10:10 his speech contemptible. See note on v. 1. Paul's adversaries used a professional type of oratory as their stock in trade, designed to extract money from their gullible audiences. But Paul's manner of speaking was quite different; it was plain, straightforward and free from artificiality—and it was also free of charge (see note on 11:7), which meant, if his slanderous opponents were to be believed, that what he said was worthless. But in coming to Corinth Paul had purposely disdained academic eloquence and wisdom and was determined to proclaim the message of Christ crucified, and the transformed lives of the Corinthian believers testified to the divine power with which he spoke (cf. 1 Cor 2:1–5).

10:12 they measure themselves by themselves. The false teach-themselves with themselves, they are without understanding.

13 But we will not boast [a]beyond our measure, but [1][b]within the measure of the sphere which God apportioned to us as a measure, to reach even as far as you.

14 For we are not overextending ourselves, as if we did not reach to you, for [a]we were the first to come even as far as you in the [b]gospel of Christ;

15 not boasting [a]beyond our measure, that is, in [b]other men's labors, but with the hope that as [c]your faith grows, we will be, [1]within our sphere, [d]enlarged even more by you,

16 so as to [a]preach the gospel even to [b]the regions beyond you, and not to boast [1][c]in what has been accomplished in the sphere of another.

17 But [a]HE WHO BOASTS IS TO BOAST IN THE LORD.

18 For it is not he who [a]commends himself that is approved, but he [b]whom the Lord commends.

Paul Defends His Apostleship

11 I wish that you would [a]bear with me in a little [b]foolishness; but [1]indeed you are bearing with me.

2 For I am jealous for you with a godly jealousy; for I [a]betrothed you to one husband, so that to Christ I might [b]present you as a pure virgin.

3 But I am afraid that, as the [a]serpent deceived Eve by his craftiness, your minds will be led astray from the simplicity and purity of devotion to Christ.

4 For if [1]one comes and preaches [a]another Jesus whom we have not preached, or you receive a [b]different spirit which you have not received, or a [c]different gospel which you have not accepted, you [d]bear this [e]beautifully.

5 For I consider myself [a]not in the least inferior to the [1]most eminent apostles.

6 But even if I am [a]unskilled in speech, yet I am not so in [b]knowledge; in fact, in every way we have [c]made this evident to you in all things.

7 Or [a]did I commit a sin in humbling myself so that you might be exalted, because I preached the [b]gospel of God to you [c]without charge?

8 I robbed other churches by [a]taking wages from them to serve you;

9 and when I was present with you and was in need, I was [a]not a burden to anyone; for when [b]the brethren came from [c]Macedonia they fully supplied my need, and in everything I kept myself from [a]being a burden to you, [1]and will continue to do so.

10 [a]As the truth of Christ is in me, [b]this boasting of mine will not be stopped in the regions of [c]Achaia.

ers in Corinth behave as though there is no standard of comparison higher than themselves, but Paul boasts only in the Lord (see vv. 13–18; cf. 1 Cor 1:31).

10:13 the sphere which God apportioned to us. The picture Paul has in mind may be that of an athletic contest in which lanes are marked out for the different runners. In that case "sphere" should be rendered "lane" (also in vv. 15–16). In intruding themselves into Corinth, the false apostles had crossed into Paul's lane, which was the lane that God had marked out and that had brought him to the Corinthians as their genuine apostle. He has no intention of invading the territory marked out for others and claiming their work as his own, as these false teachers were doing. Others understand the Greek word in question to refer to an assigned sphere of authority.

10:16 regions beyond. Spain is probably in his thoughts (see Rom 15:24,28).

11:1 foolishness. In order to compare his own ministry with that of the false apostles who have invaded the Corinthian church, Paul has to speak about himself, which inevitably seems like foolish boasting.

11:2 godly jealousy. Paul cannot bear the thought that there might be any rival to Christ and His gospel. I betrothed you to one husband. As their spiritual father (cf. 6:13), Paul has promised the Corinthian believers to Christ, who is frequently depicted in the NT as the bridegroom, with the church portrayed as His bride (Matt 9:15; John 3:29; Rom 7:4; 1 Cor 6:15; Eph 5:23–32; Rev 19:7–9; 21:2). pure virgin. Undefiled by the doctrines of false teachers (see vv. 3–4).

11:4 another Jesus whom we have not preached. They presented a Jesus cast in the mold of Judaistic teachings (Paul's opponents were Jews; see v. 22). different spirit. A spirit of bondage, fear and worldliness (cf. Rom 8:15; 1 Cor 2:12; Gal 2:4; 4:24; Col 2:20–23) instead of a spirit of freedom, love, joy, peace and power (cf. 3:17; Rom 14:17; Gal 2:4; 5:1,22; Eph 3:20; Col 1:11; 2 Tim 1:7). different gospel. Cf. Gal 1:6–9. you bear this beautifully. They have been undiscerningly tolerant of these deceivers in their midst.

11:5 the most eminent apostles. Paul's sarcastic way of referring to the false apostles who had infiltrated the Corinthian church and were in reality not apostles at all, except in their own arrogantly inflated opinion of themselves (cf. 10:12).

11:6 even if I am unskilled in speech. Using the skills, references and flourishes of professional rhetoric (see note on 10:10). I am not so in knowledge. As the Corinthian believers well knew, Paul had knowledge of Christ that was true, powerful and God-given, totally distinct from the powerless human wisdom the false teachers were attempting to deceive them with (cf. 1 Cor 2:6–10).

11:7 without charge. Another slanderous criticism made by Paul's adversaries was that his refusal to accept payment for his instruction proved that it was worth nothing. This accusation at the same time helped to cloak their own grasping character, since their method of operation, like that of first-century traveling philosophers and religious teachers, was to demand payment for their "professional" services. Paul, his enemies said, was lowering himself and committing a sin by breaking the rule that a teacher should receive payment in proportion to the worth of his performance.

11:8 robbed other churches. Accepted freely given support from established congregations.

11:9 burden. A financial liability (see note on 2:17). This reinforced his teaching that the gospel of Jesus Christ is a free gift. brethren came from Macedonia. They brought gifts from the churches in that province (Acts 18:5), particularly from the church at Philippi (Phil 4:15).

11 Why? [a]Because I do not love you? [b]God knows I do!

12 But what I am doing I will continue to do, [a]so that I may cut off opportunity from those who desire an opportunity to be [1]regarded just as we are in the matter about which they are boasting.

13 For such men are [a]false apostles, [b]deceitful workers, disguising themselves as apostles of Christ.

14 No wonder, for even [a]Satan disguises himself as an [b]angel of light.

15 Therefore it is not surprising if his servants also disguise themselves as servants of righteousness, [a]whose end will be according to their deeds.

16 [a]Again I say, let no one think me foolish; but if you do, receive me even as foolish, so that I also may boast a little.

17 What I am saying, I am not saying [1][a]as the Lord would, but as [b]in foolishness, in this confidence of boasting.

18 Since [a]many boast [b]according to the flesh, I will boast also.

19 For you, [a]being so wise, tolerate the foolish gladly.

20 For you tolerate it if anyone [a]enslaves you, anyone [b]devours you, anyone [c]takes advantage of you, anyone [d]exalts himself, anyone [e]hits you in the face.

21 To my [a]shame I must say that we have been [b]weak by comparison.

11:12 I will continue. Paul will not be deterred from presenting the gospel without charge. Actually, this practice made his adversaries look bad. They were greedy for gain, and it would have suited them better if Paul had been willing to accept money for his teaching, for this would have put him on a level with their practice. just as we are. In financial matters.

11:13 disguising themselves as apostles of Christ. Now Paul exposes these would-be "eminent apostles" (v. 5) as false apostles and servants of Satan (v. 14) who are covering up their true identity.

11:14 as an angel of light. Though he is in reality the prince of darkness.

11:16 let no one think me foolish. See note on v. 1.

11:18 boast. By speaking of the nature of his apostolic ministry.

11:19 you . . . tolerate the foolish gladly. Resumes the implied rebuke of v. 4, and has the same ironic tone. There it was a matter of their readiness to tolerate false teaching; here it is a matter of their willingness to put up with disgraceful treatment by these false teachers, who are described as fools because of their self-centered boasting.

11:20 enslaves you. By the imposition of tyrannical man-made rules and prohibitions (cf. Gal 5:1). devours you. See Mark 12:40. takes advantage of you. Thanks to the Corinthians' lack of discernment and their readiness to be impressed by outward show and clever talk. exalts himself. For the purpose of lording it over the members of the church (cf. 1:24). hits you in the face. Using physical violence to cow them into submission.

11:21 weak by comparison. Compared with the crude self-seeking roughness of the impostors, Paul's conduct may well be considered weak, but he is probably speaking ironically here.

11:22 Hebrews . . . Israelites . . . descendants of Abraham. The claims implied here on the part of the false apostles indicate that they were Jews who felt superior to Gentile Christians. From this there follows the probability that they were Judaizers, i.e., they wished to impose distinctive Jewish practices and observances as required for Gentile converts. This, of course, was not Paul's position (see Rom 2:28–29; 1 Cor 12:13; Gal 3:28–29; Eph 2:11–18; Col 3:11). For Paul's claim see Acts 22:3–5; 26:4–5; Phil 3:5–6.

11:23 servants of Christ. Paul is not granting their claim to be servants of Christ. Indeed, the consideration of the nature of his ministry and its cost to him in suffering will show that he is more Christ's servant than any or all of them. often in danger of death. Cf. 4:8–11. He means this literally, for the sufferings he lists here and in the verses that follow were life-threatening. The catalogue that follows makes it clear that Luke's account in Acts is selective.

11:24–25 lashes . . . rods. Eight floggings are mentioned here, five at the hands of the Jews (cf. Deut 25:1–3) and three at the hands of the Roman authorities, who used rods on these occasions (see Acts 16:22–23). The three beatings with rods took place despite the fact that Paul, being a Roman citizen, was legally protected from such punishment (cf. Acts 16:37–39; 22:25–29).

11:25 stoned. A traditional manner of Jewish execution (cf. Acts 14:19–20). shipwrecked. Only one shipwreck is recorded in Acts, but it took place after the writing of this letter (Acts 27:39–44). The three shipwrecks referred to here could have taken place during the voyages mentioned in Acts 9:30; 11:25–26; 13:4,13; 14:25–26; 16:11; 17:14; 18:18–19, 21–22. a night and a day . . . in the deep. Probably as a result of one of the shipwrecks.

11:26 in dangers. Apart from the specific incidents referred to in the preceding verses, Paul constantly faced situations of danger as well as labors and hardships (see note on Acts 14:24).

28 Apart from such [1]external things, there is the daily pressure on me of concern for [a]all the churches.

29 Who is [a]weak without my being weak? Who is [1]led into sin [2]without my intense concern?

30 If I have to boast, I will boast of what pertains to my [a]weakness.

31 The God and Father of the Lord Jesus, [a]He who is blessed forever, [b]knows that I am not lying.

32 In [a]Damascus the ethnarch under Aretas the king was [b]guarding the city of the Damascenes in order to seize me, 33 and I was let down in a basket [a]through a window [1]in the wall, and so escaped his hands.

Paul's Vision

12 [a]Boasting is necessary, though it is not profitable; but I will go on to visions and [b]revelations [1]of the Lord.

2 I know a man [a]in Christ who fourteen years ago—whether in the body I do not know, or out of the body I do not know, [b]God knows—such a man was [c]caught up to the [d]third heaven.

3 And I know how such a man—whether in the body or apart from the body I do not know, [a]God knows—

4 was [a]caught up into [b]Paradise and heard inexpressible words, which a man is not permitted to speak.

5 [a]On behalf of such a man I will boast; but on my own behalf I will not boast, except in regard to my [b]weaknesses.

6 For if I do wish to boast I will not be [a]foolish, [b]for I will be speaking the truth; but I refrain from this, so that no one will credit me with more than he sees in me or hears from me.

A Thorn in the Flesh

7 Because of the surpassing greatness of the [a]revelations, for this reason, to keep me from exalting myself, there was given me a [b]thorn in the flesh, a [c]messenger of Satan to [1]torment me—to keep me from exalting myself!

8 Concerning this I implored the Lord [a]three times that it might leave me.

9 And He has said to me, "My grace is sufficient for you, for [a]power is perfected in weakness." Most gladly, therefore, I will rather [b]boast [1]about my weaknesses, so that the power of Christ may dwell in me.

10 Therefore [a]I am well content with weaknesses, with [1]insults, with [b]distresses, with [c]persecutions, with [b]difficulties, [d]for Christ's sake; for [e]when I am weak, then I am strong.

11 I have become [a]foolish; you yourselves compelled me. Actually I should have been commended by you, for [b]in no respect was I inferior to the [1]most eminent apostles, even though [c]I am a nobody.

11:29 So closely did Paul identify himself with them that he felt the weakness of any member who was weak. If anyone was led into sin, he not only burned with indignation against the person responsible but also experienced the shame of the offense and longed for the restoration of the one who had stumbled.

11:30 I will boast of what pertains to my weakness. His weakness opens the way for him to experience the superabundant strength of God's grace. Therefore his boasting in its entirety, unlike that of the false apostles, is not in what he has done but in what God has done.

11:32 Aretas the king. Aretas IV, father-in-law of Herod Antipas, ruled over the Nabatean Arabs from c. 9 B.C. to A.D. 40. The Roman emperor Caligula may have given Damascus to Aretas since it was once part of his territory.

12:1 visions and revelations. If his adversaries falsely claimed to have received their teaching directly from God through visions and revelations, Paul could claim that this was truly so in his case. But he mentions this here to show that the supreme height to which he was raised through these ecstatic experiences was counterbalanced by the humbling depth of a particular affliction he was given to bear (see v. 7), so that he should continue to glory not in self but only in the "God of all grace" (1 Pet 5:10).

12:2–4 caught up to the third heaven . . . caught up into Paradise. Paul is sure of this remarkable experience, but he is unsure whether this rapture (being "caught up") was one that included the body or one that took place in separation from the body. The third heaven designates a place beyond the immediate heaven of the earth's atmosphere and beyond the further heaven of outer space and its constellations into the presence of God himself. Thus the risen and glorified Lord is said to have passed "through the heavens" (Heb 4:14), and now, having "ascended far above all the heavens" (Eph 4:10), to be "exalted above the heavens" (Heb 7:26). The term "Paradise" is synonymous with the third heaven, where those believers who have died are even now "at home with the Lord" (5:8; cf. "with Christ," Phil 1:23). The nature of the inexpressible things that Paul heard remains unknown to us because this is something Paul was not permitted to tell. It was an experience that must have given incalculable strength to his apostleship, which involved him in such constant and extreme suffering. Moreover, as this experience was not self-induced, it afforded him no room for self-glorification (vv. 5–6).

12:5 On behalf of such a man I will boast. Some believe that the man "caught up to the third heaven" (v. 2) was not Paul and that Paul here insists that he will not boast about such a glorious experience but only about his weakness.

12:7 thorn in the flesh. The precise nature of this severe affliction remains unknown. messenger of Satan. A further description of Paul's thorn (cf. 1 Cor 5:5; 11:30; 1 Tim 1:20; see Job 2:10).

12:9 My grace is sufficient for you. A better solution than to remove Paul's thorn. Human weakness provides the ideal opportunity for the display of divine power.

12:10 Cf. Eph 3:16; Phil 4:13.

12:11 have become foolish. See note on 11:1. you . . . compelled me. The Corinthian Christians have put Paul under pressure to write about himself as he did because they had accepted the claims of the "eminent apostles" who had invaded their ranks, challenging Paul's apostolic authority.

12 The [1][a]signs [2]of a true apostle were performed among you with all perseverance, by [1]signs and wonders and [3]miracles.

13 For in what respect were you treated as inferior to the rest of the churches, except that [a]I myself did not become a burden to you? Forgive me [b]this wrong!

14 Here [a]for this third time I am ready to come to you, and I [b]will not be a burden to you; for I [c]do not seek what is yours, but [d]you; for [e]children are not responsible to save up for their parents, but [f]parents for their children.

15 I will [a]most gladly spend and be expended for your souls. If [b]I love you more, am I to be loved less?

16 But be that as it may, I [a]did not burden you myself; nevertheless, crafty fellow that I am, I [b]took you in by deceit.

17 [a]Certainly I have not taken advantage of you through any of those whom I have sent to you, have I?

21 I am afraid that when I come again my God may humiliate me before you, and I may mourn over many of those who have [a]sinned in the past and not repented of the [b]impurity, [1]immorality and sensuality which they have practiced.

Examine Yourselves

13 [a]This is the third time I am coming to you. [b]EVERY [1]FACT [2]IS TO BE CONFIRMED BY THE [3]TESTIMONY OF TWO OR THREE WITNESSES.

2 I have previously said when present the second time, and though now absent I say in advance to those who have [a]sinned in the past and to all the rest as well, that [b]if I come again I will not [c]spare anyone,

3 since you are [a]seeking for proof of the [b]Christ who speaks in me, and who is not weak toward you, but [c]mighty in you.

4 For indeed He was [a]crucified because of weakness, yet He lives [b]because of the power of God. For we also are [c]weak [1]in Him, yet [d]we will live with Him because of the power of God directed toward you.

5 [a]Test yourselves to see if you are in the faith; [b]examine yourselves! Or do you not recognize this about yourselves, that Jesus Christ is in you—unless indeed you [1][c]fail the test?

6 But I trust that you will realize that we ourselves [1]do not fail the test.

12:12 signs of a true apostle. Extraordinary gifts and powers had been displayed in their midst. By implication, the false teachers had come to them without these apostolic signs (cf. Heb 2:3–4).

12:13 I myself did not become a burden to you. See note on 11:9. Paul's refusal to accept any payment when preaching the gospel to the Corinthians had been slanderously twisted by his adversaries (see notes on 11:7,12). They, who had grasped at all they could get, were saying that it was he who had sinned against the Corinthians. Forgive me this wrong! Irony—resuming the line of discussion in 11:7–12.

12:14 third time. See note on 2:1. not be a burden. Chiefly now, so that the falsity and greed of the "eminent apostles" may be clearly exposed (see 11:12). children. Paul is their spiritual father (cf. 6:13).

12:15 His paternal devotion to them is shown not merely in his readiness to spend whatever money he has for them but, much more deeply, in his joyful willingness to spend himself completely for their sake.

12:16 I took you in by deceit. Sarcastically echoes another of the slanders being made against Paul by the false apostles: that he was exploiting them by the trick of organizing a collection for the poverty-stricken Christians in Jerusalem—contributions that would never reach the mother-city because they went into Paul's own pocket (v. 17). No wonder, then, that he could afford not to be a burden to them! The fact is, however, that it is these false apostles who are the "deceitful workmen" masquerading as "servants of righteousness" (11:13–15). Paul is unblemished both in conduct and in conscience, and the Corinthians are fully aware of this.

12:18 Titus . . . the brother. See notes on 8:6,16,18–23.

12:19 in the sight of God . . . speaking in Christ. Paul's concern in speaking of himself is not for his own personal prestige and reputation before people (cf. 1 Cor 4:3–4). It is before God that he stands, and his standing before God is in Christ. Far from being self-centered, his concern is for the Corinthians, his dear friends—for their strengthening as they too stand before God in Christ. His entire ministry, with its sufferings, is directed to this end (cf. 10:8).

13:2 I will not spare anyone. Paul will not hesitate to take stern disciplinary action against offenders when he comes to Corinth for the third time, as he is about to do.

13:3 seeking for proof of the Christ who speaks in me. See note on 10:10. They will be given ample proof when he comes, unless they show a change of heart. who is not weak. Rebellion against Paul is rebellion against Christ, who appointed him as His apostle. The authority of the apostle is the authority of his Master. Any who imagine that Paul is weak will find that Christ, the Lord who speaks through His apostle, is not weak but powerful.

13:4 we will live with Him because of the power of God. Paul is referring to his present apostolic authority, and to the fact that divine power will be displayed by the punishment of any who resist that authority.

13:5 Test yourselves . . . examine yourselves! Instead of demanding proof that Christ was speaking through him (v. 3), as the 7 Now we pray to God that you do no wrong; not that we ourselves may appear approved, but that you may do what is right, even though we may [1]appear unapproved.

8 For we can do nothing against the truth, but only for the truth.

9 For we rejoice when we ourselves are [a]weak but you are strong; this we also pray for, [1]that you be [b]made complete.

10 For this reason I am writing these things while absent, so that when present [a]I need not use [b]severity, in accordance with the [c]authority which the Lord gave me for building up and not for tearing down.

11 Finally, brethren, [1]rejoice, [2b]be made complete, be comforted, [c]be like-minded, [d]live in peace; and [e]the God of love and peace will be with you.

12 [a]Greet one another with a holy kiss.

13 [a]All the [1]saints greet you.

14 [a]The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the [b]love of God, and the [c]fellowship of the Holy Spirit, be with you all.

false apostles were inciting them to do, they should look into their own hearts.

13:7 do what is right. Then there will be no need for Paul to give evidence of his authority by taking disciplinary action when he comes to them.

13:8 we can do nothing against the truth. Paul can exercise his apostolic authority only in a way that supports the truth. Consequently, if the truth is acknowledged when he arrives in Corinth, there will be no need for him to take disciplinary action.

13:9 weak. To have no need to give proof of his apostolic strength. strong. In the truth.

13:11–14 These concluding exhortations and salutations exhibit a note of confidence.

13:11 God of . . . peace. See note on 1 Thess 5:23.

13:12 kiss. A token of mutual trust and affection, still in common use in the Near East—corresponding to the handshake of the Western world. For Christians it must be a holy kiss, for all greetings should be purely and sincerely exchanged in Christ (see 1:2).

13:14 The benediction is Trinitarian in form and has ever since been a part of Christian worship tradition. It serves to remind us that the mystery of the Holy Trinity is known to be true not through rational or philosophical explanation but through Christian experience, whereby the believer knows firsthand the grace, the love, and the fellowship that freely flow to him from the three Persons of the one Lord God.

Galatians

Author

The opening verse identifies the author of Galatians as the apostle Paul. Apart from a few 19th-century scholars, no one has seriously questioned his authorship.

Date and Destination

The date of Galatians depends to a great extent on the destination of the letter. There are two main views:

1. The North Galatian theory. This older view holds that the letter was addressed to churches located in north-central Asia Minor (Pessinus, Ancyra and Tavium), where the Gauls had settled when they invaded the area in the third century B.C. It is held that Paul visited this area on his second missionary journey, though Acts contains no reference to such a visit. Galatians, it is maintained, was written between A.D. 53 and 57 from Ephesus or Macedonia.

2. The South Galatian theory. According to this view, Galatians was written to churches in the southern area of the Roman province of Galatia (Antioch, Iconium, Lystra and Derbe) that Paul had founded on his first missionary journey. Some believe that Galatians was written from Syrian Antioch in 48–49 after Paul's first journey and before the Jerusalem council meeting (Acts 15). Others say that Galatians was written in Syrian Antioch or Corinth between 51 and 53.

Occasion and Purpose

Judaizers were Jewish Christians who believed, among other things, that a number of the ceremonial practices of the OT were still binding on the NT church. Following Paul's successful campaign in Galatia, they insisted that Gentile converts to Christianity abide by certain OT rites, especially circumcision. They may have been motivated by a desire to avoid the persecution of Zealot Jews who objected to their fraternizing with Gentiles (see 6:12). The Judaizers argued that Paul was not an authentic apostle and that out of a desire to make the message more appealing to Gentiles he had removed from the gospel certain legal requirements.

Paul responded by clearly establishing his apostolic authority and thereby substantiating the gospel he preached. By introducing additional requirements for justification (e.g., works of the law) his adversaries had perverted the gospel of grace and, unless prevented, would bring Paul's converts into the bondage of legalism. It is by grace through faith alone that man is justified, and it is by faith alone that he is to live out his new life in the freedom of the Spirit.

Theological Teaching

Galatians stands as an eloquent and vigorous apologetic for the essential NT truth that man is justified by faith in Jesus Christ—by nothing less and nothing more—and that he is sanctified not by legalistic works but by the obedience that comes from faith in God's work for him, in him and through him by the grace and power of Christ and the Holy Spirit. It was the rediscovery of the basic message of Galatians that brought about the Reformation. Galatians is often referred to as "Luther's book," because Martin Luther relied so strongly on this letter in his writings and arguments against the prevailing theology of his day. A key verse is 2:16 (see note there).

Introduction

1 Paul, [a]an apostle ([b]not sent from men nor through the agency of man, but [c]through Jesus Christ and God the Father, who [d]raised Him from the dead),

2 and all [a]the brethren who are with me,

To [b]the churches of Galatia:

3 [a]Grace to you and peace from [1]God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ,

4 who [a]gave Himself for our sins so that He might rescue us from [b]this present evil [1]age, according to the will of [c]our God and Father,

5 [a]to whom be the glory forevermore. Amen.

Perversion of the Gospel

6 I am amazed that you are so quickly deserting [a]Him who called you [1]by the grace of Christ, for a [b]different gospel;

7 which is really not another; only there are some who are [a]disturbing you and want to distort the gospel of Christ.

8 But even if we, or [a]an angel from heaven, should preach to you a gospel [1]contrary to what we have preached to you, he is to be [2b]accursed!

9 As we [a]have said before, so I say again now, [b]if any man is preaching to you a gospel [1]contrary to what you received, he is to be [2c]accursed!

10 For am I now [a]seeking the favor of men, or of God? Or am I striving to please men? If I were still trying to please men, I would not be a [b]bond-servant of Christ.

Paul Defends His Ministry

11 For [a]I would have you know, brethren, that the gospel which was preached by me is [b]not according to man.

12 For [a]I neither received it from man, nor was I taught it, but I received it through a [b]revelation of Jesus Christ.

13 For you have heard of [a]my former manner of life in Judaism, how I [b]used to persecute [c]the church of God beyond measure and [d]tried to destroy it;

14 and I [a]was advancing in Judaism beyond many of my contemporaries among my [1]countrymen, being more extremely zealous for my [b]ancestral traditions.

15 But when God, who had set me apart even from my mother's womb and [a]called me through His grace, was pleased

16 to reveal His Son in me so that I might [a]preach Him among the Gentiles, [b]I did not immediately consult with [1c]flesh and blood,

17 [a]nor did I go up to Jerusalem to those who were apostles before me; but I went

1:1 Paul. Writers of this time customarily put their names at the beginning of letters. For more information on Paul see notes on Acts 9:1; Phil 3:4–14. apostle. One sent on a mission with full authority of representation; an ambassador (see note on 1 Cor 1:1). raised Him from the dead. The resurrection is the central affirmation of the Christian faith (see Acts 17:18; Rom 1:4; 1 Cor 15:20; 1 Pet 1:3), and because Paul had seen the risen Christ he was qualified to be an apostle (see Acts 1:22 and note; 2:32; 1 Cor 15:8).

1:2 brethren. Fellow Christians (see 3:15; 4:12; 5:11; 6:18). churches. This was a circular letter to several congregations. Galatia. The term occurs four times in the NT. In 2 Tim 4:10 the reference is uncertain. In 1 Pet 1:1 it refers to the northern area of Asia Minor occupied by the Gauls. Here (and in 1 Cor 16:1) Paul probably uses the term to refer to the Roman province of Galatia and an additional area to the south, through which he traveled on his first missionary journey (Acts 13:14–14:23). See Introduction: Date and Destination.

1:3 Grace. The Christian adaptation of a common Greek form of greeting (see notes on Jon 4:2; Eph 1:2). peace. The common Hebrew form of greeting (see notes on John 14:27; 20:19; Eph 1:2).

1:4 for our sins. See Matt 1:21; John 1:29; 1 Cor 15:3; 1 Pet 2:24. present evil age. The present period of the world's history (see note on 2 Cor 4:4). In contrast to the age to come (the climax of the Messianic age), this present age is characterized by wickedness (Eph 2:2; 6:12).

1:5 For other doxologies see Rom 9:5; 11:36; 16:27; Eph 3:21; 1 Tim 1:17.

1:6 so quickly. So soon after your conversion. Him who called you. God. grace of Christ. The test of a pure, unadulterated gospel.

1:7 some. The Judaizers (see Introduction: Occasion and Purpose).

1:8 accursed. The Greek word (anathema) originally referred to a pagan temple offering in payment for a vow. Later it came to represent a curse (see v. 9; 1 Cor 12:3; 16:22; Rom 9:3).

1:10 bond-servant of Christ. Paul once wore the "yoke of slavery" (5:1) but, having been set free from sin by the redemption that is in Christ, he became a slave of righteousness, a slave of God (see Rom 6:18,22).

1:11 I would have you know, brethren. A similar phrase is found in 1 Cor 15:1, where Paul sets forth the gospel he received. the gospel . . . preached by me. Called "my gospel" in Rom 2:16; 16:25. Salvation is for all and is received by faith in Christ.

1:12 received it through a revelation. See Eph 3:2–6.

1:13 Judaism. The Jewish faith and way of life that developed during the period between the OT and the NT. The term is derived from Judah, the southern kingdom that came to an end in the sixth century B.C. with the exile into Babylonia. church of God. The NT counterpart of the OT assembly (see Num 16:21) or community of the Lord (Num 20:4).

1:14 zealous. See Phil 3:6. ancestral traditions. Traditions orally transmitted from previous generations and contrasted with the written law of Moses. Cf. the "tradition of the elders" (see note on Matt 15:2).

1:15 set me apart even from my mother's womb. See Is 49:1; Jer 1:5; Rom 1:1.

1:16 Gentiles. Lit. "nations" or "peoples." The term commonly designated foreigners—hence pagans, or the non-Jewish world. flesh and blood. In the NT always with the implication of human weakness or ignorance (see Matt 16:17; 1 Cor 15:50; Eph 6:12). Paul received his message from God.

1:17 Jerusalem. The religious center of Judaism and the birthplace of Christianity. Arabia. The Nabatean kingdom in Trans-away to Arabia, and returned once more to [b]Damascus.

18 Then [a]three years later I went up [b]to Jerusalem to [1]become acquainted with [c]Cephas, and stayed with him fifteen days.

19 But I did not see any other of the apostles except [1][a]James, the Lord's brother.

20 (Now in what I am writing to you, [1]I assure you [a]before God that I am not lying.)

21 Then [a]I went into the regions of [b]Syria and [c]Cilicia.

22 I was still unknown by [1]sight to [a]the churches of Judea which were [b]in Christ;

23 but only, they kept hearing, "He who once persecuted us is now preaching [a]the faith which he once [b]tried to destroy."

24 And they [a]were glorifying God [1]because of me.

The Council at Jerusalem

2 Then after an interval of fourteen years I [a]went up again to Jerusalem with [b]Barnabas, taking [c]Titus along also.

2 [1]It was because of a [a]revelation that I went up; and I submitted to them the [b]gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but I did so in private to those who were of reputation, for fear that I might be [c]running, or had run, in vain.

3 But not even [a]Titus, who was with me, though he was a Greek, was [b]compelled to be circumcised.

4 But it was because of the [a]false brethren secretly brought in, who [b]had sneaked in to spy out our [c]liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, in order to [d]bring us into bondage.

5 But we did not yield in subjection to them for even an hour, so that [a]the truth of the gospel would remain with you.

6 But from those who [1]were of high [a]reputation (what they were makes no difference to me; [b]God [2]shows no partiality)—well, those who were of reputation contributed nothing to me.

7 But on the contrary, seeing that I had been [a]entrusted with the [b]gospel [1]to the uncircumcised, just as [c]Peter had been [2]to the circumcised

8 (for He who effectually worked for Peter in his [a]apostleship [1]to the circumcised effectually worked for me also to the Gentiles),

9 and recognizing [a]the grace that had been given to me, [1][b]James and [c]Cephas and John, who were [d]reputed to be [e]pillars, gave to me and [f]Barnabas the [g]right [2]hand of fellowship, so that we might [h]go to the Gentiles and they to the circumcised.

10 They only asked us to remember the poor—[a]the very thing I also was eager to do.

Peter (Cephas) Opposed by Paul

11 But when [a]Cephas came to [b]Antioch, I opposed him to his face, because he [1]stood condemned.

12 For prior to the coming of certain men from [1][a]James, he used to [b]eat with the Gen-jordan stretching from Damascus southwest to the Suez. Damascus. Ancient capital of Syria (Aram in the OT). Paul had been converted en route from Jerusalem to Damascus (Acts 9:1–9).

1:18 three years later. From the time of his departure into Arabia. The text does not say he spent the three years in Arabia. I went up to Jerusalem. Probably the visit referred to in Acts 9:26–30, though some equate it with the one in Acts 11:30. Cephas. Peter; from the Aramaic word for "stone" (see Matt 16:18 and note). The name designates a like quality in the bearer (see note on John 1:42).

1:19 James. See Introduction to James: Author. In Acts 21:18 this James appears to be the leader of the elders in the Jerusalem church. the Lord's brother. See note on Luke 8:19.

1:21 Syria and Cilicia. Provinces in Asia Minor. Specifically Paul went to Tarsus (see Acts 9:30), his hometown.

2:1 after . . . fourteen years. Probably from the date of Paul's conversion. I went up again to Jerusalem. According to some, the visit mentioned in Acts 11:30; according to others, the one in Acts 15:1–4 (see notes on Acts 12:1; 15:2). Barnabas. Means "one who encourages." His given name was Joseph, and he was a Levite from the island of Cyprus (see Acts 4:36 and note). He was Paul's companion on the first missionary journey (Acts 13:1–14:28). Titus. A Gentile Christian who served as Paul's delegate to Corinth and later was left in Crete to oversee the church there (see Titus 1:5).

2:2 those who were of reputation. Paul recognized their authority, and is probably referring to James, Peter and John (v. 9; cf. v. 6). had run, in vain. See 1 Cor 15:58; Phil 2:16.

2:4 false brethren. Judaizers who held that Gentile converts should be circumcised and obey the law of Moses (cf. Acts 15:5; 2 Cor 11:26). to spy out. Used in the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) in 2 Sam 10:3 and 1 Chr 19:3 of spying out a territory. liberty. See 5:1,13; Rom 6:18,20,22; 8:2.

2:6 those who were of high reputation. See note on v. 2. shows no partiality. Cf. Deut 10:17; 1 Sam 16:7; Luke 20:21; James 2:1.

2:7 to the uncircumcised. Paul's ministry was not exclusively to the Gentiles. In fact, he regularly went first to the synagogue when arriving in a new location (see note on Acts 13:14). He did, however, consider himself to be foremost an apostle to the Gentiles (see Rom 11:13 and note).

2:9 James. See note on 1:19. pillars. A common metaphor for those who represent and strongly support an institution. right hand of fellowship. A common practice among both Hebrews and Greeks, indicating a pledge of friendship.

2:11 Antioch. The leading city of Syria and third leading city of the Roman empire (after Rome and Alexandria). From it Paul had been sent out on his missionary journeys (see Acts 13:1–3; 14:26). stood condemned. For yielding to the pressure of the circumcision party (the Judaizers), thus going against what he knew to be right.

2:12 party of the circumcision. Judaizers, who believed that circumcision was necessary for salvation (cf. Acts 10:45; 11:2; Rom 4:12).

tiles; but when they came, he began to withdraw and hold himself aloof, [c]fearing [2]the party of the circumcision.

13 The rest of the Jews joined him in hypocrisy, with the result that even [a]Barnabas was carried away by their hypocrisy.

14 But when I saw that they [a]were not [1]straightforward about [b]the truth of the gospel, I said to [c]Cephas in the presence of all, "If you, being a Jew, [d]live like the Gentiles and not like the Jews, how is it that you compel the Gentiles to live like Jews? [2]

17 "But if, while seeking to be justified in Christ, we ourselves have also been found [a]sinners, is Christ then a minister of sin? [b]May it never be!

18 "For if I rebuild what I have once destroyed, I [a]prove myself to be a transgressor.

19 "For through [1]the Law I [a]died to [1]the Law, so that I might live to God.

20 "I have been [a]crucified with Christ; and it is no longer I who live, but [b]Christ lives in me; and [1]the life which I now live in the flesh I live by faith in [c]the Son of God, who [d]loved me and [e]gave Himself up for me.

Faith Brings Righteousness

3 [1]You foolish [a]Galatians, who has bewitched you, before whose eyes Jesus Christ [b]was publicly portrayed as crucified?

2 This is the only thing I want to find out from you: did you receive the Spirit by the works of [1]the Law, or by [2a]hearing with faith?

3 Are you so foolish? Having begun [1]by the Spirit, are you now [2]being perfected by the flesh?

4 Did you [1]suffer so many things in vain—[a]if indeed it was in vain?

5 So then, does He who [a]provides you with the Spirit and [b]works [1]miracles among you, do it by the works of [2]the Law, or by [3c]hearing with faith?

6 [1]Even so [a]Abraham [b]BELIEVED GOD, AND IT WAS RECKONED TO HIM AS RIGHTEOUSNESS.

7 Therefore, [1]be sure that [a]it is those who are of faith who are [b]sons of Abraham.

8 The Scripture, foreseeing that God [1]would justify the [2]Gentiles by faith, preached the gospel beforehand to Abraham, saying, "[a]ALL THE NATIONS WILL BE BLESSED IN YOU."

9 So then [a]those who are of faith are blessed with [1]Abraham, the believer.

10 For as many as are of the works of [1]the Law are under a curse; for it is written, "[a]CURSED IS EVERYONE WHO DOES NOT ABIDE BY ALL THINGS WRITTEN IN THE BOOK OF THE LAW, TO PERFORM THEM."

11 Now that [a]no one is justified [1]by [2]the

2:14 live like the Gentiles. You do not observe Jewish customs, especially dietary restrictions (see v. 12).
2:16 A key verse in Galatians (see Introduction: Theological Teaching). Three times it tells us that no one is justified by observing the law, and three times it underscores the indispensable requirement of placing one's faith in Christ. justified by faith. The essence of the gospel message (see Rom 3:20,28; Phil 3:9; see also notes on Rom 3:24,28). Faith is the means by which justification is received, not its basis. by the works of the Law. Paul is not depreciating the Law itself, for he clearly maintained that God's Law is "holy and righteous and good" (Rom 7:12). He is arguing against an illegitimate use of the OT Law that made the observance of that Law the grounds of acceptance with God.
2:19 I died to the Law. See v. 20; see also note on Rom 7:4.
2:20 crucified with Christ. See 5:24; 6:14; Rom 6:8–10; 7:6; see also note on Rom 6:7. gave Himself up for me. See 1:4; 1 Tim 2:6; Titus 2:14.
2:21 Christ died needlessly. To mingle legalism with grace distorts grace and makes a mockery of the cross.
3:1 foolish. They were not mentally deficient but simply failed to use their powers of perception (see Luke 24:25; Rom 1:14; 1 Tim 6:9; Titus 3:3). who . . . ? Obviously legalistic Judaizers. portrayed as crucified. See 1 Cor 1:23; 2:2. The verb means "to publicly portray or placard." Cf. the bronze serpent that Moses displayed on a pole (Num 21:9).
3:2 the Spirit. From this point on in Galatians Paul refers to the Holy Spirit 16 times.
3:3 begun by the Spirit . . . being perfected. Both salvation and sanctification are the work of the Holy Spirit. by the flesh. A reference to human nature in its unregenerate weakness. Trying to achieve righteousness by works, including circumcision, was a part of life in the "flesh."
3:4 Paul hopes that those who have been misled will return to the true gospel.
3:7 sons of Abraham. Abraham was the physical and spiritual father of the Jewish race (see John 8:33,39,53; Acts 7:2; Rom 4:12). Here all believers (Jews and Gentiles) are called his spiritual children (see notes on Rom 4:11–12). They are also referred to as the "seed" or "descendants" of Abraham (v. 16; Heb 2:16).
3:8 Scripture, foreseeing. A personification of Scripture that calls attention to its divine origin (see 1 Tim 5:18).
3:9 Abraham, the believer. Paul develops this theme at length in Rom 4; see also Heb 11:8–19.
3:10 are the works of the Law. The reference is to legalists—those who refuse God's offer of grace and insist on pursuing righteousness through works. under a curse. Because no one under the law ever perfectly kept the Law. God's blessing has never been earned, but has always been freely given. ALL THINGS. See James 2:10.

Law before God is evident; for, "[3][b]THE RIGHTEOUS MAN SHALL LIVE BY FAITH."

12 [1]However, the Law is not [2]of faith; on the contrary, "[a]HE WHO PRACTICES THEM SHALL LIVE [3]BY THEM."

13 Christ [a]redeemed us from the curse of the Law, having become a curse for us—for it is written, "[b]CURSED IS EVERYONE WHO HANGS ON [c]A [1]TREE"—

14 in order that [a]in Christ Jesus the blessing of Abraham might [1]come to the Gentiles, so that we [b]would receive [c]the promise of the Spirit through faith.

Intent of the Law

15 [a]Brethren, [b]I speak [1]in terms of human relations: [c]even though it is only a man's [2]covenant, yet when it has been ratified, no one sets it aside or adds [3]conditions to it.

16 Now the promises were spoken [a]to Abraham and to his seed. He does not say, "And to seeds," as referring to many, but rather to one, "[b]And to your seed," that is, Christ.

17 What I am saying is this: the Law, which came [a]four hundred and thirty years later, does not invalidate a covenant previously ratified by God, so as to nullify the promise.

18 For [a]if the inheritance is [1]based on law, it is no longer [1]based on a promise; but [b]God has granted it to Abraham by means of a promise.

19 [a]Why the Law then? It was added [1]because of transgressions, having been [b]ordained through angels [c]by the [2]agency of a mediator, until [d]the seed would come to whom the promise had been made.

20 Now [a]a mediator is not [1]for one party only; whereas God is only one.

21 Is the Law then contrary to the promises of God? [a]May it never be! For [b]if a law had been given which was able to impart life, then righteousness [1]would indeed have been [2]based on law.

22 But the Scripture has [a]shut up [1]everyone under sin, so that the promise by faith in Jesus Christ might be given to those who believe.

23 But before faith came, we were kept in custody under the law, [a]being shut up to the faith which was later to be revealed.

24 Therefore the Law has become our [a]tutor to lead us to Christ, so that [b]we may be justified by faith.

25 But now that faith has come, we are no longer under a [1][a]tutor.

26 For you are all [a]sons of God through faith in [b]Christ Jesus.

27 For all of you who were [a]baptized into Christ have [b]clothed yourselves with Christ.

28 [a]There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free man, there is [1]neither male nor female; for [b]you are all one in [c]Christ Jesus.

29 And if [a]you [1]belong to Christ, then you are Abraham's [2]descendants, heirs according to [b]promise.

3:11 SHALL LIVE. Means here (and in v. 12) almost the same thing as "will be justified."
3:13 Christ redeemed us from the curse of the Law. See 4:5; Rom 8:3. TREE. Used in classical Greek of stocks and poles on which bodies were impaled, here of the cross (see Acts 5:30; 10:39; 1 Pet 2:24).
3:14 the blessing of Abraham. See v. 8; Rom 4:1–5. promise of the Spirit. See Ezek 36:26; 37:14; 39:29; John 14:16; cf. Eph 1:13.
3:15 Brethren. See note on 1:2. man's covenant. The Greek word normally indicates a last will or testament, which is probably the legal instrument Paul is referring to here. But in the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) it had been widely used of God's covenant with His people (see also Matt 26:28; Luke 1:72; Acts 3:25; 7:8; 2 Cor 3:14; Heb 8:9), so Paul's choice of analogy was apt for his purpose.
3:16 promises. See notes on Rom 4:13; 9:4.
3:17 four hundred and thirty years. See Ex 12:40–41. The period in Egypt is designated in round numbers as "400 years" in Gen 15:13; Acts 7:6.
3:19 was added. From the time of Abraham, the promise covenanted to him (Gen 12:2–3,7; 15:18–20; 17:4–8) had stood at the center of God's relationship with His people. After the exodus the law contained in the Sinaitic covenant (Ex 19–24) became an additional element in that relationship—what Jeremiah by implication called the "old covenant" when he brought God's promise of a "new covenant" (Jer 31:31–34). through angels. See Deut 33:2; Acts 7:38,53; Heb 2:2. the seed. Christ.
3:20 The Mosaic covenant was a formal arrangement of mutual commitments between God and Israel, with Moses as the mediator. But since the promise God covenanted with Abraham involved commitment only from God's side (and God is one; see note on Deut 6:4), no mediator was involved.
3:21 The reason the law is not opposed to the promise is that, although in itself it cannot save, it serves to reveal sin, which alienates God from man, and to show the need for the salvation that the promise offers.
3:23 faith. In Christ (v. 22). kept in custody under the law. To be a prisoner of sin (v. 22) and a prisoner of law amounts to much the same, because law reveals and stimulates sin (see 4:3; Rom 7:8; Col 2:20).
3:24 has become our tutor. The expression translates the Greek paidagogos (from which "pedagogue" is derived). It refers to the personal slave-attendant who accompanied a freeborn boy wherever he went and exercised a certain amount of discipline over him. His function was more like that of a baby-sitter than a teacher (see 1 Cor 4:15, "tutors").
3:25–26 By adoption, the justified believer is a full adult and heir in God's family, with all the attendant rights and privileges (4:1–7; Rom 8:14–17).
3:27 baptized into Christ. See Rom 6:3–11; 1 Cor 12:13.
3:28 Unity in Christ transcends ethnic, social and sexual distinctions (see Rom 10:12; 1 Cor 12:13; Eph 2:15–16). free. See 5:1,13; Rom 6:18,20,22; 8:2. "Free" and "freedom" are key words in Galatians, occurring ten times (here; 4:22–23,26,30–31; 5:1,13; cf. "liberty" in 2:4).
3:29 Christians are Abraham's true, spiritual descendants.

Sonship in Christ

4 Now I say, as long as the heir is a [1]child, he does not differ at all from a slave although he is [2]owner of everything,

2 but he is under guardians and [1]managers until the date set by the father.

3 So also we, while we were children, were held [a]in bondage under the [1][b]elemental things of the world.

4 But when [a]the fullness of the time came, God sent forth His Son, [b]born of a woman, born [c]under [1]the Law,

5 so that He might redeem those who were under [1]the Law, that we might receive the adoption as [a]sons.

6 Because you are sons, [a]God has sent forth the Spirit of His Son into our hearts, crying, "[b]Abba! Father!"

7 Therefore you are no longer a slave, but a son; and [a]if a son, then an heir [1]through God.

8 However at that time, [a]when you did not know God, you were [b]slaves to [c]those which by nature are no gods.

9 But now that you have come to know God, or rather to be [a]known by God, [b]how is it that you turn back again to the weak and worthless [1][c]elemental things, to which you desire to be enslaved all over again?

10 You [a]observe days and months and seasons and years.

16 So have I become your enemy [a]by [1]telling you the truth?

17 They eagerly seek you, not commendably, but they wish to shut you out so that you will seek them.

18 But it is good always to be eagerly sought in a commendable [1]manner, and [a]not only when I am present with you.

4:1 child. A minor. Contrast with "mature" in 1 Cor 14:20 ("perfect" in Phil 3:15).
4:2 guardians. A broader term than "tutor" in 3:24. See Matt 20:8 ("foreman"); Luke 8:3 ("steward").
4:3 in bondage. See note on 3:23. elemental things. The Greek term meant essentially "things placed side by side in a row" (as the ABCs) and then came to mean fundamental principles or basic elements of various kinds. The context here suggests that it refers to the elemental forms of religion, whether those of the Jews (under the law, v. 5) or those of the Gentiles (under their old religious bondage, v. 8). of the world. In the sense that these principles do not come from the "new creation" (6:15).
4:4 fullness of the time came. The time "set" (v. 2) by God for His children to become adult sons and heirs. God sent forth His Son. See John 1:14; 3:16; Rom 1:1–6; 1John 4:14. born of a woman. Showing that Christ was truly human. born under the Law. Subject to the Jewish Law.
4:5 the adoption as sons. Lit. "adoption [of a son]." See Rom 8:15, where the "spirit of adoption as sons" is contrasted with the "spirit of slavery" (cf. Eph 1:5). God takes into His family as fully recognized sons and heirs both Jews (those who had been under law) and Gentiles who believe in Christ.
4:6 Spirit of His Son. A new "guardian" (v. 2), identified as the "Spirit of God" in Rom 8:9 (see Rom 8:2; Eph 1:13–14). crying. The Greek for this phrase is a vivid verb expressing deep emotion, often used of an inarticulate cry. In Matt 27:50 it is used of Jesus' final cry. Abba! Father! "Abba," expressive of an especially close relationship to God, is Aramaic for "Father."
4:8 when you did not know God. See 1 Cor 12:2; 1 Thess 4:5. are no gods. When the Galatians were pagans, they thought that the beings they worshiped were gods; but when they became Christians, they learned better.
4:9 turn back. See 3:1–3. weak and worthless elemental things. See note on v. 3. enslaved . . . again. Legalistic trust in rituals, in moral achievement, in law, in good works, or even in cold, dead orthodoxy may indicate a relapse into second childhood on the part of those who should be knowing and enjoying the freedom of full-grown sons.
4:10 days. Such as the sabbath and the day of atonement (tenth day of Tishri; see Lev 16:29–34), which had never been, and can never be, in themselves means of salvation or sanctification. months and seasons. Such as New Moons (see Num 28:11–15; Is 1:13–14), Passover (Ex 12:18) and First fruits (Lev 23:10). years. Such as the sabbath year (see Lev 25:4). The Pharisees meticulously observed all these to gain merit before God.
4:11 in vain. Due to their return to the old covenant law.
4:12 brethren. See note on 1:2.
4:13 illness. On the basis of v. 15; 6:11 some suggest it was eye trouble. Others have suggested malaria or epilepsy. preached . . . the first time. When Paul visited Galatia on his first missionary journey (Acts 13:14–14:23).
4:14 you received me. He implies that under the influence of Judaizers they have changed their attitude toward him.
4:15 Where . . . is that sense of blessing you had? Because of the restraints of legalistic Judaism they had lost their blessing and joy. plucked out your eyes. A hyperbole indicating their willingness, for his benefit, to part with that which was most precious to them. See Mark 2:4, where the same verb is used of digging through a roof.
4:16 your enemy. Telling the truth sometimes results in loss of friends.
4:17 They. Judaizers (see 2:4,12).
4:19 My children. For Paul's affectionate relationship to his converts see Acts 20:37–38; Phil 4:1; 1 Thess 2:7–8. The expression occurs only here in Paul's writings, but is common in John's (e.g., John 13:33; 1 John 2:1; 3:7). until Christ is formed in you. The goal of Paul's ministry (see Rom 8:29; Eph 4:13,15; Col 1:27).

now and to change my tone, for [a]I am perplexed about you.

Bond and Free

21 Tell me, you who want to be under law, do you not [a]listen to the law?

22 For it is written that Abraham had two sons, [a]one by the bondwoman and [b]one by the free woman.

23 But [a]the son by the bondwoman [1]was born according to the flesh, and [b]the son by the free woman through the promise.

24 [1][a]This is allegorically speaking, for these women are two covenants: one proceeding from [b]Mount Sinai bearing children [2]who are to be [c]slaves; [3]she is Hagar.

25 Now this Hagar is Mount Sinai in Arabia and corresponds to the present Jerusalem, for she is in slavery with her children.

26 But [a]the Jerusalem above is free; [1]she is our mother.

27 For it is written,

"[a]REJOICE, BARREN WOMAN WHO DOES NOT BEAR; BREAK FORTH AND SHOUT, YOU WHO ARE NOT IN LABOR;
FOR MORE NUMEROUS ARE THE CHILDREN OF THE DESOLATE THAN OF THE ONE WHO HAS A HUSBAND."

28 And you brethren, [a]like Isaac, are [b]children of promise.

29 But as at that time [a]he who was born according to the flesh [b]persecuted him who was born according to the Spirit, [c]so it is now also.

30 But what does the Scripture say?

"[a]CAST OUT THE BONDWOMAN AND HER SON, FOR [b]THE SON OF THE BONDWOMAN SHALL NOT BE AN HEIR WITH THE SON OF THE FREE WOMAN."

31 So then, brethren, we are not children of a bondwoman, [1]but of the free woman.

Walk by the Spirit

5 [1][a]It was for freedom that Christ set us free; therefore [b]keep standing firm and do not be subject again to a [c]yoke of slavery.

2 Behold I, [a]Paul, say to you that if you receive [b]circumcision, Christ will be of no benefit to you.

3 And I [a]testify again to every man who receives [b]circumcision, that he is under obligation to [c]keep the whole Law.

4 You have been severed from Christ, you who [1]are seeking to be justified by law; you have [a]fallen from grace.

5 For we [1]through the Spirit, [2]by faith, are [a]waiting for the hope of righteousness.

6 For in [a]Christ Jesus [b]neither circumcision nor uncircumcision means anything, but [c]faith working through love.

7 You were [a]running well; who hindered you from obeying the truth?

8 This persuasion did not come from [a]Him who calls you.

4:22 two sons. Ishmael was born to the slave woman, Hagar (Gen 16:1–16), and Isaac to the free woman, Sarah (Gen 21:2–5).

4:24 allegorically speaking. The Sarah-Hagar account is not an allegory in the sense that it was nonhistorical, but in the sense that Paul uses the events to illustrate a theological truth. covenants. See note on 3:15. Mount Sinai. Where the old covenant was established, with its law governing Israel's life (see Ex 19:2; 20:1–17).

4:25 corresponds to the present Jerusalem. Jerusalem can be equated with Mount Sinai because it represents the center of Judaism, which is still under bondage to the law issued at Mount Sinai.

4:26 the Jerusalem above. Rabbinical teaching held that the Jerusalem above was the heavenly archetype that in the Messianic period would be let down to earth (cf. Rev 21:2). Here it refers to the heavenly city of God, in which Christ reigns and of which Christians are citizens, in contrast to the "present Jerusalem" (v. 25). our mother. As citizens of the heavenly Jerusalem, Christians are her children.

4:27 Paul applies Isaiah's joyful promise to exiled Jerusalem (in her exile "barren" of children) to the ingathering of believers through the gospel, by which "Jerusalem's" children have become many.

4:28 children of promise. Children by virtue of God's promise (see 3:29; Rom 9:8).

4:29 persecuted him who was born according to the Spirit. Suggested by Gen 21:9; cf. Ps 83:5–6. so it is now. See Acts 13:50; 14:2–5,19; 1 Thess 2:14–16.

4:30 CAST OUT THE BONDWOMAN. Sarah's words in Gen 21:10 were used by Paul as the Scriptural basis for teaching the Galatians to put the Judaizers out of the church.

4:31 we are not children of a bondwoman. The believer is not enslaved to the law but is a child of promise and lives by faith (cf. 3:7,29).

5:1 freedom. Emphasized by its position in the Greek sentence. The freedom spoken of here is freedom from the yoke of the law. subject. In classical Greek the verb meant "to be caught or entangled in." yoke of slavery. The burden of the rigorous demands of the law as the means for gaining God's favor—an intolerable burden for sinful man (see Acts 15:10–11).

5:2 circumcision. As a condition for God's acceptance.

5:3 obligation to keep the whole Law. The OT Law is a unit; submission to it cannot be selective.

5:4 fallen from grace. Placed yourself outside the scope of divine favor, because gaining God's favor by observing the law and receiving it by grace are mutually exclusive (see 2 Pet 3:17).

5:5 the hope of righteousness. A reference to God's final verdict of "not guilty," assured presently to the believer by faith and by the sanctifying work of the Holy Spirit. This is one of the few eschatological statements in Galatians.

5:6 neither circumcision nor uncircumcision means anything. See v. 2; 2:21; 6:15; 1 Cor 7:19. faith working through love. Faith is not mere intellectual assent (see James 2:18–19) but a living trust in God's grace that expresses itself in acts of love (see 1 Thess 1:3).

5:7 were running well. Before the Judaizers hindered them. Paul was fond of depicting the Christian life as a race (see, e.g., 2:2; Phil 2:16).

5:8 persuasion. By the Judaizers.

9 [a]A little leaven leavens the whole lump of dough.

10 [a]I have confidence [1]in you in the Lord that you [b]will adopt no other view; but the one who is [c]disturbing you will bear his judgment, whoever he is.

11 But I, brethren, if I still preach circumcision, why am I still [a]persecuted? Then [b]the stumbling block of the cross has been abolished.

12 I wish that [a]those who are troubling you would even [1][b]mutilate themselves.

13 For you were called to [a]freedom, brethren; [b]only do not turn your freedom into an opportunity for the flesh, but through love [c]serve one another.

14 For [a]the whole Law is fulfilled in one word, in the statement, "[b]YOU SHALL LOVE YOUR NEIGHBOR AS YOURSELF."

15 But if you [a]bite and devour one another, take care that you are not consumed by one another.

16 But I say, [a]walk by the Spirit, and you will not carry out [b]the desire of the flesh.

17 For [a]the flesh [1]sets its desire against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; for these are in opposition to one another, [b]so that you may not do the things that you [2]please.

18 But if you are [a]led by the Spirit, [b]you are not under the Law.

19 Now the deeds of the flesh are evident, which are: [1a]immorality, impurity, sensuality,

20 idolatry, [a]sorcery, enmities, [b]strife, jealousy, outbursts of anger, [c]disputes, dissensions, [1d]factions,

21 envying, [a]drunkenness, carousing, and things like these, of which I forewarn you, just as I have forewarned you, that those who practice such things will not [b]inherit the kingdom of God.

22 But [a]the fruit of the Spirit is [b]love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, 23 gentleness, [a]self-control; against such things [b]there is no law.

24 Now those who [1]belong to [a]Christ Jesus have [b]crucified the flesh with its passions and [c]desires.

25 If we live by the Spirit, let us also [1]walk [a]by the Spirit.

26 Let us not become [a]boastful, challenging one another, envying one another.

Bear One Another's Burdens

6 [a]Brethren, even if [1]anyone is caught in any trespass, you who are [b]spiritual, [c]restore such a one [d]in a spirit of gentleness; each one looking to yourself, so that you too will not be tempted.

2 [a]Bear one another's burdens, and thereby fulfill [b]the law of Christ.

3 For [a]if anyone thinks he is something when he is nothing, he deceives himself.

4 But each one must [a]examine his own work, and then he will have reason for [b]boasting in regard to himself alone, and not in regard to another.

5 For [a]each one will bear his own load.

5:9 A proverb used here to stress the pervasive effect of Judaism. When the word "leaven" in the Bible is used as a symbol, it indicates evil or false teaching (see note on Mark 8:15), except in Matt 13:33.

5:11 brethren. See note on 1:2. stumbling block of the cross. See Rom 9:32–33; 1 Cor 1:23.

5:12 mutilate themselves. The Greek word means "to cut off," or "to castrate." In Phil 3:2 Paul uses a related word to describe the same sort of people as "the false circumcision." His sarcasm is evident.

5:13 do not turn your freedom into an opportunity for the flesh. See Rom 6:1; 1 Pet 2:16. Liberty is not license but freedom to serve God and each other in love.

5:14 whole Law is fulfilled. Doing to others what you would have them do to you expresses the spirit and intention of "the Law and the Prophets" (Matt 7:12; cf. Mark 12:31).

5:15 bite and devour one another. Opposite of vv. 13–14. Seeking to attain status with God and man by mere observance of law breeds a self-righteous, critical spirit.

5:16 walk by. Present tense—"go on living" (used of habitual conduct). Living by the promptings and power of the Spirit is the key to conquering sinful desires (see v. 25; Rom 8:2–4).

5:17 in opposition to one another. See Rom 7:15–23; 1 Pet 2:11.

5:18 led by the Spirit. See Rom 8:14. not under the Law. Not under the bondage of trying to please God by minute observance of the Law for salvation or sanctification (see note on Rom 6:14).

5:19–21 For other lists of vices see 1 Cor 6:9–10; Eph 5:5; Rev 22:15.

5:22–23 For other lists of virtues see 2 Cor 6:6; Eph 4:2; 5:9; Col 3:12–15. Christian character is produced by the Holy Spirit, not by the mere moral discipline of trying to live by law. Paul makes it clear that justification by faith does not result in libertinism. The indwelling Holy Spirit produces Christian virtues in the believer's life.

5:22 fruit of the Spirit. Compare the singular "fruit" with the plural "deeds" (v. 19).

5:23 no law. See 1 Tim 1:9.

5:24 crucified the flesh. See 2:20; 6:14.

5:25 walk by. Or "walk in line with," a different Greek verb from "walk by" in v. 16.

6:1 Brethren. See note on 1:2. you who are spiritual. Contrast with 1 Cor 3:1–3. restore. The Greek for this verb is used elsewhere for setting bones, mending nets, or bringing factions together.

6:2 Bear one another's burdens. The emphasis is on moral burdens or weaknesses (see v.1; Rom 15:1–3). law of Christ. See note on 1 Cor 9:21.

6:4 each one must examine his own work. The emphasis here is on personal responsibility (see 1 Cor 11:28; 2 Cor 13:5).

6:5 bear his own load. The "for" at the beginning of the verse connects it with v. 4. Each of us is responsible before God. The reference may be to the future judgment (the verb is in the

13 For those who [1]are circumcised do not desire to have you circumcised so that they may [b]boast in your flesh.

14 But [a]may it never be that I would Christ, [c]through [1]which the world has been 15 For [a]neither is circumcision anything, nor uncircumcision, but a [b]new [1]creation.

16 And those who will [1]walk by this rule, peace and mercy be upon them, and upon the [a]Israel of God.

17 From now on let no one cause trouble

6:6 share all good things. See Phil 4:14–19.

6:7 whatever a man sows, this he will also reap. See 2 Cor 9:6. As vv. 8–9 show, the principle applies not only negatively but also positively.

6:8 See Rom 8:13. corruption. See 5:19–21. eternal life. In 5:21 Paul speaks of inheriting "the kingdom of God," here of reaping "eternal life." The first focuses on the realm (sphere, context) that will be inherited (as Israel inherited the promised land); the second focuses on the blessed life that will be enjoyed in that realm.

6:11 large letters. May have been for emphasis or, as some have suggested, because he had poor eyesight (see note on 4:13). with my own hand. The letter up to this point had probably been dictated to a scribe, after which Paul took the pen in his own hand and finished the letter.

6:12 compel you to be circumcised. Cf. 2:3. that they will not be persecuted. By advocating circumcision (see 5:11) the Judaizers were less apt to experience opposition from the Jewish opponents of Christianity. They were thinking only of themselves. See Introduction: Occasion and Purpose.

6:14 boast, except in the cross. See 1 Cor 1:31; 2:2. the world. All that is against God. crucified to me, and I to the world. See 2:19–20; 5:24; see also notes on James 4:4; 1John 2:15.

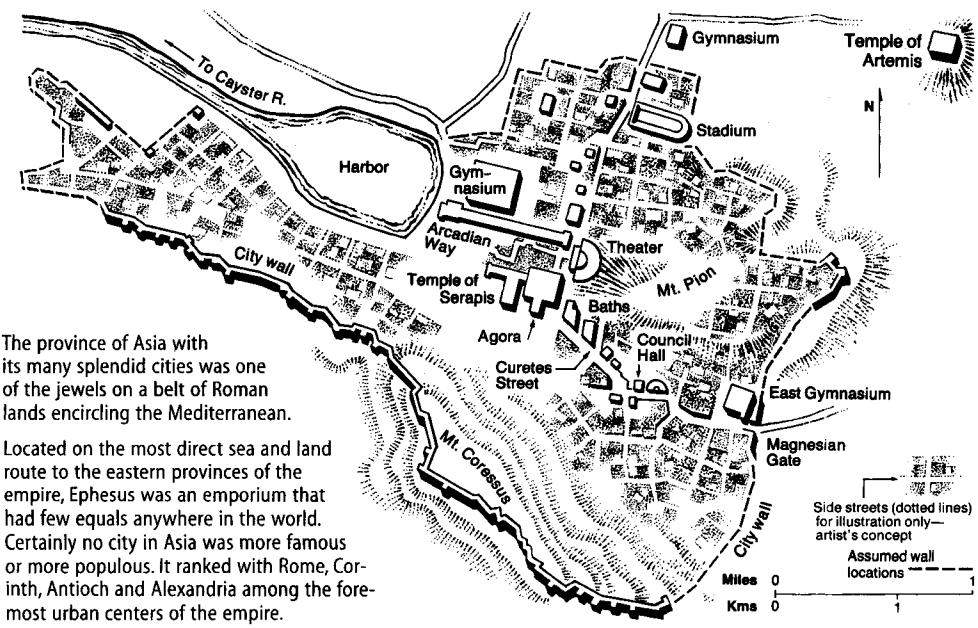
6:15 new creation. In Christ man undergoes a transformation that results in an entirely new being. Creation again takes place (see 2 Cor 5:17).

6:16 this rule. See vv. 14–15. peace and mercy. Cf. Ps 125:5; 128:6. Israel of God. Christian Jews. If the conjunction is translated as "even" instead of "and," the phrase stands in contrast to "Israel according to flesh" (a literal rendering of the Greek for "nation Israel" in 1 Cor 10:18). The NT church, made up of believing Jews and Gentiles, is the new seed of Abraham and the heir according to the promise (3:29; cf. Rom 9:6; Phil 3:3).

6:17 brand-marks of Jesus. In ancient times the Greek word was used of the brand-marks that identified slaves or animals. Paul's suffering (stoning, Acts 14:19; beatings, Acts 16:22; 2 Cor 11:25; illness, 2 Cor 12:7; Gal 4:13–14) marked him as a "bond-servant of Christ" (1:10; cf. 2 Cor 4:10).

6:18 Amen. A word of confirmation often used at the close of a doxology or benediction.

Ephesians



Author, Date and Place of Writing

The author identifies himself as Paul (1:1; 3:1; cf. 3:7,13; 4:1; 6:19–20). Some have taken the absence of the usual personal greetings and the verbal similarity of many parts to Colossians, among other reasons, as grounds for doubting authorship by the apostle Paul. However, this was probably a circular letter, intended for other churches in addition to the one in Ephesus (see notes on 1:1,15; 6:21–23). Paul may have written it about the same time as Colossians, c. A.D. 60, while he was in prison at Rome (see 3:1; 4:1; 6:20).

The City of Ephesus

Ephesus was the most important city in western Asia Minor (now Turkey). It had a harbor that at that time opened into the Cayster River, which in turn emptied into the Aegean Sea. Because it was also at an inter-

Ephesus in the Time of Paul

The province of Asia with its many splendid cities was one of the jewels on a belt of Roman lands encircling the Mediterranean.

Located on the most direct sea and land route to the eastern provinces of the empire, Ephesus was an emporium that had few equals anywhere in the world. Certainly no city in Asia was more famous or more populous. It ranked with Rome, Corinth, Antioch and Alexandria among the foremost urban centers of the empire.

Situated on an inland harbor (now silted up), the city was connected by a narrow channel via the Cayster River with the Aegean Sea some three miles away. Ephesus boasted impressive civic monuments, including, most prominently, the temple of Artemis (Diana), one of the seven wonders of the ancient world. Coins of the city proudly displayed the slogan Neokoros, "temple-warden."

Here in Ephesus Paul preached to large crowds of people. The silversmiths complained that he had influenced large numbers of people here in Ephesus and in practically the whole province of Asia (Ac 19:26). In one of the most dramatic events recorded in the NT, the apostle escaped a huge mob in the theater. This structure, located on the slope of Mt. Pion at the end of the Arcadian Way, could seat 25,000 people!

Other places doubtless familiar to the apostle were the Commercial Agora, the Magnesian Gate, the Town Hall or "Council House," and the Street of the Curetes. The location of the lecture hall of Tyrannus, where Paul taught, is unknown.

section of major trade routes, Ephesus became a commercial center. It boasted a pagan temple dedicated to the Roman goddess Diana (Greek Artemis); cf. Acts 19:23–31. Paul made Ephesus a center for evangelism for about three years (see note on Acts 19:10), and the church there apparently flourished for some time, but later needed the warning of Rev 2:1–7.

Message

Unlike several of the other letters Paul wrote, Ephesians does not address any particular error or heresy. Paul wrote to expand the horizons of his readers, so that they might understand better the dimensions of God's eternal purpose and grace and come to appreciate the high goals God has for the church.

The letter opens with a sequence of statements about God's blessings, which are interspersed with a remarkable variety of expressions drawing attention to God's wisdom, forethought and purpose. Paul emphasizes that we have been saved, not only for our personal benefit, but also to bring praise and glory to God. The climax of God's purpose, in the "fullness of the times," is to bring all things in the universe together under Christ (1:10). It is crucially important that Christians realize this, so in 1:15–23 Paul prays for their understanding (a second prayer occurs in 3:14–21).

Having explained God's great goals for the church, Paul proceeds to show the steps toward their fulfillment. First, God has reconciled individuals to Himself as an act of grace (2:1–10). Second, God has reconciled these saved individuals to each other, Christ having broken down the barriers through His own death (2:11–22). But God has done something even beyond this: He has united these reconciled individuals in one body, the church. This is a "mystery" not fully known until it was revealed to Paul (3:1–6). Now Paul is able to state even more clearly what God has intended for the church, namely, that it be the means by which He displays His "manifold wisdom" to the "rulers and the authorities in the heavenly places" (3:7–13). It is clear through the repetition of "heavenly places" (1:3,20; 2:6; 3:10; 6:12) that Christian existence is not merely on an earthly plane. It receives its meaning and significance from heaven, where Christ is exalted at the right hand of God (1:20).

Nevertheless, that life is lived out on earth, where the practical daily life of the believer continues to work out the purposes of God. The ascended Lord gave "gifts" to the members of His church to enable them to minister to one another and so promote unity and maturity (4:1–16). The unity of the church under the headship of Christ foreshadows the uniting of "all things . . . in the heavens and things on the earth" under Christ (1:10). The new life of purity and mutual deference stands in contrast to the old way of life without Christ (4:17—6:9). Those who are "strong in the Lord" have victory over the evil one in the great spiritual conflict, especially through the power of prayer (6:10–20).

The Blessings of Redemption

1 Paul, [a]an apostle of [b]Christ Jesus [1][c]by the will of God,

To the [2][d]saints who are [3]at [e]Ephesus and [f]who are faithful in [b]Christ Jesus:

2 [a]Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 [a]Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us with every spiritual blessing in [b]the heavenly places in Christ,

4 just as [a]He chose us in Him before [b]the foundation of the world, that we would be [c]holy and blameless before [1]Him. [d]In love

5 [1]He [a]predestined us to [b]adoption as sons through Jesus Christ to Himself, [c]according to the [2]kind intention of His will,

6 [a]to the praise of the glory of His grace, which He freely bestowed on us in [b]the Beloved.

7 [a]In [1]Him we have [b]redemption [c]through His blood, the [d]forgiveness of our trespasses, according to [e]the riches of His grace

1:1 apostle. One specially commissioned by Christ (see notes on Mark 6:30; 1 Cor 1:1; Heb 3:1). by the will of God. Paul not only stresses his authority under God, but also anticipates the strong emphasis he will make later in this chapter and book on God's sovereign plan and purpose. at Ephesus. The book may have been intended as a circular letter to several churches, including the one at Ephesus (see notes on v. 15; 6:21–23; Acts 19:10). in Christ. This phrase (or a similar one) occurs 11 times in vv. 1–13. It refers to the spiritual union of Christ with believers, which Paul often symbolizes by the metaphor "body (of Christ)" (see, e.g., v. 23; 2:16; 4:4,12,16; 5:23,30).

1:2 Grace to you and peace. Although these words were commonly used in the greetings of secular letters, the words that follow show that Paul intended a spiritual dimension. He uses the word "grace" 12 times and "peace" 8 times in Ephesians.

1:3–14 All one sentence in Greek, this section is often called a "doxology" because it recites what God has done and is an expression of worship to honor Him. Paul speaks first of the blessings we have through the Father (v. 3), then of those that come through the Son (vv. 4–13a) and finally of those through the Holy Spirit (1:13b–14).

1:3 Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus' relation to God the Father is unique (see John 20:17 and note). blessed . . . blessing. Jewish people used the word "bless" to express both God's kindness to us and our thanks or praise to him. heavenly places. Occurs five times in Ephesians, emphasizing Paul's perception that in the exaltation of Christ (His resurrection and enthronement at God's right hand) and in the Christian's union with the exalted Christ ultimate issues are involved—issues that pertain to the divine realm and that in the final analysis are worked out in and from that realm. At stake are God's eternal eschatological purpose (3:11) and the titanic conflict between God and the powerful spiritual forces arrayed against Him—a purpose and a conflict that come to focus in the history of redemption. Here (v. 3) Paul asserts that, through their union with the exalted Christ, Christians have already been made beneficiaries of every spiritual blessing that belongs to and comes from the heavenly places. In vv. 20–22, he proclaims Christ's exaltation to that realm and His elevation over all other powers and titles so that He rules over all for the sake of His church. According to 2:6, those who have been made alive with Christ (2:5) share in Christ's exaltation and enthronement in heaven. Thus (3:10) by the gathering of Gentiles and Jews into one body of Christ (the church), God triumphantly displays His "manifold wisdom" to the "the rulers and the authorities" in the heavenly realm. As a result, the spiritual struggle of the saints here and now is not so much against "flesh and blood" as against the great spiritual forces that war against God in heaven (6:12).

1:4 chose. Divine election is a constant theme in Paul's letters (Rom 8:29–33; 9:6–26; 11:5,7,28; 16:13; Col 3:12; 1 Thess 1:4; 2 Thess 2:13; Titus 1:1). In this chapter it is emphasized in the following ways: (1) "He chose us" (here); (2) "He predestined us" (v. 5); (3) "also we have obtained an inheritance" (v. 11); (4) "having been predestined" (v. 11). before the foundation of the world. See John 17:24. holy and blameless. See 5:27 for the same pair of words. Holiness is the result—not the basis—of God's choosing. It refers both to the holiness imparted to the believer because of Christ and to the believer's personal sanctification (see note on 1 Cor 1:2). In love. Cf. 3:17; 4:2,15–16; 5:2.

1:5 adoption. See note on Rom 8:23.

1:6 to the praise. See vv. 12,14. Election is for God's glory.

1:7 redemption. See v. 14; 4:30; Rom 3:24; Titus 2:14. The Ephesians were familiar with the Greco-Roman practice of redemption: Slaves were freed by the payment of a ransom. Similarly, the ransom necessary to free sinners from the bondage of sin and the resulting curse imposed by the law (see Gal 3:13) was the death of Christ (called here "His blood"). through His blood. Cf. 2:13; 1 Pet 1:18–19.

1:9 mystery. See notes on Rom 11:25; Col 1:26.

1:10 the summing up . . . in Christ. Paul uses a significant term here that not only has the idea of leadership but also was often used of adding up a column of figures. A contemporary way of putting it might be to say that in a world of confusion, where things do not "add up" or make sense, we look forward to the time when everything will be brought into meaningful relationship under the headship of Christ. In Him. Christ is the center of God's plan. Whether the universe or the individual Christian is in view, it is only in relationship to Christ that there is a meaningful future destiny. Paul goes on to speak, not of the world as a whole, but of those who respond to God's call.

1:12 we who were the first to hope in Christ. Probably a reference to those Jews who, like Paul, had become believers before many Gentiles had.

1:13 you also. Probably refers to the majority of the Ephesians,

[a]the message of truth, the gospel of your salvation—having also [2]believed, you were [b]sealed in [1]Him with [c]the Holy Spirit of promise, 14 who is [1][a]given as a pledge of [b]our inheritance, with a view to the [c]redemption of [d]God's own possession, [e]to the praise of His glory.

15 For this reason I too, [a]having heard of the faith in the Lord Jesus which exists among you and [1]your love for [b]all the [2]saints,

16 [a]do not cease giving thanks for you, [b]while making mention of you in my prayers;

17 that the [a]God of our Lord Jesus Christ, [b]the Father of glory, may give to you a spirit of [c]wisdom and of [d]revelation in the [1]knowledge of Him.

18 I pray that [a]the eyes of your heart [1]may be enlightened, so that you will know what is the [b]hope of His [c]calling, what are [d]the riches of the glory of [e]His inheritance in [f]the [2]saints,

19 and what is the surpassing greatness of His power toward us who believe. [a]These are in accordance with the working of the [b]strength of His might

20 which He brought about in Christ, when He [a]raised Him from the dead and [b]seated Him at His right hand in [c]the heavenly places, 21 far above [a]all rule and authority and power and dominion, and every [b]name that is named, not only in [c]this age but also in the one to come.

22 And He [a]put all things in subjection under His feet, and gave Him as [b]head over all things to the church, 23 which is His [a]body, the [b]fullness of Him who [c]fills [d]all in all.

Made Alive in Christ

2 And you [1]were [a]dead [2]in your trespasses and sins,

2 in which you [a]formerly walked according to the [1]course of [b]this world, according to [c]the prince of the power of the air, of the spirit that is now working in [d]the sons of disobedience.

3 Among them we too all [a]formerly lived in [b]the lusts of our flesh, [1]indulging the desires of the flesh and of the [2]mind, and were [c]by nature [d]children of wrath, [e]even as the rest.

4 But God, being [a]rich in mercy, because of [b]His great love with which He loved us,

5 even when we were [a]dead [1]in our transgressions, made us alive together [2]with Christ (*b*by grace you have been saved),

6 and [a]raised us up with Him, and [b]seated us with Him in [c]the heavenly places in [d]Christ Jesus,

7 so that in the ages to come He might show the surpassing [a]riches of His grace in [b]kindness toward us in Christ Jesus.

who were Gentiles. sealed. In those days a seal denoted ownership.

1:14 pledge. See note on Rom 8:23.

1:15 having heard. This sounds strange from one who had spent a few years in Ephesus. He may be referring to a greatly enlarged church there, many of whom Paul did not know, or, if Ephesians was intended as a circular letter (see note on v. 1), he may be referring to news from the whole area, only a part of which he had visited.

1:17 God of our Lord Jesus Christ. See note on v. 3. Him. God the Father.

1:18 eyes of your heart. Your mind or understanding or inner awareness. hope. Has an objective quality of certainty (see Rom 8:25). It is the assurance of eternal life guaranteed by the present possession of the Holy Spirit (see v. 14). calling. See Phil 3:14; 2 Tim 1:9; Heb 3:1. the glory of His inheritance in the saints. Either the inheritance we have from God (see v. 14; Col 1:12) or the inheritance God receives, i.e., the saints themselves. saints. Those whom God has called to be His own people, i.e., all Christians (see vv. 1,15). The word carried the idea of dedication to a deity.

1:19 In this verse Paul piles term upon term to emphasize that the extraordinary divine force by which Jesus Christ was raised (v. 20) is the same power at work in and through believers.

1:20 right hand. The symbolic place of highest honor and authority.

1:21 all rule . . . every name that is named. Including whatever supernatural beings his contemporaries might conceive of, for in his day many people believed not only in the existence of angels and demons, but also in that of other beings. Christ is above them all. this age . . . the one to come. Like the rabbinic teachers of his day, Paul distinguishes between the present age, which is evil, and the future age when the Messiah will consummate His kingdom and there will be a completely righteous society on earth.

1:22 under His feet. Ps 8:5–6 emphasizes the destiny of man, and Heb 2:6–9 shows that ultimately it is the Son of Man who rules over everything (cf. Heb 10:13). head. Christ is not only head of the church, but also head over everything (see note on v. 10).

1:23 His body. See 2:16; 4:4,12,16; 5:23,30. fullness . . . fills. The church is the fullness of Christ probably in the sense that it is filled by Him who fills all things.

2:1–10 In ch. 1 Paul wrote of the great purposes and plan of God, culminating in the universal headship of Christ (1:10), all of which is to be for "the praise of His glory" (1:14). He now proceeds to explain the steps by which God will accomplish His purposes, beginning with the salvation of individuals.

2:1 A description of their past moral and spiritual condition, separated from the life of God.

2:2 prince. Satan (cf. John 14:30, "ruler"). air. Satan is no mere earthbound enemy (cf. 6:12). spirit. Satan is a created, but not a human, being (cf. Job 1:6; Ezek 28:15; see note on Is 14:12–15).

2:3 we . . . all. Jews and Gentiles. children of wrath. See Rom 1:18–20; 2:5; 9:22.

2:5 made us alive together with Christ. This truth is expanded in Rom 6:1–10.

2:6 heavenly places. See note on 1:3. in Christ Jesus. Through our union with Christ.

2:7 ages to come. Cf. 1:21; probably refers to the future of eternal blessing with Christ. show. Or "exhibit" or "prove."

8 For [a]by grace you have been saved [b]through faith; and [1]that not of yourselves, it is [c]the gift of God;

9 [a]not as a result of works, so that [b]no one may boast.

10 For we are His workmanship, [a]created in [b]Christ Jesus for [c]good works, which God [d]prepared beforehand so that we would [e]walk in them.

11 Therefore remember that [a]formerly [b]you, the Gentiles in the flesh, who are called "[c]Uncircumcision" by the so-called "[c]Circumcision," which is performed in the flesh by human hands—

12 remember that you were at that time separate from Christ, [1a]excluded from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers to [b]the covenants of promise, having [c]no hope and [d]without God in the world.

13 But now in [a]Christ Jesus you who [b]formerly were [c]far off [1]have [c]been brought near [2d]by the blood of Christ.

14 For He Himself is [a]our peace, [b]who made both groups into one and broke down the [1]barrier of the dividing wall,

15 [1]by [a]abolishing in His flesh the enmity, which is [b]the Law of commandments contained in ordinances, so that in Himself He might [2c]make the two into [d]one new man, thus establishing [e]peace,

16 and might [a]reconcile them both in [b]one body to God through the cross, [1]by it having [c]put to death the enmity.

17 AND [a]HE CAME AND PREACHED [b]PEACE TO YOU WHO WERE [c]FAR AWAY, AND PEACE TO THOSE WHO WERE [c]NEAR;

18 for through Him we both have [a]our access in [b]one Spirit to [c]the Father.

19 So then you are no longer [a]strangers and aliens, but you are [b]fellow citizens with the [1]saints, and are of [c]God's household,

2:8 A major passage for understanding God's grace, i.e., His kindness, unmerited favor and forgiving love. you have been saved. "Saved" has a wide range of meanings. It includes salvation from God's wrath, which we all had incurred by our sinfulness. The tense of the verb (also in v. 5) suggests a completed action with emphasis on its present effect. through faith. See Rom 3:21–31 (and notes on that passage), which establishes the necessity of faith in Christ as the only means of being made right with God. not of yourselves. No human effort can contribute to our salvation; it is the gift of God.

2:9 not as a result of works. One cannot earn salvation by the "works of the Law" (Rom 3:20, 28). Such a legalistic approach to salvation (or sanctification) is consistently condemned in Scripture. no one may boast. No one can take credit for his or her salvation.

2:10 workmanship. The Greek for this word sometimes has the connotation of a "work of art." prepared beforehand. Carries forward the theme of God's sovereign purpose and planning, seen in ch. 1.

2:11–22 From the salvation of individuals, Paul moves to another aspect of salvation in which God reconciles Jews and Gentiles, previously hostile peoples, not only to Himself but also to each other through Christ (vv. 11–16). Even more than that, God unites these now reconciled people in one body, a truth introduced in vv. 19–22 and explained in ch. 3.

2:11 Therefore. Refers to the state of those without Christ, described in vv. 1–10. you, the Gentiles. Most of the Ephesians (cf. 1:13, "you also"). "Uncircumcision"... "Circumcision." The rite of circumcision was applied to all Jewish male babies; so this physical act ("performed in the flesh by human hands") was a clear mark of distinction between Jew and Gentile, in which Jewish people naturally took pride.

2:12 at that time. Before salvation, in contrast to "But now" (v. 13). separate from Christ... without God. All these expressions emphasize the distance of unbelieving Gentiles from Israel, as well as from Christ. covenants. God had promised blessings to and through the Jewish people (see note on Rom 9:4).

2:13 But now. Not only contrasts with "at that time" (v. 12) but also introduces the contrast between "from Christ" (v. 12) and "in Christ" (here). blood of Christ. Expresses the violent death of Christ as He poured out His lifeblood as a sacrifice for us (cf. 1:7).

2:14 both. Believing Jews and believing Gentiles. barrier... dividing wall. Vivid description of the total religious isolation Jews and Gentiles experienced from each other.

2:15 abolishing... the Law. Since Matt 5:17 and Rom 3:31 teach that God's moral standard expressed in the OT law is not changed by the coming of Christ, what is abolished here is probably the effect of the specific "commandments contained in ordinances" in separating Jews from Gentiles, whose nonobservance of the Jewish law renders them ritually unclean. in His flesh. Probably refers to the death of Christ. one new man. The united body of believers, the church.

2:16 one body. While this could possibly mean the body of Christ offered on the cross (cf. "in His flesh," v. 15), it probably refers to the "one new man" just mentioned, the body of believers.

2:17 FAR AWAY... NEAR. Gentiles and Jews respectively.

2:19 So then. Paul indicates that the unity described in vv. 19–22 is based on what Christ did through His death, described in vv. 14–18. you. The Gentiles at Ephesus are particularly in mind here. citizens... household. Familiar imagery. The household in ancient times was what we today might call an "extended family."

2:20 foundation. Further metaphorical language to convey the idea of a solid, integrated structure. apostles and prophets. Probably refers to the founding work of the early Christian apostles and prophets as they preached and taught God's word (cf. 1 Cor 3:10–11). corner stone. Is 28:16, which uses the same term in its pre-Christian Greek translation (the Septuagint), refers to a foundation with a "tested" stone at the corner.

2:21 fitted together. Cf. 4:16 for the same word. Both passages speak of the close relationship between believers. growing. The description of a building under construction conveys the sense of the dynamic growth of the church. holy temple. Paul now uses the metaphor of a temple, thereby indicating the purpose ("to become") for which God has established His church.

Paul's Stewardship

3 For this reason I, Paul, [a]the prisoner of [b]Christ Jesus [c]for the sake of you [d]Gentiles—

2 if indeed you have heard of the [a]stewardship of God's grace which was given to me for you;

3 [a]that [b]by revelation there was [c]made known to me [d]the mystery, [e]as I wrote before in brief.

4 [1]By referring to this, when you read you can understand [a]my insight [2]into the [b]mystery of Christ,

5 which in other generations was not made known to the sons of men, as it has now been revealed to His holy [a]apostles and prophets [1]in the Spirit;

6 to be specific, that the Gentiles are [a]fellow heirs and [b]fellow members of the body, and [c]fellow partakers of the promise in [d]Christ Jesus through the gospel,

7 [a]of which I was made a [b]minister, according to the gift of [c]God's grace which was given to me [d]according to the working of His power.

