD for him."

Hannah Dedicates Samuel

[21]When the man Elkanah went up with all his family to offer the annual[k] sacrifice to the LORD and to fulfill his vow,[l] [22]Hannah did not go. She said to her husband, "After the boy is weaned, I will take him and present[m] him before the LORD, and he will live there always."

[23]"Do what seems best to you," Elkanah her husband told her. "Stay here until you have weaned him; only may the LORD make good[n] his[d] word." So the woman stayed at home and nursed her son until she had weaned[o] him.

[24]After he was weaned, she took the boy with her, young as he was, along with a three-year-old bull,[ep] an ephah[f] of flour and a skin of wine, and brought him to the house of the LORD at Shiloh. [25]When they had slaughtered the bull, they brought the boy to Eli, [26]and she said to him, "As surely as you live, my lord, I am the woman who stood here beside you praying to the LORD. [27]I prayed[q] for this child, and the LORD has granted me what I asked of him. [28]So now I give him to the LORD. For his whole life[r] he will be given over to the LORD." And he worshiped the LORD there.

Hannah's Prayer

2 Then Hannah prayed and said:[s]

"My heart rejoices[t] in the LORD;
in the LORD my horn[gu] is lifted high.
My mouth boasts[v] over my enemies,[w] for I delight in your deliverance.

[2]"There is no one holy[hx] like[y] the LORD;
there is no one besides you;
there is no Rock[z] like our God.

[3]"Do not keep talking so proudly

1:16 wicked. See note on Dt 13:13.

1:20 Samuel. See NIV text note.

1:21 annual sacrifice. See notes on vv. 3–4. his vow. Making vows to God was a common feature of OT piety, usually involving thank offerings and praise (see Lev 7:16; Ps 50:14; 56:12; 66:13–15; 116:17–18; Isa 19:21). Elkanah no doubt annually made vows to the Lord as he prayed for God's blessing on his crops and flocks, and fulfilled those vows at the Feast of Tabernacles (see note on v. 3).

1:22 weaned. It was customary in the East to nurse children for three years or longer (in the Apocrypha see 2 Maccabees 7:27) since there was no way to keep milk sweet.

1:23 his word. No previous word from God is mentioned, unless this refers to the pronouncement of Eli in v. 17. The Dead Sea Scrolls, Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) and Syriac version (see NIV text note) resolve this problem by reading "your word."

1:26 As surely as you live. A customary way of emphasizing the truthfulness of one's words.

2:1 prayed. Hannah's prayer is a song of praise and thanksgiving to God (see Ps 72:20, where the psalms of David are designated "prayers"). This song has sometimes been termed the "Magnificat of the OT" because it is so similar to the Magnificat of the NT (Mary's song, Lk 1:46–55). It also has certain resemblances to the "Benedictus" (the song of Zechariah, Lk 1:67–79). Hannah's song of praise finds many echoes in David's song near the end of the book (2Sa 22). These two songs frame the main narrative, and their themes highlight the ways of God that the narrative relates—they contain the theology of the book in the form of praise. Hannah speaks prophetically at a time when Israel is about to enter an important new period of her history with the establishment of kingship through her son, Samuel. rejoices in the LORD. The supreme source of Hannah's joy is not in the child, but in the God who has answered her prayer. my horn is lifted high. See NIV text note; cf. Dt 33:17; Ps 75:5,10; 92:10; 112:9; Lk 1:69. To have one's horn lifted up by God is to be delivered from disgrace to a position of honor and strength.

2:2 no one besides you. See 2Sa 7:22; Dt 4:39; Isa 45:6. Rock. A metaphor to depict the strength and stability of the God of Israel as the unfailing source of security for his people (see 2Sa 22:32; Dt 32:4,31; Ps 18:31; Isa 30:29; 44:8).

2:3 so proudly ... such arrogance. After the manner of Peninnah (and others in the narratives of 1,2 Samuel—Eli's sons, the Philistines, Saul, Nabal, Goliath, Absalom, Shimei and Sheba). the LORD is a God who knows. See 16:7;

1Ki 8:39; Ps 139:1–6.

2:4–5 In a series of examples derived from everyday life Hannah shows that God often works contrary to natural expectations and brings about surprising reversals—seen frequently in the stories that follow.

2:5 seven children. See note on Ru 4:15.

2:6–8 Hannah declares that life and death, prosperity and adversity, are determined by the sovereign power of God—another theme richly illustrated in the following narrative (see Dt 32:39; 1Ki 17:20–24; 2Ki 4:32–35; Jn 5:21; 11:41–44).

2:6 grave. See NIV text note; see also note on Ge 37:35.

2:8 foundations of the earth. A common figure in the OT for the solid base on which the earth (the dry land on which man lives, not planet earth; Ge 1:10) is founded. The phrase does not teach a particular theory of the structure of the universe (see Job 9:6; 38:6; Ps 75:3; 104:5; Zec 12:1).

2:9 guard the feet. Travel in ancient Israel was for the most part by foot over trails that were often rocky and dangerous (see Ps 91:11–12; 121:3). saints. People who are faithful to the Lord. The Hebrew root underlying this word is used of both God and his people in 2Sa 22:26 (see also Ps 18:25) to characterize the nature of their mutual relationship. The word is also translated "godly" (Ps 12:1; 32:6) and "faithful ones" (Pr 2:8).

2:10 judge. Impose his righteous rule upon (see Ps 96:13; 98:9). ends of the earth. All nations and peoples (see Dt 33:17; Isa 45:22). his king. Hannah's prayer is here prophetic, anticipating the establishment of kingship in Israel and the initial realization of the Messianic ideal in David (Lk 1:69). Ultimately her expectation finds fulfillment in Christ and his complete triumph over the enemies of God. horn. See note on v. 1. anointed. The first reference in the Bible to the Lord's anointed—i.e., his anointed king. (Priests were also anointed for God's service; see Ex 28:41; Lev 4:3.) The word is often synonymous with "king" (as here) and provides part of the vocabulary basis for the Messianic idea in the Bible. "Anointed" and "Messiah" are the translation and transliteration respectively of the same Hebrew word. The Greek translation of this Hebrew term is Christos, from which comes the English word "Christ" (see NIV text note on Mt 1:17). A king (coming from the tribe of Judah) is first prophesied by Jacob (Ge 49:10); kingship is further anticipated in the oracles of Balaam in Nu 24:7,17. Also Dt 17:14–20 looks forward to the time when the Lord will place a king of his choice over his people after they enter the promised land. 1,2 Samuel shows how this expectation of the theocratic king is realized in the person of David. Hannah's prophetic anticipation of a king at the time of the dedication of her son Samuel, who was to be God's agent for establishing kingship in Israel, is entirely appropriate.

2:11 ministered. Performed such services as a boy might render while assisting the high priest. before the LORD. At the "house of the LORD" (1:24).

2:12 wicked. See note on Dt 13:13. had no regard for. Lit. "did not know." In OT usage, to "know" the Lord is not just intellectual or theoretical recognition. To know the Lord is to enter into fellowship with him and acknowledge his claims on one's life. The term often has a covenantal connotation (see Jer 31:34; Hos 13:4, "acknowledge").

2:13–16 Apparently vv. 13–14 describe the practice that had come to be accepted for determining the priests' portion of the fellowship offerings (Lev 7:31–36; 10:14–15; Dt 18:1–5)—a tradition presumably based on the assumption that a random thrust of the fork would providentially determine a fair portion. Verses 15–16 then describe how Eli's sons arrogantly violated that custom and the law.

people that whenever anyone offered a sacrifice and while the meat[f] was being boiled, the servant of the priest would come with a three-pronged fork in his hand. [14]He would plunge it into the pan or kettle or caldron or pot, and the priest would take for himself whatever the fork brought up. This is how they treated all the Israelites who came to Shiloh. [15]But even before the fat was burned, the servant of the priest would come and say to the man who was sacrificing, "Give the priest some meat to roast; he won't accept boiled meat from you, but only raw."

[16]If the man said to him, "Let the fat[g] be burned up first, and then take whatever you want," the servant would then answer, "No, hand it over now; if you don't, I'll take it by force."

[17]This sin of the young men was very great in the LORD's sight, for they[j] were treating the LORD's offering with contempt.[h]

[18]But Samuel was ministering[i] before the LORD—a boy wearing a linen ephod.[j] [19]Each year his mother made him a little robe and took it to him when she went up with her husband to offer the annual[k] sacrifice. [20]Eli would bless Elkanah and his wife, saying, "May the LORD give you children by this woman to take the place of the one she prayed[l] for and gave to the LORD." Then they would go home. [21]And the LORD was gracious to Hannah;[m] she conceived and gave birth to three sons and two daughters. Meanwhile, the boy Samuel grew[n] up in the presence of the LORD.

[22]Now Eli, who was very old, heard about everything[o] his sons were doing to all Israel and how they slept with the women[p] who served at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting. [23]So he said to them, "Why do you do such things? I hear from all the people about these wicked deeds of yours. [24]No, my sons; it is not a good report that I hear spreading among the LORD's people. [25]If a man sins against another man, God[k] may mediate for him; but if a man sins against the LORD, who will[q] intercede[r] for him?" His sons, however, did not listen to their father's rebuke, for it was the LORD's will to put them to death.

[26]And the boy Samuel continued to grow[s] in stature and in favor with the LORD and with men.[t]

Prophecy Against the House of Eli

[27]Now a man of God[u] came to Eli and said to him, "This is what the LORD says: 'Did I not clearly reveal myself to your father's house when they were in Egypt under Pharaoh? [28]I chose[v] your father out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priest, to go up to my altar, to burn incense,[w] and to wear an ephod[x] in my presence. I also gave your father's house

[j]17 Or men [k]25 Or the judges

2:15 before the fat was burned. On the altar as the Lord's portion, which he was to receive first (see Lev 3:16; 4:10,26,31,35; 7:28,30–31; 17:6). roast. Boiling is the only form of cooking specified in the law for the priests' portion (Nu 6:19–20). Roasting this portion is nowhere expressly forbidden in the law, but it is specified only for the Passover lamb (Ex 12:8–9; Dt 16:7). The present passage seems to imply that for the priests to roast their portion of the sacrifices was unlawful.

2:16 by force. Presenting the priests' portion was to be a voluntary act on the part of the worshipers (see Lev 7:28–36; Dt 18:3).

2:18 But Samuel. Between 2:11 and 4:1 the author presents a series of sharp contrasts between Samuel and Eli's sons. linen ephod. A priestly garment worn by those who served before the Lord at his sanctuary (see 22:18; 2Sa 6:14). It was a close-fitting, sleeveless pullover, usually of hip length, and is to be distinguished from the special ephod worn by the high priest (see note on v. 28; cf. Ex 39:1–26).

2:19 little robe. A sleeveless garment reaching to the knees, worn over the undergarment and under the ephod (see 15:27; 18:4). annual sacrifice. See note on 1:3.

2:22 slept with the women who served. See Ex 38:8. There is no further reference to such women in the OT. Perhaps these women performed various menial tasks, but certainly their service is not to be confused with that of the Levites, which is prescribed in the Pentateuch (Nu 1:50; 3:6–8; 8:15; 16:9; 18:2–3). The immoral acts of Eli's sons are reminiscent of the religious prostitution (fertility rites) at the Canaanite sanctuaries (see 1Ki 14:24; 15:12; 22:46)—acts that were an abomination to the Lord and a desecration of his house (Dt 23:17–18).

2:23 he said to them. Eli rebuked his sons but did not remove them from office. God would do that.

2:25 God. See NIV text note. Eli's argument is that when someone commits an offense against another man, there is recourse to a third party to decide the issue (whether this be understood as God or as God's representatives, the judges; see NIV text notes on Ex 22:8–9); but when the offense is against the Lord, there is no recourse, for God is both the one wronged and the judge. the LORD's will to put them to death. This comment by the author of the narrative is not intended to excuse Eli's sons, but to indicate that Eli's warning was much too late. Eli's sons had persisted in their evil ways for so long that God's judgment on them was determined (v. 34; see Jos 11:20).

2:26 grow in stature and in favor with the LORD and with men. Cf. Luke's description of Jesus (Lk 2:52).

2:27 man of God. Often a designation for a prophet (see 9:6,10; Dt 33:1; Jos 14:6; 1Ki 13:1,6–8; 17:18,24; 2Ki 4:7). father's house. The descendants of Aaron.

2:28 to be my priest. Three tasks of the priests are mentioned: 1. to go up to my altar. To perform the sacrificial rites at the altar of burnt offering in the courtyard of the tabernacle. 2. to burn incense. At the altar of incense in the Holy Place (Ex 30:1–10). 3. to wear an ephod. See note on v. 18. It would appear that the reference here is to the special ephod of the high priest (see Ex 28:4–13). The breastplate containing the Urim and Thummim was attached to the ephod of the high priest. The Urim and Thummim were a divinely ordained means of communication with God, placed in the custody of the high priest (see Ex 28:30 and note; see also 1Sa 23:9–12; 30:7–8).

all the offerings[y] made with fire by the Israelites. 29Why do you[l] scorn my sacrifice and offering[z] that I prescribed for my dwelling?[a] Why do you honor your sons more than me by fattening yourselves on the choice parts of every offering made by my people Israel?'

30"Therefore the LORD, the God of Israel, declares: 'I promised that your house and your father's house would minister before me forever.[b]' But now the LORD declares: 'Far be it from me! Those who honor me I will honor,[c] but those who despise[d] me will be disdained.[e] 31The time is coming when I will cut short your strength and the strength of your father's house, so that there will not be an old man in your family line[f] 32and you will see distress[g] in my dwelling. Although good will be done to Israel, in your family line there will never be an old man.[h] 33Every one of you that I do not cut off from my altar will be spared only to blind your eyes with tears and to grieve your heart, and all your descendants[i] will die in the prime of life.

34" 'And what happens to your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, will be a sign[j] to you—they will both die[k] on the same day.[l] 35I will raise up for myself a faithful priest,[m] who will do according to what is in my heart and mind. I will firmly establish his house, and he will minister before my anointed[n] one always. 36Then everyone left in your family line will come and bow down before him for a piece of silver and a crust of bread and plead,[o] "Appoint me to some priestly office so I can have food to eat.[p]" ' "

The LORD Calls Samuel

3 The boy Samuel ministered[q] before the LORD under Eli. In those days the word of the LORD was rare;[r] there were not many visions.[s]

2One night Eli, whose eyes[t] were becoming so weak that he could barely see,[u] was lying down in his usual place. 3The lamp[v] of God had not yet gone out, and Samuel was lying down in the temple[mw] of the LORD, where the ark[x] of God was. 4Then the LORD called Samuel.

Samuel answered, "Here I am.[y]"

[l] 29 The Hebrew is plural. [m] 3 That is, tabernacle

2:30 I promised. See Ex 29:9; Lev 8–9; Nu 16–17; 25:13. Far be it from me! This is not to say that the promise of the priesthood to Aaron's house has been annulled, but that Eli and his house are to be excluded from participation in this privilege because of their sin. Those who honor me I will honor. See v. 29. Spiritual privileges bring responsibilities and obligations; they are not to be treated as irrevocable rights (see 2Sa 22:26–27).

2:31 strength . . . strength. Lit. "arm . . . arm," symbolic of strength. Eli's "arm" and that of his priestly family will be cut off (contrast David, 2Sa 22:35). not be an old man in your family line. A prediction of the decimation of Eli's priestly family in the death of his sons (4:11), in the massacre of his descendants by Saul at Nob (22:18–19) and in the removal of Abiathar from his priestly office (1Ki 2:26–27).

2:32 distress in my dwelling. Including the capture of the ark by the Philistines (4:1–10), the destruction of Shiloh (Jer 7:14) and the relocation of the tabernacle to Nob (21:1–6; see note on 21:1).

2:33 A reference apparently to Abiathar, who was expelled from office by Solomon (see 1Ki 2:26–27) after an unsuccessful attempt to make Adonijah king as the successor to David.

2:34 a sign to you. The death of Hophni and Phinehas (4:11) will confirm the longer-term predictions. Such confirmation of a prophetic word was not uncommon (see 10:7–9; 1Ki 13:3; Jer 28:15–17; Lk 1:18–20).

2:35 I will raise up for myself a faithful priest. Initially fulfilled in the person of Zadok, who served as a priest during the time of David (see 2Sa 8:17; 15:24,35; 20:25) and who eventually replaced Abiathar as high priest in the time of Solomon (see 1Ki 2:35; 1Ch 29:22). firmly establish his house. Lit. "build for him a faithful house"; the faithful priest will be given a "faithful" (i.e., enduring) priestly family. See the similar word spoken concerning David (25:28, "lasting dynasty"; see also 2Sa 7:16; 1Ki 11:38). The line of Zadok was continued by his son Azariah (see 1Ki 4:1) and was still on the scene at the time of the return from the exile (see 1Ch 6:14–15; Ezr 3:2). It continued in intertestamental times until Antiochus IV Epiphanes (175–164 B.C.) sold the priesthood to Menelaus (in the Apocrypha see 2 Maccabees 4:23–50), who was not of the priestly line. my anointed one. David and his successors (see note on v. 10).

3:1 boy Samuel. See 2:11,18. Samuel is now no longer a little child (see 2:21,26). The Jewish historian Josephus places his age at 12 years; he may have been older. the word of the LORD was rare. See Pr 29:18; Am 8:11. During the entire period of the judges, apart from the prophet of 2:27–36, we are told of only two prophets (Jdg 4:4; 6:8) and of five revelations (Jdg 2:1–3; 6:11–23; 7:2–11; 10:11–14; 13:3–21). Possibly 2Ch 15:3 also refers to this period. visions. Cf. Ge 15:1.

3:3 The lamp of God had not yet gone out. The reference is to the golden lampstand, which stood opposite the table of the bread of the Presence (Ex 25:31–40) in the Holy Place. It was still night, but the early morning hours were approaching when the flame grew dim or went out (see Ex 27:20–21; 30:7–8; Lev 24:3–4; 2Ch 13:11; Pr 31:18). For the lamp to be permitted to go out before morning was a violation of the Pentateuchal regulations. temple. See NIV text note and note on 1:9.

SAMUEL

NAME SUGGESTS: "Heard of God" (1Sa 1:20)
OCCUPATION: Priest, prophet, judge over Israel
BEST KNOWN FOR:

- hearing God speak to him as a young boy in the temple
- his effectiveness as a judge over Israel
- anointing both Saul and David as Israel's first and second kings

5And he ran to Eli and said, "Here I am; you called me."

But Eli said, "I did not call; go back and lie down." So he went and lay down.

6Again the LORD called, "Samuel!" And Samuel got up and went to Eli and said, "Here I am; you called me."

"My son," Eli said, "I did not call; go back and lie down."

7Now Samuel did not yet know[z] the LORD: The word[a] of the LORD had not yet been revealed[b] to him.

8The LORD called Samuel a third time, and Samuel got up and went to Eli and said, "Here I am; you called me."

Then Eli realized that the LORD was calling the boy. 9So Eli told Samuel, "Go and lie down, and if he calls you, say, 'Speak, LORD, for your servant is listening.' " So Samuel went and lay down in his place.

10The LORD came and stood there, calling as at the other times, "Samuel! Samuel![c]"

Then Samuel said, "Speak, for your servant is listening."

11And the LORD said to Samuel: "See, I am about to do something in Israel that will make the ears of everyone who hears of it tingle.[d] 12At that time I will carry out against Eli everything[e] I spoke against his family—from beginning to end. 13For I told him that I would judge his family forever because of the sin he knew about; his sons made themselves contemptible,[n] and he failed to restrain[f] them. 14Therefore, I swore to the house of Eli, 'The guilt of Eli's house will never be atoned[g] for by sacrifice or offering.' "

15Samuel lay down until morning and then opened the doors of the house of the LORD. He was afraid to tell Eli the vision, 16but Eli called him and said, "Samuel, my son."

Samuel answered, "Here I am."

17"What was it he said to you?" Eli asked. "Do not hide[h] it from me. May God deal with you, be it ever so severely,[i] if you hide from me anything he told you." 18So Samuel told him everything, hiding nothing from him. Then Eli said, "He is the LORD; let him do what is good in his eyes."[j]

19The LORD was with[k] Samuel as he grew[l] up, and he let none[m] of his words fall to the ground. 20And all Israel from Dan to Beersheba[n] recognized that Samuel was attested as a prophet of the LORD.[o] 21The LORD continued to appear at Shiloh, and there he revealed[p] himself to Samuel through his word.

4 And Samuel's word came to all Israel.

The Philistines Capture the Ark

Now the Israelites went out to fight against the Philistines. The Israelites camped at Ebenezer,[q] and the Philistines at Aphek.[r] 2The Philistines deployed their forces to meet Israel, and as the battle spread, Israel was defeated by the Philistines, who killed about four thousand of them on the battlefield. 3When the soldiers returned to camp, the

3:5 Eli said. Eli's failure to recognize at once that the Lord had called Samuel may be indicative of his own unfamiliarity with the Lord.

3:7 did not yet know the LORD. In the sense of having a direct experience of him (see Ex 1:8), such as receiving a revelation from God (see the last half of the verse).

3:11–14 The Lord's first revelation to Samuel repeats the message Eli had already received from the "man of God" (2:27–36), thus confirming the fact that the youth had indeed received a revelation from God.

3:13 contemptible. See NIV text note and Lev 24:14.

3:15 doors of the house of the LORD. See note on 1:9. The tabernacle itself did not have doors. This may refer to an enclosure in which it stood. vision. See note on vv. 11–14.

3:17 May God deal with you, be it ever so severely. A curse formula (see 14:44; 20:13; 25:22; 2Sa 3:9,35; 19:13; Ru 1:17; 1Ki 2:23; 2Ki 6:31), usually directed against the speaker but here used by Eli against Samuel if he conceals anything the Lord said (see also note on 14:24).

3:18 let him do what is good in his eyes. Eli bows before God, accepting the judgment as righteous (see Ex 34:5–7).

3:19 he let none of his words fall to the ground. Because none of Samuel's words proved unreliable, he was recognized as a prophet who spoke the word of the Lord (see vv. 20–21).

3:20 Dan to Beersheba. A conventional expression often used in Samuel, Kings and Chronicles to denote the entire land (Dan was located in the far north and Beersheba in the far south).

3:21 at Shiloh. But not after the events narrated in chs. 4–6 (see Jer 7:12–14; 26:6).

4:1 Samuel's word came to all Israel. Contrast 3:1. Ebenezer. Means "stone of help." The precise location is unknown, but it was probably a short distance (see v. 6) to the east of Aphek—not to be confused with the location of the stone named Ebenezer that was later erected by Samuel between Mizpah and Shen (see 7:12) to commemorate a victory over the Philistines. Aphek. A town about 12 miles northeast of the coastal city of Joppa. Philistine presence this far north suggests an attempt to spread their control over the Israelite tribes of central Canaan (see v. 9; Jdg 15:11).

4:3 Why did the LORD bring defeat . . . ? The elders understood that their defeat was more an indication of God's displeasure than it was of Philistine military might. Israel's pagan neighbors also believed that the outcome of battle was decided by the gods. so that it may go with us and save us. See NIV text note. In an attempt to secure the Lord's presence with them in the struggle against the Philistines, the elders sent for the ark of the covenant. They were correct in thinking there was a connection between God's presence with his people and the ark (cf. v. 4), and no doubt they remembered the presence of the ark at notable victories in Israel's past history (see Nu 10:33–36;

elders of Israel asked, "Why[s] did the LORD bring defeat upon us today before the Philistines? Let us bring the ark[t] of the LORD's covenant from Shiloh,[u] so that it[o] may go with us[v] and save us from the hand of our enemies."

4So the people sent men to Shiloh, and they brought back the ark of the covenant of the LORD Almighty, who is enthroned between the cherubim.[w] And Eli's two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, were there with the ark of the covenant of God.

5When the ark of the LORD's covenant came into the camp, all Israel raised such a great shout[x] that the ground shook. 6Hearing the uproar, the Philistines asked, "What's all this shouting in the Hebrew[y] camp?"

When they learned that the ark of the LORD had come into the camp, 7the Philistines were afraid.[z] "A god has come into the camp," they said. "We're in trouble! Nothing like this has happened before. 8Woe to us! Who will deliver us from the hand of these mighty gods? They are the gods who struck[a] the Egyptians with all kinds of plagues[b] in the desert. 9Be strong, Philistines! Be men, or you will be subject to the Hebrews, as they[c] have been to you. Be men, and fight!"

10So the Philistines fought, and the Israelites were defeated[d] and every man fled to his tent. The slaughter was very great; Israel lost thirty thousand foot soldiers. 11The ark of God was captured, and Eli's two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, died.[e]

Death of Eli

12That same day a Benjamite[f] ran from the battle line and went to Shiloh, his clothes torn and dust[g] on his head. 13When he arrived, there was Eli[h] sitting on his chair by the side of the road, watching, because his heart feared for the ark of God. When the man entered the town and told what had happened, the whole town sent up a cry.

14Eli heard the outcry and asked, "What is the meaning of this uproar?"

The man hurried over to Eli, 15who was ninety-eight years old and whose eyes[i] were set so that he could not see. 16He told Eli, "I have just come from the battle line; I fled from it this very day."

Eli asked, "What happened, my son?"

17The man who brought the news replied, "Israel fled before the Philistines, and the army has suffered heavy losses. Also your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, are dead,[j] and the ark of God has been captured."[k]

18When he mentioned the ark of God, Eli fell backward off his chair by the side of the gate. His neck was broken and he died, for he was an old man and heavy. He had led[p][l] Israel forty years.[m]

19His daughter-in-law, the wife of Phinehas, was pregnant and near the time of delivery. When she heard the news that the ark of God had been captured and that her father-in-law and her husband were dead, she went into labor and gave birth, but was overcome by her labor pains. 20As she was dying, the Jos 3:3,11,14–17; 6:6,12–20). But they incorrectly believed that the Lord's presence with the ark was guaranteed, rather than being subject to his free decision. They reflect the pagan notion that the deity is identified with the symbol of his presence, and that God's favor could automatically be gained by manipulating the symbol.

4:4 enthroned between the cherubim. On each end of the atonement cover of the ark of the covenant were golden cherubim with their wings spread upward over the ark (see Ex 25:17–22). In the space between these cherubim God's presence with his people was localized in a special way, so that the atonement cover of the ark came to be viewed as the throne of Israel's divine King (see 2Sa 6:2; Ps 80:1; 99:1). Hophni and Phinehas. These wicked priests (see 2:12) did not restrain the army from its improper use of the ark but actually accompanied the ark to the battlefield.

4:6 Hebrew. See note on Ge 14:13.

4:7 A god has come into the camp. The Philistines also identified the God of Israel with the symbol of his presence (see note on v. 3).

4:8 mighty gods. The Philistines could think only in polytheistic terms. Egyptians . . . plagues. See note on 6:6.

4:11 The ark of God was captured. This phrase or a variation of it occurs five times in the chapter (here, vv. 17,19,21–22) and is the focal point of the narrative. In this disastrous event, God's word in 3:11 finds a swift fulfillment. Hophni and Phinehas, died. The fulfillment of 2:34; 3:12.

4:12 his clothes torn and dust on his head. A sign of grief and sorrow, here marking the messenger as a bearer of bad news (see 2Sa 1:2; 13:19; 15:32).

4:13 his heart feared for the ark of God. Eli had sufficient spiritual sensitivity to be aware of the danger inherent in the sinful and presumptuous act of taking the ark of God into the battle. And he seems to have been even more concerned for the ark than for his sons (see v. 18).

4:18 he died. The death of Eli marked the end of an era that had begun with the death of Joshua and the elders who served with him (see Jos 24:29,31). Incapable of restraining Israel or his sons from their wicked ways, and weakened and blinded by age, the old priest is an apt symbol of the flawed age now coming to its tragic close. He is also a striking contrast to the reign of David, which is the main focus of this narrative. heavy. A bit of information that not only helps explain why Eli's fall was fatal but also links his death with the judgment announced earlier: "Why do you honor your sons more than me by fattening yourselves . . .?" (2:29). He had led Israel forty years. See NIV text note. Eli is here included among the judges (see 2Sa 7:11; Jdg 2:16–19; Ru 1:1), who served as leaders of Israel in the period between the deaths of Joshua and of the elders who outlived him and the establishment of kingship. It is likely that Eli's leadership of 40 years overlapped that of Jephthah, Ibzan, Elon and Abdon (Jdg 12:7–14), as well as that of Samson (Jdg 13–16).

women attending her said, "Don't despair; you have given birth to a son." But she did not respond or pay any attention.

21She named the boy Ichabod,[q][n] saying, "The glory[o] has departed from Israel"—because of the capture of the ark of God and the deaths of her father-in-law and her husband. 22She said, "The glory[p] has departed from Israel, for the ark of God has been captured."[q]

The Ark in Ashdod and Ekron

5 After the Philistines had captured the ark of God, they took it from Ebenezer[r] to Ashdod.[s] 2Then they carried the ark into Dagon's temple and set it beside Dagon.[t] 3When the people of Ashdod rose early the next day, there was Dagon, fallen[u] on his face on the ground before the ark of the LORD! They took Dagon and put him back in his place. 4But the following morning when they rose, there was Dagon, fallen on his face on the ground before the ark of the LORD! His head and hands had been broken[v] off and were lying on the threshold; only his body remained. 5That is why to this day neither the priests of Dagon nor any others who enter Dagon's temple at Ashdod step on the threshold.[w]

6The LORD's hand[x] was heavy upon the people of Ashdod and its vicinity; he brought devastation[y] upon them and afflicted them with tumors.[rz] 7When the men of Ashdod saw what was happening, they said, "The ark of the god of Israel must not stay here with us, because his hand is heavy upon us and upon Dagon our god." 8So they called together all the rulers[a] of the Philistines and asked them, "What shall we do with the ark of the god of Israel?"

They answered, "Have the ark of the god of Israel moved to Gath.[b]" So they moved the ark of the God of Israel.

9But after they had moved it, the LORD's hand was against that city, throwing it into a great panic.[c] He afflicted the people of the city, both young and old, with an outbreak of tumors.[s] 10So they sent the ark of God to Ekron.[d]

As the ark of God was entering Ekron, the people of Ekron cried out, "They have brought the ark of the god of Israel around to us to kill us and our people." 11So they called together all the rulers[e] of the Philistines and said, "Send the ark of the god of Israel away; let it go back to its own place, or it[t] will kill us and our people." For death had filled the city with panic; God's hand was very heavy upon it. 12Those who did not die[f] were afflicted with tumors, and the outcry of the city went up to heaven.

4:21 The glory has departed. The glory of Israel was Israel's God, not the ark, and loss of the ark did not mean that God had abandoned his people—God was not inseparably bound to the ark (see Jer 3:16–17). Yet the removal of the ark from Israel did signal estrangement in the relationship between God and his people, and it demonstrated the gravity of their error in thinking that in spite of their wickedness they had the power to coerce God into doing their will simply because they possessed the ark.

5:1 Ashdod. One of the five major cities of the Philistines (Jos 13:3), it was located near the Mediterranean coast about 35 miles west of Jerusalem. See map, p.327.

5:2 Dagon. In Canaanite mythology the son (or brother) of El and the father of Baal. He was the principal god of the Philistines and was worshiped in temples at Gaza (Jdg 16:21,23,26), Ashdod (here) and Beth Shan (31:10–12; 1Ch 10:10). Veneration of this deity was widespread in the ancient world, extending from Mesopotamia to the Aramean and Canaanite area and attested in non-Biblical sources dating from the late third millennium B.C. until Maccabean times (second century B.C.; in the Apocrypha see 1 Maccabees 10:83–85). The precise nature of the worship of Dagon is obscure. Some have considered Dagon to be a fish god, but more recent evidence suggests either a storm or grain god. His name is related to a Hebrew word for "grain."

5:3 Dagon, fallen on his face. The ark was placed next to the image of Dagon by the Philistines in order to demonstrate Dagon's superiority over the God of Israel, but the symbolism was reversed when Dagon was toppled to a position of homage before the ark of the Lord.

5:5 this day. The time of the writing of 1,2 Samuel (see Introduction: Literary Features, Authorship and Date). step on the threshold. Apparently the threshold was considered to possess supernatural power because of its contact with parts of the fallen image of Dagon. Zep 1:9 appears to be a reference to a more general and rather widespread pagan idea that the threshold was the dwelling place of spirits.

5:6 The LORD's hand was heavy. Dagon's broken hand lay on the ground (v. 4), but the Lord shows the reality and strength of his own hand by bringing a plague (see note on 6:4) on the people of Ashdod and the surrounding area (see vv. 9,11). God would not be manipulated by his own people (see note on 4:3), nor would he permit the Philistines to think that their victory over the Israelites and the capture of the ark demonstrated the superiority of their god over the God of Israel.

5:8 rulers. Of the five major cities of the Philistines (see 6:16; Jos 13:3; Jdg 3:3). Have the ark of the god of Israel moved to Gath. Evidently the leaders of the Philistines did not share the opinion of the Ashdodites that there was a direct connection between what had happened in Ashdod and the presence of the ark; they seem to have suspected that the sequence of events was merely coincidental (see 6:9). The removal of the ark to Gath put the matter to a test.

5:10 Ekron. The northernmost of the five major Philistine cities, located 11 miles northeast of Ashdod and close to Israelite territory (see map, p.327).

5:11 Send the ark of the god of Israel away. After three successive towns had been struck by disease upon the arrival of the ark, there was little doubt in the people's minds that the power of the God of Israel was the cause of their distress.

The Ark Returned to Israel

6 When the ark of the LORD had been in Philistine territory seven months,
2 the Philistines called for the priests and the diviners[g] and said, "What shall we do with the ark of the LORD? Tell us how we should send it back to its place."

3 They answered, "If you return the ark of the god of Israel, do not send it away empty,[h] but by all means send a guilt offering[i] to him. Then you will be healed, and you will know why his hand[j] has not been lifted from you."

4 The Philistines asked, "What guilt offering should we send to him?"

They replied, "Five gold tumors and five gold rats, according to the number[k] of the Philistine rulers, because the same plague[l] has struck both you and your rulers. 5 Make models of the tumors[m] and of the rats that are destroying the country, and pay honor[n] to Israel's god. Perhaps he will lift his hand from you and your gods and your land. 6 Why do you harden[o] your hearts as the Egyptians and Pharaoh did? When he[u] treated them harshly,[p] did they[q] not send the Israelites out so they could go on their way?

7 "Now then, get a new cart[r] ready, with two cows that have calved and have never been yoked.[s] Hitch the cows to the cart, but take their calves away and pen them up. 8 Take the ark of the LORD and put it on the cart, and in a chest beside it put the gold objects you are sending back to him as a guilt offering. Send it on its way, 9 but keep watching it. If it goes up to its own territory, toward Beth Shemesh,[t] then the LORD has brought this great disaster on us. But if it does not, then we will know that it was not his hand that struck us and that it happened to us by chance."

10 So they did this. They took two such cows and hitched them to the cart and penned up their calves. 11 They placed the ark of the LORD on the cart and along with it the chest containing the gold rats and the models of the tumors. 12 Then the cows went straight up toward Beth Shemesh, keeping on the road and lowing all the way; they did not turn to the right or to the left. The rulers of the Philistines followed them as far as the border of Beth Shemesh.

13 Now the people of Beth Shemesh were harvesting their wheat[u] in the valley, and when they looked up and saw the ark, they rejoiced at the sight. 14 The cart came to the field of Joshua of Beth Shemesh, and there it stopped beside a large rock. The people chopped up the wood of the cart and sacrificed the cows as a burnt offering[v] to the LORD. 15 The Levites[w] took down the ark of the LORD, together with the chest containing the gold objects, and placed them on the large rock.[x] On that day the people of Beth Shemesh[y] offered burnt offerings and made sacrifices to the LORD. 16 The five rulers of the Philistines saw all this and then returned that same day to Ekron.

17 These are the gold tumors the Philistines sent as a guilt offering to the LORD—one each[z] for Ashdod, Gaza, Ashkelon, Gath and Ekron. 18 And the number of the gold rats was according to the number of Philistine towns belonging to the five rulers—the fortified towns with their country villages. The large rock, on which[v] they set the ark of the LORD, is a witness to this day in the field of Joshua of Beth Shemesh.

19 But God struck down[a] some of the

6:2 priests and . . . diviners. The experts on religious matters (priests) and the discerners of hidden knowledge by interpretation of omens (diviners) were consulted (see Dt 18:10; Isa 2:6; Eze 21:21).

6:3 guilt offering. The priests and diviners suggest returning the ark with a gift, signifying recognition of guilt in taking the ark from Israel and compensation for this violation of the Lord's honor (see v. 5). For the guilt offering in Israel see Lev 5:14–6:7.

6:4 Five gold tumors. Corresponding to the symptoms of the plague (see 5:6). five gold rats. The disease was accompanied by a plague of rats (v. 5). The Greek translation of the OT (the Septuagint) includes this information earlier in the narrative (see NIV text note on 5:6). It is likely that the rats were carriers of the disease, which may have been a form of the plague.

6:5 Make models . . . and pay honor to Israel's god. The golden models were an acknowledgment that the disease and the rats were a judgment from the hand of the God of Israel (see note on v. 3).

6:6 the Egyptians and Pharaoh. The plagues that God inflicted on the Egyptians at the time of the exodus made a lasting impression on the surrounding nations (see 4:8; Jos 2:10).

6:7 have never been yoked. Have not been trained to pull a cart. take their calves away. Normally cows do not willingly leave their suckling calves.

6:9 Beth Shemesh. A town near the Philistine border, belonging to Judah (see Jos 15:10). Its name means "house (or sanctuary) of the sun(-god)."

6:13 harvesting their wheat. The time of wheat harvest is from mid-April until mid-June.

6:14–15 The termination of the trip at Beth Shemesh is just as much a revelation of the hand of God as the journey itself, because it was one of the towns of Judah assigned to the priests at the time of the conquest (see Jos 21:13–16).

6:17 guilt offering. See note on v. 3.

6:18 witness. A kind of monument to the event. this day. The time of the writing of 1,2 Samuel (see Introduction: Literary Features, Authorship and Date).

men of Beth Shemesh, putting seventy[w] of them to death because they had looked[b] into the ark of the LORD. The people mourned because of the heavy blow the LORD had dealt them, [20]and the men of Beth Shemesh asked, "Who can stand[c] in the presence of the LORD, this holy[d] God? To whom will the ark go up from here?"

[21]Then they sent messengers to the people of Kiriath Jearim,[e] saying, "The Philistines have returned the ark of the LORD. Come down and take it up to your 7 place." [1]So the men of Kiriath Jearim came and took up the ark[f] of the LORD. They took it to Abinadab's[g] house on the hill and consecrated Eleazar his son to guard the ark of the LORD.

Samuel Subdues the Philistines at Mizpah

[2]It was a long time, twenty years in all, that the ark remained at Kiriath Jearim,[h] and all the people of Israel mourned and sought after the LORD.[i] [3]And Samuel said to the whole house of Israel, "If you are returning[j] to the LORD with all your hearts, then rid[k] yourselves of the foreign gods and the Ashtoreths[l] and commit[m] yourselves to the LORD and serve him only,[n] and he will deliver[o] you out of the hand of the Philistines." [4]So the Israelites put away their Baals and Ashtoreths, and served the LORD only.

[5]Then Samuel[p] said, "Assemble all Israel at Mizpah[q] and I will intercede[r] with the LORD for you." [6]When they had assembled at Mizpah,[s] they drew water and poured[t] it out before the LORD. On that day they fasted and there they confessed, "We have sinned against the LORD." And Samuel was leader[x][u] of Israel at Mizpah.

[7]When the Philistines heard that Israel had assembled at Mizpah, the rulers of the Philistines came up to attack them. And when the Israelites heard of it, they were afraid[v] because of the Philistines. [8]They said to Samuel, "Do not stop crying[w] out to the LORD our God for us, that he may rescue us from the hand of the Philistines." [9]Then Samuel[x] took a suckling lamb and offered it up as a whole burnt offering to the LORD. He cried out to the LORD on Israel's behalf, and the LORD answered him.[y] manuscripts (see NIV text note) is apparently a copyist's mistake because it is added in an ungrammatical way (no conjunction). Furthermore, this small town could not have contained that many inhabitants. looked into the ark. The men of Beth Shemesh (Levites and priests among them) were judged by God for their irreverent curiosity. Because God had so closely linked the manifestation of his own presence among his people with the ark, it was to be treated with great honor and respect (see 2Sa 6:7; Nu 4:17–20). This attitude of respect, however, is quite different from the superstitious attitude that led the elders to take the ark into battle against the Philistines, thus treating it as an object with magical power (see note on 4:3).

[10]While Samuel was sacrificing the burnt offering, the Philistines drew near to engage Israel in battle. But that day the LORD thundered[z] with loud thunder against the Philistines and threw them into such a panic[a] that they were routed before the Israelites. [11]The men of Israel rushed out of Mizpah and pursued the Philistines, slaughtering them along the way to a point below Beth Car.

6:20 To whom will the ark go up from here? The inhabitants of Beth Shemesh respond to God's judgment in much the same way as the inhabitants of Ashdod, Gath and Ekron (see 5:8–10).

7:1 Abinadab's house. The ark remained in relative obscurity at Abinadab's house until David brought it to Jerusalem (2Sa 6:2–3). Somehow the Tent of Meeting (and the altar of burnt offering) escaped the destruction of Shiloh (Jer 7:12,14; 26:6). It apparently was first moved to Nob (21:1–9). In David's and Solomon's days it was located at Gibeon (1Ch 16:39; 21:29; 2Ch 1:3,13), the city whose people had been condemned to be menial laborers at the Lord's sanctuary (Jos 9:23,27). Later, we are told, Solomon brought the "Tent of Meeting" to the completed temple (see notes on 1Ki 3:4; 8:4).

7:2 twenty years in all. Probably the 20-year interval between the return of the ark to Israel and the assembly called by Samuel at Mizpah (see v. 5).

7:3 Ashtoreths. Ashtoreth was a goddess of love, fertility and war, worshiped in various forms by many peoples of the ancient Near East, including the Canaanites (see note on Jdg 2:13). The worship of Ashtoreth is frequently combined with the worship of Baal (see v. 4; 12:10; Jdg 2:13; 3:7; 10:6), in accordance with the common practice in fertility cults to associate male and female deities.

7:5 Mizpah. A town in the territory of Benjamin (Jos 18:26), located about seven and a half miles north of Jerusalem. It was here that the Israelites had previously gathered to undertake disciplinary action against Benjamin (Jdg 20:1; 21:1) after the abuse and murder of the concubine of a traveling Levite in Gibeah of Benjamin. Several other places bore the same name (see 2Sa 22:3; Ge 31:49; Jos 11:3,8; 15:38). I will intercede. See 7:8–9; 8:6; 12:17–19, 23; 15:11. Samuel, like Moses, was later remembered as a great intercessor (see Ps 99:6; Jer 15:1). Both were appointed by God to mediate his rule over his people, representing God to Israel and speaking on Israel's behalf to God.

7:6 they drew water and poured it out before the LORD. There is no other reference to this type of ceremony in the OT. It appears to symbolize the pouring out of one's heart in repentance and humility before the Lord. For related expressions see 1:15; Ps 62:8; La 2:19. Samuel was leader. See NIV text note and v. 15; see also note on 4:18.

7:10 the LORD thundered with loud thunder. The Lord had promised to be the protector of his people when they were obedient to their covenant obligations (see Ex 23:22; Dt 20:1–4; see also 2Sa 5:19–25; Jos 10:11–14; Jdg 5:20–21; 2Ki 7:6; 19:35; 2Ch 20:17,22).

12Then Samuel took a stone[b] and set it up between Mizpah and Shen. He named it Ebenezer,[yc] saying, "Thus far has the LORD helped us." 13So the Philistines were subdued[d] and did not invade Israelite territory again.

Throughout Samuel's lifetime, the hand of the LORD was against the Philistines. 14The towns from Ekron[e] to Gath that the Philistines had captured from Israel were restored to her, and Israel delivered the neighboring territory from the power of the Philistines. And there was peace between Israel and the Amorites.[f] 15Samuel[g] continued as judge[h] over Israel all[i] the days of his life. 16From year to year he went on a circuit from Bethel[j] to Gilgal[k] to Mizpah, judging[l] Israel in all those places. 17But he always went back to Ramah,[m] where his home was, and there he also judged[n] Israel. And he built an altar[o] there to the LORD.

Israel Asks for a King

8 When Samuel grew old, he appointed[p] his sons as judges for Israel. 2The name of his firstborn was Joel and the name of his second was Abijah,[q] and they served at Beersheba.[r] 3But his sons[s] did not walk in his ways. They turned aside[t] after dishonest gain and accepted bribes[u] and perverted[v] justice.

4So all the elders[w] of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah.[x] 5They said to him, "You are old, and your sons do not walk in your ways; now appoint a king[y] to lead[zz] us, such as all the other nations[a] have."

6But when they said, "Give us a king[b] to lead us," this displeased[c] Samuel; so he prayed to the LORD. 7And the LORD told him: "Listen[d] to all that the people are saying to you; it is not you they have rejected,[e] but they have rejected me as their king.[f] 8As they have done from the day I brought them up out of Egypt until this day, forsaking[g] me and serving other gods, so they are doing to you. 9Now listen to them; but warn them solemnly and let them know[h] what the king who will reign over them will do."

10Samuel told[i] all the words of the LORD to the people who were asking him for a king. 11He said, "This is what the king who will reign over you will do: He will take[j] your sons and make them serve[k] with his chariots and horses, and they will run in front of his chariots.[l] 12Some he will assign to be commanders[m] of thousands and commanders of fifties, and others to plow his ground and reap his harvest, and still others to make weapons of war and equipment for his chariots. 13He will take your daughters to be perfumers and cooks and bakers. 14He will take the best of your[n] fields and vineyards[o] and olive groves and give them to his attendants.[p] 15He will take a

7:13 did not invade Israelite territory again. Some interpreters see a contradiction between this statement and subsequent references to the Philistines in 9:16; 10:5; 13:3,5; 17:1; 23:27. This statement, however, only indicates that the Philistines did not immediately counterattack. See 2Ki 6:23–24 for a similar situation.

7:15 A summary statement marking the end of the author's account of Samuel's ministry as Israel's leader (see v. 6).

7:16 judging Israel. See note on 4:18.

7:17 Ramah. See note on 1:1.

8:1–12:25 See Introduction: Contents and Theme.

8:1 When Samuel grew old. Probably about 20 years after the victory at Mizpah, when Samuel was approximately 65 years old (see Introduction: Chronology).

8:3 accepted bribes. Perversion of justice through bribery was explicitly forbidden in Pentateuchal law (see Ex 23:8; Dt 16:19).

8:5 appoint a king to lead us. The elders cite Samuel's age and the misconduct of his sons as justifications for their request for a king. It soon becomes apparent, however, that the more basic reason for their request was a desire to be like the surrounding nations—to have a human king as a symbol of national power and unity who would lead them in battle and guarantee their security (see v. 20; 10:19; 12:12; see also Introduction: Contents and Theme).

8:7 Listen to all that the people are saying to you. Anticipations of kingship in Israel are present already in the Pentateuch (Ge 49:10; Nu 24:7,17; Dt 17:14–20); Samuel is therefore instructed to listen to the people's request (see vv. 9,22). it is not you they have rejected, but they have rejected me as their king. Cf. Jdg 8:23. The sin of Israel in requesting a king (see 10:19; 12:12,17,19–20) did not rest in any evil inherent in kingship itself, but in the kind of kingship the people envisioned and their reasons for requesting it (see Introduction: Contents and Theme). Their desire was for a form of kingship that denied their covenant relationship with the Lord, who himself was pledged to be their savior and deliverer. In requesting a king "like all the other nations" (v. 20) they broke the covenant, rejected the Lord who was their King (12:12; Nu 23:21; Dt 33:5) and forgot his constant provision for their protection in the past (10:18; 12:8–11).

8:11 what the king . . . will do. Using a description of the policies of contemporary Canaanite kings (vv. 11–17), Samuel warns the people of the burdens associated with the type of kingship they long for.

8:15 tenth. This king's portion would be over and above the tenth Israel was to devote to the Lord (Lev 27:30–32; Nu 18:26; Dt 14:22,28; 26:12). In fact, the demands of the king would parallel all that Israel was to consecrate to the Lord as her Great King (persons, lands, crops, livestock)—even the whole population (v. 17).

tenth[q] of your grain and of your vintage and give it to his officials and attendants. 16Your menservants and maidservants and the best of your cattle[a] and donkeys he will take for his own use. 17He will take a tenth of your flocks, and you yourselves will become his slaves. 18When that day comes, you will cry out for relief from the king you have chosen, and the LORD will not answer[r] you in that day.[s]"

19But the people refused[t] to listen to Samuel. "No!" they said. "We want[u] a king[v] over us. 20Then we will be like all the other nations,[w] with a king to lead us and to go out before us and fight our battles."

21When Samuel heard all that the people said, he repeated[x] it before the LORD. 22The LORD answered, "Listen[y] to them and give them a king."

Then Samuel said to the men of Israel, "Everyone go back to his town."

Samuel Anoints Saul

9 There was a Benjamite,[z] a man of standing,[a] whose name was Kish[b] son of Abiel, the son of Zeror, the son of Becorath, the son of Aphiah of Benjamin. 2He had a son named Saul, an impressive[c] young man without equal[d] among the Israelites—a head taller[e] than any of the others.

3Now the donkeys[f] belonging to Saul's father Kish were lost, and Kish said to his son Saul, "Take one of the servants with you and go and look for the donkeys." 4So he passed through the hill[g] country of Ephraim and through the area around Shalisha,[h] but they did not find them. They went on into the district of Shaalim, but the donkeys[i] were not there. Then he passed through the territory of Benjamin, but they did not find them.

5When they reached the district of Zuph,[j] Saul said to the servant who was with him, "Come, let's go back, or my father will stop thinking about the donkeys and start worrying[k] about us."

6But the servant replied, "Look, in this town there is a man of God;[l] he is highly respected, and everything[m] he says comes true. Let's go there now. Perhaps he will tell us what way to take."

7Saul said to his servant, "If we go, what can we give the man? The food in our sacks is gone. We have no gift[n] to take to the man of God. What do we have?"

8The servant answered him again. "Look," he said, "I have a quarter of a shekel[b] of silver. I will give it to the man of God so that he will tell us what way to take." 9(Formerly in Israel, if a man went to inquire[o] of God, he would say, "Come, let us go to the seer," because the prophet of today used to be called a seer.)[p]

10"Good," Saul said to his servant. "Come, let's go." So they set out for the town where the man of God was.

11As they were going up the hill to the town, they met some girls coming out to draw[q] water, and they asked them, "Is the seer here?"

12"He is," they answered. "He's ahead of you. Hurry now; he has just come to our town today, for the people have a sacrifice[r] at the high place.[s] 13As soon

8:18 cry out for relief from the king. See 1Ki 12:4; Jer 22:13–17.

8:20 like all the other nations. See notes on vv. 5,7.

9:2 a head taller than any of the others. Physically of kingly stature (see 10:23).

9:3 donkeys . . . were lost. Saul is introduced as a donkey wrangler sent in search of donkeys that had strayed from home—perhaps symbolizing Saul and the rebellious people who had asked for a king (cf. Isa 1:3). David would be introduced as a shepherd caring for his father's flock and later pictured as the shepherd over the Lord's flock (2Sa 5:2; 7:7–8; Ps 78:71–72).

9:6 the servant replied. Saul's ignorance of Samuel is indicative of his character. this town. Probably Ramah (see 7:17), the hometown of Samuel, to which he had just returned from a journey (see v. 12; 7:16). man of God. See note on 2:27; here a reference to Samuel. everything he says comes true. See 3:19 and note.

9:7 what can we give the man? Other examples of gifts offered to prophets are found in 1Ki 14:3; 2Ki 4:42; 5:15–16; 8:8–9. Whether Samuel accepted the gift and whether he was dependent on such gifts for a livelihood are not clear. Elisha refused the gift of Naaman (2Ki 5:16). In later times false prophets adjusted their message to the desires of those who supported them (1Ki 22:6,8,18; Mic 3:5,11).

9:8 a quarter of a shekel of silver. See NIV text note. Before the use of coins, gold or silver was weighed out for each monetary transaction (see 13:21; Job 28:15). The value of that amount of silver in Saul's time is not known.

9:9 the prophet of today used to be called a seer. There was no essential difference between a seer and a prophet. The person popularly designated as a prophet at the time of the writing of 1,2 Samuel was termed a seer in the time of Saul. This need not mean that the term "prophet" was unknown in the time of Saul or that the term "seer" was unknown in later times (see Isa 30:10). The reference is to popular usage.

9:12 high place. See Lev 26:30. After entrance into the promised land, the Israelites often followed the custom of the Canaanites in building local altars on hills. (At this time the central sanctuary was not functioning because the ark of God was separated from the tabernacle; Shiloh had been destroyed, and the priestly family, after the death of Eli's sons, was apparently still inactive.) In later times, worship at these "high places" provided a means for the entrance of pagan practices into Israel's religious observances and, for this reason, it was condemned (see note on 1Ki 3:2).

9:13 he must bless the sacrifice. Samuel presided over the sacrificial meal (see 1:4; 2:13–16), at which he gave a as you enter the town, you will find him before he goes up to the high place to eat. The people will not begin eating until he comes, because he must bless[t] the sacrifice; afterward, those who are invited will eat. Go up now; you should find him about this time."

[14]They went up to the town, and as they were entering it, there was Samuel, coming toward them on his way up to the high place.

[15]Now the day before Saul came, the LORD had revealed this to Samuel: [16]"About this time tomorrow I will send you a man from the land of Benjamin. Anoint[u] him leader[v] over my people Israel; he will deliver[w] my people from the hand of the Philistines.[x] I have looked upon my people, for their cry[y] has reached me."

[17]When Samuel caught sight of Saul, the LORD said to him, "This[z] is the man I spoke to you about; he will govern my people."

[18]Saul approached Samuel in the gateway and asked, "Would you please tell me where the seer's house is?"

[19]"I am the seer," Samuel replied. "Go up ahead of me to the high place, for today you are to eat with me, and in the morning I will let you go and will tell you all that is in your heart. [20]As for the donkeys[a] you lost three days ago, do not worry about them; they have been found. And to whom is all the desire[b] of Israel turned, if not to you and all your father's family?"

[21]Saul answered, "But am I not a Benjamite, from the smallest tribe[c] of Israel, and is not my clan the least[d] of all the clans of the tribe of Benjamin?[e] Why do you say such a thing to me?"

[22]Then Samuel brought Saul and his servant into the hall and seated them at the head of those who were invited—about thirty in number. [23]Samuel said to the cook, "Bring the piece of meat I gave you, the one I told you to lay aside."

[24]So the cook took up the leg[f] with what was on it and set it in front of Saul. Samuel said, "Here is what has been kept for you. Eat, because it was set aside for you for this occasion, from the time I said, 'I have invited guests.' " And Saul dined with Samuel that day.

[25]After they came down from the high place to the town, Samuel talked with Saul on the roof[g] of his house. [26]They rose about daybreak and Samuel called to Saul on the roof, "Get ready, and I will send you on your way." When Saul got ready, he and Samuel went outside together. [27]As they were going down to the edge of the town, Samuel said to Saul, "Tell the servant to go on ahead of us"—and the servant did so—"but you stay here awhile, so that I may give you a message from God."

10 Then Samuel took a flask[h] of oil and poured it on Saul's head and kissed him, saying, "Has not the LORD anointed[i] you leader over his inheritance?[cj] [2]When you leave me today, you will meet two men near Rachel's tomb,[k] at Zelzah on the border of Benjamin. prayer, probably similar to those referred to in the NT (see Mt 26:26–27; Jn 6:11, 23; 1Ti 4:3–5).

9:16 Anoint him. Priests were also anointed (see Ex 29:7; 40:12–15; Lev 4:3; 8:12), but from this point in the OT it is usually the king who is referred to as "the anointed of the LORD" (see note on 2:10; cf. 12:3; 24:6; 26:9,11,16; 2Sa 1:14,16; 19:21; 22:51; 23:1; Ps 2:2,6; but see also Zec 4:14). Anointing signifies separation to the Lord for a particular task and divine equipping for the task (see v. 6; 16:13; Isa 61:1). leader. The Hebrew for this word indicates one designated (here by the Lord) to be the chief in rank. It served as a useful term to ease the transition between the time of the judges and that of the kings. Philistines. See note on 7:13.

9:20 all the desire of Israel. A reference to Israel's desire for a king.

9:21 smallest tribe . . . least of all the clans. Saul's origins were among the humblest in Israel (Benjamin was the last of Jacob's sons, and the tribe had been greatly reduced in the time of the judges; see Jdg 20:46–48). His elevation to king shows that God "raises the poor" (2:8), which is one of the central themes running throughout Samuel. God's use of the powerless to promote his kingdom in the world is a common feature in the Biblical testimony and underscores the truth that his kingdom is not of this world.

9:24 leg. The Hebrew for this word specifies the thigh, which was normally reserved for the Lord's consecrated priest (see Ex 29:22,27; Lev 7:32–33,35; Nu 6:20; 18:18). The presentation of this choice piece of the sacrificial animal to Saul was a distinct honor and anticipated his being designated the Lord's anointed.

10:1 oil. Perhaps spiced olive oil (see Ex 30:22–33). Has not the LORD anointed you . . .? See note on 9:16. leader. See 9:16 and note. his inheritance. "My people Israel" (9:16). The Lord's inheritance includes both the people (see Ex 34:9) and the land (see Ex 15:17). After departing from Samuel, Saul is to receive three signs (see vv. 2–7) to authenticate Samuel's words and to assure him that the Lord has indeed chosen him to be king.

SAUL

NAME MEANS: "Asked [of God]" OCCUPATION: First anointed king of Israel
BEST KNOWN FOR:

- his impressive physical appearance
- his courage and generosity in the early years of his reign
- losing God's favor by disobeying God at critical points in his life
- his murderous hatred of young David keys[l] you set out to look for have been found. And now your father has stopped thinking about them and is worried[m] about you. He is asking, "What shall I do about my son?" '

3"Then you will go on from there until you reach the great tree of Tabor. Three men going up to God at Bethel[n] will meet you there. One will be carrying three young goats, another three loaves of bread, and another a skin of wine. 4They will greet you and offer you two loaves of bread,[o] which you will accept from them.

5"After that you will go to Gibeah[p] of God, where there is a Philistine outpost.[q] As you approach the town, you will meet a procession of prophets[r] coming down from the high place[s] with lyres, tambourines,[t] flutes[u] and harps[v] being played before them, and they will be prophesying.[w] 6The Spirit[x] of the LORD will come upon you in power, and you will prophesy with them; and you will be changed[y] into a different person. 7Once these signs are fulfilled, do whatever[z] your hand[a] finds to do, for God is with[b] you.

8"Go down ahead of me to Gilgal.[c] I will surely come down to you to sacrifice burnt offerings and fellowship offerings,[d] but you must wait seven[d] days until I come to you and tell you what you are to do."

Saul Made King

9As Saul turned to leave Samuel, God changed[e] Saul's heart, and all these signs[f] were fulfilled[g] that day. 10When they arrived at Gibeah, a procession of prophets met him; the Spirit[h] of God came upon him in power, and he joined in their prophesying.[i] 11When all those who had formerly known him saw him prophesying with the prophets, they asked each other, "What is this[j] that has happened to the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the prophets?"[k]

12A man who lived there answered, "And who is their father?" So it became a saying: "Is Saul also among the prophets?"[l] 13After Saul stopped prophesying,[m] he went to the high place.

14Now Saul's uncle[n] asked him and his servant, "Where have you been?"

"Looking for the donkeys,[o]" he said. "But when we saw they were not to be found, we went to Samuel."

15Saul's uncle said, "Tell me what Samuel said to you."

16Saul replied, "He assured us that the donkeys[p] had been found." But he did not tell his uncle what Samuel had said about the kingship.

17Samuel summoned the people of Israel to the LORD at Mizpah[q] 18and said to them, "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: 'I brought Israel up out of Egypt, and I delivered you from the power of Egypt and all the kingdoms that oppressed[r] you.' 19But you have now rejected[s] your God, who saves[t] you out of all your calamities and distresses. And you have said, 'No, set a king[u] over us.'[v] So now present[w] yourselves before the LORD by your tribes and clans."

10:5 Gibeah of God. Gibeah was Saul's hometown (see v. 26; 11:4), located in the tribal area of Benjamin (Jos 18:28; Jdg 19:12–14). It was usually called "Gibeah" or "Gibeah of Benjamin" (as in 13:2,15), but twice "Gibeah of Saul" (15:34; 2Sa 21:6). The present designation (used only here) may have been Samuel's way of reminding Saul that the land of Canaan belonged to God and not to the Philistines (see Dt 32:43; Isa 14:2; Hos 9:3). prophets. The bands of prophets with which Samuel was associated (as also the "sons of the prophets" with whom Elijah and Elisha were associated; see note on 1Ki 20:35) appear to have been small communities of men who banded together in spiritually decadent times for mutual cultivation of their religious zeal. prophesying. Here (and in vv. 6,10–11,13) appears to designate an enthusiastic praising of God inspired by the Holy Spirit (see Nu 11:24–30 for similar use of the term).

10:7 do whatever your hand finds to do. Saul is to take whatever action is appropriate when the situation presents itself to manifest publicly his royal leadership (see 11:4–11).

10:8 Go down ahead of me to Gilgal. At some unspecified future time, perhaps previously discussed (see 9:25), Saul is to go to Gilgal and wait seven days for Samuel's arrival (see 13:7–14).

10:11 Is Saul also among the prophets? An expression of surprise at Saul's behavior (see note on v. 5) by those who had known him previously—another subtle indication of his character (see notes on 9:3,6).

10:12 who is their father? Some understand the question as an expression of contempt for prophets generally, others as implying the recognition that prophetic inspiration comes from God and therefore could be imparted to whomever God chose. However, since leading prophets were sometimes called "father" (2Ki 2:12; 6:21; 13:14), the speaker may have intended a disdainful reference to Samuel or an ironical gibe at Saul.

10:17 Samuel summoned the people. After the private designation and anointing of Saul to be king (9:1–10:16), an assembly is called by Samuel to make the Lord's choice known to the people (v. 21) and to define the king's task (v. 25). Mizpah. See note on 7:5.

10:18 I delivered you. Speaking through Samuel, the Lord emphasizes to the people that he has been their deliverer throughout their history. He brought them out of Egypt and delivered them from all their enemies during the time of the judges. Although the judges themselves are sometimes referred to as Israel's deliverers (see Jdg 3:9,15,31; 6:14; 10:1; 13:5), this was true only in a secondary sense, for they were instruments of the Lord's deliverance (see Jdg 2:18). It was the Lord who sent them (see 12:11; Jdg 6:14).

10:19 rejected your God. See note on 8:7.

[20]When Samuel brought all the tribes of Israel near, the tribe of Benjamin was chosen. [21]Then he brought forward the tribe of Benjamin, clan by clan, and Matri's clan was chosen.[x] Finally Saul son of Kish was chosen. But when they looked for him, he was not to be found. [22]So they inquired[y] further of the LORD, "Has the man come here yet?"

And the LORD said, "Yes, he has hidden himself among the baggage."

[23]They ran and brought him out, and as he stood among the people he was a head taller[z] than any of the others. [24]Samuel said to all the people, "Do you see the man the LORD has chosen?[a] There is no one like[b] him among all the people."

Then the people shouted, "Long live[c] the king!"

[25]Samuel explained[d] to the people the regulations[e] of the kingship.[f] He wrote them down on a scroll and deposited it before the LORD. Then Samuel dismissed the people, each to his own home.

[26]Saul also went to his home in Gibeah,[g] accompanied by valiant men[h] whose hearts God had touched. [27]But some troublemakers[i] said, "How can this fellow save us?" They despised him and brought him no gifts.[j] But Saul kept silent.

Saul Rescues the City of Jabesh

11 Nahash[k] the Ammonite went up and besieged Jabesh Gilead.[l] And all the men of Jabesh said to him, "Make a treaty[m] with us, and we will be subject to you."

[2]But Nahash the Ammonite replied, "I will make a treaty with you only on the condition[n] that I gouge[o] out the right eye of every one of you and so bring disgrace[p] on all Israel."

[3]The elders[q] of Jabesh said to him, "Give us seven days so we can send messengers throughout Israel; if no one comes to rescue[r] us, we will surrender[s] to you."

[4]When the messengers came to Gibeah[t] of Saul and reported these terms to the people, they all wept[u] aloud. [5]Just then Saul was returning from the fields, behind his oxen, and he asked, "What is wrong with the people? Why are they weeping?" Then they repeated to him what the men of Jabesh had said.

[6]When Saul heard their words, the Spirit[v] of God came upon him in power, and he burned with anger. [7]He took a pair of oxen,[w] cut them into pieces, and sent the pieces by messengers throughout Israel,[x] proclaiming, "This is what will be done to the oxen of anyone[y] who does not follow Saul and Samuel." Then the terror of the LORD fell on the people, and they turned out as one man.[z] [8]When Saul mustered[a] them at Bezek,[b] the men of Israel numbered three hundred thousand and the men of Judah thirty thousand.

[9]They told the messengers who had come, "Say to the men of Jabesh Gilead, 'By the time the sun is hot tomorrow, you will be delivered.' " When the messengers went and reported this to the men of Jabesh, they were elated. [10]They said to the Ammonites, "Tomorrow we

10:20 tribe of Benjamin was chosen. Probably by casting lots (see 14:41–42; Jos 7:15–18). The Urim and Thummim were used for this purpose (see notes on 2:28; Ex 28:30).
10:24 Long live the king! See 2Sa 16:16.
10:25 regulations of the kingship. Samuel here takes the first step toward resolving the tension that existed between Israel's misdirected desire for a king (and their misconceived notion of what the king's role and function should be) and the Lord's intent to give them one (see Introduction: Contents and Theme). This description of the duties and prerogatives of the Israelite king was given for the benefit of both the people and the king-designate. It was intended to clearly distinguish Israelite kingship from that of the surrounding nations and to ensure that the king's role in Israel was compatible with the continued rule of the Lord over Israel as her Great King (see Dt 17:14–20). deposited it before the LORD. The written constitutional-legal document defining the role of the king in governing God's covenant people was preserved at the sanctuary (the tabernacle, later the temple). Other written documents defining Israel's covenant relationship with the Lord are referred to in Ex 24:7; Dt 31:26; Jos 24:26.
10:27 troublemakers. See note on Dt 13:13. How can this fellow save us? Reflects the people's continued apostate idea that national security was to be sought in the person of the human king (see note on v. 18; cf. 8:20).
11:1 Ammonite. The Ammonites were descended from Lot (see Ge 19:38; Dt 2:19) and lived east of the tribal territory of Gad near the upper regions of the Jabbok River (see Dt 2:37; Jos 12:2). Previous attempts by the Ammonites to occupy Israelite territory are referred to in Jdg 3:13; 11:4–32. The Philistine threat to Israel in the west presented the Ammonites with an opportunity to move against Israel from the east with supposed impunity. Jabesh Gilead. A town east of the Jordan in the tribal area of Manasseh.
11:2 gouge out the right eye. Besides causing humiliation (see note on Jdg 16:21), the loss of the right eye would destroy the military capability of the archers.
11:4 Gibeah of Saul. See 10:26 and note on 10:5. Close family ties undoubtedly prompted the inhabitants of Jabesh to seek help from the tribe of Benjamin (see Jdg 21:12–14).
11:5 Saul was returning from the fields. After Saul's public selection as the king-designate at Mizpah (10:17–27), he returned home (10:26) to resume his normal private activities and to wait for the Lord's leading for the next step in his elevation to the throne (see notes on v. 15; 10:7).
11:6 the Spirit of God came upon him in power. For similar endowment of Israel's deliverers with extraordinary vigor by God's Spirit see 10:6,10; Jdg 14:6,19; 15:14.
11:7 sent the pieces by messengers throughout Israel. For a similar case see Jdg 19:29.
11:8 Bezek. Located north of Shechem, west of the Jordan River but within striking distance of Jabesh Gilead.

will surrender[c] to you, and you can do to us whatever seems good to you."

[11]The next day Saul separated his men into three divisions;[d] during the last watch of the night they broke into the camp of the Ammonites[e] and slaughtered them until the heat of the day. Those who survived were scattered, so that no two of them were left together.

Saul Confirmed as King

[12]The people then said to Samuel, "Who[f] was it that asked, 'Shall Saul reign over us?' Bring these men to us and we will put them to death."

[13]But Saul said, "No one shall be put to death today,[g] for this day the LORD has rescued[h] Israel."

[14]Then Samuel said to the people, "Come, let us go to Gilgal[i] and there reaffirm the kingship.[j]" [15]So all the people went to Gilgal[k] and confirmed Saul as king[l] in the presence of the LORD. There they sacrificed fellowship offerings[e] before the LORD, and Saul and all the Israelites held a great celebration.

Samuel's Farewell Speech

12 Samuel said to all Israel, "I have listened[m] to everything you said to me and have set a king[n] over you. [2]Now you have a king as your leader.[o] As for me, I am old and gray, and my sons[p] are here with you. I have been your leader from my youth until this day. [3]Here I stand. Testify against me in the presence of the LORD and his anointed.[q] Whose ox have I taken? Whose donkey[r] have I taken? Whom have I cheated? Whom have I oppressed? From whose hand have I accepted a bribe[s] to make me shut my eyes? If I have done[t] any of these, I will make it right."[u]

[4]"You have not cheated or oppressed us," they replied. "You have not taken anything from anyone's hand."

[5]Samuel said to them, "The LORD is witness[v] against you, and also his anointed is witness this day, that you have not found anything[w] in my hand.[x]"

"He is witness," they said.

[6]Then Samuel said to the people, "It is the LORD who appointed Moses and Aaron and brought[y] your forefathers up out of Egypt. [7]Now then, stand[z] here, because I am going to confront[a] you with evidence before the LORD as to all the righteous acts[b] performed by the LORD for you and your fathers.

[8]"After Jacob[c] entered Egypt, they cried[d] to the LORD for help, and the LORD sent[e] Moses and Aaron, who brought your forefathers out of Egypt and settled them in this place.

[9]"But they forgot[f] the LORD their God;

11:11 last watch of the night. The third watch, from about 2:00 A.M. until about 6:00 A.M. (see note on Mt 14:25).

11:13 the LORD has rescued Israel. Saul recognizes Israel's true deliverer (see note on 10:18). The victory, in combination with Saul's confession, places yet another seal of divine approval on Saul as the man the Lord has chosen to be king.

11:14 let us go to Gilgal and there reaffirm the kingship. Samuel perceives that it is now the appropriate time for the people to renew their allegiance to the Lord. The kingship of which he speaks is the Lord's, not Saul's. Samuel calls for an assembly to restore the covenant relationship between the Lord and his people. He wants to inaugurate Saul's rule in a manner demonstrating that the continued rule of the Lord as Israel's Great King is in no way diminished or violated in the new era of the monarchy (see Introduction: Contents and Theme). Verses 14–15 are a brief synopsis of the Gilgal assembly and are prefaced to the more detailed account of the same assembly in ch. 12. Gilgal. Located east of Jericho near the Jordan River. It was a particularly appropriate place for Israel to renew her allegiance to the Lord (see Jos 4:19–5:11; 10:8–15).

11:15 confirmed Saul as king in the presence of the LORD. Saul had previously been anointed in private by Samuel at Ramah (10:1) and publicly selected as the king-designate at Mizpah (10:17–27). In the subsequent Ammonite crisis (v. 1–13) his leadership did not rest on public recognition of his royal authority, but on the military victory. Now at Gilgal Saul is inaugurated as God's chosen king and formally assumes the privileges and responsibilities of this office. fellowship offerings. This type of offering was an important element in the original ceremony of covenant ratification at Sinai (Ex 24:5,11). It represented the communion or peace between the Lord and his people when the people lived in conformity with their covenant obligations (see Lev 7:11–17; 22:21–23). held a great celebration. Rejoicing is the expression of people who have renewed their commitment to the Lord, confessed their sin (see 12:19) and been given a king.

12:3 Testify against me. When Samuel presents the newly inaugurated king to the people, he seeks to establish publicly his own past faithfulness to the covenant as leader of the nation. His purpose is to exonerate himself and provide an example for Saul in his new responsibilities. Whose ox have I taken? Whose donkey have I taken? See Ex 20:17; 22:1,4,9. Samuel has not used his position for personal gain (see Nu 16:15). Whom have I cheated? Whom have I oppressed? See Lev 19:13; Dt 24:14. From whose hand have I accepted a bribe . . .? See Ex 23:8; Dt 16:19.

12:6 Samuel said to the people. Samuel turns from consideration of his previous leadership to the matter of the people's request for a king, which he views as a covenant-breaking act and a serious apostasy. It is the LORD. Samuel emphasizes that in the past the Lord had provided the necessary leadership for the nation.

12:7 confront you with evidence. The terminology is that of a legal proceeding, as in vv. 2–5, but now the relationship of the parties is reversed. This time Samuel is the accuser, the people are the defendants, and the Lord is the Judge. righteous acts performed by the LORD. These righteous acts (see vv. 8–11) demonstrate the constancy of the Lord's covenant faithfulness toward his people in the past and, by way of contrast, serve as an indictment of their present apostasy.

so he sold them[g] into the hand of Sisera,[h] the commander of the army of Hazor,[i] and into the hands of the Philistines[j] and the king of Moab,[k] who fought against them. 10They cried[l] out to the LORD and said, 'We have sinned; we have forsaken[m] the LORD and served the Baals and the Ashtoreths.[n] But now deliver us from the hands of our enemies, and we will serve you.' 11Then the LORD sent Jerub-Baal,[fo] Barak,[gp] Jephthah[q] and Samuel,[hr] and he delivered you from the hands of your enemies on every side, so that you lived securely.

12"But when you saw that Nahash[s] king[t] of the Ammonites was moving against you, you said to me, 'No, we want a king to rule[u] over us'—even though the LORD your God was your king. 13Now here is the king[v] you have chosen, the one you asked[w] for; see, the LORD has set a king over you. 14If you fear[x] the LORD and serve and obey him and do not rebel[y] against his commands, and if both you and the king who reigns over you follow the LORD your God—good! 15But if you do not obey the LORD, and if you rebel against[z] his commands, his hand will be against you, as it was against your fathers.

16"Now then, stand still[a] and see[b] this great thing the LORD is about to do before your eyes! 17Is it not wheat harvest[c] now? I will call[d] upon the LORD to send thunder[e] and rain.[f] And you will realize what an evil[g] thing you did in the eyes of the LORD when you asked for a king."

18Then Samuel called upon the LORD,[h] and that same day the LORD sent thunder and rain. So all the people stood in awe[i] of the LORD and of Samuel.

19The people all said to Samuel, "Pray[j] to the LORD your God for your servants so that we will not die,[k] for we have added to all our other sins the evil of asking for a king."

20"Do not be afraid," Samuel replied. "You have done all this evil;[l] yet do not turn away from the LORD, but serve the LORD with all your heart. 21Do not turn away after useless[m] idols.[n] They can do you no good, nor can they rescue you, because they are useless. 22For the sake[o] of his great name[p] the LORD will not reject[q] his people, because the LORD was pleased to make[r] you his own. 23As for me, far be it from me that I should sin against the LORD by failing to pray[s] for you. And I will teach[t] you the way that is good and right. 24But be sure to fear[u] the LORD and serve him faithfully with all

12:11 he delivered you. The Lord repeatedly delivered Israel from her enemies right up to Samuel's own lifetime (see 7:3,8,10,12), demonstrating again the people's apostasy in desiring a king.

12:12 when you saw that Nahash ... was moving against you. In the face of the combined threat from the Philistines in the west (9:16) and the Ammonites in the east (11:1–13), the Israelites sought to find security in the person of a human king. the LORD your God was your king. The Israelite desire for and trust in a human leader constituted a rejection of the kingship of the Lord and betrayed a loss of confidence in his care, in spite of his faithfulness during the time of the exodus, conquest and judges (see note on 8:7).

12:13 the LORD has set a king over you. In spite of the sinfulness of the people's request, the Lord had chosen to incorporate kingship into the structure of the theocracy (his kingdom). Kingship was given by the Lord to his people and was to function as an instrument of his rule over them (see Introduction: Contents and Theme).

12:14 If you fear the LORD. Samuel relates the old covenant condition (see Ex 19:5–6; Dt 8:19; 11:13–15,22–28; 28; 30:17–18; Jos 24:20) to the new era Israel is entering with the establishment of the monarchy. if both you and the king ... follow the LORD your God—good! Israel and her king are to demonstrate that although human kingship has been established, they will continue to recognize the Lord as their true King. In this new era where potential for divided loyalty between the Lord and the human king arises, Israel's loyalty to the Lord must remain inviolate. For similar use of the expression "to follow" see 2Sa 2:10; 15:13; 1Ki 12:20; 16:21.

12:15 But if you do not obey. Samuel confronts Israel with the same alternatives Moses had expressed centuries earlier (see Dt 28; 30:15–20). The introduction of kingship into Israel's socio-political structure has not changed the fundamental nature of Israel's relationship to the Lord.

12:16 see this great thing. Samuel calls the people to observe as the Lord himself demonstrates his existence and power and authenticates the truthfulness and seriousness of Samuel's words.

12:17 wheat harvest. See note on 6:13.

12:19 Pray to the LORD your God. Samuel's indictment (vv. 6–15) combined with the awesome sign of thunder and rain in the dry season (vv. 16–18) prompted the people to confess their sin and request Samuel's intercession for them.

12:20 yet do not turn away from the LORD. Samuel again brings into focus the central issue in the controversy surrounding the establishment of kingship in Israel.

12:21 useless idols. No rivals to the Lord can deliver or guarantee security.

12:23 I will teach you the way that is good and right. Samuel is not retiring from his prophetic role when he presents the people with their king. He will continue to intercede for the people (see v. 19; 7:8–9) and will instruct them in their covenant obligations (see Dt 6:18; 12:28). Saul and all future kings are to be subject to instruction and correction by the Lord's prophets.

12:24 fear the LORD. Samuel summarizes Israel's obligation of loyalty to the Lord as an expression of gratitude for the great things he has done for them.

your heart;[v] consider[w] what great[x] things he has done for you. [25]Yet if you persist[y] in doing evil, both you and your king[z] will be swept[a] away."

Samuel Rebukes Saul

13 Saul was ⌊thirty⌋[i] years old when he became king, and he reigned over Israel ⌊forty-⌋[j] two years.

[2]Saul[k] chose three thousand men from Israel; two thousand[b] were with him at Micmash[c] and in the hill country of Bethel, and a thousand were with Jonathan at Gibeah[d] in Benjamin. The rest of the men he sent back to their homes.

[3]Jonathan attacked the Philistine outpost[e] at Geba,[f] and the Philistines heard about it. Then Saul had the trumpet[g] blown throughout the land and said, "Let the Hebrews hear!" [4]So all Israel heard the news: "Saul has attacked the Philistine outpost, and now Israel has become a stench[h] to the Philistines." And the people were summoned to join Saul at Gilgal.

[5]The Philistines assembled[i] to fight Israel, with three thousand[l] chariots, six thousand charioteers, and soldiers as numerous as the sand[j] on the seashore. They went up and camped at Micmash,[k] east of Beth Aven.[l] [6]When the men of Israel saw that their situation was critical and that their army was hard pressed, they hid[m] in caves and thickets, among the rocks, and in pits and cisterns.[n] [7]Some Hebrews even crossed the Jordan to the land of Gad[o] and Gilead.

Saul remained at Gilgal, and all the troops with him were quaking[p] with fear. [8]He waited seven[q] days, the time set by Samuel; but Samuel did not come to Gilgal, and Saul's men began to scatter. [9]So he said, "Bring me the burnt offering and the fellowship offerings.[m]" And Saul offered[r] up the burnt offering. [10]Just as he finished making the offering, Samuel[s] arrived, and Saul went out to greet[t] him.

[11]"What have you done?" asked Samuel.

Saul replied, "When I saw that the men were scattering, and that you did not come at the set time, and that the Philistines were assembling at Micmash,[u] [12]I thought, 'Now the Philistines will come down against me at Gilgal,[v] and I have not sought the LORD's favor.[w]' So I felt compelled to offer the burnt offering."

[13]"You acted foolishly,[x]" Samuel said. "You have not kept[y] the command the LORD your God gave you; if you had, he would have established your kingdom over Israel for all time.[z] [14]But now your kingdom[a] will not endure; the LORD has sought out a man after his own heart[b] and appointed[c] him leader[d] of his people, because you have not kept[e] the LORD's command."

[15]Then Samuel left Gilgal[n] and went up to Gibeah[f] in Benjamin, and Saul counted the men who were with him. They numbered about six hundred.[g]

12:25 you and your king will be swept away. Should the nation persist in covenant-breaking conduct, it will bring upon itself its own destruction.

13:1 ⌊thirty⌋ years old . . . ⌊forty-⌋two years. See NIV text notes. The wording of the verse follows the regularly used formula that introduces the reigns of later kings (see, e.g., 2Sa 2:10; 5:4; 1Ki 14:21; 2Ki 8:26).

13:2 Micmash. Located southeast of Bethel and northeast of Gibeah near a pass (see v. 23). Jonathan. Saul's oldest son (see 14:49), mentioned here for the first time.

13:3 Geba. Located across a ravine and south of Micmash.

13:4 stench. A metaphor depicting an object of strong hostility, as in 2Sa 10:6; 16:21; Ge 34:30; Ex 5:21. Gilgal. See note on 11:14. By prearrangement Saul had been instructed to wait for Samuel there (see notes on v. 8; 10:8).

13:5 three thousand chariots. See NIV text note. The Canaanites under Sisera (see Jdg 4:13) had 900 chariots. The Israelites did not acquire chariots until the time of Solomon (see 1Ki 4:26).

13:8 time set by Samuel. See note on 10:8. Saul is fully aware that Samuel's previous instructions had reference to this gathering at Gilgal. Saul's men began to scatter. The seven-day delay heightened the fear of the Israelite soldiers.

13:9 Saul offered up the burnt offering. Samuel had promised to make these offerings himself (see 10:8) before Israel went to battle (see 7:9), and he had directed Saul to await his arrival and instructions.

13:13 You acted foolishly. The foolish and sinful aspect (see 26:21; 2Sa 24:10; 1Ch 21:8; 2Ch 16:9) of Saul's act was that he thought he could strengthen Israel's chances against the Philistines while disregarding the instruction of the Lord's prophet Samuel. You have not kept the command the LORD your God gave you. Saul was to recognize the word of the prophet Samuel as the word of the Lord (see 3:20; 15:1; Ex 20:18–19; see also note on Ex 7:1–2). In disobeying Samuel's instructions, Saul violated a fundamental requirement of his theocratic office. His kingship was not to function independently of the law and the prophets (see notes on 12:14,23; 15:11).

13:14 your kingdom will not endure. Saul will not be followed by his sons; there will be no dynasty bearing his name (contrast the Lord's word to David, 2Sa 7:11–16). There is a striking parallel in the word of the Lord to Eli (see 2:30,35). the LORD has sought out a man after his own heart and appointed him. Paul quotes from this passage at Antioch (Ac 13:22). leader. See note on 9:16.

13:15 six hundred. The seven-day delay had greatly depleted Saul's forces (see vv. 2,4,6–8).

Israel Without Weapons

16Saul and his son Jonathan and the men with them were staying in Gibeah[o][h] in Benjamin, while the Philistines camped at Micmash. 17Raiding[i] parties went out from the Philistine camp in three detachments. One turned toward Ophrah[j] in the vicinity of Shual, 18another toward Beth Horon,[k] and the third toward the borderland overlooking the Valley of Zeboim[l] facing the desert.

19Not a blacksmith[m] could be found in the whole land of Israel, because the Philistines had said, "Otherwise the Hebrews will make swords or spears!"[n] 20So all Israel went down to the Philistines to have their plowshares, mattocks, axes and sickles[p] sharpened. 21The price was two thirds of a shekel[q] for sharpening plowshares and mattocks, and a third of a shekel[r] for sharpening forks and axes and for repointing goads.

22So on the day of the battle not a soldier with Saul and Jonathan[o] had a sword or spear[p] in his hand; only Saul and his son Jonathan had them.

Jonathan Attacks the Philistines

23Now a detachment of Philistines had gone out to the pass[q] at Micmash.[r]

14 1One day Jonathan son of Saul said to the young man bearing his armor, "Come, let's go over to the Philistine outpost on the other side." But he did not tell his father.

2Saul was staying[s] on the outskirts of Gibeah[t] under a pomegranate tree[u] in Migron.[v] With him were about six hundred men, 3among whom was Ahijah, who was wearing an ephod. He was a son of Ichabod's[w] brother Ahitub[x] son of Phinehas, the son of Eli,[y] the LORD's priest in Shiloh.[z] No one was aware that Jonathan had left.

4On each side of the pass[a] that Jonathan intended to cross to reach the Philistine outpost was a cliff; one was called Bozez, and the other Seneh. 5One cliff stood to the north toward Micmash, the other to the south toward Geba.[b]

6Jonathan said to his young armor-bearer, "Come, let's go over to the outpost of those uncircumcised[c] fellows. Perhaps the LORD will act in our behalf. Nothing[d] can hinder the LORD from saving, whether by many[e] or by few.[f]"

7"Do all that you have in mind," his armor-bearer said. "Go ahead; I am with you heart and soul."

8Jonathan said, "Come, then; we will cross over toward the men and let them see us. 9If they say to us, 'Wait there until we come to you,' we will stay where we are and not go up to them. 10But if they say, 'Come up to us,' we will climb up, because that will be our sign[g] that the LORD has given them into our hands.[h]"

11So both of them showed themselves to the Philistine outpost. "Look!" said the Philistines. "The Hebrews[i] are crawling out of the holes they were hiding[j] in." 12The men of the outpost shouted to Jonathan and his armor-bearer, "Come up to us and we'll teach you a lesson.[k]"

So Jonathan said to his armor-bearer, "Climb up after me; the LORD has given them into the hand[l] of Israel."

13Jonathan climbed up, using his hands and feet, with his armor-bearer right behind him. The Philistines fell before Jonathan, and his armor-bearer followed and killed behind him. 14In that first attack Jonathan and his armor-bearer killed some twenty men in an area of about half an acre.[s] ties—and the ground shook. It was a panic sent by God.[t]

16Saul's lookouts[o] at Gibeah in Benjamin saw the army melting away in all directions. 17Then Saul said to the men who were with him, "Muster the forces and see who has left us." When they did, it was Jonathan and his armor-bearer who were not there.

18Saul said to Ahijah, "Bring[p] the ark[q] of God." (At that time it was with the Israelites.)[u] 19While Saul was talking to the priest, the tumult in the Philistine camp increased more and more. So Saul said to the priest,[r] "Withdraw your hand."

20Then Saul and all his men assembled and went to the battle. They found the Philistines in total confusion, striking[s] each other with their swords. 21Those Hebrews who had previously been with the Philistines and had gone up with them to their camp went[t] over to the Israelites who were with Saul and Jonathan. 22When all the Israelites who had hidden[u] in the hill country of Ephraim heard that the Philistines were on the run, they joined the battle in hot pursuit. 23So the LORD rescued[v] Israel that day, and the battle moved on beyond Beth Aven.[w]

Jonathan Eats Honey

24Now the men of Israel were in distress that day, because Saul had bound the people under an oath,[x] saying, "Cursed be any man who eats food before evening comes, before I have avenged myself on my enemies!" So none of the troops tasted food.

25The entire army[y] entered the woods, and there was honey on the ground. 26When they went into the woods, they saw the honey oozing out, yet no one put his hand to his mouth, because they feared the oath. 27But Jonathan had not heard that his father had bound the people with the oath, so he reached out the end of the staff that was in his hand and dipped it into the honeycomb.[y] He raised his hand to his mouth, and his eyes brightened.[w] 28Then one of the soldiers told him, "Your father bound the army under a strict oath, saying, 'Cursed be any man who eats food today!' That is why the men are faint."

29Jonathan said, "My father has made trouble[z] for the country. See how my eyes brightened[x] when I tasted a little of this honey. 30How much better it would have been if the men had eaten today some of the plunder they took from their enemies. Would not the slaughter of the Philistines have been even greater?"

31That day, after the Israelites had struck down the Philistines from Micmash[a] to Aijalon,[b] they were exhausted. 32They pounced on the plunder[c] and, taking sheep, cattle and calves, they butchered them on the ground and ate them, together with the blood.[d] 33Then someone said to Saul, "Look, the men are

14:18 Bring the ark of God. Saul decides to seek God's will before entering into battle with the Philistines (see Nu 27:21; Dt 20:2). Here the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) may preserve the original text (see NIV text note) for the following reasons: 1. In 7:1 the ark was located at Kiriath Jearim, where it remained until David brought it to Jerusalem (2Sa 6), but the ephod was present in Saul's camp at Gibeah (see v. 3). 2. Nowhere else in the OT is the ark used to determine God's will, but the ephod (with the Urim and Thummim) was given for this purpose (see 23:9; 30:7 and notes on 2:18,28). 3. The command to the priest to withdraw his hand (v. 19) is more appropriate with the ephod than with the ark.

14:19 Withdraw your hand. Due to the urgency of the moment, Saul decides that to wait for the word of the Lord might jeopardize his military advantage. As in 13:8–12, his decision rests on his own insight rather than on dependence upon the Lord and a commitment to obey him.

14:23 So the LORD rescued Israel that day. The writer attributes the victory to the Lord, not to either Saul or Jonathan (see vv. 6,10,15; 11:13).

14:24–46 Following the account of the great victory the Lord had given, the author relates Saul's actions that strikingly illustrated his lack of fitness to be king. This foolish curse before the battle (see note on v. 24) brought "distress" to the army and, as Jonathan tellingly observed, "made trouble for the country" (v. 29) rather than contributing to the victory. And later, when hindered from taking advantage of the battle's outcome by the Lord's refusal to answer (v. 37), Saul was ready to execute Jonathan as the cause, though Jonathan had contributed most to the victory, as everyone else recognized (v. 45). Saul's growing egocentrism was turning into an all-consuming passion that threatened the very welfare of the nation. Rather than serving the cause of the Lord and his people, he was in fact becoming a king "such as all the other nations have" (8:5).

14:24 in distress. Saul's rash action in requiring his troops to fast placed them at an unnecessary disadvantage in the battle (see vv. 29–30). Cursed. Thus Saul as king "bound the army under a strict oath" (v. 28), a most serious matter because an oath directly invoked God's involvement, whether it concerned giving testimony (Ex 20:7; Lev 19:12), making commitments (Ge 21:23–24; 24:3–4) or prohibiting action (here; Jos 6:24). It appealed to God as the supreme enforcement power and the all-knowing Judge of human actions. I have avenged myself on my enemies. Saul perceives the conflict with the Philistines more as a personal vendetta (see note on 15:12) than as a battle for the honor of the Lord and the security of the Lord's people (note the contrast between his attitude and that of Jonathan in vv. 6,10,12).

14:31 Aijalon. Located to the west near the Philistines' own territory (see Jos 10:12).

14:33 eating meat that has blood in it. The Israelites were not permitted to eat blood (see Ge 9:4; Lev 17:11; 19:26; Dt 12:16; Eze 33:25; Ac 15:20 and notes). broken faith. See Mal 2:10–11. The same Hebrew term is translated "faithless" sinning against the LORD by eating meat that has blood[e] in it."

"You have broken faith," he said. "Roll a large stone over here at once." [34]Then he said, "Go out among the men and tell them, 'Each of you bring me your cattle and sheep, and slaughter them here and eat them. Do not sin against the LORD by eating meat with blood still[f] in it.' "

So everyone brought his ox that night and slaughtered it there. [35]Then Saul built an altar[g] to the LORD; it was the first time he had done this.

[36]Saul said, "Let us go down after the Philistines by night and plunder them till dawn, and let us not leave one of them alive."

"Do whatever seems best to you," they replied.

But the priest said, "Let us inquire[h] of God here."

[37]So Saul asked God, "Shall I go down after the Philistines? Will you give them into Israel's hand?" But God did not answer[i] him that day.

[38]Saul therefore said, "Come here, all you who are leaders of the army, and let us find out what sin has been committed[j] today. [39]As surely as the LORD who rescues Israel lives,[k] even if it lies with my son Jonathan,[l] he must die."[m] But not one of the men said a word.

[40]Saul then said to all the Israelites, "You stand over there; I and Jonathan my son will stand over here."

"Do what seems best to you," the men replied.

[41]Then Saul prayed to the LORD, the God of Israel, "Give[n] me the right[o] answer."[y] And Jonathan and Saul were taken by lot, and the men were cleared. [42]Saul said, "Cast the lot[p] between me and Jonathan my son." And Jonathan was taken.

[43]Then Saul said to Jonathan, "Tell me what you have done."[q]

So Jonathan told him, "I merely tasted a little honey[r] with the end of my staff. And now must I die?"

[44]Saul said, "May God deal with me, be it ever so severely,[s] if you do not die, Jonathan.[t]"

[45]But the men said to Saul, "Should Jonathan die—he who has brought about this great deliverance in Israel? Never! As surely as the LORD lives, not a hair[u] of his head will fall to the ground, for he did this today with God's help." So the men rescued[v] Jonathan, and he was not put to death.

[46]Then Saul stopped pursuing the Philistines, and they withdrew to their own land.

[47]After Saul had assumed rule over Israel, he fought against their enemies on every side: Moab,[w] the Ammonites,[x] Edom,[y] the kings[z] of Zobah,[z] and the Philistines. Wherever he turned, he inflicted punishment on them.[a] [48]He fought valiantly and defeated the Amalekites,[a] delivering Israel from the hands of those who had plundered them.

Saul's Family

[49]Saul's sons were Jonathan, Ishvi and Malki-Shua.[b] The name of his older daughter was Merab, and that of the younger was Michal.[c] [50]His wife's name was Ahinoam daughter of Ahimaaz. The name of the commander of Saul's army was Abner[d] son of Ner, and Ner was Saul's uncle.[e] [51]Saul's father Kish[f] and Abner's father Ner were sons of Abiel.

[52]All the days of Saul there was bitter war with the Philistines, and whenever Saul saw a mighty or brave man, he took[g] him into his service.

14:47 Ammonites. See Dt 2:19–21,37.

14:48 Amalekites. See note on 15:2.

14:49 Saul's sons. See 2Sa 2:8,10; 1Ch 9:39; 10:2. Merab . . . Michal. See 18:17,20,27; 19:11–17; 25:44; 2Sa 6:16–23.

14:50 Ahinoam. The only reference to a wife of Saul. His concubine Rizpah is mentioned in 2Sa 3:7; 21:8–11.

14:52 All the days of Saul. Closes the main account of Saul's reign. he took him into his service. Saul developed a special cadre of professional soldiers bound to himself, much as David was to do later (see 22:2; 23:13; 25:13; 27:2–3; 29:2; 30:1,9; 2Sa 2:3; 5:6; 8:18; 15:18; 23:8–39).

15:1–35 The event that occasioned Saul's rejection. Althe message from the LORD. 2This is what the LORD Almighty says: 'I will punish the Amalekites[i] for what they did to Israel when they waylaid them as they came up from Egypt. 3Now go, attack the Amalekites and totally[j] destroy[b] everything that belongs to them. Do not spare them; put to death men and women, children and infants, cattle and sheep, camels and donkeys.' "

4So Saul summoned the men and mustered them at Telaim—two hundred thousand foot soldiers and ten thousand men from Judah. 5Saul went to the city of Amalek and set an ambush in the ravine. 6Then he said to the Kenites,[k] "Go away, leave the Amalekites so that I do not destroy you along with them; for you showed kindness to all the Israelites when they came up out of Egypt." So the Kenites moved away from the Amalekites.

10Then the word of the LORD came to Samuel: 11"I am grieved[q] that I have made Saul king, because he has turned[r] away from me and has not carried out my instructions."[s] Samuel was troubled,[t] and he cried out to the LORD all that night.

12Early in the morning Samuel got up and went to meet Saul, but he was told, "Saul has gone to Carmel.[u] There he has set up a monument[v] in his own honor and has turned and gone on down to Gilgal."

13When Samuel reached him, Saul said, "The LORD bless you! I have carried out the LORD's instructions."

14But Samuel said, "What then is this bleating of sheep in my ears? What is this lowing of cattle that I hear?"

15Saul answered, "The soldiers brought them from the Amalekites; they spared the best of the sheep and cattle to sacrifice to the LORD your God, but we totally destroyed the rest."

16"Stop!" Samuel said to Saul. "Let me tell you what the LORD said to me last night."

"Tell me," Saul replied.

17Samuel said, "Although you were once small[w] in your own eyes, did you

[b]3 The Hebrew term refers to the irrevocable giving over of things or persons to the LORD, often by totally destroying them; also in verses 8, 9, 15, 18, 20 and 21.
[c]9 Or the grown bulls; the meaning of the Hebrew for this phrase is uncertain.

though no time designation is given, it evidently occurred after the conflicts of 14:47, in a time of relative peace and security. It is likely that David was anointed (16:1–13) shortly after the rejection of Saul (vv. 22,26,28), thus c. 1025 B.C.

15:2 Amalekites. A Bedouin people descended from Esau (see Ge 36:12,16) usually located in the Negev and Sinai regions (see 27:8; 30:1; Ge 14:7; Ex 17:8; Nu 13:29). what they did to Israel. See Ex 17:8–13; Nu 14:43, 45; Dt 25:17–19; cf. Jdg 3:13; 6:3–5,33; 7:12; 10:12.

15:3 totally destroy. See NIV text note and Lev 27:28–29; Dt 13:12–18; see also notes on Jos 6:17–18. Saul is given an opportunity as king to demonstrate his allegiance to the Lord by obedience in this assigned task.

15:4 Telaim. Probably the same as Telem in Jos 15:24, located in the southern part of Judah.

15:5 city of Amalek. A settlement of Amalekites, most likely located between Telaim and Kadesh Barnea, possibly the residence of their king.

15:6 Kenites. A Bedouin people of the Sinai, closely related to the Midianites. Moses had married a Kenite woman (see Ex 2:16,21–22; Nu 10:29; Jdg 1:16; 4:11), and some of the Kenites had accompanied the Israelites when they settled in the land of Canaan (see 27:10; Jdg 1:16; 4:17–23; 5:24; 1Ch 2:55).

15:7 Havilah to Shur. The location of Havilah is uncertain. Shur was on the eastern frontier of Egypt (see 27:8; Ge 16:7; 20:1). Ishmael's descendants occupied this area (see Ge 25:18).

15:8 all his people. All the Amalekites they encountered. Some Amalekites survived (see 27:8; 30:1,18; 2Sa 8:12; 1Ch 4:43).

15:9 When Israel refused to obey the Lord's command (v. 3), their holy war against the Amalekites degenerated into personal aggrandizement, much like that of Achan at the time of the conquest of Canaan (see Jos 7:1). Giving to the Lord by destruction only what was despised and weak was a contemptible act (see Mal 1:7–12), not to be excused (see v. 19) by the protestation that the best had been preserved for sacrifice to the Lord (vv. 15,21).

15:11 grieved. See note on v. 29. he has turned away from me. A violation of the fundamental requirement of his office as king (see notes on 12:14–15).

15:12 Carmel. Located about seven miles south of Hebron (see 25:2; Jos 15:55). monument in his own honor. Saul's self-glorification here contrasts sharply with his self-abasement after the victory over the Ammonites (see note on 11:13; cf. v. 17; 2Sa 18:18). Gilgal. Saul returns to the place where he was inaugurated and instructed in the responsibilities of his office (see 11:14–12:25). This was also the place where he had been told that he would not have a continuing dynasty because of his disobedience (see 13:13–14).

15:13 I have carried out the LORD's instructions. Here and in v. 20 Saul is clearly less than honest in his statements to Samuel.

15:15 The soldiers ... spared the best ... to sacrifice. Saul attempts to shift responsibility from himself to the army and to excuse their action by claiming pious intentions. the LORD your God. Saul's use of the pronoun "your" instead of "my" here and in vv. 21,30 indicates an awareness of his own alienation from the Lord (see 12:19 for a similar case), even though he speaks of obedience and the intent to honor God by sacrifice.

15:17 you were once small in your own eyes. See 9:21; 10:22.

not become the head of the tribes of Israel? The LORD anointed you king over Israel. 18And he sent you on a mission, saying, 'Go and completely destroy those wicked people, the Amalekites; make war on them until you have wiped them out.' 19Why did you not obey the LORD? Why did you pounce on the plunder[x] and do evil in the eyes of the LORD?"

20"But I did obey[y] the LORD," Saul said. "I went on the mission the LORD assigned me. I completely destroyed the Amalekites and brought back Agag their king. 21The soldiers took sheep and cattle from the plunder, the best of what was devoted to God, in order to sacrifice them to the LORD your God at Gilgal."

22But Samuel replied:

"Does the LORD delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices as much as in obeying the voice of the LORD?
To obey is better than sacrifice,[z] and to heed is better than the fat of rams.
23For rebellion is like the sin of divination,[a] and arrogance like the evil of idolatry.
Because you have rejected[b] the word of the LORD,
he has rejected you as king."

24Then Saul said to Samuel, "I have sinned.[c] I violated[d] the LORD's command and your instructions. I was afraid[e] of the people and so I gave in to them. 25Now I beg you, forgive[f] my sin and come back with me, so that I may worship the LORD."

26But Samuel said to him, "I will not go back with you. You have rejected[g] the word of the LORD, and the LORD has rejected you as king over Israel!"

27As Samuel turned to leave, Saul caught hold of the hem of his robe,[h] and it tore.[i] 28Samuel said to him, "The LORD has torn[j] the kingdom[k] of Israel from you today and has given it to one of your neighbors—to one better than you.[l] 29He who is the Glory of Israel does not lie[m] or change[n] his mind; for he is not a man, that he should change his mind."

30Saul replied, "I have sinned.[o] But please honor[p] me before the elders of my people and before Israel; come back with me, so that I may worship the LORD your God." 31So Samuel went back with Saul, and Saul worshiped the LORD.

32Then Samuel said, "Bring me Agag king of the Amalekites."

Agag came to him confidently,[d] thinking, "Surely the bitterness of death is past."

33But Samuel said,

"As your sword has made women childless, so will your mother be childless
among women."[q]

And Samuel put Agag to death before the LORD at Gilgal.

34Then Samuel left for Ramah,[r] but Saul went up to his home in Gibeah[s] of Saul. 35Until the day Samuel[t] died, he did not go to see Saul again, though Samuel mourned[u] for him. And the LORD was grieved[v] that he had made Saul king over Israel.

15:22 Samuel does not suggest that sacrifice is unimportant but that it is acceptable only when brought with an attitude of obedience and devotion to the Lord (see Ps 15; Isa 1:11–17; Hos 6:6; Am 5:21–27; Mic 6:6–8). fat of rams. The fat of sacrificed animals belonged to the Lord (see 2:15; Ex 23:18; Lev 3:14–16; 7:30).

15:23 rebellion. Samuel charges Saul with violating the central requirement of the covenant condition given to him when he became king (see 12:14–15). sin of divination. A serious offense against the Lord (see Lev 19:26; Dt 18:9–12), which Saul himself condemned (28:3,9). you have rejected the word of the LORD. A king who sets his own will above the command of the Lord ceases to be an instrument of the Lord's rule over his people, violating the very nature of his theocratic office. he has rejected you as king. The judgment here goes beyond the one given earlier (see note on 13:14). Now Saul himself is to be set aside as king. Although this did not happen immediately, as chs. 16–31 show, the process began that led to his death. It included in its relentless course the removal of God's Spirit and favor from him (16:14), the defection of his son Jonathan and daughter Michal to David, and the insubordination of his own officials (22:17).

15:24 Saul's confession retains an element of self-justification and a shift of blame (contrast David's confession, 2Sa 12:13; Ps 51). Previously (vv. 15,21) he had attempted to justify his soldiers' actions.

15:25 come back with me. Saul's greatest concern was not to worship God but to avoid an open break with the prophet Samuel, a break that would undermine his authority as king (see v. 30).

15:28 one of your neighbors. David (see note on 13:14).

15:29 Glory of Israel. A title of God used elsewhere only in Mic 1:15, though in Ps 106:20; Jer 2:11; Hos 4:7 he is called "Glory" (see note on 4:21). Cf. 2Sa 1:19; Ps 89:17; Isa 13:19. does not lie or change his mind. See Nu 23:19; Ps 110:4; Jer 4:28; Mal 3:6 and notes. There is no conflict between this statement and vv. 11,35, where the Lord is said to "grieve" that he had made Saul king. God has real emotions (one of the marks of personality).

15:31 So Samuel went back with Saul. Samuel's purpose in agreeing to Saul's request is not to honor Saul, but to carry out the divine sentence on Agag and in so doing to reemphasize Saul's neglect of duty.

15:34 Ramah. Samuel's home (see 7:17). Gibeah of Saul. See note on 10:5.

15:35 Samuel mourned. Samuel regarded Saul as if dead (see the use of "mourned" in 6:19). Even though his love for him remained (see v. 11; 16:1), he sought no further contact with him because God had rejected him as king. Saul did come to Samuel on one other occasion (see 19:24).

Samuel Anoints David

16 The LORD said to Samuel, "How long will you mourn[w] for Saul, since I have rejected[x] him as king over Israel? Fill your horn with oil[y] and be on your way; I am sending you to Jesse[z] of Bethlehem. I have chosen[a] one of his sons to be king."

[2]But Samuel said, "How can I go? Saul will hear about it and kill me."

The LORD said, "Take a heifer with you and say, 'I have come to sacrifice to the LORD.' [3]Invite Jesse to the sacrifice, and I will show[b] you what to do. You are to anoint[c] for me the one I indicate."

[4]Samuel did what the LORD said. When he arrived at Bethlehem,[d] the elders of the town trembled[e] when they met him. They asked, "Do you come in peace?[f]"

[5]Samuel replied, "Yes, in peace; I have come to sacrifice to the LORD. Consecrate[g] yourselves and come to the sacrifice with me." Then he consecrated Jesse and his sons and invited them to the sacrifice.

[6]When they arrived, Samuel saw Eliab[h] and thought, "Surely the LORD's anointed stands here before the LORD."

[7]But the LORD said to Samuel, "Do not consider his appearance or his height, for I have rejected him. The LORD does not look at the things man looks at. Man looks at the outward appearance,[i] but the LORD looks at the heart."[j]

[8]Then Jesse called Abinadab[k] and had him pass in front of Samuel. But Samuel said, "The LORD has not chosen this one either." [9]Jesse then had Shammah[l] pass by, but Samuel said, "Nor has the LORD chosen this one." [10]Jesse had seven of his sons pass before Samuel, but Samuel said to him, "The LORD has not chosen these." [11]So he asked Jesse, "Are these all[m] the sons you have?"

"There is still the youngest," Jesse answered, "but he is tending the sheep."[n]

Samuel said, "Send for him; we will not sit down[e] until he arrives."

[12]So he[o] sent and had him brought in. He was ruddy, with a fine appearance and handsome[p] features.

Then the LORD said, "Rise and anoint him; he is the one."

[13]So Samuel took the horn of oil and anointed[q] him in the presence of his brothers, and from that day on the Spirit of the LORD[r] came upon David in power.[s] Samuel then went to Ramah.

16:1 The LORD said to Samuel. Probably c. 1025 B.C. (see note on 15:1–35). Jesse. For Jesse's genealogy see Ru 4:18–22; Mt 1:3–6. Bethlehem. A town five miles south of Jerusalem, formerly known as Ephrath (Ge 48:7). It was later to become renowned as the "town of David" (Lk 2:4) and the birthplace of Christ (Mic 5:2; Mt 2:1; Lk 2:4–7). I have chosen one of his sons to be king. See notes on 13:14; 15:28.

16:2 Saul will . . . kill me. The road from Ramah (where Samuel was, 15:34) to Bethlehem passed through Gibeah of Saul. Saul already knew that the Lord had chosen someone to replace him as king (see 15:28). Samuel fears that jealousy will incite Saul to violence. Later incidents (18:10–11; 19:10; 20:33) demonstrate that Samuel's fears were well-founded. say, 'I have come to sacrifice to the LORD.' This response is true but incomplete, and it was intended to deceive Saul.

16:3 anoint. See note on 9:16.

16:5 Consecrate yourselves. Involves preparing oneself spiritually as well as making oneself ceremonially clean by washing and putting on clean clothes (see Ex 19:10,14; Lev 15; Nu 19:11–22).

16:6 Eliab. Jesse's oldest son (17:13).

16:7 his appearance or his height. Samuel is not to focus on these outward features, which had characterized Saul (see 9:2; 10:23–24). heart. The Lord is concerned with man's inner disposition and character (see 1Ki 8:39; 1Ch 28:9; Lk 16:15; Jn 2:25; Ac 1:24).

16:8 Abinadab. Jesse's second son.

16:9 Shammah. Jesse's third son.

16:11 he is tending the sheep. The Lord's chosen one is a shepherd (see note on 9:3; see also 2Sa 7:7–8; Ps 78:71–72).

16:13 in the presence of his brothers. The small circle of witnesses to David's anointing assured its confidentiality, but also provided ample testimony for the future that David had been anointed by Samuel and that he was not merely a usurper of Saul's office. the Spirit of the LORD came upon David in power. See 10:5–6,10; 11:6; Jdg 15:14.

16:14–17:58 In the next two episodes, David is introduced to Saul's court and to Israel as a gifted musician and warrior. With these two gifts he would become famous in Israel and would lead the nation to spiritual and political vigor (see 2Sa 22; 23:1–7). Also through these two gifts Saul would become dependent upon David.

16:14 the Spirit of the LORD had departed from Saul. Cf. Jdg 16:20. The removal of the Spirit from Saul and the giving of the Spirit to David (v. 13) determined the contrasting courses of their lives. evil spirit from the LORD. This statement and similar ones in Scripture indicate that evil spirits are subject to God's control and operate only within divinely determined boundaries (see Jdg 9:23; 1Ki 22:19–23; Job 1:12; 2:6; compare 2Sa 24:1 with 1Ch 21:1). Saul's disobedience continued to be punished by the assaults of an evil spirit (vv. 15–16,23; 18:10; 19:9). tormented him. Saul's increasing tendencies to despondency, jealousy and violence were no doubt occasioned by his knowledge of his rejection as king (see 13:13–14; 15:22–26; 18:9; 20:30–33; 22:16–18) and his awareness of David's growing popularity,

DAVID
NAME MEANS: "Beloved [of God]" OCCUPATION: Shepherd, king of Israel
BEST KNOWN FOR:
- his faith and courage in standing up to Goliath
- being Israel's greatest earthly king
- the passion and emotion he poured into his psalms
- his willingness to admit his failures to God and to repent parted[t] from Saul, and an evil[t] spirit[u] from the LORD tormented him.[v] 15Saul's attendants said to him, "See, an evil spirit from God is tormenting you. 16Let our lord command his servants here to search for someone who can play the harp.[w] He will play when the evil spirit from God comes upon you, and you will feel better."

17So Saul said to his attendants, "Find someone who plays well and bring him to me."
18One of the servants answered, "I have seen a son of Jesse[x] of Bethlehem who knows how to play the harp. He is a brave man and a warrior.[y] He speaks well and is a fine-looking man. And the LORD is with[z] him."
19Then Saul sent messengers to Jesse and said, "Send me your son David, who is with the sheep."[a] 20So Jesse took a donkey loaded with bread,[b] a skin of wine and a young goat and sent them with his son David to Saul.
21David came to Saul and entered his service.[c] Saul liked him very much, and David became one of his armor-bearers. 22Then Saul sent word to Jesse, saying, "Allow David to remain in my service, for I am pleased with him."
23Whenever the spirit from God came upon Saul, David would take his harp and play. Then relief would come to Saul; he would feel better, and the evil spirit[d] would leave him.

but an evil spirit was also involved in these psychological aberrations (see 18:10–12; 19:9–10).

16:16 you will feel better. The soothing effect of certain types of music on a troubled spirit is a generally recognized phenomenon (see 2Ki 3:15). Beyond this natural effect of music, however, it would appear that in this instance the Spirit of the Lord was active in David's music to suppress the evil spirit temporarily (see v. 23).

16:19 Send me your son David. Saul unknowingly invites to the court the person God chose to be his replacement. In this way David is brought into contact with Saul, and his introduction to Israel begins.

16:21 David became one of his armor-bearers. May refer to a later time after David's victory over Goliath (see 18:2).

David and Goliath

17 Now the Philistines gathered their forces for war and assembled[e] at Socoh in Judah. They pitched camp at Ephes Dammim, between Socoh[f] and Azekah.[g] 2Saul and the Israelites assembled and camped in the Valley of Elah[h] and drew up their battle line to meet the Philistines. 3The Philistines occupied one hill and the Israelites another, with the valley between them.

4A champion named Goliath,[i] who was from Gath, came out of the Philistine camp. He was over nine feet[g] tall. 5He had a bronze helmet on his head and wore a coat of scale armor of bronze weighing five thousand shekels[h]; 6on his legs he wore bronze greaves, and a bronze javelin[j] was slung on his back. 7His spear shaft was like a weaver's rod,[k] and its iron point weighed six hundred shekels.[i] His shield bearer[l] went ahead of him.

8Goliath stood and shouted to the ranks of Israel, "Why do you come out and line up for battle? Am I not a Philistine, and are you not the servants of Saul? Choose[m] a man and have him come down to me. 9If he is able to fight and kill me, we will become your subjects; but if I overcome him and kill him, you will become our subjects and serve us." 10Then the Philistine said, "This day I defy[n] the ranks of Israel! Give me a man and let us fight each other.[o]" 11On hearing the Philistine's words, Saul and all the Israelites were dismayed and terrified.

12Now David was the son of an Ephrathite[p] named Jesse,[q] who was from Bethlehem[r] in Judah. Jesse had eight[s] sons, and in Saul's time he was old and well advanced in years. 13Jesse's three oldest sons had followed Saul to the war: The firstborn was Eliab;[t] the second, Abinadab;[u] and the third, Shammah.[v] 14David was the youngest. The three oldest followed Saul, 15but David went back and forth from Saul to tend[w] his father's sheep[x] at Bethlehem.

16For forty days the Philistine came forward every morning and evening and took his stand.

20Early in the morning David left the flock with a shepherd, loaded up and set out, as Jesse had directed. He reached the camp as the army was going out to its battle positions, shouting the war cry. 21Israel and the Philistines were drawing up their lines facing each other. 22David left his things with the keeper of supplies,[b] ran to the battle lines and greeted his brothers. 23As he was talking with them, Goliath, the Philistine champion from Gath, stepped out from his lines and shouted his usual[c] defiance, and David heard it. 24When the Israelites saw the man, they all ran from him in great fear.

25Now the Israelites had been saying, "Do you see how this man keeps coming out? He comes out to defy Israel. The king will give great wealth to the man who kills him. He will also give him his daughter[d] in marriage and will exempt his father's family from taxes[e] in Israel."

26David asked the men standing near him, "What will be done for the man who kills this Philistine and removes this disgrace[f] from Israel? Who is this uncir-

17:1 Socoh. Located about 15 miles west of Bethlehem (see 2Ch 28:18) near the Philistine border. Ephes Dammim. Pas Dammim in 1Ch 11:13 (see 2Sa 23:9). Azekah. Located a little over a mile northwest of Socoh.

17:2 Valley of Elah. Located between Azekah and Socoh along the Wadi es-Sant.

17:4 champion. The ancient Greeks, to whom the Philistines were apparently related, sometimes decided issues of war through chosen champions who met in combat between the armies. Through this economy of warriors the judgment of the gods on the matter at stake was determined (trial by battle ordeal). Israel too may have known this practice (see 2Sa 2:14–16).

17:11 Saul and all the Israelites were . . . terrified. Israel's giant warrior (see 9:2; 10:23) quails before the Philistine champion. The fear of Saul and the Israelite army (see vv. 24,32) betrays a loss of faith in the covenant promises of the Lord (see Ex 23:22; Dt 3:22; 20:1–4). Their fear also demonstrates that the Israelite search for security in a human king (apart from trust in the Lord; see notes on 8:5,7) had failed. On the basis of God's covenant promises, Israel was never to fear her enemies but to trust in the Lord (see 2Sa 10:12; Ex 14:13–14; Nu 14:9; Jos 10:8; 2Ch 20:17).

17:12 Ephrathite. See note on Ru 1:2.

17:15 David went back and forth from Saul. David's position at the court (see 16:21–23) was not permanent, but was performed on an intermittent basis. For the relationship between chs. 16 and 17 see note on v. 55.

17:24 great fear. See note on v. 11.

17:25 The king will give great wealth. See 8:14; 22:7. give him his daughter in marriage. See 18:17–26; cf. Jos 15:16.

17:26 Who is this . . .? David sees the issues clearly—which sets him apart from Saul and all the other Israelites on that battlefield.

cumcised[g] Philistine that he should defy[h] the armies of the living[i] God?"

27They repeated to him what they had been saying and told him, "This is what will be done for the man who kills him."

28When Eliab, David's oldest brother, heard him speaking with the men, he burned with anger[j] at him and asked, "Why have you come down here? And with whom did you leave those few sheep in the desert? I know how conceited you are and how wicked your heart is; you came down only to watch the battle."

29"Now what have I done?" said David. "Can't I even speak?" 30He then turned away to someone else and brought up the same matter, and the men answered him as before. 31What David said was overheard and reported to Saul, and Saul sent for him.

32David said to Saul, "Let no one lose heart[k] on account of this Philistine; your servant will go and fight him."

33Saul replied,[l] "You are not able to go out against this Philistine and fight him; you are only a boy, and he has been a fighting man from his youth."

34But David said to Saul, "Your servant has been keeping his father's sheep. When a lion[m] or a bear came and carried off a sheep from the flock, 35I went after it, struck it and rescued the sheep from its mouth. When it turned on me, I seized[n] it by its hair, struck it and killed it. 36Your servant has killed both the lion[o] and the bear; this uncircumcised Philistine will be like one of them, because he has defied the armies of the living God. 37The LORD who delivered[p] me from the paw of the lion[q] and the paw of the bear will deliver me from the hand of this Philistine."

Saul said to David, "Go, and the LORD be with[r] you."

38Then Saul dressed David in his own[s] tunic. He put a coat of armor on him and a bronze helmet on his head. 39David fastened on his sword over the tunic and tried walking around, because he was not used to them.

"I cannot go in these," he said to Saul, "because I am not used to them." So he took them off. 40Then he took his staff in his hand, chose five smooth stones from the stream, put them in the pouch of his shepherd's bag and, with his sling in his hand, approached the Philistine.

41Meanwhile, the Philistine, with his shield bearer[t] in front of him, kept coming closer to David. 42He looked David over and saw that he was only a boy, ruddy and handsome,[u] and he despised[v] him. 43He said to David, "Am I a dog,[w] that you come at me with sticks?" And the Philistine cursed David by his gods. 44"Come here," he said, "and I'll give your flesh to the birds of the air[x] and the beasts of the field![y]"

45David said to the Philistine, "You come against me with sword and spear and javelin,[z] but I come against you in the name[a] of the LORD Almighty, the God of the armies of Israel, whom you have defied.[b] 46This day the LORD will hand[c] you over to me, and I'll strike you down and cut off your head. Today I will give the carcasses[d] of the Philistine army to the birds of the air and the beasts of the earth, and the whole world[e] will know that there is a God in Israel.[f] 47All those gathered here will know that it is not by sword[g] or spear that the LORD saves;[h] for the battle[i] is

17:28 he burned with anger. Eliab's anger may arise from jealousy toward his brother and a sense of guilt for the defeatist attitude of the Israelites. He recognizes, but does not comprehend, David's indomitable spirit (see 16:13).

17:32 Let no one lose heart on account of this Philistine. David's confidence does not rest in his own prowess (see vv. 37,47) but in the power of the living God, whose honor has been violated by the Philistines and whose covenant promises have been scorned by the Israelites.

17:33 You are not able. Saul does not take into account the power of God (see vv. 37,47).

17:34 lion. For the presence of lions in Canaan at that time see 2Sa 23:20; Jdg 14:5–18; 1Ki 13:24–26; Am 3:12. bear. See 2Sa 17:8; 2Ki 2:24; Am 5:19.

17:36 this uncircumcised Philistine. See note on 14:6.

17:37 The LORD ... will deliver me. Reliance on the Lord was essential for the true theocratic king (see notes on 10:18; 11:13). Here David's faith contrasts sharply with Saul's loss of faith (see 11:6–7 for Saul's earlier fearlessness). Saul said to David, "Go." Saul is now dependent on David not only for his sanity (see note on 16:16) but also for the security of his realm.

17:40 his staff. God's newly appointed shepherd of his people (see 2Sa 5:2; 7:7; Ps 78:72) goes to defend the Lord's threatened and frightened flock. stones. Usually the stones chosen were round and smooth and somewhat larger than a baseball. When hurled by a master slinger, they probably traveled at close to 100 miles per hour. his sling. For the Benjamites' skill with a sling see Jdg 20:16.

17:43 Am I a dog ...? See note on 2Sa 9:8.

17:45 in the name of the LORD Almighty. David's strength was his reliance on the Lord (see Ps 9:10; Pr 18:10). For the expression "name of the LORD" see notes on Ex 3:13–14; Dt 12:11.

17:46 the whole world will know. The victory that David anticipates will demonstrate to all the world the existence and power of Israel's God (see Ex 7:17; 9:14,16,29; Dt 4:34–35; Jos 2:10–11; 4:23–24; 1Ki 8:59–60; 18:36–39; 2Ki 5:15; 19:19).

17:47 the battle is the LORD's. Both the Israelite and the Philistine armies will be shown the error of placing trust in human devices for personal or national security (see 2:10; 14:6; 2Ch 14:11; 20:15; Ps 33:16–17; 44:6–7; Ecc 9:11; Hos 1:7; Zec 4:6).

the LORD's, and he will give all of you into our hands."

48As the Philistine moved closer to attack him, David ran quickly toward the battle line to meet him. 49Reaching into his bag and taking out a stone, he slung it and struck the Philistine on the forehead. The stone sank into his forehead, and he fell facedown on the ground.

50So David triumphed over the Philistine with a sling[j] and a stone; without a sword in his hand he struck down the Philistine and killed him.

51David ran and stood over him. He took hold of the Philistine's sword and drew it from the scabbard. After he killed him, he cut[k] off his head with the sword.[l]

When the Philistines saw that their hero was dead, they turned and ran. 52Then the men of Israel and Judah surged forward with a shout and pursued the Philistines to the entrance of Gath[m] and to the gates of Ekron.[m] Their dead were strewn along the Shaaraim[n] road to Gath and Ekron. 53When the Israelites returned from chasing the Philistines, they plundered their camp. 54David took the Philistine's head and brought it to Jerusalem, and he put the Philistine's weapons in his own tent.

55As Saul watched David[o] going out to meet the Philistine, he said to Abner, commander of the army, "Abner,[p] whose son is that young man?"

Abner replied, "As surely as you live, O king, I don't know."

Saul's Jealousy of David

18 After David had finished talking with Saul, Jonathan[r] became one in spirit with David, and he loved[s] him as himself.[t] 2From that day Saul kept David with him and did not let him return to his father's house. 3And Jonathan made a covenant[u] with David because he loved him as himself. 4Jonathan took off the robe[v] he was wearing and gave it to David, along with his tunic, and even his sword, his bow and his belt.[w]

5Whatever Saul sent him to do, David did it so successfully[n][x] that Saul gave him a high rank in the army.[y] This pleased all the people, and Saul's officers as well.

6When the men were returning home after David had killed the Philistine, the women came out from all the towns of Israel to meet King Saul with singing and dancing,[z] with joyful songs and with tambourines[a] and lutes. 7As they danced, they sang:[b]

[m] 52 Some Septuagint manuscripts; Hebrew a valley
[n] 5 Or wisely

17:51 they turned and ran. Most likely the Philistines saw the fall of their champion as the judgment of the gods, but they did not honor Goliath's original proposal (see v. 9).

17:54 brought it to Jerusalem. Jerusalem had not at this time been conquered by the Israelites. David may have kept Goliath's head as a trophy of victory and brought the skull with him to Jerusalem when he took that city and made it his capital (see 2Sa 5:1–9). Or, having grown up almost under the shadow of the Jebusite city, he may have displayed Goliath's head to its defiant inhabitants as a warning of what the God of Israel was able to do and eventually would do. put the Philistine's weapons in his own tent. As his personal spoils of the battle. Since Goliath's sword is later in the custody of the priest at Nob (see 21:9), he must have dedicated it to the Lord, the true victor in the fight (cf. 31:10).

17:55 whose son is that young man? The seeming contradiction between vv. 55–58 and 16:14–23 may be resolved by noting that prior to this time David was not a permanent resident at Saul's court (see v. 15; 18:2; see also note on 16:21), so that Saul's knowledge of David and his family may have been minimal. Further, Saul may have been so incredulous at David's courage that he was wondering if his family background and social standing might explain his extraordinary conduct.

18:1 It appears that David spoke with Saul at length, and he may have explained his actions as an expression of his faith in the Lord, thus attracting the love and loyalty of Jonathan (see v. 3; 14:6; 19:5). Their friendship endured even when it became clear that David was to replace him as the successor to his father's throne.

18:2 Saul kept David with him. See note on 17:15.

18:3 Jonathan made a covenant with David. The initiative comes from Jonathan. The terms of the agreement are not here specified (see further 19:1; 20:8,13–16,41–42; 23:18) but would appear to involve a pledge of mutual loyalty and friendship. At the very least, Jonathan accepts David as his equal.

18:4 took off the robe . . . and gave it to David. Jonathan ratifies the covenant in an act that symbolizes giving himself to David. His act may even signify his recognition that David was to assume his place as successor to Saul (see 20:14–15,31; 23:17)—a possibility that seems the more likely in that he also gave David "even his sword, his bow and his belt" (cf. 13:22).

18:5 Whatever Saul sent him to do. During the rest of the campaign.

18:7 David his tens of thousands. In accordance with the normal conventions of Hebrew poetry, this was the women's way of saying "Saul and David have slain thousands" (10,000 was normally used as the parallel of 1,000—see Dt 32:30; Ps 91:7; Mic 6:7; also in Canaanite poetry found at Ugarit). It is a measure of Saul's insecurity and jealousy that he read their intentions incorrectly and took offense. His resentment may have been initially triggered by the mention of David's name alongside his own. See note on 21:11 for how the Philistines interpreted the song.

"Saul has slain his thousands, and David his tens[c] of thousands."

[8]Saul was very angry; this refrain galled him. "They have credited David with tens of thousands," he thought, "but me with only thousands. What more can he get but the kingdom?[d]" [9]And from that time on Saul kept a jealous[e] eye on David.

[10]The next day an evil[o] spirit[f] from God came forcefully upon Saul. He was prophesying in his house, while David was playing the harp,[g] as he usually[h] did. Saul had a spear[i] in his hand [11]and he hurled it, saying to himself,[j] "I'll pin David to the wall." But David eluded[k] him twice.[l]

[12]Saul was afraid[m] of David, because the LORD[n] was with[o] David but had left[p] Saul. [13]So he sent David away from him and gave him command over a thousand men, and David led[q] the troops in their campaigns.[r] [14]In everything he did he had great success,[ps] because the LORD was with[t] him. [15]When Saul saw how successful[q] he was, he was afraid of him. [16]But all Israel and Judah loved David, because he led them in their campaigns.[u]

[17]Saul said to David, "Here is my older daughter[v] Merab. I will give her to you in marriage;[w] only serve me bravely and fight the battles[x] of the LORD." For Saul said to himself,[y] "I will not raise a hand against him. Let the Philistines do that!"

[18]But David said to Saul, "Who am I,[z] and what is my family or my father's clan in Israel, that I should become the king's son-in-law?[a]" [19]So[r] when the time came for Merab,[b] Saul's daughter, to be given to David, she was given in marriage to Adriel of Meholah.[c]

[20]Now Saul's daughter Michal[d] was in love with David, and when they told Saul about it, he was pleased.[e] [21]"I will give her to him," he thought, "so that she may be a snare[f] to him and so that the hand of the Philistines may be against him." So Saul said to David, "Now you have a second opportunity to become my son-in-law."

[22]Then Saul ordered his attendants: "Speak to David privately and say, 'Look, the king is pleased with you, and his attendants all like you; now become his son-in-law.' "

[23]They repeated these words to David. But David said, "Do you think it is a small matter to become the king's son-in-law?[g] I'm only a poor man and little known."

[24]When Saul's servants told him what David had said, [25]Saul replied, "Say to David, 'The king wants no other price[h] for the bride than a hundred Philistine foreskins, to take revenge[i] on his enemies.' " Saul's plan[j] was to have David fall by the hands of the Philistines.

[26]When the attendants told David these things, he was pleased to become the king's son-in-law. So before the allotted time elapsed, [27]David and his men went out and killed two hundred Philistines. He brought their foreskins and presented the full number to the king so that he might become the king's son-in-law. Then Saul gave him his daughter Michal[k] in marriage.

[28]When Saul realized that the LORD was with David and that his daughter Michal[l] loved David, [29]Saul became still more afraid[m] of him, and he remained his enemy the rest of his days.

[30]The Philistine commanders continued to go out to battle, and as often as they did, David met with more success[sn] than the rest of Saul's officers, and his name became well known.

18:10 evil spirit from God. See note on 16:14. prophesying. The Hebrew for this word is sometimes used to indicate uncontrolled ecstatic behavior (see note on 1Ki 18:29) and is best understood in that sense in this context (see also note on 10:5). as he usually did. See 16:14,23.

18:12 the LORD was with David but had left Saul. See 16:14 and note.

18:13 he sent David away. His apparent motive was the hope that David would be killed in battle (see vv. 17, 21, 25; 19:1), but the result was greater acclaim for David (see vv. 14,16,30).

18:17 Here is my older daughter. David was entitled to have Saul's daughter as his wife because of his victory over Goliath (see 17:25). This promise had not been kept and is now made conditional on further military service, in which Saul hoped David would be killed. battles of the LORD. See 25:28.

18:25 no other price. Normally a bride-price was paid by the bridegroom to the father of the bride (see Ge 34:12; Ex 22:16) as compensation for the loss of his daughter and insurance for her support if widowed. Saul requires David instead to pass a test appropriate for a great warrior, hoping that he will "fall" (see vv. 17,21).

18:28 Michal loved David. God's favor on David is revealed not only in his military accomplishments, but also in Michal's love for him—now added to that of Jonathan. Everything Saul seeks to use against David turns to David's advantage.

18:29 Saul became still more afraid of him. Saul's perception that God's hand was on David did not lead him to repentance and acceptance of his own lot (see 15:26) but into greater fear and jealousy toward David.

19:1 Saul told his son ... to kill David. Saul now abandons his indirect attempts on David's life (see 18:13,17,25) and adopts a more direct approach, leading to David's departure from the court and from service to Saul (see

2and warned him, "My father Saul is looking for a chance to kill you. Be on your guard tomorrow morning; go into hiding[q] and stay there. 3I will go out and stand with my father in the field where you are. I'll speak[r] to him about you and will tell you what I find out."

4Jonathan spoke[s] well of David to Saul his father and said to him, "Let not the king do wrong[t] to his servant David; he has not wronged you, and what he has done has benefited you greatly. 5He took his life[u] in his hands when he killed the Philistine. The LORD won a great victory[v] for all Israel, and you saw it and were glad. Why then would you do wrong to an innocent[w] man like David by killing him for no reason?"

6Saul listened to Jonathan and took this oath: "As surely as the LORD lives, David will not be put to death."

7So Jonathan called David and told him the whole conversation. He brought him to Saul, and David was with Saul as before.[x]

8Once more war broke out, and David went out and fought the Philistines. He struck them with such force that they fled before him.

11Saul sent men to David's house to watch[b] it and to kill him in the morning.[c] But Michal, David's wife, warned him, "If you don't run for your life tonight, tomorrow you'll be killed." 12So Michal let David down through a window,[d] and he fled and escaped. 13Then Michal took an idol[u][e] and laid it on the bed, covering it with a garment and putting some goats' hair at the head.

14When Saul sent the men to capture David, Michal said,[f] "He is ill."

15Then Saul sent the men back to see David and told them, "Bring him up to me in his bed so that I may kill him." 16But when the men entered, there was the idol in the bed, and at the head was some goats' hair.

17Saul said to Michal, "Why did you deceive me like this and send my enemy away so that he escaped?"

Michal told him, "He said to me, 'Let me get away. Why should I kill you?' "

18When David had fled and made his escape, he went to Samuel at Ramah[g] and told him all that Saul had done to him. Then he and Samuel went to Naioth and stayed there. 19Word came to Saul: "David is in Naioth at Ramah"; 20so he sent men to capture him. But when they saw a group of prophets[h] prophesying, with Samuel standing there as their leader, the Spirit of God came upon[i] Saul's men and they also prophesied.[j] 21Saul was told about it, and he sent more men, and they prophesied too. Saul sent men a third time, and they also prophesied. 22Finally, he himself left for Ramah and went to the great cistern at Secu. And he asked, "Where are Samuel and David?"

"Over in Naioth at Ramah," they said.

23So Saul went to Naioth at Ramah. But the Spirit of God came even upon him, and he walked along prophesying[k] until he came to Naioth. 24He stripped[l] off his robes and also prophesied in Samuel's[m] presence. He lay that way all that day and night. This is why people say, "Is Saul also among the prophets?"[n]

David and Jonathan

20 Then David fled from Naioth at Ramah and went to Jonathan and asked, "What have I done? What is my crime? How have I wronged[o] your father, that he is trying to take my life?"[p] vv. 12,18; 20:42).

19:4 Jonathan spoke well of David. Jonathan does not let his own personal ambition distort his perception of David's true theocratic spirit (see v. 5 and notes on 14:6; 17:11; 18:1).

19:6 Saul listened to Jonathan and took this oath. See 14:24,44 for previous oaths that Saul did not keep (see note on 14:39).

19:9 evil spirit from the LORD. See note on 16:14; cf. 18:10–11.

19:10 with his spear. See 18:10–11; 20:33.

19:12 through a window. For similar escapes see Jos 2:15; Ac 9:25.

19:13 idol. See NIV text note and note on Ge 31:19.

19:18 Ramah. Samuel's home (see 7:17 and note on 1:1). Naioth. Means "habitations" or "dwellings." The term appears to designate a complex of houses in a certain section of Ramah where a company of prophets resided (see vv. 19–20,22–23).

19:20 group of prophets. See 10:5 and note. prophesying. See notes on 10:5; 18:10.

19:24 He lay that way all that day and night. Saul was so overwhelmed by the power of the Spirit of God that he was prevented from carrying out his intention to take David's life. His frustrated attempts to kill David—his own inability to harm David and the thwarting of his plans by Jonathan's loyalty, by Michal's deception and by David's own cleverness—all reach their climax here. Is Saul also among the prophets? This second occasion reinforced the first (see 10:11 and note). Its repetition underscores how alien Saul's spirit was from that of these zealous servants of the Lord.

fiding in me. Why would he hide this from me? It's not so!"

3But David took an oath[q] and said, "Your father knows very well that I have found favor in your eyes, and he has said to himself, 'Jonathan must not know this or he will be grieved.' Yet as surely as the LORD lives and as you live, there is only a step between me and death."

4Jonathan said to David, "Whatever you want me to do, I'll do for you."

5So David said, "Look, tomorrow is the New Moon festival,[r] and I am supposed to dine with the king; but let me go and hide[s] in the field until the evening of the day after tomorrow. 6If your father misses me at all, tell him, 'David earnestly asked my permission[t] to hurry to Bethlehem,[u] his hometown, because an annual[v] sacrifice is being made there for his whole clan.' 7If he says, 'Very well,' then your servant is safe. But if he loses his temper,[w] you can be sure that he is determined[x] to harm me. 8As for you, show kindness to your servant, for you have brought him into a covenant[y] with you before the LORD. If I am guilty, then kill[z] me yourself! Why hand me over to your father?"

9"Never!" Jonathan said. "If I had the least inkling that my father was determined to harm you, wouldn't I tell you?"

10David asked, "Who will tell me if your father answers you harshly?"

11"Come," Jonathan said, "let's go out into the field." So they went there together.

12Then Jonathan said to David: "By the LORD, the God of Israel, I will surely sound[a] out my father by this time the day after tomorrow! If he is favorably disposed toward you, will I not send you word and let you know? 13But if my father is inclined to harm you, may the LORD deal with me, be it ever so severely,[b] if I do not let you know and send you away safely. May the LORD be with[c] you as he has been with my father. 14But show me unfailing kindness[d] like that of the LORD as long as I live, so that I may not be killed, 15and do not ever cut off your kindness from my family[e]—not

20:5 New Moon festival. Each month of the year was consecrated to the Lord by the bringing of special sacrifices (Nu 28:11–15) and the blowing of trumpets (Nu 10:10; Ps 81:3). This observance also involved cessation from normal work, especially at the beginning of the seventh month (Lev 23:24–25; Nu 29:1–6; 2Ki 4:23; Isa 1:13; Am 8:5).

20:6 annual sacrifice. David's statement indicates that it was customary for families to observe the New Moon festival together once in the year. There is no other reference in the OT to this practice.

20:8 covenant. See note on 18:3.

20:11 let's go out into the field. Jonathan acted to save David. Cain had said the same to Abel, but in order to kill him (Ge 4:8; but see NIV text note there).

20:13 may the LORD deal with me, be it ever so severely. A common curse formula (see note on 3:17). May the LORD be with you as he has been with my father. A clear indication that Jonathan expects David to become king.

20:14 that I may not be killed. It was quite common in the ancient world for the first ruler of a new dynasty to secure his position by murdering all potential claimants to the throne from the preceding dynasty (see 1Ki 15:29; 16:11; 2Ki 10:7; 11:1).

20:15 your kindness from my family. This request was based on the covenant previously concluded between Jonathan and David (see note on 18:3) and was subsequently honored in David's dealings with Jonathan's son Mephiboeven when the LORD has cut off every one of David's enemies from the face of the earth."

16So Jonathan[f] made a covenant[g] with the house of David, saying, "May the LORD call David's enemies to account.[h]" 17And Jonathan had David reaffirm his oath[i] out of love for him, because he loved him as he loved himself.

18Then Jonathan said to David: "Tomorrow is the New Moon festival. You will be missed, because your seat will be empty.[j] 19The day after tomorrow, toward evening, go to the place where you hid[k] when this trouble began, and wait by the stone Ezel. 20I will shoot three arrows[l] to the side of it, as though I were shooting at a target. 21Then I will send a boy and say, 'Go, find the arrows.' If I say to him, 'Look, the arrows are on this side of you; bring them here,' then come, because, as surely as the LORD lives, you are safe; there is no danger. 22But if I say to the boy, 'Look, the arrows are beyond[m] you,' then you must go, because the LORD has sent you away. 23And about the matter you and I discussed—remember, the LORD is witness[n] between you and me forever."

24So David hid in the field, and when the New Moon festival[o] came, the king sat down to eat. 25He sat in his customary place by the wall, opposite Jonathan,[v] and Abner sat next to Saul, but David's place was empty.[p] 26Saul said nothing that day, for he thought, "Something must have happened to David to make him ceremonially unclean—surely he is unclean.[q]" 27But the next day, the second day of the month, David's place was empty again. Then Saul said to his son Jonathan, "Why hasn't the son of Jesse come to the meal, either yesterday or today?"

28Jonathan answered, "David earnestly asked me for permission[r] to go to Bethlehem. 29He said, 'Let me go, because our family is observing a sacrifice[s] in the town and my brother has ordered me to be there. If I have found favor in your eyes, let me get away to see my brothers.' That is why he has not come to the king's table."

30Saul's anger flared up at Jonathan and he said to him, "You son of a perverse and rebellious woman! Don't I know that you have sided with the son of Jesse to your own shame and to the shame of the mother who bore you? 31As long as the son of Jesse lives on this earth, neither you nor your kingdom[t] will be established. Now send and bring him to me, for he must die!"

32"Why[u] should he be put to death? What[v] has he done?" Jonathan asked his father. 33But Saul hurled his spear at him to kill him. Then Jonathan knew that his father intended[w] to kill David.

34Jonathan got up from the table in fierce anger; on that second day of the month he did not eat, because he was grieved at his father's shameful treatment of David.

35In the morning Jonathan went out to the field for his meeting with David. He had a small boy with him, 36and he said to the boy, "Run and find the arrows I shoot." As the boy ran, he shot an arrow beyond him. 37When the boy came to the place where Jonathan's arrow had fallen, Jonathan called out after him, "Isn't the arrow beyond[x] you?" 38Then he shouted, "Hurry! Go quickly! Don't stop!" The boy picked up the arrow and returned to his master. 39(The boy knew nothing of all this; only Jonathan and David knew.) 40Then Jonathan gave his weapons to the boy and said, "Go, carry them back to town."

41After the boy had gone, David got up from the south side ⌊of the stone⌋ and bowed down before Jonathan three times, with his face to the ground.[y] Then they kissed each other and wept together—but David wept the most.

42Jonathan said to David, "Go in peace,[z] for we have sworn friendship[a] with each other in the name of the LORD,[b] saying, 'The LORD is witness[c] between you and me, and between your descendants and my descendants forever.[d]' " Then David left, and Jonathan went back to the town.

David at Nob

21 David went to Nob,[e] to Ahimelech the priest. Ahimelech trembled[f] when he met him, and asked, "Why are you alone? Why is no one with you?"

[2]David answered Ahimelech the priest, "The king charged me with a certain matter and said to me, 'No one is to know anything about your mission and your instructions.' As for my men, I have told them to meet me at a certain place. [3]Now then, what do you have on hand? Give me five loaves of bread, or whatever you can find."

[4]But the priest answered David, "I don't have any ordinary bread[g] on hand; however, there is some consecrated[h] bread here—provided the men have kept[i] themselves from women."

[5]David replied, "Indeed women have been kept from us, as usual[j] whenever[w] I set out. The men's things[x] are holy[k] even on missions that are not holy. How much more so today!" [6]So the priest gave him the consecrated bread,[l] since there was no bread there except the bread of the Presence that had been removed from before the LORD and replaced by hot bread on the day it was taken away.

[7]Now one of Saul's servants was there that day, detained before the LORD; he was Doeg[m] the Edomite,[n] Saul's head shepherd.

[8]David asked Ahimelech, "Don't you have a spear or a sword here? I haven't brought my sword or any other weapon, because the king's business was urgent."

[9]The priest replied, "The sword[o] of Goliath[p] the Philistine, whom you killed in the Valley of Elah,[q] is here; it is wrapped in a cloth behind the ephod. If you want it, take it; there is no sword here but that one."

David said, "There is none like it; give it to me."

David at Gath

[10]That day David fled from Saul and went[r] to Achish king of Gath. [11]But the servants of Achish said to him, "Isn't this David, the king of the land? Isn't he the one they sing about in their dances:

" 'Saul has slain his thousands,
and David his tens of thousands'?"[s]

[12]David took these words to heart and was very much afraid of Achish king of Gath. [13]So he pretended to be insane[t] in their presence; and while he was in their hands he acted like a madman, making marks on the doors of the gate and letting saliva run down his beard.

[14]Achish said to his servants, "Look at the man! He is insane! Why bring him to me? [15]Am I so short of madmen that you have to bring this fellow here to carry on like this in front of me? Must this man come into my house?"

David at Adullam and Mizpah

22 David left Gath and escaped to the cave[u] of Adullam.[v] When his brothers and his father's household heard about it, they went down to him there. [2]All those who were in distress or in debt or discontented gathered[w] around him, and he became their leader.

21:1 Nob. A town northeast of Jerusalem and south of Gibeah where the tabernacle was relocated after the destruction of Shiloh (4:2–3; Jer 7:12). Although it appears that no attempt was made to bring the ark to this sanctuary (see note on 7:1), Ahimelech the high priest, 85 other priests (22:17–18), the ephod (v. 9) and the table of consecrated bread (v. 6) are mentioned in connection with it. Ahimelech the priest. See note on 14:3. It appears from 22:10,15 that David's purpose in coming to Nob was to seek the Lord's guidance by means of the Urim and Thummim (see notes on 2:28; Ex 28:30).

21:2 It is not clear why David resorts to deception in his response to Ahimelech. Perhaps it was an attempt to protect Ahimelech from the charge of involvement in David's escape from Saul. If so, his strategy was not successful (see 22:13–18).

21:4 consecrated bread. The "bread of the Presence" (see v. 6; Ex 25:30), which was placed in the Holy Place in the tabernacle and later in the temple as a thank offering to the Lord, symbolizing his provision of daily bread. provided the men have kept themselves from women. Although the bread was to be eaten only by the priests (see Lev 24:9), Ahimelech agreed to give it to David and his men on the condition that they were ceremonially clean (see Ex 19:15; Lev 15:18). Jesus uses this incident to illustrate the principle that the ceremonial law was not to be viewed in a legalistic manner (see Mt 12:3–4). He also teaches that it is always lawful to do good and to save life (see Lk 6:9). Such compassionate acts are within the true spirit of the law.

21:9 sword of Goliath. See note on 17:54. ephod. See note on 2:28.

21:10 Achish. See note on Ps 34 title. Gath. One of the five major towns of the Philistines (Jos 13:3).

21:11 king of the land. The designation of David as "king" by the Philistines may be understood as a popular exaggeration expressing an awareness of the enormous success and popularity of David among the Israelite people.

22:1 cave of Adullam. See 2Sa 23:13; Ge 38:1; Jos 12:15; 15:35; 1Ch 11:15 and note on Ps 142 title.

22:2 four hundred men were with him. David, officially an outlaw, was joined by others in similar circumstances, so that he began to develop the power base that would sustain him throughout his later years as king.

About four hundred men were with him.

3From there David went to Mizpah in Moab and said to the king of Moab, "Would you let my father and mother come and stay with you until I learn what God will do for me?" 4So he left them with the king of Moab,[x] and they stayed with him as long as David was in the stronghold.

5But the prophet Gad[y] said to David, "Do not stay in the stronghold. Go into the land of Judah." So David left and went to the forest of Hereth.[z]

Saul Kills the Priests of Nob

6Now Saul heard that David and his men had been discovered. And Saul, spear in hand, was seated[a] under the tamarisk[b] tree on the hill at Gibeah, with all his officials standing around him. 7Saul said to them, "Listen, men of Benjamin! Will the son of Jesse give all of you fields and vineyards? Will he make all of you commanders[c] of thousands and commanders of hundreds? 8Is that why you have all conspired[d] against me? No one tells me when my son makes a covenant[e] with the son of Jesse.[f] None of you is concerned[g] about me or tells me that my son has incited my servant to lie in wait for me, as he does today."

9But Doeg[h] the Edomite, who was standing with Saul's officials, said, "I saw the son of Jesse come to Ahimelech son of Ahitub[i] at Nob.[j] 10Ahimelech inquired[k] of the LORD for him; he also gave him provisions[l] and the sword[m] of Goliath the Philistine."

11Then the king sent for the priest Ahimelech son of Ahitub and his father's whole family, who were the priests at Nob, and they all came to the king. 12Saul said, "Listen now, son of Ahitub."

"Yes, my lord," he answered.

13Saul said to him, "Why have you conspired[n] against me, you and the son of Jesse, giving him bread and a sword and inquiring of God for him, so that he has rebelled against me and lies in wait for me, as he does today?"

14Ahimelech answered the king, "Who[o] of all your servants is as loyal as David, the king's son-in-law, captain of your bodyguard and highly respected in your household? 15Was that day the first time I inquired of God for him? Of course not! Let not the king accuse your servant or any of his father's family, for your servant knows nothing at all about this whole affair."

16But the king said, "You will surely die, Ahimelech, you and your father's whole family.[p]"

17Then the king ordered the guards at his side: "Turn and kill the priests of the LORD, because they too have sided with David. They knew he was fleeing, yet they did not tell me."

But the king's officials were not willing[q] to raise a hand to strike the priests of the LORD.

18The king then ordered Doeg, "You turn and strike down the priests."[r] So Doeg the Edomite turned and struck them down. That day he killed eighty-five men who wore the linen ephod.[s] 19He also put to the sword[t] Nob,[u] the town of the priests, with its men and women, its children and infants, and its cattle, donkeys and sheep.

20But Abiathar,[v] a son of Ahimelech son of Ahitub,[w] escaped and fled to join David.[x] 21He told David that Saul had killed the priests of the LORD. 22Then David said to Abiathar: "That day, when Doeg[y] the Edomite was there, I knew he would be sure to tell Saul. I am re-

22:3 Mizpah in Moab. Precise location unknown. let my father and mother come and stay with you. The king of Moab was a natural ally for David because Saul had warred against him (see 14:47) and David's own great-grandmother was a Moabitess (see Ru 4:13,22).

22:4 stronghold. Perhaps a specific fortress, but more likely a reference to a geographical area in which it was easy to hide (see 23:14; 2Sa 5:17; 23:14).

22:5 prophet Gad. The king-designate is now served also by a prophet. Later a priest would come to him (v. 20) and complete the basic elements of a royal entourage—and they were all refugees from Saul's administration. This is the first appearance of the prophet who later assisted David in musical arrangements for the temple services (see 2Ch 29:25), wrote a history of David's reign (see 1Ch 29:29) and confronted David with the Lord's rebuke for his sin of numbering the Israelites (see 2Sa 24:11–25). forest of Hereth. Located in the tribal area of Judah.

22:6 tamarisk tree. See note on 14:2. Gibeah. See note on 10:5.

22:7 men of Benjamin. Saul, a Benjamite (9:1–2; 10:21), seeks to strengthen his position with his own officials by emphasizing tribal loyalty. David was from the tribe of Judah (see note on 16:1; 2Sa 2:4). give all of you fields and vineyards? Saul does exactly what Samuel had warned him that he would do—become like the kings of other nations (see 8:14). His actions are contrary to the covenantal ideal for kingship (see notes on 8:7; 10:25). commanders of thousands and of hundreds. See 8:12.

22:10 Ahimelech inquired of the LORD for him. See note on 21:1.

22:17 They knew he was fleeing. How much the priests really knew is not clear. David himself had not told them (see 21:2–3,8).

22:18 linen ephod. See note on 2:18.

22:19 put to the sword Nob. Thus the prophecy of judgment against the house of Eli is fulfilled (see 2:31).

22:20 Abiathar ... escaped and fled to join David. See note on v. 5. Abiathar brought the high priestly ephod with him (see 23:6) and subsequently "inquired of the LORD" for David (see 23:2 and note; see also 23:4,9; 30:7–8; 2Sa 2:1; 5:19,23). He served as high priest until removed from office by Solomon for participating in the rebellion of Adonijah (see 1Ki 2:26–27).

sponsible for the death of your father's whole family. 23Stay with me; don't be afraid; the man who is seeking your life[z] is seeking mine also. You will be safe with me."

David Saves Keilah

23 When David was told, "Look, the Philistines are fighting against Keilah[a] and are looting the threshing floors,"[b] 2he inquired[c] of the LORD, saying, "Shall I go and attack these Philistines?"

The LORD answered him, "Go, attack the Philistines and save Keilah."

3But David's men said to him, "Here in Judah we are afraid. How much more, then, if we go to Keilah against the Philistine forces!"

4Once again David inquired[d] of the LORD, and the LORD answered him, "Go down to Keilah, for I am going to give the Philistines[e] into your hand.[f]" 5So David and his men went to Keilah, fought the Philistines and carried off their livestock. He inflicted heavy losses on the Philistines and saved the people of Keilah. 6(Now Abiathar[g] son of Ahimelech had brought the ephod[h] down with him when he fled to David at Keilah.)

Saul Pursues David

7Saul was told that David had gone to Keilah, and he said, "God has handed him over[i] to me, for David has imprisoned himself by entering a town with gates and bars."[j] 8And Saul called up all his forces for battle, to go down to Keilah to besiege David and his men.

9When David learned that Saul was plotting against him, he said to Abiathar[k] the priest, "Bring the ephod.[l]" 10David said, "O LORD, God of Israel, your servant has heard definitely that Saul plans to come to Keilah and destroy the town on account of me. 11Will the citizens of Keilah surrender me to him? Will Saul come down, as your servant has heard? O LORD, God of Israel, tell your servant."

And the LORD said, "He will."

12Again David asked, "Will the citizens of Keilah surrender[m] me and my men to Saul?"

And the LORD said, "They will."

13So David and his men,[n] about six hundred in number, left Keilah and kept moving from place to place. When Saul was told that David had escaped from Keilah, he did not go there.

14David stayed in the desert[o] strongholds and in the hills of the Desert of Ziph.[p] Day after day Saul searched[q] for him, but God did not[r] give David into his hands.

15While David was at Horesh in the Desert of Ziph, he learned that Saul had come out to take his life.[s] 16And Saul's son Jonathan went to David at Horesh and helped him find strength[t] in God. 17"Don't be afraid," he said. "My father Saul will not lay a hand on you. You will be king[u] over Israel, and I will be second to you. Even my father Saul knows this." 18The two of them made a covenant[v] before the LORD. Then Jonathan went home, but David remained at Horesh.

19The Ziphites[w] went up to Saul at Gibeah and said, "Is not David hiding among us[x] in the strongholds at Horesh, on the hill of Hakilah,[y] south of Jeshimon? 20Now, O king, come down whenever it pleases you to do so, and we will be responsible for handing[z] him over to the king."

21Saul replied, "The LORD bless[a] you for your concern[b] for me. 22Go and make further preparation. Find out where David usually goes and who has seen him there. They tell me he is very crafty. 23Find out about all the hiding places he uses and come back to me with definite information.[y] Then I will go with you; if he is in the area, I will track[c] him down among all the clans of Judah."

24So they set out and went to Ziph ahead of Saul. Now David and his men were in the Desert of Maon,[d] in the Arabah south of Jeshimon.[e] 25Saul and his men began the search, and when David was told about it, he went down to the rock and stayed in the Desert of Maon. When Saul heard this, he went into the Desert of Maon in pursuit of David.

26Saul[f] was going along one side of the mountain, and David and his men were on the other side, hurrying to get away from Saul. As Saul and his forces were closing in on David and his men to capture them, [27]a messenger came to Saul, saying, "Come quickly! The Philistines are raiding the land." [28]Then Saul broke off his pursuit of David and went to meet the Philistines. That is why they call this place Sela Hammahlekoth.[z] [29]And David went up from there and lived in the strongholds[g] of En Gedi.[h]

23:17 You will be king over Israel. See notes on 18:4; 20:13,16,31. I will be second to you. Jonathan's love and respect for David enable him to accept a role subordinate to David without any sign of resentment or jealousy (see notes on 18:3; 19:4). This is the last recorded meeting between Jonathan and David. Saul knows this. See 18:8 and note on 20:31.

David Spares Saul's Life

24 After Saul returned from pursuing the Philistines, he was told, "David is in the Desert of En Gedi.[i]" [2]So Saul took three thousand chosen men from all Israel and set out to look[j] for David and his men near the Crags of the Wild Goats.

[3]He came to the sheep pens along the way; a cave[k] was there, and Saul went in to relieve[l] himself. David and his men were far back in the cave. [4]The men said, "This is the day the LORD spoke[m] of when he said[a] to you, 'I will give your enemy into your hands for you to deal with as you wish.' "[n] Then David crept up unnoticed and cut[o] off a corner of Saul's robe.

[5]Afterward, David was conscience-stricken[p] for having cut off a corner of his robe. [6]He said to his men, "The LORD forbid that I should do such a thing to my master, the LORD's anointed,[q] or lift my hand against him; for he is the anointed of the LORD." [7]With these words David rebuked his men and did not allow them to attack Saul. And Saul left the cave and went his way.

[8]Then David went out of the cave and called out to Saul, "My lord the king!" When Saul looked behind him, David bowed down and prostrated himself with his face to the ground.[r] [9]He said to Saul, "Why do you listen[s] when men say, 'David is bent on harming[t] you'? [10]This day you have seen with your own eyes how the LORD delivered you into my hands in the cave. Some urged me to kill you, but I spared[u] you; I said, 'I will not lift my hand against my master, because he is the LORD's anointed.' [11]See, my father, look at this piece of your robe in my hand! I cut[v] off the corner of your robe but did not kill you. Now understand and recognize that I am not guilty[w] of wrongdoing[x] or rebellion. I have not wronged[y] you, but you are hunting[z] me down to take my life.[a] [12]May the LORD judge[b] between you and me. And may the LORD avenge[c] the wrongs you have done to me, but my hand will not touch you. [13]As the old saying goes, 'From evildoers come evil deeds,[d]' so my hand will not touch you.

[14]"Against whom has the king of Israel come out? Whom are you pursuing? A dead dog?[e] A flea?[f] [15]May the LORD be our judge[g] and decide[h] between us. May he consider my cause and uphold[i] it; may he vindicate[j] me by delivering[k] me from your hand."

[16]When David finished saying this, Saul asked, "Is that your voice,[l] David my son?" And he wept aloud. [17]"You are more righteous than I,"[m] he said. "You have treated me well,[n] but I have treated you badly.[o] [18]You have just now told me of the good you did to me; the LORD delivered[p] me into your hands, but you did not kill me. [19]When a man finds his enemy, does he let him get away unharmed? May the LORD reward[q] you well for the way you treated me today. [20]I know that you will surely be king[r] and that the kingdom[s] of Israel will be established in your hands. [21]Now swear[t] to me by the LORD that you will not cut off my descendants or wipe out my name from my father's family.[u]"

[22]So David gave his oath to Saul. Then Saul returned home, but David and his men went up to the stronghold.[v]

24:4 This is the day the LORD spoke of when he said. There is no previous record of the divine revelation here alluded to by David's men. Perhaps this was their own interpretation of the anointing of David to replace Saul (see 16:13–14), or of assurances given to David that he would survive Saul's vendetta against him and ultimately become king (see 20:14–15; 23:17). If the alternative given in the NIV text note is taken, the reference would not be to a verbal communication from the Lord but to the providential nature of the incident itself, which David's men understood as a revelation from God that David should not ignore.

24:6 for he is the anointed of the LORD. Because Saul's royal office carried divine sanction by virtue of his anointing (see note on 9:16), David is determined not to wrest the kingship from Saul but to leave its disposition to the Lord who gave it (see vv. 12,15; 26:10).

24:11 my father. Saul was David's father-in-law (see 18:27).

24:16 he wept aloud. Saul experiences temporary remorse (see 26:21) for his actions against David but quickly reverts to his former determination to kill him (see 26:2).

24:22 stronghold. An inaccessible place (see note on 22:4). From previous experience David did not place any confidence in Saul's words of repentance.

25:1 all Israel ... mourned for him. Samuel was recognized as a leader of national prominence who played a key role in the restructuring of the theocracy with the establishment of the monarchy (see chs. 8–12). The loss of his leadership was mourned much like that of other prominent him; and they buried him at his home in Ramah.[y]

Then David moved down into the Desert of Maon.[b] 2A certain man in Maon,[z] who had property there at Carmel, was very wealthy.[a] He had a thousand goats and three thousand sheep, which he was shearing[b] in Carmel. 3His name was Nabal and his wife's name was Abigail.[c] She was an intelligent and beautiful woman, but her husband, a Calebite,[d] was surly and mean in his dealings.

4While David was in the desert, he heard that Nabal was shearing sheep. 5So he sent ten young men and said to them, "Go up to Nabal at Carmel and greet him in my name. 6Say to him: 'Long life to you! Good health[e] to you and your household! And good health to all that is yours![f]

7" 'Now I hear that it is sheep-shearing time. When your shepherds were with us, we did not mistreat[g] them, and the whole time they were at Carmel nothing of theirs was missing. 8Ask your own servants and they will tell you. Therefore be favorable toward my young men, since we come at a festive time. Please give your servants and your son David whatever[h] you can find for them.' "

9When David's men arrived, they gave Nabal this message in David's name. Then they waited.

10Nabal answered David's servants, "Who[i] is this David? Who is this son of Jesse? Many servants are breaking away from their masters these days. 11Why should I take my bread[j] and water, and the meat I have slaughtered for my shearers, and give it to men coming from who knows where?"

12David's men turned around and went back. When they arrived, they reported every word. 13David said to his men[k], "Put on your swords!" So they put on their swords, and David put on his. About four hundred men went[l] up with David, while two hundred stayed with the supplies.[m]

14One of the servants told Nabal's wife Abigail: "David sent messengers from the desert to give our master his greetings,[n] but he hurled insults at them. 15Yet these men were very good to us. They did not mistreat[o] us, and the whole time we were out in the fields near them nothing was missing.[p] 16Night and day they were a wall[q] around us all the time we were herding our sheep near them. 17Now think it over and see what you can do, because disaster is hanging over our master and his whole household. He is such a wicked[r] man that no one can talk to him."

18Abigail lost no time. She took two hundred loaves of bread, two skins of wine, five dressed sheep, five seahs[c] of roasted grain,[s] a hundred cakes of raisins[t] and two hundred cakes of pressed figs, and loaded them on donkeys.[u] 19Then she told her servants, "Go on ahead;[v] I'll follow you." But she did not tell[w] her husband Nabal.

20As she came riding her donkey into a mountain ravine, there were David and his men descending toward her, and she met them. 21David had just said, "It's been useless—all my watching over this fellow's property in the desert so that nothing of his was missing.[x] He has figures in Israel's past history, including Jacob (Ge 50:10), Aaron (Nu 20:29) and Moses (Dt 34:8). Ramah. See 7:17 and note on 1:1.

25:2–44 Nabal, the "fool" (see v. 25), lived near Carmel, where Saul had erected a monument in his own honor (see 15:12) and had committed the act that led to his rejection (see 15:26). The account of Nabal effectively serves the author's purpose in a number of ways: 1. Nabal's general character, his disdainful attitude toward David though David had guarded his flocks, and his sudden death at the Lord's hand all parallel Saul (whose "flock" David had also protected). This allows the author indirectly to characterize Saul as a fool (see 13:13; 26:21) and to foreshadow his end. 2. David's vengeful attitude toward Nabal displays his natural tendency and highlights his restraint toward Saul, the Lord's anointed (this event is sandwiched between the two instances in which David spared Saul in spite of the urging of his men). 3. Abigail's prudent action prevents David from using his power as leader for personal vengeance (the very thing Saul was doing). In this way the Lord (who avenged his servant) keeps David's sword clean, teaching him a lesson he does not forget. 4. Abigail's confident acknowledgment of David's future accession to the throne foreshadows that event and even anticipates the Lord's commitment to establish David's house as a "lasting dynasty" (v. 28; cf. 2Sa 7:11–16). 5. Abigail's marriage to David provides him with a wise and worthy wife, while Saul gives away David's wife Michal to another, illustrating how the Lord counters every move Saul makes against David.

25:3 Calebite. A descendant of Caleb (see Nu 14:24), who settled at Hebron (see Jos 14:13) after the conquest of Canaan. Since Caleb's name can mean "dog," Nabal is subtly depicted as a dog as well as a fool. He would soon be a dead dog (see note on 2Sa 9:8), when the Lord would avenge his acts of contempt toward David. The hint is strong that, when the Lord avenges Saul's sins against David (see 24:12,15), the king will no longer pursue a dead dog (see 24:14) but will himself become one—a case of biting irony.

25:4 shearing sheep. A festive occasion (see v. 8; 2Sa 13:23–24).

25:8 whatever you can find for them. David and his men ask for some remuneration for their protection of Nabal's shepherds and flocks against pillage (see vv. 15–16,21).

25:17 wicked man. See note on Dt 13:13. no one can talk to him. In this way, too, Nabal is like Saul (cf., e.g., 20:27–33).

25:19 did not tell her husband. Cf. Michal's treatment of Saul (19:11–14).

paid[v] me back evil[z] for good. 22May God deal with David,[d] be it ever so severely,[a] if by morning I leave alive one male[b] of all who belong to him!"

23When Abigail saw David, she quickly got off her donkey and bowed down before David with her face to the ground.[c] 24She fell at his feet and said: "My lord, let the blame[d] be on me alone. Please let your servant speak to you; hear what your servant has to say. 25May my lord pay no attention to that wicked man Nabal. He is just like his name—his name is Fool[e],[f] and folly goes with him. But as for me, your servant, I did not see the men my master sent.

26"Now since the LORD has kept you, my master, from bloodshed[g] and from avenging[h] yourself with your own hands, as surely as the LORD lives and as you live, may your enemies and all who intend to harm my master be like Nabal.[i] 27And let this gift,[j] which your servant has brought to my master, be given to the men who follow you. 28Please forgive[k] your servant's offense, for the LORD will certainly make a lasting[l] dynasty for my master, because he fights the LORD's battles.[m] Let no wrongdoing[n] be found in you as long as you live. 29Even though someone is pursuing you to take your life,[o] the life of my master will be bound securely in the bundle of the living by the LORD your God. But the lives of your enemies he will hurl[p] away as from the pocket of a sling.[q] 30When the LORD has done for my master every good thing he promised concerning him and has appointed him leader[r] over Israel, 31my master will not have on his conscience the staggering burden of needless bloodshed or of having avenged himself. And when the LORD has brought my master success, remember[s] your servant."[t]

32David said to Abigail, "Praise[u] be to the LORD, the God of Israel, who has sent you today to meet me. 33May you be blessed for your good judgment and for keeping me from bloodshed[v] this day and from avenging myself with my own hands. 34Otherwise, as surely as the LORD, the God of Israel, lives, who has kept me from harming you, if you had not come quickly to meet me, not one male belonging to Nabal[w] would have been left alive by daybreak."

35Then David accepted from her hand what she had brought him and said, "Go home in peace. I have heard your words and granted[x] your request."

36When Abigail went to Nabal, he was in the house holding a banquet like that of a king. He was in high[y] spirits and very drunk.[z] So she told[a] him nothing until daybreak. 37Then in the morning, when Nabal was sober, his wife told him all these things, and his heart failed him and he became like a stone.[b] 38About ten days later, the LORD struck[c] Nabal and he died.

39When David heard that Nabal was dead, he said, "Praise be to the LORD, who has upheld my cause against Nabal for treating me with contempt. He has kept his servant from doing wrong and has brought Nabal's wrongdoing down on his own head."

Then David sent word to Abigail, asking her to become his wife. 40His servants went to Carmel and said to Abigail, "David has sent us to you to take you to become his wife."

41She bowed down with her face to the ground and said, "Here is your maidservant, ready to serve you and wash the feet of my master's servants." 42Abigail[d] quickly got on a donkey and, attended by her five maids, went with David's messengers and became his wife. 43David

25:22 May God deal with David, be it ever so severely. See note on 3:17. David invokes a curse on himself if he should fail to kill every male in Nabal's household and so obliterate Nabal's family.

25:25 wicked man. See note on Dt 13:13. He is just like his name. In ancient times a person's name was believed to reflect his nature and character. his name is Fool. In Hebrew the name Nabal means "fool."

25:26 as surely as the LORD lives. See note on 14:39.

25:28 the LORD will certainly make a lasting dynasty. While the idea that David was destined to become king in place of Saul may have spread among the general populace, Abigail's assessment of David contrasts sharply with that of her husband (see v. 10). he fights the LORD's battles. Abigail is familiar with David's victories over the Philistines, in which he sought to glorify the Lord rather than advance his own honor (see 17:26,45–47; 18:16–17). Let no wrongdoing be found in you. Abigail shows concern for the preservation of David's integrity in view of the office he was later to assume (see vv. 30–31,39).

25:29 bound securely in the bundle of the living. Using the figure of placing a valuable possession in a carefully wrapped package for safekeeping, Abigail assures David that the Lord will preserve his life in the midst of danger.

25:30 leader. See note on 9:16.

25:31 needless bloodshed. See note on v. 28.

25:32 who has sent you. David recognizes the providential leading of the Lord in his encounter with Abigail (see v. 39).

25:36 holding a banquet. See Pr 30:21–22. like that of a king. Another clue that the author is using Nabal as a subtle portrayal of Saul.

25:37 became like a stone. Perhaps he suffered a stroke—he who was without moral sensitivity (was a nabal; see v. 25 and note) became as senseless as a stone.

