2:1 Bethlehem of Judea. A village about five miles south of Jerusalem. Matthew says nothing of the events in Nazareth (cf. Luke 1:26–56). Possibly wanting to emphasize Jesus' Davidic background, he begins with the events that happened in David's city. It is called "Bethlehem of Judea," not to distinguish it from the town of the same name about seven miles northwest of Nazareth, but to emphasize that Jesus came from the tribe and territory that produced the line of Davidic kings. That Jews expected the Messiah to be born in Bethlehem and to be from David's family is clear from John 7:42. Herod the king. Herod the Great (37–4 B.C.), to be distinguished from the other Herods in the Bible (see chart, p. 1367). Herod was a non-Jew, an Idumean, who was appointed king of Judea by the Roman Senate in 40 B.C. and gained control in 37. Like most rulers of the day, he was ruthless, murdering his wife, his three sons, mother-in-law, brother-in-law, uncle and many others—not to mention the babies in Bethlehem (v. 16). His reign was also noted for splendor, as seen in the many theaters, amphitheaters, monuments, pagan altars, fortresses and other buildings he erected or refurbished—including the greatest work of all, the rebuilding of the temple in Jerusalem, begun in 19 B.C. and finished 68 years after his death. magi. See NASB marg. Perhaps they were from Persia or southern Arabia, both of which are east of the Holy Land. Jerusalem. Since they were looking for the "King of the Jews" (v. 2), they naturally came to the Jewish capital city (see map No. 8 at the end of the study Bible).
2:2 King of the Jews. Indicates the magi were Gentiles. Matthew shows that people of all nations acknowledged Jesus as "King of the Jews" and came to worship Him as Lord. star. Probably not an ordinary star, planet or comet, though some scholars have identified it with the conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn.
2:4 chief priests. Sadducees (see note on 3:7) who were in charge of worship at the temple in Jerusalem. scribes. The Jewish scholars of the day, professionally trained in the development, teaching and application of OT law. Their authority was strictly human and traditional.
2:6 This prophecy from Micah had been given seven centuries earlier.
2:11 house. Contrary to tradition, the magi did not visit Jesus at the manger on the night of His birth as did the shepherds. They came some months later and visited Him as a "child" in His "house." the Child with Mary His mother. Every time the child

Then, opening their treasures, they presented to Him gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh.

12 And having been [a]warned by God [b]in a dream not to return to Herod, the magi left for their own country by another way.

The Flight to Egypt

13 Now when they had gone, behold, an [a]angel of the Lord *[b]appeared to Joseph in a dream and said, "Get up! Take the Child and His mother and flee to Egypt, and remain there until I tell you; for Herod is going to search for the Child to destroy Him."

14 So [1]Joseph got up and took the Child and His mother while it was still night, and left for Egypt.

15 He [1]remained there until the death of Herod. This was to fulfill what had been spoken by the Lord through the prophet: "[a]OUT OF EGYPT I CALLED [b]MY SON."

Herod Slaughters Babies

16 Then when Herod saw that he had been tricked by [a]the magi, he became very enraged, and sent and [b]slew all the male children who were in Bethlehem and all its vicinity, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had determined from the magi.

17 Then what had been spoken through Jeremiah the prophet was fulfilled:

18 "[a]A VOICE WAS HEARD IN RAMAH, WEEPING AND GREAT MOURNING,
RACHEL WEEPING FOR HER CHILDREN;
AND SHE REFUSED TO BE COMFORTED, BECAUSE THEY WERE NO MORE."

19 But when Herod died, behold, an angel of the Lord *[a]appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, and said,

20 "Get up, take the Child and His mother, and go into the land of Israel; for those who sought the Child's life are dead."

21 So [1]Joseph got up, took the Child and His mother, and came into the land of Israel.

22 But when he heard that Archelaus was reigning over Judea in place of his father Herod, he was afraid to go there. Then after being [a]warned by God in a dream, he left for the regions of Galilee,

23 and came and lived in a city called [a]Nazareth. This was to fulfill what was spoken through the prophets: "He shall be called a [b]Nazarene."

The Preaching of John the Baptist

3 Now [a]in those days [b]John the Baptist *[1]came, [2]preaching in the [c]wilderness of Judea, saying,

2 "[a]Repent, for [b]the kingdom of heaven [1]is at hand."

3 For this is the [a]one referred to [1]by Isaiah the prophet when he said,

Jesus and His mother are mentioned together, He is mentioned first (vv. 11,13–14,20–21). gold, frankincense, and myrrh. The three gifts perhaps gave rise to the legend that there were three "wise men." But the Bible does not indicate the number of the magi, and they were almost certainly not kings. myrrh. See note on Gen 37:25.

2:15 the death of Herod. In 4 B.C. OUT OF EGYPT I CALLED MY SON. This quotation from Hos 11:1 originally referred to God's calling the nation of Israel out of Egypt in the time of Moses. But Matthew, under the inspiration of the Spirit, applies it also to Jesus. He sees the history of Israel (God's children) recapitulated in the life of Jesus (God's unique Son). Just as Israel as an infant nation went down into Egypt, so the child Jesus went there. And as Israel was led by God out of Egypt, so also was Jesus. How long Jesus and His parents were in Egypt is not known.

2:16 slew all the male children . . . two years old and under. The number killed has often been exaggerated as being in the thousands. In so small a village as Bethlehem, however (even with the surrounding area included), the number was probably not large—though the act, of course, was no less brutal.

2:18 See note on Jer 31:15.

2:22 Archelaus. This son of Herod the Great ruled over Judea and Samaria for only ten years (4 B.C.–A.D. 6). He was unusually cruel and tyrannical and so was deposed. Judea then became a Roman province, administered by prefects appointed by the emperor. Galilee. The northern part of the Holy Land in Jesus' day.

2:23 Nazareth. A rather obscure town, nowhere mentioned in the OT. It was Jesus' hometown (21:11; 26:71; see Luke 2:39; 4:16–24; John 1:45–46). He shall be called a Nazarene. These exact words are not found in the OT and probably refer to several OT prefigurations and/or predictions (note the plural, "prophets") that the Messiah would be despised (e.g., Ps 22:6; Is 53:3), for in Jesus' day "Nazarene" was virtually a synonym for "despised" (see John 1:45–46). Some hold that in speaking of Jesus as a "Nazarene," Matthew is referring primarily to the word "branch" (Hebrew neṣer) in Is 11:1.

3:1 John the Baptist. The forerunner of Jesus, born c. 7 B.C. to Zacharias, a priest, and his wife Elizabeth (see Luke 1:5–80). wilderness of Judea. An area that stretched some 20 miles from the Jerusalem-Bethlehem plateau down to the Jordan River and the Dead Sea, perhaps the same region where John lived (cf. Luke 1:80). The people of Qumran (often associated with the Dead Sea Scrolls) lived in this area too.

3:2 Repent. Make a radical change in one's life as a whole. the kingdom of heaven. A phrase found only in Matthew, where it occurs 32 times. See Introduction: Recipients. Mark and Luke refer to "the kingdom of God," a term Matthew uses only four times (see note on Mark 11:30). The kingdom of heaven is the rule of God and is both a present reality and a future hope. The idea of God's kingdom is central to Jesus' teaching and is mentioned 50 times in Matthew alone.

3:3 All three Synoptic Gospels quote Is 40:3 (Luke quotes two additional verses) and apply it to John the Baptist. MAKE HIS PATHS STRAIGHT! Equivalent to "MAKE READY THE WAY OF THE LORD" (see note on Luke 3:4). The preparation was to be moral and spiritual.

3:4 leather belt. Used to bind up the loose outer garments. locusts and wild honey. A man living in the wilderness did not hesitate to eat insects, and locusts were among the clean foods (Lev 11:21–22). John's simple food, clothing and life-style were a visual protest against self-indulgence.

3:6 Jordan River. See note on Mark 1:5.

3:7 Pharisees and Sadducees. The Pharisees (see notes on Mark 2:16; Luke 5:17) were a legalistic and separatistic group who strictly, but often hypocritically, kept the law of Moses and the unwritten "tradition of the elders" (15:2). The Sadducees (see notes on Mark 12:18; Luke 20:27; Acts 4:1) were more worldly and politically minded, and were theologically unorthodox—among other things denying the resurrection, angels and spirits (Acts 23:8). baptism. See note on Mark 1:4. the wrath to come. The arrival of the Messiah will bring repentance or judgment.

3:9 We have Abraham for our father. See John 8:39. Salvation does not come as a birthright (even for the Jews) but through faith in Christ (Rom 2:28–29; Gal 3:7,9,29). these stones. John may have pointed to the stones in the Jordan River. children to Abraham. The true people of God are not limited to the physical descendants of Abraham (cf. Ro. 9:6)

3:10 The axe is already laid at the root of the trees. Judgment is near.

Journey to Bethlehem, Flight to Egypt and Return to Nazareth

The Baptism of Jesus

13 [a]Then Jesus *arrived [b]from Galilee at the Jordan coming to John, to be baptized by him.

11 [1] The Greek can be translated in, with or by
[a] Mark 1:4, 8; Luke 3:16; John 1:26f; Acts 1:5; 8:36, 38; 11:16 [b] John 1:33; Acts 2:3, 4; Titus 3:5

13 [a] Matt 3:13-17; Mark 1:9-11; Luke 3:21, 22; John 1:31-34

14 But John tried to prevent Him, saying, "I have need to be baptized by You, and do You come to me?"

15 But Jesus answering said to him, "Permit it at this time; for in this way it is fitting for us [a]to fulfill all righteousness." Then he *permitted Him.

16 After being baptized, Jesus came up immediately from the water; and behold, the heavens were opened, and [1a]he saw the Spirit of God descending as a dove and [2]lighting on Him,

17 and behold, a voice out of the heavens

[b] Matt 2:22 15 [a] Ps 40:7, 8; John 4:34; 8:29 16 [1] Or He [2] Lit coming upon Him [a] Mark 1:10; Luke 3:22; John 1:32; Acts 7:56

3:11 with water for repentance. John's baptism presupposed repentance, and he would not baptize the Pharisees and Sadducees because they failed to give any evidence of repentance (vv. 7–8). remove. Mark (1:7) and Luke (3:16) have "untie." with the Holy Spirit and fire. Demonstrated in a dramatic way at Pentecost (Acts 1:5,8; 2:1–13; 11:16), though here "fire" may refer to judgment to come (see v. 12). The outpouring of the Holy Spirit on all God's people was promised in Joel 2:28–29.

3:12 His winnowing fork. For the process of winnowing see note on Ruth 1:22. Here it is figurative for the day of judgment at Christ's second coming. The OT prophets and NT writers sometimes compress the first and second comings of Christ so that they seem to be one event.

3:15 This occasion marked the beginning of Christ's Messianic ministry. There were several reasons for His baptism: 1. The first, mentioned here, was "to fulfill all righteousness." The baptism indicated that He was consecrated to God and officially approved by Him, as especially shown in the descent of the Holy Spirit (v. 16) and the words of the Father (v. 17; cf. Ps 2:7; Is 42:1). All God's righteous requirements for the Messiah were fully met in Jesus. 2. At Jesus' baptism John publicly announced the arrival of the Messiah and the inception of His ministry (John 1:31–34). 3. By His baptism Jesus completely identified Himself with man's sin and failure (though He Himself needed no repentance or cleansing from sin), becoming our substitute (2 Cor 5:21). 4. His baptism was an example to His followers.

3:16–17 All three persons of the Trinity are clearly seen here.

3:16 Spirit of God. The Holy Spirit came upon Jesus not to overcome sin (for He was sinless), but to equip Him (see note on Judg 3:10) for His work as the divine-human Messiah. as a dove. Either in the form of a dove or in a descent like a dove. See also note on Mark 1:10.

3:17 a voice out of the heavens. The voice (1) authenticated Jesus' unique Sonship and echoes Ps 2:7 ("You are My Son"), (2) identified Jesus with the suffering servant of Is 42:1 ("Whom I uphold"), and (3) offered the Father's support of Jesus in His mission ("In whom I am well pleased"). This word from the Father must have tremendously encouraged Jesus at the very outset of His earthly ministry. I am well-pleased. The tense of the Greek verb used here is timeless. God has always been and always will be pleased with His Son.

Jesus' Baptism and Temptation

Events surrounding Jesus' baptism reveal the intense religious excitement and social ferment of the early days of John the Baptist's ministry. Herod had been rapacious and extravagant; Roman military occupation was harsh. Some agitation centered around the change of procurators from Gratus to Pilate in A.D. 26. Most of the people hoped for a religious solution to their low political fortunes, and when they heard of a new prophet, they flocked out into the wilderness to hear him. The religious sect (Essenes) from Qumran professed similar doctrines of repentance and baptism. Jesus was baptized at Bethany on the other side of the Jordan (see John 1:28). John also baptized at "Aenon near Salim" (John 3:23).

The temptation took place in (1) the desert region of the lower Jordan Valley, (2) a high mountain (possibly one of the abrupt cliffs near Jericho that present an unsurpassed panorama) and (3) the pinnacle of the temple, from which the priests sounded the trumpet to call the city's attention to important events.

said, "[a]This is [1]My beloved Son, in whom I am well-pleased."

The Temptation of Jesus

4 [a]Then Jesus was led up by the Spirit into the wilderness [b]to be tempted by the devil.

2 And after He had [a]fasted forty days and forty nights, He [1]then became hungry.

3 And [a]the tempter came and said to Him, "If You are the [b]Son of God, command that these stones become bread."

4 But He answered and said, "It is written, '[a]MAN SHALL NOT LIVE ON BREAD ALONE, BUT ON EVERY WORD THAT PROCEEDS OUT OF THE MOUTH OF GOD.' "

5 Then the devil *took Him into [a]the holy city and had Him stand on the pinnacle of the temple,

6 and *said to Him, "If You are the Son of God, throw Yourself down; for it is written,

'[a]HE WILL COMMAND HIS ANGELS

SO THAT YOU WILL NOT STRIKE YOUR FOOT
AGAINST A STONE.' "

7 Jesus said to him, "[1]On the other hand, it is written, '[a]YOU SHALL NOT PUT THE LORD YOUR GOD TO THE TEST.' "

8 [a]Again, the devil *took Him to a very high mountain and *showed Him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory;

9 and he said to Him, "[a]All these things I will give You, if You fall down and [1]worship me."

10 Then Jesus *said to him, "GO, SATAN! For it is written, '[a]YOU SHALL WORSHIP THE LORD YOUR GOD, AND [1]SERVE HIM ONLY.' "

11 Then the devil *left Him; and behold, [a]angels came and began to minister to Him.

Jesus Begins His Ministry

12 Now when Jesus heard that [a]John had been taken into custody, [b]He withdrew into Galilee;

13 and leaving Nazareth, He came and [a]settled in Capernaum, which is by the sea, in the region of Zebulun and Naphtali.

14 This was to fulfill what was spoken through Isaiah the prophet:

4:1–11 The significance of Jesus' temptations, especially because they occurred at the outset of His public ministry, seems best understood in terms of the kind of Messiah He was to be. He would not accomplish His mission by using His supernatural power for His own needs (first temptation), by using His power to win a large following by miracles or magic (second temptation) or by compromising with Satan (third temptation). Jesus had no inward desire or inclination to sin, for these in themselves are sin (Matt 5:22,28). Because He was God He did not sin in any way, whether by actions or word or inner desire (2 Cor 5:21; Heb 7:26; 1 Pet 2:22; 1 John 3:5). Yet Jesus' temptation was real, not merely symbolic. He was "tempted in all things as we are, yet without sin" (Heb 4:15). He was confronted by the tempter with a real opportunity to sin. Although Jesus was the Son of God, He defeated Satan by using a weapon that everyone has at his or her disposal: the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God (Eph 6:17). He met all three temptations with Scriptural truth (vv. 4,7,10) from Deuteronomy.

4:1 led up by the Spirit . . . to be tempted. This testing of Jesus (the Greek verb translated "tempted" can also be rendered "tested"), which was divinely intended, has as its primary background Deut 8:1–5, from which Jesus also quotes in His first reply to the devil (see v. 4 and text note). There Moses recalls how the Lord led the Israelites in the wilderness 40 years "that He might humble you, testing you, to know what was in your heart, whether you would keep His commandments or not." Here at the beginning of His ministry Jesus is subjected to a similar test and shows himself to be the true Israelite who lives "by everything that proceeds out of the mouth of the LORD." And whereas Adam failed the great test and plunged the whole race into sin (Gen 3), Jesus was faithful and thus demonstrated His qualification to become the Savior of all who receive Him. It was, moreover, important that Jesus be tested/tempted as Israel and we are, so that He could become our "merciful and faithful high priest" (Heb 2:17) and thus be "able to come to the aid of those who are tempted" (Heb 2:18; see Heb 4:15–16). Finally, as the one who remained faithful in temptation He became the model for all believers when they are tempted. tempted by the devil. God surely tests His people, but it is the devil who tempts to evil (see note on Gen 22:1; see also 1 John 3:8; Rev 2:9–10 and notes; Rev 12:9–10). Like the Hebrew for "Satan," the Greek for "devil" means "accuser" or "slanderer." The devil is a personal being, not a mere force or influence. He is the great archenemy of God and the leader of the hosts of darkness.

4:2 forty days and forty nights. The number recalls the experiences of Moses (Ex 24:18; 34:28) and Elijah (1 Kin 19:8), as well as the 40 years of Israel's temptation (testing) in the wilderness (Deut 8:2–3).

4:3 If You are the Son of God. Meaning "Since You are." The devil is not casting doubt on Jesus' divine sonship, but is tempting Him to use His supernatural powers as the Son of God for His own ends.

4:4 Just as God gave the Israelites manna in a supernatural way (Deut 8:3), so also man must rely on God for spiritual feeding. Jesus relied on His Father, not His own miracle power, for provision of food.

4:5 See note on Luke 4:2. pinnacle of the temple. See note on Luke 4:9. temple. The temple, including the entire temple area, had been rebuilt by Herod the Great (see note on 2:1; see also John 2:20). The courtyard had been greatly enlarged, to about 330 by 500 yards. To accomplish this a huge platform had been erected to compensate for the sharp falling off of the land to the southeast. An enormous retaining wall made of massive stones was built to support the platform. On the platform stood the temple building, porches and courtyards flanked by beautiful colonnades.

4:10 Satan. See note on v. 1.

4:12 See map No. 9 at the end of the study Bible. John had been taken into custody. See Mark 1:14 and note on Luke 3:20. The reason for John's imprisonment is given in 14:3–4.

4:13 Capernaum. Although not mentioned in the OT, it was evidently a sizable town in Jesus' day. Peter's house there became Jesus' base of operations during His extended ministry in Galilee (see Mark 2:1; 9:33). A fifth-century basilica now stands over the supposed site of Peter's house, and a fourth-century synagogue is located a short distance from it.

The First Disciples

18 [a]Now as Jesus was walking by [b]the Sea of Galilee, He saw two brothers, [c]Simon who was called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea; for they were fishermen.
19 And He *said to them, "[1]Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men."
20 Immediately they left their nets and followed Him.

4:15–16 Another Messianic prophecy from Isaiah. Jesus spent most of His public ministry "in the region of Zebulun and Naphtali" (v. 13), which is north and west of the Sea of Galilee.
4:17 From that time. These words indicate an important turning point in the life of Jesus and occur three times in Matthew's Gospel (see also 16:21; 26:16, "From then on"). Some think these words mark the three main sections of the book. Repent. Jesus began His public ministry with the same message as that of John the Baptist (3:2). The people must repent because God's reign was drawing near in the person and ministry of Jesus Christ. Repentance is more than a change of mind or feeling sorry for one's sins. It is a radical and deliberate turning or returning to God that results in moral and ethical change and action. kingdom of heaven. See note on 3:2.
4:18 Sea of Galilee. See note on Mark 1:16. net. A circular casting net used either from a boat or while standing in shallow water.
4:19 fishers of men. Evangelism was at the heart of Jesus' call to His disciples.
4:20 See note on Mark 1:17.

21 Going on from there He saw two other brothers, [1][a]James the son of Zebedee, and [2]John his brother, in the boat with Zebedee their father, mending their nets; and He called them.

22 Immediately they left the boat and their father, and followed Him.

Ministry in Galilee

23 Jesus was going [a]throughout all Galilee, [b]teaching in their synagogues and [c]proclaiming the [1]gospel of the kingdom, and [d]healing every kind of disease and every kind of sickness among the people.

24 The news about Him spread [a]throughout all Syria; and they brought to Him all who were ill, those suffering with various diseases and pains, [b]demoniacs, [1][c]epileptics, [d]paralytics; and He healed them.

25 Large crowds [a]followed Him from Galilee and [b]the Decapolis and Jerusalem and Judea and from [c]beyond the Jordan.

4:21 mending their nets. Washing, mending and hanging the nets up to dry in preparation for the next day's work.
4:23 teaching . . . proclaiming . . . healing. Jesus' threefold ministry. The synagogues (see note on Mark 1:21) provided a place for Him to teach on the Sabbath. During the week He preached to larger crowds in the open air. gospel. See note on Mark 1:1.
4:24 Syria. The area north of Galilee and between Damascus and the Mediterranean Sea. epileptics. The Greek word for this expression originally meant "moonstruck" and reflects the ancient superstition that seizures were caused by changes of the moon. paralytics. A transliteration of the Greek that has come directly into English. Greek physicians were among the best in ancient times, and many of our medical terms come from their language.
4:25 the Decapolis. A league of free cities (Decapolis means "the Ten Cities") characterized by high Greek culture. All but one, Scythopolis (Beth Shan), were east of the Sea of Galilee and the Jordan River. The league stretched from a point northeast of the Sea of Galilee southward to Philadelphia (modern Amman).
5:1–7:29 The Sermon on the Mount is the first of five great discourses in Matthew (chs. 5–7; 10; 13; 18; 24–25). It contains three types of material: (1) beatitudes, i.e., declarations of blessedness (5:1–12), (2) ethical admonitions (5:13–20; 6:1–7:23) and (3) contrasts between Jesus' ethical teaching and Jewish legalistic traditions (5:21–48). The Sermon ends with a short parable stressing the importance of practicing what has just been taught (7:24–27) and an expression of amazement by the crowds at the authority with which Jesus spoke (7:28–29).

Opinion differs as to whether the Sermon is a summary of what Jesus taught on one occasion or a compilation of teachings presented on numerous occasions. Matthew possibly took a single sermon and expanded it with other relevant teachings of Jesus. Thirty-four of the verses in Matthew's Sermon occur in different contexts in Luke than the apparently parallel Sermon on the Plain (Luke 6:17–49).

The Sermon on the Mount's call to moral and ethical living is so high that some have dismissed it as being completely unrealistic or have projected its fulfillment to the future kingdom. There is no doubt, however, that Jesus (and Matthew) gave the Sermon as a standard for all Christians, realizing that its demands cannot be met in our own power. It is also true that Jesus occasionally used hyperbole to make His point (see, e.g., note on 5:29–30).
5:1 mountain. The exact location is uncertain. It may have been the gently sloping hillside at the northwest corner of the Sea of Galilee, not far from Capernaum (see note on Luke 6:20–49). The new law, like the old (Ex 19:3), was given from a mountain. sat down. It was the custom for Jewish rabbis to be seated while teaching (see Mark 4:1; 9:35; Luke 4:20; 5:3; John 8:2). disciples. Lit. "learners." Since at the end of the Sermon the "crowds" expressed amazement at Jesus' teaching (7:28), "disciples" may here be used in a broader sense than the Twelve. Or perhaps the Sermon is addressed to the Twelve with the crowds also listening.
5:3 Blessed. The word means more than "happy," because happiness is an emotion often dependent on outward circumstances. "Blessed" here refers to the ultimate well-being and distinctive spiritual joy of those who share in the salvation of the kingdom of God. See notes on Ps 1:1; Rev 1:3. poor in spirit. In contrast to the spiritually proud and self-sufficient. theirs is the kingdom of heaven. The kingdom is not something earned. It is more a gift than a recompense.
5:5 gentle. This beatitude is taken from Ps 37:11 and refers not so much to an attitude toward people as to a disposition before God, namely, humility. the earth. The new promised land (cf. Rev 21:1).
5:8 heart. The center of one's being, including mind, will and emotions (see note on Ps 4:7).
5:9 peacemakers. Those who promote peace, as far as it depends on them (Rom 12:18). In so doing, they reflect the character of their heavenly Father and so are called "sons of God."
5:10 theirs is the kingdom of heaven. A present reality as well as a future hope.

12 "Rejoice and be glad, for your reward in heaven is great; for [a]in the same way they persecuted the prophets who were before you.

Disciples and the World

13 "You are the salt of the earth; but [a]if the salt has become tasteless, how [1]can it be made salty again? It is no longer good for anything, except to be thrown out and trampled under foot by men.

14 "You are [a]the light of the world. A city set on a [1]hill cannot be hidden;

15 [a]nor does anyone light a lamp and put it under a [1]basket, but on the lampstand, and it gives light to all who are in the house.

16 "Let your light shine before men in such a way that they may [a]see your good works, and [b]glorify your Father who is in heaven.

17 "Do not think that I came to abolish the [a]Law or the Prophets; I did not come to abolish but to fulfill.

18 "For truly I say to you, [a]until heaven and earth pass away, not [1]the smallest letter or stroke shall pass from the Law until all is accomplished.

19 "Whoever then annuls one of the least of these commandments, and teaches [1]others to do the same, shall be called least [a]in the kingdom of heaven; but whoever [2]keeps and teaches them, he shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.

20 "For I say to you that unless your [a]righteousness surpasses that of the scribes and Pharisees, you will not enter the kingdom of heaven.

5:13 salt. Used for flavoring and preserving. has become tasteless. Most of the salt used in Israel came from the Dead Sea and was full of impurities. This caused it to lose some of its flavor.
5:15 lamp. In Jesus' day people used small clay lamps that burned olive oil drawn up by a wick (see note on Ex 25:37). basket. A bowl that held about 8 quarts of ground meal or flour.
5:16 Father who is in heaven. Matthew uses the term "Father who is in heaven" or "heavenly Father" 19 times, Mark twice, Luke once, and John not at all.
5:17 the Law. The first five books of the Jewish Scriptures (our OT). the Prophets. Not only the Latter Prophets—Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel, which we call Major Prophets, and the 12 Minor Prophets (lumped together by the Jews as "the Book of the Twelve")—but also the so-called Former Prophets (Joshua, Judges, Samuel and Kings). Taken together, "the Law" and "the Prophets" designated the entire OT, including the Writings, the third section of the Hebrew Bible. See 13:35, where Matthew introduces a quotation from the Writings (Ps 78:2) with "what was spoken through the prophet." fulfill. Jesus fulfilled the Law in the sense that He gave it its full meaning. He emphasized its deep, underlying principles and total commitment to it rather than mere external acknowledgment and obedience.
5:18–20 Jesus is not speaking against observing all the requirements of the Law, but against hypocritical, Pharisaical legalism. Such legalism was not the keeping of all details of the Law but the hollow sham of keeping laws externally, to gain merit before God, while breaking them inwardly. It was following the letter of the Law while ignoring its spirit. Jesus repudiates the Pharisees' interpretation of the Law and their view of righteousness by works. He preaches a righteousness that comes only through faith in Him and His work. In the verses that follow, He gives six examples of Pharisaical externalism.
5:18 smallest letter. One word in Greek (iota), which we use when we say, "It doesn't make one iota of difference." It is the nearest Greek equivalent to the Hebrew yodh, the smallest letter of the Hebrew alphabet (see Ps 119:73 title). stroke. The Greek word means "horn" and was used to designate the slight embellishment or extension of certain letters of the Hebrew alphabet (somewhat like the bottom of a "j").
5:21 the ancients were told. The contrast that Jesus sets up (vv. 21,27,31,33,38,43) is not between the OT and His teaching (He has just established the validity of the OT Law). Rather, it is between externalistic interpretation of the rabbinic tradition on the one hand, and Jesus' correct interpretation of the Law on the other. murder. Several Hebrew and Greek verbs mean "kill." The ones used here and in Ex 20:13 specifically mean "murder."
5:22 You good-for-nothing. This phrase may be related to the Aramaic word for "empty" and mean "Empty-head!" supreme court. See note on Mark 14:55. hell. The Greek word is ge(h)enna, which derives its name from a deep ravine south of Jerusalem, the "Valley of (the Sons of) Hinnom" (Hebrew ge hinnom). During the reigns of the wicked Ahaz and Manasseh, human sacrifices to the Ammonite god Molech were offered there. Josiah desecrated the valley because of the pagan worship there (2 Kin 23:10; see Jer 7:31–32; 19:6). It became a sort of perpetually burning city dump and later a figure for the place of final punishment.
5:23–26 Two illustrations of dealing with anger by means of reconciliation.
5:26 cent. The smallest Roman copper coin.

2 [1]Or give alms

5:28 looks at a woman with lust for her. Not a passing glance but a willful, calculated stare that arouses sexual desire. According to Jesus this is a form of adultery even if it is only "in his heart."

5:29–30 Jesus is not teaching self-mutilation, for even a blind man can lust. The point is that we should deal as drastically with sin as necessary.

5:30 hell. See note on v. 22.

5:32 except for the reason of unchastity. See note on 19:3. Neither Mark 10:11–12 nor Luke 16:18 mentions this exception.

5:33–37 The OT allowed oaths except those that profaned the name of God. Jesus would do away with all oaths, in favor of always speaking the truth.

5:38 See notes on Ex 21:23–25; Lev 24:20.

5:39 resist. Here it probably means in a court of law. slaps. The Greek verb used here means "slaps you with the back of the hand." It was more of an insult than an act of violence. The point is that it is better to be insulted even twice than to take the matter to court.

5:40 shirt . . . coat. The first was an undergarment, the second a loose outer one.

5:41 forces. The Greek verb comes from a Persian word meaning "press into service" and is used in 27:32, where the Roman soldiers pressed Simon into service to carry Jesus' cross.

5:42 Probably not a general requirement to give to everyone who asks, but a reference to the poor (cf. Deut 15:7–11; Ps 112:5,9).

5:43 hate your enemy. Words not found anywhere in the OT. However, hatred for one's enemies was an accepted part of the Jewish ethic at that time.

5:44 pray. Prayer is one of the practical ways love expresses itself (cf. Job 42:8–10).

5:45 that you may be sons of your Father who is in heaven. Loving one's enemy does not make one a son of the heavenly Father. But it does make one known as a son. the righteous and the unrighteous. God shows His love to people without distinction.

5:46 tax collectors. Traditionally known as "publicans," these were local men employed by Roman tax contractors to collect taxes for them. Because they worked for Rome and often demanded unreasonable payments, the tax collectors gained a bad reputation and were generally hated and considered traitors.

5:48 be perfect. Christ sets up the high ideal of perfect love (see vv. 43–47)—not that we can fully attain it in this life. That, however, is God's high standard for us.

6:1 righteousness. This verse introduces the discussion of three acts of righteousness: (1) giving (vv. 2–4), (2) praying (vv. 5–15) and (3) fasting (vv. 16–18). reward with your Father. Spiritual growth and maturity or perhaps a heavenly reward of some kind.

6:2 sound a trumpet before you. Perhaps a reference to the noise streets, so that they [a]may be honored by men. [b]Truly I say to you, they have their reward in full.

3 "But when you [1]give to the poor, do not let your left hand know what your right hand is doing,

4 so that your [1]giving will be in secret; and [a]your Father who sees what is done in secret will reward you.

5 "When you pray, you are not to be like the hypocrites; for they love to [a]stand and pray in the synagogues and on the street corners [1][b]so that they may be seen by men. [c]Truly I say to you, they have their reward in full.

6 "But you, when you pray, [a]go into your inner room, close your door and pray to your Father who is in secret, and [b]your Father who sees what is done in secret will reward you.

7 "And when you are praying, do not use meaningless repetition as the Gentiles do, for they suppose that they will be heard for their [a]many words.

8 "So do not be like them; for [a]your Father knows what you need before you ask Him.

9 "[a]Pray, then, in this way:
'Our Father who is in heaven,
Hallowed be Your name.
10 '[a]Your kingdom come.
[b]Your will be done,
On earth as it is in heaven.
11 '[a]Give us this day [1]our daily bread.
12 'And [a]forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors.
13 'And do not lead us into temptation, but [a]deliver us from [1][b]evil. [2][For Yours is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever. Amen.]'

14 "[a]For if you forgive [1]others for their transgressions, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.

15 "But [a]if you do not forgive [1]others, then your Father will not forgive your transgressions.

Fasting, The True Treasure, Wealth (Mammon)

16 "[a]Whenever you fast, do not put on a gloomy face as the hypocrites do, for they [1]neglect their appearance so that they will be noticed by men when they are fasting. [b]Truly I say to you, they have their reward in full.

17 "But you, when you fast, [a]anoint your head and wash your face

18 so that your fasting will not be noticed by men, but by your Father who is in secret and your [a]Father who sees what is done in secret will reward you.

19 "[a]Do not store up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust destroy and where thieves break in and steal.

20 "But store up for yourselves [a]treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust destroys, and where thieves do not break in or steal;

21 for [a]where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

22 "[a]The eye is the lamp of the body; so then if your eye is [1]clear, your whole body will be full of light.

23 "But if [a]your eye is [1]bad, your whole body will be full of darkness. If then the light that is in you is darkness, how great is the darkness!

24 "[a]No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will be devoted to one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and [1][b]wealth.

The Cure for Anxiety

25 "[a]For this reason I say to you, [1]do not be [b]worried about your [2]life, as to what you will eat or what you will drink; nor for your body, as to what you will put on. Is not life more than food, and the body more than clothing?

made by coins as they were thrown into the temple treasury. Or the phrase may be used figuratively to mean "make a big show of it." hypocrites. The Greek word means "play-actor." Matthew uses the word 13 times (Mark, twice; Luke, three times). Here it refers to those who fake being pious. their reward in full. The honor they receive from people is all the reward they get.

6:3 do not let your left hand know what your right hand is doing. Not to be taken literally but as a way of emphasizing that one should not call attention to one's giving. Self-glorification is always a present danger.

6:6 room. The Greek word means "storeroom." Unlike most of the rooms in the house, it had a door that could be shut.

6:7 use meaningless repetition as the Gentiles do. They used long lists of the names of their gods in their prayers, hoping that by constantly repeating them they would call on the name of the god that could help them. Jesus is not necessarily condemning all long prayers, but meaningless verbiage in praying.

6:12 debts. Moral debts, i.e., sins (see note on Luke 11:4).

6:16 fast. See notes on Mark 2:18 and Luke 18:12.

6:17 anoint your head and wash your face. Jews put ashes on their heads when fasting. But Jesus told them to maintain their regular appearance. Fasting should not be done in an ostentatious way.

6:19–21 The dangers of riches are often mentioned in the NT (e.g., v. 24; 13:22; 19:22; Mark 10:17–30; Luke 12:16–21; 1 Tim 6:9–10,17–19; Heb 13:5), but nowhere are they condemned in and of themselves. What Jesus condemns here is greed and hoarding of money.

6:19 moth and rust. Representative of all agents and processes that destroy worldly possessions. break in and steal. Houses in the Holy Land had walls made of mud bricks and could be broken into easily.

6:20 treasures in heaven. Anything done in this life that has eternal value. The phrase is the equivalent of being "rich toward God" (Luke 12:21). In this context it probably more specifically refers to using one's material wealth for good causes.

do not sow, nor reap nor gather into barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not worth much more than they?

27 "And who of you by being [a]worried can [b]add a single [1]hour to his [2]life?

28 "And why are you [a]worried about clothing? Observe how the lilies of the field grow; they do not toil nor do they spin, 29 yet I say to you that not even [a]Solomon in all his glory clothed himself like one of these.

30 "But if God so clothes the [a]grass of the field, which is alive today and tomorrow is thrown into the furnace, will He not much more clothe you? [b]You of little faith!

31 "Do not [a]worry then, saying, 'What will we eat?' or 'What will we drink?' or 'What will we wear for clothing?'

32 "For the Gentiles eagerly seek all these things; for [a]your heavenly Father knows that you need all these things.

33 "But [1]seek first [2]His kingdom and His righteousness, and [a]all these things will be [3]added to you.

34 "So do not [a]worry about tomorrow; for tomorrow will [1]care for itself. [2]Each day has enough trouble of its own.

Judging Others

7 "[a]Do not judge so that you will not be judged.

2 "For in the way you judge, you will be judged; and [1][a]by your standard of measure, it will be measured to you.

3 "Why do you [a]look at the speck that is in your brother's eye, but do not notice the log that is in your own eye?

4 "[a]Or how [1]can you say to your brother, 'Let me take the speck out of your eye,' and behold, the log is in your own eye?

5 "You hypocrite, first take the log out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly to take the speck out of your brother's eye.

6 "[a]Do not give what is holy to dogs, and do not throw your pearls before swine, or they will trample them under their feet, and turn and tear you to pieces.

Prayer and the Golden Rule

7 "[1][a]Ask, and [b]it will be given to you; [2]seek, and you will find; [3]knock, and it will be opened to you.

8 "For everyone who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened.

9 "Or what man is there among you [1]who, when his son asks for a loaf, [2]will give him a stone?

10 "Or [1]if he asks for a fish, he will not give him a snake, will he?

11 "If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, [a]how much more will your Father who is in heaven give what is good to those who ask Him!

12 "In everything, [a]therefore, [1]treat people the same way you want [2]them to treat you, for [b]this is the Law and the Prophets.

The Narrow and Wide Gates

13 "[a]Enter through the narrow gate; for the gate is wide and the way is broad that leads to destruction, and there are many who enter through it.

14 "For the gate is small and the way is narrow that leads to life, and there are few who find it.

A Tree and Its Fruit

15 "Beware of the [a]false prophets, who come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly are [b]ravenous wolves.

16 "You will [1][a]know them by their fruits. [2]Grapes are not gathered from thorn bushes nor figs from thistles, are they?

17 "So [a]every good tree bears good fruit, but the bad tree bears bad fruit.

18 "A good tree cannot produce bad fruit, nor can a bad tree produce good fruit.

6:28 lilies. Here represents flowers generally.

6:30 thrown into the furnace. Grass was commonly used to heat the clay ovens of the Holy Land.

7:1 The Christian is not to judge hypocritically or self-righteously, as can be seen from the context (v. 5). The same thought is expressed in 23:13–39 (cf. Rom 2:1). To obey Christ's commands in this chapter, we must first evaluate a person's character—whether he is a "dog" (v. 6) or a false prophet (v. 15), or whether his life shows fruit (v. 16). Scripture repeatedly exhorts believers to evaluate carefully and choose between good and bad people and things (sexually immoral, 1 Cor 5:9; those who masquerade as angels of light, 2 Cor 11:14; dogs, Phil 3:2; false prophets, 1 John 4:1). The Christian is to "examine everything" (1 Thess 5:21).

7:3 speck . . . log. An example of hyperbole in the teachings of Jesus (cf. 19:24, where Jesus speaks of a camel going through the eye of needle). Its purpose is to drive home a point.

7:6 Teaching should be given in accordance with the spiritual capacity of the learners. dogs. The unclean dogs of the street were held in low esteem.

7:8 asks . . . seeks . . . knocks. Greek present imperatives are used here, indicating constant asking, seeking and knocking. Persistent prayer is being emphasized.

7:12 The so-called Golden Rule is found in negative form in rabbinic Judaism and also in Hinduism, Buddhism and Confucianism. It occurred in various forms in Greek and Roman ethical teaching. Jesus stated it in positive form. the Law and the Prophets. See note on 5:17.

7:13 narrow gate. The gate that leads into the kingdom of heaven. It's synonymous with "life" (v. 14). destruction. Separation from God in hell.

7:15 false prophets. People who have not been sent by God but who claim that they have (see 24:24; Jer 23:16 and note).

19 "[a]Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire.
20 "So then, you will [1]know them [a]by their fruits.
21 "[a]Not everyone who says to Me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of My Father who is in heaven will enter.
22 "[a]Many will say to Me on [b]that day,
'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in Your name, and in Your name cast out demons, and in Your name perform many [1]miracles?'
23 "And then I will declare to them, 'I never knew you; [a]DEPART FROM ME, YOU WHO PRAC-TICE LAWLESSNESS.'

The Two Foundations

24 "Therefore [a]everyone who hears these words of Mine and [1]acts on them, [2]may be compared to a wise man who built his house on the rock.
25 "And the rain fell, and the [1]floods came, and the winds blew and slammed against that house; and yet it did not fall, for it had been founded on the rock.
26 "Everyone who hears these words of Mine and does not [1]act on them, will be like a foolish man who built his house on the sand.
27 "The rain fell, and the [1]floods came, and the winds blew and slammed against that house; and it fell—and great was its fall."
28 [1][a]When Jesus had finished these words,
[b]the crowds were amazed at His teaching;
29 for He was teaching them as one having authority, and not as their scribes.

3 Jesus stretched out His hand and

4 And Jesus *said to him, "[a]See that you

5 And [a]when [1]Jesus entered Capernaum,

7 Jesus *said to him, "I will come and

7:22 that day. The day of judgment (cf. Mal 3:17–18). prophesy. In the NT this verb primarily means to give a message from God, not necessarily to predict. demons. See note on Mark 1:23.
7:29 authority. The teachers of the law quoted other rabbis to support their own teaching (see note on 2:4), but Jesus spoke with divine authority.
8:2 leper. The Greek word was used for various diseases affecting the skin—not necessarily leprosy (see Lev 13–14 and note on Lev 13:2). Lord. See note on 7:21. make me clean. Leprosy made a person ceremonially unclean as well as physically afflicted (see note on Luke 5:12–16).
8:4 tell no one. Perhaps for several reasons: (1) Jesus did not want to be considered just a miracle worker, (2) He did not want His teaching ministry hindered by too much publicity being given to His healing miracles, and (3) He did not want His death to come prematurely, i.e., before He had finished His ministry. See 9:30; 12:16; Mark 1:44; 5:43; 7:36; Luke 8:56. show yourself to the priest. See note on Luke 5:14. them. The priests.
8:5–13 Although the incident in John 4:43–54 is similar, it probably is a separate episode in the life of Jesus.
8:5 Capernaum. See note on 4:13. centurion. A Roman military officer in charge of 100 soldiers. In Luke's account (Luke 7:1–5) Jewish elders and friends of the centurion came to Jesus on his behalf, but Matthew does not mention these intermediaries. A parallel situation was the flogging of Jesus by Pilate, in which the act was obviously not carried out by Pilate himself but by the Roman soldiers at Pilate's command (27:26, lit. "he flogged Jesus").
8:8 I am not worthy for You to come under my roof. In Greek the words "I am not worthy" are the same as those used by John the Baptist in 3:11 ("I am not fit"). The entire statement reveals how highly the centurion regarded Jesus. Or perhaps his response reflects his own sense of moral guilt in the presence of Jesus.
8:11 The universality of the gospel is one of Matthew's themes (see Introduction: Recipients). table . . . in the kingdom of heaven. The eschatological Messianic banquet that symbolizes the blessings of an intimate relationship with God (see Is 25:6–9).
8:12 sons of the kingdom. Jews who thought their Judaism was an inherited passport for entrance into the kingdom (see 3:9–10 and note on 3:9).

Peter's Mother-in-law and Many Others Healed

14 [a]When Jesus came into Peter's [1]home, He saw his mother-in-law lying sick in bed with a fever.

15 He touched her hand, and the fever left her; and she got up and [1]waited on Him.

16 When evening came, they brought to Him many [a]who were demon-possessed; and He cast out the spirits with a word, and [b]healed all who were ill.

17 This was to fulfill what was spoken through Isaiah the prophet: "[a]HE HIMSELF TOOK OUR INFIRMITIES AND [1]CARRIED AWAY OUR DISEASES."

Discipleship Tested

18 Now when Jesus saw a crowd around Him, [a]He gave orders to depart to the other side of the sea.

19 [a]Then a scribe came and said to Him, "Teacher, I will follow You wherever You go."

20 Jesus *said to him, "The foxes have holes and the birds of the [1]air have [2]nests, but [a]the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head."

21 Another of the disciples said to Him, "Lord, permit me first to go and bury my father."

22 But Jesus *said to him, "[a]Follow Me, and allow the dead to bury their own dead."

23 [a]When He got into the boat, His disciples followed Him.

24 And behold, there arose [1]a great storm on the sea, so that the boat was being covered with the waves; but Jesus Himself was asleep.

25 And they came to Him and woke Him, saying, "[a]Save us, Lord; we are perishing!"

26 He *said to them, "Why are you [1]afraid, [a]you men of little faith?" Then He got up and rebuked the winds and the sea, and [2]it became perfectly calm.

27 The men were amazed, and said, "What kind of a man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey Him?"

Jesus Casts Out Demons

28 [a]When He came to the other side into the country of the Gadarenes, two men who were [b]demon-possessed met Him as they were coming out of the tombs. They were so extremely violent that no one could pass by that way.

29 And they cried out, saying, "[1][a]What business do we have with each other, Son of God? Have You come here to torment us before [2]the time?"

30 Now there was a herd of many swine feeding at a distance from them.

31 The demons began to entreat Him, saying, "If You are going to cast us out, send us into the herd of swine."

32 And He said to them, "Go!" And they came out and went into the swine, and the whole herd rushed down the steep bank into the sea and perished in the waters.

33 The herdsmen ran away, and went to the city and reported everything, [1]including what had happened to the [a]demoniacs.

34 And behold, the whole city came out to meet Jesus; and when they saw Him, [a]they implored Him to leave their region.

A Paralytic Healed

9 Getting into a boat, Jesus crossed over the sea and came to [a]His own city.

2 [a]And they brought to Him a [b]paralytic lying on a bed. Seeing their faith, Jesus said to the paralytic, "[c]Take courage, [1]son; [d]your sins are forgiven."

3 And some of the scribes said [1]to themselves, "This fellow [a]blasphemes."

4 And Jesus [a]knowing their thoughts said, "Why are you thinking evil in your hearts?

5 "Which is easier, to say, '[a]Your sins are forgiven,' or to say, 'Get up, and walk'?

6 "But so that you may know that [a]the

8:20 Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31.
8:22 allow the dead to bury their own dead. Let the spiritually dead bury the physically dead. The time of Jesus' ministry was short and demanded full attention and commitment. This statement stresses the radical demands of Jesus' discipleship, since Jews placed great importance on the duty of children to bury their parents.
8:24 great storm. See note on Mark 4:37. but Jesus Himself was asleep. See note on Mark 4:38.
8:28 country of the Gadarenes. The region around the city of Gadara, six miles southeast of the Sea of Galilee. Mark and Luke identify the region by the capital city Gerasa, located about 35 miles southeast of the Sea. two. Mark (5:2) and Luke (8:27; see note there) mention only one Gadarene demoniac.
8:29 time. The time of their judgment (see notes on Mark 5:10 and Luke 8:31).
8:30 herd of many swine. Large numbers of Gentiles lived in Galilee. Normally Jews did not raise pigs, since they were considered the most "unclean" of all animals.
8:32 Though Jesus seemingly consented to the demons' request, the pigs carried the demons into the depths of the sea—perhaps symbolic of the Abyss (see Luke 8:31 and note).
8:34 implored Him to leave. They were probably more concerned about their financial loss than about the deliverance of the miserable demon-possessed man.
9:1 crossed over. The northern end of the Sea of Galilee. His own city. Capernaum (see note on 4:13).
9:2 their faith. The faith of the men who carried him as well as the faith of the paralytic.
9:3 blasphemes. Here the term includes usurping God's prerogative to forgive sins (see note on Mark 2:7).
9:5–6 See notes on Mark 2:9–10; 14:64.

Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins"—then He *said to the [b]paralytic, "Get up, pick up your bed and go home."

7 And he got up and [1]went home.

8 But when the crowds saw this, they were [1]awestruck, and [a]glorified God, who had given such authority to men.

Matthew Called

9 [a]As Jesus went on from there, He saw a man called [b]Matthew, sitting in the tax collector's booth; and He *said to him, "[c]Follow Me!" And he got up and followed Him.

10 Then it happened that as [1]Jesus was reclining at the table in the house, behold, many tax collectors and [2]sinners came and were dining with Jesus and His disciples.

11 When the Pharisees saw this, they said to His disciples, "[a]Why is your Teacher eating with the tax collectors and sinners?"

12 But when Jesus heard this, He said, "It is not [a]those who are healthy who need a physician, but those who are sick.

13 "But go and learn [1][a]what this means: '[b]I DESIRE [2]COMPASSION, [3]AND NOT SACRIFICE,' for [c]I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners."

The Question about Fasting

14 Then the disciples of John *came to Him, asking, "Why do we and [a]the Pharisees fast, but Your disciples do not fast?"

15 And Jesus said to them, "The [1]attendants of the bridegroom cannot mourn as long as the bridegroom is with them, can they? But the days will come when the bridegroom is taken away from them, and then they will fast.

16 "But no one puts [1]a patch of unshrunk cloth on an old garment; for [2]the patch pulls away from the garment, and a worse tear results.

17 "Nor do people put new wine into old wineskins; otherwise the wineskins burst, and the wine pours out and the wineskins are ruined; but they put new wine into fresh wineskins, and both are preserved."

Miracles of Healing

18 [a]While He was saying these things to them, [1]a synagogue [2]official came and [3][b]bowed down before Him, and said, "My daughter has just died; but come and lay Your hand on her, and she will live."

19 Jesus got up and began to follow him, and so did His disciples.

20 And a woman who had been suffering from a hemorrhage for twelve years, came up behind Him and touched [a]the [1]fringe of His [2]cloak;

21 for she was saying [1]to herself, "If I only [a]touch His garment, I will [2]get well."

22 But Jesus turning and seeing her said, "Daughter, [a]take courage; [b]your faith has [1]made you well." [2]At once the woman was [3]made well.

23 When Jesus came into the [1]official's house, and saw [a]the flute-players and the crowd in noisy disorder, 24 He said, "Leave; for the girl [a]has not died, but is asleep." And they began laughing at Him.

25 But [a]when the crowd had been sent out, He entered and [b]took her by the hand, and the girl [1]got up.

26 [a]This news spread throughout all that land.

27 As Jesus went on from there, two blind men followed Him, crying out, "Have mercy on us, [a]Son of David!"

28 When He entered the house, the blind men came up to Him, and Jesus *said to them, "Do you believe that I am able to do this?" They *said to Him, "Yes, Lord."

29 Then He touched their eyes, saying, "[1]It shall be done to you [a]according to your faith."

30 And their eyes were opened. And Jesus [a]sternly warned them: "See that no one knows about this!"

31 But they went out and [a]spread the news about Him throughout all that land.

32 As they were going out, [a]a mute, [b]demon-possessed man [1]was brought to Him.

33 After the demon was cast out, the mute man spoke; and the crowds were amazed, and were saying, "[a]Nothing like this has [1]ever been seen in Israel."

34 But the Pharisees were saying, "He [a]casts out the demons by the ruler of the demons."

35 Jesus was going through all the cities and villages, [a]teaching in their synagogues and proclaiming the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every kind of disease and every kind of sickness.

36 [a]Seeing the [1]people, He felt compassion for them, [b]because they were [2]distressed and [3]dispirited like sheep [4]without a shepherd.

37 Then He *said to His disciples, "[a]The harvest is plentiful, but the workers are few.

38 "Therefore beseech the Lord of the harvest to send out workers into His harvest."

The Twelve Disciples; Instructions for Service

10 Jesus [a]summoned His twelve disciples and gave them authority over unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to [b]heal every kind of disease and every kind of sickness.

2 [a]Now the names of the twelve apostles are these: The first, [b]Simon, who is called Peter, and [b]Andrew his brother; and [1c]James the son of Zebedee, and [2]John his brother;

3 [a]Philip and [1]Bartholomew; [b]Thomas and [c]Matthew the tax collector; [2d]James the son of Alphaeus, and [e]Thaddaeus;

4 Simon the [1]Zealot, and [a]Judas Iscariot, the one who betrayed Him.

5 [a]These twelve Jesus sent out after instructing them: "Do not [1]go [2]in the way of the Gentiles, and do not enter any city of the [b]Samaritans;

6 but rather go to [a]the lost sheep of the house of Israel.

7 "And as you go, [1]preach, saying, '[a]The kingdom of heaven [2]is at hand.'

8 "Heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse the lepers, cast out demons. Freely you received, freely give.

9 "[a]Do not acquire gold, or silver, or copper for your money belts,

10 or a [1]bag for your journey, or even two [2]coats, or sandals, or a staff; for [a]the worker is worthy of his [3]support.

11 "And whatever city or village you enter, inquire who is worthy in it, and stay [1]at his house until you leave that city.

12 "As you enter the [1]house, [a]give it your [2]greeting.

13 "If the house is worthy, [1]give it your blessing of peace. But if it is not worthy, [2]take back your blessing of peace.

14 "Whoever does not receive you, nor heed your words, as you go out of that house or that city, [a]shake the dust off your feet.

15 "Truly I say to you, [a]it will be more tolerable for the land of [b]Sodom and Gomorrah in [c]the day of judgment than for that city.

A Hard Road before Them

16 "[a]Behold, I send you out as sheep in the midst of wolves; so [1]be [b]shrewd as serpents and [c]innocent as doves.

17 "But beware of men, for they will hand you over to the [a]courts and scourge you [b]in their synagogues;

18 and you will even be brought before governors and kings for My sake, as a testimony to them and to the Gentiles.

10:4 the Zealot. Either a description of Simon's religious zeal or a reference to his membership in the party of the Zealots, a Jewish revolutionary group violently opposed to Roman rule over the Holy Land.
10:5 Do not go. The good news about the kingdom was to be proclaimed first to Jews only. After His death and resurrection, Jesus commanded the message to be taken to all nations (28:19; cf. 21:43). Samaritans. A mixed-blood race resulting from the intermarriage of Israelites left behind when the people of the northern kingdom were exiled and Gentiles brought into the land by the Assyrians (2 Kin 17:24). Bitter hostility existed between Jews and Samaritans in Jesus' day (see John 4:9).
10:7 kingdom of heaven. See note on 3:2.
10:8 lepers. The Greek word for leprosy was used for various diseases affecting the skin—not necessarily leprosy. See note on Lev 13:2.
10:9–10 See notes on Mark 6:8–9.
10:12 your greeting. The Jews' greeting was shalom, "peace."
10:14 shake the dust off your feet. A symbolic act practiced by the Pharisees when they left an "unclean" Gentile area. Here it represented an act of solemn warning to those who rejected God's message (see notes on Luke 9:5; Acts 13:51; cf. Acts 18:6).
10:15 Sodom and Gomorrah. See Gen 19:23–29.
10:16 Cf. Paul's statement in Rom 16:19: "I want you to be wise in what is good and innocent in what is evil."
10:17 courts. The lower courts, connected with local synagogues, that tried less serious cases and flogged those found guilty. synagogues. See notes on Mark 1:21 and Luke 21:12.

19 "[a]But when they hand you over, do not worry about how or what you are to say; for it will be given you in that hour what you are to say.
20 "For [a]it is not you who speak, but it is the Spirit of your Father who speaks in you.
21 "[a]Brother will betray brother to death, and a father his child; and [b]children will rise up against parents and [1]cause them to be put to death.
22 "[a]You will be hated by all because of My name, but [b]it is the one who has endured to the end who will be saved.
23 "But whenever they [a]persecute you in [1]one city, flee to [2]the next; for truly I say to you, you will not finish going through the cities of Israel [b]until the Son of Man comes.

The Meaning of Discipleship

24 "[a]A [1]disciple is not above his teacher, nor a slave above his master.
25 "It is enough for the disciple that he become like his teacher, and the slave like his master. [a]If they have called the head of the house [1b]Beelzebul, how much more will they malign the members of his household!
26 "Therefore do not [a]fear them, [b]for there is nothing concealed that will not be revealed, or hidden that will not be known.
27 "[a]What I tell you in the darkness, speak in the light; and what you hear whispered in your ear, proclaim [b]upon the housetops.
28 "Do not fear those who kill the body but are unable to kill the soul; but rather [a]fear Him who is able to destroy both soul and body in [1b]hell.
29 "[a]Are not two sparrows sold for a [1]cent? And yet not one of them will fall to the ground apart from your Father.
30 "But [a]the very hairs of your head are all numbered.
31 "So do not fear; [a]you are more valuable than many sparrows.
32 "Therefore [a]everyone who [1]confesses Me before men, I will also confess [2]him before My Father who is in heaven.

36 and [a]A MAN'S ENEMIES WILL BE THE MEMBERS OF HIS HOUSEHOLD.
37 "[a]He who loves father or mother more than Me is not worthy of Me; and he who loves son or daughter more than Me is not worthy of Me.

39 "[a]He who has found his [1]life will lose it, and he who has lost his [1]life for My sake will find it.

The Reward of Service

40 "[a]He who receives you receives Me, and [b]he who receives Me receives Him who sent Me.
41 "[a]He who receives a prophet in the name of a prophet shall receive a prophet's reward; and he who receives a righteous man in the name of a righteous man shall receive a righteous man's reward.
42 "And [a]whoever in the name of a disciple gives to one of these [1]little ones even a cup of cold water to drink, truly I say to you, he shall not lose his reward."

John's Questions

11 [a]When Jesus had finished [1]giving instructions to His twelve disciples, He departed from there [b]to teach and [2]preach in their cities.

42 [1]I.e. humble [a]Matt 25:40; Mark 9:41 11:1 [1]Or commanding [2]Or proclaim [a]Matt 7:28 [b]Matt 9:35; Luke 23:5

10:19 do not worry about . . . what you are to say. Not to be used by preachers as an excuse for lack of sermon preparation! See Luke 21:14–15.

10:22 the one who has endured to the end . . . will be saved. See note on Mark 13:13.

10:23 Jesus' saying here is probably best understood as referring to His coming in judgment on the Jews when Jerusalem and the temple were destroyed in A.D. 70.

10:25 Beelzebul. Satan, the ruler of demons (12:24); the Greek form of the Hebrew name Baal-Zebul ("Exalted Baal" or "Prince Baal"). The Hebrew epithet Baal-Zebub ("lord of flies"), is a parody on and mockery of the actual name (see Judg 10:6).

10:28 soul. The true self. Body and soul are closely related in this life but are separated at death and then reunited at the resurrection (cf. 2 Cor 5:1–10; Phil 1:23–24). Him. God. He alone determines the final destiny of us all. hell. See note on 5:22.

10:34 At first glance this saying sounds like a contradiction of Is 9:6 ("Prince of Peace"), Luke 2:14 ("on earth peace among men") and John 14:27 ("Peace I leave with you"). It is true that Christ came to bring peace—peace between the believer and God, and peace among men. Yet the inevitable result of Christ's coming is conflict—between Christ and the antichrist, between light and darkness, between Christ's children and the devil's children. This conflict can occur even between members of the same family (vv. 35–36).

10:38 take his cross. The first mention of the cross in Matthew's Gospel. The cross was an instrument of death and here symbolizes the necessity of total commitment—even unto death—on the part of Jesus' disciples (see note on Mark 8:34).

10:40–42 During times of persecution, hospitality was especially important and could be dangerous. So Jesus indicates that those who provide it and show kindness to God's people will receive a reward.

11:1 While the 12 apostles were carrying out their first mission, Jesus continued His ministry in Galilee.

2 [a]Now when [b]John, [1]while imprisoned, heard of the works of Christ, he sent word by his disciples

3 and said to Him, "Are You [a]the [1]Expected One, or shall we look for someone else?"

4 Jesus answered and said to them, "Go and report to John what you hear and see:

5 [a]the BLIND RECEIVE SIGHT and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the [b]POOR HAVE THE [1]GOSPEL PREACHED TO THEM.

6 "And blessed is he [1]who [a]does not [2]take offense at Me."

Jesus' Tribute to John

7 As these men were going away, Jesus began to speak to the crowds about John, "What did you go out into [a]the wilderness to see? A reed shaken by the wind?

8 "[1]But what did you go out to see? A man dressed in soft clothing? Those who wear soft clothing are in kings' [2]palaces!

9 "[1]But what did you go out to see? [a]A prophet? Yes, I tell you, and one who is more than a prophet.

10 "This is the one about whom it [1]is written,

> '[a]BEHOLD, I SEND MY MESSENGER [2]AHEAD OF YOU, > WHO WILL PREPARE YOUR WAY BEFORE YOU.'

11 "Truly I say to you, among those born of women there has not arisen anyone greater than John the Baptist! Yet the one who is [1]least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he.

12 "[a]From the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven [1]suffers violence, and violent men [2]take it by force.

13 "For all the prophets and the Law prophesied until John.

14 "And if you are willing to accept it, John himself is [a]Elijah who [1]was to come.

15 "[a]He who has ears to hear, [1]let him hear.

16 "But to what shall I compare this generation? It is like children sitting in the market places, who call out to the other children,

17 and say, 'We played the flute for you, and you did not dance; we sang a dirge, and you did not [1]mourn.'

18 "For John came neither [a]eating nor [b]drinking, and they say, '[c]He has a demon!'

19 "The Son of Man came eating and drinking, and they say, 'Behold, a gluttonous man and a [1]drunkard, [a]a friend of tax collectors and [2]sinners!' Yet wisdom is vindicated by her deeds."

The Unrepenting Cities

20 Then He began to denounce the cities in which most of His [1][a]miracles were done, because they did not repent.

21 "[a]Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, [b]Bethsaida! For if the [1]miracles had occurred in [c]Tyre and [c]Sidon which occurred in you, they would have repented long ago in [2][d]sackcloth and ashes.

22 "Nevertheless I say to you, [a]it will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon in [b]the day of judgment than for you.

23 "And you, [a]Capernaum, will not be exalted to heaven, will you? You will 11:3 the Expected One. The Messiah. look for someone else. See note on Luke 7:19.

11:4 report to John what you hear and see. See note on Luke 7:22.

11:5 lepers. See note on 8:2 and Lev 13:2. the POOR HAVE THE GOSPEL PREACHED TO THEM. See note on Luke 7:22.

11:6 he who does not take offense. See note on Luke 7:23.

11:11 greater than he. John belonged to the age of the old covenant, which was preparatory to Christ. The least NT saint has a higher privilege in Christ as a part of His bride (the church, Eph 5:25–27,32) than John the Baptist, who was only a friend of the bridegroom (John 3:29). Another view, however, stresses the expression "he who is least," holding that the key to its meaning is found in 18:4—"whoever . . . humbles himself as this child." Such a person, though "least," is regarded by God as even greater than John the Baptist.

11:12 suffers violence. The Greek here can be taken in either an active or a passive sense. In this context its passive meaning would be, "suffering violent attacks." The term "violent men," then, would be understood in a negative sense. The verse would then emphasize the ongoing persecution of the people of the kingdom.

11:13 prophets and the Law. The entire OT prophesied the coming of the kingdom. John represented the end of the old economy.

11:14 John himself is Elijah who was to come. A reference to Mal 4:5, which prophesied the reappearance of Elijah before the day of the Lord. Some of the people remembered the prophecy and asked John the Baptist, "Are you Elijah?" He answered, "I am not" (John 1:21). John was not literally the reincarnation of Elijah, but he did fulfill the function and role of the prophet (see Matt 17:10–13 and note on Luke 1:17).

11:16 like children sitting in the market places. See note on Luke 7:32.

11:17 played the flute. As at a wedding. sang a dirge. As at a funeral. The latter symbolized the ministry of John, the former that of Jesus. The people of Jesus' generation were like children who refused to respond on either occasion.

11:19 Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31. wisdom is vindicated by her deeds. Apparently means that God (wisdom) had sent both John and Jesus in specific roles, and that this would be vindicated by the lasting works of both Jesus and John (see note on Luke 7:35).

11:21 Chorazin. Mentioned in the Bible only twice (here and in Luke 10:13), it was near the Sea of Galilee, probably about two miles north of Capernaum. Bethsaida. On the northeast shore of the Sea of Galilee. Philip the tetrarch rebuilt Bethsaida and named it "Julias," after Julia, daughter of Caesar Augustus. Tyre and Sidon. Cities on the Phoenician coast north of the Holy Land. sackcloth. Here a sign of repentance (see note on Gen 37:34). Cf. Rev 6:12. ashes. Also a sign of repentance.

11:23 Capernaum. See note on Luke 10:15.

[b]descend to [c]Hades; for if the [1]miracles had occurred in [d]Sodom which occurred in you, it would have remained to this day.

24 "Nevertheless I say to you that [a]it will be more tolerable for the land of [b]Sodom in the day of judgment, than for you."

Come to Me

25 [a]At that [1]time Jesus said, "I praise You, [b]Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that [c]You have hidden these things from the wise and intelligent and have revealed them to infants.

26 "Yes, [a]Father, for this way was well-pleasing in Your sight.

27 "[a]All things have been handed over to Me by My Father; and no one knows the Son except the Father; nor does anyone know the Father [b]except the Son, and anyone to whom the Son wills to reveal Him.

28 "[a]Come to Me, all [1]who are weary and heavy-laden, and I will give you rest.

29 "Take My yoke upon you and [a]learn from Me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and [b]YOU WILL FIND REST FOR YOUR SOULS.

30 "For [a]My yoke is [1]easy and My burden is light."

Sabbath Questions

12 [a]At that [1]time Jesus went through the grainfields on the Sabbath, and His disciples became hungry and began to [b]pick the heads of grain and eat.

2 But when the Pharisees saw this, they said to Him, "Look, Your disciples do what [a]is not lawful to do on a Sabbath."

3 But He said to them, "Have you not read what David did when he became hungry, he and his companions,

4 how he entered the house of God, and [a]they ate the [1]consecrated bread, which was not lawful for him to eat nor for those with him, but for the priests alone?

5 "Or have you not read in the Law, that on the Sabbath the priests in the temple [1]break the Sabbath and are innocent?

6 "But I say to you that something [a]greater than the temple is here.

Lord of the Sabbath

8 "For [a]the Son of Man is Lord of the Sabbath."

9 [a]Departing from there, He went into their synagogue.

10 And a man was there whose hand was withered. And they questioned [1]Jesus, asking, "[a]Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath?"—so that they might accuse Him.

11 And He said to them, "[a]What man [1]is there among you who [2]has a sheep, and if it falls into a pit on the Sabbath, will he not take hold of it and lift it out?

12 "[a]How much more valuable then is a man than a sheep! So then, it is lawful to do [1]good on the Sabbath."

13 Then He *said to the man, "Stretch out your hand!" [a]He stretched it out, and it was restored to [1]normal, like the other.

14 But the Pharisees went out and [1][a]conspired against Him, as to how they might destroy Him.

15 But Jesus, [1]aware of this, withdrew from there. Many followed Him, and [a]He healed them all, 16 and [a]warned them not to [1]tell who He was.

17 This was to fulfill what was spoken through Isaiah the prophet:

18 "[a]BEHOLD, MY [1]SERVANT WHOM I [2]HAVE CHOSEN;
[b]MY BELOVED IN WHOM MY SOUL [3]IS WELL-PLEASED;
[c]I WILL PUT MY SPIRIT UPON HIM,

11:25 these things. The "things" probably include an understanding of Jesus' mission. the wise and intelligent. The teachers of the law and the Pharisees. infants. The humble followers of Jesus.

12:1 grainfields. Of wheat or barley, the latter eaten by poorer people. pick the heads of grain. See note on Mark 2.23.

12:2 Pharisees. See note on Mark 2:16. what is not lawful to do on a Sabbath. See note on Mark 2:24.

12:3 what David did. See note on Mark 2:25.

12:4 consecrated bread. Each Sabbath, 12 fresh loaves of bread were to be set on a table in the holy place (Ex 25:30; Lev 24:5–9). The old loaves were eaten by the priests.

12:5 break the Sabbath. By doing work associated with the sacrifices.

12:8 the Son of Man is Lord of the Sabbath. See note on Luke 6:5.

12:9 synagogue. See note on Mark 1:21.

12:10 heal on the Sabbath. The rabbis prohibited healing on the Sabbath, unless it was feared the victim would die before the next day. Obviously the man with the withered hand was in no danger of this.

12:13 "Stretch out your hand!" He stretched it out. The fact that the man stretched out his withered hand shows there is a connection between faith and Jesus' healing power.

12:16 not to tell who He was. See note on 8:4.

12:18–21 Another fulfillment passage (see note on 1:22). This one is from Isaiah's first servant song (42:1–4) and is the longest OT quotation in Matthew's Gospel. It summarizes the quiet ministry of the Lord's servant, who will bring justice and hope to the nations.

12:18 MY SERVANT. Jesus is called God's servant only here and in Acts 3:13 (see note there), 26; 4:27,30. MY BELOVED IN WHOM MY SOUL IS WELL-PLEASED. See note on 3:17.

19 "[a]He will not quarrel, nor cry out;
Nor will anyone hear His voice in the streets.
20 "[a]A battered reed He will not break off,
And a smoldering wick He will not put out,
Until He [1]leads [2]justice to victory.
21 "[a]And in His name the [1]Gentiles will hope."

The Pharisees Rebuked

22 [a]Then a [b]demon-possessed man who was blind and mute was brought to [1]Jesus, and He healed him, so that the mute man spoke and saw.

23 All the crowds were amazed, and were saying, "This man cannot be the [a]Son of David, can he?"

24 But when the Pharisees heard this, they said, "This man [a]casts out demons only by [1]Beelzebul the ruler of the demons."

25 [a]And [b]knowing their thoughts Jesus said to them, "[1]Any kingdom divided against itself is laid waste; and [1]any city or house divided against itself will not stand.

26 "If [a]Satan casts out Satan, he [1]is divided against himself; how then will his kingdom stand?

27 "If I [a]by [1]Beelzebul cast out demons, [b]by whom do your sons cast them out? For this reason they will be your judges.

28 "But [a]if I cast out demons by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God has come upon you.

29 "Or how can anyone enter the strong man's house and carry off his property, unless he first binds the strong man? And then he will plunder his house.

The Unpardonable Sin

30 "[a]He who is not with Me is against Me; and he who does not gather with Me scatters.

31 "[a]Therefore I say to you, any sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven people, but blasphemy against the Spirit shall not be forgiven.

32 "[a]Whoever [1]speaks a word against the Son of Man, it shall be forgiven him; but whoever [1]speaks against the Holy Spirit, it shall not be forgiven him, either in [b]this age or in the age to come.

Words Reveal Character

33 "Either make the tree good and its fruit good, or make the tree bad and its fruit bad; for [a]the tree is known by its fruit.

34 "[a]You brood of vipers, how can you, being evil, speak [1]what is good? [b]For the mouth speaks out of that which fills the heart.

35 "[a]The good man brings out of his good treasure [1]what is good; and the evil man brings out of his evil treasure [2]what is evil.

36 "But I tell you that every [1]careless word that people [2]speak, they shall give an accounting for it in [a]the day of judgment.

37 "For [1]by your words you will be justified, and [1]by your words you will be condemned."

The Desire for Signs

38 Then some of the scribes and Pharisees said to Him, "Teacher, [a]we want to see a [1]sign from You."

39 But He answered and said to them, "[a]An evil and adulterous generation craves for a [1]sign; and yet no [1]sign will be given to it but the [1]sign of Jonah the prophet;

40 for just as [a]JONAH WAS THREE DAYS AND THREE NIGHTS IN THE BELLY OF THE SEA MONSTER, so will [b]the Son of Man be [c]three days and three nights in the heart of the earth.

41 "[a]The men of Nineveh will stand up with this generation at the judgment, and will condemn it because [b]they repented at the preaching of Jonah; and behold, [c]something greater than Jonah is here.

42 "[a]The Queen of the South will rise up with this generation at the judgment and will condemn it, because she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and behold, [b]something greater than Solomon is here.

43 "[a]Now when the unclean spirit goes out of a man, it passes through waterless places seeking rest, and does not find it.

44 "Then it says, 'I will return to my house from which I came'; and when it comes, it finds it unoccupied, swept, and put in order.

12:28 kingdom of God. See note on 3:2.

12:31 blasphemy against the Spirit shall not be forgiven. The context (vv. 24,28,32) suggests that the "unpardonable sin" was attributing to Satan Christ's authenticating miracles done in the power of the Holy Spirit (see note on Mark 3:29).

12:38 sign. The Pharisees wanted to see a spectacular miracle, preferably in the sky (see Luke 11:16), as the sign that Jesus was the Messiah. Instead, He cites them a "sign" from history. See note on Luke 11:29.

12:39 adulterous. Referring to spiritual, not physical, adultery, in the sense that their generation had become unfaithful to its spiritual husband (God).

12:40 THREE DAYS AND THREE NIGHTS. Including at least part of the first day and part of the third day, a common Jewish reckoning of time. See note on Luke 24:46. SEA MONSTER. The Greek word does not mean "whale" but rather "sea creature," i.e., a huge fish (see note on Jon 1:17).

12:41–42 something greater than Jonah . . . something greater than Solomon. See note on Luke 11:31–32.

12:42 Queen of the South. In 1 Kin 10:1 she is called the queen of Sheba, a country in southwest Arabia, now called Yemen.

12:43–45 See note on Luke 11:24.

45 "Then it goes and takes along with it seven other spirits more wicked than itself, and they go in and live there; and [a]the last state of that man becomes worse than the first. That is the way it will also be with this evil generation."

Changed Relationships

46 [a]While He was still speaking to the crowds, behold, His [b]mother and [c]brothers were standing outside, seeking to speak to Him.

47 Someone said to Him, "Behold, Your mother and Your brothers are standing outside seeking to speak to You."

48 But [1]Jesus answered the one who was telling Him and said, "Who is My mother and who are My brothers?"

49 And stretching out His hand toward His disciples, He said, "Behold My mother and My brothers!

50 "For whoever does the will of My Father who is in heaven, he is My brother and sister and mother."

Jesus Teaches in Parables

13 That day Jesus went out of [a]the house and was sitting [b]by the sea.

2 And [1]large crowds gathered to Him, so [a]He got into a boat and sat down, and the whole crowd was standing on the beach.

3 And He spoke many things to them in [a]parables, saying, "Behold, the sower went out to sow;

4 and as he sowed, some seeds fell beside the road, and the birds came and ate them up.

5 "Others fell on the rocky places, where they did not have much soil; and immediately they sprang up, because they had no depth of soil.

6 "But when the sun had risen, they were scorched; and because they had no root, they withered away.

7 "Others fell [1]among the thorns, and the thorns came up and choked them out.

8 "And others fell on the good soil and *yielded a crop, some a [a]hundredfold, some sixty, and some thirty.

An Explanation

10 And the disciples came and said to Him, "Why do You speak to them in parables?"

11 [1]Jesus answered them, "[a]To you it has been granted to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it has not been granted.

12 "[a]For whoever has, to him more shall be given, and he will have an abundance; but whoever does not have, even what he has shall be taken away from him.

13 "Therefore I speak to them in parables because while [a]seeing they do not see, and while hearing they do not hear, nor do they understand.

14 "[1]In their case the prophecy of Isaiah is being fulfilled, which says,

> '[2a]YOU WILL KEEP ON HEARING, [3]BUT WILL NOT UNDERSTAND;
> [4]YOU WILL KEEP ON SEEING, BUT WILL NOT PERCEIVE;
> 15 [a]FOR THE HEART OF THIS PEOPLE HAS BECOME DULL, > WITH THEIR EARS THEY SCARCELY HEAR,
> AND THEY HAVE CLOSED THEIR EYES,
> OTHERWISE THEY WOULD SEE WITH THEIR EYES, > HEAR WITH THEIR EARS,
> AND UNDERSTAND WITH THEIR HEART AND RETURN,
> AND I WOULD HEAL THEM.'