8 To me, [a]the very least of all [1]saints, this grace was given, to [b]preach to the Gentiles the unfathomable [c]riches of Christ,

9 and to [1]bring to light what is the administration of the [a]mystery which for ages has been [b]hidden in God [c]who created all things;

10 so that the manifold [a]wisdom of God might now be [b]made known through the church to the [c]rulers and the authorities in [d]the heavenly places.

11 This was in [a]accordance with the [1]eternal purpose which He [2]carried out in [b]Christ Jesus our Lord, 12 in whom we have boldness and [1][a]confident [b]access through faith [2]in Him.

13 Therefore I ask [1]you not [a]to lose heart at my tribulations [b]on your behalf, [2]for they are your glory.

2:22 dwelling. The church is to be a people or community in whom the Holy Spirit dwells.

3:1–13 Having saved people individually by His grace (2:1–10), and having reconciled them to each other as well as to Himself through the sacrificial death of Christ (2:11–22), God also now unites them on an equal basis in one body, the church. This step in God's eternal plan was not fully revealed in previous times. Paul calls it a "mystery."

3:1 For this reason. Because of all that God has done, explained in the preceding several verses. prisoner. Apparently Paul was under house arrest at this time (see Acts 28:16,30). of Christ. Paul's physical imprisonment was because he obeyed Christ in spite of opposition. After this verse Paul breaks his train of thought to explain the "mystery" (v. 4). He resumes his initial thought in v. 14.

3:2 if indeed you have heard. Most of the Ephesians would have heard of Paul's ministry because of his long stay there earlier. However, if this was a circular letter (see note on 1:1), the other churches may not have known much about it. stewardship. Paul unfolds God's administrative plan for the church and for the universe in this letter (see especially 1:3–12). He has been given a significant responsibility in the execution of this plan.

3:3 mystery. A truth known only by divine revelation (v. 5; see Rom 16:25; see also notes on Rom 11:25; Col 1:26). Here the word "mystery" has the special meaning of the private, wise plan of God, which in Ephesians relates primarily to the unification of believing Jews and Gentiles in the new body, the church (see v. 6). It may be thought of as a secret that is temporarily hidden, but more than that, it is a plan God is actively working out and revealing stage by stage (cf. 1:9–10; Rev 10:7). as I wrote before in brief. May refer to 1:9–10.

3:5 not made known to the sons of men. See note on v. 6. holy. Set apart for God's service. apostles and prophets. See note on 2:20. Although Paul was the chief recipient, others received this revelation also.

3:6 fellow . . . fellow . . . fellow. The repetition of this word indicates the unique aspect of the mystery that was not previously known: the equality and mutuality that Gentiles had with Jews in the church, the one body. That Gentiles would turn to the God of Israel and be saved was prophesied in the OT (see Rom 15:9–12); that they would come into an organic unity with believing Jews on an equal footing was unexpected. heirs. See note on 1:18.

3:8 the very least. Cf. 1 Tim 1:15. Paul never ceased to be amazed that one so unworthy as he should have been chosen for so high a task. His modesty was genuine, even though we may disagree with his self-evaluation. grace. In this case, a special endowment that brings responsibility for service. to preach. Lit. "to gospelize"; parallels "to bring to light" (v. 9). unfathomable. Far beyond what we can know, but not beyond our appreciation—at least in part (cf. Rom 11:33).

3:10 manifold. Variegated or multifaceted (in the way that many facets of a diamond reflect and enhance its beauty). now. In contrast to the previous "ages" (v. 9). through the church. The fact that God had done the seemingly impossible—reconciling and organically uniting Jews and Gentiles in the church—makes the church the perfect means of displaying God's wisdom. rulers and the authorities. Christ had ascended over all these (1:20–21). It is a staggering thought that the church on earth is observed, so to speak, by these spiritual powers and that to the degree the church is spiritually united it portrays to them the wisdom of God. This thought may be essential in understanding the meaning of "calling" in 4:1. heavenly places. See note on 1:3.

3:11 eternal purpose. The effective headship of Christ over a united church is in preparation for His ultimate assumption of headship over the universe (1:10).

3:14–21 Paul now expresses a prayer that grows out of his awareness of all that God is doing in believers. God's key gifts are "power" (vv. 16,20) and "love" (vv. 17–19).

3:14 For this reason. Resumes the thought of v. 1. I bow my knees. Expresses deep emotion and reverence, as people in Paul's day usually stood to pray.

3:15 family. The word in Greek is similar to the word for "father," so it can be said that the "family" derives its name (and being) from the "father." God is our Father, and we can commit our prayers to Him in confidence.
3:17 dwell. Be completely at home. Christ was already present in the Ephesian believers' lives (cf. Rom 8:9). hearts. The whole inner being.
3:19 surpasses knowledge. Not unknowable, but so great that it cannot be completely known. fullness. God, who is infinite in all His attributes, allows us to draw on His resources—in this case, His love.
3:20 more abundantly beyond. Has specific reference to the matters presented in this section of Ephesians but is not limited to these. power. See 1:19–21.
3:21 to Him be the glory. The ultimate goal of our existence (see 1:6 and note). in the church and in Christ Jesus. A remarkable parallel. God has called the church to an extraordinary position and vocation (cf. v. 10; 4:1).
4:1–32 The chapter begins (v. 2) and ends (v. 32) with exhortations to love and forgive one another.
4:1–16 So far Paul has taught that God brought Jew and Gentile into a new relationship to each other in the church and that he called the church to display his wisdom. Paul now shows how God made provision for those in the church to live and work together in unity and to grow together into maturity.
4:1 prisoner. See note on 3:1. calling. See 3:10,21 and notes.
4:3 preserve the unity. Which God produced through the reconciling death of Christ (see 2:14–22). It is the heavy responsibility of Christians to keep that unity from being disturbed.
4:4 one hope. Has different aspects (e.g., 1:5,10; 2:7), but it is still one hope, tied to the glorious future of Christ, in which all believers share.
4:5 one baptism. Probably not the baptism of the Spirit (see 1 Cor 12:13), which was inward and therefore invisible, but water baptism (see note on Rom 6:3–4). Since Paul apparently has in mind that which identifies all believers as belonging together, he would naturally refer to that church ordinance in which every new convert participated publicly. At that time it was a more obvious common mark of identification of Christians than it is now, when it is celebrated in different ways and often only seen by those in the church.
4:7 grace. See 3:7–8.
4:8 Ps 68:18 (see note there) speaks of God's triumphant ascension to His throne in the temple at Jerusalem (symbol of His heavenly throne). Paul applies this to Christ's triumphal ascension into heaven. Where the psalm states further that God "received gifts among men," Paul apparently takes his cue from certain rabbinic interpretations current in his day that read the Hebrew preposition for "among" in the sense of "to" (a meaning it often has) and the verb for "received" in the sense of "take and give" (a meaning it sometimes has—but with a different preposition; see Gen 15:9; 18:5; 27:13; Ex 25:2; 1 Kin 17:10–11). CAPTIVES. Probably Paul applies this to the spiritual enemies Christ defeated at the cross.
4:9 ascended . . . descended. Although Paul quoted from the psalm to introduce the idea of the "gifts to men," he takes the opportunity to remind his readers of Christ's coming to earth (His incarnation) and His subsequent resurrection and ascension. This passage probably does not teach, as some think and as some translations suggest, that Christ descended into hell.
4:11 He gave. The quotation from Ps 68 has its ultimate meaning when applied to Christ as the ascended Lord, who Himself has given gifts. apostles. Mentioned here because of their role in establishing the church (see 2:20). For qualifications of the initial group of apostles see Acts 1:21–22; see also notes on Mark 6:30; Rom 1:1; 1 Cor 1:1; Heb 3:1. In a broader sense, Paul was also an apostle (see 1:1). prophets. People to whom God made known a message for His people that was appropriate to their particular need or situation (see 1 Cor 14:3–4; see also note on 1 Cor 12:10). evangelists. See Acts 21:8; 1 Cor 1:17. While the other gifted people helped the church grow through edification, the evangelists helped the church grow by augmentation. Since the objective mentioned in v. 12 is "for the equipping of the saints for the work of service," we may assume some as prophets, and some as [c]evangelists, and some as pastors and [d]teachers,

12 [a]for the equipping of the [1]saints for the work of service, to the building up of [b]the body of Christ;

13 until we all attain to [a]the unity of the faith, and of the [1b]knowledge of the Son of God, to a [c]mature man, to the measure of the stature [2]which belongs to the [d]fullness of Christ.

14 [1]As a result, we are [a]no longer to be children, [b]tossed here and there by waves and carried about by every wind of doctrine, by the trickery of men, by [c]craftiness [2]in [d]deceitful scheming;

15 but [1]speaking the truth [a]in love, [2]we are to [b]grow up in all aspects into Him who is the [c]head, even Christ, 16 from whom [a]the whole body, being fitted and held together [1]by what every joint supplies, according to the [2]proper working of each individual part, causes the growth of the body for the building up of itself [b]in love.

The Christian's Walk

17 [a]So this I say, and affirm together with the Lord, [b]that you walk no longer just as the Gentiles also walk, in the [c]futility of their mind,

20 But you did not [a]learn [1]Christ in this way,

21 if indeed you [a]have heard Him and have [b]been taught in Him, just as truth is in Jesus,

22 that, in reference to your former manner of life, you [a]lay aside the [b]old [1]self, which is being corrupted in accordance with the [c]lusts of deceit,

23 and that you be [a]renewed in the spirit of your mind,

24 and [a]put on the [b]new [1]self, which [2c]in the likeness of God has been created in righteousness and holiness of the truth.

that evangelists, among their various ministries, helped other Christians in their testimony. pastors and teachers. Because of the Greek grammatical construction (also, the word "some" introduces both words together), it is clear that these groups of gifted people are closely related. Those who have pastoral care for God's people (the image is that of shepherding) will naturally provide "food" from the Scriptures (teaching). They will be especially gifted as teachers (cf. 1 Tim 3:2).

4:12 for the equipping of the saints for the work of service. Those mentioned in v. 11 were not to do all the work for the people, but were to train the people to do the work themselves. to the building up of the body of Christ. See v. 16. Spiritual gifts are for the body, the church, and are not to be exercised individualistically. "Building up" reflects the imagery of 2:19–22. Both concepts—body and building—occurring together emphasize the key idea of growth.

4:13 until. Expresses not merely duration but also purpose. unity. Carries forward the ideal of vv. 1–6. of the faith. Here "faith" refers to the Christians' common conviction about Christ and the doctrines concerning Him, as the following words make clear (cf. also "the apostles' teaching" in Acts 2:42). knowledge of the Son of God. Unity is not just a matter of a loving attitude or religious feeling, but of truth and a common understanding about God's Son. mature . . . fullness of Christ. Not the maturity of doctrinal conviction just mentioned, nor a personal maturity that includes the ability to relate well to other people (cf. vv. 2–3), but the maturity of the perfectly balanced character of Christ.

4:14 children. Contrast the maturity of v. 13. tossed. The nautical imagery pictures the instability of those who are not strong Christians. doctrine. Then, as now, there were many distorted teachings and heresies that would easily throw the immature off course. trickery . . . craftiness . . . deceitful scheming. Sometimes those who try to draw people away from the Christian faith are not innocently misguided but deliberately deceitful and evil (cf. 1 Tim 4:1–2).

4:15 speaking the truth in love. A truthful and loving manner of life is implied. grow up . . . head. A slightly different restatement of v. 13, based now on the imagery of Christ as the Head of the body, which is the church. Paul thus speaks primarily of corporate maturity. It is the "body of Christ" that needs "building up" (v. 12). In v. 13 "we all" are to become "mature".

4:16 Further details of the imagery of the body growing under the direction of the Head. The parts of the body help each other in the growing process, picturing the mutual ministries of God's people spoken of in vv. 11–13. love. Maturity and unity are impossible without it (cf. vv. 2,15).

4:17–5:20 Paul has just discussed unity and maturity as twin goals for the church, which God has brought into existence through the death of Christ. He now goes on to show that purity is also essential among those who belong to Him.

4:17 futility of their mind. Life without God is intellectually frustrating, useless and meaningless (see, e.g., Eccl 1:2; Rom 1:21).

4:18 darkened in their understanding. Continues the idea of a futile thought life. hardness of their heart. Moral unresponsiveness.

4:19 have given themselves over. Just as Pharaoh's heart was hardened reciprocally by himself and by God (see Ex 7–11), so here the Gentiles have given themselves over to a sinful kind of life, while Rom 1:24,26,28 says that God gave them over to that life.

4:20 you. Emphatic.

4:21 truth is in Jesus. The wording and the use of the name Jesus (rather than Christ) suggest that Paul is referring to the embodiment of truth in Jesus' earthly life.

4:22 old self. Probably means the kind of person the Christian used to be. The old life-style resulted from deceitful desires.

4:23 mind. Cf. the evil thoughts of unbelievers (vv. 17–18).

4:24 new self . . . in the likeness of God. Since the new self is created, it cannot refer to the indwelling Christ, but rather to the kind of person He produces in the new believer. Nor is it some kind of new essential nature the believer has, because 25 Therefore, [a]laying aside falsehood, [b]SPEAK TRUTH EACH ONE of you WITH HIS NEIGHBOR, for we are [c]members of one another.

26 [a]BE ANGRY, AND yet DO NOT SIN; do not let the sun go down on your anger, 27 and do not [a]give the devil [1]an opportunity.

28 He who steals must steal no longer; but rather [a]he must labor, [b]performing with his own hands what is good, [c]so that he will have something to share with [1]one who has need.

29 Let no [1][a]unwholesome word proceed from your mouth, but only such a word as is good for [b]edification [2]according to the need of the moment, so that it will give grace to those who hear.

30 [a]Do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, [1]by whom you were [b]sealed for the day of redemption.

31 [a]Let all bitterness and wrath and anger and clamor and slander be [b]put away from you, along with all [c]malice.

32 [a]Be kind to one another, tender-hearted, forgiving each other, [b]just as God in Christ also has forgiven [1]you.

Be Imitators of God

5 [a]Therefore be imitators of God, as beloved children;

2 and [a]walk in love, just as Christ also [b]loved [1]you and [c]gave Himself up for us, an [d]offering and a sacrifice to God [2]as a [e]fragrant aroma.

3 But [a]immorality [1]or any impurity or greed must not even be named among you, as is proper among [2]saints;

4 and there must be no [a]filthiness and silly talk, or coarse jesting, which [b]are not fitting, but rather [c]giving of thanks.

5 For this you know with certainty, that [a]no [1]immoral or impure person or covetous man, who is an idolater, has an inheritance in the kingdom [b]of Christ and God.

6 [a]Let no one deceive you with empty words, for because of these things [b]the wrath of God comes upon [c]the sons of disobedience.

7 Therefore do not be [a]partakers with them;

8 for [a]you were formerly [b]darkness, but now you are Light in the Lord; walk as [c]children of Light that would have been brought into existence at his new birth. In contrast, this is a new way of life that one not only "puts on" positionally at conversion (note the past tense in the parallel in Col 3:9–10) but is also urged to "put on" experientially as a Christian (see note on Rom 6:12–13).

4:25 TRUTH. Cf. vv. 15,21. NEIGHBOR. Probably means fellow Christians in this context.

4:26 BE ANGRY. Christians do not lose their emotions at conversion, but their emotions should be purified. Some anger is sinful, some is not. do not let the sun go down. No anger is to outlast the day.

4:27 the devil. Personal sin is usually due to our evil desires (see James 1:14) rather than to direct tempting by the devil. However, Satan can use our sins—especially those, like anger, that are against others—to bring about greater evil, such as divisions among Christians.

4:28 steal no longer . . . labor . . . have something to share. It is not enough to cease from sin; one must do good. The former thief must now help those in need.

4:29 only such . . . as is good for edification. An exhortation parallel to the previous one. The Christian not only stops saying unwholesome things; he also begins to say things that will help build others up.

4:30 grieve. By sin, such an "unwholesome word" (v. 29) and the sins mentioned in v. 31. The verb also demonstrates that the Holy Spirit is a person, not just an influence, for only a person can be grieved. sealed. See note on 1:13. day of redemption. See 1:14; 1 Pet 1:5 and notes.

4:31 bitterness . . . malice. Such things grieve the Holy Spirit. This continues the instruction concerning one's speech (v. 29).

4:32 kind . . . tender-hearted. The opposite of the negative qualities of v. 31. forgiving. This basic Christian attitude, which is a result of being forgiven in Christ, along with being kind and compassionate, brings to others what we have received from God.

5:1 be imitators. One way of imitating God is to have a forgiving spirit (4:32). The way we imitate our Lord is to act "just as" (v. 2; 4:32) He did. The sacrificial way Jesus expressed His love for us is not only the means of salvation (as seen in ch. 2) but also an example of the way we are to live for the sake of others.

5:2 offering . . . fragrant aroma. In the OT the offering of a sacrifice pleased the Lord so much that it was described as a "soothing aroma" (Gen 8:21; Ex 29:18,25,41; Lev 1:9,13,17).

5:3 any impurity or greed. Paul moves from specifically sexual sins to more general sins, such as greed. These include sexual lust but refer to other kinds of excessive desire as well. not even be named. See v. 12. saints. We are also a "holy temple" (2:21; cf. 2 Cor 6:16; 1 Pet 2:5,9).

5:4 silly talk, or coarse jesting. The context and the word "obscenity" indicate that it is not humor as such but dirty jokes and the like that are out of place. giving of thanks. By being grateful for all that God has given us, we can displace evil thoughts and words.

5:5 immoral or impure . . . or covetous. See v. 3. idolater. Cf. Col 3:5. The greedy person wants things more than he wants God, and puts things in place of God, thereby committing idolatry. inheritance. The person who persists in sexual and other kinds of greed has excluded God, who therefore excludes him from the kingdom (but see notes on 1 Cor 6:9,11).

5:7 partakers. Although Christians live in normal social relationships with others, as did the Lord Jesus (Luke 5:30–32; 15:1–2), they are not to participate in the sinful life-style of unbelievers.

5:8 darkness . . . Light. This section emphasizes the contrast between light and darkness, showing that those who belong to Him who is "Light" (1 John 1:5), i.e., pure and true, not only have their lives illumined by Him but also are the means of introducing that light into the dark areas of human conduct (cf. Matt 5:14).

5:9 fruit of the Light. A mixed metaphor, but the meaning is clear. Light is productive (consider the effect of light on plant

10 [1][a]trying to learn what is pleasing to the Lord.
11 [a]Do not participate in the unfruitful [b]deeds of [c]darkness, but instead even [1][d]expose them;
12 for it is disgraceful even to speak of the things which are done by them in secret.
13 But all things become visible [a]when they are [1]exposed by the light, for everything that becomes visible is light.
14 For this reason [1]it says,
"[a]Awake, sleeper,
And arise from [b]the dead,
And Christ [c]will shine on you."
15 Therefore [1]be careful how you [a]walk, not [b]as unwise men but as wise, 16 [1][a]making the most of your time, because [b]the days are evil.
17 So then do not be foolish, but [a]understand what the will of the Lord is.
18 And [a]do not get drunk with wine, [1]for that is [b]dissipation, but be [c]filled with the Spirit,
19 [a]speaking to [1]one another in [b]psalms and [c]hymns and spiritual [d]songs, [e]singing and making melody with your heart to the Lord;
20 [a]always giving thanks for all things in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ to [1][b]God, even the Father;
21 [1][a]and be subject to one another in the [2][b]fear of Christ.

Marriage Like Christ and the Church

22 [a]Wives, [b]be subject to your own husbands, [c]as to the Lord.
23 For [a]the husband is the head of the wife, as Christ also is the [b]head of the church, He Himself [c]being the Savior of the body.
24 But as the church is subject to Christ, so also the wives ought to be to their husbands in everything.
25 [a]Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ also loved the church and [b]gave Himself up for her, growth), and those who live in God's light produce the fruit of moral and ethical character (cf. Gal 5:22–23), while those who live in darkness do not (see v. 11).

5:11 Do not participate in. See v. 7. expose. Light, by nature, exposes what is in darkness, and the contrast shows sin for what it really is.

5:12 disgraceful . . . to speak of. Christians should not dwell on the evils that their lives are exposing in others.

5:13–14 all things . . . visible . . . everything . . . visible. By the repetition of these words, Paul seems to be stressing the all-pervasive nature of the light of God and its inevitable effect.

5:14 it says. What follows may well be a hymn used by the early Christians (see note on Col 3:16). sleeper . . . dead. Two images that describe a sinner (cf. 2:1). Christ will shine on you. With His life-giving light.

5:15 unwise . . . wise. Having emphasized the contrast between light and darkness, Paul now turns to the contrast between wisdom and foolishness.

5:16 time. The foolish person has no strategy for life and misses opportunities to live for God in an evil environment.

5:17 foolish . . . understand. The contrast continues. The foolish person not only misses opportunities to make wise use of time; he has a more fundamental problem: He does not understand what are God's purposes for mankind and for Christians. God's purposes are a basic theme in Ephesians (see ch. 1).

5:18 do not get drunk . . . be filled with the Spirit. The Greek present tense is used to indicate that the filling of the Spirit is not a once-for-all experience. Repeatedly, as the occasion requires, the Spirit empowers for worship, service and testimony. The contrast between being filled with wine and filled with the Spirit is obvious. But there is something in common that enables Paul to make the contrast, namely, that one can be under an influence that affects him, whether of wine or of the Spirit. Since Col 3:15–4:1 is very similar to Eph 5:18–6:9, we may assume that Paul intends to convey a basically similar thought in the introductory sentences to each passage. When he speaks here of being filled with the Spirit and when he speaks in Colossians of being under the rule of the peace of Christ and indwelt by the "word" of Christ, he means to be under God's control. The effect of this control is essentially the same in both passages: a happy, mutual encouragement to praise God and a healthy, mutual relationship with people.

5:19 psalms . . . songs. Every kind of appropriate song—whether psalms like those of the OT, or hymns directed to God or to others that Christians were accustomed to singing—could provide a means for praising and thanking God (v. 20). Actually, however, all three terms may refer to different types of psalms.

5:21–6:9 In chs. 2–4 Paul showed the way God brought believing Jews and Gentiles together into a new relationship in Christ. In 4:1–6 he stressed the importance of unity. Now he shows how believers, filled with the Spirit, can live together in a practical way in various human relationships. This list of mutual responsibilities is similar to the pattern found in Col 3:18–4:1; 1 Pet 2:13–3:12; cf. Rom 13:1–10.

5:21 be subject to one another. Basic to the following paragraphs. Paul will show how, in each relationship, each partner can have a conciliatory attitude that will help that relationship. The grammar indicates that this mutual submission is associated with the filling of the Spirit in v. 18. The command "be filled" (v. 18) is followed by a series of participles in the Greek: speaking (v. 19), singing (v. 19), making melody (v. 19), giving thanks (v. 20) and submitting (v. 21).

5:22 Wives, be subject. An aspect of the mutual submission taught in v. 21. To be subject meant to yield one's own rights. If the relationship called for it, as in the military, the term could connote obedience, but that meaning is not called for here. In fact, the word "obey" does not appear in Scripture with respect to wives, though it does with respect to children (6:1) and slaves (6:5). as to the Lord. Does not put a woman's husband in the place of the Lord, but shows rather that a woman ought to submit to her husband as an act of submission to the Lord.

5:23 head of the wife. See note on 1 Cor 11:3. as Christ. The analogy between the relationship of Christ to the church and that of the husband to the wife is basic to the entire passage. He . . . body. See 2:16; 4:4,12,16. Savior. Christ earned, so to speak, the right to His special relationship to the church.

5:25 Husbands. Paul now shows that this is not a one-sided submission, but a reciprocal relationship. love. Explained by what follows. gave Himself up for her. Not only the expression

26 [a]so that He might sanctify her, having [b]cleansed her by the [c]washing of water with [d]the word, 27 that He might [a]present to Himself the church [1]in all her glory, having no spot or wrinkle or any such thing; but that she would be [b]holy and blameless.

28 So husbands ought also to [a]love their own wives as their own bodies. He who loves his own wife loves himself;

29 for no one ever hated his own flesh, but nourishes and cherishes it, just as Christ also does the church, 30 because we are [a]members of His [b]body.

31 [a]FOR THIS REASON A MAN SHALL LEAVE HIS FATHER AND MOTHER AND SHALL BE JOINED TO HIS WIFE, AND THE TWO SHALL BECOME ONE FLESH.

32 This mystery is great; but I am speaking with reference to Christ and the church.

33 Nevertheless, each individual among you also is to [a]love his own wife even as himself, and the wife must see to it that she [1b]respects her husband.

Family Relationships

6 [a]Children, obey your parents in the Lord, for this is right.

2 [a]HONOR YOUR FATHER AND MOTHER (which is the first commandment with a promise),

3 SO THAT IT MAY BE WELL WITH YOU, AND THAT YOU MAY LIVE LONG ON THE EARTH.

4 [a]Fathers, do not provoke your children to anger, but [b]bring them up in the discipline and instruction of the Lord.

5 [a]Slaves, be obedient to those who are your [1]masters according to the flesh, with [b]fear and trembling, in the sincerity of your heart, [c]as to Christ;

6 [a]not [1]by way of eyeservice, as [b]men-pleasers, but as [c]slaves of Christ, [d]doing the will of God from the [2]heart.

7 With good will [1]render service, [a]as to the Lord, and not to men,

8 [a]knowing that [b]whatever good thing each one does, this he will receive back from the Lord, [c]whether slave or free.

9 And masters, do the same things to them, and [a]give up threatening, knowing that [b]both their Master and yours is in heaven, and there is [c]no partiality with Him.

The Armor of God

10 Finally, [a]be strong in the Lord and in [b]the strength of His might.

11 [a]Put on the full armor of God, so that you will be able to stand firm against the [b]schemes of the devil.

12 For our [a]struggle is not against [1b]flesh and blood, but [c]against the rulers, against the powers, against the [d]world forces of this [e]darkness, against the [f]spiritual forces of wickedness in [g]the heavenly places.

13 Therefore, take up [a]the full armor of God, so that you will be able to [b]resist in [c]the evil day, and having done everything, to stand firm.

of our Lord's love, but also an example of how the husband ought to devote himself to his wife's good. To give oneself up to death for the beloved is a more extreme expression of devotion than the wife is called on to make.

5:26 washing of water with the word. Many attempts have been made to see marriage customs or liturgical symbolism in these words. One thing is clear: The Lord Jesus died not only to bring forgiveness, but also to effect a new life of holiness in the church, which is His "bride." A study of the concepts of washing, of water and of the word should include reference to John 3:5; 15:3; Titus 3:5; James 1:18; 1 Pet 1:23; 3:21.

5:27 holy and blameless. See 1:4.

5:28–29 as their own bodies . . . loves himself . . . his own flesh. The basis for such expressions and for the teaching of these verses is the quotation from Gen 2:24 in v. 31. If the husband and wife become "one flesh," then for the man to love his wife is to love one who has become part of himself.

5:32 mystery. See note on Rom 11:25. The profound truth of the union of Christ and his "bride," the church, is beyond unaided human understanding. It is not that the relationship of husband and wife provides an illustration of the union of Christ and the church, but that the basic reality is the latter, with marriage a human echo of that relationship.

5:33 love . . . respects. A rephrasing and summary of the whole passage.

6:3 ON THE EARTH. In Deut 5:16 (see Ex 20:12), where this commandment occurs, the "promise" (v. 2) was expressed in terms of the anticipated occupation of the "land," i.e., Canaan. That specific application was, of course, not appropriate to the Ephesians, so the more general application is made here.

6:4 do not provoke. Fathers must surrender any right they may feel they have to act unreasonably toward their children.

6:5 Slaves. Both the OT and the NT included regulations for societal situations such as slavery and divorce (see Deut 24:1–4), which were the results of the hardness of hearts (Matt 19:8). Such regulations did not encourage or condone such situations but were divinely-given, practical ways of dealing with the realities of the day.

6:9 masters. Once again Paul stresses reciprocal attitudes (cf. 5:21–6:4). See note on Titus 2:9.

6:10–20 Paul's scope in Ephesians has been cosmic. From the very beginning he has drawn attention to the unseen world (see note on 1:3; see also 1:10,20–23; 2:6; 6:10), and now he describes the spiritual battle that takes place against evil "in the heavenly places" (v. 12).

6:10 strong . . . might. Implies that human effort is inadequate but God's power is invincible.

6:12 not against flesh and blood. A caution against lashing out against human opponents as though they were the real enemy and also against assuming that the battle can be fought using merely human resources. rulers . . . forces. Cf. Paul's earlier allusions to powerful beings in the unseen world (see notes on 1:21; 3:10). heavenly places. See note on 1:3.

6:13–14 resist . . . Stand firm. In this context the imagery is not that of a massive invasion of the domain of evil, but of individual soldiers withstanding assault.

6:14 GIRDED YOUR LOINS WITH TRUTH. Cf. the symbolic clothing of the Messiah in Is 11:5. Character, not brute force, wins the battle, just as in the case of the Messiah. BREASTPLATE OF RIGHTEOUSNESS. Here again, the warrior's character is his defense. God himself is symbolically described as putting on a breastplate of righteousness when He goes forth to bring about justice (see Is 59:17).

6:15 shod YOUR FEET WITH THE PREPARATION. Whereas the description of the messenger's feet in Is 52:7 reflects the custom of running barefooted, here the message of the gospel is picturesquely connected with the protective and supportive footgear of the Roman soldier.

6:16 shield of faith . . . extinguish . . . flaming arrows. Describes the large Roman shield covered with leather, which could be soaked in water and used to put out flame-tipped arrows.

6:17–18 sword of the Spirit . . . pray . . . in the Spirit. Reminders that the battle is spiritual and must be fought in God's strength, depending on the word and on God through prayer.

6:17 HELMET OF SALVATION. Is 59:17 has similar language, along with the breastplate imagery (see note on v. 14). The helmet both protected the soldier and provided a striking symbol of military victory.

6:21–23 Paul concludes with greetings that lack personal references such as are usually found in his letters. This is understandable if Ephesians is a circular letter (see note on 1:1).

6:21 Tychicus. An associate of Paul who traveled as his representative (cf. Col 4:7; 2 Tim 4:12; Titus 3:12).

Philippians

NEW KING JAMES

Author, Date and Place of Writing

The early church was unanimous in its testimony that Philippians was written by the apostle Paul (see 1:1). Internally the letter reveals the stamp of genuineness. The many personal references of the author fit what we know of Paul from other NT books.

It is evident that Paul wrote the letter from prison (see 1:13–14). Some have argued that this imprisonment took place in Ephesus, perhaps c. A.D. 53–55; others put it in Caesarea c. 57–59. Best evidence, however, favors Rome as the place of origin and the date as c. 61. This fits well with the account of Paul's house arrest in Acts 28:14–31. When he wrote Philippians, he was not in the Mamertime dungeon as he was when he wrote 2 Timothy. He was in his own rented house, where for two years he was free to impart the gospel to all who came to him.

Purpose

Paul's primary purpose in writing this letter was to thank the Philippians for the gift they had sent him upon learning of his detention at Rome (1:5; 4:10–19). However, he makes use of this occasion to fulfill several other desires: (1) to report on his own circumstances (1:12–26; 4:10–19); (2) to encourage the Philippians to stand firm in the face of persecution and rejoice regardless of circumstances (1:27–30; 4:4); (3) to exhort them to humility and unity (2:1–11; 4:2–5); (4) to commend Timothy and Epaphroditus to the Philippian church (2:19–30); and (5) to warn the Philippians against the Judaizers (legalists) and antinomians (libertines) among them (ch. 3).

Recipients

The city of Philippi was named after King Philip II of Macedon, father of Alexander the Great. It was a prosperous Roman colony, which meant that the citizens of Philippi were also citizens of the city of Rome itself. They prided themselves on being Romans (see Acts 16:21), dressed like Romans and often spoke Latin. No doubt this was the background for Paul's reference to the believer's heavenly citizenship (3:20–21). Many of the Philippians were retired military men who had been given land in the vicinity and who in turn served as a military presence in this frontier city. That Philippi was a Roman colony may explain why there were not enough Jews there to permit the establishment of a synagogue and why Paul does not quote the OT in the Philippian letter.

Characteristics

1. Philippians contains no OT quotations.
2. It is a missionary thank-you letter in which the missionary reports on the progress of his work.
3. It manifests a particularly vigorous type of Christian living: (1) self-humbling (2:1–4); (2) pressing toward the goal (3:13–14); (3) lack of anxiety (4:6); (4) ability to do all things (4:13).
4. It is outstanding as the NT letter of joy; the word "joy" in its various forms occurs some 16 times.
5. It contains one of the most profound Christological passages in the NT (2:5–11). Yet, profound as it is, Paul includes it mainly for illustrative purposes.

Philippi in the Time of Paul

The Roman colony of Philippi (Colonia Augusta Julia Philippensis) was an important city in Macedonia, located on the main highway leading from the eastern provinces to Rome. This road, the Via Egnatia, bisected the city's forum and was the chief cause of its prosperity and political importance. Ten miles distant on the coast was Neapolis, the place where Paul landed after sailing from Troas, in response to the Macedonian vision.

As a prominent city of the gold-producing region of Macedonia, Philippi had a proud history. Named originally after Philip II, the father of Alexander the Great, the city was later honored with the name of Julius Caesar and Augustus. Many Italian settlers from the legions swelled the ranks of citizens and made Philippi vigorous and polyglot. It grew from a small settlement to a city of dignity and privilege. Among its highest honors was the ius Italicum, by which it enjoyed rights legally equivalent to those of Italian cities.

Ruins of the theater, the acropolis, the forum, the baths, and the western commemorative arch mentioned as the "gate" of the city in Acts 16:13 have been found. A little farther beyond the arch at the Gangites River is the place where Paul addressed some God-fearing women and where Lydia was converted.

Thanksgiving

1 [a]Paul and [b]Timothy, [c]bond-servants of [d]Christ Jesus,

To [e]all the [1][f]saints in Christ Jesus who are in [g]Philippi, [2]including the [h]overseers and [i]deacons:

2 [a]Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 [a]I thank my God in all my remembrance of you,

4 always offering prayer with joy in [a]my every prayer for you all,

5 in view of your [1][a]participation in the [b]gospel [c]from the first day until now.

6 For I am confident of this very thing, that He who began a good work in you will perfect it until [a]the day of Christ Jesus.

7 [1]For [a]it is only right for me to feel this way about you all, because I [b]have you in my heart, since both in my [2][c]imprisonment and in the [d]defense and confirmation of the [e]gospel, you all are partakers of grace with me.

8 For [a]God is my witness, how I long for you all with the [1]affection of [b]Christ Jesus.

9 And this I pray, that [a]your love may abound still more and more in [b]real knowledge and all discernment,

10 so that you may [1][a]approve the things that are excellent, in order to be sincere and blameless [2]until [b]the day of Christ;

11 having been filled with the [a]fruit of righteousness which comes through Jesus Christ, to the glory and praise of God.

The Gospel Is Preached

12 Now I want you to know, brethren, that my circumstances [a]have turned out for the greater progress of the [b]gospel,

13 so that my [1][a]imprisonment in the cause of Christ has become well known throughout the whole [2]praetorian guard and to [b]everyone else,

14 and that most of the [1]brethren, trusting in the Lord because of my [2][a]imprisonment, have [b]far more courage to speak the word of God without fear.

1:1–2 As in all his letters, Paul follows the conventional letter format of his day, with its three elements: (1) identification of the sender, (2) identification of the recipients, (3) greeting.

1:1 Timothy. See Introduction to 1 Timothy: Recipient. Timothy is identified with the contents of the letter as Paul's associate, but not as co-author. bond-servants. See Rom 1:1; Titus 1:1; Philem 1. In Paul's case, this designation brings out an essential aspect of the more usual identification of himself as "apostle." saints. A designation, not of individual moral purity, but of spiritual union with Christ, as the following "in Christ Jesus" shows (see Rom 1:7; 1 Cor 1:2 and notes). Philippi. See Introduction: Recipients. overseers and deacons. The only place in Paul's writings where church officers as a group are singled out as recipients of a letter. overseers. See note on 1 Tim 3:1. deacons. See note on 1 Tim 3:8.

1:2 The opening greeting is not merely a matter of polite custom but is given a distinctively Christian tone and content.

1:3–4 I thank my God . . . prayer with joy . . . for you all. Prayers of joyful thanksgiving for his readers' response to the gospel are a hallmark of the opening sentences of Paul's letters (see Rom 1:8; 1 Cor 1:4; Col 1:3; 1 Thess 1:2; 2 Thess 1:3; 2 Tim 1:3; Philem 4).

1:5 your participation in the gospel. The basis of Paul's prayerful thanksgiving is not only their reception of the gospel but also their active support of his ministry (see 4:15). from the first day. When Paul first came to Philippi (see Acts 16:12). now. Toward the close (see 2:24) of Paul's first Roman imprisonment (see Acts 28:16–31).

1:6 work in you. Paul is confident, not only of what God has done "for" the readers in forgiving their sins, but also of what he has done "in" them (see v. 11). "Work" refers to God's activity in saving them. day of Christ Jesus. His return, when their salvation will be brought to completion (see 1:10; 2:16; 1 Cor 1:8; 5:5; 2 Cor 1:14). It is God who initiates salvation, who continues it and who will one day bring it to its consummation.

1:7 partakers of grace. Not even imprisonment and persecution can change such sharing. Even in Paul's imprisonment they willingly identified themselves with Paul by sending Epaphroditus and their financial gifts. They had become one with Paul in his persecution.

1:8 affection of Christ Jesus. The deep yearning and intense, compassionate love exhibited by Jesus Himself and now fostered in Paul by his union with Christ. This affection reaches out to all impartially and without exception.

1:9 abound still more and more. Real love requires growth and maturation (see 1 Thess 3:12; 4:10; 2 Thess 1:3). in real knowledge. The way love grows (cf. Col 1:9). discernment. Practical discernment and sensitivity. Christian love is not mere sentiment; it is rooted in knowledge and understanding.

1:10 approve the things that are excellent. Christians are to approve (and practice) what is morally and ethically superior. sincere and blameless. The goal of Christians in this life is to be without any mixture of evil and not open to censure because of moral or spiritual failure. until the day of Christ. Then the goal will be perfectly realized (see note on v. 6), and then Christians must give an account (see 2 Cor 5:10).

1:11 filled with the fruit of righteousness. What is expected of all Christians (cf. Matt 5:20–48; Heb 12:11; James 3:18; see also Amos 6:12; Gal 5:22). through Jesus Christ. Produced by Christ (in union with Him) through the work of the Holy Spirit (cf. John 15:5; Eph 2:10). to the glory and praise of God. The ultimate goal of all that God does in believers (see Eph 1:6,12,14).

1:12 my circumstances. Paul's detainment in prison. greater progress of the gospel. Instead of hindering the gospel, Paul's imprisonment had served to make it known.

1:13 imprisonment in the cause of Christ . . . well known. It has become apparent to all who know of Paul's situation that he is imprisoned, not because he is guilty of some crime, but on account of his stand for the gospel. imprisonment. Either actual chains or a broader reference to his sufferings and imprisonment (see v. 14). whole praetorian guard. A contingent of soldiers, numbering several thousand, many of whom would have had personal contact with Paul or would have been assigned individually to guard him during the course of his imprisonment (see Acts 28:16,30).

1:14 have . . . courage to speak. The unexpected result of Paul's imprisonment is that others, encouraged by his example, are forcefully proclaiming the gospel.

15 [a]Some, to be sure, are preaching Christ even [1]from envy and strife, but some also [1]from good will;

16 the latter do it out of love, knowing that I am appointed for the defense of the [a]gospel;

17 the former proclaim Christ [a]out of selfish ambition [1]rather than from pure motives, thinking to cause me distress in my [2b]imprisonment.

18 What then? Only that in every way, whether in pretense or in truth, Christ is proclaimed; and in this I rejoice.

Yes, and I will rejoice,

19 for I know that this will turn out for my [1]deliverance [a]through your [2]prayers and the provision of [b]the Spirit of Jesus Christ, 20 according to my [a]earnest expectation and [b]hope, that I will not be put to shame in anything, but that with [c]all boldness, Christ will even now, as always, be [d]exalted in my body, [e]whether by life or by death.

To Live Is Christ

21 For to me, [a]to live is Christ and to die is gain.

22 [1]But if I am to live on in the flesh, this will mean [a]fruitful labor for me; and I do not know [2]which to choose.

23 But I am hard-pressed from both directions, having the [a]desire to depart and [b]be with Christ, for that is very much better;

24 yet to remain on in the flesh is more necessary for your sake.

25 [a]Convinced of this, I know that I will remain and continue with you all for your progress and joy [1]in the faith, 26 so that your [a]proud confidence in me may abound in Christ Jesus through my coming to you again.

27 Only conduct yourselves in a manner [a]worthy of the [b]gospel of Christ, so that whether I come and see you or remain absent, I will hear of you that you are [c]standing firm in [d]one spirit, with one [1]mind [e]striving together for the faith of the gospel;

28 in no way alarmed by your opponents—which is a [a]sign of destruction for them, but of salvation for you, and that too, from God.

29 For to you [a]it has been granted for Christ's sake, not only to believe in Him, but also to [b]suffer for His sake, 30 experiencing the same [a]conflict which [b]you saw in me, and now hear to be in me.

1:15 from envy and strife . . . from good will. The gospel preaching stimulated by Paul's imprisonment stems from either one of two sharply opposed motives.

1:16 the latter do it out of love. Those who preach with a right motive recognize the true reason for Paul's imprisonment, already expressed earlier in v. 13, and are encouraged to take the same bold stand that he has taken.

1:17 the former proclaim Christ out of selfish ambition. Those who preach with wrong, insincere motives do so out of a sense of competition with Paul and so think they are making his imprisonment more difficult to bear. rather than from pure motives. Not all preaching of the gospel is based on proper motives.

1:18 whether in pretense or in truth, Christ is proclaimed. These preachers are not to be viewed as being heretical. Their message is true, even though their motives are not pure. The gospel has its objectivity and validity apart from those who proclaim it; the message is more than the medium. I rejoice . . . I will rejoice. An example of the kind of vigorous Christian experience Paul expressed. He was under arrest, and fellow Christians sought, by their preaching, to add to his difficulties; yet he kept on rejoicing.

1:19 deliverance. Either Paul's release from prison (see v. 25; 2:24) or, in view of the immediately following verses, the deliverance brought to the believer by death (cf. Rom 8:28). Verse 25, however, seems to point to the former interpretation. Spirit of Jesus Christ. The Holy Spirit is not only the Spirit of God the Father (Rom 8:9,14; 1 Cor 2:10–11,14) but also the Spirit of Christ, the second person of the Trinity (Acts 16:7; Rom 8:9; Gal 4:6). He is sent by the Father (John 14:16–17,26; Gal 4:6) and by the Son (John 15:26; 16:7).

1:20 be put to shame . . . with all boldness. The circumstances of imprisonment, with all its attendant suffering and oppression, constitute a real temptation for Paul to abandon the gospel and his resolute service for Christ. my body. Where the exalted Christ dwells by His Spirit and is at work (cf. Rom 8:9–10), and so is exalted by what Paul does. whether by life or by death. Whether his service for Christ continues or ends in death.

1:21 to live is Christ. Christ was the source and secret of Paul's continual joy (even in prison), for Paul's life found all its meaning in Christ. gain. Verse 23 specifies that the gain brought by death is "being with Christ," so that here Paul is saying that his ultimate concern and most precious possession, both now and forever, is Christ and his relationship to Him.

1:22 fruitful labor. The spread of the gospel and the upbuilding of the church.

1:23–24 depart and be with Christ . . . remain on in the flesh. Either alternative was a good one. While mysteries remain, this passage clearly teaches that when believers die they are with Christ, apart from the body.

1:23 very much better. Being with Christ after death must involve some kind of conscious presence and fellowship (cf. 2 Cor 5:6,8).

1:24 necessary for your sake. Paul puts the needs of those he ministers to ahead of his personal preference.

1:25 I will remain. Possibly Paul was later released from prison (see map, pp. 1762–1763). progress . . . in the faith. The Christian life is to be one of joyful growth and advance (see note on v. 9 and the verses cited there).

1:27 worthy of the gospel. Appropriate to the standards and goals given with the gospel. in one spirit. Having a common disposition and purpose. with one mind striving. Particularly where the gospel is under attack, Christians need each other and must stand together.

1:28 a sign. Persistent opposition to the church and the gospel is a sure sign of eventual destruction, since it involves rejection of the only way of salvation. By the same token, when Christians are persecuted for their faith, this is a sign of the genuineness of their salvation (see 2 Thess 1:5).

1:29 granted . . . to suffer. Given as a gift or privilege. Christian suffering, as well as faith, is a blessing (cf. Matt 5:11–12; Acts 5:41; James 1:2; 1 Pet 4:14). The Christian life is to be a "not only . . . but also" proposition: not only believing but also suffering.

1:30 same conflict. Their common involvement with Paul in conflict with those who oppose the gospel. you saw. When

Be Like Christ

2 Therefore if there is any encouragement in Christ, if there is any consolation of love, if there is any [a]fellowship of the Spirit, if any [1][b]affection and compassion,

2 [a]make my joy complete [1]by [b]being of the same mind, maintaining the same love, united in spirit, intent on one purpose.

3 Do nothing [1]from [2][a]selfishness or [b]empty conceit, but with humility of mind [c]regard one another as more important than yourselves;

4 [a]do not merely look out for your own personal interests, but also for the interests of others.

5 [a]Have this attitude [1]in yourselves which was also in [b]Christ Jesus,

6 who, although He [a]existed in the [b]form of God, [c]did not regard equality with God a thing to be [1]grasped,

7 but [1][a]emptied Himself, taking the form of a [b]bond-servant, and [c]being made in the likeness of men.

8 Being found in appearance as a man,
[a]He humbled Himself by becoming [b]obedient to the point of death, even [c]death [1]on a cross.

9 [a]For this reason also, God [b]highly exalted Him, and bestowed on Him [c]the name which is above every name,

10 so that at the name of Jesus [a]EVERY KNEE
WILL BOW, of [b]those who are in heaven and on earth and under the earth,

11 and that every tongue will confess that Jesus Christ is [a]Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

12 So then, my beloved, [a]just as you have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your [b]salvation with [c]fear and trembling;

13 for it is [a]God who is at work in you,

Paul and Silas first visited Philippi and were imprisoned (see Acts 16:19–40).

2:1 in Christ. Or "united in Christ." In Paul's teaching, this personal union is the basic reality of salvation. To be in Christ is to be saved. It is to be in intimate personal relationship with Christ the Savior. From this relationship flow all the particular benefits and fruits of salvation, like encouragement (see, e.g., 3:8–10; Rom 8:1; 2 Cor 5:17; Gal 2:20). consolation of love. The comforting knowledge and assurance that come from God's love in Christ, demonstrated especially in Christ's death for the forgiveness of sins and eternal life (see John 3:16; Rom 5:8; 8:38–39; 1 John 3:16; 4:9–10,16). fellowship of the Spirit. The fellowship among believers produced by the Spirit, who indwells each of them (see 2 Cor 13:14). affection and compassion. Christians are to have intense care and deep sympathy for each other (see 1:8; Col 3:12). All these benefits—encouragement, comfort, fellowship, tenderness and compassion—are viewed by Paul as present realities for the Philippians.

2:2 same mind . . . same love . . . united in spirit . . . one purpose. Emphasizes the unity that should exist among Christians. same mind. Not uniformity in thought but the common disposition to work together and serve one another—the "attitude" of Christ (v. 5; see 4:2; Rom 12:16; 15:5; 2 Cor 13:11).

2:3 selfishness or empty conceit. The mortal enemies of unity and harmony in the church (cf. 1:17; see Gal 5:20, where the Greek for "selfishness" is rendered "disputes" and listed among the "deeds of the flesh"). humility. The source of Christian unity. This is the mind-set of the person who is not conceited but who has a right attitude toward himself. regard one another as more important than yourselves. Not that everyone else is superior or more talented, but that Christian love sees others as worthy of preferential treatment (see Rom 12:10; Gal 5:13; Eph 5:21; 1 Pet 5:5).

2:4 your own personal interests. These are proper, but only if there is equal concern for the interests of others (cf. Rom 15:1).

2:5 Have this attitude . . . which was in Christ. In spite of all that is unique and radically different about the person and work of Christ (see vv. 6–11), Christians are to have His attitude of self-sacrificing humility and love for others (see vv. 2–4; Matt 11:29; John 13:12–17).

2:6–11 The poetic, even lyric, character of these verses is apparent. Many view them as an early Christian hymn (see note on Col 3:16), taken over and perhaps modified by Paul. If so, they nonetheless express his convictions. The passage treats Christ's humiliation (vv. 6–8) and exaltation (vv. 9–11).

2:6 in the form of God. Affirming that Jesus is fully God (see note on Rom 9:5). form. Essential form, the sum of those qualities that make God specifically God. equality with God. The status and privileges that inevitably follow from being in very nature God. a thing to be grasped. Perhaps something to be forcibly retained—the glory Christ had with the Father before His incarnation. But He did not consider that high position to be something He could not give up. On the other hand, it may be something still to be attained, like a prize, as if He did not yet possess it.

2:7 emptied Himself. He did this, not by giving up deity, but by laying aside His glory (see John 17:5) and submitting to the humiliation of becoming man (see 2 Cor 8:9). Jesus is truly God and truly man. Another view is that He emptied Himself, not of deity itself, but of its prerogatives—the high position and glory of deity. form of a bond-servant. Emphasizes the full reality of His servant identity (see Matt 20:28). As a servant, He was always submissive to the will of the Father.

2:8 appearance as a man. Not only was Jesus "like" a human being (v. 7), but He also took on the actual outward characteristics of a man (see John 1:14; Rom 8:3; Heb 2:17). humbled Himself. See v. 7; 2 Cor 8:9. obedient. How Jesus humbled himself (cf. Heb 5:7–8). A "bond-servant" (v. 7) obeys. of death. Stresses both the totality and the climax of Jesus' obedience. on a cross. Heightens Jesus' humiliation; He died as someone cursed (see Gal 3:13; Heb 12:2). Crucifixion was the most degrading kind of execution that could be inflicted on a person.

2:9 exalted. See Matt 28:18; Acts 2:33; cf. Is 52:13. the name . . . above every name. Reference doubtless is to the office or rank conferred on Jesus—His glorious position, not His proper name (cf. Eph 1:21; Heb 1:4–5).

2:10–11 BOW . . . confess. Cf. Is 45:23. God's design is that all people everywhere should worship and serve Jesus as Lord. Ultimately all will acknowledge Him as Lord (see Rom 14:9), whether willingly or not.

2:12 So then. Because of Christ's incomparable example (vv. 5–11). obeyed. The commands of God as passed on to the Philippians by Paul (see Rom 1:5; 15:18; 2 Cor 10:5–6). my presence. During the course of Paul's second (see Acts 16:12–40) both to will and to work [b]for His good pleasure.

14 Do all things without [a]grumbling or disputing;

15 so that you will [1]prove yourselves to be [a]blameless and innocent, [b]children of God above reproach in the midst of a [c]crooked and perverse generation, among whom you [2d]appear as [3]lights in the world,

16 holding [1]fast the word of life, so that in [a]the day of Christ I will have reason to glory because I did not [b]run in vain nor [c]toil in vain.

17 But even if I am being [a]poured out as a drink offering upon [b]the sacrifice and service of your faith, I rejoice and share my joy with you all.

18 You too, I urge you, rejoice in the same way and share your joy with me.

Timothy and Epaphroditus

19 But I hope [1]in the Lord Jesus to [a]send [b]Timothy to you shortly, so that I also may be encouraged when I learn of your condition.

20 For I have no one else [a]of kindred spirit who will genuinely be concerned for your welfare.

21 For they all [a]seek after their own interests, not those of Christ Jesus.

22 But you know [a]of his proven worth, that [b]he served with me in the furtherance of the gospel [c]like a child serving his father.

23 [a]Therefore I hope to send him immediately, as soon as I see how things go with me;

24 and [a]I trust in the Lord that I myself also will be coming shortly.

25 But I thought it necessary to send to you [a]Epaphroditus, my brother and [b]fellow worker and [c]fellow soldier, who is also your [1d]messenger and [a]minister to my need;

26 because he was longing [1]for you all and was distressed because you had heard that he was sick.

27 For indeed he was sick to the point of death, but God had mercy on him, and not on him only but also on me, so that I would not have sorrow upon sorrow.

28 Therefore I have sent him all the more eagerly so that when you see him again you may rejoice and I may be less concerned about you.

29 [a]Receive him then in the Lord with all joy, and [b]hold men like him in high regard;

30 because he came close to death [1a]for the work of Christ, risking his life to [b]complete [2]what was deficient in your service to me.

The Goal of Life

3 Finally, my brethren, [a]rejoice in the Lord. To write the same things again is no trouble to me, and it is a safeguard for you.

and third (see Acts 20:1–3,6) missionary journeys. work out your salvation. Work it out to the finish; not a reference to the attempt to earn one's salvation by works, but to the expression of one's salvation in spiritual growth and development. Salvation is not merely a gift received once for all; it expresses itself in an ongoing process in which the believer is strenuously involved (cf. Matt 24:13; 1 Cor 9:24–27; Heb 3:14; 6:9–11; 2 Pet 1:5–8)—the process of perseverance, spiritual growth and maturation. fear and trembling. Not because of doubt or anxiety; rather, the reference is to an active reverence and a singleness of purpose in response to God's grace.

2:13 to will and to work. Intention, or faith, and our obedience cannot be separated (cf. Gal 5:6; James 2:18,20,22).

2:14–17 Some things involved in working out our salvation.

2:14 grumbling. Being discontented with God's will is an expression of unbelief that prevents one from doing what pleases God (v. 13; cf. 1 Cor 10:10). disputing. Over debatable points that do not need to be settled for the good of the church (see 2 Tim 2:23; Titus 3:9).

2:15 blameless and innocent . . . above reproach. Not absolute, sinless perfection, but wholehearted, unmixed devotion to doing God's will. crooked and perverse generation. A description of the unbelieving world (see Acts 2:40; Eph 2:1–3; cf. Matt 17:17). appear as lights. The contrast, like light in darkness, that Christians are to be to the world around them (cf. Matt 5:15–16).

2:16 glory. Not out of pride or a sense of self-accomplishment, but because of what God has done through Paul (see 1 Thess 2:19). day of Christ. See note on 1:6. in vain. Cf. 1 Cor 9:24–27.

2:17–18 I . . . rejoice . . . You too . . . rejoice. Christian joy ought always to be mutual.

2:17 I am being poured out. The reference may be to his entire ministry as one large thanksgiving sacrifice. However, it is more probable that Paul refers to his present imprisonment, which may end in a martyr's death. His life would then be poured out as a drink offering accompanying the sacrificial service of the Philippians. as a drink offering. The OT background is the daily sacrifices in Ex 29:38–41. of your faith. Genuine faith is active and working (see note on v. 13).

2:19–23 Paul plans to send Timothy, who is with him in Rome (see 1:1), to discover and report on conditions in the Philippian church.

2:20 I have no one else of kindred spirit. Timothy was a good example of the kind of person envisioned in the exhortation of v. 4.

2:21 A sharp contrast between Timothy and Paul's other associates—an outstanding commendation for one so young.

2:22 like a child serving his father. This relationship between Timothy and Paul is developed at length in 1,2 Timothy. serving. Like Jesus and Paul, Timothy had a servant attitude.

2:24 Paul anticipates his release in the near future (see 1:25).

2:25–30 Epaphroditus, too, after a close brush with death (vv. 27,30), is being sent home to Philippi.

2:25 messenger. A broader use of the Greek word often translated "apostle," applied here to Epaphroditus as a representative of the Philippian church (cf. 2 Cor 8:23).

2:27 Cf. 1:21–26.

2:28 concerned. The legitimate cares and concerns that come with the Christian life and the gospel ministry (see note on 4:6; cf. 2 Cor 4:8; 11:28).

3:1 Finally. Marks a transition to a new section as Paul moves toward his conclusion; this does not mark the close of the letter, however (cf. 4:8). rejoice in the Lord. See 4:4. same things again. Matters taken up in the verses that follow, which Paul had previously dealt with either orally when he was in Philippi or perhaps in an earlier letter. safeguard. Where serious error is present, there is safety in repetition.

2 Beware of the [a]dogs, beware of the [b]evil workers, beware of the [1]false circumcision;

3 for [a]we are the true [1]circumcision, who [b]worship in the Spirit of God and [c]glory in [d]Christ Jesus and put no confidence in the flesh,

7 But [a]whatever things were gain to me, those things I have counted as loss for the sake of Christ.

8 More than that, I count all things to be loss [1]in view of the surpassing value of [2a]knowing [b]Christ Jesus my Lord, [1]for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and count them but rubbish so that I may gain Christ,

3:2 dogs. A harsh word for Paul's opponents, showing their aggressive opposition to the gospel and the seriousness of their error and its destructive, "devouring" results (cf. Gal 5:15). Their teaching was probably similar to what Paul had to oppose in the Galatian churches (see Introduction to Galatians: Occasion and Purpose). false circumcision. Again a strong, painfully vivid term; the false teachers have so distorted the meaning of circumcision (cf. v. 3) that it has become nothing more than a useless cutting of the body.

3:3 circumcision. Its true, inner meaning is realized only in believers, who worship God with genuine spiritual worship and who glory in Christ as their Savior rather than trusting in their own human effort (cf. Rom 2:28–29; Col 2:12–13; see also Deut 30:6; Ezek 36:26). glory . . . no confidence. Everyone is a "boaster," either in Christ or in himself. flesh. Weak human nature. Although the term "flesh" in Paul's letters often refers to sinful human nature, it speaks here of the frailty of human nature: It is not worthy of our confidence; it cannot save.

3:4–14 Paul's personal testimony, a model for every believer; one of the most significant autobiographical sections in his letters (see Gal 1:13–24; 1 Tim 1:12–16; cf. Acts 22:1–21; 26:1–23).

3:4–6 Paul's pre-Christian confidence, rooted in his Jewish pedigree, privileges and attainments.

3:5 eighth day. See Gen 17:12. of the nation of Israel. Paul was born a Jew and was not a proselyte. tribe of Benjamin. His Jewish roots are deep and unambiguous. Jerusalem, the Holy City, lay on the border of the tribal territory of Benjamin. Hebrew of Hebrews. In language, attitudes and life-style (see Acts 22:2–3; Gal 1:14). Pharisee. See Acts 22:3; 23:6; 26:5.

3:6 righteousness . . . in the Law. Righteousness produced by using the Law as an attempt to merit God's approval and blessing (cf. v. 9)—a use of the Law strongly opposed by Paul as contrary to the gospel itself (see Rom 3:27–28; 4:1–5; Gal 2:16; 3:10–12). blameless. In terms of legalistic standards of scrupulous external conformity to the Law.

3:7–14 Paul's confidence in Christ.

3:7 whatever. The things mentioned in vv. 5–6. gain . . . loss. The great reversal in Paul—begun on the road to Damascus (see Acts 9:3–16)—from being self-centered to being centered in Christ.

3:8 knowing Christ Jesus. Not only a knowledge of facts but a knowledge gained through experience that, in its surpassing greatness, transforms the entire person. The following verses spell this out. rubbish. What Paul now has as a Christian is not merely preferable or a better alternative; in contrast, his former way of life was worthless and despicable.

3:9 be found in Him. Union with Christ (see note on 2:1; cf. 1 Cor 1:30)—not simply an experience in the past, but a present, continuing relationship. righteousness . . . from the Law. See note on v. 6. righteousness . . . of faith. A principal benefit of union with Christ (see Rom 3:21–22; 1 Cor 1:30; Gal 2:16).

3:10 know Him. As in v. 8, this knowledge is not merely factual; it includes the experience of the power of His resurrection (see Eph 1:17–20), of fellowship in His sufferings (cf. Acts 9:16) and of being like Him in His death (see 2 Cor 4:7–12; 12:9–10). Believers already share positionally in Christ's death and resurrection (cf. Rom 6:2–13; Gal 2:20; 5:24; 6:14; Eph 2:6; Col 2:12–13; 3:1). In v. 10, however, Paul speaks of the actual experience of Christ's resurrection power and of suffering with and for Him, even to the point of death.

3:11 that I may. Not an indication of doubt or uncertainty, but of intense concern and involvement. resurrection. The great personal anticipation of every believer (see Dan 12:2; John 5:29; Acts 24:15; 1 Cor 15:23; 1 Thess 4:16).

3:12–14 The Christian life is like a race; elsewhere Paul uses athletic imagery in a similar way (1 Cor 9:24–27; 1 Tim 6:12; 2 Tim 4:7–8; cf. Matt 24:13; Heb 12:1).

3:12 lay hold . . . I was laid hold of. Paul's goal is Christ's goal for him, and Christ supplies the resources for him to "press on toward the goal" (v. 14; cf. 2:12–13).

3:13 forgetting. Not losing all memory of his sinful past (see vv. 4–6), but leaving it behind him as done with and settled.

3:14 prize. The winner of the Greek races received a wreath of leaves and sometimes a cash award; the Christian receives an award of everlasting glory. upward. Paul's ultimate aspirations are found not in this life but in heaven, because Christ is there (see Col 3:1–2).

15 Let us therefore, as many as are [1][a]perfect, have this attitude; and if in anything you have a [b]different attitude, [c]God will reveal that also to you;

16 however, let us keep [1][a]living by that same standard to which we have attained.

17 Brethren, [a]join in following my example, and observe those who walk according to the [b]pattern you have in us.

18 For [a]many walk, of whom I often told you, and now tell you even [b]weeping, that they are enemies of [c]the cross of Christ, 19 whose end is destruction, whose god is their [1][a]appetite, and whose [b]glory is in their shame, who [c]set their minds on earthly things.

20 For [a]our [1]citizenship is in heaven, from which also we eagerly [b]wait for a Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ;

21 who will [a]transform [1]the body of our humble state into [b]conformity with [2]the [c]body of His glory, [d]by the exertion of the power that He has even to [e]subject all things to Himself.

Think of Excellence

4 Therefore, my beloved brethren [1]whom I [a]long to see, my joy and crown, in this way [b]stand firm in the Lord, my beloved.

2 I urge Euodia and I urge Syntyche to [1][a]live in harmony in the Lord.

3 Indeed, true companion, I ask you also to help these women who have shared my struggle in the cause of the gospel, together with Clement also and the rest of my [a]fellow workers, whose [b]names are in the book of life.

4 [a]Rejoice in the Lord always; again I will say, rejoice!

5 Let your gentle spirit be known to all men. [a]The Lord is [1]near.

3:15 perfect. Those who have made reasonable progress in spiritual growth and stability (see 1 Cor 2:6; 3:1–3; Heb 5:14). this attitude. That expressed in vv. 12–14: There are heights yet to be scaled; do not become complacent. have a different attitude. If the readers accept the view set forth in vv. 12–14 and yet fail to agree in some lesser point, God will clarify the matter for them.

3:16 keep living by . . . have attained. Put into practice the truth they have already comprehended. We are responsible for the truth we currently possess.

3:17 following my example. As Paul follows the example of Christ. observe those who walk. The life-styles Christians lead ought to be models worth following.

3:18 often told you. See v. 1. weeping. See Acts 20:19,31. they are enemies of the cross. In glaring contrast to Paul's conduct (v. 10) and to the truth of the gospel.

3:19 destruction. The opposite of salvation. god . . . appetite. A deep self-centeredness; their appetites and desires come first. earthly things. They have set their minds on the things of this life; they are antinomians (libertines), the opposite of the legalists of v. 2.

3:20 citizenship. In this world Christians are aliens, fully involved in it, yet not of it (cf. John 17:14–16; 1 Cor 7:29–31; 1 Pet 2:11). in heaven. Where Christ is and where believers are—in union with Him; contrast the "earthly things" of v. 19 (see Eph 2:6; Col 3:1–4). from which . . . eagerly wait. See Rom 8:19; 1 Cor 1:7; 1 Thess 1:9–10; 2 Tim 4:8.

3:21 will transform. By the Holy Spirit at the resurrection (see Rom 8:11; 1 Cor 6:14; 15:50–53). the body of our humble state. Subject to weakness, decay and death, due to sin (see Rom 8:10,20–23; 1 Cor 15:42–44). conformity with the body of His glory. See Rom 8:29; 1 John 3:2. The resurrection body, received already by Christ, who is the "first fruits," will be received by believers in the future resurrection "harvest" (see 1 Cor 15:20,49). It is "spiritual," i.e., transformed by the power of the Holy Spirit (see 1 Cor 15:44,46). power . . . to subject. Christ's present power, earned by His obedience to death (see 2:8) and received in His resurrection and ascension, is universal and absolute (see Matt 28:18; 1 Cor 15:27; Eph 1:20–22).

4:1 beloved . . . long to see. See notes on 1:8; 2:1. my joy and crown. True not only now, but especially when Christ returns (see 1 Thess 2:19). in this way. Refers to the closing statements of ch. 3. In the face of libertine practices (3:18–19), the Philippians should follow Paul's example (3:17), having their minds set on heavenly things (3:20–21). stand firm. In the midst of present struggles for the sake of the gospel (cf. 1:27–30; 1 Cor 15:58).

4:2–3 The disagreement between Euodia and Syntyche is serious enough to be mentioned in a letter to be read publicly, but Paul seems confident that "these women" (v. 3) will be reconciled. His handling of the situation is a model of tact—he does not take sides but encourages others closer to the situation to promote reconciliation (see 2:2).

4:3 shared my struggle . . . my fellow workers. Those associated with the apostle in the cause of the gospel (women as well as men) are his equals, not subordinates (cf. 2:25; Rom 16:3,9,21; Philem 24). Clement. Not mentioned elsewhere in the NT. the rest of my fellow workers. Not mentioned individually because they are known to God and their names are entered in the book of life, the heavenly register of the elect (see note on Rev 3:5).

4:4 Rejoice in the Lord. See 3:1. always. Under all kinds of circumstances, including suffering (see Hab 3:17–18; James 1:2; 1 Pet 4:13).

4:5 gentle spirit. Christlike consideration for others (cf. 2 Cor 10:1). It is especially essential in church leaders (see 1 Tim 3:3; Titus 3:2, "showing every consideration"). near. See Rom 13:11; cf. James 5:8–9; Rev 22:7,12,20. The next great event in God's prophetic schedule is Christ's return. The whole period from Christ's first coming to the consummation of the kingdom is viewed in the NT as the last time (1 John 2:18). From God's vantage point, a thousand years are as a day. Thus there is a sense in which, for every generation, the Lord's coming is near.

4:6 anxious. Self-centered, counterproductive worry, not legitimate cares and concerns for the spread of the gospel (see 2:28 and note; 2 Cor 11:28; see also Matt 6:25–31; 1 Pet 5:7). in everything, by prayer. Anxiety and prayer are two great opposing forces in Christian experience. thanksgiving. The antidote to worry (along with prayer and petition).

4:7 peace of God. Not merely a psychological state of mind, but an inner tranquillity based on peace with God—the peacepasses all [1]comprehension, will [b]guard your hearts and your [c]minds in [d]Christ Jesus.

8 Finally, brethren, [a]whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is [1]lovely, whatever is of good repute, if there is any excellence and if anything worthy of praise, [2]dwell on these things.

9 The things you have learned and received and heard and seen [a]in me, practice these things, and [b]the God of peace will be with you.

10 But I rejoiced in the Lord greatly, that now at last [a]you have revived your concern for me; indeed, you were concerned before, but you lacked opportunity.

11 Not that I speak [1]from want, for I have learned to be [2a]content in whatever circumstances I am.

12 I know how to get along with humble means, and I also know how to live in prosperity; in any and every circumstance I have learned the secret of being filled and going [a]hungry, both of having abundance and [b]suffering need.

13 I can do all things [1]through Him who [a]strengthens me.

17 [a]Not that I seek the gift itself, but I seek for the [1]profit which increases to your account.

ful state of those whose sins are forgiven (cf. John 14:27; Rom 5:1). The opposite of anxiety, it is the tranquillity that comes when the believer commits all his cares to God in prayer and worries about them no more. surpasses all comprehension. The full dimensions of God's love and care are beyond human comprehension (see Eph 3:18–20). guard . . . hearts . . . minds. A military concept depicting a sentry standing guard. God's "protective custody" of those who are in Christ Jesus extends to the core of their beings and to their deepest intentions (cf. 1 Pet 1:5).

4:8 Finally. See note on 3:1. true . . . worthy of praise. Paul understood the influence of one's thoughts on one's life. What a person allows to occupy his mind will sooner or later determine his speech and his action. Paul's exhortation to "dwell on these things" is followed by a second exhortation, "practice these things" (v. 9). The combination of virtues listed in vv. 8–9 is sure to produce a wholesome thought pattern, which in turn will result in a life of moral and spiritual excellence.

4:9 seen in me. See note on 3:17. God of peace. See note on 1 Thess 5:23; cf. the "peace of God" (v. 7).

4:10 at last . . . lacked opportunity. The delay in sending gifts to Paul was not the fault of the Philippians, nor was it because they were lacking in concern for him (cf. 2 Cor 11:9). Perhaps Paul's uncertain itinerary prior to his arrival at Rome or the lack of an available messenger had prevented the Philippians from showing their concern.

4:11 content in whatever circumstances. Paul genuinely appreciates the gifts from Philippi (see vv. 14,18) but he is not ultimately dependent on them (cf. 1 Tim 6:6–8).

4:12 secret of being filled . . . having abundance. Prosperity, too, can be a source of discontent.

4:13 all things. Everything pleasing to God. Him who strengthens me. Christ. Union with the living, exalted Christ is the secret of being content (v. 12) and the source of Paul's abiding strength (see especially 2 Cor 12:9–10; see also John 15:5; Eph 3:16–17; Col 1:11).

4:14 share. The Philippians' gifts are a means of involving them in Paul's troubles (cf. Heb 10:33).

4:15 first preaching. During Paul's second missionary journey, when he first preached in Philippi (see Acts 16:12–40). left. For the south (Achaia), where Athens and Corinth were located (see Acts 17:14–16; 18:1–4). Macedonia. The northern part of modern-day Greece, where Berea and Thessalonica, as well as Philippi, were located. shared with me in the matter of. Or "participated with me in an account of." Paul uses commercial language to describe "giving and receiving" (credit and debit) between the Philippians and himself (see "increases to your account," v. 17). Yet this commercial imagery is plainly transcended by the mutual concern and self-sacrifice of their relationship. but you alone. The generosity of the Philippian church is unique and unmatched (cf. 2 Cor 8:1–5).

4:16 even in Thessalonica. While he was still in Macedonia (see Acts 17:1–9). gift more than once. The gifts sent to Rome through Epaphroditus are the latest in a long and consistent pattern of generosity (cf. 2 Cor 8:1–5).

4:17 increases to your account. See note on v. 15. The "investment value" of the Philippians' gift is not primarily what Paul received, but the "spiritual dividends" they received.

4:18 a fragrant aroma, an acceptable sacrifice. The OT background is the sacrifice, not of atonement for sin, but of thanksgiving and praise (cf. Lev 7:12–15; Rom 12:1; Eph 5:2; Heb 13:15–16). acceptable . . . well-pleasing to God. Because of Christ's work for us (see 1 Pet 2:5) and God's work in us (see Phil 2:13).

4:19 my. A personal touch (cf. "my God" in 1:3). will supply. A promise given to a church that had sacrificially given to meet Paul's need. your needs. Paul is concerned not only about his own situation but also about that of the Philippians. His riches in glory in Christ Jesus. The true measure of God's blessings to the church (cf. Eph 1:18; 3:16–20).

4:20 Paul cannot hold back a doxology, especially as he considers the truth of v. 19.

21 Greet every [1]saint in Christ Jesus. [a]The brethren who are with me greet you.
22 [a]All the [1][b]saints greet you, especially those of Caesar's household.

4:21–22 Final greetings are a typical feature of Paul's letters (see, e.g., Rom 16:3–16,21–23; 1 Cor 16:19–20; 2 Cor 13:12–13; Col 4:10–12,14–15,18).
4:21 every saint. See note on 1:1. brethren who are with me. Paul's fellow workers at Rome, especially Timothy (see 1:1,14,16).
4:22 Caesar's household. Not blood relatives of the emperor, but those employed (slaves or freedmen) in or around the palace area (cf. "praetorian guard," 1:13).
4:23 A typical closing benediction of Paul. your spirit. Not one part of man to the exclusion of other parts, but the whole person seen from his inner side, at the core of his being (cf. Gal 6:18; 2 Tim 4:22; Philem 25).

Colossians

Author, Date and Place of Writing

That Colossians is a genuine letter of Paul is not usually disputed. In the early church, all who speak on the subject of authorship ascribe it to Paul. In the 19th century, however, some thought that the heresy refuted in ch. 2 was second-century Gnosticism. But a careful analysis of ch. 2 shows that the heresy referred to there is noticeably less developed than the Gnosticism of leading Gnostic teachers of the second and third centuries. Also, the seeds of what later became the full-blown Gnosticism of the second century were present in the first century and already making inroads into the churches. Consequently, it is not necessary to date Colossians in the second century at a time too late for Paul to have written the letter.

Instead, it is to be dated during Paul's first imprisonment in Rome, where he spent at least two years under house arrest (see Acts 28:16–31). Some have argued that Paul wrote Colossians from Ephesus or Caesarea, but most of the evidence favors Rome as the place where Paul penned all the Prison Letters (Ephesians, Colossians, Philippians and Philemon). Colossians should be dated c. A.D. 60, in the same year as Ephesians and Philemon.

Colosse: The Town and the Church

Several hundred years before Paul's day, Colosse had been a leading city in Asia Minor (present-day Turkey). It was located on the Lycus River and on the great east-west trade route leading from Ephesus on the Aegean Sea to the Euphrates River. By the first century A.D. Colosse was diminished to a second-rate market town, which had been surpassed long ago in power and importance by the neighboring towns of Laodicea and Hierapolis (see 4:13).

What gave Colosse NT importance, however, was the fact that, during Paul's three-year ministry in Ephesus, Epaphras had been converted and had carried the gospel to Colosse (cf. 1:7–8; Acts 19:10). The young church that resulted then became the target of heretical attack, which led to Epaphras's visit to Paul in Rome and ultimately to the penning of the Colossian letter.

Perhaps as a result of the efforts of Epaphras or other converts of Paul, Christian churches had also been established in Laodicea and Hierapolis. Some of them were house churches (see 4:15; Philem 2). Most likely all of them were primarily Gentile.

The Colossian Heresy

Paul never explicitly describes the false teaching he opposes in the Colossian letter. The nature of the heresy must be inferred from statements he made in opposition to the false teachers. An analysis of his refutation suggests that the heresy was diverse in nature. Some of the elements of its teachings were:

1. Ceremonialism. It held to strict rules about the kinds of permissible food and drink, religious festivals (2:16–17) and circumcision (2:11; 3:11).

2. Asceticism. "Do not handle, do not taste, do not touch!" (2:21; cf. 2:23).

3. Angel worship. See 2:18.

4. Depreciation of Christ. This is implied in Paul's stress on the supremacy of Christ (1:15–20; 2:2–3,9).

5. Secret knowledge. The Gnostics boasted of this (see 2:18 and Paul's emphasis in 2:2–3 on Christ, "in whom are hidden all the treasures of wisdom").

6. Reliance on human wisdom and tradition. See 2:4,8.

These elements seem to fall into two categories, Jewish and Gnostic. It is likely, therefore, that the Colossian heresy was a mixture of an extreme form of Judaism and an early stage of Gnosticism (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism; see also note on 2:23).

Purpose and Theme

Paul's purpose is to refute the Colossian heresy. To accomplish this goal, he exalts Christ as the very image of God (1:15), the Creator (1:16), the preexistent sustainer of all things (1:17), the head of the church (1:18), the first to be resurrected (1:18), the fullness of deity in bodily form (1:19; 2:9) and the reconciler (1:20–22). Thus Christ is completely adequate. We "have been made complete" in Christ (2:10). On the other hand, the Colossian heresy was altogether inadequate. It was a hollow and deceptive philosophy (2:8), lacking any ability to restrain the old sinful nature (2:23).

The theme of Colossians is the complete adequacy of Christ as contrasted with the emptiness of mere human philosophy.

Thankfulness for Spiritual Attainments

1 [a]Paul, [b]an apostle of Jesus Christ [1c]by the will of God, and [d]Timothy [2]our brother,

2 To the [1a]saints and faithful brethren in Christ who are at Colossae: [b]Grace to you and peace from God our Father.

3 [a]We give thanks to God, [b]the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you,

4 [a]since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus and the [b]love which you have [1]for [c]all the [2]saints;

5 because of the [a]hope [b]laid up for you in [1]heaven, of which you previously [c]heard in the word of truth, [2]the gospel

6 which has come to you, just as [1a]in all the world also it is constantly bearing [b]fruit and [2]increasing, even as it has been doing in you also since the day you [c]heard of it and [3]understood the grace of God in truth;

7 just as you learned it from [a]Epaphras, our [b]beloved fellow bond-servant, who is a faithful servant of Christ on our behalf,

8 and he also informed us of your [a]love in the Spirit.

9 For this reason also, [a]since the day we heard of it, [b]we have not ceased to pray for you and to ask that you may be filled with the [1c]knowledge of His will in all spiritual [d]wisdom and understanding,

10 so that you will [a]walk in a manner worthy of the Lord, [1b]to please Him in all respects, [c]bearing fruit in every good work and [2]increasing in the [3]knowledge of God;

11 [a]strengthened with all power, according to [1]His glorious might, [2]for the attaining of all steadfastness and [3]patience; [b]joyously

12 giving thanks to [a]the Father, who has qualified us [1]to share in [b]the inheritance of the [2]saints in [c]Light.

The Incomparable Christ

13 [1]For He rescued us from the [2a]domain of darkness, and transferred us to the kingdom of [3b]His beloved Son, 14 [a]in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins.

15 [1]He is the [a]image of the [b]invisible God, the [c]firstborn of all creation.

1:1 Paul. It was customary to put the writer's name at the beginning of a letter. For more information on Paul see notes on Acts 9:1; Phil 3:4–14. Christ. Paul is very Christ-centered, as seen by this short letter, in which he uses the title "Christ" 25 times and the title "Lord" (alone) 9 times. Timothy. Paul also mentions Timothy in 2 Corinthians, Philippians, 1,2 Thessalonians and Philemon, but Paul is really the sole author, as seen by the constant use of "I" (see especially 4:18).

1:2 saints. Because of Christ's substitutionary death for the Colossian believers, they are declared holy in the sight of God, and because of the Holy Spirit's work, they are continuing to be made holy in their lives. faithful. See 1:7; 4:7,9. in Christ. Paul mentions the spiritual union with Christ 11 times in Colossians (see note on Eph 1:3). Grace . . . and peace. See notes on Jon 4:2; John 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.

1:3 We. Paul and Timothy. give thanks to God. Every one of Paul's letters, except Galatians, begins with thanks or praise (see note on Phil 1:3–4). In Colossians thanks is an important theme (see v. 12; 2:7; 3:15–17; 4:2). The Bible never thanks man for his faith and love, but rather God, who is the source of these virtues.

1:5 The three great Christian virtues of faith, love and hope appear also in Rom 5:2–5; 1 Cor 13:13; Gal 5:5–6; 1 Thess 1:3; 5:8; Heb 10:22–24. hope. Not wishful thinking but a firm assurance. For this unusual thought of faith and love coming from hope see Titus 1:2.

1:6 in all the world. Hyperbole, to dramatize the rapid spread of the gospel into every quarter of the Roman empire within three decades of Pentecost (see v. 23; Rom 1:8; 10:18; 16:19). In refutation of the charge of the false teachers, Paul insists that the Christian faith is not merely local or regional but worldwide.

1:7 Epaphras. A native (4:12) and probably founder of the Colossian church, and an evangelist in nearby Laodicea and Hierapolis (4:13). Paul loved and admired him, calling him a "fellow prisoner" (Philem 23), his dear fellow servant and a faithful minister of Christ. Epaphras was the one who told Paul at Rome about the Colossian church problem and thereby stimulated him to write this letter (vv. 4,8). His name, a shortened form of Epaphroditus (from "Aphrodite," the Greek goddess of love), suggests that he was a convert from paganism. He is not the Epaphroditus of Phil 2:25; 4:18.

1:8 your love in the Spirit. The Holy Spirit is the source of all Christian love.

1:9 the knowledge of His will. Biblical knowledge is not merely the possession of facts. Rather, knowledge and wisdom in the Bible are practical, having to do with godly living. This is borne out by vv. 10–12, where knowledge, wisdom and understanding result in a life worthy of the Lord.

1:12 Light. Symbolizes holiness (Matt 5:14; 6:23; Acts 26:18; 1 John 1:5), truth (Ps 36:9; 119:105,130; 2 Cor 4:6), love (James 1:17; 1 John 2:9–10), glory (Is 60:1–3; 1 Tim 6:16) and life (John 1:4). Accordingly, God (1 John 1:5), Christ (John 8:12) and the Christian (Eph 5:8) are characterized by light. The "Light" is the opposite of the "domain of darkness" (v. 13).

1:13 kingdom. Does not here refer to a territory but to the authority, rule or sovereign power of a king. Here it means that the Christian is no longer under the dominion of evil (darkness) but under the benevolent rule of God's Son.

1:14 redemption. Deliverance and freedom from the penalty of sin by the payment of a ransom—the substitutionary death of Christ.

1:15–20 Perhaps an early Christian hymn (see note on 3:16) on the supremacy of Christ—used here by Paul to counteract the false teaching at Colossae. It is divided into two parts: (1) Christ's supremacy in creation (vv. 15–17); (2) Christ's supremacy in redemption (vv. 18–20).

1:15 image. Christ is called the "image of God" here and in 2 Cor 4:4. In Heb 1:3 He is described as the "radiance of His glory and the exact representation of His nature." This figure of the image suggests two truths: (1) God is invisible ("No one has seen God at any time," John 1:18); (2) Christ, who is the eternal Son of God and who became the God-man, reflects and reveals Him (see also John 1:18; 14:9). firstborn of all creation. Just as the firstborn son had certain privileges and rights in the Biblical world, so also Christ has certain rights in relation to all creation—priority, preeminence and sovereignty (vv. 16–18).

16 For [1][a]by Him all things were created,
[a]both in the heavens and on earth, visible and invisible, whether [b]thrones or dominions or rulers or authorities—[c]all things have been created through Him and for Him.
17 He [1][a]is before all things, and in Him all things [2]hold together.
18 He is also [a]head of [b]the body, the church; and He is [c]the beginning, [d]the first-born from the dead, so that He Himself will come to have first place in everything.
19 For [1]it was [a]the Father's good pleasure for all [b]the [2]fullness to dwell in Him, 20 and through Him to [a]reconcile all things to Himself, having made [b]peace through [c]the blood of His cross; through Him, I say, [d]whether things on earth or things in [1]heaven.
21 And although you were [a]formerly alienated and hostile in mind, engaged in evil deeds,
22 yet He has now [a]reconciled you in His fleshly [b]body through death, in order to [c]present you before Him [d]holy and blameless and beyond reproach—
23 if indeed you continue in [1]the faith firmly [a]established and steadfast, and not moved away from the [b]hope of the gospel that you have heard, which was proclaimed [c]in all creation under heaven, [d]and of which I, Paul, [2]was made a [3][e]minister.
24 [a]Now I rejoice in my sufferings for your sake, and in my flesh [b]I [1]do my share on behalf of [c]His body, which is the church, in filling up what is lacking [2]in Christ's afflictions.
25 [a]Of this church I [1]was made a minister according to the [b]stewardship from God bestowed on me for your benefit, so that I might [2]fully carry out the preaching of the word of God,
26 that is, [a]the mystery which has been hidden from the past ages and generations, but has now been manifested to His [1]saints, 27 to whom [a]God willed to make known what is [b]the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles, which is [c]Christ in you, the [d]hope of glory.
28 We proclaim Him, [a]admonishing every man and teaching every man [1]with all [b]wisdom, so that we may [c]present every man
[2][d]complete in Christ.
29 For this purpose also I [a]labor, [b]striving [c]according to His [1]power, which [2]mightily works within me.

You Are Built Up in Christ

1:16 by Him all things were created. See John 1:3. Seven times in vv. 15–20 Paul mentions "all creation," "all things" and "everything," thus stressing that Christ is supreme over all. thrones or dominions or rulers or authorities. Angels. An angelic hierarchy figured prominently in the Colossian heresy (see Introduction: The Colossian Heresy).

1:17 He is before all things. Referring to time, as in John 1:1–2; 8:58.

1:18 beginning. Of the new creation. firstborn. Christ was the first to rise from the dead with a resurrection body. Elsewhere Paul calls Him the "first fruits of those who are asleep" (1 Cor 15:20). Others who were raised from the dead (2 Kin 4:35; Luke 7:15; John 11:44; Acts 9:36–41; 20:7–11) were raised only to die again.

1:19 fullness. Part of the technical vocabulary of some Gnostic philosophies. In these systems it meant the sum of the supernatural forces controlling the fate of people. For Paul "fullness" meant the totality of God with all His powers and attributes (2:9).

1:20 reconcile all things to Himself. Does not mean that Christ by His death has saved all people. Scripture speaks of an eternal hell and makes clear that only believers are saved. When Adam and Eve sinned, not only was the harmony between God and man destroyed, but also disorder came into creation (Rom 8:19–22). So when Christ died on the cross, He made peace possible between God and man, and He restored in principle the harmony in the physical world, though the full realization of the latter will come only when Christ returns (Rom 8:21).

1:22 death. Christ's death.

1:23 all creation. See note on v. 6.

1:24 my sufferings. By preaching the gospel to the Gentiles, Paul experienced all kinds of affliction, but here he was probably referring especially to his imprisonment. filling up what is lacking. Does not mean that there was a deficiency in the atoning sacrifice of Christ. Rather, it means that Paul suffered afflictions because he was preaching the good news of Christ's atonement. Christ suffered on the cross to atone for sin, and Paul filled up Christ's afflictions by experiencing the added sufferings necessary to carry this good news to a lost world.