25:43 Ahinoam. David's first wife (see 27:3; 30:5; 2Sa 2:2) and mother of his first son, Amnon (see 2Sa 3:2). Jezreel. Located near Carmel (see v. 2; Jos 15:55) and not to be confused with the northern town of the same name, where Israel camped against the Philistines (see 29:1,11) and had also married Ahinoam[e] of Jezreel, and they both were his wives.[f] [44]But Saul had given his daughter Michal, David's wife, to Paltiel[eg] son of Laish, who was from Gallim.[h]

David Again Spares Saul's Life

26 The Ziphites[i] went to Saul at Gibeah and said, "Is not David hiding[j] on the hill of Hakilah, which faces Jeshimon?[k]"

[2]So Saul went down to the Desert of Ziph, with his three thousand chosen men of Israel, to search[l] there for David. [3]Saul made his camp beside the road on the hill of Hakilah[m] facing Jeshimon, but David stayed in the desert. When he saw that Saul had followed him there, [4]he sent out scouts and learned that Saul had definitely arrived.[f]

[5]Then David set out and went to the place where Saul had camped. He saw where Saul and Abner[n] son of Ner, the commander of the army, had lain down. Saul was lying inside the camp, with the army encamped around him.

[6]David then asked Ahimelech the Hittite[o] and Abishai[p] son of Zeruiah,[q] Joab's brother, "Who will go down into the camp with me to Saul?"

"I'll go with you," said Abishai.

[7]So David and Abishai went to the army by night, and there was Saul, lying asleep inside the camp with his spear stuck in the ground near his head. Abner and the soldiers were lying around him.

[8]Abishai said to David, "Today God has delivered your enemy into your hands. Now let me pin him to the ground with one thrust of my spear; I won't strike him twice."

[9]But David said to Abishai, "Don't destroy him! Who can lay a hand on the LORD's anointed[r] and be guiltless?[s] [10]As surely as the LORD lives," he said, "the LORD himself will strike[t] him; either his time[u] will come and he will die,[v] or he will go into battle and perish. [11]But the LORD forbid that I should lay a hand on the LORD's anointed. Now get the spear and water jug that are near his head, and let's go."

[12]So David took the spear and water jug near Saul's head, and they left. No one saw or knew about it, nor did anyone wake up. They were all sleeping, because the LORD had put them into a deep sleep.[w]

[13]Then David crossed over to the other side and stood on top of the hill some distance away; there was a wide space between them. [14]He called out to the army and to Abner son of Ner, "Aren't you going to answer me, Abner?"

Abner replied, "Who are you who calls to the king?"

[15]David said, "You're a man, aren't you? And who is like you in Israel? Why didn't you guard your lord the king? Someone came to destroy your lord the king. [16]What you have done is not good. As surely as the LORD lives, you and your men deserve to die, because you did not guard your master, the LORD's anointed. Look around you. Where are the king's spear and water jug that were near his head?"

[17]Saul recognized David's voice and said, "Is that your voice,[x] David my son?"

David replied, "Yes it is, my lord the king." [18]And he added, "Why is my lord pursuing his servant? What have I done, and what wrong[y] am I guilty of? [19]Now let my lord the king listen[z] to his servant's words. If the LORD has incited you against me, then may he accept an offering.[a] If, however, men have done it, may they be cursed before the LORD! They have now driven me from my share in the LORD's inheritance[b] and have said, 'Go, serve other gods.'[c] [20]Now do not

26:6 Ahimelech the Hittite. Not referred to elsewhere. Hittites had long resided in Canaan (see note on Ge 10:15; see also Ge 15:20; 23:3–20; Dt 7:1; 20:17). Another Hittite in David's service was Uriah (see 2Sa 11:3; 23:39). Abishai son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother. Zeruiah was an older sister of David (1Ch 2:16), so Abishai and Joab (and their brother Asahel, 2Sa 2:18) were David's nephews as well as trusted military leaders. Joab would long serve as the commander of his army.

26:9 See note on 24:6.

26:10 As surely as the LORD lives. See note on 14:39.

26:12 David took the spear and water jug. In this way he sought to prove again to Saul that he did not seek his life.

26:19 may he accept an offering. David knows no reason why God should be angry with him; but if for some reason God is behind Saul's determined effort to kill him, David appeals for God to accept an offering of appeasement (cf. 16:5)—in any event, to let the matter be settled between David and God, without Saul's involvement. may they be cursed before the LORD! David commits any such men to the judgment of God. the LORD's inheritance. See note on 10:1. David appeals to Saul's conscience by describing his present exclusion from the fellowship of God's people and from living at peace in the Lord's land. Go, serve other gods. In their view, to be expelled from the Lord's land was to be separated from the Lord's sanctuary (an OT form of excommunication) and left to serve the gods of whatever land one may settle in (see Jos 22:24–27).

26:20 look for a flea. See 24:14. David suggests that Saul let my blood[d] fall to the ground far from the presence of the LORD. The king of Israel has come out to look for a flea[e]—as one hunts a partridge in the mountains.[f]"

21Then Saul said, "I have sinned.[g] Come back, David my son. Because you considered my life precious[h] today, I will not try to harm you again. Surely I have acted like a fool and have erred greatly."

22"Here is the king's spear," David answered. "Let one of your young men come over and get it. 23The LORD rewards[i] every man for his righteousness[j] and faithfulness. The LORD delivered[k] you into my hands today, but I would not lay a hand on the LORD's anointed. 24As surely as I valued your life today, so may the LORD value my life and deliver[l] me from all trouble."

25Then Saul said to David, "May you be blessed,[m] my son David; you will do great things and surely triumph."

So David went on his way, and Saul returned home.

David Among the Philistines

27 But David thought to himself, "One of these days I will be destroyed by the hand of Saul. The best thing I can do is to escape to the land of the Philistines. Then Saul will give up searching for me anywhere in Israel, and I will slip out of his hand."

2So David and the six hundred men[n] with him left and went[o] over to Achish[p] son of Maoch king of Gath. 3David and his men settled in Gath with Achish. Each man had his family with him, and David had his two wives:[q] Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail of Carmel, the widow of Nabal. 4When Saul was told that David had fled to Gath, he no longer searched for him.

5Then David said to Achish, "If I have found favor in your eyes, let a place be assigned to me in one of the country

In contrast to David's previous excursion into Philistia, Achish is now ready to receive him because he has become known as a formidable adversary of Saul. Moreover, to offer sanctuary under the circumstances would obligate David and his men to serve at his call in any military venture (see 28:1).

27:3 Ahinoam. See note on 25:43. Abigail. See 25:39–42.

6So on that day Achish gave him Ziklag,[r] and it has belonged to the kings of Judah ever since. 7David lived[s] in Philistine territory a year and four months.

8Now David and his men went up and raided the Geshurites,[t] the Girzites and the Amalekites.[u] (From ancient times these peoples had lived in the land extending to Shur[v] and Egypt.) 9Whenever David attacked an area, he did not leave a man or woman alive,[w] but took sheep and cattle, donkeys and camels, and clothes. Then he returned to Achish.

10When Achish asked, "Where did you go raiding today?" David would say, "Against the Negev of Judah" or "Against the Negev of Jerahmeel[x]" or "Against the Negev of the Kenites.[y]" 11He did not leave a man or woman alive to be brought to Gath, for he thought, "They might inform on us and say, 'This is what David did.' " And such was his practice as long as he lived in Philistine territory. 12Achish trusted David and said to himself, "He has become so odious[z] to his people, the Israelites, that he will be my servant forever.[a]"

Saul and the Witch of Endor

28 In those days the Philistines gathered[b] their forces to fight against Israel. Achish said to David, "You must understand that you and your men will accompany me in the army."

2David said, "Then you will see for yourself what your servant can do."

Achish replied, "Very well, I will make you my bodyguard[c] for life."

3Now Samuel was dead,[d] and all Israel had mourned for him and buried him in his own town of Ramah.[e] Saul had expelled[f] the mediums and spiritists[g] from the land.

4The Philistines assembled and came and set up camp at Shunem,[h] while Saul gathered all the Israelites and set up camp at Gilboa.[i] 5When Saul saw the Philistine army, he was afraid; terror[j] filled his heart. 6He inquired[k] of the LORD, but the LORD did not answer him by dreams[l] or Urim[m] or prophets.[n] 7Saul then said to his attendants, "Find me a woman who is a medium,[o] so I may go and inquire of her."

"There is one in Endor,[p]" they said.

Why should your servant live in the royal city with you? David implies that he is not worthy of this honor.

27:6 Ziklag. Location unknown, but it is included in a list of towns in southern Judah (see Jos 15:31). It was given to the tribe of Simeon (see Jos 19:1–5) and was presumably occupied by them (cf. Jdg 1:17–18), only to be lost to the Philistines at a later, undisclosed time. it has belonged to the kings of Judah ever since. As royal property. This comment implies that the book of Samuel was written after the time of the division of Israel into the northern and southern kingdoms—an important consideration in determining the date of the writing of the book (see Introduction: Literary Features, Authorship and Date).

27:7 David lived in Philistine territory a year and four months. It was not until after the death of Saul that David moved his residence from Ziklag (see 2Sa 1:1; 2:1–3) to Hebron.

27:8 Geshurites. A people residing in the area south of Philistia who were not defeated by the Israelites at the time of the conquest (see Jos 13:1–3) and who are to be distinguished from the Geshurites residing in the north near the upper Jordan in Aram (see 2Sa 3:3; 13:37–38; Dt 3:14; Jos 12:5). Girzites. Not mentioned elsewhere in the OT. Amalekites. See note on 15:2. Shur. See note on 15:7.

27:9 he did not leave a man or woman alive. David's reason for this is given in v. 11; his action conformed to that of Joshua in the conquest of Canaan (see, e.g., Jos 6:21 and note on Jos 6:17).

27:10 Negev of Judah. Negev in Hebrew means "dry" and designates a large area of southern Palestine from Beersheba to the highlands of the Sinai peninsula. Jerahmeel. The Jerahmeelites were descendants of Judah through Hezron (see 1Ch 2:9,25). Kenites. See note on 15:6.

27:12 Achish trusted David. David led Achish to believe that he was raiding outposts of Israelite territory when in actuality he was attacking the Geshurites, Girzites and Amalekites (see v. 8).

28:1 You must understand. In the ancient Near East, to accept sanctuary in a country involved obligations of military service (see note on 27:2).

28:2 you will see for yourself what your servant can do. Perhaps an ambiguous answer. I will make you my bodyguard. Very likely this was conditional on David's proof of his loyalty and effectiveness in the projected campaign.

28:3 Now Samuel was dead. See 25:1. Saul could not turn to him, even in desperation. expelled ... from the land. Possibly a euphemism for "put to death," in agreement with Pentateuchal law (see vv. 9,21). mediums and spiritists. See Lev 19:31; 20:6,27; Dt 18:11.

28:4 Shunem. The Philistines assembled their forces far to the north, along the plain of Jezreel in the territory of Issachar (see Jos 19:18). Gilboa. A range of mountains east of the plain of Jezreel.

28:5 terror filled his heart. Because he is estranged from the Lord and is not performing his role as the true theocratic king (see note on 17:11).

28:6 He inquired of the LORD. Presumably through the agency of a priest. Saul seems to sense disaster in the approaching battle and seeks divine revelation concerning its outcome. dreams. Direct personal revelation (see Nu 12:6 and note). Urim. Revelation through the priest (see note on 2:28). Since the authentic ephod and its Urim were with Abiathar, who was aligned with David (see 23:2,6,9), either Saul had fabricated another ephod for his use or the author used a conventional statement including the three visual forms of revelation to underscore his point. prophets. David had a prophet (Gad, 22:5), but after Samuel's alienation from Saul (15:35) no prophet served Saul.

28:7 Find me a woman who is a medium. In his desperation Saul turns to a pagan practice that he himself had previously outlawed (v. 3) in accordance with the Mosaic law (see Lev 19:26). Endor. Located about six miles northwest of Shunem (see v. 4; Jos 17:11).

men went to the woman. "Consult[r] a spirit for me," he said, "and bring up for me the one I name."

[9]But the woman said to him, "Surely you know what Saul has done. He has cut off[s] the mediums and spiritists from the land. Why have you set a trap[t] for my life to bring about my death?"

[10]Saul swore to her by the LORD, "As surely as the LORD lives, you will not be punished for this."

[11]Then the woman asked, "Whom shall I bring up for you?"

"Bring up Samuel," he said.

[12]When the woman saw Samuel, she cried out at the top of her voice and said to Saul, "Why have you deceived me?[u] You are Saul!"

[13]The king said to her, "Don't be afraid. What do you see?"

The woman said, "I see a spirit[g] coming up out of the ground."[v]

[14]"What does he look like?" he asked.

"An old man wearing a robe[w] is coming up," she said.

Then Saul knew it was Samuel, and he bowed down and prostrated himself with his face to the ground.

[15]Samuel said to Saul, "Why have you disturbed me by bringing me up?"

"I am in great distress," Saul said. "The Philistines are fighting against me, and God has turned[x] away from me. He no longer answers[y] me, either by prophets or by dreams.[z] So I have called on you to tell me what to do."

[16]Samuel said, "Why do you consult me, now that the LORD has turned away from you and become your enemy? [17]The LORD has done what he predicted through me. The LORD has torn[a] the kingdom out of your hands and given it to one of your neighbors—to David. [18]Because you did not obey[b] the LORD or carry out his fierce wrath[c] against the Amalekites,[d] the LORD has done this to you today. [19]The LORD will hand over both Israel and you to the Philistines, and tomorrow you and your sons[e] will be with me. The LORD will also hand over the army of Israel to the Philistines."

[20]Immediately Saul fell full length on the ground, filled with fear because of Samuel's words. His strength was gone, for he had eaten nothing all that day and night.

[21]When the woman came to Saul and saw that he was greatly shaken, she said, "Look, your maidservant has obeyed you. I took my life[f] in my hands and did what you told me to do. [22]Now please listen to your servant and let me give you some food so you may eat and have the strength to go on your way."

[23]He refused[g] and said, "I will not eat."

But his men joined the woman in urging him, and he listened to them. He got up from the ground and sat on the couch.

[24]The woman had a fattened calf[h] at the house, which she butchered at once. She took some flour, kneaded it and baked bread without yeast. [25]Then she set it before Saul and his men, and they ate. That same night they got up and left.

Achish Sends David Back to Ziklag

29 The Philistines gathered[i] all their forces at Aphek,[j] and Israel camped by the spring in Jezreel.[k] [2]As the Philistine rulers marched with their units of hundreds and thousands, David and his men were marching at the rear[l] with Achish. [3]The commanders of the Philistines asked, "What about these Hebrews?"

Achish replied, "Is this not David,[m] who was an officer of Saul king of Israel? He has already been with me for over a year,[n] and from the day he left Saul until now, I have found no fault in him."

28:9 Why have you set a trap for my life . . .? The woman is very cautious about practicing her trade with strangers lest she be betrayed to Saul (see note on v. 3).
28:10 As surely as the LORD lives. See note on 14:39.
28:12 When the woman saw Samuel. The episode has been understood in many different ways, among them the following: 1. God permitted the spirit of Samuel to appear to the woman. 2. The woman had contact with an evil or devilish spirit in the form of Samuel by whom she was deceived and controlled. 3. By using parapsychological powers such as telepathy or clairvoyance, the woman was able to discern Saul's thoughts and picture Samuel in her own mind. Whatever the explanation of this mysterious affair, the medium was used in some way to convey to Saul that the impending battle would bring death, would dash his hopes for a dynasty and would conclude his reign with a devastating defeat of Israel that would leave the nation at the mercy of the Philistines, the very people against whom he had struggled all his years as king. And this would come, as Samuel had previously announced (15:26,28), because of his unfaithfulness to the Lord. she cried out . . . You are Saul! By whatever means, the medium suddenly becomes aware that she is dealing with Saul.
28:14 An old man wearing a robe. Saul remembers Samuel as customarily dressed in this apparel (see 15:27).
28:21 When the woman came to Saul. This statement suggests that the woman removed herself from the direct view of Saul while she gave her oracles.
29:1 The Philistines gathered all their forces. The narrative flow broken at 28:2 is resumed. Aphek. A place in the vicinity of Shunem (28:4), to be distinguished from another place of the same name referred to in 4:1 (see 1Ki 20:26,30; 2Ki 13:17).
29:2 Philistine rulers. See note on 5:8.
29:3 I have found no fault in him. David's tactics described in 27:10–12 were highly successful.

4But the Philistine commanders were angry with him and said, "Send[o] the man back, that he may return to the place you assigned him. He must not go with us into battle, or he will turn[p] against us during the fighting. How better could he regain his master's favor than by taking the heads of our own men? 5Isn't this the David they sang about in their dances:

" 'Saul has slain his thousands,
and David his tens of thousands'?"[q]

6So Achish called David and said to him, "As surely as the LORD lives, you have been reliable, and I would be pleased to have you serve with me in the army. From the day[r] you came to me until now, I have found no fault in you, but the rulers[s] don't approve of you. 7Turn back and go in peace; do nothing to displease the Philistine rulers."

8"But what have I done?" asked David. "What have you found against your servant from the day I came to you until now? Why can't I go and fight against the enemies of my lord the king?"

9Achish answered, "I know that you have been as pleasing in my eyes as an angel[t] of God; nevertheless, the Philistine commanders[u] have said, 'He must not go up with us into battle.' 10Now get up early, along with your master's servants who have come with you, and leave[v] in the morning as soon as it is light."

11So David and his men got up early in the morning to go back to the land of the Philistines, and the Philistines went up to Jezreel.

David Destroys the Amalekites

30 David and his men reached Ziklag[w] on the third day. Now the Amalekites[x] had raided the Negev and Ziklag. They had attacked Ziklag and burned[y] it, 2and had taken captive the women and all who were in it, both young and old. They killed none of them, but carried them off as they went on their way.

3When David and his men came to Ziklag, they found it destroyed by fire and their wives and sons and daughters taken captive.[z] 4So David and his men wept[a] aloud until they had no strength left to weep. 5David's two wives[b] had been captured—Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail, the widow of Nabal of Carmel. 6David was greatly distressed because the men were talking of stoning[c] him; each one was bitter[d] in spirit because of his sons and daughters. But David found strength[e] in the LORD his God.

7Then David said to Abiathar[f] the priest, the son of Ahimelech, "Bring me the ephod.[g]" Abiathar brought it to him, 8and David inquired[h] of the LORD, "Shall I pursue this raiding party? Will I overtake them?"

"Pursue them," he answered. "You will certainly overtake them and succeed[i] in the rescue.[j]" 9David and the six hundred men[k] with him came to the Besor Ravine, where some stayed behind, 10for two hundred men were too exhausted[l] to cross the ravine. But David and four hundred men continued the pursuit.

11They found an Egyptian in a field and brought him to David. They gave him water to drink and food to eat— 12part of a cake of pressed figs and two cakes of raisins. He ate and was revived,[m] for he had not eaten any food or drunk any water for three days and three nights.

13David asked him, "To whom do you belong, and where do you come from?"

He said, "I am an Egyptian, the slave of an Amalekite.[n] My master abandoned me when I became ill three days ago. 14We raided the Negev of the Kerethites[o] and the territory belonging to Judah and the Negev of Caleb.[p] And we burned[q] Ziklag."

29:4 the place you assigned him. See 27:6. he will turn against us during the fighting. The Philistines had experienced just such a reversal on a previous occasion (see 14:21).

29:6 As surely as the LORD lives. See note on 14:39. Achish swears by the God of Israel apparently as a means of proving his sincerity to David.

29:8 But what have I done? David pretends disappointment in order to keep intact his strategy of deception. In reality this turn of events rescued David from a serious dilemma. Why can't I go and fight against the enemies of my lord the king? David again uses an ambiguous statement (see 28:2). To whom was he referring as "my lord the king"—Achish or Saul or the Lord?

29:9 as an angel of God. A common simile.

29:11 Jezreel. The place of Israel's camp (see v. 1).

30:1–31:13 While Saul goes to his death at the hands of the Philistines, David is drawn into and pursues the Lord's continuing war with the Amalekites (see 15:2–3 and notes).

30:1 Ziklag. See note on 27:6. Amalekites. See 27:8 and note on 15:2. The absence of David and his warriors gave the Amalekites opportunity for revenge. Negev. See note on 27:10.

30:5 Ahinoam. See note on 25:43. Abigail. See 25:42.

30:7 Abiathar the priest. See note on 22:20. ephod. See note on 2:28.

30:14 Negev. See note on 27:10. Kerethites. Along with the Pelethites, they later contributed contingents of professional warriors to David's private army (see 2Sa 15:18; 20:7; 1Ki 1:38). The name may indicate that they originally came from the island of Crete (see Am 9:7 and NIV text note there). Negev of Caleb. The area south of Hebron (see Jos 14:13).

15David asked him, "Can you lead me down to this raiding party?"

He answered, "Swear to me before God that you will not kill me or hand me over to my master,[r] and I will take you down to them."

16He led David down, and there they were, scattered over the countryside, eating, drinking and reveling[s] because of the great amount of plunder[t] they had taken from the land of the Philistines and from Judah. 17David fought[u] them from dusk until the evening of the next day, and none of them got away, except four hundred young men who rode off on camels and fled.[v] 18David recovered[w] everything the Amalekites had taken, including his two wives. 19Nothing was missing: young or old, boy or girl, plunder or anything else they had taken. David brought everything back. 20He took all the flocks and herds, and his men drove them ahead of the other livestock, saying, "This is David's plunder."

23David replied, "No, my brothers, you must not do that with what the LORD has given us. He has protected us and handed over to us the forces that came against us. 24Who will listen to what you say? The share of the man who stayed with the supplies is to be the same as that of him who went down to the battle. All will share alike.[y]" 25David made this a statute and ordinance for Israel from that day to this.

26When David arrived in Ziklag, he sent some of the plunder to the elders of Judah, who were his friends, saying, "Here is a present[z] for you from the plunder of the LORD's enemies."

27He sent it to those who were in Bethel,[a] Ramoth[b] Negev and Jattir;[c] 28to those in Aroer,[d] Siphmoth,[e] Eshtemoa[f] 29and Racal; to those in the towns of the Jerahmeelites[g] and the Kenites;[h] 30to those in Hormah,[i] Bor Ashan,[j] Athach 31and Hebron;[k] and to those in all the other places where David and his men had roamed.

Saul Takes His Life

31:1–13pp — 2Sa 1:4–12; 1Ch 10:1–12

31 Now the Philistines fought against Israel; the Israelites fled before them, and many fell slain on Mount Gilboa.[l] 2The Philistines pressed hard after Saul and his sons,[m] and they killed his sons Jonathan,[n] Abinadab and Malki-Shua.[o] 3The fighting grew fierce around Saul, and when the archers overtook him, they wounded[p] him critically.

4Saul said to his armor-bearer, "Draw your sword and run me through,[q] or these uncircumcised[r] fellows will come and run me through and abuse me."

But his armor-bearer was terrified and would not do it; so Saul took his own sword and fell on it. 5When the armor-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he too fell on his sword and died with him. 6So Saul and his three sons and his armor-bearer and all his men died[s] together that same day.

7When the Israelites along the valley and those across the Jordan saw that the Israelite army had fled and that Saul and his sons had died, they abandoned their towns and fled. And the Philistines came and occupied them.

8The next day, when the Philistines[t] came to strip the dead, they found Saul and his three sons fallen on Mount Gilboa. 9They cut off his head and stripped off his armor, and they sent messengers throughout the land of the Philistines to proclaim the news[u] in the temple of their idols and among their people.[v]

30:22 troublemakers. See note on Dt 13:13.
30:23 what the LORD has given us. David gently but firmly rejects the idea that their victory is to be attributed to their own prowess. Because the Lord gave the victory, no segment of David's men could claim any greater right to the spoils than any other.
30:26 elders of Judah, who were his friends. David sent the plunder as an expression of gratitude to those who had assisted him during his flight from Saul (see v. 31), thus preparing the way for his later elevation to kingship in Judah (see 2Sa 2:1–4).
30:29 Jerahmeelites. See note on 27:10. Kenites. See note on 15:6.
30:31 Hebron. The most important city in the southern part of Judah. The other locations mentioned are to the southwest and southeast of Hebron.
31:2 Jonathan, Abinadab and Malki-Shua. See note on 14:49. The surviving son, Ish-Bosheth or Esh-Baal (1Ch 8:33; 9:39), was afterward promoted by Abner, who somehow survived the battle, to succeed his father as king (2Sa 2:8–9).
31:4 uncircumcised fellows. See 14:6 and note. abuse me. A practice that was not uncommon; previously the Philistines had mutilated and humiliated Samson after his capture (see Jdg 16:23–25). took his own sword and fell on it. The culmination of a long process of self-destruction.
31:6 all his men. Those who had served around him in his administration (but see note on v. 2).
31:9 They cut off his head. David had done the same to Goliath (see 17:51). sent messengers throughout the land. Probably bearing Saul's head and armor as proof and trophies of their victory.

10 They put his armor in the temple of the Ashtoreths[w] and fastened his body to the wall of Beth Shan.[x]
11 When the people of Jabesh Gilead[y] heard of what the Philistines had done to Saul, 12 all their valiant men[z] journeyed through the night to Beth Shan. They took down the bodies of Saul and his sons from the wall of Beth Shan and went to Jabesh, where they burned[a] them. 13 Then they took their bones[b] and buried them under a tamarisk[c] tree at Jabesh, and they fasted[d] seven days.[e]

31:10 They put his armor in the temple. Symbolic of ascribing the victory to the Philistine gods.

31:11 Jabesh Gilead. See note on 11:1.

31:12 They took down the bodies of Saul and his sons. The men of Jabesh Gilead had not forgotten how Saul had come to their defense when they were threatened by the Ammonites (see ch. 11). burned them. Cremation was not customary in ancient Israel and here appears to have been done to prevent any further abuse of the bodies of Saul and his sons by the Philistines.

31:13 took their bones and buried them. David later had their remains removed from Jabesh and placed in the family burial grounds of Zela in Benjamin (see 2Sa 21:12–14). fasted seven days. As an indication of their mourning for Saul (cf. 2Sa 1:12; 3:35; 12:16,21–23).

2 Samuel

Title

1 and 2 Samuel were originally one book (see Introduction to 1 Samuel: Title).

Literary Features, Authorship and Date

See Introduction to 1 Samuel: Literary Features, Authorship and Date.

Contents and Theme: Kingship and Covenant

2 Samuel depicts David as a true (though imperfect) representative of the ideal theocratic king. David was initially acclaimed king at Hebron by the tribe of Judah (chs. 1—4), and subsequently was accepted by the remaining tribes after the murder of Ish-Bosheth, one of Saul's surviving sons (5:1–5). David's leadership was decisive and effective. He captured Jerusalem from the Jebusites and made it his royal city and residence (5:6–14). Shortly afterward he brought the ark of the Lord from the house of Abinadab to Jerusalem, publicly acknowledging the Lord's kingship and rule over himself and the nation (ch. 6; Ps 132:3–5).

Under David's rule the Lord caused the nation to prosper, to defeat its enemies and, in fulfillment of his promise (see Ge 15:18), to extend its borders from Egypt to the Euphrates (ch. 8). David wanted to build a temple for the Lord—as his royal house, as a place for his throne (the ark) and as a place for Israel to worship him. But the prophet Nathan told David that he was not to build the Lord a house (temple); rather, the Lord would build David a house (dynasty). Ch. 7 announces the Lord's promise that this Davidic dynasty would endure forever. This climactic chapter also describes the establishment of the Davidic covenant (see Ps 89:34–37), a covenant that promises ultimate victory over the evil one through the offspring of Eve (see Ge 3:15 and note). This promise—which had come to be focused on Shem and his descendants (see Ge 9:26–27 and notes), then on Abraham and his descendants (see Ge 12:2–3; 13:16; 15:5 and notes) and then on Judah and his (royal) descendants (see Ge 49:8–11 and notes)—is now focused specifically on the royal family of David. Later the prophets make clear that a descendant of David who sits on David's throne will perfectly fulfill the role of the theocratic king. He will complete the redemption of God's people (see Isa 9:6–7; 11:1–16; Jer 23:5–6; 30:8–9; 33:14–16; Eze 34:23–24; 37:24–25), thus enabling them to achieve the promised victory with him (Ro 16:20).

After the description of David's rule in its glory and success, chs. 10—20 depict the darker side of his reign and describe David's weaknesses and failures. Even though David remained a king after God's own heart because he was willing to acknowledge his sin and repent (12:13), he nevertheless fell far short of the theocratic ideal and suffered the disciplinary results of his disobedience (12:10–12). His sin with Bathsheba (chs. 11—12) and his leniency both with the wickedness of his sons (13:21; 14:1,33; 19:4–6) and with the insubordination of Joab (3:29,39; 20:10,23) led to intrigue, violence and bloodshed within his own family and the nation. It eventually drove him from Jerusalem at the time of Absalom's rebellion. Nonetheless the Lord was gracious to David, and his reign became a standard by which the reigns of later kings were measured (see 2Ki 18:3; 22:2).

The book ends with David's own words of praise to God, who had delivered him from all his enemies (22:31–51), and with words of expectation for the fulfillment of God's promise that a king will come from the house of David and rule "over men in righteousness" (23:3–5). These songs echo many of the themes of Hannah's song (1Sa 2:1–10), and together they frame (and interpret) the basic narrative.

David Hears of Saul's Death

1:4–12pp — 1Sa 31:1–13; 1Ch 10:1–12

1 After the death[a] of Saul, David returned from defeating[b] the Amalekites[c] and stayed in Ziklag two days. 2On the third day a man[d] arrived from Saul's camp, with his clothes torn and with dust on his head.[e] When he came to David, he fell[f] to the ground to pay him honor.[g]

3"Where have you come from?" David asked him.

He answered, "I have escaped from the Israelite camp."

4"What happened?" David asked. "Tell me."

He said, "The men fled from the battle. Many of them fell and died. And Saul and his son Jonathan are dead."

5Then David said to the young man who brought him the report, "How do you know that Saul and his son Jonathan are dead?"

6"I happened to be on Mount Gilboa,[h]" the young man said, "and there was Saul, leaning on his spear, with the chariots and riders almost upon him. 7When he turned around and saw me, he called out to me, and I said, 'What can I do?'

8"He asked me, 'Who are you?'

" 'An Amalekite,[i]' I answered.

9"Then he said to me, 'Stand over me and kill me![j] I am in the throes of death, but I'm still alive.'

10"So I stood over him and killed him, because I knew that after he had fallen he could not survive. And I took the crown[k] that was on his head and the band on his arm and have brought them here to my lord."

11Then David and all the men with him took hold of their clothes and tore[l] them. 12They mourned and wept and fasted till evening for Saul and his son Jonathan, and for the army of the LORD and the house of Israel, because they had fallen by the sword.

13David said to the young man who brought him the report, "Where are you from?"

"I am the son of an alien, an Amalekite,[m]" he answered.

14David asked him, "Why were you not afraid to lift your hand to destroy the LORD's anointed?[n]"

15Then David called one of his men and said, "Go, strike him down!"[o] So he struck him down, and he died.[p] 16For David had said to him, "Your blood be on your own head.[q] Your own mouth testified against you when you said, 'I killed the LORD's anointed.' "

David's Lament for Saul and Jonathan

17David took up this lament[r] concerning Saul and his son Jonathan,[s] 18and ordered that the men of Judah be taught this lament of the bow (it is written in the Book of Jashar):[t]

19"Your glory, O Israel, lies slain on your heights.
How the mighty[u] have fallen![v]

20"Tell it not in Gath,[w]

1:1 After the death of. See Jos 1:1; Jdg 1:1. The narrative thread of 1 Samuel is continued. 1 and 2 Samuel were originally one book (see Introduction to 1 Samuel: Title). David returned from defeating the Amalekites. See 1Sa 30:26. Ziklag. See note on 1Sa 27:6.

1:2 his clothes torn . . . dust on his head. See note on 1Sa 4:12; see also Jos 7:6; Ac 14:14.

1:8 Amalekite. It is not necessary to conclude from v. 3 that this Amalekite was a member of Saul's army. His statement that he "happened to be on Mount Gilboa" (v. 6) is probably not as innocent as it appears. He may have been there as a scavenger to rob the fallen soldiers of their valuables and weapons. It is ironic that Saul's death is reported by an Amalekite (see 1Sa 15).

1:10 I stood over him and killed him. The Amalekite's story conflicts with 1Sa 31:3–6, where Saul is depicted as taking his own life. It appears that the Amalekite fabricated this version of Saul's death, expecting David to reward him (see 4:10). His miscalculation of David's response cost him his life (see v. 15). I took the crown. Apparently he got to Saul before the Philistines did (see 1Sa 31:8–9).

1:11 took hold of their clothes and tore them. See note on 1Sa 4:12.

1:12 mourned and wept. David and his men expressed their grief in typical Near Eastern fashion (see Ge 23:2; 1Ki 13:30; Jer 22:18). fasted. See 3:35; 1Sa 31:13.

1:13 Amalekite. The man was probably unaware of David's recent hostile encounters with the Amalekites (see v. 1; 1Sa 30; see also note on 1Sa 15:2).

1:14 The Amalekite understood nothing of the deep significance that David attached to the sanctity of the royal office in Israel (see note on 1Sa 24:6). the LORD's anointed. See note on 1Sa 9:16.

1:15 strike him down! David displays no personal satisfaction over Saul's death and condemns to death the one he believes to be his murderer (see note on v. 10; see also 4:10).

1:16 Your blood be on your own head. The Amalekite's own testimony brought about his execution (see Jos 2:19; 1Ki 2:37).

1:17 lament. It was a common practice in the ancient Near East to compose laments for fallen leaders and/or heroes.

1:18 lament of the bow. Perhaps David taught his men to sing this lament while they practiced the bow (Israel's most common weapon; see, e.g., 22:35) as a motivation to master the weapon thoroughly so they would not experience a similar defeat (see note on Eze 21:9). Book of Jashar. See note on Jos 10:13.

1:19 Your glory. A reference to Saul and Jonathan as divinely designated leaders of God's covenant people, who had achieved many significant victories over Israel's enemies (see 1Sa 14:47–48 and note). heights. Of Gilboa (see vv. 21,25; 1Sa 31:1). How the mighty have fallen! The theme of David's lament (see v. 27). David's words contain no suggestion of bitterness toward Saul but rather recall the good qualities and accomplishments of Saul and Jonathan.

1:20 Tell it not in Gath . . . Ashkelon. As the major Philis-proclaim it not in the streets of Ashkelon,[x]

lest the daughters of the Philistines[y] be glad, lest the daughters of the uncircumcised rejoice.[z]

21"O mountains of Gilboa,[a] may you have neither dew[b] nor rain,[c] nor fields that yield offerings[d] of grain.
For there the shield of the mighty was defiled, the shield of Saul—no longer rubbed with oil.[e] 22From the blood[f] of the slain, from the flesh of the mighty, the bow[g] of Jonathan did not turn back, the sword of Saul did not return unsatisfied.

23"Saul and Jonathan—in life they were loved and gracious, and in death they were not parted.
They were swifter than eagles,[h] they were stronger than lions.[i]

24"O daughters of Israel, weep for Saul,
who clothed you in scarlet and finery, who adorned your garments with ornaments of gold.[j]

25"How the mighty have fallen in battle!
Jonathan lies slain on your heights.
26I grieve[k] for you, Jonathan[l] my brother;[m]
you were very dear to me.
Your love for me was wonderful,[n] more wonderful than that of women.

27"How the mighty have fallen!
The weapons of war have perished!"[o]

David Anointed King Over Judah

2 In the course of time, David inquired[p] of the LORD. "Shall I go up to one of the towns of Judah?" he asked.

The LORD said, "Go up."

David asked, "Where shall I go?"

"To Hebron,"[q] the LORD answered.

2So David went up there with his two wives,[r] Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail,[s] the widow of Nabal of Carmel. 3David also took the men who were with him,[t] each with his family, and they settled in Hebron[u] and its towns. 4Then the men of Judah came to Hebron[v] and there they anointed[w] David king over the house of Judah.

When David was told that it was the men of Jabesh Gilead[x] who had buried Saul, 5he sent messengers to the men of Jabesh Gilead to say to them, "The LORD bless[y] you for showing this kindness to Saul your master by burying him. 6May the LORD now show you kindness and faithfulness,[z] and I too will show you the same favor because you have done this. 7Now then, be strong[a] and brave, for Saul your master is dead, and the house of Judah has anointed me king over them."

tine cities located the closest and farthest from Israel's borders, Gath and Ashkelon represent the entire Philistine nation. David does not want the enemies of God's covenant people to take pleasure in Israel's defeat (as he knew they would; see 1Sa 31:9–10) and thus bring reproach on the name of the Lord (see Ex 32:12; Nu 14:13–19; Dt 9:28; Jos 7:9; Mic 1:10). uncircumcised. See note on 1Sa 14:6.

1:21 O mountains of Gilboa. As an expression of profound grief, David rhetorically pronounces a curse on the place where Israel was defeated and Saul and Jonathan were killed (for other such rhetorical curses see Job 3:3–26; Jer 20:14–18). no longer rubbed with oil. Leather shields were rubbed with oil to preserve them (but see note on Isa 21:5).

1:23 in death they were not parted. Even though Jonathan opposed his father's treatment of David, he gave his life beside his father in Israel's defense.

1:26 more wonderful than that of women. David is not suggesting that marital love is inferior to that of friendship, nor do his remarks have any sexual implications. He is simply calling attention to Jonathan's nearly inexplicable self-denying commitment to David, whom he had long recognized as the Lord's choice to succeed his father rather than himself (see notes on 1Sa 20:13–16).

1:27 weapons of war. Probably a metaphor for Saul and Jonathan.

2:1 David inquired of the LORD. By means of the ephod through the priest Abiathar (see notes on Ex 28:30; 1Sa 2:28; 23:2). one of the towns of Judah. Even though Saul was dead and David had many friends and contacts among the people of his own tribe (see 1Sa 30:26–31), David did not presume to return from Philistine territory to assume the kingship promised to him without first seeking the Lord's guidance. Hebron. An old and important city (see Ge 13:18; 23:2; Jos 15:13–15; see also note on 1Sa 30:31) centrally located in the tribe of Judah.

2:2 Ahinoam of Jezreel. See note on 1Sa 25:43. Abigail. See 1Sa 25.

2:3 men who were with him. See 1Sa 22:2; 23:13; 30:3,9.

2:4 anointed David king. See notes on 1Sa 2:10; 9:16. David had previously been anointed privately by Samuel in the presence of his own family (see note on 1Sa 16:13). Here the anointing ceremony is repeated as a public recognition by his own tribe of his divine calling to be king. over the house of Judah. Very likely the tribe of Simeon was also involved (see Jos 19:1; Jdg 1:3), but the Judahites in every way dominated the area. men of Jabesh Gilead. See notes on 1Sa 11:1; 31:12. buried Saul. See note on 1Sa 31:13.

2:7 your master is dead, and the house of Judah has anointed me king over them. David's concluding statement to the men of Jabesh Gilead is a veiled invitation to them to recognize him as their king just as the tribe of Judah had done. This appeal for their support, however, was ignored (see 1Sa 2:8–9).

War Between the Houses of David and Saul

3:2–5pp — 1Ch 3:1–4

8Meanwhile, Abner[b] son of Ner, the commander of Saul's army, had taken Ish-Bosheth[c] son of Saul and brought him over to Mahanaim.[d] 9He made him king over Gilead,[e] Ashuri[a][f] and Jezreel, and also over Ephraim, Benjamin and all Israel.[g]

10Ish-Bosheth son of Saul was forty years old when he became king over Israel, and he reigned two years. The house of Judah, however, followed David. 11The length of time David was king in Hebron over the house of Judah was seven years and six months.[h]

12Abner son of Ner, together with the men of Ish-Bosheth son of Saul, left Mahanaim and went to Gibeon.[i] 13Joab[j] son of Zeruiah and David's men went out and met them at the pool of Gibeon. One group sat down on one side of the pool and one group on the other side.

14Then Abner said to Joab, "Let's have some of the young men get up and fight hand to hand in front of us."

"All right, let them do it," Joab said.

15So they stood up and were counted off—twelve men for Benjamin and Ish-Bosheth son of Saul, and twelve for David. 16Then each man grabbed his opponent by the head and thrust his dagger[k] into his opponent's side, and they fell down together. So that place in Gibeon was called Helkath Hazzurim.[b]

17The battle that day was very fierce, and Abner and the men of Israel were defeated[l] by David's men.[m]

18The three sons of Zeruiah[n] were there: Joab,[o] Abishai[p] and Asahel.[q] Now Asahel was as fleet-footed as a wild gazelle.[r] 19He chased Abner, turning neither to the right nor to the left as he pursued him. 20Abner looked behind him and asked, "Is that you, Asahel?"

"It is," he answered.

21Then Abner said to him, "Turn aside to the right or to the left; take on one of the young men and strip him of his weapons." But Asahel would not stop chasing him.

22Again Abner warned Asahel, "Stop chasing me! Why should I strike you down? How could I look your brother Joab in the face?"[s]

23But Asahel refused to give up the pursuit; so Abner thrust the butt of his spear into Asahel's stomach,[t] and the spear came out through his back. He fell there and died on the spot. And every man stopped when he came to the place where Asahel had fallen and died.[u]

24But Joab and Abishai pursued Abner, and as the sun was setting, they came to the hill of Ammah, near Giah on the way

[a] 9 Or Asher [b] 16 Helkath Hazzurim means field of daggers or field of hostilities.

2:8 Saul's army. His small standing army of professionals loyal to him and his family (see 1Sa 13:2,15; 14:2,52). Ish-Bosheth. The name was originally Ish-(or Esh-)Baal (1Ch 8:33) but was changed by the author of Samuel to Ish-Bosheth, meaning "man of the shameful thing" (see note on 4:4). Evidently Baal (meaning "lord" or "master") was at this time still used to refer to the Lord. Later this was discontinued because of confusion with the Canaanite god Baal, and the author of Samuel reflects the later sensitivity. son of Saul. See notes on 1Sa 14:49; 31:2. brought him. Abner takes the initiative in the power vacuum created by Saul's death, using the unassertive Ish-Bosheth as a pawn for his own ambitions (see 3:11; see also note on 4:1). There is no evidence that Ish-Bosheth had strong support among the Israelites generally. Mahanaim. A Gileadite town in Transjordan and thus beyond the sphere of Philistine domination—a kind of refugee capital.

2:9 He made him king. As a relative of Saul (see 1Sa 14:50), Abner had both a family and a career interest in ensuring dynastic succession for Saul's house. Gilead . . . all Israel. This delineation of Ish-Bosheth's realm suggests that his actual rule, while involving territory both east and west of the Jordan, was quite limited and that the last entry ("all Israel") was more claim than reality. David ruled over Judah and Simeon, and the Philistines controlled large sections of the northern tribal regions.

2:11 seven years and six months. Cf. Ish-Bosheth's two-year reign in Mahanaim (v. 10). Because it appears that David was made king over all Israel shortly after Ish-Bosheth's death (5:1–5) and moved his capital to Jerusalem not long afterward (5:6–12), reconciling the lengths of David's and Ish-Bosheth's reigns is difficult. The difficulty is best resolved by assuming that it took Ish-Bosheth a number of years to be recognized as his father's successor, and that the two years of his reign roughly correspond to the last two or three years of David's reign in Hebron.

2:12 Abner initiates an action to prevent David's sphere of influence from spreading northward out of Judah. Gibeon was located in the tribal area of Benjamin, to which Saul and his family belonged, and which the Philistines had not occupied.

2:13 Joab son of Zeruiah. See note on 1Sa 26:6. Joab became a figure of major importance during David's reign as a competent but ruthless military leader (see 10:7–14; 11:1; 12:26; 1Ki 11:15–16). At times David was unable to control him (3:39; 18:5,14; 1Ki 2:5–6), and he was eventually executed for his wanton assassinations and his part in the conspiracy to place Adonijah rather than Solomon on David's throne (1Ki 2:28–34). David's men. Some, at least, of David's small force of professionals that had gathered around him (see 1Sa 22:1–2; 23:13; 27:2; 30:9).

2:15 Benjamin. At this time Ish-Bosheth seems to have been supported mainly by his own tribesmen.

2:17 The battle that day was very fierce. Because the representative combat (see note on 1Sa 17:4) by 12 men from each side was indecisive, a full-scale battle ensued in which David's forces were victorious. The attempt to use representative combat to avoid the decimation of civil war failed (see 3:1).

2:21 Turn aside. Abner tried unsuccessfully to avoid the necessity of killing Asahel.

2:22 How could I look your brother Joab in the face? Abner did not want the hostility between himself and Joab to be intensified by the practice of blood revenge (see note on 3:27).

to the wasteland of Gibeon. 25Then the men of Benjamin rallied behind Abner. They formed themselves into a group and took their stand on top of a hill.

26Abner called out to Joab, "Must the sword devour[v] forever? Don't you realize that this will end in bitterness? How long before you order your men to stop pursuing their brothers?"

27Joab answered, "As surely as God lives, if you had not spoken, the men would have continued the pursuit of their brothers until morning.[c]"

28So Joab[w] blew the trumpet,[x] and all the men came to a halt; they no longer pursued Israel, nor did they fight anymore.

29All that night Abner and his men marched through the Arabah.[y] They crossed the Jordan, continued through the whole Bithron[d] and came to Mahanaim.[z]

30Then Joab returned from pursuing Abner and assembled all his men. Besides Asahel, nineteen of David's men were found missing. 31But David's men had killed three hundred and sixty Benjamites who were with Abner. 32They took Asahel and buried him in his father's tomb[a] at Bethlehem. Then Joab and his men marched all night and arrived at Hebron by daybreak.

3 The war between the house of Saul and the house of David lasted a long time.[b] David grew stronger and stronger,[c] while the house of Saul grew weaker and weaker.[d]

2Sons were born to David in Hebron:
His firstborn was Amnon[e] the son of Ahinoam[f] of Jezreel; 3his second, Kileab the son of Abigail[g] the widow of Nabal of Carmel;
the third, Absalom[h] the son of Maacah daughter of Talmai king of Geshur;[i] 4the fourth, Adonijah[j] the son of Haggith;
the fifth, Shephatiah the son of Abital;
5and the sixth, Ithream the son of David's wife Eglah.
These were born to David in Hebron.

Abner Goes Over to David

6During the war between the house of Saul and the house of David, Abner[k] had been strengthening his own position in the house of Saul. 7Now Saul had had a concubine[l] named Rizpah[m] daughter of Aiah. And Ish-Bosheth said to Abner, "Why did you sleep with my father's concubine?"

8Abner was very angry because of what Ish-Bosheth said and he answered, "Am I a dog's head[n]—on Judah's side? This very day I am loyal to the house of your father Saul and to his family and friends. I haven't handed you over to David. Yet now you accuse me of an offense involving this woman! 9May God deal with Abner, be it ever so severely, if I do not do for David what the LORD promised[o] him on oath 10and transfer the kingdom from the house of Saul and establish David's throne over Israel and Judah from Dan to Beersheba."[p] 11Ish-Bosheth did not dare to say another word to Abner, because he was afraid of him.

12Then Abner sent messengers on his

2:26 Must the sword devour forever? Abner proposes an armistice as a means of avoiding the awful consequences of civil war.

2:27 As surely as God lives. An oath formula (see note on 1Sa 14:39).

2:28 nor did they fight anymore. For the present the open conflict ceased, but the hostility remained (see 3:1).

2:29 Arabah. See note on Dt 1:1.

3:2–5 The list of six sons born to David in Hebron is given as an evidence of the strengthening of David's house in contrast to that of Saul (v. 1). That these six sons were each born of a different mother indirectly informs us that David married four additional wives (see 2:2) during his time in Hebron. The writer does not offer any direct criticism of this polygamous practice (see 5:13), which conflicts with Dt 17:17, but he lets the disastrous results in David's family life speak for themselves (see chs. 13–19; 1Ki 1–2). Amnon. Later raped his sister Tamar and was killed by his brother Absalom (see ch. 13). Ahinoam of Jezreel. See note on 1Sa 25:43.

3:3 Kileab. Called Daniel in 1Ch 3:1. Abigail. See 1Sa 25. Absalom. Later avenged the rape of Tamar by killing Amnon, and conspired against his father David in an attempt to make himself king (see chs. 13–18). Maacah daughter of Talmai. David's marriage to Maacah undoubtedly had political implications. With Talmai as an ally on Ish-Bosheth's northern border, David flanked the northern kingdom both south and north. Geshur. A small Aramean city kingdom (see 15:8) located northeast of the Sea of Galilee (see Jos 12:5; 13:11–13).

3:4 Adonijah. Was put to death for attempting to take over the throne before Solomon could be crowned (see 1Ki 1–2).

3:7 Rizpah. See 21:8–11. Why did you sleep with my father's concubine? Ish-Bosheth suspects that Abner's act was part of a conspiracy to seize the kingship (cf. v. 6). Great significance was attached to taking the concubine of a former king (see note on 12:8; see also 16:21; 1Ki 2:22).

3:9 May God deal with Abner, be it ever so severely. A curse formula (see note on 1Sa 3:17). what the LORD promised him on oath. The knowledge of David's divine designation as successor to Saul had spread widely (see notes on 2:4; 1Sa 16:13; 25:28).

3:10 transfer the kingdom. Abner was the real power behind the throne. Dan to Beersheba. See note on 1Sa 3:20.

3:12 Whose land is it? Possibly a rhetorical question that presumed that the land belonged either to Abner or to David. The former seems more likely from the following behalf to say to David, "Whose land is it? Make an agreement with me, and I will help you bring all Israel over to you."

13"Good," said David. "I will make an agreement with you. But I demand one thing of you: Do not come into my presence unless you bring Michal daughter of Saul when you come to see me."[q] 14Then David sent messengers to Ish-Bosheth son of Saul, demanding, "Give me my wife Michal,[r] whom I betrothed to myself for the price of a hundred Philistine foreskins."

15So Ish-Bosheth gave orders and had her taken away from her husband[s] Paltiel[t] son of Laish. 16Her husband, however, went with her, weeping behind her all the way to Bahurim.[u] Then Abner said to him, "Go back home!" So he went back.

17Abner conferred with the elders[v] of Israel and said, "For some time you have wanted to make David your king. 18Now do it! For the LORD promised David, 'By my servant David I will rescue my people Israel from the hand of the Philistines[w] and from the hand of all their enemies.[x]' "

19Abner also spoke to the Benjamites in person. Then he went to Hebron to tell David everything that Israel and the whole house of Benjamin[y] wanted to do. 20When Abner, who had twenty men with him, came to David at Hebron, David prepared a feast[z] for him and his men. 21Then Abner said to David, "Let me go at once and assemble all Israel for my lord the king, so that they may make a compact[a] with you, and that you may rule over all that your heart desires."[b] So David sent Abner away, and he went in peace.

Joab Murders Abner

22Just then David's men and Joab returned from a raid and brought with them a great deal of plunder. But Abner was no longer with David in Hebron, because David had sent him away, and he had gone in peace. 23When Joab and all the soldiers with him arrived, he was told that Abner son of Ner had come to the king and that the king had sent him away and that he had gone in peace.

24So Joab went to the king and said, "What have you done? Look, Abner came to you. Why did you let him go? Now he is gone! 25You know Abner son of Ner; he came to deceive you and observe your movements and find out everything you are doing."

26Joab then left David and sent messengers after Abner, and they brought him back from the well of Sirah. But David did not know it. 27Now when Abner[c] returned to Hebron, Joab took him aside into the gateway, as though to speak with him privately. And there, to avenge the blood of his brother Asahel, Joab stabbed him[d] in the stomach, and he died.[e]

28Later, when David heard about this, he said, "I and my kingdom are forever innocent[f] before the LORD concerning the blood of Abner son of Ner. 29May his blood[g] fall upon the head of Joab and sentence. Make an agreement with me. Abner wants assurance that he will face no reprisals for his past loyalty to the house of Saul.

3:13 Michal daughter of Saul. Although Saul had given Michal to David (1Sa 18:27), he later gave her to another man after David fled from his court (1Sa 25:44). In the minds of the northern elders, the reunion of David and Michal would strengthen David's claim to the throne as a legitimate son-in-law of Saul.

3:14 David sent messengers to Ish-Bosheth. David wanted Michal returned as an open and official act of Ish-Bosheth himself, rather than as part of a subterfuge planned by Abner. David knew that Ish-Bosheth would not dare to defy Abner's wishes (see v. 11). a hundred Philistine foreskins. See 1Sa 18:25. Saul had required 100 Philistine foreskins; David presented him with 200 (1Sa 18:27).

3:16 Bahurim. The last Benjamite city on the way to Hebron (see 16:5; 17:18).

3:17 elders of Israel. The collective leadership of the various tribes comprised an informal national ruling body (see notes on Ex 3:16; Joel 1:2; Mt 15:2; Ac 24:1; see also 1Sa 8:4; 2Sa 5:3; 1Ki 8:1,3; 20:7; 2Ki 10:1; 23:1). you have wanted to make David your king. Apparently Ish-Bosheth's support came mainly from the tribe of Benjamin (see 2:15 and note) and from Gilead in Transjordan (see 2:8; 1Sa 11:9–11; 31:11–13).

3:18 the LORD promised David. By this time Samuel's anointing of David must have become common knowledge (see 5:2). Abner probably interpreted the anointing as a promise from the Lord, since Samuel was the Lord's much-revered prophet.

3:19 Abner also spoke to the Benjamites in person. Because Saul and his family were from the tribe of Benjamin, Abner was careful to consult the Benjamites concerning the transfer of kingship to the tribe of Judah. Apparently they consented, but Abner was not above representing matters in a way that was favorable to his purpose.

3:21 make a compact with you. See 5:3 and note.

3:25 he came to deceive you. Joab despised Abner for killing his brother (2:18,23; 3:27) and sought to discredit him in David's eyes as a mere opportunist. Perhaps he also sensed that his own position of leadership would be threatened if Abner joined forces with David, since Abner was obviously a power among the northern tribes.

3:27 Joab stabbed him in the stomach, and he died. Joab's murder of Abner is not to be excused either as an act of war or as justifiable blood revenge (cf. Nu 35:12; Dt 19:11–13). Asahel had been killed by Abner in the course of battle (see 2:23; see also note on 2:21).

3:29 May his blood fall upon the head of Joab and upon all his father's house! After disclaiming any personal or official involvement in the plot to assassinate Abner (v. 28), David cursed Joab and thereby called on God to judge his wicked act. In this crucial hour when David's relationship to the northern tribes hung in the balance, he appears not to have felt sufficiently secure in his own position to bring Joab publicly to justice (see v. 39). The crime went unpunished until early in the reign of Solomon (1Ki 2:5–6,29–35).

upon all his father's house![h] May Joab's house never be without someone who has a running sore[i] or leprosy[e] or who leans on a crutch or who falls by the sword or who lacks food."

30(Joab and his brother Abishai murdered Abner because he had killed their brother Asahel in the battle at Gibeon.)

31Then David said to Joab and all the people with him, "Tear your clothes and put on sackcloth[j] and walk in mourning[k] in front of Abner." King David himself walked behind the bier. 32They buried Abner in Hebron, and the king wept[l] aloud at Abner's tomb. All the people wept also.

33The king sang this lament[m] for Abner:

"Should Abner have died as the lawless die?
34 Your hands were not bound, your feet were not fettered.[n]
You fell as one falls before wicked men."

And all the people wept over him again.

35Then they all came and urged David to eat something while it was still day; but David took an oath, saying, "May God deal with me, be it ever so severely,[o] if I taste bread[p] or anything else before the sun sets!"

36All the people took note and were pleased; indeed, everything the king did pleased them. 37So on that day all the people and all Israel knew that the king had no part[q] in the murder of Abner son of Ner.

38Then the king said to his men, "Do you not realize that a prince and a great man has fallen[r] in Israel this day? 39And today, though I am the anointed king, I am weak, and these sons of Zeruiah[s] are too strong[t] for me.[u] May the LORD repay[v] the evildoer according to his evil deeds!"

Ish-Bosheth Murdered

4 When Ish-Bosheth son of Saul heard that Abner[w] had died in Hebron, he lost courage, and all Israel became alarmed. 2Now Saul's son had two men who were leaders of raiding bands. One was named Baanah and the other Recab; they were sons of Rimmon the Beerothite from the tribe of Benjamin—Beeroth[x] is considered part of Benjamin, 3because the people of Beeroth fled to Gittaim[y] and have lived there as aliens to this day.

4(Jonathan[z] son of Saul had a son who was lame in both feet. He was five years old when the news[a] about Saul and Jonathan came from Jezreel. His nurse picked him up and fled, but as she hurried to leave, he fell and became crippled.[b] His name was Mephibosheth.)[c] 5Now Recab and Baanah, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, set out for the house of Ish-Bosheth,[d] and they arrived there in the heat of the day while he was taking his noonday rest.[e] 6They went into the inner part of the house as if to get some wheat, and they stabbed[f] him in the stomach. Then Recab and his brother Baanah slipped away.

7They had gone into the house while he was lying on the bed in his bedroom. After they stabbed and killed him, they cut off his head. Taking it with them, they traveled all night by way of the Arabah.[g] 8They brought the head[h] of Ish-Bosheth to David at Hebron and said to the king, "Here is the head of Ish-Bosheth son of Saul,[i] your enemy, who tried to take your life. This day the LORD has avenged[j] my lord the king against Saul and his offspring."

9David answered Recab and his broth-

[e] 29 The Hebrew word was used for various diseases affecting the skin—not necessarily leprosy.

3:31 Joab. He too was compelled to join the mourners. It may be that Joab's involvement was not widely known and that David hoped to keep the matter secret for the time being.

3:32 Hebron. David's royal city at the time. the king wept aloud at Abner's tomb. Because Abner's murder had the potential of destroying the union of the nation under David's rule, David did everything possible to demonstrate his innocence to the people. In this he was successful (see vv. 36–37).

3:35 May God deal with me, be it ever so severely. A curse formula (see note on 1Sa 3:17).

3:39 May the LORD repay the evildoer. See note on v. 29.

4:1 he lost courage. Ish-Bosheth was very much aware of his dependence on Abner (see note on 2:8). all Israel became alarmed. Civil strife threatened, and the northern tribes were now without a strong leader.

4:2 Beeroth. One of the Gibeonite cities (Jos 9:17) assigned to Benjamin (Jos 18:25).

4:3 Gittaim. Its location is not known (but see Ne 11:33), so it is possible that the "because" at the beginning of the verse is unwarranted.

4:4 Jonathan son of Saul had a son who was lame in both feet. The writer emphasizes that with the death of Ish-Bosheth (see v. 6) there was no other viable claimant to the throne from the house of Saul. news about Saul and Jonathan. See 1:4; 1Sa 31:2–4. Mephibosheth. See 9:1–13; 16:1–4; 19:24–30; 21:7–8. The name was originally Merib-Baal (apparently meaning "opponent of Baal"; see 1Ch 8:34), perhaps to be spelled "Meri-Baal" (meaning "loved by Baal"), but was changed by the author of Samuel to Mephibosheth (meaning "from the mouth of the shameful thing"). See note on 2:8.

4:7 Arabah. See note on Dt 1:1.

4:8 This day the LORD has avenged my lord the king against Saul. Recab and Baanah depict their assassination of Ish-Bosheth in pious terms, expecting David to commend them for their act—a serious miscalculation.

4:9 As surely as the LORD lives. An oath formula (see note on 1Sa 14:39).

er Baanah, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, "As surely as the LORD lives, who has delivered[k] me out of all trouble, [10]when a man told me, 'Saul is dead,' and thought he was bringing good news, I seized him and put him to death in Ziklag.[l] That was the reward I gave him for his news! [11]How much more—when wicked men have killed an innocent man in his own house and on his own bed—should I not now demand his blood[m] from your hand and rid the earth of you!"

[12]So David gave an order to his men, and they killed them.[n] They cut off their hands and feet and hung the bodies by the pool in Hebron. But they took the head of Ish-Bosheth and buried it in Abner's tomb at Hebron.

David Becomes King Over Israel

5:1–3pp — 1Ch 11:1–3

5 All the tribes of Israel[o] came to David at Hebron and said, "We are your own flesh and blood.[p] [2]In the past, while Saul was king over us, you were the one who led Israel on their military campaigns.[q] And the LORD said[r] to you, 'You will shepherd[s] my people Israel, and you will become their ruler.[t]' "

[3]When all the elders of Israel had come to King David at Hebron, the king made a compact[u] with them at Hebron before the LORD, and they anointed[v] David king over Israel.

[4]David was thirty years old[w] when he became king, and he reigned[x] forty[y] years. [5]In Hebron he reigned over Judah seven years and six months,[z] and in Jerusalem he reigned over all Israel and Judah thirty-three years.

David Conquers Jerusalem

They thought, "David cannot get in here." [7]Nevertheless, David captured the fortress of Zion,[c] the City of David.[d e]

4:12 their hands and feet. The hands that had assassinated Ish-Bosheth and the feet that had run with the news.

5:1–24:25 Beginning with ch. 5 there are sections of 2 Samuel that have parallel passages in 1 Chronicles (they are listed at the sectional headings). In some instances these parallel accounts are nearly identical; in others there are variations.

5:1 All the tribes of Israel. Representatives of each tribe, including elders and armed soldiers (see 1Ch 12:23–40). your own flesh and blood. The representatives of the various tribes cite three reasons for recognizing David as their king. The first of these is the acknowledgment that David is an Israelite. Even though national unity had been destroyed in the civil strife following Saul's death (2:8–3:1), this blood relationship had not been forgotten.

5:2 the one who led Israel on their military campaigns. The second reason (see note on v. 1) for recognizing David as king (see 1Sa 18:5,13–14,16,30). the LORD said to you. The third and most important reason (see 1Sa 13:13–14; 16:1,13; 23:17; 25:26–31).

5:3 the king made a compact with them ... before the LORD. David and Israel entered into a covenant in which both the king and the people obligated themselves before the Lord to carry out their mutual responsibilities (see 2Ki 11:17 and note). Thus, while David was king over Judah as the one elevated to that position by his tribe and later became king over Jerusalem by conquest (vv. 6–10), his rule over the northern tribes was by virtue of a treaty (covenant) of submission. That treaty was not renewed with David's grandson Rehoboam because he refused to negotiate its terms at the time of his accession to the throne (1Ki 12:1–16). they anointed David king over Israel. The third time David was anointed (see note on 2:4).

5:5 In Hebron he reigned ... seven years and six months. See 2:11. Israel and Judah. The specific relationship of David to these two segments of his realm appears to have remained distinct (see note on v. 3).

5:6 Jerusalem. One of the most significant accomplishments of David's reign was the establishment of Jerusalem as his royal city and the nation's capital (see Introduction: Contents and Theme). The site was first occupied in the third millennium B.C. and was a royal city in the time of Abraham (see note on Ge 14:18). It was located on the border between Judah and Benjamin but was controlled by neither tribe. At the time of the conquest both Judah and Benjamin had attacked the city (see notes on Jdg 1:8,21), but it was quickly lost again to the Jebusites (Jos 15:63) and was sometimes referred to by the name Jebus (see Jdg 19:10; 1Ch 11:4). The city David conquered covered somewhat less than 11 acres and could have housed not many more than 3,500 inhabitants. By locating his royal city in a newly conquered town on the border between the two segments of his realm, David united the kingdom under his rule without seeming to subordinate one part to the other. Jebusites. A Canaanite people (Ge 10:15–16) inhabiting the area in (Jos 15:8; 18:16) and around (Nu 13:29; Jos 11:3) Jerusalem. the blind and lame can ward you off. Jerusalem was a natural fortress because of its location on a rise surrounded on three sides by deep valleys; so the Jebusites were confident that their walls could easily be defended.

5:7 fortress. Probably the fortified city itself. Zion. The first occurrence of the name in the OT (its meaning is unknown). Originally the name appears to have been given to the southernmost hill of the city on which the Jebusite fortress was located. As the city expanded (from the days of Solomon onward), the name continued to be applied to the entire city (see Isa 1:8; 2:3).

5:8 On that day, David said. 1Ch 11:6 may be combined with this verse for a more complete account. Joab's part in the conquest of the city demonstrated again his military prowess and reconfirmed him in the position of commander of David's armies. water shaft. Although the Hebrew for this term is obscure (see NIV text note), it appears that David knew of a secret tunnel—perhaps running from the use the water shaft[f] to reach those 'lame and blind'[g] who are David's enemies.[g]" That is why they say, "The 'blind and lame' will not enter the palace."

[9]David then took up residence in the fortress and called it the City of David. He built up the area around it, from the supporting terraces[hh] inward. [10]And he became more and more powerful,[i] because the LORD God Almighty[j] was with him.[k]

[11]Now Hiram[l] king of Tyre sent messengers to David, along with cedar logs and carpenters and stonemasons, and they built a palace for David. [12]And David knew that the LORD had established him as king over Israel and had exalted his kingdom[m] for the sake of his people Israel.

[13]After he left Hebron, David took more concubines and wives[n] in Jerusalem, and more sons and daughters were born to him. [14]These are the names of the children born to him there:[o] Shammua, Shobab, Nathan,[p] Solomon, [15]Ibhar, Elishua, Nepheg, Japhia, [16]Elishama, Eliada and Eliphelet.

David Defeats the Philistines

Gihon spring outside the city into the fortress—that gave access to water when the city was under siege (see 2Ch 32:30). lame and blind. An ironic reference to the Jebusites (cf. v. 6). The 'blind and lame' will not enter the palace. The proverb may mean that the Jebusites did not have access to the royal palace, though they were allowed to remain in the city and its environs.

5:9 supporting terraces. Stone terraces on the steep slopes of the hill, creating additional space for buildings (but see NIV text note; see also note on Jdg 9:6).

5:11 Hiram king of Tyre. This Phoenician king was the first to accord the newly established King David international recognition. It was vital to him that he have good relations with the king of Israel since Israel dominated the inland trade routes to Tyre, and Tyre was dependent on Israelite agriculture for much of its food (also true in the first century A.D.; see Ac 12:20). A close relationship existed between these two realms until the Babylonian invasions. Tyre. An important Phoenician seaport on the Mediterranean coast north of Israel (see Eze 26–27).

5:12 David knew that the LORD had established him as king. In the ideology of the ancient Near East the king's possession of a palace was the chief symbolic indication of his status. for the sake of his people Israel. David acknowledged that his elevation to kingship over all Israel was the Lord's doing and that it was an integral part of his continuing redemptive program for Israel—just as the ministries of Moses, Joshua, the judges and Samuel had been.

5:13 David took more concubines and wives. See note on 3:2–5.

5:14 Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon. 1Ch 3:5 designates Bathsheba as their mother.

5:17 When the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king. Chronologically it is likely that the Philistine attack followed immediately after the events of v. 3 and before the capture of Jerusalem (vv. 6–14). (The author arranged his narrative by topics; see note on 7:1.) The Philistines had not been disturbed by David's reign over

The City of the Jebusites/David's Jerusalem

Substantial historical evidence, both Biblical and extra-Biblical, places the temple of Herod (and before it the temples of Zerubbabel and of Solomon) on the holy spot where King David built an altar to the Lord. David had purchased the land from Araunah the Jebusite, who was using the exposed bedrock as a threshing floor (2Sa 24:18-25). Tradition claims a much older sanctity for the site, associating it with the altar of Abraham on Mount Moriah (Ge 22:1-19). The writer of Genesis equates Moriah with "the mountain of the LORD," and other OT shrines originated in altars erected by Abraham.

c. 1000 B.C.

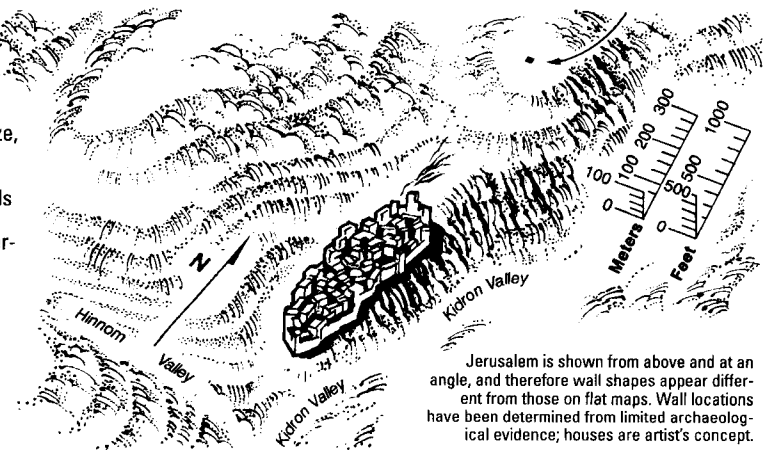
Less than 12 acres in size, Jebus, a Canaanite city, could well defend itself against attack, with walls atop steep canyons and shafts reaching an underground water source. David captured the stronghold c. 1000 B.C. and made it his capital.



Jerusalem is shown from above and at an angle, and therefore wall shapes appear different from those on flat maps. Wall locations have been determined from limited archaeological evidence; houses are artist's concept.

they went up in full force to search for him, but David heard about it and went down to the stronghold.[q] [18]Now the Philistines had come and spread out in the Valley of Rephaim;[r] [19]so David inquired[s] of the LORD, "Shall I go and attack the Philistines? Will you hand them over to me?"

The LORD answered him, "Go, for I will surely hand the Philistines over to you."

[20]So David went to Baal Perazim, and there he defeated them. He said, "As waters break out, the LORD has broken out against my enemies before me." So that place was called Baal Perazim.[i][t] [21]The Philistines abandoned their idols there, and David and his men carried them off.[u]

[22]Once more the Philistines came up and spread out in the Valley of Rephaim; [23]so David inquired of the LORD, and he answered, "Do not go straight up, but circle around behind them and attack them in front of the balsam trees. [24]As soon as you hear the sound[v] of marching in the tops of the balsam trees, move quickly, because that will mean the LORD has gone out in front[w] of you to strike the Philistine army." [25]So David did as the LORD commanded him, and he struck down the Philistines[x] all the way from Gibeon[j][y] to Gezer.[z]

The Ark Brought to Jerusalem

6:1–11pp — 1Ch 13:1–14
6:12–19pp — 1Ch 15:25–16:3

6 David again brought together out of Israel chosen men, thirty thousand in all. [2]He and all his men set out from Baalah[a] of Judah[k] to bring up from there the ark[b] of God, which is called by the Name,[l][c] the name of the LORD Almighty, who is enthroned[d] between the cherubim[e] that are on the ark. [3]They set the ark of God on a new cart[f] and brought it from the house of Abinadab, which was on the hill.[g] Uzzah and Ahio, sons of Abinadab, were guiding the new cart [4]with the ark of God on it,[m] and Ahio was walking in front of it. [5]David and the whole house of Israel were celebrating[h] with all their might before the LORD, with songs[n] and with harps, lyres, tambourines, sistrums and cymbals.[i]

[6]When they came to the threshing floor of Nacon, Uzzah reached out and took hold of[j] the ark of God, because the oxen stumbled. [7]The LORD's anger burned against Uzzah because of his irreverent act;[k] therefore God struck him down[l] and he died there beside the ark of God.

[8]Then David was angry because the LORD's wrath[m] had broken out against Uzzah, and to this day that place is called Perez Uzzah.[o][n]

Judah, but now they acted to protect their interests in the north, much of which they dominated after the defeat of Saul (1Sa 31). stronghold. Probably a reference to the desert area in southern Judah where David had hidden from Saul (see notes on 1Sa 22:4; 23:14). This action of David suggests that he had not yet taken Jerusalem.

5:19 David inquired of the LORD. See notes on 2:1; 1Sa 2:28; 22:20; 23:2.

5:20 the LORD has broken out ... Baal Perazim. See NIV text note. As a true theocratic king, David attributes the victory to the Lord and does not claim the glory for himself (see notes on 1Sa 10:18,27; 11:13; 12:11; 14:23; 17:11,45–47).

5:21 abandoned their idols there. As the Israelites had taken the ark into battle (see note on 1Sa 4:3), so the Philistines carried images of their deities into battle in the hope that this would ensure victory. carried them off. In compliance with the instruction of Dt 7:5, they also burned them (1Ch 14:12).

5:23 he answered. As had been true in the case of the conquest under Joshua, the Lord ordered the battle and he himself marched against the enemy with his heavenly host (see Jos 6:2–5; 8:1–2; 10:8,14; 11:6). David's wars were a continuation and completion of the wars fought by Joshua.

5:24 sound of marching. The heavenly host of the Lord going into battle.

6:2 Baalah of Judah. See NIV text note; see also Jos 15:60; 18:14; 1Sa 7:1. ark of God. See Ex 25:10–22; see also notes on 1Sa 4:3–4,21. The ark had remained at Kiriath Jearim during the reign of Saul. called by the Name. Used elsewhere to designate ownership (see 12:28; Dt 28:10; Isa 4:1; 63:19). LORD Almighty. See note on 1Sa 1:3. enthroned between the cherubim. See note on 1Sa 4:4; see also 1Ch 28:2 ("footstool of our God"). David recognized the great significance of the ark as the earthly throne of Israel's God. As a true theocratic king, he wished to acknowledge the Lord's kingship and rule over both himself and the people by restoring the ark to a place of prominence in the nation.

6:3 new cart. David follows the example of the Philistines (see 1Sa 6:7) rather than the instructions of Ex 25:12–14; Nu 4:5–6,15, which require that the ark be carried on the shoulders of the Levites (see 1Ch 15:13–15). from the house of Abinadab. See 1Sa 7:1. Uzzah and Ahio, sons of Abinadab. 1Sa 7:1 speaks of Eleazar as the son of Abinadab. The Hebrew word for "son" can have the broader meaning of "descendant."

6:7 his irreverent act. Although Uzzah's intent may have been good, he violated the clear instructions the Lord had given for handling the ark (see note on v. 3; cf. Ex 25:15; Nu 4:5–6,15; 1Ch 15:13–15; see also note on 1Sa 6:19). At this important new beginning in Israel's life with the Lord, the Lord gives a shocking and vivid reminder to David and Israel that those who claim to serve him must acknowledge his rule with absolute seriousness (see Lev 10:1–3; Jos 7:24–25; 24:19–20; Ac 5:1–11).

6:8 David was angry. David's initial reaction was resentment that his attempt to honor the Lord had resulted in a display of God's wrath. to this day. Until the time of the

9 David was afraid of the LORD that day and said, "How[o] can the ark of the LORD ever come to me?" 10 He was not willing to take the ark of the LORD to be with him in the City of David. Instead, he took it aside to the house of Obed-Edom[p] the Gittite. 11 The ark of the LORD remained in the house of Obed-Edom the Gittite for three months, and the LORD blessed him and his entire household.[q]

12 Now King David[r] was told, "The LORD has blessed the household of Obed-Edom and everything he has, because of the ark of God." So David went down and brought up the ark of God from the house of Obed-Edom to the City of David with rejoicing. 13 When those who were carrying the ark of the LORD had taken six steps, he sacrificed[s] a bull and a fattened calf. 14 David, wearing a linen ephod,[t] danced[u] before the LORD with all his might, 15 while he and the entire house of Israel brought up the ark of the LORD with shouts[v] and the sound of trumpets.[w]

16 As the ark of the LORD was entering the City of David,[x] Michal[y] daughter of Saul watched from a window. And when she saw King David leaping and dancing before the LORD, she despised him in her heart.

17 They brought the ark of the LORD and set it in its place inside the tent that David had pitched for it,[z] and David sacrificed burnt offerings[a] and fellowship offerings[p] before the LORD. 18 After he had finished sacrificing[b] the burnt offerings and fellowship offerings, he blessed[c] the people in the name of the LORD Almighty. 19 Then he gave a loaf of bread, a cake of dates and a cake of raisins[d] to each person in the whole crowd of Israelites, both men and women.[e] And all the people went to their homes.

20 When David returned home to bless his household, Michal daughter of Saul came out to meet him and said, "How the king of Israel has distinguished himself today, disrobing[f] in the sight of the slave girls of his servants as any vulgar fellow would!"

21 David said to Michal, "It was before the LORD, who chose me rather than your father or anyone from his house when he appointed[g] me ruler[h] over the LORD's people Israel—I will celebrate before the LORD. 22 I will become even more undigni-fied than this, and I will be humiliated in my own eyes. But by these slave girls you spoke of, I will be held in honor."

23 And Michal daughter of Saul had no children to the day of her death.

him,[k] 2 he said to Nathan[l] the prophet, writing of 2 Samuel. Perez Uzzah. See NIV text note. The place-name memorialized a divine warning that was not soon forgotten (see Jos 7:26 and NIV text note).

6:9 David was afraid of the LORD. David's anger was accompanied by fear—not the wholesome fear of proper honor and respect for the Lord (1Sa 12:24; Jos 24:14) but an anxiety arising from an acute sense of his own guilt (Ge 3:10; Dt 5:5).

6:10 Obed-Edom. Perhaps means "servant of man." Gittite. He appears to have been a Levite (see note on 1Ch 13:13; cf. 1Ch 15:18,24; 16:5; 26:4–8,15; 2Ch 25:24), though many think the term "Gittite" fixes his place of birth at the Philistine city of Gath (see 15:18). However, Gittite may be a reference to the Levitical city Gath Rimmon in Dan or Manasseh (Jos 21:20–25).

6:12 David . . . brought up the ark. God's blessing on the household of Obed-Edom showed David that God's anger had been appeased.

6:13 those . . . carrying the ark. David had become aware of his previous error (1Ch 15:13–15). six steps. Sufficient to show that now God's blessing was on the Levites (see 1Ch 15:26).

6:14 linen ephod. See note on 1Sa 2:18.

6:16 she despised him. Michal had no appreciation for the significance of the event and deeply resented David's public display as unworthy of the dignity of a king (see vv. 20–23).

6:17 burnt offerings. See Lev 1. fellowship offerings. See note on 1Sa 11:15.

6:18 he blessed the people. As Solomon would later do at the dedication of the temple (1Ki 8:55–61).

6:20 disrobing. An allusion to David's having worn only a linen ephod (v. 14) rather than his royal robe.

6:23 Michal . . . had no children. Probably a punishment for her pride and at the same time another manifestation of God's judgment on the house of Saul.

7:1–29 God's great promise to David (see Introduction: Contents and Theme). Although it is not expressly called a covenant here, it is elsewhere (23:5; Ps 89:3,28,34,39; cf. Ps 132:11), and David responds with language suggesting his recognition that a covenant had been made (see notes on vv. 20,28).

7:1 After the king was settled in his palace. See 5:11; see also note on 5:12. and the LORD had given him rest from all his enemies. Chronologically the victories noted in 8:1–14 probably preceded the events of this chapter. The arrangement of material is topical (see also note on 5:17)—ch. 6 records the bringing of the ark to Jerusalem; ch. 7 tells of David's desire to build a temple in Jerusalem in which to house the ark.

7:2 Nathan. The first reference to this prophet (see 12:1–14; 1Ki 1). tent. See v. 6; 6:17. Now that he himself had a royal palace (symbolic of his established kingship), a tent did not seem to David to be an appropriate place for the throne of Israel's divine King (see note on 6:2; see also Ps 132:2–5; Ac 7:46). He wanted to build Israel's heavenly King a royal house in the capital city of his kingdom.

7:3 Nathan replied. In consulting a prophet, David sought you have in mind,[o] go ahead and do it, for the LORD is with you."

[4]That night the word of the LORD came to Nathan, saying:

[5]"Go and tell my servant David, 'This is what the LORD says: Are you[p] the one to build me a house to dwell in?[q] [6]I have not dwelt in a house from the day I brought the Israelites up out of Egypt to this day.[r] I have been moving from place to place with a tent[s] as my dwelling.[t] [7]Wherever I have moved with all the Israelites,[u] did I ever say to any of their rulers whom I commanded to shepherd[v] my people Israel, "Why have you not built me a house[w] of cedar?[x]" '

[8]"Now then, tell my servant David, 'This is what the LORD Almighty says: I took you from the pasture and from following the flock[y] to be ruler[z] over my people Israel.[a] [9]I have been with you wherever you have gone,[b] and I have cut off all your enemies from before you.[c] Now I will make your name great, like the names of the greatest men of the earth.[d] [10]And I will provide a place for my people Israel and will plant[e] them so that they can have a home of their own and no longer be disturbed.[f] Wicked[g] people will not oppress them anymore,[h] as they did at the beginning [11]and have done ever since the time I appointed leaders[q][i] over my people Israel. I will also give you rest from all your enemies.[j]

" 'The LORD declares[k] to you that the LORD himself will establish[l] a house[m] for you: [12]When your days are over and you rest[n] with your fathers, I will raise up your offspring to succeed you, who will come from your own body,[o] and I will establish his kingdom.[p] [13]He is the one who will build a house[q] for my Name,[r] and I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever.[s] [14]I will be his father, and he will be my son.[t] When he does wrong, I will punish him[u] with the rod[v] of men, with floggings inflicted by men. [15]But my love will never be taken away from him,[w] as I took it away from Saul,[x] whom I removed from before you. [16]Your house and your kingdom will endure forever

[q]11 Traditionally judges

God's will, but Nathan boldly voiced approval of David's plans in the Lord's name before he had received a revelation from the Lord.

7:5 Are you the one . . . ? David's desire was commendable (1Ki 8:18–19), but his gift and mission were to fight the Lord's battles until Israel was securely at rest in the promised land (see v. 10; 1Ki 5:3).

7:7 did I ever say . . . "Why have you not built me a house . . . ?" David misunderstood the Lord's priorities. He reflected the pagan notion that the gods were interested in human beings only as builders and maintainers of their temples and as practitioners of their cult. Instead, the Lord had raised up rulers in Israel only to shepherd his people (that is also why he had brought David "from the pasture," v. 8).

7:9 I have cut off all your enemies. See note on v. 1.

7:10 I will provide a place for my people Israel. It is for this purpose that the Lord has made David king, and through David he will do it. at the beginning. In Egypt.

7:11 leaders. During the period of the judges (see NIV text note). I will also give you rest from all your enemies. See vv. 1,9. David's victories over threatening powers will be complete, so that the rest already enjoyed will be assured for the future. the LORD himself will establish a house for you. Compare this statement with the rhetorical question of v. 5. In a beautiful play on words God says that David is not to build him a house (temple); rather, God will build David a house (royal dynasty) that will last forever (v. 16). God has been building Israel ever since the days of Abraham, and now he commits himself to build David's royal house so that the promise to Israel may be fulfilled—rest in the promised land. It is God's building that effects his kingdom. This covenant with David is unconditional, like those with Noah, Abram and Phinehas (see note on Ge 9:9; see also chart on "Major Covenants in the OT," p. 19), grounded only in God's firm and gracious purpose. It finds its ultimate fulfillment in the kingship of Christ, who was born of the tribe of Judah and the house of David (see Ps 89:30–38; Isa 9:1–7; Mt 1:1; Lk 1:32–33,69; Ac 2:30; 13:23; Ro 1:2–3; 2Ti 2:8; Rev 3:7; 22:16).

7:12 raise up your offspring to succeed you. The royal line of David, in contrast to that of Saul, would continue after David's death by dynastic succession.

7:13 He is the one who will build a house for my Name. God's priorities are that his own royal house, where his throne (the ark) can finally come to rest (1Ch 6:31; 28:2), will wait until Israel is at rest and David's dynasty (in the person of his son) is secure. "Name" is equivalent to "me" in v. 5 (see note on 1Sa 25:25).

7:14 his father . . . my son. This familial language expresses the special relationship God promises to maintain with the descendant(s) of David whom he will establish on David's throne. It marks him as the one God has chosen and enthroned to rule in his name as the official representative of God's rule over his people (see notes on Ps 2:7; 45:6; 89:27). In Jesus Christ this promise comes to ultimate fulfillment (see Mt 1:1; Mk 1:11; Heb 1:5).

7:15 my love. God's special and unfailing favor (see note on Ps 6:4).

7:16 your throne will be established forever. See note on v. 11; see also Introduction: Contents and Theme. The promise of an everlasting kingdom for the house of David became the focal point for many later prophecies and powerfully influenced the development of the Messianic hope in Israel.

before me[r]; your throne[y] will be established[z] forever.[a]' "

[17]Nathan reported to David all the words of this entire revelation.

David's Prayer

7:18–29pp — 1Ch 17:16–27

[18]Then King David went in and sat before the LORD, and he said:

"Who am I,[b] O Sovereign LORD, and what is my family, that you have brought me this far? [19]And as if this were not enough in your sight, O Sovereign LORD, you have also spoken about the future of the house of your servant. Is this your usual way of dealing with man,[c] O Sovereign LORD?

[20]"What more can David say[d] to you? For you know[e] your servant,[f] O Sovereign LORD. [21]For the sake of your word and according to your will, you have done this great thing and made it known to your servant.

[22]"How great[g] you are,[h] O Sovereign LORD! There is no one like[i] you, and there is no God[j] but you, as we have heard with our own ears.[k] [23]And who is like your people Israel[l]—the one nation on earth that God went out to redeem as a people for himself, and to make a name[m] for himself, and to perform great and awesome wonders[n] by driving out nations and their gods from before your people, whom you redeemed[o] from Egypt?[s] [24]You have established your people Israel as your very own[p] forever, and you, O LORD, have become their God.[q]

[25]"And now, LORD God, keep forever the promise[r] you have made concerning your servant and his house. Do as you promised, [26]so that your name[s] will be great forever. Then men will say, 'The LORD Almighty is God over Israel!' And the house of your servant David will be established[t] before you.

[27]"O LORD Almighty, God of Israel, you have revealed this to your servant, saying, 'I will build a house for you.' So your servant has found courage to offer you this prayer. [28]O Sovereign LORD, you are God! Your words are trustworthy,[u] and you have promised these good things to your servant. [29]Now be pleased to bless the house of your servant, that it may continue forever in your sight; for you, O Sovereign LORD, have spoken, and with your blessing[v] the house of your servant will be blessed forever."

David's Victories

8:1–14pp — 1Ch 18:1–13

8 In the course of time, David defeated the Philistines[w] and subdued[x] them, and he took Metheg Ammah from the control of the Philistines.

[2]David also defeated the Moabites.[y] He made them lie down on the ground and measured them off with a length of cord. Every two lengths of them were put

7:18–29 David's prayer expresses wonder that God would make such commitments to him and his descendants. But he also acknowledges that what God had pledged to him is for Israel's sake, that its purpose is the fulfillment of God's covenanted promises to his people—and that its ultimate effect will be the honor and praise of God throughout the world.

7:18 went in. Presumably into the tent (6:17) in which the ark was kept. sat before the LORD. The ark was the symbol of God's presence with his people (see Ex 25:22; see also notes on 1Sa 4:3–4,21).

7:19 Is this your usual way of dealing with man, O Sovereign LORD? The meaning of this clause is uncertain (cf. 1Ch 17:17). It has also been taken as an exclamation ("This is your law for man, O Sovereign LORD!") and understood as a summation of the divine decree concerning David and his house.

7:20 know. Or "especially acknowledge" or "choose" (see Ge 18:19, "chosen"; Am 3:2, "chosen"). David recognizes God's promise as a covenant (23:5).

7:21 your word. Probably God's covenant word of promise to his people.

7:22 no God but you. See 22:32; 1Sa 2:2.

7:23 the one nation on earth that God went out to redeem as a people for himself. Israel's uniqueness did not consist in her national achievements but in God's choice of her to be his own people (see Dt 7:6–8; 33:26–29). to make a name for himself. The basis for God's electing love, revealed in his dealings with Israel, did not lie in any meritorious characteristic of the Israelite people but in his own sovereign purposes (see Dt 7:6–8; 9:4–5; 1Sa 12:22; Ne 9:10; Isa 63:12; Jer 32:20–21; Eze 36:22–38).

7:24 you, O LORD, have become their God. What God has pledged to David, he has pledged as the God of Israel.

7:27 your servant has found courage to offer you this prayer. David's prayer lays claim on God's promise.

7:28 good things. A common summary expression for covenant benefits from God (see, e.g., 1Sa 2:32, "good"; Nu 10:29,32; Dt 26:11; Jos 21:45; 23:14, "good promises"; Isa 63:7; Jer 29:32; 32:40–41, "good"; 33:9).

8:1 In the course of time. Chronologically the events of this chapter, or many of them, are probably to be placed between chs. 5 and 6 (see 7:1 and note). Metheg Ammah. An unknown site, perhaps near Gath (see 1Ch 18:1).

8:2 Moabites. Descendants of Lot (Ge 19:37), occupying territory east of the Dead Sea. Saul fought with the Moabites (1Sa 14:47), and David sought refuge in Moab for his parents during his exile from Israel (1Sa 22:3–4). See note on Ru 1:22.

to death, and the third length was allowed to live. So the Moabites became subject to David and brought tribute.[z]

[3]Moreover, David fought Hadadezer[a] son of Rehob, king of Zobah,[b] when he went to restore his control along the Euphrates[c] River. [4]David captured a thousand of his chariots, seven thousand charioteers[t] and twenty thousand foot soldiers. He hamstrung[d] all but a hundred of the chariot horses.

[5]When the Arameans of Damascus[e] came to help Hadadezer king of Zobah, David struck down twenty-two thousand of them. [6]He put garrisons[f] in the Aramean kingdom of Damascus, and the Arameans became subject[g] to him and brought tribute. The LORD gave David victory wherever he went.[h]

[7]David took the gold shields[i] that belonged to the officers of Hadadezer and brought them to Jerusalem. [8]From Tebah[u] and Berothai,[j] towns that belonged to Hadadezer, King David took a great quantity of bronze.

[9]When Tou[v] king of Hamath[k] heard that David had defeated the entire army of Hadadezer,[l] [10]he sent his son Joram[w] to King David to greet him and congratulate him on his victory in battle over Hadadezer, who had been at war with Tou. Joram brought with him articles of silver and gold and bronze.

[11]King David dedicated[m] these articles to the LORD, as he had done with the silver and gold from all the nations he had subdued: [12]Edom[x][n] and Moab,[o] the Ammonites[p] and the Philistines,[q] and Amalek.[r] He also dedicated the plunder taken from Hadadezer son of Rehob, king of Zobah.

[13]And David became famous[s] after he returned from striking down eighteen thousand Edomites[y] in the Valley of Salt.[t]

[14]He put garrisons throughout Edom, and all the Edomites[u] became subject to David.[v] The LORD gave David victory[w] wherever he went.[x]

8:3 Hadadezer. Means "Hadad is (my) help." Hadad was an Aramean deity equivalent to the Canaanite Baal. Zobah. Saul had previously fought against the kings of Zobah (1Sa 14:47), whose territory was apparently located in the Beqaa Valley between the Lebanon and Anti-Lebanon mountains, thus on Israel's northern border. restore. Saul's earlier victories over the kings of Zobah had extended Israelite control, if only briefly, as far as the fringes of the Euphrates Valley. Euphrates River. The land promised to Abraham had included borders from Egypt to the Euphrates (Ge 15:18–21; Dt 1:7; 11:24; Jos 1:4). Here is at least another provisional fulfillment of this promise (see 1Ki 4:21–24; see also Ge 17:8; Jos 21:43–45). See map No. 5 at the end of the study Bible.

8:4 See NIV text note. hamstrung ... the chariot horses. See Jos 11:6 and note. David may not have understood the value of the chariot as a military weapon.

8:5 came to help Hadadezer. They feared Israelite expansion to the north.

8:7 gold shields. Shields adorned with gold—the phrase is similar to "iron chariots" (see Jos 17:16 and note).

8:8 bronze. Later used by Solomon in the construction of the temple (1Ch 18:8).

8:9 Hamath. A kingdom centered on the Orontes River, north of Zobah (see v. 3 and note).

8:13 Valley of Salt. See 2Ki 14:7; see also Ps 60 title.

8:15 just and right. As a true theocratic king, David's reign was characterized by adherence to God's standards of right rule (see notes on 1Sa 8:3; 12:3), as no doubt laid down in Samuel's "regulations of the kingship" (see 1Sa 10:25 and note; 1Ki 2:3–4).

8:16 Joab son of Zeruiah was over the army. See notes on 2:13; 5:8. recorder. The precise duties of this official are not indicated, though the position was an important one in the court and was maintained throughout the period of the monarchy (see 2Ki 18:18,37; 2Ch 34:8; Isa 36:3,11,22). He may have been a kind of chancellor or chief administrator of royal affairs, responsible among other things for the royal chronicles and annals.

8:17 Zadok son of Ahitub. First mentioned here, Zadok was a descendant of Eleazar son of Aaron (see 1Ch 6:4–8,50–52; 24:1–3). His father, Ahitub, is not to be identified with Ichabod's brother of the same name (1Sa 14:3). Zadok remained loyal to David throughout his reign (15:24–29; 17:15–16; 19:11) and eventually anointed Solomon as David's successor (1Ki 1:8,45; 2:35; 4:4). Ahimelech son of Abiathar. It appears that a copyist's error may have occurred here (repeated in 1Ch 24:3,6,31) in which these two names have been transposed. Abiathar is referred to as son of Ahimelech in 1Sa 22:20. While it is true that the Abiathar of 1Sa 22:20 could have had a son named Ahimelech (after his grandfather), such a person does not appear elsewhere in the narratives of Samuel and Kings as a colleague of Zadok, but Abiathar consistently does (15:29,35; 17:15; 19:11; 20:25; 1Ki 1:7–8,19; 2:27,35; 4:4). Abiathar was a descendant of Aaron through Ithamar (1Ch 24:3) in the line of Eli (see notes on 1Sa 2:31,33). Seraiah. Also called Sheva (20:25), Shisha (1Ki 4:3) and Shavsha (1Ch 18:16). secretary. His duties presumably included domestic and foreign correspondence, perhaps keeping records of important political events, and various administrative functions (2Ki 12:10–12).

priests; Seraiah was secretary;[e] [18]Benaiah[f] son of Jehoiada was over the Kerethites[g] and Pelethites; and David's sons were royal advisers.[z]

David and Mephibosheth

9 David asked, "Is there anyone still left of the house of Saul to whom I can show kindness for Jonathan's sake?"[h]

[2]Now there was a servant of Saul's household named Ziba.[i] They called him to appear before David, and the king said to him, "Are you Ziba?"

"Your servant," he replied.

[3]The king asked, "Is there no one still left of the house of Saul to whom I can show God's kindness?"

Ziba answered the king, "There is still a son of Jonathan;[j] he is crippled[k] in both feet."

[4]"Where is he?" the king asked.

Ziba answered, "He is at the house of Makir[l] son of Ammiel in Lo Debar."

[5]So King David had him brought from Lo Debar, from the house of Makir son of Ammiel.

[6]When Mephibosheth son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, came to David, he bowed down to pay him honor.[m]

David said, "Mephibosheth!"

"Your servant," he replied.

[7]"Don't be afraid," David said to him, "for I will surely show you kindness for the sake of your father Jonathan.[n] I will restore to you all the land that belonged to your grandfather Saul, and you will always eat at my table.[o]"

[8]Mephibosheth[p] bowed down and said, "What is your servant, that you should notice a dead dog[q] like me?"

[9]Then the king summoned Ziba, Saul's servant, and said to him, "I have given your master's grandson everything that belonged to Saul and his family. [10]You and your sons and your servants are to farm the land for him and bring in the crops, so that your master's grandson[r] may be provided for. And Mephibosheth, grandson of your master, will always eat at my table." (Now Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants.)

[11]Then Ziba said to the king, "Your servant will do whatever my lord the king commands his servant to do." So Mephibosheth ate at David's[a] table like one of the king's sons.[s]

[12]Mephibosheth had a young son named Mica, and all the members of Ziba's household were servants of Mephibosheth.[t] [13]And Mephibosheth lived in Jerusalem, because he always ate at the king's table, and he was crippled in both feet.

[z] 18 Or were priests [a] 11 Septuagint; Hebrew my

8:18 Kerethites and Pelethites. See note on 1Sa 30:14. Under the leadership of Benaiah, they formed a sort of special royal guard for David (23:22–23). "Pelethite" is probably an alternate form of "Philistine." royal advisers. The Hebrew has the common word for "priests" (see NIV text note; see also 20:26), but the usage is obscure since that sense appears unlikely. Chronicles has "chief officials at the king's side" (see 1Ch 18:17 and note), which supports the meaning "royal advisers."

9:1–20:26 These chapters, together with 1Ki 1:1–2:46, are often referred to as the "Court History of David" and hailed as one of the finest examples of historical narrative to have been produced in the ancient world. Their intimate and precise detail marks them as the work of an eyewitness.

9:1–13 The events of this chapter cannot be dated precisely, but they occurred a number of years after David's capture of Jerusalem. Mephibosheth was five years old at the time of his father's death (4:4); now he has a son of his own (v. 12).

9:1 I can show kindness for Jonathan's sake. David has not forgotten his promise to Jonathan (see 1Sa 20:15,42).

9:2 Ziba. The chief steward of Saul's estate, which had been inherited by Mephibosheth son of Jonathan, Saul's firstborn (see 16:1–4; 19:17).

9:3 There is still a son of Jonathan. Saul had other descendants (see 21:8), but Ziba mentions only the one in whom David would be chiefly interested.

9:4 Makir. Apparently a wealthy benefactor of Mephibosheth who later also came to David's aid (17:27). Lo Debar. A town deep in Gileadite territory in Transjordan (Jos 13:26, "Debir"), far from the family estate and from David's court (see note on 2:8).

9:7 restore to you. The property Saul had acquired as king had either been taken over by David, or Ziba as steward had virtually taken possession of it and was profiting from its income (see 16:1–4; 19:26–30). you will always eat at my table. More a matter of high honor than economic assistance. Mephibosheth's general financial needs were to be cared for by the produce of Saul's estate (v. 10).

9:8 dead dog like me. An expression of deep self-abasement. The author has used the "dead dog" motif with great effect. First Goliath, scornfully disdaining the young warrior David, asks, "Am I a dog . . . ?" (1Sa 17:43)—and unwittingly foreshadows his own end. Then David, in a self-deprecating manner, describes himself as a "dead dog" (1Sa 24:14) to suggest to Saul that the king of Israel should not consider him worth so much attention. In the Nabal episode, that "dog" (a Calebite) and his sudden death characterize Saul and foreshadow his unhappy end (see note on 1Sa 25:3). Here a grandson of Saul and in 16:9 a relative of the dead king who curses David are similarly described. For the author, "dead dog" fittingly characterizes those who foolishly scorn or oppose the Lord's anointed, while David's own self-deprecation (see 1Sa 18:18; 2Sa 7:18) is conducive to his exaltation.

9:12 Mica. See 1Ch 8:35–39 for his descendants.

10:1 king. Nahash (see v. 2; 1Sa 11). Ammonites. See note on 1Sa 11:1.

10:2 show kindness. The Hebrew for this expression suggests that a formal treaty existed between the Israelites and the Ammonites. Perhaps this explains why there is no thought, "I will show kindness to Hanun son of Nahash,[u] just as his father showed kindness to me." So David sent a delegation to express his sympathy to Hanun concerning his father.

When David's men came to the land of the Ammonites, [3]the Ammonite nobles said to Hanun their lord, "Do you think David is honoring your father by sending men to you to express sympathy? Hasn't David sent them to you to explore the city and spy it out[v] and overthrow it?" [4]So Hanun seized David's men, shaved off half of each man's beard,[w] cut off their garments in the middle at the buttocks,[x] and sent them away.

[5]When David was told about this, he sent messengers to meet the men, for they were greatly humiliated. The king said, "Stay at Jericho till your beards have grown, and then come back."

[6]When the Ammonites realized that they had become a stench[y] in David's nostrils, they hired twenty thousand Aramean[z] foot soldiers from Beth Rehob[a] and Zobah,[b] as well as the king of Maacah[c] with a thousand men, and also twelve thousand men from Tob.[d]

[7]On hearing this, David sent Joab[e] out with the entire army of fighting men. [8]The Ammonites came out and drew up in battle formation at the entrance to their city gate, while the Arameans of Zobah and Rehob and the men of Tob and Maacah were by themselves in the open country.

[9]Joab saw that there were battle lines in front of him and behind him; so he selected some of the best troops in Israel and deployed them against the Arameans. [10]He put the rest of the men under the command of Abishai[f] his brother and deployed them against the Ammonites. [11]Joab said, "If the Arameans are too strong for me, then you are to come to my rescue; but if the Ammonites are too strong for you, then I will come to rescue you. [12]Be strong[g] and let us fight bravely for our people and the cities of our God. The LORD will do what is good in his sight."[h]

[13]Then Joab and the troops with him advanced to fight the Arameans, and they fled before him. [14]When the Ammonites[i] saw that the Arameans were fleeing, they fled before Abishai and went inside the city. So Joab returned from fighting the Ammonites and came to Jerusalem.

[15]After the Arameans saw that they had been routed by Israel, they regrouped. [16]Hadadezer had Arameans brought from beyond the River[b]; they went to Helam, with Shobach the commander of Hadadezer's army leading them.

[17]When David was told of this, he gathered all Israel, crossed the Jordan and went to Helam. The Arameans formed their battle lines to meet David and fought against him. [18]But they fled before Israel, and David killed seven hundred of their charioteers and forty thousand of their foot soldiers.[c] He also struck down Shobach the commander of their army, and he died there. [19]When all the kings who were vassals of Hadadezer saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they made peace with the Israelites and became subject[j] to them.

So the Arameans[k] were afraid to help the Ammonites anymore.

David and Bathsheba

11 In the spring,[l] at the time when kings go off to war, David sent Joab[m] out with the king's men and the whole Israelite army.[n] They destroyed the Ammonites and besieged Rabbah.[o] But David remained in Jerusalem.

[2]One evening David got up from his bed and walked around on the roof[p] of the palace. From the roof he saw[q] a woman bathing. The woman was very

10:3 city. Rabbah, the capital (11:1; 12:26).

10:4 shaved off half of each man's beard. In the Eastern world of that time this was considered an insult of the most serious kind. A beard was shaved only as a sign of deep mourning (see Isa 15:2; Jer 41:5; Eze 5:1). cut off their garments in the middle at the buttocks. A customary way of degrading prisoners of war (see Isa 20:4).

10:5 Jericho. See notes on Jos 6:1,26; 1Ki 16:34. Jericho remained unrestored during the centuries between Joshua's conquest and the time of Ahab.

10:18 seven hundred. Evidently a copyist's mistake; in 1Ch 19:18 the figure is 7,000.

10:19 they made peace with the Israelites. There is no indication that Hadadezer himself made peace with Israel as his vassals did in the aftermath of this defeat. These events represent David's last major campaign against combined foreign powers.

11:1 the spring. Of the year following the events reported in ch. 10. The time must have been about ten years after David became established in Jerusalem. the time when kings go off to war. Directly after the grain harvest in April and May. Rabbah. See note on 10:3. Though now alone (see 10:19), the Ammonites had not yet been subjugated.

11:2 walked around on the roof. The roofs were flat (see 1Sa 9:25). David had probably gone there to enjoy the cool evening air.

beautiful, [3]and David sent someone to find out about her. The man said, "Isn't this Bathsheba,[r] the daughter of Eliam[s] and the wife of Uriah[t] the Hittite?" [4]Then David sent messengers to get her.[u] She came to him, and he slept[v] with her. (She had purified herself from her uncleanness.)[w] Then[d] she went back home. [5]The woman conceived and sent word to David, saying, "I am pregnant."

[6]So David sent this word to Joab: "Send me Uriah[x] the Hittite." And Joab sent him to David. [7]When Uriah came to him, David asked him how Joab was, how the soldiers were and how the war was going. [8]Then David said to Uriah, "Go down to your house and wash your feet."[y] So Uriah left the palace, and a gift from the king was sent after him. [9]But Uriah slept at the entrance to the palace with all his master's servants and did not go down to his house.

[10]When David was told, "Uriah did not go home," he asked him, "Haven't you just come from a distance? Why didn't you go home?"

[11]Uriah said to David, "The ark[z] and Israel and Judah are staying in tents, and my master Joab and my lord's men are camped in the open fields. How could I go to my house to eat and drink and lie[a] with my wife? As surely as you live, I will not do such a thing!"

[12]Then David said to him, "Stay here one more day, and tomorrow I will send you back." So Uriah remained in Jerusalem that day and the next. [13]At David's invitation, he ate and drank with him, and David made him drunk. But in the evening Uriah went out to sleep on his mat among his master's servants; he did not go home.

[14]In the morning David wrote a letter[b] to Joab and sent it with Uriah. [15]In it he wrote, "Put Uriah in the front line where the fighting is fiercest. Then withdraw from him so he will be struck down[c] and die.[d]"

[16]So while Joab had the city under siege, he put Uriah at a place where he knew the strongest defenders were. [17]When the men of the city came out and fought against Joab, some of the men in David's army fell; moreover, Uriah the Hittite died.

[18]Joab sent David a full account of the battle. [19]He instructed the messenger: "When you have finished giving the king this account of the battle, [20]the king's anger may flare up, and he may ask you, 'Why did you get so close to the city to fight? Didn't you know they would shoot arrows from the wall? [21]Who killed

[d]4 Or with her. When she purified herself from her uncleanness,

11:3 Eliam. Perhaps the same Eliam who was a member of David's personal bodyguard (23:34) and a son of his counselor Ahithophel. Uriah. Also listed among those comprising David's royal guard (23:39). His name suggests that even though he was a Hittite, he had adopted the Israelite faith (Uriah means "My light is the LORD"). Hittite. See note on 1Sa 26:6.

11:4 David sent messengers to get her. Through this action David eventually becomes guilty of breaking the sixth, seventh, ninth and tenth commandments (Ex 20:13–17). She came to him, and he slept with her. Bathsheba appears to have been an unprotesting partner in this adulterous relationship with David. (She had purified herself from her uncleanness.) The purpose of this parenthetical statement is to indicate Bathsheba's condition at the time of her sexual relations with David. She had just become ceremonially clean (Lev 15:28–30) after the seven-day period of monthly impurity due to menstruation (Lev 15:19–30). The significance of this in the context is to make it clear that she was not already pregnant by her own husband when David took her.

11:5 I am pregnant. Bathsheba leaves the next step up to David. The law prescribed the death penalty for both David and Bathsheba (Lev 20:10; Dt 22:22), as they well knew.

11:6 Send me Uriah. Under the pretense of seeking information about the course of the war, David brings Uriah back to Jerusalem.

11:8 Go down to your house and wash your feet. In essence, David tells Uriah to go home and relax. What he does not say specifically is what is most important, and well understood by Uriah (v. 11). a gift from the king was sent after him. The Hebrew word for "gift" has the meaning of "food" in Ge 43:34 ("portions" from the king's table). David wanted Uriah and Bathsheba to enjoy their evening together.

11:11 ark. Uriah's statement suggests that the ark was in the field camp with the army rather than in the tent that David had set up for it in Jerusalem (6:17). If so, it was probably there for purposes of worship and to seek guidance for the war. But then the circumstances are even more damning for David—the Lord is in the field with his army while David stays at home in leisure. How could I go to my house . . . ? Uriah's devotion to duty exposes by sharp contrast David's dalliance at home while his men are in the field. As surely as you live. See note on 1Sa 1:26.

11:13 David made him drunk. In the hope that in this condition he would relent and go to Bathsheba.

11:15 so he will be struck down and die. Unsuccessful in making it appear that Uriah was the father of Bathsheba's child, David plotted Uriah's death so he could marry Bathsheba himself as quickly as possible.

11:21 Jerub-Besheth. Another possible spelling is "Jerub-Bosheth." In Judges he is called Jerub-Baal (see note on Jdg 6:32; see also NIV text note here). For similar name changes by the author of Samuel see notes on 2:8; 4:4. millstone. See Jdg 9:52–53. Uriah . . . is dead. Joab knows that this news is of great importance to David, and he uses it to squelch any criticism David might otherwise

22The messenger set out, and when he arrived he told David everything Joab had sent him to say. 23The messenger said to David, "The men overpowered us and came out against us in the open, but we drove them back to the entrance to the city gate. 24Then the archers shot arrows at your servants from the wall, and some of the king's men died. Moreover, your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead."

25David told the messenger, "Say this to Joab: 'Don't let this upset this; the sword devours one as well as another. Press the attack against the city and destroy it.' Say this to encourage Joab."

26When Uriah's wife heard that her husband was dead, she mourned for him. 27After the time of mourning[g] was over, David had her brought to his house, and she became his wife and bore him a son. But the thing David had done displeased[h] the LORD.

He raised it, and it grew up with him and his children. It shared his food, drank from his cup and even slept in his arms. It was like a daughter to him.

4"Now a traveler came to the rich man, but the rich man refrained from taking one of his own sheep or cattle to prepare a meal for the traveler who had come to him. Instead, he took the ewe lamb that belonged to the poor man and prepared it for the one who had come to him."

5David[l] burned with anger[m] against the man[n] and said to Nathan, "As surely as the LORD lives,[o] the man who did this deserves to die! 6He must pay for that lamb four times over,[p] because he did such a thing and had no pity."

7Then Nathan said to David, "You are the man![q] This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: 'I anointed[r] you[s] king over Israel, and I delivered you from the hand of Saul. 8I gave your master's house to you,[t] and your master's wives into your arms. I gave you the house of Israel and Judah. And if all this had been too little, I would have given you even more. 9Why did you despise[u] the word of the LORD by doing what is evil in his eyes? You struck down[v] Uriah[w] the Hittite with the sword and took his wife to be your own. You killed[x] him with the sword of the Ammonites. 10Now, therefore, the sword[y] will never depart from your house, because you despised me and took the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be your own.'

11"This is what the LORD says: 'Out of your own household[z] I am going to bring calamity upon you.[a] Before your very eyes I will take your wives and give them to one who is close to you, and he will lie with your wives in broad daylight.[b] 12You did it in secret,[c] but I will do this thing in broad daylight[d] before all Israel.' " have had of the battle tactics.

11:25 David told the messenger. David hid his satisfaction over the news with a hypocritical statement that war is war and the death of Uriah should not be a discouragement.

11:27 time of mourning was over. Presumably a period of seven days (Ge 50:10; 1Sa 31:13). she became his wife. See notes on 3:2–5; 5:14. the thing David had done displeased the LORD. Not only had David brazenly violated God's laws (see note on v. 4) but, even worse, he had shamelessly abused his royal power, which the Lord had entrusted to him to shepherd the Lord's people (5:2; 7:7–8).

12:1 The LORD sent. Prophets were messengers from the Lord. Here the Great King sends his emissary to rebuke and announce judgment on the king he had enthroned over his people. Nathan. See note on 7:2. There were two men. Nathan begins one of the most striking parables in the OT.

12:6 four times over. In agreement with the requirements of Ex 22:1.

12:8 your master's wives. Earlier narratives refer to only one wife of Saul (Ahinoam, 1Sa 14:50) and one concubine (Rizpah, 2Sa 3:7; 21:8). This statement suggests that there were others. But since it was customary for new kings to assume the harem of their predecessors (see note on 3:7), it may be that Nathan merely uses conventional language to emphasize that the Lord had placed David on Saul's throne. I gave you the house of Israel and Judah. See 2:4; 5:2–3.

12:9 despise the word of the LORD. See notes on 11:4,27. You killed him. David is held directly responsible for Uriah's death even though he fell in battle (see 11:15).

12:10 the sword will never depart from your house. Three of David's sons came to violent deaths: Amnon (13:28–29), Absalom (18:14) and Adonijah (1Ki 2:25).

12:11 Out of your own household I am going to bring calamity upon you. David was driven from Jerusalem by Absalom's conspiracy to seize the kingship from his own father (15:1–15). he will lie with your wives in broad daylight. Fulfilled at the time of Absalom's rebellion (see note on 16:22).

12:13 I have sinned against the LORD. David recognizes his guilt and confesses his sin in response to

Nathan replied, "The LORD has taken away[f] your sin.[g] You are not going to die.[h] [14]But because by doing this you have made the enemies of the LORD show utter contempt,[fi] the son born to you will die."

[15]After Nathan had gone home, the LORD struck[j] the child that Uriah's wife had borne to David, and he became ill. [16]David pleaded with God for the child. He fasted and went into his house and spent the nights lying[k] on the ground. [17]The elders of his household stood beside him to get him up from the ground, but he refused,[l] and he would not eat any food with them.[m]

[18]On the seventh day the child died. David's servants were afraid to tell him that the child was dead, for they thought, "While the child was still living, we spoke to David but he would not listen to us. How can we tell him the child is dead? He may do something desperate."

[19]David noticed that his servants were whispering among themselves and he realized the child was dead. "Is the child dead?" he asked.

"Yes," they replied, "he is dead."

[20]Then David got up from the ground. After he had washed,[n] put on lotions and changed his clothes,[o] he went into the house of the LORD and worshiped. Then he went to his own house, and at his request they served him food, and he ate.

[21]His servants asked him, "Why are you acting this way? While the child was alive, you fasted and wept,[p] but now that the child is dead, you get up and eat!"

[22]He answered, "While the child was still alive, I fasted and wept. I thought, 'Who knows?[q] The LORD may be gracious to me and let the child live.'[r] [23]But now that he is dead, why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I will go to him,[s] but he will not return to me."[t]

[24]Then David comforted his wife Bathsheba,[u] and he went to her and lay with her. She gave birth to a son, and they named him Solomon.[v] The LORD loved him; [25]and because the LORD loved him, he sent word through Nathan the prophet to name him Jedidiah.[gw]

[26]Meanwhile Joab fought against Rabbah[x] of the Ammonites and captured the royal citadel. [27]Joab then sent messengers to David, saying, "I have fought against Rabbah and taken its water supply. [28]Now muster the rest of the troops and besiege the city and capture it. Otherwise I will take the city, and it will be named after me."

[29]So David mustered the entire army and went to Rabbah, and attacked and captured it. [30]He took the crown[y] from the head of their king[h]—its weight was a talent[i] of gold, and it was set with precious stones—and it was placed on David's head. He took a great quantity of plunder from the city [31]and brought out the people who were there, consigning them to labor with saws and with iron picks and axes, and he made them work at brickmaking.[j] He did this to all the Ammonite[z] towns. Then David and his entire army returned to Jerusalem.

[f]14 Masoretic Text; an ancient Hebrew scribal tradition this you have shown utter contempt for the LORD
[g]25 Jedidiah means loved by the LORD. [h]30 Or of Milcom (that is, Molech) [i]30 That is, about 75 pounds (about 34 kilograms) [j]31 The meaning of the Hebrew for this clause is uncertain.

Nathan's rebuke (see Ps 51). There is a clear contrast between David's confession and Saul's (see note on 1Sa 15:24). The LORD has taken away your sin. David experienced the joy of knowing his sin was forgiven (see Ps 32:1,5; cf. Ps 51:8,12). You are not going to die. The Lord, in his grace, released David from the customary death penalty for adultery and murder (Lev 20:10; 24:17).

12:14 you have made the enemies of the LORD show utter contempt. David is required to suffer the disciplinary results of his sin in a manner open to public view. But see NIV text note.

12:20 he went into the house of the LORD and worshiped. In this way David clearly demonstrated his humble acceptance of the disciplinary results of his sin. Again (see note on v. 13) there is a contrast between David's attitude and Saul's (see note on 1Sa 15:25).

12:23 I will go to him. Like the child, David will die and join him in the grave (see note on Ge 37:35).

12:24 Solomon. See 1Ch 22:9 and NIV text note.

12:25 Jedidiah. See NIV text note. The giving of this name suggests that the Lord's special favor rested on Solomon from his birth. And since the name also contained an echo of David's name, it provided assurance to David that the Lord also loved him and would continue his dynasty.

12:26 Joab fought against Rabbah. The writer now returns to the outcome of the attack against the Ammonites (11:1,25), which provided the background for the story of David and Bathsheba. Even while the Lord was displeased with David, he gave the Israelites victory over a people who had abused them.

12:30 the crown ... was placed on David's head. A crown of such weight (see NIV text note) would have been worn only briefly and on very special occasions. Perhaps it was worn only once in a symbolic act of transferring to David sovereignty over Ammon.

12:31 consigning them to labor. Victorious kings often used prisoners of war as menial laborers in royal building projects (see 1Ki 9:20–21; cf. also Ex 1:11).

13:1–39 The trouble within David's family begins (see note on 12:10).

13:1 Amnon. David's oldest son (3:2). Tamar. David's daughter by Maacah of Geshur (3:3), and Absalom's full sister.

David's Conquests

Once he had become king over all Israel (2Sa 5:1-5), David:

1. Conquered the Jebusite citadel of Zion/Jerusalem and made it his royal city (2Sa 5:6-10);
2. Received the recognition of and assurance of friendship from Hiram of Tyre, king of the Phoenicians (2Sa 5:11-12);
3. Decisively defeated the Philistines so that their hold on Israelite territory was broken and their threat to Israel eliminated (2Sa 5:17-25; 8:1);
4. Defeated the Moabites and imposed his authority over them (2Sa 8:2);
5. Crushed the Aramean kingdoms of Hadadezer (king of Zobah), Damascus and Maacah and put them under tribute (2Sa 8:3-8; 10:6-19). Talmai, the Aramean king of Geshur, apparently had made peace with David while he was still reigning in Hebron and sealed the alliance by giving his daughter in marriage to David (2Sa 3:3; see 1Ch 2:23);
6. Subdued Edom and incorporated it into his empire (2Sa 8:13-14);
7. Defeated the Ammonites and brought them into subjection (2Sa 12:19-31);
8. Subjugated the remaining Canaanite cities that had previously maintained their independence from and hostility toward Israel, such as Beth Shan, Megiddo, Taanach and Dor.

Since David had earlier crushed the Amalekites (1Sa 30:17), his wars thus completed the conquest begun by Joshua and secured all the borders of Israel. His empire (united Israel plus the subjugated kingdoms) reached from Ezion Geber on the eastern arm of the Red Sea to the Euphrates River.

mar,[b] the beautiful sister of Absalom[c] son of David.

[2]Amnon became frustrated to the point of illness on account of his sister Tamar, for she was a virgin, and it seemed impossible for him to do anything to her.

[3]Now Amnon had a friend named Jonadab son of Shimeah,[d] David's brother. Jonadab was a very shrewd man. [4]He asked Amnon, "Why do you, the king's son, look so haggard morning after morning? Won't you tell me?"

Amnon said to him, "I'm in love with Tamar, my brother Absalom's sister."

[5]"Go to bed and pretend to be ill," Jonadab said. "When your father comes to see you, say to him, 'I would like my sister Tamar to come and give me something to eat. Let her prepare the food in my sight so I may watch her and then eat it from her hand.' "

[6]So Amnon lay down and pretended to be ill. When the king came to see him, Amnon said to him, "I would like my sister Tamar to come and make some special bread in my sight, so I may eat from her hand."

[7]David sent word to Tamar at the palace: "Go to the house of your brother Amnon and prepare some food for him." [8]So Tamar went to the house of her brother Amnon, who was lying down. She took some dough, kneaded it, made the bread in his sight and baked it. [9]Then she took the pan and served him the bread, but he refused to eat.

"Send everyone out of here,"[e] Amnon said. So everyone left him. [10]Then Amnon said to Tamar, "Bring the food here into my bedroom so I may eat from your hand." And Tamar took the bread she had prepared and brought it to her brother Amnon in his bedroom. [11]But when she took it to him to eat, he grabbed[f] her and said, "Come to bed with me, my sister."[g]

[12]"Don't, my brother!" she said to him. "Don't force me. Such a thing should not be done in Israel![h] Don't do this wicked thing.[i] [13]What about me?[j] Where could I get rid of my disgrace? And what about you? You would be like one of the wicked fools in Israel. Please speak to the king; he will not keep me from being married to you." [14]But he refused to listen to her, and since he was stronger than she, he raped her.[k]

[15]Then Amnon hated her with intense hatred. In fact, he hated her more than he had loved her. Amnon said to her, "Get up and get out!"

[16]"No!" she said to him. "Sending me away would be a greater wrong than what you have already done to me."

But he refused to listen to her. [17]He called his personal servant and said, "Get this woman out of here and bolt the door after her." [18]So his servant put her out and bolted the door after her. She was wearing a richly ornamented[k] robe,[l] for this was the kind of garment the virgin daughters of the king wore. [19]Tamar put ashes[m] on her head and tore the ornamented[l] robe she was wearing. She put her hand on her head and went away, weeping aloud as she went.

[20]Her brother Absalom said to her, "Has that Amnon, your brother, been with you? Be quiet now, my sister; he is your brother. Don't take this thing to heart." And Tamar lived in her brother Absalom's house, a desolate woman.

[21]When King David heard all this, he was furious.[n] [22]Absalom never said a word to Amnon, either good or bad;[o] he hated[p] Amnon because he had disgraced his sister Tamar.

Absalom Kills Amnon

[23]Two years later, when Absalom's sheepshearers[q] were at Baal Hazor near the border of Ephraim, he invited all the king's sons to come there. [24]Absalom

[k] 18 The meaning of the Hebrew for this phrase is uncertain. [l] 19 The meaning of the Hebrew for this word is uncertain.

13:3 Shimeah. Called Shammah in 1Sa 16:9.

13:13 what about you? This act would jeopardize Amnon's position as crown prince and heir to the throne. he will not keep me from being married to you. Possibly a futile attempt by Tamar to escape Amnon's immediate designs rather than a serious proposal, since such a marriage was prohibited in Israel (see Lev 18:9; 20:17; Dt 27:22).

13:15 Amnon hated her. The reversal in Amnon's feelings toward Tamar demonstrates that his former "love" (v. 1) was nothing but sensual desire.

13:16 Sending me away would be a greater wrong. No longer a virgin, she could not be offered by her father to any other potential husband (see v. 21 and note).

13:18 richly ornamented robe. See Ge 37:3 and note.

13:19 put ashes on her head. A sign of great mourning. tore the ornamented robe. Thus expressing her anguish and announcing that her virginity had been violated. put her hand on her head. Also a sign of grief (see Jer 2:37).

13:20 Be quiet now, my sister . . . Don't take this thing to heart. Absalom urges his sister not to make the matter a public scandal, and attempts to quiet her by minimizing its significance. Meanwhile, he formulates his own secret plans for revenge (see vv. 22,28,32).

13:21 he was furious. Although David was incensed by Amnon's rape of Tamar, there is no record that he took any punitive action against him. Perhaps the memory of his own sin with Bathsheba adversely affected his judicious handling of the matter. Whatever the reason, David abdicated his responsibility both as king and as father. This disciplinary leniency toward his sons (see notes on 14:33; 1Ki 1:6) eventually led to the death of Amnon and the revolts of Absalom and Adonijah.

13:22 Absalom never said a word to Amnon . . . he hated Amnon. He quietly bided his time.

13:23 he invited all the king's sons. The time of sheepshearing was a festive occasion (see 1Sa 25:4,8).

went to the king and said, "Your servant has had shearers come. Will the king and his officials please join me?"

25"No, my son," the king replied. "All of us should not go; we would only be a burden to you." Although Absalom urged him, he still refused to go, but gave him his blessing.

26Then Absalom said, "If not, please let my brother Amnon come with us."

The king asked him, "Why should he go with you?" 27But Absalom urged him, so he sent with him Amnon and the rest of the king's sons.

28Absalom[r] ordered his men, "Listen! When Amnon is in high[s] spirits from drinking wine and I say to you, 'Strike Amnon down,' then kill him. Don't be afraid. Have not I given you this order? Be strong and brave.[t]" 29So Absalom's men did to Amnon what Absalom had ordered. Then all the king's sons got up, mounted their mules and fled.

30While they were on their way, the report came to David: "Absalom has struck down all the king's sons; not one of them is left." 31The king stood up, tore[u] his clothes and lay down on the ground; and all his servants stood by with their clothes torn.

32But Jonadab son of Shimeah, David's brother, said, "My lord should not think that they killed all the princes; only Amnon is dead. This has been Absalom's expressed intention ever since the day Amnon raped his sister Tamar. 33My lord the king should not be concerned about the report that all the king's sons are dead. Only Amnon is dead."

34Meanwhile, Absalom had fled.

Now the man standing watch looked up and saw many people on the road west of him, coming down the side of the hill. The watchman went and told the king, "I see men in the direction of Horonaim, on the side of the hill."[m]

35Jonadab said to the king, "See, the king's sons are here; it has happened just as your servant said."

36As he finished speaking, the king's sons came in, wailing loudly. The king, too, and all his servants wept very bitterly.

37Absalom fled and went to Talmai[v] son of Ammihud, the king of Geshur. But King David mourned for his son every day.

38After Absalom fled and went to Geshur, he stayed there three years. 39And the spirit of the king[n] longed to go to Absalom,[w] for he was consoled[x] concerning Amnon's death.

Absalom Returns to Jerusalem

14 Joab[y] son of Zeruiah knew that the king's heart longed for Absalom. 2So Joab sent someone to Tekoa[z] and had a wise woman[a] brought from there. He said to her, "Pretend you are in mourning. Dress in mourning clothes, and don't use any cosmetic lotions.[b] Act like a woman who has spent many days grieving for the dead. 3Then go to the king and speak these words to him." And Joab[c] put the words in her mouth.

4When the woman from Tekoa went[o] to the king, she fell with her face to the ground to pay him honor, and she said, "Help me, O king!"

5The king asked her, "What is troubling you?"

She said, "I am indeed a widow; my husband is dead. 6I your servant had two sons. They got into a fight with each other in the field, and no one was there to separate them. One struck the other and killed him. 7Now the whole clan has risen up against your servant; they say,

13:26 let my brother Amnon come. Upon David's refusal of the invitation, Absalom diplomatically requested that Amnon, the crown prince and oldest son, be his representative. Why should he go with you? David's question suggests some misgivings because of the strained relationship between the two half brothers (see v. 22).

13:28 kill him. Absalom arranged for the murder of his half brother in violation of Eastern hospitality. In the wicked acts of Amnon and Absalom, David's oldest sons became guilty of sexual immorality and murder, as their father had before them. With the murder of Amnon, Absalom not only avenged the rape of his sister but also secured for himself the position of successor to the throne (see 3:3; 15:1–6). Kileab, David's second son (3:3), may have died in his youth since there is no reference to him beyond the announcement of his birth.

13:29 mules. Apparently the normal mount for royalty in David's kingdom (see 18:9; 1Ki 1:33,38,44; see also note on 1Ki 1:33).

13:31 tore his clothes and lay down on the ground. Common ways of expressing grief (see Jos 7:6; 1Ki 21:27; Est 4:1,3; Job 1:20; 2:8).

13:37 Talmai son of Ammihud, the king of Geshur. Absalom's grandfather (see 3:3).

13:39 longed to go to Absalom. With Absalom a refugee, David had lost both of his oldest living sons.

14:1 Joab son of Zeruiah. See note on 2:13. the king's heart longed for Absalom. Torn between anger and love (and perhaps remorse), David again leaves the initiative to others.

14:2 So Joab sent. Joab appears to have been motivated by a concern for the political implications of the unresolved dispute between David and the son in line for the throne. He attempts to move David to action by means of a story designed to elicit a response clearly applicable, by analogy, to David's own predicament. A similar technique was used by Nathan the prophet (12:1–7; see 1Ki 20:38–43). Tekoa. A town a few miles south of Bethlehem, from which the prophet Amos also came (Am 1:1).

14:7 the whole clan has risen up against your servant. It

They would put out the only burning coal I have left,[f] leaving my husband neither name nor descendant on the face of the earth."

[8]The king said to the woman, "Go home,[g] and I will issue an order in your behalf."

[9]But the woman from Tekoa said to him, "My lord the king, let the blame[h] rest on me and on my father's family,[i] and let the king and his throne be without guilt.[j]"

[10]The king replied, "If anyone says anything to you, bring him to me, and he will not bother you again."

[11]She said, "Then let the king invoke the LORD his God to prevent the avenger[k] of blood from adding to the destruction, so that my son will not be destroyed."

"As surely as the LORD lives," he said, "not one hair[l] of your son's head will fall to the ground.[m]"

[12]Then the woman said, "Let your servant speak a word to my lord the king."

"Speak," he replied.

[13]The woman said, "Why then have you devised a thing like this against the people of God? When the king says this, does he not convict himself,[n] for the king has not brought back his banished son?[o] [14]Like water[p] spilled on the ground, which cannot be recovered, so we must die.[q] But God does not take away life; instead, he devises ways so that a banished person[r] may not remain estranged from him.

[15]"And now I have come to say this to my lord the king because the people have made me afraid. Your servant thought, 'I will speak to the king; perhaps he will do what his servant asks. [16]Perhaps the king will agree to deliver his servant from the hand of the man who is trying to cut off both me and my son from the inheritance[s] God gave us.'

[17]"And now your servant says, 'May the word of my lord the king bring me rest, for my lord the king is like an angel[t] of God in discerning[u] good and evil. May the LORD your God be with you.' "

[18]Then the king said to the woman, "Do not keep from me the answer to what I am going to ask you."

"Let my lord the king speak," the woman said.

[19]The king asked, "Isn't the hand of Joab[v] with you in all this?"

The woman answered, "As surely as you live, my lord the king, no one can turn to the right or to the left from anything my lord the king says. Yes, it was your servant Joab who instructed me to do this and who put all these words into the mouth of your servant. [20]Your servant Joab did this to change the present situation. My lord has wisdom[w] like that of an angel of God—he knows everything that happens in the land.[x]" was customary in Israel for a murder victim's next of kin to avenge the blood of his relative by putting the murderer to death (see note on 3:27; see also Nu 35:12; Dt 19:11–13). In the case presented, however, blood revenge would wipe out the family line, which was something Israelite law and custom tried to avoid if at all possible (see notes on Dt 25:5–6; Ru 2:20). we will get rid of the heir as well. The woman suggests that the motivation for blood revenge was more a selfish desire to acquire the family inheritance than a desire for justice (see Nu 27:11). leaving my husband neither name nor descendant. The implication is that it would be a more serious offense to terminate the woman's family line than to permit a murder to go unpunished by blood revenge. Apparently Joab hoped subtly to suggest to David that if he did not restore Absalom, a struggle for the throne would eventually ensue.

14:8 I will issue an order in your behalf. David's judicial action may have rested on the legal ground that the murder was not premeditated (see Dt 19:4–6).

14:9 blame. For the unpunished crime.

14:11 let the king invoke the LORD his God. The woman wants David to confirm his promise by an oath in the Lord's name. As surely as the LORD lives. An oath formula (see notes on Ge 42:15; 1Sa 14:39) that solemnly binds David to his commitment.

14:13 against the people of God. The woman's suggestion is that David has done the same thing to Israel that her family members have done to her. The people of Israel want their crown prince returned safely to them. does he not convict himself . . . ? The argument is that when David exempted the fictitious murderer from blood revenge, he in effect rendered himself guilty for not doing the same in the case of Absalom. The analogy places David in the position of the blood avenger.

14:14 Like water spilled on the ground. Blood revenge will not return the victim of murder to life, just as water spilled on the ground cannot be recovered. God does not take away life. In the suggestion that the avenging of blood is contrary to God's ways of dealing with people, the woman apparently distorts Biblical teaching of God's justice (see note on Ge 9:6). But she dwells on the mercy of God, who would rather preserve life than take it (see Eze 18:23,32; 33:11). David's own guilt and subsequent experience of God's mercy appear to give added weight to the woman's argument (see notes on 12:13; 13:21).

14:15 the people have made me afraid. The woman reverts to her own fabricated story. "The people" are evidently those of her own family who are seeking blood revenge.

14:17 like an angel of God in discerning good and evil. Possessing superhuman powers of discernment—as a king ideally should (see v. 20; 19:27).

14:21 Joab. He appears to have been present the whole time.

king.[y] Joab said, "Today your servant knows that he has found favor in your eyes, my lord the king, because the king has granted his servant's request."

[23]Then Joab went to Geshur and brought Absalom back to Jerusalem. [24]But the king said, "He must go to his own house; he must not see my face." So Absalom went to his own house and did not see the face of the king.

[25]In all Israel there was not a man so highly praised for his handsome appearance as Absalom. From the top of his head to the sole of his foot there was no blemish in him. [26]Whenever he cut the hair of his head[z]—he used to cut his hair from time to time when it became too heavy for him—he would weigh it, and its weight was two hundred shekels[p] by the royal standard.

[27]Three sons[a] and a daughter were born to Absalom. The daughter's name was Tamar,[b] and she became a beautiful woman.

[28]Absalom lived two years in Jerusalem without seeing the king's face. [29]Then Absalom sent for Joab in order to send him to the king, but Joab refused to come to him. So he sent a second time, but he refused to come. [30]Then he said to his servants, "Look, Joab's field is next to mine, and he has barley[c] there. Go and set it on fire." So Absalom's servants set the field on fire.

[31]Then Joab did go to Absalom's house and he said to him, "Why have your servants set my field on fire?[d]"

[32]Absalom said to Joab, "Look, I sent word to you and said, 'Come here so I can send you to the king to ask, "Why have I come from Geshur?[e] It would be better for me if I were still there!" ' Now then, I want to see the king's face, and if I am guilty of anything, let him put me to death."[f]

[33]So Joab went to the king and told him this. Then the king summoned Absalom, and he came in and bowed down with his face to the ground before the king. And the king kissed[g] Absalom.

Absalom's Conspiracy

15 In the course of time,[h] Absalom provided himself with a chariot[i] and horses and with fifty men to run ahead of him. [2]He would get up early and stand by the side of the road leading to the city gate.[j] Whenever anyone came with a complaint to be placed before the king for a decision, Absalom would call out to him, "What town are you from?" He would answer, "Your servant is from one of the tribes of Israel." [3]Then Absalom would say to him, "Look, your claims are valid and proper, but there is no representative of the king to hear you."[k] [4]And Absalom would add, "If only I were appointed judge in the land![l] Then everyone who has a complaint or case could come to me and I would see that he gets justice."

[5]Also, whenever anyone approached him to bow down before him, Absalom would reach out his hand, take hold of him and kiss him. [6]Absalom behaved in this way toward all the Israelites who came to the king asking for justice, and so he stole the hearts[m] of the men of Israel.

[7]At the end of four[q] years, Absalom said to the king, "Let me go to Hebron

[q]7 Some Septuagint manuscripts, Syriac and Josephus; Hebrew forty

14:23 Joab went to Geshur. See 13:37.
14:24 he must not see my face. David still vacillates (see note on v. 1); he does not offer forgiveness and restoration.
14:25 not a man so highly praised. Absalom's handsomeness brought him attention and popular favor—which he was soon to cultivate.
14:26 hair of his head. For the people of that time, hair was apparently a sign of vigor. Kings and heroic figures were usually portrayed with abundant locks, while baldness was a disgrace (see 2Ki 2:23). In this, too, Absalom seemed destined for the throne. royal standard. The royal shekel was perhaps heavier than the sanctuary shekel (see Ex 30:13; Lev 5:15; Nu 3:47).
14:27 Three sons. Their names are unknown; 18:18 suggests that they died in their youth. Tamar. Absalom named his daughter after his sister (13:1). Maacah (1Ki 15:2) was probably a daughter of Tamar, and Absalom's granddaughter (see note on 2Ch 11:20).
14:32 if I am guilty of anything, let him put me to death. Absalom demands either full pardon and restoration or death, but he still gives no sign of repentance.
14:33 the king kissed Absalom. Signifying his forgiveness and Absalom's reconciliation with the royal family. David sidesteps repentance and justice, and in this way he probably contributes to the fulfillment of the prophecy of Nathan (12:10–12).
15:1 chariot and horses. As far as is known, Absalom was the first Israelite leader to acquire a chariot and horses (cf. Dt 17:16). fifty men. They probably functioned as bodyguards and provided a display of royal pomp that appealed to the masses. Adonijah later followed Absalom's example (1Ki 1:5).
15:3 your claims are valid. Absalom seeks to ingratiate himself with the people by endorsing their grievances apart from any investigation into their legitimacy.
15:4 If only I were appointed judge in the land! Absalom presents himself as the solution to the people's legal grievances. In the case of Amnon, he had taken matters into his own hands because of his father's laxity. He has found, he believes, the weakness in his father's reign, and he capitalizes on it with political astuteness.
15:7 four years. After his return to the court (14:33). By this time Absalom must have been about 30 years old, so his revolt must be dated early in the last decade of David's reign. Hebron. Where David was first proclaimed king (see notes on 2:1,4; 5:3,5) and where Absalom was born (3:2–3). Absalom may have had reason to believe that he could count on some local resentment over David's transfer of the capital to Jerusalem. Hebron was also the site of an important sanctuary.

and fulfill a vow I made to the LORD.
8While your servant was living at Geshur[n] in Aram, I made this vow:[o] 'If the LORD takes me back to Jerusalem, I will worship the LORD in Hebron.[p]' "

9The king said to him, "Go in peace." So he went to Hebron.

10Then Absalom sent secret messengers throughout the tribes of Israel to say, "As soon as you hear the sound of the trumpets,[p] then say, 'Absalom is king in Hebron.' " 11Two hundred men from Jerusalem had accompanied Absalom. They had been invited as guests and went quite innocently, knowing nothing about the matter. 12While Absalom was offering sacrifices, he also sent for Ahithophel[q] the Gilonite, David's counselor,[r] to come from Giloh,[s] his hometown. And so the conspiracy gained strength, and Absalom's following kept on increasing.[t]

David Flees

13A messenger came and told David, "The hearts of the men of Israel are with Absalom."

14Then David said to all his officials who were with him in Jerusalem, "Come! We must flee,[u] or none of us will escape from Absalom.[v] We must leave immediately, or he will move quickly to overtake us and bring ruin upon us and put the city to the sword."

15The king's officials answered him, "Your servants are ready to do whatever our lord the king chooses."

16The king set out, with his entire household following him; but he left ten concubines[w] to take care of the palace. 17So the king set out, with all the people following him, and they halted at a place some distance away. 18All his men marched past him, along with all the Kerethites[x] and Pelethites; and all the six hundred Gittites who had accompanied him from Gath marched before the king.

19The king said to Ittai[y] the Gittite, "Why should you come along with us? Go back and stay with King Absalom. You are a foreigner,[z] an exile from your homeland. 20You came only yesterday. And today shall I make you wander[a] about with us, when I do not know where I am going? Go back, and take your countrymen. May kindness and faithfulness[b] be with you."

21But Ittai replied to the king, "As surely as the LORD lives, and as my lord the king lives, wherever my lord the king may be, whether it means life or death, there will your servant be."[c]

22David said to Ittai, "Go ahead, march on." So Ittai the Gittite marched on with all his men and the families that were with him.

23The whole countryside wept aloud[d] as all the people passed by. The king also crossed the Kidron Valley,[e f] and all the people moved on toward the desert.

24Zadok[g] was there, too, and all the Levites who were with him were carrying the ark[h] of the covenant of God. They set down the ark of God, and Abiathar[i] offered sacrifices[s] until all the people had finished leaving the city.

25Then the king said to Zadok, "Take the ark of God back into the city. If I find favor in the LORD's eyes, he will bring me back and let me see it and his dwelling place[j] again. 26But if he says, 'I am not pleased with you,' then I am ready; let him do to me whatever seems good to him.[k]"

27The king also said to Zadok the

15:8 Geshur. See 13:37.

15:12 Ahithophel. Bathsheba's grandfather (see 11:3; 23:34) and a wise and respected counselor (16:23). He appears to have secretly aligned himself with Absalom's rebellion in its planning stage, perhaps in retaliation against David for his treatment of Bathsheba and Uriah. This unsuspected betrayal by a trusted friend may have prompted David's statements in Ps 41:9; 55:12–14. Gilonite. Giloh was near Hebron (see Jos 15:51).

15:14 none of us will escape from Absalom. Uncertain of the extent of Absalom's support (see v. 13), David fears being trapped in Jerusalem, and he wants to spare the city a bloodbath.

15:16 he left ten concubines to take care of the palace. See 5:13; see also note on 3:2. David unknowingly arranges for the fulfillment of one of Nathan's prophecies (see note on 12:11; see also 20:3).

15:18 Kerethites and Pelethites. See note on 8:18. six hundred Gittites. Philistine soldiers from Gath under the command of Ittai who for some unknown reason had joined David's personal military force (see 18:2).

15:19 Go back and stay with King Absalom. David releases the Philistine contingent from further obligations to him.

15:21 As surely as the LORD lives. An oath of loyalty and devotion taken in the name of Israel's God (see note on 1Sa 14:39). For a similar oath see Ru 1:16–17.

15:24 Zadok. See note on 8:17. Abiathar. See note on 8:17; see also 1Sa 22:20–23.

15:25 Take the ark of God back into the city. David reveals a true understanding of the connection between the ark and God's presence with his people. He knows that possession of the ark does not guarantee God's blessing (see notes on 1Sa 4:3,21). He also recognizes that the ark belongs in the capital city as a symbol of the Lord's rule over the nation (see note on 6:2), no matter who the king might be.

15:26 let him do to me whatever seems good to him. David confesses that he has no exclusive claim to the throne and that Israel's divine King is free to confer the kingship on whomever he chooses.

15:27 Aren't you a seer? Perhaps an allusion to the high priest's custody of the Urim and Thummim as a means of divine revelation (see notes on Ex 28:30; 1Sa 2:28). See also priest, "Aren't you a seer?[l] Go back to the city in peace, with your son Ahimaaz and Jonathan[m] son of Abiathar. You and Abiathar take your two sons with you. [28]I will wait at the fords[n] in the desert until word comes from you to inform me." [29]So Zadok and Abiathar took the ark of God back to Jerusalem and stayed there.

[30]But David continued up the Mount of Olives, weeping[o] as he went; his head[p] was covered and he was barefoot. All the people with him covered their heads too and were weeping as they went up. [31]Now David had been told, "Ahithophel[q] is among the conspirators with Absalom." So David prayed, "O LORD, turn Ahithophel's counsel into foolishness."

[32]When David arrived at the summit, where people used to worship God, Hushai[r] the Arkite[s] was there to meet him, his robe torn and dust[t] on his head. [33]David said to him, "If you go with me, you will be a burden[u] to me. [34]But if you return to the city and say to Absalom, 'I will be your servant, O king; I was your father's servant in the past, but now I will be your servant,'[v] then you can help me by frustrating[w] Ahithophel's advice. [35]Won't the priests Zadok and Abiathar be there with you? Tell them anything you hear in the king's palace.[x] [36]Their two sons, Ahimaaz[y] son of Zadok and Jonathan[z] son of Abiathar, are there with them. Send them to me with anything you hear."

[37]So David's friend Hushai[a] arrived at Jerusalem as Absalom[b] was entering the city.

David and Ziba

16 When David had gone a short distance beyond the summit, there was Ziba,[c] the steward of Mephibosheth, waiting to meet him. He had a string of donkeys saddled and loaded with two hundred loaves of bread, a hundred cakes of raisins, a hundred cakes of figs and a skin of wine.[d]

[2]The king asked Ziba, "Why have you brought these?"

Ziba answered, "The donkeys are for the king's household to ride on, the bread and fruit are for the men to eat, and the wine is to refresh[e] those who become exhausted in the desert."

[3]The king then asked, "Where is your master's grandson?"[f]

Ziba[g] said to him, "He is staying in Jerusalem, because he thinks, 'Today the house of Israel will give me back my grandfather's kingdom.' "

[4]Then the king said to Ziba, "All that belonged to Mephibosheth[h] is now yours."

"I humbly bow," Ziba said. "May I find favor in your eyes, my lord the king."

Shimei Curses David

[5]As King David approached Bahurim,[i] a man from the same clan as Saul's family came out from there. His name was Shimei[j] son of Gera, and he cursed[k] as he came out. [6]He pelted David and all the king's officials with stones, though all the troops and the special guard were on David's right and left. [7]As he cursed, Shimei said, "Get out, get out, you man of blood, you scoundrel! [8]The LORD has repaid you for all the blood you shed in the household of Saul, in whose place you have reigned.[l] The LORD has handed the kingdom over to your son Absalom. You have come to ruin because you are a man of blood!"[m]

[9]Then Abishai[n] son of Zeruiah said to the king, "Why should this dead dog[o] curse my lord the king? Let me go over and cut off his head."[p]

[10]But the king said, "What do you and

15:30 his head was covered. A sign of sorrow (see Est 6:12; Jer 14:3–4). he was barefoot. Another sign of sorrow (see Isa 20:2,4; Eze 24:17; Mic 1:8).

15:31 Ahithophel. See note on v. 12.

15:32 Hushai the Arkite. The Arkites were a clan (some think non-Israelite) that inhabited an area southwest of Bethel (Jos 16:2). Since Hushai was a trusted member of David's court (see note on v. 37), his appearance was the beginning of an answer to David's prayer (v. 31).

15:37 David's friend Hushai. 1Ch 27:33 calls him the "king's friend," which seems to be an official title for the king's most trusted adviser (see 1Ki 4:5, where the Hebrew for "king's friend" is translated "personal adviser to the king").

16:1 Ziba. See ch. 9. Mephibosheth. See note on 4:4.

16:2 Ziba answered. Since David assumed control of Saul's estate (9:7–10), Ziba, always the opportunist, seeks to profit from the political crisis.

16:3 your master's grandson. Mephibosheth (see 9:3,9).

16:4 All that belonged to Mephibosheth is now yours. Because the revolt was so widespread and loyalties so uncertain, David was quick to assume the worst.

16:5 Bahurim. On the eastern slope of the Mount of Olives (see note on 3:16). same clan as Saul's family. The clan of Matri (see 1Sa 10:21). Gera. His exact relation to Saul is unknown (see note on 1Ki 2:8).

16:6 troops and special guard. The Kerethites, Pelethites and 600 Gittites (see 15:18).

16:7 scoundrel. See note on Dt 13:13.

16:8 blood you shed in the household of Saul. Shimei may be referring to the executions reported in 21:1–14, but the time of that event is uncertain (see note on 21:1).

16:9 Abishai. See note on 1Sa 26:6. this dead dog. An expression of absolute contempt (see note on 9:8).

16:10 If . . . because the LORD said to him, 'Curse David.' David leaves open the possibility that God has seen fit to terminate his rule—the verdict is not yet in (see 15:26). For David's later actions regarding Shimei see 19:18–23; 1Ki 2:8–9.

I have in common, you sons of Zeruiah?[q] If he is cursing because the LORD said to him, 'Curse David,' who can ask, 'Why do you do this?' "[r]

[11]David then said to Abishai and all his officials, "My son,[s] who is of my own flesh, is trying to take my life. How much more, then, this Benjamite! Leave him alone; let him curse, for the LORD has told him to.[t] [12]It may be that the LORD will see my distress[u] and repay me with good[v] for the cursing I am receiving today.[w]"

[13]So David and his men continued along the road while Shimei was going along the hillside opposite him, cursing as he went and throwing stones at him and showering him with dirt. [14]The king and all the people with him arrived at their destination exhausted.[x] And there he refreshed himself.

The Advice of Hushai and Ahithophel

[15]Meanwhile, Absalom[y] and all the men of Israel came to Jerusalem, and Ahithophel[z] was with him. [16]Then Hushai[a] the Arkite, David's friend, went to Absalom and said to him, "Long live the king! Long live the king!"

[17]Absalom asked Hushai, "Is this the love you show your friend? Why didn't you go with your friend?"[b]

[18]Hushai said to Absalom, "No, the one chosen by the LORD, by these people, and by all the men of Israel—his I will be, and I will remain with him. [19]Furthermore, whom should I serve? Should I not serve the son? Just as I served your father, so I will serve you."[c]

[20]Absalom said to Ahithophel, "Give us your advice. What should we do?"

[21]Ahithophel answered, "Lie with your father's concubines whom he left to take care of the palace. Then all Israel will hear that you have made yourself a stench in your father's nostrils, and the hands of everyone with you will be strengthened." [22]So they pitched a tent for Absalom on the roof, and he lay with his father's concubines in the sight of all Israel.[d]

[23]Now in those days the advice[e] Ahithophel gave was like that of one who inquires of God. That was how both David[f] and Absalom regarded all of Ahithophel's advice.

17 Ahithophel said to Absalom, "I would[t] choose twelve thousand men and set out tonight in pursuit of David. [2]I would[u] attack him while he is weary and weak.[g] I would[u] strike him with terror, and then all the people with him will flee. I would[u] strike down only the king[h] [3]and bring all the people back to you. The death of the man you seek will mean the return of all; all the people will be unharmed." [4]This plan seemed good to Absalom and to all the elders of Israel.

[5]But Absalom said, "Summon also Hushai[i] the Arkite, so we can hear what he has to say." [6]When Hushai came to him, Absalom said, "Ahithophel has given this advice. Should we do what he says? If not, give us your opinion."

[7]Hushai replied to Absalom, "The advice Ahithophel has given is not good this time. [8]You know your father and his men; they are fighters, and as fierce as a wild bear robbed of her cubs.[j] Besides, your father is an experienced fighter;[k] he will not spend the night with the troops. [9]Even now, he is hidden in a cave or some other place.[l] If he should attack your troops first,[v] whoever hears about it will say, 'There has been a slaughter among the troops who follow Absalom.' [10]Then even the bravest soldier, whose heart is like the heart of a lion,[m] will melt[n] with fear, for all Israel knows that your father is a fighter and that those with him are brave.[o]

[11]"So I advise you: Let all Israel, from Dan to Beersheba[p]—as numerous as the sand[q] on the seashore—be gathered to you, with you yourself leading them into battle. [12]Then we will attack him wherever he may be found, and we will fall on him as dew settles on the ground. Neither he nor any of his men will be left alive. [13]If he withdraws into a city, then all Israel will bring ropes to that city, and we will drag it down to the valley[r] until not even a piece of it can be found."

17:1–3 Ahithophel's advice to Absalom envisioned a cheap and easy victory that would not leave the nation weakened.

said, "The advice[s] of Hushai the Arkite is better than that of Ahithophel."[t] For the LORD had determined to frustrate[u] the good advice of Ahithophel in order to bring disaster[v] on Absalom.[w]

15Hushai told Zadok and Abiathar, the priests, "Ahithophel has advised Absalom and the elders of Israel to do such and such, but I have advised them to do so and so. 16Now send a message immediately and tell David, 'Do not spend the night at the fords in the desert;[x] cross over without fail, or the king and all the people with him will be swallowed up.[y]' "

17Jonathan[z] and Ahimaaz were staying at En Rogel.[a] A servant girl was to go and inform them, and they were to go and tell King David, for they could not risk being seen entering the city. 18But a young man saw them and told Absalom. So the two of them left quickly and went to the house of a man in Bahurim.[b] He had a well in his courtyard, and they climbed down into it. 19His wife took a covering and spread it out over the opening of the well and scattered grain over it. No one knew anything about it.[c]

20When Absalom's men came to the woman[d] at the house, they asked, "Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?"

The woman answered them, "They crossed over the brook."[w] The men searched but found no one, so they returned to Jerusalem.

21After the men had gone, the two climbed out of the well and went to inform King David. They said to him, "Set out and cross the river at once; Ahithophel has advised such and such against you." 22So David and all the people with him set out and crossed the Jordan. By daybreak, no one was left who had not crossed the Jordan.

23When Ahithophel saw that his advice[e] had not been followed, he saddled his donkey and set out for his house in his hometown. He put his house in order[f] and then hanged himself. So he died and was buried in his father's tomb.

24David went to Mahanaim,[g] and Absalom crossed the Jordan with all the men of Israel. 25Absalom had appointed Amasa[h] over the army in place of Joab. Amasa was the son of a man named Jether,[x][i] an Israelite[y] who had married Abigail,[z] the daughter of Nahash and sister of Zeruiah the mother of Joab. 26The Israelites and Absalom camped in the land of Gilead.

27When David came to Mahanaim, Shobi son of Nahash[j] from Rabbah[k] of the Ammonites, and Makir[l] son of Ammiel from Lo Debar, and Barzillai[m] the Gileadite[n] from Rogelim 28brought bedding and bowls and articles of pottery. They also brought wheat and barley, flour and roasted grain, beans and lentils,[a] 29honey and curds, sheep, and cheese from cows' milk for David and his people to eat.[o] For they said, "The people have become hungry and tired and thirsty in the desert.[p]"

Absalom's Death

18 David mustered the men who were with him and appointed over them commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds. 2David sent the troops out[q]—a third under the command of Joab, a third under Joab's brother Abishai[r] son of Zeruiah, and a third under Ittai[s] the Gittite. The king told the troops, "I myself will surely march out with you."

3But the men said, "You must not go out; if we are forced to flee, they won't care about us. Even if half of us die, they won't care; but you are worth ten[t]

17:17 Jonathan and Ahimaaz. See 15:36. En Rogel. A spring in the Kidron Valley just outside the walls of Jerusalem. A servant girl. A servant girl going to the spring for water would attract no attention.

17:18 Bahurim. See note on 16:5.

17:23 his hometown. Giloh (see note on 15:12). hanged himself. Ahithophel was convinced that the rebellion would fail and that he would be found guilty of treason as a co-conspirator.

17:24 Mahanaim. Ironically the same place where Ish-Bosheth had sought refuge after Saul's death (2:8).

17:25 Amasa. Nephew of David and cousin of both Absalom and Joab son of Zeruiah. Abigail, the daughter of Nahash and sister of Zeruiah. Zeruiah was David's sister (1Ch 2:16). Since the father of Abigail and Zeruiah is Nahash rather than Jesse, it would appear that their unnamed mother married Jesse after the death of Nahash.

17:27 Shobi son of Nahash. Apparently the brother of Hanun (see 10:2–4), whom David had defeated earlier in his reign (12:26–31). Rabbah of the Ammonites. See note on 10:3. Makir. See note on 9:4. Barzillai. A wealthy benefactor of David during his flight to Mahanaim (see 19:32; 1Ki 2:7). After the Babylonian exile, there were claimants to the priesthood among his descendants (Ezr 2:61–63; Ne 7:63).

18:2 Ittai the Gittite. See 15:18–22.

18:3 You must not go out. In addition to the reason given, David was growing old and was no longer the warrior he had been (see note on 15:7). This is essentially the same idea that Ahithophel had expressed to Absalom (see 17:2).

thousand of us.[b] It would be better now for you to give us support from the city."[u]

4The king answered, "I will do whatever seems best to you."

So the king stood beside the gate while all the men marched out in units of hundreds and of thousands. 5The king commanded Joab, Abishai and Ittai, "Be gentle with the young man Absalom for my sake." And all the troops heard the king giving orders concerning Absalom to each of the commanders.

6The army marched into the field to fight Israel, and the battle took place in the forest[v] of Ephraim. 7There the army of Israel was defeated by David's men, and the casualties that day were great—twenty thousand men. 8The battle spread out over the whole countryside, and the forest claimed more lives that day than the sword.

9Now Absalom happened to meet David's men. He was riding his mule, and as the mule went under the thick branches of a large oak, Absalom's head[w] got caught in the tree. He was left hanging in midair, while the mule he was riding kept on going.

10When one of the men saw this, he told Joab, "I just saw Absalom hanging in an oak tree."

11Joab said to the man who had told him this, "What! You saw him? Why didn't you strike[x] him to the ground right there? Then I would have had to give you ten shekels[c] of silver and a warrior's belt.[y]"

12But the man replied, "Even if a thousand shekels[d] were weighed out into my hands, I would not lift my hand against the king's son. In our hearing the king commanded you and Abishai and Ittai, 'Protect the young man Absalom for my sake.'[e] 13And if I had put my life in jeopardy[f]—and nothing is hidden from the king[z]—you would have kept your distance from me."

14Joab[a] said, "I'm not going to wait like this for you." So he took three javelins in his hand and plunged them into Absalom's heart while Absalom was still alive in the oak tree. 15And ten of Joab's armor-bearers surrounded Absalom, struck him and killed him.[b]

16Then Joab[c] sounded the trumpet, and the troops stopped pursuing Israel, for Joab halted them. 17They took Absalom, threw him into a big pit in the forest and piled up[d] a large heap of rocks[e] over him. Meanwhile, all the Israelites fled to their homes.

18During his lifetime Absalom had taken a pillar and erected it in the King's Valley[f] as a monument[g] to himself, for he thought, "I have no son[h] to carry on the memory of my name." He named the pillar after himself, and it is called Absalom's Monument to this day.

David Mourns

19Now Ahimaaz[i] son of Zadok said, "Let me run and take the news to the king that the LORD has delivered him from the hand of his enemies.[j]"

20"You are not the one to take the news today," Joab told him. "You may take the news another time, but you must not do so today, because the king's son is dead."

21Then Joab said to a Cushite, "Go, tell the king what you have seen." The Cushite bowed down before Joab and ran off.

22Ahimaaz son of Zadok again said to Joab, "Come what may, please let me run behind the Cushite."

18:5 Be gentle with . . . Absalom for my sake. David's love for his (now) oldest son was undying—and almost his undoing (see 19:5–7).

18:6 Israel. Absalom's army (see 15:13; 16:15; 17:4,11,24–26). forest of Ephraim. The battle was apparently fought in Gilead, east of the Jordan (see 17:24,26). Why this area is termed the "forest of Ephraim" is not clear (perhaps it comes from an Ephraimite claim on the area; see Jdg 12:1–4).

18:8 The battle spread out. The armies apparently became dispersed, and many of the men got lost in the forest.

18:9 his mule. See note on 13:29. Absalom's head got caught in the tree. Whether by the entanglement of his abundant hair (14:26) or by some other means is not stated, but his handsome head (see 14:25) was in the end—ironically—his undoing.

18:11 I would have had to give you. Joab must be referring to an announced intent on his part to reward anyone killing Absalom. His actions and interests did not always coincide with David's wishes (see note on 2:13).

18:15 killed him. The easiest and most certain way of ending the rebellion—but the brutal overkill is indicative of the deep animosity felt by David's men against Absalom.

18:17 large heap of rocks. A mound of rocks that mocked the monument Absalom himself had erected (v. 18). all the Israelites. See note on v. 6.

18:18 erected it . . . as a monument to himself. As Saul had done (1Sa 15:12). King's Valley. Thought to be located near Jerusalem (see Ge 14:17; Josephus, Antiquities, 7.10.3). I have no son. See 14:27 and note. Absalom's Monument. Not to be confused with the much later monument of the same name that is still visible today in the valley east of Jerusalem.

18:19 Ahimaaz son of Zadok. See 15:27; 17:17–21.

18:20 not the one to take the news. The choice of a messenger depended on the content of the message (see v. 27 and note).

18:21 Cushite. An alien (see notes on Ge 10:6–8; Am 9:7).

But Joab replied, "My son, why do you want to go? You don't have any news that will bring you a reward."

23He said, "Come what may, I want to run."

So Joab said, "Run!" Then Ahimaaz ran by way of the plain[g] and outran the Cushite.

24While David was sitting between the inner and outer gates, the watchman[k] went up to the roof of the gateway by the wall. As he looked out, he saw a man running alone. 25The watchman called out to the king and reported it.

The king said, "If he is alone, he must have good news." And the man came closer and closer.

26Then the watchman saw another man running, and he called down to the gatekeeper, "Look, another man running alone!"

The king said, "He must be bringing good news,[l] too."

27The watchman said, "It seems to me that the first one runs like[m] Ahimaaz son of Zadok."

"He's a good man," the king said. "He comes with good news."

28Then Ahimaaz called out to the king, "All is well!" He bowed down before the king with his face to the ground and said, "Praise be to the LORD your God! He has delivered up the men who lifted their hands against my lord the king."

29The king asked, "Is the young man Absalom safe?"

Ahimaaz answered, "I saw great confusion just as Joab was about to send the king's servant and me, your servant, but I don't know what it was."

30The king said, "Stand aside and wait here." So he stepped aside and stood there.

31Then the Cushite arrived and said, "My lord the king, hear the good news! The LORD has delivered you today from all who rose up against you."

32The king asked the Cushite, "Is the young man Absalom safe?"

The Cushite replied, "May the enemies of my lord the king and all who rise up to harm you be like that young man."[n]

33The king was shaken. He went up to the room over the gateway and wept. As he went, he said: "O my son Absalom! My son, my son Absalom! If only I had died[o] instead of you—O Absalom, my son, my son!"[p]

19 Joab was told, "The king is weeping and mourning for Absalom." 2And for the whole army the victory that day was turned into mourning, because on that day the troops heard it said, "The king is grieving for his son." 3The men stole into the city that day as men steal in who are ashamed when they flee from battle. 4The king covered his face and cried aloud, "O my son Absalom! O Absalom, my son, my son!"

5Then Joab went into the house to the king and said, "Today you have humiliated all your men, who have just saved your life and the lives of your sons and daughters and the lives of your wives and concubines. 6You love those who hate you and hate those who love you. You have made it clear today that the commanders and their men mean nothing to you. I see that you would be pleased if Absalom were alive today and all of us were dead. 7Now go out and encourage your men. I swear by the LORD that if you don't go out, not a man will be left with you by nightfall. This will be worse for you than all the calamities that have come upon you from your youth till now."[q]

8So the king got up and took his seat in the gateway. When the men were told, "The king is sitting in the gateway,[r]" they all came before him.

David Returns to Jerusalem

Meanwhile, the Israelites had fled to their homes. 9Throughout the tribes of Israel, the people were all arguing with each other, saying, "The king delivered us from the hand of our enemies; he is the one who rescued us from the hand of the Philistines.[s] But now he has fled the country because of Absalom;[t] 10and Absalom, whom we anointed to rule over us, has died in battle. So why do you say nothing about bringing the king back?"

11King David sent this message to Zadok[u] and Abiathar, the priests: "Ask the 18:27 He comes with good news. David presumed that Joab would not have sent someone like Ahimaaz to carry bad news (see v. 20 and note).

18:29 I saw great confusion. Ahimaaz avoids a direct answer to David's question, though he knew Absalom was dead.

18:33 O my son Absalom! One of the most moving expressions in all literature of a father's love for a son—in spite of all that Absalom had done.

19:5 Joab went . . . to the king. Apparently confident that the king was unaware of his part in Absalom's death. David never indicates that he learned of it (see 1Ki 2:5). you have humiliated all your men. Joab boldly rebukes David for allowing his personal grief to keep him from expressing his appreciation for the loyalty of those who risked their lives to preserve his throne. Joab warns David that his love for Absalom can still undo him.

19:9 The king delivered us. With Absalom dead, the northern tribes remember what David had done for them (see 3:17–18; 5:2).

19:11 Ask the elders of Judah. Even though the rebellion had begun in Hebron in Judah (see 15:9–12), David appeals to the elders of his own tribe to take the initiative in restoring him to the throne in Jerusalem (see 2:4; 1Sa 30:26). This elders of Judah, 'Why should you be the last to bring the king back to his palace, since what is being said throughout Israel has reached the king at his quarters? 12You are my brothers, my own flesh and blood. So why should you be the last to bring back the king?' 13And say to Amasa,[v] 'Are you not my own flesh and blood?[w] May God deal with me, be it ever so severely,[x] if from now on you are not the commander of my army in place of Joab.[y]' "

14He won over the hearts of all the men of Judah as though they were one man. They sent word to the king, "Return, you and all your men." 15Then the king returned and went as far as the Jordan.

Now the men of Judah had come to Gilgal[z] to go out and meet the king and bring him across the Jordan. 16Shimei[a] son of Gera, the Benjamite from Bahurim, hurried down with the men of Judah to meet King David. 17With him were a thousand Benjamites, along with Ziba,[b] the steward of Saul's household,[c] and his fifteen sons and twenty servants. They rushed to the Jordan, where the king was. 18They crossed at the ford to take the king's household over and to do whatever he wished.

When Shimei son of Gera crossed the Jordan, he fell prostrate before the king 19and said to him, "May my lord not hold me guilty. Do not remember how your servant did wrong on the day my lord the king left Jerusalem.[d] May the king put it out of his mind. 20For I your servant know that I have sinned, but today I have come here as the first of the whole house of Joseph to come down and meet my lord the king."

21Then Abishai[e] son of Zeruiah said, "Shouldn't Shimei be put to death for this? He cursed[f] the LORD's anointed."[g]

Should anyone be put to death in Israel today?[i] Do I not know that today I am king over Israel?" 23So the king said to Shimei, "You shall not die." And the king promised him on oath.[j]

26He said, "My lord the king, since I your servant am lame,[m] I said, 'I will have my donkey saddled and will ride on it, so I can go with the king.' appeal produced the desired result, but it also led to the arousal of tribal jealousies (see vv. 41–42).

19:13 Amasa. See 17:25 and note. Although Amasa deserved death for treason, David appointed him commander of his army in place of Joab, hoping to secure the allegiance of those who had followed Amasa, especially the Judahites (see 20:5). May God deal with me, be it ever so severely. A curse formula (see note on 1Sa 3:17).

19:15 Gilgal. See note on Jos 4:19.

19:17 a thousand Benjamites. No doubt fearing they would be suspected by the king of being implicated in Shimei's deed.

19:20 I your servant know that I have sinned. Shimei's guilt was common knowledge; he could only seize the most appropriate time to plead for mercy. house of Joseph. A common way of referring to the northern tribes (see 1Ki 11:28; Eze 37:19; Am 5:6; Zec 10:6)—of which Ephraim and Manasseh (sons of Joseph) were the most prominent (see Nu 26:28; Jos 18:5; Jdg 1:22).

19:22 Should anyone be put to death in Israel today? It was a day for general amnesty (see 1Sa 11:13).

19:23 You shall not die. David kept his pledge; he would not himself avenge the wrong committed against him (see note on 1Sa 25:2–44). But on his deathbed he instructed Solomon to take Shimei's case in hand (see 1Ki 2:8–9,36–46).

34But Barzillai answered the king, "How many more years will I live, that I should go up to Jerusalem with the king? 35I am now eighty[t] years old. Can I tell the difference between what is good and what is not? Can your servant taste what he eats and drinks? Can I still hear the voices of men and women singers?[u] Why should your servant be an added[v] burden to my lord the king? 36Your servant will cross over the Jordan with the king for a short distance, but why should the king reward me in this way? 37Let your servant return, that I may die in my own town near the tomb of my father[w] and mother. But here is your servant Kimham.[x] Let him cross over with my lord the king. Do for him whatever pleases you."

38The king said, "Kimham shall cross over with me, and I will do for him whatever pleases you. And anything you desire from me I will do for you."

39So all the people crossed the Jordan, and then the king crossed over. The king kissed Barzillai and gave him his blessing,[y] and Barzillai returned to his home.

40When the king crossed over to Gilgal, Kimham crossed with him. All the troops of Judah and half the troops of Israel had taken the king over.

41Soon all the men of Israel were coming to the king and saying to him, "Why did our brothers, the men of Judah, steal the king away and bring him and his household across the Jordan, together with all his men?"[z]

42All the men of Judah answered the men of Israel, "We did this because the king is closely related to us. Why are you angry about it? Have we eaten any of the king's provisions? Have we taken anything for ourselves?"

43Then the men of Israel[a] answered the men of Judah, "We have ten shares in the king; and besides, we have a greater claim on David than you have. So why do you treat us with contempt? Were we not the first to speak of bringing back our king?"

But the men of Judah responded even more harshly than the men of Israel.

Sheba Rebels Against David

20 Now a troublemaker named Sheba son of Bicri, a Benjamite, happened to be there. He sounded the trumpet and shouted,

"We have no share[b] in David,[c] no part in Jesse's son![d]
Every man to his tent, O Israel!"

2So all the men of Israel deserted David to follow Sheba son of Bicri. But the men of Judah stayed by their king all the way from the Jordan to Jerusalem.

3When David returned to his palace in Jerusalem, he took the ten concubines[e] he had left to take care of the palace and put them in a house under guard. He provided for them, but did not lie with them. They were kept in confinement till the day of their death, living as widows.

4Then the king said to Amasa,[f] "Summon the men of Judah to come to me within three days, and be here yourself." 5But when Amasa went to summon Judah, he took longer than the time the king had set for him.

6David said to Abishai,[g] "Now Sheba son of Bicri will do us more harm than Absalom did. Take your master's men and pursue him, or he will find fortified cities and escape from us." 7So Joab's men and the Kerethites[h] and Pelethites and all the mighty warriors went out un-

19:35 difference between what is good and what is not. At his age, he would be indifferent to all the pleasures of the court.

19:37 Kimham. Likely a son of Barzillai (see 1Ki 2:7).

19:41 Why did . . . the men of Judah, steal the king away and bring him . . . across the Jordan . . . ? It seems that the Jordan was a kind of psychological border to the land of Israel (see Jos 22:19,25; Jdg 12:4)—which may also explain why Ish-Bosheth (2:8), Mephibosheth (9:4) and even David himself (17:22) had sought refuge in Transjordan. That being the case, the protest of the Israelites may be that the Judahites had not waited for all Israel to assemble before bringing David across the Jordan, thus leaving the Israelites in a bad light—as though they were reluctant to receive the king back (see v. 43).