16 "[a]But blessed are your eyes, because they see; and your ears, because they hear.

17 "For truly I say to you that [a]many prophets and righteous men desired to see what you see, and did not see it, and to hear what you hear, and did not hear it.

The Sower Explained

18 "[a]Hear then the parable of the sower.

19 "When anyone hears [a]the [1]word of the kingdom and does not understand it, [b]the evil one comes and snatches away what has been sown in his heart. This is the one on whom seed was sown beside the road.

20 "The one on whom seed was sown on the rocky places, this is the man who hears the word and immediately receives it with joy;

12:46 mother and brothers. See note on Luke 8:19.
12:50 whoever does the will of my Father. See note on Mark 3:35.
13:2 sat down. See note on Mark 4:1.
13:3–9 See vv. 18–23 for the interpretation of this first parable.
13:3 parables. Our word "parable" comes from the Greek parabole, which means "a placing beside"—and thus a comparison or an illustration. Its most common use in the NT is for the illustrative stories that Jesus drew from nature and human life. The Synoptic Gospels contain about 30 of these stories. John's Gospel contains no parables but uses other figures of speech (see notes on Mark 4:2; Luke 8:4). to sow. See note on Luke 8:5.
13:4–6 See note on Mark 4:3–8.
13:5 rocky places. Not ground covered with small stones, but shallow soil on top of solid rock. See note on Luke 8:6.
13:8 a hundredfold. See note on Luke 8:8.
13:10 See note on Luke 8:9.
13:11 mysteries of the kingdom of heaven. See notes on Mark 4:11 and Luke 8:10.
13:13–14 Jesus speaks in parables because of the spiritual dullness of the people (see note on Luke 8:4).
13:13 while seeing they do not see. See notes on Mark 4:12 and Luke 8:10.
13:18 Hear then the parable of the sower. Jesus seldom interpreted His parables, but here He does.
13:19 the evil one. The devil.

21 yet he has no firm root in himself, but is only temporary, and when affliction or persecution arises because of the [1]word, immediately he [2][a]falls away.

22 "And the one on whom seed was sown among the thorns, this is the man who hears the word, and the worry of [a]the [1]world and the [b]deceitfulness of wealth choke the word, and it becomes unfruitful.

23 "And the one on whom seed was sown on the good soil, this is the man who hears the word and understands it; who indeed bears fruit and brings forth, some [a]a hundredfold, some sixty, and some thirty."

Tares among Wheat

24 Jesus presented another parable to them, saying, "[a]The kingdom of heaven [1]may be compared to a man who sowed good seed in his field.

25 "But while his men were sleeping, his enemy came and sowed [1]tares among the wheat, and went away.

26 "But when the [1]wheat sprouted and bore grain, then the tares became evident also.

27 "The slaves of the landowner came and said to him, 'Sir, did you not sow good seed in your field? [1]How then does it have tares?'

28 "And he said to them, 'An [1]enemy has done this!' The slaves *said to him, 'Do you want us, then, to go and gather them up?'

29 "But he *said, 'No; for while you are gathering up the tares, you may uproot the wheat with them.

30 'Allow both to grow together until the harvest; and in the time of the harvest I will say to the reapers, "First gather up the tares and bind them in bundles to burn them up; but [a]gather the wheat into my barn." ' "

The Mustard Seed

31 He presented another parable to them, saying, "[a]The kingdom of heaven is like [b]a mustard seed, which a man took and sowed in his field;

32 and this is smaller than all other seeds, but when it is full grown, it is larger than the garden plants and becomes a tree, so that [a]THE BIRDS OF THE [1]AIR come and NEST IN ITS BRANCHES."

The Leaven

33 He spoke another parable to them, "[a]The kingdom of heaven is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in [b]three [1]pecks of flour until it was all leavened."

34 All these things Jesus spoke to the crowds in parables, and He did not speak to them [a]without a parable.

35 This was to fulfill what was spoken through the prophet:

> "[a]I WILL OPEN MY MOUTH IN PARABLES; > I WILL UTTER THINGS HIDDEN SINCE THE FOUNDATION OF THE WORLD."

The Tares Explained

36 Then He left the crowds and went into [a]the house. And His disciples came to Him and said, "[b]Explain to us the parable of the [1]tares of the field."

37 And He said, "The one who sows the good seed is [a]the Son of Man,

38 and the field is the world; and as for the good seed, these are [a]the sons of the kingdom; and the tares are [b]the sons of [c]the evil one;

39 and the enemy who sowed them is the devil, and the harvest is [a]the [1]end of the age; and the reapers are angels.

40 "So just as the tares are gathered up and burned with fire, so shall it be at [a]the [1]end of the age.

41 "[a]The Son of Man [b]will send forth His angels, and they will gather out of His kingdom [1]all [c]stumbling blocks, and those who commit lawlessness, 42 and [a]will throw them into the furnace of fire; in that place [b]there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

13:24–30 See vv. 36–43 for the interpretation.
13:24 The kingdom of heaven may be compared to. This phrase introduces six of the seven parables in this chapter (all but the parable of the sower).
13:25 tares. Probably darnel, which looks very much like wheat while it is young, but can later be distinguished. This parable does not refer to unbelievers in the professing church. The field is the world (v. 38). Thus the people of the kingdom live side by side with the people of the evil one.
13:31–32 Although the kingdom will seem to have an insignificant beginning, it will eventually spread throughout the world.
13:32 smaller than . . . larger than. The mustard seed is not the smallest seed known today, but it was the smallest seed used by farmers and gardeners in the Holy Land, and under favorable conditions the plant could reach some ten feet in height.
a tree . . . ITS BRANCHES. Likely an allusion to Dan 4:21, suggesting that the kingdom of heaven will expand to world dominion and people from all nations will find rest in it (cf. Dan 2:35,44–45; 7:27; Rev 11:15).
13:33 In the Bible, leaven usually symbolizes that which is evil or unclean (see note on Mark 8:15). Here, however, it is a symbol of growth. As leaven permeates a batch of dough, so the kingdom of heaven spreads through a person's life. Or it may signify the growth of the kingdom by the inner working of the Holy Spirit (using God's word).
13:35 spoken through the prophet. The quotation is from Ps 78, a psalm ascribed to Asaph, who according to 2 Chr 29:30 was a "seer" (prophet).
13:37 Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31.
13:42 furnace of fire. Often mentioned in connection with the final judgment in apocalyptic literature (see Rev 19:20; 20:14).
weeping and gnashing of teeth. Occurs six times in Matthew's Gospel (8:12; here; 13:50; 22:13; 24:51; 25:30) and nowhere else in the NT.

THE SUN in the kingdom of their Father. He who has ears, let him hear.

Hidden Treasure

44 "[a]The kingdom of heaven is like a treasure hidden in the field, which a man found and hid again; and from joy over it he goes and [b]sells all that he has and buys that field.

A Costly Pearl

45 "Again, [a]the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant seeking fine pearls, 46 and upon finding one pearl of great value, he went and sold all that he had and bought it.

A Dragnet

47 "Again, [a]the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet cast into the sea, and gathering fish of every kind;

48 and when it was filled, they drew it up on the beach; and they sat down and gathered the good fish into containers, but the bad they threw away.

49 "So it will be at [a]the [1]end of the age; the angels will come forth and [2]take out the wicked from among the righteous,

50 and [a]will throw them into the furnace of fire; in that place [b]there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

51 "Have you understood all these things?" They *said to Him, "Yes."

52 And [1]Jesus said to them, "Therefore every scribe who has become a disciple of the kingdom of heaven is like a head of a household, who brings out of his treasure things new and old."

Jesus Revisits Nazareth

53 [a]When Jesus had finished these parables, He departed from there.

54 [a]He came to [1]His hometown and [b]began teaching them in their synagogue, so that [c]they were astonished, and said, "Where did this man get this wisdom and these [2]miraculous powers?

55 "Is not this the carpenter's son? Is not [a]His mother called Mary, and His [a]brothers, James and Joseph and Simon and Judas?

56 "And [a]His sisters, are they not all with us? Where then did this man get all these things?"

57 And they took [a]offense at Him. But Jesus said to them, "[b]A prophet is not without honor except in his hometown and in his own household."

58 And He did not do many [1]miracles there because of their unbelief.

John the Baptist Beheaded

14 [a]At that [1]time [b]Herod the tetrarch heard the news about Jesus,

2 and said to his servants, "[a]This is John the Baptist; [1]he has risen from the dead, and that is why miraculous powers are at work in him."

3 For when [a]Herod had John arrested, he bound him and put him [b]in prison because of [c]Herodias, the wife of his brother Philip.

4 For John had been saying to him, "[a]It is not lawful for you to have her."

5 Although Herod wanted to put him to death, he feared the crowd, because they regarded [1]John as [a]a prophet.

6 But when Herod's birthday came, the 13:44–46 These two parables teach the same truth: The kingdom is of such great value that one should be willing to give up all he has in order to gain it. Jesus did not imply that one can purchase the kingdom with money or good deeds.

13:44 treasure hidden in the field. In ancient times it was common to hide treasure in the ground since there was no widespread equivalent of modern bank vaults for the safekeeping of funds—though there were "bankers" (see Matt 25:27 and note).

13:47–51 The parable of the dragnet teaches the same general lesson as the parable of the tares: There will be a final separation of the righteous and the wicked. The parable of the tares also emphasizes that we are not to try to make such a separation now and that this is entirely the Lord's business (vv. 28–30, 41–42).

13:53 Concludes a teaching section and introduces a narrative section (cf. 7:28–29).

13:54 His hometown. Nazareth (see note on 2:23). teaching the people in their synagogue. See note on Mark 1:21.

13:55 carpenter's son. The word translated "carpenter" could mean "stonemason." See note on Mark 6:3. (Apparently Joseph was not living at the time of this incident.) brothers. Sons born to Joseph and Mary after the virgin birth of Jesus (see note on Luke 8:19).

13:58 unbelief. The close relationship between faith and miracles is stressed in Matthew's Gospel (cf. 8:10,13; 9:2,22,28–29).

14:1 tetrarch. The ruler of a fourth part of a region. Herod the tetrarch (Herod Antipas) was one of several sons of Herod the Great. When Herod the Great died, his kingdom was divided among three of his sons. Herod Antipas ruled over Galilee and Perea (4 B.C.–A.D. 39). Matthew correctly refers to him as tetrarch here, as Luke regularly does (Luke 3:19; 9:7; Acts 13:1). But in v. 9 Matthew calls him "king"—as Mark also does (Mark 6:14)—because that was his popular title among the Galileans, as well as in Rome.

14:2 John . . . risen from the dead. See note on Mark 6:16.

14:3 Herodias. A granddaughter of Herod the Great. First she married her uncle, Herod Philip (Herod the Great also had another son named Philip), who lived in Rome. While a guest in their home, Herod Antipas persuaded Herodias to leave her husband for him. Marriage to one's brother's wife, while the brother was still living, was forbidden by the Mosaic law (Lev 18:16). Philip. The son of Herod the Great and Mariamne, the daughter of Simon the high priest, and thus a half-brother of Herod Antipas, born to Malthace (see chart, p. 1367).

14:6 the daughter of Herodias. Salome, according to Josephus. She later married her granduncle, the other Philip (son of Herod the Great), who ruled the northern territories (Luke 3:1). At this time Salome was a young woman of marriageable age. Her dance was undoubtedly lascivious, and the performance pleased both Herod and his guests.

daughter of [a]Herodias danced [1]before them and pleased [b]Herod, 7 so much that he promised with an oath to give her whatever she asked.

8 Having been prompted by her mother, she *said, "Give me here on a platter the head of John the Baptist."

9 Although he was grieved, the king commanded it to be given because of his oaths, and because of [1]his dinner guests.

10 He sent and had John beheaded in the prison.

11 And his head was brought on a platter and given to the girl, and she brought it to her mother.

12 His disciples came and took away the body and buried [1]it; and they went and reported to Jesus.

Five Thousand Fed

13 [a]Now when Jesus heard about John, He withdrew from there in a boat to a secluded place by Himself; and when the [1]people heard of this, they followed Him on foot from the cities.

14 When He went [1]ashore, He [a]saw a large crowd, and felt compassion for them and [b]healed their sick.

15 When it was evening, the disciples came to Him and said, "This place is desolate and the hour is already [1]late; so send the crowds away, that they may go into the villages and buy food for themselves."

16 But Jesus said to them, "They do not need to go away; you give them something to eat!"

17 They *said to Him, "We have here only [a]five loaves and two fish."

18 And He said, "Bring them here to Me."

19 Ordering the [1]people to [2]sit down on the grass, He took the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up toward heaven, He [a]blessed the food, and breaking the loaves He gave them to the disciples, and the disciples gave them to the crowds, 20 and they all ate and were satisfied. They picked up what was left over of the broken pieces, twelve full [a]baskets.

21 There were about five thousand men who ate, besides women and children.

Jesus Walks on the Water

22 [a]Immediately He [1]made the disciples get into the boat and go ahead of Him to the other side, while He sent the crowds away.

23 After He had sent the crowds away, [a]He went up on the mountain by Himself to pray; and when it was evening, He was there alone.

24 But the boat was already [1]a long distance from the land, [2]battered by the waves; for the wind was [3][a]contrary.

25 And in [a]the [1]fourth watch of the night He came to them, walking on the sea.

26 When the disciples saw Him walking on the sea, they were terrified, and said, "It is [a]a ghost!" And they cried out [1]in fear.

27 But immediately Jesus spoke to them, saying, "[a]Take courage, it is I; [b]do not be afraid."

28 Peter said to Him, "Lord, if it is You, command me to come to You on the water."

29 And He said, "Come!" And Peter got out of the boat, and walked on the water and came toward Jesus.

30 But seeing the wind, he became frightened, and beginning to sink, he cried out, "Lord, save me!"

31 Immediately Jesus stretched out His hand and took hold of him, and *said to him, "[a]You of little faith, why did you doubt?"

32 When they got into the boat, the wind stopped.

33 And those who were in the boat worshiped Him, saying, "You are certainly [a]God's Son!"

34 [a]When they had crossed over, they came to land at [b]Gennesaret.

35 And when the men of that place [1]recognized Him, they sent word into all that surrounding district and brought to Him all who were sick;

36 and they implored Him that they might just touch [a]the fringe of His cloak; and as many as [b]touched it were cured.

14:21 besides women and children. Matthew alone notes this. He was writing to the Jews, who did not permit women and children to eat with men in public. So they were in a place by themselves.
14:22 made. The Greek word used here is strong. It means "to compel" and suggests a crisis. John records that after the miracle of the loaves and fish the crowds "were intending to come and take Him by force to make Him king" (6:15). This involved a complete misunderstanding of the mission of Jesus. The disciples may have been caught up in the enthusiasm and needed to be removed from the area quickly (cf. 16:5–12).
14:23 to pray. Matthew speaks of Jesus praying only here and in Gethsemane (cf. 26:36–46).
14:25 fourth watch. 3:00–6:00 A.M. According to Roman reckoning the night was divided into four watches: (1) 6:00–9:00 P.M., (2) 9:00–midnight, (3) midnight–3:00 A.M. and (4) 3:00–6:00 A.M. (see note on Mark 13:35). The Jews had only three watches during the night: (1) sunset–10:00 P.M., (2) 10:00 P.M.–2:00 A.M. and (3) 2:00 A.M.–sunrise (see Judg 7:19; 1 Sam 11:11). walking on the sea. See note on Mark 6:48.
14:34 Gennesaret. Either the narrow plain, about four miles long and less than two miles wide, on the west side of the Sea of Galilee near the north end (north of Magdala), or a town in the plain. The plain was considered a garden spot of the Holy Land, fertile and well watered.
14:36 just touch the fringe of His cloak. See note on Mark 5:28.

Tradition and Commandment

15 [a]Then some Pharisees and scribes *came to Jesus [b]from Jerusalem and said,

2 "Why do Your disciples break the tradition of the elders? For they [a]do not wash their hands when they eat bread."

3 And He answered and said to them, "Why do you yourselves transgress the commandment of God for the sake of your tradition?

4 "For God said, '[a]HONOR YOUR FATHER AND MOTHER,' and, '[b]HE WHO SPEAKS EVIL OF FATHER OR MOTHER IS TO [1]BE PUT TO DEATH.'

5 "But you say, 'Whoever says to his father or mother, "Whatever I have that would help you has been [1]given to God,"

6 he is not to honor his father or his mother[1].' And by this you invalidated the word of God for the sake of your tradition.

7 "You hypocrites, rightly did Isaiah prophesy of you:

8 '[a]THIS PEOPLE HONORS ME WITH THEIR LIPS,
BUT THEIR HEART IS FAR AWAY FROM ME.

9 'BUT IN VAIN DO THEY WORSHIP ME, TEACHING AS [a]DOCTRINES THE PRECEPTS OF MEN.' "

10 After Jesus called the crowd to Him, He said to them, "Hear and understand.

11 "[a]It is not what enters into the mouth that defiles the man, but what proceeds out of the mouth, this defiles the man."

12 Then the disciples *came and *said to Him, "Do You know that the Pharisees were [1]offended when they heard this statement?"

13 But He answered and said, "[a]Every plant which My heavenly Father did not plant shall be uprooted.

14 "Let them alone; [a]they are blind guides [1]of the blind. And [b]if a blind man guides a blind man, both will fall into a pit."

The Heart of Man

15 Peter [1]said to Him, "[a]Explain the parable to us."

16 [1]Jesus said, "Are you still lacking in understanding also?

17 "Do you not understand that everything that goes into the mouth passes into the stomach, and is [1]eliminated?

18 "But [a]the things that proceed out of the mouth come from the heart, and those defile the man.

19 "[a]For out of the heart come evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, [1]fornications, thefts, false witness, slanders.

20 "These are the things which defile the man; but to eat with unwashed hands does not defile the man."

The Syrophoenician Woman

21 [a]Jesus went away from there, and withdrew into the district of [b]Tyre and [b]Sidon.

22 And a Canaanite woman from that region came out and began to cry out, saying, "Have mercy on me, Lord, [a]Son of David; my daughter is cruelly [b]demon-possessed."

23 But He did not answer her a word. And His disciples came and implored Him, saying, "Send her away, because she keeps shouting [1]at us."

24 But He answered and said, "I was sent only to [a]the lost sheep of the house of Israel."

25 But she came and [a]began [1]to bow down before Him, saying, "Lord, help me!"

26 And He answered and said, "It is not [1]good to take the children's bread and throw it to the dogs."

27 But she said, "Yes, Lord; [1]but even the dogs feed on the crumbs which fall from their masters' table."

28 Then Jesus said to her, "O woman, [a]your faith is great; it shall be done for you as you wish." And her daughter was healed [1]at once.

Healing Crowds

29 [a]Departing from there, Jesus went along by [b]the Sea of Galilee, and having gone up on the mountain, He was sitting there.

30 And [1]large crowds came to Him, bringing with them those who were lame, crippled, blind, mute, and many others, and they laid them down at His feet; and [a]He healed them.

31 So the crowd marveled as they saw the mute speaking, the crippled [1]restored, and the lame walking, and the blind seeing; and they [a]glorified the God of Israel.

15:2 the tradition of the elders. After the Babylonian captivity, the Jewish rabbis began to make meticulous rules and regulations governing the daily life of the people. These were interpretations and applications of the law of Moses, handed down from generation to generation. In Jesus' day this "tradition of the elders" was in oral form. It was not until c. A.D. 200 that it was put into writing in the Mishnah. wash. See Mark 7:1–4.

15:22 Canaanite. A term found many times in the OT but only here in the NT. In NT times there was no country known as Canaan. Some think this was the Semitic manner of referring to the people of Phoenicia at this time. Mark says the woman was "a Greek, born in Syrian Phoenicia" (7:26).
15:26 children's. "The lost sheep of the house of Israel" (v. 24). the dogs. The Greek says "little dogs," meaning a pet dog in the home, and Jesus' point was that the gospel was to be given first to Jews. The woman understood Jesus' implication and was willing to settle for "crumbs." Jesus rewarded her faith (v. 28).

not want to send them away hungry, for they might faint on the way."

33 The disciples *said to Him, "Where would we get so many loaves in this desolate place to satisfy such a large crowd?"

34 And Jesus *said to them, "How many loaves do you have?" And they said, "Seven, and a few small fish."

35 And He directed the [1]people to [2]sit down on the ground;

36 and He took the seven loaves and the fish; and [a]giving thanks, He broke them and started giving them to the disciples, and the disciples gave them to the people.

37 And they all ate and were satisfied, and they picked up what was left over of the broken pieces, seven large [a]baskets full.

38 And those who ate were four thousand men, besides women and children.

39 And sending away the crowds, Jesus got into [a]the boat and came to the region of [b]Magadan.

Pharisees Test Jesus

16 [a]The [b]Pharisees and Sadducees came up, and testing Jesus, they [c]asked Him to show them a [1]sign from heaven.

2 But He replied to them, "[1a]When it is evening, you say, 'It will be fair weather, for the sky is red.'

3 "And in the morning, 'There will be a storm today, for the sky is red and threatening.' [a]Do you know how to discern the [1]appearance of the sky, but cannot discern the signs of the times?

4 "[a]An evil and adulterous generation seeks after a [1]sign; and a [1]sign will not be given it, except the sign of Jonah." And He left them and went away.

5 And the disciples came to the other side of the sea, but they had forgotten to bring any bread.

6 And Jesus said to them, "Watch out and [a]beware of the [1]leaven of the [b]Pharisees and Sadducees."

7 They began to discuss this among themselves, saying, "He said that because we did not bring any bread."

8 But Jesus, aware of this, said, "[a]You men of little faith, why do you discuss among yourselves that you have no bread?

9 "Do you not yet understand or remember [a]the five loaves of the five thousand, and how many baskets full you picked up?

10 "Or [a]the seven loaves of the four thousand, and how many large baskets full you picked up?

11 "How is it that you do not understand that I did not speak to you concerning bread? But [a]beware of the [1]leaven of the [b]Pharisees and Sadducees."

12 Then they understood that He did not say to beware of the leaven of bread, but of the teaching of the [a]Pharisees and Sadducees.

Peter's Confession of Christ

13 [a]Now when Jesus came into the district of [b]Caesarea Philippi, He was asking His disciples, "Who do people say that [c]the Son of Man is?"

14 And they said, "Some say [a]John the Baptist; and others, [1b]Elijah; but still others, [2]Jeremiah, or one of the prophets."

15 He *said to them, "But who do you say that I am?"

16 Simon Peter answered, "You are [1a]the Christ, [b]the Son of [c]the living God."

17 And Jesus said to him, "Blessed are you, [a]Simon [1]Barjona, because [b]flesh and blood did not reveal this to you, but My Father who is in heaven.

18 "I also say to you that you are [1a]Peter, and upon this [2]rock I will build My church; and the gates of [b]Hades will not overpower it.

15:37 The feeding of the 5,000 is recorded in all four Gospels, but the feeding of the 4,000 is only in Matthew and Mark. The 12 baskets mentioned in the accounts of the feeding of the 5,000 were possibly the lunch baskets of the 12 apostles. The seven baskets mentioned here were possibly larger.

15:39 Magadan. Also called Magdala, the home of Mary Magdalene. Mark (8:10) has "Dalmanutha."

16:1 sign from heaven. See note on Mark 8:11.

16:4 the sign of Jonah. See 12:39–40 and note on Luke 11:30.

16:6 leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees. See v. 12. Also see notes on 3:7; Mark 2:16; 8:15; 12:18.

16:12 Matthew often explains the meaning of Jesus' words (cf. 17:13).

16:13 Caesarea Philippi. To be distinguished from the magnificent city of Caesarea, which Herod the Great had built on the coast of the Mediterranean. Caesarea Philippi, rebuilt by Herod's son Philip (who named it after Tiberius Caesar and himself), was north of the Sea of Galilee, near the slopes of Mount Hermon. Originally it was called Paneas (the ancient name survives today as Banias) in honor of the Greek god Pan, whose shrine was located there. The region was especially pagan. Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31.

16:16 Christ. Or Messiah; also in verse 20. Both mean "the Anointed One." The OT equivalent (Messiah) is used of anyone who was anointed with the holy oil, such as the priests and kings of Israel (e.g., Ex 29:7,21; 1 Sam 10;1,6; 16:13; 2 Sam 1:14,16). The word carries the idea of being chosen by God, consecrated to His service, and endued with His power to accomplish the assigned task. Toward the end of the OT period the word assumed a special meaning. It denoted the ideal king anointed and empowered by God to rescue His people from their enemies and establish His righteous kingdom (Dan 9:25–26). The ideas that clustered around the title Messiah tended to be political and national in nature. Probably for that reason Jesus seldom used the term. When He did accept it as applied to himself, He did so with reservations (cf. Mark 8:27–30; 14:61–63).

16:18 Peter . . . rock . . . church. In the Greek "Peter" is petros ("detached stone") and "rock" is petra ("bedrock"). Several interpretations have been given to these words. The "bedrock" on 20 [a]Then He [1]warned the disciples that they should tell no one that He was [2b]the Christ.

Jesus Foretells His Death

21 [a]From that time [1]Jesus began to show His disciples that He must go to Jerusalem, and [b]suffer many things from the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised up on the third day.

22 Peter took Him aside and began to rebuke Him, saying, "[1]God forbid it, Lord! This shall never [2]happen to You."

23 But He turned and said to Peter, "Get behind Me, [a]Satan! You are a stumbling block to Me; for you are not setting your mind on [1]God's interests, but man's."

Discipleship Is Costly

24 Then Jesus said to His disciples, "If anyone wishes to come after Me, he must deny himself, and [a]take up his cross and follow Me.

25 "For [a]whoever wishes to save his [1]life will lose it; but whoever loses his [1]life for My sake will find it.

The Transfiguration

17 [a]Six days later Jesus *took with Him [b]Peter and [1]James and John his brother, and *led them up on a high mountain by themselves.

2 And He was transfigured before them; and His face shone like the sun, and His garments became as white as light.

3 And behold, Moses and Elijah appeared to them, talking with Him.

4 Peter said to Jesus, "Lord, it is good for which the church is built is (1) Christ; (2) Peter's confession of faith in Jesus as the Messiah (v. 16); (3) Christ's teachings—one of the great emphases of Matthew's Gospel; (4) Peter himself, understood in terms of his role on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2), the Cornelius incident (Acts 10) and his leadership among the apostles. Eph 2:20 indicates that the church is "built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets." church. In the Gospels this word is used only by Matthew (here and twice in 18:17). In the Septuagint it is used for the congregation of Israel. In Greek circles of Jesus' day it indicated the assembly of free, voting citizens in a city (cf. Acts 19:32,39,41). Hades. The Greek name for the place of departed spirits, generally equivalent to the Hebrew Sheol (see note on Gen 37:35). The "gates of Hades" may mean the "powers of death," i.e., all forces opposed to Christ and His kingdom (but see note on Job 17:16).

16:19 keys. Perhaps Peter used these keys on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2) when he announced that the door of the kingdom was unlocked to Jews and proselytes and later when he acknowledged that it was also opened to Gentiles (Acts 10). bind . . . loose. Not authority to determine, but to announce, guilt or innocence (see 18:18 and the context there; cf. Acts 5:3,9).

16:20 that they should tell no one. Because of the false concepts of the Jews, who looked for an exclusively national and political Messiah, Jesus told His disciples not to publicize Peter's confession, lest it precipitate a revolution against Rome (see note on 8:4).

16:21 began. The beginning of a new emphasis in Jesus' ministry. Instead of teaching the crowds in parables, He concentrated on preparing the disciples for His coming suffering and death.

16:23 Satan. A loanword from Hebrew, meaning "adversary" or "accuser" (see note on Rev 2:9).

16:24 take up his cross. See notes on 10:38; Mark 8:34.

16:27 Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31. is going to come. The parousia, the eschatological coming of Christ.

16:28 There are two main interpretations of this verse: 1. It is a prediction of the transfiguration, which happened a week later (17:1) and which demonstrated that Jesus will return in His Father's glory (16:27). 2. It refers to the Son of Man's authority and kingly reign in His post-resurrection church. Some of His disciples will witness—even participate in—this as described in the book of Acts. The context seems to favor the first view. See note on 2 Pet 1:16.

17:1–9 The transfiguration was: (1) a revelation of the glory of the Son of God, a glory hidden now but to be fully revealed when He returns; (2) a confirmation of the difficult teaching given to the disciples at Caesarea Philippi (16:13–20); and (3) a beneficial experience for the disciples, who were discouraged after having been reminded so recently of Jesus' impending suffering and death (16:21). See notes on Mark 9:2–7; Luke 9:28–35.

17:1 Six days. Mark also says "Six days" (Mark 9:2), counting just the days between Peter's confession and the transfiguration, whereas Luke, counting all the days involved, says, "Some eight days" (Luke 9:28). Peter and James and John. These three disciples had an especially close relationship to Jesus (see 26:37; Mark 5:37). high mountain. Its identity is unknown. However, the reference to Caesarea Philippi (16:13) may suggest that it was Mount Hermon, which was just northeast of Caesarea Philippi (see note on Luke 9:28). by themselves. Luke adds "to pray" (Luke 9:28).

17:2 He was transfigured. His appearance changed. The three disciples saw Jesus in His glorified state (see John 17:5; 2 Pet 1:17).

17:3 Moses and Elijah. Moses appears as the representative of the old covenant and the promise of salvation, which was soon to be fulfilled in the death of Jesus. Elijah appears as the appoint-us to be here; if You wish, [a]I will make three [1]tabernacles here, one for You, and one for Moses, and one for Elijah."

5 While he was still speaking, a bright cloud overshadowed them, and behold, [a]a voice out of the cloud said, "[b]This is My beloved Son, with whom I am well-pleased; listen to Him!"

6 When the disciples heard this, they fell [1]face down to the ground and were terrified.

7 And Jesus came to them and touched them and said, "Get up, and [a]do not be afraid."

8 And lifting up their eyes, they saw no one except Jesus Himself alone.

9 [a]As they were coming down from the mountain, Jesus commanded them, saying, "[b]Tell the vision to no one until [c]the Son of Man has [d]risen from the dead."

10 And His disciples asked Him, "Why then do the scribes say that [a]Elijah must come first?"

11 And He answered and said, "Elijah is coming and will restore all things;

12 but I say to you that Elijah already came, and they did not recognize him, but did [1]to him whatever they wished. So also [a]the Son of Man is going to suffer [2]at their hands."

13 Then the disciples understood that He had spoken to them about John the Baptist.

The Demoniac

14 [a]When they came to the crowd, a man came up to Jesus, falling on his knees before Him and saying,

15 "[1]Lord, have mercy on my son, for he is a [2a]lunatic and is very ill; for he often falls into the fire and often into the water.

16 "I brought him to Your disciples, and they could not cure him."

17 And Jesus answered and said, "You unbelieving and perverted generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I put up with you? Bring him here to Me."

18 And Jesus rebuked him, and the demon came out of him, and the boy was cured [1]at once.

19 Then the disciples came to Jesus privately and said, "Why could we not drive it out?"

20 And He *said to them, "Because of the littleness of your faith; for truly I say to you, [a]if you have faith [1]the size of [b]a mustard seed, you will say to [c]this mountain, 'Move from here to there,' and it will move; and [d]nothing will be impossible to you.

21 ["[1a]But this kind does not go out except by prayer and fasting."]

22 [a]And while they were gathering together in Galilee, Jesus said to them, "The Son of Man is going to be [1]delivered into the hands of men;

23 and [a]they will kill Him, and He will be raised on the third day." And they were deeply grieved.

The Tribute Money

24 When they came to Capernaum, those who collected [a]the [1]two-drachma tax came to Peter and said, "Does your teacher not pay [a]the [1]two-drachma tax?"

25 He *said, "Yes." And when he came into the house, Jesus spoke to him first, saying, "What do you think, Simon? From whom do the kings of the earth collect [a]customs or [b]poll-tax, from their sons or from strangers?"

26 When Peter said, "From strangers," Jesus said to him, "Then the sons are [1]exempt.

27 "However, so that we do not [1a]offend them, go to the sea and throw in a hook, and take the first fish that comes up; and when you open its mouth, you will find [2]a shekel. Take that and give it to them for you and Me."

17:4 three tabernacles. See notes on Mark 9:5; Luke 9:33.

17:5 them. Jesus, Moses and Elijah. This is My beloved Son, with whom I am well-pleased. The same words spoken from heaven at Jesus' baptism (3:17). No mere man, but the very Son of God, was transfigured.

17:6 terrified. Primarily with a sense of awe at the presence and majesty of God.

17:10 The traditional eschatology of the teachers of the law, based on Mal 4:5–6, held that Elijah must appear before the coming of the Messiah. The disciples reasoned that if Jesus really was the Messiah, as the transfiguration proved Him to be, why had not Elijah appeared?

17:12 So also. As John the Baptist was not recognized and was killed, so Jesus would be rejected and killed.

17:13 See note on 16:12.

17:18 Not all cases of lunacy were the result of demon possession, but this one was.

17:20 littleness of your faith. Not so much the quantity of their faith as its quality—a faith that is bathed in prayer (see Mark 9:29). mustard seed. See 13:31–32 and notes. say to this mountain, 'Move from here to there.' A proverbial statement meaning to remove great difficulties (cf. Is 54:10; 1 Cor 13:2). In this context it probably refers to removing the problems associated with the work of the kingdom.

17:22 The second prediction of Christ's death, the first being in 16:21.

17:24 two-drachma tax. The annual temple tax required of every male 20 years of age and older (Ex 30:13; 2 Chr 24:9; Neh 10:32). It was worth half a shekel (approximately two days' wages) and was used for the upkeep of the temple.

17:26 the sons are exempt. The implication is that Peter and the rest of the disciples belonged to God's royal household, but unbelieving Jews did not (see 21:43).

18:1 Who then is greatest? See note on Luke 9:46.

2 And He called a child to Himself and set him [1]before them,

3 and said, "Truly I say to you, unless you [1]are converted and [a]become like children, you will not enter the kingdom of heaven.

4 "Whoever then humbles himself as this child, he is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

5 "And whoever receives one such child in My name receives Me;

6 but [a]whoever [b]causes one of these little ones who believe in Me to stumble, it [1]would be better for him to have a [2]heavy millstone hung around his neck, and to be drowned in the depth of the sea.

Stumbling Blocks

7 "Woe to the world because of its stumbling blocks! For [a]it is inevitable that stumbling blocks come; but woe to that man through whom the stumbling block comes!

8 "[a]If your hand or your foot causes you to stumble, cut it off and throw it from you; it is better for you to enter life crippled or lame, than [1]to have two hands or two feet and be cast into the eternal fire.

9 "[a]If your eye causes you to stumble, pluck it out and throw it from you. It is better for you to enter life with one eye, than [1]to have two eyes and be cast into the [2][b]fiery hell.

10 "See that you do not despise one of these little ones, for I say to you that [a]their angels in heaven continually see the face of My Father who is in heaven.

11 ["[1][a]For the Son of Man has come to save that which was lost.]

Ninety-nine Plus One

12 "What do you think? [a]If any man has a hundred sheep, and one of them has gone astray, does he not leave the ninety-nine on the mountains and go and search for the one that is straying?

13 "If it turns out that he finds it, truly I say to you, he rejoices over it more than over the ninety-nine which have not gone astray.

14 "So it is not the will [1]of your Father who is in heaven that one of these little ones perish.

20 "For where two or three have gathered together in My name, [a]I am there in their midst."

Forgiveness

21 Then Peter came and said to Him, "Lord, [a]how often shall my brother sin against me and I forgive him? Up to [b]seven times?"

22 Jesus *said to him, "I do not say to you, up to seven times, but up to [a]seventy times seven.

18:10 their angels. Guardian angels not exclusively for children, but for God's people in general (Ps 34:7; 91:11; Heb 1:14). continually see the face of. Have constant access to.

18:12–14 The parable of the lost sheep is also found in Luke 15:3–7. There it applies to unbelievers, here to believers. Jesus used the same parable to teach different truths in different situations.

18:12 sheep. See note on Luke 15:4.

18:15 brother. A fellow believer.

18:17 church. The local congregation. Here and 16:18 are the only two places where the Gospels speak of the "church." Gentile. For the Jews this meant any non-Jewish person. tax collector. See note on 5:46. This verse establishes one basis for excommunication.

18:18 See note on 16:19.

18:22 seventy times seven. Or "seventy-seven times." In either case the sense is "times without number" or "as many times as necessary."

18:23 kingdom of heaven. See note on 3:2.

18:25 For this practice of selling into slavery see Ex 21:2; Lev 25:39; 2 Kin 4:1; Neh 5:5; Is 50:1.

28 "But that slave went out and found one of his fellow slaves who owed him a hundred [1]denarii; and he seized him and began to choke him, saying, 'Pay back what you owe.'

29 "So his fellow slave fell to the ground and began to plead with him, saying, 'Have patience with me and I will repay you.'

30 "But he was unwilling [1]and went and threw him in prison until he should pay back what was owed.

31 "So when his fellow slaves saw what had happened, they were deeply grieved and came and reported to their lord all that had happened.

32 "Then summoning him, his lord *said to him, 'You wicked slave, I forgave you all that debt because you pleaded with me.

33 '[a]Should you not also have had mercy on your fellow slave, in the same way that I had mercy on you?'

34 "And his lord, moved with anger, handed him over to the torturers until he should repay all that was owed him.

35 "[a]My heavenly Father will also do the same to you, if each of you does not forgive his brother from [1]your heart."

Concerning Divorce

19 [a]When Jesus had finished these words, He departed from Galilee and [b]came into the region of Judea beyond the Jordan;

2 and [1]large crowds followed Him, and [a]He healed them there.

3 Some Pharisees came to [1]Jesus, testing Him and asking, "[a]Is it lawful for a man to [2]divorce his wife for any reason at all?"

4 And He answered and said, "Have you not read [a]that He who created them from the beginning MADE THEM MALE AND FEMALE,

5 and said, '[a]FOR THIS REASON A MAN SHALL LEAVE HIS FATHER AND MOTHER AND BE JOINED TO HIS WIFE, AND [b]THE TWO SHALL BECOME ONE FLESH'?

6 "So they are no longer two, but one flesh. What therefore God has joined together, let no man separate."

7 They *said to Him, "[a]Why then did Moses command to GIVE HER A CERTIFICATE OF DIVORCE AND SEND her AWAY?"

8 He *said to them, "Because of your hardness of heart Moses permitted you to [1]divorce your wives; but from the beginning it has not been this way.

9 "And I say to you, [a]whoever [1]divorces his wife, except for [2]immorality, and marries another woman [3]commits adultery[4]."

10 The disciples *said to Him, "If the relationship of the man with his wife is like this, it is better not to marry."

11 But He said to them, "[a]Not all men can accept this statement, but [b]only those to whom it has been given.

12 "For there are eunuchs who were born that way from their mother's womb; and there are eunuchs who were made eunuchs by men; and there are also eunuchs who made themselves eunuchs for the sake of the kingdom of heaven. He who is able to accept this, let him accept it."

Jesus Blesses Little Children

13 [a]Then some children were brought to Him so that He might lay His hands on them and pray; and the disciples rebuked them.

14 But Jesus said, "[1][a]Let the children alone, and do not hinder them from coming to Me; for [b]the kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these."

15 After laying His hands on them, He departed from there.

The Rich Young Ruler

16 [a]And someone came to Him and said, "Teacher, what good thing shall I do that I may obtain [b]eternal life?"

17 And He said to him, "Why are you ask-

18:35 forgive. The one main teaching of the parable.

19:1 beyond the Jordan. The east side, known later as Transjordan or Perea and today simply as Jordan. Jesus now began ministering there (see note on Luke 13:22).

19:3 Pharisees. See note on Mark 2:16. for any reason at all. This last part of the question is not in the parallel passage in Mark (10:2). Matthew possibly included it because he was writing to the Jews, who were aware of the dispute between the schools of Shammai and Hillel over the interpretation of Deut 24:1–4. Shammai held that "some indecency" (Deut 24:1) meant "immorality" (Matt 19:9)—the only allowable cause for divorce. Hillel (c. 60 B.C.–A.D. 20) emphasized the preceding clause, "she finds no favor in his eyes." He would allow a man to divorce his wife if she did anything he disliked—even if she burned his food while cooking it. Jesus clearly took the side of Shammai (see v. 9), but only after first pointing back to God's original ideal for marriage in Gen 1:27; 2:24.

19:10–12 See 1 Cor 7:7–8,26,32–35.

19:11 this statement. The disciples' conclusion in v. 10: "it is better not to marry." Not everyone can accept this teaching because it is not meant for everyone. Jesus then gives three examples of persons for whom it is meant in v. 12.

19:12 made themselves eunuchs for the sake of the kingdom of heaven. Those who have voluntarily adopted a celibate lifestyle in order to give themselves more completely to God's work. Under certain circumstances celibacy is recommended in Scripture (cf. 1Co. 7:25–38), but it is never presented as superior to marriage.

19:14 kingdom of heaven. See note on 3:2. belongs to such as these. See note on Mark 10:14.

19:16 someone. See note on Mark 10:17. what good thing shall I do . . . ? The rich man was thinking in terms of righteousness by works. Jesus had to correct this misunderstanding first before answering the question more fully. eternal life. The first use of this term in Matthew's Gospel (see v. 29; 25:46). In John it occurs much more frequently, often taking the place of the term "kingdom of God (or heaven)" used in the Synoptics, which treat the following three expressions as synonymous: (1) eternal life (v. 16; Mark 10:17; Luke 18:18), (2) entering the kingdom of heaven (v. 23; cf. Mark 10:24; Luke 18:24) and (3) being saved (vv. 25–26; Mark 10:26–27; Luke 18:26–27).

ing Me about what is good? There is only One who is good; but [a]if you wish to enter into life, keep the commandments."

18 Then he *said to Him, "Which ones?" And Jesus said, "[a]YOU SHALL NOT COMMIT MURDER; YOU SHALL NOT COMMIT ADULTERY; YOU SHALL NOT STEAL; YOU SHALL NOT BEAR FALSE WITNESS;

19 [a]HONOR YOUR FATHER AND MOTHER; and [b]YOU SHALL LOVE YOUR NEIGHBOR AS YOURSELF."

20 The young man *said to Him, "All these things I have kept; what am I still lacking?"

21 Jesus said to him, "If you wish to be [1]complete, go and [a]sell your possessions and give to the poor, and you will have [b]treasure in heaven; and come, follow Me."

22 But when the young man heard this statement, he went away grieving; for he was one who owned much property.

23 And Jesus said to His disciples, "Truly I say to you, [a]it is hard for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven.

24 "Again I say to you, [a]it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God."

25 When the disciples heard this, they were very astonished and said, "Then who can be saved?"

26 And looking at them Jesus said to them, "[a]With people this is impossible, but with God all things are possible."

The Disciples' Reward

27 Then Peter said to Him, "Behold, we have left everything and followed You; what then will there be for us?"

28 And Jesus said to them, "Truly I say to you, that you who have followed Me, in the regeneration when [a]the Son of Man will sit on [1]His glorious throne, [b]you also shall sit upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

Laborers in the Vineyard

20 "For [a]the kingdom of heaven is like [1]a landowner who went out early in the morning to hire laborers for his [b]vineyard.

2 "When he had agreed with the laborers for a [1]denarius for the day, he sent them into his vineyard.

3 "And he went out about the [1]third hour and saw others standing idle in the market place;

9 "When those hired about the eleventh hour came, each one received a [1]denarius.

10 "When those hired first came, they thought that they would receive more; [1]but each of them also received a denarius.

11 "When they received it, they grumbled at the landowner,

19:17 There is only One who is good. The good is not something to be done as meritorious in itself. God alone is good, and all other goodness derives from him—even the keeping of the commandments, which Jesus proceeded to enumerate (vv. 18–20). if you wish to enter into life, keep the commandments. "To enter into life" is the same as "obtain eternal life" (v. 16). The requirement to "keep the commandments" is not to establish one's merit before God but is to be an expression of true faith. The Bible always teaches that salvation is a gift of God's grace received through faith (see Eph 2:8).

19:20 All these things I have kept. See note on Mark 10:20.

19:21 complete. Greek teleios, "goal, end." His goal was eternal life, but wealth and lack of commitment stood in his way. go and sell your possessions. In His listing of the commandments, Jesus omitted "Do not covet." This was the rich man's main problem and was preventing him from entering life (see note on Mark 10:21).

19:22 he went away grieving. See note on Mark 10:22.

19:23 kingdom of heaven. See note on 3:2.

19:24 camel to go through the eye of a needle. See note on Mark 10:25.

19:26 See note on Mark 10:27.

19:28 Truly I say to you. See note on Mark 10:29. Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31. judging. Governing or ruling (cf. the OT "judge"; see Introduction to Judges: Title).

19:29 will receive many times as much. Mark adds, "along with persecutions" (see note on Mark 10:30).

20:1–16 This parable occurs only in Matthew's Gospel. In its original setting, its main point seems to be the sovereign graciousness and generosity of God extended to "latecomers" (the poor and the outcasts of society) into God's kingdom. It is addressed to the grumblers (v. 11) who just cannot handle this amazing expression of God's grace. They almost certainly represent the religious leaders who opposed Jesus.

20:2 a denarius. The usual daily wage. A Roman soldier also received one denarius a day.

20:3 third hour. 9:00 A.M.

20:5 sixth and the ninth hour. Noon and 3:00 P.M. respectively.

20:6 eleventh hour. 5:00 P.M.

20:8 When evening came. Because farm workers were poor, the law of Moses required that they be paid at the end of each day (cf. Lev 19:13; Deut 24:14–15).

equal to us who have borne the burden and the [a]scorching heat of the day.'

13 "But he answered and said to one of them, '[a]Friend, I am doing you no wrong; did you not agree with me for a denarius?

14 'Take what is yours and go, but I wish to give to this last man the same as to you.

15 'Is it not lawful for me to do what I wish with what is my own? Or is your [a]eye [1]envious because I am [2]generous?'

16 "So [a]the last shall be first, and the first last."

Death, Resurrection Foretold

17 [a]As Jesus was about to go up to Jerusalem, He took the twelve disciples aside by themselves, and on the way He said to them,

18 "Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem; and the Son of Man [a]will be [1]delivered to the chief priests and scribes, and they will condemn Him to death,

19 and [a]will hand Him over to the Gentiles to mock and scourge and crucify Him, and on [b]the third day He will be raised up."

Preferment Asked

20 [a]Then the mother of [b]the sons of Zebedee came to [1]Jesus with her sons, [c]bowing down and making a request of Him.

21 And He said to her, "What do you wish?" She *said to Him, "Command that in Your kingdom these two sons of mine [a]may sit one on Your right and one on Your left."

22 But Jesus answered, "You do not know what you are asking. Are you able [a]to drink the cup that I am about to drink?" They *said to Him, "We are able."

23 He *said to them, "[a]My cup you shall drink; but to sit on My right and on My left, this is not Mine to give, [b]but it is for those for whom it has been [c]prepared by My Father."

24 And hearing this, the ten became indignant with the two brothers.

25 [a]But Jesus called them to Himself and said, "You know that the rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great men exercise authority over them.

26 "It is not this way among you, [a]but whoever wishes to become great among you shall be your servant,

27 and whoever wishes to be first among you shall be your slave;

28 just as [a]the Son of Man [b]did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His [1]life a ransom for many."

Sight for the Blind

29 [a]As they were leaving Jericho, a large crowd followed Him.

30 And two blind men sitting by the road, hearing that Jesus was passing by, cried out, "Lord, [a]have mercy on us, [b]Son of David!"

31 The crowd sternly told them to be quiet, but they cried out all the more, "Lord, [a]Son of David, have mercy on us!"

32 And Jesus stopped and called them, and said, "What do you want Me to do for you?"

33 They *said to Him, "Lord, we want our eyes to be opened."

34 Moved with compassion, Jesus touched their eyes; and immediately they regained their sight and followed Him.

The Triumphal Entry

21 [a]When they had approached Jerusalem and had come to Bethphage, at [b]the Mount of Olives, then Jesus sent two disciples,

2 saying to them, "Go into the village opposite you, and immediately you will find a donkey tied there and a colt with her; untie them and bring them to Me.

3 "If anyone says anything to you, you

20:19 and will hand Him over to the Gentiles to mock and scourge and crucify Him. An additional statement in this third prediction of the passion. Jesus would not be killed by the Jews, which would have been by stoning, but would be crucified by the Romans. All three predictions include His resurrection on the third day (16:21; 17:23).
20:20 mother of the sons of Zebedee. Mark has "James and John, the two sons of Zebedee," asking the question (Mark 10:35–37), yet there is no contradiction. The three joined in making the petition.

Similarly, Christ paid the ransom price of His own life to free us from the slavery of sin. for. Here the Greek for this preposition emphasizes the substitutionary nature of Christ's death. many. Christ "gave Himself as a ransom for all" (1 Tim 2:6). Salvation is offered to "all," but only the "many" (i.e., the elect) receive it. See note on Mark 10:45.

21:1 Jerusalem. See map No. 8 at the end of the study Bible. Bethphage. The name means "house of figs." It is not mentioned in the OT, and in the NT only in connection with the Triumphal Entry. In the Talmud it is spoken of as being near Jerusalem. Mount of Olives. See note on Mark 11:1.
21:2 donkey. An animal symbolic of humility, peace and Davidic royalty (see notes on Zech 9:9; Luke 19:30). See also note

19 Seeing a lone [a]fig tree by the road, He came to it and found nothing on it except leaves only; and He *said to it, "No longer shall there ever be any fruit from you." And at once the fig tree withered.

20 Seeing this, the disciples were amazed and asked, "How did the fig tree wither all at once?"

21 And Jesus answered and said to them, "Truly I say to you, [a]if you have faith and do not doubt, you will not only do what was done to the fig tree, but even if you say to this mountain, 'Be taken up and cast into the sea,' it will happen.

22 "And [a]all things you ask in prayer, believing, you will receive."

Authority Challenged

23 [a]When He entered the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people came to Him [b]while He was teaching, and said, "By on Mark 11:2. colt. See notes on Mark 11:2 and Luke 19:30.

21:3 Lord. See note on Luke 19:31.

21:7 He sat on the coats. We know from Mark (11:2) and Luke (19:30) that He rode the colt. Typically, a mother donkey followed her offspring closely. Matthew mentions two animals, while the other Gospels have only one (see note on Luke 19:30).

21:8 spread their coats in the road. An act of royal homage (see 2 Kin 9:13). branches. See note on Mark 11:8.

21:9 These are three separate quotations, not necessarily spoken at the same time. Hosanna. See note on Jer 31:7; both prayer and praise. Son of David. See note on 9:27. in the highest. That is, may those in heaven sing "Hosanna" (see Ps 148:1–2; Luke 2:14).

21:12–17 In the Synoptics the cleansing of the temple occurs during the last week of Jesus' ministry; in John it takes place during the first few months (John 2:12–16). Two explanations are possible: 1. There were two cleansings, one at the beginning and the other at the end of Jesus' public ministry. 2. There was only one cleansing, which took place during Passion Week but which John placed at the beginning of his account for theological reasons—to show that God's judgment was operative through the Messiah from the outset of His ministry. However, different details are present in the two accounts (the selling of cattle and sheep in John 2:14, the whip in John 2:15, and the statements of Jesus in Matt 21:13; John 2:16). From Matthew's and Luke's accounts we might assume that the cleansing of the temple took place on Sunday, following the so-called Triumphal Entry (21:1–11). But Mark (11:15–19) clearly indicates that it was on Monday. Matthew often compressed narratives.

21:12 temple. The "buying and selling" took place in the large outer court of the Gentiles, which covered several acres (see notes on Mark 11:15 and Luke 19:45).

21:13 HOUSE OF PRAYER. See note on Mark 11:17.

21:17 Bethany. A village on the eastern slope of the Mount of Olives, about two miles from Jerusalem and the final station on the road from Jericho to Jerusalem.

21:18–22 See note on vv. 12–17; another example of compressing narratives. Mark (11:12–14,20–25) places the cursing of the fig tree on Monday morning and the disciples' finding it withered on Tuesday morning. In Matthew's account the tree withered as soon as Jesus cursed it, emphasizing the immediacy of judgment. For the theological meaning of this event see note on Mark 11:14.

21:18 city. Jerusalem.

21:21 say to this mountain, 'Be taken up and cast into the sea.' See note on 17:20.

21:23 chief priests. See notes on 2:4; Mark 8:31; Luke 19:47. By what authority . . . ? See notes on Mark 11:28 and Luke 20:2.

what authority are You doing these things, and who gave You this authority?"

24 Jesus said to them, "I will also ask you one [1]thing, which if you tell Me, I will also tell you by what authority I do these things.

25 "The baptism of John was from what source, from heaven or from men?" And they began reasoning among themselves, saying, "If we say, 'From heaven,' He will say to us, 'Then why did you not believe him?'

26 "But if we say, 'From men,' we fear the [1]people; for they all regard John as [a]a prophet."

27 And answering Jesus, they said, "We do not know." He also said to them, "Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.

Parable of Two Sons

28 "But what do you think? A man had two [1]sons, and he came to the first and said, '[2]Son, go work today in the [a]vineyard.'

29 "And he answered, 'I will not'; but afterward he regretted it and went.

30 "The man came to the second and said the same thing; and he answered, 'I will, sir'; but he did not go.

31 "Which of the two did the will of his father?" They *said, "The first." Jesus *said to them, "Truly I say to you that [a]the tax collectors and prostitutes [1]will get into the kingdom of God before you.

32 "For John came to you in the way of righteousness and you did not believe him; but [a]the tax collectors and prostitutes did believe him; and you, seeing this, did not even feel remorse afterward so as to believe him.

Parable of the Landowner

33 "Listen to another parable. [a]There was a [1]landowner who [b]PLANTED A [c]VINEYARD AND PUT A WALL AROUND IT AND DUG A WINE PRESS IN IT, AND BUILT A TOWER, and rented it out to [2]vine-growers and [d]went on a journey.

34 "When the [1]harvest time approached, he [a]sent his slaves to the vine-growers to receive his produce.

35 "The vine-growers took his slaves and beat one, and killed another, and stoned a third.

36 "Again he [a]sent another group of slaves larger than the first; and they did the same thing to them.

37 "But afterward he sent his son to them, saying, 'They will respect my son.'

38 "But when the vine-growers saw the son, they said among themselves, 'This is the heir; come, let us kill him and seize his inheritance.'

39 "They took him, and threw him out of the vineyard and killed him.

40 "Therefore when the [1]owner of the vineyard comes, what will he do to those vine-growers?"

41 They *said to Him, "He will bring those wretches to a wretched end, and [a]will rent out the vineyard to other vine-growers who will pay him the proceeds at the proper seasons."

42 Jesus *said to them, "Did you never read in the Scriptures,

'[a]THE STONE WHICH THE BUILDERS
REJECTED,
THIS BECAME THE CHIEF CORNER stone;
THIS CAME ABOUT FROM THE LORD,
AND IT IS MARVELOUS IN OUR EYES'?

43 "Therefore I say to you, the kingdom of God will be taken away from you and given to a [1]people, producing the fruit of it.

44 "And [a]he who falls on this stone will be broken to pieces; but on whomever it falls, it will scatter him like dust."

45 When the chief priests and the Pharisees heard His parables, they understood that He was speaking about them.

46 When they sought to seize Him, they [a]feared the [1]people, because they considered Him to be a [b]prophet.

Parable of the Marriage Feast

22 Jesus spoke to them again in parables, saying,

2 "[a]The kingdom of heaven [1]may be compared to [2]a king who [3]gave a [b]wedding feast for his son.

3 "And he [a]sent out his slaves to call those who had been invited to the wedding feast, and they were unwilling to come.

4 "Again he [a]sent out other slaves saying, 'Tell those who have been invited, "Behold, I have prepared my dinner; my oxen and my fattened livestock are all butchered and everything is ready; come to the wedding feast." '

5 "But they paid no attention and went their way, one to his own [1]farm, another to his business,

6 and the rest seized his slaves and mistreated them and killed them.

7 "But the king was enraged, and he sent

Tribute to Caesar

15 [a]Then the Pharisees went and [1]plotted together how they might trap Him [2]in what He said.

16 And they *sent their disciples to Him, along with the [a]Herodians, saying, "Teacher, we know that You are truthful and teach the way of God in truth, and [1]defer to no one; for You are not partial to any.

17 "Tell us then, what do You think? Is it [1]lawful to give a [a]poll-tax to [b]Caesar, or not?"

18 But Jesus perceived their [1]malice, and said, "Why are you testing Me, you hypocrites?

19 "Show Me the [a]coin used for the poll-tax." And they brought Him a [1]denarius.

20 And He *said to them, "Whose likeness and inscription is this?"

21 They *said to Him, "Caesar's." Then He *said to them, "[a]Then render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's; and to God the things that are God's."

22 And hearing this, they were amazed, and [a]leaving Him, they went away.

Jesus Answers the Sadducees

23 [a]On that day some [b]Sadducees (who say [c]there is no resurrection) came to Jesus and questioned Him,

24 asking, "Teacher, Moses said, '[a]IF A MAN DIES HAVING NO CHILDREN, HIS BROTHER AS NEXT OF KIN SHALL MARRY HIS WIFE, AND RAISE UP CHILDREN FOR HIS BROTHER.'

25 "Now there were seven brothers with us; and the first married and died, and having no children left his wife to his brother;

26 so also the second, and the third, down to the seventh.

27 "Last of all, the woman died.

28 "In the resurrection, therefore, whose wife of the seven will she be? For they all had married her."

29 But Jesus answered and said to them, "You are mistaken, [a]not [1]understanding the Scriptures nor the power of God.

30 "For in the resurrection they neither [a]marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels in heaven.

31 "But regarding the resurrection of the dead, have you not read what was spoken to you by God:

32 '[a]I AM THE GOD OF ABRAHAM, AND THE GOD OF ISAAC, AND THE GOD OF JACOB'? He is not the God of the dead but of the living."

33 When the crowds heard this, [a]they were astonished at His teaching.

34 [a]But when the Pharisees heard that

22:7 set their city on fire. A common military practice; here possibly an allusion to the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70.

22:11 not dressed in wedding clothes. It has been conjectured that it may have been the custom for the host to provide the guests with wedding garments. This would have been necessary for the guests at this feast in particular, for they were brought in directly from the streets (vv. 9–10). The failure of the man in question to avail himself of a wedding garment was therefore an insult to the host, who had made the garments available.

22:13 gnashing of teeth. See note on 13:42.

22:14 A proverbial summary of the meaning of the parable. God invites "many" (perhaps "all" in view of the Semitic usage of "many") to be part of His kingdom, but only a "few" are chosen by Him. This does not mean that God chooses arbitrarily. The invitation must be accepted, followed by appropriate conduct. Proper behavior is evidence of being chosen.

22:15–17 The Pharisees were ardent nationalists, opposed to Roman rule, while the hated Herodians, as their name indicates, supported the Roman rule of the Herods. Now, however, the Pharisees enlisted the help of the Herodians to trap Jesus in His words. After trying to put Him off guard with flattery, they sprang their question: "Is it lawful to give a poll-tax to Caesar, or not?" (v. 17). If He said "No," the Herodians would report Him to the Roman governor and He would be executed for treason. If He said "Yes," the Pharisees would denounce Him to the people as disloyal to His nation.

22:19 denarius. The common Roman coin of that day (see note on 20:2). On one side was the portrait of Emperor Tiberius and on the other the inscription in Latin: "Tiberius Caesar Augustus, son of the divine Augustus." The coin was issued by Tiberius and was used for paying tax to him.

22:21 to God the things that are God's. In distinguishing clearly between Caesar and God, Jesus also protested against the false and idolatrous claims made on the coins (see previous note and note on Mark 12:17).

22:23 Sadducess. See notes on 3:7; Mark 12:18; Luke 20:27; Acts 4:1.

22:24 Moses said. Jesus quoted from the Pentateuch when arguing with the Sadducees, since those books had special authority for them (see note on Mark 12:18). The reference (Deut 25:5–6) is to the levirate law (from Latin levir, "brother-in-law"), which was given to protect the widow and guarantee continuance of the family line.

22:25–40 See Mark 12:18–31; Luke 20:27–40 and notes.

Jesus had silenced [b]the Sadducees, they gathered themselves together.

38 "This is the great and [1]foremost commandment.

39 "The second is like it, '[a]YOU SHALL LOVE YOUR NEIGHBOR AS YOURSELF.'

40 "[a]On these two commandments depend the whole Law and the Prophets."

41 [a]Now while the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus asked them a question:

42 "What do you think about [1]the Christ, whose son is He?" They *said to Him, "[a]The son of David."

43 He *said to them, "Then how does David [1][a]in the Spirit call Him 'Lord,' saying,

45 "If David then calls Him 'Lord,' how is He his son?"

Pharisaism Exposed

23 [a]Then Jesus spoke to the crowds and to His disciples,

22:37,39 LOVE. The Greek verb is not phileo, which expresses friendly affection, but agapao, the commitment of devotion that is directed by the will and can be commanded as a duty.
22:37 WITH ALL YOUR HEART . . . SOUL . . . MIND. With your whole being. The Hebrew of Deut 6:5 has "heart . . . soul . . . might," but some manuscripts of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) add "mind." Jesus combined all four terms in Mark 12:30.
22:40 the whole Law and the Prophets. The entire OT (see note on 5:17).
22:41–46 See notes on Mark 12:35–40; Luke 20:44–47.

Jewish Sects

PHARISEES

Their roots can be traced to the second century B.C.—to the Hasidim.

1. Along with the Torah, they accepted as equally inspired and authoritative all material contained within the oral tradition.
2. On free will and determination, they held to a mediating view that made it impossible for either free will or the sovereignty of God to cancel out the other.
3. They accepted a rather developed hierarchy of angels and demons.
4. They taught that there was a future for the dead.
5. They believed in the immortality of the soul and in reward and retribution after death.
6. They were champions of human equality.
7. The emphasis of their teaching was ethical rather than theological.

SADDUCEES

They probably had their beginning during the Hasmonean period (166-63 B.C.). Their demise occurred C. A.D. 70 with the fall of Jerusalem.

1. They denied that the oral law was authoritative and binding.
2. They interpreted Mosaic law more literally than did the Pharisees.
3. They were very exacting in Levitical purity.
4. They attributed all to free will.
5. They argued there is neither resurrection of the dead nor a future life.
6. They rejected a belief in angels and demons.
7. They rejected the idea of a spiritual world.
8. Only the books of Moses were canonical Scripture.

ESSENES

They probably originated among the Hasidim, along with the Pharisees, from whom they later separated (I Maccabees 2:42; 7:13). They were a group of very strict and zealous Jews who took part with the Maccabeans in a revolt against the Syrians, c. 165-155 B.C.

1. They followed a strict observance of the purity laws of the Torah.
2. They were notable for their communal ownership of property.
3. They had a strong sense of mutual responsibility.
4. Daily worship was an important feature along with a daily study of their sacred scriptures.
5. Solemn oaths of piety and obedience had to be taken.
6. Sacrifices were offered on holy days and during sacred seasons.
7. Marriage was not condemned in principle but was avoided.
8. They attributed all that happened to fate.

ZEALOTS

They originated during the reign of Herod the Great c. 6 B.C. and ceased to exist in A.D. 73 at Masada.

1. They opposed payment of tribute for taxes to a pagan emperor, saying that allegiance was due only to God.
2. They held a fierce loyalty to the Jewish traditions.
3. They were opposed to the use of the Greek language in Palestine.
4. They prophesied the coming of the time of salvation.

2 saying: "[a]The scribes and the Pharisees have seated themselves in the chair of Moses;
3 therefore all that they tell you, do and observe, but do not do according to their deeds; for they say things and do not do them.
4 "[a]They tie up heavy burdens and lay them on men's shoulders, but they themselves are unwilling to move them with so much as a finger.
5 "But they do all their deeds [a]to be noticed by men; for they [b]broaden their [1]phylacteries and lengthen [c]the tassels of their garments.
6 "They [a]love the place of honor at banquets and the chief seats in the synagogues,
7 and respectful greetings in the market places, and being called [a]Rabbi by men.
8 "But [a]do not be called [b]Rabbi; for One is your Teacher, and you are all brothers.
9 "Do not call anyone on earth your father; for [a]One is your Father, He who is in heaven.
10 "Do not be called [1]leaders; for One is your Leader, that is, Christ.
11 "[a]But the greatest among you shall be your servant.
12 "[a]Whoever exalts himself shall be humbled; and whoever humbles himself shall be exalted.

Eight Woes

13 "[a]But woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, [b]because you shut off the kingdom of heaven [1]from [2]people; for you do not enter in yourselves, nor do you allow those who are entering to go in.
14 ["[1]Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, because [a]you devour widows' houses, and for a pretense you make long prayers; therefore you will receive greater condemnation.]
15 "Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, because you travel around on sea and land to make one [1][a]proselyte; and when he becomes one, you make him twice as much a son of [2][b]hell as yourselves.
16 "Woe to you, [a]blind guides, who say, '[b]Whoever swears by the [1]temple, that is nothing; but whoever swears by the gold of the [1]temple is obligated.'
17 "You fools and blind men! [1]Which is more important, the gold or the [2]temple that sanctified the gold?
18 "And, 'Whoever swears by the altar, that is nothing, but whoever swears by the [1]offering on it, he is obligated.'
19 "You blind men, [a]which is [1]more important, the [2]offering, or the altar that sanctifies the [2]offering?
20 "Therefore, [1]whoever swears by the altar, swears both by [2]the altar and by everything on it.
21 "And [1]whoever swears by the [2]temple, swears both by [3]the temple and by Him who [a]dwells within it.
22 "And [1]whoever swears by heaven, [a]swears both by the throne of God and by Him who sits upon it.
23 "[a]Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you tithe mint and dill and [1]cummin, and have neglected the weightier provisions of the law: justice and mercy and faithfulness; but these are the things you should have done without neglecting the others.
24 "You [a]blind guides, who strain out a gnat and swallow a camel!
25 "Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For [a]you clean the outside of the cup and of the dish, but inside they are full [1]of robbery and self-indulgence.
26 "You blind Pharisee, first [a]clean the inside of the cup and of the dish, so that the outside of it may become clean also.
27 "[a]Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you are like whitewashed tombs which on the outside appear beautiful, but inside they are full of dead men's bones and all uncleanness.
28 "So you, too, outwardly appear righteous to men, but inwardly you are full of hypocrisy and lawlessness.
29 "[a]Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you build the tombs of the prophets and adorn the monuments of the righteous, 23:2 have seated themselves in the chair of Moses. The authorized successors of Moses as teachers of the law.

23:5 phylacteries. These small boxes, worn on forehead and arm, contained four passages (Ex 13:1–10; 13:11–16; Deut 6:4–9; 11:13–21).
23:6 chief seats in the synagogues. See note on Mark 12:39.
23:8–10 The warning is against seeking titles of honor to foster pride. Obviously, we should avoid unreasonable literalism in applying such commands.
23:15 Jesus does not criticize the Pharisees for their evangelistic zeal. He objects to its results. The converts wound up "out-Phariseeing" the Pharisees, and that meant they became even more sons of hell (i.e., bound for hell) than their teachers. hell. See notes on 5:22 and Luke 12:5.
23:23 Jesus does not criticize the observance of the minutiae of the law (He says, "without neglecting" them), but He does criticize the hypocrisy often involved (see note on 5:18–20).
23:24 strain out. The strict Pharisee would carefully strain his drinking water through a cloth to be sure he did not swallow a gnat, the smallest of unclean animals. But, figuratively, he would swallow a camel—one of the largest.
23:27 whitewashed tombs. A person who stepped on a grave became ceremonially unclean (see Num 19:16), so graves were whitewashed to make them easily visible, especially at night. They appeared clean and beautiful on the outside, but they were dirty and rotten on the inside.

Signs of Christ's Return

24 [a]Jesus [b]came out from the temple and was going away [1]when His disciples came up to point out the temple buildings to Him.

4 And Jesus answered and said to them, "[a]See to it that no one misleads you.

5 "For [a]many will come in My name, saying, 'I am the [1]Christ,' and will mislead many.

6 "You will be hearing of [a]wars and rumors of wars. See that you are not frightened, for those things must take place, but that is not yet the end.

9 "[a]Then they will deliver you to tribulation, and will kill you, and [b]you will be hated by all nations because of My name.

23:35 Abel to . . . Zechariah. The murder of Abel is recorded in Gen 4:8 and that of Zechariah son of Jehoiada in 2 Chr 24:20–22 (Chronicles comes at the close of the OT according to the Hebrew arrangement). The expression was somewhat like our "from Genesis to Revelation." Jesus was summing up the history of martyrdom in the OT.
23:37–39 See notes on Luke 13:34–35.
24:1–25:46 The Olivet discourse, the fifth and last of the great discourses in Matthew's Gospel (see notes on 5:1–7:29; Mark 13:1–37).
24:2 not one stone . . . left. Fulfilled literally in A.D. 70, when the Romans under Titus completely destroyed Jerusalem and the temple buildings. Stones were even pried apart to collect the gold leaf that melted from the roof when the temple was set on fire. stone. See note on Mark 13:1. torn down. Excavations in 1968 uncovered large numbers of these stones, toppled from the walls by the invaders.
24:3 Mount of Olives. A ridge a little more than a mile long, beyond the Kidron Valley east of Jerusalem and rising about 200 feet above the city (see note on Mark 11:1). when will these things happen, and what will be the sign of Your coming, and of the end of the age? Jesus deals with these questions but does not distinguish them sharply. However, it appears that the description of the end of the age is discussed in vv. 4–14, the destruction of Jerusalem in vv. 15–22 (see Luke 21:20) and Christ's coming in vv. 23–31.
24:5 Christ. See note on 16:16.
24:8 birth pangs. The rabbis spoke of "birth pangs," i.e., sufferings, that would precede the coming of the Messiah.
24:15 the ABOMINATION OF DESOLATION. The detestable thing causing the desolation of the holy place. The primary reference in Daniel (9:27; 11:31; 12:11) was to 168 B.C., when Antiochus Epiphanes erected a pagan altar to Zeus on the sacred altar in the temple of Jerusalem. According to some, there were still two more stages in the progressive fulfillment of the predictions in Daniel and Matthew: (1) the Roman destruction of the temple in A.D. 70 and (2) the setting up of an image of the antichrist in Jerusalem (see 2 Thess 2:4; Rev 13:14–15; see also notes on Dan 9:25–27; 11:31).

17 "[1]Whoever is on [a]the housetop must not go down to get the things out that are in his house.
18 "[1]Whoever is in the field must not turn back to get his cloak.
19 "But [a]woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days!
20 "But pray that your flight will not be in the winter, or on a Sabbath.
21 "For then there will be a [a]great tribulation, such as has not occurred since the beginning of the world until now, nor ever will.
22 "Unless those days had been cut short, no [1]life would have been saved; but for [a]the sake of the [2]elect those days will be cut short.
23 "[a]Then if anyone says to you, 'Behold, here is the [1]Christ,' or '[2]There He is,' do not believe him.
24 "For false Christs and [a]false prophets will arise and will [1]show great [2][b]signs and wonders, so as to mislead, if possible, even [c]the [3]elect.
25 "Behold, I have told you in advance.
26 "So if they say to you, 'Behold, He is in the wilderness,' do not go out, or, 'Behold, He is in the inner rooms,' do not believe them.
27 "[a]For just as the lightning comes from the east and flashes even to the west, so will the [b]coming of the [c]Son of Man be.
28 "[a]Wherever the corpse is, there the [1]vultures will gather.

The Glorious Return

29 "But immediately after the [a]tribulation of those days [b]THE SUN WILL BE DARKENED, AND
THE MOON WILL NOT GIVE ITS LIGHT, AND [c]THE STARS WILL FALL from [1]the sky, and the powers of [1]the heavens will be shaken.

of the earth will mourn, and they will see [b]the SON OF MAN COMING ON THE CLOUDS OF THE SKY with power and great glory.

Parable of the Fig Tree

32 "Now learn the parable from the fig tree:
when its branch has already become tender and puts forth its leaves, you know that summer is near;
33 so, you too, when you see all these things, [1]recognize that [2]He is near, right [a]at place.

35 "[a]Heaven and earth will pass away, but
My words will not pass away.
36 "But [a]of that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels of heaven, nor the Son, but the Father alone.
37 "For [1]the [a]coming of the Son of Man will be [b]just like the days of Noah.
38 "For as in those days before the flood they were eating and drinking, [a]marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that [b]Noah entered the ark,
39 and they did not [1]understand until the flood came and took them all away; so will

24:19 See note on Mark 13:17.

24:21 great tribulation. Josephus, the Jewish historian who was there, describes the destruction of Jerusalem in almost identical language. Some believe the reference is also to a future period of great distress (see Dan 12:1).

24:22 days . . . cut short. Some hold that this statement means that the distress will be of such intensity that, if allowed to continue, it will destroy everyone. Others believe that Christ is referring to the cutting short of a previously determined time period (such as the 70th "seven" of Dan 9:27 or the 42 months of Rev 11:2; 13:5). the elect. The people of God.

24:28 there the vultures will gather. The coming of Christ will be as obvious as the gathering of vultures around a carcass (see note on Luke 17:37, where the saying is used in a slightly different sense).

Parable of Ten Virgins

25 "Then [a]the kingdom of heaven will be comparable to ten virgins, who took their [b]lamps and went out to meet the bridegroom.

2 "Five of them were foolish, and five were [a]prudent.

3 "For when the foolish took their lamps, they took no oil with them,

4 but the [a]prudent took oil in flasks along with their lamps.

5 "Now while the bridegroom was delaying, they all got drowsy and began to sleep.

6 "But at midnight there was a shout, 'Behold, the bridegroom! Come out to meet him.'

7 "Then all those virgins rose and trimmed their lamps.

8 "The foolish said to the prudent, 'Give us some of your oil, for our lamps are going out.'

9 "But the [a]prudent answered, 'No, there will not be enough for us and you too; go instead to the dealers and buy some for yourselves.'

10 "And while they were going away to make the purchase, the bridegroom came, and those who were [a]ready went in with him to [b]the wedding feast; and [c]the door was shut.

11 "Later the other virgins also came, saying, '[a]Lord, lord, open up for us.'

12 "But he answered, 'Truly I say to you, I do not know you.'

13 "[a]Be on the alert then, for you do not know the day nor the hour.

Parable of the Talents

14 "[a]For it is just like a man [b]about to go on a journey, who called his own slaves and entrusted his possessions to them.

15 "To one he gave five [1][a]talents, to another, two, and to another, one, each according to his own ability; and he [b]went on his journey.

16 "Immediately the one who had received the five [a]talents went and traded with them, and gained five more talents.

17 "In the same manner the one who had received the two talents gained two more.

18 "But he who received the one talent went away, and dug a hole in the ground and hid his [1]master's money.

19 "Now after a long time the master of those slaves *came and *[a]settled accounts with them.

20 "The one who had received the five [a]talents came up and brought five more talents, saying, 'Master, you entrusted five talents to me. See, I have gained five more talents.'