1:25 fully carry out the preaching of the word of God. The meaning seems to be that the word of God is brought to completion, i.e., to its intended purpose, only when it is proclaimed (cf. Is 55:11). Paul's commission to bring the word to completion, therefore, required him to make the word of God heard in Colossae as well as elsewhere. See Rom 15:19 for a similar statement.

1:26 mystery. The purpose of God, unknown to man except by revelation. This word was a popular, pagan religious term, used in the mystery religions to refer to secret information available only to an exclusive group of people. Paul changes that meaning radically by always combining it with words such as "manifested" (here), "made known" (Eph 1:9), "bring to light" (Eph 3:9) and "revelation" (Rom 16:25). The Christian mystery is not secret knowledge for a few. It is a revelation of divine truths—once hidden but now openly proclaimed.

1:27 Gentiles . . . Christ in you. The mystery is the fact that Christ indwells Gentiles, for it had not been previously revealed that the Gentiles would be admitted to the church on equal terms with Israel (see note on Eph 3:6).

1:28 complete. Employed by the mystery religions and the Gnostics to describe those who had become possessors of the secrets or knowledge boasted of by the particular religion (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism). But in Christ every believer is one of the perfect.

2:1 Laodicea. This letter was to be read to the church there too (4:16). Laodicea (near modern Denizli) was only about 11 miles from Colossae.

2:2 mystery. See notes on 1:26; Rom 11:25.

2:3 knowledge. Paul stressed knowledge in this letter (v. 2; 1:9–10) because he was refuting a heresy that emphasized knowledge as the means of salvation (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism). Paul insisted that the Christian, not the Gnostic, possessed genuine knowledge.

2:5 absent in body, . . . with you in spirit. Similar to 1 Cor 5:3.

2:6 walk in Him. The believer's intimate, spiritual, living union with Christ is mentioned repeatedly in this letter (see, e.g., vv. 7,10–13,20; 1:2,27–28; 3:1,3).

2:8 elementary principles of the world. This term (which occurs also in v. 20 and Gal 4:3,9) means false, worldly, religious, elementary teachings. Paul was counteracting the Colossian heresy, which, in part, taught that for salvation one needed to combine faith in Christ with secret knowledge and with man-made regulations concerning such physical and external practices as circumcision, eating and drinking, and observance of religious festivals.

2:9 fullness of Deity. See note on 1:19. The declaration that the very essence of deity was present in totality in Jesus' human body was a direct refutation of Gnostic teaching.

2:10–15 Here Paul declares that the Christian is complete in Christ, rather than being deficient as the Gnostics claimed. This completeness includes the putting off of the sinful nature (v. 11), resurrection from spiritual death (vv. 12–13), forgiveness (v. 13) and deliverance from legalistic requirements (v. 14) and from evil spirit beings (v. 15).

2:11–12 circumcision . . . baptism. In the Israelite faith, circumcision was a sign that the individual stood in covenant relation with God. While this is the only reference where circumcision is associated with baptism, some see the passage as implying that, for the Christian, water baptism is the parallel sign of the covenant relationship.

2:14 certificate of debt. A business term, meaning a certificate of indebtedness in the debtor's handwriting. Paul uses it as a designation for the Mosaic law, with all its regulations, under which everyone is a debtor to God.

2:15 When He had disarmed. Not only did God cancel out the accusations of the law against the Christian, but He also conquered and disarmed the evil angels (powers and authorities, 1:16; Eph 6:12), who entice people to follow asceticism and false teachings about Christ. The picture is of conquered soldiers stripped of their clothes as well as their weapons to symbolize their total defeat. having triumphed over them. Lit. "leading them in a triumphal procession." The metaphor recalls a Roman general leading his captives through the streets of his city for all the citizens to see as evidence of his complete victory (see 2 Cor 2:14 and note). That Christ triumphed over the devil and his cohorts is seen from Matt 12:29; Luke 10:18; Rom 16:20.

2:17 shadow . . . substance. The ceremonial laws of the OT are here referred to as shadows (cf. Heb 8:5; 10:1) because they symbolically depicted the coming of Christ; so any insistence on the observance of such ceremonies is a failure to recognize that their fulfillment has already taken place. This element of the Colossian heresy was combined with a rigid asceticism, as vv. 20–21 reveal.

2:18 defrauding. This term pictures an umpire or referee who excludes from competition any athlete who fails to follow the 19 and not holding fast to [a]the head, from whom [b]the entire body, being supplied and held together by the joints and [1]ligaments, grows with a growth [2]which is from God.

20 [a]If you have died with Christ [1]to the [b]elementary principles of the world, [c]why, as if you were living in the world, do you submit yourself to [d]decrees, such as,

21 "Do not handle, do not taste, do not touch!"

22 (which all refer [a]to things destined to perish [1]with use)—in accordance with the [b]commandments and teachings of men?

23 These are matters which have, to be sure, the [1]appearance of wisdom in [2a]self-made religion and self-abasement and [b]severe treatment of the body, but are of no value against [c]fleshly indulgence.

Put On the New Self

3 Therefore if you have been [a]raised up with Christ, keep seeking the things above, where Christ is, [b]seated at the right hand of God.

2 [1a]Set your mind on the things above, not on the things that are on earth.

3 For you have [a]died and your life is hidden with Christ in God.

4 When Christ, [a]who is our life, is revealed, [b]then you also will be revealed with Him in glory.

5 [a]Therefore [1]consider [b]the members of your earthly body as dead to [2c]immorality, impurity, passion, evil desire, and greed, which [3]amounts to idolatry.

6 For it is because of these things that [a]the wrath of God will come [1]upon the sons of disobedience,

7 and [a]in them you also once walked, when you were living [1]in them.

8 But now you also, [a]put them all aside: [b]anger, wrath, malice, slander, and [c]abusive speech from your mouth.

9 [1a]Do not lie to one another, since you [b]laid aside the old [2]self with its evil practices,

10 and have [a]put on the new self who is being [1b]renewed to a true knowledge [c]according to the image of the One who [d]created him—

11 a renewal in which [a]there is no distinction between Greek and Jew, [b]circumcised and uncircumcised, [1c]barbarian, Scythian, [d]slave and freeman, but [e]Christ is all, and in all.

12 So, as those who have been [a]chosen of God, holy and beloved, [b]put on a [c]heart of compassion, kindness, [d]humility, gentleness and [1e]patience; rules. The Colossians were not to permit any false teacher to deny the reality of their salvation because they were not delighting in mock humility and in the worship of angelic beings. self-abasement. Humility in which one delights is of necessity mock humility. Paul may refer to a professed humility in view of the absolute God, who was believed to be so far above man that He could only be worshiped in the form of angels He had created. Second-century Gnosticism conceived of a list of spirit beings who had emanated from God and through whom God may be approached. he has seen. Probably refers to professed visions by the false teachers.

2:19 not holding fast to the head. The central error of the Colossian heresy is a defective view of Christ, in which He is believed to be less than deity (see v. 9; 1:19).

2:20 elementary principles. See note on v. 8.

2:21 Do not handle . . . taste . . . touch! The strict ascetic nature of the heresy is seen here. These prohibitions seem to carry OT ceremonial laws to the extreme.

2:23 A rather detailed analysis of the Colossian heresy: 1. It appeared to set forth an impressive system of religious philosophy. 2. It was, however, a system created by the false teachers themselves ("self-made"), rather than being of divine origin. 3. The false teachers attempted to parade their humility. 4. This may have been done by a harsh asceticism that brutally misused the body. Paul's analysis is that such practices are worthless because they totally fail to control sinful desires. self-made religion. The false teachers themselves had created the regulations of their heretical system. They were not from God.

3:1 Therefore. "Therefore" links the doctrinal section of the letter with the practical section, just as it does in Rom 12:1; Eph 4:1; Phil 4:1. you have been raised up. Verses 1–10 set forth what has been described as the indicative and the imperative (standing and state) of the Christian. The indicative statements describe the believer's position in Christ: He is dead (v. 3); he has been raised with Christ (v. 1); he is with Christ in heaven ("hidden with Christ," v. 3); he has "laid aside the old self" (v. 9); and he has "put on the new self" (v. 10). The imperative statements indicate what the believer is to do as a result: He is to set his heart (or mind) on things above (vv. 1–2); he is to put to death practices that belong to his earthly nature (v. 5); and he is to rid himself of practices that characterized his unregenerate self (v. 8). In summary, he is called upon to become in daily experience what he is positionally in Christ (cf. Rom 6:1–13).

3:4 is revealed. Refers to Christ's second coming.

3:6 wrath of God. See note on Zech 1:2. God is unalterably opposed to sin and will invariably make sure that it is justly punished.

3:9–10 laid aside . . . put on. As one takes off dirty clothes and puts on clean ones, so the Christian is called upon to renounce his evil ways and live in accordance with the rules of Christ's kingdom (see vv. 12–14; cf. Gal 3:27).

3:10 renewed. See 2 Co 5:17. knowledge. See 1:10; 2:2–3. image of the One who created him. See note on Gen 1:26.

3:11 barbarian. Someone who did not speak Greek and was thought to be uncivilized. Scythian. Scythians were known especially for their brutality and were considered by others as little better than wild beasts. They came originally from what is today south Russia. Christ is all, and in all. Christ transcends all barriers and unifies people from all cultures, races and nations. Such distinctions are no longer significant. Christ alone matters.

3:12 chosen of God. Israel was called this (Deut 4:37), and so is the Christian community (1 Pet 2:9). Divine election is a constant theme in Paul's letters (see note on Eph 1:4), but the Bible never teaches that it dulls human responsibility. On the contrary, as this verse shows, it is precisely because the Christian has been elected to eternal salvation that he must put forth every effort to live the godly life. For Paul, divine sovereignty and human responsibility go hand in hand.

3:15 peace of Christ. The attitude of peace that Christ alone gives—in place of the attitude of bitterness and quarrelsomeness. This attitude is to "rule" (lit. "function like an umpire") in all human relationships.

3:16 word of Christ. Refers especially to Christ's teaching, which in the time of the Colossians was transmitted orally. But by implication it includes the OT as well as the NT. psalms and hymns and spiritual songs. Some of the most important doctrines were expressed in Christian hymns preserved for us now only in Paul's letters (1:15–20; Eph 5:14; Phil 2:6–11; 1 Tim 3:16). "Psalms" refers to the OT psalms (see Luke 20:42; 24:44; Acts 1:20; 13:33), some of which may have been set to music by the church. "Psalm" could also describe a song newly composed for Christian worship (cf. 1 Cor 14:26, where "hymn" is lit. "psalm" in the Greek text). A "hymn" was a song of praise, especially used in a celebration (see Mark 14:26; Heb 2:12; see also Acts 16:25), much like the OT psalms that praised God for all that He is. A "song" recounted the acts of God and praised Him for them (see Rev 5:9; 14:3; 15:3), much like the OT psalms that thanked God for all that He had done. See note on Eph 5:19.

3:18–4:1 See notes on Eph 5:22–6:9.

3:20 in all things. In everything not sinful (see Acts 5:29).

3:22–4:1 Paul neither condones slavery nor sanctions revolt against masters. Rather, he calls on both slaves and masters to show Christian principles in their relationship and thus to attempt to change the institution from within. The reason Paul writes more about slaves and masters than about wives, husbands, children and fathers may be that the slave Onesimus (4:9) is going along with Tychicus to deliver this Colossian letter and the letter to Philemon, Onesimus's master, who also lived in Colossae.

4:6 seasoned with salt. Salt is a preservative and is tasty. Similarly, the Christian's conversation is to be wholesome (see 3:8; Eph 4:29).

4:7 Tychicus. See note on Eph 6:21.

4:9–17 Onesimus (v. 9), Aristarchus (v. 10), Mark (v. 10), Epaphras (v. 12), Luke (v. 14), Demas (v. 14) and Archippus (v. 17) are mentioned in Philemon. This suggests that the letters to Colossae and Philemon were written at the same time and place.

4:9 Onesimus. See Introduction to Philemon: Recipient, Background and Purpose.

4:10 Aristarchus. A Macedonian, who is mentioned three times in Acts: 1. He was with Paul during the Ephesian riot (Acts 19:29) and therefore was known in Colossae. 2. Both he and Tychicus (Acts 20:4) were with Paul in Greece. 3. He accompanied Paul on his trip to Rome (Acts 27:2). Mark. The author of the second Gospel. Against Barnabas's advice, Paul refused to take Mark on the second missionary journey because Mark had "deserted" him at Pamphylia (Acts 15:38). But now—about 12 years later—the difficulties seem to have been ironed out, because Paul, both here and in Philem 24 (sent at the same time to Philemon, who was in Colossae), sends Mark's greetings. About five years later, Paul even writes that Mark "is useful to me for service" (2 Tim 4:11). See note on Acts 15:39.

4:13 Hierapolis. A town in Asia Minor (present-day Turkey), about 6 miles from Laodicea and 14 miles from Colossae. Its church may have been founded during Paul's three-year stay in Ephesus (Acts 19), but probably not by Paul himself (cf. 2:1).

4:14 Luke. Wrote about Paul in the book of Acts, having often accompanied him on his travels (see note on Acts 16:10). He was with Paul in Rome during his imprisonment (Acts 28), where this letter was written. Demas. A Christian worker who would later desert Paul (2 Tim 4:10).

4:15 Nympha. Probably a Laodicean. church that is in her house. For the most part, the early church had no buildings, so it usually met for worship and instruction in homes. It often centered around one family, as, e.g., Priscilla and Aquila (Rom 16:5; 1 Cor 16:19), Philemon (Philem 2) and Mary the mother of John (Acts 12:12).

4:16 When this letter is read among you. The practice of the early church was to read Paul's letters aloud to the assembled congregation. letter . . . from Laodicea. Does not necessarily mean a letter by the Laodiceans. Rather, it could have been a letter that the Laodiceans were to lend to the Colossians—a letter that Paul had originally written to the Laodiceans. This may have been a fourth letter that Tychicus carried to this area in what is present-day Turkey, in addition to Ephesians, Colossians and Philemon. Or this letter could have been Paul's letter to the Ephesians—a circular letter making the rounds from Ephesus to Laodicea to Colossae (see Introduction to Ephesians: Author, Date and Place of Writing).

4:17 Archippus. Philem 2 calls him Paul's "fellow soldier."

4:18 Paul's custom was to dictate his letters (see Rom 16:22) and pen a few greetings himself (1 Cor 16:21; Gal 6:11; 2 Thess 3:17; Philem 19). His personal signature was the guarantee of the genuineness of the letter.

1 Thessalonians

Background of the Thessalonian Letters

It is helpful to trace the locations of Paul and his companions that relate to the Thessalonian correspondence. The travels were as follows:

1. Paul and Silas fled from Thessalonica to Berea (see Acts 17:10). Since Timothy is not mentioned, it is possible that he stayed in Thessalonica or went back to Philippi and then rejoined Paul and Silas in Berea (Acts 17:14).

2. Paul fled to Athens from Berean persecution, leaving Silas and Timothy in Berea (see Acts 17:14).

3. Paul sent word back, instructing Silas and Timothy to come to him in Athens (see Acts 17:15; see also note on 3:1–2).

4. Timothy rejoined Paul at Athens and was sent back to Thessalonica (see 3:1–5). Since Silas is not mentioned, it has been conjectured that he went back to Philippi when Timothy went to Thessalonica.

5. Paul moved on to Corinth (see Acts 18:1).

6. Silas and Timothy came to Paul in Corinth (see 3:6; Acts 18:5).

7. Paul wrote 1 Thessalonians and sent it to the church.

8. About six months later (A.D. 51/52) he sent 2 Thessalonians in response to further information about the church there.

Author, Date and Place of Writing

Both external and internal evidence (see 1:1; 2:18) support the view that Paul wrote 1 Thessalonians (from Corinth; see note on 3:1–2). Early church writers are agreed on the matter, with testimonies beginning as early as A.D. 140 (Marcion). Paul's known characteristics are apparent in the letter (3:1–2,8–11 compared with Acts 15:36; 2 Cor 11:28). Historical allusions in the book fit Paul's life as recounted in Acts and in his own letters (2:14–16 compared with Acts 17:5–10; 3:6 compared with Acts 17:16). In the face of such evidence, few have ever rejected authorship by Paul.

It is generally dated c. A.D. 51. Weighty support for this date was found in an inscription discovered at Delphi, Greece, that dates Gallio's proconsulship to c. 51–52 and thus places Paul at Corinth at the same time (see Acts 18:12–17). Except for the possibility of an early date for Galatians (48–49?), 1 Thessalonians is Paul's earliest canonical letter.

Thessalonica: The City and the Church

Thessalonica was a bustling seaport city at the head of the Thermaic Gulf. It was an important communication and trade center, located at the junction of the great Egnatian Way and the road leading north to the Danube. Its population numbered about 200,000, making it the largest city in Macedonia. It was also the capital of its province.

The background of the Thessalonian church is found in Acts 17:1–9. Since Paul began his ministry there in the Jewish synagogue, it is reasonable to assume that the new church included some Jews. However, 1:9–10; Acts 17:4 seem to indicate that the church was largely Gentile in membership.

Purpose

Paul had left Thessalonica abruptly (see Acts 17:5–10) after a rather brief stay. Recent converts from paganism (1:9) were thus left with little external support in the midst of persecution. Paul's purpose in writing this letter was to encourage the new converts in their trials (3:3–5), to give instruction concerning godly living (4:1–8), to urge some not to neglect daily work (4:11–12) and to give assurance concerning the future of believers who die before Christ returns (see Theme; see also notes on 4:13,15).

Theme

Although the thrust of the letter is varied (see Purpose), the subject of eschatology (doctrine of last things) seems to be predominant in both Thessalonian letters. Every chapter of 1 Thessalonians ends with a reference to the second coming of Christ, with ch. 4 giving it major consideration (1:9–10; 2:19–20; 3:13; 4:13–18; 5:23–24). Thus, the second coming seems to permeate the letter and may be viewed in some sense as its theme. The two letters are often designated as the eschatological letters of Paul.

Thanksgiving for These Believers

1 [a]Paul and [b]Silvanus and [c]Timothy,
To the [d]church of the Thessalonians in God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ:
[e]Grace to you and peace.

2 [a]We give thanks to God always for all of you, [b]making mention of you in our prayers;

3 constantly bearing in mind your [a]work of faith and labor of [b]love and [1][c]steadfastness of hope [2]in our Lord Jesus Christ in the presence of [d]our God and Father,

4 knowing, [a]brethren beloved by God, [b]His choice of you;

5 for our [a]gospel did not come to you in word only, but also [b]in power and in the Holy Spirit and with [c]full conviction; just as you know [d]what kind of men we [1]proved to be among you for your sake.

6 You also became [a]imitators of us and of the Lord, [b]having received [c]the word in much tribulation with the [d]joy of the Holy Spirit,

7 so that you became an example to all the believers in [a]Macedonia and in [b]Achaia.

8 For [a]the word of the Lord has [b]sounded forth from you, not only in [c]Macedonia and [d]Achaia, but also [e]in every place your faith toward God has gone forth, so that we have no need to say anything.

9 For they themselves report about us what kind of a [1][a]reception we had [2]with you, and how you [b]turned to God [c]from [3]idols to serve [4][d]a living and true God,

10 and to [a]wait for His Son from [1]heaven, whom He [b]raised from the dead, that is Jesus, who [c]rescues us from [d]the wrath to come.

Paul's Ministry

2 For you yourselves know, brethren, that our [1][a]coming to you [b]was not in vain,

2 but after we had already suffered and been [a]mistreated in [b]Philippi, as you know, we had the boldness in our God [c]to speak to you the [d]gospel of God amid much [1][e]opposition.

3 For our [a]exhortation does not come from [b]error or [c]impurity or [1]by way of [d]deceit;

4 [a]but just as we have been approved by God to be [b]entrusted with the gospel, so we

1:1 Paul. See notes on Acts 9:1; 13:9; Phil 3:4–14. Silvanus. See note on Acts 15:22. He accompanied Paul on most of his second missionary journey. Timothy. See Introduction to 1 Timothy: Recipient. Both he and Silas helped Paul found the Thessalonian church (see Acts 17:1–14). in. Indicates the vital union and living relationship that Christians have with the Father and the Son (see John 14:23; 17:21). The close connection between the Father and the Son points to the Trinitarian relationship (see 3:11; 2 Thess 1:2,8,12; 2:16; 3:5). Grace . . . and peace. See notes on Jon 4:2; John 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.

1:2 thanks. See note on Phil 1:3–4.

1:3 The triad of faith, hope and love is found often in the NT (5:8; Rom 5:2–5; 1 Cor 13:13; Gal 5:5–6; Col 1:4–5; Heb 6:10–12; 10:22–24; 1 Pet 1:3–8,21–22). work of faith. Faith produces action (see Rom 1:5; 16:26; Gal 5:6; 2 Thess 1:11; James 2:14–26). hope. Not unfounded wishful thinking, but firm confidence in our Lord Jesus Christ and His return (v. 10). See Heb 6:18–20 and note on Col 1:5.

1:4 knowing. The reasons for Paul's conviction regarding their election are stated in vv. 5–10. brethren. United to each other through union with Christ. This term (including its singular form) is used 28 times in the two letters to the Thessalonians. beloved . . . His choice. Both words speak of God's electing love (see Col 3:12; 2 Thess 2:13; see also note on Eph 1:4).

1:5 our gospel. The gospel preached by Paul, Silas and Timothy and that they themselves had received by faith. It is first of all God the Father's (2:8) because He originated it, and Christ's (3:2) because it springs from His atoning death. power. The power that delivered them from spiritual bondage. That power is of the Holy Spirit (see Rom 15:13,18–19; 1 Cor 2:4–5), but it also resides in the gospel itself (see Rom 1:16). full conviction. Such conviction, on the part of both the preachers and the Thessalonians, was also of the Holy Spirit.

1:6 imitators. The order in Christian imitation: (1) Believers in Macedonia and Achaia imitated the Thessalonians (v. 7), just as the Thessalonians imitated the churches in Judea (2:14); (2) the Thessalonians imitated Paul, just as the Corinthians did (1 Cor 4:6; 11:1) and just as all believers were to imitate their leaders (2 Thess 3:7,9; 1 Tim 4:12; Titus 2:7; 1 Pet 5:3); (3) Paul imitated Christ (1 Cor 11:1) as did the Thessalonians (v. 6); (4) all were to imitate God (Eph 5:1). much tribulation. Such as recorded in Acts 17:5–14 (see also 1 Thess 2:14).

1:7 Macedonia and Achaia. The two Roman provinces into which Greece was then divided (see Acts 19:21; Rom 15:26).

1:8 every place. In every place they visited or knew about (see Rom 1:8; 1 Cor 1:2; 2 Cor 2:14; 1 Tim 2:8). The news spread because Thessalonica was on the important Egnatian Way; it was also a busy seaport and the capital of the Roman province of Macedonia.

1:9–10 Three marks of true conversion: (1) turning from idols, (2) serving God and (3) waiting for Christ to return. In his two short letters to the Thessalonians, Paul speaks much of the second coming of Christ (v. 10; 2:19; 3:13; 4:13–5:4; 2 Thess 1:7–10; 2:1–12).

1:10 Jesus. See note on Matt 1:21. wrath. Some see a reference here to the final judgment (see note on Rom 1:18), while others think it refers to a future period of tribulation.

2:1–12 A "manual" for a minister: 1. His message is God's good news ("gospel," v. 2). 2. His motive is not impurity (v. 3), pleasing people (v. 4), greed (v. 5) or seeking praise from people (v. 6), but pleasing God (v. 4). 3. His manner is not one of trickery (v. 3), flattery (v. 5) or a cover-up (v. 5), but of courage (v. 2), gentleness (v. 7), love (vv. 8,11), toil (v. 9) and holiness (v. 10).

2:1 you yourselves know. The local church could refute the accusation of insincerity that evidently had been leveled against Paul (v. 3).

2:2 mistreated. Paul was deeply hurt by the way he had been treated in the city of Philippi (see Acts 16:19–40).

2:3 deceit. The Greek for this word was originally used of a lure for catching fish; it came to be used of any sort of cunning used for profit.

2:4 our hearts. Not simply our emotions, but also our intellects and wills.

speak, [c]not as pleasing men, but God who [1][d]examines our hearts.

5 For we never came [1]with flattering speech, as you know, nor with [a]a pretext for greed—[b]God is witness—

6 nor did we [a]seek glory from men, either from you or from others, even though as [b]apostles of Christ [1]we might have [2]asserted our authority.

7 But we [1]proved to be [2][a]gentle [3]among you, [b]as a nursing mother [4]tenderly cares for her own children.

8 Having so fond an affection for you, we were well-pleased to [a]impart to you not only the [b]gospel of God but also our own [1]lives, because you had become [2]very dear to us.

9 For you recall, brethren, our [a]labor and hardship, how [b]working night and day so as not to be a [c]burden to any of you, we proclaimed to you the [d]gospel of God.

10 You are witnesses, and so is [a]God, [b]how devoutly and uprightly and blamelessly we [1]behaved toward you [2]believers;

11 just as you know how we were [a]exhorting and encouraging and [1][b]imploring each one of you as [c]a father would his own children,

12 so that you would [a]walk in a manner worthy of the God who [b]calls you into His own kingdom and [c]glory.

13 For this reason we also constantly [a]thank God that when you received the [b]word of God which you heard from us, you accepted it [c]not as the word of men, but for what it really is, the word of God, [d]which also performs its work in you who believe.

14 For you, brethren, became [a]imitators of [b]the churches of God in Christ Jesus that are [c]in Judea, for [d]you also endured the same sufferings at the hands of your own countrymen, [e]even as they did from the Jews,

15 [a]who both killed the Lord Jesus and [b]the prophets, and [1]drove us out. [2]They are not pleasing to God, [2]but hostile to all men, 16 [a]hindering us from speaking to the Gentiles [b]so that they may be saved; with the result that they always [c]fill up the measure of their sins. But [d]wrath has come upon them [1]to the utmost.

17 But we, brethren, having been taken away from you for a [1]short while—[a]in [2]person, not in [3]spirit—were all the more eager with great desire [b]to see your face.

18 [1]For [a]we wanted to come to you—I, Paul, [2][b]more than once—and yet [c]Satan [d]hindered us.

19 For who is our hope or [a]joy or crown of exultation? Is it not even you, in the presence of our Lord Jesus at His [1][b]coming?

20 For you are [a]our glory and joy.

Encouragement of Timothy's Visit

3 Therefore [a]when we could endure it no longer, we thought it best to be left behind at [b]Athens alone,

2 and we sent [a]Timothy, our brother and God's fellow worker in the gospel of Christ, to strengthen and encourage you as to your faith,

3 so that no one would be [1]disturbed by these afflictions; for you yourselves know that [a]we have been destined for this.

4 For indeed when we were with you, we

2:5 pretext. Personal profit was never Paul's aim.
2:6 asserted our authority. Apostles were entitled to be supported by the church (see 1 Cor 9:3–14; 2 Cor 11:7–11). Paul did not always take advantage of the right, but insisted that he had it.
2:9 labor and hardship. Greeks despised manual labor and viewed it as fit only for slaves, but Paul was not ashamed of doing any sort of work that would help further the gospel. He did not want to be unduly dependent on others.
2:12 walk in a manner worthy of . . . God. See Eph 4:1. calls. See note on 1:4. kingdom. The chief subject of Jesus' teaching. Paul did not use this term often, but used it once to sum up the message of his preaching (Acts 20:25).
2:13 not as the word of men. Not tailored to fit the popular knowledge of the day.
2:14 you also endured . . . at the hands of . . . countrymen. At the time of Paul's initial visit to Thessalonica, persecution instigated by the Jews apparently was carried out by Gentiles (see Acts 17:5–9). Jews. Although Paul had great love and deep concern for the salvation of those of his own race (see Rom 9:1–3; 10:1), he did not fail to rebuke harshly Jews who persecuted the church.
2:15 prophets. Throughout OT history, Israelites had persecuted their prophets (cf. Acts 7:52).
2:16 wrath has come. The eschatological wrath, the final outpouring of God's anger upon sinful mankind (see 1:10). It is spoken of as already present, either because it had been partially experienced by the Jews or because of its absolute certainty.
2:17 taken away. Lit. "orphaned." Paul is like a mother (v. 7), a father (v. 11) and now an orphan.
2:19 crown. Not a royal crown, but a wreath used on festive occasions or as the prize in the Greek games. at His coming. The expression was used regarding the arrival of a great person, as on a royal visit.
2:20 you are our glory and joy. True both now (cf. Phil 4:1) and when Christ returns.
3:1–2 Paul first went to Athens alone, then sent to Berea for Silas and Timothy (Acts 17:14–15). It is not clear whether Silas, as instructed (Acts 17:15), came to Athens with Timothy. However, when Timothy later returned from Thessalonica to Paul, who was now at Corinth, Silas came with him (Acts 18:5). See Introduction: Background of the Thessalonian Letters.
3:1 we. An editorial "we," referring to Paul alone.
3:2 God's fellow worker. A striking way of viewing Christian service, found also in 1 Cor 3:9. gospel of Christ. See notes on 1:5; Mark 1:1. strengthen. In Greek classical literature the word was generally used in the literal sense of putting a buttress on a building. In the NT it is mainly used figuratively, as here.
3:3 afflictions. The opposition and persecution suffered by the Thessalonian converts. Christians must expect troubles (see Mark 4:17; John 16:33; Acts 14:22; 2 Tim 3:12; 1 Pet 4:12), but kept telling you in advance that we were going to suffer affliction; [1][a]and so it came to pass, [2]as you know.

5 For this reason, [a]when I could endure it no longer, I also [b]sent to [1]find out about your faith, for fear that [c]the tempter might have tempted you, and [d]our labor would be in vain.

6 But now that [a]Timothy has come to us from you, and has brought us good news of [b]your faith and love, and that you always [c]think kindly of us, longing to see us just as we also long to see you,

7 for this reason, brethren, in all our distress and affliction we were comforted about you through your faith;

8 for now we really live, if you [a]stand firm in the Lord.

9 For [a]what thanks can we render to God for you in return for all the joy with which we rejoice before our God on your account, 10 as we [a]night and day keep praying most earnestly that we may [b]see your face, and may [c]complete what is lacking in your faith?

11 [a]Now may [b]our God and Father [c]Himself and Jesus our Lord [d]direct our way to you;

12 and may the Lord cause you to increase and [a]abound in love for one another, and for all people, just as we also do for you;

13 so that He may [a]establish your hearts [b]without blame in holiness before [c]our God and Father at the [1d]coming of our Lord Jesus [e]with all His [2]saints.

Sanctification and Love

4 [a]Finally then, [b]brethren, we request and exhort you in the Lord Jesus, that as you received from us instruction as to how you ought to [1c]walk and [d]please God (just as you actually do [1]walk), that you [e]excel still more.

2 For you know what commandments we gave you [1]by the authority of the Lord Jesus.

3 For this is the will of God, your sanctification; that is, that you [a]abstain from [1]sexual immorality;

4 that [a]each of you know how to [1]possess his own [2b]vessel in sanctification and [c]honor,

5 not in [1a]lustful passion, like the Gentiles who [b]do not know God;

6 and that no man transgress and [a]defraud his brother [b]in the matter because [c]the Lord is the avenger in all these things, just as we also [d]told you before and solemnly warned you.

7 For [a]God has not called us for [b]the purpose of impurity, but [1]in sanctification.

these are not disasters, for they advance God's purposes (see Acts 11:19; Rom 5:3; 2 Cor 1:4; 4:17).

3:5 I. Paul uses the Greek emphatic pronoun (elsewhere used only in 2:18) to bring out his deep concern. tempter. Satan is spoken of in every major division of the NT. He is supreme among evil spirits (see John 16:11; Eph 2:2). His activities can affect the physical (see 2 Cor 12:7) and the spiritual (see Matt 13:39; Mark 4:15; 2 Cor 4:4). He tempted Jesus (Matt 4:1–11), and he continues to tempt Jesus' servants (see Luke 22:3; 1 Cor 7:5). He hinders missionary work (2:18). But he has already been defeated (see Col 2:15), and Christians need not be overwhelmed by him (see Eph 6:16). His final overthrow is certain (see Rev 20:10).

3:6 brought us good news. The only place where the Greek for this phrase is used by Paul for anything other than the gospel. Three things caused him joy: (1) "your faith"—a right attitude toward God; (2) "your . . . love"—a right attitude toward man; (3) "you . . . longing to see us"—a right attitude toward Paul.

3:9 thanks . . . to God. The preceding shows that Paul's work of evangelism had been effective. He might have congratulated himself on work well done, but instead he thanked God for the joy he had from what God had done.

3:10 night and day. Not prayer at two set times, but frequent prayer (see 1:2–3). most earnestly. Translates a strong and unusual Greek compound word (found elsewhere in the NT only in 5:13; Eph 3:20) that brings out Paul's passionate longing. what is lacking. Some of the things lacking were of a practical nature, such as moral (4:1–12) and disciplinary matters (5:12–24). Others were doctrinal, such as confusion over Christ's return (4:13–5:11). your faith. The fifth time in the chapter that Paul speaks of their faith (see vv. 2,5–7).

3:11 In the middle of a letter Paul frequently breaks into prayer (e.g., Eph 1:15–23; 3:14–21; Phil 1:9–11; Col 1:9–12). For the link between Father and Son see note on 1:1.

3:12 the Lord. In Paul's writings this usually means Jesus rather than the Father.

3:13 establish. See note on v. 2. holiness. The basic idea is "set apart [for God]." Here it refers to the completed process of sanctification (see note on 1 Cor 1:2). saints. Used of the saints (Christians) in many NT passages. Here it may mean the departed saints who will return with Jesus, or it may mean the angels or, probably, both.

4:1 Finally. The main section of the letter is finished, though much is yet to come (see Phil 3:1 and note). we request and exhort you. Paul is not arrogant, but he does speak with authority in the Lord Jesus. He has the "mind of Christ" (1 Cor 2:16). walk. Paul uses this metaphor often of the Christian way (see Rom 6:4; 2 Cor 5:7; Eph 4:1; 5:15; Col 1:10; 2:6; 4:5, "conduct yourselves"). It points to steady progress.

4:2 commandments. Used of authoritative commands and has a military ring (see Acts 5:28; 16:24).

4:3 sanctification. See note on 3:13. sexual immorality. In the first century moral standards were generally very low, and chastity was regarded as an unreasonable restriction. Paul, however, would not compromise God's clear and demanding standards. The warning was needed, for Christians were not immune to the temptation (see 1 Cor 5:1).

4:5 like the Gentiles. The Christian is to be different.

4:6 transgress. Sexual sin harms others besides those who engage in it. In adultery, e.g., the spouse is always wronged. Premarital sex wrongs the future partner by robbing him or her of the virginity that ought to be brought to marriage. the Lord is the avenger. A motive for chastity.

4:7 Another reason for chastity is God's call to holiness.

man but the God who [a]gives His Holy Spirit to you.

9 Now as to the [a]love of the brethren, you [b]have no need for anyone to write to you, for you yourselves are [c]taught by God to love one another;

10 for indeed [a]you do practice it toward all the brethren who are in all Macedonia. But we urge you, brethren, to [b]excel still more,

11 and to make it your ambition [a]to lead a quiet life and [b]attend to your own business and [c]work with your hands, just as we commanded you, 12 so that you will [1a]behave properly toward [b]outsiders and [2c]not be in any need.

Those Who Died in Christ

13 But [a]we do not want you to be uninformed, brethren, about those who [b]are asleep, so that you will not grieve as do [c]the rest who have [d]no hope.

14 For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, [a]even so God will bring with Him [b]those who have fallen asleep [1]in Jesus.

15 For this we say to you [a]by the word of the Lord, that [b]we who are alive [1]and remain until [c]the coming of the Lord, will not precede [d]those who have fallen asleep.

16 For the Lord [a]Himself [b]will descend from heaven with a [1c]shout, with the voice of [d]the archangel and with the [e]trumpet of God, and [f]the dead in Christ will rise first.

17 Then [a]we who are alive [1]and remain will be [b]caught up together with them [c]in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and so we shall always [d]be with the Lord.

18 Therefore comfort one another with these words.

The Day of the Lord

5 Now as to the [a]times and the epochs, brethren, you [b]have no need of anything to be written to you.

2 For you yourselves know full well that [a]the day of the Lord [1]will come [b]just like a thief in the night.

4:8 God who gives His Holy Spirit. Still another reason for chastity is that sexual sin is against God, who gives the Holy Spirit to believers for their sanctification. To live in sexual immorality is to reject God, specifically in regard to the Holy Spirit.

4:9 love of the brethren. Translates philadelphia, a Greek word that outside the NT almost without exception denoted the mutual love of children of the same father. In the NT it always means love of fellow believers in Christ, all of whom have the same heavenly Father. taught by God. Cf. Is 54:13; John 6:45; 1 Cor 2:13.

4:11 Some Thessalonians, probably because of idleness, were taking undue interest in other people's affairs. work with your hands. The Greeks in general thought manual labor degrading and fit only for slaves. Christians took seriously the need for earning their own living, but some of the Thessalonians, perhaps as a result of their belief in the imminent return of Christ (see 2 Thess 3:11), were neglecting work and relying on others to support them.

4:12 not be in any need. Or "have need of nothing." Both meanings are true and significant. Christians in need because of their idleness are not obedient Christians.

4:13 those who are asleep. For the Christian, sleep is a particularly apt metaphor for death, since death's finality and horror are removed by the assurance of resurrection. Some of the Thessalonians seem to have misunderstood Paul and thought all believers would live until Christ returns. When some died, the question arose, "Will those who have died have part in that great day?" See note on v. 15. who have no hope. Inscriptions on tombs and references in literature show that first-century pagans viewed death with horror, as the end of everything. The Christian attitude was in strong contrast (see 1 Cor 15:55–57; Phil 1:21–23).

4:14 died. Paul does not say that Christ "slept," perhaps to underscore the fact that He bore the full horror of death so that those who believe in Him would not have to. rose again. For the importance of the resurrection see 1 Cor 15, especially vv. 14,17–22. those who have fallen asleep in Jesus. Believers who have died, trusting in Jesus.

4:15 by the word of the Lord. The doctrine mentioned here is not recorded in the Gospels and was either a direct revelation to Paul or something Jesus said that Christians passed on orally. we who are alive. Those believers who will be alive when Christ returns. "We" does not necessarily mean that Paul thought that he would be alive then. He often identified himself with those he wrote to or about. Elsewhere he says that God will raise "us" at that time (1 Cor 6:14; 2 Cor 4:14). will not precede. The Thessalonians had evidently been concerned that those among them who died would miss their place in the great events when the Lord comes, and Paul assures them this will not be the case.

4:16 the Lord Himself. See Acts 1:11. archangel. The only named archangel in the Bible is Michael (Jude 9; see Dan 10:13). In Scripture, Gabriel is simply called an angel (Luke 1:19,26). will rise first. Before the ascension of believers mentioned in the next verse.

4:17 we who are alive. See note on v. 15. caught up. The only place in the NT where a "rapture" (from the Latin Vulgate rendering) is clearly referred to. Some hold that this will be secret, but Paul seems to be describing something open and public, with loud voices and a trumpet blast. with the Lord. The chief hope of the believer (see 5:10; John 14:3; 2 Cor 5:8; Phil 1:23; Col 3:4).

4:18 comfort one another. The primary purpose of vv. 13–18 is not to give a chronology of future events, though that is involved, but to urge mutual encouragement, as shown here and in v. 13.

5:1 times and the epochs. See Acts 1:6–7. There have always been some Christians who try to fix the date of our Lord's return, but apparently the Thessalonians were not among them.

5:2 day of the Lord. See 1 Cor 5:5. The expression goes back to Amos 5:18. In the OT it is a time when God will come and intervene with judgment and/or blessing. In the NT the thought of judgment continues (see Rom 2:5; 2 Pet 2:9), but it is also the "day of redemption" (Eph 4:30); the "day of God" (2 Pet 3:12), or of Christ (1 Cor 1:8; Phil 1:6); and the "last day" (John 6:39), the "great Day" (Jude 6) or simply "that day" (2 Thess 1:10). It is the consummation of all things. There will be some preliminary signs (e.g., 2 Thess 2:3), but the coming will be as unexpected

3 While they are saying, "[a]Peace and safety!" then [1b]destruction [2]will come upon them suddenly like [c]labor pains upon a woman with child, and they will not escape.

4 But you, brethren, are not in [a]darkness, that the day would overtake you [1b]like a thief;

5 for you are all [a]sons of light and sons of day. We are not of night nor of [b]darkness;

6 so then let us not [a]sleep as [1b]others do, but let us be alert and [2c]sober.

7 For those who sleep do their sleeping at night, and those who get drunk get [a]drunk at night.

8 But since [a]we are of the day, let us [b]be [1]sober, having put on the [c]breastplate of [d]faith and love, and as a [e]helmet, the [f]hope of salvation.

9 For God has not destined us for [a]wrath, but for [b]obtaining salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ,

10 [a]who died for us, so that whether we are awake or asleep, we will live together with Him.

11 Therefore [1]encourage one another and [a]build up one another, just as you also are doing.

Christian Conduct

12 But we request of you, brethren, that you [1a]appreciate those [b]who diligently labor among you, and [c]have charge over you in the Lord and give you [2]instruction, 13 and that you esteem them very highly in love because of their work. [a]Live in peace with one another.

14 We urge you, brethren, admonish [a]the [1]unruly, encourage [b]the fainthearted, help [c]the weak, be [d]patient with everyone.

15 See that [a]no one repays another with evil for evil, but always [b]seek after that which is good for one another and for all people.

16 [a]Rejoice always;

17 [a]pray without ceasing;

18 in everything [a]give thanks; for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus.

as that of a thief in the night (cf. Matt 24:43–44; Luke 12:39–40; 2 Pet 3:10; Rev 3:3; 16:15).

5:3 destruction. Not annihilation, but exclusion from the Lord's presence (2 Thess 1:9); thus the ruin of life and all its proud accomplishments. suddenly. Paul stresses the surprise of unbelievers. He uses a word found elsewhere in the NT only in Luke 21:34. labor pains. Here the idea is not the pain of childbirth so much as the suddenness and inevitability of such pains. not. An emphatic double negative in the Greek, a construction Paul uses only four times in all his writings.

5:4 darkness. Believers no longer live in darkness, nor are they of the darkness (v. 5). See John 1:5; Acts 26:18. thief. See note on v. 2.

5:5 In Semitic languages (such as Hebrew) to be the "son of" a quality meant to be characterized by that quality. Christians do not simply live in the light; they are characterized by light.

5:6 sleep. Unbelievers are spiritually insensitive, but this kind of sleep is not for "sons of the light." be alert. Lit. "watch," which is in keeping with the emphasis Paul is placing on Christ's coming (cf. Matt 24:42–43; 25:13; Mark 13:34–37). sober. A contrast with the conduct mentioned in v. 7.

5:8 the day. A reference to the light that characterizes Christians; perhaps it refers also to the coming of Christ (see v. 2 and note). breastplate . . . helmet. Paul also uses the metaphor of armor in Rom 13:12; 2 Cor 6:7; 10:4; Eph 6:13–17. He does not consistently attach a particular virtue to each piece of armor; it is the general idea of equipment for battle that is pictured. For the triad of faith, hope and love see note on 1:3.

5:9 destined. God's appointment, not man's choice, is the significant thing. wrath. See note on 1:10. salvation. Our final, completed salvation.

5:10 are awake or asleep. That is, "live or die"; or, if the sense is moral, "are alert or carnal" (see v. 6). with Him. To be Christ's is to have entered a relationship that nothing can destroy.

5:11 build up. The verb basically applies to building houses, but Paul frequently used it for Christians being edified.

5:12 those who diligently labor among you. Not much is known about the organization and leadership of the church at this period, but the reference is possibly to elders.

5:13 because of their work. Not merely because of personal attachment or respect for their high position, but in appreciation for their work. Live in peace. The words apply to Christian relationships in general, but here they probably refer especially to right relations between leaders and those under them.

5:14 the unruly. Or "those who are idle"; they were loafers. It seems that some Thessalonians were so sure that the second coming was close that they had given up their jobs in order to prepare for it, but Paul says they should work (see 2 Thess 3:10–11 and notes). the fainthearted . . . the weak. These are to be helped, not rejected, by the strong (cf. Rom 14:1–15; 1 Cor 8:13).

5:15 repays. Retaliation is never a Christian option (cf. Rom 12:17; 1 Pet 3:9). Christians are called to forgive (see Matt 5:38–42; 18:21–35).

5:16 People are naturally happy on some occasions, but the Christian's joy is not dependent on circumstances. It comes from what Christ has done, and it is constant.

5:17 For the practice of continual (or regular) prayer see 1:3; 2:13; Rom 1:9–10; Eph 6:18; Col 1:3; 2 Tim 1:3.

5:18 As in v. 16, Christians are differentiated from the natural man. Because of what God has done, they are continually thankful whatever the circumstances (cf. Eph 5:20).

5:19 quench the Spirit. There is a warmth, a glow, about the Spirit's presence that makes this language appropriate. The kind of conduct Paul is opposing may include loafing, immorality and the other sins he has denounced. On the other hand, he may be warning against a mechanical attitude toward worship that discourages the expression of the gifts of the Spirit in the local assembly (see v. 20).

5:20 prophetic utterances. For the gift of prophecy see Rom 12:6; 1 Cor 12:10,28; 13:2; 14; Eph 4:11. For the function of prophecies see 1 Cor 14:3.

21 But [a]examine everything carefully;
[b]hold fast to that which is good;
22 abstain from every [1]form of evil.
23 Now [a]may the God of peace [b]Himself sanctify you entirely; and may your [c]spirit and soul and body be preserved complete, [d]without blame at [e]the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.
24 [a]Faithful is He who [b]calls you, and He also will bring it to pass.

28 [a]Rom 16:20; 2 Thess 3:18

5:21 examine everything. The approval of prophecy (v. 20) does not mean that anyone who claims to speak in the name of the Lord is to be accepted without question. Paul does not say what specific tests are to be applied, but he is clear that every teaching must be tested—surely they must be in agreement with his gospel.
5:23 A typical prayer. God of peace. A fitting reference to God in view of vv. 12–15. But Paul often refers to God in this way near the end of his letters (see Rom 15:33; 16:20; 1 Cor 14:33; 2 Cor 13:11; Phil 4:9; cf. 2 Thess 3:16). your spirit and soul and body. Paul is emphasizing the whole person, not attempting to differentiate the parts.
5:24 Paul's confidence rests in the nature of God (cf. Gen 18:25), who can be relied on to complete what He begins (see Num 23:19; Phil 1:6).
5:26 all. Paul sent a warm greeting to everyone, even those he had corrected. holy kiss. A kiss was a normal greeting of that day, similar to our modern handshake (cf. Rom 16:16; 1 Cor 16:20; 2 Cor 13:12; and a "kiss of love," 1 Pet 5:14).
5:27 I adjure you. Surprisingly strong language, meaning "I put you on oath." Paul clearly wanted every member of the church to read or hear his letter and to know of his concern and advice for them.
5:28 Paul always ended his letters with a benediction of grace for his readers, sometimes adding other blessings, as in 2 Cor 13:14.

2 Thessalonians

See Introduction to 1 Thessalonians.

Author, Date and Place of Writing

Paul's authorship of 2 Thessalonians has been questioned more often than that of 1 Thessalonians, in spite of the fact that it has more support from early Christian writers. Objections are based on internal factors rather than on the adequacy of the statements of the church fathers. It is thought that there are differences in the vocabulary (ten words not used elsewhere), in the style (it is said to be unexpectedly formal) and in the eschatology (the doctrine of the "man of lawlessness" is not taught elsewhere). However, such arguments have not convinced current scholars. A majority still hold to Paul's authorship of 2 Thessalonians.

Because of its similarity to 1 Thessalonians, it must have been written not long after the first letter—perhaps about six months. The situation in the church seems to have been much the same. Paul probably penned it (see 1:1; 3:17) c. A.D. 51 or 52 in Corinth, after Silas and Timothy had returned from delivering 1 Thessalonians.

Purpose

Inasmuch as the situation in the Thessalonian church has not changed substantially, Paul's purpose in writing is very much the same as in his first letter to them. He writes (1) to encourage persecuted believers (1:4–10), (2) to exhort the Thessalonians to be steadfast and to work for a living (2:13—3:15) and (3) to correct a misunderstanding concerning the Lord's return (2:1–12).

Theme

Like 1 Thessalonians, this letter deals extensively with eschatology (see Introduction to 1 Thessalonians: Theme). In fact, in 2 Thessalonians 18 out of 47 verses (38 percent) deal with this subject.

Outline

I. Introduction (ch. 1)
   - A. Salutation (1:1–2)
   - B. Thanksgiving for Their Faith, Love and Perseverance (1:3–10)
   - C. Intercession for Their Spiritual Progress (1:11–12)

II. Instruction (ch. 2)
   - A. Prophecy regarding the Day of the Lord (2:1–12)
   - B. Thanksgiving for Their Election and Calling (Their Position) (2:13–15)
   - C. Prayer for Their Service and Testimony (Their Practice) (2:16–17)

III. Injunctions (ch. 3)
   - A. Call to Prayer (3:1–3)
   - B. Charge to Discipline for the Disorderly and Lazy (3:4–15)
   - C. Conclusion, Greeting and Benediction (3:16–18)

Thanksgiving for Faith and Perseverance

1 [a]Paul and [b]Silvanus and [c]Timothy,
To the [d]church of the Thessalonians in God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ:

2 [a]Grace to you and peace from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 We ought always [a]to give thanks to God for you, [b]brethren, as is only fitting, because your faith is greatly enlarged, and the [c]love of each one of you toward one another grows ever greater;

4 therefore, we ourselves [a]speak proudly of you among [b]the churches of God for your [1]perseverance and faith [b]in the midst of all your persecutions and afflictions which you endure.

5 This is a [a]plain indication of God's righteous judgment so that you will be [b]considered worthy of the kingdom of God, for which indeed you are suffering.

6 [1]For after all [a]it is only just [2]for God to repay with affliction those who afflict you,

7 and to give relief to you who are afflicted [1]and to us as well [2a]when the Lord Jesus will be revealed [b]from heaven [c]with [3]His mighty angels [d]in flaming fire,

8 dealing out retribution to those who
[a]do not know God and to those who [b]do not obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus.

Lord and from the glory of His power,

10 when He comes to be [a]glorified [1]in His [2]saints on that [b]day, and to be marveled at among all who have believed—for our [c]testimony to you was believed.

11 To this end also we [a]pray for you always, that our God will [1b]count you worthy of your [c]calling, and fulfill every desire for [d]goodness and the [e]work of faith with power,

12 so that the [a]name of our Lord Jesus will be glorified in you, and you in Him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Man of Lawlessness

2 Now we request you, [a]brethren, with regard to the [1b]coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our [c]gathering together to Him,

2 that you not be quickly shaken from your [1]composure or be disturbed either by a

1:1–2 See note on 1 Thess 1:1.
1:3 ought. Paul is obliged to give thanks where it is due (cf. 1 Thess 1:7–8; see note on Phil 1:3–4). brethren. See note on 1 Thess 1:4. faith . . . love. Two virtues that Paul had been pleased to acknowledge in the Thessalonian church (see 1 Thess 3:6–7), but that were also somewhat lacking (1 Thess 3:10,12). grows ever greater. The same verb Paul had used in his prayer that their love might grow (1 Thess 3:12). He is recording an exact answer to prayer.
1:4 we. Emphatic, "we ourselves." Paul seems to imply that it was unusual for the founders of a church to boast about it, though others might do so (cf. 1 Thess 1:9). But the Thessalonians were so outstanding that Paul departed from normal practice. persecutions and afflictions. See 1 Thess 1:6; 2:14; 3:3.
1:5 plain indication of God's righteous judgment. The evidence was in the way the Thessalonians endured trials. The judgment on them was right because God did not leave them to their own resources. He provided strength to endure, and this in turn produced spiritual and moral character. It also proved that God was on their side and gave a warning to their persecutors (cf. Phil 1:28). kingdom of God. See notes on 1 Thess 2:12; Matt 3:2. for which. That is, "in the interest of which" or "in behalf of which."
1:6 just for God. The justice of God brings punishment on unrepentant sinners (cf. Mark 9:47–48; Luke 13:3–5), and it may be in the here and now (see Rom 1:24,26,28) as well as on judgment day.
1:7 give relief. Retribution not only involves punishment of the evil but also relief for the righteous. us as well. Paul was no academic theologian writing in comfort from a distance; rather, he was suffering just as they were. revealed. Christ is now hidden, and many people even deny His existence. But at His second coming He will be seen by everyone for who He is. flaming fire. He comes to punish wickedness (cf. Is 66:15; Rev 1:14). His mighty angels. Perhaps a class of angels (such a group is mentioned in apocalyptic writings) given special power to do God's will.
1:8 do not know God. Does not refer to those who have never heard of the true God but to those who refuse to recognize Him (cf. 2:10,12; Rom 1:28). do not obey. The gospel invites acceptance, and rejection is disobedience to a royal invitation.
1:9 destruction. Not annihilation (see note on 1 Thess 5:3). Paul uses the word in 1 Cor 5:5, possibly of the destruction of the "flesh" for the purpose of salvation. Since, however, salvation implies resurrection of the body, annihilation cannot be in mind. The word means something like "complete ruin." Here it means being shut out from Christ's presence. This eternal separation is the penalty of sin and the essence of hell.
1:10 glorified in His saints. Not simply "among" but "in" them. His glory is seen in what they are. saints. See note on 1 Thess 3:13. that day. See note on 1 Thess 5:2. our testimony. The preaching of the gospel is essentially bearing testimony to what God has done in Christ.
1:11 pray for you always. See note on 1 Thess 5:17. desire for goodness. Lit. "resolve of goodness." God initiates every good purpose and every act prompted by faith; Paul prays accordingly that He will bring them to fulfillment.
1:12 name. In ancient times one's name was often more than a personal label; it summed up what a person was. Paul looks for glory to be ascribed to Christ for all He will do in the lives of the Thessalonian Christians.
2:1 coming. See note on 1 Thess 2:19. The second coming of Christ is the principal topic of 2 Thessalonians. What Paul wrote was supplemental to his oral teaching and the instructions contained in his earlier letter. gathering together to Him. See note on 1 Thess 4:17.
2:2 shaken. The Greek for this verb was often used of a ship adrift from its mooring, and suggests lack of stability. disturbed. Jesus issued a similar instruction, using the same verb (Mark 13:7). a spirit. Paul seems to be uncertain about what was disturbing them, so he uses a general expression denoting any inspired revelation. message. Lit. "word," perhaps referring to a sermon or other oral communication. a letter as if from us. A us, to the effect that [d]the day of the Lord [e]has come.

3 [a]Let no one in any way deceive you, for it will not come unless the [1][b]apostasy comes first, and the [c]man of lawlessness is revealed, the [d]son of destruction,

4 who opposes and exalts himself above [1][a]every so-called god or object of worship, so that he takes his seat in the temple of God, [b]displaying himself as being God.

5 Do you not remember that [a]while I was still with you, I was telling you these things?

6 And you know [a]what restrains him now, so that in his time he will be revealed.

7 For [a]the mystery of lawlessness is already at work; only [b]he who now restrains will do so until he is taken out of the way.

8 Then that lawless one [a]will be revealed whom the Lord will slay [b]with the breath of His mouth and bring to an end by the [c]appearance of His [1]coming;

9 that is, the one whose [1]coming is in accord with the activity of [a]Satan, with all power and [2b]signs and false wonders,

10 and with [1]all the deception of wickedness for [a]those who perish, because they did not receive the love of [b]the truth so as to be saved.

11 For this reason [a]God [1]will send upon them [2]a [b]deluding influence so that they will believe [3]what is false, 12 in order that they all may be [1]judged who [a]did not believe the truth, but [2b]took pleasure in wickedness.

13 [a]But we should always give thanks to God for you, [b]brethren beloved by the Lord, because [c]God has chosen you [1]from the beginning [d]for salvation [2e]through sanctification [3]by the Spirit and faith in the truth.

14 It was for this He [a]called you through [b]our gospel, [1]that you may gain the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

15 So then, brethren, [a]stand firm and [b]hold to the traditions which you were taught, whether [c]by word of mouth or [c]by letter [1]from us.

16 [a]Now may our Lord Jesus Christ [a]Himself and God our Father, who has [b]loved us and given us eternal comfort and [c]good hope by grace, forgery. day of the Lord. See note on 1 Thess 5:2. has come. Obviously Christ's climactic return had not occurred, but Paul was combating the idea that the final days had begun and their completion would be imminent.

2:3 the apostasy. At the last time there will be a falling away from the faith (see Matt 24:10–12; 1 Tim 4:1). But here Paul is speaking of active rebellion, the supreme opposition of evil to the things of God. the man of lawlessness. The leader of the forces of evil at the last time. Only here is he called by this name. John tells us of many "antichrists" (1 John 2:18), and this may be the worst of them—the antichrist of Rev 13—though Paul's description of the man of lawlessness has some distinctive features. He is not Satan, because he is clearly distinguished from him in v. 9. revealed. Since the Greek for this word is from the same root as that used of Jesus Christ in 1:7, it may indicate something supernatural. son of destruction. For all his proud claims, his final overthrow is certain. The same Greek expression is used of Judas Iscariot in John 17:12, where it is translated "son of perdition."

2:4 every so-called god or object of worship. He is not merely a political or military man, but claims a place above every god and everything associated with worship. He even claims to be God. temple of God. Apparently refers to a physical building (cf. Mark 13:14) from which he makes his blasphemous pronouncements (cf. Dan 11:36–45; Rev 13:1–15).

2:6 what restrains him. The expression is neuter, but the masculine equivalent is in v. 7. There have been many suggestions as to the identity of this restrainer: the Roman state with its emperor, Paul's missionary work, the Jewish state, the principle of law and government embodied in the state, the Holy Spirit or the restraining ministry of the Holy Spirit through the church, and others.

2:7 mystery. In the NT a mystery usually denotes something people could not know by themselves but that God has revealed (see note on Rom 11:25). It is most often used in reference to the gospel or some aspect of it. The expression here indicates that we know some things about evil only as God reveals them. This evil is already at work and will continue until the restrainer is removed at the end time.

2:8 that lawless one will be revealed. Evidently refers to some supernatural aspects of his appearing (see v. 9). slay with the breath of His mouth. Despite his impressiveness (v. 4), the man of lawlessness will easily be destroyed by Christ (cf. Dan 11:45; Rev 19:20). appearance. In 2 Tim 1:10 ("appearing") the Greek for this word refers to Jesus' first coming, but everywhere else in the NT to His second coming.

2:9 coming. The same word used of Christ's coming in v. 8. Satan empowers him with miracles, signs and wonders (cf. Matt 24:24). false. Not "bogus," but "producing false impressions."

2:10 deception. The aim of the miracles of v. 9. did not receive. Their unbelief was willing and intentional. truth. Often closely connected with Jesus (see John 14:6; Eph 4:21) and with the gospel (see Gal 2:5; Eph 1:13).

2:11 For this reason. Because of their deliberate rejection of the truth (v. 10). God will send upon them a deluding influence. God uses sin to punish the sinful (cf. Rom 1:24–28). what is false. Not just any lie, but the great lie that the man of lawlessness is God (v. 4).

2:13 beloved by the Lord . . . God has chosen. For the connection between God's love and election see Col 3:12; 1 Thess 1:4; see also note on Eph 1:4. from the beginning. Election is from eternity (see Eph 1:4). sanctification. A necessary aspect of salvation, not something reserved for special Christians (see 1 Thess 3:13; 4:3 and notes). truth. See note on v. 10. All three persons of the Trinity are mentioned in this verse (see note on 1 Thess 1:1).

2:14 called . . . through our gospel. The past tense refers to the time when the Thessalonians were converted; but the divine call is a present reality in 1 Thess 2:12; 5:24. our gospel. See note on 1 Thess 1:5. glory of our Lord Jesus Christ. Cf. 1 Thess 2:12. Ultimately there is no glory other than God's.

2:15 traditions. Until the NT was written, essential Christian teaching was passed on in the "traditions," just as rabbinic law was (see note on Matt 15:2); it could be either oral or written.

17 [a]comfort and [b]strengthen your hearts in every good work and word.

Exhortation

3 [a]Finally, brethren, [b]pray for us that [c]the word of the Lord will [1]spread rapidly and be glorified, just as it did also with you;

2 and that we will be [a]rescued from [1]perverse and evil men; for not all have [2]faith.

3 But [a]the Lord is faithful, [1]and He will strengthen and protect you [2]from [b]the evil one.

4 We have [a]confidence in the Lord concerning you, that you [b]are doing and will continue to do what we command.

5 May the Lord [a]direct your hearts into the love of God and into the steadfastness of Christ.

6 Now we command you, brethren, [a]in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that you [1b]keep away from every brother who [2]leads an [3c]unruly life and not according to [d]the tradition which [4]you received from us.

7 For you yourselves know how you ought to [1a]follow our example, because we did not act in an undisciplined manner among you,

8 nor did we [a]eat [1]anyone's bread [2]without paying for it, but with [b]labor and hardship we kept [c]working night and day so that we would not be a burden to any of you;

9 not because we do not have [a]the right to this, but in order to offer ourselves [b]as a model for you, so that you would [1]follow our example.

10 For even [a]when we were with you, we used to give you this order: [b]if anyone is not willing to work, then he is not to eat, either.

11 For we hear that some among you are [a]leading an undisciplined life, doing no work at all, but acting like [b]busybodies.

12 Now such persons we command and [a]exhort in the Lord Jesus Christ to [b]work in quiet fashion and eat their own bread.

13 But as for you, [a]brethren, [b]do not grow weary of doing good.

14 If anyone does not obey our [1]instruction [2a]in this letter, take special note of that person [3b]and do not associate with him, so that he will be [c]put to shame.

15 Yet [a]do not regard him as an enemy, but [1b]admonish him as a [c]brother.

16 Now [a]may the Lord of peace [b]Himself continually grant you peace in every [1]circumstance. [c]The Lord be with you all!

17 [1]I, Paul, write this greeting [a]with my own hand, and this is a distinguishing mark in every letter; this is the way I write.

18 [a]The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.

In 1 Cor 15:3 Paul uses the technical words for receiving and handing on traditions.

2:16–17 There is a similar prayer in about the same place in the first letter (1 Thess 3:11–13).

2:17 comfort and strengthen. Also used together in 1 Thess 3:2. The prayer is for inner strength that will produce results in both action and speech.

3:1 Finally. See note on 1 Thess 4:1. In 1 Thess 5:25 Paul simply asked for prayer; here he mentions specifics. just as it did also with you. Lit. "just as also with you." The expression is general enough to cover the present as well as the past (cf. 1 Thess 2:13).

3:2 perverse. The Greek for this word means "out of place," and elsewhere in the NT it is used only of things (see Luke 23:41; Acts 25:5). Perverseness is always out of place. For Paul's difficulties at Corinth (where he wrote this letter) see Acts 18:12–13.

3:3 faithful. In the Greek text, "faithful" immediately follows "faith" (v. 2), putting the faithfulness of God in sharp contrast with the lack of faith in people (cf. 1 Cor 1:9; 10:13; 2 Cor 1:18).

3:5 hearts. See note on 1 Thess 2:4. love of God. Paul is about to rebuke the idle, and is here reminding them of God's love. There should be no hard feelings among those who owe everything to the love of God.

3:6 command. An authoritative word with a military ring. the name. See note on 1:12. keep away. Not withdrawal of all contact but withholding of close fellowship. Idleness is sinful and disruptive, but those guilty of it are still brothers (v. 15). leads an unruly life. The problem was mentioned in the first letter (4:11–12; 5:14; see notes there), and evidently had worsened. Paul takes it seriously and gives more attention to it in this letter than to anything else but the second coming. tradition. See note on 2:15.

3:7 follow our example. See note on 1 Thess 1:6.

3:8 eat . . . bread. A Hebraism for "make a living" (see, e.g., Gen 3:19; Amos 7:12). Paul is not saying that he never accepted hospitality but that he had not depended on other people for his living (see 1 Thess 2:9 and note).

3:9 the right. See note on 1 Thess 2:6.

3:10 Pagan parallels are in the form, "He who does not work does not eat." But Paul gives an imperative: lit. "let him not eat." The Christian must not be a loafer.

3:11 busybodies. Worse than idle, they were interfering with other people's affairs, a problem to which an unruly or idle life often leads.

3:14 Paul realizes that some may not heed his letter. associate with. The Greek for this phrase is an unusual double compound, meaning "mix up together with" (used elsewhere in the NT only in 1 Cor 5:9,11—of a similar withdrawal of close fellowship). It indicates a disassociation that will bring the person back to a right attitude. put to shame. And repent. The aim is not punishment but restoration to fellowship.

3:15 Discipline in the church should be brotherly, never harsh. admonish. See 1 Thess 5:12.

3:16 Lord of peace. The more usual phrase is "God of peace" (see note on 1 Thess 5:23). you all. Even the disorderly.

3:17 Paul normally dictated his letters (cf. Rom 16:22), but toward the end he added something in his own handwriting (see 1 Cor 16:21; Gal 6:11; Col 4:18). Here he tells us that this practice was his distinguishing mark.

3:18 See note on 1 Thess 5:28. Paul has criticized his offenders, but his last prayer is for everyone.

The Pastoral Letters

1,2 Timothy and Titus are known as the Pastoral Letters because they give instruction to Timothy and Titus concerning the pastoral care of churches. All three letters probably were written not long after the events of Acts 28.

After his imprisonment in Rome (c. A.D. 60–62), Paul most likely began his fourth missionary journey (see "Paul's Fourth Missionary Journey," pp. 1762–1763). During this trip he commissioned Titus to remain as his representative in Crete, and he left Timothy in charge of the church at Ephesus. Paul then moved on to Philippi in northern Greece (Macedonia), where he wrote his first letter to Timothy and his letter to Titus (c. 63–65). Later he traveled to Rome, where he was imprisoned for the second time and where he wrote 2 Timothy shortly before he was executed (67 or 68).

Certain themes and phrases recur throughout the Pastoral Letters: (1) God the Savior (see note on Titus 1:3); (2) sound doctrine, faith and teaching (see note on Titus 1:9); (3) godliness (see note on 1 Tim 2:2); (4) controversies (1 Tim 1:4; 6:4; 2 Tim 2:23; Titus 3:9); (5) trustworthy sayings (see note on 1 Tim 1:15).

INTRODUCTION

Author

Both early tradition and the salutations of the Pastoral Letters themselves confirm Paul as their author. Some objections have been raised in recent years on the basis of an alleged uncharacteristic vocabulary and style (e.g., see notes on 1:15; 2:2), but evidence is still convincingly supportive of Paul's authorship.

Background and Purpose

During his fourth missionary journey, Paul had instructed Timothy to care for the church at Ephesus (1:3) while he went on to Macedonia (see "The Pastoral Letters," p. 1758). When he realized that he might not return to Ephesus in the near future (3:14–15), he wrote this first letter to Timothy to develop the charge he had given his young assistant (1:3,18), to refute false teachings (1:3–7; 4:1–8; 6:3–5,20–21) and to supervise the affairs of the growing Ephesian church (church worship, 2:1–15; the appointment of qualified church leaders, 3:1–13; 5:17–25).

A major problem in the Ephesian church was a heresy that combined Gnosticism (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism), decadent Judaism (1:3–7) and false asceticism (4:1–5).

Date

1 Timothy was written sometime after the events of Acts 28 (c. 63–65), at least eight years after Paul's three-year stay in Ephesus (Acts 19:8,10; 20:31).

Recipient

As the salutation indicates (1:2), Paul is writing to Timothy, a native of Lystra (in modern Turkey). Timothy's father was Greek, while his mother was a Jewish Christian (Acts 16:1). From childhood he had been taught the OT (2 Tim 1:5; 3:15). Paul called him "my true child in the faith" (1:2), perhaps having led him to Christ during his first visit to Lystra. At the time of his second visit Paul invited Timothy to join him on his missionary travels, and circumcised him so that his Greek ancestry would not be a liability in working with the Jews (Acts 16:3). Timothy shared in the evangelization of Macedonia and Achaia (Acts 17:14–15; 18:5) and was with Paul during much of his long preaching ministry at Ephesus (Acts 19:22). He traveled with Paul from Ephesus to Macedonia, to Corinth, back to Macedonia, and to Asia Minor (Acts 20:1–6). He seems even to have accompanied him all the way to Jerusalem. He was with Paul during the apostle's first imprisonment (Phil 1:1; Col 1:1; Philem 1).

Following Paul's release (after Acts 28), Timothy again traveled with him but eventually stayed at Ephesus to deal with the problems there, while Paul went on to Macedonia. Paul's closeness to and admiration of Timothy are seen in Paul's naming him as the co-sender of six of his letters (2 Corinthians, Philippians, Colossians, 1,2 Thessalonians and Philemon) and in his speaking highly of him to the Philippians (Phil 2:19–22). At the end of Paul's life he requested Timothy to join him at Rome (2 Tim 4:9,21). According to Heb 13:23, Timothy himself was imprisoned and subsequently released—whether at Rome or elsewhere, we do not know.

Timothy was not an apostle, and he was probably not an overseer since he was given instructions about overseers (3:1–7; 5:17–22). It may be best to regard him as an apostolic representative, delegated to carry out special work (see Titus 1:5).

Misleadings in Doctrine and Living

1 Paul, [a]an apostle of [b]Christ Jesus [c]according to the commandment of [c]God our Savior, and of [b]Christ Jesus, who is our [d]hope,

2 To [a]Timothy, [a]my true child in the faith: [b]Grace, mercy and peace from God the Father and [c]Christ Jesus our Lord.

3 As I urged you [1]upon my departure for [a]Macedonia, [2]remain on at [b]Ephesus so that you may instruct certain men not to [c]teach strange doctrines,

4 nor to [1]pay attention to [a]myths and endless [b]genealogies, which give rise to mere [c]speculation rather than [d]furthering [2]the administration of God which is by faith.

5 But the goal of our [1][a]instruction is love [b]from a pure heart and a [c]good conscience and a sincere [d]faith.

6 For some men, straying from these things, have turned aside to [a]fruitless discussion,

7 [a]wanting to be [b]teachers of the Law, even though they do not understand either what they are saying or the matters about which they make confident assertions.

8 But we know that [a]the Law is good, if one uses it lawfully,

9 realizing the fact that [a]law is not made for a righteous person, but for those who are lawless and [b]rebellious, for the [c]ungodly and sinners, for the unholy and [d]profane, for those who kill their fathers or mothers, for murderers

10 [1]and [2][a]immoral men [1]and [b]homosexuals [1]and [c]kidnappers [1]and [d]liars [1]and [e]perjurers, and whatever else is contrary to [f]sound teaching,

11 according to [a]the glorious gospel of [b]the blessed God, with which I have been [c]entrusted.

12 I thank [a]Christ Jesus our Lord, who has [b]strengthened me, because He considered me faithful, [c]putting me into service,

13 even though I was formerly a blasphemer and a [a]persecutor and a violent aggressor. Yet I was [b]shown mercy because [c]I acted ignorantly in unbelief;

14 and the [a]grace of our Lord was more than abundant, with the [b]faith and love which are found in Christ Jesus.

15 [a]It is a trustworthy statement, deserving full acceptance, that [b]Christ Jesus came into the world to [c]save sinners, among whom [d]I am foremost of all.

16 Yet for this reason I [a]found mercy, so that in me as the foremost, Jesus Christ might [b]demonstrate His perfect patience as an example for those [1]who would believe in Him for eternal life.

17 Now to the [a]King [1]eternal, [b]immortal, [c]invisible, the [d]only God, [e]be honor and glory [2]forever and ever. Amen.

1:2 my true child in the faith. My spiritual son (see 1:18; 1 Cor 4:17; 2 Tim 1:2; 2:1; Philem 10). Grace. See notes on Jon 4:2; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2. mercy. See Rom 9:23. peace. See notes on John 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.
1:3–11 In this section, along with 4:1–8; 6:3–5,20–21, Paul warns against heretical teachers in the Ephesian church. They are characterized by (1) teaching false doctrines (1:3; 6:3); (2) teaching Jewish myths (Titus 1:14); (3) wanting to be teachers of the OT law (1:7); (4) building up endless, far-fetched, fictitious stories based on obscure genealogical points (1:4; 4:7; Titus 3:9); (5) being conceited (1:7; 6:4); (6) being argumentative (1:4; 6:4; 2 Tim 2:23; Titus 3:9); (7) using talk that was meaningless (1:6) and foolish (2 Tim 2:23; Titus 3:9); (8) not knowing what they were talking about (1:7; 6:4); (9) teaching ascetic practices (4:3); and (10) using their positions of religious leadership for personal financial gain (6:5). These heretics probably were forerunners of the Gnostics (6:20–21; see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism).
1:3 upon my departure for Macedonia. Since this incident is not recorded in Acts, it probably occurred after Acts 28, between Paul's first and second Roman imprisonments (see Introduction: Recipient). remain on at Ephesus. The Ephesian church was well established by this time. Paul had had an extensive ministry there on his third missionary journey about eight years earlier (Acts 19:1–20:1). After his release from prison in Rome (after Acts 28), he revisited the church, leaving Timothy in charge while he journeyed on to Macedonia.
1:4 myths and endless genealogies. Probably mythical stories built on OT history (genealogies) that later developed into intricate Gnostic philosophical systems (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism).
1:8 the Law is good. See Rom 7:7–12.
1:10 sound teaching. See note on Titus 1:9.
1:11 gospel. See note on Mark 1:1. entrusted. See 6:20; 1 Cor 9:17; Gal 2:7; 1 Thess 2:4; 2 Tim 1:12,14; 2:2.
1:13 a blasphemer and a persecutor and a violent aggressor. See Acts 9:1; 22:4–5,19; 26:10–11.
1:15 It is a trustworthy statement. A clause found nowhere else in the NT but used five times in the Pastorals (here; 3:1; 4:9; 2 Tim 2:11; Titus 3:8) to identify a key saying.
1:18 prophecies previously made concerning you. In the early church God revealed His will in various matters through prophets (see Acts 13:1–3, where prophets had an active role in the sending of Paul and Barnabas on their mission to the Gentiles). In Timothy's case this prophecy may have occurred at the time of or before his ordination (4:14), perhaps about 12 years earlier on Paul's second missionary journey (see Acts 16:3). Prophecies about Timothy seem to have pointed to the significant leadership role he was to have in the church.

1:20 Hymenaeus. See 2 Tim 2:17–18. Alexander. Perhaps the Alexander of 2 Tim 4:14 (but see note there). handed over to Satan. The reference is to church discipline (see note on Matt 18:17). Paul had excluded these two men from the church, which was considered a sanctuary from Satan's power. Out in the world, away from the fellowship and care of the church, they would be "taught" (the word means basically "to discipline") not to blaspheme. The purpose of such drastic action was more remedial than punitive. For a similar situation see 1 Cor 5:5,13; see also note on 1 Cor 5:5.

2:2 kings and all who are in authority. See Jer 29:7. The notorious Roman emperor Nero (A.D. 54–68) was in power when Paul wrote these words. godliness. A key word (along with "godly") in the Pastorals, the Greek term occurs eight times in 1 Timothy (here; 3:16; 4:7–8; 6:3,5–6,11), once in 2 Timothy (3:5) and once in Titus (1:1), but nowhere else in the writings of Paul. It implies a good and holy life, with special emphasis on its source, a deep reverence for God.

2:4 who desires all men to be saved. God desires the salvation of all people. On the other hand, the Bible indicates that God chooses some (not all) people to be saved (e.g., 1 Pet 1:2). Some interpreters understand such passages to teach that God has chosen those He, in His foreknowledge, knew would believe when confronted with the gospel and enabled to believe. Other interpreters hold that, though human reasoning cannot resolve the seeming inconsistency, the Bible teaches both truths and thus there can be no actual contradiction. Certainly there is none in the mind of God. See note on Rom 8:29.

Paul's Fourth Missionary Journey

C. A.D. 62–68

It is clear from Acts 13:1–21:17 that Paul went on three missionary journeys. There is also reason to believe that he made a fourth journey after his release from the Roman imprisonment recorded in Acts 28. The conclusion that such a journey did indeed take place is based on: (1) Paul's declared intention to go to Spain (Rom 15:24,28), (2) Eusebius's implication that Paul was released following his first Roman imprisonment (Ecclesiastical History, 2.22.2-3) and (3) statements in early Christian literature that he took the gospel as far as Spain (Clement of Rome, Epistle to the Corinthians, ch. 5; Actus Petri Vercellenses, chs. 1-3; Muratorian Canon, lines 34-39).

The places Paul may have visited after his release from prison are indicated by statements of intention in his earlier writings and by subsequent mention in the Pastoral Letters. The order of his travel cannot be determined with certainty, but the itinerary at the right seems likely.

1. Rome—released from prison in A.D. 62
2. Spain—62-64 (Rom 15:24,28)
3. Crete—64-65 (Titus 1:5)
4. Miletus—65 (2 Tim 4:20)
5. Colosse—66 (Philem 22)
6. Ephesus—66 (1 Tim 1:3)
7. Philippi—66 (Phil 2:23-24; 1 Tim 1:3)
8. Nicopolis—66-67 (Titus 3:12)

Women Instructed

9 Likewise, I want [a]women to adorn themselves with proper clothing, [1]modestly and discreetly, not with braided hair and gold or pearls or costly garments,

10 but rather by means of good works, as is proper for women making a claim to godliness.

2:5 there is one God. The basic belief of Judaism (Deut 6:4), which every Jew confessed daily in the Shema (see note on Mark 12:29).
2:6 ransom. See note on Matt 20:28. testimony. The apostolic testimony that Christ gave Himself as the ransom. proper time. See note on Gal 4:4.
2:7 For this. To testify that, through His death, Christ has bridged the gap between God and man and made salvation available to all. preacher. One who with authority makes a public proclamation. apostle. See notes on Mark 6:30; 1 Cor 1:1.
2:8–14 Some maintain that Paul's teaching about women here is historically conditioned, not universal and timeless. Others view these verses as unaffected by the historical situation and therefore applicable to every age.
2:8 men. The Greek for this word does not refer to mankind (as in vv. 5–6) but to male as distinct from female. That women also prayed in public, however, seems evident from 1 Cor 11:5.
2:9 Not a total ban on the wearing of jewelry or braided hair. Rather, Paul was expressing caution in a society where such things were signs of extravagant luxury and proud personal display.
2:10 See 1 Pet 3:3–4.

11 [a]A woman must quietly receive instruction with entire submissiveness.

12 [a]But I do not allow a woman to teach or exercise authority over a man, but to remain quiet.

13 [a]For it was Adam who was first [1]created, and then Eve.

14 And it was not Adam who was deceived, but [a]the woman being deceived, [1]fell into transgression.

15 But women will be [1]preserved through the bearing of children if they continue in [a]faith and love and sanctity with [2]self-restraint.

Overseers and Deacons

3 [a]It is a trustworthy statement: if any man aspires to the [b]office of [1]overseer, it is a fine work he desires to do.

2 [1][a]An overseer, then, must be above reproach, [b]the husband of one wife, [c]temperate, prudent, respectable, [d]hospitable, [e]able to teach,

3 [a]not addicted to wine [1]or pugnacious, but gentle, peaceable, [b]free from the love of money.

4 He must be one who [a]manages his own household well, keeping his children under control with all dignity

5 (but if a man does not know how to manage his own household, how will he take care of [a]the church of God?),

6 and not a new convert, so that he will not become [a]conceited and fall into the [b]condemnation [1]incurred by the devil.

7 And he must [a]have a good reputation with [b]those outside the church, so that he will not fall into reproach and [c]the snare of the devil.

8 [a]Deacons likewise must be men of dignity, not [1]double-tongued, [2b]or addicted to much wine [2c]or fond of sordid gain, 9 [a]but holding to the mystery of the faith with a clear conscience.

10 [a]These men must also first be tested; then let them serve as deacons if they are beyond reproach.

11 [1]Women must likewise be dignified, [a]not malicious gossips, but [b]temperate, faithful in all things.

12 [a]Deacons must be [b]husbands of only one wife, and [1c]good managers of their children and their own households.

13 For those who have served well as deacons [a]obtain for themselves a [1]high standing and great confidence in the faith that is in Christ Jesus.

2:12 I do not allow a woman to teach. Some believe that Paul here prohibited teaching only by women not properly instructed, i.e., by the women at Ephesus. Such women tended to exercise authority over, i.e., to domineer, the men. Others maintain that Paul did not allow a woman to be an official teacher in the assembled church. This is indicated by the added restriction concerning exercising "authority over a man" (a male), i.e., functioning as an overseer (see note on 3:1).

2:13–14 Paul based the restrictions on Gen 2–3. Some argue that "For" does not express the reason for woman's silence and submission, but is used only as a connective word as in v. 5. The meaning, then, would be that Adam's priority in creation illustrates the present situation of male priority in teaching at Ephesus, and Eve's deception illustrates the deception of the untrained and aggressive Ephesian women involved in false teaching. Thus the prohibition is not universal and permanent but restricted to the church situation (see Introduction: Background and Purpose). Under different circumstances the restrictions would not apply (e.g., 1 Cor 11:1–5). Others believe that the appeal to the creation account makes the restrictions universal and permanent: 1. Adam . . . was first created. Paul appeals to the priority of Adam in creation, which predates the fall. Thus he views the man-woman relationship set forth in this passage as grounded in creation. 2. the woman being deceived. Paul appears to argue that since the woman was deceived (and then led Adam astray), she is not to be entrusted with the teaching function of an overseer (or elder) in the public worship services of the assembled church.

2:15 Three possible meanings of this verse are: (1) It speaks of the godly woman finding fulfillment in her role as wife and mother in the home; (2) it refers to women being saved spiritually through the most significant birth of all, the incarnation of Christ; or (3) it refers to women being kept physically safe in childbirth.

3:1 trustworthy statement. See note on 1:15. overseer. In the Greek culture the word was used of a presiding official in a civic or religious organization. Here it refers to a man who oversees a local congregation. The equivalent word from the Jewish background of Christianity is "elder." The terms "overseer" and "elder" are used interchangeably in Acts 20:17,28; Titus 1:5–7; 1 Pet 5:1–2. The duties of an overseer were to teach and preach (3:2; 5:17), to direct the affairs of the church (3:5; 5:17), to shepherd ("pastor") the flock of God (Acts 20:28) and to guard the church from error (Acts 20:28–31).

3:2 overseer . . . must be. See chart, p. 1765. husband of one wife. A general principle that applies to any violation of God's marriage law, whether in the form of polygamy or of marital unfaithfulness (see note on Titus 1:6).

3:5 church. See note on Matt 16:18.

3:8 Deacons. In its nontechnical usage, the Greek for this word means simply "one who serves." The men chosen in Acts 6:1–6 were probably not only the first deacons mentioned in the NT but also the first to be appointed in the church (but see notes there). Generally, their service was meant to free the elders to give full attention to prayer and the ministry of the word (Acts 6:2,4). The only two local church offices mentioned in the NT are those of overseer (also called elder) and deacon (see Phil 1:1).

3:11 Women. The Greek for this phrase simply means "the women" and therefore could refer to (1) deacons' wives, (2) deaconesses or (3) female deacons. However, the fact that deacons are referred to again in vv. 12–13 seems to rule out a separate office of deaconess, but many judge otherwise.

3:12 husbands of only one wife. See note on v. 2.

3:15 I write so that. Here, in brief, Paul states the purpose for duct himself in [a]the household of God, which is the [b]church of [c]the living God, the [d]pillar and support of the truth.

16 By common confession, great is [a]the mystery of godliness:

He who was [b]revealed in the flesh,
Was [1c]vindicated [2]in the Spirit,
[d]Seen by angels,
[e]Proclaimed among the nations,
[f]Believed on in the world,
[g]Taken up in glory.

Apostasy

4 But [a]the Spirit explicitly says that [b]in later times some will [1]fall away from the faith, paying attention to [c]deceitful spirits and [d]doctrines of demons,

2 by means of the hypocrisy of liars [a]seared in their own conscience as with a branding iron,

3 men who [a]forbid marriage and advocate [b]abstaining from foods which [c]God has created to be [d]gratefully shared in by those who believe and know the truth.

4 For [a]everything created by God is good, and nothing is to be rejected if it is [b]received with gratitude;

5 for it is sanctified by means of [a]the word of God and prayer.

A Good Minister's Discipline

6 In pointing out these things to [a]the brethren, you will be a good [b]servant of Christ Jesus, constantly nourished on the words of the faith and of the [1c]sound doctrine which you [d]have been following.

7 But [1]have nothing to do with [a]worldly [b]fables fit only for old women. On the other hand, discipline yourself for the purpose of [c]godliness;

3:16 mystery of godliness. See notes on Rom 11:25; Col 1:26. The phrase means the "revealed secret of true piety," i.e., the secret that produces piety in people. That secret, as the following words indicate, is none other than Jesus Christ. His incarnation, in all its aspects (particularly His saving work), is the source of genuine piety. The words are printed in poetic form and probably come from an early creedal hymn (see note on Col 3:16). vindicated in the Spirit. The Holy Spirit enabled Jesus to drive out demons (see Matt 12:28) and perform miracles. Most importantly, the Spirit raised Jesus from the dead (see Rom 1:4; 1 Pet 3:18) and thereby vindicated Him, showing that He was indeed the Son of God. Seen by angels. At His resurrection (Matt 28:2) and ascension (Acts 1:10).

4:1 the Spirit explicitly says. As, e.g., in Matt 24:11; Mark 13:22; Acts 20:29–30; 2 Thess 2:3. Paul, however, is perhaps speaking here of a specific revelation made to him by the Spirit. in later times. The time beginning with the first coming of Christ (see note on Heb 1:1). That Paul is not referring only to the time immediately prior to Christ's second coming is obvious from his assumption in v. 7 that the false teachings were already present at the time of his writing.

4:3 This unbiblical asceticism arose out of the mistaken belief that the material world was evil—a central belief of the Gnostic heresy (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism).

4:7 fables. See note on 1:4. discipline yourself for . . . godliness. See note on 2:2. Godliness requires self-discipline.