19:43 ten shares. The ten tribes, excluding Judah and Simeon (see note on 2:4). we have a greater claim on David. The grounds for this assertion may be that the Lord had chosen David to reign in the place of Saul (see 3:17–18; 5:2).

20:1 troublemaker. See note on Dt 13:13. Bicri. Benjamin's second son (Beker, Ge 46:21; 1Ch 7:6–9). Benjamite. Tribal jealousy still simmered over the transfer of the royal house from Benjamin (Saul's tribe) to Judah. there. In Gilgal (19:40–43). We have no share in David. Sheba appeals to the Israelite suspicion that David favored his own tribe Judah over the other tribes (see 1Ki 12:16).

20:2 all the men of Israel. Those referred to in 19:41–43.

20:3 ten concubines. See notes on 15:16; 16:22.

20:4 Amasa. See notes on 17:25; 19:13. David bypasses Joab.

20:6 Abishai. David bypasses Joab a second time (see v. 7). your master's men. "Joab's men" (v. 7).

20:7 Joab's men. See 18:2. It becomes clear that Joab also accompanied the soldiers and, though not in command (by the king's order), he was obviously the leader recognized by the soldiers (see vv. 7,11,15). Kerethites and Pelethites. See note on 8:18. mighty warriors. See 23:8–39. Once more in a time of crisis David depended mainly on the small force of professionals (many of them non-Israelite) who made up his private army.

der the command of Abishai. They marched out from Jerusalem to pursue Sheba son of Bicri.

8While they were at the great rock in Gibeon,[i] Amasa came to meet them. Joab[j] was wearing his military tunic, and strapped over it at his waist was a belt with a dagger in its sheath. As he stepped forward, it dropped out of its sheath.

11One of Joab's men stood beside Amasa and said, "Whoever favors Joab, and whoever is for David, let him follow Joab!" 12Amasa lay wallowing in his blood in the middle of the road, and the man saw that all the troops came to a halt[m] there. When he realized that everyone who came up to Amasa stopped, he dragged him from the road into a field and threw a garment over him. 13After Amasa had been removed from the road, all the men went on with Joab to pursue Sheba son of Bicri.

14Sheba passed through all the tribes of Israel to Abel Beth Maacah[h] and through the entire region of the Berites,[n] who gathered together and followed him. 15All the troops with Joab came and besieged Sheba in Abel Beth Maacah.[o] They built a siege ramp[p] up to the city, and it stood against the outer fortifications. While they were battering the wall to bring it down, 16a wise woman[q] called from the city, "Listen! Listen! Tell Joab to come here so I can speak to him." 17He went toward her, and she asked, "Are you Joab?"

"I am," he answered.

She said, "Listen to what your servant has to say."

"I'm listening," he said.

18She continued, "Long ago they used to say, 'Get your answer at Abel,' and that settled it. 19We are the peaceful[r] and faithful in Israel. You are trying to destroy a city that is a mother in Israel. Why do you want to swallow up the LORD's inheritance?"[s]

20"Far be it from me!" Joab replied, "Far be it from me to swallow up or destroy! 21That is not the case. A man named Sheba son of Bicri, from the hill country of Ephraim, has lifted up his hand against the king, against David. Hand over this one man, and I'll withdraw from the city."

The woman said to Joab, "His head[t] will be thrown to you from the wall."

22Then the woman went to all the people with her wise advice,[u] and they cut off the head of Sheba son of Bicri and threw it to Joab. So he sounded the trumpet, and his men dispersed from the city, each returning to his home. And Joab went back to the king in Jerusalem.

23Joab[v] was over Israel's entire army; Benaiah son of Jehoiada was over the Kerethites and Pelethites; 24Adoniram[i][w] was in charge of forced labor; Jehoshaphat[x] son of Ahilud was recorder; 25Sheva was secretary; Zadok[y] and Abiathar were priests; 26and Ira the Jairite was David's priest.

20:8 Gibeon. See note on 2:12. Amasa came. Apparently with some troops (see v. 11 and note).

20:10 into his belly. See 2:23; 3:27. For the second time Joab commits murder to secure his position as commander of David's army (see 1Ki 2:5–6). Joab and his brother Abishai. In defiance of David's order, Joab reassumes command on his own initiative (see v. 23).

20:11 Whoever favors Joab, and whoever is for David. To dispel any idea that Joab was aligned with Sheba's conspiracy, an appeal is made to Amasa's troops to support Joab if they are truly loyal to David.

20:14 Abel Beth Maacah. See NIV text note; located to the north of Dan (see 1Ki 15:20; 2Ch 16:4). Sheba's strategy was to gather as many volunteers for his revolt as possible, but he was obviously afraid to assemble his ragtag army anywhere within close reach of David's men. Berites. Otherwise unknown.

20:18 Get your answer at Abel. The city was famous for the wisdom of its inhabitants.

20:19 a mother in Israel. A town that produced faithful Israelites—cities were commonly personified as women (see Jer 50:12; Gal 4:26). the LORD's inheritance. See note on 1Sa 10:1.

20:21 hill country of Ephraim. Either Sheba, a Benjamite (see v. 1), lived in the tribal territory of Ephraim or this was the designation of a geographical, rather than a strictly tribal, region.

20:22 Joab went back to the king in Jerusalem. See notes on vv. 7,10.

20:23–26 These royal officials apparently served David during most of his reign (see 8:15–18).

20:23 Joab was over Israel's entire army. Though in some disfavor, he held this position until he participated in Adonijah's conspiracy (1Ki 1:7; 2:28–35). Kerethites and Pelethites. See note on 8:18.

20:24 Adoniram was in charge of forced labor. A position not established in the early years of David's reign (see 8:15–16). Adoniram must have been a late appointee of David since he continued to serve under Solomon (1Ki 4:6; 5:14) and was eventually killed in the early days of the reign of Rehoboam (1Ki 12:18; 2Ch 10:18). forced labor. Labor performed for the most part by prisoners of war from defeated nations (see 12:31; Jos 9:21; 1Ki 9:15,20–21). recorder. See note on 8:16.

20:25 Sheva. See note on 8:17 ("Seraiah"). secretary. See note on 8:17. Zadok and Abiathar. See note on 8:17.

20:26 Jairite. A reference either to Jair of the tribe of Manasseh (Nu 32:41) or to a judge from Gilead (Jdg 10:3,5).

The Gibeonites Avenged

21 During the reign of David, there was a famine[z] for three successive years; so David sought[a] the face of the LORD. The LORD said, "It is on account of Saul and his blood-stained house; it is because he put the Gibeonites to death."

[2]The king summoned the Gibeonites[b] and spoke to them. (Now the Gibeonites were not a part of Israel but were survivors of the Amorites; the Israelites had sworn to ⌊spare⌋ them, but Saul in his zeal for Israel and Judah had tried to annihilate them.) [3]David asked the Gibeonites, "What shall I do for you? How shall I make amends so that you will bless the LORD's inheritance?"[c]

[4]The Gibeonites answered him, "We have no right to demand silver or gold from Saul or his family, nor do we have the right to put anyone in Israel to death."[d]

"What do you want me to do for you?" David asked.

[5]They answered the king, "As for the man who destroyed us and plotted against us so that we have been decimated and have no place anywhere in Israel, [6]let seven of his male descendants be given to us to be killed and exposed[e] before the LORD at Gibeah of Saul—the LORD's chosen[f] one."

So the king said, "I will give them to you."

[7]The king spared Mephibosheth[g] son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, because of the oath[h] before the LORD between David and Jonathan son of Saul. [8]But the king took Armoni and Mephibosheth, the two sons of Aiah's daughter Rizpah,[i] whom she had borne to Saul, together with the five sons of Saul's daughter Merab,[j] whom she had borne to Adriel son of Barzillai the Meholathite.[j] [9]He handed them over to the Gibeonites, who killed and exposed them on a hill before the LORD. All seven of them fell together; they were put to death[k] during the first days of the harvest, just as the barley harvest was beginning.[l]

[10]Rizpah daughter of Aiah took sackcloth and spread it out for herself on a rock. From the beginning of the harvest till the rain poured down from the heavens on the bodies, she did not let the birds of the air touch them by day or the wild animals by night.[m] [11]When David was told what Aiah's daughter Rizpah, Saul's concubine, had done, [12]he went

21:1–24:25 This concluding section forms an appendix to 1,2 Samuel and contains additional materials (without concern for chronology) relating to David's reign. While its topical arrangement is striking, it also employs a literary pattern, a-b-c/c-b-a, frequently found elsewhere in OT literature. The first and last units (21:1–14; 24:1–25) are narratives of two events in which David had to deal with God's wrath against Israel (the first occasioned by an act of Saul, the second by his own). The second and fifth units (21:15–22; 23:8–39) are accounts of David's warriors (the second much longer than the first). At the center (22:1–23:7) are two songs of David (the first much longer than the second), one of which celebrates David's victories as warrior-king while the other recalls his role as psalmist (see note on 1Sa 16:14–17:58). It is unknown if motivation for this arrangement went beyond aesthetic considerations. The triumph song of ch. 22 and the song of Hannah in 1Sa 2:1–10 clearly form a literary frame enclosing the main composition (see note on 1Sa 2:1).

21:1–14 This event appears to have occurred after David's kindness was extended to Mephibosheth (ch. 9) and before Absalom's rebellion (16:7–8; 18:28; see note on 16:8).

21:1 he put the Gibeonites to death. Saul's action against the Gibeonites is not related elsewhere but appears to have been instituted early in his reign, motivated by an excessive nationalism (if not tribalism—the Gibeonites occupied territory partly assigned to Benjamin, and Saul's great-grandfather was known as the "father of Gibeon," 1Ch 8:29; 9:35).

21:2 Amorites. A comprehensive name sometimes used to designate all the pre-Israelite inhabitants of Canaan (Ge 15:16; Jos 24:18; Jdg 6:10; Am 2:10). More precisely, the Gibeonites were called Hivites (Jos 9:7; 11:19). the Israelites had sworn to ⌊spare⌋ them. A pledge sworn in the name of the Lord (Jos 9:15,18–26). tried to annihilate them. The reason Saul was unsuccessful is not known.

21:3 bless. Since the oath sworn to them had been violated, they could rightly call down God's curse on the land. the LORD's inheritance. See note on 1Sa 10:1.

21:4 nor do we have the right to put anyone in Israel to death. Bloodguilt could only be redressed by the shedding of blood, but as subject aliens the Gibeonites had no right to legal redress against an Israelite. This restriction must have been Saul's since it is contrary to the Mosaic law (see Ex 22:21; Lev 19:34; 24:22; Dt 1:16–17; 24:17; 27:19).

21:5 the man. Saul. no place anywhere in Israel. Those who escaped Saul's attack had been driven from their towns and lands (see 4:2–3 and notes).

21:6 seven. Because it would represent a full number (seven symbolized completeness)—though many more Gibeonites had been slain. Gibeah. The place of Saul's residence (see 1Sa 10:26).

21:7 oath before the LORD between David and Jonathan. See 4:4; 9:1–13; 1Sa 18:3; 20:15.

21:8 Rizpah. See 3:7. Merab. See 1Sa 18:19. Barzillai the Meholathite. Not to be confused with Barzillai the Gileadite (17:27; 19:31).

21:9 All seven of them fell together. This nearly extinguished the house of Saul, which God had rejected (see 1Sa 13:13–14; 15:23–26). In 1Ch 8:29–39; 9:35–44 no descendants of Saul are listed other than from the line of Jonathan. barley harvest was beginning. About the middle of April (see note on Ru 1:22).

21:10 sackcloth. See note on Ge 37:34. rain poured down. An indication that the famine was caused by drought and evidence that the judgment on Israel for breaking the oath sworn to the Gibeonites (see v. 1) was now over.

21:12 bones of Saul and his son Jonathan. See 1Sa 31:11–13. David's final act toward Saul and Jonathan was a deed of deep respect for the king he had honored and and took the bones of Saul[n] and his son Jonathan from the citizens of Jabesh Gilead.[o] (They had taken them secretly from the public square at Beth Shan,[p] where the Philistines had hung[q] them after they struck Saul down on Gilboa.)[r] 13David brought the bones of Saul and his son Jonathan from there, and the bones of those who had been killed and exposed were gathered up.

14They buried the bones of Saul and his son Jonathan in the tomb of Saul's father Kish, at Zela[s] in Benjamin, and did everything the king commanded. After that,[t] God answered prayer[u] in behalf of the land.[v]

Wars Against the Philistines

21:15–22pp — 1Ch 20:4–8

15Once again there was a battle between the Philistines[w] and Israel. David went down with his men to fight against the Philistines, and he became exhausted. 16And Ishbi-Benob, one of the descendants of Rapha, whose bronze spearhead weighed three hundred shekels[k] and who was armed with a new ⌊sword⌋, said he would kill David. 17But Abishai[x] son of Zeruiah came to David's rescue; he struck the Philistine down and killed him. Then David's men swore to him, saying, "Never again will you go out with us to battle, so that the lamp[y] of Israel will not be extinguished.[z]"

18In the course of time, there was another battle with the Philistines, at Gob. At that time Sibbecai[a] the Hushathite killed Saph, one of the descendants of Rapha.

19In another battle with the Philistines at Gob, Elhanan son of Jaare-Oregim[l] the Bethlehemite killed Goliath[m] the Gittite,[b] who had a spear with a shaft like a weaver's rod.[c]

20In still another battle, which took place at Gath, there was a huge man with six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot—twenty-four in all. He also was descended from Rapha. 21When he taunted[d] Israel, Jonathan son of Shimeah,[e] David's brother, killed him.

22These four were descendants of Rapha in Gath, and they fell at the hands of David and his men.

David's Song of Praise

22:1–51pp — Ps 18:1–50

22 David sang[f] to the LORD the words of this song when the LORD delivered him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul. 2He said:

"The LORD is my rock,[g] my fortress[h] and my deliverer;[i]
3 my God is my rock, in whom I take refuge,[j] my shield[k] and the horn[n][l] of my salvation.
He is my stronghold,[m] my refuge and my savior—from violent men you save me.
4I call to the LORD, who is worthy[n] of praise, and I am saved from my enemies.

the friend he had loved.

21:15–22 These four Philistine episodes (vv. 15–17, 18, 19, 20–21) cannot be chronologically located with any certainty (see note on 21:1–24:25). Each involves a heroic accomplishment by one of David's mighty men, resulting in the death of a "descendant of Rapha" (see vv. 16,18,20,22).

21:16 Rapha. In calling the four formidable enemy warriors referred to in this series "descendants of Rapha" (v. 22), the writer most likely identifies them as giants, as suggested by Dt 2:10–11,20–21. In that case, they may have been related to the Anakites (see Jos 11:21–22). Cf. Ge 15:19–20, which in its list of ten peoples of Canaan mentions Rephaites but not Anakites, though the Anakites (but not Rephaites) figure significantly in the accounts of the conquest (Nu 13:22,28,33; Dt 1:28; 9:2; Jos 14:12,15; Jdg 1:20).

21:17 Abishai. See note on 1Sa 26:6. so that the lamp of Israel will not be extinguished. A striking metaphor depicting Israel's dependence on David for its security and continuing existence as a nation—its national hope (see 22:29; 23:3–4; 1Ki 11:36).

21:18 Gob. Probably in the near vicinity of Gezer, where 1Ch 20:4 locates this same battle. Saph. Called Sippai in 1Ch 20:4.

21:19 Elhanan . . . killed Goliath. See NIV text note. Since it is clear from 1Sa 17 that David killed Goliath, it is possible that an early copyist misread the Hebrew for "Lahmi the brother of" (see 1Ch 20:5) as "the Bethlehemite" (in Hebrew the word for "killed" stands first in the clause).

21:21 taunted Israel. As Goliath had done (see 1Sa 17:10,25). Shimeah. Also called Shammah (1Sa 16:9; 17:13).

22:1 this song. Preserved also as Ps 18 (see notes on that psalm). Besides an introduction (vv. 2–4) and conclusion (vv. 47–51), the song consists of three major sections: The first describes David's deliverance from mortal danger at the hands of his enemies (vv. 5–20); the second sets forth the moral grounds for God's saving help (vv. 21–30); the third recounts the help that the Lord gave him (vv. 31–46). The song was probably composed shortly after David's victories over foreign enemies (8:1–14) and before his sin with Bathsheba (compare vv. 21–25 with 1Ki 15:5). from . . . all his enemies. See 8:1–14. from . . . Saul. See 1Sa 18–31.

22:2 my rock. A figure particularly appropriate to David's experience (see vv. 32,47; 23:3; Dt 32:4,15,18,31; Ps 28:1; 31:2; 61:2; 78:35; 89:26; 94:22; 95:1). He had often taken refuge among the rocks of the desert (1Sa 23:25; 24:2), but he realized that true security was found only in the Lord. fortress. The Hebrew for this word occurs in 5:17; 23:14; 1Sa 22:4–5; 24:22, referring to places where David sought refuge.

22:3 my shield. See vv. 31,36; Ge 15:1; Dt 33:29. horn. See NIV text note; Dt 33:17; Jer 48:25.

5"The waves[o] of death swirled about me;
the torrents of destruction overwhelmed me.
6The cords of the grave[o][p] coiled around me;
the snares of death confronted me.
7In my distress[q] I called[r] to the LORD;
I called out to my God.
From his temple he heard my voice;
my cry came to his ears.

8"The earth[s] trembled and quaked,[t]
the foundations[u] of the heavens[p] shook;
they trembled because he was angry.
9Smoke rose from his nostrils;
consuming fire[v] came from his mouth,
burning coals[w] blazed out of it.
10He parted the heavens and came down;
dark clouds[x] were under his feet.
11He mounted the cherubim[y] and flew;
he soared[q] on the wings of the wind.[z] 12He made darkness[a] his canopy around him—the dark[r] rain clouds of the sky.
13Out of the brightness of his presence bolts of lightning[b] blazed forth.
14The LORD thundered[c] from heaven;
the voice of the Most High resounded.
15He shot arrows[d] and scattered [the enemies], bolts of lightning and routed them.
16The valleys of the sea were exposed and the foundations of the earth laid bare at the rebuke[e] of the LORD, at the blast[f] of breath from his nostrils.

17"He reached down from on high[g] and took hold of me;
he drew[h] me out of deep waters.
18He rescued[i] me from my powerful enemy, from my foes, who were too strong for me.
19They confronted me in the day of my disaster, but the LORD was my support.[j] 20He brought me out into a spacious[k] place;
he rescued[l] me because he delighted[m] in me.[n]

21"The LORD has dealt with me according to my righteousness;[o] according to the cleanness[p] of my hands[q] he has rewarded me.
22For I have kept[r] the ways of the LORD;
I have not done evil by turning from my God.
23All his laws are before me;[s]
I have not turned[t] away from his decrees.
24I have been blameless[u] before him and have kept myself from sin.
25The LORD has rewarded me according to my righteousness,[v] according to my cleanness[s] in his sight.

26"To the faithful you show yourself faithful, to the blameless you show yourself blameless, 27to the pure[w] you show yourself pure, but to the crooked you show yourself shrewd.[x]
28You save the humble,[y]

22:5 waves of death. In vv. 5–6 David depicts his experiences in poetic figures of mortal danger.
22:6 grave. See note on Jnh 2:2.
22:7 his temple. Heaven, where the Lord is enthroned as King (see Ps 11:4; Isa 6:1; Jnh 2:7).
22:8–16 See note on Ps 18:7–15.
22:9 Smoke rose from his nostrils. God's power is portrayed in terms similar to those applied to the awesome beast, the leviathan (Job 41:19–21).
22:11 cherubim. See Eze 1 and 10, where cherubim are said to be the bearers of the throne of God; see also notes on Ge 3:24; 1Sa 4:4; Eze 1:5.
22:14 The LORD thundered. The reference to thunder as the voice of God is common in the OT (see Ps 29; Job 37:2–5). Thunder is particularly suited to expressing God's power and majesty.
22:17 He reached down from on high. In vv. 17–20 David describes his deliverance, initially in figurative terms (v. 17; cf. v. 5) and subsequently in more literal language (vv. 18–20).
22:20 delighted in. The Hebrew underlying this expression is used in 15:26 ("pleased"); Ps 22:8 (cf. Mt 3:17, "well pleased") and expresses the idea of the sovereign good pleasure and favor of God toward his anointed one (v. 51).
22:21 according to my righteousness. In vv. 21–25 David refers to the Lord's deliverances as a reward for his own righteousness. While these statements may give the impression of self-righteous boasting and a meritorious basis for divine favor, they should be understood in their context as: (1) David's desire to please the Lord in his service as the Lord's anointed (see note on v. 51); (2) his recognition that the Lord rewards those who faithfully seek to serve him.
22:26–30 Because God responds to man in kind (see Job 34:11; Pr 3:34), David has experienced the Lord's favor.
22:28 the haughty to bring them low. The words of this but your eyes are on the haughty[z] to bring them low.[a] 29 You are my lamp,[b] O LORD;

the LORD turns my darkness into light.
30 With your help I can advance against a troop[t];
with my God I can scale a wall.
31 "As for God, his way is perfect;[c]
the word of the LORD is flawless.[d]
He is a shield[e]
for all who take refuge in him.
32 For who is God besides the LORD?
And who is the Rock[f] except our God?[g] 33 It is God who arms me with strength[u] and makes my way perfect.
34 He makes my feet like the feet of a deer;[h] he enables me to stand on the heights.[i] 35 He trains my hands[j] for battle;
my arms can bend a bow[k] of bronze.
36 You give me your shield[l] of victory;
you stoop down to make me great.
37 You broaden the path[m] beneath me, so that my ankles do not turn.
38 "I pursued my enemies and crushed them;
I did not turn back till they were destroyed.
39 I crushed[n] them completely, and they could not rise;
they fell beneath my feet.
40 You armed me with strength for battle;
you made my adversaries bow at my feet.[o] 41 You made my enemies turn their backs[p] in flight, and I destroyed my foes.
42 They cried for help,[q] but there was no one to save them—[r] to the LORD, but he did not answer.[s]
43 I beat them as fine as the dust[t] of the earth;
I pounded and trampled[u] them like mud[v] in the streets.
44 "You have delivered[w] me from the attacks of my people;
you have preserved[x] me as the head of nations.
People[y] I did not know are subject to me,
45 and foreigners come cringing[z] to me;
as soon as they hear me, they obey me.[a] 46 They all lose heart;
they come trembling[v b] from their strongholds.
47 "The LORD lives! Praise be to my Rock!
Exalted[c] be God, the Rock, my Savior![d]
48 He is the God who avenges[e] me,[f] who puts the nations under me,
49 who sets me free from my enemies.[g]
You exalted me[h] above my foes;
from violent men you rescued me.
50 Therefore I will praise you, O LORD, among the nations;
I will sing praises[i] to your name.[j]
51 He gives his king great victories;[k] he shows unfailing kindness to his anointed,[l]

23 These are the last words of David:

the man anointed[p] by the God of Jacob, verse fit well with David's experience in his conflict with Saul (see Hannah's song, 1Sa 2:3–8).

22:29 You are my lamp. The Lord causes David's life and undertakings to flourish (see Job 18:5–6; 21:17; see also note on Ps 27:1).

22:31 his way is perfect. The remainder of the song (vv. 31–51) accentuates David's praise to God for his deliverances.

22:32 Rock. See note on v. 2.

22:47 The LORD lives! God's interventions and blessings in David's behalf have shown him to be the living God (see Dt 5:26).

22:50 I will praise you, O LORD, among the nations. For Paul's reference to this vow see Ro 15:9.

22:51 his king ... his anointed. See notes on 1Sa 10:25; 12:14–15. David refers to himself in the third person in a way that acknowledges the covenantal character of his kingship. It is in the context of David's official capacity as the Lord's anointed that the entire song is to be read and understood (see note on v. 21). his descendants forever. David speaks of God's promise through Nathan (see 7:12–16).

23:1 last words of David. Probably to be understood as David's last poetic testimony (in the manner of his psalms), perhaps composed at the time of his final instructions and warnings to his son Solomon (see 1Ki 2:1–10).

23:2 The Spirit of the LORD spoke through me. David was conscious of God's Spirit at work in him enabling his word was on my tongue.

3The God of Israel spoke,
the Rock[r] of Israel said to me:
'When one rules over men in righteousness,[s] when he rules in the fear[t] of God,[u]
4he is like the light[v] of morning[w] at sunrise[x]
on a cloudless morning, like the brightness after rain[y] that brings the grass from the earth.'

5"Is not my house right with God?
Has he not made with me an everlasting covenant,[z]
arranged and secured in every part?
Will he not bring to fruition my salvation and grant me my every desire?
6But evil men are all to be cast aside like thorns,[a] which are not gathered with the hand.
7Whoever touches thorns uses a tool of iron or the shaft of a spear;
they are burned up where they lie."

David's Mighty Men

23:8–39pp — 1Ch 11:10–41

8These are the names of David's mighty men:[b]

Josheb-Basshebeth,[xc] a Tahkemonite,[y] was chief of the Three; he raised his spear against eight hundred men, whom he killed[z] in one encounter.

13During harvest time, three of the thirty chief men came down to David at the cave of Adullam,[f] while a band of Philistines was encamped in the Valley of Rephaim.[g] 14At that time David was in the stronghold,[h] and the Philistine garrison was at Bethlehem.[i] 15David longed for water and said, "Oh, that someone would get me a drink of water from the well near the gate of Bethlehem!" 16So the three mighty men broke through the Philistine lines, drew water from the well near the gate of Bethlehem and carried it back to David. But he refused to drink it; instead, he poured[j] it out before the LORD. 17"Far be it from me, O LORD, to do this!" he said. "Is it not the blood[k] of men who went at the risk of their lives?" And David would not drink it.

Such were the exploits of the three mighty men.

18Abishai[l] the brother of Joab son of Zeruiah was chief of the Three.[b] He raised his spear against three hundred him to speak under the Spirit's guidance (see notes on 2Ti 3:16; 2Pe 1:21).

23:3 Rock. See note on 22:2; see also 1Sa 2:2; Dt 32:4,15,18,30–31. When one rules over men in righteousness. In brief and vivid strokes David portrays the ideal theocratic king—to be fully realized only in the rule of David's greater son, Jesus Christ. This prophetic utterance complements that of 7:12–16 and anticipates those of Isa 9:7; 11:1–5; Jer 23:5–6; 33:15–16; Zec 9:9.

23:4 like the light of morning. See notes on Ps 27:1; 36:9.

23:5 Is not my house right with God? A rhetorical question recalling God's covenant with him and his dynasty (see 7:12–16). everlasting covenant. David expressly calls God's promise to him a covenant that will not be abrogated (see notes on 7:20,28; Isa 55:3; see also Ps 89:3,28,34,39; 132:11). bring to fruition. Through David's promised descendants.

23:6 evil men . . . cast aside. Godless people who have no interest in the righteous king will be destroyed (see Ps 2:9; 110:5–6).

23:8–39 See note on 21:1–24:25. This list of 37 (see v. 39) of David's most valiant warriors and the description of some of their exploits are paralleled in 1Ch 11:11–41. There the list is expanded by 16 names (1Ch 11:41–47).

23:8 Tahkemonite. 1Ch 11:11 reads "Hacmonite" (see NIV text note here), derived from an unknown place-name. Three. Two groups of three warriors (vv. 8–12 and 13–23) and one group of 30 warriors (vv. 23–39) are mentioned (see note on v. 39 for the total number of warriors).

23:9 Ahohite. A descendant of Ahoah from the tribe of Benjamin (1Ch 8:4).

23:13 harvest time. See 11:1 and note. The circumstances of this event suggest that it happened shortly after David had fled from Saul, when men first began to gather to his cause (see 1Sa 22:1–4), or shortly after his conquest of Jerusalem (see 2Sa 5:17–18). three. Not the same as the three mighty men of v. 9. thirty chief men. See vv. 23–24,39. cave of Adullam. See 1Sa 22:1. Rephaim. See 5:18.

23:14 stronghold. See note on 1Sa 22:4.

23:15–16 See note on 1Ch 11:15–19.

23:18 Abishai. See 10:10,14; 18:2; see also note on 1Sa 26:6. Three. Presumably those referred to in vv. 13–17.

men, whom he killed, and so he became as famous as the Three. 19Was he not held in greater honor than the Three? He became their commander, even though he was not included among them.

20Benaiah[m] son of Jehoiada was a valiant fighter from Kabzeel,[n] who performed great exploits. He struck down two of Moab's best men. He also went down into a pit on a snowy day and killed a lion. 21And he struck down a huge Egyptian. Although the Egyptian had a spear in his hand, Benaiah went against him with a club. He snatched the spear from the Egyptian's hand and killed him with his own spear. 22Such were the exploits of Benaiah son of Jehoiada; he too was as famous as the three mighty men. 23He was held in greater honor than any of the Thirty, but he was not included among the Three. And David put him in charge of his bodyguard.

24Among the Thirty were:
Asahel[o] the brother of Joab,
Elhanan son of Dodo from Bethlehem,
25Shammah the Harodite,[p]
Elika the Harodite,
26Helez[q] the Paltite,
Ira[r] son of Ikkesh from Tekoa,
27Abiezer[s] from Anathoth,[t]
Mebunnai[c] the Hushathite,
28Zalmon the Ahohite,
Maharai[u] the Netophathite,[v]
29Heled[d][w] son of Baanah the Netophathite, Ithai son of Ribai from Gibeah[x] in Benjamin,
30Benaiah the Pirathonite,[y]
Hiddai[e] from the ravines of Gaash,[z]
31Abi-Albon the Arbathite,

23:20 Benaiah son of Jehoiada. Commander of the Kerethites and Pelethites (8:18; 20:23; see v. 23 below) and of the division of troops for the third month of the year (1Ch 27:5). He supported Solomon's succession to the throne (1Ki 1–2) and eventually replaced Joab as commander of the army (1Ki 2:35).

23:24 Thirty. Twenty-nine names are listed in vv. 24–39. Since the three of vv. 13–17 are also included in the thirty (see v. 13), the total number of warriors mentioned is 32. 1Ch 11:26–47 lists 16 additional names for this group, so it appears that the list includes the names of replacements for vacancies when a warrior either dropped out or died. Asahel. See 2:18–23.

23:34 Eliam. Father of Bathsheba (see 11:3) and son of David's counselor Ahithophel, who joined in Absalom's conspiracy (see 15:12,31,34; 16:20–23; 17:1–23).

23:39 Uriah. Husband of Bathsheba (see 11:3–27). thirty-seven. The total number of warriors referred to in vv. 8–39, including the Three of vv. 8–12, the Three of vv. 13–17, Abishai (vv. 18–19), Benaiah (vv. 20–23) and the 29 whose names are recorded in vv. 24–39 (see note on v. 24).

24:1 Again. The previous occasion may have been the famine of 21:1. the anger of the LORD burned against Israel. The specific reason for the Lord's displeasure is not stated. Because the anger is said to be directed against Israel rather than David, some have concluded that it was occasioned by the widespread support among the people for the rebellions of Absalom and Sheba against David (see 15:12; 17:11,24–26; 18:7; 20:1–2), the divinely chosen and anointed theocratic king. This would mean that the events of this chapter are to be placed chronologically shortly after those of chs. 15–20 and so after 980 B.C. (see note on 15:7). the LORD ... incited David against them. 1Ch 21:1 says that Satan inspired David to take the census. Although Scripture is clear that God does not cause anyone to sin (Jas 1:13–15), it is also clear that man's—and Satan's—evil acts are under God's sovereign control (see Ex 4:21; 7:3; 9:12; 10:1,20,27; 11:10; 14:4; Jos 11:20; 1Ki 22:22–23; Job 1:12; 2:10; Eze 3:20; 14:9; Ac 4:28). take a census of Israel and Judah. David's military census (see vv. 2–3) does not appear to have been prompted by any immediate external threat. Since he wanted to "know how many there are" (v. 2), it is evident that his action was motivated either by pride in the size of the empire he had acquired or by reliance for his security on the size of the reserve of manpower he could muster in an emergency or, more likely, both. The mere taking of a census was hardly sinful (see Nu 1:2–3; 26:2–4), but in this instance it represented an unwarranted glorying in and dependence on human power rather than the Lord (not much different from Israel's initial desire to have a king for their security; see 1Sa 8–12). The act was uncharacteristic of David (see 1Sa 17:26,37,45–47; 2Sa 22:2–4,47–51).

incited David against them, saying, "Go and take a census of[l] Israel and Judah."

[2]So the king said to Joab[m] and the army commanders[i] with him, "Go throughout the tribes of Israel from Dan to Beersheba[n] and enroll[o] the fighting men, so that I may know how many there are."

[3]But Joab[p] replied to the king, "May the LORD your God multiply the troops a hundred times over,[q] and may the eyes of my lord the king see it. But why does my lord the king want to do such a thing?"

[4]The king's word, however, overruled Joab and the army commanders; so they left the presence of the king to enroll the fighting men of Israel.

[5]After crossing the Jordan, they camped near Aroer,[r] south of the town in the gorge, and then went through Gad and on to Jazer.[s] [6]They went to Gilead and the region of Tahtim Hodshi, and on to Dan Jaan and around toward Sidon.[t] [7]Then they went toward the fortress of Tyre[u] and all the towns of the Hivites[v] and Canaanites. Finally, they went on to Beersheba[w] in the Negev[x] of Judah.

[8]After they had gone through the entire land, they came back to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days.

[9]Joab reported the number of the fighting men to the king: In Israel there were eight hundred thousand able-bodied men who could handle a sword, and in Judah five hundred thousand.[y]

[10]David was conscience-stricken[z] after he had counted the fighting men, and he said to the LORD, "I have sinned[a] greatly in what I have done. Now, O LORD, I beg you, take away the guilt of your servant. I have done a very foolish thing.[b]"

[11]Before David got up the next morning, the word of the LORD had come to Gad[c] the prophet, David's seer:[d] [12]"Go and tell David, 'This is what the LORD says: I am giving you three options. Choose one of them for me to carry out against you.' "

[13]So Gad went to David and said to him, "Shall there come upon you three[j] years of famine[e] in your land? Or three months of fleeing from your enemies while they pursue you? Or three days of plague[f] in your land? Now then, think it over and decide how I should answer the one who sent me."

[14]David said to Gad, "I am in deep distress. Let us fall into the hands of the LORD, for his mercy[g] is great; but do not let me fall into the hands of men."

[15]So the LORD sent a plague on Israel from that morning until the end of the time designated, and seventy thousand of the people from Dan to Beersheba died.[h] [16]When the angel stretched out his hand to destroy Jerusalem, the LORD was grieved[i] because of the calamity and said to the angel who was afflicting the people, "Enough! Withdraw your hand." The angel of the LORD[j] was then at the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite.

[17]When David saw the angel who was striking down the people, he said to the LORD, "I am the one who has sinned and done wrong. These are but sheep.[k] What have they done?[l] Let your hand fall upon me and my family."[m]

David Builds an Altar

24:18–25pp — 1Ch 21:18–26

[18]On that day Gad went to David and said to him, "Go up and build an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor of Araunah[n] the Jebusite." [19]So David went up, as the LORD had commanded through Gad. [20]When Araunah looked and saw the king and his men coming toward him, he went out and bowed down be-

24:17 Let your hand fall upon me and my family. Although the people of Israel were not without guilt (see v. 1), David assumes full blame for his own act and acknowledges his responsibility as king for the well-being of the Lord's people (see 5:2; 7:7–8).

"To buy your threshing floor," David answered, "so I can build an altar to the LORD, that the plague on the people may be stopped."[o]
22 Araunah said to David, "Let my lord the king take whatever pleases him and offer it up. Here are oxen[p] for the burnt offering, and here are threshing sledges and ox yokes for the wood. 23 O king, Araunah gives[q] all this to the king." Araunah also said to him, "May the LORD your God accept you."
24 But the king replied to Araunah, "No, I insist on paying you for it. I will not sacrifice to the LORD my God burnt offerings that cost me nothing."[r]
So David bought the threshing floor and the oxen and paid fifty shekels[ks] of silver for them. 25 David built an altar[t] to the LORD there and sacrificed burnt offerings and fellowship offerings.[l] Then the LORD answered prayer[u] in behalf of the land, and the plague on Israel was stopped.

1 Kings

Title

1 and 2 Kings (like 1 and 2 Samuel and 1 and 2 Chronicles) are actually one literary work, called in Hebrew tradition simply "Kings." The division of this work into two books was introduced by the translators of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) and subsequently followed in the Latin Vulgate and most modern versions. In 1448 the division into two sections also appeared in a Hebrew manuscript and was perpetuated in later printed editions of the Hebrew text. Both the Septuagint and the Latin Vulgate further designated Samuel and Kings in a way that emphasized the relationship of these two works (Septuagint: First, Second, Third and Fourth Book of Kingdoms; Latin Vulgate: First, Second, Third and Fourth Kings). Together Samuel and Kings relate the whole history of the monarchy, from its rise under the ministry of Samuel to its fall at the hands of the Babylonians.

The division between 1 and 2 Kings has been made at an appropriate but somewhat arbitrary place, shortly after the deaths of Ahab of the northern kingdom (22:37) and Jehoshaphat of the southern kingdom (22:50). Placing the division at this point causes the account of the reign of Ahaziah of Israel to overlap the end of 1 Kings (22:51–53) and the beginning of 2 Kings (ch. 1). The same is true of the narration of the ministry of Elijah, which for the most part appears in 1 Kings (chs. 17—19). However, his final act of judgment and the passing of his cloak to Elisha at the moment of his ascension to heaven in a whirlwind are contained in 2 Kings (1:1—2:17).

Author, Sources and Date

There is little conclusive evidence as to the identity of the author of 1,2 Kings. Although Jewish tradition credits Jeremiah, few today accept this as likely. Whoever the author was, it is clear that he was familiar with the book of Deuteronomy—as were many of Israel's prophets. It is also clear that he used a variety of sources in compiling his history of the monarchy. Three such sources are named: "the book of the annals of Solomon" (11:41), "the book of the annals of the kings of Israel" (14:19), "the book of the annals of the kings of Judah" (14:29). It is likely that other written sources were also employed (such as those mentioned in Chronicles; see below).

Although some scholars have concluded that the three sources specifically cited in 1,2 Kings are to be viewed as official court annals from the royal archives in Jerusalem and Samaria, this is by no means certain. It seems at least questionable whether official court annals would have included details of conspiracies such as those referred to in 16:20; 2Ki 15:15. It is also questionable whether official court annals would have been readily accessible for public scrutiny, as the author clearly implies in his references to them. Such considerations have led some scholars to conclude that these sources were probably records of the reigns of the kings of Israel and Judah compiled by the succession of Israel's prophets spanning the kingdom period. 1,2 Chronicles makes reference to a number of such writings: "the records of Samuel the seer, the records of Nathan the prophet and the records of Gad the seer" (1Ch 29:29), "the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite" and "the visions of Iddo the seer" (2Ch 9:29), "the records of Shemaiah the prophet" (2Ch 12:15), "the annals of Jehu son of Hanani" (2Ch 20:34), "the annotations on the book of the kings" (2Ch 24:27), the "events of Uzziah's reign . . . recorded by the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz" (2Ch 26:22; see also 2Ch 32:32)—and there may have been others. It is most likely, for example, that for the ministries of Elijah and Elisha the author depended on a prophetic source (perhaps from the eighth century) that had drawn up an account of those two prophets in which they were already compared with Moses and Joshua.

Some scholars place the date of composition of 1,2 Kings in the time subsequent to Jehoiachin's release from prison (562 B.C.; 2Ki 25:27–30) and prior to the end of the Babylonian exile in 538. This position is challenged by others on the basis of statements in 1,2 Kings that speak of certain things in the preexilic period that are said to have continued in existence "to this day" (see, e.g., 8:8, the poles used to carry the ark; 9:20–21, conscripted labor; 12:19, Israel in rebellion against the house of David; 2Ki 8:22, Edom in rebellion against the kingdom of Judah). From such statements it is argued that the writer must have been a person living in Judah in the preexilic period rather than in Babylon in postexilic times. If this argument is accepted, one must conclude that the original book was composed about the time of the death of Josiah and that the material pertaining to the time subsequent to his reign was added during the exile c. 550. While this "two-edition" viewpoint is possible, it rests largely on the "to this day" statements.

An alternative is to understand these statements as those of the original source used by the author rather than statements of the author himself. A comparison of 2Ch 5:9 with 1Ki 8:8 suggests that this is a legitimate conclusion. Chronicles is clearly a postexilic writing, yet the wording of the statement concerning the poles used to carry the ark ("they are still there today") is the same in Chronicles as it is in Kings. Probably the Chronicler was simply quoting his source, namely, 1Ki 8:8. There is no reason that the author of 1,2 Kings could not have done the same thing in quoting from his earlier sources. This explanation allows for positing a single author living in exile and using the source materials at his disposal.

Theme: Kingship and Covenant

1,2 Kings contains no explicit statement of purpose or theme. Reflection on its content, however, reveals that the author has selected and arranged his material in a manner that provides a sequel to the history found in 1,2 Samuel—a history of kingship regulated by covenant. In general, 1,2 Kings describes the history of the kings of Israel and Judah in the light of God's covenants. The guiding thesis of the book is that the welfare of Israel and her kings depended on their obedience to their obligations as defined in the Mosaic covenant.

It is clearly not the author's intention to present a socio-politico-economic history of Israel's monarchy in accordance with the principles of modern historiography. The author repeatedly refers the reader to other sources for more detailed information about the reigns of the various kings (see, e.g., 11:41; 14:19,29; 15:7,31; 16:5,14,20,27), and he gives a covenantal rather than a social or political or economic assessment of their reigns. From the standpoint of a political historian, Omri would be considered one of the more important rulers in the northern kingdom. He established a powerful dynasty and made Samaria the capital city. According to the Moabite Stone (see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii), Omri was the ruler who subjugated the Moabites to the northern kingdom. Long after Omri's death, Assyrian rulers referred to Jehu as the "son of Omri" (either mistakenly or merely in accordance with their literary conventions when speaking of a later king of a realm). Yet in spite of Omri's political importance, his reign is dismissed in six verses (16:23–28) with the statement that he "did evil in the eyes of the LORD and sinned more than all those before him" (16:25). Similarly, the reign of Jeroboam II, who presided over the northern kingdom during the time of its greatest political and economic power, is treated only briefly (2Ki 14:23–29).

Another example of the writer's covenantal rather than merely political or economic interest can be seen in the description of the reign of Josiah of Judah. Nothing is said about the early years of his reign, but a detailed description is given of the reformation and renewal of the covenant that he promoted in his 18th year as king (2Ki 22:3—23:28). Nor is anything said of the motives leading Josiah to oppose Pharaoh Neco of Egypt at Megiddo, or of the major shift in geopolitical power from Assyria to Babylon that was connected with this incident (see notes on 2Ki 23:29–30).

It becomes apparent, then, that the kings who receive the most attention in 1,2 Kings are those during whose reigns there was either notable deviation from or affirmation of the covenant (or significant interaction between a king and God's prophet; see below). Ahab son of Omri is an example of the former (16:29—22:39). His reign is given extensive treatment, not so much because of its extraordinary political importance, but because of the serious threat to covenant fidelity and continuity that arose in the northern kingdom during his reign. Ultimately the pagan influence of Ahab's wife Jezebel through Ahab's daughter Athaliah (whether she was Jezebel's daughter is unknown) nearly led to the extermination of the house of David in Judah (see 2Ki 11:1–3).

Manasseh (2Ki 21:1–18) is an example of a similar sort. Here again it is deviation from the covenant that is emphasized in the account of his reign rather than political features, such as involvement in the Assyrian-Egyptian conflict (mentioned in Assyrian records but not in 2 Kings). The extreme apostasy characterizing Manasseh's reign made exile for Judah inevitable (2Ki 21:10–15; 23:26–27).

On the positive side, Hezekiah (2Ki 18:1—20:21) and Josiah (2Ki 22:1—23:29) are given extensive treatment because of their involvement in covenant renewal. These are the only two kings given unqualified approval by the writer for their loyalty to the Lord (2Ki 18:3; 22:2). It is noteworthy that all the kings of the northern kingdom are said to have done evil in the eyes of the Lord and walked in the ways of Jeroboam, who caused Israel to sin (see, e.g., 16:26,31; 22:52; 2Ki 3:3; 10:29). It was Jeroboam who established the golden calf worship at Bethel and Dan shortly after the division of the kingdom (see 12:26–33; 13:1–6).

While the writer depicts Israel's obedience or disobedience to the Sinai covenant as decisive for her historical destiny, he also recognizes the far-reaching historical significance of the Davidic covenant, which promised that David's dynasty would endure forever. This is particularly noticeable in references to the "lamp" that the Lord had promised David (see 11:36; 15:4; 2Ki 8:19; see also note on 2Sa 21:17). It also appears in more general references to the promise to David (8:20,25) and its consequences for specific historical developments in Judah's later history (11:12–13,32; 2Ki 19:34; 20:6). In addition, the writer uses the life and reign of David as a standard by which the lives of later kings are measured (see, e.g., 9:4; 11:4,6,33,38; 14:8; 15:3,5,11; 2Ki 16:2; 18:3; 22:2).

Another prominent feature of the narratives of 1,2 Kings is the emphasis on the relationship between prophecy and fulfillment in the historical developments of the monarchy. On at least 11 occasions a prophecy is recorded that is later said to have been fulfilled (see, e.g., 2Sa 7:13 and 1Ki 8:20; 1Ki 11:29–39 and 1Ki 12:15; 1Ki 13 and 2Ki 23:16–18). The result of this emphasis is that the history of the kingdom is not presented as a chain of chance occurrences or the mere interplay of human actions but as the unfolding of Israel's historical destiny under the guidance of an omniscient and omnipotent God—Israel's covenant Lord, who rules all history in accordance with his sovereign purposes (see 8:56; 2Ki 10:10).

The author also stresses the importance of the prophets themselves in their role as official emissaries from the court of Israel's covenant Lord, the Great King to whom Israel and her king were bound in service through the covenant. The Lord sent a long succession of such prophets to call king and people back to covenant loyalty (2Ki 17:13). For the most part their warnings and exhortations fell on deaf ears. Many of these prophets and prophetesses are mentioned in the narratives of 1,2 Kings (see, e.g., Ahijah, 11:29–40; 14:5–18; Shemaiah, 12:22–24; Micaiah, 22:8–28; Jonah, 2Ki 14:25; Isaiah, 2Ki 19:1–7,20–34; Huldah, 2Ki 22:14–20), but particular attention is given to the ministries of Elijah and Elisha (1Ki 17—19; 2Ki 1—13).

Reflection on these features of 1,2 Kings suggests that it was written to explain to a people in exile that the reason for their condition of humiliation was their stubborn persistence in breaking the covenant. In bringing the exile upon his people, God, after much patience, imposed the curses of the covenant, which had stood as a warning to them from the beginning (see Lev 26:27–45; Dt 28:64–68). This is made explicit with respect to the captivity of the northern kingdom in 2Ki 17:7–23; 18:10–12, and with respect to the southern kingdom in 2Ki 21. The reformation under Josiah in the southern kingdom is viewed as too little, too late (see 2Ki 23:26–27; 24:3).

The book, then, provides a retrospective analysis of Israel's history. It explains the reasons both for the destruction of Samaria and Jerusalem and their respective kingdoms and for the bitter experience of being forced into exile. This does not mean, however, that there is no hope for the future. The writer consistently keeps the promise to David in view as a basis on which Israel in exile may look to the future with hope rather than with despair. In this connection the final four verses of the book, reporting Jehoiachin's release from prison in Babylon and his elevation to a place of honor in the court there (2Ki 25:27–30), take on added significance. The future remains open for a new work of the Lord in faithfulness to his promise to the house of David.

It is important to note that, although the author was undoubtedly a Judahite exile, and although the northern kingdom had been dispersed for well over a century and a half at the time of his writing, the scope of his concern was all Israel—the whole covenant people. Neither he nor the prophets viewed the division of the kingdom as an excommunication of the ten tribes, nor did they see the earlier exile of the northern kingdom as a final exclusion of the northern tribes from Israel's future.

Chronology

1,2 Kings presents the reader with abundant chronological data. Not only is the length of the reign of each king given, but during the period of the divided kingdom the beginning of the reign of each king is synchronized with the regnal year of the ruling king in the opposite kingdom. Often additional data, such as the age of the ruler at the time of his accession, are also provided.

By integrating Biblical data with those derived from Assyrian chronological records, the year 853 B.C. can be fixed as the year of Ahab's death, and the year 841 as the year Jehu began to reign. The years in which Ahab and Jehu had contacts with Shalmaneser III of Assyria can also be given definite dates (by means of astronomical calculations based on an Assyrian reference to a solar eclipse). With these fixed points, it is then possible to work both forward and backward in the lines of the kings of Israel and Judah to give dates for each king. By the same means it can be determined that the division of the kingdom occurred in 930, that Samaria fell to the Assyrians in 722–721 and that Jerusalem fell to the Babylonians in 586.

The synchronistic data correlating the reigns of the kings of Israel and Judah present some knotty problems, which have long been considered nearly insoluble. In more recent times, most of these problems have been resolved in a satisfactory way through recognizing such possibilities as overlapping reigns, co-regencies of sons with their fathers, differences in the time of the year in which the reign of a king officially began, and differences in the way a king's first year was reckoned (e.g., see notes on 15:33; 2Ki 8:25. see also chart on "Rulers of the Divided Kingdom of Israel and Judah," p. 496).

Content

1,2 Kings describes the history of Israel's monarchy from the closing days of the rule of David until the time of the Babylonian exile. After an extensive account of Solomon's reign, the narrative records the division of the kingdom and then, by means of its synchronistic accounts, presents an interrelated picture of developments within the two kingdoms.

Kingship in the northern kingdom was plagued with instability and violence. Twenty rulers represented nine different dynasties during the approximately 210 years from the division of the kingdom in 930 B.C. until the fall of Samaria in 722–721. In the southern kingdom there were also 20 rulers, but these were all descendants of David (except Athaliah, whose usurping of the throne interrupted the sequence for a few years) and spanned a period of about 345 years from the division of the kingdom until the fall of Jerusalem in 586.

Outline

1,2 Kings can be broadly outlined by relating its contents to the major historical periods it describes and to the ministries of Elijah and Elisha.

I. The Solomonic Era (1:1—12:24)
  A. Solomon's Succession to the Throne (1:1—2:12)
  B. Solomon's Throne Consolidated (2:13–46)
  C. Solomon's Wisdom (ch. 3)

- I. Babylonian Exile of Judah (25:1–21)
- J. Removal of the Remnant to Egypt (25:22–26)
- K. Elevation of Jehoiachin in Babylon (25:27–30)

Adonijah Sets Himself Up as King

1 When King David was old and well advanced in years, he could not keep warm even when they put covers over him. 2So his servants said to him, "Let us look for a young virgin to attend the king and take care of him. She can lie beside him so that our lord the king may keep warm."

3Then they searched throughout Israel for a beautiful girl and found Abishag,[a] a Shunammite,[b] and brought her to the king. 4The girl was very beautiful; she took care of the king and waited on him, but the king had no intimate relations with her.

5Now Adonijah,[c] whose mother was Haggith, put himself forward and said, "I will be king." So he got chariots[d] and horses[a] ready, with fifty men to run ahead of him. 6(His father had never interfered[e] with him by asking, "Why do you behave as you do?" He was also very handsome and was born next after Absalom.)

7Adonijah conferred with Joab[f] son of Zeruiah and with Abiathar[g] the priest, and they gave him their support. 8But Zadok[h] the priest, Benaiah[i] son of Jehoiada, Nathan[j] the prophet, Shimei[k] and Rei[b] and David's special guard[l] did not join Adonijah.

9Adonijah then sacrificed sheep, cattle and fattened calves at the Stone of Zoheleth near En Rogel.[m] He invited all his brothers, the king's sons,[n] and all the men of Judah who were royal officials, 10but he did not invite[o] Nathan the prophet or Benaiah or the special guard or his brother Solomon.[p]

11Then Nathan asked Bathsheba,[q] Solomon's mother, "Have you not heard that Adonijah,[r] the son of Haggith, has become king without our lord David's knowing it? 12Now then, let me advise[s] you how you can save your own life and the life of your son Solomon. 13Go in to King David and say to him, 'My lord the king, did you not swear[t] to me your servant: "Surely Solomon your son shall be king after me, and he will sit on my throne"? Why then has Adonijah become king?' 14While you are still there talking to the king, I will come in and confirm what you have said."

15So Bathsheba went to see the aged king in his room, where Abishag[u] the Shunammite was attending him. 16Bathsheba bowed low and knelt before the king.

"What is it you want?" the king asked.

17She said to him, "My lord, you your-

[a] 5 Or charioteers [b] 8 Or and his friends

1:1–12:24 The narrative of the Solomonic era is an exquisite example of literary inversion, in this case consisting of nine sections. The first and last are parallel, as well as the second and eighth, etc.—and the fifth section, which occupies the central position in the structure, is the longest of the nine and describes Solomon's building projects (see Introduction: Outline).

1:1 advanced in years. 2Sa 5:4 indicates that David died at about 70 years of age (cf. 1Ki 2:11).

1:3 Shunammite. Abishag came from Shunem (2Ki 4:8; Jos 19:18; 1Sa 28:4), located near the plain of Jezreel in the tribal territory of Issachar.

1:4 had no intimate relations with her. Significant in connection with Adonijah's request to be given Abishag as his wife after the death of David (see notes on 2:17,22).

1:5 Adonijah. The fourth son of David (see 2Sa 3:4), who was at this time approximately 35 years of age. It is likely that he was the oldest surviving son of David (see note on 2Sa 13:28; see also 2Sa 18:14). put himself forward. A unilateral attempt to usurp the throne, bypassing King David's right to designate his own successor (Adonijah must at least have known that his father favored Solomon; see v. 10). If successful, it would have thwarted God's and David's choice of Solomon (see vv. 13,17,30; 1Ch 22:9–10; see also note on 2Sa 12:25). fifty men to run ahead of him. Adonijah here follows the example of Absalom before him (see note on 2Sa 15:1).

1:6 never interfered. David appears to have been consistently negligent in disciplining his sons (see notes on 2Sa 13:21; 14:33). very handsome. Attractive physical appearance was an important asset to an aspirant to the throne (see 1Sa 9:2; 16:12; 2Sa 14:25).

1:7 Joab son of Zeruiah. See notes on 1Sa 26:6; 2Sa 2:13; 19:13; 20:10,23. Joab's alignment with Adonijah may have been motivated by a struggle for power with Benaiah (see v. 8; 2Sa 8:18; 20:23; 23:20–23). Joab held his position more by his standing with the army than by the favor and confidence of David (see 2:5–6). Abiathar the priest. See note on 2Sa 8:17.

1:8 Zadok the priest. See note on 2Sa 8:17. Benaiah son of Jehoiada. See note on 2Sa 23:20. Nathan the prophet. See 2Sa 12:1–25. Shimei. Not the Shimei of 2:8,46; 2Sa 16:5–8; perhaps the same as Shimei son of Ela (4:18). Rei. See NIV text note. There is no other OT reference to Rei if taken as a proper name. David's special guard. See 2Sa 23:8–39.

1:9 Adonijah then sacrificed. Here also (see note on v. 5) Adonijah followed the example of Absalom (see 2Sa 15:7–12). En Rogel. Means "the spring of Rogel"; located just south of Jerusalem in the Kidron Valley. Apparently the site of a spring had some kind of symbolic significance for the business at hand (see v. 33 and note).

1:11 Bathsheba, Solomon's mother. The queen mother held an important and influential position in the royal court (see 2:19; 15:13; 2Ki 10:13; 2Ch 15:16). has become king. Although the preceding narrative does not relate the actual proclamation of Adonijah's kingship, it can be assumed (see v. 25; 2:15; cf. 2Sa 15:10).

1:12 save your own life and the life of your son Solomon. It was common in the ancient Near East for a usurper to liquidate all potential claimants to the throne in an attempt to secure his own position (see 15:29; 2Ki 10:11; 11:1).

1:13 did you not swear to me . . . ? Although 2 Samuel does not record David's oath concerning the succession of Solomon, it does suggest that Solomon was the son through whom the Lord's promise to David for an eternal dynasty would be carried forward (see note on v. 5).

1:17 you yourself swore to me . . . by the LORD your God. An oath taken in the Lord's name was inviolable (see Ex 20:7; Lev 19:12; Jos 9:15,18,20; Jdg 11:30,35; Ecc 5:4–7).

self swore[v] to me your servant by the LORD your God: 'Solomon your son shall be king after me, and he will sit on my throne.' [18]But now Adonijah has become king, and you, my lord the king, do not know about it. [19]He has sacrificed[w] great numbers of cattle, fattened calves, and sheep, and has invited all the king's sons, Abiathar the priest and Joab the commander of the army, but he has not invited Solomon your servant. [20]My lord the king, the eyes of all Israel are on you, to learn from you who will sit on the throne of my lord the king after him. [21]Otherwise, as soon as my lord the king is laid to rest[x] with his fathers, I and my son Solomon will be treated as criminals."

[22]While she was still speaking with the king, Nathan the prophet arrived. [23]And they told the king, "Nathan the prophet is here." So he went before the king and bowed with his face to the ground.

[24]Nathan said, "Have you, my lord the king, declared that Adonijah shall be king after you, and that he will sit on your throne? [25]Today he has gone down and sacrificed great numbers of cattle, fattened calves, and sheep. He has invited all the king's sons, the commanders of the army and Abiathar the priest. Right now they are eating and drinking with him and saying, 'Long live King Adonijah!' [26]But me your servant, and Zadok the priest, and Benaiah son of Jehoiada, and your servant Solomon he did not invite.[y] [27]Is this something my lord the king has done without letting his servants know who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?"

David Makes Solomon King

1:28–53pp — 1Ch 29:21–25

[28]Then King David said, "Call in Bathsheba." So she came into the king's presence and stood before him.

[29]The king then took an oath: "As surely as the LORD lives, who has delivered me out of every trouble,[z] [30]I will surely carry out today what I swore[a] to you by the LORD, the God of Israel: Solomon your son shall be king after me, and he will sit on my throne in my place."

[31]Then Bathsheba bowed low with her face to the ground and, kneeling before the king, said, "May my lord King David live forever!"

[32]King David said, "Call in Zadok[b] the priest, Nathan the prophet and Benaiah son of Jehoiada." When they came before the king, [33]he said to them: "Take your lord's servants with you and set Solomon my son on my own mule[c] and take him down to Gihon.[d] [34]There have Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anoint[e] him king over Israel. Blow the trumpet[f] and shout, 'Long live King Solomon!' [35]Then you are to go up with him, and he is to come and sit on my throne and reign in my place. I have appointed him ruler over Israel and Judah."

[36]Benaiah son of Jehoiada answered the king, "Amen! May the LORD, the God of my lord the king, so declare it. [37]As the LORD was with my lord the king, so may he be with[g] Solomon to make his throne even greater[h] than the throne of my lord King David!"

[38]So Zadok[i] the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah son of Jehoiada, the Kerethites[j] and the Pelethites went down and put Solomon on King David's mule and escorted him to Gihon.[k] [39]Za-

1:21 laid to rest with his fathers. A conventional expression for death (see Ge 47:30; Dt 31:16).

1:24 Nathan approached David diplomatically by raising a question that revealed the dilemma. Either David had secretly encouraged Adonijah to claim the throne and thereby had broken his oath to Bathsheba and Solomon (see v. 27), or he had been betrayed by Adonijah.

1:25 Long live King Adonijah! An expression of recognition and acclamation of the new king (see 1Sa 10:24; 2Sa 16:16; 2Ki 11:12).

1:31 May my lord King David live forever! An expression of Bathsheba's thanks in the stereotyped hyperbolic language of the court (see Ne 2:3; Da 2:4; 3:9; 5:10; 6:21).

1:33 your lord's servants. Presumably including the Kerethites and Pelethites (see v. 38). my own mule. Although crossbreeding was forbidden in the Mosaic law (Lev 19:19), mules (perhaps imported; see Eze 27:14) were used in the time of David, at least as mounts for royalty (see 2Sa 13:29; 18:9). To ride on David's own mule was a public proclamation that Solomon's succession to the throne was sanctioned by David (see Ge 41:43 and first NIV text note; Est 6:7–8). Gihon. The site of a spring on the eastern slope of Mount Zion (see notes on v. 9; 2Sa 5:8).

1:34 anoint him. See notes on 1Sa 2:10; 9:16. Blow the trumpet. See 2Ki 9:13; 2Sa 15:10; 20:1. Long live King Solomon! See note on v. 25.

1:35 Israel and Judah. The distinction between Israel and Judah was rooted in the separate arrangements by which David became king over these two tribal units (see 2Sa 2:4; 5:3).

1:36 Amen! May the LORD . . . so declare it. See Jer 28:6.

1:37 even greater. Not a deprecation of David's accomplishments, but an expression of total loyalty to David and Solomon. Benaiah shared David's own desire for his chosen successor (see vv. 47–48).

1:38 the Kerethites and the Pelethites. See note on 2Sa 8:18.

1:39 Zadok . . . anointed Solomon. Kings chosen by God to rule over his people who were not in a line of dynastic succession were anointed by prophets (Saul, 1Sa 9:16; David, 1Sa 16:12; Jehu, 2Ki 9). Kings who assumed office in the line of dynastic succession were anointed by priests (Solomon, here; Joash, 2Ki 11:12). The distinction seems to be that the priest worked within the established order while the prophets introduced new divine initiatives. horn of oil. Perhaps containing the anointing oil described in Ex 30:22–33. sacred tent. The tent David had erected in Jerusalem to house the ark (see 2Sa 6:17) rather than the dok the priest took the horn of oil[l] from the sacred tent[m] and anointed Solomon. Then they sounded the trumpet[n] and all the people shouted,[o] "Long live King Solomon!" [40]And all the people went up after him, playing flutes[p] and rejoicing greatly, so that the ground shook with the sound.

[41]Adonijah and all the guests who were with him heard it as they were finishing their feast. On hearing the sound of the trumpet, Joab asked, "What's the meaning of all the noise in the city?"[q]

[42]Even as he was speaking, Jonathan[r] son of Abiathar the priest arrived. Adonijah said, "Come in. A worthy man like you must be bringing good news."[s]

[43]"Not at all!" Jonathan answered. "Our lord King David has made Solomon king. [44]The king has sent with him Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah son of Jehoiada, the Kerethites and the Pelethites, and they have put him on the king's mule, [45]and Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet have anointed him king at Gihon. From there they have gone up cheering, and the city resounds[t] with it. That's the noise you hear. [46]Moreover, Solomon has taken his seat[u] on the royal throne. [47]Also, the royal officials have come to congratulate our lord King David, saying, 'May your God make Solomon's name more famous than yours and his throne greater[v] than yours!' And the king bowed in worship on his bed [48]and said, 'Praise be to the LORD, the God of Israel, who has allowed my eyes to see a successor[w] on my throne today.' "

[49]At this, all Adonijah's guests rose in alarm and dispersed. [50]But Adonijah, in fear of Solomon, went and took hold of the horns[x] of the altar. [51]Then Solomon was told, "Adonijah is afraid of King Solomon and is clinging to the horns of the altar. He says, 'Let King Solomon swear to me today that he will not put his servant to death with the sword.' "

[52]Solomon replied, "If he shows himself to be a worthy man, not a hair[y] of his head will fall to the ground; but if evil is found in him, he will die." [53]Then King Solomon sent men, and they brought him down from the altar. And Adonijah came and bowed down to King Solomon, and Solomon said, "Go to your home."

David's Charge to Solomon

2:10–12pp — 1Ch 29:26–28

2 When the time drew near for David to die,[z] he gave a charge to Solomon his son.

[2]"I am about to go the way of all the earth,"[a] he said. "So be strong,[b] show yourself a man, [3]and observe[c] what the LORD your God requires: Walk in his ways, and keep his decrees and commands, his laws and requirements, as written in the Law of Moses, so that you may prosper[d] in all you do and wherever you go, [4]and that the LORD may keep his promise[e] to me: 'If your descendants watch how they live, and if they

1:41 heard it. Although Gihon may not have been visible from En Rogel, the distance was not great and the sound would carry down the Kidron Valley.

1:42 Jonathan son of Abiathar. See 2Sa 17:17–21.

1:47 more famous. See note on v. 37.

1:48 successor. In Solomon's succession to the throne David sees a fulfillment of the promise in 2Sa 7:12,16.

1:49 dispersed. No one wanted to be identified with Adonijah's abortive coup now that it appeared certain to fail.

1:50 took hold of the horns of the altar. The horns of the altar were vertical projections at each corner. The idea of seeking asylum at the altar was rooted in the Pentateuch (see Ex 21:13–14). The priest smeared the blood of the sacrifice on the horns of the altar (see Ex 29:12; Lev 4:7,18,25,30,34) during the sacrificial ritual. Adonijah thus seeks to place his own destiny under the protection of God.

1:52 worthy man. Who recognizes and submits to Solomon's office and authority. if evil is found in him. If he shows evidence of continuing opposition to Solomon's succession to the throne.

2:1 he gave a charge. Moses (Dt 31:1–8), Joshua (Jos 23:1–16) and Samuel (1Sa 12:1–25), as representatives of the Lord's rule, had all given final instructions and admonitions shortly before their deaths.

2:2 the way of all the earth. To the grave (see Jos 23:14). be strong. See Dt 31:7,23; Jos 1:6–7,9,18.

2:3 observe what the LORD your God requires. See Ge 26:5; Lev 18:30; Dt 11:1. Walk in his ways. A characteristic expression of Deuteronomy for obedience to covenant obligations (Dt 5:33; 8:6; 10:12; 11:22; 19:9; 26:17; 28:9; 30:16). his decrees and commands, his laws and requirements. Four generally synonymous terms for covenant obligations (see 6:12; 8:58; 2Ki 17:37; Dt 8:11; 11:1; 26:17; 28:15,45; 30:10,16). that you may prosper. See Dt 29:9.

2:4 that the LORD may keep his promise to me. David here alludes to the covenanted promise of an everlasting dynasty given to him by God through Nathan the prophet (see notes on 2Sa 7:11–16). Although the covenant promise to David was unconditional, individual participation in its blessing on the part of David's royal descendants was conditioned on obedience to the obligations of the Mosaic covenant (see 2Ch 7:17–22). with all their heart and soul. See Dt 4:29; 6:5; 10:12; 30:6. you will never fail to have a man on the throne of Israel. Both Solomon and his descendants fell short of their covenant obligations. This led to the division of the kingdom and eventually to the exile of both the northern and southern kingdoms. It was only in the coming of Christ that the fallen tent of David would be restored (see notes on Am 9:11–15; Ac 15:16) and the promise of David's eternal dynasty ultimately fulfilled. When the nation and its king turned away from the requirements of the Sinai covenant, they experienced the covenant curses rather than blessings; but in all this God remained faithful to his covenant promises to Abraham and to David (see Lev 26:42–45; Isa 9:6–7; 11:1–16; 16:5; 55:3; Jer 23:5–6; 30:9; 33:17,20–22,25–26; Eze 34:23–24; 37:24–28).

walk faithfully[f] before me with all their heart and soul, you will never fail to have a man on the throne of Israel.'

5"Now you yourself know what Joab[g] son of Zeruiah did to me—what he did to the two commanders of Israel's armies, Abner[h] son of Ner and Amasa[i] son of Jether. He killed them, shedding their blood in peacetime as if in battle, and with that blood stained the belt around his waist and the sandals on his feet. 6Deal with him according to your wisdom,[j] but do not let his gray head go down to the grave[c] in peace.

7"But show kindness[k] to the sons of Barzillai[l] of Gilead and let them be among those who eat at your table.[m] They stood by me when I fled from your brother Absalom.

8"And remember, you have with you Shimei[n] son of Gera, the Benjamite from Bahurim, who called down bitter curses on me the day I went to Mahanaim.[o] When he came down to meet me at the Jordan, I swore[p] to him by the LORD: 'I will not put you to death by the sword.' 9But now, do not consider him innocent. You are a man of wisdom;[q] you will know what to do to him. Bring his gray head down to the grave in blood."

10Then David rested with his fathers and was buried[r] in the City of David.[s] 11He had reigned[t] forty years over Israel—seven years in Hebron and thirty-three in Jerusalem. 12So Solomon sat on the throne[u] of his father David, and his rule was firmly established.[v]

Solomon's Throne Established

13Now Adonijah,[w] the son of Haggith, went to Bathsheba, Solomon's mother. Bathsheba asked him, "Do you come peacefully?"[x]

He answered, "Yes, peacefully."

14Then he added, "I have something to say to you."

"You may say it," she replied.

2:7 sons of Barzillai. See note on 2Sa 17:27. eat at your table. A position of honor that brought with it other benefits (see 18:19; 2Ki 25:29; 2Sa 9:7; 19:28; Ne 5:17).

2:8 See 2Sa 16:5–13. Shimei son of Gera, the Benjamite. Gera was probably the ancestor of Shimei's particular line of descent rather than his immediate father (see Ge 46:21; Jdg 3:15). See NIV text notes on Ge 10:2; Da 5:22.

Solomon's Jerusalem

c. 950 B.C.

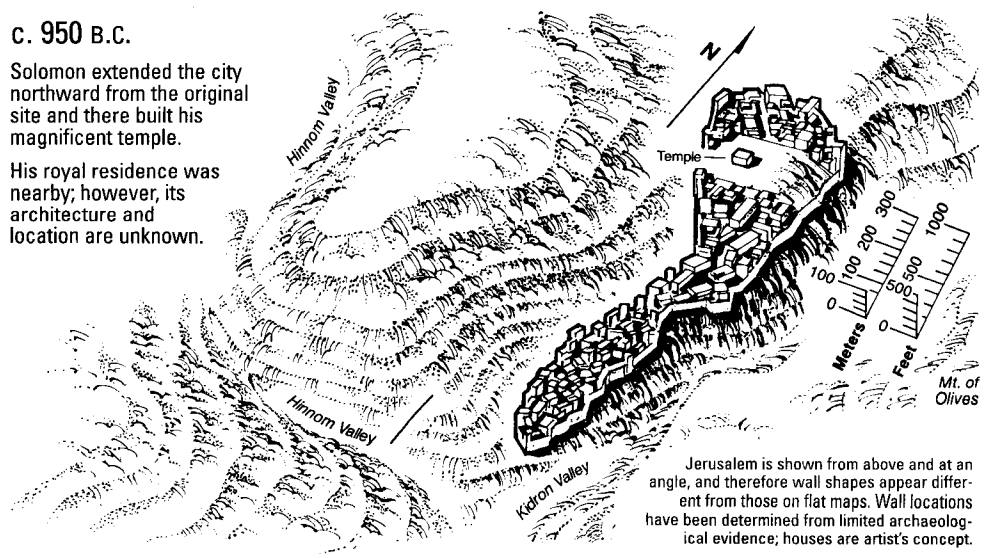
Solomon extended the city northward from the original site and there built his magnificent temple.

His royal residence was nearby; however, its architecture and location are unknown.



Jerusalem is shown from above and at an angle, and therefore wall shapes appear different from those on flat maps. Wall locations have been determined from limited archaeological evidence; houses are artist's concept.

their king. But things changed, and the kingdom has gone to my brother; for it has come to him from the LORD. 16Now I have one request to make of you. Do not refuse me."

"You may make it," she said.

17So he continued, "Please ask King Solomon—he will not refuse you—to give me Abishag[y] the Shunammite as my wife."

18"Very well," Bathsheba replied, "I will speak to the king for you."

19When Bathsheba went to King Solomon to speak to him for Adonijah, the king stood up to meet her, bowed down to her and sat down on his throne. He had a throne brought for the king's mother,[z] and she sat down at his right hand.[a]

20"I have one small request to make of you," she said. "Do not refuse me."

The king replied, "Make it, my mother; I will not refuse you."

21So she said, "Let Abishag[b] the Shunammite be given in marriage to your brother Adonijah."

22King Solomon answered his mother, "Why do you request Abishag[c] the Shunammite for Adonijah? You might as well request the kingdom for him—after all, he is my older brother[d]—yes, for him and for Abiathar[e] the priest and Joab son of Zeruiah!"

23Then King Solomon swore by the LORD: "May God deal with me, be it ever so severely,[f] if Adonijah does not pay with his life for this request! 24And now, as surely as the LORD lives—he who has established me securely on the throne of my father David and has founded a dynasty for me as he promised[g]—Adonijah shall be put to death today!" 25So King Solomon gave orders to Benaiah[h] son of Jehoiada, and he struck down Adonijah and he died.[i]

26To Abiathar[j] the priest the king said, "Go back to your fields in Anathoth.[k] You deserve to die, but I will not put you to death now, because you carried the ark[l] of the Sovereign LORD before my father David and shared all my father's hardships."[m] 27So Solomon removed Abiathar from the priesthood of the LORD, fulfilling[n] the word the LORD had spoken at Shiloh about the house of Eli.

28When the news reached Joab, who had conspired with Adonijah though not with Absalom, he fled to the tent of the LORD and took hold of the horns[o] of the altar. 29King Solomon was told that Joab had fled to the tent of the LORD and was beside the altar.[p] Then Solomon ordered Benaiah[q] son of Jehoiada, "Go, strike him down!"

30So Benaiah entered the tent[r] of the LORD and said to Joab, "The king says, 'Come out!'[s]"

But he answered, "No, I will die here."

Benaiah reported to the king, "This is how Joab answered me."

31Then the king commanded Benaiah, "Do as he says. Strike him down and bury him, and so clear me and my father's house of the guilt of the innocent blood[t] that Joab shed. 32The LORD will repay[u] him for the blood he shed,[v] because without the knowledge of my father David he attacked two men and killed them with the sword. Both of them—Abner son of Ner, commander of Israel's army, and Amasa[w] son of Je-

Solomon's kingship as God's will and to have no further intentions of seeking the position for himself.

2:17 give me Abishag the Shunammite as my wife. Adonijah's request has the appearance of being innocent (but see note on v. 22) since Abishag had remained a virgin throughout the period of her care for David (see 1:1–4; Dt 22:30).

2:19 right hand. The position of honor (see Ps 110:1; Mt 20:21).

2:20 one small request. Bathsheba does not seem to have attached any great significance to Adonijah's request.

2:22 You might as well request the kingdom for him. Solomon immediately understood Adonijah's request as another attempt to gain the throne. Possession of the royal harem was widely regarded as signifying the right of succession to the throne (see notes on 2Sa 3:7; 12:8; 16:21). Although Abishag was a virgin, she would be regarded by the people as belonging to David's harem; so marriage to Abishag would greatly strengthen Adonijah's claim to the throne. for Abiathar the priest and Joab son of Zeruiah. See note on 1:7. Solomon assumes that Abiathar and Joab continue to be involved in Adonijah's treacherous schemes.

2:23 May God deal with me, be it ever so severely. A curse formula (see note on 1Sa 3:17).

2:24 has founded a dynasty for me. Solomon's son and successor, Rehoboam, was born shortly before Solomon became king (cf. 11:42; 14:21). as he promised. See 1Ch 22:9–10.

2:25 Benaiah son of Jehoiada. See notes on 1:7; 2Sa 23:20.

2:26 you carried the ark. See 2Sa 15:24–25,29; 1Ch 15:11–12. shared all my father's hardships. See 1Sa 22:20–23; 23:6–9; 30:7; 2Sa 17:15; 19:11.

2:27 fulfilling the word the LORD had spoken at Shiloh about the house of Eli. See notes on 1Sa 2:30–35.

2:28 news. Of Adonijah's death and Abiathar's banishment. conspired with Adonijah. See 1:7. tent of the LORD. See note on 1:39. took hold of the horns of the altar. See note on 1:50.

2:29 strike him down! The right of asylum was extended only to those who accidentally caused someone's death (see Ex 21:14). Solomon was completely justified in denying this right to Joab, not only for his complicity in Adonijah's conspiracy, but also for his murder of Abner and Amasa (see vv. 31–33). In this incident Solomon finds a suitable occasion for carrying out his father's instruction (see vv. 5–6).

2:32 he attacked two men and killed them. See 2Sa 3:27; 20:9–10. Israel's army. See 2Sa 2:8–9. Judah's army. See 2Sa 20:4.

ther, commander of Judah's army—were better[x] men and more upright than he. 33May the guilt of their blood rest on the head of Joab and his descendants forever. But on David and his descendants, his house and his throne, may there be the LORD's peace forever."

34So Benaiah[y] son of Jehoiada went up and struck down Joab[z] and killed him, and he was buried on his own land[d] in the desert. 35The king put Benaiah[a] son of Jehoiada over the army in Joab's position and replaced Abiathar with Zadok[b] the priest.

36Then the king sent for Shimei[c] and said to him, "Build yourself a house in Jerusalem and live there, but do not go anywhere else. 37The day you leave and cross the Kidron Valley,[d] you can be sure you will die; your blood will be on your own head."[e]

38Shimei answered the king, "What you say is good. Your servant will do as my lord the king has said." And Shimei stayed in Jerusalem for a long time.

39But three years later, two of Shimei's slaves ran off to Achish[f] son of Maacah, king of Gath, and Shimei was told, "Your slaves are in Gath." 40At this, he saddled his donkey and went to Achish at Gath in search of his slaves. So Shimei went away and brought the slaves back from Gath.

41When Solomon was told that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath and had returned, 42the king summoned Shimei and said to him, "Did I not make you swear by the LORD and warn[g] you, 'On the day you leave to go anywhere else, you can be sure you will die'? At that time you said to me, 'What you say is good. I will obey.' 43Why then did you not keep your oath to the LORD and obey the command I gave you?"

44The king also said to Shimei, "You know in your heart all the wrong[h] you did to my father David. Now the LORD will repay you for your wrongdoing. 45But King Solomon will be blessed, and David's throne will remain secure[i] before the LORD forever."

46Then the king gave the order to Benaiah[j] son of Jehoiada, and he went out and struck Shimei[k] down and killed him.

The kingdom was now firmly established[l] in Solomon's hands.

2:35 Benaiah son of Jehoiada. See note on 2Sa 23:20. Zadok the priest. See notes on 1Sa 2:35; 2Sa 8:17.

2:36 do not go anywhere else. Confinement to Jerusalem would greatly reduce the possibility of Shimei's (see v. 8) conspiring with any remaining followers of Saul against Solomon's rule.

2:39 Achish son of Maacah, king of Gath. Gath was a major Philistine city (see Jos 13:3; 1Sa 6:16–17). It is likely that Gath was ruled successively by Maoch, Achish the elder (1Sa 27:2), Maacah and Achish the younger (here).

2:46 struck Shimei down and killed him. The third execution carried out by Benaiah (see vv. 25,34). It brought to completion the tasks assigned to Solomon by David just before his death (vv. 6,9).

3:1 made an alliance with Pharaoh. It appears likely that Solomon established his marriage alliance with either Siamun or Psusennes II, the last kings of the 21st Egyptian dynasty (the first Egyptian pharaoh mentioned by name in the OT is Shishak—11:40; 14:25–26—who established the 22nd Egyptian dynasty c. 945 B.C.). Such an alliance attests Egyptian recognition of the growing importance and strength of the Israelite state. 1Ki 9:16 indicates that the pharaoh gave his daughter the Canaanite town of Gezer as a dowry at the time of her marriage to Solomon. Gezer was located near the crossing of two important trade routes. One, to the west of Gezer, went from Egypt to the north and was very important for Egypt's commercial interests. The other, to the north of Gezer, went from Jerusalem to the Mediterranean Sea and the port of Joppa and was important to Solomon as a supply line for his building projects. The marriage alliance enabled both Solomon and the pharaoh to accomplish important economic and political objectives. No precise date is given for the conclusion of the marriage alliance, though it appears to have occurred in the third or fourth year of Solomon's reign (see 2:39). Solomon began construction of the temple in his fourth year (6:1), and control of the Gezer area was important to him for the beginning of this project. City of David. The Egyptian princess was given a temporary residence in the old fortress (see 2Sa 5:7 and note) until a separate palace of her own could be constructed some 20 years later (7:8; 9:10; 2Ch 8:11).

3:2 high places. Upon entering Canaan, the Israelites often followed the Canaanite custom of locating their altars on high hills, probably on the old Baal sites. The question of the legitimacy of Israelite worship at these high places has long been a matter of debate. It is clear that the Israelites were forbidden to take over pagan altars and high places and use them for the worship of the Lord (Nu 33:52; Dt 7:5; 12:3). It is also clear that altars were to be built only at divinely sanctioned sites (see Ex 20:24; Dt 12:5,8,13–14). It is not so clear whether multiplicity of altars was totally forbidden provided the above conditions were met (see 19:10,14; Lev 26:30–31; Dt 12; 1Sa 9:12). It seems, however, that these conditions were not followed even in the time of Solomon, and pagan high places were being used for the worship of the Lord. This would eventually lead to religious apostasy and syncretism and was strongly condemned (2Ki 17:7–18; 21:2–9; 23:4–25). because a temple had not yet been built. Worship at a variety of places was apparently considered normal prior to the building of the temple (see Jdg 6:24; 13:19; 1Sa 7:17; 9:12–13).

places,[q] because a temple had not yet been built for the Name[r] of the LORD.
3Solomon showed his love[s] for the LORD by walking[t] according to the statutes[u] of his father David, except that he offered sacrifices and burned incense on the high places.[v]

4The king went to Gibeon[w] to offer sacrifices, for that was the most important high place, and Solomon offered a thousand burnt offerings on that altar.
5At Gibeon the LORD appeared[x] to Solomon during the night in a dream,[y] and God said, "Ask[z] for whatever you want me to give you."

6Solomon answered, "You have shown great kindness to your servant, my father David, because he was faithful[a] to you and righteous and upright in heart. You have continued this great kindness to him and have given him a son[b] to sit on his throne this very day.

7"Now, O LORD my God, you have made your servant king in place of my father David. But I am only a little child[c] and do not know how to carry out my duties. 8Your servant is here among the people you have chosen,[d] a great people, too numerous to count or number.[e] 9So give your servant a discerning[f] heart to govern your people and to distinguish[g] between right and wrong. For who is able[h] to govern this great people of yours?"

10The Lord was pleased that Solomon had asked for this. 11So God said to him, "Since you have asked[i] for this and not for long life or wealth for yourself, nor have asked for the death of your enemies but for discernment[j] in administering justice, 12I will do what you have asked.[k] I will give you a wise[l] and discerning heart, so that there will never have been anyone like you, nor will there ever be. 13Moreover, I will give you what you have not[m] asked for—both riches and honor[n]—so that in your lifetime you will have no equal[o] among kings. 14And if you walk[p] in my ways and obey my statutes and commands as David your father did, I will give you a long life."[q] 15Then Solomon awoke[r]—and he realized it had been a dream.[s]

He returned to Jerusalem, stood before the ark of the Lord's covenant and sacrificed burnt offerings[t] and fellowship offerings.[e][u] Then he gave a feast[v] for all his court.

A Wise Ruling

16Now two prostitutes came to the king and stood before him. 17One of them said, "My lord, this woman and I live in the same house. I had a baby while she was there with me. 18The third day after my child was born, this woman also had a baby. We were alone; there was no one in the house but the two of us.

3:3 except. Solomon's one major fault early in his reign was inconsistency in meeting the Mosaic requirements concerning places of legitimate worship.
3:4 Gibeon. The Gibeonites tricked Joshua and Israel into a peace treaty at the time of the conquest of Canaan (see Jos 9:3–27). The city was subsequently given to the tribe of Benjamin and set apart for the Levites (Jos 18:25; 21:17). David avenged Saul's violation of the Gibeonite treaty by the execution of seven of Saul's descendants (see 2Sa 21:1–9). most important high place. The reason for Gibeon's importance was the presence there of the tabernacle and the ancient bronze altar (see 1Ch 21:29; 2Ch 1:2–6). These must have been salvaged after the destruction of Shiloh by the Philistines (see note on 1Sa 7:1).
3:5 dream. Revelation through dreams is found elsewhere in the OT (see Ge 28:12; 31:11; 46:2; Nu 12:6; Jdg 7:13; Da 2:4; 7:1), as well as in the NT (see, e.g., Mt 1:20; 2:12,22).
3:6 kindness. The Hebrew for this word refers to God's covenant favors (see note on 2Sa 7:15). Solomon is praising the Lord for faithfulness to his promises to David (2Sa 7:8–16). because. See note on 2Sa 22:21.
3:7 I am only a little child. The birth of Solomon is generally placed in approximately the middle of David's 40-year reign, meaning that Solomon was about 20 years old at the beginning of his own reign (see 2:11–12) and lacked experience in assuming the responsibilities of his office (cf. Jer 1:6).
3:8 great people, too numerous to count. From the small beginnings of a single family living in Egypt (see Ge 46:26–27; Dt 7:7), the Israelites had increased to an extent approaching that anticipated in the promise given to Abraham (Ge 13:16; 22:17–18) and Jacob (Ge 32:12). See 4:20.
3:11 long life . . . wealth . . . death of your enemies. Typical desires of ancient Near Eastern monarchs.
3:12 never . . . anyone like you. See 4:29–34; 10:1–13.
3:13 I will give you what you have not asked for. Cf. Jesus' promise in Lk 12:31.
3:14 if you walk in my ways . . . I will give you a long life. Echoes Dt 6:2; 17:20; 22:7. Unfortunately Solomon did not remain obedient to the covenant as his father David had (11:6), and he did not live to be much more than 60 years of age (see note on v. 7; cf. 11:42).
3:15 ark of the Lord's covenant. See notes on 6:19; 2Sa 6:2. fellowship offerings. See note on 1Sa 11:15.
3:16 two prostitutes. It is not known if these two were Israelites or Jebusites— possibly the latter. came to the king. It was possible for Israelites (and others within the realm) to bypass lower judicial officials (Dt 16:18) and appeal directly to the king (see 2Ki 8:3; 2Sa 15:2).
3:17 live in the same house. Brothels were common in ancient Near Eastern cities.

SOLOMON
NAME MEANS: "Peace" OCCUPATION: King of Israel
BEST KNOWN FOR:
- his legendary, God-given wisdom
- his incredible wealth
- giving in to the whims of his numerous pagan wives

19"During the night this woman's son died because she lay on him. 20So she got up in the middle of the night and took my son from my side while I your servant was asleep. She put him by her breast and put her dead son by my breast. 21The next morning, I got up to nurse my son—and he was dead! But when I looked at him closely in the morning light, I saw that it wasn't the son I had borne."

22The other woman said, "No! The living one is my son; the dead one is yours."

But the first one insisted, "No! The dead one is yours; the living one is mine." And so they argued before the king.

23The king said, "This one says, 'My son is alive and your son is dead,' while that one says, 'No! Your son is dead and mine is alive.' "

24Then the king said, "Bring me a sword." So they brought a sword for the king. 25He then gave an order: "Cut the living child in two and give half to one and half to the other."

26The woman whose son was alive was filled with compassion[w] for her son and said to the king, "Please, my lord, give her the living baby! Don't kill him!"

But the other said, "Neither I nor you shall have him. Cut him in two!"

27Then the king gave his ruling: "Give the living baby to the first woman. Do not kill him; she is his mother."

28When all Israel heard the verdict the king had given, they held the king in awe, because they saw that he had wisdom[x] from God to administer justice.

Solomon's Officials and Governors

4 So King Solomon ruled over all Israel. 2And these were his chief officials:[y]

Azariah[z] son of Zadok—the priest;

3Elihoreph and Ahijah, sons of Shisha—secretaries;[a]

Jehoshaphat[b] son of Ahilud—recorder;

4Benaiah[c] son of Jehoiada—commander in chief;

Zadok[d] and Abiathar—priests;

5Azariah son of Nathan—in charge of the district officers;

Zabud son of Nathan—a priest and personal adviser to the king;

6Ahishar—in charge of the palace;[e]

Adoniram[f] son of Abda—in charge of forced labor.[g]

7Solomon also had twelve district governors[h] over all Israel, who supplied provisions for the king and the royal household. Each one had to provide supplies for one month in the year. 8These are their names:

Ben-Hur—in the hill country[i] of Ephraim;

9Ben-Deker—in Makaz, Shaalbim,[j] Beth Shemesh[k] and Elon Bethhanan;

10Ben-Hesed—in Arubboth (Socoh[l] and all the land of Hepher[m] were his);

11Ben-Abinadab—in Naphoth Dor[fn] (he was married to Taphath daughter of Solomon);

12Baana son of Ahilud—in Taanach and Megiddo, and in all of Beth Shan[o] next to Zarethan[p] below Jezreel, from Beth Shan to Abel Meholah[q] across to Jokmeam;[r]

13Ben-Geber—in Ramoth Gilead (the settlements of Jair[s] son of Manasseh in Gilead[t] were his, as well as the district of Argob in

3:28 they saw that he had wisdom from God. This episode strikingly demonstrated that the Lord had answered Solomon's prayer for a discerning heart (vv. 9,12).

4:1 ruled over all Israel. Solomon ruled over an undivided kingdom, as his father had before him (see 2Sa 8:15).

4:2 son. According to 2Sa 15:27,36 and 1Ch 6:8–9, Azariah was the son of Ahimaaz and the grandson of Zadok (see note on 2:8). Apparently Zadok's son Ahimaaz had died, so that Zadok was succeeded by his grandson Azariah. Zadok. See 2:27,35.

4:3 Shisha. See note on 2Sa 8:17. secretaries. See note on 2Sa 8:17. Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud. The same person who served in David's court (see 2Sa 8:16). recorder. See note on 2Sa 8:16.

4:4 Benaiah. Replaced Joab as commander of the army (see 2:35; 2Sa 8:18). Zadok and Abiathar. Abiathar was banished at the beginning of Solomon's reign (2:27,35), and Zadok was succeeded by his grandson Azariah (v. 2).

4:5 Nathan. Either the prophet (1:11) or the son of David (2Sa 5:14). district officers. See vv. 7–19. priest. See note on 2Sa 8:18 ("royal advisers"). personal adviser to the king. See note on 2Sa 15:37.

4:6 in charge of the palace. The first OT reference to an office mentioned frequently in 1,2 Kings (1Ki 16:9; 18:3; 2Ki 18:18,37; 19:2). It is likely that this official was administrator of the palace and steward of the king's properties. Adoniram. Served not only under Solomon, but also under David before him (2Sa 20:24) and Rehoboam after him (1Ki 12:18). forced labor. See notes on 9:15; 2Sa 20:24.

4:7 Solomon ... had twelve district governors. The 12 districts were not identical to tribal territories, possibly because the tribes varied greatly in agricultural productivity. But Solomon's administrative decision violated traditional tribal boundaries and probably stirred up ancient tribal loyalties, eventually contributing to the disruption of the united kingdom.

4:8 Ben-Hur. The Hebrew Ben means "son of."

4:11 Ben-Abinadab. Most likely the "son of" David's brother Abinadab (see 1Sa 16:8; 17:13), making him Solomon's first cousin (he was also his son-in-law).

4:12 Baana son of Ahilud. Probably a brother of Jehoshaphat the recorder (v. 3).

Bashan and its sixty large walled cities[a] with bronze gate bars);
14 Ahinadab son of Iddo—in Mahanaim;[v]
15 Ahimaaz[w]—in Naphtali (he had married Basemath daughter of Solomon);
16 Baana son of Hushai[x]—in Asher and in Aloth;
17 Jehoshaphat son of Paruah—in Issachar;
18 Shimei[y] son of Ela—in Benjamin;
19 Geber son of Uri—in Gilead (the country of Sihon[z] king of the Amorites and the country of Og[a] king of Bashan). He was the only governor over the district.

Solomon's Daily Provisions

20 The people of Judah and Israel were as numerous as the sand[b] on the seashore; they ate, they drank and they were happy.[c] 21 And Solomon ruled[d] over all the kingdoms from the River[g][e] to the land of the Philistines, as far as the border of Egypt.[f] These countries brought tribute[g] and were Solomon's subjects all his life.

22 Solomon's daily provisions[h] were thirty cors[h] of fine flour and sixty cors[i] of meal, 23 ten head of stall-fed cattle, twenty of pasture-fed cattle and a hundred sheep and goats, as well as deer, gazelles, roebucks and choice fowl.[i] 24 For he ruled over all the kingdoms west of the River, from Tiphsah[j] to Gaza, and had peace[k] on all sides. 25 During Solomon's lifetime Judah and Israel, from Dan to Beersheba,[l] lived in safety,[m] each man under his own vine and fig tree.[n]

26 Solomon had four[j] thousand stalls for chariot horses,[o] and twelve thousand horses.[k]

27 The district officers,[p] each in his month, supplied provisions for King Solomon and all who came to the king's table. They saw to it that nothing was lacking. 28 They also brought to the proper place their quotas of barley and straw for the chariot horses and the other horses.

Solomon's Wisdom

29 God gave Solomon wisdom[q] and very great insight, and a breadth of understanding as measureless as the sand[r] on the seashore. 30 Solomon's wisdom was greater than the wisdom of all the men of the East,[s] and greater than all the wisdom of Egypt.[t] 31 He was wiser[u] than any other man, including Ethan the Ezrahite—wiser than Heman, Calcol and Darda, the sons of Mahol. And his fame spread to all the surrounding nations. 32 He spoke three thousand proverbs[v] and his songs[w] numbered a thousand and five. 33 He described plant life, from the cedar of Lebanon to the hyssop[x] that grows out of walls. He also taught about animals and birds, reptiles and fish. 34 Men of all nations came to listen to Solomon's wisdom, sent by all the kings[y] of the world, who had heard of his wisdom.

4:21 from the River to the land of the Philistines, as far as the border of Egypt. The borders of Solomon's empire extended to the limits originally promised to Abraham (see note on 2Sa 8:3). However, rebellion was brewing in Edom (11:14–21) and Damascus (11:23–25).
4:22 Solomon's daily provisions. For all his household, his palace servants and his court officials and their families.
4:24 Tiphsah. A city on the west bank of the Euphrates River. Gaza. The southernmost city of the Philistines on the Mediterranean coast.
4:26 four thousand. See NIV text note. 1Ki 10:26 and 2Ch 1:14 indicate that Solomon had 1,400 chariots, meaning he maintained stalls for two horses for each chariot, with places for about 1,200 reserve horses. By way of comparison, an Assyrian account of the battle of Qarqar in 853 B.C. (about a century after Solomon) speaks of 1,200 chariots from Damascus, 700 chariots from Hamath and 2,000 chariots from Israel (the northern kingdom).
4:29 as measureless as the sand on the seashore. See note on v. 20.
4:30 men of the East. The phrase is general and appears to refer to the peoples of Mesopotamia (see Ge 29:1) and Arabia (see Jer 49:28; Eze 25:4,10)—those associated with Israel's northeastern and eastern horizons, just as Egypt was the main region on her southwestern horizon. Many examples of Mesopotamian wisdom literature have been recovered. wisdom of Egypt. See Ge 41:8; Ex 7:11; Ac 7:22. Examples of Egyptian wisdom literature are to be found in the proverbs of Ptahhotep (c. 2450 B.C.) and Amenemope (see Introduction to Proverbs: Date).
4:31 He was wiser than any other man. Until Jesus came (see Lk 11:31). Ethan the Ezrahite. See Ps 89 title. Heman, Calcol and Darda. See note on 1Ch 2:6–7.
4:32 three thousand proverbs. Only some of these are preserved in the book of Proverbs.
4:33 animals and birds, reptiles and fish. Examples of Solomon's knowledge of these creatures are found in Pr 6:6–8; 26:2–3,11; 27:8; 28:1,15.
4:34 all nations ... all the kings of the world. A general statement referring to the Near Eastern world (cf. Ge 41:57).

Preparations for Building the Temple
5:1-16pp — 2Ch 2:1-18

5 When Hiram[z] king of Tyre heard that Solomon had been anointed king to succeed his father David, he sent his envoys to Solomon, because he had always been on friendly terms with David. 2Solomon sent back this message to Hiram:

3"You know that because of the wars[a] waged against my father David from all sides, he could not build[b] a temple for the Name of the LORD his God until the LORD put his enemies under his feet.[c] 4But now the LORD my God has given me rest[d] on every side, and there is no adversary[e] or disaster. 5I intend, therefore, to build a temple[f] for the Name of the LORD my God, as the LORD told my father David, when he said, 'Your son whom I will put on the throne in your place will build the temple for my Name.'[g]

6"So give orders that cedars[h] of Lebanon be cut for me. My men will work with yours, and I will pay you for your men whatever wages you set. You know that we have no one so skilled in felling timber as the Sidonians."

7When Hiram heard Solomon's message, he was greatly pleased and said, "Praise be to the LORD[i] today, for he has given David a wise son to rule over this great nation."

8So Hiram sent word to Solomon:

"I have received the message you sent me and will do all you want in providing the cedar and pine logs. 9My men will haul them down from Lebanon to the sea[j], and I will float them in rafts by sea to the place you specify. There I will separate them and you can take them away. And you are to grant my wish by providing food[k] for my royal household."

10In this way Hiram kept Solomon supplied with all the cedar and pine logs he wanted, 11and Solomon gave Hiram twenty thousand cors[l] of wheat as food[l] for his household, in addition to twenty thousand baths[m,n] of pressed olive oil. Solomon continued to do this for Hiram year after year. 12The LORD gave Solomon wisdom,[m] just as he had promised him. There were peaceful relations between Hiram and Solomon, and the two of them made a treaty.[n]

13King Solomon conscripted laborers[o] from all Israel—thirty thousand men. 14He sent them off to Lebanon in shifts of ten thousand a month, so that they spent one month in Lebanon and two months at home. Adoniram[p] was in charge of the forced labor. 15Solomon had seventy thousand carriers and eighty thousand stonecutters in the hills, 16as well as thir-

5:1 Hiram king of Tyre. Hiram ruled over Tyre c. 978–944 B.C. He may have also served as co-regent with his father Abibaal as early as 993. Before Solomon was born, Hiram provided timber and workmen for the building of David's palace (see 2Sa 5:11).

5:3 he could not build a temple. Although David was denied the privilege of building the temple, he did make plans and provisions for its construction (see 1Ch 22:2–5; 28:2; cf. also Ps 30 title).

5:4 rest. Described here as "no adversary or disaster." God's promises to his people (see Ex 33:14; Dt 25:19; Jos 1:13,15) and to David (2Sa 7:11) have now been fulfilled (see 8:56), so that the Israelites are free to concentrate their strength and resources on building their Great King's royal house (see note on 2Sa 7:11).

5:5 Name. Signifies God's revealed character or self-revelation as a person (see, e.g., 8:16; Ex 20:24; Dt 12:5; 2Sa 6:2; 7:13). as the LORD told my father David. See 2Sa 7:12–13; 1Ch 22:8–10.

5:6 So give orders. A more detailed account of Solomon's request is found in 2Ch 2:3–10. cedars of Lebanon. Widely used in the ancient Near East in the construction of royal houses and temples.

5:7 Praise be to the LORD. In polytheistic cultures it was common practice for the people of one nation to recognize the deities of another nation (see 10:9; 11:5) and even to ascribe certain powers to them (see 2Ki 18:25; see also 2Ch 2:12).

5:9 place you specify. Joppa (2Ch 2:16; see note on 1Ki 3:1). providing food for my royal household. Provision of food for Hiram's court personnel appears to cover only the cost of the wood itself. In addition, Solomon would have to provide for the wages of the Phoenician laborers (v. 6). Comparison of v. 11 with 2Ch 2:10 indicates that besides wheat and olive oil for Hiram's court, Solomon also sent barley and wine for labor costs. Hiram may have sold some of these provisions in order to pay the laborers.

5:11 twenty thousand cors of wheat. See NIV text note. By way of comparison, Solomon's court received 10,950 cors of flour and 21,900 cors of meal on an annual basis (see 4:22). Solomon's whole grain payment to Hiram of 20,000 cors of wheat and 20,000 cors of barley (2Ch 2:10) would probably yield about 26,666 cors of refined flour and meal, or about 20 percent less than the requirements of Solomon's own court.

5:13 conscripted laborers. See notes on 9:15; 2Sa 20:24. Resentment among the people toward this sort of forced labor eventually led to a civil uprising and the division of Solomon's kingdom immediately after his death (12:1–18).

5:15 seventy thousand carriers and eighty thousand stonecutters. Conscripted from the non-Israelite population that David had subdued and incorporated into his kingdom (see 2Ch 2:17–18). hills. The limestone hills of Palestine where the stone was quarried.

5:16 thirty-three hundred foremen. 1Ki 9:23 refers to 550 supervisors. If these are two different categories of supervisory personnel, the total is 3,850 men. 2Ch 2:2 refers to 3,600 foremen, and 2Ch 8:10 speaks of 250 supervisors, ty-three hundred[o] foremen[q] who supervised the project and directed the workmen. 17At the king's command they removed from the quarry[r] large blocks of quality stone[s] to provide a foundation of dressed stone for the temple. 18The craftsmen of Solomon and Hiram[t] and the men of Gebal[p u] cut and prepared the timber and stone for the building of the temple.

Solomon Builds the Temple

6:1–29pp — 2Ch 3:1–14

6 In the four hundred and eightieth[q] year after the Israelites had come out of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the month of Ziv, the second month,[v] he began to build the temple of the LORD.[w]

2The temple[x] that King Solomon built for the LORD was sixty cubits long, twenty wide and thirty high.[r] 3The portico[y] at the front of the main hall of the temple extended the width of the temple, that is twenty cubits,[s] and projected ten cubits[t] from the front of the temple. 4He made narrow clerestory windows[z] in the temple. 5Against the walls of the main hall and inner sanctuary he built a structure around the building, in which there were side rooms.[a] 6The lowest floor was five cubits[u] wide, the middle floor six cubits[v] and the third floor seven.[w] He made offset ledges around the outside of the temple so that nothing would be inserted into the temple walls.

7In building the temple, only blocks dressed[b] at the quarry were used, and no hammer, chisel or any other iron tool[c] was heard at the temple site while it was being built.

8The entrance to the lowest[x] floor was on the south side of the temple; a stairway led up to the middle level and from there to the third. 9So he built the temple and completed it, roofing it with beams and cedar[d] planks. 10And he built the side rooms all along the temple. The height of each was five cubits, and they were attached to the temple by beams of cedar.

11The word of the LORD came[e] to Solomon: 12"As for this temple you are building, if you follow my decrees, carry out my regulations and keep all my commands[f] and obey them, I will fulfill through you the promise[g] I gave to David your father. 13And I will live among the Israelites and will not abandon[h] my people Israel."

14So Solomon[i] built the temple and completed[j] it. 15He lined its interior walls with cedar boards, paneling them from the floor of the temple to the ceiling,[k] and covered the floor of the temple with planks of pine.[l] 16He partitioned off twenty cubits[s] at the rear of which again yields a total of 3,850 men in a supervisory capacity.

5:17 large blocks of quality stone. For the size of these stones see 7:10. Transportation of such stones to Jerusalem would require enormous manpower.

5:18 men of Gebal. See NIV text note; see also Eze 27:9.

6:1–38 See drawing of "Solomon's Temple," p. 476.

6:1 four hundred and eightieth year . . . fourth year. Synchronizations between certain events in the reigns of later Israelite kings and Assyrian chronological records fix the fourth year of Solomon's reign at c. 966 B.C. (see Introduction: Chronology). If Israel's exodus is placed 480 years prior to 966, it would have occurred c. 1446 (the chronology followed in this study Bible) during the rule of the 18th-dynasty Egyptian pharaoh, Amunhotep II. On the basis of Ex 1:11 and certain other historical considerations, however, some have concluded that the exodus could not have occurred prior to the rule of the 19th-dynasty pharaoh, Rameses II—thus not until c. 1290 (see note on Ge 47:11). This would mean that the 480 years of this verse would be understood as either a schematic (perhaps representative of 12 generations multiplied by the conventional, but not always actual, 40-year length of a generation) or aggregate figure (the combined total of a number of subsidiary time periods, which in reality were partly concurrent, examples of which are to be found in Egyptian and Mesopotamian records).

6:2 temple that King Solomon built. The temple was patterned after the tabernacle (and, in general, other temples of the time) and was divided into three major areas: the Most Holy Place, the Holy Place and the outer courtyard. The Most Holy Place in the temple was cubical, as it probably was in the tabernacle. The dimensions of the temple in most instances seem to be double those of the tabernacle (see Ex 26:15–30; 36:20–34).

6:6 offset ledges. To avoid making holes in the temple wall, it was built with a series of ledges on which the beams for the three floors of side chambers rested. This accounts for the different widths of the rooms on each floor.

6:8 entrance to the lowest floor. Of the side chambers.

6:11 The word of the LORD came to Solomon. As the temple neared completion the Lord spoke to Solomon, perhaps through an unnamed prophet (but see 3:5,11–14; 9:2–9).

6:12 if you follow my decrees . . . I will fulfill through you the promise. In words similar to those spoken by David (see notes on 2:1–4), the Lord assures Solomon of a continuing dynasty (see 2Sa 7:12–16) if he is faithful to the covenant.

6:13 I will live among the Israelites. In the temple being built (see 9:3). To avoid any apprehension among the Israelites concerning his presence with them (cf. Ps 78:60; Jer 26:6,9; see note on 1Sa 7:1), the Lord gives assurance that he will dwell in their midst (see 8:10–13; Lev 26:11).

6:16 Most Holy Place. The same terminology was used for the inner sanctuary housing the ark in the tabernacle (see Ex 26:33–34; Lev 16:2,16–17, 20, 23).

the temple with cedar boards from floor to ceiling to form within the temple an inner sanctuary, the Most Holy Place.[m] [17]The main hall in front of this room was forty cubits[y] long. [18]The inside of the temple was cedar,[n] carved with gourds and open flowers. Everything was cedar; no stone was to be seen.

[19]He prepared the inner sanctuary[o] within the temple to set the ark of the covenant[p] of the LORD there. [20]The inner sanctuary[q] was twenty cubits long, twenty wide and twenty high.[z] He overlaid the inside with pure gold, and he also overlaid the altar of cedar.[r] [21]Solomon covered the inside of the temple with pure gold, and he extended gold chains across the front of the inner sanctuary, which was overlaid with gold. [22]So he overlaid the whole interior with gold. He also overlaid with gold the altar that belonged to the inner sanctuary.

[23]In the inner sanctuary he made a pair of cherubim[s] of olive wood, each ten cubits[a] high. [24]One wing of the first

6:19 ark of the covenant of the LORD. The Ten Commandments are called the "words of the covenant" in Ex 34:28. The stone tablets on which the Ten Commandments were inscribed are called the "tablets of the covenant" in Dt 9:9. The ark in which the tablets were kept (see Ex 25:16,21; 40:20; Dt 10:1–5) is thus sometimes called the "ark of the covenant of the LORD" (see Dt 10:8; 31:9,25; Jos 3:11). Elsewhere the ark is variously designated as the "ark of the LORD" (Jos 3:13; 4:11), the "ark of the Testimony" (Ex 30:6; 31:7) and the "ark of God" (1Sa 3:3; 4:11,17,21; 5:1–2).
6:20 pure gold. The extensive use of gleaming gold probably symbolized the glory of God and his heavenly temple (cf. Rev 21:10–11,18,21).
6:21 gold chains. The curtain covering the entrance to the Most Holy Place was probably hung on these chains (see 2Ch 3:14; Mt 27:51; Heb 6:19).
6:22 altar that belonged to the inner sanctuary. The incense altar (see 7:48; Ex 30:1,6; 37:25–28; Heb 9:3–4).
6:23 cherubim. See note on Ex 25:18. They were to stand as sentries on either side of the ark (8:6–7; 2Ch 3:10–13). Two additional cherubim stood on the ark—one on each end of its atonement cover (Ex 25:17–22). ten cubits high. The Most Holy Place, where the cherubim stood, was 20 cubits high (v. 16).

Solomon's Temple

960–586 B.C.

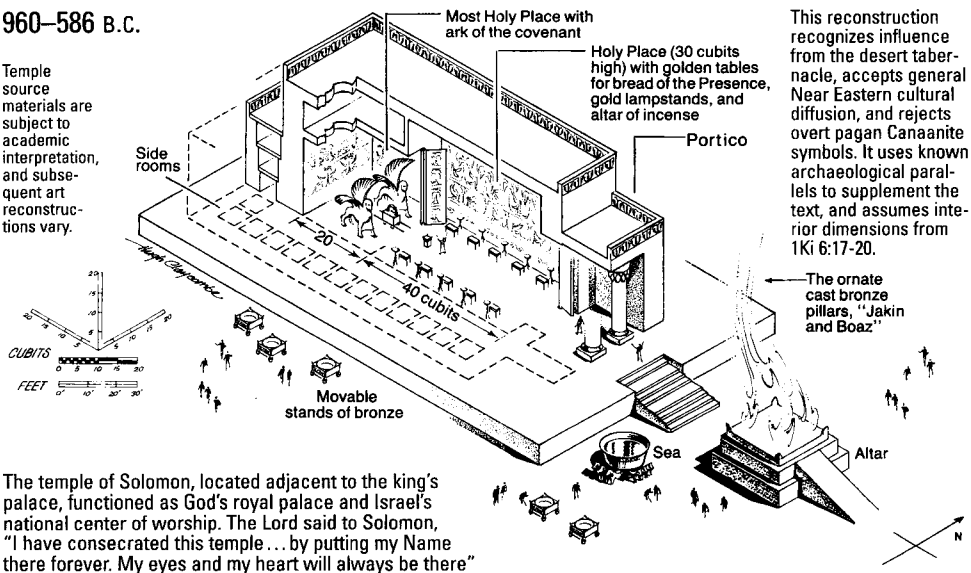
Temple source materials are subject to academic interpretation, and subsequent art reconstructions vary.



This reconstruction recognizes influence from the desert tabernacle, accepts general Near Eastern cultural diffusion, and rejects overt pagan Canaanite symbols. It uses known archaeological parallels to supplement the text, and assumes interior dimensions from 1Ki 6:17-20.

The temple of Solomon, located adjacent to the king's palace, functioned as God's royal palace and Israel's national center of worship. The Lord said to Solomon, "I have consecrated this temple... by putting my Name there forever. My eyes and my heart will always be there" (1Ki 9:3). By its cosmological and royal symbolism, the sanctuary taught the absolute sovereignty of the Lord over the whole creation and his special headship over Israel.

The floor plan is a type that has a long history in Semitic religion, particularly among the West Semites. An early example of the tripartite division into 'ulam, hekal, and debir (portico, main hall, and inner sanctuary) has been found at Syrian Ebla (c. 2300 B.C.) and, much later but more contemporaneous with Solomon, at Tell Tainat in the Orontes basin (c. 900 B.C.). Like Solomon's, the later temple has three divisions, contains two columns supporting the entrance, and is located adjacent to the royal palace.

Many archaeological parallels can be drawn to the methods of construction used in the temple, e.g., the "stone and cedar beam" technique described in 1Ki 6:36. Interestingly, evidence for the largest bronze-casting industry ever found in Palestine comes from the same locale and period as that indicated in Scripture: Zarethan in the Jordan Valley c. 1000 B.C.

cherub was five cubits long, and the other wing five cubits—ten cubits from wing tip to wing tip. 25The second cherub also measured ten cubits, for the two cherubim were identical in size and shape. 26The height of each cherub was ten cubits. 27He placed the cherubim[t] inside the innermost room of the temple, with their wings spread out. The wing of one cherub touched one wall, while the wing of the other touched the other wall, and their wings touched each other in the middle of the room. 28He overlaid the cherubim with gold.

29On the walls[u] all around the temple, in both the inner and outer rooms, he carved cherubim,[v] palm trees and open flowers. 30He also covered the floors of both the inner and outer rooms of the temple with gold.

31For the entrance of the inner sanctuary he made doors of olive wood with five-sided jambs. 32And on the two olive wood doors[w] he carved cherubim, palm trees and open flowers, and overlaid the cherubim and palm trees with beaten gold. 33In the same way he made four-sided jambs of olive wood for the entrance to the main hall. 34He also made two pine doors, each having two leaves that turned in sockets. 35He carved cherubim, palm trees and open flowers on them and overlaid them with gold hammered evenly over the carvings.

36And he built the inner courtyard[x] of three courses[y] of dressed stone and one course of trimmed cedar beams.

37The foundation of the temple of the LORD was laid in the fourth year, in the month of Ziv. 38In the eleventh year in the month of Bul, the eighth month, the temple was finished in all its details[z] according to its specifications.[a] He had spent seven years building it.

Solomon Builds His Palace

7 It took Solomon thirteen years, however, to complete the construction of his palace.[b] 2He built the Palace[c] of the Forest of Lebanon[d] a hundred cubits long, fifty wide and thirty high,[b] with four rows of cedar columns supporting trimmed cedar beams. 3It was roofed with cedar above the beams that rested on the columns—forty-five beams, fifteen to a row. 4Its windows were placed high in sets of three, facing each other. 5All the doorways had rectangular frames; they were in the front part in sets of three, facing each other.[c]

6He made a colonnade fifty cubits long and thirty wide.[d] In front of it was a portico, and in front of that were pillars and an overhanging roof.

7He built the throne hall, the Hall of Justice, where he was to judge,[e] and he covered it with cedar from floor to ceiling.[ef] 8And the palace in which he was to live, set farther back, was similar in design. Solomon also made a palace like this hall for Pharaoh's daughter, whom he had married.[g]

9All these structures, from the outside to the great courtyard and from foundation to eaves, were made of blocks of high-grade stone cut to size and trimmed with a saw on their inner and outer faces. 10The foundations were laid with large stones of good quality, some measuring ten cubits[f] and some eight.[g] 11Above were high-grade stones, cut to size, and cedar beams. 12The great courtyard was surrounded by a wall of three

6:29 he carved cherubim. Not a violation of the second commandment, which prohibited making anything to serve as a representation of God and worshiping it (see note on Ex 20:4). palm trees and open flowers. Early Jewish synagogues were adorned with similar motifs. The depiction of cherubim and beautiful trees and flowers is reminiscent of the Garden of Eden, from which man had been driven as a result of sin (Ge 3:24). In a symbolic sense, readmission to the paradise of God is now to be found only by means of atonement for sin at the sanctuary.

6:36 inner courtyard. Suggests that there was an outer courtyard (see 8:64). 2Ch 4:9 refers to the "courtyard of the priests" (inner) and the "large court" (outer). The inner courtyard is also called the upper courtyard (Jer 36:10) because of its higher position on the temple mount.

6:37 fourth year. Of Solomon's reign (see v. 1 and note).

6:38 eleventh year. Of Solomon's reign (959 B.C.).

7:1 thirteen years. Solomon spent almost twice as long building his own house as he did the Lord's house (see 6:38; see also Hag 1:2–4).

7:2 Palace of the Forest of Lebanon. Four rows of cedar pillars in the palace created the impression of a great forest. a hundred cubits long, fifty wide and thirty high. See NIV text note. Compare these measurements with those of the temple in 6:2.

7:3 forty-five beams, fifteen to a row. Suggests that there were three floors in the building above the main hall on the ground level. The building included storage area for weaponry (see 10:16–17).

7:6 colonnade. Apparently an entrance hall to the Palace of the Forest of Lebanon. Its length (50 cubits) corresponds to the width of the palace.

7:7 throne hall. It is not clear whether the throne hall, the Hall of Justice, Solomon's own living quarters (v. 8) and the palace for Pharaoh's daughter (v. 8) were separate buildings or locations within the Palace of the Forest of Lebanon.

7:9 trimmed with a saw. The pinkish white limestone of the Holy Land is easily cut when originally quarried, but gradually hardens with exposure.

7:12 great courtyard. Constructed in the same way as the inner courtyard of the temple (6:36).

7:14 widow from the tribe of Naphtali. 2Ch 2:14 indicates that Huram-Abi's mother was from Dan. Apparently she was born in the city of Dan in northern Israel close to the tribe of Naphtali, from which came her first husband. After he died, she married a man from Tyre. all kinds of bronze work. Huram-Abi had a much wider range of skills as well (see 2Ch 2:7,14).
7:15 two bronze pillars. One was placed on each side of the main entrance to the temple (v. 21). Surely decorative, they may also have embodied a symbolism not known to us. It has been suggested that they were not freestanding but supported a roof (forming a portico to the temple) and an architrave.

Temple Furnishings

Glimpses of the rich ornamentation of Solomon's temple can be gained through recent discoveries that illumine the text of 1Ki 6-7.

MOVABLE BRONZE BASIN
An extremely close parallel to the wheeled portable basins used in the courtyard of the temple has come from archaeological excavations on Cyprus. This representation combines elements from the Biblical text with the archaeological evidence.

ARK OF THE COVENANT
Cherubs with wings shielding a sacred place are attested in Egyptian and Phoenician art.

LAMPSTAND
Ten lampstands were in the temple, five on each side of the sanctuary (1Ki 7:49), to which were added ten tables (2 Ch 4:8). Ritual sevenfold lamps have been found at several places in Palestine, including Hazor and Dothan. The stand itself is modeled on bronze ones from the excavations at Megiddo.

TABLE FOR THE BREAD OF THE PRESENCE
A stone incense altar having four horns on the corners was found at Megiddo. It provides a clear idea of the shape of the gold incense altar in the temple. The table for the bread of the Presence was also made of gold.

INCENSE ALTAR

the pillars at the portico of the temple. The pillar to the south he named Jakin[n] and the one to the north Boaz.[oo] 22The capitals on top were in the shape of lilies. And so the work on the pillars[p] was completed.

23He made the Sea[q] of cast metal, circular in shape, measuring ten cubits[p] from rim to rim and five cubits high. It took a line[r] of thirty cubits[q] to measure around it. 24Below the rim, gourds encircled it—ten to a cubit. The gourds were cast in two rows in one piece with the Sea.

25The Sea stood on twelve bulls,[s] three facing north, three facing west, three facing south and three facing east. The Sea rested on top of them, and their hindquarters were toward the center. 26It was a handbreadth[r] in thickness, and its rim was like the rim of a cup, like a lily blossom. It held two thousand baths.[s]

27He also made ten movable stands[t] of bronze; each was four cubits long, four wide and three high.[t] 28This is how the stands were made: They had side panels attached to uprights. 29On the panels between the uprights were lions, bulls and cherubim—and on the uprights as well. Above and below the lions and bulls were wreaths of hammered work. 30Each stand[u] had four bronze wheels with bronze axles, and each had a basin resting on four supports, cast with wreaths on each side. 31On the inside of the stand there was an opening that had a circular frame one cubit[u] deep. This opening was round, and with its basework it measured a cubit and a half.[v] Around its opening there was engraving. The panels of the stands were square, not round. 32The four wheels were under the panels, and the axles of the wheels were attached to the stand. The diameter of each wheel was a cubit and a half. 33The wheels were made like chariot wheels; the axles, rims, spokes and hubs were all of cast metal.

34Each stand had four handles, one on each corner, projecting from the stand. 35At the top of the stand there was a circular band half a cubit[w] deep. The supports and panels were attached to the top of the stand. 36He engraved cherubim, lions and palm trees on the surfaces of the supports and on the panels, in every available space, with wreaths all around. 37This is the way he made the ten stands. They were all cast in the same molds and were identical in size and shape.

38He then made ten bronze basins,[v] each holding forty baths[x] and measuring four cubits across, one basin to go on each of the ten stands. 39He placed five of the stands on the south side of the temple and five on the north. He placed the Sea on the south side, at the southeast corner of the temple. 40He also made the basins and shovels and sprinkling bowls.[w]

So Huram finished all the work he had undertaken for King Solomon in the temple of the LORD:

41the two pillars;
the two bowl-shaped capitals on top of the pillars;
the two sets of network decorating the two bowl-shaped capitals on top of the pillars;
42the four hundred pomegranates for the two sets of network (two rows of pomegranates for each network, decorating the bowl-shaped capitals[x] on top of the pillars);
43the ten stands with their ten basins;

before it, faced east (see Eze 8:16).

7:23 Sea of cast metal. This enormous reservoir of water corresponded to the bronze basin made for the tabernacle (see Ex 30:17–21; 38:8). Its water was used by the priests for ritual cleansing (2Ch 4:6). thirty cubits. Technically speaking, this should be 31.416 cubits because of the ten-cubit diameter of the circular top. Thirty may be a round number here, or perhaps the measurement was taken a bit below the rim or on the inside circumference (see v. 26).

7:24 ten to a cubit. With ten gourds to a cubit it took 300 gourds to span the entire reservoir, or 600 gourds counting both rows.

7:27 ten movable stands. These movable bronze stands were designed to hold water basins (see v. 38) of much smaller dimensions than the bronze Sea. The water from the basins was used to wash certain prescribed parts of the animals that were slaughtered for burnt offerings (see Lev 1:9,13; 2Ch 4:6).

7:36 He engraved cherubim, lions and palm trees. See note on 6:29.

7:40 basins. Perhaps used for cooking meat to be eaten in connection with the fellowship offerings (see Lev 7:11–17; 22:21–23). shovels. Used for removing ashes from the altar. sprinkling bowls. For use by the priests in various rites involving the sprinkling of blood or water (see Ex 27:3).

7:41 two sets of network. See v. 17.

7:42 four hundred pomegranates. See vv. 18,20.

7:43 ten stands with their ten basins. See vv. 27–37.

44 the Sea and the twelve bulls under it;
45 the pots, shovels and sprinkling bowls.[y]

All these objects that Huram[z] made for King Solomon for the temple of the LORD were of burnished bronze. 46 The king had them cast in clay molds in the plain[a] of the Jordan between Succoth[b] and Zarethan.[c] 47 Solomon left all these things unweighed,[d] because there were so many;[e] the weight of the bronze[f] was not determined.

48 Solomon also made all[g] the furnishings that were in the LORD's temple:

the golden altar;
the golden table[h] on which was the bread of the Presence;[i] 49 the lampstands[j] of pure gold (five on the right and five on the left, in front of the inner sanctuary);
the gold floral work and lamps and tongs;
50 the pure gold basins, wick trimmers, sprinkling bowls, dishes[k] and censers;[l] and the gold sockets for the doors of the innermost room, the Most Holy Place, and also for the doors of the main hall of the temple.

51 When all the work King Solomon had done for the temple of the LORD was finished, he brought in the things his father David had dedicated[m]—the silver and gold and the furnishings[n]—and he placed them in the treasuries of the LORD's temple.

The Ark Brought to the Temple

8:1–21pp — 2Ch 5:2–6:11

8 Then King Solomon summoned into his presence at Jerusalem the elders of Israel, all the heads of the tribes and the chiefs[o] of the Israelite families, to bring up the ark[p] of the LORD's covenant from Zion, the City of David.[q] 2 All the men of Israel came together to King Solomon at the time of the festival[r] in the month of Ethanim, the seventh month.[s]

3 When all the elders of Israel had arrived, the priests[t] took up the ark, 4 and they brought up the ark of the LORD and the Tent of Meeting[u] and all the sacred furnishings in it. The priests and Levites[v] carried them up, 5 and King Solomon and the entire assembly of Israel that had gathered about him were before the ark, sacrificing[w] so many sheep and cattle that they could not be recorded or counted.

6 The priests then brought the ark of the LORD's covenant[x] to its place in the inner sanctuary of the temple, the Most Holy Place,[y] and put it beneath the wings of the cherubim.[z] 7 The cherubim spread their wings over the place of the ark and overshadowed[a] the ark and its carrying poles. 8 These poles were so long that their ends could be seen from the Holy Place in front of the inner sanctuary, but not from outside the Holy Place; and they are still there today.[b] 9 There was nothing in the ark except the two stone tablets[c] that Moses had placed in it at Horeb, where the LORD made a covenant with the Israelites after they came out of Egypt.

10 When the priests withdrew from the

7:44 the Sea and the twelve bulls. See vv. 23–26.
7:45 pots, shovels and sprinkling bowls. See v. 40.
7:46 Succoth. Located on the east side of the Jordan (Ge 33:17; Jos 13:27; Jdg 8:4–5) just north of the Jabbok River. Excavations in this area have confirmed that Succoth was a center of metallurgy during the period of the monarchy. Zarethan. Located near Adam (see Jos 3:16) and Abel Meholah (4:12).
7:48 golden altar. See 6:22. golden table. The bread of the Presence was placed on this table (see Ex 25:23–30; 1Ch 9:32; 2Ch 13:11; 29:18). Ten such golden tables are mentioned in 1Ch 28:16 and 2Ch 4:8,19, five placed on the north and five on the south side of the temple.
7:49 lampstands of pure gold. Only one lampstand with seven arms had stood in the tabernacle, opposite the table for the bread of the Presence (Ex 25:31–40; 26:35). The ten lampstands in the temple, five on the north and five on the south side, created a lane of light in the Holy Place. gold floral work. See Ex 25:33. lamps. See Ex 25:37. tongs. See 2Ch 4:21; Isa 6:6.
7:50 censers. See 2Ki 25:15; 2Ch 4:22; Jer 52:18–19.
7:51 things his father David had dedicated. Valuable objects of silver and gold, either taken as booty in war or received as tribute from kings seeking David's favor (see 2Sa 8:9–12; 1Ch 18:7–11; 2Ch 5:1). treasuries of the LORD's temple. See 15:18; 2Ki 12:18; 1Ch 9:26; 26:20–26; 28:12.
8:1 bring up the ark of the LORD's covenant. David had previously brought the ark from the house of Obed-Edom to Jerusalem (see 2Sa 6). Zion, the City of David. See note on 2Sa 5:7.
8:2 festival. It is probable that Solomon waited 11 months (see 6:38) to dedicate the temple during the Feast of Tabernacles, which was observed in the seventh month of the year (Lev 23:34; Dt 16:13–15). seventh month. Presumably in the 12th year of Solomon's reign.
8:4 Tent of Meeting. The tabernacle, which had been preserved at Gibeon (see notes on 3:4; 1Sa 7:1; see also 2Ch 5:4–5).
8:6 put it beneath the wings of the cherubim. See 6:23–28.
8:8 their ends could be seen. The carrying poles were always to remain in the gold rings of the ark (Ex 25:15). they are still there today. These words must be those of the original author of this description of the dedication of the temple rather than those of the final compiler of the books of Kings (see Introduction: Author, Sources and Date; see also 2Ch 5:9).
8:9 two stone tablets. See Ex 25:16; 40:20. the LORD made a covenant. See Ex 24.
8:10 the cloud filled the temple. Just as a visible manifestation of the presence of the Lord had descended on the tabernacle at Sinai, so now the Lord came

Holy Place, the cloud[d] filled the temple of the LORD. [11]And the priests could not perform their service[e] because of the cloud, for the glory[f] of the LORD filled his temple.

[12]Then Solomon said, "The LORD has said that he would dwell in a dark cloud;[g] [13]I have indeed built a magnificent temple for you, a place for you to dwell[h] forever."

[14]While the whole assembly of Israel was standing there, the king turned around and blessed[i] them. [15]Then he said:

"Praise be to the LORD,[j] the God of Israel, who with his own hand has fulfilled what he promised with his own mouth to my father David. For he said, [16]'Since the day I brought my people Israel out of Egypt,[k] I have not chosen a city in any tribe of Israel to have a temple built for my Name[l] to be there, but I have chosen[m] David[n] to rule my people Israel.'

[17]"My father David had it in his heart[o] to build a temple[p] for the Name of the LORD, the God of Israel. [18]But the LORD said to my father David, 'Because it was in your heart to build a temple for my Name, you did well to have this in your heart. [19]Nevertheless, you[q] are not the one to build the temple, but your son, who is your own flesh and blood—he is the one who will build the temple for my Name.'[r]

[20]"The LORD has kept the promise he made: I have succeeded[s] David my father and now I sit on the throne of Israel, just as the LORD promised, and I have built[t] the temple for the Name of the LORD, the God of Israel. [21]I have provided a place there for the ark, in which is the covenant of the LORD that he made with our fathers when he brought them out of Egypt."

Solomon's Prayer of Dedication
8:22–53pp — 2Ch 6:12–40

[22]Then Solomon stood before the altar of the LORD in front of the whole assembly of Israel, spread out his hands[u] toward heaven [23]and said:

"O LORD, God of Israel, there is no God like[v] you in heaven above or on earth below—you who keep your covenant of love[w] with your servants who continue wholeheartedly in your way. [24]You have kept your promise to your servant David my father; with your mouth you have promised and with your hand you have fulfilled it—as it is today.

[25]"Now LORD, God of Israel, keep for your servant David my father the promises[x] you made to him when you said, 'You shall never fail to have a man to sit before me on the throne of Israel, if only your sons are careful in all they do to walk before me as you have done.' [26]And now, O God of Israel, let your word that you promised[y] your servant David my father come true.

[27]"But will God really dwell[z] on earth? The heavens, even the highest heaven,[a] cannot contain[b] you. How much less this temple I have built! [28]Yet give attention to your servant's prayer and his plea for mercy, O LORD my God. Hear the cry and the prayer that your servant is praying in your presence this day. [29]May your eyes be open[c] toward[d] this temple night and day, this place of which you said, 'My Name[e] shall be there,' so that you will hear the prayer your servant prays toward this place. [30]Hear the supplication of your servant and of your people Israel when they pray[f] toward this place. Hear[g] from heaven, your dwelling place, and when you hear, forgive.[h] to take up his abode in the temple (see Ex 40:33–35; Eze 10:3–5,18–19; 43:4–5).

8:12 he would dwell in a dark cloud. See Ex 19:9; 24:15,18; 33:9–10; 34:5; Lev 16:2; Dt 4:11; 5:22; Ps 18:10–11.

8:15 what he promised. See 2Sa 7:5–16.

8:16 my Name. Equivalent to the Lord himself (see note on 5:5).

8:23 no God like you. No other god has acted in history as has the God of Israel, performing great miracles and directing the course of events so that his long-range covenant promises are fulfilled (see Ex 15:11; Dt 4:39; 7:9; Ps 86:8–10).

8:24 your promise. See v. 15; 2Sa 7:5–16.

8:25 if only your sons . . . walk before me. See 9:4–9; 2Ch 7:17–22; see also note on 1Ki 2:4.

8:27 How much less this temple I have built! With the construction of the temple and the appearance of a visible manifestation of the presence of God within its courts, the erroneous notion that God was irreversibly and exclusively bound to the temple in a way that guaranteed his assistance to Israel no matter how the people lived could very easily arise (see Jer 7:4–14; Mic 3:11). Solomon confessed that even though God had chosen to dwell among his people in a special and localized way, he far transcended containment by anything in all creation.

8:29 My Name. I the Lord (see note on 5:5).

8:30 pray toward this place. When an Israelite was unable to pray in the temple itself, he was to direct his prayers toward the place where God had pledged to be present among his people (see Da 6:10). heaven, your dwelling place. See note on v. 27.

31"When a man wrongs his neighbor and is required to take an oath and he comes and swears the oath[i] before your altar in this temple, 32then hear from heaven and act. Judge between your servants, condemning the guilty and bringing down on his own head what he has done. Declare the innocent not guilty, and so establish his innocence.[j]

33"When your people Israel have been defeated[k] by an enemy because they have sinned[l] against you, and when they turn back to you and confess your name, praying and making supplication to you in this temple,[m] 34then hear from heaven and forgive the sin of your people Israel and bring them back to the land you gave to their fathers.

35"When the heavens are shut up and there is no rain[n] because your people have sinned[o] against you, and when they pray toward this place and confess your name and turn from their sin because you have afflicted them, 36then hear from heaven and forgive the sin of your servants, your people Israel. Teach[p] them the right way[q] to live, and send rain[r] on the land you gave your people for an inheritance.

37"When famine[s] or plague[t] comes to the land, or blight[u] or mildew, locusts or grasshoppers,[v] or when an enemy besieges them in any of their cities, whatever disaster or disease may come, 38and when a prayer or plea is made by any of your people Israel—each one aware of the afflictions of his own heart, and spreading out his hands[w] toward this temple— 39then hear[x] from heaven, your dwelling place. Forgive[y] and act; deal with each man according to all he does, since you know[z] his heart (for you alone know the hearts of all men), 40so that they will fear[a] you all the time they live in the land[b] you gave our fathers.

41"As for the foreigner[c] who does not belong to your people Israel but has come from a distant land because of your name— 42for men will hear[d] of your great name and your mighty hand[e] and your outstretched arm—when he comes and prays toward this temple, 43then hear from heaven, your dwelling place, and do whatever the foreigner asks of you, so that all the peoples of the earth may know[f] your name and fear[g] you, as do your own people Israel, and may know that this house I have built bears your Name.[h]

44"When your people go to war against their enemies, wherever you send them, and when they pray[i] to the LORD toward the city you have chosen and the temple I have built

8:31 required to take an oath. In cases such as default in pledges (Ex 22:10–12) or alleged adultery (Nu 5:11–31), when there was insufficient evidence to establish the legitimacy of the charge, the supposed offender was required to take an oath of innocence at the sanctuary. Such an oath, with its attendant blessings and curses, was considered a divinely given means of determining innocence or guilt since the consequences of the oath became apparent in the life of the individual either by his experiencing the blessing or the curse or by direct divine revelation through the Urim and Thummim (see Ex 28:29–30; Lev 8:8; Nu 27:21).

8:32 hear from heaven. It is clear that Solomon viewed the oath as an appeal to God to act and not as an automatic power that worked in a magical way.

8:33 defeated by an enemy because they have sinned against you. Defeat by enemies was listed in Dt 28:25 as one of the curses that would come on Israel if she disobeyed the covenant. Solomon's prayer reflects an awareness of the covenant obligations the Lord had placed on his people and a knowledge of the consequences that disobedience would entail.

8:34 bring them back to the land. A reference to prisoners taken in battle.

8:35 no rain. Drought was another of the covenant curses listed in Dt 28:22–24.

8:36 right way to live. In accordance with covenant obligations (see Dt 6:18; 12:25; 13:18; 1Sa 12:23).

8:37 famine. See Dt 32:24. plague. See Dt 28:21–22; 32:24. locusts or grasshoppers. See Dt 28:38,42. an enemy besieges them in any of their cities. See Dt 28:52. disaster. See Dt 28:61; 31:29; 32:23–25. disease. See Dt 28:22.

8:38 aware of the afflictions of his own heart. Conscious of one's guilt before God, with an attitude of repentance and the desire for God's forgiveness and grace (see 2Ch 6:29; Ps 38:17–18; Jer 17:9).

8:39 deal with each man according to all he does. Not to be viewed as a request for retribution for the wrong committed (forgiveness and retribution are mutually exclusive), but as a desire for whatever discipline God in his wisdom may use to correct his people and to instruct them in the way of the covenant (see v. 40; Pr 3:11; Heb 12:5–15).

8:40 fear you. Honor and obediently serve you (see Dt 5:29; 6:1–2; 8:6; 31:13; 2Ch 6:31; Ps 130:4).

8:41 foreigner who does not belong to your people Israel. One who comes from a foreign land to pray to Israel's God at the temple, as distinguished from a resident alien.

8:42 men will hear. See 9:9 (foreign nations generally); 10:1 (queen of Sheba); Jos 2:9–11 (Rahab); 1Sa 4:6–8 (Philistines). your great name and your mighty hand and your outstretched arm. God's great power, demonstrated by his interventions in the history of his people (see Dt 4:34; 5:15; 7:19; 11:2; 26:8).

8:44 go to war ... wherever you send them. Military initiatives undertaken with divine sanction (see, e.g., Lev 26:7; Dt 20; 21:10; 1Sa 15:3; 23:2,4; 30:8; 2Sa 5:19,24). toward the city you have chosen. See note on v. 30.

[46]"When they sin against you—for there is no one who does not sin[k]—and you become angry with them and give them over to the enemy, who takes them captive[l] to his own land, far away or near; [47]and if they have a change of heart in the land where they are held captive, and repent and plead[m] with you in the land of their conquerors and say, 'We have sinned, we have done wrong, we have acted wickedly';[n] [48]and if they turn back[o] to you with all their heart[p] and soul in the land of their enemies who took them captive, and pray[q] to you toward the land you gave their fathers, toward the city you have chosen and the temple[r] I have built for your Name;[s] [49]then from heaven, your dwelling place, hear their prayer and their plea, and uphold their cause. [50]And forgive your people, who have sinned against you; forgive all the offenses they have committed against you, and cause their conquerors to show them mercy;[t] [51]for they are your people and your inheritance,[u] whom you brought out of Egypt, out of that iron-smelting furnace.[v]

[52]"May your eyes be open[w] to your servant's plea and to the plea of your people Israel, and may you listen to them whenever they cry out to you.[x] [53]For you singled them out from all the nations of the world to be your own inheritance,[y] just as you declared through your servant Moses when you, O Sovereign LORD, brought our fathers out of Egypt."

[54]When Solomon had finished all these prayers and supplications to the LORD, he rose from before the altar of the LORD, where he had been kneeling with his hands spread out toward heaven. [55]He stood and blessed[z] the whole assembly of Israel in a loud voice, saying:

[56]"Praise be to the LORD, who has given rest[a] to his people Israel just as he promised. Not one word has failed of all the good promises[b] he gave through his servant Moses. [57]May the LORD our God be with us as he was with our fathers; may he never leave us nor forsake[c] us. [58]May he turn our hearts[d] to him, to walk in all his ways and to keep the commands, decrees and regulations he gave our fathers. [59]And may these words of mine, which I have prayed before the LORD, be near to the LORD our God day and night, that he may uphold the cause of his servant and the cause of his people Israel according to each day's need, [60]so that all the peoples[e] of the earth may know that the LORD is God and that there is no other.[f] [61]But your hearts[g] must be fully committed[h] to the LORD our God, to live by his decrees and obey his commands, as at this time."

The Dedication of the Temple

8:62–66pp — 2Ch 7:1–10

[62]Then the king and all Israel with him offered sacrifices[i] before the LORD. [63]Solomon offered a sacrifice of fellowship offerings[y] to the LORD: twenty-two thousand cattle and a hundred and twenty thousand sheep and goats. So the king and all the Israelites dedicated[j] the temple of the LORD.

[64]On that same day the king consecrated the middle part of the courtyard in front of the temple of the LORD, and there he offered burnt offerings, grain offerings and the fat[k] of the fellowship offerings, because the bronze altar[l] before the LORD was too small to hold the burnt of-

8:46 the enemy, who takes them captive. On the basis of Lev 26:33–45; Dt 28:64–68; 30:1–5 Solomon knew that stubborn disobedience would lead to exile from the promised land.

8:51 iron-smelting furnace. See Dt 4:20 and note.

8:53 you singled them out . . . to be your own inheritance. Solomon began his prayer with an appeal to the Davidic covenant (vv. 23–30), and he closes with an appeal to the Sinaitic covenant (see Ex 19:5; Lev 20:24,26; Dt 7:6; 32:9).

8:54 he had been kneeling. Cf. v. 22; 2Sa 7:18; 2Ch 6:13; Lk 22:41; Eph 3:14.

8:56 Praise be to the LORD. Solomon understood this historic day to be a testimony to God's covenant faithfulness. rest to his people. After the conquest of Canaan under the leadership of Joshua, the Lord gave the Israelites a period of rest from their enemies (Jos 11:23; 21:44; 22:4), even though there remained much land to be possessed (Jos 13:1; Jdg 1). It was only with David's victories that the rest was made durable and complete (see 2Sa 7:1; see also note on 1Ki 5:4).

8:58 turn our hearts to him. Solomon asks for a divine work of grace within his people that will enable them to be faithful to the covenant (see Dt 30:6; Ps 51:10; Php 2:13).

8:59 his servant. The king, who, as the Lord's anointed, serves as the earthly representative of God's rule over his people (see notes on Ps 2:2,7).

8:63 fellowship offerings. Involved a communion meal (see note on 1Sa 11:15). twenty-two thousand cattle and a hundred and twenty thousand sheep and goats. Although these numbers may seem large, there were vast numbers of people who participated in the dedication ceremony, which lasted 14 days (see vv. 1–2; see also v. 65).

ferings, the grain offerings and the fat of the fellowship offerings.[m]

65So Solomon observed the festival[n] at that time, and all Israel with him—a vast assembly, people from Lebo-hamath[o] to the Wadi of Egypt.[p] They celebrated it before the LORD our God for seven days and seven days more, fourteen days in all. 66On the following day he sent the people away. They blessed the king and then went home, joyful and glad in heart for all the good[q] things the LORD had done for his servant David and his people Israel.

The LORD Appears to Solomon

9:1–9pp — 2Ch 7:11–22

9 When Solomon had finished[r] building the temple of the LORD and the royal palace, and had achieved all he had desired to do, 2the LORD appeared[s] to him a second time, as he had appeared to him at Gibeon. 3The LORD said to him:

"I have heard[t] the prayer and plea you have made before me; I have consecrated this temple, which you have built, by putting my Name[u] there forever. My eyes[v] and my heart will always be there.

4"As for you, if you walk before me in integrity of heart[w] and uprightness, as David[x] your father did, and do all I command and observe my decrees and laws,[y] 5I will establish[z] your royal throne over Israel forever, as I promised David your father when I said, 'You shall never fail[a] to have a man on the throne of Israel.'

6"But if you[a] or your sons turn away[b] from me and do not observe the commands and decrees I have given you[a] and go off to serve other gods[c] and worship them, 7then I will cut off Israel from the land[d] I have given them and will reject this temple I have consecrated for my Name.[e] Israel will then become a byword[f] and an object of ridicule[g] among all peoples. 8And though this temple is now imposing, all who pass by will be appalled[h] and will scoff and say, 'Why has the LORD done such a thing to this land and to this temple?'[i] 9People will answer,[j] 'Because they have forsaken[k] the LORD their God, who brought their fathers out of Egypt, and have embraced other gods, worshiping and serving them—that is why the LORD brought all this disaster[l] on them.' "

Solomon's Other Activities

9:10–28pp — 2Ch 8:1–18

10At the end of twenty years, during which Solomon built these two buildings—the temple of the LORD and the royal palace— 11King Solomon gave twenty towns in Galilee to Hiram king of Tyre, because Hiram had supplied him with all the cedar and pine and gold[m] he wanted. 12But when Hiram went from Tyre to see the towns that Solomon had given him, he was not pleased with them. 13"What kind of towns are these you have given me, my brother?" he asked. And he called them the Land of Cabul,[b n] a name they have to this day.

[z] 65 Or from the entrance to [a] 6 The Hebrew is plural. [b] 13 Cabul sounds like the Hebrew for good-for-nothing.

8:65 Lebo Hamath. See note on Eze 47:15. Wadi of Egypt. Probably Wadi el-Arish (see note on Ge 15:18). People came to Jerusalem for the dedication of the temple from nearly the entire area of Solomon's dominion (see note on 4:21). seven days and seven days more, fourteen days in all. It appears that the seven-day celebration for the dedication of the temple was followed by the seven-day Feast of Tabernacles (see note on v. 2), which was observed from the 15th to the 21st of the seventh month. According to Chronicles, this was followed by a final assembly on the next day, in accordance with Lev 23:33–36; then on the 23rd of the month the people were sent to their homes (see 2Ch 7:8–10).

9:1 When Solomon had finished. At the earliest this would be in the 24th year (4 + 7 + 13 = 24) of Solomon's reign—946 B.C. (see 6:1,37–38; 7:1; 9:10).

9:2 he had appeared to him at Gibeon. See 3:4–15.

9:3 putting my Name there forever. See 8:10–13. My eyes and my heart will always be there. See 8:29.

9:4–5 if you walk before me in integrity of heart . . . I will establish your royal throne over Israel forever. See 8:25 and note on 2:4. The Lord reemphasizes to Solomon the importance of obedience to the covenant in order to experience its blessings rather than its curses. This was particularly necessary as Solomon's kingdom grew in influence and wealth, with all the potential for covenant-breaking that prosperity brought (see Dt 8:12–14,17; 31:20; 32:15).

9:6 serve other gods and worship them. See 11:4–8.

9:7 a byword and an object of ridicule among all peoples. See the covenant curse in Dt 28:37.

9:9 that is why the LORD brought all this disaster on them. See Dt 29:22–28; Jer 22:8–30.

9:10–28 See map No. 5 at the end of the study Bible.

9:11 Solomon gave twenty towns in Galilee to Hiram king of Tyre. Comparison of vv. 10–14 with 5:1–12 suggests that during Solomon's 20 years of building activity he became more indebted to Hiram than anticipated in their original agreement (see note on 5:9), which had provided for payment for labor (5:6) and wood (5:10–11). From vv. 11,14 it is evident that in addition to wood and labor Solomon had also acquired great quantities of gold from Hiram. It appears that Solomon gave Hiram the 20 towns in the Phoenician-Galilee border area as a surety for repayment of the gold. 2Ch 8:1–2 indicates that at some later date when Solomon's gold reserves were increased, perhaps after the return of the expedition to Ophir (1Ki 9:26–28; 10:11) or the visit of the queen of Sheba (10:1–13), he settled his debt with Hiram and recovered the 20 towns held as collateral.

14Now Hiram had sent to the king 120 talents[c] of gold.[o]

15Here is the account of the forced labor King Solomon conscripted[p] to build the LORD's temple, his own palace, the supporting terraces,[dq] the wall of Jerusalem, and Hazor,[r] Megiddo and Gezer.[s] 16(Pharaoh king of Egypt had attacked and captured Gezer. He had set it on fire. He killed its Canaanite inhabitants and then gave it as a wedding gift to his daughter,[t] Solomon's wife. 17And Solomon rebuilt Gezer.) He built up Lower Beth Horon,[u] 18Baalath,[v] and Tadmor[e] in the desert, within his land, 19as well as all his store cities[w] and the towns for his chariots[x] and for his horses[f]—whatever he desired to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon and throughout all the territory he ruled.

20All the people left from the Amorites, Hittites,[y] Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites[z] (these peoples were not Israelites), 21that is, their descendants[a] remaining in the land, whom the Israelites could not exterminate[gb]—these Solomon conscripted for his slave labor force,[c] as it is to this day. 22But Solomon did not make slaves[d] of any of the Israelites; they were his fighting men, his government officials, his officers, his captains, and the commanders of his chariots and charioteers. 23They were also the chief officials[e] in charge of Solomon's projects—550 officials supervising the men who did the work.

24After Pharaoh's daughter[f] had come up from the City of David to the palace Solomon had built for her, he constructed the supporting terraces.[g]

25Three[h] times a year Solomon sacrificed burnt offerings and fellowship offerings[h] on the altar he had built for the LORD, burning incense before the LORD along with them, and so fulfilled the temple obligations.

9:15 forced labor. Non-Israelite slave labor of a permanent nature (in contrast to the temporary conscription of Israelite workmen described in 5:13–16). supporting terraces. Probably for Solomon's expansion of Jerusalem on the ridge north from David's city (see note on 2Sa 5:9). Hazor. Solomon's building activity at Hazor, Megiddo and Gezer was intended to strengthen the fortifications of these ancient, strategically located towns (Solomonic gates, probably built by the same masons, have been found at all three sites). Hazor was the most important fortress in the northern Galilee area, controlling the trade route running from the Euphrates River to Egypt. Megiddo. Another fortress along the great north-south trade route; it commanded the pass through the Carmel range from the plain of Jezreel to the coastal plain of Sharon. Gezer. See note on 3:1.

9:16 killed its Canaanite inhabitants. Although Joshua had killed the king of Gezer at the time of the conquest (Jos 10:33; 12:12), the tribe of Ephraim had been unable to drive out its inhabitants (Jos 16:10; Jdg 1:29).

9:17 Lower Beth Horon. Located about eight miles northwest of Jerusalem at a pass giving entrance to the Judahite highlands and Jerusalem from the coastal plain.

9:18 Baalath. To be identified with either the Bealoth of Jos 15:24 located to the south of Hebron in the tribe of Judah or the Baalath southwest of Beth Horon in the tribe of Dan (Jos 19:44). Tadmor. See NIV text note; see also 2Ch 8:4; Eze 47:19.

9:20 Amorites ... Jebusites. See Dt 7:1; 20:17; see also notes on Ge 10:15–18; 13:7; 15:16; 23:9; Jos 5:1; Jdg 3:3; 6:10; 2Sa 21:2.

9:22 Solomon did not make slaves of any of the Israelites. See note on v. 15.

9:23 550 officials. See note on 5:16.

9:25 Three times a year. On the occasion of the three important annual festivals: the Feast of Unleavened Bread, the Feast of Weeks, and the Feast of Tabernacles (see Ex 23:14–17; 2Ch 8:13).

9:26 ships. Used in a large trading business that brought great wealth to Solomon's court (see v. 28; 10:11). Ezion Geber. Located at the northern tip of the Gulf of Aqaba (see 22:48; Nu 33:35; Dt 2:8). Red Sea. The Hebrew for this term, normally read as Yam Suph ("sea of reeds"; see NIV text note), refers to the body of water through which the Israelites passed at the time of the exodus (see notes on Ex 13:18; 14:2). It can also be read, however, as Yam Soph ("sea of ⌊land's⌋ end"), a more likely reading when referring to the Red Sea, and especially (as here) to its eastern arm (the Gulf of Aqaba).

9:28 Ophir. A source for gold (2Ch 8:18; Job 28:16; Ps 45:9; Isa 13:12), almugwood and precious stones (10:11), and silver, ivory, apes and baboons (10:22). Its location is disputed: Southeastern Arabia, southwestern Arabia, the northeastern African coast (in the area of Somalia), India and Zimbabwe have all been suggested. If Ophir was located in Arabia, it was probably a trading center for goods from farther east as well as from east Africa. But the three-year voyages of Solomon's merchant vessels (10:22) suggest a more distant location than the Arabian coast.

10:1 Sheba. Archaeological evidence suggests that Sheba is to be identified with a mercantile kingdom that flourished in southwest Arabia (see notes on Ge 10:28; Joel 3:8) c. 900–450 B.C. It profited from the sea trade of India and east Africa by transporting luxury commodities north to Damascus and Gaza on caravan routes through the Arabian Desert. It is possible that Solomon's fleet of his relation to the name of the LORD, she came to test him with hard questions.[q] 2Arriving at Jerusalem with a very great caravan[r]—with camels carrying spices, large quantities of gold, and precious stones—she came to Solomon and talked with him about all that she had on her mind. 3Solomon answered all her questions; nothing was too hard for the king to explain to her. 4When the queen of Sheba saw all the wisdom of Solomon and the palace he had built, 5the food on his table,[s] the seating of his officials, the attending servants in their robes, his cupbearers, and the burnt offerings he made at[k] the temple of the LORD, she was overwhelmed.

6She said to the king, "The report I heard in my own country about your achievements and your wisdom is true. 7But I did not believe[t] these things until I came and saw with my own eyes. Indeed, not even half was told me; in wisdom and wealth[u] you have far exceeded the report I heard. 8How happy your men must be! How happy your officials, who continually stand before you and hear[v] your wisdom! 9Praise[w] be to the LORD your God, who has delighted in you and placed you on the throne of Israel. Because of the LORD's eternal love[x] for Israel, he has made you king, to maintain justice[y] and righteousness."

10And she gave the king 120 talents[l] of gold,[z] large quantities of spices, and precious stones. Never again were so many spices brought in as those the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.

11(Hiram's ships brought gold from Ophir;[a] and from there they brought great cargoes of almugwood[m] and precious stones. 12The king used the almugwood to make supports for the temple of the LORD and for the royal palace, and to make harps and lyres for the musicians. So much almugwood has never been imported or seen since that day.)

13King Solomon gave the queen of Sheba all she desired and asked for, besides what he had given her out of his royal bounty. Then she left and returned with her retinue to her own country.

Solomon's Splendor

10:14–29pp — 2Ch 1:14–17; 9:13–28

14The weight of the gold[b] that Solomon received yearly was 666 talents,[n] 15not including the revenues from merchants and traders and from all the Arabian kings and the governors of the land.

16King Solomon made two hundred large shields[c] of hammered gold; six hundred bekas[o] of gold went into each shield. 17He also made three hundred small shields of hammered gold, with three minas[p] of gold in each shield. The king put them in the Palace of the Forest of Lebanon.[d]

18Then the king made a great throne inlaid with ivory and overlaid with fine gold. 19The throne had six steps, and its back had a rounded top. On both sides of the seat were armrests, with a lion standing beside each of them. 20Twelve lions stood on the six steps, one at either end of each step. Nothing like it had ever been made for any other kingdom. 21All King Solomon's goblets were gold, and all the household articles in the Palace of the Forest of Lebanon were pure gold.[e] Nothing was made of silver, because silver was considered of little value in Solomon's days. 22The king had a fleet of ships threatened Sheba's continued dominance of this trading business. his relation to the name of the LORD. The queen of Sheba recognized a connection between the wisdom of Solomon and the God he served. Jesus used her example to condemn the people of his own day who had not recognized that "one greater than Solomon" was in their midst (Mt 12:42; Lk 11:31).

10:9 Praise be to the LORD your God. The queen of Sheba's confession is beautifully worded and reflects a profound understanding of Israel's covenant relationship with the Lord. However, it does not necessarily imply anything more than her recognition of the Lord as Israel's national God in conformity with the ideas of polytheistic paganism (see note on 5:7; see also 2Ch 2:12; Da 3:28–29). There is no confession that Solomon's God has become her God to the exclusion of all others.

10:10 120 talents of gold. See notes on 9:11,28.

10:11 Hiram's ships. See 9:26–28. Hiram had supplied the wood, the sailors and the expertise in construction that Israel lacked. almugwood. See NIV text note and 2Ch 9:10–11. Its identity is unknown, though some suggest it is juniper. It was apparently available from Lebanon as well as Ophir (2Ch 2:8).

10:13 all she desired and asked for. The exchange of gifts between Solomon and the queen may have signified the effecting of a trade agreement (see note on v. 1). There is no basis for the idea sometimes suggested that she desired offspring fathered by Solomon and left Jerusalem carrying his child.

10:15 revenues from . . . Arabian kings. Tribute from Bedouin sheiks for passage of their caravans into Israelite territory. governors of the land. See 4:7–19.

10:16 large shields. Rectangular shields that afforded maximum protection (in distinction from the smaller round shields). These gold shields were probably not intended for battle but for ceremonial use, symbolizing Israel's wealth and glory. They were probably made of wood overlaid with gold. Shishak of Egypt carried them off as plunder in the fifth regnal year of Solomon's son Rehoboam (see 14:25–26).

10:22 fleet of trading ships. See NIV text note; 2Ch 9:21. The same fleet is referred to in v. 11; 9:26–28. "Ships of Tarshish" are not necessarily ships that sail to Tarshish (see note on Jnh 1:3) but can designate large trading ves-trading ships[qf] at sea along with the ships[g] of Hiram. Once every three years it returned, carrying gold, silver and ivory, and apes and baboons.

[23]King Solomon was greater in riches[h] and wisdom[i] than all the other kings of the earth. [24]The whole world sought audience with Solomon to hear the wisdom[j] God had put in his heart. [25]Year after year, everyone who came brought a gift[k]—articles of silver and gold, robes, weapons and spices, and horses and mules.

[26]Solomon accumulated chariots and horses;[l] he had fourteen hundred chariots and twelve thousand horses,[r] which he kept in the chariot cities and also with him in Jerusalem. [27]The king made silver as common[m] in Jerusalem as stones,[n] and cedar as plentiful as sycamore-fig[o] trees in the foothills. [28]Solomon's horses were imported from Egypt[s] and from Kue[t]—the royal merchants purchased them from Kue. [29]They imported a chariot from Egypt for six hundred shekels[u] of silver, and a horse for a hundred and fifty.[v] They also exported them to all the kings of the Hittites[p] and of the Arameans.

Solomon's Wives

11 King Solomon, however, loved many foreign women[q] besides Pharaoh's daughter—Moabites, Ammonites,[r] Edomites, Sidonians and Hittites. [2]They were from nations about which the LORD had told the Israelites, "You must not intermarry[s] with them, because they will surely turn your hearts after their gods." Nevertheless, Solomon held fast to them in love. [3]He had seven hundred wives of royal birth and three hundred concubines,[t] and his wives led him astray.[u] [4]As Solomon grew old, his wives turned his heart after other gods,[v] and his heart was not fully devoted[w] to the LORD his God, as the heart of David his father had been. [5]He followed Ashtoreth[x] the goddess of the Sidonians, and Molech[wy] the detestable god of the Ammonites. [6]So Solomon did evil[z] in the eyes of the LORD; he did not follow the LORD completely, as David his father had done.

[7]On a hill east[a] of Jerusalem, Solomon built a high place for Chemosh[b] the detestable god of Moab, and for Molech[c] the detestable god of the Ammonites. [8]He did the same for all his foreign wives, who burned incense and offered sacrifices to their gods.

[9]The LORD became angry with Solomon because his heart had turned away from the LORD, the God of Israel, who had appeared[d] to him twice. [10]Although he had forbidden Solomon to follow other gods,[e] Solomon did not keep the LORD's command.[f] [11]So the LORD said to Solomon, "Since this is your attitude and you have not kept my covenant and my decrees,[g] which I commanded you, I will most certainly tear[h] the kingdom away from you and give it to one of your subordinates. [12]Nevertheless, for the sake of David[i] your father, I will not do it dur-

10:26 chariots and horses. See note on 4:26. Accumulation of chariots and horses by the king was forbidden in the Mosaic law (Dt 17:16).

10:29 exported them. Through his agents Solomon was the middleman in a lucrative trading business. It appears that he acquired horses from the north (Muzur and Kue in Asia Minor; see NIV text notes on v. 28) and sold them in the south, while at the same time acquiring chariots from the south (Egypt) and selling them in the north.

11:1 loved many foreign women. Many of Solomon's marriages were no doubt for the purpose of sealing international relationships with various kingdoms, large and small—a common practice in the ancient Near East. But this violated not only Dt 17:17 with respect to the multiplicity of wives, but also the prohibition against taking wives from the pagan peoples among whom Israel settled (see Ex 34:16; Dt 7:1–3; Jos 23:12–13; Ezr 9:2; 10:2–3; Ne 13:23–27). Moabites. See note on Ge 19:36–38. Ammonites. See note on Ge 19:36–38; see also 14:21; Dt 23:3. Edomites. See notes on Ge 25:26; 36:1; Am 1:11; 9:12; see also Dt 23:7–8. Sidonians. See 16:31.

11:2 they will surely turn your hearts after their gods. An example in Israel's earlier history is found in Nu 25:1–15.

11:3 seven hundred . . . three hundred. Cf. SS 6:8, but see note there.

11:4 his heart was not fully devoted to the LORD his God. See 8:61. The atmosphere of paganism and idolatry introduced into Solomon's court by his foreign wives gradually led Solomon into syncretistic religious practices.

11:5 Ashtoreth. See v. 33; 14:15; 2Ki 23:13; see also note on Jdg 2:13. Molech. See 2Sa 12:30 and NIV text note. Molech and Milcom (see NIV text note) are alternate names for the same pagan deity. Worship of this god not only severely jeopardized the continued recognition of the absolute kingship of the Lord over his people, but also involved (on rare occasions) the abomination of child sacrifice (see 2Ki 16:3; 17:17; 21:6; Lev 18:21; 20:2–5; see also note on Jdg 10:6).

11:6 as David his father had done. Although David committed grievous sins, he was repentant, and he was never involved in idolatrous worship.

11:7 high place. See note on 3:2. Chemosh. See 2Ki 3:26–27.

11:9 appeared to him twice. See 3:4–5; 9:1–9.

11:11 not kept my covenant. Solomon had broken the most basic demands of the covenant (see Ex 20:2–5) and thereby severely undermined the entire covenant relationship between God and his people.

11:12 for the sake of David your father. Because of David's unwavering loyalty to the Lord and God's covenant ing your lifetime. I will tear it out of the hand of your son. 13Yet I will not tear the whole kingdom from him, but will give him one tribe[j] for the sake[k] of David my servant and for the sake of Jerusalem, which I have chosen."[l]

Solomon's Adversaries

14Then the LORD raised up against Solomon an adversary,[m] Hadad the Edomite, from the royal line of Edom. 15Earlier when David was fighting with Edom, Joab the commander of the army, who had gone up to bury the dead, had struck down all the men in Edom.[n] 16Joab and all the Israelites stayed there for six months, until they had destroyed all the men in Edom. 17But Hadad, still only a boy, fled to Egypt with some Edomite officials who had served his father. 18They set out from Midian and went to Paran.[o] Then taking men from Paran with them, they went to Egypt, to Pharaoh king of Egypt, who gave Hadad a house and land and provided him with food.

19Pharaoh was so pleased with Hadad that he gave him a sister of his own wife, Queen Tahpenes, in marriage. 20The sister of Tahpenes bore him a son named Genubath, whom Tahpenes brought up in the royal palace. There Genubath lived with Pharaoh's own children.

21While he was in Egypt, Hadad heard that David rested with his fathers and that Joab the commander of the army was also dead. Then Hadad said to Pharaoh, "Let me go, that I may return to my own country."

22"What have you lacked here that you want to go back to your own country?" Pharaoh asked.

"Nothing," Hadad replied, "but do let me go!"

23And God raised up against Solomon another adversary,[p] Rezon son of Eliada, who had fled from his master, Hadadezer[q] king of Zobah. 24He gathered men around him and became the leader of a band of rebels when David destroyed the forces[x] ⌞of Zobah⌟; the rebels went to Damascus,[r] where they settled and took control. 25Rezon was Israel's adversary as long as Solomon lived, adding to the trouble caused by Hadad. So Rezon ruled in Aram[s] and was hostile toward Israel.

Jeroboam Rebels Against Solomon

26Also, Jeroboam son of Nebat rebelled[t] against the king. He was one of Solomon's officials, an Ephraimite from Zeredah, and his mother was a widow named Zeruah.

27Here is the account of how he rebelled against the king: Solomon had built the supporting terraces[yu] and had filled in the gap in the wall of the city of David his father. 28Now Jeroboam was a man of standing,[v] and when Solomon saw how well[w] the young man did his work, he put him in charge of the whole labor force of the house of Joseph.

29About that time Jeroboam was going out of Jerusalem, and Ahijah[x] the prophet of Shiloh met him on the way, wearing a new cloak. The two of them were alone out in the country, 30and Ahijah took hold of the new cloak he was wearing and tore[y] it into twelve pieces. 31Then he said to Jeroboam, "Take ten

11:13 one tribe. Judah (see note on vv. 31–32; see also 12:20). for the sake of Jerusalem, which I have chosen. Now that Jerusalem contained the temple built by David's son in accordance with 2Sa 7:13, the destiny of Jerusalem and the Davidic dynasty were closely linked (see 2Ki 19:34; 21:7–8; Ps 132). The temple represented God's royal palace, where his earthly throne (the ark) was situated and where he had pledged to be present as Israel's Great King (9:3).

11:14 Hadad. A familiar name among Edomite kings (see Ge 36:35,39).

11:15 David was fighting with Edom. See 2Sa 8:13–14.

11:16 all the Israelites ... all the men in Edom. All those, on both sides, who took part in the campaign.

11:17 only a boy. Probably in his early teens.

11:18 Midian. At this time Midianites inhabited a region on the eastern borders of Moab and Edom. Paran. A desert area southeast of Kadesh in the central area of the Sinai peninsula (see Nu 10:12; 12:16; 13:3). Pharaoh king of Egypt. See note on 3:1. gave Hadad a house and land and ... food. In a time of Israel's growing strength it was in Egypt's interest to befriend those who would harass Israel and keep her power in check.

11:21 Let me go. It appears that Hadad returned to Edom during the early days of Solomon's reign.

11:22 What have you lacked here ...? Because Egypt had by this time established relatively good relations with Israel (see note on 3:1), the pharaoh was reluctant to see Hadad return to Edom and provoke trouble with Solomon.

11:24 leader of a band of rebels. As David had been (1Sa 22:1–2), and Jephthah before him (Jdg 11:3). rebels went to Damascus, where they settled and took control. Presumably this took place in the early part of Solomon's reign (see 2Sa 8:6 for the situation in Damascus during the time of David). It is likely that Solomon's expedition (2Ch 8:3) against Hamath Zobah (the kingdom formerly ruled by Hadadezer, 2Sa 8:3–6) was provoked by opposition led by Rezon. Even though Solomon was able to retain control of the territory north of Damascus to the Euphrates (4:21,24), he was not able to drive Rezon from Damascus itself.

11:26 rebelled against the king. See note on v. 40.

11:27 supporting terraces. See 9:15 and note.

11:28 whole labor force of the house of Joseph. See 5:13–18. Jeroboam's supervision of the conscripted laborers from the tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh made him aware of the smoldering discontent among the people over Solomon's policies (see 12:4).

11:31–32 ten tribes ... one tribe. The tradition of considering the ten northern tribes as a unit distinct from the southern tribes (Judah and Simeon—Levi received no territorial inheritance; see Jos 21) goes back to the period of

The Divided Kingdom

930–586 B.C.

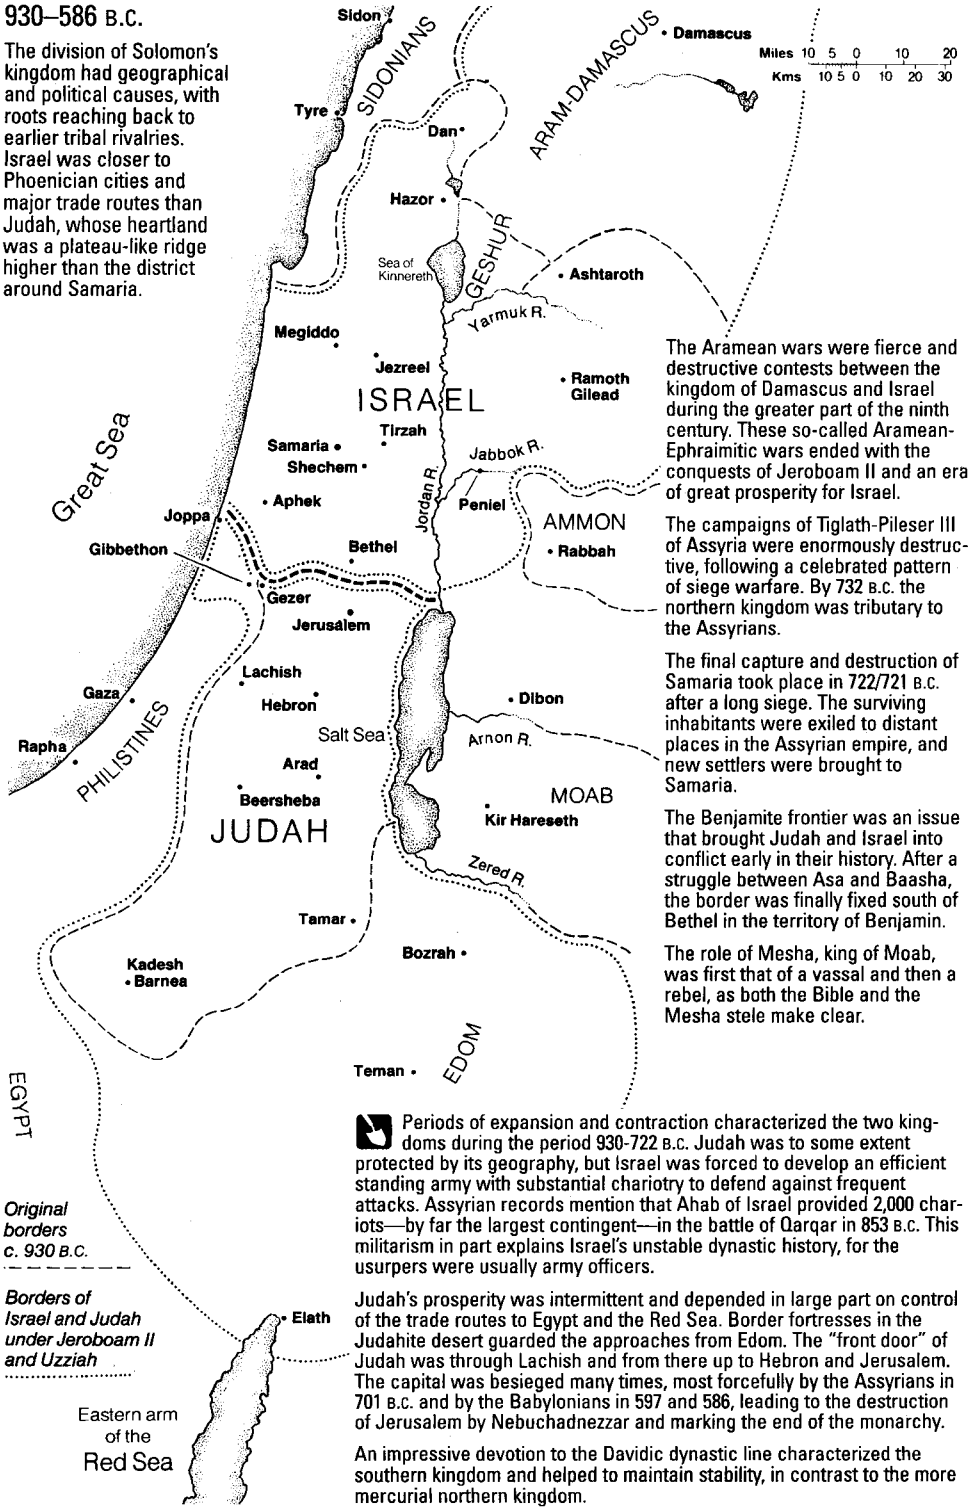
The division of Solomon's kingdom had geographical and political causes, with roots reaching back to earlier tribal rivalries. Israel was closer to Phoenician cities and major trade routes than Judah, whose heartland was a plateau-like ridge higher than the district around Samaria.



