[b] 1 Or believers who are [c] 4,5 Or sight in love. [5]He [d] 8,9 Or us. With all wisdom and understanding, [9]he [e] 11 Or were made heirs

1:1 apostle. One specially commissioned by Christ (see notes on Mk 6:30; 1Co 1:1; Heb 3:1). by the will of God. Paul not only stresses his authority under God, but also anticipates the strong emphasis he will make later in this chapter and book on God's sovereign plan and purpose. in Ephesus. See NIV text note. The book may have been intended as a circular letter to several churches, including the one at Ephesus (see notes on v. 15; 6:21–23; Ac 19:10).

1:2 Grace and peace. Although these words were commonly used in the greetings of secular letters, the words that follow show that Paul intended a spiritual dimension. He uses the word "grace" 12 times and "peace" 8 times in Ephesians.

1:3–14 All one sentence in Greek, this section is often called a "doxology" because it recites what God has done and is an expression of worship to honor him. Paul speaks first of the blessings we have through the Father (v. 3), then of those that come through the Son (vv. 4–13a) and finally of those through the Holy Spirit (1:13b–14).

1:3 Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus' relation to God the Father is unique (see Jn 20:17 and note). blessed . . . blessing. Jewish people used the word "bless" to express both God's kindness to us and our thanks or praise to him. heavenly realms. Occurs five times in Ephesians, emphasizing Paul's perception that in the exaltation of Christ (his resurrection and enthronement at God's right hand) and in the Christian's union with the exalted Christ ultimate issues are involved—issues that pertain to the divine realm and that in the final analysis are worked out in and from that realm. At stake are God's eternal eschatological purpose (3:11) and the titanic conflict between God and the powerful spiritual forces arrayed against him—a purpose and a conflict that come to focus in the history of redemption. Here (v. 3) Paul asserts that, through their union with the exalted Christ, Christians have already been made beneficiaries of every spiritual blessing that belongs to and comes from the heavenly realm. In vv. 20–22, he proclaims Christ's exaltation to that realm and his elevation over all other powers and titles so that he rules over all for the sake of his church. According to 2:6, those who have been "made alive with Christ" share in Christ's exaltation and enthronement in heaven. Thus (3:10) by the gathering of Gentiles and Jews into one body of Christ (the church), God triumphantly displays his "manifold wisdom" to the "rulers and authorities" in the heavenly realm. As a result, the spiritual struggle of the saints here and now is not so much against "flesh and blood" as against the great spiritual forces that war against God in heaven (6:12). in Christ. This phrase (or one like it) occurs 12 times in vv. 3–12. It refers to the spiritual union of Christ with believers, which Paul often symbolizes by the metaphor "body of Christ" (see, e.g., v. 23; 2:16; 4:4,12,16; 5:23,30).

1:4 chose. Divine election is a constant theme in Paul's letters (Ro 8:29–33; 9:6–26; 11:5,7,28; 16:13; Col 3:12; 1Th 1:4; 2Th 2:13; Tit 1:1). In this chapter it is emphasized in the following ways: (1) "he chose us" (here); (2) "he predestined us" (v. 5); (3) "we were also chosen" (v. 11); (4) "having been predestined" (v. 11). before the creation of the world. See Jn 17:24. holy and blameless. See 5:27 for the same pair of words. Holiness is the result—not the basis—of God's choosing. It refers both to the holiness imparted to the believer because of Christ and to the believer's personal sanctification (see note on 1Co 1:2). In love. See NIV text note on vv. 4–5; cf. 3:17; 4:2,15–16; 5:2.

1:5 adopted. See note on Ro 8:23.

1:6 to the praise. See vv. 12,14. Election is for God's glory.

1:7 redemption. See v. 14; 4:30; Ro 3:24; Tit 2:14. The Ephesians were familiar with the Greco-Roman practice of redemption: Slaves were freed by the payment of a ransom. Similarly, the ransom necessary to free sinners from the bondage of sin and the resulting curse imposed by the law (see Gal 3:13) was the death of Christ (called here "his blood"). through his blood. Cf. 2:13; 1Pe 1:18–19.

1:9 mystery. See notes on Ro 11:25; Col 1:26.

1:10 to bring . . . under one head. Paul uses a significant term here that not only has the idea of leadership but also was often used of adding up a column of figures. A contemporary way of putting it might be to say that in a world of confusion, where things do not "add up" or make sense, we look forward to the time when everything will be brought into meaningful relationship under the headship of Christ.

1:11 In him. Christ is the center of God's plan. Whether the universe or the individual Christian is in view, it is only in relationship to Christ that there is a meaningful future destiny. Paul goes on to speak, not of the world as a whole, but of those who respond to God's call.

1:12 we, who were the first to hope in Christ. Probably a reference to those Jews who, like Paul, had become believers before many Gentiles had.

praise of his glory.[a] 13And you also were included in Christ[b] when you heard the word of truth,[c] the gospel of your salvation. Having believed, you were marked in him with a seal,[d] the promised Holy Spirit,[e] 14who is a deposit guaranteeing our inheritance[f] until the redemption[g] of those who are God's possession—to the praise of his glory.[h]

Thanksgiving and Prayer

15For this reason, ever since I heard about your faith in the Lord Jesus[i] and your love for all the saints,[j] 16I have not stopped giving thanks for you,[k] remembering you in my prayers.[l] 17I keep asking that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the glorious Father,[m] may give you the Spirit[t] of wisdom[n] and revelation, so that you may know him better. 18I pray also that the eyes of your heart may be enlightened[o] in order that you may know the hope to which he has called[p] you, the riches[q] of his glorious inheritance[r] in the saints,[s] 19and his incomparably great power for us who believe. That power[t] is like the working of his mighty strength,[u] 20which he exerted in Christ when he raised him from the dead[v] and seated him at his right hand[w] in the heavenly realms,[x] 21far above all rule and authority, power and dominion,[y] and every title[z] that can be given, not only in the present age but also in the one to come.[a] 22And God placed all things under his feet[b] and appointed him to be head[c] over everything for the church, 23which is his body,[d] the fullness of him[e] who fills everything in every way.[f]

Made Alive in Christ

2 As for you, you were dead in your transgressions and sins,[g] 2in which you used to live[h] when you followed the ways of this world[i] and of the ruler of the kingdom of the air,[j] the spirit who is now at work in those who are disobedient.[k] 3All of us also lived among them at one time,[l] gratifying the cravings of our sinful nature[g,m] and following its desires and thoughts. Like the rest, we were by nature objects of wrath. 4But because of his great love for us,[n] God, who is rich in mercy, 5made us alive with Christ even when we were dead in transgressions[o]—it is by grace you have been saved.[p] 6And God raised us up with Christ[q] and seated us with him[r] in the heavenly realms[s] in Christ Jesus, 7in order that in the coming ages he might show the incomparable riches

f17 Or a spirit g3 Or our flesh

1:13 And you also. Probably refers to the majority of the Ephesians, who were Gentiles. marked . . . with a seal. In those days a seal denoted ownership.

1:14 deposit. See note on Ro 8:23.

1:15 ever since I heard. This sounds strange from one who had spent a few years in Ephesus. He may be referring to a greatly enlarged church there, many of whom Paul did not know, or, if Ephesians was intended as a circular letter (see note on v. 1), he may be referring to news from the whole area, only a part of which he had visited.

1:17 God of our Lord Jesus Christ. See note on v. 3. him. God the Father.

1:18 eyes of your heart. Your mind or understanding or inner awareness. hope. Has an objective quality of certainty (see Ro 8:25). It is the assurance of eternal life guaranteed by the present possession of the Holy Spirit (see v. 14). called. See Php 3:14; 2Ti 1:9; Heb 3:1. his glorious inheritance in the saints. Either the inheritance we have from God (see v. 14; Col 1:12) or the inheritance God receives, i.e., the saints themselves. saints. Those whom God has called to be his own people, i.e., all Christians (see vv. 1,15). The word carried the idea of dedication to a deity.

1:19 In this verse Paul piles term upon term to emphasize that the extraordinary divine force by which Jesus Christ was raised (v. 20) is the same power at work in and through believers.

1:20 right hand. The symbolic place of highest honor and authority.

1:21 all rule . . . every title that can be given. Including whatever supernatural beings his contemporaries might conceive of, for in his day many people believed not only in the existence of angels and demons, but also in that of other beings. Christ is above them all. the present age . . . the one to come. Like the rabbinic teachers of his day, Paul distinguishes between the present age, which is evil, and the future age when the Messiah will consummate his kingdom and there will be a completely righteous society on earth.

1:22 under his feet. Ps 8:5–6 emphasizes the destiny of man, and Heb 2:6–9 shows that ultimately it is the Son of Man who rules over everything (cf. Heb 10:13). head. Christ is not only head of the church, but also head over everything (see note on v. 10).

1:23 his body. See 2:16; 4:4,12,16; 5:23,30. fullness . . . fills. The church is the fullness of Christ probably in the sense that it is filled by him who fills all things.

2:1–10 In ch. 1 Paul wrote of the great purposes and plan of God, culminating in the universal headship of Christ (1:10), all of which is to be for "the praise of his glory" (1:14). He now proceeds to explain the steps by which God will accomplish his purposes, beginning with the salvation of individuals.

2:1 A description of their past moral and spiritual condition, separated from the life of God.

2:2 ruler. Satan (cf. Jn 14:30, "prince"). air. Satan is no mere earthbound enemy (cf. 6:12). spirit. Satan is a created, but not a human, being (cf. Job 1:6; Eze 28:15; see note on Isa 14:12–15).

2:3 All of us. Jews and Gentiles. objects of wrath. See Ro 1:18–20; 2:5; 9:22.

2:5 made us alive with Christ. This truth is expanded in Ro 6:1–10.

2:6 heavenly realms. See note on 1:3. in Christ Jesus. Through our union with Christ.

2:7 coming ages. Cf. 1:21; probably refers to the future of eternal blessing with Christ. show. Or "exhibit" or "prove."

of his grace,[t] expressed in his kindness[u] to us in Christ Jesus. [8]For it is by grace[v] you have been saved,[w] through faith[x]—and this not from yourselves, it is the gift of God— [9]not by works,[y] so that no one can boast.[z] [10]For we are God's workmanship,[a] created[b] in Christ Jesus to do good works,[c] which God prepared in advance for us to do.

One in Christ

[11]Therefore, remember that formerly[d] you who are Gentiles by birth and called "uncircumcised" by those who call themselves "the circumcision" (that done in the body by the hands of men)[e]— [12]remember that at that time you were separate from Christ, excluded from citizenship in Israel and foreigners[f] to the covenants of the promise,[g] without hope[h] and without God in the world. [13]But now in Christ Jesus you who once[i] were far away have been brought near[j] through the blood of Christ.[k]

[14]For he himself is our peace,[l] who has made the two one[m] and has destroyed the barrier, the dividing wall of hostility, [15]by abolishing in his flesh[n] the law with its commandments and regulations.[o] His purpose was to create in himself one[p] new man out of the two, thus making peace, [16]and in this one body to reconcile both of them to God through the cross,[q] by which he put to death their hostility. [17]He came and preached peace[r] to you who were far away and peace to those who were near.[s] [18]For through him we both have access[t] to the Father[u] by one Spirit.[v]

[19]Consequently, you are no longer foreigners and aliens,[w] but fellow citizens[x] with God's people and members of God's household,[y] [20]built[z] on the foundation[a] of the apostles and prophets,[b] with Christ Jesus himself[c] as the chief cornerstone.[d] [21]In him the whole building is joined together and rises to

2:8 A major passage for understanding God's grace, i.e., his kindness, unmerited favor and forgiving love. you have been saved. "Saved" has a wide range of meanings. It includes salvation from God's wrath, which we all had incurred by our sinfulness. The tense of the verb (also in v. 5) suggests a completed action with emphasis on its present effect. through faith. See Ro 3:21–31 (and notes on that passage), which establishes the necessity of faith in Christ as the only means of being made right with God. not from yourselves. No human effort can contribute to our salvation; it is the gift of God.

2:9 not by works. One cannot earn salvation by "observing the law" (Ro 3:20, 28). Such a legalistic approach to salvation (or sanctification) is consistently condemned in Scripture. no one can boast. No one can take credit for his or her salvation.

2:10 workmanship. The Greek for this word sometimes has the connotation of a "work of art." prepared in advance. Carries forward the theme of God's sovereign purpose and planning, seen in ch. 1.

2:11–22 From the salvation of individuals, Paul moves to another aspect of salvation in which God reconciles Jews and Gentiles, previously hostile peoples, not only to himself but also to each other through Christ (vv. 11–16). Even more than that, God unites these now reconciled people in one body, a truth introduced in vv. 19–22 and explained in ch. 3.

2:11 Therefore. Refers to the state of those without Christ, described in vv. 1–10. you who are Gentiles. Most of the Ephesians (cf. 1:13, "And you also"). "uncircumcised" ... "the circumcision." The rite of circumcision was applied to all Jewish male babies; so this physical act ("done in the body by the hands of men") was a clear mark of distinction between Jew and Gentile, in which Jewish people naturally took pride.

2:12 at that time. Before salvation, in contrast to "But now" (v. 13). separate from Christ ... without God. All these expressions emphasize the distance of unbelieving Gentiles from Israel, as well as from Christ. covenants. God had promised blessings to and through the Jewish people (see note on Ro 9:4).

2:13 But now. Not only contrasts with "at that time" (v. 12) but also introduces the contrast between "from Christ" (v. 12) and "in Christ" (here). blood of Christ. Expresses the violent death of Christ as he poured out his lifeblood as a sacrifice for us (cf. 1:7).

2:14 the two. Believing Jews and believing Gentiles. barrier ... dividing wall. Vivid description of the total religious isolation Jews and Gentiles experienced from each other. hostility. Between Jews and Gentiles.

2:15 abolishing ... the law. Since Mt 5:17 and Ro 3:31 teach that God's moral standard expressed in the OT law is not changed by the coming of Christ, what is abolished here is probably the effect of the specific "commandments and regulations" in separating Jews from Gentiles, whose nonobservance of the Jewish law renders them ritually unclean. in his flesh. Probably refers to the death of Christ. one new man. The united body of believers, the church.

2:16 this one body. While this could possibly mean the body of Christ offered on the cross (cf. "in his flesh," v. 15), it probably refers to the "one new man" just mentioned, the body of believers.

2:17 far away ... near. Gentiles and Jews respectively.

2:19 Consequently. Paul indicates that the unity described in vv. 19–22 is based on what Christ did through his death, described in vv. 14–18. you. The Gentiles at Ephesus are particularly in mind here. citizens ... household. Familiar imagery. The household in ancient times was what we today might call an "extended family."

2:20 foundation. Further metaphorical language to convey the idea of a solid, integrated structure. apostles and prophets. Probably refers to the founding work of the early Christian apostles and prophets as they preached and taught God's word (cf. 1Co 3:10–11). cornerstone. Isa 28:16, which uses the same term in its pre-Christian Greek translation (the Septuagint), refers to a foundation with a "tested" stone at the corner.

2:21 joined together. Cf. 4:16 for the same word. Both passages speak of the close relationship between believers. rises. The description of a building under construction conveys the sense of the dynamic growth of the church. holy temple. Paul now uses the metaphor of a temple, thereby indicating the purpose ("to become") for which God has established his church.

become a holy temple[e] in the Lord. [22]And in him you too are being built together to become a dwelling in which God lives by his Spirit.[f]

Paul the Preacher to the Gentiles

3 For this reason I, Paul, the prisoner[g] of Christ Jesus for the sake of you Gentiles—

[2]Surely you have heard about the administration of God's grace that was given to me[h] for you, [3]that is, the mystery[i] made known to me by revelation,[j] as I have already written briefly. [4]In reading this, then, you will be able to understand my insight[k] into the mystery of Christ, [5]which was not made known to men in other generations as it has now been revealed by the Spirit to God's holy apostles and prophets.[l] [6]This mystery is that through the gospel the Gentiles are heirs[m] together with Israel, members together of one body,[n] and sharers together in the promise in Christ Jesus.[o]

[7]I became a servant of this gospel[p] by the gift of God's grace given me[q] through the working of his power.[r] [8]Although I am less than the least of all God's people,[s] this grace was given me: to preach to the Gentiles[t] the unsearchable riches of Christ,[u] [9]and to make plain to everyone the administration of this mystery,[v] which for ages past was kept hidden in God, who created all things. [10]His intent was that now, through the church, the manifold wisdom of God[w] should be made known[x] to the rulers and authorities[y] in the heavenly realms,[z] [11]according to his eternal purpose[a] which he accomplished in Christ Jesus our Lord. [12]In him and through faith in him we may approach God[b] with freedom and confidence.[c] [13]I ask you, therefore, not to be discouraged because of my sufferings for you, which are your glory.

[h] 15 Or whom all fatherhood

2:22 dwelling. The church is to be a people or community in whom the Holy Spirit dwells.

3:1–13 Having saved people individually by his grace (2:1–10), and having reconciled them to each other as well as to himself through the sacrificial death of Christ (2:11–22), God also now unites them on an equal basis in one body, the church. This step in God's eternal plan was not fully revealed in previous times. Paul calls it a "mystery."

3:1 For this reason. Because of all that God has done, explained in the preceding several verses. prisoner. Apparently Paul was under house arrest at this time (see Ac 28:16,30). of Christ. Paul's physical imprisonment was because he obeyed Christ in spite of opposition. After this verse Paul breaks his train of thought to explain the "mystery" (v. 4). He resumes his initial thought in v. 14.

3:2 Surely you have heard. Most of the Ephesians would have heard of Paul's ministry because of his long stay there earlier. However, if this was a circular letter (see note on 1:1), the other churches may not have known much about it. administration. Paul unfolds God's administrative plan for the church and for the universe in this letter (see especially 1:3–12). He has been given a significant responsibility in the execution of this plan.

3:3 mystery. A truth known only by divine revelation (v. 5; see Ro 16:25; see also notes on Ro 11:25; Col 1:26). Here the word "mystery" has the special meaning of the private, wise plan of God, which in Ephesians relates primarily to the unification of believing Jews and Gentiles in the new body, the church (see v. 6). It may be thought of as a secret that is temporarily hidden, but more than that, it is a plan God is actively working out and revealing stage by stage (cf. 1:9–10; Rev 10:7). as I have already written briefly. May refer to 1:9–10.

3:5 not made known to men in other generations. See note on v. 6. holy. Set apart for God's service. apostles and prophets. See note on 2:20. Although Paul was the chief recipient, others received this revelation also.

3:6 together ... together ... together. The repetition of this word indicates the unique aspect of the mystery that was not previously known: the equality and mutuality that Gentiles had with Jews in the church, the one body. That Gentiles would turn to the God of Israel and be saved was prophesied in the OT (see Ro 15:9–12); that they would come into an organic unity with believing Jews on an equal footing was unexpected. heirs. See note on 1:18.

3:8 less than the least. Cf. 1Ti 1:15. Paul never ceased to be amazed that one so unworthy as he should have been chosen for so high a task. His modesty was genuine, even though we may disagree with his self-evaluation. grace. In this case, a special endowment that brings responsibility for service. to preach. Lit. "to gospelize"; parallels "to make plain" (v. 9). unsearchable. Far beyond what we can know, but not beyond our appreciation—at least in part (cf. Ro 11:33).

3:10 now. In contrast to the "ages past" (v. 9). through the church. The fact that God had done the seemingly impossible—reconciling and organically uniting Jews and Gentiles in the church—makes the church the perfect means of displaying God's wisdom. manifold. Variegated or multifaceted (in the way that many facets of a diamond reflect and enhance its beauty). rulers and authorities. Christ had ascended over all these (1:20–21). It is a staggering thought that the church on earth is observed, so to speak, by these spiritual powers and that to the degree the church is spiritually united it portrays to them the wisdom of God. This thought may be essential in understanding the meaning of "calling" in 4:1. heavenly realms. See note on 1:3.

3:11 eternal purpose. The effective headship of Christ over a united church is in preparation for his ultimate assumption of headship over the universe (1:10).

3:14–21 Paul now expresses a prayer that grows out of his awareness of all that God is doing in believers. God's key gifts are "power" (vv. 16,18,20) and "love" (vv. 17–19).

3:14 For this reason. Resumes the thought of v. 1. I kneel. Expresses deep emotion and reverence, as people in Paul's day usually stood to pray.

3:15 family. The word in Greek is similar to the word for "father" (see NIV text note), so it can be said that the "family" derives its name (and being) from the "father."

in heaven and on earth derives its name.
16I pray that out of his glorious riches[e] he may strengthen you with power[f] through his Spirit in your inner being,[g] 17so that Christ may dwell in your hearts[h] through faith. And I pray that you, being rooted[i] and established in love, 18may have power, together with all the saints,[j] to grasp how wide and long and high and deep[k] is the love of Christ, 19and to know this love that surpasses knowledge[l]—that you may be filled[m] to the measure of all the fullness of God.[n]

20Now to him who is able[o] to do immeasurably more than all we ask[p] or imagine, according to his power[q] that is at work within us, 21to him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus throughout all generations, for ever and ever!
Amen.[r]

Unity in the Body of Christ

4 As a prisoner[s] for the Lord, then, I urge you to live a life worthy[t] of the calling[u] you have received. 2Be completely humble and gentle; be patient, bearing with one another[v] in love.[w] 3Make every effort to keep the unity[x] of the Spirit through the bond of peace.[y] 4There is one body[z] and one Spirit[a]—just as you were called to one hope when you were called[b]— 5one Lord,[c] one faith, one baptism; 6one God and Father of all,[d] who is over all and through all and in all.[e]

7But to each one of us[f] grace[g] has been given[h] as Christ apportioned it.
8This is why it[i] says:

"When he ascended on high,
he led captives[i] in his train and gave gifts to men."[ij]

9(What does "he ascended" mean except that he also descended to the lower, earthly regions[k]? 10He who descended is the very one who ascended[k] higher than all the heavens, in order to fill the whole universe.)[l] 11It was he who gave[m] some to be apostles,[n] some to

[i] 8 Or God [j] 8 Psalm 68:18 [k] 9 Or the depths of the earth

God is our Father, and we can commit our prayers to him in confidence.

3:17 dwell. Be completely at home. Christ was already present in the Ephesian believers' lives (cf. Ro 8:9). hearts. The whole inner being.

3:19 surpasses knowledge. Not unknowable, but so great that it cannot be completely known. fullness. God, who is infinite in all his attributes, allows us to draw on his resources—in this case, his love.

3:20 immeasurably more. Has specific reference to the matters presented in this section of Ephesians but is not limited to these. his power. See 1:19–21.

3:21 to him be glory. The ultimate goal of our existence (see 1:6 and note). in the church and in Christ Jesus. A remarkable parallel. God has called the church to an extraordinary position and vocation (cf. v. 10; 4:1).

4:1–32 The chapter begins (v. 2) and ends (v. 32) with exhortations to love and forgive one another.

4:1–16 So far Paul has taught that God brought Jew and Gentile into a new relationship to each other in the church and that he called the church to display his wisdom. Paul now shows how God made provision for those in the church to live and work together in unity and to grow together into maturity.

4:1 prisoner. See note on 3:1. calling. See 3:10,21 and notes.

4:3 keep the unity. Which God produced through the reconciling death of Christ (see 2:14–22). It is the heavy responsibility of Christians to keep that unity from being disturbed.

4:4 one hope. Has different aspects (e.g., 1:5,10; 2:7), but it is still one hope, tied to the glorious future of Christ, in which all believers share.

4:5 one baptism. Probably not the baptism of the Spirit (see 1Co 12:13), which was inward and therefore invisible, but water baptism (see note on Ro 6:3–4). Since Paul apparently has in mind that which identifies all believers as belonging together, he would naturally refer to that church ordinance in which every new convert participated publicly. At that time it was a more obvious common mark of identification of Christians than it is now, when it is celebrated in different ways and often only seen by those in the church.

4:7 grace. See 3:7–8.

4:8 Ps 68:18 (see note there) speaks of God's triumphant ascension to his throne in the temple at Jerusalem (symbol of his heavenly throne). Paul applies this to Christ's triumphal ascension into heaven. Where the psalm states further that God "received gifts from men," Paul apparently takes his cue from certain rabbinic interpretations current in his day that read the Hebrew preposition for "from" in the sense of "to" (a meaning it often has) and the verb for "received" in the sense of "take and give" (a meaning it sometimes has—but with a different preposition; see Ge 15:9; 18:5; 27:13; Ex 25:2; 1Ki 17:10–11). captives. Probably Paul applies this to the spiritual enemies Christ defeated at the cross.

4:9 ascended . . . descended. Although Paul quoted from the psalm to introduce the idea of the "gifts to men," he takes the opportunity to remind his readers of Christ's coming to earth (his incarnation) and his subsequent resurrection and ascension. This passage probably does not teach, as some think and as some translations suggest, that Christ descended into hell.

4:11 It was he who gave. The quotation from Ps 68 has its ultimate meaning when applied to Christ as the ascended Lord, who himself has given gifts. apostles. Mentioned here because of their role in establishing the church (see 2:20). For qualifications of the initial group of apostles see Ac 1:21–22; see also notes on Mk 6:30; Ro 1:1; 1Co 1:1; Heb 3:1. In a broader sense, Paul was also an apostle (see 1:1). prophets. People to whom God made known a message for his people that was appropriate to their particular need or situation (see 1Co 14:3–4; see also note on 1Co 12:10). evangelists. See Ac 21:8; 1Co 1:17. While the other gifted people helped the church grow through edification, the evangelists helped the church grow by augmentation. Since the objective mentioned in v. 12 is "to prepare God's people for works of service," we may assume that evangelists, among their various ministries, helped other Christians in their testimony. pastors and teachers. Because of the Greek grammatical construction (also, the word be prophets,[o] some to be evangelists,[p] and some to be pastors and teachers,[q] [12]to prepare God's people for works of service, so that the body of Christ[r] may be built up[s] [13]until we all reach unity[t] in the faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God[u] and become mature,[v] attaining to the whole measure of the fullness of Christ.[w] [14]Then we will no longer be infants,[x] tossed back and forth by the waves,[y] and blown here and there by every wind of teaching and by the cunning and craftiness of men in their deceitful scheming.[z] [15]Instead, speaking the truth in love,[a] we will in all things grow up into him who is the Head,[b] that is, Christ. [16]From him the whole body, joined and held together by every supporting ligament, grows[c] and builds itself up[d] in love,[e] as each part does its work.

Living as Children of Light

[17]So I tell you this, and insist on it in the Lord, that you must no longer[f] live as the Gentiles do, in the futility of their thinking.[g] [18]They are darkened in their understanding[h] and separated from the life of God[i] because of the ignorance that is in them due to the hardening of their hearts.[j] [19]Having lost all sensitivity,[k] they have given themselves over[l] to sensuality[m] so as to indulge in every kind of impurity, with a continual lust for more.

[20]You, however, did not come to know Christ that way. [21]Surely you heard of him and were taught in him in accordance with the truth that is in Jesus. [22]You were taught, with regard to your former way of life, to put off[n] your old self,[o] which is being corrupted by its deceitful desires;[p] [23]to be made new in the attitude of your minds;[q] [24]and to put on[r] the new self,[s] created to be like God in true righteousness and holiness.[t]

"some" introduces both words together), it is clear that these groups of gifted people are closely related. Those who have pastoral care for God's people (the image is that of shepherding) will naturally provide "food" from the Scriptures (teaching). They will be especially gifted as teachers (cf. 1Ti 3:2).

4:12 to prepare God's people for works of service. Those mentioned in v. 11 were not to do all the work for the people, but were to train the people to do the work themselves. so that the body of Christ may be built up. See v. 16. Spiritual gifts are for the body, the church, and are not to be exercised individualistically. "Built up" reflects the imagery of 2:19–22. Both concepts—body and building—occurring together emphasize the key idea of growth.

4:13 until. Expresses not merely duration but also purpose. unity. Carries forward the ideal of vv. 1–6. in the faith. Here "faith" refers to the Christians' common conviction about Christ and the doctrines concerning him, as the following words make clear (cf. also "the apostles' teaching" in Ac 2:42). knowledge of the Son of God. Unity is not just a matter of a loving attitude or religious feeling, but of truth and a common understanding about God's Son. mature ... fullness of Christ. Not the maturity of doctrinal conviction just mentioned, nor a personal maturity that includes the ability to relate well to other people (cf. vv. 2–3), but the maturity of the perfectly balanced character of Christ.

4:14 infants. Contrast the maturity of v. 13. tossed. The nautical imagery pictures the instability of those who are not strong Christians. teaching. Then, as now, there were many distorted teachings and heresies that would easily throw the immature off course. cunning ... craftiness ... deceitful scheming. Sometimes those who try to draw people away from the Christian faith are not innocently misguided but deliberately deceitful and evil (cf. 1Ti 4:1–2).

4:15 speaking the truth in love. A truthful and loving manner of life is implied. grow up ... Head. A slightly different restatement of v. 13, based now on the imagery of Christ as the Head of the body, which is the church. Paul thus speaks primarily of corporate maturity. It is the "body of Christ" that is to be "built up" (v. 12). In v. 13 "we all" are to become "mature" (lit. "a mature man").

4:16 Further details of the imagery of the body growing under the direction of the Head. The parts of the body help each other in the growing process, picturing the mutual ministries of God's people spoken of in vv. 11–13. love. Maturity and unity are impossible without it (cf. vv. 2,15).

4:17–5:20 Paul has just discussed unity and maturity as twin goals for the church, which God has brought into existence through the death of Christ. He now goes on to show that purity is also essential among those who belong to him.

4:17 futility of their thinking. Life without God is intellectually frustrating, useless and meaningless (see, e.g., Ecc 1:2; Ro 1:21).

4:18 darkened in their understanding. Continues the idea of a futile thought life. hardening of their hearts. Moral unresponsiveness.

4:19 have given themselves over. Just as Pharaoh's heart was hardened reciprocally by himself and by God (see Ex 7–11), so here the Gentiles have given themselves over to a sinful kind of life, while Ro 1:24,26,28 says that God gave them over to that life.

4:20 You. Emphatic.

4:21 truth that is in Jesus. The wording and the use of the name Jesus (rather than Christ) suggest that Paul is referring to the embodiment of truth in Jesus' earthly life.

4:22 old self. Probably means the kind of person the Christian used to be. The old life-style resulted from deceitful desires.

4:23 minds. Cf. the evil thoughts of unbelievers (vv. 17–18).

4:24 new self, created to be like God. Since the new self is created, it cannot refer to the indwelling Christ, but rather to the kind of person he produces in the new believer. Nor is it some kind of new essential nature the believer has, because that would have been brought into existence at his new birth. In contrast, this is a new way of life that one not only "puts on" positionally at conversion (note the past tense in the parallel in Col 3:9–10) but is also urged to "put on" experientially as a Christian (see note on Ro 6:12–13).

[25]Therefore each of you must put off falsehood and speak truthfully[u] to his neighbor, for we are all members of one body.[v] [26]"In your anger do not sin"[l]:[w] Do not let the sun go down while you are still angry, [27]and do not give the devil a foothold.[x] [28]He who has been stealing must steal no longer, but must work,[y] doing something useful with his own hands,[z] that he may have something to share with those in need.[a]

[29]Do not let any unwholesome talk come out of your mouths,[b] but only what is helpful for building others up[c] according to their needs, that it may benefit those who listen. [30]And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God,[d] with whom you were sealed[e] for the day of redemption.[f] [31]Get rid of[g] all bitterness, rage and anger, brawling and slander, along with every form of malice.[h] [32]Be kind and compassionate to one another,[i] forgiving each other, just as in Christ God forgave you.[j]

5 Be imitators of God,[k] therefore, as dearly loved children[l] [2]and live a life of love, just as Christ loved us[m] and gave himself up for us[n] as a fragrant offering and sacrifice to God.[o]

[3]But among you there must not be even a hint of sexual immorality,[p] or of any kind of impurity, or of greed,[q] because these are improper for God's holy people. [4]Nor should there be obscenity, foolish talk[r] or coarse joking, which are out of place, but rather thanksgiving.[s] [5]For of this you can be sure: No immoral, impure or greedy person—such a man is an idolater[t]—has any inheritance[u] in the kingdom of Christ and of God.[mv] [6]Let no one deceive you[w] with empty words, for because of such things God's wrath[x] comes on those who are disobedient.[y] [7]Therefore do not be partners with them.

[8]For you were once[z] darkness, but now you are light in the Lord. Live as children of light[a] [9](for the fruit[b] of the light consists in all goodness,[c] righteousness and truth) [10]and find out what pleases the Lord.[d] [11]Have nothing to do with the fruitless deeds of darkness,[e]

[l]26 Psalm 4:4 [m]5 Or kingdom of the Christ and God

4:25 truthfully. Cf. vv. 15,21. neighbor. Probably means fellow Christians in this context.

4:26 In your anger. Christians do not lose their emotions at conversion, but their emotions should be purified. Some anger is sinful, some is not. Do not let the sun go down. No anger is to outlast the day.

4:27 the devil. Personal sin is usually due to our evil desires (see Jas 1:14) rather than to direct tempting by the devil. However, Satan can use our sins—especially those, like anger, that are against others—to bring about greater evil, such as divisions among Christians.

4:28 steal no longer ... work ... have something to share. It is not enough to cease from sin; one must do good. The former thief must now help those in need.

4:29 only what is helpful. An exhortation parallel to the previous one. The Christian not only stops saying unwholesome things; he also begins to say things that will help build others up.

4:30 grieve. By sin, such as "unwholesome talk" (v. 29) and the sins mentioned in v. 31. The verb also demonstrates that the Holy Spirit is a person, not just an influence, for only a person can be grieved. sealed. See note on 1:13. day of redemption. See 1:14; 1Pe 1:5 and notes.

4:31 bitterness ... malice. Such things grieve the Holy Spirit. This continues the instruction concerning one's speech (v. 29).

4:32 kind and compassionate. The opposite of the negative qualities of v. 31. forgiving. This basic Christian attitude, which is a result of being forgiven in Christ, along with being kind and compassionate, brings to others what we have received from God.

5:1 Be imitators. One way of imitating God is to have a forgiving spirit (4:32). The way we imitate our Lord is to act "just as" (v. 2; 4:32) he did. The sacrificial way Jesus expressed his love for us is not only the means of salvation (as seen in ch. 2) but also an example of the way we are to live for the sake of others.

5:2 fragrant offering. In the OT the offering of a sacrifice pleased the Lord so much that it was described as a "pleasing aroma" (Ge 8:21; Ex 29:18,25,41; Lev 1:9,13,17).

5:3 not ... even a hint. See v. 12. any kind of impurity, or of greed. Paul moves from specifically sexual sins to more general sins, such as greed. These include sexual lust but refer to other kinds of excessive desire as well. holy people. We are also a "holy temple" (2:21; cf. 2Co 6:16; 1Pe 2:5,9).

5:4 foolish talk or coarse joking. The context and the word "obscenity" indicate that it is not humor as such but dirty jokes and the like that are out of place. thanksgiving. By being grateful for all that God has given us, we can displace evil thoughts and words.

5:5 immoral, impure or greedy. See v. 3. idolater. Cf. Col 3:5. The greedy person wants things more than he wants God, and puts things in place of God, thereby committing idolatry. inheritance. The person who persists in sexual and other kinds of greed has excluded God, who therefore excludes him from the kingdom (but see notes on 1Co 6:9,11).

5:7 partners. Although Christians live in normal social relationships with others, as did the Lord Jesus (Lk 5:30–32; 15:1–2), they are not to participate in the sinful life-style of unbelievers.

5:8 darkness ... light. This section emphasizes the contrast between light and darkness, showing that those who belong to him who is "light" (1Jn 1:5), i.e., pure and true, not only have their lives illumined by him but also are the means of introducing that light into the dark areas of human conduct (cf. Mt 5:14).

5:9 fruit of the light. A mixed metaphor, but the meaning is clear. Light is productive (consider the effect of light on plant growth), and those who live in God's light produce the fruit of moral and ethical character (cf. Gal 5:22–23), while those who live in darkness do not (see v. 11).

5:11 Have nothing to do with. See v. 7. expose. Light, by nature, exposes what is in darkness, and the contrast shows sin for what it really is.

but rather expose them. 12For it is shameful even to mention what the disobedient do in secret. 13But everything exposed by the light[f] becomes visible, 14for it is light that makes everything visible. This is why it is said:

"Wake up, O sleeper,[g] rise from the dead,[h] and Christ will shine on you."[i]

15Be very careful, then, how you live[j]—not as unwise but as wise, 16making the most of every opportunity,[k] because the days are evil.[l] 17Therefore do not be foolish, but understand what the Lord's will is.[m] 18Do not get drunk on wine,[n] which leads to debauchery. Instead, be filled with the Spirit.[o] 19Speak to one another with psalms, hymns and spiritual songs.[p] Sing and make music in your heart to the Lord, 20always giving thanks[q] to God the Father for everything, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

21Submit to one another[r] out of reverence for Christ.

Wives and Husbands

5:22–6:9pp — Col 3:18–4:1

22Wives, submit to your husbands[s] as to the Lord.[t] 23For the husband is the head of the wife as Christ is the head of the church,[u] his body, of which he is the Savior. 24Now as the church submits to Christ, so also wives should submit to their husbands[v] in everything.

25Husbands, love your wives,[w] just as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her[x] 26to make her holy,[y]

5:12 shameful ... to mention. Christians should not dwell on the evils that their lives are exposing in others.

5:13–14 everything ... visible. By the repetition of these words, Paul seems to be stressing the all-pervasive nature of the light of God and its inevitable effect.

5:14 it is said. What follows may well be a hymn used by the early Christians (see note on Col 3:16). sleeper ... dead. Two images that describe a sinner (cf. 2:1). Christ will shine on you. With his life-giving light.

5:15 unwise ... wise. Having emphasized the contrast between light and darkness, Paul now turns to the contrast between wisdom and foolishness.

5:16 opportunity. The foolish person has no strategy for life and misses opportunities to live for God in an evil environment.

5:17 foolish ... understand. The contrast continues. The foolish person not only misses opportunities to make wise use of time; he has a more fundamental problem: He does not understand what are God's purposes for mankind and for Christians. God's purposes are a basic theme in Ephesians (see ch. 1).

5:18 Do not get drunk ... be filled with the Spirit. The Greek present tense is used to indicate that the filling of the Spirit is not a once-for-all experience. Repeatedly, as the occasion requires, the Spirit empowers for worship, service and testimony. The contrast between being filled with wine and filled with the Spirit is obvious. But there is something in common that enables Paul to make the contrast, namely, that one can be under an influence that affects him, whether of wine or of the Spirit. Since Col 3:15–4:1 is very similar to Eph 5:18–6:9, we may assume that Paul intends to convey a basically similar thought in the introductory sentences to each passage. When he speaks here of being filled with the Spirit and when he speaks in Colossians of being under the rule of the peace of Christ and indwelt by the "word" of Christ, he means to be under God's control. The effect of this control is essentially the same in both passages: a happy, mutual encouragement to praise God and a healthy, mutual relationship with people.

5:19 psalms ... songs. Every kind of appropriate song—whether psalms like those of the OT, or hymns directed to God or to others that Christians were accustomed to singing—could provide a means for praising and thanking God (v. 20). Actually, however, all three terms may refer to different types of psalms.

5:21–6:9 In chs. 2–4 Paul showed the way God brought believing Jews and Gentiles together into a new relationship in Christ. In 4:1–6 he stressed the importance of unity. Now he shows how believers, filled with the Spirit, can live together in a practical way in various human relationships. This list of mutual responsibilities is similar to the pattern found in Col 3:18–4:1; 1Pe 2:13–3:12; cf. Ro 13:1–10.

5:21 Submit to one another. Basic to the following paragraphs. Paul will show how, in each relationship, each partner can have a conciliatory attitude that will help that relationship. The grammar indicates that this mutual submission is associated with the filling of the Spirit in v. 18. The command "be filled" (v. 18) is followed by a series of participles in the Greek: speaking (v. 19), singing (v. 19), making music (v. 19), giving thanks (v. 20) and submitting (v. 21).

5:22 Wives, submit. An aspect of the mutual submission taught in v. 21. To submit meant to yield one's own rights. If the relationship called for it, as in the military, the term could connote obedience, but that meaning is not called for here. In fact, the word "obey" does not appear in Scripture with respect to wives, though it does with respect to children (6:1) and slaves (6:5). as to the Lord. Does not put a woman's husband in the place of the Lord, but shows rather that a woman ought to submit to her husband as an act of submission to the Lord.

5:23 head of the wife. See note on 1Co 11:3. as Christ. The analogy between the relationship of Christ to the church and that of the husband to the wife is basic to the entire passage. his body. See 2:16; 4:4,12,16. Savior. Christ earned, so to speak, the right to his special relationship to the church.

5:26 washing with water through the word. Many attempts have been made to see marriage customs or liturgical symbolism in these words. One thing is clear: The Lord Jesus died not only to bring forgiveness, but also to effect a new life of holiness in the church, which is his "bride." A study of the concepts of washing, of water and of the word should include reference to Jn 3:5; 15:3; Tit 3:5; Jas 1:18; cleansing[n] her by the washing[z] with water through the word, [27]and to present her to himself[a] as a radiant church, without stain or wrinkle or any other blemish, but holy and blameless.[b] [28]In this same way, husbands ought to love their wives[c] as their own bodies. He who loves his wife loves himself. [29]After all, no one ever hated his own body, but he feeds and cares for it, just as Christ does the church— [30]for we are members of his body.[d] [31]"For this reason a man will leave his father and mother and be united to his wife, and the two will become one flesh."[oe] [32]This is a profound mystery—but I am talking about Christ and the church. [33]However, each one of you also must love his wife[f] as he loves himself, and the wife must respect her husband.

Children and Parents

6 Children, obey your parents in the Lord, for this is right.[g] [2]"Honor your father and mother"—which is the first commandment with a promise— [3]"that it may go well with you and that you may enjoy long life on the earth."[ph]

[4]Fathers, do not exasperate your children;[i] instead, bring them up in the training and instruction of the Lord.[j]

Slaves and Masters

[5]Slaves, obey your earthly masters with respect[k] and fear, and with sincerity of heart,[l] just as you would obey Christ.[m] [6]Obey them not only to win their favor when their eye is on you, but like slaves of Christ,[n] doing the will of God from your heart. [7]Serve wholeheartedly, as if you were serving the Lord, not men,[o] [8]because you know that the Lord will reward everyone for whatever good he does,[p] whether he is slave or free.

[9]And masters, treat your slaves in the same way. Do not threaten them, since you know that he who is both their Master and yours[q] is in heaven, and there is no favoritism[r] with him.

The Armor of God

[10]Finally, be strong in the Lord[s] and in his mighty power.[t] [11]Put on the full armor of God[u] so that you can take your stand against the devil's schemes. [12]For our struggle is not against flesh and blood,[v] but against the rulers, against the authorities,[w] against the powers[x] of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms.[y] [13]Therefore put on the full armor of God,[z] so that when the day of evil comes, you may be able to stand your ground, and after you have done everything, to stand. [14]Stand firm then, with the belt of truth buckled around your waist,[a] with the breastplate of righteousness in place,[b] [15]and with your feet fitted with the readiness that comes 1Pe 1:23; 3:21.

5:27 holy and blameless. See 1:4.

5:28–29 as their own bodies . . . loves himself . . . his own body. The basis for such expressions and for the teaching of these verses is the quotation from Ge 2:24 in v. 31. If the husband and wife become "one flesh," then for the man to love his wife is to love one who has become part of himself.

5:32 mystery. See note on Ro 11:25. The profound truth of the union of Christ and his "bride," the church, is beyond unaided human understanding. It is not that the relationship of husband and wife provides an illustration of the union of Christ and the church, but that the basic reality is the latter, with marriage a human echo of that relationship.

5:33 love . . . respect. A rephrasing and summary of the whole passage.

6:3 on the earth. In Dt 5:16 (see Ex 20:12), where this commandment occurs, the "promise" (v. 2) was expressed in terms of the anticipated occupation of the "land," i.e., Canaan. That specific application was, of course, not appropriate to the Ephesians, so the more general application is made here.

6:4 do not exasperate. Fathers must surrender any right they may feel they have to act unreasonably toward their children.

6:5 Slaves. Both the OT and the NT included regulations for societal situations such as slavery and divorce (see Dt 24:1–4), which were the results of the hardness of hearts (Mt 19:8). Such regulations did not encourage or condone such situations but were divinely-given, practical ways of dealing with the realities of the day.

6:9 masters. Once again Paul stresses reciprocal attitudes (cf. 5:21–6:4). See note on Tit 2:9.

6:10–20 Paul's scope in Ephesians has been cosmic. From the very beginning he has drawn attention to the unseen world (see note on 1:3; see also 1:10,20–23; 2:6; 6:10), and now he describes the spiritual battle that takes place against evil "in the heavenly realms" (v. 12).

6:10 strong . . . power. Implies that human effort is inadequate but God's power is invincible.

6:12 not against flesh and blood. A caution against lashing out against human opponents as though they were the real enemy and also against assuming that the battle can be fought using merely human resources. rulers . . . forces. Cf. Paul's earlier allusions to powerful beings in the unseen world (see notes on 1:21; 3:10). heavenly realms. See note on 1:3.

6:13–14 stand your ground . . . Stand firm. In this context the imagery is not that of a massive invasion of the domain of evil, but of individual soldiers withstanding assault.

6:14 belt of truth. Cf. the symbolic clothing of the Messiah in Isa 11:5. Character, not brute force, wins the battle, just as in the case of the Messiah. breastplate of righteousness. Here again, the warrior's character is his defense. God himself is symbolically described as putting on a breastplate of righteousness when he goes forth to bring about justice (see Isa 59:17).

6:15 feet fitted with the readiness. Whereas the description of the messenger's feet in Isa 52:7 reflects the custom of running barefooted, here the message of the gospel is from the gospel of peace.[c] 16In addition to all this, take up the shield of faith,[d] with which you can extinguish all the flaming arrows of the evil one.[e] 17Take the helmet of salvation[f] and the sword of the Spirit,[g] which is the word of God.[h] 18And pray in the Spirit[i] on all occasions[j] with all kinds of prayers and requests.[k] With this in mind, be alert and always keep on praying[l] for all the saints.

19Pray also for me,[m] that whenever I open my mouth, words may be given me so that I will fearlessly[n] make known the mystery[o] of the gospel, 20for which I am an ambassador[p] in chains.[q] Pray that I may declare it fearlessly, as I should.

6:16 shield of faith . . . extinguish . . . flaming arrows. Describes the large Roman shield covered with leather, which could be soaked in water and used to put out flame-tipped arrows.

6:17–18 sword of the Spirit . . . pray in the Spirit. Reminders that the battle is spiritual and must be fought in God's strength, depending on the word and on God through prayer.

6:17 helmet of salvation. Isa 59:17 has similar language, along with the breastplate imagery (see note on v. 14). The helmet both protected the soldier and provided a striking symbol of military victory.

6:21–23 Paul concludes with greetings that lack personal references such as are usually found in his letters. This is understandable if Ephesians is a circular letter (see note on 1:1).

6:21 Tychicus. An associate of Paul who traveled as his representative (cf. Col 4:7; 2Ti 4:12; Tit 3:12).

Philippians

Author, Date and Place of Writing

The early church was unanimous in its testimony that Philippians was written by the apostle Paul (see 1:1). Internally the letter reveals the stamp of genuineness. The many personal references of the author fit what we know of Paul from other NT books.

It is evident that Paul wrote the letter from prison (see 1:13–14). Some have argued that this imprisonment took place in Ephesus, perhaps c. A.D. 53–55; others put it in Caesarea c. 57–59. Best evidence, however, favors Rome as the place of origin and the date as c. 61. This fits well with the account of Paul's house arrest in Ac 28:14–31. When he wrote Philippians, he was not in the Mamertime dungeon as he was when he wrote 2 Timothy. He was in his own rented house, where for two years he was free to impart the gospel to all who came to him.

Purpose

Paul's primary purpose in writing this letter was to thank the Philippians for the gift they had sent him upon learning of his detention at Rome (1:5; 4:10–19). However, he makes use of this occasion to fulfill several other desires: (1) to report on his own circumstances (1:12–26; 4:10–19); (2) to encourage the Philippians to stand firm in the face of persecution and rejoice regardless of circumstances (1:27–30; 4:4); (3) to exhort them to humility and unity (2:1–11; 4:2–5); (4) to commend Timothy and Epaphroditus to the Philippian church (2:19–30); and (5) to warn the Philippians against the Judaizers (legalists) and antinomians (libertines) among them (ch. 3).

Recipients

The city of Philippi was named after King Philip II of Macedon, father of Alexander the Great. It was a prosperous Roman colony, which meant that the citizens of Philippi were also citizens of the city of Rome itself. They prided themselves on being Romans (see Ac 16:21), dressed like Romans and often spoke Latin. No doubt this was the background for Paul's reference to the believer's heavenly citizenship (3:20–21). Many of the Philippians were retired military men who had been given land in the vicinity and who in turn served as a military presence in this frontier city. That Philippi was a Roman colony may explain why there were not enough Jews there to permit the establishment of a synagogue and why Paul does not quote the OT in the Philippian letter.

Characteristics

1. Philippians contains no OT quotations.

2. It is a missionary thank-you letter in which the missionary reports on the progress of his work.

3. It manifests a particularly vigorous type of Christian living: (1) self-humbling (2:1–4); (2) pressing toward the goal (3:13–14); (3) lack of anxiety (4:6); (4) ability to do all things (4:13).

4. It is outstanding as the NT letter of joy; the word "joy" in its various forms occurs some 16 times.

5. It contains one of the most profound Christological passages in the NT (2:5–11). Yet, profound as it is, Paul includes it mainly for illustrative purposes.

Philippi in the Time of Paul

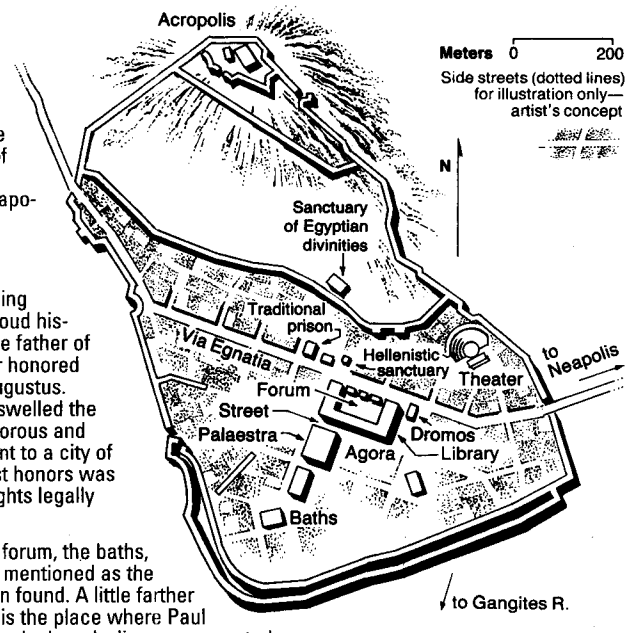
The Roman colony of Philippi (Colonia Augusta Julia Philippensis) was an important city in Macedonia, located on the main highway leading from the eastern provinces to Rome. This road, the Via Egnatia, bisected the city's forum and was the chief cause of its prosperity and political importance. Ten miles distant on the coast was Neapolis, the place where Paul landed after sailing from Troas, in response to the Macedonian vision.

As a prominent city of the gold-producing region of Macedonia, Philippi had a proud history. Named originally after Philip II, the father of Alexander the Great, the city was later honored with the name of Julius Caesar and Augustus. Many Italian settlers from the legions swelled the ranks of citizens and made Philippi vigorous and polyglot. It grew from a small settlement to a city of dignity and privilege. Among its highest honors was the ius Italicum, by which it enjoyed rights legally equivalent to those of Italian cities.

Ruins of the theater, the acropolis, the forum, the baths, and the western commemorative arch mentioned as the "gate" of the city in Ac 16:13 have been found. A little farther beyond the arch at the Gangites River is the place where Paul addressed some God-fearing women and where Lydia was converted.



1 Paul and Timothy,[a] servants of Christ Jesus,

To all the saints[b] in Christ Jesus at Philippi,[c] together with the overseers[a][d] and deacons:[e]

2Grace and peace to you from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.[f]

Thanksgiving and Prayer

3I thank my God every time I remember you.[g] 4In all my prayers for all of you, I always pray[h] with joy 5because of your partnership[i] in the gospel from the first day[j] until now, 6being confident of this, that he who began a good work in you will carry it on to completion[k] until the day of Christ Jesus.[l]

7It is right[m] for me to feel this way about all of you, since I have you in my heart;[n] for whether I am in chains[o] or defending[p] and confirming the gospel, all of you share in God's grace with me. 8God can testify[q] how I long for all of you with the affection of Christ Jesus.

Paul's Chains Advance the Gospel

12Now I want you to know, brothers, that what has happened to me has really served to advance the gospel. 13As a result, it has become clear throughout the whole palace guard[b] and to everyone else that I am in chains[v] for Christ. 14Because of my chains,[w] most of the brothers in the Lord have been encouraged to speak the word of God more courageously and fearlessly.[x]

1:1–2 As in all his letters, Paul follows the conventional letter format of his day, with its three elements: (1) identification of the sender, (2) identification of the recipients, (3) greeting.

1:1 Timothy. See Introduction to 1 Timothy: Recipient. Timothy is identified with the contents of the letter as Paul's associate, but not as co-author. servants. See Ro 1:1; Tit 1:1; Phm 1. In Paul's case, this designation brings out an essential aspect of the more usual identification of himself as "apostle." saints. A designation, not of individual moral purity, but of spiritual union with Christ, as the following "in Christ Jesus" shows (see Ro 1:7; 1Co 1:2 and notes). Philippi. See Introduction: Recipients. overseers and deacons. The only place in Paul's writings where church officers as a group are singled out as recipients of a letter. overseers. See note on 1Ti 3:1. deacons. See note on 1Ti 3:8.

1:2 The opening greeting is not merely a matter of polite custom but is given a distinctively Christian tone and content.

1:3–4 I thank my God ... prayers for ... you ... with joy. Prayers of joyful thanksgiving for his readers' response to the gospel are a hallmark of the opening sentences of Paul's letters (see Ro 1:8; 1Co 1:4; Col 1:3; 1Th 1:2; 2Th 1:3; 2Ti 1:3; Phm 4).

1:5 your partnership in the gospel. The basis of Paul's prayerful thanksgiving is not only their reception of the gospel but also their active support of his ministry (see 4:15). from the first day. When Paul first came to Philippi (see Ac 16:12). now. Toward the close (see 2:24) of Paul's first Roman imprisonment (see Ac 28:16–31).

1:6 work in you. Paul is confident, not only of what God has done "for" the readers in forgiving their sins, but also of what he has done "in" them (see v. 11). "Work" refers to God's activity in saving them. day of Christ Jesus. His return, when their salvation will be brought to completion (see 1:10; 2:16; 1Co 1:8; 5:5; 2Co 1:14). It is God who initiates salvation, who continues it and who will one day bring it to its consummation.

1:7 share in God's grace. Not even imprisonment and persecution can change such sharing. Even in Paul's imprisonment they willingly identified themselves with Paul by sending Epaphroditus and their financial gifts. They had become one with Paul in his persecution.

1:8 affection of Christ Jesus. The deep yearning and intense, compassionate love exhibited by Jesus himself and now fostered in Paul by his union with Christ. This affection reaches out to all impartially and without exception.

1:9 abound more and more. Real love requires growth and maturation (see 1Th 3:12; 4:10; 2Th 1:3). in knowledge. The way love grows (cf. Col 1:9). depth of insight. Practical discernment and sensitivity. Christian love is not mere sentiment; it is rooted in knowledge and understanding.

1:10 discern what is best. Christians are to approve (and practice) what is morally and ethically superior. pure and blameless. The goal of Christians in this life is to be without any mixture of evil and not open to censure because of moral or spiritual failure. until the day of Christ. Then the goal will be perfectly realized (see note on v. 6), and then Christians must give an account (see 2Co 5:10).

1:11 filled with the fruit of righteousness. What is expected of all Christians (cf. Mt 5:20–48; Heb 12:11; Jas 3:18; see also Am 6:12; Gal 5:22). through Jesus Christ. Produced by Christ (in union with him) through the work of the Holy Spirit (cf. Jn 15:5; Eph 2:10). to the glory and praise of God. The ultimate goal of all that God does in believers (see Eph 1:6,12,14).

1:12 what has happened to me. Paul's detainment in prison. advance the gospel. Instead of hindering the gospel, Paul's imprisonment had served to make it known.

1:13 clear ... chains for Christ. It has become apparent to all who know of Paul's situation that he is imprisoned, not because he is guilty of some crime, but on account of his stand for the gospel. whole palace guard. A contingent of soldiers, numbering several thousand, many of whom would have had personal contact with Paul or would have been assigned individually to guard him during the course of his imprisonment (see Ac 28:16,30). chains. Either actual chains or a broader reference to his sufferings and imprisonment (see v. 14).

1:14 encouraged to speak. The unexpected result of Paul's imprisonment is that others, encouraged by his example, are forcefully proclaiming the gospel.

1:15 out of envy and rivalry ... out of goodwill. The gospel preaching stimulated by Paul's imprisonment stems goodwill. 16The latter do so in love, knowing that I am put here for the defense of the gospel.[y] 17The former preach Christ out of selfish ambition,[z] not sincerely, supposing that they can stir up trouble for me while I am in chains.[ca] 18But what does it matter? The important thing is that in every way, whether from false motives or true, Christ is preached. And because of this I rejoice.

Yes, and I will continue to rejoice, 19for I know that through your prayers[b] and the help given by the Spirit of Jesus Christ,[c] what has happened to me will turn out for my deliverance.[dd] 20I eagerly expect[e] and hope that I will in no way be ashamed, but will have sufficient courage[f] so that now as always Christ will be exalted in my body,[g] whether by life or by death.[h] 21For to me, to live is Christ[i] and to die is gain. 22If I am to go on living in the body, this will mean fruitful labor for me. Yet what shall I choose? I do not know! 23I am torn between the two: I desire to depart[j] and be with Christ,[k] which is better by far; 24but it is more necessary for you that I remain in the body. 25Convinced of this, I know that I will remain, and I will continue with all of you for your progress and joy in the faith, 26so that through my being with you again your joy in Christ Jesus will overflow on account of me.

27Whatever happens, conduct yourselves in a manner worthy[l] of the gospel of Christ. Then, whether I come and see you or only hear about you in my absence, I will know that you stand firm[m] in one spirit, contending[n] as one man for the faith of the gospel 28without being frightened in any way by those who oppose you. This is a sign to them that they will be destroyed, but that you will be saved—and that by God. 29For it has been granted to you[o] on behalf of Christ not only to believe on him, but also to suffer[p] for him, 30since you are going through the same struggle[q] you from either one of two sharply opposed motives.

1:16 The latter do so in love. Those who preach with a right motive recognize the true reason for Paul's imprisonment, already expressed earlier in v. 13, and are encouraged to take the same bold stand that he has taken.

1:17 The former preach Christ out of selfish ambition. Those who preach with wrong, insincere motives do so out of a sense of competition with Paul and so think they are making his imprisonment more difficult to bear. not sincerely. Not from pure motives.

1:18 whether from false motives or true, Christ is preached. These preachers are not to be viewed as being heretical. Their message is true, even though their motives are not pure. The gospel has its objectivity and validity apart from those who proclaim it; the message is more than the medium. I rejoice ... will continue to rejoice. An example of the kind of vigorous Christian experience Paul expressed. He was under arrest, and fellow Christians sought, by their preaching, to add to his difficulties; yet he kept on rejoicing.

1:19 Spirit of Jesus Christ. The Holy Spirit is not only the Spirit of God the Father (Ro 8:9,14; 1Co 2:10–11,14) but also the Spirit of Christ, the second person of the Trinity (Ac 16:7; Ro 8:9; Gal 4:6). He is sent by the Father (Jn 14:16–17,26; Gal 4:6) and by the Son (Jn 15:26; 16:7). deliverance. Either Paul's release from prison (see v. 25; 2:24) or, in view of the immediately following verses, the deliverance brought to the believer by death (cf. Ro 8:28). Verse 25, however, seems to point to the former interpretation.

1:20 ashamed ... sufficient courage. The circumstances of imprisonment, with all its attendant suffering and oppression, constitute a real temptation for Paul to abandon the gospel and his resolute service for Christ. my body. Where the exalted Christ dwells by his Spirit and is at work (cf. Ro 8:9–10), and so is exalted by what Paul does. whether by life or by death. Whether his service for Christ continues or ends in death.

1:21 to live is Christ. Christ was the source and secret of Paul's continual joy (even in prison), for Paul's life found all its meaning in Christ. gain. Verse 23 specifies that the gain brought by death is "being with Christ," so that here Paul is saying that his ultimate concern and most precious possession, both now and forever, is Christ and his relationship to him.

1:22 fruitful labor. The spread of the gospel and the upbuilding of the church.

1:23–24 depart and be with Christ ... remain in the body. Either alternative was a good one. While mysteries remain, this passage clearly teaches that when believers die they are with Christ, apart from the body.

1:23 better by far. Being with Christ after death must involve some kind of conscious presence and fellowship (cf. 2Co 5:6,8).

1:24 necessary for you. Paul puts the needs of those he ministers to ahead of his personal preference.

1:25 I will remain. Possibly Paul was later released from prison (see "Paul's Fourth Missionary Journey," p. 1838). progress ... in the faith. The Christian life is to be one of joyful growth and advance (see note on v. 9 and the verses cited there).

1:26 your joy in Christ Jesus ... on account of me. Paul's conduct of his ministry among the Philippians will be a reason for rejoicing in what Christ is doing among them.

1:27 worthy of the gospel. Appropriate to the standards and goals given with the gospel. in one spirit. Having a common disposition and purpose. contending as one man. Particularly where the gospel is under attack, Christians need each other and must stand together.

1:28 a sign. Persistent opposition to the church and the gospel is a sure sign of eventual destruction, since it involves rejection of the only way of salvation. By the same token, when Christians are persecuted for their faith, this is a sign of the genuineness of their salvation (see 2Th 1:5).

1:29 granted ... to suffer. Given as a gift or privilege. Christian suffering, as well as faith, is a blessing (cf. Mt 5:11–12; Ac 5:41; Jas 1:2; 1Pe 4:14). The Christian life is to be a "not only ... but also" proposition: not only believing but also suffering.

1:30 same struggle. Their common involvement with Paul in conflict with those who oppose the gospel. you saw. When Paul and Silas first visited Philippi and were imprisoned (see Ac 16:19–40).

saw[r] I had, and now hear[s] that I still have.

Imitating Christ's Humility

2 If you have any encouragement from being united with Christ, if any comfort from his love, if any fellowship with the Spirit,[t] if any tenderness and compassion,[u] [2]then make my joy complete[v] by being like-minded,[w] having the same love, being one[x] in spirit and purpose. [3]Do nothing out of selfish ambition or vain conceit,[y] but in humility consider others better than yourselves.[z] [4]Each of you should look not only to your own interests, but also to the interests of others.[a]

[5]Your attitude should be the same as that of Christ Jesus:[b]

[6]Who, being in very nature[e] God,[c] did not consider equality with God[d] something to be grasped,
[7]but made himself nothing,[e] taking the very nature[f] of a servant,[f]
being made in human likeness.[g] [8]And being found in appearance as a man, he humbled himself and became obedient to death[h]— even death on a cross![i] [9]Therefore God exalted him[j] to the highest place and gave him the name that is above every name,[k] [10]that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow,[l] in heaven and on earth and under the earth,[m]
[11]and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord,[n]
to the glory of God the Father.

[e]6 Or in the form of [f]7 Or the form

2:1 united with Christ. Or "united in Christ." In Paul's teaching, this personal union is the basic reality of salvation. To be in Christ is to be saved. It is to be in intimate personal relationship with Christ the Savior. From this relationship flow all the particular benefits and fruits of salvation, like encouragement (see, e.g., 3:8–10; Ro 8:1; 2Co 5:17; Gal 2:20). comfort from his love. The comforting knowledge and assurance that come from God's love in Christ, demonstrated especially in Christ's death for the forgiveness of sins and eternal life (see Jn 3:16; Ro 5:8; 8:38–39; 1Jn 3:16; 4:9–10,16). fellowship with the Spirit. The fellowship among believers produced by the Spirit, who indwells each of them (see 2Co 13:14). tenderness and compassion. Christians are to have intense care and deep sympathy for each other (see 1:8; Col 3:12). All these benefits—encouragement, comfort, fellowship, tenderness and compassion—are viewed by Paul as present realities for the Philippians.

2:2 like-minded ... same love ... one in spirit and purpose. Emphasizes the unity that should exist among Christians. like-minded. Not uniformity in thought but the common disposition to work together and serve one another—the "attitude" of Christ (v. 5; see 4:2; Ro 12:16; 15:5; 2Co 13:11).

2:3 selfish ambition or vain conceit. The mortal enemies of unity and harmony in the church (cf. 1:17; see Gal 5:20, where "selfish ambition" is listed among the "acts of the sinful nature"). humility. The source of Christian unity. This is the mind-set of the person who is not conceited but who has a right attitude toward himself. consider others better than yourselves. Not that everyone else is superior or more talented, but that Christian love sees others as worthy of preferential treatment (see Ro 12:10; Gal 5:13; Eph 5:21; 1Pe 5:5).

2:4 your own interests. These are proper, but only if there is equal concern for the interests of others (cf. Ro 15:1).

2:5 Your attitude ... the same as ... Christ. In spite of all that is unique and radically different about the person and work of Christ (see vv. 6–11), Christians are to have his attitude of self-sacrificing humility and love for others (see vv. 2–4; Mt 11:29; Jn 13:12–17).

2:6–11 The poetic, even lyric, character of these verses is apparent. Many view them as an early Christian hymn (see note on Col 3:16), taken over and perhaps modified by Paul. If so, they nonetheless express his convictions. The passage treats Christ's humiliation (vv. 6–8) and exaltation (vv. 9–11).

2:6 in very nature God. Affirming that Jesus is fully God (see note on Ro 9:5). nature. Essential form (see NIV text note), the sum of those qualities that make God specifically God. equality with God. The status and privileges that inevitably follow from being in very nature God. something to be grasped. Perhaps something to be forcibly retained—the glory Christ had with the Father before his incarnation. But he did not consider that high position to be something he could not give up. On the other hand, it may be something still to be attained, like a prize, as if he did not yet possess it.

2:7 made himself nothing. Lit. "emptied himself." He did this, not by giving up deity, but by laying aside his glory (see Jn 17:5) and submitting to the humiliation of becoming man (see 2Co 8:9). Jesus is truly God and truly man. Another view is that he emptied himself, not of deity itself, but of its prerogatives—the high position and glory of deity. nature of a servant. Emphasizes the full reality of his servant identity (see Mt 20:28). As a servant, he was always submissive to the will of the Father.

2:8 appearance as a man. Not only was Jesus "like" a human being (v. 7), but he also took on the actual outward characteristics of a man (see Jn 1:14; Ro 8:3; Heb 2:17). humbled himself. See v. 7; 2Co 8:9. obedient. How Jesus humbled himself (cf. Heb 5:7–8). A "servant" (v. 7) obeys. to death. Stresses both the totality and the climax of Jesus' obedience. on a cross. Heightens Jesus' humiliation; he died as someone cursed (see Gal 3:13; Heb 12:2). Crucifixion was the most degrading kind of execution that could be inflicted on a person.

2:9 exalted. See Mt 28:18; Ac 2:33; cf. Isa 52:13. the name ... above every name. Reference doubtless is to the office or rank conferred on Jesus—his glorious position, not his proper name (cf. Eph 1:21; Heb 1:4–5).

2:10–11 bow ... confess. Cf. Isa 45:23. God's design is that all people everywhere should worship and serve Jesus as Lord. Ultimately all will acknowledge him as Lord (see Ro 14:9), whether willingly or not.

Shining as Stars

12Therefore, my dear friends, as you have always obeyed—not only in my presence, but now much more in my absence—continue to work out your salvation with fear and trembling,[o] 13for it is God who works in you[p] to will and to act according to his good purpose.[q]

14Do everything without complaining[r] or arguing, 15so that you may become blameless[s] and pure, children of God[t] without fault in a crooked and depraved generation,[u] in which you shine like stars in the universe 16as you hold out[s] the word of life—in order that I may boast on the day of Christ[v] that I did not run[w] or labor for nothing.[x] 17But even if I am being poured out like a drink offering[y] on the sacrifice[z] and service coming from your faith, I am glad and rejoice with all of you.[a] 18So you too should be glad and rejoice with me.

Timothy and Epaphroditus

19I hope in the Lord Jesus to send Timothy[b] to you soon,[c] that I also may be cheered when I receive news about you. 20I have no one else like him,[d] who takes a genuine interest in your welfare. 21For everyone looks out for his own interests,[e] not those of Jesus Christ. 22But you know that Timothy has proved himself, because as a son with his father[f] he has served with me in the work of the gospel. 23I hope, therefore, to send him as soon as I see how things go with me.[g] 24And I am confident[h] in the Lord that I myself will come soon.

25But I think it is necessary to send back to you Epaphroditus, my brother, fellow worker[i] and fellow soldier,[j] who is also your messenger, whom you sent to take care of my needs.[k] 26For he longs for all of you[l] and is distressed because you heard he was ill. 27Indeed he was ill, and almost died. But God had mercy on him, and not on him only but also on me, to spare me sorrow upon sorrow. 28Therefore I am all the more eager to send him,[m] so that when you see him again you may be glad and I may have less anxiety. 29Welcome him in the Lord with great joy, and honor men like him,[n] 30because he almost died for the work of Christ, risking his life to make up for the help you could not give me.[o]

2:12 Therefore. Because of Christ's incomparable example (vv. 5–11). obeyed. The commands of God as passed on to the Philippians by Paul (see Ro 1:5; 15:18; 2Co 10:5–6). my presence. During the course of Paul's second (see Ac 16:12–40) and third (see Ac 20:1–3,6) missionary journeys. work out your salvation. Work it out to the finish; not a reference to the attempt to earn one's salvation by works, but to the expression of one's salvation in spiritual growth and development. Salvation is not merely a gift received once for all; it expresses itself in an ongoing process in which the believer is strenuously involved (cf. Mt 24:13; 1Co 9:24–27; Heb 3:14; 6:9–11; 2Pe 1:5–8)—the process of perseverance, spiritual growth and maturation. fear and trembling. Not because of doubt or anxiety; rather, the reference is to an active reverence and a singleness of purpose in response to God's grace.

2:13 to will and to act. Intention, or faith, and our obedience cannot be separated (cf. Gal 5:6; Jas 2:18,20,22).

2:14–17 Some things involved in working out our salvation.

2:14 complaining. Being discontented with God's will is an expression of unbelief that prevents one from doing what pleases God (v. 13; cf. 1Co 10:10). arguing. Over debatable points that do not need to be settled for the good of the church (see 2Ti 2:23; Tit 3:9).

2:15 blameless and pure . . . without fault. Not absolute, sinless perfection, but wholehearted, unmixed devotion to doing God's will. crooked and depraved generation. A description of the unbelieving world (see Ac 2:40; Eph 2:1–3; cf. Mt 17:17). shine like stars. The contrast, like light in darkness, that Christians are to be to the world around them (cf. Mt 5:15–16).

2:16 boast. Not out of pride or a sense of self-accomplishment, but because of what God has done through Paul (see 1Th 2:19). day of Christ. See note on 1:6. for nothing. Cf. 1Co 9:24–27.

2:17–18 I . . . rejoice . . . you too should . . . rejoice. Christian joy ought always to be mutual.

2:17 I am being poured out. The reference may be to his entire ministry as one large thanksgiving sacrifice. However, it is more probable that Paul refers to his present imprisonment, which may end in a martyr's death. His life would then be poured out as a drink offering accompanying the sacrificial service of the Philippians. like a drink offering. The OT background is the daily sacrifices in Ex 29:38–41. coming from your faith. Genuine faith is active and working (see note on v. 13).

2:19–23 Paul plans to send Timothy, who is with him in Rome (see 1:1), to discover and report on conditions in the Philippian church.

2:20 I have no one else like him. Timothy was a good example of the kind of person envisioned in the exhortation of v. 4.

2:21 A sharp contrast between Timothy and Paul's other associates—an outstanding commendation for one so young.

2:22 as a son with his father. This relationship between Timothy and Paul is developed at length in 1,2 Timothy. served. Like Jesus and Paul, Timothy had a servant attitude.

2:24 Paul anticipates his release in the near future (see 1:25).

2:25–30 Epaphroditus, too, after a close brush with death (vv. 27,30), is being sent home to Philippi.

2:25 messenger. A broader use of the Greek word often translated "apostle," applied here to Epaphroditus as a representative of the Philippian church (cf. 2Co 8:23).

2:27 Cf. 1:21–26.

2:28 anxiety. The legitimate cares and concerns that come with the Christian life and the gospel ministry (see note on 4:6; cf. 2Co 4:8; 11:28).

3:1 Finally. Marks a transition to a new section as Paul the same things to you again,[p] and it is a safeguard for you.

[2]Watch out for those dogs,[q] those men who do evil, those mutilators of the flesh. [3]For it is we who are the circumcision,[r] we who worship by the Spirit of God, who glory in Christ Jesus,[s] and who put no confidence in the flesh— [4]though I myself have reasons for such confidence.[t]

If anyone else thinks he has reasons to put confidence in the flesh, I have more: [5]circumcised[u] on the eighth day, of the people of Israel,[v] of the tribe of Benjamin,[w] a Hebrew of Hebrews; in regard to the law, a Pharisee;[x] [6]as for zeal,[y] persecuting the church;[z] as for legalistic righteousness,[a] faultless.

[7]But whatever was to my profit I now consider loss[b] for the sake of Christ. [8]What is more, I consider everything a loss compared to the surpassing greatness of knowing[c] Christ Jesus my Lord, for whose sake I have lost all things. I consider them rubbish, that I may gain Christ[d] [9]and be found in him, not having a righteousness of my own that comes from the law,[e] but that which is through faith in Christ—the righteousness[f] that comes from God and is by faith.[g] [10]I want to know[h] Christ and the power of his resurrection and the fellowship of sharing in his sufferings,[i] becoming like him in his death,[j] [11]and so, somehow, to attain to the resurrection[k] from the dead.

Pressing on Toward the Goal

[12]Not that I have already obtained all this, or have already been made perfect,[l] but I press on to take hold[m] of that for which Christ Jesus took hold of me.[n] [13]Brothers, I do not consider myself yet to have taken hold of it. But one thing I do: Forgetting what is behind[o] and straining toward what is ahead, [14]I moves toward his conclusion; this does not mark the close of the letter, however (cf. 4:8). rejoice in the Lord! See 4:4. same things ... again. Matters taken up in the verses that follow, which Paul had previously dealt with either orally when he was in Philippi or perhaps in an earlier letter. safeguard. Where serious error is present, there is safety in repetition.

3:2 dogs. A harsh word for Paul's opponents, showing their aggressive opposition to the gospel and the seriousness of their error and its destructive, "devouring" results (cf. Gal 5:15). Their teaching was probably similar to what Paul had to oppose in the Galatian churches (see Introduction to Galatians: Occasion and Purpose). mutilators. Again a strong, painfully vivid term; the false teachers have so distorted the meaning of circumcision (cf. v. 3) that it has become nothing more than a useless cutting of the body.

3:3 circumcision. Its true, inner meaning is realized only in believers, who worship God with genuine spiritual worship and who glory in Christ as their Savior rather than trusting in their own human effort (cf. Ro 2:28–29; Col 2:12–13; see also Dt 30:6; Eze 36:26). glory ... no confidence. Everyone is a "boaster," either in Christ or in himself. flesh. Weak human nature. Although the term "flesh" in Paul's letters often refers to sinful human nature, it speaks here of the frailty of human nature: It is not worthy of our confidence; it cannot save.

3:4–14 Paul's personal testimony, a model for every believer; one of the most significant autobiographical sections in his letters (see Gal 1:13–24; 1Ti 1:12–16; cf. Ac 22:1–21; 26:1–23).

3:4–6 Paul's pre-Christian confidence, rooted in his Jewish pedigree, privileges and attainments.

3:5 eighth day. See Ge 17:12. of the people of Israel. Paul was born a Jew and was not a proselyte. tribe of Benjamin. His Jewish roots are deep and unambiguous. Jerusalem, the Holy City, lay on the border of the tribal territory of Benjamin. Hebrew of Hebrews. In language, attitudes and life-style (see Ac 22:2–3; Gal 1:14). Pharisee. See Ac 22:3; 23:6; 26:5.

3:6 legalistic righteousness. Righteousness produced by using the law as an attempt to merit God's approval and blessing (cf. v. 9)—a use of the law strongly opposed by Paul as contrary to the gospel itself (see Ro 3:27–28; 4:1–5; Gal 2:16; 3:10–12). faultless. In terms of legalistic standards of scrupulous external conformity to the law.

3:7–14 Paul's confidence in Christ.

3:7 whatever. The things mentioned in vv. 5–6. profit ... loss. The great reversal in Paul—begun on the road to Damascus (see Ac 9:3–16)—from being self-centered to being centered in Christ.

3:8 knowing Christ Jesus. Not only a knowledge of facts but a knowledge gained through experience that, in its surpassing greatness, transforms the entire person. The following verses spell this out. rubbish. What Paul now has as a Christian is not merely preferable or a better alternative; in contrast, his former way of life was worthless and despicable.

3:9 be found in him. Union with Christ (see note on 2:1; cf. 1Co 1:30)—not simply an experience in the past, but a present, continuing relationship. righteousness ... from the law. See note on v. 6. righteousness ... by faith. A principal benefit of union with Christ (see Ro 3:21–22; 1Co 1:30; Gal 2:16).

3:10 know Christ. As in v. 8, this knowledge is not merely factual; it includes the experience of the power of his resurrection (see Eph 1:17–20), of fellowship in his sufferings (cf. Ac 9:16) and of being like him in his death (see 2Co 4:7–12; 12:9–10). Believers already share positionally in Christ's death and resurrection (cf. Ro 6:2–13; Gal 2:20; 5:24; 6:14; Eph 2:6; Col 2:12–13; 3:1). In v. 10, however, Paul speaks of the actual experience of Christ's resurrection power and of suffering with and for him, even to the point of death.

3:11 somehow. Not an indication of doubt or uncertainty, but of intense concern and involvement. resurrection. The great personal anticipation of every believer (see Da 12:2; Jn 5:29; Ac 24:15; 1Co 15:23; 1Th 4:16).

3:12–14 The Christian life is like a race; elsewhere Paul uses athletic imagery in a similar way (1Co 9:24–27; 1Ti 6:12; 2Ti 4:7–8; cf. Mt 24:13; Heb 12:1).

3:12 take hold ... took hold of me. Paul's goal is Christ's goal for him, and Christ supplies the resources for him to "press on toward the goal" (v. 14; cf. 2:12–13).

3:13 Forgetting. Not losing all memory of his sinful past (see vv. 4–6), but leaving it behind him as done with and settled.

3:14 prize. The winner of the Greek races received a wreath of leaves and sometimes a cash award; the Christian receives an award of everlasting glory. heavenward.

press on[p] toward the goal to win the prize[q] for which God has called[r] me heavenward in Christ Jesus.