24:51 weeping and gnashing of teeth. See note on 13:42.
25:1 ten virgins. The bridesmaids, who were responsible for preparing the bride to meet the bridegroom. lamps. Torches that consisted of a long pole with oil-drenched rags at the top. (Small clay lamps would have been of little use in an outdoor procession.)
25:3 oil. Olive oil.
25:7 trimmed. The charred ends of the rags were cut off and oil was added.
25:9 there will not be enough. Torches required large amounts of oil in order to keep burning, and the oil had to be replenished about every 15 minutes.
25:13 Be on the alert. The main point of the parable. the day nor the hour. Of the parousia, the coming of Christ.
25:15 talents. The term was first used for a unit of weight (about 75 pounds), then for a unit of coinage. The present-day use of "talent" to indicate an ability or gift is derived from this parable (see note on Luke 19:13).

[1]in the bank, and on my arrival I would have received my money back with interest.

28 'Therefore take away the talent from him, and give it to the one who has the ten talents.'

29 "[a]For to everyone who has, more shall be given, and he will have an abundance; but from the one who does not have, even what he does have shall be taken away.

30 "Throw out the worthless slave into [a]the outer darkness; in that place there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

The Judgment

31 "But when [a]the Son of Man comes in His glory, and all the angels with Him, then [b]He will sit on His glorious throne.

32 "All the nations will be [a]gathered before Him; and He will separate them from one another, [b]as the shepherd separates the sheep from the goats;

33 and He will put the sheep [a]on His right, and the goats [b]on the left.

34 "Then the King will say to those on His right, 'Come, you who are blessed of My Father, [a]inherit the kingdom prepared for you [b]from the foundation of the world.

35 'For [a]I was hungry, and you gave Me something to eat; I was thirsty, and you gave Me something to drink; [b]I was a stranger, and you invited Me in;

36 [a]naked, and you clothed Me; I was sick, and you [b]visited Me; [c]I was in prison, and you came to Me.'

37 "Then the righteous will answer Him, 'Lord, when did we see You hungry, and feed You, or thirsty, and give You something to drink?

38 'And when did we see You a stranger, and invite You in, or naked, and clothe You?

39 'When did we see You sick, or in prison, and come to You?'

40 "[a]The King will answer and say to them, 'Truly I say to you, [b]to the extent that you did it to one of these brothers of Mine, even the least of them, you did it to Me.'

41 "Then He will also say to those on His left, '[a]Depart from Me, accursed ones, into the [b]eternal fire which has been prepared for [c]the devil and his angels;

42 for I was hungry, and you gave Me nothing to eat; I was thirsty, and you gave Me nothing to drink;

43 I was a stranger, and you did not invite Me in; naked, and you did not clothe Me; sick, and in prison, and you did not visit Me.'

44 "Then they themselves also will answer, 'Lord, when did we see You hungry, or thirsty, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not [1]take care of You?'

45 "Then He will answer them, 'Truly I say to you, to the extent that you did not do it to one of the least of these, you did not do it to Me.'

46 "These will go away into [a]eternal punishment, but the righteous into [b]eternal life."

The Plot to Kill Jesus

26 [a]When Jesus had finished all these words, He said to His disciples,

2 "[a]You know that after two days [b]the Passover is coming, and the Son of Man is to be [c]handed over for crucifixion."

3 [a]Then the chief priests and the elders of the people were gathered together in [b]the court of the high priest, named [c]Caiaphas;

4 and they [a]plotted together to seize Jesus by stealth and kill Him.

5 But they were saying, "Not during the festival, [a]otherwise a riot might occur among the people."

25:27 bank. The Greek for this word comes from trapeza ("table"), a word seen on the front of banks in Greece today. Bankers sat at small tables and changed money (cf. 21:12). interest. The Greek for this word was first used in the sense of offspring, interest being the "offspring" of invested money.
25:29 The main point of the parable. Being ready for Christ's coming involves more than playing it safe and doing little or nothing. It demands the kind of service that produces results.
25:31–46 The two most widely accepted interpretations of this judgment are: 1. It will occur at the beginning of an earthly millennial kingdom (vv. 31,34). Its purpose will be to determine who will be allowed to enter the kingdom (v. 34). The criterion for judgment will be the kind of treatment shown to the Jewish people ("these brothers of mine," v. 40) during the preceding great tribulation period (vv. 35–40,42–45). Ultimately, how a person treats the Jewish people will reveal whether or not he is saved (vv. 41,46). 2. The judgment referred to occurs at the great white throne at the end of the age (Rev 20:11–15). Its purpose will be to determine who will be allowed to enter the eternal kingdom of the saved and who will be consigned to eternal punishment in hell (vv. 34,46). The basis for judgment will be whether love is shown to God's people (see 1 John 3:14–15).
25:34–40 Rewards in the kingdom of heaven are given to those who serve without thought of reward. There is no hint of merit here, for God gives out of grace, not debt.
26:2 Passover. See note on Mark 14:1. Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31.
26:3 chief priests and the elders of the people. The clerical and lay leadership of the Sanhedrin (see note on 2:4). Caiaphas. High priest A.D. 18–36 and the son-in-law of Annas (John 18:13), a former high priest, who served 6–15.
26:5 a riot might occur. Hundreds of thousands of Jewish pilgrims came to Jerusalem for Passover, and riots were not unknown. The religious leaders (v. 3) knew that many people admired Jesus.
26:6–13 See note on John 12:1–11.
26:6 Bethany. See note on 21:17. Simon the leper. Mentioned elsewhere only in Mark 14:3, though Simon was a common Jewish name in the first century. He was probably a well-known victim of leprosy who had been healed by Jesus.

7 [a]a woman came to Him with an alabaster vial of very costly perfume, and she poured it on His head as He reclined at the table.

8 But the disciples were indignant when they saw this, and said, "Why this waste?

9 "For this perfume might have been sold for a high price and the money given to the poor."

10 But Jesus, aware of this, said to them, "Why do you bother the woman? For she has done a good deed to Me.

11 "For you always have [a]the poor with you; but you do not always have Me.

12 "For when she poured this perfume on My body, she did it [a]to prepare Me for burial.

13 "Truly I say to you, [a]wherever this gospel is preached in the whole world, what this woman has done will also be spoken of in memory of her."

Judas's Bargain

14 [a]Then one of the twelve, named [b]Judas Iscariot, went to the chief priests

15 and said, "What are you willing to give me [1]to [2][a]betray Him to you?" And [b]they weighed out thirty [3]pieces of silver to him.

16 From then on he began looking for a good opportunity to [1]betray [2]Jesus.

17 [a]Now on the first day of [b]Unleavened Bread the disciples came to Jesus and asked, "Where do You want us to prepare for You to eat the Passover?"

18 And He said, "Go into the city to [a]a certain man, and say to him, 'The Teacher says, "[b]My time is near; I am to keep the Passover at your house with My disciples." ' "

19 The disciples did as Jesus had directed them; and they prepared the Passover.

21 As they were eating, He said, "[a]Truly I say to you that one of you will betray Me."

22 Being deeply grieved, they [1]each one began to say to Him, "Surely not I, Lord?"

23 And He answered, "[a]He who dipped his hand with Me in the bowl is the one who will betray Me.

24 "The Son of Man is to go, [a]just as it is written of Him; but woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! [b]It would have been good [1]for that man if he had not been born."

25 And [a]Judas, who was betraying Him, said, "Surely it is not I, [b]Rabbi?" Jesus *said to him, "[c]You have said it yourself."

The Lord's Supper Instituted

26 [a]While they were eating, Jesus took some bread, and [1][b]after a blessing, He broke it and gave it to the disciples, and said, "Take, eat; this is My body."

27 And when He had taken a cup and given thanks, He gave it to them, saying, "Drink from it, all of you;

28 for [a]this is My blood of the covenant, which is poured out for [b]many for forgiveness of sins.

29 "But I say to you, I will not drink of this fruit of the vine from now on until that day when I drink it new with you in My Father's kingdom."

30 [a]After singing a hymn, they went out to [b]the Mount of Olives.

31 Then Jesus *said to them, "You will all [1][a]fall away because of Me this night, for it is written, '[b]I WILL STRIKE DOWN THE SHEPHERD, AND THE SHEEP OF THE FLOCK SHALL BE [c]SCATTERED.'

32 "But after I have been raised, [a]I will go ahead of you to Galilee."

32 [a]Matt 28:7, 10, 16; Mark 16:7

26:7 alabaster vial. Most "alabaster" of ancient times was actually marble (see note on Mark 14:3).
26:10 good. The Greek word has an aesthetic as well as an ethical meaning.
26:14 Iscariot. See note on Mark 3:19.
26:15 thirty pieces of silver. Equivalent to 120 denarii. Laborers customarily received one denarius for a day's work (see 20:1–16).
26:17 the first day of Unleavened Bread. The 14th of Nisan (March-April), it was also called the preparation of the Passover. The Passover meal was eaten the evening of the 14th after sunset—and therefore technically on the 15th, since the Jewish day ended at sunset. The Feast of Unleavened Bread lasted seven days, from the 15th to the 21st of Nisan (see Lev 23:5–6), but in the time of Christ the entire period, Nisan 14–21, was referred to under that name (see note on Mark 14:12).
26:18–30 These verses clearly indicate that Jesus ate the Passover meal with His disciples the night before His crucifixion. For more information on the Lord's Supper see notes on Mark 14:22,24.
26:18 My time. A reference to Jesus' crucifixion.
26:19 prepared the Passover. See note on Mark 14:15.
26:20 reclining at the table. See note on Mark 14:18.
26:21 Truly I say to you. See note on Mark 3:28.
26:23 dipped his hand with Me in the bowl. It was the custom—still practiced by some in the Middle East—to take a piece of bread, or a piece of meat wrapped in bread, and dip it into a bowl of sauce (made of stewed fruit) on the table. will betray Me. In that culture, as among Arabs today, to eat with a person was tantamount to saying, "I am your friend and will not hurt you." This fact made Judas's deed all the more despicable (cf. Ps 41:9).
26:24 as it is written of Him. See note on Mark 14:21. Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31.
26:26–28 See note on Mark 14:22.
26:30 hymn. The Passover fellowship was concluded with the second half of the Hallel Psalms (Ps 115–118).
26:31 all fall away. Not Peter only, but all the eleven (Judas had previously withdrawn, John 13:30). The meaning of the words "fall away" is seen in Peter's denial (vv. 69–75) and in the terrified flight of the other disciples (v. 56). I WILL STRIKE DOWN THE SHEPHERD. See note on Zech 13:7.
26:32 to Galilee. Cf. 28:10,16–20; Mark 16:7; John 21:1–23.

33 But Peter said to Him, "Even though all may [1]fall away because of You, I will never fall away."

34 Jesus said to him, "[a]Truly I say to you that [b]this very night, before a rooster crows, you will deny Me three times."

35 Peter *said to Him, "[a]Even if I have to die with You, I will not deny You." All the disciples said the same thing too.

The Garden of Gethsemane

36 [a]Then Jesus *came with them to a place called [b]Gethsemane, and *said to His disciples, "Sit here while I go over there and pray."

37 And He took with Him [a]Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, and began to be grieved and distressed.

38 Then He *said to them, "[a]My soul is deeply grieved, to the point of death; remain here and [b]keep watch with Me."

39 And He went a little beyond them, and fell on His face and prayed, saying, "My Father, if it is possible, let [a]this cup pass from Me; [b]yet not as I will, but as You will."

40 And He *came to the disciples and *found them sleeping, and *said to Peter, "So, you men could not [a]keep watch with Me for one hour?

41 "[a]Keep watching and praying that you may not enter into temptation; [b]the spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak."

42 He went away again a second time and prayed, saying, "My Father, if this [a]cannot pass away unless I drink it, [b]Your will be done."

43 Again He came and found them sleeping, for their eyes were heavy.

44 And He left them again, and went away and prayed a third time, saying the same thing once more.

45 Then He *came to the disciples and *said to them, "[1]Are you still sleeping and resting? Behold, [a]the hour is at hand and the Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of sinners.

46 "Get up, let us be going; behold, the one who betrays Me is at hand!"

Jesus' Betrayal and Arrest

47 [a]While He was still speaking, behold, [b]Judas, one of the twelve, came up [1]accompanied by a large crowd with swords and clubs, who came from the chief priests and elders of the people.

48 Now he who was betraying Him gave them a sign, saying, "Whomever I kiss, He is the one; seize Him."

49 Immediately Judas went to Jesus and said, "Hail, [a]Rabbi!" and kissed Him.

50 And Jesus said to him, "[a]Friend, do what you have come for." Then they came and laid hands on Jesus and seized Him.

51 And behold, [a]one of those who were with Jesus [1]reached and drew out his [b]sword, and struck the [a]slave of the high priest and [2]cut off his ear.

52 Then Jesus *said to him, "Put your sword back into its place; for [a]all those who take up the sword shall perish by the sword.

53 "Or do you think that I cannot appeal to My Father, and He will at once put at My disposal more than twelve [1][a]legions of [b]angels?

54 "How then will [a]the Scriptures be fulfilled, which say that it must happen this way?"

55 At that time Jesus said to the crowds, "Have you come out with swords and clubs to arrest Me as you would against a robber? [a]Every day I used to sit in the temple teaching and you did not seize Me.

56 "But all this has taken place to fulfill [a]the Scriptures of the prophets." Then all the disciples left Him and fled.

Jesus before Caiaphas

57 [a]Those who had seized Jesus led Him away to [b]Caiaphas, the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were gathered together.

58 But [a]Peter was following Him at a distance as far as the [b]courtyard of the high priest, and entered in, and sat down with the [1c]officers to see the outcome.

59 Now the chief priests and the whole

58 [1]Or servants [a]John 18:15 [b]Matt 26:3 [c]Matt 5:25; John 7:32, 45f; 19:6; Acts 5:22, 26

26:34 before a rooster crows. The reference may be to the third of the Roman watches into which the night was divided (see note on 14:25; see also Mark 13:35). Or it may simply refer to early morning when the rooster crows.

26:36 Gethsemane. The name means "oil press," a place for squeezing the oil from olives (see note on Mark 14:32).

26:37 Peter and the two sons of Zebedee. The latter were James and John. These three disciples seem to have been especially close to Jesus (see note on Mark 5:37).

26:38–39 Jesus did not die serenely as many martyrs have. He was no mere martyr; He was the Lamb of God bearing the penalty of the sins of the entire human race. The wrath of God was turned loose on Him. Only this can adequately explain what took place at Gethsemane.

26:39 cup. A symbol of deep sorrow and suffering. Here it refers to His Father's face being turned away from Him when He who had no sin was made sin (i.e., a sin offering) for us (see 27:46; 2 Cor 5:21).

26:41 See note on Mark 14:38.

26:45 Son of Man. see note on Mark 8:31.

26:47 a large crowd with swords and clubs. See note on Mark 14:43. chief priests and elders. See notes on v. 3 and 2:4.

26:48 Whomever I kiss. See note on Luke 22:47.

26:49 Rabbi. Hebrew word for "(my) teacher." kissed Him. See notes on Mark 14:45 and Luke 22:47.

26:51 one of those who were with Jesus. Peter (see John 18:10). slave of the high priest. Malchus (see John 18:10).

26:53 legions. A Roman legion had 6,000 soldiers.

26:54 Scriptures be fulfilled. In view of v. 56 probably a reference to Zech 13:7.

26:57—27:26 For a summary of the two stages (religious and civil) of the trial of Jesus see note on Mark 14:53–15:15.

[1][a]Council kept trying to obtain false testimony against Jesus, so that they might put Him to death.

60 They did not find any, even though many false witnesses came forward. But later on [a]two came forward,

61 and said, "This man stated, '[a]I am able to destroy the [1]temple of God and to rebuild it [2]in three days.' "

62 The high priest stood up and said to Him, "Do You not answer? What is it that these men are testifying against You?"

63 But [a]Jesus kept silent. [b]And the high priest said to Him, "I [1][c]adjure You by [d]the living God, that You tell us whether You are [2]the Christ, [e]the Son of God."

64 Jesus *said to him, "[a]You have said it yourself; nevertheless I tell you, [1]hereafter you will see [b]THE SON OF MAN SITTING AT THE RIGHT HAND OF POWER, and [c]COMING ON THE CLOUDS OF HEAVEN."

65 Then the high priest [a]tore his [1]robes and said, "He has blasphemed! What further need do we have of witnesses? Behold, you have now heard the blasphemy;

66 what do you think?" They answered, "[a]He deserves death!"

67 [a]Then they [b]spat in His face and beat Him with their fists; and others [1]slapped Him,

68 and said, "[a]Prophesy to us, You [1]Christ; who is the one who hit You?"

Peter's Denials

69 [a]Now Peter was sitting outside in the [b]courtyard, and a servant-girl came to him and said, "You too were with Jesus the Galilean."

70 But he denied it before them all, saying, "I do not know what you are talking about."

71 When he had gone out to the gateway, another servant-girl saw him and *said to those who were there, "This man was with Jesus of Nazareth."

72 And again he denied it with an oath, "I do not know the man."

73 A little later the bystanders came up and said to Peter, "Surely you too are one of them; [a]for even the way you talk [1]gives you away."

74 Then he began to curse and swear, "I do not know the man!" And immediately a rooster crowed.

75 And Peter remembered the word which Jesus had said, "[a]Before a rooster crows, you will deny Me three times." And he went out and wept bitterly.

Judas's Remorse

27 [a]Now when morning came, all the chief priests and the elders of the people conferred together against Jesus to put Him to death;

2 and they bound Him, and led Him away and [a]delivered Him to [b]Pilate the governor.

3 Then when [a]Judas, who had betrayed Him, saw that He had been condemned, he felt remorse and returned [b]the thirty [1]pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders,

4 saying, "I have sinned by betraying innocent blood." But they said, "What is that to us? [a]See to that yourself!"

5 And he threw the pieces of silver into [a]the temple sanctuary and departed; and [b]he went away and hanged himself.

6 The chief priests took the pieces of silver and said, "It is not lawful to put them into the temple treasury, since it is the price of blood."

7 And they conferred together and [1]with the money bought the Potter's Field as a burial place for strangers.

8 [a]For this reason that field has been called the Field of Blood to this day.

9 Then that which was spoken through Jeremiah the prophet was fulfilled: "[a]AND [1]THEY TOOK THE THIRTY PIECES OF SILVER, THE PRICE OF THE ONE WHOSE PRICE HAD BEEN SET by the sons of Israel;

26:59 Council. See note on Mark 14:55.

26:61 I am able to destroy the temple of God. Evidently an intentional distortion of Jesus' words (John 2:19).

26:63 I adjure You. Jesus refused to answer the question of v. 62 (see v. 63a). But when the high priest used this form, He was legally obliged to reply. Christ. See note on 16:16.

26:65 tore his robes. Ordinarily the high priest was forbidden by law to do this (Lev 10:6; 21:10), but this was considered a highly unusual circumstance. The high priest interpreted Jesus' answer in v. 64 as blasphemy (see note on Mark 14:64).

26:67–68 Mark reports that they blindfolded Jesus (Mark 14:65), which explains the mocking command: "Prophesy . . . Who hit you?"

26:73 the way you talk gives you away. Peter had a decidedly Galilean accent that was conspicuous in Jerusalem.

27:1 when morning came. The Sanhedrin could not have a legal session at night, so at daybreak a special meeting was held to make the death sentence (see 26:66) official. See note on Mark 15:1.

27:2 delivered Him to Pilate. The Sanhedrin had been deprived by the Roman government of the right to carry out capital punishment, except in the case of a foreigner who invaded the sacred precincts of the temple. So Jesus had to be handed over to Pilate for execution. For additional information about Pilate see note on Mark 15:1.

27:3–10 See Acts 1:16–19.

27:5 hanged himself. See note on Acts 1:18.

27:8 called the Field of Blood. Cf. "the valley of Slaughter" in Jer 19:6.

27:9 Jeremiah. The quotation that follows seems to be a combining of Zech 11:12–13 and Jer 19:1–13 (or perhaps Jer 18:2–12 or Jer 32:6–9). But Matthew attributes it to the major prophet Jeremiah, just as Mark (1:2–3) quotes Mal 3:1 and Is 40:3 but attributes them to the major prophet Isaiah.

10 [a]AND [1]THEY GAVE THEM FOR THE POTTER'S FIELD, AS THE LORD DIRECTED ME."

Jesus before Pilate

11 [a]Now Jesus stood before the governor, and the governor questioned Him, saying, "Are You the [b]King of the Jews?" And Jesus said to him, "[c]It is as you say."

12 And while He was being accused by the chief priests and elders, [a]He did not answer.

13 Then Pilate *said to Him, "Do You not hear how many things they testify against You?"

14 And [a]He did not answer him with regard to even a single [1]charge, so the governor was quite amazed.

15 [a]Now at the feast the governor was accustomed to release for the [1]people any one prisoner whom they wanted.

16 At that time they were holding a notorious prisoner, called Barabbas.

17 So when the people gathered together, Pilate said to them, "Whom do you want me to release for you? Barabbas, or Jesus [a]who is called Christ?"

18 For he knew that because of envy they had handed Him over.

19 [a]While he was sitting on the judgment seat, his wife sent him a message, saying, "Have nothing to do with that [b]righteous Man; for [1]last night I suffered greatly [c]in a dream because of Him."

20 But the chief priests and the elders persuaded the crowds to [a]ask for Barabbas and to put Jesus to death.

21 But the governor [1]said to them, "Which of the two do you want me to release for you?" And they said, "Barabbas."

22 Pilate *said to them, "Then what shall I do with Jesus [a]who is called Christ?" They all *said, "[1]Crucify Him!"

23 And he said, "Why, what evil has He done?" But they kept shouting all the more, saying, "[1]Crucify Him!"

24 When Pilate saw that he was accomplishing nothing, but rather that [a]a riot was starting, he took water and [b]washed his hands in front of the crowd, saying, "I am innocent of [c]this Man's blood; [d]see to that yourselves."

25 And all the people said, "[a]His blood shall be on us and on our children!"

26 Then he released Barabbas [1]for them; but after having Jesus [a]scourged, he handed Him over to be crucified.

Jesus Is Mocked

27 [a]Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into [b]the [1]Praetorium and gathered the whole Roman [2c]cohort around Him.

28 They stripped Him and [a]put a scarlet robe on Him.

29 [a]And after twisting together a crown of thorns, they put it on His head, and a [1]reed in His right hand; and they knelt down before Him and mocked Him, saying, "[b]Hail, King of the Jews!"

30 [a]They spat on Him, and took the reed and began to beat Him on the head.

31 [a]After they had mocked Him, they took the scarlet robe off Him and put His own garments back on Him, and led Him away to crucify Him.

32 [a]As they were coming out, they found a man of [b]Cyrene named Simon, [1]whom they pressed into service to bear His cross.

The Crucifixion

33 [a]And when they came to a place called [b]Golgotha, which means Place of a Skull, 34 [a]they gave Him [b]wine to drink mixed with gall; and after tasting it, He was unwilling to drink.

35 And when they had crucified Him, [a]they divided up His garments among themselves by casting [1]lots.

36 And sitting down, they began to [a]keep watch over Him there.

37 And above His head they put up the charge against Him [1]which read, "[a]THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS."

27:15 the governor was accustomed. A custom of which nothing is known outside the Gospels.

27:16 notorious. The translation of a Greek word that here probably means "outstanding" or "notable" (cf. Rom 16:7). Barabbas had taken part in a rebellion (Luke 23:19; John 18:40), presumably against the Romans. So he would have been a folk hero among the Jews.

27:19 This incident is found only in Matthew's Gospel.

27:25 A chilling response by a bloodthirsty crowd. It has often been used to justify the persecution of the Jewish people. It should be noted, however, that it was not God but the people themselves who uttered these words. There is no evidence here that God granted their request. If there was a fulfillment, it was most likely seen in the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70.

27:26 scourged. Roman floggings were so brutal that sometimes the victim died before crucifixion. See note on Mark 15:15.

27:27 Praetorium. The governor's official residence in Jerusalem (see note on Mark 15:16).

27:28 scarlet robe. The outer cloak of a Roman soldier.

27:29 crown of thorns. See note on Mark 15:17. reed. A mock scepter.

27:32 Cyrene. A city in North Africa. Simon . . . to bear His cross. See note on Mark 15:21.

27:33 Golgotha. See note on Mark 15:22.

27:34 mixed with gall. Tradition says that the women of Jerusalem customarily furnished this pain-killing narcotic to prisoners who were crucified. Jesus refused to drink it because He wanted to be fully conscious until His death (v. 50).

27:35 crucified. See note on Mark 15:24. casting lots. Explained more precisely in John 19:23–24.

27:37 See note on Mark 15:26.

38 At that time two robbers *were crucified with Him, one on the right and one on the left.

39 And those passing by were [1]hurling abuse at Him, [a]wagging their heads

40 and saying, "[a]You who are going to destroy the temple and rebuild it in three days, save Yourself! [b]If You are the Son of God, come down from the cross."

41 In the same way the chief priests also, along with the scribes and elders, were mocking Him and saying, 42 "[a]He saved others; [1]He cannot save Himself. [b]He is the King of Israel; let Him now come down from the cross, and we will believe in Him.

43 "[a]HE TRUSTS IN GOD; LET GOD RESCUE Him now, IF HE [1]DELIGHTS IN HIM; for He said, 'I am the Son of God.' "

44 [a]The robbers who had been crucified with Him were also insulting Him with the same words.

45 [a]Now from the [1]sixth hour darkness [2]fell upon all the land until the [3]ninth hour.

46 About the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, "[a]ELI, ELI, LAMA SABACHTHANI?" that is, "MY GOD, MY GOD, WHY HAVE YOU FORSAKEN ME?"

47 And some of those who were standing there, when they heard it, began saying, "This man is calling for Elijah."

48 [a]Immediately one of them ran, and taking a sponge, he filled it with sour wine and put it on a reed, and gave Him a drink.

49 But the rest of them said, "[1]Let us see whether Elijah will come to save Him[2]."

50 And Jesus [a]cried out again with a loud voice, and yielded up His spirit.

51 [a]And behold, [b]the [1]veil of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom; and [c]the earth shook and the rocks were split.

52 The tombs were opened, and many bodies of the [1]saints who had [a]fallen asleep were raised;

53 and coming out of the tombs after His resurrection they entered [a]the holy city and appeared to many.

54 [a]Now the centurion, and those who were with him [b]keeping guard over Jesus, when they saw [c]the earthquake and the things that were happening, became very frightened and said, "Truly this was [1d]the Son of God!"

55 [a]Many women were there looking on from a distance, who had followed Jesus from Galilee while [1b]ministering to Him.

56 Among them was [a]Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James and Joseph, and [b]the mother of the sons of Zebedee.

Jesus Is Buried

57 [a]When it was evening, there came a rich man from Arimathea, named Joseph, who himself had also become a disciple of Jesus.

58 This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. Then Pilate ordered it to be given to him.

59 And Joseph took the body and wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, 60 and laid it in his own new tomb, which he had hewn out in the rock; and he rolled [a]a large stone against the entrance of the tomb and went away.

61 And [a]Mary Magdalene was there, and the other Mary, sitting opposite the grave.

62 Now on the next day, [1]the day after [a]the preparation, the chief priests and the Pharisees gathered together with Pilate,

63 and said, "Sir, we remember that when He was still alive that deceiver said, '[a]After three days I am to rise again.'

64 "Therefore, give orders for the grave to be made secure until the third day, otherwise His disciples may come and steal Him away and say to the people, 'He has risen from the dead,' and the last deception will be worse than the first."

65 Pilate said to them, "You have a

27:54 centurion. See note on 8:5. Son of God. It cannot be determined whether the centurion made a fully Christian confession, or was only acknowledging that, since the gods had so obviously acted to vindicate this judicial victim, Jesus must be one especially favored by them (the Greek can also be translated "a son"). But in view of the ridicule voiced by "those passing by" (vv. 39–40), it seems probable that Matthew intended the former. See note on Luke 23:47.

66 And they went and made the grave secure, and along with [a]the guard they set a [b]seal on [c]the stone.

Jesus Is Risen!

28 [a]Now after the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, [b]Mary Magdalene and the other Mary came to look at the grave.

2 And behold, a severe earthquake had occurred, for [a]an angel of the Lord descended from heaven and came and rolled away [b]the stone and sat upon it.

3 And [a]his appearance was like lightning, and his clothing as white as snow.

4 The guards shook for fear of him and became like dead men.

5 The angel said to the women, "[1a]Do not be afraid; for I know that you are looking for Jesus who has been crucified.

6 "He is not here, for He has risen, [a]just as He said. Come, see the place where He was lying.

7 "Go quickly and tell His disciples that He has risen from the dead; and behold, He is going ahead of you [a]into Galilee, there you will see Him; behold, I have told you."

8 And they left the tomb quickly with fear and great joy and ran to report it to His disciples.

9 And behold, Jesus met them [1]and greeted them. And they came up and took hold of His feet and worshiped Him.

10 Then Jesus *said to them, "[1a]Do not be afraid; go and take word to [b]My brethren to leave [c]for Galilee, and there they will see Me."

28:20 with you. Matthew ends with the reassuring and empowering words of Him who came to earth to be "God with us" (1:23).

Mark

See "The Synoptic Gospels," p. 1361.

Author

Although there is no direct internal evidence of authorship, it was the unanimous testimony of the early church that this Gospel was written by John Mark. The most important evidence comes from Papias (c. A.D. 140), who quotes an even earlier source as saying: (1) Mark was a close associate of Peter, from whom he received the tradition of the things said and done by the Lord; (2) this tradition did not come to Mark as a finished, sequential account of the life of our Lord, but as the preaching of Peter—preaching directed to the needs of the early Christian communities; (3) Mark accurately preserved this material. The conclusion drawn from this tradition is that the Gospel of Mark largely consists of the preaching of Peter arranged and shaped by John Mark (see note on Acts 10:37).

John Mark in the NT

It is generally agreed that the Mark who is associated with Peter in the early non-Biblical tradition is also the John Mark of the NT. The first mention of him is in connection with his mother, who had a house in Jerusalem that served as a meeting place for believers (Acts 12:12). When Paul and Barnabas returned to Antioch from Jerusalem after the famine visit, Mark accompanied them (Acts 12:25). Mark next appears as a "helper" to Paul and Barnabas on their first missionary journey (Acts 13:5), but he deserted them at Perga, in Pamphylia, to return to Jerusalem (Acts 13:13). Paul must have been deeply disappointed with Mark's actions on this occasion, because when Barnabas proposed taking Mark on the second journey, Paul flatly refused, a refusal that broke up their working relationship (Acts 15:36–39). Barnabas took Mark, who was his cousin, and departed for Cyprus. No further mention is made of either of them in the book of Acts. Mark reappears in Paul's letter to the Colossians written from Rome. Paul sends a greeting from Mark and adds: "about whom you received instructions; if he comes to you, welcome him" (Col 4:10; see Phile 24, written about the same time). At this point Mark was apparently beginning to win his way back into Paul's confidence. By the end of Paul's life, Mark had fully regained Paul's favor (see 2 Tim 4:11).

Date of Composition

Some, who hold that Matthew and Luke used Mark as a major source, have suggested that Mark may have been composed in the 50s or early 60s. Others have felt that the content of the Gospel and statements made about Mark by the early church fathers indicate that the book was written shortly before the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70. See chart, p. 1361.

Place of Origin

According to early church tradition, Mark was written "in the regions of Italy" (Anti-Marcionite Prologue) or, more specifically, in Rome (Irenaeus and Clement of Alexandria). These same authors closely associate Mark's writing of the Gospel with the apostle Peter. The above evidence is consistent with (1) the historical probability that Peter was in Rome during the last days of his life and was martyred there, and (2) the Biblical evidence that Mark also was in Rome about the same time and was closely associated with Peter (see 2 Tim 4:11; 1 Pet 5:13, where the word "Babylon" is probably a cryptogram for Rome).

Recipients

The evidence points to the church at Rome or at least to Gentile readers. Mark explains Jewish customs (7:2–4; 15:42), translates Aramaic words (3:17; 5:41; 7:11,34; 15:22) and seems to have a special interest in persecution and martyrdom (8:34–38; 13:9–13)—subjects of special concern to Roman believers. A Roman destination would explain the almost immediate acceptance of this Gospel and its rapid dissemination.

Occasion and Purpose

Since Mark's Gospel is traditionally associated with Rome, it may have been occasioned by the persecutions of the Roman church in the period c. A.D. 64–67. The famous fire of Rome in 64—probably set by Nero himself but blamed on Christians—resulted in widespread persecution. Even martyrdom was not unknown among Roman believers. Mark may be writing to prepare his readers for this suffering by placing before them the life of our Lord. There are many references, both explicit and veiled, to suffering and discipleship throughout his Gospel (see 1:12–13; 3:22,30; 8:34–38; 10:30,33–34,45; 13:8,11–13).

Emphases

1. The cross. Both the human cause (12:12; 14:1–2; 15:10) and the divine necessity (8:31; 9:31; 10:33) of the cross are emphasized by Mark.

2. Discipleship. Special attention should be paid to the passages on discipleship that arise from Jesus' predictions of His passion (8:34—9:1; 9:35—10:31; 10:42—45).

3. The teachings of Jesus. Although Mark records far fewer actual teachings of Jesus than the other Gospel writers, there is a remarkable emphasis on Jesus as teacher. The words "teacher," "teach" or "teaching," and "Rabbi" are applied to Jesus in Mark 37 times.

4. The Messianic secret. On several occasions Jesus warns His disciples or the person for whom He has worked a miracle to keep silent about who He is or what He has done (1:34,44; 3:12; 5:43; 7:36–37; 8:26,30; 9:9).

5. Son of God. Although Mark emphasizes the humanity of Jesus (see 3:5; 6:6,31,34; 7:34; 8:12,33; 10:14; 11:12), he does not neglect His deity (see 1:1,11; 3:11; 5:7; 9:7; 12:1–11; 13:32; 15:39).

Special Characteristics

Mark's Gospel is a simple, succinct, unadorned, yet vivid account of Jesus' ministry, emphasizing more what Jesus did than what He said. Mark moves quickly from one episode in Jesus' life and ministry to another, often using the adverb "immediately" (see note on 1:12). The book as a whole is characterized as "The beginning of the gospel" (1:1). The life, death and resurrection of Christ comprise the "beginning," of which the apostolic preaching in Acts is the continuation.

Preaching of John the Baptist

1 The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, [a]the Son of God.

2 [a]As it is written in Isaiah the prophet:

"[b]BEHOLD, I SEND MY MESSENGER [1]AHEAD OF YOU,
WHO WILL PREPARE YOUR WAY;
3 [a]THE VOICE OF ONE CRYING IN THE WILDERNESS,
'MAKE READY THE WAY OF THE LORD,
MAKE HIS PATHS STRAIGHT.' "

4 John the Baptist appeared in the wilderness [1][a]preaching a baptism of repentance for the [b]forgiveness of sins.

5 And all the country of Judea was going out to him, and all the people of Jerusalem; and they were being baptized by him in the Jordan River, confessing their sins.

6 John was clothed with camel's hair and wore [a]a leather belt around his waist, and [1]his diet was locusts and wild honey.

7 And he was [1]preaching, and saying, "After me One is coming who is mightier than I, and I am not fit to stoop down and untie the thong of His sandals.

The Baptism of Jesus

9 [a]In those days Jesus [b]came from Nazareth in Galilee and was baptized by John in the Jordan.

10 Immediately coming up out of the water, He saw the heavens [1]opening, and the Spirit like a dove descending upon Him;

11 and a voice came out of the heavens: "[a]You are My beloved Son, in You I am well-pleased."

12 [a]Immediately the Spirit *impelled Him to go out into the wilderness.

13 And He was in the wilderness forty days being tempted by [a]Satan; and He was with the wild beasts, and the angels were ministering to Him.

Jesus Preaches in Galilee

14 [a]Now after John had been [1]taken into custody, Jesus came into Galilee, [2b]preaching the gospel of God,

15 and saying, "[a]The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God [1]is at hand; [b]repent and [2]believe in the gospel."

16 [a]As He was going along by the Sea of

1:1 The beginning. See Introduction: Special Characteristics; suggests the opening verse of Genesis (see John 1:1). gospel. From the Old English godspel, "good story" or "good news," which accurately translates the Greek. The good news is that God has provided salvation through the life, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ

1:2–3 in Isaiah the prophet. The quotation that immediately follows (see first two poetry lines) comes from Mal 3:1 but is followed by one from Is 40:3 (see note on Matt 27:9). Understanding the ministry of Jesus must begin with the OT. What Isaiah says about God applies to Jesus, His Son (v. 1). The passages cited speak of the messenger, the wilderness and the Lord, each of which is stressed in vv. 4–8.

1:4 John . . . appeared. Mark, like John, has no nativity narrative, but begins with the ministry of John the Baptist. The name John means "The LORD is gracious." the Baptist. John's practice of baptizing those who came to him in repentance was so characteristic of his ministry that he became known as "the Baptist" or "the Baptizer." the wilderness. The arid region west of the Dead Sea, whose inhabitants included those who wrote and preserved the Dead Sea Scrolls. repentance. Involves deliberate turning from sin to righteousness, and John's emphasis on repentance recalls the preaching of the prophets (e.g., Hos 3:4–5). God always grants forgiveness when there is repentance. baptism. John was preaching repentance-baptism, i.e., baptism that was preceded or accompanied by repentance. Baptism was not new to John's audience. They knew of baptism for Gentile converts, but had not heard that the descendants of Abraham (Jews) needed to repent and be baptized.

1:5 all . . . all. Obvious hyperbole, indicating the high interest created by John's preaching. For centuries Israel had had no prophet. Jordan River. The principal river in the Holy Land, beginning in the snows of Mount Hermon and ending in the Dead Sea. Its closest point to Jerusalem is about 20 miles.

1:6 camel's hair . . . leather belt. Worn by Elijah and other prophets (2 Kin 1:8; cf. Zech 13:4). locusts and wild honey. See note on Matt 3:4.

1:7 preaching. Mark's account of John's preaching is brief (cf. Matt 3:7–12; Luke 3:7–17) and focuses on the coming of the mighty One.

1:8 baptize you with the Holy Spirit. See note on Matt 3:11.

1:9 In those days. Jesus probably began His public ministry c. A.D. 27, when He was approximately 30 years old (Luke 3:23). As far as we know, He had spent most of His previous life in Nazareth. Nazareth. See note on Matt 2:23. baptized by John. For the significance of Jesus' baptism see Matt 3:15 and note.

1:10–11 All three persons of the Trinity are involved: (1) the Father speaks, (2) the Son is baptized, and (3) the Holy Spirit descends on the Son.

1:10 the Spirit . . . descending on Him. Jesus' anointing for ministry—an anointing He claimed in the synagogue at Nazareth (Luke 4:18). like a dove. Symbolizing the gentleness, purity and guilelessness of the Holy Spirit (see Matt 10:16).

1:11 An allusion to Ps 2:7 and Is 42:1. a voice. God sometimes spoke directly from heaven (see 9:7; John 12:28–29). You are My beloved Son. In v. 1 Mark proclaims Jesus as the Son of God; here God the Father Himself proclaims Jesus as His Son.

1:12 Immediately. A distinctive characteristic of Mark's style is his use (some 47 times) of this Greek word that is also translated as "just then" (v. 23).

1:13 forty. See note on Matt 4:2. tempted. See notes on Matt 4:1–11. Satan. See notes on Gen 3:1; Zech 3:1; Rev 2:9–10; 12:9–10. wild beasts. In Jesus' day there were many more wild animals—including lions—in Israel than today. Only Mark reports their presence in this connection; he emphasizes that God kept Jesus safe in the wilderness. angels were ministering to Him. As they had attended Israel in the wilderness (see Ex 23:20,23; 32:34).

1:14 after John had been taken into custody. See Matt 4:12 and note on Luke 3:20. the gospel of God. The good news from, as well as about, God.

1:15 the kingdom of God. See note on Matt 3:2. is at hand. The coming of Christ (the King) brings the kingdom near to the people.

Galilee, He saw Simon and Andrew, the brother of Simon, casting a net in the sea; for they were fishermen.

17 And Jesus said to them, "Follow Me, and I will make you become fishers of men."

18 Immediately they left their nets and followed Him.

19 Going on a little farther, He saw [1]James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, who were also in the boat mending the nets.

20 Immediately He called them; and they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired servants, and went away [1]to follow Him.

21 [a]They *went into Capernaum; and immediately on the Sabbath [b]He entered the synagogue and began to teach.

22 [a]They were amazed at His teaching; for He was teaching them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

23 Just then there was a man in their synagogue with an unclean spirit; and he cried out,

24 saying, "[a]What [1]business do we have with each other, Jesus [2]of [b]Nazareth? Have You come to destroy us? I know who You are—[c]the Holy One of God!"

25 And Jesus rebuked him, saying, "Be quiet, and come out of him!"

26 Throwing him into convulsions, the unclean spirit cried out with a loud voice and came out of him.

27 They were all [a]amazed, so that they debated among themselves, saying, "What is this? A new teaching with authority! He commands even the unclean spirits, and they obey Him."

28 Immediately the news about Him spread everywhere into all the surrounding district of Galilee.

Crowds Healed

29 [a]And immediately after they came [b]out of the synagogue, they came into the house of Simon and Andrew, with [1]James and John.

30 Now Simon's mother-in-law was lying sick with a fever; and immediately they *spoke to [1]Jesus about her.

31 And He came to her and raised her up, taking her by the hand, and the fever left her, and she [1]waited on them.

32 [a]When evening came, [b]after the sun had set, they began bringing to Him all who were ill and those who were [c]demon-possessed.

33 And the whole [a]city had gathered at the door.

34 And He [a]healed many who were ill with various diseases, and cast out many demons; and He was not permitting the demons to speak, because they knew who He was.

35 [a]In the early morning, while it was still dark, Jesus got up, left the house, and went away to a secluded place, and [b]was praying there.

36 Simon and his companions searched for Him;

37 they found Him, and *said to Him, "Everyone is looking for You."

38 He *said to them, "Let us go somewhere else to the towns nearby, so that I may

1:16 Sea of Galilee. A beautiful lake, almost 700 feet below sea level, 14 miles long and 6 miles wide, fed by the waters of the upper Jordan River. It was also called the Lake of Gennesaret (Luke 5:1) and the Sea of Tiberias (John 6:1; 21:1). In OT times it was known as the Sea of Chinnereth (e.g., Num 34:11). Simon. Probably a contraction of the OT name Simeon. Jesus gave Simon the name Peter (3:16; Matt 16:18; John 1:42). net. See note on Matt 4:18.

1:17 Follow Me. The call to discipleship is definite and demands a response of total commitment. This was not Jesus' first encounter with Simon and Andrew (see John 1:35–42). fishers of men. Evangelists (see Luke 5:10).

1:21 Capernaum. See note on Matt 4:13. synagogue. A very important religious institution among the Jews of that day. Originating during the exile, it provided a place where Jews could study the Scriptures and worship God. A synagogue could be established in any town where there were at least ten married Jewish men. began to teach. Jesus, like Paul (see Acts 13:15; 14:1; 17:2; 18:4), took advantage of the custom that allowed visiting teachers to participate in the worship service by invitation of the synagogue leaders.

1:22 amazed. Mark frequently reported the amazement that Jesus' teaching and actions produced (see 2:12; 5:20,42; 6:2,51; 7:37; 10:26; 11:18; see also 15:5). In these instances it was Christ's inherent authority that amazed. He did not quote human authorities, as did the teachers of the law, because his authority was directly from God. scribes. See note on Matt 2:4.

1:23 a man in their synagogue . . . cried out. It was actually the demon who cried out. with an unclean spirit. Demonic possession intended to torment and destroy those who are created in God's image, but the demon recognized that Jesus was a powerful adversary, capable of destroying the forces of Satan.

1:24 the Holy One of God. Apart from the parallel in Luke 4:34, the title is used elsewhere only in John 6:69 and points to Christ's divine origin rather than His Messiahship (see Luke 1:35). The name was perhaps used by the demons in accordance with the occult belief that the precise use of a person's name gave certain control over him. The man was possessed by more than one demon (see 5:9), but only one spoke.

1:25 Be quiet. Lit. "Be muzzled!" Jesus' superior power silences the shrieks of the demon-possessed man.

1:27 with authority. Jesus' authority in how He taught (v. 22) and in what He did (here) impressed the people.

1:29 into the house of Simon and Andrew. Jesus and the disciples probably went there for a meal, since the main Sabbath meal was served immediately following the synagogue service.

1:30 Simon's mother-in-law. 1 Cor 9:5 speaks of Peter's being married.

1:32 they began bringing. They waited until the Sabbath was over (after sunset) before carrying anything (see Jer 17:21–22).

1:34 because they knew who He was. Luke says, "because they knew Him to be the Christ" (Luke 4:41). Jesus probably wanted first to show by word and deed the kind of Messiah He was (in contrast to popular notions) before He clearly declared Himself, and He would not let the demons frustrate this intent.

1:36 companions. Andrew, James, John and perhaps Philip and Nathanael (cf. John 1:43–45).

[1]preach there also; for that is what I came for."

39 [a]And He went into their synagogues throughout all Galilee, [1]preaching and casting out the demons.

40 [a]And a leper *came to Jesus, beseeching Him and [b]falling on his knees before Him, and saying, "If You are willing, You can make me clean."

41 Moved with compassion, Jesus stretched out His hand and touched him, and *said to him, "I am willing; be cleansed."

42 Immediately the leprosy left him and he was cleansed.

43 And He sternly warned him and immediately sent him away,

44 and He *said to him, "[a]See that you say nothing to anyone; but [a]go, show yourself to the priest and [b]offer for your cleansing what Moses commanded, as a testimony to them."

45 But he went out and began to [a]proclaim it freely and to [a]spread the news around, to such an extent that [1]Jesus could no longer publicly enter a city, but [2]stayed out in unpopulated areas; and [b]they were coming to Him from everywhere.

The Paralytic Healed

2 When He had come back to Capernaum several days afterward, it was heard that He was at home.

2 And [a]many were gathered together, so that there was no longer room, not even near the door; and He was speaking the word to them.

3 [a]And they *came, bringing to Him a [b]paralytic, carried by four men.

6 But some of the scribes were sitting there and reasoning in their hearts,

7 "Why does this man speak that way? He is blaspheming; [a]who can forgive sins [1]but God alone?"

8 Immediately Jesus, aware [1]in His spirit that they were reasoning that way within themselves, *said to them, "Why are you reasoning about these things in your hearts?

9 "Which is easier, to say to the [a]paralytic, 'Your sins are forgiven'; or to say, 'Get up, and pick up your pallet and walk'?

11 "I say to you, get up, pick up your pallet and go home."

12 And he got up and immediately picked up the pallet and went out in the sight of everyone, so that they were all amazed and [a]were glorifying God, saying, "[b]We have never seen anything like this."

13 And He went out again by the seashore; and [a]all the [1]people were coming to Him, and He was teaching them.

Levi (Matthew) Called

14 [a]As He passed by, He saw [1b]Levi the son of Alphaeus sitting in the tax booth, and

1:39 throughout all Galilee. The first of what seem to be three tours of Galilee (second tour, Luke 8:1; third tour, Mark 6:6 and Matt 11:1).

1:40 leper. See Lev 13–14.

1:41 touched him. An act that, according to Mosaic law, brought defilement (see Lev 13, especially vv. 45–46; cf. Lev 5:2). Jesus' compassion for the man superseded ceremonial considerations.

1:44 say nothing to anyone. See notes on Matt 8:4; 16:20. go, show yourself to the priest. See note on Luke 5:14. a testimony to them. The sacrifices were to be evidence to the priests and the people that the cure was real and that Jesus respected the law. The healing was also a testimony to Jesus' divine power, since Jews believed that only God could cure leprosy (see 2 Kin 5:1–14).

1:45 no longer publicly enter a city. Jesus' growing popularity with the people (see 1:28; 3:7–8; Luke 7:17) and the increasing opposition from Jewish leaders (see 2:6–7,16,23–24; 3:2,6,22) finally made it necessary for Him to withdraw from Galilee into surrounding territories.

2:1 home. When in Capernaum, Jesus probably made His home at Peter's house (see 1:21,29).

2:2 many were gathered together. The same enthusiasm that greeted Jesus earlier (1:32–33,37) was evident at His return.

2:3 a paralytic. Nothing definite can be said about the nature of the man's affliction beyond the fact that he could not walk. The determination of the four men to reach Jesus suggests that his condition was desperate.

2:4 they removed the roof. A typical Palestinian house had a flat roof accessible by means of an outside staircase. The roof was often made of a thick layer of clay (packed with a stone roller), supported by mats of branches across wood beams.

2:5 And Jesus seeing their faith. Jesus recognized that the bold action of the paralyzed man and his friends gave evidence of faith. Son, your sins are forgiven. Jesus first met the man's deepest need: forgiveness.

2:7 He is blaspheming; who can forgive sins but God alone? In Jewish theology even the Messiah could not forgive sins, and Jesus' forgiveness of sin was a claim to deity—which they considered to be blasphemous (see note on 14:64).

2:9 Which is easier . . . ? Jesus' point probably was that neither forgiving sins nor healing was easier. Both are equally impossible to men and equally easy to God.

2:10 But so that you may know. Probably spoken to the teachers of the law. The words "He said to the paralytic" are parenthetical to explain a change in the persons addressed. For a discussion of the title "Son of Man" see note on 8:31. It is clear that one purpose of miracles was to give evidence of Jesus' deity. See the use of miraculous signs in John's Gospel (2:11; 20:30–31).

2:12 they were all amazed. See note on 1:22.

2:14 Levi the son of Alphaeus. Matthew (see Matt 9:9; 10:3). His given name was probably Levi, and Matthew ("gift of the LORD") his apostolic name. tax booth. Levi was a tax collector (see note on Luke 3:12) under Herod Antipas, tetrarch of Galilee. The tax collector's booth where Jesus found Levi was probably a toll

16 When [a]the scribes of the Pharisees saw that He was eating with the sinners and tax collectors, they said to His disciples, "[b]Why is He eating and drinking with tax collectors and [1]sinners?"

17 And hearing this, Jesus *said to them, "[a]It is not those who are healthy who need a physician, but those who are sick; I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners."

18 [a]John's disciples and the Pharisees were fasting; and they *came and *said to Him, "Why do John's disciples and the disciples of the Pharisees fast, but Your disciples do not fast?"

19 And Jesus said to them, "While the bridegroom is with them, [1]the attendants of the bridegroom cannot fast, can they? So long as they have the bridegroom with them, they cannot fast.

20 "But the [a]days will come when the bridegroom is taken away from them, and then they will fast in that day.

Question of the Sabbath

23 [a]And it happened that He was passing through the grainfields on the Sabbath, and His disciples began to make their way along while [b]picking the heads of grain.

24 The Pharisees were saying to Him, "Look, [a]why are they doing what is not lawful on the Sabbath?"

25 And He *said to them, "Have you never read what David did when he was in need and he and his companions became hungry;

26 how he entered the house of God in the time of [a]Abiathar the high priest, and ate the [1]consecrated bread, which [b]is not lawful for anyone to eat except the priests, and he also gave it to those who were with him?"

27 Jesus said to them, "[a]The Sabbath [1]was made [2]for man, and [b]not man [2]for the Sabbath.

booth on the major international road that went from Damascus through Capernaum to the Mediterranean coast and to Egypt (see the "way of the sea," Is 9:1). he got up and followed. See note on Luke 5:28.

2:15 sinners. Notoriously evil people as well as those who refused to follow the Mosaic law as interpreted by the scribes. The term was commonly used of tax collectors, adulterers, robbers and the like. were dining. To eat with a person was a sign of friendship.

2:16 scribes of the Pharisees. Not all scribes were Pharisees—successors of the Hasidim, pious Jews who joined forces with the Maccabees during the struggle for freedom from Syrian oppression (166–142 B.C.). They first appear under the name Pharisees during the reign of John Hyrcanus (135–105). Although some, no doubt, were godly, most of those who came into conflict with Jesus were hypocritical, envious, rigid and formalistic. According to Pharisaism, God's grace extended only to those who kept his law. See notes on Matt 3:7; Luke 5:17. tax collectors. Jewish tax collectors were regarded as outcasts. They could not serve as witnesses or as judges and were expelled from the synagogue. In the eyes of the Jewish community their disgrace extended to their families. See note on Matt 5:46.

2:17 I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners. A self-righteous man does not realize his need for salvation, but an admitted sinner does.

2:18 John's disciples. John the Baptist's disciples may have been fasting because he was in prison (see 1:14), or this may have been a practice among them as an expression of repentance, intended to hasten the coming of redemption announced by John. fasting. In the Mosaic law only the fast of the day of atonement was required (Lev 16:29,31; 23:27–32; Num 29:7). After the Babylonian exile four other yearly fasts were observed by the Jews (Zech 7:5; 8:19). In Jesus' time the Pharisees fasted twice a week (see Luke 18:12). disciples of the Pharisees. Pharisees as such were not teachers, but some were also "scribes" (teachers of the law), who often had disciples. Or perhaps the phrase is used in a nontechnical way to refer to people influenced by the Pharisees.

2:19 While the bridegroom is with them, the attendants of the bridegroom cannot fast, can they? Jesus compared his disciples with the guests of a bridegroom. A Jewish wedding was a particularly joyous occasion, and the celebration associated with it often lasted a week. It was unthinkable to fast during such festivities, because fasting was associated with sorrow.

2:20 when the bridegroom is taken away from them. Jesus is the bridegroom, who would be taken from them by death, and then fasting would be in order.

2:22 fresh wineskins. See note on Matt 9:17.

2:23 picking the heads of grain. There was nothing wrong in the action itself, which comes under the provision of Deut 23:25.

2:24 what is not lawful on the Sabbath. According to Jewish tradition (in the Mishnah), harvesting (which is what Jesus' disciples technically were doing) was forbidden on the Sabbath. See Ex 34:21.

2:25 what David did. See 1 Sam 21:1–6. The relationship between the OT incident and the apparent infringement of the Sabbath by the disciples lies in the fact that on both occasions godly men did something forbidden. Since, however, it is always "lawful" to do good and to save life (even on the Sabbath), both David and the disciples were within the spirit of the law (see Is 58:6–7; Luke 6:6–11; 13:10–17; 14:1–6).

2:26 in the time of Abiathar the high priest. According to 1 Sam 21:1, Ahimelech, Abiathar's father, was then high priest (see note on 2 Sam 8:17). consecrated bread. See note on Matt 12:4.

2:27 The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath. Jewish tradition had so multiplied the requirements and restrictions for keeping the Sabbath that the burden had become intolerable. Jesus cut across these traditions and emphasized the God-given purpose of the Sabbath—a day intended for man (for spiritual, mental and physical restoration; see Ex 20:8–11).

28 "So the Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath."

Jesus Heals on the Sabbath

3 [a]He [b]entered again into a synagogue; and a man was there whose hand was withered.

2 [a]They were watching Him to see if He would heal him on the Sabbath, [b]so that they might accuse Him.

3 He *said to the man with the withered hand, "[1]Get up and come forward!"

4 And He *said to them, "Is it lawful to do good or to do harm on the Sabbath, to save a life or to kill?" But they kept silent.

5 After [a]looking around at them with anger, grieved at their hardness of heart, He *said to the man, "Stretch out your hand." And he stretched it out, and his hand was restored.

6 The Pharisees went out and immediately began [1]conspiring with the [a]Herodians against Him, as to how they might destroy Him.

7 [a]Jesus withdrew to the sea with His disciples; and [b]a great multitude from Galilee followed; and also from Judea,

8 and from Jerusalem, and from [a]Idumea, and beyond the Jordan, and the vicinity of [b]Tyre and Sidon, a great number of people heard of all that He was doing and came to Him.

9 [a]And He told His disciples that a boat should stand ready for Him because of the crowd, so that they would not crowd Him;

10 for He had [a]healed many, with the result that all those who had [b]afflictions pressed around Him in order to [c]touch Him.

11 Whenever the unclean spirits saw Him, they would fall down before Him and shout, "You are [a]the Son of God!"

12 And He [a]earnestly warned them not to [1]tell who He was.

The Twelve Are Chosen

13 And He *went up on [a]the mountain and *[b]summoned those whom He Himself wanted, and they came to Him.

14 And He appointed twelve, so that they would be with Him and that He could send them out to preach, 15 and to have authority to cast out the demons.

16 And He appointed the twelve: [a]Simon (to whom He gave the name Peter),

17 and [1]James, the son of Zebedee, and John the brother of [1]James (to them He gave the name Boanerges, which means, "Sons of Thunder");

18 and Andrew, and Philip, and Bartholomew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and [1]James the son of Alphaeus, and Thaddaeus, and Simon the [2]Zealot;

19 and Judas Iscariot, who betrayed Him.

20 And He *came [1][a]home, and the [b]crowd *gathered again, [c]to such an extent that they could not even eat [2]a meal.

3:1–6 A demonstration that Jesus is Lord of the Sabbath (see 2:28).

3:2 They. The Pharisees (v. 6; cf. Luke 6:7). to see if He would heal him on the Sabbath. An indication that the Pharisees believed in Jesus' power to perform miracles. The question was not "Could he?" but "Would he?" Jewish tradition prescribed that aid could be given the sick on the Sabbath only when the person's life was threatened, which obviously was not the case here. See notes on 2:25; Luke 13:14. might accuse Him. Jesus' presence demanded a decision about His preaching, His acts and His person. The hostility, first seen in 2:6–7, continues to spread. See note on v. 6.

3:4 to do good or to do harm on the Sabbath, to save a life or to kill? Jesus asks: Which is better, to preserve life by healing or to destroy life by refusing to heal? The question is ironic since, whereas Jesus was ready to heal, the Pharisees were plotting to put Him to death. It is obvious who was guilty of breaking the Sabbath. they kept silent. See 12:34.

3:6 The Pharisees . . . began conspiring. The decision to seek Jesus' death was not the result of this incident alone, but was the response to a series of incidents (see 2:6–7,16–17,24). The plotting of the Pharisees and the Herodians is seen again on Tuesday of Passion Week (12:13). Herodians. Influential Jews who favored the Herodian dynasty, meaning they were supporters of Rome, from which the Herods received their authority. They joined the Pharisees in opposing Jesus because they feared He might have an unsettling political influence on the people. See note on Matt 22:15–17.

3:8 Here we see impressive evidence of Jesus' rapidly growing popularity among the people. This geographical list indicates that the crowds came not only from the areas in the vicinity of Capernaum but also from considerable distances. The regions mentioned included virtually all of Israel and its surrounding neighbors. Mark tells of Jesus' work in all these regions except Idumea (see 1:14, Galilee; 5:1 and 10:1, the region across the Jordan; 7:24,31, Tyre and Sidon; 10:1, Judea; 11:11, Jerusalem). Idumea. The Greek form of the Hebrew "Edom," but here referring to an area south of Judea, not to earlier Edomite territory. (See map, p. 1465.)

3:11 the unclean spirits. See note on 1:23. You are the Son of God! The evil spirits recognized who Jesus was, but they did not believe in Him (see note on 1:24).

3:12 not to tell who He was. The time for revealing Jesus' identity had not yet come (see 1:34 and note; see also notes on Matt 8:4; 16:20), and demons were hardly the proper channel for such disclosure.

3:14 that they would be with Him. The training of the twelve included not only instruction and practice in various forms of ministry but also continuous association and intimate fellowship with Jesus Himself.

3:16–19 See notes on Luke 6:14–16.

3:17 Sons of Thunder. Probably descriptive of their dispositions (see notes on 10:37; Luke 9:54–55).

3:18 Thaddaeus. Apparently the same as "Judas son of James" (see Luke 6:16; Acts 1:13). the Zealot. See note on Matt 10:4.

3:19 Iscariot. Probably means "the man from Kerioth," the town Kerioth-hezron (Josh 15:25), 12 miles south of Hebron (Jer 48:24). For Judas's betrayal of Jesus see 14:10–11,43–46.

3:20 home. Probably the home of Peter and Andrew (see 1:29; 2:1).

21 When [a]His own [1]people heard of this, they went out to take custody of Him; for they were saying, "[b]He has lost His senses."

22 The scribes who came down [a]from Jerusalem were saying, "He is possessed by [1][b]Beelzebul," and "[c]He casts out the demons by the ruler of the demons."

23 [a]And He called them to Himself and began speaking to them in [b]parables, "How can [c]Satan cast out Satan?

24 "If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand.

25 "If a house is divided against itself, that house will not be able to stand.

26 "If [a]Satan has risen up against himself and is divided, he cannot stand, but [1]he is finished!

27 "[a]But no one can enter the strong man's house and plunder his property unless he first binds the strong man, and then he will plunder his house.

28 "[a]Truly I say to you, all sins shall be forgiven the sons of men, and whatever blasphemies they utter;

30 because they were saying, "He has an unclean spirit."

31 [a]Then His mother and His brothers *arrived, and standing outside they sent word to Him and called Him.

32 A crowd was sitting around Him, and they *said to Him, "Behold, Your mother and Your brothers are outside looking for You."

33 Answering them, He *said, "Who are My mother and My brothers?"

34 Looking about at those who were sitting around Him, He *said, "[a]Behold My mother and My brothers!

2 And He was teaching them many things in [a]parables, and was saying to them in His teaching,

3 "Listen to this! Behold, the sower went out to sow;

4 as he was sowing, some seed fell beside the road, and the birds came and ate it up.

5 "Other seed fell on the rocky ground where it did not have much soil; and immediately it sprang up because it had no depth of soil.

6 "And after the sun had risen, it was scorched; and because it had no root, it withered away.

7 "Other seed fell among the thorns, and the thorns came up and choked it, and it yielded no crop.

8 "Other seeds fell into the good soil, and as they grew up and increased, they yielded a crop and produced thirty, sixty, and a hundredfold."

9 And He was saying, "[a]He who has ears to hear, [1]let him hear."

10 As soon as He was alone, [1]His followers, along with the twelve, began asking Him about the parables.

11 And He was saying to them, "To you has been given the mystery of the kingdom of God, but [a]those who are outside get everything [b]in parables,

12 so that [a]WHILE SEEING, THEY MAY SEE AND NOT PERCEIVE, AND WHILE HEARING, THEY MAY HEAR AND NOT UNDERSTAND, OTHERWISE THEY MIGHT RETURN AND BE FORGIVEN."

3:21 His own people . . . went out to take custody of Him. No doubt they had come to Capernaum from Nazareth, some 30 miles away (see v. 31).

3:22 Beelzebul. See note on Matt 10:25.

3:23 parables. In this context the word is used in the general sense of comparisons (see note on 4:2).

3:27 enter the strong man's house and plunder his property. Jesus was doing this very thing when He freed people from Satan's control.

3:28 Truly I say to you. A solemn affirmation used by Jesus to strengthen His assertions (see 8:12; 9:1,41; 10:15,29; 11:23; 12:43; 13:30; 14:9,18,25,30).

3:29 whoever blasphemes against the Holy Spirit never has forgiveness. Jesus identifies this sin in v. 30 (cf. v. 22)—the teachers of the law attributed Jesus' healing to Satan's power rather than to the Holy Spirit (see note on Matt 12:31).

3:31 His mother and His brothers. See note on Luke 8:19.

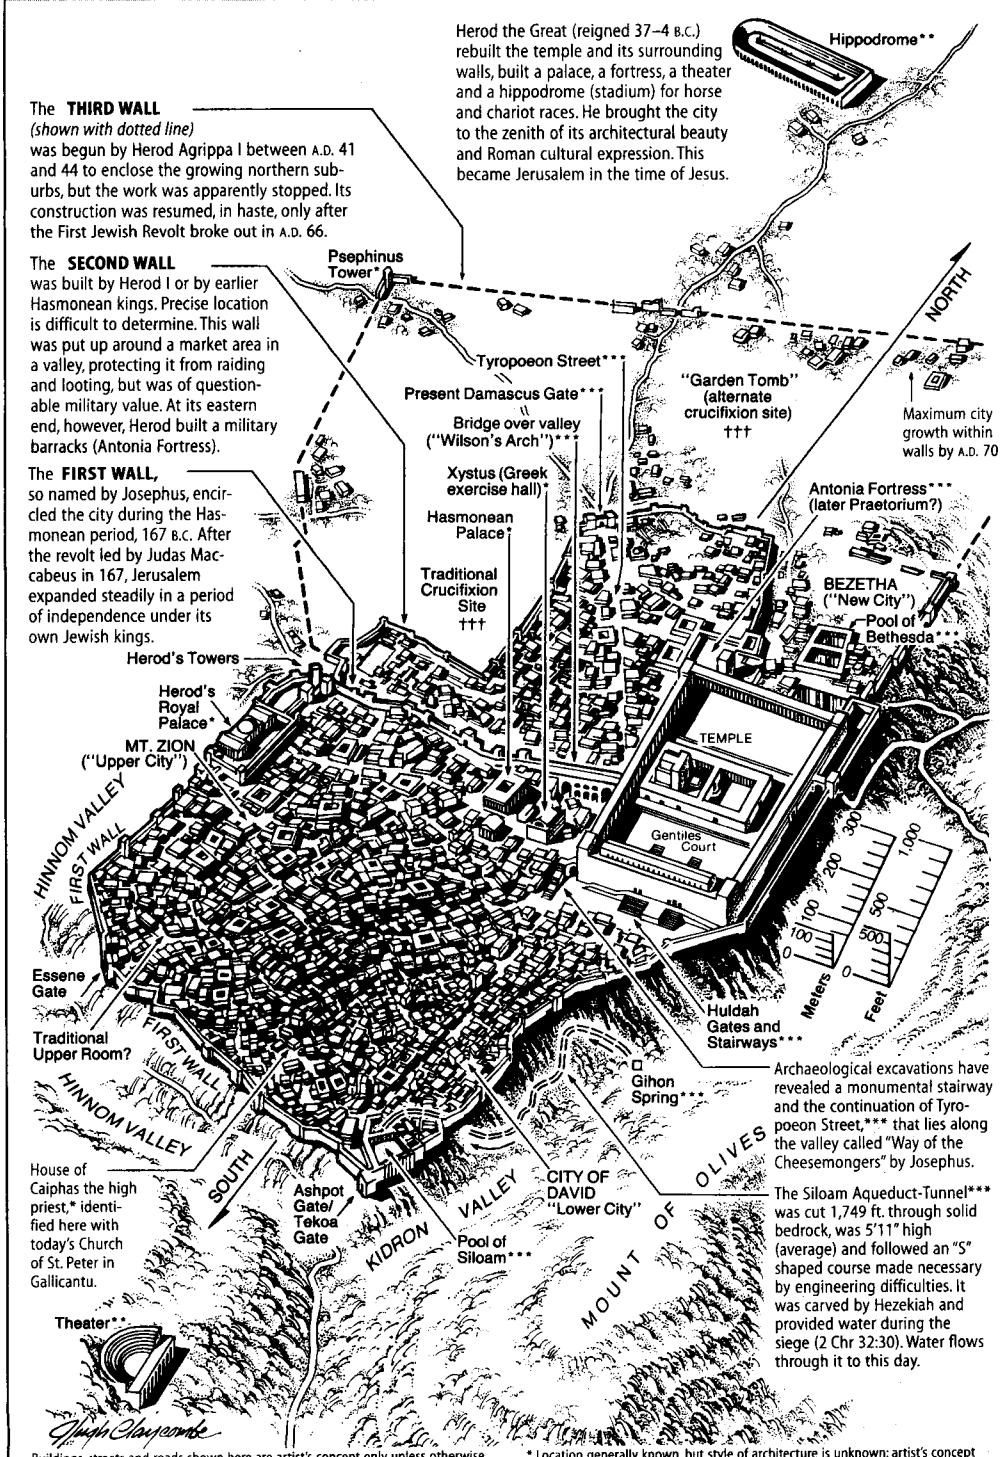
3:35 whoever does the will of God. Membership in God's spiritual family, evidenced by obedience to Him, is more important than membership in our human families (see note on 10:30).

4:1 sat down. Sitting was the usual position for Jewish teachers (see Matt 5:1; Luke 5:3; John 8:2).

4:2 parables. Usually stories out of ordinary life used to illustrate spiritual or moral truth, sometimes in the form of brief similes, comparisons (see note on 3:23), analogies or proverbial sayings. Ordinarily they had a single main point, and not every detail was meant to have significance. See notes on Matt 13:3; Luke 8:4.



4:3–8 In that day seed was broadcast by hand—which, by its nature, scattered some seed on unproductive ground (see note on Luke 8:5).

4:8 produced . . . a hundredfold. A hundredfold yield was an unusually productive harvest (see Gen 26:12). Harvest was a common figure for the consummation of God's kingdom (see Joel 3:13; Rev 14:14–20).

4:11 mystery of the kingdom of God. In the NT "mystery" refers to something God has revealed to His people. The mystery (that which was previously unknown) is proclaimed to all, but only those who have faith understand. In this context the mystery seems to be that the kingdom of God had drawn near in the coming of Jesus Christ.

4:12 so that. Jesus likens His preaching in parables to the ministry of Isaiah, which, while it gained some disciples (Is 8:16), was also to expose the hardhearted resistance of the many to God's warning and appeal.

Explanation

13 [a]And He *said to them, "Do you not understand this parable? How will you understand all the parables?

14 "The sower sows the word.

15 "These are the ones who are beside the road where the word is sown; and when they hear, immediately [a]Satan comes and takes away the word which has been sown in them.

16 "In a similar way these are the ones on whom seed was sown on the rocky places, who, when they hear the word, immediately receive it with joy;

17 and they have no firm root in themselves, but are only temporary; then, when affliction or persecution arises because of the word, immediately they [1]fall away.

18 "And others are the ones on whom seed was sown among the thorns; these are the ones who have heard the word, 19 but the worries of [a]the [1]world, and the [b]deceitfulness of riches, and the desires for other things enter in and choke the word, and it becomes unfruitful.

20 "And those are the ones on whom seed was sown on the good soil; and they hear the word and accept it and [a]bear fruit, thirty, sixty, and a hundredfold."

21 And He was saying to them, "[a]A lamp is not brought to be put under a [1]basket, is it, or under a bed? Is it not brought to be put on the lampstand?

22 "[a]For nothing is hidden, except to be revealed; nor has anything been secret, but that it would come to light.

23 "[a]If anyone has ears to hear, let him hear."

24 And He was saying to them, "Take care what you listen to. [1a]By your standard of measure it will be measured to you; and more will be given you besides.

25 "[a]For whoever has, to him more shall be given; and whoever does not have, even what he has shall be taken away from him.'

Parable of the Seed

26 And He was saying, "The kingdom of God is like a man who casts seed upon the soil;

27 and he goes to bed at night and gets up by day, and the seed sprouts and grows—how, he himself does not know.

28 "The soil produces crops by itself; first the blade, then the head, then the mature grain in the head.

29 "But when the crop permits, he immediately [1a]puts in the sickle, because the harvest has come."

Parable of the Mustard Seed

30 [a]And He said, "How shall we [1b]picture the kingdom of God, or by what parable shall we present it?

31 "It is like a mustard seed, which, when sown upon the soil, though it is smaller than all the seeds that are upon the soil,

32 yet when it is sown, it grows up and becomes larger than all the garden plants and forms large branches; so that [a]THE BIRDS OF THE [1]AIR can NEST UNDER ITS SHADE."

33 With many such parables He was speaking the word to them, so far as they were able to hear it;

34 and He did not speak to them [a]without a parable; but He was [b]explaining everything privately to His own disciples.

Jesus Stills the Sea

35 [a]On that day, when evening came, He *said to them, "Let us go over to the other side."

36 [1]Leaving the crowd, they *took Him along with them [a]in the boat, just as He was; and other boats were with Him.

37 And there *arose a fierce gale of wind,

4:14 the word. The interpretation calls attention to the response to the word of God that Jesus has been preaching. In spite of many obstacles, God's word will accomplish His purpose.

4:17 affliction or persecution. See 8:34–38; 10:30; 13:9–13.

4:19 deceitfulness of riches. Prosperity tends to give a false sense of self-sufficiency, security and well-being (10:17–25; see Deut 8:17–18; 32:15; Eccl 2:4–11; James 5:1–6).

4:21 A lamp is not brought . . . As a lamp is placed to give, not hide, light, so Jesus, the light of the world (John 8:12), is destined to be revealed. lamp. See note on Matt 5:15.

4:25 whoever has, to him more shall be given. The more we appropriate truth now, the more we will receive in the future; and if we do not respond to what little truth we may know already, we will not profit even from that.

4:26–29 Only Mark records this parable. Whereas the parable of the sower stresses the importance of proper soil for the growth of seed and the success of the harvest, here the mysterious power of the seed itself is emphasized. The gospel message contains its own power.

4:29 he immediately puts in the sickle, because the harvest has come. A possible allusion to Joel 3:13, where harvest is a figure for the consummation of God's kingdom.

4:30–34 The main point of this parable is that the kingdom of God seemingly had insignificant beginnings. It was introduced by the despised and rejected Jesus and His 12 unimpressive disciples. But a day will come when its true greatness and power will be seen by all the world.

4:31 See notes on Matt 13:31–32.

4:34 He did not speak to them without a parable. Jesus used parables to illustrate truths, stimulate thinking and awaken spiritual perception. The people in general were not ready for the full truth of the gospel. When alone with His disciples Jesus taught more specifically, but even they usually needed to have things explained.

4:35–41 Although miracles are hard for modern man to accept, the NT makes it clear that Jesus is Lord not only over His church but also over all creation.

4:35 to the other side. Jesus left the territory of Galilee to go to the region of the Gerasenes (5:1).

4:37 there arose a fierce gale of wind. Situated in a basin surrounded by mountains, the Sea of Galilee is particularly sus-and the waves were breaking over the boat so much that the boat was already filling up.

38 Jesus Himself was in the stern, asleep on the cushion; and they *woke Him and *said to Him, "Teacher, do You not care that we are perishing?"

39 And He got up and [a]rebuked the wind and said to the sea, "Hush, be still." And the wind died down and [1]it became perfectly calm.

40 And He said to them, "Why are you [1]afraid? [a]Do you still have no faith?"

41 They became very much afraid and said to one another, "Who then is this, that even the wind and the sea obey Him?"

The Gerasene Demoniac

5 [a]They came to the other side of the sea, into the country of the Gerasenes.

2 When He got out of [a]the boat, immediately a man from the tombs [b]with an unclean spirit met Him,

3 and he had his dwelling among the tombs. And no one was able to bind him anymore, even with a chain;

4 because he had often been bound with shackles and chains, and the chains had been torn apart by him and the shackles broken in pieces, and no one was strong enough to subdue him.

5 Constantly, night and day, he was screaming among the tombs and in the mountains, and gashing himself with stones.

6 Seeing Jesus from a distance, he ran up and bowed down before Him;

7 and shouting with a loud voice, he *said, "[1a]What business do we have with each other, Jesus, [b]Son of [c]the Most High God? I implore You by God, do not torment me!"

8 For He had been saying to him, "Come out of the man, you unclean spirit!"

9 And He was asking him, "What is your name?" And he *said to Him, "My name is [a]Legion; for we are many."

10 And he began to implore Him earnestly not to send them out of the country.

11 Now there was a large herd of swine feeding [1]nearby on the mountain.

12 The demons implored Him, saying, "Send us into the swine so that we may enter them."

13 Jesus gave them permission. And coming out, the unclean spirits entered the swine; and the herd rushed down the steep bank into the sea, about two thousand of them; and they were drowned in the sea.