The Aramean wars were fierce and destructive contests between the kingdom of Damascus and Israel during the greater part of the ninth century. These so-called Aramean-Ephraimitic wars ended with the conquests of Jeroboam II and an era of great prosperity for Israel.

The campaigns of Tiglath-Pileser III of Assyria were enormously destructive, following a celebrated pattern of siege warfare. By 732 B.C. the northern kingdom was tributary to the Assyrians.

The final capture and destruction of Samaria took place in 722/721 B.C. after a long siege. The surviving inhabitants were exiled to distant places in the Assyrian empire, and new settlers were brought to Samaria.

The Benjamite frontier was an issue that brought Judah and Israel into conflict early in their history. After a struggle between Asa and Baasha, the border was finally fixed south of Bethel in the territory of Benjamin.

The role of Mesha, king of Moab, was first that of a vassal and then a rebel, as both the Bible and the Mesha stele make clear.

Periods of expansion and contraction characterized the two kingdoms during the period 930-722 B.C. Judah was to some extent protected by its geography, but Israel was forced to develop an efficient standing army with substantial chariotry to defend against frequent attacks. Assyrian records mention that Ahab of Israel provided 2,000 chariots—by far the largest contingent—in the battle of Qarqar in 853 B.C. This militarism in part explains Israel's unstable dynastic history, for the usurpers were usually army officers.

Judah's prosperity was intermittent and depended in large part on control of the trade routes to Egypt and the Red Sea. Border fortresses in the Judahite desert guarded the approaches from Edom. The "front door" of Judah was through Lachish and from there up to Hebron and Jerusalem. The capital was besieged many times, most forcefully by the Assyrians in 701 B.C. and by the Babylonians in 597 and 586, leading to the destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar and marking the end of the monarchy.

An impressive devotion to the Davidic dynastic line characterized the southern kingdom and helped to maintain stability, in contrast to the more mercurial northern kingdom.

pieces for yourself, for this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: 'See, I am going to tear[z] the kingdom out of Solomon's hand and give you ten tribes. 32But for the sake[a] of my servant David and the city of Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, he will have one tribe. 33I will do this because they have[z] forsaken me and worshiped[b] Ashtoreth the goddess of the Sidonians, Chemosh the god of the Moabites, and Molech the god of the Ammonites, and have not walked[c] in my ways, nor done what is right in my eyes, nor kept my statutes[d] and laws as David, Solomon's father, did.

34" 'But I will not take the whole kingdom out of Solomon's hand; I have made him ruler all the days of his life for the sake of David my servant, whom I chose and who observed my commands and statutes. 35I will take the kingdom from his son's hands and give you ten tribes. 36I will give one tribe[e] to his son so that David my servant may always have a lamp[f] before me in Jerusalem, the city where I chose to put my Name. 37However, as for you, I will take you, and you will rule[g] over all that your heart desires;[h] you will be king over Israel. 38If you do whatever I command you and walk in my ways and do what is right[i] in my eyes by keeping my statutes[j] and commands, as David my servant did, I will be with you. I will build you a dynasty[k] as enduring as the one I built for David and will give Israel to you. 39I will humble David's descendants because of this, but not forever.' "

40Solomon tried to kill Jeroboam, but Jeroboam fled[l] to Egypt, to Shishak[m] the king, and stayed there until Solomon's death.

Solomon's Death

11:41-43pp — 2Ch 9:29-31

41As for the other events of Solomon's reign—all he did and the wisdom he displayed—are they not written in the book of the annals of Solomon? 42Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years. 43Then he rested with his fathers and was buried in the city of David his father. And Rehoboam[n] his son succeeded him as king.

the judges (see Jdg 5:14–16). The reason, no doubt, was the continuing presence of a non-Israelite corridor (Jerusalem, Gibeonite league, Gezer) that separated the two Israelite regions (see map No. 4 at the end of the study Bible). Political division along the same line during the early years of David's reign and the different arrangements that brought the southern and northern segments under David's rule (see 2Sa 2:4; 5:3) reinforced this sense of division. With the conquest of Jerusalem by David (2Sa 5:6–7) and the pharaoh's gift of Gezer to Solomon's wife (9:16–17), all Israel was for the first time territorially united. (Now that Jerusalem and Gezer were under Israelite control, the Gibeonite league, which had submitted already to Joshua—see Jos 9—could be effectively absorbed politically.) In the division here announced, the "one tribe" refers to the area dominated by Judah (but including Simeon; see Jos 19:1–9), and the "ten tribes" refers to the region that came under David's rule at the later date (Ephraim and Manasseh, Joseph's sons, being counted as two tribes; see Ge 48:5; see also note on Jos 14:4). For further refinement of the new boundaries that came about see note on 12:21.

11:34 I have made him ruler all the days of his life. See vv. 12–13.

11:35 from his son's hands. From Rehoboam (see 12:1–24).

11:36 a lamp before me in Jerusalem. Symbolizes the continuance of the Davidic dynasty in the city where God had chosen to cause his Name to dwell (see v. 13 and note). In a number of passages, the burning or snuffing out of one's lamp signifies the flourishing or ceasing of one's life (Job 18:6; 21:17; Pr 13:9; 20:20; 24:20). Here (and in 15:4; 2Ki 8:19; 2Ch 21:7; Ps 132:17) the same figure is applied to David's dynasty (see especially Ps 132:17, where "set up a lamp for my anointed" is parallel to "make a horn grow for David"). In David's royal sons his "lamp" continues to burn before the Lord in Jerusalem.

11:37 Israel. The northern ten tribes.

11:38 If you do whatever I command you . . . I will be with you. Jeroboam was placed under the same covenant obligations as David and Solomon before him (see 2:3–4; 3:14; 6:12–13).

11:39 humble David's descendants. The division of the kingdom considerably reduced the status and power of the house of David. not forever. Anticipates a restoration (announced also in the Messianic prophecies of Jer 30:9; Eze 34:23; 37:15–28; Hos 3:5; Am 9:11–12) in which the nation is reunited under the rule of the house of David.

11:40 Solomon tried to kill Jeroboam. Jeroboam, perhaps indifferent to the timing announced by Ahijah (vv. 34–35), may have made an abortive attempt to wrest the kingdom from Solomon (see v. 26). Shishak the king. See 14:25–26. This first Egyptian pharaoh to be mentioned by name in the OT was the Libyan founder of the 22nd dynasty (945–924 B.C.). Solomon's marriage ties were with the previous dynasty (see note on 3:1).

11:41 annals of Solomon. A written source concerning Solomon's life and administration, which was used by the writer of 1,2 Kings (see Introduction: Author, Sources and Date; see also 15:7,23).

11:43 rested with his fathers. See note on 1:21.

12:1 Shechem. A city of great historical significance located in the hill country of northern Ephraim (see Ge 12:6; 33:18–20; Jos 8:30–35 and note on Jos 8:30; see also Jos 20:7; 21:21; 24:1–33). all the Israelites. That is, representatives of the northern tribes (see v. 16). The fact that David became king over the northern tribes on the basis of a covenant (see 2Sa 5:3) suggests that their act of submission was to be renewed with each new king and that it there to make him king. 2When Jeroboam son of Nebat heard this (he was still in Egypt, where he had fled[p] from King Solomon), he returned from[a] Egypt. 3So they sent for Jeroboam, and he and the whole assembly of Israel went to Rehoboam and said to him: 4"Your father put a heavy yoke[q] on us, but now lighten the harsh labor and the heavy yoke he put on us, and we will serve you."

5Rehoboam answered, "Go away for three days and then come back to me." So the people went away.

6Then King Rehoboam consulted the elders[r] who had served his father Solomon during his lifetime. "How would you advise me to answer these people?" he asked.

7They replied, "If today you will be a servant to these people and serve them and give them a favorable answer,[s] they will always be your servants."

8But Rehoboam rejected[t] the advice the elders gave him and consulted the young men who had grown up with him and were serving him. 9He asked them, "What is your advice? How should we answer these people who say to me, 'Lighten the yoke your father put on us'?"

10The young men who had grown up with him replied, "Tell these people who have said to you, 'Your father put a heavy yoke on us, but make our yoke lighter'—tell them, 'My little finger is thicker than my father's waist. 11My father laid on you a heavy yoke; I will make it even heavier. My father scourged you with whips; I will scourge you with scorpions.' "

12Three days later Jeroboam and all the people returned to Rehoboam, as the king had said, "Come back to me in three days." 13The king answered the people harshly. Rejecting the advice given him by the elders, 14he followed the advice of the young men and said, "My father made your yoke heavy; I will make it even heavier. My father scourged[u] you with whips; I will scourge you with scorpions." 15So the king did not listen to the people, for this turn of events was from the LORD,[v] to fulfill the word the LORD had spoken to Jeroboam son of Nebat through Ahijah[w] the Shilonite.

16When all Israel saw that the king refused to listen to them, they answered the king:

"What share[x] do we have in David,
what part in Jesse's son?
To your tents, O Israel![y]
Look after your own house,
O David!"

So the Israelites went home.[z] 17But as for the Israelites who were living in the towns of Judah,[a] Rehoboam still ruled over them.

18King Rehoboam sent out Adoniram,[bb] who was in charge of forced labor, but all Israel stoned him to death.[c] King Rehoboam, however, managed to get into his chariot and escape to Jerusalem. 19So Israel has been in rebellion was subject to negotiation.

12:2 heard this. Heard about the death of Solomon (11:43). returned from Egypt. See 2Ch 10:2.

12:4 put a heavy yoke on us. Smoldering discontent with Solomon's heavy taxation and conscription of labor and military forces flared up into strong expression (see 4:7,22–23,27–28; 5:13–14; 9:22; see also notes on 9:15; 11:28). Conditions had progressively worsened since the early days of Solomon's rule (see 4:20).

12:6 elders who had served his father Solomon. Officials of Solomon's government such as Adoniram (4:6) and the district governors (4:7–19).

12:7 Authority in the kingdom of God is for service, not for personal aggrandizement.

12:8 young men. Young in comparison to the officials who had served Solomon. Rehoboam was 41 years old when he became king (14:21). serving him. Apparently Rehoboam had quickly established new administrative positions for friends and associates of his own generation.

12:10 My little finger is thicker than my father's waist. A proverb claiming that Rehoboam's weakest measures will be far stronger than his father's strongest measures.

12:11 scorpions. Metal-spiked leather lashes. Not only will governmental burdens on the people be increased, but the punishment for not complying with the government's directives will also be intensified.

12:14 followed the advice of the young men. Rehoboam's answer reflects a despotic spirit completely contrary to the covenantal character of Israelite kingship (see Dt 17:14–20; see also note on 1Sa 10:25).

12:15 this turn of events was from the LORD. By this statement the writer of Kings does not condone either the foolish act of Rehoboam or the revolutionary spirit of the northern tribes, but he reminds the reader that all these things occurred to bring about the divinely announced punishment on the house of David for Solomon's idolatry and breach of the covenant (11:9–13). For the relationship between divine sovereignty over all things and human responsibility for evil acts see note on 2Sa 24:1. the word the LORD had spoken to Jeroboam . . . through Ahijah. See 11:29–39.

12:16 all Israel. The northern tribes (see note on v. 1). David. The Davidic dynasty (see 2Sa 20:1 for an earlier expression of the same sentiment).

12:17 Israelites who were living in the towns of Judah. People originally from the northern tribes who had settled in Judah. They were later to be joined by others from the north who desired to serve the Lord and worship at the temple (see 2Ch 11:16–17).

12:18 Adoniram, who was in charge of forced labor. He had served in the same capacity under both David (2Sa 20:24) and Solomon (1Ki 4:6; 5:14).

12:19 this day. The time of the writing of the source from which the author of 1 Kings derived this account (see Introduction: Author, Sources and Date).

against the house of David[d] to this day.
20When all the Israelites heard that Jeroboam had returned, they sent and called him to the assembly and made him king over all Israel. Only the tribe of Judah remained loyal to the house of David.[e] 21When Rehoboam arrived in Jerusalem, he mustered the whole house of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin—a hundred and eighty thousand fighting men—to make war[f] against the house of Israel and to regain the kingdom for Rehoboam son of Solomon.
22But this word of God came to Shemaiah[g] the man of God:[h] 23"Say to Rehoboam son of Solomon king of Judah, to the whole house of Judah and Benjamin, and to the rest of the people, 24'This is what the LORD says: Do not go up to fight against your brothers, the Israelites. Go home, every one of you, for this is my doing.' " So they obeyed the word of the LORD and went home again, as the LORD had ordered.

Golden Calves at Bethel and Dan

25Then Jeroboam fortified Shechem[i] in the hill country of Ephraim and lived there. From there he went out and built up Peniel.[c][j]
26Jeroboam thought to himself, "The kingdom will now likely revert to the house of David. 27If these people go up to offer sacrifices at the temple of the LORD in Jerusalem,[k] they will again give their allegiance to their lord, Rehoboam king of Judah. They will kill me and return to King Rehoboam."
28After seeking advice, the king made two golden calves.[l] He said to the people, "It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem. Here are your gods, O Israel, who brought you up out of Egypt."[m]
29One he set up in Bethel,[n] and the other in Dan.[o] 30And this thing became a sin;[p] the people went even as far as Dan to worship the one there.
31Jeroboam built shrines[q] on high places and appointed priests[r] from all sorts of people, even though they were not Levites. 32He instituted a festival on the fifteenth day of the eighth[s] month, like the festival held in Judah, and offered sacrifices on the altar. This he did in Bethel,[t] sacrificing to the calves he had made. And at Bethel he also installed priests at the high places he had made. 33On the fifteenth day of the eighth month, a month of his own choosing, he offered sacrifices on the altar he had built at Bethel.[u] So he instituted the festival for the Israelites and went up to the altar to make offerings.

12:21 tribe of Benjamin. Although the bulk of Benjamin was aligned with the northern tribes (see note on 11:31–32), the area around Jerusalem remained under Rehoboam's control (as did the Gibeonite cities and Gezer). The northern boundary of Judah must have reached almost to Bethel (12 miles north of Jerusalem)—which Abijah, Rehoboam's son, even held for a short while (see 2Ch 13:19). a hundred and eighty thousand fighting men. Probably includes all support personnel together with those who would actually be committed to battle.

12:22 Shemaiah. Wrote a history of Rehoboam's reign (2Ch 12:15). Another of his prophecies is recorded in 2Ch 12:5–8. man of God. A common way of referring to a prophet (see, e.g., 13:1; Dt 18:18; 33:1; 1Sa 2:27; 9:9–10).

12:23 rest of the people. See note on v. 17.

12:24 went home again. Although full-scale civil war was averted, intermittent skirmishes and battles between Israel and Judah continued throughout the reigns of Rehoboam, Abijah and Asa, until political instability in Israel after the death of Baasha finally brought the conflict to a halt. Asa's son Jehoshaphat entered into an alliance with Ahab and sealed the relationship by the marriage of his son Jehoram to Ahab's daughter Athaliah (see 14:30; 15:6,16; 22:2,44; 2Ki 8:18).

12:25 Peniel. A town in Transjordan (see Ge 32:31; Jdg 8:9,17) of strategic importance for defense against the Arameans of Damascus (see 11:23–25) and the Ammonites.

12:26 revert to the house of David. Jeroboam did not have confidence in the divine promise given to him through Ahijah (see 11:38) and thus took action that forfeited the theocratic basis for his kingship.

12:28 two golden calves. Pagan gods of the Arameans and Canaanites were often represented as standing on calves or bulls as symbols of their strength and fertility (see note on Jdg 2:13). Here are your gods, O Israel, who brought you up out of Egypt. Like Aaron (Ex 32:4–5), Jeroboam attempted to combine the pagan calf symbol with the worship of the Lord, though he attempted no physical representation of the Lord—no "god" stood on the backs of his bulls.

12:29 Bethel. Located about 12 miles north of Jerusalem close to the border of Ephraim but within the territory of Benjamin (Jos 18:11–13,22). Bethel held a prominent place in the history of Israel's worship of the Lord (see Ge 12:8; 28:11–19; 35:6–7; Jdg 20:26–28; 1Sa 7:16). Dan. Located in the far north of the land near Mount Hermon. A similarly paganized worship was practiced here during the period of the judges (Jdg 18:30–31).

12:30 this thing became a sin. Jeroboam's royal policy promoted violation of the second commandment (Ex 20:4–6). It inevitably led to Israel's violation of the first commandment also (Ex 20:3) and opened the door for the entrance of fully pagan practices into Israel's religious rites (especially in the time of Ahab). Jeroboam foolishly abandoned religious principle for political expediency and in so doing forfeited the promise given him by the prophet Ahijah (see 11:38).

12:31 Jeroboam built shrines on high places. See note on 3:2. not Levites. Many of the priests and Levites of the northern kingdom migrated to Judah because Jeroboam bypassed them when appointing cult personnel in the north (see 2Ch 11:13–14).

12:32 festival held in Judah. Apparently the Feast of Tabernacles, observed in Judah on the 15th to the 21st of the seventh month (see 8:2; Lev 23:34). offered sacrifices on the altar. Jeroboam overstepped the limits of his prerogatives as king and assumed the role of a priest (see 2Ch 26:16–21).

The Man of God From Judah

13 By the word of the LORD a man of God[v] came from Judah to Bethel,[w] as Jeroboam was standing by the altar to make an offering. [2]He cried out against the altar by the word of the LORD: "O altar, altar! This is what the LORD says: 'A son named Josiah[x] will be born to the house of David. On you he will sacrifice the priests of the high places[y] who now make offerings here, and human bones will be burned on you.' " [3]That same day the man of God gave a sign:[z] "This is the sign the LORD has declared: The altar will be split apart and the ashes on it will be poured out."

[4]When King Jeroboam heard what the man of God cried out against the altar at Bethel, he stretched out his hand from the altar and said, "Seize him!" But the hand he stretched out toward the man shriveled up, so that he could not pull it back. [5]Also, the altar was split apart and its ashes poured out according to the sign given by the man of God by the word of the LORD.

[6]Then the king said to the man of God, "Intercede[a] with the LORD your God and pray for me that my hand may be restored." So the man of God interceded with the LORD, and the king's hand was restored and became as it was before.

[7]The king said to the man of God, "Come home with me and have something to eat, and I will give you a gift."[b]

[8]But the man of God answered the king, "Even if you were to give me half your possessions,[c] I would not go with you, nor would I eat bread[d] or drink water here. [9]For I was commanded by the word of the LORD: 'You must not eat bread or drink water or return by the way you came.' " [10]So he took another road and did not return by the way he had come to Bethel.

[11]Now there was a certain old prophet living in Bethel, whose sons came and told him all that the man of God had done there that day. They also told their father what he had said to the king. [12]Their father asked them, "Which way did he go?" And his sons showed him which road the man of God from Judah had taken. [13]So he said to his sons, "Saddle the donkey for me." And when they had saddled the donkey for him, he mounted it [14]and rode after the man of God. He found him sitting under an oak tree and asked, "Are you the man of God who came from Judah?"

"I am," he replied.

[15]So the prophet said to him, "Come home with me and eat."

[16]The man of God said, "I cannot turn back and go with you, nor can I eat bread[e] or drink water with you in this place. [17]I have been told by the word of the LORD: 'You must not eat bread or drink water there or return by the way you came.' "

[18]The old prophet answered, "I too am a prophet, as you are. And an angel said to me by the word of the LORD:[f] 'Bring him back with you to your house so that he may eat bread and drink water.' " (But he was lying[g] to him.) [19]So the man of God returned with him and ate and drank in his house.

[20]While they were sitting at the table, the word of the LORD came to the old prophet who had brought him back. [21]He

13:1 man of God. See note on 12:22. from Judah to Bethel. God sent a prophet from the southern kingdom to Bethel in the northern kingdom. Possibly he did this to emphasize that the divinely appointed political division (11:11,29–39; 12:15,24) was not intended to establish rival religious systems in the two kingdoms. Two centuries later the prophet Amos from Tekoa in Judah also went to Bethel in the northern kingdom to pronounce God's judgment on Jeroboam II (Am 7:10–17).

13:2 Josiah. A prophetic announcement of the rule of King Josiah, who came to the throne in Judah nearly 300 years after the division of the kingdom. will sacrifice the priests of the high places. Fulfilled in 2Ki 23:15–20.

13:3 sign. The immediate fulfillment of a short-term prediction would serve to authenticate the reliability of the longer-term prediction (see Dt 18:21–22).

13:5 its ashes poured out. Visibly demonstrating God's power to fulfill the words of the prophet (see note on v. 3) and providing a clear sign that Jeroboam's offering was unacceptable to the Lord (see Lev 6:10–11).

13:6 your God. Should not be taken as implying that Jeroboam no longer considered the Lord as his own God (cf. 2:3; Ge 27:20), but as suggesting that he recognized the prophet as his superior in the theocratic order. king's hand was restored. The Lord's gracious response to Jeroboam's request is to be seen as an additional sign (see v. 3) given to confirm the word of the prophet and to move Jeroboam to repentance.

13:7 Come home with me. Jeroboam attempted to renew his prestige in the eyes of the people by creating the impression that there was no fundamental break between himself and the prophetic order (see 1Sa 15:30 for a similar situation).

13:9 You must not. The prophet's refusal of Jeroboam's invitation rested on a previously given divine command. It underscored God's extreme displeasure with the apostate worship at Bethel.

13:18 I too am a prophet, as you are. A half-truth. It is likely that the old prophet in Bethel had faithfully proclaimed the word of the Lord in former days, but those days had long since passed.

13:19 the man of God returned with him. Neither the old prophet's lie nor his own need justified disobedience to the direct and explicit command of the Lord. His public action in this matter undermined respect for the divine authority of all he had said at Bethel.

13:20 the word of the LORD came to the old prophet. The fundamental distinction between a true and a false prophecy here becomes apparent. The false prophecy arises from one's own imagination (Jer 23:16; Eze 13:2,7) while the true prophecy is from God (Ex 4:16; Dt 18:18; Jer 1:9; 2Pe 1:21).

cried out to the man of God who had come from Judah, "This is what the LORD says: 'You have defied[h] the word of the LORD and have not kept the command the LORD your God gave you. 22You came back and ate bread and drank water in the place where he told you not to eat or drink. Therefore your body will not be buried in the tomb of your fathers.' "

23When the man of God had finished eating and drinking, the prophet who had brought him back saddled his donkey for him. 24As he went on his way, a lion[i] met him on the road and killed him, and his body was thrown down on the road, with both the donkey and the lion standing beside it. 25Some people who passed by saw the body thrown down there, with the lion standing beside the body, and they went and reported it in the city where the old prophet lived.

26When the prophet who had brought him back from his journey heard of it, he said, "It is the man of God who defied[j] the word of the LORD. The LORD has given him over to the lion, which has mauled him and killed him, as the word of the LORD had warned him."

27The prophet said to his sons, "Saddle the donkey for me," and they did so. 28Then he went out and found the body thrown down on the road, with the donkey and the lion standing beside it. The lion had neither eaten the body nor mauled the donkey. 29So the prophet picked up the body of the man of God, laid it on the donkey, and brought it back to his own city to mourn for him and bury him. 30Then he laid the body in his own tomb,[k] and they mourned over him and said, "Oh, my brother!"[l]

31After burying him, he said to his sons, "When I die, bury me in the grave where the man of God is buried; lay my bones[m] beside his bones. 32For the message he declared by the word of the LORD against the altar in Bethel and against all the shrines on the high places[n] in the towns of Samaria[o] will certainly come true."[p]

33Even after this, Jeroboam did not change his evil ways,[q] but once more appointed priests for the high places from all sorts[r] of people. Anyone who wanted to become a priest he consecrated for the high places. 34This was the sin[s] of the house of Jeroboam that led to its downfall and to its destruction[t] from the face of the earth.

Ahijah's Prophecy Against Jeroboam

14 At that time Abijah son of Jeroboam became ill, 2and Jeroboam said to his wife, "Go, disguise yourself, so you won't be recognized as the wife of Jeroboam. Then go to Shiloh. Ahijah[u] the prophet is there—the one who told me I would be king over this people. 3Take ten loaves of bread[v] with you, some cakes and a jar of honey, and go to him. He will tell you what will happen to the boy." 4So Jeroboam's wife did what he said and went to Ahijah's house in Shiloh.

Now Ahijah could not see; his sight was gone because of his age. 5But the LORD had told Ahijah, "Jeroboam's wife is coming to ask you about her son, for he is ill, and you are to give her such and 13:22 your body will not be buried in the tomb of your fathers. The man of God from Judah will die far from his own home and family burial plot.

13:24 killed him. A stern warning to Jeroboam that God takes his word very seriously. the donkey and the lion standing beside it. The remarkable fact that the donkey did not run and the lion did not attack the donkey or disturb the man's body (v. 28) clearly stamped the incident as a divine judgment. This additional miracle was reported in Bethel (v. 25) and provided yet another sign authenticating the message that the man of God from Judah had delivered at Jeroboam's altar. But Jeroboam was still not moved to repentance (v. 33).

13:30 laid the body in his own tomb. See v. 22. The old prophet did the only thing left for him to do in order to make amends for his deliberate and fatal deception.

13:31 grave where the man of God is buried. The old prophet chose in this way to identify himself with the message that the man of God from Judah had given at Bethel.

13:32 Samaria. As the capital of the northern kingdom, Samaria is used to designate the entire territory of the northern ten tribes (see note on 16:24). However, Samaria was not established until about 50 years after this (16:23–24). The use of the name here reflects the perspective of the author of Kings (see note on Ge 14:14 for a similar instance of the use of a place-name—Dan—of later origin than the historical incident with which it is connected).

13:33 appointed priests . . . from all sorts of people. See 12:31 and note.

13:34 sin. The sin in 12:30 was the establishment of a paganized worship; here it is persistence in this worship with all its attendant evils.

14:1 At that time. Probably indicating a time not far removed from the event narrated in ch. 13. Abijah. Means "My (divine) Father is the LORD," suggesting that Jeroboam, at least to some degree, desired to be regarded as a worshiper of the Lord.

14:2 disguise yourself. Jeroboam's attempt to mislead the prophet Ahijah into giving a favorable prophecy concerning the sick boy indicates (1) his consciousness of his own guilt, (2) his superstition that prophecy worked in a magical way and (3) his confused but real respect for the power of the Lord's prophet. who told me I would be king over this people. See 11:29–39.

14:3 ten loaves of bread. The gift of an ordinary farmer (like Saul in 1Sa 9:7–8) rather than that of a king (see 2Ki 8:7–9).

14:5 the LORD had told Ahijah. See 1Sa 9:15–17; 2Ki 6:32 for other examples of divine revelation concerning an imminent visit.

such an answer. When she arrives, she will pretend to be someone else."

6So when Ahijah heard the sound of her footsteps at the door, he said, "Come in, wife of Jeroboam. Why this pretense?[w] I have been sent to you with bad news. 7Go, tell Jeroboam that this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says:[x] 'I raised you up from among the people and made you a leader[y] over my people Israel. 8I tore[z] the kingdom away from the house of David and gave it to you, but you have not been like my servant David, who kept my commands and followed me with all his heart, doing only what was right[a] in my eyes. 9You have done more evil[b] than all who lived before you.[c] You have made for yourself other gods, idols[d] made of metal; you have provoked[e] me to anger and thrust me behind your back.[f]

10" 'Because of this, I am going to bring disaster[g] on the house of Jeroboam. I will cut off from Jeroboam every last male in Israel—slave or free.[h] I will burn up the house of Jeroboam as one burns dung, until it is all gone.[i] 11Dogs[j] will eat those belonging to Jeroboam who die in the city, and the birds of the air[k] will feed on those who die in the country. The LORD has spoken!'

12"As for you, go back home. When you set foot in your city, the boy will die. 13All Israel will mourn for him and bury him. He is the only one belonging to Jeroboam who will be buried, because he is the only one in the house of Jeroboam in whom the LORD, the God of Israel, has found anything good.[l]

14"The LORD will raise up for himself a king over Israel who will cut off the family of Jeroboam. This is the day! What? Yes, even now.[d] 15And the LORD will strike Israel, so that it will be like a reed swaying in the water. He will uproot[m] Israel from this good land that he gave to their forefathers and scatter them beyond the River,[e] because they provoked[n] the LORD to anger by making Asherah[o] poles.[f] 16And he will give Israel up because of the sins[p] Jeroboam has committed and has caused Israel to commit."

17Then Jeroboam's wife got up and left and went to Tirzah.[q] As soon as she stepped over the threshold of the house, the boy died. 18They buried him, and all Israel mourned for him, as the LORD had said through his servant the prophet Ahijah.

19The other events of Jeroboam's reign, his wars and how he ruled, are written in the book of the annals of the

14:6 Come in, wife of Jeroboam. Ahijah's recognition of the woman and his knowledge of the purpose of her visit served to authenticate his message as truly being the word of the Lord.

14:7–8 raised you ... made you a leader ... tore the kingdom away. Jeroboam is first reminded of the gracious acts of the Lord in his behalf (see 11:26,30–38).

14:8 you have not been like my servant David. Jeroboam had not responded to God's gracious acts and had ignored the requirements given when Ahijah told him he would become king (see 11:38).

14:9 all who lived before you. Jeroboam's wickedness surpassed that of Saul, David and Solomon in that he implemented a paganized system of worship for the entire populace of the northern kingdom. other gods. See notes on 12:28,30.

14:10 slave or free. Without exception (see 21:21; 2Ki 9:8; 14:26).

14:11 birds of the air will feed on those who die in the country. See note on 16:4. The covenant curse of Dt 28:26 is applied to Jeroboam's male descendants, none of whom will receive an honorable burial.

14:12 boy. The Hebrew for this word allows for wide latitude in age (the same term is used for the young advisers of Rehoboam; see 12:8 and note). will die. Although the death of Abijah was a severe disappointment to Jeroboam and his wife, it was an act of God's mercy to the prince, sparing him the disgrace and suffering that were to come on his father's house (see Isa 57:1–2).

14:13 All Israel will mourn for him and bury him. Perhaps an indication that Abijah was the crown prince, and was well known and loved by the people. buried. He alone of Jeroboam's descendants would receive an honorable burial.

14:14 a king ... who will cut off the family of Jeroboam. Ahijah looked beyond the brief reign of Nadab, Jeroboam's son (15:25–26), to the revolt of Baasha (15:27–16:7).

14:15 like a reed swaying in the water. Descriptive of the instability of the royal house in the northern kingdom, which was to be characterized by assassinations and revolts (see 15:27–28; 16:16; 2Ki 9:24; 15:10,14,25,30). He will uproot Israel. The list of curses for covenant breaking found in Deuteronomy climaxes in forced exile for God's people from the land of promise (Dt 28:63–64; 29:25–28). Asherah poles. See NIV text note. Ahijah perceived that Jeroboam's use of golden bulls in worship would inevitably lead to the adoption of other elements of Canaanite nature religion. The goddess Asherah was the consort of El (see notes on Ex 34:13; Jdg 2:13), and the Asherah poles were probably wooden representations of the goddess (see note on Ex 34:13).

14:16 sins Jeroboam has committed. See 12:26–33; 13:33–34. caused Israel to commit. A phrase repeated often in 1,2 Kings (e.g., 15:26; 16:2,13,19,26).

14:17 Tirzah. Used by the kings of Israel as the royal city until Omri purchased and built up Samaria to serve that purpose (16:24). It is probably modern Tell el-Far'ah, about seven miles north of Shechem (see note on SS 6:4).

14:19 his wars. See v. 30; 15:6; 2Ch 13:2–20. annals of the kings of Israel. A record of the reigns of the kings of the northern kingdom used by the author of 1,2 Kings and apparently accessible to those interested in further details of the history of the reigns of Israelite kings. It is not to be confused with the canonical book of 1,2 Chronicles, which was written later than 1,2 Kings and contains the history of the reigns of the kings of Judah only (see Introduction: Author, Sources and Date).

kings of Israel. [20]He reigned for twenty-two years and then rested with his fathers. And Nadab his son succeeded him as king.

Rehoboam King of Judah

14:21,25–31pp — 2Ch 12:9–16

[21]Rehoboam son of Solomon was king in Judah. He was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel in which to put his Name. His mother's name was Naamah; she was an Ammonite.[r]

[22]Judah[s] did evil in the eyes of the LORD. By the sins they committed they stirred up his jealous anger[t] more than their fathers had done. [23]They also set up for themselves high places, sacred stones[u] and Asherah poles[v] on every high hill and under every spreading tree.[w] [24]There were even male shrine prostitutes[x] in the land; the people engaged in all the detestable[y] practices of the nations the LORD had driven out before the Israelites.

[25]In the fifth year of King Rehoboam, Shishak king of Egypt attacked[z] Jerusalem. [26]He carried off the treasures of the temple[a] of the LORD and the treasures of the royal palace. He took everything, including all the gold shields[b] Solomon had made. [27]So King Rehoboam made bronze shields to replace them and assigned these to the commanders of the guard on duty at the entrance to the royal palace.[c] [28]Whenever the king went to the LORD's temple, the guards bore the shields, and afterward they returned them to the guardroom.

[29]As for the other events of Rehoboam's reign, and all he did, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah? [30]There was continual warfare[d] between Rehoboam and Jeroboam. [31]And Rehoboam rested with his fathers and was buried with them in the City of David. His mother's name was Naamah; she was an Ammonite.[e] And Abijah[g] his son succeeded him as king.

Abijah King of Judah

15:1–2,6–8pp —2Ch 13:1–2,22–14:1

15 In the eighteenth year of the reign of Jeroboam son of Nebat, Abijah[h] became king of Judah, [2]and he reigned in Jerusalem three years. His mother's name was Maacah[f] daughter of Abishalom.[i]

[3]He committed all the sins his father had done before him; his heart was not fully devoted[g] to the LORD his God, as the heart of David his forefather had

14:20 twenty-two years. 930–909 B.C. rested with his fathers. See note on 1:21. Nadab. See 15:25–32.

14:21 forty-one years old. Rehoboam was born shortly before David's death (see 11:42; see also note on 2:24). seventeen years. 930–913 B.C. city the LORD had chosen . . . to put his Name. See 9:3; Ps 132:13.

14:22 Judah did evil in the eyes of the LORD. The reign of Rehoboam is described in greater detail in 2Ch 11–12. The priests and Levites who immigrated to Judah from the north led the country to follow the way of David and Solomon for the first three years of Rehoboam's reign (see 12:24; 2Ch 11:17). In later years Rehoboam and the people of Judah turned away from the Lord (2Ch 12:1).

14:23 high places. See note on 3:2. sacred stones. Stone pillars, bearing a religious significance, that were placed next to the altars. The use of such pillars was common among the Canaanites and was explicitly forbidden to the Israelites in the Mosaic law (Ex 23:24; Lev 26:1; Dt 16:21–22). It is likely that the pillars were intended to be representations of the deity (2Ki 3:2). For legitimate uses of stone pillars see Ge 28:18; 31:45; Ex 24:4. Asherah poles. See note on v. 15.

14:24 male shrine prostitutes. Ritual prostitution was an important feature of Canaanite fertility religion. The Israelites had been warned by Moses not to engage in this abominable practice (see Dt 23:17–18; see also 1Ki 15:12; 2Ki 23:7; Hos 4:14).

14:25 fifth year of King Rehoboam. 926 B.C. Shishak. See notes on 3:1; 11:40. attacked Jerusalem. Shishak's invasion is described in more detail in 2Ch 12:2–4 and is also attested in a victory inscription found on the walls of the temple of Amun in Thebes, where numerous cities that Shishak plundered in both Judah and the northern kingdom are listed. 2Ch 12:5–8 indicates that fear of the impending invasion led to a temporary reformation in Judah.

14:26 gold shields Solomon had made. See 10:16–17.

14:27 bronze shields. The reduced realm could not match the great wealth Solomon had accumulated in Jerusalem (see 10:21,23,27).

14:29 annals of the kings of Judah. A record of the reigns of the kings of Judah similar to the one for the kings of the northern kingdom (see note on v. 19; see also Introduction: Author, Sources and Date).

14:30 continual warfare. See notes on v. 19; 12:24.

14:31 rested with his fathers. See note on 1:21.

15:1 eighteenth year of the reign of Jeroboam. The first of numerous synchronisms in 1,2 Kings between the reigns of the kings in the north and those in Judah (see, e.g., vv. 9,25,33; 16:8,15,29; see also Introduction: Chronology). Abijah. See note on 14:1. Both Rehoboam and Jeroboam had sons by this name.

15:2 three years. 913–910 B.C. Maacah daughter of Abishalom. See NIV text note. Abijah's mother is said to be a daughter of Uriel of Gibeah in 2Ch 13:2. It is likely that Maacah was the granddaughter of Absalom and the daughter of a marriage between Tamar (Absalom's daughter; see 2Sa 14:27) and Uriel. Absalom's mother was also named Maacah (2Sa 3:3).

15:3 sins his father had done. See 14:22–24. not fully devoted to the LORD his God, as . . . David his forefather had been. Although David fell into grievous sin, his heart was never divided between serving the Lord and serving the nature deities of the Canaanites.

been. [4]Nevertheless, for David's sake the LORD his God gave him a lamp[h] in Jerusalem by raising up a son to succeed him and by making Jerusalem strong. [5]For David had done what was right in the eyes of the LORD and had not failed to keep[i] any of the LORD's commands all the days of his life—except in the case of Uriah[j] the Hittite.

[6]There was war[k] between Rehoboam[l] and Jeroboam throughout ⌊Abijah's⌋ lifetime. [7]As for the other events of Abijah's reign, and all he did, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah? There was war between Abijah and Jeroboam. [8]And Abijah rested with his fathers and was buried in the City of David. And Asa his son succeeded him as king.

[9]In the twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Asa became king of Judah, [10]and he reigned in Jerusalem forty-one years. His grandmother's name was Maacah[t] daughter of Abishalom.

[11]Asa did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, as his father David[m] had done. [12]He expelled the male shrine prostitutes[n] from the land and got rid of all the idols[o] his fathers had made. [13]He even deposed his grandmother Maacah[p] from her position as queen mother,[q] because she had made a repulsive Asherah pole. Asa cut the pole down[r] and burned it in the Kidron Valley. [14]Although he did not remove[s] the high places, Asa's heart was fully committed[t] to the LORD all his life. [15]He brought into the temple of the LORD the silver and gold and the articles that he and his father had dedicated.[u]

[16]There was war[v] between Asa and Baasha king of Israel throughout their reigns. [17]Baasha king of Israel went up against Judah and fortified Ramah[w] to prevent anyone from leaving or entering the territory of Asa king of Judah.

[18]Asa then took all the silver and gold that was left in the treasuries of the LORD's temple[x] and of his own palace. He entrusted it to his officials and sent[y] them to Ben-Hadad[z] son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezion, the king of Aram, who was ruling in Damascus. [19]"Let there be a

From 2Ch 13 it is clear that the chronic hostile relations of preceding years flared into serious combat in which Abijah defeated Jeroboam and took several towns from him, including Bethel (2Ch 13:19).

15:13 deposed his grandmother Maacah. 2Ch 14:1–15:16 indicates a progression in Asa's reform over a period of years. Although Asa had destroyed pagan idols and altars early in his reign (2Ch 14:2–3), it was not until after a victory over Zerah the Cushite (2Ch 14:8–15) that Asa responded to the message of the prophet Azariah son of Oded by calling for a covenant renewal assembly in Jerusalem in the 15th year of his reign (2Ch 15:10). After this assembly Asa deposed his grandmother Maacah because of her idolatry (2Ch 15:16). made a repulsive Asherah pole. See note on 14:15. It appears that Maacah's action was a deliberate attempt to counter Asa's reform.
15:14 did not remove the high places. The reference here and in 2Ch 15:17 is to those high places where the Lord was worshiped (for the question of legitimacy of worship of the Lord at high places see note on 3:2). When 2Ch 14:3 indicates that Asa removed the high places, it is to be taken as a reference to the high places that were centers of pagan Canaanite worship (see 2Ch 17:6; 20:33 for the same distinction). This same statement of qualified approval that is made of Asa is made of five other kings of Judah prior to the time of Hezekiah (Jehoshaphat, 22:43; Joash, 2Ki 12:3; Amaziah, 2Ki 14:4; Azariah, 2Ki 15:4; Jotham, 2Ki 15:35). fully committed to the LORD. See note on v. 3.
15:15 silver and gold and the articles. Most likely consisting of war booty that Abijah had taken from Jeroboam (2Ch 13) and that Asa acquired from Zerah the Cushite (2Ch 14:8–15).
15:16 war between Asa and Baasha . . . throughout their reigns. A reference to the chronic hostile relations that had existed ever since the division of the kingdom, rather than to full-scale combat (see notes on v. 7; 12:24; see also 2Ch 15:19).
15:17 fortified Ramah. Baasha had recaptured the territory previously taken from Jeroboam by Abijah (see note on v. 7; see also 2Ch 13:19) since Ramah was located south of Bethel and only about five miles north of Jerusalem. prevent anyone from leaving or entering the territory of Asa. See 2Ch 15:9–10.
15:18 silver and gold that was left. That which remained after the plundering of Jerusalem by Shishak of Egypt (see 14:25). Hezion. It is not clear whether Hezion is to be identified with Rezon of Damascus (see 11:23–25) or regarded as the founder of a new dynasty.
15:19 treaty . . . between my father and your father. A reference to a previously unmentioned treaty between Abijah and Tabrimmon of Aram. When Tabrimmon died, Baasha succeeded in establishing a treaty with his successor Ben-Hadad. Asa saw no hope for success against Baasha without the assistance provided by a renewal of the old treaty with Aram. Although his plan seemed to be successful, it was condemned by Hanani the prophet as a foolish act and a denial of reliance on the Lord (see 2Ch 16:7–10). The true theocratic king was never to fear his enemies but to trust in the God of the covenant for security and protection (see note on 1Sa 17:11). Ahaz was later to follow Asa's bad example and seek Assyria's help when he was attacked by Israel and Aram (see 2Ki 16:5–9; Isa 7).

treaty[a] between me and you," he said, "as there was between my father and your father. See, I am sending you a gift of silver and gold. Now break your treaty with Baasha king of Israel so he will withdraw from me."

[20]Ben-Hadad agreed with King Asa and sent the commanders of his forces against the towns of Israel. He conquered[b] Ijon, Dan, Abel Beth Maacah and all Kinnereth in addition to Naphtali. [21]When Baasha heard this, he stopped building Ramah[c] and withdrew to Tirzah.[d] [22]Then King Asa issued an order to all Judah—no one was exempt—and they carried away from Ramah[e] the stones and timber Baasha had been using there. With them King Asa[f] built up Geba[g] in Benjamin, and also Mizpah.[h]

[23]As for all the other events of Asa's reign, all his achievements, all he did and the cities he built, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah? In his old age, however, his feet became diseased. [24]Then Asa rested with his fathers and was buried with them in the city of his father David. And Jehoshaphat[i] his son succeeded him as king.

Nadab King of Israel

[25]Nadab son of Jeroboam became king of Israel in the second year of Asa king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel two years. [26]He did evil[j] in the eyes of the LORD, walking in the ways of his father[k] and in his sin, which he had caused Israel to commit.

[27]Baasha son of Ahijah of the house of Issachar plotted against him, and he struck him down[l] at Gibbethon,[m] a Philistine town, while Nadab and all Israel were besieging it. [28]Baasha killed Nadab in the third year of Asa king of Judah and succeeded him as king.

[29]As soon as he began to reign, he killed Jeroboam's whole family.[n] He did not leave Jeroboam anyone that breathed, but destroyed them all, according to the word of the LORD given through his servant Ahijah the Shilonite— [30]because of the sins[o] Jeroboam had committed and had caused[p] Israel to commit, and because he provoked the LORD, the God of Israel, to anger.

[31]As for the other events of Nadab's reign, and all he did, are they not written in the book of the annals[q] of the kings of Israel? [32]There was war[r] between Asa and Baasha king of Israel throughout their reigns.

Baasha King of Israel

[33]In the third year of Asa king of Judah, Baasha son of Ahijah became king of all Israel in Tirzah,[s] and he reigned twenty-four years. [34]He did evil[t] in the eyes of the LORD, walking in the ways of Jeroboam and in his sin, which he had caused Israel to commit.

15:20 Naphtali. The cities that Ben-Hadad conquered in Naphtali were of particular importance because the major trade routes from Damascus going west to Tyre and southwest through the plain of Jezreel to the coastal plain and Egypt transversed this area. This same territory was later seized by the Assyrian ruler Tiglath-Pileser III (2Ki 15:29).
15:21 Tirzah. See note on 14:17.
15:22 order to all Judah. Asa's action is reminiscent of the labor force conscripted by Solomon (5:13–14; 11:28). Geba . . . Mizpah. Asa established two border fortresses to check Baasha's desire to expand his territory southward. Geba was east of Ramah, and Mizpah was southwest of Ramah.

15:25 second year of Asa. See note on v. 1. The second year of Asa of Judah corresponded to the 22nd and last year of Jeroboam of Israel (see v. 9; 14:20). two years. 909–908 B.C.
15:26 his sin, which he had caused Israel to commit. Jeroboam's sin (see note on 14:16). Although Abijah of Judah occupied Bethel during the reign of Jeroboam (see note on v. 7), it is probable that the paganized worship Jeroboam initiated was continued elsewhere until control of Bethel was regained by Baasha.
15:27 Gibbethon. A town located between Jerusalem and Joppa (probably a few miles west of Gezer) in the territory originally assigned to Dan (Jos 19:43–45). This Levitical city (Jos 21:23) probably fell into Philistine hands at the time of the Philistine expansion in the period of the judges.
15:28 third year of Asa. 908 B.C. (see note on v. 10). It is likely that Baasha was a commander in Nadab's army and was able to secure the support of the military for his revolt.

15:32 war . . . throughout their reigns. See note on v. 16. The demise of Jeroboam's dynasty did not improve relations between the two kingdoms.
15:33 third year of Asa. 908 B.C. (see note on v. 10). Tirzah. See note on 14:17. twenty-four years. 908–886 B.C. His official years were counted as 24, though his actual years were 23 (see 16:8; see also Introduction: Chronology).
15:34 his sin, which he had caused Israel to commit. See note on 14:16. The assessment of Baasha's reign indicates no improvement over the reign of Nadab, whom he replaced (see v. 26).
16:1 Jehu. Like his father before him (see 2Ch 16:7–10), Jehu brought God's word of condemnation to a king. Much as the man of God from Judah (see note on 13:1) and later the prophet Amos, he was sent from the south to a northern king. His ministry continued for about 50 years until the reign of Jehoshaphat of Judah (2Ch 19:2; 20:34).
16:2 I lifted you up from the dust. Cf. 14:7. walked in the [4]Dogs[b] will eat those belonging to Baasha who die in the city, and the birds of the air[c] will feed on those who die in the country."

[5]As for the other events of Baasha's reign, what he did and his achievements, are they not written in the book of the annals[d] of the kings of Israel? [6]Baasha rested with his fathers and was buried in Tirzah.[e] And Elah his son succeeded him as king.

[7]Moreover, the word of the LORD came[f] through the prophet Jehu[g] son of Hanani to Baasha and his house, because of all the evil he had done in the eyes of the LORD, provoking him to anger by the things he did, and becoming like the house of Jeroboam—and also because he destroyed it.

Elah King of Israel

[8]In the twenty-sixth year of Asa king of Judah, Elah son of Baasha became king of Israel, and he reigned in Tirzah two years.

[9]Zimri, one of his officials, who had command of half his chariots, plotted against him. Elah was in Tirzah at the time, getting drunk[h] in the home of Arza, the man in charge[i] of the palace at Tirzah. [10]Zimri came in, struck him down and killed him in the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah. Then he succeeded him as king.[j]

[11]As soon as he began to reign and was seated on the throne, he killed off Baasha's whole family.[k] He did not spare a single male, whether relative or friend. [12]So Zimri destroyed the whole family of Baasha, in accordance with the word of the LORD spoken against Baasha through the prophet Jehu— [13]because of all the sins Baasha and his son Elah had committed and had caused Israel to commit, so that they provoked the LORD, the God of Israel, to anger by their worthless idols.[l]

[14]As for the other events of Elah's reign, and all he did, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Israel?

Zimri King of Israel

[15]In the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, Zimri reigned in Tirzah seven days. The army was encamped near Gibbethon,[m] a Philistine town. [16]When the Israelites in the camp heard that Zimri had plotted against the king and murdered him, they proclaimed Omri, the commander of the army, king over Israel that very day there in the camp. [17]Then Omri and all the Israelites with him withdrew from Gibbethon and laid siege to Tirzah. [18]When Zimri saw that the city was taken, he went into the citadel of the royal palace and set the palace on fire around him. So he died, [19]because of the sins he had committed, doing evil in the eyes of the LORD and walking in the ways of Jeroboam and in the sin he had committed and had caused Israel to commit.

[20]As for the other events of Zimri's reign, and the rebellion he carried out, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Israel?

16:5 his achievements. For the purposes of the writer of Kings (see Introduction: Theme), it was not necessary to list any of Baasha's achievements. He may have been a very successful ruler from a military-political point of view. annals of the kings of Israel. See note on 14:19.

16:6 rested with his fathers. See note on 1:21.

son of Ginath for king, and the other half supported Omri. 22But Omri's followers proved stronger than those of Tibni son of Ginath. So Tibni died and Omri became king.

23In the thirty-first year of Asa king of Judah, Omri became king of Israel, and he reigned twelve years, six of them in Tirzah.[n] 24He bought the hill of Samaria from Shemer for two talents[k] of silver and built a city on the hill, calling it Samaria,[o] after Shemer, the name of the former owner of the hill.

25But Omri did evil[p] in the eyes of the LORD and sinned more than all those before him. 26He walked in all the ways of Jeroboam son of Nebat and in his sin, which he had caused[q] Israel to commit, so that they provoked the LORD, the God of Israel, to anger by their worthless idols.[r]

Ahab Becomes King of Israel

29In the thirty-eighth year of Asa king of Judah, Ahab son of Omri became king of Israel, and he reigned in Samaria over Israel twenty-two years. 30Ahab son of Omri did more[t] evil in the eyes of the LORD than any of those before him. 31He not only considered it trivial to commit the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, but he also married[u] Jezebel daughter[v] of Ethbaal king of the Sidonians, and began to serve Baal[w] and worship him. 32He set up an altar[x] for Baal in the temple[y] of Baal that he built in Samaria. 33Ahab also made an Asherah pole[z] and did more[a] to provoke the LORD, the God of Israel, to anger than did all the kings of Israel before him.

[k] 24 That is, about 150 pounds (about 70 kilograms)

16:22 Tibni died. It is not clear whether Tibni's death was due to natural causes or the result of the military struggle for control of the land.

16:23 thirty-first year of Asa. 880 B.C. (see note on 15:10; see also Introduction: Chronology). became king. Became sole king. The struggle for control of the northern kingdom between Omri and Tibni lasted four years (compare this verse with v. 15). twelve years. 885–874. The 12 years of Omri's reign include the four years of struggle between Omri and Tibni (cf. vv. 15,29). Tirzah. See note on 14:17. Omri had been able to capture Tirzah in a matter of days (vv. 15–19).

16:24 Samaria. Seven miles northwest of Shechem, Samaria rose about 300 feet above the surrounding fertile valleys (referred to as a "wreath" in Isa 28:1). The original owner may have been persuaded to sell his property (see 21:3) on the condition that the city be named after him (cf. Ru 4:5). The site provided an ideal location for a nearly impregnable capital city for the northern kingdom (see 20:1–21; 2Ki 6:25; 18:9–10). With the establishment of this royal city, the kings of the north came to possess a royal citadel-city like that of the Davidic dynasty (see 2Sa 5:6–12). Archaeologists have discovered that Omri and Ahab also adorned it with magnificent structures to rival those Solomon had erected in Jerusalem. From this time on, the northern kingdom could be designated by the name of the royal city, just as the southern kingdom could be designated by its capital, Jerusalem (see, e.g., 21:1; Isa 10:10; Am 6:1).

16:25 sinned more than all. Omri's alliance with Ethbaal of Tyre and Sidon (Omri's son Ahab married Ethbaal's daughter Jezebel to seal the alliance) led to widespread Baal worship in the northern kingdom (vv. 31–33) and eventually to the near extinction of the Davidic line in the southern kingdom (see 2Ki 11; see also note on 2Ki 8:18). This marriage alliance must have been established in the early years of Omri's reign (see note on v. 23), perhaps to strengthen his hand against Tibni (see vv. 21–22).

16:26 sin, which he had caused Israel to commit. See 12:26–33; see also note on 14:16. worthless idols. See note on v. 13.

16:27 things he achieved. Omri's military and political accomplishments were not of importance for the purposes of the writer of Kings (see Introduction: Theme). Apart from establishing Samaria as the capital of the northern kingdom, about all that is known of him is that he organized a governmental structure in the northern kingdom that was in place during the rule of his son, Ahab (see 20:14–15). Omri's dynasty, however, endured for over 40 years. A century and a half later (732 B.C.) Tiglath-Pileser III of Assyria referred to Israel as the "house of Omri" in his annals. annals of the kings of Israel. See note on 14:19.

16:28 rested with his fathers. See note on 1:21.

16:29 thirty-eighth year of Asa. 874 B.C. (see notes on 15:9–10). twenty-two years. 874–853 B.C.

16:30 more evil . . . than any. Omri sinned more than those before him (see v. 25), and Ahab sinned more than his father had. Evil became progressively worse in the royal house of the northern kingdom. Nearly a third of the narrative material in 1,2 Kings concerns the 34-year period of the reigns of Ahab and his two sons, Ahaziah and Joram. In this period the struggle between the kingdom of God (championed especially by Elijah and Elisha) and the kingdom of Satan was especially intense.

16:31 married Jezebel daughter of Ethbaal. The Jewish historian Josephus refers to Ethbaal as a king-priest who ruled over Tyre and Sidon for 32 years. Ahab had already married Jezebel during the reign of his father (see note on v. 25). Baal. Perhaps Melqart, the local manifestation of Baal in Tyre, whose worship was brought to Israel by Jezebel. It is probable that Ahab participated in the worship of this deity at the time of his marriage. The names of Ahab's sons (Ahaziah, "The LORD grasps"; Joram, "The LORD is exalted") suggest that Ahab did not intend to replace the worship of the Lord with the worship of Baal but to worship both deities in a syncretistic way.

16:32 temple of Baal that he built in Samaria. Ahab imported the Phoenician Baal worship of his wife Jezebel into the northern kingdom by constructing a temple of Baal in Samaria, just as Solomon had erected the temple of the Lord in Jerusalem. This pagan temple and its sacred stone (see note on 14:23) were later destroyed by Jehu (2Ki 10:21–27).

16:33 Asherah pole. See note on 14:15. than did all the kings of Israel. See note on v. 30. Ahab elevated the worship of Baal to an official status in the northern kingdom at the beginning of his reign.

34In Ahab's time, Hiel of Bethel rebuilt Jericho. He laid its foundations at the cost of his firstborn son Abiram, and he set up its gates at the cost of his youngest son Segub, in accordance with the word of the LORD spoken by Joshua son of Nun.[b]

Elijah Fed by Ravens

17 Now Elijah[c] the Tishbite, from Tishbe[1] in Gilead,[d] said to Ahab, "As the LORD, the God of Israel, lives, whom I serve, there will be neither dew nor rain[e] in the next few years except at my word."

2Then the word of the LORD came to Elijah: 3"Leave here, turn eastward and hide[f] in the Kerith Ravine, east of the Jordan. 4You will drink from the brook, and I have ordered the ravens[g] to feed you there."

5So he did what the LORD had told him. He went to the Kerith Ravine, east of the Jordan, and stayed there. 6The ravens brought him bread and meat in the morning[h] and bread and meat in the evening, and he drank from the brook.

The Widow at Zarephath

7Some time later the brook dried up because there had been no rain in the land. 8Then the word of the LORD came to him: 9"Go at once to Zarephath[i] of Sidon and stay there. I have commanded a widow[j] in that place to supply you with food." 10So he went to Zarephath. When he came to the town gate, a widow was there gathering sticks. He called to her and asked, "Would you bring me a little water in a jar so I may have a drink?"[k] 11As she was going to get it, he called, "And bring me, please, a piece of bread."

12"As surely as the LORD your God lives," she replied, "I don't have any bread—only a handful of flour in a jar and a little oil[l] in a jug. I am gathering a few sticks to take home and make a meal for myself and my son, that we may eat it—and die."

13Elijah said to her, "Don't be afraid.

16:34 rebuilt Jericho. Does not mean that Jericho had remained uninhabited since its destruction by Joshua (see Jos 18:21; Jdg 1:16; 3:13; 2Sa 10:5), but that it had remained an unwalled town or village. During the rule of Ahab, Hiel fortified the city by reconstructing its walls and gates (see 9:17 for a similar use of "rebuild"). This violated God's intention that the ruins of Jericho (Jos 6:26) be a perpetual reminder that Israel had received the land of Canaan from God's hand as a gift of grace. Accordingly, Hiel suffered the curse Joshua had pronounced.

17:1 Elijah. Elijah's name (meaning "The LORD is my God") was the essence of his message (18:21,39). He was sent to oppose vigorously, by word and action, both Baal worship and those who engaged in it. from Tishbe in Gilead. See NIV text note. Gilead was in the northern Transjordan area. The precise location of Tishbe is unknown. whom I serve. Lit. "before whom I stand," a technical expression indicating one who stands in the service of a king. Kings and priests in Israel were supposed to be anointed to serve as official representatives of the Lord, Israel's Great King, leading Israel in the way of faithfulness to the Lord and channeling his covenantal care and blessings to them. Since the days of Jeroboam the northern kingdom had not had such a priest (12:31), and its kings had all been unfaithful. Now, in the great crisis brought on by Ahab's promotion of Baal worship, the Lord sent Elijah (and after him Elisha) to serve as his representative (instead of king and priest), much as Moses had done long ago. The author of Kings highlights many parallels between the ministries of Elijah and Moses. neither dew nor rain. The drought was not only a divine judgment on a nation that had turned to idolatry, but also a demonstration that even though Baal was considered the god of fertility and lord of the rain clouds, he was powerless to give rain (cf. Lev 26:3–4; Hos 2:5,8).

17:3 Leave here. With this command God withdrew his prophet from his land and people to leave them isolated from his word and blessings. The absence of the prophet confirmed and intensified the judgment. Kerith Ravine, east of the Jordan. The location of Kerith is uncertain. Perhaps it was a gorge formed by one of the northern tributaries to the Yarmuk River.

17:4 ravens to feed you there. The Lord's faithful servant Elijah was miraculously sustained beyond the Jordan (like Israel in the desert in the time of Moses) while Israel in the promised land was going hungry—a clear testimony against Israel's reliance on Baal. The fact that Elijah was sustained in a miraculous way apart from living among his own people demonstrated that the word of God was not dependent on the people, but the people were dependent on the word of God.

17:9 Zarephath of Sidon. A coastal town located between Tyre and Sidon in the territory ruled by Jezebel's father Ethbaal (16:31). Elijah is commanded to go and reside in the heart of the very land from which the Baal worship now being promoted in Israel had come. I have commanded a widow in that place to supply you with food. Elijah, as the bearer of God's word, was now to be sustained by human hands, but they were the hands of a poor widow facing starvation (v. 12). She was, moreover, from outside the circle of God's own people (cf. Lk 4:25–26)—in fact, she was from the pagan nation that at that time (much like Egypt earlier and Babylon later) represented the forces arrayed against God's kingdom.

17:10 So he went. Elijah's reliance on the Lord demonstrated the faith in the Lord that Israel should have been living by.

17:12 As surely as the LORD your God lives. Her oath in the name of the Lord was either an accommodation to Elijah, whom she recognized as an Israelite (see notes on 5:7; 10:9), or a genuine expression of previous knowledge of and commitment to the God of Israel.

17:13 first make a small cake of bread for me ... then

ELIJAH

NAME MEANS: "My God is the LORD"
OCCUPATION: Prophet to Israel
BEST KNOWN FOR:

- being one of Israel's most famous prophets
- his brave challenge to Baal's prophets on Mount Carmel
- his ascent to heaven in a whirlwind

Go home and do as you have said. But first make a small cake of bread for me from what you have and bring it to me, and then make something for yourself and your son. 14For this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: 'The jar of flour will not be used up and the jug of oil will not run dry until the day the LORD gives rain[m] on the land.' "

15She went away and did as Elijah had told her. So there was food every day for Elijah and for the woman and her family. 16For the jar of flour was not used up and the jug of oil did not run dry, in keeping with the word of the LORD spoken by Elijah.

17Some time later the son of the woman who owned the house became ill. He grew worse and worse, and finally stopped breathing. 18She said to Elijah, "What do you have against me, man of God? Did you come to remind me of my sin[n] and kill my son?"

19"Give me your son," Elijah replied. He took him from her arms, carried him to the upper room where he was staying, and laid him on his bed. 20Then he cried[o] out to the LORD, "O LORD my God, have you brought tragedy also upon this widow I am staying with, by causing her son to die?" 21Then he stretched[p] himself out on the boy three times and cried to the LORD, "O LORD my God, let this boy's life return to him!"

22The LORD heard Elijah's cry, and the boy's life returned to him, and he lived. 23Elijah picked up the child and carried him down from the room into the house. He gave him to his mother[q] and said, "Look, your son is alive!"

24Then the woman said to Elijah, "Now I know[r] that you are a man of God[s] and that the word of the LORD from your mouth is the truth."[t]

Elijah and Obadiah

18 After a long time, in the third[u] year, the word of the LORD came to Elijah: "Go and present[v] yourself to Ahab, and I will send rain[w] on the land." 2So Elijah went to present himself to Ahab.

Now the famine was severe[x] in Samaria, 3and Ahab had summoned Obadiah, who was in charge[y] of his palace. (Obadiah was a devout believer[z] in the LORD. 4While Jezebel[a] was killing off the LORD's prophets, Obadiah had taken a hundred prophets and hidden[b] them in two caves, fifty in each, and had supplied[c] them with food and water.) 5Ahab had said to Obadiah, "Go through make something for yourself and your son. As a prophet, Elijah's words are the command of the Lord. The widow is asked to give all she has to sustain the bearer of the word of God. The demand to give her all is in essence the demand of the covenant that Israel had broken.

17:14 what the LORD, the God of Israel, says. Elijah can tell the widow "Don't be afraid" (v. 13) because the demand of the covenant is not given without the promise of the covenant. The Lord does not ask more than he promises to give.

17:15 did as Elijah had told her. By an act of faith the woman received the promised blessing. Israel had forsaken the covenant and followed Baal and Asherah in search of prosperity. Now in the midst of a pagan kingdom a widow realized that trustful obedience to the word of God is the way that leads to life.

17:16 jar of flour was not used up. God miraculously provided for this non-Israelite who, in an act of faith in the Lord's word, had laid her life on the line. He gave her "manna" from heaven even while he was withholding food from his unfaithful people in the promised land. The warning of Dt 32:21 was being fulfilled (cf. Ro 10:19; 11:11,14).

17:18 Did you come to remind me of my sin and kill my son? The widow concluded that Elijah's presence in her house had called God's attention to her sin, and that the death of her son was a divine punishment for this sin. Although her sense of guilt seems to have been influenced by pagan ideas, both she and Elijah are confronted with the question: Why did the God who promised life bring death instead?

17:21 stretched himself out on the boy three times. The apparent intent of this physical contact was to transfer the bodily warmth and stimulation of the prophet to the child. Elijah's prayer, however, makes it clear that he expected the life of the child to return as an answer to prayer, not as a result of bodily contact. let this boy's life return to him. Moved by a faith like that of Abraham (Ro 4:17; Heb 11:19), Elijah prayed for the child's return to life so that the veracity and trustworthiness of God's word might be demonstrated.

17:22 the boy's life returned to him. The first instance of raising the dead recorded in Scripture. This non-Israelite widow was granted the supreme covenant blessing, the gift of life rescued from the power of death. This blessing came in the person of her son, the only hope for a widow in ancient society (see 2Ki 4:14; Ru 1:11–12; 4:15–17; Lk 7:12).

17:24 you are a man of God. The widow had addressed Elijah as a man of God previously (v. 18), but now she knew in a much more experiential way that he truly was a prophet of the Lord (see note on 12:22). the word of the LORD from your mouth is the truth. God used this experience to convince the Phoenician widow that his word was completely reliable. Her confession was one that the Lord's own people in Israel had failed to make.

18:1 third year. Apparently of the drought. Later Jewish tradition indicates that the drought lasted three and a half years (cf. Lk 4:25; Jas 5:17), but that probably represents a symbolic number for a drought cut short (half of seven years; see Ge 41:27; 2Ki 8:1). present yourself to Ahab, and I will send rain on the land. Elijah's return is not occasioned by repentance in Israel but by the command of the Lord, who in his sovereign grace determined to reveal himself anew to his people.

18:3 Obadiah. A common OT name, meaning "servant of the LORD." in charge of his palace. See note on 4:6.

18:5 The famine did not move Ahab to repentance (contrast Ahab's response to the famine with that of David years earlier, 2Sa 21:1). But when his military strength seemed to be jeopardized, he scoured the land for food and water (see 10:26; according to the annals of the Assyrian ruler Shalmaneser III, Ahab had a force of at least 2,000 chariots).

the land to all the springs[d] and valleys. Maybe we can find some grass to keep the horses and mules alive so we will not have to kill any of our animals."[e] 6So they divided the land they were to cover, Ahab going in one direction and Obadiah in another.

7As Obadiah was walking along, Elijah met him. Obadiah recognized[f] him, bowed down to the ground, and said, "Is it really you, my lord Elijah?"

8"Yes," he replied. "Go tell your master, 'Elijah is here.' "

9"What have I done wrong," asked Obadiah, "that you are handing your servant over to Ahab to be put to death? 10As surely as the LORD your God lives, there is not a nation or kingdom where my master has not sent someone to look[g] for you. And whenever a nation or kingdom claimed you were not there, he made them swear they could not find you. 11But now you tell me to go to my master and say, 'Elijah is here.' 12I don't know where the Spirit[h] of the LORD may carry you when I leave you. If I go and tell Ahab and he doesn't find you, he will kill me. Yet I your servant have worshiped the LORD since my youth. 13Haven't you heard, my lord, what I did while Jezebel was killing the prophets of the LORD? I hid a hundred of the LORD's prophets in two caves, fifty in each, and supplied them with food and water. 14And now you tell me to go to my master and say, 'Elijah is here.' He will kill me!"

15Elijah said, "As the LORD Almighty lives, whom I serve, I will surely present[i] myself to Ahab today."

Elijah on Mount Carmel

16So Obadiah went to meet Ahab and told him, and Ahab went to meet Elijah. 17When he saw Elijah, he said to him, "Is that you, you troubler[j] of Israel?"

18"I have not made trouble for Israel," Elijah replied. "But you[k] and your father's family have. You have abandoned[l] the LORD's commands and have followed the Baals. 19Now summon[m] the people from all over Israel to meet me on Mount Carmel.[n] And bring the four hundred and fifty prophets of Baal and the four hundred prophets of Asherah, who eat at Jezebel's table."[o]

20So Ahab sent word throughout all Israel and assembled the prophets on Mount Carmel.[p] 21Elijah went before the people and said, "How long will you waver[q] between two opinions? If the LORD[r] is God, follow him; but if Baal is God, follow him."

But the people said nothing.

22Then Elijah said to them, "I am the only one of the LORD's prophets left,[s] but Baal has four hundred and fifty prophets.[t] 23Get two bulls for us. Let them choose one for themselves, and let them cut it into pieces and put it on the wood but not set fire to it. I will prepare the other bull and put it on the wood but not set fire to it. 24Then you call[u] on the name of your god, and I will call on the name of the LORD.[v] The god who answers by fire[w]—he is God."

Then all the people said, "What you say is good."

25Elijah said to the prophets of Baal, "Choose one of the bulls and prepare it first, since there are so many of you. Call on the name of your god, but do not light the fire." 26So they took the bull given them and prepared it.

Then they called[x] on the name of Baal from morning till noon. "O Baal, an-

18:8 tell your master, 'Elijah is here.' This action would publicly identify Obadiah with Elijah in contrast to his previous clandestine support of the prophets sought by Jezebel (see vv. 4,13).

18:12 I don't know where the Spirit of the LORD may carry you. Elijah's disappearance earlier and now his sudden reappearance suggested to Obadiah that God's Spirit was miraculously transporting the prophet about (see 2Ki 2:16).

18:13 Jezebel was killing the prophets. Possibly in an attempt to please Baal so he would send rain. prophets of the LORD. Probably members of the communities of "prophets" that had sprung up in Israel during this time of apostasy (see note on 20:35).

18:17 you troubler of Israel. Ahab holds Elijah to account for the drought and charges him with a crime against the state worthy of death (he calls him a "trouble bringer"; see Jos 7:25).

18:18 You have abandoned the LORD's commands and have followed the Baals. The source of Israel's trouble was not Elijah or even the drought, but the breach of covenantal loyalty.

18:19 Mount Carmel. A high ridge next to the Mediterranean Sea, where the effects of the drought would be least apparent (see Am 1:2) and the power of Baal to nurture life would seem to be strongest. prophets of Baal ... prophets of Asherah. See v. 29 and note. Asherah. See note on 14:15. eat at Jezebel's table. See note on 2:7.

18:21 waver. The Hebrew for this word is the same as that used for "danced" in v. 26 (see note there). Elijah speaks with biting irony: In her religious ambivalence Israel is but engaging in a wild and futile religious "dance." If the LORD is God, follow him; but if Baal is God, follow him. Elijah placed a clear choice before the people. He drew a sharp contrast between the worship of the Lord and that of Baal, to eliminate the apostate idea that both deities could be worshiped in a syncretistic way.

18:22 only one ... left. At least the only one to stand boldly and publicly against the king and the prophets of Baal (but see v. 4; 19:10,14; 20:13,28,35; 22:6,8).

18:24 The god who answers by fire—he is God. Both the Lord and Baal were said to ride the thunderstorm as their divine chariot (see Ps 104:3 and note); thunder was their voice (see Ps 29:3–9 and note) and lightning their weapon (see Ps 18:14 and note). Elijah's challenge is direct. Cf. Lev 9:24.

18:26 danced around the altar. The ecstatic cultic dance was part of the pagan ritual intended to arouse the deity to perform some desired action.

swer us!" they shouted. But there was no response;[v] no one answered. And they danced around the altar they had made.

[27]At noon Elijah began to taunt them. "Shout louder!" he said. "Surely he is a god! Perhaps he is deep in thought, or busy, or traveling. Maybe he is sleeping and must be awakened."[z] [28]So they shouted louder and slashed[a] themselves with swords and spears, as was their custom, until their blood flowed. [29]Midday passed, and they continued their frantic prophesying until the time for the evening sacrifice.[b] But there was no response, no one answered, no one paid attention.[c]

[30]Then Elijah said to all the people, "Come here to me." They came to him, and he repaired the altar[d] of the LORD, which was in ruins. [31]Elijah took twelve stones, one for each of the tribes descended from Jacob, to whom the word of the LORD had come, saying, "Your name shall be Israel."[e] [32]With the stones he built an altar in the name[f] of the LORD, and he dug a trench around it large enough to hold two seahs[m] of seed. [33]He arranged[g] the wood, cut the bull into pieces and laid it on the wood. Then he said to them, "Fill four large jars with water and pour it on the offering and on the wood."

[34]"Do it again," he said, and they did it again.

"Do it a third time," he ordered, and they did it the third time. [35]The water ran down around the altar and even filled the trench.

[36]At the time[h] of sacrifice, the prophet Elijah stepped forward and prayed: "O LORD, God of Abraham,[i] Isaac and Israel, let it be known[j] today that you are God in Israel and that I am your servant and have done all these things at your command.[k] [37]Answer me, O LORD, answer me, so these people will know[l] that you, O LORD, are God, and that you are turning their hearts back again."

[38]Then the fire[m] of the LORD fell and burned up the sacrifice, the wood, the stones and the soil, and also licked up the water in the trench.

[39]When all the people saw this, they fell prostrate[n] and cried, "The LORD—he is God! The LORD—he is God!"[o]

[40]Then Elijah commanded them, "Seize the prophets of Baal. Don't let anyone get away!" They seized them, and Elijah had them brought down to the Kishon Valley[p] and slaughtered[q] there.

[41]And Elijah said to Ahab, "Go, eat and drink, for there is the sound of a heavy rain." [42]So Ahab went off to eat and drink, but Elijah climbed to the top of Carmel, bent down to the ground and put his face between his knees.[r]

[43]"Go and look toward the sea," he told his servant. And he went up and looked.

"There is nothing there," he said.

Seven times Elijah said, "Go back."

[44]The seventh time[s] the servant reported, "A cloud[t] as small as a man's hand is rising from the sea."

So Elijah said, "Go and tell Ahab, 'Hitch up your chariot and go down before the rain stops you.' "

[45]Meanwhile, the sky grew black with clouds, the wind rose, a heavy rain[u] came on and Ahab rode off to Jezreel.[v]

[m] 32 That is, probably about 13 quarts (about 15 liters)

18:27 deep in thought . . . sleeping. Elijah ridicules, but as he does he shows knowledge of the Baal myths.

18:28 until their blood flowed. Self-inflicted wounds (causing blood to flow) were symbolic of self-sacrifice as an extreme method of arousing the deity to action. Such mutilation of the body was strictly forbidden in the Mosaic law (Lev 19:28; Dt 14:1).

18:29 frantic prophesying. Indicative of ecstatic raving, in which the ritual reached its climax (see notes on 1Sa 10:5; 18:10). time for the evening sacrifice. See Ex 29:38–41; Nu 28:3–8. no response. Dramatic demonstration of Baal's impotence (see Ps 115:5–8; 135:15–18; Jer 10:5).

18:30 altar of the LORD, which was in ruins. It is possible that the altar had been built by people of the northern ten tribes after the division of the kingdom (see note on 3:2) and that it had been destroyed by the agents of Jezebel (vv. 4,13; 19:10,14).

18:31 twelve stones, one for each of the tribes. In this way Elijah called attention to the covenant unity of Israel as the people of God in spite of her political division. What was about to happen concerned the entire nation, not just the northern ten tribes.

18:33 water. By drenching the whole installation Elijah showed to all that he was using no tricks.

18:36 prayed. Elijah's simple but earnest prayer stands in sharp contrast to the frantic shouts and "dancing" and self-mutilation of the Baal prophets. God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel. An appeal to the Lord to remember his ancient covenant with the patriarchs, and to Israel to remember all that the Lord has done for her since the days of her forefathers.

18:38 fire of the LORD fell. See note on v. 24.

18:40 slaughtered there. Elijah, acting on the authority of the Lord, who sent him, carried out the sentence pronounced in the Mosaic law for prophets of pagan deities (Dt 13:13–18; 17:2–5).

18:41 sound of a heavy rain. Now that Baal worship has been struck a devastating blow, there is the promise of rain (see 17:1). Significantly, Ahab takes no action—either to carry out the Mosaic sentence or to halt Elijah.

18:42 Elijah . . . bent down to the ground and put his face between his knees. Now that the people had confessed that the Lord alone was God, Elijah prayed for the covenant curse to be lifted (see note on 17:1) by the coming of rain (see 8:35; 2Ch 7:13–14).

18:43 Seven times. The number symbolic of completeness.

18:44 rising from the sea. Appearing on the western horizon.

46The power[w] of the LORD came upon Elijah and, tucking his cloak into his belt,[x] he ran ahead of Ahab all the way to Jezreel.

Elijah Flees to Horeb

19 Now Ahab told Jezebel[y] everything Elijah had done and how he had killed[z] all the prophets with the sword. 2So Jezebel sent a messenger to Elijah to say, "May the gods deal with me, be it ever so severely,[a] if by this time tomorrow I do not make your life like that of one of them."[b]

3Elijah was afraid[n] and ran[c] for his life.[d] When he came to Beersheba[e] in Judah, he left his servant there, 4while he himself went a day's journey into the desert. He came to a broom tree,[f] sat down under it and prayed that he might die. "I have had enough, LORD," he said. "Take my life;[g] I am no better than my ancestors." 5Then he lay down under the tree and fell asleep.[h]

All at once an angel[i] touched him and said, "Get up and eat." 6He looked around, and there by his head was a cake of bread baked over hot coals, and a jar of water. He ate and drank and then lay down again.

7The angel of the LORD came back a second time and touched him and said, "Get up and eat, for the journey is too much for you." 8So he got up and ate and drank. Strengthened by that food, he traveled forty[j] days and forty nights until he reached Horeb,[k] the mountain of God. 9There he went into a cave[l] and spent the night.

The LORD Appears to Elijah

And the word of the LORD came to him: "What are you doing here, Elijah?"[m]

10He replied, "I have been very zealous[n] for the LORD God Almighty. The Israelites have rejected your covenant,[o] broken down your altars,[p] and put your prophets to death with the sword. I am the only one left,[q] and now they are trying to kill me too."

11The LORD said, "Go out and stand on the mountain[r] in the presence of the LORD, for the LORD is about to pass by."[s]

Then a great and powerful wind[t] tore the mountains apart and shattered[u] the rocks before the LORD, but the LORD was not in the wind. After the wind there was an earthquake, but the LORD was not in the earthquake. 12After the earthquake came a fire,[v] but the LORD was not in the fire. And after the fire came a gentle whisper.[w] 13When Elijah heard it, he pulled his cloak over his face[x] and went out and stood at the mouth of the cave.

[n] 3 Or Elijah saw

18:46 ran ahead of Ahab all the way to Jezreel. Divinely energized by extraordinary strength, Elijah ran before Ahab's chariot to Jezreel. This dramatic scene, with the Lord's prophet running before the king and the Lord himself racing behind him riding his mighty thundercloud chariot (see note on v. 24), served as a powerful appeal to Ahab to break once for all with Baal and henceforth to rule as the servant of the Lord.

19:2 May the gods deal with me, be it ever so severely. A curse formula (see note on 1Sa 3:17). one of them. The dead prophets of Baal (v. 1).

19:3 Elijah was afraid and ran for his life. In spite of Elijah's great triumph in the trial on Mount Carmel and the dramatic demonstration that Elijah's God is the Lord of heaven and earth and the source of Israel's blessings, Jezebel is undaunted. Hers is no empty threat, and Ahab has shown that he is either unwilling or unable to restrain her. So Elijah knows that one of the main sources of Israel's present apostasy is still spewing out its poison and that his own life is in danger. Beersheba. The southernmost city in Judah (see notes on Ge 21:31; Am 5:5; see also Jdg 20:1).

19:4 broom tree. A desert shrub, sometimes large enough to offer some shade. prayed that he might die. Cf. Jnh 4:3,8. Elijah concluded that his work was fruitless and consequently that life was not worth living. He had lost his confidence in the triumph of the kingdom of God and was withdrawing from the arena of conflict.

19:7 angel of the LORD. See note on Ge 16:7. God in his mercy provided sustenance and rest for his discouraged servant. the journey is too much for you. Evidently Elijah had already determined to go to Mount Horeb, where God had established his covenant with his people. There is no indication that the Lord had instructed him to do this as he had previously directed him to go to Kerith (17:2–3) and to Zarephath (17:8–9) and to meet Ahab (18:1).

19:8 forty days and forty nights. Sustained by the Lord as Moses had been for the same length of time on Mount Sinai (Ex 24:18; 34:28) and as Jesus would be in the desert (Mt 4:2,11). Horeb, the mountain of God. Probably an alternate name for Mount Sinai (see Ex 3:1; 19:1–3), located in the desert apparently about 250 miles south of Beersheba.

19:9 What are you doing here, Elijah? The question implies that Elijah had come to Sinai for his own misguided reasons and not because the Lord had sent him.

19:10 Elijah did not give a direct answer to the Lord's question but implied that the work the Lord had begun centuries earlier with the establishment of the Sinai covenant had now come to nothing. Whereas Moses had interceded for Israel when they sinned with the golden calf (Ex 32:11–13), Elijah condemned the Israelites for breaking the covenant, and bitterly complained over the fruitlessness of his own work. only one left. See note on 18:22.

19:12 gentle whisper. In the symbolism of these occurrences (vv. 11–12) the Lord appears to be telling Elijah that although his servant's indictment of Israel was a call for God to judge his people with windstorm, earthquake and fire, it was not God's will to do so now. Elijah must return to continue God's mission to his people, and Elisha is to carry it on for another generation (v. 16).

19:13 What are you doing here, Elijah? After demonstrating his presence in the gentle whisper rather than in the wind, earthquake or fire, the Lord gave Elijah an opportunity to revise the answer he had previously given to the same question (vv. 9–10).

Then a voice said to him, "What are you doing here, Elijah?"

14He replied, "I have been very zealous for the LORD God Almighty. The Israelites have rejected your covenant, broken down your altars, and put your prophets to death with the sword. I am the only one left,[y] and now they are trying to kill me too."

15The LORD said to him, "Go back the way you came, and go to the Desert of Damascus. When you get there, anoint Hazael[z] king over Aram. 16Also, anoint[a] Jehu son of Nimshi king over Israel, and anoint Elisha[b] son of Shaphat from Abel Meholah[c] to succeed you as prophet. 17Jehu will put to death any who escape the sword of Hazael,[d] and Elisha will put to death any who escape the sword of Jehu.[e] 18Yet I reserve[f] seven thousand in Israel—all whose knees have not bowed down to Baal and all whose mouths have not kissed[g] him."

The Call of Elisha

19So Elijah went from there and found Elisha son of Shaphat. He was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen, and he himself was driving the twelfth pair. Elijah went up to him and threw his cloak[h] around him. 20Elisha then left his oxen and ran after Elijah. "Let me kiss my father and mother good-by,"[i] he said, "and then I will come with you."

"Go back," Elijah replied. "What have I done to you?"

21So Elisha left him and went back. He took his yoke of oxen[j] and slaughtered them. He burned the plowing equipment to cook the meat and gave it to the people, and they ate. Then he set out to follow Elijah and became his attendant.[k]

Ben-Hadad Attacks Samaria

20 Now Ben-Hadad[l] king of Aram mustered his entire army. Accompanied by thirty-two kings with their horses and chariots, he went up and besieged Samaria[m] and attacked it. 2He sent messengers into the city to Ahab king of Israel, saying, "This is what Ben-Hadad says: 3'Your silver and gold are mine, and the best of your wives and children are mine.' "

4The king of Israel answered, "Just as you say, my lord the king. I and all I have are yours."

5The messengers came again and said, "This is what Ben-Hadad says: 'I sent to demand your silver and gold, your wives and your children. 6But about this time

19:14 Elijah's unrevised answer demonstrated that he did not understand the significance of the divine revelation he had just witnessed.

19:15 The LORD said to him. Giving instructions to Elijah that revealed his sovereign power over people and nations. Even though Israel would experience divine judgment through Hazael, Jehu and Elisha, God would continue to preserve a remnant faithful to himself among the people. go to the Desert of Damascus. Apparently Elijah is to go back by way of the road east of the Dead Sea and the Jordan. As it turns out, all three anointings take place east of the Jordan, though it is Elisha who effects the anointing of the two kings. anoint. Appears to mean here no more than "designate as divinely appointed." This anointing was actually done by Elijah's successor Elisha (see 2Ki 8:7–15). Hazael. Subsequently became a serious threat to Israel during the reigns of Joram, Jehu and Jehoahaz (see 2Ki 8:28–29; 10:32–33; 12:17–18; 13:3,22).

19:16 anoint Jehu. Jehu was a military commander under Ahab and Joram, Ahab's son (2Ki 9:5–6). He was anointed king over Israel by a "man from the company of the prophets" at the instruction of Elisha (2Ki 9:1–16), with the mandate to destroy the house of Ahab. Elisha. As with Elijah (see note on 17:1), Elisha's name (meaning "God is salvation" or "God saves") was the essence of his ministry. His name evokes memory of Joshua ("The LORD saves"). Elijah is given someone to finish his work just as Moses was, and Elisha channels the covenant blessings to the faithful in Israel just as Joshua brought Israel into the promised land (see the account of Elisha's ministry in 2Ki 2:19–8:15; 9:1–3; 13:14–20). In the NT John the Baptist ("Elijah," Mt 11:14; 17:12) was followed by Jesus ("Joshua"; see NIV text note on Mt 1:21) to complete God's saving work. son of Shaphat. Shaphat means "He judges," which is also in accordance with Elisha's ministry. from Abel Meholah. See map, p. 509.

19:17 Jehu will put to death any who escape the sword of Hazael. See 2Ki 9:24. Elisha will put to death any who escape the sword of Jehu. How this may have been fulfilled we are not told, but see 2Ki 2:24; 8:1 (see also Hos 6:5).

19:18 seven thousand. A round number, no doubt symbolic of the fullness or completeness of the divinely preserved godly remnant (Ro 11:2–4). In any case Elijah had been mistaken in his conclusion that he alone had remained faithful (see vv. 10,14; 18:22). not kissed him. See Hos 13:2.

19:19 threw his cloak around him. Thus designating Elisha as his successor (see note on v. 16).

19:21 slaughtered them ... burned the plowing equipment. Elisha's break with his past vocation was complete, though he obviously came from a wealthy family. attendant. In Hebrew the same designation as used for Joshua's relationship to Moses ("aide," Ex 24:13; 33:11).

20:1 Ben-Hadad king of Aram. Chronological considerations suggest that this was Ben-Hadad II, either a son or a grandson of Ben-Hadad I, who had ruled Aram as early as 900–895 B.C. (see notes on 15:9–10,18–20,33). The events of this chapter span parts of two years (see vv. 22–26) followed by three years of peace between Israel and Aram (see 22:1). Ahab died at the conclusion of the three years of peace in a battle against the Arameans (22:37) in 853. This means that the events of this chapter are to be dated c. 857. thirty-two kings. Tribal chieftains or city-state kings who were vassals of Ben-Hadad II.

20:4 I and all I have are yours. Ahab's submission to Ben-Hadad's demand suggests that Israel saw little hope for the possibility of a military victory over the Aramean forces. The negotiated settlement would end the siege on Samaria, spare Ahab's life and avoid the plundering of the city.

20:6 I am going to send my officials to search your palace and the houses of your officials. Ben-Hadad's new demand required the surrender of the city to his forces.

tomorrow I am going to send my officials to search your palace and the houses of your officials. They will seize everything you value and carry it away.' "

7The king of Israel summoned all the elders[n] of the land and said to them, "See how this man is looking for trouble![o] When he sent for my wives and my children, my silver and my gold, I did not refuse him."

8The elders and the people all answered, "Don't listen to him or agree to his demands."

9So he replied to Ben-Hadad's messengers, "Tell my lord the king, 'Your servant will do all you demanded the first time, but this demand I cannot meet.' " They left and took the answer back to Ben-Hadad.

10Then Ben-Hadad sent another message to Ahab: "May the gods deal with me, be it ever so severely, if enough dust[p] remains in Samaria to give each of my men a handful."

11The king of Israel answered, "Tell him: 'One who puts on his armor should not boast[q] like one who takes it off.' "

12Ben-Hadad heard this message while he and the kings were drinking[r] in their tents,[o] and he ordered his men: "Prepare to attack." So they prepared to attack the city.

Ahab Defeats Ben-Hadad

13Meanwhile a prophet[s] came to Ahab king of Israel and announced,

20:13 [s] S Jdg 6:8

[o] 12 Or in Succoth; also in verse 16

20:9 this demand I cannot meet. Ahab replied in language conceding Ben-Hadad's superiority ("my lord the king, 'Your servant . . . ' ") but was adamant in refusing to surrender the city.

20:10 May the gods deal with me, be it ever so severely. A curse formula (see note on 1Sa 3:17).

20:11 One who puts on his armor should not boast like one who takes it off. A saying similar to the familiar "Don't count your chickens before they hatch."

20:13 you will know that I am the LORD. Although Ahab had not sought God's help in the crisis confronting the city, the Lord graciously chose to reveal himself yet another time (see 18:36–37) to the king and people, this time through a deliverance.

Lives of Elijah and Elisha

"This is what the LORD says: 'Do you see this vast army? I will give it into your hand today, and then you will know[t] that I am the LORD.' "

[14]"But who will do this?" asked Ahab.

The prophet replied, "This is what the LORD says: 'The young officers of the provincial commanders will do it.' "

"And who will start[u] the battle?" he asked.

The prophet answered, "You will."

[15]So Ahab summoned the young officers of the provincial commanders, 232 men. Then he assembled the rest of the Israelites, 7,000 in all. [16]They set out at noon while Ben-Hadad and the 32 kings allied with him were in their tents getting drunk.[v] [17]The young officers of the provincial commanders went out first.

Now Ben-Hadad had dispatched scouts, who reported, "Men are advancing from Samaria."

[18]He said, "If they have come out for peace, take them alive; if they have come out for war, take them alive."

[19]The young officers of the provincial commanders marched out of the city with the army behind them [20]and each one struck down his opponent. At that, the Arameans fled, with the Israelites in pursuit. But Ben-Hadad king of Aram escaped on horseback with some of his horsemen. [21]The king of Israel advanced and overpowered the horses and chariots and inflicted heavy losses on the Arameans.

[22]Afterward, the prophet[w] came to the king of Israel and said, "Strengthen your position and see what must be done, because next spring[x] the king of Aram will attack you again."

20:13 [t]S Ex 6:7
20:14 [u]S Jdg 1:1
20:16 [v]S 1Ki 16:9
20:22 [w]S Jdg 6:8 [x]S 2Sa 11:1

[23]Meanwhile, the officials of the king of Aram advised him, "Their gods are gods[y] of the hills. That is why they were too strong for us. But if we fight them on the plains, surely we will be stronger than they. [24]Do this: Remove all the kings from their commands and replace them with other officers. [25]You must also raise an army like the one you lost—horse for horse and chariot for chariot—so we can fight Israel on the plains. Then surely we will be stronger than they." He agreed with them and acted accordingly.

[26]The next spring[z] Ben-Hadad mustered the Arameans and went up to Aphek[a] to fight against Israel. [27]When the Israelites were also mustered and given provisions, they marched out to meet them. The Israelites camped opposite them like two small flocks of goats, while the Arameans covered the countryside.[b]

[28]The man of God came up and told the king of Israel, "This is what the LORD says: 'Because the Arameans think the LORD is a god of the hills and not a god[c] of the valleys, I will deliver this vast army into your hands, and you will know[d] that I am the LORD.' "

[29]For seven days they camped opposite each other, and on the seventh day the battle was joined. The Israelites inflicted a hundred thousand casualties on the Aramean foot soldiers in one day. [30]The rest of them escaped to the city of Aphek,[e] where the wall collapsed[f] on twenty-seven thousand of them. And Ben-Hadad fled to the city and hid[g] in an inner room.

[31]His officials said to him, "Look, we have heard that the kings of the house

20:14 young officers of the provincial commanders. See note on 16:27. Organizational details of the provincial government of the northern kingdom are unknown.

20:15 232 men ... 7,000 in all. Not a large military force (though a significant number for a city under siege) but one of fitting size for demonstrating that the imminent victory was from the Lord rather than from Israel's own military superiority (cf. Jdg 7:2).

20:20 each one struck down his opponent. Apparently they were met by a small advance force like their own (see 2Sa 2:15–16). escaped on horseback with some of his horsemen. Since fighting on horseback did not come until later, reference must be to chariot horses and charioteers. After their defeat, the Arameans seem to have withdrawn to Damascus.

20:22 the king of Aram will attack you again. The anonymous prophet (see v. 13) warned Ahab against undue self-confidence. The prophet's announcement of an impending renewed attack by Ben-Hadad should have driven Ahab to more complete reliance on the God who had revealed himself on Mount Carmel and in the recent military victory.

20:23 gods of the hills. An expression of the pagan idea that a deity's power extended only over the limited area of his particular jurisdiction. That is why they were too strong for us. The Arameans believed that the outcome of military conflicts depended on the relative strength of the gods of the opposing forces rather than on the inherent strength of the two armies. For this reason, their strategy was to fight the next battle in a way that advantageously maximized the supposed strengths and weaknesses of the deities involved.

20:26 Aphek. Presumably the Aphek located a few miles east of the Sea of Galilee. The battle apparently took place in the Jordan Valley near the juncture of the Yarmuk and Jordan rivers.

20:28 man of God. Apparently the same prophet mentioned in vv. 13,22. you will know that I am the LORD. See note on v. 13. God will again demonstrate that he is the sovereign ruler over all nature and history and that the pagan nature deities are powerless before him.

20:29 a hundred thousand casualties. Probably includes all those who were driven from the field and the Aramean encampment, including support personnel.

20:30 wall collapsed. The God of Israel not only gave Israel's army a victory in battle but also caused an additional disaster to fall on the Aramean army. twenty-seven thousand. Aphek was certainly not so large a city that its wall could literally have collapsed on so many. Perhaps this is the number of troops that had taken refuge in Aphek and were left defenseless when the city walls gave way.

20:31 kings of the house of Israel are merciful. The Arameans recognized that Israel's kings were different from, of Israel are merciful.[h] Let us go to the king of Israel with sackcloth[i] around our waists and ropes around our heads. Perhaps he will spare your life."

[32]Wearing sackcloth around their waists and ropes around their heads, they went to the king of Israel and said, "Your servant Ben-Hadad says: 'Please let me live.' "

The king answered, "Is he still alive? He is my brother."

[33]The men took this as a good sign and were quick to pick up his word. "Yes, your brother Ben-Hadad!" they said.

"Go and get him," the king said. When Ben-Hadad came out, Ahab had him come up into his chariot.

[34]"I will return the cities[j] my father took from your father," Ben-Hadad[k] offered. "You may set up your own market areas[l] in Damascus,[m] as my father did in Samaria."

⌊Ahab said,⌋ "On the basis of a treaty[n] I will set you free." So he made a treaty with him, and let him go.

A Prophet Condemns Ahab

[35]By the word of the LORD one of the sons of the prophets[o] said to his companion, "Strike me with your weapon," but the man refused.[p]

[36]So the prophet said, "Because you have not obeyed the LORD, as soon as you leave me a lion[q] will kill you." And after the man went away, a lion found him and killed him.

[37]The prophet found another man and said, "Strike me, please." So the man struck him and wounded him. [38]Then the prophet went and stood by the road waiting for the king. He disguised himself with his headband down over his eyes. [39]As the king passed by, the prophet called out to him, "Your servant went into the thick of the battle, and someone came to me with a captive and said, 'Guard this man. If he is missing, it will be your life for his life,[r] or you must pay a talent[p] of silver.' [40]While your servant was busy here and there, the man disappeared."

"That is your sentence,"[s] the king of Israel said. "You have pronounced it yourself."

[41]Then the prophet quickly removed the headband from his eyes, and the king of Israel recognized him as one of the prophets. [42]He said to the king, "This is what the LORD says: 'You[t] have set free a man I had determined should die.[q][u] Therefore it is your life for his life,[v] your people for his people.' " [43]Sullen and angry,[w] the king of Israel went to his palace in Samaria.

[q]42 The Hebrew term refers to the irrevocable giving over of things or persons to the LORD, often by totally destroying them.

e.g., the ruthless Assyrian kings. sackcloth ... ropes. Perhaps here symbolic of humility and submission.

20:32 Your servant. In the diplomatic language of the time, Ben-Hadad acknowledged his inferiority and subordination to Ahab by designating himself Ahab's servant (see note on v. 9). my brother. Ahab disregarded Ben-Hadad's concession and responded in terminology used by rulers who considered themselves equals (see 9:13). In doing this, Ahab gave much more than Ben-Hadad had asked or expected.

20:33 come up into his chariot. Not the treatment normally accorded a defeated military opponent.

20:34 cities my father took from your father. Perhaps Ramoth Gilead (see 22:3) along with some of the cities Ben-Hadad I had taken from Baasha (15:20) at an even earlier time. your own market areas. Outlets for engaging in the lucrative international trade—a distinct economic advantage; usually such privileges were a jealously guarded local monopoly. made a treaty with him, and let him go. A parity treaty (a peace treaty between equals) that included among its provisions the political and trade agreements proposed by Ben-Hadad.

20:35 sons of the prophets. An expression designating members of prophetic companies (see 2Ki 2:3,5,7,15; 4:1,38; 5:22; 6:1; 9:1). "Son" is not to be understood here as "male child" or "descendant" but as the member of a group. These companies of prophets were apparently religious communities that sprang up in the face of general indifference and apostasy for the purpose of mutual edification and the cultivation of the experience of God. It seems likely that they were known as prophets because their religious practices (sometimes ecstatic) were called prophesying (see 18:29; Nu 11:25–27; 1Sa 10:5–6,10–11; 18:10; 19:20–24)—to be distinguished from "prophet" in the sense of one bringing ("prophesying") a word from the Lord. The relationship of the Lord's great prophets (such as Samuel, Elijah and Elisha) to these communities was understandably a close one, the Lord's prophets probably being viewed as their spiritual mentors.

20:36 as soon as you leave me a lion will kill you. A penalty reminiscent of what happened to the man of God from Judah (13:23–24).

20:39 talent. See NIV text note. Because few soldiers could have paid such a large sum, it would appear to Ahab that the man's life was at stake.

20:40 That is your sentence. Ahab refused to grant clemency. Little did he know that he was pronouncing his own death sentence (cf. the similar technique used by Nathan the prophet, 2Sa 12:1–12).

20:42 a man I had determined should die. See NIV text note and notes on Lev 27:28; Jos 6:17. It is not clear whether Ahab violated a previous revelation or erred by simply neglecting to inquire of the Lord before releasing Ben-Hadad. In any case, the Lord had given Ben-Hadad into Ahab's hand (see v. 28), and Ahab was responsible to the Lord for his custody. your life for his life, your people for his people. Because Ahab sinned in his official capacity as king, the sentence fell not only on Ahab personally but also on the people of the northern kingdom. Ahab died in battle against the Arameans (22:29–39), and Israel was severely humiliated by them during the reigns of Jehu and Jehoahaz (2Ki 10:32; 13:3).

Naboth's Vineyard

21 Some time later there was an incident involving a vineyard belonging to Naboth[x] the Jezreelite. The vineyard was in Jezreel,[y] close to the palace of Ahab king of Samaria. 2Ahab said to Naboth, "Let me have your vineyard to use for a vegetable garden, since it is close to my palace. In exchange I will give you a better vineyard or, if you prefer, I will pay you whatever it is worth."

3But Naboth replied, "The LORD forbid that I should give you the inheritance[z] of my fathers."

4So Ahab went home, sullen and angry[a] because Naboth the Jezreelite had said, "I will not give you the inheritance of my fathers." He lay on his bed sulking and refused[b] to eat.

5His wife Jezebel came in and asked him, "Why are you so sullen? Why won't you eat?"

6He answered her, "Because I said to Naboth the Jezreelite, 'Sell me your vineyard; or if you prefer, I will give you another vineyard in its place.' But he said, 'I will not give you my vineyard.' "

7Jezebel his wife said, "Is this how you act as king over Israel? Get up and eat! Cheer up. I'll get you the vineyard[c] of Naboth the Jezreelite."

8So she wrote letters[d] in Ahab's name, placed his seal[e] on them, and sent them to the elders and nobles who lived in Naboth's city with him. 9In those letters she wrote:

> "Proclaim a day of fasting and seat Naboth in a prominent place among the people. 10But seat two scoundrels[f] opposite him and have them testify that he has cursed[g] both God and the king. Then take him out and stone him to death."

11So the elders and nobles who lived in Naboth's city did as Jezebel directed in the letters she had written to them. 12They proclaimed a fast[h] and seated Naboth in a prominent place among the people. 13Then two scoundrels came and sat opposite him and brought charges against Naboth before the people, saying, "Naboth has cursed both God and the king." So they took him outside the city and stoned him to death.[i] 14Then they sent word to Jezebel: "Naboth has been stoned and is dead."

15As soon as Jezebel heard that Naboth had been stoned to death, she said to Ahab, "Get up and take possession of the vineyard[j] of Naboth the Jezreelite that he refused to sell you. He is no longer alive, but dead." 16When Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, he got up and went down to take possession of Naboth's vineyard.

17Then the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite: 18"Go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, who rules in Samaria. He is now in Naboth's vineyard, where he has gone to take possession of it. 19Say to him, 'This is what the LORD says: Have you not murdered a man and seized his property?'[k] Then say to him, 'This is what the LORD says: In the place where dogs licked up Naboth's blood,[l] dogs[m] will lick up your blood—yes, yours!' "

20Ahab said to Elijah, "So you have found me, my enemy!"[n]

"I have found you," he answered, "be-

21:1 close to the palace of Ahab. Ahab maintained a residence in Jezreel in addition to his official palace in Samaria (see 18:45; 2Ki 9:30). Samaria. The entire northern kingdom is here represented by its capital city (see note on 16:24).

21:2 Let me have your vineyard. Because royal power in Israel was limited by covenantal law (see Dt 17:14–20; 1Sa 10:25), Ahab was unable simply to confiscate privately held land, as was customary with Canaanite kings (see note on v. 7; see also 1Sa 8:9–17).

21:3 Naboth's refusal to dispose of his land was based on the conviction that the land was the Lord's, that he had granted a perpetual lease to each Israelite family and that this lease was to be jealously preserved as the family's permanent inheritance in the promised land.

21:7 Is this how you act as king over Israel? A sarcastic remark of incredulity spoken by one accustomed to the despotic practices of the Phoenician and Canaanite kings, who would not hesitate a moment to use their power to satisfy personal interests (contrast the attitude and practice of Samuel in the exercise of his civil power, 1Sa 12:3–4).

21:9 Proclaim a day of fasting. Jezebel attempted to create the impression that a disaster threatened the people that could be averted only if they would humble themselves before the Lord and remove any person whose sin had brought God's judgment on them (cf. Jdg 20:26; 1Sa 7:5–6; 2Ch 20:2–4).

21:10 two. Mosaic law required two witnesses for capital offenses (Nu 35:30; Dt 17:6; 19:15). scoundrels. See note on Dt 13:13. have them testify. The entire scenario was designed to give an appearance of legitimate judicial procedure (see Ex 20:16; 23:7; Lev 19:16). he has cursed both God and the king. For this the Mosaic law prescribed death by stoning (Lev 24:15–16).

21:13 outside the city. In accordance with Mosaic law (Lev 24:14; Nu 15:35–36). Naboth was stoned on his own field (compare v. 19 with 2Ki 9:21,26), and his sons were stoned with him (see 2Ki 9:26; cf. the case of Achan, Jos 7:24–25), thus also eliminating his heirs.

21:19 Have you not murdered a man and seized his property? Ahab's willing compliance with Jezebel's scheme made him guilty of murder and theft. In the place where dogs licked up Naboth's blood, dogs will lick up your blood. Ahab's subsequent repentance (v. 29) occasioned the postponement of certain aspects of this prophecy until the time of his son Joram, whose body was thrown on the field of Naboth (2Ki 9:25–26). Ahab himself was killed in battle at Ramoth Gilead (22:29–37) and his body brought to Samaria, where the dogs licked the blood being washed from his chariot (22:38).

cause you have sold[o] yourself to do evil in the eyes of the LORD. 21"I am going to bring disaster on you. I will consume your descendants and cut off from Ahab every last male[p] in Israel—slave or free.[q] 22I will make your house[r] like that of Jeroboam son of Nebat and that of Baasha son of Ahijah, because you have provoked me to anger and have caused Israel to sin.'[s]

23"And also concerning Jezebel the LORD says: 'Dogs[t] will devour Jezebel by the wall of[r] Jezreel.'

24"Dogs[u] will eat those belonging to Ahab who die in the city, and the birds of the air[v] will feed on those who die in the country."

25(There was never[w] a man like Ahab, who sold himself to do evil in the eyes of the LORD, urged on by Jezebel his wife. 26He behaved in the vilest manner by going after idols, like the Amorites[x] the LORD drove out before Israel.)

27When Ahab heard these words, he tore his clothes, put on sackcloth[y] and fasted. He lay in sackcloth and went around meekly.[z]

28Then the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite: 29"Have you noticed how Ahab has humbled himself before me? Because he has humbled[a] himself, I will not bring this disaster in his day,[b] but I will bring it on his house in the days of his son."[c]

Micaiah Prophesies Against Ahab

22:1–28pp — 2Ch 18:1–27

22 For three years there was no war between Aram and Israel. 2But in the third year Jehoshaphat king of Judah went down to see the king of Israel. 3The king of Israel had said to his officials, "Don't you know that Ramoth Gilead[d] belongs to us and yet we are doing nothing to retake it from the king of Aram?"

4So he asked Jehoshaphat, "Will you go with me to fight[e] against Ramoth Gilead?"

Jehoshaphat replied to the king of Israel, "I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses." 5But Jehoshaphat also said to the king of Israel, "First seek the counsel[f] of the LORD."

6So the king of Israel brought together the prophets—about four hundred men—and asked them, "Shall I go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I refrain?"

"Go,"[g] they answered, "for the Lord will give it into the king's hand."[h]

7But Jehoshaphat asked, "Is there not a prophet[i] of the LORD here whom we can inquire[j] of?"

8The king of Israel answered Jehoshaphat, "There is still one man through whom we can inquire of the LORD, but I hate[k] him because he never prophesies anything good[l] about me, but always bad. He is Micaiah son of Imlah."

"The king should not say that," Jehoshaphat replied.

9So the king of Israel called one of his officials and said, "Bring Micaiah son of Imlah at once."

22:1 three years. See note on 20:1. no war between Aram and Israel. The annals of the Assyrian ruler Shalmaneser III (859–824 B.C.) record the participation of both "Ahab the Israelite" and Hadadezer (Ben-Hadad) of Damascus in a coalition of 12 rulers that fought against Assyrian forces at Qarqar on the Orontes River in 853. According to the Assyrian records, Ahab contributed 2,000 chariots and 10,000 foot soldiers to the allied forces. Assyrian claims of victory appear exaggerated since they withdrew and did not venture westward again for four or five years.
22:2 Jehoshaphat king of Judah went down to see the king of Israel. Perhaps to congratulate him on the success of the western alliance against the Assyrian threat (see notes on v. 1; 2Ch 18:2).
22:3 Ramoth Gilead. Located near the Yarmuk River in Transjordan; an Israelite city since the days of Moses (see 4:13; Dt 4:43; Jos 20:8). belongs to us. Israel could lay claim to Ramoth Gilead also by virtue of the treaty concluded with Ben-Hadad a few years earlier (see 20:34), the provisions of which he had apparently failed to honor.
22:4 Will you go with me . . . ? Even though Ahab had just been allied with the Arameans against the Assyrians, now that the Assyrian threat was over he did not hesitate to seize an opportunity to free Ramoth Gilead from Aramean control. I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses. Jehoshaphat was later to be condemned by the prophet Jehu (2Ch 19:2) for violating the Lord's will by joining forces with Ahab. In this alliance, Jehoshaphat completely reversed the policy of his father Asa, who had entered into an alliance with the Arameans against Baasha of the northern kingdom (see 15:17–23).
22:5 First seek the counsel of the LORD. Jehoshaphat hesitated to proceed with the planned action without the assurance of the Lord's favor (see 1Sa 23:1–4; 2Sa 2:1).
22:6 prophets. No doubt associated with the paganized worship at Bethel (see notes on 12:28–29), they exercised their "office" by proclaiming messages designed to please the king (see Am 7:10–13).
22:7 Is there not a prophet of the LORD here . . . ? Jehoshaphat recognized that the 400 prophets were not to be relied on (see Eze 13:2–3) and asked for consultation with a true prophet of the Lord.
22:8 never prophesies anything good. Ahab's assessment of a prophet depended on whether his message was favorable to him (see 18:17; 21:20).

of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah were sitting on their thrones at the threshing floor[m] by the entrance of the gate of Samaria, with all the prophets prophesying before them. [11]Now Zedekiah[n] son of Kenaanah had made iron horns[o] and he declared, "This is what the LORD says: 'With these you will gore the Arameans until they are destroyed.' "

[12]All the other prophets were prophesying the same thing. "Attack Ramoth Gilead and be victorious," they said, "for the LORD will give it into the king's hand."

[13]The messenger who had gone to summon Micaiah said to him, "Look, as one man the other prophets are predicting success for the king. Let your word agree with theirs, and speak favorably."[p]

[14]But Micaiah said, "As surely as the LORD lives, I can tell him only what the LORD tells me."[q]

[15]When he arrived, the king asked him, "Micaiah, shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I refrain?"

"Attack and be victorious," he answered, "for the LORD will give it into the king's hand."

[16]The king said to him, "How many times must I make you swear to tell me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?"

[17]Then Micaiah answered, "I saw all Israel scattered[r] on the hills like sheep without a shepherd,[s] and the LORD said, 'These people have no master. Let each one go home in peace.' "

[18]The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Didn't I tell you that he never prophesies anything good about me, but only bad?"

[19]Micaiah continued, "Therefore hear the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD sitting on his throne[t] with all the host[u] of heaven standing around him on his right and on his left. [20]And the LORD said, 'Who will entice Ahab into attacking Ramoth Gilead and going to his death there?'

"One suggested this, and another that. [21]Finally, a spirit came forward, stood before the LORD and said, 'I will entice him.'

[22]" 'By what means?' the LORD asked.

" 'I will go out and be a lying[v] spirit in the mouths of all his prophets,' he said.

" 'You will succeed in enticing him,' said the LORD. 'Go and do it.'

[23]"So now the LORD has put a lying[w] spirit in the mouths of all these prophets[x] of yours. The LORD has decreed disaster[y] for you."

[24]Then Zedekiah[z] son of Kenaanah went up and slapped[a] Micaiah in the face. "Which way did the spirit from[s] the LORD go when he went from me to speak[b] to you?" he asked.

[25]Micaiah replied, "You will find out on the day you go to hide[c] in an inner room."

[26]The king of Israel then ordered, "Take Micaiah and send him back to Amon the ruler of the city and to Joash the king's son [27]and say, 'This is what the king says: Put this fellow in prison[d] and give him nothing but bread and water until I return safely.' "

[28]Micaiah declared, "If you ever return safely, the LORD has not spoken[e] through me." Then he added, "Mark my words, all you people!"

22:11 Zedekiah. Evidently the spokesman for the 400 prophets. iron horns. A symbol of power (see Dt 33:17).

22:13 Let your word agree with theirs. A bit of advice reflecting the view that all prophets were merely self-serving.

22:15 we. A subtle shift (see v. 6) that seeks a favorable response by including Jehoshaphat as a co-sponsor of the enterprise. Attack ... for the LORD will give it into the king's hand. Micaiah sarcastically mimics the 400 false prophets (see v. 12).

22:16 tell me nothing but the truth. Micaiah apparently betrayed his lack of seriousness, and Ahab immediately recognizes this.

22:17 like sheep without a shepherd ... These people have no master. Using the imagery of shepherd and sheep (see Nu 27:16–17; Zec 13:7; Mt 9:36; 26:31), Micaiah depicts Ahab's death in the upcoming battle.

22:19 I saw the LORD sitting on his throne. A true prophet was one who had, as it were, been made privy to what had transpired in God's heavenly throne room and so could truthfully declare what God intended to do (see Isa 6:1; Jer 23:16–22).

22:23 the LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouths of all these prophets. Some view the lying spirit as Satan or one of his agents. Others have suggested a spirit of God who undertakes the task of a lying spirit (but see 1Sa 15:29). Still others understand the lying spirit as a symbolic picture of the power of the lie. The Lord had given the 400 prophets over to the power of the lie because they did not love the truth and had chosen to speak out of their own hearts (see Jer 14:14; 23:16,26; Eze 13:2–3,17; see also note on 2Sa 24:1).

22:24 Which way did the spirit from the LORD go when he went from me to speak to you? By this sarcastic question Zedekiah suggests that one prophet can be a liar just as well as another.

22:25 hide in an inner room. Where Zedekiah will seek refuge (cf. 20:30). This will vindicate Micaiah's prophetic authority.

22:30 disguise. By this strategy he thought he could di-you wear your royal robes." So the king of Israel disguised himself and went into battle.

31Now the king of Aram[g] had ordered his thirty-two chariot commanders, "Do not fight with anyone, small or great, except the king[h] of Israel." 32When the chariot commanders saw Jehoshaphat, they thought, "Surely this is the king of Israel." So they turned to attack him, but when Jehoshaphat cried out, 33the chariot commanders saw that he was not the king of Israel and stopped pursuing him.

34But someone drew his bow[i] at random and hit the king of Israel between the sections of his armor. The king told his chariot driver, "Wheel around and get me out of the fighting. I've been wounded." 35All day long the battle raged, and the king was propped up in his chariot facing the Arameans. The blood from his wound ran onto the floor of the chariot, and that evening he died. 36As the sun was setting, a cry spread through the army: "Every man to his town; everyone to his land!"[j]

37So the king died and was brought to Samaria, and they buried him there. 38They washed the chariot at a pool in Samaria (where the prostitutes bathed),[t] and the dogs[k] licked up his blood, as the word of the LORD had declared.

39As for the other events of Ahab's reign, including all he did, the palace he built and inlaid with ivory,[l] and the cities he fortified, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Israel? 40Ahab rested with his fathers. And Ahaziah his son succeeded him as king.

Jehoshaphat King of Judah

41Jehoshaphat son of Asa became king of Judah in the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel. 42Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem twenty-five years. His mother's name was Azubah daughter of Shilhi. 43In everything he walked in the ways of his father Asa[m] and did not stray from them; he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD. The high places,[n] however, were not removed, and the people continued to offer sacrifices and burn incense there. 44Jehoshaphat was also at peace with the king of Israel.

45As for the other events of Jehoshaphat's reign, the things he achieved and his military exploits, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah? 46He rid the land of the rest of the male shrine prostitutes[o] who remained there even after the reign of his father Asa. 47There was then no king[p] in Edom; a deputy ruled.

48Now Jehoshaphat built a fleet of trading ships[uq] to go to Ophir for gold, but they never set sail—they were wrecked at Ezion Geber.[r] 49At that time Ahaziah son of Ahab said to Jehoshaphat, "Let my men sail with your men," but Jehoshaphat refused.

50Then Jehoshaphat rested with his fathers and was buried with them in the city of David his father. And Jehoram his son succeeded him.

rect attention away from himself and so minimize any chance for fulfillment of Micaiah's prediction.

22:31 except the king of Israel. If the leader was killed or captured, ancient armies usually fell apart (cf. vv. 35–36).

22:34 chariot driver. A war chariot normally carried two men—a fighter and a driver. Sometimes, it appears, there were three men, but the third seems to have been an officer who commanded a chariot unit (see 9:22; 2Ki 9:25; Ex 14:7; 15:4, where these officers are called lit. "the third").

22:35 that evening he died. Fulfilling Micaiah's prophecy (vv. 17,28).

22:38 as the word of the LORD had declared. A partial fulfillment of Elijah's prophecy concerning Ahab's death (see note on 21:19).

22:39 the palace he built and inlaid with ivory. Excavators of Samaria have found ivory inlays in some of the buildings dating from this period of Israel's history. Ahab's use of ivory in this way is indicative of the realm's economic prosperity during his reign. cities he fortified. Excavators have found evidence that Ahab strengthened the fortifications of Megiddo and Hazor. annals of the kings of Israel. See note on 14:19.

22:40 rested with his fathers. See note on 1:21. Ahaziah his son succeeded him. For the reign of Ahaziah see vv. 51–53; 2Ki 1.

22:41 Jehoshaphat . . . became king of Judah in the fourth year of Ahab. Appears to refer to the beginning of Jehoshaphat's reign as sole king in 869 B.C. (see notes on v. 42; 16:29; see also Introduction: Chronology).

22:42 twenty-five years. 872–848 B.C. The full span of Jehoshaphat's reign dates from the 39th year of King Asa, when he became co-regent with his father (see note on 15:10; see also 2Ch 16:12).

22:43 The high places, however, were not removed. See notes on 3:2; 15:14.

22:44 king. Probably to be understood in the collective sense and as including Ahab, Ahaziah and Joram, all of whom ruled in the north during the reign of Jehoshaphat in the south (see note on v. 4).

22:45 military exploits. See 2Ki 3; 2Ch 17:11; 20. annals of the kings of Judah. See note on 14:29.

22:46 male shrine prostitutes. See note on 14:24.

22:47 no king in Edom. Suggests that Edom was subject to Judah (see 2Sa 8:14; 2Ki 8:20).

22:48 Ophir. See note on 9:28. wrecked at Ezion Geber. The destruction of the trading ships was a judgment of God on Jehoshaphat for entering into an alliance with Ahaziah of the northern kingdom (see 2Ch 20:35–37).

22:50 rested with his fathers. See note on 1:21. Jehoram his son succeeded him. For the reign of Jehoram see 2Ki 8:16–24; 2Ch 21.

Ahaziah King of Israel

51 Ahaziah son of Ahab became king of Israel in Samaria in the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel two years. 52 He did evil[s] in the eyes of the LORD, because he walked in the ways of his father and mother and in the ways of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin. 53 He served and worshiped Baal[t] and provoked the LORD, the God of Israel, to anger, just as his father[u] had done.

The LORD's Judgment on Ahaziah

1 After Ahab's death, Moab[a] rebelled against Israel. 2Now Ahaziah had fallen through the lattice of his upper room in Samaria and injured himself. So he sent messengers,[b] saying to them, "Go and consult Baal-Zebub,[c] the god of Ekron,[d] to see if I will recover[e] from this injury."

3But the angel[f] of the LORD said to Elijah[g] the Tishbite, "Go up and meet the messengers of the king of Samaria and ask them, 'Is it because there is no God in Israel[h] that you are going off to consult Baal-Zebub, the god of Ekron?' 4Therefore this is what the LORD says: 'You will not leave[i] the bed you are lying on. You will certainly die!' " So Elijah went.

5When the messengers returned to the king, he asked them, "Why have you come back?"

6"A man came to meet us," they replied. "And he said to us, 'Go back to the king who sent you and tell him, "This is what the LORD says: Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are sending men to consult Baal-Zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you will not leave[j] the bed you are lying on. You will certainly die!" ' "

7The king asked them, "What kind of man was it who came to meet you and told you this?"

8They replied, "He was a man with a garment of hair[k] and with a leather belt around his waist."

The king said, "That was Elijah the Tishbite."

9Then he sent[l] to Elijah a captain[m] with his company of fifty men. The captain went up to Elijah, who was sitting on the top of a hill, and said to him, "Man of God, the king says, 'Come down!' "

10Elijah answered the captain, "If I am a man of God, may fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty men!" Then fire[n] fell from heaven and consumed the captain and his men.

11At this the king sent to Elijah another captain with his fifty men. The captain said to him, "Man of God, this is what the king says, 'Come down at once!' "

12"If I am a man of God," Elijah replied, "may fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty men!" Then the fire of God fell from heaven and consumed him and his fifty men.

13So the king sent a third captain with

1:1 After Ahab's death. See 1Ki 22:37. Moab rebelled. Moab had been brought into subjection by David (see 2Sa 8:2), but when the northern and Transjordan tribes rebelled and made Jeroboam their king, political domination of Moab probably also shifted to the northern kingdom. An inscription of Mesha king of Moab (see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii) indicates that during the reign of Omri's "son" (probably a reference to his grandson Joram, not to Ahab) the Moabites were able to free the area of Medeba from Israelite control (see map No. 5 at the end of the study Bible).

1:2 Baal-Zebub. See note on Jdg 10:6. Ekron. The northernmost of the five major Philistine cities (see Jos 13:3; 1Sa 5:10 and notes). if I will recover. Ahaziah appears to have feared that his injury would be fatal. He turned to the pagan deity for a revelatory oracle, not for healing.

1:3 angel of the LORD. See 1Ki 19:7; see also note on Ge 16:7. The Lord usually spoke directly to the consciousness of the prophet (1Ki 17:2,8; 18:1; 19:9; 21:17). Perhaps the means of revelation was changed in this instance to heighten the contrast between the messengers of Ahaziah (vv. 2–3,5) and the angel (which means "messenger") of the Lord. Elijah the Tishbite. See note on 1Ki 17:1. king of Samaria. See note on 1Ki 21:1.

1:4 You will certainly die! Ahaziah will receive the oracle he sought, but it will come from the Lord through Elijah, not from Baal-Zebub.

1:5 Why have you come back? Ahaziah realized the messengers could not have traveled so quickly to Ekron and back.

1:8 garment of hair. See 1Ki 19:19. Elijah's cloak was probably of sheepskin or camel's hair, tied with a simple leather thong (cf. Mt 3:4). His dress contrasted sharply with the fine linen clothing (see Jer 13:1) of his wealthy contemporaries and constituted a protest against the materialistic attitudes of the king and the upper classes (cf. Mt 11:7–8; Lk 7:24–25). That was Elijah the Tishbite. Ahaziah was familiar with Elijah's appearance because of the prophet's many encounters with Ahab, his father.

1:9 he sent to Elijah a captain with his company of fifty men. The pagan people of that time thought that the magical power of curses could be nullified either by forcing the pronouncer of the curse to retract his statement or by killing him so that his curse would go with him to the netherworld. It appears that Ahaziah shared this view and desired to take Elijah prisoner in order to counteract the pronouncement of his death. Man of God, the king says, 'Come down!' Ahaziah attempted to place the prophet under the authority of the king. This constituted a violation of the covenant nature of Israelite kingship, in which the king's actions were always to be placed under the scrutiny and authority of the word of the Lord spoken by his prophets (see notes on 1Sa 10:25; 12:23).

1:10 fire fell from heaven and consumed the captain and his men. See 1Ki 18:38. Another link between the ministries of Elijah and Moses (see Lev 10:2; Nu 16:35). At stake in this incident was the question of who was sovereign in Israel. Would Ahaziah recognize that the king in Israel was only a vice-regent under the authority and kingship of the Lord, or would he exercise despotic power, like pagan kings (see notes on 1Sa 12:14–15)? At Mount Carmel the Lord had revealed himself and authenticated his prophet by fire from heaven (see 1Ki 18:38–39). Now this previous revelation is confirmed to Ahaziah. Jesus' rebuke of his disciples for suggesting that fire be called down from heaven to destroy the Samaritans (Lk 9:51–56) is not to be understood as a disapproval of Elijah's action, but as an indication that the disciples failed to discern the difference between the issue at stake in Elijah's day and the unbelief of the Samaritans in their own day.

1:11 the king sent to Elijah another captain. Ahaziah refused to submit to the word of the Lord in spite of the dramatic revelation of God's power.

1:13 fell on his knees before Elijah. The third captain, his fifty men. This third captain went up and fell on his knees before Elijah. "Man of God," he begged, "please have respect for my life[o] and the lives of these fifty men, your servants! [14]See, fire has fallen from heaven and consumed the first two captains and all their men. But now have respect for my life!"

[15]The angel[p] of the LORD said to Elijah, "Go down with him; do not be afraid[q] of him." So Elijah got up and went down with him to the king.

[16]He told the king, "This is what the LORD says: Is it because there is no God in Israel for you to consult that you have sent messengers[r] to consult Baal-Zebub, the god of Ekron? Because you have done this, you will never leave[s] the bed you are lying on. You will certainly die!"

[17]So he died,[t] according to the word of the LORD that Elijah had spoken.

Because Ahaziah had no son, Joram[a][u] succeeded him as king in the second year of Jehoram son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah. [18]As for all the other events of Ahaziah's reign, and what he did, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Israel?

Elijah Taken Up to Heaven

2 When the LORD was about to take[v] Elijah up to heaven in a whirlwind,[w] Elijah and Elisha[x] were on their way from Gilgal.[y] [2]Elijah said to Elisha, "Stay here;[z] the LORD has sent me to Bethel."

But Elisha said, "As surely as the LORD lives and as you live, I will not leave you."[a] So they went down to Bethel.

[3]The company[b] of the prophets at Bethel came out to Elisha and asked, "Do you know that the LORD is going to take your master from you today?"

"Yes, I know," Elisha replied, "but do not speak of it."

[4]Then Elijah said to him, "Stay here, Elisha; the LORD has sent me to Jericho.[c]"

And he replied, "As surely as the LORD lives and as you live, I will not leave you." So they went to Jericho.

[5]The company[d] of the prophets at Jericho went up to Elisha and asked him, "Do you know that the LORD is going to take your master from you today?"

"Yes, I know," he replied, "but do not speak of it."

[6]Then Elijah said to him, "Stay here;[e] the LORD has sent me to the Jordan."[f]

And he replied, "As surely as the LORD lives and as you live, I will not leave you."[g] So the two of them walked on.

[7]Fifty men of the company of the prophets went and stood at a distance, facing the place where Elijah and Elisha had stopped at the Jordan. [8]Elijah took his cloak,[h] rolled it up and struck[i] the water with it. The water divided[j] to the right and to the left, and the two of them crossed over on dry[k] ground.

[9]When they had crossed, Elijah said to Elisha, "Tell me, what can I do for you before I am taken from you?"

"Let me inherit a double[l] portion of your spirit,"[m] Elisha replied.

recognizing that Elijah was the bearer of the word of the Lord, feared for his life and bowed before him with a humble request.

1:15 The angel of the LORD said to Elijah. See note on v. 3.

1:17 died, according to the word of the LORD. In the end Ahaziah was punished for turning away from the God of Israel to a pagan deity, and the word of the Lord was shown to be both reliable and beyond the power of the king to annul. Joram. Ahaziah's younger brother (see 3:1; 1Ki 22:51). second year of Jehoram son of Jehoshaphat. Jehoram's reign overlapped that of his father Jehoshaphat from 853 to 848 B.C. (see note on 8:16). The reference here is to the second year of that co-regency. The 18th year of Jehoshaphat (3:1) is therefore the same as the second year of Jehoram's co-regency (852).

1:18 annals of the kings of Israel. See note on 1Ki 14:19.

2:2 I will not leave you. Elisha was aware that Elijah's ministry was almost finished and that his departure was near (v. 5). He was determined to accompany him until the moment the Lord took him. His commitment to Elijah and to Elijah's ministry was unfailing (see v. 9; 1Ki 19:21).

2:3 company of. Lit. "sons of" (see note on 1Ki 20:35). During the days of Elijah and Elisha, companies of prophets were located at Bethel (here), Jericho (v. 5) and Gilgal (4:38). It appears that Elijah journeyed by divine instruction to Gilgal (v. 1), Bethel (v. 2) and Jericho (v. 4) for a last meeting with each of these companies.

2:7 Fifty men. These men were to witness the miracle by which Elijah and Elisha crossed the river.

2:8 Elijah took his cloak . . . and struck the water with it. Elijah used his cloak much as Moses had used his staff at the time of Israel's passage through the "Red Sea" (see Ex 14:16,21,26).

2:9 Let me inherit a double portion. Elisha was not expressing a desire for a ministry twice as great as Elijah's, but he was using terms derived from inheritance law to express his desire to carry on Elijah's ministry. Inheritance law assigned a double portion of a father's possessions to the firstborn son (see Dt 21:17 and note).

2:10 difficult thing. Although Elijah had previously been told to anoint Elisha as his successor (1Ki 19:16,19–21), Elijah's response clearly showed that the issue rested solely with the Lord's sovereign good pleasure. If you see me . . . it will be yours—otherwise not. Elijah left the an-

ELISHA

NAME MEANS: "(My) God saves" OCCUPATION: Farmer, prophet to Israel
BEST KNOWN FOR:

- succeeding Elijah as prophet
- the many amazing miracles God performed through him
- telling Naaman, a powerful foreign military leader, to bathe in the Jordan and be healed of his leprosy

Elijah said, "yet if you see me when I am taken from you, it will be yours—otherwise not."

[11]As they were walking along and talking together, suddenly a chariot of fire[n] and horses of fire appeared and separated the two of them, and Elijah went up to heaven[o] in a whirlwind.[p] [12]Elisha saw this and cried out, "My father! My father! The chariots[q] and horsemen of Israel!" And Elisha saw him no more. Then he took hold of his own clothes and tore[r] them apart.

[13]He picked up the cloak that had fallen from Elijah and went back and stood on the bank of the Jordan. [14]Then he took the cloak[s] that had fallen from him and struck[t] the water with it. "Where now is the LORD, the God of Elijah?" he asked. When he struck the water, it divided to the right and to the left, and he crossed over.

[15]The company[u] of the prophets from Jericho, who were watching, said, "The spirit[v] of Elijah is resting on Elisha." And they went to meet him and bowed to the ground before him. [16]"Look," they said, "we your servants have fifty able men. Let them go and look for your master. Perhaps the Spirit[w] of the LORD has picked him up[x] and set him down on some mountain or in some valley."

"No," Elisha replied, "do not send them."

[17]But they persisted until he was too ashamed[y] to refuse. So he said, "Send them." And they sent fifty men, who searched for three days but did not find him. [18]When they returned to Elisha, who was staying in Jericho, he said to them, "Didn't I tell you not to go?"

Healing of the Water

[19]The men of the city said to Elisha, "Look, our lord, this town is well situated, as you can see, but the water is bad and the land is unproductive."

[20]"Bring me a new bowl," he said, "and put salt in it." So they brought it to him.

[21]Then he went out to the spring and threw[z] the salt into it, saying, "This is what the LORD says: 'I have healed this water. Never again will it cause death or make the land unproductive.' " [22]And the water has remained wholesome[a] to this day, according to the word Elisha had spoken.

Elisha Is Jeered

[23]From there Elisha went up to Bethel. As he was walking along the road, some youths came out of the town and jeered[b] at him. "Go on up, you baldhead!" they said. "Go on up, you bald-swer to Elisha's request in the Lord's hands.

2:11 chariot of fire and horses of fire. The Lord's heavenly host has accompanied and supported Elijah's ministry (as it had that of Moses; see Ex 15:1–10), and now at his departure Elisha is allowed to see it (cf. 6:17). Elijah went up to heaven in a whirlwind. Elijah, like Enoch before him (Ge 5:24), was taken up to heaven bodily without experiencing death; like Moses (Dt 34:4–6), he was taken away outside the promised land.

2:12 chariots and horsemen of Israel! Elisha depicted Elijah as embodying the true strength of the nation. He, rather than the apostate king, is the Lord's representative. The same description was later used of Elisha (13:14).

2:13 He picked up the cloak. See note on v. 8. Possession of Elijah's cloak symbolized Elisha's succession to Elijah's ministry (see 1Ki 19:19).

2:14 When he struck the water, it divided. See v. 8. The Lord authenticated Elisha's succession to Elijah's ministry and demonstrated that the same divine power that had accompanied Elijah's ministry was now operative in the ministry of Elisha. In crossing the Jordan as Joshua had before him, Elisha is shown to be Elijah's "Joshua" (Elisha and Joshua are very similar names, Elisha meaning "God saves" and Joshua "The LORD saves").

2:15 bowed to the ground before him. Indicated their recognition of Elisha's succession to Elijah's position. Elisha was now the Lord's official representative in this time of royal apostasy.

2:16 Perhaps the Spirit of the LORD has picked him up and set him down. Obadiah expressed the same idea years earlier (see 1Ki 18:12). do not send them. Elisha knew their search would be fruitless.

2:17 Send them. When the company of prophets refused to be satisfied with Elisha's answer, he permitted them to go so that the authority and truth of his words would be confirmed to them.

2:19 city. Evidently Jericho (see v. 18). the water is bad and the land is unproductive. The inhabitants of Jericho were experiencing the effects of the covenant curse (contrast Dt 28:15–18 with Ex 23:25–26; Lev 26:9; Dt 28:1–4). See 1Ki 16:34; Jos 6:26.

2:20 new bowl. That which was to be used in the service of the Lord was to be undefiled by profane use (see Lev 1:3,10; Nu 19:2; Dt 21:3; 1Sa 6:7). put salt in it. Elisha may have used salt because of its known preservative qualities, but it is more likely that he used it to symbolize the covenant faithfulness of the Lord (see note on Nu 18:19; see also 2Ch 13:5).

2:21 I have healed this water. Any idea of a magical effect of the salt in the purification of the water is excluded by the explicit statement that the Lord himself healed the water. In this symbolic way Elisha was able, as the first act of his ministry, to proclaim to the people that in spite of their disobedience the Lord was merciful and was still reaching out to them in his grace (see 13:23).

2:23 Go on up. Since Bethel was the royal cult center of the northern kings (1Ki 12:29; Am 7:13) and Elijah and Elisha were known to frequent Samaria (perhaps even as their main residence; see note on 5:3), the youths from Bethel no doubt assumed that Elisha was going up to Samaria to continue Elijah's struggle against royal apostasy. (Some believe that the youths, in their mocking, were telling Elisha to ascend to heaven as Elijah had done.) you baldhead! Baldness was uncommon among the ancient Jews, and luxuriant hair seems to have been viewed as a sign of strength and vigor (see note on 2Sa 14:26). By calling Elisha "baldhead," the youths from Bethel expressed that city's utter disdain for the Lord's representative, who, they felt, had no power.

head!" 24He turned around, looked at them and called down a curse[c] on them in the name[d] of the LORD. Then two bears came out of the woods and mauled forty-two of the youths. 25And he went on to Mount Carmel[e] and from there returned to Samaria.

Moab Revolts

3 Joram[b][f] son of Ahab became king of Israel in Samaria in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and he reigned twelve years. 2He did evil[g] in the eyes of the LORD, but not as his father[h] and mother had done. He got rid of the sacred stone[i] of Baal that his father had made. 3Nevertheless he clung to the sins[j] of Jeroboam son of Nebat, which he had caused Israel to commit; he did not turn away from them.

4Now Mesha king of Moab[k] raised sheep, and he had to supply the king of Israel with a hundred thousand lambs[l] and with the wool of a hundred thousand rams. 5But after Ahab died, the king of Moab rebelled[m] against the king of Israel. 6So at that time King Joram set out from Samaria and mobilized all Israel. 7He also sent this message to Jehoshaphat king of Judah: "The king of Moab has rebelled against me. Will you go with me to fight[n] against Moab?"

"I will go with you," he replied. "I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses."

8"By what route shall we attack?" he asked.

"Through the Desert of Edom," he answered.

9So the king of Israel set out with the king of Judah and the king of Edom.[o] After a roundabout march of seven days, the army had no more water for themselves or for the animals with them.

10"What!" exclaimed the king of Israel. "Has the LORD called us three kings together only to hand us over to Moab?"

11But Jehoshaphat asked, "Is there no prophet of the LORD here, that we may inquire[p] of the LORD through him?"

An officer of the king of Israel answered, "Elisha[q] son of Shaphat is here. He used to pour water on the hands of Elijah.[c][r]" 12Jehoshaphat said, "The word[s] of the LORD is with him." So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat and the king of Edom went down to him.

13Elisha said to the king of Israel, "What do we have to do with each other? Go to the prophets of your father and the prophets of your mother."

"No," the king of Israel answered, "because it was the LORD who called us three kings together to hand us over to Moab."

[c] 11 That is, he was Elijah's personal servant.

2:24 called down a curse on them in the name of the LORD. Elisha pronounced a curse similar to the covenant curse of Lev 26:21–22. The result gave warning of the judgment that would come on the entire nation should it persist in disobedience and apostasy (see 2Ch 36:16). Thus Elisha's first acts were indicative of his ministry that would follow: God's covenant blessings would come to those who looked to him (vv. 19–22), but God's covenant curses would fall on those who turned away from him.

3:1 Joram son of Ahab became king . . . in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat. See note on 1:17. twelve years. 852–841 B.C.

3:2 not as his father and mother had done. Not as Ahab (see notes on 1Ki 16:30–34) and Jezebel (see 1Ki 18:4; 19:1–2; 21:7–15). sacred stone of Baal that his father had made. Apparently a reference to the stone representation of the male deity (see note on 1Ki 14:23 ) that Ahab placed in the temple he had constructed for Jezebel in Samaria (see 1Ki 16:32–33). From 10:27 it appears that this stone was later reinstated, perhaps by Jezebel.

3:3 sins of Jeroboam . . . he had caused Israel to commit. See note on 1Ki 14:16.

3:4 Mesha king of Moab. See note on 1:1. a hundred thousand lambs and . . . the wool of a hundred thousand rams. The heavy annual tribute (see Isa 16:1) that Israel required from the Moabites as a vassal state.

3:5 king of Moab rebelled. See note on 1:1.

3:7 Will you go with me to fight against Moab? Joram wished to attack Moab from the rear (v. 8), but to do that his army had to pass through Judah. I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses. See 1Ki 22:4. Jehoshaphat had already been condemned by prophets of the Lord for his alliance with the northern kings Ahab (see 2Ch 18:1; 19:1–2) and Ahaziah (2Ch 20:35–37), yet he agreed to join with Joram against Moab. Perhaps he was disturbed by the potential danger to Judah posed by the growing strength of Moab (see 2Ch 20), and he may have considered Joram less evil than his predecessors (see v. 2).

3:8 Through the Desert of Edom. This route of attack took the armies of Israel and Judah south of the Dead Sea, enabling them to circumvent the fortifications of Moab's northern frontier and to avoid the possibility of a rearguard action against them by the Arameans of Damascus. The Edomites, who were subject to Judah, were in no position to resist the movement of Israel's army through their territory.

3:9 king of Edom. Although here designated a king, he was in reality a governor appointed by Jehoshaphat (see 8:20; 1Ki 22:47).

3:11 Is there no prophet of the LORD here . . . ? See 1Ki 22:7. Only after the apparent failure of their own strategies did the three rulers seek the word of the Lord (v. 12). Elisha son of Shaphat is here. Since Elijah is reported to have sent a letter to Jehoshaphat's son Jehoram after his father's death (2Ch 21:12–15), it seems that Elisha accompanied the armies on this campaign as the representative of the aged Elijah. The event is narrated here after the account of Elisha's initiation as Elijah's successor and the two events that foreshadowed the character of his ministry. Following this introduction to Elisha's ministry, the present episode is topically associated with the series of Elisha's acts that now occupies the narrative.

3:13 Go to the prophets of your father and . . . mother. See 1Ki 22:6.

14Elisha said, "As surely as the LORD Almighty lives, whom I serve, if I did not have respect for the presence of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, I would not look at you or even notice you. 15But now bring me a harpist."[t]

While the harpist was playing, the hand[u] of the LORD came upon Elisha 16and he said, "This is what the LORD says: Make this valley full of ditches. 17For this is what the LORD says: You will see neither wind nor rain, yet this valley will be filled with water,[v] and you, your cattle and your other animals will drink. 18This is an easy[w] thing in the eyes of the LORD; he will also hand Moab over to you. 19You will overthrow every fortified city and every major town. You will cut down every good tree, stop up all the springs, and ruin every good field with stones."

20The next morning, about the time[x] for offering the sacrifice, there it was—water flowing from the direction of Edom! And the land was filled with water.[y]

21Now all the Moabites had heard that the kings had come to fight against them; so every man, young and old, who could bear arms was called up and stationed on the border. 22When they got up early in the morning, the sun was shining on the water. To the Moabites across the way, the water looked red—like blood. 23"That's blood!" they said. "Those kings must have fought and slaughtered each other. Now to the plunder, Moab!"

24But when the Moabites came to the camp of Israel, the Israelites rose up and fought them until they fled. And the Israelites invaded the land and slaughtered the Moabites. 25They destroyed the towns, and each man threw a stone on every good field until it was covered. They stopped up all the springs and cut down every good tree. Only Kir Hareseth[z] was left with its stones in place, but men armed with slings surrounded it and attacked it as well.

26When the king of Moab saw that the battle had gone against him, he took with him seven hundred swordsmen to break through to the king of Edom, but they failed. 27Then he took his firstborn[a] son, who was to succeed him as king, and offered him as a sacrifice on the city wall. The fury against Israel was great; they withdrew and returned to their own land.

The Widow's Oil

4 The wife of a man from the company[b] of the prophets cried out to Elisha, "Your servant my husband is dead, and you know that he revered the LORD. But now his creditor[c] is coming to take my two boys as his slaves."

2Elisha replied to her, "How can I help you? Tell me, what do you have in your house?"

"Your servant has nothing there at all," she said, "except a little oil."[d] 3Elisha said, "Go around and ask all your neighbors for empty jars. Don't ask for just a few. 4Then go inside and shut the door behind you and your sons. Pour

3:14 if I did not have respect for . . . Jehoshaphat . . . I would not look at you. Joram will share in the blessing of the word of God only because of his association with Jehoshaphat.

3:15 bring me a harpist. To create a disposition conducive to receiving the word of the Lord.

3:16 this valley. The Israelite armies were encamped in the broad valley (the Arabah) between the highlands of Moab on the east and those of Judah on the west, just south of the Dead Sea.

3:17 will be filled with water. The word of the Lord contained a promise and a directive. The Lord will graciously provide for his people, but they must respond to his word in faith and obedience (v. 16).

3:19 The two armies will devastate the rebellious country.

3:20 time for offering. See Ex 29:38–39; Nu 28:3–4. water flowing from the direction of Edom. Flash floods in the distant mountains of Edom caused water to flow north through the broad, usually dry, valley that sloped toward the Dead Sea (see note on v. 16).

3:23 Those kings must have . . . slaughtered each other. The Moabites would have good reason to suspect that an internal conflict had arisen between the parties of an alliance whose members had previously been mutually hostile.

3:25 Kir Hareseth. The capital city of Moab (see Isa 16:7,11; Jer 48:31,36), usually identified with present-day Kerak, located about 11 miles east of the Dead Sea and 15 miles south of the Arnon River.

3:26 break through to the king of Edom. A desperate attempt by the king of Moab to induce Edom to turn against Israel and Judah.

3:27 offered him as a sacrifice on the city wall. King Mesha offered his oldest son, the crown prince, as a burnt offering (see 16:3; Jer 7:31) to the Moabite god Chemosh (see 1Ki 11:7; Nu 21:29; Jer 48:46) in an attempt to induce the deity to come to his aid. The fury against Israel was great. The Hebrew underlying this clause would normally refer to a visitation of God's wrath. It may be that just when total victory appeared to be in Israel's grasp, God's displeasure with the Ahab dynasty showed itself in some way that caused the Israelite kings to give up the campaign. Comparing Aramaic and later Hebrew usage, a few scholars suggest that the Hebrew here can be translated, "There was great dismay upon/in Israel."

4:1 company of the prophets. See notes on 2:3; 1Ki 20:35. to take my two boys as his slaves. Servitude as a means of debt payment by labor was permitted in the Mosaic law (Ex 21:1–2; Lev 25:39–41; Dt 15:1–11). It appears that the practice was much abused (see Ne 5:5,8; Am 2:6; 8:6), even though the law limited the term of such bondage and required that those so held be treated as hired workers.

4:4 shut the door behind you and your sons. The impending miracle was not intended to be a public sensation but to demonstrate privately God's mercy and grace to this widow (cf. Ps 68:5). She did not hesitate to respond to the instructions of the Lord's prophet in faith and obedience.

oil into all the jars, and as each is filled, put it to one side."

[5]She left him and afterward shut the door behind her and her sons. They brought the jars to her and she kept pouring. [6]When all the jars were full, she said to her son, "Bring me another one."

But he replied, "There is not a jar left." Then the oil stopped flowing.

[7]She went and told the man of God,[e] and he said, "Go, sell the oil and pay your debts. You and your sons can live on what is left."

The Shunammite's Son Restored to Life

[8]One day Elisha went to Shunem.[f] And a well-to-do woman was there, who urged him to stay for a meal. So whenever he came by, he stopped there to eat. [9]She said to her husband, "I know that this man who often comes our way is a holy man of God. [10]Let's make a small room on the roof and put in it a bed and a table, a chair and a lamp for him. Then he can stay[g] there whenever he comes to us."

[11]One day when Elisha came, he went up to his room and lay down there. [12]He said to his servant Gehazi, "Call the Shunammite."[h] So he called her, and she stood before him. [13]Elisha said to him, "Tell her, 'You have gone to all this trouble for us. Now what can be done for you? Can we speak on your behalf to the king or the commander of the army?' "

She replied, "I have a home among my own people."

[14]"What can be done for her?" Elisha asked.

Gehazi said, "Well, she has no son and her husband is old."

[15]Then Elisha said, "Call her." So he called her, and she stood in the doorway. [16]"About this time[i] next year," Elisha said, "you will hold a son in your arms."

"No, my lord," she objected. "Don't mislead your servant, O man of God!"

[17]But the woman became pregnant, and the next year about that same time she gave birth to a son, just as Elisha had told her.

[18]The child grew, and one day he went out to his father, who was with the reapers.[j] [19]"My head! My head!" he said to his father.

His father told a servant, "Carry him to his mother." [20]After the servant had lifted him up and carried him to his mother, the boy sat on her lap until noon, and then he died. [21]She went up and laid him on the bed[k] of the man of God, then shut the door and went out.

[22]She called her husband and said, "Please send me one of the servants and a donkey so I can go to the man of God quickly and return."

[23]"Why go to him today?" he asked. "It's not the New Moon[l] or the Sabbath."

"It's all right," she said.

[24]She saddled the donkey and said to her servant, "Lead on; don't slow down for me unless I tell you." [25]So she set out and came to the man of God at Mount Carmel.[m]

When he saw her in the distance, the man of God said to his servant Gehazi, "Look! There's the Shunammite! [26]Run to meet her and ask her, 'Are you all

4:8 Shunem. See note on 1Ki 1:3.

4:9 holy man of God. The woman recognized that Elisha was a person set apart to the Lord's work in a very special sense. Nowhere else in the OT is the term "holy" applied to a prophet.

4:10 he can stay there whenever he comes to us. By her hospitality the woman was able to assist in sustaining the proclamation of God's word through Elisha.

4:12 Gehazi. Referred to here for the first time; he appears to have served Elisha in some of the same ways as Elisha had served Elijah, though the two men were of drastically different character (see 5:19–27; 6:15).

4:13 I have a home among my own people. The Shunammite woman felt secure and content in the community of her own family and tribe, and she had no need or desire for favors from high government officials.

4:14 she has no son and her husband is old. A great disappointment because it meant that the family's name would cease and its land and possessions would pass on to others. It was also a great threat to this young wife's future in that she faced the likelihood of many years as a widow with no provider or protector—children were a widow's only social security in old age (see 8:1–6; see also note on 1Ki 17:22).

4:16 About this time next year. See Ge 17:21; 18:14. Don't mislead your servant, O man of God! The woman's response revealed the depths of her desire for a son and her fear of disappointment more than it showed a lack of confidence in the word of Elisha.

4:17 just as Elisha had told her. The trustworthiness of Elisha's word was confirmed, and the birth of the son was shown to be the result of God's gracious intervention in her behalf.

4:20 he died. The child, given as an evidence of God's grace and the reliability of his word, was suddenly taken from the woman in a severe test of her faith. Her subsequent actions demonstrate the strength of her faith in the face of great calamity.

4:21 laid him on the bed of the man of God. In this way the woman concealed the child's death from the rest of the household while she went to seek the prophet at whose word the child had been born.

4:23 Why go to him today? The question suggests that it was not uncommon for the woman to go to Elisha, but that on this occasion the timing of her visit was unusual. It's not the New Moon or the Sabbath. The Sabbath and New Moon were observed by cessation from work (see notes on Ge 2:3; Ex 16:23; 20:9–10; 1Sa 20:5; see also Lev 23:3).

4:26 Everything is all right. The woman was determined to share her distress with no one but the prophet from whom she had received the promise of the birth of her son.

right? Is your husband all right? Is your child all right?' "

"Everything is all right," she said.

27When she reached the man of God at the mountain, she took hold of his feet. Gehazi came over to push her away, but the man of God said, "Leave her alone! She is in bitter distress,[n] but the LORD has hidden it from me and has not told me why."

28"Did I ask you for a son, my lord?" she said. "Didn't I tell you, 'Don't raise my hopes'?"

29Elisha said to Gehazi, "Tuck your cloak into your belt,[o] take my staff[p] in your hand and run. If you meet anyone, do not greet him, and if anyone greets you, do not answer. Lay my staff on the boy's face."

30But the child's mother said, "As surely as the LORD lives and as you live, I will not leave you." So he got up and followed her.

31Gehazi went on ahead and laid the staff on the boy's face, but there was no sound or response. So Gehazi went back to meet Elisha and told him, "The boy has not awakened."

32When Elisha reached the house, there was the boy lying dead on his couch.[q] 33He went in, shut the door on the two of them and prayed[r] to the LORD. 34Then he got on the bed and lay upon the boy, mouth to mouth, eyes to eyes, hands to hands. As he stretched[s] himself out upon him, the boy's body grew warm. 35Elisha turned away and walked back and forth in the room and then got on the bed and stretched out upon him once more. The boy sneezed seven times[t] and opened his eyes.[u]

36Elisha summoned Gehazi and said, "Call the Shunammite." And he did. When she came, he said, "Take your son."[v] 37She came in, fell at his feet and bowed to the ground. Then she took her son and went out.

Death in the Pot

38Elisha returned to Gilgal[w] and there was a famine[x] in that region. While the company of the prophets was meeting with him, he said to his servant, "Put on the large pot and cook some stew for these men."

39One of them went out into the fields to gather herbs and found a wild vine. He gathered some of its gourds and filled the fold of his cloak. When he returned, he cut them up into the pot of stew, though no one knew what they were. 40The stew was poured out for the men, but as they began to eat it, they cried out, "O man of God, there is death in the pot!" And they could not eat it.

41Elisha said, "Get some flour." He put it into the pot and said, "Serve it to the people to eat." And there was nothing harmful in the pot.[y]

Feeding of a Hundred

42A man came from Baal Shalishah,[z] bringing the man of God twenty loaves[a] of barley bread[b] baked from the first ripe grain, along with some heads of new grain. "Give it to the people to eat," Elisha said.

43"How can I set this before a hundred men?" his servant asked.

But Elisha answered, "Give it to the people to eat.[c] For this is what the LORD says: 'They will eat and have some left over.[d]' " 44Then he set it before them,

4:28 Didn't I tell you, 'Don't raise my hopes'? The woman struggled with the question of why the Lord would take from her that which she had been given as a special demonstration of his grace and the trustworthiness of his word.

4:29 Lay my staff on the boy's face. It appears that Elisha expected the Lord to restore the boy's life when the staff was placed on him. This does not suggest that Elisha attributed magical power to the staff, but that he viewed it as a representation of his own presence and a symbol of divine power (see note on 2:8; cf. Ex 14:16; Ac 19:12).

4:30 I will not leave you. The woman was not convinced that Gehazi's mission would be successful and insisted that Elisha himself accompany her to Shunem.

4:33 shut the door on the two of them and prayed. Just as Elijah had done in a similar situation years before (see 1Ki 17:20–22), Elisha first turned to the Lord in earnest prayer for restoration of life to the dead child. His prayer is clear evidence that his subsequent actions were not intended as a magical means of restoring life.

4:34 lay upon the boy. See note on 1Ki 17:21. Perhaps Elisha was familiar with the earlier similar action of Elijah.

4:37 fell at his feet and bowed to the ground. The woman gratefully acknowledged the special favor granted to her by the Lord through Elisha, and silently reaffirmed the verbal confession of the widow of Zarephath (see 1Ki 17:24).

4:38 famine in that region. Perhaps the same famine mentioned in 8:1. Famine was a covenant curse (see Lev 26:19–20,26; Dt 28:18,23–24; 1Ki 8:36–37) and evidence of God's anger with his people's disobedience to their covenant obligations. company of the prophets. See note on 2:3.

4:39 wild vine . . . gourds. The precise type of plant is not specified.

4:41 flour. The flour itself did not make the stew edible (see 2:21 and note). It was simply a means by which the Lord provided for those who were faithful to the covenant, at a time when others suffered under the covenant curse.

4:42 first ripe grain. Instead of bringing the firstfruits of the new harvest (see Lev 2:14; 23:15–17; Dt 18:3–5) to the apostate priests at Bethel and Dan (see 1Ki 12:28–31), godly people in the northern kingdom may have contributed their offerings for the sustenance of Elisha and those associated with him (see note on v. 23). Thus they looked upon Elisha rather than the apostate king and priests as the true representative of their covenant Lord.

4:43 the LORD says. The bread was multiplied at the word of the Lord through Elisha apart from any intermediate means (contrast v. 41; 2:20; cf. Mk 6:35–43).

and they ate and had some left over, according to the word of the LORD.

Naaman Healed of Leprosy

5 Now Naaman was commander of the army of the king of Aram.[e] He was a great man in the sight of his master and highly regarded, because through him the LORD had given victory to Aram. He was a valiant soldier, but he had leprosy.[d][f]

2Now bands[g] from Aram had gone out and had taken captive a young girl from Israel, and she served Naaman's wife. 3She said to her mistress, "If only my master would see the prophet[h] who is in Samaria! He would cure him of his leprosy."

4Naaman went to his master and told him what the girl from Israel had said. 5"By all means, go," the king of Aram replied. "I will send a letter to the king of Israel." So Naaman left, taking with him ten talents[e] of silver, six thousand shekels[f] of gold and ten sets of clothing.[i] 6The letter that he took to the king of Israel read: "With this letter I am sending my servant Naaman to you so that you may cure him of his leprosy."

7As soon as the king of Israel read the letter,[j] he tore his robes and said, "Am I God?[k] Can I kill and bring back to life?[l] Why does this fellow send someone to me to be cured of his leprosy? See how he is trying to pick a quarrel[m] with me!"

8When Elisha the man of God heard that the king of Israel had torn his robes, he sent him this message: "Why have you torn your robes? Have the man come to me and he will know that there is a prophet[n] in Israel." 9So Naaman went with his horses and chariots and stopped at the door of Elisha's house. 10Elisha sent a messenger to say to him, "Go, wash[o] yourself seven times[p] in the Jordan, and your flesh will be restored and you will be cleansed."

11But Naaman went away angry and said, "I thought that he would surely come out to me and stand and call on the name of the LORD his God, wave his hand[q] over the spot and cure me of my leprosy. 12Are not Abana and Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than any of the waters[r] of Israel? Couldn't I wash in them and be cleansed?" So he turned and went off in a rage.[s]

13Naaman's servants went to him and said, "My father,[t] if the prophet had told you to do some great thing, would

5:1 king of Aram. Probably Ben-Hadad II (see notes on 8:7; 13:3; 1Ki 20:1). the LORD had given victory to Aram. Probably a reference to an otherwise undocumented Aramean victory over the Assyrians in the aftermath of the battle of Qarqar in 853 B.C. (see note on 1Ki 22:1). In the narrator's theological perspective, this victory is attributable to the sovereignty of the God of Israel, who is seen as the ruler and controller of the destinies of all nations, not just that of Israel (see Eze 30:24; Am 2:1–3; 9:7).

5:2 bands from Aram. Although Israel had concluded a peace treaty with the Arameans during the reign of Ahab (see 1Ki 20:34), minor border skirmishes continued between the two states in the aftermath of the battle for control of Ramoth Gilead, in which Ahab had been killed (see note on 1Ki 22:4; see also 1Ki 22:35). young girl from Israel. In sharp contrast to the Israelite king in Samaria, this young girl held captive in Damascus was very much aware of God's saving presence with his people through his servant Elisha, and she selflessly shared that knowledge with her Aramean captors.

5:3 prophet who is in Samaria. Elisha, who maintained a residence in Samaria (see v. 9; 2:25; 6:19).

5:5 I will send a letter to the king of Israel. The border skirmishes had not nullified the official peace between the two nations as established by treaty. The king of Israel was Joram (see 1:17; 3:1; 9:24). ten talents of silver. See NIV text note. An idea of the relative value of this amount of silver can be seen by comparing it with the price Omri paid for the hill of Samaria (see 1Ki 16:24).

5:6 so that you may cure him of his leprosy. Ben-Hadad assumed that the prophet described by the Israelite slave girl was subject to the authority of the king and that his services could be bought with a sufficiently large gift. He thought he could buy with worldly wealth one of the chief blessings of God's saving presence among his people.

5:7 he is trying to pick a quarrel with me! Joram concluded that the entire incident was an attempt by Ben-Hadad to create a pretext for a declaration of war. So blind was the king to God's saving presence through Elisha that he could think only of international intrigue.

5:8 Why have you torn your robes? Elisha chided Joram for his fear (see note on 1Sa 17:11) and for his failure to consult the Lord's prophet (see 3:13–14 for evidence of the tension that existed between Joram and Elisha).

5:9 with his horses and chariots. This proud pagan would command the healing by his lordly presence.

5:10 wash yourself seven times in the Jordan. The instruction is designed to demonstrate to Naaman that healing would come by the power of the God of Israel, but only if he obeyed the word of the Lord's prophet. The prophet himself was not a healer. Ritual washings were practiced among Eastern religions as a purification rite, and the number seven was generally known as a symbol of completeness. Naaman was to wash in the muddy waters of the Jordan River, demonstrating that there was no natural connection between the washing and the desired healing. Perhaps it also suggested that one needed to pass through the Jordan, as Israel had done (Jos 3–4), in order to obtain healing from the God of Israel.

5:11 wave his hand over the spot and cure me of my leprosy. Naaman expected to be healed by the magical technique of the prophet rather than by the power of God operative in connection with his own obedient response to God's word.

5:12 Abana and Pharpar. The Abana was termed the Golden River by the Greeks. It is usually identified with the Barada River of today, rising in the Anti-Lebanon mountains and flowing through the city of Damascus. The Pharpar River flows east from Mount Hermon just to the south of Damascus.

you not have done it? How much more, then, when he tells you, 'Wash and be cleansed'!" [14]So he went down and dipped himself in the Jordan seven times,[u] as the man of God had told him, and his flesh was restored[v] and became clean like that of a young boy.[w]

[15]Then Naaman and all his attendants went back to the man of God[x]. He stood before him and said, "Now I know[y] that there is no God in all the world except in Israel. Please accept now a gift[z] from your servant."

[16]The prophet answered, "As surely as the LORD lives, whom I serve, I will not accept a thing." And even though Naaman urged him, he refused.[a]

[17]"If you will not," said Naaman, "please let me, your servant, be given as much earth[b] as a pair of mules can carry, for your servant will never again make burnt offerings and sacrifices to any other god but the LORD. [18]But may the LORD forgive your servant for this one thing: When my master enters the temple of Rimmon to bow down and he is leaning[c] on my arm and I bow there also—when I bow down in the temple of Rimmon, may the LORD forgive your servant for this."

[19]"Go in peace,"[d] Elisha said.

After Naaman had traveled some distance, [20]Gehazi, the servant of Elisha the man of God, said to himself, "My master was too easy on Naaman, this Aramean, by not accepting from him what he brought. As surely as the LORD[e] lives, I will run after him and get something from him."

[21]So Gehazi hurried after Naaman. When Naaman saw him running toward him, he got down from the chariot to meet him. "Is everything all right?" he asked.

[22]"Everything is all right," Gehazi answered. "My master sent me to say, 'Two young men from the company of the prophets have just come to me from the hill country of Ephraim. Please give them a talent[g] of silver and two sets of clothing.' "[f]

[23]"By all means, take two talents," said Naaman. He urged Gehazi to accept them, and then tied up the two talents of silver in two bags, with two sets of clothing. He gave them to two of his servants, and they carried them ahead of Gehazi. [24]When Gehazi came to the hill, he took the things from the servants and put them away in the house. He sent the men away and they left. [25]Then he went in and stood before his master Elisha.

"Where have you been, Gehazi?" Elisha asked.

"Your servant didn't go anywhere," Gehazi answered.

[26]But Elisha said to him, "Was not my spirit with you when the man got down from his chariot to meet you? Is this the time[g] to take money, or to accept clothes, olive groves, vineyards, flocks, herds, or menservants and maidservants?[h] [27]Naaman's leprosy[i] will cling

[g] 22 That is, about 75 pounds (about 34 kilograms)

5:14 his flesh was restored and became clean like that of a young boy. Physically he was reborn (see also v. 15 and note). As he obeyed God's word, Naaman received the gift of God's grace. Naaman is here a sign to disobedient Israel that God's blessing is found only in the path of trustful obedience. When his own people turn away from covenant faithfulness, God will raise up those who will follow his word from outside the covenant nation (see notes on 1Ki 17:9–24; see also Mt 8:10–12; Lk 4:27).

5:15 no God in all the world except in Israel. Naaman's confession put to shame the Israelites who continued to waver in their opinion on whether Baal and the Lord (Yahweh) were both gods, or whether Yahweh alone was God (see note on 1Ki 18:21).

5:16 I will not accept a thing. Elisha did not seek monetary gain for proclaiming the word of the Lord (see Mt 10:8). Naaman was healed solely by divine grace, not by the power of Elisha.

5:17 let me . . . be given as much earth as a pair of mules can carry. In the ancient world it was commonly thought that a deity could be worshiped only on the soil of the nation to which he was bound (see v. 15). For this reason Naaman wanted to take Israelite soil with him in order to have a place in Damascus for the worship of the Lord.

5:18 my master. Ben-Hadad, king of Aram. Rimmon. Also known as Hadad (and in Canaan and Phoenicia as Baal), this Aramean deity was the god of storm ("Rimmon" means "thunderer") and war. The two names were sometimes combined (see note on Zec 12:11).

5:19 Go in peace. Elisha did not directly address Naaman's problem of conscience (v. 18), but commended him to the leading and grace of God as he returned to his pagan environment and official responsibilities.

5:20 As surely as the LORD lives. An oath formula (see note on 1Sa 14:39).

5:22 company of the prophets. See note on 2:3. Please give them a talent of silver and two sets of clothing. Gehazi deceived Naaman in order to satisfy his desire for material gain. The evil of his lie was compounded in that it obscured the gracious character of the Lord's work in Naaman's healing and blurred the distinction between Elisha's function as a true prophet of the Lord and the self-serving actions of false prophets and pagan soothsayers.

5:24 house. Of Elisha (see v. 9).

5:26 Is this the time to take money . . . ? Gehazi sought to use the grace of God granted to another individual for his own material advantage. This was equivalent to making merchandise of God's grace (see note on 2Co 2:17). "Money" here and elsewhere in 2 Kings refers to gold or silver in various weights, not to coins, which were a later invention. clothes . . . maidservants. Evidently what Gehazi secretly hoped to acquire with the two talents of silver (see note on v. 5).

5:27 leprosy. See NIV text note on v. 1. to you and to your descendants forever. For the extension of punishment to the children of an offender of God's law see Ex 20:5 and note; see also note on Jos 7:24. white as snow. See Ex 4:6.

to you and to your descendants forever." Then Gehazi[j] went from Elisha's presence and he was leprous, as white as snow.[k]

An Axhead Floats

6 The company[l] of the prophets said to Elisha, "Look, the place where we meet with you is too small for us. 2Let us go to the Jordan, where each of us can get a pole; and let us build a place there for us to live."

And he said, "Go."

3Then one of them said, "Won't you please come with your servants?"

"I will," Elisha replied. 4And he went with them.

They went to the Jordan and began to cut down trees. 5As one of them was cutting down a tree, the iron axhead fell into the water. "Oh, my lord," he cried out, "it was borrowed!"

6The man of God asked, "Where did it fall?" When he showed him the place, Elisha cut a stick and threw[m] it there, and made the iron float. 7"Lift it out," he said. Then the man reached out his hand and took it.

Elisha Traps Blinded Arameans

8Now the king of Aram was at war with Israel. After conferring with his officers, he said, "I will set up my camp in such and such a place."

9The man of God sent word to the king[n] of Israel: "Beware of passing that place, because the Arameans are going down there." 10So the king of Israel checked on the place indicated by the man of God. Time and again Elisha warned[o] the king, so that he was on his guard in such places.

11This enraged the king of Aram. He summoned his officers and demanded of them, "Will you not tell me which of us is on the side of the king of Israel?"

12"None of us, my lord the king[p]," said one of his officers, "but Elisha, the prophet who is in Israel, tells the king of Israel the very words you speak in your bedroom."

13"Go, find out where he is," the king ordered, "so I can send men and capture him." The report came back: "He is in Dothan."[q] 14Then he sent[r] horses and chariots and a strong force there. They went by night and surrounded the city.

15When the servant of the man of God got up and went out early the next morning, an army with horses and chariots had surrounded the city. "Oh, my lord, what shall we do?" the servant asked.

16"Don't be afraid,"[s] the prophet answered. "Those who are with us are more[t] than those who are with them."

17And Elisha prayed, "O LORD, open his eyes so he may see." Then the LORD opened the servant's eyes, and he looked and saw the hills full of horses and chariots[u] of fire all around Elisha.

18As the enemy came down toward him, Elisha prayed to the LORD, "Strike these people with blindness."[v] So he struck them with blindness, as Elisha had asked.

19Elisha told them, "This is not the

6:1 company of the prophets. See note on 2:3.

6:2 a place there for us to live. Some have suggested that the company of prophets lived in a communal housing structure. The Hebrew for this phrase, however, could be translated "a place there for us to sit," referring to some type of assembly hall. It is implied in 4:1–7 that there were separate dwellings for the members of the prophetic companies (see note on 1Sa 19:18).

6:5 it was borrowed. At that time an iron axhead was a costly tool, too expensive for the members of the prophetic company to purchase. Having lost it, the borrower faced the prospect of having to work off the value as a bondservant.

6:6 Elisha cut a stick and threw it there, and made the iron float. The Lord demonstrated here his concern for the welfare of his faithful ones.

6:8 king of Aram. Probably Ben-Hadad II (see note on 5:1). war with Israel. A reference to border clashes rather than full-scale hostility (see v. 23; see also note on 5:2). Some indication of Israelite weakness and Aramean strength is seen in the ability of the Arameans to send forces to Dothan (only about 11 miles north of Samaria) without apparent difficulty (see vv. 13–14).

6:9 man of God. Elisha (see v. 10). king of Israel. Probably Joram (see 1:17; 3:1; 9:24).

6:11 which of us is on the side of the king of Israel? Repeated evidence that Israel possessed advance knowledge of Aramean military plans led the king of Aram to suspect that there was a traitor among his top officials.

6:12 king of Israel. Joram (see 3:1).

6:13 capture him. The king of Aram thought he could eliminate Elisha's influence by denying him contact with Israel's king. Dothan. Located on a hill about halfway between Jezreel and Samaria, where the main royal residences were (see 1:2; 3:1; 8:29; 9:15; 10:1; 1Ki 21:1).

6:16 Those who are with us are more than those who are with them. Elisha knew that there was greater strength in the unseen reality of the hosts of heaven than in the visible reality of the Aramean forces (see 2Ch 32:7–8; Ps 34:7; 1Jn 4:4).

6:17 saw the hills full of horses and chariots. In response to Elisha's prayer, his servant was able to see the protecting might of the heavenly hosts gathered about Elisha (see Ge 32:1–2; Ps 34:7; 91:11–12; Mt 18:10; 26:53; see also note on 2Ki 2:11).

6:18 Strike these people with blindness. Elisha had prayed for the eyes of his servant to be opened to the unseen reality of the heavenly hosts; now he prays for the eyes of the Aramean soldiers to be closed to earthly reality (see Ge 19:11).