15All of us who are mature[s] should take such a view of things.[t] And if on some point you think differently, that too God will make clear to you.[u] 16Only let us live up to what we have already attained.

17Join with others in following my example,[v] brothers, and take note of those who live according to the pattern we gave you.[w] 18For, as I have often told you before and now say again even with tears,[x] many live as enemies of the cross of Christ.[y] 19Their destiny[z] is destruction, their god is their stomach,[a] and their glory is in their shame.[b] Their mind is on earthly things.[c] 20But our citizenship[d] is in heaven.[e] And we eagerly await a Savior from there, the Lord Jesus Christ,[f] 21who, by the power[g] that enables him to bring everything under his control, will transform our lowly bodies[h] so that they will be like his glorious body.[i]

4 Therefore, my brothers, you whom I love and long for,[j] my joy and crown, that is how you should stand firm[k] in the Lord, dear friends!

2I plead with Euodia and I plead with Syntyche to agree with each other[l] in the Lord. 3Yes, and I ask you, loyal yokefellow,[h] help these women who have contended at my side in the cause of the gospel, along with Clement and the rest of my fellow workers,[m] whose names are in the book of life.[n]

[h] 3 Or loyal Syzygus

Paul's ultimate aspirations are found not in this life but in heaven, because Christ is there (see Col 3:1–2).

3:15 mature. Those who have made reasonable progress in spiritual growth and stability (see 1Co 2:6; 3:1–3; Heb 5:14). such a view. That expressed in vv. 12–14: There are heights yet to be scaled; do not become complacent. think differently. If the readers accept the view set forth in vv. 12–14 and yet fail to agree in some lesser point, God will clarify the matter for them.

3:16 live up to what ... already attained. Put into practice the truth they have already comprehended. We are responsible for the truth we currently possess.

3:17 following my example. As Paul follows the example of Christ. take note of those who live. The life-styles Christians lead ought to be models worth following.

3:18 told you before. See v. 1. with tears. See Ac 20:19,31. live as enemies of the cross. In glaring contrast to Paul's conduct (v. 10) and to the truth of the gospel.

3:19 destruction. The opposite of salvation. god ... stomach. A deep self-centeredness; their appetites and desires come first. earthly things. They have set their minds on the things of this life; they are antinomians (libertines), the opposite of the legalists of v. 2.

3:20 citizenship. In this world Christians are aliens, fully involved in it, yet not of it (cf. Jn 17:14–16; 1Co 7:29–31; 1Pe 2:11). in heaven. Where Christ is and where believers are—in union with him; contrast the "earthly things" of v. 19 (see Eph 2:6; Col 3:1–4). eagerly await ... from there. See Ro 8:19; 1Co 1:7; 1Th 1:9–10; 2Ti 4:8.

3:21 power ... under his control. Christ's present power, earned by his obedience to death (see 2:8) and received in his resurrection and ascension, is universal and absolute (see Mt 28:18; 1Co 15:27; Eph 1:20–22). will transform. By the Holy Spirit at the resurrection (see Ro 8:11; 1Co 6:14; 15:50–53). our lowly bodies. Subject to weakness, decay and death, due to sin (see Ro 8:10,20–23; 1Co 15:42–44). like his glorious body. See Ro 8:29; 1Jn 3:2. The resurrection body, received already by Christ, who is the "first-fruits," will be received by believers in the future resurrection "harvest" (see 1Co 15:20,49). It is "spiritual," i.e., transformed by the power of the Holy Spirit (see 1Co 15:44,46).

4:1 love and long for. See notes on 1:8; 2:1. my joy and crown. True not only now, but especially when Christ returns (see 1Th 2:19). that is how. Refers to the closing statements of ch. 3. In the face of libertine practices (3:18–19), the Philippians should follow Paul's example (3:17), having their minds set on heavenly things (3:20–21). stand firm. In the midst of present struggles for the sake of the gospel (cf. 1:27–30; 1Co 15:58).

4:2–3 The disagreement between Euodia and Syntyche is serious enough to be mentioned in a letter to be read publicly, but Paul seems confident that "these women" (v. 3) will be reconciled. His handling of the situation is a model of tact—he does not take sides but encourages others closer to the situation to promote reconciliation (see 2:2).

4:3 yokefellow. See NIV text note. at my side ... my fellow workers. Those associated with the apostle in the cause of the gospel (women as well as men) are his equals, not subordinates (cf. 2:25; Ro 16:3,9,21; Phm 24). Clement. Not mentioned elsewhere in the NT. the rest of my fellow workers. Not mentioned individually because they are known to God and their names are entered in the book of life, the heavenly register of the elect (see note on Rev 3:5).

4:4 Rejoice in the Lord. See 3:1. always. Under all kinds of circumstances, including suffering (see Hab 3:17–18; Jas 1:2; 1Pe 4:13).

4:5 gentleness. Christlike consideration for others (cf. 2Co 10:1). It is especially essential in church leaders (see 1Ti 3:3; Tit 3:2, "considerate"). near. See Ro 13:11; cf. Jas 5:8–9; Rev 22:7,12,20. The next great event in God's prophetic schedule is Christ's return. The whole period from Christ's first coming to the consummation of the kingdom is viewed in the NT as the last time (1Jn 2:18). From God's vantage point, a thousand years are as a day. Thus there is a sense in which, for every generation, the Lord's coming is near.

4:6 anxious. Self-centered, counterproductive worry, not legitimate cares and concerns for the spread of the gospel (see 2:28 and note; 2Co 11:28; see also Mt 6:25–31; 1Pe 5:7). in everything, by prayer. Anxiety and prayer are two great opposing forces in Christian experience. thanksgiving. The antidote to worry (along with prayer and petition).

thanksgiving, present your requests to God.[r] [7]And the peace of God,[s] which transcends all understanding,[t] will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus.

[8]Finally, brothers, whatever is true, whatever is noble, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable—if anything is excellent or praiseworthy—think about such things. [9]Whatever you have learned or received or heard from me, or seen in me—put it into practice.[u] And the God of peace[v] will be with you.

Thanks for Their Gifts

[10]I rejoice greatly in the Lord that at last you have renewed your concern for me.[w] Indeed, you have been concerned, but you had no opportunity to show it. [11]I am not saying this because I am in need, for I have learned to be content[x] whatever the circumstances. [12]I know what it is to be in need, and I know what it is to have plenty. I have learned the secret of being content in any and every situation, whether well fed or hungry,[y] whether living in plenty or in want.[z] [13]I can do everything through him who gives me strength.[a]

[14]Yet it was good of you to share[b] in my troubles. [15]Moreover, as you Philippians know, in the early days[c] of your acquaintance with the gospel, when I set out from Macedonia,[d] not one church shared with me in the matter of giving and receiving, except you only;[e] [16]for even when I was in Thessalonica,[f] you sent me aid again and again when I was in need.[g] [17]Not that I am looking for a gift, but I am looking for what may be credited to your account.[h] [18]I have received full payment and even more; I am amply supplied, now that I have received from Epaphroditus[i] the gifts you sent. They are a fragrant[j] offering, an acceptable sacrifice, pleasing to God. [19]And my God will meet all your needs[k] according to his glorious riches[l] in Christ Jesus.

[20]To our God and Father[m] be glory for ever and ever. Amen.[n]

4:7 peace of God. Not merely a psychological state of mind, but an inner tranquillity based on peace with God—the peaceful state of those whose sins are forgiven (cf. Jn 14:27; Ro 5:1). The opposite of anxiety, it is the tranquillity that comes when the believer commits all his cares to God in prayer and worries about them no more. transcends all understanding. The full dimensions of God's love and care are beyond human comprehension (see Eph 3:18–20). guard ... hearts ... minds. A military concept depicting a sentry standing guard. God's "protective custody" of those who are in Christ Jesus extends to the core of their beings and to their deepest intentions (cf. 1Pe 1:5).

4:8 Finally. See note on 3:1. true ... praiseworthy. Paul understood the influence of one's thoughts on one's life. What a person allows to occupy his mind will sooner or later determine his speech and his action. Paul's exhortation to "think about such things" is followed by a second exhortation, "put it into practice" (v. 9). The combination of virtues listed in vv. 8–9 is sure to produce a wholesome thought pattern, which in turn will result in a life of moral and spiritual excellence.

4:9 seen in me. See note on 3:17. God of peace. See note on 1Th 5:23; cf. the "peace of God" (v. 7).

4:10 at last ... no opportunity. The delay in sending gifts to Paul was not the fault of the Philippians, nor was it because they were lacking in concern for him (cf. 2Co 11:9). Perhaps Paul's uncertain itinerary prior to his arrival at Rome or the lack of an available messenger had prevented the Philippians from showing their concern.

4:11 content whatever the circumstances. Paul genuinely appreciates the gifts from Philippi (see vv. 14,18) but he is not ultimately dependent on them (cf. 1Ti 6:6–8).

4:12 content ... whether well fed ... whether living in plenty. Prosperity, too, can be a source of discontent.

4:13 everything. Everything pleasing to God. him who gives me strength. Christ. Union with the living, exalted Christ is the secret of being content (v. 12) and the source of Paul's abiding strength (see especially 2Co 12:9–10; see also Jn 15:5; Eph 3:16–17; Col 1:11).

4:14 share. The Philippians' gifts are a means of involving them in Paul's troubles (cf. Heb 10:33).

4:15 early days. During Paul's second missionary journey, when he first preached in Philippi (see Ac 16:12–40). set out. For the south (Achaia), where Athens and Corinth were located (see Ac 17:14–16; 18:1–4). Macedonia. The northern part of modern-day Greece, where Berea and Thessalonica, as well as Philippi, were located. shared with me in the matter of. Or "participated with me in an account of." Paul uses commercial language to describe "giving and receiving" (credit and debit) between the Philippians and himself (see "credited to your account," v. 17). Yet this commercial imagery is plainly transcended by the mutual concern and self-sacrifice of their relationship. except you only. The generosity of the Philippian church is unique and unmatched (cf. 2Co 8:1–5).

4:16 when I was in Thessalonica. While he was still in Macedonia (see Ac 17:1–9). aid again and again. The gifts sent to Rome through Epaphroditus are the latest in a long and consistent pattern of generosity (cf. 2Co 8:1–5).

4:17 credited to your account. See note on v. 15. The "investment value" of the Philippians' gift is not primarily what Paul received, but the "spiritual dividends" they received.

4:18 a fragrant offering, an acceptable sacrifice. The OT background is the sacrifice, not of atonement for sin, but of thanksgiving and praise (cf. Lev 7:12–15; Ro 12:1; Eph 5:2; Heb 13:15–16). acceptable ... pleasing to God. Because of Christ's work for us (see 1Pe 2:5) and God's work in us (see Php 2:13).

4:19 my. A personal touch (cf. "my God" in 1:3). will meet. A promise given to a church that had sacrificially given to meet Paul's need. your needs. Paul is concerned not only about his own situation but also about that of the Philippians. his glorious riches in Christ Jesus. The true measure of God's blessings to the church (cf. Eph 1:18; 3:16–20).

4:20 Paul cannot hold back a doxology, especially as he considers the truth of v. 19.

4:21–22 Final greetings are a typical feature of Paul's letters (see, e.g., Ro 16:3–16,21–23; 1Co 16:19–20; 2Co 13:12–13; Col 4:10–12,14–15,18).

4:21 saints. See note on 1:1. brothers who are with me.

The brothers who are with me[o] send greetings. [22]All the saints[p] send you greetings, especially those who belong to Caesar's household.

[i]23 Some manuscripts do not have Amen.

Paul's fellow workers at Rome, especially Timothy (see 1:1,14,16).

4:22 Caesar's household. Not blood relatives of the emperor, but those employed (slaves or freedmen) in or around the palace area (cf. "palace guard," 1:13).

4:23 A typical closing benediction of Paul. your spirit. Not one part of man to the exclusion of other parts, but the whole person seen from his inner side, at the core of his being (cf. Gal 6:18; 2Ti 4:22; Phm 25).

Colossians

Author, Date and Place of Writing

That Colossians is a genuine letter of Paul is not usually disputed. In the early church, all who speak on the subject of authorship ascribe it to Paul. In the 19th century, however, some thought that the heresy refuted in ch. 2 was second-century Gnosticism. But a careful analysis of ch. 2 shows that the heresy referred to there is noticeably less developed than the Gnosticism of leading Gnostic teachers of the second and third centuries. Also, the seeds of what later became the full-blown Gnosticism of the second century were present in the first century and already making inroads into the churches. Consequently, it is not necessary to date Colossians in the second century at a time too late for Paul to have written the letter.

Instead, it is to be dated during Paul's first imprisonment in Rome, where he spent at least two years under house arrest (see Ac 28:16–31). Some have argued that Paul wrote Colossians from Ephesus or Caesarea, but most of the evidence favors Rome as the place where Paul penned all the Prison Letters (Ephesians, Colossians, Philippians, 2 Timothy and Philemon). Colossians should be dated c. A.D. 60, in the same year as Ephesians and Philemon.

Colosse: The Town and the Church

Several hundred years before Paul's day, Colosse had been a leading city in Asia Minor (present-day Turkey). It was located on the Lycus River and on the great east-west trade route leading from Ephesus on the Aegean Sea to the Euphrates River. By the first century A.D. Colosse was diminished to a second-rate market town, which had been surpassed long ago in power and importance by the neighboring towns of Laodicea and Hierapolis (see 4:13).

What gave Colosse NT importance, however, was the fact that, during Paul's three-year ministry in Ephesus, Epaphras had been converted and had carried the gospel to Colosse (cf. 1:7–8; Ac 19:10). The young church that resulted then became the target of heretical attack, which led to Epaphras's visit to Paul in Rome and ultimately to the penning of the Colossian letter.

Perhaps as a result of the efforts of Epaphras or other converts of Paul, Christian churches had also been established in Laodicea and Hierapolis. Some of them were house churches (see 4:15; Phm 2). Most likely all of them were primarily Gentile.

The Colossian Heresy

Paul never explicitly describes the false teaching he opposes in the Colossian letter. The nature of the heresy must be inferred from statements he made in opposition to the false teachers. An analysis of his refutation suggests that the heresy was diverse in nature. Some of the elements of its teachings were:

1. Ceremonialism. It held to strict rules about the kinds of permissible food and drink, religious festivals (2:16–17) and circumcision (2:11; 3:11).

2. Asceticism. "Do not handle! Do not taste! Do not touch!" (2:21; cf. 2:23).

3. Angel worship. See 2:18.

4. Depreciation of Christ. This is implied in Paul's stress on the supremacy of Christ (1:15–20; 2:2–3,9).

5. Secret knowledge. The Gnostics boasted of this (see 2:18 and Paul's emphasis in 2:2–3 on Christ, "in whom are hidden all the treasures of wisdom").

6. Reliance on human wisdom and tradition. See 2:4,8.

These elements seem to fall into two categories, Jewish and Gnostic. It is likely, therefore, that the Colossian heresy was a mixture of an extreme form of Judaism and an early stage of Gnosticism (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism; see also note on 2:23).

Purpose and Theme

Paul's purpose is to refute the Colossian heresy. To accomplish this goal, he exalts Christ as the very image of God (1:15), the Creator (1:16), the preexistent sustainer of all things (1:17), the head of the church (1:18), the first to be resurrected (1:18), the fullness of deity in bodily form (1:19; 2:9) and the reconciler (1:20–22). Thus Christ is completely adequate. We "have been given fullness in Christ" (2:10). On the other hand, the Colossian heresy was altogether inadequate. It was a hollow and deceptive philosophy (2:8), lacking any ability to restrain the old sinful nature (2:23).

The theme of Colossians is the complete adequacy of Christ as contrasted with the emptiness of mere human philosophy.

1 Paul, an apostle[a] of Christ Jesus by the will of God,[b] and Timothy[c] our brother, 2To the holy and faithful[a] brothers in Christ at Colosse:

Grace[d] and peace to you from God our Father.[b e]

Thanksgiving and Prayer

3We always thank God,[f] the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, when we pray for you, 4because we have heard of your faith in Christ Jesus and of the love[g] you have for all the saints[h]— 5the faith and love that spring from the hope[i] that is stored up for you in heaven[j] and that you have already heard about in the word of truth,[k] the gospel 6that has come to you. All over the world[l] this gospel is bearing fruit[m] and growing, just as it has been doing among you since the day you heard it and understood God's grace in all its truth. 7You learned it from Epaphras,[n] our dear fellow servant, who is a faithful minister[o] of Christ on our[c] behalf, 8and who also told us of your love in the Spirit.[p]

9For this reason, since the day we heard about you,[q] we have not stopped praying for you[r] and asking God to fill you with the knowledge of his will[s] through all spiritual wisdom and understanding.[t] 10And we pray this in order that you may live a life worthy[u] of the Lord and may please him[v] in every way: bearing fruit in every good work, growing in the knowledge of God,[w] 11being strengthened with all power[x] according to his glorious might so that you may have great endurance and patience,[y] and joyfully 12giving thanks to the Father,[z] who has qualified you[d] to share in the inheritance[a] of the saints in the kingdom of light.[b] 13For he has rescued us from the dominion of darkness[c] and brought us into the kingdom[d] of the Son he loves,[e] 14in whom we have redemption,[e f] the forgiveness of sins.[g]

[a] 2 Or believing [b] 2 Some manuscripts Father and the Lord Jesus Christ [c] 7 Some manuscripts your [d] 12 Some manuscripts us [e] 14 A few late manuscripts redemption through his blood

1:1 Paul. It was customary to put the writer's name at the beginning of a letter. For more information on Paul see notes on Ac 9:1; Php 3:4–14. Christ. Paul is very Christ-centered, as seen by this short letter, in which he uses the title "Christ" 29 times and the title "Lord" (alone) 9 times. Timothy. Paul also mentions Timothy in 2 Corinthians, Philippians, 1,2 Thessalonians and Philemon, but Paul is really the sole author, as seen by the constant use of "I" (see especially 4:18).

1:2 holy. Because of Christ's substitutionary death for the Colossian believers, they are declared holy in the sight of God, and because of the Holy Spirit's work, they are continuing to be made holy in their lives. faithful. See 1:7; 4:7,9. in Christ. Paul mentions the spiritual union with Christ 12 times in Colossians (see note on Eph 1:3). Grace and peace. See notes on Jnh 4:2; Jn 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.

1:3 We. Paul and Timothy. thank God. Every one of Paul's letters, except Galatians, begins with thanks or praise (see note on Php 1:3–4). In Colossians thanks is an important theme (see v. 12; 2:7; 3:15–17; 4:2). The Bible never thanks man for his faith and love, but rather God, who is the source of these virtues.

1:5 The three great Christian virtues of faith, love and hope appear also in Ro 5:2–5; 1Co 13:13; Gal 5:5–6; 1Th 1:3; 5:8; Heb 10:22–24. hope. Not wishful thinking but a firm assurance. For this unusual thought of faith and love coming from hope see Tit 1:2.

1:6 All over the world. Hyperbole, to dramatize the rapid spread of the gospel into every quarter of the Roman empire within three decades of Pentecost (see v. 23; Ro 1:8; 10:18; 16:19). In refutation of the charge of the false teachers, Paul insists that the Christian faith is not merely local or regional but worldwide.

1:7 Epaphras. A native (4:12) and probably founder of the Colossian church, and an evangelist in nearby Laodicea and Hierapolis (4:13). Paul loved and admired him, calling him a "fellow prisoner" (Phm 23), his dear fellow servant and a faithful minister of Christ. Epaphras was the one who told Paul at Rome about the Colossian church problem and thereby stimulated him to write this letter (vv. 4,8). His name, a shortened form of Epaphroditus (from "Aphrodite," the Greek goddess of love), suggests that he was a convert from paganism. He is not the Epaphroditus of Php 2:25; 4:18.

1:8 your love in the Spirit. The Holy Spirit is the source of all Christian love.

1:9 the knowledge of his will. Biblical knowledge is not merely the possession of facts. Rather, knowledge and wisdom in the Bible are practical, having to do with godly living. This is borne out by vv. 10–12, where knowledge, wisdom and understanding result in a life worthy of the Lord.

1:12 light. Symbolizes holiness (Mt 5:14; 6:23; Ac 26:18; 1Jn 1:5), truth (Ps 36:9; 119:105,130; 2Co 4:6), love (Jas 1:17; 1Jn 2:9–10), glory (Isa 60:1–3; 1Ti 6:16) and life (Jn 1:4). Accordingly, God (1Jn 1:5), Christ (Jn 8:12) and the Christian (Eph 5:8) are characterized by light. The "kingdom of light" is the opposite of the "dominion of darkness" (v. 13).

1:13 kingdom. Does not here refer to a territory but to the authority, rule or sovereign power of a king. Here it means that the Christian is no longer under the dominion of evil (darkness) but under the benevolent rule of God's Son.

1:14 redemption. Deliverance and freedom from the penalty of sin by the payment of a ransom—the substitutionary death of Christ.

1:15–20 Perhaps an early Christian hymn (see note on 3:16) on the supremacy of Christ—used here by Paul to counteract the false teaching at Colosse. It is divided into two parts: (1) Christ's supremacy in creation (vv. 15–17); (2) Christ's supremacy in redemption (vv. 18–20).

1:15 image. Christ is called the "image of God" here and in 2Co 4:4. In Heb 1:3 he is described as the "radiance of God's glory and the exact representation of his being." This figure of the image suggests two truths: (1) God is invisible ("No one has ever seen God," Jn 1:18); (2) Christ, who is the eternal Son of God and who became the the firstborn[j] over all creation. 16For by him all things were created:[k] things in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or powers or rulers or authorities;[l] all things were created by him and for him.[m] 17He is before all things,[n] and in him all things hold together. 18And he is the head[o] of the body, the church;[p] he is the beginning and the firstborn[q] from among the dead,[r] so that in everything he might have the supremacy. 19For God was pleased[s] to have all his fullness[t] dwell in him, 20and through him to reconcile[u] to himself all things, whether things on earth or things in heaven,[v] by making peace[w] through his blood,[x] shed on the cross.

21Once you were alienated from God and were enemies[y] in your minds[z] because of[t] your evil behavior. 22But now he has reconciled[a] you by Christ's physical body[b] through death to present you[c] holy in his sight, without blemish and free from accusation[d]— 23if you continue[e] in your faith, established[f] and firm, not moved from the hope[g] held out in the gospel. This is the gospel that you heard and that has been proclaimed to every creature under heaven,[h] and of which I, Paul, have become a servant.[i]

Paul's Labor for the Church

24Now I rejoice[j] in what was suffered for you, and I fill up in my flesh what is still lacking in regard to Christ's afflictions,[k] for the sake of his body, which is the church.[l] 25I have become its servant[m] by the commission God gave me[n] to present to you the word of God[o] in its fullness— 26the mystery[p] that has been kept hidden for ages and generations, but is now disclosed to the saints. 27To them God has chosen to make known[q] among the Gentiles the glorious riches[r] of this mystery, which is Christ in you,[s] the hope of glory.

28We proclaim him, admonishing[t] and teaching everyone with all wisdom,[u] so that we may present everyone perfect[v] in Christ. 29To this end I labor,[w] struggling[x] with all his energy, which so powerfully works in me.[y]

[t]21 Or minds, as shown by

God-man, reflects and reveals him (see also Jn 1:18; 14:9). firstborn over all creation. Just as the firstborn son had certain privileges and rights in the Biblical world, so also Christ has certain rights in relation to all creation— priority, preeminence and sovereignty (vv. 16–18).

1:16 by him all things were created. See Jn 1:3. Seven times in vv. 15–20 Paul mentions "all creation," "all things" and "everything," thus stressing that Christ is supreme over all. thrones or powers or rulers or authorities. Angels. An angelic hierarchy figured prominently in the Colossian heresy (see Introduction: The Colossian Heresy).

1:17 He is before all things. Referring to time, as in Jn 1:1–2; 8:58.

1:18 beginning. Of the new creation. firstborn. Christ was the first to rise from the dead with a resurrection body. Elsewhere Paul calls him the "firstfruits of those who have fallen asleep" (1Co 15:20). Others who were raised from the dead (2Ki 4:35; Lk 7:15; Jn 11:44; Ac 9:36–41; 20:7–11) were raised only to die again.

1:19 fullness. Part of the technical vocabulary of some Gnostic philosophies. In these systems it meant the sum of the supernatural forces controlling the fate of people. For Paul "fullness" meant the totality of God with all his powers and attributes (2:9).

1:20 reconcile to himself all things. Does not mean that Christ by his death has saved all people. Scripture speaks of an eternal hell and makes clear that only believers are saved. When Adam and Eve sinned, not only was the harmony between God and man destroyed, but also disorder came into creation (Ro 8:19–22). So when Christ died on the cross, he made peace possible between God and man, and he restored in principle the harmony in the physical world, though the full realization of the latter will come only when Christ returns (Ro 8:21).

1:22 death. Christ's death.

1:23 every creature. See note on v. 6.

1:24 what was suffered. By Paul. By preaching the gospel to the Gentiles, he experienced all kinds of affliction, but here he was probably referring especially to his imprisonment. fill up ... what is still lacking. Does not mean that there was a deficiency in the atoning sacrifice of Christ. Rather, it means that Paul suffered afflictions because he was preaching the good news of Christ's atonement. Christ suffered on the cross to atone for sin, and Paul filled up Christ's afflictions by experiencing the added sufferings necessary to carry this good news to a lost world.

1:25 to present ... the word of God in its fullness. The meaning seems to be that the word of God is brought to completion, i.e., to its intended purpose, only when it is proclaimed (cf. Isa 55:11). Paul's commission to bring the word to completion, therefore, required him to make the word of God heard in Colosse as well as elsewhere. See Ro 15:19 for a similar statement.

1:26 mystery. The purpose of God, unknown to man except by revelation. This word was a popular, pagan religious term, used in the mystery religions to refer to secret information available only to an exclusive group of people. Paul changes that meaning radically by always combining it with words such as "disclosed" (here), "made known" (Eph 1:9), "make plain" (Eph 3:9) and "revelation" (Ro 16:25). The Christian mystery is not secret knowledge for a few. It is a revelation of divine truths—once hidden but now openly proclaimed.

1:27 Gentiles ... Christ in you. The mystery is the fact that Christ indwells Gentiles, for it had not been previously revealed that the Gentiles would be admitted to the church on equal terms with Israel (see note on Eph 3:6).

1:28 perfect. Employed by the mystery religions and the Gnostics to describe those who had become possessors of the secrets or knowledge boasted of by the particular religion (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism). But in Christ every believer is one of the perfect.

2 I want you to know how much I am struggling[z] for you and for those at Laodicea,[a] and for all who have not met me personally. [2]My purpose is that they may be encouraged in heart[b] and united in love, so that they may have the full riches of complete understanding, in order that they may know the mystery[c] of God, namely, Christ, [3]in whom are hidden all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.[d] [4]I tell you this so that no one may deceive you by fine-sounding arguments.[e] [5]For though I am absent from you in body, I am present with you in spirit[f] and delight to see how orderly[g] you are and how firm[h] your faith in Christ[i] is.

Freedom From Human Regulations Through Life With Christ

[6]So then, just as you received Christ Jesus as Lord,[j] continue to live in him, [7]rooted[k] and built up in him, strengthened in the faith as you were taught,[l] and overflowing with thankfulness.

[8]See to it that no one takes you captive through hollow and deceptive philosophy,[m] which depends on human tradition and the basic principles of this world[n] rather than on Christ.

[9]For in Christ all the fullness[o] of the Deity lives in bodily form, [10]and you have been given fullness in Christ, who is the head[p] over every power and authority.[q] [11]In him you were also circumcised,[r] in the putting off of the sinful nature,[s] not with a circumcision done by the hands of men but with the circumcision done by Christ, [12]having been buried with him in baptism[t] and raised with him[u] through your faith in the power of God, who raised him from the dead.[v]

[13]When you were dead in your sins[w] and in the uncircumcision of your sinful nature,[h] God made you[i] alive[x] with Christ. He forgave us all our sins,[y] [14]having canceled the written code, with its regulations,[z] that was against us and that stood opposed to us; he took it away, nailing it to the cross.[a] [15]And having disarmed the powers and authorities,[b] he made a public spectacle of them, triumphing over them[c] by the cross.[j]

[16]Therefore do not let anyone judge you[d] by what you eat or drink,[e] or with regard to a religious festival,[f] a New Moon celebration[g] or a Sabbath day.[h] [17]These are a shadow of the things that were to come;[i] the reality, however, is found in Christ. [18]Do not let

[g] 11 Or the flesh [h] 13 Or your flesh [i] 13 Some manuscripts us [j] 15 Or them in him

2:1 Laodicea. This letter was to be read to the church there too (4:16). Laodicea (near modern Denizli) was only about 11 miles from Colosse.

2:2 mystery. See notes on 1:26; Ro 11:25.

2:3 knowledge. Paul stressed knowledge in this letter (v. 2; 1:9–10) because he was refuting a heresy that emphasized knowledge as the means of salvation (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism). Paul insisted that the Christian, not the Gnostic, possessed genuine knowledge.

2:5 absent . . . in body, . . . present . . . in spirit. Similar to 1Co 5:3.

2:6 live in him. The believer's intimate, spiritual, living union with Christ is mentioned repeatedly in this letter (see, e.g., vv. 7,10–13,20; 1:2,27–28; 3:1,3).

2:8 basic principles of this world. This term (which occurs also in v. 20 and Gal 4:3,9) means false, worldly, religious, elementary teachings. Paul was counteracting the Colossian heresy, which, in part, taught that for salvation one needed to combine faith in Christ with secret knowledge and with man-made regulations concerning such physical and external practices as circumcision, eating and drinking, and observance of religious festivals.

2:9 fullness of the Deity. See note on 1:19. The declaration that the very essence of deity was present in totality in Jesus' human body was a direct refutation of Gnostic teaching.

2:10–15 Here Paul declares that the Christian is complete in Christ, rather than being deficient as the Gnostics claimed. This completeness includes the putting off of the sinful nature (v. 11), resurrection from spiritual death (vv. 12–13), forgiveness (v. 13) and deliverance from legalistic requirements (v. 14) and from evil spirit beings (v. 15).

2:11–12 circumcision . . . baptism. In the Israelite faith, circumcision was a sign that the individual stood in covenant relation with God. While this is the only reference where circumcision is associated with baptism, some see the passage as implying that, for the Christian, water baptism is the parallel sign of the covenant relationship.

2:14 written code. A business term, meaning a certificate of indebtedness in the debtor's handwriting. Paul uses it as a designation for the Mosaic law, with all its regulations, under which everyone is a debtor to God.

2:15 having disarmed. Not only did God cancel out the accusations of the law against the Christian, but he also conquered and disarmed the evil angels (powers and authorities, 1:16; Eph 6:12), who entice people to follow asceticism and false teachings about Christ. The picture is of conquered soldiers stripped of their clothes as well as their weapons to symbolize their total defeat. triumphing over them. Lit. "leading them in a triumphal procession." The metaphor recalls a Roman general leading his captives through the streets of his city for all the citizens to see as evidence of his complete victory (see 2Co 2:14 and note). That Christ triumphed over the devil and his cohorts is seen from Mt 12:29; Lk 10:18; Ro 16:20.

2:17 shadow . . . reality. The ceremonial laws of the OT are here referred to as shadows (cf. Heb 8:5; 10:1) because they symbolically depicted the coming of Christ; so any insistence on the observance of such ceremonies is a failure to recognize that their fulfillment has already taken place. This element of the Colossian heresy was combined with a rigid asceticism, as vv. 20–21 reveal.

2:18 false humility. Humility in which one delights is of necessity mock humility. Paul may refer to a professed humility in view of the absolute God, who was believed to be so far above man that he could only be worshiped in the form of angels he had created. Second-century Gnosti-anyone who delights in false humility[j] and the worship of angels disqualify you for the prize.[k] Such a person goes into great detail about what he has seen, and his unspiritual mind puffs him up with idle notions. [19]He has lost connection with the Head,[l] from whom the whole body,[m] supported and held together by its ligaments and sinews, grows as God causes it to grow.[n]

[20]Since you died with Christ[o] to the basic principles of this world,[p] why, as though you still belonged to it, do you submit to its rules:[q] [21]"Do not handle! Do not taste! Do not touch!"? [22]These are all destined to perish[r] with use, because they are based on human commands and teachings.[s] [23]Such regulations indeed have an appearance of wisdom, with their self-imposed worship, their false humility[t] and their harsh treatment of the body, but they lack any value in restraining sensual indulgence.

Rules for Holy Living

3 Since, then, you have been raised with Christ,[u] set your hearts on things above, where Christ is seated at the right hand of God.[v] [2]Set your minds on things above, not on earthly things.[w] [3]For you died,[x] and your life is now hidden with Christ in God. [4]When Christ, who is your[k] life,[y] appears,[z] then you also will appear with him in glory.[a]

[5]Put to death,[b] therefore, whatever belongs to your earthly nature:[c] sexual immorality,[d] impurity, lust, evil desires and greed,[e] which is idolatry.[f] [6]Because of these, the wrath of God[g] is coming.[l] [7]You used to walk in these ways, in the life you once lived.[h] [8]But now you must rid yourselves[i] of all such things as these: anger, rage, malice, slander,[j] and filthy language from your lips.[k] [9]Do not lie to each other,[l] since you have taken off your old self[m] with its practices [10]and have put on the new self,[n] which is being renewed[o] in knowledge in the image of its Creator.[p] [11]Here there is no Greek or Jew,[q] circumcised or uncircumcised,[r] barbarian, Scythian, slave or free,[s] but Christ is all,[t] and is in all.

[12]Therefore, as God's chosen people, holy and dearly loved, clothe yourselves[u] with compassion, kindness, humility,[v] gentleness and patience.[w]

cism conceived of a list of spirit beings who had emanated from God and through whom God may be approached. disqualify. This term pictures an umpire or referee who excludes from competition any athlete who fails to follow the rules. The Colossians were not to permit any false teacher to deny the reality of their salvation because they were not delighting in mock humility and in the worship of angelic beings. what he has seen. Probably refers to professed visions by the false teachers.

2:19 lost connection with the Head. The central error of the Colossian heresy is a defective view of Christ, in which he is believed to be less than deity (see v. 9; 1:19).

2:20 basic principles. See note on v. 8.

2:21 Do not handle ... taste ... touch! The strict ascetic nature of the heresy is seen here. These prohibitions seem to carry OT ceremonial laws to the extreme.

2:23 A rather detailed analysis of the Colossian heresy: 1. It appeared to set forth an impressive system of religious philosophy. 2. It was, however, a system created by the false teachers themselves ("self-imposed"), rather than being of divine origin. 3. The false teachers attempted to parade their humility. 4. This may have been done by a harsh asceticism that brutally misused the body. Paul's analysis is that such practices are worthless because they totally fail to control sinful desires. self-imposed worship. The false teachers themselves had created the regulations of their heretical system. They were not from God.

3:1 then. "Then" (or "therefore") links the doctrinal section of the letter with the practical section, just as it does in Ro 12:1; Eph 4:1; Php 4:1. you have been raised. Verses 1–10 set forth what has been described as the indicative and the imperative (standing and state) of the Christian. The indicative statements describe the believer's position in Christ: He is dead (v. 3); he has been raised with Christ (v. 1); he is with Christ in heaven ("hidden with Christ," v. 3); he has "taken off the old self" (v. 9); and he has "put on the new self" (v. 10). The imperative statements indicate what the believer is to do as a result: He is to set his heart (or mind) on things above (vv. 1–2); he is to put to death practices that belong to his earthly nature (v. 5); and he is to rid himself of practices that characterized his unregenerate self (v. 8). In summary, he is called upon to become in daily experience what he is positionally in Christ (cf. Ro 6:1–13).

3:4 appears. Refers to Christ's second coming.

3:6 wrath of God. See note on Zec 1:2. God is unalterably opposed to sin and will invariably make sure that it is justly punished.

3:9–10 taken off ... put on. As one takes off dirty clothes and puts on clean ones, so the Christian is called upon to renounce his evil ways and live in accordance with the rules of Christ's kingdom (see vv. 12–14; cf. Gal 3:27).

3:10 renewed. See 2 Co 5:17. knowledge. See 1:10; 2:2–3. image of its Creator. See note on Ge 1:26.

3:11 barbarian. Someone who did not speak Greek and was thought to be uncivilized. Scythian. Scythians were known especially for their brutality and were considered by others as little better than wild beasts. They came originally from what is today south Russia. Christ is all, and is in all. Christ transcends all barriers and unifies people from all cultures, races and nations. Such distinctions are no longer significant. Christ alone matters.

3:12 God's chosen people. Israel was called this (Dt 4:37), and so is the Christian community (1Pe 2:9). Divine election is a constant theme in Paul's letters (see note on Eph 1:4), but the Bible never teaches that it dulls human responsibility. On the contrary, as this verse shows, it is precisely because the Christian has been elected to eternal salvation that he must put forth every effort to live the godly life. For Paul, divine sovereignty and human responsibility go hand in hand.

13Bear with each other[x] and forgive whatever grievances you may have against one another. Forgive as the Lord forgave you.[y] 14And over all these virtues put on love,[z] which binds them all together in perfect unity.[a] 15Let the peace of Christ[b] rule in your hearts, since as members of one body[c] you were called to peace.[d] And be thankful. 16Let the word of Christ[e] dwell in you richly as you teach and admonish one another with all wisdom,[f] and as you sing psalms,[g] hymns and spiritual songs with gratitude in your hearts to God.[h] 17And whatever you do,[i] whether in word or deed, do it all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks[j] to God the Father through him.

Rules for Christian Households

3:18–4:1pp — Eph 5:22–6:9

18Wives, submit to your husbands,[k] as is fitting in the Lord.

19Husbands, love your wives and do not be harsh with them.

20Children, obey your parents in everything, for this pleases the Lord.

21Fathers, do not embitter your children, or they will become discouraged.

22Slaves, obey your earthly masters in everything; and do it, not only when their eye is on you and to win their favor, but with sincerity of heart and reverence for the Lord. 23Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for men, 24since you know that you will receive an inheritance[l] from the Lord as a reward.[m] It is the Lord Christ you are serving. 25Anyone who does wrong will be repaid for his wrong, and there is no favoritism.[n]

4 Masters, provide your slaves with what is right and fair,[o] because you know that you also have a Master in heaven.

Further Instructions

2Devote yourselves to prayer,[p] being watchful and thankful. 3And pray for us, too, that God may open a door[q] for our message, so that we may proclaim the mystery[r] of Christ, for which I am in chains.[s] 4Pray that I may proclaim it clearly, as I should. 5Be wise[t] in the way you act toward outsiders;[u] make the most of every opportunity.[v] 6Let your conversation be always full of grace,[w] seasoned with salt,[x] so that you may know how to answer everyone.[y]

Final Greetings

7Tychicus[z] will tell you all the news about me. He is a dear brother, a faithful minister and fellow servant[a] in the Lord. 8I am sending him to you for the express purpose that you may know about our[m] circumstances and that he may encourage your hearts.[b] 9He is coming with Onesimus,[c] our faithful and dear brother, who is one of you.[d] They will tell you everything that is happening here.

[m] 8 Some manuscripts that he may know about your

3:15 peace of Christ. The attitude of peace that Christ alone gives—in place of the attitude of bitterness and quarrelsomeness. This attitude is to "rule" (lit. "function like an umpire") in all human relationships.

3:16 word of Christ. Refers especially to Christ's teaching, which in the time of the Colossians was transmitted orally. But by implication it includes the OT as well as the NT. psalms, hymns and spiritual songs. Some of the most important doctrines were expressed in Christian hymns preserved for us now only in Paul's letters (1:15–20; Eph 5:14; Php 2:6–11; 1Ti 3:16). "Psalms" refers to the OT psalms (see Lk 20:42; 24:44; Ac 1:20; 13:33), some of which may have been set to music by the church. "Psalm" could also describe a song newly composed for Christian worship (cf. 1Co 14:26, where "hymn" is lit. "psalm" in the Greek text). A "hymn" was a song of praise, especially used in a celebration (see Mk 14:26; Heb 2:12; see also Ac 16:25), much like the OT psalms that praised God for all that he is. A "song" recounted the acts of God and praised him for them (see Rev 5:9; 14:3; 15:3), much like the OT psalms that thanked God for all that he had done. See note on Eph 5:19.

3:18–4:1 See notes on Eph 5:22–6:9.

3:20 in everything. In everything not sinful (see Ac 5:29).

3:22–4:1 Paul neither condones slavery nor sanctions revolt against masters. Rather, he calls on both slaves and masters to show Christian principles in their relationship and thus to attempt to change the institution from within. The reason Paul writes more about slaves and masters than about wives, husbands, children and fathers may be that the slave Onesimus (4:9) is going along with Tychicus to deliver this Colossian letter and the letter to Philemon, Onesimus's master, who also lived in Colosse.

4:6 seasoned with salt. Salt is a preservative and is tasty. Similarly, the Christian's conversation is to be wholesome (see 3:8; Eph 4:29).

4:7 Tychicus. See note on Eph 6:21.

4:9–17 Onesimus (v. 9), Aristarchus (v. 10), Mark (v. 10), Epaphras (v. 12), Luke (v. 14), Demas (v. 14) and Archippus (v. 17) are mentioned in Philemon. This suggests that the letters to Colosse and Philemon were written at the same time and place.

4:9 Onesimus. See Introduction to Philemon: Recipient, Background and Purpose.

4:10 Aristarchus. A Macedonian, who is mentioned three times in Acts: 1. He was with Paul during the Ephesian riot (Ac 19:29) and therefore was known in Colosse. 2. Both he and Tychicus (Ac 20:4) were with Paul in Greece. 3. He accompanied Paul on his trip to Rome (Ac 27:2). Mark. The author of the second Gospel. Against Barnabas's advice, Paul refused to take Mark on the second missionary journey because Mark had "deserted" him at Pamphylia (Ac 15:38). But now—about 12 years later—the difficulties seem to have been ironed out, because Paul, both here and in Phm 24 (sent at the same time to Philemon, who was in Colosse), sends Mark's greetings. About five years later, Paul even writes that Mark "is very helpful to me in my ministry" (2Ti 4:11). See note on Ac 15:39.

sends you his greetings, as does Mark,[f] the cousin of Barnabas.[g] (You have received instructions about him; if he comes to you, welcome him.) [11]Jesus, who is called Justus, also sends greetings. These are the only Jews among my fellow workers[h] for the kingdom of God, and they have proved a comfort to me. [12]Epaphras,[i] who is one of you[j] and a servant of Christ Jesus, sends greetings. He is always wrestling in prayer for you,[k] that you may stand firm in all the will of God, mature[l] and fully assured. [13]I vouch for him that he is working hard for you and for those at Laodicea[m] and Hierapolis. [14]Our dear friend Luke,[n] the doctor, and Demas[o] send greetings. [15]Give my greetings to the brothers at Laodicea,[p] and to Nympha and the church in her house.[q]

[16]After this letter has been read to you, see that it is also read[r] in the church of the Laodiceans and that you in turn read the letter from Laodicea.

[17]Tell Archippus:[s] "See to it that you complete the work you have received in the Lord."[t]

4:13 Hierapolis. A town in Asia Minor (present-day Turkey), about 6 miles from Laodicea and 14 miles from Colosse. Its church may have been founded during Paul's three-year stay in Ephesus (Ac 19), but probably not by Paul himself (cf. 2:1).

4:14 Luke. Wrote about Paul in the book of Acts, having often accompanied him on his travels (see note on Ac 16:10). He was with Paul in Rome during his imprisonment (Ac 28), where this letter was written. Demas. A Christian worker who would later desert Paul (2Ti 4:10).

4:15 Nympha. Probably a Laodicean. church in her house. For the most part, the early church had no buildings, so it usually met for worship and instruction in homes. It often centered around one family, as, e.g., Priscilla and Aquila (Ro 16:5; 1Co 16:19), Philemon (Phm 2) and Mary the mother of John (Ac 12:12).

4:16 After this letter has been read to you. The practice of the early church was to read Paul's letters aloud to the assembled congregation. letter from Laodicea. Does not necessarily mean a letter by the Laodiceans. Rather, it could have been a letter that the Laodiceans were to lend to the Colossians—a letter that Paul had originally written to the Laodiceans. This may have been a fourth letter that Tychicus carried to this area in what is present-day Turkey, in addition to Ephesians, Colossians and Philemon. Or this letter could have been Paul's letter to the Ephesians—a circular letter making the rounds from Ephesus to Laodicea to Colosse (see Introduction to Ephesians: Author, Date and Place of Writing).

4:17 Archippus. Phm 2 calls him Paul's "fellow soldier."

4:18 Paul's custom was to dictate his letters (see Ro 16:22) and pen a few greetings himself (1Co 16:21; Gal 6:11; 2Th 3:17; Phm 19). His personal signature was the guarantee of the genuineness of the letter.

1 Thessalonians

Background of the Thessalonian Letters

It is helpful to trace the locations of Paul and his companions that relate to the Thessalonian correspondence. The travels were as follows:

1. Paul and Silas fled from Thessalonica to Berea (see Ac 17:10). Since Timothy is not mentioned, it is possible that he stayed in Thessalonica or went back to Philippi and then rejoined Paul and Silas in Berea (Ac 17:14).

2. Paul fled to Athens from Berean persecution, leaving Silas and Timothy in Berea (see Ac 17:14).

3. Paul sent word back, instructing Silas and Timothy to come to him in Athens (see Ac 17:15; see also note on 3:1–2).

4. Timothy rejoined Paul at Athens and was sent back to Thessalonica (see 3:1–5). Since Silas is not mentioned, it has been conjectured that he went back to Philippi when Timothy went to Thessalonica.

5. Paul moved on to Corinth (see Ac 18:1).

6. Silas and Timothy came to Paul in Corinth (see 3:6; Ac 18:5).

7. Paul wrote 1 Thessalonians and sent it to the church.

8. About six months later (A.D. 51/52) he sent 2 Thessalonians in response to further information about the church there.

Author, Date and Place of Writing

Both external and internal evidence (see 1:1; 2:18) support the view that Paul wrote 1 Thessalonians (from Corinth; see note on 3:1–2). Early church writers are agreed on the matter, with testimonies beginning as early as A.D. 140 (Marcion). Paul's known characteristics are apparent in the letter (3:1–2,8–11 compared with Ac 15:36; 2Co 11:28). Historical allusions in the book fit Paul's life as recounted in Acts and in his own letters (2:14–16 compared with Ac 17:5–10; 3:6 compared with Ac 17:16). In the face of such evidence, few have ever rejected authorship by Paul.

It is generally dated c. A.D. 51. Weighty support for this date was found in an inscription discovered at Delphi, Greece, that dates Gallio's proconsulship to c. 51–52 and thus places Paul at Corinth at the same time (see Ac 18:12–17). Except for the possibility of an early date for Galatians (48–49?), 1 Thessalonians is Paul's earliest canonical letter.

Thessalonica: The City and the Church

Thessalonica was a bustling seaport city at the head of the Thermaic Gulf. It was an important communication and trade center, located at the junction of the great Egnatian Way and the road leading north to the Danube. Its population numbered about 200,000, making it the largest city in Macedonia. It was also the capital of its province.

The background of the Thessalonian church is found in Ac 17:1–9. Since Paul began his ministry there in the Jewish synagogue, it is reasonable to assume that the new church included some Jews. However, 1:9–10; Ac 17:4 seem to indicate that the church was largely Gentile in membership.

Purpose

Paul had left Thessalonica abruptly (see Ac 17:5–10) after a rather brief stay. Recent converts from paganism (1:9) were thus left with little external support in the midst of persecution. Paul's purpose in writing this letter was to encourage the new converts in their trials (3:3–5), to give instruction concerning godly living (4:1–8), to urge some not to neglect daily work (4:11–12) and to give assurance concerning the future of believers who die before Christ returns (see Theme; see also notes on 4:13,15).

Theme

Although the thrust of the letter is varied (see Purpose), the subject of eschatology (doctrine of last things) seems to be predominant in both Thessalonian letters. Every chapter of 1 Thessalonians ends with a reference to the second coming of Christ, with ch. 4 giving it major consideration (1:9–10; 2:19–20; 3:13; 4:13–18; 5:23–24). Thus, the second coming seems to permeate the letter and may be viewed in some sense as its theme. The two letters are often designated as the eschatological letters of Paul.

1 Paul, Silas[aa] and Timothy,[b]

To the church of the Thessalonians[c] in God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ:

Grace and peace to you.[bd]

Thanksgiving for the Thessalonians' Faith

[2]We always thank God for all of you,[e] mentioning you in our prayers.[f] [3]We continually remember before our God and Father[g] your work produced by faith,[h] your labor prompted by love,[i] and your endurance inspired by hope[j] in our Lord Jesus Christ.

[4]For we know, brothers loved by God,[k] that he has chosen you, [5]because our gospel[l] came to you not simply with words, but also with power,[m] with the Holy Spirit and with deep conviction. You know[n] how we lived among you for your sake. [6]You became imitators of us[o] and of the Lord; in spite of severe suffering,[p] you welcomed the message with the joy[q] given by the Holy Spirit.[r] [7]And so you became a model[s] to all the believers in Macedonia[t] and Achaia.[u] [8]The Lord's message[v] rang out from you not only in Macedonia and Achaia—your faith in God has become known everywhere.[w] Therefore we do not need to say anything about it, [9]for they themselves report what kind of reception you gave us. They tell how you turned[x] to God from idols[y] to serve the living and true God,[z] [10]and to wait for his Son from heaven,[a] whom he raised from the dead[b]—Jesus, who rescues us from the coming wrath.[c]

Paul's Ministry in Thessalonica

2 You know, brothers, that our visit to you[d] was not a failure.[e] [2]We had previously suffered[f] and been insulted in Philippi,[g] as you know, but with the help of our God we dared to tell you his gospel in spite of strong opposition.[h] [3]For the appeal we make does not spring from error or impure motives,[i] nor are we trying to trick you.[j] [4]On the contrary, we speak as men approved by God

[a] 1 Greek Silvanus, a variant of Silas [b] 1 Some early manuscripts you from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ

1:1 Paul. See notes on Ac 9:1; 13:9; Php 3:4–14. Silas. See note on Ac 15:22. He accompanied Paul on most of his second missionary journey. Timothy. See Introduction to 1 Timothy: Recipient. Both he and Silas helped Paul found the Thessalonian church (see Ac 17:1–14). in. Indicates the vital union and living relationship that Christians have with the Father and the Son (see Jn 14:23; 17:21). The close connection between the Father and the Son points to the Trinitarian relationship (see 3:11; 2Th 1:2,8,12; 2:16; 3:5). Grace and peace. See notes on Jnh 4:2; Jn 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.

1:2 thank. See note on Php 1:3–4.

1:3 The triad of faith, hope and love is found often in the NT (5:8; Ro 5:2–5; 1Co 13:13; Gal 5:5–6; Col 1:4–5; Heb 6:10–12; 10:22–24; 1Pe 1:3–8,21–22). work produced by faith. Faith produces action (see Ro 1:5; 16:26; Gal 5:6; 2Th 1:11; Jas 2:14–26). hope. Not unfounded wishful thinking, but firm confidence in our Lord Jesus Christ and his return (v. 10). See Heb 6:18–20 and note on Col 1:5.

1:4 know. The reasons for Paul's conviction regarding their election are stated in vv. 5–10. brothers. United to each other through union with Christ. This term is used 28 times in the two letters to the Thessalonians. loved . . . chosen. Both words speak of God's electing love (see Col 3:12; 2Th 2:13; see also note on Eph 1:4).

1:5 our gospel. The gospel preached by Paul, Silas and Timothy and that they themselves had received by faith. It is first of all God the Father's (2:8) because he originated it, and Christ's (3:2) because it springs from his atoning death. power. The power that delivered them from spiritual bondage. That power is of the Holy Spirit (see Ro 15:13,18–19; 1Co 2:4–5), but it also resides in the gospel itself (see Ro 1:16). deep conviction. Such conviction, on the part of both the preachers and the Thessalonians, was also of the Holy Spirit.

1:6 imitators. The order in Christian imitation: (1) Believers in Macedonia and Achaia imitated the Thessalonians (v. 7), just as the Thessalonians imitated the churches in Judea (2:14); (2) the Thessalonians imitated Paul, just as the Corinthians did (1Co 4:6; 11:1) and just as all believers were to imitate their leaders (2Th 3:7,9; 1Ti 4:12; Tit 2:7; 1Pe 5:3); (3) Paul imitated Christ (1Co 11:1) as did the Thessalonians (v. 6); (4) all were to imitate God (Eph 5:1). severe suffering. Such as recorded in Ac 17:5–14 (see also 1Th 2:14).

1:7 Macedonia and Achaia. The two Roman provinces into which Greece was then divided (see Ac 19:21; Ro 15:26).

1:8 everywhere. In every place they visited or knew about (see Ro 1:8; 1Co 1:2; 2Co 2:14; 1Ti 2:8). The news spread because Thessalonica was on the important Egnatian Way; it was also a busy seaport and the capital of the Roman province of Macedonia.

1:9–10 Three marks of true conversion: (1) turning from idols, (2) serving God and (3) waiting for Christ to return. In his two short letters to the Thessalonians, Paul speaks much of the second coming of Christ (v. 10; 2:19; 3:13; 4:13–5:4; 2Th 1:7–10; 2:1–12).

1:10 Jesus. See NIV text note on Mt 1:21. wrath. Some see a reference here to the final judgment (see note on Ro 1:18), while others think it refers to a future period of tribulation.

2:1–12 A "manual" for a minister: 1. His message is God's good news ("gospel," v. 2). 2. His motive is not impurity (v. 3), pleasing people (v. 4), greed (v. 5) or seeking praise from people (v. 6), but pleasing God (v. 4). 3. His manner is not one of trickery (v. 3), flattery (v. 5) or a cover-up (v. 5), but of courage (v. 2), gentleness (v. 7), love (vv. 8,11), toil (v. 9) and holiness (v. 10).

2:1 You know. The local church could refute the accusation of insincerity that evidently had been leveled against Paul (v. 3).

2:2 insulted. Paul was deeply hurt by the way he had been treated in the city of Philippi (see Ac 16:19–40).

2:3 trick. The Greek for this word was originally used of a lure for catching fish; it came to be used of any sort of cunning used for profit.

2:4 our hearts. Not simply our emotions, but also our to be entrusted with the gospel.[k] We are not trying to please men[l] but God, who tests our hearts.[m] 5You know we never used flattery, nor did we put on a mask to cover up greed[n]—God is our witness.[o] 6We were not looking for praise from men,[p] not from you or anyone else.

As apostles[q] of Christ we could have been a burden to you,[r] 7but we were gentle among you, like a mother caring for her little children.[s] 8We loved you so much that we were delighted to share with you not only the gospel of God[t] but our lives as well,[u] because you had become so dear to us. 9Surely you remember, brothers, our toil and hardship; we worked[v] night and day in order not to be a burden to anyone[w] while we preached the gospel of God to you.

10You are witnesses,[x] and so is God,[y] of how holy,[z] righteous and blameless we were among you who believed. 11For you know that we dealt with each of you as a father deals with his own children,[a] 12encouraging, comforting and urging you to live lives worthy[b] of God, who calls[c] you into his kingdom and glory.

13And we also thank God continually[d] because, when you received the word of God,[e] which you heard from us, you accepted it not as the word of men, but as it actually is, the word of God, which is at work in you who believe. 14For you, brothers, became imitators[f] of God's churches in Judea,[g] which are in Christ Jesus: You suffered from your own countrymen[h] the same things those churches suffered from the Jews, 15who killed the Lord Jesus[i] and the prophets[j] and also drove us out. They displease God and are hostile to all men 16in their effort to keep us from speaking to the Gentiles[k] so that they may be saved. In this way they always heap up their sins to the limit.[l] The wrath of God has come upon them at last.[c]

Paul's Longing to See the Thessalonians

17But, brothers, when we were torn away from you for a short time (in person, not in thought),[m] out of our intense longing we made every effort to see you.[n] 18For we wanted to come to you—certainly I, Paul, did, again and again—but Satan[o] stopped us.[p] 19For what is our hope, our joy, or the crown[q] in which we will glory[r] in the presence of our Lord Jesus when he comes?[s] Is it not you? 20Indeed, you are our glory[t] and joy.

3 So when we could stand it no longer,[u] we thought it best to be left by ourselves in Athens.[v] 2We sent Timothy,[w] who is our brother and God's fellow worker[d][x] in spreading the gospel of Christ,[y] to strengthen and encourage you in your faith, 3so that no one would intellects and wills.

2:5 mask. Personal profit was never Paul's aim.

2:6 burden. Apostles were entitled to be supported by the church (see 1Co 9:3–14; 2Co 11:7–11). Paul did not always take advantage of the right, but insisted that he had it.

2:9 toil and hardship. Greeks despised manual labor and viewed it as fit only for slaves, but Paul was not ashamed of doing any sort of work that would help further the gospel. He did not want to be unduly dependent on others.

2:12 live lives worthy of God. See Eph 4:1. calls. See note on 1:4. kingdom. The chief subject of Jesus' teaching. Paul did not use this term often, but used it once to sum up the message of his preaching (Ac 20:25).

2:13 not as the word of men. Not tailored to fit the popular knowledge of the day.

2:14 You suffered from your own countrymen. At the time of Paul's initial visit to Thessalonica, persecution instigated by the Jews apparently was carried out by Gentiles (see Ac 17:5–9). Jews. Although Paul had great love and deep concern for the salvation of those of his own race (see Ro 9:1–3; 10:1), he did not fail to rebuke harshly Jews who persecuted the church.

2:15 prophets. Throughout OT history, Israelites had persecuted their prophets (cf. Ac 7:52).

2:16 wrath of God has come. The eschatological wrath, the final outpouring of God's anger upon sinful mankind (see 1:10). It is spoken of as already present, either because it had been partially experienced by the Jews or because of its absolute certainty.

2:17 torn away. Lit. "orphaned." Paul is like a mother (v. 7), a father (v. 11) and now an orphan.

2:19 crown. Not a royal crown, but a wreath used on festive occasions or as the prize in the Greek games. when he comes. The expression was used regarding the arrival of a great person, as on a royal visit.

2:20 you are our glory and joy. True both now (cf. Php 4:1) and when Christ returns.

3:1–2 Paul first went to Athens alone, then sent to Berea for Silas and Timothy (Ac 17:14–15). It is not clear whether Silas, as instructed (Ac 17:15), came to Athens with Timothy. However, when Timothy later returned from Thessalonica to Paul, who was now at Corinth, Silas came with him (Ac 18:5). See Introduction: Background of the Thessalonian Letters.

3:1 we. An editorial "we," referring to Paul alone.

3:2 God's fellow worker. A striking way of viewing Christian service, found also in 1Co 3:9. gospel of Christ. See notes on 1:5; Mk 1:1. strengthen. In Greek classical literature the word was generally used in the literal sense of putting a buttress on a building. In the NT it is mainly used figuratively, as here.

3:3 trials. The opposition and persecution suffered by the Thessalonian converts. Christians must expect troubles (see Mk 4:17; Jn 16:33; Ac 14:22; 2Ti 3:12; 1Pe 4:12), but these are not disasters, for they advance God's purposes (see Ac 11:19; Ro 5:3; 2Co 1:4; 4:17).

be unsettled by these trials.[z] You know quite well that we were destined for them.[a] [4]In fact, when we were with you, we kept telling you that we would be persecuted. And it turned out that way, as you well know.[b] [5]For this reason, when I could stand it no longer,[c] I sent to find out about your faith.[d] I was afraid that in some way the tempter[e] might have tempted you and our efforts might have been useless.[f]

Timothy's Encouraging Report

[6]But Timothy[g] has just now come to us from you[h] and has brought good news about your faith and love.[i] He has told us that you always have pleasant memories of us and that you long to see us, just as we also long to see you.[j] [7]Therefore, brothers, in all our distress and persecution we were encouraged about you because of your faith. [8]For now we really live, since you are standing firm[k] in the Lord. [9]How can we thank God enough for you[l] in return for all the joy we have in the presence of our God because of you?[m] [10]Night and day we pray[n] most earnestly that we may see you again[o] and supply what is lacking in your faith.

[11]Now may our God and Father[p] himself and our Lord Jesus clear the way for us to come to you. [12]May the Lord make your love increase and overflow for each other[q] and for everyone else, just as ours does for you. [13]May he strengthen your hearts so that you will be blameless[r] and holy in the presence of our God and Father[s] when our Lord Jesus comes[t] with all his holy ones.[u]

Living to Please God

4 Finally, brothers,[v] we instructed you how to live[w] in order to please God,[x] as in fact you are living. Now we ask you and urge you in the Lord Jesus to do this more and more. [2]For you know what instructions we gave you by the authority of the Lord Jesus.

[3]It is God's will[y] that you should be sanctified: that you should avoid sexual immorality;[z] [4]that each of you should learn to control his own body[e][a] in a way that is holy and honorable, [5]not in passionate lust[b] like the heathen,[c] who do not know God;[d] [6]and that in this matter no one should wrong his brother or take advantage of him.[e] The Lord will punish men[f] for all such sins,[g] as we have already told you and warned you. [e]4 Or learn to live with his own wife; or learn to acquire a wife

3:5 I. Paul uses the Greek emphatic pronoun (elsewhere used only in 2:18) to bring out his deep concern. tempter. Satan is spoken of in every major division of the NT. He is supreme among evil spirits (see Jn 16:11; Eph 2:2). His activities can affect the physical (see 2Co 12:7) and the spiritual (see Mt 13:39; Mk 4:15; 2Co 4:4). He tempted Jesus (Mt 4:1–11), and he continues to tempt Jesus' servants (see Lk 22:3; 1Co 7:5). He hinders missionary work (2:18). But he has already been defeated (see Col 2:15), and Christians need not be overwhelmed by him (see Eph 6:16). His final overthrow is certain (see Rev 20:10).

3:6 brought good news. The only place where the Greek for this phrase is used by Paul for anything other than the gospel. Three things caused him joy: (1) "your faith"—a right attitude toward God; (2) "your ... love"—a right attitude toward man; (3) "you long to see us"—a right attitude toward Paul.

3:9 thank God. The preceding shows that Paul's work of evangelism had been effective. He might have congratulated himself on work well done, but instead he thanked God for the joy he had from what God had done.

3:10 Night and day. Not prayer at two set times, but frequent prayer (see 1:2–3). most earnestly. Translates a strong and unusual Greek compound word (found elsewhere in the NT only in 5:13; Eph 3:20) that brings out Paul's passionate longing. what is lacking. Some of the things lacking were of a practical nature, such as moral (4:1–12) and disciplinary matters (5:12–24). Others were doctrinal, such as confusion over Christ's return (4:13–5:11). your faith. The fifth time in the chapter that Paul speaks of their faith (see vv. 2,5–7).

3:11 In the middle of a letter Paul frequently breaks into prayer (e.g., Eph 1:15–23; 3:14–21; Php 1:9–11; Col 1:9–12). For the link between Father and Son see note on 1:1.

3:12 the Lord. In Paul's writings this usually means Jesus rather than the Father.

3:13 strengthen. See note on v. 2. holy. The basic idea is "set apart [for God]." Here it refers to the completed process of sanctification (see note on 1Co 1:2). holy ones. Used of the saints (Christians) in many NT passages. Here it may mean the departed saints who will return with Jesus, or it may mean the angels or, probably, both.

4:1 Finally. The main section of the letter is finished, though much is yet to come (see Php 3:1 and note). live. Lit. "walk." Paul uses this metaphor often of the Christian way (see Ro 6:4; 2Co 5:7; Eph 4:1; 5:17; Col 1:10, "live a life"; 2:6; 4:5, "act"). It points to steady progress. we ask you and urge you. Paul is not arrogant, but he does speak with authority in the Lord Jesus. He has the "mind of Christ" (1Co 2:16).

4:2 instructions. Used of authoritative commands and has a military ring (see Ac 5:28; 16:24).

4:3 sanctified. See note on 3:13. sexual immorality. In the first century moral standards were generally very low, and chastity was regarded as an unreasonable restriction. Paul, however, would not compromise God's clear and demanding standards. The warning was needed, for Christians were not immune to the temptation (see 1Co 5:1).

4:5 like the heathen. The Christian is to be different.

4:6 wrong his brother. Sexual sin harms others besides those who engage in it. In adultery, e.g., the spouse is always wronged. Premarital sex wrongs the future partner by robbing him or her of the virginity that ought to be brought to marriage. The Lord will punish. A motive for chastity.

4:7 Another reason for chastity is God's call to holiness.

be impure, but to live a holy life.[h] 8Therefore, he who rejects this instruction does not reject man but God, who gives you his Holy Spirit.[i]

9Now about brotherly love[j] we do not need to write to you,[k] for you yourselves have been taught by God[l] to love each other.[m] 10And in fact, you do love all the brothers throughout Macedonia.[n] Yet we urge you, brothers, to do so more and more.[o]

11Make it your ambition to lead a quiet life, to mind your own business and to work with your hands,[p] just as we told you, 12so that your daily life may win the respect of outsiders[q] and so that you will not be dependent on anybody.

The Coming of the Lord

13Brothers, we do not want you to be ignorant[r] about those who fall asleep,[s] or to grieve like the rest of men, who have no hope.[t] 14We believe that Jesus died and rose again[u] and so we believe that God will bring with Jesus those who have fallen asleep in him.[v] 15According to the Lord's own word, we tell you that we who are still alive, who are left till the coming of the Lord,[w] will certainly not precede those who have fallen asleep.[x] 16For the Lord himself will come down from heaven,[y] with a loud command, with the voice of the archangel[z] and with the trumpet call of God,[a] and the dead in Christ will rise first.[b] 17After that, we who are still alive and are left[c] will be caught up together with them in the clouds[d] to meet the Lord in the air. And so we will be with the Lord[e] forever. 18Therefore encourage each other[f] with these words.

5 Now, brothers, about times and dates[g] we do not need to write to you,[h] 2for you know very well that the day of the Lord[i] will come like a thief in the night.[j] 3While people are saying,

4:8 God, who gives you his Holy Spirit. Still another reason for chastity is that sexual sin is against God, who gives the Holy Spirit to believers for their sanctification. To live in sexual immorality is to reject God, specifically in regard to the Holy Spirit.

4:9 brotherly love. Translates philadelphia, a Greek word that outside the NT almost without exception denoted the mutual love of children of the same father. In the NT it always means love of fellow believers in Christ, all of whom have the same heavenly Father. taught by God. Cf. Isa 54:13; Jn 6:45; 1Co 2:13.

4:11 Some Thessalonians, probably because of idleness, were taking undue interest in other people's affairs. work with your hands. The Greeks in general thought manual labor degrading and fit only for slaves. Christians took seriously the need for earning their own living, but some of the Thessalonians, perhaps as a result of their belief in the imminent return of Christ (see 2Th 3:11), were neglecting work and relying on others to support them.

4:12 not be dependent on anybody. Or "have need of nothing." Both meanings are true and significant. Christians in need because of their idleness are not obedient Christians.

4:13 those who fall asleep. For the Christian, sleep is a particularly apt metaphor for death, since death's finality and horror are removed by the assurance of resurrection. Some of the Thessalonians seem to have misunderstood Paul and thought all believers would live until Christ returns. When some died, the question arose, "Will those who have died have part in that great day?" See note on v. 15. who have no hope. Inscriptions on tombs and references in literature show that first-century pagans viewed death with horror, as the end of everything. The Christian attitude was in strong contrast (see 1Co 15:55–57; Php 1:21–23).

4:14 died. Paul does not say that Christ "slept," perhaps to underscore the fact that he bore the full horror of death so that those who believe in him would not have to. rose again. For the importance of the resurrection see 1Co 15, especially vv. 14,17–22. those who have fallen asleep in him. Believers who have died, trusting in Jesus.

4:15 According to the Lord's own word. The doctrine mentioned here is not recorded in the Gospels and was either a direct revelation to Paul or something Jesus said that Christians passed on orally. we who are still alive. Those believers who will be alive when Christ returns. "We" does not necessarily mean that Paul thought that he would be alive then. He often identified himself with those he wrote to or about. Elsewhere he says that God will raise "us" at that time (1Co 6:14; 2Co 4:14). will certainly not precede. The Thessalonians had evidently been concerned that those among them who died would miss their place in the great events when the Lord comes, and Paul assures them this will not be the case.

4:16 the Lord himself. See Ac 1:11. archangel. The only named archangel in the Bible is Michael (Jude 9; see Da 10:13). In Scripture, Gabriel is simply called an angel (Lk 1:19,26). will rise first. Before the ascension of believers mentioned in the next verse.

4:17 we who are still alive. See note on v. 15. caught up. The only place in the NT where a "rapture" (from the Latin Vulgate rendering) is clearly referred to. Some hold that this will be secret, but Paul seems to be describing something open and public, with loud voices and a trumpet blast. with the Lord. The chief hope of the believer (see 5:10; Jn 14:3; 2Co 5:8; Php 1:23; Col 3:4).

4:18 encourage each other. The primary purpose of vv. 13–18 is not to give a chronology of future events, though that is involved, but to urge mutual encouragement, as shown here and in v. 13.

5:1 times and dates. See Ac 1:6–7. There have always been some Christians who try to fix the date of our Lord's return, but apparently the Thessalonians were not among them.

5:2 day of the Lord. See 1Co 5:5. The expression goes back to Am 5:18. In the OT it is a time when God will come and intervene with judgment and/or blessing. In the NT the thought of judgment continues (see Ro 2:5; 2Pe 2:9), but it is also the "day of redemption" (Eph 4:30); the "day of God" (2Pe 3:12), or of Christ (1Co 1:8; Php 1:6); and the "last day" (Jn 6:39), the "great Day" (Jude 6) or simply "the day" (2Th 1:10). It is the consummation of all things. There will be some preliminary signs (e.g., 2Th 2:3), but the coming will be as unexpected as that of a thief in the night (cf. Mt 24:43–44; Lk 12:39–40; 2Pe 3:10; Rev 3:3; 16:15).

5:3 destruction. Not annihilation, but exclusion from the Lord's presence (2Th 1:9); thus the ruin of life and all its proud accomplishments. suddenly. Paul stresses the sur-

"Peace and safety,"[k] destruction will come on them suddenly,[l] as labor pains on a pregnant woman, and they will not escape.[m] 4But you, brothers, are not in darkness[n] so that this day should surprise you like a thief.[o] 5You are all sons of the light[p] and sons of the day. We do not belong to the night or to the darkness. 6So then, let us not be like others, who are asleep,[q] but let us be alert[r] and self-controlled.[s] 7For those who sleep, sleep at night, and those who get drunk, get drunk at night.[t] 8But since we belong to the day,[u] let us be self-controlled, putting on faith and love as a breastplate,[v] and the hope of salvation[w] as a helmet.[x] 9For God did not appoint us to suffer wrath[y] but to receive salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ.[z] 10He died for us so that, whether we are awake or asleep, we may live together with him.[a] 11Therefore encourage one another[b] and build each other up,[c] just as in fact you are doing.

Final Instructions

12Now we ask you, brothers, to respect those who work hard[d] among you, who are over you in the Lord[e] and who admonish you. 13Hold them in the highest regard in love because of their work. Live in peace with each other.[f] 14And we urge you, brothers, warn those who are idle,[g] encourage the timid, help the weak,[h] be patient with everyone. 15Make sure that nobody pays back wrong for wrong,[i] but always try to be kind to each other[j] and to everyone else.

16Be joyful always;[k] 17pray continually;[l] 18give thanks in all circumstances,[m] for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus.

19Do not put out the Spirit's fire;[n] 20do not treat prophecies[o] with contempt. 21Test everything.[p] Hold on to the good.[q] 22Avoid every kind of evil.

prise of unbelievers. He uses a word found elsewhere in the NT only in Lk 21:34 ("unexpectedly"). labor pains. Here the idea is not the pain of childbirth so much as the suddenness and inevitability of such pains. not. An emphatic double negative in the Greek, a construction Paul uses only four times in all his writings.

5:4 darkness. Believers no longer live in darkness, nor are they of the darkness (v. 5). See Jn 1:5; Ac 26:18. thief. See note on v. 2.

5:5 In Semitic languages (such as Hebrew) to be the "son of" a quality meant to be characterized by that quality. Christians do not simply live in the light; they are characterized by light.

5:6 asleep. Unbelievers are spiritually insensitive, but this kind of sleep is not for "sons of the light." be alert. Lit. "watch," which is in keeping with the emphasis Paul is placing on Christ's coming (cf. Mt 24:42–43; 25:13; Mk 13:34–37). self-controlled. A contrast with the conduct mentioned in v. 7.

5:8 the day. A reference to the light that characterizes Christians; perhaps it refers also to the coming of Christ (see v. 2 and note). breastplate ... helmet. Paul also uses the metaphor of armor in Ro 13:12; 2Co 6:7; 10:4; Eph 6:13–17. He does not consistently attach a particular virtue to each piece of armor; it is the general idea of equipment for battle that is pictured. For the triad of faith, hope and love see note on 1:3.

5:9 appoint. God's appointment, not man's choice, is the significant thing. wrath. See note on 1:10. salvation. Our final, completed salvation.

5:10 are awake or asleep. That is, "live or die"; or, if the sense is moral, "are alert or carnal" (see v. 6). with him. To be Christ's is to have entered a relationship that nothing can destroy.

5:11 build ... up. The verb basically applies to building houses, but Paul frequently used it for Christians being edified.

5:12 those who work hard among you. Not much is known about the organization and leadership of the church at this period, but the reference is possibly to elders.

5:13 because of their work. Not merely because of personal attachment or respect for their high position, but in appreciation for their work. Live in peace. The words apply to Christian relationships in general, but here they probably refer especially to right relations between leaders and those under them.

5:14 those who are idle. Loafers. It seems that some Thessalonians were so sure that the second coming was close that they had given up their jobs in order to prepare for it, but Paul says they should work. the timid ... the weak. These are to be helped, not rejected, by the strong (cf. Ro 14:1–15; 1Co 8:13).

5:15 pays back. Retaliation is never a Christian option (cf. Ro 12:17; 1Pe 3:9). Christians are called to forgive (see Mt 5:38–42; 18:21–35).

5:16 People are naturally happy on some occasions, but the Christian's joy is not dependent on circumstances. It comes from what Christ has done, and it is constant.

5:17 For the practice of continual (or regular) prayer see 1:3; 2:13; Ro 1:9–10; Eph 6:18; Col 1:3; 2Ti 1:3.

5:18 As in v. 16, Christians are differentiated from the natural man. Because of what God has done, they are continually thankful whatever the circumstances (cf. Eph 5:20).

5:19 Spirit's fire. There is a warmth, a glow, about the Spirit's presence that makes this language appropriate. The kind of conduct Paul is opposing may include loafing, immorality and the other sins he has denounced. On the other hand, he may be warning against a mechanical attitude toward worship that discourages the expression of the gifts of the Spirit in the local assembly (see v. 20).

5:20 prophecies. For the gift of prophecy see Ro 12:6; 1Co 12:10,28; 13:2; 14; Eph 4:11. For the function of prophecies see 1Co 14:3.

5:21 Test everything. The approval of prophecy (v. 20) does not mean that anyone who claims to speak in the name of the Lord is to be accepted without question. Paul does not say what specific tests are to be applied, but he is clear that every teaching must be tested—surely they must be in agreement with his gospel.

5:23 A typical prayer. God of peace. A fitting reference to God in view of vv. 12–15. But Paul often refers to God in peace,[r] sanctify you through and through. May your whole spirit, soul[s] and body be kept blameless[t] at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.[u] 24The one who calls[v] you is faithful[w] and he will do it.[x]

25Brothers, pray for us.[y] 26Greet all the brothers with a holy kiss.[z] 27I charge you before the Lord to have this letter read to all the brothers.[a]

28The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.[b]

5:23 [r] S Ro 15:33; [s] Heb 4:12; [t] S 1Th 3:13; [u] S 1Th 2:19; 5:24 [v] S Ro 8:28; [w] S 1Co 1:9; [x] Nu 23:19; Php 1:6; 5:25 [y] Eph 6:19; Col 4:3; 2Th 3:1; Heb 13:18 5:26 [z] S Ro 16:16 5:27 [a] 2Th 3:14; S 1Ti 4:13 5:28 [b] S Ro 16:20

this way near the end of his letters (see Ro 15:33; 16:20; 1Co 14:33; 2Co 13:11; Php 4:9; cf. 2Th 3:16). your whole spirit, soul and body. Paul is emphasizing the whole person, not attempting to differentiate the parts.

5:24 Paul's confidence rests in the nature of God (cf. Ge 18:25), who can be relied on to complete what he begins (see Nu 23:19; Php 1:6).

5:26 all. Paul sent a warm greeting to everyone, even those he had corrected. holy kiss. A kiss was a normal greeting of that day, similar to our modern handshake (cf. Ro 16:16; 1Co 16:20; 2Co 13:12; and a "kiss of love," 1Pe 5:14).

5:27 I charge you. Surprisingly strong language, meaning "I put you on oath." Paul clearly wanted every member of the church to read or hear his letter and to know of his concern and advice for them.

5:28 Paul always ended his letters with a benediction of grace for his readers, sometimes adding other blessings, as in 2Co 13:14.

2 Thessalonians

See Introduction to 1 Thessalonians.

Author, Date and Place of Writing

Paul's authorship of 2 Thessalonians has been questioned more often than that of 1 Thessalonians, in spite of the fact that it has more support from early Christian writers. Objections are based on internal factors rather than on the adequacy of the statements of the church fathers. It is thought that there are differences in the vocabulary (ten words not used elsewhere), in the style (it is said to be unexpectedly formal) and in the eschatology (the doctrine of the "man of lawlessness" is not taught elsewhere). However, such arguments have not convinced current scholars. A majority still hold to Paul's authorship of 2 Thessalonians.

Because of its similarity to 1 Thessalonians, it must have been written not long after the first letter—perhaps about six months. The situation in the church seems to have been much the same. Paul probably penned it (see 1:1; 3:17) c. A.D. 51 or 52 in Corinth, after Silas and Timothy had returned from delivering 1 Thessalonians.

Purpose

Inasmuch as the situation in the Thessalonian church has not changed substantially, Paul's purpose in writing is very much the same as in his first letter to them. He writes (1) to encourage persecuted believers (1:4–10), (2) to exhort the Thessalonians to be steadfast and to work for a living (2:13—3:15) and (3) to correct a misunderstanding concerning the Lord's return (2:1–12).

Theme

Like 1 Thessalonians, this letter deals extensively with eschatology (see Introduction to 1 Thessalonians: Theme). In fact, in 2 Thessalonians 18 out of 47 verses (38 percent) deal with this subject.