8 for [a]bodily discipline is only of little profit, but [b]godliness is profitable for all things, since it [c]holds promise for the [d]present life and also for the life to come.

9 [a]It is a trustworthy statement deserving full acceptance.

10 For it is for this we labor and strive, because we have fixed [a]our hope on [b]the living God, who is [c]the Savior of all men, especially of believers.

11 [1a]Prescribe and teach these things.

12 [a]Let no one look down on your youthfulness, but rather in speech, conduct, [b]love, faith and purity, show yourself [c]an example [1]of those who believe.

13 [a]Until I come, give attention to the public [b]reading of Scripture, to exhortation and teaching.

14 Do not neglect the spiritual gift within you, which was bestowed on you through [a]prophetic utterance with [b]the laying on of hands by the [1c]presbytery.

15 Take pains with these things; be absorbed in them, so that your progress will be evident to all.

16 [a]Pay close attention to yourself and to your teaching; persevere in these things, for as you do this you will [1b]ensure salvation both for yourself and for those who hear you.

Honor Widows

5 [a]Do not sharply rebuke an [b]older man, but rather appeal to him as a father, to [c]the younger men as brothers,

2 the older women as mothers, and the younger women as sisters, in all purity.

3 Honor widows who are [a]widows indeed;

4 but if any widow has children or grandchildren, [a]they must first learn to practice piety in regard to their own family and to [1]make some return to their parents; for this is [b]acceptable in the sight of God.

8 [a]Col 2:23; [b]1 Tim 4:7; 6:3, 5f; 2 Tim 3:5 Ps 37:9, 11; Prov 19:23; 22:4; Matt 6:33 [d]Matt 6:33; 12:32; Mark 10:30

7 [1]Or Keep commanding; [a]1 Tim 4:11
8 [a]2 Tim 2:12; Titus 1:16; 2 Pet 2:1; Jude 4

5 Now she who is a [a]widow indeed and who has been left alone, [b]has fixed her hope on God and continues in [c]entreaties and prayers night and day.

6 But she who [a]gives herself to wanton pleasure is [b]dead even while she lives.

7 [1a]Prescribe these things as well, so that they may be above reproach.

8 But if anyone does not provide for his own, and especially for those of his household, he has [a]denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever.

9 A widow is to be [a]put on the list only if she is not less than sixty years old, having been [b]the wife of one man,

10 having a reputation for [a]good works; and if she has brought up children, if she has [b]shown hospitality to strangers, if she [c]has washed the [1]saints' feet, if she has [d]assisted those in distress, and if she has devoted herself to every good work.

11 But refuse to put younger widows on the list, for when they feel [a]sensual desires in disregard of Christ, they want to get married, 12 thus incurring condemnation, because they have set aside their previous [1]pledge.

13 At the same time they also learn to be idle, as they go around from house to house; and not merely idle, but also [a]gossips and [b]busybodies, talking about [c]things not proper to mention.

14 Therefore, I want younger widows to get [a]married, bear children, [b]keep house, and [c]give the enemy no occasion for reproach;

15 for some [a]have already turned aside to follow [b]Satan.

16 If any woman who is a believer [a]has

4:9 trustworthy statement. See note on 1:15. It is possible that the expression in this instance refers back to the seemingly proverbial statement in v. 8. The words "labor and strive" in v. 10 may refer to the training mentioned in vv. 7b–8.

4:10 hope. See note on 1:1. Savior of all. Obviously this does not mean that God saves every person from eternal punishment, for such universalism would contradict the clear testimony of Scripture. God is, however, the Savior of all in that He offers salvation to all and saves all who come to him.

4:12 your youthfulness. Timothy was probably in his mid–30s or younger, and in that day, such an influential position was not usually held by a man so young. For this reason, perhaps his leadership had been called into question.

4:13 Until I come. Paul's journey had taken him from Ephesus to Macedonia (see map, pp. 1762–1763), but he hoped to rejoin Timothy soon at Ephesus (3:14).

4:14 prophetic utterance. See note on 1:18.

4:16 you will ensure salvation . . . for those who hear you. God alone saves, but Christians can be God's instruments to bring about the salvation of others. will ensure salvation. Salvation is both an event and a process. We are saved at the time of conversion but are still being saved in the sense of being made more conformed to Christ's image (1 Cor 1:18).

5:3 Honor widows . . . indeed. Probably means taking care of them, including the giving of material support. Widows were particularly vulnerable in ancient societies because no pensions, government assistance, life insurance, or the like were available to them.

5:6 dead even while she lives. Dead spiritually while living physically.

5:9 the list. The church in Ephesus seems to have maintained a list of widows supported by the church. While there is no evidence of an order of widows comparable to that of the overseers, it appears that those on the list were expected to devote themselves to prayer (v. 5) and good deeds (v. 10).

5:10 washed the saints' feet. A menial task, but necessary because of dusty roads and the wearing of sandals (see John 13:14).

5:12 set aside their previous pledge. Perhaps when a widow was added to the list she pledged special devotion to Christ, which would be diminished by remarriage. Or Paul may be referring to the believer's basic trust in Christ, which a widow would compromise by marrying outside the faith.

5:15 Satan. See notes on Zech 3:1; Matt 16:23; Rev 12:10.

dependent widows, she must [b]assist them and the church must not be burdened, so that it may assist those who are [c]widows indeed.

Concerning Elders

17 [a]The elders who [b]rule well are to be considered worthy of double honor, especially those who [c]work hard [1]at preaching and teaching.

18 For the Scripture says, "[a]YOU SHALL NOT MUZZLE THE OX WHILE HE IS THRESHING," and "[b]The laborer is worthy of his wages."

19 Do not receive an accusation against an [a]elder except on the basis of [b]two or three witnesses.

20 Those who continue in sin, [a]rebuke in the presence of all, [b]so that the rest also will be fearful of sinning.

21 [a]I solemnly charge you in the presence of God and of Christ Jesus and of His chosen angels, to maintain these principles without bias, doing nothing in a spirit of partiality.

22 [a]Do not lay hands upon anyone too hastily and [1]thereby share [b]responsibility for the sins of others; keep yourself [2]free from sin.

23 No longer drink water exclusively, but [a]use a little wine for the sake of your stomach and your frequent ailments.

24 The sins of some men are quite evident, going before them to judgment; for others, their sins [a]follow after.

25 Likewise also, deeds that are good are quite evident, and [a]those which are otherwise cannot be concealed.

Instructions to Those Who Minister

6 [a]All who are under the yoke as slaves are to regard their own masters as worthy of all honor so [b]that the name of God and our doctrine will not be [1]spoken against.

2 Those who have believers as their masters must not be disrespectful to them because they are [a]brethren, but must serve them all the more, because those who [1]partake of the benefit are believers and beloved.

[b]Teach and [2]preach these principles.

3 If anyone [a]advocates a different doctrine and does not [1]agree with [b]sound words, those of our Lord Jesus Christ, and with the doctrine [c]conforming to godliness,

4 he is [a]conceited and understands nothing; but he [1]has a morbid interest in [b]controversial questions and [c]disputes about words, out of which arise envy, strife, abusive language, evil suspicions,

5 and constant friction between [a]men of depraved mind and deprived of the truth, who [b]suppose that [1]godliness is a means of gain.

6 [a]But godliness actually is a means of [b]great gain when accompanied by [c]contentment.

7 For [a]we have brought nothing into the world, so we cannot take anything out of it either.

8 If we [a]have food and covering, with these we shall be content.

9 [a]But those who want to get rich fall into temptation and [b]a snare and many foolish and harmful desires which plunge men into ruin and destruction.

10 For [a]the love of money is a root of all [1]sorts of evil, and some by longing for it have [b]wandered away from the faith and pierced themselves with many griefs.

11 But [a]flee from these things, you [b]man of God, and pursue righteousness, godliness, [c]faith, [d]love, [1]perseverance and gentleness.

12 [a]Fight the good fight of [b]faith; [c]take hold of the eternal life [d]to which you were called, and you made the good [e]confession in the presence of [f]many witnesses.

5:17 All elders were to exercise leadership (3:4–5) and to teach and preach (3:2), and all were to receive honor. But those who excelled in leadership were to be counted worthy of double honor. This was especially true of those who labored at teaching and preaching. (The Greek word translated "work" refers to toil.) That such honor should include financial support is indicated by the two illustrations in v. 18.

5:18 Scripture. The use of this term for both an OT (Deut 25:4) and a NT (Luke 10:7) passage shows that by this time portions of the NT (or what ultimately became a part of the NT) were considered to be equal in authority to the OT Scriptures.

5:20 Those who continue in sin. The context indicates that Paul is speaking of the discipline of elders.

5:21 chosen angels. Chosen angels, in contrast to Satan and the other fallen angels.

5:22 Do not lay hands upon anyone too hastily. Paul is speaking of the ordination of an elder, which should not be performed until the candidate has had time to prove himself. thereby share . . . the sins of others. Do not ordain a person unworthy of the office of elder. keep yourself free from sin. Probably refers to refusal to become involved in the ordination of an unworthy man.

5:23 No longer drink water exclusively. A parenthetical comment in Paul's discussion of elders. In view of Timothy's physical ailments, and perhaps because safe drinking water was often difficult to find, Paul advised him to drink a little wine.

5:24–25 sins of some men . . . deeds that are good. Paul advises being alert to hidden sins as well as to good deeds in the lives of candidates for ordination.

6:1 slaves. See notes on Eph 6:5; Col 3:22–4:1.

6:2 preach these principles. Refers to the instructions to slaves.

6:3–5 Paul returns to the subject of 1:3. See note on 1:3–11.

6:5 deprived of the truth. They had once known the truth but had been led into error. who suppose that godliness is a means of gain. See note on 2 Cor 11:7.

6:11 godliness. See note on 2:2.

6:12 take hold of the eternal life. Timothy had possessed eternal life since he had first been saved, but Paul urges him to claim its benefits in greater fullness (see vv. 17–19 and note on 4:16). you made the good confession. Probably a reference

13 [a]I charge you in the presence of God, who [1]gives life to all things, and of [b]Christ Jesus, who testified the [c]good confession [d]before Pontius Pilate,

14 that you keep the commandment without stain or reproach until the [a]appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ,

15 which He will [1]bring about at [a]the proper time—He who is [b]the blessed and [c]only Sovereign, [d]the King of [2]kings and [e]Lord of [3]lords, 16 [a]who alone possesses immortality and [b]dwells in unapproachable light, [c]whom no man has seen or can see. [a]To Him be honor and eternal dominion! Amen.

17 Instruct those who are rich in [a]this present world [b]not to be conceited or to [c]fix their hope on the uncertainty of riches, but on God, [d]who richly supplies us with all things to enjoy.

18 Instruct them to do good, to be rich in [a]good [1]works, [b]to be generous and ready to share, 19 [a]storing up for themselves the treasure of a good foundation for the future, so that they may [b]take hold of that which is life indeed.

to Timothy's confession of faith at his baptism during Paul's first missionary journey.

6:13 who testified the good confession before Pontius Pilate. Probably a reference to Jesus' statements recorded in John 18:33–37; 19:10–11.

6:14 the commandment. Perhaps the whole charge given to Timothy to preach the gospel and care for the church (see v. 20)—though the preceding context may indicate that Paul used the singular "command" to sum up the various commands listed in vv. 11–12.

6:15 at the proper time. Just as Jesus' first coming occurred at the precise time God wanted (Gal 4:4), so also His second coming will be at God's appointed time. King of kings and Lord of lords. See Rev 19:16.

6:16 whom no man has seen or can see. See note on John 1:18.

6:19 take hold of that which is life. See note on v. 12.

6:20 what has been entrusted to you. The gospel. The same command is found in 2 Tim 1:14. what is falsely called "knowledge." A reference to an early form of the heresy of Gnosticism, which taught that one may be saved by knowledge. (The term "Gnosticism" comes from the Greek word for knowledge; see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism.)

6:21 Grace be with you. The Greek for "you" here is plural, indicating that, although Paul is writing to Timothy, he expects the letter to be read to the entire Ephesian congregation.

INTRODUCTION

See "The Pastoral Letters," p. 1758.

Author, Date and Setting

After Paul's release from prison in Rome in A.D. 62/63 (Acts 28) and after his fourth missionary journey (see "Paul's Fourth Missionary Journey," pp. 1762–1763), during which he wrote 1 Timothy and Titus, Paul was again imprisoned under Emperor Nero c. 66–67. It was during this time that he wrote 2 Timothy. In contrast to his first imprisonment, when he lived in a rented house (Acts 28:30), he now languished in a cold dungeon (4:13), chained like a common criminal (1:16; 2:9). His friends even had a hard time finding out where he was being kept (1:17). Paul knew that his work was done and his life was nearly at an end (4:6–8).

Reasons for Writing

Paul had three reasons for writing to Timothy at this time:

1. He was lonely. Phygelus and Hermogenes, "everyone in the province of Asia" (1:15), and Demas (4:10) had deserted him. Crescens, Titus and Tychicus were away (4:10–12), and only Luke was with him (4:11). Paul wanted very much for Timothy to join him also. Timothy was his "fellow worker" (Rom 16:21), who "as a son with his father" had served closely with Paul (Phil 2:22; see 1 Cor 4:17). Of him Paul could say, "I have no one else like him" (Phil 2:20). Paul longed for Timothy (1:4) and twice asked him to come soon (4:9,21). For more information on Timothy see Introduction to 1 Timothy: Recipient.

2. Paul was concerned about the welfare of the churches during this time of persecution under Nero, and he admonishes Timothy to guard the gospel (1:14), to persevere in it (3:14), to keep on preaching it (4:2) and, if necessary, to suffer for it (1:8; 2:3).

3. He wanted to write to the Ephesian church through Timothy (see note on 4:22).

1 Paul, [a]an apostle of [b]Christ Jesus [1][c]by the will of God, according to the promise of [d]life in Christ Jesus,

2 To [a]Timothy, my beloved [1][b]son:
[c]Grace, mercy and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

3 [a]I thank God, whom I [b]serve with a [c]clear conscience [1]the way my forefathers did, [d]as I constantly remember you in my [2]prayers night and day,

4 [a]longing to see you, [b]even as I recall your tears, so that I may be filled with joy.

5 [1]For I am mindful of the [a]sincere faith within you, which first dwelt in your grandmother Lois and [b]your mother Eunice, and I am sure that it is in you as well.

6 For this reason I remind you to kindle afresh [a]the gift of God which is in you through [a]the laying on of my hands.

7 For God has not given us a [a]spirit of [1]timidity, but of power and love and [2]discipline.

8 Therefore [a]do not be ashamed of the [b]testimony of our Lord or of me [c]His prisoner, but join with me in [d]suffering for the [e]gospel according to the power of God,

9 who has [a]saved us and [b]called us with a holy [c]calling, [d]not according to our works, but according to His own [b]purpose and grace which was granted us in [e]Christ Jesus from [f]all eternity,

10 but [a]now has been revealed by the [b]appearing of our Savior [c]Christ Jesus, who [d]abolished death and brought life and immortality to light through the gospel,

11 [a]for which I was appointed a preacher and an apostle and a teacher.

12 For this reason I also suffer these things, but [a]I am not ashamed; for I know [b]whom I have believed and I am convinced that He is able to [c]guard what I have entrusted to Him [1]until [d]that day.

13 [1][a]Retain the [b]standard of [c]sound words [d]which you have heard from me, in the [e]faith and love which are in [f]Christ Jesus.

14 Guard, through the Holy Spirit who [a]dwells in us, the [1][b]treasure which has been entrusted to you.

15 You are aware of the fact that all who are in [1][a]Asia [b]turned away from me, among whom are Phygelus and Hermogenes.

16 The Lord grant mercy to [a]the house of Onesiphorus, for he often refreshed me and [b]was not ashamed of my [1][c]chains;

17 but when he was in Rome, he eagerly searched for me and found me—

18 the Lord grant to him to find mercy from the Lord on [a]that day—and you know very well what services he rendered at [b]Ephesus.

Be Strong

2 You therefore, my [1][a]son, [b]be strong in the grace that is in [c]Christ Jesus.

2 The things [a]which you have heard from me in the presence of [b]many witnesses, [c]entrust these to [d]faithful men who will be [e]able to teach others also.

1:1 apostle. One specially commissioned by Christ (see notes on Mark 6:30; 1 Cor 1:1; Heb 3:1). according to the promise of life. Paul's being chosen to be an apostle was in keeping with that promise because apostles were appointed to preach and explain the good news that eternal life is available to all who will receive it through faith in Christ.
1:2 Timothy, my beloved son. See note on 1 Tim 1:2. Grace . . . peace. See notes on Jon 4:2; John 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.
1:3 thank God . . . in my prayers. See note on Phil 1:3–4.
1:4 longing to see you. See 4:9,21. recall your tears. Probably refers to Timothy's tears when Paul left for Macedonia (1 Tim 1:3).
1:5 your grandmother Lois . . . your mother Eunice. According to Acts 16:1, Timothy's mother was a Jewish Christian. Here we learn that his grandmother too was a Christian. Timothy's father, however, was a Greek and apparently an unbeliever (Acts 16:1). It was probably because of him that Timothy had not been circumcised as a child.
1:6 kindle afresh the gift of God. Gifts are not given in full bloom; they need to be developed through use. through the laying on of my hands. Paul was God's instrument, through whom the gift came from the Holy Spirit to Timothy (see note on 1 Tim 1:18).
1:7 God has not given us a spirit of timidity. Apparently lack of confidence was a serious problem for Timothy (see 1 Cor 16:10–11; 1 Tim 4:12).
1:9 not according to our works, but according to His own purpose and grace. Salvation is by grace alone and is based not on human effort but on God's saving plan and the gracious gift of His Son (see Rom 3:28; Eph 2:8–9; Titus 3:5). from all eternity. God's plan to save lost sinners was made in eternity past (see Eph 1:4; 1 Pet 1:20; Rev 13:8).
1:11 preacher and an apostle. See note on 1 Tim 2:7.
1:12 that day. The day of judgment.
1:13 sound words. See note on Titus 1:9. faith and love . . . in Christ. Faith and love through union with Christ—another way of saying "Christian faith and love" (see 1 Tim 1:14).
1:14 the treasure . . . entrusted to you. The gospel. Paul gives the same command in 1 Tim 6:20.
1:15 all. Probably hyperbole, a deliberate exaggeration to express widespread desertion. Asia. Timothy was in Ephesus, the capital of the province of Asia, which is in western Turkey today. Phygelus and Hermogenes. Nothing more is known about these two people.
1:16 Onesiphorus. Probably he and his family lived in Ephesus (v. 18; 4:19).
1:17 Rome. See Introduction: Author, Date and Setting; see also v. 8; 2:9.
1:18 that day. The day of judgment. services he rendered at Ephesus. Either on Paul's third missionary journey (Acts 19) or on his fourth (see map, pp. 1762–1763).
2:1 my son. See note on 1 Tim 1:2.
2:2 in the presence of many witnesses. Refers to Paul's preach-

3 [a]Suffer hardship with me, as a good [b]soldier of [c]Christ Jesus.

4 No soldier in active service [a]entangles himself in the affairs of everyday life, so that he may please the one who enlisted him as a soldier.

5 Also if anyone [a]competes as an athlete, he [1]does not win the prize unless he competes according to the rules.

6 [a]The hard-working farmer ought to be the first to receive his share of the crops.

7 Consider what I say, for the Lord will give you understanding in everything.

8 Remember Jesus Christ, [a]risen from the dead, [b]descendant of David, [c]according to my gospel, 9 [1]for which I [a]suffer hardship even to [b]imprisonment as a [c]criminal; but [d]the word of God [e]is not imprisoned.

10 For this reason [a]I endure all things for [b]the sake of those who are chosen, [c]so that they also may obtain the [d]salvation which is in [e]Christ Jesus and with it [f]eternal glory.

11 [a]It is a trustworthy statement:
For [b]if we died with Him, we will also live with Him;

12 If we endure, [a]we will also reign with Him;
If we [1][b]deny Him, He also will deny us;

13 If we are faithless, [a]He remains faithful, for [b]He cannot deny Himself.

An Unashamed Workman

14 Remind them of these things, and solemnly [a]charge them in the presence of God not to [b]wrangle about words, which is useless and leads to the ruin of the hearers.

15 Be diligent to [a]present yourself approved to God as a workman who does not need to be ashamed, accurately handling [b]the word of truth.

16 But [a]avoid [b]worldly and empty chatter, for [1]it will lead to further ungodliness,

17 and their [1]talk will spread like [2]gangrene. Among them are [a]Hymenaeus and Philetus, 18 men who have gone astray from the truth saying that [a]the resurrection has already taken place, and they upset [b]the faith of some.

19 Nevertheless, the [a]firm foundation of God stands, having this [b]seal, "[c]The Lord knows those who are His," and, "[d]Everyone who names the name of the Lord is to abstain from wickedness."

20 Now in a large house there are not only gold and silver vessels, but also vessels of wood and of earthenware, and [a]some to honor and some to dishonor.

21 Therefore, if anyone cleanses himself from [a]these things, he will be a vessel for honor, sanctified, useful to the Master, [b]prepared for every good work.

22 Now [a]flee from youthful lusts and pursue righteousness, [b]faith, love and peace, with those who [c]call on the Lord [d]from a pure heart.

23 But refuse foolish and ignorant [a]speculations, knowing that they [b]produce [1]quarrels.

24 [a]The Lord's bond-servant must not be ing and teaching, which Timothy had heard repeatedly on all three missionary journeys.

2:3–6 Paul gives three examples for Timothy to follow: (1) a soldier who wants to please his commander; (2) an athlete who follows the rules of the game; and (3) a farmer who works hard.

2:6 to receive his share of the crops. In this illustration, as in the previous two (soldier, vv. 3–4; athlete, v. 5), the main lesson is that dedicated effort will be rewarded—not necessarily monetarily, but in enjoyment of seeing the gospel produce changed lives.

2:8 risen from the dead, descendant of David. Christ's resurrection proclaims His deity, and His descent from David shows His humanity; both truths are basic to the gospel. Since Christ is God, His death has infinite value; since He is man, He could rightfully become our substitute.

2:9 imprisonment as a criminal. Apparently Paul was awaiting execution (see 4:6).

2:10 I endure all things for the . . . chosen. No suffering is too great if it brings about the salvation of God's chosen ones who will yet believe. in Christ Jesus. See note on 1:13. eternal glory. The final state of salvation.

2:11–13 Probably an early Christian hymn. The point to which Paul appeals is that suffering for Christ will be followed by glory.

2:11 trustworthy statement. See note on 1 Tim 1:15. if we died with Him, we will also live with Him. The Greek grammatical construction here assumes that we died with Christ in the past, when He died for us on the cross. We are therefore assured that we will also live with Him eternally.

2:12 If we endure, we will also reign. Faithfully bearing up under suffering and trial will result in reward when Christ returns. If we deny Him. See Matt 10:33.

2:14–18 The wording of vv. 14–16 indicates that the heresy mentioned here is an early form of Gnosticism—the same as that dealt with in 1 Timothy and Titus (see note on 1 Tim 1:3–11 and Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism). Two leaders of this heresy, Hymenaeus (see 1 Tim 1:20) and Philetus, denied the bodily resurrection and probably asserted that there is only a spiritual resurrection (similar to the error mentioned in 1 Cor 15:12–19). Gnosticism interpreted the resurrection allegorically, not literally.

2:15 Be diligent. See 4:9,21. word of truth. The gospel.

2:19 firm foundation of God. The church, which upholds the truth (1 Tim 3:15). In spite of the heresy of Hymenaeus and Philetus, Timothy should be heartened to know that the church is God's solid foundation. There are two seals on it: One stresses the security of the church ("The Lord knows those who are His"; here "know," as often in the Bible, means to be intimately acquainted with), while the other emphasizes human responsibility ("Everyone who names the name of the Lord is to abstain from wickedness"). seal. The church is owned and securely protected by God (see note on Eph 1:13).

2:22 youthful. See note on 1 Tim 4:12.

quarrelsome, but be kind to all, [b]able to teach, patient when wronged,

25 [a]with gentleness correcting those who are in opposition, [b]if perhaps God may grant them repentance leading to [c]the knowledge of the truth,

26 and they may come to their senses and escape from [a]the snare of the devil, having been [b]held captive [1]by him to do his will.

"Difficult Times Will Come"

3 But realize this, that [a]in the last days difficult times will come.

2 For men will be [a]lovers of self, [b]lovers of money, [c]boastful, [c]arrogant, [d]revilers, [c]disobedient to parents, [e]ungrateful, [f]unholy,

3 [a]unloving, irreconcilable, [b]malicious gossips, without self-control, brutal, [1c]haters of good,

4 [a]treacherous, [b]reckless, [c]conceited, [d]lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God,

5 holding to a form of [1a]godliness, although they have [b]denied its power; [c]Avoid such men as these.

6 For among them are those who [1a]enter into households and captivate [2b]weak women weighed down with sins, led on by [c]various impulses,

7 always learning and never able to [a]come to the [1]knowledge of the truth.

8 Just as [a]Jannes and Jambres [b]opposed Moses, so these men also oppose the truth, [c]men of depraved mind, rejected in regard to the faith.

9 But they will not make further progress; for their [a]folly will be obvious to all, just [b]as [1]Jannes's and Jambres's folly was also.

10 Now you [a]followed my teaching, conduct, purpose, faith, patience, [b]love, [1]perseverance,

14 You, however, [a]continue in the things you have learned and become convinced of, knowing from whom you have learned them,

"Preach the Word"

4 [a]I solemnly charge you in the presence of God and of Christ Jesus, who is to [b]judge the living and the dead, and by His [c]appearing and His kingdom:

2 preach [a]the word; be ready in season and out of season; [b]reprove, rebuke, exhort, with [1]great [c]patience and instruction.

3 For [a]the time will come when they will not endure [b]sound doctrine; but wanting to have their ears tickled, they will accumulate for themselves teachers in accordance to their own desires,

3:1 last days. The Messianic era, the time beginning with Christ's first coming (see notes on Acts 2:17; 1 Tim 4:1; Heb 1:2; 1 Pet 1:20; 1 John 2:18). That "the last days" in this passage does not refer only to the time just prior to Christ's return is apparent from Paul's command to Timothy to have nothing to do with the unbelieving and unfaithful people who characterize this time (v. 5).

3:6 weak women. Unstable women who are guilt-ridden because of their sins, torn by lust, and victims of various false teachers ("always learning," v. 7, but never coming to a saving knowledge of Christ).

3:8 Jannes and Jambres. Neither of these men is mentioned in the OT, but according to Jewish tradition they were the Egyptian court magicians who opposed Moses (see Ex 7:11 and note).

3:11 Antioch, at Iconium and at Lystra. Three cities in the Roman province of Galatia, which Paul visited on his first and second missionary journeys (Acts 13:14–14:23; 16:1–6). Since Timothy was from Lystra, he would have known firsthand of Paul's sufferings in that region. out of them all the Lord rescued me! Even from execution by stoning (Acts 14:19–20).

3:12 A principle repeated elsewhere in the NT (see Matt 10:22; Acts 14:22; Phil 1:29; 1 Pet 4:12). in Christ. See note on 1:13.

3:14 from whom you have learned them. Perhaps a reference to Paul as well as to Timothy's mother and grandmother (1:5).

3:15 from childhood you have known the sacred writings. A Jewish boy formally began to study the OT when he was five years old. Timothy was taught at home by his mother and grandmother even before he reached this age.

3:16 All Scripture. The primary reference is to the OT, since some of the NT books had not even been written at this time. (See 1 Tim 5:18; 2 Pet 3:15–16 for indications that some NT books—or material ultimately included in the NT—were already considered equal in authority to the OT Scriptures.) inspired by God. Paul affirms God's active involvement in the writing of Scripture, an involvement so powerful and pervasive that what is written is the infallible and authoritative word of God (see 2 Pet 1:20–21 and notes).

4:1 I solemnly charge you. Paul states his charge to Timothy, aware that he does so in the presence of God the Father and of Christ, who will judge all men. He is also keenly aware of the twin facts of Christ's return and the coming establishment of God's kingdom in its fullest expression. Timothy was to view a charge so given as of utmost importance.

4:2 be ready. Be ready in any situation to speak the needed word, whether of correction, of rebuke or of encouragement.

4:3 sound doctrine. See note on Titus 1:9. have their ears tickled. Ears that want to be "satisfied" by words in keeping with one's evil desires.

4 and [a]will turn away their ears from the truth and [b]will turn to myths.

5 But you, [a]be sober in all things, [b]endure hardship, do the work of an [c]evangelist, fulfill your [d]ministry.

6 For I am already being [a]poured out as a drink offering, and the time of [b]my departure has come.

7 [a]I have fought the good fight, I have finished [b]the course, I have kept [c]the faith;

8 in the future there [a]is laid up for me [b]the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will award to me on [c]that day; and not only to me, but also to [d]all who have loved His [e]appearing.

Personal Concerns

9 [a]Make every effort to come to me soon;

10 for [a]Demas, having loved [b]this present [1]world, has deserted me and gone to [c]Thessalonica; Crescens has gone to [2d]Galatia, [e]Titus to Dalmatia.

11 [a]Only [b]Luke is with me. Pick up [c]Mark and bring him with you, [d]for he is useful to me for service.

12 But [a]Tychicus I have sent to [b]Ephesus.

13 When you come bring the cloak which I left at [a]Troas with Carpus, and the books, especially the parchments.

14 [a]Alexander the coppersmith did me much harm; [b]the Lord will repay him according to his deeds.

15 Be on guard against him yourself, for he vigorously opposed our [1]teaching.

16 At my first defense no one supported me, but all deserted me; [a]may it not be counted against them.

17 But the Lord stood with me and [a]strengthened me, so that through me [b]the proclamation might [1]be [c]fully accomplished, and that all [d]the Gentiles might hear; and I was [e]rescued out of [f]the lion's mouth.

18 The Lord will rescue me from every evil deed, and will [1a]bring me safely to His [b]heavenly kingdom; [c]to [2]Him be the glory forever and ever. Amen.

19 Greet Prisca and [a]Aquila, and [b]the household of Onesiphorus.

20 [a]Erastus remained at [b]Corinth, but [c]Trophimus I left sick at [d]Miletus.

21 [a]Make every effort to come before [b]winter. Eubulus greets you, also Pudens and Linus and Claudia and all the brethren.

22 [a]The Lord be with your spirit. [b]Grace be with you.

4:4 myths. See note on 1 Tim 1:4.
4:6 drink offering. The offering of wine poured around the base of the altar (see Num 15:1–12; 28:7,24). Paul views his approaching death as the pouring out of his life as an offering to Christ (see Phil 2:17). my departure. His impending death (cf. Phil 1:23).
4:7 In this verse Paul looks back over 30 years of labor as an apostle (c. A.D. 36–66). Like an athlete who had engaged successfully in a contest ("fought the good fight"), he had "finished the course" and had "kept the faith," i.e., had carefully observed the rules (the teachings) of the Christian faith (see 2:5). Or, in view of the Pastorals' emphasis on sound doctrine, perhaps "the faith" refers to the deposit of Christian truth. Paul has kept (guarded) it.
4:8 crown of righteousness. Continuing with the same figure of speech, Paul uses the metaphor of the wreath given to the winner of a race (1 Cor 9:25). He could be referring to (1) a crown given as a reward for a righteous life, (2) a crown consisting of righteousness or (3) a crown given righteously (justly) by the righteous Judge. that day. The day of Christ's second coming ("appearing").
4:10 Crescens. Mentioned only here in the NT. Galatia. Either the northern area of Asia Minor (Gaul) or a Roman province in what is now central Turkey (see note on Gal 1:2). Titus to Dalmatia. See Introduction to Titus: Recipient. Dalmatia. Present-day Albania and a portion of Yugoslavia, also known in Scripture as Illyricum (Rom 15:19).
4:11 Mark. John Mark had deserted Paul and Barnabas on their first missionary journey (Acts 13:13). After Paul refused to take Mark on the second journey, Barnabas separated from Paul, taking Mark with him on a mission to Cyprus (Acts 15:36–41). Ultimately Mark proved himself to Paul, indicated by his presence with Paul during Paul's first Roman imprisonment (Col 4:10; Philem 24) and by Paul's request here for Timothy to bring Mark with him to Rome.
4:13 cloak. For protection against the cold dampness (see Introduction: Author, Date and Setting). It was probably a heavy, sleeveless, outer garment, circular in shape and with a hole in the middle for one's head. Carpus. Not mentioned elsewhere. the books, especially the parchments. The scrolls (see note on Ex 17:14) were made of papyrus, and the parchments were made of the skins of animals. The latter may have been copies of parts of the OT.
4:14 Alexander the coppersmith. Possibly the Alexander mentioned in 1 Tim 1:20.
4:16 my first defense. The first court hearing of Paul's present case, not his defense on the occasion of his first imprisonment (Acts 28).
4:17 so that through me the proclamation might be fully accomplished. Even in these dire circumstances Paul used the occasion to testify about Jesus Christ in the imperial court. I was rescued out of the lion's mouth. Since, as a Roman citizen, Paul could not be thrown to the lions in the amphitheater, this must be a figurative way of saying that his first hearing did not result in an immediate guilty verdict.
4:18 The Lord will rescue me from every evil deed. Since Paul fully expected to die soon (v. 6), the rescue he speaks of here is spiritual, not physical. heavenly kingdom. Heaven itself.
4:19 Onesiphorus. See note on 1:16.
4:20 Erastus. See note on Rom 16:23. Miletus. A seaport on the coast of Asia Minor about 50 miles south of Ephesus.
4:21 Linus. Early tradition says he was bishop of Rome after the deaths of Peter and Paul.
4:22 Grace. See notes on Jon 4:2; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2. you. As at the end of 1 Timothy, "you" here is plural, showing that the letter was intended for public use. The word "your" in the first part of the verse, however, is singular, indicating that it was addressed to Timothy alone. In view of Paul's impending death and the solemn charge he gave to his timid young friend, Timothy needed such encouragement.

Titus

See "The Pastoral Letters," p. 1758.

Author

The author is Paul (see Introduction to 1 Timothy: Author).

Recipient

The letter is addressed to Titus, one of Paul's converts (1:4) and a considerable help to Paul in his ministry. When Paul left Antioch to discuss "his" gospel (2 Tim 2:8) with the Jerusalem leaders, he took Titus with him (Gal 2:1–3); acceptance of Titus (a Gentile) as a Christian without circumcision vindicated Paul's stand there (Gal 2:3–5). Presumably Titus, who is not referred to in Acts (but is mentioned 13 times in the rest of the NT), worked with Paul at Ephesus during the third missionary journey. From there the apostle sent him to Corinth to help that church with its work (see notes on 2 Cor 2:12–13; 7:5–6; 8:6).

Following Paul's release from his first Roman imprisonment (Acts 28), he and Titus worked briefly in Crete (1:5), after which he commissioned Titus to remain there as his representative and complete some needed work (1:5; 2:15; 3:12–13). Paul asked Titus to meet him at Nicopolis (on the west coast of Greece) when a replacement arrived (3:12). Later, Titus went on a mission to Dalmatia (modern Yugoslavia; see note on 2 Tim 4:10), the last word we hear about him in the NT. Considering the assignments given him, he obviously was a capable and resourceful leader.

Crete

The fourth largest island of the Mediterranean, Crete lies directly south of the Aegean Sea (see note on 1 Sam 30:14; cf. Paul's experiences there in Acts 27:7–13). In NT times life in Crete had sunk to a deplorable moral level. The dishonesty, gluttony and laziness of its inhabitants were proverbial (1:12).

Occasion and Purpose

Apparently Paul introduced Christianity in Crete when he and Titus visited the island, after which he left Titus there to organize the converts. Paul sent the letter with Zenas and Apollos, who were on a journey that took them through Crete (3:13), to give Titus personal authorization and guidance in meeting opposition (1:5; 2:1,7–8,15; 3:9), instructions about faith and conduct, and warnings about false teachers. Paul also informed Titus of his future plans for him (3:12).

Place and Date of Writing

Paul possibly wrote from Macedonia, for he had not yet reached Nicopolis (see 3:12). The letter was written after his release from the first Roman imprisonment (Acts 28), probably between A.D. 63 and 65—or possibly at a later date if he wrote after his assumed trip to Spain.

Distinctive Characteristics

Especially significant, considering the nature of the Cretan heresy, are the repeated emphases on "good deeds" (1:16; 2:7,14; 3:1,8,14) and the classic summaries of Christian doctrine (2:11–14; 3:4–7).

Salutation

1 Paul, [a]a bond-servant of God and an [b]apostle of Jesus Christ, [1]for the faith of those [c]chosen of God and [d]the knowledge of the truth which is [e]according to godliness,

2 in [a]the hope of eternal life, which God, [b]who cannot lie, [c]promised [1][d]long ages ago,

3 but [a]at the proper time manifested, even His word, in [b]the proclamation [c]with which I was entrusted [d]according to the commandment of [e]God our Savior,

4 To [a]Titus, [b]my true child [1]in a [c]common faith: [d]Grace and peace from God the Father and [e]Christ Jesus our Savior.

Qualifications of Elders

5 For this reason I left you in [a]Crete, that you would set in order what remains and [b]appoint [c]elders in every city as I directed you,

6 namely, [a]if any man is above reproach, the [b]husband of one wife, having children who believe, not accused of [c]dissipation or [d]rebellion.

7 For the [1][a]overseer must be above reproach as [b]God's steward, not [c]self-willed, not quick-tempered, not [d]addicted to wine, not pugnacious, [e]not fond of sordid gain,

8 but [a]hospitable, [b]loving what is good, sensible, just, devout, self-controlled,

9 [a]holding fast the faithful word which is in accordance with the teaching, so that he will be able both to exhort in [b]sound doctrine and to refute those who contradict.

10 [a]For there are many [b]rebellious men, [c]empty talkers and deceivers, especially [d]those of the circumcision, 11 who must be silenced because they are upsetting [a]whole families, teaching [b]things they should not teach [c]for the sake of sordid gain.

12 One of themselves, a prophet of their own, said, "[a]Cretans are always liars, evil beasts, lazy gluttons."

13 This testimony is true. For this reason [a]reprove them [b]severely so that they may be [c]sound in the faith,

1:1 bond-servant of God. Only here does Paul call himself a servant of God; elsewhere he says "bond-servant of Christ" (Rom 1:1; Gal 1:10; Phil 1:1). James uses both terms of himself (James 1:1). bond-servant. See note on Rom 1:1. apostle. One specially commissioned by Christ (see notes on Mark 6:30; 1 Cor 1:1; Heb 3:1). for the faith . . . and the knowledge. Paul's appointed mission as God's servant and Christ's apostle—further explained in v. 2 (see Acts 9:15; 22:15; 26:16–18).

1:2 hope. See note on Col 1:5. cannot lie. In contrast to the Cretans (v. 12)—and the devil (John 8:44).

1:3 proper time. Crucial events in God's program occur at His designated times in history (1 Tim 2:6; 6:15). His word. The authoritative message that centers in Christ. God our Savior. Three times in the letter God the Father is called Savior (here; 2:10; 3:4; see also 1 Tim 1:1; 2:3; 4:10), and three times Jesus is called Savior (v. 4; 2:13; 3:6; see also 2 Tim 1:10).

1:4 my true child. Titus, like Timothy (1 Tim 1:2), was a spiritual son, having been converted through Paul's ministry. Onesimus was also called a son by Paul (Philem 10). true. Genuine. a common faith. The faith shared by all true believers. Savior. In all of Paul's other salutations Jesus is called "Lord." Paul uses "Savior" 12 times in all his letters, half of the references being in Titus.

1:5 left you in Crete. Implies that Paul and Titus had been together in Crete, a ministry not mentioned in Acts. On his voyage to Rome, Paul visited Crete briefly as a prisoner (Acts 27:7–8), but now that he had been released from his first Roman imprisonment he was free to travel wherever he wished (see 3:12). appoint elders. Though Paul and Titus perhaps had already preached in Crete, they had not had time to organize churches. The appointing of elders is consistent with Paul's usual practice (Acts 14:23).

1:6–9 1 Tim 3:1–7 gives a parallel list of qualifications for elders, but the two lists reflect the different situations in which Timothy and Titus ministered. See chart, p. 1765.

1:6 husband of one wife. Since elders, by definition, were chosen from among the older men of the congregation, Paul assumed they already would be married and have children. A qualified unmarried man was not necessarily barred. It is also improbable that the standard forbids an elder to remarry if his wife dies (cf. Rom 7:2–3; 1 Cor 7:39; 1 Tim 5:14). The most likely meaning is simply that a faithful monogamous married life must be maintained. See note on 1 Tim 3:2.

1:7 the overseer. The use of "elder" in v. 5 and "overseer" (or "bishop") in v. 7 indicates that the terms were used interchangeably (cf. Acts 20:17,28; 1 Pet 5:1–2). "Elder" indicates qualification (maturity and experience), while "overseer" indicates responsibility (watching over God's flock).

1:8 sensible. A virtue much needed in Crete (see vv. 10–14); Paul refers to it five times in two chapters (here; 2:2,5–6,12). self-controlled. Possessing the inner strength to control one's desires and actions.

1:9 sound doctrine. Correct teaching, in keeping with that of the apostles (see 1 Tim 1:10; 6:3; 2 Tim 1:13; 4:3). The teaching is called "sound" not only because it builds up in the faith, but because it protects against the corrupting influence of false teachers. Soundness of doctrine, faith and speech is a basic concern in all the Pastoral Letters (1,2 Timothy; Titus). In them the word "sound" occurs ten times (see also "sound' in Rom 12:3, 2 Cor 5:13).

1:10 rebellious. Against the word of God and against Paul and Titus as the Lord's authoritative ministers. men. These troublemakers had three main characteristics: 1. They belonged to the "circumcision," like the people of Gal 2:12, believing that, for salvation or sanctification or both, it was necessary to be circumcised and to keep the Jewish ceremonial law (see Introduction to Galatians: Occasion and Purpose). 2. They held to unscriptural Jewish myths (v. 14) and genealogies (3:9; see 1 Tim 1:4 and note there). 3. They were ascetics (vv. 14–15), having scruples against things that God declared to be good. empty talkers. Paul used similar language in writing to Timothy about this kind of person (1 Tim 1:6).

1:12 The quotation is from the poet Epimenides (a sixth-century B.C. native of Knossos, Crete), who was held in high esteem by the Cretans. Several fulfilled predictions were ascribed to him. For other uses of pagan sayings by Paul see Acts 17:28; 1 Cor 15:33 and notes. In Greek literature "to Cretanize" meant to lie.

14 not paying attention to Jewish [a]myths and [b]commandments of men who [c]turn away from the truth.

15 [a]To the pure, all things are pure; but [b]to those who are defiled and unbelieving, nothing is pure, but both their [c]mind and their conscience are defiled.

16 [a]They profess to know God, but by their deeds they [b]deny Him, being [c]detestable and [d]disobedient and [e]worthless [f]for any good deed.

Duties of the Older and Younger

2 But as for you, speak the things which are fitting for [a]sound doctrine.

2 [a]Older men are to be [b]temperate, dignified, sensible, [c]sound [d]in faith, in love, in [1]perseverance.

3 Older women likewise are to be reverent in their behavior, [a]not malicious gossips nor [b]enslaved to much wine, teaching what is good,

4 so that they may [1]encourage the young women to love their husbands, to love their children,

5 to be sensible, pure, [a]workers at home, kind, being [b]subject to their own husbands, [c]so that the word of God will not be dishonored.

6 Likewise urge [a]the young men to be [1]sensible;

7 in all things show yourself to be [a]an example of good deeds, with [1]purity in doctrine, dignified,

8 sound in speech which is beyond reproach, so [a]that the opponent will be put to shame, having nothing bad to say about us.

9 Urge [a]bondslaves to be subject to their own masters in everything, to be well-pleasing, not [1]argumentative,

10 not pilfering, but showing all good faith so that they will adorn the doctrine of [a]God our Savior in every respect.

11 For the grace of God has [a]appeared, [1b]bringing salvation to all men,

12 [1]instructing us to deny ungodliness and [a]worldly desires and [b]to live sensibly, righteously and godly [c]in the present age,

1:14 Jewish myths. See note on v. 10.

1:15 To the pure, all things are pure. To Christians, who have been purified by the atoning death of Christ, "everything created by God is good, and nothing is to be rejected if it is received with gratitude" (1 Tim 4:4). to those who are defiled and unbelieving, nothing is pure. Unbelievers, especially ascetics with unbiblical scruples against certain foods, marriage and the like (cf. 1 Tim 4:3; Col 2:21), do not enjoy the freedom of true Christians, who receive all God's creation with thanksgiving. Instead, they set up arbitrary, man-made prohibitions against what they consider to be impure (see Matt 15:10–11,16–20; Mark 7:14–19; Acts 10:9–16; Rom 14:20). The principle of this verse does not conflict with the many NT teachings against practices that are morally and spiritually wrong. conscience. See 1 Tim 4:2–3.

1:16 by their deeds they deny Him. The false teachers stood condemned by the test of personal conduct. good. See Introduction: Distinctive Characteristics. Right knowledge is extremely important because it leads to godliness (v. 1). Paul maintained a remarkable balance between doctrine and practice.

2:1 you. Emphatic, contrasting the work of Titus with that of the false teachers just denounced (1:10–16).

2:2–10 Sound doctrine demands right conduct of all believers, regardless of age, sex or position.

2:2 Older men, as leaders, were to be moral and spiritual examples. temperate. Instead of being "lazy gluttons," as were Cretans in general (1:12), these older believers were to be responsible and sensible.

2:3 likewise. The same moral standards applied to women as to men. not malicious gossips. Slanderous talk apparently was a common vice among Cretan women.

2:4 love their husbands. Just as husbands are exhorted (Eph 5:25) to love their wives (though different Greek words for "love" are used in the two passages).

2:5 that the word of God will not be dishonored. Indicating Paul's deep spiritual concern behind these ethical instructions. See also vv. 8,10, dealing with his concern that Christian living should help rather than hinder the spread of the gospel.

2:7–8 Perhaps Titus was still a young man and was not yet well respected by the Cretan churches. The demands on a leader are all-inclusive, involving not only his word but also his life-style (James 3:1).

2:7 good. See Introduction: Distinctive Characteristics.

2:9–10 Instructions for a distinct group in the churches. Slavery was a basic element of Roman society, and the impact of Christianity upon slaves was a vital concern. Guidance for the conduct of Christian slaves was essential (see note on Eph 6:5).

2:9 masters. The Greek for this word, from which our English term "despot" is derived, indicates the owner's absolute authority over his slave. Roman slaves had no legal rights, their fates being entirely in their masters' hands.

2:10 adorn the doctrine. Christian slaves could give a unique and powerful testimony to the gospel by their willing faithfulness and obedience to their masters.

2:11–14 Briefly describes the effect grace should have on believers. It encourages rejection of ungodliness and leads to holier living—in keeping with Paul's repeated insistence that profession of Christ be accompanied by godly living (vv. 1–2,4–5,10; 3:8).

2:11 For. Introduces the doctrinal basis for the ethical demands just stressed. Right conduct must be founded on right doctrine. grace of God. The undeserved love God showed us in Christ while we were still sinners and His enemies (Rom 5:6–10) and by which we are saved apart from any moral achievements or religious acts on our part (see 3:5; Eph 2:8–9). But this same grace instructs us that our salvation should produce good works (see note on v. 14; see also Eph 2:10).

2:12 instructing us. The word translated "teaches" refers to more than instruction; it includes the whole process of training a child—instruction, encouragement, correction and discipline. the present age. See note on 2 Cor 4:4.

2:13 the blessed hope and the . . . glory. The second coming (see 1 Tim 6:14; 2 Tim 4:1; see also note on 2 Tim 4:8). our great God and Savior, Christ Jesus. It is possible to translate this phrase "the great God and our Saviour, Jesus Christ" (KJV), but the NASB rendering better represents the Greek construction. It is an explicit testimony to the deity of Christ (see note on Rom 9:5).

[a]appearing of the glory of [1][b]our great God and Savior, Christ Jesus, 14 who [a]gave Himself for us [b]to redeem us from every lawless deed, and to [c]purify for Himself a [d]people for His own possession, [e]zealous for good deeds.

15 These things speak and [a]exhort and [a]reprove with all [1]authority. [b]Let no one disregard you.

Godly Living

3 [a]Remind them [b]to be subject to rulers, to authorities, to be obedient, to be [c]ready for every good deed,

2 to malign no one, [a]to be peaceable, [a]gentle, [b]showing every consideration for all men.

3 [a]For we also once were foolish ourselves, [b]disobedient, [c]deceived, [d]enslaved to [e]various lusts and pleasures, spending our life in [f]malice and [f]envy, hateful, hating one another.

4 But when the [a]kindness of [b]God our Savior and His love for mankind [c]appeared,

5 [a]He saved us, [b]not on the basis of deeds which we have done in righteousness, but [c]according to His mercy, by the [d]washing of regeneration and [e]renewing by the Holy Spirit,

6 [a]whom He poured out upon us [b]richly through Jesus Christ our Savior,

7 so that being justified by His grace we would be made [a]heirs [1]according to the hope of eternal life.

8 [a]This is a trustworthy statement; and concerning these things I [b]want you to speak confidently, so that those who have [c]believed God will be careful to [d]engage in good deeds. These things are good and profitable for men.

9 But [a]avoid [b]foolish controversies and [c]genealogies and strife and [d]disputes about the Law, for they are [e]unprofitable and worthless.

10 [a]Reject a [b]factious man [c]after a first and second warning, 11 knowing that such a man is [a]perverted and is sinning, being self-condemned.

Personal Concerns

12 When I send Artemas or [a]Tychicus to you, [b]make every effort to come to me at Nicopolis, for I have decided to [c]spend the winter there.

13 Diligently help Zenas the [a]lawyer and [b]Apollos on their way so that nothing is lacking for them.

14 [a]Our people must also learn to [b]engage in good [1]deeds to meet [c]pressing needs, so that they will not be [d]unfruitful.

15 [a]All who are with me greet you. Greet those who love us [b]in the faith.

[c]Grace be with you all.

2:14 Salvation involves the double work of redeeming us from guilt and judgment and of producing moral purity and helpful service to others (see Introduction: Distinctive Characteristics).
2:15 A summary of Titus's responsibility and authority. things. The content of the whole chapter.
3:1–2 NT teaching is not confined to the area of personal salvation but includes much instruction about practical living. Although believers are citizens of heaven (Phil 3:20), they must also submit themselves to earthly government (see Rom 13:1–7; 1 Pet 2:13–17) and help promote the well-being of the community.
3:1 to rulers, to authorities. The terms refer to all forms and levels of human government (cf. Eph 3:10; 6:12 for application to angels). good. See Introduction: Distinctive Characteristics.
3:4 kindness . . . and His love. The reasons why God did not simply banish fallen man but acted to save him (cf. 2:11). The Greek here for "love" is philanthropia, "love for mankind."
3:5 saved us . . . according to His mercy. Salvation is not achieved by human effort or merit but comes through God's mercy alone. washing of regeneration. A reference to new birth, of which baptism (among other things) is a sign. It cannot mean that baptism is necessary for regeneration, since the NT plainly teaches that the new birth is an act of God's Spirit (see, e.g., John 3:5) and is not effected or achieved by ceremony. renewing by the Holy Spirit. Also a reference to new birth.
3:8 trustworthy statement. A reference to the doctrinal summary in vv. 4–7. This phrase, which occurs only here in Titus, appears four other times in the Pastoral Letters (1 Tim 1:15; 3:1; 4:9; 2 Tim 2:11) and nowhere else in the NT. good. See Introduction: Distinctive Characteristics.
3:9 about the Law. A reference to the situation described in 1:10–16. A similar problem existed in Ephesus (see 1 Tim 1:3–7).
3:10 factious man. The Greek for this phrase became a technical term in the early church for a type of "heretic" who promoted dissension by propagating extreme views of legitimate Christian truths.
3:11 Stubborn refusal to listen to correction reveals inner perversion.
3:12 Tychicus. Paul's trusted co-worker, who on various occasions traveled with or for Paul (Acts 20:4; Eph 6:21–22; Col 4:7–8; 2 Tim 4:12). Nicopolis. Means "city of victory." Several cities had this name, but the reference here apparently is to the city in Epirus on the western shore of Greece. decided to spend the winter there. Indicates that Paul had not arrived there when he wrote and that he was still free to travel at will, not yet having been imprisoned in Rome for the second time.
3:13 Zenas the lawyer. Mentioned only here in the NT. If he was a Jewish convert, "lawyer" means that he was an expert in the Mosaic law; if he was a Gentile convert, that he was a Roman jurist. Apollos. A native of Alexandria and one of Paul's well-known co-workers (Acts 18:24–28; 19:1; 1 Cor 1:12; 3:4–6,22; 16:12). The two travelers apparently brought the letter from Paul.
3:14 good. See Introduction: Distinctive Characteristics.

Philemon

INTRODUCTION

Author, Date and Place of Writing

Paul wrote this short letter (see vv. 1, 9, 19) probably at the same time as Colossians (c. A.D. 60; see Introduction to Colossians: Author, Date and Place of Writing) and sent it to Colosse with the same travelers, Onesimus and Tychicus. He apparently wrote both letters from prison in Rome, though possibly from Ephesus (see Introduction to Philippians: Author, Date and Place of Writing).

Recipient, Background and Purpose

Paul wrote this letter to Philemon, a believer in Colosse who, along with others, was a slave owner (cf. Col 4:1; for slavery in the NT see note on Eph 6:5). One of his slaves, Onesimus, had apparently stolen from him (cf. v. 18) and then run away, which under Roman law was punishable by death. But Onesimus met Paul and through his ministry became a Christian (see v. 10). Now he was willing to return to his master, and Paul writes this personal appeal to ask that he be accepted as a Christian brother (see v. 16).

Approach and Structure

To win Philemon's willing acceptance of Onesimus, Paul writes very tactfully and in a lighthearted tone, which he creates with a wordplay (see note on v. 11). The appeal (vv. 4–21) is organized in a way prescribed by ancient Greek and Roman teachers: to build rapport (vv. 4–10), to persuade the mind (vv. 11–19) and to move the emotions (vv. 20–21). The name Onesimus is not mentioned until the rapport has been built (v. 10), and the appeal itself is stated only near the end of the section to persuade the mind (v. 17).

Salutation

1 [a]Paul, [b]a prisoner of [c]Christ Jesus, and [d]Timothy [1]our brother,

To Philemon our beloved brother and [e]fellow worker,

2 and to Apphia [1][a]our sister, and to [b]Archippus our [c]fellow soldier, and to [d]the church in your house:

3 [a]Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Philemon's Love and Faith

4 [a]I thank my God always, making mention of you in my prayers,

5 because I [a]hear of your love and of the faith which you have toward the Lord Jesus and toward all the [1]saints;

6 and I pray that the fellowship of your faith may become effective [1]through the [a]knowledge of every good thing which is in you [2]for Christ's sake.

7 For I have come to have much [a]joy and comfort in your love, because the [1]hearts of the [2]saints have been [b]refreshed through you, brother.

8 Therefore, [a]though I have [1]enough confidence in Christ to order you to do what is [b]proper,

9 yet for love's sake I rather [a]appeal to you—since I am such a person as Paul, [1]the [b]aged, and now also [c]a prisoner of [d]Christ Jesus—

Plea for Onesimus, a Free Man

10 I [a]appeal to you for my [b]child [1][c]Onesimus, whom I have begotten in my [2]imprisonment, 11 who formerly was useless to you, but now is useful both to you and to me.

12 I have sent him back to you in person, that is, sending my very heart,

13 whom I wished to keep with me, so that on your behalf he might minister to me in my [1][a]imprisonment for the gospel;

14 but without your consent I did not want to do anything, so that your goodness would [a]not be, in effect, by compulsion but of your own free will.

15 For perhaps [a]he was for this reason separated from you for a while, that you would have him back forever, 16 [a]no longer as a slave, but more than a slave, [b]a beloved brother, especially to me, but how much more to you, both [c]in the flesh and in the Lord.

17 If then you regard me a [a]partner, accept him as you would me.

18 But if he has wronged you in any way or owes you anything, charge that to my account;

19 [a]I, Paul, am writing this with my own hand, I will repay it ([b]not to [1]mention to you that you owe to me even your own self as well).

20 Yes, brother, let me benefit from you in the Lord; [a]refresh my heart in Christ.

21 [a]Having confidence in your obedience, I write to you, since I know that you will do even more than what I say.

22 At the same time also prepare me a [a]lodging, for [b]I hope that through [c]your prayers [d]I will be given to you.

23 [a]Epaphras, my [b]fellow prisoner in Christ Jesus, greets you, 24 as do [a]Mark, [b]Aristarchus, [c]Demas, [c]Luke, my [d]fellow workers.

25 [a]The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be [b]with your spirit.[1]

1–2 Although Paul writes together with Timothy and although he addresses the entire church in Colossae, in this very personal letter to Philemon he uses "I" rather than "we," and "you" (singular except in vv. 22,25).

1 prisoner. See notes on Eph 3:1; Phil 1:13. Timothy. See note on Col 1:1; see also Introduction to 1 Timothy: Recipient. Philemon. A Christian living in Colossae or nearby and the owner of the slave Onesimus.

2 Apphia. Probably Philemon's wife. Archippus. See Col 4:17.

4 thank . . . making mention of you in my prayers. See note on Phil 1:3–4.

5 love and . . . faith . . . toward the Lord Jesus and . . . all the saints. See Col 1:4.

7 hearts. The English equivalent of the Greek for "intestines"—the part of the body that is figurative for the emotions of pity and love (see vv. 12,20).

10 my child. See note on 1 Tim 1:2. Onesimus. See Introduction: Recipient, Background and Purpose.

11 useless . . . useful. A play on the meaning of Onesimus's name ("useful").

17–19 Luther said, "Even as Christ did for us with God the Father, thus Paul also does for Onesimus with Philemon."

20 me . . . my. Both pronouns are emphatic, making an obvious allusion to v. 7. benefit. The Greek for this word is another play on the name Onesimus.

22 At the same time also. It was not unusual for an ancient letter, though occasioned by one matter, to also include another matter. Often, as here, the second matter had to do with how and when the author planned to meet the recipient again.

23 Epaphras. See Col 4:12.

24 Mark, Aristarchus. See note on Col 4:10. Demas, Luke. See note on Col 4:14.

Hebrews

INTRODUCTION

Author

The writer of this letter does not identify himself, but he was obviously well known to the original recipients. Though for some 1,200 years (from c. A.D. 400 to 1600) the book was commonly called "The Epistle of Paul to the Hebrews," there was no agreement in the earliest centuries regarding its authorship. Since the Reformation it has been widely recognized that Paul could not have been the writer. There is no disharmony between the teaching of Hebrews and that of Paul's letters, but the specific emphases and writing styles are markedly different. Contrary to Paul's usual practice, the author of Hebrews nowhere identifies himself in the letter—except to indicate that he was a man (see note on 11:32). Moreover, the statement "After it was at the first spoken through the Lord, it was confirmed to us by those who heard" (2:3), indicates that the author had neither been with Jesus during his earthly ministry nor received special revelation directly from the risen Lord, as had Paul (Gal 1:11–12).

The earliest suggestion of authorship is found in Tertullian's De Pudicitia, 20 (c. 200), in which he quotes from "an epistle to the Hebrews under the name of Barnabas." From the letter itself it is clear that the writer must have had authority in the apostolic church and was an intellectual Hebrew Christian well versed in the OT. Barnabas meets these requirements. He was a Jew of the priestly tribe of Levi (Acts 4:36) who became a close friend of Paul after the latter's conversion. Under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, the church at Antioch commissioned Barnabas and Paul for the work of evangelism and sent them off on the first missionary journey (Acts 13:1–4).

The other leading candidate for authorship is Apollos, whose name was first suggested by Martin Luther and who is favored by many scholars today. Apollos, an Alexandrian by birth, was also a Jewish Christian with notable intellectual and oratorical abilities. Luke tells us that Apollos was "an eloquent man . . . and he was mighty in the Scriptures" (Acts 18:24). We also know that Apollos was associated with Paul in the early years of the church in Corinth (1 Cor 1:12; 3:4–6,22).

Date

Hebrews must have been written before the destruction of Jerusalem and the temple in A.D. 70 because: (1) had it been written after this date, the author surely would have mentioned the temple's destruction and the end of the Jewish sacrificial system; and (2) the author consistently uses the Greek present tense when speaking of the temple and the priestly activities connected with it (see 5:1–3; 7:23,27; 8:3–5; 9:6–9,13,25; 10:1,3–4,8,11; 13:10–11).

Recipients

The letter was addressed primarily to Jewish converts who were familiar with the OT and who were being tempted to revert to Judaism or to Judaize the gospel (cf. Gal 2:14). Some have suggested that these professing Jewish Christians were thinking of merging with a Jewish sect, such as the one at Qumran near the Dead Sea. It has also been suggested that the recipients were from the large number of priests who "were becoming obedient to the faith" (Acts 6:7).

Theme

The theme of Hebrews is the absolute supremacy and sufficiency of Jesus Christ as revealer and as mediator of God's grace. The prologue (1:1–4) presents Christ as God's full and final revelation, far surpassing the limited preliminary revelation given in the OT. The prophecies and promises of the OT are fulfilled in the "new covenant" (or "new testament"), of which Christ is the mediator. From the OT itself, Christ is shown to be superior to the ancient prophets, to angels, to Moses (the mediator of the former covenant) and to Aaron and the priestly succession descended from Him. Hebrews could be called "the book of better things" since the two Greek words for "better" and "superior" occur 15 times in the letter.

Practical applications of this theme are given throughout the book. The readers are told that there can be no turning back to or continuation in the old Jewish system, which has been superseded by the unique priesthood of Christ. God's people now must look only to Him, whose atoning death, resurrection and ascension have opened the way into the true, heavenly sanctuary of God's presence. Resisting temptations to give up the struggle, believers must persevere in the spiritual contest to which they have committed themselves. Otherwise they may meet with judgment as did the rebellious generation of Israelites in the wilderness.

God's Final Word in His Son

1 God, after He [a]spoke long ago to the fathers in [b]the prophets in many portions and [c]in many ways,

2 [1][a]in these last days [b]has spoken to us [2]in [c]His Son, whom He appointed [d]heir of all things, [e]through whom also He made the [3][f]world.

3 [1]And He is the radiance of His glory and the exact [a]representation of His nature, and [2][b]upholds all things by the word of His power. When He had made [c]purification of sins, He [d]sat down at the right hand of the [e]Majesty on high,

4 having become as much better than the angels, as He has inherited a more excellent [a]name than they.

5 For to which of the angels did He ever say,

"[a]YOU ARE MY SON,
TODAY I HAVE BEGOTTEN YOU"?

And again,

"[b]I WILL BE A FATHER TO HIM AND HE SHALL BE A SON TO ME"?

6 And [1]when He again [a]brings the firstborn into [2b]the world, He says,

"[c]AND LET ALL THE ANGELS OF GOD WORSHIP HIM."

7 And of the angels He says,

"[a]WHO MAKES HIS ANGELS WINDS, AND HIS MINISTERS A FLAME OF FIRE."

8 But of the Son He says,

"[a]YOUR THRONE, O GOD, IS FOREVER AND EVER, AND THE RIGHTEOUS SCEPTER IS THE SCEPTER OF [1]HIS KINGDOM.

9 "[a]YOU HAVE LOVED RIGHTEOUSNESS AND HATED LAWLESSNESS;
[b]THEREFORE GOD, YOUR GOD, HAS
[c]ANOINTED YOU WITH THE OIL OF GLADNESS ABOVE YOUR COMPANIONS."

10 And,

"[a]YOU, LORD, IN THE BEGINNING LAID THE FOUNDATION OF THE EARTH, AND THE HEAVENS ARE THE WORKS OF YOUR HANDS;

11 [a]THEY WILL PERISH, BUT YOU REMAIN;
[b]AND THEY ALL WILL BECOME OLD LIKE A GARMENT,

12 [a]AND LIKE A MANTLE YOU WILL ROLL THEM UP;

1:1 He spoke. Cf. "has spoken" (v. 2). God is the ultimate author of both the OT and the NT. long ago. Prior to Christ's coming, in contrast to "in these last days" (v. 2), the Messianic era inaugurated by the incarnation (see notes on Acts 2:17; 1 Tim 4:1; 1 John 2:18). to the fathers. In contrast to "to us" (v. 2). in the prophets. All OT writers are here viewed as prophets in that their testimony was preparation for the coming of Christ; cf. "in His Son" (v. 2), a new and unique category of revelation in contrast to that of the prophets. in many portions and in many ways. The OT revelation was fragmentary and occasional, lacking fullness and finality.

1:2–3 The superiority of the Son's revelation is demonstrated by seven great descriptive statements about Him: 1. appointed heir of all things. The incarnate Son, having performed the work of redemption, was gloriously exalted to the position of the firstborn heir of God, i.e., He received the inheritance of God's estate ("all things"). See Rom 8:17. 2. through whom also He made the world. See John 1:3; Col 1:16. 3. radiance of His glory. As the brilliance of the sun is inseparable from the sun itself, so the Son's radiance is inseparable from deity, for He Himself is God, the second person of the Trinity (John 1:14,18). 4. exact representation of His nature. Jesus is not merely an image or reflection of God. Because the Son Himself is God, He is the absolutely authentic representation of God's being (cf. John 14:9; Col 1:15). 5. upholds all things. Christ is not like Atlas, the mythical Greek god who held the world on his shoulders. The Son dynamically holds together all that has been created through Him (Col 1:17). 6. made purification of sins. Through His redeeming death on the cross. 7. sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high. Being seated at God's right hand indicates that the work of redemption is complete and that Christ is actively ruling with God as Lord over all (see v. 13; 8:1; 10:12; 12:2; Eph 1:20; Col 3:1; 1 Pet 3:22; see also note on Mark 16:19).

1:4 much better than the angels. To most Jews angels were exalted beings, especially revered because they were involved in giving the law at Sinai (see note on 2:2) and to the Jews the law was God's supreme revelation. The Dead Sea Scrolls reflect the expectation that the archangel Michael would be the supreme figure in the Messianic kingdom. Whether the recipients of Hebrews were tempted to assign angels a place above Christ (Messiah) is not known. name. To Jews a name stood for the full character of a person in all he was and did (see note on Gen 17:5). The section that follows indicates that this name was "Son"—a name to which no angel could lay claim.

1:5–14 Christ's superiority to angels is documented by seven OT quotations, showing that He is God's Son, that He is worshiped by angels and that, though He is God, He is distinguished from the Father.

1:5 YOU ARE MY SON, TODAY I HAVE BEGOTTEN YOU. This passage (Ps 2:7) is quoted in Acts 13:33 as fulfilled in Christ's resurrection (cf. Rom 1:4). I WILL BE A FATHER TO HIM AND HE SHALL BE A SON TO ME. Jews acknowledged 2 Sam 7:14 (of which this passage is a quotation) and Ps 2 to be Messianic in their ultimate application (see Luke 1:32–33). This royal personage is neither an angel nor an archangel; He is God's Son.

1:6 firstborn. See note on Col 1:15. LET ALL THE ANGELS OF GOD WORSHIP HIM. Possibly quoted from Ps 97:7. This statement, which in the OT refers to the Lord God (Yahweh), is here applied to Christ, giving clear indication of His full deity. The very beings with whom Christ is being compared are commanded to proclaim His superiority by worshiping Him.

1:7 WHO MAKES HIS ANGELS WINDS, AND HIS MINISTERS A FLAME OF FIRE. Ps 104:4 speaks of the storm wind and the lightning as agents of God's purposes. The Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT), which the author of Hebrews quotes as the version familiar to his readers, reflects the developing doctrine of angels during the period between the OT and the NT.

1:8 BUT OF THE SON HE SAYS, "YOUR THRONE, O GOD, IS FOREVER." The author selects a passage that intimates the deity of the Messianic (and Davidic) King, further demonstrating the Son's superiority over angels.

1:10 YOU, LORD, IN THE BEGINNING LAID THE FOUNDATION OF THE EARTH. As in v. 6, a passage addressed to Yahweh ("You, Lord") is applied to the Son.

LIKE A GARMENT THEY WILL ALSO BE

END."

13 But to which of the angels has He ever said,

"[a]SIT AT MY RIGHT HAND,
[b]UNTIL I MAKE YOUR ENEMIES
A FOOTSTOOL FOR YOUR FEET"?

14 Are they not all [a]ministering spirits, sent out to render service for the sake of those who will [b]inherit [c]salvation?

Give Heed

2 For this reason we must pay much closer attention to [1]what we have heard, so that [a]we do not drift away from it.

2 For if the word [a]spoken through [b]angels proved [1]unalterable, and [c]every transgression and disobedience received a just [2d]penalty,

3 [a]how will we escape if we neglect so great a [b]salvation? [1]After it was at the first [c]spoken through the Lord, it was [d]confirmed to us by those who heard,

4 God also testifying with them, both by [a]signs and wonders and by [b]various [1]miracles and by [2c]gifts of the Holy Spirit [d]according to His own will.

Earth Subject to Man

5 For He did not subject to angels [1a]the world to come, concerning which we are speaking.

6 But one has testified [a]somewhere, saying,

"[b]WHAT IS MAN, THAT YOU REMEMBER HIM?
OR THE SON OF MAN, THAT YOU ARE CONCERNED ABOUT HIM?
7 "[a]YOU HAVE MADE HIM [1]FOR A LITTLE WHILE LOWER THAN THE ANGELS;
YOU HAVE CROWNED HIM WITH GLORY AND HONOR,
[2]AND HAVE APPOINTED HIM OVER THE WORKS OF YOUR HANDS;
8 [a]YOU HAVE PUT ALL THINGS IN SUBJECTION
UNDER HIS FEET."

For in subjecting all things to him, He left nothing that is not subject to him. But now [b]we do not yet see all things subjected to him.

Jesus Briefly Humbled

9 But we do see Him who was [a]made [1]for a little while lower than the angels, namely, Jesus, [b]because of the suffering of death [c]crowned with glory and honor, so that [d]by the grace of God He might [e]taste death [f]for everyone.

10 For [a]it was fitting for Him, [b]for whom are all things, and through whom are all things, in bringing many sons to glory, to

1:13 SIT AT MY RIGHT HAND. See note on vv. 2–3. Ps 110 is applied repeatedly to Jesus in Hebrews (vv. 3,13; 5:6,10; 6:20; 7:3,11, 17,21; 8:1; 10:12–13; 12:2).

1:14 ministering spirits. Christ reigns; angels minister as those sent to serve.

2:1–4 The first of five warnings strategically positioned throughout the letter (see 3:7–4:13; 5:11–6:12; 10:19–39; 12:14–29).

2:1 what we have heard. The message of the gospel, including that of Christ's person as the God-man and His redemptive work on the cross. drift away. From the greater revelation given through the Son.

2:2 the word spoken through angels. The law given to Moses at Sinai. That angels were active in giving the law is indicated by Deut 33:2 ("ten thousand holy ones"); Ps 68:17; Acts 7:38,53; Gal 3:19.

2:3 so great a salvation. The argument here is from the lesser to the greater, and assumes that the gospel is greater than the law. Thus, if disregard for the law brought certain punishment, disregard for the gospel will bring even greater punishment. confirmed to us by those who heard. The eyewitnesses, chiefly the apostles (see 2 Pet 1:16; 1 John 1:1), had vouched for the message first announced by Christ. The author himself apparently was neither an apostle nor an eyewitness (see Introduction: Author).

2:4 signs and wonders and by various miracles. God added His confirmation to the gospel message through supernatural acts such as healing the sick (see Acts 3:7–9,11–12,16). gifts of the Holy Spirit. Such as the gift of tongues (see Acts 2:4–12). according to His own will. See 1 Cor 12:4–11.

2:5–18 An exposition of Ps 8:4–6, which continues to show Christ's superiority over the angels—in fulfilling man's role as sovereign over the earth and in redeeming fallen man, not fallen angels. To accomplish all this, Christ assumed human nature (see vv. 11,14).

2:5 He did not subject to angels the world to come. Some think the readers were being enticed to believe that the future kingdom would be under the rule of angelic beings (see note on 1:4). Others see the author trying to dissuade his readers from turning back to Judaism. He shows that Christ, as bearer of the new revelation, is superior to angels who had participated in bringing the revelation at Sinai.

2:6a one has testified somewhere. Such a well-known passage as Ps 8:4–6 did not need precise identification.

2:6b–8 Awed by the marvelous order and immensity of God's handiwork in the celestial universe, the psalmist marveled at the high dignity God had bestowed on puny man by entrusting him with dominion over the other creatures (see Gen 1:26–28 and notes).

2:7 ANGELS. See note on Ps 8:5.

2:8 all things. God's purpose from the beginning was that man should be sovereign in the creaturely realm, subject only to God. Due to sin, that purpose of God has not yet been fully realized. Indeed, men are themselves "subject to slavery" (v. 15).

2:9 Him . . . crowned with glory and honor. See 10:13. Ps 8 is here applied to Jesus in particular. As forerunner of man's restored dominion over the earth, He was made lower than the angels for a while but is now crowned with glory and honor at God's right hand. By His perfect life, His death on the cross and His exaltation, He has made possible for redeemed man the ultimate fulfillment of Ps 8 in the future kingdom, when man will regain sovereignty over creation.

2:10 many sons to glory. Those who believe in Christ are made God's children through His only Son (cf. John 1:12–13). perfect

[c]perfect the [1d]author of their salvation through sufferings.

11 For both He who [a]sanctifies and those who [b]are [1]sanctified are all [c]from one Father; for which reason He is not ashamed to call them [d]brethren,

12 saying,

"[a]I WILL PROCLAIM YOUR NAME TO MY BRETHREN, IN THE MIDST OF THE CONGREGATION I WILL SING YOUR PRAISE."

13 And again,

"[a]I WILL PUT MY TRUST IN HIM."

And again,

"[b]BEHOLD, I AND THE CHILDREN WHOM GOD HAS GIVEN ME."

14 Therefore, since the children share in [1a]flesh and blood, [b]He Himself likewise also partook of the same, that [c]through death He might render powerless [d]him who had the power of death, that is, the devil, 15 and might free those who through [a]fear of death were subject to slavery all their lives.

16 For assuredly He does not [1]give help to angels, but He gives help to the [2]descendant of Abraham.

17 Therefore, He [1]had [a]to be made like His brethren in all things, so that He might [b]become a merciful and faithful [c]high priest in [d]things pertaining to God, to [e]make propitiation for the sins of the people.

18 For since He Himself was [a]tempted in that which He has suffered, He is able to come to the aid of those who are tempted.

Jesus Our High Priest

3 Therefore, [a]holy brethren, partakers of a [b]heavenly calling, consider Jesus, [c]the Apostle and [d]High Priest of our [e]confession;

2 [1]He was faithful to Him who appointed Him, as [a]Moses also was in all His house.

3 [a]For He has been counted worthy of more glory than Moses, by just so much as the builder of the house has more honor than the house.

4 For every house is built by someone, but the builder of all things is God.

5 Now [a]Moses was faithful in all His house as [b]a servant, [c]for a testimony of those things [d]which were to be spoken later;

6 but Christ was faithful as [a]a Son over His house—[b]whose house we are, [c]if we

. . . through sufferings. Christ had not been morally or spiritually imperfect, but His incarnation was completed (perfected) when He experienced suffering. He identified with us on the deepest level of anguish, and so became qualified to pay the price for our sinful imperfection and to become our sympathetic high priest. author. The Greek word occurs only four times in the NT: here; 12:2; Acts 3:15; 5:31 ("Prince").

2:11 who sanctifies . . . who are sanctified. Christ became man to identify Himself with man and, by His substitutionary sacrifice on the cross, to restore the holiness man had lost. to call them brethren. Our brotherhood with Jesus is the brotherhood of the Redeemer with the redeemed, who are truly one with Him.

2:12 I WILL PROCLAIM YOUR NAME TO MY BRETHREN. A quotation from Ps 22:22, a psalm describing the sufferings and triumph of God's righteous servant (see introduction to Ps 22). The key phrase is "my brethren," seen here as coming from the lips of the triumphant Messiah.

2:13 I WILL PUT MY TRUST IN HIM. An expression of true dependence on God perfectly exemplified in Christ. In Him humanity is seen as it was intended to be. BEHOLD, I AND THE CHILDREN WHOM GOD HAS GIVEN ME. Also seen ultimately as an utterance of the incarnate Son. The Father's children are given to the Son to be His brothers (see v. 11).

2:14 him who had the power of death. Satan wields the power of death only insofar as he induces people to sin and to come under sin's penalty, which is death (see Ezek 18:4; Rom 5:12; 6:23).

2:15 free. See 1 Cor 15:54–57; Rev 1:18.

2:16 descendant of Abraham. Christ assumed not angelic nature but human nature, characterized by the descendants of Abraham.

2:17 a merciful and faithful high priest. Christ could represent mankind before God only if He became one with them. make propitiation. Making propitiation meant turning away God's wrath. See notes on Lev 16:20–22; 17:11. In order for Christ to turn aside the wrath of God against guilty sinners, He had to become one with them and die as a substitute for them.

2:18 He Himself was tempted. See note on 4:15.

3:1–4:13 An exposition of Ps 95:7–11, stressing Christ's superiority over Moses and warning against disobedience and unbelief.

3:1 partakers. See note on v. 14. a heavenly calling. The invitation that comes from heaven and leads to heaven. Apostle. Means "one who is sent" (see notes on Mark 6:30; 1 Cor 1:1). Jesus repeatedly spoke of Himself as having been sent into the world by the Father (e.g., Matt 10:40; 15:24; Mark 9:37; Luke 9:48; John 4:34; 5:24,30,36–38; 6:38). He is the supreme apostle, the one from whom all other apostleship flows.

3:2 A comparison of Christ and Moses, both of whom were sent by the Father to lead His people—the one to lead them from bondage under Pharaoh to the promised land, the other to lead them from bondage under the devil (2:14–15) to the Sabbath-rest promised to those who believe (4:3,9). The Sabbath-rest may be heaven, though many hold that it refers primarily to the salvation-rest of Christ's redemption. The analogy focuses on faithful stewardship.

3:3 the builder . . . has more honor than the house. Jesus is the actual builder of the house (or household), whereas Moses was simply a part of it.

3:4 the builder of all things is God. Jesus is here equated with God, making it beyond question that Christ is greater than Moses.

3:5–6 in all His house as a servant . . . a Son over His house. The superiority of Christ over Moses is shown in two comparisons: (1) Moses was a servant, whereas Christ is a son, and (2) Moses was in God's house, i.e., a part of it, whereas Christ is over God's house.

3:6 whose house we are. The house is made up of God's people, His household (see Eph 2:19; 1 Pet 2:5). if we hold fast our confidence and the . . . hope. Failure to persevere reveals that a person is actually not a child of God, whereas perseverance hold fast our [d]confidence and the boast of our [e]hope firm until the end.

7 Therefore, just as [a]the Holy Spirit says,
"[b]TODAY IF YOU HEAR HIS VOICE,
8 [a]DO NOT HARDEN YOUR HEARTS AS [1]WHEN THEY PROVOKED ME,
AS IN THE DAY OF TRIAL IN THE WILDERNESS, 9 [a]WHERE YOUR FATHERS TRIED Me BY TESTING Me,
AND SAW MY WORKS FOR [b]FORTY YEARS.
10 "[a]THEREFORE I WAS ANGRY WITH THIS GENERATION,
AND SAID, 'THEY ALWAYS GO ASTRAY IN THEIR HEART, AND THEY DID NOT KNOW MY WAYS';
11 [a]AS I SWORE IN MY WRATH,
'THEY SHALL NOT ENTER MY REST.' "

The Peril of Unbelief

12 [a]Take care, brethren, that there not be in any one of you an evil, unbelieving heart [1]that falls away from [b]the living God.

13 But [a]encourage one another day after day, as long as it is still called "Today," so that none of you will be hardened by the [b]deceitfulness of sin.

14 For we have become partakers of Christ, [a]if we hold fast the beginning of our [b]assurance firm until the end,

15 while it is said,
"[a]TODAY IF YOU HEAR HIS VOICE,
DO NOT HARDEN YOUR HEARTS, AS [1]WHEN THEY PROVOKED ME."

16 For who [a]provoked Him when they had heard? Indeed, [b]did not all those who came out of Egypt led by Moses?

17 And with whom was He angry for forty years? Was it not with those who sinned, [a]whose bodies fell in the wilderness?

18 And to whom did He swear [a]that they would not enter His rest, but to those who were [b]disobedient?

19 So we see that they were not able to enter because of [a]unbelief.

The Believer's Rest

4 Therefore, let us fear if, while a promise remains of entering His rest, any one of you may seem to have [a]come short of it.

2 For indeed we have had good news preached to us, just as they also; but [a]the word [1]they heard did not profit them, because [2]it was not united by faith in those who heard.

3 For we who have believed enter that rest, just as He has said,
"[a]AS I SWORE IN MY WRATH,
THEY SHALL NOT ENTER MY REST,"
although His works were finished [b]from the foundation of the world.

4 For He has said [a]somewhere concerning the seventh day: "[b]AND GOD [c]RESTED ON THE SEVENTH DAY FROM ALL HIS WORKS";

5 and again in this passage, "[a]THEY SHALL NOT ENTER MY REST."

6 Therefore, since it remains for some to enter it, and those who formerly had good news preached to them failed to enter because of [a]disobedience,

7 He again fixes a certain day, "Today," saying [1]through David after so long a time just [a]as has been said before,
"[b]TODAY IF YOU HEAR HIS VOICE,
DO NOT HARDEN YOUR HEARTS."

8 For [a]if [1]Joshua had given them rest, He would not have spoken of another day after that.

is the hallmark of His children.

3:7–11 This quotation from Ps 95:7–11 summarizes the inglorious history of Israel under Moses' leadership in the wilderness. Three time periods are alluded to: that of the exodus, that of the psalmist and that of the writing of Hebrews. The example of Israel under Moses was used by the psalmist to warn the Israelites of his day against unbelief and disobedience. In a similar way the author of Hebrews applied the psalmist's warning to the recipients of this letter. The warning also applies today.

3:12 that falls away from the living God. To turn away rebelliously (lit. "to become apostate") from God is to turn away from life and to choose death, just as did some of the Israelites who came out of Egypt.

3:13 as long as it is still called "Today." See 4:7. This is still the day of divine grace and opportunity to trust God, but it will not last indefinitely.

3:14 partakers of Christ. To belong to Him and participate in the blessings (cf. v. 1). hold fast the beginning of our assurance firm until the end. Salvation is evidenced by continuing in faith to the end. Such perseverance reveals those who share in Christ (see note on v. 6).

3:16–19 The argument is pursued with a series of rhetorical questions. The important truths are that the people who failed to enter Canaan were the ones who had heard God's promise concerning the land and that they refused to believe what God had promised (v. 19)—an action described as rebellion (v. 16), sin (v. 17) and disobedience (v. 18). Consequently, God in His anger closed the doors of Canaan in the face of that whole generation of Israelites (Num 14:21–35). First-century readers of Hebrews faced a similar danger spiritually.

4:1 a promise remains of entering His rest. Salvation is still available. "His rest" cannot refer ultimately to the rest in Canaan offered to the Israelites. That temporary, earthly rest gained under Joshua (see v. 8; see also note on Josh 1:13) pointed to a rest that is spiritual and eternal.

4:3 we who have believed enter that rest. Just as entering physical rest in Canaan demanded faith in God's promise, so salvation-rest is entered only by faith in the person and work of Jesus Christ. His works were finished from the foundation of the world. God rested from His work on the seventh day of creation (see v. 4; Gen 2:2), and thus His rest is already a reality. The rest God calls us to enter (vv. 10–11) is not our rest but His rest, which He invites us to share.

4:6–8 Israel's going into Canaan under Joshua was a partial and temporary entering of God's rest. That, however, was not the end of entering, as shown in the continuing invitation of Ps 95:7–8.

4:7 "Today." See note on 3:13.

9 So there remains a Sabbath rest for the people of God.

10 For the one who has entered His rest has himself also [a]rested from his works, as [b]God did from His.

11 Therefore let us be diligent to enter that rest, so that no one will fall, through following the same [a]example of [b]disobedience.

12 For [a]the word of God is [b]living and [c]active and sharper than any two-edged [d]sword, and piercing as far as the division of [e]soul and [e]spirit, of both joints and marrow, and [f]able to judge the thoughts and intentions of the heart.

13 And [a]there is no creature hidden from His sight, but all things are [b]open and laid bare to the eyes of Him with whom we have to do.

14 Therefore, since we have a great [a]high priest who has [b]passed through the heavens, Jesus [c]the Son of God, let us hold fast our [d]confession.

15 For we do not have [a]a high priest who cannot sympathize with our weaknesses, but One who has been [b]tempted in all things as we are, yet [c]without sin.

16 Therefore let us [a]draw near with [b]confidence to the throne of grace, so that we may receive mercy and find grace to help in time of need.

The Perfect High Priest

5 For every high priest [a]taken from among men is appointed on behalf of men in [b]things pertaining to God, in order to [c]offer both gifts and sacrifices [d]for sins;

2 [1a]he can deal gently with the [b]ignorant and [c]misguided, since he himself also is [2d]beset with weakness;

3 and because of it he is obligated to offer sacrifices [a]for sins, [b]as for the people, so also for himself.

4 And [a]no one takes the honor to himself, but receives it when he is called by God, even [b]as Aaron was.

5 So also Christ [a]did not glorify Himself so as to become a [b]high priest, but He who [c]said to Him,

"[d]YOU ARE MY SON,
TODAY I HAVE BEGOTTEN YOU";

6 just as He says also in another passage,

"[a]YOU ARE A PRIEST FOREVER
ACCORDING TO [b]THE ORDER OF MELCHIZEDEK."

4:9 there remains a Sabbath rest. God's rest may still be entered by faith in His Son.

4:10 rested from his works. Whereas God rested from the work of creation, the believer ceases his efforts to gain salvation by his own works and rests in the finished work of Christ on the cross. According to some, however, the believer's final rest is in view here (see Rev 14:13).

4:11 be diligent. Not a call to earn one's salvation by works, but an exhortation to enter salvation-rest by faith and not follow Israel's sad example in the wilderness.