6:19 This is not the road and this is not the city. Elisha's statement led the Aramean soldiers to believe that they were being directed to the city where Elisha could be found. Technically this statement was not an untruth, since Elisha accompanied them to Samaria, but it was a means of deceiving the Aramean soldiers into a trap inside Samaria, the fortress-like capital city of the northern kingdom (see Ex 1:19–20; Jos 2:6; 1Sa 16:1–2 for other instances of road and this is not the city. Follow me, and I will lead you to the man you are looking for." And he led them to Samaria.

[20]After they entered the city, Elisha said, "LORD, open the eyes of these men so they can see." Then the LORD opened their eyes and they looked, and there they were, inside Samaria.

[21]When the king of Israel saw them, he asked Elisha, "Shall I kill them, my father?[w] Shall I kill them?"

[22]"Do not kill them," he answered. "Would you kill men you have captured[x] with your own sword or bow? Set food and water before them so that they may eat and drink and then go back to their master." [23]So he prepared a great feast for them, and after they had finished eating and drinking, he sent them away, and they returned to their master. So the bands[y] from Aram stopped raiding Israel's territory.

Famine in Besieged Samaria

[24]Some time later, Ben-Hadad[z] king of Aram mobilized his entire army and marched up and laid siege[a] to Samaria. [25]There was a great famine[b] in the city; the siege lasted so long that a donkey's head sold for eighty shekels[h] of silver, and a quarter of a cab[i] of seed pods[ic] for five shekels.[k]

[26]As the king of Israel was passing by on the wall, a woman cried to him, "Help me, my lord the king!"

[27]The king replied, "If the LORD does not help you, where can I get help for you? From the threshing floor? From the winepress?" [28]Then he asked her, "What's the matter?"

She answered, "This woman said to me, 'Give up your son so we may eat him today, and tomorrow we'll eat my son.' [29]So we cooked my son and ate[d] him. The next day I said to her, 'Give up your son so we may eat him,' but she had hidden him."

[30]When the king heard the woman's words, he tore[e] his robes. As he went along the wall, the people looked, and there, underneath, he had sackcloth[f] on his body. [31]He said, "May God deal with me, be it ever so severely, if the head of Elisha son of Shaphat remains on his shoulders today!"

[32]Now Elisha was sitting in his house, and the elders[g] were sitting with him. The king sent a messenger ahead, but before he arrived, Elisha said to the elders, "Don't you see how this murderer[h] is sending someone to cut off my head?[i] Look, when the messenger comes, shut the door and hold it shut against him. Is not the sound of his master's footsteps behind him?"

[33]While he was still talking to them, the messenger came down to him. And ⌊the king⌋ said, "This disaster is from the LORD. Why should I wait[j] for the LORD any longer?"

7 Elisha said, "Hear the word of the LORD. This is what the LORD says:

6:21 king of Israel. Joram (see note on v. 9).

6:22 Do not kill them. In reality the Aramean soldiers had been taken captive by the power of the Lord, not by Joram's military prowess. The Lord's purpose was to demonstrate to them and their king and to the Israelites and their king that Israel's national security ultimately was grounded in the Lord, not in military forces or strategies.

6:23 bands from Aram stopped raiding Israel's territory. See notes on v. 8; 5:2. Temporarily the Arameans recognized the futility of opposition to the power of the God of Israel.

6:24 Ben-Hadad. The same Ben-Hadad who had besieged Samaria on a previous occasion (see notes on 13:3; 1Ki 20:1). This siege is probably to be dated c. 850 B.C.

6:25 donkey's head. According to Pentateuchal law the donkey was unclean and not to be eaten (see Lev 11:2–7; Dt 14:4–8). The severity of the famine caused the inhabitants of Samaria not only to disregard the laws of uncleanness, but also to place a high value on the least edible part of the donkey. eighty shekels of silver. See NIV text note; see also note on 5:5.

6:27 If the LORD does not help you, where can I get help for you? Joram correctly recognized his own inability to assist the woman if the Lord himself did not act in Israel's behalf, but he wrongly implied that the Lord was to be blamed for a situation brought on by Israel's own disobedience and idolatry.

6:28 tomorrow we'll eat my son. The sins of the king and people were so great that the covenant curses of Lev 26:29 and Dt 28:53,57 were being inflicted (cf. La 4:10).

6:30 tore his robes. More an expression of anger toward Elisha and the Lord (see v. 31) than one of repentance and sorrow for the sins that had provoked the covenant curse. sackcloth. A coarse cloth usually worn as a sign of mourning (see note on Ge 37:34). It is not clear why Joram wore sackcloth hidden under his royal robe. Perhaps it was a testing of the Lord, a private ritual to attempt to gain divine favor.

6:31 May God deal with me, be it ever so severely. A curse formula (see note on 1Sa 3:17). if the head of Elisha . . . remains on his shoulders today! Joram considered Elisha in some way responsible for the conditions in the city. Cf. Ahab's attitude toward Elijah (1Ki 18:10,16; 21:20).

6:32 elders. Leaders of the city (see notes on Ex 3:16; 2Sa 3:17). They sit with Elisha rather than with the king.

6:33 Why should I wait for the LORD any longer? Joram felt himself deceived by Elisha and abandoned by the Lord, whom he blamed for the disastrous conditions in the city.

7:1 a seah of flour will sell for a shekel. See NIV text notes. This was about double the normal cost of flour, but a phenomenal improvement.

About this time tomorrow, a seah[l] of flour will sell for a shekel[m] and two seahs[n] of barley for a shekel[k] at the gate of Samaria."

[2]The officer on whose arm the king was leaning[t] said to the man of God, "Look, even if the LORD should open the floodgates[m] of the heavens, could this happen?"

"You will see it with your own eyes," answered Elisha, "but you will not eat[n] any of it!"

The Siege Lifted

[3]Now there were four men with leprosy[oo] at the entrance of the city gate. They said to each other, "Why stay here until we die? [4]If we say, 'We'll go into the city'—the famine is there, and we will die. And if we stay here, we will die. So let's go over to the camp of the Arameans and surrender. If they spare us, we live; if they kill us, then we die."

[5]At dusk they got up and went to the camp of the Arameans. When they reached the edge of the camp, not a man was there, [6]for the Lord had caused the Arameans to hear the sound[p] of chariots and horses and a great army, so that they said to one another, "Look, the king of Israel has hired[q] the Hittite[r] and Egyptian kings to attack us!" [7]So they got up and fled[s] in the dusk and abandoned their tents and their horses and donkeys. They left the camp as it was and ran for their lives.

[8]The men who had leprosy[t] reached the edge of the camp and entered one of the tents. They ate and drank, and carried away silver, gold and clothes, and went off and hid them. They returned and entered another tent and took some things from it and hid them also.

[9]Then they said to each other, "We're not doing right. This is a day of good news and we are keeping it to ourselves. If we wait until daylight, punishment will overtake us. Let's go at once and report this to the royal palace."

[10]So they went and called out to the city gatekeepers and told them, "We went into the Aramean camp and not a man was there—not a sound of anyone—only tethered horses and donkeys, and the tents left just as they were." [11]The gatekeepers shouted the news, and it was reported within the palace.

[12]The king got up in the night and said to his officers, "I will tell you what the Arameans have done to us. They know we are starving; so they have left the camp to hide[u] in the countryside, thinking, 'They will surely come out, and then we will take them alive and get into the city.' "

[13]One of his officers answered, "Have some men take five of the horses that are left in the city. Their plight will be like that of all the Israelites left here—yes, they will only be like all these Israelites who are doomed. So let us send them to find out what happened."

[14]So they selected two chariots with their horses, and the king sent them after the Aramean army. He commanded the drivers, "Go and find out what has happened." [15]They followed them as far as the Jordan, and they found the whole road strewn with the clothing and equipment the Arameans had thrown away in their headlong flight.[v] So the messengers returned and reported to the king. [16]Then the people went out and plundered[w] the camp of the Arameans. So a seah of flour sold for a shekel, and two seahs of barley sold for a shekel,[x] as the LORD had said.

[17]Now the king had put the officer on whose arm he leaned in charge of the gate, and the people trampled him in the gateway, and he died,[y] just as the man of God had foretold when the king came down to his house. [18]It happened as the man of God had said to the king: "About this time tomorrow, a seah of flour will sell for a shekel and two seahs of barley for a shekel at the gate of Samaria."

[19]The officer had said to the man of God, "Look, even if the LORD should open the floodgates[z] of the heavens, could this happen?" The man of God had replied, "You will see it with your own eyes, but you will not eat any of it!"

7:6 the LORD had caused the Arameans to hear the sound. See 2Sa 5:24 and note. Hittite ... kings. Kings of small city-states ruled by dynasties of Hittite origin, which had arisen in northern Aram after the fall of the Hittite empire c. 1200 B.C.
7:12 what the Arameans have done to us. Joram's unbelief caused him to conclude that the report of the four leprous men was part of an Aramean war strategy rather than an evidence of the fulfillment of Elisha's prophecy (see v. 1).
7:16–20 as the LORD had said ... as the man of God had foretold ... as the man of God had said ... that is exactly what happened to him. Emphasizing the trustworthiness of the prophetic word spoken by Elisha. In the fulfillment of Elisha's prophecy Israel was reminded that deliverance from her enemies was a gift of God's grace and that rejection of God's word provoked the wrath of divine judgment.

20And that is exactly what happened to him, for the people trampled him in the gateway, and he died.

The Shunammite's Land Restored

8 Now Elisha had said to the woman[a] whose son he had restored to life, "Go away with your family and stay for a while wherever you can, because the LORD has decreed a famine[b] in the land that will last seven years."[c] 2The woman proceeded to do as the man of God said. She and her family went away and stayed in the land of the Philistines seven years.

3At the end of the seven years she came back from the land of the Philistines and went to the king to beg for her house and land. 4The king was talking to Gehazi, the servant of the man of God, and had said, "Tell me about all the great things Elisha has done." 5Just as Gehazi was telling the king how Elisha had restored[d] the dead to life, the woman whose son Elisha had brought back to life came to beg the king for her house and land.

Gehazi said, "This is the woman, my lord the king, and this is her son whom Elisha restored to life." 6The king asked the woman about it, and she told him.

Then he assigned an official to her case and said to him, "Give back everything that belonged to her, including all the income from her land from the day she left the country until now."

Hazael Murders Ben-Hadad

7Elisha went to Damascus,[e] and Ben-Hadad[f] king of Aram was ill. When the king was told, "The man of God has come all the way up here," 8he said to Hazael,[g] "Take a gift[h] with you and go to meet the man of God. Consult[i] the LORD through him; ask him, 'Will I recover from this illness?' "

9Hazael went to meet Elisha, taking with him as a gift forty camel-loads of all the finest wares of Damascus. He went in and stood before him, and said, "Your son Ben-Hadad king of Aram has sent me to ask, 'Will I recover from this illness?' "

10Elisha answered, "Go and say to him, 'You will certainly recover';[j] but[p] the LORD has revealed to me that he will in fact die." 11He stared at him with a fixed gaze until Hazael felt ashamed.[k] Then the man of God began to weep.[l]

12"Why is my lord weeping?" asked Hazael.

"Because I know the harm[m] you will do to the Israelites," he answered. "You will set fire to their fortified places, kill their young men with the sword, dash[n] their little children[o] to the ground, and rip open[p] their pregnant women."

13Hazael said, "How could your servant, a mere dog,[q] accomplish such a feat?"

[p] 10 The Hebrew may also be read Go and say, 'You will certainly not recover,' for.

8:1 the LORD has decreed a famine. The famine should have been perceived by the people of the northern kingdom as a covenant curse sent on them because of their sin (see note on 4:38). seven years. It is not clear whether this famine began before or after the Aramean siege of Samaria (see 4:38; 6:24–7:20).

8:2 She and her family went away. Elisha's instruction enabled the woman and her family to escape the privations of the famine.

8:3 went to the king. See note on 1Ki 3:16. beg for her house and land. Either someone had illegally occupied the woman's property during her absence, or it had fallen to the domain of the king by virtue of its abandonment.

8:4 Gehazi. See 5:27. Tell me about all the great things Elisha has done. The king's lack of familiarity with Elisha's ministry is perhaps an indication that this incident occurred in the early days of the reign of Jehu rather than in the time of Joram, who had had numerous contacts with Elisha (see 3:13–14; 5:7–10; 6:10–23; 6:24–7:20). But see note on 5:7.

8:5 as Gehazi was telling the king. The woman's approach to the king providentially coincided with Gehazi's story of her son's miraculous restoration to life through the ministry of Elisha.

8:6 Give back everything that belonged to her. The widow and her son were living examples of the Lord's provision and blessing for those who were obedient to the word of the Lord through his prophets.

8:7 Elisha went to Damascus. The time had come for Elisha to carry out one of the three tasks originally given to Elijah at Mount Horeb (see notes on 1Ki 19:15–16). The annals of the Assyrian ruler Shalmaneser III record Assyrian victories over Ben-Hadad (Hadadezer) of Damascus in 846 B.C. and Hazael of Damascus in 842. Elisha's visit to Damascus is to be dated c. 843.

8:8 Consult the LORD through him. In a reversal of the situation described in 1:1–4, a pagan king seeks an oracle from Israel's God. Will I recover . . . ? The question is the same as that of Ahaziah in 1:2.

8:9 forty camel-loads of all the finest wares of Damascus. Damascus was the center for trade between Egypt, Asia Minor and Mesopotamia. Ben-Hadad evidently thought a generous gift would favorably influence Elisha's oracle. Your son Ben-Hadad. Use of father-son terminology is a tacit acknowledgment by Ben-Hadad of Elisha's superiority (see 6:21; 1Sa 25:8).

8:10 You will certainly recover. This reading of the Hebrew text (see NIV text note for an alternative reading) is to be preferred (see v. 14) and understood as an assertion that Ben-Hadad's illness was not terminal.

8:12 harm you will do to the Israelites. The Lord gave Elisha a clear picture of the severity of the judgment he was about to send on Israel by the hand of Hazael (see 9:14–16; 10:32; 12:17–18; 13:3,22). set fire . . . rip open their pregnant women. These actions were characteristic of victorious armies at that time (see 15:16; Hos 10:14; 13:16; Am 1:13). Elisha's words do not sanction such acts but simply describe Hazael's future attacks on Israel.

8:13 How could your servant, a mere dog, accomplish such a feat? Hazael did not show repulsion at these violent acts but saw no possibility to gain the power necessary to accomplish them (for this metaphorical use of "The LORD has shown me that you will become king[r] of Aram," answered Elisha.

14Then Hazael left Elisha and returned to his master. When Ben-Hadad asked, "What did Elisha say to you?" Hazael replied, "He told me that you would certainly recover." 15But the next day he took a thick cloth, soaked it in water and spread it over the king's face, so that he died.[s] Then Hazael succeeded him as king.

Jehoram King of Judah

8:16–24pp — 2Ch 21:5–10,20

16In the fifth year of Joram[t] son of Ahab king of Israel, when Jehoshaphat was king of Judah, Jehoram[u] son of Jehoshaphat began his reign as king of Judah. 17He was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eight years. 18He walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done, for he married a daughter[v] of Ahab. He did evil in the eyes of the LORD. 19Nevertheless, for the sake of his servant David, the LORD was not willing to destroy[w] Judah. He had promised to maintain a lamp[x] for David and his descendants forever.

20In the time of Jehoram, Edom rebelled against Judah and set up its own king.[y] 21So Jehoram[q] went to Zair with all his chariots. The Edomites surrounded him and his chariot commanders, but he rose up and broke through by night; his army, however, fled back home. 22To this day Edom has been in rebellion[z] against Judah. Libnah[a] revolted at the same time.

23As for the other events of Jehoram's reign, and all he did, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah? 24Jehoram rested with his fathers and was buried with them in the City of David. And Ahaziah his son succeeded him as king.

Ahaziah King of Judah

8:25–29pp — 2Ch 22:1–6

25In the twelfth[b] year of Joram son of Ahab king of Israel, Ahaziah son of Jehoram king of Judah began to reign. 26Ahaziah was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem one year. His mother's name was Athaliah,[c] a granddaughter of Omri[d] king of Israel. 27He walked in the ways of the house of Ahab[e] and did evil[f] in the eyes of the LORD, as the house of Ahab had done, for he was related by marriage to Ahab's family.

28Ahaziah went with Joram son of Ahab to war against Hazael king of Aram "dog" see note on 2Sa 9:8). you will become king of Aram. Elisha's prophecy suggests that Hazael was not a legitimate successor to Ben-Hadad. In an Assyrian inscription Hazael is designated "the son of a nobody" (i.e., a commoner) who usurped the throne.

8:15 died. Elisha's prophecy of Hazael's kingship did not legitimize the assassination. Hazael's murder of Ben-Hadad as well as his future acts of violence against Israel were wicked acts arising out of his own sinful heart (see Isa 10:5–19). His reign extended from c. 842 B.C. to c. 806 or 796, and he was followed by a son he named Ben-Hadad (13:24).

8:16 fifth year of Joram. 848 B.C. Jehoram had been coregent with his father since 853 (see note on 1:17), but he now began his reign as sole king.

8:17 reigned in Jerusalem eight years. Jehoram's sole reign is to be dated 848–841 B.C.

8:18 as the house of Ahab had done. Jehoram introduced Baal worship in Judah, as Ahab had done in the northern kingdom (see 11:18). Baal worship now spread to the southern kingdom at the same time it was being restricted in the northern kingdom by Ahab's son Joram (see 3:1–2). married a daughter of Ahab. Jehoram's wife was Athaliah, a daughter of Ahab but probably not of Jezebel (see v. 26; 2Ch 18:1). Athaliah's influence on Jehoram paralleled that of Jezebel on Ahab (see 1Ki 16:31; 18:4; 19:1–2; 2Ch 21:6).

8:19 lamp for David. See note on 1Ki 11:36; see also Ps 132:17. The Lord spared Judah and its royal house the judgment he brought on the house of Ahab because of the covenant he had made with David (see 2Sa 7:16,29; 2Ch 21:7).

8:20 set up its own king. Previously Edom had been subject to Judah and had been ruled by a deputy (see note on 3:9; see also 1Ki 22:47).

8:21 his army . . . fled. Although Jehoram and his army were able to break through an encirclement by Edomite forces, they were soundly defeated and forced to retreat to their own territory.

8:22 To this day. Until the time of the writing of the account of Jehoram's reign used by the author of 1,2 Kings (see Introduction to 1 Kings: Author, Sources and Date; see also note on 1Ki 8:8). Later, Amaziah of Judah was able to inflict a serious defeat on Edom (14:7), and his successor Azariah regained control of the trade route to Elath through Edomite territory (14:22; 2Ch 26:2). Libnah revolted at the same time. Libnah appears to have been located close to the Philistine border near Lachish (see 19:8). It is likely that the revolt of Libnah was connected with that of the Philistines and Arabs described in 2Ch 21:16–17.

8:23 other events of Jehoram's reign. See 2Ch 21:4–20. annals of the kings of Judah. See note on 1Ki 14:29.

8:24 rested with his fathers. See notes on 1Ki 1:21; 2Ch 21:20.

8:25 twelfth year of Joram. 841 B.C. In 9:29 the first year of Joram's reign was counted as his accession year and his second year as the first year of his reign, whereas here his accession year was counted as the first year of his reign (see Introduction to 1 Kings: Chronology).

8:26 twenty-two years old when he became king. See note on 2Ch 22:2. Athaliah. See note on v. 18.

8:27 ways of the house of Ahab. See 2Ch 22:3–5.

8:28 Ahaziah went with Joram . . . to war against Hazael . . . at Ramoth Gilead. As Jehoshaphat had joined Ahab in battle against the Arameans at Ramoth Gilead (1Ki 22), so now Ahaziah joined his uncle Joram in a similar venture. On the previous occasion Ahab met his death (1Ki 22:37). On this occasion Joram was wounded and, while recuperating in Jezreel (see note on 1Ki 21:1), both he and his at Ramoth Gilead.[g] The Arameans wounded Joram; [29]so King Joram returned to Jezreel[h] to recover from the wounds the Arameans had inflicted on him at Ramoth[r] in his battle with Hazael[i] king of Aram.

Then Ahaziah[j] son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to Jezreel to see Joram son of Ahab, because he had been wounded.

Jehu Anointed King of Israel

9 The prophet Elisha summoned a man from the company[k] of the prophets and said to him, "Tuck your cloak into your belt,[l] take this flask of oil[m] with you and go to Ramoth Gilead.[n] [2]When you get there, look for Jehu son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi. Go to him, get him away from his companions and take him into an inner room. [3]Then take the flask and pour the oil[o] on his head and declare, 'This is what the LORD says: I anoint you king over Israel.' Then open the door and run; don't delay!"

[4]So the young man, the prophet, went to Ramoth Gilead. [5]When he arrived, he found the army officers sitting together. "I have a message for you, commander," he said.

"For which of us?" asked Jehu.

"For you, commander," he replied.

[6]Jehu got up and went into the house. Then the prophet poured the oil[p] on Jehu's head and declared, "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: 'I anoint you king over the LORD's people Israel. [7]You are to destroy the house of Ahab your master, and I will avenge[q] the blood of my servants[r] the prophets and the blood of all the LORD's servants shed by Jezebel.[s] [8]The whole house[t] of Ahab will perish. I will cut off from Ahab every last male[u] in Israel—slave or free. [9]I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam[v] son of Nebat and like the house of Baasha[w] son of Ahijah. [10]As for Jezebel, dogs[x] will devour her on the plot of ground at Jezreel, and no one will bury her.' " Then he opened the door and ran.

[11]When Jehu went out to his fellow officers, one of them asked him, "Is everything all right? Why did this madman[y] come to you?"

"You know the man and the sort of things he says," Jehu replied.

[12]"That's not true!" they said. "Tell us."

Jehu said, "Here is what he told me: 'This is what the LORD says: I anoint you king over Israel.' "

[13]They hurried and took their cloaks and spread[z] them under him on the bare steps. Then they blew the trumpet[a] and shouted, "Jehu is king!"

Jehu Kills Joram and Ahaziah

9:21-29pp — 2Ch 22:7-9

[14]So Jehu son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, conspired against Joram. (Now Joram and all Israel had been defending Ramoth Gilead[b] against Hazael king of Aram, [15]but King Joram[s] had returned to Jezreel to recover[c] from the wounds the Arameans had inflicted on him in the battle with Hazael king of Aram.) Jehu said, "If this is the way you feel, don't let anyone slip out of the city to go and tell the news in Jezreel." [16]Then he got into his chariot and rode to Jezreel, because Joram was resting there and Ahaziah[d] king of Judah had gone down to see him.

[17]When the lookout[e] standing on the tower in Jezreel saw Jehu's troops approaching, he called out, "I see some troops coming."

"Get a horseman," Joram ordered. "Send him to meet them and ask, 'Do you come in peace?[f]' "

[18]The horseman rode off to meet Jehu and said, "This is what the king says: 'Do you come in peace?' "

"What do you have to do with peace?" Jehu replied. "Fall in behind me."

The lookout reported, "The messenger has reached them, but he isn't coming back."

[19]So the king sent out a second horseman. When he came to them he said,

9:1 company of the prophets. See note on 2:3.

9:3 I anoint you king. See notes on 1Sa 2:10; 9:16; 1Ki 19:16.

9:7 destroy the house of Ahab. Jehu learned that he was the divinely appointed agent to inflict the judgment Elijah had pronounced many years earlier in his own hearing against the house of Ahab (see vv. 25–26; 1Ki 21:21–24). blood of all the LORD's servants shed by Jezebel. A reference to people such as Naboth and his family (1Ki 21:13), who were unjustly put to death through Jezebel's influence.

9:8 slave or free. See note on 1Ki 14:10.

9:9 like the house of Jeroboam. See 1Ki 14:7–11; 15:27–30. like the house of Baasha. See 1Ki 16:1–4,8–12. Elijah had spoken the same words to Ahab years before (see 1Ki 21:21–24).

9:11 this madman. The epithet betrays a scornful attitude on the part of the military officers of the northern kingdom toward members of the prophetic companies.

9:15 don't let anyone . . . go and tell the news in Jezreel. For the success of Jehu's revolt and to avoid a civil conflict it was important to take Joram totally by surprise.

9:16 Jezreel. About 45 miles from Ramoth Gilead. Ahaziah . . . had gone down to see him. See 8:29.

"This is what the king says: 'Do you come in peace?' "

Jehu replied, "What do you have to do with peace? Fall in behind me."

20The lookout reported, "He has reached them, but he isn't coming back either. The driving is like[g] that of Jehu son of Nimshi—he drives like a madman."

21"Hitch up my chariot," Joram ordered. And when it was hitched up, Joram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah rode out, each in his own chariot, to meet Jehu. They met him at the plot of ground that had belonged to Naboth[h] the Jezreelite. 22When Joram saw Jehu he asked, "Have you come in peace, Jehu?"

"How can there be peace," Jehu replied, "as long as all the idolatry and witchcraft of your mother Jezebel[i] abound?"

23Joram turned about and fled, calling out to Ahaziah, "Treachery,[j] Ahaziah!"

24Then Jehu drew his bow[k] and shot Joram between the shoulders. The arrow pierced his heart and he slumped down in his chariot. 25Jehu said to Bidkar, his chariot officer, "Pick him up and throw him on the field that belonged to Naboth the Jezreelite. Remember how you and I were riding together in chariots behind Ahab his father when the LORD made this prophecy[l] about him: 26'Yesterday I saw the blood of Naboth[m] and the blood of his sons, declares the LORD, and I will surely make you pay for it on this plot of ground, declares the LORD.'[t] Now then, pick him up and throw him on that plot, in accordance with the word of the LORD."[n]

27When Ahaziah king of Judah saw what had happened, he fled up the road to Beth Haggan.[u] Jehu chased him, shouting, "Kill him too!" They wounded him in his chariot on the way up to Gur near Ibleam,[o] but he escaped to Megiddo[p] and died there. 28His servants took him by chariot[q] to Jerusalem and buried him with his fathers in his tomb in the City of David. 29(In the eleventh[r] year of Joram son of Ahab, Ahaziah had become king of Judah.)

Jezebel Killed

30Then Jehu went to Jezreel. When Jezebel heard about it, she painted[s] her eyes, arranged her hair and looked out of a window. 31As Jehu entered the gate, she asked, "Have you come in peace, Zimri,[t] you murderer of your master?"[v]

32He looked up at the window and called out, "Who is on my side? Who?" Two or three eunuchs looked down at him. 33"Throw her down!" Jehu said. So they threw her down, and some of her blood spattered the wall and the horses as they trampled her underfoot.[u]

34Jehu went in and ate and drank. "Take care of that cursed woman," he said, "and bury her, for she was a king's daughter."[v] 35But when they went out to bury her, they found nothing except her skull, her feet and her hands. 36They went back and told Jehu, who said, "This is the word of the LORD that he spoke through his servant Elijah the Tishbite: On the plot of ground at Jezreel dogs[w] will devour Jezebel's flesh.[w x] 37Jezebel's body will be like refuse[y] on the ground in the plot at Jezreel, so that no one will be able to say, 'This is Jezebel.' "

Ahab's Family Killed

10 Now there were in Samaria[z] seventy sons[a] of the house of Ahab. So Jehu wrote letters and sent them to t 26 See 1 Kings 21:19. u 27 Or fled by way of the garden house v 31 Or "Did Zimri have peace, who murdered his master?" w 36 See 1 Kings 21:23.

9:21 plot of ground that had belonged to Naboth. See notes on 1Ki 21:2–3,13,19.

9:22 idolatry and witchcraft. Both punishable by death (see Dt 13; 18:10–12). As long as these evils were promoted in the northern kingdom, there could be no peace.

9:26 in accordance with the word of the LORD. Jehu saw himself providentially placed in the position of fulfilling the prophecy of Elijah given years before (see 1Ki 21:18–24). Even though Ahab's own blood was not shed on Naboth's field (see 1Ki 21:29 and note), Jehu saw in Joram's death the fulfillment of Elijah's prophecy (see note on 1Ki 21:19).

9:27 escaped to Megiddo and died there. It may be questioned whether Jehu was justified in extending the purge of Ahab's house (see Hos 1:4) to the descendants of the house of David through Ahab's daughter Athaliah (see 8:18,26).

9:31 Zimri, you murderer of your master. In bitter sarcasm Jezebel called Jehu by the name Zimri. About 45 years earlier Zimri had seized the throne from Elah by assassination and then had destroyed the whole house of Baasha. He ruled, however, for only seven days before Omri seized power (see 1Ki 16:8–20).

9:36 the word of the LORD that he spoke through his servant Elijah. In the manner of Jezebel's death the word of the Lord was confirmed—the word she had defied during her life (see 1Ki 21:23).

10:1 Samaria. In order to consolidate his coup and establish control of the northern kingdom, Jehu still faced the formidable problems of taking the nearly impregnable fortress of Samaria (see note on 1Ki 16:24) and then of completing the destruction of Ahab's house. seventy sons of the house of Ahab. The number of Ahab's wives is unknown (see 1Ki 20:5). The 70 presumably included both sons and grandsons. officials. Officers appointed by the king (see 1Ki 4:1–6). elders. Local leaders by virtue of their position in the tribal and family structure (see notes on Ex 3:16; 2Sa 3:17). guardians of Ahab's children. Those entrusted with the care and upbringing of the princes in the royal family.

Samaria: to the officials of Jezreel,[x] [b] to the elders and to the guardians[c] of Ahab's children. He said, [2]"As soon as this letter reaches you, since your master's sons are with you and you have chariots and horses, a fortified city and weapons, [3]choose the best and most worthy of your master's sons and set him on his father's throne. Then fight for your master's house."

[4]But they were terrified and said, "If two kings could not resist him, how can we?"

[5]So the palace administrator, the city governor, the elders and the guardians sent this message to Jehu: "We are your servants[d] and we will do anything you say. We will not appoint anyone as king; you do whatever you think best."

[6]Then Jehu wrote them a second letter, saying, "If you are on my side and will obey me, take the heads of your master's sons and come to me in Jezreel by this time tomorrow."

Now the royal princes, seventy of them, were with the leading men of the city, who were rearing them. [7]When the letter arrived, these men took the princes and slaughtered all seventy[e] of them. They put their heads[f] in baskets and sent them to Jehu in Jezreel. [8]When the messenger arrived, he told Jehu, "They have brought the heads of the princes."

Then Jehu ordered, "Put them in two piles at the entrance of the city gate until morning."

[9]The next morning Jehu went out. He stood before all the people and said, "You are innocent. It was I who conspired against my master and killed him, but who killed all these? [10]Know then, that not a word the LORD has spoken against the house of Ahab will fail. The LORD has done what he promised[g] through his servant Elijah."[h] [11]So Jehu[i] killed everyone in Jezreel who remained of the house of Ahab, as well as all his chief men, his close friends and his priests, leaving him no survivor.[j]

[12]Jehu then set out and went toward Samaria. At Beth Eked of the Shepherds, [13]he met some relatives of Ahaziah king of Judah and asked, "Who are you?"

They said, "We are relatives of Ahaziah,[k] and we have come down to greet the families of the king and of the queen mother.[l]"

[14]"Take them alive!" he ordered. So they took them alive and slaughtered them by the well of Beth Eked—forty-two men. He left no survivor.[m]

[15]After he left there, he came upon Jehonadab[n] son of Recab,[o] who was on his way to meet him. Jehu greeted him and said, "Are you in accord with me, as I am with you?"

"I am," Jehonadab answered.

"If so," said Jehu, "give me your hand."[p] So he did, and Jehu helped him up into the chariot. [16]Jehu said, "Come with me and see my zeal[q] for the LORD."

10:3 fight for your master's house. Jehu's strategy was to induce the leaders of Samaria into submission to his rule by bluffing a military confrontation.

10:4 terrified. The leaders of Samaria were completely intimidated by Jehu's challenge.

10:5 palace administrator. See note on 1Ki 4:6. city governor. Probably an official appointed by the king who served as commander of the militia of the capital city. the elders and the guardians. See note on v. 1.

10:6 take the heads of your master's sons and come to me. The wording of Jehu's command contains what appears to be a deliberate ambiguity. The "heads of your master's sons" could be understood as a reference to the leading figures among the 70 descendants of Ahab, such as the crown prince and several other sons of special ability and standing. On the other hand, the expression could be taken as a reference to the literal heads of all 70 princes.

10:7 slaughtered all seventy. The leaders of the city understood the communique in the literal sense, as Jehu most certainly had hoped they would. put their heads in baskets and sent them to Jehu. The leaders of Samaria did not carry the heads of the princes to Jezreel themselves as they had been ordered to do by Jehu (see v. 6). It is likely that they feared for their lives.

10:8 Put them in two piles at the entrance of the city gate. This gruesome procedure imitated the barbaric practice of the Assyrian rulers Ashurnasirpal and Shalmaneser III, whose reigns were characterized by acts of terror.

10:9 It was I who . . . killed him. Jehu openly confessed his own part in the overthrow of the government of Joram. who killed all these? Because of the ambiguous communique Jehu sent to the leaders of Samaria (see note on v. 6), he can now deny any personal responsibility for the slaughter of the 70 sons of Ahab and can lay the blame for it on the leaders of Samaria.

10:10 what he promised through his servant Elijah. See 1Ki 21:20–24,29. Jehu implies a divine sanction not only for what had already been done but also for his intent to continue the purge of Ahab's house and associates.

10:11 all his chief men, his close friends and his priests. Jehu went beyond the responsibility given to him (see 9:7; Hos 1:4) and acted solely on grounds of political self-interest. Jehu himself had been in the service of Ahab (see 9:25).

10:13 relatives of Ahaziah. See 2Ch 21:17. families of the king and of the queen mother. Members of the royal family from Judah who had not yet heard of the deaths of Joram and Jezebel.

10:15 Jehonadab son of Recab. Jehonadab was the leader of a conservative movement among the Israelites that was characterized by strong opposition to Baalism as well as to various practices of a settled agricultural society, including the building of houses, the sowing of crops and the use of wine. His followers still adhered to these principles over 200 years later and were known as Recabites (see Jer 35:6–10).

10:16 had him ride along. Public association with Jehonadab gave Jehu added credentials among the rural populace as a follower of the Lord.

Then he had him ride along in his chariot.

17When Jehu came to Samaria, he killed all who were left there of Ahab's family;[r] he destroyed them, according to the word of the LORD spoken to Elijah.

Ministers of Baal Killed

18Then Jehu brought all the people together and said to them, "Ahab served[s] Baal a little; Jehu will serve him much. 19Now summon[t] all the prophets of Baal, all his ministers and all his priests. See that no one is missing, because I am going to hold a great sacrifice for Baal. Anyone who fails to come will no longer live." But Jehu was acting deceptively in order to destroy the ministers of Baal.

20Jehu said, "Call an assembly[u] in honor of Baal." So they proclaimed it. 21Then he sent word throughout Israel, and all the ministers of Baal came; not one stayed away. They crowded into the temple of Baal until it was full from one end to the other. 22And Jehu said to the keeper of the wardrobe, "Bring robes for all the ministers of Baal." So he brought out robes for them.

23Then Jehu and Jehonadab son of Recab went into the temple of Baal. Jehu said to the ministers of Baal, "Look around and see that no servants of the LORD are here with you—only ministers of Baal." 24So they went in to make sacrifices and burnt offerings. Now Jehu had posted eighty men outside with this warning: "If one of you lets any of the men I am placing in your hands escape, it will be your life for his life."[v]

25As soon as Jehu had finished making the burnt offering, he ordered the guards and officers: "Go in and kill[w] them; let no one escape."[x] So they cut them down with the sword. The guards and officers threw the bodies out and then entered the inner shrine of the temple of Baal. 26They brought the sacred stone[y] out of the temple of Baal and burned it. 27They demolished the sacred stone of Baal and tore down the temple[z] of Baal, and people have used it for a latrine to this day.

28So Jehu[a] destroyed Baal worship in Israel. 29However, he did not turn away from the sins[b] of Jeroboam son of Nebat, which he had caused Israel to commit—the worship of the golden calves[c] at Bethel[d] and Dan.

30The LORD said to Jehu, "Because you have done well in accomplishing what is right in my eyes and have done to the house of Ahab all I had in mind to do, your descendants will sit on the throne of Israel to the fourth generation."[e] 31Yet Jehu was not careful[f] to keep the law of the LORD, the God of Israel, with all his heart. He did not turn away from the sins[g] of Jeroboam, which he had caused Israel to commit.

32In those days the LORD began to reduce[h] the size of Israel. Hazael[i] overpowered the Israelites throughout their territory 33east of the Jordan in all the land of Gilead (the region of Gad, Reuben and Manasseh), from Aroer[j] by the Arnon[k] Gorge through Gilead to Bashan.

34As for the other events of Jehu's reign, all he did, and all his achievements, are they not written in the book of the annals[l] of the kings of Israel?

35Jehu rested with his fathers and was

10:18 Ahab served Baal a little; Jehu will serve him much. After settling in Samaria, Jehu gave the appearance of having previously appealed to the word of the Lord as a mere political maneuver.

10:19 will no longer live. Jehu's reputation made this no idle threat.

10:26 burned it. May refer to the Asherah pole (see note on 1Ki 14:15) that usually accompanied a sacred stone (see 1Ki 16:32–33).

10:27 sacred stone of Baal. See note on 1Ki 14:23. to this day. See note on 8:22.

10:29 sins of Jeroboam . . . he had caused Israel to commit. See 1Ki 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16.

10:30 Because you have done . . . to the house of Ahab all I had in mind. Jehu was the Lord's instrument to bring judgment on the house of Ahab, for which he was commended. But he was later condemned by the prophet Hosea for the killing of all Ahab's associates, as well as Ahaziah of Judah and the 42 Judahite princes—the "massacre at Jezreel" (Hos 1:4). fourth generation. The restriction of this blessing to four generations is reflective of the qualified approval given to Jehu's reign. Nevertheless, his dynasty survived longer than any other dynasty of the northern kingdom, lasting nearly 100 years. It included the reigns of Jehoahaz, Jehoash, Jeroboam II and Zechariah (see note on 15:12).

10:31 was not careful to keep the law of the LORD . . . with all his heart. Jehu seems to have been driven more by a political desire to secure his own position on the throne of the northern kingdom than by a desire to serve the Lord. In this he was guilty of using God's judgment on the house of Ahab to satisfy his self-interest.

10:32 the LORD began to reduce the size of Israel. The climax of the covenant curses enumerated in Lev 26 and Dt 28 was Israel's expulsion from Canaan. During the rule of Jehu the northern kingdom experienced the beginnings of this curse (see 17:7–18 for its full realization).

10:33 All of Transjordan was lost to Hazael and the Arameans of Damascus.

10:34 other events of Jehu's reign. The Black Obelisk of the Assyrian ruler Shalmaneser III informs us that Jehu paid tribute to the Assyrians shortly after coming to the throne of the northern kingdom in 841 B.C. In the Assyrian inscription Jehu is incorrectly called the "son of Omri," but this may simply be Shalmaneser's way of identifying Jehu with Samaria (or Israel). There is no reference to this payment of tribute in the Biblical narratives of Jehu's reign. annals of the kings of Israel. See note on 1Ki 14:19.

Athaliah and Joash

11:1-21pp — 2Ch 22:10-23:21

11 When Athaliah[m] the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she proceeded to destroy the whole royal family. 2But Jehosheba, the daughter of King Jehoram[y] and sister of Ahaziah, took Joash[n] son of Ahaziah and stole him away from among the royal princes, who were about to be murdered. She put him and his nurse in a bedroom to hide him from Athaliah; so he was not killed.[o] 3He remained hidden with his nurse at the temple of the LORD for six years while Athaliah ruled the land.

4In the seventh year Jehoiada sent for the commanders of units of a hundred, the Carites[p] and the guards and had them brought to him at the temple of the LORD. He made a covenant with them and put them under oath at the temple of the LORD. Then he showed them the king's son. 5He commanded them, saying, "This is what you are to do: You who are in the three companies that are going on duty on the Sabbath[q]—a third of you guarding the royal palace,[r] 6a third at the Sur Gate, and a third at the gate behind the guard, who take turns guarding the temple— 7and you who are in the other two companies that normally go off Sabbath duty are all to guard the temple for the king. 8Station yourselves around the king, each man with his weapon in his hand. Anyone who approaches your ranks[z] must be put to death. Stay close to the king wherever he goes."

9The commanders of units of a hundred did just as Jehoiada the priest ordered. Each one took his men—those who were going on duty on the Sabbath and those who were going off duty—and came to Jehoiada the priest. 10Then he gave the commanders the spears and shields[s] that had belonged to King David and that were in the temple of the LORD. 11The guards, each with his weapon in his hand, stationed themselves around the king—near the altar and the temple, from the south side to the north side of the temple.

13When Athaliah heard the noise made by the guards and the people, she went to the people at the temple of the LORD. 14She looked and there was the king, standing by the pillar,[x] as the custom was. The officers and the trumpeters were beside the king, and all the people of the land were rejoicing and blowing trumpets.[y] Then Athaliah tore[z] her robes and called out, "Treason! Treason!"[a]

15Jehoiada the priest ordered the commanders of units of a hundred, who were in charge of the troops: "Bring her out between the ranks[a] and put to the sword anyone who follows her." For the priest had said, "She must not be put to death in the temple[b] of the LORD." 16So

11:1 Athaliah. See note on 8:18. her son was dead. See 9:27. destroy the whole royal family. To secure the throne in Judah for herself. By this time the royal family in Judah had already been reduced to a mere remnant. Jehoram, the late husband of Athaliah and the father of Ahaziah, had killed all his brothers when he succeeded his father Jehoshaphat on the throne (see 2Ch 21:4). Jehu had slain another 42 members of the royal house of Judah, perhaps including many of the sons of Jehoram's brothers (10:12–14; 2Ch 22:8–9), and the brothers of Ahaziah had been killed by marauding Arabs (2Ch 22:1). It is likely that Athaliah's purge focused primarily on the children of Ahaziah, i.e., her own grandchildren. Ahaziah had died at the young age of 22 (see 8:26). This attempt to completely destroy the house of David was an attack on God's redemptive plan—a plan that centered in the Messiah, which the Davidic covenant promised (see notes on 2Sa 7:11,16; 1Ki 8:25).

11:2 daughter of King Jehoram and sister of Ahaziah. It is likely that Jehosheba was the daughter of Jehoram by a wife other than Athaliah, and thus she was a half sister of Ahaziah. She was married to the high priest Jehoiada (see 2Ch 22:11). him and his nurse. The child was not more than a year old and had not yet been weaned (see vv. 3,21).

11:4 seventh year. Of Athaliah's rule. commanders of units of a hundred. 2Ch 23:1 lists the names of five commanders, all native Israelites. Carites. Mercenary soldiers from Caria in southwest Asia Minor who served as royal bodyguards. had them brought to him at the temple. 2Ch 23:2 includes the Levites and family leaders of Judah in the conspiracy.

11:10 spears and shields that had belonged to King David and that were in the temple. David had probably taken the spears and gold shields as plunder in his battle with Hadadezer and then dedicated them to the Lord (see 2Sa 8:7–11).

11:12 covenant. Either (1) the Ten Commandments, (2) the entire Mosaic covenant or (3) a document dealing more specifically with the covenant responsibilities of the king (see Dt 17:14–20; see also note on 1Sa 10:25). The third option is most likely. anointed him. See notes on 1Sa 2:10; 9:16; 1Ki 1:39. Long live the king! See 1Sa 10:24; 1Ki 1:34,39.

11:14 pillar. Apparently one of the two bronze pillars of the portico of the temple, named Jakin and Boaz (see 2Ch 3:3; 1Ki 7:15–22; 2Ch 23:13). all the people of the land. It is likely that Jehoiada had chosen to stage his coup on a Sabbath during one of the major religious festivals, when many from the realm who were loyal to the Lord would be in Jerusalem.

they seized her as she reached the place where the horses enter[c] the palace grounds, and there she was put to death.[d] 17Jehoiada then made a covenant[e] between the LORD and the king and people that they would be the LORD's people. He also made a covenant between the king and the people.[f] 18All the people of the land went to the temple[g] of Baal and tore it down. They smashed[h] the altars and idols to pieces and killed Mattan the priest[i] of Baal in front of the altars.

Then Jehoiada the priest posted guards at the temple of the LORD. 19He took with him the commanders of hundreds, the Carites,[j] the guards and all the people of the land, and together they brought the king down from the temple of the LORD and went into the palace, entering by way of the gate of the guards. The king then took his place on the royal throne, 20and all the people of the land rejoiced.[k] And the city was quiet, because Athaliah had been slain with the sword at the palace.

21Joash[b] was seven years old when he began to reign.

Joash Repairs the Temple

12:1-21pp — 2Ch 24:1-14; 24:23-27

12 In the seventh year of Jehu, Joash[c][l] became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem forty years. His mother's name was Zibiah; she was from Beersheba. 2Joash did what was right[m] in the eyes of the LORD all the years Jehoiada the priest instructed him. 3The high places,[n] however, were not removed; the people continued to offer sacrifices and burn incense there.

6But by the twenty-third year of King Joash the priests still had not repaired the temple. 7Therefore King Joash summoned Jehoiada the priest and the other priests and asked them, "Why aren't you repairing the damage done to the temple? Take no more money from your treasurers, but hand it over for repairing the temple." 8The priests agreed that they would not collect any more money from the people and that they would not repair the temple themselves.

9Jehoiada the priest took a chest and bored a hole in its lid. He placed it beside

11:17 covenant between the LORD and the king and people that they would be the LORD's people. A renewal of the Mosaic covenant, by which Israel had been constituted as the Lord's people (see Ex 19:5–6; Dt 4:20). The years of apostasy, involving both the royal house and the people of Judah, necessitated a renewal of allegiance to the Lord at the time of an important new beginning for the southern kingdom (see notes on 1Sa 11:14–15; 12:14–15,24–25). covenant between the king and the people. Defined responsibilities and mutual obligations of king and people that were compatible with Israel's covenant relationship with the Lord (see notes on 1Sa 10:25; 2Sa 5:3).

11:18 idols. Stone pillars (see note on 1Ki 14:23) and Asherah poles (see note on 1Ki 14:15).

11:19 commanders of hundreds, the Carites, the guards. See note on v. 4.

11:21 See v. 3. The Lord had preserved a lamp for David in Jerusalem (see 1Ki 11:36).

12:1 seventh year of Jehu. 835 B.C. (see note on 10:36). forty years. 835–796.

12:2 all the years Jehoiada the priest instructed him. After Jehoiada died, Joash turned away from the Lord (see 2Ch 24:17–27).

12:3 high places . . . were not removed. These were high places where the Lord was worshiped rather than pagan deities (see note on 1Ki 15:14). They were nevertheless potential sources for the entrance of pagan practices into Israel's worship (see note on 1Ki 3:2).

12:4 money . . . brought as sacred offerings to the temple. The money was derived from three different sources: 1. money collected in the census. At the age of 20, Israelite youths were required to register for military service and to make an offering of half a shekel (see note on 5:26) for use in the service of the central sanctuary (see Ex 30:11–16; 38:25–26; Nu 2:32). 2. money received from personal vows. Various types of vows and their equivalence in monetary assessments are described in Lev 27:1–25. 3. money brought voluntarily to the temple. For voluntary offerings see Lev 22:18–23; Dt 16:10.

12:5 treasurers. Temple functionaries who handled financial matters for the priests relative to the people's sacrifices and offerings. whatever damage is found in the temple. Construction of the temple had been completed 124 years before the beginning of the reign of Joash (see notes on v. 1; 1Ki 6:38). In addition to deterioration due to age, it had fallen into disrepair and abuse during the rule of Athaliah (see 2Ch 24:7).

12:6 twenty-third year of King Joash. Joash may have instituted his plan for restoration of the temple a few years before the 23rd year of his reign. Now at age 30 he asserts his royal authority and takes charge of the temple repairs.

12:7 Take no more money from your treasurers. The proceeds from the sources of revenue mentioned in v. 4 were no longer to be given to the priests.

12:8 priests agreed. Apparently a compromise was reached: The priests would no longer take the money received from the people, but neither would they pay for the temple repairs from the money they had already received.

12:9 priests who guarded the entrance. Three high-ranking priests charged with protecting the temple from unlawful (profane) entry (see 25:18; Jer 52:24). put into the chest all the money. When the people were assured that all their offerings would be used for the temple restoration, they responded with greater generosity. See 22:3–7 for continuation (or renewal) of this practice in the reign of Josiah.

the altar, on the right side as one enters the temple of the LORD. The priests who guarded the entrance[t] put into the chest all the money[u] that was brought to the temple of the LORD. [10]Whenever they saw that there was a large amount of money in the chest, the royal secretary[v] and the high priest came, counted the money that had been brought into the temple of the LORD and put it into bags. [11]When the amount had been determined, they gave the money to the men appointed to supervise the work on the temple. With it they paid those who worked on the temple of the LORD—the carpenters and builders, [12]the masons and stonecutters.[w] They purchased timber and dressed stone for the repair of the temple of the LORD, and met all the other expenses of restoring the temple.

[13]The money brought into the temple was not spent for making silver basins, wick trimmers, sprinkling bowls, trumpets or any other articles of gold[x] or silver for the temple of the LORD; [14]it was paid to the workmen, who used it to repair the temple. [15]They did not require an accounting from those to whom they gave the money to pay the workers, because they acted with complete honesty.[y] [16]The money from the guilt offerings[z] and sin offerings[a] was not brought into the temple of the LORD; it belonged[b] to the priests.

[17]About this time Hazael[c] king of Aram went up and attacked Gath and captured it. Then he turned to attack Jerusalem. [18]But Joash king of Judah took all the sacred objects dedicated by his fathers—Jehoshaphat, Jehoram and Ahaziah, the kings of Judah—and the gifts he himself had dedicated and all the gold found in the treasuries of the temple of the LORD and of the royal palace, and he sent[d] them to Hazael king of Aram, who then withdrew[e] from Jerusalem.

[19]As for the other events of the reign of Joash, and all he did, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah? [20]His officials[f] conspired against him and assassinated[g] him at Beth Millo,[h] on the road down to Silla. [21]The officials who murdered him were Jozabad son of Shimeath and Jehozabad son of Shomer. He died and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. And Amaziah his son succeeded him as king.

Jehoahaz King of Israel

13 In the twenty-third year of Joash son of Ahaziah king of Judah, Jehoahaz son of Jehu became king of Israel in Samaria, and he reigned seventeen years. [2]He did evil[i] in the eyes of the LORD by following the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, which he had caused Israel to commit, and he did not turn away from them. [3]So the LORD's anger[j] burned against Israel, and for a long time he kept them under the power[k] of Haz-

12:10 royal secretary. See note on 2Sa 8:17. Joash arranges for direct royal supervision of the temple's monetary affairs.

12:11 men appointed. The whole matter is taken out of the hands of the priests.

12:13 articles of gold or silver for the temple. All the money was initially designated for the restoration of the temple. When the restoration was completed, additional funds were used for the acquisition of silver and gold articles for use in the temple service (see 2Ch 24:14).

12:16 money from the guilt offerings and sin offerings. See Lev 5:16; 6:5; Nu 5:7–10 for references to priestly income in connection with the bringing of a guilt offering. There is no Pentateuchal reference to priestly income in connection with the bringing of a sin offering (but see Lev 7:7).

12:17 About this time. These events must have taken place toward the end of Joash's reign. From 2Ch 24:17–24 it is clear that the Aramean attack was occasioned by Joash's turning away from the Lord after Jehoiada's death. Joash's apostasy reached its climax in the stoning of Jehoiada's son Zechariah (2Ch 24:22). Probably because of Joash's earlier zeal for the temple, the author of Kings did not choose to relate these matters. Hazael. See 8:7–15; 10:32–33; 13:3,22. Gath. One of the major Philistine cities (see Jos 13:3) that David had conquered (1Ch 18:1) and that continued to be subject to Judah during the reign of Rehoboam (2Ch 11:8). In the latter years of the reign of Joash of Judah (835–796 B.C.) and during the reign of Jehoahaz of Israel (814–798; see 13:3,7), the Arameans had virtually overrun the northern kingdom, enabling them to advance against the Philistines and the kingdom of Judah with little resistance. he turned to attack Jerusalem. See 2Ch 24:23–24.

12:18 sacred objects . . . gold . . . he sent them to Hazael. Years earlier, Asa had sought to secure assistance from the Arameans with a similar gift (see 1Ki 15:18).

12:19 annals of the kings of Judah. See note on 1Ki 14:29. A fuller account of the reign of Joash is also found in 2Ch 22:10–24:27.

12:20 conspired against him. The conspiracy was aroused in response to Joash's murder of Zechariah son of Jehoiada (see 2Ch 24:25). Beth Millo. Beth means "house"; for the meaning of Millo see note on Jdg 9:6. Here the reference may be to a building (perhaps a kind of barracks) built on the "Millo" in the old City of David (see 2Sa 5:9 and note; 1Ki 11:27). Perhaps the king was staying there temporarily with his troops at the time of his assassination; Chronicles says he was killed "in his bed" (2Ch 24:25). Silla. Perhaps refers to a steep descent from the City of David down into the Kidron Valley.

12:21 officials. Sons of Ammonite and Moabite mothers (2Ch 24:26), suggesting that they may have been mercenary military officers whose services could have been bought by others. buried with his fathers. But see 2Ch 24:25. Amaziah his son succeeded him. For the reign of Amaziah see 14:1–22.

13:1 twenty-third year of Joash. 814 B.C. (see note on 12:1; see also Introduction to 1 Kings: Chronology). seventeen years. 814–798.

13:2 sins of Jeroboam. See 1Ki 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16.

13:3 Hazael. See notes on 8:12,13,15; 10:33. Ben-Hadad. See v. 24. His reign began in either 806 or 796 B.C.

ael king of Aram and Ben-Hadad[l] his son.

4Then Jehoahaz sought[m] the LORD's favor, and the LORD listened to him, for he saw[n] how severely the king of Aram was oppressing[o] Israel. 5The LORD provided a deliverer[p] for Israel, and they escaped from the power of Aram. So the Israelites lived in their own homes as they had before. 6But they did not turn away from the sins[q] of the house of Jeroboam, which he had caused Israel to commit; they continued in them. Also, the Asherah pole[d][r] remained standing in Samaria.

7Nothing had been left[s] of the army of Jehoahaz except fifty horsemen, ten chariots and ten thousand foot soldiers, for the king of Aram had destroyed the rest and made them like the dust[t] at threshing time.

8As for the other events of the reign of Jehoahaz, all he did and his achievements, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Israel? 9Jehoahaz rested with his fathers and was buried in Samaria. And Jehoash[e] his son succeeded him as king.

Jehoash King of Israel

10In the thirty-seventh year of Joash king of Judah, Jehoash son of Jehoahaz became king of Israel in Samaria, and he reigned sixteen years. 11He did evil in the eyes of the LORD and did not turn away from any of the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, which he had caused Israel to commit; he continued in them.

12As for the other events of the reign of Jehoash, all he did and his achievements, including his war against Amaziah[u] king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the annals[v] of the kings of Israel? 13Jehoash rested with his fathers, and Jeroboam[w] succeeded him on the throne. Jehoash was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel.

14Now Elisha was suffering from the illness from which he died. Jehoash king of Israel went down to see him and wept over him. "My father! My father!" he cried. "The chariots[x] and horsemen of Israel!"

15Elisha said, "Get a bow and some arrows,"[y] and he did so. 16"Take the bow in your hands," he said to the king of Israel. When he had taken it, Elisha put his hands on the king's hands.

17"Open the east window," he said, and he opened it. "Shoot!"[z] Elisha said, and he shot. "The LORD's arrow of victory, the arrow of victory over Aram! Elisha declared. "You will completely destroy the Arameans at Aphek."[a] 18Then he said, "Take the arrows," and the king took them. Elisha told him, "Strike the ground." He struck it three times and stopped. 19The man of God was angry with him and said, "You

13:4 the LORD listened to him. Although deliverance did not come during the lifetime of Jehoahaz (see v. 22), the Lord was merciful to his people in spite of their sin, because of his covenant with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob (v. 23).

13:5 deliverer for Israel. Probably either (1) the Assyrian ruler Adadnirari III (810–783 B.C.), whose attacks on the Arameans of Damascus in 806 and 804 enabled the Israelites to break Aramean control over Israelite territory (see v. 25; 14:25), or (2) Jehoash son of Jehoahaz (vv. 17,19,25), or (3) Jeroboam II, who was able to extend Israel's boundaries far to the north (see 14:25,27) after the Assyrians had broken the military power of the Arameans.

13:6 Asherah pole remained standing. This idol had been set up by Ahab (see 1Ki 16:33) and had either escaped destruction by Jehu when he purged Baal worship from Samaria (see 10:27–28) or had been reintroduced during the reign of Jehoahaz.

13:7 ten chariots. In effect, a small police force. According to the Assyrian annals of Shalmaneser III, Ahab had contributed 2,000 chariots to the coalition of forces that opposed the Assyrians at the battle of Qarqar in 853 B.C. (see note on 1Ki 22:1). ten thousand foot soldiers. At the battle of Qarqar Ahab had supplied 10,000 foot soldiers to the coalition of forces opposing the Assyrians. At that time this would have represented only a contingent of Israel's army, while now it represented the entire Israelite infantry. In 857 Ahab had inflicted 100,000 casualties on the Aramean foot soldiers in one day (see 1Ki 20:29).

13:8 annals of the kings of Israel. See note on 1Ki 14:19.

13:9 rested with his fathers. See note on 1Ki 1:21.

13:10 thirty-seventh year of Joash. 798 B.C. (see note on 12:1). sixteen years. 798–782.

13:11 sins of Jeroboam. See 1Ki 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16.

13:12 war against Amaziah. See 14:8–14; 2Ch 25:17–24. annals of the kings of Israel. See note on 1Ki 14:19.

13:13 rested with his fathers. See note on 1Ki 1:21. Jeroboam succeeded him. For the reign of Jeroboam II see 14:23–29.

13:14 Elisha was suffering. Ch. 9 contains the last previous reference to Elisha. Since Jehu had been anointed in 841 B.C. (see note on 10:36) and Jehoash began to reign in 798 (see note on v. 10), there is at least a 43-year period in which we are told nothing of Elisha's activities. Based on Elisha's relationship with Elijah, he must have been born prior to 880 and he must have lived to be more than 80 years of age. The chariots and horsemen of Israel! An expression of recognition by Jehoash that Elisha was of greater significance for Israel's military success than Israel's military forces were (see notes on 2:12; 6:13,16–23).

13:16 put his hands on the king's hands. By this symbolic act Elisha indicated that Jehoash was to engage the Arameans in battle with the Lord's blessing on him.

13:17 east window. Faced Transjordan, which was controlled by the Arameans (see 10:32–33). Aphek. About 60 years earlier Ahab had won a decisive victory at Aphek over the Arameans and Ben-Hadad II (see 1Ki 20:26–30 and note on 1Ki 20:26).

13:18 struck it three times and stopped. The moderately enthusiastic response to Elisha's directive reflected insufficient zeal for accomplishing the announced task.

13:19 defeat it only three times. Jehoash's moderate en-should have struck the ground five or six times; then you would have defeated Aram and completely destroyed it. But now you will defeat it only three times."[b]

[20]Elisha died and was buried.

Now Moabite raiders[c] used to enter the country every spring. [21]Once while some Israelites were burying a man, suddenly they saw a band of raiders; so they threw the man's body into Elisha's tomb. When the body touched Elisha's bones, the man came to life[d] and stood up on his feet.

[22]Hazael king of Aram oppressed[e] Israel throughout the reign of Jehoahaz. [23]But the LORD was gracious to them and had compassion and showed concern for them because of his covenant[f] with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. To this day he has been unwilling to destroy[g] them or banish them from his presence.[h]

[24]Hazael king of Aram died, and Ben-Hadad[i] his son succeeded him as king. [25]Then Jehoash son of Jehoahaz recaptured from Ben-Hadad son of Hazael the towns he had taken in battle from his father Jehoahaz. Three times[j] Jehoash defeated him, and so he recovered[k] the Israelite towns.

Amaziah King of Judah

14:1-7pp — 2Ch 25:1-4,11-12
14:8-22pp — 2Ch 25:17-26:2

14 In the second year of Jehoash[f] son of Jehoahaz king of Israel, Amaziah son of Joash king of Judah began to reign. [2]He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem twenty-nine years. His mother's name was Jehoaddin; she was from Jerusalem. [3]He did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, but not as his father David had done. In everything he followed the example of his father Joash. [4]The high places,[l] however, were not removed; the people continued to offer sacrifices and burn incense there.

[5]After the kingdom was firmly in his grasp, he executed[m] the officials[n] who had murdered his father the king. [6]Yet he did not put the sons of the assassins to death, in accordance with what is written in the Book of the Law[o] of Moses where the LORD commanded: "Fathers shall not be put to death for their children, nor children put to death for their fathers; each is to die for his own sins."[g][p]

[7]He was the one who defeated ten thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt[q] and captured Sela[r] in battle, calling it Joktheel, the name it has to this day.

[8]Then Amaziah sent messengers to Jehoash son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, king of Israel, with the challenge: "Come, meet me face to face."

[9]But Jehoash king of Israel replied to Amaziah king of Judah: "A thistle[s] in Lebanon sent a message to a cedar in thusiasm in striking the ground with arrows symbolized the moderate success he would have against the Arameans. It would be left for Jeroboam II son of Jehoash to gain complete victory over them (see 14:25,28).

13:21 When the body touched Elisha's bones, the man came to life. The life-giving power of the God Elisha represented is demonstrated once again in this last OT reference to Elisha (for previous demonstrations of this power see 4:32–37 and 1Ki 17:17–24; for Elijah's translation to heaven without dying see 2:11–12).

13:23 To this day. Until the time of the writing of the source from which the author derived this account (see note on 1Ki 8:8; see also Introduction to 1 Kings: Author, Sources and Date). unwilling to destroy them or banish them. In his mercy and grace the Lord was long-suffering toward his people and refrained from full implementation of the covenant curse of exile from Canaan (see note on 10:32). This postponement of judgment provided Israel with the opportunity to repent and return to covenant faithfulness.

13:24 Ben-Hadad. See note on v. 3.

13:25 towns he had taken ... from ... Jehoahaz. Probably towns west of the Jordan, since the area east of the Jordan had been lost already in the time of Jehu (see 10:32–33). It was not until the time of Jeroboam II that the area east of the Jordan was fully recovered for Israel (see 14:25). Three times. In fulfillment of Elisha's prophecy (v. 19).

14:1 second year of Jehoash. 796 B.C. (see note on 13:10).

14:2 twenty-nine years. 796–767. Amaziah's 29-year reign included a 24-year co-regency with his son Azariah (see notes on v. 21; 15:1–2).

14:3 not as his father David. Amaziah did not remain completely free from involvement with the worship of pagan deities (see 2Ch 25:14–16). His loyalty to the Lord fell short of that of Asa and Jehoshaphat before him (see 1Ki 15:11,14; 22:43; see also 1Ki 9:4; 11:4).

14:4 high places, however, were not removed. See note on 1Ki 15:14.

14:7 defeated ten thousand Edomites. Amaziah was able to regain temporarily (see 2Ch 28:17) some of Judah's control over the Edomites, which had been lost during the reign of Jehoram (see 8:20–22). Valley of Salt. The same battlefield on which David had defeated the Edomites (see 2Sa 8:13; 1Ch 18:12; Ps 60 title), generally identified with the Arabah directly south of the Dead Sea. Sela. Means "rock"; often regarded as the Edomite stronghold presently known as Petra (a Greek word meaning "rock"; see Jdg 1:36; Isa 16:1; 42:11; Ob 3). to this day. Until the time of the writing of the account of Amaziah's reign used by the author (see note on 1Ki 8:8; see also Introduction to 1 Kings: Author, Sources and Date).

14:8 meet me face to face. A challenge amounting to a declaration of war. Perhaps it was provoked by the hostile actions of mercenary troops from the northern kingdom after their dismissal from the Judahite army (see 2Ch 25:10,13) and by the refusal of Jehoash to establish a marriage alliance with Amaziah (see v. 9).

14:9 Jehoash ... replied. For his reply Jehoash used a fable (see Jdg 9:8–15) in which he represented himself as a strong cedar and Amaziah as an insignificant thistle that could easily be trampled underfoot.

Lebanon, 'Give your daughter to my son in marriage.' Then a wild beast in Lebanon came along and trampled the thistle underfoot. [10]You have indeed defeated Edom and now you are arrogant.[t] Glory in your victory, but stay at home! Why ask for trouble and cause your own downfall and that of Judah also?"

[11]Amaziah, however, would not listen, so Jehoash king of Israel attacked. He and Amaziah king of Judah faced each other at Beth Shemesh[u] in Judah. [12]Judah was routed by Israel, and every man fled to his home.[v] [13]Jehoash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Joash, the son of Ahaziah, at Beth Shemesh. Then Jehoash went to Jerusalem and broke down the wall[w] of Jerusalem from the Ephraim Gate[x] to the Corner Gate[y]—a section about six hundred feet long.[h] [14]He took all the gold and silver and all the articles found in the temple of the LORD and in the treasuries of the royal palace. He also took hostages and returned to Samaria.

[15]As for the other events of the reign of Jehoash, what he did and his achievements, including his war[z] against Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Israel? [16]Jehoash rested with his fathers and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel. And Jeroboam his son succeeded him as king.

[17]Amaziah son of Joash king of Judah lived for fifteen years after the death of Jehoash son of Jehoahaz king of Israel. [18]As for the other events of Amaziah's reign, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah?

[19]They conspired[a] against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to Lachish,[b] but they sent men after him to Lachish and killed him there. [20]He was brought back by horse[c] and was buried in Jerusalem with his fathers, in the City of David.

[21]Then all the people of Judah took Azariah,[i][d] who was sixteen years old, and made him king in place of his father Amaziah. [22]He was the one who rebuilt Elath[e] and restored it to Judah after Amaziah rested with his fathers.

Jeroboam II King of Israel

[23]In the fifteenth year of Amaziah son of Joash king of Judah, Jeroboam[f] son of Jehoash king of Israel became king in Samaria, and he reigned forty-one years. [24]He did evil in the eyes of the LORD and did not turn away from any of the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, which he had caused Israel to commit.[g] [25]He was the

14:11 would not listen. See 2Ch 25:20. Beth Shemesh. A town about 15 miles west of Jerusalem near the border between Judah and Dan (see Jos 15:10; 1Sa 6:9).

14:13 Jehoash . . . captured Amaziah. It is likely that Amaziah was taken back to the northern kingdom as a prisoner, where he remained until being released to return to Judah after the death of Jehoash (see vv. 15–16; see also note on v. 21). Ephraim Gate to the Corner Gate. The Corner Gate (see Jer 31:38; Zec 14:10) was at the northwest corner of the wall around Jerusalem. The Ephraim Gate was on the north side of Jerusalem (see Ne 12:39), 600 feet east of the Corner Gate. This northwestern section of the wall of Jerusalem was the point at which the city was most vulnerable to attack.

14:14 gold and silver and all the articles found in the temple . . . and . . . the royal palace. The value of the plundered articles was probably not great, because Joash had previously stripped the temple and palace to pay tribute to Hazael of Damascus (see 12:17–18). took hostages. The hostages were probably intended to secure additional payments of tribute in view of the meager war booty.

14:15 annals of the kings of Israel. See note on 1Ki 14:19.

14:16 rested with his fathers. See 13:12–13; see also note on 1Ki 1:21.

14:17 lived for fifteen years after the death of Jehoash. Jehoash died in 782 B.C. and Amaziah in 767.

14:18 annals of the kings of Judah. See note on 1Ki 14:29.

14:19 conspired against him. 2Ch 25:27 connects the conspiracy against Amaziah with his turning away from the Lord, but it did not serve the purpose of the author of Kings to note this. Lachish. A fortress city in southern Judah 15 miles west of Hebron, presently known as Tell ed-Duweir (see 18:14; 2Ch 11:9).

14:21 Then all the people of Judah took Azariah, who was. Or "Now all the people of Judah had taken Azariah, when he was." See NIV text note. made him king in place of his father Amaziah. It is likely that this occurred after Amaziah had been taken prisoner by Jehoash (see v. 13). Thus Azariah's reign substantially overlapped that of his father Amaziah (see notes on v. 2; 15:2).

14:22 rebuilt Elath and restored it to Judah. Azariah extended the subjection of the Edomites begun by his father (see v. 7) and reestablished Israelite control over the important port city on the Gulf of Aqaba (see 1Ki 9:26).

14:23 fifteenth year of Amaziah. 782 B.C. (see note on v. 2). This was the beginning of Jeroboam's sole reign. He had previously served as co-regent with his father Jehoash. forty-one years. 793–753 (including the co-regency with his father).

14:24 sins of Jeroboam. See 1Ki 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16; Am 3:13–14; 4:4–5; 5:4–6; 7:10–17.

14:25 from Lebo Hamath. Jeroboam II was able to free the northern kingdom from the oppression it had suffered at the hands of Hazael and Ben-Hadad (see 10:32; 12:17; 13:3,22,25). He also extended Israelite political control over the Arameans of Damascus, an undertaking that had been begun by his father Jehoash (see 13:25). Assyrian pressure on the Arameans, including attacks on Damascus by Shalmaneser IV in 773 B.C. and Ashur-Dan III in 772, had weakened the Arameans enough to enable Jeroboam II to gain the upper hand over them. Meanwhile, Assyria also became too weak to suppress Jeroboam's expansion. Sea of the Arabah. See NIV text note. According to Am 6:14 the southern limit of Jeroboam's kingdom in Transjordan was the "valley of the Arabah"—probably to be connected with the Valley of Salt (see note on v. 7). If so, Jeroboam had also subdued Moab and the Ammonites. Jonah . . . the prophet from Gath Hepher. See Jnh 1:1. Gath Hepher was located in the tribe of Zebulun, northeast of Nazareth (see Jos 19:13). This reference to Jonah is of help in dating the one who restored the boundaries of Israel from Lebo[j] Hamath[h] to the Sea of the Arabah,[k i] in accordance with the word of the LORD, the God of Israel, spoken through his servant Jonah[j] son of Amittai, the prophet from Gath Hepher.

[26]The LORD had seen how bitterly everyone in Israel, whether slave or free,[k] was suffering;[l] there was no one to help them.[m] [27]And since the LORD had not said he would blot out[n] the name of Israel from under heaven, he saved[o] them by the hand of Jeroboam son of Jehoash.

[28]As for the other events of Jeroboam's reign, all he did, and his military achievements, including how he recovered for Israel both Damascus[p] and Hamath,[q] which had belonged to Yaudi,[l] are they not written in the book of the annals[r] of the kings of Israel? [29]Jeroboam rested with his fathers, the kings of Israel. And Zechariah his son succeeded him as king.

Azariah King of Judah

15:1-7pp — 2Ch 26:3-4,21-23

15 In the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Azariah[s] son of Amaziah king of Judah began to reign. [2]He was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem fifty-two years. His mother's name was Jecoliah; she was from Jerusalem. [3]He did what was right[t] in the eyes of the LORD, just as his father Amaziah had done. [4]The high places, however, were not removed; the people continued to offer sacrifices and burn incense there.

[5]The LORD afflicted[u] the king with leprosy[m] until the day he died, and he lived in a separate house.[n v] Jotham[w] the king's son had charge of the palace[x] and governed the people of the land.

[6]As for the other events of Azariah's reign, and all he did, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah? [7]Azariah rested[y] with his fathers and was buried near them in the City of David. And Jotham[z] his son succeeded him as king.

Zechariah King of Israel

[8]In the thirty-eighth year of Azariah king of Judah, Zechariah son of Jeroboam became king of Israel in Samaria, and he reigned six months. [9]He did evil[a] in the eyes of the LORD, as his fathers had done. He did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, which he had caused Israel to commit.

[10]Shallum son of Jabesh conspired against Zechariah. He attacked him in front of the people,[o] assassinated[b] him and succeeded him as king. 14:26 slave or free. See note on 1Ki 14:10. suffering. At the hands of the Arameans (see 10:32–33; 13:3–7), the Moabites (13:20) and the Ammonites (Am 1:13).

14:27 had not said. The sin of the Israelites had not yet reached its full measure, and the Lord mercifully extended to the nation an additional period of grace in which there was opportunity to repent (see note on 13:23). Persistence in apostasy, however, would bring certain judgment (see Am 4:2–3; 6:14). saved them by the hand of Jeroboam. See note on 13:5.

14:28 all he did. During Jeroboam's reign the northern kingdom enjoyed greater material prosperity than at any time since the rule of David and Solomon. Unfortunately, it was also a time of religious formalism and apostasy as well as social injustice (see the books of Amos and Hosea, who prophesied during Jeroboam's reign). Damascus and Hamath. See note on v. 25. Yaudi. Thought by some to be a place in northern Aram referred to in a few Assyrian inscriptions. Others understand the word as a reference to Judah (see NIV text note) in the sense that Damascus and Hamath were once included in territory ruled by David and Solomon (see 2Sa 8:6; 2Ch 8:3). annals of the kings of Israel. See note on 1Ki 14:19.

(His actual years were one less than his official years.)

15:2 fifty-two years. 792–740 B.C. (but he was co-regent with his father Amaziah 792–767). See note on v. 1.

15:4 high places, however, were not removed. See 14:4; see also note on 1Ki 15:14.

Lev 13:46). had charge of the palace and governed the people of the land. Jotham ruled for his father for the remainder of Azariah's life (750–740 B.C.; see note on v. 33).

15:6 all he did. A more detailed account of Azariah's accomplishments is found in 2Ch 26:1–15. annals of the kings of Judah. See note on 1Ki 14:29.

Assyrian Campaigns against Israel and Judah

The Assyrian invasions of the eighth century B.C. were the most traumatic political events in the entire history of Israel.

The brutal Assyrian style of warfare relied on massive armies, superbly equipped with the world's first great siege machines manipulated by an efficient corps of engineers.

Psychological terror, however, was Assyria's most effective weapon. It was ruthlessly applied, with corpses impaled on stakes, severed heads stacked in heaps, and captives skinned alive.

The shock of bloody military sieges on both Israel and Judah was profound. The prophets did not fail to scream out against their horror, while at the same time pleading with the people to see God's hand in history, to recognize spiritual causes in the present punishment.

3. SENNACHERIB'S CAMPAIGN AGAINST JUDAH (701 B.C.)

In the 14th year of Hezekiah, the Assyrians finally attacked Judah. The clay Prism of Sennacherib calls Hezekiah "overbearing and proud," indicating that he was part of Philistia's and Egypt's effort to rebel against Assyria.

A battle in the plain of Eltekeh was won by Assyria; the Egyptian and Cushite charioteers fled. Lachish was besieged and taken. The annals note: "As for Hezekiah the Jew, he did not submit to my yoke. I laid siege to 46 of his strong cities, walled forts and to the countless small villages in their vicinity, and conquered them by means of well-stamped earth ramps and battering-rams brought near to the walls combined with the attack by foot-soldiers, using mines, breaches as well as sapper work. I drove out 200,150 people, young and old, male and female, horses, mules, donkeys, camels, big and small cattle beyond counting, and considered them booty. Himself I made a prisoner in Jerusalem, his royal residence, like a bird in a cage."

Nowhere, however, does the boastful Assyrian king record the disaster mentioned in 2Ki 19:35-36 and Isa 37:36-37.

2. CAMPAIGN OF SHALMANESER V (725-722 B.C.)

The last king of Israel, Hoshea, conspired with Egypt and withheld the annual tribute to the Assyrians.

A protracted three-year siege conducted by Shalmaneser and concluded by Sargon II saw the end of the Israelite kingdom in 722 B.C.

At that time, according to Assyrian annals written on clay, "I (Sargon) besieged and conquered Samaria, led away as booty 27,290 inhabitants.... I installed over (those remaining) an officer of mine and imposed upon them the tribute of the former king."

Shallum King of Israel

[13]Shallum son of Jabesh became king in the thirty-ninth year of Uzziah king of Judah, and he reigned in Samaria[e] one month. [14]Then Menahem son of Gadi went from Tirzah[f] up to Samaria. He attacked Shallum son of Jabesh in Samaria, assassinated[g] him and succeeded him as king.

[15]The other events of Shallum's reign, and the conspiracy he led, are written in the book of the annals[h] of the kings of Israel.

[16]At that time Menahem, starting out from Tirzah, attacked Tiphsah[i] and everyone in the city and its vicinity, because they refused to open[j] their gates. He sacked Tiphsah and ripped open all the pregnant women.

Menahem King of Israel

[17]In the thirty-ninth year of Azariah king of Judah, Menahem son of Gadi became king of Israel, and he reigned in Samaria ten years. [18]He did evil[k] in the eyes of the LORD. During his entire reign he did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, which he had caused Israel to commit.

[19]Then Pul[q][l] king of Assyria invaded the land, and Menahem gave him a thousand talents[r] of silver to gain his support and strengthen his own hold on the kingdom. [20]Menahem exacted this money from Israel. Every wealthy man had to contribute fifty shekels[s] of silver to be given to the king of Assyria. So the king of Assyria withdrew[m] and stayed in the land no longer.

[21]As for the other events of Menahem's reign, and all he did, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Israel? [22]Menahem rested with his fathers. And Pekahiah his son succeeded him as king.

Pekahiah King of Israel

[23]In the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekahiah son of Menahem became king of Israel in Samaria, and he reigned two years. [24]Pekahiah did evil[n] in the eyes of the LORD. He did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, which he had caused Israel to commit. [25]One of his chief officers, Pekah[o] son of Remaliah, conspired against him. Taking fifty men of Gilead with him, he assassinated[p] Pekahiah, along with Argob and Arieh, in the citadel of the royal palace at Samaria. So Pekah killed Pekahiah and succeeded him as king.

[26]The other events of Pekahiah's reign, and all he did, are written in the book of the annals of the kings of Israel.

15:13 thirty-ninth year of Uzziah. 752 B.C. (see note on v. 2). Uzziah is another name for Azariah (see NIV text note on 14:21).

15:14 Menahem . . . went from Tirzah up to Samaria. It is likely that Menahem was the commander of a military garrison at Tirzah, the former capital of the northern kingdom (see 1Ki 14:17; 15:21,33). succeeded him. For the reign of Menahem see vv. 17–22.

15:15 annals of the kings of Israel. See note on 1Ki 14:19.

15:16 Tiphsah. There was a Tiphsah located far to the north of Hamath (see 14:25) on the Euphrates River (see 1Ki 4:24). It is unlikely that this was the city intended. Some interpreters prefer the reading "Tappuah" of the Septuagint. Tappuah was a city on the border between Ephraim and Manasseh (Jos 16:8; 17:7–8). Perhaps there was a Tiphsah in Israel not otherwise mentioned. ripped open all the pregnant women. See 8:12 and note.

15:19 Pul. The Babylonian name (see 1Ch 5:26) of the Assyrian ruler Tiglath-Pileser III (745–727 B.C.; see NIV text note). invaded the land. Assyrian annals of Tiglath-Pileser III indicate that he marched west with his army in 743 and took tribute from, among others, Carchemish, Hamath, Tyre, Byblos, Damascus, and Menahem of Samaria (see map Nos. 6 and 7 at the end of the study Bible). thousand talents. See NIV text note. This was an enormous sum of money. For the relative value of a talent of silver see note on 5:5. gain his support and strengthen his own hold. It appears that as a usurper Menahem still felt insecure on the throne. The opposition to his rule may have come from those following the leadership of Pekah, who favored an alliance with the Arameans of Damascus in order to resist the Assyrian threat (see note on v. 27). Hosea denounced the policy of seeking aid from the Assyrians and predicted that it would fail (Hos 5:13–15).

15:20 fifty shekels. See NIV text note. A simple calculation reveals that it would require approximately 60,000 men of means to provide the 1,000 talents of tribute. This gives some indication of the prosperity the northern kingdom had enjoyed during the time of Jeroboam II.

15:21 annals of the kings of Israel. See note on 1Ki 14:19.

15:23 fiftieth year of Azariah. 742 B.C. (see note on v. 2). two years. 742–740.

15:24 sins of Jeroboam. See 1Ki 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16.

15:25 One of his chief officers. Pekah was probably the ranking official in the Transjordan provinces, but his allegiance to Menahem and Pekahiah may well have been more apparent than real (see note on v. 27). conspired against him. Differences over foreign policy probably played an important role in fomenting Pekah's revolution. Pekahiah undoubtedly followed the policy of his father Menahem in seeking Assyria's friendship (see v. 20). Pekah advocated friendly relations with the Arameans of Damascus in order to counter potential Assyrian aggression (see 16:1–9; Isa 7:1–2,4–6).

15:26 annals of the kings of Israel. See note on 1Ki 14:19.

Pekah King of Israel

27In the fifty-second year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekah[q] son of Remali-ah[r] became king of Israel in Samaria, and he reigned twenty years. 28He did evil in the eyes of the LORD. He did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, which he had caused Israel to commit.

29In the time of Pekah king of Israel, Tiglath-Pileser[s] king of Assyria came and took Ijon,[t] Abel Beth Maacah, Ja-noah, Kedesh and Hazor. He took Gilead and Galilee, including all the land of Naphtali,[u] and deported[v] the people to Assyria. 30Then Hoshea[w] son of Elah conspired against Pekah son of Remali-ah. He attacked and assassinated[x] him, and then succeeded him as king in the twentieth year of Jotham son of Uzziah.

31As for the other events of Pekah's reign, and all he did, are they not written in the book of the annals[y] of the kings of Israel?

Jotham King of Judah

15:33–38pp — 2Ch 27:1–4,7–9

32In the second year of Pekah son of Remaliah king of Israel, Jotham[z] son of Uzziah king of Judah began to reign.
33He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem sixteen years. His mother's name was Jerusha daughter of Zadok. 34He did what was right[a] in the eyes of the LORD, just as his father Uzziah had done. 35The high places,[b] however, were not removed; the people continued to offer sacrifices and burn incense there. Jotham rebuilt the Upper Gate[c] of the temple of the LORD.

36As for the other events of Jotham's reign, and what he did, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah? 37(In those days the LORD began to send Rezin[d] king of Aram and Pekah son of Remaliah against Judah.) 38Jotham rested with his fathers and was buried with them in the City of David, the city of his father. And Ahaz his son succeeded him as king.

Ahaz King of Judah

16:1–20pp — 2Ch 28:1–27

16 In the seventeenth year of Pekah son of Remaliah, Ahaz[e] son of Jotham king of Judah began to reign.
2Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem sixteen years. Unlike David his father, he did not do what was right[f] in the eyes

15:27 fifty-second year of Azariah. 740 B.C. (see note on v. 2). twenty years. 752–732, based on the assumptions (which the data seem to require) that Pekah had established in Transjordan virtually a rival government to that of Menahem when Menahem assassinated Shallum (see notes on vv. 17,19,25), and that the number of regnal years given here includes this period of rival rule.

15:28 sins of Jeroboam. See 1Ki 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16.

15:29 Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria came. See note on v. 19. The historical background for this attack is found in 16:5–9; 2Ch 28:16–21; Isa 7:1–17. Ijon ... Naphtali. Over 150 years earlier Ben-Hadad I of Damascus had taken this same territory from the northern kingdom in response to an appeal by a king of Judah (see notes on 1Ki 15:19–20). deported the people to Assyria. See 1Ch 5:26. The forced exile of Israelites from their homeland was a fulfillment of the covenant curse (see note on 10:32).

15:30 Hoshea ... conspired against Pekah. Hoshea probably represented the faction in the northern kingdom that favored cooperation with Assyria rather than resistance. In one of his annals Tiglath-Pileser III claims to have placed Hoshea on the throne of the northern kingdom and to have taken ten talents of gold and 1,000 talents of silver as tribute from him. twentieth year of Jotham. 732 B.C. (see notes on vv. 32–33). Reference is to his 20th official year, which was his 19th actual year.

15:31 annals of the kings of Israel. See note on 1Ki 14:19.

15:32 second year of Pekah. 750 B.C. (see note on v. 27).

15:33 sixteen years. 750–735 B.C. Jotham was co-regent with his father 750–740 (see note on v. 5). Jotham's reign was in some sense terminated in 735, and his son Ahaz took over. However, Jotham continued to live until at least 732 (see notes on vv. 30,37).

15:34 as his father Uzziah had done. See note on v. 3; see also 2Ch 27:2.

15:35 high places, however, were not removed. See v. 4; see also note on 1Ki 15:14. Upper Gate of the temple. See 2Ch 23:20; Jer 20:2; Eze 8:3; 9:2. Additional information on Jotham's building activities is given in 2Ch 27:3–4.

15:36 other events of Jotham's reign. See 2Ch 27:1–6. annals of the kings of Judah. See note on 1Ki 14:29.

15:37 This parenthetical statement concerning Jotham's reign supports the idea of an overlap between the reigns of Jotham and Ahaz (see note on v. 33), since 16:5–12; 2Ch 28:5–21; Isa 7:1–17 all place the major effort of Rezin and Pekah in the time of Ahaz.

15:38 rested with his fathers. See note on 1Ki 1:21.

16:1 seventeenth year of Pekah. 735 B.C. (see note on 15:27). The reign of Ahaz apparently overlapped that of Jotham, with Ahaz serving as a senior partner beginning in 735 (see notes on 15:33,37; see also notes on v. 2; 17:1).

16:2 twenty years old when he became king. Perhaps the age at which Ahaz became a senior co-regent with his father Jotham in 735 B.C. (see note on v. 1). Otherwise, according to the ages and dates provided, Ahaz would have been 11 or 12 instead of 14 or 15 years old when his son Hezekiah was born (cf. 18:1–2). sixteen years. The synchronizations of the reigns of Ahaz and Hezekiah of Judah with those of Pekah and Hoshea of the northern kingdom present some apparent chronological difficulties (see notes on v. 1; 17:1; 18:1,9–10). It seems best to take the 16 years specified here as the number of years Ahaz reigned after the death of Jotham, thus 732–715 (see notes on 15:30,33). The beginning of his reign appears to be dated in a variety of ways in the Biblical text: (1) in 744/743, which presupposes a co-regency with his grandfather Azariah at the tender age of 11 or 12 (see 17:1); (2) in 735, when he became senior co-regent with Jotham (see v. 1); and (3) in 732, when he began his sole reign after the death of Jotham. Unlike David his father. Ahaz does not even receive the qualified approval given to Amaziah (14:3), Azariah (15:3) and Jotham (15:34).

of the LORD his God. 3He walked in the ways of the kings of Israel[g] and even sacrificed his son[h] in[i] the fire, following the detestable[j] ways of the nations the LORD had driven out before the Israelites. 4He offered sacrifices and burned incense[j] at the high places, on the hilltops and under every spreading tree.[k]

5Then Rezin[l] king of Aram and Pekah son of Remaliah king of Israel marched up to fight against Jerusalem and besieged Ahaz, but they could not overpower him. 6At that time, Rezin[m] king of Aram recovered Elath[n] for Aram by driving out the men of Judah. Edomites then moved into Elath and have lived there to this day.

7Ahaz sent messengers to say to Tiglath-Pileser[o] king of Assyria, "I am your servant and vassal. Come up and save[p] me out of the hand of the king of Aram and of the king of Israel, who are attacking me." 8And Ahaz took the silver and gold found in the temple of the LORD and in the treasuries of the royal palace and sent it as a gift[q] to the king of Assyria. 9The king of Assyria complied by attacking Damascus[r] and capturing it. He deported its inhabitants to Kir[s] and put Rezin to death.

10Then King Ahaz went to Damascus to meet Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria. He saw an altar in Damascus and sent to Uriah[t] the priest a sketch of the altar, with detailed plans for its construction. 11So Uriah the priest built an altar in accordance with all the plans that King Ahaz had sent from Damascus and finished it before King Ahaz returned. 12When the king came back from Damascus and saw the altar, he approached it and presented offerings[uu] on it. 13He offered up his burnt offering[v] and grain offering,[w] poured out his drink offering,[x] and sprinkled the blood of his fellowship offerings[vy] on the altar. 14The bronze altar[z] that stood before the LORD he brought from the front of the temple—from between the new altar and the temple of the LORD—and put it on the north side of the new altar.

15King Ahaz then gave these orders to

16:3 ways of the kings of Israel. It is unlikely that Ahaz adhered to the calf worship introduced by Jeroboam I at Bethel and Dan (see 1Ki 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16). The reference here is probably to Baal worship in the spirit of Ahab (see notes on 1Ki 16:31–33; see also 2Ch 28:2). sacrificed his son. Israel had been warned by Moses not to engage in this pagan rite (see Lev 18:21; Dt 18:10). In Israel the firstborn son in each household was to be consecrated to the Lord and redeemed by a payment of five shekels to the priests (see Ex 13:1,11–13; Nu 18:16). See also 3:27; 17:17; 21:6; 23:10; 2Ch 28:3; Jer 7:31; 32:35.

16:4 high places. See 15:4,35; see also note on 1Ki 15:14. These high places appear to be those assimilated from pagan Baal worship and used for the worship of the Lord in a syncretistic fashion. under every spreading tree. Large trees were viewed as symbols of fertility by the pre-Israelite inhabitants of Canaan. Immoral pagan rites were performed at shrines located under such trees. Contrary to the explicit prohibition of the Mosaic covenant, the Israelites adopted this pagan custom (see 17:10; 1Ki 14:23; Dt 12:2; Jer 2:20; 3:6; 17:2; Eze 6:13; 20:28; Hos 4:13–14).

16:5 Rezin . . . and Pekah . . . marched up to fight against Jerusalem. See notes on 15:25,37. could not overpower. See Isa 7:1–17; 2Ch 28:5–21. Rezin and Pekah desired to replace Ahaz on the throne of the southern kingdom with the son of Tabeel in order to gain another ally in their anti-Assyrian political policy (see notes on 15:19,25). The Lord delivered Judah and Ahaz from this threat in spite of their wickedness because of the promises of the Davidic covenant (see 1Ki 11:36; 2Sa 7:13; Isa 7:3–7,14).

16:6 Rezin king of Aram recovered Elath. See note on 14:22. Edomites then moved into Elath. See 2Ch 28:17. The Philistines also took this opportunity to avenge previous defeats (compare 2Ch 26:5–7 with 2Ch 28:18). to this day. See note on 1Ki 8:8.

16:7 Tiglath-Pileser. See notes on 15:19, 29. your servant and vassal. Ahaz preferred to seek security for Judah by means of a treaty with Assyria rather than by obedience to the Lord and trust in his promises (see Ex 23:22; Isa 7:10–16).

16:8 silver and gold found in the temple. The temple treasure must have been restored to some degree by Jotham (see 12:18; 14:14). The name "Jehoahaz of Judah" (Ahaz) appears on a list of rulers (including those of the Philistines, Ammonites, Moabites and Edomites) who brought tribute to Tiglath-Pileser in 734 B.C.

16:9 attacking Damascus and capturing it. In 732 B.C. Tiglath-Pileser III moved against Damascus and destroyed it (see the prophecies of Isa 7:16; Am 1:3–5). deported its inhabitants to Kir. The Arameans were sent back to the place from which they had come (Am 9:7) in fulfillment of the prophecy of Amos (Am 1:5). The location of Kir is unknown, though it is mentioned in connection with Elam in Isa 22:6.

16:10 Ahaz went to Damascus to meet Tiglath-Pileser. As a vassal king to express his gratitude and loyalty to the victorious Assyrian ruler. altar in Damascus. Perhaps that of the god Rimmon (see 5:18; 2Ch 28:23), but more likely a royal altar of Tiglath-Pileser. Ahaz's reproduction of such an altar would have been a further sign of submission to the Assyrians.

16:13 burnt offering . . . grain offering . . . drink offering . . . fellowship offerings. With the exception of the drink offering, these same sacrifices were offered at the dedication of the temple (1Ki 8:64).

16:14 north side of the new altar. Ahaz removed the bronze altar from its prominent place in front of the temple and gave it a place alongside the new stone altar.

16:15 large new altar. Even though fire from heaven had inaugurated and sanctioned the use of the bronze altar for the worship of the Lord (see 2Ch 7:1), Ahaz now replaced it with an altar built on the pattern of the pagan altar from Damascus. Although the bronze altar was quite large (see 2Ch 4:1), the new altar was larger. morning burnt offering. See 3:20; Ex 29:38–39; Nu 28:3–4. evening grain offering. See note on 1Ki 18:29. king's burnt offering and his grain offering. There is no other reference to these special offerings of the king in the OT, with the possible exception of Ezekiel's depiction of the offerings of a future prince (Eze 46:12). I will use the bronze altar for seeking guidance. Seeking omens by the examination of the en-

Uriah the priest: "On the large new altar, offer the morning[a] burnt offering and the evening grain offering, the king's burnt offering and his grain offering, and the burnt offering of all the people of the land, and their grain offering and their drink offering. Sprinkle on the altar all the blood of the burnt offerings and sacrifices. But I will use the bronze altar for seeking guidance."[b] 16And Uriah the priest did just as King Ahaz had ordered.

17King Ahaz took away the side panels and removed the basins from the movable stands. He removed the Sea from the bronze bulls that supported it and set it on a stone base.[c] 18He took away the Sabbath canopy[w] that had been built at the temple and removed the royal entryway outside the temple of the LORD, in deference to the king of Assyria.[d]

19As for the other events of the reign of Ahaz, and what he did, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah? 20Ahaz rested[e] with his fathers and was buried with them in the City of David. And Hezekiah his son succeeded him as king.

Hoshea Last King of Israel

17:3–7pp — 2Ki 18:9–12

17 In the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah, Hoshea[f] son of Elah became king of Israel in Samaria, and he reigned nine years. 2He did evil[g] in the eyes of the LORD, but not like the kings of Israel who preceded him.

3Shalmaneser[h] king of Assyria came up to attack Hoshea, who had been Shalmaneser's vassal and had paid him tribute.[i] 4But the king of Assyria discovered that Hoshea was a traitor, for he had sent envoys to So[x] king of Egypt,[j] and he no longer paid tribute to the king of Assyria, as he had done year by year. Therefore Shalmaneser seized him and put him in prison.[k] 5The king of Assyria invaded the entire land, marched against Samaria and laid siege[l] to it for three years. 6In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria[m] captured Samaria[n] and deported[o] the Israelites to Assyria. He settled them in Halah, in Gozan[p] on the Habor River and in the towns of the Medes.

Israel Exiled Because of Sin

7All this took place because the Israelites had sinned[q] against the LORD their God, who had brought them up out of Egypt[r] from under the power of Pharaoh king of Egypt. They worshiped other trails of sacrificed animals is well attested in ancient Near Eastern texts. Here Ahaz states his intention to follow an Assyrian divination technique in an attempt to secure the Lord's guidance.

16:17 side panels and . . . basins from the movable stands. See 1Ki 7:27–39. removed the Sea from the bronze bulls. See 1Ki 7:23–26. Perhaps the bronze was needed for tribute required by Tiglath-Pileser III.

16:18 in deference to the king of Assyria. As a vassal of Tiglath-Pileser, Ahaz was forced to relinquish some of the symbols of his own royal power.

16:19 other events of the reign of Ahaz. See 2Ch 28, where, among other things, it is said that Ahaz went so far as to "shut the doors of the temple" (2Ch 28:24). annals of the kings of Judah. See note on 1Ki 14:29.

16:20 rested with his fathers. See note on 1Ki 1:21; see also 2Ch 28:27. Hezekiah his son succeeded him. For the reign of Hezekiah see 18:1–20:21.

17:1 twelfth year of Ahaz. 732 B.C. (see note on 15:30), on the assumption that Ahaz began a co-regency with Azariah in 744/743 (see notes on 16:1–2). Some interpreters prefer to place the beginning of the reign of Ahaz in 735 on the assumption that the "twelfth" year of his reign in this text is a copyist's error for the "fourth" year of his reign (i.e., 732). nine years. 732–722 (see Introduction to 1 Kings: Chronology).

17:3 Shalmaneser. Hoshea had become a vassal to Assyria under the rule of Tiglath-Pileser III (see note on 15:30). The latter was succeeded on the Assyrian throne by Shalmaneser V, who ruled 727–722 B.C.

17:5 three years. 725–722 B.C. Samaria was a strongly fortified city and extremely difficult to subdue (see note on 1Ki 16:24).

17:6 ninth year of Hoshea. 722 B.C. (see note on v. 1). king of Assyria captured Samaria. In the winter (December) of 722–721 Shalmaneser V died (possibly by assassination), and the Assyrian throne was seized by Sargon II (722–705). In his annals Sargon II lays claim to the capture of Samaria at the beginning of his reign, but it was hardly more than a mopping-up operation. deported the Israelites. Because the northern kingdom refused to be obedient to their covenant obligations, the Lord brought on them the judgment pronounced already by Ahijah during the reign of the northern kingdom's first king, Jeroboam I (see note on 1Ki 14:15). In his annals Sargon II claims to have deported 27,290 Israelites. He then settled other captured people in the vacated towns of the northern kingdom (see v. 24). Halah. Location uncertain. Gozan on the Habor River. An Assyrian provincial capital located on a tributary of the Euphrates River. towns of the Medes. Towns located in the area south of the Caspian Sea and northeast of the Tigris River.

17:7–23 A theological explanation for the downfall of the northern kingdom. Israel had repeatedly spurned the Lord's gracious acts, had refused to heed the prophets' warnings of impending judgment (vv. 13–14,23) and had failed to keep her covenant obligations (v. 15). The result was the implementation of the covenant curse precisely as it had been presented to the Israelites by Moses before they entered into Canaan (Dt 28:49–68; 32:1–47).

17:7 brought them up out of Egypt. The deliverance from Egypt was the fundamental redemptive event in Israel's history. She owed her very existence as a nation to this gracious and mighty act of the Lord (see Ex 20:2; Dt 5:15; 26:8; Jos 24:5–7,17; Jdg 10:11; 1Sa 12:6; Ne 9:9–13; Mic 6:4). worshiped other gods. A violation of the most basic obligation of Israel's covenant with the Lord (see v. 35; Dt 5:7; 6:14; Jos 24:14–16,20; Jer 1:16; 2:5–6; 25:6; 35:15).

Exile of the Northern Kingdom

The mass deportation policy of the Assyrians was a companion piece to the brutal and calculated terror initiated by Ashurnasirpal and followed by all his successors. It was intended to forestall revolts but, like all Draconian measures, it merely spread misery and engendered hatred. In the end, it hastened the disintegration of the Assyrian empire.

There is some evidence that Israel experienced its first deportations under Tiglath-Pileser III (745-727 B.C.), a cruelty repeated by Sargon II (722-705 B.C.) at the time of the fall of Samaria. The latter king's inscriptions boast of carrying away 27,290 inhabitants of the city "as booty." According to 2Ki 17:6, they were sent to Assyria, to Halah (Calah?), to Gozan on the Habor River, and apparently to the eastern frontiers of the empire (to the towns of the Medes, most probably somewhere in the vicinity of Ecbatana, the modern Hamadan).

The sequel is provided by the inscriptions of Sargon: "The Arabs who live far away in the desert, who know neither overseers nor officials, and who had not yet brought their tribute to any king, I deported . . . and settled them in Samaria."

Much mythology has developed around the theme of the so-called ten lost tribes of Israel. A close examination of Assyrian records reveals that the deportations approximated only a limited percentage of the population, usually consisting of noble families. Agricultural workers, no doubt the majority, were deliberately left to care for the crops (cf. the Babylonian practice, 2Ki 24:14; 25:12).

gods [8]and followed the practices of the nations[s] the LORD had driven out before them, as well as the practices that the kings of Israel had introduced. [9]The Israelites secretly did things against the LORD their God that were not right. From watchtower to fortified city[t] they built themselves high places in all their towns. [10]They set up sacred stones[u] and Asherah poles[v] on every high hill and under every spreading tree.[w] [11]At every high place they burned incense, as the nations whom the LORD had driven out before them had done. They did wicked things that provoked the LORD to anger. [12]They worshiped idols,[x] though the LORD had said, "You shall not do this."[y] [13]The LORD warned[y] Israel and Judah through all his prophets and seers:[z] "Turn from your evil ways.[a] Observe my commands and decrees, in accordance with the entire Law that I commanded your fathers to obey and that I delivered to you through my servants the prophets."[b]

[14]But they would not listen and were as stiff-necked[c] as their fathers, who did not trust in the LORD their God. [15]They rejected his decrees and the covenant[d] he had made with their fathers and the warnings he had given them. They followed worthless idols[e] and themselves became worthless.[f] They imitated the nations[g] around them although the LORD had ordered them, "Do not do as they do," and they did the things the LORD had forbidden them to do.

[16]They forsook all the commands of the LORD their God and made for themselves two idols cast in the shape of calves,[h] and an Asherah[i] pole. They bowed down to all the starry hosts,[j] and they worshiped Baal.[k] [17]They sacrificed[l] their sons and daughters in[z] the fire. They practiced divination and sorcery[m] and sold[n] themselves to do evil in the eyes of the LORD, provoking him to anger.

[18]So the LORD was very angry with Israel and removed them from his presence.[o] Only the tribe of Judah was left, [19]and even Judah did not keep the commands of the LORD their God. They followed the practices Israel had introduced.[p] [20]Therefore the LORD rejected all the people of Israel; he afflicted them and gave them into the hands of plunderers,[q] until he thrust them from his presence.[r]

[21]When he tore[s] Israel away from the house of David, they made Jeroboam son of Nebat their king.[t] Jeroboam enticed Israel away from following the LORD and caused them to commit a great sin.[u] [22]The Israelites persisted in all the sins of Jeroboam and did not turn away from them [23]until the LORD removed them from his presence,[v] as he had warned[w] through all his servants the prophets. So the people of Israel were taken from their

17:11 wicked things. Perhaps a reference to ritual prostitution (see note on 1Ki 14:24; see also Hos 4:13–14).

17:12 You shall not do this. See NIV text note; see also Ex 23:13; Lev 26:1; Dt 5:6–10.

17:13 warned Israel and Judah through all his prophets. Israel not only violated the requirements of the Sinai covenant, but she also spurned the words of prophets the Lord had graciously sent to call his people back to the covenant (see, e.g., 1Ki 13:1–3; 14:6–16; Jdg 6:8–10; 1Sa 3:19–21 as well as the ministries of Elijah, Elisha, Amos and Hosea). seers. See note on 1Sa 9:9.

17:14 stiff-necked. A figure derived from the obstinate resistance of an ox to being placed under a yoke (see Dt 10:16; Jer 2:20; 7:26; 17:23; 19:15; Hos 4:16).

17:15 followed worthless idols. See Dt 32:21; Jer 2:5; 8:19; 10:8; 14:22; 51:18.

17:16 two idols cast in the shape of calves. The golden calves of Bethel and Dan (see 1Ki 12:28–30). Asherah pole. See note on 1Ki 14:15. all the starry hosts. Israel had been commanded not to follow the astral cults of her pagan neighbors (see Dt 4:19; 17:3). Although this form of idolatry is not mentioned previously in 1,2 Kings, the prophet Amos apparently alludes to its practice in the northern kingdom during the reign of Jeroboam II (see note on Am 5:26). It was later introduced in the southern kingdom during the reign of Manasseh (see 21:3,5) and abolished during the reformation of Josiah (see 23:4–5,12; see also Eze 8:16).

17:17 sacrificed their sons and daughters. See note on 16:3. divination and sorcery. Such practices were forbidden in the Mosaic covenant (see note on 16:15; see also Lev 19:26; Dt 18:10).

17:18 removed them from his presence. The exile of the northern kingdom (see v. 6; 23:27). Only the tribe of Judah was left. The southern kingdom included elements of the tribes of Simeon and Benjamin, but Judah was the only tribe in the south to retain its complete integrity (see notes on 1Ki 11:31–32; see also note on 2Ki 19:4).

17:20 afflicted them and gave them into the hands of plunderers. See 10:32–33; 13:3,20; 24:2; 2Ch 21:16; 28:18; Am 1:13.

homeland[x] into exile in Assyria, and they are still there.

Samaria Resettled

[24]The king of Assyria[y] brought people from Babylon, Cuthah, Avva, Hamath and Sepharvaim[z] and settled them in the towns of Samaria to replace the Israelites. They took over Samaria and lived in its towns. [25]When they first lived there, they did not worship the LORD; so he sent lions[a] among them and they killed some of the people. [26]It was reported to the king of Assyria: "The people you deported and resettled in the towns of Samaria do not know what the god of that country requires. He has sent lions among them, which are killing them off, because the people do not know what he requires."

[27]Then the king of Assyria gave this order: "Have one of the priests you took captive from Samaria go back to live there and teach the people what the god of the land requires." [28]So one of the priests who had been exiled from Samaria came to live in Bethel and taught them how to worship the LORD.

[29]Nevertheless, each national group made its own gods in the several towns[b] where they settled, and set them up in the shrines[c] the people of Samaria had made at the high places.[d] [30]The men from Babylon made Succoth Benoth, the men from Cuthah made Nergal, and the men from Hamath made Ashima; [31]the Avvites made Nibhaz and Tartak, and the Sepharvites burned their children in the fire as sacrifices to Adrammelech[e] and Anammelech, the gods of Sepharvaim.[f] [32]They worshiped the LORD, but they also appointed all sorts[g] of their own people to officiate for them as priests in the shrines at the high places. [33]They worshiped the LORD, but they also served their own gods in accordance with the customs of the nations from which they had been brought.

[34]To this day they persist in their former practices. They neither worship the LORD nor adhere to the decrees and ordinances, the laws and commands that the LORD gave the descendants of Jacob, whom he named Israel.[h] [35]When the LORD made a covenant with the Israelites, he commanded them: "Do not worship[i] any other gods or bow down to them, serve them or sacrifice to them.[j] [36]But the LORD, who brought you up out of Egypt with mighty power and outstretched arm,[k] is the one you must worship. To him you shall bow down and to him offer sacrifices. [37]You must always be careful[l] to keep the decrees[m] and ordinances, the laws and commands he wrote for you. Do not worship other gods. [38]Do not forget[n] the covenant I have made with you, and do not worship other gods. [39]Rather, worship the LORD your God; it is he who will

17:24 king of Assyria. Primarily Sargon II (722–705 B.C.), though later Assyrian rulers, including Esarhaddon (681–669) and Ashurbanipal (669–627), settled additional non-Israelites in Samaria (see Ezr 4:2,9–10). Babylon, Cuthah. Babylon and Cuthah (located about eight miles northeast of Babylon) were forced to submit to Assyrian rule by Sargon II in 709. Avva. Probably the same as Ivvah (see 18:34; 19:13). Its association with Hamath, Arpad and Sepharvaim suggests a location somewhere in Aram (Syria). Hamath. Located on the Orontes River (see 14:25; 18:34; see also note on Eze 47:15). In 720 Sargon II made the kingdom of Hamath into an Assyrian province. Sepharvaim. Perhaps located in Aramean territory, possibly between Damascus and Hamath. Samaria. Here a designation for the entire northern kingdom (see note on 1Ki 13:32).

17:25 did not worship the LORD. They worshiped their own national deities. sent lions among them. Lions had always been present in Canaan (see 1Ki 13:24; 20:36; Jdg 14:5; 1Sa 17:34; Am 3:12). In the aftermath of the disruption and depopulation caused by the conflict with the Assyrians, the lions greatly increased in number (see Ex 23:29). This was viewed by the inhabitants of the land and the writer of Kings as a punishment from the Lord (see Lev 26:21–22).

17:26 king of Assyria. Sargon II. what the god of that country requires. According to the religious ideas of that time, each regional deity required special ritual observances, which, if ignored or violated, would bring disaster on the land.

17:27 one of the priests. Of the golden calf cult established in the northern kingdom by Jeroboam I (see 1Ki 12:31 and note).

17:28 came to live in Bethel. Bethel continued to be the center for the apostate form of Yahweh worship that had been promoted in the northern kingdom since the time of Jeroboam I (see notes on 1Ki 12:28–30).

17:29 people of Samaria. The mixed population of the former territory of the northern kingdom. These people of mixed ancestry eventually came to be known as Samaritans. In later times the Samaritans rejected the idolatry of their polytheistic origins and followed the teachings of Moses, including monotheism. In NT times Jesus testified to a Samaritan woman (Jn 4:4–26), and many Samaritans were converted under the ministry of Philip (Ac 8:4–25).

17:32 officiate for them as priests. See note on 1Ki 12:31.

17:33 They worshiped the LORD, but they also served their own gods. A classic statement of syncretistic religion.

17:34 To this day. Until the time of the writing of 1,2 Kings. worship the LORD. Here used in the sense of faithful worship. In vv. 32–33 "worship the LORD" refers to a paganized worship.

17:35 Do not worship any other gods. The Mosaic covenant demanded exclusive worship of the Lord (Ex 20:5; Dt 5:9). This was the first and great commandment, and it was to distinguish Israel from all other peoples.

17:36 the LORD, who brought you up out of Egypt . . . you must worship. Here, as in v. 7, the deliverance from Egypt is cited as the gracious act of the Lord par excellence that entitled him to exclusive claim on Israel's loyalty.

17:39 will deliver you from . . . all your enemies. See Ex 23:22; Dt 20:1–4; 23:14.

deliver you from the hand of all your enemies."

40They would not listen, however, but persisted in their former practices. 41Even while these people were worshiping the LORD,[o] they were serving their idols. To this day their children and grandchildren continue to do as their fathers did.

Hezekiah King of Judah

18:2–4pp — 2Ch 29:1–2; 31:1
18:5–7pp — 2Ch 31:20–21
18:9–12pp — 2Ki 17:3–7

18 In the third year of Hoshea son of Elah king of Israel, Hezekiah[p] son of Ahaz king of Judah began to reign. 2He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem twenty-nine years.[q] His mother's name was Abijah[a] daughter of Zechariah. 3He did what was right[r] in the eyes of the LORD, just as his father David[s] had done. 4He removed[t] the high places,[u] smashed the sacred stones[v] and cut down the Asherah poles. He broke into pieces the bronze snake[w] Moses had made, for up to that time the Israelites had been burning incense to it. (It was called[b] Nehushtan.[c])

5Hezekiah trusted[x] in the LORD, the God of Israel. There was no one like him among all the kings of Judah, either before him or after him. 6He held fast[y] to the LORD and did not cease to follow him; he kept the commands the LORD had given Moses. 7And the LORD was with him; he was successful[z] in whatever he undertook. He rebelled[a] against the king of Assyria and did not serve him. 8From watchtower to fortified city,[b] he defeated the Philistines, as far as Gaza and its territory.

9In King Hezekiah's fourth year,[c] which was the seventh year of Hoshea son of Elah king of Israel, Shalmaneser king of Assyria marched against Samaria and laid siege to it. 10At the end of three years the Assyrians took it. So Samaria was captured in Hezekiah's sixth year, which was the ninth year of Hoshea king of Israel. 11The king[d] of Assyria deported Israel to Assyria and settled them in Halah, in Gozan on the Habor River and in towns of the Medes.[e] 12This happened because they had not obeyed the LORD their God, but had violated his covenant[f]—all that Moses the servant of the LORD commanded.[g] They neither listened to the commands[h] nor carried them out.

13In the fourteenth year[i] of King Hez-

[a] 2 Hebrew Abi, a variant of Abijah [b] 4 Or He called it [c] 4 Nehushtan sounds like the Hebrew for bronze and snake and unclean thing.

17:41 To this day. See note on v. 34.

18:1 third year of Hoshea . . . Hezekiah . . . began to reign. 729 B.C. (see 17:1). Hezekiah was co-regent with his father Ahaz from 729 to 715 (see note on 16:2 and Isa 36:1).

18:2 became king. Became sole king of Judah. twenty-nine years. 715–686 B.C. See also 2Ch 29–32 and Isa 36–39 for a description of the events of his reign, including a more detailed account of the reformation he led (2Ch 29–31). One of his first acts was to reopen the temple, which had been closed by his father Ahaz (see note on 16:19; see also 2Ch 29:3).

18:3 right . . . as his father David. Hezekiah is one of the few kings who is compared favorably with David. The others are Asa (1Ki 15:11), Jehoshaphat (1Ki 22:43) and Josiah (2Ki 22:2). A qualification is introduced, however, with both Asa and Jehoshaphat: They did not remove the high places (see 1Ki 15:14; 22:43).

18:4 removed the high places. Hezekiah was not the first king to destroy high places (see notes on 1Ki 3:2; 15:14), but he was the first to destroy high places dedicated to the worship of the Lord (see 12:3; 14:4; 15:4,35; 17:9; 1Ki 22:43). This became known even to the Assyrian king, Sennacherib (see v. 22). sacred stones. See 3:2; 10:26–27; 17:10; see also note on 1Ki 14:23. Asherah poles. See 13:6; 17:10,16; 1Ki 16:23; see also note on 1Ki 14:15. Israelites had been burning incense to it. It is unlikely that the bronze snake had been an object of worship all through the centuries of Israel's existence as a nation. Just when an idolatrous significance was attached to it is not known, but perhaps it occurred during the reign of Hezekiah's father Ahaz (see ch. 16). Snake worship of various types was common among ancient Near Eastern peoples.

18:5 no one like him . . . either before him or after him. A difference of emphasis is to be seen in this statement when compared to that of 23:25. Hezekiah's uniqueness is to be found in his trust in the Lord, while Josiah's uniqueness is to be found in his scrupulous observance of the Mosaic law.

18:7 rebelled against the king of Assyria. Judah had become a vassal to Assyria under Ahaz (see 16:7)—which required at least formal recognition of Assyrian deities. Hezekiah reversed the policy of his father Ahaz and sought independence from Assyrian dominance. It is likely that sometime shortly after 705 B.C., when Sennacherib replaced Sargon II on the Assyrian throne, Hezekiah refused to pay the annual tribute due the Assyrians.

18:8 defeated the Philistines. In a reversal of the conditions existing during the time of Ahaz, in which the Philistines captured Judahite cities in the hill country and Negev (see 2Ch 28:18), Hezekiah was able once again to subdue the Philistines. Probably Hezekiah tried to coerce the Philistines into joining his anti-Assyrian policy. In one of his annals Sennacherib tells of forcing Hezekiah to release Padi, king of the Philistine city of Ekron, whom Hezekiah held prisoner in Jerusalem. This occurred in connection with Sennacherib's military campaign in 701 B.C.

18:9 Hezekiah's fourth year. 725 B.C., the fourth year of Hezekiah's co-regency with Ahaz (see notes on v. 1; 17:1).

18:10 three years. See note on 17:5. ninth year of Hoshea. See note on 17:6.

18:11 king of Assyria deported Israel. See note on 17:6.

18:12 violated his covenant. See 17:7–23.

18:13 fourteenth year. Of Hezekiah's sole reign: 701 B.C. (see note on v. 2). Sennacherib . . . attacked. Verses 13–16 correspond very closely with Sennacherib's own account of his 701 campaign against Phoenicia, Judah and Egypt. captured them. In his annals, Sennacherib claims to have captured 46 of Hezekiah's fortified cities, as well as numerous open villages, and to have taken 200,150 of the people captive. He says he made Hezekiah "a pris-ekiah's reign, Sennacherib king of Assyria attacked all the fortified cities of Judah[j] and captured them. 14So Hezekiah king of Judah sent this message to the king of Assyria at Lachish:[k] "I have done wrong.[l] Withdraw from me, and I will pay whatever you demand of me." The king of Assyria exacted from Hezekiah king of Judah three hundred talents[d] of silver and thirty talents[e] of gold. 15So Hezekiah gave[m] him all the silver that was found in the temple of the LORD and in the treasuries of the royal palace.

16At this time Hezekiah king of Judah stripped off the gold with which he had covered the doors[n] and doorposts of the temple of the LORD, and gave it to the king of Assyria.

Sennacherib Threatens Jerusalem

18:13, 17–37pp — Isa 36:1–22
18:17–35pp — 2Ch 32:9–19

17The king of Assyria sent his supreme commander,[o] his chief officer and his field commander with a large army, from Lachish to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem. They came up to Jerusalem and stopped at the aqueduct of the Upper Pool,[p] on the road to the Washerman's Field. 18They called for the king; and Eliakim[q] son of Hilkiah the palace administrator, Shebna[r] the secretary, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder went out to them.

19The field commander said to them, "Tell Hezekiah:

" 'This is what the great king, the king of Assyria, says: On what are you basing this confidence[s] of yours? 20You say you have strategy and military strength—but you speak only empty words. On whom are you depending, that you rebel against me? 21Look now, you are depending on Egypt,[t] that splintered reed of a staff,[u] which pierces a man's hand and wounds him if he leans on it! Such is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who depend on him. 22And if you say to me, "We are depending on the LORD our God"—isn't he the one whose high places and altars Hezekiah removed, saying to Judah and Jerusalem, "You must worship before this altar in Jerusalem"?

23" 'Come now, make a bargain with my master, the king of Assyria: I will give you two thousand horses—if you can put riders on them! 24How can you repulse one officer[v] of the least of my master's officials, even though you are depending on Egypt for chariots and horsemen[f]? 25Furthermore, have I come to attack and destroy this place without word from the LORD?[w] The LORD himself told me to march against this country and destroy it.' "

26Then Eliakim son of Hilkiah, and Shebna and Joah said to the field commander, "Please speak to your servants in Aramaic,[x] since we understand it.

oner in Jerusalem his royal residence, like a bird in a cage," but he does not say he took Jerusalem.

18:14 three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold. See NIV text notes. The Assyrian and Biblical reports of the amount of tribute paid by Hezekiah to Sennacherib agree with respect to the 30 talents of gold, but Sennacherib claims to have received 800 talents of silver rather than the 300 specified in the Biblical text. This discrepancy may be the result of differences in the weight of Assyrian and Israelite silver talents, or it may simply be due to the Assyrian propensity for exaggeration. For the relative value of this amount of silver and gold see note on 5:5.

18:15 silver . . . in the temple . . . and in the treasuries of the royal palace. See 12:10,18; 14:14; 16:8; 1Ki 7:51; 14:26; 15:18.

18:17–19:37 See Isa 36–37; cf. 2Ch 32.

18:17 Lachish. See note on Isa 36:2. aqueduct . . . Field. See note on Isa 7:3. It is ironic that the Assyrian officials demand Judah's surrender on the very spot where Isaiah had warned Ahaz to trust in the Lord rather than in an alliance with Assyria for deliverance from the threat against him from Aram and the northern kingdom of Israel (see 16:5–10; Isa 7:1–17).

18:18 palace administrator. See note on 1Ki 4:6. secretary. See note on 2Sa 8:17. recorder. See note on 2Sa 8:16.

18:19 great king. A frequently used title of the Assyrian rulers—and occasionally of the Lord (Ps 47:2; 48:2; 95:3; Mal 1:14; Mt 5:35). says. The following address is a masterpiece of calculated intimidation and psychological warfare designed to break the resistance of the inhabitants of Jerusalem (see vv. 26–27).

18:21 depending on Egypt. See 19:9; Isa 30:1–5; 31:1–3.

18:22 isn't he the one whose high places and altars Hezekiah removed . . . ? The Assyrians cleverly attempted to drive a wedge between Hezekiah and the people. They attempted to exploit any resentment that may have existed among those who opposed Hezekiah's reformation and his destruction of the high places (see note on v. 4).

18:23 if you can put riders on them! With this sarcastic taunt, the Assyrians undoubtedly accurately suggest that the Judahites were so weak in military personnel that they could not even take advantage of such a generous offer. In contrast with the Assyrians, the army of Judah at the time consisted largely of foot soldiers. The city under siege would have contained few chariots, and it is not known whether the Israelites ever employed mounted men in combat.

18:25 The LORD himself told me. Possibly Assyrian spies had informed Sennacherib of the prophecies of Isaiah and Micah.

18:26 Aramaic. Had become the international language of the Near East, known and used by those experienced in diplomacy and commerce. It is surprising that the Assyrian officials were able to speak the Hebrew dialect of the common people of Judah (see 2Ch 32:18).

Don't speak to us in Hebrew in the hearing of the people on the wall."

[27]But the commander replied, "Was it only to your master and you that my master sent me to say these things, and not to the men sitting on the wall—who, like you, will have to eat their own filth and drink their own urine?"

[28]Then the commander stood and called out in Hebrew: "Hear the word of the great king, the king of Assyria! [29]This is what the king says: Do not let Hezekiah deceive[y] you. He cannot deliver you from my hand. [30]Do not let Hezekiah persuade you to trust in the LORD when he says, 'The LORD will surely deliver us; this city will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria.'

[31]"Do not listen to Hezekiah. This is what the king of Assyria says: Make peace with me and come out to me. Then every one of you will eat from his own vine and fig tree[z] and drink water from his own cistern,[a] [32]until I come and take you to a land like your own, a land of grain and new wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of olive trees and honey. Choose life[b] and not death!

"Do not listen to Hezekiah, for he is misleading you when he says, 'The LORD will deliver us.' [33]Has the god[c] of any nation ever delivered his land from the hand of the king of Assyria? [34]Where are the gods of Hamath[d] and Arpad?[e] Where are the gods of Sepharvaim, Hena and Ivvah? Have they rescued Samaria from my hand? [35]Who of all the gods of these countries has been able to save his land from me? How then can the LORD deliver Jerusalem from my hand?"[f]

[36]But the people remained silent and said nothing in reply, because the king had commanded, "Do not answer him."

[37]Then Eliakim[g] son of Hilkiah the palace administrator, Shebna the secretary and Joah son of Asaph the recorder went to Hezekiah, with their clothes torn,[h] and told him what the field commander had said.

Jerusalem's Deliverance Foretold

19:1–13pp — Isa 37:1–13

19 When King Hezekiah heard this, he tore[i] his clothes and put on sackcloth and went into the temple of the LORD. [2]He sent Eliakim[j] the palace administrator, Shebna the secretary and the leading priests,[k] all wearing sackcloth,[l] to the prophet Isaiah[m] son of Amoz. [3]They told him, "This is what Hezekiah says: This day is a day of distress and rebuke and disgrace, as when children come to the point[n] of birth and there is no strength to deliver them. [4]It may be that the LORD your God will hear all the words of the field commander, whom his master, the king of Assyria, has sent to ridicule[o] the living God, and

18:27 men sitting on the wall. The Assyrian strategy was to negotiate in the hearing of the people in order to demoralize them and turn them against Hezekiah. eat their own filth and drink their own urine. A vivid portrayal of the potential hardship of a prolonged siege.

18:29 the king says. The Assyrian officials now address their remarks directly to the populace rather than to the officials of Hezekiah, as in vv. 19–27. Do not let Hezekiah deceive you. Here and in vv. 30–31 the people are urged three times to turn against Hezekiah.

18:30 this city will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria. Hezekiah could say this on the basis of God's promise to him (see 20:6; see also note on Isa 38:6).

18:31 eat from his own vine and fig tree and drink water from his own cistern. Depicting peaceful and prosperous times (see 1Ki 4:25; Mic 4:4; Zec 3:10).

18:32 until I come and take you to a land like your own. Ultimately surrender meant deportation, but Sennacherib pictured it as something desirable. Choose life and not death! The alternatives depicted for the people are: (1) Trust in the Lord and Hezekiah and die, or (2) trust in the Assyrians and enjoy prosperity and peace. These words directly contradict the alternatives placed before Israel by Moses in Dt 30:15–20.

18:33–35 Has the god of any nation ever delivered his land from the hand of the king of Assyria? . . . How then can the LORD deliver Jerusalem from my hand? The flaw in the Assyrian reasoning was to equate the one true and living God with the no-gods (Dt 32:21) of the pagan peoples the Assyrians had defeated (see 19:4,6; 2Ch 32:13–19; Isa 10:9–11).

18:34 Hamath. See notes on 14:25; 17:24. Arpad. A city located near Hamath and taken by the Assyrians in 740 B.C. (see 19:13; Isa 10:9; Jer 49:23). Sepharvaim. See note on 17:24. Hena. Probably located in the vicinity of the other cities mentioned. Ivvah. See note on 17:24.

18:36 because the king had commanded, "Do not answer him." The Assyrian attempt to stir up a popular revolt against the leadership and authority of Hezekiah had failed.

18:37 clothes torn. An expression of great emotion (see 6:30; 1Ki 21:27). Perhaps in this instance it was motivated by the Assyrian blasphemy against the true God (see 19:4,6; Mt 26:65; Mk 14:63–64).

19:1 sackcloth. See note on 6:30.

19:2 palace administrator. See note on 1Ki 4:6. secretary. See note on 2Sa 8:17. leading priests. Probably the oldest members of various priestly families (see Jer 19:1). The crisis involved not only the city of Jerusalem, but also the temple. prophet Isaiah. The first reference to Isaiah in the book of Kings, though he had been active in the reigns of Uzziah, Jotham and Ahaz (see Isa 1:1).

19:3 as when children come to the point of birth and there is no strength to deliver them. Depicts the critical nature of the threat facing the city.

19:4 living God. In contrast to the no-gods of 18:33–35. See 1Sa 17:26,36,45 for another example of ridiculing the living and true God. pray. Intercessory prayer was an important aspect of the ministry of the prophets (see, e.g., the intercession of Moses and Samuel: Ex 32:31–32; 33:12–17; Nu 14:13–19; 1Sa 7:8–9; 12:19, 23; Ps 99:6; Jer 15:1). remnant. Those left in Judah after Sennacherib's capture of many towns and numerous people (see note on 18:13; cf. Isa 10:28–32). Archaeological evidence reveals that many Israelites fled the northern kingdom during the Assyrian assaults and settled in Judah, so that the nation of Judah became the remnant of all Israel.

that he will rebuke[p] him for the words the LORD your God has heard. Therefore pray for the remnant[q] that still survives."

5When King Hezekiah's officials came to Isaiah, 6Isaiah said to them, "Tell your master, 'This is what the LORD says: Do not be afraid[r] of what you have heard—those words with which the underlings of the king of Assyria have blasphemed[s] me. 7Listen! I am going to put such a spirit in him that when he hears a certain report,[t] he will return to his own country, and there I will have him cut down with the sword.[u]' "

8When the field commander heard that the king of Assyria had left Lachish,[v] he withdrew and found the king fighting against Libnah.[w]

9Now Sennacherib received a report that Tirhakah, the Cushite[g] king of Egypt, was marching out to fight against him. So he again sent messengers to Hezekiah with this word: 10"Say to Hezekiah king of Judah: Do not let the god you depend[x] on deceive[y] you when he says, 'Jerusalem will not be handed over to the king of Assyria.' 11Surely you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the countries, destroying them completely. And will you be delivered? 12Did the gods of the nations that were destroyed by my forefathers deliver[z] them: the gods of Gozan,[a] Haran,[b] Rezeph and the people of Eden who were in Tel Assar? 13Where is the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, the king of the city of Sepharvaim, or of Hena or Ivvah?"[c]

Hezekiah's Prayer

19:14–19pp — Isa 37:14–20

14Hezekiah received the letter[d] from the messengers and read it. Then he went up to the temple of the LORD and spread it out before the LORD. 15And Hezekiah prayed to the LORD: "O LORD, God of Israel, enthroned between the cherubim,[e] you alone[f] are God over all the kingdoms of the earth. You have made heaven and earth. 16Give ear,[g] O LORD, and hear;[h] open your eyes,[i] O LORD, and see; listen to the words Sennacherib has sent to insult the living God.

17"It is true, O LORD, that the Assyrian kings have laid waste these nations and their lands. 18They have thrown their gods into the fire and destroyed them, for they were not gods[j] but only wood and stone, fashioned by men's hands.[k] 19Now, O LORD our God, deliver[l] us from his hand, so that all kingdoms[m] on earth may know[n] that you alone, O LORD, are God."

19:35–37pp — 2Ch 32:20–21

20Then Isaiah son of Amoz sent a message to Hezekiah: "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: I have heard[o] your prayer concerning Sennacherib king of Assyria. 21This is the word that the LORD has spoken against[p] him:

" 'The Virgin Daughter[q] of Zion

19:7 spirit. Of insecurity and fear. report. Some interpreters link this "report" with the challenge to Sennacherib from Tirhakah of Egypt (v. 9). Others regard it as disturbing information from Sennacherib's homeland. cut down with the sword. See v. 37. Here the eventual murder of Sennacherib is connected with his blasphemy against the living God.

19:20 heard your prayer. On this occasion Isaiah's message to Hezekiah was unsolicited by the king (contrast v. 2).

19:21–28 The arrogance of the Assyrians and their ridicule of the Israelites and their God are countered with a derisive pronouncement of judgment (cf. Ps 2) on the misconceived Assyrian pride (see Isa 10:5–34).

19:21 Virgin Daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants.

19:22 Holy One of Israel. A designation of the God of Israel characteristic of Isaiah (see note on Isa 1:4).

I have ascended the heights of the mountains, the utmost heights of Lebanon.
I have cut down[y] its tallest cedars,
the choicest of its pines.
I have reached its remotest parts,
the finest of its forests.
24I have dug wells in foreign lands and drunk the water there.
With the soles of my feet
I have dried up all the streams of Egypt."

25" 'Have you not heard?[z]
Long ago I ordained it.
In days of old I planned[a] it;
now I have brought it to pass, that you have turned fortified cities into piles of stone.[b]
26Their people, drained of power,[c] are dismayed[d] and put to shame.
They are like plants in the field, like tender green shoots,[e] like grass sprouting on the roof, scorched[f] before it grows up.

27" 'But I know[g] where you stay and when you come and go and how you rage against me.
28Because you rage against me and your insolence has reached my ears,
I will put my hook[h] in your nose and my bit[i] in your mouth, and I will make you return[j] by the way you came.'

29"This will be the sign[k] for you, O Hezekiah:

"This year you will eat what grows by itself,[l] and the second year what springs from that.
But in the third year sow and reap, plant vineyards[m] and eat their fruit.
30Once more a remnant[n] of the house of Judah will take root[o] below and bear fruit above.
31For out of Jerusalem will come a remnant,[p] and out of Mount Zion a band of survivors.[q]

The zeal[r] of the LORD Almighty will accomplish this.

32"Therefore this is what the LORD says concerning the king of Assyria:

"He will not enter this city or shoot an arrow here.
He will not come before it with shield or build a siege ramp against it.
33By the way that he came he will return;[s] he will not enter this city,
declares the LORD.
34I will defend[t] this city and save it, for my sake and for the sake of David[u] my servant."

35That night the angel of the LORD[v] went out and put to death a hundred and eighty-five thousand men in the Assyrian camp. When the people got up the next morning—there were all the dead bodies![w] 36So Sennacherib king of Assyria broke camp and withdrew.[x] He returned to Nineveh[y] and stayed there.

19:24 dried up all the streams of Egypt. A presumptuous boast for one who had not even conquered Egypt.

19:25 I ordained it . . . now I have brought it to pass. The God of Israel is the ruler of all nations and history. The Assyrians attributed their victories to their own military superiority. However, Isaiah said that God alone ordained these victories (see Isa 10:5–19; cf. Eze 30:24–26).

19:27 I know. See Ps 121:8.

19:28 hook in your nose. At the top of an Assyrian obelisk an Assyrian king (probably Esarhaddon, 681–669 B.C.) is pictured holding ropes attached to rings in the noses of four of his enemies. Here Isaiah portrays the same thing happening to Sennacherib (see note on Isa 37:29; cf. Eze 38:4; Am 4:2).

19:29 This year you will eat what grows by itself. Sennacherib had apparently either destroyed or confiscated the entire harvest that had been sown the previous fall. The people would only have use of the later, second growth that came from seeds dropped from the previous year's harvest (see Lev 25:5). This suggests that Sennacherib came to Judah in March or April about the time of harvest. the second year what springs from that. Sennacherib's departure would be too late in the fall (October) for new crops to be planted for the coming year. In the Holy Land crops are normally sown in September and October. in the third year sow and reap. The routine times for sowing and harvesting could be observed in the following year. The third year is likely a reference to the third year of harvests detrimentally affected by the Assyrian presence.

19:30–31 remnant. See note on v. 4. For use of the term "remnant" as a designation for those who will participate in the future unfolding of God's redemptive program see Isa 11:11,16; 28:5; Mic 4:7; Ro 11:5.

19:32 not enter this city. Sennacherib, who was presently at Libnah (see v. 8; see also note on 8:22), would not be able to carry out his threats against Jerusalem (see note on 18:13).

Assyrian inscriptions speak of a struggle among Sennacherib's sons for the right of succession to the Assyrian throne. Sennacherib's designation of Esarhaddon as heir apparent, even though he was younger than several of his brothers, may have sparked the abortive attempt at a coup by Adrammelech Adrammelech[z] and Sharezer cut him down with the sword,[a] and they escaped to the land of Ararat.[b] And Esarhaddon[c] his son succeeded him as king.

Hezekiah's Illness

20:1–11pp — 2Ch 32:24–26; Isa 38:1–8

20 In those days Hezekiah became ill and was at the point of death. The prophet Isaiah son of Amoz went to him and said, "This is what the LORD says: Put your house in order, because you are going to die; you will not recover."

[2]Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD, [3]"Remember,[d] O LORD, how I have walked[e] before you faithfully[f] and with wholehearted devotion and have done what is good in your eyes." And Hezekiah wept bitterly.

[4]Before Isaiah had left the middle court, the word of the LORD came to him: [5]"Go back and tell Hezekiah, the leader of my people, 'This is what the LORD, the God of your father David, says: I have heard[g] your prayer and seen your tears;[h] I will heal you. On the third day from now you will go up to the temple of the LORD. [6]I will add fifteen years to your life. And I will deliver you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria. I will defend[i] this city for my sake and for the sake of my servant David.' "

[7]Then Isaiah said, "Prepare a poultice of figs." They did so and applied it to the boil,[j] and he recovered.

[8]Hezekiah had asked Isaiah, "What will be the sign that the LORD will heal me and that I will go up to the temple of the LORD on the third day from now?"

[9]Isaiah answered, "This is the LORD's sign[k] to you that the LORD will do what he has promised: Shall the shadow go forward ten steps, or shall it go back ten steps?"

[10]"It is a simple[l] matter for the shadow to go forward ten steps," said Hezekiah. "Rather, have it go back ten steps."

[11]Then the prophet Isaiah called upon the LORD, and the LORD made the shadow go back[m] the ten steps it had gone down on the stairway of Ahaz.

Envoys From Babylon

20:12–19pp — Isa 39:1–8
20:20–21pp — 2Ch 32:32–33

[12]At that time Merodach-Baladan son of Baladan king of Babylon sent Hezekiah letters and a gift, because he had heard of Hezekiah's illness. [13]Hezekiah received the messengers and showed them all that was in his storehouses—the silver, the gold, the spices and the fine oil—his armory and everything found among his treasures. There was nothing in his palace or in all his kingdom that Hezekiah did not show them.

[14]Then Isaiah the prophet went to King Hezekiah and asked, "What did those men say, and where did they come from?"

and Sharezer.

20:1 In those days. Hezekiah's illness (vv. 1–11) as well as his reception of envoys from Babylon (vv. 12–19) must have preceded the Assyrian campaign in 701 B.C. (see v. 6; see also notes on vv. 12–13). Babylonian records indicate that Merodach-Baladan (v. 12) died in Elam after being expelled from Babylon in 703. Put your house in order. Arrangements of a testamentary nature needed to be made, especially with respect to throne succession. you are going to die. Assuming that Hezekiah was 25 years old in 715 when he began his sole reign (see 18:2) and that his illness occurred a little more than 15 years prior to his death (see note on v. 6), he would have been about 37 or 38 years old at this time.

20:3 walked before you faithfully . . . and have done what is good. Hezekiah's prayer is not an appeal for divine favor that is based on good works, but it expresses the realization that the Lord graciously favors those who earnestly serve him (see note on 2Sa 22:21).

20:5 I will heal you. God is the one who sovereignly ordains all that comes to pass (Ps 139:16; Eph 1:11). Hezekiah's petition and God's response demonstrate that (1) divine sovereignty does not make prayer inappropriate but, on the contrary, it establishes it, and (2) both prayer and the divine response to prayer are to be included in one's conception of God's sovereign plan (see 1Ki 21:29; Eze 33:13–16).

20:6 add fifteen years to your life. Hezekiah died in 686 B.C. The beginning of the extension of his life is thus to be placed no later than 702. for my sake and for the sake of my servant David. See 19:34; see also note on 1Ki 11:13.

20:7 poultice. The Lord healed Hezekiah (see v. 5), but divine healing does not necessarily exclude the use of known remedies.

20:9 steps. See v. 11 (see also note on Isa 38:8).

20:12 Merodach-Baladan. Means "(The god) Marduk has given me a son." He ruled in Babylon 721–710 B.C. before being forced to submit to Assyrian domination by Sargon II of Assyria. Sometime after Sargon's death in 705, Merodach-Baladan briefly reestablished Babylonian independence and ruled in Babylon until Sennacherib forced him to flee in 703 (see note on v. 1). sent Hezekiah letters and a gift. See 2Ch 32:31; Isa 39. It is likely that Merodach-Baladan was attempting to draw Hezekiah into an alliance against Assyria. Although Hezekiah rejected the pro-Assyrian policies of his father Ahaz (see 16:7) and rebelled against Assyria (see 18:7), he erred in seeking to strengthen Israel's security by friendship with Babylon and Egypt (see 2Ch 32:31; Isa 30–31; see also notes on 1Sa 17:11; 1Ki 15:19).

20:13 received the messengers and showed them all. Hezekiah's reception of the delegation from Babylon was overly hospitable. Perhaps it was an attempt to bolster Judah's security by impressing the Babylonians with the wealth and power of his kingdom as a basis for mutual cooperation against the Assyrians. In principle this was a denial of the covenantal nature of the royal office in Israel (see note on 2Sa 24:1). silver . . . oil. The presence of these treasures in Jerusalem is evidence that this incident occurred before the payment of tribute to Sennacherib in 701 B.C. (see 18:15–16).

20:14 What did those men say . . . ? Hezekiah gave no response to Isaiah's question concerning the diplomatic purpose of the Babylonian envoys.

"From a distant land," Hezekiah replied. "They came from Babylon."

15The prophet asked, "What did they see in your palace?"

"They saw everything in my palace," Hezekiah said. "There is nothing among my treasures that I did not show them."

16Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of the LORD: 17The time will surely come when everything in your palace, and all that your fathers have stored up until this day, will be carried off to Babylon.[n] Nothing will be left, says the LORD. 18And some of your descendants,[o] your own flesh and blood, that will be born to you, will be taken away, and they will become eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon."[p]

19"The word of the LORD you have spoken is good," Hezekiah replied. For he thought, "Will there not be peace and security in my lifetime?"

20As for the other events of Hezekiah's reign, all his achievements and how he made the pool[q] and the tunnel[r] by which he brought water into the city, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah? 21Hezekiah rested with his fathers. And Manasseh his son succeeded him as king.

Manasseh King of Judah

21:1–10pp — 2Ch 33:1–10
21:17–18pp — 2Ch 33:18–20

21 Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem fifty-five years. His mother's name was Hephzibah.[s] 2He did evil[t] in the eyes of the LORD, following the detestable practices[u] of the nations the LORD had driven out before the Israelites. 3He rebuilt the high places[v] his father Hezekiah had destroyed; he also erected altars to Baal[w] and made an Asherah pole,[x] as Ahab king of Israel had done. He bowed down to all the starry hosts[y] and worshiped them. 4He built altars[z] in the temple of the LORD, of which the LORD had said, "In Jerusalem I will put my Name."[a] 5In both courts[b] of the temple of the LORD, he built altars to all the starry hosts. 6He sacrificed his own son[c] in[h] the fire, practiced sorcery and divination,[d] and consulted mediums and spiritists.[e] He did much evil in the eyes of the LORD, provoking[f] him to anger.

7He took the carved Asherah pole[g] he had made and put it in the temple,[h] of which the LORD had said to David and to his son Solomon, "In this temple and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I will put my Name[i] forever. 8I will not again[j] make the feet of the Israelites wander from the land I gave their forefathers, if only they will be careful to do everything I commanded them and will keep the whole Law that my servant Moses[k] gave them." 9But the people did not listen. Manasseh led them astray, so that they did more evil[l] than the nations[m] the LORD had destroyed before the Israelites.

20:17 carried off to Babylon. Hezekiah's reception of the Babylonians would bring the exact opposite of what he desired and expected. Isaiah's prediction of Babylonian exile at least 115 years before it happened is all the more remarkable because, when he spoke, it appeared that Assyria rather than Babylon was the world power from whom Judah had the most to fear.

20:18 some of your descendants . . . will be taken away. Hezekiah's own son Manasseh was taken by the Assyrians and held prisoner for a while in Babylon (see 2Ch 33:11); later, many more from the house of David were to follow (see 24:15; 25:7; Da 1:3).

20:19 word . . . is good. Although it is possible to understand Hezekiah's statement as a selfish expression of relief that he himself would not experience the announced adversity, it seems better to take it as a humble acceptance of the Lord's judgment (see 2Ch 32:26) and as gratefulness for the intervening time of peace that the Lord in his mercy was granting to his people.

20:20 the pool and the tunnel. Hezekiah built a tunnel from the Gihon spring (see 1Ki 1:33,38) to a cistern (2Ch 32:30) inside the city's walls (see diagram No. 8 at the end of the study Bible). This greatly reduced Jerusalem's vulnerability to siege by guaranteeing a continuing water supply. In 1880 an inscription (the Siloam inscription; see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii) was found in the rock wall at the entrance to this tunnel, describing the method of its construction. The tunnel, cut through solid rock, is over 1,700 feet long; its height varies from 3 2/3 feet to 11 1/2 feet and it averages 2 feet in width. annals of the kings of Judah. See note on 1Ki 14:29.

20:21 rested with his fathers. See note on 1Ki 1:21.

21:1 twelve years old. Manasseh was born after Hezekiah's serious illness (see 20:6). fifty-five years. 697–642 B.C., including a ten-year co-regency (697–686) with his father Hezekiah. This was the longest reign of any king in either Israel or Judah.

21:2 detestable practices. Manasseh reversed the religious policies of his father Hezekiah (see 18:3–5) and reverted to those of Ahaz (see 16:3).

21:3 high places . . . Hezekiah had destroyed. See note on 18:4; see also 2Ch 31:1. Asherah pole. See 1Ki 14:15,23; 15:13; 16:33. as Ahab. Manasseh was the Ahab of Judah (see 1Ki 16:30–33). bowed down to all the starry hosts. See note on 17:16.

21:4 In Jerusalem I will put my Name. See 1Ki 8:20,29; 9:3.

21:6 sacrificed his own son. See note on 16:3; see also 17:17. practiced sorcery and divination. See notes on 16:15; 17:17. consulted mediums and spiritists. See Lev 19:31; Dt 18:11; 1Sa 28:3,7–9 and notes.

21:7 carved Asherah pole. See note on 1Ki 14:15. David. See 2Sa 7:13. Solomon. See 1Ki 9:3. chosen out of all the tribes. See 1Ki 11:13,32,36.

21:9 nations the LORD had destroyed. See 1Ki 14:24; Dt 12:29–31; 31:3.

10The LORD said through his servants the prophets: 11"Manasseh king of Judah has committed these detestable sins. He has done more evil[n] than the Amorites[o] who preceded him and has led Judah into sin with his idols.[p] 12Therefore this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: I am going to bring such disaster[q] on Jerusalem and Judah that the ears of everyone who hears of it will tingle.[r] 13I will stretch out over Jerusalem the measuring line used against Samaria and the plumb line[s] used against the house of Ahab. I will wipe[t] out Jerusalem as one wipes a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down. 14I will forsake[u] the remnant[v] of my inheritance and hand them over to their enemies. They will be looted and plundered by all their foes, 15because they have done evil[w] in my eyes and have provoked[x] me to anger from the day their forefathers came out of Egypt until this day."

16Moreover, Manasseh also shed so much innocent blood[y] that he filled Jerusalem from end to end—besides the sin that he had caused Judah[z] to commit, so that they did evil in the eyes of the LORD.

17As for the other events of Manasseh's reign, and all he did, including the sin he committed, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah?
18Manasseh rested with his fathers and was buried in his palace garden,[a] the garden of Uzza. And Amon his son succeeded him as king.

Amon King of Judah

21:19–24pp — 2Ch 33:21–25

19Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem two years. His mother's name was Meshullemeth daughter of Haruz; she was from Jotbah. 20He did evil[b] in the eyes of the LORD, as his father Manasseh had done. 21He walked in all the ways of his father; he worshiped the idols his father had worshiped, and bowed down to them. 22He forsook[c] the LORD, the God of his fathers, and did not walk[d] in the way of the LORD.

23Amon's officials conspired against him and assassinated[e] the king in his palace. 24Then the people of the land killed[f] all who had plotted against King Amon, and they made Josiah[g] his son king in his place.

25As for the other events of Amon's reign, and what he did, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah? 26He was buried in his grave in the garden[h] of Uzza. And Josiah his son succeeded him as king.

21:12 ears of everyone who hears of it will tingle. See Jer 19:3.
21:13 measuring line . . . plumb line. Instruments normally associated with construction are used here as symbols of destruction (see Isa 34:11; Am 7:7–9,17).
21:14 I will forsake. In the sense of giving over to judgment (see Jer 12:7), not in the sense of abrogation of the covenant (see 1Sa 12:22; Isa 43:1–7). remnant of my inheritance. Upon the destruction of the northern kingdom, Judah had become the remnant of the Lord's inheritance (see 1Ki 8:51; Dt 4:20; 1Sa 10:1; Ps 28:9; see also note on 2Ki 19:4).
21:15 The history of Israel was a history of covenant breaking. With the reign of Manasseh the cup of God's wrath overflowed, and the judgment of exile from the land of promise (see note on 17:7–23) became inevitable (see 24:1–4).
21:16 innocent blood. A reference to godly people and perhaps even prophets who were martyred for opposition to Manasseh's evil practices (see vv. 10–11). According to a Jewish tradition (not otherwise substantiated) Isaiah was sawed in two during Manasseh's reign (cf. Heb 11:37).
21:17 other events of Manasseh's reign. See 2Ch 33:12–19. annals of the kings of Judah. See note on 1Ki 14:29.
21:18 rested with his fathers. See note on 1Ki 1:21. Uzza. Probably a shortened form of Uzziah (see 14:21–22 and 15:1–7, Azariah; 2Ch 26, Uzziah).
21:19 two years. 642–640 B.C. Jotbah. Some identify it with the Jotbathah of Nu 33:33–34 and Dt 10:7, near Ezion Geber. Others, including the church father Jerome, have located it in Judah.
21:20 did evil. Amon did not share in the change of heart that characterized his father Manasseh in the last days of his life (see 2Ch 33:12–19). He must have restored the idolatrous practices that Manasseh abolished because these were again in existence in the time of Josiah (see 23:5–7,12).
21:23 conspired against him. Whether this palace revolt was motivated by religious or political considerations is not known.
21:24 people of the land. The citizenry in general (see 11:14,18; 14:21; 23:30). killed all who had plotted against King Amon. It is not clear whether this counterinsurgency was motivated simply by loyalty to the house of David or by other factors.
21:25 annals of the kings of Judah. See note on 1Ki 14:29.
21:26 Uzza. See note on v. 18.
22:1 thirty-one years. 640–609 B.C. (see note on 21:19). Bozkath. Located in Judah in the vicinity of Lachish (see Jos 15:39).
22:2 ways of his father David. See note on 18:3. Josiah was the last godly king of the Davidic line prior to the exile. Jeremiah, who prophesied during the time of Josiah (see Jer 1:2), spoke highly of him (Jer 22:15–16). Zephaniah also prophesied in the early days of his reign (Zep 1:1).

father David, not turning aside to the right[l] or to the left.

[3]In the eighteenth year of his reign, King Josiah sent the secretary, Shaphan[m] son of Azaliah, the son of Meshullam, to the temple of the LORD. He said: [4]"Go up to Hilkiah[n] the high priest and have him get ready the money that has been brought into the temple of the LORD, which the doorkeepers have collected[o] from the people. [5]Have them entrust it to the men appointed to supervise the work on the temple. And have these men pay the workers who repair[p] the temple of the LORD— [6]the carpenters, the builders and the masons. Also have them purchase timber and dressed stone to repair the temple.[q] [7]But they need not account for the money entrusted to them, because they are acting faithfully."[r]

[8]Hilkiah the high priest said to Shaphan the secretary, "I have found the Book of the Law[s] in the temple of the LORD." He gave it to Shaphan, who read it. [9]Then Shaphan the secretary went to the king and reported to him: "Your officials have paid out the money that was in the temple of the LORD and have entrusted it to the workers and supervisors at the temple." [10]Then Shaphan the secretary informed the king, "Hilkiah the priest has given me a book." And Shaphan read from it in the presence of the king.[t]

[11]When the king heard the words of the Book of the Law,[u] he tore his robes. [12]He gave these orders to Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam[v] son of Shaphan, Acbor son of Micaiah, Shaphan the secretary and Asaiah the king's attendant: [w] [13]"Go and inquire[x] of the LORD for me and for the people and for all Judah about what is written in this book that has been found. Great is the LORD's anger[y] that burns against us because our fathers have not obeyed the words of this book; they have not acted in accordance with all that is written there concerning us."

[14]Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam, Acbor, Shaphan and Asaiah went to speak to the prophetess[z] Huldah, who was the wife of Shallum son of Tikvah, the son of Harhas, keeper of the wardrobe. She lived in Jerusalem, in the Second District.

[15]She said to them, "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Tell the man who sent you to me, [16]'This is what the LORD says: I am going to bring disaster[a] on this place and its people, according to everything written in the book[b] the king of Judah has read. [17]Because they have forsaken[c] me and burned incense to other gods and provoked me to anger by all the idols their hands have made,[i] my anger will burn against this place and will not be quenched.' [18]Tell the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire[d] of the LORD, 'This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says concerning the words you heard: [19]Because your heart was responsive and you humbled[e] yourself before the LORD when you heard what I have spoken against this place and its people, that they would become accursed[f] and laid waste,[g] and because you tore your robes and wept in my presence, I have heard you, declares the LORD. 22:3 eighteenth year. 622 B.C. Josiah was then 26 years old (see v. 1). He had begun to serve the Lord faithfully at the age of 16 (the 8th year of his reign, 2Ch 34:3). When he was 20 years old (the 12th year of his reign, 2Ch 34:3), he had already begun to purge the land of its idolatrous practices. secretary, Shaphan. See note on 2Sa 8:17. Two additional individuals are mentioned as accompanying Shaphan in 2Ch 34:8.

22:4 Hilkiah. Father of Azariah and grandfather of Seraiah, the high priest executed at the time of the destruction of Jerusalem by the Babylonians (see 25:18–20). It is unlikely that this Hilkiah was also the father of Jeremiah (see Jer 1:1). money . . . the doorkeepers have collected. Josiah used the method devised by Joash for collecting funds for the restoration of the temple (see 12:1–16; 2Ch 34:9).

22:5 men appointed to supervise. See 2Ch 34:12–13.

22:8 Book of the Law. Some interpreters hold that this refers to a copy of the entire Pentateuch, while others understand it as a reference to a copy of part or all of Deuteronomy alone (see Dt 31:24,26; 2Ch 34:14).

22:11 tore his robes. See note on 18:37; contrast Josiah's reaction with that of Jehoiakim to the words of the scroll written by Jeremiah (see Jer 36:24). Perhaps the covenant curses of Lev 26 and/or Dt 28, climaxing with the threat of exile, were the statements that especially disturbed Josiah.

22:12 Ahikam. Father of Gedaliah, who was later to be appointed governor of Judah by Nebuchadnezzar (see 25:22; Jer 39:14). He was also the protector of Jeremiah when his life was threatened during the reign of Jehoiakim (see Jer 26:24). Acbor. His son Elnathan is mentioned in 24:8; Jer 26:22; 36:12. Shaphan the secretary. See note on v. 3.

22:14 prophetess Huldah. Why the delegation sought out Huldah rather than Jeremiah or Zephaniah is not known. Perhaps it was merely a matter of her accessibility in Jerusalem. Shallum . . . keeper of the wardrobe. Perhaps the same Shallum who was the uncle of Jeremiah (see Jer 32:7). Second District. A section of the city (the Hebrew for this phrase is translated "New Quarter" in Zep 1:10) probably located in a newly developed area between the first and second walls in the northwest part of Jerusalem (see 2Ch 33:14).

22:16 this place. Jerusalem.

22:19 your heart was responsive. See v. 11.

22:20 gather you to your fathers. See note on 1Ki 1:21. you will be buried in peace. This prediction refers to Josiah's death before God's judgment on Jerusalem through Nebuchadnezzar and so is not contradicted by his death in battle with Pharaoh Neco of Egypt (see 23:29–30). Josiah was assured that the final judgment on Judah and Jerusalem would not come in his own days.

So they took her answer back to the king.

23 Then the king called together all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem. [2]He went up to the temple of the LORD with the men of Judah, the people of Jerusalem, the priests and the prophets—all the people from the least to the greatest. He read[j] in their hearing all the words of the Book of the Covenant,[k] which had been found in the temple of the LORD. [3]The king stood by the pillar[l] and renewed the covenant[m] in the presence of the LORD—to follow[n] the LORD and keep his commands, regulations and decrees with all his heart and all his soul, thus confirming the words of the covenant written in this book. Then all the people pledged themselves to the covenant.

[4]The king ordered Hilkiah the high priest, the priests next in rank and the doorkeepers[o] to remove[p] from the temple of the LORD all the articles made for Baal and Asherah and all the starry hosts. He burned them outside Jerusalem in the fields of the Kidron Valley and took the ashes to Bethel. [5]He did away with the pagan priests appointed by the kings of Judah to burn incense on the high places of the towns of Judah and on those around Jerusalem—those who burned incense[q] to Baal, to the sun and moon, to the constellations and to all the starry hosts.[r s] [6]He took the Asherah pole from the temple of the LORD to the Kidron Valley[t] outside Jerusalem and burned it there. He ground it to powder[u] and scattered the dust over the graves[v] of the common people.[w] [7]He also tore down the quarters of the male shrine prostitutes,[x] which were in the temple of the LORD and where women did weaving for Asherah.

[8]Josiah brought all the priests from the towns of Judah and desecrated the high places, from Geba[y] to Beersheba, where the priests had burned incense. He broke down the shrines[j] at the gates—at the entrance to the Gate of Joshua, the city governor, which is on the left of the city gate. [9]Although the priests of the high places did not serve[z] at the altar of the LORD in Jerusalem, they ate unleavened bread with their fellow priests.

[10]He desecrated Topheth,[a] which was in the Valley of Ben Hinnom,[b] so no one could use it to sacrifice his son[c] or daughter in[k] the fire to Molech. [11]He removed from the entrance to the temple of the LORD the horses that the kings of Judah[d] had dedicated to the sun. They were in the court near the room of an

[j] 8 Or high places [k] 10 Or to make his son or daughter pass through

23:1 elders. See note on 10:1.

23:2 Book of the Covenant. Although this designation is used in Ex 24:7 with reference to the contents of Ex 20–23, it is here applied to either all or part of the book of Deuteronomy or the entire Mosaic law. Whatever else the scroll contained, it clearly included the covenant curses of Lev 26 and/or Dt 28 (see notes on v. 21; 22:8,11).

23:3 pillar. See note on 11:14. renewed the covenant. Josiah carries out the function of covenant mediator; cf. Moses (Ex 24:3–8; Dt 1:3–4), Joshua (Jos 24), Samuel (1Sa 11:14–12:25) and Jehoiada (2Ki 11:17). follow the LORD. See notes on 1Sa 12:14,20. pledged themselves to the covenant. It is likely that some sort of ratification rite was performed, in which the people participated and pledged by oath to be loyal to their covenant obligations. Whether this was done symbolically (see Jer 34:18) or verbally (see Dt 27:11–26) is not clear.

23:4 doorkeepers. See 12:9. Baal and Asherah. See note on 1Ki 14:15. starry hosts. See note on 17:16. took the ashes to Bethel. See vv. 15–16. Bethel was located just over the border between Judah and the former northern kingdom in territory nominally under Assyrian control. With a decline in Assyrian power, Josiah was able to exert his own influence in the north. He apparently deposited the ashes at Bethel in order to desecrate (see note on v. 14) the very place where golden calf worship had originally polluted the land (see notes on 1Ki 12:28–30).

23:5 pagan priests. See Hos 10:5; Zep 1:4. kings of Judah. A reference to Manasseh and Amon, and perhaps to Ahaz before them. high places. See note on 18:4.

23:6 Asherah pole. See note on 1Ki 14:15. The Asherah poles destroyed by Hezekiah (18:4) were reintroduced by Manasseh (21:7). When Manasseh turned to the Lord, it is likely that he too got rid of the Asherah poles (see 2Ch 33:15) and that they were then again reintroduced by Amon (2Ki 21:21; 2Ch 33:22). scattered the dust over the graves of the common people. Intended as a defilement of the goddess, not as a desecration of the graves of the poor (see Jer 26:23).

23:7 male shrine prostitutes. See note on 1Ki 14:24.

23:8 desecrated the high places. See note on 18:4. Geba to Beersheba. Geba was on the northern border of the southern kingdom (see 1Ki 15:22), and Beersheba was on its southern border (see note on 1Sa 3:20).

23:9 ate unleavened bread with their fellow priests. Although not permitted to serve at the temple altar, these priests were to be sustained by a share of the priestly provisions (see Lev 2:10; 6:16–18). They occupied a status similar to that of priests with physical defects (see Lev 21:16–23).

23:10 Topheth. The name of an area in the Valley of Hinnom where altars used for child sacrifice were located (see Isa 30:33; Jer 7:31; 19:5–6). sacrifice his son or daughter. See 17:17; 21:6; see also note on 16:3. Molech. See note on 1Ki 11:5.

23:11 horses ... dedicated to the sun. If live, the horses may have been used to pull chariots bearing images of a sun-god in religious processions. Small images of horses have recently been found in a cult place just outside one of the ancient walls of Jerusalem. Nathan-Melech. Perhaps the official in charge of the chariots.

official named Nathan-Melech. Josiah then burned the chariots dedicated to the sun.[e]

[12]He pulled down[f] the altars the kings of Judah had erected on the roof[g] near the upper room of Ahaz, and the altars Manasseh had built in the two courts[h] of the temple of the LORD. He removed them from there, smashed them to pieces and threw the rubble into the Kidron Valley.[i] [13]The king also desecrated the high places that were east of Jerusalem on the south of the Hill of Corruption—the ones Solomon[j] king of Israel had built for Ashtoreth the vile goddess of the Sidonians, for Chemosh the vile god of Moab, and for Molech[l] the detestable[k] god of the people of Ammon.[l] [14]Josiah smashed[m] the sacred stones and cut down the Asherah poles and covered the sites with human bones.[n]

[15]Even the altar[o] at Bethel, the high place made by Jeroboam[p] son of Nebat, who had caused Israel to sin—even that altar and high place he demolished. He burned the high place and ground it to powder, and burned the Asherah pole also. [16]Then Josiah[q] looked around, and when he saw the tombs that were there on the hillside, he had the bones removed from them and burned on the altar to defile it, in accordance[r] with the word of the LORD proclaimed by the man of God who foretold these things.

[17]The king asked, "What is that tombstone I see?"

The men of the city said, "It marks the tomb of the man of God who came from Judah and pronounced against the altar of Bethel the very things you have done to it."

[18]"Leave it alone," he said. "Don't let anyone disturb his bones[s]." So they spared his bones and those of the prophet[t] who had come from Samaria.

[19]Just as he had done at Bethel, Josiah removed and defiled all the shrines at the high places that the kings of Israel had built in the towns of Samaria that had provoked the LORD to anger. [20]Josiah slaughtered[u] all the priests of those high places on the altars and burned human bones[v] on them. Then he went back to Jerusalem.

[21]The king gave this order to all the people: "Celebrate the Passover[w] to the LORD your God, as it is written in this Book of the Covenant."[x] [22]Not since the days of the judges who led Israel, nor throughout the days of the kings of Israel and the kings of Judah, had any such Passover been observed. [23]But in the eighteenth year of King Josiah, this Passover was celebrated to the LORD in Jerusalem.[y]

[24]Furthermore, Josiah got rid of the mediums and spiritists,[z] the household gods,[a] the idols and all the other detestable[b] things seen in Judah and Jerusalem. This he did to fulfill the requirements of the law written in the book that Hilkiah the priest had discovered in the temple of the LORD. [25]Neither before nor after Josiah was there a king like him who turned[c] to the LORD as he did—with all his heart and with all his soul and with all his strength, in accordance with all the Law of Moses.[d]

[26]Nevertheless, the LORD did not turn away from the heat of his fierce anger,[e] which burned against Judah because of

23:13 high places . . . Solomon . . . had built. See note on 1Ki 11:5.

23:14 covered the sites with human bones. The bones would defile these sites and make them unsuitable for cultic use in the future (see Nu 19:16).

23:15 altar at Bethel. See 1Ki 12:32–33. Nothing is said of the golden calf, which undoubtedly had been sent to Assyria as tribute at the time of the captivity of the northern kingdom (see Hos 10:5–6).

23:16 tombs. Of the priests of the Bethel sanctuary (see 1Ki 13:2). burned on the altar to defile it. See notes on vv. 6,14. the man of God who foretold these things. See 1Ki 13:1–2,32.

23:18 prophet who had come from Samaria. See 1Ki 13:31–32. Samaria is here not to be understood as the city by that name since the prophet came from Bethel (see 1Ki 13:11), and the city Samaria did not yet exist (see 1Ki 16:24). Rather, it is to be taken as a designation for the entire area of the former northern kingdom (see notes on 17:24,29; 1Ki 13:32).

23:20 slaughtered all the priests of those high places. These were non-Levitical priests of the apostate worship practiced in the area of the former northern kingdom (see notes on 17:27–28,33–34). They were treated like the pagan priests of Judah (see v. 5) in contrast to Josiah's treatment of the priests at the high places in Judah (see vv. 8–9). Josiah's actions in this matter conformed to the requirements of Dt 13; 17:2–7.

23:21 Celebrate the Passover. A more complete description of this observance is found in 2Ch 35:1–19. as it is written in this Book of the Covenant. See note on v. 2. This appears to refer to Dt 16:1–8, where the Passover is described in a communal setting at a sanctuary (see Ex 23:15–17; 34:23–24; Lev 23:4–14) rather than in the family setting of Ex 12:1–14,43–49.

23:22 The uniqueness of Josiah's Passover celebration seems to be in the fact that all the Passover lambs were slaughtered exclusively by the Levites (see 2Ch 35:1–19; cf. 2Ch 30:2–3,17–20 for the Passover observed in the time of Hezekiah).

23:23 eighteenth year. See note on 22:3.

23:24 household gods. See note on Ge 31:19. requirements of the law. See notes on v. 2; 22:8.

23:25 was there a king like him. See note on 18:5. with all his heart . . . soul and . . . strength. See Dt 6:5.

23:26 Nevertheless, the LORD did not turn away from the all that Manasseh[f] had done to provoke him to anger. [27]So the LORD said, "I will remove[g] Judah also from my presence[h] as I removed Israel, and I will reject[i] Jerusalem, the city I chose, and this temple, about which I said, 'There shall my Name be.'[m]"

[28]As for the other events of Josiah's reign, and all he did, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah?

[29]While Josiah was king, Pharaoh Neco[j] king of Egypt went up to the Euphrates River to help the king of Assyria. King Josiah marched out to meet him in battle, but Neco faced him and killed him at Megiddo.[k] [30]Josiah's servants brought his body in a chariot[l] from Megiddo to Jerusalem and buried him in his own tomb. And the people of the land took Jehoahaz son of Josiah and anointed him and made him king in place of his father.

Jehoahaz King of Judah

[31]Jehoahaz[m] was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months. His mother's name was Hamutal[n] daughter of Jeremiah; she was from Libnah. [32]He did evil[o] in the eyes of the LORD, just as his fathers had done. [33]Pharaoh Neco put him in chains at Riblah[p] in the land of Hamath[nq] so that he might not reign in Jerusalem, and he imposed on Judah a levy of a hundred talents[o] of silver and a talent[p] of gold. [34]Pharaoh Neco made Eliakim[r] son of Josiah king in place of his father Josiah and changed Eliakim's name to Jehoiakim. But he took Jehoahaz and carried him off to Egypt, and there he died.[s] [35]Jehoiakim paid Pharaoh Neco the silver and gold he demanded. In order to do so, he taxed the land and exacted the silver and gold from the people of the land according to their assessments.[t]

The Assyrian capital, Nineveh, had already fallen to the Babylonians and Medes in 612 (see the book of Nahum). The remaining Assyrian forces had regrouped at Haran, but in 609 they were forced west of the Euphrates. It appears to be at this time that the Egyptians under Neco were coming to the Assyrians' aid. King Josiah marched out to meet him in battle. Perhaps Josiah opposed the passage of Neco's army through the pass at Megiddo (see 2Ch 35:20–24) because he feared that the growth of either Egyptian or Assyrian power would have adverse results for the continued independence of Judah.

23:30 buried him in his own tomb. See 2Ch 35:24–25. people of the land. See note on 21:24. Jehoahaz son of Josiah. Jehoahaz's name was originally Shallum (see 1Ch 3:15; Jer 22:11), which was probably changed to Jehoahaz at the time of his accession to the throne. Perhaps Jehoahaz was chosen by the people over Jehoiakim because it was known that Jehoiakim favored a pro-Egyptian policy instead of the anti-Egyptian policy of Josiah and Jehoahaz. anointed him. See note on 1Sa 9:16.

23:31 three months. In 609 B.C. Jeremiah. Not the prophet (see Jer 1:1). Libnah. See note on 8:22.

23:32 evil . . . as his fathers. See 16:3; 21:2,21; Eze 19:3.

23:33 in chains at Riblah. By either deception or overt force the Egyptians were able to take Jehoahaz captive and impose tribute on Judah (see 2Ch 36:3). Jehoahaz was imprisoned at Neco's military headquarters established at Riblah on the Orontes River. Nebuchadnezzar was later to make his headquarters at the same place (see 25:6,20).

23:34 Eliakim son of Josiah. Eliakim was an older brother of Jehoahaz (see 1Ch 3:15). Perhaps he had been bypassed earlier as a successor to Josiah because of a pro-Egyptian political stance. changed Eliakim's name to Jehoiakim. The meaning of these two names is similar (Eliakim, "God has established"; Jehoiakim, "Yahweh has established"). Perhaps Neco wanted to use the name change to imply that his actions were sanctioned by Yahweh, the God of Judah (see 18:25; 2Ch 35:21). In any case, the change in name indicated that Jehoiakim was subject to Neco's authority. took Jehoahaz . . . to Egypt, and there he died. See 2Ch 36:4; Jer 22:10–12.

23:35 from the people of the land. The tribute for Neco was raised by a graduated tax placed on the very people who had supported the kingship of Jehoahaz (see v. 30). Menahem of the northern kingdom had used a similar method of raising funds for tribute (see 15:20).

23:36 eleven years. 609–598 B.C.

23:37 did evil in the eyes of the LORD. Jehoiakim was responsible for the murder of the prophet Uriah from Kiriath Jearim (Jer 26:20–24), and his rule was characterized by dishonesty, oppression and injustice (see Jer 22:13–19). He reintroduced idolatrous worship in the temple (see Eze 8:5–17) and refused to accept the word of the Lord through Jeremiah (see Jer 36). his fathers. Manasseh (21:1–18) and Amon (21:19–26).

24:1 Nebuchadnezzar. Means "O (god) Nabu, protect my son!" He was the son of Nabopolassar (see note on 23:29) and the most powerful king of the Neo-Babylonian empire (612–539 B.C.), reigning 605–562 (see Da 1–4). invaded the land. In 605 Nebuchadnezzar, the crown prince and commander of the Babylonian army, defeated vaded[x] the land, and Jehoiakim became his vassal for three years. But then he changed his mind and rebelled[y] against Nebuchadnezzar. 2The LORD sent Babylonian,[q][z] Aramean,[a] Moabite and Ammonite raiders[b] against him. He sent them to destroy[c] Judah, in accordance with the word of the LORD proclaimed by his servants the prophets.[d] 3Surely these things happened to Judah according to the LORD's command,[e] in order to remove them from his presence[f] because of the sins of Manasseh[g] and all he had done, 4including the shedding of innocent blood.[h] For he had filled Jerusalem with innocent blood, and the LORD was not willing to forgive.[i] 5As for the other events of Jehoiakim's reign,[j] and all he did, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Judah? 6Jehoiakim rested[k] with his fathers. And Jehoiachin[l] his son succeeded him as king.