Outline

I. Introduction (ch. 1)
   A. Salutation (1:1–2)
   B. Thanksgiving for Their Faith, Love and Perseverance (1:3–10)
   C. Intercession for Their Spiritual Progress (1:11–12)
II. Instruction (ch. 2)
   A. Prophecy regarding the Day of the Lord (2:1–12)
   B. Thanksgiving for Their Election and Calling (Their Position) (2:13–15)
   C. Prayer for Their Service and Testimony (Their Practice) (2:16–17)
III. Injunctions (ch. 3)
   A. Call to Prayer (3:1–3)
   B. Charge to Discipline for the Disorderly and Lazy (3:4–15)
   C. Conclusion, Greeting and Benediction (3:16–18)

1 Paul, Silas[aa] and Timothy,[b]

To the church of the Thessalonians[c] in God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ:

[2]Grace and peace to you from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.[d]

Thanksgiving and Prayer

[3]We ought always to thank God for you,[e] brothers, and rightly so, because your faith is growing more and more, and the love every one of you has for each other is increasing.[f] [4]Therefore, among God's churches we boast[g] about your perseverance and faith[h] in all the persecutions and trials you are enduring.[i]

[5]All this is evidence[j] that God's judgment is right, and as a result you will be counted worthy[k] of the kingdom of God, for which you are suffering. [6]God is just:[l] He will pay back trouble to those who trouble you[m] [7]and give relief to you who are troubled, and to us as well. This will happen when the Lord Jesus is revealed from heaven[n] in blazing fire[o] with his powerful angels.[p] [8]He will punish[q] those who do not know God[r] and do not obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus.[s] [9]They will be punished with everlasting destruction[t] and shut out from the presence of the Lord[u] and from the majesty of his power[v] [10]on the day[w] he comes to be glorified[x] in his holy people and to be marveled at among all those who have believed. This includes you, because you believed our testimony to you.[y]

[11]With this in mind, we constantly pray for you,[z] that our God may count you worthy[a] of his calling,[b] and that by his power he may fulfill every good purpose[c] of yours and every act prompted by your faith.[d] [12]We pray this so that the name of our Lord Jesus may be glorified in you,[e] and you in him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ.[b]

The Man of Lawlessness

[a]1 Greek Silvanus, a variant of Silas [b]12 Or God and Lord, Jesus Christ

1:1–2 See note on 1Th 1:1.

1:3 ought. Paul is obliged to give thanks where it is due (cf. 1Th 1:7–8; see note on Php 1:3–4). brothers. See note on 1Th 1:4. faith . . . love. Two virtues that Paul had been pleased to acknowledge in the Thessalonian church (see 1Th 3:6–7), but that were also somewhat lacking (1Th 3:10,12). is increasing. The same verb Paul had used in his prayer that their love might grow (1Th 3:12). He is recording an exact answer to prayer.

1:4 we. Emphatic, "we ourselves." Paul seems to imply that it was unusual for the founders of a church to boast about it, though others might do so (cf. 1Th 1:9). But the Thessalonians were so outstanding that Paul departed from normal practice. persecutions and trials. See 1Th 1:6; 2:14; 3:3.

1:5 evidence that God's judgment is right. The evidence was in the way the Thessalonians endured trials. The judgment on them was right because God did not leave them to their own resources. He provided strength to endure, and this in turn produced spiritual and moral character. It also proved that God was on their side and gave a warning to their persecutors (cf. Php 1:28). kingdom of God. See notes on 1Th 2:12; Mt 3:2. for which. That is, "in the interest of which" or "in behalf of which."

1:6 God is just. The justice of God brings punishment on unrepentant sinners (cf. Mk 9:47–48; Lk 13:3–5), and it may be in the here and now (see Ro 1:24,26,28) as well as on judgment day.

1:7 give relief. Retribution not only involves punishment of the evil but also relief for the righteous. us as well. Paul was no academic theologian writing in comfort from a distance; rather, he was suffering just as they were. revealed. Christ is now hidden, and many people even deny his existence. But at his second coming he will be seen by everyone for who he is. blazing fire. He comes to punish wickedness (cf. Isa 66:15; Rev 1:14). his powerful angels. Perhaps a class of angels (such a group is mentioned in apocalyptic writings) given special power to do God's will.

1:8 do not know God. Does not refer to those who have never heard of the true God but to those who refuse to recognize him (cf. 2:10,12; Ro 1:28). do not obey. The gospel invites acceptance, and rejection is disobedience to a royal invitation.

1:9 destruction. Not annihilation (see note on 1Th 5:3). Paul uses the word in 1Co 5:5, possibly of the destruction of the "flesh" (see NIV text note there) for the purpose of salvation. Since, however, salvation implies resurrection of the body, annihilation cannot be in mind. The word means something like "complete ruin." Here it means being shut out from Christ's presence. This eternal separation is the penalty of sin and the essence of hell.

1:10 the day. See note on 1Th 5:2. glorified in his holy people. Not simply "among" but "in" them. His glory is seen in what they are. holy people. See note on 1Th 3:13. our testimony. The preaching of the gospel is essentially bearing testimony to what God has done in Christ.

1:11 constantly pray. See note on 1Th 5:17. good purpose. Lit. "resolve of goodness." God initiates every good purpose and every act prompted by faith; Paul prays accordingly that he will bring them to fulfillment.

1:12 name. In ancient times one's name was often more than a personal label; it summed up what a person was. Paul looks for glory to be ascribed to Christ for all he will do in the lives of the Thessalonian Christians.

2:1 coming. See note on 1Th 2:19. The second coming of Christ is the principal topic of 2 Thessalonians. What Paul wrote was supplemental to his oral teaching and the instructions contained in his earlier letter. gathered to him. See note on 1Th 4:17.

2:2 unsettled. The Greek for this verb was often used of a ship adrift from its mooring, and suggests lack of stability. alarmed. Jesus issued a similar instruction, using the same verb (Mk 13:7). some. Paul seems to be uncertain about what was disturbing them, so he uses a general expression. prophecy. Lit. "spirit," denoting any inspired revela-to become easily unsettled or alarmed by some prophecy, report or letter[h] supposed to have come from us, saying that the day of the Lord[i] has already come.[j] 3Don't let anyone deceive you[k] in any way, for [that day will not come] until the rebellion[l] occurs and the man of lawlessness[c] is revealed,[m] the man doomed to destruction. 4He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God[n] or is worshiped, so that he sets himself up in God's temple, proclaiming himself to be God.[o]

5Don't you remember that when I was with you I used to tell you these things?[p] 6And now you know what is holding him back,[q] so that he may be revealed at the proper time. 7For the secret power of lawlessness is already at work; but the one who now holds it back[r] will continue to do so till he is taken out of the way. 8And then the lawless one will be revealed,[s] whom the Lord Jesus will overthrow with the breath of his mouth[t] and destroy by the splendor of his coming.[u] 9The coming of the lawless one will be in accordance with the work of Satan[v] displayed in all kinds of counterfeit miracles, signs and wonders,[w] 10and in every sort of evil that deceives those who are perishing.[x] They perish because they refused to love the truth and so be saved.[y] 11For this reason God sends them[z] a powerful delusion[a] so that they will believe the lie[b] 12and so that all will be condemned who have not believed the truth but have delighted in wickedness.[c]

Stand Firm

13But we ought always to thank God for you,[d] brothers loved by the Lord, because from the beginning God chose you[de] to be saved[f] through the sanctifying work of the Spirit[g] and through belief in the truth. 14He called you[h] to this through our gospel,[i] that you might share in the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ. 15So then, brothers, stand tion. report. Lit. "word," perhaps referring to a sermon or other oral communication. letter supposed to have come from us. A forgery. day of the Lord. See note on 1Th 5:2. has already come. Obviously Christ's climactic return had not occurred, but Paul was combating the idea that the final days had begun and their completion would be imminent.

2:3 the rebellion. At the last time there will be a falling away from the faith (see Mt 24:10–12; 1Ti 4:1). But here Paul is speaking of active rebellion, the supreme opposition of evil to the things of God. the man of lawlessness. The leader of the forces of evil at the last time. Only here is he called by this name. John tells us of many "antichrists" (1Jn 2:18), and this may be the worst of them—the antichrist of Rev 13—though Paul's description of the man of lawlessness has some distinctive features. He is not Satan, because he is clearly distinguished from him in v. 9. revealed. Since the Greek for this word is from the same root as that used of Jesus Christ in 1:7, it may indicate something supernatural. doomed to destruction. For all his proud claims, his final overthrow is certain. The same expression is used of Judas Iscariot (see Jn 17:12).

2:4 everything that is called God or is worshiped. He is not merely a political or military man, but claims a place above every god and everything associated with worship. He even claims to be God. God's temple. Apparently refers to a physical building (cf. Mk 13:14) from which he makes his blasphemous pronouncements (cf. Da 11:36–45; Rev 13:1–15).

2:6 what is holding him back. The expression is neuter, but the masculine equivalent is in v. 7. There have been many suggestions as to the identity of this restrainer: the Roman state with its emperor, Paul's missionary work, the Jewish state, the principle of law and government embodied in the state, the Holy Spirit or the restraining ministry of the Holy Spirit through the church, and others.

2:7 secret power. Lit. "mystery," which in the NT usually denotes something people could not know by themselves but that God has revealed (see note on Ro 11:25). It is most often used in reference to the gospel or some aspect of it. The expression here indicates that we know some things about evil only as God reveals them. This evil is already at work and will continue until the restrainer is removed at the end time.

2:8 the lawless one will be revealed. Evidently refers to some supernatural aspects of his appearing (see v. 9). overthrow with the breath of his mouth. Despite his impressiveness (v. 4), the man of lawlessness will easily be destroyed by Christ (cf. Da 11:45; Rev 19:20). splendor. In 2Ti 1:10 ("appearing") the Greek for this word refers to Jesus' first coming, but everywhere else in the NT to his second coming.

2:9 coming. The same word used of Christ's coming in v. 8. Satan empowers him with miracles, signs and wonders (cf. Mt 24:24). counterfeit. Not "bogus," but "producing false impressions."

2:10 deceives. The aim of the miracles of v. 9. refused. Their unbelief was willing and intentional. truth. Often closely connected with Jesus (see Jn 14:6; Eph 4:21) and with the gospel (see Gal 2:5; Eph 1:13).

2:11 For this reason. Because of their deliberate rejection of the truth (v. 10). God sends them a powerful delusion. God uses sin to punish the sinful (cf. Ro 1:24–28). the lie. Not just any lie, but the great lie that the man of lawlessness is God (v. 4).

2:13 loved by the Lord . . . God chose. For the connection between God's love and election see Col 3:12; 1Th 1:4; see also note on Eph 1:4. from the beginning. Election is from eternity (see Eph 1:4). sanctifying work. A necessary aspect of salvation, not something reserved for special Christians (see 1Th 3:13; 4:3 and notes). truth. See note on v. 10. All three persons of the Trinity are mentioned in this verse (see note on 1Th 1:1).

2:14 called . . . through our gospel. The past tense refers to the time when the Thessalonians were converted; but the divine call is a present reality in 1Th 2:12; 5:24. our gospel. See note on 1Th 1:5. glory of our Lord Jesus Christ. Cf. 1Th 2:12. Ultimately there is no glory other than God's.

2:15 teachings. Lit. "traditions." Until the NT was written, essential Christian teaching was passed on in the "traditions," just as rabbinic law was (see note on Mt 15:2); it could be either oral or written. In 1Co 15:3 Paul uses the firm[j] and hold to the teachings[e] we passed on to you,[k] whether by word of mouth or by letter.

16May our Lord Jesus Christ himself and God our Father,[l] who loved us[m] and by his grace gave us eternal encouragement and good hope, 17encourage[n] your hearts and strengthen[o] you in every good deed and word.

Request for Prayer

3 Finally, brothers,[p] pray for us[q] that the message of the Lord[r] may spread rapidly and be honored, just as it was with you.[s] 2And pray that we may be delivered from wicked and evil men,[t] for not everyone has faith. 3But the Lord is faithful,[u] and he will strengthen and protect you from the evil one.[v] 4We have confidence[w] in the Lord that you are doing and will continue to do the things we command. 5May the Lord direct your hearts[x] into God's love and Christ's perseverance.

Warning Against Idleness

6In the name of the Lord Jesus Christ,[y] we command you, brothers, to keep away from[z] every brother who is idle[a] and does not live according to the teaching[f] you received from us.[b] 7For you yourselves know how you ought to follow our example.[c] We were not idle when we were with you, 8nor did we eat anyone's food without paying for it. On the contrary, we worked[d] night and day, laboring and toiling so that we would not be a burden to any of you. 9We did this, not because we do not have the right to such help,[e] but in order to make ourselves a model for you to follow.[f] 10For even when we were with you,[g] we gave you this rule: "If a man will not work,[h] he shall not eat."

11We hear that some among you are idle. They are not busy; they are busybodies.[i] 12Such people we command and urge in the Lord Jesus Christ[j] to settle down and earn the bread they eat.[k] 13And as for you, brothers, never tire of doing what is right.[l]

14If anyone does not obey our instruction in this letter, take special note of him. Do not associate with him,[m] in order that he may feel ashamed.[n] 15Yet do not regard him as an enemy, but warn him as a brother.[o]

Final Greetings

16Now may the Lord of peace[p] himself give you peace at all times and in every way. The Lord be with all of you.[q] 17I, Paul, write this greeting in my own hand,[r] which is the distinguishing mark in all my letters. This is how I write.

18The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.[s] technical words for receiving and handing on traditions.

2:16–17 There is a similar prayer in about the same place in the first letter (1Th 3:11–13).

2:17 encourage ... strengthen. Also used together in 1Th 3:2. The prayer is for inner strength that will produce results in both action and speech.

3:1 Finally. See note on 1Th 4:1. In 1Th 5:25 Paul simply asked for prayer; here he mentions specifics. just as it was with you. Lit. "just as also with you." The expression is general enough to cover the present as well as the past (cf. 1Th 2:13).

3:2 wicked. The Greek for this word means "out of place," and elsewhere in the NT it is used only of things (see Lk 23:41; Ac 25:5). Wickedness is always out of place. For Paul's difficulties at Corinth (where he wrote this letter) see Ac 18:12–13.

3:3 faithful. In the Greek the word immediately follows "faith" (v. 2), putting the faithfulness of God in sharp contrast with the lack of faith in people (cf. 1Co 1:9; 10:13; 2Co 1:18).

3:5 hearts. See note on 1Th 2:4. God's love. Paul is about to rebuke the idle, and is here reminding them of God's love. There should be no hard feelings among those who owe everything to the love of God.

3:6 the name. See note on 1:12. command. An authoritative word with a military ring. keep away. Not withdrawal of all contact but withholding of close fellowship. Idleness is sinful and disruptive, but those guilty of it are still brothers (v. 15). idle. The problem was mentioned in the first letter (4:11–12; 5:14; see notes there), and evidently had worsened. Paul takes it seriously and gives more attention to it in this letter than to anything else but the second coming. teaching. See note on 2:15.

3:7 follow our example. See note on 1Th 1:6.

3:8 eat ... food. A Hebraism for "make a living" (see, e.g., Ge 3:19; Am 7:12). Paul is not saying that he never accepted hospitality but that he had not depended on other people for his living (see 1Th 2:9 and note).

3:9 the right. See note on 1Th 2:6.

3:10 Pagan parallels are in the form, "He who does not work does not eat." But Paul gives an imperative: lit. "let him not eat." The Christian must not be a loafer.

3:11 busybodies. Worse than idle, they were interfering with other people's affairs, a problem to which idleness often leads.

3:14 Paul realizes that some may not heed his letter. associate with. The Greek for this phrase is an unusual double compound, meaning "mix up together with" (used elsewhere in the NT only in 1Co 5:9,11—of a similar withdrawal of close fellowship). It indicates a disassociation that will bring the person back to a right attitude. feel ashamed. And repent. The aim is not punishment but restoration to fellowship.

3:15 Discipline in the church should be brotherly, never harsh. warn. See 1Th 5:12, where the Greek for this verb is translated "admonish."

3:16 Lord of peace. The more usual phrase is "God of peace" (see note on 1Th 5:23). all of you. Even the disorderly.

3:17 Paul normally dictated his letters (cf. Ro 16:22), but toward the end he added something in his own handwriting (see 1Co 16:21; Gal 6:11; Col 4:18). Here he tells us that this practice was his distinguishing mark.

3:18 See note on 1Th 5:28. Paul has criticized his offenders, but his last prayer is for everyone.

The Pastoral Letters

1,2 Timothy and Titus are known as the Pastoral Letters because they give instruction to Timothy and Titus concerning the pastoral care of churches. All three letters probably were written not long after the events of Ac 28.

After his imprisonment in Rome (c. A.D. 60–62), Paul most likely began his fourth missionary journey (see "Paul's Fourth Missionary Journey," p. 1838). During this trip he commissioned Titus to remain as his representative in Crete, and he left Timothy in charge of the church at Ephesus. Paul then moved on to Philippi in northern Greece (Macedonia), where he wrote his first letter to Timothy and his letter to Titus (c. 63–65). Later he traveled to Rome, where he was imprisoned for the second time and where he wrote 2 Timothy shortly before he was executed (67 or 68).

Certain themes and phrases recur throughout the Pastoral Letters: (1) God the Savior (see note on Tit 1:3); (2) sound doctrine, faith and teaching (see note on Tit 1:9); (3) godliness (see note on 1Ti 2:2); (4) controversies (1Ti 1:4; 6:4; 2Ti 2:23; Tit 3:9); (5) trustworthy sayings (see note on 1Ti 1:15).

Author

Both early tradition and the salutations of the Pastoral Letters themselves confirm Paul as their author. Some objections have been raised in recent years on the basis of an alleged uncharacteristic vocabulary and style (e.g., see notes on 1:15; 2:2), but evidence is still convincingly supportive of Paul's authorship.

Background and Purpose

During his fourth missionary journey, Paul had instructed Timothy to care for the church at Ephesus (1:3) while he went on to Macedonia (see "The Pastoral Letters," p. 1833). When he realized that he might not return to Ephesus in the near future (3:14–15), he wrote this first letter to Timothy to develop the charge he had given his young assistant (1:3,18), to refute false teachings (1:3–7; 4:1–8; 6:3–5,20–21) and to supervise the affairs of the growing Ephesian church (church worship, 2:1–15; the appointment of qualified church leaders, 3:1–13; 5:17–25).

A major problem in the Ephesian church was a heresy that combined Gnosticism (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism), decadent Judaism (1:3–7) and false asceticism (4:1–5).

Date

1 Timothy was written sometime after the events of Ac 28 (c. 63–65), at least eight years after Paul's three-year stay in Ephesus (Ac 19:8,10; 20:31).

Recipient

As the salutation indicates (1:2), Paul is writing to Timothy, a native of Lystra (in modern Turkey). Timothy's father was Greek, while his mother was a Jewish Christian (Ac 16:1). From childhood he had been taught the OT (2Ti 1:5; 3:15). Paul called him "my true son in the faith" (1:2), perhaps having led him to Christ during his first visit to Lystra. At the time of his second visit Paul invited Timothy to join him on his missionary travels, and circumcised him so that his Greek ancestry would not be a liability in working with the Jews (Ac 16:3). Timothy shared in the evangelization of Macedonia and Achaia (Ac 17:14–15; 18:5) and was with Paul during much of his long preaching ministry at Ephesus (Ac 19:22). He traveled with Paul from Ephesus to Macedonia, to Corinth, back to Macedonia, and to Asia Minor (Ac 20:1–6). He seems even to have accompanied him all the way to Jerusalem. He was with Paul during the apostle's first imprisonment (Php 1:1; Col 1:1; Phm 1).

Following Paul's release (after Ac 28), Timothy again traveled with him but eventually stayed at Ephesus to deal with the problems there, while Paul went on to Macedonia. Paul's closeness to and admiration of Timothy are seen in Paul's naming him as the co-sender of six of his letters (2 Corinthians, Philippians, Colossians, 1,2 Thessalonians and Philemon) and in his speaking highly of him to the Philippians (Php 2:19–22). At the end of Paul's life he requested Timothy to join him at Rome (2Ti 4:9,21). According to Heb 13:23, Timothy himself was imprisoned and subsequently released—whether at Rome or elsewhere, we do not know.

Timothy was not an apostle, and he was probably not an overseer since he was given instructions about overseers (3:1–7; 5:17–22). It may be best to regard him as an apostolic representative, delegated to carry out special work (see Tit 1:5).

1 Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by the command of God[a] our Savior[b] and of Christ Jesus our hope,[c]

2To Timothy[d] my true son[e] in the faith:

Grace, mercy and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.[f]

Warning Against False Teachers of the Law

3As I urged you when I went into Macedonia,[g] stay there in Ephesus[h] so that you may command certain men not to teach false doctrines[i] any longer 4nor to devote themselves to myths[j] and endless genealogies.[k] These promote controversies[l] rather than God's work—which is by faith. 5The goal of this command is love, which comes from a pure heart[m] and a good conscience[n] and a sincere faith.[o] 6Some have wandered away from these and turned to meaningless talk. 7They want to be teachers[p] of the law, but they do not know what they are talking about or what they so confidently affirm.[q]

8We know that the law is good[r] if one uses it properly. 9We also know that law[a] is made not for the righteous[s] but for lawbreakers and rebels,[t] the ungodly and sinful, the unholy and irreligious; for those who kill their fathers or mothers, for murderers, 10for adulterers and perverts, for slave traders and liars and perjurers—and for whatever else is contrary to the sound doctrine[u] 11that conforms to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which he entrusted to me.[v]

The Lord's Grace to Paul

12I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who has given me strength,[w] that he considered me faithful, appointing me to his service.[x] 13Even though I was once a blasphemer and a persecutor[y] and a violent man, I was shown mercy[z] because I acted in ignorance and unbelief.[a] 14The grace of our Lord was poured out on me abundantly,[b] along with the faith and love that are in Christ Jesus.[c]

15Here is a trustworthy saying[d] that deserves full acceptance: Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners[e]—of whom I am the worst. 16But for that very reason I was shown mercy[f] so that in me, the worst of sinners, Christ Jesus might display his unlimited patience[g] as an example for those who would believe[h] on him and receive eternal life.[i] 17Now to the King[j] eternal, immortal,[k] invisible,[l] the only God,[m] be honor and glory for ever and ever. Amen.[n]

18Timothy, my son,[o] I give you this instruction in keeping with the prophe-

1:1 apostle. One specially commissioned by Christ (see notes on Mk 6:30; 1Co 1:1; Heb 3:1). Christ Jesus our hope. See Tit 2:13. hope. Expresses absolute certainty, not a mere wish.

1:2 my true son in the faith. My spiritual son (see 1:18; 1Co 4:17; 2Ti 1:2; 2:1; Phm 10). Grace. See notes on Jnh 4:2; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2. mercy. See Ro 9:23. peace. See notes on Jn 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.

1:3–11 In this section, along with 4:1–8; 6:3–5,20–21, Paul warns against heretical teachers in the Ephesian church. They are characterized by (1) teaching false doctrines (1:3; 6:3); (2) teaching Jewish myths (Tit 1:14); (3) wanting to be teachers of the OT law (1:7); (4) building up endless, far-fetched, fictitious stories based on obscure genealogical points (1:4; 4:7; Tit 3:9); (5) being conceited (1:7; 6:4); (6) being argumentative (1:4; 6:4; 2Ti 2:23; Tit 3:9); (7) using talk that was meaningless (1:6) and foolish (2Ti 2:23; Tit 3:9); (8) not knowing what they were talking about (1:7; 6:4); (9) teaching ascetic practices (4:3); and (10) using their positions of religious leadership for personal financial gain (6:5). These heretics probably were forerunners of the Gnostics (6:20–21; see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism).

1:3 when I went into Macedonia. Since this incident is not recorded in Acts, it probably occurred after Ac 28, between Paul's first and second Roman imprisonments (see Introduction: Recipient). stay there in Ephesus. The Ephesian church was well established by this time. Paul had had an extensive ministry there on his third missionary journey about eight years earlier (Ac 19:1–20:1). After his release from prison in Rome (after Ac 28), he revisited the church, leaving Timothy in charge while he journeyed on to Macedonia.

1:4 myths and endless genealogies. Probably mythical stories built on OT history (genealogies) that later developed into intricate Gnostic philosophical systems (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism).

1:8 the law is good. See Ro 7:7–12.

1:10 sound doctrine. See note on Tit 1:9.

1:11 gospel. See note on Mk 1:1. entrusted. See 6:20; 1Co 9:17; Gal 2:7; 1Th 2:4; 2Ti 1:12,14; 2:2.

1:13 a blasphemer and a persecutor and a violent man. See Ac 9:1; 22:4–5,19; 26:10–11.

1:15 Here is a trustworthy saying. A clause found nowhere else in the NT but used five times in the Pastorals (here; 3:1; 4:9; 2Ti 2:11; Tit 3:8) to identify a key saying.

1:18 prophecies once made about you. In the early church God revealed his will in various matters through prophets (see Ac 13:1–3, where prophets had an active role in the sending of Paul and Barnabas on their mission to the Gentiles). In Timothy's case this prophecy may have occurred at the time of or before his ordination (4:14), perhaps about 12 years earlier on Paul's second missionary journey (see Ac 16:3). Prophecies about Timothy seem to have pointed to the significant leadership role he was to cies once made about you,[p] so that by following them you may fight the good fight,[q] 19holding on to faith and a good conscience.[r] Some have rejected these and so have shipwrecked their faith.[s] 20Among them are Hymenaeus[t] and Alexander,[u] whom I have handed over to Satan[v] to be taught not to blaspheme.

Instructions on Worship

2 I urge, then, first of all, that requests, prayers,[w] intercession and thanksgiving be made for everyone— 2for kings and all those in authority,[x] that we may live peaceful and quiet lives in all godliness[y] and holiness. 3This is good, and pleases[z] God our Savior,[a] 4who wants[b] all men[c] to be saved[d] and to come to a knowledge of the truth.[e] 5For there is one God[f] and one mediator[g] between God and men, the man Christ Jesus,[h] 6who gave himself as a ransom[i] for all men—the testimony[j] given in its proper time.[k] 7And for this purpose I was appointed a herald and an apostle—I am telling the truth, I am not lying[l]—and a teacher[m] of the true faith to the Gentiles.[n]

8I want men everywhere to lift up holy hands[o] in prayer, without anger or disputing.

9I also want women to dress modestly, with decency and propriety, not with braided hair or gold or pearls or expensive clothes,[p] 10but with good deeds,[q] appropriate for women who profess to worship God.

11A woman should learn in quietness and full submission.[r] 12I do not permit a woman to teach or to have authority over a man; she must be silent.[s] 13For Adam was formed first, then Eve.[t] 14And Adam was not the one deceived; it was the woman who was deceived and behave in the church.

1:20 Hymenaeus. See 2Ti 2:17–18. Alexander. Perhaps the Alexander of 2Ti 4:14 (but see note there). handed over to Satan. The reference is to church discipline (see note on Mt 18:17). Paul had excluded these two men from the church, which was considered a sanctuary from Satan's power. Out in the world, away from the fellowship and care of the church, they would be "taught" (the word means basically "to discipline") not to blaspheme. The purpose of such drastic action was more remedial than punitive. For a similar situation see 1Co 5:5,13; see also note on 1Co 5:5.

2:2 kings and all those in authority. See Jer 29:7. The notorious Roman emperor Nero (A.D. 54–68) was in power when Paul wrote these words. godliness. A key word (along with "godly") in the Pastorals, occurring eight times in 1 Timothy (here; 3:16; 4:7–8; 6:3,5–6,11), once in 2 Timothy (3:5) and once in Titus (1:1), but nowhere else in the writings of Paul. It implies a good and holy life, with special emphasis on its source, a deep reverence for God.

2:4 who wants all men to be saved. God desires the salvation of all people. On the other hand, the Bible indicates that God chooses some (not all) people to be saved (e.g., 1Pe 1:2). Some interpreters understand such passages to teach that God has chosen those he, in his foreknowledge, knew would believe when confronted with the gospel and enabled to believe. Other interpreters hold that, though human reasoning cannot resolve the seeming inconsistency, the Bible teaches both truths and thus there can be no actual contradiction. Certainly there is none in the mind of God. See note on Ro 8:29.

2:5 there is one God. The basic belief of Judaism (Dt 6:4), which every Jew confessed daily in the Shema (see note on Mk 12:29).

2:6 ransom. See note on Mt 20:28. testimony. The apostolic testimony that Christ gave himself as the ransom. proper time. See note on Gal 4:4.

2:7 for this purpose. To testify that, through his death, Christ has bridged the gap between God and man and made salvation available to all. herald. One who with authority makes a public proclamation. apostle. See notes on Mk 6:30; 1Co 1:1.

2:8–14 Some maintain that Paul's teaching about women here is historically conditioned, not universal and timeless. Others view these verses as unaffected by the historical situation and therefore applicable to every age.

2:8 men. The Greek for this word does not refer to mankind (as in vv. 5–6) but to male as distinct from female. That women also prayed in public, however, seems evident from 1Co 11:5.

2:9 Not a total ban on the wearing of jewelry or braided hair. Rather, Paul was expressing caution in a society where such things were signs of extravagant luxury and proud personal display.

2:10 See 1Pe 3:3–4.

2:12 I do not permit a woman to teach. Some believe that Paul here prohibited teaching only by women not properly instructed, i.e., by the women at Ephesus. Such women tended to exercise authority over, i.e., to domineer, the men. Others maintain that Paul did not allow a woman to be an official teacher in the assembled church. This is indicated by the added restriction concerning exercising "authority over a man" (a male), i.e., functioning as an overseer (see note on 3:1).

2:13–14 Paul based the restrictions on Ge 2–3. Some argue that "For" does not express the reason for woman's silence and submission, but is used only as a connective word as in v. 5. The meaning, then, would be that Adam's priority in creation illustrates the present situation of male priority in teaching at Ephesus, and Eve's deception illustrates the deception of the untrained and aggressive Ephesian women involved in false teaching. Thus the prohibition is not universal and permanent but restricted to the church situation (see Introduction: Background and Purpose). Under different circumstances the restrictions would not apply (e.g., 1Co 11:1–5). Others believe that the appeal to the creation account makes the restrictions universal and permanent: 1. Adam was formed first. Paul appeals to the priority of Adam in creation, which predates the fall. Thus he views the man-woman relationship set forth in this passage as grounded in creation. 2. the woman ... was deceived. Paul appears to argue that since the woman was deceived (and then led Adam astray), she is not to be entrusted with the teaching function of an overseer (or elder) in the public worship services of the assembled church.

2:15 Three possible meanings of this verse are: (1) It speaks of the godly woman finding fulfillment in her role as wife and mother in the home; (2) it refers to women being saved spiritually through the most significant birth of all, the incarnation of Christ; or (3) it refers to women being kept physically safe in childbirth.

3:1 trustworthy saying. See note on 1:15. overseer. In the Greek culture the word was used of a presiding official in a civic or religious organization. Here it refers to a man who oversees a local congregation. The equivalent word from the Jewish background of Christianity is "elder." The terms "overseer" and "elder" are used interchangeably in Ac 20:17,28; Tit 1:5–7; 1Pe 5:1–2. The duties of an overseer were to teach and preach (3:2; 5:17), to direct the affairs of the church (3:5; 5:17), to shepherd ("pastor") the flock of God (Ac 20:28) and to guard the church from error (Ac 20:28–31).

3:2 the overseer must be. See chart on "Qualifications for Elders/Overseers and Deacons," p. 1840. husband of but one wife. A general principle that applies to any violation of God's marriage law, whether in the form of polygamy or of marital unfaithfulness (see note on Tit 1:6).

3:5 church. See note on Mt 16:18.

Paul's Fourth Missionary Journey

C. A.D. 62–68

It is clear from Ac 13:1–21:17 that Paul went on three missionary journeys. There is also reason to believe that he made a fourth journey after his release from the Roman imprisonment recorded in Ac 28. The conclusion that such a journey did indeed take place is based on: (1) Paul's declared intention to go to Spain (Ro 15:24,28), (2) Eusebius's implication that Paul was released following his first Roman imprisonment (Ecclesiastical History, 2.22.2-3) and (3) statements in early Christian literature that he took the gospel as far as Spain (Clement of Rome, Epistle to the Corinthians, ch. 5; Actus Petri Vercellenses, chs. 1-3; Muratorian Canon, lines 34-39).

The places Paul may have visited after his release from prison are indicated by statements of intention in his earlier writings and by subsequent mention in the Pastoral Letters. The order of his travel cannot be determined with certainty, but the itinerary at the right seems likely.

1. Rome—released from prison in A.D. 62
2. Spain—62-64 (Ro 15:24,28)
3. Crete—64-65 (Tit 1:5)

5. Colosse—66 (Phm 22)
6. Ephesus—66 (1Ti 1:3)

[8]Deacons,[m] likewise, are to be men worthy of respect, sincere, not indulging in much wine,[n] and not pursuing dishonest gain. [9]They must keep hold of the deep truths of the faith with a clear conscience.[o] [10]They must first be tested;[p] and then if there is nothing against them, let them serve as deacons.

[11]In the same way, their wives[e] are to be women worthy of respect, not malicious talkers[q] but temperate[r] and trustworthy in everything.

[12]A deacon must be the husband of but one wife[s] and must manage his children and his household well.[t] [13]Those who have served well gain an excellent standing and great assurance in their faith in Christ Jesus.

[14]Although I hope to come to you soon, I am writing you these instructions so that, [15]if I am delayed, you will know how people ought to conduct themselves in God's household, which is the church[u] of the living God,[v] the pillar and foundation of the truth. [16]Beyond all

[e]11 Or way, deaconesses

3:8 Deacons. In its nontechnical usage, the Greek for this word means simply "one who serves." The men chosen in Ac 6:1–6 were probably not only the first deacons mentioned in the NT but also the first to be appointed in the church (but see notes there). Generally, their service was meant to free the elders to give full attention to prayer and the ministry of the word (Ac 6:2,4). The only two local church offices mentioned in the NT are those of overseer (also called elder) and deacon (see Php 1:1).

3:11 their wives. The Greek for this phrase simply means "the women" and therefore could refer to (1) deacons' wives, (2) deaconesses (see NIV text note) or (3) female deacons. However, the fact that deacons are referred to again in vv. 12–13 seems to rule out a separate office of deaconess, but many judge otherwise.

3:12 husband of but one wife. See note on v. 2.

3:14 I am writing ... so that. Here, in brief, Paul states the purpose for writing the letter—to give instructions concerning church conduct (v. 15).

3:16 mystery of godliness. See notes on Ro 11:25; Col 1:26. The phrase means the "revealed secret of true piety," i.e., the secret that produces piety in people. That secret, as the following words indicate, is none other than Jesus Christ. His incarnation, in all its aspects (particularly his saving work), is the source of genuine piety. The words are printed in poetic form and probably come from question, the mystery[w] of godliness[x] is great:

He[f] appeared in a body,[gy] was vindicated by the Spirit, was seen by angels, was preached among the nations,[z] was believed on in the world,

Instructions to Timothy

4 The Spirit[b] clearly says that in later times[c] some will abandon the faith and follow deceiving spirits[d] and things taught by demons. [2]Such teachings come through hypocritical liars, whose consciences have been seared as with a hot iron.[e] [3]They forbid people to marry[f] and order them to abstain from certain foods,[g] which God created[h] to be received with thanksgiving[i] by those who believe and who know the truth. [4]For everything God created is good,[j] and nothing is to be rejected[k] if it is received with thanksgiving, [5]because it is consecrated by the word of God[l] and prayer.

[6]If you point these things out to the brothers, you will be a good minister of Christ Jesus, brought up in the truths of the faith[m] and of the good teaching that you have followed.[n] [7]Have nothing to do with godless myths and old wives' tales;[o] rather, train yourself to be godly.[p] [8]For physical training is of some value, but godliness has value for all things,[q] holding promise for both the present life[r] and the life to come.[s] an early creedal hymn (see note on Col 3:16). vindicated by the Spirit. The Holy Spirit enabled Jesus to drive out demons (see Mt 12:28) and perform miracles. Most importantly, the Spirit raised Jesus from the dead (see Ro 1:4; 1Pe 3:18) and thereby vindicated him, showing that he was indeed the Son of God. seen by angels. At his resurrection (Mt 28:2) and ascension (Ac 1:10).

4:1 The Spirit clearly says. As, e.g., in Mt 24:11; Mk 13:22; Ac 20:29–30; 2Th 2:3. Paul, however, is perhaps speaking here of a specific revelation made to him by the Spirit. in later times. The time beginning with the first coming of Christ (see note on Heb 1:1). That Paul is not referring only to the time immediately prior to Christ's second coming is obvious from his assumption in v. 7 that the false teachings were already present at the time of his writing.

4:3 This unbiblical asceticism arose out of the mistaken belief that the material world was evil—a central belief of the Gnostic heresy (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism).

4:7 myths. See note on 1:4. train yourself to be godly. See note on 2:2. Godliness requires self-discipline.

4:9 trustworthy saying. See note on 1:15. Although the NIV understands the expression in this instance to refer to what follows, it is possible that it refers back to the seemingly proverbial statement in v. 8. The words "labor and strive" in v. 10 may refer to the training mentioned in vv. 7b–8.

4:10 hope. See note on 1:1. Savior of all. Obviously this does not mean that God saves every person from eternal punishment, for such universalism would contradict the clear testimony of Scripture. God is, however, the Savior of all in that he offers salvation to all and saves all who come to him.

[11]Command and teach these things.[w] [12]Don't let anyone look down on you[x] because you are young, but set an example[y] for the believers in speech, in life, in love, in faith[z] and in purity. ### Advice About Widows, Elders and Slaves

5 Do not rebuke an older man[g] harshly,[h] but exhort him as if he were your father. Treat younger men[i] as brothers, [2]older women as mothers, and younger women as sisters, with absolute purity.

[3]Give proper recognition to those widows who are really in need.[j] [4]But if a widow has children or grandchildren, these should learn first of all to put their religion into practice by caring for their own family and so repaying their parents and grandparents,[k] for this is pleasing to God.[l] [5]The widow who is really in need[m] and left all alone puts her hope in God[n] and continues night and day to pray[o] and to ask God for help. [6]But the widow who lives for pleasure is dead even while she lives.[p] [7]Give the people these instructions,[q] too, so that no one may be open to blame. [8]If anyone does not provide for his relatives, and especially for his immediate family, he has denied[r] the faith and is worse than an unbeliever.

[9]No widow may be put on the list of widows unless she is over sixty, has been faithful to her husband,[h] [10]and is well known for her good deeds,[s] such as bringing up children, showing hospitality,[t] washing the feet[u] of the saints, helping those in trouble[v] and devoting herself to all kinds of good deeds.

[11]As for younger widows, do not put them on such a list. For when their sensual desires overcome their dedication to Christ, they want to marry. [12]Thus they bring judgment on themselves, because they have broken their first pledge. [13]Besides, they get into the habit of being idle and going about from house to house. And not only do they become idlers, but also gossips[w] and busybodies,[x] saying things they ought not to. [14]So I counsel younger widows to marry,[y] to have children, to manage their homes and to give the enemy no opportunity for slander.[z] [15]Some have in fact already turned away to follow Satan.[a]

[16]If any woman who is a believer has widows in her family, she should help them and not let the church be burdened with them, so that the church can help those widows who are really in need.[b]

[17]The elders[c] who direct the affairs of the church well are worthy of double honor,[d] especially those whose work is preaching and teaching. [18]For the Scrip-

4:12 because you are young. Timothy was probably in his mid–30s or younger, and in that day, such an influential position was not usually held by a man so young. For this reason, perhaps his leadership had been called into question.

4:13 Until I come. Paul's journey had taken him from Ephesus to Macedonia (see "Paul's Fourth Missionary Journey," p. 1838), but he hoped to rejoin Timothy soon at Ephesus (3:14).

4:14 prophetic message. See note on 1:18.

4:16 you will save ... your hearers. God alone saves, but Christians can be God's instruments to bring about the salvation of others. will save. Salvation is both an event and a process. We are saved at the time of conversion but are still being saved in the sense of being made more conformed to Christ's image (1Co 1:18).

5:3 Give proper recognition to those widows. Probably means taking care of them, including the giving of material support. Widows were particularly vulnerable in ancient societies because no pensions, government assistance, life insurance, or the like were available to them.

5:6 dead even while she lives. Dead spiritually while living physically.

5:9 list of widows. The church in Ephesus seems to have maintained a list of widows supported by the church. While there is no evidence of an order of widows comparable to that of the overseers, it appears that those on the list were expected to devote themselves to prayer (v. 5) and good deeds (v. 10).

5:10 washing the feet of the saints. A menial task, but necessary because of dusty roads and the wearing of sandals (see Jn 13:14).

5:12 broken their first pledge. Perhaps when a widow was added to the list she pledged special devotion to Christ, which would be diminished by remarriage. Or Paul may be referring to the believer's basic trust in Christ, which a widow would compromise by marrying outside the faith.

5:15 Satan. See notes on Zec 3:1; Mt 16:23; Rev 12:10.

5:17 All elders were to exercise leadership (3:4–5) and to teach and preach (3:2), and all were to receive honor. But those who excelled in leadership were to be counted worthy of double honor. This was especially true of those who labored at teaching and preaching. (The Greek word translated "work" refers to toil.) That such honor should include financial support is indicated by the two illustrations in v. 18.

5:18 Scripture. The use of this term for both an OT (Dt 25:4) and a NT (Lk 10:7) passage shows that by this time portions of the NT (or what ultimately became a ture says, "Do not muzzle the ox while it is treading out the grain,"[ie] and "The worker deserves his wages."[if] [19]Do not entertain an accusation against an elder[g] unless it is brought by two or three witnesses.[h] [20]Those who sin are to be rebuked[i] publicly, so that the others may take warning.[j]

[21]I charge you, in the sight of God and Christ Jesus[k] and the elect angels, to keep these instructions without partiality, and to do nothing out of favoritism.

[22]Do not be hasty in the laying on of hands,[l] and do not share in the sins of others.[m] Keep yourself pure.[n]

[23]Stop drinking only water, and use a little wine[o] because of your stomach and your frequent illnesses.

[24]The sins of some men are obvious, reaching the place of judgment ahead of them; the sins of others trail behind them. [25]In the same way, good deeds are obvious, and even those that are not cannot be hidden.

6 All who are under the yoke of slavery should consider their masters worthy of full respect,[p] so that God's name and our teaching may not be slandered.[q] [2]Those who have believing masters are not to show less respect for them because they are brothers.[r] Instead, they are to serve them even better, because those who benefit from their service are believers, and dear to them. These are the things you are to teach and urge on them.[s]

Love of Money

[3]If anyone teaches false doctrines[t] and does not agree to the sound instruction[u] of our Lord Jesus Christ and to godly teaching, [4]he is conceited[v] and understands nothing. He has an unhealthy interest in controversies and quarrels about words[w] that result in envy, strife, malicious talk, evil suspicions [5]and constant friction between men of corrupt mind, who have been robbed of the truth[x] and who think that godliness is a means to financial gain.

[6]But godliness with contentment[y] is great gain.[z] [7]For we brought nothing into the world, and we can take nothing out of it.[a] [8]But if we have food and clothing, we will be content with that.[b] [9]People who want to get rich[c] fall into temptation and a trap[d] and into many foolish and harmful desires that plunge men into ruin and destruction. [10]For the love of money[e] is a root of all kinds of evil. Some people, eager for money, have wandered from the faith[f] and pierced themselves with many griefs.[g] part of the NT) were considered to be equal in authority to the OT Scriptures.

Paul's Charge to Timothy

5:20 Those who sin. The context indicates that Paul is speaking of the discipline of elders.

5:21 elect angels. Chosen angels, in contrast to Satan and the other fallen angels.

5:22 Do not be hasty in the laying on of hands. Paul is speaking of the ordination of an elder, which should not be performed until the candidate has had time to prove himself. do not share in the sins of others. Do not ordain a person unworthy of the office of elder. Keep yourself pure. Probably refers to refusal to become involved in the ordination of an unworthy man.

5:23 Stop drinking only water. A parenthetical comment in Paul's discussion of elders. In view of Timothy's physical ailments, and perhaps because safe drinking water was often difficult to find, Paul advised him to drink a little wine.

5:24–25 sins of some men ... good deeds. Paul advises being alert to hidden sins as well as to good deeds in the lives of candidates for ordination.

6:1 slavery. See notes on Eph 6:5; Col 3:22–4:1.

6:2 urge on them. Refers to the instructions to slaves.

6:3–5 Paul returns to the subject of 1:3. See note on 1:3–11.

6:5 robbed of the truth. They had once known the truth but had been led into error. who think that godliness is a means to financial gain. See note on 2Co 11:7.

6:11 godliness. See note on 2:2.

6:12 Take hold of the eternal life. Timothy had possessed eternal life since he had first been saved, but Paul urges him to claim its benefits in greater fullness (see vv. 17–19 and note on 4:16). when you made your good confession. Probably a reference to Timothy's confession of faith at his baptism during Paul's first missionary journey.

6:13 who while testifying before Pontius Pilate made the good confession. Probably a reference to Jesus' statements recorded in Jn 18:33–37; 19:10–11.

6:14 this command. Perhaps the whole charge given to Timothy to preach the gospel and care for the church (see v. 20)—though the preceding context may indicate that Paul used the singular "command" to sum up the various commands listed in vv. 11–12.

6:15 in his own time. Just as Jesus' first coming occurred at the precise time God wanted (Gal 4:4), so also his second coming will be at God's appointed time. King of kings and Lord of lords. See Rev 19:16.

20Timothy, guard what has been entrusted[j] to your care. Turn away from godless chatter[k] and the opposing ideas of what is falsely called knowledge, 21which some have professed and in so doing have wandered from the faith.[l]

6:19 take hold of the life. See note on v. 12.

6:20 what has been entrusted to your care. The gospel. The same command is found in 2Ti 1:14. what is falsely called knowledge. A reference to an early form of the heresy of Gnosticism, which taught that one may be saved by knowledge. (The term "Gnosticism" comes from the Greek word for knowledge; see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism.)

6:21 Grace be with you. The Greek for "you" here is plural, indicating that, although Paul is writing to Timothy, he expects the letter to be read to the entire Ephesian congregation.

2 Timothy

See "The Pastoral Letters," p. 1833.

Author, Date and Setting

After Paul's release from prison in Rome in A.D. 62/63 (Ac 28) and after his fourth missionary journey (see "Paul's Fourth Missionary Journey," p. 1838), during which he wrote 1 Timothy and Titus, Paul was again imprisoned under Emperor Nero c. 66–67. It was during this time that he wrote 2 Timothy. In contrast to his first imprisonment, when he lived in a rented house (Ac 28:30), he now languished in a cold dungeon (4:13), chained like a common criminal (1:16; 2:9). His friends even had a hard time finding out where he was being kept (1:17). Paul knew that his work was done and his life was nearly at an end (4:6–8).

Reasons for Writing

Paul had three reasons for writing to Timothy at this time:

1. He was lonely. Phygelus and Hermogenes, "everyone in the province of Asia" (1:15), and Demas (4:10) had deserted him. Crescens, Titus and Tychicus were away (4:10–12), and only Luke was with him (4:11). Paul wanted very much for Timothy to join him also. Timothy was his "fellow worker" (Ro 16:21), who "as a son with his father" had served closely with Paul (Php 2:22; see 1Co 4:17). Of him Paul could say, "I have no one else like him" (Php 2:20). Paul longed for Timothy (1:4) and twice asked him to come soon (4:9,21). For more information on Timothy see Introduction to 1 Timothy: Recipient.

2. Paul was concerned about the welfare of the churches during this time of persecution under Nero, and he admonishes Timothy to guard the gospel (1:14), to persevere in it (3:14), to keep on preaching it (4:2) and, if necessary, to suffer for it (1:8; 2:3).

3. He wanted to write to the Ephesian church through Timothy (see note on 4:22).

1 Paul, an apostle[a] of Christ Jesus by the will of God,[b] according to the promise of life that is in Christ Jesus,[c]

2To Timothy,[d] my dear son:[e]

Grace, mercy and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.[f]

Encouragement to Be Faithful

3I thank God,[g] whom I serve, as my forefathers did, with a clear conscience,[h] as night and day I constantly remember you in my prayers.[i] 4Recalling your tears,[j] I long to see you,[k] so that I may be filled with joy. 5I have been reminded of your sincere faith,[l] which first lived in your grandmother Lois and in your mother Eunice[m] and, I am persuaded, now lives in you also. 6For this reason I remind you to fan into flame the gift of God, which is in you through the laying on of my hands.[n] 7For God did not give us a spirit of timidity,[o] but a spirit of power,[p] of love and of self-discipline.

8So do not be ashamed[q] to testify about our Lord, or ashamed of me his prisoner.[r] But join with me in suffering for the gospel,[s] by the power of God, 9who has saved[t] us and called[u] us to a holy life—not because of anything we have done[v] but because of his own purpose and grace. This grace was given us in Christ Jesus before the beginning of time, 10but it has now been revealed[w] through the appearing of our Savior, Christ Jesus,[x] who has destroyed death[y] and has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel. 11And of this gospel[z] I was appointed[a] a herald and an apostle and a teacher.[b] 12That is why I am suffering as I am. Yet I am not ashamed,[c] because I know whom I have believed, and am convinced that he is able to guard[d] what I have entrusted to him for that day.[e]

13What you heard from me,[f] keep[g] as the pattern[h] of sound teaching,[i] with faith and love in Christ Jesus.[j] 14Guard[k] the good deposit that was entrusted to you—guard it with the help of the Holy Spirit who lives in us.[l]

15You know that everyone in the province of Asia[m] has deserted me,[n] including Phygelus and Hermogenes.

16May the Lord show mercy to the household of Onesiphorus,[o] because he often refreshed me and was not ashamed[p] of my chains.[q] 17On the contrary, when he was in Rome, he searched hard for me until he found me. 18May the Lord grant that he will find mercy from the Lord on that day![r] You know very well in how many ways he helped me[s] in Ephesus.[t]

2 You then, my son,[u] be strong[v] in the grace that is in Christ Jesus. 2And the things you have heard me say[w] in the presence of many witnesses[x] entrust

1:1 apostle. One specially commissioned by Christ (see notes on Mk 6:30; 1Co 1:1; Heb 3:1). according to the promise of life. Paul's being chosen to be an apostle was in keeping with that promise because apostles were appointed to preach and explain the good news that eternal life is available to all who will receive it through faith in Christ.

1:2 Timothy, my dear son. See note on 1Ti 1:2. Grace ... peace. See notes on Jnh 4:2; Jn 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.

1:3 thank God ... in my prayers. See note on Php 1:3–4.

1:4 Recalling your tears. Probably refers to Timothy's tears when Paul left for Macedonia (1Ti 1:3). long to see you. See 4:9,21.

1:5 your grandmother Lois ... your mother Eunice. According to Ac 16:1, Timothy's mother was a Jewish Christian. Here we learn that his grandmother too was a Christian. Timothy's father, however, was a Greek and apparently an unbeliever (Ac 16:1). It was probably because of him that Timothy had not been circumcised as a child.

1:6 fan into flame the gift of God. Gifts are not given in full bloom; they need to be developed through use. through the laying on of my hands. Paul was God's instrument, through whom the gift came from the Holy Spirit to Timothy (see note on 1Ti 1:18).

1:7 God did not give us a spirit of timidity. Apparently lack of confidence was a serious problem for Timothy (see 1Co 16:10–11; 1Ti 4:12).

1:9 not because of anything we have done but because of his own purpose and grace. Salvation is by grace alone and is based not on human effort but on God's saving plan and the gracious gift of his Son (see Ro 3:28; Eph 2:8–9; Tit 3:5). before the beginning of time. God's plan to save lost sinners was made in eternity past (see Eph 1:4; 1Pe 1:20; Rev 13:8).

1:11 herald and an apostle. See note on 1Ti 2:7.

1:12 that day. The day of judgment.

1:13 sound teaching. See note on Tit 1:9. faith and love in Christ. Faith and love through union with Christ—another way of saying "Christian faith and love" (see 1Ti 1:14).

1:14 the good deposit ... entrusted to you. The gospel. Paul gives the same command in 1Ti 6:20.

1:15 everyone. Probably hyperbole, a deliberate exaggeration to express widespread desertion. province of Asia. Timothy was in Ephesus, the capital of the province of Asia, which is in western Turkey today. Phygelus and Hermogenes. Nothing more is known about these two people.

1:16 Onesiphorus. Probably he and his family lived in Ephesus (v. 18; 4:19).

1:17 Rome. See Introduction: Author, Date and Setting; see also v. 8; 2:9.

1:18 that day. The day of judgment. he helped me in Ephesus. Either on Paul's third missionary journey (Ac 19) or on his fourth (see "Paul's Fourth Missionary Journey," p. 1838).

2:1 my son. See note on 1Ti 1:2.

2:2 in the presence of many witnesses. Refers to Paul's preaching and teaching, which Timothy had heard repeatedly on all three missionary journeys.

to reliable men who will also be qualified to teach others. 3Endure hardship with us[y] like a good soldier[z] of Christ Jesus. 4No one serving as a soldier gets involved in civilian affairs—he wants to please his commanding officer. 5Similarly, if anyone competes as an athlete, he does not receive the victor's crown[a] unless he competes according to the rules. 6The hardworking farmer should be the first to receive a share of the crops.[b] 7Reflect on what I am saying, for the Lord will give you insight into all this.

8Remember Jesus Christ, raised from the dead,[c] descended from David.[d] This is my gospel,[e] 9for which I am suffering[f] even to the point of being chained[g] like a criminal. But God's word[h] is not chained. 10Therefore I endure everything[i] for the sake of the elect,[j] that they too may obtain the salvation[k] that is in Christ Jesus, with eternal glory.[l]

11Here is a trustworthy saying:[m]

If we died with him, we will also live with him;[n] 12if we endure, we will also reign with him.[o]
If we disown him,
he will also disown us;[p] 13if we are faithless, he will remain faithful,[q] for he cannot disown himself.

A Workman Approved by God

14Keep reminding them of these things. Warn them before God against quarreling about words;[r] it is of no value, and only ruins those who listen. 15Do your best to present yourself to God as one approved, a workman who does not need to be ashamed and who correctly handles the word of truth.[s] 16Avoid godless chatter,[t] because those who indulge in it will become more and more ungodly. 17Their teaching will spread like gangrene. Among them are Hymenaeus[u] and Philetus, 18who have wandered away from the truth. They say that the resurrection has already taken place,[v] and they destroy the faith of some.[w] 19Nevertheless, God's solid foundation stands firm,[x] sealed with this inscription: "The Lord knows those who are his,"[ay] and, "Everyone who confesses the name of the Lord[z] must turn away from wickedness."

20In a large house there are articles not only of gold and silver, but also of wood and clay; some are for noble purposes and some for ignoble.[a] 21If a man cleanses himself from the latter, he will be an instrument for noble purposes, made holy, useful to the Master and prepared to do any good work.[b]

22Flee the evil desires of youth, and pursue righteousness, faith, love[c] and peace, along with those who call on the Lord[d] out of a pure heart.[e] 23Don't have anything to do with foolish and stupid arguments, because you know they produce quarrels.[f] 24And the Lord's servant must not quarrel; instead, he must be kind to everyone, able to teach, not resentful.[g] 25Those who oppose him he

2:3–6 Paul gives three examples for Timothy to follow: (1) a soldier who wants to please his commander; (2) an athlete who follows the rules of the game; and (3) a farmer who works hard.

2:6 to receive a share of the crops. In this illustration, as in the previous two (soldier, vv. 3–4; athlete, v. 5), the main lesson is that dedicated effort will be rewarded—not necessarily monetarily, but in enjoyment of seeing the gospel produce changed lives.

2:8 raised from the dead, descended from David. Christ's resurrection proclaims his deity, and his descent from David shows his humanity; both truths are basic to the gospel. Since Christ is God, his death has infinite value; since he is man, he could rightfully become our substitute.

2:9 chained like a criminal. Apparently Paul was awaiting execution (see 4:6).

2:10 I endure everything for the sake of the elect. No suffering is too great if it brings about the salvation of God's chosen ones who will yet believe. in Christ Jesus. See note on 1:13. eternal glory. The final state of salvation.

2:11–13 Probably an early Christian hymn. The point to which Paul appeals is that suffering for Christ will be followed by glory.

2:11 trustworthy saying. See note on 1Ti 1:15. If we died with him, we will also live with him. The Greek grammatical construction here assumes that we died with Christ in the past, when he died for us on the cross. We are therefore assured that we will also live with him eternally.

2:12 If we endure, we will also reign. Faithfully bearing up under suffering and trial will result in reward when Christ returns. If we disown him. See Mt 10:33.

2:14–18 The wording of vv. 14–16 indicates that the heresy mentioned here is an early form of Gnosticism—the same as that dealt with in 1 Timothy and Titus (see note on 1Ti 1:3–11 and Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism). Two leaders of this heresy, Hymenaeus (see 1Ti 1:20) and Philetus, denied the bodily resurrection and probably asserted that there is only a spiritual resurrection (similar to the error mentioned in 1Co 15:12–19). Gnosticism interpreted the resurrection allegorically, not literally.

2:15 Do your best. See 4:9,21. word of truth. The gospel.

2:19 God's solid foundation. The church, which upholds the truth (1Ti 3:15). In spite of the heresy of Hymenaeus and Philetus, Timothy should be heartened to know that the church is God's solid foundation. There are two inscriptions on it: One stresses the security of the church ("The Lord knows those who are his"; here "know," as often in the Bible, means to be intimately acquainted with), while the other emphasizes human responsibility ("Everyone who confesses the name of the Lord must turn away from wickedness"). sealed. The church is owned and securely protected by God (see note on Eph 1:13).

2:22 youth. See note on 1Ti 4:12.

must gently instruct, in the hope that God will grant them repentance leading them to a knowledge of the truth,[h] [26]and that they will come to their senses and escape from the trap of the devil,[i] who has taken them captive to do his will.

Godlessness in the Last Days

3 But mark this: There will be terrible times in the last days.[j] [2]People will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money,[k] boastful, proud,[l] abusive,[m] disobedient to their parents,[n] ungrateful, unholy, [3]without love, unforgiving, slanderous, without self-control, brutal, not lovers of the good, [4]treacherous,[o] rash, conceited,[p] lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God— [5]having a form of godliness[q] but denying its power. Have nothing to do with them.[r]

[6]They are the kind who worm their way[s] into homes and gain control over weak-willed women, who are loaded down with sins and are swayed by all kinds of evil desires, [7]always learning but never able to acknowledge the truth.[t] [8]Just as Jannes and Jambres opposed Moses,[u] so also these men oppose[v] the truth—men of depraved minds,[w] who, as far as the faith is concerned, are rejected. [9]But they will not get very far because, as in the case of those men,[x] their folly will be clear to everyone.

Paul's Charge to Timothy

[10]You, however, know all about my teaching,[y] my way of life, my purpose, faith, patience, love, endurance, [11]persecutions, sufferings—what kinds of things happened to me in Antioch,[z] Iconium[a] and Lystra,[b] the persecutions I endured.[c] Yet the Lord rescued[d] me from all of them.[e] [12]In fact, everyone who wants to live a godly life in Christ Jesus will be persecuted,[f] [13]while evil men and impostors will go from bad to worse,[g] deceiving and being deceived.[h] [14]But as for you, continue in what you have learned and have become convinced of, because you know those from whom you learned it,[i] [15]and how from infancy[j] you have known the holy Scriptures,[k] which are able to make you wise[l] for salvation through faith in Christ Jesus. [16]All Scripture is God-breathed[m] and is useful for teaching,[n] rebuking, correcting and training in righteousness,[o] [17]so that the man of God[p] may be thoroughly equipped for every good work.[q]

4 In the presence of God and of Christ Jesus, who will judge the living and the dead,[r] and in view of his appearing[s] and his kingdom, I give you this charge:[t] [2]Preach[u] the Word;[v] be prepared in season and out of season; correct, rebuke[w] and encourage[x]—with great patience and careful instruction. [3]For the time will come when men will not put up with sound doctrine.[y] Instead, to suit their own desires, they will gather around them a great number of teachers to say what their itching ears want to hear.[z] [4]They will turn their ears

3:1 last days. The Messianic era, the time beginning with Christ's first coming (see notes on Ac 2:17; 1Ti 4:1; Heb 1:2; 1Pe 1:20; 1Jn 2:18). That "the last days" in this passage does not refer only to the time just prior to Christ's return is apparent from Paul's command to Timothy to have nothing to do with the unbelieving and unfaithful people who characterize this time (v. 5).

3:6 weak-willed women. Unstable women who are guilt-ridden because of their sins, torn by lust, and victims of various false teachers ("always learning," v. 7, but never coming to a saving knowledge of Christ).

3:8 Jannes and Jambres. Neither of these men is mentioned in the OT, but according to Jewish tradition they were the Egyptian court magicians who opposed Moses (see Ex 7:11 and note).

3:11 Antioch, Iconium and Lystra. Three cities in the Roman province of Galatia, which Paul visited on his first and second missionary journeys (Ac 13:14–14:23; 16:1–6). Since Timothy was from Lystra, he would have known firsthand of Paul's sufferings in that region. the Lord rescued me from all of them. Even from execution by stoning (Ac 14:19–20).

3:12 A principle repeated elsewhere in the NT (see Mt 10:22; Ac 14:22; Php 1:29; 1Pe 4:12). in Christ. See note on 1:13.

3:14 those from whom you learned it. Perhaps a reference to Paul as well as to Timothy's mother and grandmother (1:5).

3:15 from infancy you have known the holy Scriptures. A Jewish boy formally began to study the OT when he was five years old. Timothy was taught at home by his mother and grandmother even before he reached this age.

3:16 All Scripture. The primary reference is to the OT, since some of the NT books had not even been written at this time. (See 1Ti 5:18; 2Pe 3:15–16 for indications that some NT books—or material ultimately included in the NT—were already considered equal in authority to the OT Scriptures.) God-breathed. Paul affirms God's active involvement in the writing of Scripture, an involvement so powerful and pervasive that what is written is the infallible and authoritative word of God (see 2Pe 1:20–21 and notes).

4:1 I give you this charge. Paul states his charge to Timothy, aware that he does so in the presence of God the Father and of Christ, who will judge all men. He is also keenly aware of the twin facts of Christ's return and the coming establishment of God's kingdom in its fullest expression. Timothy was to view a charge so given as of utmost importance.

4:2 be prepared. Be ready in any situation to speak the needed word, whether of correction, of rebuke or of encouragement.

4:3 sound doctrine. See note on Tit 1:9. itching ears. Ears that want to be "scratched" by words in keeping with one's evil desires.

4:4 myths. See note on 1Ti 1:4.

away from the truth and turn aside to myths.[a] 5But you, keep your head in all situations, endure hardship,[b] do the work of an evangelist,[c] discharge all the duties of your ministry.

6For I am already being poured out like a drink offering,[d] and the time has come for my departure.[e] 7I have fought the good fight,[f] I have finished the race,[g] I have kept the faith. 8Now there is in store for me[h] the crown of righteousness,[i] which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will award to me on that day[j]—and not only to me, but also to all who have longed for his appearing.[k]

Personal Remarks

9Do your best to come to me quickly,[l] 10for Demas,[m] because he loved this world,[n] has deserted me and has gone to Thessalonica.[o] Crescens has gone to Galatia,[p] and Titus[q] to Dalmatia. 11Only Luke[r] is with me.[s] Get Mark[t] and bring him with you, because he is helpful to me in my ministry. 12I sent Tychicus[u] to Ephesus.[v] 13When you come, bring the cloak that I left with Carpus at Troas,[w] and my scrolls, especially the parchments.

14Alexander[x] the metalworker did me a great deal of harm. The Lord will repay him for what he has done.[y] 15You too should be on your guard against him, because he strongly opposed our message.

16At my first defense, no one came to my support, but everyone deserted me. May it not be held against them.[z] 17But the Lord stood at my side[a] and gave me strength,[b] so that through me the message might be fully proclaimed and all the Gentiles might hear it.[c] And I was delivered from the lion's mouth.[d] 18The Lord will rescue me from every evil attack[e] and will bring me safely to his heavenly kingdom.[f] To him be glory for ever and ever. Amen.[g]

Final Greetings

19Greet Priscilla[b] and Aquila[h] and the household of Onesiphorus.[i] 20Erastus[j] stayed in Corinth, and I left Trophimus[k] sick in Miletus.[l] 21Do your best to get here before winter.[m] Eubulus greets you, and so do Pudens, Linus, Claudia and all the brothers.

22The Lord be with your spirit.[n] Grace be with you.[o]

[b] 19 Greek Prisca, a variant of Priscilla

4:6 drink offering. The offering of wine poured around the base of the altar (see Nu 15:1–12; 28:7,24). Paul views his approaching death as the pouring out of his life as an offering to Christ (see Php 2:17). my departure. His impending death (cf. Php 1:23).

4:7 In this verse Paul looks back over 30 years of labor as an apostle (c. A.D. 36–66). Like an athlete who had engaged successfully in a contest ("fought the good fight"), he had "finished the race" and had "kept the faith," i.e., had carefully observed the rules (the teachings) of the Christian faith (see 2:5). Or, in view of the Pastorals' emphasis on sound doctrine, perhaps "the faith" refers to the deposit of Christian truth. Paul has kept (guarded) it.

4:8 crown of righteousness. Continuing with the same figure of speech, Paul uses the metaphor of the wreath given to the winner of a race (1Co 9:25). He could be referring to (1) a crown given as a reward for a righteous life, (2) a crown consisting of righteousness or (3) a crown given righteously (justly) by the righteous Judge. that day. The day of Christ's second coming ("appearing").

4:10 Crescens. Mentioned only here in the NT. Galatia. Either the northern area of Asia Minor (Gaul) or a Roman province in what is now central Turkey (see note on Gal 1:2). Titus to Dalmatia. See Introduction to Titus: Recipient. Dalmatia. Present-day Albania and a portion of Yugoslavia, also known in Scripture as Illyricum (Ro 15:19).

4:11 Mark. John Mark had deserted Paul and Barnabas on their first missionary journey (Ac 13:13). After Paul refused to take Mark on the second journey, Barnabas separated from Paul, taking Mark with him on a mission to Cyprus (Ac 15:36–41). Ultimately Mark proved himself to Paul, indicated by his presence with Paul during Paul's first Roman imprisonment (Col 4:10; Phm 24) and by Paul's request here for Timothy to bring Mark with him to Rome.

4:13 cloak. For protection against the cold dampness (see Introduction: Author, Date and Setting). It was probably a heavy, sleeveless, outer garment, circular in shape and with a hole in the middle for one's head. Carpus. Not mentioned elsewhere. my scrolls, especially the parchments. The scrolls (see note on Ex 17:14) were made of papyrus, and the parchments were made of the skins of animals. The latter may have been copies of parts of the OT.

4:14 Alexander the metalworker. Possibly the Alexander mentioned in 1Ti 1:20.

4:16 my first defense. The first court hearing of Paul's present case, not his defense on the occasion of his first imprisonment (Ac 28).

4:17 so that through me the message might be fully proclaimed. Even in these dire circumstances Paul used the occasion to testify about Jesus Christ in the imperial court. I was delivered from the lion's mouth. Since, as a Roman citizen, Paul could not be thrown to the lions in the amphitheater, this must be a figurative way of saying that his first hearing did not result in an immediate guilty verdict.

4:18 The Lord will rescue me from every evil attack. Since Paul fully expected to die soon (v. 6), the rescue he speaks of here is spiritual, not physical. heavenly kingdom. Heaven itself.

4:19 Onesiphorus. See note on 1:16.

4:20 Erastus. See note on Ro 16:23. Miletus. A seaport on the coast of Asia Minor about 50 miles south of Ephesus.

4:21 Linus. Early tradition says he was bishop of Rome after the deaths of Peter and Paul.

4:22 Grace. See notes on Jnh 4:2; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2. you. As at the end of 1 Timothy, "you" here is plural, showing that the letter was intended for public use. The word "your" in the first part of the verse, however, is singular, indicating that it was addressed to Timothy alone. In view of Paul's impending death and the solemn charge he gave to his timid young friend, Timothy needed such encouragement.

Titus

See "The Pastoral Letters," p. 1833.

Author

The author is Paul (see Introduction to 1 Timothy: Author).

Recipient

The letter is addressed to Titus, one of Paul's converts (1:4) and a considerable help to Paul in his ministry. When Paul left Antioch to discuss "his" gospel (2Ti 2:8) with the Jerusalem leaders, he took Titus with him (Gal 2:1–3); acceptance of Titus (a Gentile) as a Christian without circumcision vindicated Paul's stand there (Gal 2:3–5). Presumably Titus, who is not referred to in Acts (but is mentioned 13 times in the rest of the NT), worked with Paul at Ephesus during the third missionary journey. From there the apostle sent him to Corinth to help that church with its work (see notes on 2Co 2:12–13; 7:5–6; 8:6).

Following Paul's release from his first Roman imprisonment (Ac 28), he and Titus worked briefly in Crete (1:5), after which he commissioned Titus to remain there as his representative and complete some needed work (1:5; 2:15; 3:12–13). Paul asked Titus to meet him at Nicopolis (on the west coast of Greece) when a replacement arrived (3:12). Later, Titus went on a mission to Dalmatia (modern Yugoslavia; see note on 2Ti 4:10), the last word we hear about him in the NT. Considering the assignments given him, he obviously was a capable and resourceful leader.

Crete

The fourth largest island of the Mediterranean, Crete lies directly south of the Aegean Sea (see note on 1Sa 30:14; cf. Paul's experiences there in Ac 27:7–13). In NT times life in Crete had sunk to a deplorable moral level. The dishonesty, gluttony and laziness of its inhabitants were proverbial (1:12).

Occasion and Purpose

Apparently Paul introduced Christianity in Crete when he and Titus visited the island, after which he left Titus there to organize the converts. Paul sent the letter with Zenas and Apollos, who were on a journey that took them through Crete (3:13), to give Titus personal authorization and guidance in meeting opposition (1:5; 2:1,7–8,15; 3:9), instructions about faith and conduct, and warnings about false teachers. Paul also informed Titus of his future plans for him (3:12).

Place and Date of Writing

Paul possibly wrote from Macedonia, for he had not yet reached Nicopolis (see 3:12). The letter was written after his release from the first Roman imprisonment (Ac 28), probably between A.D. 63 and 65—or possibly at a later date if he wrote after his assumed trip to Spain.

Distinctive Characteristics

Especially significant, considering the nature of the Cretan heresy, are the repeated emphases on "doing what is good" (1:16; 2:7,14; 3:1,8,14) and the classic summaries of Christian doctrine (2:11–14; 3:4–7).

Titus' Task on Crete

1:6–8Ref — 1Ti 3:2–4

5The reason I left you in Crete[p] was that you might straighten out what was left unfinished and appoint[a] elders[q] in every town, as I directed you. 6An elder must be blameless,[r] the husband of but one wife, a man whose children believe and are not open to the charge of being wild and disobedient. 7Since an overseer[b s] is entrusted with God's work,[t] he must be blameless—not overbearing, not quick-tempered, not given to drunkenness, not violent, not pursuing dishonest gain.[u] 8Rather he must be hospitable,[v] one who loves what is good,[w] who is self-controlled,[x] upright, holy and disciplined. 9He must hold firmly[y] to the trustworthy message as it has been taught, so that he can encourage others by sound doctrine[z] and refute those who oppose it.

10For there are many rebellious people, mere talkers[a] and deceivers, especially those of the circumcision group.[b] 11They must be silenced, because they are ruining whole households[c] by teaching things they ought not to teach—and that for the sake of dishonest gain. 12Even one of their own prophets[d] has said, "Cretans[e] are always liars, evil brutes, lazy gluttons." 13This testimony is

1:1 servant of God. Only here does Paul call himself a servant of God; elsewhere he says "servant of Christ" (Ro 1:1; Gal 1:10; Php 1:1). James uses both terms of himself (Jas 1:1). servant. See note on Ro 1:1. apostle. One specially commissioned by Christ (see notes on Mk 6:30; 1Co 1:1; Heb 3:1). for the faith ... and the knowledge. Paul's appointed mission as God's servant and Christ's apostle—further explained in v. 2 (see Ac 9:15; 22:15; 26:16–18).

1:2 hope. See note on Col 1:5. does not lie. In contrast to the Cretans (v. 12)—and the devil (Jn 8:44).

1:3 appointed season. Crucial events in God's program occur at his designated times in history (1Ti 2:6; 6:15). his word. The authoritative message that centers in Christ. God our Savior. Three times in the letter God the Father is called Savior (here; 2:10; 3:4; see also 1Ti 1:1; 2:3; 4:10), and three times Jesus is called Savior (v. 4; 2:13; 3:6; see also 2Ti 1:10).

1:4 my true son. Titus, like Timothy (1Ti 1:2), was a spiritual son, having been converted through Paul's ministry. Onesimus was also called a son by Paul (Phm 10). true. Genuine. our common faith. The faith shared by all true believers. Savior. In all of Paul's other salutations Jesus is called "Lord." Paul uses "Savior" 12 times in all his letters, half of the references being in Titus.

1:5 left you in Crete. Implies that Paul and Titus had been together in Crete, a ministry not mentioned in Acts. On his voyage to Rome, Paul visited Crete briefly as a prisoner (Ac 27:7–8), but now that he had been released from his first Roman imprisonment he was free to travel wherever he wished (see 3:12). appoint elders. Though Paul and Titus perhaps had already preached in Crete, they had not had time to organize churches. The appointing of elders is consistent with Paul's usual practice (Ac 14:23).

1:6–9 1Ti 3:1–7 gives a parallel list of qualifications for elders, but the two lists reflect the different situations in which Timothy and Titus ministered. See chart on "Qualifications for Elders/Overseers and Deacons," p. 1840.

1:6 husband of but one wife. Since elders, by definition, were chosen from among the older men of the congregation, Paul assumed they already would be married and have children. A qualified unmarried man was not necessarily barred. It is also improbable that the standard forbids an elder to remarry if his wife dies (cf. Ro 7:2–3; 1Co 7:39; 1Ti 5:14). The most likely meaning is simply that a faithful monogamous married life must be maintained. See note on 1Ti 3:2.

1:7 an overseer. The use of "elder" in v. 5 and "overseer" (or "bishop") in v. 7 indicates that the terms were used interchangeably (cf. Ac 20:17,28; 1Pe 5:1–2). "Elder" indicates qualification (maturity and experience), while "overseer" indicates responsibility (watching over God's flock).

1:8 self-controlled. A virtue much needed in Crete (see vv. 10–14); Paul refers to it five times in two chapters (here; 2:2,5–6,12). disciplined. Possessing the inner strength to control one's desires and actions.

1:9 sound doctrine. Correct teaching, in keeping with that of the apostles (see 1Ti 1:10; 6:3; 2Ti 1:13; 4:3). The teaching is called "sound" not only because it builds up in the faith, but because it protects against the corrupting influence of false teachers. Soundness of doctrine, faith and speech is a basic concern in all the Pastoral Letters (1,2 Timothy; Titus). In them the word "sound" occurs eight times but is found nowhere else in Paul's writings.

1:10 rebellious. Against the word of God and against Paul and Titus as the Lord's authoritative ministers. people. These troublemakers had three main characteristics: 1. They belonged to the "circumcision group," like the people of Gal 2:12, believing that, for salvation or sanctification or both, it was necessary to be circumcised and to keep the Jewish ceremonial law (see Introduction to Galatians: Occasion and Purpose). 2. They held to unscriptural Jewish myths (v. 14) and genealogies (3:9; see 1Ti 1:4 and note there). 3. They were ascetics (vv. 14–15), having scruples against things that God declared to be good. mere talkers. Paul used similar language in writing to Timothy about this kind of person (1Ti 1:6).

1:12 The quotation is from the poet Epimenides (a sixth-century B.C. native of Knossos, Crete), who was held in high esteem by the Cretans. Several fulfilled predictions were ascribed to him. For other uses of pagan sayings by Paul see Ac 17:28; 1Co 15:33 and notes. In Greek literature "to Cretanize" meant to lie.

true. Therefore, rebuke[f] them sharply, so that they will be sound in the faith[g] 14and will pay no attention to Jewish myths[h] or to the commands[i] of those who reject the truth.[j] 15To the pure, all things are pure,[k] but to those who are corrupted and do not believe, nothing is pure.[l] In fact, both their minds and consciences are corrupted.[m] 16They claim to know God, but by their actions they deny him.[n] They are detestable, disobedient and unfit for doing anything good.[o]

What Must Be Taught to Various Groups

2 You must teach what is in accord with sound doctrine.[p] 2Teach the older men[q] to be temperate,[r] worthy of respect, self-controlled,[s] and sound in faith,[t] in love and in endurance.

3Likewise, teach the older women to be reverent in the way they live, not to be slanderers[u] or addicted to much wine,[v] but to teach what is good. 4Then they can train the younger women[w] to love their husbands and children, 5to be self-controlled[x] and pure, to be busy at home,[y] to be kind, and to be subject to their husbands,[z] so that no one will malign the word of God.[a]

6Similarly, encourage the young men[b] to be self-controlled.[c] 7In everything set them an example[d] by doing what is good.[e] In your teaching show integrity, seriousness 8and soundness of speech that cannot be condemned, so that those who oppose you may be ashamed because they have nothing bad to say about us.[f]

9Teach slaves to be subject to their masters in everything,[g] to try to please them, not to talk back to them, 10and not to steal from them, but to show that they can be fully trusted, so that in every way they will make the teaching about God our Savior[h] attractive.[i]

11For the grace[j] of God that brings salvation has appeared[k] to all men.[l] 12It teaches us to say "No" to ungodliness and worldly passions,[m] and to live self-controlled,[n] upright and godly lives[o] in this present age, 13while we wait for the blessed hope—the glorious appear-

1:14 Jewish myths. See note on v. 10.

1:15 To the pure, all things are pure. To Christians, who have been purified by the atoning death of Christ, "everything God created is good, and nothing is to be rejected if it is received with thanksgiving" (1Ti 4:4). to those who are corrupted and do not believe, nothing is pure. Unbelievers, especially ascetics with unbiblical scruples against certain foods, marriage and the like (cf. 1Ti 4:3; Col 2:21), do not enjoy the freedom of true Christians, who receive all God's creation with thanksgiving. Instead, they set up arbitrary, man-made prohibitions against what they consider to be impure (see Mt 15:10–11,16–20; Mk 7:14–19; Ac 10:9–16; Ro 14:20). The principle of this verse does not conflict with the many NT teachings against practices that are morally and spiritually wrong. consciences. See 1Ti 4:2–3.

1:16 by their actions they deny him. The false teachers stood condemned by the test of personal conduct. good. See Introduction: Distinctive Characteristics. Right knowledge is extremely important because it leads to godliness (v. 1). Paul maintained a remarkable balance between doctrine and practice.

2:1 You. Emphatic, contrasting the work of Titus with that of the false teachers just denounced (1:10–16).

2:2–10 Sound doctrine demands right conduct of all believers, regardless of age, sex or position.

2:2 Older men, as leaders, were to be moral and spiritual examples. temperate. Instead of being "lazy gluttons," as were Cretans in general (1:12), these older believers were to be responsible and sensible.

2:3 Likewise. The same moral standards applied to women as to men. not to be slanderers. Slanderous talk apparently was a common vice among Cretan women.

2:4 love their husbands. Just as husbands are exhorted (Eph 5:25) to love their wives (though different Greek words for "love" are used in the two passages).

2:5 that no one will malign the word of God. Indicating Paul's deep spiritual concern behind these ethical instructions. See also vv. 8,10, dealing with his concern that Christian living should help rather than hinder the spread of the gospel.

2:7–8 Perhaps Titus was still a young man and was not yet well respected by the Cretan churches. The demands on a leader are all-inclusive, involving not only his word but also his life-style (Jas 3:1).