4:12–13 The reasons for giving serious attention to the exhortation of v. 11.

4:12 word of God. God's truth was revealed by Jesus (the incarnate Word; see John 1:1,14), but it has also been given verbally, the word referred to here. This dynamic word of God, active in accomplishing God's purposes, appears in both the OT and the NT (see Ps 107:20; 147:18; Is 40:8; 55:11; Gal 3:8; Eph 5:26; James 1:18; 1 Pet 1:23). The author of Hebrews describes it as a living power that judges as with an all-seeing eye, penetrating a person's innermost being. soul and spirit . . . joints and marrow. The totality and depth of one's being.

4:13 there is no creature hidden from His sight. The author associates the activity of the word with the activity of God as though they are one and the same—which in a sense they are.

4:14–7:28 An exposition of Ps 110:4, stressing Christ's superiority over Aaron because of a better priesthood.

4:14 great high priest. See 2:17; 3:1. The author here begins an extended discussion of the superior priesthood of Christ. through the heavens. As the Aaronic high priest on the day of atonement passed from the sight of the people into the most holy place (see Lev 16:15,17), so Jesus passed from the sight of His watching disciples, ascending through the heavens into the heavenly sanctuary, His work of atonement accomplished (Acts 1:9–11). hold fast our confession. Suggests that the readers were in danger of letting their faith slip (see similar admonitions in 2:1; 3:6,14).

4:15 tempted in all things as we are. See 2:18. The author stresses the parallel between Christ's temptations and ours. He did not have each temptation we have but experienced every kind of temptation a person can have. yet without sin. The way in which Christ's temptations were completely different from ours was in the results—His temptations never led to sin (see Matt 4:1–11).

4:16 Therefore let us draw near. Because Christ our high priest has experienced human temptation, He stands ready to give immediate and sympathetic help when we are tempted.

5:1–4 The high-priestly office had two specific qualifications: (1) A candidate had to be "taken from among men" (v. 1) and thus be able to represent them before God; and (2) he had to be "called by God" (v. 4).

5:1 gifts and sacrifices. See 8:3; 9:9; see also notes on Lev 1:2; 2:1.

5:2 the ignorant and misguided. See Is 53:6. Contrast the unintentional sin (as in Lev 4; Num 15:27–29) with defiant rebellion against God (see Num 15:30–31; cf. Heb 6:4–6; 10:26–31).

5:4 no one takes the honor to himself. In Christ's day the high-priestly office was in the hands of a family that had bought control of it.

5:5 Christ did not glorify Himself so as to become a high priest. The Son was appointed by the Father, as the two prophetic statements cited here show (Ps 2:7; 110:4). His high priesthood, however, was "according to the order of Melchizedek" (v. 6), not in the order of Aaron. TODAY I HAVE BEGOTTEN YOU. See notes on 1:5; Ps 2:7–9; cf. Rom 1:4.

5:7 days of His flesh. The principal reference here is to Christ's agony in the Garden of Gethsemane. to the One able to save Him from death. To the Father. Jesus did not shrink from physical suffering and death but from the indescribable agony of taking mankind's sin on Himself (see Matt 27:46). Although He asked that the cup of suffering might be taken from Him, He crying and tears to the One [c]able to save Him [3]from death, and He [4]was heard because of His [d]piety.

8 Although He was [a]a Son, He learned [b]obedience from the things which He suffered.

9 And having been made [a]perfect, He became to all those who obey Him the source of eternal salvation,

10 being designated by God as [a]a high priest according to [b]the order of Melchizedek.

11 Concerning [1]him we have much to say, and it is hard to explain, since you have become dull of hearing.

12 For though [1]by this time you ought to be teachers, you have need again for someone to teach you [a]the [2b]elementary principles of the [c]oracles of God, and you have come to need [d]milk and not solid food.

13 For everyone who partakes only of milk is not accustomed to the word of righteousness, for he is an [a]infant.

14 But solid food is for [a]the mature, who because of practice have their senses [b]trained to [c]discern good and evil.

The Peril of Falling Away

6 Therefore [a]leaving [b]the [1]elementary teaching about the [2]Christ, let us press on to [3c]maturity, not laying again a foundation of repentance from [d]dead works and of faith toward God,

2 of [a]instruction about washings and [b]laying on of hands, and the [c]resurrection of the dead and [c]eternal judgment.

3 And this we will do, [a]if God permits.

4 For in the case of those who have once been [a]enlightened and have tasted of [b]the heavenly gift and have been made [c]partakers of the Holy Spirit,

5 and [a]have tasted the good [b]word of God and the powers of [c]the age to come,

6 and then have fallen away, it is [a]impossible to renew them again to repentance, [1b]since they again crucify to themselves the Son of God and put Him to open shame.

7 For ground that drinks the rain which often [1]falls on it and brings forth vegetation useful to those [a]for whose sake it is also tilled, receives a blessing from God;

8 but if it yields thorns and thistles, it is worthless and [a]close [1]to being cursed, and [2]it ends up being burned.

did not waver in His determination to fulfill the Father's will (see Matt 26:36–46). He was heard. His prayer was granted by the Father, who saved Him from death—through resurrection.

5:8 He learned obedience from the things which He suffered. He was made "perfect" (v. 9) through suffering (see note on 2:10), namely, His temptation in the wilderness and His ordeal on the cross. Though He was the eternal Son of God, it was necessary for Him as the incarnate Son to learn obedience—not that He was ever disobedient, but that He was called on to obey to an extent He had never before experienced. The temptations He faced were real and the battle for victory was difficult, but where Adam failed and fell, Jesus resisted and prevailed. His humanity was thereby completed, "made perfect" (v. 9), and on the basis of this perfection He could become "the source of eternal salvation" (v. 9; see also 9:12).

5:11 Concerning him we have much to say. See ch. 7. dull of hearing. Instead of progressing in the Christian life, the readers had become spiritually sluggish and mentally lazy (6:12).

5:12 by this time. They were not recent converts. elementary principles of the oracles of God. These are listed in 6:1–2 (see note there). Having taken the first steps toward becoming (mature) Christians, they had slipped back to where they started. solid food. Advanced teaching such as that given in ch. 7.

5:14 the mature. Those who had progressed in spiritual life and had become Christians of sound judgment and discernment. discern good and evil. Something neither physical nor spiritual infants can do.

6:1–2 not laying again a foundation. Six fundamental doctrines are mentioned: 1. repentance. The change of mind that causes one to turn away from sin and/or useless rituals. 2. faith toward God. The counterpart of repentance. As repentance is turning away from the darkness of sin, faith is turning to the light of God. 3. instruction about washings. Probably refers to different baptisms with which the readers were familiar, such as Jewish baptism of proselytes, John the Baptist's baptism, and the baptism commanded by Jesus (Matt 28:19). 4. laying on of hands. Sometimes followed baptism (Acts 8:16–17; 19:5–6). Otherwise laying on of hands was practiced in connection with ordaining or commissioning (see Acts 6:6; 13:3; 1 Tim 5:22; 2 Tim 1:6), healing the sick (see Mark 6:5; 16:18; Luke 4:40; Acts 28:8) and bestowal of blessing (see Matt 19:13–15). 5. resurrection of the dead. The resurrection of all people in the last days (see John 5:25–29; 11:25; 2 Cor 4:14). 6. eternal judgment. The destiny of those who reject God's saving grace and persist in their sinful ways.

6:1 elementary teaching about the Christ. See note on 5:12.

6:3 A common expression of dependence on the will of God (cf. 1 Cor 16:7). Only the Lord can open minds and hearts and bring spiritual maturity.

6:4–6 The most common interpretations of this difficult passage are: 1. It refers to Christians who actually lose their salvation. 2. It is a hypothetical argument to warn immature Hebrew Christians (5:11–14) that they must progress to maturity (see v. 1) or else experience divine discipline or judgment (see vv. 7–8). 3. It refers to professing Christians whose apostasy proves that their faith was not genuine (cf. 1 John 2:19). This view sees chs. 3–4 as a warning based on the rebellion of the Israelites in the wilderness. As Israel could not enter the promised land after spying out the region and tasting its fruit, so the professing Hebrew Christians would not be able to repent if they adamantly turned against "the light" they had received. According to this interpretation, such expressions as "enlightened," "tasted of the heavenly gift" and "partakers of the Holy Spirit" indicate that such persons had come under the influence of God's covenant blessings and had professed to turn from darkness to light but were in danger of a public and final rejection of Christ, proving they had never been regenerated (see 10:26–31 and notes).

6:5 the age to come. See Mark 10:30 and note; 1 Tim 6:19.

6:7–8 A short parable graphically illustrating the warning just given (see John 15:5–6; 2 Pet 2:20–22; 1 John 5:16).

Better Things for You

9 But, [a]beloved, we are convinced of better things concerning you, and things that [1]accompany salvation, though we are speaking in this way.

10 For [a]God is not unjust so as to forget [b]your work and the love which you have shown toward His name, in having [c]ministered and in still ministering to the [1]saints.

11 And we desire that each one of you show the same diligence [1]so as to realize the [a]full assurance of [b]hope until the end, 12 so that you will not be sluggish, but [a]imitators of those who through [b]faith and patience [c]inherit the promises.

13 For [a]when God made the promise to Abraham, since He could swear by no one greater, He [b]swore by Himself,

14 saying, "[a]I WILL SURELY BLESS YOU AND I WILL SURELY MULTIPLY YOU."

15 And so, [a]having patiently waited, he obtained the promise.

16 [a]For men swear by [1]one greater than themselves, and with them [b]an oath given as confirmation is an end of every dispute.

17 [1]In the same way God, desiring even more to show to [a]the heirs of the promise [b]the unchangeableness of His purpose, [2]interposed with an oath, 18 so that by two unchangeable things in which [a]it is impossible for God to lie, we who have [1]taken refuge would have strong encouragement to take hold of [b]the hope set before us.

19 [1]This [a]hope we have as an anchor of the soul, a hope both sure and steadfast and one which [b]enters [2]within the veil, 20 [a]where Jesus has entered as a forerunner for us, having become a [b]high priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek.

Melchizedek's Priesthood Like Christ's

7 For this [a]Melchizedek, king of Salem, priest of the [b]Most High God, who met Abraham as he was returning from the slaughter of the kings and blessed him,

2 to whom also Abraham apportioned a tenth part of all the spoils, was first of all, by the translation of his name, king of righteousness, and then also king of Salem, which is king of peace.

3 Without father, without mother, [a]without genealogy, having neither beginning of days nor end of life, but made like [b]the Son of God, he remains a priest perpetually.

4 Now observe how great this man was to whom Abraham, the [a]patriarch, [b]gave a tenth of the choicest spoils.

5 And those indeed of [a]the sons of Levi who receive the priest's office have commandment [1]in the Law to collect [2]a tenth from the people, that is, from their brethren, although these [3]are descended from Abraham.

6 But the one [a]whose genealogy is not traced from them [b]collected [1]a tenth from 6:9 convinced of better things . . . that accompany salvation. Although the author has suggested the possibility that some of his readers may still be unsaved, he is confident that God has been at work among them. Changed lives and works of love (v. 10) suggest that many of these persons were indeed regenerated.

6:11 the full assurance of hope. See 11:1; 2 Pet 1:10. until the end. A call for perseverance in faith as an evidence of salvation.
6:12 those who through faith and patience inherit the promises. For examples see ch. 11.
6:13 God made the promise to Abraham. The promise of many descendants was made with an oath to emphasize its unchanging character (see Gen 22:16–18). Ordinarily the swearing of an oath belongs to our fallen human situation, in which a man's word is not always trustworthy. God's swearing of an oath was a condescension to human frailty, thus making His word, which in itself is absolutely trustworthy, doubly dependable (see v. 18).
6:15 having patiently waited. For 25 years (see Gen 12:3–4; 21:5). obtained the promise. The birth of his son Isaac (Gen 17:2; 18:10; 21:5).
6:18 two unchangeable things. God's promise, which in itself is absolutely trustworthy, and God's oath confirming that promise. would have strong encouragement. Since we look back on the fulfillment of the promise that Abraham saw only in anticipation (11:13; John 8:56).
6:19 as an anchor of the soul . . . sure and steadfast. Like an anchor holding a ship safely in position, our hope in Christ guarantees our safety. within the veil. Whereas the ship's anchor goes down to the ocean bed, the Christian's anchor goes up into the true, heavenly sanctuary, where he is moored to God himself.
6:20 a high priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek. The grand theme that the author is about to develop (ch. 7).
7:1 Melchizedek. See Gen 14:18–20 and notes. king . . . priest. Of particular significance is Melchizedek's holding both offices, one of the ways in which he prefigured Christ. Salem. Jerusalem (see note on Gen 14:18).
7:2 king of righteousness . . . king of peace. Messianic titles (see Is 9:6–7; Jer 23:5–6; 33:15–16).
7:3 Without father . . . nor end of life. Gen 14:18–20, contrary to the practice elsewhere in the early chapters of Genesis, does not mention Melchizedek's parentage and children, or his birth and death. That he was a real, historical figure is clear, but the author of Hebrews (in accordance with Jewish interpretation) uses the silence of Scripture about Melchizedek's genealogy to portray him as a prefiguration of Christ. Melchizedek's priesthood anticipates Christ's eternal existence and His unending priesthood. Some believe the appearance of Melchizedek to Abraham was a manifestation of Christ before His incarnation, but the comparison "like the Son of God" argues against such an interpretation.
7:4 observe how great this man was. The one who collects a tithe is greater than the one who pays it, and "the lesser is blessed by the greater" (v. 7). In both ways Melchizedek was greater than Abraham.

Abraham and [2b]blessed the one who [c]had the promises.

7 But without any dispute the lesser is blessed by the greater.

8 In this case mortal men receive tithes, but in that case one receives them, [a]of whom it is witnessed that he lives on.

9 And, so to speak, through Abraham even Levi, who received tithes, paid tithes,

10 for he was still in the loins of his father when Melchizedek met him.

11 [a]Now if perfection was through the Levitical priesthood (for on the basis of it [b]the people received the Law), what further need was there for another priest to arise [c]according to the order of Melchizedek, and not be designated according to the order of Aaron?

12 For when the priesthood is changed, of necessity there takes place a change of law also.

13 For [a]the one concerning whom [b]these things are spoken belongs to another tribe, from which no one has officiated at the altar.

14 For it is evident that our Lord [1]was [a]descended from Judah, a tribe with reference to which Moses spoke nothing concerning priests.

15 And this is clearer still, if another priest arises according to the likeness of Melchizedek, 16 who has become such not on the basis of a law of [1a]physical requirement, but according to the power of [b]an indestructible life.

17 For it is attested of Him,

"[a]YOU ARE A PRIEST FOREVER
ACCORDING TO THE ORDER OF MELCHIZEDEK."

18 For, on the one hand, there is a setting aside of a former commandment [a]because of its weakness and uselessness

19 (for [a]the Law made nothing perfect), and on the other hand there is a bringing in of a better [b]hope, through which we [c]draw near to God.

20 And inasmuch as it was not without an oath

21 (for they indeed became priests without an oath, but He with an oath through the One who said to Him,

"[a]THE LORD HAS SWORN AND [b]WILL NOT CHANGE HIS MIND,
'YOU ARE A PRIEST [c]FOREVER' ");

22 so much the more also Jesus has become the [a]guarantee of [b]a better covenant.

23 [1]The former priests, on the one hand, existed in greater numbers because they were prevented by death from continuing,

24 but Jesus, on the other hand, because He continues [a]forever, holds His priesthood permanently.

25 Therefore He is able also to [a]save [1]forever those who [b]draw near to God through Him, since He always lives to [c]make intercession for them.

26 For it was fitting for us to have such a [a]high priest, [b]holy, [c]innocent, undefiled, separated from sinners and [d]exalted above the heavens;

27 who does not need daily, like those high priests, to [a]offer up sacrifices, [b]first for His own sins and then for the sins of the people, because this He did [c]once for all when He [d]offered up Himself.

7:11 on the basis of it. The Levitical priesthood. the people received the Law. The Law of Moses and the priesthood went together. All the people without exception were sinners, subject to the Law's condemnation, and thus were in need of a priestly system to mediate between them and God. according to...Melchizedek...not...according to...Aaron. Implies that the Aaronic (or Levitical) priesthood was imperfect but that Melchizedek's was perfect. The announcement of the coming one who would be a priest forever (Ps 110:4) was written midway in the history of the Levitical priesthood, which could only mean that the existing system was to give way to something better.

7:16 become such not on the basis of...physical requirement. In the Law of Moses the priestly function was restricted to the tribe of Levi (Deut 18:1), but Jesus came from the nonpriestly tribe of Judah (vv. 14–15). the power of an indestructible life. According to Ps 110:4 the priest in the order of Melchizedek is "a priest forever."

7:18 a former commandment...weakness and uselessness. The law is holy and good (Rom 7:12), but it is not able to make right those who sin by breaking it, nor can it give the power necessary to fulfill its demands (v. 19a).

7:19 The law was only preparatory (see Gal 3:23–25) and brought nothing to fulfillment (see Matt 5:17). better hope. The new covenant is better because it assures us of complete redemption and brings us into the very presence of God. See note on Col 1:5.

7:20 No divine oath was associated with the establishment of the Levitical priesthood. The priesthood pledged in Ps 110 is superior because it was divinely affirmed with an oath.

7:22 better covenant. See chs. 8–10.

7:23 they were prevented by death from continuing. Impermanence was further evidence of the imperfection of the Levitical order.

7:25 forever. May include the ideas of completeness and permanence. Jesus is a perfect high priest forever; so He is able to save completely and for all time. always lives to make intercession. His people will never be without a priestly representative (see John 17; 1John 2:1).

7:26 such a high priest. One who meets our need for salvation from sin and its consequences.

7:27 daily. A reference to the endless repetition of sacrifices throughout the year (see Ex 29:36–42), evidence that these sacrifices never effectively and finally dealt with sin. first for His own sins. Christ's priesthood is superior because He has no personal sins for which sacrifice must be made. once for all. A key concept in Hebrews (see 9:12,26; 10:2,10). The Levitical priests had to bring daily offerings to the Lord, whereas Jesus sacrificed Himself once for all. offered up Himself. Levitical priests offered up only animals; our high priest offered Himself, the perfect substitute—Man for man.

28 For the Law appoints men as high priests [a]who are weak, but the word of the oath, which came after the Law, appoints [b]a Son, [c]made perfect forever.

A Better Ministry

8 Now the main point in what has been said is this: we have such a [a]high priest, who has taken His seat at [b]the right hand of the throne of the [b]Majesty in the heavens,

2 a [a]minister [1]in the sanctuary and [1]in the [b]true [2]tabernacle, which the Lord [c]pitched, not man.

3 For every [a]high priest is appointed [b]to offer both gifts and sacrifices; so it is necessary that this high priest also have something to offer.

4 Now if He were on earth, He would not be a priest at all, since there are those who [a]offer the gifts according to the Law;

5 who serve [a]a copy and [b]shadow of the heavenly things, just as Moses [1]was [c]warned by God when he was about to erect the [2]tabernacle; for, "[a]SEE," He says, "THAT YOU MAKE all things ACCORDING TO THE PATTERN WHICH WAS SHOWN YOU ON THE MOUNTAIN."

6 But now He has obtained a more excellent ministry, by as much as He is also the [a]mediator of [b]a better covenant, which has been enacted on better promises.

A New Covenant

7 For [a]if that first covenant had been faultless, there would have been no occasion sought for a second.

8 For finding fault with them, He says,

"[a]BEHOLD, DAYS ARE COMING, SAYS THE LORD,
[1]WHEN I WILL EFFECT [b]A NEW COVENANT
WITH THE HOUSE OF ISRAEL AND WITH THE HOUSE OF JUDAH;
9 [a]NOT LIKE THE COVENANT WHICH I MADE WITH THEIR FATHERS
ON THE DAY WHEN I TOOK THEM BY THE HAND
TO LEAD THEM OUT OF THE LAND OF EGYPT;
FOR THEY DID NOT CONTINUE IN MY COVENANT,
AND I DID NOT CARE FOR THEM, SAYS THE LORD.
10 "[a]FOR THIS IS THE COVENANT THAT I WILL MAKE WITH THE HOUSE OF ISRAEL
AFTER THOSE DAYS, SAYS THE LORD:
[1]I WILL PUT MY LAWS INTO THEIR MINDS,
AND I WILL WRITE THEM [b]ON THEIR HEARTS.
AND I WILL BE THEIR GOD,
AND THEY SHALL BE MY PEOPLE.
11 "[a]AND THEY SHALL NOT TEACH EVERYONE HIS FELLOW CITIZEN,

7:28 men . . . who are weak. Because (1) they are mortal and therefore impermanent, v. 23; (2) they are sinful, v. 27; and (3) they could only offer animals, which could never provide a genuine substitute for man, who is made in the image of God (see Gen 1:26–28 and notes). made perfect forever. Christ was made perfect in that He faced temptation without succumbing to sin (see notes on 2:10; 5:8). Instead He perfectly obeyed the Father, thereby establishing a perfection that is eternal.

8:1–10:39 The argument of this section grows out of an exposition of Jer 31:31–34 and demonstrates that Christ is the mediator of a "better covenant" (7:22).

8:1 See note on 1:2–3. the Majesty in the heavens. A Jewish expression for God (see 1:3).

8:2 true tabernacle. In contrast to the tabernacle erected by Moses, which was an imperfect and impermanent copy of the heavenly one. which the Lord pitched, not man. The heavenly sanctuary built by God corresponds to the most holy place, the innermost sanctuary in Moses' tabernacle, into which the high priest briefly entered with the blood of atonement once a year (see Lev 16:13–15,34). In the heavenly sanctuary, however, our great high priest dwells eternally as our intercessor (7:25).

8:3 gifts and sacrifices. See note on 5:1.

8:4 He would not be a priest. By His human birth Jesus belonged to the tribe of Judah, which was not the priestly tribe (see 7:12–14). those who offer the gifts. Members of the tribe of Levi. The present tense of the verb "offer," here and elsewhere in the letter, indicates that the temple in Jerusalem was still standing. This letter, therefore, must have been written prior to the temple's destruction in A.D. 70 (see Introduction: Date).

8:5 a copy and shadow of the heavenly things. The heavenly reality is the sanctuary of God's presence, into which Christ our high priest entered with His own blood (see 9:11–12). MAKE all things ACCORDING TO THE PATTERN. Because both the tabernacle and its ministry were intended to illustrate symbolically the only way sinners may approach a holy God and find forgiveness.

8:6 He is . . . mediator of a better covenant. See 9:15; 12:24; 1 Tim 2:5. The new covenant (see vv. 8–12; Jer 31:31–34) that Jesus mediates is superior to the covenant God made through Moses at Sinai (see Ex 24:7–8). enacted on better promises. See vv. 10–12.

8:7 if that first covenant had been faultless. The line of argument here is similar to that in 7:11, where the Levitical priestly order is shown to be inferior because it was replaced by the order of Melchizedek. Similarly, if the Mosaic covenant were without defect, there would have been no need to replace it with a new covenant. Concerning the fact that there was nothing essentially "wrong" with the Mosaic covenant see note on 7:18.

8:8–12 A quotation from Jer 31:31–34 containing a prophetic announcement and definition of the new covenant, which was to be different from the Mosaic covenant (v. 9). Its superior benefits are: (1) God's laws will become inner principles (v. 10a) that enable His people to delight in doing His will (cf. Ezek 36:26–27; Rom 8:2–4); (2) God and His people will have intimate fellowship (v. 10b); (3) sinful ignorance of God will be removed forever (v. 11); and (4) forgiveness of sins will be an everlasting reality (v. 12).

has made the first obsolete. [b]But whatever is becoming obsolete and growing old is [2]ready to disappear.

The Old and the New

9 Now even the first covenant had [a]regulations of divine worship and [b]the earthly sanctuary.

2 For there was [a]a [1]tabernacle prepared, the [2]outer one, in which were [b]the lampstand and [c]the table and [d]the [3]sacred bread; this is called the holy place.

3 Behind [a]the second veil there was a [1]tabernacle which is called the [b]Holy of Holies,

4 having a golden [1][a]altar of incense and [b]the ark of the covenant covered on all sides with gold, in which was [c]a golden jar holding the manna, and [d]Aaron's rod which budded, and [e]the tables of the covenant;

5 and above it were the [a]cherubim of glory [b]overshadowing the mercy seat; but of these things we cannot now speak in detail.

6 Now when these things have been so prepared, the priests [a]are continually entering the [1]outer [2]tabernacle performing the divine worship,

7 but into [a]the second, only [b]the high priest enters [c]once a year, [d]not without taking blood, which he [e]offers for himself and for the [1][f]sins of the people committed in ignorance.

8:13 obsolete and growing old. The announcement of the new covenant clearly proved the impermanence of the one already in existence. To return to the old system would be to return to what is no longer valid or effective.

9:2 there was a tabernacle prepared. The tabernacle built under Moses. lampstand. Made of hammered gold and placed at the south side of the holy place (Ex 40:24), it had seven lamps that were kept burning every night (Ex 25:31–40). the table and the sacred bread. Made of acacia wood overlaid with gold, it stood on the north side of the holy place (Ex 40:22). On it were twelve loaves, arranged in two rows of six (Lev 24:5–6).

9:4 having a golden altar of incense. Although the altar of incense stood in the holy place, the author describes it as belonging to the most holy place. His purpose was to show its close relationship to the inner sanctuary and the ark of the covenant (cf. Ex 40:5; 1 Kin 6:22). On the day of atonement the high priest took incense from this altar, along with the blood of the sin offering, into the most holy place (Lev 16:12–14). ark of the covenant. A chest made of acacia wood, overlaid inside and out with gold (Ex 25:10–16). manna . . . rod . . . tables. See notes on Ex 16:33–34; see also Num 17:8–10.

9:5 cherubim of glory. Two winged figures made of pure gold, of one piece with the atonement cover, or mercy seat, and standing at either end of it. It was between them that the glory of God's presence appeared (Ex 25:17–22; Lev 16:2; Num 7:89). mercy seat. Fitting exactly over the top of the ark of the covenant, it was a slab of pure gold on which the blood of the sin offering was sprinkled by the high priest on the day of atonement (Lev 16:14–15).

9:7 once a year. On the day of atonement (Yom Kippur), the tenth day of the seventh month (Lev 16:29,34). For a description of its ritual see Lev 16 and notes.

9:8 while the outer tabernacle is still standing. As long as the Mosaic system with its imperfect priesthood and sacrifice remained in effect (8:7–8,13).

9:9 a symbol for the present time. The Mosaic tabernacle, though superseded, still provided instruction through its typical (symbolic) significance and was a reminder that returning to the old order was useless, since it could not deal effectively with sin. gifts and sacrifices. See note on 5:1.

9:10 a time of reformation. The new covenant, with its new priesthood, new sanctuary and new sacrifice, all introduced by Christ.

9:11 not of this creation. It was not an earthly tabernacle, but the heavenly sanctuary of God's presence (v. 24; 8:2).

9:12 He entered . . . once for all. Not repeatedly year after year as did the Levitical high priests. Christ's sacrifice was perfect, because it was completely effective and did not need to be repeated. After He had obtained eternal redemption, Christ ascended into the true heavenly sanctuary.

9:13 blood of goats and bulls. As on the day of atonement. ashes of a heifer. As prescribed in Num 19 for those who became ceremonially unclean as a result of contact with a corpse. cleansing of the flesh. Such sprinkling, since it was only external, could not cleanse a person from sin.

9:14 offered Himself. He was the one who offered the sacrifice, and He was the sacrifice itself. without blemish. In the entirety of Christ's being, not just superficially. cleanse your conscience. Remove sin's defilement from the very core of our beings.

9:15 mediator. See 8:6 and note; 12:24; 1 Tim 2:5. new cov- a [c]new covenant, so that, since a death has taken place for the redemption of the transgressions that were committed under the first covenant, those who have been [d]called may [e]receive the promise of [f]the eternal inheritance.

16 For where a [1]covenant is, there must of necessity [2]be the death of the one who made it.

17 For a [1]covenant is valid only when [2]men are dead, [3]for it is never in force while the one who made it lives.

18 Therefore even the first covenant was not inaugurated without blood.

19 For when every commandment had been [a]spoken by Moses to all the people according to the Law, [b]he took the [c]blood of the calves and the goats, with [d]water and scarlet wool and hyssop, and sprinkled both [e]the book itself and all the people,

20 saying, "[a]THIS IS THE BLOOD OF THE COVENANT WHICH GOD COMMANDED YOU."

21 And in the same way he [a]sprinkled both the [1]tabernacle and all the vessels of the ministry with the blood.

22 And according to the [1]Law, one may [a]almost say, all things are cleansed with blood, and [b]without shedding of blood there is no forgiveness.

23 Therefore it was necessary for the [a]copies of the things in the heavens to be cleansed with these, but [a]the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these.

24 For Christ [a]did not enter a holy place made with hands, a mere copy of [b]the true one, but into [c]heaven itself, now [d]to appear in the presence of God for us;

25 nor was it that He would offer Himself often, as [a]the high priest enters [b]the holy place [a]year by year with blood that is not his own.

26 Otherwise, He would have needed to suffer often since [a]the foundation of the world; but now [b]once at [c]the consummation of the ages He has been [d]manifested to put away sin [1e]by the sacrifice of Himself.

27 And inasmuch as [a]it is [1]appointed for men to die once and after this [b]comes judgment, 28 so Christ also, having been [a]offered once to [b]bear the sins of many, will appear [c]a second time for [d]salvation [e]without reference to sin, to those who [f]eagerly await Him.

One Sacrifice of Christ Is Sufficient

10 For the Law, since it has only [a]a shadow of [b]the good things to come and not the very [1]form of things, [2]can [c]never, by the same sacrifices which they offer continually year by year, [d]make perfect those who draw near.

2 Otherwise, would they not have ceased to be offered, because the worshipers, having once been cleansed, would no longer have had [a]consciousness of sins?

3 But [a]in [1]those sacrifices there is a reminder of sins year by year.

4 For it is [a]impossible for the [b]blood of bulls and goats to take away sins.

5 Therefore, [a]when He comes into the world, He says,

"[b]SACRIFICE AND OFFERING YOU HAVE NOT DESIRED,

enant. See 7:22; 8:6,13. for the redemption of the transgressions. Cf. Mark 10:45 and note. By shedding His blood, He paid the necessary price to set them free from the sins committed under the first covenant, i.e., violations of Mosaic law. the promise of the eternal inheritance. Defined in the passage from Jeremiah (31:31–34) quoted in 8:8–12. On the basis of Christ's atoning death, this inheritance has become real for those who are called by God (cf. Rom 8:28).

9:16 covenant. Here and in v. 17 "covenant' is used in the sense of a last will and testament. (Verse 18 returns to the concept of covenant.) Beneficiaries have no claim on the benefits assigned to them in a will until the testator dies (v. 17). Since Christ's death has been duly attested, "the promise of the eternal inheritance" (v. 15) is available to His beneficiaries.

9:18 without blood. Without death—the death of the calves from which Moses took blood to seal the old covenant.

9:19–20 For the ceremony referred to here see Ex 24:4–8.

9:21 See, e.g., Lev 8:10,19,30.

9:23 copies of the things in the heavens. See 8:5. Whereas it was necessary for the earthly sanctuary to be purified with animal sacrifices, it was necessary for the heavenly sanctuary to be purified with the better sacrifice of Christ Himself.

9:24 now to appear in the presence of God for us. See 7:25; 1John 2:1.

9:26 consummation of the ages. His coming has ushered in the great Messianic era, toward which all history has moved (see note on 1:2; cf. 1 Pet 1:20).

9:27 appointed . . . to die once and after this comes judgment. As in the natural order man dies once (v. 27; as a consequence of sin, Rom 5:12), so Christ died once as the perfect sacrifice for sin (v. 28). And as, after death, man faces judgment, so Christ, after His death, will appear again, bringing salvation (see next note) from sin and its judgment.

9:28 for salvation. The consummation, in all its glorious fullness, of the salvation purchased for us on the cross (see Rom 8:29–30; Phil 3:20–21; 1 John 3:2–3). eagerly await Him. As the Israelites waited for the high priest while he was in the most holy place on the day of atonement (see 2 Tim 4:8; Titus 2:13).

10:1 the Law. Together with the Levitical priesthood to which it was closely linked under the Mosaic system (see note on 7:11). only a shadow. The sacrifices prescribed by the law prefigured Christ's ultimate sacrifice. Thus they were repeated year after year, the very repetition bearing testimony that the perfect, sin-removing sacrifice had not yet been offered.

10:4 impossible for the blood of bulls and goats to take away sins. An animal cannot possibly be a completely adequate substitute for a human being, who is made in God's image.

10:5–6 The different terms used for Levitical sacrifices represent four of the five types of offerings prescribed by the Mosaic Law (Lev 1–7); namely, fellowship, grain, burnt and sin.

10:5 when He comes into the world, He says. The words of this psalm of David (40:6–8) express Christ's obedient submission

BUT [c]A BODY YOU HAVE PREPARED FOR ME;
6 [a]IN WHOLE BURNT OFFERINGS AND sacrifices FOR SIN YOU HAVE TAKEN NO PLEASURE.
7 "[a]THEN I SAID, 'BEHOLD, I HAVE COME (IN [b]THE SCROLL OF THE BOOK IT IS WRITTEN OF ME)
TO DO YOUR WILL, O GOD.' "

8 After saying above, "[a]SACRIFICES AND OFFERINGS AND [b]WHOLE BURNT OFFERINGS AND sacrifices [c]FOR SIN YOU HAVE NOT DESIRED, NOR HAVE YOU TAKEN PLEASURE in them" (which are offered according to the Law),

9 then He [1]said, "[a]BEHOLD, I HAVE COME TO DO YOUR WILL." He takes away the first in order to establish the second.

10 By [1]this will we have been [a]sanctified through [b]the offering of [c]the body of Jesus Christ [d]once for all.

11 Every priest stands daily ministering and [a]offering time after time the same sacrifices, which [b]can never take away sins;

12 but He, having offered one sacrifice [a]for [1]sins [b]for all time, [c]SAT DOWN AT THE RIGHT HAND OF GOD, 13 waiting from that time onward [a]UNTIL HIS ENEMIES BE MADE A FOOTSTOOL FOR HIS FEET.

14 For by one offering He has [a]perfected [b]for all time those who are [1]sanctified.

15 And [a]the Holy Spirit also testifies to us; for after saying,

16 "[a]THIS IS THE COVENANT THAT I WILL MAKE WITH THEM
AFTER THOSE DAYS, SAYS THE LORD:
I WILL PUT MY LAWS UPON THEIR HEART,
AND ON THEIR MIND I WILL WRITE THEM,"

He then says,

17 "[a]AND THEIR SINS AND THEIR LAWLESS DEEDS
I WILL REMEMBER NO MORE."

18 Now where there is forgiveness of these things, there is no longer any offering for sin.

A New and Living Way

19 Therefore, brethren, since we [a]have confidence to [b]enter the holy place by the blood of Jesus,

20 by [a]a new and living way which He inaugurated for us through [b]the veil, that is, His flesh,

21 and since we have [a]a great priest [b]over the house of God,

22 let us [a]draw near with a [1]sincere heart in [b]full assurance of faith, having our hearts [c]sprinkled clean from an evil conscience and our bodies [d]washed with pure water.

23 Let us hold fast the [a]confession of our [b]hope without wavering, for [c]He who promised is faithful;

24 and let us consider how [a]to stimulate one another to love and [b]good deeds,

25 not forsaking our own [a]assembling to-

to the Father in coming to earth. The Mosaic sacrifices are replaced by submissive obedience to the will of God (v. 7).

10:6 YOU HAVE TAKEN NO PLEASURE. These offerings were only preparatory and temporary, looking forward to the one perfect and final offering—that of the incarnate Son of God.

10:7 TO DO YOUR WILL. The will of the Father was the Son's consuming concern (see Luke 22:42; John 4:34).

10:9 He takes away the first in order to establish the second. His perfect sacrifice, offered in complete submission, supersedes and therefore replaces all previous sacrifices.

10:10 been sanctified. Justified, set apart in consecration to God, and now experiencing the process of continuing sanctification (see "are sanctified," v. 14; see also note on 1 Cor 1:2).

10:11–14 A contrast between "standing" and "sitting." The Levitical priest always stood, because his work was never finished.

10:11 offering . . . the same sacrifices. Because these sacrifices were unable to accomplish what they signified. They could not remove sin, and thus had to be offered over and over again.

10:12 He . . . sat down at the right hand of God. In contrast to the work of the Levitical priests, which was never done (v. 11; see notes on 1:3,13), Christ's work was completed. His one sacrifice atoned for all sins of all time, making any further sacrifice unnecessary (v. 14).

10:15–18 The two quotations included in these verses are from Jer 31:31–34 (already cited in 8:8–12). The new covenant guarantees that sins will be effectively and completely forgiven (v. 17), with the result that no additional sacrifice for sins is needed (v. 18).

10:19 Another section of practical application and exhortation begins here (see note on 2:1–4). confidence to enter the holy place. The way into the sanctuary of God's presence was closed to the people under the former covenant because the blood of animal sacrifices could never completely atone for their sins. Now, however, believers can come to the throne of grace since the perfect priest has offered the perfect sacrifice, atoning for sin once for all.

10:20 the veil, that is, His flesh. When Jesus died, the curtain separating the holy place from the most holy place was "torn in two from top to bottom" (Mark 15:38). The curtain symbolizes the body of Christ in terms of suffering: Like the curtain, His body was torn to open the way into the divine presence.

10:22–25 Five exhortations spring from Jesus' provision for our reconciliation to His Father: 1. "Let us draw near." 2. "Let us hold fast the confession of our hope without wavering." 3. "Let us consider how to stimulate one another." 4. "Not forsaking our own assembling together." 5. "Encouraging one another."

10:22 Four conditions are given for drawing "near' to God: 1. a sincere heart. Undivided allegiance in the inner being. 2. full assurance of faith. Faith that knows no hesitation in trusting in and following Christ. 3. hearts sprinkled . . . from an evil conscience. Total freedom from a sense of guilt, a freedom based on the once-for-all sacrifice of Christ. 4. bodies washed with pure water. Not an external ceremony such as baptism but a figure for inner cleansing, of which the washing of the priests under the old covenant was a symbol (see Ex 30:19–21; Lev 8:6; see also Ezek 36:25, where a similar expression is used figuratively for the cleansing resulting from the new covenant).

10:23 without wavering. Without doubt or hesitation. Some of the readers were tempted to give up the struggle and turn back to a form of Judaism. confession of our hope. See 6:18–20. He who promised is faithful. Cf. 2 Tim 2:13.

10:25 not forsaking our own assembling together. The Greek word translated "forsaking" speaks of desertion and abandon-gether, as is the habit of some, but [b]encouraging one another; and all the more as you see [c]the day drawing near.

Christ or Judgment

26 For if we go on [a]sinning willfully after receiving [b]the knowledge of the truth, there no longer remains a sacrifice for sins,

27 but a terrifying expectation of [a]judgment and [b]THE FURY OF A FIRE WHICH WILL CONSUME THE ADVERSARIES.

28 [a]Anyone who has set aside the Law of Moses dies without mercy on the testimony of two or three witnesses.

29 [a]How much severer punishment do you think he will deserve [b]who has trampled under foot the Son of God, and has regarded as unclean [c]the blood of the covenant [d]by which he was sanctified, and has [e]insulted the Spirit of grace?

30 For we know Him who said, "[a]VENGEANCE IS MINE, I WILL REPAY." And again, "[b]THE LORD WILL JUDGE HIS PEOPLE."

31 It is a [a]terrifying thing to fall into the hands of the [b]living God.

32 But remember [a]the former days, [1]when, after being [b]enlightened, you endured a great [c]conflict of sufferings, 33 partly by being [a]made a public spectacle through reproaches and tribulations, and partly by becoming [b]sharers with those who were so treated.

34 For you [a]showed sympathy to the prisoners and accepted [b]joyfully the seizure of your property, knowing that you have for yourselves [c]a better possession and a lasting one.

35 Therefore, do not throw away your [a]confidence, which has a great [b]reward.

36 For you have need of [a]endurance, so that when you have [b]done the will of God, you may [c]receive [1]what was promised.

37 [a]FOR YET IN A VERY LITTLE WHILE,
[b]HE WHO IS COMING WILL COME, AND WILL NOT DELAY.

38 [a]BUT MY RIGHTEOUS ONE SHALL LIVE BY FAITH;
AND IF HE SHRINKS BACK, MY SOUL HAS NO PLEASURE IN HIM.

39 But [1]we are not of those who shrink back to destruction, but of those who have faith to the [2]preserving of the soul.

The Triumphs of Faith

11 Now faith is the [1a]assurance of things [2b]hoped for, the [3]conviction of [c]things not seen.

2 For by it the [a]men of old [1b]gained approval.

3 By faith we understand that the [1a]worlds were prepared [b]by the word of God, so that what is seen [c]was not made out of things which are visible.

4 By faith [a]Abel offered to God a better sacrifice than Cain, through which he [b]obtained the testimony that he was righteous, God testifying [1]about his [c]gifts, and through [2]faith, though [d]he is dead, he still speaks.

5 By faith [a]Enoch was taken up so that he would not [b]see death; AND HE WAS NOT FOUND BECAUSE GOD TOOK HIM UP; for he obtained the witness that before his being taken up he was pleasing to God.

6 And without faith it is impossible to please Him, for he who [a]comes to God must 10:26–31 That these verses are a warning to persons ("some," v. 25) deserting the Christian assembly is apparent from the Greek word gar ("for") at the beginning of v. 26. See notes on 6:4–8, where the same spiritual condition is discussed.

10:26 go on sinning willfully. Committing the sin of apostasy (see v. 29; see also note on 5:2). The OT background is Num 15:27–31. there no longer remains a sacrifice for sins. To reject Christ's sacrifice for sins is to reject the only sacrifice; there is no other.

10:27 judgment and THE FURY OF A FIRE. See 2 Thess 1:6–9.

10:28 See Deut 17:2–7.

10:29 blood of the covenant. See 9:20; 13:20; Ex 24:8; Matt 26:28; Mark 14:24.

10:31 See 12:29.

10:32 the former days. Presumably following their first enthusiastic response to the gospel, when they had unflinchingly suffered loss and persecution and were deeply concerned for each other.

10:34 better possession and a lasting one. Such as salvation in Christ and future reward (11:10,13–16;26,35; 13:14; Matt 5:11–12; 6:19–21; Rom 8:18).

10:38 my righteous one shall live by faith. See note on Hab 2:4.

10:39 shrink back to destruction. The opposite of "believe and are saved." The author is confident that those to whom he is writing are, for the most part, among the saved (see note on 6:9).

11:1–12:29 Exhortations based on the preceding expositions of OT passages.

11:2 men of old. Heroes of faith in the pre-Christian era, such as those listed in this chapter.

11:4 See Gen 4:2–5. obtained the testimony that he was righteous. Both brothers brought offerings to the Lord: Cain from the fruits of the soil, and Abel from the firstborn of his flock. The chief reason for the acceptance of Abel's sacrifice was that he offered it "by faith." It is implied that Cain's sacrifice was rejected because he offered it without faith, as a mere formality (see note on Gen 4:3–4; see also 1 John 3:12).

11:5 Enoch. See Gen 5:18–24. TOOK HIM UP. To God's presence (see note on Gen 5:24; cf. Ps 49:15; 73:24).

11:6 without faith it is impossible to please Him. That Enoch pleased God is proof of his faith. believe that He is. Faith must have an object, and the proper object of genuine faith is God. who seek Him. See Jer 29:13.

believe that He is and that He is a rewarder of those who seek Him.

7 By faith [a]Noah, being [b]warned by God about [c]things not yet seen, [1d]in reverence [e]prepared an ark for the salvation of his household, by which he condemned the world, and became an heir of [f]the righteousness which is according to faith.

8 By faith [a]Abraham, when he was called, obeyed [1]by going out to a place which he was to [b]receive for an inheritance; and he went out, not knowing where he was going.

9 By faith he lived as an alien in [a]the land of promise, as in a foreign land, [b]dwelling in tents with Isaac and Jacob, [c]fellow heirs of the same promise;

10 for he was looking for [a]the city which has [b]foundations, [c]whose architect and builder is God.

11 By faith even [a]Sarah herself received [1]ability to conceive, even beyond the proper time of life, since she considered Him [b]faithful who had promised.

12 Therefore there was born even of one man, and [a]him as good as dead [1]at that, as many descendants [b]AS THE STARS OF HEAVEN IN NUMBER, AND INNUMERABLE AS THE SAND WHICH IS BY THE SEASHORE.

13 [a]All these died in faith, [b]without receiving the promises, but [c]having seen them and having welcomed them from a distance, and [d]having confessed that they were strangers and exiles on the earth.

14 For those who say such things make it clear that they are seeking a country of their own.

15 And indeed if they had been [1]thinking of that country from which they went out, [a]they would have had opportunity to return.

16 But as it is, they desire a better country, that is, a [a]heavenly one. Therefore [b]God is not [1]ashamed to be [c]called their God; for [d]He has prepared a city for them.

17 By faith [a]Abraham, when he was tested, offered up Isaac, and he who had [b]received the promises was offering up his only begotten son;

18 it was he to whom it was said, "[a]IN ISAAC YOUR [1]DESCENDANTS SHALL BE CALLED."

19 [1]He considered that [a]God is able to raise people even from the dead, from which he also received him back [2]as a [b]type.

20 By faith [a]Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau, even regarding things to come.

21 By faith [a]Jacob, as he was dying, blessed each of the sons of Joseph, and [b]worshiped, leaning on the top of his staff.

22 By faith [a]Joseph, when he was dying, made mention of the exodus of the sons of Israel, and gave orders concerning his bones.

23 By faith [a]Moses, when he was born, was hidden for three months by his parents, because they saw he was a beautiful child; and they were not afraid of the [b]king's edict.

24 By faith Moses, [a]when he had grown up, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter,

25 choosing rather to [a]endure ill-treatment with the people of God than to enjoy the passing pleasures of sin,

11:7 Noah. See Gen 5:28–9:29. by which he condemned. When the flood came, God's word was proved to be true, Noah's faith was vindicated, and the world's unbelief was judged. righteousness which is according to faith. Noah expressed complete trust in God and His word, even when it related to "things not seen" (v. 1), namely, the coming flood. Thus Noah also fitted the description of God's righteous ones who live by faith (10:38). His faith in God's word moved him to build the ark in a dry, landlocked region where it was inconceivable that there would ever be enough water to float the vessel.

11:8 Abraham. Presented in the NT as the outstanding example of those who live "by faith" and as the "father of all who believe" (Rom 4:11–12,16; Gal 3:7,9,29). called. See Gen 12:1–3. His faith expressed itself in obedience (see note on Gen 12:4). a place which he was to receive. Canaan. not knowing where he was going. He did not go in blind faith, but in complete confidence in God's trustworthiness.

11:10 city which has foundations. Speaks of permanence in contrast to the tents in which the patriarch lived (v. 9). This city is "the heavenly Jerusalem" (12:22), "the city which is to come" (13:14) and the "new Jerusalem" (Rev 21:2–4, 9–27). builder. Cf. Ps 147:2.

11:11 Sarah . . . received ability to conceive. Probably referring to the fact that she was far past childbearing (Gen 18:11–12; see note on Gen 11:30).

11:12 as good as dead. Because he was 100 years old (see Gen 21:5; Rom 4:19). STARS OF HEAVEN . . . SAND . . . BY THE SEASHORE. See Gen 13:16 and note; 15:5; 22:17; 26:4; 1 Kin 4:20.

11:13 having seen them and welcomed them from a distance. By faith they saw—dimly—these heavenly realities and were sure that what they hoped for would ultimately be theirs (see v. 1). strangers and exiles on the earth. Their true home was in heaven.

11:14 country of their own. That better, heavenly country (v. 16).

11:16 prepared a city for them. City (v. 10) and country are interchangeable in the concluding chapters of this letter (vv. 9–10,14–16; 13:14). The ultimate reality is represented by the new Jerusalem in John's vision of the believer's eternal state (see Rev 21:2).

11:17 See Gen 22. his only begotten son. See Gen 22:2,12,16; John 3:16; Rom 8:32.

11:19 God is able to raise . . . the dead. So strong was Abraham's faith that he actually believed that God would raise Isaac from the dead if necessary, an event that did occur figuratively when the substitute ram was provided (Gen 22:13).

11:20 See Gen 27:27–40.

11:21 See Gen 47:29–31; 48:8–20.

11:22 See Gen 50:24–25. Jacob (v. 21) and Joseph are additional examples of those whose faith is no less strong at death than in life (v. 13).

11:23–29 See Acts 7:20–44.

11:23 his parents. See Ex 6:20; Num 26:58–59. a beautiful child. See note on Ex 2:2. the king's edict. To kill all Israelite males at birth (Ex 1:16,22).

11:25 pleasures of sin. The luxury and prestige in Egypt's royal palace.

26 [a]considering the reproach of [1]Christ greater riches than the treasures of Egypt; for he was looking to the [b]reward.

27 By faith he [a]left Egypt, not [b]fearing the wrath of the king; for he endured, as [c]seeing Him who is unseen.

28 By faith he [1][a]kept the Passover and the sprinkling of the blood, so that [b]he who destroyed the firstborn would not touch them.

29 By faith they [a]passed through the Red Sea as though they were passing through dry land; and the Egyptians, when they attempted it, were [1]drowned.

30 By faith [a]the walls of Jericho fell down [b]after they had been encircled for seven days.

31 By faith [a]Rahab the harlot did not perish along with those who were disobedient, after she had welcomed the spies [1]in peace.

32 And what more shall I say? For time will fail me if I tell of [a]Gideon, [b]Barak, [c]Samson, [d]Jephthah, of [e]David and [f]Samuel and the prophets,

33 who by faith [a]conquered kingdoms, [b]performed acts of righteousness, [c]obtained promises, [d]shut the mouths of lions,

34 [a]quenched the power of fire, [b]escaped the edge of the sword, from weakness were made strong, [c]became mighty in war, [c]put foreign armies to flight.

35 [a]Women received back their dead by resurrection; and others were tortured, not accepting their [1]release, so that they might obtain a better resurrection;

36 and others [1]experienced mockings and scourgings, yes, also [a]chains and imprisonment.

37 They were [a]stoned, they were [b]sawn in two, [1]they were tempted, they were [c]put to death with the sword; they went about [d]in sheepskins, in goatskins, being destitute, afflicted, [e]ill-treated 38 (men of whom the world was not worthy), [a]wandering in deserts and mountains and caves and holes [1]in the ground.

39 And all these, having [1][a]gained approval through their faith, [b]did not receive [2]what was promised, 40 because God had [1]provided [a]something better for us, so that [b]apart from us they would not be made perfect.

11:26 of Christ. Although Moses' understanding of the details of the Messianic hope was extremely limited, he chose to be associated with the people through whom that hope was to be realized. treasures of Egypt. The priceless treasures of King Tutankhamun's tomb alone included several thousand pounds of pure gold.

11:27 By faith he left Egypt. Probably referring to his flight to Midian in the Sinai peninsula when he was 40 years old (Ex 2:11–15; Acts 7:23–29). not fearing the wrath of the king. Exodus indicates that Moses was afraid (Ex 2:14) but does not expressly say of whom. And it tells us that he fled from Pharaoh when Pharaoh tried to kill him (Ex 2:15) but does not expressly say that he fled out of fear. The author of Hebrews capitalizes on these features of the account to highlight the fact that, in his fleeing from Pharaoh, Moses was sustained by his trust in God that the liberation of Israel would come and that he would have some part in it. he endured. For 40 years in Midian (Acts 7:30). seeing Him who is unseen. See vv. 1,6.

11:28 See Ex 12.

11:29 See Ex 14–15. The third and final 40-year period of Moses' life was spent leading the Israelites through the wilderness. At the age of 120 years he died in Moab (Deut 34:1–7).

11:30 Moses' place as leader was taken by Joshua, who brought the people of Israel into the land of promise. Jericho. The first great obstacle to their conquest of the land was captured by faith without a battle (Josh 6).

11:31 Rahab the harlot. A designation describing her way of life prior to her newly found faith (Josh 2:8–11; 6:22–25); also a testimony to God's boundless grace that can reach down and redeem and raise any sinner to eternal dignity. welcomed the spies. See James 2:25.

11:32–38 There were many more heroes of faith before the coming of Christ, and much more could be written of them. Only a small sampling is given, representing all types of men and women of faith. The great quality they had in common was that of overcoming "by faith" (v. 33).

11:32 if I tell. Translates the masculine form of a Greek verb, indicating that the author of Hebrews was a man (see Introduction: Author). Gideon, Barak, Samson, Jephthah. See Judg 4:6–5:15; 6:11–8:35; 11:1–12:7; 13:24–16:31; 1 Sam 12:11, where Gideon is called Jerubbaal (see Judg 6:32 and note). Samuel and the prophets. See Ps 99:6; Jer 15:1; Acts 3:24; 13:20.

11:33 mouths of lions. Cf. Daniel in the lions' den (Dan 6).

11:34 quenched the power of fire. Cf. Daniel's friends, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, in the fiery furnace (Dan 3). weakness were made strong. Through God's help (see Rom 8:26; 2 Cor 12:9).

11:35 Women received back their dead. Cf. the widow of Zarephath (1 Kin 17:17–24) and the Shunammite woman (2 Kin 4:8–36). were tortured, not accepting their release, so that they might obtain a better resurrection. Strongly reminiscent of the heroic Maccabean Jewish patriots of the second century B.C. (see 2 Maccabees 7). But the description applies also to countless believers, known and unknown, who demonstrated their faith in God by persevering in the face of harsh trials and afflictions.

11:37 They were stoned. Men like Zechariah, the son of Jehoiada the priest, who were put to death for declaring the truth (2 Chr 24:20–22; Luke 11:51). See also Introduction to Jeremiah: Author and Date. sawn in two. Perhaps refers to Isaiah, who, according to tradition, met this kind of death under wicked King Manasseh (see Introduction to Isaiah: Author).

11:39 all . . . gained approval through their faith. Not all the heroes of faith experienced immediate triumph over their circumstances, but all were blessed by God.

11:40 God had provided something better. The fulfillment for them, as for us, is in Christ who is "the resurrection and the life" (John 11:25–26). apart from us they would not be made perfect. All persons of faith who had gone before focused their faith on God and His promises. The fulfillment of God's promises to them has now come in Jesus Christ, and their redemption too is now complete in Him.

Jesus, the Example

12 Therefore, since we have so great a cloud of witnesses surrounding us, let us also [a]lay aside every encumbrance and the sin which so easily entangles us, and let us [b]run with [c]endurance the race that is set before us,

2 [1]fixing our eyes on Jesus, the [2a]author and perfecter of faith, who for the joy set before Him [b]endured the cross, [c]despising the shame, and has [d]sat down at the right hand of the throne of God.

3 For [a]consider Him who has endured such hostility by sinners against Himself, so that you will not grow weary [1b]and lose heart.

A Father's Discipline

4 [a]You have not yet resisted [1b]to the point of shedding blood in your striving against sin;

5 and you have forgotten the exhortation which is addressed to you as sons,

"[a]MY SON, DO NOT REGARD LIGHTLY THE DISCIPLINE OF THE LORD, NOR [b]FAINT WHEN YOU ARE REPROVED BY HIM;

6 [a]FOR THOSE [b]WHOM THE LORD LOVES HE DISCIPLINES,
AND HE SCOURGES EVERY SON WHOM HE RECEIVES."

7 It is for discipline that you endure; [a]God deals with you as with sons; for what son is there whom his father does not discipline?

8 But if you are without discipline, [a]of which all have become partakers, then you are illegitimate children and not sons.

9 Furthermore, we had [1]earthly fathers to discipline us, and we [a]respected them; shall we not much rather be subject to [b]the Father of [2]spirits, and [c]live?

10 For they disciplined us for a short time as seemed best to them, but He disciplines us for our good, [a]so that we may share His holiness.

11 All discipline [a]for the moment seems not to be joyful, but sorrowful; yet to those who have been trained by it, afterwards it yields the [b]peaceful fruit of righteousness.

12 Therefore, [1a]strengthen the hands that are weak and the knees that are feeble, 12:1 so great a cloud of witnesses surrounding us. The imagery suggests an athletic contest in a great amphitheater. The witnesses are the heroes of the past who have just been mentioned (ch. 11). They are not spectators but inspiring examples. The Greek word translated "witnesses" is the origin of the English word "martyr" and means "testifiers, witnesses." They bear testimony to the power of faith and to God's faithfulness. run with endurance. See Acts 20:24; 1 Cor 9:24–26; Gal 2:2; 5:7; Phil 2:16; 2 Tim 4:7. The Christian life is pictured as a long-distance race rather than a short sprint. Some Hebrew Christians were tempted to drop out of the contest because of persecution.

12:2 fixing our eyes on Jesus. Just as a runner concentrates on the finish line, we should concentrate on Jesus, the goal and objective of our faith (Phil 3:13–14). author. See note on 2:10. perfecter of faith. Our faith, which has its beginning in Him, is also completed in Him; He is both the start and the end of the race. He is also the supreme witness who has already run the race and overcome. joy set before Him. His accomplishing our eternal redemption and His glorification at the Father's "right hand" (see note on 1:3; cf. Is 53:10–12). endured the cross. See Phil 2:5–8. despising the shame. As with Christ, the humiliation of our present suffering for the gospel's sake is far outweighed by the prospect of future glory (see 11:26; Matt 5:10–12; Rom 8:18; 2 Cor 4:17; 1 Pet 4:13; 5:1,10).

12:3 consider Him. He suffered infinitely more than any of His disciples is asked to suffer—a great encouragement for us when we are weary and tempted to become discouraged. not grow weary. See Is 40:28–31.

12:4 not yet resisted to the point of shedding blood. Though they had suffered persecution and loss of possessions (10:32–34), they had not had to die for the faith.

12:5 THE DISCIPLINE OF THE LORD. Suffering and persecution should be seen as corrective and instructive training for our spiritual development as His children.

12:6 scourges. The Greek for this verb means "to whip." God chastens us in order to correct our faults.

12:7 deals with you as with sons. God's discipline is evidence that we are His children. Far from being a reason for despair, discipline is a basis for encouragement and perseverance (v. 10).

12:11 it yields the peaceful fruit of righteousness. When received submissively (see v. 9), discipline is wholesome and beneficial.

12:13 make straight paths. A call for upright conduct that will help, rather than hinder, the spiritual and moral welfare of others, especially the "lame" who waver in the Christian faith.

12:14 sanctification without which no one will see the Lord. Cf. 1 Pet 1:15–16; 1 John 3:2–3.

12:15 comes short of the grace of God. "Falls short of" or "fails to lay hold of" God's grace. Such an experience is described in 2:1–4; 6:4–8. root of bitterness. Pride, animosity, rivalry or anything else harmful to others.

12:16 godless person like Esau. See Gen 25:29–34. He had no appreciation for true values and was profane in his outlook on life (cf. Phil 3:18–19). He "despised his birthright" (Gen 25:34) by valuing food for his stomach more highly than his birthright.

12:17 the blessing. Of the firstborn. The readers were thinking of compromising their faith in order to gain relief from persecution. But to trade their spiritual birthright for temporary ease in this world would deprive them of Christ's blessing. he was rejected. Because he only regretted his loss, and did not repent was rejected, for he found no place for repentance, though he sought for it with tears.

Contrast of Sinai and Zion

18 [a]For you have not come to [b]a mountain that can be touched and to a blazing fire, and to darkness and gloom and whirlwind, 19 and to the [a]blast of a trumpet and the [b]sound of words which sound was such that those who heard [c]begged that no further word be spoken to them.

20 For they could not bear the command, "[a]IF EVEN A BEAST TOUCHES THE MOUNTAIN, IT WILL BE STONED."

21 And so terrible was the sight, that Moses said, "[a]I AM FULL OF FEAR and trembling."

22 But [a]you have come to Mount Zion and to [b]the city of [c]the living God, [d]the heavenly Jerusalem, and to [e]myriads of [1]angels,

23 to the general assembly and [a]church of the firstborn who [b]are enrolled in heaven, and to God, [c]the Judge of all, and to the [d]spirits of the righteous made perfect, 24 and to Jesus, the [a]mediator of a new covenant, and to the [b]sprinkled blood, which speaks better than [c]the blood of Abel.

The Unshaken Kingdom

25 [a]See to it that you do not refuse Him who is [b]speaking. For [c]if those did not escape when they [d]refused him who [e]warned them on earth, [1]much less will we escape who turn away from Him who [e]warns from heaven.

26 And [a]His voice shook the earth then, but now He has promised, saying, "[b]YET ONCE MORE I WILL SHAKE NOT ONLY THE EARTH, BUT ALSO THE HEAVEN."

27 This expression, "Yet once more," denotes [a]the removing of those things which can be shaken, as of created things, so that those things which cannot be shaken may remain.

28 Therefore, since we receive a [a]kingdom which cannot be shaken, let us [1]show gratitude, by which we may [b]offer to God an acceptable service with reverence and awe; of his sin (Gen 27, especially v. 41). His sorrow was not "sorrow that is according to the will of God" that "produces a repentance . . . leading to salvation," but "the sorrow of the world" that "produces death" (2 Cor 7:10). with tears. See Gen 27:34–38.

12:18–21 These verses describe the awesome occasion when the law was given at Mount Sinai (see Ex 19:10–25; Deut 4:11–12; 5:22–26), a description focusing on the old covenant's tangible mountain, ordinances, terrifying warnings and severe penalties. Believers in Jesus Christ do not have such a threatening covenant, and should not consider returning to it.

12:22 Mount Zion. Not the literal Mount Zion (Jerusalem, or its southeast portion), but the heavenly city of God and those who dwell there with Him (see 11:10,13–16; 13:14; Phil 3:20). The circumstances under which the old covenant was given (vv. 18–21) and the features of the new covenant (vv. 22–24) point up the utter contrast between the two covenants, and lay the foundation for one more warning and exhortation to those still thinking of going back to Judaism. myriads of angels. See Rev 5:11–12.

12:23 church of the firstborn. Believers in general who make up the church: (1) They cannot be angels since these have just been mentioned (v. 22); (2) "firstborn" cannot refer to Christ (though He is called firstborn, 1:6; Rom 8:29; Col 1:15–18; Rev 1:5), since here the Greek word is plural; (3) that their names are recorded in heaven reminds us of the redeemed (see Rev 3:5; 13:8; 17:8; 20:12; 21:27). The designation "firstborn" suggests their privileged position as heirs together with Christ, the supreme firstborn and "heir of all things" (Heb 1:2). God, the Judge of all. See 4:13; Rom 14:10–12; 1 Cor 3:10–15; 2 Cor 5:10; Rev 20:11–15. spirits of the righteous made perfect. For the most part, these were pre-Christian believers such as Abel (11:4) and Noah (11:7). They are referred to as "spirits" because they are waiting for the resurrection and as "righteous" because God credited their faith to them as righteousness, as He did to Abraham (see Rom 4:3). Actual justification was not accomplished, however, until Christ made it complete by His death on the cross (see 11:40; Rom 3:24–26; 4:23–25).

12:24 mediator of a new covenant. See 7:22; 8:6 and note; 8:13; 9:15; 1 Tim 2:5. speaks better than the blood of Abel. Abel's blood cried out for justice and retribution (see note on Gen 4:10), whereas the blood of Jesus shed on the cross speaks of forgiveness and reconciliation (9:12; 10:19; Col 1:20; 1 John 1:7).

12:25 Him who is speaking. God. warned them on earth. At Sinai. Him who warns from heaven. Christ, who is both from and in heaven (1:1–3; 4:14; 6:20; 7:26; 9:24). Since we have greater revelation, we have greater responsibility and therefore greater danger (2:2–4).

12:26 shook the earth. See Ex 19:18; Judg 5:5; Ps 68:7–8.

12:27 once more. During the great end-time upheavals associated with the second advent of Christ. which cannot be shaken. The kingdom (v. 28).

12:28 offer to God . . . acceptable service. See John 4:19–24; Rom 12:1.

12:29 Cf. Ex 24:17; Deut 9:3.

13:2 entertained angels without knowing it. As did Abraham (Gen 18), Gideon (Judg 6) and Manoah (Judg 13).

13:3 Remember the prisoners . . . and those who are ill-treated. See 10:32–34; 1 Cor 12:26.

13:5 love of money. See Luke 12:15,21; Phil 4:10–13; 1 Tim 6:6–10,17–19. being content. See Phil 4:11–12; 1 Tim 6:8.

what you have; for He Himself has said, "[c]I WILL NEVER DESERT YOU, NOR WILL I EVER FORSAKE YOU,"

6 so that we confidently say,

"[a]THE LORD IS MY HELPER, I WILL NOT BE AFRAID.
WHAT WILL MAN DO TO ME?"

7 Remember [a]those who led you, who spoke [b]the word of God to you; and considering the [1]result of their conduct, [c]imitate their faith.

8 [a]Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever.

9 [a]Do not be carried away by varied and strange teachings; for it is good for the heart to [b]be strengthened by grace, not by [c]foods, [d]through which those who [1]were so occupied were not benefited.

10 We have an altar [a]from which those [b]who serve the [1]tabernacle have no right to eat.

11 For [a]the bodies of those animals whose blood is brought into the holy place by the high priest as an offering for sin, are burned outside the camp.

12 Therefore Jesus also, [a]that He might sanctify the people [b]through His own blood, suffered [c]outside the gate.

13 So, let us go out to Him outside the camp, [a]bearing His reproach.

14 For here [a]we do not have a lasting city, but we are seeking [b]the city which is to come.

God-pleasing Sacrifices

15 [a]Through Him then, let us continually offer up a [b]sacrifice of praise to God, that is, [c]the fruit of lips that [1]give thanks to His name.

16 And do not neglect doing good and [a]sharing, for [b]with such sacrifices God is pleased.

17 [a]Obey your leaders and submit to them, for [b]they keep watch over your souls as those who will give an account. [1]Let them do this with joy and not [2]with grief, for this would be unprofitable for you.

18 [a]Pray for us, for we are sure that we have a [b]good conscience, desiring to conduct ourselves honorably in all things.

19 And I urge you all the more to do this, [a]so that I may be restored to you the sooner.

Benediction

20 Now [a]the God of peace, who [b]brought up from the dead the [c]great Shepherd of the sheep [1]through [d]the blood of the [e]eternal covenant, even Jesus our Lord, 21 [a]equip you in every good thing to do His will, [b]working in us that [c]which is pleasing in His sight, through Jesus Christ, [d]to whom be the glory forever and ever. Amen.

22 But [a]I urge you, [b]brethren, [1]bear with 13:7 those who led you, who spoke the word of God. See 2:3; 5:12. considering the result of their conduct. Probably indicates that these exemplary leaders were now dead. imitate their faith. See 6:12; 1 Cor 4:16; Eph 5:1; 1 Thess 1:6–7; 2:14; 3 John 11.

13:8 Jesus Christ is the same. A confession of the changelessness of Christ, no doubt related to the preceding verse. The substance of their former leaders' faith was the unchanging Christ. yesterday. Probably the days of Christ's life on earth, when the eyewitnesses observed Him (2:3). today. The Christ whom the eyewitnesses saw was still the same, and what they had said about Him was still true. forever. And it will always be true. To compromise His absolute supremacy by returning to the inferior Aaronic priesthood and sacrifices (see chs. 5–10) is to undermine the gospel.

13:9 not by foods. As the legalistic Judaizers were teaching. The old Mosaic order was done away with at the cross and must not be revived.

13:10 We have an altar. Probably refers to the cross, which marked the end of the whole Aaronic priesthood and its replacement by the order of Melchizedek, of which Christ is the unique and only priest. no right to eat. The priests could not eat of the sacrifice on the day of atonement, but we can partake of our sacrifice, so to speak—through spiritual reception of Christ by faith (see John 6:48–58). We have a higher privilege than the priests under the old covenant had.

13:11 burned outside the camp. See Lev 4:12 and note; 16:27.

13:12 Jesus also . . . suffered outside the gate. Christ's death outside Jerusalem represented the removal of sin, as had the removal of the bodies of sacrificial animals outside the camp of Israel.

13:13 go out to Him outside the camp. Calls for separation from Judaism to Christ. As He died in disgrace outside the city, so the readers should be willing to be disgraced by turning unequivocally from Judaism to Christ.

13:14 city that is to come. See notes on 11:10,14,16.

13:15 sacrifice of praise. "Sacrifice" is used metaphorically here to represent an offering to God (see Rom 12:1; Phil 4:18). Animal offerings are now obsolete.

13:17 your leaders. Their present leaders, as distinct from their first ones, now dead, mentioned in v. 7. submit to them. Dictatorial leadership is not condoned by this command (see 3 John 9–10), but respect for authority, orderliness and discipline in the church are taught throughout the NT.

13:19 restored to you. The identity and whereabouts of the writer are not known to us, but "restored" suggests that somehow he had been delayed in visiting those to whom he was writing, perhaps by his current ministry. That he was not under arrest is clear from v. 23.

13:20–21 This benediction provides a fitting conclusion to the letter. God of peace. A title for God used frequently in benedictions (see Rom 15:33; 16:20; Phil 4:9; 1 Thess 5:23).

13:20 great Shepherd. See, e.g., Ps 23; Is 40:11; Ezek 34:11–16, 23; 37:24; John 10:2–3,11,14,27; 1 Pet 2:25; 5:4. eternal covenant. The new covenant (see note on 8:8–12). What Jeremiah designates as the new covenant in 31:31 he describes as everlasting in 32:40 (see also Is 55:3 and note; 61:8). On the blood of the covenant see note on 10:29.

13:21 every good thing. Such as faith, faithfulness, obedience and perseverance.

13:22–25 A postscript.

13:22 word of exhortation. The main thrust of the letter is to go on in Christian maturity and not fall away from Christ. briefly.

[2]this [b]word of exhortation, for [c]I have written to you briefly.

23 [1]Take notice that [a]our brother Timothy has been released, with whom, if he comes soon, I will see you.

24 Greet [a]all of your leaders and all the [1][b]saints. Those from [c]Italy greet you.

25 [a]Grace be with you all.

25 [a]Col 4:18

Compared to the lengthy treatise that would be necessary to explain adequately the superiority of Christ.

13:23 Timothy has been released. Timothy, who was well known to the recipients of the letter, had recently been released from prison.

13:24 leaders. Mentioned in v. 17. Those from Italy. Does not mean that this letter was written either to or from Italy. The writer is passing on greetings from some Italian believers.

The General Letters

The seven letters following Hebrews—James, 1,2 Peter, 1,2,3 John and Jude—have often been designated as the General Letters. This term goes back to the early church historian Eusebius (c. A.D. 265–340), who in his Ecclesiastical History (2.23–25) first referred to these seven letters as Catholic Letters, using the word "catholic" to mean "universal."

The letters so designated may be said to be, for the most part, addressed to general audiences rather than to specific persons or localized groups. 2 and 3 John, the two letters that seem most obviously addressed to individuals, have long been viewed as appendages of 1 John, which is clearly general in its address. However, when compared with Paul's letters, all these letters except 3 John are clearly general in nature. By contrast, Paul addresses his letters to such recipients as the saints at Philippi, or the churches of Galatia, or Timothy or Titus.

As Eusebius noted long ago, one interesting fact connected with the General Letters is that most of them were at one time among the disputed books of the NT. James, 2 Peter, 2 John, 3 John and Jude were all questioned extensively before being admitted to the canon of Scripture.

James

Author

The author identifies himself as James (1:1), and he was probably the brother of Jesus and leader of the Jerusalem council (Acts 15). Four men in the NT have this name. The author of this letter could not have been the apostle James, who died too early (A.D. 44) to have written it. The other two men named James had neither the stature nor the influence that the writer of this letter had.

James was one of several brothers of Christ and was probably the oldest since he heads the list in Matt 13:55. At first he did not believe in Jesus and even challenged Him and misunderstood His mission (John 7:2–5). Later he became very prominent in the church:

1. He was one of the select individuals Christ appeared to after His resurrection (1 Cor 15:7).
2. Paul called him a "pillar" of the church (Gal 2:9).
3. Paul, on his first post-conversion visit to Jerusalem, saw James (Gal 1:19).
4. Paul did the same on his last visit (Acts 21:18).
5. When Peter was rescued from prison, he told his friends to tell James (Acts 12:17).
6. James was a leader in the important council of Jerusalem (Acts 15:13).
7. Jude could identify himself simply as a "brother of James" (Jude 1:1), so well known was James.

He was martyred c. A.D. 62.

Date

Some date the letter in the early 60s. There are indications, however, that it was written before A.D. 50:

1. Its distinctively Jewish nature suggests that it was composed when the church was still predominantly Jewish.
2. It reflects a simple church order—officers of the church are called "elders" (5:14) and "teachers" (3:1).
3. No reference is made to the controversy over Gentile circumcision.
4. The Greek term synagoge ("synagogue," "meeting," or "assembly") is used to designate the meeting or meeting place of the church (2:2).

If this early dating is correct, this letter is the earliest of all the NT writings—with the possible exception of Galatians.

Recipients

The recipients are identified explicitly only in 1:1: "the twelve tribes who are dispersed abroad." Some hold that this expression refers to Christians in general, but the term "twelve tribes" would more naturally apply to Jewish Christians. Furthermore, a Jewish audience would be more in keeping with the obviously Jewish nature of the letter (e.g., the use of the Hebrew title for God, kyrios sabaoth, "Lord of Sabaoth," 5:4). That the recipients were Christians is clear from 2:1; 5:7–8. It has been plausibly suggested that these were believers from the early Jerusalem church who, after Stephen's death, were scattered as far as Phoenicia, Cyprus and Syrian Antioch (Acts 8:1; 11:19). This would account for James's references to trials and oppression, his intimate knowledge of the readers and the authoritative nature of the letter. As leader of the Jerusalem church, James wrote as pastor to instruct and encourage his dispersed people in the face of their difficulties.

Distinctive Characteristics

Characteristics that make the letter distinctive are: (1) its unmistakably Jewish nature; (2) its emphasis on vital Christianity, characterized by good deeds and a faith that works (genuine faith must and will be accompanied by a consistent life-style); (3) its simple organization; (4) its familiarity with Jesus' teachings preserved in the Sermon on the Mount (compare 2:5 with Matt 5:3; 3:10–12 with Matt 7:15–20; 3:18 with Matt 5:9; 5:2–3 with Matt 6:19–20; 5:12 with Matt 5:33–37); (5) its similarity to OT wisdom writings such as Proverbs; (6) its excellent Greek.

Testing Your Faith

1 [1a]James, a [b]bond-servant of God and [c]of the Lord Jesus Christ,

To [d]the twelve tribes who are [2e]dispersed abroad: [f]Greetings.

2 [a]Consider it all joy, my brethren, when you encounter [b]various [1]trials,

3 knowing that [a]the testing of your [b]faith produces [1c]endurance.

4 And let [1a]endurance have its perfect [2]result, so that you may be [3b]perfect and complete, lacking in nothing.

5 But if any of you [a]lacks wisdom, let him ask of God, who gives to all generously and [1]without reproach, and [b]it will be given to him.

6 But he must [a]ask in faith [b]without any doubting, for the one who doubts is like the surf of the sea, [c]driven and tossed by the wind.

7 For that man ought not to expect that he will receive anything from the Lord,

8 being a [1a]double-minded man, [b]unstable in all his ways.

9 [a]But the [1]brother of humble circumstances is to glory in his high position;

10 and the rich man is to glory in his humiliation, because [a]like [1]flowering grass he will pass away.

11 For the sun rises with [1a]a scorching wind and [b]withers the grass; and its flower falls off and the beauty of its appearance is destroyed; so too the rich man in the midst of his pursuits will fade away.

12 [a]Blessed is a man who perseveres under trial; for once he has [1]been approved, he will receive [b]the crown of life which the Lord [c]has promised to those who [d]love Him.

13 Let no one say when he is tempted, "[a]I am being tempted [1]by God"; for God cannot be tempted [2]by evil, and He Himself does not tempt anyone.

14 But each one is tempted when he is carried away and enticed by his own lust.

15 Then [a]when lust has conceived, it gives birth to sin; and when [b]sin [1]is accomplished, it brings forth death.

16 [a]Do not be [1]deceived, [b]my beloved brethren.

17 Every good thing given and every perfect gift is [a]from above, coming down from [b]the Father of lights, [c]with whom there is no variation or [1]shifting shadow.

18 In the exercise of [a]His will He [b]brought us forth by [c]the word of truth, so that we would be [1]a kind of [d]first fruits [2]among His creatures.

19 [1]This [a]you know, [b]my beloved brethren. But everyone must be quick to hear, [c]slow to speak and [d]slow to anger;

20 for [a]the anger of man does not achieve the righteousness of God.

21 Therefore, [a]putting aside all filthiness and all [1]that remains of wickedness, in [2]humility receive [b]the word implanted, which is able to save your souls.

22 [a]But prove yourselves doers of the word, and not merely hearers who delude themselves.

23 For if anyone is a hearer of the word

1:1 James. See Introduction: Author. bond-servant. See note on Rom 1:1. twelve tribes. See Introduction: Recipients.

1:2 joy. See Matt 5:11–12; Rom 5:3; 1 Pet 1:6. brethren. James addresses the readers as brothers 15 times in this short letter. He has many rebukes for them, but he chides them in brotherly love. trials. The same Greek root lies behind the word "trials" here and the word "tempted" in v. 13. In vv. 2–3 the emphasis is on difficulties that come from outside; in vv. 13–15 it is on inner moral trials such as temptation to sin.

1:5 wisdom. Enables one to face trials with "joy" (v. 2). Wisdom is not just acquired information but practical insight with spiritual implications (see Prov 1:2–4; 2:10–15; 4:5–9; 9:10–12).

1:6 surf of the sea. See Eph 4:14.

1:9–10 brother of humble circumstances . . . rich man. Since James's discussions of wisdom (vv. 5–8) and of the poor man and the rich man (vv. 9–11) appear between the two sections on trials (vv. 2–4 and v. 12), vv. 5–11 may also have to do with trials. The Christian who suffers the trial of poverty is to take pride in his high position (v. 9) as a believer (see 2:5), and the wealthy Christian is to take pride (v. 10) in trials that bring him low, perhaps including the loss of his wealth.

1:12 Blessed. See Jer 17:7–8; Matt 5:3–12; see also notes on Ps 1:1; Matt 5:3; Rev 1:3. crown. The Greek for this word was the usual term for the wreath placed on the head of a victorious athlete or military leader (see 2 Tim 4:8; 1 Pet 5:4; Rev 2:10 and note). life. Eternal life, as the future tense of the verb ("will receive") indicates.

1:13 tempted. In vv. 13–14 the verb refers to temptations that test one's moral strength to resist sin (see note on Matt 4:1). God cannot be tempted. Because God in His very nature is holy, there is nothing in Him for sin to appeal to. He Himself does not tempt anyone. See note on Gen 22:1.

1:15 The three stages—desire, sin, death—are seen in the temptations of Eve (Gen 3:6–22) and David (2 Sam 11:2–17).

1:17 Every good thing . . . and every perfect gift is from above. See v. 5; 3:17. Father of . . . lights. God is the Creator of the heavenly bodies, which give light to the earth, but, unlike them, He does not change.

1:18 brought us forth. Not a reference to creation but to regeneration (see John 3:3–8). word of truth. The proclamation of the gospel (see 1 Pet 1:23–25). first fruits. See Lev 23:9–14. Just as the first sheaf of the harvest was an indication that the whole harvest would eventually follow, so the early Christians were an indication that a great number of people would eventually be born again.

1:19 everyone must be . . . slow to speak. See v. 26.

1:21 word. Of God.

and not a doer, he is like a man who looks at his [1]natural face [a]in a mirror;

24 for once he has looked at himself and gone away, [1]he has immediately forgotten what kind of person he was.

25 But one who looks intently at the perfect law, [a]the law of liberty, and abides by it, not having become a forgetful hearer but [1]an effectual doer, this man will be [b]blessed in [2]what he does.

26 If anyone thinks himself to be religious, and yet does not [1][a]bridle his tongue but deceives his own heart, this man's religion is worthless.

27 Pure and undefiled religion [a]in the sight of our God and Father is this: to [b]visit [c]orphans and widows in their distress, and to keep oneself unstained [1]by [d]the world.

The Sin of Partiality

2 [a]My brethren, [b]do not hold your faith in our [c]glorious Lord Jesus Christ with an attitude of [d]personal favoritism.

2 For if a man comes into your [1]assembly with a gold ring and dressed in [2][a]fine clothes, and there also comes in a poor man in [b]dirty clothes,

3 and you [1]pay special attention to the one who is wearing the [a]fine clothes, and say, "You sit here in a good place," and you say to the poor man, "You stand over there, or sit down by my footstool,"

4 have you not made distinctions among yourselves, and become judges [a]with evil [1]motives?

5 Listen, [a]my beloved brethren: did not [b]God choose the poor [1]of this world to be [c]rich in faith and [d]heirs of the kingdom which He [e]promised to those who love Him?

6 But you have dishonored the poor man. Is it not the rich who oppress you and [1]personally [a]drag you into [2]court?

7 [a]Do they not blaspheme the fair name [1]by which you have been called?

8 If, however, you [a]are fulfilling the [1]royal law according to the Scripture, "[b]YOU SHALL LOVE YOUR NEIGHBOR AS YOURSELF," you are doing well.

9 But if you [a]show partiality, you are committing sin and are convicted by the [1]law as transgressors.

10 For whoever keeps the whole [1]law and yet [a]stumbles in one point, he has become [b]guilty of all.

11 For He who said, "[a]DO NOT COMMIT ADULTERY," also said, "[b]DO NOT COMMIT MURDER." Now if you do not commit adultery, but do commit murder, you have become a transgressor of the [1]law.

12 So speak and so act as those who are to be judged by [a]the law of liberty.

13 For [a]judgment will be merciless to one who has shown no mercy; mercy [1]triumphs over judgment.

Faith and Works

14 [a]What use is it, [b]my brethren, if someone says he has faith but he has no works? Can [1]that faith save him?

1:25 perfect law. The moral and ethical teaching of Christianity, which is based on the OT moral law, as embodied in the Ten Commandments (see Ps 19:7), but brought to completion (perfection) by Jesus Christ. liberty. In contrast to the sinner, who is a slave to sin (John 8:34), obeying the moral law gives the Christian the joyous freedom to be what he was created for (see 2:12).

1:26 religious. Refers to the outward acts of religion: e.g., giving to the needy, fasting and public acts of praying and worshiping.

1:27 See Jer 22:16. world. Not the world of nature but the world of people in their rebellion against and alienation from God (see 1John 2:15).

2:1 faith . . . with an attitude of personal favoritism. God does not show favoritism—nor should believers.

2:2 assembly. The Greek for this term is the origin of the English word "synagogue."

2:5–13 James gives three arguments against showing favoritism to the rich: 1. The rich persecute the poor—the believers (vv. 5–7). 2. Favoritism violates the royal law of love and thus is sin (vv. 8–11). 3. Favoritism will be judged (vv. 12–13).

2:5 did not God choose the poor? See Luke 6:20; 1 Cor 1:26–31. the kingdom. The kingdom that is entered by the new birth (John 3:3,5) and that will be consummated in the future (Matt 25:34,46).

2:8 royal law. The law of love (Lev 19:18) is called "royal" because it is the supreme law that is the source of all other laws governing human relationships. It is the summation of all such laws (Matt 22:36–40; Rom 13:8–10).

2:10 guilty of all. The law is the expression of the character and will of God; therefore to violate one part of the law is to violate God's will and thus His whole law (cf. Matt 5:18–19; 23:23).

2:12 judged. This judgment is not for determining eternal destiny, for James is speaking to believers (v. 1), whose destiny is already determined (John 5:24). Rather, it is for giving rewards to believers (1 Cor 3:12–15; 2 Cor 5:10; Rev 22:12).

2:13 mercy triumphs over judgment. If man is merciful, God will be merciful on the Day of Judgment (see Prov 21:13; Matt 5:7; 6:14–15; 18:21–35).

2:14–26 In vv. 14–20,24,26 "faith" is not used in the sense of genuine, saving faith. Rather, it is demonic (v. 19), useless (v. 20) and dead (v. 26). It is a mere intellectual acceptance of certain truths without trust in Christ as Savior. James is also not saying that a person is saved by works and not by genuine faith. Rather, he is saying, to use Martin Luther's words, that a man is justified (declared righteous before God) by faith alone, but not by a faith that is alone. Genuine faith will produce good deeds, but only faith in Christ saves. (For more information on justification see note on Rom 3:24.)

2:15–16 This illustration of false faith is parallel to the illustration of false love found in 1 John 3:17. The latter passage calls for love in action; this one calls for faith in action.

peace, [1]be warmed and be filled," and yet you do not give them what is necessary for their body, what use is that?

17 Even so [a]faith, if it has no works, is [1]dead, being by itself.

18 [a]But someone [1]may well say, "You have faith and I have works; show me your [b]faith without the works, and I will [c]show you my faith [d]by my works."

19 You believe that [1][a]God is one. [b]You do well; [c]the demons also believe, and shudder.

20 But are you willing to recognize, [a]you foolish fellow, that [b]faith without works is useless?

21 [a]Was not Abraham our father justified by works when he offered up Isaac his son on the altar?

22 You see that [a]faith was working with his works, and [1]as a result of the [b]works, faith was [2]perfected;

23 and the Scripture was fulfilled which says, "[a]AND ABRAHAM BELIEVED GOD, AND IT WAS RECKONED TO HIM AS RIGHTEOUSNESS," and he was called [b]the friend of God.

24 You see that a man is justified by works and not by faith alone.

25 In the same way, was not [a]Rahab the harlot also justified by works [b]when she received the messengers and sent them out by another way?

26 For just as the body without the spirit is dead, so also [a]faith without works is dead.

The Tongue Is a Fire

3 [a]Let not many of you become teachers, [b]my brethren, knowing that as such we will incur a [1]stricter judgment.

2 For we all [a]stumble in many ways. [b]If anyone does not stumble in [1]what he says, he is a [c]perfect man, able to [d]bridle the whole body as well.