7The king of Egypt[m] did not march out from his own country again, because the king of Babylon[n] had taken all his territory, from the Wadi of Egypt to the Euphrates River.

Jehoiachin King of Judah

24:8–17pp — 2Ch 36:9–10

8Jehoiachin[o] was eighteen years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months. His mother's name was Nehushta[p] daughter of Elnathan; she was from Jerusalem. 9He did evil[q] in the eyes of the LORD, just as his father had done.

10At that time the officers of Nebuchadnezzar[r] king of Babylon advanced on Jerusalem and laid siege to it, 11and Nebuchadnezzar himself came up to the city while his officers were besieging it. 12Jehoiachin king of Judah, his mother, his attendants, his nobles and his officials all surrendered[s] to him.

In the eighth year of the reign of the king of Babylon, he took Jehoiachin prisoner. 13As the LORD had declared,[t] Nebuchadnezzar removed all the treasures[u] from the temple of the LORD and from the royal palace, and took away all the gold articles[v] that Solomon[w] king of Israel had made for the temple of the LORD. 14He carried into exile[x] all Jerusalem: all the officers and fighting men,[y] and all the craftsmen and artisans—a total of ten thousand. Only the poorest[z] people of the land were left.

15Nebuchadnezzar took Jehoiachin[a] captive to Babylon. He also took from Jerusalem to Babylon the king's mother,[b] his wives, his officials and the leading men[c] of the land. 16The king of Babylon also deported to Babylon the entire force of seven thousand fighting men, strong and fit for war, and a thousand craftsmen

Pharaoh Neco and the Egyptians at the battle of Carchemish and again at Hamath (see 23:29; Jer 46:2). These victories had far-reaching implications in the geopolitical power structure of the eastern Mediterranean world. Nebuchadnezzar went on to conquer all of the "Hatti-country," which, according to Babylonian records, included the "city of Judah." Daniel was among the Judahite hostages taken at this time (see Da 1:1). Perhaps as early as Sept. 6, 605, Nebuchadnezzar acceded to the Babylonian throne upon the death of his father. three years. Probably 604–602. In 604 Nebuchadnezzar returned to the west and took tribute from "all the kings of Hatti-land." It is likely that Jehoiakim was included among these kings. changed his mind and rebelled. In 601 Nebuchadnezzar again marched west against Egypt and was repulsed by strong Egyptian resistance. This may have encouraged Jehoiakim's rebellion, even though Jeremiah had warned against it (see Jer 27:9–11).

24:2 Babylonian, Aramean, Moabite and Ammonite raiders against him. Reaction to Jehoiakim's rebellion was swift. Babylonian troops, perhaps garrisoned in Aram, along with troops of other loyal vassals, were sent to put down the Judahite rebellion.

24:3 sins of Manasseh. See 21:11–12; 23:26–27; Jer 15:3–4.

24:4 innocent blood. See note on 21:16. not willing to forgive. See 22:17.

24:5 annals of the kings of Judah. See note on 1Ki 14:29.

24:6 rested with his fathers. See note on 1Ki 1:21. Jehoiakim died shortly before Jerusalem fell to the Babylonian siege (see vv. 8–12). Whether his death was due to natural causes or political intrigue is not indicated.

24:7 The king of Egypt did not march out from his own country again. This was due to the Egyptian defeat at Carchemish (see Jer 46:2) in 605 B.C., and it explains why Jehoiakim received no help from Egypt in his rebellion against the Babylonians. Wadi of Egypt. See note on 1Ki 8:65.

24:8 three months. In 598–597 B.C. Babylonian records place the fall of Jerusalem to Nebuchadnezzar on Mar. 16, 597. This means that the three-month and ten-day reign (see 2Ch 36:9–10) of Jehoiachin began in December, 598.

24:9 as his father. See 23:37; Jer 22:20–30.

24:11 Nebuchadnezzar himself came up to the city. Babylonian records say that Nebuchadnezzar "encamped against the city of Judah, and on the second day of the month of Addaru [i.e., Mar. 16, 597 B.C.] he seized the city and captured the king."

24:12 eighth year. April, 597 B.C. (see 2Ch 36:10; see also note on Jer 52:28, where a different system of dating is reflected).

24:13 As the LORD had declared. See 20:13,17.

24:14 ten thousand. This figure may include the 7,000 fighting men and 1,000 craftsmen mentioned in v. 16 (see note on Jer 52:28, where a different number of captives is mentioned).

24:15 Jehoiachin captive to Babylon. Fulfilling Jeremiah's prophecy (Jer 22:24–27; see 2Ki 25:27–30).

Nebuchadnezzar's Campaigns against Judah

605–586 B.C.

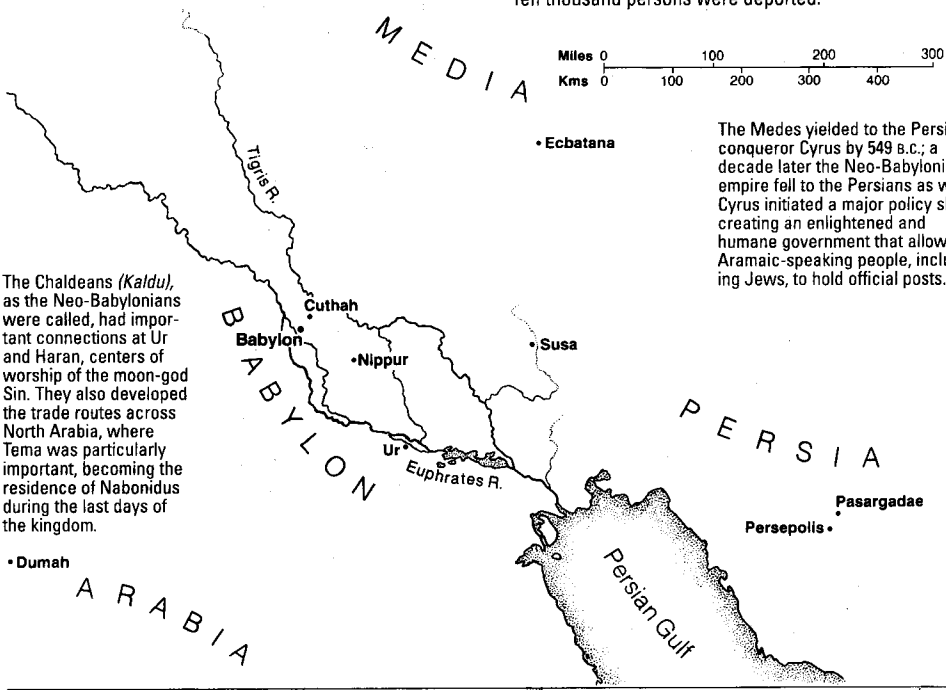
Events in Judah moved swiftly following the death of Josiah. Pharaoh Neco pressed his advantage by deporting the new ruler and appointing a second son of Josiah, Jehoiakim, as king.

Soon a stronger power appeared in the north in the person of Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Chaldeans (Neo-Babylonians), who determined to follow the fierce policies of his Assyrian predecessors.

The tribute of Jehoiakim was paid at a distance when he heard of Nebuchadnezzar's approach. After three years as a Babylonian vassal, he rebelled, bringing a rapid response in the form of small-scale raids from Babylonians, Arameans, Moabites and Ammonites (c. 602 B.C.). Finally, Nebuchadnezzar's forces controlled all of the coastal territory north of the Wadi of Egypt.

When 18-year-old Jehoiachin had ruled just three months (597 B.C.), the main Babylonian army struck, capturing Jerusalem and exiling the king as a captive in Babylon. Ten thousand persons were deported.



The Medes yielded to the Persian conqueror Cyrus by 549 B.C.; a decade later the Neo-Babylonian empire fell to the Persians as well. Cyrus initiated a major policy shift, creating an enlightened and humane government that allowed Aramaic-speaking people, including Jews, to hold official posts.

The Chaldeans (Kaldu), as the Neo-Babylonians were called, had important connections at Ur and Haran, centers of worship of the moon-god Sin. They also developed the trade routes across North Arabia, where Tema was particularly important, becoming the residence of Nabonidus during the last days of the kingdom.

DESTRUCTION OF JERUSALEM 586 B.C.

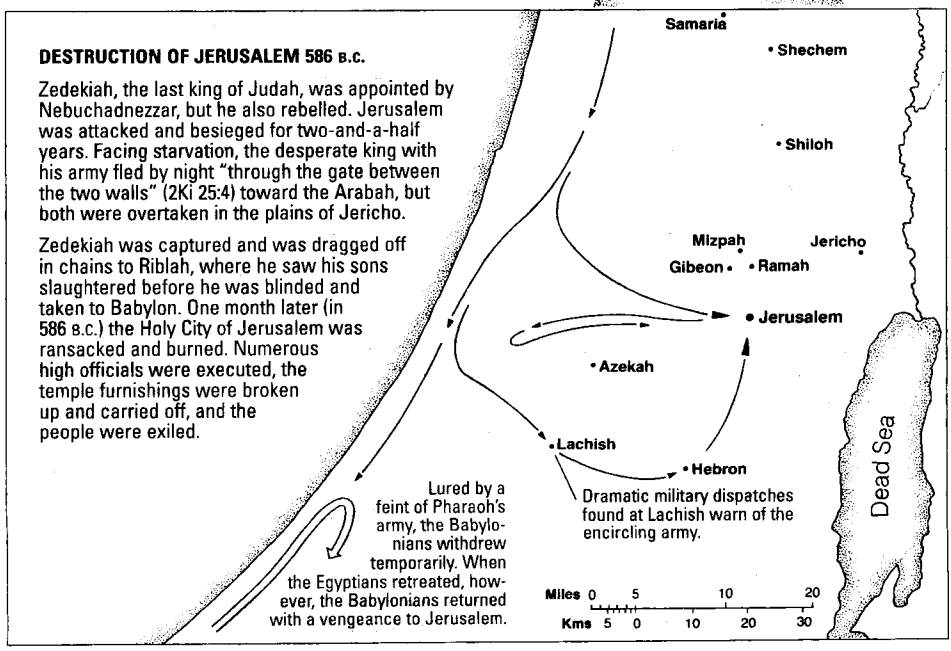
Zedekiah, the last king of Judah, was appointed by Nebuchadnezzar, but he also rebelled. Jerusalem was attacked and besieged for two-and-a-half years. Facing starvation, the desperate king with his army fled by night "through the gate between the two walls" (2Ki 25:4) toward the Arabah, but both were overtaken in the plains of Jericho.

Zedekiah was captured and was dragged off in chains to Riblah, where he saw his sons slaughtered before he was blinded and taken to Babylon. One month later (in 586 B.C.) the Holy City of Jerusalem was ransacked and burned. Numerous high officials were executed, the temple furnishings were broken up and carried off, and the people were exiled.



Lured by a feint of Pharaoh's army, the Babylonians withdrew temporarily. When the Egyptians retreated, however, the Babylonians returned with a vengeance to Jerusalem.

Dramatic military dispatches found at Lachish warn of the encircling army.

Zedekiah King of Judah

24:18–20pp — 2Ch 36:11–16; Jer 52:1–3

[18]Zedekiah[f] was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eleven years. His mother's name was Hamutal[g] daughter of Jeremiah; she was from Libnah. [19]He did evil[h] in the eyes of the LORD, just as Jehoiakim had done. [20]It was because of the LORD's anger that all this happened to Jerusalem and Judah, and in the end he thrust[i] them from his presence.[j]

The Fall of Jerusalem

25:1–12pp — Jer 39:1–10
25:1–21pp — 2Ch 36:17–20; Jer 52:4–27
25:22–26pp — Jer 40:7–9; 41:1–3, 16–18

Now Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

25 So in the ninth[k] year of Zedekiah's reign, on the tenth day of the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar[l] king of Babylon marched against Jerusalem with his whole army. He encamped outside the city and built siege works[m] all around it. [2]The city was kept under siege until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. [3]By the ninth day of the ⌊fourth⌋[r] month the famine[n] in the city had become so severe that there was no food for the people to eat. [4]Then the city wall was broken through,[o] and the whole army fled at night through the gate between the two walls near the king's garden, though the Babylonians[s] were surrounding[p] the city. They fled toward the Arabah,[t] [5]but the Babylonian[u] army pursued the king and overtook him in the plains of Jericho. All his soldiers were separated from him and scattered,[q] [6]and he was captured.[r] He was taken to the king of Babylon at Riblah,[s] where sentence was pronounced on him. [7]They killed the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes. Then they put out his eyes, bound him with bronze shackles and took him to Babylon.[t]

[8]On the seventh day of the fifth month, in the nineteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard, an official of the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. [9]He set fire[u] to the temple of the LORD, the royal palace and all the houses of Jerusalem. Every important building he burned down.[v] [10]The whole Babylonian army, under the commander of the imperial guard, broke down the walls[w] around Jerusalem. [11]Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard carried into exile[x] the people who remained in the city, along with the rest of the populace and those who had gone over to the king of Babylon.[y] [12]But the commander left behind some of the poorest people[z] of the land to work the vineyards and fields.

[13]The Babylonians broke[a] up the Perhaps Nebuchadnezzar wanted to imply that his actions against Jerusalem and Jehoiachin were just. In any case, the name change signified subjection to Nebuchadnezzar (see note on 23:34).

24:18 eleven years. 597–586 B.C. Jeremiah. See note on 23:31. Libnah. See note on 8:22.

24:19 did evil . . . as Jehoiakim. See note on 23:37. During Zedekiah's reign idolatrous practices continued to increase in Jerusalem (see 2Ch 36:14; Eze 8–11). He was a weak and indecisive ruler (see Jer 38:5,19), who refused to heed the word of the Lord given through Jeremiah (2Ch 36:12).

24:20 Zedekiah rebelled. Most interpreters link Zedekiah's revolt with the succession to the Egyptian throne in 589 B.C. of the ambitious pharaoh Apries (Hophra). Zedekiah had sworn allegiance to Nebuchadnezzar (Eze 17:13), he had sent envoys to Babylon (see Jer 29:3), and he had made a personal visit (see Jer 51:59). However, he seems to have capitulated to the seductive propaganda of the anti-Babylonian and pro-Egyptian faction in Jerusalem (see Jer 37:5; Eze 17:15–16) in a tragically miscalculated effort to gain independence from Babylon.

25:1 ninth year . . . tenth day . . . tenth month. Jan. 15, 588 B.C. (see Jer 39:1; 52:4; Eze 24:1–2). Nebuchadnezzar . . . marched against Jerusalem. Earlier, Nebuchadnezzar had subdued all the fortified cities in Judah except Lachish and Azekah (see Jer 34:7). A number of Hebrew inscriptions on potsherds were found at Lachish in 1935 and 1938. These Lachish ostraca (or letters; see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii) describe conditions at Lachish and Azekah during the Babylonian siege.

25:2–3 eleventh year . . . ninth day . . . fourth month. July 18, 586 B.C. (see Jer 39:2; 52:5–7). Some scholars follow a different dating system and place the fall of Jerusalem in the summer of 587.

25:3 famine in the city had become so severe. See Jer 38:2–9.

25:6 king of Babylon at Riblah. See note on 23:33; see also Jer 39:5; 52:9.

Ezekiel (12:13) had predicted that Zedekiah would be brought to Babylon, but that he would not see it. Zedekiah could have spared his own life and prevented the destruction of Jerusalem if he had listened to Jeremiah (see Jer 38:14–28).

25:8 seventh day . . . fifth month . . . nineteenth year. Aug. 14, 586 B.C. (see Jer 52:12).

bronze pillars, the movable stands and the bronze Sea that were at the temple of the LORD and they carried the bronze to Babylon. 14They also took away the pots, shovels, wick trimmers, dishes[b] and all the bronze articles[c] used in the temple service. 15The commander of the imperial guard took away the censers and sprinkling bowls—all that were made of pure gold or silver.[d] 16The bronze from the two pillars, the Sea and the movable stands, which Solomon had made for the temple of the LORD, was more than could be weighed. 17Each pillar[e] was twenty-seven feet[v] high. The bronze capital on top of one pillar was four and a half feet[w] high and was decorated with a network and pomegranates of bronze all around. The other pillar, with its network, was similar.

18The commander of the guard took as prisoners Seraiah[f] the chief priest, Zephaniah[g] the priest next in rank and the three doorkeepers.[h] 19Of those still in the city, he took the officer in charge of the fighting men and five royal advisers. He also took the secretary who was chief officer in charge of conscripting the people of the land and sixty of his men who were found in the city. 20Nebuzaradan the commander took them all and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. 21There at Riblah,[i] in the land

Exile of the Southern Kingdom

Knowledge about the destiny of the captives from Israel and Judah is sparse in the period following the capture of Samaria and the later destruction of Jerusalem.

Assyrians and Babylonians treated their subject peoples essentially the same: overwhelming military force used in a manner inspiring psychological terror, along with mass deportations and heavy tribute.

Three deportations are mentioned in Jer 52:28-30, the largest one consisting of 3,023 Jews who were taken to Babylon along with King Jehoiachin in 597 B.C.

After the destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuzaradan, the commander of the Babylonian army, hundreds of exiles were taken to Riblah "in the land of Hamath," where, in addition to Zedekiah's sons, at least 61 were executed.

Jehoiachin and his family were kept in Babylon, where clay ration receipts bearing his name have been found in a dramatic archaeological confirmation of Biblical history.

Eze 1:1-3 and 3:15 indicate that other captives were placed at Tel Abib and at the Kebar River, both probably in the locale of Nippur, as were other villages mentioned in Ezr 2:59; 8:15,17; Ne 7:61.

Clay tablets called the Murashu archives have been found at Nippur from the fifth century B.C. They document the commercial transactions with Jewish families who remained in Mesopotamia following Ezra's return to Jerusalem.

of Hamath, the king had them executed.[j]

So Judah went into captivity,[k] away from her land.[l]

22Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon appointed Gedaliah[m] son of Ahikam,[n] the son of Shaphan, to be over the people he had left behind in Judah. 23When all the army officers and their men heard that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah as governor, they came to Gedaliah at Mizpah—Ishmael son of Nethaniah, Johanan son of Kareah, Seraiah son of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, Jaazaniah the son of the Maacathite, and their men. 24Gedaliah took an oath to reassure them and their men. "Do not be afraid of the Babylonian officials," he said. "Settle down in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it will go well with you."

25In the seventh month, however, Ishmael son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, who was of royal blood, came with ten men and assassinated[o] Gedaliah and also the men of Judah and the Babylonians who were with him at Mizpah.[p] 26At this, all the people from the least to the greatest, together with the army officers, fled to Egypt[q] for fear of the Babylonians.

Jehoiachin Released

25:27–30pp — Jer 52:31–34

27In the thirty-seventh year of the exile of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the year Evil-Merodach[x] became king of Babylon, he released Jehoiachin[r] from prison on the twenty-seventh day of the twelfth month. 28He spoke kindly[s] to him and gave him a seat of honor[t] higher than those of the other kings who were with him in Babylon. 29So Jehoiachin put aside his prison clothes and for the rest of his life ate regularly at the king's table.[u] 30Day by day the king gave Jehoiachin a regular allowance as long as he lived.[v]

[x] 27 Also called Amel-Marduk

25:22 Gedaliah. See note on 22:12. Gedaliah shared Jeremiah's nonresistance approach to the Babylonians (see v. 24) and won their confidence as a trustworthy governor of Judah (see Jer 41:10).

25:23 Mizpah. Had been a town of important political significance in the time just before the establishment of the monarchy (see note on 1Sa 7:5). Jeremiah found Gedaliah there (see Jer 40:1–6). Ishmael son of Nethaniah. Verse 25 gives a fuller genealogy. Elishama, Ishmael's grandfather, was the royal secretary under Jehoiakim (Jer 36:12). Jaazaniah the son of the Maacathite. In 1932 an agate seal was found at Tell en-Nasbeh (Mizpah) bearing the name of Jaazaniah (perhaps the man mentioned here) with the inscription: "Belonging to Jaazaniah the servant of the king."

25:24 Gedaliah urged submission to the Babylonians as the judgment of God. He advocated the restoration of the normal pursuits of a peacetime society (see Jer 27). A similar message had been given by Jeremiah to the captives taken to Babylon in 597 B.C. (see Jer 29:4–7).

25:25 seventh month. October, 586 B.C. assassinated Gedaliah. A more complete account of the assassination of Gedaliah is given in Jer 40:13–41:15. Ishmael appears to have had personal designs on the throne, to have resented Gedaliah's ready submission to the Babylonians, and to have been manipulated by the Ammonites, who also chafed under Babylonian domination (see Jer 40:14; 41:10,15).

25:26 fled to Egypt. Pharaoh Apries (Hophra) was then ruler in Egypt (see note on 24:20).

25:27 thirty-seventh year . . . twenty-seventh day . . . twelfth month. Mar. 22, 561 B.C. in the year Evil-Merodach became king of Babylon. 561 (some scholars place Evil-Merodach's succession to the throne in October, 562; see note on 24:1). His name means "man of (the god) Marduk." released Jehoiachin from prison. Babylonian administrative tablets (see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii), recording the payment of rations in oil and barley to prisoners held in Babylon, mention Yaukin (Jehoiachin) king of Iahudu (Judah) and five of his sons (cf. 24:15). No reason is given for Jehoiachin's release. Perhaps it was part of a general amnesty proclaimed at the beginning of Evil-Merodach's reign.

25:28 spoke kindly to him and gave him a seat of honor. The book of Kings ends on a hopeful note. The judgment of exile will not destroy the people of Israel or the line of David. God's promise concerning David's house remains (see 2Sa 7:14–16).

1 Chronicles

Title

The Hebrew title (dibre hayyamim) can be translated "the events (or annals) of the days (or years)." The same phrase occurs in references to sources used by the author or compiler of Kings (translated "annals" in, e.g., 1Ki 14:19,29; 15:7,23,31; 16:5,14,20,27; 22:45). The Septuagint translators (who translated the OT into Greek) called the book "the things omitted," indicating that they regarded it as a supplement to Samuel and Kings. Jerome (A.D. 347–420), translator of the Latin Vulgate, suggested that a more appropriate title would be "chronicle of the whole sacred history." Luther took over this suggestion in his German version, and others have followed him. Chronicles was first divided into two books by the Septuagint translators.

Author, Date and Sources

According to ancient Jewish tradition, Ezra wrote Chronicles, Ezra and Nehemiah (see Introduction to Ezra: Literary Form and Authorship), but this cannot be established with certainty. A growing consensus dates Chronicles in the latter half of the fifth century B.C., thus possibly within Ezra's lifetime. And it must be acknowledged that the author, if not Ezra himself, at least shared many basic concerns with that reforming priest—though Chronicles is not so narrowly "priestly" in its perspective as was long affirmed.

Some believe the text contains evidence here and there of later expansions after the basic work had been composed. While editorial revisions are not unlikely, all specific proposals regarding them remain tentative.

In his recounting of history long past, the Chronicler relied on many written sources. About half his work was taken from Samuel and Kings; he also drew on the Pentateuch, Judges, Ruth, Psalms, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Lamentations and Zechariah (though he used texts of these books that varied somewhat from those that have been preserved in the later standardized Hebrew texts). And there are frequent references to still other sources: "the book of the kings of Israel" (9:1; 2Ch 20:34; cf. 2Ch 33:18), "the book of the annals of King David" (27:24), "the book of the kings of Judah and Israel" or ". . . of Israel and Judah" (2Ch 16:11; 25:26; 27:7; 28:26; 32:32; 35:27; 36:8), "the annotations on the book of the kings" (2Ch 24:27). It is unclear whether these all refer to the same source or to different sources, and what their relationship is to Samuel and Kings or to the royal annals referred to in Kings. In addition, the author cites a number of prophetic writings: those of "Samuel the seer" (29:29), "Nathan the prophet" (29:29; 2Ch 9:29), "Gad the seer" (29:29), "Ahijah the Shilonite" (2Ch 9:29), "Iddo the seer" (2Ch 9:29; 12:15; 13:22), "Shemaiah the prophet" (2Ch 12:15), "the prophet Isaiah" (2Ch 26:22), "the seers" (2Ch 33:19). All these he used, often with only minor changes, to tell his own story of the past. He did not invent, but he did select, arrange and integrate his sources to compose a narrative "sermon" for postexilic Israel as she struggled to reorient herself as the people of God in a new situation.

Purpose and Themes

Just as the author of Kings had organized and interpreted the data of Israel's history to address the needs of the exiled community, so the Chronicler wrote for the restored community. The burning issue was the question of continuity with the past: Is God still interested in us? Are his covenants still in force? Now that we have no Davidic king and are subject to Persia, do God's promises to David still have meaning for us? After the great judgment (the dethroning of the house of David, the destruction of the nation, of Jerusalem and of the temple, and the exile to Babylon), what is our relationship to Israel of old? Several elements go into the Chronicler's answer:

1. Continuity with the past is signified by the temple in Jerusalem, rebuilt by the Lord's sovereign influence over a Persian imperial edict (2Ch 36:22–23). For a generation that had no independent political status and no Davidic king the author takes great pains to show that the temple of the Lord and its service (including its book of prayer and praise, an early edition of the Psalms) are supreme gifts of God given to Israel through the Davidic dynasty. For that reason his account of the reigns of David and Solomon is largely devoted to David's preparation for and Solomon's building of the temple, and David's instructions for the temple service (with the counsel of Gad the seer and Nathan the prophet, 2Ch 29:25, and also of the Levites Asaph, Heman and Jeduthun, 2Ch 35:15). See also the Chronicler's accounts of the reigns of Asa, Jehoshaphat, Joash, Hezekiah and Josiah. The temple of the Lord in the ancient holy city and its service (including the Psalms) were the chief legacy left to the restored community by the house of David.

2. The value of this legacy is highlighted by the author's emphasis on God's furtherance of his gracious purposes toward Israel through his sovereign acts of election: (1) of the tribe of Levi to serve before the ark of the covenant (15:2; see 23:24–32), (2) of David to be king over Israel (28:4; 2Ch 6:6), (3) of Solomon his son to be king and to build the temple (28:5–6,10; 29:1), (4) of Jerusalem (2Ch 6:6,34,38; 12:13; 33:7) and (5) of the temple (2Ch 7:12,16; 33:7) to be the place where God's Name would be present among his people. These divine acts give assurance to postexilic Israel that her rebuilt temple in Jerusalem and its continuing service mark her as God's people whose election has not been annulled.

3. In addition to the temple, Israel has the law and the prophets as a major focus of her covenant life under the leadership of the house of David. Neither the Davidic kings nor the temple had in themselves assured Israel's security and blessing. All had been conditional on Israel's and the king's faithfulness to the law (28:7; 2Ch 6:16; 7:17; 12:1; 33:8). In the Chronicler's account, a primary feature of the reign of every faithful Davidic king was his attempt to bring about compliance with the law: David (6:49; 15:13,15; 16:40; 22:12–13; 29:19), Asa (2Ch 14:4; 15:12–14), Jehoshaphat (2Ch 17:3–9; 19:8–10), Joash (2Ch 24:6,9), Hezekiah (2Ch 29:10,31; 30:15–16; 31:3–4,21), Josiah (2Ch 34:19–21, 29–33; 35:6,12,26). And to heed God's prophetic word was no less crucial. The faithful kings, such as David, Asa, Jehoshaphat, Hezekiah and Josiah—and even Rehoboam (2Ch 11:4; 12:6) and Amaziah (2Ch 25:7–10)—honored it; the unfaithful kings disregarded it to their destruction (Jehoram, 2Ch 21:12–19; Joash, 2Ch 24:19–25; Amaziah, 2Ch 25:15–16,20; Manasseh, 2Ch 33:10–11; see 36:15–16). Chronicles, in fact, notes the ministries of more prophets than do Samuel and Kings. Jehoshaphat's word to Israel expresses the Chronicler's view succinctly: "Have faith in the LORD your God and you will be upheld; have faith in his prophets and you will be successful" (2Ch 20:20). In the Chronicler's account of Israel's years under the kings, her response to the law and the prophets was more decisive for her destiny than the reigns of kings.

Thus the law and the prophets, like the temple, are more crucial to Israel's continuing relationship with the Lord than the presence or absence of a king, the reigns of the Davidic kings themselves being testimony.

4. The Chronicler further underscores the importance of obedience to the law and the prophets by emphasizing the theme of immediate retribution. See the express statements of David (28:9), of the Lord (2Ch 7:14) and of the prophets (2Ch 12:5; 15:2,7; 16:7,9; 19:2–3; 21:14–15; 24:20; 25:15–16; 28:9; 34:24–28). In writing his accounts of individual reigns, he never tires of demonstrating how sin always brings judgment in the form of disaster (usually either illness or defeat in war), whereas repentance, obedience and trust yield peace, victory and prosperity.

5. Clearly the author of Chronicles wished to sustain Israel's hope for the promised Messiah, son of David, in accordance with the Davidic covenant (2Sa 7) and the assurances of the prophets, including those near to him (Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi). He was careful to recall the Lord's pledge to David (1Ch 17) and to follow this with many references back to it (see especially his account of Solomon's reign and also 2Ch 13:5; 21:7; 23:3). But perhaps even more indicative are his idealized depictions of David, Solomon, Asa, Jehoshaphat, Hezekiah and Josiah. While not portrayed as flawless, these kings are presented as prime examples of the Messianic ideal, i.e., as royal servants of the Lord whose reigns promoted godliness and covenant faithfulness in Israel. They were crowned with God's favor toward his people in the concrete forms of victories, deliverances and prosperity. They sat, moreover, on the "throne of the LORD" (29:23; see 28:5; 2Ch 9:8) and ruled over the Lord's kingdom (17:14; 2Ch 13:8). Thus they served as types, foreshadowing the David to come of whom the prophets had spoken, and their remembrance nurtured hope in the face of much discouragement (see the book of Malachi). See further the next section on "Portrait of David and Solomon."

6. Yet another major theme of the Chronicler's history is his concern with "all Israel" (see, e.g., 9:1; 11:1–4; 12:38–40; 16:1–3; 18:14; 21:1–5; 28:1–8; 29:21–26; 2Ch 1:1–3; 7:8–10; 9:30; 10:1–3,16; 12:1; 18:16; 28:23; 29:24; 30:1–13,23–27; 34:6–9,33). As a matter of fact, he viewed the restored community as the remnant of all Israel, both north and south (9:2–3). This was more than a theological conceit. His narrative makes frequent note of movements of godly people from Israel to Judah for specifically religious reasons. The first were Levites in the time of Rehoboam (2Ch 11:14). In the reign of Asa others followed from Ephraim and Manasseh (2Ch 15:9). Shortly after the Assyrian destruction of the northern kingdom, many from that devastated land resettled in Judah at Hezekiah's invitation (2Ch 30). Presumably not all who came for Hezekiah's great Passover remained, but archaeology has shown a sudden large increase in population in the region around Jerusalem at this time, and the Chronicler specifically mentions "men of Israel . . . who lived in the towns of Judah" (2Ch 31:6). He also speaks of "the people of Manasseh, Ephraim and the entire remnant of Israel" who joined with "the people of Judah and Benjamin and the inhabitants of Jerusalem" in restoring the temple in the days of Josiah (2Ch 34:9). These were also present at Josiah's Passover (2Ch 35:17–18). So the kingdom of "Judah" had absorbed many from the northern kingdom through the years, and the Chronicler viewed it as the remnant of all Israel from the time of Samaria's fall.

7. The genealogies also demonstrate continuity with the past. To the question "Is God still interested in us?" the Chronicler answers, "He has always been." God's grace and love for the restored community did not begin with David or the conquest or the exodus—but with creation (1:1). For the genealogies see below.

8. The Chronicler often introduces speeches not found in Samuel and Kings, using them to convey some of his main emphases. Of the 165 speeches in Chronicles of varying lengths, only 95 are found in the parallel texts of Samuel and Kings. Cf., e.g., the speeches of Abijah (2Ch 13:4–12), Asa (2Ch 14:11) and Jehoshaphat (2Ch 20:5–12).

Portrait of David and Solomon

The bulk of the Chronicler's history is devoted to the reigns of David (chs. 11—29) and Solomon (2Ch 1—9). His portraits of these two kings are quite distinctive and provide a key to his concerns:

1. The Chronicler has idealized David and Solomon. Anything in his source material (mainly Samuel and Kings) that might tarnish his picture of them is omitted. He makes no reference to the seven-year reign in Hebron before the uniting of the kingdom, the wars between Saul's house and David, the negotiations with Abner, the difficulties over David's wife Michal, or the murders of Abner and Ish-Bosheth (2Sa 1—4). The Chronicler presents David as being immediately anointed king over all Israel after the death of Saul (ch. 11) and enjoying the total support of the people (11:10—12:40; see note on 3:1–9). Subsequent difficulties for David are also not recounted. No mention is made of David's sin with Bathsheba, the crime and death of Amnon, the fratricide by Absalom and his plot against his father, the flight of David from Jerusalem, the rebellions of Sheba and Shimei, and other incidents that might diminish the glory of David's reign (2Sa 11—20). David is presented without blemish, apart from the incident of the census (the Chronicler had a special purpose for including it; see ch. 21 and notes).

The Chronicler handles Solomon similarly. Solomon is specifically named in a divine oracle as David's successor (22:7–10; 28:6). His accession to the throne is announced publicly by David and is greeted with the unanimous support of all Israel (chs. 28—29). No mention is made of the bedridden David, who must overturn the attempted coup by Adonijah at the last moment to secure the throne for Solomon. Nor is there mention that the military commander Joab and the high priest Abiathar supported Adonijah's attempt (1Ki 1). Solomon's execution of those who had wronged David (1Ki 2) is also omitted. The accession of Solomon is without competition or detracting incident. The account of his reign is devoted almost wholly to the building of the temple (2Ch 2—8), and no reference to his failures is included. No mention is made of his idolatry, his foreign wives or the rebellions against his rule (1Ki 11). Even the blame for the schism is removed from Solomon (1Ki 11:26–40; 12:1–4) and placed on the scheming of Jeroboam. Solomon's image in Chronicles is such that he can be paired with David in the most favorable light (2Ch 11:17).

The David and Solomon of the Chronicler, then, must be seen not only as the David and Solomon of history, but also as typifying the Messianic king of the Chronicler's expectation.

2. Not only is there idealization of David and Solomon, but the author also appears to consciously adopt the account of the succession of Moses and Joshua as a model for the succession of David and Solomon:

a. Both David and Moses fail to attain their goals—one to build the temple and the other to enter the promised land. In both cases the divine prohibition is related to the appointment of a successor (22:5–13; 28:2–8; Dt 1:37–38; 31:2–8).

b. Both Solomon and Joshua bring the people of God into rest (22:8–9; Jos 11:23; 21:44).

c. There are a number of verbal parallels in the appointments of Solomon and Joshua (compare 22:11–13,16; 28:7–10,20; 2Ch 1:1 with Dt 31:5–8,23; Jos 1:5,7–9).

d. There are both private and public announcements of the appointment of the successors: private (22:6; Dt 31:23); public (28:8; Dt 31:7—both "in the presence/sight of all Israel").

e. Both enjoy the immediate and wholehearted support of the people (29:23–24; Dt 34:9; Jos 1:16–18).

f. It is twice reported that God "exalted" or "made great" Solomon and Joshua (29:25; 2Ch 1:1; Jos 3:7; 4:14).

The Chronicler also uses other models from Pentateuchal history in his portrayal of David and Solomon. Like Moses, David received the plans for the temple from God (28:11–19; Ex 25:9) and called on the people to bring voluntary offerings for its construction (29:1–9; Ex 25:1–7). Solomon's relationship to Huram-Abi, the craftsman from Tyre (2Ch 2:13–14), echoes the role of Bezalel and Oholiab in the building of the tabernacle (Ex 35:30—36:7). See note on 2Ch 1:5.

Genealogies

Analysis of genealogies, both inside and outside the Bible, has disclosed that they serve a variety of functions (with different principles governing the lists), that they vary in form (some being segmented, others linear) and depth (number of generations listed), and that they are often fluid (subject to change).

There are three general areas in which genealogies function: the familial or domestic, the legal-political, and the religious. In the domestic area an individual's social status, privileges and obligations may be reflected in his placement in the lineage (see 7:14–19); the rights of the first-born son and the secondary status of the children of concubines are examples from the Bible. In the political sphere genealogies substantiate claims to hereditary office or settle competing claims when the office is contested. Land organization and territorial groupings of social units may also be determined by genealogical reckoning—e.g., the division of the land among the 12 tribes. In Israel military levies also proceeded along genealogical lines; several of the genealogies in Chronicles reflect military conscription (5:1–26; 7:1–12,30–40; 8:1–40). Genealogies function in the religious sphere primarily by establishing membership among the priests and Levites (6:1–30; 9:10–34; Ne 7:61–65).

As to form, some genealogical lists trace several lines of descent (segmented genealogies) while others are devoted to a single line (linear genealogies).

Comparison of genealogical lists of the same tribal or family line often brings to light surprising differences. This fluidity of the lists may reflect variation in function. But sometimes changes in the status or relations of social structures are reflected in genealogies by changes in the relationships of names in the genealogy (see 1:35–42; 6:22,27) or by the addition of names or segments to a lineage (see 5:11–22; 6:27; 7:6–12). The most common type of fluidity in Biblical materials is telescoping, the omission of names from the list. Unimportant names are left out in order to relate an individual to a prominent ancestor, or possibly to achieve the desired number of names in the genealogy. Some Biblical genealogies, for example, omit names to achieve multiples of 7: For the period from David to the exile Matthew gives 14 generations (2 times 7), while Luke gives 21 (3 times 7), and the same authors give similar multiples of 7 for the period from the exile to Jesus (Mt 1:1–17; Lk 3:23–38).

The genealogies of Chronicles show variation in all these properties; the arrangements often reflect the purpose for which the genealogies were composed prior to their being adopted by the Chronicler as part of his record.

1:1–9:44 The genealogies succinctly show the restored community's continuity with the past. The great deeds of God on Israel's behalf prior to the rise of David are passed over in silence, but the genealogies serve as a skeleton of history to show that the Israel of the restoration stands at the center of the divine purpose from the beginning (from Adam, v. 1). And the genealogies also serve the very practical purpose of legitimizing the present. They provide the framework by which the ethnic and religious purity of the people can be maintained. They also establish the continuing line of royal succession and the legitimacy of the priests for the postexilic temple service. (See Introduction: Genealogies.)

1:1–2:1 The Chronicler here covers the period from Adam to Jacob, and the materials are drawn almost entirely from Genesis. The subsidiary lines of descent are presented first: Japheth and Ham (vv. 5–16) are given before Shem (vv. 17–27), the sons of Shem other than those in Abraham's ancestry (vv. 17–23) before that line (vv. 24–27), the sons of Abraham's concubines (vv. 28–33) before Isaac's line (v. 34), the descendants of Esau and the Edomite ruling houses (vv. 35–54) before the sons of Israel (2:1). In each case the elect lineage is given last.

Several features of this genealogy are striking when compared with non-Biblical materials. The genealogy begins without an introduction. Two sections of the genealogy have no kinship terms and are only lists of names: the first 13 names (vv. 1–4; see note on v. 4) and vv. 24–27. In vv. 5–16 (and following v. 27) kinship terms are used. Both segmented (those tracing several lines of descent) and linear (those tracing a single line) genealogies are included. This identical structure is found in a copy of the Assyrian King List: There is no introduction, and the scribe has drawn lines across the tablet dividing it into four sections, two of which are lists of names without kinship terms, alternating with two lists in which relations are specified; both segmented and linear genealogies are used. This suggests that the Chronicler was following a known literary pattern for his composition.

1:1–4 From creation to the flood. This list is taken from Ge 5:1–32 (see notes there). The omission of Cain and Abel demonstrates the Chronicler's interest in the chosen line (see Ge 4:17–25).

1:4 The sons of. The phrase is not found in the Hebrew text (see NIV text note); this omission parallels the Assyrian King List (see note on 1:1–2:1). The Chronicler's readers would have known that these were the sons of Noah and would not have needed the kinship notice; the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) and most modern translations insert the phrase to clarify the relationship.

1:5–23 This genealogy is drawn from the table of nations in Ge 10:2–29 (see notes there). The arrangement is primarily geographical and cultural rather than biological. Omitting the Philistines (v. 12) as a parenthesis, a total of 70 nations is achieved: Japheth, 14; Ham, 30; Shem, 26 (see note on Ge 10:2)—an example of a genealogy telescoped to attain multiples of 7 (see Introduction: Genealogies).

The Rulers of Edom

1:43–54pp — Ge 36:31–43

43These were the kings who reigned in Edom before any Israelite king reigned[q]:
Bela son of Beor, whose city was named Dinhabah.
44When Bela died, Jobab son of Zerah from Bozrah succeeded him as king.
45When Jobab died, Husham from the land of the Temanites[v] succeeded him as king.
46When Husham died, Hadad son of Bedad, who defeated Midian in the country of Moab, succeeded him as king. His city was named Avith.

1:28–34 See notes on Ge 25:1–18.
1:35–42 See Ge 36:10–28 and notes.
1:36 sons of Eliphaz. These correspond to Ge 36:11–12, but with one difficulty: The Hebrew text of Chronicles (see second NIV text note on this verse) lists Timna as a son of Eliphaz, while Ge 36:12 designates Timna as the concubine of Eliphaz and mother of Amalek. The NIV follows the Septuagint, which regarded Timna as the mother of Amalek, not as the son of Eliphaz. This solution says that the Hebrew text is here in error, or perhaps that the Chronicler has once again omitted kinship terminology (see notes on 1:1–2:1; v. 4). Alternatively, some regard this as an example of genealogical fluidity (see Introduction: Genealogies): Since the name Timna also became the name of a chiefdom in Edom (v. 51; Ge 36:40), during the course of time Timna was "promoted" in the Edomite genealogies to the position of a son of Eliphaz and brother of Amalek.
1:43–54 See Ge 36:31–43. The Chronicler continues with extensive coverage of Edom. This is striking in contrast to his omission of the line of Cain and the brief treatment of the line of Ishmael. It probably reflects the fact that the Edomites were important in the Chronicler's own day (see 18:11–13; 2Ch 8:17; 21:8; 25:20; 28:17).

47When Hadad died, Samlah from Masrekah succeeded him as king.
48When Samlah died, Shaul from Re-hoboth on the river[r] succeeded him as king.
49When Shaul died, Baal-Hanan son of Acbor succeeded him as king.
50When Baal-Hanan died, Hadad succeeded him as king. His city was named Pau,[s] and his wife's name was Mehetabel daughter of Matred, the daughter of Me-Za-hab. 51Hadad also died.

The chiefs of Edom were:
Timna, Alvah, Jetheth, 52Oholibamah, Elah, Pinon, 53Kenaz, Te-man, Mibzar, 54Magdiel and Iram. These were the chiefs of Edom.

2:1–2 Although there are numerous lists of the 12 tribes in the OT, only four are given in genealogical form: (1) Ge 29:31–30:24; 35:16–20; (2) Ge 35:22–26; (3) Ge 46:8–27; (4) here. Other lists of the tribes are found in 12:24–37; 27:16–22; Ex 1:2–5; Dt 27:12–13; 33; Eze 48:31–34. In other lists the tribe of Levi is omitted, and the number 12 is achieved by dividing Joseph into the tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh (Nu 1:5–15; 1:20–43; 2:3–31; 7:12–83; 10:14–28; 13:4–15; 26:5–51). In this passage the Chronicler appears to follow Ge 35:22–26 except for the position of the tribe of Dan, which is found in seventh instead of ninth place. The list here does not set the order in which the Chronicler will take up the tribes; rather, he moves immediately to his major concern with the house of David and the tribe of Judah (2:3–4:23), even though Judah is fourth in the genealogy. In the lists of these chapters the Chronicler maintains the number 12, but with the following names: Judah, Simeon, Reuben, Gad, half of Manasseh, Levi, Issachar, Benjamin, Naphtali, Ephraim, Manasseh and Asher. Zebulun and Dan are omitted.

2:3–9 The lineage of Judah is traced to Hezron's sons (v. 9), whose descendants are given in 2:10–3:24. Of Judah's five sons, the first two (Er and Onan) died as the result of sin recorded in Ge 38. The lineage of the third son, Shelah, is taken up in 4:21; this section focuses on the remaining two (see Ge 46:12; Nu 26:19–22).

2:6 Ethan, Heman, Calcol and Darda. Not immediate descendants of Zerah; rather, they are from the later period of the reign of Solomon (1Ki 4:31). A Heman and an Ethan were David's musicians (see 15:19; Ps 88–89 titles), but whether these are the same individuals is uncertain. If they are the same, the fact that in 6:33–42 and 15:19 Heman and Ethan are assigned to the tribe of Levi may be another example of genealogical fluidity, where these men's musical skills brought them into the Levitical lineage. Or the reverse may have occurred: As Levites associated with Judah, they were brought into that lineage.

2:7 Achar. The change from Achan to Achar (meaning "trouble"; see NIV text note) is probably a play on words reflecting the trouble he brought to Israel (Jos 7).

2:10–3:24 That the Chronicler's primary concern in the genealogy of Judah is with the line of David is seen in his arrangement of this section's material as an inversion:

Descendants of Ram (David's ancestry), 2:10–17
Descendants of Caleb, 2:18–24
Descendants of Jerahmeel, 2:25–33
Supplementary material on Jerahmeel, 2:34–41
Supplementary material on Caleb, 2:42–55
Supplementary material on Ram (David's descendants), ch. 3

The Chronicler has structured this central portion of the Judah genealogy to highlight the Davidic ancestry and descent, which frame this section and emphasize the position of David—in line with the Chronicler's interests in the historical portions that follow (see note on 4:1–23).

2:10–17 Verses 10–12 are a linear genealogy from Ram to Jesse; then Jesse's lineage is segmented, reminiscent of 1Sa 16:1–13. The source for most of the material is Ru 4:19–22. In 1Sa 16:10–13 David was the eighth of Jesse's sons to appear before Samuel; in this passage only seven are named, enabling David to occupy the favored place of the seventh son (v. 15; see Introduction: Genealogies). David was the half-uncle of his famous warriors Abishai, Joab, Asahel and Amasa (11:6,20,26; 2Sa 2:13,18; 17:25; 19:13).

the fifth Raddai, 15the sixth Ozem and the seventh David. 16Their sisters were Zeruiah[p] and Abigail. Zeruiah's[q] three sons were Abishai, Joab[r] and Asahel.
17Abigail was the mother of Amasa,[s] whose father was Jether the Ishmaelite.

Caleb Son of Hezron

18Caleb son of Hezron had children by his wife Azubah (and by Jerioth). These were her sons: Jesher, Shobab and Ardon. 19When Azubah died, Caleb[t] married
Ephrath, who bore him Hur.
20Hur was the father of Uri, and
Uri the father of Bezalel.[u] 21Later, Hezron lay with the daughter of Makir the father of Gilead[v] (he had married her when he was sixty years old), and she bore him Segub. 22Segub was the father of Jair, who controlled twenty-three towns in Gilead.
23(But Geshur and Aram captured Havvoth Jair,[y w] as well as Kenath[x] with its surrounding settlements—sixty towns.) All these were descendants of Makir the father of Gilead.

24After Hezron died in Caleb Ephrathah, Abijah the wife of Hezron bore him Ashhur[y] the father[z] of Tekoa.

Jerahmeel Son of Hezron

25The sons of Jerahmeel the firstborn of Hezron:
Ram his firstborn, Bunah, Oren,
Ozem and[a] Ahijah. 26Jerahmeel had another wife, whose name was Atarah; she was the mother of Onam.
27The sons of Ram the firstborn of Jerahmeel:
Maaz, Jamin and Eker.
28The sons of Onam:
Shammai and Jada.
The sons of Shammai:
Nadab and Abishur.
29Abishur's wife was named Abihail, who bore him Ahban and Molid.
30The sons of Nadab:
Seled and Appaim. Seled died
without children.
31The son of Appaim:
Ishi, who was the father of Sheshan.
Sheshan was the father of Ahlai.
32The sons of Jada, Shammai's
brother:
Jether and Jonathan. Jether died
without children.
33The sons of Jonathan:
Peleth and Zaza.
These were the descendants of Jerahmeel.
34Sheshan had no sons—only daughters.
He had an Egyptian servant named Jarha. 35Sheshan gave his daughter in marriage to his servant Jarha, and she bore him Attai.
36Attai was the father of Nathan,
Nathan the father of Zabad,[z]
37Zabad the father of Ephlal,
Ephlal the father of Obed,
38Obed the father of Jehu,
Jehu the father of Azariah,
39Azariah the father of Helez,
Helez the father of Eleasah,
40Eleasah the father of Sismai,

2:18–24 For the Chronicler the important name in this genealogy of the Calebites is Bezalel (v. 20), the wise master craftsman who supervised the building of the tabernacle (Ex 31:1–5). He is mentioned in the Bible only in Exodus and Chronicles. The Chronicler uses Bezalel and Oholiab (Ex 31:6) as a model for his portrait of Solomon and Huram-Abi in the building of the temple (see note on 2Ch 1:5). By inserting a reference to the builder of the tabernacle next to the genealogy of David in vv. 10–17, the Chronicler characteristically juxtaposes the themes of king and temple—so important to his historical narrative.

2:25–33 This section is identified as a separate entity from the supplementary material by its opening and closing formulas: "The sons of Jerahmeel" (v. 25) and "These were the descendants of Jerahmeel" (v. 33). Verses 25–41 are the only genealogical materials on the Jerahmeelites in the Bible. 1Sa 27:10 and 30:27–29 place their settlements in the Negev.

2:34–41 Supplementary material on the line of Sheshan (v. 31); it is a linear genealogy to a depth of 13 generations. The generation of Elishama (v. 41) would be the 23rd since Judah, if there has been no telescoping in this lineage. If no names are omitted, Elishama would likely be contemporary with David, though we know nothing of him.

The Clans of Caleb

42The sons of Caleb[a] the brother of Jerahmeel:
Mesha his firstborn, who was the father of Ziph, and his son Mareshah,[b] who was the father of Hebron.
43The sons of Hebron:
Korah, Tappuah, Rekem and Shema. 44Shema was the father of Raham, and Raham the father of Jorkeam. Rekem was the father of Shammai. 45The son of Shammai was Maon[b], and Maon was the father of Beth Zur.[c] 46Caleb's concubine Ephah was the mother of Haran, Moza and Gazez. Haran was the father of Gazez.
47The sons of Jahdai:
Regem, Jotham, Geshan, Pelet, Ephah and Shaaph.
48Caleb's concubine Maacah was the mother of Sheber and Tirhanah. 49She also gave birth to Shaaph the father of Madmannah[d] and to Sheva the father of Macbenah and Gibea. Caleb's daughter was Acsah.[e] 50These were the descendants of Caleb.

The sons of Hur[f] the firstborn of Ephrathah:
Shobal the father of Kiriath Jearim,[g] 51Salma the father of Bethlehem, and Hareph the father of Beth Gader.
52The descendants of Shobal the father of Kiriath Jearim were:
Haroeh, half the Manahathites, 53and the clans of Kiriath Jearim:
the Ithrites,[h] Puthites, Shumathites and Mishraites. From these descended the Zorathites and Eshtaolites.
54The descendants of Salma:
Bethlehem, the Netophathites,[i]
Atroth Beth Joab, half the Manahathites, the Zorites, 55and the clans of scribes[c] who lived at Jabez: the Tirathites, Shimeathites and Sucathites. These are the Kenites[j] who came from Hammath,[k] the father of the house of Recab.[d][l]

[b]42 The meaning of the Hebrew for this phrase is uncertain. [c]55 Or of the Sopherites [d]55 Or father of Beth Recab [e]5 Hebrew Shimea, a variant of Shammua [f]5 One Hebrew manuscript and Vulgate (see also Septuagint and 2 Samuel 11:3); most Hebrew manuscripts Bathshua [g]6 Two Hebrew manuscripts (see also 2 Samuel 5:15 and 1 Chron. 14:5); most Hebrew manuscripts Elishama

2:42–55 The same opening and closing formulas noted in vv. 25,33 occur in vv. 42,50a: "The sons of Caleb ... These were the descendants of Caleb." The list in this section is a mixture of personal and place-names; the phrase "father of" must often be understood as "founder of" or "leader of" a city (see NIV text notes on 1:10; 4:4).

2:50b–55 Resumes the genealogy of Hur (v. 20). The same formulas for identifying the genealogical sections in vv. 25,33 and in vv. 42,50a are used in v. 50b and 4:4: "The sons of Hur ... These were the descendants of Hur." The presence of these formulas suggests that this section and 4:1–4 were once a unit; the Chronicler has inserted his record of the Davidic descent (ch. 3) into the middle of this other genealogy, apparently to balance the sections of his material (see notes on 2:10–3:24; 4:1–23). Otherwise the disruption of the genealogy of Hur may have already occurred in the Chronicler's sources.

2:55 Tirathites, Shimeathites and Sucathites. May refer to three families, as translated here, or possibly to three different classes of scribes, perhaps those who (1) read, (2) copied and (3) checked the work. Kenites. Originally a foreign people, many of the Kenites were incorporated into Judah (see Nu 10:29–32; Jdg 1:16; 4:11).

3:1–24 See note on 2:10–3:24.

3:1–9 This list of David's children is largely drawn from 2Sa 3:2–5; 5:13–16; 13:1 (see notes there). The sons born in Jerusalem are repeated in 1Ch 14:3–7. The name Eliphelet occurs twice (vv. 6,8); in 14:5,7 two spellings of the name are given (only one son having this name is mentioned in 2Sa 5:14–16). The reference to David's seven-year rule in Hebron (v. 4) is repeated in 29:27, though the Chronicler does not deal with this period in his narrative. The references to Absalom, Tamar, Adonijah, Amnon and Bathsheba all recall unhappy incidents in the life of David, incidents the Chronicler has omitted from his later narrative (see 2Sa 11–15; 17–18; 1Ki 1).

3:14 Amon. See 2Ch 33:21–25. Josiah. See 2Ki 22:1–23:30; 2Ch 34:1–36:1.
3:15–16 "Johanan the firstborn" is not mentioned elsewhere and may have died before Josiah. The genealogy is segmented at this point, instead of linear as in vv. 10–14. Since Josiah's other three sons would all occupy the throne, the succession was not uniformly father to son. Shallum/Jehoahaz (2Ch 36:2–4; 2Ki 23:30–35) was replaced by Jehoiakim (2Ch 36:5–8; 2Ki 23:34–24:6); Jehoiakim was succeeded by his son Jehoiachin (2Ch 36:9–10; 2Ki 24:8–16). After Jehoiachin was taken captive to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar, Josiah's son Zedekiah (2Ki 24:17–25:7; 2Ch 36:11–14) became the last king of Judah.
3:17–20 Seven sons are attributed to Jehoiachin, but not one succeeded him (see notes on vv. 15–16; Jer 22:30). Tablets found in Babylon dating from the 10th to the 35th year of Nebuchadnezzar (595–570 B.C.) and listing deliveries of rations mention Jehoiachin and five sons as well as other Judahites held in Babylon. Jehoiachin received similar largess from Nebuchadnezzar's successor Evil-Merodach (562–560 B.C.; see 2Ki 25:27–30).
3:18 Shenazzar. May be another spelling of the name Sheshbazzar. If so, the treasures of the temple were consigned to his care for return to Judah (Ezr 1:11). He also served for a short time as the first governor of the returnees and made an initial attempt at rebuilding the temple (Ezr 5:14–16). Little is known of him; he soon disappeared from the scene and was overshadowed by his nephew Zerubbabel, who assumes such importance in Ezra, Haggai and Zechariah. But see note on Ezr 1:8.
3:19 Pedaiah. Other texts name Shealtiel (v. 17) as Zerubbabel's father (Ezr 3:2,8; Ne 12:1; Hag 1:12,14; 2:2,23). Suggestions offered to resolve this difficulty are: 1. Shealtiel may have died early, and Pedaiah became the head of the family. 2. Pedaiah may have married the childless widow of Shealtiel; Zerubbabel would then be regarded as the son of Shealtiel according to the law of levirate marriage (Dt 25:5–6). In Lk 3:27 Neri instead of Jehoiachin (v. 17) is identified as the father of Shealtiel. Similar suggestions to those above could be made in this instance as well. It is also interesting to note that the genealogies of Jesus in Mt 1 and Lk 3 both trace his descent to Zerubbabel, but that none of the names subsequent to Zerubbabel (v. 19–24) is found in the NT genealogies.
3:20 five others. May have been sons of Zerubbabel, but no kinship terms are provided. Since the sons of Hananiah (v. 19) are specified in v. 21, they could also be the sons of Meshullam (v. 19).
3:21 sons of Rephaiah . . . Shecaniah. Probably other Davidic families at the time of Zerubbabel (v. 19) or Pelatiah and Jeshaiah. If they are understood as contemporary with Zerubbabel, his genealogy was carried only two generations (his sons and grandsons) and a date for Chronicles as early as 450 B.C. is possible (see Introduction: Author, Date and Sources).
3:22 six. Shemaiah appears to have five sons, but the total is given as six. Either one of the six names is missing, or Shemaiah is to be understood as the brother of the five persons named (in which case there should be a semicolon after "sons" instead of a colon)—all six then being sons of Shecaniah.
4:1–23 None of the genealogies of Judah in this section appears elsewhere in Scripture. Although the section may have the appearance of miscellaneous notes, the careful shaping of the Chronicler is evident in light of the overall inverted structure of the genealogies of Judah:

|---|---|
| 2:3 | Shelah |
| 2:4–8 | Perez |
| 2:9—3:24 | Hezron |
| 4:1–20 | Perez |
| 4:21–23 | Shelah |

This balancing of the material in inverse order shows the centrality of the section of the lineage of Hezron and the house of David; the same balancing in inverse order is observed within the Hezron section (see note on 2:10–3:24). The record of Judah's oldest surviving son, Shelah, frames the entire genealogy of Judah. There are 15 fragmentary genealogies in this section, with two to six generations in each.

4:1–2 The descendants of Judah here are not brothers; rather, the genealogy is linear.

4:1 Carmi. Either a scribal confusion or an alternative name for Caleb (2:9); the confusion may have been induced by 2:7.

4:2 Reaiah. A variant of Haroeh (2:52).

4:5–8 Supplementary to 2:24.

4:9–10 The practice of inserting short historical notes into genealogical records is amply attested in non-Biblical genealogical texts from the ancient Near East as well as in other Biblical genealogies (Ge 4:19–24; 10:8–12).

4:13 Othniel. The first of Israel's judges (Jos 15:17; Jdg 1:13; 3:9–11).

4:16–20 This portion of the genealogy is from preexilic times; several of the places named were not included in the province of Judah in the restoration period (e.g., Ziph and Eshtemoa).

4:17 One of Mered's wives. Pharaoh's daughter (v. 18). Mered is otherwise unknown; the fact that he married a daughter of Pharaoh suggests his prominence. The event may be associated with the fortunes of Israel in Egypt under Joseph.

4:21,23 This section accurately reflects a feature of ancient Near Eastern society. Clans were often associated not only with particular localities but also with special trades or guilds, such as linen workers (v. 21), potters (v. 23), royal patronage (v. 23) and scribes (2:55).

25Shallum was Shaul's son, Mibsam his son and Mishma his son.
26The descendants of Mishma:
Hammuel his son, Zaccur his son and Shimei his son.
27Shimei had sixteen sons and six daughters, but his brothers did not have many children; so their entire clan did not become as numerous as the people of Judah. 28They lived in Beersheba,[i] Moladah,[j] Hazar Shual, 29Bilhah, Ezem,[k] Tolad, 30Bethuel, Hormah,[l] Ziklag,[m] 31Beth Marcaboth, Hazar Susim, Beth Biri and Shaaraim.[n] These were their towns until the reign of David. 32Their surrounding villages were Etam, Ain,[o] Rimmon, Token and Ashan[p]—five towns— 33and all the villages around these towns as far as Baalath.[p] These were their settlements. And they kept a genealogical record.

34Meshobab, Jamlech, Joshah son of Amaziah, 35Joel, Jehu son of Joshibiah, the son of Seraiah, the son of Asiel, 36also Elioenai, Jaakobah, Jeshohaiah, Asaiah, Adiel, Jesimiel, Benaiah, 37and Ziza son of Shiphi, the son of Allon, the son of Jedaiah, the son of Shimri, the son of Shemaiah.

41The men whose names were listed came in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah. They attacked the Hamites in their dwellings and also the Meunites[s] who were there and completely destroyed[q] them, as is evident to this day. Then they settled in their place, because there was pasture for their flocks. 42And five hundred of these Simeonites, led by Pelatiah, Neariah, Rephaiah and Uzziel, the sons of Ishi, invaded the hill country of Seir.[t] 43They killed the remaining Amalekites[u] who had escaped, and they have lived there to this day.

4:24–43 The genealogy of Simeon is also found in Ge 46:10; Ex 6:15; Nu 26:12–13. Simeon settled in part of the territory of Judah; the list of occupied towns should be compared with Jos 15:26–32,42; 19:2–7. Since Simeon occupied areas allotted to Judah, this tribe was politically incorporated into Judah and appears to have lost much of its own identity in history (see Ge 34:24–31; 49:5–7; see also notes on Ge 34:25; 49:7). Geographical and historical notes are inserted in the genealogy (see note on vv. 9–10). Apparently two genealogies are included here: vv. 24–33— ending with the formula, "they kept a genealogical record"—and vv. 34–43. Overpopulation (v. 38) caused them to expand toward Gedor and east toward Edom at the time of Hezekiah (vv. 39–43). The long hostility between Israel and Amalek surfaced once again (v. 43; cf. Ex 17:8–16; Dt 25:17–19; 1Sa 15; see Introduction to Esther: Purpose, Themes and Literary Features).

5:1–26 The genealogical records of the Transjordan tribes: Reuben, Gad and half of Manasseh (see Nu 32:33–42). The Chronicler's concern with "all Israel" includes incorporating the genealogical records of these tribes that were no longer significant entities in Israel's life in the restoration period, having been swept away in the Assyrian conquests.

5:1–10 The necessity to explain why the birthright of the firstborn did not remain with Reuben (see Ge 35:22; 49:4 for Reuben's sin) interrupts the initial statement (v. 1), which is then repeated after the explanation (v. 3). The parenthetical material (vv. 1–2) shows the writer's partiality for Judah, even though Joseph received the double portion (Ephraim and Manasseh) of the firstborn. The Hebrew term translated "ruler" (v. 2) is used of David in 11:2; 17:7; 2Sa 5:2; 6:21; 7:8; cf. 1Ch 28:4. The use of military titles (vv. 6–7) and a battle account (v. 10) suggest that this genealogy may have functioned in military organization (see Introduction: Genealogies). The source for some of this material on Reuben is Nu 26:5–11. The Chronicler has omitted reference to Eliab and his three sons who perished in the rebellion of Korah (see Nu 26:8–10) and so were not relevant to his purpose.

6and Beerah his son, whom Tiglath-Pileser[rg] king of Assyria took into exile. Beerah was a leader of the Reubenites.

7Their relatives by clans,[h] listed according to their genealogical records:

Jeiel the chief, Zechariah, 8and Bela son of Azaz, the son of Shema, the son of Joel. They settled in the area from Aroer[i] to Nebo[j] and Baal Meon.[k] 9To the east they occupied the land up to the edge of the desert that extends to the Euphrates[l] River, because their livestock had increased in Gilead.[m] 10During Saul's reign they waged war against the Hagrites[n], who were defeated at their hands; they occupied the dwellings of the Hagrites throughout the entire region east of Gilead.

Gad

11The Gadites[o] lived next to them in Bashan, as far as Salecah:[p]

12Joel was the chief, Shapham the second, then Janai and Shaphat, in Bashan.

13Their relatives, by families, were:
Michael, Meshullam, Sheba, Jorai, Jacan, Zia and Eber—seven in all.

14These were the sons of Abihail son of Huri, the son of Jaroah, the son of Gilead, the son of Michael, the son of Jeshishai, the son of Jahdo, the son of Buz.

15Ahi son of Abdiel, the son of Guni, was head of their family.

16The Gadites lived in Gilead, in Bashan and its outlying villages, and on all the pasturelands of Sharon as far as they extended.

17All these were entered in the genealogical records during the reigns of Jotham[q] king of Judah and Jeroboam[r] king of Israel.

18The Reubenites, the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh had 44,760 men ready for military service[s]—able-bodied men who could handle shield and sword, who could use a bow, and who were trained for battle. 19They waged war against the Hagrites, Jetur,[t] Naphish and Nodab. 20They were helped[u] in fighting them, and God handed the Hagrites and all their allies over to them, because they cried[v] out to him during the battle. He answered their prayers, because they trusted[w] in him. 21They seized the livestock of the Hagrites—fifty thousand camels, two hundred fifty thousand sheep and two thousand donkeys. They also took one hundred thousand people captive, 22and many others fell slain, because the battle[x] was God's. And they occupied the land until the exile.[y]

The Half-Tribe of Manasseh

23The people of the half-tribe of Manasseh[z] were numerous; they settled in the land from Bashan to Baal Hermon, that is, to Senir (Mount Hermon).[a]

24These were the heads of their families: Epher, Ishi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaviah and Jahdiel. They were brave warriors, famous men, and heads of their families. 25But they were unfaithful[b] to the God of their fathers and prostituted[c] themselves to the gods of the peoples of the land, whom God had destroyed before them. 26So the God of Israel stirred up the spirit[d] of Pul[e] king of Assyria (that is, Tiglath-Pileser[f] king of Assyria), who took the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh into exile.

5:6 Tiglath-Pileser. This Assyrian king (745–727 B.C.) attacked Israel (v. 26; 2Ki 15:29) and also imposed tribute on Ahaz of Judah (2Ch 28:19–20; 2Ki 16:7–10).

5:10 Hagrites. See vv. 19–22. Named among the enemies of Israel (Ps 83:6), this tribe is apparently associated with Hagar, the mother of Ishmael (Ge 16), but see note on Ps 83:6.

5:11–22 The materials in this list for the tribe of Gad have no parallels in the Bible. The other genealogies of Gad are organized around his seven sons (Ge 46:16; Nu 26:15–18); here four names are given, none found in the other lists. The Chronicler states (v. 17) that these records came from the period of Jotham of Judah (750–732 B.C.) and Jeroboam of Israel (793–753). The presence of military titles and narratives (vv. 12,18–22) suggests that this genealogy originated as part of a military census. The territory of Gad is delineated in Dt 3:12.

5:18–22 The first example of the Chronicler's theme of immediate retribution (see Introduction: Purpose and Themes). Success in warfare is attributed to their crying out to God (v. 20; cf. 2Ch 6:24–25,34–39; 12:7–12; 13:13–16; 14:9–15; 18:31; 20:1–30; 32:1–23).

5:23–26 Manasseh is treated further in 7:14–19; the half-tribe that settled in Transjordan is dealt with here since it shared the same fate as Reuben and Gad, and possibly also so that the Chronicler could keep the total of 12 for his tribal genealogies (see note on 2:1–2). Again immediate retribution is apparent: Just as trust in God can bring victory (vv. 18–22), so also defeat comes to the unfaithful (vv. 25–26). The use of the retributive theme in these two accounts argues for the unity of the genealogies with the historical portions of Chronicles. The list of names given here is not properly a genealogy but a list of clans. Since they are described as brave warriors in connection with a battle report (vv. 24–26), this section too is likely derived from records of military conscription (see note on vv. 1–10; see also 2Ki 15:19,29; 17:6; 18:11).

5:26 Pul. Probably Tiglath-Pileser's throne name in Babylon (the Babylonians called him Pulu).

He took them to Halah,[g] Habor, Hara and the river of Gozan, where they are to this day.

6:1–81 This chapter is devoted to a series of lists, all pertaining to the tribe of Levi. The first section (vv. 1–15) records the line of the high priests down to the exile; the clans of Levi follow (vv. 16–30). David's appointees as temple musicians came from the three clans of Levi: Gershon, Kohath and Merari (vv. 31–47). The generations between Aaron and Ahimaaz are given a separate listing (vv. 49–53), reinforcing the separate duties of priests and Levites (see note on Ex 32:26). The listing of the Levitical possessions among the tribes concludes the chapter (vv. 54–81).

6:1–3 A short segmented genealogy narrows the descendants of Levi to the lineage of Eleazar, in whose line the high priests are presented in linear form (vv. 4–15). The sons of Levi (v. 1) always appear in this order, based on age (v. 16; Ge 46:11; Ex 6:16; Nu 3:17; 26:57). Of Aaron's four sons (v. 3), the first two died as a result of sacrilege (Lev 10:2; Nu 26:61); succeeding generations of priests would trace their lineage to either Eleazar or Ithamar.

6:4–15 This list of high priests from the time of Eleazar to the exile has been sharply telescoped. The following high priests known from the OT are not mentioned: Jehoiada (2Ki 12:2), Uriah (2Ki 16:10–16), possibly two other Azariahs (2Ch 26:17,20; 31:10–13), Eli (1Sa 1:9; 14:3) and Abiathar (2Sa 8:17). The list is repeated with some variation in Ezr 7:1–5 (see notes there).

6:8 Ahitub the father of Zadok. This Zadok was one of David's two priests (18:16; 2Sa 8:17). When David's other priest, Abiathar (see note on vv. 4–15), supported the rebellion of Adonijah, Zadok supported Solomon (1Ki 1). After the expulsion of Abiathar (1Ki 2:26–27), Zadok alone held the office (1Ch 29:22), which continued in his line (1Ki 4:2). The Ahitub mentioned here should not be confused with the priest who was the grandson of Eli (1Sa 14:3) and grandfather of Abiathar (1Sa 22:20); the line of Zadok replaced the line of Eli (1Sa 2:27–36; 1Ki 2:26–27). For the importance of the line of Zadok see Eze 40:46; 43:19; 44:15; 48:11. Ezra was concerned to trace his own priestly lineage to this house (Ezr 7:1–5).

6:13 Hilkiah. Discovered the Book of the Law in the temple at the time of Josiah (2Ki 22; 2Ch 34).

6:14 Seraiah. Executed by the Babylonians after the conquest of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. (2Ki 25:18–21). Jehozadak. Father of Jeshua, the high priest in the first generation of the restoration (Ezr 3:2; 5:2; 10:18; Hag 1:1; 2:2; Zec 3:1; 6:11); his name is also spelled "Jozadak."

6:16–19a Repeated from Ex 6:16–19; Nu 3:17–20; 26:57–61.

6:22–23 Assir ... Elkanah ... Ebiasaph. Ex 6:24 names these men as sons of Korah, but here they are presented in the form ordinarily used for a linear genealogy of successive generations (see vv. 20–21,25–26,29–30). Either this is another example of genealogical fluidity, or one must understand "his son" as referring to Kohath and not to the immediately preceding name.

6:22 Amminadab. The almost parallel genealogy later in this chapter lists Izhar in the place of Amminadab—who is nowhere else listed as a son of Kohath, while every other list includes Izhar (vv. 2,37–38; Ex 6:18,21). Either Amminadab is an otherwise unattested alternative name of Izhar, or he is an otherwise unknown son. Or this may be another example of genealogical fluidity in which the Levites are linked with the tribe of Judah and the lineage of David (see Ru 4:18–22; see also Mt 1:4; Lk 3:33) in view of Aaron's marriage to the daughter of Amminadab of Judah (Ex 6:23; see 1Ch 2:10).

Ebiasaph his son, Assir his son,
24Tahath his son, Uriel[a] his son,
Uzziah his son and Shaul his son.
25The descendants of Elkanah:
Amasai, Ahimoth,
26Elkanah his son,[t] Zophai his son,
Nahath his son, 27Eliab his son,
Jeroham his son, Elkanah[b] his son and Samuel[c] his son.[u] 28The sons of Samuel:
Joel[v][d] the firstborn
and Abijah the second son.
29The descendants of Merari:
Mahli, Libni his son,
Shimei his son, Uzzah his son,
30Shimea his son, Haggiah his son and Asaiah his son.

The Temple Musicians

6:54–80pp — Jos 21:4–39

31These are the men[e] David put in charge of the music[f] in the house of the LORD after the ark came to rest there. 32They ministered with music before the tabernacle, the Tent of Meeting, until Solomon built the temple of the LORD in Jerusalem. They performed their duties according to the regulations laid down for them.

33Here are the men who served, together with their sons:
From the Kohathites:
Heman,[g] the musician,
the son of Joel,[h] the son of Samuel, 34the son of Elkanah,[i] the son of Jeroham, the son of Eliel, the son of Toah, 35the son of Zuph, the son of Elkanah, the son of Mahath, the son of Amasai, 36the son of Elkanah, the son of Joel,
the son of Azariah, the son of Zephaniah, 37the son of Tahath, the son of Assir, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah,[j] 38the son of Izhar,[k] the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, the son of Israel;
39and Heman's associate Asaph,[l] who served at his right hand:
Asaph son of Berekiah, the son of Shimea,[m] 40the son of Michael, the son of Baaseiah,[w]
the son of Malkijah, 41the son of Ethni, the son of Zerah, the son of Adaiah, 42the son of Ethan, the son of Zimmah, the son of Shimei, 43the son of Jahath, the son of Gershon, the son of Levi;
44and from their associates, the Merarites,[n] at his left hand:
Ethan son of Kishi, the son of Abdi, the son of Malluch, 45the son of Hashabiah, the son of Amaziah, the son of Hilkiah, 46the son of Amzi, the son of Bani, the son of Shemer, 47the son of Mahli, the son of Mushi, the son of Merari, the son of Levi.

48Their fellow Levites[o] were assigned to all the other duties of the tabernacle, the house of God. 49But Aaron and his descendants were the ones who presented offerings on the altar[p] of burnt offering and on the altar of incense[q] in connection with all that was done in the Most Holy Place, making atonement for Israel, in accordance with all that Moses the servant of God had commanded.

6:24 Uriel. Possibly the one who led the Kohathites in David's day (15:5).

6:26–27 Zophai ... Nahath ... Eliab. Apparently variant names for Zuph, Toah and Eliel (vv. 34–35).

6:27 Samuel. His lineage is also given in 1Sa 1:1, where his family is identified as Ephraimite (see note there). Either this is an example of genealogical fluidity, in which Samuel's involvement in the tabernacle (1Sa 3) and performance of priestly duties (9:22; 1Sa 2:18; 3:1) resulted in his incorporation into the Levites, or the term "Ephraimite" is to be understood as a place of residence, not as a statement of lineage.

6:31–48 Each of the three Levitical clans contributed musicians for the temple: Heman from the family of Kohath, Asaph from Gershon, and Ethan from Merari. The Chronicler makes frequent reference to the appointment of the musical guilds by David (15:16,27; 25:1–31; 2Ch 29:25–26; see Ne 12:45–47). The frequent mention of the role of the Levites has led many to assume that the author was a member of the musicians. Non-Biblical literature also attests to guilds of singers and musicians in Canaanite temples. This genealogy appears to function as a means of legitimizing the Levites of the restoration period (Ezr 2:40–41; Ne 7:43–44; 10:9–13, 28–29; 11:15–18; 12:24–47).

6:49–53 Repeats vv. 4–8 but presumably serves a different function: to legitimize the line of Zadok, which is traced down to Solomon's time, as the only Levitical division authorized to offer sacrifices.

50These were the descendants of Aaron:
Eleazar his son, Phinehas his son,
Abishua his son, 51Bukki his son,
Uzzi his son, Zerahiah his son,
52Meraioth his son, Amariah his son,
Ahitub his son, 53Zadok[r] his son and Ahimaaz his son.

54These were the locations of their settlements[s] allotted as their territory (they were assigned to the descendants of Aaron who were from the Kohathite clan, because the first lot was for them):

55They were given Hebron in Judah with its surrounding pasturelands. 56But the fields and villages around the city were given to Caleb son of Jephunneh.[t]

57So the descendants of Aaron were given Hebron (a city of refuge), and Libnah,[x][u] Jattir,[v] Eshtemoa, 58Hilen, Debir,[w] 59Ashan,[x] Juttah[y] and Beth Shemesh, together with their pasturelands. 60And from the tribe of Benjamin they were given Gibeon,[z] Geba, Alemeth and Anathoth,[y] together with their pasturelands.

These towns, which were distributed among the Kohathite clans, were thirteen in all.

61The rest of Kohath's descendants were allotted ten towns from the clans of half the tribe of Manasseh.

62The descendants of Gershon, clan by clan, were allotted thirteen towns from the tribes of Issachar, Asher and Naphtali, and from the part of the tribe of Manasseh that is in Bashan.

63The descendants of Merari, clan by clan, were allotted twelve towns from the tribes of Reuben, Gad and Zebulun.

64So the Israelites gave the Levites these towns[z] and their pasturelands. 65From the tribes of Judah, Simeon and Benjamin they allotted the previously named towns.

66Some of the Kohathite clans were given as their territory towns from the tribe of Ephraim.

67In the hill country of Ephraim they were given Shechem (a city of refuge), and Gezer,[a][a] 68Jokmeam,[b] Beth Horon,[c] 69Aijalon[d] and Gath Rimmon,[e] together with their pasturelands.

70And from half the tribe of Manasseh the Israelites gave Aner and Bileam, together with their pasturelands, to the rest of the Kohathite clans.

71The Gershonites[f] received the following:
From the clan of the half-tribe of Manasseh they received Golan in Bashan[g] and also Ashtaroth, together with their pasturelands; 72from the tribe of Issachar they received Kedesh, Daberath,[h] 73Ramoth and Anem, together with their pasturelands; 74from the tribe of Asher they received Mashal, Abdon,[i] 75Hukok[j] and Rehob,[k] together with their pasturelands; 76and from the tribe of Naphtali they received Kedesh in Galilee, Hammon[l] and Kiriathaim,[m] together with their pasturelands.

77The Merarites (the rest of the Levites) received the following:
From the tribe of Zebulun
they received Jokneam, Kartah,[b] Rimmono and Tabor, together with their pasturelands; 78from the tribe of Reuben across the Jordan east of Jericho they received Bezer[n] in the desert, Jahzah, 79Kedemoth[o] and Mephaath, together with their pasturelands; 80and from the tribe of Gad they received Ramoth in Gilead,[p] Mahanaim,[q] 81Heshbon and Jazer,[r] together with their pasturelands.[s]

Tola, Puah,[u] Jashub and Shimron—four in all.
2The sons of Tola:
Uzzi, Rephaiah, Jeriel, Jahmai, Ibsam and Samuel—heads of their families. During the reign of David, the descendants of Tola listed as fighting men in their genealogy numbered 22,600.

6:54–81 This list of Levitical possessions is taken from Jos 21 with only minor differences (see notes there). The Levites, who were given no block of territory of their own, were distributed throughout Israel.

7:1–5 Parts of the genealogy of Issachar are taken from Ge 46:13; Nu 1:28; 26:23–25, though many of the names are otherwise unattested. This list of the clans appears to come from a military muster (vv. 2,4–5) from the time of David (v. 2), perhaps reflecting the census of ch. 21 and 2Sa 24.

Izrahiah.
The sons of Izrahiah:
Michael, Obadiah, Joel and Isshiah. All five of them were chiefs.
4According to their family genealogy, they had 36,000 men ready for battle, for they had many wives and children.
5The relatives who were fighting men belonging to all the clans of Issachar, as listed in their genealogy, were 87,000 in all.

Benjamin

6Three sons of Benjamin:[v]
Bela, Beker and Jediael.
7The sons of Bela:
Ezbon, Uzzi, Uzziel, Jerimoth and Iri, heads of families—five in all. Their genealogical record listed 22,034 fighting men.
8The sons of Beker:
Zemirah, Joash, Eliezer, Elioenai, Omri, Jeremoth, Abijah, Anathoth and Alemeth. All these were the sons of Beker. 9Their genealogical record listed the heads of families and 20,200 fighting men.
10The son of Jediael:
Bilhan.
The sons of Bilhan:
Jeush, Benjamin, Ehud, Kenaanah, Zethan, Tarshish and Ahishahar. 11All these sons of Jediael were heads of families. There were 17,200 fighting men ready to go out to war.
12The Shuppites and Huppites were the descendants of Ir, and the Hushites the descendants of Aher.

Naphtali

13The sons of Naphtali:[w]
Jahziel, Guni, Jezer and Shillem[c]—the descendants of Bilhah.

Manasseh

14The descendants of Manasseh:[x]
Asriel was his descendant through his Aramean concubine. She gave birth to Makir the father of Gilead.[y] 15Makir took a wife from among the Huppites and Shuppites. His sister's name was Maacah.
Another descendant was named Zelophehad,[z] who had only daughters.
16Makir's wife Maacah gave birth to a son and named him Peresh. His brother was named Sheresh, and his sons were Ulam and Rakem.
17The son of Ulam:
Bedan.
These were the sons of Gilead[a] son of Makir, the son of Manasseh. 18His sister Hammoleketh gave birth to Ishhod, Abiezer[b] and Mahlah.
19The sons of Shemida[c] were:
Ahian, Shechem, Likhi and Aniam.

Ephraim

20The descendants of Ephraim:[d]
Shuthelah, Bered his son,
Tahath his son, Eleadah his son,
Tahath his son, 21Zabad his son and Shuthelah his son.
Ezer and Elead were killed by the native-born men of Gath, when they went down to seize their livestock. 22Their father Ephraim mourned for them many days, and his relatives came to comfort him. 23Then he lay with his wife again, and she became pregnant and gave birth to a son. He named him Beriah,[d] because there had been misfortune in his family. 24His daughter

7:6–12 There is considerable fluidity among the Biblical sources listing the sons of Benjamin. This list gives three sons; Ge 46:21 records ten; Nu 26:38–39 and 1Ch 8:1–2 both list five (the only name appearing in all these sources is Bela, the firstborn). The variations reflect different origins and functions for these genealogies. The list here appears to function in the military sphere (vv. 7,9,11).

7:13 Repeats Ge 46:24; Nu 26:48–50. descendants of Bilhah. Dan and Naphtali were the actual "sons" of Jacob's concubine Bilhah (Ge 30:3–8), so Naphtali's sons are Bilhah's "descendants."

7:14–19 See note on 5:23–26. The sources for this genealogy are Nu 26:29–34; Jos 17:1–18. The daughters of Zelophehad (v. 15) prompted the rulings on the inheritance rights of women (Nu 26:29–34; 27:1–11; 36:1–12; Jos 17:3–4). Of the 13 different clans of the tribe of Manasseh known from these genealogies, seven are mentioned in the Samaria ostraca (about 65 inscribed potsherds containing records of deliveries of wine, oil, barley and other commodities in the eighth century B.C.). The prominence of women in this genealogy is unusual; this suggests that it may have functioned in the domestic sphere, perhaps as a statement of the social status of the various clans of Manasseh (see Introduction: Genealogies).

7:20–29 The source for part of the genealogy of Ephraim is Nu 26:35. If Rephah (v. 25) is the grandson of Ephraim, ten generations are recorded from Ephraim to Joshua, a number that fits very well the 400-year interval when Israel was in Egypt. Joshua's Ephraimite ancestry is also mentioned in Nu 13:8 (where he is called "Hoshea"; see Nu 13:16). The raid against Gath (vv. 21–22) must have taken place well before the conquest of Canaan and must have originated in Egypt. The list of settlements (vv. 28–29) summarizes Jos 16–17.

was Sheerah, who built Lower and Upper Beth Horon[e] as well as Uzzen Sheerah.
25 Rephah was his son, Resheph his son,[e]
Telah his son, Tahan his son,
26 Ladan his son, Ammihud his son, Elishama his son, 27 Nun his son and Joshua his son.
28 Their lands and settlements included Bethel and its surrounding villages, Naaran to the east, Gezer[f] and its villages to the west, and Shechem and its villages all the way to Ayyah and its villages. 29 Along the borders of Manasseh were Beth Shan,[g] Taanach, Megiddo and Dor,[h] together with their villages. The descendants of Joseph son of Israel lived in these towns.

Asher

30 The sons of Asher:[i]
Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi and Beriah.
Their sister was Serah.
31 The sons of Beriah:
Heber and Malkiel, who was the father of Birzaith.
32 Heber was the father of Japhlet,
Shomer and Hotham and of their sister Shua.
33 The sons of Japhlet:
Pasach, Bimhal and Ashvath.
These were Japhlet's sons.
34 The sons of Shomer:
Ahi, Rohgah,[f] Hubbah and Aram.
35 The sons of his brother Helem:
Zophah, Imna, Shelesh and Amal.
36 The sons of Zophah:
Suah, Harnepher, Shual, Beri, Imrah, 37 Bezer, Hod, Shamma, Shilshah, Ithran[g] and Beera.
38 The sons of Jether:
Jephunneh, Pispah and Ara.
39 The sons of Ulla:
Arah, Hanniel and Rizia.
40 All these were descendants of Asher—heads of families, choice men, brave warriors and outstanding leaders. The number of men ready for battle, as listed in their genealogy, was 26,000.

The Genealogy of Saul the Benjamite
8:28–38pp — 1Ch 9:34–44

8 Benjamin[j] was the father of Bela his firstborn, Ashbel the second son, Aharah the third,
2 Nohah the fourth and Rapha the fifth.
3 The sons of Bela were:
Addar,[k] Gera, Abihud,[h] 4 Abishua, Naaman, Ahoah,[l] 5 Gera, Shephuphan and Huram.
6 These were the descendants of Ehud,[m] who were heads of families of those living in Geba and were deported to Manahath:
7 Naaman, Ahijah, and Gera, who deported them and who was the father of Uzza and Ahihud.
8 Sons were born to Shaharaim in Moab after he had divorced his wives Hushim and Baara. 9 By his wife Hodesh he had Jobab, Zibia, Mesha, Malcam, 10 Jeuz, Sakia and Mirmah. These were his sons, heads of families. 11 By Hushim he had Abitub and Elpaal.
12 The sons of Elpaal:
Eber, Misham, Shemed (who built Ono[n] and Lod with its surrounding villages), 13 and Beriah and Shema, who were heads of families of those living in Aijalon[o] and who drove out the inhabitants of Gath.[p]
14 Ahio, Shashak, Jeremoth, 15 Zebadiah, Arad, Eder, 16 Michael, Ishpah and Joha were the sons of Beriah.
17 Zebadiah, Meshullam, Hizki, Heber, 18 Ishmerai, Izliah and Jobab were the sons of Elpaal.
19 Jakim, Zicri, Zabdi, 20 Elienai, Zillethai, Eliel, 21 Adaiah, Beraiah and Shimrath were the sons of Shimei.
22 Ishpan, Eber, Eliel, 23 Abdon, Zicri, Hanan, 24 Hananiah, Elam, Anthothijah, 25 Iphdeiah and Penuel were the sons of Shashak.
26 Shamsherai, Shehariah, Athaliah,

7:30–40 The genealogy of Asher follows Ge 46:17 for the first three generations; it is also parallel to Nu 26:44–46, except that the name Ishvah (v. 30) is missing there. This genealogy too reflects a military function (v. 40).
8:1–40 The inclusion of a second and even more extensive genealogy of Benjamin (see note on 7:6–12) reflects both the importance of this tribe and the Chronicler's interest in Saul. Judah, Simeon and part of Benjamin had composed the southern kingdom (1Ki 12:1–21), and their territory largely comprised the restoration province of Judah in the Chronicler's own time. The genealogy of Benjamin is more extensive than that of all the other tribes except Judah and Levi. The Chronicler is also concerned with the genealogy of Saul (vv. 29–38) in order to set the stage for the historical narrative that begins with the end of his reign (ch. 10); Saul's genealogy is repeated in 9:35–44. Several references suggest that this genealogy also originated in the military sphere (vv. 6,10,13,28,40).
8:1–5 Cf. the lists in 7:6–12; Ge 46:21–22; Nu 26:38–41.
8:6–27 Unique to Chronicles.

27Jaareshiah, Elijah and Zicri were the sons of Jeroham.

28All these were heads of families, chiefs as listed in their genealogy, and they lived in Jerusalem.

29Jeiel[i] the father[j] of Gibeon lived in Gibeon.[q]
His wife's name was Maacah, 30and his firstborn son was Abdon, followed by Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner,[k] Nadab, 31Gedor, Ahio, Zeker 32and Mikloth, who was the father of Shimeah. They too lived near their relatives in Jerusalem.

33Ner[r] was the father of Kish,[s] Kish the father of Saul[t], and Saul the father of Jonathan, Malki-Shua, Abinadab and Esh-Baal.[lu]

34The son of Jonathan:[v]
Merib-Baal,[mw] who was the father of Micah.

35The sons of Micah:
Pithon, Melech, Tarea and Ahaz.
36Ahaz was the father of Jehoaddah, Jehoaddah was the father of Alemeth, Azmaveth and Zimri, and Zimri was the father of Moza. 37Moza was the father of Binea; Raphah was his son, Eleasah his son and Azel his son.

38Azel had six sons, and these were their names:
Azrikam, Bokeru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah and Hanan. All these were the sons of Azel.

39The sons of his brother Eshek:
Ulam his firstborn, Jeush the second son and Eliphelet the third.
40The sons of Ulam were brave warriors who could handle the bow. They had many sons and grandsons—150 in all.
All these were the descendants of Benjamin.[x]

The People in Jerusalem

9:1–17pp — Ne 11:3–19

The people of Judah were taken captive to Babylon[z] because of their unfaithfulness.[a] 2Now the first to resettle on their own property in their own towns[b] were some Israelites, priests, Levites and temple servants.[c]

3Those from Judah, from Benjamin, and from Ephraim and Manasseh who lived in Jerusalem were:

4Uthai son of Ammihud, the son of Omri, the son of Imri, the son of Bani, a descendant of Perez son of Judah.[d]

5Of the Shilonites:
Asaiah the firstborn and his sons.

6Of the Zerahites:
Jeuel.
The people from Judah numbered 690.

7Of the Benjamites:
Sallu son of Meshullam, the son of Hodaviah, the son of Hassenuah;
8Ibneiah son of Jeroham; Elah son of Uzzi, the son of Micri; and Meshullam son of Shephatiah, the son of Reuel, the son of Ibnijah.
9The people from Benjamin, as listed in their genealogy, numbered 956. All these men were heads of their families.

10Of the priests:
Jedaiah; Jehoiarib; Jakin;
11Azariah son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the

8:34 Merib-Baal. See NIV text note; see also note on 2Sa 4:4.

9:1 All Israel. The Chronicler's concern with "all Israel" is one key to why he included the genealogies (see Introduction: Purpose and Themes).

9:2–34 This list of the members of the restored community reflects the Chronicler's concern with the institutions of his own day, especially the legitimacy of officeholders. He lists laity ("Israelites," v. 2) in vv. 3–9, priests in vv. 10–13 and Levites in vv. 14–34. He mentions a fourth class of returnees—the temple servants (v. 2)—but does not give them separate listing in the material that follows. They may have been originally foreigners who were incorporated into the Levites (Jos 9:23; Ezr 8:20) and so are not listed apart from that tribe. A similar office is known in the temple at ancient Ugarit. The list here is related to the one in Ne 11, but less than half the names are the same in the two lists.

9:3 Ephraim and Manasseh. Again reflecting his concern with "all Israel," the Chronicler shows that the returnees were not only from Judah and Benjamin but also from the northern tribes.

9:4–6 See 2:3–6; 4:21. The returnees of Judah are traced to Judah's sons Perez, Zerah and Shelah—if the word "Shilonites" (v. 5) is read as "Shelanites" (Nu 26:20). If the reading "Shilonites" is retained, the reference is to Shiloh, the important sanctuary city (Jdg 18:31; Jer 7:12–14; 26:9).

9:10–13 The list of priests is essentially the same as that in Ne 11:10–14. Since it is tied to the list of priests earlier in the genealogies (6:1–15,50–53), contemporary Israel's continuity with her past is shown.

son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, the official in charge of the house of God;
12Adaiah son of Jeroham, the son of Pashhur,[e] the son of Malkijah; and Maasai son of Adiel, the son of Jahzerah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Meshillemith, the son of Immer.
13The priests, who were heads of families, numbered 1,760. They were able men, responsible for ministering in the house of God.
14Of the Levites:
Shemaiah son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, a Merarite; 15Bakbakkar, Heresh, Galal and Mattaniah[f] son of Mica, the son of Zicri, the son of Asaph; 16Obadiah son of Shemaiah, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun; and Berekiah son of Asa, the son of Elkanah, who lived in the villages of the Netophathites.[g]
17The gatekeepers:[h]
Shallum, Akkub, Talmon, Ahiman and their brothers, Shallum their chief 18being stationed at the King's Gate[i] on the east, up to the present time. These were the gatekeepers belonging to the camp of the Levites. 19Shallum[j] son of Kore, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, and his fellow gatekeepers from his family (the Korahites) were responsible for guarding the thresholds of the Tent[n] just as their fathers had been responsible for guarding the entrance to the dwelling of the LORD. 20In earlier times Phinehas[k] son of Eleazar was in charge of the gatekeepers, and the LORD was with him. 21Zechariah[l] son of Meshelemiah was the gatekeeper at the entrance to the Tent of Meeting.
22Altogether, those chosen to be gatekeepers[m] at the thresholds numbered 212. They were registered by genealogy in their villages. The gatekeepers had been assigned to their positions of trust by David and Samuel the seer.[n] 23They and their descendants were in charge of guarding the gates of the house of the LORD—the house called the Tent. 24The gatekeepers were on the four sides: east, west, north and south. 25Their brothers in their villages had to come from time to time and share their duties for seven-day[o] periods. 26But the four principal gatekeepers, who were Levites, were entrusted with the responsibility for the rooms and treasuries[p] in the house of God. 27They would spend the night stationed around the house of God,[q] because they had to guard it; and they had charge of the key[r] for opening it each morning.
28Some of them were in charge of the articles used in the temple service; they counted them when they were brought in and when they were taken out. 29Others were assigned to take care of the furnishings and all the other articles of the sanctuary,[s] as well as the flour and wine, and the oil, incense and spices. 30But some[t] of the priests took care of mixing the spices. 31A Levite named Mattithiah, the firstborn son of Shallum the Korahite, was entrusted with the responsibility for baking the offering bread. 32Some of their Kohathite brothers were in charge of preparing for every Sabbath the bread set out on the table.[u]
33Those who were musicians,[v] heads of Levite families, stayed in the rooms of the temple and were exempt from other duties because they were responsible for the work day and night.[w]
34All these were heads of Levite families, chiefs as listed in their genealogy, and they lived in Jerusalem.

9:16 Netophathites. See note on Ne 12:28.

9:17–21 The Chronicler gives the names of four gatekeepers, while Ne 11:19 mentions only two. The chief of the gatekeepers had the honor of responsibility for the gate used by the king (Eze 46:1–2). The gatekeepers are also listed in ch. 26; Ezr 2:42. These officers traced their origin to Phinehas (v. 20; 6:4; Nu 3:32; 25:6–13).

9:22–27 Twenty-four guard stations were manned in three shifts around the clock; 72 men would be needed for each week. With a total of 212 men, each would have a tour of duty approximately every three weeks (26:12–18).

9:28–34 The Levites not only were responsible for the temple precincts and for opening the gates in the morning, but they also had charge of the chambers and supply rooms (23:28; 26:20–29) as well as the implements, supplies and furnishings (28:13–18; Ezr 1:9–11). In addition they were responsible for the preparation of baked goods (Ex 25:30; Lev 2:5–7; 7:9). The priests alone prepared the perfumed anointing oil and spices (Ex 30:23–33).

9:35–44 The genealogy of Saul is duplicated here (see 8:29–38) as a transition to the short account of his reign that begins the Chronicler's narration (ch. 10).

Saul Takes His Life

10:1–12pp — 1Sa 31:1–13; 2Sa 1:4–12

10 Now the Philistines fought against Israel; the Israelites fled before them, and many fell slain on Mount Gilboa. 2The Philistines pressed hard after Saul and his sons, and they killed his sons Jonathan, Abinadab and Malki-Shua. 3The fighting grew fierce around Saul, and when the archers overtook him, they wounded him.

4Saul said to his armor-bearer, "Draw your sword and run me through, or these uncircumcised fellows will come and abuse me."

But his armor-bearer was terrified and would not do it; so Saul took his own sword and fell on it. 5When the armor-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he too fell on his sword and died. 6So Saul and his three sons died, and all his house died together.

7When all the Israelites in the valley saw that the army had fled and that Saul and his sons had died, they abandoned their towns and fled. And the Philistines came and occupied them.

8The next day, when the Philistines came to strip the dead, they found Saul and his sons fallen on Mount Gilboa. 9They stripped him and took his head and his armor, and sent messengers throughout the land of the Philistines to proclaim the news among their idols and their people. 10They put his armor in the temple of their gods and hung up his head in the temple of Dagon.[d]

11When all the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead[e] heard of everything the Philistines had done to Saul, 12all their valiant men went and took the bodies of Saul and his sons and brought them to Jabesh. Then they buried their bones under the great tree in Jabesh, and they fasted seven days.

13Saul died[f] because he was unfaithful[g] to the LORD; he did not keep[h] the word of the LORD and even consulted a medium[i] for guidance, 14and did not inquire of the LORD. So the LORD put him to death and turned[j] the kingdom[k] over to David son of Jesse.

David Becomes King Over Israel

11:1–3pp — 2Sa 5:1–3

11 All Israel[l] came together to David at Hebron[m] and said, "We are your own flesh and blood. 2In the past, even while Saul was king, you were the one who led Israel on their military campaigns.[n] And the LORD your God said to you, 'You will shepherd[o] my people Israel, and you will become their ruler.[p]' "

3When all the elders of Israel had come to King David at Hebron, he made a com-

10:13–14 These verses are not paralleled in the Samuel account; they were put here by the Chronicler in line with his concern with immediate retribution (see Introduction: Purpose and Themes). Seeking mediums was forbidden (Dt 18:9–14) and brought death to Saul. The Chronicler is obviously writing to an audience already familiar with Samuel and Kings, and he frequently assumes that knowledge. Here the consultation with the medium at Endor is alluded to (see 1Sa 28), but the Chronicler does not recount the incident.

11:1–2Ch 9:31 See Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon.

11:1–3 The material here parallels that in 2Sa 5:1–3, but is recast by the Chronicler in accordance with his emphasis on the popular support given David by "all Israel" (v. 1). While the Chronicler twice mentions the seven-year reign at Hebron before the death of Ish-Bosheth and the covenant with the northern tribes (3:4; 29:27), these incidents are bypassed in the narrative portion of the book. Most striking is the elimination at this point of the information in 2Sa 5:4–5. Rather, the Chronicler paints a picture of immediate accession over "all Israel," followed by the immediate conquest of Jerusalem (see Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon). The author once again assumes the reader's knowledge of the parallel account.

pact with them at Hebron before the LORD, and they anointed[q] David king over Israel, as the LORD had promised through Samuel.

David Conquers Jerusalem

11:4–9pp — 2Sa 5:6–10

[4]David and all the Israelites marched to Jerusalem (that is, Jebus). The Jebusites[r] who lived there [5]said to David, "You will not get in here." Nevertheless, David captured the fortress of Zion, the City of David.

[6]David had said, "Whoever leads the attack on the Jebusites will become commander-in-chief." Joab[s] son of Zeruiah went up first, and so he received the command.

[7]David then took up residence in the fortress, and so it was called the City of David. [8]He built up the city around it, from the supporting terraces[t] to the surrounding wall, while Joab restored the rest of the city. [9]And David became more and more powerful,[u] because the LORD Almighty was with him.

David's Mighty Men

11:10–41pp — 2Sa 23:8–39

[10]These were the chiefs of David's mighty men—they, together with all Israel,[v] gave his kingship strong support to extend it over the whole land, as the LORD had promised— [11]this is the list of David's mighty men:[w]

Jashobeam,[u] a Hacmonite, was chief of the officers[v]; he raised his spear against three hundred men, whom he killed in one encounter.

[12]Next to him was Eleazar son of Dodai the Ahohite, one of the three mighty men. [13]He was with David at Pas Dammim when the Philistines gathered there for battle. At a place where there was a field full of barley, the troops fled from the Philistines. [14]But they took their stand in the middle of the field. They defended it and struck the Philistines down, and the LORD brought about a great victory.[x]

[15]Three of the thirty chiefs came down to David to the rock at the cave of Adullam, while a band of Philistines was encamped in the Valley[y] of Rephaim. [16]At that time David was in the stronghold,[z] and the Philistine garrison was at Bethlehem. [17]David longed for water and said, "Oh, that someone would get me a drink of water from the well near the gate of Bethlehem!" [18]So the Three broke through the Philistine lines, drew water from the well near the gate of Bethlehem and carried it back to David. But he refused to drink it; instead, he poured[a] it out before the LORD. [19]"God forbid that I should do this!" he said. "Should I drink the blood of these men who went at the risk of their lives?" Because they risked their lives to bring it back, David would not drink it.

Such were the exploits of the three mighty men.

[20]Abishai[b] the brother of Joab was chief of the Three. He raised his spear against three hundred men, whom he killed, and so he became as famous as the Three. [21]He was doubly honored above the Three and became their commander, even though he was not included among them.

[22]Benaiah son of Jehoiada was a valiant fighter from Kabzeel,[c] who performed great exploits. He struck down two of Moab's best men. He also went down into a pit on a snowy day and killed a lion.[d] [23]And he struck down an Egyptian who was seven and a half feet[w] tall. Although the Egyptian had a spear like a weaver's rod[e] in his hand, Benaiah went against him with a club. He snatched the spear from the Egyptian's hand and killed him with his own spear. [24]Such were the exploits of Benaiah son of Jehoiada; he too was as famous as the three mighty men. [25]He was held in greater honor than any of the Thirty, but he was not included among the Three. And David put him in charge of his bodyguard.

[26]The mighty men were:
Asahel[f] the brother of Joab,
Elhanan son of Dodo from Bethlehem,
[27]Shammoth[g] the Harorite,
Helez the Pelonite,
[28]Ira son of Ikkesh from Tekoa,
Abiezer[h] from Anathoth,
[29]Sibbecai[i] the Hushathite,
Ilai the Ahohite,

11:4–9 See 2Sa 5:6–10 and notes. The "all Israel" theme appears in v. 4 as a substitute for "the king and his men" (2Sa 5:6).

11:10–41a See 2Sa 23:8–39 and notes. In the Samuel account this list of David's mighty men is given near the end of his reign. The Chronicler has moved the list to the beginning of his reign and has greatly expanded it (11:41b–12:40), again as part of his emphasis on the broad support of "all Israel" for the kingship of David (v. 10).

11:11 three hundred. Actually 800 (see 2Sa 23:8), 300 here apparently being a copyist's mistake, perhaps influenced by the same number in v. 20.

Warriors Join David

12 These were the men who came to David at Ziklag,[o] while he was banished from the presence of Saul son of Kish (they were among the warriors who helped him in battle; 2 they were armed with bows and were able to shoot arrows or to sling stones right-handed or left-handed;[p] they were kinsmen of Saul[q] from the tribe of Benjamin):

3 Ahiezer their chief and Joash the sons of Shemaah the Gibeathite; Jeziel and Pelet the sons of Azmaveth; Beracah, Jehu the Anathothite, 4 and Ishmaiah the Gibeonite, a mighty man among the Thirty, who was a leader of the Thirty; Jeremiah, Jahaziel, Johanan, Jozabad the Gederathite,[r] 5 Eluzai, Jerimoth, Bealiah, Shemariah and Shephatiah the Haruphite; 6 Elkanah, Isshiah, Azarel, Joezer and Jashobeam the Korahites; 7 and Joelah and Zebadiah the sons of Jeroham from Gedor.[s]

8 Some Gadites[t] defected to David at his stronghold in the desert. They were brave warriors, ready for battle and able to handle the shield and spear. Their faces were the faces of lions,[u] and they were as swift as gazelles[v] in the mountains.

9 Ezer was the chief,
Obadiah the second in command,
Eliab the third,
10 Mishmannah the fourth, Jeremiah the fifth,
11 Attai the sixth, Eliel the seventh,
12 Johanan the eighth, Elzabad the ninth,
13 Jeremiah the tenth and Macbannai the eleventh.

14 These Gadites were army commanders; the least was a match for a hundred,[w] and the greatest for a thousand.[x] 15 It was they who crossed the Jordan in the first month when it was overflowing all its banks,[y] and they put to flight everyone living in the valleys, to the east and to the west.

16 Other Benjamites[z] and some men from Judah also came to David in his stronghold. 17 David went out to meet them and said to them, "If you have come to me in peace, to help me, I am ready to have you unite with me. But if you have come to betray me to my enemies when my hands are free from violence, may the God of our fathers see it and judge you."

18 Then the Spirit[a] came upon Amasai,[b] chief of the Thirty, and he said:

"We are yours, O David!
We are with you, O son of Jesse!
Success,[c] success to you, and success to those who help you, for your God will help you."

So David received them and made them leaders of his raiding bands.

11:41b–12:40 See note on vv. 10–41a. The list in 2Sa 23 ends with Uriah the Hittite (2Sa 11); the source for the additional names is not known. The emphasis continues to be on the support of "all Israel"—even Saul's own kinsmen recognized the legitimacy of David's kingship before Saul's death (12:1–7,16–18,23,29).

12:1 The Chronicler assumes the reader's knowledge of the events at Ziklag (1Sa 27); see vv. 19–20.

12:8–15 The men of Gad were from Transjordan. Melting snows to the north would have brought the Jordan to flood stage in the first month (March-April) at the time of their crossing (v. 15). The most appropriate time for this incident would have been in the period of David's wandering in the region of the Dead Sea (1Sa 23:14; 24:1; 25:1; 26:1).

listines to fight against Saul. (He and his men did not help the Philistines because, after consultation, their rulers sent him away. They said, "It will cost us our heads if he deserts to his master Saul.")[d] [20]When David went to Ziklag,[e] these were the men of Manasseh who defected to him: Adnah, Jozabad, Jediael, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu and Zillethai, leaders of units of a thousand in Manasseh. [21]They helped David against raiding bands, for all of them were brave warriors, and they were commanders in his army. [22]Day after day men came to help David, until he had a great army, like the army of God.[x]

Others Join David at Hebron

[23]These are the numbers of the men armed for battle who came to David at Hebron[f] to turn[g] Saul's kingdom over to him, as the LORD had said:[h]

[24]men of Judah, carrying shield and spear—6,800 armed for battle;
[25]men of Simeon, warriors ready for battle—7,100;
[26]men of Levi—4,600, [27]including Jehoiada, leader of the family of Aaron, with 3,700 men, [28]and Zadok,[i] a brave young warrior, with 22 officers from his family;
[29]men of Benjamin,[j] Saul's kinsmen—3,000, most[k] of whom had remained loyal to Saul's house until then;
[30]men of Ephraim, brave warriors, famous in their own clans—20,800;
[31]men of half the tribe of Manasseh, designated by name to come and make David king—18,000;
[32]men of Issachar, who understood the times and knew what Israel should do[l]—200 chiefs, with all their relatives under their command;
[33]men of Zebulun, experienced soldiers prepared for battle with every type of weapon, to help David with undivided loyalty—50,000;
[34]men of Naphtali—1,000 officers, together with 37,000 men carrying shields and spears;
[35]men of Dan, ready for battle—28,600;
[36]men of Asher, experienced soldiers prepared for battle—40,000;
[37]and from east of the Jordan, men of Reuben, Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh, armed with every type of weapon—120,000.

[38]All these were fighting men who volunteered to serve in the ranks. They came to Hebron fully determined to make David king over all Israel.[m] All the rest of the Israelites were also of one mind to make David king. [39]The men spent three days there with David, eating and drinking,[n] for their families had supplied provisions for them. [40]Also, their neighbors from as far away as Issachar, Zebulun and Naphtali came bringing food on donkeys, camels, mules and oxen. There were plentiful supplies[o] of flour, fig cakes, raisin[p] cakes, wine, oil, cattle and sheep, for there was joy[q] in Israel.

[x]22 Or a great and mighty army

12:23–37 The emphasis remains on "all Israel" (v. 38). Though 13 tribes are named, they are grouped in order to maintain the traditional number of 12 (see note on 2:1–2). The northernmost and the Transjordan tribes send the largest number of men (vv. 33–37), reinforcing the degree of support that David enjoyed not only in Judah and Benjamin but throughout the other tribes as well. The numbers in this section seem quite high. Essentially two approaches are followed on this question: 1. It is possible to explain the numbers so that a lower figure is actually attained. The Hebrew word for "thousand" may represent a unit of a tribe, each having its own commander (13:1; see Nu 31:14,48,52,54). In this case the numbers would be read not as a total figure, but as representative commanders. For example, the 6,800 from Judah (v. 24) would be read either as six commanders of 1,000 and eight commanders of 100 (see 13:1), or possibly as six commanders of thousands and 800 men. Reducing the numbers in this fashion fits well with 13:1 and with the list of commanders alone found for Zadok's family (v. 28) and the tribe of Issachar (v. 32). Taking the numbers as straight totals would require the presence of 340,800 persons in Hebron for a feast at the same time. 2. Another approach is to allow the numbers to stand and to view them as hyperbole on the part of the Chronicler to achieve a number "like the army of God" (v. 22). This approach would fit well with the Chronicler's glorification of David and with the banquet scene that follows.

12:38–40 The Chronicler's portrait of David is influenced by his Messianic expectations (see Introduction: Purpose and Themes). In the presence of a third of a million people (see note on vv. 23–37) David's coronation banquet typifies the future Messianic feast (Isa 25:6–8). The imagery of the Messianic banquet became prominent in the intertestamental literature (Apocalypse of Baruch 29:4–8; Enoch 62:14) and in the NT (see Mt 8:11–12 and Lk 13:28–30; Mt 22:1–10 and Lk 14:16–24; see also Mt 25:1–13; Lk 22:28–30; Rev 19:7–9). The Lord's Supper anticipates that coming banquet (Mt 26:29; Mk 14:25; Lk 22:15–18; 1Cor 11:23–26).

13:1–14 See 2Sa 6:1–11 and notes. The author abandons the chronological order as given in 2Sa 5–6 and puts the transfer of the ark first, delaying his account of the palace building and the Philistine campaign until later (ch. 14). This is in accordance with his portrayal of David; David's concern with the ark was expressed immediately upon his accession—his consultation with the leaders appears to be set in the context of the coronation banquet (12:38–40).

13:1–4 These verses are not found in Samuel and reflect the Chronicler's own concerns with "all Israel." The semi-sands and commanders of hundreds. 2He then said to the whole assembly of Israel, "If it seems good to you and if it is the will of the LORD our God, let us send word far and wide to the rest of our brothers throughout the territories of Israel, and also to the priests and Levites who are with them in their towns and pasturelands, to come and join us. 3Let us bring the ark of our God back to us,[r] for we did not inquire[s] of[y] it[z] during the reign of Saul." 4The whole assembly agreed to do this, because it seemed right to all the people.

5So David assembled all the Israelites,[t] from the Shihor River[u] in Egypt to Lebo[a] Hamath,[v] to bring the ark of God from Kiriath Jearim.[w] 6David and all the Israelites with him went to Baalah[x] of Judah (Kiriath Jearim) to bring up from there the ark of God the LORD, who is enthroned between the cherubim[y]—the ark that is called by the Name.

7They moved the ark of God from Abinadab's[z] house on a new cart, with Uzzah and Ahio guiding it. 8David and all the Israelites were celebrating with all their might before God, with songs and with harps, lyres, tambourines, cymbals and trumpets.[a] 9When they came to the threshing floor of Kidon, Uzzah reached out his hand to steady the ark, because the oxen stumbled. 10The LORD's anger[b] burned against Uzzah, and he struck him down[c] because he had put his hand on the ark. So he died there before God.

11Then David was angry because the LORD's wrath had broken out against Uzzah, and to this day that place is called Perez Uzzah.[bd]

12David was afraid of God that day and asked, "How can I ever bring the ark of God to me?" 13He did not take the ark to be with him in the City of David. Instead, he took it aside to the house of Obed-Edom[e] the Gittite. 14The ark of God remained with the family of Obed-Edom in his house for three months, and the LORD blessed his household[f] and everything he had.

military expedition to retrieve the ark in 2Sa 6:1 is here broadened by consultation with and support from the whole assembly of Israel, "throughout the territories" (v. 2), including the priests and Levites—an important point for the Chronicler since only they are allowed to move the ark (15:2,13; 23:25-27; Dt 10:8).

13:3 we did not inquire of it during the reign of Saul. 1Sa 14:18 may be an exception (but see NIV text note there).

13:5-6 The emphasis remains on the united action of "all Israel." Israelites came to participate in this venture all the way from Lebo Hamath in the north and from the Shihor River in the south.

13:5 Shihor. An Egyptian term meaning "the pool of Horus." It appears to be a part of the Nile or one of the major canals of the Nile (see Jos 13:3; Isa 23:3; Jer 2:18 and notes).

13:6 Baalah. The Canaanite name for Kiriath Jearim, also known as Kiriath Baal (Jos 18:14). The Chronicler assumes that his readers are familiar with the account of how the ark came to be at Kiriath Jearim (1Sa 6:1-7:1).

13:7 Uzzah and Ahio. Sons or descendants of Abinadab (2Sa 6:3).

13:10 because he had put his hand on the ark. The ark was to be moved only by Levites, who carried it with poles inserted through rings in the sides of the ark (Ex 25:12-15). None of the holy things was to be touched, on penalty of death (Nu 4:15). These strictures were observed in the second and successful attempt to move the ark to Jerusalem (15:1-15). It cannot be known whether Uzzah and Ahio were Levites—the Samuel account does not mention the presence of Levites, but the Chronicler's careful inclusion of Levites in this expedition suggests that they were present (see note on vv. 1-4). In any case, the ark should not have been moved on a cart (as done by the Philistines, 1Sa 6) or touched.

13:13 Obed-Edom. Perhaps the same man mentioned in 15:18,21,24. In 26:4 God's blessing on Obed-Edom included numerous sons. This reference also establishes that Obed-Edom was a Levite and that the ark was properly left in his care.

14:1-17 The Chronicler backtracks to pick up material from 2Sa 5 deferred to this point (see note on 13:1-14). The three-month period that the ark remained with Obed-Edom (13:14) was filled with incidents showing God's blessing on David: the building of his royal house (vv. 1-2), his large family (vv. 3-7) and his success in warfare (vv. 8-16)—all because of the Lord's blessing (vv. 2,17).

14:1-2 See 2Sa 5:11-12 and notes.

14:1 Hiram. Later provided materials and labor for building the temple (2Ch 2). His mention here implies international recognition of David as king over Israel and a treaty between David and Hiram.

14:3-7 See 3:5-9; 2Sa 5:13-16. David's children born in Hebron are omitted (3:1-4; 2Sa 3:2-5; see note on 11:1-3).

14:7 Beeliada. Eliada (see NIV text note) in 3:8; 2Sa 5:16.

14:8-12 See 2Sa 5:17-21 and notes.

they went up in full force to search for him, but David heard about it and went out to meet them. 9Now the Philistines had come and raided the Valley[l] of Rephaim; 10so David inquired of God: "Shall I go and attack the Philistines? Will you hand them over to me?"

The LORD answered him, "Go, I will hand them over to you."

11So David and his men went up to Baal Perazim,[m] and there he defeated them. He said, "As waters break out, God has broken out against my enemies by my hand." So that place was called Baal Perazim.[d] 12The Philistines had abandoned their gods there, and David gave orders to burn[n] them in the fire.[o]

13Once more the Philistines raided the valley;[p] 14so David inquired of God again, and God answered him, "Do not go straight up, but circle around them and attack them in front of the balsam trees. 15As soon as you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the balsam trees, move out to battle, because that will mean God has gone out in front of you to strike the Philistine army." 16So David did as God commanded him, and they struck down the Philistine army, all the way from Gibeon[q] to Gezer.[r]

17So David's fame[s] spread throughout every land, and the LORD made all the nations fear[t] him.

The Ark Brought to Jerusalem

15:25–16:3pp — 2Sa 6:12–19

15 After David had constructed buildings for himself in the City of David, he prepared[u] a place for the ark of God and pitched[v] a tent for it. 2Then David said, "No one but the Levites[w] may carry[x] the ark of God, because the LORD chose them to carry the ark of the LORD and to minister[y] before him forever."

3David assembled all Israel[z] in Jerusalem to bring up the ark of the LORD to the place he had prepared for it. 4He called together the descendants of Aaron and the Levites:[a]

5From the descendants of Kohath,
Uriel[b] the leader and 120 relatives;

6from the descendants of Merari,
Asaiah the leader and 220 relatives;

7from the descendants of Gershon,[e]
Joel the leader and 130 relatives;

8from the descendants of Elizaphan,[c]
Shemaiah the leader and 200 relatives;

9from the descendants of Hebron,[d]
Eliel the leader and 80 relatives;

10from the descendants of Uzziel,
Amminadab the leader and 112 relatives.

11Then David summoned Zadok[e] and Abiathar[f] the priests, and Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Eliel and Amminadab the Levites. 12He said to them, "You are the heads of the Levitical families; you and your fellow Levites are to consecrate[g] yourselves and bring up the ark of the LORD, the God of Israel, to the place I have prepared for it. 13It was because you, the Levites,[h] did not bring it up the first time that the LORD our God broke out in anger against us.[i] We did not inquire of him about how to do it in the prescribed way.[j]" 14So the priests and Levites consecrated themselves in order to bring up the ark of the LORD, the God of Israel. 15And the Levites carried the ark

14:11 break out . . . Perazim. The Hebrew underlying the name of this place where the Lord broke out against the Philistines is the same as that underlying the word used in 13:11 when the Lord broke out against Uzzah (see NIV text notes).

14:12 gave orders to burn them. 2Sa 5:21 does not mention burning but says that David and his men carried the idols away. Many have seen here an intentional change on the part of the Chronicler in order to bring David's actions into strict conformity with the law, which required that pagan idols be burned (Dt 7:5,25). However, some Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) manuscripts of Samuel agree with Chronicles that David burned the idols. This would indicate that the Chronicler was not innovating for theological reasons but was carefully reproducing the text he had before him, which differed from the Masoretic (traditional Hebrew) text of Samuel.

14:13–16 See 2Sa 5:22–25 and notes.

14:17 the LORD made all the nations fear him. Here and elsewhere the Chronicler uses an expression that refers to an incapacitating terror brought on by the sense that the awful power of God is present in behalf of his people (see Ex 15:16). Thus David is seen by the nations as the very representative of God (similarly Asa, 2Ch 14:14; Jehoshaphat, 2Ch 17:10; 20:29).

15:1–16:3 This account of the successful attempt to move the ark to Jerusalem is greatly expanded over the material in 2 Samuel. Only 15:25–16:3 has a parallel (2Sa 6:12–19); the rest of the material is unique to the Chronicler and reflects his own interests, especially in the Levites and cultic musicians (vv. 3–24; see Introduction: Purpose and Themes). Ps 132 should also be read in connection with this account.

15:1 constructed buildings for himself. See 14:1–2 and note on 13:1–14.

15:2–3 See note on 13:10.

15:4–10 The three clans of Levi are represented (Kohath, Merari and Gershon), as well as three distinct subgroups within Kohath (Elizaphan, Hebron and Uzziel)—862 in all.

15:12 consecrate yourselves. Through ritual washings and avoidance of ceremonial defilement (Ex 29:1–37; 30:19–21; 40:31–32; Lev 8:5–35).

15:13–15 The Chronicler provides the explanation for the failure in the first attempt to move the ark, an explanation not found in the Samuel account (see note on 13:10).

of God with the poles on their shoulders, as Moses had commanded[k] in accordance with the word of the LORD.[l]

16David[m] told the leaders of the Levites[n] to appoint their brothers as singers[o] to sing joyful songs, accompanied by musical instruments: lyres, harps and cymbals.[p]

17So the Levites appointed Heman[q] son of Joel; from his brothers, Asaph[r] son of Berekiah; and from their brothers the Merarites,[s] Ethan son of Kushaiah; 18and with them their brothers next in rank: Zechariah,[t] Jaaziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, Mikneiah, Obed-Edom[u] and Jeiel,[g] the gatekeepers.

19The musicians Heman,[v] Asaph and Ethan were to sound the bronze cymbals; 20Zechariah, Aziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Maaseiah and Benaiah were to play the lyres according to alamoth,[h] 21and Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, Mikneiah, Obed-Edom, Jeiel and Azaziah were to play the harps, directing according to sheminith.[h] 22Kenaniah the head Levite was in charge of the singing; that was his responsibility because he was skillful at it.

23Berekiah and Elkanah were to be doorkeepers for the ark. 24Shebaniah, Joshaphat, Nethanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah and Eliezer the priests were to blow trumpets[w] before the ark of God. Obed-Edom and Jehiah were also to be doorkeepers for the ark.

25So David and the elders of Israel and the commanders of units of a thousand went to bring up the ark[x] of the covenant of the LORD from the house of Obed-Edom, with rejoicing. 26Because God had helped the Levites who were carrying the ark of the covenant of the LORD, seven bulls and seven rams[y] were sacrificed. 27Now David was clothed in a robe of fine linen, as were all the Levites who were carrying the ark, and as were the singers, and Kenaniah, who was in charge of the singing of the choirs. David also wore a linen ephod.[y] 28So all Israel[z] brought up the ark of the covenant of the LORD with shouts,[a] with the sounding of rams' horns[b] and trumpets, and of cymbals, and the playing of lyres and harps.

29As the ark of the covenant of the LORD was entering the City of David, Michal daughter of Saul watched from a window. And when she saw King David dancing and celebrating, she despised him in her heart.

16 They brought the ark of God and set it inside the tent that David had pitched[c] for it, and they presented burnt offerings and fellowship offerings[i] before God. 2After David had finished sacrificing the burnt offerings and fellowship offerings, he blessed[d] the people in the name of the LORD. 3Then he gave a loaf of bread, a cake of dates and a cake of raisins[e] to each Israelite man and woman.

4He appointed some of the Levites to minister[f] before the ark of the LORD, to make petition, to give thanks, and to praise the LORD, the God of Israel: 5Asaph was the chief, Zechariah second, then Jeiel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Mattithiah, Eliab, Benaiah, Obed-Edom and Jeiel. They were to play the lyres and harps, Asaph was to sound the cymbals, 6and Benaiah and Jahaziel the priests were to blow the trumpets regularly before the ark of the covenant of God.

15:24 priests were to blow trumpets. See 16:6; Nu 10:1–10.

15:27 Both 2Sa 6:14 and the Chronicler mention David's wearing a linen ephod, a garment worn by priests (1Sa 2:18; 22:18). The Chronicler adds, however, that David (as well as the rest of the Levites in the procession) was wearing a robe of fine linen, further associating him with the dress of the cultic functionaries. Apparently the Chronicler viewed David as a priest-king, a kind of Messianic figure (see Ps 110; Zec 6:9–15).

15:29 Parallel to 2Sa 6:16, but the Chronicler omits the remainder of this incident recorded there (2Sa 6:20–23). Some interpreters regard this omission as part of the Chronicler's positive view of David, so that a possibly unseemly account is omitted. On the other hand, it is equally plausible that the Chronicler here simply assumes the reader's knowledge of the other account (see notes on 10:13–14; 11:1–3; 12:1; 13:6).

16:1–3 David is further associated with the priests in his supervision of the sacrifices and his exercising the priestly prerogative of blessing the people (Nu 6:22–27; see note on 15:27). The baked goods provided by David were for the sacrificial meal following the fellowship offerings (Lev 3:1–17; 7:11–21,28–36).

16:8–36 Similar to various parts of the book of Psalms (for vv. 8–22 see Ps 105:1–15; for vv. 23–33, Ps 96; for vv. 34–36, Ps 106:1,47–48). This psalm is not found in the Samuel account. The use of the lengthy historical portion from Ps 105 emphasizing the promises to Abraham would be particularly relevant to the Chronicler's postexilic audience, for whom the faithfulness of God was a fresh reality

God's Promise to David

17:1–15pp — 2Sa 7:1–17

17 After David was settled in his palace, he said to Nathan the prophet, "Here I am, living in a palace of cedar, while the ark of the covenant of the LORD is under a tent.[b]"

2Nathan replied to David, "Whatever you have in mind,[c] do it, for God is with you."

3That night the word of God came to Nathan, saying:

4"Go and tell my servant David, 'This is what the LORD says: You[d] are not the one to build me a house to dwell in. 5I have not dwelt in a house from the day I brought Israel up out of Egypt to this day. I have moved from one tent site to another, from one dwelling place to another. 6Wherever I have moved with all the Israelites, did I ever say to any of their leaders[m] whom I commanded to shepherd my people, "Why have you not built me a house of cedar?[e]" '

7"Now then, tell my servant David, 'This is what the LORD Almighty says: I took you from the pasture and from following the flock, to be ruler[f] over my people Israel. 8I have been with you wherever you have gone, and I have cut off all your enemies from before you. Now I will make your name like the names of the greatest men of the earth. 9And I will provide a place for my people Israel and will plant them so that they can have a home of their own and no longer be disturbed. Wicked people will not oppress them anymore, as they did at the beginning 10and have done ever since the time I appointed leaders[g] over my people Israel. I will also subdue all your enemies.

"'I declare to you that the LORD will build a house for you: 11When your days are over and you go to be with your fathers, I will raise up your offspring to succeed you, one of your own sons, and I will establish his kingdom. 12He is the one who will build[h] a house for me, and I will establish his throne forever.[i] 13I will be his father,[j] and he will be my son.[k] I will never take my love away from him, as I took it away from your predecessor. 14I will set him over my house and my kingdom forever; his throne[l] will be established forever.[m]' "

15Nathan reported to David all the words of this entire revelation.

16:42 sounding the trumpets. See Nu 10:1–10.

17:1–27 See 2Sa 7 and notes.

17:1,10 In these verses the Chronicler omits the statement that David had rest from his enemies (2Sa 7:1,11). Several factors may be at work in this omission: 1. The account of David's major wars is yet to come (chs. 18–20). Chronologically, this passage should follow the account of the wars (v. 8), but the author has placed it here to continue his concern with the ark and the building of the temple (vv. 4–6,12). 2. The Chronicler also views David as a man of war through most of his life (22:6–8), in contrast to Solomon, who is the man of "peace and rest" (22:9) and who will build the temple (22:10). For the Chronicler, David has rest from enemies only late in his life (22:18). 3. As part of his concern to parallel David and Solomon to Moses and Joshua, Solomon (like Joshua) brings the people to rest from enemies (see Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon).

17:12–14 Though in this context these words refer to Solomon, the NT applies them to Jesus (Mk 1:11; Lk 1:32–33; Heb 1:5).

17:13 The Chronicler omits from his source (2Sa 7:14) any reference to "punishment with the rod" or "flogging" as discipline for Solomon. This omission reflects his idealization of Solomon as a Messianic figure, for whom such punishment would not be appropriate (see Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon).

17:14 The Chronicler introduces his own concerns by the changes in the pronouns found in his source (2Sa 7:16); instead of "Your house and your kingdom," the Chronicler reads "my house and my kingdom." This same emphasis on theocracy (God's rule) is found in several other passages unique to Chronicles (28:5–6; 29:23; 2Ch 1:11; 9:8; 13:4–8).

17:16 sat. Aside from its parallel in 2Sa 7:18, the only other reference in the OT to sitting as a posture for prayer is 1Ki 19:4.

20"There is no one like you, O LORD, and there is no God but you,[p] as we have heard with our own ears. 21And who is like your people Israel—the one nation on earth whose God went out to redeem[q] a people for himself, and to make a name for yourself, and to perform great and awesome wonders by driving out nations from before your people, whom you redeemed from Egypt? 22You made your people Israel your very own forever,[r] and you, O LORD, have become their God.

23"And now, LORD, let the promise[s] you have made concerning your servant and his house be established forever. And the house of your servant David will be established before you.

David's Victories

18:1–13pp — 2Sa 8:1–14

18 In the course of time, David defeated the Philistines and subdued them, and he took Gath and its surrounding villages from the control of the Philistines.

2David also defeated the Moabites,[u] and they became subject to him and brought tribute.

3Moreover, David fought Hadadezer king of Zobah,[v] as far as Hamath, when he went to establish his control along the Euphrates River.[w] 4David captured a thousand of his chariots, seven thousand charioteers and twenty thousand foot soldiers. He hamstrung[x] all but a hundred of the chariot horses.

5When the Arameans of Damascus[y] came to help Hadadezer king of Zobah, David struck down twenty-two thousand of them. 6He put garrisons in the Aramean kingdom of Damascus, and the Arameans became subject to him and brought tribute. The LORD gave David victory everywhere he went.

7David took the gold shields carried by the officers of Hadadezer and brought them to Jerusalem. 8From Tebah[n] and Cun, towns that belonged to Hadadezer, David took a great quantity of bronze, which Solomon used to make the bronze Sea,[z] the pillars and various bronze articles.

9When Tou king of Hamath heard that David had defeated the entire army of Hadadezer king of Zobah, 10he sent his son Hadoram to King David to greet him and congratulate him on his victory in battle over Hadadezer, who had been at war with Tou. Hadoram brought all kinds of articles of gold and silver and bronze.

17:21–22 The references to the exodus from Egypt would remind the Chronicler's audience of the second great exodus, the release of the restoration community from the period of Babylonian captivity.

18:1–20:8 The accounts of David's wars serve to show the blessing of God on his reign; God keeps his promise to subdue David's enemies (17:10). These accounts are also particularly relevant to a theme developed in the postexilic prophets: that the silver and gold of the nations would flow to Jerusalem; the tribute of enemy peoples builds the temple of God (18:7–8,11; 22:2–5,14–15; cf. Hag 2:1–9,20–23; Zec 2:7–13; 6:9–15; 14:12–14). While this passage of Chronicles portrays God's blessing on David, it simultaneously explains the Chronicler's report later (22:6–8; 28:3) that David could not build the temple because he was a man of war. The material in these chapters essentially follows the Chronicler's source in 2 Samuel. The major differences are not changes the Chronicler introduces into the text, but items he chooses not to deal with—in particular 2Sa 9; 11:2–12:25, where accounts not compatible with his portrait of David occur.

18:1–13 See 2Sa 8:1–14 and notes.

18:2 The Chronicler omits the harsh treatment of the Moabites recorded in 2Sa 8:2, perhaps so that no unnecessary cruelty or brutality would tarnish his portrait of David.

18:5 Arameans. Mentioned also among the enemies of Saul (1Sa 14:47, "Zobah"). By the time of David they were united north (Zobah) and south (Beth Rehob, 2Sa 10:6) under Hadadezer. They persisted as a foe of Israel for two centuries until they fell to Assyria shortly before the northern kingdom likewise fell (2Ki 16:7–9).

18:8 Tebah and Cun. Located in the valley between the Lebanon and Anti-Lebanon mountain ranges. which Solomon used to make ... various bronze articles. See 2Ch 4:2–5,18.

[11]King David dedicated these articles to the LORD, as he had done with the silver and gold he had taken from all these nations: Edom[a] and Moab, the Ammonites and the Philistines, and Amalek.[b]
[12]Abishai son of Zeruiah struck down eighteen thousand Edomites[c] in the Valley of Salt. [13]He put garrisons in Edom, and all the Edomites became subject to David. The LORD gave David victory everywhere he went.

David's Officials

18:14–17pp — 2Sa 8:15–18

[14]David reigned[d] over all Israel,[e] doing what was just and right for all his people. [15]Joab[f] son of Zeruiah was over the army; Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud was recorder; [16]Zadok[g] son of Ahitub and Ahimelech[o][h] son of Abiathar were priests; Shavsha was secretary; [17]Benaiah son of Jehoiada was over the Kerethites and Pelethites;[i] and David's sons were chief officials at the king's side.

The Battle Against the Ammonites

19:1–19pp — 2Sa 10:1–19

19 In the course of time, Nahash king of the Ammonites[j] died, and his son succeeded him as king. [2]David thought, "I will show kindness to Hanun son of Nahash, because his father showed kindness to me." So David sent a delegation to express his sympathy to Hanun concerning his father.
When David's men came to Hanun in the land of the Ammonites to express sympathy to him, [3]the Ammonite nobles said to Hanun, "Do you think David is honoring your father by sending men to you to express sympathy? Haven't his men come to you to explore and spy out[k] the country and overthrow it?" [4]So Hanun seized David's men, shaved them, cut off their garments in the middle at the buttocks, and sent them away.
[5]When someone came and told David about the men, he sent messengers to meet them, for they were greatly humiliated. The king said, "Stay at Jericho till your beards have grown, and then come back."
[6]When the Ammonites realized that they had become a stench[l] in David's nostrils, Hanun and the Ammonites sent a thousand talents[p] of silver to hire chariots and charioteers from Aram Naharaim,[q] Aram Maacah and Zobah.[m] [7]They hired thirty-two thousand chariots and charioteers, as well as the king of Maacah with his troops, who came and camped near Medeba,[n] while the Ammonites were mustered from their towns and moved out for battle.
[8]On hearing this, David sent Joab out with the entire army of fighting men. [9]The Ammonites came out and drew up in battle formation at the entrance to their city, while the kings who had come were by themselves in the open country.
[10]Joab saw that there were battle lines in front of him and behind him; so he selected some of the best troops in Israel and deployed them against the Arameans. [11]He put the rest of the men under the command of Abishai[o] his brother, and they were deployed against the Ammonites. [12]Joab said, "If the Arameans are too strong for me, then you are to

18:12 Abishai. 2Sa 8:13 speaks only of David (see 1Ki 11:15–16; Ps 60 title).
18:15–17 The titles and duties of these officers at David's court appear to be modeled on the organization of Egyptian functionaries serving Pharaoh.
18:15 For the account of how Joab attained his position over the army see 11:4–6; 2Sa 5:6–8.
18:16 Zadok . . . Ahimelech son of Abiathar. See notes on 6:8; 16:39; 2Sa 8:17.
18:17 Kerethites and Pelethites. Apparently a group of foreign mercenaries who constituted part of the royal bodyguard (2Sa 8:18; 20:23; see note on 1Sa 30:14). They remained loyal to David at the time of the rebellions of Absalom (2Sa 15:18) and Sheba (2Sa 20:7) and supported the succession of Solomon against his rival Adonijah (1Ki 1:38,44). chief officials. The earlier narrative at this point uses the Hebrew term ordinarily translated "priests" (see note on 2Sa 8:18). The Chronicler has used a term for civil service instead of sacral service. Two approaches to this passage are ordinarily followed: 1. Some scholars see here an attempt by the Chronicler to keep the priesthood restricted to the Levitical line as part of his larger concern with legitimacy of cultic institutions in his own day. 2. Others argue that the Hebrew term used in 2Sa 8:18 could earlier have had a broader meaning than "priest" and could be used of some other types of officials (cf. 2Sa 20:26; 1Ki 4:5). The Chronicler used an equivalent term, since by his day the Hebrew term for "priest" was restricted to cultic functionaries. The Septuagint, Targum, Old Latin and Josephus all translate the term in Samuel by some word other than "priest."
19:1–20:3 The Chronicler follows 2Sa 10–12 closely (see notes there), apart from his omission of the account of David's sin with Bathsheba (11:2–12:25). The Ammonites were a traditional enemy of Israel (2Ch 20:1–2,23; 27:5; Jdg 3:13; 10:7–9; 10:17–11:33; 1Sa 11:1–13; 14:47; 2Ki 10:32–33; Jer 49:1–6; Zep 2:8–11). Even during the postexilic period Tobiah the Ammonite troubled Jerusalem (Ne 2:19; 4:3,7; 6:1,12,14; 13:4–9).
19:1 Nahash. Possibly the same as Saul's foe (1Sa 11:1), or perhaps his descendant.
19:6 Aram Naharaim, Aram Maacah and Zobah. 2Sa 10:6 also mentions Beth Rehob and Tob. All these states were north and northeast of Israel and formed a solid block from the region of Lake Huleh through the Anti-Lebanons to beyond the Euphrates.
19:7 Medeba. A town in Moab apparently in the hands of Ammon.
19:9 their city. The capital city, Rabbah, to which Joab would lay siege the following year (20:1–3).

rescue me; but if the Ammonites are too strong for you, then I will rescue you. 13Be strong and let us fight bravely for our people and the cities of our God. The LORD will do what is good in his sight."

14Then Joab and the troops with him advanced to fight the Arameans, and they fled before him. 15When the Ammonites saw that the Arameans were fleeing, they too fled before his brother Abishai and went inside the city. So Joab went back to Jerusalem.

16After the Arameans saw that they had been routed by Israel, they sent messengers and had Arameans brought from beyond the River,[r] with Shophach the commander of Hadadezer's army leading them.

17When David was told of this, he gathered all Israel[p] and crossed the Jordan; he advanced against them and formed his battle lines opposite them. David formed his lines to meet the Arameans in battle, and they fought against him. 18But they fled before Israel, and David killed seven thousand of their charioteers and forty thousand of their foot soldiers. He also killed Shophach the commander of their army.

19When the vassals of Hadadezer saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they made peace with David and became subject to him.

So the Arameans were not willing to help the Ammonites anymore.

The Capture of Rabbah

20:1–3pp — 2Sa 11:1; 12:29–31

20 In the spring, at the time when kings go off to war, Joab led out the armed forces. He laid waste the land of the Ammonites and went to Rabbah[q] and besieged it, but David remained in Jerusalem. Joab attacked Rabbah and left it in ruins.[r] 2David took the crown from the head of their king[s]—its weight was found to be a talent[t] of gold, and it was set with precious stones—and it was placed on David's head. He took a great quantity of plunder from the city 3and brought out the people who were there, consigning them to labor with saws and with iron picks and axes.[s] David did this to all the Ammonite towns. Then David and his entire army returned to Jerusalem.

War With the Philistines

2:4–8pp — 2Sa 21:15–22

4In the course of time, war broke out with the Philistines, at Gezer.[t] At that time Sibbecai the Hushathite killed Sippai, one of the descendants of the Rephaites,[u] and the Philistines were subjugated.

5In another battle with the Philistines, Elhanan son of Jair killed Lahmi the brother of Goliath the Gittite, who had a spear with a shaft like a weaver's rod.[v]

6In still another battle, which took place at Gath, there was a huge man with six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot—twenty-four in all. He also was descended from Rapha. 7When he taunted Israel, Jonathan son of Shimea, David's brother, killed him.

8These were descendants of Rapha in Gath, and they fell at the hands of David and his men.

David Numbers the Fighting Men

21:1–26pp — 2Sa 24:1–25

21 Satan[w] rose up against Israel and incited David to take a census[x] of Israel. 2So David said to Joab and the commanders of the troops, "Go and count[y] the Israelites from Beersheba to Dan. Then report back to me so that I may know how many there are."

3But Joab replied, "May the LORD multiply his troops a hundred times over.[z] My lord the king, are they not all my lord's subjects? Why does my lord want to do this? Why should he bring guilt on Israel?"

[r] 16 That is, the Euphrates [s] 2 Or of Milcom, that is, Molech [t] 2 That is, about 75 pounds (about 34 kilograms)

19:18 seven thousand. 2Sa 10:18 has 700, which is evidently a copyist's mistake.

20:1 when kings go off to war. Immediately following the spring harvest when there was some relaxation of agricultural labors and armies on the move could live off the land. Rabbah. See note on 19:9. Rabbah is the site of modern Amman, Jordan.

20:2–3 The Chronicler assumes that the reader is familiar with 2Sa 12:26–29; he does not offer an explanation of how David, who had remained in Jerusalem (v. 1), came to be at Rabbah.

20:4 Sibbecai. See 11:29; 27:11. Rephaites. Ancient people known for their large size (see Ge 14:5; Dt 2:11; see also note on 2Sa 21:16).

20:5 See note on 2Sa 21:19. weaver's rod. See 11:23; 1Sa 17:7.

20:6 Rapha. See note on 2Sa 21:16.

21:1–22:1 See 2Sa 24 and notes. Although the story of David's census is quite similar in both narratives, the two accounts function differently. In Samuel the account belongs to the appendix (2Sa 21–24), which begins and ends with accounts of the Lord's anger against Israel during the reign of David because of actions by her kings (in ch. 21, an act of Saul; in ch. 24, an act of David). See note on 2Sa 21:1–24:25. The Chronicler appears to include it in order to account for the purchase of the ground on which the temple would be built. The additional material in Chronicles that is not found in Samuel (21:28–22:1) makes this interest clear. The census is the preface to David's preparations for the temple (chs. 22–29).

21:1 See note on 2Sa 24:1. Satan. See NIV text notes on Job 1:6; Zec 3:1.

4The king's word, however, overruled Joab; so Joab left and went throughout Israel and then came back to Jerusalem. 5Joab reported the number of the fighting men to David: In all Israel[a] there were one million one hundred thousand men who could handle a sword, including four hundred and seventy thousand in Judah.

6But Joab did not include Levi and Benjamin in the numbering, because the king's command was repulsive to him. 7This command was also evil in the sight of God; so he punished Israel.

8Then David said to God, "I have sinned greatly by doing this. Now, I beg you, take away the guilt of your servant. I have done a very foolish thing."

9The LORD said to Gad,[b] David's seer,[c] 10"Go and tell David, 'This is what the LORD says: I am giving you three options. Choose one of them for me to carry out against you.' "

11So Gad went to David and said to him, "This is what the LORD says: 'Take your choice: 12three years of famine,[d] three months of being swept away[u] before your enemies, with their swords overtaking you, or three days of the sword[e] of the LORD[f]—days of plague in the land, with the angel of the LORD ravaging every part of Israel.' Now then, decide how I should answer the one who sent me."

13David said to Gad, "I am in deep distress. Let me fall into the hands of the LORD, for his mercy[g] is very great; but do not let me fall into the hands of men."

14So the LORD sent a plague on Israel, and seventy thousand men of Israel fell dead.[h] 15And God sent an angel[i] to destroy Jerusalem.[j] But as the angel was doing so, the LORD saw it and was grieved[k] because of the calamity and said to the angel who was destroying[l] the people, "Enough! Withdraw your hand." The angel of the LORD was then standing at the threshing floor of Araunah[v] the Jebusite.

16David looked up and saw the angel of the LORD standing between heaven and earth, with a drawn sword in his hand extended over Jerusalem. Then David and the elders, clothed in sackcloth, fell facedown.[m]

17David said to God, "Was it not I who ordered the fighting men to be counted? I am the one who has sinned and done wrong. These are but sheep.[n] What have they done? O LORD my God, let your hand fall upon me and my family,[o] but do not let this plague remain on your people."

18Then the angel of the LORD ordered Gad to tell David to go up and build an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor[p] of Araunah the Jebusite. 19So David went up in obedience to the word that Gad had spoken in the name of the LORD.

20While Araunah was threshing wheat,[q] he turned and saw the angel; his four sons who were with him hid themselves. 21Then David approached, and when Araunah looked and saw him, he left the threshing floor and bowed down before David with his face to the ground.

22David said to him, "Let me have the site of your threshing floor so I can build an altar to the LORD, that the plague on the people may be stopped. Sell it to me at the full price."

23Araunah said to David, "Take it! Let my lord the king do whatever pleases him. Look, I will give the oxen for the 21:4 The Chronicler abridges the more extensive account of Joab's itinerary found in 2Sa 24:4–8; he does not mention that the census required nine months and 20 days (2Sa 24:8).

21:5 In all Israel ... one million one hundred thousand men ... including four hundred and seventy thousand in Judah. 2Sa 24:9 has 800,000 in Israel and 500,000 (which could be a round number for 470,000) in Judah. The reason for the difference is unclear. Perhaps it is to be related to the unofficial and incomplete nature of the census (see 27:23–24), with the differing figures representing the inclusion or exclusion of certain unspecified groupings among the people (see v. 6). Or perhaps it is simply due to a copyist's mistake. The NIV relieves the problem somewhat by translating the conjunction here as "including" instead of "and."

21:6 The Chronicler adds the note that Joab exempted Levi and Benjamin from the counting. This additional note reflects the Chronicler's concern with the Levites and with the worship of Israel. The tabernacle in Gibeon and the ark in Jerusalem both fell within the borders of Benjamin.

21:9 Gad. A longtime friend of David, having been with him when he was a fugitive from Saul (1Sa 22:3–5; cf. 1Ch 29:29; 2Ch 29:25).

21:12 three years of famine. See NIV text note on 2Sa 24:13.

21:16 The verse has no parallel in the traditional Hebrew text of 2Sa 24, so some scholars regard it as an addition by the Chronicler reflecting the more developed doctrine of angels in the postexilic period. However, a fragmentary Hebrew text of Samuel from the third century B.C., discovered at Qumran, contains the verse. It now appears that the Chronicler was carefully copying the Samuel text at his disposal, which differed in some respects from the Masoretic (traditional Hebrew) text. Josephus, who appears to be following the text of Samuel, also reported this information. Presumably, he too used a text of Samuel similar to that followed by the Chronicler.

21:20–21 The Chronicler reports that Araunah was threshing wheat as the king approached—information not found in 2Sa 24:20. However, Josephus and the fragmentary text of Samuel from Qumran both mention this information (see note on v. 16).

burnt offerings, the threshing sledges for the wood, and the wheat for the grain offering. I will give all this."

24But King David replied to Araunah, "No, I insist on paying the full price. I will not take for the LORD what is yours, or sacrifice a burnt offering that costs me nothing."

25So David paid Araunah six hundred shekels[w] of gold for the site. 26David built an altar to the LORD there and sacrificed burnt offerings and fellowship offerings.[x] He called on the LORD, and the LORD answered him with fire[r] from heaven on the altar of burnt offering.

27Then the LORD spoke to the angel, and he put his sword back into its sheath. 28At that time, when David saw that the LORD had answered him on the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite, he offered sacrifices there. 29The tabernacle of the LORD, which Moses had made in the desert, and the altar of burnt offering were at that time on the high place at Gibeon.[s] 30But David could not go before it to inquire of God, because he was afraid of the sword of the angel of the LORD.

22 Then David said, "The house of the LORD God[t] is to be here, and also the altar of burnt offering for Israel."

Preparations for the Temple

2So David gave orders to assemble the aliens[u] living in Israel, and from among them he appointed stonecutters[v] to prepare dressed stone for building the house of God. 3He provided a large amount of iron to make nails for the doors of the gateways and for the fittings, and more bronze than could be weighed.[w] 4He also provided more cedar logs[x] than could be counted, for the Sidonians and Tyrians had brought large numbers of them to David.

5David said, "My son Solomon is young[y] and inexperienced, and the house to be built for the LORD should be of great magnificence and fame and splendor[z] in the sight of all the nations. Therefore I will make preparations for it." So David made extensive preparations before his death.

6Then he called for his son Solomon and charged him to build[a] a house for the LORD, the God of Israel. 7David said to Solomon: "My son, I had it in my heart[b] to build[c] a house for the Name[d] of the LORD my God. 8But this word of the LORD came to me: 'You have shed much blood and have fought many wars.[e] You are not to build a house for my Name,[f] because you have shed much blood on the earth in my sight. 9But you will have a son who will be a man of peace[g] and rest,[h] and I will give him rest from all his enemies on every side. His name will be Solomon,[yi] and I will grant Israel peace and quiet[j] during his reign. 10He is the one who will build a house for my Name.[k] He will be my son,[l] and I will be his father. And I will establish[m] the throne of his kingdom over Israel forever.'[n]

11"Now, my son, the LORD be with[o] you, and may you have success and build the house of the LORD your God, as

[w] 25 That is, about 15 pounds (about 7 kilograms)
[x] 26 Traditionally peace offerings [y] 9 Solomon sounds like and may be derived from the Hebrew for peace.

21:25 six hundred shekels of gold. 2Sa 24:24 says 50 shekels of silver were paid for the threshing floor and oxen. The difference has been explained by some as the Chronicler's attempt to glorify David and the temple by inflating the price. However, the difference is more likely explained by the Chronicler's statement that this was the price for the "site," i.e., for a much larger area than the threshing floor alone.

21:26 fire from heaven. Underscores the divine approval and the sanctity of the site (see 2Ch 7:1; Lev 9:24; 1Ki 18:37–38).

21:28–22:1 This material is not found in 2Sa 24. It reflects the Chronicler's main concern in reporting this narrative (see note on 21:1–22:1).

21:30 it. The tabernacle.

22:1–29:30 This material is unique to Chronicles and displays some of the Chronicler's most characteristic interests: the preparations for the building of the temple, the legitimacy of the priests and Levites, and the royal succession. The chapters portray a theocratic "Messianic" kingdom as it existed under David and Solomon.

22:1 David dedicates this property (21:18–30) as the site for the temple (see vv. 2–6). See note on Ps 30 title.

22:2–19 Solomon's appointment to succeed David was twofold: (1) a private audience, with David and some leaders in attendance (vv. 17–19), and (2) a public announcement to the people (ch. 28), similar to when Joshua succeeded Moses (see Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon).

22:2 aliens . . . stonecutters. 2Sa 20:24 confirms the use of forced labor by David, but does not specify that these laborers were aliens, not Israelites. Solomon used Israelites in conscripted labor (1Ki 5:13–18; 9:15–23; 11:28), but the Chronicler mentions only his use of aliens (2Ch 8:7–10). Though they were personally free, aliens were without political rights and could be easily exploited. The OT frequently warns that they were not to be oppressed (Ex 22:21; 23:9; Lev 19:33; Dt 24:14; Jer 7:6; Zec 7:10). Isaiah prophesies the participation of foreigners in the building of Jerusalem's walls in the future (Isa 60:10–12).

22:3 bronze. See note on 18:8.

22:5 young. Solomon's age at the time of his accession is not known with certainty. He came to the throne in 970 B.C. and was likely born c. 991.

22:8–9 See note on 17:1. In 1Ki 5:3 Solomon explains that David could not build the temple because he was too busy with wars. The Chronicler's nuance is slightly different—not just that wars took so much of his time, but that David was in some sense defiled by them because of the bloodshed. A pun on Solomon's name is woven into the divine oracle (see NIV text note on v. 9).

22:10 See note on 17:12–14.

he said you would. 12May the LORD give you discretion and understanding[p] when he puts you in command over Israel, so that you may keep the law of the LORD your God. 13Then you will have success[q] if you are careful to observe the decrees and laws[r] that the LORD gave Moses for Israel. Be strong and courageous.[s] Do not be afraid or discouraged.

14"I have taken great pains to provide for the temple of the LORD a hundred thousand talents[z] of gold, a million talents[a] of silver, quantities of bronze and iron too great to be weighed, and wood and stone. And you may add to them.[t] 15You have many workmen: stonecutters, masons and carpenters,[u] as well as men skilled in every kind of work 16in gold and silver, bronze and iron—craftsmen[v] beyond number. Now begin the work, and the LORD be with you."

17Then David ordered[w] all the leaders of Israel to help his son Solomon. 18He said to them, "Is not the LORD your God with you? And has he not granted you rest[x] on every side?[y] For he has handed the inhabitants of the land over to me, and the land is subject to the LORD and to his people. 19Now devote your heart and soul to seeking the LORD your God.[z] Begin to build the sanctuary of the LORD God, so that you may bring the ark of the covenant of the LORD and the sacred articles belonging to God into the temple that will be built for the Name of the LORD."

The Levites

23 When David was old and full of years, he made his son Solomon[a] king over Israel.[b]

2He also gathered together all the leaders of Israel, as well as the priests and Levites. 3The Levites thirty years old or more[c] were counted,[d] and the total number of men was thirty-eight thousand.[e] 4David said, "Of these, twenty-four thousand are to supervise[f] the work[g] of the temple of the LORD and six thousand are to be officials and judges.[h] 5Four thousand are to be gatekeepers and four thousand are to praise the LORD with the musical instruments[i] I have provided for that purpose."[j]

6David divided[k] the Levites into groups corresponding to the sons of Levi:[l] Gershon, Kohath and Merari.

Gershonites

7Belonging to the Gershonites:[m]
Ladan and Shimei.
8The sons of Ladan:
Jehiel the first, Zetham and Joel—three in all.
9The sons of Shimei:
Shelomoth, Haziel and Haran—three in all.
These were the heads of the families of Ladan.
10And the sons of Shimei:
Jahath, Ziza,[b] Jeush and Beriah.
These were the sons of Shimei—four in all.
11Jahath was the first and Ziza the second, but Jeush and Beriah did not have many sons; so they were counted as one family with one assignment.

Kohathites

12The sons of Kohath:[n]
Amram, Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel—four in all.
13The sons of Amram:[o]
Aaron and Moses.
Aaron was set apart,[p] he and his descendants forever, to consecrate the most holy things, to offer sacrifices before the LORD, to minister[q] before him and to pronounce blessings[r] in his name forever. 14The sons of Moses the man[s] of God were counted as part of the tribe of Levi.
15The sons of Moses:

22:12–13 See Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon.

22:19 See 2Ch 5:7.

23:1–27:34 David's preparations for the temple were not restricted to amassing materials for the building; he also arranged for its administration and worship. Unique to Chronicles (see note on 22:1–29:30), these details of the organization of the theocracy (God's kingdom) were of vital concern in the Chronicler's own day. Characteristically for the Chronicler, details about religious and cultic matters (chs. 23–26) take precedence over those that are civil and secular (ch. 27). David's arrangements provided the basis and authority for the practices of the restored community.

23:1 made his son Solomon king. The account of Solomon's succession is resumed in chs. 28–29. The Chronicler omits the accounts of disputed succession and bloody consolidation recorded in 1Ki 1–2 (see note on 28:1–29:30) since these would not be in accord with his overall portrait of David and Solomon (see Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon).

23:2–5 The Levites were not counted in the census that had provoked the wrath of God (21:6–7).

23:3 Levites thirty years old or more. The census of Levites was made first in accordance with the Mosaic prescription (Nu 4:1–3). Apparently soon after this count, David instructed that the age be lowered to 20 years (vv. 24,27); a similar adjustment to age 25 had been made under Moses (Nu 8:23–24, but see note on Nu 8:24).

23:6 Gershon, Kohath and Merari. The Levites were organized by their three clans (ch. 6; Ex 6:16–19; Nu 3). This list parallels those in 6:16–30; 24:20–30.

Gershom and Eliezer.[t]
16The descendants of Gershom:[u]
Shubael was the first.
17The descendants of Eliezer:
Rehabiah[v] was the first.
Eliezer had no other sons, but the sons of Rehabiah were very numerous.
18The sons of Izhar:
Shelomith[w] was the first.
19The sons of Hebron:[x]
Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third and Jekameam the fourth.
20The sons of Uzziel:
Micah the first and Isshiah the second.

Merarites

21The sons of Merari:[y]
Mahli and Mushi.[z]
The sons of Mahli:
Eleazar and Kish.
22Eleazar died without having sons: he had only daughters. Their cousins, the sons of Kish, married them.[a] 23The sons of Mushi:
Mahli, Eder and Jerimoth—three in all.

24These were the descendants of Levi by their families—the heads of families as they were registered under their names and counted individually, that is, the workers twenty years old or more[b] who served in the temple of the LORD. 25For David had said, "Since the LORD, the God of Israel, has granted rest[c] to his people and has come to dwell in Jerusalem forever, 26the Levites no longer need to carry the tabernacle or any of the articles used in its service."[d] 27According to the last instructions of David, the Levites were counted from those twenty years old or more.

28The duty of the Levites was to help Aaron's descendants in the service of the temple of the LORD: to be in charge of the courtyards, the side rooms, the purification[e] of all sacred things and the performance of other duties at the house of God. 29They were in charge of the bread set out on the table,[f] the flour for the grain offerings,[g] the unleavened wafers, the baking and the mixing, and all measurements of quantity and size.[h] 30They were also to stand every morning to thank and praise the LORD. They were to do the same in the evening[i] 31and whenever burnt offerings were presented to the LORD on Sabbaths and at New Moon[j] festivals and at appointed feasts.[k] They were to serve before the LORD regularly in the proper number and in the way prescribed for them.

32And so the Levites[l] carried out their responsibilities for the Tent of Meeting,[m] for the Holy Place and, under their brothers the descendants of Aaron, for the service of the temple of the LORD.[n]

The Divisions of Priests

24 These were the divisions[o] of the sons of Aaron:[p]

The sons of Aaron were Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.[q] 2But Nadab and Abihu died before their father did,[r] and they had no sons; so Eleazar and Ithamar served as the priests. 3With the help of Zadok[s] a descendant of Eleazar and Ahimelech a descendant of Ithamar, David separated them into divisions for their appointed order of ministering. 4A larger number of leaders were found among Eleazar's descendants than among Ithamar's, and they were divided accordingly: sixteen heads of families from Eleazar's descendants and eight heads of families from Ithamar's descendants. 5They divided them impartially by drawing lots,[t] for there were officials of the sanctuary and officials of God among the descendants of both Eleazar and Ithamar.

6The scribe Shemaiah son of Nethanel, a Levite, recorded their names in the presence of the king and of the officials: Zadok the priest, Ahimelech[u] son of Abiathar and the heads of families of the priests and of the Levites—one family being taken from Eleazar and then one from Ithamar.

7The first lot fell to Jehoiarib, the second to Jedaiah,[v]

23:24,27 twenty years old or more. See note on v. 3.
23:28–32 See note on 9:28–34. The function of the Levites was to assist the priests. In addition to the care of the precincts and implements, baked goods and music (mentioned as Levitical duties in 9:22–34), the Chronicler adds details on the role of the Levites assisting in sacrifices.
23:30 morning . . . evening. See Ex 29:38–41; Nu 28:3–8.
24:1–19 There are several lists of priests from the post-exilic period (see 6:3–15; 9:10–13; Ezr 2:36–39; Ne 10:1–8; 11:10–12; 12:1–7,12–21).
24:2 Nadab and Abihu died. The Chronicler alludes to the events recorded in Lev 10:1–3 (see note on 6:1–3).
24:3 Zadok . . . Ahimelech. Zadok and Abiathar had served as David's high priests. Here, late in David's life, Abiathar's son Ahimelech appears to have taken over some of his father's duties (see note on 6:8), but see note on 2Sa 8:17.
24:4 sixteen . . . eight. A total of 24 divisions was selected by lot. This would allow for service either in monthly shifts, as was done by priests in Egyptian mortuary temples, or for two-week shifts once each year as found in NT times. The names of the first, second, fourth, ninth and 24th divisions have been found in a Dead Sea scroll from the fourth cave at Qumran (see "The Time between the Testaments," p. 1424).
24:7 Jehoiarib. Mattathias, father of the Maccabees, was [8]the third to Harim,[w]

the fourth to Seorim, [9]the fifth to Malkijah,
the sixth to Mijamin,
[10]the seventh to Hakkoz,
the eighth to Abijah,[x]
[11]the ninth to Jeshua,
the tenth to Shecaniah, [12]the eleventh to Eliashib,
the twelfth to Jakim, [13]the thirteenth to Huppah,
the fourteenth to Jeshebeab, [14]the fifteenth to Bilgah,
the sixteenth to Immer,[y]
[15]the seventeenth to Hezir,[z]
the eighteenth to Happizzez, [16]the nineteenth to Pethahiah,
the twentieth to Jehezkel, [17]the twenty-first to Jakin,
the twenty-second to Gamul,
[18]the twenty-third to Delaiah and the twenty-fourth to Maaziah.

[19]This was their appointed order of ministering when they entered the temple of the LORD, according to the regulations prescribed for them by their forefather Aaron, as the LORD, the God of Israel, had commanded him.

The Rest of the Levites

[20]As for the rest of the descendants of Levi:[a] from the sons of Amram: Shubael;
from the sons of Shubael: Jehdeiah.
[21]As for Rehabiah,[b] from his sons:
Isshiah was the first.
[22]From the Izharites: Shelomoth; from the sons of Shelomoth: Jahath.
[23]The sons of Hebron:[c] Jeriah the first,[c] Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third and Jekameam the fourth.
[24]The son of Uzziel: Micah; from the sons of Micah: Shamir.
[25]The brother of Micah: Isshiah; from the sons of Isshiah: Zechariah.
[26]The sons of Merari:[d] Mahli and Mushi.
The son of Jaaziah: Beno.
[27]The sons of Merari:
from Jaaziah: Beno, Shoham, Zaccur and Ibri.
[28]From Mahli: Eleazar, who had no sons.
[29]From Kish: the son of Kish:
Jerahmeel.
[30]And the sons of Mushi: Mahli, Eder and Jerimoth.

These were the Levites, according to their families. [31]They also cast lots,[e] just as their brothers the descendants of Aaron did, in the presence of King David and of Zadok, Ahimelech, and the heads of families of the priests and of the Levites. The families of the oldest brother were treated the same as those of the youngest.

The Singers

25 David, together with the commanders of the army, set apart some of the sons of Asaph,[f] Heman[g] and Jeduthun[h] for the ministry of prophesying,[i] accompanied by harps, lyres and cymbals.[j] Here is the list of the men[k] who performed this service:[l]

[2]From the sons of Asaph:
Zaccur, Joseph, Nethaniah and Asarelah. The sons of Asaph were under the supervision of Asaph, who prophesied under the king's supervision.
[3]As for Jeduthun, from his sons:[m]
Gedaliah, Zeri, Jeshaiah, Shimei,[d] Hashabiah and Mattithiah, six in all, under the supervision of their father Jeduthun, who prophesied, using the harp[n] in thanking and praising the LORD.
[4]As for Heman, from his sons:
Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shubael and Jerimoth; Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti and Romamti-Ezer; Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir and Mahazioth. [5]All these were sons of Heman the king's seer. They a member of the Jehoiarib division (in the Apocrypha see 1 Maccabees 2:1).

24:10 Abijah. The father of John the Baptist "belonged to the priestly division of Abijah" (Lk 1:5).

24:15 Hezir. The division from the family of Hezir was prominent in intertestamental times; the name appears on one of the large tombs in the Kidron Valley, east of Jerusalem.

24:20–31 This list supplements 23:7–23 by extending some of the lines mentioned there.

25:1 commanders of the army. David often sought the counsel of military leaders (11:10; 12:32; 28:1), even in cultic affairs (13:1; 15:25). Asaph, Heman and Jeduthun. See note on 6:31–48. ministry of prophesying. There are several passages in Chronicles, largely in portions unique to these books, where cultic personnel are designated prophets (here; 2Ch 20:14–17; 29:30; 35:15; cf. 2Ki 23:2; 2Ch 34:30). Zechariah the priest also appears to function as a prophet, though he is not so named (2Ch 24:19–22). This may reflect postexilic interest in the prophet-priest-king figure of Messianic expectation: In Chronicles not only do priests prophesy, but kings also function as priests (see notes on 15:27; 16:1–3). David's organizing of the temple musicians may reflect his overall interest in music (1Sa 16:23; 18:10; 19:9; 2Sa 1:17–27; 6:5,14).

25:5 fourteen sons and three daughters. Numerous were given him through the promises of God to exalt him.[e] God gave Heman fourteen sons and three daughters.

[6]All these men were under the supervision of their fathers[o] for the music of the temple of the LORD, with cymbals, lyres and harps, for the ministry at the house of God. Asaph, Jeduthun and Heman[p] were under the supervision of the king.[q] [7]Along with their relatives—all of them trained and skilled in music for the LORD—they numbered 288. The Gatekeepers

26 The divisions of the gatekeepers:[u]

From the Korahites: Meshelemiah son of Kore, one of the sons of Asaph.
[2]Meshelemiah had sons:
Zechariah[v] the firstborn,
Jediael the second,
Zebadiah the third,
Jathniel the fourth,
[3]Elam the fifth,
Jehohanan the sixth and Eliehoenai the seventh.
[4]Obed-Edom also had sons:
Shemaiah the firstborn,
Jehozabad the second,
Joah the third,
Sacar the fourth,
Nethanel the fifth,
[5]Ammiel the sixth,
Issachar the seventh and Peullethai the eighth.
(For God had blessed Obed-Edom.[w])

[6]His son Shemaiah also had sons, who were leaders in their father's family because they were very capable men. [7]The sons of Shemaiah: Othni, Rephael, Obed and Elzabad; his relatives Elihu and Semakiah were also able men. [8]All these were descendants of Obed-Edom; they and their sons and their relatives were capable men with the strength to do the work—descendants of Obed-Edom, 62 in all.

progeny are a sign of divine blessing (see Job 1:2; 42:13). This is specifically stated for Heman as the result of the promises of God to exalt him. See 3:1–9; 14:2–7; 26:4–5; 2Ch 11:18–21; 13:21; 21:2; 24:3.

26:1–19 The most extensive of the Chronicler's lists of gatekeepers (see 9:17–27; 16:37–38). A list of gatekeepers in the postexilic period is found in Ezr 2:42 (Ne 7:45).

26:1 Asaph. This name appears to be an abbreviation of Ebiasaph (6:23; 9:19); he should not be confused with the temple musician (25:1–2,6).

26:4–5 Numerous sons are again a sign of divine blessing (see note on 25:5).

26:4 Obed-Edom. Had cared for the ark when it was left at his house (see note on 13:13).

[9]Meshelemiah had sons and relatives, who were able men—18 in all.

[10]Hosah the Merarite had sons: Shimri the first (although he was not the firstborn, his father had appointed him the first),[x] [11]Hilkiah the second, Tabaliah the third and Zechariah the fourth. The sons and relatives of Hosah were 13 in all.

[12]These divisions of the gatekeepers, through their chief men, had duties for ministering[y] in the temple of the LORD, just as their relatives had. [13]Lots[z] were cast for each gate, according to their families, young and old alike.

[14]The lot for the East Gate[a] fell to Shelemiah.[k] Then lots were cast for his son Zechariah,[b] a wise counselor, and the lot for the North Gate fell to him. [15]The lot for the South Gate fell to Obed-Edom,[c] and the lot for the storehouse fell to his sons. [16]The lots for the West Gate and the Shalleketh Gate on the upper road fell to Shuppim and Hosah.

Guard was alongside of guard: [17]There were six Levites a day on the east, four a day on the north, four a day on the south and two at a time at the storehouse. [18]As for the court to the west, there were four at the road and two at the court itself.

[19]These were the divisions of the gatekeepers who were descendants of Korah and Merari.[d]

The Treasurers and Other Officials

[20]Their fellow Levites[e] were[l] in charge of the treasuries of the house of God and the treasuries for the dedicated things.[f]

[21]The descendants of Ladan, who were Gershonites through Ladan and who were heads of families belonging to Ladan the Gershonite,[g] were Jehieli, [22]the sons of Jehieli, Zetham and his brother Joel. They were in charge of the treasuries[h] of the temple of the LORD.

[23]From the Amramites, the Izharites, the Hebronites and the Uzzielites:[i]

[24]Shubael,[j] a descendant of Gershom son of Moses, was the officer in charge of the treasuries. [25]His relatives through Eliezer: Rehabiah his son, Jeshaiah his son, Joram his son, Zicri his son and Shelomith[k] his son. [26]Shelomith and his relatives were in charge of all the treasuries for the things dedicated[l] by King David, by the heads of families who were the commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, and by the other army commanders. [27]Some of the plunder taken in battle they dedicated for the repair of the temple of the LORD. [28]And everything dedicated by Samuel the seer[m] and by Saul son of Kish, Abner son of Ner and Joab son of Zeruiah, and all the other dedicated things were in the care of Shelomith and his relatives.

[29]From the Izharites: Kenaniah and his sons were assigned duties away from the temple, as officials and judges[n] over Israel.

[30]From the Hebronites: Hashabiah[o] and his relatives—seventeen hundred able men—were responsible in Israel west of the Jordan for all the work of the LORD and for the king's service. [31]As for the Hebronites,[p] Jeriah was their chief according to the genealogical records of their families. In 26:12 duties. Elaborated in 9:22–29.

26:14 East Gate. The main entrance; it had six guard posts, as opposed to four at the other gates (v. 17).

26:15 South Gate. The palaces of David and Solomon were south of the temple mount. The southern gate would be the main one used by the king, and this assignment probably reflects a particular honor for Obed-Edom (see notes on 26:4–5; see also Eze 46:1–10).

26:16 Shalleketh Gate. The only reference to a gate by this name; presumably it was on the western side. The Chronicler writes to an audience familiar with these topographical details.

26:20 treasuries of the house of God. The Levites in charge of these treasuries received the offerings of the people and cared for the valuable temple equipment (9:28–29). treasuries for the dedicated things. Received the plunder from warfare (vv. 27–28). Texts from Mesopotamian temples confirm the presence of temple officers who served as assayers to handle and refine the precious metals received as revenue and offerings. The procedure with reference to the offerings of the people may be seen in the reign of Joash (2Ch 24:4–14; 2Ki 12:4–16). Numerous passages reflect on the wealth collected in the temple (see, e.g., 29:1–9; 2Ch 4:1–22; 34:9–11; 36:7,10,18–19; 1Ki 14:25–28; 15:15,18; 2Ki 12:4–18; 14:14; 16:8; 25:13–17).