2:7 good. See Introduction: Distinctive Characteristics.

2:9–10 Instructions for a distinct group in the churches. Slavery was a basic element of Roman society, and the impact of Christianity upon slaves was a vital concern. Guidance for the conduct of Christian slaves was essential (see note on Eph 6:5).

2:9 masters. The Greek for this word, from which our English term "despot" is derived, indicates the owner's absolute authority over his slave. Roman slaves had no legal rights, their fates being entirely in their masters' hands.

2:10 make the teaching ... attractive. Christian slaves could give a unique and powerful testimony to the gospel by their willing faithfulness and obedience to their masters.

2:11–14 Briefly describes the effect grace should have on believers. It encourages rejection of ungodliness and leads to holier living—in keeping with Paul's repeated insistence that profession of Christ be accompanied by godly living (vv. 1–2,4–5,10; 3:8).

2:11 For. Introduces the doctrinal basis for the ethical demands just stressed. Right conduct must be founded on right doctrine. grace of God. The undeserved love God showed us in Christ while we were still sinners and his enemies (Ro 5:6–10) and by which we are saved apart from any moral achievements or religious acts on our part (see 3:5; Eph 2:8–9). But this same grace instructs us that our salvation should produce good works (see note on v. 14; see also Eph 2:10).

2:12 teaches us. The word translated "teaches" refers to more than instruction; it includes the whole process of training a child—instruction, encouragement, correction and discipline. this present age. See note on 2Co 4:4.

2:13 the blessed hope—the glorious appearing. The second coming (see 1Ti 6:14; 2Ti 4:1; see also note on 2Ti 4:8). our great God and Savior, Jesus Christ. It is possi-ing[p] of our great God and Savior, Jesus Christ,[q] 14who gave himself for us[r] to redeem us from all wickedness[s] and to purify[t] for himself a people that are his very own,[u] eager to do what is good.[v]

15These, then, are the things you should teach. Encourage and rebuke with all authority. Do not let anyone despise you.

Doing What Is Good

3 Remind the people to be subject to rulers and authorities,[w] to be obedient, to be ready to do whatever is good,[x] 2to slander no one,[y] to be peaceable and considerate, and to show true humility toward all men.

3At one time[z] we too were foolish, disobedient, deceived and enslaved by all kinds of passions and pleasures. We lived in malice and envy, being hated and hating one another. 4But when the kindness[a] and love of God our Savior[b] appeared,[c] 5he saved us,[d] not because of righteous things we had done,[e] but because of his mercy.[f] He saved us through the washing[g] of rebirth and renewal[h] by the Holy Spirit, 6whom he poured out on us[i] generously through Jesus Christ our Savior, 7so that, having been justified by his grace,[j] we might become heirs[k] having the hope[l] of eternal life.[m] 8This is a trustworthy saying.[n] And I want you to stress these things, so that those who have trusted in God may be careful to devote themselves to doing what is good.[o] These things are excellent and profitable for everyone.

9But avoid[p] foolish controversies and genealogies and arguments and quarrels[q] about the law,[r] because these are unprofitable and useless.[s] 10Warn a divisive person once, and then warn him a second time. After that, have nothing to do with him.[t] 11You may be sure that such a man is warped and sinful; he is self-condemned.

Final Remarks

12As soon as I send Artemas or Tychicus[u] to you, do your best to come to me at Nicopolis, because I have decided to winter there.[v] 13Do everything you can to help Zenas the lawyer and Apollos[w] on their way and see that they have everything they need. 14Our people must learn to devote themselves to doing what is good,[x] in order that they may provide for daily necessities and not live unproductive lives.

15Everyone with me sends you greetings. Greet those who love us in the faith.[y]

Grace be with you all.[z]

ble to translate this phrase "the great God and our Saviour, Jesus Christ" (KJV), but the NIV rendering better represents the Greek construction. It is an explicit testimony to the deity of Christ (see note on Ro 9:5).

2:14 Salvation involves the double work of redeeming us from guilt and judgment and of producing moral purity and helpful service to others (see Introduction: Distinctive Characteristics).

2:15 A summary of Titus's responsibility and authority. things. The content of the whole chapter.

3:1–2 NT teaching is not confined to the area of personal salvation but includes much instruction about practical living. Although believers are citizens of heaven (Php 3:20), they must also submit themselves to earthly government (see Ro 13:1–7; 1Pe 2:13–17) and help promote the well-being of the community.

3:1 rulers and authorities. The terms refer to all forms and levels of human government (cf. Eph 3:10; 6:12 for application to angels). good. See Introduction: Distinctive Characteristics.

3:4 kindness and love of God. The reasons why God did not simply banish fallen man but acted to save him (cf. 2:11). The Greek here for "love" is philanthropia, "love for mankind."

3:5 saved us ... because of his mercy. Salvation is not achieved by human effort or merit but comes through God's mercy alone. washing of rebirth. A reference to new birth, of which baptism (among other things) is a sign. It cannot mean that baptism is necessary for regeneration, since the NT plainly teaches that the new birth is an act of God's Spirit (see, e.g., Jn 3:5) and is not effected or achieved by ceremony. renewal by the Holy Spirit. Also a reference to new birth.

3:8 trustworthy saying. A reference to the doctrinal summary in vv. 4–7. This phrase, which occurs only here in Titus, appears four other times in the Pastoral Letters (1Ti 1:15; 3:1; 4:9; 2Ti 2:11) and nowhere else in the NT. good. See Introduction: Distinctive Characteristics.

3:9 about the law. A reference to the situation described in 1:10–16. A similar problem existed in Ephesus (see 1Ti 1:3–7).

3:10 divisive person. The Greek for this phrase became a technical term in the early church for a type of "heretic" who promoted dissension by propagating extreme views of legitimate Christian truths.

3:11 Stubborn refusal to listen to correction reveals inner perversion.

3:12 Tychicus. Paul's trusted co-worker, who on various occasions traveled with or for Paul (Ac 20:4; Eph 6:21–22; Col 4:7–8; 2Ti 4:12). Nicopolis. Means "city of victory." Several cities had this name, but the reference here apparently is to the city in Epirus on the western shore of Greece. decided to winter there. Indicates that Paul had not arrived there when he wrote and that he was still free to travel at will, not yet having been imprisoned in Rome for the second time.

3:13 Zenas the lawyer. Mentioned only here in the NT. If he was a Jewish convert, "lawyer" means that he was an expert in the Mosaic law; if he was a Gentile convert, that he was a Roman jurist. Apollos. A native of Alexandria and one of Paul's well-known co-workers (Ac 18:24–28; 19:1; 1Co 1:12; 3:4–6,22; 16:12). The two travelers apparently brought the letter from Paul.

3:14 good. See Introduction: Distinctive Characteristics.

Philemon

Author, Date and Place of Writing

Paul wrote this short letter (see vv. 1, 9, 19) probably at the same time as Colossians (c. A.D. 60; see Introduction to Colossians: Author, Date and Place of Writing) and sent it to Colosse with the same travelers, Onesimus and Tychicus. He apparently wrote both letters from prison in Rome, though possibly from Ephesus (see Introduction to Philippians: Author, Date and Place of Writing).

Recipient, Background and Purpose

Paul wrote this letter to Philemon, a believer in Colosse who, along with others, was a slave owner (cf. Col 4:1; for slavery in the NT see note on Eph 6:5). One of his slaves, Onesimus, had apparently stolen from him (cf. v. 18) and then run away, which under Roman law was punishable by death. But Onesimus met Paul and through his ministry became a Christian (see v. 10). Now he was willing to return to his master, and Paul writes this personal appeal to ask that he be accepted as a Christian brother (see v. 16).

Approach and Structure

To win Philemon's willing acceptance of Onesimus, Paul writes very tactfully and in a lighthearted tone, which he creates with a wordplay (see note on v. 11). The appeal (vv. 4–21) is organized in a way prescribed by ancient Greek and Roman teachers: to build rapport (vv. 4–10), to persuade the mind (vv. 11–19) and to move the emotions (vv. 20–21). The name Onesimus is not mentioned until the rapport has been built (v. 10), and the appeal itself is stated only near the end of the section to persuade the mind (v. 17).

Outline

II. Thanksgiving and Prayer (4–7)
III. Paul's Plea for Onesimus (8–21)
IV. Final Request, Greetings and Benediction (22–25)

[1]Paul, a prisoner[a] of Christ Jesus, and Timothy[b] our brother,[c]

To Philemon our dear friend and fellow worker,[d] [2]to Apphia our sister, to Archippus[e] our fellow soldier[f] and to the church that meets in your home:[g]

[3]Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.[h]

Thanksgiving and Prayer

[4]I always thank my God[i] as I remember you in my prayers,[j] [5]because I hear about your faith in the Lord Jesus[k] and your love for all the saints.[l] [6]I pray that you may be active in sharing your faith, so that you will have a full understanding of every good thing we have in Christ. [7]Your love has given me great joy and encouragement,[m] because you, brother, have refreshed[n] the hearts of the saints.

Paul's Plea for Onesimus

[8]Therefore, although in Christ I could be bold and order you to do what you ought to do, [9]yet I appeal to you[o] on the basis of love. I then, as Paul—an old man and now also a prisoner[p] of Christ Jesus— [10]I appeal to you for my son[q] Onesimus,[a r] who became my son while I was in chains.[s] [11]Formerly he was useless to you, but now he has become useful both to you and to me.

[12]I am sending him—who is my very heart—back to you. [13]I would have liked to keep him with me so that he could take your place in helping me while I am in chains[t] for the gospel. [14]But I did not want to do anything without your consent, so that any favor you do will be spontaneous and not forced.[u] [15]Perhaps the reason he was separated from you for a little while was that you might have him back for good— [16]no longer as a slave,[v] but better than a slave, as a dear brother.[w] He is very dear to me but even dearer to you, both as a man and as a brother in the Lord.

[17]So if you consider me a partner,[x] welcome him as you would welcome me. [18]If he has done you any wrong or owes you anything, charge it to me.[y] [19]I, Paul, am writing this with my own hand.[z] I will pay it back—not to mention that you owe me your very self. [20]I do wish, brother, that I may have some benefit from you in the Lord; refresh[a] my heart in Christ. [21]Confident[b] of your obedience, I write to you, knowing that you will do even more than I ask.

[22]And one thing more: Prepare a guest room for me, because I hope to be[c] restored to you in answer to your prayers.[d]

[23]Epaphras,[e] my fellow prisoner[f] in Christ Jesus, sends you greetings. [24]And so do Mark,[g] Aristarchus,[h] Demas[i] and Luke, my fellow workers.[j]

[25]The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit.[k]

1–2 Although Paul writes together with Timothy and although he addresses the entire church in Colosse, in this very personal letter to Philemon he uses "I" rather than "we," and "you" (singular except in vv. 22,25).

1 prisoner. See notes on Eph 3:1; Php 1:13. Timothy. See note on Col 1:1; see also Introduction to 1 Timothy: Recipient. Philemon. A Christian living in Colosse or nearby and the owner of the slave Onesimus.

2 Apphia. Probably Philemon's wife. Archippus. See Col 4:17.

4 thank ... remember you in my prayers. See note on Php 1:3–4.

5 Comparing Col 1:4, the NIV has interpreted "your love and your faith, which you have toward the Lord Jesus and for all the saints" (lit.) as an example of the literary device called "chiasm," in which the thought is structured like the Greek letter chi (x):

7 hearts. The English equivalent of the Greek for "intestines"—the part of the body that is figurative for the emotions of pity and love (see vv. 12,20).

10 Onesimus. See NIV text note; see also Introduction: Recipient, Background and Purpose. my son. See note on 1Ti 1:2.

11 useless ... useful. A play on the meaning of Onesimus's name (see NIV text note on v. 10).

17–19 Luther said, "Even as Christ did for us with God the Father, thus Paul also does for Onesimus with Philemon."

20 I ... my. Both pronouns are emphatic, making an obvious allusion to v. 7. benefit. The Greek for this word is another play on the name Onesimus.

22 one thing more. It was not unusual for an ancient letter, though occasioned by one matter, to also include another matter. Often, as here, the second matter had to do with how and when the author planned to meet the recipient again.

23 Epaphras. See Col 4:12.

24 Mark, Aristarchus. See note on Col 4:10. Demas and Luke. See note on Col 4:14.

Hebrews

Author

The writer of this letter does not identify himself, but he was obviously well known to the original recipients. Though for some 1,200 years (from c. A.D. 400 to 1600) the book was commonly called "The Epistle of Paul to the Hebrews," there was no agreement in the earliest centuries regarding its authorship. Since the Reformation it has been widely recognized that Paul could not have been the writer. There is no disharmony between the teaching of Hebrews and that of Paul's letters, but the specific emphases and writing styles are markedly different. Contrary to Paul's usual practice, the author of Hebrews nowhere identifies himself in the letter—except to indicate that he was a man (see note on 11:32). Moreover, the statement "This salvation, which was first announced by the Lord, was confirmed to us by those who heard him" (2:3), indicates that the author had neither been with Jesus during his earthly ministry nor received special revelation directly from the risen Lord, as had Paul (Gal 1:11–12).

The earliest suggestion of authorship is found in Tertullian's De Pudicitia, 20 (c. 200), in which he quotes from "an epistle to the Hebrews under the name of Barnabas." From the letter itself it is clear that the writer must have had authority in the apostolic church and was an intellectual Hebrew Christian well versed in the OT. Barnabas meets these requirements. He was a Jew of the priestly tribe of Levi (Ac 4:36) who became a close friend of Paul after the latter's conversion. Under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, the church at Antioch commissioned Barnabas and Paul for the work of evangelism and sent them off on the first missionary journey (Ac 13:1–4).

The other leading candidate for authorship is Apollos, whose name was first suggested by Martin Luther and who is favored by many scholars today. Apollos, an Alexandrian by birth, was also a Jewish Christian with notable intellectual and oratorical abilities. Luke tells us that "he was a learned man, with a thorough knowledge of the Scriptures" (Ac 18:24). We also know that Apollos was associated with Paul in the early years of the church in Corinth (1Co 1:12; 3:4–6,22).

Date

Hebrews must have been written before the destruction of Jerusalem and the temple in A.D. 70 because: (1) had it been written after this date, the author surely would have mentioned the temple's destruction and the end of the Jewish sacrificial system; and (2) the author consistently uses the Greek present tense when speaking of the temple and the priestly activities connected with it (see 5:1–3; 7:23,27; 8:3–5; 9:6–9,13,25; 10:1,3–4,8,11; 13:10–11).

Recipients

The letter was addressed primarily to Jewish converts who were familiar with the OT and who were being tempted to revert to Judaism or to Judaize the gospel (cf. Gal 2:14). Some have suggested that these professing Jewish Christians were thinking of merging with a Jewish sect, such as the one at Qumran near the Dead Sea. It has also been suggested that the recipients were from the "large number of priests who became obedient to the faith" (Ac 6:7).

Theme

The theme of Hebrews is the absolute supremacy and sufficiency of Jesus Christ as revealer and as mediator of God's grace. The prologue (1:1–4) presents Christ as God's full and final revelation, far surpassing the limited preliminary revelation given in the OT. The prophecies and promises of the OT are fulfilled in the "new covenant" (or "new testament"), of which Christ is the mediator. From the OT itself, Christ is shown to be superior to the ancient prophets, to angels, to Moses (the mediator of the former covenant) and to Aaron and the priestly succession descended from him. Hebrews could be called "the book of better things" since the two Greek words for "better" and "superior" occur 15 times in the letter.

Practical applications of this theme are given throughout the book. The readers are told that there can be no turning back to or continuation in the old Jewish system, which has been superseded by the unique priesthood of Christ. God's people now must look only to him, whose atoning death, resurrection and ascension have opened the way into the true, heavenly sanctuary of God's presence. Resisting temptations to give up the struggle, believers must persevere in the spiritual contest to which they have committed themselves. Otherwise they may meet with judgment as did the rebellious generation of Israelites in the desert.

The Son Superior to Angels

1 In the past God spoke[a] to our forefathers through the prophets[b] at many times and in various ways,[c] 2but in these last days[d] he has spoken to us by his Son,[e] whom he appointed heir[f] of all things, and through whom[g] he made the universe.[h] 3The Son is the radiance of God's glory[i] and the exact representation of his being,[j] sustaining all things[k] by his powerful word. After he had provided purification for sins,[l] he sat down at the right hand of the Majesty in heaven.[m] 4So he became as much superior to the angels as the name he has inherited is superior to theirs.[n]

5For to which of the angels did God ever say,

"You are my Son;
today I have become your Father[a]"[b]?[o]

Or again,

"I will be his Father, and he will be my Son"[c]?[p]

6And again, when God brings his firstborn[q] into the world,[r] he says,

"Let all God's angels worship him."[ds]

7In speaking of the angels he says,

"He makes his angels winds, his servants flames of fire."[et] 8But about the Son he says,

"Your throne, O God, will last for ever and ever,[u] and righteousness will be the scepter of your kingdom.
9You have loved righteousness and hated wickedness;
therefore God, your God, has set you above your companions[v] by anointing you with the oil[w] of joy."[fx]

10He also says,

[a]5 Or have begotten you [b]5 Psalm 2:7 [c]5 2 Samuel 7:14; 1 Chron. 17:13 [d]6 Deut. 32:43 (see Dead Sea Scrolls and Septuagint) [e]7 Psalm 104:4 [f]9 Psalm 45:6,7

1:1 In the past. Prior to Christ's coming, in contrast to "in these last days" (v. 2), the Messianic era inaugurated by the incarnation (see notes on Ac 2:17; 1Ti 4:1; 1Jn 2:18). God spoke. Cf. "he has spoken" (v. 2). God is the ultimate author of both the OT and the NT. to our forefathers. In contrast to "to us" (v. 2). through the prophets. All OT writers are here viewed as prophets in that their testimony was preparation for the coming of Christ; cf. "by his Son" (v. 2), a new and unique category of revelation in contrast to that of the prophets. at many times and in various ways. The OT revelation was fragmentary and occasional, lacking fullness and finality.

1:2–3 The superiority of the Son's revelation is demonstrated by seven great descriptive statements about him: 1. appointed heir of all things. The incarnate Son, having performed the work of redemption, was gloriously exalted to the position of the firstborn heir of God, i.e., he received the inheritance of God's estate ("all things"). See Ro 8:17. 2. through whom he made the universe. See Jn 1:3; Col 1:16. 3. radiance of God's glory. As the brilliance of the sun is inseparable from the sun itself, so the Son's radiance is inseparable from deity, for he himself is God, the second person of the Trinity (Jn 1:14,18). 4. exact representation of his being. Jesus is not merely an image or reflection of God. Because the Son himself is God, he is the absolutely authentic representation of God's being (cf. Jn 14:9; Col 1:15). 5. sustaining all things. Christ is not like Atlas, the mythical Greek god who held the world on his shoulders. The Son dynamically holds together all that has been created through him (Col 1:17). 6. provided purification for sins. Through his redeeming death on the cross. 7. sat down at the right hand of the Majesty in heaven. Being seated at God's right hand indicates that the work of redemption is complete and that Christ is actively ruling with God as Lord over all (see v. 13; 8:1; 10:12; 12:2; Eph 1:20; Col 3:1; 1Pe 3:22; see also note on Mk 16:19).

1:4 superior to the angels. To most Jews angels were exalted beings, especially revered because they were involved in giving the law at Sinai (see note on 2:2), and to the Jews the law was God's supreme revelation. The Dead Sea Scrolls reflect the expectation that the archangel Michael would be the supreme figure in the Messianic kingdom. Whether the recipients of Hebrews were tempted to assign angels a place above Christ (Messiah) is not known. name. To Jews a name stood for the full character of a person in all he was and did (see note on Ge 17:5). The section that follows indicates that this name was "Son"—a name to which no angel could lay claim.

1:5–14 Christ's superiority to angels is documented by seven OT quotations (see NIV text notes), showing that he is God's Son, that he is worshiped by angels and that, though he is God, he is distinguished from the Father.

1:5 You are my Son; today I have become your Father. This passage (Ps 2:7) is quoted in Ac 13:33 as fulfilled in Christ's resurrection (cf. Ro 1:4). I will be his Father, and he will be my Son. Jews acknowledged 2Sa 7:14 (of which this passage is a quotation) and Ps 2 to be Messianic in their ultimate application (see Lk 1:32–33). This royal personage is neither an angel nor an archangel; he is God's Son.

1:6 firstborn. See note on Col 1:15. Let all God's angels worship him. Possibly quoted from Ps 97:7, but see NIV text note. This statement, which in the OT refers to the Lord God (Yahweh), is here applied to Christ, giving clear indication of his full deity. The very beings with whom Christ is being compared are commanded to proclaim his superiority by worshiping him.

1:7 He makes his angels winds, his servants flames of fire. Ps 104:4 speaks of the storm wind and the lightning as agents of God's purposes. The Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT), which the author of Hebrews quotes as the version familiar to his readers, reflects the developing doctrine of angels during the period between the OT and the NT.

1:8 But about the Son he says, "Your throne, O God, will last for ever." The author selects a passage that intimates the deity of the Messianic (and Davidic) King, further demonstrating the Son's superiority over angels.

1:10 In the beginning, O Lord, you laid the foundations of the earth. As in v. 6, a passage addressed to Yahweh ("O Lord") is applied to the Son.

"In the beginning, O Lord, you laid the foundations of the earth, and the heavens are the work of your hands.[y]
11 They will perish, but you remain; they will all wear out like a garment.[z]
12 You will roll them up like a robe; like a garment they will be changed.
But you remain the same,[a] and your years will never end."[g b]

13 To which of the angels did God ever say, "Sit at my right hand[c] until I make your enemies a footstool[d] for your feet"[h e]?

14 Are not all angels ministering spirits[f] sent to serve those who will inherit[g] salvation?[h]

Warning to Pay Attention

2 We must pay more careful attention, therefore, to what we have heard, so that we do not drift away.[i] 2 For if the message spoken[j] by angels[k] was binding, and every violation and disobedience received its just punishment,[l] 3 how shall we escape if we ignore such a great salvation?[m] This salvation, which was first announced by the Lord,[n] was confirmed to us by those who heard him.[o] 4 God also testified to it by signs, wonders and various miracles,[p] and gifts of the Holy Spirit[q] distributed according to his will.[r]

Jesus Made Like His Brothers

5 It is not to angels that he has subjected the world to come, about which we are speaking. 6 But there is a place where someone[s] has testified:

"What is man that you are mindful of him, the son of man that you care for him?[t]
7 You made him a little[i] lower than the angels;
you crowned him with glory and honor
8 and put everything under his feet."[j u]

In putting everything under him, God left nothing that is not subject to him. Yet at present we do not see everything subject to him. 9 But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels, now crowned with glory and honor[v] because he suffered death,[w] so that by the grace of God he might taste death for everyone.[x]

1:13 Sit at my right hand. See note on vv. 2–3. Ps 110 is applied repeatedly to Jesus in Hebrews (vv. 3,13; 5:6,10; 6:20; 7:3,11,17,21; 8:1; 10:12–13; 12:2).

1:14 ministering spirits. Christ reigns; angels minister as those sent to serve.

2:1–4 The first of five warnings strategically positioned throughout the letter (see 3:7–4:13; 5:11–6:12; 10:19–39; 12:14–29).

2:1 what we have heard. The message of the gospel, including that of Christ's person as the God-man and his redemptive work on the cross. drift away. From the greater revelation given through the Son.

2:2 the message spoken by angels. The law given to Moses at Sinai. That angels were active in giving the law is indicated by Dt 33:2 ("myriads of holy ones"); Ps 68:17; Ac 7:38,53; Gal 3:19.

2:3 such a great salvation. The argument here is from the lesser to the greater, and assumes that the gospel is greater than the law. Thus, if disregard for the law brought certain punishment, disregard for the gospel will bring even greater punishment. confirmed to us by those who heard him. The eyewitnesses, chiefly the apostles (see 2Pe 1:16; 1Jn 1:1), had vouched for the message first announced by Christ. The author himself apparently was neither an apostle nor an eyewitness (see Introduction: Author).

2:4 signs, wonders and various miracles. God added his confirmation to the gospel message through supernatural acts such as healing the sick (see Ac 3:7–9,11–12,16). gifts of the Holy Spirit. Such as the gift of tongues (see Ac 2:4–12). distributed according to his will. See 1Co 12:4–11.

2:5–18 An exposition of Ps 8:4–6, which continues to show Christ's superiority over the angels—in fulfilling man's role as sovereign over the earth and in redeeming fallen man, not fallen angels. To accomplish all this, Christ assumed human nature (see vv. 11,14).

2:5 It is not to angels that he has subjected the world to come. Some think the readers were being enticed to believe that the future kingdom would be under the rule of angelic beings (see note on 1:4). Others see the author trying to dissuade his readers from turning back to Judaism. He shows that Christ, as bearer of the new revelation, is superior to angels who had participated in bringing the revelation at Sinai.

2:6a there is a place where someone has testified. Such a well-known passage as Ps 8:4–6 did not need precise identification.

2:6b–8 Awed by the marvelous order and immensity of God's handiwork in the celestial universe, the psalmist marveled at the high dignity God had bestowed on puny man by entrusting him with dominion over the other creatures (see Ge 1:26–28 and notes).

2:7 angels. See note on Ps 8:5.

2:8 everything. God's purpose from the beginning was that man should be sovereign in the creaturely realm, subject only to God. Due to sin, that purpose of God has not yet been fully realized. Indeed, men are themselves "in slavery" (v. 15).

2:9 Jesus ... now crowned with glory and honor. See 10:13. Ps 8 is here applied to Jesus in particular. As forerunner of man's restored dominion over the earth, he was made lower than the angels for a while but is now crowned with glory and honor at God's right hand. By his perfect life, his death on the cross and his exaltation, he has made possible for redeemed man the ultimate fulfillment of Ps 8 in the future kingdom, when man will regain sovereignty over creation.

10 In bringing many sons to glory, it was fitting that God, for whom and through whom everything exists,[y] should make the author of their salvation perfect through suffering.[z] 11 Both the one who makes men holy[a] and those who are made holy[b] are of the same family. So Jesus is not ashamed to call them brothers.[c] 12 He says,

"I will declare your name to my brothers;
in the presence of the congregation
I will sing your praises."[k d]

13 And again,

"I will put my trust in him."[l e]

And again he says,

"Here am I, and the children God has given me."[m f]

14 Since the children have flesh and blood,[g] he too shared in their humanity[h] so that by his death he might destroy[i] him who holds the power of death—that is, the devil[j]— 15 and free those who all their lives were held in slavery by their fear[k] of death. 16 For surely it is not angels he helps, but Abraham's descendants.[l] 17 For this reason he had to be made like his brothers[m] in every way, in order that he might become a merciful[n] and faithful high priest[o] in service to God,[p] and that he might make atonement for[n] the sins of the people.[q] 18 Because he himself suffered when he was tempted, he is able to help those who are being tempted.[r]

Jesus Greater Than Moses

3 Therefore, holy brothers,[s] who share in the heavenly calling,[t] fix your thoughts on Jesus, the apostle and high priest[u] whom we confess.[v] 2 He was faithful to the one who appointed him, just as Moses was faithful in all God's house.[w] 3 Jesus has been found worthy of greater honor than Moses,[x] just as the builder of a house has greater honor than the house itself. 4 For every house is built by someone, but God is the builder of everything.[y] 5 Moses was faithful as a servant[z] in all God's house,[a] testifying to what would be said in the future. 6 But Christ is faithful as a

2:10 many sons to glory. Those who believe in Christ are made God's children through his only Son (cf. Jn 1:12–13). author. The Greek word occurs only four times in the NT: here; 12:2; Ac 3:15; 5:31 ("Prince"). perfect through suffering. Christ had not been morally or spiritually imperfect, but his incarnation was completed (perfected) when he experienced suffering. He identified with us on the deepest level of anguish, and so became qualified to pay the price for our sinful imperfection and to become our sympathetic high priest.

2:11 who makes men holy ... who are made holy. Christ became man to identify himself with man and, by his substitutionary sacrifice on the cross, to restore the holiness man had lost. to call them brothers. Our brotherhood with Jesus is the brotherhood of the Redeemer with the redeemed, who are truly one with him.

2:12 I will declare your name to my brothers. A quotation from Ps 22:22, a psalm describing the sufferings and triumph of God's righteous servant (see introduction to Ps 22). The key phrase is "my brothers," seen here as coming from the lips of the triumphant Messiah.

2:13 I will put my trust in him. An expression of true dependence on God perfectly exemplified in Christ. In him humanity is seen as it was intended to be. Here am I, and the children God has given me. Also seen ultimately as an utterance of the incarnate Son. The Father's children are given to the Son to be his brothers (see v. 11).

2:14 him who holds the power of death. Satan wields the power of death only insofar as he induces people to sin and to come under sin's penalty, which is death (see Eze 18:4; Ro 5:12; 6:23).

2:15 free. See 1Co 15:54–57; Rev 1:18.

2:16 Abraham's descendants. Christ assumed not angelic nature but human nature, characterized by the descendants of Abraham.

2:17 a merciful and faithful high priest. Christ could represent mankind before God only if he became one with them. make atonement. See NIV text note; see also notes on Lev 16:20–22; 17:11. In order for Christ to turn aside the wrath of God against guilty sinners, he had to become one with them and die as a substitute for them.

2:18 he was tempted. See note on 4:15.

3:1–4:13 An exposition of Ps 95:7–11, stressing Christ's superiority over Moses and warning against disobedience and unbelief.

3:1 share. See note on v. 14. the heavenly calling. The invitation that comes from heaven and leads to heaven. apostle. Means "one who is sent" (see notes on Mk 6:30; 1Co 1:1). Jesus repeatedly spoke of himself as having been sent into the world by the Father (e.g., Mt 10:40; 15:24; Mk 9:37; Lk 9:48; Jn 4:34; 5:24,30,36–38; 6:38). He is the supreme apostle, the one from whom all other apostleship flows.

3:2 A comparison of Christ and Moses, both of whom were sent by the Father to lead his people—the one to lead them from bondage under Pharaoh to the promised land, the other to lead them from bondage under the devil (2:14–15) to the Sabbath-rest promised to those who believe (4:3,9). The Sabbath-rest may be heaven, though many hold that it refers primarily to the salvation-rest of Christ's redemption. The analogy focuses on faithful stewardship.

3:3 the builder ... has greater honor than the house. Jesus is the actual builder of the house (or household), whereas Moses was simply a part of it.

3:4 God is the builder of everything. Jesus is here equated with God, making it beyond question that Christ is greater than Moses.

3:5–6 a servant in all God's house ... a son over God's house. The superiority of Christ over Moses is shown in two comparisons: (1) Moses was a servant, whereas Christ is a son, and (2) Moses was in God's house, i.e., a part of it, whereas Christ is over God's house.

3:6 we are his house. The house is made up of God's people, his household (see Eph 2:19; 1Pe 2:5). if we hold on to our courage and the hope. Failure to persevere reveals that a person is actually not a child of God, son[b] over God's house. And we are his house,[c] if we hold on[d] to our courage and the hope[e] of which we boast.

Warning Against Unbelief

7So, as the Holy Spirit says:[f]

"Today, if you hear his voice,
8 do not harden your hearts[g] as you did in the rebellion, during the time of testing in the desert, 9where your fathers tested and tried me and for forty years saw what I did.[h] 10That is why I was angry with that generation, and I said, 'Their hearts are always going astray, and they have not known my ways.'
11So I declared on oath in my anger,[i]
'They shall never enter my rest.'[j][n][o][k]

12See to it, brothers, that none of you has a sinful, unbelieving heart that turns away from the living God.[l] 13But encourage one another daily,[m] as long as it is called Today, so that none of you may be hardened by sin's deceitfulness.[n] 14We have come to share in Christ if we hold firmly[o] till the end the confidence[p] we had at first. 15As has just been said:

"Today, if you hear his voice,
do not harden your hearts
as you did in the rebellion."[p][q]

16Who were they who heard and rebelled? Were they not all those Moses led out of Egypt?[r] 17And with whom was he angry for forty years? Was it not with those who sinned, whose bodies fell in the desert?[s] 18And to whom did God swear that they would never enter his rest[t] if not to those who disobeyed[q][?][u] 19So we see that they were not able to enter, because of their unbelief.[v]

A Sabbath-Rest for the People of God

4 Therefore, since the promise of entering his rest still stands, let us be careful that none of you be found to have fallen short of it.[w] 2For we also have had the gospel preached to us, just as they did; but the message they heard was of no value to them, because those who heard did not combine it with faith.[rx] 3Now we who have believed enter that rest, just as God has said,

"So I declared on oath in my anger, 'They shall never enter my rest.'"[sy]

And yet his work has been finished since the creation of the world. 4For somewhere he has spoken about the seventh day in these words: "And on the seventh day God rested from all his work."[tz] 5And again in the passage above he says, "They shall never enter my rest."[a]

6It still remains that some will enter that rest, and those who formerly had the gospel preached to them did not go in, because of their disobedience.[b] 7Therefore God again set a certain day, calling it whereas perseverance is the hallmark of his children.

3:7–11 This quotation from Ps 95:7–11 summarizes the inglorious history of Israel under Moses' leadership in the desert. Three time periods are alluded to: that of the exodus, that of the psalmist and that of the writing of Hebrews. The example of Israel under Moses was used by the psalmist to warn the Israelites of his day against unbelief and disobedience. In a similar way the author of Hebrews applied the psalmist's warning to the recipients of this letter. The warning also applies today.

3:12 that none of you . . . turns away from the living God. To turn away rebelliously (lit. "to become apostate") from God is to turn away from life and to choose death, just as did some of the Israelites who came out of Egypt.

3:13 as long as it is called Today. See 4:7. This is still the day of divine grace and opportunity to trust God, but it will not last indefinitely.

3:14 to share in Christ. To belong to him and participate in the blessings (cf. v. 1). hold firmly till the end the confidence we had at first. Salvation is evidenced by continuing in faith to the end. Such perseverance reveals those who share in Christ (see note on v. 6).

3:16–19 The argument is pursued with a series of rhetorical questions. The important truths are that the people who failed to enter Canaan were the ones who had heard God's promise concerning the land and that they refused to believe what God had promised (v. 19)—an action described as rebellion (v. 16), sin (v. 17) and disobedience (v. 18). Consequently, God in his anger closed the doors of Canaan in the face of that whole generation of Israelites (Nu 14:21–35). First-century readers of Hebrews faced a similar danger spiritually.

4:1 the promise of entering his rest still stands. Salvation is still available. "His rest" cannot refer ultimately to the rest in Canaan offered to the Israelites. That temporary, earthly rest gained under Joshua (see v. 8; see also note on Jos 1:13) pointed to a rest that is spiritual and eternal.

4:3 we who have believed enter that rest. Just as entering physical rest in Canaan demanded faith in God's promise, so salvation-rest is entered only by faith in the person and work of Jesus Christ. his work has been finished since the creation of the world. God rested from his work on the seventh day of creation (see v. 4; Ge 2:2), and thus his rest is already a reality. The rest God calls us to enter (vv. 10–11) is not our rest but his rest, which he invites us to share.

4:6–8 Israel's going into Canaan under Joshua was a partial and temporary entering of God's rest. That, however, was not the end of entering, as shown in the continuing invitation of Ps 95:7–8.

4:7 calling it Today. See note on 3:13.

Today, when a long time later he spoke through David, as was said before:

"Today, if you hear his voice, do not harden your hearts."[uc]

[8]For if Joshua had given them rest,[d] God would not have spoken[e] later about another day. [9]There remains, then, a Sabbath-rest for the people of God; [10]for anyone who enters God's rest also rests from his own work,[f] just as God did from his.[g] [11]Let us, therefore, make every effort to enter that rest, so that no one will fall by following their example of disobedience.[h]

[12]For the word of God[i] is living[j] and active.[k] Sharper than any double-edged sword,[l] it penetrates even to dividing soul and spirit, joints and marrow; it judges the thoughts and attitudes of the heart.[m] [13]Nothing in all creation is hidden from God's sight.[n] Everything is uncovered and laid bare before the eyes of him to whom we must give account.

Jesus the Great High Priest

[14]Therefore, since we have a great high priest[o] who has gone through the heavens,[vp] Jesus the Son of God,[q] let us hold firmly to the faith we profess.[r] [15]For we do not have a high priest[s] who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses, but we have one who has been tempted in every way, just as we are[t]—yet was without sin.[u] [16]Let us then approach[v] the throne of grace with confidence,[w] so that we may receive mercy and find grace to help us in our time of need.

5 Every high priest is selected from among men and is appointed to represent them in matters related to God,[x] to offer gifts and sacrifices[y] for sins.[z] [2]He is able to deal gently with those who are ignorant and are going astray,[a] since he himself is subject to weakness.[b] [3]This is why he has to offer sacrifices for his own sins, as well as for the sins of the people.[c]

[4]No one takes this honor upon himself; he must be called by God, just as Aaron was.[d] [5]So Christ also did not take upon himself the glory[e] of becoming a high priest.[f] But God said[g] to him,

"You are my Son;

[u]7 Psalm 95:7,8 [v]14 Or gone into heaven

4:9 There remains, then, a Sabbath-rest. God's rest may still be entered by faith in his Son.

4:10 rests from his own work. Whereas God rested from the work of creation, the believer ceases his efforts to gain salvation by his own works and rests in the finished work of Christ on the cross. According to some, however, the believer's final rest is in view here (see Rev 14:13).

4:11 make every effort. Not a call to earn one's salvation by works, but an exhortation to enter salvation-rest by faith and not follow Israel's sad example in the desert.

4:12–13 The reasons for giving serious attention to the exhortation of v. 11.

4:12 word of God. God's truth was revealed by Jesus (the incarnate Word; see Jn 1:1,14), but it has also been given verbally, the word referred to here. This dynamic word of God, active in accomplishing God's purposes, appears in both the OT and the NT (see Ps 107:20; 147:18; Isa 40:8; 55:11; Gal 3:8; Eph 5:26; Jas 1:18; 1Pe 1:23). The author of Hebrews describes it as a living power that judges as with an all-seeing eye, penetrating a person's innermost being. soul and spirit, joints and marrow. The totality and depth of one's being.

4:13 Nothing in all creation is hidden from God's sight. The author associates the activity of the word with the activity of God as though they are one and the same—which in a sense they are.

4:14–7:28 An exposition of Ps 110:4, stressing Christ's superiority over Aaron because of a better priesthood.

4:14 great high priest. See 2:17; 3:1. The author here begins an extended discussion of the superior priesthood of Christ. through the heavens. As the Aaronic high priest on the Day of Atonement passed from the sight of the people into the Most Holy Place (see Lev 16:15,17), so Jesus passed from the sight of his watching disciples, ascending through the heavens into the heavenly sanctuary, his work of atonement accomplished (Ac 1:9–11). hold firmly to the faith we profess. Suggests that the readers were in danger of letting their faith slip (see similar admonitions in 2:1; 3:6,14).

4:15 tempted in every way, just as we are. See 2:18. The author stresses the parallel between Christ's temptations and ours. He did not have each temptation we have but experienced every kind of temptation a person can have. yet was without sin. The way in which Christ's temptations were completely different from ours was in the results—his temptations never led to sin (see Mt 4:1–11).

4:16 Let us then approach. Because Christ our high priest has experienced human temptation, he stands ready to give immediate and sympathetic help when we are tempted.

5:1–4 The high-priestly office had two specific qualifications: (1) A candidate had to be "selected from among men" (v. 1) and thus be able to represent them before God; and (2) he had to "be called by God" (v. 4).

5:1 gifts and sacrifices. See 8:3; 9:9; see also notes on Lev 1:2; 2:1.

5:2 those who are ignorant and are going astray. See Isa 53:6. Contrast the unintentional sin (as in Lev 4; Nu 15:27–29) with defiant rebellion against God (see Nu 15:30–31; cf. Heb 6:4–6; 10:26–31).

5:4 No one takes this honor upon himself. In Christ's day the high-priestly office was in the hands of a family that had bought control of it.

5:5 Christ also did not take upon himself the glory of becoming a high priest. The Son was appointed by the Father, as the two prophetic statements cited here show (Ps 2:7; 110:4). His high priesthood, however, was "in the order of Melchizedek" (v. 6), not in the order of Aaron. today I have become your Father. See notes on 1:5; Ps 2:7–9; cf. Ro 1:4.

today I have become your Father.[w] [x][h]

6And he says in another place,

"You are a priest forever,
in the order of Melchizedek.[i] [y][j]

7During the days of Jesus' life on earth, he offered up prayers and petitions[k] with loud cries and tears[l] to the one who could save him from death, and he was heard[m] because of his reverent submission.[n] 8Although he was a son,[o] he learned obedience from what he suffered[p] 9and, once made perfect,[q] he became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him 10and was designated by God to be high priest[r] in the order of Melchizedek.[s]

Warning Against Falling Away

6:4–6Ref — Heb 10:26–31

11We have much to say about this, but it is hard to explain because you are slow to learn. 12In fact, though by this time you ought to be teachers, you need someone to teach you the elementary truths[t] of God's word all over again. You need milk, not solid food![u] 13Anyone who lives on milk, being still an infant,[v] is not acquainted with the teaching about righteousness. 14But solid food is for the mature,[w] who by constant use have trained themselves to distinguish good from evil.[x]

6 Therefore let us leave[y] the elementary teachings[z] about Christ and go on to maturity, not laying again the foundation of repentance from acts that lead to death,[za] and of faith in God, 2instruction about baptisms,[b] the laying on of hands,[c] the resurrection of the dead,[d] and eternal judgment. 3And God permitting,[e] we will do so.

4It is impossible for those who have once been enlightened,[f] who have tasted the heavenly gift,[g] who have shared in the Holy Spirit,[h] 5who have tasted the goodness[i] of the word of God[j] and the powers of the coming age, 6if they fall

[w]5 Or have begotten you [x]5 Psalm 2:7
[y]6 Psalm 110:4 [z]1 Or from useless rituals

5:7 days of Jesus' life on earth. The principal reference here is to Christ's agony in the Garden of Gethsemane. to the one who could save him from death. To the Father. Jesus did not shrink from physical suffering and death but from the indescribable agony of taking mankind's sin on himself (see Mt 27:46). Although he asked that the cup of suffering might be taken from him, he did not waver in his determination to fulfill the Father's will (see Mt 26:36–46). he was heard. His prayer was granted by the Father, who saved him from death—through resurrection.

5:8 he learned obedience from what he suffered. He was made "perfect" (v. 9) through suffering (see note on 2:10), namely, his temptation in the desert and his ordeal on the cross. Though he was the eternal Son of God, it was necessary for him as the incarnate Son to learn obedience—not that he was ever disobedient, but that he was called on to obey to an extent he had never before experienced. The temptations he faced were real and the battle for victory was difficult, but where Adam failed and fell, Jesus resisted and prevailed. His humanity was thereby completed, "made perfect" (v. 9), and on the basis of this perfection he could become "the source of eternal salvation" (see 9:12).

5:11 much to say about this. About Christ's eternal priesthood "in the order of Melchizedek" (v. 10). slow to learn. Instead of progressing in the Christian life, the readers had become spiritually sluggish and mentally lazy (6:12).

5:12 by this time. They were not recent converts. elementary truths of God's word. These are listed in 6:1–2 (see note there). Having taken the first steps toward becoming (mature) Christians, they had slipped back to where they started. solid food. Advanced teaching such as that given in ch. 7.

5:14 the mature. Those who had progressed in spiritual life and had become Christians of sound judgment and discernment. distinguish good from evil. Something neither physical nor spiritual infants can do.

6:1–2 not laying again the foundation. Six fundamental doctrines are mentioned: 1. repentance. The change of mind that causes one to turn away from sin and/or useless rituals (see NIV text note). 2. faith in God. The counterpart of repentance. As repentance is turning away from the darkness of sin, faith is turning to the light of God. 3. instruction about baptisms. Probably refers to different baptisms with which the readers were familiar, such as Jewish baptism of proselytes, John the Baptist's baptism, and the baptism commanded by Jesus (Mt 28:19). 4. laying on of hands. Sometimes followed baptism (Ac 8:16–17; 19:5–6). Otherwise laying on of hands was practiced in connection with ordaining or commissioning (see Ac 6:6; 13:3; 1Ti 5:22; 2Ti 1:6), healing the sick (see Mk 6:5; 16:18; Lk 4:40; Ac 28:8) and bestowal of blessing (see Mt 19:13–15). 5. resurrection of the dead. The resurrection of all people in the last days (see Jn 5:25–29; 11:25; 2Co 4:14). 6. eternal judgment. The destiny of those who reject God's saving grace and persist in their sinful ways.

6:1 elementary teachings about Christ. See note on 5:12.

6:3 A common expression of dependence on the will of God (cf. 1Co 16:7). Only the Lord can open minds and hearts and bring spiritual maturity.

6:4–6 The most common interpretations of this difficult passage are: 1. It refers to Christians who actually lose their salvation. 2. It is a hypothetical argument to warn immature Hebrew Christians (5:11–14) that they must progress to maturity (see v. 1) or else experience divine discipline or judgment (see vv. 7–8). 3. It refers to professing Christians whose apostasy proves that their faith was not genuine (cf. 1Jn 2:19). This view sees chs. 3–4 as a warning based on the rebellion of the Israelites in the desert. As Israel could not enter the promised land after spying out the region and tasting its fruit, so the professing Hebrew Christians would not be able to repent if they adamantly turned against "the light" they had received. According to this interpretation, such expressions as "enlightened," "tasted the heavenly gift" and "shared in the Holy Spirit" indicate that such persons had come under the influence of God's covenant blessings and had professed to turn from darkness to light but were in danger of a public and final rejection of Christ, proving they had never been regenerated (see 10:26–31 and notes).

6:5 the coming age. See Mk 10:30 and note; 1Ti 6:19.

away, to be brought back to repentance,[k] because[a] to their loss they are crucifying the Son of God[l] all over again and subjecting him to public disgrace.

[7]Land that drinks in the rain often falling on it and that produces a crop useful to those for whom it is farmed receives the blessing of God. [8]But land that produces thorns and thistles is worthless and is in danger of being cursed.[m] In the end it will be burned.

[9]Even though we speak like this, dear friends,[n] we are confident of better things in your case—things that accompany salvation. [10]God is not unjust; he will not forget your work and the love you have shown him as you have helped his people and continue to help them.[o] [11]We want each of you to show this same diligence to the very end, in order to make your hope[p] sure. [12]We do not want you to become lazy, but to imitate[q] those who through faith and patience[r] inherit what has been promised.[s]

The Certainty of God's Promise

[13]When God made his promise to Abraham, since there was no one greater for him to swear by, he swore by himself,[t] [14]saying, "I will surely bless you and give you many descendants."[b][u] [15]And so after waiting patiently, Abraham received what was promised.[v]

[16]Men swear by someone greater than themselves, and the oath confirms what is said and puts an end to all argument.[w] [17]Because God wanted to make the unchanging[x] nature of his purpose very clear to the heirs of what was promised,[y] he confirmed it with an oath. [18]God did this so that, by two unchangeable things in which it is impossible for God to lie,[z] we who have fled to take hold of the hope[a] offered to us may be greatly encouraged. [19]We have this hope as an anchor for the soul, firm and secure. It enters the inner sanctuary behind the curtain,[b] [20]where Jesus, who went before us, has entered on our behalf.[c] He has become a high priest[d] forever, in the order of Melchizedek.[e]

Melchizedek the Priest

7 This Melchizedek was king of Salem[f] and priest of God Most High.[g] He met Abraham returning from the defeat of the kings and blessed him,[h] [2]and Abraham gave him a tenth of everything. First, his name means "king of righteousness"; then also, "king of Salem" means "king of peace." [3]Without father or mother, without genealogy,[i] without beginning of days or end of life, like the Son of God[j] he remains a priest forever.

[4]Just think how great he was: Even the patriarch[k] Abraham gave him a tenth of the plunder![l] [5]Now the law requires the descendants of Levi who become priests

6:7–8 A short parable graphically illustrating the warning just given (see Jn 15:5–6; 2Pe 2:20–22; 1Jn 5:16).

6:9 confident of better things ... that accompany salvation. Although the author has suggested the possibility that some of his readers may still be unsaved, he is confident that God has been at work among them. Changed lives and works of love (v. 10) suggest that many of these persons were indeed regenerated.

6:11 to the very end. A call for perseverance in faith as an evidence of salvation. make your hope sure. See 11:1; 2Pe 1:10.

6:12 those who through faith and patience inherit what has been promised. For examples see ch. 11.

6:13 God made his promise to Abraham. The promise of many descendants was made with an oath to emphasize its unchanging character (see Ge 22:16–18). Ordinarily the swearing of an oath belongs to our fallen human situation, in which a man's word is not always trustworthy. God's swearing of an oath was a condescension to human frailty, thus making his word, which in itself is absolutely trustworthy, doubly dependable (see v. 18).

6:15 after waiting patiently. For 25 years (see Ge 12:3–4; 21:5). received what was promised. The birth of his son Isaac (Ge 17:2; 18:10; 21:5).

6:18 two unchangeable things. God's promise, which in itself is absolutely trustworthy, and God's oath confirming that promise. be greatly encouraged. Since we look back on the fulfillment of the promise that Abraham saw only in anticipation (11:13; Jn 8:56).

6:19 as an anchor for the soul, firm and secure. Like an anchor holding a ship safely in position, our hope in Christ guarantees our safety. inner sanctuary behind the curtain. Whereas the ship's anchor goes down to the ocean bed, the Christian's anchor goes up into the true, heavenly sanctuary, where he is moored to God himself.

6:20 a high priest forever, in the order of Melchizedek. The grand theme that the author is about to develop (ch. 7).

7:1 Melchizedek. See Ge 14:18–20 and notes. king ... and priest. Of particular significance is Melchizedek's holding both offices, one of the ways in which he prefigured Christ. Salem. Jerusalem (see note on Ge 14:18).

7:2 king of righteousness ... king of peace. Messianic titles (see Isa 9:6–7; Jer 23:5–6; 33:15–16).

7:3 Without father ... or end of life. Ge 14:18–20, contrary to the practice elsewhere in the early chapters of Genesis, does not mention Melchizedek's parentage and children, or his birth and death. That he was a real, historical figure is clear, but the author of Hebrews (in accordance with Jewish interpretation) uses the silence of Scripture about Melchizedek's genealogy to portray him as a prefiguration of Christ. Melchizedek's priesthood anticipates Christ's eternal existence and his unending priesthood. Some believe the appearance of Melchizedek to Abraham was a manifestation of Christ before his incarnation, but the comparison "like the Son of God" argues against such an interpretation.

7:4 think how great he was. The one who collects a tithe is greater than the one who pays it, and "the lesser person is blessed by the greater" (v. 7). In both ways Melchizedek was greater than Abraham.

to collect a tenth from the people[m]—that is, their brothers—even though their brothers are descended from Abraham. [6]This man, however, did not trace his descent from Levi, yet he collected a tenth from Abraham and blessed[n] him who had the promises.[o] [7]And without doubt the lesser person is blessed by the greater. [8]In the one case, the tenth is collected by men who die; but in the other case, by him who is declared to be living.[p] [9]One might even say that Levi, who collects the tenth, paid the tenth through Abraham, [10]because when Melchizedek met Abraham, Levi was still in the body of his ancestor.

Jesus Like Melchizedek

[11]If perfection could have been attained through the Levitical priesthood (for on the basis of it the law was given to the people),[q] why was there still need for another priest to come[r]—one in the order of Melchizedek,[s] not in the order of Aaron? [12]For when there is a change of the priesthood, there must also be a change of the law. [13]He of whom these things are said belonged to a different tribe,[t] and no one from that tribe has ever served at the altar.[u] [14]For it is clear that our Lord descended from Judah,[v] and in regard to that tribe Moses said nothing about priests. [15]And what we have said is even more clear if another priest like Melchizedek appears, [16]one who has become a priest not on the basis of a regulation as to his ancestry but on the basis of the power of an indestructible life. [17]For it is declared:

"You are a priest forever,
in the order of Melchizedek."[c w]

[18]The former regulation is set aside because it was weak and useless[x] [19](for the law made nothing perfect),[y] and a better hope[z] is introduced, by which we draw near to God.[a]

[20]And it was not without an oath! Others became priests without any oath, [21]but he became a priest with an oath when God said to him:

"The Lord has sworn and will not change his mind:[b]
'You are a priest forever.' "[c c]

[22]Because of this oath, Jesus has become the guarantee of a better covenant.[d]

[23]Now there have been many of those priests, since death prevented them from continuing in office; [24]but because Jesus lives forever, he has a permanent priesthood.[e] [25]Therefore he is able to save[f] completely[d] those who come to God[g] through him, because he always lives to intercede for them.[h]

[26]Such a high priest[i] meets our need—one who is holy, blameless, pure, set apart from sinners,[j] exalted above the heavens.[k] [27]Unlike the other high priests, he does not need to offer sacrifices[l] day after day, first for his own sins,[m] and then for the sins of the people. He sacrificed for their sins once for all[n] when he offered himself.[o] [28]For the law appoints as high priests men who are weak;[p] but the oath, which

[c] 17,21 Psalm 110:4 [d] 25 Or forever

7:11 on the basis of it. The Levitical priesthood. the law was given. The law of Moses and the priesthood went together. All the people without exception were sinners, subject to the law's condemnation, and thus were in need of a priestly system to mediate between them and God. in the order of Melchizedek, not in the order of Aaron. Implies that the Aaronic (or Levitical) priesthood was imperfect but that Melchizedek's was perfect. The announcement of the coming one who would be a priest forever (Ps 110:4) was written midway in the history of the Levitical priesthood, which could only mean that the existing system was to give way to something better.

7:16 become a priest not on the basis of a regulation as to his ancestry. In the law of Moses the priestly function was restricted to the tribe of Levi (Dt 18:1), but Jesus came from the nonpriestly tribe of Judah (vv. 14–15). the power of an indestructible life. According to Ps 110:4 the priest in the order of Melchizedek is "a priest forever."

7:18 The former regulation ... was weak and useless. The law is holy and good (Ro 7:12), but it is not able to make right those who sin by breaking it, nor can it give the power necessary to fulfill its demands (v. 19a).

7:19 The law was only preparatory (see Gal 3:23–25) and brought nothing to fulfillment (see Mt 5:17). better hope. The new covenant is better because it assures us of complete redemption and brings us into the very presence of God. See note on Col 1:5.

7:20 No divine oath was associated with the establishment of the Levitical priesthood. The priesthood pledged in Ps 110 is superior because it was divinely affirmed with an oath.

7:22 better covenant. See chs. 8–10.

7:23 death prevented them from continuing in office. Impermanence was further evidence of the imperfection of the Levitical order.

7:25 completely. May include the ideas of completeness and permanence (see NIV text note). Jesus is a perfect high priest forever; so he is able to save completely and for all time. always lives to intercede. His people will never be without a priestly representative (see Jn 17; 1Jn 2:1).

7:26 meets our need. Of salvation from sin and its consequences.

7:27 day after day. A reference to the endless repetition of sacrifices throughout the year (see Ex 29:36–42), evidence that these sacrifices never effectively and finally dealt with sin. first for his own sins. Christ's priesthood is superior because he has no personal sins for which sacrifice must be made. once for all. A key phrase in Hebrews (see 9:12,26; 10:2,10). The Levitical priests had to bring daily offerings to the Lord, whereas Jesus sacrificed himself once for all. offered himself. Levitical priests offered up only animals; our high priest offered himself, the perfect substitute—Man for man.

7:28 men who are weak. Because (1) they are mortal and therefore impermanent, v. 23; (2) they are sinful, v. 27; and (3) they could only offer animals, which could never procame after the law, appointed the Son,[q] who has been made perfect[r] forever.

The High Priest of a New Covenant

8 The point of what we are saying is this: We do have such a high priest,[s] who sat down at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in heaven,[t] 2and who serves in the sanctuary, the true tabernacle[u] set up by the Lord, not by man.

3Every high priest[v] is appointed to offer both gifts and sacrifices,[w] and so it was necessary for this one also to have something to offer.[x] 4If he were on earth, he would not be a priest, for there are already men who offer the gifts prescribed by the law.[y] 5They serve at a sanctuary that is a copy[z] and shadow[a] of what is in heaven. This is why Moses was warned[b] when he was about to build the tabernacle: "See to it that you make everything according to the pattern shown you on the mountain."[ec] 6But the ministry Jesus has received is as superior to theirs as the covenant[d] of which he is mediator[e] is superior to the old one, and it is founded on better promises.

7For if there had been nothing wrong with that first covenant, no place would have been sought for another.[f] 8But God found fault with the people and said[f]:

"The time is coming, declares the Lord, when I will make a new covenant[g]
with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah.
9It will not be like the covenant
I made with their forefathers[h] when I took them by the hand to lead them out of Egypt, because they did not remain faithful to my covenant,
and I turned away from them,
declares the Lord.
10This is the covenant[i] I will make with the house of Israel
after that time, declares the Lord.
I will put my laws in their minds and write them on their hearts.[j]
I will be their God, and they will be my people.[k] 11No longer will a man teach his neighbor, or a man his brother, saying, 'Know the Lord,' because they will all know me,[l] from the least of them to the greatest.
12For I will forgive their wickedness and will remember their sins no more.[m]"[gn]

13By calling this covenant "new,"[o] he has made the first one obsolete;[p] and what is obsolete and aging will soon disappear.

vide a genuine substitute for man, who is made in the image of God (see Ge 1:26–28 and notes). made perfect forever. Christ was made perfect in that he faced temptation without succumbing to sin (see notes on 2:10; 5:8). Instead he perfectly obeyed the Father, thereby establishing a perfection that is eternal.

8:1–10:39 The argument of this section grows out of an exposition of Jer 31:31–34 and demonstrates that Christ is the mediator of a "better covenant" (7:22).

8:1 See note on 1:2–3. the Majesty in heaven. A Jewish expression for God (see 1:3).

8:2 true tabernacle. In contrast to the tabernacle erected by Moses, which was an imperfect and impermanent copy of the heavenly one. set up by the Lord, not by man. The heavenly sanctuary built by God corresponds to the Most Holy Place, the innermost sanctuary in Moses' tabernacle, into which the high priest briefly entered with the blood of atonement once a year (see Lev 16:13–15,34). In the heavenly sanctuary, however, our great high priest dwells eternally as our intercessor (7:25).

8:3 gifts and sacrifices. See note on 5:1.

8:4 he would not be a priest. By his human birth Jesus belonged to the tribe of Judah, which was not the priestly tribe (see 7:12–14). men who offer the gifts. Members of the tribe of Levi. The present tense of the verb "offer," here and elsewhere in the letter, indicates that the temple in Jerusalem was still standing. This letter, therefore, must have been written prior to the temple's destruction in A.D. 70 (see Introduction: Date).

8:5 a copy and shadow of what is in heaven. The heavenly reality is the sanctuary of God's presence, into which Christ our high priest entered with his own blood (see 9:11–12). make everything according to the pattern. Because both the tabernacle and its ministry were intended to illustrate symbolically the only way sinners may approach a holy God and find forgiveness.

8:6 the covenant of which he is mediator is superior. See 9:15; 12:24; 1Ti 2:5. The new covenant (see vv. 8–12; Jer 31:31–34) that Jesus mediates is superior to the covenant God made through Moses at Sinai (see Ex 24:7–8). founded on better promises. See vv. 10–12.

8:7 if there had been nothing wrong with that first covenant. The line of argument here is similar to that in 7:11, where the Levitical priestly order is shown to be inferior because it was replaced by the order of Melchizedek. Similarly, if the Mosaic covenant were without defect, there would have been no need to replace it with a new covenant. Concerning the fact that there was nothing essentially "wrong" with the Mosaic covenant see note on 7:18.

8:8–12 A quotation from Jer 31:31–34 containing a prophetic announcement and definition of the new covenant, which was to be different from the Mosaic covenant (v. 9). Its superior benefits are: (1) God's laws will become inner principles (v. 10a) that enable his people to delight in doing his will (cf. Eze 36:26–27; Ro 8:2–4); (2) God and his people will have intimate fellowship (v. 10b); (3) sinful ignorance of God will be removed forever (v. 11); and (4) forgiveness of sins will be an everlasting reality (v. 12).

8:13 obsolete and aging. The announcement of the new covenant clearly proved the impermanence of the one already in existence. To return to the old system would be to return to what is no longer valid or effective.

Worship in the Earthly Tabernacle

9 Now the first covenant had regulations for worship and also an earthly sanctuary.[q] 2A tabernacle[r] was set up. In its first room were the lampstand,[s] the table[t] and the consecrated bread;[u] this was called the Holy Place.[v] 3Behind the second curtain was a room called the Most Holy Place,[w] 4which had the golden altar of incense[x] and the gold-covered ark of the covenant.[y] This ark contained the gold jar of manna,[z] Aaron's staff that had budded,[a] and the stone tablets of the covenant.[b] 5Above the ark were the cherubim of the Glory,[c] overshadowing the atonement cover.[hd] But we cannot discuss these things in detail now.

6When everything had been arranged like this, the priests entered regularly[e] into the outer room to carry on their ministry. 7But only the high priest entered[f] the inner room,[g] and that only once a year,[h] and never without blood,[i] which he offered for himself[j] and for the sins the people had committed in ignorance.[k] 8The Holy Spirit was showing[l] by this that the way[m] into the Most Holy Place had not yet been disclosed as long as the first tabernacle was still standing. 9This is an illustration[n] for the present time, indicating that the gifts and sacrifices being offered[o] were not able to clear the conscience[p] of the worshiper. 10They are only a matter of food[q] and drink[r] and various ceremonial washings[s]—external regulations[t] applying until the time of the new order.

The Blood of Christ

11When Christ came as high priest[u] of the good things that are already here,[iv] he went through the greater and more perfect tabernacle[w] that is not man-made,[x] that is to say, not a part of this creation. 12He did not enter by means of the blood of goats and calves;[y] but he entered the Most Holy Place[z] once for all[a] by his own blood,[b] having obtained eternal redemption. 13The blood of goats and bulls[c] and the ashes of a heifer[d] sprinkled on those who are ceremonially unclean sanctify them so that they are outwardly clean. 14How much more, then, will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit[e] offered himself[f] unblemished to God, cleanse our consciences[g] from acts that lead to death,[jh] so that we may serve the living God![i]

15For this reason Christ is the media-

[h]5 Traditionally the mercy seat [i]11 Some early manuscripts are to come [j]14 Or from useless rituals

9:2 A tabernacle was set up. The tabernacle built under Moses. lampstand. Made of hammered gold and placed at the south side of the Holy Place (Ex 40:24), it had seven lamps that were kept burning every night (Ex 25:31–40). the table and the consecrated bread. Made of acacia wood overlaid with gold, it stood on the north side of the Holy Place (Ex 40:22). On it were twelve loaves, arranged in two rows of six (Lev 24:5–6).

9:4 which had the golden altar of incense. Although the altar of incense stood in the Holy Place, the author describes it as belonging to the Most Holy Place. His purpose was to show its close relationship to the inner sanctuary and the ark of the covenant (cf. Ex 40:5; 1Ki 6:22). On the Day of Atonement the high priest took incense from this altar, along with the blood of the sin offering, into the Most Holy Place (Lev 16:12–14). ark of the covenant. A chest made of acacia wood, overlaid inside and out with gold (Ex 25:10–16). manna ... staff ... tablets. See notes on Ex 16:33–34; see also Nu 17:8–10.

9:5 cherubim of the Glory. Two winged figures made of pure gold, of one piece with the atonement cover, or mercy seat, and standing at either end of it. It was between them that the glory of God's presence appeared (Ex 25:17–22; Lev 16:2; Nu 7:89). atonement cover. Fitting exactly over the top of the ark of the covenant, it was a slab of pure gold on which the blood of the sin offering was sprinkled by the high priest on the Day of Atonement (Lev 16:14–15).

9:7 only once a year. On the Day of Atonement (Yom Kippur), the tenth day of the seventh month (Lev 16:29,34). For a description of its ritual see Lev 16 and notes.

9:8 as long as the first tabernacle was still standing. As long as the Mosaic system with its imperfect priesthood and sacrifice remained in effect (8:7–8,13).

9:9 an illustration for the present time. The Mosaic tabernacle, though superseded, still provided instruction through its typical (symbolic) significance and was a reminder that returning to the old order was useless, since it could not deal effectively with sin. gifts and sacrifices. See note on 5:1.

9:10 the new order. The new covenant, with its new priesthood, new sanctuary and new sacrifice, all introduced by Christ.

9:11 not part of this creation. It was not an earthly tabernacle, but the heavenly sanctuary of God's presence (v. 24; 8:2).

9:12 he entered ... once for all. Not repeatedly year after year as did the Levitical high priests. Christ's sacrifice was perfect, because it was completely effective and did not need to be repeated. After he had obtained eternal redemption, Christ ascended into the true heavenly sanctuary.

9:13 blood of goats and bulls. As on the Day of Atonement. ashes of a heifer. As prescribed in Nu 19 for those who became ceremonially unclean as a result of contact with a corpse. outwardly clean. Such sprinkling, since it was only external, could not cleanse a person from sin.

9:14 offered himself. He was the one who offered the sacrifice, and he was the sacrifice itself. unblemished. In the entirety of Christ's being, not just superficially. cleanse our consciences. Remove sin's defilement from the very core of our beings.

9:15 mediator. See 8:6 and note; 12:24; 1Ti 2:5. new covenant. See 7:22; 8:6,13. the promised eternal inheritance. Defined in the passage from Jeremiah (31:31–34) quoted in 8:8–12. On the basis of Christ's atoning death, this inheritance has become real for those who are called by God (cf. Ro 8:28). as a ransom. See Mk 10:45 tor[j] of a new covenant,[k] that those who are called[l] may receive the promised[m] eternal inheritance[n]—now that he has died as a ransom to set them free from the sins committed under the first covenant.[o]

16In the case of a will,[k] it is necessary to prove the death of the one who made it, 17because a will is in force only when somebody has died; it never takes effect while the one who made it is living. 18This is why even the first covenant was not put into effect without blood.[p] 19When Moses had proclaimed[q] every commandment of the law to all the people, he took the blood of calves,[r] together with water, scarlet wool and branches of hyssop, and sprinkled the scroll and all the people.[s] 20He said, "This is the blood of the covenant, which God has commanded you to keep."[t] 21In the same way, he sprinkled with the blood both the tabernacle and everything used in its ceremonies. 22In fact, the law requires that nearly everything be cleansed with blood,[u] and without the shedding of blood there is no forgiveness.[v]

23It was necessary, then, for the copies[w] of the heavenly things to be purified with these sacrifices, but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these. 24For Christ did not enter a man-made sanctuary that was only a copy of the true one;[x] he entered heaven itself,[y] now to appear for us in God's presence.[z] 25Nor did he enter heaven to offer himself again and again, the way the high priest enters the Most Holy Place[a] every year with blood that is not his own.[b] 26Then Christ would have had to suffer many times since the creation of the world.[c] But now he has appeared[d] once for all[e] at the end of the ages to do away with sin by the sacrifice of himself.[f] 27Just as man is destined to die once,[g] and after that to face judgment,[h] 28so Christ was sacrificed once[i] to take away the sins of many people; and he will appear a second time,[j] not to bear sin,[k] but to bring salvation[l] to those who are waiting for him.[m]

Christ's Sacrifice Once for All

10 The law is only a shadow[m] of the good things[n] that are coming—not the realities themselves.[o] For this reason it can never, by the same sacrifices repeated endlessly year after year, make perfect[p] those who draw near to worship.[q] 2If it could, would they not have stopped being offered? For the worshipers would have been cleansed once for all, and would no longer have felt guilty for their sins.[r] 3But those sacrifices are an annual reminder of sins,[s] 4because it is impossible for the blood of bulls and goats[t] to take away sins.[u]

5Therefore, when Christ came into the world,[v] he said:

[k] 16 Same Greek word as covenant; also in verse 17

and note. By shedding his blood, he paid the necessary price to set them free from the sins committed under the first covenant, i.e., violations of Mosaic law.

9:16 will. Translates the same Greek word as that for "covenant" (v. 15), but here and in v. 17 used in the sense of a last will and testament. (Verse 18 returns to the concept of covenant.) Beneficiaries have no claim on the benefits assigned to them in a will until the testator dies (v. 17). Since Christ's death has been duly attested, "the promised eternal inheritance" (v. 15) is available to his beneficiaries.

9:18 without blood. Without death—the death of the calves from which Moses took blood to seal the old covenant.

9:19–20 For the ceremony referred to here see Ex 24:4–8.

9:21 See, e.g., Lev 8:10,19,30.

9:23 copies of the heavenly things. See 8:5. Whereas it was necessary for the earthly sanctuary to be purified with animal sacrifices, it was necessary for the heavenly sanctuary to be purified with the better sacrifice of Christ himself.

9:24 now to appear for us in God's presence. See 7:25; 1Jn 2:1.

9:26 end of the ages. His coming has ushered in the great Messianic era, toward which all history has moved (see note on 1:2; cf. 1Pe 1:20).

9:27 destined to die once, and after that to face judgment. As in the natural order man dies once (v. 27; as a consequence of sin, Ro 5:12), so Christ died once as the perfect sacrifice for sin (v. 28). And as, after death, man faces judgment, so Christ, after his death, will appear again, bringing salvation (see next note) from sin and its judgment.

9:28 to bring salvation. The consummation, in all its glorious fullness, of the salvation purchased for us on the cross (see Ro 8:29–30; Php 3:20–21; 1Jn 3:2–3). waiting for him. As the Israelites waited for the high priest while he was in the Most Holy Place on the Day of Atonement (see 2Ti 4:8; Tit 2:13).

10:1 The law. Together with the Levitical priesthood to which it was closely linked under the Mosaic system (see note on 7:11). only a shadow. The sacrifices prescribed by the law prefigured Christ's ultimate sacrifice. Thus they were repeated year after year, the very repetition bearing testimony that the perfect, sin-removing sacrifice had not yet been offered.

10:4 impossible for the blood of bulls and goats to take away sins. An animal cannot possibly be a completely adequate substitute for a human being, who is made in God's image.

10:5–6 The different terms used for Levitical sacrifices represent four of the five types of offerings prescribed by the Mosaic Law (Lev 1–7), namely, fellowship, grain, burnt and sin.

10:5 when Christ came into the world, he said. The words of this psalm of David (40:6–8) express Christ's obedient submission to the Father in coming to earth. The Mosaic sacrifices are replaced by submissive obedience to the will of God (v. 7).

"Sacrifice and offering you did not desire,
but a body you prepared for me;[x] 6with burnt offerings and sin offerings you were not pleased.
7Then I said, 'Here I am—it is written about me in the scroll[y]—
I have come to do your will,
O God.' "[m z]

8First he said, "Sacrifices and offerings, burnt offerings and sin offerings you did not desire, nor were you pleased with them"[a] (although the law required them to be made). 9Then he said, "Here I am, I have come to do your will."[b] He sets aside the first to establish the second. 10And by that will, we have been made holy[c] through the sacrifice of the body[d] of Jesus Christ once for all.[e]

11Day after day every priest stands and performs his religious duties; again and again he offers the same sacrifices,[f] which can never take away sins.[g] 12But when this priest had offered for all time one sacrifice for sins,[h] he sat down at the right hand of God.[i] 13Since that time he waits for his enemies to be made his footstool,[j] 14because by one sacrifice he has made perfect[k] forever those who are being made holy.[l]

15The Holy Spirit also testifies[m] to us about this. First he says:

A Call to Persevere

19Therefore, brothers, since we have confidence[p] to enter the Most Holy Place[q] by the blood of Jesus, 20by a new and living way[r] opened for us through the curtain,[s] that is, his body, 21and since we have a great priest[t] over the house of God,[u] 22let us draw near to God[v] with a sincere heart in full assurance of faith,[w] having our hearts sprinkled to cleanse us from a guilty conscience[x] and having our bodies washed with pure water.[y] 23Let us hold unswervingly to the hope[z] we profess,[a] for he who promised is faithful.[b] 24And let us consider how we may spur one another on toward love and good deeds.[c]

[m] 7 Psalm 40:6-8 (see Septuagint) [n] 16 Jer. 31:33
[o] 17 Jer. 31:34

10:6 you were not pleased. These offerings were only preparatory and temporary, looking forward to the one perfect and final offering—that of the incarnate Son of God.
10:7 to do your will. The will of the Father was the Son's consuming concern (see Lk 22:42; Jn 4:34).
10:9 He sets aside the first to establish the second. His perfect sacrifice, offered in complete submission, supersedes and therefore replaces all previous sacrifices.
10:10 made holy. Justified, set apart in consecration to God, and now experiencing the process of continuing sanctification (see "being made holy," v. 14; see also note on 1Co 1:2).
10:11–14 A contrast between "standing" and "sitting." The Levitical priest always stood, because his work was never finished.
10:11 offers the same sacrifices. Because these sacrifices were unable to accomplish what they signified. They could not remove sin, and thus had to be offered over and over again.
10:12 he sat down at the right hand of God. In contrast to the work of the Levitical priests, which was never done (v. 11; see notes on 1:3,13), Christ's work was completed. His one sacrifice atoned for all sins of all time, making any further sacrifice unnecessary (v. 14).
10:15–18 The two quotations included in these verses are from Jer 31:31–34 (already cited in 8:8–12). The new covenant guarantees that sins will be effectively and completely forgiven (v. 17), with the result that no additional sacrifice for sins is needed (v. 18).
10:19 Another section of practical application and exhortation begins here (see note on 2:1–4). confidence to enter the Most Holy Place. The way into the sanctuary of God's presence was closed to the people under the former covenant because the blood of animal sacrifices could never completely atone for their sins. Now, however, believers can come to the throne of grace since the perfect priest has offered the perfect sacrifice, atoning for sin once for all.
10:20 the curtain, that is, his body. When Jesus died, the curtain separating the Holy Place from the Most Holy Place was "torn in two from top to bottom" (Mk 15:38). The curtain symbolizes the body of Christ in terms of suffering: Like the curtain, his body was torn to open the way into the divine presence.
10:22–25 Five exhortations spring from Jesus' provision for our reconciliation to his Father: 1. "Let us draw near to God." 2. "Let us hold unswervingly to ... hope." 3. "Let us consider how we may spur one another on." 4. "Let us not give up meeting together." 5. "Let us encourage one another."
10:22 Four conditions are given for drawing "near to God": 1. a sincere heart. Undivided allegiance in the inner being. 2. full assurance of faith. Faith that knows no hesitation in trusting in and following Christ. 3. hearts sprinkled ... from a guilty conscience. Total freedom from a sense of guilt, a freedom based on the once-for-all sacrifice of Christ. 4. bodies washed with pure water. Not an external ceremony such as baptism but a figure for inner cleansing, of which the washing of the priests under the old covenant was a symbol (see Ex 30:19–21; Lev 8:6; see also Eze 36:25, where a similar expression is used figuratively for the cleansing resulting from the new covenant).
10:23 unswervingly. Without doubt or hesitation. Some of the readers were tempted to give up the struggle and turn back to a form of Judaism. the hope we profess. See 6:18–20. he who promised is faithful. Cf. 2Ti 2:13.

25 Let us not give up meeting together,[d] as some are in the habit of doing, but let us encourage one another[e]—and all the more as you see the Day approaching.[f]

26 If we deliberately keep on sinning[g] after we have received the knowledge of the truth,[h] no sacrifice for sins is left, 27 but only a fearful expectation of judgment and of raging fire[i] that will consume the enemies of God. 28 Anyone who rejected the law of Moses died without mercy on the testimony of two or three witnesses.[j] 29 How much more severely do you think a man deserves to be punished who has trampled the Son of God[k] under foot,[l] who has treated as an unholy thing the blood of the covenant[m] that sanctified him,[n] and who has insulted the Spirit[o] of grace?[p] 30 For we know him who said, "It is mine to avenge; I will repay,"[pq] and again, "The Lord will judge his people."[qr] 31 It is a dreadful thing[s] to fall into the hands[t] of the living God.[u]

32 Remember those earlier days after you had received the light,[v] when you stood your ground in a great contest in the face of suffering.[w] 33 Sometimes you were publicly exposed to insult and persecution;[x] at other times you stood side by side with those who were so treated.[y] 34 You sympathized with those in prison[z] and joyfully accepted the confiscation of your property, because you knew that you yourselves had better and lasting possessions.[a]

35 So do not throw away your confidence;[b] it will be richly rewarded. 36 You need to persevere[c] so that when you have done the will of God, you will receive what he has promised.[d] 37 For in just a very little while,

"He who is coming[e] will come and will not delay.[f]

38 But my righteous one[r] will live by faith.[g]
And if he shrinks back,
I will not be pleased with him."[sh]

39 But we are not of those who shrink back and are destroyed, but of those who believe and are saved.

By Faith

11 Now faith is being sure of what we hope for[i] and certain of what we do not see.[j] 2 This is what the ancients were commended for.[k]

3 By faith we understand that the universe was formed at God's command,[l] so that what is seen was not made out of what was visible.

4 By faith Abel offered God a better sacrifice than Cain did. By faith he was commended[m] as a righteous man, when God spoke well of his offerings.[n] And by faith he still speaks, even though he is dead.[o]

5 By faith Enoch was taken from this life, so that he did not experience death; he could not be found, because God had taken him away.[p] For before he was taken, he was commended as one who pleased God. 6 And without faith it is impossible to please God, because anyone who comes to him[q] must believe that he exists and that he rewards those who earnestly seek him.

10:25 not give up meeting together. The Greek word translated "give up" speaks of desertion and abandonment (see Mt 27:46; 2Co 4:9; 2Ti 4:10,16). the Day. Of the Lord's return (see 1Th 5:2,4; 2Th 1:10; 2:2; 2Pe 3:10).

10:26–31 That these verses are a warning to persons ("some," v. 25) deserting the Christian assembly is apparent from the Greek word gar ("for") at the beginning of v. 26. See notes on 6:4–8, where the same spiritual condition is discussed.

10:26 deliberately keep on sinning. Committing the sin of apostasy (see v. 29; see also note on 5:2). The OT background is Nu 15:27–31. no sacrifice for sins is left. To reject Christ's sacrifice for sins is to reject the only sacrifice; there is no other.

10:27 judgment and . . . raging fire. See 2Th 1:6–9.

10:28 See Dt 17:2–7.

10:29 blood of the covenant. See 9:20; 13:20; Ex 24:8; Mt 26:28; Mk 14:24.

10:31 See 12:29.

10:32 those earlier days. Presumably following their first enthusiastic response to the gospel, when they had unflinchingly suffered loss and persecution and were deeply concerned for each other.

10:34 better and lasting possessions. Such as salvation in Christ and future reward (11:10,13–16,26,35; 13:14; Mt 5:11–12; 6:19–21; Ro 8:18).

10:38 my righteous one will live by faith. See note on Hab 2:4.

10:39 shrink back and are destroyed. The opposite of "believe and are saved." The author is confident that those to whom he is writing are, for the most part, among the saved (see note on 6:9).

11:1–12:29 Exhortations based on the preceding expositions of OT passages.

11:2 the ancients. Heroes of faith in the pre-Christian era, such as those listed in this chapter.