3 Now [a]if we put the bits into the horses' mouths so that they will obey us, we direct their entire body as well.

4 Look at the ships also, though they are so great and are driven by strong winds, are still directed by a very small rudder wherever the inclination of the pilot desires.

5 So also the tongue is a small part of the body, and yet it [a]boasts of great things.

[b]See how great a forest is set aflame by such a small fire!

6 And [a]the tongue is a fire, the very world of iniquity; the tongue is set among our members as that which [b]defiles the entire body, and sets on fire the course of our [1]life, and is set on fire by [2c]hell.

7 For every [1]species of beasts and birds, of reptiles and creatures of the sea, is tamed and has been tamed by the human [1]race.

8 But no one can tame the tongue; it is a restless evil and full of [a]deadly poison.

9 With it we bless [a]our Lord and Father, and with it we curse men, [b]who have been made in the likeness of God;

10 from the same mouth come both blessing and cursing. My brethren, these things ought not to be this way.

11 Does a fountain send out from the same opening both [1]fresh and bitter water?

12 [a]Can a fig tree, my brethren, produce olives, or a vine produce figs? Nor can salt water produce [1]fresh.

Wisdom from Above

13 Who among you is wise and understanding? [a]Let him show by his [b]good behavior his deeds in the gentleness of wisdom.

2:18 You have faith and I have works. The false claim is that there are "faith" Christians and "works" Christians, i.e., that faith and deeds can exist independently of each other. show me your faith without the works. Irony; James denies the possibility of this.

2:19 God is one. A declaration of monotheism that reflects the well-known Jewish creed called in Hebrew the Shema, "Hear" (Deut 6:4; Mark 12:29).

2:21 Apart from its context, this verse might seem to contradict the Biblical teaching that people are saved by faith and not by good deeds (Rom 3:28; Gal 2:15–16). But James means only that righteous action is evidence of genuine faith—not that it saves, for the verse (Gen 15:6) that he cites (v. 23) to substantiate his point says, "Then he believed in the LORD; and He reckoned it [i.e., faith, not works] to him as righteousness." Furthermore, Abraham's act of faith recorded in Gen 15:6 occurred before he offered up Isaac, which was only a proof of the genuineness of his faith. As Paul wrote, the only thing that matters is "faith working through love" (Gal 5:6). Faith that saves produces deeds.

2:23 the friend of God. This designation (see 2 Chr 20:7) further describes Abraham's relationship to God as one of complete acceptance.

2:24 not by faith alone. Not by an intellectual assent to certain truths (see note on 2:14–26).

2:25 Rahab the harlot. James does not approve Rahab's occupation. He merely commends her for her faith (see also Heb 11:31), which she demonstrated by helping the spies (Josh 2).

3:1 stricter judgment. Because a teacher has great influence, he will be held more accountable (see Luke 20:47; cf. Matt 23:1–33).

3:2 perfect man. Since the tongue is so difficult to control, anyone who controls it perfectly gains control of himself in all other areas of life as well.

3:6 world of iniquity. Like the world in its fallenness. set on fire by hell. A figurative way of saying that the source of the tongue's evil is the devil (see John 8:44). See notes on Matt 5:22; Luke 16:23.

3:9 likeness of God. Since man has been made like God (Gen 1:26–27), to curse man is like cursing God (see Gen 9:6). See note on Gen 1:26.

3:13 wisdom. See note on 1:5.

18 And the [1a]seed whose fruit is righteousness is sown in peace [2]by those who make peace.

Things to Avoid

4 [1]What is the source of quarrels and [a]conflicts among you? [2]Is not the source your pleasures that wage [b]war in your members?

2 You lust and do not have; so you [a]commit murder. You are envious and cannot obtain; so you fight and quarrel. You do not have because you do not ask.

3 You ask and [a]do not receive, because you ask [1]with wrong motives, so that you may spend it [2]on your pleasures.

4 You [a]adulteresses, do you not know that friendship with [b]the world is [c]hostility toward God? [d]Therefore whoever wishes to be a friend of the world makes himself an enemy of God.

5 Or do you think that the Scripture [a]speaks to no purpose: "[1]He [2]jealously desires [b]the Spirit which He has made to dwell in us"?

6 But [a]He gives a greater grace. Therefore it says, "[b]GOD IS OPPOSED TO THE PROUD, BUT GIVES GRACE TO THE HUMBLE."

7 [a]Submit therefore to God. [b]Resist the devil and he will flee from you.

8 [a]Draw near to God and He will draw near to you. [b]Cleanse your hands, you sinners; and [c]purify your hearts, you [d]double-minded.

9 [a]Be miserable and mourn and weep; let your laughter be turned into mourning and your joy to gloom.

10 [a]Humble yourselves in the presence of the Lord, and He will exalt you.

11 [a]Do not speak against one another, [b]brethren. He who speaks against a brother or [c]judges his brother, speaks against [d]the law and judges the law; but if you judge the law, you are not [e]a doer of the law but a judge of it.

12 There is only one [a]Lawgiver and Judge, the One who is [b]able to save and to destroy; but [c]who are you who judge your neighbor?

13 [a]Come now, you who say, "[b]Today or tomorrow we will go to such and such a city, and spend a year there and engage in business and make a profit."

14 [1]Yet you do not know [2]what your life will be like tomorrow. [a]You are just a vapor that appears for a little while and then vanishes away.

15 [1]Instead, you ought to say, "[a]If the Lord wills, we will live and also do this or that."

16 But as it is, you boast in your [1]arrogance; [a]all such boasting is evil.

17 Therefore, [a]to one who knows the [1]right thing to do and does not do it, to him it is sin.

Misuse of Riches

5 [a]Come now, [b]you rich, [c]weep and howl for your miseries which are coming upon you.

4:2 murder. Figurative (hyperbole) for "hate."
4:4 adulteresses. Those who are spiritually unfaithful, who love the world rather than God. For spiritual adultery see, e.g., Jer 31:32. world. See note on 1:27.
4:5 Scripture. The passage James had in mind is not known. Spirit. Or "spirit." Then the meaning would be that God "jealously desires" our faithfulness and love (see v. 4). In this case the "Scripture" referred to may be Ex 20:5.
4:6 See 1 Pet 5:5, which also quotes Prov 3:34.
4:7–10 These verses contain ten commands, each of which is so stated in Greek that it calls for immediate action in rooting out the sinful attitude of pride.
4:7 Resist the devil. See Eph 6:11–18; 1 Pet 5:8–9.
4:8 Cleanse your hands. Before the OT priests approached God at the tabernacle, they had to wash their hands and feet at the bronze basin as a symbol of spiritual cleansing (Ex 30:17–21). See Ps 24:4 for the imagery of "clean hands and a pure heart."
4:9 Be miserable and mourn and weep. Repent.
4:10 See Matt 23:12.
4:11 speaks against a brother . . . speaks against the law. See note on 2:8; see also Ex 20:16; Ps 15:3; 50:19–20; Prov 6:16,19. To speak against a brother is to scorn the law of love.
5:1 rich. These (as also in 2:2,6) are not Christians, for James warns them to repent and weep because of the coming misery. Verses 1–6 are similar to OT declarations of judgment against pagan nations, interspersed in books otherwise addressed to God's people (Is 13–23; Jer 46–51; Ezek 25–32; Amos 1:3–2:16; Zeph 2:4–15).
5:2 garments. One of the main forms of wealth in the ancient world (see Acts 20:33).
5:3 rust. The result of hoarding. It will both testify against and will consume your flesh like fire. It is [a]in the last days that you have stored up your treasure!

4 Behold, [a]the pay of the laborers who mowed your fields, and which has been withheld by you, cries out against you; and [b]the outcry of those who did the harvesting has reached the ears of [c]the Lord of [1]Sabaoth.

5 You have [a]lived luxuriously on the earth and led a life of wanton pleasure; you have [1]fattened your hearts in [b]a day of slaughter.

6 You have condemned and [1a]put to death [b]the righteous man; he does not resist you.

Exhortation

7 Therefore be patient, [a]brethren, [b]until the coming of the Lord. [c]The farmer waits for the precious produce of the soil, being patient about it, until [1]it gets [d]the early and late rains.

8 [a]You too be patient; [b]strengthen your hearts, for [c]the coming of the Lord is [d]near.

9 [a]Do not [1]complain, [b]brethren, against one another, so that you yourselves may not be judged; behold, [c]the Judge is standing [2d]right at the [3]door.

10 As an example, [a]brethren, of suffering and patience, take [b]the prophets who spoke in the name of the Lord.

11 We count those [a]blessed who endured. You have heard of [b]the [1]endurance of Job and have seen [c]the [2]outcome of the Lord's dealings, that [d]the Lord is full of compassion and is merciful.

12 But above all, [a]my brethren, [b]do not swear, either by heaven or by earth or with any other oath; but [1]your yes is to be yes, and your no, no, so that you may not fall under judgment.

13 Is anyone among you [a]suffering? [b]Then he must pray. Is anyone cheerful? He is to [c]sing praises.

14 Is anyone among you sick? Then he must call for [a]the elders of the church and they are to pray over him, [1b]anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord;

15 and the [a]prayer [1]offered in faith will [2b]restore the one who is sick, and the Lord will [c]raise him up, and if he has committed sins, [3]they will be forgiven him.

16 Therefore, [a]confess your sins to one another, and pray for one another so that you may be [b]healed. [c]The effective [1]prayer of a righteous man can accomplish much.

17 Elijah was [a]a man with a nature like ours, and [b]he prayed [1]earnestly that it would not rain, and it did not rain on the earth for [c]three years and six months.

18 Then he [a]prayed again, and [b]the [1]sky [2]poured rain and the earth produced its fruit.

19 My brethren, [a]if any among you strays from [b]the truth and one turns him back, 20 let him know that [1]he who turns a sinner from the error of his way will [a]save his soul from death and will [b]cover a multitude of sins.

and judge the selfish rich. last days. See notes on Acts 2:17; 1 Tim 4:1; 2 Tim 3:1; Heb 1:2; 1 John 2:18.

5:4 the Lord of Sabaoth. See notes on Gen 17:1; 1 Sam 1:3.

5:5 luxuriously . . . wanton pleasure. See Luke 16:19–31. a day of slaughter. The day of judgment. The wicked rich are like cattle that continue to fatten themselves on the very day they are to be slaughtered, totally unaware of coming destruction.

5:7 Therefore. Refers back to vv. 1–6. Since the believers are suffering at the hands of the wicked rich, they are to look forward patiently to the Lord's return. early and late rains. In Israel the autumn rain comes in October and November soon after the grain is sown, and the spring rain comes in March and April just prior to harvest (Deut 11:14; Jer 5:24; Hos 6:3; Joel 2:24).

5:9 Do not complain. James calls for patience toward believers as well as unbelievers (vv. 7–8). the Judge is standing right at the door. A reference to Christ's second coming (see vv. 7–8) and the judgment associated with it. The NT insistence on imminence (e.g., in Rom 13:12; Heb 10:25; 1 Pet 4:7; Rev 22:20) arises from the teaching that the "last days" began with the incarnation. We have been living in the "last days" (v. 3) ever since (see note on Heb 1:1). The next great event in redemptive history is Christ's second coming. The NT does not say when it will take place, but its certainty is never questioned and believers are consistently admonished to watch for it. It was in this light that James expected the imminent return of Christ.

5:11 endurance of Job. Not "patience." Job was not patient (Job 3; 12:1–3; 16:1–3; 21:4), but he persevered (Job 1:20–22; 2:9–10; 13:15). This is the only place in the NT where Job is mentioned, though Job 5:13 is quoted in 1 Cor 3:19.

5:12 do not swear. James's words are very close to Christ's (Matt 5:33–37). James is not condemning the taking of solemn oaths, such as God's before Abraham (Heb 6:13) or Jesus' before Caiaphas (Matt 26:63–64) or Paul's (Rom 1:9; 9:1) or a man's before the Lord (Ex 22:11). Rather, he is condemning the flippant use of God's name or a sacred object to guarantee the truth of what is spoken.

5:14 elders. See notes on 1 Tim 3:1; 5:17. church. See note on Matt 16:18. oil. One of the best-known ancient medicines (referred to by Philo, Pliny and the physician Galen; see also Is 1:6; Luke 10:34). Some believe that James may be using the term medicinally in this passage. Others, however, regard its use here as an aid to faith, an outward sign of the healing to be brought about by God in response to "prayer offered in faith" (v. 15; see Mark 6:13).

5:17 Elijah . . . prayed. That Elijah prayed may be assumed from 1 Kin 17:1; 18:41–46. The three and a half years (see also Luke 4:25) are probably a round number (half of seven), based on 1 Kin 18:1 (see note there; cf. Rev 11:1–6).

5:19 strays from the truth. The wanderer is either a professing Christian, whose faith is not genuine (cf. Heb 6:4–8; 2 Pet 2:20–21), or a sinning Christian, who needs to be restored. For the former, the death spoken of in v. 20 is the "second death" (Rev 21:8); for the latter, it is physical death (cf. 1 Cor 11:30). See note on 1 John 5:16.

5:20 cover a multitude of sins. The sins of the wanderer will be forgiven by God.

1 Peter

Author and Date

The author identifies himself as the apostle Peter (1:1), and the contents and character of the letter support his authorship (see notes on 1:12; 4:13; 5:1–2,5,13). Moreover, the letter reflects the history and terminology of the Gospels and Acts (notably Peter's speeches); its themes and concepts reflect Peter's experiences and his associations in the period of our Lord's earthly ministry and in the apostolic age. That he was acquainted, e.g., with Paul and his letters is made clear in 2 Pet 3:15–16; Gal 1:18; 2:1–21 and elsewhere; coincidences in thought and expression with Paul's writings are therefore not surprising.

From the beginning, 1 Peter was recognized as authoritative and as the work of the apostle Peter. The earliest reference to it may be 2 Pet 3:1, where Peter himself refers to a former letter he had written. 1 Clement (A.D. 95) seems to indicate acquaintance with 1 Peter. Polycarp, a disciple of the apostle John, makes use of 1 Peter in his letter to the Philippians. The author of the Gospel of Truth (140–150) was acquainted with 1 Peter. Eusebius (fourth century) indicated that it was universally received.

The letter was explicitly ascribed to Peter by that group of church fathers whose testimonies appear in the attestation of so many of the genuine NT writings, namely, Irenaeus (A.D. 140–203), Tertullian (150–222), Clement of Alexandria (155–215) and Origen (185–253). It is thus clear that Peter's authorship of the book has early and strong support.

Nevertheless some claim that the idiomatic Greek of this letter is beyond Peter's competence. But in his time Aramaic, Hebrew and Greek were used in Palestine, and he may well have been acquainted with more than one language. That he was not a professionally trained scribe (Acts 4:13) does not mean that he was unacquainted with Greek; in fact, as a Galilean fisherman he in all likelihood did use it. Even if he had not known it in the earliest days of the church, he may have acquired it as an important aid to his apostolic ministry in the decades that intervened between then and the writing of 1 Peter.

It is true, however, that the Greek of 1 Peter is good literary Greek, and even though Peter could no doubt speak Greek, as so many in the Mediterranean world could, it is unlikely that he would write such polished Greek. But it is at this point that Peter's remark in 5:12 concerning Silas may be significant. Here the apostle claims that he wrote "through" (or more lit. "by means of") Silas. This phrase cannot refer merely to Silas as a letter carrier. Thus Silas was the intermediate agent in writing. Some have claimed that Silas's qualifications for recording Peter's letter in literary Greek are found in Acts 15:22–29. It is known that a secretary in those days often composed documents in good Greek for those who did not have the language facility to do so. Thus in 1 Peter Silas's Greek may be seen, while in 2 Peter it may be Peter's rough Greek that appears.

Some also maintain that the book reflects a situation that did not exist until after Peter's death, suggesting that the persecution referred to in 4:14–16; 5:8–9 is descriptive of Domitian's reign (A.D. 81–96). However, the situation that was developing in Nero's time (54–68) is just as adequately described by those verses. The book can be satisfactorily dated in the early 60s. It cannot be placed earlier than 60 since it shows familiarity with Paul's Prison Letters (e.g., Colossians and Ephesians, which are to be dated no earlier than 60): Compare 1:1–3 with Eph 1:1–3; 2:18 with Col 3:22; 3:1–6 with Eph 5:22–24. Furthermore, it cannot be dated later than 67/68, since Peter was martyred during Nero's reign.

Place of Writing

In 5:13 Peter indicates that he was in Babylon when he wrote 1 Peter. Among the interpretations that have been suggested are that he was writing from (1) Egyptian Babylon, which was a military post, (2) Mesopotamian Babylon, (3) Jerusalem and (4) Rome. Peter may well be using the name "Babylon" symbolically, as it seems to be used in the book of Revelation (see, e.g., notes on Rev 17:9–10). Tradition connects him in the latter part of his life with Rome, and certain early writers held that 1 Peter was written there. On the other hand, it is known that Babylon existed in the first century as a small town on the Euphrates. Furthermore, it is pointed out that (1) there is no evidence that the term Babylon was used figuratively to refer to Rome until Revelation was written (c. A.D. 95), and (2) the context of 5:13 is not at all figurative or cryptic.

Themes

Although 1 Peter is a short letter, it touches on various doctrines and has much to say about Christian life and duties. It is not surprising that different readers have found it to have different principal themes. For example, it has been characterized as a letter of separation, of suffering and persecution, of suffering and glory, of hope, of pilgrimage, of courage, and as a letter dealing with the true grace of God. Peter says that he has written "exhorting you and testifying that this is the true grace of God" (5:12). This is a definitive general description of the letter, but it does not exclude the recognition of numerous subordinate and contributory themes. The letter is composed also of a series of exhortations (imperatives) that run from 1:13 to 5:11.

Outline

I. Salutation (1:1–2)
II. Praise to God for His Grace and Salvation (1:3–12)

A Living Hope, and a Sure Salvation

1 [a]Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ,
To those who reside as [b]aliens, [c]scattered throughout [d]Pontus, [e]Galatia, [d]Cappadocia, [d]Asia, and [f]Bithynia, [g]who are chosen

2 according to the [a]foreknowledge of God the Father, [b]by the sanctifying work of the Spirit, [1]to [c]obey Jesus Christ and be [d]sprinkled with His blood: [e]May grace and peace [2]be yours in the fullest measure.

3 [a]Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who [b]according to His great mercy [c]has caused us to be born again to [d]a living hope through the [e]resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,

4 to obtain an [a]inheritance which is imperishable and undefiled and [b]will not fade away, [c]reserved in heaven for you,

5 who are [a]protected by the power of God [b]through faith for [c]a salvation ready [d]to be revealed in the last time.

6 [a]In this you greatly rejoice, even though now [b]for a little while, [c]if necessary, you have been distressed by [d]various [1]trials,

7 so that the [1][a]proof of your faith, being more precious than gold which [2]is perishable, [b]even though tested by fire, [c]may be found to result in praise and glory and honor at [d]the revelation of Jesus Christ;

8 and [a]though you have not seen Him, you [b]love Him, and though you do not see Him now, but believe in Him, you greatly rejoice with joy inexpressible and [1]full of glory, 9 obtaining as [a]the outcome of your faith the salvation of [1]your souls.

10 [a]As to this salvation, the prophets who [b]prophesied of the [c]grace that would come to you made careful searches and inquiries,

11 [1]seeking to know what person or time [a]the Spirit of Christ within them was indicating as He [b]predicted the sufferings of Christ and the glories [2]to follow.

12 It was revealed to them that they were not serving themselves, but you, in these things which now have been announced to you through those who [a]preached the gospel to you by [b]the Holy Spirit sent from heaven—things into which [c]angels long to [1]look.

1:1 Peter. See notes on Matt 16:18; John 1:42. apostle. See notes on Mark 6:30; 1 Cor 1:1; Heb 3:1. chosen. See note on Eph 1:4. reside as aliens. People temporarily residing on earth but whose home is in heaven (cf. 1 Chr 29:15; Ps 39:12; Heb 13:14). scattered throughout Pontus . . . Bithynia. Jewish and Gentile Christians scattered throughout much of Asia Minor. People from this area were in Jerusalem on the day of Pentecost (see Acts 2:9–11). Paul preached and taught in some of these provinces (see, e.g., Acts 16:6; 18:23; 19:10,26).

1:2 foreknowledge. See note on Rom 8:29. Father . . . Spirit . . . Jesus Christ. All three persons of the Trinity are involved in the redemption of the elect. sanctifying work. See note on 2 Thess 2:13. The order of the terms employed suggests that the sanctifying work of the Spirit referred to here is the influence of the Spirit that draws one from sin toward holiness. Peter says it is "to" (or "for") obedience and sprinkling of Christ's blood, i.e., the Spirit's sanctifying leads to obedient saving faith and cleansing from sin (see note on 1 Cor 7:14). to obey Jesus Christ. God's choice or election is designed to bring this about. sprinkled with His blood. The benefits of Christ's redemption are applied to His people (cf. Ex 24:4–8; Is 52:15; Heb 9:11–14,18–28). grace and peace. See notes on Jon 4:2; John 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.

1:3 living hope. In spite of the frequent suffering and persecution mentioned in this letter (v. 6; 2:12,18–25; 3:13–18; 4:1,4,12–19; 5:1,7–10), hope is such a key thought in it (the word itself is used here and in vv. 13,21; 3:5,15) that it may be called a letter of hope in the midst of suffering (see Introduction: Themes). In the Bible, hope is not wishful thinking but a firm conviction, much like faith that is directed toward the future. resurrection of Jesus Christ. Secures for His people their new birth and the hope that they will be resurrected just as He was.

1:4 to obtain an inheritance. Believers are born again not only to a hope but also to the inheritance that is the substance of the hope. The inheritance is eternal—in its essence (it is not subject to decay) and in its preservation (it is divinely kept for us).

1:5 by the power of God through faith. There are two sides to the perseverance of the Christian. He is shielded (1) by God's power and (2) by his own faith. Thus he is never kept contrary to his will nor apart from God's activity. salvation. See note on 2 Tim 1:9. The Bible speaks of salvation as (1) past—when a person first believes (see, e.g., Titus 3:5), (2) present—the continuing process of salvation, or sanctification (see v. 9; 1 Cor 1:18), and (3) future—when Christ returns and salvation, or sanctification, is completed through glorification (here; see also Rom 8:23,30; 13:11).

1:7 that the proof of your faith . . . may be found. See Rom 5:3; James 1:2–4. Not only is the faith itself precious, but Peter's words indicate that the trial of faith is also valuable. glory. A key word in 1,2 Peter.

1:8 though you do not see Him now, but believe. Similar to Jesus' saying in John 20:29, on an occasion when Peter was present.

1:9 souls. Implies the whole person. Peter is not excluding the body from heaven.

1:10 prophets . . . made careful searches. Inspiration (see 2 Pet 1:21) did not bestow omniscience. The prophets probably did not always understand the full significance of all the words they spoke.

1:11 Spirit of Christ. The Holy Spirit is called this because Christ sent Him (see John 16:7) and ministered through Him (see Luke 4:14,18). the sufferings of Christ and the glories. A theme running through the Bible (see, e.g., Ps 22; Is 52:13–53:12; Zech 9:9–10; 13:7; Matt 16:21–23; 17:22; 20:19; Luke 24:26,46; John 2:19; Acts 3:17–21), and a basic concept in this letter (vv. 18–21; 3:17–22; 4:12–16; 5:1,4,9–10). Those who are united to Christ will also, after suffering, enter into glory. And they will benefit in the midst of their present sufferings from His having already entered into glory (vv. 3,8,21; 3:21–22).

1:12 Holy Spirit sent from heaven. By Christ, on the day of Pentecost (see Acts 2:33), at which Peter was present. God the Father also sent the Spirit (see John 14:16,26). into which angels long to look. Their intense desire is highlighted by the Greek word rendered "to look into." It means "to stoop and look intently" (see John 20:5,11).

13 Therefore, [1][a]prepare your minds for action, [2][b]keep sober in spirit, fix your [c]hope completely on the [d]grace [3]to be brought to you at [e]the revelation of Jesus Christ.

14 As [1][a]obedient children, do not [2][b]be conformed to the former lusts which were yours in your [c]ignorance,

15 but [1][a]like the Holy One who called you, [2][b]be holy yourselves also [c]in all your behavior;

22 Since you have [a]in obedience to the truth [b]purified your souls for a [1][c]sincere love of the brethren, fervently love one another from [2]the heart,

23 for you have been [a]born again [b]not of seed which is perishable but imperishable, that is, through the living and enduring [c]word of God.

And this is [b]the word which was [1]preached to you.

1:13 prepare . . . for action. The first of a long series of exhortations (actually imperatives) that end at 5:11. This one is a graphic call for action. In the language of the first century it meant that the reader should literally gather up his long, flowing garments and be ready for physical action. grace to be brought to you. The final state of complete blessedness and deliverance from sin. Peter later indicates that a major purpose of this letter is to encourage and testify regarding the true grace of God (5:12).

1:14 children. Christians, born into the family of God (see v. 23), are children of their heavenly Father (v. 17) and can pray, "Our Father who is in heaven" (Matt 6:9). Believers are also described as being adopted into God's family (see Rom 8:15 and note).

1:16 BE HOLY, FOR I AM HOLY. To be holy is to be set apart—set apart from sin and impurity, and set apart to God. The complete moral perfection of God, whose eyes are too pure to look on evil with favor (Hab 1:13), should move His people to strive for moral purity. 1 Peter is a letter of practical earnestness, filled with exhortations and encouragements.

1:17 impartially. See Rom 2:11; James 2:1. your stay on earth. See note on v. 1. fear. Not terror, but wholesome reverence and respect for God, which is the basis for all godly living (cf. Prov 1:7; 8:13; 16:6).

1:18 redeemed. In the Bible, to redeem means to free someone from something bad by paying a penalty, or a ransom (see e.g., Ex 21:30 and note; see also Ex 13:13). Likewise, in the Greek world slaves could be redeemed by the payment of a price, either by someone else or by the slave himself. Similarly, Jesus redeems believers from the "curse of the Law" (Gal 3:13) and "every lawless deed" (Titus 2:14). The ransom price is not silver or gold, but Christ's blood (Eph 1:7; 1 Pet 1:19; Rev 5:9), i.e., His death (Matt 20:28; Mark 10:45; Heb 9:15) or Christ Himself (Gal 3:13). The result is the "forgiveness of sins" (Col 1:14) and "being justified" (Rom 3:24; see note there). futile way of life inherited from your forefathers. Some maintain that the recipients must have been pagans because the NT stresses the emptiness of pagan life (Rom 1:21; Eph 4:17). Others think they were Jews since Jews were traditionalists who stressed the influence of the father as teacher in the home. In the light of the context of the whole letter, probably both Jews and Gentiles are addressed.

1:19 lamb. The OT sacrifices were types (foreshadowings) of Christ, depicting the ultimate and only effective sacrifice. Thus Christ is the Passover lamb (1 Cor 5:7), who takes away the sin of the world (John 1:29). unblemished and spotless. See Heb 9:14 and note; see also Introduction to Leviticus: Themes.

1:20 foreknown. God knew before creation that it would be necessary for Christ to redeem man (cf. Rev 13:8), but He has revealed Christ in these last times. Or the Greek for "foreknown" may also be rendered "chosen." Then the meaning would be that in eternity past God "chose" Christ as Redeemer. these last times. See notes on Acts 2:17; 1 Tim 4:1; 2 Tim 3:1; Heb 1:1; 1 John 2:18.

1:22 sincere love. See Rom 12:9. love one another. A command no doubt based on John 13:34–35. See also 1 Thess 4:9–10, where, like Peter, Paul commends his readers for their love of fellow believers and then urges them to love still more.

1:23 born again . . . through the . . . word of God. The new birth comes about through the direct action of the Holy Spirit (Titus 3:5), but the word of God also plays an important role (see James 1:18), for it presents the gospel to the sinner and calls on him to repent and believe in Christ (see v. 25). seed which is perishable . . . imperishable. In this context the seed is doubtless the word of God, which is imperishable, living and enduring.

1:25 THE WORD . . . ENDURES FOREVER. The main point of the quotation here.

2:1 Therefore. Connects the exhortations that follow with 1:23–25; compare "born again" (1:23) with "newborn babies" (2:2).

2:2 long for. The unrestrained hunger of a healthy baby provides an example of the kind of eager desire for spiritual food

As Living Stones

4 And coming to Him as to a living stone which has been [a]rejected by men, but is [1]choice and precious in the sight of God,

5 [a]you also, as living stones, [1]are being built up as a [b]spiritual house for a holy [c]priesthood, to [d]offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.

6 For this is contained in [1]Scripture:

"[a]BEHOLD, I LAY IN ZION A CHOICE STONE, A [b]PRECIOUS CORNER stone,
AND HE WHO BELIEVES IN [2]HIM WILL NOT BE [3]DISAPPOINTED."

7 [a]This precious value, then, is for you who believe; but for those who disbelieve,

"[b]THE STONE WHICH THE BUILDERS [c]REJECTED, THIS BECAME THE VERY CORNER stone,"

8 and,

"[a]A STONE OF STUMBLING AND A ROCK OF OFFENSE";

[b]for they stumble because they are disobedient to the word, [c]and to this doom they were also appointed.

9 But you are [a]A CHOSEN RACE, A ROYAL [b]PRIESTHOOD, A [c]HOLY NATION, [d]A PEOPLE FOR God's OWN POSSESSION, so that you may proclaim the excellencies of Him who has called you [e]out of darkness into His marvelous light;

10 [a]for you once were NOT A PEOPLE, but now you are THE PEOPLE OF GOD; you had NOT RECEIVED MERCY, but now you have RECEIVED MERCY.

11 [a]Beloved, [b]I urge you as [c]aliens and strangers to abstain from [d]fleshly lusts which wage [e]war against the soul.

12 [a]Keep your behavior excellent among the Gentiles, so that in the thing in which they [b]slander you as evildoers, they may [1]because of your good deeds, as they observe them, [c]glorify God [d]in the day of [2]visitation.

that ought to mark the believer. pure milk of the word. Probably referring to God's word (1:23,25). The author is speaking figuratively. Milk is not to be understood here as in 1 Cor 3:2; Heb 5:12–14—in unfavorable contrast to solid food—but as an appropriate nourishment for babies. grow. The Greek for this phrase is the standard term for the desirable growth of children.

2:3 have tasted. The tense of the Greek verb used here suggests that an initial act of tasting is referred to. Since this taste has proved satisfactory, the believers are urged to long for additional spiritual food.

2:4 living stone. Christ (see vv. 6–8; cf. Matt 21:42; Mark 12:10–11; Luke 20:17; Acts 4:11; Rom 9:33). The stone is living in that it is personal. Furthermore He is a life-giving stone. Christ as the Son of God has life in Himself (John 1:4; 5:26). See also "living water" (John 4:10–14; 7:38), "living bread" (John 6:51) and "living way" (Heb 10:20). rejected by men, but is choice . . . in the sight of God. Peter repeatedly makes a contrast in Acts between the hostility of unbelieving men toward Jesus and God's exaltation of Him (Acts 2:22–36; 3:13–15; 4:10–11; 10:39–42).

2:5 living stones. Believers are not literal pieces of rock, but are persons. In addition, they derive their life from Christ, who is the original living Stone to whom they have come (v. 4), the "life-giving spirit" (1 Cor 15:45). These references to stones may well reflect Jesus' words to Peter in Matt 16:18. spiritual house. The house is spiritual in a metaphorical sense, but also in that it is formed and indwelt by the Spirit of God. Every stone in the house has been made alive by the Holy Spirit, sent by the exalted living Stone, Jesus Christ (cf. Acts 2:33). The OT temple provides the background of this passage (cf. John 2:19; 1 Cor 3:16; Eph 2:19–22). holy priesthood. The whole body of believers. As priests, believers are to (1) reflect the holiness of God and that of their high priest (see 1:15; Heb 7:26; 10:10), (2) offer spiritual sacrifices (here), (3) intercede for man before God and (4) represent God before man. spiritual sacrifices. The NT refers to a variety of offerings: bodies offered to God (Rom 12:1), offerings of money or material goods (Phil 4:18; Heb 13:16), sacrifices of praise to God (Heb 13:15) and sacrifices of doing good (Heb 13:16). acceptable to God. Through the work of our Mediator, Jesus Christ (cf. John 14:6). Believers are living stones that make up a spiritual temple in which, as a holy priesthood, they offer up spiritual sacrifices.

2:6 PRECIOUS CORNER stone. See Ps 118:22; Matt 21:42; Mark 12:10; Luke 20:17; Acts 4:11. This is an obvious reference to Christ, as vv. 6b–8 make clear. The corner stone, which determined the design and orientation of the building, was the most significant stone in the structure. The picture that Peter creates is of a structure made up of believers (living stones, v. 5), the design and orientation of which are all in keeping with Christ, the corner stone. HE WHO BELIEVES IN HIM. Two attitudes toward the corner stone are evident: (1) Some trust in Him; (2) others reject Him (v. 7) and, as a result, stumble and fall (v. 8).

2:8 to this doom they were also appointed. Some see here an indication that some people are destined to fall and be lost. Others say that unbelievers are destined to be lost because God in His foreknowledge (cf. 1:2) saw them as unbelievers. Still others hold that Peter means that unbelief is destined to result in eternal destruction.

2:9 CHOSEN RACE. See Eph 1:4 and note; Is 43:10,20; 44:1–2. As Israel was called God's chosen people in the OT, so in the NT believers are designated as chosen, or elect. royal PRIESTHOOD. See note on v. 5; see also Is 61:6. HOLY NATION. See Deut 28:9. PEOPLE FOR GOD'S OWN POSSESSION. See Deut 4:20; 7:6; 14:2; Is 43:21; Mal 3:17. Though once not the people of God, they are now the recipients of God's mercy (see Hos 1:6–10; Rom 9:25–26; 10:19). proclaim the excellencies of Him. See Is 43:21; Acts 2:11.

2:10 See notes on Hos 1:6,9; 2:1,22; Rom 9:25–26. In Hosea it is Israel who is not God's people; in Romans it is the Gentiles to whom Paul applies Hosea's words; in 1 Peter the words are applied to both.

2:11 aliens and strangers. See note on 1:1. As aliens and strangers on earth, whose citizenship is in heaven, they are to be separated from the corruption of the world, not yielding to its destructive sinful desires.

2:12 good deeds, as they observe them. Deeds that can be seen

14 or to governors as sent [1]by him [a]for the punishment of evildoers and the [b]praise of those who do right.

19 For this finds [1]favor, if for the sake of [a]conscience toward God a person bears up under sorrows when suffering unjustly.

20 For what credit is there if, when you sin and are harshly treated, you endure it with patience? But if [a]when you do what is right and suffer for it you patiently endure it, this finds [1]favor with God.

Christ Is Our Example

21 For [a]you have been called for this purpose, [b]since Christ also suffered for you, leaving you [c]an example for you to follow in His steps,

22 WHO [a]COMMITTED NO SIN, NOR WAS ANY DECEIT FOUND IN HIS MOUTH;

23 [1]and while being [a]reviled, He did not revile in return; while suffering, He uttered no threats, but kept entrusting Himself to Him who judges righteously;

24 and He Himself [1][a]bore our sins in His body on the [2b]cross, so that we [c]might die to [3]sin and live to righteousness; for [d]by His [4]wounds you were [e]healed.

25 For you were [a]continually straying like sheep, but now you have returned to the [b]Shepherd and [1]Guardian of your souls.

to be good (cf. Matt 5:16). The Greek word translated "observe" refers to a careful watching, over a period of time. The pagans' evaluation is not a "snap judgment." the day of visitation. Perhaps the day of judgment and ensuing punishment, or possibly the day when God visits a person with salvation. The believer's good life may then influence the unbeliever to repent and believe.

2:13–3:6 Peter urges that Christians submit to all legitimate authorities, whether or not the persons exercising authority are believers. The recognition of properly constituted authority is necessary for the greatest good of the largest number of people, and it is necessary to best fulfill the will of God in the world.

2:13 every human institution. Authority established among men depends on God for its existence (Rom 13:1–2). Indirectly, when one disobeys a human ruler he disobeys God, who ordained the system of human government (cf. Rom 13:2). to a king. When Peter wrote, the emperor was the godless, brutal Nero, who ruled from A.D. 54 to 68 (see Introduction: Author and Date). Of course, obedience to the emperor must never be in violation of the law of God (to see this basic principle in action cf. Acts 4:19; 5:29).

2:15 silence the ignorance. Good citizenship counters false charges made against Christians and thus commends the gospel to unbelievers.

2:16 Act as free men. Does not authorize rebellion against constituted authority, but urges believers freely to submit to God and to earthly authorities (as long as such submission does not conflict with the law of God). as a covering for evil. Genuine freedom is the freedom to serve God, a freedom exercised under law. Liberty is not license to do as we please.

2:17 Honor all people. Because every human being bears the image of God. fear God. See note on 1:17.

2:18 Servants. Household servants, whatever their particular training and functions. The context indicates that Peter is addressing Christian slaves. NT writers do not attack slavery as an institution (see note on Eph 6:5), but the NT contains the principles that ultimately uprooted slavery. Peter's basic teachings on the subject may apply to employer-employee relations today (see Eph 6:5–8; Col 3:22–25; 1 Tim 6:1–2; Titus 2:9–10).

2:19 conscience toward God. As submission to duly constituted authority is "for the Lord's sake" (v. 13; cf. Eph 6:7–8), so one will submit to the point of suffering unjustly if it is God's will.

2:21 you have been called for this purpose. The patient endurance of injustice is part of God's plan for the Christian. It was an important feature of the true grace of God experienced by the readers (5:12). Christ also suffered for you. Cf. Is 52:13–53:12. Christ is the supreme example of suffering evil for doing good. His experience as the suffering Servant-Savior transforms the sufferings of His followers from misery into privilege.

2:22 Scripture declares the sinlessness of Christ in the clearest of terms, allowing for no exception (see 1:19; Acts 3:14; 2 Cor 5:21; Heb 4:15; 7:26; 1 John 3:5). ANY DECEIT. Cf. v. 1; 3:10.

2:23 Prominent examples of our Lord's silent submission are found in Matt 27:12–14,34–44 and parallels. entrusting Himself. Cf. 4:19.

2:24 bore our sins. See Is 53:12. Although dealing with the example set by Christ, Peter touches also on the redemptive work of Christ, which has significance far beyond that of setting an example. Peter here points to the substitutionary character of the atonement. Christ, like the sacrificial lamb of the OT, died for our sins, the innocent for the guilty. cross. See Acts 5:30 and note; see also Acts 10:39; 13:29; Gal 3:13 and note. that we might die to sin and live to righteousness. Cf. Rom 6:3–14. Peter stresses the bearing of the cross on our sanctification. As a result of Christ's death on the cross, believers are positionally dead to sin so that they may live new lives and present themselves to God as instruments of righteousness (see note on Rom 6:11–13). you were healed. See Is 53:5; not generally viewed as a reference to physical healing, though some believe that such healing was included in the atonement (cf. Matt 8:16–17). Others see spiritual healing in this passage. It is another way of asserting that Christ's death brings salvation to those who trust in Him.

2:25 Shepherd. A concept raised here in connection with the allusion to the wandering sheep of Is 53. The sheep had wandered from their shepherd, and to their Shepherd (Christ) they have now returned. See note on Ps 23:1; see also John 10:11,14 and note on Heb 13:20. Guardian. Christ (cf. 5:2,4; Acts 20:28). Elders are to be both shepherds and guardians, i.e., they are to

5 For in this way in former times the holy women also, [a]who hoped in God, used to adorn themselves, being submissive to their own husbands;

6 just as Sarah obeyed Abraham, [a]calling him lord, and you have become her children if you do what is right [1][b]without being frightened by any fear.

7 [a]You husbands in the same way, live with your wives in an understanding way, as with [1][b]someone weaker, since she is a woman; and show her honor as a fellow heir of the grace of life, so that your prayers will not be hindered.

8 [1]To sum up, [a]all of you be harmonious, sympathetic, [b]brotherly, [c]kindhearted, and [d]humble in spirit;

9 [a]not returning evil for evil or [b]insult for insult, but [1]giving a [c]blessing instead; for [d]you were called for the very purpose that you might [e]inherit a blessing.

10 For,

"[a]THE ONE WHO DESIRES LIFE, TO LOVE AND SEE GOOD DAYS, MUST KEEP HIS TONGUE FROM EVIL AND HIS LIPS FROM SPEAKING DECEIT.
11 "[a]HE MUST TURN AWAY FROM EVIL AND DO

HE MUST SEEK PEACE AND PURSUE IT.
12 "[a]FOR THE EYES OF THE LORD ARE TOWARD

AND HIS EARS ATTEND TO THEIR PRAYER, BUT THE FACE OF THE LORD IS AGAINST

13 [a]Who is [1]there to harm you if you prove zealous for what is good?

14 But even if you should [a]suffer for the sake of righteousness, [b]you [1]are blessed. [c]AND DO NOT FEAR THEIR [2]INTIMIDATION, AND DO NOT BE TROUBLED,

15 but [1]sanctify [a]Christ as Lord in your hearts, always being ready [b]to make a [2]defense to everyone who asks you to give an account for the [a]hope that is in you, yet [c]with gentleness and [3][d]reverence;

16 [1]and keep a [a]good conscience so that in the thing in which [b]you are slandered, look out for the welfare of the flock. These are not two separate offices or functions; the second term is a further explanation of the first.

3:1–6 Instructions to wives (cf. Gen 3:16; 1 Cor 11:3; Eph 5:22–24; Col 3:18; 1 Tim 2:9–10; Titus 2:5).

3:1 In the same way. As believers are to submit to government authorities (2:13–17), and as slaves are to submit to masters (2:18–25). be submissive. The same Greek verb as is used in 2:13,18, a term that calls for submission to a recognized authority. Inferiority is not implied by this passage. The submission is one of role or function necessary for the orderly operation of the home. the word. The gospel message. without a word. Believing wives are not to rely on argumentation to win their unbelieving husbands, but on the quality of their lives. "Actions speak louder than words."

3:2 chaste and respectful behavior. Their lives are to be marked by a moral purity that springs from reverence toward God.

3:3 hair . . . jewelry. Extreme coiffures and gaudy exhibits of jewelry. Christian women should not rely on such extremes of adornment for beauty. dresses. The Greek for this word simply means "garment," but in this context expensive garments are meant.

3:5 former times . . . holy women. The standards stated by Peter are not limited to any particular time or culture.

3:6 lord. An expression of the submission called for in v. 1. her children . . . fear. Christian women become daughters of Sarah as they become like her in doing good and in not fearing any potential disaster, but trusting in God (cf. Prov 3:25–27).

3:7 someone weaker. Not a reference to moral stamina, strength of character or mental capacity, but most likely to sheer physical strength. fellow heir of the grace of life. Women experience the saving grace of God on equal terms with men (see Gal 3:28). prayers will not be hindered. Spiritual fellowship, with God and with one another, may be hindered by disregarding God's instruction concerning husband-wife relationships.

3:8–12 In 2:11–17 Peter addressed all his readers, and in 2:18–25 he spoke directly to slaves; in 3:1–6 he addressed wives, and in 3:7 husbands. Now he encourages all his readers to develop virtues appropriate in their relations with others (see "all of you," v. 8).

3:8 be harmonious. See Rom 12:16; Phil 2:2. sympathetic. See Rom 12:15; 1 Cor 12:26. brotherly. See 1 Thess 4:9–10; Heb 13:1. kindhearted. See Col 3:12. humble. See Phil 2:6–8.

3:9 See Rom 12:17–21.

3:10–12 Peter introduces this quotation from Ps 34 with the explanatory conjunction "For," showing that he views the quotation as giving reasons for obeying the exhortation of v. 9. According to the psalmist, (1) the one who does such things will find life to be most gratifying (v. 10), (2) his days will be good (v. 10), (3) God's eyes will ever be on him to bless him (v. 12), and (4) God's ears will be ready to hear his prayer (v. 12).

3:13 Who . . . harm you . . . ? As a general rule, people are not harmed for acts of kindness. This is especially true if one is an enthusiast ("eager") for doing good.

3:14 even if you should suffer. In the Greek, this conditional clause is the furthest removed from stating a reality. Suffering for righteousness is a remote possibility, but even if it does occur, it brings special blessing to the sufferer (see Matt 5:10–12). THEIR INTIMIDATION. In Isaiah's context God's people are not to view things as unbelievers do. They are not to make worldly judgments or be afraid of the enemies of God. Instead, they are to fear God (see Is 8:13).

3:15 sanctify Christ as Lord. An exhortation to the readers to make an inner commitment to Christ. Then they need not be those who revile your good behavior in Christ will be put to shame.

17 For [a]it is better, [b]if [1]God should will it so, that you suffer for doing what is right rather than for doing what is wrong.

18 For [a]Christ also died for sins [b]once for all, the just for the unjust, so that He might [c]bring us to God, having been put to death [d]in the flesh, but made alive [e]in the [1]spirit;

19 in [1]which also He went and made proclamation to the spirits now in prison,

20 who once were disobedient, when the [a]patience of God [b]kept waiting in the days of Noah, during the construction of [c]the ark, in which a few, that is, [d]eight [e]persons, were brought safely through the [1]water.

21 [a]Corresponding to that, baptism now saves you—[b]not the removal of dirt from the flesh, but an appeal to God [1]for a [c]good conscience—through [d]the resurrection of Jesus Christ, 22 [a]who is at the right hand of God, [b]having gone into heaven, [c]after angels and authorities and powers had been subjected to Him.

Keep Fervent in Your Love

4 Therefore, since [a]Christ has [1]suffered in the flesh, [b]arm yourselves also with the same purpose, because [c]he who has [1]suffered in the flesh has ceased from sin,

2 [a]so as to live [b]the rest of the time in the flesh no longer for the lusts of men, but for the [c]will of God.

3 For [a]the time already past is sufficient for you to have carried out the desire of the Gentiles, [1][b]having pursued a course of sensuality, lusts, drunkenness, carousing, drinking parties and [2]abominable idolatries.

4 In all this, they are surprised that you speechless when called on to defend their faith. Instead, there will be a readiness to answer. with gentleness and reverence. The Christian is always to be a gentleman or gentle woman, even when opposed by unbelievers. Our apologetic ("defense") is always to be given with love, never in degrading terms.

3:16 put to shame. Because it is shown to be obviously untrue and because the believer's loving attitude puts the opponent's bitterness in a bad light.

3:18 once for all. See Heb 9:28. the just for the unjust. Peter, like Paul in Phil 2:5–11, refers to Jesus as an example of the type of conduct that should characterize the Christian. We are to be ready to suffer for doing good (vv. 13–14,17). The thought of Christ's suffering and death, however, leads Peter to comment on what occurred after Christ's death—which leads to tangential remarks about preaching to the spirits in prison and about baptism (see vv. 19–21). made alive in the spirit. Referring to Christ's own spirit, through which "He went and made proclamation to the spirits now in prison" (v. 19).

3:19–20a Three main interpretations of this passage have been suggested: 1. Some hold that in His preincarnate state Christ went and preached through Noah to the wicked generation of that time. 2. Others argue that between His death and resurrection Christ went to the prison where fallen angels are incarcerated and there preached to the angels who are said to have left their proper state and married human women during Noah's time (cf. Gen 6:1–4; 2 Pet 2:4; Jude 6). The "sons of God" in Gen 6:2,4 are said to have been angels, as they are in Job 1:6; 2:1. The message He preached to these evil angels was probably a declaration of victory. 3. Still others say that between death and resurrection Christ went to the place of the dead and preached to the spirits of Noah's wicked contemporaries. What He proclaimed may have been the gospel, or it may have been a declaration of victory for Christ and doom for His hearers.

The weakness of the first view is that it does not relate the event to Christ's death and resurrection, as the context seems to do. The main problem with the second view is that it assumes sexual relations between angels and women, and such physical relations may not be possible for angels since they are spirits. A major difficulty with the third view is that the term "spirits" is only used of human beings when qualifying terms are added. Otherwise the term seems restricted to supernatural beings.

3:21 Corresponding to that, baptism. There is a double figure here. The flood symbolizes baptism, and baptism symbolizes salvation. The flood was a figure of baptism in that in both instances the water that spoke of judgment (in the flood the death of the wicked, in baptism the death of Christ and the believer) is the water that saves. Baptism is a symbol of salvation in that it depicts Christ's death, burial and resurrection and our identification with Him in these experiences (see Rom 6:4). now saves you. In reality, believers are saved by what baptism symbolizes—Christ's death and resurrection. The symbol and the reality are so closely related that the symbol is sometimes used to refer to the reality (see note on Rom 6:3–4). appeal to God for a good conscience. The act of baptism is a commitment on the part of the believer in all good conscience to make sure that what baptism symbolizes will become a reality in his life. saves you . . . through the resurrection of Jesus Christ. In the final analysis people are saved not by any ritual, but by the supernatural power of the resurrection.

3:22 at the right hand of God. See Heb 1:3; 12:2. gone into heaven. See Acts 1:9–11. angels and authorities and powers. See Eph 1:21; 6:12.

4:1 Therefore. Since 3:19–22 is parenthetical, 4:1 ties directly back to 3:18. The aspect of Christ's suffering that these passages stress is suffering unjustly because one has done good. Furthermore, it is physical suffering—"in the flesh." arm yourselves also with the same purpose. Believers are to be prepared also to suffer unjustly, and to face such abuse with Christ's attitude—with His willingness to suffer for doing good. (For a similar principle in Paul's writings see Phil 2:5–11.) because . . . has ceased from sin. Such suffering enables one to straighten out his priorities. Sinful desires and practices that once seemed important now seem insignificant when one's life is in jeopardy. Serious suffering for Christ advances the progress of sanctification. (Some see a parallel between this passage and Rom 6:1–14, but Peter is not referring to being dead to sin in Paul's sense.)

4:2 for the lusts of men . . . for the will of God. Now that Christ's attitude prevails, God's will is the determining factor in life.

4:3 time already past. The time before conversion. the Gentiles. This, along with the term "idolatries," suggests that at least some of the readers were non-Jews (see note on 1:1), converted from pagan backgrounds.

4:4 they are surprised . . . and they malign you. One of the reasons for the suffering the readers were undergoing.

do not run with them into the same excesses of [a]dissipation, and they [b]malign you;

5 but they will give account to Him who is ready to judge [a]the living and the dead.

6 For [a]the gospel has for this purpose been [1]preached even to those who are dead, that though they are judged in the flesh as men, they may live in the spirit according to the will of God.

7 [a]The end of all things [1]is near; therefore, [b]be of sound judgment and sober spirit for the purpose of [2]prayer.

8 Above all, [a]keep fervent in your love for one another, because [b]love covers a multitude of sins.

9 [a]Be hospitable to one another without [b]complaint.

10 [a]As each one has received a special gift, employ it in serving one another as good [b]stewards of the manifold grace of God.

11 [a]Whoever speaks, is to do so [1]as one who is speaking the [b]utterances of God; whoever serves is to do so as one who is serving [2c]by the strength which God supplies; so that [d]in all things God may be glorified through Jesus Christ, [e]to whom belongs the glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen.

Share the Sufferings of Christ

12 [a]Beloved, do not be surprised at the [b]fiery ordeal among you, which comes upon you for your testing, as though some strange thing were happening to you;

13 but to the degree that you [a]share the sufferings of Christ, keep on rejoicing, so that also at the [b]revelation of His glory [c]you may rejoice with exultation.

14 If you are reviled [1a]for the name of Christ, [b]you are blessed, [c]because the Spirit of glory and of God rests on you.

15 Make sure that [a]none of you suffers as a murderer, or thief, or evildoer, or a [1b]troublesome meddler;

16 but if anyone suffers as a [a]Christian, he is not to be ashamed, but is to [b]glorify God in this name.

17 For it is time for judgment [a]to begin [1]with [b]the household of God; and if it [c]begins with us first, what will be the outcome for those [d]who do not obey the [e]gospel of God?

18 [a]AND IF IT IS WITH DIFFICULTY THAT THE RIGHTEOUS IS SAVED, [1]WHAT WILL BECOME OF THE [b]GODLESS MAN AND THE SINNER?

19 Therefore, those also who suffer according to [a]the will of God shall entrust their souls to a faithful Creator in doing what is right.

4:5 will give account. See Acts 17:31; Rom 2:5,16. Him who is ready to judge. In the NT both the Father and the Son are said to be judge on the great, final judgment day. The Father is the ultimate source of judgment, but He will delegate judgment to the Son (cf. John 5:27; Acts 17:31). the living and the dead. Those alive and those dead when the final judgment day dawns.

4:6 for this purpose. The reason referred to is expressed in the latter part of the verse (in the "so that" clause), not in the preceding verse. has . . . been preached even to those who are dead. That is, to those who are now dead. This preaching was a past event. The word "now" does not occur in the Greek, but it is necessary to make it clear that the preaching was done not after these people had died, but while they were still alive. (There will be no opportunity for people to be saved after death; see Heb 9:27.) though they are judged in the flesh as men. The first reason that the gospel was preached to those now dead. Some say that this judgment is that to which all people must submit, either in this life (see John 5:24) or in the life to come (see v. 5). The gospel is preached to people in this life so that in Christ's death they may receive judgment now and avoid judgment to come. Others hold that these people are judged according to human standards by the pagan world, which does not understand why God's people no longer follow its sinful way of life (see vv. 2–4). So also the world misunderstood Christ (see Acts 2:22–24,36; 3:13–15; 5:30–32; 7:51–53). may live in the spirit according to the will of God. The second reason that the gospel was preached to those now dead. Some believe this means that all gospel preaching has as its goal that the hearers may live as God lives—eternally—and that this life is given by the Holy Spirit. Others maintain that it means that the ultimate reason for the preaching of the gospel is that God's people, even though the wicked world may abuse them and put them to death, will have eternal life, which the Holy Spirit imparts.

4:7 The end . . . is near. See note on James 5:9. therefore. Anticipating the end times, particularly Christ's return, should influence believers' attitudes, actions and relationships (see 2 Pet 3:11–14). of sound judgment. Christians are to be characterized by reason; are to make wise, mature decisions; and are to have a clearly defined, decisive purpose in life. sober spirit. See Gal 5:23. prayer. Cf. 3:7; Luke 18:1; 1 Cor 7:5; Eph 6:18; 1 Thess 5:17; 1 John 5:14–15.

4:8 keep fervent in your love. See 1 Thess 4:9–10; 2 Pet 1:7; 1 John 4:7–11. love covers a multitude of sins. Love forgives again and again (see Matt 18:21–22; 1 Cor 13:5; Eph 4:32).

4:9 Be hospitable. See Rom 12:13; 1 Tim 3:2; 5:10; Titus 1:8; 3 John 5–8.

4:10 As each one has received a special gift, employ it. See Rom 12:4–8; 1 Cor 12:7–11.

4:11 utterances. The Greek for this phrase is used to refer to the Scriptures or to words God has spoken (see Acts 7:38; Rom 3:2). to whom belongs the glory. See 1 Cor 1:26–31; Jude 24–25.

4:12 Beloved. Or "Loved ones" (see 2:11). do not be surprised at the fiery ordeal. See 1:6–7; 2:20–21.

4:13 share the sufferings of Christ, keep on rejoicing. See note on Col 1:24. Peter once rebelled against the idea that Christ would suffer (see Matt 16:21–23).

4:14 reviled for the name of Christ. See Matt 5:11–12; John 15:18–20; Acts 5:41; 14:22; Rom 8:17; 2 Cor 1:5; Phil 3:10; 2 Tim 3:12.

4:17 judgment to begin with the household of God. The persecutions that believers were undergoing were divinely sent judgment intended to purify God's people. the outcome for those who do not obey the gospel. If God brings judgment on His own people, how much more serious will the judgment be that He will bring on unbelievers!

Serve God Willingly

5 [a]Therefore, I exhort the elders among you, as your [b]fellow elder and [c]witness of the sufferings of Christ, and a [d]partaker also of the glory that is to be revealed,

2 shepherd [a]the flock of God among you, exercising oversight [b]not under compulsion, but voluntarily, according to the will of God; and [c]not for sordid gain, but with eagerness;

3 nor yet as [a]lording it over [1]those allotted to your charge, but [2]proving to be [b]examples to the flock.

4 And when the Chief [a]Shepherd appears, you will receive the [b]unfading [1][c]crown of glory.

5 [a]You younger men, likewise, [b]be subject to your elders; and all of you, clothe yourselves with [c]humility toward one another, for [d]GOD IS OPPOSED TO THE PROUD, BUT GIVES GRACE TO THE HUMBLE.

6 Therefore [a]humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you at the proper time,

7 casting all your [a]anxiety on Him, because He cares for you.

8 [a]Be of sober spirit, [b]be on the alert. Your adversary, [c]the devil, prowls around like a roaring [d]lion, seeking someone to devour.

9 [1][a]But resist him, [b]firm in your faith, knowing that [c]the same experiences of suffering are being accomplished by your [2]brethren who are in the world.

10 After you have suffered [a]for a little while, the [b]God of all grace, who [c]called you to His [d]eternal glory in Christ, will Himself [e]perfect, [f]confirm, strengthen and establish you.

11 [a]To Him be dominion forever and ever. Amen.

12 Through [a]Silvanus, our faithful brother [1](for so I regard him), [b]I have written to you briefly, exhorting and testifying that this is [c]the true grace of God. [d]Stand firm in it!

13 She who is in Babylon, chosen together with you, sends you greetings, and so does my son, [a]Mark.

5:1 fellow elder. See notes on Acts 20:17; 1 Tim 3:1; 5:17. Peter, who identified himself as an apostle at the beginning of his letter (1:1), chooses now to identify himself with the elders of the churches (cf. 2 John 1; 3 John 1). This would be heartening to them in light of their great responsibilities and the difficult situation faced by the churches. The churches for which these elders were responsible were scattered across much of Asia Minor (see 1:1), so if Peter was a local church officer, he must have been officially related to one of them. witness of the sufferings of Christ. Peter had been with Jesus from the early days of His ministry and was a witness of all its phases and aspects, including the climactic events of His suffering (cf. Matt 26:58; Mark 14:54; Luke 22:60–62; John 18:10–11,15–16). In this letter he bears notable witness to Christ's sufferings (see 2:21–24) and obeys His command in Acts 1:8. partaker also of the glory . . . to be revealed. Peter witnessed Christ's glory in His ministry in general (see John 1:14; 2:11), and, as one present at the transfiguration (see Matt 16:27; 17:8), he had already seen the glory of Christ's coming kingdom. In God's appointed time, just as Christ suffered and entered into glory, so all His people, after their sufferings, will participate in His future glory.

5:2 shepherd the flock of God. A metaphor that our Lord Himself had employed (John 10:1–18; Luke 15:3–7) and that must have been etched on Peter's mind (see John 21:15–17; cf. 1 Pet 2:25). Peter is fulfilling Christ's command to feed His sheep as he writes this letter. What he writes to the elders is reminiscent of Paul's farewell address to the Ephesian elders (especially Acts 20:28). The term "shepherd" is an OT metaphor as well (see Ezek 34:1–10, where the Lord holds the leaders of Israel responsible for failing to care for the flock). exercising oversight. The same term is used in Acts 20:28; Phil 1:1; 1 Tim 3:2; Titus 1:7. See note on 1 Tim 3:1. It is clear from this passage, as well as from Acts 20:17,28, that the three terms "elder," "overseer" and "shepherd" all apply to one office (see note on Titus 1:7).

5:3 nor . . . lording it over those allotted to your charge. Cf. Matt 16:24–27; Mark 10:42–45; Phil 2:6–11; 2 Thess 3:9. Although Peter has full apostolic authority (see v. 1), he does not lord it over his readers in this letter, but exemplifies the virtues he recommends.

5:4 Chief Shepherd. Christ. When He returns, He will reward those who have served as shepherds under Him. unfading. See 1:4.

5:5 be subject. The theme that runs throughout 2:13–3:6. Here it applies to church leaders. clothe yourselves with humility toward one another. Peter may have had in mind the foot-washing scene of John 13, in which he figured prominently. Although he was at first rebellious, he writes now with understanding (see John 13:7).

5:6 See Luke 14:11. exalt you at the proper time. His help will come at just the right time.

5:7 Cf. Phil 4:6–7.

5:8 Be of sober spirit. See 1 Thess 5:6,8. alert. Perhaps Peter remembered his own difficulty in keeping awake during our Lord's agony in Gethsemane (see Matt 26:36–46).

5:9 your brethren. They are not isolated; they belong to a fellowship of suffering.

5:10 grace. See notes on Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.

5:12 Through Silvanus. Silvanus (Silas) may have been the bearer of the letter to its destination. He may also have been a scribe who recorded what Peter dictated or who aided, as an informed and intelligent secretary, in the phrasing of Peter's thoughts (see Introduction: Author and Date). exhorting . . . grace of God. See Introduction: Themes.

5:13 Babylon. See Introduction: Place of Writing. chosen. See note on Eph 1:4. my son, Mark. Peter regards Mark with such warmth and affection that he calls him his son. It is possible that Peter had led Mark to Christ (see 1 Tim 1:2 and note). Early Christian tradition closely associates Mark and Peter (see Introduction to Mark: Author).

5:14 kiss. See note on 1 Cor 16:20. Peace be to you all . . . in Christ. Spiritual well-being and blessedness to all who are united to Christ. Peter thus ends with a reference to the union of believers with Christ, a concept fundamental to the understanding of the whole letter.

2 Peter

Author

The author identifies himself as Simon Peter (1:1). He uses the first person singular pronoun in a highly personal passage (1:12–15) and claims to be an eyewitness of the transfiguration (1:16–18; cf. Matt 17:1–5). He asserts that this is his second letter to the readers (3:1) and refers to Paul as "our beloved brother" (3:15; see note there). In short, the letter claims to be Peter's, and its character is compatible with that claim.

Although 2 Peter was not as widely known and recognized in the early church as 1 Peter, some may have used and accepted it as authoritative as early as the second century and perhaps even in the latter part of the first century (1 Clement [A.D. 95] may allude to it). It was not ascribed to Peter until Origen's time (185–253), and he seems to reflect some doubt concerning it. Eusebius (265–340) placed it among the questioned books, though he admits that most accept it as from Peter. After Eusebius's time, it seems to have been quite generally accepted as canonical.

In recent centuries, however, its genuineness has been challenged by a considerable number of scholars. One of the objections that has been raised is the difference in style from that of 1 Peter. But the difference is not absolute; there are noteworthy similarities in vocabulary and in other matters. In fact, no other known writing is as much like 1 Peter as 2 Peter. The differences that do exist may be accounted for by variations in subject matter, in the form and purpose of the letters, in the time and circumstances of writing, in sources or models, and in scribes who may have been employed. Perhaps most significant is the statement in 1 Pet 5:12 that Silas assisted in the writing of 1 Peter. No such statement is made concerning 2 Peter, which may explain its noticeable difference in style (see Introduction to 1 Peter: Author and Date).

Other objections arise from a naturalistic reconstruction of early Christian history or misunderstandings or misconstructions of the available data. For example, some argue that the reference to Paul's letters in 3:15–16 indicates an advanced date for this book—beyond Peter's lifetime. But it is quite possible that Paul's letters were gathered at an early date, since some of them had been in existence and perhaps in circulation for more than ten years (Thessalonians by as much as 15 years) prior to Peter's death. Besides, what Peter says may only indicate that he was acquainted with some of Paul's letters (communication in the Roman world and in the early church was good), not that there was a formal, ecclesiastical collection of them.

2 Peter was written toward the end of Peter's life (cf. 1:12–15), after he had written a prior letter (3:1) to the same readers (probably 1 Peter). Since Peter was martyred during the reign of Nero, his death must have occurred prior to A.D. 68; so it is very likely that he wrote 2 Peter between 65 and 68.

Some have argued that this date is too early for the writing of 2 Peter, but nothing in the book requires a later date. The error combated is comparable to the kind of heresy present in the first century. To insist that the second chapter was directed against second-century Gnosticism is to assume more than the contents of the chapter warrant. While the heretics referred to in 2 Peter may well have been among the forerunners of second-century Gnostics, nothing is said of them that would not fit into the later years of Peter's life.

Some have suggested a later date because they interpret the reference to the fathers in 3:4 to mean an earlier Christian generation. However, the word is most naturally interpreted as the OT patriarchs (cf. John 6:31, "fathers"; Acts 3:13; Heb 1:1). Similarly, reference to Paul and his letters (3:15–16; see Author) does not require a date beyond Peter's lifetime.

2 Peter and Jude

There are conspicuous similarities between 2 Peter and Jude (compare 2 Pet 2 with Jude 4–18), but there are also conspicuous differences. It has been suggested that one borrowed from the other or that they both drew on a common source. If there is borrowing, it is not a slavish borrowing but one that adapts to suit the writer's purpose. While many have insisted that Jude used Peter, it is more reasonable to assume that the longer letter (Peter) incorporated much of the shorter (Jude). Such borrowing is fairly common in ancient writings. For example, many believe that Paul used parts of early hymns in Phil 2:6–11 and 1 Tim 3:16.

Purpose

In his first letter Peter feeds Christ's sheep by instructing them how to deal with persecution from outside the church (see, e.g., 1 Pet 4:12); in this second letter he teaches them how to deal with false teachers and evildoers who have come into the church (see 2:1; 3:3–4). While the particular situations naturally call for variations in content and emphasis, in both letters Peter as a pastor ("shepherd") of Christ's sheep (John 21:15–17) seeks to commend to his readers a wholesome combination of Christian faith and practice. More specifically, his purpose is threefold: (1) to stimulate Christian growth (ch. 1), (2) to combat false teaching (ch. 2) and (3) to encourage watchfulness in view of the Lord's certain return (ch. 3).

Growth in Christian Virtue

1 [1]Simon Peter, a [a]bond-servant and [b]apostle of Jesus Christ,

To those who have received [c]a faith of the same [2]kind as ours, [3]by [d]the righteousness of [e]our God and Savior, Jesus Christ:

2 [a]Grace and peace be multiplied to you in [b]the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord;

3 seeing that His [a]divine power has granted to us everything pertaining to life and godliness, through the true [b]knowledge of Him who [c]called us [1]by His own glory and [2]excellence.

4 [1]For by these He has granted to us His precious and magnificent [a]promises, so that by them you may become [b]partakers of the divine nature, having [c]escaped the [d]corruption that is in [e]the world by lust.

5 Now for this very reason also, applying all diligence, in your faith [a]supply [b]moral [1]excellence, and in your moral excellence, [c]knowledge,

6 and in your knowledge, [a]self-control, and in your self-control, [b]perseverance, and in your perseverance, [c]godliness,

7 and in your godliness, [a]brotherly kindness, and in your brotherly kindness, love.

8 For if these qualities are yours and are increasing, they render you neither useless nor [a]unfruitful in the true [b]knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 For he who lacks these qualities is [a]blind or short-sighted, having forgotten his [b]purification from his former sins.

10 Therefore, brethren, be all the more diligent to make certain about His [a]calling and [b]choosing you; for as long as you practice these things, you will never [c]stumble;

11 for in this way the entrance into [a]the eternal kingdom of our [b]Lord and Savior Jesus Christ will be [c]abundantly [d]supplied to you.

12 Therefore, [a]I will always be ready to remind you of these things, even though you already know them, and have been established in [b]the truth which is present with you.

13 I consider it [a]right, as long as I am in [b]this earthly dwelling, to [c]stir you up by way of reminder,

14 knowing that [a]the laying aside of my

1:1 Simon Peter. See notes on Matt 16:18; John 1:42. bond-servant. See note on Rom 1:1. apostle. See notes on Mark 6:30; 1 Cor 1:1; Heb 3:1. To those. Probably the same people as those in 1 Pet 1:1. have received. God in His justice ("righteousness") imparts to people the ability to believe. a faith. Not here a body of truth to be believed—the faith—but the act of believing, or the God-given capacity to trust in Christ for salvation. God and Savior, Jesus Christ. Assumes that Jesus is both God and Savior. For other passages that ascribe deity to Christ see note on Rom 9:5.

1:2 Grace and peace. See notes on Jon 4:2; John 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2. knowledge of God and of Jesus. The concept of Christian knowledge is prominent in 2 Peter (see 1:3,5,8; 3:18). Peter was combating heretical teaching, and one of the best antidotes for heresy is the statement of true knowledge.

1:3 everything pertaining to life and godliness. God has made available all that we need spiritually through our knowledge of Him. If indeed 2 Peter was written to combat an incipient Gnosticism, the apostle may be insisting that the knowledge possessed by those in apostolic circles was entirely adequate to meet their spiritual needs. No secret, esoteric knowledge is necessary for salvation (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism). glory and excellence. The excellence of God: "Glory" expresses the excellence of His being—His attributes and essence; "excellence" depicts excellence expressed in deeds—virtue in action.

1:4 by these. Through God's excellence—internal and external—He has given us great promises. Their nature is suggested in the words that follow: participation in the divine nature and escape from worldly corruption. partakers of the divine nature. Does not indicate that Christians become divine in any sense, but only that we are indwelt by God through His Holy Spirit (see John 14:16–17). Our humanity and His deity, as well as the human personality and the divine, remain distinct and separate.

1:5–9 The virtues that will produce a well-rounded, fruitful Christian life.

1:5 faith. The root of the Christian life (see v. 1 and note). moral excellence. Cf. v. 3. knowledge. See notes on vv. 2–3.

1:6 self-control. According to many of the false teachers, knowledge made self-control unnecessary; according to Peter, Christian knowledge leads to self-control. godliness. A genuine reverence toward God that governs one's attitude toward every aspect of life.

1:7 brotherly kindness. Warmhearted affection toward all in the family of faith. love. The kind of outgoing, selfless attitude that leads one to sacrifice for the good of others (see note on 1 Pet 4:8).

1:8 if these qualities are yours. Peter does not mean to imply that the believer is to cultivate each listed quality in turn, one after the other until all have been perfected. Instead, they are all to be cultivated simultaneously. are increasing. Peter has continuing spiritual growth in mind. neither useless nor unfruitful in the true knowledge. The Christian's knowledge should affect the way he lives. It does not set him free from moral restraints, as the heretics taught (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism). Rather, it produces holiness and all such virtues (cf. Col 1:9–12).

1:9 blind or short-sighted. Since one cannot be both at the same time, Peter may have in mind a possible alternative meaning for "blind," namely, "to shut the eyes." Such a person is blind because he has closed his eyes to the truth.

1:10 make certain about His calling and choosing you. By cultivating the qualities listed in vv. 5–7, they and others can be assured that God has chosen them and called them (cf. Matt 7:20). The genuineness of their profession will be demonstrated as they express these virtues (cf. Gal 5:6; James 2:18). When God elects and calls, it is to obedience and holiness (1 Pet 1:2; Eph 1:3–6), and these fruits confirm their divine source. never stumble. Those who in this way give evidence of their faith will never cease to persevere.

1:11 eternal kingdom. Eternal life (cf. Matt 25:46). entrance . . . will be abundantly supplied. By producing the fruits Peter is commending to them (see vv. 5–10).

1:13 earthly dwelling. See John 1:14; 2 Cor 5:1 and notes.

earthly dwelling is imminent, [b]as also our Lord Jesus Christ has made clear to me.

15 And I will also be diligent that at any time after my [a]departure you will be able to call these things to mind.

Eyewitnesses

16 For we did not follow cleverly devised [a]tales when we made known to you the [b]power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but we were [c]eyewitnesses of His majesty.

17 For when He received honor and glory from God the Father, such an [1][a]utterance as this was [2]made to Him by the [b]Majestic Glory, "This is My beloved Son with whom I am well-pleased"—

18 and we ourselves heard this [1]utterance made from heaven when we were with Him on the [a]holy mountain.

19 [1]So we have [a]the prophetic word made more [b]sure, to which you do well to pay attention as to [c]a lamp shining in a dark place, until the [d]day dawns and the [e]morning star arises [f]in your hearts.

20 But [a]know this first of all, that [b]no prophecy of Scripture is a matter of one's own interpretation,

14 [b]John 13:36; 21:19
15 [a]Luke 9:31
16 [a]1 Tim 1:4; 2 Pet 2:3 [b]Mark 13:26; 14:62; 1 Thess 2:19 [c]Matt 17:1ff; Mark 9:2ff; Luke 9:28ff

20 [a]2 Pet 3:3 [b]Rom 12:6

21 for [a]no prophecy was ever made by an act of human will, but men [b]moved by the Holy Spirit spoke from God.

The Rise of False Prophets

2 But [a]false prophets also arose among the people, just as there will also be [b]false teachers [c]among you, who will [d]secretly introduce [e]destructive heresies, even [f]denying the [g]Master who [h]bought them, bringing swift destruction upon themselves.

2 Many will follow their [a]sensuality, and because of them [b]the way of the truth will be [c]maligned;

3 and in their [a]greed they will [b]exploit you with [c]false words; [d]their judgment from long ago is not idle, and their destruction is not asleep.

4 For [a]if God did not spare angels when they sinned, but cast them into hell and [b]committed them to pits of darkness, reserved for judgment;

1:14 Christ has made clear to me. Either the revelation recorded in John 21:18–19 or a subsequent one.
1:15 will be able to call these things to mind. An aim that was realized, whether intentionally or unintentionally, through the Gospel of Mark, which early tradition connected with Peter.
1:16 cleverly devised tales. Peter's message was based on his eyewitness account of the supernatural events that marked the life of Jesus. It was not made up of myths and imaginative stories as was the message of the heretics of 2:3. coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. In Christ's transfiguration the disciples received a foretaste of what His coming will be like when He returns to establish His eternal kingdom (Matt 16:28). eyewitnesses of His majesty. A reference to Christ's transfiguration (see vv. 17–18; Matt 16:28–17:8).
1:19–21 Peter's message rests on two solid foundations: (1) the voice from God at the transfiguration (vv. 16–18) and (2) the still more significant testimony of Scripture (vv. 19–21). An alternative, but less probable, view is that the apostles' testimony to the transfiguration fulfills and thus confirms the Scriptures that predicted such things.
1:19 more sure. Or "very certain."
1:20 Two major views of this verse are: 1. No prophecy is to be privately or independently interpreted (cf. the false teachers in 3:16). The Holy Spirit, Scripture itself and the church should be included in the interpretative process. 2. No prophecy originated through the prophet's own interpretation. The preceding and following contexts indicate that this view is probably to be preferred. In vv. 16–19 the subject discussed is the origin of the apostolic message. Did it come from human imaginings, or was it from God? In v. 21 again the subject is origin. No prophecy of Scripture arose from a merely human interpretation of things. This understanding of v. 20 is further supported by the explanatory "for" with which v. 21 begins. Verse 21 explains v. 20 by restating its content and then affirming God as the origin of prophecy.
1:21 moved by the Holy Spirit. See note on 2 Tim 3:16. In the production of Scripture both God and man were active participants. God was the source of the content of Scripture, so that what it says is what God has said. But the human author also actively spoke; he was more than a recorder. Yet what he said came from God. Although actively speaking, he was carried along by the Holy Spirit.
2:1 false prophets. See 2 Kin 18:19; Is 9:13–17; Jer 5:31; 14:14; 23:30–32. there will also be false teachers among you. Numerous NT passages warn of false teachers who are already present or yet to come (see Matt 24:4–5,11; Acts 20:29–30; Gal 1:6–9; Phil 3:2; Col 2:4,8,18,20–23; 2 Thess 2:1–3; 1 Tim 1:3–7; 4:1–3; 2 Tim 3:1–8; 1 John 2:18–19,22–23; 2 John 7–11; Jude 3–4). destructive heresies. Divisive opinions or teachings that result in the moral and spiritual destruction of those who accept them. the Master who bought them. Does not necessarily mean that the false teachers were believers. Christ's death paid the penalty for their sin, but it would not become effective for their salvation unless they trusted in Christ as Savior. (However, see vv. 20–22, where it is obvious that the heretics had at least professed knowing the Lord.) swift destruction. Not immediate physical calamity, but sudden doom, whether at death or at the Lord's second coming (cf. Matt 24:50–51; 2 Thess 1:9).
2:2 sensuality. Open, extreme immorality not held in check by any sense of shame. way of the truth. See Ps 119:30. The Christian faith is not only correct doctrine but also correct living.
2:3 in their greed. They will be motivated by a desire for money and will commercialize the Christian faith to their own selfish advantage. false words. See note on 1:16. from long ago is not idle. Long ago, in OT times, their condemnation was declared (see vv. 4–9 for OT examples of the fact that judgment is coming on the wicked). destruction is not asleep. Although delay makes it seem that they have escaped God's judgment, destruction is a reality that is sure to come upon them.
2:4–8 Three examples showing that God will rescue the godly and destroy the wicked.
2:4 angels when they sinned. Some believe this sin was the one referred to in Gen 6:2, where the sons of God are said to have intermarried with the daughters of men, meaning (according to this view) that angels married human women. The offspring of those marriages are said to have been the Nephilim (Gen 6:4;

5 and did not spare [a]the ancient world, but preserved [b]Noah, a [1]preacher of righteousness, with seven others, when He brought a [c]flood upon the world of the ungodly;

16 but he received a rebuke for his own

see notes on Gen 6:2,4). But since it appears impossible for angels, who are spirits, to have sexual relations with women, the sin referred to in this verse probably occurred before the fall of Adam and Eve. The angels who fell became the devil and the evil angels (probably the demons and evil spirits referred to in the NT). cast them into hell. The Greek for "hell" is "Tartarus," the term used by the Greeks to designate the place where the most wicked spirits were sent to be punished. Why some evil angels are imprisoned and others are free to serve Satan as demons is not explained in Scripture. judgment. The final judgment, probably associated with the great white throne judgment of Rev 20:11–15.

2:5 preacher of righteousness. A description of Noah found nowhere else in Scripture. However, similar descriptions are used of him in Josephus (Antiquities, 1.3.1), 1 Clement (7.6; 9.4) and the Sibylline Oracles (1.128–29). seven others. Noah's wife, three sons and three daughters-in-law (Noah was the eighth; see 1 Pet 3:20). the ungodly. See Gen 6:5,11–12.

2:6 condemned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah. See Gen 19.

2:7 oppressed by the sensual conduct. See Gen 19:4–9. How Lot could be so distressed, how he could be called a "righteous man," and yet offer to turn his two daughters over to the wicked townsmen to be sexually abused is difficult to understand apart from a knowledge of the code of honor characteristic of that day (see note on Gen 19:8).

2:9 States the point made in vv. 4–8—the wicked whose coming Peter predicts will surely be punished.

2:10 especially those. The heretics of Peter's day are certain to come under judgment for two main reasons: 1. They follow the corrupt desire of the sinful nature, perhaps referring to homosexuality, the sin of the Sodomites (see Gen 19:5). At least the author has in mind a similar inordinate sexual practice. 2. They despise authority. revile angelic majesties. A specific example of despising authority. This could refer to the slander of earthly dignitaries such as church leaders, which might well be expected from such shameless peddlers of error. On the other hand, it could refer to the blaspheming of angels, as the NASB text suggests. This view seems more likely since the parallel passage in Jude 8–10 is speaking of angels.

2:11 angels . . . do not bring a reviling judgment. Even good angels, who might have more right to do so because of their greater power, do not bring such accusations against inferior evil angels.

2:12 like unreasoning animals. A scathing denunciation. They are like irrational animals, whose lives are guided by mere instinct and who are born merely to be slaughtered. Destruction is their final lot. where they have no knowledge. The heresy to which Peter refers may have been an early form of second-century Gnosticism (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism) that claimed to possess special, esoteric knowledge. If so, it is ironic that those who professed special knowledge acted out of abysmal ignorance, and the result was arrogant blasphemy.

2:13 revel in the daytime. See 1 Thess 5:7. Even the pagan world carried on their corrupt practices under cover of darkness, but these heretics were utterly shameless. in their deceptions, as they carouse with you. Jude 12 without doubt reads "love feasts," which may well have been the intended reading here. These false teachers seem to have been involved in the sacred feasts of brotherly love that, in the early church, accompanied the Lord's Supper. In fact, it appears that they injected their carousing into these holy observances and delighted in their shameless acts.

2:14 eyes full of adultery. Lit. "eyes full of an adulteress," which means that they desired every woman they saw, viewing her as a potential sex partner. never cease from sin. Their eyes serve as constant instruments of lust. enticing unstable souls. For a parallel use of the Greek word for "enticing" see James 1:14. It depicts the fisherman who attempts to lure and catch fish with bait. trained in greed. The Greek text implies that they had exercised themselves like an athlete, not in physical activity but in greed.

2:15 way of Balaam, the son of Beor. See Num 22–24. Balaam was bent on cursing Israel, though God had forbidden it. He wanted the money Balak offered him. Similarly these false teachers apparently were guilty of attempting to extract money from naive listeners. For a donkey to rebuke the prophet's madness reflects not only on the foolishness of Balaam but also on that of the false teachers of Peter's day.

Purpose of This Letter

3 This is now, [a]beloved, the second letter I am writing to you in which I am [b]stirring up your sincere mind by way of reminder,

2 that you should [a]remember the words spoken beforehand by [b]the holy prophets and [c]the commandment of the Lord and Savior spoken by your apostles.

The Coming Day of the Lord

3 [a]Know this first of all, that [b]in the last days [c]mockers will come with their mocking, [d]following after their own lusts,

4 and saying, "[a]Where is the promise of His [b]coming? For ever since the fathers [c]fell asleep, all continues just as it was [d]from the beginning of creation."

[b]2 Pet 1:13 2 [a]Jude 17 [b]Luke 1:70; Acts 3:21; Eph 3:5 [c]Gal 6:2; 1 Tim 6:14; 2 Pet 2:21 3 [a]2 Pet 1:20 [b]1 Tim 4:1; Heb 1:2 [c]Jude 18 [d]2 Pet 2:10 4 [a]Is 5:19; Jer 17:15; Ezek 11:3; 12:22, 27; Mal 2:17; Matt 24:48 [b]1 Thess 2:19; 2 Pet 3:12 [c]Acts 7:60 [d]Mark 10:6

2:17 springs without water. A picture of cruel deception. The thirsty traveler comes to the spring expecting cool, refreshing water but finds it dry. So the false teachers promise satisfying truth but in reality have nothing to offer. mists driven by a storm. Gone before a drop of moisture falls. black darkness. Their destiny is hell.

2:18 speaking out arrogant words of vanity. Words that sound impressive to the new convert but in reality have nothing to offer. entice. See note on v. 14 ("enticing"). those who barely escape. New converts who have just broken away from pagan friends. Thus the depraved false teachers prey on new converts, who have not yet had a chance to develop spiritual resistance.

2:19 promising them freedom. Probably freedom from moral restraint (cf. 1 Cor 6:12–13; Gal 5:13). The very ones who promise freedom from bondage to rules and regulations are themselves slaves of depravity. Freedom from law resulted in bondage to sin, and liberty was turned into license.

2:20–22 Some point to this passage as clear proof that a genuinely saved person may lose his salvation. He knows the Lord; he escapes the world's corruption; he knows the way of righteousness. Then he turns away from the message and goes back to his old way of life. His knowledge is said to have been genuine; his change of life was real; and his return to his old way of life was not superficial. Others insist that the knowledge of the Lord and of the way of righteousness could not have been genuine. If the person had been truly regenerated, he would have persevered in his faith. It is argued that the teaching of John 10:27–30 (especially v. 28) and Rom 8:28–39 makes it clear that no genuinely saved person can be lost. Thus, according to this view, the persons described here could not have been genuinely saved.

2:20 if, after they have escaped the defilements of the world. A reference to false teachers who had once apparently been believers in Christ. Their professed knowledge of Christ had at least produced a change in life-style. again entangled in them and are overcome. A complete return to the old sinful pattern of life.

2:21 better . . . not to have known the way of righteousness. Knowledge of the way increases one's responsibility and his hardness of heart if he then rejects it. In its early days, Christianity was known as "the way" (Acts 9:2; 18:25; 19:9,23; 22:4; 24:14,22). holy commandment. The whole Christian message that people are commanded to receive.

2:22 A DOG RETURNS . . . A sow . . . returns. In both cases the nature of the animal is not changed. The sow returns to the mud because by nature it is still a sow. The change was merely cosmetic.

3:1 beloved. Or "Loved ones" (see vv. 8,14,17; 1 Pet 2:11; 4:12). second letter. The first letter may have been 1 Peter, though there is some reason to doubt this identification. For example, 1 Peter cannot be very accurately described as a reminder. reminder. See 1:12–13,15.

3:2 holy prophets. OT personages. commandment. See note on 2:21. your apostles. Peter places the OT prophets and the NT apostles on an equal plane. Both are vehicles of God's sacred truth. Peter, being one of the apostles, can speak with knowledge and authority as a representative of the apostolic group.

3:3 first of all. This expression is used in 1:20 to call attention to a matter of great importance. last days. An expression that refers to the whole period introduced by Christ's first coming. These days are last in comparison to OT days, which were preliminary and preparatory. Also, the Christian era is the time of the beginnings of prophetic fulfillment. mockers will come. Perhaps the same false teachers described in ch. 2 (e.g., they follow their own evil desires; cf. 2:10,18–19). In ch. 3, however, the emphasis is on Christ's return. These people may have been early Gnostics who resisted the idea of a time of judgment and moral accountability.

3:4 His. Christ's. ever since the fathers fell asleep. Either the first Christians to die after Christ's death and resurrection (e.g., Stephen, James the brother of John, and other early Christian leaders who had died; cf. Heb 13:7) or the OT patriarchs (see Introduction: Date). all continues just as it was. Their argument against Christ's return was: Since it has not occurred up to this time, it will never occur. That nature is not subject to divine intervention, they say, has been proved by observation (1) of the period since the fathers died—perhaps 30 years—and (2) of the period since creation.

5 For [1]when they maintain this, it escapes their notice that [a]by the word of God the heavens existed long ago and the earth was [b]formed out of water and by water,

6 through which [a]the world at that time was [b]destroyed, being flooded with water.

7 But by His word [a]the present heavens and earth are being reserved for [b]fire, kept for [c]the day of judgment and destruction of ungodly men.

8 But do not let this one fact escape your notice, [a]beloved, that with the Lord one day is like a thousand years, and [b]a thousand years like one day.

9 [a]The Lord is not slow about His promise, as some count slowness, but [b]is patient toward you, [c]not wishing for any to perish but for all to come to repentance.