26:26 things dedicated by King David. See note on 18:1–20:8; see also 2Ch 5:1.

26:27 plunder taken in battle they dedicated. Cf. Ge 14:17–20.

26:29–32 These verses designate the 6,000 officials and judges (23:4) who would work outside Jerusalem; they are drawn from two sub-clans of Kohath (6:18). Dt 17:8–13 envisages a judicial function for the priests and Levites (see 2Ch 19:4–11).

26:30,32 for all the work of the LORD and for the king's service . . . for every matter pertaining to God and for the affairs of the king. In the theocracy (kingdom of God) there is no division between secular and sacred, no tension in serving God and the king (cf. Mt 22:15–22; Lk 16:10–13; Ro 13:1–7; 1Ti 2:1–4; 1Pe 2:13–17).

26:31 fortieth year. The last year of David's reign.

the fortieth[q] year of David's reign a search was made in the records, and capable men among the Hebronites were found at Jazer in Gilead. [32]Jeriah had twenty-seven hundred relatives, who were able men and heads of families, and King David put them in charge of the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh for every matter pertaining to God and for the affairs of the king.

Army Divisions

27 This is the list of the Israelites—heads of families, commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, and their officers, who served the king in all that concerned the army divisions that were on duty month by month throughout the year. Each division consisted of 24,000 men.

[2]In charge of the first division, for the first month, was Jashobeam[r] son of Zabdiel. There were 24,000 men in his division. [3]He was a descendant of Perez and chief of all the army officers for the first month.

[4]In charge of the division for the second month was Dodai[s] the Ahohite; Mikloth was the leader of his division. There were 24,000 men in his division.

[5]The third army commander, for the third month, was Benaiah[t] son of Jehoiada the priest. He was chief and there were 24,000 men in his division. [6]This was the Benaiah who was a mighty man among the Thirty and was over the Thirty. His son Ammizabad was in charge of his division.

[7]The fourth, for the fourth month, was Asahel[u] the brother of Joab; his son Zebadiah was his successor. There were 24,000 men in his division.

[8]The fifth, for the fifth month, was the commander Shamhuth[v] the Izrahite. There were 24,000 men in his division.

[9]The sixth, for the sixth month, was Ira[w] the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite. There were 24,000 men in his division.

[10]The seventh, for the seventh month, was Helez[x] the Pelonite, an Ephraimite. There were 24,000 men in his division.

[11]The eighth, for the eighth month, was Sibbecai[y] the Hushathite, a Zerahite. There were 24,000 men in his division.

[12]The ninth, for the ninth month, was Abiezer[z] the Anathothite, a Benjamite. There were 24,000 men in his division.

[13]The tenth, for the tenth month, was Maharai[a] the Netophathite, a Zerahite. There were 24,000 men in his division.

[14]The eleventh, for the eleventh month, was Benaiah[b] the Pirathonite, an Ephraimite. There were 24,000 men in his division.

[15]The twelfth, for the twelfth month, was Heldai[c] the Netophathite, from the family of Othniel.[d] There were 24,000 men in his division.

Officers of the Tribes

[16]The officers over the tribes of Israel:

over the Reubenites: Eliezer son of Zicri;
over the Simeonites: Shephatiah son of Maacah; [17]over Levi: Hashabiah[e] son of Kemuel;
over Aaron: Zadok;[f]
[18]over Judah: Elihu, a brother of David;
over Issachar: Omri son of Michael;

27:1–15 The names of the commanders of David's army are the same as those found in the list of his mighty men (see 11:11–47; see also 2Sa 23:8–39 and notes). Those who had served David while he fled from Saul became commanders in the regular army.

27:1 24,000. See note on 12:23–37. Although a national militia consisting of 12 units of 24,000 each (a total of 288,000) is not unreasonable, the stress in this passage on unit commanders and divisions suggests that here too the Hebrew word for "1,000" should perhaps be taken as the designation of a military unit. To designate a division as "1,000" would be to give the upper limit of the number of men in such a unit, though such units would ordinarily not have a full complement of men. If this approach is followed, the figures in the following verses would be read as "24 units" instead of 24,000.

27:2 Jashobeam. See 11:11.

27:4 Dodai. See 11:12.

27:16–22 The Chronicler's interest in "all Israel" appears in this list of officers who were over the 12 tribes (see Introduction: Purpose and Themes). The number is kept at 12 by omitting Gad and Asher (see note on 2:1–2).

27:17 Zadok. See note on 6:8; see also 12:28; 16:39.

27:18 Elihu. Not named elsewhere among the brothers of David. Perhaps he is the unnamed son from the list in 2:10–17 (see note there). Elihu could also be a variant of the name of Jesse's oldest son, Eliab, or the term "brother" could be taken in the sense of "relative," in which case Elihu would be a more distant kinsman.

Joel son of Pedaiah; 21over the half-tribe of Manasseh in Gilead: Iddo son of Zechariah; over Benjamin: Jaasiel son of Abner;
22over Dan: Azarel son of Jeroham.
These were the officers over the tribes of Israel.

23David did not take the number of the men twenty years old or less,[g] because the LORD had promised to make Israel as numerous as the stars[h] in the sky. 24Joab son of Zeruiah began to count the men but did not finish. Wrath came on Israel on account of this numbering,[i] and the number was not entered in the book[m] of the annals of King David.

The King's Overseers

25Azmaveth son of Adiel was in charge of the royal storehouses.
Jonathan son of Uzziah was in charge of the storehouses in the outlying districts, in the towns, the villages and the watchtowers.
26Ezri son of Kelub was in charge of the field workers who farmed the land.
27Shimei the Ramathite was in charge of the vineyards.
Zabdi the Shiphmite was in charge of the produce of the vineyards for the wine vats.
28Baal-Hanan the Gederite was in charge of the olive and sycamore-fig[j] trees in the western foothills.
Joash was in charge of the supplies of olive oil.
29Shitrai the Sharonite was in charge of the herds grazing in Sharon.[k]
Shaphat son of Adlai was in charge of the herds in the valleys.

30Obil the Ishmaelite was in charge of the camels.
Jehdeiah the Meronothite was in charge of the donkeys.
31Jaziz the Hagrite[l] was in charge of the flocks.
All these were the officials in charge of King David's property.

32Jonathan, David's uncle, was a counselor, a man of insight and a scribe. Jehiel son of Hacmoni took care of the king's sons.
33Ahithophel[m] was the king's counselor.
Hushai[n] the Arkite was the king's friend. 34Ahithophel was succeeded by Jehoiada son of Benaiah and by Abiathar.[o]
Joab[p] was the commander of the royal army.

David's Plans for the Temple

28 David summoned[q] all the officials[r] of Israel to assemble at Jerusalem: the officers over the tribes, the commanders of the divisions in the service of the king, the commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, and the officials in charge of all the property and livestock belonging to the king and his sons, together with the palace officials, the mighty men and all the brave warriors.
2King David rose to his feet and said: "Listen to me, my brothers and my people. I had it in my heart[s] to build a house as a place of rest[t] for the ark of the covenant of the LORD, for the footstool[u] of our God, and I made plans to build it.[v] 3But God said to me,[w] 'You

There is no evidence of direct taxation during the reign of David; his court appears to have been financed by extensive landholdings, commerce, plunder from his many wars, and tribute from subjugated kingdoms.
27:32–34 A list of David's cabinet members, supplementary to that in 18:14–17.
27:33 Ahithophel. Was replaced after he committed suicide, following his support of Absalom's rebellion (2Sa 15:12,31–37; 16:20–17:23).
27:34 Benaiah. See v. 5.
28:1–29:30 The account of the transition from the reign of David to that of Solomon is one of the clearest demonstrations of the Chronicler's idealization of their reigns when it is compared with the succession account in 1Ki 1–2. The Chronicler makes no mention of the infirmities of the aged David (1Ki 1:1–4), the rebellion of Adonijah and the king's sons (1Ki 1:5–10), the court intrigue to secure Solomon's succession (1Ki 1:11–31) or David's charge to Solomon to punish his enemies after his death (1Ki 2:1–9). His selection of material presents a transition of power that is smooth and peaceful and receives the support of "all Israel" (29:25), the officials and the people (28:1–2; 29:6–9,21–25). Instead of the bedridden David who sends others to anoint Solomon (1Ki 1:32–35), David himself is present and in charge of the ceremonies (see 23:1 and note).
28:1 The assembly is composed largely of the groups named in ch. 27. This public announcement (v. 5) follows the private announcement of Solomon's succession in ch. 22 (see note on 22:2–19).
28:3 you are a warrior and have shed blood. See note on are not to build a house for my Name,[x] because you are a warrior and have shed blood.'[y]

4"Yet the LORD, the God of Israel, chose me[z] from my whole family[a] to be king over Israel forever. He chose Judah[b] as leader, and from the house of Judah he chose my family, and from my father's sons he was pleased to make me king over all Israel.[c] 5Of all my sons—and the LORD has given me many[d]—he has chosen my son Solomon[e] to sit on the throne[f] of the kingdom of the LORD over Israel. 6He said to me: 'Solomon your son is the one who will build[g] my house and my courts, for I have chosen him to be my son,[h] and I will be his father. 7I will establish his kingdom forever if he is unswerving in carrying out my commands and laws,[i] as is being done at this time.'

8"So now I charge you in the sight of all Israel[j] and of the assembly of the LORD, and in the hearing of our God: Be careful to follow all the commands[k] of the LORD your God, that you may possess this good land and pass it on as an inheritance to your descendants forever.[l]

9"And you, my son Solomon, acknowledge the God of your father, and serve him with wholehearted devotion[m] and with a willing mind, for the LORD searches every heart[n] and understands every motive behind the thoughts. If you seek him,[o] he will be found by you; but if you forsake[p] him, he will reject[q] you forever. 10Consider now, for the LORD has chosen you to build a temple as a sanctuary. Be strong and do the work."

11Then David gave his son Solomon the plans[r] for the portico of the temple, its buildings, its storerooms, its upper parts, its inner rooms and the place of atonement. 12He gave him the plans of all that the Spirit[s] had put in his mind for the courts of the temple of the LORD and all the surrounding rooms, for the treasuries of the temple of God and for the treasuries for the dedicated things.[t] 13He gave him instructions for the divisions[u] of the priests and Levites, and for all the work of serving in the temple of the LORD, as well as for all the articles to be used in its service. 14He designated the weight of gold for all the gold articles to be used in various kinds of service, and the weight of silver for all the silver articles to be used in various kinds of service: 15the weight of gold for the gold lampstands[v] and their lamps, with the weight for each lampstand and its lamps; and the weight of silver for each silver lampstand and its lamps, according to the use of each lampstand; 16the weight of gold for each table[w] for consecrated bread; the weight of silver for the silver tables; 17the weight of pure gold for the forks, sprinkling bowls[x] and pitchers; the weight of gold for each gold dish; the weight of silver for each silver dish; 18and the weight of the refined gold for the altar of incense.[y] He also gave him the plan for the chariot,[z] that is, the cherubim of gold that spread their wings and shelter[a] the ark of the covenant of the LORD.

19"All this," David said, "I have in writing from the hand of the LORD upon me, and he gave me understanding in all the details[b] of the plan.[c]"

20David also said to Solomon his son, "Be strong and courageous,[d] and do the work. Do not be afraid or discouraged, for the LORD God, my God, is with you. He will not fail you or forsake[e] you until all the work for the service of the temple of the LORD is finished.[f] 21The divisions of the priests and Levites are ready for all the work on the temple of God, and every willing man skilled[g] in any craft will help you in all the work. The officials and all the people will obey your every command."

22:8–9.

28:5 chosen my son Solomon. See vv. 6,10; 29:1. These are the only uses in the OT of the Hebrew verb for "chosen" with reference to any king after David (see Introduction: Purpose and Themes). The Chronicler's application of this term to Solomon is consistent with his depiction of that king. kingdom of the LORD. See note on 17:14.

28:6 my son. See 17:12–14 and note; see also 22:10.

28:8–9 See Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon.

28:12 David provides Solomon with the plans for the temple. This reflects the Chronicler's modeling David after Moses: Just as Moses received the plans for the tabernacle from God (Ex 25–30), so also David received the plans for the temple.

28:19 I have in writing from the hand of the LORD upon me. The Chronicler may intend no more than the ordinary process of inspiration whereby David wrote under divine influence. On the other hand, he may imply a parallel with Moses, who also received documents from the hand of the Lord (Ex 25:40; 27:8; 31:18; 32:16).

28:20 See Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon.

29:1 chosen. See note on 28:5. young. See note on 22:5.

29:2–9 After donating his personal fortune to the construction of the temple, David appeals to the people for their voluntary gifts. The Chronicler again appears to be modeling his account of David on events from the life of Moses (Ex 25:1–8; 35:4–9,20–29). The willing response of the people aided the building of both tabernacle and temple.

for the temple of my God—gold[i] for the gold work, silver for the silver, bronze for the bronze, iron for the iron and wood for the wood, as well as onyx for the settings, turquoise,[n][j] stones of various colors, and all kinds of fine stone and marble—all of these in large quantities.[k] 3Besides, in my devotion to the temple of my God I now give my personal treasures of gold and silver for the temple of my God, over and above everything I have provided[l] for this holy temple: 4three thousand talents[o] of gold (gold of Ophir)[m] and seven thousand talents[p] of refined silver,[n] for the overlaying of the walls of the buildings, 5for the gold work and the silver work, and for all the work to be done by the craftsmen. Now, who is willing to consecrate himself today to the LORD?"

6Then the leaders of families, the officers of the tribes of Israel, the commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, and the officials[o] in charge of the king's work gave willingly.[p] 7They[q] gave toward the work on the temple of God five thousand talents[q] and ten thousand darics[r] of gold, ten thousand talents[s] of silver, eighteen thousand talents[t] of bronze and a hundred thousand talents[u] of iron. 8Any who had precious stones[r] gave them to the treasury of the temple of the LORD in the custody of Jehiel the Gershonite.[s] 9The people rejoiced at the willing response of their leaders, for they had given freely and wholeheartedly[t] to the LORD. David the king also rejoiced greatly.

David's Prayer

10David praised the LORD in the presence of the whole assembly, saying,

"Praise be to you, O LORD,
God of our father Israel,
from everlasting to everlasting.
11Yours, O LORD, is the greatness and the power[u]
and the glory and the majesty and the splendor, for everything in heaven and earth is yours.[v]
Yours, O LORD, is the kingdom;
you are exalted as head over all.[w] 12Wealth and honor[x] come from you;
you are the ruler[y] of all things.
In your hands are strength and power to exalt and give strength to all.
13Now, our God, we give you thanks, and praise your glorious name.

14"But who am I, and who are my people, that we should be able to give as generously as this?[z] Everything comes from you, and we have given you only what comes from your hand.[a] 15We are aliens and strangers[b] in your sight, as were all our forefathers. Our days on earth are like a shadow,[c] without hope. 16O LORD our God, as for all this abundance that we have provided for building you a temple for your Holy Name, it comes from your hand, and all of it belongs to you. 17I know, my God, that you test the heart[d] and are pleased with integrity. All these things have I given willingly and with honest intent. And now I have seen with joy how willingly your people who are here have given to you.[e] 18O LORD, God of our fathers Abraham, Isaac and Israel, keep this desire in the hearts of your people forever, and keep their hearts loyal to you. 19And give my son Solomon the wholehearted devotion[f] to keep your commands, requirements and decrees[g] and to do everything to build the palatial structure for which I have provided."[h]

20Then David said to the whole assembly, "Praise the LORD your God." So they all praised the LORD, the God of their fathers; they bowed low and fell prostrate before the LORD and the king.

Then they acknowledged Solomon son

29:7 darics. The daric was a Persian coin, apparently named for Darius I (522–486 B.C.) in whose reign it first appears (see Ezr 8:27). Since the Chronicler's readers were familiar with it, he could use it as an up-to-date standard of value for an earlier treasure of gold.

29:22 ate and drank. See 12:38–40 and note. The anointing of both Solomon and Zadok portrays the harmony between them (see Zec 4:14; 6:13 and notes). second time. Perhaps the first time was Solomon's anointing recorded in 1Ki 1:32–36, but omitted by the Chronicler (see note on 28:1–29:30). However, the phrase "second time" is missing in the Septuagint, suggesting that it may have been an addition to the Hebrew text of this passage by an ancient scribe after the Septuagint had already been translated, in order to harmonize the Chronicles account with Kings. Multiple anointings are found in the cases of both Saul (1Sa 10:1,24; 11:14–15) and David (1Sa 16:13; 2Sa 2:4; 5:3).

2 Chronicles

See Introduction to 1 Chronicles.

The Building of the Temple in Chronicles

The Chronicler has used the Pentateuchal history as a model for his account of the reigns of David and Solomon. Similarly, the Pentateuchal record of the building of the tabernacle affects his account of the building of the temple:

1. The building of the tabernacle was entrusted to Bezalel and Oholiab (Ex 35:30—36:7), and they provide the Chronicler's model for the relationship of Solomon and Huram-Abi (2Ch 2:13). It is significant that the only references to Bezalel outside the book of Exodus are in Chronicles (1Ch 2:20; 2Ch 1:5).

Solomon is the new Bezalel: (1) Both Solomon and Bezalel are designated by name for their tasks by God; they are the only workers on their projects to be chosen by name (Ex 31:2; 35:30—36:2; 38:22–23; 1Ch 28:6). (2) Both are from the tribe of Judah (Ex 31:2; 35:30; 1Ch 2:20; 3:10). (3) Both receive the Spirit to endow them with wisdom (Ex 31:3; 35:30–31; 2Ch 1:1–13), and Solomon's vision at Gibeon (2Ch 1:3–13) dominates the preface to the account of the temple construction (2Ch 2—7). (4) Both build a bronze altar for the sanctuary (2Ch 1:5; 4:1; 7:7)—significantly, the bronze altar is not mentioned in the summary list of Huram-Abi's work (4:12–16). (5) Both make the sanctuary furnishings (Ex 31:1–10; 37:10–29; 2Ch 4:19–22).

Similarly, Huram-Abi becomes the new Oholiab: (1) In the account of the temple building in Kings, Huram-Abi is not mentioned until after the story of the main construction of temple and palace has been told (1Ki 7:13–45); in Chronicles he is introduced as being involved in the building work from the beginning, just as Oholiab worked on the tabernacle from the beginning (Ex 31:6; 2Ch 2:13). (2) Kings speaks only of Huram-Abi's skill in casting bronze (1Ki 7:14); in Chronicles, however, his list of skills is the same as Oholiab's (Ex 31:1–6; 35:30–36:2; 38:22–23; 2Ch 2:14). (3) Kings reports that the mother of Huram-Abi was a widow from the tribe of Naphtali (1Ki 7:14); Chronicles, however, states that she was a widow from the tribe of Dan (2Ch 2:14), thus giving Huram-Abi the same ancestry as Oholiab (Ex 31:6; 35:34; 38:23). See note on 2Ch 2:13.

2. The plans for both tabernacle and temple are given by God (Ex 25:1—30:37; see Ex 25:9,40; 27:8; see also 1Ch 28:11–19—not mentioned in Samuel and Kings).

3. The spoils of war are used as building materials for both tabernacle and temple (Ex 3:21–22; 12:35–36; see 1Ch 18:6–11—not mentioned in Samuel and Kings).

4. The people contribute willingly and generously for both structures (Ex 25:1–7; 36:3–7; see 1Ch 29:1–9—not mentioned in Samuel and Kings).

5. The glory cloud appears at the dedication of both structures (Ex 40:34–35; 2Ch 7:1–3).

Solomon Asks for Wisdom

1:2–13pp — 1Ki 3:4–15
1:14–17pp — 1Ki 10:26–29; 2Ch 9:25–28

1 Solomon son of David established[a] himself firmly over his kingdom, for the LORD his God was with[b] him and made him exceedingly great.[c]

2Then Solomon spoke to all Israel[d]— to the commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, to the judges and to all the leaders in Israel, the heads of families— 3and Solomon and the whole assembly went to the high place at Gibeon,[e] for God's Tent of Meeting[f] was there, which Moses[g] the LORD's servant had made in the desert. 4Now David had brought up the ark[h] of God from Kiriath Jearim to the place he had prepared for it, because he had pitched a tent[i] for it in Jerusalem. 5But the bronze altar[j] that Bezalel[k] son of Uri, the son of Hur, had made was in Gibeon in front of the tabernacle of the LORD; so Solomon and the assembly inquired[l] of him there. 6Solomon went up to the bronze altar before the LORD in the Tent of Meeting and offered a thousand burnt offerings on it.

7That night God appeared[m] to Solomon and said to him, "Ask for whatever you want me to give you."

8Solomon answered God, "You have shown great kindness to David my father and have made me[n] king in his place. 9Now, LORD God, let your promise[o] to my father David be confirmed, for you have made me king over a people who are as numerous as the dust of the earth.[p] 10Give me wisdom and knowledge, that I may lead[q] this people, for who is able to govern this great people of yours?"

11God said to Solomon, "Since this is your heart's desire and you have not asked for wealth,[r] riches or honor, nor for the death of your enemies, and since you have not asked for a long life but for wisdom and knowledge to govern my people over whom I have made you king, 12therefore wisdom and knowledge will be given you. And I will also give you wealth, riches and honor,[s] such as no king who was before you ever had and none after you will have.[t]" 13Then Solomon went to Jerusalem from the high place at Gibeon, from before the Tent of Meeting. And he reigned over Israel.

14Solomon accumulated chariots[u] and horses; he had fourteen hundred chariots and twelve thousand horses,[a] which he kept in the chariot cities and also with him in Jerusalem. 15The king made silver and gold[v] as common in Jerusalem as stones, and cedar as plentiful as sycamore-fig trees in the foothills. 16Solomon's horses were imported from Egypt[b] and from Kue[c]—the royal merchants purchased them from Kue. 17They imported a chariot[w] from Egypt for six hundred shekels[d] of silver, and a horse for a hundred and fifty.[e] They also exported them to all the kings of the Hittites and of the Arameans.

Preparations for Building the Temple

2 Solomon gave orders to build a temple[x] for the Name of the LORD and a royal palace for himself.[y] 2He conscripted seventy thousand men as carriers and eighty thousand as stonecutters in the hills and thirty-six hundred as foremen over them.[z]

1:1–9:31 The account of the reign of Solomon is primarily devoted to his building of the temple (chs. 2–7); his endowment with wisdom is mainly to facilitate the building work. Much of the material in Kings that does not bear on building the temple is omitted by the Chronicler; e.g., he does not mention the judgment between the prostitutes (1Ki 3:16–28) or the building of the royal palace (1Ki 7:1–12).

1:1 established himself. This expression, or a variation of it, is common in Chronicles (12:13; 13:7–8,21; 15:8; 16:9; 17:1; 21:4; 23:1; 25:11; 27:6; 32:5; 1Ch 11:10; 19:13). Here and in 21:4 it includes the elimination of enemies and rivals to the throne (see 1Ki 2, especially v. 46).

1:2–13 See 1Ki 3:4–15 and notes. Verses 2–6 are largely unique to Chronicles and show some of the writer's concerns: 1. The support of "all Israel" (v. 2) is emphasized (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes). 2. While the writer of Kings is somewhat apologetic about Solomon's visit to a high place (1Ki 3:3), the Chronicler adds the note that this was the location of the tabernacle made by Moses in the desert (v. 3), bringing Solomon's action into line with the provisions of the law (Lev 17:8–9).

1:5 Bezalel. See Introduction: The Building of the Temple in Chronicles. It is specifically in connection with his offering on the altar built by Bezalel (Ex 31:1–11; 38:1–2) that Solomon receives the wisdom from God to reign. In the account that follows, Solomon devotes his gift of wisdom primarily to building the temple, just as Bezalel had been gifted by God to serve as the master craftsman of the tabernacle.

1:7 God . . . said to him. Both David and Solomon function as prophets (7:1; 29:25; 1Ch 22:8; 28:6,19).

1:9 numerous as the dust. In provisional fulfillment of the promise to Abraham (Ge 13:16; 22:17; see note on 1Ch 27:23; cf. Ge 28:14).

1:14–17 The Chronicler does not include the material in 1Ki 3:16–4:34. He moves rather to the account of Solomon's wealth in 1Ki 10:26–29; part of this material is repeated in 2Ch 9:25–28. Recounting Solomon's wealth at this point shows the fulfillment of God's promise (v. 12).

1:16 Egypt. See NIV text note; see also note on 1Ki 10:29.

2:1 palace. Although the Chronicler frequently mentions the palace Solomon built (7:11; 8:1; 9:11), he gives no details of its construction (see 1Ki 7:1–12).

2:2 See vv. 17–18.

3Solomon sent this message to Hiram[a] king of Tyre:

"Send me cedar logs[b] as you did for my father David when you sent him cedar to build a palace to live in. 4Now I am about to build a temple[c] for the Name of the LORD my God and to dedicate it to him for burning fragrant incense[d] before him, for setting out the consecrated bread[e] regularly, and for making burnt offerings[f] every morning and evening and on Sabbaths[g] and New Moons[h] and at the appointed feasts of the LORD our God. This is a lasting ordinance for Israel.

5"The temple I am going to build will be great,[i] because our God is greater than all other gods.[j] 6But who is able to build a temple for him, since the heavens, even the highest heavens, cannot contain him?[k] Who then am I[l] to build a temple for him, except as a place to burn sacrifices before him?

7"Send me, therefore, a man skilled to work in gold and silver, bronze and iron, and in purple, crimson and blue yarn, and experienced in the art of engraving, to work in Judah and Jerusalem with my skilled craftsmen,[m] whom my father David provided.

8"Send me also cedar, pine and algum[g] logs from Lebanon, for I know that your men are skilled in cutting timber there. My men will work with yours 9to provide me with plenty of lumber, because the temple I build must be large and magnificent. 10I will give your servants, the woodsmen who cut the timber, twenty thousand cors[h] of ground wheat, twenty thousand cors of barley, twenty thousand baths[i] of wine and twenty thousand baths of olive oil.[n]"

11Hiram king of Tyre replied by letter to Solomon:

"Because the LORD loves[o] his people, he has made you their king."

12And Hiram added:

"Praise be to the LORD, the God of Israel, who made heaven and earth![p] He has given King David a wise son, endowed with intelligence and discernment, who will build a temple for the LORD and a palace for himself.

13"I am sending you Huram-Abi,[q] a man of great skill, 14whose mother was from Dan[r] and whose father was from Tyre. He is trained[s] to work in gold and silver, bronze and iron, stone and wood, and with purple and blue[t] and crimson yarn and fine linen. He is experienced in all kinds of engraving and can execute any design given to him. He will work with your craftsmen and with those of my lord, David your father.

15"Now let my lord send his servants the wheat and barley and the olive oil[u] and wine he promised, 16and we will cut all the logs from Lebanon that you need and will float them in rafts by sea down to Joppa.[v] You can then take them up to Jerusalem."

17Solomon took a census of all the aliens[w] who were in Israel, after the census[x] his father David had taken; and they were found to be 153,600. 18He as-

2:3–10 The Chronicler's theological interests appear in his handling of Solomon's correspondence with Hiram of Tyre. In the Kings account the correspondence was initiated by Hiram (1Ki 5:1). The Chronicler omits this (and also the material in 1Ki 5:3–5) but adds his own material, reflecting his concerns with the temple worship in vv. 3–7.
2:4 See 1Ch 23:28–31.
2:7 See Introduction: The Building of the Temple in Chronicles. In the Kings account Solomon's request for a master craftsman is found late in the narrative (1Ki 7:13); to carry out his parallel between Oholiab and Huram-Abi, the Chronicler includes it in the initial correspondence. Furthermore, here and in vv. 13–14 the list of Huram-Abi's skills is expanded and matches that of Bezalel and Oholiab (Kings is concerned only with casting bronze).
2:10 The payment here differs from that reported in 1Ki 5:11, but the texts speak of two different payments: In Kings the payment is an annual sum delivered to the royal household of Hiram, while Chronicles speaks of one payment to the woodsmen. The goods paid are also not identical; the oil specified in Kings is of a finer quality.
2:11–16 See 1Ki 5:7–9; 7:13–14 and notes.
2:13 Huram-Abi. See note on v. 7. Kings reports that the ancestry of Huram-Abi was through a widow of Naphtali (1Ki 7:14); Chronicles strengthens the parallel between Huram-Abi and Oholiab by assigning him Danite ancestry. These statements are not necessarily contradictory: (1) The mother's ancestry may have been Danite, though she lived in the territory of Naphtali; or (2) her parents may have been from Dan and Naphtali, allowing her descent to be reckoned to either. The Danites had been previously associated with the Phoenicians (Jdg 18:7).
2:17–18 See 1Ki 5:13–18 and notes. The Chronicler specifies that this levy of forced laborers was from aliens resident in the land, not from Israelites. This is not stated in the parallel passage in Kings, though 1Ki 9:20–22 confirms that alien labor was used (see 8:8).
2:18 3,600 foremen. See v. 2. The number given in 1Ki 5:16 is 3,300; however, some manuscripts of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) also have 3,600. The Chronicler signed[y] 70,000 of them to be carriers and 80,000 to be stonecutters in the hills, with 3,600 foremen over them to keep the people working.

Solomon Builds the Temple

3:1–14pp — 1Ki 6:1–29

3 Then Solomon began to build[z] the temple of the LORD[a] in Jerusalem on Mount Moriah, where the LORD had appeared to his father David. It was on the threshing floor of Araunah[j][b] the Jebusite, the place provided by David. 2He began building on the second day of the second month in the fourth year of his reign.[c]

3The foundation Solomon laid for building the temple of God was sixty cubits long and twenty cubits wide[k][d] (using the cubit of the old standard). 4The portico at the front of the temple was twenty cubits[l] long across the width of the building and twenty cubits[m] high.

He overlaid the inside with pure gold. 5He paneled the main hall with pine and covered it with fine gold and decorated it with palm tree[e] and chain designs. 6He adorned the temple with precious stones. And the gold he used was gold of Parvaim. 7He overlaid the ceiling beams, doorframes, walls and doors of the temple with gold, and he carved cherubim[f] on the walls.

8He built the Most Holy Place,[g] its length corresponding to the width of the temple—twenty cubits long and twenty cubits wide. He overlaid the inside with six hundred talents[n] of fine gold. 9The gold nails[h] weighed fifty shekels.[o] He also overlaid the upper parts with gold.

10In the Most Holy Place he made a pair[i] of sculptured cherubim and overlaid them with gold. 11The total wingspan of the cherubim was twenty cubits. One wing of the first cherub was five cubits[p] long and touched the temple wall, while its other wing, also five cubits long, touched the wing of the other cherub. 12Similarly one wing of the second cherub was five cubits long and touched the other temple wall, and its other wing, also five cubits long, touched the wing of the first cherub. 13The wings of these cherubim[j] extended twenty cubits. They stood on their feet, facing the main hall.[q]

14He made the curtain[k] of blue, purple and crimson yarn and fine linen, with cherubim[l] worked into it.

15In the front of the temple he made two pillars,[m] which ⌊together⌋ were thirty-five cubits[r] long, each with a capital[n] on top measuring five cubits. 16He made interwoven chains[s][o] and put them on top of the pillars. He also made a hundred pomegranates[p] and attached them to the chains. 17He erected the pillars in the front of the temple, one to the south and one to the north. The one to may have been following a different text of Kings from the present Masoretic (traditional Hebrew) text at this point (but see note on 1Ki 5:16).

3:1–17 The Chronicler has considerably curtailed the description of the temple's construction found in Kings, omitting completely 1Ki 6:4–20. This abridgment probably indicates that the Chronicler's audience was familiar with the details of the earlier history and that the temple of the restoration period was less elaborate than the original Solomonic structure (Hag 2:3). On the other hand, the Chronicler goes into more detail on the furnishings and implements (3:6–9; 4:1,6–9).

3:1 Mount Moriah. The only passage in the OT where Mount Zion is identified with Mount Moriah, the place where Abraham was commanded to offer Isaac (Ge 22:2,14). place provided by David. See 1Ch 21:18–22:1.

3:2 second month in the fourth year. In the spring of 966 B.C. (see note on 1Ki 6:1).

3:4 overlaid. Or "inlaid," which perhaps gives a more correct picture: not that the entire interior was covered with gold leaf, but that designs (palm trees, chains) were inlaid with gold leaf (v. 5).

3:6 Parvaim. Designates either the source of the gold (perhaps southeast Arabia) or a particular quality of fine gold.

3:7 cherubim. See vv. 10–14; see also notes on Ge 3:24; Eze 1:5.

3:8 twenty cubits long and twenty cubits wide. It was also 20 cubits high (1Ki 6:20), making the dimensions of the Most Holy Place a perfect cube, as probably also in the tabernacle. In the New Jerusalem there is no temple (Rev 21:22); rather, the whole city is in the shape of a cube (Rev 21:16), for the whole city becomes "the Most Holy Place."

3:9 gold nails. The fact that gold is such a soft metal would make it unlikely that nails were made of this substance. It is probable that this small amount (only 1 1/4 pounds; see NIV text note) represents gold leaf or sheeting used to gild the nail heads.

3:10–13 See 1Ki 6:23–27 and notes.

3:14 curtain. Also separated the two rooms of the tabernacle (Ex 26:31). Wooden doors could also be closed across the opening (4:22; 1Ki 6:31–32; cf. Mt 27:51; Heb 9:8).

3:15 ⌊together⌋ were thirty-five cubits long. Supplying the word "together" represents an attempt to harmonize this measurement with the 18 cubits (each) in 1Ki 7:15 (also confirmed by 2Ki 25:17—see NIV text note there; Jer 52:21, though the Septuagint at Jer 52:21 has 35). Alternatively, 35 may be the result of a copyist's mistake.

3:17 pillars. Remains of such pillars have been found in the excavations of numerous temples in the Holy Land. Cf. Rev 3:12. Jakin . . . Boaz. See NIV text notes.

the south he named Jakin[t] and the one to the north Boaz.[u]

The Temple's Furnishings

4:2–6,10–5:1pp — 1Ki 7:23–26,38–51

4 He made a bronze altar[q] twenty cubits long, twenty cubits wide and ten cubits high.[v] 2He made the Sea[r] of cast metal, circular in shape, measuring ten cubits from rim to rim and five cubits[w] high. It took a line of thirty cubits[x] to measure around it. 3Below the rim, figures of bulls encircled it—ten to a cubit.[y] The bulls were cast in two rows in one piece with the Sea.

4The Sea stood on twelve bulls, three facing north, three facing west, three facing south and three facing east.[s] The Sea rested on top of them, and their hindquarters were toward the center. 5It was a handbreadth[z] in thickness, and its rim was like the rim of a cup, like a lily blossom. It held three thousand baths.[a] 6He then made ten basins[t] for washing and placed five on the south side and five on the north. In them the things to be used for the burnt offerings[u] were rinsed, but the Sea was to be used by the priests for washing.

7He made ten gold lampstands[v] according to the specifications[w] for them and placed them in the temple, five on the south side and five on the north.

8He made ten tables[x] and placed them in the temple, five on the south side and five on the north. He also made a hundred gold sprinkling bowls.[y]

9He made the courtyard[z] of the priests, and the large court and the doors for the court, and overlaid the doors with bronze. 10He placed the Sea on the south side, at the southeast corner.

11He also made the pots and shovels and sprinkling bowls.

So Huram finished[a] the work he had undertaken for King Solomon in the temple of God:

12the two pillars;
the two bowl-shaped capitals on top of the pillars;
the two sets of network decorating the two bowl-shaped capitals on top of the pillars;
13the four hundred pomegranates for the two sets of network (two rows of pomegranates for each network, decorating the bowl-shaped capitals on top of the pillars);
14the stands[b] with their basins;
15the Sea and the twelve bulls under it;
16the pots, shovels, meat forks and all related articles.

All the objects that Huram-Abi[c] made for King Solomon for the temple of the LORD were of polished bronze. 17The king had them cast in clay molds in the plain of the Jordan between Succoth[d] and Zarethan.[b] 18All these things that Solomon made amounted to so much that the weight of the bronze[e] was not determined.

19Solomon also made all the furnishings that were in God's temple:

the golden altar;
the tables[f] on which was the bread of the Presence;
20the lampstands[g] of pure gold with their lamps, to burn in front of the inner sanctuary as prescribed;
21the gold floral work and lamps and tongs (they were solid gold);

4:1 bronze altar. The parallel text in Kings does not mention the main altar of the temple described here (1Ki 7:22–23), though several other passages in Kings do refer to it (1Ki 8:64; 9:25; 2Ki 16:14). The main altar of Solomon's temple was similar to the altar with steps that is described in Eze 43:13–17.

4:2 Sea of cast metal. Replaced the bronze basin of the tabernacle (Ex 30:18); it was used by the priests for their ceremonial washing (v. 6; Ex 30:21). The NT views these rituals as foreshadowing the cleansing provided by Christ (Tit 3:5; Heb 9:11–14). In the temple of Ezekiel, the Sea, which was on the south side in front of the temple (v. 10), has been replaced by a life-giving river that flows from the south side of the temple (Eze 47:1–12; cf. Joel 3:18; Zec 14:8; Jn 4:9–15; Rev 22:1–2).

4:3 bulls. 1Ki 7:24 has "gourds." The Hebrew for the two words is very similar, so the difference may well be due to a copyist's mistake.

4:4 twelve bulls. Possibly symbolic of the 12 tribes, which also encamped three on each side of the tabernacle during the desert journeys (Nu 2; cf. Eze 48:30–35).

4:5 three thousand baths. 1Ki 7:26 has 2,000 baths. These figures could easily have been misread by the ancient scribes.

4:6 ten basins. See 1Ki 7:38–39.

4:7 ten gold lampstands. Instead of one, as in the tabernacle (Ex 25:31–40). specifications. See 1Ch 28:15. These lamps were not necessarily of the same shape as described in Ex 25:31–40, but could have resembled the style of lamp depicted in Zec 4:2–6.

4:8 ten tables. Instead of one, as in the tabernacle (Ex 25:23–30; 40:4; Lev 24:5–9; 1Sa 21:1–6; Eze 41:22; Heb 9:2; cf. 2Ch 13:11; 29:18).

4:11–16 See 1Ki 7:40–45.

22 the pure gold wick trimmers, sprinkling bowls, dishes[h] and censers;[i] and the gold doors of the temple: the inner doors to the Most Holy Place and the doors of the main hall.

5 When all the work Solomon had done for the temple of the LORD was finished,[j] he brought in the things his father David had dedicated[k]—the silver and gold and all the furnishings—and he placed them in the treasuries of God's temple.

The Ark Brought to the Temple

5:2–6:11pp — 1Ki 8:1–21

2 Then Solomon summoned to Jerusalem the elders of Israel, all the heads of the tribes and the chiefs of the Israelite families, to bring up the ark[l] of the LORD's covenant from Zion, the City of David. 3 And all the men of Israel[m] came together to the king at the time of the festival in the seventh month.

4 When all the elders of Israel had arrived, the Levites took up the ark, 5 and they brought up the ark and the Tent of Meeting and all the sacred furnishings in it. The priests, who were Levites,[n] carried them up; 6 and King Solomon and the entire assembly of Israel that had gathered about him were before the ark, sacrificing so many sheep and cattle that they could not be recorded or counted.

7 The priests then brought the ark[o] of the LORD's covenant to its place in the inner sanctuary of the temple, the Most Holy Place, and put it beneath the wings of the cherubim. 8 The cherubim[p] spread their wings over the place of the ark and covered the ark and its carrying poles. 9 These poles were so long that their ends, extending from the ark, could be seen from in front of the inner sanctuary, but not from outside the Holy Place; and they are still there today. 10 There was nothing in the ark except[q] the two tablets[r] that Moses had placed in it at Horeb, where the LORD made a covenant with the Israelites after they came out of Egypt.

11 The priests then withdrew from the Holy Place. All the priests who were there had consecrated themselves, regardless of their divisions.[s] 12 All the Levites who were musicians[t]—Asaph, Heman, Jeduthun and their sons and relatives—stood on the east side of the altar, dressed in fine linen and playing cymbals, harps and lyres. They were accompanied by 120 priests sounding trumpets.[u] 13 The trumpeters and singers joined in unison, as with one voice, to give praise and thanks to the LORD. Accompanied by trumpets, cymbals and other instruments, they raised their voices in praise to the LORD and sang:

"He is good;
his love endures forever."[v]

Then the temple of the LORD was filled with a cloud,[w] 14 and the priests could not perform[x] their service because of the cloud,[y] for the glory[z] of the LORD filled the temple of God.

6 Then Solomon said, "The LORD has said that he would dwell in a dark cloud;[a] 2 I have built a magnificent temple for you, a place for you to dwell forever.[b]"

3 While the whole assembly of Israel was standing there, the king turned around and blessed them. 4 Then he said:

"Praise be to the LORD, the God of Israel, who with his hands has fulfilled what he promised with his mouth to my father David. For he said, 5 'Since the day I brought my people out of Egypt, I have not chosen a city in any tribe of Israel to have a temple built for my Name to be there, nor have I chosen anyone to be the leader over my people Israel. 6 But now I have chosen Jerusalem[c] for my Name[d] to be there, and I have chosen David[e] to rule my people Israel.'

7 "My father David had it in his heart[f] to build a temple for the

5:2–14 See 1Ki 8:1–11 and notes.

5:2 ark. Had been in a tent provided for it 40 years earlier when David brought it to Jerusalem (1Ch 15:1–16:6).

5:3 festival in the seventh month. The Feast of Tabernacles. The month is designated by its Canaanite name Ethanim in 1Ki 8:2; the Hebrew name is Tishri. According to 1Ki 6:38 the temple was completed in the eighth month of Solomon's 11th year, i.e., September-October, 959 B.C. This celebration of dedication took place either a month before the completion of the work or 11 months after, probably the latter (see note on 1Ki 8:2).

5:6 Cf. David's bringing of the ark to Jerusalem (1Ch 15:26; 16:1–3).

5:9 still there today. See note on 1Ki 8:8; see also 8:8; 10:19; 20:26; 21:10; 35:25; 1Ch 4:41,43; 5:26; 13:11; 17:5.

5:10 two tablets. See Ex 31:18 and note; see also Ex 32:15–16. The ark had earlier contained also the gold jar of manna (Ex 16:32–34) and Aaron's staff (Nu 17:10–11; Heb 9:4). These items were presumably lost, perhaps while the ark was in Philistine hands.

5:12 fine linen. See 1Ch 15:27 and note.

5:14 cloud . . . glory of the LORD. Cf. 7:1–3. The glory cloud represented the presence of God. It had guided Israel out of Egypt and through the desert, and was present above the tabernacle (Ex 13:21–22; 40:34–38; cf. Eze 43:1–5; Hag 2:9; Zec 1:16; 2:10; 8:3).

Name of the LORD, the God of Israel.
8But the LORD said to my father David, 'Because it was in your heart to build a temple for my Name, you did well to have this in your heart. 9Nevertheless, you are not the one to build the temple, but your son, who is your own flesh and blood—he is the one who will build the temple for my Name.'

10"The LORD has kept the promise he made. I have succeeded David my father and now I sit on the throne of Israel, just as the LORD promised, and I have built the temple for the Name of the LORD, the God of Israel. 11There I have placed the ark, in which is the covenant[g] of the LORD that he made with the people of Israel."

Solomon's Prayer of Dedication

6:12–40pp — 1Ki 8:22–53
6:41–42pp — Ps 132:8–10

12Then Solomon stood before the altar of the LORD in front of the whole assembly of Israel and spread out his hands. 13Now he had made a bronze platform,[h] five cubits[c] long, five cubits wide and three cubits[d] high, and had placed it in the center of the outer court. He stood on the platform and then knelt down[i] before the whole assembly of Israel and spread out his hands toward heaven. 14He said:

"O LORD, God of Israel, there is no God like you[j] in heaven or on earth—you who keep your covenant of love[k] with your servants who continue wholeheartedly in your way. 15You have kept your promise to your servant David my father; with your mouth you have promised[l] and with your hand you have fulfilled it—as it is today.

16"Now LORD, God of Israel, keep for your servant David my father the promises you made to him when you said, 'You shall never fail[m] to have a man to sit before me on the throne of Israel, if only your sons are careful in all they do to walk before me according to my law,[n] as you have done.' 17And now, O LORD, God of Israel, let your word that you promised your servant David come true.

18"But will God really dwell[o] on earth with men? The heavens,[p] even the highest heavens, cannot contain you. How much less this temple I have built! 19Yet give attention to your servant's prayer and his plea for mercy, O LORD my God. Hear the cry and the prayer that your servant is praying in your presence. 20May your eyes[q] be open toward this temple day and night, this place of which you said you would put your Name[r] there. May you hear[s] the prayer your servant prays toward this place. 21Hear the supplications of your servant and of your people Israel when they pray toward this place. Hear from heaven, your dwelling place; and when you hear, forgive.[t]

22"When a man wrongs his neighbor and is required to take an oath[u] and he comes and swears the oath before your altar in this temple, 23then hear from heaven and act. Judge between your servants, repaying[v] the guilty by bringing down on his own head what he has done. Declare the innocent not guilty and so establish his innocence.

24"When your people Israel have been defeated[w] by an enemy because they have sinned against you and when they turn back and confess your name, praying and making supplication before you in this temple, 25then hear from heaven and forgive the sin of your people Israel and bring them back to the land you gave to them and their fathers.

26"When the heavens are shut up and there is no rain[x] because your people have sinned against you, and when they pray toward this place and confess your name and turn from their sin because you have afflicted them, 27then hear from heaven and forgive[y] the sin of your servants, your people Israel. Teach them the right way to live, and send rain on the land you gave your people for an inheritance.

6:12–21 See notes on 1Ki 8:22–30.
6:13 Not in 1Ki 8. Some think that the Chronicler may have wished to clarify the fact that Solomon was not "before the altar" (v. 12) exercising priestly duties. On the other hand, the verse may have been dropped from Kings by a copying error: The phrase "spread out his hands" occurs in vv. 12–13; it is possible that the scribe copying Kings looked back to the second occurrence of the phrase, thus omitting the verse. The verse would then be present in Chronicles because it was in the particular text of Kings used by the Chronicler.

Forgive,[a] and deal with each man according to all he does, since you know his heart (for you alone know the hearts of men),[b] 31so that they will fear you[c] and walk in your ways all the time they live in the land you gave our fathers.

32"As for the foreigner who does not belong to your people Israel but has come[d] from a distant land because of your great name and your mighty hand[e] and your outstretched arm—when he comes and prays toward this temple, 33then hear from heaven, your dwelling place, and do whatever the foreigner[f] asks of you, so that all the peoples of the earth may know your name and fear you, as do your own people Israel, and may know that this house I have built bears your Name.

34"When your people go to war against their enemies,[g] wherever you send them, and when they pray[h] to you toward this city you have chosen and the temple I have built for your Name, 35then hear from heaven their prayer and their plea, and uphold their cause.

36"When they sin against you—for there is no one who does not sin[i]—and you become angry with them and give them over to the enemy, who takes them captive[j] to a land far away or near; 37and if they have a change of heart[k] in the land where they are held captive, and repent and plead with you in the land of their captivity and say, 'We have sinned, we have done wrong and acted wickedly'; 38and if they turn back to you with all their heart and soul in the land of their captivity where they were taken, and pray toward the land you gave their fathers, toward the city you have chosen and toward the temple I have built for your Name; 39then from heaven, your dwelling place, hear their prayer and their pleas, and uphold their cause. And forgive[l] your people, who have sinned against you.

40"Now, my God, may your eyes be open and your ears attentive[m] to the prayers offered in this place.

41"Now arise,[n] O LORD God, and come to your resting place,[o]
you and the ark of your might.
May your priests,[p] O LORD God, be clothed with salvation, may your saints rejoice in your promised to David your servant."

The Dedication of the Temple

7:1-10pp — 1Ki 8:62-66

7 When Solomon finished praying, fire[t] came down from heaven and consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices, and the glory of the LORD filled[u] the temple.[v] 2The priests could not enter[w] the temple of the LORD because the glory[x] of the LORD filled it. 3When all the Israelites saw the fire coming down and the glory of the LORD above the temple, they knelt on the pavement with their faces to the ground, and they worshiped and gave thanks to the LORD, saying,

"He is good;
his love endures forever."[y]

4Then the king and all the people offered sacrifices before the LORD. 5And King Solomon offered a sacrifice of twenty-two thousand head of cattle and a hundred

6:28–31 See Lev 26:16,20,25–26; Dt 28:20–22,27–28,35,42.
6:32–33 The prophets also envisaged the Gentiles as coming to Jerusalem to worship the Lord (Isa 56:6–8; Zec 8:20–23; 14:16–21; cf. Ps 87).
6:34–35 See Lev 26:7–8; Dt 28:6–7. The Chronicler repeatedly demonstrates God's answer to prayer in time of battle (ch. 13; 14:9–15; 18:31; 20:1–29; 25:5–13; 32:20–22).
6:36 no one who does not sin. See Jer 13:23; Ro 3:23. captive to a land far away. See 36:15–20; Lev 26:33,44–45; Dt 28:49–52; 2Ki 17:7–20; 25:1–21.
6:40–42 The Chronicler replaces the ending of Solomon's prayer in Kings (1Ki 8:50–53) with a repetition of Ps 132:8–10, a psalm that deals with bringing the ark to the temple, the theme of this section in Chronicles (5:2–14). The prayer in Kings ends with an appeal to the exodus deliverance under Moses, while in Chronicles the appeal is on the basis of the eternal promises to David.
7:1–22 See 1Ki 8:54–9:9 and notes.
7:1–3 Not found in 1Ki 8. The addition of the fire descending from heaven to consume the sacrifices provides the same sign of divine acceptance as was given at the dedication of the tabernacle (Lev 9:23–24) and David's offering at the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite (1Ch 21:26; cf. 1Ki 18:38). While vv. 1–3 are unique to Chronicles, the Chronicler has omitted Solomon's blessing of the congregation (1Ki 8:55–61).
7:1 glory of the LORD. See 5:14 and note.
7:3 He is good . . . forever. See v. 6; 5:13.

and twenty thousand sheep and goats. So the king and all the people dedicated the temple of God. 6The priests took their positions, as did the Levites[z] with the LORD's musical instruments,[a] which King David had made for praising the LORD and which were used when he gave thanks, saying, "His love endures forever." Opposite the Levites, the priests blew their trumpets, and all the Israelites were standing.

7Solomon consecrated the middle part of the courtyard in front of the temple of the LORD, and there he offered burnt offerings and the fat[b] of the fellowship offerings,[e] because the bronze altar he had made could not hold the burnt offerings, the grain offerings and the fat portions.

8So Solomon observed the festival[c] at that time for seven days, and all Israel[d] with him—a vast assembly, people from Lebo[f] Hamath[e] to the Wadi of Egypt.[f] 9On the eighth day they held an assembly, for they had celebrated[g] the dedication of the altar for seven days and the festival[h] for seven days more. 10On the twenty-third day of the seventh month he sent the people to their homes, joyful and glad in heart for the good things the LORD had done for David and Solomon and for his people Israel.

The LORD Appears to Solomon

7:11–22pp — 1Ki 9:1–9

11When Solomon had finished[i] the temple of the LORD and the royal palace, and had succeeded in carrying out all he had in mind to do in the temple of the LORD and in his own palace, 12the LORD appeared[j] to him at night and said:

"I have heard your prayer and have chosen[k] this place for myself[l] as a temple for sacrifices.

13"When I shut up the heavens so that there is no rain,[m] or command locusts to devour the land or send a plague among my people, 14if my people, who are called by my name,[n] will humble[o] themselves and pray and seek my face[p] and turn[q] from their wicked ways, then will I hear[r] from heaven and will forgive[s] their sin and will heal[t] their land. 15Now my eyes will be open and my ears attentive to the prayers offered in this place.[u] 16I have chosen[v] and consecrated this temple so that my Name may be there forever. My eyes and my heart will always be there.

17"As for you, if you walk before me[w] as David your father did, and do all I command, and observe my decrees[x] and laws, 18I will establish your royal throne, as I covenanted[y] with David your father when I said, 'You shall never fail to have a man[z] to rule over Israel.'[a]

19"But if you[g] turn away[b] and forsake[c] the decrees and commands I have given you[g] and go off to serve other gods and worship them, 20then I will uproot[d] Israel from my land,[e] which I have given them, and will reject this temple I have consecrated for my Name. I will make it a byword and an object of ridicule[f] among all peoples. 21And though this temple is now so imposing, all who pass by will be appalled[g] and say,[h] 'Why has the LORD done such a thing to this land and to this temple?' 22People will answer, 'Because they have forsaken the LORD, the God of their fathers, who brought them out of Egypt, and have embraced other gods, worshiping and serving them[i]—that is why he brought all this disaster on them.' "

[e] 7 Traditionally peace offerings [f] 8 Or from the entrance to [g] 19 The Hebrew is plural.

7:6 The verse is unique to Chronicles and reflects the author's overall interest in the Levites, especially the musicians (cf. 29:26–27; see note on 1Ch 6:31–48). all the Israelites. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes.

7:8 from Lebo Hamath to the Wadi of Egypt. Not only were the patriarchal promises of descendants provisionally fulfilled under David and Solomon (see 1:9; 1Ch 27:23–24 and notes), but also the promises of land (Ge 15:18–21).

7:9 eighth day. The final day of the Feast of Tabernacles (see 5:3 and note; Lev 23:36; Nu 29:35). seven days ... seven days. The dedication had run from the 8th to the 14th day of the month, and the Feast of Tabernacles from the 15th to the 22nd day. The Day of Atonement was on the 10th day of the 7th month (Lev 16; cf. 1Ki 8:65–66).

7:12 appeared to him. The second time God appeared to Solomon; the first was at Gibeon (1:3–13; 1Ki 9:2).

7:13–15 Unique to Chronicles. These verses illustrate the writer's emphasis on immediate retribution (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes). The Chronicler subsequently portrays the kings in a way that demonstrates this principle (see v. 22).

7:14 See, e.g., 12:6–7,12.

7:17–18 See 1Ki 9:4–5. Such words as these reinforced ancient Israel's Messianic hopes.

7:19–22 See 1Ki 9:6–9.

8:1–18 See 1Ki 9:10–18 and notes. Verses 13–16 are unique to Chronicles and underscore the Chronicler's concern to show continuity with the past and his association of David with Moses (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).

8:1–2 In 1 Ki 9:10–14 the cities were given to Hiram by the LORD and his own palace,[j] 2Solomon rebuilt the villages that Hiram[h] had given him, and settled Israelites in them. 3Solomon then went to Hamath Zobah and captured it. 4He also built up Tadmor in the desert and all the store cities he had built in Hamath.[k] 5He rebuilt Upper Beth Horon[l] and Lower Beth Horon as fortified cities, with walls and with gates and bars, 6as well as Baalath[m] and all his store cities, and all the cities for his chariots and for his horses[i]—whatever he desired to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon and throughout all the territory he ruled.

7All the people left from the Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites[n] (these peoples were not Israelites), 8that is, their descendants remaining in the land, whom the Israelites had not destroyed—these Solomon conscripted[o] for his slave labor force, as it is to this day. 9But Solomon did not make slaves of the Israelites for his work; they were his fighting men, commanders of his captains, and commanders of his chariots and charioteers. 10They were also King Solomon's chief officials—two hundred and fifty officials supervising the men.

11Solomon brought Pharaoh's daughter[p] up from the City of David to the palace he had built for her, for he said, "My wife must not live in the palace of David king of Israel, because the places the ark of the LORD has entered are holy."

12On the altar[q] of the LORD that he had built in front of the portico, Solomon sacrificed burnt offerings to the LORD, 13according to the daily requirement[r] for offerings commanded by Moses for Sabbaths,[s] New Moons[t] and the three[u] annual feasts—the Feast of Unleavened Bread,[v] the Feast of Weeks[w] and the Feast of Tabernacles.[x] 14In keeping with the ordinance of his father David, he appointed the divisions[y] of the priests for their duties, and the Levites[z] to lead the praise and to assist the priests according to each day's requirement. He also appointed the gatekeepers[a] by divisions for the various gates, because this was what David the man of God[b] had ordered.[c] 15They did not deviate from the king's commands to the priests or to the Levites in any matter, including that of the treasuries.

16All Solomon's work was carried out, from the day the foundation of the temple of the LORD was laid until its completion. So the temple of the LORD was finished.

17Then Solomon went to Ezion Geber and Elath on the coast of Edom. 18And Hiram sent him ships commanded by his own officers, men who knew the sea. These, with Solomon's men, sailed to Ophir and brought back four hundred and fifty talents[j] of gold,[d] which they delivered to King Solomon.

The Queen of Sheba Visits Solomon

9:1–12pp — 1Ki 10:1–13

9 When the queen of Sheba[e] heard of Solomon's fame, she came to Jerusalem to test him with hard questions. Arriving with a very great caravan—with camels carrying spices, large quantities of gold, and precious stones—she came to Solomon and talked with him about all she had on her mind. 2Solomon answered all her questions; nothing was Solomon, whereas in Chronicles the reverse is true. Perhaps as part of his effort to idealize Solomon, the Chronicler does not record the fact that Hiram found these cities unacceptable payment (1Ki 9:11–13); he mentions only the sequel to the story, the return of the cities to Solomon and their subsequent improvement. They may also have served as a kind of collateral against the monies owed Hiram, who returned them when the debt was satisfied (see note on 1Ki 9:11). The Chronicler also says nothing about Pharaoh's gift of Gezer to Solomon (1Ki 9:16).

8:3–4 The Chronicler records an additional military campaign to the north, not mentioned in Kings. David had also campaigned in the north against Zobah (1Ch 18:3–9; 19:6; 2Sa 8:3–12; 10:6–8; cf. 1Ki 11:23–24).

8:5 The two Beth Horons were situated on a strategic road from the coastal plain to the area just north of Jerusalem.

8:7 not Israelites. See 2:17; 1Ch 22:2; 1Ki 9:21.

8:8 to this day. See note on 5:9.

8:11 holy. Both 1Ki 9:24 and Chronicles record the transfer of Pharaoh's daughter to special quarters, but only Chronicles adds the reason: Not only the temple but also David's palace was regarded as holy, because of the presence of the ark.

8:12–16 In line with his overall interests, the Chronicler considerably elaborates on the sacrificial and temple provisions made by Solomon. While 1Ki 9:25 mentions only the sacrifices at the three annual feasts, the Chronicler adds the offerings on Sabbaths and New Moons to conform these provisions fully to Mosaic prescription (Lev 23:1–37; Nu 28–29).

8:17–18 See 1Ki 9:26–28. This joint venture between Solomon and Hiram secured for these kings the lucrative trade routes through the Mediterranean to the south Arabian peninsula; Solomon became the middleman between these economic spheres.

8:18 Hiram sent him ships. Presumably ships crafted in Phoenicia and assembled at the port of Ezion Geber after being shipped overland (see 9:21).

9:1–12 See 1Ki 10:1–13 and notes. The visit of the queen of Sheba portrays the fulfillment of God's promise to give Solomon wisdom and wealth (1:12). Although the themes of Solomon's wisdom and wealth are here put to the fore, a major motive for the queen's visit may have been commercial, perhaps prompted by Solomon's naval operations toward south Arabia (8:17–18).

9:1 Sheba. See note on 1Ki 10:1; see also Job 1:15; 6:19; Ps 72:10–11,15; Isa 60:6; Jer 6:20; Eze 27:22; 38:13; Joel 3:8.

too hard for him to explain to her. 3When the queen of Sheba saw the wisdom of Solomon,[f] as well as the palace he had built, 4the food on his table, the seating of his officials, the attending servants in their robes, the cupbearers in their robes and the burnt offerings he made at[k] the temple of the LORD, she was overwhelmed.

5She said to the king, "The report I heard in my own country about your achievements and your wisdom is true. 6But I did not believe what they said until I came[g] and saw with my own eyes. Indeed, not even half the greatness of your wisdom was told me; you have far exceeded the report I heard. 7How happy your men must be! How happy your officials, who continually stand before you and hear your wisdom! 8Praise be to the LORD your God, who has delighted in you and placed you on his throne[h] as king to rule for the LORD your God. Because of the love of your God for Israel and his desire to uphold them forever, he has made you king[i] over them, to maintain justice and righteousness."

9Then she gave the king 120 talents[l] of gold,[j] large quantities of spices, and precious stones. There had never been such spices as those the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.

10(The men of Hiram and the men of Solomon brought gold from Ophir;[k] they also brought algumwood[m] and precious stones. 11The king used the algumwood to make steps for the temple of the LORD and for the royal palace, and to make harps and lyres for the musicians. Nothing like them had ever been seen in Judah.)

12King Solomon gave the queen of Sheba all she desired and asked for; he gave her more than she had brought to him. Then she left and returned with her retinue to her own country.

Solomon's Splendor

9:13–28pp — 1Ki 10:14–29; 2Ch 1:14–17

13The weight of the gold that Solomon received yearly was 666 talents,[n] 14not including the revenues brought in by merchants and traders. Also all the kings of Arabia[l] and the governors of the land brought gold and silver to Solomon.

15King Solomon made two hundred large shields of hammered gold; six hundred bekas[o] of hammered gold went into each shield. 16He also made three hundred small shields[m] of hammered gold, with three hundred bekas[p] of gold in each shield. The king put them in the Palace of the Forest of Lebanon.[n]

17Then the king made a great throne inlaid with ivory[o] and overlaid with pure gold. 18The throne had six steps, and a footstool of gold was attached to it. On both sides of the seat were armrests, with a lion standing beside each of them. 19Twelve lions stood on the six steps, one at either end of each step. Nothing like it had ever been made for any other kingdom. 20All King Solomon's goblets were gold, and all the household articles in the Palace of the Forest of Lebanon were pure gold. Nothing was made of silver, because silver was considered of little value in Solomon's day. 21The king had a fleet of trading ships[q] manned by Hiram's[r] men. Once every three years it returned, carrying gold, silver and ivory, and apes and baboons.

22King Solomon was greater in riches and wisdom than all the other kings of the earth.[p] 23All the kings[q] of the earth sought audience with Solomon to hear the wisdom God had put in his heart. 24Year after year, everyone who came brought a gift[r]—articles of silver and gold, and robes, weapons and spices, and horses and mules.

25Solomon had four thousand stalls for horses and chariots,[s] and twelve thousand horses,[s] which he kept in the chariot cities and also with him in Jerusalem. 26He ruled[t] over all the kings from the River[t][u] to the land of the Philistines, as far as the border of Egypt.[v] 27The king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stones, and cedar as plentiful as sycamore-fig trees in the foothills. 28Solomon's horses were imported from Egypt[u] and from all other countries.

not written in the records of Nathan[u] the prophet, in the prophecy of Ahijah[x] the Shilonite and in the visions of Iddo the seer concerning Jeroboam[y] son of Nebat? [30]Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years. [31]Then he rested with his fathers and was buried in the city of David[z] his father. And Rehoboam his son succeeded him as king.

Israel Rebels Against Rehoboam

10:1–11:4pp — 1Ki 12:1–24

10 Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all the Israelites had gone there to make him king. [2]When Jeroboam[a] son of Nebat heard this (he was in Egypt, where he had fled[b] from King Solomon), he returned from Egypt. [3]So they sent for Jeroboam, and he and all Israel[c] went to Rehoboam and said to him: [4]"Your father put a heavy yoke on us,[d] but now lighten the harsh labor and the heavy yoke he put on us, and we will serve you."

[5]Rehoboam answered, "Come back to me in three days." So the people went away.

[6]Then King Rehoboam consulted the elders[e] who had served his father Solomon during his lifetime. "How would you advise me to answer these people?" he asked.

[7]They replied, "If you will be kind to these people and please them and give them a favorable answer,[f] they will always be your servants."

[8]But Rehoboam rejected[g] the advice the elders[h] gave him and consulted the young men who had grown up with him and were serving him. [9]He asked them, "What is your advice? How should we answer these people who say to me, 'Lighten the yoke your father put on us'?"

[10]The young men who had grown up with him replied, "Tell the people who have said to you, 'Your father put a heavy yoke on us, but make our yoke lighter'—tell them, 'My little finger is thicker than my father's waist. [11]My father laid on you a heavy yoke; I will make it even heavier. My father scourged you with whips; I will scourge you with scorpions.' "

[12]Three days later Jeroboam and all the people returned to Rehoboam, as the king had said, "Come back to me in three days." [13]The king answered them harshly. Rejecting the advice of the elders, [14]he followed the advice of the young men and said, "My father made your yoke heavy; I will make it even heavier. My father scourged you with whips; I will scourge you with scorpions." [15]So the king did not listen to the people, for this turn of events was from God,[i] to fulfill the word the LORD had spoken to Jeroboam son of Nebat through Ahijah the Shilonite.[j]

[16]When all Israel[k] saw that the king refused to listen to them, they answered the king:

"What share do we have in David,[l]
what part in Jesse's son?
To your tents, O Israel!
Look after your own house,
O David!"

So all the Israelites went home. [17]But as for the Israelites who were living in the towns of Judah, Rehoboam still ruled over them.

[18]King Rehoboam sent out Adoniram,[vm] who was in charge of forced labor, but the Israelites stoned him to death. King Rehoboam, however, managed to get into his chariot and escape to Jerusalem. [19]So Israel has been in rebel-

10:1–36:23 The material covering the divided monarchy in Chronicles is considerably shorter than that in Kings: 27 chapters compared to 36 (1Ki 12–2Ki 25). Moreover, about half of this material is unique to Chronicles and shows no dependence on Kings. The most obvious reason for this is that the Chronicler has written a history of the Davidic dynasty in Judah; the history of the northern kingdom is passed over in silence except where it impinges on that of Judah. At least two considerations prompt this treatment of the divided kingdom: 1. The Chronicler is concerned to trace God's faithfulness to his promise to give David an unbroken line of descent on the throne of Israel. 2. At the time of the Chronicler the restored community was confined to the returnees of the kingdom of Judah, who were actually the remnant of all Israel (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).

10:1–19 See 1Ki 12:1–20 and notes. Somewhat in line with his idealization of Solomon, the Chronicler places most of the blame for the schism on the rebellious Jeroboam (cf. 13:6–7).

10:1 Rehoboam. Reigned 930–913 B.C.

10:2 Jeroboam. His second mention in Chronicles (see 9:29). The Chronicler assumes the reader's familiarity with 1Ki 11:26–40.

10:15 Ahijah. The Chronicler assumes the reader's familiarity with 1Ki 11:29–33.

10:18 Adoniram . . . in charge of forced labor. Had held the same office under Solomon (1Ki 4:6; 5:14).

lion against the house of David to this day.

11 When Rehoboam arrived in Jerusalem,[n] he mustered the house of Judah and Benjamin—a hundred and eighty thousand fighting men—to make war against Israel and to regain the kingdom for Rehoboam.

2But this word of the LORD came to Shemaiah[o] the man of God: 3"Say to Rehoboam son of Solomon king of Judah and to all the Israelites in Judah and Benjamin, 4'This is what the LORD says: Do not go up to fight against your brothers.[p] Go home, every one of you, for this is my doing.' " So they obeyed the words of the LORD and turned back from marching against Jeroboam.

Rehoboam Fortifies Judah

5Rehoboam lived in Jerusalem and built up towns for defense in Judah: 6Bethlehem, Etam, Tekoa, 7Beth Zur, Soco, Adullam, 8Gath, Mareshah, Ziph, 9Adoraim, Lachish, Azekah, 10Zorah, Aijalon and Hebron. These were fortified cities[q] in Judah and Benjamin. 11He strengthened their defenses and put commanders in them, with supplies of food, olive oil and wine. 12He put shields and spears in all the cities, and made them very strong. So Judah and Benjamin were his.

13The priests and Levites from all their districts throughout Israel sided with him. 14The Levites[r] even abandoned their pasturelands and property,[s] and came to Judah and Jerusalem because Jeroboam and his sons had rejected them as priests of the LORD. 15And he appointed[t] his own priests[u] for the high places and for the goat[v] and calf[w] idols he had made. 16Those from every tribe of Israel[x] who set their hearts on seeking the LORD, the God of Israel, followed the Levites to Jerusalem to offer sacrifices to the LORD, the God of their fathers. 17They strengthened[y] the kingdom of Judah and supported Rehoboam son of Solomon three years, walking in the ways of David and Solomon during this time.

Rehoboam's Family

18Rehoboam married Mahalath, who was the daughter of David's son Jerimoth and of Abihail, the daughter of Jesse's son Eliab. 19She bore him sons: Jeush, Shemariah and Zaham. 20Then he married Maacah[z] daughter of Absalom, who bore him Abijah,[a] Attai, Ziza and Shelomith. 21Rehoboam loved Maacah daughter of Absalom more than any of his other wives and concubines. In all, he had eighteen wives[b] and sixty concubines, twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters.

22Rehoboam appointed Abijah[c] son of Maacah to be the chief prince among his brothers, in order to make him king. 23He acted wisely, dispersing some of his sons throughout the districts of Judah and Benjamin, and to all the fortified cities. He gave them abundant provisions[d] and took many wives for them.

11:1–23 Verses 1–4 are parallel to 1Ki 12:21–24; vv. 5–23 are largely unique to Chronicles. The Chronicler's account of Rehoboam is a good example of his emphasis on immediate retribution (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes). Ch. 11 traces the rewards for obedience to the command of God (vv. 1–4): Rehoboam enjoys prosperity and power (vv. 5–12), popular support (vv. 13–17) and progeny (vv. 18–23). Ch. 12 demonstrates the reverse: Disobedience brings judgment.

11:2 Shemaiah. The function of the prophets as guardians of the theocracy (God's kingdom) is prominent in Chronicles; most of Judah's kings are portrayed as receiving advice from prophets (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).

11:3 the Israelites in Judah and Benjamin. A variation from the wording found in 1Ki 12:23, in accordance with the Chronicler's interest in "all Israel."

11:4 my doing. See 10:15.

11:5–10 This list of cities is not found in Kings. Rehoboam fortified his eastern, western and southern borders, but not the north, perhaps demonstrating his hope of reunification of the kingdoms, as well as the threat of invasion from Egypt.

11:13–17 The Chronicler assumes the reader's familiarity with 1Ki 12:26–33. This material is unique to Chronicles and reflects the author's concern both with the temple and its personnel and with showing that the kingdom of Judah was the remnant of all Israel.

11:14 pasturelands and property. See 1Ch 6:54–80; Lev 25:32–34; Nu 35:1–5; see also Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes.

11:15 goat and calf idols. The account in Kings mentions only the golden calves (for the worship of goat idols or satyrs see Lev 17:7).

11:17 three years. See note on 12:2. ways of David and Solomon. Characteristic of the Chronicler's idealization of Solomon; contrast the portrait of Solomon in 1Ki 11:1–13.

11:18–22 The report on the size of Rehoboam's family is placed here as part of the Chronicler's effort to show God's blessing on his obedience (see note on 11:1–23). The material is not in chronological sequence with the surrounding context but summarizes events throughout his reign. The Chronicler uses numerous progeny as a sign of divine blessing (see 13:21; see also notes on 21:2; 1Ch 25:5).

11:20 Maacah daughter of Absalom. See note on 1Ki 15:2. She was likely the granddaughter of Absalom, through his daughter Tamar (2Sa 14:27; 18:18), who was married to Uriel (2Ch 13:2).

11:21–22 These verses explain why the eldest son was not appointed Rehoboam's successor.

11:23 dispersing some of his sons. Rehoboam may have sought to secure the succession of Abijah by assigning other sons to outlying posts, perhaps to avoid the difficulties faced by David, whose sons at court (Adonijah and Absalom) had attempted to seize power.

Shishak Attacks Jerusalem

12:9–16pp — 1Ki 14:21, 25–31

12 After Rehoboam's position as king was established[e] and he had become strong,[f] he and all Israel[wg] with him abandoned[h] the law of the LORD. 2Because they had been unfaithful[i] to the LORD, Shishak[j] king of Egypt attacked Jerusalem in the fifth year of King Rehoboam. 3With twelve hundred chariots and sixty thousand horsemen and the innumerable troops of Libyans,[k] Sukkites and Cushites[xl] that came with him from Egypt, 4he captured the fortified cities[m] of Judah and came as far as Jerusalem.

5Then the prophet Shemaiah[n] came to Rehoboam and to the leaders of Judah who had assembled in Jerusalem for fear of Shishak, and he said to them, "This is what the LORD says, 'You have abandoned me; therefore, I now abandon[o] you to Shishak.' "

6The leaders of Israel and the king humbled[p] themselves and said, "The LORD is just."[q]

7When the LORD saw that they humbled themselves, this word of the LORD came to Shemaiah: "Since they have humbled themselves, I will not destroy them but will soon give them deliverance.[r] My wrath[s] will not be poured out on Jerusalem through Shishak. 8They will, however, become subject[t] to him, so that they may learn the difference between serving me and serving the kings of other lands."

9When Shishak king of Egypt attacked Jerusalem, he carried off the treasures of the temple of the LORD and the treasures of the royal palace. He took everything, including the gold shields[u] Solomon had made. 10So King Rehoboam made bronze shields to replace them and assigned these to the commanders of the guard on duty at the entrance to the royal palace. 11Whenever the king went to the LORD's temple, the guards went with him, bearing the shields, and afterward they returned them to the guardroom.

12Because Rehoboam humbled[v] himself, the LORD's anger turned from him, and he was not totally destroyed. Indeed, there was some good[w] in Judah.

13King Rehoboam established[x] himself firmly in Jerusalem and continued as king. He was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel in which to put his Name.[y] His mother's name was Naamah; she was an Ammonite. 14He did evil because he had not set his heart on seeking the LORD.

15As for the events of Rehoboam's reign, from beginning to end, are they not written in the records of Shemaiah[z] the prophet and of Iddo the seer that deal with genealogies? There was continual warfare between Rehoboam and Jeroboam. 16Rehoboam[a] rested with his fathers and was buried in the City of David. And Abijah[b] his son succeeded him as king.

Abijah King of Judah

13:1–2,22–14:1pp — 1Ki 15:1–2,6–8

13 In the eighteenth year of the reign of Jeroboam, Abijah became king of Judah, 2and he reigned in Jerusalem three years. His mother's name was Maacah,[yc] a daughter[z] of Uriel of Gibeah.

[z] 2 Or granddaughter

12:1–14 See note on 11:1–23. Whereas obedience to the prophetic word (11:1–4) had brought blessing (11:5–23), now the prophet comes to announce judgment for disobedience (see 1Ki 14:25–28). While the writer of Kings also reports the attack of Shishak, the Chronicler alone adds the rationale that the invasion was because of forsaking the commands of God (vv. 1–2,5).

12:1 all Israel. Used in a variety of ways in 2 Chronicles: (1) of both kingdoms (9:30), (2) of the northern kingdom (10:16; 11:13) or (3) of the southern kingdom alone (as here; 11:3). abandoned. The opposite of "seeking the LORD" (v. 14); see v. 5; see also note on 24:18,20,24.

12:2 Shishak. Founder of the 22nd dynasty of Egypt, he ruled c. 945–924 B.C. The Bible mentions this invasion only as it affected Jerusalem, but Shishak's own inscription on the wall of the temple of Amun at Karnak (Thebes) indicates that his armies also swept as far north as the plain of Jezreel and Megiddo. fifth year. 925 B.C. The Chronicler often introduces chronological notes not found in Kings (e.g., 11:17; 15:10,19; 16:1,12–13; 17:7; 21:20; 24:15,17,23; 26:16; 27:5,8; 29:3; 34:3; 36:21). These become a vehicle for his emphasis on immediate retribution by dividing the reigns of individual kings into cycles of obedience-blessing and disobedience-punishment. This sequence is clear for Rehoboam: Three years of obedience and blessing (11:17) are followed by rebellion, presumably in the fourth year (12:1), and punishment in the fifth (here).

12:3 Sukkites. Probably a group of mercenary soldiers of Libyan origin who are known from Egyptian texts.

12:5 See notes on vv. 1–14; v. 1.

12:6–7 See v. 12. The Chronicler has in mind God's promise in 7:14.

12:13 seventeen years. See note on 10:1.

12:15–16 See 1Ki 14:29–31.

13:1–14:1 The Chronicler's account of Abijah's reign is about three times longer than that in 1Ki 15:1–8, largely due to Abijah's lengthy speech (13:4–12; see note on 28:1–27). The most striking difference in the accounts of Abijah's reign in Kings and in Chronicles is the evaluation given in each: Kings offers a negative evaluation (1Ki 15:3), for which there was no doubt warrant, while the assessment in Chronicles is positive, in view of what the Chronicler is able to report of him. The kings' reigns, like the lives of common people, were often a mixture of good and evil.

13:2 three years. 913–910 B.C. Maacah. See note on 11:20.

There was war between Abijah[d] and Jeroboam.[e] 3Abijah went into battle with a force of four hundred thousand able fighting men, and Jeroboam drew up a battle line against him with eight hundred thousand able troops.

4Abijah stood on Mount Zemaraim,[f] in the hill country of Ephraim, and said, "Jeroboam and all Israel,[g] listen to me! 5Don't you know that the LORD, the God of Israel, has given the kingship of Israel to David and his descendants forever[h] by a covenant of salt?[i] 6Yet Jeroboam son of Nebat, an official of Solomon son of David, rebelled[j] against his master. 7Some worthless scoundrels[k] gathered around him and opposed Rehoboam son of Solomon when he was young and indecisive[l] and not strong enough to resist them.

8"And now you plan to resist the kingdom of the LORD, which is in the hands of David's descendants.[m] You are indeed a vast army and have with you[n] the golden calves[o] that Jeroboam made to be your gods. 9But didn't you drive out the priests[p] of the LORD,[q] the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and make priests of your own as the peoples of other lands do? Whoever comes to consecrate himself with a young bull[r] and seven rams[s] may become a priest of what are not gods.[t]

10"As for us, the LORD is our God, and we have not forsaken him. The priests who serve the LORD are sons of Aaron, and the Levites assist them. 11Every morning and evening[u] they present burnt offerings and fragrant incense[v] to the LORD. They set out the bread on the ceremonially clean table[w] and light the lamps[x] on the gold lampstand every evening. We are observing the requirements of the LORD our God. But you have forsaken him. 12God is with us; he is our leader. His priests with their trumpets will sound the battle cry against you.[y] Men of Israel, do not fight against the LORD,[z] the God of your fathers, for you will not succeed."[a] 13Now Jeroboam had sent troops around to the rear, so that while he was in front of Judah the ambush[b] was behind them. 14Judah turned and saw that they were being attacked at both front and rear. Then they cried out[c] to the LORD. The priests blew their trumpets 15and the men of Judah raised the battle cry. At the sound of their battle cry, God routed Jeroboam and all Israel[d] before Abijah and Judah. 16The Israelites fled before Judah, and God delivered[e] them into their hands. 17Abijah and his men inflicted heavy losses on them, so that there were five hundred thousand casualties among Israel's able men. 18The men of Israel were subdued on that occasion, and the men of Judah were victorious because they relied[f] on the LORD, the God of their fathers.

19Abijah pursued Jeroboam and took from him the towns of Bethel, Jeshanah and Ephron, with their surrounding villages. 20Jeroboam did not regain power during the time of Abijah. And the LORD struck him down and he died.

21But Abijah grew in strength. He married fourteen wives and had twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters.

22The other events of Abijah's reign, what he did and what he said, are written in the annotations of the prophet Iddo.

14 And Abijah rested with his fathers and was buried in the City of David. Asa his son succeeded him as king, and in his days the country was at peace for ten years.

13:3 four hundred thousand ... eight hundred thousand. Surprisingly large figures but in line with those in 1Ch 21:5 (see note there). Apparently this was all-out war.

13:4 Mount Zemaraim. Location uncertain. The town Zemaraim was in the territory of Benjamin (Jos 18:22); presumably the battle was along the common border of Benjamin and Israel. all Israel. See note on 12:1; here and in v. 15 the reference is to the northern kingdom.

13:5 See 7:17–18; 1Ch 17:13–14. covenant of salt. See notes on Nu 18:19; 2Ki 2:20.

13:6 See note on 10:1–19.

13:7 Not all in the northern kingdom are rebuked, only the leadership—a subtle appeal to those in the north who had been led into rebellion. scoundrels. See note on Dt 13:13. young and indecisive. Cf. 1Ch 22:5; 29:1. Rehoboam was 41 years old at the time of the schism (12:13).

13:8 kingdom of the LORD. The house of David represents the kingdom of God (see 9:8 and note).

13:9 See 1Ki 12:25–33. consecrate himself. Cf. Ex 29:1.

13:10–12 The Chronicler's concern with acceptable worship focuses on the legitimate priests and the observance of prescribed worship (cf. 1Ch 23:28–31).

13:21 See note on 11:18–22.

14:1 peace for ten years. For the Chronicler peace and prosperity go hand in hand with righteous rule. This first decade of Asa's reign (910–900 B.C.) preceded the invasion by Zerah (14:9–15) and was followed by 20 more years of peace, from the 15th (15:10) to the 35th years (15:19). Contrast this account with the statement that there was war between Asa and Baasha throughout their reigns (see 1Ki 15:16 and note). The tensions between the two kingdoms may have accounted for Asa's fortifications (14:7–8), though actual combat was likely confined to raids until the major campaign was launched in Asa's 36th year (16:1). See 15:8 and note.

14:2–16:14 The account of Asa's reign (910–869 B.C.) here is greatly expanded over the one in 1Ki 15:9–24. The expansions characteristically express the Chronicler's view concerning the relationship between obedience and blessing, disobedience and punishment. The author introduces the eyes of the LORD his God.[g] 3He removed the foreign altars[h] and the high places, smashed the sacred stones[i] and cut down the Asherah poles.[a][j] 4He commanded Judah to seek the LORD,[k] the God of their fathers, and to obey his laws and commands. 5He removed the high places[l] and incense altars[m] in every town in Judah, and the kingdom was at peace under him. 6He built up the fortified cities of Judah, since the land was at peace. No one was at war with him during those years, for the LORD gave him rest.[n]

7"Let us build up these towns," he said to Judah, "and put walls around them, with towers, gates and bars. The land is still ours, because we have sought the LORD our God; we sought him and he has given us rest[o] on every side." So they built and prospered.

8Asa had an army of three hundred thousand[p] men from Judah, equipped with large shields and with spears, and two hundred and eighty thousand from Benjamin, armed with small shields and with bows. All these were brave fighting men.

9Zerah the Cushite[q] marched out against them with a vast army[b] and three hundred chariots, and came as far as Mareshah.[r] 10Asa went out to meet him, and they took up battle positions in the Valley of Zephathah near Mareshah.

11Then Asa called[s] to the LORD his God and said, "LORD, there is no one like you to help the powerless against the mighty. Help us,[t] O LORD our God, for we rely[u] on you, and in your name[v] we have come against this vast army. O LORD, you are our God; do not let man prevail[w] against you."

12The LORD struck down[x] the Cushites before Asa and Judah. The Cushites fled, 13and Asa and his army pursued them as far as Gerar.[y] Such a great number of Cushites fell that they could not recover; they were crushed[z] before the LORD and his forces. The men of Judah carried off a large amount of plunder.[a] 14They destroyed all the villages around Gerar, for the terror[b] of the LORD had fallen upon them. They plundered all these villages, since there was much booty there. 15They also attacked the camps of the herdsmen and carried off droves of sheep and goats and camels. Then they returned to Jerusalem.

Asa's Reform

15:16–19pp — 1Ki 15:13–16

15 The Spirit of God came upon[c] Azariah son of Oded. 2He went out to meet Asa and said to him, "Listen to me, Asa and all Judah and Benjamin. The LORD is with you[d] when you are with him.[e] If you seek[f] him, he will be found by you, but if you forsake him, he will forsake you.[g] 3For a long time Israel was without the true God, without a priest to teach[h] and without the law.[i] 4But in their distress they turned to the LORD, the God of Israel, and sought him,[j] and he was found by them. 5In those days it was not safe to travel about,[k] for all the inhabitants of the lands were in great turmoil. 6One nation was being crushed by another and one city by another,[l] because God was troubling them with every kind of distress.

chronological notes into his account to divide Asa's reign into these periods (see note on 12:2): For ten years Asa did what was right and prospered (14:1–7), and an invasion by a powerful Cushite force was repulsed because he called on the Lord (14:8–15). There followed further reforms (15:1–9) and a covenant renewal in Asa's 15th year (15:10–18), and so he enjoyed peace until his 35th year (15:19). But then came a change: When confronted by an invasion from the northern kingdom in his 36th year (16:1), he hired Aramean reinforcements rather than trusting in the Lord (16:2–6), and imprisoned the prophet who rebuked him (16:7–10). In his 39th year he was afflicted with a disease (16:12), but still steadfastly refused to seek the Lord. In his 41st year he died (16:13).

14:3 sacred stones. See note on 1Ki 14:23.

14:5 removed the high places. 1Ki 15:14 states that Asa did not remove the high places. This difficulty is best resolved by the Chronicler's own statement in 15:17, which is properly parallel to 1Ki 15:14: Early in his reign Asa did attempt to remove the high places, but pagan worship was extremely resilient, and ultimately his efforts were unsuccessful (15:17). Statements that the high places both were and were not removed are also found in the reign of Jehoshaphat (17:6; 20:33). Cf. Dt 12:2–3.

14:7 rest on every side. See note on 20:30.

14:9 Zerah the Cushite. Many identify him with Pharaoh Osorkon I, second pharaoh of the 22nd Egyptian dynasty. However, since he is not called "king" or "pharaoh," and is known as the "Cushite" or "Nubian," some prefer to identify him as an otherwise unknown general serving the pharaoh. The invasion appears to have been an attempt to duplicate the attack of Shishak 30 years earlier (12:1–12), but the results against Asa were quite different.

14:10 Valley of Zephathah. Marked the entrance to a road leading to the hills of Judah and Jerusalem. Mareshah. Earlier fortified by Rehoboam (11:8) to protect the route mentioned here.

14:13 Gerar. See note on Ge 20:1. plunder. Much of this booty (v. 14) made its way to the storehouses of the temple (15:18; see note on 1Ch 18:1–20:8).

14:14 terror of the LORD. See note on 1Ch 14:17.

15:1–19 This chapter appears to recount a second stage in the reforms introduced by Asa, beginning with the victory over Zerah and encouraged by the preaching of Azariah (v. 1).

15:3 priest to teach. The duties of the priests were not only to officiate at the altar, but also to teach the law (see 17:7–9; Lev 10:11).

7But as for you, be strong[m] and do not give up, for your work will be rewarded."[n]

8When Asa heard these words and the prophecy of Azariah son of[c] Oded the prophet, he took courage. He removed the detestable idols[o] from the whole land of Judah and Benjamin and from the towns he had captured[p] in the hills of Ephraim. He repaired the altar[q] of the LORD that was in front of the portico of the LORD's temple.

9Then he assembled all Judah and Benjamin and the people from Ephraim, Manasseh and Simeon who had settled among them, for large numbers[r] had come over to him from Israel when they saw that the LORD his God was with him.

10They assembled at Jerusalem in the third month[s] of the fifteenth year of Asa's reign. 11At that time they sacrificed to the LORD seven hundred head of cattle and seven thousand sheep and goats from the plunder[t] they had brought back. 12They entered into a covenant[u] to seek the LORD,[v] the God of their fathers, with all their heart and soul. 13All who would not seek the LORD, the God of Israel, were to be put to death,[w] whether small or great, man or woman. 14They took an oath to the LORD with loud acclamation, with shouting and with trumpets and horns. 15All Judah rejoiced about the oath because they had sworn it wholeheartedly. They sought God[x] eagerly, and he was found by them. So the LORD gave them rest[y] on every side.

16King Asa also deposed his grandmother Maacah[z] from her position as queen mother,[a] because she had made a repulsive Asherah pole.[b] Asa cut the pole down, broke it up and burned it in the Kidron Valley.[c] 17Although he did not remove the high places from Israel, Asa's heart was fully committed [to the LORD] all his life. 18He brought into the temple of God the silver and gold and the articles that he and his father had dedicated.[d]

19There was no more war until the thirty-fifth year of Asa's reign.

Asa's Last Years

16:1–6pp — 1Ki 15:17–22
16:11–17:1pp — 1Ki 15:23–24

16 In the thirty-sixth year of Asa's reign Baasha[e] king of Israel went up against Judah and fortified Ramah to prevent anyone from leaving or entering the territory of Asa king of Judah.

2Asa then took the silver and gold out of the treasuries of the LORD's temple and of his own palace and sent it to Ben-Hadad king of Aram, who was ruling in Damascus.[f] 3"Let there be a treaty[g] between me and you," he said, "as there was between my father and your father. See, I am sending you silver and gold. Now break your treaty with Baasha king of Israel so he will withdraw from me."

4Ben-Hadad agreed with King Asa and sent the commanders of his forces against the towns of Israel. They conquered Ijon, Dan, Abel Maim[d] and all the store cities of Naphtali.[h] 5When Baasha heard this, he stopped building Ramah and abandoned his work. 6Then King Asa brought all the men of Judah, and they carried away from Ramah the stones and timber Baasha had been us-

15:8 towns he had captured in . . . Ephraim. A tacit admission that there had been some fighting between Baasha and Asa prior to Asa's 36th year (16:1); see 17:1.

15:9 large numbers had come over to him. Cf. the defection from the northern kingdom that also occurred under Rehoboam (11:13–17).

15:10 third month of the fifteenth year. Spring, 895 B.C., the year after Zerah's invasion (v. 19). The Feast of Weeks (or Pentecost) was held in the third month (Lev 23:15–21) and may have been the occasion for this assembly.

15:12 covenant. A renewal of the covenant made at Sinai, similar to the covenant renewals on the plain of Moab (Dt 29:1), at Mount Ebal (Jos 8:30–35), at Shechem (Jos 24:25) and at Gilgal (1Sa 11:14; see note there). Later the priest Jehoiada (23:16), as well as Hezekiah (29:10) and Josiah (34:31), would also lead in renewals of the covenant—events of primary significance in the view of the Chronicler.

15:13 would not seek the LORD. Would turn to other gods. were to be put to death. In accordance with basic covenant law (Ex 22:20; Dt 13:6–9).

15:15 rest. See note on 20:30.

15:16 Asherah pole. See NIV text note on 14:3.

15:17 did not remove the high places. See 14:5 and note.

16:1 thirty-sixth year of Asa's reign Baasha. According to Kings, Baasha ruled for 24 years and was succeeded by Elah in the 26th year of Asa (1Ki 15:33; 16:8). Obviously Baasha could not have been alive in the 36th year of Asa, where this passage places him—he had been dead for a decade. In order to solve this difficulty, some suggest that the Chronicler here and in 15:19 is dating from the schism in Israel rather than from the year number of Asa's reign: Since Rehoboam had reigned 17 years and Abijah 3, 20 years are deducted with the result that the 35th and 36th years of Asa are in fact the 15th and 16th years of his reign. This would make Baasha's attack come as a possible response to the defections from the northern kingdom (15:9). While this solution may be possible, it has not met with general acceptance. The action described here is not dated in 1Ki 15:17. Perhaps the dates here and in 15:19 are the result of a copyist's error (possibly for an original 25th and 26th).

16:2–9 Hiring foreign troops brought Asa into a foreign alliance, which showed lack of trust in the Lord. Other examples of condemned foreign alliances are found in the reigns of Jehoshaphat (20:35–37), Ahaziah (22:1–9) and Ahaz (28:16–21). By hiring Ben-Hadad to the north, Asa opened a two-front war for Baasha and forced his withdrawal.

ing. With them he built up Geba and Mizpah.[i]

[7]At that time Hanani[j] the seer came to Asa king of Judah and said to him: "Because you relied[k] on the king of Aram and not on the LORD your God, the army of the king of Aram has escaped from your hand. [8]Were not the Cushites[e][l] and Libyans a mighty army with great numbers[m] of chariots and horsemen[f]? Yet when you relied on the LORD, he delivered[n] them into your hand. [9]For the eyes[o] of the LORD range throughout the earth to strengthen those whose hearts are fully committed to him. You have done a foolish[p] thing, and from now on you will be at war.[q]"

[10]Asa was angry with the seer because of this; he was so enraged that he put him in prison.[r] At the same time Asa brutally oppressed some of the people.

[11]The events of Asa's reign, from beginning to end, are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. [12]In the thirty-ninth year of his reign Asa was afflicted[s] with a disease in his feet. Though his disease was severe, even in his illness he did not seek[t] help from the LORD,[u] but only from the physicians. [13]Then in the forty-first year of his reign Asa died and rested with his fathers. [14]They buried him in the tomb that he had cut out for himself[v] in the City of David. They laid him on a bier covered with spices and various blended perfumes,[w] and they made a huge fire[x] in his honor.

Jehoshaphat King of Judah

17 Jehoshaphat his son succeeded him as king and strengthened[y] himself against Israel. [2]He stationed troops in all the fortified cities[z] of Judah and put garrisons in Judah and in the towns of Ephraim that his father Asa had captured.[a]

[3]The LORD was with Jehoshaphat because in his early years he walked in the ways his father David[b] had followed. He did not consult the Baals [4]but sought[c] the God of his father and followed his commands rather than the practices of Israel. [5]The LORD established the kingdom under his control; and all Judah brought gifts[d] to Jehoshaphat, so that he had great wealth and honor.[e] [6]His heart was devoted[f] to the ways of the LORD; furthermore, he removed the high places[g] and the Asherah poles[h] from Judah.[i]

[7]In the third year of his reign he sent his officials Ben-Hail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel and Micaiah to teach[j] in the towns of Judah. [8]With them were certain Levites[k]—Shemaiah, Nethaniah, Zebadiah, Asahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah, Tobijah and Tob-Adonijah—and the priests Elishama and Jehoram. [9]They taught throughout Judah, taking with them the Book of the Law[l] of the LORD; they went around to all the towns of Judah and taught the people.

[10]The fear[m] of the LORD fell on all the kingdoms of the lands surrounding Judah, so that they did not make war with Jehoshaphat. [11]Some Philistines brought Jehoshaphat gifts and silver as tribute, and the Arabs[n] brought him flocks:[o] seven thousand seven hundred rams and seven thousand seven hundred goats.

[12]Jehoshaphat became more and more powerful; he built forts and store cities in Judah [13]and had large supplies in the towns of Judah. He also kept experienced fighting men in Jerusalem. [14]Their enrollment[p] by families was as follows:

[e] 8 That is, people from the upper Nile region [f] 8 Or charioteers

16:12 disease in his feet. For other examples of disease as punishment for sin see 21:16–20; 26:16–23; Ac 12:23. Cf. 2Ki 15:5.

17:1–21:3 The Chronicler's account of Jehoshaphat's reign is more than twice as long as that in Kings, where the interest in Ahab and Elijah overshadows the space allotted to Jehoshaphat (1Ki 22:1–46). The Chronicler has also used Jehoshaphat's reign to emphasize immediate retribution. This theme is specifically announced in 19:10 and is illustrated in the blessing of Jehoshaphat's obedient faith and in the reproof for his wrongdoing (19:2–3; 20:35–37). Jehoshaphat reigned 872–848 B.C., from 872 to 869 likely as co-regent with his father Asa (see 20:31 and note). The details of his reign may not be in chronological order; the teaching mission of 17:7–9 may have been part of the reforms noted in 19:4–11.

17:2 cities of Judah ... towns of Ephraim. See note on 15:8. Abijah (13:19), Asa (15:8) and now Jehoshaphat had managed to hold these cities; they would be lost under Amaziah (25:17–24).

17:6 removed the high places. Just as his father Asa had attempted to remove the high places, only to have them be restored (14:5; 15:17), so also Jehoshaphat removed them initially, only to have them revive and persist (20:33; cf. 1Ki 22:43). But see notes on 1Ki 3:2; 15:14. Asherah poles. See NIV text note on 14:3.

17:7–9 This incident may be part of the reform more fully detailed in 19:4–11. In the theocracy, the law of the Lord was supposed to be an integral part of the law of the land; the king and his officials, as well as the priests and prophets, were representatives of the Lord's kingship over his people.

17:7 third year. Perhaps the first year of his sole reign after a co-regency of three years with his father Asa (see 20:31 and note).

17:10–11 See note on 1Ch 18:1–20:8.

17:10 fear of the LORD. See note on 1Ch 14:17.

17:14–18 300,000 ... 280,000 ... 200,000 ... 200,000 ... 180,000. Or "300 units ... 280 units ... 200 units ... 200 units ... 180 units" (see notes on 1Ch 12:23–37; 27:1).

Micaiah Prophesies Against Ahab

18:1–27pp — 1Ki 22:1–28

18 Now Jehoshaphat had great wealth and honor,[u] and he allied[v] himself with Ahab[w] by marriage. 2Some years later he went down to visit Ahab in Samaria. Ahab slaughtered many sheep and cattle for him and the people with him and urged him to attack Ramoth Gilead. 3Ahab king of Israel asked Jehoshaphat king of Judah, "Will you go with me against Ramoth Gilead?"

Jehoshaphat replied, "I am as you are, and my people as your people; we will join you in the war." 4But Jehoshaphat also said to the king of Israel, "First seek the counsel of the LORD."

5So the king of Israel brought together the prophets—four hundred men—and asked them, "Shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I refrain?"

"Go," they answered, "for God will give it into the king's hand."

6But Jehoshaphat asked, "Is there not a prophet of the LORD here whom we can inquire of?"

7The king of Israel answered Jehoshaphat, "There is still one man through whom we can inquire of the LORD, but I hate him because he never prophesies anything good about me, but always bad. He is Micaiah son of Imlah."

"The king should not say that," Jehoshaphat replied.

8So the king of Israel called one of his officials and said, "Bring Micaiah son of Imlah at once."

9Dressed in their royal robes, the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah were sitting on their thrones at the threshing floor by the entrance to the gate of Samaria, with all the prophets prophesying before them. 10Now Zedekiah son of Kenaanah had made iron horns, and he declared, "This is what the LORD says: 'With these you will gore the Arameans until they are destroyed.' "

11All the other prophets were prophesying the same thing. "Attack Ramoth Gilead[x] and be victorious," they said, "for the LORD will give it into the king's hand."

13But Micaiah said, "As surely as the LORD lives, I can tell him only what my God says."[y]

"Attack and be victorious," he answered, "for they will be given into your hand."

15The king said to him, "How many times must I make you swear to tell me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?"

16Then Micaiah answered, "I saw all Israel[z] scattered on the hills like sheep without a shepherd,[a] and the LORD said, 'These people have no master. Let each one go home in peace.' "

18Micaiah continued, "Therefore hear the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD sitting on his throne[b] with all the host of heaven standing on his right and on his left. 19And the LORD said, 'Who will entice Ahab king of Israel into attacking Ramoth Gilead and going to his death there?'

"One suggested this, and another that.

18:1–19:3 See 1Ki 22:1–40 and notes. To conform with his interest in the southern kingdom and Jehoshaphat, the Chronicler omits elaboration on the death of Ahab and his succession (1Ki 22:36–40) and adds the material on the prophetic condemnation of Jehoshaphat's involvement (19:1–3).

18:1 Not found in 1Ki 22. The verse enhances the status of Jehoshaphat by mentioning the blessing of wealth for his fidelity, and also sets the stage for an entangling foreign alliance condemned by the prophet in 19:2–3. allied himself with Ahab by marriage. This marriage alliance to Athaliah, daughter of Ahab, resulted later in an attempt to exterminate the Davidic line (22:10–23:21).

18:2 The Chronicler further enhances the status of Jehoshaphat by noting the large number of animals Ahab slaughtered in his honor, a note not found in 1Ki 22. urged him. Also not found in the parallel text. The Hebrew for this verb is often used in the sense of "inciting to evil" (e.g., 1Ch 21:1) and may express the Chronicler's attitude toward Jehoshaphat's involvement.

18:4 seek the counsel of the LORD. This request fits the Chronicler's overall positive portrait of Jehoshaphat.

20Finally, a spirit came forward, stood before the LORD and said, 'I will entice him.'

" 'By what means?' the LORD asked.

21" 'I will go and be a lying spirit[c] in the mouths of all his prophets,' he said.

" 'You will succeed in enticing him,' said the LORD. 'Go and do it.'

22"So now the LORD has put a lying spirit in the mouths of these prophets of yours.[d] The LORD has decreed disaster for you."

23Then Zedekiah son of Kenaanah went up and slapped[e] Micaiah in the face. "Which way did the spirit from[g] the LORD go when he went from me to speak to you?" he asked.

24Micaiah replied, "You will find out on the day you go to hide in an inner room."

25The king of Israel then ordered, "Take Micaiah and send him back to Amon the ruler of the city and to Joash the king's son, 26and say, 'This is what the king says: Put this fellow in prison[f] and give him nothing but bread and water until I return safely.' "

27Micaiah declared, "If you ever return safely, the LORD has not spoken through me." Then he added, "Mark my words, all you people!"

Ahab Killed at Ramoth Gilead

18:28–34pp — 1Ki 22:29–36

28So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah went up to Ramoth Gilead. 29The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "I will enter the battle in disguise, but you wear your royal robes." So the king of Israel disguised[g] himself and went into battle.

30Now the king of Aram had ordered his chariot commanders, "Do not fight with anyone, small or great, except the king of Israel." 31When the chariot commanders saw Jehoshaphat, they thought, "This is the king of Israel." So they turned to attack him, but Jehoshaphat cried out,[h] and the LORD helped him. 32for when the chariot commanders saw that he was not the king of Israel, they stopped pursuing him.

33But someone drew his bow at random and hit the king of Israel between the sections of his armor. The king told the chariot driver, "Wheel around and get me out of the fighting. I've been wounded." 34All day long the battle raged, and the king of Israel propped himself up in his chariot facing the Arameans until evening. Then at sunset he died.[i]

19 When Jehoshaphat king of Judah returned safely to his palace in Jerusalem, 2Jehu[j] the seer, the son of Hanani, went out to meet him and said to the king, "Should you help the wicked[k] and love[h] those who hate the LORD?[l] Because of this, the wrath[m] of the LORD is upon you. 3There is, however, some good[n] in you, for you have rid the land of the Asherah poles[o] and have set your heart on seeking God.[p]"

Jehoshaphat Appoints Judges

4Jehoshaphat lived in Jerusalem, and he went out again among the people from Beersheba to the hill country of Ephraim and turned them back to the LORD, the God of their fathers. 5He appointed judges[q] in the land, in each of the fortified cities of Judah. 6He told them, "Consider carefully what you do,[r] because you are not judging for man[s] but for the LORD, who is with you whenever you give a verdict. 7Now let the fear of the LORD be upon you. Judge carefully, for with the LORD our God there is no injustice[t] or partiality[u] or bribery."

8In Jerusalem also, Jehoshaphat appointed some of the Levites,[v] priests[w] and heads of Israelite families to administer[x] the law of the LORD and to settle

18:29 The fact that Ahab disguises himself while directing Jehoshaphat into battle in royal regalia, thus making Jehoshaphat the logical target for attack, is consistent with Israel's dominant position at this time.

18:31 the LORD helped him. God drew them away from him. Not found in 1Ki 22:32. However, some Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) manuscripts of Kings do contain the statement that "the LORD helped him," suggesting that the Chronicler was following a Hebrew text of Kings that had these words.

19:1–3 Not found in 1Ki 22.

19:2 Should you help the wicked . . . ? Jehu's father Hanani had earlier given Jehoshaphat's father Asa the same warning (see 16:7–9). Jehoshaphat later committed the same sin again and suffered for it (20:35–37).

19:3 Asherah poles. See NIV text note on 14:3.

19:4 Jehoshaphat . . . went . . . among the people. The king traveled throughout the realm personally to promote religious reformation.

19:5 appointed judges. The name Jehoshaphat (meaning "The LORD judges") is appropriate for the king who instituted this judicial reform. The arrangement of the courts under Jehoshaphat (vv. 5–11) would be of particular interest to the Chronicler's audience in the postexilic period, when the courts of the restored community would have their own existence and structure legitimized by this precedent.

19:6 Cf. Dt 16:18–20; 17:8–13.

19:7 let the fear of the LORD be upon you. Let a terrifying sense of God's presence restrain you from any injustice (see note on 1Ch 14:17).

19:8 Levites, priests . . . to administer the law. See note on 1Ch 26:29–32. One effect of this judicial reform appears to be the bringing of the traditional system of justice administered by the elders of the city under closer royal and priestly supervision.

disputes. And they lived in Jerusalem.
9He gave them these orders: "You must serve faithfully and wholeheartedly in the fear of the LORD. 10In every case that comes before you from your fellow countrymen who live in the cities—whether bloodshed or other concerns of the law, commands, decrees or ordinances—you are to warn them not to sin against the LORD;[y] otherwise his wrath will come on you and your brothers. Do this, and you will not sin.

11"Amariah the chief priest will be over you in any matter concerning the LORD, and Zebadiah son of Ishmael, the leader of the tribe of Judah, will be over you in any matter concerning the king, and the Levites will serve as officials before you. Act with courage,[z] and may the LORD be with those who do well."

Jehoshaphat Defeats Moab and Ammon

20 After this, the Moabites[a] and Ammonites with some of the Meunites[i][b] came to make war on Jehoshaphat.

2Some men came and told Jehoshaphat, "A vast army[c] is coming against you from Edom,[j] from the other side of the Sea.[k] It is already in Hazazon Tamar[d]" (that is, En Gedi).[e] 3Alarmed, Jehoshaphat resolved to inquire of the LORD, and he proclaimed a fast[f] for all Judah. 4The people of Judah[g] came together to seek help from the LORD; indeed, they came from every town in Judah to seek him.

5Then Jehoshaphat stood up in the assembly of Judah and Jerusalem at the temple of the LORD in the front of the new courtyard 6and said:

"O LORD, God of our fathers,[h] are you not the God who is in heaven?[i] You rule over all the kingdoms[j] of the nations. Power and might are in your hand, and no one can withstand you.[k] 7O our God, did you not drive out the inhabitants of this land[l] before your people Israel and give it forever to the descendants of Abraham your friend?[m] 8They have lived in it and have built in it a sanctuary[n] for your Name, saying, 9'If calamity comes upon us, whether the sword of judgment, or plague or famine,[o] we will stand in your presence before this temple that bears your Name and will cry out to you in our distress, and you will hear us and save us.'

10"But now here are men from Ammon, Moab and Mount Seir, whose territory you would not allow Israel to invade when they came from Egypt;[p] so they turned away from them and did not destroy them. 11See how they are repaying us by coming to drive us out of the possession[q] you gave us as an inheritance. 12O our God, will you not judge them?[r] For we have no power to face this vast army that is attacking us. We do not know what to do, but our eyes are upon you.[s]"

13All the men of Judah, with their wives and children and little ones, stood there before the LORD.

14Then the Spirit[t] of the LORD came upon Jahaziel son of Zechariah, the son of Benaiah, the son of Jeiel, the son of Mattaniah,[u] a Levite and descendant of Asaph, as he stood in the assembly.

15He said: "Listen, King Jehoshaphat and all who live in Judah and Jerusalem! This is what the LORD says to you: 'Do not be afraid or discouraged[v] because of this vast army. For the battle[w] is not

19:11 any matter concerning the LORD . . . any matter concerning the king. This division into the affairs of religion and the affairs of the king reflects the postexilic structure of the Chronicler's day. Cf. the anointing of Solomon and Zadok (1Ch 29:22) and the administration of the postexilic community by Zerubbabel, a Davidic descendant, and Joshua, the high priest (Zec 4:14; 6:9–15).

20:1–30 This episode held special interest for the Chronicler since the restored community was being harassed by the descendants of these same peoples (see Ne 2:19; 4:1–3,7–9; 6:1–4; 13). He uses it to encourage his contemporaries to trust in the Lord and his prophets, as Jehoshaphat son of David had exhorted (v. 20). The account is significantly structured. Apart from the outer frame, which highlights the reversal of circumstances (vv. 1–4,28–30), it falls into three divisions: (1) Jehoshaphat's prayer (vv. 5–13), (2) the Lord's response (vv. 14–19), (3) the great victory (vv. 20–27). At the center of each is its crucial statement, and these are all linked by a key word: v. 9, "we will stand in your presence before this temple"; v. 17, "stand firm and see the deliverance the LORD will give you"; v. 23, "The men of Ammon and Moab rose up (lit. 'stood up') against the men from Mount Seir to destroy . . . them."

20:1 Meunites. A people from the region of Mount Seir in Edom (26:7; 1Ch 4:41; cf. 2Ch 20:10,22–23).

20:2 Edom. See NIV text note. Since the Arameans are well to the north and not mentioned among the attackers named in v. 1, the NIV has followed the reading "Edom." The difference between "Aram" and "Edom" in Hebrew is only one letter, which is very similar in shape and was often confused in the process of copying manuscripts.

20:5–12 Jehoshaphat's prayer shows him to be a true theocratic king, a worthy son of David and type (foreshadowing) of the awaited Messiah (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).

20:9 An apparent reference to Solomon's prayer and the divine promise of response (6:14–42; 7:12–22).

20:15 See Ex 14:13–14.

yours, but God's. 16Tomorrow march down against them. They will be climbing up by the Pass of Ziz, and you will find them at the end of the gorge in the Desert of Jeruel. 17You will not have to fight this battle. Take up your positions; stand firm and see[x] the deliverance the LORD will give you, O Judah and Jerusalem. Do not be afraid; do not be discouraged. Go out to face them tomorrow, and the LORD will be with you.' "

18Jehoshaphat bowed[y] with his face to the ground, and all the people of Judah and Jerusalem fell down in worship before the LORD. 19Then some Levites from the Kohathites and Korahites stood up and praised the LORD, the God of Israel, with very loud voice.

20Early in the morning they left for the Desert of Tekoa. As they set out, Jehoshaphat stood and said, "Listen to me, Judah and people of Jerusalem! Have faith[z] in the LORD your God and you will be upheld; have faith in his prophets and you will be successful.[a]" 21After consulting the people, Jehoshaphat appointed men to sing to the LORD and to praise him for the splendor of his[l] holiness[b] as they went out at the head of the army, saying:

"Give thanks to the LORD, for his love endures forever."[c]

22As they began to sing and praise, the LORD set ambushes[d] against the men of Ammon and Moab and Mount Seir who were invading Judah, and they were defeated. 23The men of Ammon[e] and Moab rose up against the men from Mount Seir[f] to destroy and annihilate them. After they finished slaughtering the men from Seir, they helped to destroy one another.[g]

24When the men of Judah came to the place that overlooks the desert and looked toward the vast army, they saw only dead bodies lying on the ground; no one had escaped. 25So Jehoshaphat and his men went to carry off their plunder, and they found among them a great amount of equipment and clothing[m] and also articles of value—more than they could take away. There was so much plunder that it took three days to collect it. 26On the fourth day they assembled in the Valley of Beracah, where they praised the LORD. This is why it is called the Valley of Beracah[n] to this day.

27Then, led by Jehoshaphat, all the men of Judah and Jerusalem returned joyfully to Jerusalem, for the LORD had given them cause to rejoice over their enemies. 28They entered Jerusalem and went to the temple of the LORD with harps and lutes and trumpets.

29The fear[h] of God came upon all the kingdoms of the countries when they heard how the LORD had fought[i] against the enemies of Israel. 30And the kingdom of Jehoshaphat was at peace, for his God had given him rest[j] on every side.

The End of Jehoshaphat's Reign

20:31–21:1pp — 1Ki 22:41–50

31So Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah. He was thirty-five years old when he became king of Judah, and he reigned in Jerusalem twenty-five years. His mother's name was Azubah daughter of Shilhi. 32He walked in the ways of his father Asa and did not stray from them; he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD. 33The high places,[k] however, were not removed, and the people still had not set their hearts on the God of their fathers.

34The other events of Jehoshaphat's reign, from beginning to end, are written in the annals of Jehu[l] son of Hanani, which are recorded in the book of the kings of Israel.

35Later, Jehoshaphat king of Judah

20:16 Pass of Ziz. Began seven miles north of En Gedi and wound inland, emerging west of Tekoa. Jeruel. Southeast of Tekoa.

20:19 Levites. The Chronicler's interest in the priests and Levites is apparent throughout the account (vv. 14,21–22,28).

20:20 Have faith in the LORD your God and . . . in his prophets. A particularly apt word for the Chronicler's contemporaries to hear from this son of David—at a time when their only hope for the future lay with the Lord and the reassuring words of his prophets.

20:21 splendor of his holiness. See note on Ps 29:2.

20:22 ambushes. The nature of this "ambush" is indicated in v. 23: Israel's foes destroyed each other in the confusion of battle, similar to the victory under Gideon (Jdg 7:22).

20:26 to this day. See note on 5:9.

20:29 The fear of God. See note on 1Ch 14:17.

20:30 rest on every side. Rest from enemies is part of God's blessing for obedience in Chronicles (14:5–7; 15:15; 1Ch 22:8–9,18). Righteous kings have victory in warfare (Abijah, Asa, Jehoshaphat, Uzziah, Hezekiah), while wicked rulers experience defeat (Jehoram, Ahaz, Joash, Zedekiah).

20:31 twenty-five years. Kings reports 22 (18 in 2Ki 3:1, and 4 more in 8:16). These figures are reconciled by suggesting a co-regency with his father Asa for three years, probably due to the severity of his father's illness and the need to arrange for a secure succession (16:10–14). The author of Kings speaks only of his years of sole reign after his father's death.

20:33 high places . . . were not removed. See note on 17:6.

20:34 Jehu son of Hanani. See note on 19:2.

20:35–37 See 1Ki 22:48–49. The lucrative maritime trade through the Gulf of Aqaba no doubt tempted Jehoshaphat to enter into this improper alliance (see 19:2 and note). Solomon's earlier alliance for the same purpose had been with a non-Israelite king (8:17–18).

made an alliance[m] with Ahaziah king of Israel, who was guilty of wickedness.[n] 36He agreed with him to construct a fleet of trading ships.[o] After these were built at Ezion Geber, 37Eliezer son of Dodavahu of Mareshah prophesied against Jehoshaphat, saying, "Because you have made an alliance with Ahaziah, the LORD will destroy what you have made." The ships[o] were wrecked and were not able to set sail to trade.[p] 21 Then Jehoshaphat rested with his fathers and was buried with them in the City of David. And Jehoram[p] his son succeeded him as king. 2Jehoram's brothers, the sons of Jehoshaphat, were Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, Azariahu, Michael and Shephatiah. All these were sons of Jehoshaphat king of Israel.[q] 3Their father had given them many gifts[q] of silver and gold and articles of value, as well as fortified cities[r] in Judah, but he had given the kingdom to Jehoram because he was his firstborn son.

Jehoram King of Judah

21:5–10,20pp — 2Ki 8:16–24

4When Jehoram established[s] himself firmly over his father's kingdom, he put all his brothers[t] to the sword along with some of the princes of Israel. 5Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eight years. 6He walked in the ways of the kings of Israel,[u] as the house of Ahab had done, for he married a daughter of Ahab.[v] He did evil in the eyes of the LORD. 7Nevertheless, because of the covenant the LORD had made with David,[w] the LORD was not willing to destroy the house of David.[x] He had promised to maintain a lamp[y] for him and his descendants forever.

8In the time of Jehoram, Edom[z] rebelled against Judah and set up its own king. 9So Jehoram went there with his officers and all his chariots. The Edomites surrounded him and his chariot commanders, but he rose up and broke through by night. 10To this day Edom has been in rebellion against Judah.

Libnah[a] revolted at the same time, because Jehoram had forsaken the LORD, the God of his fathers. 11He had also built high places on the hills of Judah and had caused the people of Jerusalem to prostitute themselves and had led Judah astray.

12Jehoram received a letter from Elijah[b] the prophet, which said:

> "This is what the LORD, the God of your father[c] David, says: 'You have not walked in the ways of your father Jehoshaphat or of Asa[d] king of Judah. 13But you have walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, and you have led Judah and the people of Jerusalem to prostitute themselves, just as the house of Ahab did.[e] You have also murdered your own brothers, members of your father's house, men who were better[f] than you. 14So now the LORD is about to strike your people, your sons, your wives and everything that is yours, with a heavy blow. 15You yourself will be very ill with a lingering disease[g] of 20:35 Ahaziah. Reigned 853–852 B.C. (see 1Ki 22:51–2Ki 1:18 for the account of his reign).

21:2 sons of Jehoshaphat. The Chronicler shows the blessing of God on Jehoshaphat by mentioning his large family, particularly his seven sons (see 11:18–22; 1Ch 25:5 and notes). Jehoshaphat's large number of sons is in striking contrast to the wicked Jehoram who, after murdering his brothers (v. 4), is left with but one son (v. 17). Jehoram's wife Athaliah would later perform a similar slaughter (22:10).

21:3 Cf. the similar actions of Rehoboam (11:23).

21:4–20 See 2Ki 8:16–24.

21:4 This bloody assassination of all potential rivals is not reported in Kings, but it fits the pattern of the northern kings (see v. 6). The princes of Israel were probably leading men in the southern kingdom who opposed having a king married to a daughter of Ahab. For this use of "Israel" see note on 12:1.

21:5 eight years. 848–841 B.C. The period 853–848 was probably a co-regency of Jehoram with his father Jehoshaphat—Jehoshaphat's 18th year was also Jehoram's second year (cf. 2Ki 1:17; 3:1).

21:6 married a daughter of Ahab. Probably the marriage referred to in 18:1, used to cement the alliance between Jehoshaphat and Ahab. Such political marriages were common. Many of Solomon's marriages sealed international relationships, as did Ahab's marriage to Jezebel.

21:8–10 The pious Jehoshaphat had enjoyed victory over Edom (20:1–30), while the wicked Jehoram is defeated in his attempt to keep Edom in subjection to Judah (see note on 20:30).

21:10 To this day. See note on 5:9. Libnah. Located between Judah and Philistia. because Jehoram had forsaken the LORD. Not found in 2Ki 8:22. The Chronicler introduces this judgment as an indication of immediate retribution (see notes on 12:1–14; 12:2; see also Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).

21:12–20a Not found in the parallel text in 2Ki 8.

21:12–15 This reference to a letter from Elijah is the only mention in Chronicles of that prophet, to whom the books of Kings give so much attention (1Ki 17–2Ki 2). Elijah's letter specifically announces the immediate consequences of Jehoram's disobedience—further defeat in war, which will cost Jehoram his wives and sons; and disease, which will lead to his death (see note on 16:12). Cf. also the foot disease of Asa (16:12–14) and the leprosy of Uzziah (26:16–23). Kings does not mention the nature of Jehoram's death. Some have argued that this letter could not be authentic because, they claim, Elijah was taken to heaven before Jehoram became king. But this is not a necessary conclusion (see 2Ki 1:17; see also note on 2Ki 3:11). Elijah's translation may well have taken place as late as 848 B.C.

the bowels, until the disease causes your bowels to come out.' "

16The LORD aroused against Jehoram the hostility of the Philistines and of the Arabs[h] who lived near the Cushites. 17They attacked Judah, invaded it and carried off all the goods found in the king's palace, together with his sons and wives. Not a son was left to him except Ahaziah,[r] the youngest.[i]

18After all this, the LORD afflicted Jehoram with an incurable disease of the bowels. 19In the course of time, at the end of the second year, his bowels came out because of the disease, and he died in great pain. His people made no fire in his honor,[j] as they had for his fathers.

20Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eight years. He passed away, to no one's regret, and was buried[k] in the City of David, but not in the tombs of the kings.

Ahaziah King of Judah

22:1–6pp — 2Ki 8:25–29
22:7–9pp — 2Ki 9:21–29

22 The people[l] of Jerusalem[m] made Ahaziah, Jehoram's youngest son, king in his place, since the raiders,[n] who came with the Arabs into the camp, had killed all the older sons. So Ahaziah son of Jehoram king of Judah began to reign.

2Ahaziah was twenty-two[s] years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem one year. His mother's name was Athaliah, a granddaughter of Omri.

3He too walked[o] in the ways of the house of Ahab,[p] for his mother encouraged him in doing wrong. 4He did evil in the eyes of the LORD, as the house of Ahab had done, for after his father's death they became his advisers, to his undoing. 5He also followed their counsel when he went with Joram[t] son of Ahab king of Israel to war against Hazael king of Aram at Ramoth Gilead.[q] The Arameans wounded Joram; 6so he returned to Jezreel to recover from the wounds they had inflicted on him at Ramoth[u] in his battle with Hazael[r] king of Aram.

Then Ahaziah[v] son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to Jezreel to see Joram son of Ahab because he had been wounded.

7Through Ahaziah's[s] visit to Joram, God brought about Ahaziah's downfall. When Ahaziah arrived, he went out with Joram to meet Jehu son of Nimshi, whom the LORD had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab. 8While Jehu was executing judgment on the house of Ahab,[t] he found the princes of Judah and the sons of Ahaziah's relatives, who had been attending Ahaziah, and he killed them. 9He then went in search of Ahazi-

21:20 eight years. See note on v. 5. This is the first time that the Chronicler does not refer his readers to other sources for additional details on the reign of a king. not in the tombs of the kings. Only the Chronicler mentions the refusal of the people to accord Jehoram the customary burial honors of a tomb with the other kings of Judah (cf. 24:25).

22:1–9 The Chronicler's account of Ahaziah's reign is much shorter than the parallel in 2Ki 8:24–9:29, probably due to the fact that the Kings account focuses on the rebellion of Jehu and the downfall of the dynasty of Omri (see 2Ki 8:26; see also 1Ki 16:21–28)—events in the northern kingdom, in which the Chronicler is not interested. The Chronicler's account again shows his interest in immediate retribution: Ahaziah's personal wickedness and his involvement in a foreign alliance result in immediate judgment and a reign of only one year (see note on 16:2–9; see also Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).

22:1 had killed all the older sons. Emphasizes divine retribution: Jehoram, who murdered all his brothers, had to watch the death of his own sons (21:4,13,16–17).

22:2 twenty-two. See NIV text note. The Hebrew reading of "42" would make Ahaziah older than his father (21:20). one year. 841 B.C.

22:3–4 The great influence of the dynasty of Omri in Judah is indicated by the power of Athaliah and the presence of advisers from the northern kingdom (see note on 18:29).

22:5 went with Joram . . . to war. An action similar to that for which Jehoshaphat had been rebuked (see 19:2 and note). Hazael. Had been anointed by Elisha; he later killed his master in a coup to seize the throne (2Ki 8:13–15; cf. 1Ki 19:15 and note). Ramoth Gilead. Located in the Transjordan border area between Israel and Aram. More than ten years earlier Jehoshaphat had participated with Ahab in a battle there that cost Ahab his life (ch. 18; 1Ki 22).

22:6 returned to Jezreel. Joram apparently recovered Ramoth Gilead and left Jehu in charge (2Ki 8:28–9:28).

22:7 God brought about Ahaziah's downfall. The Chronicler assumes that the reader is familiar with the account of Jehu's anointing and the additional details of the coup, which resulted in the deaths of Joram and Ahaziah (2Ki 8:28–9:28). While the writer of Kings primarily portrays the end of the dynasty of Omri as a result of the judgment of God (1Ki 21:20–29; 2Ki 9:24–10:17), the Chronicler notes that the assassination of Ahaziah was also brought about by God.

22:9 The account of Ahaziah's death appears to be somewhat different in the two histories (cf. 2Ki 9:21–27; 10:12–14). Since the writer of Chronicles presumes the reader's familiarity with the other account (see note on v. 7), it is best to take the details of Chronicles as supplementary to Kings, not contradictory, though it is difficult to know the precise sequence and location of events. Apart from the Chronicler's statement that Ahaziah received a decent burial because of his father's piety rather than his own, the apparent differences in the two accounts do not appear to be theologically motivated. There is no summary statement about the reign of Ahaziah in either history.

ah, and his men captured him while he was hiding[u] in Samaria. He was brought to Jehu and put to death. They buried him, for they said, "He was a son of Jehoshaphat, who sought[v] the LORD with all his heart." So there was no one in the house of Ahaziah powerful enough to retain the kingdom.

Athaliah and Joash

22:10–23:21pp — 2Ki 11:1–21

[10]When Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she proceeded to destroy the whole royal family of the house of Judah. [11]But Jehosheba,[w] the daughter of King Jehoram, took Joash son of Ahaziah and stole him away from among the royal princes who were about to be murdered and put him and his nurse in a bedroom. Because Jehosheba,[w] the daughter of King Jehoram and wife of the priest Jehoiada, was Ahaziah's sister, she hid the child from Athaliah so she could not kill him. [12]He remained hidden with them at the temple of God for six years while Athaliah ruled the land.

23 In the seventh year Jehoiada showed his strength. He made a covenant with the commanders of units of a hundred: Azariah son of Jeroham, Ishmael son of Jehohanan, Azariah son of Obed, Maaseiah son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat son of Zicri. [2]They went throughout Judah and gathered the Levites[w] and the heads of Israelite families from all the towns. When they came to Jerusalem, [3]the whole assembly made a covenant[x] with the king at the temple of God.

Jehoiada said to them, "The king's son shall reign, as the LORD promised concerning the descendants of David.[y] [4]Now this is what you are to do: A third of you priests and Levites who are going on duty on the Sabbath are to keep watch at the doors, [5]a third of you at the royal palace and a third at the Foundation Gate, and all the other men are to be in the courtyards of the temple of the LORD. [6]No one is to enter the temple of the LORD except the priests and Levites on duty; they may enter because they are consecrated, but all the other men are to guard[z] what the LORD has assigned to them.[x] [7]The Levites are to station themselves around the king, each man with his weapons in his hand. Anyone who enters the temple must be put to death. Stay close to the king wherever he goes."

[8]The Levites and all the men of Judah did just as Jehoiada the priest ordered.[a] Each one took his men—those who were going on duty on the Sabbath and those who were going off duty—for Jehoiada the priest had not released any of the divisions.[b] [9]Then he gave the commanders of units of a hundred the spears and the large and small shields that had belonged to King David and that were in the temple of God. [10]He stationed all the men, each with his weapon in his hand, around the king—near the altar and the temple, from the south side to the north side of the temple.

[11]Jehoiada and his sons brought out the king's son and put the crown on him; they presented him with a copy[c] of the covenant and proclaimed him king. They anointed him and shouted, "Long live the king!"

22:10–12 See 2Ki 11:1–3. In the history of Judah, Athaliah represents the only break in the continuity of the Davidic dynasty; she is the only queen of Judah to rule in her own name (841–835 B.C.). Her attempt to wipe out the royal family repeated the action of her husband Jehoram (21:4). It threatened the continuity of the Davidic dynasty, and if she had succeeded, Judah may have been claimed by the dynasty of Omri in the north since Athaliah was from that dynasty and had no living son and heir.

22:11 wife of the priest Jehoiada. Not noted in Kings.

23:1–24:27 See 2Ki 11:4–12:21 and notes. The Chronicler divides the reign of Joash (835–796 B.C.) into three parts: (1) the recovery of the throne for the house of David (ch. 23); (2) Joash and Jehoiada—the good years (24:1–16); (3) Joash alone—the bad years (24:17–27). The last section is largely unique to Chronicles and further develops the theme of immediate retribution: Once again chronological notes provide the framework for cycles of obedience and disobedience (24:15–17,23); see notes on 12:2; 14:2–16:14.

23:1–21 See 2Ki 11:4–20. The Chronicler has followed his source rather closely but has introduced material reflecting his own concerns in three areas: 1. The account in Kings has more to say about the participation of the military in the coup; the Chronicler adds material emphasizing the presence of temple officials and their role (vv. 2,6,8,13,18–19). 2. The Chronicler stresses the widespread popular support for the coup by mentioning the presence of large groups of people, such as "all the people" or "the whole assembly" (vv. 3,5–6,8,10,16–17). 3. The Chronicler shows additional concern for the sanctity of the temple area by inserting notes showing the steps taken to ensure that only qualified personnel enter the temple precincts (vv. 5–6,19).

23:1 Azariah ... Elishaphat. The Chronicler names the commanders, which was not done in Kings, but he does not mention the Carites, mercenaries who served as a royal guard (see note on 2Ki 11:4). Verse 20 exhibits the same omission (cf. 2Ki 11:19), the motive for which may have been the Chronicler's concern that only authorized persons enter the temple precincts.

23:2 the Levites and the heads of Israelite families. Reflects both the Chronicler's concerns with the temple personnel and the widespread support for the coup against Athaliah.

23:3 as the LORD promised. See 2Sa 7:11–16.

23:11 copy of the covenant. May refer to the covenant sworn by the assembly (vv. 1,3; cf. v. 16) or to the law of God, by which the king was to rule (see Dt 17:18–20). See note on 2Ki 11:12.

12When Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and cheering the king, she went to them at the temple of the LORD. 13She looked, and there was the king,[d] standing by his pillar[e] at the entrance. The officers and the trumpeters were beside the king, and all the people of the land were rejoicing and blowing trumpets, and singers with musical instruments were leading the praises. Then Athaliah tore her robes and shouted, "Treason! Treason!"

14Jehoiada the priest sent out the commanders of units of a hundred, who were in charge of the troops, and said to them: "Bring her out between the ranks[y] and put to the sword anyone who follows her." For the priest had said, "Do not put her to death at the temple of the LORD." 15So they seized her as she reached the entrance of the Horse Gate[f] on the palace grounds, and there they put her to death.

16Jehoiada then made a covenant[g] that he and the people and the king[z] would be the LORD's people. 17All the people went to the temple of Baal and tore it down. They smashed the altars and idols and killed[h] Mattan the priest of Baal in front of the altars.

18Then Jehoiada placed the oversight of the temple of the LORD in the hands of the priests, who were Levites,[i] to whom David had made assignments in the temple,[j] to present the burnt offerings of the LORD as written in the Law of Moses, with rejoicing and singing, as David had ordered. 19He also stationed doorkeepers[k] at the gates of the LORD's temple so that no one who was in any way unclean might enter.

20He took with him the commanders of hundreds, the nobles, the rulers of the people and all the people of the land and brought the king down from the temple of the LORD. They went into the palace through the Upper Gate[l] and seated the king on the royal throne, 21and all the people of the land rejoiced. And the city was quiet, because Athaliah had been slain with the sword.[m]

Joash Repairs the Temple

24:1–14pp — 2Ki 12:1–16
24:23–27pp — 2Ki 12:17–21

24 Joash was seven years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem forty years. His mother's name was Zibiah; she was from Beersheba. 2Joash did what was right in the eyes of the LORD[n] all the years of Jehoiada the priest. 3Jehoiada chose two wives for him, and he had sons and daughters.

4Some time later Joash decided to restore the temple of the LORD. 5He called together the priests and Levites and said to them, "Go to the towns of Judah and collect the money[o] due annually from all Israel,[p] to repair the temple of your God. Do it now." But the Levites[q] did not act at once.

6Therefore the king summoned Jehoiada the chief priest and said to him, "Why haven't you required the Levites to bring in from Judah and Jerusalem the tax imposed by Moses the servant of the LORD and by the assembly of Israel for the Tent of the Testimony?"[r]

7Now the sons of that wicked woman Athaliah had broken into the temple of God and had used even its sacred objects for the Baals.

8At the king's command, a chest was made and placed outside, at the gate of the temple of the LORD. 9A proclamation was then issued in Judah and Jerusalem that they should bring to the LORD the tax that Moses the servant of God had required of Israel in the desert. 10All the officials and all the people brought their contributions gladly,[s] dropping them into the chest until it was full. 11Whenever the chest was brought in by the Levites to the king's officials and they saw that there was a large amount of money, the royal secretary and the officer of the 23:18–19 The Chronicler adds information on the cultic ritual and the guards at the gates (see note on vv. 1–21).

23:20 See note on v. 1.

24:1–14 See 2Ki 12:1–17.

24:1 forty years. 835–796 B.C.

24:2 Provides the outline for the Chronicler's treatment of Joash—the good years while Jehoiada was alive (vv. 1–16), and the turn to evil after his death (vv. 17–27). See note on 25:2.

24:3 Another expression of the Chronicler's conviction that large families represent the blessing of God (see v. 27; see also note on 1Ch 25:5).

24:4 restore the temple. The vandalism and atrocities of Athaliah (v. 7) required the refurbishing of the temple.

24:5 The writer of 2 Kings speaks of three different sources of revenue (2Ki 12:4–5), whereas the Chronicler mentions only the census tax (see Ex 30:14; 38:26; Mt 17:24). The reason for the tardiness of the priests is not stated (see 2Ki 12:6–8). The writer of Kings notes that the audience with the priests takes place in the 23rd year of Joash's reign, when he is presumably no longer the ward of Jehoiada. Resistance on the part of the priests to the reassignment of the temple revenues for repair work may be the underlying cause.

24:8 chest. Mesopotamian texts speak of a similar offering box placed in temples. Representatives of both the king and the temple officials administered temple revenues (see note on 1Ch 26:20).

chief priest would come and empty the chest and carry it back to its place. They did this regularly and collected a great amount of money. 12The king and Jehoiada gave it to the men who carried out the work required for the temple of the LORD. They hired[t] masons and carpenters to restore the LORD's temple, and also workers in iron and bronze to repair the temple.

13The men in charge of the work were diligent, and the repairs progressed under them. They rebuilt the temple of God according to its original design and reinforced it. 14When they had finished, they brought the rest of the money to the king and Jehoiada, and with it were made articles for the LORD's temple: articles for the service and for the burnt offerings, and also dishes and other objects of gold and silver. As long as Jehoiada lived, burnt offerings were presented continually in the temple of the LORD.

15Now Jehoiada was old and full of years, and he died at the age of a hundred and thirty. 16He was buried with the kings in the City of David, because of the good he had done in Israel for God and his temple.

The Wickedness of Joash

17After the death of Jehoiada, the officials of Judah came and paid homage to the king, and he listened to them. 18They abandoned[u] the temple of the LORD, the God of their fathers, and worshiped Asherah poles and idols.[v] Because of their guilt, God's anger[w] came upon Judah and Jerusalem. 19Although the LORD sent prophets to the people to bring them back to him, and though they testified against them, they would not listen.[x]

20Then the Spirit[y] of God came upon Zechariah[z] son of Jehoiada the priest. He stood before the people and said, "This is what God says: 'Why do you disobey the LORD's commands? You will not prosper.[a] Because you have forsaken the LORD, he has forsaken[b] you.' "

21But they plotted against him, and by order of the king they stoned[c] him to death[d] in the courtyard of the LORD's temple.[e] 22King Joash did not remember the kindness Zechariah's father Jehoiada had shown him but killed his son, who said as he lay dying, "May the LORD see this and call you to account."[f]

23At the turn of the year,[a] the army of Aram marched against Joash; it invaded Judah and Jerusalem and killed all the leaders of the people.[g] They sent all the plunder to their king in Damascus. 24Although the Aramean army had come with only a few men,[h] the LORD delivered into their hands a much larger army.[i] Because Judah had forsaken the LORD, the God of their fathers, judgment was executed on Joash. 25When the Arameans withdrew, they left Joash severely wounded. His officials conspired against him for murdering the son of Jehoiada the priest, and they killed him in his bed. So he died and was buried[j] in the City of David, but not in the tombs of the kings.

26Those who conspired against him were Zabad,[b] son of Shimeath an Ammonite woman, and Jehozabad, son of Shimrith[c][k] a Moabite woman.[l] 27The account of his sons, the many prophecies about him, and the record of the restoration of the temple of God are written in the annotations on the book of the kings. And Amaziah his son succeeded him as king.

24:15–22 This section is unique to the Chronicler and shows his emphasis on immediate retribution (see note on 23:1–24:27). After a period of righteous rule until the death of Jehoiada, Joash turns to idolatry and murders Jehoiada's son. In the following year he is invaded and defeated by Aram because Judah, under his leadership, "had forsaken the LORD" (v. 24).

24:18,20,24 abandoned ... forsaken ... forsaken ... forsaken. The Hebrew word is the same in these verses; it is a verb frequently used by the Chronicler to denote the reason for divine punishment (see note on 12:1; see also 7:19,22; 12:5; 13:10–11; 15:2; 21:10; 24:18,20,24; 28:6; 29:6; 34:25; 1Ch 28:9,20).

24:19 Although the LORD sent prophets. Israel's failure to heed the Lord's prophets ultimately led to her destruction (see 36:16; cf. 20:20; see also Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).

24:20 Zechariah. See note on Mt 23:35.

24:24 only a few men. Just as God had helped the small army of Judah against overwhelming odds when the king and people were faithful to him (14:8–9; 20:2,12), so now in their unfaithfulness they are defeated by a much smaller force of invaders (see note on 20:30).

24:25 for murdering ... they killed him. Only the Chronicler mentions that this assassination was revenge for the murder of Zechariah. not in the tombs of the kings. Burial in the tombs of the kings was an honor accorded to Jehoiada (v. 16), but withheld from his rebellious ward Joash (see note on 21:20).

24:26 an Ammonite ... a Moabite. Information not given in Kings but important to the Chronicler (see note on 20:1–30).

25:1–28 Typically, the Chronicler has divided the reign of Amaziah into two parts: (1) the good years, marked by reigned in Jerusalem twenty-nine years. His mother's name was Jehoaddin[d]; she was from Jerusalem. 2He did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, but not wholeheartedly.[m] 3After the kingdom was firmly in his control, he executed the officials who had murdered his father the king. 4Yet he did not put their sons to death, but acted in accordance with what is written in the Law, in the Book of Moses,[n] where the LORD commanded: "Fathers shall not be put to death for their children, nor children put to death for their fathers; each is to die for his own sins."[e o]

5Amaziah called the people of Judah together and assigned them according to their families to commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds for all Judah and Benjamin. He then mustered[p] those twenty years old[q] or more and found that there were three hundred thousand men ready for military service,[r] able to handle the spear and shield. 6He also hired a hundred thousand fighting men from Israel for a hundred talents[f] of silver.

7But a man of God came to him and said, "O king, these troops from Israel[s] must not march with you, for the LORD is not with Israel—not with any of the people of Ephraim. 8Even if you go and fight courageously in battle, God will overthrow you before the enemy, for God has the power to help or to overthrow."[t]

9Amaziah asked the man of God, "But what about the hundred talents I paid for these Israelite troops?"

The man of God replied, "The LORD can give you much more than that."[u]

10So Amaziah dismissed the troops who had come to him from Ephraim and sent them home. They were furious with Judah and left for home in a great rage.[v]

11Amaziah then marshaled his strength and led his army to the Valley of Salt, where he killed ten thousand men of Seir. 12The army of Judah also captured ten thousand men alive, took them to the top of a cliff and threw them down so that all were dashed to pieces.[w]

13Meanwhile the troops that Amaziah had sent back and had not allowed to take part in the war raided Judean towns from Samaria to Beth Horon. They killed three thousand people and carried off great quantities of plunder.

14When Amaziah returned from slaughtering the Edomites, he brought back the gods of the people of Seir. He set them up as his own gods,[x] bowed down to them and burned sacrifices to them. 15The anger of the LORD burned against Amaziah, and he sent a prophet to him, who said, "Why do you consult this people's gods, which could not save[y] their own people from your hand?"

16While he was still speaking, the king said to him, "Have we appointed you an adviser to the king? Stop! Why be struck down?"

So the prophet stopped but said, "I know that God has determined to destroy you, because you have done this and have not listened to my counsel."

17After Amaziah king of Judah consulted his advisers, he sent this challenge to Jehoash[g] son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, king of Israel: "Come, meet me face to face."

18But Jehoash king of Israel replied to Amaziah king of Judah: "A thistle[z] in Lebanon sent a message to a cedar in Lebanon, 'Give your daughter to my son in marriage.' Then a wild beast in Lebanon came along and trampled the thistle obedience, divine blessing and victory (vv. 1–13), and (2) the bad years of idolatry, defeat and regicide (vv. 14–28). See 2Ki 14:1–20 and notes.

25:1 twenty-nine years. 796–767 B.C.

25:2 The Chronicler does not indicate that Amaziah failed to remove the high places, which continued to be used as places for sacrifice by the people (see 2Ki 14:4). Also compare 24:2 with 2Ki 12:4, and 26:4 with 2Ki 15:4. The writer appears to be motivated by his outline, which covered the good years first and then the reversion to evil. Negative comments about these kings are held to the second half of the account of their reigns, whereas in Kings the summary judgment about their reigns and the high places is given immediately.

25:5–16 An expansion of 2Ki 14:7. The author of Kings mentions the successful war with Edom only as a prelude to Amaziah's challenge to Jehoash, but the Chronicler sets it in the framework of his emphasis on immediate retribution: Obedience brings victory over Edom, while the subsequent idolatry (vv. 14–16) brings defeat in the campaign against Israel. By expanding his account the Chronicler gives the theological reason for both the victory over Edom and the defeat before Israel.

25:7 troops from Israel must not march with you. Another instance of the Chronicler's condemnation of alliances that imply lack of trust in the Lord (see notes on 16:2–9; 22:5). Cf. other prophetic speeches that call on the people to trust in God (20:15–17,20; 32:7–8).

25:13 This may be the inciting incident for the later war with the north. Samaria. A town by this name in the southern kingdom is not otherwise known. The reference may be a copyist's error.

25:14–25 The Chronicler's account of the war with the north is close to the parallel in 2Ki 14:8–14, except for some additions in line with his theme of immediate retribution. The Chronicler mentions Amaziah's foolish idolatry and the prophetic speech of judgment, neither of which is found in Kings. He also adds notes in vv. 20,27 to emphasize that the idolatry of Amaziah was being punished.

25:18 Cf. the parable in Jdg 9:7–15.

underfoot. 19You say to yourself that you have defeated Edom, and now you are arrogant and proud. But stay at home! Why ask for trouble and cause your own downfall and that of Judah also?"

20Amaziah, however, would not listen, for God so worked that he might hand them over to ⌊Jehoash⌋, because they sought the gods of Edom.[a] 21So Jehoash king of Israel attacked. He and Amaziah king of Judah faced each other at Beth Shemesh in Judah. 22Judah was routed by Israel, and every man fled to his home. 23Jehoash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Joash, the son of Ahaziah,[h] at Beth Shemesh. Then Jehoash brought him to Jerusalem and broke down the wall of Jerusalem from the Ephraim Gate[b] to the Corner Gate[c]—a section about six hundred feet[i] long. 24He took all the gold and silver and all the articles found in the temple of God that had been in the care of Obed-Edom,[d] together with the palace treasures and the hostages, and returned to Samaria.

25Amaziah son of Joash king of Judah lived for fifteen years after the death of Jehoash son of Jehoahaz king of Israel. 26As for the other events of Amaziah's reign, from beginning to end, are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel? 27From the time that Amaziah turned away from following the LORD, they conspired against him in Jerusalem and he fled to Lachish[e], but they sent men after him to Lachish and killed him there. 28He was brought back by horse and was buried with his fathers in the City of Judah.

Uzziah King of Judah

26:1–4pp — 2Ki 14:21–22; 15:1–3
26:21–23pp — 2Ki 15:5–7

26 Then all the people of Judah[f] took Uzziah,[j] who was sixteen years old, and made him king in place of his father Amaziah. 2He was the one who rebuilt Elath and restored it to Judah after Amaziah rested with his fathers.

3Uzziah was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem fifty-two years. His mother's name was Jecoliah; she was from Jerusalem. 4He did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, just as his father Amaziah had done. 5He sought God during the days of Zechariah, who instructed him in the fear[k] of God.[g] As long as he sought the LORD, God gave him success.[h]

6He went to war against the Philistines[i] and broke down the walls of Gath, Jabneh and Ashdod.[j] He then rebuilt towns near Ashdod and elsewhere among the Philistines. 7God helped him against the Philistines and against the Arabs[k] who lived in Gur Baal and against the Meunites.[l] 8The Ammonites[m] brought tribute to Uzziah, and his fame spread as far as the border of Egypt, because he had become very powerful.

9Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem at the Corner Gate,[n] at the Valley Gate[o] and at the angle of the wall, and he fortified them. 10He also built towers in the desert and dug many cisterns, because he

25:24 The family of Obed-Edom was the Levitical family into whose care the temple storehouse had been entrusted (1Ch 26:15).

25:27 See note on vv. 14–25.

26:1–23 See 2Ki 15:1–7 and notes. The Chronicler has characteristically divided his account of Uzziah's reign into two parts: the good years, then the bad; cf. his treatment of Uzziah's father Amaziah and his grandfather Joash (see notes on 24:2; 25:1–28). The Chronicler elaborates on the blessings and divine help that flowed from Uzziah's obedience and fidelity (vv. 4–15), whereas the author of Kings only alludes to his fidelity (2Ki 15:3). Where Kings only mentions Uzziah's leprosy (2Ki 15:5), the Chronicler gives additional details to show that the disease was a result of unfaithfulness (vv. 16–21). Under Uzziah and his contemporary in the north, Jeroboam II, the borders of Israel and Judah briefly reached the extent they had attained under David and Solomon (vv. 6–8; 2Ki 14:25). In part, this flourishing of the two kingdoms was facilitated by the removal of the Aramean threat by Assyria under Adad-nirari III (802 B.C.), following which Assyria herself went into a period of weakness.

26:1 Uzziah. See NIV text note (see also, e.g., 2Ki 15:6–7; 1Ch 3:12). It is likely that Uzziah was a throne name, while Azariah was his personal name.

26:3 fifty-two years. 792–740 B.C., including a co-regency with Amaziah from 792 to 767.

26:4 The Chronicler has constructed his account of Uzziah's reign to give it the same outline as that for Amaziah and Joash (see note on vv. 1–23). He has also once again bypassed the statement in the parallel account that the king did not remove the high places (2Ki 15:4), just as he did in the accounts of the other two kings (see note on 25:2).

26:5 days of Zechariah. The author again uses chronological notes to portray the cycles of blessing and judgment associated with the individual king's response to God's commands (see note on 12:2).

26:6–8 Uzziah's conquests were toward the southeast and the southwest; Israel's powerful Jeroboam II was in control to the north of Judah.

26:7 Meunites. See note on 20:1.

26:9 Corner Gate ... Valley Gate. Found at the northeast and southwest portions of the walls. fortified. This construction along the wall of Jerusalem may reflect, in part, repair of the damage done by Jehoash during the reign of Amaziah (25:23).

26:10 towers ... cisterns. Towers and cisterns have been found in several excavations (Qumran, Gibeah, Beersheba). A seal bearing Uzziah's name has been found in a cistern at Tell Beit Mirsim.

had much livestock in the foothills and in the plain. He had people working his fields and vineyards in the hills and in the fertile lands, for he loved the soil.

11 Uzziah had a well-trained army, ready to go out by divisions according to their numbers as mustered by Jeiel the secretary and Maaseiah the officer under the direction of Hananiah, one of the royal officials. 12 The total number of family leaders over the fighting men was 2,600. 13 Under their command was an army of 307,500 men trained for war, a powerful force to support the king against his enemies. 14 Uzziah provided shields, spears, helmets, coats of armor, bows and slingstones for the entire army.[p] 15 In Jerusalem he made machines designed by skillful men for use on the towers and on the corner defenses to shoot arrows and hurl large stones. His fame spread far and wide, for he was greatly helped until he became powerful.

16 But after Uzziah became powerful, his pride[q] led to his downfall.[r] He was unfaithful[s] to the LORD his God, and entered the temple of the LORD to burn incense[t] on the altar of incense. 17 Azariah[u] the priest with eighty other courageous priests of the LORD followed him in. 18 They confronted him and said, "It is not right for you, Uzziah, to burn incense to the LORD. That is for the priests,[v] the descendants[w] of Aaron,[x] who have been consecrated to burn incense.[y] Leave the sanctuary, for you have been unfaithful; and you will not be honored by the LORD God."

19 Uzziah, who had a censer in his hand ready to burn incense, became angry. While he was raging at the priests in their presence before the incense altar in the LORD's temple, leprosy[lz] broke out on his forehead. 20 When Azariah the chief priest and all the other priests looked at him, they saw that he had leprosy on his forehead, so they hurried him out. Indeed, he himself was eager to leave, because the LORD had afflicted him.

21 King Uzziah had leprosy until the day he died. He lived in a separate house[ma]—leprous, and excluded from the temple of the LORD. Jotham his son had charge of the palace and governed the people of the land.

22 The other events of Uzziah's reign, from beginning to end, are recorded by the prophet Isaiah[b] son of Amoz. 23 Uzziah[c] rested with his fathers and was buried near them in a field for burial that belonged to the kings, for people said, "He had leprosy." And Jotham his son succeeded him as king.[d]

Jotham King of Judah

27:1–4,7–9pp — 2Ki 15:33–38

27 Jotham[e] was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem sixteen years. His mother's name was Jerusha daughter of Zadok. 2 He did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, just as his father Uzziah had done, but unlike him he did not enter the temple of the LORD. The people, however, continued their corrupt practices. 3 Jotham rebuilt the Upper Gate of the temple of the LORD and did extensive work on the wall at the hill of Ophel.[f] 4 He built towns in the Judean hills and forts and towers in the wooded areas.

5 Jotham made war on the king of the Ammonites[g] and conquered them. That year the Ammonites paid him a hundred talents[n] of silver, ten thousand cors[o] of wheat and ten thousand cors of barley. The Ammonites brought him the same

26:11 Uzziah had a well-trained army. Tiglath-Pileser III of Assyria states that he was opposed in his advance toward the west (743 B.C.) by a coalition headed by "Azriau of Yaudi," perhaps Azariah (Uzziah) of Judah.

26:15 machines . . . to shoot arrows and hurl large stones. Since the catapult was not known in the military technology of the period, and since torsion-operated devices for shooting arrows did not appear for approximately another three centuries, the devices mentioned here may refer to defensive constructions to protect those shooting arrows and hurling stones from the tops of the walls.

26:16 after Uzziah became powerful. See note on v. 5.

26:19 leprosy. For disease as a punishment for sin see notes on 16:12; 21:12–15.

26:21 Uzziah . . . died. See Isa 6:1 and note. separate house. See NIV text note; the same phrase in the Canaanite texts from Ugarit suggests a kind of quarantine or separation.

26:22 recorded by . . . Isaiah. Not a reference to the canonical book but to some other work no longer in existence.

26:23 buried . . . in a field . . . that belonged to the kings. Cf. 2Ki 15:7. Apparently due to his leprosy, Uzziah was buried in a cemetery belonging to the kings, though not in the tombs of the kings.

27:1–9 See 2Ki 15:32–38 and notes.

27:1 sixteen years. 750–735 B.C., including a co-regency with Uzziah (750–740). His reign also overlapped that of his successor Ahaz from 735 to 732.

27:2 did not enter the temple. The Chronicler commends Jotham for not making the same error Uzziah did (26:16). corrupt practices. Appears to refer to the flourishing high places (2Ki 15:35).

27:3–6 Unique to the Chronicler and an elaboration of his thesis that fidelity to God's commands brings blessing: in construction, military victory and prosperity—all "because he walked steadfastly before the LORD" (v. 6). Judah's relationship with the Ammonites held particular interest for the Chronicler (see notes on 20:1–30; 24:26).

amount also in the second and third years.

6Jotham grew powerful[h] because he walked steadfastly before the LORD his God.

7The other events in Jotham's reign, including all his wars and the other things he did, are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. 8He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem sixteen years. 9Jotham rested with his fathers and was buried in the City of David. And Ahaz his son succeeded him as king.

Ahaz King of Judah

28:1–27pp — 2Ki 16:1–20

28 Ahaz[i] was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem sixteen years. Unlike David his father, he did not do what was right in the eyes of the LORD. 2He walked in the ways of the kings of Israel and also made cast idols[j] for worshiping the Baals. 3He burned sacrifices in the Valley of Ben Hinnom[k] and sacrificed his sons[l] in the fire, following the detestable[m] ways of the nations the LORD had driven out before the Israelites. 4He offered sacrifices and burned incense at the high places, on the hilltops and under every spreading tree.

5Therefore the LORD his God handed him over to the king of Aram.[n] The Arameans defeated him and took many of his people as prisoners and brought them to Damascus.

He was also given into the hands of the king of Israel, who inflicted heavy casualties on him. 6In one day Pekah[o] son of Remaliah killed a hundred and twenty thousand soldiers in Judah[p]—because Judah had forsaken the LORD, the God of their fathers. 7Zicri, an Ephraimite warrior, killed Maaseiah the king's son, Azrikam the officer in charge of the palace, and Elkanah, second to the king. 8The Israelites took captive from their kinsmen[q] two hundred thousand wives, sons and daughters. They also took a great deal of plunder, which they carried back to Samaria.[r]

9But a prophet of the LORD named Oded was there, and he went out to meet the army when it returned to Samaria. He said to them, "Because the LORD, the God of your fathers, was angry[s] with Judah, he gave them into your hand. But you have slaughtered them in a rage that reaches to heaven.[t] 10And now you intend to make the men and women of Judah and Jerusalem your slaves.[u] But aren't you also guilty of sins against the LORD your God? 11Now listen to me! Send back your fellow countrymen you have taken as prisoners, for the LORD's fierce anger rests on you.[v]"

12Then some of the leaders in Ephraim—Azariah son of Jehohanan, Berekiah son of Meshillemoth, Jehizkiah son of Shallum, and Amasa son of Hadlai—confronted those who were arriving from the war. 13"You must not bring those prisoners here," they said, "or we will be guilty before the LORD. Do you intend to add to our sin and guilt? For our guilt is already great, and his fierce anger rests on Israel."

14So the soldiers gave up the prisoners and plunder in the presence of the officials and all the assembly. 15The men designated by name took the prisoners, and from the plunder they clothed all who were naked. They provided them with clothes and sandals, food and drink,[w] and healing balm. All those who were weak they put on donkeys. So they took them back to their fellow countrymen at Jericho, the City of Palms,[x] and returned to Samaria.[y]

27:7 all his wars. See, e.g., 2Ki 15:37.

28:1–27 See 2Ki 16:1–20 and notes, though only the introduction and conclusion in the two accounts are strictly parallel. The reign of Ahaz is the only one for which the Chronicler does not mention a single redeeming feature. In his account the Chronicler appears to adopt explicit parallels from the speech of Abijah condemning the northern kingdom (ch. 13) in order to show that under Ahaz the southern kingdom had sunk to the same depths of apostasy. Judah's religious fidelity, of which Abijah had boasted, was completely overthrown under Ahaz.

28:1 sixteen years. 732–715 B.C., not including the coregency with Jotham (735–732).

28:2 made cast idols. Cf. 13:8.

28:3 Valley of Ben Hinnom. Cf. 33:6. Josiah put an end to the pagan practices observed there (2Ki 23:10). sacrificed his sons. See Lev 20:1–5; Jer 7:31–32. 2Ki 16:3 has the singular "son." Some have regarded the plural as a deliberate inflation on the part of the Chronicler to heighten the wickedness of Ahaz. However, some manuscripts of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) also have a plural in 2Ki 16:3, suggesting that the Chronicler may have faithfully copied the text before him.

28:5 Cf. 13:16–17. God handed him over. According to the Chronicler's view on immediate retribution, defeat in war is one of the results of disobedience (see note on 20:30). also given into the hands of the king of Israel. 2Ki 16:5–6 and Isa 7 make it clear that Rezin (king of Aram) and Pekah acted together against Judah. The Chronicler has chosen either to treat them separately or to report on two different episodes of the Aram-Israel coalition.

28:6 Pekah. Reigned over the northern kingdom 752–732 B.C. (see 2Ki 15:27–31). had forsaken the LORD. The same charge Abijah made against the northern kingdom (13:11).

28:9–15 The kindness of the northern captors to their captives from Judah, especially as recorded in vv. 14–15, may be the background for Jesus' parable of the Good Samaritan (Lk 10:25–37). Oded's attitude to the north is shown by his willingness to call them "fellow countrymen" (v. 11). In this case, too, the record of ch. 13 has been reversed: The northern tribes are more righteous than the south.

16 At that time King Ahaz sent to the king[p] of Assyria[z] for help. 17 The Edomites[a] had again come and attacked Judah and carried away prisoners,[b] 18 while the Philistines[c] had raided towns in the foothills and in the Negev of Judah. They captured and occupied Beth Shemesh, Aijalon[d] and Gederoth,[e] as well as Soco,[f] Timnah[g] and Gimzo, with their surrounding villages. 19 The LORD had humbled Judah because of Ahaz king of Israel,[q] for he had promoted wickedness in Judah and had been most unfaithful[h] to the LORD. 20 Tiglath-Pileser[r][i] king of Assyria[j] came to him, but he gave him trouble[k] instead of help.[l] 21 Ahaz[m] took some of the things from the temple of the LORD and from the royal palace and from the princes and presented them to the king of Assyria, but that did not help him.[n]

22 In his time of trouble King Ahaz became even more unfaithful[o] to the LORD.
23 He offered sacrifices to the gods[p] of Damascus, who had defeated him; for he thought, "Since the gods of the kings of Aram have helped them, I will sacrifice to them so they will help me."[q] But they were his downfall and the downfall of all Israel.[r]

24 Ahaz gathered together the furnishings[s] from the temple of God[t] and took them away.[s] He shut the doors[u] of the LORD's temple and set up altars[v] at every street corner in Jerusalem. 25 In every town in Judah he built high places to burn sacrifices to other gods and provoked the LORD, the God of his fathers, to anger.

26 The other events of his reign and all his ways, from beginning to end, are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. 27 Ahaz rested[w] with his fathers and was buried[x] in the city of Jerusalem, but he was not placed in the tombs of the kings of Israel. And Hezekiah his son succeeded him as king.

28:17–18 Edomites . . . attacked Judah . . . Philistines had raided. Foreign alliances (v. 16) led to further defeats for Ahaz (see note on 16:2–9).

28:19 The LORD had humbled Judah because of Ahaz. The same formula used to describe the defeat of the northern tribes in 13:18, though under Ahaz it is Judah that is subdued.

28:20 Tiglath-Pileser. King of Assyria 745–727 B.C. (see 1Ch 5:26 and note). trouble instead of help. Appears on the surface to contradict the statement in 2Ki 16:9 that Tiglath-Pileser III responded to Ahaz's request by attacking and capturing Damascus, exiling its population and killing Rezin. The Chronicler assumes the reader's familiarity with the other account and knows of the temporary respite for Judah gained by Assyrian intervention against Damascus and the northern kingdom of Israel. But he focuses on the long-range results, in which Judah herself was reduced to vassalage to Assyria.

28:22–23 The Chronicler presumes the reader's familiarity with Ahaz's trip to Damascus and his copying of the altar and practices there (2Ki 16:10–16).

28:24–25 Additional details on Ahaz's alterations are found in 2Ki 16:17–18. The Chronicler also adds details in his description of Hezekiah's reforming activities to correct some of the abuses under Ahaz: Not only had the doors been shut, but also the lamps were put out and offerings were not made at the sanctuary (29:7); the altar and utensils were desecrated, and the table for the consecrated bread was neglected (29:18–19). It is precisely these accoutrements of proper temple service about which Abijah had boasted when he proclaimed the faithfulness of Judah in contrast to that of the northern kingdom (13:11). Now these orthodox furnishings are lacking under Ahaz and make the southern kingdom just like the north (see note on vv. 1–27).

28:27 not placed in the tombs of the kings. The third king whose wickedness resulted in the loss of this honor at death. The others were Jehoram (21:20) and Joash (24:25). Uzziah's sin and leprosy brought the same result, though it is not reported in exactly the same terms (26:23). Cf. also Manasseh (33:20).

29:1–32:33 The Chronicler devotes more attention to Hezekiah than to any other post-Solomonic king. Although the parallel text (2Ki 18–20) has about the same amount of material, only about a fourth of the total relates the same or similar material; only a few verses are strict literary parallels (29:1–2; 32:32–33). In Kings preeminence among the post-Solomonic kings is given to Josiah (2Ki 22–23; cf. 1Ki 13:2), and the record of Hezekiah is primarily devoted to his confrontation with Sennacherib of Assyria. By contrast, the Chronicler highlights almost exclusively Hezekiah's religious reform and his devotion to matters of ceremony and ritual. The parallel passage (2Ki 18:1–6) touches the religious reform only briefly. The numerous parallels in these chapters with the account of Solomon's reign suggest that the Chronicler viewed Hezekiah as a "second Solomon" in his celebration of the Passover (30:2,5,23,25–26), his cultic arrangements (29:7,18,35; 31:2–3), his wealth (32:27–29), the honor accorded him by the Gentiles (32:23) and the extent of his dominion (30:25).

29:1 twenty-nine years. 715–686 B.C. (but see note on Isa 36:1), including a 15-year extension of life granted by God (2Ki 20:6) but not mentioned by the Chronicler.

HEZEKIAH

BIRTH DATA: Son of Judah's King Ahaz
OCCUPATION: King of Judah
BEST KNOWN FOR:

- turning his people away from the wickedness of his father Ahaz
- restoring worship in the temple
- having his life extended by fifteen years (2Ki 20)

the eyes of the LORD, just as his father David[z] had done.

[3]In the first month of the first year of his reign, he opened the doors of the temple of the LORD and repaired[a] them. [4]He brought in the priests and the Levites, assembled them in the square on the east side [5]and said: "Listen to me, Levites! Consecrate[b] yourselves now and consecrate the temple of the LORD, the God of your fathers. Remove all defilement from the sanctuary. [6]Our fathers[c] were unfaithful;[d] they did evil in the eyes of the LORD our God and forsook him. They turned their faces away from the LORD's dwelling place and turned their backs on him. [7]They also shut the doors of the portico and put out the lamps. They did not burn incense[e] or present any burnt offerings at the sanctuary to the God of Israel. [8]Therefore, the anger of the LORD has fallen on Judah and Jerusalem; he has made them an object of dread and horror[f] and scorn,[g] as you can see with your own eyes. [9]This is why our fathers have fallen by the sword and why our sons and daughters and our wives are in captivity.[h] [10]Now I intend to make a covenant[i] with the LORD, the God of Israel, so that his fierce anger[j] will turn away from us. [11]My sons, do not be negligent now, for the LORD has chosen you to stand before him and serve him,[k] to minister[l] before him and to burn incense."

[12]Then these Levites[m] set to work:
from the Kohathites,
Mahath son of Amasai and Joel son of Azariah;
from the Merarites, Kish son of Abdi and Azariah son of Jehallelel;
from the Gershonites,
Joah son of Zimmah and Eden[n] son of Joah;
[13]from the descendants of Elizaphan,[o]
Shimri and Jeiel;
from the descendants of Asaph,[p]
Zechariah and Mattaniah;
[14]from the descendants of Heman,
Jehiel and Shimei;
from the descendants of Jeduthun, Shemaiah and Uzziel.

[15]When they had assembled their brothers and consecrated themselves, they went in to purify[q] the temple of the LORD, as the king had ordered, following the word of the LORD. [16]The priests went into the sanctuary of the LORD to purify it. They brought out to the courtyard of the LORD's temple everything unclean that they found in the temple of the LORD. The Levites took it and carried it out to the Kidron Valley.[r] [17]They began the consecration on the first day of the first month, and by the eighth day of the month they reached the portico of the LORD. For eight more days they consecrated the temple of the LORD itself, finishing on the sixteenth day of the first month.

[18]Then they went in to King Hezekiah and reported: "We have purified the entire temple of the LORD, the altar of burnt offering with all its utensils, and the table for setting out the consecrated bread, with all its articles. [19]We have prepared and consecrated all the articles[s] that King Ahaz removed in his unfaithfulness while he was king. They are now in front of the LORD's altar."

[20]Early the next morning King Hezekiah gathered the city officials together and went up to the temple of the LORD. [21]They brought seven bulls, seven rams, seven male lambs and seven male goats[t] as a sin offering[u] for the kingdom, for the sanctuary and for Judah. The king commanded the priests, the descendants of Aaron, to offer these on the altar of the LORD. [22]So they slaughtered the bulls, and the priests took the blood and sprinkled it on the altar; next they slaughtered the rams and sprinkled their blood on the altar; then they slaughtered the lambs and sprinkled their blood[v] on the altar. [23]The goats[w] for the sin offering were brought before the king and the assembly, and they laid their hands[x] on them.

29:3–30:27 Not found in Kings.

29:3 first year. 715 B.C., another example of the Chronicler's practice of introducing chronological materials into his narrative (see note on 12:2). opened the doors of the temple. Necessary after the actions of Ahaz (28:24). repaired them. The repairs to the doors included new gold overlay (2Ki 18:16).

29:5–11 Hezekiah's speech demonstrates again the Chronicler's convictions about the coherence of action and effect: The sins of the past brought difficulty and judgment, but renewed fidelity brings relief.

29:7 Hezekiah reinstitutes these temple arrangements—following the pattern of Solomon (2:4; 4:7).

29:8 object of dread and horror and scorn. Echoes the language of the prophets, especially Jeremiah (see Jer 19:8; 25:9,18; 29:18; 51:37). Reference is to the Assyrian devastation of the northern kingdom and much of Judah.

29:12 Kohathites . . . Merarites . . . Gershonites. The three clans of Levi (1Ch 6:1).

29:13–14 Asaph . . . Heman . . . Jeduthun. Founders of the three families of Levitical musicians (1Ch 6:31–48; 25:1–31).

29:13 Elizaphan. A leader of the Kohathites (Nu 3:30), whose family had achieved status almost as a sub-clan (see 1Ch 15:8 and note on 1Ch 15:4–10).

29:16 carried it out to the Kidron Valley. Asa also burned pagan cult objects there (15:16; cf. 30:14).

29:18 These actions under Hezekiah mirror those of Solomon (2:4).

29:21 sin offering. See Lev 4:1–5:13.

29:22 sprinkled their blood. See Lev 17:6; Nu 18:17.

29:23 laid their hands on them. See Lev 4:13–15; 8:14–15; Nu 8:12.

[24]The priests then slaughtered the goats and presented their blood on the altar for a sin offering to atone[y] for all Israel, because the king had ordered the burnt offering and the sin offering for all Israel.[z]

[25]He stationed the Levites in the temple of the LORD with cymbals, harps and lyres in the way prescribed by David[a] and Gad[b] the king's seer and Nathan the prophet; this was commanded by the LORD through his prophets. [26]So the Levites stood ready with David's instruments,[c] and the priests with their trumpets.[d]

[27]Hezekiah gave the order to sacrifice the burnt offering on the altar. As the offering began, singing to the LORD began also, accompanied by trumpets and the instruments[e] of David king of Israel. [28]The whole assembly bowed in worship, while the singers sang and the trumpeters played. All this continued until the sacrifice of the burnt offering[f] was completed.

[29]When the offerings were finished, the king and everyone present with him knelt down and worshiped.[g] [30]King Hezekiah and his officials ordered the Levites to praise the LORD with the words of David and of Asaph the seer. So they sang praises with gladness and bowed their heads and worshiped.

[31]Then Hezekiah said, "You have now dedicated yourselves to the LORD. Come and bring sacrifices[h] and thank offerings to the temple of the LORD." So the assembly brought sacrifices and thank offerings, and all whose hearts were willing[i] brought burnt offerings.

[32]The number of burnt offerings[j] the assembly brought was seventy bulls, a hundred rams and two hundred male lambs—all of them for burnt offerings to the LORD. [33]The animals consecrated as sacrifices amounted to six hundred bulls and three thousand sheep and goats. [34]The priests, however, were too few to skin all the burnt offerings;[k] so their kinsmen the Levites helped them until the task was finished and until other priests had been consecrated,[l] for the Levites had been more conscientious in consecrating themselves than the priests had been. [35]There were burnt offerings in abundance, together with the fat[m] of the fellowship offerings[tn] and the drink offerings[o] that accompanied the burnt offerings.

So the service of the temple of the LORD was reestablished. [36]Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced at what God had brought about for his people, because it was done so quickly.[p]

Hezekiah Celebrates the Passover

30 Hezekiah sent word to all Israel[q] and Judah and also wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh,[r] inviting them to come to the temple of the LORD in Jerusalem and celebrate the Passover[s] to the LORD, the God of Israel. [2]The king and his officials and the whole assembly in Jerusalem decided to celebrate[t] the Passover in the second month. [3]They had not been able to celebrate it at the regular time because not enough priests had consecrated[u] themselves and the people had not assembled in Jerusalem. [4]The plan seemed right both to the king and to the whole assembly. [5]They decided to send a proclamation throughout Israel, from Beersheba to Dan,[v] calling the people to come to Jerusalem and celebrate the Passover to the LORD, the God of Israel. It had not been celebrated in large numbers according to what was written.