11:4 See Ge 4:2–5. commended as a righteous man. Both brothers brought offerings to the Lord: Cain from the fruits of the soil, and Abel from the firstborn of his flock. The chief reason for the acceptance of Abel's sacrifice was that he offered it "by faith." It is implied that Cain's sacrifice was rejected because he offered it without faith, as a mere formality (see note on Ge 4:3–4; see also 1Jn 3:12).

11:5 Enoch. See Ge 5:18–24. taken him away. To God's presence (see note on Ge 5:24; cf. Ps 49:15; 73:24).

11:6 without faith it is impossible to please God. That Enoch pleased God is proof of his faith. believe that he exists. Faith must have an object, and the proper object of genuine faith is God. who earnestly seek him. See Jer 29:13.

7By faith Noah, when warned about things not yet seen,[r] in holy fear built an ark[s] to save his family.[t] By his faith he condemned the world and became heir of the righteousness that comes by faith.[u]

8By faith Abraham, when called to go to a place he would later receive as his inheritance,[v] obeyed and went,[w] even though he did not know where he was going. 9By faith he made his home in the promised land[x] like a stranger in a foreign country; he lived in tents,[y] as did Isaac and Jacob, who were heirs with him of the same promise.[z] 10For he was looking forward to the city[a] with foundations,[b] whose architect and builder is God.[c]

11By faith Abraham, even though he was past age—and Sarah herself was barren[d]—was enabled to become a father[e] because he[t] considered him faithful[f] who had made the promise.
12And so from this one man, and he as good as dead,[g] came descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky and as countless as the sand on the seashore.[h]

13All these people were still living by faith when they died. They did not receive the things promised;[i] they only saw them and welcomed them from a distance.[j] And they admitted that they were aliens and strangers on earth.[k] 14People who say such things show that they are looking for a country of their own. 15If they had been thinking of the country they had left, they would have had opportunity to return.[l] 16Instead, they were longing for a better country—a heavenly one.[m] Therefore God is not ashamed[n] to be called their God,[o] for he has prepared a city[p] for them.

17By faith Abraham, when God tested him, offered Isaac as a sacrifice.[q] He who had received the promises was about to sacrifice his one and only son, 18even though God had said to him, "It is through Isaac that your offspring[u] will be reckoned."[vr] 19Abraham reasoned that God could raise the dead,[s] and figuratively speaking, he did receive Isaac back from death.

20By faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau in regard to their future.[t]

21By faith Jacob, when he was dying, blessed each of Joseph's sons,[u] and worshiped as he leaned on the top of his staff.

22By faith Joseph, when his end was near, spoke about the exodus of the Israelites from Egypt and gave instructions about his bones.[v]

23By faith Moses' parents hid him for three months after he was born,[w] because they saw he was no ordinary child, and they were not afraid of the king's edict.[x]

24By faith Moses, when he had grown up, refused to be known as the son of Pharaoh's daughter.[y] 25He chose to be mistreated[z] along with the people of 11:7 Noah. See Ge 5:28–9:29. By his faith. When the flood came, God's word was proved to be true, Noah's faith was vindicated, and the world's unbelief was judged. righteousness that comes by faith. Noah expressed complete trust in God and his word, even when it related to "things not yet seen" (v. 1), namely, the coming flood. Thus Noah also fitted the description of God's righteous ones who live by faith (10:38). His faith in God's word moved him to build the ark in a dry, landlocked region where it was inconceivable that there would ever be enough water to float the vessel.

11:8 Abraham. Presented in the NT as the outstanding example of those who live "by faith" and as the "father of all who believe" (Ro 4:11–12,16; Gal 3:7,9,29). called. See Ge 12:1–3. His faith expressed itself in obedience (see note on Ge 12:4). a place he would later receive. Canaan. did not know where he was going. He did not go in blind faith, but in complete confidence in God's trustworthiness.
11:10 city with foundations. Speaks of permanence in contrast to the tents in which the patriarch lived (v. 9). This city is "the heavenly Jerusalem" (12:22), "the city that is to come" (13:14) and "the new Jerusalem" (Rev 21:2–4, 9–27). builder. Cf. Ps 147:2 and NIV text note on Isa 62:5.
11:11 Sarah . . . was barren. Probably referring to the fact that she was far past childbearing (Ge 18:11–12; see note on Ge 11:30).
11:12 as good as dead. Because he was 100 years old (see Ge 21:5; Ro 4:19). stars in the sky . . . sand on the seashore. See Ge 13:16 and note; 15:5; 22:17; 26:4; 1Ki 4:20.
11:13 saw them and welcomed them from a distance. By faith they saw—dimly—these heavenly realities and were sure that what they hoped for would ultimately be theirs (see v. 1). aliens and strangers on earth. Their true home was in heaven.
11:14 country of their own. That better, heavenly country (v. 16).
11:16 prepared a city for them. City (v. 10) and country are interchangeable in the concluding chapters of this letter (vv. 9–10,14–16; 13:14). The ultimate reality is represented by the new Jerusalem in John's vision of the believer's eternal state (see Rev 21:2).
11:17 See Ge 22. his one and only son. See Ge 22:2,12,16; Jn 3:16; Ro 8:32.
11:19 God could raise the dead. So strong was Abraham's faith that he actually believed that God would raise Isaac from the dead if necessary, an event that did occur figuratively when the substitute ram was provided (Ge 22:13).
11:20 See Ge 27:27–40.
11:21 See Ge 47:29–31; 48:8–20.
11:22 See Ge 50:24–25. Jacob (v. 21) and Joseph are additional examples of those whose faith is no less strong at death than in life (v. 13).
11:23–29 See Ac 7:20–44.
11:23 Moses' parents. See Ex 6:20; Nu 26:58–59. no ordinary child. See note on Ex 2:2. the king's edict. To kill all Israelite males at birth (Ex 1:16,22).
11:25 pleasures of sin. The luxury and prestige in Egypt's royal palace.

God rather than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a short time. 26He regarded disgrace[a] for the sake of Christ[b] as of greater value than the treasures of Egypt, because he was looking ahead to his reward.[c] 27By faith he left Egypt,[d] not fearing the king's anger; he persevered because he saw him who is invisible. 28By faith he kept the Passover and the sprinkling of blood, so that the destroyer[e] of the firstborn would not touch the firstborn of Israel.[f]

29By faith the people passed through the Red Sea[w] as on dry land; but when the Egyptians tried to do so, they were drowned.[g]

30By faith the walls of Jericho fell, after the people had marched around them for seven days.[h]

39These were all commended[c] for their faith, yet none of them received what had been promised.[d] 40God had planned something better for us so that only together with us[e] would they be made perfect.[f]

11:27 By faith he left Egypt. Probably referring to his flight to Midian in the Sinai peninsula when he was 40 years old (Ex 2:11–15; Ac 7:23–29). not fearing the king's anger. Exodus indicates that Moses was afraid (Ex 2:14) but does not expressly say of whom. And it tells us that he fled from Pharaoh when Pharaoh tried to kill him (Ex 2:15) but does not expressly say that he fled out of fear. The author of Hebrews capitalizes on these features of the account to highlight the fact that, in his fleeing from Pharaoh, Moses was sustained by his trust in God that the liberation of Israel would come and that he would have some part in it. he persevered. For 40 years in Midian (Ac 7:30). saw him who is invisible. See vv. 1,6.

11:28 See Ex 12.

11:29 See Ex 14–15. The third and final 40-year period of Moses' life was spent leading the Israelites through the desert. At the age of 120 years he died in Moab (Dt 34:1–7).

11:30 Moses' place as leader was taken by Joshua, who brought the people of Israel into the land of promise. Jericho. The first great obstacle to their conquest of the land was captured by faith without a battle (Jos 6).

11:31 the prostitute Rahab. A designation describing her way of life prior to her newly found faith (Jos 2:8–11; 6:22–25); also a testimony to God's boundless grace that can reach down and redeem and raise any sinner to eternal dignity. welcomed the spies. See Jas 2:25.

11:32–38 There were many more heroes of faith before the coming of Christ, and much more could be written of them. Only a small sampling is given, representing all types of men and women of faith. The great quality they had in common was that of overcoming "through faith" (v. 33).

11:32 to tell. Translates the masculine form of a Greek verb, indicating that the author of Hebrews was a man (see Introduction: Author). Gideon, Barak, Samson, Jephthah. See Jdg 4:6–5:15; 6:11–8:35; 11:1–12:7; 13:24–16:31; 1Sa 12:11 and NIV text note there. Samuel and the prophets. See Ps 99:6; Jer 15:1; Ac 3:24; 13:20.

11:33 mouths of lions. Cf. Daniel in the lions' den (Da 6).

11:34 quenched the fury of the flames. Cf. Daniel's friends, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, in the fiery furnace (Da 3). weakness was turned to strength. Through God's help (see Ro 8:26; 2Co 12:9).

11:35 Women received back their dead. Cf. the widow of Zarephath (1Ki 17:17–24) and the Shunammite woman (2Ki 4:8–36). were tortured and refused to be released, so that they might gain a better resurrection. Strongly reminiscent of the heroic Maccabean Jewish patriots of the second century B.C. (see 2 Maccabees 7). But the description applies also to countless believers, known and unknown, who demonstrated their faith in God by persevering in the face of harsh trials and afflictions.

11:37 They were stoned. Men like Zechariah, the son of Jehoiada the priest, who were put to death for declaring the truth (2Ch 24:20–22; Lk 11:51). See also Introduction to Jeremiah: Author and Date. sawed in two. Perhaps refers to Isaiah, who, according to tradition, met this kind of death under wicked King Manasseh (see Introduction to Isaiah: Author).

11:39 all commended for their faith. Not all the heroes of faith experienced immediate triumph over their circumstances, but all were blessed by God.

11:40 God had planned something better. The fulfillment for them, as for us, is in Christ who is "the resurrection and the life" (Jn 11:25–26). only together with us would they be made perfect. All persons of faith who had gone before focused their faith on God and his promises. The fulfillment of God's promises to them has now come in Jesus Christ, and their redemption too is now complete in him.

God Disciplines His Sons

12 Therefore, since we are surrounded by such a great cloud of witnesses, let us throw off everything that hinders and the sin that so easily entangles, and let us run[g] with perseverance[h] the race marked out for us. [2]Let us fix our eyes on Jesus,[i] the author[j] and perfecter of our faith, who for the joy set before him endured the cross,[k] scorning its shame,[l] and sat down at the right hand of the throne of God.[m] [3]Consider him who endured such opposition from sinful men, so that you will not grow weary[n] and lose heart.

[4]In your struggle against sin, you have not yet resisted to the point of shedding your blood.[o] [5]And you have forgotten that word of encouragement that addresses you as sons:

"My son, do not make light of the Lord's discipline, and do not lose heart[p] when he rebukes you,
[6]because the Lord disciplines those he loves,[q] and he punishes everyone he accepts as a son."[zr]

[7]Endure hardship as discipline; God is treating you as sons.[s] For what son is not disciplined by his father? [8]If you are not disciplined (and everyone undergoes discipline),[t] then you are illegitimate children and not true sons. [9]Moreover, we have all had human fathers who disciplined us and we respected them for it. How much more should we submit to the Father of our spirits[u] and live![v] [10]Our fathers disciplined us for a little while as they thought best; but God disciplines us for our good, that we may share in his holiness.[w] [11]No discipline seems pleasant at the time, but painful. Later on, however, it produces a harvest of righteousness and peace[x] for those who have been trained by it.

[12]Therefore, strengthen your feeble arms and weak knees.[y] [13]"Make level paths for your feet,"[az] so that the lame may not be disabled, but rather healed.[a]

Warning Against Refusing God

[14]Make every effort to live in peace with all men[b] and to be holy;[c] without holiness no one will see the Lord.[d] [15]See to it that no one misses the grace of God[e] and that no bitter root[f] grows up to cause trouble and defile many. [16]See that no one is sexually immoral,[g] or is godless like Esau, who for a single meal sold his inheritance rights as the oldest son.[h] [17]Afterward, as you know, when

[z]6 Prov. 3:11,12 [a]13 Prov. 4:26

12:1 surrounded by such a great cloud of witnesses. The imagery suggests an athletic contest in a great amphitheater. The witnesses are the heroes of the past who have just been mentioned (ch. 11). They are not spectators but inspiring examples. The Greek word translated "witnesses" is the origin of the English word "martyr" and means "testifiers, witnesses." They bear testimony to the power of faith and to God's faithfulness. run with perseverance. See Ac 20:24; 1Co 9:24–26; Gal 2:2; 5:7; Php 2:16; 2Ti 4:7. The Christian life is pictured as a long-distance race rather than a short sprint. Some Hebrew Christians were tempted to drop out of the contest because of persecution.

12:2 fix our eyes on Jesus. Just as a runner concentrates on the finish line, we should concentrate on Jesus, the goal and objective of our faith (Php 3:13–14). author. See note on 2:10. perfecter of our faith. Our faith, which has its beginning in him, is also completed in him; he is both the start and the end of the race. He is also the supreme witness who has already run the race and overcome. joy set before him. His accomplishing our eternal redemption and his glorification at the Father's "right hand" (see note on 1:3; cf. Isa 53:10–12). endured the cross. See Php 2:5–8. scorning its shame. As with Christ, the humiliation of our present suffering for the gospel's sake is far outweighed by the prospect of future glory (see 11:26; Mt 5:10–12; Ro 8:18; 2Co 4:17; 1Pe 4:13; 5:1,10).

12:3 Consider him. He suffered infinitely more than any of his disciples is asked to suffer—a great encouragement for us when we are weary and tempted to become discouraged. not grow weary. See Isa 40:28–31.

12:4 not yet resisted to the point of shedding your blood. Though they had suffered persecution and loss of possessions (10:32–34), they had not had to die for the faith.

12:5 the Lord's discipline. Suffering and persecution should be seen as corrective and instructive training for our spiritual development as his children.

12:6 punishes. The Greek for this verb means "to whip." God chastens us in order to correct our faults.

12:7 treating you as sons. God's discipline is evidence that we are his children. Far from being a reason for despair, discipline is a basis for encouragement and perseverance (v. 10).

12:11 it produces a harvest of righteousness. When received submissively (see v. 9), discipline is wholesome and beneficial.

12:13 Make level paths. A call for upright conduct that will help, rather than hinder, the spiritual and moral welfare of others, especially the "lame" who waver in the Christian faith.

12:14 without holiness no one will see the Lord. Cf. 1Pe 1:15–16; 1Jn 3:2–3.

12:15 misses the grace of God. "Falls short of" or "fails to lay hold of" God's grace. Such an experience is described in 2:1–4; 6:4–8. bitter root. Pride, animosity, rivalry or anything else harmful to others.

12:16 godless like Esau. See Ge 25:29–34. He had no appreciation for true values and was profane in his outlook on life (cf. Php 3:18–19). He "despised his birthright" (Ge 25:34) by valuing food for his stomach more highly than his birthright.

12:17 he was rejected. Because he only regretted his loss, and did not repent of his sin (Ge 27, especially v. 41). His sorrow was not "godly sorrow" that "brings repentance that leads to salvation," but "worldly sorrow" that "brings death" (2Co 7:10). the blessing. Of the firstborn. The readers were thinking of compromising their faith in order to gain relief from persecution. But to trade their spiritual birthright for temporary ease in this world he wanted to inherit this blessing, he was rejected. He could bring about no change of mind, though he sought the blessing with tears.[i]

[18]You have not come to a mountain that can be touched and that is burning with fire; to darkness, gloom and storm;[j] [19]to a trumpet blast[k] or to such a voice speaking words[l] that those who heard it begged that no further word be spoken to them,[m] [20]because they could not bear what was commanded: "If even an animal touches the mountain, it must be stoned."[bn] [21]The sight was so terrifying that Moses said, "I am trembling with fear."[co]

[22]But you have come to Mount Zion,[p] to the heavenly Jerusalem,[q] the city[r] of the living God.[s] You have come to thousands upon thousands of angels in joyful assembly, [23]to the church of the firstborn,[t] whose names are written in heaven.[u] You have come to God, the judge of all men,[v] to the spirits of righteous men made perfect,[w] [24]to Jesus the mediator[x] of a new covenant, and to the sprinkled blood[y] that speaks a better word than the blood of Abel.[z]

[25]See to it that you do not refuse[a] him who speaks.[b] If they did not escape when they refused him who warned[c] them on earth, how much less will we, if we turn away from him who warns us from heaven?[d] [26]At that time his voice shook the earth,[e] but now he has promised, "Once more I will shake not only the earth but also the heavens."[df] [27]The words "once more" indicate the removing of what can be shaken[g]—that is, created things—so that what cannot be shaken may remain.

[28]Therefore, since we are receiving a kingdom that cannot be shaken,[h] let us be thankful, and so worship God acceptably with reverence and awe,[i] [29]for our "God is a consuming fire."[ej]

Concluding Exhortations

13 Keep on loving each other as brothers.[k] [2]Do not forget to entertain strangers,[l] for by so doing some people have entertained angels without knowing it.[m] [3]Remember those in prison[n] as if you were their fellow prisoners, and those who are mistreated as if you yourselves were suffering.

[4]Marriage should be honored by all,[o] and the marriage bed kept pure, for God will judge the adulterer and all the sexually immoral.[p] [5]Keep your lives free from the love of money[q] and be content with what you have,[r] because God has said,

> "Never will I leave you; > never will I forsake you."[fs] would deprive them of Christ's blessing. with tears. See Ge 27:34–38.

12:18–21 These verses describe the awesome occasion when the law was given at Mount Sinai (see Ex 19:10–25; Dt 4:11–12; 5:22–26), a description focusing on the old covenant's tangible mountain, ordinances, terrifying warnings and severe penalties. Believers in Jesus Christ do not have such a threatening covenant, and should not consider returning to it.

12:22 Mount Zion. Not the literal Mount Zion (Jerusalem, or its southeast portion), but the heavenly city of God and those who dwell there with him (see 11:10,13–16; 13:14; Php 3:20). The circumstances under which the old covenant was given (vv. 18–21) and the features of the new covenant (vv. 22–24) point up the utter contrast between the two covenants, and lay the foundation for one more warning and exhortation to those still thinking of going back to Judaism. thousands upon thousands of angels. See Rev 5:11–12.

12:23 church of the firstborn. Believers in general who make up the church: (1) They cannot be angels since these have just been mentioned (v. 22); (2) "firstborn" cannot refer to Christ (though he is called firstborn, 1:6; Ro 8:29; Col 1:15–18; Rev 1:5), since here the Greek word is plural; (3) that their names are recorded in heaven reminds us of the redeemed (see Rev 3:5; 13:8; 17:8; 20:12; 21:27). The designation "firstborn" suggests their privileged position as heirs together with Christ, the supreme firstborn and "heir of all things" (Heb 1:2). God, the judge of all men. See 4:13; Ro 14:10–12; 1Co 3:10–15; 2Co 5:10; Rev 20:11–15. spirits of righteous men made perfect. For the most part, these were pre-Christian believers such as Abel (11:4) and Noah (11:7). They are referred to as "spirits" because they are waiting for the resurrection and as "righteous" because God credited their faith to them as righteousness, as he did to Abraham (see Ro 4:3). Actual justification was not accomplished, however, until Christ made it complete by his death on the cross (see 11:40; Ro 3:24–26; 4:23–25).

12:24 mediator of a new covenant. See 7:22; 8:6 and note; 8:13; 9:15; 1Ti 2:5. a better word than the blood of Abel. Abel's blood cried out for justice and retribution (see note on Ge 4:10), whereas the blood of Jesus shed on the cross speaks of forgiveness and reconciliation (9:12; 10:19; Col 1:20; 1Jn 1:7).

12:25 him who speaks. God. warned them on earth. At Sinai. him who warns us from heaven. Christ, who is both from and in heaven (1:1–3; 4:14; 6:20; 7:26; 9:24). Since we have greater revelation, we have greater responsibility and therefore greater danger (2:2–4).

12:26 shook the earth. See Ex 19:18; Jdg 5:5; Ps 68:7–8.

12:27 once more. During the great end-time upheavals associated with the second advent of Christ. what cannot be shaken. The kingdom (v. 28).

12:28 worship God acceptably. See Jn 4:19–24; Ro 12:1.

12:29 See NIV text note; cf. Ex 24:17; Dt 9:3.

13:2 entertained angels without knowing it. As did Abraham (Ge 18), Gideon (Jdg 6) and Manoah (Jdg 13).

13:3 remember those in prison ... and those who are mistreated. See 10:32–34; 1Co 12:26.

13:5 love of money. See Lk 12:15,21; Php 4:10–13; 1Ti 6:6–10,17–19. be content. See Php 4:11–12; 1Ti 6:8.

6So we say with confidence,

"The Lord is my helper; I will not be afraid.
What can man do to me?"[g][t]

7Remember your leaders,[u] who spoke the word of God[v] to you. Consider the outcome of their way of life and imitate[w] their faith. 8Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever.[x]

9Do not be carried away by all kinds of strange teachings.[y] It is good for our hearts to be strengthened[z] by grace, not by ceremonial foods,[a] which are of no value to those who eat them.[b] 10We have an altar from which those who minister at the tabernacle[c] have no right to eat.[d]

11The high priest carries the blood of animals into the Most Holy Place as a sin offering,[e] but the bodies are burned outside the camp.[f] 12And so Jesus also suffered outside the city gate[g] to make the people holy[h] through his own blood.[i] 13Let us, then, go to him[j] outside the camp, bearing the disgrace he bore.[k] 14For here we do not have an enduring city,[l] but we are looking for the city that is to come.[m]

15Through Jesus, therefore, let us continually offer to God a sacrifice[n] of praise—the fruit of lips[o] that confess his name. 16And do not forget to do good and to share with others,[p] for with such sacrifices[q] God is pleased.

17Obey your leaders[r] and submit to their authority. They keep watch over you[s] as men who must give an account. Obey them so that their work will be a joy, not a burden, for that would be of no advantage to you.

18Pray for us.[t] We are sure that we have a clear conscience[u] and desire to live honorably in every way. 19I particularly urge you to pray so that I may be restored to you soon.[v]

20May the God of peace,[w] who through the blood of the eternal covenant[x] brought back from the dead[y] our Lord Jesus, that great Shepherd of the sheep,[z] 21equip you with everything good for doing his will,[a] and may he work in us[b] what is pleasing to him,[c] through Jesus Christ, to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.[d]

[g] 6 Psalm 118:6,7

13:7 leaders, who spoke the word of God. See 2:3; 5:12. Consider the outcome of their way of life. Probably indicates that these exemplary leaders were now dead. imitate their faith. See 6:12; 1Co 4:16; Eph 5:1; 1Th 1:6–7; 2:14; 3Jn 11.

13:8 Jesus Christ is the same. A confession of the changelessness of Christ, no doubt related to the preceding verse. The substance of their former leaders' faith was the unchanging Christ. yesterday. Probably the days of Christ's life on earth, when the eyewitnesses observed him (2:3). today. The Christ whom the eyewitnesses saw was still the same, and what they had said about him was still true. forever. And it will always be true. To compromise his absolute supremacy by returning to the inferior Aaronic priesthood and sacrifices (see chs. 5–10) is to undermine the gospel.

13:9 not by ceremonial foods. As the legalistic Judaizers were teaching. The old Mosaic order was done away with at the cross and must not be revived.

13:10 We have an altar. Probably refers to the cross, which marked the end of the whole Aaronic priesthood and its replacement by the order of Melchizedek, of which Christ is the unique and only priest. no right to eat. The priests could not eat of the sacrifice on the Day of Atonement, but we can partake of our sacrifice, so to speak—through spiritual reception of Christ by faith (see Jn 6:48–58). We have a higher privilege than the priests under the old covenant had.

13:11 burned outside the camp. See Lev 4:12 and note; 16:27.

13:12 Jesus also suffered outside the city gate. Christ's death outside Jerusalem represented the removal of sin, as had the removal of the bodies of sacrificial animals outside the camp of Israel.

13:13 go to him outside the camp. Calls for separation from Judaism to Christ. As he died in disgrace outside the city, so the readers should be willing to be disgraced by turning unequivocally from Judaism to Christ.

13:14 city that is to come. See notes on 11:10,14,16.

13:15 sacrifice of praise. "Sacrifice" is used metaphorically here to represent an offering to God (see Ro 12:1; Php 4:18). Animal offerings are now obsolete.

13:17 your leaders. Their present leaders, as distinct from their first ones, now dead, mentioned in v. 7. submit to their authority. Dictatorial leadership is not condoned by this command (see 3Jn 9–10), but respect for authority, orderliness and discipline in the church are taught throughout the NT.

13:19 restored to you soon. The identity and whereabouts of the writer are not known to us, but "restored" suggests that somehow he had been delayed in visiting those to whom he was writing, perhaps by his current ministry. That he was not under arrest is clear from v. 23.

13:20–21 This benediction provides a fitting conclusion to the letter. God of peace. A title for God used frequently in benedictions (see Ro 15:33; 16:20; Php 4:9; 1Th 5:23).

13:20 eternal covenant. The new covenant (see note on 8:8–12). What Jeremiah designates as the new covenant in 31:31 he describes as everlasting in 32:40 (see also Isa 55:3 and note; 61:8). On the blood of the covenant see note on 10:29. great Shepherd. See, e.g., Ps 23; Isa 40:11; Eze 34:11–16,23; 37:24; Jn 10:2–3,11,14,27; 1Pe 2:25; 5:4.

13:21 everything good. Such as faith, faithfulness, obedience and perseverance.

13:22–25 A postscript.

13:22 word of exhortation. The main thrust of the letter is to go on in Christian maturity and not fall away from Christ. short. Compared to the lengthy treatise that would be necessary to explain adequately the superiority of Christ.

[23] I want you to know that our brother Timothy[f] has been released. If he arrives soon, I will come with him to see you.

[24] Greet all your leaders[g] and all God's people. Those from Italy[h] send you their greetings.

[25] Grace be with you all.[i]

13:23 [f] S Ac 16:1
13:24 [g] ver 7,17
[h] Ac 18:2
13:25 [i] S Col 4:18

13:23 Timothy has been released. Timothy, who was well known to the recipients of the letter, had recently been released from prison.

13:24 leaders. Mentioned in v. 17. Those from Italy. Does not mean that this letter was written either to or from Italy. The writer is passing on greetings from some Italian believers.

The General Letters

The seven letters following Hebrews—James, 1,2 Peter, 1,2,3 John and Jude—have often been designated as the General Letters. This term goes back to the early church historian Eusebius (c. A.D. 265–340), who in his Ecclesiastical History (2.23–25) first referred to these seven letters as Catholic Letters, using the word "catholic" to mean "universal."

The letters so designated may be said to be, for the most part, addressed to general audiences rather than to specific persons or localized groups. 2 and 3 John, the two letters that seem most obviously addressed to individuals, have long been viewed as appendages of 1 John, which is clearly general in its address. However, when compared with Paul's letters, all these letters except 3 John are clearly general in nature. By contrast, Paul addresses his letters to such recipients as the saints at Philippi, or the churches of Galatia, or Timothy or Titus.

As Eusebius noted long ago, one interesting fact connected with the General Letters is that most of them were at one time among the disputed books of the NT. James, 2 Peter, 2 John, 3 John and Jude were all questioned extensively before being admitted to the canon of Scripture.

James

Author

The author identifies himself as James (1:1), and he was probably the brother of Jesus and leader of the Jerusalem council (Ac 15). Four men in the NT have this name. The author of this letter could not have been the apostle James, who died too early (A.D. 44) to have written it. The other two men named James had neither the stature nor the influence that the writer of this letter had.

James was one of several brothers of Christ and was probably the oldest since he heads the list in Mt 13:55. At first he did not believe in Jesus and even challenged him and misunderstood his mission (Jn 7:2–5). Later he became very prominent in the church:

1. He was one of the select individuals Christ appeared to after his resurrection (1Co 15:7).
2. Paul called him a "pillar" of the church (Gal 2:9).
3. Paul, on his first post-conversion visit to Jerusalem, saw James (Gal 1:19).
4. Paul did the same on his last visit (Ac 21:18).
5. When Peter was rescued from prison, he told his friends to tell James (Ac 12:17).
6. James was a leader in the important council of Jerusalem (Ac 15:13).
7. Jude could identify himself simply as "a brother of James" (Jude 1:1), so well known was James.

He was martyred c. A.D. 62.

Date

Some date the letter in the early 60s. There are indications, however, that it was written before A.D. 50:

1. Its distinctively Jewish nature suggests that it was composed when the church was still predominantly Jewish.
2. It reflects a simple church order—officers of the church are called "elders" (5:14) and "teachers" (3:1).
3. No reference is made to the controversy over Gentile circumcision.
4. The Greek term synagoge ("synagogue" or "meeting") is used to designate the meeting or meeting place of the church (2:2).

If this early dating is correct, this letter is the earliest of all the NT writings—with the possible exception of Galatians.

Recipients

The recipients are identified explicitly only in 1:1: "the twelve tribes scattered among the nations." Some hold that this expression refers to Christians in general, but the term "twelve tribes" would more naturally apply to Jewish Christians. Furthermore, a Jewish audience would be more in keeping with the obviously Jewish nature of the letter (e.g., the use of the Hebrew title for God, kyrios sabaoth, "Lord Almighty," 5:4). That the recipients were Christians is clear from 2:1; 5:7–8. It has been plausibly suggested that these were believers from the early Jerusalem church who, after Stephen's death, were scattered as far as Phoenicia, Cyprus and Syrian Antioch (Ac 8:1; 11:19). This would account for James's references to trials and oppression, his intimate knowledge of the readers and the authoritative nature of the letter. As leader of the Jerusalem church, James wrote as pastor to instruct and encourage his dispersed people in the face of their difficulties.

Distinctive Characteristics

Characteristics that make the letter distinctive are: (1) its unmistakably Jewish nature; (2) its emphasis on vital Christianity, characterized by good deeds and a faith that works (genuine faith must and will be accompanied by a consistent life-style); (3) its simple organization; (4) its familiarity with Jesus' teachings preserved in the Sermon on the Mount (compare 2:5 with Mt 5:3; 3:10–12 with Mt 7:15–20; 3:18 with Mt 5:9; 5:2–3 with Mt 6:19–20; 5:12 with Mt 5:33–37); (5) its similarity to OT wisdom writings such as Proverbs; (6) its excellent Greek.

1 James,[a] a servant of God[b] and of the Lord Jesus Christ,

To the twelve tribes[c] scattered[d] among the nations:

Greetings.[e]

Trials and Temptations

[2]Consider it pure joy, my brothers, whenever you face trials of many kinds,[f] [3]because you know that the testing of your faith[g] develops perseverance.[h] [4]Perseverance must finish its work so that you may be mature[i] and complete, not lacking anything. [5]If any of you lacks wisdom, he should ask God,[j] who gives generously to all without finding fault, and it will be given to him.[k] [6]But when he asks, he must believe and not doubt,[l] because he who doubts is like a wave of the sea, blown and tossed by the wind. [7]That man should not think he will receive anything from the Lord; [8]he is a double-minded man,[m] unstable[n] in all he does.

[9]The brother in humble circumstances ought to take pride in his high position.[o] [10]But the one who is rich should take pride in his low position, because he will pass away like a wild flower.[p] [11]For the sun rises with scorching heat[q] and withers[r] the plant; its blossom falls and its beauty is destroyed.[s] In the same way, the rich man will fade away even while he goes about his business.

[12]Blessed is the man who perseveres under trial,[t] because when he has stood the test, he will receive the crown of life[u] that God has promised to those who love him.[v]

[13]When tempted, no one should say, "God is tempting me." For God cannot be tempted by evil, nor does he tempt anyone; [14]but each one is tempted when, by his own[w] evil desire, he is dragged away and enticed. [15]Then, after desire has conceived, it gives birth to sin;[x] and sin, when it is full-grown, gives birth to death.[y]

[16]Don't be deceived,[z] my dear brothers.[a] [17]Every good and perfect gift is from above,[b] coming down from the Father of the heavenly lights,[c] who does not change[d] like shifting shadows. [18]He chose to give us birth[e] through the word of truth,[f] that we might be a kind of firstfruits[g] of all he created.

Listening and Doing

[19]My dear brothers,[h] take note of this: Everyone should be quick to listen, slow to speak[i] and slow to become angry, [20]for man's anger[j] does not bring about the righteous life that God desires. [21]Therefore, get rid of[k] all moral filth and the evil that is so prevalent and

1:1 James. See Introduction: Author. servant. See note on Ro 1:1. twelve tribes. See Introduction: Recipients.

1:2 joy. See Mt 5:11–12; Ro 5:3; 1Pe 1:6. brothers. James addresses the readers as brothers 15 times in this short letter. He has many rebukes for them, but he chides them in brotherly love. trials. The same Greek root lies behind the word "trials" here and the word "tempted" in v. 13. In vv. 2–3 the emphasis is on difficulties that come from outside; in vv. 13–15 it is on inner moral trials such as temptation to sin.

1:5 wisdom. Enables one to face trials with "pure joy" (v. 2). Wisdom is not just acquired information but practical insight with spiritual implications (see Pr 1:2–4; 2:10–15; 4:5–9; 9:10–12).

1:6 wave of the sea. See Eph 4:14.

1:9–10 brother in humble circumstances . . . one who is rich. Since James's discussions of wisdom (vv. 5–8) and of the poor man and the rich man (vv. 9–11) appear between the two sections on trials (vv. 2–4 and v. 12), vv. 5–11 may also have to do with trials. The Christian who suffers the trial of poverty is to take pride in his high position (v. 9) as a believer (see 2:5), and the wealthy Christian is to take pride (v. 10) in trials that bring him low, perhaps including the loss of his wealth.

1:12 Blessed. See Jer 17:7–8; Mt 5:3–12; see also notes on Ps 1:1; Mt 5:3; Rev 1:3. crown. The Greek for this word was the usual term for the wreath placed on the head of a victorious athlete or military leader (see 2Ti 4:8; 1Pe 5:4; Rev 2:10 and note). life. Eternal life, as the future tense of the verb ("will receive") indicates.

1:13 tempted. In vv. 13–14 the verb refers to temptations that test one's moral strength to resist sin (see note on Mt 4:1). God cannot be tempted. Because God in his very nature is holy, there is nothing in him for sin to appeal to. nor does he tempt anyone. See note on Ge 22:1.

1:15 The three stages—desire, sin, death—are seen in the temptations of Eve (Ge 3:6–22) and David (2Sa 11:2–17).

1:17 Every good and perfect gift is from above. See v. 5; 3:17. Father of . . . lights. God is the Creator of the heavenly bodies, which give light to the earth, but, unlike them, he does not change.

1:18 birth. Not a reference to creation but to regeneration (see Jn 3:3–8). word of truth. The proclamation of the gospel (see 1Pe 1:23–25). firstfruits. See Lev 23:9–14. Just as the first sheaf of the harvest was an indication that the whole harvest would eventually follow, so the early Christians were an indication that a great number of people would eventually be born again.

1:19 Everyone should be . . . slow to speak. See v. 26.

1:21 word. Of God.

JAMES

BIRTH DATA: Brother of Jesus
OCCUPATION: Disciple of Jesus, leader in Jerusalem church BEST KNOWN FOR:

- his concern that faith in Christ be expressed in action
- the gritty advice he gives in his letter to help his readers live for Christ
- his concern for persecuted Christians scattered over the globe humbly accept the word planted in you,[t] which can save you.

[22]Do not merely listen to the word, and so deceive yourselves. Do what it says.[m] [23]Anyone who listens to the word but does not do what it says is like a man who looks at his face in a mirror [24]and, after looking at himself, goes away and immediately forgets what he looks like. [25]But the man who looks intently into the perfect law that gives freedom,[n] and continues to do this, not forgetting what he has heard, but doing it—he will be blessed in what he does.[o]

[26]If anyone considers himself religious and yet does not keep a tight rein on his tongue,[p] he deceives himself and his religion is worthless. [27]Religion that God our Father accepts as pure and faultless is this: to look after[q] orphans and widows[r] in their distress and to keep oneself from being polluted by the world.[s]

Favoritism Forbidden

2 My brothers, as believers in our glorious[t] Lord Jesus Christ, don't show favoritism.[u] [2]Suppose a man comes into your meeting wearing a gold ring and fine clothes, and a poor man in shabby clothes also comes in. [3]If you show special attention to the man wearing fine clothes and say, "Here's a good seat for you," but say to the poor man, "You stand there" or "Sit on the floor by my feet," [4]have you not discriminated among yourselves and become judges[v] with evil thoughts?

[5]Listen, my dear brothers:[w] Has not God chosen those who are poor in the eyes of the world[x] to be rich in faith[y] and to inherit the kingdom[z] he promised those who love him?[a] [6]But you have insulted the poor.[b] Is it not the rich who are exploiting you? Are they not the ones who are dragging you into court?[c] [7]Are they not the ones who are slandering the noble name of him to whom you belong?

[8]If you really keep the royal law found in Scripture, "Love your neighbor as yourself,"[ad] you are doing right. [9]But if you show favoritism,[e] you sin and are convicted by the law as lawbreakers.[f] [10]For whoever keeps the whole law and yet stumbles[g] at just one point is guilty of breaking all of it.[h] [11]For he who said, "Do not commit adultery,"[bi] also said, "Do not murder."[cj] If you do not commit adultery but do commit murder, you have become a lawbreaker.

[12]Speak and act as those who are going to be judged[k] by the law that gives freedom,[l] [13]because judgment without mercy will be shown to anyone who has not been merciful.[m] Mercy triumphs over judgment!

Faith and Deeds

[14]What good is it, my brothers, if a man claims to have faith but has no deeds?[n] Can such faith save him? [15]Suppose a brother or sister is without clothes

[a]8 Lev. 19:18 [b]11 Exodus 20:14; Deut. 5:18 [c]11 Exodus 20:13; Deut. 5:17

1:25 perfect law. The moral and ethical teaching of Christianity, which is based on the OT moral law, as embodied in the Ten Commandments (see Ps 19:7), but brought to completion (perfection) by Jesus Christ. freedom. In contrast to the sinner, who is a slave to sin (Jn 8:34), obeying the moral law gives the Christian the joyous freedom to be what he was created for (see 2:12).

1:26 religious. Refers to the outward acts of religion: e.g., giving to the needy, fasting and public acts of praying and worshiping.

1:27 See Jer 22:16. world. Not the world of nature but the world of people in their rebellion against and alienation from God (see 1Jn 2:15).

2:1 as believers . . . don't show favoritism. God does not show favoritism—nor should believers.

2:2 meeting. The Greek for this term is the origin of the English word "synagogue."

2:5–13 James gives three arguments against showing favoritism to the rich: 1. The rich persecute the poor—the believers (vv. 5–7). 2. Favoritism violates the royal law of love and thus is sin (vv. 8–11). 3. Favoritism will be judged (vv. 12–13).

2:5 Has not God chosen those who are poor . . . ? See Lk 6:20; 1Co 1:26–31. the kingdom. The kingdom that is entered by the new birth (Jn 3:3,5) and that will be consummated in the future (Mt 25:34,46).

2:8 royal law. The law of love (Lev 19:18) is called "royal" because it is the supreme law that is the source of all other laws governing human relationships. It is the summation of all such laws (Mt 22:36–40; Ro 13:8–10).

2:10 guilty of breaking all. The law is the expression of the character and will of God; therefore to violate one part of the law is to violate God's will and thus his whole law (cf. Mt 5:18–19; 23:23).

2:12 judged. This judgment is not for determining eternal destiny, for James is speaking to believers (v. 1), whose destiny is already determined (Jn 5:24). Rather, it is for giving rewards to believers (1Co 3:12–15; 2Co 5:10; Rev 22:12).

2:13 Mercy triumphs over judgment! If man is merciful, God will be merciful on the Day of Judgment (see Pr 21:13; Mt 5:7; 6:14–15; 18:21–35).

2:14–26 In vv. 14–20,24,26 "faith" is not used in the sense of genuine, saving faith. Rather, it is demonic (v. 19), useless (v. 20) and dead (v. 26). It is a mere intellectual acceptance of certain truths without trust in Christ as Savior. James is also not saying that a person is saved by works and not by genuine faith. Rather, he is saying, to use Martin Luther's words, that a man is justified (declared righteous before God) by faith alone, but not by a faith that is alone. Genuine faith will produce good deeds, but only faith in Christ saves. (For more information on justification see note on Ro 3:24.)

2:15–16 This illustration of false faith is parallel to the illustration of false love found in 1Jn 3:17. The latter passage calls for love in action; this one calls for faith in action.

and daily food.[o] 16If one of you says to him, "Go, I wish you well; keep warm and well fed," but does nothing about his physical needs, what good is it?[p] 17In the same way, faith by itself, if it is not accompanied by action, is dead.[q]

18But someone will say, "You have faith; I have deeds."

Show me your faith without deeds,[r] and I will show you my faith[s] by what I do.[t] 19You believe that there is one God.[u] Good! Even the demons believe that[v]—and shudder.

20You foolish man, do you want evidence that faith without deeds is useless[d]?[w] 21Was not our ancestor Abraham considered righteous for what he did when he offered his son Isaac on the altar?[x] 22You see that his faith and his actions were working together,[y] and his faith was made complete by what he did.[z] 23And the scripture was fulfilled that says, "Abraham believed God, and it was credited to him as righteousness,"[e][a] and he was called God's friend.[b] 24You see that a person is justified by what he does and not by faith alone.

25In the same way, was not even Rahab the prostitute considered righteous for what she did when she gave lodging to the spies and sent them off in a different direction?[c] 26As the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without deeds is dead.[d]

Taming the Tongue

3 Not many of you should presume to be teachers,[e] my brothers, because you know that we who teach will be judged[f] more strictly.[g] 2We all stumble[h] in many ways. If anyone is never at fault in what he says,[i] he is a perfect man,[j] able to keep his whole body in check.[k]

3When we put bits into the mouths of horses to make them obey us, we can turn the whole animal.[l] 4Or take ships as an example. Although they are so large and are driven by strong winds, they are steered by a very small rudder wherever the pilot wants to go. 5Likewise the tongue is a small part of the body, but it makes great boasts.[m] Consider what a great forest is set on fire by a small spark. 6The tongue also is a fire,[n] a world of evil among the parts of the body. It corrupts the whole person,[o] sets the whole course of his life on fire, and is itself set on fire by hell.[p]

7All kinds of animals, birds, reptiles and creatures of the sea are being tamed and have been tamed by man, 8but no man can tame the tongue. It is a restless evil, full of deadly poison.[q]

9With the tongue we praise our Lord and Father, and with it we curse men, who have been made in God's likeness.[r] 10Out of the same mouth come praise and cursing. My brothers, this should not be. 11Can both fresh water and salt[f] water flow from the same spring? 12My brothers, can a fig tree bear olives, or a grapevine bear figs?[s] Neither can a salt spring produce fresh water.

Two Kinds of Wisdom

13Who is wise and understanding among you? Let him show it[t] by his good life, by deeds[u] done in the humility that comes from wisdom. 14But if you harbor bitter envy and selfish ambition[v] in your hearts, do not boast about it or

2:18 You have faith; I have deeds. The false claim is that there are "faith" Christians and "deeds" Christians, i.e., that faith and deeds can exist independently of each other. Show me your faith without deeds. Irony; James denies the possibility of this.

2:19 there is one God. A declaration of monotheism that reflects the well-known Jewish creed called in Hebrew the Shema, "Hear" (Dt 6:4; Mk 12:29).

2:21 Apart from its context, this verse might seem to contradict the Biblical teaching that people are saved by faith and not by good deeds (Ro 3:28; Gal 2:15–16). But James means only that righteous action is evidence of genuine faith—not that it saves, for the verse (Ge 15:6) that he cites (v. 23) to substantiate his point says, "Abram believed the LORD, and he credited it [i.e., faith, not works] to him as righteousness." Furthermore, Abraham's act of faith recorded in Ge 15:6 occurred before he offered up Isaac, which was only a proof of the genuineness of his faith. As Paul wrote, "The only thing that counts is faith expressing itself through love" (Gal 5:6). Faith that saves produces deeds.

2:23 God's friend. This designation (see 2Ch 20:7) further describes Abraham's relationship to God as one of complete acceptance.

2:24 not by faith alone. Not by an intellectual assent to certain truths (see note on 2:14–26).

2:25 Rahab the prostitute. James does not approve Rahab's occupation. He merely commends her for her faith (see also Heb 11:31), which she demonstrated by helping the spies (Jos 2).

3:1 judged more strictly. Because a teacher has great influence, he will be held more accountable (see Lk 20:47; cf. Mt 23:1–33).

3:2 perfect man. Since the tongue is so difficult to control, anyone who controls it perfectly gains control of himself in all other areas of life as well.

3:6 world of evil. Like the world in its fallenness. set on fire by hell. A figurative way of saying that the source of the tongue's evil is the devil (see Jn 8:44). See notes on Mt 5:22; Lk 16:23.

3:9 in God's likeness. Since man has been made like God (Ge 1:26–27), to curse man is like cursing God (see Ge 9:6). See note on Ge 1:26.

3:13 wisdom. See note on 1:5.

deny the truth.[w] [15]Such "wisdom" does not come down from heaven[x] but is earthly, unspiritual, of the devil.[y] [16]For where you have envy and selfish ambition,[z] there you find disorder and every evil practice.

[17]But the wisdom that comes from heaven[a] is first of all pure; then peace-loving,[b] considerate, submissive, full of mercy[c] and good fruit, impartial and sincere.[d] [18]Peacemakers[e] who sow in peace raise a harvest of righteousness.[f]

Submit Yourselves to God

4 What causes fights and quarrels[g] among you? Don't they come from your desires that battle[h] within you? [2]You want something but don't get it. You kill[i] and covet, but you cannot have what you want. You quarrel and fight. You do not have, because you do not ask God. [3]When you ask, you do not receive,[j] because you ask with wrong motives,[k] that you may spend what you get on your pleasures.

[4]You adulterous[l] people, don't you know that friendship with the world[m] is hatred toward God?[n] Anyone who chooses to be a friend of the world becomes an enemy of God.[o] [5]Or do you think Scripture says without reason that the spirit he caused to live in us[p] envies intensely?[g] [6]But he gives us more grace. That is why Scripture says:

> "God opposes the proud > but gives grace to the humble."[h][q]

[7]Submit yourselves, then, to God. Resist the devil,[r] and he will flee from you. [8]Come near to God and he will come near to you.[s] Wash your hands,[t] you sinners, and purify your hearts,[u] you double-minded.[v] [9]Grieve, mourn and wail. Change your laughter to mourning and your joy to gloom.[w] [10]Humble yourselves before the Lord, and he will lift you up.[x]

[11]Brothers, do not slander one another.[y] Anyone who speaks against his brother or judges him[z] speaks against the law[a] and judges it. When you judge the law, you are not keeping it,[b] but sitting in judgment on it. [12]There is only one Lawgiver and Judge,[c] the one who is able to save and destroy.[d] But you—who are you to judge your neighbor?[e]

Boasting About Tomorrow

[13]Now listen,[f] you who say, "Today or tomorrow we will go to this or that city, spend a year there, carry on business and make money."[g] [14]Why, you do not even know what will happen tomorrow. What is your life? You are a mist that appears for a little while and then vanishes.[h] [15]Instead, you ought to say, "If it is the Lord's will,[i] we will live and do this or that." [16]As it is, you boast and brag. All such boasting is evil.[j] [17]Anyone, then, who knows the good he ought to do and doesn't do it, sins.[k]

[h] 6 Prov. 3:34

3:15 from heaven. From God (see 1:5,17; 1Co 2:6–16).
3:16 disorder. "God is not a God of disorder but of peace" (1Co 14:33).
3:17 impartial. See 2:1–13.
3:18 Peacemakers. Contrast v. 16. Discord cannot produce righteousness.
4:1 desires. The Greek for this term is the source of our word "hedonism."
4:2 kill. Figurative (hyperbole) for "hate."
4:4 adulterous people. Those who are spiritually unfaithful, who love the world rather than God. For spiritual adultery see, e.g., Jer 31:32. world. See note on 1:27.
4:5 Scripture. The passage James had in mind is not known. the spirit . . . envies intensely. The words "the spirit he caused to live in us" refer to God's creation of man (Ge 2:7). Because of the fall, man's spirit "envies intensely," but God's grace (v. 6) is able to overcome man's envy. Regarding the two alternative translations (see NIV text note), the meaning of the first is that God jealously longs for our faithfulness and our love (see v. 4). In this case the Scripture referred to may be Ex 20:5. The second capitalizes "Spirit" and makes him the subject. It is the Holy Spirit who longs jealously for our full devotion. If this is the correct translation, it is the only clear reference to the Holy Spirit in the letter.
4:6 See 1Pe 5:5, which also quotes Pr 3:34.
4:7–10 These verses contain ten commands, each of which is so stated in Greek that it calls for immediate action in rooting out the sinful attitude of pride.
4:7 Resist the devil. See Eph 6:11–18; 1Pe 5:8–9.
4:8 Wash your hands. Before the OT priests approached God at the tabernacle, they had to wash their hands and feet at the bronze basin as a symbol of spiritual cleansing (Ex 30:17–21). See Ps 24:4 for the imagery of "clean hands and a pure heart."
4:9 Grieve, mourn and wail. Repent.
4:10 See Mt 23:12.
4:11 speaks against his brother . . . speaks against the law. See note on 2:8; see also Ex 20:16; Ps 15:3; 50:19–20; Pr 6:16,19. To speak against a brother is to scorn the law of love.
5:1 rich. These (as also in 2:2,6) are not Christians, for James warns them to repent and weep because of the coming misery. Verses 1–6 are similar to OT declarations of judgment against pagan nations, interspersed in books otherwise addressed to God's people (Isa 13–23; Jer 46–51; Eze 25–32; Am 1:3–2:16; Zep 2:4–15).

ery that is coming upon you. 2Your wealth has rotted, and moths have eaten your clothes.[o] 3Your gold and silver are corroded. Their corrosion will testify against you and eat your flesh like fire. You have hoarded wealth in the last days.[p] 4Look! The wages you failed to pay the workmen[q] who mowed your fields are crying out against you. The cries[r] of the harvesters have reached the ears of the Lord Almighty.[s] 5You have lived on earth in luxury and self-indulgence. You have fattened yourselves[t] in the day of slaughter.[iu] 6You have condemned and murdered[v] innocent men,[w] who were not opposing you.

Patience in Suffering

7Be patient, then, brothers, until the Lord's coming.[x] See how the farmer waits for the land to yield its valuable crop and how patient he is[y] for the autumn and spring rains.[z] 8You too, be patient and stand firm, because the Lord's coming[a] is near.[b] 9Don't grumble against each other, brothers,[c] or you will be judged. The Judge[d] is standing at the door![e]

10Brothers, as an example of patience in the face of suffering, take the prophets[f] who spoke in the name of the Lord. 11As you know, we consider blessed[g] those who have persevered. You have heard of Job's perseverance[h] and have seen what the Lord finally brought about.[i] The Lord is full of compassion and mercy.[j]

12Above all, my brothers, do not swear—not by heaven or by earth or by anything else. Let your "Yes" be yes, and your "No," no, or you will be condemned.[k]

The Prayer of Faith

13Is any one of you in trouble? He should pray.[l] Is anyone happy? Let him sing songs of praise.[m] 14Is any one of you sick? He should call the elders[n] of the church to pray over him and anoint him with oil[o] in the name of the Lord. 15And the prayer offered in faith[p] will make the sick person well; the Lord will raise him up. If he has sinned, he will be forgiven. 16Therefore confess your sins[q] to each other and pray for each other so that you may be healed.[r] The prayer of a righteous man is powerful and effective.[s]

17Elijah was a man just like us.[t] He prayed earnestly that it would not rain, and it did not rain on the land for three and a half years.[u] 18Again he prayed, and the heavens gave rain, and the earth produced its crops.[v]

19My brothers, if one of you should

5:2 clothes. One of the main forms of wealth in the ancient world (see Ac 20:33).

5:3 corrosion. The result of hoarding. It will both testify against and judge the selfish rich. last days. See notes on Ac 2:17; 1Ti 4:1; 2Ti 3:1; Heb 1:2; 1Jn 2:18.

5:4 the Lord Almighty. See comments on "the LORD of hosts" in the Preface to the NIV; see also notes on Ge 17:1; 1Sa 1:3.

5:5 luxury and self-indulgence. See Lk 16:19–31. the day of slaughter. The day of judgment. The wicked rich are like cattle that continue to fatten themselves on the very day they are to be slaughtered, totally unaware of coming destruction.

5:7 then. Refers back to vv. 1–6. Since the believers are suffering at the hands of the wicked rich, they are to look forward patiently to the Lord's return. autumn and spring rains. In Israel the autumn rain comes in October and November soon after the grain is sown, and the spring rain comes in March and April just prior to harvest (Dt 11:14; Jer 5:24; Hos 6:3; Joel 2:24).

5:9 Don't grumble. James calls for patience toward believers as well as unbelievers (vv. 7–8). The Judge is standing at the door! A reference to Christ's second coming (see vv. 7–8) and the judgment associated with it. The NT insistence on imminence (e.g., in Ro 13:12; Heb 10:25; 1Pe 4:7; Rev 22:20) arises from the teaching that the "last days" began with the incarnation. We have been living in the "last days" (v. 3) ever since (see note on Heb 1:1). The next great event in redemptive history is Christ's second coming. The NT does not say when it will take place, but its certainty is never questioned and believers are consistently admonished to watch for it. It was in this light that James expected the imminent return of Christ.

5:11 Job's perseverance. Not "patience." Job was not patient (Job 3; 12:1–3; 16:1–3; 21:4), but he persevered (Job 1:20–22; 2:9–10; 13:15). This is the only place in the NT where Job is mentioned, though Job 5:13 is quoted in 1Co 3:19.

5:12 do not swear. James's words are very close to Christ's (Mt 5:33–37). James is not condemning the taking of solemn oaths, such as God's before Abraham (Heb 6:13) or Jesus' before Caiaphas (Mt 26:63–64) or Paul's (Ro 1:9; 9:1) or a man's before the Lord (Ex 22:11). Rather, he is condemning the flippant use of God's name or a sacred object to guarantee the truth of what is spoken.

5:14 elders. See notes on 1Ti 3:1; 5:17. church. See note on Mt 16:18. oil. One of the best-known ancient medicines (referred to by Philo, Pliny and the physician Galen; see also Isa 1:6; Lk 10:34). Some believe that James may be using the term medicinally in this passage. Others, however, regard its use here as an aid to faith, an outward sign of the healing to be brought about by God in response to "prayer offered in faith" (v. 15; see Mk 6:13).

5:17 Elijah . . . prayed. That Elijah prayed may be assumed from 1Ki 17:1; 18:41–46. The three and a half years (see also Lk 4:25) are probably a round number (half of seven), based on 1Ki 18:1 (see note there; cf. Rev 11:1–6).

5:19 wander from the truth. The wanderer is either a professing Christian, whose faith is not genuine (cf. Heb wander from the truth[w] and someone should bring him back,[x] [20]remember this: Whoever turns a sinner from the error of his way will save[y] him from death and cover over a multitude of sins.[z]

6:4–8; 2Pe 2:20–21), or a sinning Christian, who needs to be restored. For the former, the death spoken of in v. 20 is the "second death" (Rev 21:8); for the latter, it is physical death (cf. 1Co 11:30). See note on 1Jn 5:16.

5:20 cover over a multitude of sins. The sins of the wanderer will be forgiven by God.

1 Peter

Author and Date

The author identifies himself as the apostle Peter (1:1), and the contents and character of the letter support his authorship (see notes on 1:12; 4:13; 5:1–2,5,13). Moreover, the letter reflects the history and terminology of the Gospels and Acts (notably Peter's speeches); its themes and concepts reflect Peter's experiences and his associations in the period of our Lord's earthly ministry and in the apostolic age. That he was acquainted, e.g., with Paul and his letters is made clear in 2Pe 3:15–16; Gal 1:18; 2:1–21 and elsewhere; coincidences in thought and expression with Paul's writings are therefore not surprising.

From the beginning, 1 Peter was recognized as authoritative and as the work of the apostle Peter. The earliest reference to it may be 2Pe 3:1, where Peter himself refers to a former letter he had written. 1 Clement (A.D. 95) seems to indicate acquaintance with 1 Peter. Polycarp, a disciple of the apostle John, makes use of 1 Peter in his letter to the Philippians. The author of the Gospel of Truth (140–150) was acquainted with 1 Peter. Eusebius (fourth century) indicated that it was universally received.

The letter was explicitly ascribed to Peter by that group of church fathers whose testimonies appear in the attestation of so many of the genuine NT writings, namely, Irenaeus (A.D. 140–203), Tertullian (150–222), Clement of Alexandria (155–215) and Origen (185–253). It is thus clear that Peter's authorship of the book has early and strong support.

Nevertheless some claim that the idiomatic Greek of this letter is beyond Peter's competence. But in his time Aramaic, Hebrew and Greek were used in Palestine, and he may well have been acquainted with more than one language. That he was not a professionally trained scribe (Ac 4:13) does not mean that he was unacquainted with Greek; in fact, as a Galilean fisherman he in all likelihood did use it. Even if he had not known it in the earliest days of the church, he may have acquired it as an important aid to his apostolic ministry in the decades that intervened between then and the writing of 1 Peter.

It is true, however, that the Greek of 1 Peter is good literary Greek, and even though Peter could no doubt speak Greek, as so many in the Mediterranean world could, it is unlikely that he would write such polished Greek. But it is at this point that Peter's remark in 5:12 concerning Silas may be significant. Here the apostle claims that he wrote "with the help of " (more lit. "through" or "by means of") Silas. This phrase cannot refer merely to Silas as a letter carrier. Thus Silas was the intermediate agent in writing. Some have claimed that Silas's qualifications for recording Peter's letter in literary Greek are found in Ac 15:22–29. It is known that a secretary in those days often composed documents in good Greek for those who did not have the language facility to do so. Thus in 1 Peter Silas's Greek may be seen, while in 2 Peter it may be Peter's rough Greek that appears.

Some also maintain that the book reflects a situation that did not exist until after Peter's death, suggesting that the persecution referred to in 4:14–16; 5:8–9 is descriptive of Domitian's reign (A.D. 81–96). However, the situation that was developing in Nero's time (54–68) is just as adequately described by those verses. The book can be satisfactorily dated in the early 60s. It cannot be placed earlier than 60 since it shows familiarity with Paul's Prison Letters (e.g., Colossians and Ephesians, which are to be dated no earlier than 60): Compare 1:1–3 with Eph 1:1–3; 2:18 with Col 3:22; 3:1–6 with Eph 5:22–24. Furthermore, it cannot be dated later than 67/68, since Peter was martyred during Nero's reign.

Place of Writing

In 5:13 Peter indicates that he was in Babylon when he wrote 1 Peter. Among the interpretations that have been suggested are that he was writing from (1) Egyptian Babylon, which was a military post, (2) Mesopotamian Babylon, (3) Jerusalem and (4) Rome. Peter may well be using the name "Babylon" symbolically, as it seems to be used in the book of Revelation (see, e.g., notes on Rev 17:9–10). Tradition connects him in the latter part of his life with Rome, and certain early writers held that 1 Peter was written there. On the other hand, it is known that Babylon existed in the first century as a small town on the Euphrates. Furthermore, it is pointed out that (1) there is no evidence that the term Babylon was used figuratively to refer to Rome until Revelation was written (c. A.D. 95), and (2) the context of 5:13 is not at all figurative or cryptic.

Recipients

Themes

Although 1 Peter is a short letter, it touches on various doctrines and has much to say about Christian life and duties. It is not surprising that different readers have found it to have different principal themes. For example, it has been characterized as a letter of separation, of suffering and persecution, of suffering and glory, of hope, of pilgrimage, of courage, and as a letter dealing with the true grace of God. Peter says that he has written "encouraging you and testifying that this is the true grace of God" (5:12). This is a definitive general description of the letter, but it does not exclude the recognition of numerous subordinate and contributory themes. The letter is composed also of a series of exhortations (imperatives) that run from 1:13 to 5:11.

V. Closing Greetings (5:13–14)

1 Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ,[a]

To God's elect,[b] strangers in the world,[c] scattered[d] throughout Pontus,[e] Galatia,[f] Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia,[g] 2who have been chosen according to the foreknowledge[h] of God the Father, through the sanctifying work of the Spirit,[i] for obedience[j] to Jesus Christ and sprinkling by his blood:[k]

Grace and peace be yours in abundance.[l]

Praise to God for a Living Hope

3Praise be to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ![m] In his great mercy[n] he has given us new birth[o] into a living hope[p] through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,[q] 4and into an inheritance[r] that can never perish, spoil or fade[s]—kept in heaven for you,[t] 5who through faith are shielded by God's power[u] until the coming of the salvation[v] that is ready to be revealed[w] in the last time. 6In this you greatly rejoice,[x] though now for a little while[y] you may have had to suffer grief in all kinds of trials.[z] 7These have come so that your faith—of greater worth than gold, which perishes even though refined by fire[a]—may be proved genuine[b] and may result in praise, glory and honor[c] when Jesus Christ is revealed.[d] 8Though you have not seen him, you love him; and even though you do not see him now, you believe in him[e] and are filled with an inexpressible and glorious joy, 9for you are receiving the goal of your faith, the salvation of your souls.[f]

10Concerning this salvation, the prophets, who spoke[g] of the grace that was to come to you,[h] searched intently and with the greatest care,[i] 11trying to find out the time and circumstances to which the Spirit of Christ[j] in them was pointing when he predicted[k] the sufferings of Christ and the glories that would follow. 12It was revealed to them that they were not serving themselves but you,[l] when they spoke of the things that have now been told you by those who have

1:1 Peter. See notes on Mt 16:18; Jn 1:42. apostle. See notes on Mk 6:30; 1Co 1:1; Heb 3:1. elect. See note on Eph 1:4. strangers in the world. People temporarily residing on earth but whose home is in heaven (cf. 1Ch 29:15; Ps 39:12; Heb 13:14). scattered throughout Pontus ... Bithynia. Jewish and Gentile Christians scattered throughout much of Asia Minor. People from this area were in Jerusalem on the day of Pentecost (see Ac 2:9–11). Paul preached and taught in some of these provinces (see, e.g., Ac 16:6; 18:23; 19:10,26).

1:2 chosen. See note on Eph 1:4. foreknowledge. See note on Ro 8:29. Father ... Spirit ... Jesus Christ. All three persons of the Trinity are involved in the redemption of the elect. sanctifying work. See note on 2Th 2:13. The order of the terms employed suggests that the sanctifying work of the Spirit referred to here is the influence of the Spirit that draws one from sin toward holiness. Peter says it is "for" (or "to") obedience and sprinkling of Christ's blood, i.e., the Spirit's sanctifying leads to obedient saving faith and cleansing from sin (see note on 1Co 7:14). obedience to Jesus Christ. God's choice or election is designed to bring this about. sprinkling by his blood. The benefits of Christ's redemption are applied to his people (cf. Ex 24:4–8; Isa 52:15; Heb 9:11–14,18–28). Grace and peace. See notes on Jnh 4:2; Jn 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.

1:3 living hope. In spite of the frequent suffering and persecution mentioned in this letter (v. 6; 2:12,18–25; 3:13–18; 4:1,4,12–19; 5:1,7–10), hope is such a key thought in it (the word itself is used here and in vv. 13,21; 3:5,15) that it may be called a letter of hope in the midst of suffering (see Introduction: Themes). In the Bible, hope is not wishful thinking but a firm conviction, much like faith that is directed toward the future. resurrection of Jesus Christ. Secures for his people their new birth and the hope that they will be resurrected just as he was.

1:4 into an inheritance. Believers are born again not only to a hope but also to the inheritance that is the substance of the hope. The inheritance is eternal—in its essence (it is not subject to decay) and in its preservation (it is divinely kept for us).

1:5 through faith ... by God's power. There are two sides to the perseverance of the Christian. He is shielded (1) by God's power and (2) by his own faith. Thus he is never kept contrary to his will nor apart from God's activity. salvation. See note on 2Ti 1:9. The Bible speaks of salvation as (1) past—when a person first believes (see, e.g., Tit 3:5), (2) present—the continuing process of salvation, or sanctification (see v. 9; 1Co 1:18), and (3) future—when Christ returns and salvation, or sanctification, is completed through glorification (here; see also Ro 8:23,30; 13:11).

1:7 that your faith ... may be proved genuine. See Ro 5:3; Jas 1:2–4. Not only is the faith itself precious, but Peter's words indicate that the trial of faith is also valuable. glory. A key word in 1,2 Peter.

1:8 though you do not see him now, you believe. Similar to Jesus' saying in Jn 20:29, on an occasion when Peter was present.

1:9 souls. Implies the whole person. Peter is not excluding the body from heaven.

1:10 prophets ... searched intently. Inspiration (see 2Pe 1:21) did not bestow omniscience. The prophets probably did not always understand the full significance of all the words they spoke.

1:11 Spirit of Christ. The Holy Spirit is called this because Christ sent him (see Jn 16:7) and ministered through him (see Lk 4:14,18). the sufferings of Christ and the glories. A theme running through the Bible (see, e.g., Ps 22; Isa 52:13–53:12; Zec 9:9–10; 13:7; Mt 16:21–23; 17:22; 20:19; Lk 24:26,46; Jn 2:19; Ac 3:17–21), and a basic concept in this letter (vv. 18–21; 3:17–22; 4:12–16; 5:1,4,9–10). Those who are united to Christ will also, after suffering, enter into glory. And they will benefit in the midst of their present sufferings from his having already entered into glory (vv. 3,8,21; 3:21–22).

1:12 Holy Spirit sent from heaven. By Christ, on the day of Pentecost (see Ac 2:33), at which Peter was present. God the Father also sent the Spirit (see Jn 14:16,26). angels long to look into. Their intense desire is highlighted by the Greek word rendered "to look into." It means "to stoop and look intently" (see Jn 20:5,11).

preached the gospel to you[m] by the Holy Spirit sent from heaven.[n] Even angels long to look into these things.

Be Holy

[13]Therefore, prepare your minds for action; be self-controlled;[o] set your hope[p] fully on the grace to be given you[q] when Jesus Christ is revealed.[r] [14]As obedient[s] children, do not conform[t] to the evil desires you had when you lived in ignorance.[u] [15]But just as he who called you is holy, so be holy in all you do;[v] [16]for it is written: "Be holy, because I am holy."[a w]

[17]Since you call on a Father[x] who judges each man's work[y] impartially,[z] live your lives as strangers[a] here in reverent fear.[b] [18]For you know that it was not with perishable things such as silver or gold that you were redeemed[c] from the empty way of life[d] handed down to you from your forefathers, [19]but with the precious blood[e] of Christ, a lamb[f] without blemish or defect.[g] [20]He was chosen before the creation of the world,[h] but was revealed in these last times[i] for your sake. [21]Through him you believe in God,[j] who raised him from the dead[k] and glorified him,[l] and so your faith and hope[m] are in God.

[22]Now that you have purified[n] yourselves by obeying[o] the truth so that you have sincere love for your brothers, love one another deeply,[p] from the heart.[b] [23]For you have been born again,[q] not of perishable seed, but of imperishable,[r] through the living and enduring word of God.[s] [24]For,

"All men are like grass, and all their glory is like the flowers of the field;
the grass withers and the flowers fall, [25] but the word of the Lord stands forever."[c t]

And this is the word that was preached to you.

2 Therefore, rid yourselves[u] of all malice and all deceit, hypocrisy, envy, and slander[v] of every kind. [2]Like newborn babies, crave pure spiritual

1:13 prepare ... for action. The first of a long series of exhortations (actually imperatives) that end at 5:11. This one is a graphic call for action. In the language of the first century it meant that the reader should literally gather up his long, flowing garments and be ready for physical action. grace to be given you. The final state of complete blessedness and deliverance from sin. Peter later indicates that a major purpose of this letter is to encourage and testify regarding the true grace of God (5:12).

1:14 children. Christians, born into the family of God (see v. 23), are children of their heavenly Father (v. 17) and can pray, "Our Father in heaven" (Mt 6:9). Believers are also described as being adopted into God's family (see Ro 8:15 and NIV text note).

1:16 Be holy, because I am holy. To be holy is to be set apart—set apart from sin and impurity, and set apart to God. The complete moral perfection of God, whose eyes are too pure to look on evil with favor (Hab 1:13), should move his people to strive for moral purity. 1 Peter is a letter of practical earnestness, filled with exhortations and encouragements.

1:17 impartially. See Ro 2:11; Jas 2:1. strangers. See note on v. 1. reverent fear. Not terror, but wholesome reverence and respect for God, which is the basis for all godly living (cf. Pr 1:7; 8:13; 16:6).

1:18 redeemed. In the Bible, to redeem means to free someone from something bad by paying a penalty, or a ransom (see e.g., Ex 21:30 and note; see also Ex 13:13). Likewise, in the Greek world slaves could be redeemed by the payment of a price, either by someone else or by the slave himself. Similarly, Jesus redeems believers from the "curse of the law" (Gal 3:13) and "all wickedness" (Tit 2:14). The ransom price is not silver or gold, but Christ's blood (Eph 1:7; 1Pe 1:19; Rev 5:9), i.e., his death (Mt 20:28; Mk 10:45; Heb 9:15) or Christ himself (Gal 3:13). The result is the "forgiveness of sins" (Col 1:14) and "justification" (Ro 3:24; see note there). empty way of life ... from your forefathers. Some maintain that the recipients must have been pagans because the NT stresses the emptiness of pagan life (Ro 1:21; Eph 4:17). Others think they were Jews since Jews were traditionalists who stressed the influence of the father as teacher in the home. In the light of the context of the whole letter, probably both Jews and Gentiles are addressed.

1:19 lamb. The OT sacrifices were types (foreshadowings) of Christ, depicting the ultimate and only effective sacrifice. Thus Christ is the Passover lamb (1Co 5:7), who takes away the sin of the world (Jn 1:29). without blemish or defect. See Heb 9:14 and note; see also Introduction to Leviticus: Themes.

1:20 chosen. Some think the Greek for this word means "foreknown," i.e., God knew before creation that it would be necessary for Christ to redeem man (cf. Rev 13:8), but he has revealed Christ in these last times. Others interpret the word as meaning that in eternity past God chose Christ as Redeemer. these last times. See notes on Ac 2:17; 1Ti 4:1; 2Ti 3:1; Heb 1:1; 1Jn 2:18.

1:22 sincere love. See Ro 12:9. love one another. A command no doubt based on Jn 13:34–35. See also 1Th 4:9–10, where, like Peter, Paul commends his readers for their love of fellow believers and then urges them to love still more. deeply. Fervently.

1:23 born again ... through the ... word of God. The new birth comes about through the direct action of the Holy Spirit (Tit 3:5), but the word of God also plays an important role (see Jas 1:18), for it presents the gospel to the sinner and calls on him to repent and believe in Christ (see v. 25). perishable seed ... imperishable. In this context the seed is doubtless the word of God, which is imperishable, living and enduring.

1:25 the word ... stands forever. The main point of the quotation here.

2:1 Therefore. Connects the exhortations that follow with 1:23–25; compare "born again" (1:23) with "newborn babies" (2:2).

2:2 crave. The unrestrained hunger of a healthy baby provides an example of the kind of eager desire for spiritual food that ought to mark the believer. spiritual milk. Probably referring to God's word (1:23,25). The author is speaking figuratively. Milk is not to be understood here as in 1Co milk,[w] so that by it you may grow up[x] in your salvation, [3]now that you have tasted that the Lord is good.[y]

The Living Stone and a Chosen People

[4]As you come to him, the living Stone[z]—rejected by men but chosen by God[a] and precious to him— [5]you also, like living stones, are being built[b] into a spiritual house[c] to be a holy priesthood,[d] offering spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.[e] [6]For in Scripture it says:

"See, I lay a stone in Zion, a chosen and precious cornerstone,[f]
and the one who trusts in him will never be put to shame."[dg]

[7]Now to you who believe, this stone is precious. But to those who do not believe,[h]

"The stone the builders rejected[i] has become the capstone,[e]"[fj]

[8]and,

"A stone that causes men to stumble and a rock that makes them fall."[gk]

They stumble because they disobey the message—which is also what they were destined for.[l]

[9]But you are a chosen people,[m] a royal priesthood,[n] a holy nation,[o] a people belonging to God,[p] that you may declare the praises of him who called you out of darkness into his wonderful light.[q] [10]Once you were not a people, but now you are the people of God;[r] once you had not received mercy, but now you have received mercy.

[11]Dear friends,[s] I urge you, as aliens and strangers in the world,[t] to abstain from sinful desires,[u] which war against your soul.[v] [12]Live such good lives among the pagans that, though they accuse you of doing wrong, they may see

3:2; Heb 5:12–14—in unfavorable contrast to solid food—but as an appropriate nourishment for babies. grow up. The Greek for this phrase is the standard term for the desirable growth of children.

2:3 have tasted. The tense of the Greek verb used here suggests that an initial act of tasting is referred to. Since this taste has proved satisfactory, the believers are urged to long for additional spiritual food.

2:4 living Stone. Christ (see vv. 6–8 and NIV text notes; cf. Mt 21:42; Mk 12:10–11; Lk 20:17; Ac 4:11; Ro 9:33). The Stone is living in that it is personal. Furthermore he is a life-giving Stone. Christ as the Son of God has life in himself (Jn 1:4; 5:26). See also "living water" (Jn 4:10–14; 7:38), "living bread" (Jn 6:51) and "living way" (Heb 10:20). rejected by men but chosen by God. Peter repeatedly makes a contrast in Acts between the hostility of unbelieving men toward Jesus and God's exaltation of him (Ac 2:22–36; 3:13–15; 4:10–11; 10:39–42).

2:5 living stones. Believers are not literal pieces of rock, but are persons. In addition, they derive their life from Christ, who is the original living Stone to whom they have come (v. 4), the "life-giving spirit" (1Co 15:45). These references to stones may well reflect Jesus' words to Peter in Mt 16:18. spiritual house. The house is spiritual in a metaphorical sense, but also in that it is formed and indwelt by the Spirit of God. Every stone in the house has been made alive by the Holy Spirit, sent by the exalted living Stone, Jesus Christ (cf. Ac 2:33). The OT temple provides the background of this passage (cf. Jn 2:19; 1Co 3:16; Eph 2:19–22). holy priesthood. The whole body of believers. As priests, believers are to (1) reflect the holiness of God and that of their high priest (see 1:15; Heb 7:26; 10:10), (2) offer spiritual sacrifices (here), (3) intercede for man before God and (4) represent God before man. spiritual sacrifices. The NT refers to a variety of offerings: bodies offered to God (Ro 12:1), offerings of money or material goods (Php 4:18; Heb 13:16), sacrifices of praise to God (Heb 13:15) and sacrifices of doing good (Heb 13:16). acceptable to God. Through the work of our Mediator, Jesus Christ (cf. Jn 14:6). Believers are living stones that make up a spiritual temple in which, as a holy priesthood, they offer up spiritual sacrifices.

2:6 precious cornerstone. See Ps 118:22; Mt 21:42; Mk 12:10; Lk 20:17; Ac 4:11. This is an obvious reference to Christ, as vv. 6b–8 make clear. The cornerstone, which determined the design and orientation of the building, was the most significant stone in the structure. The picture that Peter creates is of a structure made up of believers (living stones, v. 5), the design and orientation of which are all in keeping with Christ, the cornerstone. the one who trusts in him. Two attitudes toward the cornerstone are evident: (1) Some trust in him; (2) others reject him (v. 7) and, as a result, stumble and fall (v. 8).

2:8 what they were destined for. Some see here an indication that some people are destined to fall and be lost. Others say that unbelievers are destined to be lost because God in his foreknowledge (cf. 1:2) saw them as unbelievers. Still others hold that Peter means that unbelief is destined to result in eternal destruction.

2:9 chosen people. See Eph 1:4 and note; Isa 43:10,20; 44:1–2. As Israel was called God's chosen people in the OT, so in the NT believers are designated as chosen, or elect. royal priesthood. See note on v. 5; see also Isa 61:6. holy nation. See Dt 28:9. people belonging to God. See Dt 4:20; 7:6; 14:2; Isa 43:21; Mal 3:17. Though once not the people of God, they are now the recipients of God's mercy (see Hos 1:6–10; Ro 9:25–26; 10:19). declare the praises of him. See Isa 43:21; Ac 2:11.

2:10 See notes on Hos 1:6,9; 2:1,22; Ro 9:25–26. In Hosea it is Israel who is not God's people; in Romans it is the Gentiles to whom Paul applies Hosea's words; in 1 Peter the words are applied to both.

2:11 aliens and strangers. See note on 1:1. As aliens and strangers on earth, whose citizenship is in heaven, they are to be separated from the corruption of the world, not yielding to its destructive sinful desires.

2:12 see your good deeds. Deeds that can be seen to be good (cf. Mt 5:16). The Greek word translated "see" refers to a careful watching, over a period of time. The pagans' evaluation is not a "snap judgment." the day he visits us. Perhaps the day of judgment and ensuing punishment, or possibly the day when God visits a person with salvation. The believer's good life may then influence the unbeliever to repent and believe.

your good deeds[w] and glorify God[x] on the day he visits us.

Submission to Rulers and Masters

[13]Submit yourselves for the Lord's sake to every authority[y] instituted among men: whether to the king, as the supreme authority, [14]or to governors, who are sent by him to punish those who do wrong[z] and to commend those who do right.[a] [15]For it is God's will[b] that by doing good you should silence the ignorant talk of foolish men.[c] [16]Live as free men,[d] but do not use your freedom as a cover-up for evil;[e] live as servants of God.[f] [17]Show proper respect to everyone: Love the brotherhood of believers,[g] fear God, honor the king.[h]

[18]Slaves, submit yourselves to your masters with all respect,[i] not only to those who are good and considerate,[j] but also to those who are harsh. [19]For it is commendable if a man bears up under the pain of unjust suffering because he is conscious of God.[k] [20]But how is it to your credit if you receive a beating for doing wrong and endure it? But if you suffer for doing good and you endure it, this is commendable before God.[l] [21]To this[m] you were called,[n] because Christ suffered for you,[o] leaving you an example,[p] that you should follow in his steps.

[22]"He committed no sin,[q] and no deceit was found in his mouth."[hr]

[23]When they hurled their insults at him,[s] he did not retaliate; when he suffered, he made no threats.[t] Instead, he entrusted himself[u] to him who judges justly.[v] [24]He himself bore our sins[w] in his body on the tree,[x] so that we might die to sins[y] and live for righteousness; by his wounds you have been healed.[z] [25]For you were like sheep going astray,[a]

[h]22 Isaiah 53:9

2:13–3:6 Peter urges that Christians submit to all legitimate authorities, whether or not the persons exercising authority are believers. The recognition of properly constituted authority is necessary for the greatest good of the largest number of people, and it is necessary to best fulfill the will of God in the world.

2:13 every authority instituted among men. Authority established among men depends on God for its existence (Ro 13:1–2). Indirectly, when one disobeys a human ruler he disobeys God, who ordained the system of human government (cf. Ro 13:2). to the king. When Peter wrote, the emperor was the godless, brutal Nero, who ruled from A.D. 54 to 68 (see Introduction: Author and Date). Of course, obedience to the emperor must never be in violation of the law of God (to see this basic principle in action cf. Ac 4:19; 5:29).

2:15 silence the ignorant talk. Good citizenship counters false charges made against Christians and thus commends the gospel to unbelievers.