A New Heaven and Earth

10 But [a]the day of the Lord [b]will come like a thief, in which [c]the heavens [d]will pass away with a roar and the [e]elements will be destroyed with intense heat, and [f]the earth and [1]its works will be [2]burned up.

11 Since all these things are to be destroyed in this way, what sort of people ought you to be in holy conduct and godliness, 12 [a]looking for and hastening the coming of the day of God, because of which [b]the heavens will be destroyed by burning, and the [c]elements will melt with intense heat!

13 But according to His [a]promise we are looking for [b]new heavens and a new earth, [c]in which righteousness dwells.

14 [a]Therefore, [b]beloved, since you look for these things, be diligent to be [c]found by Him in peace, [d]spotless and blameless,

15 and regard the [a]patience of our Lord as salvation; just as also [b]our beloved brother

3:5 it escapes their notice. Ignoring the flood as a divine intervention was not an oversight; it was deliberate. They did not want to face up to the fallacy in their argument. the word of God. Of command, such as "Let there be light" (Gen 1:3). earth was formed out of water and by water. See Gen 1:6–10, where the waters on earth were separated from the atmospheric waters of the heavens, and the mountains then appeared, causing the earthly waters to be gathered into oceans.

3:6 through which the world at that time was destroyed, being flooded. Peter points out the fallacy of the scoffers' argument. There has been a divine intervention since the time of creation, namely, the flood. The term "world" may refer to the earth or, more probably, to the world of people (cf. John 3:16). All the people except Noah and his family were overcome by the flood and perished. This does not necessarily mean that the flood was universal. It may simply have extended to all the inhabited areas of earth (see note on Gen 6:17).

3:7 by His word. The word of God that brought the world into existence (v. 5) and that brought watery destruction on the wicked of Noah's day will bring fiery destruction on the world that exists today and on its wicked people.

3:8 a thousand years like one day. Cf. Ps 90:4. God does not view time as humans do. He stands above time, with the result that when time is seen in the light of eternity, an age appears no longer than one short day, and a day seems no shorter than a long age. Since time is purely relative with God, He waits patiently while human beings stew with impatience.

3:9 God's seeming delay in bringing about the consummation of all things is a result not of indifference but of patience in waiting for all who will come to repentance. Thus the scoffers are wrong on two points: 1. They fail to recognize that all things have not continued without divine intervention since creation (the flood was an intervention, vv. 4–6). 2. They misunderstand the reason for apparent divine delay (God is a long-suffering God).

3:10 day of the Lord. See notes on Is 2:11,17,20; Amos 5:18; 1 Thess 5:2. like a thief. Suddenly and unexpectedly. the heavens will pass away with a roar. Apocalyptic language, common to books like Daniel and Revelation. Due to the figurative nature of such writings, we must not expect complete literalism but recognize it as an attempt to describe the indescribable, a task as impossible as it would have been for a first-century writer to describe the phenomena of our atomic age. What may be referred to is the destruction of the atmospheric heavens with a great rushing sound (see v. 12). elements. Refers either to the heavenly bodies or to the physical elements—in the first century, such things as earth, air, fire and water; in today's more precise scientific terminology, hydrogen, oxygen, carbon, etc. intense heat. See vv. 7,12. earth . . . burned up. Either the earth and its contents will disappear and not be seen anymore, or the earth and all man's works will appear before God's judgment seat.

3:11 Since all these things are to be destroyed. The transitory nature of the material universe ought to make a difference in one's system of values and one's priorities. The result should be lives of holiness (separated from sin and to God) and godliness (devoted to the worship and service of God). Cf. Matt 25:13; 1 Thess 5:6,8,11; 2 Pet 1:13–16.

3:12 hastening the coming. That day may be hastened by God's people as they speed up the accomplishment of His purposes. Since He is waiting for all who will come to repentance (v. 9), the sooner believers bring others to the Savior the sooner that day will dawn (cf. Acts 3:19–20). Prayer also serves to hasten the day (Matt 6:10), as does holy living (v. 11). the day of God. Apparently synonymous with "the day of the Lord" (v. 10) since it is characterized by the same kind of events. Cf. Rev 16:14. heavens will be destroyed. See v. 10. elements will melt with intense heat! See v. 10; Is 34:4.

3:13 His promise. New heavens and a new earth are promised by Isaiah (65:17; 66:22). This promise is confirmed by Rev 21:1. in which righteousness dwells. Righteousness will dwell there as a permanent resident. Cf. Is 11:4–5; 45:8; Dan 9:24.

3:14 spotless and blameless. Cf. 1 Pet 1:19, where the same two Greek words are applied to Christ.

3:15 regard the patience of the Lord as salvation. See v. 9. our beloved brother Paul. Peter expresses warmth in his reference to Paul. The unity of teaching and purpose that governed their relationship, abundantly attested in Paul's letters and the book of Acts, is confirmed here by Peter. It has been suggested that what Paul wrote to the recipients of 2 Peter may have been a copy of Romans, which was sent to the churches as a circular letter (cf. Rom 16:4; see Introduction to Romans: Recipients; see also note on 1 Pet 1:1).

Paul, [c]according to the wisdom given him, wrote to you,

16 as also in all his letters, speaking in them of [a]these things, [b]in which are some things hard to understand, which the untaught and [c]unstable distort, as they do also [d]the rest of the Scriptures, to their own destruction.

17 You therefore, [a]beloved, knowing this beforehand, [b]be on your guard so that you are not carried away by [c]the error of [d]unprincipled men and [e]fall from your own steadfastness,

18 but grow in the grace and [a]knowledge of our [b]Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. [c]To Him be the glory, both now and to the day of eternity. Amen.

3:16 as also in all his letters. Peter may be referring in general to the exhortations to holy living in vv. 11–14, which parallel many passages in Paul's writings. the untaught and unstable. The untaught are simply the unlearned who have not been taught basic apostolic teaching and thus may be easily led astray (cf. 2:14). the rest of the Scriptures. Peter placed Paul's writings on the same level of authority as the God-breathed writings of the OT (see 1:21; 2 Tim 3:16).

3:17 knowing this beforehand. That false teachers are coming (cf. ch. 2).

3:18 grow in . . . knowledge. Peter concludes by again stressing knowledge (see 1:2–3 and notes; see also 1:5), probably as an antidote to the false teachers who boasted in their esoteric knowledge.

1 John

Author

The author is John son of Zebedee (see Mark 1:19–20)—the apostle and the author of the Gospel of John and Revelation (see Introductions to both books: Author). He may have been a first cousin of Jesus (his mother may have been Salome, possibly a sister of Mary; cf. Matt 27:56; Mark 15:40; 16:1; John 19:25—this view assumes that "His mother's sister" in this verse refers to Salome; some further assume that "Mary the wife of Clopas" in this verse stands in apposition to "His mother's sister," which would mean that this Mary and Salome were one and the same person); he was a fisherman, one of Jesus' inner circle (together with James and Peter) and the disciple "whom Jesus loved" (John 13:23).

Unlike most NT letters, 1 John does not tell us who its author is. The earliest identification of him comes from the church fathers: Irenaeus (c. A.D. 140–203), Clement of Alexandria (c. 150–215), Tertullian (c. 155–222) and Origen (c. 185–253) all designated the writer as the apostle John. As far as we know, no one else was suggested by the early church.

This traditional identification is confirmed by evidence in the letter itself:

1. The style of the Gospel of John is markedly similar to that of this letter. Both are written in simple Greek and use contrasting figures, such as light and darkness, life and death, truth and lies, love and hate.

2. Similar phrases and expressions, such as those found in the following passages, are striking:

5:9	5:32,37
5:12	3:36

3. The mention of eyewitness testimony (1:1–4) harmonizes with the fact that John was a follower of Christ from the earliest days of His ministry.

4. The authoritative manner that pervades the letter (seen in its commands, 2:15,24,28; 4:1; 5:21; its firm assertions, 2:6; 3:14; 4:12; and its pointed identification of error, 1:6,8; 2:4,22) is what would be expected from an apostle.

5. The suggestions of advanced age (addressing his readers as "children," 2:1,28; 3:7) agree with early church tradition concerning John's age when he wrote the books known to be his.

6. The description of the heretics as antichrists (2:18), liars (2:22) and children of the devil (3:10) is consistent with Jesus' characterization of John as a son of thunder (Mark 3:17).

7. The indications of a close relationship with the Lord (1:1; 2:5–6,24,27–28) fit the descriptions of "the disciple whom Jesus loved" and the one who reclined "next to him" (John 13:23).

Date

The letter is difficult to date with precision, but factors such as (1) evidence from early Christian writers (Irenaeus and Clement of Alexandria), (2) the early form of Gnosticism reflected in the denunciations of the letter and (3) indications of the advanced age of John suggest the end of the first century. Since the author of 1 John seems to build on concepts and themes found in the fourth Gospel (see 1 John 2:7–11), it is reasonable to date the letter somewhere between A.D. 85 and 95, after the writing of the Gospel, which may have been written c. 85 (see Introduction to John: Date).

Recipients

1 John 2:12–14,19; 3:1; 5:13 make it clear that this letter was addressed to believers. But the letter itself does not indicate who they were or where they lived. The fact that it mentions no one by name suggests it was a circular letter sent to Christians in a number of places. Evidence from early Christian writers places the apostle John in Ephesus during most of his later years (c. A.D. 70–100). The earliest confirmed use of 1 John was in the province of Asia (in modern Turkey), where Ephesus was located. Clement of Alexandria indicates that John ministered in the various churches scattered throughout that province. It may be assumed, therefore, that 1 John was sent to the churches of the province of Asia (see map No. 12 at the end of the Study Bible).

Gnosticism

One of the most dangerous heresies of the first two centuries of the church was Gnosticism. Its central teaching was that spirit is entirely good and matter is entirely evil. From this unbiblical dualism flowed five important errors:

1. Man's body, which is matter, is therefore evil. It is to be contrasted with God, who is wholly spirit and therefore good.

2. Salvation is the escape from the body, achieved not by faith in Christ but by special knowledge (the Greek word for "knowledge" is gnosis, hence Gnosticism).

3. Christ's true humanity was denied in two ways: (1) Some said that Christ only seemed to have a body, a view called Docetism, from the Greek dokeo ("to seem"), and (2) others said that the divine Christ joined the man Jesus at baptism and left him before he died, a view called Cerinthianism, after its most prominent spokesman, Cerinthus. This view is the background of much of 1 John (see 1:1; 2:22; 4:2–3).

4. Since the body was considered evil, it was to be treated harshly. This ascetic form of Gnosticism is the background of part of the letter to the Colossians (2:21–23).

5. Paradoxically, this dualism also led to licentiousness. The reasoning was that, since matter—and not the breaking of God's law (1 John 3:4)—was considered evil, breaking his law was of no moral consequence.

The Gnosticism addressed in the NT was an early form of the heresy, not the intricately developed system of the second and third centuries. In addition to that seen in Colossians and in John's letters, acquaintance with early Gnosticism is reflected in 1,2 Timothy, Titus, and 2 Peter and perhaps 1 Corinthians.

Occasion and Purpose

John's readers were confronted with an early form of Gnostic teaching of the Cerinthian variety (see Gnosticism). This heresy was also libertine, throwing off all moral restraints.

Consequently, John wrote this letter with two basic purposes in mind: (1) to expose false teachers (2:26) and (2) to give believers assurance of salvation (5:13). In keeping with his intention to combat Gnostic teachers, John specifically struck at their total lack of morality (3:8–10); and by giving eyewitness testimony to the incarnation, he sought to confirm his readers' belief in the incarnate Christ (1:3). Success in this would give the writer joy (1:4).

Introduction, The Incarnate Word

1 What was [a]from the beginning, what we have [b]heard, what we have [c]seen with our eyes, what we [d]have looked at and [e]touched with our hands, concerning the [f]Word of Life—

2 and [a]the life was manifested, and we have [b]seen and [c]testify and proclaim to you [d]the eternal life, which was [e]with the Father and was [a]manifested to us—

3 what we have [a]seen and [b]heard we proclaim to you also, so that you too may have fellowship with us; and indeed our [c]fellowship is with the Father, and with His Son Jesus Christ.

4 [a]These things we write, so that our [b]joy may be made complete.

God Is Light

5 [a]This is the message we have heard from Him and announce to you, that [b]God is Light, and in Him there is no darkness at all.

6 [a]If we say that we have fellowship with Him and yet walk in the darkness, we [b]lie and [c]do not practice the truth;

7 but if we [a]walk in the Light as [b]He Himself is in the Light, we have fellowship with one another, and [c]the blood of Jesus His Son cleanses us from all sin.

8 [a]If we say that we have no sin, we are deceiving ourselves and the [b]truth is not in us.

9 [a]If we confess our sins, He is faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins and [b]to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

10 [a]If we say that we have not sinned, we [b]make Him a liar and [c]His word is not in us.

Christ Is Our Advocate

2 [a]My little children, I am [b]writing these things to you so that you may not sin. And if anyone sins, [c]we have an [1d]Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous;

2 and He Himself is [a]the [1]propitiation for our sins; and not for ours only, but also [b]for those of the whole world.

3 [a]By this we know that we have come to [b]know Him, if we [c]keep His commandments.

4 The one who says, "[a]I have come to [b]know Him," and does not keep His commandments, is a [c]liar, and [d]the truth is not in him;

1:1–4 The introduction to this letter deals with the same subject and uses several of the same words as the introduction to John's Gospel (1:1–4)—"beginning," "Word," "life," "with."

1:1 was from the beginning. Has always existed. we. John and the other apostles. heard . . . seen . . . looked at . . . touched. The apostle had made a careful examination of the Word of Life. He testifies that the one who has existed from eternity "became flesh" (John 1:14)—i.e., a flesh-and-blood man. He was true God and true man. At the outset, John contradicts the heresy of the Gnostics (see Introduction: Gnosticism). Word of Life. The one who is life and reveals life (see v. 2 and note). "Word" here speaks of revelation (see note on John 1:1).

1:2 the life . . . the eternal life. Christ. He is called "the life" because He is the living one who has life in Himself (see John 11:25; 14:6). He is also the source of life and sovereign over life (5:11). The letter begins and ends (5:20) with the theme of eternal life.

1:3 fellowship with us. Participation with us (vicariously) in our experience of hearing, seeing and touching the incarnate Christ (v. 1). Fellowship (Greek koinonia) is the spiritual union of the believer with Christ—as described in the figures of the vine and branches (John 15:1–5) and the body and the head (1 Cor 12:12; Col 1:18)—as well as communion with the Father and with fellow believers.

1:4 our joy . . . complete. John's joy in the Lord could not be complete unless his readers shared the true knowledge of the Christ (see 2 John 12).

1:5 from Him. From Christ. Light . . . darkness. Light represents what is good, true and holy, while darkness represents what is evil and false (see John 3:19–21).

1:6–7 walk in the darkness . . . in the Light. Two life-styles—one characterized by wickedness and error, the other by holiness and truth.

1:6 we. John and his readers. we have fellowship with Him. To be in living, spiritual union with God. walk. A metaphor for living. truth. See note on John 1:14.

1:7 sin. A key word in 1 John, occurring 27 times in the Greek.

1:9 faithful and righteous. Here the phrase is virtually a single concept (faithful-and-just). It indicates that God's response toward those who confess their sins will be in accordance with His nature and His gracious commitment to His people (see Ps 143:1; Zech 8:8). faithful. To His promise to forgive (see Jer 31:34; Mic 7:18–20; Heb 10:22–23). to forgive us. Will provide the forgiveness that restores the communion with God that had been interrupted by sin (as requested in the Lord's Prayer, Matt 6:12).

1:10 we have not sinned. Gnostics denied that their immoral actions were sinful.

2:1 little children. John, the aged apostle, often used this expression of endearment (vv. 12–13,28; 3:7,18; 4:4; 5:21; the term in 2:18 translates a different Greek word). an Advocate. The Greek word refers to someone who speaks in court in behalf of a defendant (see note on John 14:16). the righteous. In God's court the defender must be, and is, sinless.

2:2 propitiation for our sins. Propitiation refers to turning away God's wrath (see also 4:10). God's holiness demands punishment for man's sin. God, therefore, out of love (4:10; John 3:16), sent His Son to make substitutionary atonement for the believer's sin. In this way the Father's wrath is propitiated (satisfied, appeased); His wrath against the Christian's sin has been turned away and directed toward Christ. See note on Rom 3:25. for those of the whole world. Forgiveness through Christ's atoning sacrifice is not limited to one particular group only; it has worldwide application (see John 1:29). It must, however, be received by faith (see John 3:16). Thus this verse does not teach universalism (that all people ultimately will be saved), but that God is an impartial God.

2:3 Forty-two times 1 John uses two Greek verbs normally translated "know." One of these verbs is related to the name of the Gnostics, the heretical sect that claimed to have a special knowledge (Greek gnosis) of God (see Introduction: Gnosticism). keep His commandments. Does not mean that only those who

5 but whoever [a]keeps His word, in him the [b]love of God has truly been perfected. [c]By this we know that we are in Him:

6 the one who says he [a]abides in Him [b]ought himself to walk in the same manner as He walked.

7 [a]Beloved, I am [b]not writing a new commandment to you, but an old commandment which you have had [c]from the beginning; the old commandment is the word which you have heard.

8 [1]On the other hand, I am writing [a]a new commandment to you, which is true in Him and in you, because [b]the darkness is passing away and [c]the true Light is already shining.

9 The one who says he is in the Light and yet [a]hates his [b]brother is in the darkness until now.

10 [a]The one who loves his brother abides in the Light and there is no cause for stumbling in him.

11 But the one who [a]hates his brother is in the darkness and [b]walks in the darkness, and does not know where he is going because the darkness has [c]blinded his eyes.

12 I am writing to you, [a]little children, because [b]your sins have been forgiven you for His name's sake.

13 I am writing to you, fathers, because you know Him [a]who has been from the beginning. I am writing to you, young men, because [b]you have overcome [c]the evil one. I have written to you, children, because [d]you know the Father.

14 I have written to you, fathers, because you know Him [a]who has been from the beginning. I have written to you, young men, because you are [b]strong, and the [c]word of God abides in you, and [d]you have overcome the evil one.

Do Not Love the World

15 Do not love [a]the world nor the things in the world. [b]If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him.

16 For all that is in the world, [a]the lust of the flesh and [b]the lust of the eyes and [c]the boastful pride of life, is not from the Father, but is from the world.

17 [a]The world is passing away, and also its lusts; but the one who [b]does the will of God lives forever.

18 Children, [a]it is the last hour; and just as you heard that [b]antichrist is coming, [c]even now many antichrists have appeared; from this we know that it is the last hour.

never disobey (1:8–9) know God, but simply refers to those whose lives are generally characterized by obedience.

2:5 in him the love of God has truly been perfected. Means either that God's love for the believer is made complete when it moves the believer to acts of obedience (see 4:12), or that our love for God becomes complete when it expresses itself in acts of obedience (see 3:16–18). in Him. Spiritual union with God (see John 17:21).

2:7–8 new commandment. See John 13:34–35. The Biblical command to love was old (see Lev 19:18; also Matt 22:39–40). But its newness is seen in: (1) the new and dramatic illustration of divine love on the cross; (2) Christ's exposition of the OT law (see Matt 5), which seemed new to Christ's hearers; and (3) the daily experience of believers as they grow in love for each other.

2:7 Beloved. Like "little children" (see note on v. 1), a favorite term of John's (used ten times in two letters: here; 3:2,21; 4:1,7,11; 3 John 1–2,5,11). from the beginning. The beginning of their Christian experience, when they first heard the gospel.

2:8 true Light. Used in the NT only here and in John 1:9, this phrase refers to the gospel of Jesus Christ, who is the light of the world (John 8:12), and to its saving effects in the lives of believers.

2:9–10 hates . . . loves. In the Bible hatred and love as moral qualities are not primarily emotions, but attitudes expressed in actions (see 3:15–16).

2:9 Light . . . darkness. See note on 1:5. brother. Fellow believer.

2:10 stumbling. Into sin.

2:12–14 I am writing to you . . . because. By extended repetition in these verses, John assures his readers that, in spite of the rigorous tests contained in the letter, he is confident of their salvation. little children . . . fathers . . . young men. As elsewhere in this letter, "little children" probably refers to all John's readers (see note on v. 1), including fathers and young men. The terms "fathers" and "young men" may, however, describe two different levels of spiritual maturity. Some hold that all three terms refer to levels of spiritual maturity.

2:12 His name's. Jesus (see 3:23; 5:13; see also note on Acts 4:12).

2:13–14 Him who has been from the beginning. Christ (see note on 1:1).

2:15 the world. Not the world of people (John 3:16) or the created world (John 17:24), but the world, or realm, of sin (v. 16; James 4:4), which is controlled by Satan and organized against God and righteousness (see note on John 1:9). love of the Father. Love for the Father.

2:18 last hour. With other NT writers, John viewed the whole period beginning with Christ's first coming as the last days (see Acts 2:17; 2 Tim 3:1; Heb 1:2; 1 Pet 1:20). They understood this to be the "last" of the days because neither former prophecy nor new revelation concerning the history of salvation indicated the coming of another era before the return of Christ. The word "last" in "last days," "last times" and "last hour" also expresses a sense of urgency and imminence. The Christian is to be alert, waiting for the return of Christ (Matt 25:1–13). antichrist . . . many antichrists. John assumed his readers knew that a great enemy of God and His people will arise before Christ's return. That person is called "antichrist" (v. 18), "the man of lawlessness" (2 Thess 2:3; but see note there) and "the beast" (Rev 13:1–10). But prior to him, there will be many antichrists. These are characterized by the following: (1) They deny the incarnation (4:2; 2 John 7) and that Jesus is the divine Christ (v. 22); (2) they deny the Father (v. 22); (3) they do not have the Father (v. 23); (4) they are liars (v. 22) and deceivers (2 John 7); (5) they are many (v. 18); (6) in John's day they left the church because they had nothing in common with believers (v. 19). The antichrists referred to in John's letter were the early Gnostics.

not really of us; for if they had been of us, they would have remained with us; but they went out, [b]so that [1]it would be shown that they all are not of us.

20 [1]But you have an [a]anointing from [b]the Holy One, and [c]you all know.

21 I have not written to you because you do not know the truth, but [a]because you do know it, and [1]because no lie is [b]of the truth.

22 Who is the liar but [a]the one who denies that Jesus is the [1]Christ? This is [b]the antichrist, the one who denies the Father and the Son.

23 [a]Whoever denies the Son does not have the Father; the one who confesses the Son has the Father also.

24 As for you, let that abide in you which you heard [a]from the beginning. If what you heard from the beginning abides in you, you also [b]will abide in the Son and in the Father.

The Promise Is Eternal Life

25 [a]This is the promise which He Himself [1]made to us: eternal life.

26 These things I have written to you concerning those who are trying to [a]deceive you.

27 As for you, the [a]anointing which you received from Him abides in you, and you have no need for anyone to teach you; but as His anointing [b]teaches you about all things, and is [c]true and is not a lie, and just as it has taught you, [1]you abide in Him.

28 Now, [a]little children, abide in Him, so that when He [b]appears, we may have [c]confidence and [d]not [1]shrink away from Him in shame [2]at His [e]coming.

29 If you know that [a]He is righteous, you know that everyone also who practices righteousness [b]is [1]born of Him.

Children of God Love One Another

3 See [1a]how great a love the Father has bestowed on us, that we would be called [b]children of God; and such we are. For this reason the world does not know us, because [c]it did not know Him.

2 [a]Beloved, now we are [b]children of God, and [c]it has not appeared as yet what we will be. We know that when He [d]appears, we will be [e]like Him, because we will [f]see Him just as He is.

3 And everyone who has this [a]hope fixed on Him [b]purifies himself, just as He is pure.

4 Everyone who practices sin also practices lawlessness; and [a]sin is lawlessness.

5 You know that He [a]appeared in order to [b]take away sins; and [c]in Him there is no sin.

6 No one who abides in Him [a]sins; no one who sins has seen Him or [1b]knows Him.

7 [a]Little children, make sure no one [b]deceives you; [c]the one who practices righteousness is righteous, just as He is righteous;

8 the one who practices sin is [a]of the devil; for the devil [1]has sinned from the beginning. [b]The Son of God [c]appeared for this purpose, [d]to destroy the works of the devil.

9 No one who is [1a]born of God [b]practices

The "anti" in antichrist means "against" (cf. 2 Thess 2:4; Rev 13:6–7).

2:20 anointing. The Holy Spirit (see v. 27; Acts 10:38). Holy One. Either Jesus Christ (Mark 1:24; John 6:69; Acts 2:27; 3:14; 22:14) or the Father (2 Kin 19:22; Job 6:10).

2:22 Jesus is the Christ. The man Jesus is the divine Christ (see the parallel confession in 5:5; see also Introduction: Gnosticism and note on 5:6).

2:23 See 2 John 9 for the same thought.

2:26 One of the statements of purpose for the letter (see Introduction: Occasion and Purpose).

2:27 anointing. See note on v. 20. have no need for anyone to teach you. Since the Bible constantly advocates teaching (Matt 28:20; 1 Cor 12:28; Eph 4:11; Col 3:16; 1 Tim 4:11; 2 Tim 2:2,24), John is not ruling out human teachers. At the time when he wrote, however, Gnostic teachers were insisting that the teaching of the apostles was to be supplemented with the "higher knowledge" that they (the Gnostics) claimed to possess. John's response was that what the readers were taught under the Spirit's ministry through the apostles not only was adequate but was the only reliable truth. teaches you. The teaching ministry of the Holy Spirit (what is commonly called illumination) does not involve revelation of new truth or the explanation of all difficult passages of Scripture to our satisfaction. Rather, it is the development of the capacity to appreciate and appropriate God's truth already revealed—making the Bible meaningful in thought and daily living. all things. All things necessary to know for salvation and Christian living.

2:28 abide in Him. See "abides in" (vv. 24,27). confidence. See 3:21; 4:17; 5:14.

2:29 He . . . Him. God the Father. practices righteousness. Members of God's family are marked by holy living.

3:1 children of God. See note on John 1:12.

3:2 He . . . Him. Christ.

3:3 hope. Not a mere wish, but unshakable confidence concerning the future (see note on Rom 5:2). Him. Christ. purifies himself. By turning from sin.

3:6 sins. John is not asserting sinless perfection (see 1:8–10; 2:1), but explaining that the believer's life is characterized not by sin but by doing what is right.

3:8 devil. In this short letter John says much about the devil: 1. He is called "the devil" (here) and "the evil one" (v. 12; 2:13–14; 5:18–19). 2. He "has sinned from the beginning" (here), i.e., from the time he first rebelled against God, before the fall of Adam and Eve (John 8:44). 3. He is the instigator of human sin, and those who continue to sin belong to him (vv. 8,12) and are his children (v. 10). 4. He is in the world (4:3) and has "the whole world" of unbelievers under his control (5:19). 5. But he cannot lay hold of the believer to harm him (5:18). 6. On the contrary, the Christian will overcome him (2:13–14; 4:4), and Christ will destroy his work.

sin, because His seed abides in him; and he cannot sin, because he is [1]born of God.

10 By this the [a]children of God and the [b]children of the devil are obvious: [1]anyone who does not practice righteousness is not of God, nor the one who [c]does not love his [d]brother.

11 [a]For this is the message [b]which you have heard from the beginning, [c]that we should love one another;

12 not as [a]Cain, who was of [b]the evil one and slew his brother. And for what reason did he slay him? Because [c]his deeds were evil, and his brother's were righteous.

13 Do not be surprised, brethren, if [a]the world hates you.

14 We know that we have [a]passed out of death into life, [b]because we love the brethren. He who does not love abides in death.

15 Everyone who [a]hates his brother is a murderer; and you know that [b]no murderer has eternal life abiding in him.

16 We know love by this, that [a]He laid down His life for us; and [b]we ought to lay down our lives for the [c]brethren.

17 But [a]whoever has the world's goods, and sees his brother in need and [b]closes his [1]heart [2]against him, [c]how does the love of God abide in him?

18 [a]Little children, let us not love with word or with tongue, but in deed and [b]truth.

19 We will know by this that we are [a]of the truth, and will [1]assure our heart before Him

20 [1]in whatever our heart condemns us; for God is greater than our heart and knows all things.

21 [a]Beloved, if our heart does not condemn us, we have [b]confidence [1]before God;

22 and [a]whatever we ask we receive from Him, because we [b]keep His commandments and do [c]the things that are pleasing in His sight.

23 This is His commandment, that we [1][a]believe in [b]the name of His Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, just as [c]He [2]commanded us.

24 The one who [a]keeps His commandments [b]abides in Him, and He in him. [c]We know by this that [d]He abides in us, by the Spirit whom He has given us.

Testing the Spirits

4 [a]Beloved, do not believe every [b]spirit, but test the spirits to see whether they are from God, because [c]many false prophets have gone out into the world.

2 By this you know the Spirit of God: [a]every spirit that [b]confesses that [c]Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is from God;

3 and every spirit that [a]does not confess Jesus is not from God; this is the spirit of the [b]antichrist, of which you have heard that it is coming, and [c]now it is already in the world.

4 You are from God, [a]little children, and [b]have overcome them; because [c]greater is He who is in you than [d]he who is in the world.

5 [a]They are from the world; therefore they speak as from the world, and the world listens to them.

6 [a]We are from God; [b]he who knows God listens to us; [c]he who is not from God does

3:9 His seed. The picture is of human reproduction, in which the sperm (the Greek for "seed" is sperma) bears the life principle and transfers the paternal characteristics. cannot sin. Not a complete cessation of sin, but a life that is not characterized by sin.
3:11 from the beginning. See note on 2:7.
3:12 Cain. See Heb 11:4.
3:14 brethren. Fellow believers.
3:15 hates. See note on 2:9–10.
3:17–18 See James 2:14–17.
3:17 love of God. God's kind of love, which He pours out in the believer's heart (Rom 5:5) and which in turn enables the Christian to love fellow believers. Or it may speak of the believer's love for God.
3:20 God is greater than our heart. An oversensitive conscience can be quieted by the knowledge that God Himself has declared active love to be an evidence of salvation. He knows the hearts of all—whether, in spite of shortcomings, they have been born of Him.
3:23 This command has two parts: (1) Believe in Christ (see John 6:29), and (2) love each other (see John 13:34–35). The first part is developed in 4:1–6 and the second part in 4:7–12.
4:1 spirit. A person moved by a spirit, whether by the Holy Spirit or an evil one. test the spirits. Cf. 1 Thess 5:21. (Matt 7:1 does not refer to such testing or judgment; it speaks of self-righteous moral judgment of others.) false prophets. A true prophet speaks from God, being "moved by the Holy Spirit' (2 Pet 1:21). False prophets, such as the Gnostics of John's day, speak under the influence of spirits alienated from God. Christ warned against false prophets (Matt 7:15; 24:11), as did Paul (1 Tim 4:1) and Peter (2 Pet 2:1).
4:2 confesses. Not only knows intellectually—for demons know, and shudder (James 2:19; cf. Mark 1:24)—but also confesses publicly. Jesus Christ has come in the flesh. See note on 1:1. Thus John excludes the Gnostics, especially the Cerinthians, who taught that the divine Christ came upon the human Jesus at his baptism and then left him at the cross, so that it was only the man Jesus who died (see Introduction: Gnosticism).
4:3 does not confess Jesus. The incarnate Jesus Christ of 1:2 (see note on 2:18).
4:4 from God. An abbreviated form of the expression "born of God" (2:29; 3:9–10). them. The false prophets (v. 1), who were inspired by the spirit of the antichrist (v. 3). he who is in the world. The devil (John 12:31; 16:11). In v. 3 "world" means the inhabited earth; in vv. 4–5 it means the community, or system, of those not born of God—including the antichrists (see note on John 1:9).
4:6 spirit of truth. Cf. 5:6; see note on John 14:17.

not listen to us. By this we know [d]the spirit of truth and [e]the spirit of error.

God Is Love

7 [a]Beloved, let us [b]love one another, for love is from God; and [c]everyone who loves is [1d]born of God and [e]knows God.

8 The one who does not love does not know God, for [a]God is love.

9 By this the love of God was manifested [1a]in us, that [b]God has sent His [2]only begotten Son into the world so that we might live through Him.

10 In this is love, [a]not that we loved God, but that [b]He loved us and sent His Son to be [c]the propitiation for our sins.

11 [a]Beloved, if God so loved us, [b]we also ought to love one another.

12 [a]No one has seen God at any time; if we love one another, God abides in us, and His [b]love is perfected in us.

13 [a]By this we know that we abide in Him and He in us, because He has given us of His Spirit.

14 We have seen and [a]testify that the Father has [b]sent the Son to be the Savior of the world.

15 [a]Whoever confesses that [b]Jesus is the Son of God, God [c]abides in him, and he in God.

16 [a]We have come to know and have believed the love which God has [1b]for us. [c]God is love, and the one who [d]abides in love abides in God, and God abides in him.

17 By this, [a]love is perfected with us, so that we may have [b]confidence in [c]the day of judgment; because [d]as He is, so also are we in this world.

18 There is no fear in love; but [a]perfect love casts out fear, because fear [1]involves punishment, and the one who fears is not [b]perfected in love.

19 [a]We love, because He first loved us.

20 [a]If someone says, "I love God," and [b]hates his brother, he is a [c]liar; for [d]the one who does not love his brother whom he has seen, [e]cannot love God whom he has not seen.

21 And [a]this commandment we have from Him, that the one who loves God [b]should love his brother also.

Overcoming the World

5 [a]Whoever believes that Jesus is the [1]Christ is [2b]born of God, and whoever loves the [3]Father [c]loves the child [2]born of Him.

2 [a]By this we know that [b]we love the children of God, when we love God and [1]observe His commandments.

3 For [a]this is the love of God, that we [b]keep His commandments; and [c]His commandments are not burdensome.

4 For whatever is [1a]born of God [b]overcomes the world; and this is the victory that has overcome the world—our faith.

5 Who is the one who overcomes the world, but he who [a]believes that Jesus is the Son of God?

6 This is the One who came [a]by water and blood, Jesus Christ; not [1]with the water only, but [1]with the water and [1]with the blood. It is [b]the Spirit who testifies, because the Spirit is the truth.

4:7–5:3 The word "love" in its various forms is used 43 times in the letter, 32 times in this short section.

4:8 does not know God. Only those who are to some degree like Him truly know Him. God is love. In His essential nature and in all His actions, God is loving. John similarly affirms that God is spirit (John 4:24) and light (1:5), as well as holy, powerful, faithful, true and just.

4:9 only begotten Son. See note on John 1:18.

4:10 propitiation for our sins. See note on 2:2.

4:12 No one has seen God at any time. See note on John 1:18. Since our love has its source in God's love, His love reaches full expression (is made complete) when we love fellow Christians. Thus the God whom "no one has seen" is seen in those who love, because God lives in them.

4:16 God is love. See note on v. 8.

4:17 so also are we. Like Christ. The fact that we are like Christ in love is a sign that God, who is love, lives in us; therefore we may have confidence on the day of judgment that we are saved.

4:18 no fear in love. There is no fear of God's judgment because genuine love confirms salvation.

4:19 All love comes ultimately from God; genuine love is never self-generated by His creatures.

4:21 this commandment. See John 13:34.

5:1 Whoever believes that Jesus is the Christ is born of God. Faith in Jesus as the Christ is a sign of being born again, just as love is (4:7). the Christ. See note on 2:22. whoever loves the Father loves the child born of Him. John wrote at a time when members of a family were closely associated as a unit under the headship of the father. He could therefore use the family as an illustration to show that anyone who loves God the Father will naturally love God's children.

5:3 His commandments are not burdensome. Not because the commands themselves are light or easy to obey but, as John explains in v. 4, because of the new birth. The one born of God by faith is enabled by the Holy Spirit to obey.

5:4 overcomes . . . has overcome. To overcome the world is to gain victory over its sinful pattern of life, which is another way of describing obedience to God (v. 3). Such obedience is not impossible for the believer because he has been born again and the Holy Spirit dwells within him and gives him strength. John speaks of two aspects of victory: (1) the initial victory of turning in faith from the world to God ("has overcome"); (2) the continuing day-by-day victory of Christian living ("overcomes"). world. See note on 2:15.

5:5 Son of God. For parallel confessions see 2:22; 4:2; 5:1.

5:6 Water symbolizes Jesus' baptism, and blood symbolizes His death. These are mentioned because Jesus' ministry began at His baptism and ended at His death. John is reacting to the heretics of his day (see Introduction: Gnosticism) who said that

7 For there are [a]three that testify:
8 [1]the Spirit and the water and the blood;
and the three are [2]in agreement.
9 [a]If we receive the testimony of men, the testimony of God is greater; for the testimony of God is this, that [b]He has testified concerning His Son.
10 The one who believes in the Son of God [a]has the testimony in himself; the one who does not believe God has [b]made Him a liar, because he has not believed in the testimony that God has given concerning His Son.
11 And the testimony is this, that God has given us [a]eternal life, and [b]this life is in His Son.
12 [a]He who has the Son has the life; he who does not have the Son of God does not have the life.

This Is Written That You May Know

13 [a]These things I have written to you who [b]believe in the name of the Son of God, so that you may know that you have [c]eternal life.
14 This is [a]the confidence which we have [1]before Him, that, [b]if we ask anything according to His will, He hears us.
15 And if we know that He hears us in whatever we ask, [a]we know that we have the requests which we have asked from Him.

21 [a]1 John 2:1 [b]1 Cor 10:7, 14; 1 Thess 1:9

Jesus was born only a man and remained so until His baptism. At that time, they maintained, the Christ (the Son of God) descended on the human Jesus, but left him before his suffering on the cross—so that it was only the man Jesus who died. Throughout this letter John has been insisting that Jesus Christ is God as well as man (1:1–4; 4:2; 5:5). He now asserts that it was this God-man Jesus Christ who came into our world, was baptized and died. Jesus was the Son of God not only at His baptism but also at His death (v. 6b). This truth is extremely important, because, if Jesus died only as a man, His sacrificial atonement (2:2; 4:10) would not have been sufficient to take away the guilt of man's sin. the Spirit who testifies. The Holy Spirit testifies that Jesus is the Son of God in two ways: (1) The Spirit descended on Jesus at His baptism (John 1:32–34), and (2) He continues to confirm in the hearts of believers the apostolic testimony that Jesus' baptism and death verify that He is the Christ, the Son of God (2:27; 1 Cor 12:3).

5:7 three. The OT law required "two or three witnesses" (Deut 17:6; 19:15; see 1 Tim 5:19).

5:9 testimony of God. The Holy Spirit's testimony, mentioned in vv. 6–8.

5:11 has given us eternal life. As a present possession (see notes on John 3:15,36).

5:13 Another statement of the letter's purpose (see 2:26). See Introduction: Occasion and Purpose.

5:14 if we ask anything according to His will. For another condition for prayer see 3:21–22.

5:16 Verses 16–17 illustrate the kind of petition we can be sure God will answer (see vv. 14–15). sin leading to death. In the context of this letter directed against Gnostic teaching, which denied the incarnation and threw off all moral restraints, it is probable that the "sin leading to death" refers to the Gnostics' adamant and persistent denial of the truth and to their shameless immorality. This kind of unrepentant sin leads to spiritual death. Another view is that this is sin that results in physical death. It is held that, because a believer continues to sin, God in judgment takes his life (cf. 1 Cor 11:30). In either case, "sin not leading to death" is of a less serious nature.

5:18–20 We know. The letter ends with three striking statements, affirming the truths that "we know" and summarizing some of the letter's major themes.

5:18 He who was born of God. Jesus, the Son of God.

5:20 Him who is true. God the Father. This is the true God. Could refer to either God the Father or God the Son. eternal life. The letter began with this theme (1:1–2) and now ends with it.

5:21 idols. False gods, as opposed to the one true God (v. 20).

2 John

INTRODUCTION

Author

The author is John the apostle. Obvious similarities to 1 John and the Gospel of John suggest that the same person wrote all three books. Compare the following:

2 John 5	1 John 2:7	John 13:34–35
2 John 6	1 John 5:3	John 14:23
2 John 7	1 John 4:2–3
2 John 12	1 John 1:4	John 15:11; 16:24

See Introductions to 1 John and the Gospel of John: Author.

Date

The letter was probably written about the same time as 1 John (A.D. 85–95), as the above comparisons suggest (see Introduction to 1 John: Date).

Occasion and Purpose

During the first two centuries the gospel was taken from place to place by traveling evangelists and teachers. Believers customarily took these missionaries into their homes and gave them provisions for their journey when they left. Since Gnostic teachers also relied on this practice (see note on 3 John 5), 2 John was written to urge discernment in supporting traveling teachers; otherwise, someone might unintentionally contribute to the propagation of heresy rather than truth.

Walk According to His Commandments

1 [a]The elder to the [b]chosen [c]lady and her children, whom I [d]love in truth; and not only I, but also all who [e]know the truth,

2 for [a]the sake of the truth which abides [b]in us and will be [c]with us forever:

3 [a]Grace, mercy and peace will be with us, from God the Father and from Jesus Christ, the Son of the Father, in truth and love.

4 [a]I was very glad to find some of your children walking in truth, just as we have received commandment to do from the Father.

5 Now I ask you, lady, [a]not as though I were writing to you a new commandment, but the one which we have had [a]from the beginning, that we [b]love one another.

6 And [a]this is love, that we walk according to His commandments. This is the commandment, [b]just as you have heard [c]from the beginning, that you should walk in it.

7 For [a]many deceivers have [b]gone out into the world, those who [c]do not acknowledge Jesus Christ as coming in the flesh. This is [a]the deceiver and the [d]antichrist.

8 [a]Watch yourselves, [b]that you do not lose what we have accomplished, but that you may receive a full reward.

9 [1]Anyone who [2]goes too far and [a]does not abide in the teaching of Christ, does not have God; the one who abides in the teaching, he has both the Father and the Son.

10 If anyone comes to you and does not bring this teaching, [a]do not receive him into your house, and do not give him a greeting;

11 for the one who gives him a greeting [a]participates in his evil deeds.

12 [a]Though I have many things to write to you, I do not want to do so with paper and ink; but I hope to come to you and speak face to face, so that [1]your [b]joy may be made full.

13 The children of your [a]chosen sister greet you.

1 elder. See note on 1 Tim 3:1. In his later years, John functioned as an elder, perhaps of the Ephesian church. The apostle Peter held a similar position (1 Pet 5:1). chosen lady. Either an unknown Christian woman in the province of Asia or a figurative designation of a local church there. her children. Children of that Christian lady or members of that local church. truth. See note on John 1:14.

3 Grace . . . peace. See notes on Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2. mercy. See note on Rom 9:23.

5 new commandment. See note on 1 John 2:7.

6 from the beginning. See note on 1 John 2:7.

7–11 This section deals with the basic Gnostic heresy attacked in 1 John, namely, that the Son of God did not become flesh (John 1:14), but that He temporarily came upon the man Jesus between his baptism and crucifixion (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism).

7 Jesus Christ as coming in the flesh. See 1 John 4:2–3 and note. antichrist. See note on 1 John 2:18.

8 accomplished . . . full reward. Work faithfully accomplished on earth brings future reward (see Mark 9:41; 10:29–30; Luke 19:16–19; Heb 11:26).

9 goes too far. A reference to the Gnostics, who believed that they had advanced beyond the teaching of the apostles. teaching of Christ. The similarity of this letter to 1 John, the nature of the heresy combated, and the immediate context suggest that John is not referring to teaching given by Christ, but to true teaching about Christ as the incarnate God-man.

10 receive him into your house. A reference to the housing and feeding of traveling teachers (see Introduction: Occasion and Purpose). The instruction does not prohibit greeting or even inviting a person into one's home for conversation. John was warning against providing food and shelter, since this would be an investment in the "evil deeds" of false teachers and would give public approval (see v. 11).

12 paper and ink. Paper was made from papyrus reeds, which were readily available and cheap. The ink (the Greek for this word comes from a word that means "black") was made by mixing carbon, water and gum or oil. that your joy may be made full. See 1 John 1:4.

13 chosen sister. May be taken literally to designate another Christian woman or figuratively to refer to another local church (see note on v. 1).

3 John

INTRODUCTION

Author

The author is John the apostle. In the first verses of both 2 John and 3 John the author identifies himself as "the elder." Note other similarities: "love in truth" (v. 1 of both letters), "walking in the truth" (v. 4 of both letters) and the similar conclusions. See Introductions to 1 John and the Gospel of John: Author.

Date

The letter was probably written about the same time as 1 and 2 John (A.D. 85–95). See Introduction to 1 John: Date.

Occasion and Purpose

See Introduction to 2 John: Occasion and Purpose. Itinerant teachers sent out by John were rejected in one of the churches in the province of Asia by a dictatorial leader, Diotrephes, who even excommunicated members who showed hospitality to John's messengers. John wrote this letter to commend Gaius for supporting the teachers and, indirectly, to warn Diotrephes.

You Walk in the Truth

1 [a]The elder to the beloved [b]Gaius, whom I [c]love in truth.

2 Beloved, I pray that in all respects you may prosper and be in good health, just as your soul prospers.

3 For I [a]was very glad when [b]brethren came and testified to your truth, that is, how you [a]are walking in truth.

4 I have no greater joy than [1]this, to hear of [a]my children [b]walking in the truth.

5 Beloved, you are acting faithfully in whatever you accomplish for the [a]brethren, and [1]especially when they are [b]strangers;

6 and they have testified to your love before the church. You will do well to [a]send them on their way in a manner [b]worthy of God.

7 For they went out for the sake of [a]the Name, [b]accepting nothing from the Gentiles.

8 Therefore we ought to [1]support such men, so that we may [2]be fellow workers [3]with the truth.

9 I wrote something to the church; but Diotrephes, who loves to [a]be first among them, does not accept [1]what we say.

10 For this reason, [a]if I come, I will call attention to his deeds which he does, unjustly accusing us with wicked words; and not satisfied with this, he himself does not [b]receive the [c]brethren, either, and he forbids those who desire to do so and [d]puts them out of the church.

11 Beloved, [a]do not imitate what is evil, but what is good. [b]The one who does good is of God; [c]the one who does evil has not seen God.

12 Demetrius [a]has received a good testimony from everyone, and from the truth itself; and we add our testimony, and [b]you know that our testimony is true.

13 [a]I had many things to write to you, but I am not willing to write them to you with pen and ink;

14 but I hope to see you shortly, and we will speak face to face.

15 [a]Peace be to you. The friends greet you. Greet the friends [b]by name.

1 The elder. See note on 2 John 1. beloved. A favorite term of John (see note on 1 John 2:7). Gaius. A Christian in one of the churches of the province of Asia. Gaius was a common Roman name. truth. See note on John 1:14.

4 my children. Perhaps John's converts, or believers currently under his spiritual guidance.

5 accomplish for the brethren. The early church provided hospitality and support for missionaries. See Introduction to 2 John: Occasion and Purpose; see also note on 2 John 10.

7 Name. See note on Acts 4:12. Today Orthodox Jews often address God by the title Ha-Shem ("The Name").

9 I wrote. There may have been a previous letter of the apostle that is now lost. church. Some identify this church with the chosen lady of 2 John 1. Diotrephes. A church leader who was exercising dictatorial power in the church. He must have had considerable influence since he was able to exclude people from the church fellowship (v. 10).

11 does good. The continual practice of good, not merely doing occasional good deeds.

13–14 See 2 John 12–13 for a similar conclusion.

14 Peace be to you. Not a prayer or wish but a benedictory pronouncement (see notes on John 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2).

Jude

[illegible]

Author

The author identifies himself as Jude (v. 1), which is another form of the Hebrew name Judah (Greek "Judas"), a common name among the Jews. Of those so named in the NT, the ones most likely to be author of this letter are: (1) Judas the apostle (Luke 6:16; Acts 1:13)—not Judas Iscariot—and (2) Judas the brother of the Lord (Matt 13:55; Mark 6:3). The latter is more likely. For example, the author does not claim to be an apostle and even seems to separate himself from the apostles (see v. 17). Furthermore, he describes himself as a "brother of James" (v. 1). Ordinarily a person in Jude's day would describe himself as someone's son rather than as someone's brother. The reason for the exception here may have been James's prominence in the church at Jerusalem (see Introduction to James: Author).

Although neither Jude nor James describes himself as a brother of the Lord, others did not hesitate to speak of them in this way (see Matt 13:55; John 7:3–10; Acts 1:14; 1 Cor 9:5; Gal 1:19). Apparently they themselves did not ask to be heard because of the special privilege they had as members of the household of Joseph and Mary.

Possible references to the letter of Jude or quotations from it are found at a very early date: e.g., in Clement of Rome (c. A.D. 96). Clement of Alexandria (155–215), Tertullian (150–222) and Origen (185–253) accepted it; it was included in the Muratorian Canon (c. 170) and was accepted by Athanasius (298–373) and by the Council of Carthage (397). Eusebius (265–340) listed the letter among the questioned books, though he recognized that many considered it as from Jude.

According to Jerome and Didymus, some did not accept the letter as canonical because of its use of uninspired literature (see notes on vv. 9,14). But sound judgment has recognized that an inspired author may legitimately make use of uninspired literature—whether for illustrative purposes or for appropriation of historically reliable or otherwise acceptable material—and such use does not necessarily endorse that literature as inspired. Under the influence of the Spirit, the church came to the conviction that the authority of God stands behind the letter of Jude. The fact that the letter was questioned and tested but nonetheless was finally accepted by the churches indicates the strength of its claims to authenticity.

Date

There is nothing in the letter that requires a date beyond the lifetime of Jude the brother of the Lord. The error the author is combating, like that in 2 Peter, is not the heretical teaching of the second century, but that which could and did develop at an early date (cf. Acts 20:29–30; Rom 6:1; 1 Cor 5:1–11; 2 Cor 12:21; Gal 5:13; Eph 5:3–17; 1 Thess 4:6). (See also Introduction to 2 Peter: Date.) There is, moreover, nothing in the letter that requires a date after the time of the apostles, as some have argued. It may even be that Jude's readers had heard some of the apostles speak (see vv. 17–18). Likewise, the use of the word "faith" in the objective sense of the body of truth believed (v. 3) does not require a late dating of the letter. It was used in such a sense as early as Gal 1:23.

The question of the relationship between Jude and 2 Peter has a bearing on the date of Jude. If 2 Peter makes use of Jude—a commonly accepted view (see Introduction to 2 Peter: 2 Peter and Jude)—then Jude is to be dated prior to 2 Peter, probably c. A.D. 65. Otherwise, a date as late as c. 80 would be possible.

Recipients

The description of those to whom Jude addressed his letter is very general (see v. 1). It could apply to Jewish Christians, Gentile Christians, or both. Their location is not indicated. It should not be assumed that, since 2 Pet 2 and Jude 4–18 appear to describe similar situations, they were both written to the same people. The kind of heresy depicted in these two passages was widespread (see Date).

Occasion and Purpose

Although Jude was very eager to write to his readers about salvation, he felt that he must instead warn them about certain immoral men circulating among them who were perverting the grace of God (v. 4). Apparently these false teachers were trying to convince believers that being saved by grace gave them license to sin since their sins would no longer be held against them. Jude thought it imperative that his readers be on guard against such men and be prepared to oppose their perverted teaching with the truth about God's saving grace.

It has generally been assumed that these false teachers were Gnostics. Although this identification is no doubt correct, they must have been forerunners of fully developed, second-century Gnosticism (see Introduction to 2 Peter: Date).

The Warnings of History to the Ungodly

1 [1a]Jude, a [b]bond-servant of Jesus Christ, and brother of [2]James,
To [c]those who are the called, beloved in God the Father, and [d]kept for Jesus Christ:
2 [a]May mercy and peace and love [b]be multiplied to you.
3 [a]Beloved, while I was making every effort to write you about our [b]common salvation, I felt the necessity to write to you appealing that you [c]contend earnestly for [d]the faith which was once for all [e]handed down to [f]the [1]saints.
4 For certain persons have [a]crept in unnoticed, those who were long beforehand [1b]marked out for this condemnation, ungodly persons who turn [c]the grace of our God into [d]licentiousness and [e]deny our only Master and Lord, Jesus Christ.
5 Now I desire to [a]remind you, though
[b]you know all things once for all, that [1]the Lord, [c]after saving a people out of the land of Egypt, [2]subsequently destroyed those who did not believe.
6 And [a]angels who did not keep their own domain, but abandoned their proper abode, He has [b]kept in eternal bonds under darkness for the judgment of the great day, 7 just as [a]Sodom and Gomorrah and the [b]cities around them, since they in the same way as these indulged in gross immorality and [c]went after [1]strange flesh, are exhibited as an [2d]example in undergoing the [e]punishment of eternal fire.
8 Yet in the same way these men, also by dreaming, [a]defile the flesh, and reject authority, and revile [1]angelic majesties.
9 But [a]Michael [b]the archangel, when he disputed with the devil and argued about [c]the body of Moses, did not dare pronounce against him a railing judgment, but said,
"[d]The Lord rebuke you!"
10 But [a]these men revile the things which they do not understand; and [b]the things which they know by instinct, [a]like unrea-

10 [a]2 Pet 2:12 [b]Phil 3:19

1 bond-servant. See note on Rom 1:1. brother of James. See Introduction: Author. called. See note on Rom 8:28. beloved in God. See John 3:16; Rom 8:28–39. kept for Jesus Christ. He who holds the whole universe together (see Col 1:17; Heb 1:3) will see that God's children are kept in the faith and that they reach their eternal inheritance (see John 6:37–40; 17:11–12; 1 Pet 1:3–5).

2 peace. The profound well-being of soul that flows from the experience of God's grace (see notes on John 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2).

3 Beloved. See vv. 17,20; see also note on 2 Pet 3:1. our common salvation. Jude's original intention was to write a general treatment of the doctrine of salvation, probably dealing with such subjects as man's sin and guilt, God's love and grace, the forgiveness of sins and the changed life-style that follows new birth. the faith. Here used of the body of truth held by believers everywhere—the gospel and all its implications (see Introduction: Date; see also 1 Tim 4:6). This truth was under attack and had to be defended. once for all handed down. The truth has finality and is not subject to change.

4 For. Introduces the reason Jude felt impelled to change the subject of his letter (see Introduction: Occasion and Purpose). long beforehand marked out for this condemnation. The reference may be to OT denunciations of ungodly men or to Enoch's prophecy (vv. 14–15). Or Jude may mean that judgment has long been about to fall on them because of their sin (see 2 Pet 2:3, which may be a clarification of this clause). ungodly persons. See vv. 15,18. turn the grace of our God into licentiousness. They assume that salvation by grace gives them the right to sin without restraint, either because God in His grace will freely forgive all their sins, or because sin, by contrast, magnifies the grace of God (cf. Rom 5:20; 6:1). deny our only Master and Lord. The Greek term translated "Master" describes power without limit, or absolute domination. The Greek construction indicates that both "Master" and "Lord" refer to the same person, and this verse, as well as the parallel passage (2 Pe 2:1), clearly states that that person is Christ.

5–7 Three examples of divine judgment.

5 destroyed those who did not believe. They did not believe that God would give them the land of Canaan; consequently all unbelieving adults died in the desert without entering the promised land.

6 angels. See note on 2 Pet 2:4. domain. See note on 2 Pet 2:4. God had assigned differing areas of responsibility and authority to each of the angels (see Dan 10:20–21, where the various princes may be angels assigned to various nations). Some of these angels refused to maintain their assignments and thus became the devil and his angels (cf. Matt 25:41). their proper abode. Angels apparently were assigned specific locations as well as responsibilities. Some assume that they left the heavenly realm and came to earth (see note on 2 Pet 2:4). kept . . . bonds . . . judgment. See note on 2 Pet 2:4. the great day. The final judgment.

7 just as. Does not mean that the sin of Sodom and Gomorrah was the same as that of the angels or vice versa. This phrase is used to introduce the third illustration of the fact that God will see to it that the unrighteous will be consigned to eternal punishment on judgment day. gross immorality and . . . strange flesh. More specifically, homosexuality (see Gen 19:5 and note; see also note on 2 Pet 2:10). exhibited as an example in undergoing . . . eternal fire. God destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah by pouring out "brimstone and fire" (Gen 19:24)—a foretaste of the eternal fire that is to come.

8 men . . . by dreaming. The reference to "dreaming" is either (1) because they claimed to receive revelations or, more likely, (2) because in their passion they were out of touch with truth and reality. defile the flesh. Probably a reference to the homosexuality in Sodom and Gomorrah (see vv. 4,7; 1 Cor 6:18). reject authority. See note on 2 Pet 2:10. revile angelic majesties. See note on 2 Pet 2:10.

9 According to several church fathers, this verse is based on a work called The Assumption of Moses. Other NT quotations from, or allusions to, non-Biblical works include Paul's quotations of Aratus (Acts 17:28), Menander (1 Cor 15:33) and Epimenides (Titus 1:12). Such usage in no way suggests that the quotations, or the books from which they were taken, are divinely inspired. It only means that the Biblical author found the quotations to be a helpful confirmation, clarification or illustration.

10 things which they do not understand. See note on 2 Pet 2:12; cf. 1 Cor 2:14. like unreasoning animals. See note on 2 Pet 2:12.

11 Three OT examples of the kind of persons Jude warns his readers about. Woe to them! A warning that judgment is coming (see Matt 23:13,15–16,23,25,27,29). way of Cain. The way of selfishness and greed (see note on Gen 4:3–4) and the way of hatred and murder (see 1John 3:12). error of Balaam. The error of consuming greed (see note on 2 Pet 2:15). rebellion of Korah. Korah rose up against God's appointed leadership (see Num 16). Jude may be suggesting that the false teachers of his day were rebelling against church leadership (cf. 3 John 9–10).

12–13 These verses contain six graphic metaphors: 1. hidden reefs in your love feasts. See note on 2 Pet 2:13. 2. they feast . . . caring for themselves. Instead of feeding the sheep for whom they are responsible (see Ezek 34:8–10). 3. clouds without water. Like clouds promising moisture for the parched land, the false teachers promise soul-satisfying truth, but in reality they have nothing to offer. 4. autumn trees without fruit, doubly dead, uprooted. Though the trees ought to be heavy with fruit. 5. wild waves of the sea. As wind-tossed waves constantly churn up rubbish, so these apostates continually stir up moral filth (see Is 57:20). 6. wandering stars. As shooting stars appear in the sky only to fly off into eternal oblivion, so these false teachers are destined for the darkness of eternal hell.

14 Enoch, in the seventh generation from Adam. Not the Enoch in the line of Cain (Gen 4:17) but the one in the line of Seth (Gen 5:18–24; 1 Chr 1:1–3). He was seventh if Adam is counted as the first. The quotation is from the book of Enoch, which purports to have been written by the Enoch of Gen 5, but actually did not appear until the first century B.C. The book of Enoch was a well-respected writing in NT times. That it was not canonical does not mean that it contained no truth; nor does Jude's quotation of the book mean that he considered it inspired (see Introduction: Author; see also note on v. 9). prophesied. Not in the sense of supernaturally revealing new truth, but merely in the sense of speaking things about the future that were already known (see Dan 7:9–14; Zech 14:1–5). the Lord came. Jude uses the quotation to refer to Christ's second coming and to His judgment of the wicked (see 2 Thess 1:6–10). holy ones. Probably angels (see Dan 4:13–17; 2 Thess 1:7). However, some think they are raptured saints who are returning with the Lord (see 1 Thess 3:13).

15 ungodly . . . ungodly . . . ungodly . . . ungodly. This thunderous repetition and the awesome judgment scene that is depicted emphasize the condemnation of the false teachers in v. 4.

16 These. The ungodly men first mentioned in v. 4 and subsequently referred to repeatedly as "these men" (vv. 10,12,14,19; cf. v. 8). They are the libertine false teachers who pervert the grace of God.

17 remember the words . . . spoken beforehand by the apostles. The coming of these godless men should not take believers by surprise, for it had been predicted by the apostles (Acts 20:29; 1 Tim 4:1; 2 Tim 3:1–5).

18 they were saying. The Greek for this phrase indicates that the apostles continually or repeatedly warned that such godless apostates would come. last time. See note on 2 Pet 3:3. mockers. In both 2 Pet 3:3 and Jude the mockers are said to be characterized by selfish lusts.

19 the ones who cause divisions. At the very least this phrase means that they were divisive, creating factions in the church—the usual practice of heretics. Or Jude may refer to the later Gnostics' division of men into the spiritual (the Gnostics) and the sensual (those for whom there is no hope). worldly-minded. An ironic description of the false teachers, who labeled others as "sensual." devoid of the Spirit. Rather than being the spiritual ones—the privileged elite class the Gnostics claimed to be—Jude denies that they even possess the Spirit. A person who does not have the Spirit is clearly not saved (see Rom 8:9).

20 But you, beloved. In contrast to the ungodly false teachers, about whom this letter speaks at length. most holy faith. See note on v. 3. in the Holy Spirit. According to the Spirit's promptings and with the power of the Spirit (see Rom 8:26–27; Gal 4:6; Eph 6:18).

21 keep yourselves in the love of God. God keeps believers in His love (see Rom 8:35–39), and enables them to keep themselves in His love.

22–23 who are doubting . . . others. Perhaps those who have come under the influence of the apostates.

fire; and on some have mercy with fear, [b]hating even the garment polluted by the flesh.

24 [a]Now to Him who is able to keep you from stumbling, and to [b]make you stand in the presence of His glory blameless with [c]great joy,

25 to the [a]only [b]God our Savior, through Jesus Christ our Lord, [c]be glory, majesty, dominion and authority, [d]before all time and now and [1]forever. Amen.

23 [b]Zech 3:3f; Rev 3:4
24 [a]Rom 16:25 [b]2 Cor 4:14 [c]1 Pet 4:13

25 [1]Lit to all the ages [a]John 5:44; 1 Tim 1:17 [b]Luke 1:47 [c]Rom 11:36 [d]Heb 13:8

23 snatching them out of the fire. Rescuing them from the verge of destruction. mercy with fear. Even in showing mercy one may be trapped by the allurement of sin. garment polluted by the flesh. The wicked are pictured as so corrupt that even their garments are polluted by their sinful nature.

24–25 After all the attention necessarily given in this letter to the ungodly and their works of darkness, Jude concludes his letter by focusing attention on God, who is fully able to keep those who put their trust in Him.

Revelation

INTRODUCTION

Author

Four times the author identifies himself as John (1:1,4,9; 22:8). From as early as Justin Martyr in the second century A.D. it has been held that this John was the apostle, the son of Zebedee (see Matt 10:2). The book itself reveals that the author was a Jew, well versed in Scripture, a church leader who was well known to the seven churches of Asia Minor, and a deeply religious person fully convinced that the Christian faith would soon triumph over the demonic forces at work in the world.

In the third century, however, an African bishop named Dionysius compared the language, style and thought of the Apocalypse (Revelation) with that of the other writings of John and decided that the book could not have been written by the apostle John. He suggested that the author was a certain John the Presbyter, whose name appears elsewhere in ancient writings. Although many today follow Dionysius in his view of authorship, the external evidence seems overwhelmingly supportive of the traditional view.

Date

Revelation was written when Christians were entering a time of persecution. The two periods most often mentioned are the latter part of Nero's reign (A.D. 54–68) and the latter part of Domitian's reign (81–96). Most scholars date the book c. 95. (A few suggest a date during the reign of Vespasian: 69–79.)

Occasion

Since Roman authorities at this time were beginning to enforce the cult of emperor worship, Christians—who held that Christ, not Caesar, was Lord—were facing increasing hostility. The believers at Smyrna are warned against coming opposition (2:10), and the church at Philadelphia is told of an hour of trial coming on the world (3:10). Antipas has already given his life (2:13) along with others (6:9). John has been exiled to the island of Patmos (probably the site of a Roman penal colony) for his activities as a Christian missionary (1:9). Some within the church are advocating a policy of compromise (2:14–15,20), which has to be corrected before its subtle influence can undermine the determination of believers to stand fast in the perilous days that lie ahead.

Purpose

John writes to encourage the faithful to resist staunchly the demands of emperor worship. He informs his readers that the final showdown between God and Satan is imminent. Satan will increase his persecution of believers, but they must stand fast, even to death. They are sealed against any spiritual harm and will soon be vindicated when Christ returns, when the wicked are forever destroyed, and when God's people enter an eternity of glory and blessedness.

Literary Form

For an adequate understanding of Revelation, the reader must recognize that it is a distinct kind of literature. Revelation is apocalyptic, a kind of writing that is highly symbolic. Although its visions often seem bizarre to the Western reader, fortunately the book provides a number of clues for its own interpretation (e.g., stars are angels, lampstands are churches, 1:20; "the great harlot," 17:1, is "Babylon" [Rome?], 17:5,18; and the heavenly Jerusalem is the wife of the Lamb, 21:9–10).

Distinctive Feature

A distinctive feature is the frequent use of the number seven (52 times). There are seven beatitudes (see note on 1:3), seven churches (1:4,11), seven spirits (1:4), seven golden lampstands (1:12), seven stars (1:16), seven seals (5:1), seven horns and seven eyes (5:6), seven trumpets (8:2), seven thunders (10:3), seven signs (12:1,3; 13:13–14; 15:1; 16:14; 19:20), seven crowns (12:3), seven plagues (15:6), seven golden bowls (15:7), seven hills (17:9) and seven kings (17:10), as well as other sevens. Symbolically, the number seven stands for completeness.

Interpretation

Interpreters of Revelation normally fall into four groups:

1. Preterists understand the book exclusively in terms of its first-century setting, claiming that most of its events have already taken place.
2. Historicists take it as describing the long chain of events from Patmos to the end of history.
3. Futurists place the book primarily in the end times.
4. Idealists view it as symbolic pictures of such timeless truths as the victory of good over evil.

Fortunately, the fundamental truths of Revelation do not depend on adopting a particular point of view. They are available to anyone who will read the book for its overall message and resist the temptation to become overly enamored with the details.

The Revelation of Jesus Christ

1 The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which [a]God gave Him to [b]show to His bond-servants, [c]the things which must soon take place; and He sent and [1]communicated it [d]by His angel to His bond-servant [e]John,

2 who testified to [a]the word of God and to [b]the testimony of Jesus Christ, even to all that he saw.

3 [a]Blessed is he who reads and those who hear the words of the prophecy, and [1]heed the things which are written in it; [b]for the time is near.

Message to the Seven Churches

4 [a]John to [b]the seven churches that are in [c]Asia: [d]Grace to you and peace, from [e]Him who is and who was and who [1]is to come, and from [f]the seven Spirits who are before His throne,

5 and from Jesus Christ, [a]the faithful witness, the [b]firstborn of the dead, and the [c]ruler of the kings of the earth. To Him who [d]loves us and released us from our sins [1]by His blood—

6 and He has made us to be a [a]kingdom, [a]priests to [1][b]His God and Father—[c]to Him be the glory and the dominion forever and ever. Amen.

7 [a]BEHOLD, HE IS COMING WITH THE CLOUDS, and [b]every eye will see Him, even those who pierced Him; and all the tribes of the earth will [c]mourn over Him. So it is to be. Amen.

8 "I am [a]the Alpha and the Omega," says the [b]Lord God, "[c]who is and who was and who [1]is to come, the Almighty."

The Patmos Vision

9 [a]I, John, your [b]brother and [c]fellow partaker in the tribulation and [d]kingdom and [1][e]perseverance which are in Jesus, was on the island called Patmos [f]because of the word of God and the testimony of Jesus.

10 I was [1][a]in the Spirit on [b]the Lord's day, and I heard behind me a loud voice [c]like the sound of a trumpet,

11 saying, "[a]Write in a [1]book what you see, and send it to the [b]seven churches: to [c]Ephesus and to [d]Smyrna and to [e]Pergamum and to [f]Thyatira and to [g]Sardis and to [h]Philadelphia and to [i]Laodicea."

12 Then I turned to see the voice that was speaking with me. And having turned I saw [a]seven golden lampstands;

13 and [a]in the middle of the lampstands I saw one [b]like [1]a son of man, [c]clothed in a robe reaching to the feet, and [d]girded across His chest with a golden sash.

14 His head and His [a]hair were white like white wool, like snow; and [b]His eyes were like a flame of fire.

1:1 Revelation. Apocalypse ("unveiling" or "disclosure"). of Jesus Christ. Can mean (1) by or from Jesus Christ, (2) about Jesus Christ or (3) both. bond-servants. All believers. soon take place. See v. 3; 22:6–7,10,20. His angel. A mediating angel. The word "angel" (including its plural form) occurs over 70 times in Revelation. John. See Introduction: Author.

1:3 Blessed. The first of seven beatitudes in the book (see 14:13; 16:15; 19:9; 20:6; 22:7,14). "Blessed" means much more than "happy." It describes the favorable circumstance God has put a person in (see notes on Ps 1:1; Matt 5:3). prophecy. Includes not only foretelling the future but also proclaiming any word from God—whether command, instruction, history or prediction. time is near. See note on James 5:9.

1:4 seven churches. Located about 50 miles apart, forming a circle in Asia moving clockwise north from Ephesus and coming around full circle from Laodicea (east of Ephesus). They were perhaps postal centers serving seven geographic regions. Apparently the entire book of Revelation (including the seven letters) was sent to each church (see v. 11). Asia. A Roman province lying in modern western Turkey. Grace . . . and peace. See notes on Jon 4:2; John 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2. "Grace" is used only twice in Revelation (here and in 22:21) but over 100 times by Paul. who is . . . was . . . is to come. A paraphrase of the divine name from Ex 3:14–15. Cf. Heb 13:8. seven Spirits. The sevenfold Spirit (see Zech 4:2 and note; cf. Zech 4:10).

1:6 a kingdom, priests. This OT designation of Israel (see notes on Ex 19:6; Zech 3) is applied in the NT to the church (1 Pet 2:5,9).

1:7 pierced. See Ps 22:16; Is 53:5; Zech 12:10; John 19:34,37. So it is to be. Amen. A double affirmation.

1:8 the Alpha and the Omega. The first and last letters of the Greek alphabet. God is the beginning and the end (see 21:6). He sovereignly rules over all human history. In 22:13 Jesus applies the same title to Himself. Almighty. Nine of the ten occurrences of this term in the NT are in Revelation (here; 4:8; 11:17; 15:3; 16:7,14; 19:6,15; 21:22). The tenth occurrence is in 2 Cor 6:18.

1:9 tribulation . . . kingdom . . . perseverance. Three pivotal themes in Revelation: (1) "tribulation" (2:9–10,22; 7:14), (2) "kingdom" (11:15; 12:10; 16:10; 17:12,17–18), (3) "perseverance" (2:2–3,19; 3:10; 13:10; 14:12). Patmos. A small (four by eight miles), rocky island in the Aegean Sea some 50 miles southwest of Ephesus, off the coast of modern Turkey. It probably served as a Roman penal settlement. Eusebius, the "father of church history" (A.D. 265–340), reports that John was released from Patmos under the emperor Nerva (96–98).

1:10 in the Spirit. In a state of spiritual exaltation—not a dream, but a vision like Peter's in Acts 10:10. the Lord's day. A technical term for the first day of the week—so named because Jesus rose from the dead on that day. It was also the day on which the Christians met (see Acts 20:7) and took up collections (see 1 Cor 16:2).

1:11 book. Pieces of papyrus or parchment sewn together and rolled on a spindle (see note on Ex 17:14). The book form was not invented until about the second century A.D. seven churches. See note on v. 4.

1:12 seven. See Introduction: Distinctive Feature. golden lampstands. The seven churches (see v. 20).

1:13 son of man. See notes on Dan 7:13; Mark 8:31. robe . . . to the feet. The high priest wore a full-length robe (Ex 28:4; 29:5). Reference to Christ as high priest is supported by the reference to the golden sash around His chest.

1:14 white like white wool. Cf. Dan 7:9; Is 1:18. The hoary head

15 His [a]feet were like burnished bronze, suggests wisdom and dignity (Lev 19:32; Prov 16:31). eyes . . . like a flame of fire. Penetrating insight (see 4:6).

1:16 sharp two-edged sword. Like a long Thracian sword (also in 2:12,16; 6:8; 19:15,21). The sword in 6:4; 13:10,14 was a small sword or dagger. The sword symbolizes divine judgment (see Is 49:2; Heb 4:12).

1:17 fell at His feet. A sign of great respect and awe (4:10; 5:8; 7:11; 19:10; 22:8). I am. See note on John 6:35. the first and the last. Essentially the same as "the Alpha and the Omega" (v. 8; cf. Is 44:6; 48:12).

1:18 living One. Based on OT references to the "living God" (e.g., Josh 3:10; Ps 42:2; 84:2). In contrast to the dead gods of paganism, Christ possesses life in His essential nature. keys of death and of Hades. Absolute control over their domain (see Matt 16:18 and note).

1:19 Many take the threefold division of this verse as a clue to the entire structure of the book. "The things which you have seen" would be the inaugural vision of ch. 1; "the things which are" would be the letters to the seven churches (chs. 2–3); "the things which will take place after these things" would be everything from ch. 4 on. An alternative interpretation sees the initial clause as the essential unit (it parallels v. 11), followed by two explanatory clauses. The sense would be: "Write, therefore, what you are about to see, i.e., both what is now and what will take place later." Some who hold the latter view make no attempt to outline the book on this basis, maintaining that there is a mixture of "now" and "later" throughout.

1:20 The first of several places where the symbols are interpreted (see also 17:15,18). angels. Either (1) heavenly messengers, (2) earthly messengers/ministers or (3) personifications of the prevailing spirit of each church.

2:1–3:22 Some take the seven letters as a preview of church history in its downward course toward Laodicean lukewarmness. Others interpret them as characteristic of various kinds of Christian congregations that have existed from John's day until the present time. In either case, they were historical churches in Asia Minor (see map No. 11 at the end of the Study Bible). The general pattern in the letters is commendation, complaint and correction.

2:1 angel. See note on 1:20. Ephesus. See Introduction to Ephesians: The City of Ephesus. holds the seven stars. See 1:16,20. seven golden lampstands. See 1:12,20.

2:2 put to the test. The necessity of testing for correct doctrine and dependable advice was widely recognized in the early church (see 1 Cor 14:29; 1 Thess 5:21; 1John 4:1).

2:4 first love. The love they had at first for one another and/or for Christ.

2:5 remove your lampstand. Immediate judgment.

2:6 Nicolaitans. A heretical sect within the church that had worked out a compromise with the pagan society. They apparently taught that spiritual liberty gave them sufficient leeway to practice idolatry and immorality. Tradition identifies them with Nicolas, the proselyte of Antioch who was one of the first seven deacons in the Jerusalem church (Acts 6:5), though the evidence is merely circumstantial. A similar group at Pergamum held the teaching of Balaam (vv. 14–15), and some at Thyatira were followers of the woman Jezebel (v. 20). From their heretical tendencies it would appear that all three groups were Nicolaitans.

2:7 overcomes. The challenge to overcome occurs in each letter (here; vv. 11,17,26; 3:5,12,21). Paradise. Originally a Persian word for a pleasure garden (see note on Luke 23:43). In Revelation it symbolizes the eschatological state in which God and man are restored to the perfect fellowship that existed before sin entered the world.

2:8 Smyrna. A proud and beautiful Asian city (modern Izmir) closely aligned with Rome and eager to meet its demands for emperor worship. This plus a large and actively hostile Jewish population made it extremely difficult to live there as a Christian. Polycarp, the most famous of the early martyrs, was bishop of Smyrna. The first and the last. See note on 1:17.

2:9 who say they are Jews. See Rom 2:28–29. Satan. Hebrew for "accuser" (see Zech 3:1; cf. Job 1:6–12; 2:1–7).

2:10 devil. Greek diabolos, meaning "accuser." tribulation. See the warnings by Jesus (John 15:20) and Paul (2 Tim 3:12). crown of life. The crown that is eternal life. "Crown" does not refer to a royal crown (12:3; 13:1; 19:12) but to the garland or wreath awarded to the winner in athletic contests (3:11; 4:4,10; 6:2; 9:7; 12:1; 14:14).

2:11 He who overcomes. See note on v. 7. second death. The lake of fire (20:14; see 20:6; 21:8).

2:12 Pergamum. Modern Bergama; the ancient capital of Asia, built on a cone-shaped hill rising 1,000 feet above the surrounding valley. Its name in Greek means "citadel" and is the origin of our word "parchment" (lit. "from Pergamum" because of a legend that parchment was first manufactured there). two-edged sword. See note on 1:16.

2:13 where Satan's throne is. Satan "ruled" from Pergamum in that it was the official center of emperor worship in Asia. Antipas. First martyr of Asia. According to tradition he was slowly roasted to death in a bronze kettle during the reign of Domitian. faithful one. The Lord's title in 1:5.

2:14 teaching of Balaam. Balaam advised the Midianite women how to lead the Israelites astray (Num 25:1–2; 31:16; cf. Jude 11). He is a fitting prototype of corrupt teachers who deceive believers into compromise with worldliness. things sacrificed to idols . . . immorality. See Acts 15:20,29.

2:15 Nicolaitans. See note on v. 6.

2:16 sword of My mouth. The long sword (see note on 1:16).
2:17 hidden manna. The heavenly food available to the believer who overcomes (cf. Ps 78:24), in contrast to the unclean food of the Balaamites. white stone. Certain kinds of stones were used as tokens for various purposes. In the context of a Messianic banquet the white stone was probably for the purpose of admission. new name. The name of the victor (see Is 62:2; 65:15).
2:18 Thyatira. Modern Akhisar. Founded by Seleucus I (311–280 B.C.) as a military outpost, it was noted for its many trade guilds. Lydia, "a seller of purple fabrics," was from Thyatira (see note on Acts 16:14). eyes like a flame of fire. See note on 1:14; cf. Dan 10:6. burnished bronze. A refined alloy of copper or bronze with metallic zinc.
2:20 Jezebel. See 1 Kin 16:31; 2 Kin 9:22,30–37. The name is used here as an epithet for a prominent woman in the congregation who undermined loyalty to God by promoting tolerance toward pagan practices. acts of immorality . . . things sacrificed to idols. See v. 14.
2:22 bed of sickness. Disease was often considered as appropriate punishment for sins (cf. 1 Cor 11:29–30).
2:23 her children. Jezebel is the spiritual mother of all who pursue antinomian (libertine) doctrines. He who searches the minds and hearts. Cf. Ps 7:9; Prov 24:12; Jer 11:20; 17:10. "Mind" (lit. "kidney") probably refers here to the will and the affections; "heart" may designate the center of rational life. according to your deeds. Judgment based on works is taught by Jesus (Matt 16:27) and Paul (Rom 2:6) as well as John (Rev 18:6; 20:12–13; 22:12).
2:24 deep things of Satan. Later Gnosticism (see Introduction to 1 John: Gnosticism) taught that in order to defeat Satan one had to enter his stronghold, i.e., experience evil deeply.
2:27 RULE. Lit. "shepherd" (a common metaphor for "rule"). ROD OF IRON. Symbolic of the strength of his rule (see 12:5; 19:15).
3:1 Sardis. Modern Sart. Capital of the ancient kingdom of Lydia, it was a city of great wealth and fame. The acropolis was a natural citadel on the northern spur of Mount Tmolus. It rose 1,500 feet above the lower valley.
3:3 come like a thief. Not a reference to the second coming of Christ, because here His coming depends on the church's refusal to repent. Elsewhere in the NT the clause refers to the second advent (16:15; Matt 24:42–44; 1 Thess 5:2; 2 Pet 3:10).
3:4 in white. Description of the redeemed (3:18; 6:11; 7:9,13; cf. 4:4; 19:14).
3:5 book of life. A divine ledger is first mentioned in Ex 32:32–33 (see note on Ps 69:28; cf. Dan 12:1). It was a register of all citizens in the kingdom community. To have one's name erased from this book would indicate loss of citizenship (see 13:8; 17:8; 20:12,15; 21:27; Phil 4:3).

3:7 Philadelphia. Modern Alashehir; a city of commercial importance conveniently located as the gateway to the high central plateau of the province of Asia in Asia Minor. The name means "brotherly love" and commemorates the loyalty and devotion of Attalus II (220–130 B.C.) to his brother Eumenes II. holy . . . true. See 6:10. For God as the Holy One see Is 40:25; Hab 3:2–3; Mark 1:24. key of David. Christ is the Davidic Messiah with authority to control entrance to the kingdom (see Is 22:22; Matt 16:19).

3:8 open door. Either the door of opportunity or the door to the kingdom. The context favors the latter.

3:9 synagogue of Satan. A bold metaphor directed against unbelieving and hostile Jews. Cf. Jesus' scathing rebuke in John 8:44; see also 2 Cor 11:14–15. The Jewish synagogue was a gathering place for worship, study and communal activities. say that they are Jews. See Rom 2:28–29. bow down at your feet. An appropriate act of worship in the Near East (see Is 45:14; 60:14; cf. Acts 10:25; Phil 2:10; see also note on Rev 1:17).

3:10 keep you from. The Greek for this phrase can mean either "keep you from undergoing" or "keep you through." hour of testing. The period of testing that precedes the consummation of the kingdom (see 13:5–10; Matt 24:4–28; cf. Dan 12:1; Mark 13:19; 2 Thess 2:1–12).

3:11 I am coming quickly. Cf. 1:1; 22:7,12,20 (see note on James 5:9).

3:12 He who overcomes. See note on 2:7. temple. See note on 7:15. name of My God. See 14:1; 22:4. new Jerusalem. See 21:2,10. write on him . . . My new name. Names revealed character. Christ's new name symbolizes all that He is by virtue of His redemptive work for mankind. This awaits the second advent.

3:14 Laodicea. Near modern Denizli. The wealthiest city in Phrygia during Roman times, it was widely known for its banking establishments, medical school and textile industry. Its major weakness was lack of an adequate water supply. Each of these characteristics is reflected in the letter. The Amen. Is 65:16 speaks of "the God of the Amen," i.e., "the God of truth." As a personal designation it describes one who is perfectly trustworthy or faithful. faithful and true Witness. See 1:5; 19:11. Beginning. The Greek word can mean first in point of time ("beginning") or first in rank ("ruler").

3:16 lukewarm, and neither hot nor cold. "Hot" may refer to the hot, medicinal waters of nearby Hierapolis. The church in Laodicea supplied neither healing for the spiritually sick nor refreshment for the spiritually weary. spit. Lit. "vomit."

3:18 Refers to three items in which Laodicea took great pride: financial wealth, an extensive textile industry and a famous eye salve.

3:19 whom I love, I . . . discipline. See Job 5:17; Ps 94:12; Prov 3:11–12; 1 Cor 11:32; Heb 12:5–11.

3:20 I stand at the door and knock. Usually taken as a picture of Christ's knocking on the door of the individual unbeliever's heart. In context, however, the self-deluded members of the congregation are being addressed.

3:21 overcomes. See note on 2:7. sit down with Me on My throne. See 20:4,6; Matt 19:28; 2 Tim 2:12.

overcame and sat down with My Father on His throne.

22 '[a]He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.' "

Scene in Heaven

4 After [a]these things I looked, and behold, [b]a door standing open in heaven, and the first voice which I had heard, [c]like the sound of a trumpet speaking with me, said, "[d]Come up here, and I will [e]show you what must take place after these things."

2 Immediately I was [1a]in the Spirit; and behold, [b]a throne was standing in heaven, and [c]One sitting on the throne.

3 And He who was sitting was like a [a]jasper stone and a [b]sardius in appearance; and there was a [1c]rainbow around the throne, like an [d]emerald in appearance.

4 [a]Around the throne were [b]twenty-four thrones; and upon the thrones I saw [c]twenty-four elders [d]sitting, clothed in [e]white garments, and [f]golden crowns on their heads.

The Throne and Worship of the Creator

5 Out from the throne come [a]flashes of lightning and sounds and peals of thunder. And there were [b]seven lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are [c]the seven Spirits of God;

6 and before the throne there was something like a [a]sea of glass, like crystal; and in the [1]center and [b]around the throne, [c]four living creatures [d]full of eyes in front and behind.

7 [a]The first creature was like a lion, and the second creature like a calf, and the third creature had a face like that of a man, and the fourth creature was like a flying eagle.

8 And the [a]four living creatures, each one of them having [b]six wings, are [c]full of eyes around and within; and [d]day and night [1]they do not cease to say,

"[e]HOLY, HOLY, HOLY is THE [f]LORD GOD, THE ALMIGHTY, [g]WHO WAS AND WHO IS AND WHO [2]IS TO COME."

9 And when the living creatures give glory and honor and thanks to Him who [a]sits on the throne, to [b]Him who lives forever and ever,

10 the [a]twenty-four elders will [b]fall down before Him who [c]sits on the throne, and will worship [d]Him who lives forever and ever, and will cast their [e]crowns before the throne, saying,

11 "[a]Worthy are You, our Lord and our God, to receive glory and honor and power; for You [b]created all things, and because of Your will they [1]existed, and were created."

The Book with Seven Seals

5 I saw [1]in the right hand of Him who [a]sat on the throne a [2b]book written inside and on the back, [c]sealed up with seven seals.

4:1–5:14 These two chapters constitute an introduction to chs. 6–20. In the throne room of heaven, the Lamb assumes the responsibility of initiating the great final conflict with the forces of evil, the end of which will see the Lamb triumphant and the devil consigned to the lake of fire.

4:1 Come up here. Similarly, Moses was called up on Mount Sinai to receive divine direction (Ex 19:20,24). Cf. also the heavenly ascent of the two witnesses (11:12). Some interpreters find the rapture of the church in this verse. what must take place after these things. See 1:1,19; Dan 2:28–29,45.

4:2 in the Spirit. In a state of heightened spiritual awareness (see note on 1:10; see also 17:3; 21:10). throne . . . in heaven. The depiction of God ruling from His throne in heaven is a regular feature of the OT (e.g., Ps 47:8).

4:3 jasper . . . sardius . . . emerald. Since God dwells in "unapproachable light" and is one "whom no man has seen or can see" (1 Tim 6:16), He is described in terms of the reflected brilliance of precious stones—an emerald rainbow around the throne (cf. Ezek 1:26–28).

4:4 twenty-four elders. Representative of either the whole company of believers in heaven or an exalted angelic order worshiping and serving God there (see vv. 9–11; 5:5–14; 7:11–17; 11:16–18; 14:3; 19:4). The number 24 is often understood to reflect the 12 Israelite tribes of the OT and the 12 apostles of the NT.