14 Their herdsmen ran away and reported it in the city and in the country. And the people came to see what it was that had happened.

15 They *came to Jesus and *observed the man who had been [a]demon-possessed sitting down, [b]clothed and [c]in his right mind, the very man who had had the "[d]legion"; and they became frightened.

16 Those who had seen it described to them how it had happened to the [a]demon-possessed man, and all about the swine.

17 And they began to [a]implore Him to leave their region.

18 [a]As He was getting into the boat, the ceptible to sudden, violent storms. Cool air from the Mediterranean is drawn down through the narrow mountain passes and clashes with the hot, humid air lying over the lake.

4:38 asleep on the cushion. The picture of Jesus, exhausted and asleep on the cushion customarily kept under the coxswain's seat, is characteristic of Mark's human touch.

4:41 Who then is this . . . ? In view of what Jesus had just done, the only answer to this rhetorical question was: He is the very Son of God! God's presence, as well as His power, was demonstrated (see Ps 65:7; 107:25–30; Prov 30:4). Mark indicates his answer to this question in the opening line of his Gospel (1:1). By such miracles Jesus sought to establish and increase the disciples' faith in His deity.

5:1 to the other side of the sea. The east side of the lake, a territory largely inhabited by Gentiles, as indicated by the presence of the large herd of pigs—animals Jews considered "unclean" and therefore unfit to eat. country of the Gerasenes. Gerasa, located about 35 miles southeast of the Sea of Galilee, may have had holdings on the eastern shore of the Sea, giving its name to a small village there now known as Khersa. About one mile south is a fairly steep slope within 40 yards of the shore, and about two miles from there are cavern tombs that appear to have been used as dwellings.

5:3 had his dwelling among the tombs. It was not unusual for the same cave to provide burial for the dead and shelter for the living. Very poor people often lived in such caves.

5:4 he had often been bound with shackles and chains. Though the villagers no doubt chained him partly for their own protection, this harsh treatment added to his humiliation.

5:5 he was screaming . . . and gashing himself with stones. Every word in the story emphasizes the man's pathetic condition as well as the purpose of demonic possession—to torment and destroy the divine likeness with which man was created.

5:7 What business do we have with each other . . . ? A way of saying, "What do we have in common?" Similar expressions are found in the OT (e.g., 2 Sam 16:10; 19:22), where they mean, "Mind your own business!" The demon was speaking, using the voice of the possessed man. Son of the Most High God. See note on 1:24. I implore You by God, do not torment me! The demon sensed that he was to be punished and used the strongest basis for an oath that he knew, though his appeal to God was strangely ironic.

5:9 My name is Legion; for we are many. A Roman legion was made up of 6,000 men. Here the term suggests that the man was possessed by numerous demons and perhaps also represents the many powers opposed to Jesus, who embodies the power of God.

5:10 not to send them out of the country. The demons were fearful of being sent into eternal punishment, i.e., "into the abyss" (Luke 8:31).

5:13 Jesus gave them permission. See note on Matt 8:32.

5:16 and all about the swine. In addition to the remarkable change in the demon-possessed man, the drowning of the pigs seemed to be a major concern, no doubt because it was so dramatic and brought considerable financial loss to the owners.

5:17 implore Him to leave their region. Fear of further loss may have motivated this response, but also the fact that a powerful force was at work in their midst that they could not comprehend.

man who had been [b]demon-possessed was imploring Him that he might [1]accompany Him.

19 And He did not let him, but He *said to him, "[a]Go home to your people and report to them [1]what great things the Lord has done for you, and how He had mercy on you."

20 And he went away and began to [a]proclaim in [b]Decapolis [1]what great things Jesus had done for him; and everyone was amazed.

Miracles and Healing

21 [a]When Jesus had crossed over again in [b]the boat to the other side, a large crowd gathered around Him; and so He [1]stayed [c]by the seashore.

24 And He went off with him; and a large crowd was following Him and pressing in on Him.

5:19 report to them what great things the Lord has done for you. This is in marked contrast to Jesus' exhortation to silence in the case of the man cleansed of leprosy (1:44; see 1:34; 3:12; see also note on Matt 8:4), perhaps because the healing of the demoniac was in Gentile territory, where there was little danger that Messianic ideas about Jesus might be circulated.
5:20 Decapolis. See note on Matt 4:25.
5:21 the other side. Jesus returned to the west side of the lake, perhaps to Capernaum.
5:22 synagogue officials. A ruler of the synagogue was a layman whose responsibilities were administrative and included such things as looking after the building and supervising the worship. Though there were exceptions (see Acts 13:15), most synagogues had only one ruler. Sometimes the title was honorary, with no administrative responsibilities assigned.
5:25 had a hemorrhage for twelve years. The precise nature of the woman's problem is not known. Her existence was wretched because people shunned her generally, since anyone many physicians, and had spent all that she had and was not helped at all, but rather had grown worse—

27 after hearing about Jesus, she came up in the crowd behind Him and touched His [1]cloak.

28 For she [1]thought, "If I just touch His garments, I will [2]get well."

29 Immediately the flow of her blood was dried up; and she felt in her body that she was healed of her [a]affliction.

30 Immediately Jesus, perceiving in Himself that [a]the power proceeding from Him had gone forth, turned around in the crowd and said, "Who touched My garments?"

31 And His disciples said to Him, "You see the crowd pressing in on You, and You say, 'Who touched Me?' "

32 And He looked around to see the woman who had done this.

33 But the woman fearing and trembling, aware of what had happened to her, came and fell down before Him and told Him the whole truth.

34 And He said to her, "Daughter, [a]your faith has [1]made you well; [b]go in peace and be healed of your [c]affliction."

35 While He was still speaking, they *came from the house of the [a]synagogue official, saying, "Your daughter has died; why trouble the Teacher anymore?"

36 But Jesus, overhearing what was being spoken, *said to the [a]synagogue official, "[b]Do not be afraid any longer, only [1]believe."

37 And He allowed no one to accompany Him, except [a]Peter and [1]James and John the brother of [1]James.

38 They *came to the house of the [a]synagogue official; and He *saw a commotion, and people loudly weeping and wailing.

39 And entering in, He *said to them, "Why make a commotion and weep? The child has not died, but is asleep."

40 They began laughing at Him. But putting them all out, He *took along the child's father and mother and His own companions, and *entered the room where the child was.

41 Taking the child by the hand, He *said to her, "Talitha kum!" (which translated means, "Little girl, [a]I say to you, get up!").

42 Immediately the girl got up and began to walk, for she was twelve years old. And immediately they were completely astounded.

43 And He [a]gave them strict orders that no one should know about this, and He said that something should be given her to eat.

Teaching at Nazareth

6 [a]Jesus went out from there and *came into [1][b]His hometown; and His disciples *followed Him.

2 When the Sabbath came, He began [a]to teach in the synagogue; and the [b]many listeners were astonished, saying, "Where did this man get these things, and what is this wisdom given to Him, and such [1]miracles as these performed by His hands?

3 "Is not this [a]the carpenter, [b]the son of Mary, and brother of [1]James and Joses and Judas and Simon? Are not [c]His sisters here with us?" And they took [d]offense at Him.

4 Jesus said to them, "[a]A prophet is not without honor except in [1][b]his hometown and among his own relatives and in his own household."

having contact with her was made ceremonially unclean (Lev 15:25–33).

5:26 had endured much at the hands of many physicians. The Jewish Talmud preserves a record of medicines and treatments prescribed for illnesses of this sort.

5:28 If I just touch His garments. Although it needed to be bolstered by physical contact, her faith was rewarded (v. 34; cf. Acts 19:12).

5:30 power proceeding from Him had gone forth. The woman was healed because God graciously determined to heal her through the power then active in Jesus.

5:32 looked around to see the woman who had done this. Jesus would not allow the woman to recede into the crowd without publicly commending her faith and assuring her that she was permanently healed.

5:34 made you well. The Greek for "made you well" actually means "saved." Here both physical healing ("be healed of your affliction") and spiritual salvation ("go in peace") are meant. The two are often seen together in Mark's Gospel (see 2:1–12; 3:1–6).

5:37 Peter and James and John. These three disciples had an especially close relationship to Jesus (see note on Acts 3:1).

5:38 people loudly weeping and wailing. It was customary for professional mourners to be brought in at the time of death. In this case, however, it is not certain that enough time had elapsed for professional mourners to have been secured.

5:39 not died, but is asleep. See note on Luke 8:52.

5:41 Talitha kum! Mark is the only Gospel writer who here preserves the original Aramaic—one of the languages of the Holy Land in the first century A.D. and probably the language Jesus and His disciples ordinarily spoke (they may also have spoken Hebrew and Greek).

5:43 that no one should know. In the vicinity of Galilee Jesus often cautioned people whom He healed not to spread the story of the miracle. His great popularity with the people, coupled with the growing opposition from the religious leaders, could have precipitated a crisis before Jesus' ministry was completed (see 1:44; 5:19; 7:36; 8:26).

6:1 His hometown. Though Mark does not specifically mention Nazareth, it is obviously meant (see note on 1:9).

6:2 teach in the synagogue. See note on 1:21. were astonished. See note on 1:22.

6:3 carpenter. Matthew reports that Jesus was called "the carpenter's son" (Matt 13:55); only in Mark is Jesus Himself referred to as a carpenter. The Greek word can also apply to a mason or smith, but it seems to have its usual meaning ("carpenter") here. The question is derogatory, meaning, "Is He not a common worker with His hands like the rest of us?" brother of James and Joses and Judas and Simon. See note on Luke 8:19. they took offense at Him. They saw no reason to believe that He was different from them, much less that He was specially anointed by God.

6:5 He could do no miracle there. It was not that Jesus did not except that He [a]laid His hands on a few sick people and healed them.

6 And He wondered at their unbelief.

[a]And He was going around the villages teaching.

The Twelve Sent Out

7 [a]And [b]He *summoned the twelve and began to send them out [c]in pairs, and gave them authority over the unclean spirits;

8 [a]and He instructed them that they should take nothing for their journey, except a mere staff—no bread, no [1]bag, no money in their belt—

9 but [1]to wear sandals; and He added, "Do not put on two [2]tunics."

10 And He said to them, "Wherever you enter a house, stay there until you [1]leave town.

11 "Any place that does not receive you or listen to you, as you go out from there, [a]shake the dust [1]off the soles of your feet for a testimony against them."

12 [a]They went out and [1]preached that men should repent.

13 And they were casting out many demons and [a]were anointing with oil many sick people and healing them.

John's Fate Recalled

14 [a]And King Herod heard of it, for His name had become well known; and people were saying, "[b]John the Baptist has risen from the dead, and that is why these miraculous powers are at work in Him."

15 But others were saying, "He is [a]Elijah." And others were saying, "He is [b]a prophet, like one of the prophets of old."

16 But when Herod heard of it, he kept saying, "John, whom I beheaded, has risen!"

17 For Herod himself had sent and had John arrested and bound in prison on account of [a]Herodias, the wife of his brother Philip, because he had married her.

18 For John had been saying to Herod, "[a]It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife."

19 [a]Herodias had a grudge against him and wanted to put him to death and could not do so;

20 for [a]Herod was afraid of John, knowing that he was a righteous and holy man, and he kept him safe. And when he heard him, he was very perplexed; [1]but he [2]used to enjoy listening to him.

21 A strategic day came when Herod on his birthday [a]gave a banquet for his lords and [1]military commanders and the leading men [b]of Galilee;

22 and when the daughter of [a]Herodias herself came in and danced, she pleased Herod and [1]his dinner guests; and the king said to the girl, "Ask me for whatever you want and I will give it to you."

23 And he swore to her, "Whatever you ask of me, I will give it to you; up to [a]half of my kingdom."

24 And she went out and said to her mother, "What shall I ask for?" And she said, "The head of John the Baptist."

25 Immediately she came in a hurry to the king and asked, saying, "I want you to give me at once the head of John the Baptist on a platter."

26 And although the king was very sorry, yet because of his oaths and because of [1]his dinner guests, he was unwilling to refuse her.

27 Immediately the king sent an executioner and commanded him to bring back his head. And he went and had him beheaded in the prison, 28 and brought his head on a platter, and gave it to the girl; and the girl gave it to her mother.

29 When his disciples heard about this, they came and took away his body and laid it in a tomb.

have power to perform miracles at Nazareth, but that He chose not to in such a climate of unbelief (v. 6).

6:6 He wondered. See note on Luke 7:9.

6:7 in pairs. The purpose of going in pairs may have been to bolster credibility by having the testimony of more than one witness (cf. Deut 17:6), as well as to provide mutual support during their training period.

6:8 no bread, no bag, no money in their belt. They were to depend entirely on the hospitality of those to whom they testified (see v. 10).

6:9 Do not put on two tunics. At night an extra tunic was helpful as a covering to protect from the cold night air, and the implication here is that the disciples were to trust in God to provide lodging each night.

6:11 shake the dust off the soles of your feet. See note on Matt 10:14.

6:12–13 preached . . . were casting out many demons. This mission marks the beginning of the disciples' own ministry in Jesus' name (see 3:14–15), and their message was precisely the same as his (1:15).

6:12 repent. See note on 1:4.

6:13 anointing with oil many sick people. In the ancient world olive oil was widely used as a medicine (see Is 1:6; Luke 10:34; James 5:14).

6:14 King Herod. See note on Matt 14:1. Mark may here have used the title "king" sarcastically (since Herod was actually a tetrarch), or perhaps he simply used Herod's popular title.

6:15 He is Elijah. See Mal 4:5.

6:16 John . . . has risen! Herod, disturbed by an uneasy conscience and disposed to superstition, feared that John had come back to haunt him.

6:17 John arrested and bound in prison. See 1:14; Luke 3:19–20. Josephus says that John was imprisoned at Machaerus, the fortress in Perea on the eastern side of the Dead Sea. Herodias. See note on Matt 14:3. Philip. See note on Matt 14:3.

6:22 the daughter of Herodias. See note on Matt 14:6.

6:23 up to half of my kingdom. A proverbial reference to generosity, not to be taken literally (see Esth 5:3,6). Generosity suited the occasion and would win the approval of the guests.

6:30 apostles. In Mark's Gospel the word occurs only here and Jesus; and they reported to Him all that they had done and taught.

31 And He *said to them, "Come away by yourselves to a secluded place and rest a while." (For there were many people coming and going, and [a]they did not even have time to eat.)

32 [a]They went away in [b]the boat to a secluded place by themselves.

34 When Jesus went [1]ashore, He [a]saw a large crowd, and He felt compassion for them because [b]they were like sheep without a shepherd; and He began to teach them many things.

35 When it was already quite late, His disciples came to Him and said, "[1]This place is desolate and it is already quite late;

36 send them away so that they may go into the surrounding countryside and villages and buy themselves [1]something to eat."

37 But He answered them, "You give them something to eat!" [a]And they *said to Him, "Shall we go and spend two hundred [1b]denarii on bread and give them something to eat?"

42 They all ate and were satisfied,

43 and they picked up twelve full [a]baskets of the broken pieces, and also of the fish.

44 There were [a]five thousand men who ate the loaves.

Jesus Walks on the Water

45 [a]Immediately Jesus made His disciples get into [b]the boat and go ahead of Him to the other side to [c]Bethsaida, while He Himself was sending the crowd away.

46 After [a]bidding them farewell, He left [b]for the mountain to pray.

47 When it was evening, the boat was in the middle of the sea, and He was alone on the land.

48 Seeing them [1]straining at the oars, for the wind was against them, at about the [2a]fourth watch of the night He *came to them, walking on the sea; and He intended to pass by them.

49 But when they saw Him walking on the sea, they supposed that it was a ghost, and cried out;

50 for they all saw Him and were [1]terri-in 3:14 (in some manuscripts). The apostles were Jesus' authorized agents or representatives (see note on Heb 3:1). In the NT the word is sometimes used quite generally (see John 13:16, where the Greek apostolos is translated "one who is sent"). In the technical sense it is used (1) of the twelve—in which sense it is also applied to Paul (Rom 1:1)—and (2) of a larger group including Barnabas (Acts 14:14), James the Lord's brother (Gal 1:19), and possibly Andronicus and Junias (Rom 16:7). reported to Him all that they had done and taught. Because He had commissioned them as His representatives. They were returning from a third preaching tour in Galilee (see note on 1:39).

6:32 They went away in the boat . . . by themselves. John reports that they went to the other side of the Sea of Galilee (John 6:1). Luke, more specifically, says they went to Bethsaida (Luke 9:10), which locates the feeding of the 5,000 on the northeast shore (see note on 7:24).

6:33 ran there together on foot . . . and got there ahead of them. Perhaps a strong headwind slowed down the boat so that the people had time to go on foot around the lake and arrive before the boat.

6:37 two hundred denarii. The usual pay for a day's work was one denarius (see Matt 20:2), meaning that about 200 denarii would be earned in eight months.

6:39 green grass. Grass is green around the Sea of Galilee after the late winter or early spring rains.

6:40 groups of hundreds and of fifties. Recalls the order of the Mosaic camp in the wilderness (e.g., Ex 18:21). The word translated "groups" means "garden plots," a picturesque figure (v. 39).

6:42 all ate and were satisfied. Attempts to explain away this miracle (e.g., by suggesting that Jesus and His disciples shared their lunch and the crowd followed their good example) are inadequate. If Jesus was, as He claimed to be, God incarnate, the miracle presents no difficulties. God had promised that when the true Shepherd came the wilderness would become rich pasture where the sheep would be gathered and fed (Ezek 34:23–31), and here the Messiah feasts with followers in the desert (cf. Is 25:6–9). Jesus is the Shepherd who provides for all our needs so that we lack nothing (cf. Ps 23:1).

6:43 twelve full baskets of the broken pieces, and also of the fish. Bread was regarded by Jews as a gift of God, and it was required that scraps that fell on the ground during a meal be picked up. The fragments were collected in small wicker baskets that were carried as a part of daily attire. Each of the disciples returned with his basket full (see 8:8; see also note on Matt 15:37).

6:44 five thousand. The size of the crowd is amazing in light of the fact that the neighboring towns of Capernaum and Bethsaida probably had a population of only 2,000–3,000 each. men. Lit. "males," as in all four Gospels. Matthew further emphasizes the point by adding "besides women and children" (Matt 14:21).

6:45 go ahead of Him. John indicates that the people were ready to take Jesus by force and make Him king (John 6:14–15), and Jesus therefore sent His disciples across the lake while He slipped away into the hills to pray.

6:48 fourth watch. 3:00–6:00 A.M. See 13:35; see also note on Matt 14:25. walking on the sea. A special display of the majestic presence and power of the transcendent Lord, who rules over the sea (see Ps 89:9; Is 51:10,15; Jer 31:35).

6:49 a ghost. Popular Jewish superstition held that the appearance of spirits during the night brought disaster. The disciples' fied. But immediately He spoke with them and *said to them, "[a]Take courage; it is I, [b]do not be afraid."

51 Then He got into [a]the boat with them, and the wind stopped; and they were utterly astonished, 52 for [a]they [1]had not gained any insight from the incident of the loaves, but [2]their heart [b]was hardened.

Healing at Gennesaret

53 [a]When they had crossed over they came to land at Gennesaret, and moored to the shore.

54 When they got out of the boat, immediately the people recognized Him, 55 and ran about that whole country and began to carry here and there on their pallets those who were sick, to [1]the place they heard He was.

56 Wherever He entered villages, or cities, or countryside, they were laying the sick in the market places, and imploring Him that they might just [a]touch [b]the fringe of His cloak; and as many as touched it were being cured.

Followers of Tradition

7 [a]The Pharisees and some of the scribes gathered around Him when they had come [b]from Jerusalem,

2 and had seen that some of His disciples were eating their bread with [a]impure hands, that is, unwashed.

3 (For the Pharisees and all the Jews do not eat unless they [1]carefully wash their hands, thus observing the [a]traditions of the elders;

4 and when they come from the market place, they do not eat unless they [1]cleanse themselves; and there are many other things which they have received in order to observe, such as the [2]washing of [a]cups and pitchers and copper pots.)

5 The Pharisees and the scribes *asked Him, "Why do Your disciples not walk according to the [a]tradition of the elders, but eat their bread with [b]impure hands?"

6 And He said to them, "Rightly did Isaiah prophesy of you hypocrites, as it is written:

> '[a]THIS PEOPLE HONORS ME WITH THEIR LIPS,
> BUT THEIR HEART IS FAR AWAY FROM ME.
> 7 '[a]BUT IN VAIN DO THEY WORSHIP ME, > TEACHING AS DOCTRINES THE PRECEPTS OF MEN.'

8 "Neglecting the commandment of God, you hold to the [a]tradition of men."

9 He was also saying to them, "You are experts at setting aside the commandment of God in order to keep your [a]tradition.

10 "For Moses said, '[a]HONOR YOUR FATHER AND YOUR MOTHER'; and, '[b]HE WHO SPEAKS EVIL OF FATHER OR MOTHER, IS TO [1]BE PUT TO DEATH';

11 but you say, 'If a man says to his father or his mother, whatever I have that would help you is [a]Corban (that is to say, [1]given to God),'

12 you no longer permit him to do anything for his father or his mother;

13 thus invalidating the word of God by your [a]tradition which you have handed down; and you do many things such as that.'

terror was prompted by what they may have thought was a water spirit.

6:52 they had not gained any insight from . . . the loaves. Had they understood the feeding of the 5,000, they would not have been amazed at Jesus' walking on the water or His calming the waves. their heart was hardened. They were showing themselves to be similar to Jesus' opponents, who also exhibited hardness of heart (3:5). See 8:17–21; see also note on Ex 4:21.

6:53 Gennesaret. See note on Matt 14:34.

6:56 touch the fringe of His cloak. See note on 5:28.

7:1 The Pharisees . . . had come from Jerusalem. Another delegation of fact-finding religious leaders from Jerusalem (see 3:22) sent to investigate the Galilean activities of Jesus. See notes on 2:16; Matt 2:4.

7:3 carefully wash their hands. See note on John 2:6. the traditions of the elders. Considered to be binding (see v. 5 and note on Matt 15:2).

7:4 market place. Where Jews would come into contact with Gentiles, or with Jews who did not observe the ceremonial law, and thus become ceremonially unclean.

7:6 Isaiah prophesy. Isaiah roundly denounced the religious leaders of his day (Is 29:13), and Jesus uses a quotation from this prophet to describe the tradition of the elders as "the precepts of men" (v. 7).

7:8 the commandment of God . . . the tradition of men. Jesus clearly contrasts the two. God's commands are found in Scripture and are binding; the traditions of the elders (v. 3) are not Biblical and therefore not authoritative or binding.

7:10 The fifth commandment is cited in both its positive and negative forms.

7:11 Corban. The transliteration of a Hebrew word meaning "offering." By using this word in a religious vow an irresponsible Jewish son could formally dedicate to God (i.e., to the temple) his earnings that otherwise would have gone for the support of his parents. The money, however, did not necessarily have to go for religious purposes. The Corban formula was simply a means of circumventing the clear responsibility of children toward their parents as prescribed in the law. The teachers of the law held that the Corban oath was binding, even when uttered rashly. The practice was one of many traditions that adhered to the letter of the law while ignoring its spirit. (that is to say, given to God). By explaining this Hebrew word, Mark reveals that he is addressing Gentile readers, probably Romans primarily.

7:13 thus invalidating the word of God by your tradition. The teachers of the law appealed to Num 30:1–2 in support of the Corban vow, but Jesus categorically rejects the practice of using one Biblical teaching to nullify another. The scribal interpretation of Num 30:1–2 satisfied the letter of the passage but missed the meaning of the law as a whole. God never intend-

The Syrophoenician Woman

24 [a]Jesus got up and went away from there to the region of [b]Tyre[1]. And when He had entered a house, He wanted no one to know of it; [2]yet He could not escape notice.

25 But after hearing of Him, a woman whose little daughter had an unclean spirit immediately came and fell at His feet.

26 Now the woman was a [1]Gentile, of the Syrophoenician race. And she kept asking Him to cast the demon out of her daughter.

27 And He was saying to her, "Let the children be satisfied first, for it is not [1]good to take the children's bread and throw it to the dogs."

28 But she answered and *said to Him, ed obedience to one command to nullify another.

7:16 Although this verse is present in the majority of the Greek manuscripts, it does not occur in the most ancient ones. It appears to be a scribal addition derived from either 4:9 or 4:23.

7:19 (Thus He declared all foods clean.) Mark adds this parenthetical comment to help his readers see the significance of Jesus' pronouncement for them (see Acts 10:9–16).

7:20 defiles. Jesus replaced the normal Jewish understandings of defilement with the truth that defilement comes from an impure heart, not the violation of external rules. Fellowship with God is not interrupted by unclean hands or food, but by sin (see vv. 21–23).

7:24 Tyre. A Gentile city located in Phoenicia (modern Lebanon), which bordered Galilee to the northwest. A journey of about 30 miles from Capernaum would have brought Jesus to the vicinity of Tyre. wanted no one to know. Ever since the feeding of the 5,000 (6:30–44) Jesus and His disciples had been, for the most part, skirting the region of Galilee. His purpose was to avoid the opposition in Galilee and to secure opportunity to teach His disciples privately (9:30–31). The regions to which He withdrew were: (1) the northeastern shore of the Sea of Galilee (6:30–53), (2) Phoenicia (7:24–30), (3) the Decapolis (7:31–8:10) and (4) Caesarea Philippi (8:27–9:32).

7:26 Syrophoenician. At that time Phoenicia belonged administratively to Syria. Mark possibly used the term to distinguish this woman from the Libyan-Phoenicians of North Africa.

7:27 the children's bread and throw it to the dogs. See note on Matt 15:26.

The Territories of Tyre and Sidon

In a unique excursion into pagan and semi-pagan areas, Jesus visited the districts of Tyre and Sidon and the confederation of free cities called Decapolis. He was called to minister to "the lost sheep of the house of Israel," but the phenomenal public attention in Galilee was intense. Even here His fame had spread, and He could not keep His presence secret. The commercially magnificent cities of Tyre and Sidon had been a source of cultural seductiveness and religious heterodoxy since the time of Jezebel. The cities had been heavily influenced by Hellenism; the sophistication of Greek culture was apparent in their coinage and architecture. Each was also a proud, historic center of Canaanite paganism, with tombs of ancient kings and temples to Melqart/Heracles, Astarte and various other deities.

"Yes, Lord, but even the dogs under the table feed on the children's crumbs."

29 And He said to her, "Because of this [1]answer go; the demon has gone out of your daughter."

30 And going back to her home, she found the child [1]lying on the bed, the demon having left.

31 [a]Again He went out from the region of [b]Tyre, and came through Sidon to [c]the Sea of Galilee, within the region of [d]Decapolis.

32 They *brought to Him one who was deaf and spoke with difficulty, and they *implored Him to [a]lay His hand on him.

33 [a]Jesus took him aside from the crowd, by himself, and put His fingers into his ears, and after [a]spitting, He touched his tongue with the saliva;

34 and looking up to heaven with a deep [a]sigh, He *said to him, "Ephphatha!" that is, "Be opened!"

35 And his ears were opened, and the [1]impediment of his tongue [2]was removed, and he began speaking plainly.

36 And [a]He gave them orders not to tell anyone; but the more He ordered them, the more widely they [b]continued to proclaim it.

37 They were utterly astonished, saying, "He has done all things well; He makes even the deaf to hear and the mute to speak."

Four Thousand Fed

8 In those days, when there was again a large crowd and they had nothing to eat, [a]Jesus called His disciples and *said to them,

2 "[a]I feel compassion for the [1]people because they have remained with Me now three days and have nothing to eat.

3 "If I send them away hungry to their homes, they will faint on the way; and some of them have come from a great distance."

4 And His disciples answered Him, "Where will anyone be able to find enough [1]bread here in this desolate place to satisfy these people?"

5 And He was asking them, "How many loaves do you have?" And they said, "Seven."

6 And He *directed the [1]people to [2]sit down on the ground; and taking the seven loaves, He gave thanks and broke them, and started giving them to His disciples to [3]serve to them, and they served them to the [1]people.

7 They also had a few small fish; and [a]after He had blessed them, He ordered these to be [1]served as well.

8 And they ate and were satisfied; and they picked up seven large [a]baskets full of what was left over of the broken pieces.

9 About four thousand were there; and He sent them away.

10 And immediately He entered the boat with His disciples and came to the district of [a]Dalmanutha.

11 [a]The Pharisees came out and began to argue with Him, [b]seeking from Him a [1]sign from heaven, [2]to test Him.

12 [a]Sighing deeply [1]in His spirit, He *said, "Why does this generation seek for a [2]sign? Truly I say to you, [3b]no [2]sign will be given to this generation."

13 Leaving them, He again embarked and went away to the other side.

14 And they had forgotten to take bread, and did not have more than one loaf in the boat with them.

15 And He was giving orders to them, saying, "[a]Watch out! Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and the leaven of [b]Herod."

7:28 Yes, Lord. The only time in this Gospel that Jesus is addressed as "Lord."

7:31 went out from the region of Tyre, and came through Sidon to the Sea of Galilee. Apparently Jesus went north from Tyre to Sidon (about 25 miles) and then southeast through the territory of Herod Philip to the east side of the Sea of Galilee. The route was circuitous possibly to avoid entering Galilee, where Herod Antipas was in power (see 6:17–29) and where many people wanted to take Jesus by force and make Him king (John 6:14–15). Herod had intimated a hostile interest in Jesus (6:14–16). Decapolis. See notes on v. 24; Matt 4:25.

7:34 Ephphatha! An Aramaic word that Mark translates for his Gentile readers.

7:35 his ears were opened . . . he began speaking plainly. Jesus was doing what God had promised to do when He came to redeem His people (see Is 35:5–6).

7:36 not to tell anyone. See 1:44; see also notes on 5:19,43; Matt 8:4; 16:20.

8:1–10 Although there are striking similarities between this account and 6:34–44, they are two distinct incidents, as indicated by the fact that Jesus Himself refers to two feedings (see vv. 18–20). The differences in details are as definite as the similarities.

8:1 there was again a large crowd. Since this incident took place in the region of the Decapolis (see 7:31), the crowd probably was made up of both Jews and Gentiles.

8:2 I feel compassion for the people. As Jesus had compassion because the people were like sheep without a shepherd (6:34), He now has compassion because they had been so long without food.

8:4 Where will anyone be able to find enough bread . . . to satisfy these people? The disciples' question reflects their inadequacy and acknowledges that Jesus alone could feed the people. They had not forgotten His feeding of the 5,000 (6:34–44) and were probably simply giving back to Him the task of procuring bread. Alternatively, their question may reveal their spiritual dullness—they were slow learners.

8:8 seven large baskets full. See note on Matt 15:37.

8:9 four thousand were there. See note on 6:44.

8:10 Dalmanutha. South of the Plain of Gennesaret a cave has been found bearing the name "Talmanutha," perhaps the spot where Jesus landed. Matthew says Jesus went to the vicinity of Magadan (Matt 15:39; see note there). Dalmanutha and Magadan (or Magdala), located on the western shore of the Sea of Galilee, may be names for the same place or for two places located close to each other.

8:11 Pharisees. See note on 2:16. sign from heaven. The Pharisees wanted more compelling proof of Jesus' divine authority than His miracles, but He refused to perform such a sign because the request came from unbelief.

8:13 the other side. The eastern shore of the Sea of Galilee.

8:15 leaven of the Pharisees and the leaven of Herod. Here, as 16 They began to discuss with one another the fact that they had no bread.

17 And Jesus, aware of this, *said to them, "Why do you discuss the fact that you have no bread? [a]Do you not yet see or understand? Do you have a [1]hardened heart?

18"[a]HAVING EYES, DO YOU NOT SEE? AND HAVING EARS, DO YOU NOT HEAR? And do you not remember, 19 when I broke [a]the five loaves for the five thousand, how many [b]baskets full of broken pieces you picked up?" They *said to Him, "Twelve."

20"When I broke [a]the seven for the four thousand, how many large [b]baskets full of broken pieces did you pick up?" And they *said to Him, "Seven."

21 And He was saying to them, "[a]Do you not yet understand?"

22 And they *came to [a]Bethsaida. And they *brought a blind man to Jesus and *implored Him to [b]touch him.

23 Taking the blind man by the hand, He [a]brought him out of the village; and after [a]spitting on his eyes and [b]laying His hands on him, He asked him, "Do you see anything?"

24 And he [1]looked up and said, "I see men, for [2]I see them like trees, walking around."

25 Then again He laid His hands on his eyes; and he looked intently and was restored, and began to see everything clearly.

Peter's Confession of Christ

27 [a]Jesus went out, along with His disciples, to the villages of [b]Caesarea Philippi; and on the way He questioned His disciples, saying to them, "Who do people say that I am?"

28 [a]They told Him, saying, "John the Baptist; and others say Elijah; but others, one of the prophets."

29 And He continued by questioning them, "But who do you say that I am?" [a]Peter *answered and *said to Him, "You are [1]the Christ."

30 And [a]He [1]warned them to tell no one about Him.

31 [a]And He began to teach them that [b]the Son of Man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders and the chief priests and the scribes, and be killed, and after three days rise again.

32 And He was stating the matter [a]plainly. And Peter took Him aside and began to rebuke Him.

33 But turning around and seeing His disciples, He rebuked Peter and *said, "Get behind Me, [a]Satan; for you are not setting your mind on [1]God's interests, but man's."

34 And He summoned the crowd with His disciples, and said to them, "If anyone wishes to come after Me, he must deny himself, and [a]take up his cross and follow Me.

generally in the NT (Matt 16:6,11; Luke 12:1; 1 Cor 5:6–8; Gal 5:9; but Matt 13:33 seems to be an exception—see note there), leaven is a symbol of evil or corruption. The metaphor includes the idea of a tiny amount of leaven being able to ferment a large amount of dough. In this context it refers to the evil disposition of both the Pharisees and Herod Antipas (see Luke 23:8), who called for Jesus to produce a sign, i.e., a proof of His divine authority (see note on v. 11).

8:18–20 These verses imply two feeding narratives (see note on vv. 1–10).

8:22 Bethsaida. See note on Matt 11:21.

8:24 like trees, walking around. The man had no doubt bumped into trees in his blindness; now he dimly sees something like tree trunks moving about.

8:25 Then again He laid His hands on his eyes. This second laying on of hands is unique in Jesus' healing ministry. began to see everything clearly. Giving sight to the blind was another indication that Jesus was doing what God had promised to do when He came to bring salvation (Is 35:5).

8:26 Do not even enter the village. So as not to broadcast what Jesus had done for him and precipitate a crisis before Jesus had completed His ministry. See 1:44; see also notes on 5:19,43; Matt 8:4; 16:20.

8:27 Caesarea Philippi. See notes on 7:24; Matt 16:13.

8:29 Christ. See text note. Because popular Jewish ideas associated with the term "Christ" were largely political and national, Jesus seldom used it. Of its seven occurrences in Mark, only three appear in the sayings of Jesus (9:41; 12:35; 13:21), and in none of these does He use the title of Himself (with the possible exception of 9:41). Mark identifies Jesus as the Christ in 1:1.

8:30 to tell no one about Him. See 1:44; see also notes on 5:19,43; Matt 8:4; 16:20.

8:31–10:52 A new section begins in 8:31 and centers on three predictions of Jesus' death (8:31; 9:31; 10:33–34). It indicates a geographical shift from Galilee, where most of Jesus' public ministry reported by Mark took place, to Jerusalem and the closing days of Jesus' life on earth. In this section Jesus defines the true meaning of "Christ" as the title applies to Him.

8:31 Son of Man. Jesus' most common title for Himself, used 84 times in the Gospels and never used by anyone but Jesus. In Dan 7:13–14 the Son of Man is pictured as a heavenly figure who in the end times is entrusted by God with authority, glory and sovereign power. That Jesus used "Son of Man" as a Messianic title is evident by His use of it (v. 31) in juxtaposition to Peter's use of "Christ" (v. 29). See note on Dan 7:13. must suffer. As predicted in the Suffering Servant passage in Is 52:13–53:12 (see Mark 9:9,12,31; 10:33–34; 14:21,41). elders. The lay members of the Sanhedrin, the high court of the Jews. chief priests. See note on Matt 2:4. These included the ruling high priest, Caiaphas; the former high priest, Annas; and the high priestly families. scribes. See note on Matt 2:4. Representatives of the three groups mentioned here constituted the Sanhedrin.

8:32 Peter . . . began to rebuke Him. Suffering and rejection had no place in Peter's conception of the Messiah, and he rebuked Jesus for teaching what to him seemed not only inconceivable but terribly wrong.

8:33 Satan. Peter's attempt to dissuade Jesus from going to the cross held the same temptation Satan gave at the outset of Jesus' ministry (see Matt 4:8–10), so Jesus severely rebuked him.

8:34 deny himself. Cease to make self the object of his life and actions. take up his cross. The picture is of a man, already condemned, required to carry the beam of his own cross to the place of execution (see John 19:17). Cross-bearing is a willingness to suffer and die for the Lord's sake. and follow Me.

35 "For [a]whoever wishes to save his [1]life will lose it, but whoever loses his [1]life for My sake and the gospel's will save it.

36 "For what does it profit a man to gain the whole world, and forfeit his soul?

37 "For what will a man give in exchange for his soul?

38 "For [a]whoever is ashamed of Me and My words in this adulterous and sinful generation, [b]the Son of Man will also be ashamed of him when He [c]comes in the glory of His Father with the holy angels."

The Transfiguration

9 And Jesus was saying to them, "[a]Truly I say to you, there are some of those who are standing here who will not taste death until they see the kingdom of God after it has come with power."

2 [a]Six days later, Jesus *took with Him [b]Peter and [1]James and John, and *brought them up on a high mountain by themselves. And He was transfigured before them;

10 They [1]seized upon [2]that statement, discussing with one another [3]what rising from the dead meant.

11 They asked Him, saying, "Why is it that the scribes say that [a]Elijah must come first?"

12 And He said to them, "Elijah does first come and restore all things. And yet how is it written of [a]the Son of Man that [b]He will suffer many things and be treated with contempt?

13 "But I say to you that Elijah has [1]indeed come, and they did to him whatever they wished, just as it is written of him."

All Things Possible

14 [a]When they came back to the disciples, they saw a large crowd around them, and some scribes arguing with them.

12 [a]Mark 9:31 [b]Matt 16:21; 26:24 13 [1]Lit also 14 [a]Mark 9:14-28; Matt 17:14-19; Luke 9:37-42

Implying that His own death would be by crucifixion.

8:35 save his life. Physical life may be saved by denying Jesus, but eternal life will be lost. Conversely, discipleship may result in the loss of physical life, but that loss is insignificant when compared with gaining eternal life.

8:36 the whole world. All the things that could possibly be achieved or acquired in this life. soul. That is, eternal life (also in v. 37).

8:38 ashamed of Me and My words. Contrast Rom 1:16. A person who is more concerned about fitting into and pleasing his own "adulterous and sinful generation" than about following and pleasing Christ will have no part in God's kingdom. Son of Man. See note on 8:31. when He comes in the glory of His Father. See 2 Thess 1:6–10. The situation in which Jesus is rejected, humiliated and put to death will be reversed when He returns in glory as the Judge of all people.

9:1 Truly I say to you. See note on 3:28. not taste death until they see the kingdom of God after it has come with power. See note on Matt 16:28. kingdom of God. See note on Matt 3:2.

9:2 Six days later. See note on Matt 17:1. Peter and James and John. See note on 5:37. a high mountain. See note on Luke 9:28. transfigured. See note on Matt 17:2.

9:4 Elijah . . . along with Moses. See notes on Matt 17:3; Luke 9:30.

9:5 Rabbi. Hebrew word for "(my) teacher." three tabernacles. Peter may have desired to erect new tents of meeting where God could again communicate with his people (see Ex 29:42). Or he may have been thinking of the booths used at the Feast of Booths (Lev 23:42). In any case, he seemed eager to find fulfillment of the promised glory then, prior to the sufferings that Jesus had announced as necessary.

9:7 a voice came out of the cloud. The cloud is frequently a symbol of God's presence to protect and guide (e.g., Ex 16:10; 19:9; 24:15–18; 33:9–10). listen to Him! The full sense includes obeying Him. When God is involved, the only true hearing is obedient hearing (see James 1:22–25).

9:9 not to relate to anyone. After Jesus' resurrection the disciples were to tell everyone what they had experienced, for Jesus' finished work would have demonstrated His true and full character as the Messiah. Son of Man. See note on 8:31.

9:10 what rising from the dead meant. As Jews they were familiar with the doctrine of the resurrection; it was the resurrection of the Son of Man that baffled them, because their theology had no place for a suffering and dying Messiah.

9:11 Elijah must come first. See note on Matt 17:10.

9:12 Elijah does first come and restore all things. A reference to the coming of Elijah, or one like him, in preparation for the coming of the Messiah (see note on Matt 17:10). Son of Man. See note on 8:31. will suffer many things and be treated with contempt. Just as "Elijah" (John the Baptist; see note on v. 13) has been rejected (see note on Matt 17:12).

9:13 Elijah has indeed come. A reference to John the Baptist (see Matt 17:13). they. Herod and Herodias (see 6:17–29). John, like Elijah, was opposed by a weak ruler and his wicked consort. as it is written of him. What Scripture says about Elijah in his relationship to Ahab and Jezebel (1 Kin 19:1–10). There is no prediction of suffering associated with Elijah's ministry in the end times. However, what happened to Elijah under the threats of Jezebel foreshadowed what would happen to John the Baptist. The order of events suggested in vv. 11–13 is as follows: (1) Elijah ministered in the days of wicked Jezebel; (2) Elijah was a type of John the Baptist, who in turn suffered at the hands of Herodias; (3) the Son of Man suffered and was rejected a short time after John was beheaded.

9:14 the disciples. The nine besides Peter, James and John (see v. 2).

15 Immediately, when the entire crowd saw Him, they were [a]amazed and began running up to greet Him.
16 And He asked them, "What are you discussing with them?"
17 And one of the crowd answered Him, "Teacher, I brought You my son, possessed with a spirit which makes him mute;
18 and [1]whenever it seizes him, it [2]slams him to the ground and he foams at the mouth, and grinds his teeth and [3]stiffens out. I told Your disciples to cast it out, and they could not do it."
19 And He *answered them and *said, "O unbelieving generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I put up with you? Bring him to Me!"
20 They brought [1]the boy to Him. When he saw Him, immediately the spirit threw him into a convulsion, and falling to the ground, he began rolling around and foaming at the mouth.
21 And He asked his father, "How long has this been happening to him?" And he said, "From childhood.
22 "It has often thrown him both into the fire and into the water to destroy him. But if You can do anything, take pity on us and help us!"
23 And Jesus said to him, " 'If You can?' [a]All things are possible to him who believes."
24 Immediately the boy's father cried out and said, "I do believe; help my unbelief."
25 When Jesus saw that [a]a crowd was [1]rapidly gathering, He rebuked the unclean spirit, saying to it, "You deaf and mute spirit, I [2]command you, come out of him and do not enter him [3]again."
26 After crying out and throwing him into terrible convulsions, it came out; and the boy became so much like a corpse that most of them said, "He is dead!"
27 But Jesus took him by the hand and raised him; and he got up.

29 And He said to them, "This kind cannot come out by anything but prayer."

Death and Resurrection Foretold

30 [a]From there they went out and began to go through Galilee, and He did not want anyone to know about it.
31 For He was teaching His disciples and telling them, "[a]The Son of Man is to be [1]delivered into the hands of men, and they will kill Him; and when He has been killed, He will rise three days later."
32 But [a]they [1]did not understand this statement, and they were afraid to ask Him.
33 [a]They came to Capernaum; and when He [1]was in [b]the house, He began to question them, "What were you discussing on the way?"
34 But they kept silent, for on the way [a]they had discussed with one another which of them was the greatest.
35 Sitting down, He called the twelve and *said to them, "[a]If anyone wants to be first, [1]he shall be last of all and servant of all."
36 Taking a child, He set him [1]before them, and taking him in His arms, He said to them,
37 "[a]Whoever receives [1]one child like this in My name receives Me; and whoever receives Me does not receive Me, but Him who sent Me."

Dire Warnings

38 [a]John said to Him, "Teacher, we saw someone casting out demons in Your name, and [b]we tried to prevent him because he was not following us."
39 But Jesus said, "Do not hinder him, for there is no one who will perform a miracle in My name, and be able soon afterward to speak evil of Me.
40 "[a]For he who is not against us is [1]for us.

9:18 Demonic possession was responsible for the boy's condition (see vv. 20,25–26).
9:22 to destroy him. See notes on 5:5,13.
9:23 If You can? All things are possible to him who believes. The question was not whether Jesus had the power to heal the boy but whether the father had faith to believe it. A person who truly believes will set no limits on what God can do.
9:24 I do believe; help my unbelief. Since faith is never perfect, belief and unbelief are often mixed.
9:25 When Jesus saw that a crowd was rapidly gathering, He rebuked the unclean spirit. As much as possible, Jesus wanted to avoid further publicity.
9:29 This kind. Seems to suggest that there are different kinds of demons. cannot come out by anything but prayer. The disciples apparently had taken for granted the power given to them or had come to believe that it was inherent in them. Lack of prayer indicated they had forgotten that their power over the demonic spirits was from Jesus (see 3:15; 6:7,13).
9:30 began to go through Galilee. Jesus' public ministry in and around Galilee was completed (see note on 7:24), and He was now on His way to Jerusalem to suffer and die (see 10:32–34). As He had been doing for several months, Jesus continued to focus His teaching ministry on the twelve (v. 31).
9:31 Son of Man. See note on 8:31.
9:32 they did not understand. See v. 10; 8:32–33.
9:33 Capernaum. See notes on 1:21; Matt 4:13. the house. Probably the one belonging to Peter and Andrew (see 1:29).
9:34 they kept silent. No doubt due to embarrassment. which of them was the greatest. Questions of rank and status are normal and played an important role in the life of Jewish groups at this time, but they had no place in Jesus' value system (see v. 35; 10:42–45).
9:35 Sitting down. See note on 4:1.
9:38 not following us. The man apparently was a believer, but he was not one of the exclusive company of the twelve. Nevertheless he acted in Jesus' name and had done what the disciples, on at least one occasion, had not been able to do (see vv. 14–18,28).
9:39 Do not hinder him. Jesus' view of discipleship was far more inclusive than the narrow view held by the twelve.

41 "For [a]whoever gives you a cup of water to drink [1]because of your name as followers of Christ, truly I say to you, he will not lose his reward.

42 "[a]Whoever causes one of these [1]little ones who believe to stumble, it [2]would be better for him if, with a heavy millstone hung around his neck, he [3]had been cast into the sea.

43 "[a]If your hand causes you to stumble, cut it off; it is better for you to enter life crippled, than, having your two hands, to go into [1b]hell, into the [c]unquenchable fire,

44 [1]where THEIR WORM DOES NOT DIE, AND THE FIRE IS NOT QUENCHED.]

45 "If your foot causes you to stumble, cut it off; it is better for you to enter life lame, than, having your two feet, to be cast into [1a]hell,

47 "[a]If your eye causes you to stumble, throw it out; it is better for you to enter the kingdom of God with one eye, than, having two eyes, to be cast into [1b]hell, 49 "For everyone will be salted with fire.

Jesus' Teaching about Divorce

10 [a]Getting up, He *went from there to the region of Judea and beyond the Jordan; crowds *gathered around Him again, and, [b]according to His custom, He once more began to teach them.

2 Some Pharisees came up to Jesus, testing Him, and began to question Him whether it was lawful for a man to [1]divorce a wife.

3 And He answered and said to them, "What did Moses command you?"

4 They said, "[a]Moses permitted a man TO WRITE A CERTIFICATE OF DIVORCE AND [1]SEND her AWAY."

5 But Jesus said to them, "[1a]Because of your hardness of heart he wrote you this commandment.

6 "But [a]from the beginning of creation, God [b]MADE THEM MALE AND FEMALE.

7 "[a]FOR THIS REASON A MAN SHALL LEAVE HIS FATHER AND MOTHER[1],

8 [a]AND THE TWO SHALL BECOME ONE FLESH; so they are no longer two, but one flesh.

9 "What therefore God has joined together, let no man separate."

10 In the house the disciples began questioning Him about this again.

9:41 gives you a cup of water. God remembers even small acts of kindness extended to believers because they are believers. truly I say to you. See note on 3:28. his reward. Including God's approval.

9:42 one of these little ones who believe. Perhaps the little children mentioned in vv. 36–37, or the man mentioned in v. 38. Jesus' point is clear: To cause even those whom we might consider to be the least of believers to sin will bring serious judgment. millstone. A heavy stone slab turned by a donkey in grinding grain.

9:43 cut it off. Hyperbole, a figure of speech that exaggerates to make its point, is used here to emphasize the need for drastic action. Often sin can be conquered only by radical "spiritual surgery." life. Eternal life in the presence of God. hell. See note on Matt 5:22.

9:44,46 Verses 44,46 are not found in important early manuscripts of the NT. Verses 44,46 are identical with v. 48.

9:47 kingdom of God. See note on Matt 3:2.

9:48 Is 66:24 speaks of the punishment for rebellion against God. As the final word of Isaiah's message, the passage became familiar as a picture of endless destruction. WORM DOES NOT DIE. Worms were always present in the rubbish dump (see note on Matt 5:22).

9:49 The saying may mean that everyone who enters hell will suffer its fire, or (if only loosely connected with the preceding) it may mean that every Christian in this life can expect to undergo the fire of suffering and purification.

9:50 Salt is good. The distinctive mark of discipleship typified by salt is allegiance to Jesus and the gospel (see 8:35,38; see also note on Matt 5:13). be at peace with one another. Strife is resolved and peace restored when we recognize in one another a common commitment to Jesus and the gospel.

10:1 region of Judea. The Greek and Roman equivalent to the OT land of Judah, essentially the southern part of the Holy Land (now exclusive of Idumea), which formerly had been the southern kingdom. For Jesus' ministry in Judea see note on Luke 9:51. Jordan. See note on 1:5. Jesus' journey took Him south from Capernaum, over the mountains of Samaria into Judea and then east across the Jordan into Perea, where He was in the territory of Herod Antipas (see note on Matt 14:1). For Jesus' ministry in Perea see note on Luke 13:22.

10:2 Pharisees. See note on 2:16. came up to Jesus, testing Him. The question of the Pharisees was hostile. It was for unlawful divorce and remarriage that John the Baptist denounced Herod Antipas and Herodias (see 6:17–18), and this rebuke cost him first imprisonment and then his life. Jesus was now within Herod's jurisdiction, and the Pharisees may have hoped that Jesus' reply would cause the tetrarch to seize Him as he had John. whether it was lawful . . . to divorce a wife. Jews of that day generally agreed that divorce was lawful, the only debated issue being the proper grounds for it (see note on Matt 19:3).

10:5 Because of your hardness of heart. Divorce was an accommodation to human weakness and was used to bring order in a society that had disregarded God's will, but it was not the standard God had originally intended, as vv. 6–9 clearly indicate. The purpose of Deut 24:1 was not to make divorce acceptable, but to reduce the hardship of its consequences.

10:6 from the beginning of creation. Jesus goes back to the time before human sin to show God's original intention. God instituted marriage as a great unifying blessing, bonding the male and female in His creation.

10:8 no longer two, but one. The deduction drawn by Jesus affirms the ideal of the permanence of marriage.

10:9 What therefore God has joined together. Jesus grounds the sanctity of marriage in the authority of God Himself, and His "No" to divorce safeguards against human selfishness, which always threatens to destroy marriage.

11 And He *said to them, "[a]Whoever [1]divorces his wife and marries another woman commits adultery against her;

12 and [a]if she herself [1]divorces her husband and marries another man, she is committing adultery."

Jesus Blesses Little Children

13 [a]And they were bringing children to Him so that He might touch them; but the disciples rebuked them.

14 But when Jesus saw this, He was indignant and said to them, "Permit the children to come to Me; do not hinder them; [a]for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these.

15 "Truly I say to you, [a]whoever does not receive the kingdom of God like a child will not enter it at all."

16 And He [a]took them in His arms and began blessing them, laying His hands on them.

The Rich Young Ruler

17 [a]As He was setting out on a journey, a man ran up to Him and [b]knelt before Him, and asked Him, "Good Teacher, what shall I do to [c]inherit eternal life?"

18 And Jesus said to him, "Why do you call Me good? No one is good except God alone.

19 "You know the commandments, '[a]DO NOT MURDER, DO NOT COMMIT ADULTERY, DO NOT STEAL, DO NOT BEAR FALSE WITNESS, DO not defraud, HONOR YOUR FATHER AND MOTHER.' "

20 And he said to Him, "Teacher, I have kept [a]all these things from my youth up."

21 Looking at him, Jesus felt a love for him and said to him, "One thing you lack: go and sell all you possess and give to the poor, and you will have [a]treasure in heaven; and come, follow Me."

22 But at these words [1]he was saddened, and he went away grieving, for he was one who owned much property.

23 And Jesus, looking around, *said to His disciples, "[a]How hard it will be for those who are wealthy to enter the kingdom of God!"

24 The disciples [a]were amazed at His words. But Jesus *answered again and *said to them, "Children, how hard it is to enter the kingdom of God!

25 "[a]It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God."

26 They were even more astonished and said to Him, "[1]Then who can be saved?"

27 Looking at them, Jesus *said, "[a]With people it is impossible, but not with God; for all things are possible with God."

10:11 Whoever divorces his wife. In Jewish practice divorce was effected by the husband himself, not by a judicial authority or court. commits adultery against her. A simple declaration of divorce on the part of a husband could not release him from the divine law of marriage and its moral obligations—this enduring force of the marriage bond was unrecognized in rabbinic courts. But see note on Matt 19:3; see also Matt 19:9, where an exception is mentioned. 1 Cor 7:15 may contain another exception (see notes on 1 Cor 7:12,15).

10:12 she is committing adultery. In this historical and geographical context, Jesus' pronouncements confirm the bold denunciation by John the Baptist and equally condemn Herod Antipas and Herodias.

10:14 kingdom of God. See note on Matt 3:2. belongs to such as these. The kingdom of God belongs to those who, like children, are prepared to receive the kingdom as a gift of God (see note on v. 15).

10:15 Truly I say to you. See note on 3:28. like a child. The point of comparison is the usual openness and receptivity of children. The kingdom of God must be received as a gift; it cannot be achieved by human effort. It may be entered only by those who know they are helpless, without claim or merit.

10:16 and began blessing them. Jesus visually demonstrated that the blessings of the kingdom are freely given.

10:17 a man. Mark does not identify the man, but Luke (18:18) calls him a "ruler," meaning he was probably a member of an official council or court, and Matthew (19:20) says he was "young." what shall I do . . . ? The rich man was thinking in terms of earning righteousness to merit eternal life, but Jesus taught that it was a gift to be received (see v. 15). eternal life. See note on Matt 19:16.

10:18 Why do you call Me good? Jesus was not denying His own goodness but was forcing the man to recognize that his only hope was in total reliance on God, who alone can give eternal life. He may also have been encouraging the young man to consider the full identity and nature of the One he was addressing.

10:19 Do not defraud. The prohibition of fraud may have represented the tenth commandment (against covetousness). If so, Jesus here mentions all six commandments that prohibit wrong actions and attitudes against one's fellowman (see Ex 20:12–16; Deut 5:16–21).

10:20 I have kept all these things. The man spoke sincerely, because for him keeping the law was a matter of external conformity. That the law also required inner obedience, which no one can fully satisfy, apparently escaped him completely. Paul speaks of having had a similar outlook before his conversion (Phil 3:6). from my youth up. Probably a reference to the age of 13, when a Jewish boy assumed personal responsibility for obeying the commandments.

10:21 Jesus felt a love for him. Jesus recognized the man's earnestness. His response was not intended to shame him by exposing failure to understand the spiritual depth of the commandments but was an expression of genuine love. One thing you lack: go and sell all. The young man's primary problem was his wealth (see v. 22), and therefore Jesus' prescription was to rid him of it. There is no indication that Jesus' command to him was meant for all Christians. It applies only to those who have the same spiritual problem. treasure in heaven. The gift of eternal life, or salvation. This treasure is not to be earned by self-denial or giving of one's material goods but is to be received by following Jesus. In giving away his wealth, the young man would have removed the obstacle that kept him from trusting in Jesus.

10:22 he went away grieving, for he . . . owned much property. The tragic decision to turn away reflected a greater love for his possessions than for eternal life (cf. 4:19).

10:25 eye of a needle. The camel was the largest animal found in the Holy Land. The vivid contrast between the largest animal and the smallest opening represents what, humanly speaking, is impossible.

10:27 With people it is impossible, but not with God. Salvation is totally the work of God. Every attempt to enter the kingdom

28 [a]Peter began to say to Him, "Behold, we have left everything and followed You."

29 Jesus said, "Truly I say to you, [a]there is no one who has left house or brothers or sisters or mother or father or children or farms, for My sake and for the gospel's sake,

30 [1]but that he will receive a hundred times as much now in [2]the present age, houses and brothers and sisters and mothers and children and farms, along with persecutions; and in [a]the age to come, eternal life.

31 "But [a]many who are first will be last, and the last, first."

Jesus' Sufferings Foretold

32 [a]They were on the road going up to Jerusalem, and Jesus was walking on ahead of them; and they [b]were amazed, and those who followed were fearful. And again He took the twelve aside and began to tell them what was going to happen to Him, 33 saying, "Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and [a]the Son of Man will be [1]delivered to the chief priests and the scribes; and they will condemn Him to death and will [2]hand Him over to the Gentiles.

34 "They will mock Him and [a]spit on Him, and scourge Him and kill Him, and three days later He will rise again."

on the basis of achievement or merit is futile. Apart from the grace of God, no one can be saved.

10:29 Truly I say to you. See note on 3:28. gospel's. See note on 1:1.

10:30 the present age . . . the age to come. These two terms take in all of time from the fall of man to the eternal state. The present age is evil (Gal 1:4), but the coming righteous age will begin with the second advent of Christ and continue forever. a hundred times as much . . . along with persecutions. The life of discipleship is a combination of promise and persecution, blessing and suffering. God takes nothing from a Christian without making multiplied restoration in a new and glorious form. Paradoxically, fellowship with other believers develops most deeply in persecution. eternal life. Beyond the conflicts of history is the triumph assured to those who belong to God.

10:31 first will be last. A warning against pride in sacrificial accomplishments such as Peter had manifested (v. 28).

10:32 on the road going up to Jerusalem. This last journey to Jerusalem began in a city called Ephraim (cf. John 11:54) and took Jesus into Galilee (Luke 17:11), south through Perea to Jericho (Luke 18:35), then to Bethany (Luke 19:29) and finally to Jerusalem (Luke 19:41). those who followed. Probably pilgrims on their way to the Passover in Jerusalem. the twelve. See 3:16–19 and notes on Luke 6:14–16.

10:33–34 Gentiles. They will . . . kill Him. The word "crucify" does not occur in any of the passion predictions in Mark's Gospel, but the statement that Jesus would be handed over to Gentiles to be killed by them suggests crucifixion, since this was the usual means of Roman execution of non-Romans.

10:33 Son of Man . . . chief priests . . . scribes. See notes on 8:31; Matt 2:4.

10:35–45 Parallel to 9:33–37. Both passages deal with true greatness and both follow a prediction of Jesus' suffering and death. Both also show how spiritually undiscerning the disciples were.

10:35–36 want . . . want. James's and John's desire for position and power would be realized only if they willingly submitted to servanthood (see "wishes . . . wishes" in vv. 43–44).

10:35 James and John, the two sons of Zebedee. See 1:19; 3:17.

10:37 sit, one on Your right and one on Your left. Positions of prestige and power.

10:38 drink the cup that I drink. A Jewish expression that meant to share someone's fate. In the OT the cup of wine was a common metaphor for God's wrath against human sin and rebellion (Ps 75:8; Is 51:17–23; Jer 25:15–28; 49:12; 51:7). Accordingly, the cup Jesus had to drink refers to divine punishment of sins that He bore in place of sinful mankind (see 10:45; 14:36). be baptized with the baptism with which I am baptized. The image of baptism is parallel to that of the cup, referring to His suffering and death as a baptism (see Luke 12:50; cf. Rom 6:3–4 for the figure).

10:40 is not Mine to give. Jesus would not usurp His Father's authority.

10:41 the ten. The other disciples. indignant. Possibly because they desired the positions of prestige and power for themselves.

10:43 not this way among you. Jesus overturns the value structure of the world. The life of discipleship is to be characterized by humble and loving service.

10:45 A key verse in Mark's Gospel. Jesus came to this world as a servant—indeed, the Servant—who would suffer and die for our redemption, as Isaiah clearly predicted (Is 52:13–53:12). Son of Man. See note on 8:31. ransom. Means "the price paid for release (from bondage)." Jesus gave His life to release us

Bartimaeus Receives His Sight

46 [a]Then they *came to Jericho. And [b]as He was leaving Jericho with His disciples and a large crowd, a blind beggar named Bartimaeus, the son of Timaeus, was sitting by the road.

47 When he heard that it was Jesus the [a]Nazarene, he began to cry out and say, "Jesus, [b]Son of David, have mercy on me!"

48 Many were sternly telling him to be quiet, but he kept crying out all the more, "[a]Son of David, have mercy on me!"

49 And Jesus stopped and said, "Call him here." So they *called the blind man, saying to him, "[a]Take courage, stand up! He is calling for you."

50 Throwing aside his cloak, he jumped up and came to Jesus.

51 And answering him, Jesus said, "What do you want Me to do for you?" And the blind man said to Him, "[1a]Rabboni, I want to regain my sight!"

52 And Jesus said to him, "Go; [a]your faith has [1]made you well." Immediately he regained his sight and began following Him on the road.

The Triumphal Entry

11 [a]As they *approached Jerusalem, at Bethphage and [b]Bethany, near [c]the Mount of Olives, He *sent two of His disciples,

2 and *said to them, "Go into the village opposite you, and immediately as you enter it, you will find a colt tied there, on which no one yet has ever sat; untie it and bring it here.

3 "If anyone says to you, 'Why are you doing this?' you say, 'The Lord has need of it'; and immediately he [1]will send it back here."

4 They went away and found a colt tied at the door, outside in the street; and they *untied it.

5 Some of the bystanders were saying to them, "What are you doing, untying the colt?"

6 They spoke to them just as Jesus had told them, and they gave them permission.

7 [a]They *brought the colt to Jesus and put their coats on it; and He sat on it.

8 And many spread their coats in the road, and others spread leafy branches which they had cut from the fields.

9 Those who went in front and those who followed were shouting:

"Hosanna!
[a]BLESSED IS HE WHO COMES IN THE NAME OF THE LORD;
10 Blessed is the coming kingdom of our father David;
Hosanna [a]in the highest!"

11 [a]Jesus entered Jerusalem and came into the temple; and after looking around at everything, [b]He left for Bethany with the twelve, since it was already late.

12 [a]On the next day, when they had left Bethany, He became hungry.

10:46 Jericho. A very ancient city located five miles west of the Jordan and about 15 miles northeast of Jerusalem. In Jesus' time OT Jericho was largely abandoned, but a new city, south of the old one, had been built by Herod the Great. leaving Jericho. Luke says Jesus "approached the city" (Luke 18:35). He may have been referring to the new Jericho, while Matthew (20:29) and Mark may have meant the old city. a blind beggar. The presence of a blind beggar just outside the city gates, on a road pilgrims followed on the way to Jerusalem, was a common sight in that day.

10:47 the Nazarene. See note on Matt 2:23. Son of David. A Messianic title (see Is 11:1–3; Jer 23:5–6; Ezek 34:23–24; and notes on Matt 1:1; 9:27). Verses 47–48 are the only places in Mark where it is used to address Jesus. Its only other occurrence in Mark is in 12:35.

10:51 Rabboni. Hebrew word for "(my) teacher."

11:1–11 At this point a new section in the Gospel of Mark begins. Jesus arrives in Jerusalem, and the rest of his ministry takes place within the confines of the Holy City. The Triumphal Entry, which inaugurates Passion Week, is a deliberate Messianic action, and the clue to its understanding is found in Zech 9:9 (quoted in Matt 21:5; John 12:15). Jesus purposefully offers Himself as the Messiah, knowing that this will provoke Jewish leaders to take action against him.

11:1 Bethphage. See note on Matt 21:1. Bethany. See note on Matt 21:17. Mount of Olives. Directly east of Jerusalem, it rises to a height of about 2,700 feet, some 200 feet higher than Mount Zion. Its summit commands a magnificent view of the city and especially of the temple.

11:2 the village opposite you. Probably Bethphage. colt. The Greek word can mean the young of any animal, but here it means the colt of a donkey (see Matt 21:2; John 12:15). on which no one yet has ever sat. Unused animals were regarded as especially suitable for religious purposes (see Num 19:2; Deut 21:3; 1 Sam 6:7).

11:3 If anyone says to you. The message concerning the colt is not directed specifically to the owner but to anyone who might question the disciples' action. Lord. See note on Luke 19:31.

11:8 leafy branches. These were readily available in nearby fields. John identifies the branches as palm branches (John 12:13), which apparently came from Jericho, since they are not native to Jerusalem.

11:9 Hosanna. The English rendering of a Greek version of the Hebrew for 'save now!' as found in invocations such as Ps 118:25. BLESSED IS HE WHO COMES. A quotation of Ps 118:26, one of the Hallel ("Praise") Psalms sung at Passover and especially fitting for this occasion.

11:10 the coming kingdom of our father David. The Messianic kingdom promised to David's son (2 Sam 7:11–14).

11:11 temple. See note on Matt 4:5. left for Bethany. Apparently Jesus spent each night through Thursday of Passion Week in Bethany at the home of His friends Mary, Martha and Lazarus (see 11:19; 14:13; Matt 21:17; John 12:1–3). the twelve. See 3:16–19 and notes on Luke 6:14–16.

11:12 On the next day. Monday of Passion Week. Bethany. See note on Matt 21:17.

14 He said to it, "May no one ever eat fruit from you again!" And His disciples were listening.

Jesus Drives Money Changers from the Temple

15 [a]Then they *came to Jerusalem. And He entered the temple and began to drive out those who were buying and selling in the temple, and overturned the tables of the money changers and the seats of those who were selling [1]doves;

16 and He would not permit anyone to carry [1]merchandise through the temple.

17 And He began to teach and say to them, "Is it not written, '[a]MY HOUSE SHALL BE CALLED A HOUSE OF PRAYER FOR ALL THE NATIONS'? [b]But you have made it a ROBBERS' [1]DEN."

18 The chief priests and the scribes heard this, and [a]began seeking how to destroy Him; for they were afraid of Him, for [b]the whole crowd was astonished at His teaching.

19 [a]When evening came, [1]they would go out of the city.

26 ["[1a]But if you do not forgive, neither will your Father who is in heaven forgive your transgressions."]

Jesus' Authority Questioned

27 They *came again to Jerusalem. [a]And as He was walking in the temple, the chief priests and the scribes and the elders *came to Him,

28 and began saying to Him, "By what authority are You doing these things, or who gave You this authority to do these things?"

29 And Jesus said to them, "I will ask you one question, and you answer Me, and then I will tell you by what authority I do these things.

11:13 not the season for figs. Fig trees around Jerusalem normally begin to get leaves in March or April but do not produce figs until their leaves are all out in June. This tree was an exception in that it was already, at Passover time, full of leaves.

11:14 May no one ever eat fruit from you again! Perhaps the incident was a parable of judgment, with the fig tree representing Israel (see Hos 9:10; Nah 3:12). A tree full of leaves normally should have fruit, but this one was cursed because it had none. The fact that the cleansing of the temple (vv. 15–19) is sandwiched between the two parts of the account of the fig tree (vv. 12–14 and vv. 20–25) may underscore the theme of judgment (see note on v. 21). The only application Jesus makes, however, is as an illustration of believing prayer (vv. 21–25).

11:15–19 All three Synoptic writers mention a cleansing of the temple at the end of Jesus' ministry. Only John has one at the beginning. See notes on Matt 21:12–17; John 2:14–17.

11:15 the temple. This refers to the court of the Gentiles, the only part of the temple in which Gentiles could worship God and gather for prayer (see v. 17). buying and selling. Pilgrims coming to the Passover Feast needed animals that met the ritual requirements for sacrifice, and the vendors set up their animal pens and money tables in the court of the Gentiles. the tables of the money changers. Pilgrims needed their money changed into the local currency because the annual temple tax had to be paid in that currency. Also, the Mishnah (see note on Matt 15:2) required Tyrian currency for some offerings. those who were selling doves. Doves were required for the purification of women (Lev 12:6; Luke 2:22–24), the cleansing of those with certain skin diseases (Lev 14:22), and other purposes (Lev 15:14,29). They were also the usual offering of the poor (Lev 5:7).

11:16 to carry merchandise through the temple. A detail found only in Mark. Apparently the temple area was being used as a shortcut between the city and the Mount of Olives. See note on v. 27.

11:17 A HOUSE OF PRAYER FOR ALL THE NATIONS. Is 56:7 assured godly non-Jews that they would be allowed to worship God in the temple. By allowing the court of the Gentiles to become a noisy, smelly marketplace, the Jewish religious leaders were interfering with God's provision. a ROBBERS' DEN. Not only because they took financial advantage of the people but because they robbed the temple of its sanctity.

11:18 chief priests and the scribes. See note on Matt 2:4. began seeking how to destroy Him. See note on 3:6. They regarded Jesus as a dangerous threat to their whole way of life.

11:19 would go out of the city. To Bethany (see note on v. 11).

11:20 In the morning. Tuesday morning of Passion Week. withered from the roots up. This detail indicates that the destruction was total (see Job 18:16) and that no one in the future would eat fruit from the tree. It served as a vivid warning of the judgment to come in A.D. 70 (see 13:2 and note on Matt 24:2).

11:21 Rabbi. Hebrew word for "(my) teacher." fig tree which You cursed. See note on v. 14. has withered. Perhaps prophetic of the fate of the Jewish authorities who were now about to reject their Messiah.

11:23 Truly I say to you. See note on 3:28. this mountain . . . into the sea. The Mount of Olives, from which the Dead Sea is visible.

11:26 This verse is not found in the earliest and best manuscripts of the NT, probably having been inserted from Matt 6:15.

11:27 temple. Several courts surrounded the main temple buildings, including the court of the women, the court of the men (Israelite), and the court of the Gentiles (see v. 16). the chief priests and the scribes and the elders. See note on 8:31.

11:28 authority. The Sanhedrin was asking why Jesus performed what appeared to be an official act if He possessed no official status (see note on Luke 20:2).

30 "Was the baptism of John from heaven, or from men? Answer Me."

31 They began reasoning among themselves, saying, "If we say, 'From heaven,' He will say, 'Then why did you not believe him?'

32 "But [1]shall we say, 'From men'?"—they were afraid of the people, for everyone considered John to have been a real prophet.

33 Answering Jesus, they *said, "We do not know." And Jesus *said to them, "Nor [1]will I tell you by what authority I do these things."

Parable of the Vine-growers

12 [a]And He began to speak to them in parables: "[b]A man [c]PLANTED A VINEYARD AND PUT A [1]WALL AROUND IT, AND DUG A VAT UNDER THE WINE PRESS AND BUILT A TOWER, and rented it out to [2]vine-growers and went on a journey.

2 "At the harvest time he sent a slave to the vine-growers, in order to receive some of the produce of the vineyard from the vine-growers.

3 "They took him, and beat him and sent him away empty-handed.

4 "Again he sent them another slave, and they wounded him in the head, and treated him shamefully.

5 "And he sent another, and that one they killed; and so with many others, beating some and killing others.

6 "He had one more to send, a beloved son; he sent him last of all to them, saying, 'They will respect my son.'

7 "But those vine-growers said to one another, 'This is the heir; come, let us kill him, and the inheritance will be ours!'

8 "They took him, and killed him and threw him out of the vineyard.

9 "What will the [1]owner of the vineyard do? He will come and destroy the vine-growers, and will give the vineyard to others.

10 "Have you not even read this Scripture:

REJECTED,
THIS BECAME THE CHIEF CORNER stone;

11 [a]THIS CAME ABOUT FROM THE LORD,
AND IT IS MARVELOUS IN OUR EYES'?"

12 [a]And they were seeking to seize Him, and yet they feared the [1]people, for they understood that He spoke the parable against them. And so [b]they left Him and went away.

Jesus Answers the Pharisees, Sadducees and Scribes

13 [a]Then they *sent some of the Pharisees and [b]Herodians to Him in order to [c]trap Him in a statement.

14 They *came and *said to Him, "Teacher, we know that You are truthful and [1]defer to no one; for You are not partial to any, but teach the way of God in truth. Is it [2]lawful to pay a poll-tax to Caesar, or not?

15 "Shall we pay or shall we not pay?" But He, knowing their hypocrisy, said to them, "Why are you testing Me? Bring Me a [1]denarius to look at."

16 They brought one. And He *said to them, "Whose likeness and inscription is this?" And they said to Him, "Caesar's."

17 And Jesus said to them, "[a]Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's." And they [1]were amazed at Him.

11:30 from heaven, or from men? "Heaven" was a common Jewish term for God, often substituted for the divine name to avoid a possible misuse of it (see Ex 20:7). Jesus' question implied that His authority, like that of John's baptism, came from God.

12:1–12 Most of Jesus' parables make one main point. This one is rather complex, and the details fit the social situation in Jewish Galilee in the first century. Large estates, owned by absentee landlords, were put in the hands of local peasants who cultivated the land as tenant farmers. The parable exposed the planned attempt on Jesus' life, and God's judgment on the planners. See notes on Matt 21:35–37,41.

12:1 parables. See note on 4:2. A man PLANTED A VINEYARD. The description reflects the language of Is 5:1–2 where the vineyard clearly symbolizes Israel. TOWER. See note on Matt 21:33.

12:7 the inheritance will be ours! Jewish law provided that a piece of property unclaimed by an heir would be declared "ownerless," and could be claimed by anyone. The vine-growers assumed that the son came as heir to claim his property, and that if he were slain, they could claim the land.

12:9 others. See note on Matt 21:41.

12:10 CHIEF CORNER stone. See note on Ps 118:22.

12:12 against them. The representatives of the Sanhedrin mentioned in 11:27.

12:13–17 This incident probably took place on Tuesday of Passion Week in one of the temple courts (see chart, pp. 1446–1447).

12:13 Pharisees. See note on 2:16. Herodians. See note on 3:6. The plan to destroy Jesus, which had originated early in His Galilean ministry, had now matured and was gaining momentum in Jerusalem.

12:14 pay a poll-tax to Caesar. Jews in Judea were required to pay tribute money to the emperor. The tax was highly unpopular, and some Jews flatly refused to pay it, believing that payment was an admission of Roman right to rule. See note on Matt 22:15–17.

12:15 denarius. See notes on 6:37; Matt 22:19.

12:17 Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's. See note on Matt 22:21. There are obligations to the state that do not infringe on our obligations to God (see Rom 13:1–7; 1 Tim 2:1–6; Titus 3:1–2; 1 Pet 2:13–17).