2:16 Live as free men. Does not authorize rebellion against constituted authority, but urges believers freely to submit to God and to earthly authorities (as long as such submission does not conflict with the law of God). as a cover-up for evil. Genuine freedom is the freedom to serve God, a freedom exercised under law. Liberty is not license to do as we please.

2:17 proper respect to everyone. Because every human being bears the image of God. fear God. See note on 1:17.

2:18 Slaves. Household servants, whatever their particular training and functions. The context indicates that Peter is addressing Christian slaves. NT writers do not attack slavery as an institution (see note on Eph 6:5), but the NT contains the principles that ultimately uprooted slavery. Peter's basic teachings on the subject may apply to employer-employee relations today (see Eph 6:5–8; Col 3:22–25; 1Ti 6:1–2; Tit 2:9–10).

2:19 conscious of God. As submission to duly constituted authority is "for the Lord's sake" (v. 13; cf. Eph 6:7–8), so one will submit to the point of suffering unjustly if it is God's will.

2:21 To this you were called. The patient endurance of injustice is part of God's plan for the Christian. It was an important feature of the true grace of God experienced by the readers (5:12). Christ suffered for you. Cf. Isa 52:13–53:12. Christ is the supreme example of suffering evil for doing good. His experience as the suffering Servant-Savior transforms the sufferings of his followers from misery into privilege.

2:22 Scripture declares the sinlessness of Christ in the clearest of terms, allowing for no exception (see 1:19; Ac 3:14; 2Co 5:21; Heb 4:15; 7:26; 1Jn 3:5). no deceit. Cf. v. 1; 3:10.

2:23 Prominent examples of our Lord's silent submission are found in Mt 27:12–14,34–44 and parallels. entrusted himself. Cf. 4:19.

2:24 bore our sins. See Isa 53:12. Although dealing with the example set by Christ, Peter touches also on the redemptive work of Christ, which has significance far beyond that of setting an example. Peter here points to the substitutionary character of the atonement. Christ, like the sacrificial lamb of the OT, died for our sins, the innocent for the guilty. tree. A figurative reference to the cross (see note on Ac 5:30; see also Ac 10:39; 13:29; Gal 3:13). that we might die to sins and live for righteousness. Cf. Ro 6:3–14. Peter stresses the bearing of the cross on our sanctification. As a result of Christ's death on the cross, believers are positionally dead to sin so that they may live new lives and present themselves to God as instruments of righteousness (see note on Ro 6:11–13). you have been healed. See Isa 53:5; not generally viewed as a reference to physical healing, though some believe that such healing was included in the atonement (cf. Mt 8:16–17). Others see spiritual healing in this passage. It is another way of asserting that Christ's death brings salvation to those who trust in him.

2:25 Shepherd. A concept raised here in connection with the allusion to the wandering sheep of Isa 53. The sheep had wandered from their shepherd, and to their Shepherd (Christ) they have now returned. See note on Ps 23:1; see also Jn 10:11,14 and note on Heb 13:20. Overseer. Christ (cf. 5:2,4; Ac 20:28). Elders are to be both shepherds and overseers, i.e., they are to look out for the welfare of the flock. These are not two separate offices or functions; the second term is a further explanation of the first.

but now you have returned to the Shepherd[b] and Overseer of your souls.[c]

Wives and Husbands

3 Wives, in the same way be submissive[d] to your husbands[e] so that, if any of them do not believe the word, they may be won over[f] without words by the behavior of their wives, 2when they see the purity and reverence of your lives. 3Your beauty should not come from outward adornment, such as braided hair and the wearing of gold jewelry and fine clothes.[g] 4Instead, it should be that of your inner self,[h] the unfading beauty of a gentle and quiet spirit, which is of great worth in God's sight.[i] 5For this is the way the holy women of the past who put their hope in God[j] used to make themselves beautiful.[k] They were submissive to their own husbands, 6like Sarah, who obeyed Abraham and called him her master.[l] You are her daughters if you do what is right and do not give way to fear.

7Husbands,[m] in the same way be considerate as you live with your wives, and treat them with respect as the weaker partner and as heirs with you of the gracious gift of life, so that nothing will hinder your prayers.

Suffering for Doing Good

8Finally, all of you, live in harmony with one another;[n] be sympathetic, love as brothers,[o] be compassionate and humble.[p] 9Do not repay evil with evil[q] or insult with insult,[r] but with blessing,[s] because to this[t] you were called[u] so that you may inherit a blessing.[v] 10For,

"Whoever would love life and see good days must keep his tongue from evil and his lips from deceitful speech.
11He must turn from evil and do good;
he must seek peace and pursue it.
12For the eyes of the Lord are on the righteous and his ears are attentive to their prayer, but the face of the Lord is against those who do evil."[w]

13Who is going to harm you if you are eager to do good?[x] 14But even if you should suffer for what is right, you are blessed.[y] "Do not fear what they fear[i]; do not be frightened."[k][z] 15But in your hearts set apart Christ as Lord. Always be

3:1–6 Instructions to wives (cf. Ge 3:16; 1Co 11:3; Eph 5:22–24; Col 3:18; 1Ti 2:9–10; Tit 2:5).

3:1 in the same way. As believers are to submit to government authorities (2:13–17), and as slaves are to submit to masters (2:18–25). be submissive. The same Greek verb as is used in 2:13,18, a term that calls for submission to a recognized authority. Inferiority is not implied by this passage. The submission is one of role or function necessary for the orderly operation of the home. the word. The gospel message. without words. Believing wives are not to rely on argumentation to win their unbelieving husbands, but on the quality of their lives. "Actions speak louder than words."

3:2 purity and reverence. Their lives are to be marked by a moral purity that springs from reverence toward God.

3:3 hair . . . jewelry. Extreme coiffures and gaudy exhibits of jewelry. Christian women should not rely on such extremes of adornment for beauty. clothes. The Greek for this word simply means "garment," but in this context expensive garments are meant.

3:5 holy women of the past. The standards stated by Peter are not limited to any particular time or culture.

3:6 her master. An expression of the submission called for in v. 1. her daughters . . . fear. Christian women become daughters of Sarah as they become like her in doing good and in not fearing any potential disaster, but trusting in God (cf. Pr 3:25–27).

3:7 weaker partner. Not a reference to moral stamina, strength of character or mental capacity, but most likely to sheer physical strength. heirs with you of the gracious gift of life. Women experience the saving grace of God on equal terms with men (see Gal 3:28). hinder your prayers. Spiritual fellowship, with God and with one another, may be hindered by disregarding God's instruction concerning husband-wife relationships.

3:8–12 In 2:11–17 Peter addressed all his readers, and in 2:18–25 he spoke directly to slaves; in 3:1–6 he addressed wives, and in 3:7 husbands. Now he encourages all his readers to develop virtues appropriate in their relations with others (see "all of you," v. 8).

3:8 live in harmony. See Ro 12:16; Php 2:2. be sympathetic. See Ro 12:15; 1Co 12:26. love as brothers. See 1Th 4:9–10; Heb 13:1. be compassionate. See Col 3:12. humble. See Php 2:6–8.

3:9 See Ro 12:17–21.

3:10–12 Peter introduces this quotation from Ps 34 with the explanatory conjunction "For," showing that he views the quotation as giving reasons for obeying the exhortation of v. 9. According to the psalmist, (1) the one who does such things will find life to be most gratifying (v. 10), (2) his days will be good (v. 10), (3) God's eyes will ever be on him to bless him (v. 12), and (4) God's ears will be ready to hear his prayer (v. 12).

3:13 Who . . . harm you . . . ? As a general rule, people are not harmed for acts of kindness. This is especially true if one is an enthusiast ("eager") for doing good.

3:14 even if you should suffer. In the Greek, this conditional clause is the furthest removed from stating a reality. Suffering for righteousness is a remote possibility, but even if it does occur, it brings special blessing to the sufferer (see Mt 5:10–12). what they fear. See NIV text note. In Isaiah's context God's people are not to view things as unbelievers do. They are not to make worldly judgments or be afraid of the enemies of God. Instead, they are to fear God (see Isa 8:13).

3:15 set apart Christ as Lord. An exhortation to the readers to make an inner commitment to Christ. Then they need not be speechless when called on to defend their faith. Instead, there will be a readiness to answer. with gentleness and respect. The Christian is always to be a gentleman or gentle woman, even when opposed by unbelievers. Our apologetic ("answer") is always to be given with love, never in degrading terms.

prepared to give an answer[a] to everyone who asks you to give the reason for the hope[b] that you have. But do this with gentleness and respect, [16]keeping a clear conscience,[c] so that those who speak maliciously against your good behavior in Christ may be ashamed of their slander.[d] [17]It is better, if it is God's will,[e] to suffer for doing good[f] than for doing evil. [18]For Christ died for sins[g] once for all,[h] the righteous for the unrighteous, to bring you to God.[i] He was put to death in the body[j] but made alive by the Spirit,[k] [19]through whom[l] also he went and preached to the spirits in prison[l] [20]who disobeyed long ago when God waited patiently[m] in the days of Noah while the ark was being built.[n] In it only a few people, eight in all,[o] were saved[p] through water, [21]and this water symbolizes baptism that now saves you[q] also—not the removal of dirt from the body but the pledge[m] of a good conscience[r] toward God. It saves you by the resurrection of Jesus Christ,[s] [22]who has gone into heaven[t] and is at God's right hand[u]—with angels, authorities and powers in submission to him.[v]

4 Therefore, since Christ suffered in his body,[w] arm yourselves also with the same attitude, because he who has suffered in his body is done with sin.[x] [2]As a result, he does not live the rest of his earthly life for evil human desires,[y] but rather for the will of God. [l]18,19 Or alive in the spirit, [19]through which [m]21 Or response

3:16 ashamed of their slander. Because it is shown to be obviously untrue and because the believer's loving attitude puts the opponent's bitterness in a bad light.

3:18 once for all. See Heb 9:28. the righteous for the unrighteous. Peter, like Paul in Php 2:5–11, refers to Jesus as an example of the type of conduct that should characterize the Christian. We are to be ready to suffer for doing good (vv. 13–14,17). The thought of Christ's suffering and death, however, leads Peter to comment on what occurred after Christ's death—which leads to tangential remarks about preaching to the spirits in prison and about baptism (see vv. 19–21). made alive by the Spirit. Referring to the resurrection. Elsewhere the resurrection is attributed to the Father (Ac 2:32; Gal 1:1; Eph 1:20) and to the Son (Jn 10:17–18). If the NIV text note is correct, the reference would be to Christ's own spirit, through which also "he preached to the spirits in prison" (v. 19).

3:19–20a Three main interpretations of this passage have been suggested: 1. Some hold that in his preincarnate state Christ went and preached through Noah to the wicked generation of that time. 2. Others argue that between his death and resurrection Christ went to the prison where fallen angels are incarcerated and there preached to the angels who are said to have left their proper state and married human women during Noah's time (cf. Ge 6:1–4; 2Pe 2:4; Jude 6). The "sons of God" in Ge 6:2,4 are said to have been angels, as they are in Job 1:6; 2:1 (see NIV text note). The message he preached to these evil angels was probably a declaration of victory. 3. Still others say that between death and resurrection Christ went to the place of the dead and preached to the spirits of Noah's wicked contemporaries. What he proclaimed may have been the gospel, or it may have been a declaration of victory for Christ and doom for his hearers.

The weakness of the first view is that it does not relate the event to Christ's death and resurrection, as the context seems to do. The main problem with the second view is that it assumes sexual relations between angels and women, and such physical relations may not be possible for angels since they are spirits. A major difficulty with the third view is that the term "spirits" is only used of human beings when qualifying terms are added. Otherwise the term seems restricted to supernatural beings.

3:21 water symbolizes baptism. There is a double figure here. The flood symbolizes baptism, and baptism symbolizes salvation. The flood was a figure of baptism in that in both instances the water that spoke of judgment (in the flood the death of the wicked, in baptism the death of Christ and the believer) is the water that saves. Baptism is a symbol of salvation in that it depicts Christ's death, burial and resurrection and our identification with him in these experiences (see Ro 6:4). now saves you also. In reality, believers are saved by what baptism symbolizes—Christ's death and resurrection. The symbol and the reality are so closely related that the symbol is sometimes used to refer to the reality (see note on Ro 6:3–4). pledge of a good conscience toward God. The act of baptism is a commitment on the part of the believer in all good conscience to make sure that what baptism symbolizes will become a reality in his life. saves you by the resurrection of Jesus Christ. In the final analysis people are saved not by any ritual, but by the supernatural power of the resurrection.

3:22 gone into heaven. See Ac 1:9–11. at God's right hand. See Heb 1:3; 12:2. angels, authorities and powers. See Eph 1:21; 6:12.

4:1 Therefore. Since 3:19–22 is parenthetical, 4:1 ties directly back to 3:18. The aspect of Christ's suffering that these passages stress is suffering unjustly because one has done good. Furthermore, it is physical suffering—"in his body." arm yourselves also with the same attitude. Believers are to be prepared also to suffer unjustly, and to face such abuse with Christ's attitude—with his willingness to suffer for doing good. (For a similar principle in Paul's writings see Php 2:5–11.) because . . . is done with sin. Such suffering enables one to straighten out his priorities. Sinful desires and practices that once seemed important now seem insignificant when one's life is in jeopardy. Serious suffering for Christ advances the progress of sanctification. (Some see a parallel between this passage and Ro 6:1–14, but Peter is not referring to being dead to sin in Paul's sense.)

4:2 for evil human desires . . . for the will of God. Now that Christ's attitude prevails, God's will is the determining factor in life.

4:3 time in the past. The time before conversion. pagans. Lit. "the Gentiles." Along with the term "idolatry," this suggests that at least some of the readers were Gentiles (see note on 1:1) who had been converted from a pagan lifestyle.

4:4 They think it strange . . . and they heap abuse on you. One of the reasons for the suffering the readers were undergoing.

with them into the same flood of dissipation, and they heap abuse on you.[b] 5But they will have to give account to him who is ready to judge the living and the dead.[c] 6For this is the reason the gospel was preached even to those who are now dead,[d] so that they might be judged according to men in regard to the body, but live according to God in regard to the spirit.

7The end of all things is near.[e] Therefore be clear minded and self-controlled[f] so that you can pray. 8Above all, love each other deeply,[g] because love covers over a multitude of sins.[h] 9Offer hospitality[i] to one another without grumbling.[j] 10Each one should use whatever gift he has received to serve others,[k] faithfully[l] administering God's grace in its various forms. 11If anyone speaks, he should do it as one speaking the very words of God.[m] If anyone serves, he should do it with the strength God provides,[n] so that in all things God may be praised[o] through Jesus Christ. To him be the glory and the power for ever and ever. Amen.[p]

Suffering for Being a Christian

12Dear friends, do not be surprised at the painful trial you are suffering,[q] as though something strange were happening to you. 13But rejoice[r] that you participate in the sufferings of Christ,[s] so that you may be overjoyed when his glory is revealed.[t] 14If you are insulted because of the name of Christ,[u] you are blessed,[v] for the Spirit of glory and of God rests on you. 15If you suffer, it should not be as a murderer or thief or any other kind of criminal, or even as a meddler. 16However, if you suffer as a Christian, do not be ashamed, but praise God that you bear that name.[w] 17For it is time for judgment to begin with the family of God;[x] and if it begins with us, what will the outcome be for those who do not obey the gospel of God?[y] 18And,

> "If it is hard for the righteous to be saved, > what will become of the ungodly > and the sinner?"[nz]

19So then, those who suffer according to God's will[a] should commit themselves to their faithful Creator and continue to do good.

4:5 have to give account. See Ac 17:31; Ro 2:5,16. him who is ready to judge. In the NT both the Father and the Son are said to be judge on the great, final judgment day. The Father is the ultimate source of judgment, but he will delegate judgment to the Son (cf. Jn 5:27; Ac 17:31). the living and the dead. Those alive and those dead when the final judgment day dawns.

4:6 For this is the reason. The reason referred to is expressed in the latter part of the verse (in the "so that" clause), not in the preceding verse. was preached even to those who are now dead. This preaching was a past event. The word "now" does not occur in the Greek, but it is necessary to make it clear that the preaching was done not after these people had died, but while they were still alive. (There will be no opportunity for people to be saved after death; see Heb 9:27.) that they might be judged according to men in regard to the body. The first reason that the gospel was preached to those now dead. Some say that this judgment is that to which all people must submit, either in this life (see Jn 5:24) or in the life to come (see v. 5). The gospel is preached to people in this life so that in Christ's death they may receive judgment now and avoid judgment to come. Others hold that these people are judged according to human standards by the pagan world, which does not understand why God's people no longer follow its sinful way of life (see vv. 2–4). So also the world misunderstood Christ (see Ac 2:22–24,36; 3:13–15; 5:30–32; 7:51–53). but live according to God in regard to the spirit. The second reason that the gospel was preached to those now dead. Some believe this means that all gospel preaching has as its goal that the hearers may live as God lives—eternally—and that this life is given by the Holy Spirit. Others maintain that it means that the ultimate reason for the preaching of the gospel is that God's people, even though the wicked world may abuse them and put them to death, will have eternal life, which the Holy Spirit imparts.

4:7 The end . . . is near. See note on Jas 5:9. Therefore. Anticipating the end times, particularly Christ's return, should influence believers' attitudes, actions and relationships (see 2Pe 3:11–14). clear minded. Christians are to be characterized by reason; are to make wise, mature decisions; and are to have a clearly defined, decisive purpose in life. self-controlled. See Gal 5:23. pray. Cf. 3:7; Lk 18:1; 1Co 7:5; Eph 6:18; 1Th 5:17; 1Jn 5:14–15.

4:8 love each other deeply. See 1Th 4:9–10; 2Pe 1:7; 1Jn 4:7–11. love covers over . . . sins. Love forgives again and again (see Mt 18:21–22; 1Co 13:5; Eph 4:32).

4:9 Offer hospitality. See Ro 12:13; 1Ti 3:2; 5:10; Tit 1:8; 3Jn 5–8.

4:10 use whatever gift he has received. See Ro 12:4–8; 1Co 12:7–11.

4:11 very words. The Greek for this phrase is used to refer to the Scriptures or to words God has spoken (see Ac 7:38; Ro 3:2). To him be the glory. See 1Co 1:26–31; Jude 24–25.

4:12 Dear friends. Or "Loved ones" (see 2:11). do not be surprised at the painful trial. See 1:6–7; 2:20–21.

4:13 rejoice that you participate in the sufferings of Christ. See note on Col 1:24. Peter once rebelled against the idea that Christ would suffer (see Mt 16:21–23).

4:14 insulted because of the name of Christ. See Mt 5:11–12; Jn 15:18–20; Ac 5:41; 14:22; Ro 8:17; 2Co 1:5; Php 3:10; 2Ti 3:12.

4:17 judgment to begin with the family of God. The persecutions that believers were undergoing were divinely sent judgment intended to purify God's people. the outcome . . . for those who do not obey the gospel. If God brings judgment on his own people, how much more serious will the judgment be that he will bring on unbelievers!

5:1 fellow elder. See notes on Ac 20:17; 1Ti 3:1; 5:17. Peter, who identified himself as an apostle at the beginning of his letter (1:1), chooses now to identify himself with the share in the glory to be revealed:[d] [2]Be shepherds of God's flock[e] that is under your care, serving as overseers—not because you must, but because you are willing, as God wants you to be;[f] not greedy for money,[g] but eager to serve; [3]not lording it over[h] those entrusted to you, but being examples[i] to the flock. [4]And when the Chief Shepherd[j] appears, you will receive the crown of glory[k] that will never fade away.[l]

[5]Young men, in the same way be submissive[m] to those who are older. All of you, clothe yourselves with humility[n] toward one another, because,

"God opposes the proud but gives grace to the humble."[oo]

[6]Humble yourselves, therefore, under God's mighty hand, that he may lift you up in due time.[p] [7]Cast all your anxiety on him[q] because he cares for you.[r]

[8]Be self-controlled[s] and alert. Your enemy the devil prowls around[t] like a roaring lion[u] looking for someone to devour. [9]Resist him,[v] standing firm in the faith,[w] because you know that your brothers throughout the world are undergoing the same kind of sufferings.[x]

[10]And the God of all grace, who called you[y] to his eternal glory[z] in Christ, after you have suffered a little while,[a] will himself restore you and make you strong,[b] firm and steadfast. [11]To him be the power for ever and ever. Amen.[c]

Final Greetings

[12]With the help of Silas,[pd] whom I regard as a faithful brother, I have written to you briefly,[e] encouraging you and testifying that this is the true grace of God. Stand fast in it.[f]

[13]She who is in Babylon, chosen together with you, sends you her greetings, and so does my son Mark.[g] [14]Greet one another with a kiss of love.[h]

Peace[i] to all of you who are in Christ.

elders of the churches (cf. 2Jn 1; 3Jn 1). This would be heartening to them in light of their great responsibilities and the difficult situation faced by the churches. The churches for which these elders were responsible were scattered across much of Asia Minor (see 1:1), so if Peter was a local church officer, he must have been officially related to one of them. witness of Christ's sufferings. Peter had been with Jesus from the early days of his ministry and was a witness of all its phases and aspects, including the climactic events of his suffering (cf. Mt 26:58; Mk 14:54; Lk 22:60–62; Jn 18:10–11,15–16). In this letter he bears notable witness to Christ's sufferings (see 2:21–24) and obeys his command in Ac 1:8. share in the glory to be revealed. Peter witnessed Christ's glory in his ministry in general (see Jn 1:14; 2:11), and, as one present at the transfiguration (see Mt 16:27; 17:8), he had already seen the glory of Christ's coming kingdom. In God's appointed time, just as Christ suffered and entered into glory, so all his people, after their sufferings, will participate in his future glory.

5:2 Be shepherds of God's flock. A metaphor that our Lord himself had employed (Jn 10:1–18; Lk 15:3–7) and that must have been etched on Peter's mind (see Jn 21:15–17; cf. 1Pe 2:25). Peter is fulfilling Christ's command to feed his sheep as he writes this letter. What he writes to the elders is reminiscent of Paul's farewell address to the Ephesian elders (especially Ac 20:28). The term "shepherd" is an OT metaphor as well (see Eze 34:1–10, where the Lord holds the leaders of Israel responsible for failing to care for the flock). serving as overseers. The same term is used in Ac 20:28; Php 1:1; 1Ti 3:2; Tit 1:7. See note on 1Ti 3:1. It is clear from this passage, as well as from Ac 20:17,28, that the three terms "elder," "overseer" and "shepherd" all apply to one office (see note on Tit 1:7).

5:3 not lording it over those entrusted to you. Cf. Mt 16:24–27; Mk 10:42–45; Php 2:6–11; 2Th 3:9. Although Peter has full apostolic authority (see v. 1), he does not lord it over his readers in this letter, but exemplifies the virtues he recommends.

5:4 Chief Shepherd. Christ. When he returns, he will reward those who have served as shepherds under him. never fade away. See 1:4.

5:5 be submissive. The theme that runs throughout 2:13–3:6. Here it applies to church leaders. clothe yourselves with humility toward one another. Peter may have had in mind the footwashing scene of Jn 13, in which he figured prominently. Although he was at first rebellious, he writes now with understanding (see Jn 13:7).

5:6 See Lk 14:11. lift you up in due time. His help will come at just the right time.

5:7 Cf. Php 4:6–7.

5:8 Be self-controlled. See 1Th 5:6,8. alert. Perhaps Peter remembered his own difficulty in keeping awake during our Lord's agony in Gethsemane (see Mt 26:36–46).

5:9 your brothers. They are not isolated; they belong to a fellowship of suffering.

5:10 grace. See notes on Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.

5:12 With the help of Silas. Silas may have been the bearer of the letter to its destination. He may also have been a scribe who recorded what Peter dictated or who aided, as an informed and intelligent secretary, in the phrasing of Peter's thoughts (see Introduction: Author and Date). encouraging ... grace of God. See Introduction: Themes.

5:13 Babylon. See Introduction: Place of Writing. chosen. See note on Eph 1:4. my son Mark. Peter regards Mark with such warmth and affection that he calls him his son. It is possible that Peter had led Mark to Christ (see 1Ti 1:2 and note). Early Christian tradition closely associates Mark and Peter (see Introduction to Mark: Author).

5:14 kiss. See note on 1Co 16:20. Peace to all ... in Christ. Spiritual well-being and blessedness to all who are united to Christ. Peter thus ends with a reference to the union of believers with Christ, a concept fundamental to the understanding of the whole letter.

2 Peter

Author

The author identifies himself as Simon Peter (1:1). He uses the first person singular pronoun in a highly personal passage (1:12–15) and claims to be an eyewitness of the transfiguration (1:16–18; cf. Mt 17:1–5). He asserts that this is his second letter to the readers (3:1) and refers to Paul as "our dear brother" (3:15; see note there). In short, the letter claims to be Peter's, and its character is compatible with that claim.

Although 2 Peter was not as widely known and recognized in the early church as 1 Peter, some may have used and accepted it as authoritative as early as the second century and perhaps even in the latter part of the first century (1 Clement [A.D. 95] may allude to it). It was not ascribed to Peter until Origen's time (185–253), and he seems to reflect some doubt concerning it. Eusebius (265–340) placed it among the questioned books, though he admits that most accept it as from Peter. After Eusebius's time, it seems to have been quite generally accepted as canonical.

In recent centuries, however, its genuineness has been challenged by a considerable number of scholars. One of the objections that has been raised is the difference in style from that of 1 Peter. But the difference is not absolute; there are noteworthy similarities in vocabulary and in other matters. In fact, no other known writing is as much like 1 Peter as 2 Peter. The differences that do exist may be accounted for by variations in subject matter, in the form and purpose of the letters, in the time and circumstances of writing, in sources or models, and in scribes who may have been employed. Perhaps most significant is the statement in 1Pe 5:12 that Silas assisted in the writing of 1 Peter. No such statement is made concerning 2 Peter, which may explain its noticeable difference in style (see Introduction to 1 Peter: Author and Date).

Other objections arise from a naturalistic reconstruction of early Christian history or misunderstandings or misconstructions of the available data. For example, some argue that the reference to Paul's letters in 3:15–16 indicates an advanced date for this book—beyond Peter's lifetime. But it is quite possible that Paul's letters were gathered at an early date, since some of them had been in existence and perhaps in circulation for more than ten years (Thessalonians by as much as 15 years) prior to Peter's death. Besides, what Peter says may only indicate that he was acquainted with some of Paul's letters (communication in the Roman world and in the early church was good), not that there was a formal, ecclesiastical collection of them.

2 Peter was written toward the end of Peter's life (cf. 1:12–15), after he had written a prior letter (3:1) to the same readers (probably 1 Peter). Since Peter was martyred during the reign of Nero, his death must have occurred prior to A.D. 68; so it is very likely that he wrote 2 Peter between 65 and 68.

Some have argued that this date is too early for the writing of 2 Peter, but nothing in the book requires a later date. The error combated is comparable to the kind of heresy present in the first century. To insist that the second chapter was directed against second-century Gnosticism is to assume more than the contents of the chapter warrant. While the heretics referred to in 2 Peter may well have been among the forerunners of second-century Gnostics, nothing is said of them that would not fit into the later years of Peter's life.

Some have suggested a later date because they interpret the reference to the fathers in 3:4 to mean an earlier Christian generation. However, the word is most naturally interpreted as the OT patriarchs (cf. Jn 6:31, "forefathers"; Ac 3:13; Heb 1:1). Similarly, reference to Paul and his letters (3:15–16; see Author) does not require a date beyond Peter's lifetime.

2 Peter and Jude

There are conspicuous similarities between 2 Peter and Jude (compare 2Pe 2 with Jude 4–18), but there are also conspicuous differences. It has been suggested that one borrowed from the other or that they both drew on a common source. If there is borrowing, it is not a slavish borrowing but one that adapts to suit the writer's purpose. While many have insisted that Jude used Peter, it is more reasonable to assume that the longer letter (Peter) incorporated much of the shorter (Jude). Such borrowing is fairly common in ancient writings. For example, many believe that Paul used parts of early hymns in Php 2:6–11 and 1Ti 3:16.

Purpose

In his first letter Peter feeds Christ's sheep by instructing them how to deal with persecution from outside the church (see, e.g., 1Pe 4:12); in this second letter he teaches them how to deal with false teachers and evildoers who have come into the church (see 2:1; 3:3–4). While the particular situations naturally call for variations in content and emphasis, in both letters Peter as a pastor ("shepherd") of Christ's sheep (Jn 21:15–17) seeks to commend to his readers a wholesome combination of Christian faith and practice. More specifically, his purpose is threefold: (1) to stimulate Christian growth (ch. 1), (2) to combat false teaching (ch. 2) and (3) to encourage watchfulness in view of the Lord's certain return (ch. 3).

1 Simon Peter, a servant[a] and apostle of Jesus Christ,[b]

To those who through the righteousness[c] of our God and Savior Jesus Christ[d] have received a faith as precious as ours:

2Grace and peace be yours in abundance[e] through the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord.[f]

Making One's Calling and Election Sure

3His divine power[g] has given us everything we need for life and godliness through our knowledge of him[h] who called us[i] by his own glory and goodness. 4Through these he has given us his very great and precious promises,[j] so that through them you may participate in the divine nature[k] and escape the corruption in the world caused by evil desires.[l]

5For this very reason, make every effort to add to your faith goodness; and to goodness, knowledge;[m] 6and to knowledge, self-control;[n] and to self-control, perseverance;[o] and to perseverance, godliness;[p] 7and to godliness, brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness, love.[q] 8For if you possess these qualities in increasing measure, they will keep you from being ineffective and unproductive[r] in your knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.[s] 9But if anyone does not have them, he is nearsighted and blind,[t] and has forgotten that he has been cleansed from his past sins.[u]

10Therefore, my brothers, be all the more eager to make your calling[v] and election sure. For if you do these things, you will never fall,[w] 11and you will receive a rich welcome into the eternal kingdom[x] of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.[y]

Prophecy of Scripture

12So I will always remind you of these things,[z] even though you know them and are firmly established in the truth[a] you now have. 13I think it is right to refresh your memory[b] as long as I live in the tent of this body,[c] 14because I know that I will soon put it aside,[d] as our

1:1 Simon Peter. See notes on Mt 16:18; Jn 1:42. servant. See note on Ro 1:1. apostle. See notes on Mk 6:30; 1Co 1:1; Heb 3:1. To those. Probably the same people as those in 1Pe 1:1. God and Savior Jesus Christ. Assumes that Jesus is both God and Savior. For other passages that ascribe deity to Christ see note on Ro 9:5. have received. God in his justice ("righteousness") imparts to people the ability to believe. a faith. Not here a body of truth to be believed—the faith—but the act of believing, or the God-given capacity to trust in Christ for salvation.

1:2 Grace and peace. See notes on Jnh 4:2; Jn 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2. knowledge of God and of Jesus. The concept of Christian knowledge is prominent in 2 Peter (see 1:3,5,8; 3:18). Peter was combating heretical teaching, and one of the best antidotes for heresy is the statement of true knowledge.

1:3 everything we need for life and godliness. God has made available all that we need spiritually through our knowledge of him. If indeed 2 Peter was written to combat an incipient Gnosticism, the apostle may be insisting that the knowledge possessed by those in apostolic circles was entirely adequate to meet their spiritual needs. No secret, esoteric knowledge is necessary for salvation (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism). glory and goodness. The excellence of God: "Glory" expresses the excellence of his being—his attributes and essence; "goodness" depicts excellence expressed in deeds—virtue in action.

1:4 Through these. Through God's excellence—internal and external—he has given us great promises. Their nature is suggested in the words that follow: participation in the divine nature and escape from worldly corruption. participate in the divine nature. Does not indicate that Christians become divine in any sense, but only that we are indwelt by God through his Holy Spirit (see Jn 14:16–17). Our humanity and his deity, as well as the human personality and the divine, remain distinct and separate.

1:5–9 The virtues that will produce a well-rounded, fruitful Christian life.

1:5 faith. The root of the Christian life (see v. 1 and note). goodness. Cf. v. 3. knowledge. See notes on vv. 2–3.

1:6 self-control. According to many of the false teachers, knowledge made self-control unnecessary; according to Peter, Christian knowledge leads to self-control. godliness. A genuine reverence toward God that governs one's attitude toward every aspect of life.

1:7 brotherly kindness. Warmhearted affection toward all in the family of faith. love. The kind of outgoing, selfless attitude that leads one to sacrifice for the good of others (see note on 1Pe 4:8).

1:8 if you possess these qualities. Peter does not mean to imply that the believer is to cultivate each listed quality in turn, one after the other until all have been perfected. Instead, they are all to be cultivated simultaneously. in increasing measure. Peter has continuing spiritual growth in mind. keep you from being ... unproductive in your knowledge. The Christian's knowledge should affect the way he lives. It does not set him free from moral restraints, as the heretics taught (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism). Rather, it produces holiness and all such virtues (cf. Col 1:9–12).

1:9 nearsighted and blind. Since one cannot be both at the same time, Peter may have in mind a possible alternative meaning for "nearsighted," namely, "to shut the eyes." Such a person is blind because he has closed his eyes to the truth.

1:10 make your calling and election sure. By cultivating the qualities listed in vv. 5–7, they and others can be assured that God has chosen them and called them (cf. Mt 7:20). The genuineness of their profession will be demonstrated as they express these virtues (cf. Gal 5:6; Jas 2:18). When God elects and calls, it is to obedience and holiness (1Pe 1:2; Eph 1:3–6), and these fruits confirm their divine source. never fall. Those who in this way give evidence of their faith will never cease to persevere.

1:11 receive a rich welcome. By producing the fruits Peter is commending to them (see vv. 5–10). eternal kingdom. Eternal life (cf. Mt 25:46).

1:13 tent of this body. See Jn 1:14; 2Co 5:1 and notes.

1:14 Christ has made clear to me. Either the revelation recorded in Jn 21:18–19 or a subsequent one.

Lord Jesus Christ has made clear to me.[e] 15And I will make every effort to see that after my departure[f] you will always be able to remember these things.

16We did not follow cleverly invented stories when we told you about the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ,[g] but we were eyewitnesses of his majesty.[h] 17For he received honor and glory from God the Father when the voice came to him from the Majestic Glory, saying, "This is my Son, whom I love; with him I am well pleased."[ai] 18We ourselves heard this voice that came from heaven when we were with him on the sacred mountain.[j]

19And we have the word of the prophets made more certain,[k] and you will do well to pay attention to it, as to a light[l] shining in a dark place, until the day dawns[m] and the morning star[n] rises in your hearts.[o] 20Above all, you must understand[p] that no prophecy of Scripture came about by the prophet's own interpretation. 21For prophecy never had its origin in the will of man, but men spoke from God[q] as they were carried along by the Holy Spirit.[r]

False Teachers and Their Destruction

2 But there were also false prophets[s] among the people, just as there will be false teachers among you.[t] They will secretly introduce destructive heresies, even denying the sovereign Lord[u] who bought them[v]—bringing swift destruction on themselves. 2Many will follow their shameful ways[w] and will bring the way of truth into disrepute. 3In their greed[x] these teachers will exploit you[y] with stories they have made up. Their condemnation has long been hanging over them, and their destruction has not been sleeping.

4For if God did not spare angels when

1:15 always be able to remember these things. An aim that was realized, whether intentionally or unintentionally, through the Gospel of Mark, which early tradition connected with Peter.

1:16 cleverly invented stories. Peter's message was based on his eyewitness account of the supernatural events that marked the life of Jesus. It was not made up of myths and imaginative stories as was the message of the heretics of 2:3. coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. In Christ's transfiguration the disciples received a foretaste of what his coming will be like when he returns to establish his eternal kingdom (Mt 16:28). eyewitnesses of his majesty. A reference to Christ's transfiguration (see vv. 17–18; Mt 16:28–17:8).

1:19–21 Peter's message rests on two solid foundations: (1) the voice from God at the transfiguration (vv. 16–18) and (2) the still more significant testimony of Scripture (vv. 19–21). An alternative, but less probable, view is that the apostles' testimony to the transfiguration fulfills and thus confirms the Scriptures that predicted such things.

1:19 more certain. Or "very certain."

1:20 Two major views of this verse are: 1. No prophecy is to be privately or independently interpreted (cf. the false teachers in 3:16). The Holy Spirit, Scripture itself and the church should be included in the interpretative process. 2. No prophecy originated through the prophet's own interpretation (the sense of the NIV). The preceding and following contexts indicate that this view is probably to be preferred. In vv. 16–19 the subject discussed is the origin of the apostolic message. Did it come from human imaginings, or was it from God? In v. 21 again the subject is origin. No prophecy of Scripture arose from a merely human interpretation of things. This understanding of v. 20 is further supported by the explanatory "For" with which v. 21 begins. Verse 21 explains v. 20 by restating its content and then affirming God as the origin of prophecy.

1:21 carried along by the Holy Spirit. See note on 2Ti 3:16. In the production of Scripture both God and man were active participants. God was the source of the content of Scripture, so that what it says is what God has said. But the human author also actively spoke; he was more than a recorder. Yet what he said came from God. Although actively speaking, he was carried along by the Holy Spirit.

2:1 false prophets. See 2Ki 18:19; Isa 9:13–17; Jer 5:31; 14:14; 23:30–32. there will be false teachers among you. Numerous NT passages warn of false teachers who are already present or yet to come (see Mt 24:4–5,11; Ac 20:29–30; Gal 1:6–9; Php 3:2; Col 2:4,8,18,20–23; 2Th 2:1–3; 1Ti 1:3–7; 4:1–3; 2Ti 3:1–8; 1Jn 2:18–19,22–23; 2Jn 7–11; Jude 3–4). destructive heresies. Divisive opinions or teachings that result in the moral and spiritual destruction of those who accept them. the sovereign Lord who bought them. Does not necessarily mean that the false teachers were believers. Christ's death paid the penalty for their sin, but it would not become effective for their salvation unless they trusted in Christ as Savior. (However, see vv. 20–22, where it is obvious that the heretics had at least professed knowing the Lord.) swift destruction. Not immediate physical calamity, but sudden doom, whether at death or at the Lord's second coming (cf. Mt 24:50–51; 2Th 1:9).

2:2 shameful ways. Open, extreme immorality not held in check by any sense of shame. way of truth. See Ps 119:30. The Christian faith is not only correct doctrine but also correct living.

2:3 In their greed. They will be motivated by a desire for money and will commercialize the Christian faith to their own selfish advantage. Stories they have made up. See note on 1:16. long been hanging over them. Long ago, in OT times, their condemnation was declared (see vv. 4–9 for OT examples of the fact that judgment is coming on the wicked). destruction has not been sleeping. Although delay makes it seem that they have escaped God's judgment, destruction is a reality that is sure to come upon them.

2:4–8 Three examples showing that God will rescue the godly and destroy the wicked.

2:4 angels when they sinned. Some believe this sin was the one referred to in Ge 6:2, where the sons of God are said to have intermarried with the daughters of men, meaning (according to this view) that angels married human women. The offspring of those marriages are said to have been the Nephilim (Ge 6:4; see notes on Ge 6:2,4). But since it appears impossible for angels, who are spirits, to have sexual relations with women, the sin referred to in this verse probably occurred before the fall of Adam and Eve. The angels who fell became the devil and the evil angels (probably the demons and evil spirits referred to in the NT). sent them to hell. See NIV text note. Tartarus was the term used by the Greeks to designate the place where the most wicked spirits were sent to be punished. Why they sinned,[z] but sent them to hell,[b] putting them into gloomy dungeons[c] to be held for judgment;[a] 5if he did not spare the ancient world[b] when he brought the flood on its ungodly people,[c] but protected Noah, a preacher of righteousness, and seven others;[d] 6if he condemned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah by burning them to ashes,[e] and made them an example[f] of what is going to happen to the ungodly;[g] 7and if he rescued Lot,[h] a righteous man, who was distressed by the filthy lives of lawless men[i] 8(for that righteous man,[j] living among them day after day, was tormented in his righteous soul by the lawless deeds he saw and heard)— 9if this is so, then the Lord knows how to rescue godly men from trials[k] and to hold the unrighteous for the day of judgment,[l] while continuing their punishment.[d] 10This is especially true of those who follow the corrupt desire[m] of the sinful nature[e] and despise authority.

Bold and arrogant, these men are not afraid to slander celestial beings;[n] 11yet even angels, although they are stronger and more powerful, do not bring slanderous accusations against such beings in the presence of the Lord.[o] 12But these men blaspheme in matters they do not understand. They are like brute beasts, creatures of instinct, born only to be caught and destroyed, and like beasts they too will perish.[p]

13They will be paid back with harm for the harm they have done. Their idea of pleasure is to carouse in broad daylight.[q] They are blots and blemishes, reveling in their pleasures while they feast with you.[r] 14With eyes full of adultery, they never stop sinning; they seduce[s] the unstable;[t] they are experts in greed[u]—an accursed brood![v] 15They have left the straight way and wandered off to follow the way of Balaam[w] son of Beor, who loved the wages of wickedness. 16But he was rebuked for his wrongdoing by a donkey—a beast without speech—who spoke with a man's voice and restrained the prophet's madness.[x]

some evil angels are imprisoned and others are free to serve Satan as demons is not explained in Scripture. judgment. The final judgment, probably associated with the great white throne judgment of Rev 20:11–15.

2:5 ungodly people. See Ge 6:5,11–12. preacher of righteousness. A description of Noah found nowhere else in Scripture. However, similar descriptions are used of him in Josephus (Antiquities, 1.3.1), 1 Clement (7.6; 9.4) and the Sibylline Oracles (1.128–29). seven others. Noah's wife, three sons and three daughters-in-law (Noah was the eighth; see 1Pe 3:20).

2:6 condemned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah. See Ge 19.

2:7 distressed by the filthy lives. See Ge 19:4–9. How Lot could be so distressed, how he could be called a "righteous man," and yet offer to turn his two daughters over to the wicked townsmen to be sexually abused is difficult to understand apart from a knowledge of the code of honor characteristic of that day (see note on Ge 19:8).

2:9 States the point made in vv. 4–8—the wicked whose coming Peter predicts will surely be punished.

2:10 This is especially true. The heretics of Peter's day are certain to come under judgment for two main reasons: 1. They follow the corrupt desire of the sinful nature, perhaps referring to homosexuality, the sin of the Sodomites (see Ge 19:5). At least the author has in mind a similar inordinate sexual practice. 2. They despise authority. slander celestial beings. A specific example of despising authority. This could refer to the slander of earthly dignitaries such as church leaders, which might well be expected from such shameless peddlers of error. On the other hand, it could refer to the blaspheming of angels, as the NIV text suggests. This view seems more likely since the parallel passage in Jude 8–10 is speaking of angels.

2:11 angels . . . do not bring slanderous accusations. Even good angels, who might have more right to do so because of their greater power, do not bring such accusations against inferior evil angels.

2:12 matters they do not understand. The heresy to which Peter refers may have been an early form of second-century Gnosticism (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism) that claimed to possess special, esoteric knowledge. If so, it is ironic that those who professed special knowledge acted out of abysmal ignorance, and the result was arrogant blasphemy. like brute beasts. A scathing denunciation. They are like irrational animals, whose lives are guided by mere instinct and who are born merely to be slaughtered. Destruction is their final lot.

2:13 carouse in broad daylight. See 1Th 5:7. Even the pagan world carried on their corrupt practices under cover of darkness, but these heretics were utterly shameless. in their pleasures while they feast with you. See NIV text note. Jude 12 without doubt reads "love feasts," which may well have been the intended reading here. These false teachers seem to have been involved in the sacred feasts of brotherly love that, in the early church, accompanied the Lord's Supper. In fact, it appears that they injected their carousing into these holy observances and delighted in their shameless acts.

2:14 eyes full of adultery. Lit. "eyes full of an adulteress," which means that they desired every woman they saw, viewing her as a potential sex partner. never stop sinning. Their eyes serve as constant instruments of lust. seduce the unstable. For a parallel use of the Greek word for "seduce" see Jas 1:14. It depicts the fisherman who attempts to lure and catch fish with bait. experts in greed. The Greek text implies that they had exercised themselves like an athlete, not in physical activity but in greed.

2:15 way of Balaam son of Beor. See Nu 22–24. Balaam was bent on cursing Israel, though God had forbidden it. He wanted the money Balak offered him. Similarly these false teachers apparently were guilty of attempting to extract money from naive listeners. For a donkey to rebuke the prophet's madness reflects not only on the foolishness of Balaam but also on that of the false teachers of Peter's day.

2:17 springs without water. A picture of cruel deception. The thirsty traveler comes to the spring expecting cool, ter[y] and mists driven by a storm. Blackest darkness is reserved for them.[z] [18]For they mouth empty, boastful words[a] and, by appealing to the lustful desires of sinful human nature, they entice people who are just escaping[b] from those who live in error. [19]They promise them freedom, while they themselves are slaves of depravity—for a man is a slave to whatever has mastered him.[c] [20]If they have escaped the corruption of the world by knowing[d] our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ[e] and are again entangled in it and overcome, they are worse off at the end than they were at the beginning.[f] [21]It would have been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than to have known it and then to turn their backs on the sacred command that was passed on to them.[g] [22]Of them the proverbs are true: "A dog returns to its vomit,"[g][h] and, "A sow that is washed goes back to her wallowing in the mud."

The Day of the Lord

3 Dear friends,[i] this is now my second letter to you. I have written both of them as reminders[j] to stimulate you to wholesome thinking. [2]I want you to recall the words spoken in the past by the holy prophets[k] and the command given by our Lord and Savior through your apostles.[l]

[3]First of all, you must understand that in the last days[m] scoffers will come, scoffing and following their own evil desires.[n] [4]They will say, "Where is this 'coming' he promised?[o] Ever since our fathers died, everything goes on as it has since the beginning of creation."[p] [5]But they deliberately forget that long ago by God's word[q] the heavens existed and the earth was formed out of water and by water.[r] [6]By these waters also the world refreshing water but finds it dry. So the false teachers promise satisfying truth but in reality have nothing to offer. mists driven by a storm. Gone before a drop of moisture falls. Blackest darkness. Their destiny is hell.

2:18 mouth empty, boastful words. Words that sound impressive to the new convert but in reality have nothing to offer. entice. See note on v. 14 ("seduce"). people who are just escaping. New converts who have just broken away from pagan friends. Thus the depraved false teachers prey on new converts, who have not yet had a chance to develop spiritual resistance.

2:19 They promise them freedom. Probably freedom from moral restraint (cf. 1Co 6:12–13; Gal 5:13). The very ones who promise freedom from bondage to rules and regulations are themselves slaves of depravity. Freedom from law resulted in bondage to sin, and liberty was turned into license.

2:20–22 Some point to this passage as clear proof that a genuinely saved person may lose his salvation. He knows the Lord; he escapes the world's corruption; he knows the way of righteousness. Then he turns away from the message and goes back to his old way of life. His knowledge is said to have been genuine; his change of life was real; and his return to his old way of life was not superficial. Others insist that the knowledge of the Lord and of the way of righteousness could not have been genuine. If the person had been truly regenerated, he would have persevered in his faith. It is argued that the teaching of Jn 10:27–30 (especially v. 28) and Ro 8:28–39 makes it clear that no genuinely saved person can be lost. Thus, according to this view, the persons described here could not have been genuinely saved.

2:20 If they have escaped the corruption of the world. A reference to false teachers who had once apparently been believers in Christ. Their professed knowledge of Christ had at least produced a change in life-style. again entangled in it and overcome. A complete return to the old sinful pattern of life.

2:21 better . . . not to have known the way of righteousness. Knowledge of the way increases one's responsibility and his hardness of heart if he then rejects it. In its early days, Christianity was known as "the way" (Ac 9:2; 18:25; 19:9,23; 22:4; 24:14,22). sacred command. The whole Christian message that people are commanded to receive.

2:22 A dog returns . . . A sow . . . goes back. In both cases the nature of the animal is not changed. The sow returns to the mud because by nature it is still a sow. The change was merely cosmetic.

3:1 Dear friends. Or "Loved ones" (see vv. 8,14,17; 1Pe 2:11; 4:12). second letter. The first letter may have been 1 Peter, though there is some reason to doubt this identification. For example, 1 Peter cannot be very accurately described as a reminder. reminders. See 1:12–13,15.

3:2 holy prophets. OT personages. command. See note on 2:21. your apostles. Peter places the OT prophets and the NT apostles on an equal plane. Both are vehicles of God's sacred truth. Peter, being one of the apostles, can speak with knowledge and authority as a representative of the apostolic group.

3:3 First of all. The Greek for this expression is used in 1:20 ("above all") to call attention to a matter of great importance. last days. An expression that refers to the whole period introduced by Christ's first coming. These days are last in comparison to OT days, which were preliminary and preparatory. Also, the Christian era is the time of the beginnings of prophetic fulfillment. scoffers will come. Perhaps the same false teachers described in ch. 2 (e.g., they follow their own evil desires; cf. 2:10,18–19). In ch. 3, however, the emphasis is on Christ's return. These people may have been early Gnostics who resisted the idea of a time of judgment and moral accountability.

3:4 he. Christ. Ever since our fathers died. Either the first Christians to die after Christ's death and resurrection (e.g., Stephen, James the brother of John, and other early Christian leaders who had died; cf. Heb 13:7) or the OT patriarchs (see Introduction: Date). everything goes on as it has. Their argument against Christ's return was: Since it has not occurred up to this time, it will never occur. That nature is not subject to divine intervention, they say, has been proved by observation (1) of the period since the fathers died—perhaps 30 years—and (2) of the period since creation.

3:5 they deliberately forget. Ignoring the flood as a divine intervention was not an oversight; it was deliberate. They did not want to face up to the fallacy in their argument. God's word. Of command, such as "Let there be light" (Ge 1:3). earth was formed out of water and by water. See Ge 1:6–10, where the waters on earth were separated from the atmospheric waters of the heavens, and the mountains then appeared, causing the earthly waters to be gathered into oceans.

3:6 By these waters also the world . . . was deluged and of that time[s] was deluged and destroyed.[t] 7By the same word the present heavens and earth are reserved for fire,[u] being kept for the day of judgment[v] and destruction of ungodly men.

8But do not forget this one thing, dear friends: With the Lord a day is like a thousand years, and a thousand years are like a day.[w] 9The Lord is not slow in keeping his promise,[x] as some understand slowness. He is patient[y] with you, not wanting anyone to perish, but everyone to come to repentance.[z]

10But the day of the Lord will come like a thief.[a] The heavens will disappear with a roar;[b] the elements will be destroyed by fire,[c] and the earth and everything in it will be laid bare.[h d]

11Since everything will be destroyed in this way, what kind of people ought you to be? You ought to live holy and godly lives 12as you look forward[e] to the day of God and speed its coming.[i f] That day will bring about the destruction of the heavens by fire, and the elements will melt in the heat.[g] 13But in keeping with his promise we are looking forward to a new heaven and a new earth,[h] the home of righteousness.

14So then, dear friends, since you are looking forward to this, make every effort to be found spotless, blameless[i] and at peace with him. 15Bear in mind that our Lord's patience[j] means salvation,[k] just as our dear brother Paul also wrote you with the wisdom that God gave him.[l] 16He writes the same way in all his letters, speaking in them of these matters. His letters contain some things

[h] 10 Some manuscripts be burned up
[i] 12 Or as you wait eagerly for the day of God to come destroyed. Peter points out the fallacy of the scoffers' argument. There has been a divine intervention since the time of creation, namely, the flood. The term "world" may refer to the earth or, more probably, to the world of people (cf. Jn 3:16). All the people except Noah and his family were overcome by the flood and perished. This does not necessarily mean that the flood was universal. It may simply have extended to all the inhabited areas of earth (see note on Ge 6:17).

3:7 By the same word. The word of God that brought the world into existence (v. 5) and that brought watery destruction on the wicked of Noah's day will bring fiery destruction on the world that exists today and on its wicked people.

3:8 a thousand years are like a day. Cf. Ps 90:4. God does not view time as humans do. He stands above time, with the result that when time is seen in the light of eternity, an age appears no longer than one short day, and a day seems no shorter than a long age. Since time is purely relative with God, he waits patiently while human beings stew with impatience.

3:9 God's seeming delay in bringing about the consummation of all things is a result not of indifference but of patience in waiting for all who will come to repentance. Thus the scoffers are wrong on two points: 1. They fail to recognize that all things have not continued without divine intervention since creation (the flood was an intervention, vv. 4–6). 2. They misunderstand the reason for apparent divine delay (God is a long-suffering God).

3:10 day of the Lord. See notes on Isa 2:11,17,20; Am 5:18; 1Th 5:2. like a thief. Suddenly and unexpectedly. The heavens will disappear with a roar. Apocalyptic language, common to books like Daniel and Revelation. Due to the figurative nature of such writings, we must not expect complete literalism but recognize it as an attempt to describe the indescribable, a task as impossible as it would have been for a first-century writer to describe the phenomena of our atomic age. What may be referred to is the destruction of the atmospheric heavens with a great rushing sound (see v. 12). elements. Refers either to the heavenly bodies or to the physical elements—in the first century, such things as earth, air, fire and water; in today's more precise scientific terminology, hydrogen, oxygen, carbon, etc. fire. See vv. 7,12. earth . . . laid bare. See NIV text note. Either the earth and its contents will disappear and not be seen anymore, or the earth and all man's works will appear before God's judgment seat.

3:11 Since everything will be destroyed. The transitory nature of the material universe ought to make a difference in one's system of values and one's priorities. The result should be lives of holiness (separated from sin and to God) and godliness (devoted to the worship and service of God). Cf. Mt 25:13; 1Th 5:6,8,11; 2Pe 1:13–16.

3:12 the day of God. Apparently synonymous with "the day of the Lord" (v. 10) since it is characterized by the same kind of events. Cf. Rev 16:14. speed its coming. That day may be hastened by God's people as they speed up the accomplishment of his purposes. Since he is waiting for all who will come to repentance (v. 9), the sooner believers bring others to the Savior the sooner that day will dawn (cf. Ac 3:19–20). Prayer also serves to hasten the day (Mt 6:10), as does holy living (v. 11). destruction of the heavens. See v. 10. elements will melt in the heat. See v. 10; Isa 34:4.

3:13 his promise. New heavens and a new earth are promised by Isaiah (65:17; 66:22). This promise is confirmed by Rev 21:1. home of righteousness. Righteousness will dwell there as a permanent resident. Cf. Isa 11:4–5; 45:8; Da 9:24.

3:14 spotless, blameless. Cf. 1Pe 1:19, where the same two words are applied to Christ. at peace with him. Believers have peace with God as a result of being justified by faith (Ro 5:1), but they may displease him by failing to live as he desires and thus not receive his commendation and his reward when he returns (cf. 1Co 3:10–15; 2Co 5:10).

3:15 our Lord's patience means salvation. See v. 9. our dear brother Paul. Peter expresses warmth in his reference to Paul. The unity of teaching and purpose that governed their relationship, abundantly attested in Paul's letters and the book of Acts, is confirmed here by Peter. It has been suggested that what Paul wrote to the recipients of 2 Peter may have been a copy of Romans, which was sent to the churches as a circular letter (cf. Ro 16:4; see Introduction to Romans: Recipients; see also note on 1Pe 1:1).

3:16 writes the same way in all his letters. Peter may be referring in general to the exhortations to holy living in vv. 11–14, which parallel many passages in Paul's writings. ignorant and unstable people. The ignorant are simply the unlearned who have not been taught basic apostolic teaching and thus may be easily led astray (cf. 2:14). other Scriptures. Peter placed Paul's writings on the same level of authority as the God-breathed writings of the OT (see 1:21; 2Ti 3:16).

that are hard to understand, which ignorant and unstable[m] people distort,[n] as they do the other Scriptures,[o] to their own destruction.

17Therefore, dear friends, since you already know this, be on your guard[p] so that you may not be carried away by the error[q] of lawless men[r] and fall from your secure position.[s] 18But grow in the grace[t] and knowledge[u] of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.[v] To him be glory both now and forever! Amen.[w]

3:17 already know this. That false teachers are coming (cf. ch. 2).

3:18 grow in ... knowledge. Peter concludes by again stressing knowledge (see 1:2–3 and notes; see also 1:5), probably as an antidote to the false teachers who boasted in their esoteric knowledge.

1 John

Author

The author is John son of Zebedee (see Mk 1:19–20)—the apostle and the author of the Gospel of John and Revelation (see Introductions to both books: Author). He may have been a first cousin of Jesus (his mother may have been Salome, possibly a sister of Mary; cf. Mt 27:56; Mk 15:40; 16:1; Jn 19:25—this view assumes that "his mother's sister" in this verse refers to Salome; some further assume that "Mary the wife of Clopas" in this verse stands in apposition to "his mother's sister," which would mean that this Mary and Salome were one and the same person); he was a fisherman, one of Jesus' inner circle (together with James and Peter) and "the disciple whom Jesus loved" (Jn 13:23).

Unlike most NT letters, 1 John does not tell us who its author is. The earliest identification of him comes from the church fathers: Irenaeus (c. A.D. 140–203), Clement of Alexandria (c. 150–215), Tertullian (c. 155–222) and Origen (c. 185–253) all designated the writer as the apostle John. As far as we know, no one else was suggested by the early church.

This traditional identification is confirmed by evidence in the letter itself:

1. The style of the Gospel of John is markedly similar to that of this letter. Both are written in simple Greek and use contrasting figures, such as light and darkness, life and death, truth and lies, love and hate.

2. Similar phrases and expressions, such as those found in the following passages, are striking:

| 1 John | Gospel of John |
|---|---|
| 1:1 | 1:1,14 |
| 1:4 | 16:24 |
| 1:6–7 | 3:19–21 |
| 2:7 | 13:34–35 |
| 3:8 | 8:44 |
| 3:14 | 5:24 |
| 4:6 | 8:47 |
| 4:9 | 1:14,18; 3:16 |
| 5:9 | 5:32,37 |
| 5:12 | 3:36 |

3. The mention of eyewitness testimony (1:1–4) harmonizes with the fact that John was a follower of Christ from the earliest days of his ministry.

4. The authoritative manner that pervades the letter (seen in its commands, 2:15,24,28; 4:1; 5:21; its firm assertions, 2:6; 3:14; 4:12; and its pointed identification of error, 1:6,8; 2:4,22) is what would be expected from an apostle.

5. The suggestions of advanced age (addressing his readers as "children," 2:1,28; 3:7) agree with early church tradition concerning John's age when he wrote the books known to be his.

6. The description of the heretics as antichrists (2:18), liars (2:22) and children of the devil (3:10) is consistent with Jesus' characterization of John as a son of thunder (Mk 3:17).

7. The indications of a close relationship with the Lord (1:1; 2:5–6,24,27–28) fit the descriptions of "the disciple whom Jesus loved" and the one who reclined "next to him" (Jn 13:23).

Date

The letter is difficult to date with precision, but factors such as (1) evidence from early Christian writers (Irenaeus and Clement of Alexandria), (2) the early form of Gnosticism reflected in the denunciations of the letter and (3) indications of the advanced age of John suggest the end of the first century. Since the author of 1 John seems to build on concepts and themes found in the fourth Gospel (see 1Jn 2:7–11), it is reasonable to date the letter somewhere between A.D. 85 and 95, after the writing of the Gospel, which may have been written c. 85 (see Introduction to John: Date).

Recipients

1Jn 2:12–14,19; 3:1; 5:13 make it clear that this letter was addressed to believers. But the letter itself does not indicate who they were or where they lived. The fact that it mentions no one by name suggests it was a circular letter sent to Christians in a number of places. Evidence from early Christian writers places the apostle John in Ephesus during most of his later years (c. A.D. 70–100). The earliest confirmed use of 1 John was in the province of Asia (in modern Turkey), where Ephesus was located. Clement of Alexandria indicates that John ministered in the various churches scattered throughout that province. It may be assumed, therefore, that 1 John was sent to the churches of the province of Asia (see map No. 12 at the end of the Study Bible).

Gnosticism

One of the most dangerous heresies of the first two centuries of the church was Gnosticism. Its central teaching was that spirit is entirely good and matter is entirely evil. From this unbiblical dualism flowed five important errors:

1. Man's body, which is matter, is therefore evil. It is to be contrasted with God, who is wholly spirit and therefore good.

2. Salvation is the escape from the body, achieved not by faith in Christ but by special knowledge (the Greek word for "knowledge" is gnosis, hence Gnosticism).

3. Christ's true humanity was denied in two ways: (1) Some said that Christ only seemed to have a body, a view called Docetism, from the Greek dokeo ("to seem"), and (2) others said that the divine Christ joined the man Jesus at baptism and left him before he died, a view called Cerinthianism, after its most prominent spokesman, Cerinthus. This view is the background of much of 1 John (see 1:1; 2:22; 4:2–3).

4. Since the body was considered evil, it was to be treated harshly. This ascetic form of Gnosticism is the background of part of the letter to the Colossians (2:21–23).

5. Paradoxically, this dualism also led to licentiousness. The reasoning was that, since matter—and not the breaking of God's law (1Jn 3:4)—was considered evil, breaking his law was of no moral consequence.

The Gnosticism addressed in the NT was an early form of the heresy, not the intricately developed system of the second and third centuries. In addition to that seen in Colossians and in John's letters, acquaintance with early Gnosticism is reflected in 1,2 Timothy, Titus, and 2 Peter and perhaps 1 Corinthians.

Occasion and Purpose

John's readers were confronted with an early form of Gnostic teaching of the Cerinthian variety (see Gnosticism). This heresy was also libertine, throwing off all moral restraints.

Consequently, John wrote this letter with two basic purposes in mind: (1) to expose false teachers (2:26) and (2) to give believers assurance of salvation (5:13). In keeping with his intention to combat Gnostic teachers, John specifically struck at their total lack of morality (3:8–10); and by giving eyewitness testimony to the incarnation, he sought to confirm his readers' belief in the incarnate Christ (1:3). Success in this would give the writer joy (1:4).

The Word of Life

1 That which was from the beginning,[a] which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes,[b] which we have looked at and our hands have touched[c]—this we proclaim concerning the Word of life. 2The life appeared;[d] we have seen it and testify to it,[e] and we proclaim to you the eternal life,[f] which was with the Father and has appeared to us. 3We proclaim to you what we have seen and heard,[g] so that you also may have fellowship with us. And our fellowship is with the Father and with his Son, Jesus Christ.[h] 4We write this[i] to make our[a] joy complete.[j]

Walking in the Light

5This is the message we have heard[k] from him and declare to you: God is light;[l] in him there is no darkness at all. 6If we claim to have fellowship with him yet walk in the darkness,[m] we lie and do not live by the truth.[n] 7But if we walk in the light,[o] as he is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus, his Son, purifies us from all[b] sin.[p]

8If we claim to be without sin,[q] we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us.[r] 9If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just and will forgive us our sins[s] and purify us from all unrighteousness.[t] 10If we claim we have not sinned,[u] we make him out to be a liar[v] and his word has no place in our lives.[w]

2 My dear children,[x] I write this to you so that you will not sin. But if anybody does sin, we have one who speaks to the Father in our defense[y]—Jesus Christ, the Righteous One. 2He is the atoning sacrifice for our sins,[z] and not only for ours but also for[c] the sins of the whole world.[a]

3We know[b] that we have come to know him[c] if we obey his commands.[d]

1:1–4 The introduction to this letter deals with the same subject and uses several of the same words as the introduction to John's Gospel (1:1–4)—"beginning," "Word," "life," "with."

1:1 was from the beginning. Has always existed. we. John and the other apostles. heard ... seen ... looked at ... touched. The apostle had made a careful examination of the Word of life. He testifies that the one who has existed from eternity "became flesh" (Jn 1:14)—i.e., a flesh-and-blood man. He was true God and true man. At the outset, John contradicts the heresy of the Gnostics (see Introduction: Gnosticism). Word of life. The one who is life and reveals life (see v. 2 and note). "Word" here speaks of revelation (see note on Jn 1:1).

1:2 The life ... the eternal life. Christ. He is called "the life" because he is the living one who has life in himself (see Jn 11:25; 14:6). He is also the source of life and sovereign over life (5:11). The letter begins and ends (5:20) with the theme of eternal life.

1:3 fellowship with us. Participation with us (vicariously) in our experience of hearing, seeing and touching the incarnate Christ (v. 1). Fellowship (Greek koinonia) is the spiritual union of the believer with Christ—as described in the figures of the vine and branches (Jn 15:1–5) and the body and the head (1Co 12:12; Col 1:18)—as well as communion with the Father and with fellow believers.

1:4 our joy complete. John's joy in the Lord could not be complete unless his readers shared the true knowledge of the Christ (see 2Jn 12).

1:5 from him. From Christ. light ... darkness. Light represents what is good, true and holy, while darkness represents what is evil and false (see Jn 3:19–21).

1:6–7 walk in the darkness ... in the light. Two life-styles—one characterized by wickedness and error, the other by holiness and truth.

1:6 we. John and his readers. to have fellowship with him. To be in living, spiritual union with God. walk. A metaphor for living. truth. See note on Jn 1:14.

1:7 sin. A key word in 1 John, occurring 27 times in the Greek.

1:9 faithful and just. Here the phrase is virtually a single concept (faithful-and-just). It indicates that God's response toward those who confess their sins will be in accordance with his nature and his gracious commitment to his people (see Ps 143:1; Zec 8:8). faithful. To his promise to forgive (see Jer 31:34; Mic 7:18–20; Heb 10:22–23). will forgive us. Will provide the forgiveness that restores the communion with God that had been interrupted by sin (as requested in the Lord's Prayer, Mt 6:12).

1:10 we have not sinned. Gnostics denied that their immoral actions were sinful.

2:1 dear children. John, the aged apostle, often used this expression of endearment (vv. 12–13,28; 3:7,18; 4:4; 5:21; the term in 2:18 translates a different Greek word). one who speaks ... in our defense. One Greek word underlies this phrase, which refers to someone who speaks in court in behalf of a defendant (see note on Jn 14:16). Righteous One. In God's court the defender must be, and is, sinless.

2:2 atoning sacrifice for our sins. The NIV text note explains the fuller meaning of the original Greek (see also 4:10). God's holiness demands punishment for man's sin. God, therefore, out of love (4:10; Jn 3:16), sent his Son to make substitutionary atonement for the believer's sin. In this way the Father's wrath is propitiated (satisfied, appeased); his wrath against the Christian's sin has been turned away and directed toward Christ. See note on Ro 3:25. for the sins of the whole world. Forgiveness through Christ's atoning sacrifice is not limited to one particular group only; it has worldwide application (see Jn 1:29). It must, however, be received by faith (see Jn 3:16). Thus this verse does not teach universalism (that all people ultimately will be saved), but that God is an impartial God.

2:3 Forty-two times 1 John uses two Greek verbs normally translated "know." One of these verbs is related to the name of the Gnostics, the heretical sect that claimed to have a special knowledge (Greek gnosis) of God (see Introduction: Gnosticism). obey his commands. Does not mean that only those who never disobey (1:8–9) know God, but simply refers to those whose lives are generally characterized by obedience.

4The man who says, "I know him,"[e] but does not do what he commands is a liar, and the truth is not in him.[f] 5But if anyone obeys his word,[g] God's love[d] is truly made complete in him.[h] This is how we know[i] we are in him: 6Who-ever claims to live in him must walk as Jesus did.[j]

7Dear friends,[k] I am not writing you a new command but an old one, which you have had since the beginning.[l] This old command is the message you have heard. 8Yet I am writing you a new command;[m] its truth is seen in him and you, because the darkness is passing[n] and the true light[o] is already shining.[p]

9Anyone who claims to be in the light but hates his brother[q] is still in the darkness.[r] 10Whoever loves his brother lives in the light,[s] and there is nothing in him[e] to make him stumble.[t] 11But whoever hates his brother[u] is in the darkness and walks around in the darkness;[v] he does not know where he is going, because the darkness has blinded him.[w]

12I write to you, dear children,[x] because your sins have been forgiven on account of his name.[y]
13I write to you, fathers, because you have known him who is from the beginning.[z]
I write to you, young men, because you have overcome[a] the evil one.[b]
I write to you, dear children,[c] because you have known the Father.
14I write to you, fathers, because you have known him who is from the beginning.[d]
I write to you, young men, because you are strong,[e]
and the word of God[f] lives in you,[g]
and you have overcome the evil one.[h]

Do Not Love the World

15Do not love the world or anything in the world.[i] If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him.[j] 16For everything in the world—the cravings of sinful man,[k] the lust of his eyes[l] and the boasting of what he has and does—comes not from the Father but from the world. 17The world and its desires pass away,[m] but the man who does the will of God[n] lives forever.

[d] 5 Or word, love for God [e] 10 Or it

2:5 God's love is truly made complete in him. Means either that God's love for the believer is made complete when it moves the believer to acts of obedience (see 4:12), or that our love for God (see NIV text note) becomes complete when it expresses itself in acts of obedience (see 3:16–18). in him. Spiritual union with God (see Jn 17:21).

2:7–8 new command. See Jn 13:34–35. The Biblical command to love was old (see Lev 19:18; also Mt 22:39–40). But its newness is seen in: (1) the new and dramatic illustration of divine love on the cross; (2) Christ's exposition of the OT law (see Mt 5), which seemed new to Christ's hearers; and (3) the daily experience of believers as they grow in love for each other.

2:7 Dear friends. Like "dear children" (see note on v. 1), a favorite term of John's (used ten times in two letters: here; 3:2,21; 4:1,7,11; 3Jn 1–2,5,11). since the beginning. The beginning of their Christian experience, when they first heard the gospel.

2:8 true light. Used in the NT only here and in Jn 1:9, this phrase refers to the gospel of Jesus Christ, who is the light of the world (Jn 8:12), and to its saving effects in the lives of believers.

2:9–10 hates ... loves. In the Bible hatred and love as moral qualities are not primarily emotions, but attitudes expressed in actions (see 3:15–16).

2:9 light ... darkness. See note on 1:5. brother. Fellow believer.

2:10 stumble. Into sin.

2:12–14 I write to you ... because. By extended repetition in these verses, John assures his readers that, in spite of the rigorous tests contained in the letter, he is confident of their salvation. dear children ... fathers ... young men. As elsewhere in this letter, "dear children" probably refers to all John's readers (see note on v. 1), including fathers and young men. The terms "fathers" and "young men" may, however, describe two different levels of spiritual maturity. Some hold that all three terms refer to levels of spiritual maturity.

2:12 his name. Jesus (see 3:23; 5:13; see also note on Ac 4:12).

2:13–14 him who is from the beginning. Christ (see note on 1:1).

2:15 the world. Not the world of people (Jn 3:16) or the created world (Jn 17:24), but the world, or realm, of sin (v. 16; Jas 4:4), which is controlled by Satan and organized against God and righteousness (see note on Jn 1:9). love of the Father. Love for the Father.

2:18 last hour. With other NT writers, John viewed the whole period beginning with Christ's first coming as the last days (see Ac 2:17; 2Ti 3:1; Heb 1:2; 1Pe 1:20). They understood this to be the "last" of the days because neither former prophecy nor new revelation concerning the history of salvation indicated the coming of another era before the return of Christ. The word "last" in "last days," "last times" and "last hour" also expresses a sense of urgency and imminence. The Christian is to be alert, waiting for the return of Christ (Mt 25:1–13). the antichrist ... many antichrists. John assumed his readers knew that a great enemy of God and his people will arise before Christ's return. That person is called "antichrist" (v. 18), "the man of lawlessness" (2Th 2:3; but see note there) and "the beast" (Rev 13:1–10). But prior to him, there will be many antichrists. These are characterized by the following: (1) They deny the incarnation (4:2; 2Jn 7) and that Jesus is the divine Christ (v. 22); (2) they deny the Father (v. 22); (3) they do not have the Father (v. 23); (4) they are liars (v. 22) and deceivers (2Jn 7); (5) they are many (v. 18); (6) in John's day they left the church because they had nothing and as you have heard that the antichrist is coming,[p] even now many antichrists have come.[q] This is how we know it is the last hour. [19]They went out from us,[r] but they did not really belong to us. For if they had belonged to us, they would have remained with us; but their going showed that none of them belonged to us.[s]

[20]But you have an anointing[t] from the Holy One,[u] and all of you know the truth.[fv] [21]I do not write to you because you do not know the truth, but because you do know it[w] and because no lie comes from the truth. [22]Who is the liar? It is the man who denies that Jesus is the Christ. Such a man is the antichrist—he denies the Father and the Son.[x] [23]No one who denies the Son has the Father; whoever acknowledges the Son has the Father also.[y]

[24]See that what you have heard from the beginning[z] remains in you. If it does, you also will remain in the Son and in the Father.[a] [25]And this is what he promised us—even eternal life.[b]

[26]I am writing these things to you about those who are trying to lead you astray.[c] [27]As for you, the anointing[d] you received from him remains in you, and you do not need anyone to teach you. But as his anointing teaches you about all things[e] and as that anointing is real, not counterfeit—just as it has taught you, remain in him.[f]

Children of God

[28]And now, dear children,[g] continue in him, so that when he appears[h] we may be confident[i] and unashamed before him at his coming.[j]

[29]If you know that he is righteous,[k] you know that everyone who does what is right has been born of him.[l]

3 How great is the love[m] the Father has lavished on us, that we should be called children of God![n] And that is what we are! The reason the world does not know us is that it did not know him.[o] [2]Dear friends,[p] now we are children of God,[q] and what we will be has not yet been made known. But we know that when he appears,[gr] we shall be like him,[s] for we shall see him as he is.[t] [3]Everyone who has this hope in him purifies himself,[u] just as he is pure.[v]

[4]Everyone who sins breaks the law; in fact, sin is lawlessness.[w] [5]But you know that he appeared so that he might take away our sins.[x] And in him is no sin.[y] [6]No one who lives in him keeps on sinning.[z] No one who continues to sin has either seen him[a] or known him.[b]

[7]Dear children,[c] do not let anyone lead you astray.[d] He who does what is right is righteous, just as he is righteous.[e] [8]He who does what is sinful is of the devil,[f] because the devil has been sinning from the beginning. The reason the Son of God[g] appeared was to destroy the devil's work.[h] [9]No one who is in common with believers (v. 19). The antichrists referred to in John's letter were the early Gnostics. The "anti" in antichrist means "against" (cf. 2Th 2:4; Rev 13:6–7).

2:20 anointing. The Holy Spirit (see v. 27; Ac 10:38). Holy One. Either Jesus Christ (Mk 1:24; Jn 6:69; Ac 2:27; 3:14; 22:14) or the Father (2Ki 19:22; Job 6:10).

2:22 Jesus is the Christ. The man Jesus is the divine Christ (see the parallel confession in 5:5; see also Introduction: Gnosticism and note on 5:6).

2:23 See 2Jn 9 for the same thought.

2:26 One of the statements of purpose for the letter (see Introduction: Occasion and Purpose).

2:27 anointing. See note on v. 20. do not need anyone to teach you. Since the Bible constantly advocates teaching (Mt 28:20; 1Co 12:28; Eph 4:11; Col 3:16; 1Ti 4:11; 2Ti 2:2,24), John is not ruling out human teachers. At the time when he wrote, however, Gnostic teachers were insisting that the teaching of the apostles was to be supplemented with the "higher knowledge" that they (the Gnostics) claimed to possess. John's response was that what the readers were taught under the Spirit's ministry through the apostles not only was adequate but was the only reliable truth. teaches you. The teaching ministry of the Holy Spirit (what is commonly called illumination) does not involve revelation of new truth or the explanation of all difficult passages of Scripture to our satisfaction. Rather, it is the development of the capacity to appreciate and appropriate God's truth already revealed—making the Bible meaningful in thought and daily living. all things. All things necessary to know for salvation and Christian living.

2:28 continue in him. See "remains in" (vv. 24,27). confident. See 3:21; 4:17; 5:14.

2:29 he . . . him. God the Father. does what is right. Members of God's family are marked by holy living.

3:1 children of God. See note on Jn 1:12.

3:2 he . . . him. Christ.

3:3 hope. Not a mere wish, but unshakable confidence concerning the future (see note on Ro 5:2). him. Christ. purifies himself. By turning from sin.

3:6 keeps on sinning. John is not asserting sinless perfection (see 1:8–10; 2:1), but explaining that the believer's life is characterized not by sin but by doing what is right.

3:8 devil. In this short letter John says much about the devil: 1. He is called "the devil" (here) and "the evil one" (v. 12; 2:13–14; 5:18–19). 2. He "has been sinning from the beginning" (here), i.e., from the time he first rebelled against God, before the fall of Adam and Eve (Jn 8:44). 3. He is the instigator of human sin, and those who continue to sin belong to him (vv. 8,12) and are his children (v. 10). 4. He is in the world (4:3) and has "the whole world" of unbelievers under his control (5:19). 5. But he cannot lay hold of the believer to harm him (5:18). 6. On the contrary, the Christian will overcome him (2:13–14; 4:4), and Christ will destroy his work.

3:9 God's seed. The picture is of human reproduction, in which the sperm (the Greek for "seed" is sperma) bears the life principle and transfers the paternal characteristics.

born of God[i] will continue to sin,[j] because God's seed[k] remains in him; he cannot go on sinning, because he has been born of God. [10]This is how we know who the children of God[l] are and who the children of the devil[m] are: Anyone who does not do what is right is not a child of God; nor is anyone who does not love[n] his brother.[o]

Love One Another

[11]This is the message you heard[p] from the beginning:[q] We should love one another.[r] [12]Do not be like Cain, who belonged to the evil one[s] and murdered his brother.[t] And why did he murder him? Because his own actions were evil and his brother's were righteous.[u] [13]Do not be surprised, my brothers, if the world hates you.[v] [14]We know that we have passed from death to life,[w] because we love our brothers. Anyone who does not love remains in death.[x] [15]Anyone who hates his brother[y] is a murderer,[z] and you know that no murderer has eternal life in him.[a]

[16]This is how we know what love is: Jesus Christ laid down his life for us.[b] And we ought to lay down our lives for our brothers.[c] [17]If anyone has material possessions and sees his brother in need but has no pity on him,[d] how can the love of God be in him?[e] [18]Dear children,[f] let us not love with words or tongue but with actions and in truth.[g] [19]This then is how we know that we belong to the truth, and how we set our hearts at rest in his presence [20]whenever our hearts condemn us. For God is greater than our hearts, and he knows everything.

[21]Dear friends,[h] if our hearts do not condemn us, we have confidence before God[i] [22]and receive from him anything we ask,[j] because we obey his commands[k] and do what pleases him.[l] [23]And this is his command: to believe[m] in the name of his Son, Jesus Christ,[n] and to love one another as he commanded us.[o] [24]Those who obey his commands[p] live in him,[q] and he in them. And this is how we know that he lives in us: We know it by the Spirit he gave us.[r]

Test the Spirits

4 Dear friends,[s] do not believe every spirit,[t] but test the spirits to see whether they are from God, because many false prophets have gone out into the world.[u] [2]This is how you can recognize the Spirit of God: Every spirit that acknowledges that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh[v] is from God,[w] [3]but every spirit that does not acknowledge Jesus is not from God. This is the spirit of the antichrist,[x] which you have heard is coming and even now is already in the world.[y]

[4]You, dear children,[z] are from God and have overcome them,[a] because the one who is in you[b] is greater than the one who is in the world.[c] [5]They are from the world[d] and therefore speak from the viewpoint of the world, and the world listens to them. [6]We are from God, and whoever knows God listens to us; but whoever is not from God does not listen to us.[e] This is how we recognize the Spirit[h] of truth[f] and the spirit of falsehood.[g]

[h]6 Or spirit

cannot go on sinning. Not a complete cessation of sin, but a life that is not characterized by sin.