29:25 David and Gad ... and Nathan ... prophets. The Chronicler considers David among the prophets (see notes on 1:7; 1Ch 28:19).

29:26 David's instruments. See 1Ch 23:5.

29:35 burnt offerings in abundance ... fellowship offerings ... drink offerings. Reminiscent of the dedication of the temple under Solomon (7:4–6). For the laws regarding the fellowship offerings see Lev 3; 7:11–21; for the drink offerings see Nu 15:1–12. service of the temple of the LORD was reestablished. Similar to the formula used in 8:16 with reference to Solomon's work.

30:1–27 Unique to the Chronicler; cf. the famous Passover under Josiah (35:1–19; 2Ki 23:21–23). Hezekiah allowed two deviations from the law (Ex 12; Dt 16:1–8) in this observance: (1) the date in the second month (v. 2) and (2) exemption from some ritual requirements (vv. 18–19).

30:1 all Israel and Judah. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes. With the northern kingdom now ended as the result of the Assyrian invasion and deportation (which surprisingly is not mentioned), the Chronicler shows "all Israel" once again united around the Davidic king and the temple (see vv. 5,18–19,25).

30:2 second month. After the division of the kingdom, Jeroboam deferred the sacral calendar of the northern kingdom by one month (1Ki 12:32), possibly to further wean the subjects in the north away from devotion to Jerusalem. By delaying the celebration of Passover one month, Hezekiah not only allows time for the priests to consecrate themselves (v. 3) and for the people to gather (vv. 3,13), but also achieves unity between the kingdoms on the date of the Passover for the first time since the schism more than two centuries earlier. Delaying the date reflects Hezekiah's concern to involve "all Israel." For the first time since Solomon the entire nation observes Passover together, reflecting the Chronicler's view that Hezekiah is a "second Solomon." Passover was prescribed for the 14th day of the first month (Ex 12:2,6; Dt 16:1–8), but could not be celebrated at that time due to the defilement of the temple and the purification rites under way (29:3,17). For celebration of Passover by the restored community shortly after the dedication of the rebuilt temple see Ezr 6:16–22.

30:5 large numbers. Another comparison with the time of Solomon (see v. 26). At the time of its inception, Passover was primarily a family observance (Ex 12). It later became a national celebration at the temple (v. 8; see Dt 16:1–8).

6At the king's command, couriers went throughout Israel and Judah with letters from the king and from his officials, which read:

"People of Israel, return to the LORD, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, that he may return to you who are left, who have escaped from the hand of the kings of Assyria. 7Do not be like your fathers[w] and brothers, who were unfaithful[x] to the LORD, the God of their fathers, so that he made them an object of horror,[y] as you see. 8Do not be stiff-necked,[z] as your fathers were; submit to the LORD. Come to the sanctuary, which he has consecrated forever. Serve the LORD your God, so that his fierce anger[a] will turn away from you. 9If you return[b] to the LORD, then your brothers and your children will be shown compassion[c] by their captors and will come back to this land, for the LORD your God is gracious and compassionate.[d] He will not turn his face from you if you return to him."

10The couriers went from town to town in Ephraim and Manasseh, as far as Zebulun, but the people scorned and ridiculed[e] them. 11Nevertheless, some men of Asher, Manasseh and Zebulun humbled[f] themselves and went to Jerusalem.[g] 12Also in Judah the hand of God was on the people to give them unity[h] of mind to carry out what the king and his officials had ordered, following the word of the LORD.

13A very large crowd of people assembled in Jerusalem to celebrate the Feast of Unleavened Bread[i] in the second month. 14They removed the altars[j] in Jerusalem and cleared away the incense altars and threw them into the Kidron Valley.[k]

15They slaughtered the Passover lamb on the fourteenth day of the second month. The priests and the Levites were ashamed and consecrated[l] themselves and brought burnt offerings to the temple of the LORD. 16Then they took up their regular positions[m] as prescribed in the Law of Moses the man of God. The priests sprinkled the blood handed to them by the Levites. 17Since many in the crowd had not consecrated themselves, the Levites had to kill[n] the Passover lambs for all those who were not ceremonially clean and could not consecrate ⌊their lambs⌋ to the LORD. 18Although most of the many people who came from Ephraim, Manasseh, Issachar and Zebu-lun had not purified themselves,[o] yet they ate the Passover, contrary to what was written. But Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, "May the LORD, who is good, pardon everyone 19who sets his heart on seeking God—the LORD, the God of his fathers—even if he is not clean according to the rules of the sanctuary."
20And the LORD heard[p] Hezekiah and healed[q] the people.[r]

21The Israelites who were present in Jerusalem celebrated the Feast of Unleavened Bread[s] for seven days with great rejoicing, while the Levites and priests sang to the LORD every day, accompanied by the LORD's instruments of praise.[u]

22Hezekiah spoke encouragingly to all the Levites, who showed good understanding of the service of the LORD. For the seven days they ate their assigned portion and offered fellowship offerings[v] and praised the LORD, the God of their fathers.

23The whole assembly then agreed to celebrate[t] the festival seven more days; so for another seven days they celebrated joyfully. 24Hezekiah king of Judah provided[u] a thousand bulls and seven thousand sheep and goats for the assembly, and the officials provided them with a thousand bulls and ten thousand sheep and goats. A great number of priests consecrated themselves. 25The entire assembly of Judah rejoiced, along with the priests and Levites and all who had assembled from Israel[v], including the 30:8 Come to the sanctuary. Passover was one of three annual pilgrim feasts requiring attendance at the temple (see Nu 28:9–29:39).

30:9 shown compassion by their captors. In Solomon's prayer in 6:39 the Chronicler omitted the phrase found in the parallel account (1Ki 8:50) that their conquerors would "show them mercy." Here the phrase is found in the speech of Hezekiah, again portraying him as a kind of "second Solomon" (see Lev 26:40–42). will come back to this land. Those who repent will have hope of return, even those from the Assyrian captivity.

30:14 threw them into the Kidron Valley. See 29:16 and note.

30:15 The priests and the Levites . . . consecrated themselves. The reproach previously directed against the priests (v. 3; 29:34) is here broadened to include also the Levites—an exhortation to the priests and Levites of the restored community to be faithful.

30:17 Levites had to kill the Passover lambs. See Ex 12:6; Dt 16:6. According to the law the heads of families were to slay the Passover sacrifice. The Levites perhaps acted for the recent arrivals from the northern kingdom who were not ceremonially clean. Cf. Jn 11:55.

30:18–19 Faith and obedience take precedence over ritual (see Mk 7:1–23; Jn 7:22–23; 9:14–16).

30:20 The response to Hezekiah's prayer recalls the prayer of Solomon (7:14).

30:23 another seven days. The festival was observed for two weeks, just as the observance of the dedication of Solomon's temple had been (7:8–9).

aliens who had come from Israel and those who lived in Judah. [26]There was great joy in Jerusalem, for since the days of Solomon[w] son of David king of Israel there had been nothing like this in Jerusalem. [27]The priests and the Levites stood to bless[x] the people, and God heard them, for their prayer reached heaven, his holy dwelling place.

31 When all this had ended, the Israelites who were there went out to the towns of Judah, smashed the sacred stones and cut down[y] the Asherah poles. They destroyed the high places and the altars throughout Judah and Benjamin and in Ephraim and Manasseh. After they had destroyed all of them, the Israelites returned to their own towns and to their own property.

Contributions for Worship

31:20–21pp — 2Ki 18:5–7

[2]Hezekiah[z] assigned the priests and Levites to divisions[a]—each of them according to their duties as priests or Levites—to offer burnt offerings and fellowship offerings,[w] to minister,[b] to give thanks and to sing praises[c] at the gates of the LORD's dwelling.[d] [3]The king contributed[e] from his own possessions for the morning and evening burnt offerings and for the burnt offerings on the Sabbaths, New Moons and appointed feasts as written in the Law of the LORD.[f] [4]He ordered the people living in Jerusalem to give the portion[g] due the priests and Levites so they could devote themselves to the Law of the LORD. [5]As soon as the order went out, the Israelites generously gave the firstfruits[h] of their grain, new wine,[i] oil and honey and all that the fields produced. They brought a great amount, a tithe of everything. [6]The men of Israel and Judah who lived in the towns of Judah also brought a tithe[j] of their herds and flocks and a tithe of the holy things dedicated to the LORD their God, and they piled them in heaps.[k] [7]They began doing this in the third month and finished in the seventh month.[l] [8]When Hezekiah and his officials came and saw the heaps, they praised the LORD and blessed[m] his people Israel.

[9]Hezekiah asked the priests and Levites about the heaps; [10]and Azariah the chief priest, from the family of Zadok,[n] answered, "Since the people began to bring their contributions to the temple of the LORD, we have had enough to eat and plenty to spare, because the LORD has blessed his people, and this great amount is left over."[o]

[11]Hezekiah gave orders to prepare storerooms in the temple of the LORD, and this was done. [12]Then they faithfully brought in the contributions, tithes and dedicated gifts. Conaniah,[p] a Levite, was in charge of these things, and his brother Shimei was next in rank. [13]Jehiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad,[q] Eliel, Ismakiah, Mahath and Benaiah were supervisors under Conaniah and Shimei his brother, by appointment of King Hezekiah and Azariah the official in charge of the temple of God.

[14]Kore son of Imnah the Levite, keeper of the East Gate, was in charge of the freewill offerings given to God, distributing the contributions made to the LORD and also the consecrated gifts. [15]Eden,[r] Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah and Shecaniah assisted him faithfully in the towns[s] of the priests, distributing to their fellow priests according to their divisions, old and young alike.

[16]In addition, they distributed to the males three years old or more whose names were in the genealogical

30:26 since the days of Solomon. An explicit indication of the Chronicler's modeling of the reign of Hezekiah after that of Solomon (see note on 29:1–32:33).

30:27 prayer reached heaven, his holy dwelling place. Another echo of Solomon's dedication prayer (6:21,30,33,39).

31:1–21 Apart from the first verse, which parallels 2Ki 18:4, the material of this chapter is unique to the Chronicler, whose interest in the Levites and the temple predominates. Hezekiah's efforts to ensure the material support of the Levites (v. 4) probably had relevance to the postexilic audience for whom the Chronicler wrote.

31:1 the Israelites ... the Israelites. Lit. "all Israel ... all the Israelites." The Chronicler's interest in "all Israel" as united under Hezekiah is again apparent. sacred stones. See note on 1Ki 14:23. Asherah poles. See NIV text note on 14:3.

31:2 Echoes 8:14. The Chronicler continues to model Hezekiah as a "second Solomon" (see notes on 29:7,18).

31:3 king contributed. The king's giving from his own wealth prompted a generous response from the people, as it had also under David (1Ch 29:3–9).

31:5–6 See Dt 12:5–19; 14:22–27. The grain, new wine and oil had to be brought to the temple (Dt 12:17). Those coming from a distance, however, could bring the value of their offerings and purchase them on arrival (Dt 14:24). Only those who actually lived in Judah brought the tithe of their herds and flocks, a difficult procedure for those who lived farther away. For the restored community's commitment to bring their firstfruits, tithes and offerings see Ne 10:35–39. For their failure to do so see Ne 13:10–13; Mal 3:8–10.

31:7 third month. May-June, the time of the Feast of Pentecost and the grain harvest. seventh month. September-October, the time of the Feast of Tabernacles and the fruit and vine harvest (see Ex 23:16).

31:16 three years. Although no ancient versions or manuscripts disagree with this figure, it may represent a copyist's mistake for "30 years," the age at which duties were assigned in the temple (1Ch 23:3).

records[t]—all who would enter the temple of the LORD to perform the daily duties of their various tasks, according to their responsibilities and their divisions. 17And they distributed to the priests enrolled by their families in the genealogical records and likewise to the Levites twenty years old or more, according to their responsibilities and their divisions. 18They included all the little ones, the wives, and the sons and daughters of the whole community listed in these genealogical records. For they were faithful in consecrating themselves.

19As for the priests, the descendants of Aaron, who lived on the farm lands around their towns or in any other towns,[u] men were designated by name to distribute portions to every male among them and to all who were recorded in the genealogies of the Levites.

20This is what Hezekiah did throughout Judah, doing what was good and right and faithful[v] before the LORD his God. 21In everything that he undertook in the service of God's temple and in obedience to the law and the commands, he sought his God and worked wholeheartedly. And so he prospered.[w]

Sennacherib Threatens Jerusalem

32:9–19pp — 2Ki 18:17–35; Isa 36.2–20
32:20–21pp — 2Ki 19:35–37; Isa 37:36–38

32 After all that Hezekiah had so faithfully done, Sennacherib[x] king of Assyria came and invaded Judah. He laid siege to the fortified cities, thinking to conquer them for himself. 2When Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib had come and that he intended to make war on Jerusalem,[y] 3he consulted with his officials and military staff about blocking off the water from the springs outside the city, and they helped him. 4A large force of men assembled, and they blocked all the springs[z] and the stream that flowed through the land. "Why should the kings[x] of Assyria come and find plenty of water?" they said. 5Then he worked hard repairing all the broken sections of the wall[a] and building towers on it. He built another wall outside that one and reinforced the supporting terraces[y b] of the City of David. He also made large numbers of weapons[c] and shields.

6He appointed military officers over the people and assembled them before him in the square at the city gate and encouraged them with these words: 7"Be strong and courageous.[d] Do not be afraid or discouraged[e] because of the king of Assyria and the vast army with him, for there is a greater power with us than with him.[f] 8With him is only the arm of flesh,[g] but with us[h] is the LORD our God to help us and to fight our battles."[i] And the people gained confidence from what Hezekiah the king of Judah said.

9Later, when Sennacherib king of Assyria and all his forces were laying siege to Lachish,[j] he sent his officers to Jerusalem with this message for Hezekiah king of Judah and for all the people of Judah who were there:

> 10"This is what Sennacherib king of Assyria says: On what are you basing your confidence,[k] that you remain in Jerusalem under siege? 11When Hezekiah says, 'The LORD our God will save us from the hand of the king of Assyria,' he is misleading[l] you, to let you die of hunger and thirst. 12Did not Hezekiah himself remove this god's high places and altars, saying to Judah and Jerusalem, 'You must worship before one altar[m] and burn sacrifices on it'?
> 13"Do you not know what I and my fathers have done to all the peoples of the other lands? Were the gods of those nations ever able to deliver their land from my hand?[n] 14Who of all the gods of these nations that my fathers destroyed has been able to save his people from me? How then can your god deliver you from my hand? 15Now do not let Hezekiah deceive[o] you and mislead you like this. Do not believe him, for

31:20–21 Another brief indication of the Chronicler's emphasis on immediate retribution: Not only does disobedience bring immediate chastening, but obedience and seeking God bring prosperity.

32:1–23 The record of Sennacherib's invasion is much more detailed in 2 Kings and Isaiah (see note on 29:1–32:33).

32:1 The Chronicler omits the date of the invasion (701 B.C., Hezekiah's 14th year; see 2Ki 18:13; Isa 36:1).

32:2–8 Unique to the Chronicler, but normal preparations for invasion.

32:3–4 See v. 30.

32:9 The Chronicler bypasses 2Ki 18:14–16, which records Hezekiah's suit for peace with its accompanying bribe stripped from the temple treasures. These acts were apparently out of accord with the Chronicler's portrait of Hezekiah. He also omits 2Ki 18:17b–18.

32:10 The Chronicler omits 2Ki 18:20–21 (and Isa 36:5–6), containing a portion of the Assyrian commander's speech ridiculing Hezekiah and the citizens of Jerusalem for trusting in Egypt and Pharaoh. This, too, may be theologically motivated, in light of the Chronicler's attitude toward foreign alliances (see note on 16:2–9). The same concern with foreign alliances is also likely the reason for the omission of the material in 2Ki 18:23–27 (and Isa 36:8–12), where mention is again made of the hope of Egyptian intervention (see 2Ki 19:9 for the incursion of Tirhakah).

no god of any nation or kingdom has been able to deliver[p] his people from my hand or the hand of my fathers.[q] How much less will your god deliver you from my hand!"

[16]Sennacherib's officers spoke further against the LORD God and against his servant Hezekiah. [17]The king also wrote letters[r] insulting[s] the LORD, the God of Israel, and saying this against him: "Just as the gods[t] of the peoples of the other lands did not rescue their people from my hand, so the god of Hezekiah will not rescue his people from my hand." [18]Then they called out in Hebrew to the people of Jerusalem who were on the wall, to terrify them and make them afraid in order to capture the city. [19]They spoke about the God of Jerusalem as they did about the gods of the other peoples of the world—the work of men's hands.[u]

[20]King Hezekiah and the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz cried out in prayer[v] to heaven about this. [21]And the LORD sent an angel,[w] who annihilated all the fighting men and the leaders and officers in the camp of the Assyrian king. So he withdrew to his own land in disgrace. And when he went into the temple of his god, some of his sons cut him down with the sword.[x]

[22]So the LORD saved Hezekiah and the people of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib king of Assyria and from the hand of all others. He took care of them[z] on every side. [23]Many brought offerings to Jerusalem for the LORD and valuable gifts[y] for Hezekiah king of Judah. From then on he was highly regarded by all the nations.

Hezekiah's Pride, Success and Death

32:24–33pp — 2Ki 20:1–21; Isa 37:21–38; 38:1–8

[24]In those days Hezekiah became ill and was at the point of death. He prayed to the LORD, who answered him and gave him a miraculous sign.[z] [25]But Hezekiah's heart was proud[a] and he did not respond to the kindness shown him; therefore the LORD's wrath[b] was on him and on Judah and Jerusalem. [26]Then Hezekiah repented[c] of the pride of his heart, as did the people of Jerusalem; therefore the LORD's wrath did not come upon them during the days of Hezekiah.[d]

[27]Hezekiah had very great riches and honor,[e] and he made treasuries for his silver and gold and for his precious stones, spices, shields and all kinds of valuables. [28]He also made buildings to store the harvest of grain, new wine and oil; and he made stalls for various kinds of cattle, and pens for the flocks. [29]He built villages and acquired great numbers of flocks and herds, for God had given him very great riches.[f]

[30]It was Hezekiah who blocked[g] the upper outlet of the Gihon[h] spring and channeled[i] the water down to the west side of the City of David. He succeeded in everything he undertook. [31]But when envoys were sent by the rulers of Babylon[j] to ask him about the miraculous sign[k] that had occurred in the land, God left him to test[l] him and to know everything that was in his heart.

[32]The other events of Hezekiah's reign and his acts of devotion are written in the vision of the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. [33]Hezekiah rested with his fathers and was buried on the hill where the tombs of David's descendants are. All Judah and the people of Jerusalem honored him when he died. And Manasseh his son succeeded him as king.

32:16 spoke further. The Chronicler appears to assume his reader's familiarity with the longer account of the Assyrian taunts found in Kings and Isaiah.
32:18 called out in Hebrew. Assumes knowledge of the fuller story (2Ki 18:26–28; Isa 36:11–13).
32:20 This brief reference to the prayers of Hezekiah and Isaiah abridges the much longer narrative in 2Ki 19:1–34 (and Isa 37:1–35).
32:21 See 2Ki 19:35–37; Isa 37:36–38. The Chronicler and the parallel accounts telescope events somewhat: Sennacherib's invasion of Judah was in 701 B.C., while his death at the hand of his sons was in 681.
32:23 highly regarded by all the nations. Another effort to compare Hezekiah with Solomon (see 9:23–24).
32:24 The Chronicler again abridges the narrative in 2Ki 20:1–11 (and Isa 38:1–8), assuming the reader's familiarity with the role of Isaiah and the miraculous sign of the shadow reversing ten steps.
32:25–30 Not found in the parallel texts.
32:25–26 proud . . . pride. The Chronicler does not specify the nature of Hezekiah's pride (however, see v. 31; 2Ki 20:12–13; Isa 39:1–2). Even for a "second Solomon" like Hezekiah, disobedience brings anger from the Lord.
32:27–29 The Chronicler likens Hezekiah to Solomon also by recounting his wealth (9:13–14).
32:30 See vv. 2–4; 2Ki 20:20.
32:31 See v. 25. The Chronicler assumes the reader's knowledge of the fuller account in 2Ki 20:12–19 (and Isa 39:1–8). The envoys from Babylon were apparently interested in joint efforts against the Assyrians, hoping to open two fronts against them simultaneously.
33:1–20 See 2Ki 21:1–18 and notes. Manasseh had the longest reign of any of the kings of Judah, a total of 55 years (v. 1). The emphasis in the two accounts differs: While both histories report at length the evil done in Ma-reigned in Jerusalem fifty-five years. 2He did evil in the eyes of the LORD,[n] following the detestable[o] practices of the nations the LORD had driven out before the Israelites. 3He rebuilt the high places his father Hezekiah had demolished; he also erected altars to the Baals and made Asherah poles.[p] He bowed down[q] to all the starry hosts and worshiped them. 4He built altars in the temple of the LORD, of which the LORD had said, "My Name[r] will remain in Jerusalem forever." 5In both courts of the temple of the LORD,[s] he built altars to all the starry hosts. 6He sacrificed his sons[t] in[a] the fire in the Valley of Ben Hinnom, practiced sorcery, divination and witchcraft, and consulted mediums[u] and spiritists.[v] He did much evil in the eyes of the LORD, provoking him to anger.

7He took the carved image he had made and put it in God's temple,[w] of which God had said to David and to his son Solomon, "In this temple and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I will put my Name forever. 8I will not again make the feet of the Israelites leave the land[x] I assigned to your forefathers, if only they will be careful to do everything I commanded them concerning all the laws, decrees and ordinances given through Moses." 9But Manasseh led Judah and the people of Jerusalem astray, so that they did more evil than the nations the LORD had destroyed before the Israelites.[y]

10The LORD spoke to Manasseh and his people, but they paid no attention. 11So the LORD brought against them the army commanders of the king of Assyria, who took Manasseh prisoner,[z] put a hook[a] in his nose, bound him with bronze shackles[b] and took him to Babylon. 12In his distress he sought the favor of the LORD his God and humbled[c] himself greatly before the God of his fathers. 13And when he prayed to him, the LORD was moved by his entreaty and listened to his plea; so he brought him back to Jerusalem and to his kingdom. Then Manasseh knew that the LORD is God.

14Afterward he rebuilt the outer wall of the City of David, west of the Gihon[d] spring in the valley, as far as the entrance of the Fish Gate[e] and encircling the hill of Ophel;[f] he also made it much higher. He stationed military commanders in all the fortified cities in Judah.

15He got rid of the foreign gods and removed[g] the image from the temple of the LORD, as well as all the altars he had built on the temple hill and in Jerusalem; and he threw them out of the city. 16Then he restored the altar of the LORD and sacrificed fellowship offerings[b] and thank offerings[h] on it, and told Judah to serve the LORD, the God of Israel. 17The people, however, continued to sacrifice at the high places, but only to the LORD their God.

18The other events of Manasseh's reign, including his prayer to his God and the words the seers spoke to him in the name of the LORD, the God of Israel, are written in the annals of the kings of Israel.[c] 19His prayer and how God was moved by his entreaty, as well as all his nasseh's reign, only the Chronicler mentions his journey to Babylon and his repentance and restoration to rule. For the writer of Kings, the picture is only a bad one in which Manasseh could be considered almost single-handedly the cause of the exile (2Ki 21:10–15; 23:26). Some scholars regard the record of Manasseh's repentance in Chronicles as motivated by the author's emphasis on immediate retribution: Length of reign is viewed as a blessing for obedience, so that the Chronicler deliberately records some good in Manasseh as a ground for his long reign. However, it must be noted that length of reign is not elsewhere used by the Chronicler as an indication of divine blessing. The usual indicators for such blessing in his account are peace and prosperity, building projects, success in warfare and large families.

33:1 fifty-five years. 697–642 B.C.

33:3 Asherah poles. See NIV text note on 14:3.

33:6 sacrificed his sons. See 28:3–4.

33:10 See note on vv. 1–20. The Chronicler abridges what the Lord said to Manasseh and the people through the prophets; the fuller record is found in 2Ki 21:10–15.

33:11–17 Unique to the Chronicler, showing his stress on immediate retribution: Manasseh's evil brings invasion and defeat, while his repentance brings restoration to rule.

33:11 took him to Babylon. In extant non-Biblical records there is no reference as yet to Manasseh being taken to Babylon by an Assyrian king. Esarhaddon (681–669 B.C.) lists him among 22 kings required to forward materials for his building projects, and Ashurbanipal (669–627) names him as one of a number of vassals supporting his campaign against Egypt. The fact that an Assyrian king would have him taken to Babylon suggests that this incident may have taken place during the rebellion of Shamash-Shum-Ukin against his brother and overlord Ashurbanipal. This rebellion lasted from 652 to 648, and Manasseh may have joined or at least have been suspected of assisting in the Babylonian defection from Assyria. Manasseh may have been found innocent, or he may have been pardoned on the basis of a renewed pledge of loyalty. Egypt had also bolted from the Assyrian yoke under the new 26th dynasty, and the return of Manasseh to rule may reflect the Assyrian need of a vassal near the border of Egypt.

33:12 The language is reminiscent of Solomon's prayer (7:14).

33:14 rebuilt the outer wall. For the Chronicler such building programs are a sign of divine blessing (8:1–6; 11:5–12; 14:6–7; 26:9–10,14–15; 32:1–5,27–30; 1Ch 11:7–9; 15:1).

33:15–16 Whatever the precise nature of Manasseh's reforms, Josiah would later still need to remove "the altars Manasseh had built in the two courts of the temple" (2Ki 23:12).

33:19 Asherah poles. See NIV text note on 14:3.

sins and unfaithfulness, and the sites where he built high places and set up Asherah poles and idols before he humbled[i] himself—all are written in the records of the seers.[dj] [20]Manasseh rested with his fathers and was buried[k] in his palace. And Amon his son succeeded him as king.

Amon King of Judah

33:21–25pp — 2Ki 21:19–24

[21]Amon[l] was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem two years. [22]He did evil in the eyes of the LORD, as his father Manasseh had done. Amon worshiped and offered sacrifices to all the idols Manasseh had made. [23]But unlike his father Manasseh, he did not humble[m] himself before the LORD; Amon increased his guilt.

[24]Amon's officials conspired against him and assassinated him in his palace. [25]Then the people[n] of the land killed all who had plotted against King Amon, and they made Josiah his son king in his place.

Josiah's Reforms

34:1–2pp — 2Ki 22:1–2
34:3–7Ref — 2Ki 23:4–20
34:8–13pp — 2Ki 22:3–7

34 Josiah[o] was eight years old when he became king,[p] and he reigned in Jerusalem thirty-one years. [2]He did what was right in the eyes of the LORD and walked in the ways of his father David,[q] not turning aside to the right or to the left.

[3]In the eighth year of his reign, while he was still young, he began to seek the God[r] of his father David. In his twelfth year he began to purge Judah and Jerusalem of high places, Asherah poles, carved idols and cast images. [4]Under his direction the altars of the Baals were torn down; he cut to pieces the incense altars that were above them, and smashed the Asherah poles,[s] the idols and the images. These he broke to pieces and scattered over the graves of those who had sacrificed to them.[t] [5]He burned[u] the bones of the priests on their altars, and so he purged Judah and Jerusalem. [6]In the towns of Manasseh, Ephraim and Simeon, as far as Naphtali, and in the ruins around them, [7]he tore down the altars and the Asherah poles and crushed the idols to powder[v] and cut to pieces all the incense altars throughout Israel. Then he went back to Jerusalem.

[8]In the eighteenth year of Josiah's reign, to purify the land and the temple, he sent Shaphan son of Azaliah and Maaseiah the ruler of the city, with Joah son of Joahaz, the recorder, to repair the temple of the LORD his God.

33:20 buried in his palace. Cf. 2Ki 21:18. His burial in the palace garden makes Manasseh the fifth king the Chronicler names who was not buried in the tombs of the kings (see note on 28:27).

33:21–25 See 2Ki 21:19–26. The Chronicler's account of the reign of Amon (642–640 B.C.) is quite similar to that in Kings, apart from (1) the additional note that Amon was not repentant like his father Manasseh, a note based on a passage unique to the Chronicler (vv. 12–13), and (2) the absence of the death formula.

34:1–36:1 See 2Ki 22:1–23:30 and notes. Both accounts of Josiah's reign are about the same length and treat the same subjects, but with considerable variation in emphasis. Both deal with three different aspects of Josiah's reform: (1) the removal of foreign cults, (2) the finding of the Book of the Law and the covenant renewal that followed and (3) the celebration of Passover. On the second item the two histories are quite similar. On the first item the writer of Kings goes to great lengths (2Ki 23:4–20), while the Chronicler summarizes it only briefly (34:3–7,33). The account of the Passover is greatly expanded in Chronicles (35:1–19), while only alluded to in 2 Kings (23:21–23). Not only are these items treated at different lengths, but the order is also changed. In Kings the finding of the Book of the Law in the temple in Josiah's 18th year is the first incident mentioned. The writer appears to have organized his material geographically, i.e., beginning with the temple and spreading through the city, then into the rest of the nation. The Chronicler, on the other hand, has arranged the incidents in order of their occurrence and has characteristically introduced a number of chronological notes into the text: 34:3 (two notes without parallel in Kings); 34:8 (see 2Ki 22:3); 35:19 (see 2Ki 23:23; see also note on 2Ch 12:2). Chronicles makes it clear that the reform began in Josiah's 12th year (34:3), six years before the discovery of the Book of the Law.

34:1–2 See 2Ki 22:1–2.

34:1 thirty-one years. 640–609 B.C.

34:3–7 The writer of Kings covers this aspect of Josiah's reform in much greater detail (2Ki 23:4–20). He also delays his account of the removal of pagan cults until after the discovery of the Book of the Law, while the Chronicler places it before.

34:3 Some scholars have sought to tie the events of Josiah's 8th (v. 3), 12th (v. 3) and 18th (v. 8) years to stages in the progressive decline and fall of the Assyrian empire, which had dominated the area for about two centuries. The demise of Assyrian control in Aram and Israel undoubtedly facilitated and encouraged Josiah's reassertion of Davidic authority over former Assyrian provinces (vv. 6–7). However, one must not undercut religious motives in Josiah's reforms. Otherwise, the reform is reduced to merely a religious expression of an essentially political rebellion. Asherah poles. See NIV text note on 14:3.

34:6 Manasseh, Ephraim and Simeon, as far as Naphtali. The Chronicler's concern for "all Israel" (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes) is apparent in his recording the involvement of the northern tribes in Josiah's reform (see also vv. 9,21,33). The Chronicler again shows all Israel united under a Davidic king, just as he did under Hezekiah (see note on 30:1). Simeon. Perhaps some Simeonites had migrated from Judah to the north.

34:7 throughout Israel. Defined by the list of tribes in v. 6.

34:8–21 See 2Ki 22:3–13 and notes.

9They went to Hilkiah[w] the high priest and gave him the money that had been brought into the temple of God, which the Levites who were the doorkeepers had collected from the people of Manasseh, Ephraim and the entire remnant of Israel and from all the people of Judah and Benjamin and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 10Then they entrusted it to the men appointed to supervise the work on the LORD's temple. These men paid the workers who repaired and restored the temple. 11They also gave money[x] to the carpenters and builders to purchase dressed stone, and timber for joists and beams for the buildings that the kings of Judah had allowed to fall into ruin.[y]

12The men did the work faithfully.[z] Over them to direct them were Jahath and Obadiah, Levites descended from Merari, and Zechariah and Meshullam, descended from Kohath. The Levites—all who were skilled in playing musical instruments—[a] 13had charge of the laborers[b] and supervised all the workers from job to job. Some of the Levites were secretaries, scribes and doorkeepers.

The Book of the Law Found

34:14–28pp — 2Ki 22:8–20
34:29–32pp — 2Ki 23:1–3

14While they were bringing out the money that had been taken into the temple of the LORD, Hilkiah the priest found the Book of the Law of the LORD that had been given through Moses. 15Hilkiah said to Shaphan the secretary, "I have found the Book of the Law[c] in the temple of the LORD." He gave it to Shaphan.

16Then Shaphan took the book to the king and reported to him: "Your officials are doing everything that has been committed to them. 17They have paid out the money that was in the temple of the LORD and have entrusted it to the supervisors and workers." 18Then Shaphan the secretary informed the king, "Hilkiah the priest has given me a book." And Shaphan read from it in the presence of the king.

22Hilkiah and those the king had sent with him[f] went to speak to the prophetess[h] Huldah, who was the wife of Shallum son of Tokhath,[g] the son of Hasrah,[h] keeper of the wardrobe. She lived in Jerusalem, in the Second District.

23She said to them, "This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Tell the man who sent you to me, 24'This is what the LORD says: I am going to bring disaster[i] on this place and its people[j]—all the curses[k] written in the book that has been read in the presence of the king of Judah. 25Because they have forsaken me[l] and burned incense to other gods and provoked me to anger by all that their hands have made,[i] my anger will be poured out on this place and will not be quenched.' 26Tell the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the LORD, 'This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says concerning the words you heard: 27Because your heart was responsive[m] and you humbled[n] yourself before God when you heard what he spoke against this place and its people, and because you humbled yourself before me and tore your robes and wept in my presence, I have heard you, declares the LORD. 28Now I will gather you to your fathers,[o] and you will be buried in peace. Your eyes will not see all the disaster I am going to bring on this place and on those who live here.' "[p]

So they took her answer back to the king.

29Then the king called together all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem. 30He went up to the temple of the LORD[q] with the men of Judah, the people of Jerusalem, the priests and the Levites—all the people from the least to the greatest. He read in their hearing all the words of the Book of the Covenant, which had been found in the temple of the LORD. 31The king stood by his pillar[r] and renewed the covenant[s] in the presence of the LORD—to follow[t] the LORD and keep his commands, regulations and decrees with all his heart and all his soul, and to obey the words of the covenant written in this book.

32Then he had everyone in Jerusalem and Benjamin pledge themselves to it; the people of Jerusalem did this in accordance with the covenant of God, the God of their fathers.

33Josiah removed all the detestable[u] idols from all the territory belonging to the Israelites, and he had all who were present in Israel serve the LORD their God. As long as he lived, they did not fail to follow the LORD, the God of their fathers.

Josiah Celebrates the Passover

35:1,18–19pp — 2Ki 23:21–23

35 Josiah celebrated the Passover[v] to the LORD in Jerusalem, and the Passover lamb was slaughtered on the fourteenth day of the first month. 2He appointed the priests to their duties and encouraged them in the service of the LORD's temple. 3He said to the Levites, who instructed[w] all Israel and who had been consecrated to the LORD: "Put the sacred ark in the temple that Solomon son of David king of Israel built. It is not to be carried about on your shoulders. Now serve the LORD your God and his people Israel. 4Prepare yourselves by families in your divisions,[x] according to the directions written by David king of Israel and by his son Solomon.

5"Stand in the holy place with a group of Levites for each subdivision of the families of your fellow countrymen, the lay people. 6Slaughter the Passover lambs, consecrate yourselves[y] and prepare ⌊the lambs⌋ for your fellow countrymen, doing what the LORD commanded through Moses."

7Josiah provided for all the lay people who were there a total of thirty thousand sheep and goats for the Passover offerings,[z] and also three thousand cattle—all from the king's own possessions.[a]

8His officials also contributed[b] voluntarily to the people and the priests and Levites. Hilkiah,[c] Zechariah and Jehiel, the administrators of God's temple, gave the priests twenty-six hundred Passover offerings and three hundred cattle. 9Also Conaniah[d] along with Shemaiah and Nethanel, his brothers, and Hashabiah, Jeiel and Jozabad,[e] the leaders of the Levites, provided five thousand Passover offerings and five hundred head of cattle for the Levites.

10The service was arranged and the priests stood in their places with the Levites in their divisions[f] as the king had ordered.[g] 11The Passover lambs were slaughtered,[h] and the priests sprinkled the blood handed to them, while the Levites skinned the animals. 12They set aside the burnt offerings to give them to the subdivisions of the families of the people to offer to the LORD, as is written in the Book of Moses. They did the same with the cattle. 13They roasted the Passover animals over the fire as prescribed,[i] and boiled the holy offerings in pots, caldrons and pans and served them quickly to all the people. 14After this, they made preparations for themselves and for the priests, because the priests, the descendants of Aaron, were sacrificing the burnt offerings and the fat portions[j] until nightfall. So the Levites made preparations for themselves and for the Aaronic priests.

15The musicians,[k] the descendants of Asaph, were in the places prescribed by David, Asaph, Heman and Jeduthun the king's seer. The gatekeepers at each gate did not need to leave their posts, because their fellow Levites made the preparations for them.

16So at that time the entire service of the LORD was carried out for the celebration of the Passover and the offering of burnt offerings on the altar of the LORD, as King Josiah had ordered. 17The Israelites who were present celebrated the Passover at that time and observed the Feast of Unleavened Bread for seven days. 18The Passover had not been observed like this in Israel since the days of the prophet Samuel; and none of the kings of Israel had ever celebrated such a Passover as did Josiah, with the priests, the Levites and all Judah and Israel who were there with the people of Jerusalem. 19This Passover was celebrated in the eighteenth year of Josiah's reign.

34:33 all the territory belonging to the Israelites . . . all who were present in Israel. See note on v. 6.

35:1–19 The Chronicler gives much more extensive coverage to Josiah's Passover celebration than is found in the brief allusion in Kings (2Ki 23:21–23).

35:1 first month. The traditional month; contrast the Passover of Hezekiah (see note on 30:2).

35:3 Put the sacred ark in the temple. Implies that it had been removed, perhaps for protection during the evil reigns of Manasseh and Amon, who preceded Josiah.

35:4 David . . . Solomon. The Chronicler specifically parallels David and Solomon in three cases: 7:10 (contrast 1Ki 8:66, where only David is mentioned); 11:17; and here. This tendency reflects his glorification and idealization of both (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Portrait of David and Solomon).

35:7–9 The emphasis in Chronicles on voluntary and joyful giving (24:8–14; 29:31–36; 31:3–21; 1Ch 29:3–9) presumably had direct relevance to the postexilic readers for whom the Chronicler wrote.

35:19 eighteenth year. The same year as the discovery of the Book of the Law (34:8,14).

The Death of Josiah

35:20–36:1pp — 2Ki 23:28–30

20After all this, when Josiah had set the temple in order, Neco king of Egypt went up to fight at Carchemish[l] on the Euphrates,[m] and Josiah marched out to meet him in battle. 21But Neco sent messengers to him, saying, "What quarrel is there between you and me, O king of Judah? It is not you I am attacking at this time, but the house with which I am at war. God has told[n] me to hurry; so stop opposing God, who is with me, or he will destroy you."

22Josiah, however, would not turn away from him, but disguised[o] himself to engage him in battle. He would not listen to what Neco had said at God's command but went to fight him on the plain of Megiddo.

23Archers[p] shot King Josiah, and he told his officers, "Take me away; I am badly wounded." 24So they took him out of his chariot, put him in the other chariot he had and brought him to Jerusalem, where he died. He was buried in the tombs of his fathers, and all Judah and Jerusalem mourned for him.

25Jeremiah composed laments for Josiah, and to this day all the men and women singers commemorate Josiah in the laments.[q] These became a tradition in Israel and are written in the Laments.[r]

26The other events of Josiah's reign and his acts of devotion, according to what is written in the Law of the LORD— 27all the events, from beginning to end, are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

36 1And the people[s] of the land took Jehoahaz son of Josiah and made him king in Jerusalem in place of his father.

Jehoahaz King of Judah

36:2–4pp — 2Ki 23:31–34

2Jehoahaz[j] was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months. 3The king of Egypt dethroned him in Jerusalem and imposed on Judah a levy of a hundred talents[k] of silver and a talent[l] of gold. 4The king of Egypt made Eliakim, a brother of Jehoahaz, king over Judah and Jerusalem and changed Eliakim's name to Jehoiakim. But Neco[t] took Eliakim's brother Jehoahaz and carried him off to Egypt.[u]

Jehoiakim King of Judah

36:5–8pp — 2Ki 23:36–24:6

5Jehoiakim[v] was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eleven years. He did evil in the eyes of the LORD his God. 6Nebuchadnezzar[w] king of Babylon attacked him and bound him with bronze shackles to take him to Babylon.[x] 7Nebuchadnezzar also took to Babylon articles from the temple of the LORD and put them in his temple[m] there.[y]

8The other events of Jehoiakim's reign, the detestable things he did and all that was found against him, are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. And Jehoiachin his son succeeded him as king.

35:20–27 See 2Ki 23:28–30. In 609 B.C. Pharaoh Neco "went up to the Euphrates River to help the king of Assyria" (2Ki 23:29) against the Babylonians.

35:20 at Carchemish. Not found in Kings.

35:21–22 Unique to the Chronicler, showing his view on retribution once again: Josiah's death in battle comes as a result of his disobedience to the word of God as heard even in the mouth of the pagan pharaoh.

35:21 house with which I am at war. A reference to the Babylonians; Nabopolassar was on the throne of Babylon, while his son Nebuchadnezzar was commanding the armies in the field. Nebuchadnezzar would succeed his father after another battle at Carchemish against Egypt in 605 B.C. Josiah may have been an ally of Babylon (see 32:31; 33:11 and notes).

35:22 disguised himself. Cf. Ahab and Jehoshaphat (see 18:29 and note). plain of Megiddo. See note on Jdg 5:19.

35:24b–25 Unique to Chronicles.

35:25 Jeremiah composed laments for Josiah. Jeremiah held Josiah in high esteem (Jer 22:15–16). The laments he composed are no longer extant. The statement that he composed laments is one of the reasons the book of Lamentations has been traditionally associated with him. to this day. See note on 5:9.

36:2–14 Josiah is the only king of Judah to be succeeded by three of his sons (Jehoahaz, Jehoiakim and Zedekiah). The Chronicler's account of the reigns of the remaining kings of Judah is quite brief.

36:2 See 2Ki 23:31–35. With the death of Josiah at the hands of Pharaoh Neco, Judah slipped into a period of Egyptian domination (vv. 3–4). three months. In 609 B.C. Neco's assertion of authority over Judah ended the brief 20 years of Judahite independence under Josiah. The Chronicler makes no moral judgment on this brief reign, though the author of Kings does (2Ki 23:32).

36:4 Just as Neco took Jehoahaz into captivity and replaced him with Eliakim, whose name he changed to Jehoiakim, so also Nebuchadnezzar would later take Jehoiachin to Babylon, replacing him with Mattaniah, whose name he changed to Zedekiah (2Ki 24:15–17). Each conqueror wanted to place his own man on the throne; the change of name implied authority over him.

36:5–8 See 2Ki 23:36–24:7. Jehoiakim persecuted the prophets and is the object of scathing denunciation by Jeremiah (Jer 25–26; 36). After the Egyptian defeat at Carchemish (Jer 46:2) in 605 B.C., Jehoiakim transferred allegiance to Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon. When he later rebelled and again allied himself with Egypt, Nebuchadnezzar sent a punitive army against him. But Jehoiakim died before the army arrived, and Nebuchadnezzar took his son Jehoiachin into captivity.

36:5 eleven years. 609–598 B.C.

Jehoiachin King of Judah

36:9–10pp — 2Ki 24:8–17

9Jehoiachin[z] was eighteen[n] years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months and ten days. He did evil in the eyes of the LORD. 10In the spring, King Nebuchadnezzar sent for him and brought him to Babylon,[a] together with articles of value from the temple of the LORD, and he made Jehoiachin's uncle,[o] Zedekiah, king over Judah and Jerusalem.

Zedekiah King of Judah

36:11–16pp — 2Ki 24:18–20; Jer 52:1–3

11Zedekiah[b] was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eleven years. 12He did evil in the eyes of the LORD[c] his God and did not humble[d] himself before Jeremiah the prophet, who spoke the word of the LORD. 13He also rebelled against King Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him take an oath[e] in God's name. He became stiff-necked[f] and hardened his heart and would not turn to the LORD, the God of Israel. 14Furthermore, all the leaders of the priests and the people became more and more unfaithful,[g] following all the detestable practices of the nations and defiling the temple of the LORD, which he had consecrated in Jerusalem.

The Fall of Jerusalem

36:22–23pp — Ezr 1:1–3

15The LORD, the God of their fathers, sent word to them through his messengers[h] again and again,[i] because he had pity on his people and on his dwelling place. 16But they mocked God's messengers, despised his words and scoffed[j] at his prophets until the wrath[k] of the LORD was aroused against his people and there was no remedy.[l] 17He brought up against them the king of the Babylonians,[p m] who killed their young men with the sword in the sanctuary, and spared neither young man[n] nor young woman, old man or aged.[o] God handed all of them over to Nebuchadnezzar.[p] 18He carried to Babylon all the articles[q] from the temple of God, both large and small, and the treasures of the LORD's temple and the treasures of the king and his officials. 19They set fire[r] to God's temple[s] and broke down the wall[t] of Jerusalem; they burned all the palaces and destroyed[u] everything of value there.[v]

20He carried into exile[w] to Babylon the remnant, who escaped from the sword, and they became servants[x] to him and his sons until the kingdom of Persia came to power. 21The land enjoyed its sabbath rests;[y] all the time of its desolation it rested,[z] until the seventy years[a] were completed in fulfillment of the word of the LORD spoken by Jeremiah.

22In the first year of Cyrus[b] king of Persia, in order to fulfill the word of the LORD spoken by Jeremiah, the LORD moved the heart of Cyrus king of Persia to make a proclamation throughout his realm and to put it in writing:

Est 2:5–6).

36:9 three months and ten days. 598–597 B.C.

36:11–14 See 2Ki 24:18–20; Jer 52:1–3. Verses 13b–14 are unique to the Chronicler (cf. Jer 1:3; 21:1–7; 24:8; 27:1–15; 32:1–5; 34:1–7,21; 37:1–39:7). Zedekiah succumbed to the temptation to look to Egypt for help and rebelled against Nebuchadnezzar. Babylonian reaction was swift. Jerusalem was besieged (Jer 21:3–7) in 588 B.C. and held out for over two years before being destroyed in the summer of 586.

36:11 eleven years. 597–586 B.C.

36:15–16 See 24:19 and note.

36:20–21 The conclusion of the two Biblical histories is interestingly different: The writer(s) of Samuel and Kings had sought to show why the exile occurred and had traced the sad history of Israel's disobedience to the exile, the time in which the writer(s) of those books lived. With the state at an end, he could still show God's faithfulness to his promises to David (2Ki 25:27–30) by reporting the favor bestowed on his descendants. The Chronicler, whose vantage point was after the exile, was able to look back to the exile not only as judgment, but also as containing hope for the future. For him the purified remnant had returned to a purified land (vv. 22–23), and a new age was beginning. The exile was not judgment alone, but also blessing, for it allowed the land to catch up on its sabbath rests (Lev 26:40–45). And God had remembered his covenant (Lev 26:45) and restored his people to the land (see next note).

36:22–23 The writer of Kings concluded his history before the restoration; so this text is not paralleled in his account. It is repeated, however, at the beginning of Ezra (1:1–4), which resumes the history at the point where Chronicles ends—indicating that Chronicles and Ezra may have been written by the same author. See the prophecy of Jeremiah (Jer 25:1–14; cf. Da 9). Cyrus also issued decrees for other captive peoples, allowing them to return to their lands. Under God's sovereignty, this effort by a Persian king to win the favor of peoples treated harshly by the Babylonians also inaugurated the restoration period. See notes on Ezr 1:1–4.

23"This is what Cyrus king of Persia says:
" 'The LORD, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth and he has appointed[c] me to build a temple for him at Jerusalem in Judah. Anyone of his people among you—may the LORD his God be with him, and let him go up.' "

36:23 [c]S Jdg 4:10

Ezra

Ezra and Nehemiah

Although the caption to Ne 1:1, "The words of Nehemiah son of Hacaliah," indicates that Ezra and Nehemiah were originally two separate compositions, they were combined as one in the earliest Hebrew manuscripts. Josephus (c. A.D. 37–100) and the Jewish Talmud refer to the book of Ezra but not to a separate book of Nehemiah. The oldest manuscripts of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) also treat Ezra and Nehemiah as one book.

Origen (A.D. 185–253) is the first writer known to distinguish between two books, which he called I Ezra and II Ezra. In translating the Latin Vulgate (A.D. 390–405), Jerome called Nehemiah the second book of Esdrae (Ezra). The English translations by Wycliffe (1382) and Coverdale (1535) also called Ezra "I Esdras" and Nehemiah "II Esdras." The same separation first appeared in a Hebrew manuscript in 1448.

Literary Form and Authorship

As in the closely related books of 1 and 2 Chronicles, one notes the prominence of various lists in Ezra and Nehemiah, which have evidently been obtained from official sources. Included are lists of (1) the temple articles (Ezr 1:9–11), (2) the returned exiles (Ezr 2, which is virtually the same as Ne 7:6–73), (3) the genealogy of Ezra (Ezr 7:1–5), (4) the heads of the clans (Ezr 8:1–14), (5) those involved in mixed marriages (Ezr 10:18–43), (6) those who helped rebuild the wall (Ne 3), (7) those who sealed the covenant (Ne 10:1–27), (8) residents of Jerusalem and other towns (Ne 11:3–36) and (9) priests and Levites (Ne 12:1–26).

Also included in Ezra are seven official documents or letters (all in Aramaic except the first, which is in Hebrew): (1) the decree of Cyrus (1:2–4), (2) the accusation of Rehum and others against the Jews (4:11–16), (3) the reply of Artaxerxes I (4:17–22), (4) the report from Tattenai (5:7–17), (5) the memorandum of Cyrus's decree (6:2b-5), (6) Darius's reply to Tattenai (6:6–12) and (7) the authorization given by Artaxerxes I to Ezra (7:12–26). The documents compare favorably with contemporary non-Biblical documents of the Persian period.

Certain materials in Ezra are first-person extracts from his memoirs: 7:27–28; 8:1–34; 9. Other sections are written in the third person: 7:1–26; 10; see also Ne 8. Linguistic analysis has shown that the first-person and third-person extracts resemble each other, making it likely that the same author wrote both.

Most scholars conclude that the author/compiler of Ezra and Nehemiah was also the author of 1,2 Chronicles. This viewpoint is based on certain characteristics common to both Chronicles and Ezra-Nehemiah. The verses at the end of Chronicles and at the beginning of Ezra are virtually identical. Both Chronicles and Ezra-Nehemiah exhibit a fondness for lists, for the description of religious festivals and for such phrases as "heads of families" and "the house of God." Especially striking in these books is the prominence of Levites and temple personnel. The words for "singer," "gatekeeper" and "temple servants" are used almost exclusively in Ezra-Nehemiah and Chronicles. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Author, Date and Sources.

Date

We may date the composition of Ezra c. 440 B.C. and the Nehemiah memoirs c. 430.

The Order of Ezra and Nehemiah

According to the traditional view, Ezra arrived in Jerusalem in the seventh year (Ezr 7:8) of Artaxerxes I (458 B.C.), followed by Nehemiah, who arrived in the king's 20th year (445; Ne 2:1).

Some have proposed a reverse order in which Nehemiah arrived in 445 B.C., while Ezra arrived in the seventh year of Artaxerxes II (398). By amending "seventh" (Ezr 7:8) to either "27th" or "37th," others place Ezra after Nehemiah but maintain that they were contemporaries.

These alternative views, however, present more problems than the traditional position. As the text stands, Ezra arrived before Nehemiah and they are found together in Ne 8:9 (at the reading of the Law) and Ne 12:26,36 (at the dedication of the wall). See chart on "Chronology: Ezra-Nehemiah," p. 667.

Languages

Ezra and Nehemiah were written in a form of late Hebrew with the exception of Ezr 4:8—6:18; 7:12–26, which were written in Aramaic, the international language during the Persian period. Of these 67 Aramaic verses, 52 are in records or letters. Ezra evidently found these documents in Aramaic and copied them, inserting connecting verses in Aramaic.

   5. Investigation of the offenders (10:16–17)
   6. The list of offenders (10:18–43)
   7. The dissolution of mixed marriages (10:44)

Cyrus Helps the Exiles to Return

1:1–3pp — 2Ch 36:22–23

1 In the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, in order to fulfill the word of the LORD spoken by Jeremiah,[a] the LORD moved the heart[b] of Cyrus king of Persia to make a proclamation throughout his realm and to put it in writing:

2"This is what Cyrus king of Persia says:

" 'The LORD, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth and he has appointed[c] me to build[d] a temple for him at Jerusalem in Judah. 3Anyone of his people among you—may his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem in Judah and build the temple of the LORD, the God of Israel, the God who is in Jerusalem. 4And the people of any place where survivors[e] may now be living are to provide him with silver and gold,[f] with goods and livestock, and with freewill offerings[g] for the temple of God[h] in Jerusalem.' "[i]

5Then the family heads of Judah and Benjamin,[j] and the priests and Levites—everyone whose heart God had moved[k]—prepared to go up and build the house[l] of the LORD in Jerusalem. 6All their neighbors assisted them with articles of silver and gold,[m] with goods and livestock, and with valuable gifts, in addition to all the freewill offerings. 7Moreover, King Cyrus brought out the articles belonging to the temple of the LORD, which Nebuchadnezzar had carried away from Jerusalem and had placed in the temple of his god.[an] 8Cyrus king of Persia had them brought by Mithredath the treasurer, who counted them out to Sheshbazzar[o] the prince of Judah.

9This was the inventory:

[a] 7 Or gods

1:1–3a Virtually identical with the last two verses of 2 Chronicles. This fact has been used to argue that Chronicles and Ezra-Nehemiah were written and/or edited by the same person, the so-called Chronicler. However, the repetition may have been a device of the author of Chronicles (or less probably of Ezra) to dovetail the narratives chronologically.

1:1 first year. Of the reign of Cyrus over Babylon, beginning in March, 538 B.C., after he captured Babylon in October, 539. Cyrus, the founder of the Persian empire, reigned over the Persians from 559 until 530. Isa 44:28; 45:1 speak of him as the Lord's "shepherd" and his "anointed." to fulfill the word of the LORD spoken by Jeremiah. Jeremiah prophesied a 70-year Babylonian captivity (Jer 25:11–12; 29:10). The first deportation began in 605, the third year of Jehoiakim (Da 1:1); in 538, approximately 70 years later, the people began to return.

1:2–4 This oral proclamation of Cyrus's decree was written in Hebrew, the language of the Israelite captives, in contrast to the copy of the decree in 6:3–5, which was an Aramaic memorandum for the archives.

1:2 God of heaven. Of the 22 OT occurrences of the phrase, 17 occur in Ezra, Nehemiah and Daniel. temple . . . at Jerusalem. Jerusalem and the house of God are prominent subjects in Ezra and Nehemiah.

1:3 Cyrus instituted the policy of placating the gods of his subject peoples instead of carrying off their cult images as the Assyrians and the Babylonians had done earlier. His generosity to the Jews was paralleled by his benevolence to the Babylonians.

1:4 people of any place. Probably designates the many Jews who did not wish to leave Mesopotamia. freewill offerings. A key to the restoration of God's temple and its services (see 2:68; 3:5; 8:28).

1:5 family heads. In ancient times families were extended families—more like clans than modern nuclear families. The authority figure was the patriarch, who was the "family head." See 10:16; see also 2:59; Ne 7:61; 10:34. Judah and Benjamin. The two main tribes of the kingdom of Judah, which the Babylonians had exiled. Levites. See Introduction to Leviticus: Title.

1:7 It was the custom for conquerors to carry off the images of the gods of conquered cities. Since the Jews did not have an image of the Lord (see note on Ex 20:4), Nebuchadnezzar carried away only the temple articles.

1:8 Mithredath. A Persian name meaning "given by/to Mithra," a Persian god who became popular among Roman soldiers in the second century A.D. Sheshbazzar. A Babylonian name meaning either "Sin, protect the father" or "Shamash/Shashu, protect the father." Sin was the moon-god, and Shamash (Shashu is a variant) was the sun-god. In spite of his Babylonian name, Sheshbazzar was probably a Jewish official who served as a deputy governor of Judah under the satrap in Samaria (see 5:14). Some believe that Sheshbazzar and Zerubbabel were the same person and give the following reasons: 1. Both were governors (5:14; Hag 1:1; 2:2). 2. Both are said to have laid the foundation of the temple (3:2–8; 5:16; Hag 1:14–15; Zec 4:6–10). 3. Jews in Babylon were often given "official" Babylonian names (cf. Da 1:7). 4. Josephus (Antiquities, 11.1.3) seems to identify Sheshbazzar with Zerubbabel.

Others point out, however, that the Apocrypha distinguishes between the two men (1 Esdras 6:18). Furthermore, it is likely that Sheshbazzar was an elderly man at the time of the return, while Zerubbabel was probably a younger contemporary. Sheshbazzar also may have been viewed as the official governor, while Zerubbabel served as the popular leader (3:8–11). Whereas the high priest Jeshua is associated with Zerubbabel, no priest is associated with Sheshbazzar. Although Sheshbazzar presided over the foundation of the temple in 536 B.C., so little was accomplished that Zerubbabel had to preside over a second foundation some 16 years later (see Hag 1:14–15; Zec 4:6–10).

Still others hold that Sheshbazzar is to be identified with Shenazzar (1Ch 3:18), the fourth son of King Jehoiachin. Zerubbabel would then have been Sheshbazzar's nephew (compare 3:2 with 1Ch 3:18).

1:9–11 When Assyrian and Babylonian conquerors carried off plunder, their scribes made a careful inventory of all the goods seized. The total of the figures in vv. 9–10 adds up to 2,499 rather than the 5,400 of v. 11. It may be that only the larger and more valuable vessels were specified.

[11]In all, there were 5,400 articles of gold and of silver. Sheshbazzar brought all these along when the exiles came up from Babylon to Jerusalem.

The List of the Exiles Who Returned

2:1–70pp — Ne 7:6–73

2 Now these are the people of the province who came up from the captivity of the exiles,[p] whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon[q] had taken captive to Babylon (they returned to Jerusalem and Judah, each to his own town,[r] [2]in company with Zerubbabel,[s] Jeshua,[t] Nehemiah, Seraiah,[u] Reelaiah, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispar, Bigvai, Rehum and Baanah):

[b]9 The meaning of the Hebrew for this word is uncertain. [c]25 See Septuagint (see also Neh. 7:29); Hebrew Kiriath Arim.

1:11 We are not told anything about the details of Sheshbazzar's journey, which probably took place in 537 B.C. Judging from Ezra's later journey (7:8–9), the trip took about four months. See map No. 7b at the end of the study Bible.

2:1–70 The list of returning exiles in ch. 2 almost exactly parallels the list in Ne 7:6–73 (see also 1 Esdras 5:4–46 in the Apocrypha). The list of localities indicates that people retained the memories of their homes and that exiles from a wide background of tribes, villages and towns returned. In comparing the list here with that in Ne 7, one notes many differences in the names and numbers listed. About 20 percent of the numbers, e.g., are not the same in Ezra and Nehemiah. Many of these differences may be explained, however, by assuming that a cipher notation was used with vertical strokes for units and horizontal strokes for tens, which led to copying errors.

2:1 province. Probably Judah (cf. 5:8, where the Aramaic word for "province" is translated "district"; see also Ne 1:3).

2:2 Zerubbabel. See notes on 3:2; 5:2. Jeshua. Means "The LORD saves" and is an Aramaic variant of Hebrew "Joshua." The Greek form is "Jesus" (see NIV text note on Mt 1:21). Jeshua is the same as the Joshua of Hag 1:1, the son of the high priest Jehozadak (Jozadak, Ezr 3:2), who was taken into exile (1Ch 6:15). Nehemiah. Not the Nehemiah of the book by that name. Mordecai. A Babylonian name based on that of Marduk the god of Babylon (cf. Jer 50:2). Esther's cousin had the same name (Est 2:7).

2:3 Parosh. Means "flea" (Israelites were often named after insects and animals). Members of this family, as well as of several other families named in vv. 6–14, also returned with Ezra (8:3–14).

2:5 Arah. Probably means "wild ox." Since the name is rare in the OT and has been found in documents from Mesopotamia, it may have been adopted during the exile.

2:6 Pahath-Moab. Means "governor of Moab" and may have once designated an official title.

2:12 Azgad. Cf. 8:12; means "Gad is strong." It is a reference either to Gad (the god of fortune, referred to in Isa 65:11) or to the Transjordanian tribe of Gad.

2:16 Ater. Means "left-handed," as in Jdg 3:15; 20:16.

2:21–35 Whereas the names in vv. 3–20 are of families, vv. 21–35 present a series of villages and towns, many of which were in Benjamite territory north of Jerusalem. It is significant that there are no references to towns in the Negev, south of Judah. When Nebuchadnezzar overran Judah in 597 B.C. (Jer 13:19), the Edomites (see the book of Obadiah) took advantage of the situation and occupied that area.

2:21 men of Bethlehem. The ancestors of Jesus may have been among the returnees.

2:23 Anathoth. See note on Jer 1:1.

2:28 Bethel. See note on Ge 12:8. Towns such as Bethel, Mizpah, Gibeon and Gibeah seem to have escaped the Babylonian assault. Bethel, however, was destroyed in the transition between the Babylonian and Persian periods. Archaeological excavations reveal that there was a small town on the site in Ezra's day.

2:31 See v. 7.

2:33 Lod. Modern Lydda.

2:35 Senaah. The largest number of returnees—3,630 (3,930 in Ne 7:38)—is associated with Senaah. It has therefore been suggested that they did not come from a specific locality or family, but represented low-caste people, as inferred from the meaning of the name.

2:36–39 Four clans of priests numbering 4,289, about a tenth of the total.

2:40 Levites. See Introduction to Leviticus: Title. 74. The number of Levites who returned was relatively small (cf. 8:15). Since the Levites had been entrusted with the menial tasks of temple service, many of them may have found a more comfortable way of life in exile.

2:41 Asaph. One of the three Levites appointed by David over the temple singers (1Ch 25:1; 2Ch 5:12; 35:15), whose duties are detailed in 1Ch 15:16–24.

2:42 gatekeepers. Usually Levites (1Ch 9:26; 2Ch 23:4; 35:15; Ne 12:25; 13:22). They are mentioned 16 times in Ezra-Nehemiah and 19 times in Chronicles. Their primary function was to tend the doors and gates of the temple (1Ch 9:17–27) and to perform other menial tasks (1Ch 9:28–32; 2Ch 31:14).

2:43–57 The temple servants and the descendants of Solomon's servants together numbered 392 (v. 58), which was more than the total of the Levites, singers and gatekeepers together (vv. 40–42).

2:46 Hanan. Means "(God) is gracious." The verb "to be gracious" and its derivatives are the components of numerous personal names in the OT—e.g., Johanan ("The LORD is gracious"; see 8:12), which has given us the English name John.

2:51 Bakbuk. Means "jar." It may have originally been a nickname for a fat man with a protruding belly. Cf. Jer 19:1,10, where the same Hebrew word is translated "jar"; see NIV text note on Jer 19:7.

2:53 Barkos. Means "son of Kos" (or Qos, an Edomite god).

2:55,58 descendants of the servants of Solomon. The phrase occurs only here and in Ne 7:57,60; 11:3. These may be the descendants of the Canaanites whom Solomon enslaved (1Ki 9:20–21).

2:55 Hassophereth. Probably means "the scribal office/function" and may have once been an official title.

2:59–63 Individuals who lacked evidence of their ancestry.

2:59 towns. Places in Mesopotamia where the Jews were settled by their Babylonian captors. Tel Melah. Means "mound of salt," possibly a mound on which salt had been scattered (see Jdg 9:45 and note). The Hebrew word tel designates a hill-like mound (see note on Jos 11:13) formed by the remains of a ruined city. The Jewish exiles had been settled along the Kebar River (Eze 1:1), perhaps near Nippur, a city in southern Mesopotamia that was the stronghold of rebels. The Jews had probably been settled on the mounds of ruined cities that had been depopulated by the Babylonians.

2:61 Barzillai. Means "man of iron." For another Barzillai see 2Sa 17:27–29; 19:31–39; 1Ki 2:7.

2:63 governor. Probably either Sheshbazzar or Zerubbabel (see note on 1:8). Urim and Thummim. See note on Ex 28:30.

2:64 42,360. Considerably more than the sum of the other figures given:

also had 200 men and women singers.[q] 66They had 736 horses,[r] 245 mules, 67435 camels and 6,720 donkeys.

68When they arrived at the house of the LORD in Jerusalem, some of the heads of the families[s] gave freewill offerings toward the rebuilding of the house of God on its site. 69According to their ability they gave to the treasury for this work 61,000 drachmas[d] of gold, 5,000 minas[e] of silver and 100 priestly garments.

70The priests, the Levites, the singers, the gatekeepers and the temple servants settled in their own towns, along with some of the other people, and the rest of the Israelites settled in their towns.[t]

Rebuilding the Altar

3 When the seventh month came and the Israelites had settled in their towns,[u] the people assembled[v] as one man in Jerusalem. 2Then Jeshua[w] son of Jozadak[x] and his fellow priests and Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel[y] and his associates began to build the altar of the God of Israel to sacrifice burnt offerings on it, in accordance with what is written in the Law of Moses[z] the man of God. 3Despite their fear[a] of the peoples around them, they built the altar on its foundation and sacrificed burnt offerings on it to the LORD, both the morning and evening sacrifices.[b] 4Then in accordance with what is written, they celebrated the Feast of Tabernacles[c] with the required number of burnt offerings prescribed for each day. 5After that, they presented the regular burnt offerings, the New Moon[d] sacrifices and the sacrifices for all the appointed sacred feasts of the LORD,[e] as well as those brought as freewill offerings to the LORD. 6On the first day of the seventh month they began to offer burnt offerings to the LORD, though the foundation of the LORD's temple had not yet been laid.

Rebuilding the Temple

7Then they gave money to the masons and carpenters,[f] and gave food and drink and oil to the people of Sidon and Tyre, so that they would bring cedar logs[g] by sea from Lebanon[h] to Joppa, as authorized by Cyrus[i] king of Persia.

8In the second month[j] of the second year after their arrival at the house of God in Jerusalem, Zerubbabel[k] son of Shealtiel, Jeshua son of Jozadak and the rest of their brothers (the priests and the

It is difficult to account for the difference of about 10,000–12,000. The figure may refer to an unspecified 10,000–12,000 women and/or children, and it doubtless includes the priests of unproven origin referred to in vv. 61–63. Some suggest that the groups explicitly counted were returnees from Judah and Benjamin, while the remainder were from other tribes.

2:65 menservants and maidservants. The ratio of servants to others (one to six) is relatively high. The fact that so many returned with their masters speaks highly of the benevolent treatment of servants by the Jews. singers. The men and women singers listed here may be secular singers who sang at social events such as weddings and funerals (2Ch 35:25), as distinct from the temple singers of v. 41, who were all male.

2:66 horses. Perhaps a donation from Cyrus for the nobility. mules. Often used by royalty and the wealthy (1Ki 1:33; Isa 66:20).

2:67 donkeys. Were used to carry loads, women or children. Sheep, goats and cattle are not mentioned. They would have slowed the caravan.

2:68 arrived . . . Jerusalem. For the route of the return from exile see map No. 7b at the end of the study Bible.

2:69 The parallel passage (Ne 7:70–72) gives a fuller description than the account in Ezra. In Ezra the gifts come from the heads of the families (v. 68), while in Nehemiah the gifts are credited to three sources: the governor, the heads of the families, and the rest of the people. drachmas. The drachma was a Greek silver coin. Some believe that the coin intended here was the Persian daric, a gold coin. minas. In the sexagesimal system (based on the number 60) that originated in Mesopotamia, there were 60 shekels in a mina and 60 minas in a talent. A shekel, which was about two-fifths of an ounce of silver, was the average wage for a month's work. Thus a mina would be the equivalent of five years' wages, and a talent would be 300 years' wages.

2:70 Later, Nehemiah (11:1–2) would be compelled to move people by lot to reinforce the population of Jerusalem.

3:1 seventh month. Tishri (September-October), about three months after the arrival of the exiles in Judah (in 537 B.C.). Tishri was one of the most sacred months of the Jewish year (see Lev 23:23–43 and notes).

3:2 Jeshua . . . Zerubbabel. The priest takes precedence over the civil leader in view of the nature of the occasion (contrast 3:8; 4:3; 5:2; Hag 1:1).

3:4 Feast of Tabernacles. See Lev 23:33–43 and notes.

3:5 New Moon. See note on 1Sa 20:5. appointed sacred feasts. See note on Lev 23:2. freewill offerings. See note on 1:4. It is noteworthy that the restoration of the sacrifices preceded the erection of the temple itself.

3:7 cedar logs. As in the case of the first temple, the Phoenicians cooperated by sending timbers and workmen (1Ki 5:6–12).

3:8 second month. The same month (April-May) in which Solomon had begun his temple (1Ki 6:1). second year. Since the Jews probably returned to Judah in the spring of 537 B.C., the second year would be the spring of 536. twenty years. In earlier times the lower age limit for Levites was 30 (Nu 4:3) or 25 years (Nu 8:24). It was later reduced to 20 (1Ch 23:24,27; 2Ch 31:17), probably because there were so few Levites.

Levites and all who had returned from the captivity to Jerusalem) began the work, appointing Levites twenty[t] years of age and older to supervise the building of the house of the LORD. 9Jeshua[m] and his sons and brothers and Kadmiel and his sons (descendants of Hodaviah[t]) and the sons of Henadad and their sons and brothers—all Levites—joined together in supervising those working on the house of God.

10When the builders laid[n] the foundation of the temple of the LORD, the priests in their vestments and with trumpets,[o] and the Levites (the sons of Asaph) with cymbals, took their places to praise[p] the LORD, as prescribed by David[q] king of Israel.[r] 11With praise and thanksgiving they sang to the LORD:

"He is good;
his love to Israel endures forever."[s]

And all the people gave a great shout[t] of praise to the LORD, because the foundation[u] of the house of the LORD was laid. 12But many of the older priests and Levites and family heads, who had seen the former temple,[v] wept[w] aloud when they saw the foundation of this temple being laid, while many others shouted for joy. 13No one could distinguish the

3:10 trumpets. Made of hammered silver (see Nu 10:2 and note). According to Josephus (Antiquities, 3.12.6—written C. A.D. 93), the trumpet was "in length a little short of a cubit; it is a narrow tube, slightly thicker than a flute." With the possible exception of their use at the coronation of Joash (2Ki 11:14; 2Ch 23:13), the trumpets were always blown by priests. They were most often used on joyous occasions, such as here and at the dedication of the rebuilt walls of Jerusalem (Ne 12:35; cf. 2Ch 5:13; Ps 98:6). cymbals. The Hebrew for this word occurs 13 times in the OT, all in Chronicles except here and Ne 12:27.

3:11 sang. May mean "sang responsively," referring to antiphonal singing by a choir divided into two groups. He is good . . . endures forever. See, e.g., 1Ch 16:34; 2Ch 5:13; Ps 100:5. great shout. See Jos 6:5,20; 1Sa 4:5; Ps 95:1.

3:13 shouts of joy . . . sound of weeping. The people of Israel were accustomed to showing their emotions in visible and audible ways (10:1; Ne 1:4; 8:9). The same God who had permitted judgment had now brought them back and would enable them to complete the project. A

Zerubbabel's Temple

Construction of the second temple was started in 536 B.C. on the Solomonic foundations leveled a half-century earlier by the Babylonians. People who remembered the earlier temple wept at the comparison (Ezr 3:12). Not until 516 B.C., the 6th year of the Persian emperor Darius I (522-486), was the temple finally completed at the urging of Haggai and Zechariah (Ezr 6:13-15).

Archaeological evidence confirms that the Persian period in Palestine was a comparatively impoverished one in terms of material culture. Later Aramaic documents from Elephantine in Upper Egypt illustrate the official process of gaining permission to construct a Jewish place of worship, and the opposition engendered by the presence of various foes during this period.

Of the temple and its construction, little is known. Among the few contemporary buildings, the Persian palace at Lachish and the Tobiad monument at Iraq el-Amir may be compared in terms of technique.

Unlike the more famous structures razed in 586 B.C. and A.D. 70, the temple begun by Zerubbabel suffered no major hostile destruction, but was gradually repaired and reconstructed over a long period. Eventually it was replaced entirely by Herod's magnificent edifice.

sound of the shouts of joy[x] from the sound of weeping, because the people made so much noise. And the sound was heard far away.

Opposition to the Rebuilding

4 When the enemies of Judah and Benjamin heard that the exiles were building[y] a temple for the LORD, the God of Israel, [2]they came to Zerubbabel and to the heads of the families and said, "Let us help you build because, like you, we seek your God and have been sacrificing to him since the time of Esarhaddon[z] king of Assyria, who brought us here."[a]

[3]But Zerubbabel, Jeshua and the rest of the heads of the families of Israel answered, "You have no part with us in building a temple to our God. We alone will build it for the LORD, the God of Israel, as King Cyrus, the king of Persia, commanded us."[b]

[4]Then the peoples around them set out to discourage the people of Judah and make them afraid to go on building.[g][c] [5]They hired counselors to work against them and frustrate their plans during the entire reign of Cyrus king of Persia and down to the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Later Opposition Under Xerxes and Artaxerxes

[6]At the beginning of the reign of Xerxes,[h][d] they lodged an accusation against the people of Judah and Jerusalem.[e]

[7]And in the days of Artaxerxes[f] king of Persia, Bishlam, Mithredath, Tabeel and the rest of his associates wrote a letter to Artaxerxes. The letter was written in Aramaic script and in the Aramaic[g] language.[i,j]

[8]Rehum the commanding officer and Shimshai the secretary wrote a letter against Jerusalem to Artaxerxes the king as follows:

> [9]Rehum the commanding officer and Shimshai the secretary, together with the rest of their associates[h]—the judges and officials over the men from Tripolis, Persia,[k] Erech[i] and Babylon, the Elamites of Susa,[j] [10]and the other people whom the Babylonian cornerstone reads: "I started the work weeping, I finished it rejoicing." Cf. Ps 126:5–6.

4:1–23 A summary of various attempts to thwart the efforts of the Jews. In vv. 1–5 the author describes events in the reign of Cyrus (559–530 B.C.), in v. 6 the reign of Xerxes (486–465) and in vv. 7–23 the reign of Artaxerxes I (465–424). He then reverts in v. 24 to the time of Darius I (522–486), during whose reign the temple was completed (see 5:1–2; 6:13–15; Haggai; Zec 1:1–17; 4:9).

4:1 enemies. The people who offered their "help" (v. 2) were from Samaria. Judah and Benjamin. See notes on 1:5; 1Ki 12:21.

4:2 After the fall of Samaria in 722–721 B.C., the Assyrian kings brought in people from Mesopotamia and Aram. These people served their own gods but also took up the worship of the Lord as the god of the land (2Ki 17:24–41). Esarhaddon. See note on 2Ki 19:37.

4:4 peoples around them. Josephus (Antiquities, 11.2.1) singles out especially the Cutheans (see 2Ki 17:24,30). make them afraid. The Hebrew for this verb often describes the fear aroused in a battle situation (Jdg 20:41; 2Sa 4:1; 2Ch 32:18).

4:5 hired. Cf. the hiring of Balaam (Dt 23:4–5; Ne 13:2) and the hiring of a prophet to intimidate Nehemiah (Ne 6:12–13).

4:6 Xerxes. See the book of Esther. When Darius died in 486 B.C., Egypt rebelled, and Xerxes, the son of Darius, had to march west to suppress the revolt.

4:7 Artaxerxes. Three Persian kings bore this name: Artaxerxes I (465–424 B.C.), II (404–358) and III (358–338). The king here is Artaxerxes I. Mithredath. See 1:8 and note. Tabeel. An Aramaic name (see Isa 7:6 and note). wrote a letter. Near Eastern kings employed an elaborate system of informers and spies. Egyptian sources speak of the "ears and eyes" of Pharaoh. Sargon II of Assyria had agents in Urartu whom he ordered: "Write me whatever you see and hear." The King's Eye and the King's Ear were two officials who reported to the Persian monarch.

4:8–6:18 For this passage the author draws upon Aramaic documents; a further Aramaic section is 7:12–26.

4:8 commanding officer. An official who had the role of a chancellor or commissioner. Perhaps Rehum dictated, and Shimshai wrote the letter in Aramaic. (Alternatively, Shimshai may have been a high official rather than a scribe.) The letter would then be read in a Persian translation before the king (v. 18). According to Herodotus (3.128), royal scribes were attached to each governor to report directly to the Persian king.

4:9 associates. See vv. 17,23; 5:3,6; 6:6 ("fellow officials"); 6:13. One of the striking characteristics of Persian bureaucracy was that each responsibility was shared among colleagues. Erech. See note on Ge 10:10. Babylon. During the reign of the Assyrian king Ashurbanipal (669–627 B.C.), a major revolt had taken place (652–648), involving Shamash-Shum-Ukin, the brother of the king and the ruler over Babylonia. After a long siege Shamash-Shum-Ukin hurled himself into the flames. Doubtless these men of Babylon and the other cities mentioned were the descendants of the rebels, whom the Assyrians deported to the west. Susa. The major city of Elam (in southwest Iran). Because of Susa's part in the revolt, Ashurbanipal brutally destroyed it in 640 (two centuries before Rehum's letter).

4:10 Ashurbanipal. The last great Assyrian king, famed for his library at Nineveh. He is not named elsewhere in the Bible, but he is probably the king who freed Manasseh from exile (2Ch 33:11–13). deported. Ashurbanipal may be the unnamed Assyrian king who brought people to Samaria according to 2Ki 17:24. It is characteristic of such deportations that the descendants of populations that had been removed from their homelands nearly two centuries earlier should still stress their origins. Samaria. The murder of Amon king of Judah (642–640 B.C.; see 2Ki 21:23; 2Ch 33:24) was probably the result of an anti-Assyrian movement inspired by the revolt in Elam and Babylonia. The Assyrians may then have deported the re-great and honorable Ashurbanipal[k] deported and settled in the city of Samaria and elsewhere in Trans-Euphrates.[l]

[11](This is a copy of the letter they sent him.)

To King Artaxerxes,

From your servants, the men of Trans-Euphrates:

[12]The king should know that the Jews who came up to us from you have gone to Jerusalem and are rebuilding that rebellious and wicked city. They are restoring the walls and repairing the foundations.[m]

[13]Furthermore, the king should know that if this city is built and its walls are restored, no more taxes, tribute or duty[n] will be paid, and the royal revenues will suffer. [14]Now since we are under obligation to the palace and it is not proper for us to see the king dishonored, we are sending this message to inform the king, [15]so that a search may be made in the archives[o] of your predecessors. In these records you will find that this city is a rebellious city, troublesome to kings and provinces, a place of rebellion from ancient times. That is why this city was destroyed.[p] [16]We inform the king that if this city is built and its walls are restored, you will be left with nothing in Trans-Euphrates.

[17]The king sent this reply:

To Rehum the commanding officer, Shimshai the secretary and the rest of their associates living in Samaria and elsewhere in Trans-Euphrates:[q]

Greetings.

[18]The letter you sent us has been read and translated in my presence. [19]I issued an order and a search was made, and it was found that this city has a long history of revolt[r] against kings and has been a place of rebellion and sedition. [20]Jerusalem has had powerful kings ruling over the whole of Trans-Euphrates,[s] and taxes, tribute and duty were paid to them. [21]Now issue an order to these men to stop work, so that this city will not be rebuilt until I so order. [22]Be careful not to neglect this matter. Why let this threat grow, to the detriment of the royal interests?[t]

[23]As soon as the copy of the letter of King Artaxerxes was read to Rehum and Shimshai the secretary and their associates,[u] they went immediately to the Jews in Jerusalem and compelled them by force to stop.

[24]Thus the work on the house of God in Jerusalem came to a standstill until bellious Samaritans and replaced them with the rebellious Elamites and Babylonians. Trans-Euphrates. Lit. "beyond the River," i.e., the Euphrates River. From Israel's point of view the land "beyond the River" was Mesopotamia (Jos 24:2-3,14-15; 2Sa 10:16). From the Mesopotamian point of view the land "beyond the River" included the areas of Aram, Phoenicia and Israel (1Ki 4:24). The Persians also called this area Athura.

[l]10 Aramaic Osnappar, a variant of Ashurbanipal

4:12 restoring the walls and repairing the foundations. As Isaiah had foretold (see Isa 58:12 and note).

4:13 Most of the gold and silver coins that came into Persia's treasury were melted down to be stored as bullion. Very little of the taxes returned to benefit the provinces.

4:14 we are under obligation to the palace. Lit. "we eat the salt of the palace." Salt was made a royal monopoly by the Ptolemies in Egypt, and perhaps by the Persians as well.

4:15 archives. See 5:17; 6:1; Est 2:23; 6:1-2. There were several repositories of such documents at the major capitals. These royal archives preserved documents for centuries. In the third century B.C. the Babylonian priest Berossus made use of the Babylonian Chronicles in his history of Babylon, which covered events from the Assyrian to the Hellenistic (beginning with Alexander's conquest of Babylon in 330 B.C.) eras.

4:18 read. Since the king probably could not read Aramaic, he would have had the document read to him. translated. From Aramaic into Persian (see NIV text notes on v. 7; Ne 8:8).

4:19 rebellion. There is some truth in the accusation. Jerusalem had rebelled against the Assyrians in 701 B.C. (2Ki 18:7) and against the Babylonians in 600 and 589 (2Ki 24:1,20).

4:21-23 As a result of the intervention of the provincial authorities, Artaxerxes I (see v. 11 and note on v. 7) ordered that the Jews stop rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem (see note on Ne 1:3). The events of vv. 7-23 probably occurred prior to 445 B.C.. The forcible destruction of these recently rebuilt walls rather than the destruction by Nebuchadnezzar would then be the basis of the report made to Nehemiah (Ne 1:3).

4:24 After this long digression describing the opposition to Jewish efforts, the writer returns to his original subject of the rebuilding of the temple (vv. 1-5). second year of the reign of Darius. According to Persian reckoning, the second regnal year of Darius I began on Nisan 1 (Apr. 3), 520 B.C., and lasted until Feb. 21, 519. In that year the prophet Haggai (Hag 1:1-5) exhorted Zerubbabel to begin rebuilding the temple on the first day of the sixth month (Aug. 29). Work began on the temple on the 24th day of the month, Sept. 21 (Hag 1:15). During his first two years, Darius had to establish his right to the throne by fighting numerous rebels, as recounted in his famous Behistun (Bisitun) inscription. It was only after the stabilization of the Persian empire that efforts to rebuild the temple could be permitted.

the second year of the reign of Darius[v] king of Persia.

Tattenai's Letter to Darius

5 Now Haggai[w] the prophet and Zechariah[x] the prophet, a descendant of Iddo, prophesied[y] to the Jews in Judah and Jerusalem in the name of the God of Israel, who was over them. 2Then Zerubbabel[z] son of Shealtiel and Jeshua[a] son of Jozadak set to work[b] to rebuild the house of God in Jerusalem. And the prophets of God were with them, helping them.

3At that time Tattenai,[c] governor of Trans-Euphrates, and Shethar-Bozenai[d] and their associates went to them and asked, "Who authorized you to rebuild this temple and restore this structure?"[e] 4They also asked, "What are the names of the men constructing this building?"[m] 5But the eye of their God[f] was watching over the elders of the Jews, and they were not stopped until a report could go to Darius and his written reply be received.

6This is a copy of the letter that Tattenai, governor of Trans-Euphrates, and Shethar-Bozenai and their associates, the officials of Trans-Euphrates, sent to King Darius. 7The report they sent him read as follows:

To King Darius:

Cordial greetings.

8The king should know that we went to the district of Judah, to the temple of the great God. The people are building it with large stones and placing the timbers in the walls. The work[g] is being carried on with diligence and is making rapid progress under their direction.

9We questioned the elders and asked them, "Who authorized you to rebuild this temple and restore this structure?"[h] 10We also asked them their names, so that we could write down the names of their leaders for your information.

11This is the answer they gave us:

"We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and we are rebuilding the temple[i] that was built many years ago, one that a great king of Israel built and finished. 12But because our fathers angered[j] the God of heaven, he handed them over to Nebuchadnezzar the Chaldean, king of Babylon, who destroyed this temple and deported the people to Babylon.[k]

13"However, in the first year of Cyrus king of Babylon, King Cyrus issued a decree[l] to rebuild this house of God. 14He even removed from the temple[n] of Babylon the gold and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple in Jerusalem and brought to the temple[n] in Babylon.[m]

"Then King Cyrus gave them to a man named Sheshbazzar,[n] whom he had appointed governor, 15and he told him, 'Take these articles and go and deposit them in the temple in Jerusalem. And rebuild the house of God on its site.' 16So this Sheshbazzar came and laid the foundations of the house of God[o] in Jerusalem. From that day to the present it has been under construction but is not yet finished."

17Now if it pleases the king, let a search be made in the royal archives[p] of Babylon to see if King Cyrus did in fact issue a decree to rebuild this house of God in Jerusalem. Then let the king send us his decision in this matter.

5:1 Haggai . . . Zechariah. Beginning on Aug. 29, 520 B.C. (Hag 1:1), and continuing until Dec. 18 (Hag 2:1,10,20), the prophet Haggai delivered a series of messages to stir up the people to resume work on the temple. Two months after Haggai's first speech, Zechariah joined him (Zec 1:1).

5:2 Zerubbabel. A Babylonian name meaning "offspring of Babylon," referring to his birth in exile. He was the son of Shealtiel and the grandson of Jehoiachin (1Ch 3:17), the next-to-last king of Judah. Zerubbabel was the last of the Davidic line to be entrusted with political authority by the occupying powers. He was also an ancestor of Jesus (Mt 1:12–13; Lk 3:27). Jeshua. See note on 2:2.

5:3 Tattenai. Probably a Babylonian name. Shethar-Bozenai. Perhaps a Persian official.

5:5 not stopped. The Persian governor gave the Jews the benefit of the doubt by not stopping the work while the inquiry was proceeding.

5:6–7 sent to King Darius . . . sent him. Texts found in the royal city of Persepolis vividly confirm that such inquiries were sent directly to the king himself, revealing the close attention he paid to minute details.

5:8 timbers. May refer to interior paneling (1Ki 6:15–18) or to logs alternating with the brick or stone layers in the walls (see note on 6:4).

5:11 great king of Israel. According to 1Ki 6:1 Solomon began building the temple in the fourth year of his reign (966 B.C.). The project lasted seven years (1Ki 6:38).

5:12 Chaldean. The Chaldeans were the inhabitants of the southern regions of Mesopotamia who established the Neo-Babylonian empire (612–539 B.C.). Their origins are obscure. In the late seventh century B.C. the Chaldeans, led by Nebuchadnezzar's father Nabopolassar, overthrew the Assyrians.

5:14 Sheshbazzar . . . governor. See note on 1:8.

The Decree of Darius

6 King Darius then issued an order, and they searched in the archives[q] stored in the treasury at Babylon. [2]A scroll was found in the citadel of Ecbatana in the province of Media, and this was written on it:

Memorandum:

[3]In the first year of King Cyrus, the king issued a decree concerning the temple of God in Jerusalem:

Let the temple be rebuilt as a place to present sacrifices, and let its foundations be laid.[r] It is to be ninety feet[o] high and ninety feet wide, [4]with three courses[s] of large stones and one of timbers. The costs are to be paid by the royal treasury.[t] [5]Also, the gold[u] and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon, are to be returned to their places in the temple in Jerusalem; they are to be deposited in the house of God.[v]

[6]Now then, Tattenai,[w] governor of Trans-Euphrates, and Shethar-Bozenai[x] and you, their fellow officials of that province, stay away from there. [7]Do not interfere with the work on this temple of God. Let the governor of the Jews and the Jewish elders rebuild this house of God on its site.

[8]Moreover, I hereby decree what you are to do for these elders of the Jews in the construction of this house of God:

The expenses of these men are to be fully paid out of the royal treasury,[y] from the revenues[z] of Trans-Euphrates, so that the work will not stop. [9]Whatever is needed—young bulls, rams, male lambs for burnt offerings[a] to the God of heaven, and wheat, salt, wine and oil, as requested by the priests in Jerusalem—must be given them daily without fail, [10]so that they may offer sacrifices pleasing to the God of heaven and pray for the well-being of the king and his sons.[b]

[11]Furthermore, I decree that if anyone changes this edict, a beam is to be pulled from his house and he is to be lifted up and impaled[c] on it. And for this crime his house is to be made a pile of rubble.[d] [12]May

6:1 archives ... in the treasury at Babylon. Many documents have also been found in the so-called "treasury" area of Persepolis (see map on p. 566).

6:2 Ecbatana. One of the four capitals (along with Babylon, Persepolis and Susa) of the Persian empire. Located in what is today the Iranian city of Hamadan, its remains have not yet been excavated. This is the only reference to the site in the OT, though there are numerous references in the Apocryphal books (Judith 1:1–4; Tobit 3:7; 7:1; 14:12–14; 2 Maccabees 9:3). Media. The homeland of the Medes in northwestern Iran. The Medes were an Indo-European tribe related to the Persians. After the rise of Cyrus in 550 B.C., they became subordinate to the Persians. The name of the area was retained as late as the NT era (Ac 2:9).

6:3–5 Compare this Aramaic memorandum of the decree of Cyrus with the Hebrew version in 1:2–4. The Aramaic is written in a more sober administrative style without any reference to the Lord (Yahweh). A similar memorandum dealing with permission to rebuild the Jewish temple at Elephantine in Upper Egypt was found among fifth-century B.C. Aramaic papyri recovered at that site.

6:3 ninety feet high and ninety feet wide. These dimensions, which contrast with those of Solomon's temple (see NIV text note on 1Ki 6:2), are probably not specifications of the temple as built but of the outer limits of a building the Persians were willing to subsidize. The second temple was not as grandiose as the first (3:12; Hag 2:3).

6:4 large stones ... timbers. See 5:8. The same kind of construction is mentioned in 1Ki 6:36; 7:12. Such a design was possibly intended to cushion the building against earthquake shocks. costs are to be paid by the royal treasury. In 1973 archaeologists discovered at Xanthos in southwest Turkey a cult foundation charter from the late Persian period that provides some striking parallels with this decree of Cyrus. As in Ezra, amounts of sacrifices, names of priests and the responsibility for the upkeep of the cult are specified. The Persian king seems to have known details of the cult.

6:8 paid out of the royal treasury. It was a consistent policy of Persian kings to help restore sanctuaries in their empire. For example, a memorandum concerning the rebuilding of the Jewish temple at Elephantine was written by the Persian governors of Judah and Samaria. Also from non-Biblical sources we learn that Cyrus repaired temples at Uruk (Erech) and Ur. Cambyses, successor to Cyrus, gave funds for the temple at Sais in Egypt. The temple of Amun in the Khargah Oasis was rebuilt by order of Darius.

6:9 That the Persian monarchs were interested in the details of foreign cults is shown clearly by the ordinances of Cambyses and Darius I, regulating the temples and priests in Egypt. On the authority of Darius II (423–404 B.C.) a letter was written to the Jews at Elephantine concerning the keeping of the Feast of Unleavened Bread.

6:10 pray for the well-being of the king and his sons. In the inscription on the Cyrus Cylinder (made of baked clay), the king asks: "May all the gods whom I have resettled in their sacred cities ask Bel and Nebo daily for a long life for me." The Jews of Elephantine offered to pray for the Persian governor of Judah. The daily synagogue services included a prayer for the royal family (cf. 1Ti 2:1–2).

6:11 if anyone changes this edict. It was customary at the end of decrees and treaties to append a long list of curses against anyone who might disregard them. impaled. According to Herodotus (3.159), Darius I impaled 3,000 Babylonians when he took the city of Babylon. See NIV text note on Est 2:23.

6:12 May God ... overthrow any king or people. At the end of his famous Behistun (Bisitun) inscription

God, who has caused his Name to dwell there,[e] overthrow any king or people who lifts a hand to change this decree or to destroy this temple in Jerusalem.

I Darius[f] have decreed it. Let it be carried out with diligence.

Completion and Dedication of the Temple

[13]Then, because of the decree King Darius had sent, Tattenai, governor of Trans-Euphrates, and Shethar-Bozenai and their associates[g] carried it out with diligence. [14]So the elders of the Jews continued to build and prosper under the preaching[h] of Haggai the prophet and Zechariah, a descendant of Iddo. They finished building the temple according to the command of the God of Israel and the decrees of Cyrus,[i] Darius[j] and Artaxerxes,[k] kings of Persia. [15]The temple was completed on the third day of the month Adar, in the sixth year of the reign of King Darius.[l]

[16]Then the people of Israel—the priests, the Levites and the rest of the exiles—celebrated the dedication[m] of the house of God with joy. [17]For the dedication of this house of God they offered[n] a hundred bulls, two hundred rams, four hundred male lambs and, as a sin offering for all Israel, twelve male goats, one for each of the tribes of Israel. [18]And they installed the priests in their divisions[o] and the Levites in their groups[p] for the service of God at Jerusalem, according to what is written in the Book of Moses.[q]

The Passover

[19]On the fourteenth day of the first month, the exiles celebrated the Passover.[r] [20]The priests and Levites had purified themselves and were all ceremonially clean. The Levites slaughtered[s] the Passover lamb for all the exiles, for their brothers the priests and for themselves. [21]So the Israelites who had returned from the exile ate it, together with all who had separated themselves[t] from the unclean practices[u] of their Gentile neighbors in order to seek the LORD,[v] the God of Israel. [22]For seven days they celebrated with joy the Feast of Unleavened Bread,[w] because the LORD had filled them with joy by changing the attitude[x] of the king of Assyria, so that he assisted them in the work on the house of God, the God of Israel.

6:13–14 Work on the temple had made little progress not only because of opposition but also because of the preoccupation of the returnees with their own homes (Hag 1:2–9). Because they had placed their own interests first, God sent them famine as a judgment (Hag 1:5–6,10–11). Spurred by the preaching of Haggai and Zechariah, and under the leadership of Zerubbabel and Jeshua, a new effort was begun (Hag 1:12–15).

6:14 Artaxerxes. The reference to him seems out of place, because he did not contribute to rebuilding the temple. He may have been inserted here since he contributed to the work of the temple at a later date under Ezra (7:21–24).

6:15 temple was completed. On Mar. 12, 516 B.C., almost 70 years after its destruction. The renewed work on the temple had begun on Sept. 21, 520 (Hag 1:15), and sustained effort had continued for almost three and a half years. According to Hag 2:3, the older members who could remember the splendor of Solomon's temple were disappointed when they saw the smaller size of Zerubbabel's temple (cf. Ezr 3:12). Yet in the long run the second temple, though not as grand as the first, enjoyed a much longer life. The general plan of the second temple was similar to that of Solomon's, but the Most Holy Place was left empty because the ark of the covenant had been lost through the Babylonian conquest. According to Josephus, on the Day of Atonement the high priest placed his censer on the slab of stone that marked the former location of the ark. The Holy Place was furnished with a table for the bread of the Presence, the incense altar, and one lampstand (in the Apocrypha cf. 1 Maccabees 1:21–22; 4:49–51) instead of Solomon's ten (1Ki 7:49).

6:16 exiles . . . dedication. Cf. the dedication of Solomon's temple (1Ki 8). The leaders of those who returned from exile were responsible for the completion of the temple. "Dedication" translates the Aramaic word ḥanukkah. The Jewish holiday in December that celebrates the recapture of the temple from the Seleucids and its rededication (165 B.C.) is also known as Hanukkah.

6:17 hundred . . . two hundred . . . four hundred. The number of animals sacrificed was small in comparison with similar services in the reigns of Solomon (1Ki 8:5,63), Hezekiah (2Ch 30:24) and Josiah (2Ch 35:7), when thousands rather than hundreds were offered.

6:18 divisions. The priests were separated into 24 divisions (1Ch 24:1–19), each of which served at the temple for a week at a time (cf. Lk 1:5,8). In 1962 fragments of a synagogue inscription listing the 24 divisions were found at Caesarea. written in the Book of Moses. Perhaps referring to such passages as Ex 29; Lev 8; Nu 3; 8:5–26; 18.

6:19 fourteenth day . . . first month . . . Passover. The date would have been about Apr. 21, 516 B.C.

6:20 purified themselves . . . ceremonially clean. See note on Lev 4:12. Priests and Levites had to be ceremonially clean to fulfill their ritual functions.

6:21 with all who had separated themselves. The returning exiles were willing to accept those who separated themselves from the paganism of the foreigners who had been introduced into the area by the Assyrians.

6:22 king of Assyria. A surprising title for Darius, the Persian king. But even after the fall of Nineveh in 612 B.C., the term "Assyria" continued to be used for former territories the Assyrians had occupied (even Syria is an abbreviation of Assyria). Persian kings adopted a variety of titles, including "king of Babylon" (cf. 5:13; Ne 13:6).

Ezra Comes to Jerusalem

7 After these things, during the reign of Artaxerxes[y] king of Persia, Ezra son of Seraiah,[z] the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkiah,[a] 2the son of Shallum, the son of Zadok,[b] the son of Ahitub,[c] 3the son of Amariah, the son of Azariah, the son of Meraioth, 4the son of Zerahiah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukki, 5the son of Abishua, the son of Phinehas,[d] the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the chief priest— 6this Ezra[e] came up from Babylon. He was a teacher well versed in the Law of Moses, which the LORD, the God of Israel, had given. The king had granted[f] him everything he asked, for the hand of the LORD his God was on him.[g] 7Some of the Israelites, including priests, Levites, singers, gatekeepers and temple servants, also came up to Jerusalem in the seventh year of King Artaxerxes.[h]

8Ezra arrived in Jerusalem in the fifth month of the seventh year of the king. 9He had begun his journey from Babylon on the first day of the first month, and he arrived in Jerusalem on the first day of the fifth month, for the gracious hand of his God was on him.[i] 10For Ezra had devoted himself to the study and observance of the Law of the LORD, and to teaching[j] its decrees and laws in Israel.

King Artaxerxes' Letter to Ezra

11This is a copy of the letter King Artaxerxes had given to Ezra the priest and teacher, a man learned in matters concerning the commands and decrees of the LORD for Israel:

12[p]Artaxerxes, king of kings,[k]

To Ezra the priest, a teacher of the Law of the God of heaven:

[p] 12 The text of Ezra 7:12-26 is in Aramaic.

7:1–5 The genealogy of Ezra given here lists 16 ancestors back to Aaron, the brother of Moses.

7:1 After these things. The events of the preceding chapter concluded with the completion of the temple in 516 B.C. Artaxerxes. The identity of the king mentioned in this chapter has been disputed. If this was Artaxerxes I, which seems likely, Ezra would have arrived in Judah in 458, and there would be a gap of almost 60 years between the events of ch. 6 and those of ch. 7. The only recorded event during this interval is the opposition to the rebuilding of Jerusalem in the reign of Xerxes (486–465) in 4:6. Ezra. Perhaps a shortened form of Azariah, a name that occurs twice in the list of his ancestors. The Greek form is Esdras, as in the Apocrypha. Seraiah. Means "The LORD is prince." He was the high priest under Zedekiah who was killed in 586 by Nebuchadnezzar (2Ki 25:18–21) some 128 years before Ezra's arrival. He was therefore the ancestor rather than the father of Ezra; "son" often means "descendant" (see 1Ch 6:14–15). Azariah. Means "The LORD helps." Hilkiah. Means "My portion is the LORD." He was the high priest under Josiah (2Ki 22:4).

7:2 Zadok. Means "righteous." He was a priest under David (2Sa 8:17). Solomon appointed Zadok as high priest in place of Abiathar, who supported the rebel Adonijah (1Ki 1:7–8; 2:35). Ezekiel regarded the Zadokites as free from idolatry (Eze 44:15). They held the office of high priest until 171 B.C. The Sadducees may have been named after Zadok, and the Qumran community (see "The Time between the Testaments," p. 1424) looked for the restoration of the Zadokite priesthood. Ahitub. Probably means "My (divine) brother is good." He was actually the grandfather of Zadok (Ne 11:11).

7:5 Eleazar. Means "God helps." The Greek form of the name is Lazarus (Jn 11:1).

7:6 teacher. Lit. "scribe" (as in Ne 8:1,4,9,13; 12:26,36). Earlier, scribes served kings as secretaries, such as Shaphan under Josiah (2Ki 22:3, where the Hebrew word for "scribe" is translated "secretary"). Other scribes took dictation—such as Baruch, who wrote down what Jeremiah spoke (Jer 36:32). From the exilic period on, the "scribes" were scholars who studied and taught the Scriptures (cf. the "teachers of the law" in the NT; see notes on Mt 2:4; Lk 5:17). In the NT period they were addressed as "rabbis" (cf. Mt 23:7). well versed. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "skillful" in Ps 45:1 and "skilled" in Pr 22:29. hand of the LORD. For this striking description of God's power and favor cf. also vv. 9,28; 8:18,22,31; Ne 2:8,18.

7:7–9 seventh year . . . first day of the first month . . . first day of the fifth month. Ezra began his journey on the first of Nisan (Apr. 8, 458 B.C.) and arrived in Jerusalem on the first of Ab (Aug. 4, 458). The journey took four months, including an 11-day delay indicated by the comparison of v. 9 with 8:31. The spring was the most auspicious time for such journeys; most armies went on campaigns at this time of the year. Although the actual distance between Babylon and Jerusalem is about 500 miles, the travelers had to cover a total of about 900 miles, going northwest along the Euphrates River and then south. The relatively slow pace was caused by the presence of the elderly and the children. See map No. 7b at the end of the study Bible.

7:10 study . . . observance . . . teaching. See Ne 8.

7:11 letter. Many regard the letter of Artaxerxes I as the beginning point of Daniel's first 69 "sevens" (Da 9:24–27). Others regard the commission of Nehemiah by the same king as the starting point of this prophecy (Ne 1:1,11; 2:1–8). By using either a solar calendar with the former date (458 B.C.) or a lunar calendar with the latter date (445), one can arrive remarkably close to the date of Jesus' public ministry.

7:12 See NIV text note. king of kings. The phrase was originally used by Assyrian kings, since their empires incorporated many kingdoms. It was then used by the later Babylonian (Eze 26:7; Da 2:37) and Persian kings. Cf. 1Ti 6:15; Rev 17:14; 19:16.

7:13 Israelites. It is noteworthy that "Israel" is used rather than "Judah." It was Ezra's aim to make one Israel of all who returned. The markedly Jewish coloring of this decree may have resulted from the king's use of Jewish officials, quite possibly Ezra himself, to help him compose it.

7:14 seven advisers. Cf. Est 1:14, which refers to the seven nobles who "had special access to the king." This corresponds with Persian practice as reported by the early Greek historians Herodotus and Xenophon. Law of your God. Perhaps the complete Pentateuch (the five books of Moses) in its present form (see v. 6).

7:15 silver and gold. Cf. Hag 2:8. freely given. The Persian treasury had ample funds, and benevolence was a well-attested policy of Persian kings.

7:16 offerings of the people. The custom of sending gifts to Jerusalem from the Jews who lived outside the Holy Land continued until the Jewish-Roman War, when the Romans forced the Jews to send such contributions to the temple of Jupiter instead (Josephus, Antiquities, 18.9.1). There are close parallels to such directives in the contemporary letters from the Jewish garrison at Elephantine in Egypt, including a papyrus in which Darius II ordered: "Let grain offering, incense and burnt offering be offered" on the altar of the god Yahu "in your name."

7:20 provide from the royal treasury. Texts from the treasury at Persepolis also record the disbursement of supplies and funds from the royal purse.

7:22 hundred talents. An enormous amount (see NIV text note). hundred cors. The total was relatively small (see NIV text note). The wheat would be used in grain offerings. salt without limit. See note on 4:14. A close parallel is the benefaction of Antiochus III as recorded by Josephus (Antiquities, 12.3.3): "In the first place we have decided, on account of their piety, to furnish for their sacrifices an allowance of sacrificial animals, wine, oil and frankincense to the value of 20,000 pieces of silver, and sacred artabae of fine flour in accordance with their native law, and 1,460 medimni of wheat and 375 medimni of salt."

7:23 wrath against the realm of the king. Egypt had revolted against the Persians in 460 B.C. and had expelled the Persians with the help of the Athenians in 459. In 458, when Ezra traveled to Jerusalem, the Persians were involved in suppressing this revolt. his sons. We do not know how many sons the king had at this time, but he ultimately had 18, according to Ctesias (a Greek physician who wrote an extensive history of Persia).

7:24 no ... taxes ... or duty on any of the priests ... temple servants. Priests and other temple personnel were often given exemptions from enforced labor or taxes. A close parallel is found in the Gadates Inscription of Darius I to a governor in western Turkey, granting exemptions to the priests of Apollo. Antiochus III granted similar exemptions to the Jews: "The priests, the scribes of the temple and the temple singers shall be relieved from the poll tax, the crown tax and the salt tax that they pay" (Josephus, Antiquities, 12.3.3).

7:26 Whoever does not obey ... must surely be punished. The extensive powers given to Ezra are striking and extend to secular fields. Perhaps the implementation of these provisions involved Ezra in a great deal of traveling, which would explain the silence about his activities between his arrival and the arrival of Nehemiah 13 years later. A close parallel to the king's commission of Ezra may be found in an earlier commission by Darius I, who sent Udjahorresenet, a priest and scholar, back to Egypt. He ordered the codification of the Egyptian laws by the chief men of Egypt—a task that took from 518 to 503 B.C.

27 Praise be to the LORD, the God of our fathers, who has put it into the king's heart[b] to bring honor[c] to the house of the LORD in Jerusalem in this way 28 and who has extended his good favor[d] to me before the king and his advisers and all the king's powerful officials. Because the hand of the LORD my God was on me,[e] I took courage and gathered leading men from Israel to go up with me.

List of the Family Heads Returning With Ezra

8 These are the family heads and those registered with them who came up with me from Babylon during the reign of King Artaxerxes:[f]

2 of the descendants of Phinehas, Gershom;
of the descendants of Ithamar, Daniel;
of the descendants of David, Hattush 3 of the descendants of Shecaniah;[g] of the descendants of Parosh,[h] Zechariah, and with him were registered 150 men;

4 of the descendants of Pahath-Moab,[i] Eliehoenai son of Zerahiah, and with him 200 men;
5 of the descendants of Zattu,[t] Shecaniah son of Jahaziel, and with him 300 men;
6 of the descendants of Adin,[j] Ebed son of Jonathan, and with him 50 men;
7 of the descendants of Elam, Jeshaiah son of Athaliah, and with him 70 men;
8 of the descendants of Shephatiah, Zebadiah son of Michael, and with him 80 men;
9 of the descendants of Joab, Obadiah son of Jehiel, and with him 218 men;
10 of the descendants of Bani,[u] Shelomith son of Josiphiah, and with him 160 men;
11 of the descendants of Bebai, Zechariah son of Bebai, and with him 28 men;
12 of the descendants of Azgad, Johanan son of Hakkatan, and with him 110 men;
13 of the descendants of Adonikam,[k] the last ones, whose names were Eliphelet, Jeuel and Shemaiah, and with them 60 men;
14 of the descendants of Bigvai, Uthai and Zaccur, and with them 70 men.

The Return to Jerusalem

15 I assembled them at the canal that flows toward Ahava,[l] and we camped there three days. When I checked among the people and the priests, I found no Levites[m] there. 16 So I summoned Eliezer, [t] 5 Some Septuagint manuscripts (also 1 Esdras 8:32); Hebrew does not have Zattu. [u] 10 Some Septuagint manuscripts (also 1 Esdras 8:36); Hebrew does not have Bani.

7:28 me. The first occurrence of the first person for Ezra—a trait that characterizes the "Ezra Memoirs," which begin in v. 27 and continue to the end of ch. 9.

8:1–21 In vv. 1–14 Ezra lists those who accompanied him in his return from Mesopotamia, including the descendants of 15 individuals. The figures of the men given total 1,496 in addition to the individuals named. There were also women and children (see note on v. 21). About 40 Levites (vv. 18–19) are also included, as are 220 "temple servants" (v. 20).

8:2 Gershom. For the meaning of the name see NIV text note on Ex 2:22, where we learn that Gershom was also the name of the firstborn son of Moses and Zipporah. Ithamar. Also the name of the fourth son of Aaron (Ex 6:23).

8:3 Zechariah. Cf. v. 11. The name means "The LORD remembers"; it was the name of about 30 individuals mentioned in the Bible, including both the OT prophet and the father of John the Baptist (Lk 1:5–67).

8:4 Eliehoenai. Means "On the LORD are my eyes"; the name occurs only here and in 1Ch 26:3. Cf. Ps 25:15.

8:6 Ebed. May be a shortened form of Obadiah (cf. v. 9), meaning "servant of the LORD." Jonathan. Means "The LORD gives"; it was the name of 15 OT individuals.

8:7 Athaliah. Also the name of a famous queen, daughter of Ahab (2Ki 11).

8:8 Michael. Means "Who is like God?" It was the name of ten other Biblical personages, including the archangel (Da 10:13; Jude 9; Rev 12:7).

8:10 Shelomith. Although it is a feminine form (see also note on SS 6:13), it is often a man's name, as here. The Greek equivalent is Salome.

8:12 Azgad. See note on 2:12. Johanan. See note on 2:46. Hakkatan. Means "the little one"; the name occurs only here.

8:15 canal that flows toward Ahava. Probably flows into either the Euphrates or the Tigris (the Kebar "River" in Eze 1:1 was also a canal). three days. Perhaps from the 9th to the 12th day of Nisan; the journey began on the 12th (see v. 31). no Levites. Since they were entrusted with many menial tasks, they may have found a more comfortable way of life in exile. A rabbinic midrash (comment) on Ps 137 relates the legend that Levites were in the caravan but that they were not qualified to officiate because when Nebuchadnezzar had ordered them to sing for him the songs of Zion, "they refused and bit off the ends of their fingers, so that they could not play on the harps." In the Hellenistic era (following Alexander's conquest of the Holy Land in 333 B.C.) the role of the Levites declined sharply, though the "Temple Scroll" among the Dead Sea Scrolls from Qumran (see "The Time between the Testaments," p. 1424) assigns important roles to them.

8:16 Ariel. Means "lion of God" or "altar hearth" (see note on Isa 29:1,2,7). It occurs only here as a personal name. Meshullam. Perhaps means "rewarded." Some assume that he is the same as the Meshullam who opposed the marriage reforms (10:15). men of learning. Lit. "those who cause to understand." The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "teacher" in 1Ch 25:8 and "instructed" or "in-

Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah and Meshullam, who were leaders, and Joiarib and Elnathan, who were men of learning, [17]and I sent them to Iddo, the leader in Casiphia. I told them what to say to Iddo and his kinsmen, the temple servants[n] in Casiphia, so that they might bring attendants to us for the house of our God. [18]Because the gracious hand of our God was on us,[o] they brought us Sherebiah,[p] a capable man, from the descendants of Mahli son of Levi, the son of Israel, and Sherebiah's sons and brothers, 18 men; [19]and Hashabiah, together with Jeshaiah from the descendants of Merari, and his brothers and nephews, 20 men. [20]They also brought 220 of the temple servants[q]—a body that David and the officials had established to assist the Levites. All were registered by name.

[21]There, by the Ahava Canal,[r] I proclaimed a fast, so that we might humble ourselves before our God and ask him for a safe journey[s] for us and our children, with all our possessions. [22]I was ashamed to ask the king for soldiers[t] and horsemen to protect us from enemies on the road, because we had told the king, "The gracious hand of our God is on everyone[u] who looks to him, but his great anger is against all who forsake him.[v]" [23]So we fasted[w] and petitioned our God about this, and he answered our prayer.

[24]Then I set apart twelve of the leading priests, together with Sherebiah,[x] Hashabiah and ten of their brothers, [25]and I weighed out[y] to them the offering of silver and gold and the articles that the king, his advisers, his officials and all Israel present there had donated for the house of our God. [26]I weighed out to them 650 talents[v] of silver, silver articles weighing 100 talents,[w] 100 talents[w] of gold, [27]20 bowls of gold valued at 1,000 darics,[x] and two fine articles of polished bronze, as precious as gold.

[28]I said to them, "You as well as these articles are consecrated to the LORD.[z] The silver and gold are a freewill offering to the LORD, the God of your fathers. [29]Guard them carefully until you weigh them out in the chambers of the house of the LORD in Jerusalem before the leading priests and the Levites and the family heads of Israel." [30]Then the priests and Levites received the silver and gold and sacred articles that had been weighed out to be taken to the house of our God in Jerusalem.

[31]On the twelfth day of the first month we set out from the Ahava Canal[a] to go to Jerusalem. The hand of our God was on us,[b] and he protected us from enemies and bandits along the way. [32]So we arrived in Jerusalem, where we rested three days.[c]

[33]On the fourth day, in the house of our God, we weighed out[d] the silver and gold and the sacred articles into the hands of Meremoth[e] son of Uriah, the priest. Eleazar son of Phinehas was with him, and so were the Levites Jozabad[f] son of Jeshua and Noadiah son of Binnui.[g] [34]Everything was accounted for by number and weight, and the entire weight was recorded at that time.

8:17 Casiphia. Some have located it at the site that was later to become the Parthian capital of Ctesiphon on the Tigris River, north of Babylon.

8:18–19 18 men ... 20 men. Only about 40 Levites from two families were found who were willing to join Ezra's caravan.

8:20 temple servants. See note on 2:43–57.

8:21 safe journey. Lit. "straight way"—unimpeded by obstacles and dangers (see v. 31; cf. Pr 3:6). children. Elsewhere (e.g., Ge 43:8) the term also includes the elderly and the women. possessions. The vast treasures they were carrying with them offered a tempting bait for robbers.

8:22 I was ashamed. Scripture speaks often of unholy shame (Jer 48:13; 49:23; Mic 3:7) and on occasion, as here, of holy shame. Ezra was quick to blush with such shame (see also 9:6). Having proclaimed his faith in God's ability to protect the caravan, he was embarrassed to ask for human protection. Grave dangers faced travelers going the great distance between Mesopotamia and Palestine. Some 13 years later Nehemiah was accompanied by an armed escort. The difference, however, does not mean that Nehemiah was a man of lesser faith (see note on Ne 2:9).

8:23 fasted and petitioned. For the association of fasting and prayer see Ne 1:4; Da 9:3; Mt 17:21 (NIV text note); Ac 14:23.

8:25 offering. Lit. "what is lifted," i.e., dedicated (cf. Ex 25:2; 35:5; Lev 7:14). In Dt 12:6 the Hebrew for this word is translated "special gifts."

8:26 650 talents ... 100 talents. Enormous sums, worth millions of dollars today. See also note on 7:22.

8:27 darics. See NIV text note. The word occurs only here and in 1Ch 29:7 (but see note on 2:69). polished. This kind of bronze may have been orichalc, a bright yellow (the Hebrew for "yellow" in Lev 13:30,32,36 is related to the Hebrew for "polished" here) alloy of copper, which resembles gold and was highly prized in ancient times.

8:31 twelfth day. See notes on v. 15; 7:7–9.

8:32 rested three days. Nehemiah also took a similar rest period after his arrival in Jerusalem (Ne 2:11).

8:33 Meremoth son of Uriah. Probably the same as the man who repaired two sections of the wall (Ne 3:4,21).

8:34 recorded. According to Babylonian practice (e.g., in the Code of Hammurapi) almost every transaction, including sales and marriages, had to be recorded in writing. Ezra may have had to send back to Artaxerxes a signed certification of the delivery of the treasures.

8:35 sacrificed. Except for the identical number of male goats, the offerings here were far fewer than those presented by the returnees under Zerubbabel (6:17), who from captivity sacrificed burnt offerings to the God of Israel: twelve bulls[h] for all Israel,[i] ninety-six rams, seventy-seven male lambs and, as a sin offering, twelve male goats.[j] All this was a burnt offering to the LORD. 36They also delivered the king's orders[k] to the royal satraps and to the governors of Trans-Euphrates,[l] who then gave assistance to the people and to the house of God.[m]

Ezra's Prayer About Intermarriage

9 After these things had been done, the leaders came to me and said, "The people of Israel, including the priests and the Levites, have not kept themselves separate[n] from the neighboring peoples with their detestable practices, like those of the Canaanites, Hittites, Perizzites, Jebusites,[o] Ammonites,[p] Moabites,[q] Egyptians and Amorites.[r] 2They have taken some of their daughters[s] as wives for themselves and their sons, and have mingled[t] the holy race[u] with the peoples around them. And the leaders and officials have led the way in this unfaithfulness."[v]

3When I heard this, I tore[w] my tunic and cloak, pulled hair from my head and beard and sat down appalled.[x] 4Then everyone who trembled[y] at the words of the God of Israel gathered around me because of this unfaithfulness of the exiles. And I sat there appalled[z] until the evening sacrifice.

5Then, at the evening sacrifice,[a] I rose from my self-abasement, with my tunic and cloak torn, and fell on my knees with my hands[b] spread out to the LORD my God 6and prayed:

> "O my God, I am too ashamed[c] and disgraced to lift up my face to you, my God, because our sins are higher than our heads and our guilt has reached to the heavens.[d] 7From the days of our forefathers[e] until now, our guilt has been great. Because of our sins, we and our kings and our priests have been subjected to the sword[f] and captivity,[g] to pillage and humiliation[h] at the hand of foreign kings, as it is today.

brought with him a far greater number of families.

9:1 After these things had been done ... have not kept themselves separate. Ezra had reached Jerusalem in the fifth month (7:9). The measures dealing with the problem of intermarriage were announced in the ninth month (10:9), or four months after his arrival. Those who brought Ezra's attention to the problem were probably the ordinary members of the community rather than the leaders, who were themselves guilty (v. 2). Malachi, who prophesied about the same time as Ezra's mission, indicates that some Jews had broken their marriages to marry daughters of a foreign god (Mal 2:10–16), perhaps the daughters of influential landholders. One of the reasons for such intermarriages may have been the shortage of returning Jewish women who were available. What happened to a Jewish community that was lax concerning intermarriage can be seen in the example of the Elephantine settlement in Egypt, which was contemporary with Ezra and Nehemiah. There the Jews who married pagan spouses expressed their devotion to pagan gods in addition to the Lord. The Elephantine community was gradually assimilated and disappeared. neighboring peoples. The eight groups mentioned are representative of the original inhabitants of Canaan before the Israelite conquest (see note on Ex 3:8). Only the Ammonites, Moabites and Egyptians were still living there in the postexilic period (cf. 2Ch 8:7–8). Canaanites. See note on Ge 10:6. Hittites. See note on Ge 10:15. Perizzites. See note on Ge 13:7. Jebusites. See note on Ge 10:16. Ammonites, Moabites. See note on Ge 19:36–38. Amorites. See note on Ge 10:16.

9:2 holy race. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "holy seed" in Isa 6:13. led the way. In the wrong direction (see 10:18). unfaithfulness. See 10:6; Jos 22:16; Da 9:7. Marrying those who did not belong to the Lord was an act of infidelity for the people of Israel.

9:3 tore my tunic and cloak. A common way to express grief or distress (see v. 5; Ge 37:29,34; Jos 7:6; Jdg 11:35; 2Sa 13:19; 2Ch 34:27; Est 4:1; Job 1:20; Isa 36:22; Jer 41:5; Mt 26:65). pulled hair from my head and beard. Unique in the Bible. Elsewhere we read about the shaving of one's head and/or beard (Job 1:20; Jer 41:5; 47:5; Eze 7:18; Am 8:10). When Nehemiah was confronted with the same problem of intermarriage, instead of pulling out his own hair he pulled out the hair of the offending parties (Ne 13:25).

9:4 everyone who trembled. Cf. Ex 19:16; Isa 66:2; Heb 12:21. appalled. See v. 3; cf. Da 4:19; 8:27. evening sacrifice. See Ex 12:6. The informants had probably visited Ezra in the morning, so that he must have sat appalled for many hours. The time of the evening sacrifice, usually about 3:00 P.M., was also the appointed time for prayer and confession (Ac 3:1).

9:5 self-abasement. The Hebrew for this word later meant "fasting." See note on Lev 16:29,31. fell on my knees. Cf. 1Ki 8:54; Ps 95:6; Da 6:10. with my hands spread out. See note on Ex 9:29. Ezra's prayer (vv. 6–15) may be compared with those of Nehemiah (Ne 9:5–37) and Daniel (Da 9:4–19).

9:6 ashamed and disgraced. See 8:22 and note; Lk 18:13. Ezra felt both an inner shame before God and an outward humiliation before people for his own sins and the sins of his people. The two Hebrew verbs often occur together; see Ps 35:4; Isa 45:16; Jer 31:19 ("ashamed and humiliated"). our sins ... our guilt. Cf. also vv. 7,13,15; 10:10,19; 1Ch 21:3; 2Ch 24:18; Ps 38:4. has reached to the heavens. But God's love is more than a match for our guilt (Ps 103:11–12).

9:7 From the days of our forefathers. Israelites were conscious of their corporate solidarity with their ancestors. sword. Cf. Ne 4:13. In Eze 21 "the sword of the king of Babylon" (21:19) is described as an instrument of divine judgment. humiliation. Cf. Da 9:7–8; 2Ch 32:21.

9:8 remnant. See Ge 45:7; Isa 1:9; 10:20–22 and notes. firm place. Lit. "nail" or "peg," like a nail driven into a wall (see Isa 22:23 and note) or a tent peg driven into the ground (Isa 33:20; 54:2). light to our eyes. An increase in light means vitality and joy (Ps 13:3; 19:8; Ecc 8:1).

cious[i] in leaving us a remnant[j] and giving us a firm place[k] in his sanctuary, and so our God gives light to our eyes[l] and a little relief in our bondage. 9Though we are slaves,[m] our God has not deserted us in our bondage. He has shown us kindness[n] in the sight of the kings of Persia: He has granted us new life to rebuild the house of our God and repair its ruins,[o] and he has given us a wall of protection in Judah and Jerusalem.

10"But now, O our God, what can we say after this? For we have disregarded the commands[p] 11you gave through your servants the prophets when you said: 'The land you are entering[q] to possess is a land polluted[r] by the corruption of its peoples. By their detestable practices[s] they have filled it with their impurity from one end to the other. 12Therefore, do not give your daughters in marriage to their sons or take their daughters for your sons. Do not seek a treaty of friendship with them[t] at any time, that you may be strong[u] and eat the good things[v] of the land and leave it to your children as an everlasting inheritance.'[w]

13"What has happened to us is a result of our evil[x] deeds and our great guilt, and yet, our God, you have punished us less than our sins have deserved[y] and have given us a remnant like this. 14Shall we again break your commands and intermarry[z] with the peoples who commit such detestable practices? Would you not be angry enough with us to destroy us,[a] leaving us no remnant[b] or survivor? 15O LORD, God of Israel, you are righteous![c] We are left this day as a remnant. Here we are before you in our guilt, though because of it not one of us can stand[d] in your presence.[e]"

The People's Confession of Sin

10 While Ezra was praying and confessing,[f] weeping[g] and throwing himself down before the house of God, a large crowd of Israelites—men, women and children—gathered around him. They too wept bitterly. 2Then Shecaniah son of Jehiel, one of the descendants of Elam,[h] said to Ezra, "We have been unfaithful[i] to our God by marrying foreign women from the peoples around us. But in spite of this, there is still hope for Israel.[j] 3Now let us make a covenant[k] before our God to send away[l] all these women and their children, in accordance with the counsel of my lord and of those who fear the commands of our God. Let it be done according to the Law. 4Rise up; this matter is in your hands. We will support you, so take courage and do it."

5So Ezra rose up and put the leading priests and Levites and all Israel under

9:9 kings of Persia. The Achaemenid Persian kings were favorably disposed to the Jews: Cyrus (539–530 B.C.) gave them permission to return (ch. 1); his son Cambyses (530–522), though not named in the Bible, also favored the Jews, as we learn from Elephantine papyri; Darius I (522–486) renewed the decree of Cyrus (ch. 6); his son Xerxes (486–465) granted privileges and protection to Jews (Est 8–10); his son Artaxerxes I (465–424) gave authorizations to Ezra (ch. 7) and to Nehemiah (Ne 2). repair its ruins. Isaiah had prophesied that the Lord would restore Jerusalem's ruins (Isa 44:26), which would burst into singing (Isa 52:9; cf. 58:12; 61:4). wall of protection. Used of a city wall only in Mic 7:11. The use here is metaphorical (cf. Zec 2:4–5).

9:11–12 The references are not to a single OT passage but to several passages, such as Dt 11:8–9; Isa 1:19; Eze 37:25.

9:11 your servants the prophets. See notes on Jer 7:25; Zec 1:6. corruption. Of Canaanite idolatry and the immoral practices associated with it (Lev 18:3; 2Ch 29:5; La 1:17; Eze 7:20; 36:17). The degrading practices and beliefs of the Canaanites are described in texts from ancient Ugarit (see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii).

9:14 be angry. God's anger came upon the Israelites because they had violated his covenant with them (Dt 7:4; 11:16–17; 29:26–28; Jos 23:16; Jdg 2:20).

9:15 you are righteous. See note on Ps 4:1. our guilt. A proper sense of God's holiness makes us aware of our unworthiness. See Isa 6:1–5; Lk 5:8. For comparable passages of national lament see Ps 44; 60; 74; 79–80; 83; 85; 90; 108; 126; 129; 137.

10:1 weeping. Not silently but out loud (see 3:13 and note; Ne 1:4; Joel 2:12). throwing himself down. The prophets and other leaders used object lessons, even bizarre actions, to attract people's attention (Isa 7:3; 8:1–4,18; Jer 13:1–11; 19; 27:2–12; Eze 4:1–5:4).

10:2 Ezra, as a wise teacher, waited for his audience to draw their own conclusions about what should be done. Shecaniah. Perhaps his father Jehiel is the Jehiel mentioned in v. 26 since he was also of the family of Elam. If so, Shecaniah was doubtless grieved that his father had married a non-Jewish woman. Six members of the clan of Elam were involved in intermarriage (v. 26).

10:3 make a covenant. Lit. "cut a covenant" (see note on Ge 15:18). women and their children. Mothers were given custody of their children when marriages were dissolved. When Hagar was dismissed, Ishmael was sent with her (Ge 21:14). In Babylonia divorced women were granted their children and had to wait for them to grow up before remarrying, according to the Code of Hammurapi (see chart on "Ancient Texts Relating to the OT," p. xxii). In Greece, however, children from broken homes remained with their fathers.

10:4 Rise up. Cf. David's exhortation (1Ch 22:16).

10:5 oath. The implied curse attendant upon nonfulfillment of a Biblical oath is often expressed in the vague statement, "May God deal with you, be it ever so severely, if . . ." (see note on 1Sa 3:17). On rare occasions the full implications of the curse are spelled out (Nu 5:19–22; Job oath[m] to do what had been suggested. And they took the oath. 6Then Ezra withdrew from before the house of God and went to the room of Jehohanan son of Eliashib. While he was there, he ate no food and drank no water,[n] because he continued to mourn over the unfaithfulness of the exiles.

7A proclamation was then issued throughout Judah and Jerusalem for all the exiles to assemble in Jerusalem. 8Anyone who failed to appear within three days would forfeit all his property, in accordance with the decision of the officials and elders, and would himself be expelled from the assembly of the exiles.

9Within the three days, all the men of Judah and Benjamin[o] had gathered in Jerusalem. And on the twentieth day of the ninth month, all the people were sitting in the square before the house of God, greatly distressed by the occasion and because of the rain. 10Then Ezra[p] the priest stood up and said to them, "You have been unfaithful; you have married foreign women, adding to Israel's guilt.[q] 11Now make confession to the LORD, the God of your fathers, and do his will. Separate yourselves from the peoples around you and from your foreign wives."[r]

12The whole assembly responded with a loud voice:[s] "You are right! We must do as you say. 13But there are many people here and it is the rainy season; so we cannot stand outside. Besides, this matter cannot be taken care of in a day or two, because we have sinned greatly in this thing. 14Let our officials act for the whole assembly. Then let everyone in our towns who has married a foreign woman come at a set time, along with the elders and judges[t] of each town, until the fierce anger[u] of our God in this matter is turned away from us." 15Only Jonathan son of Asahel and Jahzeiah son of Tikvah, supported by Meshullam and Shabbethai[v] the Levite, opposed this.

16So the exiles did as was proposed. Ezra the priest selected men who were family heads, one from each family division, and all of them designated by name. On the first day of the tenth month they sat down to investigate the cases, 17and by the first day of the first month they finished dealing with all the men who had married foreign women.

Those Guilty of Intermarriage

18Among the descendants of the priests, the following had married foreign women:[w]

From the descendants of Jeshua[x] son of Jozadak, and his brothers: Maaseiah, Eliezer, Jarib and Gedaliah. 19(They all gave their hands[y] in pledge to put away their wives, and for their guilt they each presented a ram from the flock as a guilt offering.)[z]

31; Ps 7:4–5; 137:5–6).

10:6 room. Such temple chambers were used as storerooms (8:29; Ne 13:4–5). ate no food and drank no water. Complete fasting from both food and drink was rare. Moses did it twice (Ex 34:28; Dt 9:18), and the Ninevites also did it (Jnh 3:7). Ordinarily, fasting involved abstaining only from eating (1Sa 1:7; 2Sa 3:35). mourn. The Hebrew for this word often describes the reaction of those aware of the threat of deserved judgment (Ex 33:4; Nu 14:39).

10:7–8 While Ezra continued to fast and pray, the officials and elders ordered all the exiles to assemble in Jerusalem. Although Ezra had been invested with great authority (7:25–26), he used it sparingly and influenced the people by his example.

10:8 within three days. Since the territory of Judah had been much reduced, the most distant people would not be more than 50 miles from Jerusalem. The borders were Bethel in the north, Beersheba in the south, Jericho in the east and Ono in the west (cf. Ne 7:26–38; 11:25–35). forfeit. The Hebrew for this word means "to ban from profane use and to devote to the Lord," either by destruction (see Ex 22:20; Dt 13:12–18 and NIV text notes) or by giving it to the Lord's treasury (cf. Lev 27:28; Jos 6:19; 7:1–15).

10:9,16–17 See chart on "Chronology: Ezra-Nehemiah," pp. 667.

10:9 Judah and Benjamin. See note on 1:5. square. Either the outer court of the temple or the open space before the Water Gate (Ne 8:1). rain. The Hebrew for this word is a plural of intensity, indicating heavy torrential rains. The ninth month, Kislev (November-December), is in the middle of the "rainy season" (v. 13), which begins with light showers in October and lasts to mid-April. December and January are also cold months, with temperatures in the 50s and even 40s in Jerusalem. The people shivered not only because they were drenched, but perhaps also because they sensed divine displeasure in the heavy rains (see 1Sa 12:17–18; Eze 13:11,13).

10:10 adding to Israel's guilt. See Ex 9:34; Jdg 3:12; 4:1; 2Ch 28:13. The sins and failures of the exiles were great enough, but they added insult to injury by marrying pagan women.

10:11 Separate yourselves. See Nu 16:21; 2Co 6:14.

10:12 with a loud voice. See Ne 9:4.

10:14 elders and judges of each town. See Dt 16:18; 19:12; 21:3,19; Ru 4:2.

10:15 Perhaps these four men opposed the measure because they wanted to protect themselves or their relatives, or they may have viewed it as being too harsh. Jahzeiah. Means "May the LORD see" (the name is found only here). Tikvah. Means "hope" (found elsewhere only in 2Ki 22:14). Meshullam. See note on 8:16. If he is the Meshullam of v. 29, he himself had married a pagan wife. Shabbethai. Occurs only here and in Ne 8:7; 11:16; perhaps means "one born on the Sabbath."

10:16–17 The committee completed its work in three months, discovering that about 110 men were guilty of marrying pagan wives.

10:18–22 See 2:36–39.

10:19 gave their hands. For the symbolic use of the handshake see 2Ki 10:15; Eze 17:18. ram. Guilt offerings were to be made for sins committed unintentionally (Lev 5:14–19) as well as intentionally (Lev 6:1–7), and a ram was the appropriate offering in either case (Lev 5:15; 6:6).

20From the descendants of Immer:[a]

10:24 It is striking that only one singer and three gatekeepers were involved. No temple servants (2:43–54) or descendants of Solomon's servants (2:55–57) sinned through intermarriage.
10:25–43 See 2:3–20.
10:30 Bezalel. Cf. Ex 31:2.
10:31 Shimeon. The Hebrew for this name is the same as that for Simeon, Jacob's second son (see NIV text note on Ge 29:33). In Greek the name became Simon.
10:43 Nebo. The Hebrew equivalent of the name of the Babylonian god Nabu (see Isa 46:1); found only here as a personal name.
10:44 Some of the marriages had produced children, but this was not accepted as a reason for halting the divorce proceedings. See NIV text note.

    3. The returnees delineated (7:6–72)
    4. Settlement of the exiles (7:73a)
  H. Ezra's Preaching and the Outbreak of Revival (7:73b—10:39)
    1. The public exposition of the Scriptures (7:73b—8:12)
    2. The Feast of Tabernacles (8:13–18)
    3. A day of fasting, confession and prayer (9:1–5a)
    4. A recital of God's dealings with Israel (9:5b-31)
    5. Confession of sins (9:32–37)

6. A binding agreement (9:38)
7. A list of those who sealed it (10:1–29)
8. Provisions of the agreement (10:30–39)

I. New Residents of Judah and Jerusalem (ch. 11)
1. New residents for Jerusalem (11:1–24)
a. Introductory remarks (11:1–4a)
b. Residents from Judah (11:4b-6)
c. From Benjamin (11:7–9)
d. From the priests (11:10–14)
e. From the Levites (11:15–18)
f. From the temple staff (11:19–24)
2. New residents for Judah (11:25–36)
a. Places settled by those from Judah (11:25–30)
b. Places settled by those from Benjamin (11:31–35)
c. Transfer of Levites from Judah to Benjamin (11:36)

J. Lists of Priests and the Dedication of the Wall (ch. 12)
1. Priests and Levites from the first return (12:1–9)
2. High priests and Levites since Joiakim (12:10–26)
3. Dedication of the wall of Jerusalem (12:27–43)
4. Regulation of the temple offerings and services (12:44–47)

II. Nehemiah's Second Administration (ch. 13)
A. Abuses during His Absence (13:1–5)
1. Mixed marriages (13:1–3)
2. Tobiah's occupation of the temple quarters (13:4–5)

B. Nehemiah's Return (13:6–9)
1. His arrival (13:6–7)
2. His expulsion of Tobiah (13:8–9)

C. Reorganization and Reforms (13:10–31)
1. Offerings for the temple staff (13:10–14)
2. The abuse of the Sabbath (13:15–22)
3. Mixed marriages (13:23–29)
4. Provisions of wood and firstfruits (13:30–31)

Nehemiah's Prayer

1 The words of Nehemiah son of Hacaliah:

In the month of Kislev[a] in the twentieth year, while I was in the citadel of Susa,[b] 2Hanani,[c] one of my brothers, came from Judah with some other men, and I questioned them about the Jewish remnant[d] that survived the exile, and also about Jerusalem.

3They said to me, "Those who survived the exile and are back in the province are in great trouble and disgrace. The wall of Jerusalem is broken down, and its gates have been burned with fire.[e]"

4When I heard these things, I sat down and wept.[f] For some days I mourned and fasted[g] and prayed before the God of heaven. 5Then I said:

"O LORD, God of heaven, the great and awesome God,[h] who keeps his covenant of love[i] with those who love him and obey his commands, 6let your ear be attentive and your eyes open to hear[j] the prayer[k] your servant is praying before you day and night for your servants, the people of Israel. I confess[l] the sins we Israelites, including myself and my father's house, have committed against you. 7We have acted very wickedly[m] toward you. We have not obeyed the commands, decrees and laws you gave your servant Moses.

8"Remember[n] the instruction you gave your servant Moses, saying, 'If you are unfaithful, I will scatter[o] you among the nations, 9but if you return to me and obey my commands, then even if your exiled people are at the farthest horizon, I will gather[p] them from there and bring them to the place I have chosen as a dwelling for my Name.'[q]

10"'They are your servants and your people, whom you redeemed by your great strength and your mighty hand.[r] 11O Lord, let your ear be attentive[s] to the prayer of this your servant and to the prayer

1:1 The words of. Originally an introduction to the title of a separate composition (see Jer 1:1; Am 1:1), though the books of Ezra and Nehemiah appear as a single work from earliest times (see Introduction to Ezra: Ezra and Nehemiah). Nehemiah. Means "The LORD comforts." Hacaliah. Perhaps means "Wait for the LORD," though an imperative in a Hebrew name is quite unusual. The name occurs only here and in 10:1. Kislev ... twentieth year. November-December, 445 B.C. See chart on "Chronology: Ezra-Nehemiah," p. 667. Susa. See note on Ezr 4:9.

1:2 Hanani. Probably a shortened form of Hananiah, which means "The LORD is gracious." one of my brothers. See 7:2. The Elephantine papyri mention a Hananiah who was the head of Jewish affairs in Jerusalem. Many believe that he is to be identified with Nehemiah's brother, and that he may have governed between Nehemiah's first and second terms (see NIV text note on 7:2). remnant. See note on Ezr 9:8.

1:3 province. See note on Ezr 2:1. wall of Jerusalem is broken down. The lack of a city wall meant that the people were defenseless against their enemies. Thucydides (1.89) describes the comparable condition of Athens after its devastation by the Persians in 480–479 B.C. Excavations at Jerusalem during 1961–67 revealed that the lack of a wall on the eastern slopes also meant the disintegration of the terraces there. When Nebuchadnezzar assaulted Jerusalem, he battered and broke down the walls around it (2Ki 25:10). Most, however, do not believe that Nehemiah's distress was caused by Nebuchadnezzar's destruction in 586 but by the episode of Ezr 4:7–23. The Jews had attempted to rebuild the walls earlier in the reign of Artaxerxes I; but after the protest of Rehum and Shimshai, the king ordered the Jews to desist. See note on Ezr 4:21–23.

1:4 sat down. Cf. Ezr 9:3; Job 2:13. wept. See 8:9; Ezr 3:13 and note; 10:1; Est 8:3. mourned. See Ezr 10:6; Da 10:2. fasted and prayed. See note on Ezr 8:23. During the exile, fasting became a common practice, including solemn fasts to commemorate the fall of Jerusalem and the murder of Gedaliah (see note on Zec 8:19; see also Est 4:16; Da 9:3; 10:3; Zec 7:3–7). God of heaven. See note on Ezr 1:2.

1:5 love. Or "faithful love," the quality that honors a covenant through thick and thin.

1:6 praying before you day and night. Cf. Ps 42:3; 88:1; Jer 9:1; 14:17; La 2:18; Lk 2:37; 1Th 3:10; 1Ti 5:5; 2Ti 1:3. sins ... myself and my father's house. Nehemiah does not exclude himself or members of his own family in his confession of sins. A true sense of the awesome holiness of God reveals the depths of our own sinfulness (Isa 6:1–5; Lk 5:8).

1:7 commands, decrees and laws. See note on Ge 26:5. Moses. For the prominence of the law of Moses in Ezra and Nehemiah see Ezr 3:2; 6:18; 7:6; Ne 1:8; 8:1,14; 9:14; 10:29; 13:1.

1:8 Remember. See note on 13:31; a key word in the book (4:14; 5:19; 6:14; 13:14,22,29,31). unfaithful ... scatter. Dispersion was the inescapable consequence of the people's unfaithfulness. By the NT period there were still more Jews in the Diaspora (dispersion) than in the Holy Land.

1:9 I will gather them. See Dt 30:1–5; a frequent promise, especially in the prophets (e.g., Isa 11:12; Jer 23:3; 31:8–10; Eze 20:34,41; 36:24; Mic 2:12). chosen as a dwelling for my Name. See Dt 12:5 and note; Ps 132:13.

1:10 your people ... you redeemed. Although they had sinned and failed, they were still God's people by virtue of his redeeming them (see Dt 4:34; 9:29).

1:11 Give your servant success today. Cf. Ge 24:12. cupbearer. Lit. "one who gives (someone) something to drink." The Hebrew for this word occurs 11 other times in the OT in the sense of "cupbearer" (Ge 40:1–2,5,9,13,20–21,23; 41:9; 1Ki 10:5; 2Ch 9:4). According to the Greek historian Xenophon (Cyropaedia, 1.3.9), one of the cupbearer's duties was to choose and taste the king's wine to make certain that it was not poisoned (see 2:1). Thus Nehemiah had to be a man who enjoyed the unreserved confidence of the king. The need for trustworthy court attendants is underscored by the intrigues that characterized the Achaemenid court of Persia. Xerxes, the father of Artaxerxes I, was killed in his own bedchamber by a courtier.

of your servants who delight in revering your name. Give your servant success today by granting him favor[t] in the presence of this man."

I was cupbearer[u] to the king.

Artaxerxes Sends Nehemiah to Jerusalem

2 In the month of Nisan in the twentieth year of King Artaxerxes,[v] when wine was brought for him, I took the wine and gave it to the king. I had not been sad in his presence before; [2]so the king asked me, "Why does your face look so sad when you are not ill? This can be nothing but sadness of heart."

I was very much afraid, [3]but I said to the king, "May the king live forever![w] Why should my face not look sad when the city[x] where my fathers are buried lies in ruins, and its gates have been destroyed by fire?[y]"

[4]The king said to me, "What is it you want?"

Then I prayed to the God of heaven, [5]and I answered the king, "If it pleases the king and if your servant has found favor in his sight, let him send me to the city in Judah where my fathers are buried so that I can rebuild it."

[6]Then the king[z], with the queen sitting beside him, asked me, "How long will your journey take, and when will you get back?" It pleased the king to send me; so I set a time.

[7]I also said to him, "If it pleases the king, may I have letters to the governors of Trans-Euphrates,[a] so that they will provide me safe-conduct until I arrive in Judah? [8]And may I have a letter to Asaph, keeper of the king's forest, so he will give me timber to make beams for the gates of the citadel[b] by the temple and for the city wall and for the residence I will occupy?" And because the gracious hand of my God was upon me,[c] the king granted my requests.[d]

[9]So I went to the governors of Trans-Euphrates and gave them the king's letters. The king had also sent army officers and cavalry[e] with me.

2:1 Nisan ... twentieth year. March-April, 444 B.C. (see chart on "Chronology: Ezra-Nehemiah," p. 667. There was a delay of four months from Kislev, when Nehemiah first heard the news (1:1), to Nisan, when he approached the king. Various reasons have been suggested: 1. The king may have been in his other winter palace at Babylon. 2. Perhaps the king was not in the right mood. 3. Even though Nehemiah was a favorite of the king, he would not have rashly blurted out his request. sad in his presence. No matter what one's personal problems were, the king's servants were expected to keep their feelings to themselves and to display a cheerful disposition before him.

2:3 May the king live forever! A common form of address to kings. city. Nehemiah does not mention Jerusalem by name (see v. 5); he may have wished to arouse the king's sympathy by stressing first the desecration of ancestral tombs.

2:4 I prayed to the God of heaven. Before turning to answer the king, Nehemiah utters a brief, spontaneous prayer to God. One of Nehemiah's striking characteristics is his frequent recourse to prayer (1:4; 4:4,9; 5:19; 6:9,14; 13:14,22,29,31).

2:6 queen. The Hebrew for this word is used only here and in Ps 45:9 ("royal bride"). It is a loanword from Akkadian and means lit. "(woman) of the palace." The Aramaic equivalent is found only in Da 5:2–3,23, where it is translated "wives." Ctesias, a Greek who lived at the Achaemenid court, informs us that the name of Artaxerxes's queen was Damaspia and that he had at least three concubines. Like Esther, Damaspia may have used her influence with the king (Est 5). The Achaemenid court was notorious for the great influence exercised by the royal women. Especially domineering was Amestris, the cruel wife of Xerxes and mother of Artaxerxes I. How long will your journey take ... ? Nehemiah probably asked for a brief leave of absence, which he then had extended. We can infer from 5:14 that he spent 12 years on his first term as governor of Judah. In the 32nd year of Artaxerxes, Nehemiah returned to report to the king and then came back to Judah for a second term (13:6–7).

2:7 letters. A contemporary document from Arsames, the satrap of Egypt who was at the Persian court, to one of his officers who was returning to Egypt orders Persian officials to provide him with food and drink on the stages of his journey. Trans-Euphrates. See note on Ezr 4:10.

2:8 forest. The Hebrew for this word is pardes, a loanword from Old Persian meaning "enclosure," a pleasant retreat or park. The word occurs elsewhere in the OT only in Ecc 2:5 ("parks") and SS 4:13 ("orchard"). In the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) the Greek transliteration paradeisos is used here. In the period between the OT and the NT, the word acquired the sense of the abode of the blessed dead, i.e., "paradise." It appears three times in the NT (Lk 23:43; 2Co 12:4; Rev 2:7). As to the location of the "king's forest," some believe that it was in Lebanon, which was famed for its forests of cedars and other coniferous trees (see notes on Jdg 9:15; Ezr 3:7). But a more plausible suggestion is that it should be identified with Solomon's gardens at Etham, about six miles south of Jerusalem (see Josephus, Antiquities, 8.7.3). For city gates, costly imported cedars from Lebanon would not be used but rather indigenous oak, poplar or terebinth (Hos 4:13). citadel. Probably refers to the fortress north of the temple, the forerunner of the Antonia fortress built by Herod the Great (Josephus, Antiquities, 15.11.4; see Ac 21:34,37; 22:24).

2:9 army officers and cavalry. In striking contrast to Ezra (see note on Ezr 8:22), Nehemiah was accompanied by an armed escort since he was officially Judah's governor.

2:10 Sanballat. A Babylonian name, meaning "Sin (the moon-god) has given life." Horonite. Identifies

NEHEMIAH

NAME MEANS: "The LORD comforts"
OCCUPATION: Cupbearer to King Artaxerxes I, leader of the Israelites at Jerusalem
BEST KNOWN FOR:

- being a man of religious devotion and prayer
- his ability to motivate others
- leading the rebuilding of the wall around Jerusalem (took only 52 days)

Tobiah[g] the Ammonite official heard about this, they were very much disturbed that someone had come to promote the welfare of the Israelites.[h]

Nehemiah Inspects Jerusalem's Walls

11I went to Jerusalem, and after staying there three days[i] 12I set out during the night with a few men. I had not told anyone what my God had put in my heart to do for Jerusalem. There were no mounts with me except the one I was riding on.

13By night I went out through the Valley Gate[j] toward the Jackal[a] Well and the Dung Gate,[k] examining the walls[l] of Jerusalem, which had been broken down, and its gates, which had been him as coming from (1) Hauran (Eze 47:16,18), east of the Sea of Galilee, (2) Horonaim, in Moab (Jer 48:34), or, most probably, (3) either Upper or Lower Beth Horon, two key cities 12 miles northwest of Jerusalem, which guarded the main road to Jerusalem (Jos 10:10; 16:3,5; 1 Maccabees 3:16; 7:39). Sanballat was the chief political opponent of Nehemiah (v. 19; 4:1,7; 6:1–2,5,12,14; 13:28). He held the position of governor over Samaria (cf. 4:1–2). An Elephantine papyrus letter of the late fifth century B.C. to Bagohi (Bigvai), governor of Judah, refers to "Delaiah and Shelemiah, the sons of Sanballat, governor of Samaria." In 1962 a fourth-century B.C. papyrus was found in a cave north of Jericho, listing the name Sanballat, probably a descendant of Nehemiah's contemporary. Tobiah. Means "The LORD is good." He was probably a worshiper of the Lord (Yahweh), as indicated not only by his name but also by that of his son Jehohanan (6:17–18), meaning "The LORD is gracious." Jehohanan was married to the daughter of Meshullam son of Berekiah, the leader of one of the groups repairing the wall (3:4,30; 6:18). Tobiah also had a close relationship with Eliashib the priest (13:4–7). Ammonite. See Ezr 9:1; see also note on Ge 19:36–38. Tobiah was probably governor of Transjordan under the Persians. In later generations a prominent family bearing the name of Tobiah was sometimes associated with the region of Ammon in non-Biblical texts. very much disturbed. The reasons for the opposition of Sanballat and Tobiah were not basically religious but political. The authority of the Samaritan governor in particular was threatened by Nehemiah's arrival.

2:11 three days. See note on Ezr 8:32.

2:12 Nehemiah was cautious and discreet as he inspected the city's fortifications. one I was riding on. Probably a mule or donkey.

2:13 Nehemiah did not make a complete circuit of the walls, but only of the southern area (see map below). Jerusalem was always attacked from the north because it was most vulnerable there, so the walls had probably been completely destroyed in that part of the city. Valley Gate. See 3:13. According to 2Ch 26:9 Uzziah fortified towers in the west wall, which overlooked the Tyropoeon Valley, i.e., the central valley between the Hinnom and Kidron valleys. Excavations in 1927–28 uncovered the remains of a gate from the Persian period, which has been identified as the Valley Gate. Jackal Well. Many scholars suggest that this was En Rogel (Jos 15:7–8; 18:16; 2Sa 17:17; 1Ki 1:9), a well situated at the junction of the Hinnom and Kidron valleys, 250 yards south of the southeast ridge of Jerusalem. Others suggest that it was the Pool of Siloam. Dung Gate. Perhaps the gate leading to the rubbish dump in the Hinnom Valley (cf. 3:13–14; 12:31; 2Ki 23:10). It after 458 B.C.

A smaller city was rebuilt, with new walls higher on the eastern hill. Temple worship was restored in a rebuilt temple on the former site. Rebuilding on the western hill may have begun.

destroyed by fire. 14Then I moved on toward the Fountain Gate[m] and the King's Pool,[n] but there was not enough room for my mount to get through; 15so I went up the valley by night, examining the wall. Finally, I turned back and reentered through the Valley Gate. 16The officials did not know where I had gone or what I was doing, because as yet I had said nothing to the Jews or the priests or nobles or officials or any others who would be doing the work.

17Then I said to them, "You see the trouble we are in: Jerusalem lies in ruins, and its gates have been burned with fire.[o] Come, let us rebuild the wall[p] of Jerusalem, and we will no longer be in disgrace.[q]" 18I also told them about the gracious hand of my God upon me[r] and what the king had said to me.

They replied, "Let us start rebuilding." So they began this good work.

19But when Sanballat[s] the Horonite, Tobiah the Ammonite official and Geshem[t] the Arab heard about it, they mocked and ridiculed us.[u] "What is this you are doing?" they asked. "Are you rebelling against the king?"

20I answered them by saying, "The God of heaven will give us success. We his servants will start rebuilding,[v] but as for you, you have no share[w] in Jerusalem or any claim or historic right to it."

Builders of the Wall

3 Eliashib[x] the high priest and his fellow priests went to work and rebuilt[y] the Sheep Gate.[z] They dedicated it and set its doors in place, building as far as the Tower of the Hundred, which they dedicated, and as far as the Tower of Hananel.[a] 2The men of Jericho[b] built the adjoining section, and Zaccur son of Imri built next to them.

3The Fish Gate[c] was rebuilt by the sons of Hassenaah. They laid its beams and put its doors and bolts and bars in place. 4Meremoth[d] son of Uriah, the son of Hakkoz, repaired the next section. Next to him Meshullam son of Berekiah, the son of Meshezabel, made repairs, and next to him Zadok son of Baana also made repairs. 5The next section was re-was situated about 500 yards south of the Valley Gate (3:13).

2:14 Fountain Gate. Possibly in the southeast wall facing toward En Rogel (see 3:15; 12:37). King's Pool. Hezekiah may have diverted the overflow from his Siloam tunnel (cf. 2Ki 20:20; 2Ch 32:30) to irrigate the royal gardens (2Ki 25:4) located outside the city walls at the junction of the Kidron and Hinnom valleys. The King's Pool was probably therefore the Pool of Siloam (3:15) or the adjacent Birket el-Hamra. not enough room. Possibly because of the collapse of the supporting terraces (cf. 2Sa 5:9; 1Ki 9:15,24) on the east side of the city.

2:15 valley. The Kidron.

2:16 nobles. The Hebrew root for this word means "free" (see 4:14,19; 5:7; 6:17; 7:5; 13:17; see also note on 3:5).

2:17 ruins. The condition of the walls and gates of the city since their destruction by Nebuchadnezzar in 586 B.C., in spite of abortive attempts to rebuild them. The leaders and people had evidently become reconciled to this sad state of affairs. It took an outsider to assess the situation and to rally them to renewed efforts.

2:18 my God ... and ... the king. Nehemiah could personally attest that God was alive and active in his behalf and that he (Nehemiah) had come with royal sanction and authority.

2:19 Sanballat ... Tobiah. See note on v. 10. Geshem. Inscriptions from Dedan in northwest Arabia and from Tell el-Maskhutah near Ismailia in Egypt bear the name of Geshem, who may have been in charge of a north Arabian confederacy that controlled vast areas from northeast Egypt to northern Arabia, including the southern part of the Holy Land. Geshem may have been opposed to Nehemiah's development of an independent kingdom because he feared that it might interfere with his lucrative spice trade. Arab. See 2Ch 9:14; Isa 21:13; Jer 25:24. Arabs became dominant in Transjordan from the Assyrian to the Persian periods. Sargon II of Assyria resettled some Arabs in Samaria in 715 B.C. Classical sources reveal that the Arabs enjoyed a favored status under the Persians.

3:1–32 One of the most important chapters in the OT for determining the topography of Jerusalem (see map No. 8 at the end of the study Bible). The narrative begins at the Sheep Gate (northeast corner of the city) and proceeds in a counterclockwise direction around the wall. About 40 key men are named as participants in the reconstruction of about 45 sections. The towns listed as the homes of the builders may have represented the administrative centers of the province of Judah. Ten gates are named: (1) Sheep Gate (v. 1), (2) Fish Gate (v. 3), (3) Jeshanah Gate (v. 6), (4) Valley Gate (v. 13), (5) Dung Gate (v. 14), (6) Fountain Gate (v. 15), (7) Water Gate (v. 26), (8) Horse Gate (v. 28), (9) East Gate (v. 29), (10) Inspection Gate (v. 31). The account suggests that most of the rebuilding was concerned with the gates, where the enemy's assaults were always concentrated. Not all the sections of the walls or buildings in Jerusalem were in the same state of disrepair. A selective policy of destruction seems to be indicated by 2Ki 25:9.

3:1 Eliashib the high priest. It was fitting that the high priest should set the example. Among the ancient Sumerians the king himself would carry bricks for the building of a temple. Sheep Gate. See v. 32; 12:39. It was known in NT times (Jn 5:2) as located near the Bethesda Pool (in the northeast corner of Jerusalem). Even today a sheep market is held periodically near this area. The Sheep Gate may have replaced the earlier Benjamin Gate (Jer 37:13; 38:7; Zec 14:10). Tower of the Hundred. See 12:39. "Hundred" may refer to (1) its height (100 cubits), (2) the number of its steps or (3) a military unit (cf. Dt 1:15). Tower of Hananel. The towers were associated with the "citadel by the temple" (2:8) in protecting the vulnerable northern approaches to the city.

3:3 Fish Gate. See 12:39. During the days of the first temple, it was one of Jerusalem's main entrances (2Ch 33:14; Zep 1:10). Merchants brought fish from either Tyre or the Sea of Galilee to the fish market (13:16) through this entrance, which may have been located close to the site of the present-day Damascus Gate.

3:4 Meremoth. See note on Ezr 8:33. Meshullam. Repaired a second section (v. 30). Nehemiah complained that Meshullam had given his daughter in marriage to a son of Tobiah (see 6:17–18 and note on 2:10).

3:5 Tekoa. A small town about 6 miles south of Bethle-paired by the men of Tekoa,[e] but their nobles would not put their shoulders to the work under their supervisors.[b]

[6]The Jeshanah[c] Gate[f] was repaired by Joiada son of Paseah and Meshullam son of Besodeiah. They laid its beams and put its doors and bolts and bars in place. [7]Next to them, repairs were made by men from Gibeon[g] and Mizpah—Melatiah of Gibeon and Jadon of Meronoth—places under the authority of the governor of Trans-Euphrates. [8]Uzziel son of Harhaiah, one of the goldsmiths, repaired the next section; and Hananiah, one of the perfume-makers, made repairs next to that. They restored[d] Jerusalem as far as the Broad Wall.[h] [9]Rephaiah son of Hur, ruler of a half-district of Jerusalem, repaired the next section. [10]Adjoining this, Jedaiah son of Harumaph made repairs opposite his house, and Hattush son of Hashabneiah made repairs next to him. [11]Malkijah son of Harim and Hasshub son of Pahath-Moab repaired another section and the Tower of the Ovens.[i] [12]Shallum son of Hallohesh, ruler of a half-district of Jerusalem, repaired the next section with the help of his daughters.

[13]The Valley Gate[j] was repaired by Hanun and the residents of Zanoah.[k] They rebuilt it and put its doors and bolts and bars in place. They also repaired five hundred yards[e] of the wall as far as the Dung Gate.[l]

[14]The Dung Gate was repaired by Malkijah son of Recab, ruler of the district of Beth Hakkerem.[m] He rebuilt it and put its doors and bolts and bars in place.

[15]The Fountain Gate was repaired by Shallun son of Col-Hozeh, ruler of the district of Mizpah. He rebuilt it, roofing it over and putting its doors and bolts and bars in place. He also repaired the wall of the Pool of Siloam,[fn] by the King's Garden, as far as the steps going down from the City of David. [16]Beyond him, Nehemiah son of Azbuk, ruler of a half-district of Beth Zur,[o] made repairs up to a point opposite the tombs[gp] of David, as far as the artificial pool and the House of the Heroes.

[17]Next to him, the repairs were made by the Levites under Rehum son of Bani. Beside him, Hashabiah, ruler of half the district of Keilah,[q] carried out repairs for his district. [18]Next to him, the repairs were made by their countrymen under Binnui[h] son of Henadad, ruler of the other half-district of Keilah. [19]Next to

It was the hometown of the prophet Amos. nobles. The Hebrew for this word is different from that in 2:16 (see note there) and means "mighty" or "magnificent" (see 10:29; 2Ch 23:20; Jer 14:3). These aristocrats disdained manual labor. shoulders. Lit. "back of the neck." The expression is drawn from the imagery of oxen that refuse to yield to the yoke (Jer 27:12).

3:6 Jeshanah Gate. In the northwest corner. Its name has been interpreted to mean Old Gate (see NIV text note), or gate to Jeshanah (lying on the border between Judah and Samaria, 2Ch 13:19), or as a corruption of Mishneh (the Hebrew word for "New Quarter"; see Zep 1:10) Gate. In any case, it may be another name for the Gate of Ephraim (see 12:39), which otherwise is not mentioned in ch. 3.

3:7 authority. Lit. "throne," which symbolizes authority here.

3:8 goldsmiths. See vv. 31–32. perfume-makers. See 1Sa 8:13. Broad Wall. See 12:38. In 1970–71 archaeological excavations in Jerusalem uncovered such a wall west of the temple area. It is dated to the early seventh century B.C. and was probably built by Hezekiah (2Ch 32:5). The expansion to and beyond the Broad Wall may have become necessary because of the influx of refugees fleeing from the fall of Samaria in 722–721.

3:10 Jedaiah ... made repairs opposite his house. See vv. 23,28–30. It made sense to have him and others repair the sections of the wall nearest their homes.

3:11 Tower of the Ovens. It was on the western wall, perhaps in the same location as one built by Uzziah (2Ch 26:9). The ovens may have been those situated in the "street of the bakers" (Jer 37:21).

3:12 daughters. A unique reference to women working on the wall. When the Athenians attempted to rebuild their walls after the Persians had destroyed them, it was decreed that "the whole population of the city—men, women and children—should take part in the wall-building" (Thucydides, 1.90.3).

3:13 Valley Gate. See note on 2:13. five hundred yards. An extraordinary length; probably most of the section was relatively intact. Dung Gate. See note on 2:13.

3:14 Beth Hakkerem. Means "house of the vineyard." It was a fire-signal point (Jer 6:1) and is identified with Ramat Rahel, two miles south of Jerusalem. It may have been the residence of a district governor in the Persian period.

3:15 Fountain Gate. See note on 2:14. Pool of Siloam. Perhaps the Lower Pool of Isa 22:9 (see note on Isa 8:6). King's Garden. See note on 2:14. City of David. See 12:37; see also note on 2Sa 5:7.

3:16 Beth Zur. A district capital, 13 miles south of Jerusalem. Excavations in 1931 and 1957 revealed that occupation was sparse during the early Persian period but was resumed in the fifth century B.C. tombs of David. Cf. 2:5. David was buried in the city area (1Ki 2:10; 2Ch 21:20; 32:33; Ac 2:29). The so-called Tomb of David on Mount Zion venerated today by Jewish pilgrims is in the Coenaculum building, erected in the 14th century A.D. Such a site for David's tomb is mentioned no earlier than the ninth century A.D. House of the Heroes. May have been the house of David's mighty men (see 2Sa 23:8–39), which perhaps served later as the barracks or armory.

3:17–18 Keilah. Located about 15 miles southwest of Jerusalem, it played an important role in David's early history (1Sa 23:1–13).

3:19 armory. See note on v. 16.

him, Ezer son of Jeshua, ruler of Mizpah, repaired another section, from a point facing the ascent to the armory as far as the angle. [20]Next to him, Baruch son of Zabbai zealously repaired another section, from the angle to the entrance of the house of Eliashib the high priest. [21]Next to him, Meremoth[r] son of Uriah, the son of Hakkoz, repaired another section, from the entrance of Eliashib's house to the end of it.

[22]The repairs next to him were made by the priests from the surrounding region. [23]Beyond them, Benjamin and Hasshub made repairs in front of their house; and next to them, Azariah son of Maaseiah, the son of Ananiah, made repairs beside his house. [24]Next to him, Binnui[s] son of Henadad repaired another section, from Azariah's house to the angle and the corner, [25]and Palal son of Uzai worked opposite the angle and the tower projecting from the upper palace near the court of the guard.[t] Next to him, Pedaiah son of Parosh[u] [26]and the temple servants[v] living on the hill of Ophel[w] made repairs up to a point opposite the Water Gate[x] toward the east and the projecting tower. [27]Next to them, the men of Tekoa[y] repaired another section, from the great projecting tower[z] to the wall of Ophel.

[28]Above the Horse Gate,[a] the priests made repairs, each in front of his own house. [29]Next to them, Zadok son of Immer made repairs opposite his house. Next to him, Shemaiah son of Shecaniah, the guard at the East Gate, made repairs. [30]Next to him, Hananiah son of Shelemiah, and Hanun, the sixth son of Zalaph, repaired another section. Next to them, Meshullam son of Berekiah made repairs opposite his living quarters. [31]Next to him, Malkijah, one of the goldsmiths, made repairs as far as the house of the temple servants and the merchants, opposite the Inspection Gate, and as far as the room above the corner; [32]and between the room above the corner and the Sheep Gate[b] the goldsmiths and merchants made repairs.

Opposition to the Rebuilding

4 When Sanballat[c] heard that we were rebuilding the wall, he became angry and was greatly incensed. He ridiculed the Jews, [2]and in the presence of his associates[d] and the army of Samaria, he said, "What are those feeble Jews doing? Will they restore their wall? Will they offer sacrifices? Will they finish in a day? Can they bring the stones back to life from those heaps of rubble[e]—burned as they are?"

[3]Tobiah[f] the Ammonite, who was at his side, said, "What they are building—if even a fox climbed up on it, he would break down their wall of stones!"[g]

[4]Hear us, O our God, for we are despised.[h] Turn their insults back on their own heads. Give them over as plunder in a land of captivity. [5]Do not cover up their guilt[i] or blot out their sins from your sight,[j] for they have thrown insults in the face of[i] the builders.

[6]So we rebuilt the wall till all of it reached half its height, for the people worked with all their heart.

[7]But when Sanballat, Tobiah,[k] the Arabs, the Ammonites and the men of Ashdod heard that the repairs to Jerusalem's walls had gone ahead and that the

3:20–21 The residences of the high priest and his fellow priests were located inside the city along the eastern wall.
3:25 upper palace. Perhaps the old palace of David (see 12:37). Like Solomon's palace, it would have had a guardhouse (Jer 32:2).
3:26 Ophel. See v. 27. The word means "swelling" or "bulge," hence a (fortified) "hill" (as in Mic 4:8; see NIV text note there), specifically the northern part of the southeastern hill of Jerusalem, which formed the original City of David, just south of the temple area (2Ch 27:3). Water Gate. So called because it led to the main source of Jerusalem's water, the Gihon spring. It must have opened onto a large area, for the reading of the Law took place there (8:1,3,16; 12:37). projecting tower. Perhaps the large tower whose ruins were discovered by archaeologists on the crest of the Ophel hill in 1923–25. Excavations at the base of the tower in 1978 revealed a level dating to the Persian era.
3:27 men of Tekoa. The common people of Tekoa did double duty, whereas the nobles of Tekoa shirked their responsibility (see note on v. 5).
3:28 Horse Gate. Where Athaliah was slain (2Ch 23:15). It may have been the easternmost point in the city wall—a gate through which one could reach the Kidron Valley (Jer 31:40).
3:29 East Gate. May have been the predecessor of the present Golden Gate.
3:31 goldsmiths. See v. 8. Inspection Gate. In the northern part of the eastern wall.
3:32 Sheep Gate. Back to the point of departure (see v. 1).
4:2 he said. Disputes between rival Persian governors were frequent. Sanballat asked several derisive questions to taunt the Jews and to discourage them in their efforts. burned. Fire had damaged the stones, which were probably limestone, and had caused many of them to crack and crumble.
4:3 fox. See Jdg 15:4; SS 2:15. The Hebrew for this word may also mean "jackal" (Ps 63:10; La 5:18; Eze 13:4). The jackal normally hunts in packs, whereas the fox is usually a nocturnal and solitary animal.
4:4–5 As in the so-called imprecatory psalms (Ps 79:12; 83; 94:1–3; 109:14; 137:7–9), Nehemiah does not himself take action against his opponents but calls down on them redress from God. In v. 5 Nehemiah's prayer echoes the language of Jer 18:23.
4:7 Ashdod. See note on Isa 20:1. It became a district capital under Persian rule.

gaps were being closed, they were very angry. 8They all plotted together[l] to come and fight against Jerusalem and stir up trouble against it. 9But we prayed to our God and posted a guard day and night to meet this threat.

10Meanwhile, the people in Judah said, "The strength of the laborers[m] is giving out, and there is so much rubble that we cannot rebuild the wall."

11Also our enemies said, "Before they know it or see us, we will be right there among them and will kill them and put an end to the work."

12Then the Jews who lived near them came and told us ten times over, "Wherever you turn, they will attack us."

13Therefore I stationed some of the people behind the lowest points of the wall at the exposed places, posting them by families, with their swords, spears and bows. 14After I looked things over, I stood up and said to the nobles, the officials and the rest of the people, "Don't be afraid[n] of them. Remember[o] the Lord, who is great and awesome,[p] and fight[q] for your brothers, your sons and your daughters, your wives and your homes."

15When our enemies heard that we were aware of their plot and that God had frustrated it,[r] we all returned to the wall, each to his own work.

16From that day on, half of my men did the work, while the other half were equipped with spears, shields, bows and armor. The officers posted themselves behind all the people of Judah 17who were building the wall. Those who carried materials did their work with one hand and held a weapon[s] in the other, 18and each of the builders wore his sword at his side as he worked. But the man who sounded the trumpet[t] stayed with me.

19Then I said to the nobles, the officials and the rest of the people, "The work is extensive and spread out, and we are widely separated from each other along the wall. 20Wherever you hear the sound of the trumpet,[u] join us there. Our God will fight[v] for us!"

21So we continued the work with half the men holding spears, from the first light of dawn till the stars came out. 22At that time I also said to the people, "Have every man and his helper stay inside Jerusalem at night, so they can serve us as guards by night and workmen by day." 23Neither I nor my brothers nor my men nor the guards with me took off our clothes; each had his weapon, even when he went for water.[j]

Nehemiah Helps the Poor

5 Now the men and their wives raised a great outcry against their Jewish brothers. 2Some were saying, "We and our sons and daughters are numerous; in