12:18 Sadducees. A Jewish party that represented the wealthy and sophisticated classes. They were located largely in Jerusalem and made the temple and its administration their primary interest. Though they were small in number, in Jesus' time they exerted powerful political and religious influence. See notes on Matt 3:7; Luke 20:27; Acts 4:1. (who say there is no resurrection). They denied the resurrection, accepted only the five books of Moses as authoritative and flatly rejected the oral tradition (see note on Matt 15:2). These beliefs set them against the Pharisees and common Jewish piety.

19 "Teacher, Moses wrote for us that [a]IF A MAN'S BROTHER DIES and leaves behind a wife AND LEAVES NO CHILD, HIS BROTHER SHOULD [1]MARRY THE WIFE AND RAISE UP CHILDREN TO HIS BROTHER.

20 "There were seven brothers; and the first took a wife, and died leaving no children.

21 "The second one [1]married her, and died leaving behind no children; and the third likewise;

22 and so [1]all seven left no children. Last of all the woman died also.

23 "In the resurrection, [1]when they rise again, which one's wife will she be? For [2]all seven had married her."

24 Jesus said to them, "Is this not the reason you are mistaken, that you do not [1]understand the Scriptures or the power of God?

25 "For when they rise from the dead, they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels in heaven.

26 "But [1]regarding the fact that the dead rise again, have you not read in the book of Moses, [a]in the passage about the burning bush, how God spoke to him, saying, '[b]I AM THE GOD OF ABRAHAM, AND THE GOD OF ISAAC, and the God of Jacob'?

27 "[a]He is not the God [1]of the dead, but of the living; you are greatly mistaken."

28 [a]One of the scribes came and heard them arguing, and [b]recognizing that He had answered them well, asked Him, "What commandment is the [1]foremost of all?"

29 Jesus answered, "The foremost is, '[a]HEAR, O ISRAEL! THE LORD OUR GOD IS ONE LORD;

30 [a]AND YOU SHALL LOVE THE LORD YOUR GOD WITH ALL YOUR HEART, AND WITH ALL YOUR SOUL, AND WITH ALL YOUR MIND, AND WITH ALL YOUR STRENGTH.'

31 "The second is this, '[a]YOU SHALL LOVE YOUR NEIGHBOR AS YOURSELF.' There is no other commandment greater than these."

32 The scribe said to Him, "Right, Teacher; You have truly stated that [a]HE IS ONE, AND THERE IS NO ONE ELSE BESIDES HIM;

33 [a]AND TO LOVE HIM WITH ALL THE HEART AND WITH ALL THE UNDERSTANDING AND WITH ALL THE STRENGTH, AND TO LOVE ONE'S NEIGHBOR AS HIMSELF, [b]is much more than all burnt offerings and sacrifices."

34 When Jesus saw that he had answered intelligently, He said to him, "You are not far from the kingdom of God." [a]After that, no one would venture to ask Him any more questions.

35 [a]And Jesus began to say, as He [b]taught in the temple, "How is it that the scribes say that [1]the Christ is the [c]son of David?

36 "David himself said [1]in the Holy Spirit,

'"[a]THE LORD SAID TO MY LORD,
"SIT AT MY RIGHT HAND, UNTIL I PUT YOUR ENEMIES BENEATH YOUR FEET."'

37 "David himself calls Him 'Lord'; so in what sense is He his son?" And [a]the large crowd [1]enjoyed listening to Him.

38 [a]In His teaching He was saying: "Beware of the scribes who like to walk around in long robes, and like [b]respectful greetings in the market places,

39 and chief seats in the synagogues and places of honor at banquets,

40 [a]who devour widows' houses, and for appearance's sake offer long prayers; these will receive greater condemnation."

The Widow's Mite

41 [a]And He sat down opposite [b]the treasury, and began observing how the people were [c]putting [1]money into the treasury; and many rich people were putting in large sums.

42 A poor widow came and put in two

12:19 See note on Matt 22:24.

12:26 book of Moses. The Pentateuch, the first five books of the OT. in the passage about the burning bush. A common way of referring to Ex 3:1–6 (see Rom 11:2, where "about Elijah" refers to 1 Kin 19:1–10).

12:28 What commandment is the foremost of all? Jewish rabbis counted 613 individual statutes in the law, and attempted to differentiate between "heavy" (or "great") and "light" (or "little") commands.

12:29 The first quotation came to be known as the Shema, named after the first word of Deut 6:4 in Hebrew, which means "hear." The Shema became the Jewish confession of faith, which was recited by pious Jews every morning and evening. To this day it begins every synagogue service.

12:31 To the Shema Jesus joined the commandment from Lev 19:18 to show that love for neighbor is a natural and logical outgrowth of love for God. NEIGHBOR. See Luke 10:25–37.

12:33 all burnt offerings and sacrifices. The comparison was undoubtedly suggested by the fact that the discussion took place in the temple courtyard (see 11:27).

12:34 kingdom of God. See note on Matt 3:2.

12:35 temple. See note on 11:27. son of David. See note on 10:47. Most of the people knew that the Messiah was to be from the family of David.

12:36 THE LORD SAID TO MY LORD. God said to David's Lord, i.e., David's superior—ultimately the Messiah (see note on Ps 110:1). The purpose of the quotation was to show that the Messiah was more than a descendant of David—he was David's Lord.

12:38 long robes. The scribes wore long, white linen robes that were fringed and almost reached to the ground.

12:39 chief seats in the synagogues. A reference to the bench in front of the "ark" that contained the sacred scrolls. Those who sat there could be seen by all the worshipers in the synagogue.

12:40 devour widows' houses. Since the scribes were not paid a regular salary, they were dependent on the generosity of patrons for their livelihood. Such a system was open to abuses, and widows were especially vulnerable to exploitation.

12:41 the treasury. Located in the court of the women. Both men and women were allowed in this court, but women could go no farther into the temple buildings. It contained 13 trumpet-shaped receptacles for contributions brought by worshipers.

[1]small copper coins, which amount to a [2]cent.

43 Calling His disciples to Him, He said to them, "Truly I say to you, this poor widow put in more than all [1]the contributors to the treasury;

44 for they all put in out of their [1]surplus, but she, out of her poverty, put in all she owned, [2]all she had [a]to live on."

Things to Come

13 [a]As He was going out of the temple, one of His disciples *said to Him, "Teacher, behold [1]what wonderful stones and [1]what wonderful buildings!"

2 And Jesus said to him, "Do you see these great buildings? [a]Not one stone will be left upon another which will not be torn down."

3 As He was sitting on [a]the Mount of Olives opposite the temple, [b]Peter and [1]James and John and Andrew were questioning Him privately,

4 "Tell us, when will these things be, and what will be the [1]sign when all these things are going to be fulfilled?"

5 And Jesus began to say to them, "See to it that no one misleads you.

6 "Many will come in My name, saying, '[a]I am He!' and will mislead many.

7 "When you hear of wars and rumors of wars, do not be frightened; those things must take place; but that is not yet the end.

8 "For nation will rise up against nation, and kingdom against kingdom; there will also be famines. These things are merely the beginning of birth pangs.

12:43 Truly I say to you. See note on 3:28.
13:1–37 The Olivet discourse, as this chapter of Mark is commonly called, falls into five sections: (1) Jesus' prophecy of the destruction of the temple and the questions of the disciples (vv. 1–4); (2) warnings against deceivers and false signs of the end (vv. 5–23); (3) the coming of the Son of Man (vv. 24–27); (4) the lesson of the fig tree (vv. 28–31); (5) exhortation to watchfulness (vv. 32–37).
13:1 wonderful stones. According to Josephus (Antiquities, 15.11.3), they were white, and some of them were 37 feet long, 12 feet high and 18 feet wide.
13:2 See note on Matt 24:2.
13:3 Mount of Olives. See note on 11:1. Peter and James and John and Andrew. See 1:16–20.
13:4 The disciples thought that the destruction of the temple would be one of the events that ushered in the end times (see Matt 24:3). the sign. The way by which the disciples might know that the destruction of the temple was about to take place and that the end of the age was approaching.
13:5 See to it. It is clear from such words as "See to it," "But be on your guard" (v. 9), "But take heed" (v. 23), "Take heed, keep on the alert" (v. 33), "Therefore, be on the alert" (v. 35) and "Be on the alert!" (v. 37) that one of the main purposes of the Olivet discourse was to alert the disciples to the danger of deception.
13:6 I am He. That is, the Messiah.
13:7 the end. Not the destruction of Jerusalem but the end of the age (see Matt 24:3).
13:8 birth pangs. See note on Matt 24:8.
13:9 the courts. The religious courts made up of the synagogue elders. flogged. Infraction of Jewish regulations was punishable by flogging, the maximum penalty being 39 strokes with the whip (see 2 Cor 11:23–24).
13:10 first. Before the end of the age (see Matt 24:14).
13:13 endures to the end. Such perseverance is a sure indication of salvation (cf. Heb 3:14; 6:11–12; 10:36).
13:14 the ABOMINATION OF DESOLATION. See notes on Dan 9:25–27; Matt 24:15. standing where it should not be. See 2 Thess 2:4. those who are in Judea must flee to the mountains. See note on Matt 24:16.
13:15 the housetop. See notes on 2:4; Luke 17:31.
13:16 coat. See note on Matt 5:40.
13:17 those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies. Representative of anyone forced to flee under especially difficult circumstances.
13:18 in the winter. The time when heavy rains caused streams to become swollen and impossible to cross, preventing many from reaching a place of refuge.
13:19 a time of tribulation such as has not occurred. See note on Matt 24:21.

Bethany, the Mount of Olives and Jerusalem

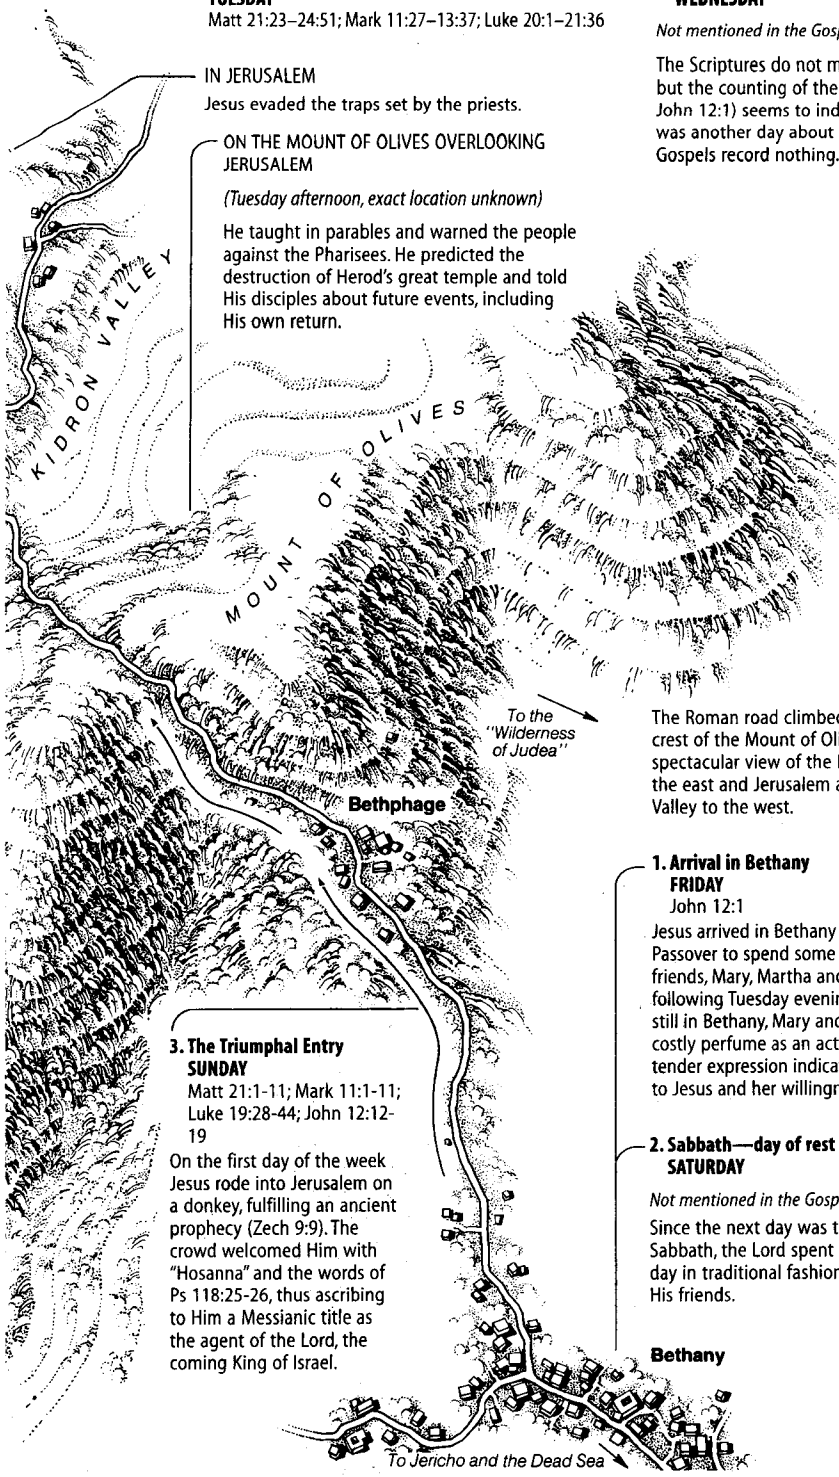
4. Clearing of the temple
MONDAY
Matt 21:10-17; Mark 11:15-18; Luke 19:45-48

The next day He returned to the temple and found the court of the Gentiles full of traders and money changers making a large profit as they gave out Jewish coins in exchange for "pagan" money. Jesus drove them out and overturned their tables.

7. Passover Last Supper
THURSDAY
Matt 26:17-30; Mark 14:12-26; Luke 22:7-23; John 13:1-30

In an upper room Jesus prepared both Himself and His disciples for His death. He gave the Passover meal a new meaning. The loaf of bread and cup of wine represented His body soon to be sacrificed and His blood soon to be shed. And so He instituted the "Lord's Supper." After singing a hymn they went to the Garden of Gethsemane, where Jesus prayed in agony, knowing what lay ahead for Him.

8. Crucifixion—FRIDAY
Matt 27:1-66; Mark 15:1-47; Luke 22:66—23:56; John 18:28—19:37



Following betrayal, arrest, desertion, false trials, denial, condemnation, beatings and mockery, Jesus was required to carry His cross to "The Place of the Skull," where He was crucified with two other prisoners.

9. In the tomb

Jesus' body was placed in the tomb before 6:00 p.m. Friday night, when the Sabbath began and all work stopped, and it lay in the tomb throughout the Sabbath.

10. Resurrection—SUNDAY Matt 28:1-13; Mark 16:1-20; Luke 24:1-49; John 20:1-31

Early in the morning, women went to the tomb and found that the stone closing the tomb's entrance had been rolled back. An angel told them Jesus was alive and gave them a message. Jesus appeared to Mary Magdalene in the garden, to Peter, to two disciples on the road to Emmaus, and later that day to all the disciples but Thomas. His resurrection was established as a fact.

5. Day of controversy and parables
TUESDAY
Matt 21:23–24:51; Mark 11:27–13:37; Luke 20:1–21:36

IN JERUSALEM

Jesus evaded the traps set by the priests.

ON THE MOUNT OF OLIVES OVERLOOKING JERUSALEM

(Tuesday afternoon, exact location unknown)

He taught in parables and warned the people against the Pharisees. He predicted the destruction of Herod's great temple and told His disciples about future events, including His own return.

6. Day of rest
WEDNESDAY

Not mentioned in the Gospels

The Scriptures do not mention this day, but the counting of the days (Mark 14:1; John 12:1) seems to indicate that there was another day about which the Gospels record nothing.

The Roman road climbed steeply to the crest of the Mount of Olives, affording a spectacular view of the Desert of Judea to the east and Jerusalem across the Kidron Valley to the west.

1. Arrival in Bethany
FRIDAY
John 12:1

Jesus arrived in Bethany six days before the Passover to spend some time with His friends, Mary, Martha and Lazarus. On the following Tuesday evening, while Jesus was still in Bethany, Mary anointed His feet with costly perfume as an act of humility. This tender expression indicated Mary's devotion to Jesus and her willingness to serve Him.

2. Sabbath—day of rest
SATURDAY

Not mentioned in the Gospels

Since the next day was the Sabbath, the Lord spent the day in traditional fashion with His friends.

3. The Triumphal Entry
SUNDAY
Matt 21:1-11; Mark 11:1-11; Luke 19:28-44; John 12:12-19

On the first day of the week Jesus rode into Jerusalem on a donkey, fulfilling an ancient prophecy (Zech 9:9). The crowd welcomed Him with "Hosanna" and the words of Ps 118:25-26, thus ascribing to Him a Messianic title as the agent of the Lord, the coming King of Israel.

days, no [1]life would have been saved; but for the sake of the [2]elect, whom He chose, He shortened the days.

21 "And then if anyone says to you, 'Behold, here is [1]the Christ'; or, 'Behold, He is there'; do not believe him;

22 for false Christs and [a]false prophets will arise, and will show [1][b]signs and [b]wonders, in order to lead astray, if possible, the elect.

23 "But take heed; behold, I have told you everything in advance.

The Return of Christ

24 "But in those days, after that tribulation, [a]THE SUN WILL BE DARKENED AND THE MOON WILL NOT GIVE ITS LIGHT, 25 [a]AND THE STARS WILL BE FALLING from heaven, and the powers that are in [1]the heavens will be shaken.

26 "Then they will see [a]THE SON OF MAN [b]COMING IN CLOUDS with great power and glory.

27 "And then He will send forth the angels, and [a]will gather together His [1]elect from the four winds, [b]from the farthest end of the earth to the farthest end of heaven.

28 "Now learn the parable from the fig tree: when its branch has already become tender and puts forth its leaves, you know that summer is near.

29 "Even so, you too, when you see these things happening, [1]recognize that [2]He is near, right at the [3]door.

Death Plot and Anointing

14 [a]Now [b]the Passover and Unleavened Bread were two days away; and the chief priests and the scribes [c]were seeking how to seize Him by stealth and kill Him;

13:20 the elect. The people of God.

13:21 Christ. Or Messiah. "The Christ" (Greek) and "the Messiah" (Hebrew) both mean "the Anointed One."

13:24 in those days. A common OT expression having to do with the end time (see Jer 3:16,18; 31:29; 33:15–16; Joel 3:1; Zech 8:23). tribulation. See v. 19 and note on Matt 24:21.

13:25 The description in vv. 24–25 does not necessarily refer to a complete breakup of the universe. It was language commonly used to describe God's awful judgment on a fallen world (see Is 13:10; 24:21–23; 34:4; Ezek 32:7–8; Joel 2:10,31; 3:15; Amos 8:9).

13:26 SON OF MAN. See note on 8:31. COMING IN CLOUDS with great power and glory. A reference to Christ's second coming (see 8:38; 2 Thess 1:6–10; Rev 19:11–16).

13:27 angels. See note on Gen 16:7; cf. Rev 14:14–16. gather together His elect. In the OT God is spoken of as gathering His scattered people (Deut 30:3–4; Is 43:6; Jer 32:37; Ezek 34:13; 36:24).

13:28 the fig tree. See note on 11:13.

13:29 these things. The signs listed in vv. 5–23 precede the destruction of Jerusalem and/or the end of the age. He is near. Probably a reference to the second coming of Christ (see Luke 21:31).

13:30 Truly I say to you. See note on 3:28. generation. If the term is understood as a normal life span, it may refer either to the generation in which Jesus lived while on earth or to the generation living when these signs begin to occur (see note on Luke 21:32).

13:32 that day. An OT expression for the day of the Lord's appearance (Amos 8:3,9,13; 9:11; Mic 4:6; 5:10; 7:11), referring to the coming of the Son of Man (v. 26). no one knows. A map of the future would be a hindrance, not a help, to faith. Certain signs have been given, but not for the purpose of making detailed, sequential predictions. angels. See note on Gen 16:7. nor the Son. While on earth, even Jesus lived by faith, and obedience was the hallmark of His ministry.

13:35 in the evening, at midnight, or when the rooster crows, or in the morning. The four watches of the night used by the Romans (see note on Matt 14:25).

14:1 Passover. The Jewish festival commemorating the time when the angel of the Lord passed over the homes of the Hebrews rather than killing their firstborn sons as he did in the Egyptian homes (see Ex 12:13,23,27). The lambs or kids used in the feast were killed on the 14th of Nisan (March-April), and the meal was eaten the same evening between sundown and midnight. Since the Jewish day began at sundown, the Passover Feast took place on the 15th of Nisan. Unleavened Bread. This feast followed Passover and lasted seven days (see Ex 12:15–20; 23:15; 34:18; Deut 16:1–8). chief priests. See note on 8:31. scribes. See note on Matt 2:4.

14:2 Not during the festival. During Passover and the week-long Feast of Unleavened Bread the population of Jerusalem increased from about 50,000 to several hundred thousand. It would have been too risky to apprehend Jesus with so large and excitable a crowd present.

14:3–9 In John's Gospel this incident occurred before Passion Week began (see John 12:1). Matthew and Mark may place it here to contrast the hatred of the religious leaders and the betrayal by Judas with the love and devotion of the woman who anointed Jesus.

table, there came a woman with an alabaster vial of very [c]costly perfume of pure [1]nard; and she broke the vial and poured it over His head.

4 But some were indignantly remarking to one another, "Why has this perfume been wasted?

5 "For this perfume might have been sold for over three hundred [1]denarii, and the money given to the poor." And they were scolding her.

6 But Jesus said, "Let her alone; why do you bother her? She has done a good deed to Me.

7 "For you always have [a]the poor with you, and whenever you wish you can do good to them; but you do not always have Me.

8 "She has done what she could; [a]she has anointed My body beforehand for the burial.

9 "Truly I say to you, [a]wherever the gospel is preached in the whole world, what this woman has done will also be spoken of in memory of her."

10 [a]Then Judas Iscariot, [b]who was one of the twelve, went off to the chief priests in order to [1]betray Him to them.

11 They were glad when they heard this, and promised to give him money. And he began seeking how to betray Him at an opportune time.

The Last Passover

12 [a]On the first day of [b]Unleavened Bread, when [1]the Passover lamb was being [c]sacrificed, His disciples *said to Him, "Where do You want us to go and prepare for You to eat the Passover?"

13 And He *sent two of His disciples and *said to them, "Go into the city, and a man will meet you carrying a pitcher of water; follow him;

14 and wherever he enters, say to the owner of the house, 'The Teacher says, "Where is My [a]guest room in which I may eat the Passover with My disciples?" '

15 "And he himself will show you a large upper room furnished and ready; prepare for us there."

16 The disciples went out and came to the city, and found it just as He had told them; and they prepared the Passover.

17 [a]When it was evening He *came with the twelve.

18 As they were reclining at the table and eating, Jesus said, "Truly I say to you that one of you will [1]betray Me—[2]one who is eating with Me."

19 They began to be grieved and to say to Him one by one, "Surely not I?"

20 And He said to them, "It is one of the twelve, [1]one who dips with Me in the bowl.

21 "For the Son of Man is to go just as it is written of Him; but woe to that man [1]by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! It would have been good [2]for that man if he had not been born."

The Lord's Supper

22 [a]While they were eating, He took some

14:3 Bethany. See note on Matt 21:17. Simon the leper. See note on Matt 26:6. reclining at the table. The usual posture for eating a banquet meal. a woman. We know from John's Gospel (12:3) that she was Mary, the sister of Martha and Lazarus. alabaster vial. A sealed flask with a long neck that was broken off when the contents were used and that contained enough ointment for one application. nard. A perfume made from the aromatic oil extracted from the root of a plant grown chiefly in India. poured it over His head. Anointing was a common custom at feasts (see Ps 23:5; Luke 7:46). The woman's action expressed her deep devotion to Jesus.

14:4 some. Matthew (26:8) identifies them as the disciples, while John (12:4–5) singles out Judas Iscariot.

14:5 given to the poor. It was a Jewish custom to give gifts to the poor on the evening of Passover (see John 13:29).

14:7 you will always have the poor with you. This did not express lack of concern for the poor, for their needs lay close to Jesus' heart (see Matt 6:2–4; Luke 4:18; 6:20; 14:13,21; 18:22; John 13:29).

14:8 for the burial. It was a normal Jewish custom to anoint a body with aromatic oils in preparing it for burial (see 16:1). Jesus seems to anticipate suffering a criminal's death, for only in that circumstance was there no anointing of the body.

14:9 Truly I say to you. See note on 3:28. gospel. See note on 1:1.

14:10 Judas Iscariot. See note on 3:19. chief priests. See note on 8:31. This was an unexpected opportunity that they seized, even though they had intended not to apprehend Jesus during the Feast (see v. 2).

14:11 money. Thirty silver coins (Matt 26:15).

14:12 the first day of Unleavened Bread. Ordinarily this would mean the 15th of Nisan, the day after Passover (see note on v. 1). However, the added phrase, "when the Passover lamb was being sacrificed," makes it clear that the 14th of Nisan is meant because Passover lambs were killed on that day (Ex 12:6). The entire eight-day celebration was sometimes referred to as the Feast of Unleavened Bread, and there is evidence that the 14th of Nisan may have been loosely referred to as the "first day of Unleavened Bread."

14:13 two of His disciples. Peter and John (Luke 22:8). man . . . carrying a pitcher. He would easily have been identified because customarily only women carried water jars.

14:14 Where is My guest room . . . ? It was a Jewish custom that anyone in Jerusalem who had a room available would give it upon request to a pilgrim to celebrate the Passover. It appears that Jesus had made previous arrangements with the owner of the house.

14:15 prepare. These would include food for the meal: unleavened bread, wine, bitter herbs, sauce and the lamb.

14:17 When it was evening. Thursday of Passion Week.

14:18 reclining at the table and eating. Originally the Passover meal was eaten standing (Ex 12:11), but in Jesus' time it was customary to eat it while reclining. Truly I say to you. See note on 3:28.

14:20 dips with Me in the bowl. See note on Matt 26:23.

14:21 Son of Man. See note on 8:31. as it is written of Him. Jesus no doubt had the "suffering servant" passage of Is 53 in mind.

14:22 The NT gives four accounts of the Lord's Supper (Matt 26:26–28; Mark 14:22–24; Luke 22:19–20; 1 Cor 11:23–25). Mat-bread, and [1]after a [b]blessing He broke it, and gave it to them, and said, "Take it, this is My body."

23 And when He had taken a cup and given thanks, He gave it to them, and they all drank from it.

24 And He said to them, "This is My [a]blood of the [b]covenant, which is poured out for many.

25 "Truly I say to you, I will never again drink of the fruit of the vine until that day when I drink it new in the kingdom of God."

26 [a]After singing a hymn, they went out to [b]the Mount of Olives.

27 [a]And Jesus *said to them, "You will all [1]fall away, because it is written, '[b]I WILL STRIKE DOWN THE SHEPHERD, AND THE SHEEP SHALL BE SCATTERED.'

28 "But after I have been raised, [a]I will go ahead of you to Galilee."

29 But Peter said to Him, "Even though all may [1]fall away, yet I will not."

30 And Jesus *said to him, "Truly I say to you, that [1][a]this very night, before [b]a rooster crows twice, you yourself will deny Me three times."

31 But Peter kept saying insistently, "Even if I have to die with You, I will not deny You!" And they all were saying the same thing also.

Jesus in Gethsemane

32 [a]They *came to a place named Gethsemane; and He *said to His disciples, "Sit here until I have prayed."

33 And He *took with Him Peter and [1]James and John, and began to be very [a]distressed and troubled.

34 And He *said to them, "[a]My soul is deeply grieved to the point of death; remain here and keep watch."

35 And He went a little beyond them, and fell to the ground and began to pray that if it were possible, [a]the hour might [1]pass Him by.

36 And He was saying, "[a]Abba! Father! All things are possible for You; remove this cup from Me; [b]yet not what I will, but what You will."

37 And He *came and *found them sleeping, and *said to Peter, "Simon, are you asleep? Could you not keep watch for one hour?

38 "[a]Keep watching and praying that you may not come into temptation; the spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak."

39 Again He went away and prayed, saying the same [1]words.

40 And again He came and found them sleeping, for their eyes were very heavy; and they did not know what to answer Him.

41 And He *came the third time, and *said to them, "[1]Are you still sleeping and resting? It is enough; [a]the hour has come; behold, the Son of Man is being [2]betrayed into the hands of sinners.

42 "Get up, let us be going; behold, the one who betrays Me is at hand!"

Betrayal and Arrest

43 [a]Immediately while He was still speaking, Judas, one of the twelve, *came up [1]accompanied by a crowd with swords and clubs, who were from the chief priests and the scribes and the elders.

44 Now he who was betraying Him had given them a signal, saying, "Whomever I kiss, He is the one; seize Him and lead Him away [1]under guard."

thew's account is very much like Mark's, and Luke's and Paul's have similarities. All the accounts include the taking of the bread; the thanksgiving or blessing; the breaking of the bread; the saying, "This is My body"; the taking of the cup; and the explanation of the relation of blood to the covenant. Only Paul and Luke record Jesus' command to continue to celebrate the Supper. this is My body. The bread represented His body, given for them (see Luke 22:19; 1 Cor 11:24).

14:23 given thanks. The word "Eucharist" is derived from the Greek term used here.

14:24 My blood of the covenant. The cup represents the blood of Jesus, which, in turn, represents His poured-out life (i.e., His death). God's commitments to His people in the new covenant are possible only through Christ's atoning death (see Jer 31:31–34; Heb 8:8–12; see also notes on Luke 22:20; Ex 24:6,8). for many. See note on Rom 5:15.

14:25 Truly I say to you. See note on 3:28. kingdom of God. See note on Matt 3:2.

14:26 a hymn. See note on Matt 26:30. Mount of Olives. See note on 11:1.

14:30 Truly I say to you. See note on 3:28. crows twice. Some early manuscripts do not have twice.

14:32 Gethsemane. A garden or orchard on the lower slopes of the Mount of Olives, one of Jesus' favorite places (see Luke 22:39; John 18:2). The name is Hebrew and means "oil press," i.e., a place for squeezing the oil from olives.

14:33 Peter and James and John. See note on 5:37.

14:36 Abba! Father! Expressive of an especially close relationship to God. this cup. The chalice of death and of God's wrath that Jesus took from the Father's hand in fulfillment of His mission. What Jesus dreaded was not death as such, but the manner of His death as the One who was taking the sin of mankind upon Himself. See note on 10:38.

14:37 Simon. See note on 1:16. Perhaps Simon is singled out because of his bold assertion that he would not fail Jesus (see vv. 29–31).

14:38 come into temptation. Be attacked by temptation. Here the temptation is to be unfaithful in face of the threatening circumstances confronting them. the spirit is willing. When that part of man that is spirit is under God's control, it strives against human weakness. The expression is taken from Ps 51:12.

14:41 Son of Man. See note on 8:31.

14:43 Judas. See note on 3:19. a crowd with swords and clubs. Auxiliary police or servants of the court assigned to the task of maintaining public order beyond the precincts of the temple. John (18:3) indicates that at least some of the Roman cohort of soldiers were in the arresting group, along with officers of the temple guard. The fact that some carried clubs suggests that they were conscripted at the last moment. chief priests . . . scribes . . . elders. See notes on 8:31; Matt 2:4. The warrant for Jesus' arrest had been issued by the Sanhedrin.

45 After coming, Judas immediately went to Him, saying, "[a]Rabbi!" and kissed Him.

46 They laid hands on Him and seized Him.

47 But one of those who stood by drew his sword, and struck the slave of the high priest and [1]cut off his ear.

48 And Jesus said to them, "Have you come out with swords and clubs to arrest Me, as you would against a robber?

49 "Every day I was with you [a]in the temple teaching, and you did not seize Me; but this has taken place to fulfill the Scriptures."

50 And they all left Him and fled.

51 A young man was following Him, wearing nothing but a linen sheet over his naked body; and they *seized him.

52 But he [1]pulled free of the linen sheet and escaped naked.

Jesus before His Accusers

53 [a]They led Jesus away to the high priest; and all the chief priests and the elders and the scribes *gathered together.

54 Peter had followed Him at a distance, [a]right into [b]the courtyard of the high priest; and he was sitting with the [1]officers and [c]warming himself at the [2]fire.

55 Now the chief priests and the whole [1a]Council kept trying to obtain testimony against Jesus to put Him to death, and they were not finding any.

56 For many were giving false testimony against Him, but their testimony was not consistent.

57 Some stood up and began to give false testimony against Him, saying,

58 "We heard Him say, '[a]I will destroy this [1]temple made with hands, and in three days I will build another made without hands.' "

59 Not even in this respect was their testimony consistent.

60 The high priest stood up and came forward and questioned Jesus, saying, "Do You not answer? [1]What is it that these men are testifying against You?"

61 [a]But He kept silent and did not answer. [b]Again the high priest was questioning Him, and [1]saying to Him, "Are You [2]the Christ, the Son of the Blessed One?"

62 And Jesus said, "I am; and you shall see [a]THE SON OF MAN SITTING AT THE RIGHT HAND OF POWER, and [b]COMING WITH THE CLOUDS OF HEAVEN."

63 [a]Tearing his clothes, the high priest *said, "What further need do we have of witnesses?

64 "You have heard the [a]blasphemy; how does it seem to you?" And they all condemned Him to be deserving of death.

14:45 Rabbi. Hebrew word for "(my) teacher." kissed Him. A token of respect with which disciples customarily greeted their rabbi. See note on Luke 22:47.

14:47 one of those who stood by. We know from John that it was Peter, and the servant he struck was named Malchus (John 18:10).

14:49 temple. See note on 11:27. to fulfill the Scriptures. Perhaps a reference to Is 53, or more particularly to Zech 13:7, quoted by Jesus in v. 27 and fulfilled (at least in part) at this time.

14:50 left Him. In fulfillment of vv. 27–31.

14:51 A young man. Not specifically identified, but his anonymity may suggest that this was John Mark, writer of this Gospel. a linen sheet. Ordinarily the outer garment was made of wool. The fine linen garment left behind in the hand of a guard indicates that the youth was from a wealthy family.

14:52 escaped naked. The absence of an undergarment suggests that he had dressed hastily to follow Jesus.

14:53–15:15 Jesus' trial took place in two stages: a Jewish trial and a Roman trial, each of which had three episodes. For the Jewish trial these were: (1) the preliminary hearing before Annas, the former high priest (reported only in John 18:12–14, 19–23); (2) the trial before Caiaphas, the ruling high priest, and the Sanhedrin (14:53–65); and (3) the final action of the council, which terminated its all-night session (15:1). The three episodes of the Roman trial were: (1) the trial before Pilate (15:2–5); (2) the trial before Herod Antipas (only in Luke 23:6–12); and (3) the trial before Pilate continued and concluded (15:6–15). Since Mark gives no account of Jesus before Herod Antipas, the trial before Pilate forms a continuous and uninterrupted narrative in this Gospel (15:2–15).

14:53 high priest. Caiaphas, son-in-law of Annas, the former high priest. all the chief priests and the elders and the scribes. The entire Sanhedrin.

14:54 courtyard of the high priest. The Sanhedrin may have met at Caiaphas's house to ensure secrecy.

14:55 Council. The high court of the Jews. In NT times it was made up of three kinds of members: chief priests, elders, and scribes. Its total membership numbered 71, including the high priest, who was presiding officer. Under Roman jurisdiction the Council was given a great deal of authority, but they could not impose capital punishment (see John 18:31 and note on Matt 27:2).

14:56 many were giving false testimony against Him. In Jewish judicial procedure, witnesses functioned as the prosecution. was not consistent. According to Deut 19:15 a person could not be convicted unless two or more witnesses gave testimony, which assumes that their testimonies had to agree.

14:58 There is no statement by Jesus precisely like this in the Gospels. It is probably an allusion to what is reported in John 2:19.

14:61 Christ. Or Messiah. Son of the Blessed One. "The Blessed One" was a way of referring to God without pronouncing His name (see note on 11:30). The title was therefore equivalent to "Son of God," though in this context it would seem not to refer to deity but to royal Messiahship, since in popular Jewish belief the Messiah was to be a man, not God.

14:62 Son of Man. See note on 8:31. This Son of Man saying brings together Dan 7:13 and Ps 110:1.

14:63 Tearing his clothes. A sign of great grief or shock (see Gen 37:29; 2 Kin 18:37; 19:1). In the case of the high priest it was a form of judicial act expressing the fact that he regarded Jesus' answer as blasphemous (see note on Matt 26:65).

14:64 blasphemy. The sin of blasphemy not only involved reviling the name of God (see Lev 24:10–16) but also included any affront to His majesty or authority (see Mark 2:7; 3:28–29; John 5:18; 10:33). Jesus' claim to be the Messiah and, in fact, to have majesty and authority belonging only to God was therefore regarded by Caiaphas as blasphemy, for which the Mosaic law prescribed death by stoning (Lev 24:16).

65 Some began to [a]spit at Him, and [1b]to blindfold Him, and to beat Him with their fists, and to say to Him, "[c]Prophesy!" And the officers [2]received Him with [3]slaps in the face.

Peter's Denials

66 [a]As Peter was below in [b]the courtyard, one of the servant-girls of the high priest *came,

67 and seeing Peter [a]warming himself, she looked at him and *said, "You also were with Jesus the [b]Nazarene."

68 But he denied it, saying, "I neither know nor understand what you are talking about." And he [a]went out onto the [1]porch, and a rooster crowed.[2]

69 The servant-girl saw him, and began once more to say to the bystanders, "This is one of them!"

70 But again [a]he denied it. And after a little while the bystanders were again saying to Peter, "Surely you are one of them, [b]for you are a Galilean too."

71 But he began to [1]curse and swear, "I do not know this man you are talking about!"

72 Immediately a rooster crowed a second time. And Peter remembered how Jesus had made the remark to him, "Before [a]a rooster crows twice, you will deny Me three times." [1]And he began to weep.

Jesus before Pilate

15 [a]Early in the morning the chief priests with the elders and scribes and the whole [1b]Council, immediately held a consultation; and binding Jesus, they led Him away and delivered Him to Pilate.

2 [a]Pilate questioned Him, "Are You the King of the Jews?" And He *answered him, "It is as you say."

3 The chief priests began to accuse Him [1]harshly.

4 Then Pilate questioned Him again, saying, "Do You not answer? See how many charges they bring against You!"

5 But Jesus [a]made no further answer; so Pilate was amazed.

6 [a]Now at the feast he used to release for them any one prisoner whom they requested.

7 The man named Barabbas had been imprisoned with the insurrectionists who had committed murder in the insurrection.

8 The crowd went up and began asking him to do as he had been accustomed to do for them.

9 Pilate answered them, saying, "Do you want me to release for you the King of the Jews?"

10 For he was aware that the chief priests had handed Him over because of envy.

11 But the chief priests stirred up the crowd [a]to ask him to release Barabbas for them instead.

12 Answering again, Pilate said to them, "Then what shall I do with Him whom you call the King of the Jews?"

13 They shouted [1]back, "Crucify Him!"

14 But Pilate said to them, "Why, what evil has He done?" But they shouted all the more, "Crucify Him!"

15 Wishing to satisfy the crowd, Pilate released Barabbas for them, and after having Jesus [a]scourged, he handed Him over to be crucified.

Jesus Is Mocked

16 [a]The soldiers took Him away into [b]the [1]palace (that is, the Praetorium), and they *called together the whole Roman [2c]cohort.

17 They *dressed Him up in purple, and 14:65 began to spit at Him . . . beat Him with their fists. Conventional gestures of rejection and condemnation (Num 12:14; Deut 25:9; Job 30:10; Is 50:6). blindfold Him. An old interpretation of Is 11:2–4 held that the Messiah could judge by smell without the aid of sight. Prophesy! Say who it was who struck you!

14:66 below. While Jesus was being beaten in an upstairs room of Caiaphas's house, Peter was below in the courtyard. one of the servant-girls. The doorkeeper (John 18:16).

14:67 Nazarene. See note on Matt 2:23.

14:68 I neither know nor understand what you are talking about. Common in Jewish law for a formal, legal denial.

14:70 Galilean. Galileans were easily identified by their dialect. Peter's speech showed him to be a Galilean, and his presence among the Judeans in the courtyard suggested he was a follower of Jesus.

15:1 Early in the morning. The working day of a Roman official began at daylight. morning. Friday of Passion Week. Council. See note on 14:55. held a consultation. Apparently to accuse Jesus before the civil authority for treason rather than blasphemy (see Luke 23:1–14 and note on Luke 23:2). Pilate. The Roman governor of Judea from A.D. 26 to 36, whose official residence was in Caesarea, on the Mediterranean coast. (In 1961 archaeologists working at Caesarea unearthed a stone contemporary with Pilate and inscribed with his name.) When he came to Jerusalem, he stayed in the magnificent palace built by Herod the Great, located west and a little south of the temple area. Mark uses the word "Praetorium" to indicate this palace in v. 16, and it was here that the Roman trial of Jesus took place.

15:2 Pilate questioned Him. Judgment in a Roman court was the sole responsibility of the imperial magistrate.

15:3 harshly. Can also be translated as "many things." See note on Luke 23:2. Multiple charges were common in criminal cases.

15:4 Do You not answer? If Jesus made no defense, according to Roman law Pilate would have to pronounce against Him.

15:6 he used to. See note on John 18:39.

15:7 Barabbas. Probably a member of the Zealots, a revolutionary Jewish group. in the insurrection. Nothing from other sources is known about this insurrection, though Mark speaks of it as if it were well known. Under the Roman prefects such revolts were common (see Luke 13:1).

15:13 Crucify. See note on v. 24.

15:15 scourged. The Romans used a whip made of several strips of leather into which were embedded (near the ends) pieces of bone and lead. The Jews limited the number of stripes to a maximum of 40 (in practice to 39 in case of a miscount), but no such limitation was recognized by the Romans, and victims of Roman floggings often did not survive.

15:16 Praetorium. The word was used originally of a general's tent, or of the headquarters in a military camp (see note on v. 1).

after twisting a crown of thorns, they put it on Him;

18 and they began to acclaim Him, "Hail, King of the Jews!"

19 They kept beating His head with a [1]reed, and spitting on Him, and kneeling and bowing before Him.

20 After they had mocked Him, they took the purple robe off Him and put His own garments on Him. And they *led Him out to crucify Him.

21 [a]They *pressed into service a passer-by coming from the country, Simon of Cyrene (the father of Alexander and [b]Rufus), to bear His cross.

The Crucifixion

22 [a]Then they *brought Him to the place [b]Golgotha, which is translated, Place of a Skull.

23 They tried to give Him [a]wine mixed with myrrh; but He did not take it.

30 save Yourself, and come down from the cross!"

31 In the same way the chief priests also, along with the scribes, were mocking Him among themselves and saying, "[a]He saved others; [1]He cannot save Himself.

32 "Let this Christ, [a]the King of Israel, now come down from the cross, so that we may see and believe!" [b]Those who were crucified with Him were also insulting Him.

33 [a]When the [1][b]sixth hour came, darkness [2]fell over the whole land until the [3][b]ninth hour.

34 At the [a]ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, "[b]ELOI, ELOI, LAMA SABACHTHANI?" which is translated, "MY GOD, MY GOD, WHY HAVE YOU FORSAKEN ME?"

the whole Roman cohort. The soldiers quartered in the Praetorium were recruited from non-Jewish inhabitants of the Holy Land and assigned to the military governor.

15:17 purple. Probably an old military cloak, whose color suggested royalty (see Matt 27:28). crown of thorns. Made of a prickly plant (the Greek word means simply "briers"), of which there are many in the Holy Land. Both robe and crown were parts of the mock royal attire placed on Jesus.

15:18 Hail, King of the Jews! A mocking salutation that corresponded to "Hail, Caesar!"

15:19 spiting on Him. Probably a parody on the kiss of homage that was customary in the Near East when in the presence of royalty.

15:21 Simon. Probably a Jew who was in Jerusalem to celebrate the Passover (cf. "Cyrenians" in Acts 6:9). Cyrene. An important city of Libya in North Africa that had a large Jewish population. Alexander and Rufus. Only mentioned by Mark, but referred to in such a way as to suggest that they were known by those to whom he wrote. Rufus may be the same person spoken of in Rom 16:13. bear His cross. Men condemned to death were usually forced to carry a beam of the cross, often weighing 30 or 40 pounds, to the place of crucifixion. Jesus started out by carrying His (see John 19:17), but He had been so weakened by flogging that Simon was pressed into service.

15:22 Place of a Skull. It may have been a small hill (though the Gospels say nothing of a hill) that looked like a skull, or it may have been so named because of the many executions that took place there.

15:23 wine mixed with myrrh. The Talmud gives evidence that incense was mixed with wine to deaden pain (see Prov 31:6). Myrrh is a spice derived from plants native to the Arabian deserts and parts of Africa (see note on Gen 37:25).

15:24 crucified. A Roman means of execution in which the victim was nailed to a cross. Heavy, wrought-iron nails were driven through the wrists and the heel bones. If the life of the victim lingered too long, death was hastened by breaking his legs (see John 19:33). Archaeologists have discovered the bones of a crucified man, near Jerusalem, dating between A.D. 7 and 66, which shed light on the position of the victim when nailed to the cross. Only slaves, the basest of criminals, and offenders who were not Roman citizens were executed in this manner. First-century authors vividly describe the agony and disgrace of being crucified. divided up His garments. It was the accepted right of the executioner's squad to claim the minor possessions of the victim. Jesus' clothing probably consisted of an under and an outer garment, a belt, sandals and possibly a head covering.

15:25 third hour. See notes on Luke 23:44; John 19:14.

15:26 charge against Him. It was customary to write the charge on a wooden board that was carried before the victim as he walked to the place of execution, and then the board was affixed to the cross above his head. THE KING OF THE JEWS. The wording of the charge differs slightly in the Gospels, but all agree that Jesus was crucified for claiming to be the king of the Jews.

15:27 two robbers. According to Roman law, robbery was not a capital offense. Mark's term must signify men guilty of insurrection, crucified for high treason.

15:28 The earlier and more reliable Greek manuscripts do not have this verse. It was probably added from Luke 22:37 (quoting Is 53:12). Mark does not include many OT quotations.

15:29 See note on 14:58.

15:32 Christ. See note on 13:21. Those who were crucified with Him. One of the criminals later repented and asked to be included in Jesus' kingdom (Luke 23:39–43).

15:33 sixth hour. 12:00 noon. ninth hour. 3:00 P.M.

15:34 The words were spoken in Aramaic (but with some Hebrew characteristics), one of the languages commonly spoken in the Holy Land in Jesus' day. They reveal how deeply Jesus felt His abandonment by God as He bore the sins of mankind (but see introduction to Ps 22 and note on Ps 22:1).

35 When some of the bystanders heard it, they began saying, "Behold, He is calling for Elijah."

36 Someone ran and filled a sponge with sour wine, put it on a reed, and gave Him a drink, saying, "[1]Let us see whether Elijah will come to take Him down."

37 [a]And Jesus uttered a loud cry, and breathed His last.

38 [a]And the veil of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom.

39 [a]When the centurion, who was standing [1]right in front of Him, saw [2]the way He breathed His last, he said, "Truly this man was [3]the Son of God!"

40 [a]There were also some women looking on from a distance, among whom were Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of [1]James [b]the [2]Less and Joses, and [c]Salome.

41 When He was in Galilee, they used to follow Him and [1a]minister to Him; and there were many other women who came up with Him to Jerusalem.

Jesus Is Buried

42 [a]When evening had already come, because it was [b]the preparation day, that is, the day before the Sabbath,

43 Joseph of Arimathea came, a [a]prominent member of the Council, who himself was [b]waiting for the kingdom of God; and he [c]gathered up courage and went in before Pilate, and asked for the body of Jesus.

44 Pilate wondered if He was dead by this time, and summoning the centurion, he questioned him as to whether He was already dead.

45 And ascertaining this from [a]the centurion, he granted the body to Joseph.

46 Joseph bought a linen cloth, took Him down, wrapped Him in the linen cloth and laid Him in a tomb which had been hewn out in the rock; and he rolled a stone against the entrance of the tomb.

47 [a]Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joses were looking on to see where He was laid.

The Resurrection

16 [a]When the Sabbath was over, [b]Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of [1]James, and Salome, [c]bought spices, so that they might come and anoint Him.

2 Very early on the first day of the week, they *came to the tomb when the sun had risen.

3 They were saying to one another, "Who will roll away [a]the stone for us from the entrance of the tomb?"

4 Looking up, they *saw that the stone had been rolled away, [1]although it was extremely large.

5 [a]Entering the tomb, they saw a young man sitting at the right, wearing a white robe; and they [b]were amazed.

6 And he *said to them, "[a]Do not be

15:35 Elijah. The bystanders mistook the first words of Jesus' cry ("Eloi, Eloi") to be a cry for Elijah. It was commonly believed that Elijah would come in times of critical need to protect the innocent and rescue the righteous (v. 36).
15:36 sour wine. A type of wine used by laborers and soldiers.
15:37 a loud cry. The strength of the cry indicates that Jesus did not die the ordinary death of those crucified, who normally suffered long periods of complete agony, exhaustion and then unconsciousness before dying.
15:38 veil of the temple. The curtain that separated the holy place from the most holy place (Ex 26:31–33). The tearing of the curtain indicated that Christ had entered heaven itself for us so that we too may now enter God's very presence (Heb 9:8–10,12; 10:19–20).
15:39 centurion. A commander of 100 men in the Roman army. saw the way He breathed His last. See note on v. 37. the Son of God. See notes on Matt 27:54; Luke 23:47.
15:40 Mary Magdalene. From 16:9 and Luke 8:2 we learn that Jesus had driven seven demons from her. Mary the mother of James the Less and Joses. See v. 47; 16:1. Salome. Probably the wife of Zebedee and the mother of James and John (see Matt 27:56).
15:42 preparation day. Friday. Since it was now late in the afternoon, there was an urgency to get Jesus' body down from the cross before sundown, when the Sabbath began.
15:43 Arimathea. See note on Matt 27:57. Council. The Sanhedrin (see note on 14:55). kingdom of God. See note on Matt 3:2. Pilate. See note on v. 1. asked for the body of Jesus. See note on Luke 23:52.
15:44 wondered. Crucified men often lived two or three days before dying, and the early death of Jesus was therefore extraordinary.
15:45 he granted the body to Joseph. The release of the body of one condemned for high treason, and especially to one who was not an immediate relative, was quite unusual.
15:46 tomb which had been hewn out in the rock. Matthew tells us that the tomb belonged to Joseph and that it was new, i.e., it had not been used before (Matt 27:60). The location of the tomb was in a garden very near the site of the crucifixion (see John 19:41). There is archaeological evidence that the traditional site of the burial of Jesus (the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem) was a cemetery during the first century A.D. stone. A disc-shaped stone that rolled in a sloped channel.
16:1 Sabbath was over. About 6:00 P.M. Saturday evening. No purchases were possible on the Sabbath. Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome. See note on 15:40. spices. Embalming was not practiced by the Jews. These spices were brought as an act of devotion and love. so that they might come and anoint Him. The women had no expectation of Jesus' resurrection.
16:3 Who will roll away the stone . . . ? Setting the large stone in place was a relatively easy task, but once it had slipped into the groove cut in bedrock in front of the entrance it was very difficult to remove.
16:5 Entering the tomb. Inside the large opening of the facade of the tomb was a forechamber, at the back of which a low rectangular opening led to the burial chamber. young man . . . wearing a white robe. Identified by Matthew (28:2) as an angel. See note on Luke 24:4.

7 "But go, tell His disciples and Peter, '[a]He is going ahead of you to Galilee; there you will see Him, just as He told you.' "

8 They went out and fled from the tomb, for trembling and astonishment had gripped them; and they said nothing to anyone, for they were afraid.

9 [[1]Now after He had risen early on the first day of the week, He first appeared to [a]Mary Magdalene, from whom He had cast out seven demons.

10 [a]She went and reported to those who had been with Him, while they were mourning and weeping.

11 When they heard that He was alive and had been seen by her, [a]they refused to believe it.

12 After that, [a]He appeared in a different form [b]to two of them while they were walking along on their way to the country.

13 They went away and reported it to the others, but they [a]did not believe them either.

The Disciples Commissioned

14 Afterward [a]He appeared [b]to the eleven themselves as they were reclining at the table; and He reproached them for their [c]unbelief and hardness of heart, because they had not believed those who had seen Him after He had risen.

15 And He said to them, "[a]Go into all the world and preach the gospel to all creation.

16 "[a]He who has believed and has been baptized shall be saved; but he who has disbelieved shall be condemned.

17 "These [1]signs will accompany those who have believed: [a]in My name they will cast out demons, they will [b]speak with new tongues;

18 they will [a]pick up serpents, and if they drink any deadly poison, it will not hurt them; they will [b]lay hands on the sick, and they will recover."

19 So then, when the Lord Jesus had [a]spoken to them, He [b]was received up into heaven and [c]sat down at the right hand of God.

20 And they went out and preached everywhere, while the Lord worked with them, and confirmed the word by the [1]signs that followed.]

[[2]And they promptly reported all these instructions to Peter and his companions. And after that, Jesus Himself sent out through them from east to west the sacred and imperishable proclamation of eternal salvation.]

They are absent from important early manuscripts and display certain peculiarities of vocabulary, style and theological content that are unlike the rest of Mark. Luke

NEW KING JAMES VERSION

See "The Synoptic Gospels," p. 1361.

Author

The author's name does not appear in the book, but much unmistakable evidence points to Luke. This Gospel is a companion volume to the book of Acts, and the language and structure of these two books indicate that both were written by the same person. They are addressed to the same individual, Theophilus, and the second volume refers to the first (Acts 1:1). Certain sections in Acts use the pronoun "we" (Acts 16:10–17; 20:5–15; 21:1–18; 27:1—28:16), indicating that the author was with Paul when the events described in these passages took place. By process of elimination, "Luke, the beloved physician" (Col 4:14), and Paul's "fellow worker" (Philem 24) becomes the most likely candidate. His authorship is supported by the uniform testimony of early Christian writings (e.g., the Muratorian Canon, A.D. 170, and the works of Irenaeus, c. 180).

Luke was probably a Gentile by birth, well educated in Greek culture, a physician by profession, a companion of Paul at various times from his second missionary journey to his first imprisonment in Rome, and a loyal friend who remained with the apostle after others had deserted him (2Ti 4:11).

Antioch (of Syria) and Philippi are among the places suggested as his hometown.

Recipient and Purpose

The Gospel is specifically directed to Theophilus (1:3), whose name means "one who loves God" and almost certainly refers to a particular person rather than to lovers of God in general. The use of "most excellent" with the name further indicates an individual, and supports the idea that he was a Roman official or at least of high position and wealth. He was possibly Luke's patron, responsible for seeing that the writings were copied and distributed. Such a dedication to the publisher was common at that time.

Theophilus, however, was more than a publisher. The message of this Gospel was intended for his own instruction (1:4) as well as the instruction of those among whom the book would be circulated. The fact that the Gospel was initially directed to Theophilus does not narrow or limit its purpose. It was written to strengthen the faith of all believers and to answer the attacks of unbelievers. It was presented to displace disconnected and ill-founded reports about Jesus. Luke wanted to show that the place of the Gentile Christian in God's kingdom is based on the teaching of Jesus. He wanted to commend the preaching of the gospel to the whole world.

Date and Place of Writing

The two most commonly suggested periods for dating the Gospel of Luke are: (1) A.D. 59–63, and (2) the 70s or the 80s (see chart, p. 1361).

The place of writing was probably Rome, though Achaia, Ephesus and Caesarea also have been suggested. The place to which it was sent would, of course, depend on the residence of Theophilus. By its detailed designations of places in Palestine, the Gospel seems to be intended for readers who were unfamiliar with that land. Antioch, Achaia and Ephesus are possible destinations.

Style

Luke had outstanding command of the Greek language. His vocabulary is extensive and rich, and his style at times approaches that of classical Greek (as in the preface, 1:1–4), while at other times it is quite Semitic (1:5—2:52)—often like the Septuagint, Greek translation of the OT. His vocabulary seems to reveal geographical and cultural sensitivity, in that it varies with the particular land or people being described. When Luke refers to Peter in a Jewish setting, he uses more Semitic language than when he refers to Paul in a Hellenistic setting.

Characteristics

The third Gospel presents the works and teachings of Jesus that are especially important for understanding the way of salvation. Its scope is complete from the birth of Christ to His ascension, its arrangement is orderly, and it appeals to both Jews and Gentiles. The writing is characterized by literary excellence, historical detail and warm, sensitive understanding of Jesus and those around him.

Since the Synoptic Gospels (Matthew, Mark and Luke) report many of the same episodes in Jesus' life, one would expect much similarity in their accounts. The dissimilarities reveal the distinctive emphases of the separate writers. Luke's characteristic themes include: (1) universality, recognition of Gentiles as well as Jews in God's plan; (2) emphasis on prayer, especially Jesus' praying before important occasions (see note on 3:21); (3) joy at the announcement of the gospel or "good news" (see note on 1:14); (4) special concern for the role of women; (5) special interest in the poor (some of the rich were included among Jesus' followers, but He seemed closest to the poor); (6) concern for sinners (Jesus was a friend to those deep in sin); (7) stress on the family circle (Jesus' activity included men, women and children, with the setting frequently in the home); (8) repeated use of the title "Son of Man" (e.g., 19:10); (9) emphasis on the Holy Spirit (see note on 4:1).

Sources

Although Luke acknowledges that many others had written of Jesus' life (1:1), he does not indicate that he relied on these reports for his own writing. He used personal investigation and arrangement, based on testimony from "eyewitnesses and servants of the word" (1:2)—including the preaching and oral accounts of the apostles. His language differences from the other Synoptics and his blocks of distinctive material (e.g., 10:1—18:14; 19:1–28) indicate independent work, though he obviously used some of the same sources.

Plan

Luke's account of Jesus' ministry can be divided into three major parts: (1) the events that occurred in and around Galilee (4:14—9:50), (2) those that took place in Judea and Perea (9:51—19:27), and (3) those of the final week in Jerusalem (19:28—24:53). Luke's uniqueness is especially seen in the amount of material devoted to Jesus' closing ministry in Judea and Perea. This material is predominantly made up of accounts of Jesus' discourses. Sixteen of the 23 parables that occur in Luke are found here (9:51—18:14; 19:1–28). Of the 20 miracles recorded in Luke, only 4 appear in these sections. Already in the ninth chapter (see note on 9:51), Jesus is seen anticipating His final appearance in Jerusalem and His crucifixion (see note on 13:22).

The main theme of the Gospel is the nature of Jesus' Messiahship and mission, and a key verse is 19:10.

Introduction

1 Inasmuch as many have undertaken to compile an account of the things [1][a]accomplished among us,

2 just as they were handed down to us by those who [a]from the beginning [1]were [b]eyewitnesses and [2][c]servants of [d]the [3]word,

3 it seemed fitting for me as well, [a]having [1]investigated everything carefully from the beginning, to write it out for you [b]in consecutive order, [c]most excellent [d]Theophilus;

4 so that you may know the exact truth about the things you have been [1][a]taught.

Birth of John the Baptist Foretold

5 [a]In the days of Herod, king of Judea, there was a priest named [1]Zacharias, of the [b]division of [2]Abijah; and he had a wife [3]from the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth.

6 They were both [a]righteous in the sight of God, walking [b]blamelessly in all the commandments and requirements of the Lord.

7 But they had no child, because Elizabeth was barren, and they were both advanced in [1]years.

8 Now it happened that while [a]he was performing his priestly service before God in the appointed order of his division, 9 according to the custom of the priestly office, he was chosen by lot [a]to enter the temple of the Lord and burn incense.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were in prayer [a]outside at the hour of the incense offering.

11 And [a]an angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing to the right of the altar of incense.

12 Zacharias was troubled when he saw the angel, and [a]fear [1]gripped him.

13 But the angel said to him, "[a]Do not be afraid, Zacharias, for your petition has been heard, and your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and [b]you will [1]give him the name John.

14 "You will have joy and gladness, and many will rejoice at his birth.

15 "For he will be great in the sight of the Lord; and he will [a]drink no wine or liquor, and he will be filled with the Holy Spirit [1]while yet in his mother's womb.

16 "And he will [a]turn many of the sons of Israel back to the Lord their God.

17 "It is he who will [a]go as a forerunner before Him in the spirit and power of [b]Elijah, [c]TO TURN THE HEARTS OF THE FATHERS BACK TO THE CHILDREN, and the disobedient to the attitude of the righteous, so as to [a]make ready a people prepared for the Lord."

18 Zacharias said to the angel, "How will

1:1–4 Using language similar to classical Greek, Luke begins with a formal preface, common to historical works of that time, in which he states his purpose for writing and identifies the recipient. He acknowledges other reports on the subject, shows the need for this new work and states his method of approach and sources of information.

1:1 things accomplished among us. Things prophesied in the OT and now fully accomplished.

1:2 handed down. A technical term for passing on information as authoritative tradition. eyewitnesses and servants of the word. Luke, though not an eyewitness himself, received testimony from those who were eyewitnesses and were dedicated to spreading the gospel. Apostolic preaching and interviews with other individuals associated with Jesus' ministry were available to him.

1:3 investigated everything carefully. Luke's account was exact in historical detail, having been checked in every way. Inspiration by the Holy Spirit did not rule out human effort. The account is complete, extending back to the very beginning of Jesus' earthly life. It has an orderly, meaningful arrangement that is generally chronological. most excellent. Paul used this respectful term for governors Felix (Acts 24:3) and Festus (Acts 26:25). Theophilus. See Introduction: Recipient and Purpose.

1:4 so that you may know. Cf. John's purpose for writing (John 20:31).

1:5 Herod, king of Judea. Herod the Great reigned 37–4 B.C., and his kingdom included Samaria, Galilee, much of Perea and Coele-Syria (see note on Matt 2:1). The time referred to here is probably c. 7–6 B.C. Zacharias . . . Elizabeth. Both were of priestly descent from the line of Aaron. division of Abijah. From the time of David the priests were organized into 24 divisions, and Abijah was one of the "priests, the heads of fathers' households" (Neh 12:12; see 1 Chr 24:10).

1:6 righteous . . . blamelessly. They were not sinless, but were faithful and sincere in keeping God's commandments. Simeon (2:25) and Joseph (Matt 1:19) are given similar praise.

1:7 no child. See note on v. 25.

1:9 It was one of the priest's duties to keep the incense burning on the altar in front of the most holy place. He supplied it with fresh incense before the morning sacrifice and again after the evening sacrifice (Ex 30:6–8). Ordinarily a priest would have this privilege very infrequently, and sometimes never, since duty assignments were determined by lot. chosen by lot. See notes on Neh 11:1; Prov 16:33; Jon 1:7; Acts 1:26.

1:11 angel of the Lord. See v. 19. right of the altar. The south side, since the altar faced east.

1:12 fear. A common reaction, as with Gideon (Judg 6:22–23) and Manoah (Judg 13:22).

1:13 Do not be afraid. This word of reassurance is given many times in both OT and NT (see, e.g., v. 30; 2:10 and note; 5:10; 8:50; 12:7,32; Gen 15:1; 21:17; 26:24; Deut 1:21; Josh 8:1). John. The name (derived from Hebrew) means "The LORD is gracious."

1:14 joy. A keynote of these opening chapters (vv. 14,44,47,58; 2:10).

1:15 wine or liquor. It appears likely that John was to be subject to the Nazirite vow of abstinence from alcoholic drinks (Num 6:1–4). If so, he was a lifelong Nazirite, as were Samson (Judg 13:4–7) and Samuel (1 Sam 1:11).

1:17 Elijah. John was not Elijah returning in the flesh (John 1:21), but he functioned like that OT preacher of repentance and was therefore a fulfillment of Mal 4:5–6 (see Matt 11:14; 17:10–13). TO TURN THE HEARTS OF THE FATHERS BACK TO THE CHILDREN. See note on Mal 4:6. people prepared for the Lord. John helped fulfill Isaiah's prophecy (Is 40:3–5), as Luke shows in 3:4–6.

1:18 How will I know this for certain? Like Abraham (Gen 15:8), Gideon (Judg 6:17) and Hezekiah (2 Kin 20:8), Zacharias asked for a sign (cf. 1 Cor 1:22).

I know this for certain? For [a]I am an old man and my wife is advanced in [1]years."

19 The angel answered and said to him, "I am [a]Gabriel, who [1][b]stands in the presence of God, and I have been sent to speak to you and to bring you this good news.

20 "And behold, you shall be silent and unable to speak until the day when these things take place, because you did not believe my words, which will be fulfilled in their proper time."

21 The people were waiting for Zacharias, and were wondering at his delay in the temple.

22 But when he came out, he was unable to speak to them; and they realized that he had seen a vision in the temple; and he [a]kept [1]making signs to them, and remained mute.

23 When the days of his priestly service were ended, he went back home.

24 After these days Elizabeth his wife became pregnant, and she [1]kept herself in seclusion for five months, saying,

25 "This is the way the Lord has dealt with me in the days when He looked with favor upon me, to [a]take away my disgrace among men."

Jesus' Birth Foretold

26 Now in the sixth month the angel [a]Gabriel was sent from God to a city in Galilee called [b]Nazareth, 27 to [a]a virgin [1]engaged to a man whose name was Joseph, [b]of the [2]descendants of David; and the virgin's name was [3]Mary.

28 And coming in, he said to her, "Greetings, [1]favored one! The Lord [2]is with you."

29 But she [a]was very perplexed at this statement, and kept pondering what kind of salutation this was.

31 "And behold, you will conceive in your womb and bear a son, and you [a]shall name Him Jesus.

32 "He will be great and will be called the Son of [a]the Most High; and the Lord God will give Him [b]the throne of His father David;

33 [a]and He will reign over the house of Jacob forever, [b]and His kingdom will have no end."

34 Mary said to the angel, "How [1]can this be, since I [2]am a virgin?"

35 The angel answered and said to her, "[a]The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of [b]the Most High will overshadow you; and for that reason [c]the [1]holy Child shall be called [d]the Son of God.

36 "And behold, even your relative Elizabeth has also conceived a son in her old age; and [1]she who was called barren is now in her sixth month.

37 "For [1][a]nothing will be impossible with God."

38 And Mary said, "Behold, the [1]bondslave of the Lord; may it be done to me according to your word." And the angel departed from her.

Mary Visits Elizabeth

39 Now [1]at this time Mary arose and went in a hurry to [a]the hill country, to a city of Judah, 40 and entered the house of Zacharias and greeted Elizabeth.

1:19 Gabriel. The name can mean "God is my hero" or "mighty man of God." Only two angels are identified by name in Scripture: Gabriel (Dan 8:16; 9:21) and Michael (Dan 10:13,21; Jude 9; Rev 12:7).

1:21 The people were waiting for Zacharias. They were waiting for him to come out of the holy place and pronounce the Aaronic blessing (Num 6:24–26).

1:23 the days of his priestly service. Each priest was responsible for a week's service at the temple once every six months. home. See v. 39.

1:24 kept herself in seclusion. In joy, devotion and gratitude that the Lord had taken away her childlessness.

1:25 the Lord has . . . looked with favor upon me, to take away my disgrace. Not only did lack of children deprive the parents of personal happiness, but it was generally considered to indicate divine disfavor and often brought social reproach (see Gen 16:2, Sarai; 25:21, Rebekah; 30:23, Rachel; 1 Sam 1:1–18, Hannah; see also Lev 20:20–21; Ps 128:3; Jer 22:30).

1:26–35 This section speaks clearly of the virginal conception of Jesus (vv. 27,34–35; see Matt 1:18–25). The conception was the work of the Holy Spirit; the eternal Second Person of the Trinity, while remaining God, also "became flesh" (John 1:14). From conception He was fully God and fully man.

1:26 in the sixth month. That is, from the time of John's conception. Nazareth. See note on Matt 2:23.

1:27 engaged. See note on Matt 1:18.

1:31 Jesus. See note on Matt 1:21 for the meaning of this name.

1:32 the Son of the Most High. This title has two senses: (1) the divine Son of God and (2) the Messiah born in time. His Messiahship is clearly referred to in the following context (vv. 32b–33). Most High. A title frequently used of God in both the OT and NT (see vv. 35,76; 6:35; 8:28; Gen 14:19 and note; 2 Sam 22:14). throne. Promised in the OT to the Messiah descended from David (2 Sam 7:13,16; Ps 2:6–7; 89:26–27; Is 9:6–7). His father David. Mary was a descendant of David, as was Joseph (see Matt 1:16); so Jesus could rightly be called a "son" of David.

1:33 forever. See Ps 45:6; Rev 11:15. His kingdom will have no end. Although Christ's role as mediator will one day be finished (see 1 Cor 15:24–28), the kingdom of the Father and Son, as one, will never end.

1:34 How can this be . . . ? Mary did not ask in disbelief, as Zacharias did (v. 20). See v. 45.

1:35 holy Child. Jesus never sinned (2 Cor 5:21; Heb 4:15; 7:26; 1 Pet 2:22; 1 John 3:5).

1:36 your relative Elizabeth. It is not known whether she was a cousin, aunt or other relation.

41 When Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, the baby leaped in her womb; and Elizabeth was [a]filled with the Holy Spirit.

42 And she cried out with a loud voice and said, "Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb!

43 "And [1]how has it happened to me, that the mother of [a]my Lord would come to me?

44 "For behold, when the sound of your greeting reached my ears, the baby leaped in my womb for joy.

45 "And [a]blessed is she who [1]believed that there would be a fulfillment of what had been spoken to her [2]by the Lord."

The Magnificat

46 And Mary said:

"[a]My soul [1][b]exalts the Lord,

47 And [a]my spirit has rejoiced in [b]God my Savior.

48 "For [a]He has had regard for the humble state of His [1]bondslave;
For behold, from this time on all generations will count me [b]blessed.

49 "For the Mighty One has done great things for me;
And holy is His name.

50 "[a]AND HIS MERCY IS [1]UPON GENERATION AFTER GENERATION TOWARD THOSE WHO FEAR HIM.

51 "[a]He has done [1]mighty deeds with His arm;
He has scattered those who were proud in the [2]thoughts of their heart.

52 "He has brought down rulers from their thrones,
And has [a]exalted those who were humble.

53 "[a]HE HAS FILLED THE HUNGRY WITH GOOD THINGS;
And sent away the rich empty-handed.

54 "He has given help to Israel His servant,
[1]In remembrance of His mercy,

55 [a]As He spoke to our fathers,
[b]To Abraham and his [1]descendants forever."

56 And Mary stayed with her about three months, and then returned to her home.

John Is Born

57 Now the time [1]had come for Elizabeth to give birth, and she gave birth to a son.

58 Her neighbors and her relatives heard that the Lord had [1][a]displayed His great mercy toward her; and they were rejoicing with her.

59 And it happened that on [a]the eighth day they came to circumcise the child, and they were going to call him Zacharias, [1]after his father.

60 But his mother answered and said, "No indeed; but [a]he shall be called John."

61 And they said to her, "There is no one among your relatives who is called by that name."

62 And they [a]made signs to his father, as to what he wanted him called.

63 And he asked for a tablet and wrote as follows, "[a]His name is John." And they were all astonished.

64 [a]And at once his mouth was opened and his tongue loosed, and he began to speak in praise of God.

65 Fear came on all those living around them; and all these matters were being talked about in all [a]the hill country of Judea.

66 All who heard them kept them in mind, saying, "What then will this child turn out to be?" For [a]the hand of the Lord was certainly with him.

Zacharias's Prophecy

67 And his father Zacharias [a]was filled with the Holy Spirit, and [b]prophesied, saying:

1:44 for joy. In some mysterious way the Holy Spirit produced this remarkable response in the unborn baby.

1:46–55 One of four hymns preserved in Luke 1–2 (see vv. 68–79; 2:14; 2:29–32 and notes). This hymn of praise is known as the Magnificat because in the Latin Vulgate translation the opening word is Magnificat, which means "glorifies." This song is like a psalm, and should also be compared with the song of Hannah (1 Sam 2:1–10; see note on 1 Sam 2:1).

1:50 THOSE WHO FEAR HIM. Those who revere God and live in harmony with His will.

1:51 His arm. A figurative description of God's powerful acts. God does not have a body; He is spirit (John 4:24).

1:53 HUNGRY. Both physically and spiritually (Matt 5:6; John 6:35). The coming of God's kingdom will bring changes affecting every area of life.

1:54 In remembrance of His mercy. The song ends with an assurance that God will be true to His promises to His people (see Gen 22:16–18).

1:56 three months. Mary evidently remained with Elizabeth until John's birth and then returned to her home in Nazareth.

1:59 call him . . . after his father. An accepted practice in that day, as seen in Josephus (Life, 1).

1:62 they made signs to his father. Apparently assuming that since he was mute he was also deaf.

1:63 a tablet. Probably a small wooden board covered with wax.

1:67 filled with the Holy Spirit . . . prophesied. Prophecy not only predicts but also proclaims God's word. Both Zacharias and Elizabeth (vv. 41–45) were enabled by the Holy Spirit to express what otherwise they could not have formulated.

1:68–79 This hymn is called Benedictus ("Praise be") because the opening word in the Latin Vulgate translation is Benedictus. Whereas the Magnificat (see note on 1:46–55) is similar to a psalm, the Benedictus is more like a prophecy.

1:68 accomplished redemption for His people. Not limited to national security (v. 71), but including moral and spiritual salvation (vv. 75,77).

69 And has raised up a [a]horn of salvation for us
In the house of David [b]His servant—70 [a]As He spoke by the mouth of His holy prophets [b]from of old—
71 [1][a]Salvation [b]FROM OUR ENEMIES,
And FROM THE HAND OF ALL WHO HATE
US;
72 [a]To show mercy toward our fathers,
[b]And to remember His holy covenant,
73 [a]The oath which He swore to Abraham our father,
74 To grant us that we, being rescued from the hand of our enemies,
Might serve Him without fear,
75 [a]In holiness and righteousness before
Him all our days.
76 "And you, child, will be called the
[a]prophet of [b]the Most High;
For you will go on [c]BEFORE THE LORD TO [d]PREPARE HIS WAYS;
77 To give to His people the knowledge of salvation
[1]By [a]the forgiveness of their sins,
78 Because of the tender mercy of our God,
With which [a]the Sunrise from on high will visit us,
79 [a]TO SHINE UPON THOSE WHO SIT IN DARKNESS AND THE SHADOW OF DEATH,
To guide our feet into the [b]way of peace."
80 [a]And the child continued to grow and to become strong in spirit, and he lived in the deserts until the day of his public appearance to Israel.

Jesus' Birth in Bethlehem

2 Now in those days a decree went out from [a]Caesar Augustus, that a census be taken of [b]all [1]the inhabited earth.

2 [1]This was the first census taken while [2]Quirinius was governor of [a]Syria.

3 And everyone was on his way to register for the census, each to his own city.

4 Joseph also went up from Galilee, from the city of Nazareth, to Judea, to the city of David which is called Bethlehem, because [a]he was of the house and family of David,

5 in order to register along with Mary, who was engaged to him, and was with child.

6 While they were there, the days were completed for her to give birth.

7 And she [a]gave birth to her firstborn son; and she wrapped Him in cloths, and laid Him in a [1]manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.