3:11 from the beginning. See note on 2:7.

3:12 Cain. See Heb 11:4.

3:14 brothers. Fellow believers.

3:15 hates. See note on 2:9–10.

3:17–18 See Jas 2:14–17.

3:17 love of God. God's kind of love, which he pours out in the believer's heart (Ro 5:5) and which in turn enables the Christian to love fellow believers. Or it may speak of the believer's love for God.

3:20 God is greater than our hearts. An oversensitive conscience can be quieted by the knowledge that God himself has declared active love to be an evidence of salvation. He knows the hearts of all—whether, in spite of shortcomings, they have been born of him.

3:23 This command has two parts: (1) Believe in Christ (see Jn 6:29), and (2) love each other (see Jn 13:34–35). The first part is developed in 4:1–6 and the second part in 4:7–12.

4:1 spirit. A person moved by a spirit, whether by the Holy Spirit or an evil one. test the spirits. Cf. 1Th 5:21. (Mt 7:1 does not refer to such testing or judgment; it speaks of self-righteous moral judgment of others.) false prophets. A true prophet speaks from God, being "carried along" by the Holy Spirit (2Pe 1:21). False prophets, such as the Gnostics of John's day, speak under the influence of spirits alienated from God. Christ warned against false prophets (Mt 7:15; 24:11), as did Paul (1Ti 4:1) and Peter (2Pe 2:1).

4:2 acknowledges. Not only knows intellectually—for demons know, and shudder (Jas 2:19; cf. Mk 1:24)—but also confesses publicly. Jesus Christ has come in the flesh. See note on 1:1. Thus John excludes the Gnostics, especially the Cerinthians, who taught that the divine Christ came upon the human Jesus at his baptism and then left him at the cross, so that it was only the man Jesus who died.

4:3 does not acknowledge Jesus. The incarnate Jesus Christ of 1:2 (see note on 2:18).

4:4 from God. An abbreviated form of the expression "born of God" (2:29; 3:9–10). them. The false prophets (v. 1), who were inspired by the spirit of the antichrist (v. 3). the one who is in the world. The devil (Jn 12:31; 16:11). In v. 3 "world" means the inhabited earth; in vv. 4–5 it means the community, or system, of those not born of God—including the antichrists (see note on Jn 1:9).

4:6 Spirit of truth. Cf. 5:6; see note on Jn 14:17.

God's Love and Ours

7Dear friends, let us love one another,[h] for love comes from God. Everyone who loves has been born of God[i] and knows God.[j] 8Whoever does not love does not know God, because God is love.[k] 9This is how God showed his love among us: He sent his one and only Son[l] into the world that we might live through him.[m] 10This is love: not that we loved God, but that he loved us[n] and sent his Son as an atoning sacrifice for[j] our sins.[o] 11Dear friends,[p] since God so loved us,[q] we also ought to love one another.[r] 12No one has ever seen God;[s] but if we love one another, God lives in us and his love is made complete in us.[t]

13We know[u] that we live in him and he in us, because he has given us of his Spirit.[v] 14And we have seen and testify[w] that the Father has sent his Son to be the Savior of the world.[x] 15If anyone acknowledges that Jesus is the Son of God,[y] God lives in him and he in God.[z] 16And so we know and rely on the love God has for us.

God is love.[a] Whoever lives in love lives in God, and God in him.[b] 17In this way, love is made complete[c] among us so that we will have confidence[d] on the day of judgment,[e] because in this world we are like him. 18There is no fear in love. But perfect love drives out fear,[f] because fear has to do with punishment. The one who fears is not made perfect in love.

19We love because he first loved us.[g] 20If anyone says, "I love God," yet hates his brother,[h] he is a liar.[i] For anyone who does not love his brother, whom he has seen,[j] cannot love God, whom he has not seen.[k] 21And he has given us this command:[l] Whoever loves God must also love his brother.[m]

Faith in the Son of God

5 Everyone who believes[n] that Jesus is the Christ[o] is born of God,[p] and everyone who loves the father loves his child as well.[q] 2This is how we know[r] that we love the children of God:[s] by loving God and carrying out his commands. 3This is love for God: to obey his commands.[t] And his commands are not burdensome,[u] 4for everyone born of God[v] overcomes[w] the world. This is the victory that has overcome the world, even our faith. 5Who is it that overcomes the world? Only he who believes that Jesus is the Son of God.[x]

[j]9 Or his only begotten Son [j]10 Or as the one who would turn aside his wrath, taking away

4:7–5:3 The word "love" in its various forms is used 43 times in the letter, 32 times in this short section.

4:8 does not know God. Only those who are to some degree like him truly know him. God is love. In his essential nature and in all his actions, God is loving. John similarly affirms that God is spirit (Jn 4:24) and light (1:5), as well as holy, powerful, faithful, true and just.

4:9 one and only Son. See note on Jn 1:18.

4:10 atoning sacrifice for our sins. See note on 2:2.

4:12 No one has ever seen God. See note on Jn 1:18. Since our love has its source in God's love, his love reaches full expression (is made complete) when we love fellow Christians. Thus the God whom "no one has ever seen" is seen in those who love, because God lives in them.

4:16 God is love. See note on v. 8.

4:17 like him. Like Christ. The fact that we are like Christ in love is a sign that God, who is love, lives in us; therefore we may have confidence on the day of judgment that we are saved.

4:18 no fear in love. There is no fear of God's judgment because genuine love confirms salvation.

4:19 All love comes ultimately from God; genuine love is never self-generated by his creatures.

4:21 this command. See Jn 13:34.

5:1 Everyone who believes that Jesus is the Christ is born of God. Faith in Jesus as the Christ is a sign of being born again, just as love is (4:7). the Christ. See note on 2:22. everyone who loves the father loves his child as well. John wrote at a time when members of a family were closely associated as a unit under the headship of the father. He could therefore use the family as an illustration to show that anyone who loves God the Father will naturally love God's children.

5:3 his commands are not burdensome. Not because the commands themselves are light or easy to obey but, as John explains in v. 4, because of the new birth. The one born of God by faith is enabled by the Holy Spirit to obey.

5:4 overcomes . . . has overcome. To overcome the world is to gain victory over its sinful pattern of life, which is another way of describing obedience to God (v. 3). Such obedience is not impossible for the believer because he has been born again and the Holy Spirit dwells within him and gives him strength. John speaks of two aspects of victory: (1) the initial victory of turning in faith from the world to God ("has overcome"); (2) the continuing day-by-day victory of Christian living ("overcomes"). world. See note on 2:15.

5:5 Son of God. For parallel confessions see 2:22; 4:2; 5:1.

5:6 Water symbolizes Jesus' baptism, and blood symbolizes his death. These are mentioned because Jesus' ministry began at his baptism and ended at his death. John is reacting to the heretics of his day (see Introduction: Gnosticism) who said that Jesus was born only a man and remained so until his baptism. At that time, they maintained, the Christ (the Son of God) descended on the human Jesus, but left him before his suffering on the cross—so that it was only the man Jesus who died. Throughout this letter John has been insisting that Jesus Christ is God as well as man (1:1–4; 4:2; 5:5). He now asserts that it was this God-man Jesus Christ who came into our world, was baptized and died. Jesus was the Son of God not only at his baptism but also at his death (v. 6b). This truth is extremely important, because, if Jesus died only as a man, his sacrificial atonement (2:2; 4:10) would not have been sufficient to take away the guilt of man's sin. the Spirit who testifies. The Holy Spirit testifies that Jesus is the Son of and blood[y]—Jesus Christ. He did not come by water only, but by water and blood. And it is the Spirit who testifies, because the Spirit is the truth.[z] 7For there are three[a] that testify: 8the[k] Spirit, the water and the blood; and the three are in agreement. 9We accept man's testimony,[b] but God's testimony is greater because it is the testimony of God,[c] which he has given about his Son. 10Anyone who believes in the Son of God has this testimony in his heart.[d] Anyone who does not believe God has made him out to be a liar,[e] because he has not believed the testimony God has given about his Son. 11And this is the testimony: God has given us eternal life,[f] and this life is in his Son.[g] 12He who has the Son has life; he who does not have the Son of God does not have life.[h]

Concluding Remarks

13I write these things to you who believe in the name of the Son of God[i] so that you may know that you have eternal life.[j] 14This is the confidence[k] we have in approaching God: that if we ask anything according to his will, he hears us.[l] 15And if we know that he hears us—whatever we ask—we know[m] that we have what we asked of him.[n]

16If anyone sees his brother commit a sin that does not lead to death, he should pray and God will give him life.[o] I refer to those whose sin does not lead to death. There is a sin that leads to death.[p] I am not saying that he should pray about that.[q] 17All wrongdoing is sin,[r] and there is sin that does not lead to death.[s]

18We know that anyone born of God[t] does not continue to sin; the one who was born of God keeps him safe, and the evil one[u] cannot harm him.[v] 19We know that we are children of God,[w] and that the whole world is under the control of the evil one.[x] 20We know also that the Son of God has come[y] and has given us understanding,[z] so that we may know him who is true.[a] And we are in him who is true—even in his Son Jesus Christ. God in two ways: (1) The Spirit descended on Jesus at his baptism (Jn 1:32–34), and (2) he continues to confirm in the hearts of believers the apostolic testimony that Jesus' baptism and death verify that he is the Christ, the Son of God (2:27; 1Co 12:3).

5:7 three. The OT law required "two or three witnesses" (Dt 17:6; 19:15; see 1Ti 5:19). At the end of this verse, some older English versions add the words found in the NIV text note. But the addition is not found in any Greek manuscript or NT translation prior to the 16th century.

5:9 God's testimony. The Holy Spirit's testimony, mentioned in vv. 6–8.

5:11 has given us eternal life. As a present possession (see notes on Jn 3:15,36).

5:13 Another statement of the letter's purpose (see 2:26). See Introduction: Occasion and Purpose.

5:14 if we ask anything according to his will. For another condition for prayer see 3:21–22.

5:16 Verses 16–17 illustrate the kind of petition we can be sure God will answer (see vv. 14–15). sin that leads to death. In the context of this letter directed against Gnostic teaching, which denied the incarnation and threw off all moral restraints, it is probable that the "sin that leads to death" refers to the Gnostics' adamant and persistent denial of the truth and to their shameless immorality. This kind of unrepentant sin leads to spiritual death. Another view is that this is sin that results in physical death. It is held that, because a believer continues to sin, God in judgment takes his life (cf. 1Co 11:30). In either case, "sin that does not lead to death" is of a less serious nature.

5:18–20 We know. The letter ends with three striking statements, affirming the truths that "we know" and summarizing some of the letter's major themes.

5:18 the one who was born of God. Jesus, the Son of God.

5:20 him who is true. God the Father. He is the true God. Could refer to either God the Father or God the Son. eternal life. The letter began with this theme (1:1–2) and now ends with it.

5:21 idols. False gods, as opposed to the one true God (v. 20).

2 John

Author

The author is John the apostle. Obvious similarities to 1 John and the Gospel of John suggest that the same person wrote all three books. Compare the following:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 2Jn 5 | 1Jn 2:7 | Jn 13:34–35 |
| 2Jn 6 | 1Jn 5:3 | Jn 14:23 |
| 2Jn 7 | 1Jn 4:2–3 | |
| 2Jn 12 | 1Jn 1:4 | Jn 15:11; 16:24 |

See Introductions to 1 John and the Gospel of John: Author.

Date

The letter was probably written about the same time as 1 John (A.D. 85–95), as the above comparisons suggest (see Introduction to 1 John: Date).

Occasion and Purpose

During the first two centuries the gospel was taken from place to place by traveling evangelists and teachers. Believers customarily took these missionaries into their homes and gave them provisions for their journey when they left. Since Gnostic teachers also relied on this practice (see note on 3Jn 5), 2 John was written to urge discernment in supporting traveling teachers; otherwise, someone might unintentionally contribute to the propagation of heresy rather than truth.

[1]The elder,[a]

To the chosen[b] lady and her children, whom I love in the truth[c]—and not I only, but also all who know the truth[d]— [2]because of the truth,[e] which lives in us[f] and will be with us forever:

[3]Grace, mercy and peace from God the Father and from Jesus Christ,[g] the Father's Son, will be with us in truth and love.

[4]It has given me great joy to find some of your children walking in the truth,[h] just as the Father commanded us. [5]And now, dear lady, I am not writing you a new command but one we have had from the beginning.[i] I ask that we love one another. [6]And this is love:[j] that we walk in obedience to his commands.[k] As you have heard from the beginning,[l] his command is that you walk in love.

[7]Many deceivers, who do not acknowledge Jesus Christ[m] as coming in the flesh,[n] have gone out into the world.[o] Any such person is the deceiver and the antichrist.[p] [8]Watch out that you do not lose what you have worked for, but that you may be rewarded fully.[q] [9]Anyone who runs ahead and does not continue in the teaching of Christ[r] does not have God; whoever continues in the teaching has both the Father and the Son.[s] [10]If anyone comes to you and does not bring this teaching, do not take him into your house or welcome him.[t] [11]Anyone who welcomes him shares[u] in his wicked work.

[12]I have much to write to you, but I do not want to use paper and ink. Instead, I hope to visit you and talk with you face to face,[v] so that our joy may be complete.[w]

[13]The children of your chosen[x] sister send their greetings.

1 elder. See note on 1Ti 3:1. In his later years, John functioned as an elder, perhaps of the Ephesian church. The apostle Peter held a similar position (1Pe 5:1). chosen lady. Either an unknown Christian woman in the province of Asia or a figurative designation of a local church there. her children. Children of that Christian lady or members of that local church. truth. See note on Jn 1:14.

3 Grace . . . peace. See notes on Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2. mercy. See note on Ro 9:23.

5 new command. See note on 1Jn 2:7.

6 from the beginning. See note on 1Jn 2:7.

7–11 This section deals with the basic Gnostic heresy attacked in 1 John, namely, that the Son of God did not become flesh (Jn 1:14), but that he temporarily came upon the man Jesus between his baptism and crucifixion (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism).

7 Jesus Christ as coming in the flesh. See 1Jn 4:2–3 and note. antichrist. See note on 1Jn 2:18.

8 worked for . . . rewarded. Work faithfully accomplished on earth brings future reward (see Mk 9:41; 10:29–30; Lk 19:16–19; Heb 11:26).

9 runs ahead. A reference to the Gnostics, who believed that they had advanced beyond the teaching of the apostles. teaching of Christ. The similarity of this letter to 1 John, the nature of the heresy combated, and the immediate context suggest that John is not referring to teaching given by Christ, but to true teaching about Christ as the incarnate God-man.

10 take him into your house. A reference to the housing and feeding of traveling teachers (see Introduction: Occasion and Purpose). The instruction does not prohibit greeting or even inviting a person into one's home for conversation. John was warning against providing food and shelter, since this would be an investment in the "wicked work" of false teachers and would give public approval (see v. 11).

12 paper and ink. Paper was made from papyrus reeds, which were readily available and cheap. The ink (the Greek for this word comes from a word that means "black") was made by mixing carbon, water and gum or oil. that our joy may be complete. See 1Jn 1:4.

13 chosen sister. May be taken literally to designate another Christian woman or figuratively to refer to another local church (see note on v. 1).

3 John

Author

The author is John the apostle. In the first verses of both 2 John and 3 John the author identifies himself as "the elder." Note other similarities: "love in the truth" (v. 1 of both letters), "walking in the truth" (v. 4 of both letters) and the similar conclusions. See Introductions to 1 John and the Gospel of John: Author.

Date

The letter was probably written about the same time as 1 and 2 John (A.D. 85–95). See Introduction to 1 John: Date.

Occasion and Purpose

See Introduction to 2 John: Occasion and Purpose. Itinerant teachers sent out by John were rejected in one of the churches in the province of Asia by a dictatorial leader, Diotrephes, who even excommunicated members who showed hospitality to John's messengers. John wrote this letter to commend Gaius for supporting the teachers and, indirectly, to warn Diotrephes.

[1]The elder,[a]

To my dear friend Gaius, whom I love in the truth.

[2]Dear friend, I pray that you may enjoy good health and that all may go well with you, even as your soul is getting along well. [3]It gave me great joy to have some brothers[b] come and tell about your faithfulness to the truth and how you continue to walk in the truth.[c] [4]I have no greater joy than to hear that my children[d] are walking in the truth.[e]

[5]Dear friend, you are faithful in what you are doing for the brothers,[f] even though they are strangers to you.[g] [6]They have told the church about your love. You will do well to send them on their way[h] in a manner worthy[i] of God. [7]It was for the sake of the Name[j] that they went out, receiving no help from the pagans.[k] [8]We ought therefore to show hospitality to such men so that we may work together for the truth.

[9]I wrote to the church, but Diotrephes, who loves to be first, will have nothing to do with us. [10]So if I come,[l] I will call attention to what he is doing, gossiping maliciously about us. Not satisfied with that, he refuses to welcome the brothers.[m] He also stops those who want to do so and puts them out of the church.[n]

[11]Dear friend, do not imitate what is evil but what is good.[o] Anyone who does what is good is from God.[p] Anyone who does what is evil has not seen God.[q] [12]Demetrius is well spoken of by everyone[r]—and even by the truth itself. We also speak well of him, and you know that our testimony is true.[s]

[13]I have much to write you, but I do not want to do so with pen and ink. [14]I hope to see you soon, and we will talk face to face.[t]

Peace to you.[u] The friends here send their greetings. Greet the friends there by name.[v]

1 The elder. See note on 2Jn 1. dear friend. A favorite term of John (see note on 1Jn 2:7). Gaius. A Christian in one of the churches of the province of Asia. Gaius was a common Roman name. truth. See note on Jn 1:14.

4 my children. Perhaps John's converts, or believers currently under his spiritual guidance.

5 doing for the brothers. The early church provided hospitality and support for missionaries. See Introduction to 2 John: Occasion and Purpose; see also note on 2Jn 10.

7 Name. See note on Ac 4:12. Today Orthodox Jews often address God by the title Ha-Shem ("The Name").

9 I wrote. There may have been a previous letter of the apostle that is now lost. church. Some identify this church with the chosen lady of 2Jn 1. Diotrephes. A church leader who was exercising dictatorial power in the church. He must have had considerable influence since he was able to exclude people from the church fellowship (v. 10).

11 does what is good. The continual practice of good, not merely doing occasional good deeds.

13–14 See 2Jn 12–13 for a similar conclusion.

14 Peace to you. Not a prayer or wish but a benedictory pronouncement (see notes on Jn 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2).

Jude

Author

The author identifies himself as Jude (v. 1), which is another form of the Hebrew name Judah (Greek "Judas"), a common name among the Jews. Of those so named in the NT, the ones most likely to be author of this letter are: (1) Judas the apostle (Lk 6:16; Ac 1:13)—not Judas Iscariot—and (2) Judas the brother of the Lord (Mt 13:55; Mk 6:3). The latter is more likely. For example, the author does not claim to be an apostle and even seems to separate himself from the apostles (see v. 17). Furthermore, he describes himself as a "brother of James" (v. 1). Ordinarily a person in Jude's day would describe himself as someone's son rather than as someone's brother. The reason for the exception here may have been James's prominence in the church at Jerusalem (see Introduction to James: Author).

Although neither Jude nor James describes himself as a brother of the Lord, others did not hesitate to speak of them in this way (see Mt 13:55; Jn 7:3–10; Ac 1:14; 1Co 9:5; Gal 1:19). Apparently they themselves did not ask to be heard because of the special privilege they had as members of the household of Joseph and Mary.

Possible references to the letter of Jude or quotations from it are found at a very early date: e.g., in Clement of Rome (c. A.D. 96). Clement of Alexandria (155–215), Tertullian (150–222) and Origen (185–253) accepted it; it was included in the Muratorian Canon (c. 170) and was accepted by Athanasius (298–373) and by the Council of Carthage (397). Eusebius (265–340) listed the letter among the questioned books, though he recognized that many considered it as from Jude.

According to Jerome and Didymus, some did not accept the letter as canonical because of its use of uninspired literature (see notes on vv. 9,14). But sound judgment has recognized that an inspired author may legitimately make use of uninspired literature—whether for illustrative purposes or for appropriation of historically reliable or otherwise acceptable material—and such use does not necessarily endorse that literature as inspired. Under the influence of the Spirit, the church came to the conviction that the authority of God stands behind the letter of Jude. The fact that the letter was questioned and tested but nonetheless was finally accepted by the churches indicates the strength of its claims to authenticity.

Date

There is nothing in the letter that requires a date beyond the lifetime of Jude the brother of the Lord. The error the author is combating, like that in 2 Peter, is not the heretical teaching of the second century, but that which could and did develop at an early date (cf. Ac 20:29–30; Ro 6:1; 1Co 5:1–11; 2Co 12:21; Gal 5:13; Eph 5:3–17; 1Th 4:6). (See also Introduction to 2 Peter: Date.) There is, moreover, nothing in the letter that requires a date after the time of the apostles, as some have argued. It may even be that Jude's readers had heard some of the apostles speak (see vv. 17–18). Likewise, the use of the word "faith" in the objective sense of the body of truth believed (v. 3) does not require a late dating of the letter. It was used in such a sense as early as Gal 1:23.

The question of the relationship between Jude and 2 Peter has a bearing on the date of Jude. If 2 Peter makes use of Jude—a commonly accepted view (see Introduction to 2 Peter: 2 Peter and Jude)—then Jude is to be dated prior to 2 Peter, probably c. A.D. 65. Otherwise, a date as late as c. 80 would be possible.

Recipients

The description of those to whom Jude addressed his letter is very general (see v. 1). It could apply to Jewish Christians, Gentile Christians, or both. Their location is not indicated. It should not be assumed that, since 2Pe 2 and Jude 4–18 appear to describe similar situations, they were both written to the same people. The kind of heresy depicted in these two passages was widespread (see Date).

Occasion and Purpose

Although Jude was very eager to write to his readers about salvation, he felt that he must instead warn them about certain immoral men circulating among them who were perverting the grace of God (v. 4). Apparently these false teachers were trying to convince believers that being saved by grace gave them license to sin since their sins would no longer be held against them. Jude thought it imperative that his readers be on guard against such men and be prepared to oppose their perverted teaching with the truth about God's saving grace.

It has generally been assumed that these false teachers were Gnostics. Although this identification is no doubt correct, they must have been forerunners of fully developed, second-century Gnosticism (see Introduction to 2 Peter: Date).

[1]Jude,[a] a servant of Jesus Christ[b] and a brother of James,

[2]Mercy, peace[e] and love be yours in abundance.[f]

The Sin and Doom of Godless Men

[3]Dear friends,[g] although I was very eager to write to you about the salvation we share,[h] I felt I had to write and urge you to contend[i] for the faith[j] that was once for all entrusted to the saints.[k] [4]For certain men whose condemnation was written about[b] long ago have secretly slipped in among you.[l] They are godless men, who change the grace of our God into a license for immorality and deny Jesus Christ our only Sovereign and Lord.[m]

[5]Though you already know all this,[n] I want to remind you[o] that the Lord[c] delivered his people out of Egypt, but later destroyed those who did not believe.[p] [6]And the angels who did not keep their positions of authority but abandoned their own home—these he has kept in darkness, bound with everlasting chains for judgment on the great Day.[q] [7]In a similar way, Sodom and Gomorrah[r] and the surrounding towns[s] gave themselves up to sexual immorality and perversion. They serve as an example of those who suffer the punishment of eternal fire.[t]

[8]In the very same way, these dreamers pollute their own bodies, reject authority and slander celestial beings.[u] [9]But even the archangel[v] Michael,[w] when he was disputing with the devil about the body of Moses,[x] did not dare to bring a slanderous accusation against him, but said, "The Lord rebuke you!"[y] [10]Yet these

[a]1 Or for; or in [b]4 Or men who were marked out for condemnation [c]5 Some early manuscripts Jesus

1 servant. See note on Ro 1:1. brother of James. See Introduction: Author. called. See note on Ro 8:28. loved by God. See Jn 3:16; Ro 8:28–39. kept by Jesus Christ. He who holds the whole universe together (see Col 1:17; Heb 1:3) will see that God's children are kept in the faith and that they reach their eternal inheritance (see Jn 6:37–40; 17:11–12; 1Pe 1:3–5).

2 peace. The profound well-being of soul that flows from the experience of God's grace (see notes on Jn 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2).

3 Dear friends. See vv. 17,20; see also note on 2Pe 3:1. the salvation we share. Jude's original intention was to write a general treatment of the doctrine of salvation, probably dealing with such subjects as man's sin and guilt, God's love and grace, the forgiveness of sins and the changed life-style that follows new birth. the faith. Here used of the body of truth held by believers everywhere—the gospel and all its implications (see Introduction: Date; see also 1Ti 4:6). This truth was under attack and had to be defended. once for all entrusted. The truth has finality and is not subject to change.

4 For. Introduces the reason Jude felt impelled to change the subject of his letter (see Introduction: Occasion and Purpose). whose condemnation was written about. The reference may be to OT denunciations of ungodly men or to Enoch's prophecy (vv. 14–15). Or Jude may mean that judgment has long been about to fall on them because of their sin (see NIV text note and 2Pe 2:3, which may be a clarification of this clause here). godless men. See vv. 15,18. change the grace of our God into a license for immorality. They assume that salvation by grace gives them the right to sin without restraint, either because God in his grace will freely forgive all their sins, or because sin, by contrast, magnifies the grace of God (cf. Ro 5:20; 6:1). deny . . . our only Sovereign and Lord. The Greek term translated "Sovereign" describes power without limit, or absolute domination. The Greek construction indicates that both "Sovereign" and "Lord" refer to the same person, and this verse, as well as the parallel passage (2 Pe 2:1), clearly states that that person is Christ.

5–7 Three examples of divine judgment.

5 destroyed those who did not believe. They did not believe that God would give them the land of Canaan; consequently all unbelieving adults died in the desert without entering the promised land.

6 angels. See note on 2Pe 2:4. positions of authority. See note on 2Pe 2:4. God had assigned differing areas of responsibility and authority to each of the angels (see Da 10:20–21, where the various princes may be angels assigned to various nations). Some of these angels refused to maintain their assignments and thus became the devil and his angels (cf. Mt 25:41). their own home. Angels apparently were assigned specific locations as well as responsibilities. Some assume that they left the heavenly realm and came to earth (see note on 2Pe 2:4). kept . . . bound . . . for judgment. See note on 2Pe 2:4. the great Day. The final judgment.

7 In a similar way. Does not mean that the sin of Sodom and Gomorrah was the same as that of the angels or vice versa. This phrase is used to introduce the third illustration of the fact that God will see to it that the unrighteous will be consigned to eternal punishment on judgment day. sexual immorality and perversion. More specifically, homosexuality (see Ge 19:5 and note; see also note on 2Pe 2:10). serve as an example of . . . punishment of eternal fire. God destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah by pouring out "burning sulfur" (Ge 19:24)—a foretaste of the eternal fire that is to come.

8 dreamers. The godless men were called "dreamers" either (1) because they claimed to receive revelations or, more likely, (2) because in their passion they were out of touch with truth and reality. pollute their own bodies. Probably a reference to the homosexuality in Sodom and Gomorrah (see vv. 4,7; 1Co 6:18). reject authority. See note on 2Pe 2:10. slander celestial beings. See note on 2Pe 2:10.

9 According to several church fathers, this verse is based on a work called The Assumption of Moses. Other NT quotations from, or allusions to, non-Biblical works include Paul's quotations of Aratus (Ac 17:28), Menander (1Co 15:33) and Epimenides (Tit 1:12). Such usage in no way suggests that the quotations, or the books from which they were taken, are divinely inspired. It only means that the Biblical author found the quotations to be a helpful confirmation, clarification or illustration.

10 whatever they do not understand. See note on 2Pe 2:12; cf. 1Co 2:14. like unreasoning animals. See note on 2Pe 2:12.

men speak abusively against whatever they do not understand; and what things they do understand by instinct, like unreasoning animals—these are the very things that destroy them.[z]

[11]Woe to them! They have taken the way of Cain;[a] they have rushed for profit into Balaam's error;[b] they have been destroyed in Korah's rebellion.[c]

[12]These men are blemishes at your love feasts,[d] eating with you without the slightest qualm—shepherds who feed only themselves.[e] They are clouds without rain,[f] blown along by the wind;[g] autumn trees, without fruit and uprooted[h]—twice dead. [13]They are wild waves of the sea,[i] foaming up their shame;[j] wandering stars, for whom blackest darkness has been reserved forever.[k]

[14]Enoch,[l] the seventh from Adam, prophesied about these men: "See, the Lord is coming[m] with thousands upon thousands of his holy ones[n] [15]to judge[o] everyone, and to convict all the ungodly of all the ungodly acts they have done in the ungodly way, and of all the harsh words ungodly sinners have spoken against him."[p] [16]These men are grumblers[q] and faultfinders; they follow their own evil desires;[r] they boast[s] about themselves and flatter others for their own advantage.

A Call to Persevere

[17]But, dear friends, remember what the apostles[t] of our Lord Jesus Christ foretold.[u] [18]They said to you, "In the last times[v] there will be scoffers who will follow their own ungodly desires."[w] [19]These are the men who divide you, who follow mere natural instincts and do not have the Spirit.[x]

[20]But you, dear friends, build yourselves up[y] in your most holy faith[z] and pray in the Holy Spirit.[a] [21]Keep yourselves in God's love as you wait[b] for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ to bring you to eternal life.[c]

[22]Be merciful to those who doubt; [23]snatch others from the fire and save

11 Three OT examples of the kind of persons Jude warns his readers about. Woe to them! A warning that judgment is coming (see Mt 23:13,15–16,23,25,27,29). way of Cain. The way of selfishness and greed (see note on Ge 4:3–4) and the way of hatred and murder (see 1Jn 3:12). Balaam's error. The error of consuming greed (see note on 2Pe 2:15). Korah's rebellion. Korah rose up against God's appointed leadership (see Nu 16). Jude may be suggesting that the false teachers of his day were rebelling against church leadership (cf. 3Jn 9–10).

12–13 These verses contain six graphic metaphors: 1. blemishes at your love feasts. See note on 2Pe 2:13. 2. shepherds who feed only themselves. Instead of feeding the sheep for whom they are responsible (see Eze 34:8–10). 3. clouds without rain. Like clouds promising moisture for the parched land, the false teachers promise soul-satisfying truth, but in reality they have nothing to offer. 4. autumn trees, without fruit and uprooted—twice dead. Though the trees ought to be heavy with fruit. 5. wild waves of the sea. As wind-tossed waves constantly churn up rubbish, so these apostates continually stir up moral filth (see Isa 57:20). 6. wandering stars. As shooting stars appear in the sky only to fly off into eternal oblivion, so these false teachers are destined for the darkness of eternal hell.

14 Enoch, the seventh from Adam. Not the Enoch in the line of Cain (Ge 4:17) but the one in the line of Seth (Ge 5:18–24; 1Ch 1:1–3). He was seventh if Adam is counted as the first. The quotation is from the book of Enoch, which purports to have been written by the Enoch of Ge 5, but actually did not appear until the first century B.C. The book of Enoch was a well-respected writing in NT times. That it was not canonical does not mean that it contained no truth; nor does Jude's quotation of the book mean that he considered it inspired (see Introduction: Author; see also note on v. 9). prophesied. Not in the sense of supernaturally revealing new truth, but merely in the sense of speaking things about the future that were already known (see Da 7:9–14; Zec 14:1–5). the Lord is coming. Jude uses the quotation to refer to Christ's second coming and to his judgment of the wicked (see 2Th 1:6–10). holy ones. Probably angels (see Da 4:13–17; 2Th 1:7). However, some think they are raptured saints who are returning with the Lord (see 1Th 3:13).

15 ungodly ... ungodly ... ungodly ... ungodly. This thunderous repetition and the awesome judgment scene that is depicted emphasize the condemnation of the false teachers in v. 4.

16 These men. The ungodly men first mentioned in v. 4 and subsequently referred to repeatedly as "these men" (vv. 10,12,14,19; cf. v. 8). They are the libertine false teachers who pervert the grace of God.

17 remember what the apostles ... foretold. The coming of these godless men should not take believers by surprise, for it had been predicted by the apostles (Ac 20:29; 1Ti 4:1; 2Ti 3:1–5).

18 They said. The Greek for this phrase indicates that the apostles continually or repeatedly warned that such godless apostates would come. last times. See note on 2Pe 3:3. scoffers. In both 2Pe 3:3 and Jude the scoffers are said to be characterized by selfish lusts ("desires").

19 men who divide you. At the very least this phrase means that they were divisive, creating factions in the church—the usual practice of heretics. Or Jude may refer to the later Gnostics' division of men into the spiritual (the Gnostics) and the sensual (those for whom there is no hope). follow mere natural instincts. An ironic description of the false teachers, who labeled others as "sensual." not have the Spirit. Rather than being the spiritual ones—the privileged elite class the Gnostics claimed to be—Jude denies that they even possess the Spirit. A person who does not have the Spirit is clearly not saved (see Ro 8:9).

20 But you, dear friends. In contrast to the ungodly false teachers, about whom this letter speaks at length. most holy faith. See note on v. 3. in the Holy Spirit. According to the Spirit's promptings and with the power of the Spirit (see Ro 8:26–27; Gal 4:6; Eph 6:18).

21 Keep yourselves in God's love. God keeps believers in his love (see Ro 8:35–39), and enables them to keep themselves in his love.

22–23 those who doubt ... others. Perhaps those who have come under the influence of the apostates.

23 snatch others from the fire. Rescuing them from the verge of destruction. mercy, mixed with fear. Even in them;[d] to others show mercy, mixed with fear—hating even the clothing stained by corrupted flesh.[e]

Doxology

[24]To him who is able[f] to keep you from falling and to present you before his glorious presence[g] without fault[h] and with great joy— [25]to the only God[i] our Savior be glory, majesty, power and authority, through Jesus Christ our Lord, before all ages, now and forevermore![j] Amen.[k] showing mercy one may be trapped by the allurement of sin. clothing stained by corrupted flesh. The wicked are pictured as so corrupt that even their garments are polluted by their sinful nature.

24–25 After all the attention necessarily given in this letter to the ungodly and their works of darkness, Jude concludes his letter by focusing attention on God, who is fully able to keep those who put their trust in him.

Revelation

Author

Four times the author identifies himself as John (1:1,4,9; 22:8). From as early as Justin Martyr in the second century A.D. it has been held that this John was the apostle, the son of Zebedee (see Mt 10:2). The book itself reveals that the author was a Jew, well versed in Scripture, a church leader who was well known to the seven churches of Asia Minor, and a deeply religious person fully convinced that the Christian faith would soon triumph over the demonic forces at work in the world.

In the third century, however, an African bishop named Dionysius compared the language, style and thought of the Apocalypse (Revelation) with that of the other writings of John and decided that the book could not have been written by the apostle John. He suggested that the author was a certain John the Presbyter, whose name appears elsewhere in ancient writings. Although many today follow Dionysius in his view of authorship, the external evidence seems overwhelmingly supportive of the traditional view.

Date

Revelation was written when Christians were entering a time of persecution. The two periods most often mentioned are the latter part of Nero's reign (A.D. 54–68) and the latter part of Domitian's reign (81–96). Most scholars date the book c. 95. (A few suggest a date during the reign of Vespasian: 69–79.)

Occasion

Since Roman authorities at this time were beginning to enforce the cult of emperor worship, Christians—who held that Christ, not Caesar, was Lord—were facing increasing hostility. The believers at Smyrna are warned against coming opposition (2:10), and the church at Philadelphia is told of an hour of trial coming on the world (3:10). Antipas has already given his life (2:13) along with others (6:9). John has been exiled to the island of Patmos (probably the site of a Roman penal colony) for his activities as a Christian missionary (1:9). Some within the church are advocating a policy of compromise (2:14–15,20), which has to be corrected before its subtle influence can undermine the determination of believers to stand fast in the perilous days that lie ahead.

Purpose

John writes to encourage the faithful to resist staunchly the demands of emperor worship. He informs his readers that the final showdown between God and Satan is imminent. Satan will increase his persecution of believers, but they must stand fast, even to death. They are sealed against any spiritual harm and will soon be vindicated when Christ returns, when the wicked are forever destroyed, and when God's people enter an eternity of glory and blessedness.

Literary Form

For an adequate understanding of Revelation, the reader must recognize that it is a distinct kind of literature. Revelation is apocalyptic, a kind of writing that is highly symbolic. Although its visions often seem bizarre to the Western reader, fortunately the book provides a number of clues for its own interpretation (e.g., stars are angels, lampstands are churches, 1:20; "the great prostitute," 17:1, is "Babylon" [Rome?], 17:5,18; and the heavenly Jerusalem is the wife of the Lamb, 21:9–10).

Distinctive Feature

A distinctive feature is the frequent use of the number seven (52 times). There are seven beatitudes (see note on 1:3), seven churches (1:4,11), seven spirits (1:4), seven golden lampstands (1:12), seven stars (1:16), seven seals (5:1), seven horns and seven eyes (5:6), seven trumpets (8:2), seven thunders (10:3), seven signs (12:1,3; 13:13–14; 15:1; 16:14; 19:20), seven crowns (12:3), seven plagues (15:6), seven golden bowls (15:7), seven hills (17:9) and seven kings (17:10), as well as other sevens. Symbolically, the number seven stands for completeness.

Interpretation

Interpreters of Revelation normally fall into four groups:

1. Preterists understand the book exclusively in terms of its first-century setting, claiming that most of its events have already taken place.
2. Historicists take it as describing the long chain of events from Patmos to the end of history.
3. Futurists place the book primarily in the end times.
4. Idealists view it as symbolic pictures of such timeless truths as the victory of good over evil.

Fortunately, the fundamental truths of Revelation do not depend on adopting a particular point of view. They are available to anyone who will read the book for its overall message and resist the temptation to become overly enamored with the details.

Prologue

1 The revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave[a] him to show his servants what must soon take place.[b] He made it known by sending his angel[c] to his servant John,[d] 2who testifies to everything he saw—that is, the word of God[e] and the testimony of Jesus Christ.[f] 3Blessed is the one who reads the words of this prophecy, and blessed are those who hear it and take to heart what is written in it,[g] because the time is near.[h]

Greetings and Doxology

4John,

To the seven churches[i] in the province of Asia:

Grace and peace to you[j] from him who is, and who was, and who is to come,[k] and from the seven spirits[a][l] before his throne, 5and from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness,[m] the firstborn from the dead,[n] and the ruler of the kings of the earth.[o]

To him who loves us[p] and has freed us from our sins by his blood,[q] 6and has made us to be a kingdom and priests[r] to serve his God and Father[s]—to him be glory and power for ever and ever! Amen.[t]

7Look, he is coming with the clouds,[u] and every eye will see him, even those who pierced him;[v] and all the peoples of the earth will mourn[w] because of him.
So shall it be! Amen.

8"I am the Alpha and the Omega,"[x] says the Lord God, "who is, and who was, and who is to come,[y] the Almighty."[z]

One Like a Son of Man

9I, John,[a] your brother and companion in the suffering[b] and kingdom[c] and patient endurance[d] that are ours in Jesus, was on the island of Patmos because of the word of God[e] and the testimony of Jesus.[f] 10On the Lord's Day[g] I was in the Spirit,[h] and I heard behind me a loud voice like a trumpet,[i] 11which said: "Write on a scroll what you see[j] and send it to the seven churches: to Ephesus,[k] Smyrna,[l] Pergamum,[m] Thyatira,[n] Sardis,[o] Philadelphia[p] and Laodicea."[q]

12I turned around to see the voice that was speaking to me. And when I turned I saw seven golden lampstands,[r] 13and among the lampstands[s] was someone "like a son of man,"[b][t] dressed in a

[a]4 Or the sevenfold Spirit [b]13 Daniel 7:13

1:1 revelation. Apocalypse ("unveiling" or "disclosure"). of Jesus Christ. Can mean (1) by or from Jesus Christ, (2) about Jesus Christ or (3) both. servants. All believers. soon take place. See v. 3; 22:6–7,10,20. his angel. A mediating angel. The word "angel" occurs over 70 times in Revelation. John. See Introduction: Author.

1:3 Blessed. The first of seven beatitudes in the book (see 14:13; 16:15; 19:9; 20:6; 22:7,14). "Blessed" means much more than "happy." It describes the favorable circumstance God has put a person in (see notes on Ps 1:1; Mt 5:3). prophecy. Includes not only foretelling the future but also proclaiming any word from God—whether command, instruction, history or prediction. time is near. See note on Jas 5:9.

1:4 seven churches. Located about 50 miles apart, forming a circle in Asia moving clockwise north from Ephesus and coming around full circle from Laodicea (east of Ephesus). They were perhaps postal centers serving seven geographic regions. Apparently the entire book of Revelation (including the seven letters) was sent to each church (see v. 11). Asia. A Roman province lying in modern western Turkey. Grace and peace. See notes on Jnh 4:2; Jn 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2. "Grace" is used only twice in Revelation (here and in 22:21) but over 100 times by Paul. who is ... was ... is to come. A paraphrase of the divine name from Ex 3:14–15. Cf. Heb 13:8. seven spirits. See NIV text note; cf. Zec 4:2,10.

1:6 a kingdom and priests. This OT designation of Israel (see notes on Ex 19:6; Zec 3) is applied in the NT to the church (1Pe 2:5,9).

1:7 pierced. See Ps 22:16; Isa 53:5; Zec 12:10; Jn 19:34,37. So shall it be! Amen. A double affirmation.

1:8 the Alpha and the Omega. The first and last letters of the Greek alphabet. God is the beginning and the end (see 21:6). He sovereignly rules over all human history. In 22:13 Jesus applies the same title to himself. Almighty. Nine of the 12 occurrences of this term in the NT are in Revelation (here; 4:8; 11:17; 15:3; 16:7,14; 19:6,15; 21:22). The other three are in Ro 9:29; 2Co 6:18; Jas 5:4.

1:9 suffering ... kingdom ... patient endurance. Three pivotal themes in Revelation: (1) "suffering" (2:9–10,22; 7:14), (2) "kingdom" (11:15; 12:10; 16:10; 17:12,17–18), (3) "patient endurance" (2:2–3,19; 3:10; 13:10; 14:12). Patmos. A small (four by eight miles), rocky island in the Aegean Sea some 50 miles southwest of Ephesus, off the coast of modern Turkey. It probably served as a Roman penal settlement. Eusebius, the "father of church history" (A.D. 265–340), reports that John was released from Patmos under the emperor Nerva (96–98).

1:10 the Lord's Day. A technical term for the first day of the week—so named because Jesus rose from the dead on that day. It was also the day on which the Christians met (see Ac 20:7) and took up collections (see 1Co 16:2). in the Spirit. In a state of spiritual exaltation—not a dream, but a vision like Peter's in Ac 10:10.

1:11 scroll. Pieces of papyrus or parchment sewn together and rolled on a spindle (see note on Ex 17:14). The book form was not invented until about the second century A.D. seven churches. See note on v. 4.

1:12 seven. See Introduction: Distinctive Feature. golden lampstands. The seven churches (see v. 20).

1:13 son of man. See notes on Da 7:13; Mk 8:31. robe ... to his feet. The high priest wore a full-length robe (Ex 28:4; 29:5). Reference to Christ as high priest is supported by the reference to the golden sash around his chest.

robe reaching down to his feet[v] and with a golden sash around his chest.[w] 14His head and hair were white like wool, as white as snow, and his eyes were like blazing fire.[x] 15His feet were like bronze glowing in a furnace,[y] and his voice was like the sound of rushing waters.[z] 16In his right hand he held seven stars,[a] and out of his mouth came a sharp double-edged sword.[b] His face was like the sun[c] shining in all its brilliance.

17When I saw him, I fell at his feet[d] as though dead. Then he placed his right hand on me[e] and said: "Do not be afraid.[f] I am the First and the Last.[g] 18I am the Living One; I was dead,[h] and behold I am alive for ever and ever![i] And I hold the keys of death and Hades.[j]

19"Write, therefore, what you have seen,[k] what is now and what will take place later. 20The mystery of the seven stars that you saw in my right hand[l] and of the seven golden lampstands[m] is this: The seven stars are the angels[c] of the seven churches,[n] and the seven lampstands are the seven churches.[o]

To the Church in Ephesus

2 "To the angel[d] of the church in Ephesus[p] write:

These are the words of him who holds the seven stars in his right hand[q] and walks among the seven golden lampstands:[r] 2I know your deeds,[s] your hard work and your perseverance. I know that you cannot tolerate wicked men, that you have tested[t] those who claim to be apostles but are not, and have found them false.[u] 3You have persevered and have endured hardships for my name,[v] and have not grown weary.

4Yet I hold this against you: You have forsaken your first love.[w] 5Remember the height from which you have fallen! Repent[x] and do the things you did at first. If you do not repent, I will come to you and remove your lampstand[y] from its place. 6But you have this in your favor: You hate the practices of the Nicolaitans,[z] which I also hate.

7He who has an ear, let him hear[a] what the Spirit says to the churches. To him who overcomes,[b] I will give the right to eat from the tree of life,[c] which is in the paradise[d] of God.

1:14 white like wool. Cf. Da 7:9; Isa 1:18. The hoary head suggests wisdom and dignity (Lev 19:32; Pr 16:31). eyes . . . like blazing fire. Penetrating insight (see 4:6).

1:16 sharp double-edged sword. Like a long Thracian sword (also in 2:12,16; 6:8; 19:15,21). The sword in 6:4; 13:10,14 was a small sword or dagger. The sword symbolizes divine judgment (see Isa 49:2; Heb 4:12).

1:17 fell at his feet. A sign of great respect and awe (4:10; 5:8; 7:11; 19:10; 22:8). I am. See note on Jn 6:35. the First and the Last. Essentially the same as "the Alpha and the Omega" (v. 8; cf. Isa 44:6; 48:12).

1:18 Living One. Based on OT references to the "living God" (e.g., Jos 3:10; Ps 42:2; 84:2). In contrast to the dead gods of paganism, Christ possesses life in his essential nature. keys of death and Hades. Absolute control over their domain (see Mt 16:18 and note).

1:19 Many take the threefold division of this verse as a clue to the entire structure of the book. "What you have seen" would be the inaugural vision of ch. 1; "what is now" would be the letters to the seven churches (chs. 2–3); "what will take place later" would be everything from ch. 4 on. An alternative interpretation sees the initial clause as the essential unit (it parallels v. 11), followed by two explanatory clauses. The sense would be: "Write, therefore, what you are about to see, i.e., both what is now and what will take place later." Some who hold the latter view make no attempt to outline the book on this basis, maintaining that there is a mixture of "now" and "later" throughout.

1:20 The first of several places where the symbols are interpreted (see also 17:15,18). angels. Either (1) heavenly messengers, (2) earthly messengers/ministers (see NIV text note) or (3) personifications of the prevailing spirit of each church.

2:1–3:22 Some take the seven letters as a preview of church history in its downward course toward Laodicean lukewarmness. Others interpret them as characteristic of various kinds of Christian congregations that have existed from John's day until the present time. In either case, they were historical churches in Asia Minor (see map No. 11 at the end of the Study Bible). The general pattern in the letters is commendation, complaint and correction.

2:1 angel. See note on 1:20. Ephesus. See Introduction to Ephesians: The City of Ephesus. holds the seven stars. See 1:16,20. seven golden lampstands. See 1:12,20.

2:2 tested. The necessity of testing for correct doctrine and dependable advice was widely recognized in the early church (see 1Co 14:29; 1Th 5:21; 1Jn 4:1).

2:4 first love. The love they had at first for one another and/or for Christ.

2:5 remove your lampstand. Immediate judgment.

2:6 Nicolaitans. A heretical sect within the church that had worked out a compromise with the pagan society. They apparently taught that spiritual liberty gave them sufficient leeway to practice idolatry and immorality. Tradition identifies them with Nicolas, the proselyte of Antioch who was one of the first seven deacons in the Jerusalem church (Ac 6:5), though the evidence is merely circumstantial. A similar group at Pergamum held the teaching of Balaam (vv. 14–15), and some at Thyatira were followers of the woman Jezebel (v. 20). From their heretical tendencies it would appear that all three groups were Nicolaitans.

2:7 overcomes. The challenge to overcome occurs in each letter (here; vv. 11,17,26; 3:5,12,21). paradise. Originally a Persian word for a pleasure garden (see note on Lk 23:43). In Revelation it symbolizes the eschatological state in which God and man are restored to the perfect fellowship that existed before sin entered the world.

To the Church in Smyrna

8"To the angel of the church in Smyrna[e] write:

These are the words of him who is the First and the Last,[f] who died and came to life again.[g] 9I know your afflictions and your poverty—yet you are rich![h] I know the slander of those who say they are Jews and are not,[i] but are a synagogue of Satan.[j] 10Do not be afraid of what you are about to suffer. I tell you, the devil will put some of you in prison to test you,[k] and you will suffer persecution for ten days.[l] Be faithful,[m] even to the point of death, and I will give you the crown of life.[n]

11He who has an ear, let him hear[o] what the Spirit says to the churches. He who overcomes will not be hurt at all by the second death.[p]

To the Church in Pergamum

12"To the angel of the church in Pergamum[q] write:

These are the words of him who has the sharp, double-edged sword.[r] 13I know where you live—where Satan has his throne. Yet you remain true to my name. You did not renounce your faith in me,[s] even in the days of Antipas, my faithful witness,[t] who was put to death in your city—where Satan lives.[u]

14Nevertheless, I have a few things against you:[v] You have people there who hold to the teaching of Balaam,[w] who taught Balak to entice the Israelites to sin by eating

2:8 Smyrna. A proud and beautiful Asian city (modern Izmir) closely aligned with Rome and eager to meet its demands for emperor worship. This plus a large and actively hostile Jewish population made it extremely difficult to live there as a Christian. Polycarp, the most famous of the early martyrs, was bishop of Smyrna. the First and the Last. See note on 1:17.

2:9 who say they are Jews. See Ro 2:28–29. Satan. Hebrew for "accuser" (see Zec 3:1; cf. Job 1:6–12; 2:1–7).

2:10 devil. Greek diabolos, meaning "accuser." persecution. See the warnings by Jesus (Jn 15:20) and Paul (2Ti 3:12). crown of life. The crown that is eternal life. "Crown" does not refer to a royal crown (12:3; 13:1; 19:12) but to the garland or wreath awarded to the winner in athletic contests (3:11; 4:4,10; 6:2; 9:7; 12:1; 14:14).

2:11 He who overcomes. See note on v. 7. second death. The lake of fire (20:14; see 20:6; 21:8).

2:12 Pergamum. Modern Bergama; the ancient capital of Asia, built on a cone-shaped hill rising 1,000 feet above the surrounding valley. Its name in Greek means "citadel" and is the origin of our word "parchment." double-edged sword. See note on 1:16.

2:13 where Satan has his throne. Satan "ruled" from Pergamum in that it was the official center of emperor worship in Asia. Antipas. First martyr of Asia. According to tradition he was slowly roasted to death in a bronze kettle during the reign of Domitian. faithful witness. The Lord's title in 1:5.

2:14 teaching of Balaam. Balaam advised the Midianite women how to lead the Israelites astray (Nu 25:1–2; 31:16; cf. Jude 11). He is a fitting prototype of corrupt teachers who deceive believers into compromise with worldliness. food sacrificed to idols ... immorality. See Ac 15:20,29.

food sacrificed to idols[s] and by committing sexual immorality.[t] 15Likewise you also have those who hold to the teaching of the Nicolaitans.[u] 16Repent[a] therefore! Otherwise, I will soon come to you and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.[b]

17He who has an ear, let him hear[c] what the Spirit says to the churches. To him who overcomes,[d] I will give some of the hidden manna.[e] I will also give him a white stone with a new name[f] written on it, known only to him who receives it.[g]

To the Church in Thyatira

18"To the angel of the church in Thyatira[h] write:

These are the words of the Son of God,[i] whose eyes are like blazing fire and whose feet are like burnished bronze.[j] 19I know your deeds,[k] your love and faith, your service and perseverance, and that you are now doing more than you did at first.

20Nevertheless, I have this against you: You tolerate that woman Jezebel,[l] who calls herself a prophetess. By her teaching she misleads my servants into sexual immorality and the eating of food sacrificed to idols.[m] 21I have given her time[n] to repent of her immorality, but she is unwilling.[o] 22So I will cast her on a bed of suffering, and I will make those who commit adultery[p] with her suffer intensely, unless they repent of her ways. 23I will strike her children dead. Then all the churches will know that I am he who searches hearts and minds,[q] and I will repay each of you according to your deeds.[r] 24Now I say to the rest of you in Thyatira, to you who do not hold to her teaching and have not learned Satan's so-called deep secrets (I will not impose any other burden on you):[s] 25Only hold on to what you have[t] until I come.[u]

26To him who overcomes[v] and does my will to the end,[w] I will give authority over the nations[x]—

27'He will rule them with an iron scepter;[y] he will dash them to pieces like pottery'[z]—

just as I have received authority from my Father. 28I will also give him the morning star.[a] 29He who has an ear, let him hear[b] what the Spirit says to the churches.

To the Church in Sardis

3 "To the angel[f] of the church in Sardis[c] write:

These are the words of him who holds the seven spirits[g][d] of God and the seven stars.[e] I know your deeds;[f] you have a reputation of being alive, but you are dead.[g] 2Wake up! Strengthen what remains and is about to die, for I have not found your deeds complete in the sight of my God. 3Remember, therefore, what you have received and heard; obey it, and repent.[h] But if you do not wake up, I will come like

2:15 Nicolaitans. See note on v. 6.
2:16 sword of my mouth. The long sword (see note on 1:16).
2:17 hidden manna. The heavenly food available to the believer who overcomes (cf. Ps 78:24), in contrast to the unclean food of the Balaamites. white stone. Certain kinds of stones were used as tokens for various purposes. In the context of a Messianic banquet the white stone was probably for the purpose of admission. new name. The name of the victor (see Isa 62:2; 65:15).
2:18 Thyatira. Modern Akhisar. Founded by Seleucus I (311–280 B.C.) as a military outpost, it was noted for its many trade guilds. Lydia, "a dealer in purple cloth," was from Thyatira (see note on Ac 16:14). eyes . . . like blazing fire. See note on 1:14; cf. Da 10:6. burnished bronze. A refined alloy of copper or bronze with metallic zinc.
2:20 Jezebel. See 1Ki 16:31; 2Ki 9:22,30–37. The name is used here as an epithet for a prominent woman in the congregation who undermined loyalty to God by promoting tolerance toward pagan practices. sexual immorality . . . food sacrificed to idols. See v. 14.
2:22 bed of suffering. Disease was often considered as appropriate punishment for sins (cf. 1Co 11:29–30).
2:23 her children. Jezebel is the spiritual mother of all who pursue antinomian (libertine) doctrines. he who searches hearts and minds. Cf. Ps 7:9; Pr 24:12; Jer 11:20; 17:10. "Mind" (lit. "kidney") probably refers here to the will and the affections; "heart" may designate the center of rational life. according to your deeds. Judgment based on works is taught by Jesus (Mt 16:27) and Paul (Ro 2:6) as well as John (Rev 18:6; 20:12–13; 22:12).
2:24 Satan's so-called deep secrets. Later Gnosticism (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism) taught that in order to defeat Satan one had to enter his stronghold, i.e., experience evil deeply.
2:27 rule. Lit. "shepherd" (a common metaphor for "rule"). iron scepter. Symbolic of the strength of his rule (see 12:5; 19:15).
3:1 Sardis. Modern Sart. Capital of the ancient kingdom of Lydia, it was a city of great wealth and fame. The acropolis was a natural citadel on the northern spur of Mount Tmolus. It rose 1,500 feet above the lower valley.
3:3 come like a thief. Not a reference to the second coming of Christ, because here his coming depends on the church's refusal to repent. Elsewhere in the NT the clause refers to the second advent (16:15; Mt 24:42–44; 1Th 5:2; 2Pe 3:10).

4Yet you have a few people in Sardis who have not soiled their clothes.[k] They will walk with me, dressed in white,[l] for they are worthy. 5He who overcomes[m] will, like them, be dressed in white.[n] I will never blot out his name from the book of life,[o] but will acknowledge his name before my Father[p] and his angels. 6He who has an ear, let him hear[q] what the Spirit says to the churches.

To the Church in Philadelphia

7"To the angel of the church in Philadelphia[r] write:

These are the words of him who is holy[s] and true,[t] who holds the key of David.[u] What he opens no one can shut, and what he shuts no one can open. 8I know your deeds.[v] See, I have placed before you an open door[w] that no one can shut. I know that you have little strength, yet you have kept my word and have not denied my name.[x] 9I will make those who are of the synagogue of Satan,[y] who claim to be Jews though they are not,[z] but are liars—I will make them come and fall down at your feet[a] and acknowledge that I have loved you.[b] 10Since you have kept my command to endure patiently, I will also keep you[c] from the hour of trial that is going to come upon the whole world[d] to test[e] those who live on the earth.[f]

11I am coming soon.[g] Hold on to what you have,[h] so that no one will take your crown.[i] 12Him who overcomes[j] I will make a pillar[k] in the temple of my God. Never again will he leave it. I will write on him the name of my God[l] and the name of the city of my God,[m] the new Jerusalem,[n] which is coming down out of heaven from my God; and I will also write on him my new name. 13He who has an ear, let him hear[o] what the Spirit says to the churches.

To the Church in Laodicea

14"To the angel of the church in Laodicea[p] write:

3:4 dressed in white. Description of the redeemed (3:18; 6:11; 7:9,13; cf. 4:4; 19:14).

3:5 book of life. A divine ledger is first mentioned in Ex 32:32–33 (see note on Ps 69:28; cf. Da 12:1). It was a register of all citizens in the kingdom community. To have one's name erased from this book would indicate loss of citizenship (see 13:8; 17:8; 20:12,15; 21:27; Php 4:3).

3:7 Philadelphia. Modern Alashehir; a city of commercial importance conveniently located as the gateway to the high central plateau of the province of Asia in Asia Minor. The name means "brotherly love" and commemorates the loyalty and devotion of Attalus II (220–130 B.C.) to his brother Eumenes II. holy and true. See 6:10. For God as the Holy One see Isa 40:25; Hab 3:2–3; Mk 1:24. key of David. Christ is the Davidic Messiah with authority to control entrance to the kingdom (see Isa 22:22; Mt 16:19).

3:8 open door. Either the door of opportunity or the door to the kingdom. The context favors the latter.

3:9 synagogue of Satan. A bold metaphor directed against unbelieving and hostile Jews. Cf. Jesus' scathing rebuke in Jn 8:44; see also 2Co 11:14–15. The Jewish synagogue was a gathering place for worship, study and communal activities. claim to be Jews. See Ro 2:28–29. fall down at your feet. An appropriate act of worship in the Near East (see Isa 45:14; 60:14; cf. Ac 10:25; Php 2:10; see also note on Rev 1:17).

3:10 keep you from. The Greek for this phrase can mean either "keep you from undergoing" or "keep you through." hour of trial. The period of testing that precedes the consummation of the kingdom (see 13:5–10; Mt 24:4–28; cf. Da 12:1; Mk 13:19; 2Th 2:1–12).

3:11 I am coming soon. Cf. 1:1; 22:7,12,20 (see note on Jas 5:9).

3:12 Him who overcomes. See note on 2:7. temple. See note on 7:15. name of my God. See 14:1; 22:4. new Jerusalem. See 21:2,10. write on him my new name. Names revealed character. Christ's new name symbolizes all that he is by virtue of his redemptive work for mankind. This awaits the second advent.

3:14 Laodicea. Near modern Denizli. The wealthiest city in Phrygia during Roman times, it was widely known for its banking establishments, medical school and textile industry. Its major weakness was lack of an adequate water supply. Each of these characteristics is reflected in the letter. the Amen. Isa 65:16 speaks of "the God of the Amen," i.e., "the God of truth." As a personal designation it describes one who is perfectly trustworthy or faithful. faithful and true witness. See 1:5; 19:11. ruler. The Greek word can mean first in point of time ("beginning") or first in rank ("ruler").

3:16 lukewarm—neither hot nor cold. "Hot" may refer to the hot, medicinal waters of nearby Hierapolis. The church in Laodicea supplied neither healing for the spiritually sick nor refreshment for the spiritually weary. spit. Lit. "vomit."

3:18 Refers to three items in which Laodicea took great pride: financial wealth, an extensive textile industry and a famous eye salve.

can cover your shameful nakedness; and salve to put on your eyes, so you can see.

19Those whom I love I rebuke and discipline.[z] So be earnest, and repent.[a] 20Here I am! I stand at the door[b] and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door,[c] I will come in[d] and eat with him, and he with me.

21To him who overcomes,[e] I will give the right to sit with me on my throne,[f] just as I overcame[g] and sat down with my Father on his throne. 22He who has an ear, let him hear[h] what the Spirit says to the churches."

The Throne in Heaven

4 After this I looked, and there before me was a door standing open[i] in heaven. And the voice I had first heard speaking to me like a trumpet[j] said, "Come up here,[k] and I will show you what must take place after this."[l] 2At once I was in the Spirit,[m] and there before me was a throne in heaven[n] with someone sitting on it. 3And the one who sat there had the appearance of jasper[o] and carnelian.[p] A rainbow,[q] resembling an emerald,[r] encircled the throne. 4Surrounding the throne were twenty-four other thrones, and seated on them were twenty-four elders.[s] They were dressed in white[t] and had crowns of gold on their heads. 5From the throne came flashes of lightning, rumblings and peals of thunder.[u] Before the throne, seven lamps[v] were blazing. These are the seven spirits[hw] of God. 6Also before the throne there was what looked like a sea of glass,[x] clear as crystal.

In the center, around the throne, were four living creatures,[y] and they were covered with eyes, in front and in back.[z] 7The first living creature was like a lion, the second was like an ox, the third had a face like a man, the fourth was like a flying eagle.[a] 8Each of the four living creatures[b] had six wings[c] and was covered with eyes all around,[d] even under his wings. Day and night[e] they never stop saying:

"Holy, holy, holy is the Lord God Almighty,[f] who was, and is, and is to come."[g]

9Whenever the living creatures give glory, honor and thanks to him who sits on the throne[h] and who lives for ever and ever,[i] 10the twenty-four elders[j] fall down before him[k] who sits on the throne,[l] and worship him who lives for

[h] 5 Or the sevenfold Spirit

3:19 whom I love I . . . discipline. See Job 5:17; Ps 94:12; Pr 3:11–12; 1Co 11:32; Heb 12:5–11.

3:20 I stand at the door and knock. Usually taken as a picture of Christ's knocking on the door of the individual unbeliever's heart. In context, however, the self-deluded members of the congregation are being addressed.

3:21 overcomes. See note on 2:7. sit with me on my throne. See 20:4,6; Mt 19:28; 2Ti 2:12.

4:1–5:14 These two chapters constitute an introduction to chs. 6–20. In the throne room of heaven, the Lamb assumes the responsibility of initiating the great final conflict with the forces of evil, the end of which will see the Lamb triumphant and the devil consigned to the lake of fire.

4:1 Come up here. Similarly, Moses was called up on Mount Sinai to receive divine direction (Ex 19:20,24). Cf. also the heavenly ascent of the two witnesses (11:12). Some interpreters find the rapture of the church in this verse. what must take place after this. See 1:1,19; Da 2:28–29,45.

4:2 in the Spirit. In a state of heightened spiritual awareness (see note on 1:10; see also 17:3; 21:10). throne in heaven. The depiction of God ruling from his throne in heaven is a regular feature of the OT (e.g., Ps 47:8).

4:3 jasper . . . carnelian . . . emerald. Since God dwells in "unapproachable light" and is one "whom no one has seen or can see" (1Ti 6:16), he is described in terms of the reflected brilliance of precious stones—an emerald rainbow around the throne (cf. Eze 1:26–28).

4:4 twenty-four elders. Representative of either the whole company of believers in heaven or an exalted angelic order worshiping and serving God there (see vv. 9–11; 5:5–14; 7:11–17; 11:16–18; 14:3; 19:4). The number 24 is often understood to reflect the 12 Israelite tribes of the OT and the 12 apostles of the NT.

4:5 flashes of lightning . . . thunder . . . blazing. Symbolic of the awesome majesty and power of God (cf. the manifestation of God at Sinai, Ex 19:16–19; cf. also the conventional OT depiction of God's coming in mighty power to deliver his people, Ps 18:12–15; 77:18). In Revelation, thunder and lightning always mark an important event connected with the heavenly temple (8:5; 11:19; 16:18). seven spirits. See note on 1:4; "seven" symbolizes fullness, completeness or perfection.

4:6 sea of glass. See 15:2. The source of the imagery may be Eze 1:22 (cf. Ex 24:10), but it is also possible that it is the basin in the heavenly temple (cf. 11:19; 14:15,17; 15:5–6,8; 16:1,17), whose counterpart in the earthly temple was referred to as the Sea (1Ki 7:23–25; 2Ki 16:17; 2Ch 4:2,4,10,15; Jer 27:19). Other features of the temple in heaven are: the lamps (v. 5), the altar (6:9), the altar of incense (8:3) and the ark of the covenant (11:19). four living creatures. An exalted order of angelic beings whose task is to guard the heavenly throne and lead in worship and adoration of God. covered with eyes. Nothing escapes their attention.

4:7 Ezekiel in a vision also saw four living creatures, each of which had four faces—human in front, lion on the right, ox on the left, and eagle behind (Eze 1:6,10). In John's vision the creatures were in the form of a lion, an ox, and a flying eagle, and one had a face like that of a man.

4:8 Holy, holy, holy. See note on Isa 6:3. was . . . is . . . is to come. An expansion of the divine name in Ex 3:14–15 (see note on Rev 1:4). God's power and holiness extend from eternity past to eternity yet to come (cf. Isa 41:4).

4:10 lay their crowns. Acknowledgment that God alone is worthy of ultimate praise and worship.

ever and ever. They lay their crowns before the throne and say:

11"You are worthy, our Lord and God, to receive glory and honor and power,[m]
for you created all things, and by your will they were created and have their being."[n]

The Scroll and the Lamb

5 Then I saw in the right hand of him who sat on the throne[o] a scroll with writing on both sides[p] and sealed[q] with seven seals. 2And I saw a mighty angel[r] proclaiming in a loud voice, "Who is worthy to break the seals and open the scroll?" 3But no one in heaven or on earth or under the earth could open the scroll or even look inside it. 4I wept and wept because no one was found who was worthy to open the scroll or look inside. 5Then one of the elders said to me, "Do not weep! See, the Lion[s] of the tribe of Judah,[t] the Root of David,[u] has triumphed. He is able to open the scroll and its seven seals."

6Then I saw a Lamb,[v] looking as if it had been slain, standing in the center of the throne, encircled by the four living creatures[w] and the elders.[x] He had seven horns and seven eyes,[y] which are the seven spirits[iz] of God sent out into all the earth. 7He came and took the scroll from the right hand of him who sat on the throne.[a] 8And when he had taken it, the four living creatures[b] and the twenty-four elders[c] fell down before the Lamb. Each one had a harp[d] and they were holding golden bowls full of incense, which are the prayers[e] of the saints. 9And they sang a new song:[f]

"You are worthy[g] to take the scroll and to open its seals, because you were slain,
and with your blood[h] you purchased[i] men for God from every tribe and language and people and nation.[j] 10You have made them to be a kingdom and priests[k] to serve our God, and they will reign on the earth."[l]

11Then I looked and heard the voice of many angels, numbering thousands upon thousands, and ten thousand times ten thousand.[m] They encircled the throne and the living creatures[n] and the elders.[o] 12In a loud voice they sang:

"Worthy is the Lamb,[p] who was slain,[q] to receive power and wealth and wisdom and strength and honor and glory and praise!"[r]

13Then I heard every creature in heaven and on earth and under the earth[s] and on the sea, and all that is in them, singing:

"To him who sits on the throne[t] and to the Lamb[u] be praise and honor and glory and power, for ever and ever!"[v]

14The four living creatures[w] said,

[i]6 Or the sevenfold Spirit

4:11 you created all things. See Ge 1.

5:1 scroll. See note on 1:11; cf. the little scroll of 10:2,8–10. writing on both sides. Like the stone tablets of the OT covenant law (Ex 32:15; see Eze 2:9–10). The fibers of a papyrus scroll run horizontally on the inside, which makes writing easier than on the reverse side (where the fibers are vertical). sealed with seven seals. Indicating absolute inviolability (cf. Isa 29:11; Da 12:4).

5:2 mighty angel. See 18:21.

5:3 heaven ... earth ... under the earth. A conventional phrase used to express the universality of the proclamation—no creature was worthy. It is not intended to teach a threefold division of the universe (cf. Ex 20:4; Php 2:10).

5:5 Lion of the tribe of Judah. A Messianic title taken from Ge 49:8–10, where Judah is named a "lion's cub" and promised the right to rule "until he comes to whom it belongs" (see also Eze 21:27). Root of David. See Isa 11:1,10, which looks forward to the ideal king in the line of David. The title is interpreted Messianically in Ro 15:12.

5:6 Lamb. Pictured as the sacrifice for sin ("slain"; cf. Isa 53:7; Jn 1:29) and as the mighty conqueror (17:14). Revelation uses a special word for "lamb" (29 times in Revelation and only once elsewhere in the NT—Jn 21:15). The idea of the lamb as a victorious military leader seems to come from the apocalyptic tradition (1 Enoch 90:9; Testament of Joseph 19:8). as if it had been slain. Bearing the marks of its slaughter—he has come to power through his death. seven horns. The horn is an ancient Jewish symbol for power or strength (cf. Dt 33:17). The fourth beast of Da 7:7,20 had ten horns (cf. Da 8:3,5). Seven horns would symbolize full strength. seven spirits. See note on 4:5.

5:8 harp. An ancient stringed instrument (not the large modern harp) used especially to accompany songs (Ps 33:2). bowls full of incense. The bowl was a flat, shallow cup. Incense was a normal feature of Hebrew ritual (see Dt 33:10; cf. Ps 141:2; Rev 8:3–4). prayers of the saints. In later Jewish thought, angels often present the prayers of saints to God (Tobit 12:15; 3 Baruch 11).

5:9 new song. Cf. 14:3; Ps 33:3; 96:1; 144:9; Isa 42:10. In the OT a new song celebrated a new act of divine deliverance or blessing. That is also its sense here; notice the theme of the song. with your blood you purchased men. The sacrificial death of Christ is central to NT teaching (see Mk 10:45; 1Co 6:20).

5:10 kingdom and priests. See note on 1:6. reign on the earth. See 2:26–27; 20:4,6; 22:5.

5:11 thousands upon thousands. A rhetorical phrase for an indefinitely large number (see Da 7:10; cf. Heb 12:22).

5:12 power ... praise! See David's farewell prayer in 1Ch 29:10–19. The attributes increase from three in 4:11 to four in 5:13 to seven in 5:12; 7:12.

5:13 heaven ... earth ... under the earth. See note on v. 3.

"Amen,"[x] and the elders[y] fell down and worshiped.[z]

The Seals

6 I watched as the Lamb[a] opened the first of the seven seals.[b] Then I heard one of the four living creatures[c] say in a voice like thunder,[d] "Come!" [2]I looked, and there before me was a white horse![e] Its rider held a bow, and he was given a crown,[f] and he rode out as a conqueror bent on conquest.[g]

[3]When the Lamb opened the second seal, I heard the second living creature[h] say, "Come!" [4]Then another horse came out, a fiery red one.[i] Its rider was given power to take peace from the earth[j] and to make men slay each other. To him was given a large sword.

[5]When the Lamb opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature[k] say, "Come!" I looked, and there before me was a black horse![l] Its rider was holding a pair of scales in his hand. [6]Then I heard what sounded like a voice among the four living creatures,[m] saying, "A quart[j] of wheat for a day's wages,[k] and three quarts of barley for a day's wages,[k][n] and do not damage[o] the oil and the wine!"

[7]When the Lamb opened the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth living creature[p] say, "Come!" [8]I looked, and there before me was a pale horse![q] Its rider was named Death, and Hades[r] was following close behind him. They were given power over a fourth of the earth to kill by sword, famine and plague, and by the wild beasts of the earth.[s]

[9]When he opened the fifth seal, I saw under[t] the altar[u] the souls of those who had been slain[v] because of the word of God[w] and the testimony they had maintained. [10]They called out in a loud voice, "How long,[x] Sovereign Lord,[y] holy and true,[z] until you judge the inhabitants of the earth[a] and avenge our blood?"[b] [11]Then each of them was given a white robe,[c] and they were told to wait a little longer, until the number of their fellow servants and brothers who were to be killed as they had been was completed.[d]

[12]I watched as he opened the sixth seal. There was a great earthquake.[e] The sun turned black[f] like sackcloth[g] made of goat hair, the whole moon turned blood red, [13]and the stars in the sky fell to earth,[h] as late figs drop from a fig tree[i] when shaken by a strong wind. [14]The sky receded like a scroll, rolling up,[j] and every mountain and island was removed from its place.[k]

[15]Then the kings of the earth, the princes, the generals, the rich, the mighty, and every slave and every free man[l] hid in caves and among the rocks of the mountains.[m] [16]They called to the mountains and the rocks, "Fall on us[n]

[j]6 Greek a choinix (probably about a liter) [k]6 Greek a denarius

6:1 seven seals. The first of three sevenfold numbered series of judgments (cf. the seven trumpets in chs. 8–9 and the seven bowls in ch. 16).

6:2 white horse. The imagery of the four horsemen comes from Zec 1:8–17; 6:1–8 (see note on Zec 6:2–3). The colors in Revelation correspond to the character of the rider; white symbolizes conquest. Major interpretations of the rider on the white horse are: (1) Christ (cf. 19:11), (2) the antichrist and (3) the spirit of conquest. The latter establishes a more natural sequence with the other three riders (which symbolize bloodshed, famine and death). bow. A battle weapon. crown. See note on 2:10.

6:4 another horse . . . a fiery red one. Symbolizing bloodshed and war (cf. Zec 1:8; 6:2). men slay each other. If the white horse is conquest from without, the red horse may be internal revolution. sword. See note on 1:16.

6:5 black horse. Symbolizing famine (cf. Zec 6:2,6). The sequence is thus conquest, bloodshed, famine. pair of scales. A balance beam with scales hung from either end. Weights were originally stones.

6:6 wheat . . . barley. One quart of wheat would be enough for only one person. Three quarts of the less nutritious barley would be barely enough for a small family. Famine had inflated prices to at least ten times their normal level. oil and the wine. Sets limits on the destruction by the rider of the black horse. The roots of the olive and vine go deeper and would not be immediately affected by a limited drought.

6:8 pale horse. Describes the ashen appearance of the dead; it symbolizes death. Hades. Equivalent to Hebrew Sheol (see 1:18; 20:13–14; see also note on Mt 16:18).

6:9 under the altar. In OT ritual the blood of the slaughtered animal was poured out at the base of the altar (Ex 29:12; Lev 4:7).

6:10 inhabitants of the earth. A regular designation in Revelation for mankind in its hostility to God (see 3:10; 8:13; 11:10; 13:8,12; 17:2,8).

6:11 white robe. Symbol of blessedness and purity (see 3:5,18; 4:4; 7:9,13; 19:14). until the number . . . was completed. Jewish thought held that God rules the world according to a predetermined time schedule (see 2 Esdras 4:35–37) and that the end awaits the death of a certain number of the righteous (1 Enoch 47:4).

6:12 earthquake. A regular feature of divine visitation (see Ex 19:18; Isa 2:19; Hag 2:6). moon turned blood red. See Joel 2:31, quoted by Peter in his Pentecost sermon (Ac 2:20).

6:13 stars . . . fell. One of the signs immediately preceding the coming of the Son of Man (Mk 13:25–26). late figs. Green figs appearing in the winter and easily blown from the tree, which at that season has no leaves.

6:14 sky receded like a scroll. See Isa 34:4. every mountain and island was removed. Perhaps suggested by Jer 4:24 or Na 1:5; see 16:20; 20:11.

6:15 generals. A general was a Roman officer who commanded a cohort, i.e., about 1,000 men. hid in caves. See Jer 4:29.

6:16 wrath of the Lamb. God's wrath is a theme that and hide us from the face of him who sits on the throne[o] and from the wrath of the Lamb! [17]For the great day[p] of their wrath has come, and who can stand?"[q]

144,000 Sealed

7 After this I saw four angels standing at the four corners[r] of the earth, holding back the four winds[s] of the earth to prevent[t] any wind from blowing on the land or on the sea or on any tree. [2]Then I saw another angel coming up from the east, having the seal[u] of the living God.[v] He called out in a loud voice to the four angels who had been given power to harm the land and the sea:[w] [3]"Do not harm[x] the land or the sea or the trees until we put a seal on the foreheads[y] of the servants of our God." [4]Then I heard the number[z] of those who were sealed: 144,000[a] from all the tribes of Israel.

[5]From the tribe of Judah 12,000 were sealed, from the tribe of Reuben 12,000, from the tribe of Gad 12,000, [6]from the tribe of Asher 12,000, from the tribe of Naphtali 12,000, from the tribe of Manasseh 12,000, [7]from the tribe of Simeon 12,000, from the tribe of Levi 12,000, from the tribe of Issachar 12,000, [8]from the tribe of Zebulun 12,000, from the tribe of Joseph 12,000, from the tribe of Benjamin 12,000.

The Great Multitude in White Robes

[9]After this I looked and there before me was a great multitude that no one could count, from every nation, tribe, people and language,[b] standing before the throne[c] and in front of the Lamb. They were wearing white robes[d] and were holding palm branches in their hands. [10]And they cried out in a loud voice:

"Salvation belongs to our God,[e] who sits on the throne,[f]
and to the Lamb."

[11]All the angels were standing around the throne and around the elders[g] and the four living creatures.[h] They fell down on their faces[i] before the throne and worshiped God, [12]saying:

"Amen!
Praise and glory and wisdom and thanks and honor and power and strength be to our God for ever and ever.
Amen!"[j]

[13]Then one of the elders asked me, "These in white robes[k]—who are they, and where did they come from?"

[14]I answered, "Sir, you know."

And he said, "These are they who have come out of the great tribulation; they have washed their robes[l] and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.[m] [15]Therefore,

"they are before the throne of God[n] and serve him[o] day and night in his temple;[p] and he who sits on the throne[q] will spread his tent over them.[r] permeates NT theology. It is both present (see Ro 1:18 and note) and future (see 19:15). It is prophesied in the OT (Zep 1:14–18; Na 1:6; Mal 3:2). Lamb. See note on 5:6.

7:1–17 A parenthesis separating the final seal from the preceding six (the same feature is found in the trumpet sequence; see 10:1–11:13). It contains two visions: (1) the sealing of the 144,000 (vv. 1–8) and (2) the innumerable multitude (vv. 9–17).

7:1 four winds. Destructive agents of God (see Jer 49:36).