4:5 flashes of lightning . . . thunder . . . burning. Symbolic of the awesome majesty and power of God (cf. the manifestation of God at Sinai, Ex 19:16–19; cf. also the conventional OT depiction of God's coming in mighty power to deliver His people, Ps 18:12–15; 77:18). In Revelation, thunder and lightning always mark an important event connected with the heavenly temple (8:5; 11:19; 16:18). seven Spirits. See note on 1:4;"seven" symbolizes fullness, completeness or perfection.

4:6 sea of glass. See 15:2. The source of the imagery may be Ezek 1:22 (cf. Ex 24:10), but it is also possible that it is the basin in the heavenly temple (cf. 11:19; 14:15,17; 15:5–6,8; 16:1,17), whose counterpart in the earthly temple was referred to as the Sea (1 Kin 7:23–25; 2 Kin 16:17; 2 Chr 4:2,4,10,15; Jer 27:19). Other features of the temple in heaven are: the lamps (v. 5), the altar (6:9), the altar of incense (8:3) and the ark of the covenant (11:19). four living creatures. An exalted order of angelic beings whose task is to guard the heavenly throne and lead in worship and adoration of God. full of eyes. Nothing escapes their attention.

4:7 Ezekiel in a vision also saw four living creatures, each of which had four faces—human in front, lion on the right, ox on the left, and eagle behind (Ezek 1:6,10). In John's vision the creatures were in the form of a lion, an ox, and a flying eagle, and one had a face like that of a man.

4:8 Holy, holy, holy. See note on Is 6:3. WAS . . . IS . . . IS TO COME. An expansion of the divine name in Ex 3:14–15 (see note on Rev 1:4). God's power and holiness extend from eternity past to eternity yet to come (cf. Is 41:4).

4:10 cast their crowns. Acknowledgment that God alone is worthy of ultimate praise and worship.

4:11 You created all things. See Gen 1.

5:1 book. See note on 1:11; cf. the little scroll of 10:2,8–10. written inside and on the back. Like the stone tablets of the OT covenant law (Ex 32:15; see Ezek 2:9–10). The fibers of a papyrus scroll run horizontally on the inside, which makes writing

2 And I saw a [a]strong angel proclaiming with a loud voice, "Who is worthy to open the [1]book and to break its seals?"

3 And no one [a]in heaven or on the earth or under the earth was able to open the [1]book or to look into it.

4 Then I began to weep greatly because no one was found worthy to open the [1]book or to look into it;

5 and one of the elders *said to me, "Stop weeping; behold, the [a]Lion that is [b]from the tribe of Judah, the [c]Root of David, has overcome so as to open the [1]book and its seven seals."

6 And I saw [1]between the throne (with the four living creatures) and [a]the elders a [b]Lamb standing, as if [c]slain, having seven [d]horns and [e]seven eyes, which are [f]the seven Spirits of God, sent out into all the earth.

11 Then I looked, and I heard the voice of many angels [a]around the throne and the [b]living creatures and the [c]elders; and the number of them was [d]myriads of myriads, and thousands of thousands,

12 saying with a loud voice,

"[a]Worthy is the [b]Lamb that was [b]slain to receive power and riches and wisdom and might and honor and glory and blessing."

"To Him who [b]sits on the throne, and to the [c]Lamb, [d]be blessing and honor and glory and dominion forever and ever."

14 And the [a]four living creatures kept saying, "[b]Amen." And the [c]elders [d]fell down and worshiped.

2 I looked, and behold, a [a]white horse, and he who sat on it had a bow; and [b]a crown was given to him, and he went out [c]conquering and to conquer.

easier than on the reverse side (where the fibers are vertical). sealed up with seven seals. Indicating absolute inviolability (cf. Is 29:11; Dan 12:4).

5:2 strong angel. See 18:21.

5:3 heaven . . . earth . . . under the earth. A conventional phrase used to express the universality of the proclamation—no creature was worthy. It is not intended to teach a threefold division of the universe (cf. Ex 20:4; Phil 2:10).

5:5 Lion that is from the tribe of Judah. A Messianic title taken from Gen 49:8–10, where Judah is named a "lion's whelp" and promised the right to rule "Until Shiloh comes" (see also Ezek 21:27). Root of David. See Is 11:1,10, which looks forward to the ideal king in the line of David. The title is interpreted Messianically in Rom 15:12.

5:6 Lamb. Pictured as the sacrifice for sin ("slain"; cf. Is 53:7; John 1:29) and as the mighty conqueror (17:14). Revelation uses a special word for "lamb" (29 times in Revelation and only once elsewhere in the NT—John 21:15). The idea of the lamb as a victorious military leader seems to come from the apocalyptic tradition (1 Enoch 90:9; Testament of Joseph 19:8). as if slain. Bearing the marks of its slaughter—He has come to power through His death. seven horns. The horn is an ancient Jewish symbol for power or strength (cf. Deut 33:17). The fourth beast of Dan 7:7,20 had ten horns (cf. Dan 8:3,5). Seven horns would symbolize full strength. seven Spirits. See note on 4:5.

5:8 harp. An ancient stringed instrument (not the large modern harp) used especially to accompany songs (Ps 33:2). bowls full of incense. The bowl was a flat, shallow cup. Incense was a normal feature of Hebrew ritual (see Deut 33:10; cf. Ps 141:2; Rev 8:3–4). prayers of the saints. In later Jewish thought, angels often present the prayers of saints to God (Tobit 12:15; 3 Baruch 11).

5:9 new song. Cf. 14:3; Ps 33:3; 96:1; 144:9; Is 42:10. In the OT a new song celebrated a new act of divine deliverance or blessing. That is also its sense here; notice the theme of the song. purchased . . . with Your blood men. The sacrificial death of Christ is central to NT teaching (see Mark 10:45; 1 Cor 6:20).

5:10 kingdom and priests. See note on 1:6. reign upon the earth. See 2:26–27; 20:4,6; 22:5.

5:11 thousands of thousands. A rhetorical phrase for an indefinitely large number (see Dan 7:10; cf. Heb 12:22).

5:12 power . . . blessing. See David's farewell prayer in 1 Chr 29:10–19. The attributes increase from three in 4:11 to four in 5:13 to seven in 5:12; 7:12.

5:13 heaven . . . earth . . . under the earth. See note on v. 3.

6:1 seven seals. The first of three sevenfold numbered series of judgments (cf. the seven trumpets in chs. 8–9 and the seven bowls in ch. 16).

6:2 white horse. The imagery of the four horsemen comes from Zech 1:8–17; 6:1–8 (see note on Zech 6:2–3). The colors in Revelation correspond to the character of the rider; white symbolizes conquest. Major interpretations of the rider on the white horse are: (1) Christ (cf. 19:11), (2) the antichrist and (3) the spirit of conquest. The latter establishes a more natural sequence with the other three riders (which symbolize bloodshed, famine and death). bow. A battle weapon. crown. See note on 2:10.

The Second Seal—War

3 When He broke the second seal, I heard the [a]second living creature saying, "Come[1]."

4 And another, [a]a red horse, went out; and to him who sat on it, it was granted to [b]take peace from the earth, and that men would slay one another; and a great sword was given to him.

The Third Seal—Famine

5 When He broke the third seal, I heard the [a]third living creature saying, "Come[1]." I looked, and behold, a [b]black horse; and he who sat on it had a [c]pair of scales in his hand.

6 And I heard something like a voice in the center of the [a]four living creatures saying, "A [1]quart of wheat for a [2]denarius, and three [1]quarts of barley for a [2]denarius; and [b]do not damage the oil and the wine."

The Fourth Seal—Death

7 When the Lamb broke the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the [a]fourth living creature saying, "Come[1]."

8 I looked, and behold, an [1][a]ashen horse; and he who sat on it had the name [b]Death; and [b]Hades was following with him. Authority was given to them over a fourth of the earth, [c]to kill with sword and with famine and with [2]pestilence and by the wild beasts of the earth.

The Fifth Seal—Martyrs

9 When the Lamb broke the fifth seal, I saw [a]underneath the [b]altar the [c]souls of those who had been slain [d]because of the word of God, and because of the [e]testimony which they had maintained;

10 and they cried out with a loud voice, saying, "[a]How long, O [1][b]Lord, [c]holy and true, [2]will You refrain from [d]judging and avenging our blood on [e]those who dwell on the earth?"

11 And [a]there was given to each of them a white robe; and they were told that they should [b]rest for a little while longer, [c]until the number of their fellow servants and their brethren who were to be killed even as they had been, would be [d]completed also.

The Sixth Seal—Terror

12 I looked when He broke the sixth seal, and there was a great [a]earthquake; and the [b]sun became black as [c]sackcloth made of hair, and the whole moon became like blood;

13 and [a]the stars of the sky fell to the earth, [b]as a fig tree casts its unripe figs when shaken by a great wind.

14 [a]The sky was split apart like a scroll when it is rolled up, and [b]every mountain and island were moved out of their places.

15 Then [a]the kings of the earth and the great men and the [1]commanders and the rich and the strong and every slave and free man hid themselves in the caves and among the rocks of the mountains;

16 and they *[a]said to the mountains and to the rocks, "Fall on us and hide us from the [1]presence of Him [b]who sits on the throne, and from the [c]wrath of the Lamb;

17 for [a]the great day of their wrath has come, and [b]who is able to stand?"

6:4 another, a red horse. Symbolizing bloodshed and war (cf. Zech 1:8; 6:2). men would slay one another. If the white horse is conquest from without, the red horse may be internal revolution. sword. See note on 1:16.

6:5 black horse. Symbolizing famine (cf. Zech 6:2,6). The sequence is thus conquest, bloodshed, famine. pair of scales. A balance beam with scales hung from either end. Weights were originally stones.

6:6 wheat . . . barley. One quart of wheat would be enough for only one person. Three quarts of the less nutritious barley would be barely enough for a small family. Famine had inflated prices to at least ten times their normal level. oil and the wine. Sets limits on the destruction by the rider of the black horse. The roots of the olive and vine go deeper and would not be immediately affected by a limited drought.

6:8 ashen horse. Describes the ashen appearance of the dead; it symbolizes death. Hades. Equivalent to Hebrew Sheol (see 1:18; 20:13–14; see also note on Matt 16:18).

6:9 underneath the altar. In OT ritual the blood of the slaughtered animal was poured out at the base of the altar (Ex 29:12; Lev 4:7).

6:10 those who dwell on the earth. A regular designation in Revelation for mankind in its hostility to God (see 3:10; 8:13; 11:10; 13:8,12; 17:2,8).

6:11 white robe. Symbol of blessedness and purity (see 3:5,18; 4:4; 7:9,13; 19:14). until the number . . . would be completed. Jewish thought held that God rules the world according to a predetermined time schedule (see 2 Esdras 4:35–37) and that the end awaits the death of a certain number of the righteous (1 Enoch 47:4).

6:12 earthquake. A regular feature of divine visitation (see Ex 19:18; Is 2:19; Hag 2:6). moon became like blood. See Joel 2:31, quoted by Peter in his Pentecost sermon (Acts 2:20).

6:13 stars . . . fell. One of the signs immediately preceding the coming of the Son of Man (Mark 13:25–26). unripe figs. Green figs appearing in the winter and easily blown from the tree, which at that season has no leaves.

6:14 sky was split apart like a scroll. See Is 34:4. every mountain and island were moved. Perhaps suggested by Jer 4:24 or Nah 1:5; see 16:20; 20:11.

6:15 commanders. A general was a Roman officer who commanded a cohort, i.e., about 1,000 men. hid . . . in the caves. See Jer 4:29.

6:16 wrath of the Lamb. God's wrath is a theme that permeates NT theology. It is both present (see Rom 1:18 and note) and future (see 19:15). It is prophesied in the OT (Zeph 1:14–18; Nah 1:6; Mal 3:2). Lamb. See note on 5:6.

An Interlude

7 After this I saw [a]four angels standing at the [b]four corners of the earth, holding back [c]the four winds of the earth, [d]so that no wind would blow on the earth or on the sea or on any tree.

2 And I saw another angel ascending [a]from the rising of the sun, having the [b]seal of [c]the living God; and he cried out with a loud voice to the [d]four angels to whom it was granted to harm the earth and the sea,

3 saying, "[a]Do not harm the earth or the sea or the trees until we have [b]sealed the bond-servants of our God on their [c]foreheads."

A Remnant of Israel—144,000

4 And I heard the [a]number of those who were sealed, [b]one hundred and forty-four thousand sealed from every tribe of the sons of Israel:

5 from the tribe of Judah, twelve thousand were sealed, from the tribe of Reuben twelve thousand, from the tribe of Gad twelve thousand,

6 from the tribe of Asher twelve thousand, from the tribe of Naphtali twelve thousand, from the tribe of Manasseh twelve thousand,

7 from the tribe of Simeon twelve thousand, from the tribe of Levi twelve thousand, from the tribe of Issachar twelve thousand,

8 from the tribe of Zebulun twelve thousand, from the tribe of Joseph twelve thousand, from the tribe of Benjamin, twelve thousand were sealed.

A Multitude from the Tribulation

9 After these things I looked, and behold, a great multitude which no one could count, from [a]every nation and all tribes and peoples and tongues, standing [b]before the throne and [c]before the Lamb, clothed in [d]white robes, and [e]palm branches were in their hands;

10 and they cry out with a loud voice, saying,

"[a]Salvation to our God [b]who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb."

11 And all the angels were standing [a]around the throne and around [a]the elders and the [b]four living creatures; and they [c]fell on their faces before the throne and worshiped God,

12 saying,

"[a]Amen, [b]blessing and glory and wisdom and thanksgiving and honor and power and might, be to our God forever and ever. [a]Amen."

13 Then one of the elders [a]answered, saying to me, "These who are clothed in the [b]white robes, who are they, and where have they come from?"

14 I [1]said to him, "My lord, you know." And he said to me, "These are the ones who come out of the [a]great tribulation, and they have [b]washed their robes and made them [c]white in the [d]blood of the Lamb.

15 "For this reason, they are [a]before the throne of God; and they [b]serve Him day and night in His [1c]temple; and [d]He who sits on the throne will spread His [e]tabernacle over them.

16 "[a]They will hunger no longer, nor thirst anymore; nor will the sun [1]beat down on them, nor any heat;

17 for the Lamb in the center of the throne will be their [a]shepherd, and will guide them to springs of the [1b]water of life; and [c]God will wipe every tear from their eyes."

7:1–17 A parenthesis separating the final seal from the preceding six (the same feature is found in the trumpet sequence; see 10:1–11:13). It contains two visions: (1) the sealing of the 144,000 (vv. 1–8) and (2) the innumerable multitude (vv. 9–17).
7:1 four winds. Destructive agents of God (see Jer 49:36).
7:2 seal of the living God. Ancient documents were folded and tied, and a lump of clay was pressed over the knot. The sender would then stamp the hardening clay with his signet ring or roll it with a cylinder seal, which authenticated and protected the contents. The sealing in ch. 7 results in the name of the Lord being stamped on the forehead of His followers (see 9:4; 14:1; cf. 22:4). Its primary purpose is to protect the people of God in the coming judgments. For the background see Ezek 9:4, where the mark was the Hebrew letter Taw, made like an X or +.
7:4 one hundred and forty-four thousand. Some find here a reference to members of actual Jewish tribes, the faithful Jewish remnant of the "great tribulation" (v. 14). Others take the passage as symbolic of all the faithful believers who live during the period of tribulation.
7:5 Judah. Perhaps listed before Reuben, his older brother, because the Messiah belonged to the tribe of Judah (but see note on Gen 37:21).
7:6 Manasseh. One of the two Joseph tribes (Ephraim and Manasseh), yet mentioned separately, probably to make up 12 tribes since Dan is omitted. This omission is due perhaps to Dan's early connection with idolatry (Judg 18:30), or to a tradition that the antichrist was to come from that tribe.
7:9 great multitude. Identified in v. 14 as those who have come out of the great tribulation. every nation and all tribes and peoples and tongues. All four are mentioned together also in 5:9; 11:9; 13:7; 14:6. Cf. 10:11; 17:15, in which one of the four is changed. palm branches. Used for festive occasions (see Lev 23:40; John 12:13).
7:10 Salvation to our God. See Gen 49:18 ("deliverance"); Jon 2:9.
7:11 elders. See note on 4:4. four living creatures. See note on 4:6.
7:12 blessing . . . might. The sevenfold list of attributes expresses complete or perfect praise (see note on 5:12).
7:13 white robes. See note on 6:11.
7:14 the great tribulation. The period of final hostility prior to Christ's return. Some hold that the beginning of this hostility was already being experienced by the church of John's day.
7:15 temple. All 16 references to the temple in Revelation use the word that designates the inner shrine rather than the larger precincts. It is the place where God's presence dwells. spread His tabernacle. The imagery would evoke memories of the tabernacle in the wilderness (Lev 26:11–13).
7:17 shepherd. Ancient kings often referred to themselves as the shepherds of their people.

The Seventh Seal—the Trumpets

8 When the Lamb broke the [a]seventh seal, there was silence in heaven for about half an hour.

2 And I saw [a]the seven angels who stand before God, and seven [b]trumpets were given to them.

3 [a]Another angel came and stood at the [b]altar, holding a [c]golden censer; and much [d]incense was given to him, so that he might [1]add it to the [d]prayers of all the [2]saints on the [e]golden altar which was before the throne.

4 And [a]the smoke of the incense, [1]with the prayers of the [2]saints, went up before God out of the angel's hand.

5 Then the angel [1]took the censer and [a]filled it with the fire of the altar, and [b]threw it to the earth; and there followed [c]peals of thunder and sounds and flashes of lightning and an [d]earthquake.

6 [a]And the seven angels who had the seven trumpets prepared themselves to sound them.

7 The first sounded, and there came [a]hail and fire, mixed with blood, and they were thrown to the earth; and [b]a third of the earth was burned up, and [b]a third of the [c]trees were burned up, and all the green [c]grass was burned up.

8 The second angel sounded, and something like a great [a]mountain burning with fire was thrown into the sea; and [b]a third of the [c]sea became blood,

9 and [a]a third of the creatures which were in the sea [1]and had life, died; and a third of the [b]ships were destroyed.

10 The third angel sounded, and a great star [a]fell from heaven, burning like a torch, and it fell on a [b]third of the rivers and on the [c]springs of waters.

11 The name of the star is called Wormwood; and a [a]third of the waters became [b]wormwood, and many men died from the waters, because they were made bitter.

12 The fourth angel sounded, and a [a]third of the [b]sun and a third of the [b]moon and a [a]third of the [b]stars were struck, so that a [a]third of them would be darkened and the day would not shine for a [a]third of it, and the night in the same way.

13 Then I looked, and I heard [1]an eagle flying in [a]midheaven, saying with a loud voice, "[b]Woe, woe, woe to [c]those who dwell on the earth, because of the remaining blasts of the trumpet of the [d]three angels who are about to sound!"

The Fifth Trumpet—the Bottomless Pit

9 Then the [a]fifth angel sounded, and I saw a [b]star from heaven which had fallen to the earth; and the [c]key of the [1d]bottomless pit was given to him.

2 He opened the [1]bottomless pit, and [a]smoke went up out of the pit, like the smoke of a great furnace; and [b]the sun and the air were darkened by the smoke of the pit.

3 Then out of the smoke came [a]locusts

8:1 silence in heaven. A dramatic pause before the next series of plagues—the final act of the drama is left undisclosed here, reserved to be presented later.

8:2 seven trumpets. In OT times the trumpet served to announce important events and give signals in time of war. The seven trumpets of Rev 8–9; 11:15–19 announce a series of plagues more severe than the seals but not as completely devastating as the bowls (ch. 16).

8:3 censer. A firepan used to hold live charcoal for the burning of incense (cf. Ex 27:3; 1 Kin 7:50). to the prayers. Most translations consider the incense to be mingled "with" prayers. The Greek for this phrase also allows a translation that takes the incense "to be" the prayers ("incense . . . consisting of the prayers").

8:4 Although the angel is involved in presenting the prayers of the saints to God, he does not make them acceptable. The Jewish apocalyptic concept of angels as mediators finds no place in the NT.

8:5 thunder . . . earthquake. See note on 4:5.

8:7 hail and fire, mixed with blood. Cf. the imagery of the seventh plague on Egypt (Ex 9:13–25; cf. Ezek 38:22). a third of the earth was burned up. This fraction indicates that the punishment announced by the trumpets is not yet complete and final (the same fraction appears in each of the next three plagues: vv. 8–9, 10–11, 12). A smaller fraction (a fourth) of devastation accompanied the opening of the fourth seal (6:8).

8:8 sea became blood. Reminiscent of the first plague on Egypt (Ex 7:20–21). This is an eschatological judgment rather than natural pollution resulting from widespread volcanic upheavals.

8:10 great star fell. See notes on 6:13; 9:1.

8:11 Wormwood. A plant with a strong, bitter taste (Wormwood means "Bitterness"). It is used here as a metaphor for calamity and sorrow (see Prov 5:3–4; Jer 9:15; Lam 3:19). It is not poisonous, but its bitterness suggests death. waters became wormwood. The reverse of the miracle at Marah, where bitter waters were made sweet (Ex 15:25).

8:12 a third of the sun . . . struck. In the ninth plague on Egypt, thick darkness covered the land for three days (Ex 10:21–23). References to the Egyptian plagues suggest that in Revelation we have the final exodus of God's people from the bondage of a world controlled by hostile powers.

8:13 Woe, woe, woe . . . These three woes correspond to the three final trumpet plagues (see 9:12; 11:14 [10:1–11:13 is a parenthesis]; the seven bowl judgments of chs. 15–16 apparently constitute the third woe). The woes fall on the unbelieving world (the phrase "those who dwell on the earth" refers to the wicked; see note on 6:10), not on the righteous (see 9:4).

9:1 star . . . which had fallen. The star in 8:10 was part of a cosmic disturbance; here the star is a divine agent, probably an angel (cf. 20:1). bottomless pit. Conceived of as the subterranean abode of demonic hordes (see 20:1; Luke 8:31). The Greek word means "very deep" or "bottomless," and is used in the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) to translate the Hebrew word for the primeval deep (see Gen 1:2; 7:11; Prov 8:28). Seven of the eight NT occurrences of the Greek words for Abyss are in Revelation.

[1]upon the earth, and power was given them, as the [b]scorpions of the earth have power.

4 They were told not to [a]hurt the [b]grass of the earth, nor any green thing, nor any tree, but only the men who do not have the [c]seal of God on their foreheads.

5 And [1]they were not permitted to kill [2]anyone, but to torment for [a]five months; and their torment was like the torment of a [b]scorpion when it [3]stings a man.

6 And in those days [a]men will seek death and will not find it; they will long to die, and death flees from them.

7 The [1a]appearance of the locusts was like horses prepared for battle; and on their heads appeared to be crowns like gold, and their faces were like the faces of men.

8 They had hair like the hair of women, and their [a]teeth were like the teeth of lions.

9 They had breastplates like breastplates of iron; and the [a]sound of their wings was like the sound of chariots, of many horses rushing to battle.

10 They have tails like [a]scorpions, and stings; and in their [b]tails is their power to hurt men for [c]five months.

11 They have as king over them, the angel of the [a]abyss; his name in [b]Hebrew is [1c]Abaddon, and in the Greek he has the name [2]Apollyon.

12 [a]The first woe is past; behold, two woes are still coming after these things.

The Sixth Trumpet—Army from the East

13 Then the sixth angel sounded, and I heard [1]a voice from the [2]four [a]horns of the [b]golden altar which is before God,

14 one saying to the sixth angel who had the trumpet, "Release the [a]four angels who are bound at the [b]great river Euphrates."

15 And the four angels, who had been prepared for the hour and day and month and year, were [a]released, so that they would kill a [b]third of [1]mankind.

16 The number of the armies of the horsemen was [a]two hundred million; [b]I heard the number of them.

17 And [1]this is how I saw [a]in the vision the horses and those who sat on them: the riders had breastplates the color of fire and of hyacinth and of [2b]brimstone; and the heads of the horses are like the heads of lions; and [c]out of their mouths proceed fire and smoke and [2b]brimstone.

18 A [a]third of [1]mankind was killed by these three plagues, by the [b]fire and the smoke and the [2]brimstone which proceeded out of their mouths.

19 For the power of the horses is in their mouths and in their tails; for their tails are like serpents and have heads, and with them they do harm.

20 The rest of [1]mankind, who were not killed by these plagues, [a]did not repent of [b]the works of their hands, so as not to [c]worship demons, and [d]the idols of gold and of silver and of brass and of stone and of wood, which can neither see nor hear nor walk;

21 and they [a]did not repent of their murders nor of their [b]sorceries nor of their [c]immorality nor of their thefts.

9:3 locusts. For background see the plague of locusts in Ex 10:1–20. Joel 1:2–2:11 interprets the locust plague as a foreshadowing of the devastations that accompany the day of the Lord. Locusts traveled in enormous swarms and could strip a land of all vegetation. In 1866, 200,000 people died in a famine in Algiers following a locust plague. scorpions. Large spider-like organisms that injure or kill by means of a poisonous barb in the tail.

9:4 men who do not have the seal of God. The first woe does not affect the "bond-servants of God" (see 7:3). Cf. the Israelites, who were protected from the Egyptian plagues (Ex 8:22; 9:4,26; 10:23; 11:7).

9:5 five months. A limited period of time suggested by the life cycle of the locust or the dry season (spring through late summer, about five months), in which the danger of a locust invasion is always present.

9:6 seek death and will not find it. Cf. Hos 10:8 (quoted in Luke 23:30). Cornelius Gallus, a Roman poet living in the first century B.C., wrote: "Worse than any wound is the wish to die and yet not be able to do so." Cf. Paul's attitude toward death in Phil 1:23–24.

9:7 faces of men. The locusts appear to have the cunning of intelligent beings. They do not simply use brute force.

9:8 hair of women. Perhaps a reference to long antennae. teeth of lions. Cruel, inhumane.

9:9 breastplates. The breastplate was a coat of mail that protected the front. like breastplates of iron. Probably thin iron pieces riveted to a leather base.

9:10 five months. See note on v. 5.

9:11 Abaddon. A personification of destruction (cf. Prov 15:11).

9:12 first woe. See note on 8:13.

9:13 horns of the golden altar. See 8:3–5. The horns were projections at the four corners of the altar (Ex 27:2). Those fleeing judgment could seek mercy by taking hold of the horns (1 Kin 1:50–51; 2:28; see note on Amos 3:14).

9:14 four angels. Apparently in charge of the demonic horsemen (vv. 15–19). Euphrates. The longest river in western Asia (about 1,700 miles). It marked the boundary between Israel and her historic enemies (Assyria and Babylon) to the east (cf. Is 8:5–8).

9:15 hour . . . day . . . month . . . year. Apocalyptic thought views God as acting according to an exact timetable.

9:16 two hundred million. The reference is most likely general, intending an incalculable host rather than a specific number (cf. Ps 68:17; Dan 7:10; Rev 5:11).

9:17 breastplates. See note on v. 9. out of their mouths proceed fire. Cf. the two witnesses in 11:5.

9:19 tails are like serpents and have heads. Emphasizes the demonic origin of the horses (cf. 12:9).

9:20 demons. Spiritual beings in league with Satan and exerting an evil influence on human affairs (cf. Deut 4:28; Ps 115:5–7; 1 Cor 10:20).

9:21 they did not repent. See 16:9,11. Even physical pain will not change the rebellious heart. sorceries. Involved the mixing

The Angel and the Little Book

10 I saw another [a]strong angel [b]coming down out of heaven, clothed with a cloud; and the [c]rainbow was upon his head, and [d]his face was like the sun, and his [e]feet like pillars of fire;

2 and he had in his hand a [a]little book which was open. He placed [b]his right foot on the sea and his left on the land;

3 and he cried out with a loud voice, [a]as when a lion roars; and when he had cried out, the [b]seven peals of thunder [1]uttered their voices.

4 When the seven peals of thunder had spoken, [a]I was about to write; and I [b]heard a voice from heaven saying, "[c]Seal up the things which the seven peals of thunder have spoken and do not write them."

5 Then the angel whom I saw standing on the sea and on the land [a]lifted up his right hand to heaven,

6 [a]and swore by [b]Him who lives forever and ever, [c]WHO CREATED HEAVEN AND THE THINGS IN IT, AND THE EARTH AND THE THINGS IN IT, AND THE SEA AND THE THINGS IN IT, that [d]there will be delay no longer,

7 but in the days of the voice of the [a]seventh angel, when he is about to sound, then [b]the mystery of God is finished, as He [1]preached to His servants the prophets.

8 Then [a]the voice which I heard from heaven, I heard again speaking with me, and saying, "Go, take [b]the [1]book which is open in the hand of the angel who [b]stands on the sea and on the land."

9 So I went to the angel, telling him to give me the little book. And he *said to me, "[a]Take it and eat it; it will make your stomach bitter, but in your mouth it will be sweet as honey."

10 I took the little book out of the angel's hand and ate it, and in my mouth it was sweet as honey; and when I had eaten it, my stomach was made bitter.

11 And [a]they *said to me, "You must [b]prophesy again concerning [c]many peoples and nations and tongues and [d]kings."

The Two Witnesses

11 Then there was given me a [1][a]measuring rod like a staff; [2]and [b]someone said, "Get up and measure the [3]temple of God and the altar, and those who worship in it.

2 "[1]Leave out the [a]court which is outside the [2]temple and do not measure it, for [b]it has been given to the nations; and they will [b]tread under foot [c]the holy city for [d]forty-two months.

3 "And I will grant authority to my two [a]witnesses, and they will prophesy for [b]twelve hundred and sixty days, clothed in [c]sackcloth."

of various ingredients (the Greek for this phrase is pharmakon, from which comes the English "pharmacy") for magical purposes. Believers at Ephesus publicly burned their books of magic, valued at 50,000 drachmas (Acts 19:19). (A drachma was a silver coin worth about a day's wages.)

10:1 strong angel. Perhaps the angel of 5:2. rainbow. Cf. Ezek 1:26–28. The rainbow became a sign of God's pledge never to destroy the earth again by a flood (Gen 9:8–17). feet like pillars of fire. Since the exodus supplies background for this central part of Revelation (see note on 8:12), this feature may recall the pillars of fire and cloud that guided (Ex 13:21–22) and protected (Ex 14:19,24) the Israelites during their wilderness journey.

10:2 little book. Not the same as the book of destiny in ch. 5, since that book was intended to reveal its contents and this book was to be eaten. Furthermore, the term "little book" sets this particular book off from all others. right foot on the sea . . . left on the land. Indicates his tremendous size and symbolizes that his coming has to do with the destiny of all creation (cf. v. 6).

10:3 seven peals of thunder. In 8:5; 11:19; 16:18 thunder is connected with divine punishment. Here, too, it anticipates the judgment to fall on those who refuse God's love and grace.

10:4 Seal up. In Dan 8:26; 12:4,9 the prophecies are sealed until the last times, when they will be opened. What the seven thunders said will not be revealed until their proper time. Cf. the angel's instructions in 22:10 not to seal the prophecies of Revelation.

10:5 lifted up his right hand. A part of oath taking (see Gen 14:22–23; Deut 32:40).

10:6 Him who lives forever and ever. Of special encouragement in a context of impending martyrdom (cf. 1:18; 4:9–10; 15:7). delay no longer. The martyrs in 6:9–11 were told to rest for a while, but now the end has come (cf. Dan 12:1; Mark 13:19).

10:7 mystery of God. In apocalyptic thought mysteries were secrets preserved in heaven and revealed to the apocalyptist. Here the mystery is that God has won the victory over the forces of evil and will reign for ever and ever (cf. 11:15).

10:9 Take it and eat it. Grasp and digest fully the contents of the scroll (cf. Ps 119:103). make your stomach bitter. The message of the little scroll (11:1–13) will involve suffering—the "bad news." in your mouth . . . sweet as honey. God's eternal purposes will experience no further delay—the "good news."

10:11 prophesy again. The prophecies following the sounding of the seventh trumpet in 11:15. peoples . . . kings. See note on 7:9.

11:1 measuring rod. A bamboo-like cane that often reached a height of 20 feet and grew in abundance in the waters along the banks of the Jordan. Straight and light, the reed was a convenient measuring rod (see Ezek 40:3; Zech 2:1–2). temple. See note on 7:15. altar. The context of worship suggests that this is the great altar.

11:2 court which is outside. The court of the Gentiles, approximately 26 acres. tread under foot the holy city. Cf. Ps 79:1; Is 63:18; Luke 21:24. forty-two months. Three and a half years. Some find the background for this period in the time of Jewish suffering under the Syrian tyrant, Antiochus Epiphanes (168–165 B.C.). Others point out that, whereas the temple was desolated for three years under Antiochus, the figure used in Revelation is three and a half years, which no doubt looks back to the dividing of the 70th "seven" (Dan 9:27) into two equal parts. The same time period is also designated as 1,260 days (v. 3; 12:6) and as "a time and times and half a time" (12:14; cf. Dan 7:25; 12:7). This period of time evidently became a conventional symbol for a limited period of unrestrained wickedness.

11:3 two witnesses. Modeled after Moses and Elijah (see notes

4 These are the [a]two olive trees and the two lampstands that stand before the Lord of the earth.

5 And if anyone wants to harm them, [a]fire flows out of their mouth and devours their enemies; so if anyone wants to harm them, [b]he must be killed in this way.

6 These have the power to [a]shut up the sky, so that rain will not fall during [b]the days of their prophesying; and they have power over the waters to [c]turn them into blood, and [d]to strike the earth with every plague, as often as they desire.

7 When they have finished their testimony, [a]the beast that comes up out of the [b]abyss will [c]make war with them, and overcome them and kill them.

8 And their dead bodies will lie in the street of the [a]great city which [1]mystically is called [b]Sodom and [c]Egypt, where also their Lord was crucified.

9 Those from [a]the peoples and tribes and tongues and nations will look at their dead [1]bodies for three and a half days, and [2][b]will not permit their dead bodies to be laid in a tomb.

10 And [a]those who dwell on the earth will rejoice over them and celebrate; and they will [b]send gifts to one another, because these two prophets tormented [a]those who dwell on the earth.

11 But after the three and a half days, [a]the breath of life from God came into them, and they stood on their feet; and great fear fell upon those who were watching them.

12 And they heard a loud voice from heaven saying to them, "[a]Come up here." Then they [b]went up into heaven in the cloud, and their enemies watched them.

13 And in that hour there was a great [a]earthquake, and a tenth of the city fell; [1]seven thousand people were killed in the earthquake, and the rest were terrified and [b]gave glory to the [c]God of heaven.

14 The second [a]woe is past; behold, the third woe is coming quickly.

The Seventh Trumpet—Christ's Reign Foreseen

15 Then the [a]seventh angel sounded; and there were [b]loud voices in heaven, saying,

"[c]The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our Lord and of [d]His [1]Christ; and [e]He will reign forever and ever."

16 And the twenty-four elders, who [a]sit on their thrones before God, [b]fell on their faces and worshiped God,

17 saying,

"We give You thanks, [a]O Lord God, the Almighty, who are and who were, because You have taken Your great power and have begun to [b]reign.

18 "And [a]the nations were enraged, and [b]Your wrath came, and [c]the time came for the dead to be judged, and the time to [1]reward Your [d]bond-servants the prophets and the [2]saints and those who fear Your name, [e]the small and the great, and to destroy those who destroy the earth."

19 And [a]the [1]temple of God which is in heaven was opened; and [b]the ark of His covon vv. 5–6). They may symbolize testifying believers in the final period before Christ returns. Or they may be two actual individuals who will be martyred for the proclamation of the truth. twelve hundred and sixty days. See note on v. 2. These are months of 30 days (42 months x 30 days = 1,260 days). sackcloth. A coarse, dark cloth woven from the hair of goats or camels. It was worn as a sign of mourning and penitence (Joel 1:13; Jon 3:5–6; Matt 11:21).

11:4 The imagery emphasizes that the power for effective testimony is supplied by the Spirit of God (see notes on Zech 4).

11:5 fire flows . . . and devours. Cf. Elijah's encounters with the messengers of Ahaziah (2 Kin 1:10,12).

11:6 power to shut up the sky. Cf. the drought in the days of Elijah (1 Kin 17:1; see also Luke 4:25; James 5:17). waters . . . into blood. God used Moses to bring the same plague on the Egyptians (Ex 7:17–21).

11:7 the beast. First mention of the major opponent of God's people in the final days (see chs. 13; 17). That he comes up from the abyss (see note on 9:1) indicates his demonic character. kill them. They will suffer the same fate as their Lord (see v. 8).

11:8 their dead bodies will lie in the street. In the Near East the denial of burial was a flagrant violation of decency. great city. Possibly Jerusalem, though some say Rome, Babylon or some other city. It may be symbolic of the world opposed to God (see 16:19; 17:18; 18:10,16,18–19,21). Sodom (see similarly Is 1:10) refers to its low level of morality (cf. Gen 19:4–11), and Egypt emphasizes oppression and slavery. Some say that Jesus could have been crucified in Rome in the sense that her power extended throughout the known world and was immediately responsible for Christ's execution.

11:9 three and a half days. A short time when compared with the three and a half years of their ministry. not permit . . . tomb. See note on v. 8.

11:11 the breath of life from God came into them. A dramatic validation of the true faith (cf. Ezek 37:5,10).

11:12 went up into heaven in the cloud. Cf. 1 Thess 4:17. enemies watched them. Cf. 1:7.

11:13 earthquake. See notes on 6:12; Ezek 38:19. gave glory to the God of heaven. Not an act of repentance but the terrified realization that Christ, not the antichrist, is the true Lord of all.

11:14 second woe. Cf. 9:12.

11:15 seventh angel sounded. The series of trumpet blasts is now continued (see 9:13) and completed. kingdom of our Lord. Cf. Ex 15:18; Ps 10:16; Zech 14:9. of our Lord and of His Christ. Cf. Ps 2:2.

11:16 twenty-four elders. See note on 4:4.

11:17 who are and who were. In 1:4,8; 4:8 He is also the one "who is to come." This is now omitted because His reign is here pictured as having begun.

11:18 nations were enraged. See Ps 48:4. Your wrath. See note on 6:16. God's wrath triumphs in 14:10–11; 16:15–21; 20:8–9. dead to be judged. Anticipated in 6:10, carried out in 20:11–15. Your bond-servants the prophets. See Dan 9:6,10; Amos 3:7; Zech 1:6.

11:19 ark of His covenant. The OT ark was a chest of acacia wood (Deut 10:1–2). It symbolized the throne or presence of enant appeared in His [1]temple, and there were flashes of [c]lightning and sounds and peals of thunder and an earthquake and a [d]great [2]hailstorm.

The Woman, Israel

12 A great [a]sign appeared [b]in heaven: [c]a woman [d]clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and on her head a crown of twelve stars;

2 and she was with child; and she *[a]cried out, being in labor and in pain to give birth.

The Red Dragon, Satan

3 Then [a]another sign appeared in heaven: and behold, a great red [b]dragon having [c]seven heads and [d]ten horns, and on his heads were [e]seven diadems.

4 And his tail *swept away a [a]third of the stars of heaven and [b]threw them to the earth. And the [c]dragon stood before the woman who was about to give birth, so that when she gave birth [d]he might devour her child.

The Male Child, Christ

5 And [a]she gave birth to a son, a male child, who is to [1][b]rule all the [2]nations with a rod of iron; and her child was [c]caught up to God and to His throne.

6 Then the woman fled into the wilderness where she *had a place prepared by God, so that there [1]she would be nourished for [a]one thousand two hundred and sixty days.

The Angel, Michael

7 And there was war in heaven, [a]Michael and his angels waging war with the [b]dragon. The dragon and [c]his angels waged war,

8 and they were not strong enough, and there was no longer a place found for them in heaven.

9 And the great [a]dragon was thrown down, the [b]serpent of old who is called the devil and [c]Satan, who [d]deceives the whole [1]world; he was [e]thrown down to the earth, and his angels were thrown down with him.

10 Then I heard [a]a loud voice in heaven, saying,

"Now the [b]salvation, and the power, and the [a]kingdom of our God and the authority of His Christ have come, for the [c]accuser of our brethren has been thrown down, he who accuses them before our God day and night.

11 "And they [a]overcame him because of [b]the blood of the Lamb and because of [c]the word of their testimony, and they [d]did not love their life even [1]when faced with death.

12 "For this reason, [a]rejoice, O heavens and [b]you who [1]dwell in them. [c]Woe to the earth and the sea, because [d]the devil has come down to you, having great wrath, knowing that he has only [e]a short time."

13 And when the [a]dragon saw that he was thrown down to the earth, he persecuted [b]the woman who gave birth to the male child.

14 But the [a]two wings of the great eagle were given to the woman, so that she could fly [b]into the wilderness to her place, where she *was nourished for [c]a time and times and half a time, from the [1]presence of the serpent.

15 And the [a]serpent [1]poured water like a river out of his mouth after the woman, so that he might cause her to be swept away with the flood.

16 [1]But the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened its mouth and drank up the river which the dragon [2]poured out of his mouth.

God among His people. It was probably destroyed when Nebuzaradan destroyed the temple in Jerusalem (2 Kin 25:8–10). In the NT it symbolizes God's faithfulness in keeping covenant with His people. lightning . . . hailstorm. See note on 4:5.

12:1 sign. An extraordinary spectacle or event that points beyond itself (cf. Luke 21:11,25; Acts 2:19). a woman clothed with the sun. Probably a symbolic reference to the believing Messianic community (see v. 5). twelve stars. Cf. the 12 tribes of Israel.

12:2 cried out . . . in pain. Cf. the similar language describing the rebirth of Jerusalem in Is 66:7 (see Mic 4:10).

12:3 red dragon. Identified in v. 9 (cf. 20:2). Dragons abound in the mythology of ancient peoples (Leviathan in Canaanite lore and Set-Typhon, the red crocodile, in Egypt). In the OT they are normally used metaphorically to depict the enemies of God and of Israel (see Ps 74:14; Is 27:1; Ezek 29:3). seven heads. Symbolizing universal wisdom (cf. 13:1). ten horns. Symbolizing great power.

12:5 a son, a male child. The Messiah. rod of iron. See note on 2:27. caught up to God. The ascension of Christ.

12:6 wilderness. Not a wasteland but a place of spiritual refuge (cf. Hos 2:14). one thousand two hundred and sixty days. The time of spiritual protection corresponds to the time of persecution (see note on 11:2; cf. 13:5).

12:7 Michael. An archangel who defeats Satan in heavenly warfare. In Dan 12:1 he is the protector of Israel who will deliver her from tribulation in the last days.

12:9 dragon was thrown down . . . to the earth. Not the original casting of Satan out of heaven, but his final exclusion—an explanation of his intense hostility against God's people in the last days (vv. 12–17). devil and Satan. See notes on 2:9–10. deceives. Cf. 2 Cor 11:3; see also Luke 22:31; John 13:2.

12:10 accuser. See Job 1:9–11; Zech 3:1. Satan in Hebrew means "accuser."

12:11 blood of the Lamb. See note on 5:9; see also 1:5; 7:14.

12:12 he has only a short time. The period of final, intense hostility of Satan toward the people of God.

12:13–16 Cf. the similarity to the exodus.

12:14 wilderness. See note on v. 6. a time and times and half a time. One year plus two years plus half a year (see note on 11:2).

12:16 earth opened its mouth. In Num 16:30–33 the earth opened and swallowed Korah's men.

17 So the dragon was enraged with the woman, and went off to [a]make war with the rest of her [1b]children, who [c]keep the commandments of God and [d]hold to the testimony of Jesus.

The Beast from the Sea

13 And the dragon stood on the sand of the [1]seashore.

Then I saw a [a]beast coming up out of the sea, having [b]ten horns and [b]seven heads, and on his horns were [c]ten diadems, and on his heads were [d]blasphemous names.

2 And the beast which I saw was [a]like a leopard, and his feet were like those of [b]a bear, and his mouth like the mouth of [c]a lion. And the [d]dragon gave him his power and his [e]throne and great authority.

3 I saw one of his heads as if it had been [1]slain, and his [a]fatal wound was healed. And the whole earth [b]was amazed and followed after the beast;

4 they worshiped the [a]dragon because he [a]gave his authority to the beast; and they worshiped the beast, saying, "[b]Who is like the beast, and who is able to wage war with him?"

5 There was given to him a mouth [a]speaking [1]arrogant words and blasphemies, and authority to act for [b]forty-two months was given to him.

6 And he opened his mouth in blasphemies against God, to blaspheme His name and His tabernacle, that is, [a]those who [1]dwell in heaven.

7 It was also given to him to [a]make war with the [1]saints and to overcome them, and authority over [b]every tribe and people and tongue and nation was given to him.

8 All who [a]dwell on the earth will worship him, everyone [b]whose name has not been [1]written [c]from the foundation of the world in the [d]book of life of [e]the Lamb who has been slain.

9 [a]If anyone has an ear, let him hear.

10 [a]If anyone [1]is destined for captivity, to captivity he goes; [b]if anyone kills with the sword, with the sword he must be killed. Here is [c]the [2]perseverance and the faith of the [3]saints.

The Beast from the Earth

11 Then [a]I saw another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had [b]two horns like a lamb and he spoke as a [c]dragon.

12 He [a]exercises all the authority of the first beast [1b]in his presence. And he makes [c]the earth and those who dwell in it to [d]worship the first beast, whose [e]fatal wound was healed.

13 He [a]performs great signs, so that he even makes [b]fire come down out of heaven to the earth in the presence of men.

14 And he [a]deceives [b]those who dwell on the earth because of [c]the signs which it was given him to perform [1d]in the presence of the beast, telling those who dwell on the earth to make an image to the beast who *had the [e]wound of the sword and has come to life.

15 And it was given to him to give breath to the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast would even [1]speak and cause [a]as many as do not [b]worship the image of the beast to be killed.

16 And he causes all, [a]the small and the great, and the rich and the poor, and the free

12:17 rest of her children. Believers in general as contrasted with Christ, the male child of vv. 5,13. testimony of Jesus. The testimony that Jesus bore (cf. 1:2,9; 19:10).

13:1 beast coming up out of the sea. First mentioned in 11:7. According to some, the beast symbolizes the Roman empire, the deification of secular authority. According to others, he is the final, personal antichrist. The background seems to be Daniel's vision of the four great beasts (Dan 7:2–7). See 17:8–11 for the interpreting angel's explanation of the beast. ten horns. See 17:12. blasphemous name. Roman emperors tended to assume titles of deity. Domitian, e.g., was addressed as Dominus et Deus noster ("Our Lord and God").

13:2 leopard . . . bear . . . lion. John's beast combined characteristics of Daniel's four beasts (Dan 7:4–6). dragon. See note on 12:3.

13:3 fatal wound . . . healed. Emphasizes the tremendous recuperative power of the beast. whole earth was amazed. See 17:8 for the same reaction.

13:5 was given. Four times in the Greek text of vv. 5–7 the passive "was given" occurs, emphasizing the subordinate role of the beast (see vv. 2,4). forty-two months. See note on 11:2.

13:7 make war. See 12:17; see also Dan 7:7.

13:8 book of life of the Lamb. See note on 3:5. Lamb who has been slain. Cf. Is 53:7; John 1:29,36.

13:11 another beast coming up out of the earth. According to some, he symbolizes religious power in the service of secular authorities. According to others, he is the personal false prophet (see 16:13; 19:20; 20:10). two horns like a lamb. He attempts to appear gentle and harmless. spoke as a dragon. See Jesus' warning in Matt 7:15 about ravenous wolves who come in sheep's clothing.

13:12 exercises all the authority of the first beast. The trinity of evil is now complete. The beast from the earth is under the authority of the beast from the sea. The latter is subject to the dragon. Satan, secular power and religious compromise (or Satan, the antichrist and the false prophet) join against the cause of God: Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

13:13 great signs. See the warning in Deut 13:1–3; see also Matt 24:24; 2 Thess 2:9; cf. Rev 19:20. fire . . . out of heaven. See 1 Kin 18:24–39.

13:14 make an image. Cf. Dan 3:1–11; 2 Thess 2:4.

13:15 would even speak. Belief in statues that could speak is widely attested in ancient literature. Ventriloquism and other forms of deception were common.

14 Then I looked, and behold, [a]the Lamb was standing on [b]Mount Zion, and with Him [c]one hundred and forty-four thousand, having [d]His name and the [d]name of His Father written [e]on their foreheads.

2 And I heard a voice from heaven, like [a]the sound of many waters and like the [b]sound of loud thunder, and the voice which I heard was like the sound of [c]harpists playing on their harps.

4 [a]These are the ones who have not been defiled with women, for they [1]have kept themselves chaste. These are the ones who [b]follow the Lamb wherever He goes. These have been [c]purchased from among men [d]as first fruits to God and to the Lamb.

Vision of the Angel with the Gospel

6 And I saw another angel flying in [a]midheaven, having [b]an eternal gospel to preach to [c]those who [1]live on the earth, and to [d]every nation and tribe and tongue and people;

7 and he said with a loud voice, "[a]Fear God, and [b]give Him glory, because the hour of His judgment has come; worship Him who [c]made the heaven and the earth and sea and [d]springs of waters."

8 And another angel, a second one, followed, saying, "[1a]Fallen, fallen is [b]Babylon the great, she who has [c]made all the nations drink of the [d]wine of the [2]passion of her immorality."

Doom for Worshipers of the Beast

9 Then another angel, a third one, followed them, saying with a loud voice, "If anyone [a]worships the beast and his [b]image, and receives a [c]mark on his forehead or on his hand,

10 he also will drink of the [a]wine of the wrath of God, which is mixed [1]in full strength [b]in the cup of His anger; and he will be tormented with [c]fire and [2]brimstone in the presence of the [d]holy angels and in the presence of the Lamb.

13:16 mark. Whatever its origin—possibly the branding of slaves or enemy soldiers, the sealing and stamping of official documents, or the sign of the cross on the forehead of a new Christian—the mark of the beast apparently symbolized allegiance to the demands of the imperial cult. In the final days of the antichrist it will be the ultimate test of loyalty (cf. v. 17; 14:9,11; 15:2; 16:2; 19:20; 20:4). It imitates the sealing of the servants of God in ch. 7.

13:17 buy or to sell. Economic boycott against all faithful believers. number of his name. In ancient times the letters of the alphabet served for numbers. Riddles using numerical equivalents for names were popular.

13:18 six hundred and sixty-six. Various schemes for decoding these numbers result in such names as Euanthas, Lateinos, and Nero Caesar. Others take 666 as a symbol for the trinity of evil and imperfection—each digit falls short of the perfect number 7.

14:1 Lamb. See note on 5:6. Mount Zion. In the OT it was first the fortress of the pre-Israelite city of Jerusalem (2 Sam 5:7), captured by David and established as his capital. Later it became a virtual synonym for Jerusalem. In Revelation, as in Heb 12:22–24, it is the heavenly Jerusalem, the eternal dwelling place of God and His people (cf. Gal 4:26). It comes down to the new earth in 21:2–3. one hundred and forty-four thousand. See note on 7:4. name. Contrast 13:16–18.

14:2 harps. See note on 5:8.

14:3 new song. See note on 5:9. The theme is deliverance.

14:4 not been defiled with women. Probably a symbolic description of believers who kept themselves from defiling relationships with the pagan world system. follow the Lamb. As His disciples (see Matt 19:21; Mark 8:34). first fruits. See Lev 23:9–14. The word is used figuratively in the NT for the first converts in an area (Rom 16:5) and the first to rise from the dead (1 Cor 15:20). In Revelation believers are considered as a choice offering to God and the Lamb.

14:5 no lie. Contrast Rom 1:25; see Is 53:9.

14:6 eternal gospel. The content of this "good news" is perhaps found in v. 7.

14:7 Him who made the heaven. See Ex 20:11; Ps 146:6.

14:8 Babylon the great. Ancient Babylon in Mesopotamia was the political, commercial and religious center of a world empire. It was noted for its luxury and moral decadence. The title "Babylon the Great" is taken from Dan 4:30. According to some, it is used in Revelation (e.g., here and in 16:19; 17:5; 18:2,10,21) for Rome as the center of opposition to God and His people. According to others, it represents the whole political and religious system of the world in general. According to still others, it is to be understood as literal Babylon—rebuilt and restored. Babylon's fall is proclaimed in Is 21:9; Jer 51:8. wine of the passion of her immorality. Here Babylon (Rome?) is pictured as a prostitute whose illicit relations are achieved by intoxication.

14:10 cup of His anger. In the OT God's wrath is commonly pictured as a cup of wine to be drunk (Ps 75:8; Is 51:17; Jer 25:15). It is not the outworking of impersonal laws of retribution, but the response of a righteous God to those who refuse His love and grace. fire and brimstone. Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed by a rain of fire and brimstone (Gen 19:24). Ps 11:6 speaks of a similar fate for the wicked. The figure occurs else-

11 "And the [a]smoke of their torment goes up forever and ever; [b]they have no rest day and night, those who [c]worship the beast and his [c]image, and [1]whoever receives the [d]mark of his name."

12 Here is [a]the [1]perseverance of the [2]saints who [b]keep the commandments of God and [3c]their faith in Jesus.

13 And I heard a voice from heaven, saying, "Write, '[a]Blessed are the dead who [b]die in the Lord from now on!' " "Yes," [c]says the Spirit, "so that they may [d]rest from their labors, for their [e]deeds follow with them."

The Reapers

14 Then I looked, and behold, a [a]white cloud, and sitting on the cloud was one [b]like [1]a son of man, having a golden [c]crown on His head and a sharp sickle in His hand.

15 And another angel [a]came out of the [1]temple, crying out with a loud voice to Him who sat on the cloud, "[2b]Put in your sickle and reap, for the hour to reap has come, because the [c]harvest of the earth [3]is ripe."

16 Then He who sat on the cloud [1]swung His sickle over the earth, and the earth was reaped.

17 And another angel [a]came out of the [1]temple which is in heaven, and he also had a sharp sickle.

18 Then another angel, [a]the one who has power over fire, came out from [b]the altar; and he called with a loud voice to him who had the sharp sickle, saying, "[1c]Put in your sharp sickle and gather the clusters [2]from the vine of the earth, [d]because her grapes are ripe."

19 So the angel [1]swung his sickle to the earth and gathered the clusters from the vine of the earth, and threw them into [a]the great wine press of the wrath of God.

20 And [a]the wine press was trodden [b]outside the city, and [c]blood came out from the wine press, up to the horses' bridles, [1]for a distance of [2]two hundred miles.

A Scene of Heaven

15 Then I saw [a]another sign in heaven, great and marvelous, [b]seven angels who had [c]seven plagues, which are [d]the last, because in them the wrath of God is finished.

2 And I saw something like a [a]sea of glass mixed with fire, and those who had [b]been victorious [1]over the [c]beast and [d]his image and the [e]number of his name, standing on the [a]sea of glass, holding [f]harps of God.

3 And they *sang the [a]song of Moses,
[b]the bond-servant of God, and the [c]song of the Lamb, saying,

"[d]Great and marvelous are Your works,
[e]O Lord God, the Almighty;
Righteous and true are Your ways,
[f]King of the [1]nations!

4 "[a]Who will not fear, O Lord, and glorify
Your name?
For You alone are holy;
For [b]ALL THE NATIONS WILL COME AND WORSHIP BEFORE YOU,
FOR YOUR [1c]RIGHTEOUS ACTS HAVE BEEN REVEALED."

5 After these things I looked, and [a]the [1]temple of the [b]tabernacle of testimony in heaven was opened, where in the OT and the Apocrypha. It is used several times in the final chapters of Revelation (19:20; 20:10; 21:8).

14:11 torment . . . forever and ever. Revelation offers no support for the doctrine of the annihilation of the wicked (also compare 19:20 with 20:10).

14:13 Blessed. The second beatitude (see note on 1:3).

14:14 son of man. See 1:13 and notes on Dan 7:13; Mark 8:31. golden crown. A victory wreath of gold. See note on 2:10 for the comparison between the victory crown and the royal crown. sickle. The Israelite sickle used for cutting grain was normally a flint or iron blade attached to a curved shaft of wood or bone.

14:15 harvest of the earth. Symbolizes in a general way the coming judgment (see Matt 13:30,40–42). Some interpreters think it refers to the ingathering of the righteous at the return of Christ.

14:18 another angel, the one who has power over fire. The angel of 8:3–5. Fire is commonly associated with judgment (see Matt 18:8; Luke 9:54; 2 Thess 1:7). sharp sickle. The context suggests (in contrast to the sickle of v. 14) the smaller grape-knife with which the farmer cut the clusters of grapes from the vine.

14:19 wine press. A rock-hewn trough about eight feet square with a channel leading to a lower and smaller trough. Grapes were thrown into the upper vat and tramped with bare feet. The juice was collected in the lower vat. At times mechanical pressure was added. The treading of grapes was a common OT figure for the execution of divine wrath (see Is 63:3; Lam 1:15; Joel 3:13).

14:20 outside the city. Bloodshed would defile the city (see Joel 3:12–14; Zech 14:1–4; cf. Heb 13:12). two hundred miles. It is approximately the length of the Holy Land from north to south.

15:1–8 Introduces the last of the three sevenfold series of judgments—the bowls of wrath (see note on 8:2).

15:1 wrath of God. See note on 6:16.

15:2 sea of glass. See note on 4:6. victorious over the beast. Cf. the saints' victory over the devil in 12:11. number of his name. See notes on 13:16–18. harps. See note on 5:8.

15:3 song of Moses. See Ex 15; Deut 32. Ex 15:1–18 was sung on Sabbath evenings in the synagogue to celebrate Israel's great deliverance from Egypt. song of the Lamb. The risen Lord triumphed over His enemies in securing spiritual deliverance for His followers (cf. Ps 22). Great and marvelous are Your works. See Ex 15:11; Ps 92:5; 111:2. Almighty. See note on 1:8. King of the nations! See Jer 10:10; cf. 1 Tim 1:17.

15:4 Universal recognition of God is taught in both the OT (Ps 86:9; Is 45:22–23; Mal 1:11) and the NT (Phil 2:9–11).

15:5 tabernacle of testimony. The dwelling place of God during the wilderness wandering of the Israelites (see Ex 40:34–35).

6 and the [a]seven angels who had the seven plagues [b]came out of the [1]temple, clothed in [2]linen, clean and bright, and [c]girded around their chests with golden sashes.

7 Then one of the [a]four living creatures gave to the [b]seven angels seven [c]golden bowls full of the [d]wrath of God, who [e]lives forever and ever.

8 And the [1]temple was filled with [a]smoke from the glory of God and from His power; and no one was able to enter the [1]temple until the seven plagues of the seven angels were finished.

Six Bowls of Wrath

16 Then I heard a loud voice from [a]the [1]temple, saying to the [b]seven angels, "Go and [c]pour out [2]on the earth the seven bowls of the wrath of God."

2 So the first angel went and poured out his bowl [1][a]on the earth; and it became a loathsome and malignant [b]sore on the [2]people [c]who had the mark of the beast and who worshiped his image.

3 The second angel poured out his bowl [a]into the sea, and it became blood like that of a dead man; and every living [1]thing in the sea died.

4 Then the third angel poured out his bowl into the [a]rivers and the springs of waters; and they [b]became blood.

5 And I heard the angel of the waters saying, "[a]Righteous are You, [b]who are and who were, O [c]Holy One, because You [d]judged these things;

6 for they poured out [a]the blood of saints and prophets, and You have given them [b]blood to drink. They [1]deserve it."

7 And I heard [a]the altar saying, "Yes, O [b]Lord God, the Almighty, [c]true and righteous are Your judgments."

8 The fourth angel poured out his bowl upon [a]the sun, [b]and it was given to it to scorch men with fire.

9 Men were scorched with [1]fierce heat; and they [a]blasphemed the name of God who has the power over these plagues, and they [b]did not repent so as to [c]give Him glory.

10 Then the fifth angel poured out his bowl on the [a]throne of the beast, and his kingdom became [b]darkened; and they gnawed their tongues because of pain,

11 and they [a]blasphemed the [b]God of heaven because of their pains and their [c]sores; and they [d]did not repent of their deeds.

12 The sixth angel poured out his bowl on the [a]great river, the Euphrates; and [b]its water was dried up, so that [c]the way would be prepared for the kings [d]from the [1]east.

Armageddon

13 And I saw coming out of the mouth of the [a]dragon and out of the mouth of the [b]beast and out of the mouth of the [c]false prophet, three [d]unclean spirits like [e]frogs;

14 for they are [a]spirits of demons, [b]performing signs, which go out to the kings of the [c]whole [1]world, to [d]gather them together for the war of the [e]great day of God, the Almighty.

15 ("Behold, [a]I am coming like a thief. [b]Blessed is the one who stays awake and keeps his clothes, [c]so that he will not walk about naked and men will not see his shame.")

16 And they [a]gathered them together to the place which [b]in Hebrew is called [1][c]Har-Magedon.

It was so named because the ancient tent contained the two tablets of the Testimony brought down from Mount Sinai (Ex 32:15; 38:21; Deut 10:5).

15:6 seven plagues. The last series of plagues (see v. 1). golden sashes. Symbolic of royal and priestly functions.

15:7 wrath of God. Cf. 2 Thess 1:7–9.

15:8 filled with smoke. Cf. Ex 40:34; 1 Kin 8:10–11; Ezek 44:4. Smoke symbolizes the power and glory of God.

16:2 earth. Compare the first four bowls (vv. 2–9) with the first four trumpets (8:7–12). loathsome and malignant sore. Cf. the boils and abscesses of the sixth Egyptian plague (Ex 9:9–11; see also Job 2:7–8,13). mark of the beast. See 13:16 and note.

16:4 rivers and the springs of waters. Cf. 8:10–11; see also Ps 78:44.

16:5 You, who are and who were. See note on 11:17; cf. Ex 3:14.

16:6 given them blood to drink. Punishment is tailored to fit the crime (see Is 49:26).

16:7 altar. Personified.

16:8 fire. Often connected with judgment in Scripture (see Deut 28:22; 1 Cor 3:13; 2 Pet 3:7).

16:9 did not repent. In 11:13 the nations were dazzled into homage by the great earthquake. Here they curse the name of God.

16:10 throne of the beast. Cf. Satan's throne in 2:13. "Throne" occurs 42 times in Revelation. The other 40 references are to the throne of God. gnawed their tongues. Cf. the scene in 6:15–17.

16:11 God of heaven. Used in Dan 2:44 of the sovereign God, who destroys the kingdoms of the world and establishes His universal and eternal reign.

16:12 Euphrates. See note on 9:14. kings from the east. Evidently Parthian rulers (17:15–18:24), to be distinguished from the "kings of the whole world" (v. 14), who wage the final war against Christ and the armies of heaven (19:11–21).

16:13 frogs. Lev 11:10 classifies the frog as an unclean animal. The imagery suggests the deceptive propaganda that will, in the last days, lead people to accept and support the cause of evil.

16:14 signs. Cf. 13:13. kings of the whole world. See 6:15. great day of God. See 19:11–21 for this battle.

16:15 Blessed. The third beatitude (see note on 1:3).

16:16 Har-Magedon. Or "Armageddon"; probably stands for Har Mageddon, "the mountain of Megiddo" (see note on Judg 5:19). Many see no specific geographical reference in the designation and take it to be a symbol of the final overthrow of evil by God.

Seventh Bowl of Wrath

17 Then the seventh angel poured out his bowl upon [a]the air, and a [b]loud voice came out of the [1c]temple from the throne, saying, "[d]It is done."

18 And there were flashes of [a]lightning and sounds and peals of thunder; and there was [b]a great earthquake, [c]such as there had not been since man came to be upon the earth, so great an earthquake was it, and so mighty.

19 [a]The great city was split into three parts, and the cities of the [1]nations fell. [b]Babylon the great was [c]remembered before God, to give her [d]the cup of the wine of [2]His fierce wrath.

20 And [a]every island fled away, and the mountains were not found.

21 And [a]huge [1]hailstones, about [2]one hundred pounds each, *came down from heaven upon men; and men [b]blasphemed God because of the [c]plague of the hail, because its plague *was extremely [3]severe.

The Doom of Babylon

17 [a]Then one of the [b]seven angels who had the [c]seven bowls came and spoke with me, saying, "Come here, I will show you [d]the judgment of the [e]great harlot who [f]sits on many waters,

2 with whom [a]the kings of the earth committed acts of immorality, and [b]those who dwell on the earth were [c]made drunk with the wine of her immorality."

3 And [a]he carried me away [1b]in the Spirit [c]into a wilderness; and I saw a woman sitting on a [d]scarlet beast, full of [e]blasphemous names, having [f]seven heads and ten horns.

4 The woman [a]was clothed in purple and scarlet, and [1]adorned with gold and precious [2]stones and pearls, having in her hand [b]a gold cup full of abominations and of the unclean things of her immorality,

5 and on her forehead a name was written, a [a]mystery, "[b]BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND OF [c]THE ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH."

6 And I saw the woman drunk with [a]the blood of the [1]saints, and with the blood of the witnesses of Jesus. When I saw her, I wondered [2]greatly.

7 And the angel said to me, "Why [1]do you wonder? I will tell you the [a]mystery of the woman and of the beast that carries her, which has the [b]seven heads and the ten horns.

8 "[a]The beast that you saw [b]was, and is not, and is about to [c]come up out of the [d]abyss and [1e]go to destruction. And [f]those who dwell on the earth, [g]whose name has not been written in the book of life [h]from the foundation of the world, will [i]wonder when they see the beast, that he was and is not and will come.

9 "[a]Here is the mind which has wisdom. The [b]seven heads are seven mountains on which the woman sits,

10 and they are seven [a]kings; five have fallen, one is, the other has not yet come; and when he comes, he must remain a little while.

11 "The beast which [a]was and is not, is himself also an eighth and is one of the seven, and he [b]goes to destruction.

12 "The [a]ten horns which you saw are ten kings who have not yet received a kingdom, but they receive authority as kings with the beast [b]for one hour.

13 "These have [a]one [1]purpose, and they give their power and authority to the beast.

Victory for the Lamb

14 "These will wage [a]war against the Lamb, and the Lamb will [b]overcome them, because He is [c]Lord of lords and [c]King of kings, and [d]those who are with Him are the [e]called and chosen and faithful."

17:6 saints . . . the witnesses. See 6:9.

17:7 mystery. See note on 10:7.

17:8 was, and is not, and is about to come. An obvious imitation of the description of the Lamb (1:18; 2:8). Cf. the description of God in 1:4,8; 4:8. Here the phrase seems to mean that the beast appeared once, is not presently evident, but will in the future again make his presence known. Evil is persistent. abyss. See note on 9:1. go to destruction. Although evil is real and persistent, there is no uncertainty about its ultimate fate. book of life. See note on 3:5.

17:9 seven mountains. It is perhaps significant that Rome began as a network of seven hill settlements on the left bank of the Tiber. Her designation as the city on seven hills is commonplace among Roman writers (e.g., Virgil, Martial, Cicero).

17:10 seven kings. That seven heads symbolize both seven hills and seven kings illustrates the fluidity of apocalyptic symbolism, unless the hills are figurative for royal (or political) power. five . . . one . . . the other. Taken (1) as seven actual Roman emperors, (2) as seven secular empires or (3) symbolically as the power of the Roman empire as a whole.

17:11 and is not. Cf. 13:3. an eighth. The antichrist, who plays the role of a king ("is one of the seven") but is in reality part of the cosmic struggle between God and Satan.

17:12 one hour. A short time.

17:14 Lord of lords and King of kings. Emphasizes the supreme sovereignty of the Lamb (cf. Deut 10:17; Ps 136:2–3; Dan 2:47; 1 Tim 6:15).

15 And he *said to me, "The [a]waters which you saw where the harlot sits, are [b]peoples and multitudes and nations and tongues.

16 "And the [a]ten horns which you saw, and the beast, these will hate the harlot and will make her [b]desolate and [c]naked, and will [d]eat her flesh and will [e]burn her up with fire.

17 "For [a]God has put it in their hearts to execute His [1]purpose [2]by [b]having a common purpose, and by giving their kingdom to the beast, until the [c]words of God will be fulfilled.

18 "The woman whom you saw is [a]the great city, which [1]reigns over the kings of the earth."

Babylon Is Fallen

18 After these things I saw another [a]angel [b]coming down from heaven, having great authority, and the earth was [c]illumined with his glory.

2 And he cried out with a mighty voice, saying, "[1a]Fallen, fallen is Babylon the great! She [b]has become a dwelling place of demons and a [2]prison of every [c]unclean spirit, and a [2]prison of every unclean and hateful bird.

3 "For all the nations [1]have drunk of the [a]wine of the [2]passion of her immorality, and [b]the kings of the earth have committed acts of immorality with her, and the [c]merchants of the earth have become rich by the [3]wealth of her [4d]sensuality."

4 I heard another voice from heaven, saying, "[a]Come out of her, my people, so that you will not participate in her sins and receive of her plagues;

5 for her sins have [1a]piled up as high as heaven, and God has [b]remembered her iniquities.

6 "[a]Pay her back even as she has paid, and [1]give back to her double according to her deeds; in the [b]cup which she has mixed, mix twice as much for her.

7 "[a]To the degree that she glorified herself and [b]lived [1]sensuously, to the same degree give her torment and mourning; for she says in her heart, '[c]I SIT AS A QUEEN AND I AM NOT A WIDOW, and will never see mourning.'

8 "For this reason [a]in one day her plagues will come, [1]pestilence and mourning and famine, and she will be [b]burned up with fire; for the Lord God who judges her [c]is strong.

17:18 great city. Cf. 17:1; see notes on 11:8; 14:8.

18:1 earth was illumined with his glory. Cf. Ex 34:29–35; Ps 104:2; Ezek 43:1–5; 1 Tim 6:16.

18:2 fallen is Babylon. Cf. Is 21:9; Jer 51:8; see notes on 11:8; 14:8.

18:3 wine of the passion of her immorality. See note on 14:8.

18:4 Come out of her. A common prophetic warning (cf. Is 52:11; Jer 51:45; 2 Cor 6:17).

18:6 double. In full, sufficiently (see note on Is 40:2). cup which she has mixed. See 17:4.

18:7 I AM NOT A WIDOW. A claim that the men of Babylon have not died on battlefields.

18:9–20 Three groups lament: (1) kings (v. 9), (2) merchants (v. 11) and (3) seamen (v. 17). The passage is modeled after Ezekiel's lament over Tyre (Ezek 27). Fifteen of the 29 commodities in vv. 12–13 are also listed in Ezek 27:12–22.

18:9 kings . . . weep and lament over her. Probably because of their own great financial loss (see v. 11).

18:12 purple. An expensive dye since it must be extracted a drop at a time from the murex shellfish. citron wood. An expensive dark wood from north Africa—used for inlay work in costly furniture. marble. Used to decorate public buildings and the homes of the very rich.

18:13 perfume and frankincense. Brought by the magi as gifts for the infant Jesus (Matt 2:11). slaves and human lives. Slave trade.

18:17 shipmaster. The pilot of the ship rather than the owner. Both are mentioned in Acts 27:11.

18 and were [a]crying out as they [b]saw the smoke of her burning, saying, '[c]What city is like [d]the great city?'

19 "And they threw [a]dust on their heads and were crying out, weeping and mourning, saying, '[b]Woe, woe, the great city, in which all who had ships at sea [c]became rich by her [1]wealth, for in [b]one hour she has been laid [d]waste!'

20 "[a]Rejoice over her, O heaven, and you [1]saints and [b]apostles and prophets, because [c]God has [2]pronounced judgment for you against her."

21 Then [1]a [a]strong angel [b]took up a stone like a great millstone and threw it into the sea, saying, "So will Babylon, [c]the great city, be thrown down with violence, and [d]will not be found any longer.

22 "And [a]the sound of harpists and musicians and flute-players and trumpeters will not be heard in you any longer; and no craftsman of any craft will be found in you any longer; and the [b]sound of a mill will not be heard in you any longer;

23 and the light of a lamp will not shine in you any longer; and the [a]voice of the bridegroom and bride will not be heard in you any longer; for your [b]merchants were the great men of the earth, because all the nations were deceived [c]by your sorcery.

24 "And in her was found the [a]blood of prophets and of [1]saints and of [b]all who have been slain on the earth."

The Fourfold Hallelujah

19 After these things I heard something like a [a]loud voice of a great multitude in heaven, saying,

"[b]Hallelujah! [c]Salvation and [d]glory and power belong to our God;

2 [a]BECAUSE HIS [b]JUDGMENTS ARE [c]TRUE AND RIGHTEOUS; for He has judged the [d]great harlot who was corrupting the earth with her immorality, and HE HAS [e]AVENGED THE BLOOD OF HIS BOND-SERVANTS [1]ON HER."

3 And a second time they said, "[a]Hallelujah! [b]HER SMOKE RISES UP FOREVER AND EVER."

4 And the [a]twenty-four elders and the [b]four living creatures [c]fell down and worshiped God who sits on the throne saying, "[d]Amen. [e]Hallelujah!"

5 And a voice came from the throne, saying,

"[a]Give praise to our God, all you His bond-servants, [b]you who fear Him, the small and the great."

6 Then I heard something like [a]the voice of a great multitude and like [b]the sound of many waters and like the [c]sound of mighty peals of thunder, saying,

"[a]Hallelujah! For the [d]Lord our God, the Almighty, reigns.

Marriage of the Lamb

7 "Let us rejoice and be glad and [a]give the glory to Him, for [b]the marriage of the Lamb has come and His [1c]bride has made herself ready."

8 It was given to her to clothe herself in [a]fine linen, bright and clean; for the fine linen is the [b]righteous acts of the [1]saints.

9 Then [a]he *said to me, "[b]Write, '[c]Blessed are those who are invited to the marriage supper of the Lamb.' " And he *said to me, "[d]These are true words of God."

10 Then [a]I fell at his feet to worship him. [b]But he *said to me, "Do not do that; I am a [c]fellow servant of yours and your brethren who [d]hold the testimony of Jesus; worship God. For the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy."

The Coming of Christ

11 And I saw [a]heaven opened, and behold, a [b]white horse, and He who sat on it is called [c]Faithful and True, and in [d]righteousness He judges and wages war.

12 His [a]eyes are a flame of fire, and on His head are many [b]diadems; and He has a [c]name written on Him which no one knows except Himself.

13 He is clothed with a [a]robe dipped in blood, and His name is called [b]The Word of God.

18:19 threw dust on their heads. An act of sorrow and dismay (see Ezek 27:30). in one hour. See vv. 10,17.

18:21 great millstone. Similar to the large millstone of Mark 9:42, which was actually a "donkey millstone" (one large enough to require a donkey to turn it).

18:24 blood of prophets. See 6:10; 17:6; 19:2; cf. Ezek 24:7.

19:1 great multitude. See note on 7:9. Hallelujah! Occurs four times in vv. 1–6 but nowhere else in the NT. It is derived from two Hebrew words meaning "Praise the LORD."

19:4 twenty-four elders and the four living creatures. See notes on 4:4,6.

19:7 marriage of the Lamb. The imagery of a wedding to express the intimate relationship between God and His people has its roots in the prophetic literature of the OT (e.g., Is 54:5–7; Hos 2:19). Cf. the NT usage (Matt 22:2–14; Eph 5:32).

19:9 Blessed. The fourth beatitude (see note on 1:3).

19:10 fell at his feet. See note on 1:17; cf. Acts 10:25. spirit. Essence.

19:11 white horse. Probably not the white horse of 6:2. The context here indicates that the rider is Christ returning as Warrior-Messiah-King.

19:12 name written. A secret name whose meaning is veiled from all created beings.

19:13 robe dipped in blood. Either the blood of the enemy shed in conflict (cf. 14:14–20; Is 63:1–3), or the blood of Christ shed to atone for sin.

14 And the armies which are in heaven, clothed in [a]fine linen, [b]white and clean, were following Him on white horses.
15 [a]From His mouth comes a sharp sword, so that [b]with it He may strike down the nations, and He will [1][c]rule them with a rod of iron; and [d]He treads the [2]wine press of the fierce wrath of God, the Almighty.
16 And on His robe and on His thigh He has [a]a name written, "[b]KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS."
17 Then I saw [1]an angel standing in the sun, and he cried out with a loud voice, saying to [a]all the birds which fly in [b]midheaven,
"[c]Come, assemble for the great supper of God, 18 so that you may [a]eat the flesh of kings and the flesh of [1]commanders and the flesh of mighty men and the flesh of horses and of those who sit on them and the flesh of all men, [b]both free men and slaves, and [c]small and great."
19 And I saw [a]the beast and [b]the kings of the earth and their armies assembled to make war against Him who [c]sat on the horse and against His army.

Doom of the Beast and False Prophet

20 And the beast was seized, and with him the [a]false prophet who [b]performed the signs [1][c]in his presence, by which he [d]deceived those who had received the [e]mark of the beast and those who [f]worshiped his image; these two were thrown alive into the [g]lake of [h]fire which burns with [2]brimstone.
21 And the rest were killed with the sword which [a]came from the mouth of Him who [b]sat on the horse, and [c]all the birds were filled with their flesh.

Satan Bound

20 Then I saw [a]an angel coming down from heaven, holding the [b]key of the abyss and a great chain [1]in his hand.
2 And he laid hold of the [a]dragon, the serpent of old, who is the devil and Satan, and [b]bound him for a thousand years;
3 and he threw him into the [a]abyss, and shut it and [b]sealed it over him, so that he would [c]not deceive the nations any longer, until the thousand years were completed;
after these things he must be released for a short time.
4 Then I saw [a]thrones, and [b]they sat on them, and [c]judgment was given to them.
And I saw [d]the souls of those who had been beheaded because of [1]their [e]testimony of Jesus and because of the word of God, and those who had not [f]worshiped the beast or his image, and had not received the [g]mark on their forehead and on their hand; and they [h]came to life and [i]reigned with Christ for a thousand years.
5 The rest of the dead did not come to life until the thousand years were completed.
[a]This is the first resurrection.
6 [a]Blessed and holy is the one who has a part in the first resurrection; over these the [b]second death has no power, but they will be with Him for a thousand years.

Punishment by fire is prominent in both Biblical and non-Biblical Jewish writings (e.g., 1 Enoch 54:1). Although the designation gehenna is not used here, this is what John refers to (see note on Matt 5:22). Originally the site of a cultic shrine where human sacrifices were offered (2 Kin 16:3; 23:10; Jer 7:31), it came to be equated with the "hell" of final judgment in apocalyptic literature.
19:21 birds were filled with their flesh. The "great supper of God" of vv. 17–18.
20:1–22:21 These last three chapters reflect many of the subjects and themes of the first three chapters of Genesis.
20:1 abyss. See note on 9:1.
20:2 dragon. See note on 12:3. serpent of old. See 12:15; Gen 3:1–5. thousand years. The millennium (from the Latin mille, "thousand," and annus, "year"). It is taken literally by some as 1,000 actual years, while others interpret it metaphorically as a long but undetermined period of time. There are three basic approaches to the subject of the millennium: 1. Amillennialism: The millennium describes the present reign of the souls of deceased believers with Christ in heaven. The present form of God's kingdom will be followed by Christ's return, the general resurrection, the final judgment and Christ's continuing reign over the perfect kingdom on the new earth in the eternal state. 2. Premillennialism: The present form of God's kingdom is moving toward a grand climax when Christ will return, the first resurrection will occur and His kingdom will find expression in a literal, visible reign of peace and righteousness on the earth in space-time history. After the final resurrection, the last judgment and the renewal of the heavens and the earth, this future, temporal kingdom will merge into the eternal kingdom, and the Lord will reign forever on the new earth. 3. Postmillennialism: The world will eventually be Christianized, resulting in a long period of peace and prosperity called the millennium. This future period will close with Christ's second coming, the resurrection of the dead, the final judgment and the eternal state.
20:3 released for a short time. See vv. 7–10.
20:4 souls of those who had been beheaded. See 6:9–11. the mark. See note on 13:16. came to life. The "first resurrection" (v. 5).
20:5 rest of the dead. Either the wicked or everyone except the martyrs (see v. 4).
20:6 Blessed. The fifth beatitude (see note on 1:3). second death. Defined in v. 14 as the "lake of fire" (cf. 21:8).

Satan Freed, Doomed

7 When the thousand years are completed, Satan will be [a]released from his prison,
8 and will come out to [a]deceive the nations which are in the [b]four corners of the earth, [c]Gog and Magog, to [d]gather them together for the war; the number of them is like the [e]sand of the [1]seashore.
9 And they [a]came up on the [1]broad plain of the earth and surrounded the [b]camp of the [2]saints and the [c]beloved city, and [d]fire came down from heaven and devoured them.
10 And [a]the devil who [a]deceived them was thrown into the [b]lake of fire and [1]brimstone, where the [c]beast and the [c]false prophet are also; and they will be [d]tormented day and night forever and ever.

Judgment at the Throne of God

11 Then I saw a great white [a]throne and Him who sat upon it, from whose [1]presence [b]earth and heaven fled away, and [c]no place was found for them.
12 And I saw the dead, the [a]great and the small, standing before the throne, and [1b]books were opened; and another [2]book was opened, which is [c]the book of life; and the dead [a]were judged from the things which were written in the [1]books, [d]according to their deeds.
13 And the sea gave up the dead which were in it; and [a]death and Hades [b]gave up the dead which were in them; and they were judged, every one of them [c]according to their deeds.
14 Then [a]death and Hades were thrown into [b]the lake of fire. This is the [c]second death, the lake of fire.
15 And if [1]anyone's name was not found written in [a]the book of life, he was thrown into the lake of fire.

The New Heaven and Earth

21 Then I saw [a]a new heaven and a new earth; for [b]the first heaven and the first earth passed away, and there is no longer any sea.
2 And I saw [a]the holy city, [b]new Jerusalem, [c]coming down out of heaven from God, [d]made ready as a bride adorned for her husband.
3 And I heard a loud voice from the throne, saying, "Behold, [a]the tabernacle of God is among men, and He will [1b]dwell among them, and they shall be His people, and God Himself will be among them[2],
4 and He will [a]wipe away every tear from their eyes; and [b]there will no longer be any death; [c]there will no longer be any mourning, or crying, or pain; [d]the first things have passed away."
5 And [a]He who sits on the throne said, "Behold, I am [b]making all things new." And He *said, "Write, for [c]these words are faithful and true."
6 Then He said to me, "[1a]It is done. I am the [b]Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end. [c]I will give to the one who thirsts from the spring of the [d]water of life without cost.
7 "[a]He who overcomes will inherit these things, and [b]I will be his God and he will be My son.
8 "[a]But for the cowardly and [1]unbelieving and abominable and murderers and immoral persons and sorcerers and idolaters and all liars, their part will be in [b]the lake that burns with fire and [2]brimstone, which is the [c]second death."
9 [a]Then one of the seven angels who had the [b]seven bowls [1]full of the [c]seven last plagues came and spoke with me, saying, "[a]Come here, I will show you the [d]bride, the wife of the Lamb."

The New Jerusalem

10 And [a]he carried me away [1b]in the Spirit to a great and high mountain, and showed me [c]the holy city, Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, 11 having [a]the glory of God. Her [1]brilliance was like a very costly stone, as a [b]stone of [c]crystal-clear jasper.
12 [1]It had a great and high wall, [1a]with twelve [b]gates, and at the gates twelve angels; and names were written on them, which are the names of the twelve tribes of the sons of Israel.

13 There were three gates on the east and three gates on the north and three gates on the south and three gates on the west.

14 And the wall of the city had [a]twelve foundation stones, and on them were the twelve names of the [b]twelve apostles of the Lamb.

15 The one who spoke with me had a [1]gold measuring [a]rod to measure the city, and its [b]gates and its wall.

16 The city is laid out as a square, and its length is as great as the width; and he measured the city with the [1]rod, [2]fifteen hundred miles; its length and width and height are equal.

17 And he measured its wall, [1]seventy-two yards, according to [a]human [2]measurements, which are also [b]angelic measurements.

18 The material of the wall was [a]jasper; and the city was [b]pure gold, like [1]clear [c]glass.

19 [a]The foundation stones of the city wall were adorned with every kind of precious stone. The first foundation stone was [b]jasper; the second, sapphire; the third, chalcedony; the fourth, [c]emerald;

20 the fifth, sardonyx; the sixth, [a]sardius; the seventh, chrysolite; the eighth, beryl; the ninth, topaz; the tenth, chrysoprase; the eleventh, jacinth; the twelfth, amethyst.

21 And the twelve [a]gates were twelve [b]pearls; each one of the gates was a single pearl. And the street of the city was [c]pure gold, like transparent [d]glass.

22 I saw [a]no [1]temple in it, for the [b]Lord God the Almighty and the [c]Lamb are its [1]temple.

23 And the city [a]has no need of the sun or of the moon to shine on it, for [b]the glory of God has illumined it, and its lamp is the [c]Lamb.

24 [a]The nations will walk by its light, and the [b]kings of the earth [1]will bring their glory into it.

25 In the daytime (for [a]there will be no night there) [b]its gates [c]will never be closed;

26 and [a]they will bring the glory and the honor of the nations into it;

The River and the Tree of Life

22 Then [a]he showed me a [b]river of the [c]water of life, [1]clear [d]as crystal, coming from the throne of God and of [2]the Lamb,

2 in the middle of [a]its street. [b]On either side of the river was [c]the tree of life, bearing twelve [1]kinds of fruit, yielding its fruit every month; and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations.

5 And [a]there will no longer be any night; and they [1]will not have need [b]of the light of a lamp nor the light of the sun, because the Lord God will illumine them; and they will [c]reign forever and ever.

6 And [a]he said to me, "[b]These words are faithful and true"; and the Lord, the [c]God of the spirits of the prophets, [d]sent His angel to show to His bond-servants the things which must soon take place.

7 "And behold, [a]I am coming quickly. [b]Blessed is he who [1]heeds [c]the words of the prophecy of this book."

8 [a]I, John, am the one who heard and saw these things. And when I heard and saw, [b]I fell down to worship at the feet of the angel who showed me these things.

9 But [a]he *said to me, "Do not do that. I am a [b]fellow servant of yours and of your brethren the prophets and of those who [1]heed the words of [c]this book. Worship God."

The Final Message

10 And he *said to me, "[a]Do not seal up [b]the words of the prophecy of this book, [c]for the time is near.