8 In the same region there were some shepherds staying out in the fields and keeping watch over their flock by night.

9 And [a]an angel of the Lord suddenly [b]stood before them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them; and they were terribly frightened.

10 But the angel said to them, "[a]Do not be afraid; for behold, I bring you good news of great joy which will be for all the people;

1:69 horn. Here symbolizes strength, as in the horn of an animal (Deut 33:17; Ps 22:21; Mic 4:13). Jesus, the Messiah from the house of David, has the power to save.

1:74 we, being rescued. No doubt including liberation from all kinds of oppression and bondage as well as deliverance from sin.

1:76 called the prophet of the Most High. Whereas Jesus will be called "the Son of the Most High" (see v. 32 and note). PREPARE HIS WAYS. See note on 3:4.

1:78 the Sunrise. A reference to the coming of the Messiah (see also similar figures in Num 24:17; Is 9:2; 60:1; Mal 4:2). Zacharias not only praised his own son, the "prophet of the Most High" (vv. 76–77), but also gave honor to the coming Messiah (vv. 78–79).

1:79 THOSE WHO SIT IN DARKNESS. The lost, separated from God (Is 9:1–2; Matt 4:16). peace. See note on 2:14.

1:80 lived in the deserts. John's parents, old at his birth, probably died while he was young, and he apparently grew up in the Desert of Judea, which lies between Jerusalem and the Dead Sea. until . . . his public appearance. John's preaching and announcing the coming of the Messiah marked his public appearance. He was about 30 years old when he began his ministry (see note on 3:23).

2:1 Luke is the only Gospel writer who relates his narrative to dates of world history. Caesar Augustus. The first and (according to many) greatest Roman emperor (31 B.C.–A.D. 14). Having replaced the republic with an imperial form of government, he expanded the empire to include the entire Mediterranean world, established the famed Pax Romana ("Roman Peace") and ushered in the golden age of Roman literature and architecture. Augustus (which means "exalted") was a title voted to him by the Roman senate in 27 B.C. census. Used for military service and taxation. Jews, however, were exempt from Roman military service. God used the decree of a pagan emperor to fulfill the prophecy of Mic 5:2. inhabited earth. The Roman world. See map No. 13 at the end of the study Bible.

2:2 Quirinius. This official was possibly in office for two terms, first 6–4 B.C. and then A.D. 6–9. A census is associated with each term. This is the first; Acts 5:37 refers to the second.

2:3 own city. Probably the city of their ancestral origin.

2:4 Nazareth . . . Bethlehem. Bethlehem, the town where David was born (1 Sam 17:12; 20:6), was at least a three-day trip from Nazareth. Judea. The Greco-Roman designation for the southern part of the Holy Land, earlier included in the kingdom of Judah.

2:5 with Mary. Mary too was of the house of David and probably was required to enroll. In Syria, the Roman province in which the Holy Land was located, women 12 years of age and older were required to pay a poll tax and therefore to register. engaged. See note on Matt 1:18.

2:7 cloths. Strips of cloth were regularly used to wrap a newborn infant. manger. The feeding trough of the animals. This is the only indication that Christ was born in a stable. Very early tradition suggests that it was a cave, perhaps used as a stable.

2:8 staying out in the fields. Does not necessarily mean it was summer, the dry season. The flocks reserved for temple sacrifice were kept in the fields near Bethlehem throughout the year. keeping watch. Against thieves and predatory animals.

2:9 an angel of the Lord. A designation used throughout the birth narratives (see 1:11; Matt 1:20,24; 2:13,19). The angel in 1:11 is identified as Gabriel (1:19; see 1:26).

2:10 Do not be afraid. Fear was the common reaction to angelic appearances (see note on 1:13), and encouragement was needed.

11 for today in the city of David there has been born for you a [a]Savior, who is [1b]Christ
[c]the Lord.
12 "[a]This will be a sign for you: you will find a baby wrapped in cloths and lying in a [1]manger."
13 And suddenly there appeared with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying,
14 "[a]Glory to God in the highest,
And on earth peace among men
[1b]with whom He is pleased."
15 When the angels had gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds began saying to one another, "Let us go straight to Bethlehem then, and see this thing that has happened which the Lord has made known to us."
16 So they came in a hurry and found their way to Mary and Joseph, and the baby as He lay in the [1]manger.
17 When they had seen this, they made known the statement which had been told them about this Child.
18 And all who heard it wondered at the things which were told them by the shepherds.
19 But Mary [a]treasured all these things, pondering them in her heart.
20 The shepherds went back, [a]glorifying and praising God for all that they had heard and seen, just as had been told them.

Jesus Presented at the Temple

21 And when [a]eight days had passed,
[1]before His circumcision, [b]His name was then called Jesus, the name given by the angel before He was conceived in the womb.
22 [a]And when the days for their purification according to the law of Moses were completed, they brought Him up to Jerusalem to present Him to the Lord
23 (as it is written in the Law of the Lord,
"[a]EVERY firstborn MALE THAT OPENS THE WOMB SHALL BE CALLED HOLY TO THE LORD"), 24 and to offer a sacrifice according to what was said in the Law of the Lord, "[a]A PAIR OF TURTLEDOVES OR TWO YOUNG PIGEONS."
25 And there was a man in Jerusalem whose name was Simeon; and this man was [a]righteous and devout, [b]looking for the consolation of Israel; and the Holy Spirit was upon him.
26 And [a]it had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not [b]see death before he had seen the Lord's [1]Christ.
27 And he came in the Spirit into the temple; and when the parents brought in the child Jesus, [1a]to carry out for Him the custom of the Law,
28 then he took Him into his arms, and blessed God, and said, 29 "Now Lord, You are releasing Your bond-servant to depart in peace,
[a]According to Your word;
30 For my eyes have [a]seen Your salvation,
31 Which You have prepared in the presence of all peoples,

Israel."

2:11 city of David. Bethlehem. Savior. Many Jews were looking for a political leader to deliver them from Roman rule, while others were hoping for a savior to deliver them from sickness and physical hardship. But this announcement concerns the Savior who would deliver from sin and death (see Matt 1:21; John 4:42). Christ. Or Messiah. "The Christ" (Greek) and "the Messiah" (Hebrew) both mean "the Anointed One." the Lord. A designation originally reserved for God but later applied to the Messiah as well (see Acts 2:36; Phil 2:11).

2:14 See note on 1:46–55. This brief hymn is called the Gloria in Excelsis Deo, from the first words of the Latin Vulgate translation (meaning "Glory to God in the Highest"). The angels recognized the glory and majesty of God by giving praise to Him. in the highest. A reference to heaven, where God dwells (cf. Matt 6:9). peace among men with whom He is pleased. Peace is not assured to all, but only to those pleasing to God—the objects of His good pleasure (see Luke's use of the words "well-pleased," "well-pleasing," and "gladly" elsewhere: 3:22; 10:21; 12:32). The Roman world was experiencing the Pax Romana ("Roman Peace"), marked by external tranquility. But the angels proclaimed a deeper, more lasting peace than that—a peace of mind and soul made possible by the Savior (v. 11). Peace with God is received by faith in Christ (Rom 5:1), and it is believers "with whom He is pleased." The Davidic Messiah was called "Prince of Peace" (Is 9:6), and Christ promised peace to His disciples (John 14:27). But Christ also brought conflict (the "sword"; see Matt 10:34–36; cf. Luke 12:49), for peace with God involves opposition to Satan and his work (James 4:4).

2:20 praising God. Terms of praise and giving glory to God often used by Luke (1:64; 2:13,28; 5:25–26; 7:16; 13:13; 17:15,18; 18:43; 19:37; 23:47; 24:53).

2:22 their purification. Following the birth of a son, the mother had to wait 40 days before going to the temple to offer sacrifice for her purification. If she could not afford a lamb and a pigeon (or dove), then two pigeons (or doves) would be acceptable (Lev 12:2–8; cf. Lev 5:11). to Jerusalem. The distance from Bethlehem to Jerusalem was only about six miles. present Him to the Lord. The firstborn of both man and animal were to be dedicated to the Lord (see v. 23; Ex 13:12–13). The animals were sacrificed, but the human beings were to serve God throughout their lives. The Levites actually served in the place of all the firstborn males in Israel (see Num 3:11–13; 8:17–18).

2:25 the consolation of Israel. The comfort the Messiah would bring to His people at His coming (see vv. 26,38; 23:51; 24:21; Is 40:1–2; Matt 5:4). the Holy Spirit was upon him. Not in the way common to all believers after Pentecost. Simeon was given a special insight by the Spirit so that he would recognize the "Christ."

2:29–32 See note on 1:46–55. This hymn of Simeon has been called the Nunc Dimittis, from the first words of the Latin Vulgate translation, meaning "[You] now dismiss."

2:31 all peoples. As a Gentile himself, Luke was careful to emphasize the truth that salvation was offered for the Gentiles (v. 32) as well as for Jews.

33 And His father and [a]mother were amazed at the things which were being said about Him.

34 And Simeon blessed them and said to Mary [a]His mother, "Behold, this Child is appointed for [b]the fall and [1]rise of many in Israel, and for a sign to be opposed—

35 and a sword will pierce even your own soul—to the end that thoughts from many hearts may be revealed."

36 And there was a [a]prophetess, [1]Anna the daughter of Phanuel, of [b]the tribe of Asher. She was advanced in [2]years [c]and had lived with her husband seven years after her [3]marriage, 37 and then as a widow to the age of eighty-four. She never left the temple, serving night and day with [a]fastings and prayers.

38 At that very [1]moment she came up and began giving thanks to God, and continued to speak of Him to all those who were [a]looking for the redemption of Jerusalem.

Return to Nazareth

39 When they had performed everything according to the Law of the Lord, they returned to Galilee, to [a]their own city of Nazareth.

40 [a]The Child continued to grow and become strong, [1]increasing in wisdom; and the grace of God was upon Him.

Visit to Jerusalem

41 Now His parents went to Jerusalem every year at [a]the Feast of the Passover.

42 And when He became twelve, they went up there according to the custom of the Feast;

43 and as they were returning, after spending the [a]full number of days, the boy Jesus stayed behind in Jerusalem. But His parents were unaware of it, 44 but supposed Him to be in the caravan, and went a day's journey; and they began looking for Him among their relatives and acquaintances.

45 When they did not find Him, they returned to Jerusalem looking for Him.

46 Then, after three days they found Him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the teachers, both listening to them and asking them questions.

47 And all who heard Him [a]were amazed at His understanding and His answers.

48 When they saw Him, they were astonished; and [a]His mother said to Him, "[1]Son, why have You treated us this way? Behold, [b]Your father and I [2]have been anxiously looking for You."

49 And He said to them, "Why is it that you were looking for Me? Did you not know that [a]I had to be in My Father's [1]house?"

50 But [a]they did not understand the statement which He [1]had made to them.

51 And He went down with them and came to [a]Nazareth, and He continued in subjection to them; and [b]His mother [c]treasured all these [1]things in her heart.

52 And Jesus kept increasing in wisdom and [1]stature, and in [a]favor with God and men.

2:33 His father. Luke, aware of the virgin birth of Jesus (1:26–35), is referring to Joseph as Jesus' legal father.
2:34 fall and rise of many in Israel. Christ raises up those who believe in Him, but is a stumbling block for those who disbelieve (see 20:17–18; 1 Cor 1:23; 1 Pet 2:6–8). sign to be opposed. Christ points to the Father and His love for sinners, and those who oppose Him also oppose the Father.
2:35 sword will pierce even your own soul. The word "even" indicates that Mary, as well as Jesus, would suffer deep anguish—the first reference in this Gospel to Christ's suffering and death.
2:36 prophetess. Other prophetesses were Miriam (Ex 15:20), Deborah (Judg 4:4), Huldah (2 Kin 22:14) and the daughters of Philip (Acts 21:9). Anna. Same name as OT Hannah (1 Sam 1:2), which means "gracious." Anna praised God for the child Jesus as Hannah had praised God for the child Samuel (1 Sam 2:1–10).
2:37 never left the temple. Herod's temple was quite large and included rooms for various uses, and Anna may have been allowed to live in one of them. This statement, however, probably means that she spent her waking hours attending and worshiping in the temple.
2:38 Jerusalem. The holy city of God's chosen people (Is 40:2; 52:9); here it stands for Israel as a whole.
2:39 they returned to Galilee. Luke does not mention the coming of the Magi, the danger from Herod, or the flight to and return from Egypt (cf. Matt 2:1–23).
2:41 Feast of the Passover. Annual attendance at three feasts by all adult males (normally accompanied by their families) was commanded in the law: Passover, Pentecost and Booths (see notes on Ex 23:14–17; Deut 16:16). Distance prevented many from attending all three, but most Jews tried to be at Passover.
2:42 twelve. At age 12 boys began preparing to take their places in the religious community the following year.
2:46 three days. One day traveling away from Jerusalem, a second traveling back and a third looking for Him. the teachers. The rabbis, experts in Judaism.
2:49 in My Father's house. Jesus pointed to His personal duty to His Father in heaven. He contrasted His "My Father" with Mary's "Your father" (v. 48). At 12 years of age He was aware of His unique relationship to God. But He was also obedient to His earthly parents (v. 51).
2:52 Luke appears to have borrowed the words of 1 Sam 2:26. And Jesus kept increasing. Although Jesus was God, there is no indication that He had all knowledge and wisdom from birth. He seems to have matured like any other boy.
3:1–2 Historians frequently dated an event by giving the year of the ruler's reign in which the event happened.
3:1 fifteenth year. Several possible dates could be indicated by this description, but the date A.D. 25–26 (Tiberius had authority in the provinces beginning in 11) best fits the chronology of the life of Christ. The other rulers named do not help pinpoint the beginning of John's ministry, but only serve to indicate the general historical period. Pontius Pilate. The Roman prefect

3 And he came into all [a]the district around the Jordan, preaching a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins;

4 as it is written in the book of the words of Isaiah the prophet,

"[a]THE VOICE OF ONE CRYING IN THE WILDERNESS,
'MAKE READY THE WAY OF THE LORD,
MAKE HIS PATHS STRAIGHT.
5 'EVERY RAVINE WILL BE FILLED,
AND EVERY MOUNTAIN AND HILL WILL BE [1]BROUGHT LOW;
THE CROOKED WILL BECOME STRAIGHT, AND THE ROUGH ROADS SMOOTH;
6 AND ALL [1]FLESH WILL [b]SEE THE SALVATION OF GOD.' "

7 So he began saying to the crowds who were going out to be baptized by him, "[a]You brood of vipers, who warned you to flee from the wrath to come?

8 "Therefore bear fruits in keeping with repentance, and [a]do not begin to say [1]to yourselves, '[b]We have Abraham for our father,' for I say to you that from these stones God is able to raise up children to Abraham.

9 "Indeed the axe is already laid at the root of the trees; so [a]every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire."

10 And the crowds were questioning him, saying, "[a]Then what shall we do?"

11 And he would answer and say to them, "The man who has two tunics is to [a]share with him who has none; and he who has food is to do likewise."

12 And some [a]tax collectors also came to be baptized, and they said to him, "Teacher, what shall we do?"

13 And he said to them, "[1]Collect no more than what you have been ordered to."

14 Some soldiers were questioning him, saying, "And what about us, what shall we do?" And he said to them, "Do not take money from anyone by force, or [a]accuse anyone falsely, and [b]be content with your wages."

15 Now while the people were in a state of expectation and all were [1]wondering in their hearts about John, [a]as to whether he was [2]the Christ,

16 [a]John answered and said to them all, "As for me, I baptize you with water; but One is coming who is mightier than I, and I am not fit to untie the thong of His sandals; He will baptize you [1]with the Holy Spirit and fire.

17 "His [a]winnowing fork is in His hand to thoroughly clear His threshing floor, and to gather the wheat into His barn; but He will burn up the chaff with [b]unquenchable fire."

18 So with many other exhortations he preached the gospel to the people.

19 But when [a]Herod the tetrarch was reprimanded by him because of [a]Herodias, his who then ruled in Judea, Samaria and Idumea. Herod was tetrarch of Galilee. At the death of Herod the Great (4 B.C.), his sons—Archelaus, Herod Antipas and Herod Philip—were given jurisdiction over his divided kingdom. Herod Antipas became the tetrarch of Galilee and Perea (see note on Matt 14:1). Lysanias was tetrarch of Abilene. Nothing more is known of this Lysanias than that his name has been found in certain inscriptions.

3:2 the high priesthood of Annas and Caiaphas. Annas was high priest from A.D. 6 until he was deposed by the Roman official Gratus in 15. He was followed by his son Eleazar, his son-in-law Caiaphas and then four more sons. Even though Rome had replaced Annas, the Jews continued to recognize his authority (see John 18:13; Acts 4:6); so Luke included his name as well as that of the Roman appointee, Caiaphas. word of God. The source of John's preaching and authority for his baptizing. God's message came to John as it came to the OT prophets (cf. Jer 1:2; Ezek 1:3; Hos 1:1; Joel 1:1). wilderness. Refers to a desolate, uninhabited area, not necessarily a sandy, waterless place.

3:3 baptism of repentance. See note on Matt 3:11. John's baptism represented a change of heart, which includes sorrow for sin and a determination to lead a holy life. forgiveness of sins. Christ would deliver the repentant person from sin's penalty by dying on the cross.

3:4 MAKE READY THE WAY. Before a king made a journey to a distant country, the roads he would travel were improved. Similarly, preparation for the Messiah was made in a moral and spiritual way by the ministry of John, which focused on repentance and forgiveness of sin and the need for a Savior.

3:6 ALL FLESH. God's salvation was to be made known to both Jews and Gentiles—a major theme of Luke's Gospel (see note on 2:31).

3:7 the wrath to come. A reference to both the destruction of Jerusalem (21:20–23), which occurred in A.D. 70, and the final judgment (John 3:36). But see notes on 1 Thess 1:10; 5:9.

3:9 axe . . . at the root. A symbolic way of saying that judgment is near for those who give no evidence of repentance. fire. A symbol of judgment (Matt 7:19; 13:40–42).

3:11 two tunics. A tunic was something like a long undershirt. Since two such garments were not needed, the second should be given to a person in need of one (see 9:3).

3:12 tax collectors. Taxes were collected for the Roman government by Jewish agents, who were especially detested for helping the pagan conqueror and for frequently defrauding their own people.

3:14 soldiers. Limited military forces were allowed for certain Jewish leaders and institutions (such as those of Herod Antipas, the police guard of the temple, and escorts for tax collectors). The professions of tax collector and soldier as such were not condemned, but the common unethical practices associated with them were.

3:16 baptize you with the Holy Spirit. Fulfilled at Pentecost (Acts 1:5; 2:4,38). and fire. Here fire is associated with judgment (v. 17). See also the fire of Pentecost (Acts 2:3) and the fire of testing (1 Cor 3:13).

3:17 His winnowing fork. See note on Ruth 1:22. The chaff represents the unrepentant and the wheat the righteous. Many Jews thought that only pagans would be judged and punished when the Messiah came, but John declared that judgment would come to all who did not repent—including Jews.

3:19 Herod . . . was reprimanded . . . because of Herodias. Her-brother's wife, and because of all the wicked things which [b]Herod had done, 20 Herod also added this to them all: [a]he locked John up in prison.

Jesus Is Baptized

21 [a]Now when all the people were baptized, Jesus was also baptized, and while He was [b]praying, heaven was opened,

22 and the Holy Spirit descended upon Him in bodily form like a dove, and a voice came out of heaven, "[a]You are My beloved Son, in You I am well-pleased."

od Antipas had married the daughter of Aretas IV of Arabia, but divorced her to marry his own niece, Herodias, who was already his brother's (Herod Philip's) wife (see Matt 14:3; Mark 6:17).

3:20 locked John up in prison. According to Josephus, John was imprisoned in Machaerus, east of the Dead Sea (Antiquities, 18.5.2). This did not occur until sometime after the beginning of Jesus' ministry (see John 3:22–24), but Luke mentions it here in order to conclude his section on John's ministry before beginning his account of the beginning of Jesus' ministry (see also Matt 4:12; Mark 1:14). He later briefly alludes to John's death (9:7–9).

3:21 baptized. See note on Matt 3:15. while He was praying. Only Luke notes Jesus' praying at the time of His baptism. Jesus in prayer is one of the special themes of Luke (see 5:16; 6:12; 9:18,28–29; 11:1; 22:32,41; 23:34,46).

3:22 Holy Spirit descended. Luke specifies "in bodily form." To John, it was a sign (see John 1:32–34; see also note on Mark 1:10). You are My beloved Son. See Ps 2:7; Is 42:1; Heb 1:5. Two other times the Gospel writers record the declarations of a voice from heaven addressing Jesus: (1) on the Mount of Transfiguration (9:35), and (2) in the temple area during Jesus' final week (John 12:28).

3:23–38 There are several differences between Luke's genealogy and Matthew's (1:2–16). Matthew begins with Abraham (the father of the Jewish people), while Luke traces the line in the reverse order and goes back to Adam, showing Jesus' relationship to the whole human race (see note on 2:31). From Abraham to David, the genealogies of Matthew and Luke are almost the same, but from David on they are different. Some scholars suggest that this is because Matthew traces the legal descent of the house of David using only heirs to the throne, while Luke traces the complete line of Joseph to David. A more likely explanation, however, is that Matthew follows the line of Joseph (Jesus' legal father), while Luke emphasizes that of Mary (Jesus' blood relative). Although tracing a genealogy through the mother's side was unusual, so was the virgin birth. Luke's explanation here that Jesus was the son of Joseph, "as was supposed" (v. 23), brings to mind his explicit virgin birth statement (1:34–35) and suggests the importance of the role of Mary in Jesus' genealogy.

3:23 about thirty years of age. Luke, a historian, relates the beginning of Jesus' public ministry both to world history (see vv. 1–2) and to the rest of Jesus' life. Thirty was the age when a Levite undertook his service (Num 4:47) and when a man was considered mature. as was supposed. Luke had already affirmed the virgin birth (1:34–35), and here makes clear again that Joseph was not Jesus' physical father.

4:1 full of the Holy Spirit. Luke emphasizes the Holy Spirit not only in his Gospel (1:35,41,67; 2:25–27; 3:16,22; 4:14,18; 10:21; 11:13; 12:10,12) but also in Acts, where the Spirit is mentioned 55 times. in the wilderness. The Desert of Judea (see Matt 3:1; see also note on 1:80).

4:2 being tempted. See notes on Matt 4:1–11; Heb 2:18; 4:15. Luke states that Jesus was tempted for the 40 days He was fasting, and the three specific temptations recounted in Matthew and Luke seem to have occurred at the close of this period—

3 And the devil said to Him, "If You are the Son of God, tell this stone to become bread."

4 And Jesus answered him, "It is written, '[a]MAN SHALL NOT LIVE ON BREAD ALONE.' "

5 [a]And he led Him up and showed Him all the kingdoms of [1][b]the world in a moment of time.

6 And the devil said to Him, "I will give You all this domain and [1]its glory; [a]for it has been handed over to me, and I give it to whomever I wish.

7 "Therefore if You [1]worship before me, it shall all be Yours."

8 Jesus answered him, "It is written, '[a]YOU SHALL WORSHIP THE LORD YOUR GOD AND SERVE HIM ONLY.' "

9 [a]And he led Him to Jerusalem and had Him stand on the pinnacle of the temple, and said to Him, "If You are the Son of God, throw Yourself down from here;

10 for it is written,

'[a]HE WILL COMMAND HIS ANGELS
CONCERNING YOU TO GUARD YOU,'

11 and,

'[a]ON their HANDS THEY WILL BEAR YOU UP,
SO THAT YOU WILL NOT STRIKE YOUR FOOT
AGAINST A STONE.' "

12 And Jesus answered and said to him, "It is said, '[a]YOU SHALL NOT PUT THE LORD YOUR GOD TO THE TEST.' "

13 When the devil had finished every temptation, he left Him until an opportune time.

Jesus' Public Ministry

14 And [a]Jesus returned to Galilee in the power of the Spirit, and [b]news about Him spread through all the surrounding district.

15 And He began [a]teaching in their synagogues and was praised by all.

16 And He came to [a]Nazareth, where He had been brought up; and as was His custom, [b]He entered the synagogue on the Sabbath, and [c]stood up to read.

17 And the [1]book of the prophet Isaiah was handed to Him. And He opened the [1]book and found the place where it was written,

AND RECOVERY OF SIGHT TO THE BLIND,

20 And He [a]closed the [1]book, gave it back to the attendant and [b]sat down; and the eyes of all in the synagogue were fixed on Him.

21 And He began to say to them, "Today this Scripture has been fulfilled in your [1]hearing."

22 And all were [1]speaking well of Him, and wondering at the [2]gracious words which [3]were falling from His lips; and they were saying, "[a]Is this not Joseph's son?"

23 And He said to them, "No doubt you will quote this proverb to Me, 'Physician, when Jesus' hunger was greatest and His resistance lowest. The sequence of the second and third temptations differs in Matthew and Luke. Matthew probably followed the chronological order, since at the end of the mountain temptation (Matthew's third) Jesus told Satan to leave (Matt 4:10). To emphasize a certain point the Gospel writers often bring various events together, not intending to give chronological sequence. Perhaps Luke's focus here is geographical, as he concludes with Jesus in Jerusalem.

4:3 If You are. See note on Matt 4:3. tell this stone to become bread. The devil always makes his temptations seem attractive.

4:7 worship before me. The devil was tempting Jesus to avoid the sufferings of the cross, which He came specifically to endure (Mark 10:45). The temptation offered an easy shortcut to world dominion.

4:9 the pinnacle of the temple. Either the southeast corner of the temple colonnade, from which there was a drop of some 100 feet to the Kidron Valley below, or the pinnacle of the temple proper. If You are. See note on Matt 4:3. throw Yourself down. Satan was tempting Jesus to test God's faithfulness and to attract public attention dramatically.

4:10 for it is written. This time Satan also quoted Scripture, though he misused Ps 91:11–12.

4:12 Jesus answered with Scripture from Deuteronomy (6:16) as He did on the first (Deut 8:3) and second (Deut 6:13) temptations.

4:13 he left Him until an opportune time. Satan continued his testing throughout Jesus' ministry (see Mark 8:33), culminating in the supreme test at Gethsemane.

4:14 in the power of the Spirit. See note on v. 1.

4:15 began teaching in their synagogues. See note on Mark 1:21.

4:16 He came to Nazareth. Not at the start of His ministry but perhaps almost a year later (v. 23 presupposes that Jesus had already been ministering). Probably all the events of John 1:19–4:42 occurred between Luke 4:13 and 4:14. as was His custom. Jesus' custom of regular worship sets an example for all His followers. to read. Jesus probably read from Isaiah in Hebrew, and then He or someone else paraphrased it in Aramaic, one of the other common languages of the day.

4:17 the book of the prophet Isaiah. The books of the OT were written on scrolls, kept in a special place in the synagogue and handed to the reader by a special attendant. The passage Jesus read about the Messiah (Is 61:1–2) may have been one He chose to read, or it may have been the assigned passage for the day.

4:18 This verse tells of the Messiah's ministry of preaching and healing—to meet every human need. HE ANOINTED ME. Not with literal oil (see Ex 30:22–31), but with the Holy Spirit.

4:19 THE FAVORABLE YEAR OF THE LORD. Not a calendar year, but the period when salvation would be proclaimed—the Messianic age. This quotation from Is 61:1–2 alludes to the year of jubilee (Lev 25:8–55), when once every 50 years slaves were freed, debts were canceled and ancestral property was returned to the original family. Isaiah predicted primarily the liberation of Israel from the future Babylonian captivity, but Jesus proclaimed liberation from sin and all its consequences.

4:20 sat down. It was customary to stand while reading Scripture (v. 16) but to sit while teaching (see Matt 5:1; 26:55; John 8:2; Acts 16:13).

heal yourself! Whatever we heard was done [a]at Capernaum, do here in [b]your hometown as well.' "

24 And He said, "Truly I say to you, [a]no prophet is welcome in his hometown.

25 "But I say to you in truth, there were many widows in Israel [a]in the days of Elijah, when the sky was shut up for three years and six months, when a great famine came over all the land;

26 and yet Elijah was sent to none of them, but [a]only to [1]Zarephath, in the land of [b]Sidon, to a woman who was a widow.

27 "And there were many lepers in Israel in the time of Elisha the prophet; and none of them was cleansed, but [a]only Naaman the Syrian."

28 And all the people in the synagogue were filled with rage as they heard these things;

29 and they got up and [a]drove Him out of the city, and led Him to the brow of the hill on which their city had been built, in order to throw Him down the cliff.

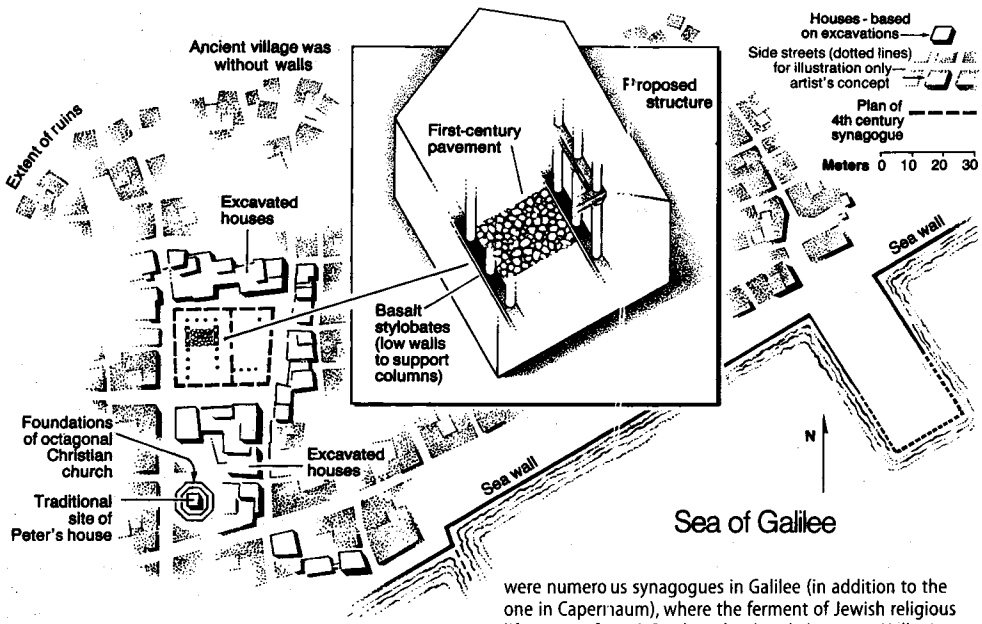
4:23 Capernaum. See note on Matt 4:13. hometown. Nazareth. Although Jesus was born in Bethlehem, He was brought up in Nazareth, in Galilee (1:26; 2:39,51; Matt 2:23).



4:26–27 Mention of Jesus' reference to God's helping two non-Israelites (1 Kin 17:1–15; 2 Kin 5:1–14) reflects Luke's special concern for the Gentiles. Jesus' point was that when Israel rejected God's messenger of redemption, God sent him to the Gentiles—and so it will be again if they refuse to accept Jesus (see 10:13–15; Rom 9–11).

4:26 Sidon. One of the oldest Phoenician cities, 20 miles north of Tyre. Jesus later healed a Gentile woman's daughter in this region (Matt 15:21–28).

4:28 filled with rage. Because of Jesus' inclusion of Gentiles as recipients of God's blessings.

4:30 passing through their midst. Luke does not explain whether the escape was miraculous or simply the result of Jesus' commanding presence. In any case, His time (to die) had not yet come (John 7:30).

Capernaum Synagogue

Capernaum was more than a seaside fishing village in the days of Jesus. It was the place that Christ chose to be the center of His ministry to the entire region of Galilee, and it possessed ideal characteristics as a point of dissemination for the gospel.

There were good reasons for this. The town itself was named Kephar Nahum, "village of (perhaps the prophet), Nahum" and was the centerpiece of a densely populated region having a bicultural flavor. On the one hand, there were numerous synagogues in Galilee (in addition to the one in Capernaum), where the ferment of Jewish religious life was profound. On the other hand, there was Hellenism, a pervasive culture already centuries old and potent in its paganism—a lifestyle that influenced manners, dress, architecture and political institutions as well.

Recent archaeological work at Capernaum has revealed a section of the pavement of a first-century synagogue below the still-existing ruins of the fourth-century one on the site. A private house later made into a church and a place of pilgrimage has yielded some evidence that may link it to the site of Simon Peter's house (Luke 4:38).

31 And [a]He came down to [b]Capernaum, a city of Galilee, and He was teaching them on the Sabbath;

32 and [a]they were amazed at His teaching, for [b]His [1]message was with authority.

33 In the synagogue there was a man [1]possessed by the spirit of an unclean demon, and he cried out with a loud voice,

34 "Let us alone! [1a]What business do we have with each other, Jesus [2]of [b]Nazareth? Have You come to destroy us? I know who You are—[b]the Holy One of God!"

35 But Jesus [a]rebuked him, saying, "Be quiet and come out of him!" And when the demon had thrown him down in the midst of the people, he came out of him without doing him any harm.

36 And amazement came upon them all, and they began talking with one another saying, "What is [1]this message? For [a]with authority and power He commands the unclean spirits and they come out."

37 And [a]the report about Him was spreading into every locality in the surrounding district.

Many Are Healed

38 [a]Then He got up and left the synagogue, and entered Simon's home. Now Simon's mother-in-law was [b]suffering from a high fever, and they asked Him [1]to help her.

39 And standing over her, He [a]rebuked the fever, and it left her; and she immediately got up and [1]waited on them.

40 [a]While [b]the sun was setting, all those who had any who were sick with various diseases brought them to Him; and [c]laying His hands on each one of them, He was [d]healing them.

41 Demons also were coming out of many, shouting, "You are [a]the Son of God!" But [b]rebuking them, He would [c]not allow them to speak, because they knew Him to be [1]the Christ.

42 [a]When day came, Jesus left and went to a secluded place; and the crowds were searching for Him, and came to Him and tried to keep Him from going away from them.

43 But He said to them, "I must preach the kingdom of God to the other cities also, [a]for I was sent for this purpose."

44 So He kept on preaching in the synagogues [a]of [1]Judea.

The First Disciples

5 [a]Now it happened that while the crowd was pressing around Him and listening to the word of God, He was standing by [b]the lake of Gennesaret;

2 and He saw two boats lying at the edge of the lake; but the fishermen had gotten out of them and were washing their nets.

3 And [a]He got into one of the boats, which was Simon's, and asked him to put out a little way from the land. And He sat down and began teaching the [1]people from the boat.

4 When He had finished speaking, He said to Simon, "Put out into the deep water and [a]let down your nets for a catch."

5 Simon answered and said, "[a]Master, [b]we worked hard all night and caught nothing, but [1]I will do as You say and let down the nets."

6 When they had done this, [a]they enclosed a great quantity of fish, and their nets began to break;

7 so they signaled to their partners in the other boat for them to come and help them.

4:32 See note on Mark 1:22.
4:33 possessed by the spirit of an unclean demon. To pagans, "demon" meant a supernatural being, whether good or bad, but Luke makes it clear that this was an evil spirit. Such a demon could cause mental disorder (John 10:20), violent action (Luke 8:26–29), bodily disease (13:11,16) and rebellion against God (Rev 16:14).
4:34 Holy One of God. See note on Mark 1:24.
4:38 Simon's mother-in-law. Peter was married (1 Cor 9:5). a high fever. All three Synoptics tell of this miracle (Matt 8:14–15; Mark 1:29–31), but only Luke, the doctor, uses the more specific phrase "high fever."
4:40 While the sun was setting. The Sabbath (v. 31) was over at sundown (about 6:00 P.M.). Until then, according to the tradition of the elders, Jews could not travel more than about two-thirds of a mile or carry a burden. Only after sundown could they carry the sick to Jesus, and their eagerness is seen in the fact that they set out while the sun was still setting.
4:41 because they knew Him to be the Christ. See note on Mark 1:34.
4:42 secluded place. Mark includes the words "and was praying there" (Mark 1:35).
4:43 kingdom of God. Luke's first use of this phrase; it occurs over 30 times in his Gospel. Some of its different meanings in the Bible are: the eternal kingship of God; the presence of the kingdom in the person of Jesus, the King; the approaching spiritual form of the kingdom; the future kingdom. See note on Matt 3:2.
4:44 This summary statement includes not only what has just been described (from v. 14 on) but also what lay ahead in Jesus' ministry. No express mention is made in the Synoptics of the early Judean ministry recorded in John (2:13–4:3), though it may be reflected in Matt 23:37 and Luke 13:34. Judea. Some manuscripts, as well as the parallel accounts (Matt 4:23; Mark 1:39), mention Galilee instead of Judea. In writing to a Gentile (see Introduction: Recipient and Purpose), Luke possibly used "Judea" to refer to the whole of the land of the Jews (23:5; Acts 10:37; 11:1,29; 26:20).
5:1 lake of Gennesaret. Luke is the only one who calls it a lake. The other Gospel writers call it the Sea of Galilee, and John twice calls it the Sea of Tiberias (John 6:1; 21:1).
5:2 washing their nets. After each period of fishing, the nets were washed, stretched and prepared for use again.
5:3 sat down. The usual position for teaching (see note on 4:20). The boat provided an ideal arrangement, removed from the press of the crowd but near enough to be seen and heard.
5:7 their partners. See v. 10.

And they came and filled both of the boats, so that they began to sink.

8 But when Simon Peter saw that, he fell down at Jesus' [1]feet, saying, "Go away from me Lord, for I am a sinful man, O Lord!"

9 For amazement had seized him and all his companions because of the catch of fish which they had taken;

10 and so also were [1]James and John, sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. And Jesus said to Simon, "[a]Do not fear, from now on you will be [b]catching men."

11 When they had brought their boats to land, [a]they left everything and followed Him.

The Leper and the Paralytic

12 [a]While He was in one of the cities, behold, there was a man [1]covered with leprosy; and when he saw Jesus, he fell on his face and implored Him, saying, "Lord, if You are willing, You can make me clean."

13 And He stretched out His hand and touched him, saying, "I am willing; be cleansed." And immediately the leprosy left him.

14 And He ordered him to tell no one, "But go and [a]show yourself to the priest and make an offering for your cleansing, just as Moses commanded, as a testimony to them."

15 But [a]the news about Him was spreading even farther, and large crowds were gathering to hear Him and to be healed of their sicknesses.

16 But Jesus Himself would often slip away [1]to the [2]wilderness and [a]pray.

17 [1]One day He was teaching; and [a]there were some Pharisees and [b]teachers of the law sitting there, who had [c]come from every village of Galilee and Judea and from Jerusalem; and [d]the power of the Lord was present for Him to perform healing.

18 [a]And some men were carrying on a [1]bed a man who was paralyzed; and they were trying to bring him in and to set him down in front of Him.

19 But not finding any way to bring him in because of the crowd, they went up on [a]the roof and let him down [b]through the tiles with his stretcher, into the middle of the crowd, in front of Jesus.

20 Seeing their faith, He said, "[1]Friend, [a]your sins are forgiven you."

21 The scribes and the Pharisees [a]began to reason, saying, "[b]Who is this man who speaks blasphemies? [c]Who can forgive sins, but God alone?"

22 But Jesus, [1]aware of their reasonings, answered and said to them, "Why are you reasoning in your hearts?

23 "Which is easier, to say, 'Your sins have been forgiven you,' or to say, 'Get up and walk'?

24 "But, so that you may know that the Son of Man has authority on earth to forgive sins,"—He said to the [a]paralytic—"I say to you, get up, and pick up your stretcher and go home."

25 Immediately he got up before them, and picked up what he had been lying on, and went home [a]glorifying God.

26 [1]They were all struck with astonishment and began [a]glorifying God; and they were filled [b]with fear, saying, "We have seen remarkable things today."

5:8 Go away from me Lord. The nearer one comes to God, the more he feels his own sinfulness and unworthiness—as did Abraham (Gen 18:27), Job (42:6) and Isaiah (6:5).

5:11 left everything and followed Him. This was not the first time these men had been with Jesus (see John 1:40–42; 2:1–2). Their periodic and loose association now became a closely knit fellowship as they followed the Master. The scene is the same as Matt 4:18–22 and Mark 1:16–20, but the accounts relate events from different hours of the morning.

5:12–16 The healing of the man with leprosy is described in all three of the Synoptic Gospels, but the setting is different in each. In Matthew (8:1–4) it is part of a collection of miracles; in Mark (1:40–45) and Luke it is probably one incident that occurred on the first tour of Galilee.

5:12 covered with leprosy. Luke alone notes the extent of his disease. The Greek term for "leprosy" could refer to other skin diseases as well as leprosy, and was not used for leprosy in medical literature. See note on Lev 13:2

5:14 tell no one. See notes on Matt 8:4; 16:20. But go and show yourself to the priest. By this command Jesus urged the man to keep the law, to provide further proof for the actual healing, to testify to the authorities concerning His ministry and to supply ritual certification of cleansing so the man could be reinstated into society. a testimony to them. See note on Mark 1:44.

5:17 Pharisees and teachers of the law. See notes on Matt 2:4; 3:7; Mark 2:16. Opposition was rising in Galilee from these religious leaders. Pharisees. Mentioned here for the first time in Luke. Their name meaning "separated ones," they numbered about 6,000 and were spread over the whole of the Holy Land. They were teachers in the synagogues, religious examples in the eyes of the people and self-appointed guardians of the law and its proper observance. They considered the interpretations and regulations handed down by tradition to be virtually as authoritative as Scripture (Mark 7:8–13). Already Jesus had run counter to the Jewish leaders in Jerusalem (John 5:16–18). Now they came to a home in Capernaum (Mark 2:1–6) to hear and watch Him. teachers of the law. "Scribes," who studied, interpreted and taught the law (both written and oral). The majority of these teachers belonged to the party of the Pharisees.

5:19 roof. See note on Mark 2:4. tiles. Probably ceiling tiles.

5:21 this man . . . speaks blasphemies. See note on Mark 2:7. The Pharisees considered blasphemy to be the most serious sin a man could commit (see note on Mark 14:64).

5:23 Which is easier, to say . . . ? See notes on Mark 2:9–10.

5:24 that you may know. Jesus' power to heal was a visible affirmation of His power to forgive sins.

5:27 a tax collector. See note on 3:12. tax booth. The place where customs were collected (see note on Mark 2:14).

28 And he [a]left everything behind, and got up and began to follow Him.

29 And [a]Levi gave a big reception for Him in his house; and there was a great crowd of [b]tax collectors and other people who were reclining at the table with them.

30 [a]The Pharisees and their scribes began grumbling at His disciples, saying, "Why do you eat and drink with the tax collectors and [1]sinners?"

31 And Jesus answered and said to them, "[a]It is not those who are well who need a physician, but those who are sick.

32 "I have not come to call the righteous but sinners to repentance."

33 And they said to Him, "[a]The disciples of John often fast and offer prayers, the disciples of the Pharisees also do [1]the same, but Yours eat and drink."

34 And Jesus said to them, "You cannot make the [1]attendants of the bridegroom fast while the bridegroom is with them, can you?

35 "[a]But the days will come; and when the bridegroom is taken away from them, then they will fast in those days."

36 And He was also telling them a parable: "No one tears a piece of cloth from a new garment and puts it on an old garment; otherwise he will both tear the new, and the piece from the new will not match the old.

37 "And no one puts new wine into old wineskins; otherwise the new wine will burst the skins and it will be spilled out, and the skins will be ruined.

38 "But new wine must be put into fresh wineskins.

39 "And no one, after drinking old wine wishes for new; for he says, 'The old is good enough.' "

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

6 [a]Now it happened that He was passing through some grainfields on a Sabbath; and His disciples [b]were picking the heads of grain, rubbing them in their hands, and eating the grain.

2 But some of the Pharisees said, "Why do you do what [a]is not lawful on the Sabbath?"

3 And Jesus answering them said, "Have you not even read [a]what David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him,

4 how he entered the house of God, and took and ate the [1]consecrated bread which [a]is not lawful for any to eat except the priests alone, and gave it to his companions?"

5 And He was saying to them, "The Son of Man is Lord of the Sabbath."

6 [a]On another Sabbath He entered [b]the synagogue and was teaching; and there was a man there [1]whose right hand was withered.

7 The scribes and the Pharisees [a]were watching Him closely to see if He healed on the Sabbath, so that they might find reason to accuse Him.

8 But He [a]knew [1]what they were thinking, and He said to the man with the withered hand, "Get up and [2]come forward!" And he got up and [3]came forward.

9 And Jesus said to them, "I ask you, is it lawful to do good or to do harm on the Sabbath, to save a life or to destroy it?"

10 After [a]looking around at them all, He said to him, "Stretch out your hand!" And he did so; and his hand was restored.

11 But they themselves were filled with [1]rage, and discussed together what they might do to Jesus.

5:28 left everything . . . and began to follow Him. Since Jesus had been ministering in Capernaum for some time, Levi probably had known Him previously (see note on v. 11).

5:29 a big reception. When Levi began to follow Jesus, he did not do it secretly.

5:30 Pharisees . . . began grumbling. They probably stood outside and registered their complaints from a distance. eat . . . with the tax collectors and sinners. See note on Mark 2:15.

5:31 not those who are well who need a physician, but those who are sick. Not to imply that the Pharisees were "those who are well," but that a person must recognize himself as a sinner before he can be spiritually healed (see note on Mark 2:17).

5:33 disciples of John . . . fast and offer prayers. John the Baptist had grown up in the wilderness and learned to subsist on a meager, austere diet of locusts and wild honey. His ministry was characterized by a sober message and a strenuous schedule. For a contrast between Jesus' ministry and John the Baptist's see 7:24–28; Matt 11:1–19. The Pharisees also had rigorous lifestyles (see note on 18:12). But Jesus went to banquets, and His disciples enjoyed a freedom not known by the Pharisees. fast. See note on Mark 2:18. While Jesus rejected fasting legalistically for display (cf. Is 58:3–11), He Himself fasted privately and permitted its voluntary use for spiritual benefit (Matt 4:2; 6:16–18).

5:35 See notes on Mark 2:19–20.

5:36 parable. See notes on Matt 13:3; Mark 4:2.

5:37 old wineskins. See note on Matt 9:17.

5:39 The old is good enough. Jesus was indicating the reluctance of some people to change from their traditional religious ways and try the gospel.

6:1 passing through some grainfields. See note on Mark 2:23.

6:3 what David did. See note on Mark 2:25.

6:4 consecrated bread. See note on Matt 12:4.

6:5 Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31. Lord of the Sabbath. Jesus has the authority to overrule laws concerning the Sabbath, particularly as interpreted by the Pharisees (see Matt 12:8; Mark 2:27).

6:8 come forward. So there would be no question about the healing.

6:9 is it lawful . . . on the Sabbath . . . ? Jesus had been enduring questions and attacks from the Pharisees and now took the initiative by putting the questions to everyone in the synagogue (see note on Mark 3:4).

6:10 looking around at them. Jesus wanted to see whether anyone objected to His question or the implied answer, but no one was bold enough to do so.

6:11 they . . . were filled with rage. Because they could not withstand Jesus' reasoning. Already they were plotting to take His life (John 5:18). See note on Mark 3:6.

Choosing the Twelve

12 It was [1]at this time that He went off to [a]the mountain to [b]pray, and He spent the whole night in prayer to God.

13 And when day came, [a]He called His disciples to Him and chose twelve of them, whom He also named as [b]apostles:

14 Simon, whom He also named Peter, and Andrew his brother; and [1]James and John; and Philip and Bartholomew;

15 and [a]Matthew and Thomas; James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon who was called the Zealot;

16 Judas the son of James, and Judas Iscariot, who became a traitor.

17 Jesus [a]came down with them and stood on a level place; and there was [b]a large crowd of His disciples, and a great throng of people from all Judea and Jerusalem and the coastal region of [c]Tyre and Sidon, 18 who had come to hear Him and to be healed of their diseases; and those who were troubled with unclean spirits were being cured.

19 And all the [1]people were trying to [a]touch Him, for [b]power was coming from Him and healing them all.

The Beatitudes

20 And turning His gaze toward His disciples, He began to say, "[a]Blessed are [1]you who are poor, for [b]yours is the kingdom of God.

21 "Blessed are [1]you who hunger now, for you shall be satisfied. Blessed are you who weep now, for you shall laugh.

22 "[a]Blessed are you when men hate you, and [b]ostracize you, and insult you, and scorn your name as evil, for the sake of the Son of Man.

23 "Be glad in that day and [a]leap for joy, for behold, your reward is great in heaven. For [b]in the same way their fathers used to [1]treat the prophets.

24 "But woe to [a]you who are rich, for [b]you are receiving your comfort in full.

25 "Woe to you who [1]are well-fed now, for you shall be hungry. Woe to you who laugh now, for you shall mourn and weep.

26 "Woe to you when all men speak well of you, for their fathers used to [1]treat the [a]false prophets in the same way.

27 "But I say to you who hear, [a]love your enemies, do good to those who hate you, 28 bless those who curse you, [a]pray for those who [1]mistreat you.

29 "[a]Whoever hits you on the cheek, offer him the other also; and whoever takes away your [1]coat, do not withhold your [2]shirt from him either.

30 "Give to everyone who asks of you, and whoever takes away what is yours, do not demand it back.

31 "[1][a]Treat others the same way you want [2]them to treat you.

32 "[a]If you love those who love you, what credit is that to you? For even sinners love those who love them.

33 "If you do good to those who do good to you, what credit is that to you? For even sinners do the same.

34 "[a]If you lend to those from whom you expect to receive, what credit is that to you? Even sinners lend to sinners in order to receive back the same amount.

35 "But [a]love your enemies, and do good, and lend, [1]expecting nothing in return; and your reward will be great, and you will be [b]sons of [c]the Most High; for He Himself is kind to ungrateful and evil men.

6:12 Characteristically, Jesus spent the night in prayer before the important work of selecting His 12 apostles.

6:13 He called His disciples. Among those who came to hear Jesus was a group who regularly followed Him and were committed to His teachings. At least 70 men were included, since this many disciples were sent out on an evangelistic campaign (10:1,17). Later, 120 believers waited and worshiped in Jerusalem following the ascension (Acts 1:15). From such disciples Jesus at this time chose 12 to be His apostles, meaning "ones sent with a special commission" (see notes on Mark 6:30; 1 Cor 1:1; Heb 3:1).

6:14–16 Lists of the apostles appear also in Matt 10:2–4; Mark 3:16–19; Acts 1:13. Although the order of the names varies, Peter is always first and Judas Iscariot last.

6:14 Bartholomew. Seems to be (in the Synoptics) the same as Nathanael (in John). Nathanael is associated with Philip in John 1:45.

6:15 Matthew. Another name for Levi. James the son of Alphaeus. Probably the same as James the Less (Mark 15:40). the Zealot. See note on Matt 10:4.

6:16 Judas the son of James. Another name for Thaddaeus (Matt 10:3; Mark 3:18). Judas Iscariot. Probably the only one from Judea, the rest coming from Galilee (see note on Mark 3:19).

6:17 stood on a level place. Perhaps a plateau, which would satisfy both this context and that in Matt 5:1.

6:20–49 Luke's Sermon on the Plain, apparently parallel to Matthew's Sermon on the Mount (Matt 5–7). Although this sermon is much shorter than the one in Matthew, they both begin with the Beatitudes and end with the lesson of the builders. Some of Matthew's Sermon is found in other portions of Luke (e.g., 11:2–4; 12:22–31,33–34), suggesting that the material may have been given on various occasions in Jesus' preaching.

6:20–23 See Matt 5:3–12. The Beatitudes go deeper than material poverty (v. 20) and physical hunger (v. 21). Matthew's account indicates that Jesus spoke of poverty "in spirit" (Matt 5:3) and hunger "for righteousness" (Matt 5:6).

6:24–26 This section is a point-by-point negative counterpart of vv. 20–22.

6:27 love your enemies. The heart of Jesus' teaching is love. While the Golden Rule (v. 31) is sometimes expressed in negative form outside the Bible, Jesus not only forbids treating others spitefully but also commands that we love everyone—even our enemies.

6:29 offer him the other. We are not to have a retaliatory attitude. coat . . . shirt. The cloak was the outer coat, under which the tunic was worn.

36 "[1]Be merciful, just as your Father is merciful.

37 "[a]Do not judge, and you will not be judged; and do not condemn, and you will not be condemned; [1][b]pardon, and you will be pardoned.

38 "Give, and it will be given to you. They will [1]pour [a]into your lap a [b]good measure—pressed down, shaken together, and running over. For by your standard of measure it will be measured to you in return."

39 And He also spoke a parable to them: "[a]A blind man cannot guide a blind man, can he? Will they not both fall into a pit?

40 "[a]A [1]pupil is not above his teacher; but everyone, after he has been fully trained, will [2]be like his teacher.

41 "Why do you look at the speck that is in your brother's eye, but do not notice the log that is in your own eye?

42 "Or how can you say to your brother, 'Brother, let me take out the speck that is in your eye,' when you yourself do not see the log that is in your own eye? You hypocrite, first take the log out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly to take out the speck that is in your brother's eye.

43 "[a]For there is no good tree which produces bad fruit, nor, [1]on the other hand, a bad tree which produces good fruit.

44 "[a]For each tree is known by its own fruit. For men do not gather figs from thorns, nor do they pick grapes from a briar bush.

45 "[a]The good man out of the good [1]treasure of his heart brings forth what is good; and the evil man out of the evil treasure brings forth what is evil; [b]for his mouth speaks from [2]that which fills his heart.

Builders and Foundations

46 "[a]Why do you call Me, 'Lord, Lord,' and do not do what I say?

47 "[a]Everyone who comes to Me and hears My words and [1]acts on them, I will show you whom he is like:

48 he is like a man building a house, who [1]dug deep and laid a foundation on the rock; and when a flood occurred, the [2]torrent burst against that house and could not shake it, because it had been well built.

49 "But the one who has heard and has not acted accordingly, is like a man who built a house on the ground without any foundation; and the [1]torrent burst against it and immediately it collapsed, and the ruin of that house was great."

Jesus Heals a Centurion's Servant

7 [a]When He had completed all His discourse in the hearing of the people, [b]He went to Capernaum.

2 And a centurion's slave, [1]who was highly regarded by him, was sick and about to die.

3 When he heard about Jesus, [a]he sent some [1]Jewish elders asking Him to come and [2]save the life of his slave.

4 When they came to Jesus, they earnestly implored Him, saying, "He is worthy for You to grant this to him;

5 for he loves our nation and it was he who built us our synagogue."

6 Now Jesus started on His way with them; and when He was not far from the house, the centurion sent friends, saying to Him, "[1]Lord, do not trouble Yourself further, for I am not worthy for You to come under my roof;

7 for this reason I did not even consider myself worthy to come to You, but just [1]say the word, and my [2]servant will be healed.

8 "For I also am a man placed under authority, with soldiers under me; and I say to this one, 'Go!' and he goes, and to another, 'Come!' and he comes, and to my slave, 'Do this!' and he does it."

9 Now when Jesus heard this, He marveled at him, and turned and said to the crowd that was following Him, "I say to you, [a]not even in Israel have I found such great faith."

10 When those who had been sent returned to the house, they found the slave in good health.

11 Soon afterwards He went to a city called Nain; and His disciples were going along with Him, [1]accompanied by a large crowd.

6:36 just as your Father is merciful. God's perfection should be our example and goal (see Matt 5:48).

6:37 Do not judge. Jesus did not relieve His followers of the need for discerning right and wrong (cf. vv. 43–45), but He condemned unjust and hypocritical judging of others.

6:38 pour into your lap. Probably refers to the way the outer garment was worn, leaving a fold over the belt that could be used as a large pocket to hold a measure of wheat.

6:41 speck . . . log. Jesus used hyperbole (a figure of speech that overstates for emphasis) to sharpen the contrast and to emphasize how foolish and hypocritical it is for us to criticize someone for a fault while remaining blind to our own considerable faults.

7:2 centurion's slave. The centurion was probably a member of Herod Antipas's forces, which were organized in Roman fashion, ordinarily in companies of 100 men. Roman centurions referred to in the NT showed characteristics to be admired (e.g., Acts 10:2; 23:17–18; 27:43). This centurion showed genuine concern for his slave, and he was admired by the Jews, who spoke favorably of him even though he was a Gentile (see vv. 5,9).

7:3 Jewish elders. Highly respected Jews of the community, though not necessarily rulers of the synagogue. They were willing to come and plead for the centurion. In Matthew's account (Matt 8:5–13) the centurion speaks with Jesus Himself, while in Luke's account he speaks with Jesus through his friends (see note on Matt 8:5).

7:6 I am not worthy for You to come under my roof. See note on Matt 8:8.

7:9 He marveled. The Greek word for "marvel" is used of Jesus is only mentioned twice. Here He "marveled" at faith while in Mark 6:6 He "wondered" (same Greek word) at a lack of faith.

12 Now as He approached the gate of the city, [1]a dead man was being carried out, the [2]only son of his mother, and she was a widow; and a sizeable crowd from the city was with her.

13 When [a]the Lord saw her, He felt compassion for her, and said to her, "[1]Do not weep."

14 And He came up and touched the coffin; and the bearers came to a halt. And He said, "Young man, I say to you, arise!"

15 The [1]dead man sat up and began to speak. And Jesus gave him back to his mother.

16 [a]Fear gripped them all, and they began [b]glorifying God, saying, "A great [c]prophet has arisen among us!" and, "God has [1]visited His people!"

17 [a]This report concerning Him went out all over Judea and in all the surrounding district.

A Deputation from John

18 [a]The disciples of John reported to him about all these things.

19 Summoning [1]two of his disciples, John sent them to [a]the Lord, saying, "Are You the [2]Expected One, or do we look for someone else?"

20 When the men came to Him, they said, "John the Baptist has sent us to You, to ask, 'Are You the [1]Expected One, or do we look for someone else?' "

21 At that [1]very time He [a]cured many people of diseases and [b]afflictions and evil spirits; and He gave sight to many who were blind.

22 And He answered and said to them, "Go and report to John what you have seen and heard: the [a]BLIND RECEIVE SIGHT, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, the [b]POOR HAVE THE GOSPEL PREACHED TO THEM.

24 When the messengers of John had left, He began to speak to the crowds about John, "What did you go out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken by the wind?

25 "[1]But what did you go out to see? A man dressed in soft [2]clothing? Those who are splendidly clothed and live in luxury are found in royal palaces!

29 When all the people and the tax collectors heard this, they [1]acknowledged [a]God's justice, [b]having been baptized with [c]the baptism of John.

30 But the Pharisees and the [1][a]lawyers rejected God's purpose for themselves, not having been baptized by [2]John.

7:14 coffin. The man was probably carried in an open coffin, suggested by Jewish custom and the fact that he sat up in response to Jesus' command. This is the first of three instances of Jesus' raising someone from the dead, the others being Jairus's daughter (8:40–56) and Lazarus (John 11:38–44).
7:18 disciples of John. Despite John the Baptist's imprisonment, his disciples kept in contact with him and continued his ministry.
7:19 do we look for someone else? John had announced the coming of the Christ, but now he himself had been languishing in prison for months, and the work of Jesus had not brought the results John apparently expected. His disappointment was natural. He wanted reassurance—and perhaps also wanted to urge Jesus to further action.
7:22 report to John what you have seen and heard. In answer, Jesus pointed to His healing and life-restoring miracles. He did not give promises but clearly observable evidence—evidence that reflected the predicted ministry of the Messiah. THE POOR HAVE THE GOSPEL PREACHED TO THEM. In Jesus' review of His works, He used an ascending scale of impressive deeds, ending with the dead raised and the good news preached to the poor. In this way, Jesus reminded John that these were the things predicted of the Messiah in the Scriptures (see Is 29:18–21; 35:5–6; 61:1; see also Luke 4:18).
7:23 he who does not take offense. Jesus did not want discouragement and doubt to ensnare John.
7:24 What did you go . . . to see? John was not a weak messenger, swayed by the pressures of human opinion. On the contrary, he was a true prophet.
7:26 more than a prophet. John was the unique prophet sent to prepare the way for the Messiah.
7:28 he who is least in the kingdom of God. See note on Matt 11:11.
7:30 lawyers. A designation used by Luke (see 10:25; 11:45–46 ,52; 14:3; see also Matt 22:35) for the "scribes" (the teachers of the law), most of whom were Pharisees (see note on 5:17). rejected God's purpose. Tax collectors had shown their willingness to repent by accepting John's baptism, whereas the Pharisees showed their rejection of God's message by refusing to be baptized.
7:32 like children who sit in the market place. People had rejected both John and Jesus, but for different reasons—like children who refuse to play either a joyful game or a mournful one. They would not associate with John when he followed the strictest of rules or with Jesus when He freely associated with all kinds of people.

drinking, and you say, 'Behold, a gluttonous man and a [1]drunkard, a friend of tax collectors and [2]sinners!'

35 "Yet wisdom [a]is vindicated by all her children."

36 Now one of the Pharisees was requesting Him to [1]dine with him, and He entered the Pharisee's house and reclined at the table.

37 [a]And there was a woman in the city who was a [1]sinner; and when she learned that He was reclining at the table in the Pharisee's house, she brought an alabaster vial of perfume, 38 and standing behind Him at His feet, weeping, she began to wet His feet with her tears, and kept wiping them with the hair of her head, and kissing His feet and anointing them with the perfume.

39 Now when the Pharisee who had invited Him saw this, he said to himself, "If this man were [a]a prophet He would know who and what sort of person this woman is who is touching Him, that she is a [1]sinner."

Parable of Two Debtors

40 And Jesus answered him, "Simon, I have something to say to you." And he [1]replied, "Say it, Teacher."

41 "A moneylender had two debtors: one owed five hundred [1][a]denarii, and the other fifty.

42 "When they [a]were unable to repay, he graciously forgave them both. So which of them will love him more?"

43 Simon answered and said, "I suppose the one whom he forgave more." And He said to him, "You have judged correctly."

44 Turning toward the woman, He said to Simon, "Do you see this woman? I entered your house; you [a]gave Me no water for My feet, but she has wet My feet with her tears and wiped them with her hair.

45 "You [a]gave Me no kiss; but she, since the time I came in, has not ceased to kiss My feet.

46 "[a]You did not anoint My head with oil, but she anointed My feet with perfume.

47 "For this reason I say to you, her sins, which are many, have been forgiven, for she loved much; but he who is forgiven little, loves little."

48 Then He said to her, "[a]Your sins have been forgiven."

49 Those who were reclining at the table with Him began to say [1]to themselves, "[a]Who is this man who even forgives sins?"

50 And He said to the woman, "[a]Your faith has saved you; [b]go in peace."

Ministering Women

8 Soon afterwards, He began going around from one city and village to another, [a]proclaiming and preaching the kingdom of God. The twelve were with Him,

2 and also [a]some women who had been healed of evil spirits and sicknesses: [b]Mary who was called Magdalene, from whom seven demons had gone out,

3 and Joanna the wife of Chuza, [a]Herod's [b]steward, and Susanna, and many others who were contributing to their support out of their private means.

Parable of the Sower

4 [a]When a large crowd was coming together, and those from the various cities were journeying to Him, He spoke by way of a parable:

7:34 a friend of tax collectors and sinners. Jesus ate and talked with people who were religious and social outcasts. He even called a tax collector to be an apostle (5:27–32).
7:35 wisdom is vindicated by all her children. In contrast to the rejection by foolish critics, spiritually wise persons could see that the ministries of both John and Jesus were godly, despite their differences. See note on Matt 11:19.
7:36 one of the Pharisees. See note on 5:17. His motive may have been to entrap Jesus rather than to learn from Him.
7:37 a woman . . . who was a sinner. A prostitute. She must have heard Jesus preach, and in repentance she determined to lead a new life. She came out of love and gratitude, in the understanding that she could be forgiven. alabaster vial. A long-necked, globular bottle. perfume. A perfumed ointment.
7:38 standing behind Him at His feet. Jesus reclined on a couch with His feet extended away from the table, which made it possible for the woman to wipe His feet with her hair and still not disturb Him. anointing them with the perfume. The anointing, perhaps originally intended for Jesus' head, was instead applied to His feet. A similar act was performed by Mary of Bethany just over a week before the crucifixion (John 12:3).
7:41 five hundred denarii. A denarius was a coin worth about a day's wages.
7:44 water for My feet. The minimal gesture of hospitality.
7:47 for she loved much. Her love was evidence of her forgiveness, but not the basis for it. Verse 50 clearly states that she was saved by faith. See Eph 1:7.
7:50 Your faith has saved you. Her sins were forgiven and she could experience God's peace (see 1:79 and note on 2:14).
8:1 He began going around. Jesus' ministry had been centered in Capernaum, and much of His preaching was in synagogues, but now He traveled again from town to town on a second tour of the Galilean countryside. For the first tour see 4:43–44; Matt 4:23–25; Mark 1:38–39. For the third tour see note on 9:1–6. kingdom of God. See note on 4:43.
8:2 Mary who was called Magdalene. Her hometown was Magdala. She is not to be confused with the sinful woman of ch. 7 or Mary of Bethany (John 11:1).
8:3 Susanna. Nothing more is known of her. contributing to their support. Jesus and His disciples did not provide for themselves by miracles, but were supported by the service and means of such grateful people as these women.
8:4 parable. From this point on Jesus used parables (see notes on Matt 13:3; Mark 4:2) more extensively as a means of teaching. They were particularly effective and easy to remember because He used familiar scenes. Although parables clarified Jesus' teaching, they also included hidden meanings needing further explanation. These hidden meanings challenged the sincerely interested to further inquiry, and taught truths that Jesus wanted to conceal from unbelievers (see v. 10). From parables and as he sowed, some fell beside the road, and it was trampled under foot and the birds of the [1]air ate it up.

6 "Other seed fell on rocky soil, and as soon as it grew up, it withered away, because it had no moisture.

7 "Other seed fell among the thorns; and the thorns grew up with it and choked it out.

8 "Other seed fell into the good soil, and grew up, and produced a crop a hundred times as great." As He said these things, He would call out, "[a]He who has ears to hear, [1]let him hear."

9 [a]His disciples began questioning Him as to what this parable meant.

10 And He said, "[a]To you it has been granted to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God, but to the rest it is in parables, so that [b]SEEING THEY MAY NOT SEE, AND HEARING THEY MAY NOT UNDERSTAND.

11 "Now the parable is this: [a]the seed is the word of God.

12 "Those beside the road are those who have heard; then the devil comes and takes away the word from their heart, so that they will not believe and be saved.

13 "Those on the rocky soil are those who, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no firm root; [1]they believe for a while, and in time of temptation fall away.

14 "The seed which fell among the thorns, these are the ones who have heard, and as they go on their way they are choked with worries and riches and pleasures of this life, and bring no fruit to maturity.

15 "But the seed in the good soil, these are the ones who have heard the word in an honest and good heart, and hold it fast, and bear fruit with [1]perseverance.

Parable of the Lamp

16 "Now [a]no one after lighting a lamp covers it over with a container, or puts it under a bed; but he puts it on a lampstand, so that those who come in may see the light.

17 "[a]For nothing is hidden that will not become evident, nor anything secret that will not be known and come to light.

18 "So take care how you listen; [a]for whoever has, to him more shall be given; and whoever does not have, even what he [1]thinks he has shall be taken away from him."

19 [a]And His mother and brothers came to Him, and they were unable to get to Him because of the crowd.

20 And it was reported to Him, "Your mother and Your brothers are standing outside, wishing to see You."

21 But He answered and said to them, "My mother and My brothers are these [a]who hear the word of God and do it."

Jesus' enemies could find no direct statements to use against Him. The parable of the sower is one of three parables recorded in each of the Synoptic Gospels (Matt 13:1–23; Mark 4:1–20). The others are those of the mustard seed (13:19; Matt 13:31–32; Mark 4:30–32) and of the vineyard (20:9–19; Matt 21:33–46; Mark 12:1–12).

8:5 to sow his seed. In Eastern practice the seed was sometimes sown first and the field plowed afterward. Roads and pathways went directly through many fields, and the traffic made much of the surface too hard for seed to take root in.

8:6 on rocky soil. On a thin layer of soil that covered solid rock. Any moisture that fell there soon evaporated, and the germinating seed withered and died (see Matt 13:5–6).

8:8 a hundred times as great. Luke's version is more abbreviated than Matthew's (13:8) and Mark's (4:8), but the point is the same: The quantity of increase depends on the quality of soil. let him hear. A challenge for listeners to understand the message and appropriate it for themselves.

8:9 His disciples. They included "His followers, along with the twelve" (Mark 4:10).

8:10 mysteries of the kingdom of God. Truths that can be known only by revelation from God (cf. Eph 3:2–5; 1 Pet 1:10–12). See note on Mark 4:11. that SEEING THEY MAY NOT SEE. This quotation from Isaiah (6:9) does not express a desire that some would not understand, but simply states the sad truth that those who are not willing to receive Jesus' message will find the truth hidden from them. Their ultimate fate is implied in the fuller quotation in Matt 13:14–15 (see note on Mark 4:12).

8:11 the word of God. The message that comes from God.

8:12 will not believe. The devil's purpose is that people will not hear with understanding and therefore will not appropriate the message and be saved.

8:13 they believe for a while. This kind of belief is superficial and does not save. It is similar to what James calls "dead" (James 2:17,26) or "useless" faith (James 2:20).

8:16 lighting a lamp. Although Jesus couched much of His message in parables, He intended that the disciples make the truths known as widely as possible (see note on 11:33). puts it on a lampstand. See note on Matt 5:15.

8:17 This verse explains v. 16. It is the destiny of the truth to be made known (cf. 12:2). The disciples were to begin a proclamation that would become universal.

8:18 take care how you listen. The disciples heard not only for themselves but also for those to whom they would minister (see Mark 4:24; cf. James 1:19–22). Truth that is not understood and appropriated will be lost (19:26), but truth that is used will be multiplied.

8:19 His mother and brothers came. See note on Mark 3:21. More is known about their motive from Mark 3:21,31–32. The family, thinking "He has lost His senses," probably wanted to get Him away from His heavy schedule. brothers. Did not believe in Jesus at this time (John 7:5). Various interpretations concerning their relationship to Jesus arose in the early church: They were sons of Joseph by a previous marriage (according to Epiphanius) or were cousins (said Jerome). The most natural conclusion (suggested by Helvidius) is that they were the sons of Joseph and Mary, younger half brothers of Jesus. Four of these brothers are named in Mark 6:3, where sisters are also mentioned. Since Joseph is not mentioned here, it is likely that he had died.

8:21 Jesus' reply was not meant to reject His natural family but to emphasize the higher priority of His spiritual relationship to those who believed in Him.

them, "Let us go over to the other side of [b]the lake." So they launched out.

23 But as they were sailing along He fell asleep; and a fierce gale of wind descended on [a]the lake, and they began to be swamped and to be in danger.

24 They came to Jesus and woke Him up, saying, "[a]Master, Master, we are perishing!" And He got up and [b]rebuked the wind and the surging waves, and they stopped, and [1]it became calm.

25 And He said to them, "Where is your faith?" They were fearful and amazed, saying to one another, "Who then is this, that He commands even the winds and the water, and they obey Him?"

The Demoniac Cured

26 [a]Then they sailed to the country of the Gerasenes, which is opposite Galilee.

27 And when He came out onto the land, He was met by a man from the city who was possessed with demons; and who had not put on any clothing for a long time, and was not living in a house, but in the tombs.

28 Seeing Jesus, he cried out and fell before Him, and said in a loud voice, "[1a]What business do we have with each other, Jesus, Son of [b]the Most High God? I beg You, do not torment me."

29 For He had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. For it had seized him many times; and he was bound with chains and shackles and kept under guard, and yet he would break his bonds and be driven by the demon into the desert.

30 And Jesus asked him, "What is your name?" And he said, "[a]Legion"; for many demons had entered him.

31 They were imploring Him not to command them to go away into [a]the abyss.

32 Now there was a herd of many swine feeding there on the mountain; and the demons implored Him to permit them to enter [1]the swine. And He gave them permission.

33 And the demons came out of the man and entered the swine; and the herd rushed down the steep bank into [a]the lake and was drowned.

34 When the herdsmen saw what had happened, they ran away and reported it in the city and out in the country.

35 The people went out to see what had happened; and they came to Jesus, and found the man from whom the demons had gone out, sitting down [a]at the feet of Jesus, clothed and in his right mind; and they became frightened.

36 Those who had seen it reported to them how the man who was [a]demon-possessed had been [1]made well.

37 And all the people of the country of the Gerasenes and the surrounding district asked Him to leave them, for they were gripped with great fear; and He got into a boat and returned.

38 [a]But the man from whom the demons had gone out was begging Him that he might [1]accompany Him; but He sent him away, saying, 39 "Return to your house and describe what great things God has done for you." So he went away, proclaiming throughout the whole city what great things Jesus had done for him.

Miracles of Healing

40 [a]And as Jesus returned, the [1]people welcomed Him, for they had all been waiting for Him.

41 [a]And there came a man named Jairus, and he was an [1b]official of the synagogue; and he fell at Jesus' feet, and began to implore Him to come to his house;

42 for he had an [1]only daughter, about twelve years old, and she was dying. But as He went, the crowds were pressing against Him.

43 And a woman who had a hemorrhage for twelve years, and could not be healed by anyone,

44 came up behind Him and touched the 8:23 fierce gale of wind. See note on Mark 4:37.

8:26 country of the Gerasenes. The Gospels describe the location of this event in two ways: (1) the region of the Gerasenes (see note on Mark 5:1); (2) the region of the Gadarenes (see note on Matt 8:28). Some manuscripts of Matthew, Mark and Luke read "Gergesenes," but this spelling may have been introduced in an attempt to resolve the differences.
8:27 man . . . possessed with demons. See note on 4:33. Matthew (8:28) refers to two demon-possessed men, but Mark (5:2) and Luke probably mention only the one who was prominent and did the talking. tombs. An isolated burial ground avoided by most people (but see note on Mark 5:3).
8:28 Son of the Most High God. Cf. 1:32; 4:34. The title "Most High God" was commonly used by Gentiles (see Gen 14:19 and note; Acts 16:17); its use here perhaps indicates that this man was not a Jew (but see note on Mark 1:24).
8:30 What is your name? Jesus asked the man his name, but it was the demons who replied, thus showing they were in control. Legion. See note on Mark 5:9.
8:31 abyss. A place of confinement for evil spirits and for Satan (see note on Rev 9:1).
8:32 swine. Pigs were unclean to Jews, and eating them was forbidden (Lev 11:7–8), but this was the Decapolis, a predominantly Gentile territory. He gave them permission. See note on Matt 8:32.
8:39 Return to your house and describe what great things God has done for you. Although the man wanted to follow Jesus, he was directed to make the miracle known in his own native territory. There was no danger here of interference with Jesus' ministry (see note on Mark 5:19).
8:41 official of the synagogue. The ruler was responsible for conducting services, selecting participants and maintaining order (see note on Mark 5:22).
8:43 hemorrhage. The hemorrhage had made her ceremonially unclean for 12 years (see Lev 15:19–30). could not be healed by anyone. Comparison with Mark 5:26 shows the restraint of Luke the physician in describing the failure of doctors to help her.