7:2 seal of the living God. Ancient documents were folded and tied, and a lump of clay was pressed over the knot. The sender would then stamp the hardening clay with his signet ring or roll it with a cylinder seal, which authenticated and protected the contents. The sealing in ch. 7 results in the name of the Lord being stamped on the forehead of his followers (see 9:4; 14:1; cf. 22:4). Its primary purpose is to protect the people of God in the coming judgments. For the background see Eze 9:4, where the mark was the Hebrew letter Taw, made like an X or +.

7:4 144,000. Some find here a reference to members of actual Jewish tribes, the faithful Jewish remnant of the "great tribulation" (v. 14). Others take the passage as symbolic of all the faithful believers who live during the period of tribulation.

7:5 Judah. Perhaps listed before Reuben, his older brother, because the Messiah belonged to the tribe of Judah (but see note on Ge 37:21).

7:6 Manasseh. One of the two Joseph tribes (Ephraim and Manasseh), yet mentioned separately, probably to make up 12 tribes since Dan is omitted. This omission is due perhaps to Dan's early connection with idolatry (Jdg 18:30), or to a tradition that the antichrist was to come from that tribe.

7:9 great multitude. Identified in v. 14 as those who have come out of the great tribulation. every nation, tribe, people and language. All four are mentioned together also in 5:9; 11:9; 13:7; 14:6. Cf. 10:11; 17:15, in which one of the four is changed. palm branches. Used for festive occasions (see Lev 23:40; Jn 12:13).

7:10 Salvation belongs to our God. See Ge 49:18 ("deliverance"); Jnh 2:9.

7:11 elders. See note on 4:4. four living creatures. See note on 4:6.

7:12 Praise . . . strength. The sevenfold list of attributes expresses complete or perfect praise (see note on 5:12).

7:13 white robes. See note on 6:11.

7:14 the great tribulation. The period of final hostility prior to Christ's return. Some hold that the beginning of this hostility was already being experienced by the church of John's day.

7:15 temple. All 16 references to the temple in Revelation use the word that designates the inner shrine rather than the larger precincts. It is the place where God's presence dwells. spread his tent. The imagery would evoke memories of the tabernacle in the desert (Lev 26:11–13).

The Seventh Seal and the Golden Censer

8 When he opened the seventh seal,[x] there was silence in heaven for about half an hour.

2 And I saw the seven angels[y] who stand before God, and to them were given seven trumpets.[z]

3 Another angel,[a] who had a golden censer, came and stood at the altar. He was given much incense to offer, with the prayers of all the saints,[b] on the golden altar[c] before the throne. 4 The smoke of the incense, together with the prayers of the saints, went up before God[d] from the angel's hand. 5 Then the angel took the censer, filled it with fire from the altar,[e] and hurled it on the earth; and there came peals of thunder,[f] rumblings, flashes of lightning and an earthquake.[g]

The Trumpets

6 Then the seven angels who had the seven trumpets[h] prepared to sound them.

7 The first angel[i] sounded his trumpet, and there came hail and fire[j] mixed with blood, and it was hurled down upon the earth. A third[k] of the earth was burned up, a third of the trees were burned up, and all the green grass was burned up.[l]

8 The second angel sounded his trumpet, and something like a huge mountain,[m] all ablaze, was thrown into the sea. A third[n] of the sea turned into blood,[o] 9 a third[p] of the living creatures in the sea died, and a third of the ships were destroyed.

10 The third angel sounded his trumpet, and a great star, blazing like a torch, fell from the sky[q] on a third of the rivers and on the springs of water[r]— 11 the name of the star is Wormwood.[1] A third[s] of the waters turned bitter, and many people died from the waters that had become bitter.[t]

12 The fourth angel sounded his trumpet, and a third of the sun was struck, a third of the moon, and a third of the stars, so that a third[u] of them turned dark.[v] A third of the day was without light, and also a third of the night.[w]

13 As I watched, I heard an eagle that was flying in midair[x] call out in a loud voice: "Woe! Woe! Woe[y] to the inhabitants of the earth,[z] because of the trumpet blasts about to be sounded by the other three angels!"

9 The fifth angel sounded his trumpet, and I saw a star that had fallen from

[1] 11 That is, Bitterness

7:17 shepherd. Ancient kings often referred to themselves as the shepherds of their people.

8:1 silence in heaven. A dramatic pause before the next series of plagues—the final act of the drama is left undisclosed here, reserved to be presented later.

8:2 seven trumpets. In OT times the trumpet served to announce important events and give signals in time of war. The seven trumpets of Rev 8–9; 11:15–19 announce a series of plagues more severe than the seals but not as completely devastating as the bowls (ch. 16).

8:3 censer. A firepan used to hold live charcoal for the burning of incense (cf. Ex 27:3; 1Ki 7:50). with the prayers. Most translations consider the incense to be mingled "with" prayers. The Greek for this phrase also allows a translation that takes the incense "to be" the prayers ("incense . . . consisting of the prayers").

8:4 Although the angel is involved in presenting the prayers of the saints to God, he does not make them acceptable. The Jewish apocalyptic concept of angels as mediators finds no place in the NT.

8:5 thunder . . . earthquake. See note on 4:5.

8:7 hail and fire mixed with blood. Cf. the imagery of the seventh plague on Egypt (Ex 9:13–25; cf. Eze 38:22). A third of the earth was burned up. This fraction indicates that the punishment announced by the trumpets is not yet complete and final (the same fraction appears in each of the next three plagues: vv. 8–9, 10–11, 12). A smaller fraction (a fourth) of devastation accompanied the opening of the fourth seal (6:8).

8:8 sea turned into blood. Reminiscent of the first plague on Egypt (Ex 7:20–21). This is an eschatological judgment rather than natural pollution resulting from widespread volcanic upheavals.

8:10 great star . . . fell. See notes on 6:13; 9:1.

8:11 Wormwood. A plant with a strong, bitter taste (see NIV text note). It is used here as a metaphor for calamity and sorrow (see Pr 5:3–4; Jer 9:15; La 3:19). It is not poisonous, but its bitterness suggests death. waters turned bitter. The reverse of the miracle at Marah, where bitter waters were made sweet (Ex 15:25).

8:12 a third of the sun was struck. In the ninth plague on Egypt, thick darkness covered the land for three days (Ex 10:21–23). References to the Egyptian plagues suggest that in Revelation we have the final exodus of God's people from the bondage of a world controlled by hostile powers.

8:13 Woe! Woe! Woe . . . ! These three woes correspond to the three final trumpet plagues (see 9:12; 11:14 [10:1–11:13 is a parenthesis]; the seven bowl judgments of chs. 15–16 apparently constitute the third woe). The woes fall on the unbelieving world (the phrase "the inhabitants of the earth" refers to the wicked; see note on 6:10), not on the righteous (see 9:4).

9:1 star that had fallen. The star in 8:10 was part of a cosmic disturbance; here the star is a divine agent, probably an angel (cf. 20:1). Abyss. Conceived of as the subterranean abode of demonic hordes (see 20:1; Lk 8:31). The Greek word means "very deep" or "bottomless," and is used in the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) to the sky to the earth.[a] The star was given the key[b] to the shaft of the Abyss.[c] 2When he opened the Abyss, smoke rose from it like the smoke from a gigantic furnace.[d] The sun and sky were darkened[e] by the smoke from the Abyss.[f] 3And out of the smoke locusts[g] came down upon the earth and were given power like that of scorpions[h] of the earth. 4They were told not to harm[i] the grass of the earth or any plant or tree,[j] but only those people who did not have the seal of God on their foreheads.[k] 5They were not given power to kill them, but only to torture them for five months.[l] And the agony they suffered was like that of the sting of a scorpion[m] when it strikes a man. 6During those days men will seek death, but will not find it; they will long to die, but death will elude them.[n]

7The locusts looked like horses prepared for battle.[o] On their heads they wore something like crowns of gold, and their faces resembled human faces.[p] 8Their hair was like women's hair, and their teeth were like lions' teeth.[q] 9They had breastplates like breastplates of iron, and the sound of their wings was like the thundering of many horses and chariots rushing into battle.[r] 10They had tails and stings like scorpions, and in their tails they had power to torment people for five months.[s] 11They had as king over them the angel of the Abyss,[t] whose name in Hebrew[u] is Abaddon,[v] and in Greek, Apollyon.[m]

12The first woe is past; two other woes are yet to come.[w]

13The sixth angel sounded his trumpet, and I heard a voice coming from the horns[nx] of the golden altar that is before God.[y] 14It said to the sixth angel who had the trumpet, "Release the four angels[z] who are bound at the great river Euphrates."[a] 15And the four angels who had been kept ready for this very hour and day and month and year were released[b] to kill a third[c] of mankind.[d] 16The number of the mounted troops was two hundred million. I heard their number.[e]

17The horses and riders I saw in my vision looked like this: Their breastplates were fiery red, dark blue, and yellow as sulfur. The heads of the horses resembled the heads of lions, and out of their mouths[f] came fire, smoke and sulfur.[g] 18A third[h] of mankind was killed[i] by the three plagues of fire, smoke and sulfur[j] that came out of their mouths. 19The power of the horses was in their mouths and in their tails; for their tails were like snakes, having heads with which they inflict injury.

20The rest of mankind that were not killed by these plagues still did not repent[k] of the work of their hands; they did not stop worshiping demons,[l] and idols of gold, silver, bronze, stone and wood—idols that cannot see or hear or

[m] 11 Abaddon and Apollyon mean Destroyer.
[n] 13 That is, projections translate the Hebrew word for the primeval deep (see Ge 1:2; 7:11; Pr 8:28). Seven of the eight NT occurrences of the Greek words for Abyss are in Revelation.

9:3 locusts. For background see the plague of locusts in Ex 10:1–20. Joel 1:2–2:11 interprets the locust plague as a foreshadowing of the devastations that accompany the day of the Lord. Locusts traveled in enormous swarms and could strip a land of all vegetation. In 1866, 200,000 people died in a famine in Algiers following a locust plague. scorpions. Large spider-like organisms that injure or kill by means of a poisonous barb in the tail.

9:4 people who did not have the seal of God. The first woe does not affect the "servants of God" (see 7:3). Cf. the Israelites, who were protected from the Egyptian plagues (Ex 8:22; 9:4,26; 10:23; 11:7).

9:5 five months. A limited period of time suggested by the life cycle of the locust or the dry season (spring through late summer, about five months), in which the danger of a locust invasion is always present.

9:6 seek death, but will not find it. Cf. Hos 10:8 (quoted in Lk 23:30). Cornelius Gallus, a Roman poet living in the first century B.C., wrote: "Worse than any wound is the wish to die and yet not be able to do so." Cf. Paul's attitude toward death in Php 1:23–24.

9:7 human faces. The locusts appear to have the cunning of intelligent beings. They do not simply use brute force.

9:8 women's hair. Perhaps a reference to long antennae. lions' teeth. Cruel, inhumane.

9:9 breastplates. The breastplate was a coat of mail that protected the front. like breastplates of iron. Probably thin iron pieces riveted to a leather base.

9:10 five months. See note on v. 5.

9:11 Abaddon. A personification of destruction (see NIV text note; cf. Pr 15:11).

9:12 first woe. See note on 8:13.

9:13 horns of the golden altar. See 8:3–5. The horns were projections at the four corners of the altar (Ex 27:2). Those fleeing judgment could seek mercy by taking hold of the horns (1Ki 1:50–51; 2:28; see note on Am 3:14).

9:14 four angels. Apparently in charge of the demonic horsemen (vv. 15–19). Euphrates. The longest river in western Asia (about 1,700 miles). It marked the boundary between Israel and her historic enemies (Assyria and Babylon) to the east (cf. Isa 8:5–8).

9:15 hour . . . day . . . month . . . year. Apocalyptic thought views God as acting according to an exact timetable.

9:16 two hundred million. The reference is most likely general, intending an incalculable host rather than a specific number (cf. Ps 68:17; Da 7:10; Rev 5:11).

9:17 breastplates. See note on v. 9. out of their mouths came fire. Cf. the two witnesses in 11:5.

9:19 tails were like snakes, having heads. Emphasizes the demonic origin of the horses (cf. 12:9).

9:20 demons. Spiritual beings in league with Satan and exerting an evil influence on human affairs (cf. Dt 4:28; Ps 115:5–7; 1Co 10:20).

walk.[n] 21Nor did they repent[o] of their murders, their magic arts,[p] their sexual immorality[q] or their thefts.

The Angel and the Little Scroll

10 Then I saw another mighty angel[r] coming down from heaven.[s] He was robed in a cloud, with a rainbow[t] above his head; his face was like the sun,[u] and his legs were like fiery pillars.[v] 2He was holding a little scroll,[w] which lay open in his hand. He planted his right foot on the sea and his left foot on the land,[x] 3and he gave a loud shout like the roar of a lion.[y] When he shouted, the voices of the seven thunders[z] spoke. 4And when the seven thunders spoke, I was about to write;[a] but I heard a voice from heaven[b] say, "Seal up what the seven thunders have said and do not write it down."[c]

5Then the angel I had seen standing on the sea and on the land[d] raised his right hand to heaven.[e] 6And he swore[f] by him who lives for ever and ever,[g] who created the heavens and all that is in them, the earth and all that is in it, and the sea and all that is in it,[h] and said, "There will be no more delay![i] 7But in the days when the seventh angel is about to sound his trumpet,[j] the mystery[k] of God will be accomplished, just as he announced to his servants the prophets."[l]

8Then the voice that I had heard from heaven[m] spoke to me once more: "Go, take the scroll[n] that lies open in the hand of the angel who is standing on the sea and on the land."

9So I went to the angel and asked him to give me the little scroll. He said to me, "Take it and eat it. It will turn your stomach sour, but in your mouth it will be as sweet as honey."[o] 10I took the little scroll from the angel's hand and ate it. It tasted as sweet as honey in my mouth,[p] but when I had eaten it, my stomach turned sour. 11Then I was told, "You must prophesy[q] again about many peoples, nations, languages and kings."[r]

The Two Witnesses

11 I was given a reed like a measuring rod[s] and was told, "Go and measure the temple of God and the altar, and count the worshipers there. 2But exclude the outer court;[t] do not measure it, because it has been given to the Gentiles.[u] They will trample on the holy city[v] for 42 months.[w] 3And I will give power to my two witnesses,[x] and they will prophesy for 1,260 days,[y] clothed

9:21 Nor did they repent. See 16:9,11. Even physical pain will not change the rebellious heart. magic arts. Involved the mixing of various ingredients (the Greek for this phrase is pharmakon, from which comes the English "pharmacy") for magical purposes. Believers at Ephesus publicly burned their books of magic, valued at 50,000 drachmas (Ac 19:19).

10:1 mighty angel. Perhaps the angel of 5:2. rainbow. Cf. Eze 1:26–28. The rainbow became a sign of God's pledge never to destroy the earth again by a flood (Ge 9:8–17). legs were like fiery pillars. Since the exodus supplies background for this central part of Revelation (see note on 8:12), this feature may recall the pillars of fire and cloud that guided (Ex 13:21–22) and protected (Ex 14:19,24) the Israelites during their desert journey.

10:2 little scroll. Not the same as the scroll of destiny in ch. 5, since that scroll was intended to reveal its contents and this scroll was to be eaten. Furthermore, the term "little scroll" sets this particular scroll off from all others. right foot on the sea . . . left foot on the land. Indicates his tremendous size and symbolizes that his coming has to do with the destiny of all creation (cf. v. 6).

10:3 seven thunders. In 8:5; 11:19; 16:18 thunder is connected with divine punishment. Here, too, it anticipates the judgment to fall on those who refuse God's love and grace.

10:4 Seal up. In Da 8:26; 12:4,9 the prophecies are sealed until the last times, when they will be opened. What the seven thunders said will not be revealed until their proper time. Cf. the angel's instructions in 22:10 not to seal the prophecies of Revelation.

10:5 raised his right hand. A part of oath taking (see Ge 14:22–23; Dt 32:40).

10:6 him who lives for ever and ever. Of special encouragement in a context of impending martyrdom (cf. 1:18; 4:9–10; 15:7). no more delay. The martyrs in 6:9–11 were told to rest for a while, but now the end has come (cf. Da 12:1; Mk 13:19).

10:7 mystery of God. In apocalyptic thought mysteries were secrets preserved in heaven and revealed to the apocalyptist. Here the mystery is that God has won the victory over the forces of evil and will reign for ever and ever (cf. 11:15).

10:9 Take it and eat it. Grasp and digest fully the contents of the scroll (cf. Ps 119:103). turn your stomach sour. The message of the little scroll (11:1–13) will involve suffering—the "bad news." in your mouth . . . sweet as honey. God's eternal purposes will experience no further delay—the "good news."

10:11 prophesy again. The prophecies following the sounding of the seventh trumpet in 11:15. peoples . . . kings. See note on 7:9.

11:1 reed. A bamboo-like cane that often reached a height of 20 feet and grew in abundance in the waters along the banks of the Jordan. Straight and light, the reed was a convenient measuring rod (see Eze 40:3; Zec 2:1–2). temple. See note on 7:15. altar. The context of worship suggests that this is the great altar.

11:2 outer court. The court of the Gentiles, approximately 26 acres. trample on the holy city. Cf. Ps 79:1; Isa 63:18; Lk 21:24. 42 months. Three and a half years. Some find the background for this period in the time of Jewish suffering under the Syrian tyrant, Antiochus Epiphanes (168–165 B.C.). Others point out that, whereas the temple was desolated for three years under Antiochus, the figure used in Revelation is three and a half years, which no doubt looks back to the dividing of the 70th "seven" (Da 9:27) into two equal parts. The same time period is also designated as 1,260 days (v. 3; 12:6) and as "a time, times and half a time" (12:14; cf. Da 7:25; 12:7). This period of time evidently became a conventional symbol for a limited period of unrestrained wickedness.

11:3 two witnesses. Modeled after Moses and Elijah (see in sackcloth."[z] [4]These are the two olive trees[a] and the two lampstands that stand before the Lord of the earth.[b] [5]If anyone tries to harm them, fire comes from their mouths and devours their enemies.[c] This is how anyone who wants to harm them must die.[d] [6]These men have power to shut up the sky[e] so that it will not rain during the time they are prophesying;[f] and they have power to turn the waters into blood[g] and to strike the earth with every kind of plague as often as they want.

[7]Now when they have finished their testimony, the beast[h] that comes up from the Abyss[i] will attack them,[j] and overpower and kill them. [8]Their bodies will lie in the street of the great city,[k] which is figuratively called Sodom[l] and Egypt, where also their Lord was crucified.[m] [9]For three and a half days men from every people, tribe, language and nation[n] will gaze on their bodies and refuse them burial.[o] [10]The inhabitants of the earth[p] will gloat over them and will celebrate by sending each other gifts,[q] because these two prophets had tormented those who live on the earth.

[11]But after the three and a half days[r] a breath of life from God entered them,[s] and they stood on their feet, and terror struck those who saw them. [12]Then they heard a loud voice from heaven saying to them, "Come up here."[t] And they went up to heaven in a cloud,[u] while their enemies looked on.

[13]At that very hour there was a severe earthquake[v] and a tenth of the city collapsed. Seven thousand people were killed in the earthquake, and the survivors were terrified and gave glory[w] to the God of heaven.[x]

[14]The second woe has passed; the third woe is coming soon.[y]

The Seventh Trumpet

[15]The seventh angel sounded his trumpet,[z] and there were loud voices[a] in heaven, which said:

> "The kingdom of the world has > become the kingdom of our > Lord and of his Christ,[b] > and he will reign for ever and > ever."[c]

[16]And the twenty-four elders,[d] who were seated on their thrones before God, fell on their faces[e] and worshiped God, [17]saying:

> "We give thanks[f] to you, Lord God notes on vv. 5–6). They may symbolize testifying believers in the final period before Christ returns. Or they may be two actual individuals who will be martyred for the proclamation of the truth. 1,260 days. See note on v. 2. These are months of 30 days (42 months x 30 days = 1,260 days). sackcloth. A coarse, dark cloth woven from the hair of goats or camels. It was worn as a sign of mourning and penitence (Joel 1:13; Jnh 3:5–6; Mt 11:21).
> Almighty,[g]

11:4 The imagery emphasizes that the power for effective testimony is supplied by the Spirit of God (see notes on Zec 4).

11:5 fire comes ... and devours. Cf. Elijah's encounters with the messengers of Ahaziah (2Ki 1:10,12).

11:6 power to shut up the sky. Cf. the drought in the days of Elijah (1Ki 17:1; see also Lk 4:25; Jas 5:17). waters into blood. God used Moses to bring the same plague on the Egyptians (Ex 7:17–21).

11:7 the beast. First mention of the major opponent of God's people in the final days (see chs. 13; 17). That he comes up from the Abyss (see note on 9:1) indicates his demonic character. kill them. They will suffer the same fate as their Lord (see v. 8).

11:8 Their bodies will lie in the street. In the Near East the denial of burial was a flagrant violation of decency. great city. Possibly Jerusalem, though some say Rome, Babylon or some other city. It may be symbolic of the world opposed to God (see 16:19; 17:18; 18:10,16,18–19,21). Sodom (see similarly Isa 1:10) refers to its low level of morality (cf. Ge 19:4–11), and Egypt emphasizes oppression and slavery. Some say that Jesus could have been crucified in Rome in the sense that her power extended throughout the known world and was immediately responsible for Christ's execution.

11:9 three and a half days. A short time when compared with the three and a half years of their ministry. refuse them burial. See note on v. 8.

11:11 a breath of life from God entered them. A dramatic validation of the true faith (cf. Eze 37:5,10).

11:12 went up to heaven in a cloud. Cf. 1Th 4:17. enemies looked on. Cf. 1:7.

11:13 earthquake. See notes on 6:12; Eze 38:19. gave glory to the God of heaven. Not an act of repentance but the terrified realization that Christ, not the antichrist, is the true Lord of all.

11:14 second woe. Cf. 9:12.

11:15 seventh angel sounded. The series of trumpet blasts is now continued (see 9:13) and completed. kingdom of our Lord. Cf. Ex 15:18; Ps 10:16; Zec 14:9. of our Lord and of his Christ. Cf. Ps 2:2.

11:16 twenty-four elders. See note on 4:4.

11:17 One who is and who was. In 1:4,8; 4:8 he is also the one "who is to come." This is now omitted because his reign is here pictured as having begun.

11:18 nations were angry. See Ps 48:4. your wrath. See note on 6:16. God's wrath triumphs in 14:10–11; 16:15–21; 20:8–9. judging the dead. Anticipated in 6:10, carried out in 20:11–15. your servants the prophets. See Da 9:6,10; Am 3:7; Zec 1:6.

[19]Then God's temple[n] in heaven was opened, and within his temple was seen the ark of his covenant.[o] And there came flashes of lightning, rumblings, peals of thunder,[p] an earthquake and a great hailstorm.[q]

The Woman and the Dragon

12 A great and wondrous sign[r] appeared in heaven:[s] a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon under her feet and a crown of twelve stars[t] on her head. [2]She was pregnant and cried out in pain[u] as she was about to give birth. [3]Then another sign appeared in heaven:[v] an enormous red dragon[w] with seven heads[x] and ten horns[y] and seven crowns[z] on his heads. [4]His tail swept a third[a] of the stars out of the sky and flung them to the earth.[b] The dragon stood in front of the woman who was about to give birth, so that he might devour her child[c] the moment it was born. [5]She gave birth to a son, a male child, who will rule all the nations with an iron scepter.[d] And her child was snatched up[e] to God and to his throne. [6]The woman fled into the desert to a place prepared for her by God, where she might be taken care of for 1,260 days.[f]

[7]And there was war in heaven. Michael[g] and his angels fought against the dragon,[h] and the dragon and his angels[i] fought back. [8]But he was not strong enough, and they lost their place in heaven. [9]The great dragon was hurled down—that ancient serpent[j] called the devil,[k] or Satan,[l] who leads the whole world astray.[m] He was hurled to the earth,[n] and his angels with him.

[10]Then I heard a loud voice in heaven[o] say:

"Now have come the salvation[p] and the power and the kingdom of our God, and the authority of his Christ.
For the accuser of our brothers,[q] who accuses them before our God day and night,
has been hurled down.
[11]They overcame[r] him by the blood of the Lamb[s] and by the word of their testimony;[t] they did not love their lives so much as to shrink from death.[u] [12]Therefore rejoice, you heavens[v] and you who dwell in them!
But woe[w] to the earth and the sea,[x] because the devil has gone down to you!
He is filled with fury, because he knows that his time is short."

[13]When the dragon[y] saw that he had been hurled to the earth, he pursued the woman who had given birth to the male child.[z] [14]The woman was given the two wings of a great eagle,[a] so that she might fly to the place prepared for her in the desert, where she would be taken care of for a time, times and half a time,[b] out of the serpent's reach. [15]Then from his mouth the serpent[c] spewed water like a river, to overtake the woman and sweep her away with the torrent.

11:19 ark of his covenant. The OT ark was a chest of acacia wood (Dt 10:1–2). It symbolized the throne or presence of God among his people. It was probably destroyed when Nebuzaradan destroyed the temple in Jerusalem (2Ki 25:8–10). In the NT it symbolizes God's faithfulness in keeping covenant with his people. lightning . . . hailstorm. See note on 4:5.

12:1 sign. An extraordinary spectacle or event that points beyond itself (cf. Lk 21:11,25; Ac 2:19). a woman clothed with the sun. Probably a symbolic reference to the believing Messianic community (see v. 5). twelve stars. Cf. the 12 tribes of Israel.

12:2 cried out in pain. Cf. the similar language describing the rebirth of Jerusalem in Isa 66:7 (see Mic 4:10).

12:3 red dragon. Identified in v. 9 (cf. 20:2). Dragons abound in the mythology of ancient peoples (Leviathan in Canaanite lore and Set-Typhon, the red crocodile, in Egypt). In the OT they are normally used metaphorically to depict the enemies of God and of Israel (see Ps 74:14; Isa 27:1; Eze 29:3). seven heads. Symbolizing universal wisdom (cf. 13:1). ten horns. Symbolizing great power.

12:5 a son, a male child. The Messiah. iron scepter. See note on 2:27. snatched up to God. The ascension of Christ.

12:6 desert. Not a wasteland but a place of spiritual refuge (cf. Hos 2:14). 1,260 days. The time of spiritual protection corresponds to the time of persecution (see note on 11:2; cf. 13:5).

12:7 Michael. An archangel who defeats Satan in heavenly warfare. In Da 12:1 he is the protector of Israel who will deliver her from tribulation in the last days.

12:9 dragon was hurled . . . to the earth. Not the original casting of Satan out of heaven, but his final exclusion—an explanation of his intense hostility against God's people in the last days (vv. 12–17). devil, or Satan. See notes on 2:9–10. leads . . . astray. Cf. 2Co 11:3; see also Lk 22:31; Jn 13:2.

12:10 accuser. See Job 1:9–11; Zec 3:1. Satan in Hebrew means "accuser."

12:11 blood of the Lamb. See note on 5:9; see also 1:5; 7:14.

12:12 his time is short. The period of final, intense hostility of Satan toward the people of God.

12:13–16 Cf. the similarity to the exodus.

12:14 desert. See note on v. 6. a time, times and half a time. One year plus two years plus half a year (see note on 11:2).

16But the earth helped the woman by opening its mouth and swallowing the river that the dragon had spewed out of his mouth. 17Then the dragon was enraged at the woman and went off to make war[d] against the rest of her offspring[e]—those who obey God's commandments[f] and hold to the testimony of Jesus.[g]

13 1And the dragon[o] stood on the shore of the sea.

The Beast out of the Sea

And I saw a beast coming out of the sea.[h] He had ten horns and seven heads,[i] with ten crowns on his horns, and on each head a blasphemous name.[j] 2The beast I saw resembled a leopard,[k] but had feet like those of a bear[l] and a mouth like that of a lion.[m] The dragon gave the beast his power and his throne and great authority.[n] 3One of the heads of the beast seemed to have had a fatal wound, but the fatal wound had been healed.[o] The whole world was astonished[p] and followed the beast. 4Men worshiped the dragon because he had given authority to the beast, and they also worshiped the beast and asked, "Who is like[q] the beast? Who can make war against him?"

5The beast was given a mouth to utter proud words and blasphemies[r] and to exercise his authority for forty-two months.[s] 6He opened his mouth to blaspheme God, and to slander his name and his dwelling place and those who live in heaven.[t] 7He was given power to make war[u] against the saints and to conquer them. And he was given authority over every tribe, people, language and nation.[v] 8All inhabitants of the earth[w] will worship the beast—all whose names have not been written in the book of life[x] belonging to the Lamb[y] that was slain from the creation of the world.[pz]

9He who has an ear, let him hear.[a]

10If anyone is to go into captivity, into captivity he will go.
If anyone is to be killed[q] with the sword, with the sword he will be killed.[b]

This calls for patient endurance and faithfulness[c] on the part of the saints.[d]

The Beast out of the Earth

11Then I saw another beast, coming out of the earth.[e] He had two horns like a lamb, but he spoke like a dragon.[f] 12He exercised all the authority[g] of the first beast on his behalf,[h] and made the earth and its inhabitants worship the first beast,[i] whose fatal wound had been healed.[j] 13And he performed great and miraculous signs,[k] even causing fire to come down from heaven[l] to earth in full view of men. 14Because of the signs[m] he was given power to do on behalf of the first beast, he deceived[n] the inhabitants of the earth.[o] He ordered them to set up an image in honor of the beast who was wounded by the sword and yet lived.[p] 15He was given power to give breath to the image of the first beast, so that it could speak and cause all who refused to worship[q] the image to be killed.[r] 16He also forced everyone, small

[o] 1 Some late manuscripts And I [p] 8 Or written from the creation of the world in the book of life belonging to the Lamb that was slain [q] 10 Some manuscripts anyone kills

12:16 earth helped ... by opening its mouth. In Nu 16:30–33 the earth opened and swallowed Korah's men.

12:17 rest of her offspring. Believers in general as contrasted with Christ, the male child of vv. 5,13. testimony of Jesus. The testimony that Jesus bore (cf. 1:2,9; 19:10).

13:1 beast coming out of the sea. First mentioned in 11:7. According to some, the beast symbolizes the Roman empire, the deification of secular authority. According to others, he is the final, personal antichrist. The background seems to be Daniel's vision of the four great beasts (Da 7:2–7). See 17:8–11 for the interpreting angel's explanation of the beast. ten horns. See 17:12. blasphemous name. Roman emperors tended to assume titles of deity. Domitian, e.g., was addressed as Dominus et Deus noster ("Our Lord and God").

13:2 leopard ... bear ... lion. John's beast combined characteristics of Daniel's four beasts (Da 7:4–6). dragon. See note on 12:3.

13:3 fatal wound ... healed. Emphasizes the tremendous recuperative power of the beast. whole world was astonished. See 17:8 for the same reaction.

13:5 was given. Four times in the Greek text of vv. 5–7 the passive "was given" occurs, emphasizing the subordinate role of the beast (see vv. 2,4). forty-two months. See note on 11:2.

13:7 make war. See 12:17; see also Da 7:7.

13:8 book of life belonging to the Lamb. See note on 3:5. slain from the creation of the world. See NIV text note (cf. 17:8). Cf. Isa 53:7; Jn 1:29,36.

13:11 another beast, coming out of the earth. According to some, he symbolizes religious power in the service of secular authorities. According to others, he is the personal false prophet (see 16:13; 19:20; 20:10). two horns like a lamb. He attempts to appear gentle and harmless. spoke like a dragon. See Jesus' warning in Mt 7:15 about ravenous wolves who come in sheep's clothing.

13:12 exercised all the authority of the first beast. The trinity of evil is now complete. The beast from the earth is under the authority of the beast from the sea. The latter is subject to the dragon. Satan, secular power and religious compromise (or Satan, the antichrist and the false prophet) join against the cause of God: Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

13:13 miraculous signs. See the warning in Dt 13:1–3; see also Mt 24:24; 2Th 2:9; cf. Rev 19:20. fire ... from heaven. See 1Ki 18:24–39.

13:14 set up an image. Cf. Da 3:1–11; 2Th 2:4.

13:15 it could speak. Belief in statues that could speak is widely attested in ancient literature. Ventriloquism and other forms of deception were common.

13:16 mark. Whatever its origin—possibly the branding of slaves or enemy soldiers, the sealing and stamping of offi-and great,[s] rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark on his right hand or on his forehead,[t] 17so that no one could buy or sell unless he had the mark,[u] which is the name of the beast or the number of his name.[v]

18This calls for wisdom.[w] If anyone has insight, let him calculate the number of the beast, for it is man's number.[x] His number is 666.

The Lamb and the 144,000

14 Then I looked, and there before me was the Lamb,[y] standing on Mount Zion,[z] and with him 144,000[a] who had his name and his Father's name[b] written on their foreheads.[c] 2And I heard a sound from heaven like the roar of rushing waters[d] and like a loud peal of thunder.[e] The sound I heard was like that of harpists playing their harps.[f] 3And they sang a new song[g] before the throne and before the four living creatures[h] and the elders.[i] No one could learn the song except the 144,000[j] who had been redeemed from the earth. 4These are those who did not defile themselves with women, for they kept themselves pure.[k] They follow the Lamb wherever he goes.[l] They were purchased from among men[m] and offered as firstfruits[n] to God and the Lamb. 5No lie was found in their mouths;[o] they are blameless.[p]

The Three Angels

6Then I saw another angel flying in midair,[q] and he had the eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on the earth[r]—to every nation, tribe, language and people.[s] 7He said in a loud voice, "Fear God[t] and give him glory,[u] because the hour of his judgment has come. Worship him who made[v] the heavens, the earth, the sea and the springs of water."[w]

8A second angel followed and said, "Fallen! Fallen is Babylon the Great,[x] which made all the nations drink the maddening wine of her adulteries."[y]

9A third angel followed them and said in a loud voice: "If anyone worships the beast[z] and his image[a] and receives his mark on the forehead[b] or on the hand, 10he, too, will drink of the wine of God's fury,[c] which has been poured full strength into the cup of his wrath.[d] He will be tormented with burning sulfur[e] in the presence of the holy angels and of the Lamb. 11And the smoke of their torment rises for ever and ever.[f] There is no rest day or night[g] for those who worship the beast and his image,[h] or for anyone who receives the mark of his name."[i] 12This calls for patient endurance[j] on the part of the saints[k] who cial documents, or the sign of the cross on the forehead of a new Christian—the mark of the beast apparently symbolized allegiance to the demands of the imperial cult. In the final days of the antichrist it will be the ultimate test of loyalty (cf. v. 17; 14:9,11; 15:2; 16:2; 19:20; 20:4). It imitates the sealing of the servants of God in ch. 7.

13:17 buy or sell. Economic boycott against all faithful believers. number of his name. In ancient times the letters of the alphabet served for numbers. Riddles using numerical equivalents for names were popular.

13:18 666. Various schemes for decoding these numbers result in such names as Euanthas, Lateinos, and Nero Caesar (currently the favorite). Others take 666 as a symbol for the trinity of evil and imperfection—each digit falls short of the perfect number 7.

14:1 Lamb. See note on 5:6. Mount Zion. In the OT it was first the fortress of the pre-Israelite city of Jerusalem (2Sa 5:7), captured by David and established as his capital. Later it became a virtual synonym for Jerusalem. In Revelation, as in Heb 12:22–24, it is the heavenly Jerusalem, the eternal dwelling place of God and his people (cf. Gal 4:26). It comes down to the new earth in 21:2–3. 144,000. See note on 7:4. name. Contrast 13:16–18.

14:2 harps. See note on 5:8.

14:3 new song. See note on 5:9. The theme is deliverance.

14:4 not defile themselves with women. Probably a symbolic description of believers who kept themselves from defiling relationships with the pagan world system. follow the Lamb. As his disciples (see Mt 19:21; Mk 8:34). firstfruits. See Lev 23:9–14. The word is used figuratively in the NT for the first converts in an area (Ro 16:5) and the first to rise from the dead (1Co 15:20). In Revelation believers are considered as a choice offering to God and the Lamb.

14:5 No lie. Contrast Ro 1:25; see Isa 53:9.

14:6 eternal gospel. The content of this "good news" is perhaps found in v. 7.

14:7 him who made the heavens. See Ex 20:11; Ps 146:6.

14:8 Babylon the Great. Ancient Babylon in Mesopotamia was the political, commercial and religious center of a world empire. It was noted for its luxury and moral decadence. The title "Babylon the Great" is taken from Da 4:30. According to some, it is used in Revelation (e.g., here and in 16:19; 17:5; 18:2,10,21) for Rome as the center of opposition to God and his people. According to others, it represents the whole political and religious system of the world in general. According to still others, it is to be understood as literal Babylon—rebuilt and restored. Babylon's fall is proclaimed in Isa 21:9; Jer 51:8. maddening wine of her adulteries. Here Babylon (Rome?) is pictured as a prostitute whose illicit relations are achieved by intoxication.

14:10 cup of his wrath. In the OT God's wrath is commonly pictured as a cup of wine to be drunk (Ps 75:8; Isa 51:17; Jer 25:15). It is not the outworking of impersonal laws of retribution, but the response of a righteous God to those who refuse his love and grace. burning sulfur. Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed by a rain of burning sulfur (Ge 19:24). Ps 11:6 speaks of a similar fate for the wicked. The figure occurs elsewhere in the OT and the Apocrypha. It is used several times in the final chapters of Revelation (19:20; 20:10; 21:8).

14:11 torment . . . for ever and ever. Revelation offers no support for the doctrine of the annihilation of the wicked (also compare 19:20 with 20:10).

obey God's commandments[l] and remain faithful to Jesus.

"Yes," says the Spirit,[n] "they will rest from their labor, for their deeds will follow them."

The Harvest of the Earth

14I looked, and there before me was a white cloud,[o] and seated on the cloud was one "like a son of man"[rp] with a crown[q] of gold on his head and a sharp sickle in his hand. 15Then another angel came out of the temple[r] and called in a loud voice to him who was sitting on the cloud, "Take your sickle[s] and reap, because the time to reap has come, for the harvest[t] of the earth is ripe." 16So he who was seated on the cloud swung his sickle over the earth, and the earth was harvested.

17Another angel came out of the temple in heaven, and he too had a sharp sickle.[u] 18Still another angel, who had charge of the fire, came from the altar[v] and called in a loud voice to him who had the sharp sickle, "Take your sharp sickle[w] and gather the clusters of grapes from the earth's vine, because its grapes are ripe." 19The angel swung his sickle on the earth, gathered its grapes and threw them into the great winepress of God's wrath.[x] 20They were trampled in the winepress[y] outside the city,[z] and blood[a] flowed out of the press, rising as high as the horses' bridles for a distance of 1,600 stadia.[s]

Seven Angels With Seven Plagues

15 I saw in heaven another great and marvelous sign:[b] seven angels[c] with the seven last plagues[d]—last, because with them God's wrath is completed. 2And I saw what looked like a sea of glass[e] mixed with fire and, standing beside the sea, those who had been victorious[f] over the beast[g] and his image[h] and over the number of his name.[i] They held harps[j] given them by God 3and sang the song of Moses[k] the servant of God[l] and the song of the Lamb:[m]

"Great and marvelous are your deeds,[n]
Lord God Almighty.[o]
Just and true are your ways,[p]
King of the ages.
4Who will not fear you, O Lord,[q] and bring glory to your name?[r]
For you alone are holy.
All nations will come and worship before you,[s] for your righteous acts[t] have been revealed."

5After this I looked and in heaven the temple,[u] that is, the tabernacle of the Testimony,[v] was opened.[w] 6Out of the temple[x] came the seven angels with the seven plagues.[y] They were dressed in clean, shining linen[z] and wore golden sashes around their chests.[a] 7Then one of the four living creatures[b] gave to [r]14 Daniel 7:13 [s]20 That is, about 180 miles (about 300 kilometers)

14:13 Blessed. The second beatitude (see note on 1:3).
14:14 son of man. See 1:13 and notes on Da 7:13; Mk 8:31. crown of gold. A victory wreath of gold. See note on 2:10 for the comparison between the victory crown and the royal crown. sickle. The Israelite sickle used for cutting grain was normally a flint or iron blade attached to a curved shaft of wood or bone.
14:15 harvest of the earth. Symbolizes in a general way the coming judgment (see Mt 13:30,40–42). Some interpreters think it refers to the ingathering of the righteous at the return of Christ.
14:18 another angel, who had charge of the fire. The angel of 8:3–5. Fire is commonly associated with judgment (see Mt 18:8; Lk 9:54; 2Th 1:7). sharp sickle. The context suggests (in contrast to the sickle of v. 14) the smaller grape-knife with which the farmer cut the clusters of grapes from the vine.
14:19 winepress. A rock-hewn trough about eight feet square with a channel leading to a lower and smaller trough. Grapes were thrown into the upper vat and tramped with bare feet. The juice was collected in the lower vat. At times mechanical pressure was added. The treading of grapes was a common OT figure for the execution of divine wrath (see Isa 63:3; La 1:15; Joel 3:13).
14:20 outside the city. Bloodshed would defile the city (see Joel 3:12–14; Zec 14:1–4; cf. Heb 13:12). 1,600 stadia. See NIV text note. It is approximately the length of the Holy Land from north to south.
15:1–8 Introduces the last of the three sevenfold series of judgments—the bowls of wrath (see note on 8:2).
15:1 God's wrath. See note on 6:16.
15:2 sea of glass. See note on 4:6. victorious over the beast. Cf. the saints' victory over the devil in 12:11. number of his name. See notes on 13:16–18. harps. See note on 5:8.
15:3 song of Moses. See Ex 15; Dt 32. Ex 15:1–18 was sung on Sabbath evenings in the synagogue to celebrate Israel's great deliverance from Egypt. song of the Lamb. The risen Lord triumphed over his enemies in securing spiritual deliverance for his followers (cf. Ps 22). Great and marvelous are your deeds. See Ex 15:11; Ps 92:5; 111:2. Almighty. See note on 1:8. King of the ages. See Jer 10:10; cf. 1Ti 1:17.
15:4 Universal recognition of God is taught in both the OT (Ps 86:9; Isa 45:22–23; Mal 1:11) and the NT (Php 2:9–11).
15:5 tabernacle of the Testimony. The dwelling place of God during the desert wandering of the Israelites (see Ex 40:34–35). It was so named because the ancient tent contained the two tablets of the Testimony brought down from Mount Sinai (Ex 32:15; 38:21; Dt 10:5).
15:6 seven plagues. The last series of plagues (see v. 1). golden sashes. Symbolic of royal and priestly functions.
15:7 wrath of God. Cf. 2Th 1:7–9.

the seven angels[c] seven golden bowls filled with the wrath of God, who lives for ever and ever.[d] 8And the temple was filled with smoke[e] from the glory of God and from his power, and no one could enter the temple[f] until the seven plagues of the seven angels were completed.

The Seven Bowls of God's Wrath

16 Then I heard a loud voice from the temple[g] saying to the seven angels,[h] "Go, pour out the seven bowls of God's wrath on the earth."[i]

2The first angel went and poured out his bowl on the land,[j] and ugly and painful sores[k] broke out on the people who had the mark of the beast and worshiped his image.[l]

3The second angel poured out his bowl on the sea, and it turned into blood like that of a dead man, and every living thing in the sea died.[m]

4The third angel poured out his bowl on the rivers and springs of water,[n] and they became blood.[o] 5Then I heard the angel in charge of the waters say:

"You are just in these judgments,[p] you who are and who were,[q] the Holy One,[r] because you have so judged;[s] 6for they have shed the blood of your saints and prophets,[t] and you have given them blood to drink[u] as they deserve."

7And I heard the altar[v] respond:

"Yes, Lord God Almighty,[w] true and just are your judgments."[x]

8The fourth angel[y] poured out his bowl on the sun,[z] and the sun was given power to scorch people with fire.[a] 9They were seared by the intense heat and they cursed the name of God,[b] who had control over these plagues, but they refused to repent[c] and glorify him.[d]

10The fifth angel poured out his bowl on the throne of the beast,[e] and his kingdom was plunged into darkness.[f] Men gnawed their tongues in agony 11and cursed[g] the God of heaven[h] because of their pains and their sores,[i] but they refused to repent of what they had done.[j]

12The sixth angel poured out his bowl on the great river Euphrates,[k] and its water was dried up to prepare the way[l] for the kings from the East.[m] 13Then I saw three evil[t] spirits[n] that looked like frogs;[o] they came out of the mouth of the dragon,[p] out of the mouth of the beast[q] and out of the mouth of the false prophet.[r] 14They are spirits of demons[s] performing miraculous signs,[t] and they go out to the kings of the whole world,[u] to gather them for the battle[v] on the great day[w] of God Almighty.

15"Behold, I come like a thief![x] Blessed is he who stays awake[y] and keeps his clothes with him, so that he may not go naked and be shamefully exposed."[z]

16Then they gathered the kings together[a] to the place that in Hebrew[b] is called Armageddon.[c]

17The seventh angel poured out his bowl into the air,[d] and out of the temple[e] came a loud voice[f] from the throne, saying, "It is done!"[g] 18Then there came flashes of lightning, rumblings, peals of thunder[h] and a severe

[t] 13 Greek unclean

15:8 filled with smoke. Cf. Ex 40:34; 1Ki 8:10–11; Eze 44:4. Smoke symbolizes the power and glory of God.

16:2 land. Compare the first four bowls (vv. 2–9) with the first four trumpets (8:7–12). ugly and painful sores. Cf. the boils and abscesses of the sixth Egyptian plague (Ex 9:9–11; see also Job 2:7–8,13). mark of the beast. See 13:16 and note.

16:4 rivers and springs of water. Cf. 8:10–11; see also Ps 78:44.

16:5 you who are and who were. See note on 11:17; cf. Ex 3:14.

16:6 given them blood to drink. Punishment is tailored to fit the crime (see Isa 49:26).

16:7 altar. Personified.

16:8 fire. Often connected with judgment in Scripture (see Dt 28:22; 1Co 3:13; 2Pe 3:7).

16:9 refused to repent. In 11:13 the nations were dazzled into homage by the great earthquake. Here they curse the name of God.

16:10 throne of the beast. Cf. Satan's throne in 2:13. "Throne" occurs 42 times in Revelation. The other 40 references are to the throne of God. gnawed their tongues. Cf. the scene in 6:15–17.

16:11 God of heaven. Used in Da 2:44 of the sovereign God, who destroys the kingdoms of the world and establishes his universal and eternal reign.

16:12 Euphrates. See note on 9:14. kings from the East. Evidently Parthian rulers (17:15–18:24), to be distinguished from the "kings of the whole world" (v. 14), who wage the final war against Christ and the armies of heaven (19:11–21).

16:13 frogs. Lev 11:10 classifies the frog as an unclean animal. The imagery suggests the deceptive propaganda that will, in the last days, lead people to accept and support the cause of evil.

16:14 miraculous signs. Cf. 13:13. kings of the whole world. See 6:15. great day of God. See 19:11–21 for this battle.

16:15 Blessed. The third beatitude (see note on 1:3).

16:16 Armageddon. Probably stands for Har Mageddon, "the mountain of Megiddo" (see note on Jdg 5:19). Many see no specific geographical reference in the designation and take it to be a symbol of the final overthrow of evil by God.

earthquake.[i] No earthquake like it has ever occurred since man has been on earth,[j] so tremendous was the quake. [19]The great city[k] split into three parts, and the cities of the nations collapsed. God remembered[l] Babylon the Great[m] and gave her the cup filled with the wine of the fury of his wrath.[n] [20]Every island fled away and the mountains could not be found.[o] [21]From the sky huge hailstones[p] of about a hundred pounds each fell upon men. And they cursed God[q] on account of the plague of hail,[r] because the plague was so terrible.

The Woman on the Beast

17 One of the seven angels[s] who had the seven bowls[t] came and said to me, "Come, I will show you the punishment[u] of the great prostitute,[v] who sits on many waters.[w] [2]With her the kings of the earth committed adultery and the inhabitants of the earth were intoxicated with the wine of her adulteries."[x]

[3]Then the angel carried me away in the Spirit[y] into a desert.[z] There I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet[a] beast that was covered with blasphemous names[b] and had seven heads and ten horns.[c] [4]The woman was dressed in purple and scarlet, and was glittering with gold, precious stones and pearls.[d] She held a golden cup[e] in her hand, filled with abominable things and the filth of her adulteries.[f] [5]This title was written on her forehead:

MYSTERY[g]
BABYLON THE GREAT[h]
THE MOTHER OF PROSTITUTES[i]
AND OF THE ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH.

[6]I saw that the woman was drunk with the blood of the saints,[j] the blood of those who bore testimony to Jesus.

When I saw her, I was greatly astonished. [7]Then the angel said to me: "Why are you astonished? I will explain to you the mystery[k] of the woman and of the beast she rides, which has the seven heads and ten horns.[l] [8]The beast, which you saw, once was, now is not, and will come up out of the Abyss[m] and go to his destruction.[n] The inhabitants of the earth[o] whose names have not been written in the book of life[p] from the creation of the world will be astonished[q] when they see the beast, because he once was, now is not, and yet will come.

[9]"This calls for a mind with wisdom.[r] The seven heads[s] are seven hills on which the woman sits. [10]They are also seven kings. Five have fallen, one is, the other has not yet come; but when he does come, he must remain for a little while. [11]The beast who once was, and now is not,[t] is an eighth king. He belongs to the seven and is going to his destruction.

[12]"The ten horns[u] you saw are ten kings who have not yet received a kingdom, but who for one hour[v] will receive authority as kings along with the beast. [13]They have one purpose and will give their power and authority to the beast.[w] [14]They will make war[x] against the Lamb, but the Lamb will overcome[y] them because he is Lord of lords and King of kings[z]—and with him will be his called, chosen[a] and faithful followers."

[15]Then the angel said to me, "The waters[b] you saw, where the prostitute sits, are peoples, multitudes, nations and languages.[c] [16]The beast and the ten

17:1 seven angels. Cf. 15:1; 16. great prostitute. See v. 18 for the angel's own identification of this symbol. In 17:5 the harlot is named "Babylon the Great." sits on many waters. See Ps 137:1; Jer 51:13.

17:2 wine of her adulteries. See note on 14:8; cf. 18:3; Isa 23:17; Jer 51:7.

17:3 in the Spirit. In a state of spiritual ecstasy (see notes on 1:10; 4:2; see also 21:10). scarlet beast. The beast that rose out of the sea in ch. 13. blasphemous names. See note on 13:1.

17:5 MYSTERY. Possibly not a part of the title. The opening part of the verse would then be translated "This mysterious title was written on her forehead: BABYLON . . ." See note on 14:8.

17:6 saints . . . those who bore testimony. See 6:9.

17:7 mystery. See note on 10:7.

17:8 once was, now is not, and will come. An obvious imitation of the description of the Lamb (1:18; 2:8). Cf. the description of God in 1:4,8; 4:8. Here the phrase seems to mean that the beast appeared once, is not presently evident, but will in the future again make his presence known. Evil is persistent. Abyss. See note on 9:1. book of life. See note on 3:5. go to his destruction. Although evil is real and persistent, there is no uncertainty about its ultimate fate.

17:9 seven hills. It is perhaps significant that Rome began as a network of seven hill settlements on the left bank of the Tiber. Her designation as the city on seven hills is commonplace among Roman writers (e.g., Virgil, Martial, Cicero).

17:10 seven kings. That seven heads symbolize both seven hills and seven kings illustrates the fluidity of apocalyptic symbolism, unless the hills are figurative for royal (or political) power. Five . . . one . . . the other. Taken (1) as seven actual Roman emperors, (2) as seven secular empires or (3) symbolically as the power of the Roman empire as a whole.

17:11 now is not. Cf. 13:3. eighth king. The antichrist, who plays the role of a king ("belongs to the seven") but is in reality part of the cosmic struggle between God and Satan.

17:12 one hour. A short time.

17:14 Lord of lords and King of kings. Emphasizes the supreme sovereignty of the Lamb (cf. Dt 10:17; Ps 136:2–3; Da 2:47; 1Ti 6:15).

horns[d] you saw will hate the prostitute.[e] They will bring her to ruin[f] and leave her naked;[g] they will eat her flesh[h] and burn her with fire.[i] 17For God has put it into their hearts[j] to accomplish his purpose by agreeing to give the beast their power to rule,[k] until God's words are fulfilled.[l] 18The woman you saw is the great city[m] that rules over the kings of the earth."

The Fall of Babylon

18 After this I saw another angel[n] coming down from heaven.[o] He had great authority, and the earth was illuminated by his splendor.[p] 2With a mighty voice he shouted:

"Fallen! Fallen is Babylon the Great![q]
She has become a home for demons and a haunt for every evil[u] spirit,[r] a haunt for every unclean and detestable bird.[s] 3For all the nations have drunk the maddening wine of her adulteries.[t]
The kings of the earth committed adultery with her,[u] and the merchants of the earth grew rich[v] from her excessive luxuries."[w]

4Then I heard another voice from heaven say:

"Come out of her, my people,[x] so that you will not share in her sins, so that you will not receive any of her plagues;[y]
5for her sins are piled up to heaven,[z] and God has remembered[a] her crimes.
6Give back to her as she has given; pay her back[b] double[c] for what she has done.
Mix her a double portion from her own cup.[d]
7Give her as much torture and grief as the glory and luxury she gave herself.[e]
In her heart she boasts,
'I sit as queen; I am not a widow, and I will never mourn.'[f] 8Therefore in one day[g] her plagues will overtake her:
death, mourning and famine.
She will be consumed by fire,[h] for mighty is the Lord God who judges her.

9"When the kings of the earth who committed adultery with her[i] and shared her luxury[j] see the smoke of her burning,[k] they will weep and mourn over her.[l] 10Terrified at her torment, they will stand far off[m] and cry:

" 'Woe! Woe, O great city,[n]
O Babylon, city of power!
In one hour[o] your doom has come!'

11"The merchants[p] of the earth will weep and mourn[q] over her because no one buys their cargoes any more[r]— 12cargoes of gold, silver, precious stones and pearls; fine linen, purple, silk and scarlet cloth; every sort of citron wood, and articles of every kind made of ivory, costly wood, bronze, iron and marble;[s] 13cargoes of cinnamon and spice, of incense, myrrh and frankincense, of wine and olive oil, of fine flour and wheat; cattle and sheep; horses and carriages; and bodies and souls of men.[t]

14"They will say, 'The fruit you longed for is gone from you. All your riches and splendor have vanished, never to be recovered.' 15The merchants who sold these things and gained their wealth from her[u] will stand far off,[v] terrified at her torment. They will weep and mourn[w] 16and cry out:

" 'Woe! Woe, O great city,[x] dressed in fine linen, purple and scarlet, and glittering with gold, precious stones and pearls![y] 17In one hour[z] such great wealth has been brought to ruin!'[a]

[u] 2 Greek unclean

17:18 great city. Cf. 17:1; see notes on 11:8; 14:8.

18:1 earth was illuminated by his splendor. Cf. Ex 34:29–35; Ps 104:2; Eze 43:1–5; 1Ti 6:16.

18:2 Fallen is Babylon. Cf. Isa 21:9; Jer 51:8; see notes on 11:8; 14:8.

18:3 wine of her adulteries. See note on 14:8.

18:4 Come out of her. A common prophetic warning (cf. Isa 52:11; Jer 51:45; 2Co 6:17).

18:6 double. In full, sufficiently (see note on Isa 40:2). her own cup. See 17:4.

18:7 I am not a widow. A claim that the men of Babylon have not died on battlefields.

18:9–20 Three groups lament: (1) kings (v. 9), (2) merchants (v. 11) and (3) seamen (v. 17). The passage is modeled after Ezekiel's lament over Tyre (Eze 27). Fifteen of the 29 commodities in vv. 12–13 are also listed in Eze 27:12–22.

18:9 kings ... weep and mourn over her. Probably because of their own great financial loss (see v. 11).

18:12 purple. An expensive dye since it must be extracted a drop at a time from the murex shellfish. citron wood. An expensive dark wood from north Africa—used for inlay work in costly furniture. marble. Used to decorate public buildings and the homes of the very rich.

18:13 myrrh and frankincense. Brought by the Magi as gifts for the infant Jesus (Mt 2:11). bodies and souls of men. Slave trade.

18:17 sea captain. The pilot of the ship rather than the owner. Both are mentioned in Ac 27:11.

"Every sea captain, and all who travel by ship, the sailors, and all who earn their living from the sea,[b] will stand far off.[c] 18When they see the smoke of her burning,[d] they will exclaim, 'Was there ever a city like this great city[e]?'[f] 19They will throw dust on their heads,[g] and with weeping and mourning[h] cry out:

" 'Woe! Woe, O great city,[i] where all who had ships on the sea became rich through her wealth!
In one hour she has been brought to ruin![j]
20Rejoice over her, O heaven![k]
Rejoice, saints and apostles and prophets!
God has judged her for the way she treated you.' "[l]

21Then a mighty angel[m] picked up a boulder the size of a large millstone and threw it into the sea,[n] and said:

"With such violence
the great city[o] of Babylon will be thrown down, never to be found again.
22The music of harpists and musicians, flute players and trumpeters,
will never be heard in you again.[p]
No workman of any trade will ever be found in you again.
The sound of a millstone will never be heard in you again.[q] 23The light of a lamp will never shine in you again.
The voice of bridegroom and bride will never be heard in you again.[r]
Your merchants were the world's great men.[s]
By your magic spell[t] all the nations were led astray.
24In her was found the blood of prophets and of the saints,[u] and of all who have been killed on the earth."[v]

Hallelujah!

19 After this I heard what sounded like the roar of a great multitude[w] in heaven shouting:

"Hallelujah![x]
Salvation[y] and glory and power[z] belong to our God,
2 for true and just are his judgments.[a]
He has condemned the great prostitute[b] who corrupted the earth by her adulteries.
He has avenged on her the blood of his servants."[c]

3And again they shouted:

"Hallelujah![d]
The smoke from her goes up for ever and ever."[e]

4The twenty-four elders[f] and the four living creatures[g] fell down[h] and worshiped God, who was seated on the throne. And they cried:

"Amen, Hallelujah!"[i]

5Then a voice came from the throne, saying:

"Praise our God, all you his servants,[j]
you who fear him,
both small and great!"[k]

6Then I heard what sounded like a great multitude,[l] like the roar of rushing waters[m] and like loud peals of thunder, shouting:

"Hallelujah![n]
For our Lord God Almighty[o] reigns.[p] 7Let us rejoice and be glad and give him glory![q]
For the wedding of the Lamb[r] has come, and his bride[s] has made herself ready.
8Fine linen,[t] bright and clean, was given her to wear."
(Fine linen stands for the righteous acts[u] of the saints.)

9Then the angel said to me,[v] "Write:[w] 'Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding supper of the Lamb!' "[x] And he added, "These are the true words of God."[y]

10At this I fell at his feet to worship him.[z] But he said to me, "Do not do it! I am a fellow servant with you and with your brothers who hold to the testimony of Jesus. Worship God![a] For the testi-

18:21 large millstone. Similar to the large millstone of Mk 9:42, which was actually a "donkey millstone" (one large enough to require a donkey to turn it).
18:24 blood of prophets. See 6:10; 17:6; 19:2; cf. Eze 24:7.
19:1 great multitude. See note on 7:9. Hallelujah! Occurs four times in vv. 1–6 but nowhere else in the NT. It is derived from two Hebrew words meaning "Praise the LORD" (see NIV text note on Ps 135:1).
19:4 twenty-four elders and the four living creatures. See notes on 4:4,6.
19:7 wedding of the Lamb. The imagery of a wedding to express the intimate relationship between God and his people has its roots in the prophetic literature of the OT (e.g., Isa 54:5–7; Hos 2:19). Cf. the NT usage (Mt 22:2–14; Eph 5:32).

The Rider on the White Horse

[11]I saw heaven standing open[c] and there before me was a white horse, whose rider[d] is called Faithful and True.[e] With justice he judges and makes war.[f] [12]His eyes are like blazing fire,[g] and on his head are many crowns.[h] He has a name written on him[i] that no one knows but he himself.[j] [13]He is dressed in a robe dipped in blood,[k] and his name is the Word of God.[l] [14]The armies of heaven were following him, riding on white horses and dressed in fine linen,[m] white[n] and clean. [15]Out of his mouth comes a sharp sword[o] with which to strike down[p] the nations. "He will rule them with an iron scepter."[vq] He treads the winepress[r] of the fury of the wrath of God Almighty. [16]On his robe and on his thigh he has this name written:[s]

KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS.[t]

[17]And I saw an angel standing in the sun, who cried in a loud voice to all the birds[u] flying in midair,[v] "Come,[w] gather together for the great supper of God,[x] [18]so that you may eat the flesh of kings, generals, and mighty men, of horses and their riders, and the flesh of all people,[y] free and slave,[z] small and great."[a]

[19]Then I saw the beast[b] and the kings of the earth[c] and their armies gathered together to make war against the rider on the horse[d] and his army. [20]But the beast was captured, and with him the false prophet[e] who had performed the miraculous signs[f] on his behalf.[g] With these signs he had deluded[h] those who had received the mark of the beast[i] and worshiped his image.[j] The two of them were thrown alive into the fiery lake[k] of burning sulfur.[l] [21]The rest of them were killed with the sword[m] that came out of the mouth of the rider on the horse,[n] and all the birds[o] gorged themselves on their flesh.

The Thousand Years

20 And I saw an angel coming down out of heaven,[p] having the key[q] to the Abyss[r] and holding in his hand a great chain. [2]He seized the dragon, that ancient serpent, who is the devil, or Satan,[s] and bound him for a thousand years.[t] [3]He threw him into the Abyss,[u] and locked and sealed[v] it over him, to keep him from deceiving the nations[w] anymore until the thousand years were ended. After that, he must be set free for a short time.

[4]I saw thrones[x] on which were seated those who had been given authority to judge.[y] And I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded[z] because of

[v] 15 Psalm 2:9

19:11 white horse. Probably not the white horse of 6:2. The context here indicates that the rider is Christ returning as Warrior-Messiah-King.
19:12 name written. A secret name whose meaning is veiled from all created beings.
19:13 robe dipped in blood. Either the blood of the enemy shed in conflict (cf. 14:14–20; Isa 63:1–3), or the blood of Christ shed to atone for sin.
19:14 armies of heaven. Angelic beings (cf. Dt 33:2; Ps 68:17); possibly also believers (cf. 17:14).
19:15 sharp sword. See note on 1:16. iron scepter. See note on 2:27. winepress. See note on 14:19.
19:16 KING OF KINGS. See note on 17:14.
19:17 great supper of God. A grim contrast to the "wedding supper of the Lamb" (v. 9; cf. Eze 39:17–20).
19:20 beast . . . false prophet. See notes on 13:1,11. fiery lake of burning sulfur. See 20:10,14–15; 21:8. Punishment by fire is prominent in both Biblical and non-Biblical Jewish writings (e.g., 1 Enoch 54:1). Although the designation gehenna is not used here, this is what John refers to (see note on Mt 5:22). Originally the site of a cultic shrine where human sacrifices were offered (2Ki 16:3; 23:10; Jer 7:31), it came to be equated with the "hell" of final judgment in apocalyptic literature.
19:21 birds gorged themselves. The "great supper of God" of vv. 17–18.
20:1–22:21 These last three chapters reflect many of the subjects and themes of the first three chapters of Genesis.
20:1 Abyss. See note on 9:1.
20:2 dragon. See note on 12:3. ancient serpent. See 12:15; Ge 3:1–5. thousand years. The millennium (from the Latin mille, "thousand," and annus, "year"). It is taken literally by some as 1,000 actual years, while others interpret it metaphorically as a long but undetermined period of time. There are three basic approaches to the subject of the millennium: 1. Amillennialism: The millennium describes the present reign of the souls of deceased believers with Christ in heaven. The present form of God's kingdom will be followed by Christ's return, the general resurrection, the final judgment and Christ's continuing reign over the perfect kingdom on the new earth in the eternal state. 2. Premillennialism: The present form of God's kingdom is moving toward a grand climax when Christ will return, the first resurrection will occur and his kingdom will find expression in a literal, visible reign of peace and righteousness on the earth in space-time history. After the final resurrection, the last judgment and the renewal of the heavens and the earth, this future, temporal kingdom will merge into the eternal kingdom, and the Lord will reign forever on the new earth. 3. Postmillennialism: The world will eventually be Christianized, resulting in a long period of peace and prosperity called the millennium. This future period will close with Christ's second coming, the resurrection of the dead, the final judgment and the eternal state.
20:3 free for a short time. See vv. 7–10.
20:4 souls of those who had been beheaded. See 6:9–11. his mark. See note on 13:16. came to life. The "first resurrection" (v. 5).

their testimony for Jesus[a] and because of the word of God.[b] They had not worshiped the beast[c] or his image and had not received his mark on their foreheads or their hands.[d] They came to life and reigned[e] with Christ a thousand years. 5(The rest of the dead did not come to life until the thousand years were ended.) This is the first resurrection.[f] 6Blessed[g] and holy are those who have part in the first resurrection. The second death[h] has no power over them, but they will be priests[i] of God and of Christ and will reign with him[j] for a thousand years.

Satan's Doom

7When the thousand years are over,[k] Satan will be released from his prison 8and will go out to deceive the nations[l] in the four corners of the earth[m]—Gog and Magog[n]—to gather them for battle.[o] In number they are like the sand on the seashore.[p] 9They marched across the breadth of the earth and surrounded[q] the camp of God's people, the city he loves.[r] But fire came down from heaven[s] and devoured them. 10And the devil, who deceived them,[t] was thrown into the lake of burning sulfur,[u] where the beast[v] and the false prophet[w] had been thrown. They will be tormented day and night for ever and ever.[x]

The Dead Are Judged

11Then I saw a great white throne[y] and him who was seated on it. Earth and sky fled from his presence,[z] and there was no place for them. 12And I saw the dead, great and small,[a] standing before the throne, and books were opened.[b] Another book was opened, which is the book of life.[c] The dead were judged[d] according to what they had done[e] as recorded in the books. 13The sea gave up the dead that were in it, and death and Hades[f] gave up the dead[g] that were in them, and each person was judged according to what he had done.[h] 14Then death[i] and Hades[j] were thrown into the lake of fire.[k] The lake of fire is the second death.[l] 15If anyone's name was not found written in the book of life,[m] he was thrown into the lake of fire.

The New Jerusalem

21 Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth,[n] for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away,[o] and there was no longer any sea. 2I saw the Holy City,[p] the new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God,[q] prepared as a bride[r] beautifully dressed for her husband. 3And I heard a loud voice from the throne saying, "Now the dwelling of God is with men, and he will live with them.[s] They will be his people, and God himself will be with them and be their God.[t] 4He will wipe every tear from their eyes.[u] There will be no more death[v] or mourning or crying or pain,[w] for the old order of things has passed away."[x]

5He who was seated on the throne[y] said, "I am making everything new!"[z] Then he said, "Write this down, for these words are trustworthy and true."[a]

6He said to me: "It is done.[b] I am the Alpha and the Omega,[c] the Beginning and the End. To him who is thirsty I will give to drink without cost[d] from the spring of the water of life.[e] 7He who overcomes[f] will inherit all this, and I will be his God and he will be my son.[g] 8But the cowardly, the unbelieving, the vile, the murderers, the sexually immoral, those who practice magic arts, the idolaters and all liars[h]—their place will be in the fiery lake of burning sulfur.[i] This is the second death."[j]

9One of the seven angels who had the seven bowls full of the seven last plagues[k] came and said to me, "Come, I will show you the bride,[l] the wife of the Lamb." [10]And he carried me away[m] in the Spirit[n] to a mountain great and high, and showed me the Holy City, Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God.[o] [11]It shone with the glory of God,[p] and its brilliance was like that of a very precious jewel, like a jasper,[q] clear as crystal.[r] [12]It had a great, high wall with twelve gates,[s] and with twelve angels at the gates. On the gates were written the names of the twelve tribes of Israel.[t] [13]There were three gates on the east, three on the north, three on the south and three on the west. [14]The wall of the city had twelve foundations,[u] and on them were the names of the twelve apostles[v] of the Lamb.

[15]The angel who talked with me had a measuring rod[w] of gold to measure the city, its gates[x] and its walls. [16]The city was laid out like a square, as long as it was wide. He measured the city with the rod and found it to be 12,000 stadia[w] in length, and as wide and high as it is long. [17]He measured its wall and it was 144 cubits[x] thick,[y] by man's[y] measurement, which the angel was using. [18]The wall was made of jasper,[z] and the city of pure gold, as pure as glass.[a] [19]The foundations of the city walls were decorated with every kind of precious stone.[b] The first foundation was jasper,[c] the second sapphire, the third chalcedony, the fourth emerald, [20]the fifth sardonyx, the sixth carnelian,[d] the seventh chrysolite, the eighth beryl, the ninth topaz, the tenth chrysoprase, the eleventh jacinth, and the twelfth amethyst.[z] [21]The twelve gates[e] were twelve pearls,[f] each gate made of a single pearl. The great street of the city was of pure gold, like transparent glass.[g]

[22]I did not see a temple[h] in the city, because the Lord God Almighty[i] and the Lamb[j] are its temple. [23]The city does not need the sun or the moon to shine on it, for the glory of God[k] gives it light,[l] and the Lamb[m] is its lamp. [24]The nations will walk by its light, and the kings of the earth will bring their splendor into it.[n] [25]On no day will its gates[o] ever be shut,[p] for there will be no night there.[q] [26]The glory and honor of the nations will be brought into it.[r] [27]Nothing impure will ever enter it, nor will anyone who does what is shameful or deceitful,[s] but only those whose names are written in the Lamb's book of life.[t]

The River of Life

22 Then the angel showed me the river[u] of the water of life,[v] as clear as crystal,[w] flowing[x] from the throne of God and of the Lamb [2]down the middle of the great street of the city. On each side of the river stood the tree of life,[y] bearing twelve crops of fruit, yielding its fruit every month. And the leaves of the tree are for the healing of the nations.[z] [3]No longer will there be any curse.[a] The throne of God and of the Lamb will be in the city, and his servants will serve him.[b] [4]They will see his face,[c] and his name will be on their foreheads.[d] [5]There will be no more night.[e] They will not need the light of a lamp or the light of the sun, for the Lord God will give them light.[f] And they will reign for ever and ever.[g]

[6]The angel said to me,[h] "These words are trustworthy and true.[i] The Lord, the God of the spirits of the prophets,[j] sent his angel[k] to show his servants the things that must soon take place."

Jesus Is Coming

[7]"Behold, I am coming soon![l] Blessed[m] is he who keeps the words of the prophecy in this book."[n]

[8]I, John, am the one who heard and saw these things.[o] And when I had heard and seen them, I fell down to worship at the feet[p] of the angel who had been showing them to me. [9]But he said to me, "Do not do it! I am a fellow servant with you and with your brothers the prophets and of all who keep the words of this book.[q] Worship God!"[r]

21:10 in the Spirit. See notes on 1:10; 4:2; 17:3.
21:12 twelve gates. See Eze 48:30–35. The number 12 probably emphasizes the continuity of the NT church and the OT people of God. See v. 14, where the 12 foundations bear the names of the 12 apostles.
21:15 measure the city. Cf. Eze 40–41. In Rev 11 the measuring was to ensure protection; here it serves to show the size and symmetry of the eternal dwelling place of the faithful.
21:16 length ... wide ... high. Thus a perfect cube, as was the Most Holy Place of the tabernacle and the temple.

21:20 See NIV text note.
21:27 Lamb's book of life. See note on 3:5.
22:2 tree of life. See Ge 2:9; 3:22; Eze 47:12.
22:4 They will see his face. In ancient times criminals were banished from the presence of the king (Est 7:8; cf. 2Sa 14:24). One blessing of eternity will be to see the Lord face to face (cf. 1Co 13:12). his name. See note on 3:12.
22:5 they will reign. See 5:10; 20:6; Da 7:18,27.
22:6 his servants. See v. 3. things that must soon take place. See 1:1,19.
22:7 I am coming soon! See vv. 12,20; 2:16; 3:11. Blessed. The sixth beatitude (see note on 1:3).
22:8 fell down to worship. See note on 1:17.

10 Then he told me, "Do not seal up[s] the words of the prophecy of this book,[t] because the time is near.[u] 11 Let him who does wrong continue to do wrong; let him who is vile continue to be vile; let him who does right continue to do right; and let him who is holy continue to be holy."[v]

12 "Behold, I am coming soon![w] My reward is with me,[x] and I will give to everyone according to what he has done.[y] 13 I am the Alpha and the Omega,[z] the First and the Last,[a] the Beginning and the End.[b]

14 "Blessed are those who wash their robes,[c] that they may have the right to the tree of life[d] and may go through the gates[e] into the city.[f] 15 Outside[g] are the dogs,[h] those who practice magic arts, the sexually immoral, the murderers, the idolaters and everyone who loves and practices falsehood.

16 "I, Jesus,[i] have sent my angel[j] to give you[a] this testimony for the churches.[k] I am the Root[l] and the Offspring of David,[m] and the bright Morning Star."[n]

17 The Spirit[o] and the bride[p] say, "Come!" And let him who hears say, "Come!" Whoever is thirsty, let him come; and whoever wishes, let him take the free gift of the water of life.[q]

18 I warn everyone who hears the words of the prophecy of this book:[r] If anyone adds anything to them,[s] God will add to him the plagues described in this book.[t] 19 And if anyone takes words away[u] from this book of prophecy,[v] God will take away from him his share in the tree of life[w] and in the holy city, which are described in this book.

20 He who testifies to these things[x] says, "Yes, I am coming soon."[y]

Amen. Come, Lord Jesus.[z]

21 The grace of the Lord Jesus be with God's people.[a] Amen.

TABLE OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

| BIBLICAL UNIT | | APPROXIMATE AMERICAN EQUIVALENT | APPROXIMATE METRIC EQUIVALENT |
|---|---|---|---|
| | | WEIGHTS | |
| talent | (60 minas) | 75 pounds | 34 kilograms |
| mina | (50 shekels) | 1 1/4 pounds | 0.6 kilogram |
| shekel | (2 bekas) | 2/5 ounce | 11.5 grams |
| pim | (2/3 shekel) | 1/3 ounce | 7.6 grams |
| beka | (10 gerahs) | 1/5 ounce | 5.5 grams |
| gerah | | 1/50 ounce | 0.6 gram |
| | | LENGTH | |
| cubit | | 18 inches | 0.5 meter |
| span | | 9 inches | 23 centimeters |
| handbreadth | | 3 inches | 8 centimeters |
| | | CAPACITY | |
| | | Dry Measure | |
| cor [homer] | (10 ephahs) | 6 bushels | 220 liters |
| lethek | (5 ephahs) | 3 bushels | 110 liters |
| ephah | (10 omers) | 3/5 bushel | 22 liters |
| seah | (1/3 ephah) | 7 quarts | 7.3 liters |
| omer | (1/10 ephah) | 2 quarts | 2 liters |
| cab | (1/18 ephah) | 1 quart | 1 liter |
| | | Liquid Measure | |
| bath | (1 ephah) | 6 gallons | 22 liters |
| hin | (1/6 bath) | 4 quarts | 4 liters |
| log | (1/72 bath) | 1/3 quart | 0.3 liter |

The figures of the table are calculated on the basis of a shekel equaling 11.5 grams, a cubit equaling 18 inches and an ephah equaling 22 liters. The quart referred to is either a dry quart (slightly larger than a liter) or a liquid quart (slightly smaller than a liter), whichever is applicable. The ton referred to in the footnotes is the American ton of 2,000 pounds.

This table is based upon the best available information, but it is not intended to be mathematically precise; like the measurement equivalents in the footnotes, it merely gives approximate amounts and distances. Weights and measures differed somewhat at various times and places in the ancient world. There is uncertainty particularly about the ephah and the bath; further discoveries may give more light on these units of capacity.

Ac 3:16 By f in the name of Jesus, this man
Ac 3:16 f that comes through him that has 6: 5 full of f and of the Holy Spirit;
6: 7 of priests became obedient to the f.
11:24 full of the Holy Spirit and f,
13: 8 to turn the proconsul from the f.
14: 9 saw that he had f to be healed
14:22 them to remain true to the f.
14:27 the door of f to the Gentiles.
15: 9 for he purified their hearts by f.
16: 5 were strengthened in the f
20:21 and have f in our Lord Jesus.
24:24 as he spoke about f in Christ Jesus.
26:18 those who are sanctified by f
27:25 for I have f in God that it will Ro 1: 5 to the obedience that comes from f.
1: 8 because your f is being reported all
1:12 encouraged by each other's f.
1:17 is by f from first to last,
1:17 "The righteous will live by f."
3: 3 What if some did not have f?
3: 3 lack of f nullify God's faithfulness?
3:22 comes through f in Jesus Christ
3:25 a sacrifice of atonement, through f
3:26 one who justifies those who have f
3:27 the law? No, but on that of f.
3:28 by f apart from observing the law.
3:30 through that same f.
3:30 will justify the circumcised by f
3:31 nullify the law by this f? Not at all!
4: 5 his f is credited as righteousness.
4: 9 that Abraham's f was credited 4:11 had by f while he was still
4:12 of the f that our father Abraham
4:13 the righteousness that comes by f.
4:14 f has no value and the promise is 4:16 Therefore, the promise comes by f,
4:16 are of the f of Abraham.
4:19 Without weakening in his f,
4:20 but was strengthened in his f
5: 1 we have been justified through f,
5: 2 access by f into this grace
9:30 a righteousness that is by f;
9:32 Because they pursued it not by f
10: 6 the righteousness that is by f says:
10: 8 the word of f we are proclaiming:
10:17 f comes from hearing the message,
11:20 of unbelief, and you stand by f.
12: 3 measure of f God has given you.
12: 6 let him use it in proportion to his f.
14: 1 Accept him whose f is weak,
14: 2 One man's f allows him
14: 2 but another man, whose f is weak, 14:23 because his eating is not from f;
14:23 that does not come from f is sin.
1Co 2: 5 so that your f might not rest
12: 9 to another f by the same Spirit,
13: 2 and if I have a f that can move
13:13 And now these three remain: f,
15:14 is useless and so is your f.
15:17 has not been raised, your f is futile;
16:13 stand firm in the f; be men
2Co 1:24 Not that we lord it over your f,
1:24 because it is by f you stand firm.
4:13 With that same spirit of f we
5: 7 We live by f, not by sight.
8: 7 in f, in speech, in knowledge,
10:15 as your f continues to grow,
13: 5 to see whether you are in the f;
Gal 1:23 now preaching the f he once tried
2:16 Jesus that we may be justified by f
2:16 but by f in Jesus Christ.
2:16 have put our f in Christ Jesus that
2:20 I live by f in the Son of God,
3: 8 would justify the Gentiles by f,
3: 9 So those who have f are blessed
3: 9 along with Abraham, the man of f.
3:11 "The righteous will live by f."
3:12 based on f; on the contrary,
3:14 by f we might receive the promise
3:22 being given through f
3:23 Before this f came, we were held
3:23 up until f should be revealed.
3:24 that we might be justified by f.
3:25 that f has come, we are no longer
3:26 of God through f in Christ Jesus,
5: 5 But by f we eagerly await
5: 6 that counts is f expressing itself
Eph 1:15 ever since I heard about your f
2: 8 through f— and this not
3:12 through f in him we may approach
3:17 dwell in your hearts through f.
4: 5 one Lord, one f, one baptism;
4:13 up until we all reach unity in the f
6:16 to all this, take up the shield of f,