45 And Jesus said, "Who is the one who touched Me?" And while they were all denying it, Peter said, "[a]Master, the [1]people are crowding and pressing in on You."

46 But Jesus said, "Someone did touch Me, for I was aware that [a]power had gone out of Me."

47 When the woman saw that she had not escaped notice, she came trembling and fell down before Him, and declared in the presence of all the people the reason why she had touched Him, and how she had been immediately healed.

48 And He said to her, "Daughter, [a]your faith has [1]made you well; [b]go in peace."

49 While He was still speaking, someone *came from the house of [a]the synagogue official, saying, "Your daughter has died; do not trouble the Teacher anymore."

50 But when Jesus heard this, He answered him, "[a]Do not be afraid any longer; only believe, and she will be [1]made well."

51 When He came to the house, He did not allow anyone to enter with Him, except Peter and John and James, and the girl's father and mother.

52 Now they were all weeping and [a]lamenting for her; but He said, "Stop weeping, for she has not died, but [b]is asleep."

53 And they began laughing at Him, knowing that she had died.

54 He, however, took her by the hand and called, saying, "Child, arise!"

55 And her spirit returned, and she got up immediately; and He gave orders for something to be given her to eat.

Ministry of the Twelve

9 [a]And He called the twelve together, and gave them power and authority over all the demons and to heal diseases.

2 And He sent them out to [a]proclaim the kingdom of God and to perform healing.

3 And He said to them, "[a]Take nothing for your journey, [b]neither a staff, nor a [1]bag, nor bread, nor money; and do not even have [2]two tunics apiece.

4 "Whatever house you enter, stay there [1]until you leave that city.

5 "And as for those who do not receive you, as you go out from that city, [a]shake the dust off your feet as a testimony against them."

6 Departing, they began going [1]throughout the villages, [a]preaching the gospel and healing everywhere.

7 [a]Now [b]Herod the tetrarch heard of all that was happening; and he was greatly perplexed, because it was said by some that [c]John had risen from the dead,

8 and by some that [a]Elijah had appeared, and by others that one of the prophets of old had risen again.

9 Herod said, "I myself had John beheaded; but who is this man about whom I hear such things?" And [a]he kept trying to see Him.

10 [a]When the apostles returned, they gave an account to Him of all that they had done. [b]Taking them with Him, He withdrew by Himself to a city called [c]Bethsaida.

11 But the crowds were aware of this and followed Him; and welcoming them, He began speaking to them about the kingdom

8:45 Who . . . touched me? For the woman's good and for a testimony to the crowd, Jesus insisted that the miracle be made known.
8:46 power had gone out. See note on Mark 5:30.
8:48 Daughter. This woman is the only individual Jesus addressed with this tender term (cf. 23:28). go in peace. Cf. 7:50.
8:50 will be made well. See note on Mark 5:34.
8:52 weeping and lamenting. See note on Mark 5:38. not died, but is asleep. Jesus meant that she was not permanently dead (see John 11:11–14 for a similar statement about Lazarus).
8:56 instructed them to tell no one. See notes on Matt 8:4; Mark 5:43. Further publicity at this time concerning a raising from the dead would have been counterproductive to Jesus' ministry.
9:1–6 A new phase of Jesus' ministry began when He sent out the apostles to do the type of preaching, teaching and healing that they had observed Him doing (Matt 9:35). This was the third tour of Galilee by Jesus and His disciples (see note on 8:1). On the first tour Jesus traveled with the four fishermen; on the second all 12 were with Him; on the third Jesus traveled alone after sending out the twelve two by two.
9:1 the twelve. The apostles (see 6:13). power and authority. Special power to heal (see 5:17; 8:46) and authority in teaching and control over evil spirits. demons. Evil spirits (see note on 4:33).
9:3 Take nothing. No excess baggage that would encumber travel, not even the usual provisions. They were to be entirely dependent on the people with whom they were staying (see note on Mark 6:8).
9:4 stay there. They were not to move from house to house, seeking better lodging, but use only one home as headquarters while preaching in a community.
9:5 shake the dust off your feet. A sign of repudiation for their rejection of God's message and a gesture showing separation from everything associated with the place (see 10:11; see also notes on Matt 10:14; Acts 13:51).
9:7 Herod the tetrarch. See note on Matt 14:1. John had risen from the dead. See note on Mark 6:16. Luke does not give details about John's death (see Matt 14:1–12; Mark 6:17–29), which occurred about this time, but simply notes that it had taken place (v. 9).
9:8 Elijah had appeared. See notes on 1:17; Mark 9:12.
9:9 he kept trying to see Him. Herod's desire to see Jesus was not fulfilled until Jesus' trial (23:8–12).
9:10–17 The feeding of the 5,000 is the only miracle besides Jesus' resurrection that is reported in all four Gospels (see notes on Mark 6:30–44; John 6:1–14).
9:10 Bethsaida. See note on Matt 11:21. Jesus must have retired to a remote area near the town (v. 12).

of God and curing those who had need of healing.

Five Thousand Fed

12 Now the day [1]was ending, and the twelve came and said to Him, "Send the crowd away, that they may go into the surrounding villages and countryside and find lodging and get [2]something to eat; for here we are in a desolate place."

13 But He said to them, "You give them something to eat!" And they said, "We have no more than five loaves and two fish, unless perhaps we go and buy food for all these people."

14 (For there were about five thousand men.) And He said to His disciples, "Have them [1]sit down to eat [a]in groups of about fifty each."

15 They did so, and had them all [1]sit down.

16 Then He took the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, He blessed them, and broke them, and kept giving them to the disciples to set before the [1]people.

17 And they all ate and were satisfied; and [1]the broken pieces which they had left over were picked up, twelve [a]baskets full.

18 [a]And it happened that while He was [b]praying alone, the disciples were with Him, and He questioned them, saying, "Who do the [1]people say that I am?"

19 They answered and said, "John the Baptist, and others say Elijah; but others, that one of the prophets of old has risen again."

20 And He said to them, "But who do you say that I am?" And Peter answered and said, "[a]The [1]Christ of God."

21 But He [1a]warned them and instructed them not to tell this to anyone,

22 [a]saying, "[b]The Son of Man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed and be raised up on the third day."

23 And He was saying to them all, "[a]If anyone wishes to come after Me, he must deny himself, and take up his cross daily and follow Me.

24 "For [a]whoever wishes to save his [1]life will lose it, but whoever loses his [1]life for My sake, he is the one who will save it.

25 "For what is a man profited if he gains the whole world, and [a]loses or forfeits himself?

26 "[a]For whoever is ashamed of Me and My words, the Son of Man will be ashamed of him when He comes in His glory, and the glory of the Father and of the holy angels.

27 "But I say to you truthfully, [a]there are some of those standing here who will not taste death until they see the kingdom of God."

The Transfiguration

28 [a]Some eight days after these sayings, He took along [b]Peter and John and James, and [c]went up on the mountain [d]to pray.

29 And while He was [a]praying, the appearance of His face [b]became different, and His clothing became white and [1]gleaming.

30 And behold, two men were talking with Him; and they were Moses and Elijah,

9:12 the day was ending. After the preaching and healing, the question was raised about food and lodging because they were in an isolated place. Jesus may have introduced the question (see John 6:5), but the Synoptics indicate that the disciples were also concerned.

9:14 sit down to eat in groups of about fifty. See note on Mark 6:40.

9:17 the broken pieces . . . were picked up, twelve baskets full. This act served as an example of avoiding wastefulness and as a demonstration that everyone had been adequately fed (see note on Mark 6:43).

9:18 Who do the people say that I am? The report brought by the disciples was the same as the one that reached Herod (see vv. 7–8). This event occurred to the north, outside Herod's territory, in the vicinity of Caesarea Philippi (see Matt 16:13 and note; see also note on Mark 7:24).

9:20 Peter answered. He was the spokesman for the disciples. The Christ of God. See note on 2:11. This predicted Deliverer (the Messiah) had been awaited for centuries (see John 4:25; see also notes on Matt 16:18; Mark 8:29).

9:21 warned them . . . not to tell. The people had false notions about the Messiah and needed to be taught further before Jesus identified Himself explicitly to the public. He had a crucial schedule to keep and could not be interrupted by premature reactions (see notes on Matt 8:4; 16:20; Mark 1:34).

9:22 Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31. must suffer. Jesus' first explicit prediction of His death (for later references see v. 44; 12:50; 17:25; 18:31–33; cf. 24:7,25–27).

9:23 take up his cross daily. To follow Jesus requires self-denial, complete dedication and willing obedience. Luke emphasizes continued action, and "daily" is not mentioned explicitly in the parallel accounts (Matt 16:24–26; Mark 8:34). Disciples from Galilee knew what the cross meant, for hundreds of men had been executed by this means in their region.

9:24 whoever loses his life for My sake. A saying of Jesus found in all four Gospels and in two Gospels more than once (Matt 10:38–39; 16:24–25; Mark 8:34–35; Luke 14:26–27; 17:33; and, in slightly different form, John 12:25). No other saying of Jesus is given such emphasis.

9:26 whoever is ashamed. See 12:9; see also note on Mark 8:38.

9:27 See note on Matt 16:28. kingdom of God. See note on Matt 3:2.

9:28 Some eight days. Frequently used to indicate a week (cf. John 20:26; see note on Matt 17:1). Peter and John and James. These three were also with Jesus at the healing of Jairus's daughter (8:51) and in His last visit to Gethsemane (Mark 14:33). on the mountain. Although Mount Tabor is the traditional site of the Mount of Transfiguration, its distance from Caesarea Philippi (the vicinity of the last scene), its height (about 1,800 feet) and its occupation by a fortress make it unlikely. Mount Hermon fits the context much better by being both closer and higher (over 9,000 feet; see Mark 9:2). pray. Again Luke points out the place of prayer in an important event.

9:30 Moses and Elijah. Moses, the great OT deliverer and law-ing of His [a]departure which He was about to accomplish at Jerusalem.

32 Now Peter and his companions [a]had been overcome with sleep; but when they were fully awake, they saw His glory and the two men standing with Him.

33 And as [1]these were leaving Him, Peter said to Jesus, "[a]Master, it is good for us to be here; [b]let us make three [2]tabernacles: one for You, and one for Moses, and one for Elijah"—[c]not realizing what he was saying.

34 While he was saying this, a cloud [1]formed and began to overshadow them; and they were afraid as they entered the cloud.

35 Then [a]a voice came out of the cloud, saying, "[b]This is My Son, My Chosen One; listen to Him!"

36 And when the voice [1]had spoken, Jesus was found alone. And [a]they kept silent, and reported to no one in those days any of the things which they had seen.

37 [a]On the next day, when they came down from the mountain, a large crowd met Him.

38 And a man from the crowd shouted, saying, "Teacher, I beg You to look at my son, for he is my [1]only boy,

39 and a spirit seizes him, and he suddenly screams, and it throws him into a convulsion with foaming at the mouth; and only with difficulty does it leave him, mauling him as it leaves.

40 "I begged Your disciples to cast it out, and they could not."

41 And Jesus answered and said, "You unbelieving and perverted generation, how long shall I be with you and put up with you? Bring your son here."

42 While he was still approaching, the demon [1]slammed him to the ground and threw him into a convulsion. But Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, and healed the boy and gave him back to his father.

43 And they were all amazed at the [1][a]greatness of God.

[b]But while everyone was marveling at all that He was doing, He said to His disciples,

44 "Let these words sink into your ears; [a]for the Son of Man is going to be [1]delivered into the hands of men."

45 But [a]they [1]did not understand this statement, and it was concealed from them so that they would not perceive it; and they were afraid to ask Him about this statement.

The Test of Greatness

46 [a]An argument [1]started among them as to which of them might be the greatest.

47 But Jesus, [a]knowing [1]what they were thinking in their heart, took a child and stood him by His side,

48 and said to them, "[a]Whoever receives this child in My name receives Me, and whoever receives Me receives Him who sent Me; [b]for the one who is least among all of you, this is the one who is great."

49 [a]John answered and said, "[b]Master, we saw someone casting out demons in Your name; and we tried to prevent him because he does not follow along with us."

50 But Jesus said to him, "Do not hinder him; [a]for he who is not against you is [1]for you."

51 When the days were approaching for [a]His [1]ascension, He [2]was determined [b]to go to Jerusalem;

52 and He sent messengers on ahead of Him, and they went and entered a village of giver, and Elijah, the representative of the prophets. Moses' work had been finished by Joshua, Elijah's by Elisha (another form of the name Joshua). They now spoke with Jesus (whose Hebrew name was Joshua) about the "exodus" He was about to accomplish, by which He would deliver His people from the bondage of sin and bring to fulfillment the work of both Moses and Elijah (see note on 1 Kin 19:16).

9:31 departure. Greek exodos, a euphemism for Jesus' approaching death. It may also link Jesus' saving death and resurrection with God's saving of His people out of Egypt.

9:32 overcome with sleep. Perhaps the event was at night. saw His glory. See note on Ex 33:18.

9:33 three tabernacles. Temporary structures to prolong the visit of the three important persons: lawgiver, prophet and Messiah. The idea was not appropriate, however, because Jesus had a work to finish in His few remaining days on earth (see note on Mark 9:5).

9:35 My Chosen One. Related to a Jewish title found in Dead Sea Scrolls literature, and possibly echoing Is 42:1. See 23:35. "Chosen" parallels "beloved" in Matt 17:5 (see 2 Pet 1:17).

9:39 a spirit seizes him. This evil spirit was causing seizures (Matt 17:15) and a speechless condition (Mark 9:17). Evil spirits were responsible for many kinds of affliction (see note on 4:33).

9:44 Another prediction of Jesus' coming death (see note on v. 22), an indication of how it will be brought about (see 22:21).

9:46 which . . . might be the greatest. A subject that arose on a number of occasions (see 22:24; see also Mark 10:35–45).

9:48 the one who is least . . . is great. A person will become great as he sincerely and unpretentiously looks away from self to revere God.

9:49 does not follow along with us. Jesus shifts the pronoun to "you" in v. 50, which may mean that the man had a relationship to Jesus of which the disciples were unaware (see note on Mark 9:38).

9:50 he who is not against you is for you. Spoken in the context of opposition to the disciples' work (cf. 11:23, set in a different context).

9:51 was determined to go to Jerusalem. Lit. "set His face to go to Jerusalem" (cf. Is 50:7). Luke emphasizes Jesus' determination to complete His mission (see note on 13:22). This journey to Jerusalem, however, is not the one that led to His crucifixion but marks the beginning of a period of ministry in Judea, of which Jerusalem was the central city. Mark 10:1 notes this departure for Judea, which John more specifically describes as a journey to Jerusalem during the time of the Feast of Booths (John 7:1–10). The Judean ministry (see Introduction: Outline) is recounted in 9:51–13:21 and John 7:10–10:39.

9:52 a village of the Samaritans. Samaritans were particularly hostile to Jews who were on their way to observe religious festivals in Jerusalem. It was at least a three-day journey from Gal-the [a]Samaritans to [1]make arrangements for Him.

53 But they did not receive Him, [a]because [1]He was traveling toward Jerusalem.

54 When His disciples [a]James and John saw this, they said, "Lord, do You want us to [b]command fire to come down from heaven and consume them?"

55 But He turned and rebuked them, [1]and said, "You do not know what kind of spirit you are of;

56 for the Son of Man did not come to destroy men's lives, but to save them."] And they went on to another village.

Exacting Discipleship

57 [a]As they were going along the road, [b]someone said to Him, "I will follow You wherever You go."

58 And Jesus said to him, "The foxes have holes and the birds of the [1]air have [2]nests, but [a]the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head."

59 And He said to another, "[a]Follow Me." But he said, "Lord, permit me first to go and bury my father."

60 But He said to him, "Allow the dead to bury their own dead; but as for you, go and [a]proclaim everywhere the kingdom of God."

61 Another also said, "I will follow You, Lord; but [a]first permit me to say good-bye to those at home."

62 But Jesus said to him, "[a]No one, after putting his hand to the plow and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God."

The Seventy Sent Out

10 Now after this [a]the Lord appointed [1]seventy [b]others, and sent them [c]in pairs ahead of Him to every city and place where He Himself was going to come.

2 And He was saying to them, "[a]The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few; therefore beseech the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into His harvest.

3 "Go; [a]behold, I send you out as lambs in the midst of wolves.

4 "[a]Carry no money belt, no [1]bag, no shoes; and greet no one on the way.

5 "Whatever house you enter, first say, 'Peace be to this house.'

6 "If a [1]man of peace is there, your peace will rest on him; but if not, it will return to you.

7 "Stay in [1]that house, eating and drinking [2]what they give you; for [a]the laborer is worthy of his wages. Do not keep moving from house to house.

8 "Whatever city you enter and they receive you, [a]eat what is set before you;

9 and heal those in it who are sick, and say to them, '[a]The kingdom of God has come near to you.'

10 "But whatever city you enter and they do not receive you, go out into its streets and say,

11 '[a]Even the dust of your city which clings to our feet we wipe off in protest against you; yet [1]be sure of this, that [b]the kingdom of God has come near.'

12 "I say to you, [a]it will be more tolerable in that day for [b]Sodom than for that city.

13 "[a]Woe to you, [b]Chorazin! Woe to you, [b]Bethsaida! For if the [1]miracles had been performed in [b]Tyre and Sidon which occurred in you, they would have repented long ago, sitting in [2c]sackcloth and ashes.

14 "But it will be more tolerable for [a]Tyre and Sidon in the judgment than for you.

15 "And you, [a]Capernaum, will not be exalted to heaven, will you? You will be brought down to Hades!

ilee to Jerusalem through Samaria, and Samaritans refused overnight shelter for the pilgrims. Because of this antipathy, Jews traveling between Galilee and Jerusalem frequently went on the east side of the Jordan River.

9:54 command fire to come down. As Elijah had (2 Kin 1:9–16). James and John were known as "Sons of Thunder" (Mark 3:17).

9:55 rebuked them. See note on 2 Kin 1:10.

9:57 As they were going along. Continuing their journey through Samaria to Jerusalem.

9:59 bury my father. If his father had already died, the man would have been occupied with the burial then. But evidently he wanted to wait until after his father's death, which might have been years away. Jesus told him that the spiritually dead could bury the physically dead, and that the spiritually alive should be busy proclaiming the kingdom of God.

10:1 appointed seventy. Recorded only in Luke, though similar instructions were given to the twelve (Matt 9:37–38; 10:7–16; Mark 6:7–11; cf. Luke 9:3–5). Certain differences in early manuscripts make it unclear as to whether the number was 70 or 72. Jesus covered Judea with His message (see note on 9:51) as thoroughly as He had Galilee. in pairs. During His ministry in Galilee, Jesus had also sent out the twelve in pairs (see 9:1–6; Mark 6:7 and notes), a practice continued in the early church (Acts 13:2; 15:27,39–40; 17:14; 19:22).

10:4 Carry no money belt, no bag, no shoes. They were to travel light, without moneybag, luggage or extra sandals. greet no one. They were not to stop along the way to visit and exchange customary lengthy greetings. The mission was urgent.

10:7 Do not keep moving. See note on 9:4.

10:9 The kingdom of God has come near. The heart of Jesus' message (see notes on 4:43; Matt 3:2).

10:11 dust . . . we wipe off. See note on 9:5.

10:12 more tolerable . . . for Sodom. Although Sodom was so sinful that God destroyed it (Gen 19:24–28; Jude 7), the people who heard the message of Jesus and His disciples were even more accountable, because they had the gospel of the kingdom preached to them. that day. Judgment day.

10:13 Chorazin . . . Bethsaida. See note on Matt 11:21.

10:14 Tyre and Sidon. Gentile cities in Phoenicia, north of Galilee, which had not had opportunity to witness Jesus' miracles and hear His preaching as the people had in most of Galilee (see note on v. 12).

10:15 Capernaum. Jesus' headquarters on the north shore of Galilee (see Matt 4:13 and note), whose inhabitants had many

16 "[a]The one who listens to you listens to Me, and [b]the one who rejects you rejects Me; and he who rejects Me rejects the One who sent Me."

The Happy Results

17 The [1]seventy returned with joy, saying, "Lord, even [a]the demons are subject to us in Your name."

18 And He said to them, "I was watching [a]Satan fall from heaven like lightning.

19 "Behold, I have given you authority to [a]tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing will injure you.

20 "Nevertheless do not rejoice in this, that the spirits are subject to you, but rejoice that [a]your names are recorded in heaven."

21 [a]At that very [1]time He rejoiced greatly in the Holy Spirit, and said, "I [2]praise You, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that You have hidden these things from the wise and intelligent and have revealed them to infants. Yes, Father, for this way was well-pleasing in Your sight.

22 "[a]All things have been handed over to Me by My Father, and [b]no one knows who the Son is except the Father, and who the Father is except the Son, and anyone to whom the Son wills to reveal Him."

23 [a]Turning to the disciples, He said privately, "Blessed are the eyes which see the things you see,

24 for I say to you, that many prophets and kings wished to see the things which you see, and did not see them, and to hear the things which you hear, and did not hear them."

25 [a]And a [1][b]lawyer stood up and put Him to the test, saying, "Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?"

26 And He said to him, "What is written in the Law? [1]How does it read to you?"

27 And he answered, "[a]YOU SHALL LOVE THE LORD YOUR GOD WITH ALL YOUR HEART, AND WITH ALL YOUR SOUL, AND WITH ALL YOUR STRENGTH, AND WITH ALL YOUR MIND; AND YOUR NEIGHBOR AS YOURSELF."

28 And He said to him, "You have answered correctly; [a]DO THIS AND YOU WILL LIVE."

29 But wishing [a]to justify himself, he said to Jesus, "And who is my neighbor?"

The Good Samaritan

30 Jesus replied and said, "A man was [a]going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among robbers, and they stripped him and [1]beat him, and went away leaving him half dead.

31 "And by chance a priest was going down on that road, and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side.

32 "Likewise a Levite also, when he came to the place and saw him, passed by on the other side.

33 "But a [a]Samaritan, who was on a journey, came upon him; and when he saw him, he felt compassion, 34 and came to him and bandaged up his wounds, pouring oil and wine on them; and he put him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn and took care of him.

35 "On the next day he took out two [1]denarii and gave them to the innkeeper and said, 'Take care of him; and whatever more you spend, when I return I will repay you.'

36 "Which of these three do you think proved to be a neighbor to the man who fell into the robbers' hands?"

37 And he said, "The one who showed mercy toward him." Then Jesus said to him, "Go and do [1]the same."

Martha and Mary

38 Now as they were traveling along, He entered a village; and a woman named [a]Martha welcomed Him into her home.

opportunities to see and hear Jesus. Therefore the condemnation for their rejection was the greater.

10:18 Satan fall. Even the demons were driven out by the disciples (v. 17), which meant that Satan was suffering defeat.

10:19 serpents and scorpions . . . power of the enemy. The snakes and scorpions may represent evil spirits; the enemy is Satan himself.

10:20 Man's salvation is more important than power to overcome the evil one or escape his harm. your names are recorded. Salvation is recorded in heaven (see Ps 69:28; Dan 12:1; Phil 4:3; Heb 12:23; Rev 3:5).

10:25 lawyer. A scholar well versed in Scripture asked a common question (18:18; cf. Matt 22:35), either to take issue with Jesus or simply to see what kind of teacher He was. See note on 7:30.

10:27 LOVE . . . GOD . . . YOUR NEIGHBOR. Elsewhere Jesus uses these words in reply to another question (Matt 22:35–40; Mark 12:28–32), putting the same two Scriptures together (Deut 6:5; Lev 19:18). Whether a fourfold love (heart, soul, strength and mind, as here and in Mark 12:30) or threefold (Deut 6:5; Matt 22:37; Mark 12:33), the significance is that total devotion is demanded.

10:29 to justify himself. The answer to his first question was obviously one he knew, so to gain credibility he asked for an interpretation. In effect he said, "But the real question is: Who is my neighbor?"

10:30 Jerusalem to Jericho. A distance of 17 miles and a descent from about 2,500 feet above sea level to about 800 feet below sea level. The road ran through rocky, desert country, which provided places for robbers to waylay defenseless travelers.

10:31–33 priest . . . Levite . . . Samaritan. It is significant that the person Jesus commended was neither the religious leader nor the lay associate, but a hated foreigner. Jews viewed Samaritans as half-breeds, both physically (see note on Matt 10:5) and spiritually (see notes on John 4:20,22). Samaritans and Jews practiced open hostility (see note on 9:52), but Jesus asserted that love knows no national boundaries.

10:35 two denarii. Two days' wages, which would keep a man up to two months in an inn.

10:36 Which . . . proved to be a neighbor to the man . . . ? The question now became: Who proves he is the good neighbor by his actions?

10:38 a village. Bethany, about two miles from Jerusalem, was the home of Mary and Martha (John 12:1–3).

39 She had a sister called [a]Mary, who was [b]seated at the Lord's feet, listening to His word.

40 But [a]Martha was distracted with [1]all her preparations; and she came up to Him and said, "Lord, do You not care that my sister has left me to do all the serving alone? Then tell her to help me."

41 But the Lord answered and said to her, "[a]Martha, Martha, you are [b]worried and bothered about so many things;

42 [a]but only one thing is necessary, for [b]Mary has chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her."

Instruction about Prayer

11 It happened that while [1]Jesus was praying in a certain place, after He had finished, one of His disciples said to Him, "Lord, teach us to pray just as John also taught his disciples."

2 And He said to them, "[a]When you pray, say:

'[1]Father, hallowed be Your name.
Your kingdom come.
3 'Give us [a]each day our [1]daily bread.
4 'And forgive us our sins,
For we ourselves also forgive everyone who [a]is indebted to us.
And lead us not into temptation.' "

5 Then He said to them, "[1]Suppose one of you has a friend, and goes to him at midnight and says to him, 'Friend, lend me three loaves;

6 for a friend of mine has come to me from a journey, and I have nothing to set before him';

7 and from inside he answers and says, 'Do not bother me; the door has already been shut and my children [1]and I are in bed; I cannot get up and give you anything.'

8 "I tell you, even though he will not get up and give him anything because he is his friend, yet [a]because of his [1]persistence he will get up and give him as much as he needs.

9 "So I say to you, [1]ask, and it will be given to you; [2]seek, and you will find; [3]knock, and it will be opened to you.

10 "For everyone who asks, receives; and he who seeks, finds; and to him who knocks, it will be opened.

11 "Now [1]suppose one of you fathers is asked by his son for a [2]fish; he will not give him a snake instead of a fish, will he?

12 "Or if he is asked for an egg, he will not give him a scorpion, will he?

13 "[a]If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your [1]heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask Him?"

Pharisees' Blasphemy

14 [a]And He was casting out a demon, and it was mute; when the demon had gone out, the mute man spoke; and the crowds were amazed.

15 But some of them said, "He casts out demons [a]by [b]Beelzebul, the ruler of the demons."

16 Others, [1]to test Him, [a]were demanding of Him a [2]sign from heaven.

17 [a]But He knew their thoughts and said to them, "[1]Any kingdom divided against itself is laid waste; and a house divided against [2]itself falls.

18 "If [a]Satan also is divided against himself, how will his kingdom stand? For you say that I cast out demons by [b]Beelzebul.

19 "And if I by [a]Beelzebul cast out demons, by whom do your sons cast them out? So they will be your judges.

20 "But if I cast out demons by the [a]finger of God, then [b]the kingdom of God has come upon you.

11:1 Jesus was praying. Not only on special occasions (e.g., baptism, 3:21; choosing the twelve, 6:12; Gethsemane, 22:41) but also as a regular practice (5:16; Matt 14:23; Mark 1:35). teach us to pray. The Lord's model prayer was given here in answer to a request, and is similar to Matt 6:9–13, where it is a part of the Sermon on the Mount. Six petitions are included in the prayer as given in the Sermon on the Mount by Matthew (combining the last two petitions into one), whereas five appear in the prayer in Luke.

11:4 forgive us our sins. Matt 6:12 has "debts," but the meaning is the same as "sins." Jesus taught this truth on other occasions as well (Matt 18:35; Mark 11:25). The prayer is a pattern for believers, who have already been forgiven for their sins. Jesus speaks here of daily forgiveness, which is necessary to restore broken communion with God.

11:5–13 Jesus now urged persistence in prayer (vv. 5–8) and gave assurance that God answers prayer (vv. 9–13). The argument is from the lesser to the greater (see v. 13).

11:13 give the Holy Spirit. Matt 7:11 has "give what is good," probably referring to spiritual gifts. Luke emphasizes the work of the Spirit, the greatest of God's gifts.

11:14 demon, and it was mute. See note on 4:33. This evil spirit caused muteness. The probable parallel passage in Matthew (12:22–30; see also Mark 3:20–27) indicates that the man was also blind.

11:15 Beelzebul, the ruler of the demons. Satan (v. 18). See note on Matt 10:25.

11:16 a sign from heaven. Jesus had just healed a mute. Here was their sign, and they would not recognize it.

11:17 kingdom divided against itself. If Satan gave power to Jesus, who opposed Him in every way, Satan would be supporting an attack upon himself.

11:19 by whom do your sons . . . ? Jesus did not say whether the followers of the Pharisees (see Matt 12:24) actually drove out demons (see note on v. 24); but they claimed to drive them out by the power of God, and Jesus claimed the same. So to accuse Jesus of using Satanic power was implicitly to condemn their own followers as well. your judges. They will condemn you for your accusation against them.

11:20 the kingdom of God has come. In the sense that the King was present in the person of Jesus (see note on 4:43) and that the powers of evil were being overthrown.

21 "When [1]a strong man, fully armed, guards his own house, his possessions are [2]undisturbed.
22 "But when someone stronger than he attacks him and overpowers him, he takes away from him all his armor on which he had relied and distributes his plunder.
23 "[a]He who is not with Me is against Me;
and he who does not gather with Me, scatters.
24 "[a]When the unclean spirit goes out of [1]a man, it passes through waterless places seeking rest, and not finding any, it says, 'I will return to my house from which I came.'
25 "And when it comes, it finds it swept and put in order.
26 "Then it goes and takes along seven other spirits more evil than itself, and they go in and live there; and the last state of that man becomes worse than the first."
27 While [1]Jesus was saying these things, one of the women in the crowd raised her voice and said to Him, "[a]Blessed is the womb that bore You and the breasts at which You nursed."
28 But He said, "On the contrary, blessed are [a]those who hear the word of God and observe it."

The Sign of Jonah

29 As the crowds were increasing, He began to say, "[a]This generation is a wicked generation; it [b]seeks for a [1]sign, and yet no [1]sign will be given to it but the [1]sign of Jonah.
30 "For just as [a]Jonah became a [1]sign to the Ninevites, so will the Son of Man be to this generation.
31 "The [a]Queen of the South will rise up with the men of this generation at the judgment and condemn them, because she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and behold, something greater than Solomon is here.
32 "The men of Nineveh will stand up with this generation at the judgment and condemn it, because [a]they repented at the preaching of Jonah; and behold, something greater than Jonah is here.
33 "[a]No one, after lighting a lamp, puts it away in a cellar nor under a basket, but on the lampstand, so that those who enter may see the light.
34 "[a]The eye is the lamp of your body;
when your eye is [1]clear, your whole body also is full of light; but when it is [2]bad, your body also is full of darkness.
35 "Then watch out that the light in you is not darkness.
36 "If therefore your whole body is full of light, with no dark part in it, it will be wholly illumined, as when the lamp illumines you with its rays."

Woes upon the Pharisees

37 Now when He had spoken, a Pharisee *asked Him to have lunch with him; and He went in, and reclined at the table.
38 When the Pharisee saw it, he was surprised that He had not first [1][a]ceremonially washed before the [2]meal.
39 But [a]the Lord said to him, "Now [b]you Pharisees clean the outside of the cup and of the platter; but [1]inside of you, you are full of robbery and wickedness.
40 "[a]You foolish ones, did not He who made the outside make the inside also?

11:22 someone stronger . . . attacks. Jesus was stronger than Beelzebub, and by His exorcism of demons He demonstrated that He had overpowered Satan and disarmed him. It was therefore foolish to suggest that Jesus had cast out demons by Satan's power.
11:23 The one who does not intentionally support Jesus opposes Him, making neutrality impossible. Even the worker in 9:50, whom the disciples said "does not follow along with us" (9:49), was apparently a believer, acting in Jesus' name (see note on Mark 9:38), and Jesus did not condemn him.
11:24 unclean spirit goes out. Jesus is perhaps referring to the work of Jewish exorcists, who claimed to cast out demons (cf. v. 19) but who rejected the kingdom of God and whose exorcisms were therefore ineffective. See Matt 12:43–45, where Jesus makes a similar comment about the Jewish nation of that day.
11:25 finds it swept. The place had been cleaned up but left unoccupied. A life reformed but lacking God's presence is open to reoccupancy by evil.
11:29 seeks for a sign. On several occasions Jews asked for miraculous signs (v. 16; Matt 12:38; Mark 8:11), but Jesus rejected their requests because they had wrong motives.
11:30 as Jonah became a sign. Jonah spent three days (see note on Matt 12:40) "buried" in the huge fish, just as Jesus would be buried for three days before His resurrection.
11:31–32 something greater than Solomon . . . something greater than Jonah. Jesus argued from the lesser to the greater. If the queen of Sheba responded positively to the wisdom of Solomon, and the men of Nineveh to the preaching of Jonah, how much more should the people of Jesus' day have responded to the ministry of Jesus, who is infinitely greater than Solomon or Jonah!
11:31 The Queen of the South. The queen of Sheba (see 1 Kin 10:1–10 and notes).
11:33 a basket. A container holding about one peck. may see the light. A lamp is meant to give light to those who are near it (see v. 36). Jesus had publicly exhibited the light of the gospel for all to see, but "a wicked generation" (v. 29) requested more spectacular signs. The problem was not with any failure in Jesus' part in giving light; it was with the faulty vision of his audience.
11:34 your eye is clear. Those asking for a sign do not need more light; they need clear eyes to allow the light to enter.
11:38 had not first ceremonially washed. Not commanded in the law but added in the tradition of the Pharisees (Mark 7:3; cf. Matt 15:9).
11:39 clean the outside. Engage in ceremonial washings of the body. robbery and wickedness. These Pharisees were more concerned about keeping ceremonies than about being moral (cf. Mark 7:20–23).
11:40 make the inside also. The inside of man (the "heart" and inner righteousness) is more important than the outside (ceremonial cleansing).

41 "But [a]give that which is within as charity, and [1]then all things are [b]clean for you.

42 "[a]But woe to you Pharisees! For you [b]pay tithe of mint and rue and every kind of garden herb, and yet disregard justice and the love of God; but these are the things you should have done without neglecting the others.

43 "Woe to you Pharisees! For you [a]love the chief seats in the synagogues and the respectful greetings in the market places.

44 "[a]Woe to you! For you are like [1]concealed tombs, and the people who walk over them are unaware of it."

45 One of the [1a]lawyers *said to Him in reply, "Teacher, when You say this, You insult us too."

46 But He said, "Woe to you [a]lawyers as well! For [b]you weigh men down with burdens hard to bear, [1]while you yourselves will not even touch the burdens with one of your fingers.

47 "[a]Woe to you! For you build the [1]tombs of the prophets, and it was your fathers who killed them.

48 "So you are witnesses and approve the deeds of your fathers; because it was they who killed them, and you build their tombs.

49 "For this reason also [a]the wisdom of God said, '[b]I will send to them prophets and apostles, and some of them they will kill and some they will [1]persecute,

50 so that the blood of all the prophets, shed [a]since the foundation of the world, may be [1]charged against this generation, 54 [a]plotting against Him [b]to catch [1]Him in something He might say.

God Knows and Cares

12 Under these circumstances, after [1]so many thousands of [2]people had gathered together that they were stepping on one another, He began saying to His disciples first of all, "[a]Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy.

2 "[a]But there is nothing covered up that will not be revealed, and hidden that will not be known.

3 "Accordingly, whatever you have said in the dark will be heard in the light, and what you have [1]whispered in the inner rooms will be proclaimed upon [a]the housetops.

4 "I say to you, [a]My friends, do not be afraid of those who kill the body and after that have no more that they can do.

5 "But I will [1]warn you whom to fear: [a]fear the One who, after He has killed, has authority to cast into [2b]hell; yes, I tell you, fear Him!

6 "Are not [a]five sparrows sold for two [1]cents? Yet not one of them is forgotten before God.

7 "[a]Indeed, the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Do not fear; you are more valuable than many sparrows.

11:41 all things are clean. Giving from the heart makes everything else right. If one gives to the poor, his heart is no longer in the grip of "robbery and wickedness" (v. 39).

11:44 concealed tombs. The Jews whitewashed their tombs so that no one would accidentally touch them and be defiled (cf. Num 19:16; Matt 23:27). Just as touching a grave resulted in ceremonial uncleanness, being influenced by these corrupt religious leaders could lead to moral uncleanness.

11:45 lawyers. See note on 7:30.

11:46 weigh men down. By adding rules and regulations to the authentic law of Moses (see note on Matt 15:2) and doing nothing to help others keep them (Matt 23:4), while inventing ways for themselves to circumvent them.

11:47 tombs of the prophets. Outwardly these "lawyers" (v. 46) appeared to honor the prophets in building or rebuilding memorials, but inwardly they rejected the Christ the prophets announced. They lived in opposition to the teachings of the prophets, just as their forefathers had done.

11:49 the wisdom of God said. Not a quotation from the OT or any other known book. It may refer to God speaking through Jesus, or it may be referring in quotation form to God's decision to send prophets and apostles even though He knew they would be rejected.

11:51 blood of Abel . . . Zechariah. See note on Matt 23:35.

11:52 the key of knowledge. The very persons who should have opened the people's minds concerning the law obscured their understanding by faulty interpretation and an erroneous system of theology. They kept themselves and the people in ignorance of the way of salvation, or, as Matthew's account puts it, they "shut off the kingdom of heaven from people" (Matt 23:13).

11:54 plotting . . . to catch Him. The determination of the religious leaders to trap Jesus is evident throughout Luke (6:11; 19:47–48; 20:19–20; 22:2).

12:1 leaven of the Pharisees. See note on Mark 8:15.

12:2 nothing covered up that will not be revealed. In this context the meaning is that nothing hidden through hypocrisy will fail to be made known.

12:3 inner rooms. Storerooms were surrounded by other rooms so that no one could dig in from outside.

12:4 after that have no more that they can do. Encouragement in the face of persecution (see Matt 10:28).

12:5 authority to cast into hell. God alone has this power. The Greek word for "hell" is ge(h)enna (see note on Matt 5:22), not to be confused with Hades, the general name for the place of the dead. In the NT ge(h)enna is used only in Matthew, Mark, James 3:6 and here. fear Him. Respect His authority, stand in awe of His majesty and trust in Him. Verses 6–7 give the basis for trust.

12:6 five sparrows sold for two cents. God even cares for little birds, sold cheaply for food. Three words used for Roman coins are denarius (Matt 18:28), assarion (Matt 10:29, NASB marg.) and quadrans (Matt 5:26, NASB marg.), very loosely related to each other as are a 50-cent piece, nickel and penny. The coins here

8 "And I say to you, everyone who [a]confesses Me before men, the Son of Man will confess him also before the angels of God;

9 but [a]he who denies Me before men will be denied [b]before the angels of God.

10 "[a]And everyone who [1]speaks a word against the Son of Man, it will be forgiven him; but he who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit, it will not be forgiven him.

11 "When they bring you before [a]the synagogues and the rulers and the authorities, do not [b]worry about how or what you are to speak in your defense, or what you are to say;

12 for [a]the Holy Spirit will teach you in that very hour what you ought to say."

Covetousness Denounced

13 Someone [1]in the crowd said to Him, "Teacher, tell my brother to divide the family inheritance with me."

14 But He said to him, "[a]Man, who appointed Me a judge or arbitrator over you?"

15 Then He said to them, "[a]Beware, and be on your guard against every form of greed; for not even when one has an abundance does his life consist of his possessions."

16 And He told them a parable, saying, "The land of a rich man was very productive.

17 "And he began reasoning to himself, saying, 'What shall I do, since I have no place to store my crops?'

18 "Then he said, 'This is what I will do: I will tear down my barns and build larger ones, and there I will store all my grain and my goods.

19 'And I will say to my soul, "Soul, [a]you have many goods laid up for many years to come; take your ease, eat, drink and be merry." '

20 "But God said to him, '[a]You fool! This very night [1b]your soul is required of you; and [c]now who will own what you have prepared?'

21 "So is the man who [a]stores up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God."

22 And He said to His disciples, "[a]For this reason I say to you, [1]do not worry about your [2]life, as to what you will eat; nor for your body, as to what you will put on.

23 "For life is more than food, and the body more than clothing.

24 "Consider the [a]ravens, for they neither sow nor reap; they have no storeroom nor [b]barn, and yet God feeds them; how much more valuable you are than the birds!

25 "And which of you by worrying can add a single [1a]hour to his [2]life's span?

26 "If then you cannot do even a very little thing, why do you worry about other matters?

27 "Consider the lilies, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin; but I tell you, not even [a]Solomon in all his glory clothed himself like one of these.

28 "But if God so clothes the grass in the field, which is alive today and tomorrow is thrown into the furnace, how much more will He clothe you? [a]You men of little faith!

29 "And do not seek what you will eat and what you will drink, and do not [a]keep worrying.

30 "For [1]all these things the nations of the world eagerly seek; but your Father knows that you need these things.

31 "But seek His kingdom, and [a]these things will be added to you.

32 "[a]Do not be afraid, [b]little flock, for [c]your Father has chosen gladly to give you the kingdom.

33 "[a]Sell your possessions and give to charity; make yourselves money belts which do not wear out, [b]an unfailing treasure in heaven, where no thief comes near nor moth destroys.

34 "For [a]where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

Be in Readiness

35 "[1a]Be dressed in [b]readiness, and keep your lamps lit.

36 "Be like men who are waiting for their master when he returns from the wedding feast, so that they may immediately open the door to him when he comes and knocks.

are assaria, so the transaction would be something like five birds for two nickels.

12:8 confesses Me. When a person acknowledges that Jesus is the Messiah, the Son of God (Matt 16:16; 1 John 2:22), Jesus acknowledges that the individual is His loyal follower (cf. Matt 7:21).

12:9 will be denied. See 9:26; 2 Tim 2:12; cf. Matt 7:21; 25:41–46. The same word is used in Peter's denial (22:34, 61).

12:10 blasphemes against the Holy Spirit. See note on Matt 12:31; cf. Mark 3:28–29.

12:13 divide the family inheritance. Deut 21:17 gave the general rule that an elder son received double a younger one's portion. Disputes over such matters were normally settled by rabbis. This man's request of Jesus was selfish and materialistic. There is no indication that the man had been listening seriously to what Jesus had been saying (cf. vv. 1–11). Jesus replied with a parable about the consequences of greed.

12:16 parable. See note on 8:4.

12:20 fool! A strong word (11:40; Eph 5:17).

12:31 seek His kingdom. Since v. 32 suggests that Jesus is speaking to believers, who already possess the kingdom, this command probably means that Christians should seek the spiritual benefits of the kingdom rather than the material goods of the world (cf. Matt 6:33).

12:33 give to charity. The danger of riches and the need for giving are characteristic themes in Luke (3:11; 6:30; 11:41; 14:13–14; 16:9; 18:22; 19:8).

12:37 gird himself to serve. The master reverses the normal roles and serves the slaves (cf. 22:27; Mark 10:45; John 13:4–5, 12–16).

himself to serve, and have them recline at the table, and will come up and wait on them.

38"[a] Whether he comes in the [1]second watch, or even in the [2]third, and finds them so, blessed are those slaves.

39"[a] But [1]be sure of this, that if the head of the house had known at what hour the thief was coming, he would not have allowed his house to be [2b]broken into.

40"[a] You too, be ready; for the Son of Man is coming at an hour that you do not [1]expect."

41 Peter said, "Lord, are You addressing this parable to us, or [a]to everyone else as well?"

42 And [a]the Lord said, "[b]Who then is the faithful and sensible [c]steward, whom his master will put in charge of his [1]servants, to give them their rations at the proper time?

43"Blessed is that [a]slave whom his [1]master finds so doing when he comes.

44"Truly I say to you that he will put him in charge of all his possessions.

45"But if that slave says in his heart, 'My master [1]will be a long time in coming,' and begins to beat the slaves, both men and women, and to eat and drink and get drunk;

46 the master of that slave will come on a day when he does not expect him and at an hour he does not know, and will cut him in pieces, and assign him a place with the unbelievers.

47"And that slave who knew his master's will and did not get ready or act in accord with his will, will [a]receive many lashes,

48 but the one who did not [a]know it, and committed deeds worthy of [1]a flogging, will receive but few. [b]From everyone who has been given much, much will be required; and to whom they entrusted much, of him they will ask all the more.

13:1 [1]I.e. shed along with [a]Matt 27
2 [a]John 9:2f

50"But I have a [a]baptism to [1]undergo, and how distressed I am until it is accomplished!

51"[a]Do you suppose that I came to grant peace on earth? I tell you, no, but rather division;

52 for from now on five members in one household will be divided, three against two and two against three.

53"They will be divided, [a]father against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother, mother-in-law against daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against mother-in-law."

54 And He was also saying to the crowds, "[a]When you see a cloud rising in the west, immediately you say, 'A shower is coming,' and so it turns out.

55"And when you see a south wind blowing, you say, 'It will be a [a]hot day,' and it turns out that way.

56"You hypocrites! [a]You know how to analyze the appearance of the earth and the sky, but [1]why do you not analyze this present time?

57"And [a]why do you not even on your own initiative judge what is right?

58"For [a]while you are going with your opponent to appear before the magistrate, on your way there make an effort to [1]settle with him, so that he may not drag you before the judge, and the judge turn you over to the officer, and the officer throw you into prison.

59"I say to you, you will not get out of there until you have paid the very last [1a]cent."

Call to Repent

13 Now on the same occasion there were some present who reported to Him about the Galileans whose blood [a]Pilate had [1]mixed with their sacrifices.

2 And Jesus said to them, "[a]Do you sup-

12:38 second watch, or even in the third. Night was divided into four watches by the Romans (Mark 13:35) and three by the Jews (Judg 7:19); see note on Matt 14:25. These were probably the last two of the Jewish watches. The feast would have begun in the first watch.
12:40 Christ's return is certain, but the time is not known (cf. Matt 24:36).
12:41 Jesus taught the people in parables but used a more direct approach with the disciples. However, He did not intend these warnings of watchfulness just for the disciples (see Mark 13:37). In the following verses He emphasizes the duty to fulfill responsibilities.
12:42 sensible steward. An outstanding slave (v. 43) was sometimes left in charge of an estate (see 16:1).
12:46–48 cut him in pieces . . . receive many lashes . . . will receive but few. Three grades of punishment that the judge will mete out in proportion to both the privileges each person has enjoyed and his response to those privileges (see Rom 2:12–16).
12:49 fire. Applied figuratively in different ways in the NT (see note on 3:16). Here it is associated with judgment (v. 49) and division (v. 51). Judgment falls on the wicked, who are separated from the righteous.
12:50 baptism. The suffering that Jesus was to endure on the cross (see note on Mark 10:38). until it is accomplished. The words from the cross would pronounce the completion (John 19:28,30). Jesus wished that the hour of suffering were already past.
12:51 division. See note on Matt 10:34.
12:54–56 Wind from the west was from the Mediterranean Sea; from the south it was from the desert. Although people could use such indicators to forecast the weather, they could not recognize the signs of spiritual crisis, the coming of the Messiah, the threat of His death, the coming confrontation with Rome, and the eternal consequences these events would have for their own lives.
12:57 on your own initiative judge. Despite the insistence of the Pharisees, despite the Roman system, and even despite the pressure of family, a person must accept God on His terms. The signs of the times called for immediate decision—before judgment came on the Jewish nation.
12:58 settle with him, so that. Settle accounts before it is too late.
12:59 last cent. Greek lepton. If a kodrantes is compared to a penny (see note on v. 6), this coin corresponds to half a penny.
13:1 the Galileans. The incident is otherwise unknown, but having people killed while offering sacrifices in the temple fits pose that these Galileans were greater sinners than all other Galileans because they suffered this fate?

3 "I tell you, no, but unless you [1]repent, you will all likewise perish.

4 "Or do you suppose that those eighteen on whom the tower in [a]Siloam fell and killed them were worse [1b]culprits than all the men who live in Jerusalem?

5 "I tell you, no, but unless you repent, you will all likewise perish."

6 And He began telling this parable: "A man had [a]a fig tree which had been planted in his vineyard; and he came looking for fruit on it and did not find any.

7 "And he said to the vineyard-keeper, 'Behold, for three years I have come looking for fruit on this fig tree [1]without finding any. [a]Cut it down! Why does it even use up the ground?'

8 "And he answered and said to him, 'Let it alone, sir, for this year too, until I dig around it and put in fertilizer;

9 and if it bears fruit next year, fine; but if not, cut it down.' "

Healing on the Sabbath

10 And He was [a]teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath.

11 And there was a woman who for eighteen years had had [a]a sickness caused by a spirit; and she was bent double, and could not straighten up at all.

12 When Jesus saw her, He called her over and said to her, "Woman, you are freed from your sickness."

13 And He [a]laid His hands on her; and immediately she was made erect again and began [b]glorifying God.

14 But [a]the synagogue official, indignant because Jesus [b]had healed on the Sabbath, began saying to the crowd in response, "[c]There are six days in which work should be done; so come during them and get healed, and not on the Sabbath day."

15 But [a]the Lord answered him and said, "You hypocrites, [b]does not each of you on the Sabbath untie his ox or his donkey from the stall and lead him away to water him?

16 "And this woman, [a]a daughter of Abraham as she is, whom [b]Satan has bound for eighteen long years, should she not have been released from this bond on the Sabbath day?"

17 As He said this, all His opponents were being humiliated; and [a]the entire crowd was rejoicing over all the glorious things being done by Him.

Parables of Mustard Seed and Leaven

18 So [a]He was saying, "[b]What is the kingdom of God like, and to what shall I compare it?

19 "It is like a mustard seed, which a man took and threw into his own garden; and it grew and became a tree, and [a]THE BIRDS OF THE [1]AIR NESTED IN ITS BRANCHES."

20 And again He said, "[a]To what shall I compare the kingdom of God?

21 "[a]It is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in [b]three [1]pecks of flour until it was all leavened."

Teaching in the Villages

22 And He was passing through from one city and village to another, teaching, and [a]proceeding on His way to Jerusalem.

23 And someone said to Him, "Lord, are there just a few who are being saved?" And He said to them, the reputation of Pilate. These Galileans may have broken an important Roman regulation, which led to their bloody punishment.

13:2,4 greater sinners . . . worse culprits. In ancient times it was often assumed that a calamity would befall only those who were extremely sinful (see John 9:1–2; see also Job 4:7; 22:5, where Eliphaz falsely accused Job). But Jesus pointed out that all are sinners who must repent or face a fearful end.

13:4 those eighteen. Another unknown incident. the tower in Siloam. Built inside the southeast section of Jerusalem's wall.

13:6 fig tree. Probably refers to the Jewish nation (see note on Mark 11:14), but it may also apply to the individual soul.

13:7 for three years. A period of ample opportunity.

13:11 caused by a spirit. Various disorders were caused by evil spirits (see note on 4:33). The description of this woman's infirmity suggests that the bones of her spine were rigidly fused together.

13:12 freed. The spirit had been cast out, and the woman was freed from the bond of Satan and from her physical handicap.

13:14 synagogue official. See note on 8:41. healed on the Sabbath. A focal point of attack against Jesus was His conduct on the Sabbath (see 6:6–11; 14:1–6; Matt 12:1–8,11–12; John 5:1–18; see also Ex 20:9–10).

13:15 untie his ox. They had more regard for the needs of an animal than for the far greater need of a person. Jesus called His critics "hypocrites" because they pretended zeal for the law, but their motive was to attack Him and His healing.

13:19 mustard seed. See notes on Matt 13:31–32; Mark 4:31. Trees in Scripture are sometimes symbols of nations (see Ezek 17:23; 31:6; Dan 4:12,21).

13:21 leaven. See note on Matt 13:33. Its permeating quality is emphasized here as it works from the inside to affect all the dough. This parable speaks of the powerful influence of God's kingdom. three pecks. About one-half bushel or 20 quarts (22 liters); same amount as used by Sarah in Gen 18:6.

13:22 from one city and village to another. See chart, pp. 1408–1410. Somewhere between the events of 11:1 and 13:21 Jesus left Judea and began His work in and around Perea, which is recorded in 13:22–19:27; Matt 19:1–20:28; Mark 10; John 10:40–42. During the last part of the Perean ministry, it appears that He went north to Galilee and then traveled south again through Perea to Jericho and to Jerusalem. Some of Jesus' sayings that Luke attributes to the period of ministry in Perea are found in different settings in Matthew (7:13–14,22–23). Perhaps He repeated various sayings on different occasions. proceeding on His way to Jerusalem. Where He would die. Although Jesus was ministering throughout Perea, His eyes were constantly set on the Holy City and His ultimate destiny.

13:23 just a few . . . saved? Perhaps the questioner had observed that in spite of the very large crowds that came to 24 "[a]Strive to enter through the narrow door; for many, I tell you, will seek to enter and will not be able.

25 "Once the head of the house gets up and [a]shuts the door, and you begin to stand outside and knock on the door, saying, '[b]Lord, open up to us!' then He will answer and say to you, '[c]I do not know where you are from.'

26 "Then you will [a]begin to say, 'We ate and drank in Your presence, and You taught in our streets';

27 and He will say, 'I tell you, [a]I do not know where you are from; [b]DEPART FROM ME, ALL YOU EVILDOERS.'

28 "[a]In that place there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth when you see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God, but yourselves being thrown out.

29 "And they [a]will come from east and west and from north and south, and will recline at the table in the kingdom of God.

30 "And behold, [a]some are last who will be first and some are first who will be last."

31 Just at that time some Pharisees approached, saying to Him, "Go away, leave here, for [a]Herod wants to kill You."

32 And He said to them, "Go and tell that fox, 'Behold, I cast out demons and perform cures today and tomorrow, and the third day I [1][a]reach My goal.'

33 "Nevertheless [a]I must journey on today and tomorrow and the next day; for it cannot be that a [b]prophet would perish outside of Jerusalem.

34 "[a]O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the city that kills the prophets and stones those sent to her! How often I wanted to gather your children together, [b]just as a hen gathers her brood under her wings, and you would not have it!

14 It happened that when He went into the house of one of the [1]leaders of the Pharisees on the Sabbath to eat bread, [a]they were watching Him closely.

2 And [1]there in front of Him was a man suffering from dropsy.

3 And Jesus answered and spoke to the [1][a]lawyers and Pharisees, saying, "[b]Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath, or not?"

4 But they kept silent. And He took hold of him and healed him, and sent him away.

5 And He said to them, "[1][a]Which one of you will have a son or an ox fall into a well, and will not immediately pull him out on a Sabbath day?"

6 [a]And they could make no reply to this.

Parable of the Guests

7 And He began speaking a parable to the invited guests when He noticed how [a]they had been picking out the places of honor at the table, saying to them,

8 "When you are invited by someone to a wedding feast, [a]do not [1]take the place of honor, for someone more distinguished than you may have been invited by him, hear Jesus' preaching and be healed, there were only a few followers who were loyal. Jesus did not answer directly, but warned that many would try to enter after it was too late.

13:27 I do not know where you are from. See Matt 7:23; 25:12.

13:29 they . . . from east and west and from north and south. From the four corners of the world (Ps 107:3) and from among all people, including Gentiles.

13:31 Herod wants to kill You. See note on Matt 14:1. Jesus was probably in Perea, which was under Herod's jurisdiction (see note on 3:1). The Pharisees wanted to frighten Jesus into leaving this area and going to Judea.

13:32 fox. A crafty animal. today and tomorrow. In Semitic usage this phrase could refer to an indefinite but limited period of time. reach My goal. Jesus' life had a predetermined plan that would be carried out, and no harm could come to Him until His purpose was accomplished (cf. 4:43; 9:22).

13:33 outside of Jerusalem. Jesus' hour had not yet come (see 2:38; John 7:30; 8:20; cf. John 8:59; 10:39; 11:54). He would die in Jerusalem as had numerous prophets before Him.

13:34 How often . . . ! This lament over Jerusalem may suggest that Jesus was in Jerusalem more often than the Synoptics indicate (cf. John 2:13; 4:45; 5:1; 7:10; 10:22). However, the statement in vv. 34–35 may have been uttered some distance from Jerusalem, i.e., in Perea. According to Matt 23:37–38, the same utterance was spoken on Tuesday of Passion Week. Jesus repeated many of His teachings and sayings.

13:35 house is left . . . desolate. God will abandon His temple and His city (see 21:20,24; Jer 12:7; 22:5). not see Me until. See Zech 12:10; Rev 1:7; cf. Is 45:23; Rom 14:11; Phil 2:10–11.

14:1 on the Sabbath. Of seven recorded miracles on the Sabbath, Luke includes five (4:31,38; 6:6; 13:14; 14:1); the other two are John 5:10; 9:14. Concerning the vigil of the Pharisees see note on 13:14. Sabbath meals were prepared the day before.

14:2 dropsy. An accumulation of fluid that would indicate illness affecting other parts of the body. The Greek for this word is a medical term found only here in the NT (see Introduction: Author).

14:3 lawyers. See notes on 5:17; 7:30. By questioning them before the miracle, Jesus made it difficult for them to protest afterward.

14:5 have a son. Some manuscripts read "donkey" instead of "son." The reading "donkey" matches well with having an "ox fall into a well." But in Deut 5:14 the law is specified for both humans and animals; one category opens with "son" and another with "ox." Jesus' action was "unlawful" only according to rabbinic interpretations, not according to the Mosaic law itself.

14:7 places of honor. Maneuvering for better seats may also have caused trouble at the Last Supper (22:24).

will have honor in the sight of all who [1]are at the table with you.

11 "[a]For everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted."

12 And He also went on to say to the one who had invited Him, "When you give a luncheon or a dinner, do not invite your friends or your brothers or your relatives or rich neighbors, otherwise they may also invite you in return and that will be your repayment.

13 "But when you give a [1]reception, invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, the blind, 14 and you will be blessed, since they [1]do not have the means to repay you; for you will be repaid at [a]the resurrection of the righteous."

15 When one of those who were reclining at the table with Him heard this, he said to Him, "[a]Blessed is everyone who will eat bread in the kingdom of God!"

Parable of the Dinner

16 But He said to him, "[a]A man was giving a big dinner, and he invited many;

17 and at the dinner hour he sent his slave to say to those who had been invited, 'Come; for everything is ready now.'

18 "But they all alike began to make excuses. The first one said to him, 'I have bought a [1]piece of land and I need to go out and look at it; [2]please consider me excused.'

19 "Another one said, 'I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I am going to try them out; [1]please consider me excused.'

20 "Another one said, '[a]I have married a wife, and for that reason I cannot come.'

21 "And the slave came back and reported this to his master. Then the head of the household became angry and said to his slave, 'Go out at once into the streets and lanes of the city and bring in here the poor and crippled and blind and lame.'

22 "And the slave said, 'Master, what you commanded has been done, and still there is room.'

23 "And the master said to the slave, 'Go out into the highways and along the hedges, and compel them to come in, so that my house may be filled.

24 'For I tell you, none of those men who were invited shall taste of my dinner.' "

Discipleship Tested

25 Now [1]large crowds were going along with Him; and He turned and said to them,

26 "[a]If anyone comes to Me, and does not [1]hate his own father and mother and wife and children and brothers and sisters, yes, and even his own life, he cannot be My disciple.

27 "Whoever does not [a]carry his own cross and come after Me cannot be My disciple.

28 "For which one of you, when he wants to build a tower, does not first sit down and calculate the cost to see if he has enough to complete it?

29 "Otherwise, when he has laid a foundation and is not able to finish, all who observe it begin to ridicule him,

30 saying, 'This man began to build and was not able to finish.'

31 "Or what king, when he sets out to meet another king in battle, will not first sit down and [a]consider whether he is strong enough with ten thousand men to encounter the one coming against him with twenty thousand?

32 "Or else, while the other is still far away, he sends [1]a delegation and asks for terms of peace.

33 "So then, none of you can be My disciple who [a]does not give up all his own possessions.

34 "Therefore, salt is good; but [a]if even salt has become tasteless, with what will it be seasoned?

35 "It is useless either for the soil or for the manure pile; it is thrown out. [a]He who has ears to hear, [1]let him hear."

14:11 humbles himself will be exalted. A basic principle repeated often in the Bible (see 11:43; 18:14; 20:46; 2 Chr 7:14–15; Prov 3:34; 25:6- 7; Matt 18:4; 23:12; James 4:10; 1 Pet 5:6).

14:14 resurrection of the righteous. All will be resurrected (Dan 12:2; John 5:28–29; Acts 24:15). Some hold that the resurrection of the righteous (1 Cor 15:23; 1 Thess 4:16; Rev 20:4–6) is distinct from the "general" resurrection (1 Cor 15:12,21; Heb 6:2; Rev 20:11–15). the righteous. Those who have been pronounced so by God on the basis of Christ's atonement and who have evidenced their faith by their actions (cf. Matt 25:34–40).

14:15 eat bread in the kingdom. The great Messianic banquet to come. Association of the future kingdom with a feast was common (13:29; Is 25:6; Matt 8:11; 25:1–10; 26:29; Rev 19:9).

14:16 He said to him. Jesus used the man's remark as the occasion for a parable warning that not everyone would enter the kingdom.

14:18 bought a piece of land. The initial invitation must have been accepted, but when the final invitation came (by Jewish custom the announcement that came when the dinner was ready), other interests took priority. None of the "reasons" given was genuine. For example, one did not buy a field without first seeing it, nor oxen without first trying them out (v. 19).

14:24 those men who were invited. Without explicitly mentioning them, Jesus warned "the lawyers and Pharisees" (v. 3) that those who refused the invitation to his Messianic banquet would not get one taste of it, but others would (see 20:9–19; see also note on Matt 21:41).

14:26 hate his own father. A vivid hyperbole, meaning that one must love Jesus even more than his immediate family (see Mal 1:2–3 for another use of the figure). See Matt 10:37.

14:27 carry his own cross. See 9:23; Matt 10:38 and notes.

14:28 calculate the cost. Jesus did not want a blind, naive commitment that expected only blessings. As a builder estimates costs or a king evaluates military strength (v. 31), so a person must consider what Jesus expects of His followers.

14:33 give up all his own possessions. The cost, Jesus warned, is complete surrender to Him.

14:34 salt is good. See note on Mark 9:50.

The Lost Sheep

15 Now all the [a]tax collectors and the [1]sinners were coming near Him to listen to Him.

2 Both the Pharisees and the scribes began to grumble, saying, "This man receives sinners and [a]eats with them."

3 So He told them this parable, saying,

4 "[a]What man among you, if he has a hundred sheep and has lost one of them, does not leave the ninety-nine in the [1]open pasture and go after the one which is lost until he finds it?

5 "When he has found it, he lays it on his shoulders, rejoicing.

6 "And when he comes home, he calls together his friends and his neighbors, saying to them, 'Rejoice with me, for I have found my sheep which was lost!'

7 "I tell you that in the same way, there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine righteous persons who need no repentance.

The Lost Coin

8 "Or what woman, if she has ten [1]silver coins and loses one coin, does not light a lamp and sweep the house and search carefully until she finds it?

9 "When she has found it, she calls together her friends and neighbors, saying, 'Rejoice with me, for I have found the coin which I had lost!'

10 "In the same way, I tell you, there is joy [a]in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner who repents."

The Prodigal Son

11 And He said, "A man had two sons.

12 "The younger of them said to his father, 'Father, give me [a]the share of the estate that falls to me.' So he divided his [1][b]wealth between them.

13 "And not many days later, the younger son gathered everything together and went on a journey into a distant country, and there he squandered his estate with loose living.

14 "Now when he had spent everything, a severe famine occurred in that country, and he began to be impoverished.

15 "So he went and [1]hired himself out to one of the citizens of that country, and he sent him into his fields to feed swine.

16 "And he would have gladly filled his stomach with the [1]pods that the swine were eating, and no one was giving anything to him.

17 "But when he came to [1]his senses, he said, 'How many of my father's hired men have more than enough bread, but I am dying here with hunger!

18 'I will get up and go to my father, and will say to him, "Father, I have sinned against heaven, and [1]in your sight;

19 I am no longer worthy to be called your son; make me as one of your hired men." '

20 "So he got up and came to [1]his father. But while he was still a long way off, his father saw him and felt compassion for him, and ran and [2][a]embraced him and kissed him.

21 "And the son said to him, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and in your sight; I am no longer worthy to be called your son.'

22 "But the father said to his slaves, 'Quickly bring out [a]the best robe and put it on him, and [b]put a ring on his hand and sandals on his feet;

23 and bring the fattened calf, kill it, and let us eat and celebrate;

24 for this son of mine was [a]dead and has come to life again; he was lost and has been found.' And they began to celebrate.

25 "Now his older son was in the field, and when he came and approached the house, he heard music and dancing.

15:1 tax collectors and the sinners. See notes on 3:12; Mark 2:15.

15:2 began to grumble. Complained among themselves, but not openly. eats with them. More than simple association, eating with a person indicated acceptance and recognition (cf. Acts 11:3; 1 Cor 5:11; Gal 2:12).

15:3 this parable. Jesus responded with a story that contrasted the love of God with the exclusiveness of the Pharisees.

15:4 the one which is lost. The shepherd theme was familiar from Ps 23; Is 40:11; Ezek 34:11–16.

15:7 joy in heaven. God's concern and joy at the sinner's repentance are set in stark contrast to the attitude of the Pharisees and the scribes (v. 2). righteous . . . need no repentance. Probably irony: those who think they are righteous (such as the Pharisees and the scribes) and feel no need to repent.

15:8 ten silver coins. Ten drachmas. A drachma was a Greek coin approximately equivalent to the Roman denarius, worth about an average day's wages (Matt 20:2). search carefully. Near Eastern houses frequently had no windows and only earthen floors, making the search for a single coin difficult.

15:12 share of the estate. The father might divide the inheritance (double to the older son; see Deut 21:17 and note on Luke 12:13) but retain the income from it until his death. But to give a younger son his portion of the inheritance upon request was highly unusual.

15:13 gathered everything together. The son's motive becomes apparent when he departs, taking with him all his possessions and leaving nothing behind to come back to. He wants to be free of parental restraint and to spend his share of the family wealth as he pleases. loose living. More specific in v. 30, though the older brother may have exaggerated because of his bitter attitude.

15:15 to feed swine. The ultimate indignity for a Jew; not only was the work distasteful but pigs were "unclean" animals (Lev 11:7).

15:16 pods. Seeds of the carob tree.

15:22–23 best robe . . . ring . . . sandals . . . eat. Each was a sign of position and acceptance (cf. Gen 41:42; Zech 3:4): a long robe of distinction, a signet ring of authority, sandals like a son (slaves went barefoot), and the fattened calf for a special occasion.

26 "And he summoned one of the servants and began inquiring what these things could be.
27 "And he said to him, 'Your brother has come, and your father has killed the fattened calf because he has received him back safe and sound.'
28 "But he became angry and was not willing to go in; and his father came out and began pleading with him.
29 "But he answered and said to his father, 'Look! For so many years I have been serving you and I have never [1]neglected a command of yours; and yet you have never given me a young goat, so that I might celebrate with my friends;
30 but when this son of yours came, who has devoured your [1][a]wealth with prostitutes, you killed the fattened calf for him.'
31 "And he said to him, 'Son, you [1]have always been with me, and all that is mine is yours.
32 'But we had to celebrate and rejoice, for this brother of yours was [a]dead and has begun to live, and was lost and has been found.' "

The Unrighteous Steward

16 Now He was also saying to the disciples, "There was a rich man who had a manager, and this manager was [1]reported to him as [a]squandering his possessions.
2 "And he called him and said to him, 'What is this I hear about you? Give an accounting of your management, for you can no longer be manager.'
3 "The manager said to himself, 'What shall I do, since my [1]master is taking the management away from me? I am not strong enough to dig; I am ashamed to beg.
4 'I know what I shall do, so that when I am removed from the management people will welcome me into their homes.'
5 "And he summoned each one of his [1]master's debtors, and he began saying to the first, 'How much do you owe my master?'
6 "And he said, 'A hundred [1]measures of oil.' And he said to him, 'Take your bill, and sit down quickly and write fifty.'
7 "Then he said to another, 'And how much do you owe?' And he said, 'A hundred [1]measures of wheat.' He *said to him, 'Take your bill, and write eighty.'
8 "And his [1]master praised the unrighteous manager because he had acted shrewdly; for the sons of [a]this age are more shrewd in relation to their own [2]kind than the [b]sons of light.
9 "And I say to you, [a]make friends for yourselves by means of the [1][b]wealth of unrighteousness, so that when it fails, [c]they will receive you into the eternal dwellings.
10 "[a]He who is faithful in a very little thing is faithful also in much; and he who is unrighteous in a very little thing is unrighteous also in much.
11 "Therefore if you have not been faithful in the use of unrighteous [1][a]wealth, who will entrust the true riches to you?

15:28 he. The older brother's resentment is like the attitude of the Pharisees and teachers of the law who opposed Jesus, whereas the forgiving love of the father symbolizes the divine mercy of God.
15:29 a young goat. Cheaper food than a fattened calf.
15:30 this son of yours. The older brother would not even recognize him as his brother, so bitter was his hatred.
15:31 all that is mine is yours. The father's love included both brothers. The parable might better be called the parable of "The Father's Love" rather than "The Prodigal Son." It shows a contrast between the self-centered exclusiveness of the Pharisees, who failed to understand God's love, and the concern and joy of God at the repentance of sinners.
15:32 dead and has begun to live. A beautiful picture of the return of the younger son, which also pictures Christian conversion (see Rom 6:13; Eph 2:1,5). The words "lost and has been found" are often used to mean "perished and saved" (19:10; Matt 10:6; 18:10–14).
16:1 disciples. Perhaps more than just the twelve (see 6:13; 10:1). manager. A steward who handled all the business affairs of the owner. squandering. He had squandered his master's possessions, just as the prodigal ("wasteful") son (15:13).
16:3 What shall I do . . . ? The unrighteous manager (v. 8) had no scruples against using his position for his own benefit, even if it meant cheating his master. Knowing he would lose his job, the manager planned for his future by discounting the debts owed to his master in order to obligate the debtors to himself. Interpreters disagree as to whether his procedure of discounting was in itself dishonest. Was he giving away what really belonged to his master, or was he forgoing interest payments his master did not have a right to charge? Originally the manager may have overcharged the debtors, a common way of circumventing the Mosaic law that prohibited taking interest from fellow Jews (Deut 23:19). So, to reduce the debts, he may have returned the figures to their initial amounts, which would both satisfy his master and gain the good favor of the debtors. In any event, the point remains the same: He was shrewd enough to use the means at his disposal to plan for his future well-being.
16:6 A hundred measures of oil. The yield of about 450 olive trees.
16:7 hundred measures of wheat. The approximate yield of about 100 acres.
16:8 sons of light. God's people (John 12:36; Eph 5:8; 1 Thess 5:5).
16:9 make friends. By helping those in need, who in the future will show their gratitude when they welcome their benefactors into heaven ("eternal dwellings"). In this way worldly wealth may be wisely used to gain eternal benefit. by means of the wealth of unrighteousness. God's people should be alert to make use of what God has given them.
16:10 faithful also in much. Cf. 19:17; Matt 25:21. Faithfulness is not determined by the amount entrusted but by the character of the person who uses it.
16:11 true riches. The things of highest value, ultimately those of the spirit, the eternal.
16:13 two masters. See Matt 6:24; cf. James 4:4.

for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be devoted to one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and [2][b]wealth."

14 Now the Pharisees, who were [a]lovers of money, were listening to all these things and [b]were scoffing at Him.

15 And He said to them, "You are those who [a]justify yourselves [1]in the sight of men, but [b]God knows your hearts; for that which is highly esteemed among men is detestable [1]in the sight of God.

16"[a]The Law and the Prophets were proclaimed until John; since that time [b]the gospel of the kingdom of God [1]has been preached, and everyone is forcing his way into it.

The Rich Man and Lazarus

19"Now there was a rich man, and he habitually dressed in purple and fine linen, joyously living in splendor every day.

20"And a poor man named Lazarus [a]was laid at his gate, covered with sores, 21 and longing to be fed with the crumbs which were falling from the rich man's table; besides, even the dogs were coming and licking his sores.

22"Now the poor man died and was carried away by the angels to [a]Abraham's bosom; and the rich man also died and was buried.

23"In [a]Hades he lifted up his eyes, being in torment, and *saw Abraham far away and Lazarus in his bosom.

24"And he cried out and said, '[a]Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus so that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and cool off my tongue, for I am in agony in [b]this flame.'

25"But Abraham said, 'Child, remember that [a]during your life you received your good things, and likewise Lazarus bad things; but now he is being comforted here, and you are in agony.

26'And [1]besides all this, between us and you there is a great chasm fixed, so that those who wish to come over from here to you will not be able, and that none may cross over from there to us.'

27"And he said, 'Then I beg you, father, that you send him to my father's house—

28 for I have five brothers—in order that he may [a]warn them, so that they will not also come to this place of torment.'

29"But Abraham *said, 'They have [a]Moses and the Prophets; let them hear them.'

30"But he said, 'No, [a]father Abraham, but if someone goes to them from the dead, they will repent!'

31"But he said to him, 'If they do not listen to Moses and the Prophets, they will not be persuaded even if someone rises from the dead.' "

16:16 until John. The ministry of John the Baptist, which prepared the way for Jesus the Messiah, was the dividing line between the OT (the "Law and the Prophets") and the NT (see notes on Jer 31:31–34; Heb 8:6–12). forcing his way. The meaning is disputed, but it probably speaks of the fierce earnestness with which people were responding to the gospel of the kingdom. Multitudes were coming to hear Jesus and to receive His message.

16:17 The ministry of Jesus (introducing the new covenant era) was a fulfillment of the law (defining the old covenant era) in the most minute detail (cf. 21:33). one stroke of a letter. See notes on Matt 5:17–18.

16:18 divorces his wife. See Matt 5:31–32; 19:9; Mark 10:11–12; 1 Cor 7:10–11. Jesus affirms the continuing authority of the law: For example, adultery was still adultery, still unlawful and still sinful. Matthew's treatment is fuller in that (1) it shows that the law was given because of man's hardened heart in regard to divorce, and (2) it includes one exception as permissible grounds for divorce—marital unfaithfulness (Matt 19:9).

16:19 a rich man. Sometimes given the name Dives (from the Latin for "rich man"). purple and fine linen. Characteristic of costly garments.

16:20 Lazarus. Not the Lazarus Jesus raised from the dead (John 11:43–44). If this is a parable, it is the only one in which Jesus gave a name to one of the characters. covered with sores. The Greek for this phrase is a common medical term found only here in the NT (see Introduction: Author).

16:22 Abraham's bosom. The Talmud mentions both Paradise (see 23:43) and Abraham's bosom as the home of the righteous. Abraham's bosom refers to the place of blessedness to which the righteous dead go to await future vindication. Its bliss is the quality of blessedness reserved for people like Abraham.

16:23 Hades. Hades is the place to which the wicked dead go to await the final judgment. That torment begins in Hades is evident from the plight of the rich man. The location of Abraham's bosom is not specified, but it is separated from Hades by an impassable chasm. Hades includes the torment that characterizes hell (fire, Rev 20:10; agony, Rev 14:11; separation, Matt 8:12). Some understand Jesus' description of Abraham's side and Hades in a less literal way.

16:28 I have five brothers. For the first time the rich man showed concern for others.

16:29 Moses and the Prophets. A way of designating the whole OT. The rich man had failed to pay attention to Scripture and its teaching, and feared his brothers would do the same.

16:30 someone . . . from the dead. The story may suggest that Lazarus was intended, but Luke's account seems to imply that Jesus was speaking also of His own resurrection (cf. v. 31; 9:22). If a person's mind is closed and Scripture is rejected, no evidence—not even a resurrection—will change him.

17:2 millstone. A heavy stone for grinding grain. one of these stone were hung around his neck and he were thrown into the sea, than that he would cause one of these little ones to stumble.

3 "[1]Be on your guard! [a]If your brother sins, rebuke him; and if he repents, forgive him.

4 "And if he sins against you [a]seven times a day, and returns to you seven times, saying, 'I repent,' [1]forgive him."

5 [a]The apostles said to [b]the Lord, "Increase our faith!"

6 And [a]the Lord said, "If you [1]had faith like [b]a mustard seed, you would say to this [c]mulberry tree, 'Be uprooted and be planted in the sea'; and it would [2]obey you.

7 "Which of you, having a slave plowing or tending sheep, will say to him when he has come in from the field, 'Come immediately and [1]sit down to eat'?

8 "But will he not say to him, '[a]Prepare something for me to eat, and properly [1]clothe yourself and serve me while I eat and drink; and [2]afterward you [3]may eat and drink'?

9 "He does not thank the slave because he did the things which were commanded, does he?

10 "So you too, when you do all the things which are commanded you, say, 'We are unworthy slaves; we have done only that which we ought to have done.' "

Ten Lepers Cleansed

11 While He was [a]on the way to Jerusalem, [b]He was passing [1]between Samaria and Galilee.

12 As He entered a village, ten leprous men who [a]stood at a distance met Him;

13 and they raised their voices, saying, "Jesus, [a]Master, have mercy on us!"

14 When He saw them, He said to them, "[a]Go and show yourselves to the priests.' And as they were going, they were cleansed.

15 Now one of them, when he saw that he had been healed, turned back, [a]glorifying God with a loud voice, 16 and he fell on his face at His feet, giving thanks to Him. And he was a [a]Samaritan.

17 Then Jesus answered and said, "Were there not ten cleansed? But the nine—where are they?

18 "[1]Was no one found who returned to [a]give glory to God, except this foreigner?"

19 And He said to him, "Stand up and go; [a]your faith [1]has made you well."

20 Now having been questioned by the Pharisees [a]as to when the kingdom of God was coming, He answered them and said, "The kingdom of God is not coming with [1][b]signs to be observed;

21 nor will [a]they say, 'Look, here it is!' or, 'There it is!' For behold, the kingdom of God is [1]in your midst."

Second Coming Foretold

22 And He said to the disciples, "[a]The days will come when you will long to see one of the days of the Son of Man, and you will not see it.

23 "[a]They will say to you, 'Look there! Look here!' Do not go away, and do not run after them.

24 "[a]For just like the lightning, when it flashes out of one part [1]of the sky, shines to the other part [1]of the sky, so will the Son of Man be in His day.

17:3 your brother. See Matt 18:15–17; cf. Matt 12:50.

17:4 seven times. That is, forgiveness is to be unlimited (cf. Ps 119:164; Matt 18:21–22).

17:5 Increase our faith! They felt incapable of measuring up to the standards set forth in vv. 1–4. They wanted greater faith to lay hold of the power to live up to Jesus' standards.

17:6 See Matt 17:20; Mark 11:23; see also notes on Matt 13:31–32; Mark 4:31.

17:7 a slave. A slave is used to illustrate performance of duty (cf. 12:37).

17:11 between Samaria and Galilee. From this point Jesus seems to have journeyed to Perea, where He ministered on His way south to Jerusalem (see notes on 9:51; 13:22).

17:14 show yourselves to the priests. Normal procedure after a cure (see Lev 13:2–3; 14:2–32).

17:16 Samaritan. See note on 10:31–33. Normally Jews did not associate with Samaritans (John 4:9), but leprosy broke down social barriers while erecting others (see notes on Lev 13:2,4,45–46).

17:19 your faith has made you well. See Matt 9:22. The phrase may also be rendered "your faith has saved you" (7:50). The fact that the Samaritan returned to thank Jesus may indicate that he had received salvation in addition to the physical healing all ten had received (cf. 7:50; 8:48,50).

17:21 the kingdom of God is in your midst. Probably indicating that the kingdom is present in the person of its King, Jesus (cf. 19:11; 21:7; Acts 1:6; see also note on 4:43). "In your midst" could also be rendered "within you," meaning that the kingdom is spiritual and eternal (Matt 23:26), rather than physical and external (cf. John 18:36). If this is the correct view, the pronoun "you" in the phrase "within you" is to be taken in a general sense rather than as referring to the unbelieving Pharisees personally. The kingdom certainly was not within them. If "you" is specific rather than general, it argues for the "in your midst" interpretation.

17:22 long to see. In time of trouble, believers will desire to experience the day when Jesus returns in His glory and delivers His people from their distress.

17:23 Do not go away, and do not run after them. Do not leave your work in order to pursue predictions of Christ's second advent.

17:24 like the lightning. His coming will be sudden, unexpected and public (cf. 12:40).

17:25 He must suffer. Jesus repeatedly foretold His coming death (5:35; 9:22,43–45; 12:50; 13:32–33; 18:32; 24:7; see Matt 16:21), which had to occur before His glorious return.

The Pharisee and the Publican

9 And He also told this parable to some people who [a]trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and [b]viewed others with contempt:
10 "Two men [a]went up into the temple to pray, one a Pharisee and the other a tax collector.
11 "The Pharisee [a]stood and was praying this to himself: 'God, I thank You that I am not like other people: swindlers, unjust, adulterers, or even like this tax collector.
12 'I [a]fast twice a week; I [b]pay tithes of all that I get.'

17:28 in the days of Lot. See Gen 18:16–19:28.
17:30 Son of Man is revealed. At Jesus' second coming He will be plainly visible to all (1 Cor 1:7; 2 Thess 1:7; 1 Pet 1:7,13; 4:13).
17:31 on the housetop. It was customary to relax on the flat rooftop. When the final hour comes, however, the individual there should not be thinking of going into the house to retrieve some material objects. Matthew and Mark refer similarly to flight at the fall of Jerusalem, and indirectly to the end time (Matt 24:17–18; Mark 13:15), but here the reference is explicitly to Jesus' return (see v. 30; cf. 21:21).
17:33 whoever loses his life will preserve it. See note on 9:24 (cf. Matt 10:39).
17:35 taken. Could refer to being "taken to/from destruction" or "taken into the kingdom." What is clear is that no matter how close two people may be in life, they have no guarantee of the same eternal destiny. One may go to judgment and condemnation, the other to salvation, reward and blessing.
17:37 Where . . . there also the vultures will be gathered. A proverb. See note on Matt 24:28. In response to the disciples' question, Jesus explains that these things will take place wherever there are people to whom the event pertains.
18:2 did not respect man. Unconcerned about the needs of others or about their opinion of him.
18:3 a widow. Particularly helpless and vulnerable because she had no family to uphold her cause. Only justice and her own persistence were in her favor.
18:7 will not God bring about justice . . . ? If an unworthy judge who feels no constraint of right or wrong is compelled by persistence to deal justly with a helpless individual, how much more will God answer prayer! delay long over them. God will not delay His support of the chosen ones when they are right. He is not like the unjust judge, who had to be badgered until he wearied and gave in.
18:8 will He find faith . . . ? Particularly faith that perseveres in prayer and loyalty (see Matt 24:12–13). Christ makes a second application that looks forward to the time of His second coming. A period of spiritual decline and persecution is assumed—a time that will require perseverance such as the widow demonstrated.
18:10 to pray. Periods for prayer were scheduled daily in connection with the morning and evening sacrifices. People could also go to the temple at any time for private prayer.
18:12 fast twice a week. Fasting was not commanded in the Mosaic law except for the fast on the day of atonement. However, the Pharisees also fasted on Mondays and Thursdays (see 5:33; Matt 6:16; 9:14; Mark 2:18; Acts 27:9). tithes of all that I

14 "I tell you, this man went to his house justified rather than the other; [a]for everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but he who humbles himself will be exalted."

15 [a]And they were bringing even their babies to Him so that He would touch them, but when the disciples saw it, they began rebuking them.

16 But Jesus called for them, saying, "Permit the children to come to Me, and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these.

17 "Truly I say to you, [a]whoever does not receive the kingdom of God like a child will not enter it at all."

The Rich Young Ruler

18 [a]A ruler questioned Him, saying, "Good Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?"

19 And Jesus said to him, "Why do you call Me good? No one is good except God alone.

20 "You know the commandments, '[a]DO NOT COMMIT ADULTERY, DO NOT MURDER, DO NOT STEAL, DO NOT BEAR FALSE WITNESS, HONOR YOUR FATHER AND MOTHER.' "

21 And he said, "All these things I have kept from my youth."

22 When Jesus heard this, He said to him, "One thing you still lack; [a]sell all that you possess and distribute it to the poor, and you shall have [b]treasure in heaven; and come, follow Me."

23 But when he had heard these things, he became very sad, for he was extremely rich.

24 And Jesus looked at him and said, "[a]How hard it is for those who are wealthy to enter the kingdom of God!

25 "For [a]it is easier for a camel to [1]go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God."

26 They who heard it said, "Then who can be saved?"

27 But He said, "[a]The things that are impossible with people are possible with God."

29 And He said to them, "Truly I say to you, [a]there is no one who has left house or wife or brothers or parents or children, for the sake of the kingdom of God,

30 who will not receive many times as much at this time and in [a]the age to come, eternal life."

31 [a]Then He took the twelve aside and said to them, "Behold, [b]we are going up to Jerusalem, and [c]all things which are written through the prophets about the Son of Man will be accomplished.

32 "[a]For He will be [1]handed over to the Gentiles, and will be mocked and mistreated and spit upon,

33 and after they have scourged Him, they will kill Him; and the third day He will rise again."

34 But [a]the disciples understood none of these things, and the meaning of this statement was hidden from them, and they did not comprehend the things that were said.

Bartimaeus Receives Sight

35 [a]As [1b]Jesus was approaching Jericho, a blind man was sitting by the road begging.

36 Now hearing a crowd going by, he began to inquire what this was.

37 They told him that Jesus of Nazareth was passing by.

38 And he called out, saying, "Jesus, [a]Son of David, have mercy on me!"

39 Those who led the way were sternly telling him to be quiet; but he kept crying out all the more, "[a]Son of David, have mercy on me!"

40 And Jesus stopped and commanded that he be brought to Him; and when he came near, He questioned him,

41 "What do you want Me to do for you?" And he said, "Lord, I want to regain my sight!"

42 And Jesus said to him, "[1]Receive your sight; [a]your faith has [2]made you well."

43 Immediately he regained his sight and began following Him, [a]glorifying God; and get. As a typical first-century Pharisee, he tithed all that he acquired, not merely what he earned.

18:13 be merciful to me. The verb used here means "to be propitiated" (see note on 1 John 2:2). The tax collector does not plead his good works but the mercy of God in forgiving his sin.

18:14 justified. God reckoned him to be righteous, i.e., his sins were forgiven and he was credited with righteousness—not his own (v. 9) but that which comes from God.

18:17 like a child. With total dependence, full trust, frank openness and complete sincerity (see Matt 18:3; 19:14; Mark 10:15; cf. 1 Pet 2:2). See note on Mark 10:15.

18:18–27 For this event see notes on Mark 10:17–27.

18:18 eternal life. See note on Matt 19:16.

18:30 at this time . . . the age to come. The present age of sin and misery and the future age to be inaugurated by the return of the Messiah.

18:31 all things which are written through the prophets. Sometimes referred to as the third prediction of Jesus' death, though the total number is more than three (see note on 17:25). The first distinct prediction is in 9:22 and the second in 9:43–45. The Messiah's death had been predicted and/or prefigured centuries before (e.g., Ps 22; Is 53; Zech 13:7; see Luke 24:27; Matt 26:24,31,54). Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31.

18:35 was approaching Jericho. See note on Mark 10:46. a blind man. Bartimaeus (Mark 10:46). Matthew reports that two blind men were healed (see note on Matt 20:30). Probably since one was the spokesman and more outstanding, Mark and Luke did not record the presence of the other.

18:38–39 Son of David. A Messianic title (see Matt 22:41–45; Mark 12:35; John 7:42; see also 2 Sam 7:12–13; Ps 89:3–4; Amos 9:11; Matt 12:23; 21:15–16).

18:42 your faith. See note on 17:19.

Zaccheus Converted

19 He [a]entered Jericho and was passing through.

2 And there was a man called by the name of Zaccheus; he was a chief tax collector and he was rich.

3 Zaccheus was trying to see who Jesus was, and was unable because of the crowd, for he was small in stature.

4 So he ran on ahead and climbed up into a [1][a]sycamore tree in order to see Him, for He was about to pass through that way.

5 When Jesus came to the place, He looked up and said to him, "Zaccheus, hurry and come down, for today I must stay at your house."

6 And he hurried and came down and received Him [1]gladly.

7 When they saw it, they all began to grumble, saying, "He has gone [1]to be the guest of a man who is a sinner."

8 Zaccheus stopped and said to [a]the Lord, "Behold, Lord, half of my possessions I [1]will give to the poor, and if I have [b]defrauded anyone of anything, I [1]will give back [c]four times as much."

9 And Jesus said to him, "Today salvation has come to this house, because he, too, is [a]a son of Abraham.

10 "For [a]the Son of Man has come to seek and to save that which was lost."

Parable of Money Usage

11 While they were listening to these things, Jesus went on to tell a parable, because [a]He was near Jerusalem, and they supposed that [b]the kingdom of God was going to appear immediately.

12 So He said, "[a]A nobleman went to a distant country to receive a kingdom for himself, and then return.

13 "And he called ten of his slaves, and gave them ten [1]minas and said to them, 'Do business with this [2]until I come back.'

14 "But his citizens hated him and sent [1]a delegation after him, saying, 'We do not want this man to reign over us.'

15 "When he returned, after receiving the kingdom, he ordered that these slaves, to whom he had given the money, be called to him so that he might know what business they had done.

16 "The first appeared, saying, '[1]Master, your [2]mina has made ten minas more.'

17 "And he said to him, 'Well done, good slave, because you have been [a]faithful in a very little thing, you are to be in authority over ten cities.'

18 "The second came, saying, 'Your [1]mina, [2]master, has made five minas.'

19 "And he said to him also, 'And you are to be over five cities.'

20 "Another came, saying, 'Master, here is your mina, which I kept put away in a handkerchief;

21 for I was afraid of you, because you are an exacting man; you take up what you did not lay down and reap what you did not sow.'

22 "He *said to him, '[1]By your own words I will judge you, you worthless slave. Did you know that I am an exacting man, taking up what I did not lay down and reaping what I did not sow?

23 'Then why did you not put my money

19:1 entered Jericho. See note on Mark 10:46.

19:2 chief tax collector. A position referred to only here in the Bible, probably designating one in charge of a district, with other tax collectors under him. The region was prosperous at this time, so it is no wonder that Zacchaeus had grown rich. See notes on 3:12; Mark 2:14–15.

19:4 a sycamore tree. A sturdy tree from 30 to 40 feet high, with a short trunk and spreading branches, capable of holding a grown man. (See note on Amos 7:14.)

19:5 I must stay at your house. Implies a divine necessity.

19:8 four times. Almost the extreme repayment required under the law in case of theft (Ex 22:1; 2 Sam 12:6; cf. Prov 6:31).

19:9 son of Abraham. A true Jew—not only of the lineage of Abraham but one who also walks "in the steps" of Abraham's faith (Rom 4:12). Jesus recognized the tax collector as such, though Jewish society excluded him.

19:10 A key verse in Luke's Gospel. Son of Man. A Messianic title (Dan 7:13) used only by Jesus in the four Gospels, by Stephen (Acts 7:56) and in John's vision (Rev 1:13). See Introduction: Plan; see also note on Mark 8:31. to seek and to save. An important summary of Jesus' purpose—to bring salvation, meaning eternal life (18:18), and the kingdom of God (18:25). See note on 15:32.

19:11 kingdom . . . was going to appear. They expected the Messiah to appear in power and glory and to set up His earthly kingdom, defeating all their political and military enemies.

19:12 to receive a kingdom for himself. A rather unusual procedure, but the Herods did just that when they went to Rome to be appointed rulers over the Jews. Similarly, Jesus was soon to depart and in the future is to return as King. During His absence, His servants are entrusted with their Master's affairs (for a similar parable see Matt 25:14–30).

19:13 ten minas. A mina was about three months' wages. One talent equaled 60 minas (see Matt 25:15) and a mina equaled 100 drachmas, each drachma being worth about a day's wages (see note on 15:8). Thus the total amount was valued at between two and three years' average wages, and a tenth would be about three months' wages. This was small, however, compared with the amounts mentioned in the parable recorded in Matthew. Here all ten are given the same amount.

19:14 sent a delegation. Such an incident had occurred over 30 years earlier in the case of Archelaus (Josephus, Wars, 2.6.1; Antiquities, 17.9.3), as well as in a number of other instances. This aspect of the story may have been included to warn the Jews against rejecting Jesus as King.

19:22 you know that I am an exacting man . . . ? The master did not admit to the statement of the servant, but repeated it in a question. If this was the opinion of the servant, he should have acted accordingly.

in the bank, and having come, I would have collected it with interest?'

24"Then he said to the bystanders, 'Take the mina away from him and give it to the one who has the ten minas.'

25"And they said to him, 'Master, he has ten minas already.'

26"[a]I tell you that to everyone who has, more shall be given, but from the one who does not have, even what he does have shall be taken away.

27"But [a]these enemies of mine, who did not want me to reign over them, bring them here and [b]slay them in my presence."

Triumphal Entry

28 After He had said these things, He [a]was going on ahead, [b]going up to Jerusalem.

29 [a]When He approached Bethphage and [b]Bethany, near the [1]mount that is called [c]Olivet, He sent two of the disciples, 30 saying, "Go into the village ahead of you; there, as you enter, you will find a colt tied on which no one yet has ever sat; untie it and bring it here.

31"If anyone asks you, 'Why are you untying it?' you shall say, 'The Lord has need of it.' "

32 So those who were sent went away and found it just as He had told them.

33 As they were untying the colt, its [1]owners said to them, "Why are you untying the colt?"

34 They said, "The Lord has need of it."

35 They brought it to Jesus, [a]and they threw their coats on the colt and put Jesus on it.

36 As He was going, they were spreading their coats on the road.

"[a]BLESSED IS THE [b]KING WHO COMES IN THE NAME OF THE LORD; Peace in heaven and [c]glory in the highest!"

39 [a]Some of the Pharisees [1]in the crowd said to Him, "Teacher, rebuke Your disciples."

40 But Jesus answered, "I tell you, if these become silent, [a]the stones will cry out!"

41 When He approached Jerusalem, He saw the city and [a]wept over it, 42 saying, "If you had known in this day, even you, the things which make for peace! But now they have been hidden from your eyes.

43"For the days will come upon you [1]when your enemies will [a]throw up a [2]barricade against you, and [b]surround you and hem you in on every side, 44 and they will level you to the ground and your children within you, and [a]they will not leave in you one stone upon another, because you did not recognize [b]the time of your visitation."

Traders Driven from the Temple

45 [a]Jesus entered the temple and began to drive out those who were selling,

46 saying to them, "It is written, '[a]AND MY HOUSE SHALL BE A HOUSE OF PRAYER,' [b]but you have made it a ROBBERS' [1]DEN."

47 And [a]He was teaching daily in the temple; but the chief priests and the scribes and 19:26 more shall be given . . . what he does have shall be taken away. See 8:18; 17:33; Matt 13:12. Those who seek spiritual gain in the gospel, for themselves and others, will become richer, and those who neglect or squander what is given them will become impoverished, losing even what they have.

19:27 these enemies of mine . . . slay them. Perhaps a reference to Jerusalem's destruction in A.D. 70. The punishment of those who rebelled and actively opposed the king (v. 14) was much more severe than that of the negligent servant.

19:28–44 The Triumphal Entry occurred on Sunday of Passion Week. See charts, p. 1408, 1446.

19:29 Bethphage. A village near the road going from Jericho to Jerusalem. Bethany. Another village about two miles southeast of Jerusalem (John 11:18), and the home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus. mount that is called Olivet. A ridge a little more than a mile long, separated from Jerusalem by the Kidron Valley—to the east of the city (see notes on Zech 14:4; Mark 11:1). two of the disciples. Not named here or in the parallel passages (Matt 21:1; Mark 11:1; cf. John 12:14).

19:30 village. Probably Bethphage. colt. In other accounts a donkey colt (John 12:15) is specified and the mother of the colt (Matt 21:7) with him. Luke uses a Greek word that the Septuagint frequently employed to translate the Hebrew word for "donkey." Jesus chooses to enter Jerusalem this time mounted on a donkey to claim publicly that He was the chosen Son of David to sit on David's throne (1 Kin 1:33,44), the one of whom the prophets had spoken (Zech 9:9). on which no one yet has ever sat. One that had not been put to secular use (Num 19:2; 1 Sam 6:7).

19:31 The Lord. Either God or, more likely, Jesus Himself, here claiming His own unique status as Israel's Lord.

19:37 all the miracles. The raising of Lazarus and the healing of blind Bartimaeus were recent examples, but included also would be the works recorded in John on various occasions in Jerusalem, as well as the whole of His ministry in Galilee (cf. Matt 21:14; John 12:17).

19:43 your enemies will throw up a barricade. See 21:20; fulfilled when the Romans took Jerusalem in A.D. 70, using an embankment to besiege the city. The description is reminiscent of OT predictions (Is 29:3; 37:33; Ezek 4:1–3).

19:44 the time of your visitation. God came to the Jews in the person of Jesus the Messiah, but they failed to recognize Him and rejected Him (see John 1:10–11; cf. Luke 20:13–16).

19:45 Mark (11:11–17) makes clear that this cleansing occurred the day after the Triumphal Entry, i.e., on Monday of Passion Week. the temple. The outer court (of the Gentiles), where animals for sacrifice were sold at unfair prices. John records a cleansing of the temple at the beginning of Jesus' ministry (John 2:13–25), but the Synoptics (see Matt 21:12–13; Mark 11:15–17) speak only of a cleansing at the close of Jesus' ministry (see notes on Matt 21:12–17; John 2:14–17).

19:47 chief priests. See 3:2; 22:52; 23:4; 24:20. They were part the leading men among the people [b]were trying to destroy Him, 48 and they could not find [1]anything that they might do, for all the people were hanging on to [2]every word He said.

Jesus' Authority Questioned

20 [a]On one of the days while [b]He was teaching the people in the temple and [c]preaching the gospel, the chief priests and the scribes with the elders [d]confronted Him,

2 and they spoke, saying to Him, "Tell us by what authority You are doing these things, or who is the one who gave You this authority?"

3 Jesus answered and said to them, "I will also ask you a [1]question, and you tell Me:

4 "Was the baptism of John from heaven or from men?"

5 They reasoned among themselves, saying, "If we say, 'From heaven,' He will say, 'Why did you not believe him?'

6 "But if we say, 'From men,' all the people will stone us to death, for they are convinced that John was a [a]prophet."

7 So they answered that they did not know where it came from.

8 And Jesus said to them, "Nor [1]will I tell you by what authority I do these things."

Parable of the Vine-growers

9 [a]And He began to tell the people this parable: "A man planted a vineyard and rented it out to [1]vine-growers, and went on a journey for a long time.

10 "At the harvest time he sent a slave to the vine-growers, so that they would give him some of the produce of the vineyard; but the vine-growers beat him and sent him away empty-handed.

12 "And he proceeded to send a third; and this one also they wounded and cast out.

13 "The [1]owner of the vineyard said, 'What shall I do? I will send my beloved son; perhaps they will [a]respect him.'

14 "But when the vine-growers saw him, they reasoned with one another, saying, 'This is the heir; let us kill him so that the inheritance will be ours.'

15 "So they threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. What, then, will the [1]owner of the vineyard do to them?

16 "He will come and [a]destroy these vine-growers and will give the vineyard to others." When they heard it, they said, "[b]May it never be!"

17 But [1]Jesus looked at them and said, "What then is this that is written:

'[a]THE STONE WHICH THE BUILDERS
REJECTED,
THIS BECAME [b]THE CHIEF CORNER stone'?

Tribute to Caesar

19 The scribes and the chief priests [a]tried to lay hands on Him that very hour, and they feared the people; for they understood that He spoke this parable against them.

20 [a]So they watched Him, and sent spies who [1]pretended to be righteous, in order [b]that they might [2]catch Him in some statement, so that they could deliver Him to the rule and the authority of [c]the governor.

21 They questioned Him, saying, "Teacher, of the Sanhedrin, the ruling Jewish council (see note on Mark 14:55). were trying to destroy Him. See 20:19–20 (cf. John 7:1; 11:53–57).

20:1 The events of 20:1–21:36 all occurred on Tuesday of Passion Week—a long day of controversy. one of the days. Not specified, but Mark's parallel accounts (Mark 11:19–20,27–33) indicate that this day (Tuesday) followed the cleansing of the temple (Monday), which followed the Triumphal Entry (Sunday). chief priests. See 19:47 and note on Matt 2:4. scribes. See 5:30 and notes on 5:17; Matt 2:4. elders. See note on Matt 15:2. Each of these groups was represented in the Jewish council, the Sanhedrin (see 22:66).

20:2 who . . . gave You this authority? They had asked this of John the Baptist (John 1:19–25) and of Jesus early in His ministry (John 2:18–22). Here the reference is to the cleansing of the temple, which not only defied the authority of the Jewish leaders but also hurt their monetary profits. The leaders may also have been looking for a way to discredit Jesus in the eyes of the people or raise suspicion of Him as a threat to the authority of Rome.

20:4 the baptism of John from heaven or from men? By replying with a question, Jesus put the burden on His opponents—indicating only two alternatives: The work of John was either God-inspired or man-devised. By refusing to answer, they placed themselves in an awkward position. from heaven. See note on Mark 11:30.

20:10 he sent a slave. This parable (v. 9) is reminiscent of Is 5:1–7. The slaves who were sent to the vine-growers represent the prophets God sent in former times who were rejected (see Neh 9:26; Jer 7:25–26; 25:4–7; Matt 23:34; Acts 7:52; Heb 11:36–38). give him some of the produce. In accordance with a kind of sharecropping agreement, a fixed amount was due the landowner. At the proper time he would expect to receive his share.

20:13 my beloved son. The specific reference to the beloved son makes clearer the intended application of the son in the parable to the Son, Jesus Christ (see 3:22; Matt 17:5).

20:14 inheritance will be ours. See note on Mark 12:7.

20:16 give the vineyard to others. See note on Matt 21:41.

20:17 THE CHIEF CORNER stone. See note on Ps 118:22.

20:18 will be broken to pieces. As a pot dashed against a stone is broken, and as one lying beneath a falling stone is crushed, so those who reject Jesus the Messiah will be doomed (see Is 8:14; cf. Dan 2:34–35,44; Luke 2:34).

20:19 scribes. For their opposition to Jesus see 5:30; 9:22; 19:47; 22:2; 23:10.

20:20 authority of the governor. Fearing to take action themselves, the Jewish religious leaders hoped to draw from Jesus some statement that would bring action from the Roman officials and remove Him from His contact with the people.

we know that You speak and teach correctly, and You [1]are not partial to any, but teach the way of God in truth.

22 "Is it [1]lawful for us [a]to pay taxes to Caesar, or not?"

23 But He detected their trickery and said to them,

24 "Show Me a [1]denarius. Whose [2]likeness and inscription does it have?" They said, "Caesar's."

25 And He said to them, "Then [a]render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's."

26 And they were unable to [1][a]catch Him in a saying in the presence of the people; and being amazed at His answer, they became silent.

Is There a Resurrection?

27 [a]Now there came to Him some of the [b]Sadducees (who say that there is no resurrection),

28 and they questioned Him, saying, "Teacher, Moses wrote for us that [a]IF A MAN'S BROTHER DIES, having a wife, AND HE IS CHILDLESS, HIS BROTHER SHOULD [1]MARRY THE WIFE AND RAISE UP CHILDREN TO HIS BROTHER.

29 "Now there were seven brothers; and the first took a wife and died childless;

30 and the second

31 and the third [1]married her; and in the same way [2]all seven [3]died, leaving no children.

32 "Finally the woman died also.

33 "In the resurrection therefore, which one's wife will she be? For [1]all seven [2]had married her."

34 Jesus said to them, "The sons of [a]this age marry and are given in marriage,

35 but those who are considered worthy to attain to [a]that age and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry nor are given in marriage;

36 for they cannot even die anymore, because they are like angels, and are [a]sons of God, being sons of the resurrection.

37 "But that the dead are raised, even Moses showed, in [a]the passage about the burning bush, where he calls the Lord [b]THE GOD OF ABRAHAM, AND THE GOD OF ISAAC, AND THE GOD OF JACOB.

38 "[a]Now He is not the God of the dead but of the living; for [b]all live to Him."

39 Some of the scribes answered and said, "Teacher, You have spoken well."

40 For [a]they did not have courage to question Him any longer about anything.

41 [a]Then He said to them, "How is it that they say [1]the Christ is [b]David's son?

42 "For David himself says in the book of Psalms,

'[a]THE LORD SAID TO MY LORD,
"SIT AT MY RIGHT HAND,

43 [a]UNTIL I MAKE YOUR ENEMIES A FOOTSTOOL FOR YOUR FEET." '

44 "Therefore David calls Him 'Lord,' and how is He his son?"

45 [a]And while all the people were listening, He said to the disciples,

46 "Beware of the scribes, [a]who like to walk around in long robes, and love respectful greetings in the market places, and chief seats in the synagogues and places of honor at banquets,

47 who devour widows' houses, and for appearance's sake offer long prayers. These will receive greater condemnation."

20:24 a denarius. A Roman coin worth about a day's wages (see note on Matt 22:19).

20:25 to God the things that are God's. See note on Matt 22:21.

20:27 Sadducees. An aristocratic, politically minded group, willing to compromise with secular and pagan leaders. They controlled the high priesthood at this time and held the majority of the seats in the Sanhedrin. They did not believe in the resurrection or an afterlife, and they rejected the oral tradition taught by the Pharisees (Josephus, Antiquities, 13.10.6.). See notes on Matt 2:4; 3:7; Mark 12:18; Acts 4:1.

20:28 HIS BROTHER SHOULD MARRY THE WIFE. The levirate law (see note on Matt 22:24; cf. Gen 38:8).

20:34–35 this age . . . that age. See note on 18:30.

20:36 like angels. The resurrection order cannot be assumed to follow present earthly lines. In the new age there will be no marriage, no procreation and no death. sons of the resurrection. Those who are to take part in the resurrection of the righteous (cf. Matt 22:23–33; Mark 12:18–27; Acts 4:1–2; 23:6–10).

20:37 passage about the burning bush. Since Scripture chapters and verses were not used at the time of Christ, the passage was identified in this way, referring to Moses' experience with the burning bush (Ex 3:2).

20:39 Teacher, You have spoken well. Even though there was great animosity against Jesus, the scribes (who were Pharisees) sided with Jesus against the Sadducees on the matter of resurrection.

20:44 David calls Him 'Lord.' If the Messiah was a descendant of David, how could this honored king refer to his offspring as Lord? Unless Jesus' opponents were ready to admit that the Messiah was also the divine Son of God, they could not answer His question. See also note on Ps 110:1.

20:46 long robes . . . chief seats. See notes on Mark 12:38–39.

20:47 devour widows' houses. They take advantage of this defenseless group by fraud and schemes for selfish gain. receive greater condemnation. Cf. 12:47–48. The higher the esteem of men, the more severe the demands of true justice; and the more hypocrisy (Matt 23:1–36), the greater the condemnation.

21:1 the treasury. In the court of women 13 boxes, shaped like inverted megaphones, were positioned to receive the donations of the worshipers.

2 And He saw a poor widow putting [1]in [a]two [2]small copper coins.
3 And He said, "Truly I say to you, this poor widow put in more than all of them;
4 for they all out of their [1]surplus put into the [2]offering; but she out of her poverty put in all [3]that she had [a]to live on."
5 [a]And while some were talking about the temple, that it was adorned with beautiful stones and votive gifts, He said,
6 "As for these things which you are looking at, the days will come in which [a]there will not be left one stone upon another which will not be torn down."
7 They questioned Him, saying, "Teacher, when therefore will these things happen? And what will be the [1]sign when these things are about to take place?"
8 And He said, "See to it that you are not misled; for many will come in My name, saying, '[a]I am He,' and, 'The time is near.' [b]Do not go after them.
9 "When you hear of wars and disturbances, do not be terrified; for these things must take place first, but the end does not follow immediately."

Things to Come

10 Then He continued by saying to them, "Nation will rise against nation and kingdom against kingdom,
11 and there will be great earthquakes, and in various places plagues and famines; and there will be terrors and great [1]signs from heaven.
12 "But before all these things, [a]they will lay their hands on you and will persecute you, delivering you to the synagogues, and prisons, [1]bringing you before kings and governors for My name's sake.
13 "[a]It will lead to [1]an opportunity for your testimony.
14 "[a]So make up your minds not to prepare beforehand to defend yourselves;
15 for [a]I will give you [1]utterance and wisdom which none of your opponents will be able to resist or refute.
16 "But you will be betrayed even by parents and brothers and relatives and friends, and they will put some of you to death,
17 and you will be hated by all because of My name.
18 "Yet [a]not a hair of your head will perish.
19 "[a]By your endurance you will gain your [1]lives.
20 "But when you see Jerusalem [a]surrounded by armies, then [1]recognize that her desolation is near.
21 "Then those who are in Judea must flee to the mountains, and those who are in the midst of [1]the city must leave, and [a]those who are in the country must not enter [1]the city;
22 because these are [a]days of vengeance, so that all things which are written will be fulfilled.
23 "Woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days; for [a]there will be great distress upon the [1]land and wrath to this people;

Herod gave a golden vine for one of its decorations. Its grape clusters were as tall as a man. The full magnificence of the temple as elaborated and adorned by Herod has only recently come to light through archaeological investigations on the temple hill.
21:6 not be left one stone. Fulfilled in A.D. 70 when the Romans took Jerusalem and burned the temple (see note on Matt 24:2).
21:7 when . . . ? Mark reports that this question was asked by four disciples: Peter, James, John and Andrew (Mark 13:3). Matthew gives the question in a fuller form, including an inquiry for the sign of Jesus' coming and the end of the age (Matt 24:3). what will be the sign . . . ? What would be the indication that these things are about to happen?
21:8 I am He. I am Jesus the Messiah (having come a second time). The time. The end time.

21:12 delivering you to the synagogues. Synagogues were used not only for worship and school, but also for community administration and confinement while awaiting trial.
21:15 none . . . will be able to resist. See Acts 6:9–10.
21:18 Although persecution and death may come, God is in control, and the ultimate outcome will be eternal victory. not a hair of your head will perish. In view of v. 16 this cannot refer to physical safety. The figure indicates that there will be no real, i.e., spiritual, loss.
21:19 See note on Mark 13:13.
21:20 surrounded by armies. See 19:43. The sign that the end was near (cf. v. 7) would be the surrounding of Jerusalem with armies. Associated with this event would be the "abomination of desolation" (Matt 24:15).
21:21 flee to the mountains. When an army surrounds a city, it is natural to seek protection inside the walls, but Jesus directs His followers to seek the safety of the mountains because the city was doomed to destruction (see note on Matt 24:16).
21:22 days of vengeance. God's retributive justice as the consequence of faithlessness (cf. Is 63:4; Jer 5:29; Hos 9:7).
21:24 times of the Gentiles. The Gentiles would have both spiritual opportunities (Mark 13:10; cf. Luke 20:16; Rom 11:25) and domination of Jerusalem, but these times will end when God's purpose for the Gentiles has been fulfilled.

The Return of Christ

25 "There will be [1]signs in sun and moon and stars, and on the earth dismay among nations, in perplexity at the roaring of the sea and the waves,

26 men fainting from fear and the expectation of the things which are coming upon the [1]world; for the powers of [2]the heavens will be shaken.

27 "[a]Then they will see [b]THE SON OF MAN COMING IN A CLOUD with power and great glory.

28 "But when these things begin to take place, straighten up and lift up your heads, because [a]your redemption is drawing near."

29 Then He told them a parable: "Behold the fig tree and all the trees;

30 as soon as they put forth leaves, you see it and [a]know for yourselves that summer is now near.

31 "So you also, when you see these things happening, [1]recognize that [a]the kingdom of God is near.

32 "Truly I say to you, this [1]generation will not pass away until all things take place.

33 "[a]Heaven and earth will pass away, but My words will not pass away.

34 "[a]Be on guard, so that your hearts will not be weighted down with dissipation and drunkenness and the worries of life, and that day will not come on you suddenly like a trap;

35 for it will come upon all those who dwell on the face of all the earth.

36 "But [a]keep on the alert at all times, praying that you may have strength to escape all these things that are about to take place, and to [b]stand before the Son of Man."

38 And all the people would get up [a]early in the morning to come to Him in the temple to listen to Him.

Preparing the Passover

22 [a]Now the Feast of Unleavened Bread, which is called the [b]Passover, was approaching.

2 The chief priests and the scribes [a]were seeking how they might put Him to death; for they were afraid of the people.

3 [a]And [b]Satan entered into Judas who was called Iscariot, [1]belonging to the number of the twelve.

4 And he went away and discussed with the chief priests and [a]officers how he might betray Him to them.

5 They were glad and agreed to give him money.

6 So he consented, and began seeking a good opportunity to betray Him to them [1]apart from the crowd.

7 [a]Then came the first day of Unleavened Bread on which [b]the Passover lamb had to be sacrificed.

8 And Jesus sent [a]Peter and John, saying, "Go and prepare the Passover for us, so that we may eat it."

9 They said to Him, "Where do You want us to prepare it?"

21:27 Then . . . SON OF MAN COMING. The time of Christ's second coming (see Dan 7:13). Often the predictions in this discourse refer ultimately to the end times, while at the same time describing the more imminent destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70.

21:28 lift up your heads. Do not be downcast at the appearance of these signs, but look up in joy, hope and trust. redemption. Final, completed redemption.

21:29 Behold the fig tree. The coming of spring is announced by the greening of the trees (cf. Matt 24:32–35; Mark 13:28–31). In a similar way, one can anticipate the coming of the kingdom when its signs are seen. But "kingdom" is used in different ways (see note on 4:43). The reference in v. 31 is to the future kingdom.

21:32 this generation. If the reference is to the destruction of Jerusalem, which occurred about 40 years after Jesus spoke these words, "generation" is used in its ordinary sense of a normal life span. All these things were fulfilled in a preliminary sense in the A.D. 70 destruction of Jerusalem. If the reference is to the second coming of Christ, "generation" might indicate the Jewish people as a race (the word can also be translated "race"), who were promised existence to the very end. Or it might refer to the future generation alive at the beginning of these things. It does not mean that Jesus had a mistaken notion He was going to return immediately.

21:34 that day. When Christ returns and the future aspect of God's kingdom is inaugurated (cf. v. 31). come on you suddenly. Does not mean that Christ's second coming will be completely unannounced, since there will be introductory signs (vv. 28,31).

21:35 all the earth. The second coming of Christ will involve the whole of mankind, whereas the fall of Jerusalem did not.

21:37 during the day. Each day during the final week of His life, from His Triumphal Entry to the time of the Passover (Sunday-Thursday). mount that is called Olivet. See notes on 19:29; Matt 21:17.

22:1 Feast of Unleavened Bread . . . Passover. "Passover" was used in two different ways: (1) a specific meal begun at twilight on the 14th of Nisan (Lev 23:4–5), and (2) the week following the Passover meal (Ezek 45:21), otherwise known as the Feast of Unleavened Bread, a week in which no leaven was allowed (Ex 12:15–20; 13:3–7). By NT times the two names for the week-long festival were virtually interchangeable.

22:2 The chief priests and the scribes. See 20:1.

22:3 Satan entered into Judas. In the Gospels this expression is used on two separate occasions: (1) before Judas went to the chief priests and offered to betray Jesus (here), and (2) during the Last Supper (John 13:27). Thus the Gospel writers depict Satan's control over Judas, who had never displayed a high motive of service or commitment to Jesus.

22:4 officers. All of these were Jews selected mostly from the Levites.

22:7 Passover lamb had to be sacrificed. On the 14th of Nisan between 2:30 and 5:30 P.M. in the court of the priests—Thursday of Passion Week.

10 And He said to them, "When you have entered the city, a man will meet you carrying a pitcher of water; follow him into the house that he enters.

11 "And you shall say to the owner of the house, 'The Teacher says to you, "Where is the guest room in which I may eat the Passover with My disciples?" '

12 "And he will show you a large, furnished upper room; prepare it there."

13 And they left and found everything just as He had told them; and they prepared the Passover.

The Lord's Supper

14 [a]When the hour had come, He reclined at the table, and [b]the apostles with Him.

15 And He said to them, "I have earnestly desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer;

16 for I say to you, I shall never again eat it [a]until it is fulfilled in the kingdom of God."

17 [a]And when He had taken a cup and [b]given thanks, He said, "Take this and share it among yourselves;

18 for [a]I say to you, I will not drink of the fruit of the vine from now on until the kingdom of God comes."

19 And when He had taken some bread and [a]given thanks, He broke it and gave it to them, saying, "This is My body which is given for you; do this in remembrance of Me."

20 And in the same way He took the cup after they had eaten, saying, "This cup which is [a]poured out for you is the [b]new covenant in My blood.

21 "[a]But behold, the hand of the one betraying Me is with [1]Mine on the table.

22 "For indeed, the Son of Man is going [a]as it has been determined; but woe to that man by whom He is betrayed!"

23 And they began to discuss among themselves which one of them it might be who was going to do this thing.

Who Is Greatest

24 And there arose also [a]a dispute among them as to which one of them was regarded to be greatest.

25 [a]And He said to them, "The kings of the Gentiles lord it over them; and those who have authority over them are called 'Benefactors.'

26 "But it is not this way with you, [a]but the one who is the greatest among you must become like [b]the youngest, and the leader like the servant.

27 "For [a]who is greater, the one who reclines at the table or the one who serves? Is it not the one who reclines at the table? But [b]I am among you as the one who serves.

28 "You are those who have stood by Me in My [a]trials;

29 and just as My Father has granted Me a [a]kingdom, I grant you

30 that you may [a]eat and drink at My table in My [b]kingdom, and [c]you will sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

22:10 a man . . . carrying a pitcher. It was extraordinary to see a man carrying a pitcher of water, since this was normally women's work.

22:11 The Teacher says. This form of address may have been chosen because the owner was a follower already known to Jesus.

22:13 as He had told them. It may be that Jesus had made previous arrangements with the man in order to make sure that the Passover meal would not be interrupted. Since Jesus did not identify ahead of time just where He would observe Passover, Judas was unable to inform the enemy, who might have interrupted this important occasion.

22:14–30 It appears that Luke does not attempt to be strictly chronological in his account of the Last Supper. He records the most important part of the occasion first—the sharing of the bread and the cup. Then he tells of Jesus' comments about His betrayer and about the argument over who would be greatest, though both of these subjects seem to have been introduced earlier. John's Gospel (13:26–30), e.g., indicates that Judas had already left the room before the bread and cup of the Lord's Supper were shared, but Luke does not tell when he left.

22:14 reclined at the table. See note on Mark 14:3.

22:16 until it is fulfilled. Jesus yearned to keep this Passover with His disciples because it was the last occasion before He Himself was to be slain as the perfect Passover lamb (1 Cor 5:7) and thus fulfill this sacrifice for all time. Jesus would eat no more Passover meals until the coming of the future kingdom. After this He will renew fellowship with those who through the ages have commemorated the Lord's Supper. Finally the fellowship will be consummated in the great Messianic "marriage supper" to come (Rev 19:9).

22:17 when He had taken a cup. Either the first of the four cups shared during regular observance of the Passover meal, or the third cup.

22:18 until the kingdom of God comes. See notes on v. 16; 4:43.

22:19 is. Represents or signifies. given for you. Anticipating His substitutionary sacrifice on the cross. in remembrance of Me. Just as the Passover was a constant reminder and proclamation of God's redemption of Israel from bondage in Egypt, so the keeping of Christ's command would be a remembering and proclaiming of the deliverance of believers from the bondage of sin through Christ's atoning work on the cross.

22:20 took the cup. See note on Mark 14:24. after they had eaten. Mentioned only here and in 1 Cor 11:25; see note on 1 Cor 11:23–26. new covenant. Promised through the prophet Jeremiah (31:31–34)—the fuller administration of God's saving grace, founded on and sealed by the death of Jesus ("in My blood"). See note on 1 Cor 11:25.

22:25 Benefactors. A title assumed by or voted for rulers in Egypt, Syria and Rome as a display of honor, but frequently not representing actual service rendered.

22:26 like the servant. Jesus urges and exemplifies servant leadership—a trait that was as uncommon then as it is now.

22:28 in My trials. Including temptations (cf. 4:13), hardships (9:58) and rejection (John 1:11).

22:29 a kingdom, I grant you. The following context (v. 30) indicates that this kingdom is the future form of the kingdom (see notes on 4:43; Matt 3:2).

22:30 sit on thrones. As they shared in Jesus' trials, so they will share in His rule (2 Tim 2:12). judging. Leading or ruling. the twelve tribes of Israel. See Matt 19:28.

31 "Simon, Simon, behold, [a]Satan has [1]demanded permission to [b]sift you like wheat;

32 but I [a]have prayed for you, that your faith may not fail; and you, when once you have turned again, [b]strengthen your brothers."

33 [a]But he said to Him, "Lord, with You I am ready to go both to prison and to death!"

34 And He said, "I say to you, Peter, the rooster will not crow today until you have denied three times that you know Me."

35 And He said to them, "[a]When I sent you out without money belt and bag and sandals, you did not lack anything, did you?" They said, "No, nothing."

36 And He said to them, "But now, [1]whoever has a money belt is to take it along, likewise also a bag, and [1]whoever has no sword is to sell his [2]coat and buy one.

37 "For I tell you that this which is written must be fulfilled in Me, '[a]AND HE WAS NUMBERED WITH TRANSGRESSORS'; for [b]that which refers to Me has its [1]fulfillment."

39 [a]And He came out and proceeded [b]as was His custom to [c]the Mount of Olives; and the disciples also followed Him.

40 [a]When He arrived at the place, He said to them, "[b]Pray that you may not enter into temptation."

41 And He withdrew from them about a stone's throw, and He [a]knelt down and began to pray,

42 saying, "Father, if You are willing, remove this [a]cup from Me; [b]yet not My will, but Yours be done."

Jesus Betrayed by Judas

47 [a]While He was still speaking, behold, a crowd came, and the one called Judas, one of the twelve, was preceding them; and he approached Jesus to kiss Him.

48 But Jesus said to him, "Judas, are you betraying the Son of Man with a kiss?"

49 When those who were around Him saw what was going to happen, they said, "Lord, shall we strike with the [a]sword?"

50 And one of them struck the slave of the high priest and cut off his right ear.

51 But Jesus answered and said, "[1]Stop! No more of this." And He touched his ear and healed him.

52 Then Jesus said to the chief priests and [a]officers of the temple and elders who had come against Him, "Have you come out with swords and clubs [b]as you would against a robber?

53 "While I was with you daily in the temple, you did not lay hands on Me; but [1]this hour and the power of darkness are yours."

Jesus' Arrest

54 [a]Having arrested Him, they led Him

54 [a]Matt 26:57; Mark 14:53

22:31 sift you. The Greek for "you" is plural. Satan wanted to test the disciples, hoping to bring them to spiritual ruin.

22:36 a money belt . . . a bag. Cf. previous instructions (9:3; 10:4). Until now they had been dependent on generous hospitality, but future opposition would require them to be prepared to pay their own way. buy one. An extreme figure of speech used to warn them of the perilous times about to come. They would need defense and protection, as Paul did when he appealed to Caesar (Acts 25:11), and authority of God to "bear the sword" (Rom 13:4).

22:37 NUMBERED WITH TRANSGRESSORS. Jesus was soon to be arrested as a criminal, in fulfillment of prophetic Scripture, and His disciples would also be in danger for being His followers.

22:38 ". . . two swords." . . . "It is enough." Sensing that the disciples had taken Him too literally, Jesus ironically closes the discussion with a curt "That's plenty!" Not long after this, Peter was rebuked for using a sword (v. 50).

22:39 Mount of Olives. See 21:37; John 18:2. Matthew specifies Gethsemane (Matt 26:36), and John, an olive grove (John 18:1). The place apparently was located on the lower slopes of the Mount of Olives.

22:40 temptation. Here refers to severe trial of the kind referred to in vv. 28–38, which might lead to a faltering of their faith.

22:42 this cup. The cup of suffering (Matt 20:22–23; cf. Is 51:17; Ezek 23:33). See note on Mark 14:36.

22:43 an angel. Matthew and Mark tell of angels ministering to Jesus at the close of His fasting and temptations (Matt 4:11; Mark 1:13), but Luke does not. Here Luke tells of the strengthening presence of an angel, but the other Gospels do not.

22:44 drops of blood. Probably perspiration in large drops like blood, or possibly hematidrosis, the actual mingling of blood and sweat as in cases of extreme anguish, strain or sensitivity.

22:47 a crowd came. They were sent by the chief priests, elders (Matt 26:47) and teachers of the law (Mark 14:43), and they carried swords and clubs. Included was a detachment of soldiers with officials of the Jews (v. 52; John 18:3). to kiss Him. This signal had been prearranged to identify Jesus to the authorities (Matt 26:48). It was unnecessary because Jesus identified Himself (John 18:5), but Judas acted out his plan anyway.

22:50 the slave of the high priest. Malchus by name; Simon Peter struck the blow (John 18:10).

22:51 healed him. Jesus rectified the wrong done by His follower. No faith on the part of Malchus was involved, but to allow such action would have been contrary to the teaching of Jesus.

22:53 this hour . . . yours. It was the time appointed for Jesus' enemies to apprehend Him, the time when the forces of darkness (the powers of evil) would do their worst to defeat God's plan.

away and brought Him to the house of the high priest; but [b]Peter was following at a distance.

55 [a]After they had kindled a fire in the middle of [b]the courtyard and had sat down together, Peter was sitting among them.

56 And a servant-girl, seeing him as he sat in the firelight and looking intently at him, said, "This man was with Him too."

57 But he denied it, saying, "Woman, I do not know Him."

58 A little later, [a]another saw him and said, "You are one of them too!" But Peter said, "Man, I am not!"

59 After about an hour had passed, another man began to insist, saying, "Certainly this man also was with Him, [a]for he is a Galilean too."

60 But Peter said, "Man, I do not know what you are talking about." Immediately, while he was still speaking, a rooster crowed.

61 [a]The Lord turned and looked at Peter. And Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how He had told him, "[b]Before a rooster crows today, you will deny Me three times."

62 And he went out and wept bitterly.

63 [a]Now the men who were holding [1]Jesus in custody were mocking Him and beating Him,

64 and they blindfolded Him and were asking Him, saying, "[a]Prophesy, who is the one who hit You?"

65 And they were saying many other things against Him, [a]blaspheming.

Jesus before the Sanhedrin

66 [a]When it was day, [b]the [1]Council of elders of the people assembled, both chief priests and scribes, and they led Him away to their [c]council chamber, saying,

67 "[a]If You are the [1]Christ, tell us." But He said to them, "If I tell you, you will not believe;

68 and if I ask a question, you will not answer.

69 "[a]But from now on [b]THE SON OF MAN WILL BE SEATED AT THE RIGHT HAND of the power OF GOD."

70 And they all said, "Are You [a]the Son of God, then?" And He said to them, "[1][b]Yes, I am."

71 Then they said, "What further need do we have of testimony? For we have heard it ourselves from His own mouth."

Jesus before Pilate

23 Then the whole body of them got up and [a]brought Him before Pilate.

2 [a]And they began to accuse Him, saying, "We found this man [b]misleading our nation and [c]forbidding to pay taxes to Caesar, and saying that He Himself is [1]Christ, a King."

3 So Pilate asked Him, saying, "Are You the King of the Jews?" And He answered him and said, "[a]It is as you say."

4 Then Pilate said to the chief priests and the crowds, "[a]I find no guilt in this man."

5 But they kept on insisting, saying, "He stirs up the people, teaching all over Judea, [a]starting from Galilee even as far as this place."

6 When Pilate heard it, he asked whether the man was a Galilean.

7 And when he learned that He belonged to Herod's jurisdiction, he sent Him to [a]Herod, who himself also was in Jerusalem [1]at that time.

22:59 he is a Galilean. Recognized by his speech (Matt 26:73) and identified by a relative of Malchus, the high priest's slave (John 18:26).
22:61 The Lord . . . looked at Peter. Peter was outside in the enclosed courtyard, and perhaps Jesus was being taken from the trial by Caiaphas to the Sanhedrin when Jesus caught Peter's eye. Peter remembered. The words spoken by Jesus (v. 34).
22:66 When it was day. Only after daylight could a legal trial take place for the whole council (Sanhedrin) to pass the death sentence.
22:67 If You are the Christ. This demand is related to a question asked later: "Are You the Son of God, then?" (v. 70).
22:71 we have heard it. The reaction to Jesus' reply makes clear that His answer was a strong affirmative. Mark has simply, "I am" (Mark 14:62). It was blasphemy to claim to be the Messiah and the Son of God—unless, of course, the claim was true (see note on Mark 14:64).
23:1 the whole body. The body of the Sanhedrin (Matt 26:59; 27:1) who had met at the earliest hint of dawn (22:66). brought Him before Pilate. See note on Matt 27:2. Pilate. See note on Mark 15:1. The Roman governor had his main headquarters in Caesarea, but he was in Jerusalem during Passover to prevent trouble from the large number of Jews assembled for the occasion.
23:2 misleading our nation. Large crowds followed Jesus, but He was not misleading them or turning them against Rome. forbidding to pay taxes. Another untrue charge (see 20:25). saying that He Himself is Christ, a King. Jesus claimed to be the Messiah, but not a political or military king, the kind Rome would be anxious to eliminate.
23:3 It is as you say. Jesus affirms that He is a king, but then explains that His kingdom is not the kind that characterizes this world (John 18:33–38).
23:5 Judea. May here refer to the whole of the land of the Jews (including Galilee) or to the southern section only, where the region of Judea proper was governed by Pilate (see note on 4:44).
23:7 Herod's jurisdiction. See note on 3:1. Although Pilate and Herod were rivals, Pilate did not want to handle this case; so he sent Jesus to Herod (cf. v. 12). in Jerusalem. Herod's main headquarters was in Tiberias on the Sea of Galilee; but, like Pilate, he had come to Jerusalem because of the crowds at Passover.
23:8 wanted to see Him. Herod was worried about Jesus' idenlong time, because he had been hearing about Him and was hoping to see some [1]sign performed by Him.

9 And he questioned Him [1]at some length; but [a]He answered him nothing.

10 And the chief priests and the scribes were standing there, accusing Him vehemently.

11 And Herod with his soldiers, after treating Him with contempt and mocking Him, [a]dressed Him in a gorgeous robe and sent Him back to Pilate.

12 Now [a]Herod and Pilate became friends with one another that very day; for before they had been enemies with each other.

Pilate Seeks Jesus' Release

13 Pilate summoned the chief priests and the [a]rulers and the people,

14 and said to them, "You brought this man to me as one who [a]incites the people to rebellion, and behold, having examined Him before you, I [b]have found no guilt in this man regarding the charges which you make against Him.

15 "No, nor has [a]Herod, for he sent Him back to us; and behold, nothing deserving death has been done by Him.

16 "Therefore I will [a]punish Him and release Him."

17 [[1]Now he was obliged to release to them at the feast one prisoner.]

18 But they cried out all together, saying, "[a]Away with this man, and release for us Barabbas!"

19 (He was one who had been thrown into prison for an insurrection made in the city, and for murder.)

20 Pilate, wanting to release Jesus, addressed them again,

21 but they kept on calling out, saying, "Crucify, crucify Him!"

22 And he said to them the third time, "Why, what evil has this man done? I have found in Him no guilt demanding death; therefore I will [a]punish Him and release Him."

23 But they were insistent, with loud voices asking that He be crucified. And their voices began to prevail.

24 And Pilate pronounced sentence that their demand be granted.

25 And he released the man they were asking for who had been thrown into prison for insurrection and murder, but he delivered Jesus to their will.

Simon Bears the Cross

26 [a]When they led Him away, they seized a man, Simon of [b]Cyrene, coming in from the country, and placed on him the cross to carry behind Jesus.

27 And following Him was a large crowd of the people, and of women who were [1a]mourning and lamenting Him.

28 But Jesus turning to them said, "Daughters of Jerusalem, stop weeping for Me, but weep for yourselves and for your children.

29 "For behold, the days are coming when they will say, '[a]Blessed are the barren, and the wombs that never bore, and the breasts that never nursed.'

30 "Then they will begin TO [a]SAY TO THE MOUNTAINS, 'FALL ON US,' AND TO THE HILLS, 'COVER US.'

31 "For if they do these things [1]when the tree is green, what will happen [2]when it is dry?"

32 [a]Two others also, who were criminals, were being led away to be put to death with Him.

The Crucifixion

33 [a]When they came to the place called [1]The Skull, there they crucified Him and the criminals, one on the right and the other on the left.

tity (9:7–9) and had desired to kill Him (13:31), though the two had never met. There is no record that Jesus ever preached in Tiberias, where Herod's residence was located.

23:11 gorgeous robe. See note on Mark 15:17.

23:16 I will punish Him. Although Pilate found Jesus "not guilty" as charged, he was willing to have Him illegally beaten in order to satisfy the chief priests and the people and to warn against any possible trouble in the future. Scourging, though not intended to kill, was sometimes fatal (see note on Mark 15:15).

23:18 Barabbas. Means "son of Abba." Pilate offered a choice between Jesus and an obviously evil, dangerous criminal (see Matt 27:15–20; Mark 15:6–11; John 18:39–40).

23:19 insurrection . . . murder. This particular uprising is otherwise unknown but, coupled with murder, it shows the gravity of his deeds (see John 18:40).

23:22 third time. See vv. 4,14.

23:25 delivered Jesus. Luke's account is abbreviated. Pilate had already handed Jesus over to the soldiers for scourging before He was convicted (John 19:1–5). He now handed Him over for crucifixion.

23:26 Simon. His sons, Rufus and Alexander (Mark 15:21), must have been known in Christian circles at a later time, and perhaps were associated with the church at Rome (Rom 16:13). Cyrene. A leading city of Libya, west of Egypt. placed on him the cross. See note on Mark 15:21.

23:28 weep for yourselves and for your children. Because of the terrible suffering to befall Jerusalem some 40 years later when the Romans would besiege the city and utterly destroy the temple.

23:29 Blessed are the barren. It would be better not to have children than to have them experience such suffering. Cf. Jer 16:1–4; 1 Cor 7:25–35.

23:30 FALL ON US. People would seek escape through destruction in death rather than endure continuing suffering and judgment (cf. Hos 10:8; Rev 6:16).

23:31 tree is green . . . dry. If they treat the Messiah this way when the "tree" is well-watered and green, what will their plight be when He is withdrawn from them and they suffer for their rejection in the dry period?

23:32 who were criminals. See note on v. 18.

23:33 The Skull. Latin Calvaria, hence the name "Calvary" (see note on Mark 15:22). crucified. See note on Mark 15:24.

34 [1]But Jesus was saying, "[a]Father, forgive them; for they do not know what they are doing." [b]And they cast lots, dividing up His garments among themselves.

35 And the people stood by, looking on. And even the [a]rulers were sneering at Him, saying, "He saved others; [b]let Him save Himself if this is the [1]Christ of God, His Chosen One."

36 The soldiers also mocked Him, coming up to Him, [a]offering Him sour wine,

37 and saying, "[a]If You are the King of the Jews, save Yourself!"

38 Now there was also an inscription above Him, "[a]THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS."

39 [a]One of the criminals who were hanged there was [1]hurling abuse at Him, saying, "Are You not the [2]Christ? [b]Save Yourself and us!"

23:34 dividing up His garments. Any possessions an executed person had with him were taken by the executioners. Unwittingly the soldiers (cf. John 19:23–24) were fulfilling the words of Ps 22:18 (but see introduction to Ps 22 and notes on Ps 22:17,20–21).

23:35 His Chosen One. See note on 9:35.

23:36 sour wine. Or wine vinegar. A sour drink carried by the soldiers for the day. Jesus refused a sedative drink (Matt 27:34; Mark 15:23) but later was given the vinegar drink when He cried out in thirst (John 19:28–30). Luke shows that it was offered in mockery.

23:38 inscription. Indicated the crime for which a person was dying. This was Pilate's way of mocking the Jewish leaders as well as announcing what Jesus had been accused of. KING OF THE JEWS. See note on Mark 15:26.

23:39 One of the criminals. See note on Mark 15:32.

23:43 Paradise. In the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) the word designated a garden (Gen 2:8–10) or forest (Neh 2:8), but in the NT (used only here and in 2 Cor 12:4; Rev 2:7) it refers to the place of bliss and rest between death and resurrection (cf. Luke 16:22; 2 Cor 12:2).

23:44 about the sixth hour . . . the ninth hour. From noon to three in the afternoon, by the Jewish method of designating time. Jesus had been put on the cross at the third hour (9:00 A.M., Mark 15:25). The "sixth hour" of John (John 19:14) may be Roman time (6:00 A.M.), when Pilate gave his decision (but see note on John 19:14).

23:45 veil of the temple. The curtain between the holy place and the most holy place. Its tearing symbolized Christ's opening the way directly to God (Heb 9:3,8; 10:19–22).

23:47 began praising God. Either for having seen God publicly vindicate Jesus by mighty signs from heaven, or out of fear (see Matt 27:54) to appease the heavenly Judge and thus ward off a divine penalty for having carried out an unjust judgment. this man was innocent. Or "this man was the Righteous One." Matthew and Mark report the centurion's words as "this man was the Son (or son) of God." "The Righteous One" and "the Son of God" would have been essentially equivalent terms. Similarly, "the son of God" and "a righteous man" would have been virtual equivalents. Which one the centurion intended is difficult to determine (see note on Matt 27:54). It seems clear, however, that the Gospel writers saw in his declaration a vindication of Jesus, and since the centurion was the Roman official in charge of the crucifixion, his testimony was viewed as significant (see also the declarations of Pilate: vv. 4,14–15,22; Matt 27:23–24).

23:48 beating their breasts. A sign of anguish, grief or contrition (cf. 18:13).

23:49 the women . . . from Galilee. See Matt 27:55–56; Mark 15:40–41; John 19:25; cf. Luke 24:10.

23:50 Joseph . . . a member of the Council. Either Joseph was not present at the meeting of the Sanhedrin (22:66), or he did not support the vote to have Jesus killed (see v. 51). Mark 14:64 suggests he was not present, for the decision was supported by "all."

23:51 Arimathea. See note on Matt 27:57. waiting for the kingdom of God. See 2:25.

23:52 The remains of an executed criminal often were left unburied or at best put in a dishonored place in a pauper's field. A near relative, such as a mother, might ask for the body, but it was a courageous gesture for Joseph, a member of the Sanhedrin, to ask for Jesus' body.

a linen cloth, and laid Him in a tomb cut into the rock, where no one had ever lain.

54 It was [a]the [1]preparation day, and the Sabbath was about to [2]begin.

55 Now [a]the women who had come with Him out of Galilee followed, and saw the tomb and how His body was laid.

56 Then they returned and [a]prepared spices and perfumes.

And [b]on the Sabbath they rested according to the commandment.

The Resurrection

24 [a]But on the first day of the week, at early dawn, they came to the tomb bringing the spices which they had prepared.

2 And they found the stone rolled away from the tomb,

3 but when they entered, they did not find the body of [a]the Lord Jesus.

4 While they were perplexed about this, behold, [a]two men suddenly [b]stood near them in dazzling clothing;

5 and as the women were terrified and bowed their faces to the ground, the men said to them, "Why do you seek the living One among the dead?

6 "He is not here, but He [a]has [1]risen. Remember how He spoke to you [b]while He was still in Galilee,

7 saying that [a]the Son of Man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again."

8 And [a]they remembered His words,

9 and returned from the tomb and reported all these things to the eleven and to all the rest.

10 Now they were [a]Mary Magdalene and Joanna and Mary the mother of James; also the other women with them were telling these things to [b]the apostles.

11 But these words appeared [1]to them as nonsense, and they [a]would not believe them.

12 But Peter got up and [a]ran to the tomb; stooping and looking in, he *saw the linen wrappings [1]only; and he went away [b]to his home, marveling at what had happened.

The Road to Emmaus

13 And behold, [a]two of them were going that very day to a village named Emmaus, which was [1]about seven miles from Jerusalem.

14 And they were talking with each other about all these things which had taken place.

15 While they were talking and discussing, Jesus Himself approached and began traveling with them.

16 But [a]their eyes were prevented from recognizing Him.

17 And He said to them, "What are these words that you are exchanging with one another as you are walking?" And they stood still, looking sad.

18 One of them, named Cleopas, answered and said to Him, "Are You [1]the only one visiting Jerusalem and unaware of the things which have happened here in these days?"

19 And He said to them, "What things?" And they said to Him, "The things about [a]Jesus the Nazarene, who was a [b]prophet

23:53 where no one had ever lain. Rock-hewn tombs were usually made to accommodate several bodies. This one, though finished, had not yet been used. See notes on 19:30; Mark 15:46.
23:54 preparation day. Friday, the day before the Sabbath, when preparation was made for keeping the Sabbath. It could be used for Passover preparation, but since in this instance it is followed by the Sabbath, it indicates Friday.
23:55 the women. See v. 49; 24:10; cf. 8:2–3. They saw where Jesus was buried and would not mistake the location when they returned.
23:56 spices and perfumes. Yards of cloth and large quantities of spices were used in preparing a body for burial. "About a hundred pounds" of myrrh and aloes were already used on that first evening (John 19:39). More was purchased for the return of the women after the Sabbath.
24:1 first day of the week. Sunday began by Jewish time at sundown on Saturday. Spices could then be bought (Mark 16:1), and they were ready to set out early the next day. When the women started out, it was dark (John 20:1), and by the time they arrived at the tomb, it was still early dawn (see Matt 28:1; Mark 16:2).
24:2 the stone rolled away. A tomb's entrance was ordinarily closed to keep vandals and animals from disturbing the bodies. This stone, however, had been sealed by Roman authority for a different reason (see Matt 27:62–66).
24:4 two men. They looked like men, but their clothes were remarkable (see 9:29; Acts 1:10; 10:30). Other reports referring to them call them angels (v. 23; see also John 20:12). Although Matthew speaks of one angel (not two, Matt 28:2) and Mark of a young man in white (Mark 16:5), this is not strange because frequently only the spokesman is noted and an accompanying figure is not mentioned. Words and posture (seated, John 20:12; standing, Luke 24:4) often change in the course of events, so these variations are not necessarily contradictory. They are merely evidence of independent accounts.
24:6 while . . . in Galilee. Jesus had predicted His death and resurrection on a number of occasions (9:22), but the disciples failed to comprehend or accept what He was saying.
24:9 to the eleven and to all the rest. "Eleven" is sometimes used to refer to the group of apostles (Acts 1:26; 2:14) after the betrayal by Judas. Judas was dead at the time the apostles first met the risen Christ, but the group was still called the twelve (John 20:24). The "rest" included disciples who, for the most part, came from Galilee.
24:10 Mary Magdalene. See note on 8:2. She is named first in most of the lists of women (Matt 27:56; Mark 15:40; but cf. John 19:25) and was the first to see the risen Christ (John 20:13–18). Joanna. See 8:3. She is named by only Luke at this point (Mark is the only one who adds Salome at this time, Mark 16:1). Mary the mother of James. See Mark 16:1. She is the "other Mary" of Matt 28:1. The absence of the mother of Jesus is significant. She was probably with John (cf. John 19:27).
24:12 Peter . . . ran. John's Gospel (20:3–9) includes another disciple, John himself.
24:13 two of them. One was named Cleopas (v. 18.)
24:16 prevented from recognizing Him. By special divine intervention.
24:19 a prophet. They had respect for Jesus as a man of God, mighty in deed and word in the sight of God and all the people, 20 and how the chief priests and our [a]rulers delivered Him to the sentence of death, and crucified Him.

21 "But we were hoping that it was He who was going to [a]redeem Israel. Indeed, besides all this, it is the third day since these things happened.

30 When He had reclined at the table with them, He took the bread and [a]blessed it, and breaking it, He began giving it to them.

31 Then their [a]eyes were opened and they recognized Him; and He vanished from [1]their sight.

32 They said to one another, "[1]Were not our hearts burning within us while He was speaking to us on the road, while He [a]was [2]explaining the Scriptures to us?"

33 And they got up that very hour and returned to Jerusalem, and [a]found gathered together the eleven and [b]those who were with them,

34 saying, "[a]The Lord has really risen and [b]has appeared to Simon."

35 They began to relate [1]their experiences on the road and how [a]He was recognized by them in the breaking of the bread.

Other Appearances

36 While they were telling these things, [a]He Himself stood in their midst and *said to them, "Peace be to you."

37 But they were startled and frightened and thought that they were seeing [a]a spirit.

38 And He said to them, "Why are you troubled, and why do doubts arise in your [1]hearts?

39 "[a]See My hands and My feet, that it is I Myself; [b]touch Me and see, for a spirit does not have flesh and bones as you see that I have."

40 And when He had said this, He showed them His hands and His feet.

41 While they still [1][a]could not believe it because of their joy and amazement, He said to them, "[b]Have you anything here to eat?"

42 They gave Him a piece of a broiled fish;

43 and He took it and [a]ate it before them.

44 Now He said to them, "[a]These are My words which I spoke to you while I was still with you, that all things which are written about Me in the [b]Law of Moses and the Prophets and [c]the Psalms must be fulfilled."

45 Then He [a]opened their [1]minds to understand the Scriptures,

46 and He said to them, "[a]Thus it is written, that the [1]Christ would suffer and [b]rise again from the dead the third day, 47 and that [a]repentance [1]for forgiveness of sins would be proclaimed [2]in His name to [b]all the nations, beginning from Jerusalem.

48 "You are [a]witnesses of these things.

49 "And behold, [a]I am sending forth the promise of My Father upon you; but [b]you are to stay in the city until you are clothed with power from on high."

The Ascension

50 And He led them out as far as [a]Bethany, and He lifted up His hands and blessed them.

51 While He was blessing them, He parted from them and was carried up into heaven.

52 And they, after worshiping Him, returned to Jerusalem with great joy, 53 and were continually in the temple [1]praising God.

24:39 My hands and My feet. Indicating that Jesus' feet as well as His hands were nailed to the cross (see note on Mark 15:24; cf. John 20:20,27).

24:42 a piece of a broiled fish. Demonstrating that He had a physical body that could consume food.

24:44 Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms. The three parts of the Hebrew OT (Psalms was the first book of the third section, called the Writings), indicating that Christ (the Messiah) was foretold in the whole OT.

24:45 opened their minds. By explaining the OT Scriptures (cf. v. 27).

24:46 suffer . . . rise again from the dead . . . third day. The OT depicts the Messiah as one who would suffer (Ps 22; Is 53) and rise from the dead on the third day (Ps 16:9–11; Is 53:10–11; compare Jon 1:17 with Matt 12:40).

24:47 repentance for forgiveness of sins. See Acts 5:31; 10:43; 13:38; 26:18. The prediction of Christ's death and resurrection (v. 46) is joined with the essence of man's response (repentance) and the resulting benefit (forgiveness; cf. Is 49:6; Acts 13:47; 26:22–23). beginning from Jerusalem. Cf. Acts 1:8.

24:49 the promise of My Father. Cf. Joel 2:28–29. The reference is to the coming power of the Spirit, fulfilled in Acts 2:4.

24:50 Bethany. A village on the Mount of Olives (see notes on 19:29; Matt 21:17).

24:51 carried up into heaven. Different from His previous disappearances (4:30; 24:3; John 8:59). They saw Him ascend into a cloud (Acts 1:9).

24:53 in the temple. During the period of time immediately following Christ's ascension the believers met continually in the temple (Acts 2:46; 3:1; 5:21,42), where many rooms were available for meetings (see note on 2:37).

John

INTRODUCTION

See "The Synoptic Gospels," p. 1361.

Author

The author is the apostle John, the disciple "whom Jesus loved" (13:23; 19:26; 20:2; 21:7,20,24). He was prominent in the early church but is not mentioned by name in this Gospel—which would be natural if he wrote it, but hard to explain otherwise. The author knew Jewish life well, as seen from references to popular Messianic speculations (e.g., 1:20–21; 7:40–42), to the hostility between Jews and Samaritans (4:9), and to Jewish customs, such as the duty of circumcision on the eighth day taking precedence over the prohibition of working on the Sabbath (see note on 7:22). He knew the geography of Palestine, locating Bethany about 15 stadia (about two miles) from Jerusalem (11:18) and mentioning Cana, a village not referred to in any earlier writing known to us (2:1; 21:2). The Gospel of John has many touches that were obviously based on the recollections of an eyewitness—such as the house at Bethany being filled with the fragrance of the broken perfume jar (12:3). Early writers such as Irenaeus and Tertullian say that John wrote this Gospel, and all other evidence agrees (see Introduction to 1 John: Author).

Date

In general, two views of the dating of this Gospel have been advocated:

1. The traditional view places it toward the end of the first century, c. A.D. 85 or later (see Introduction to 1 John: Date).

2. More recently, some scholars have suggested an earlier date, perhaps as early as the 50s and no later than 70.

The first view may be supported by reference to the statement of Clement of Alexandria that John wrote to supplement the accounts found in the other Gospels (Eusebius, Ecclesiastical History, 6.14.7), and thus his Gospel is later than the first three. It has also been argued that the seemingly more developed theology of the fourth Gospel indicates that it originated later.

The second view has found favor because it has been felt more recently that John wrote independently of the other Gospels. This does not contradict the statement of Clement referred to above. Also, those who hold this view point out that developed theology does not necessarily argue for a late origin. The theology of Romans (written c. 57) is every bit as developed as that in John. Further, the statement in 5:2 that there "is" (rather than "was") a pool "by the sheep gate" may suggest a time before 70, when Jerusalem was destroyed. Others, however, observe that John elsewhere sometimes used the present tense when speaking of the past.

Purpose and Emphases

Some interpreters have felt that John's aim was to set forth a version of the Christian message that would appeal to Greek thinkers. Others have seen a desire to supplement (or correct) the Synoptic Gospels, to combat some form of heresy, to oppose the continuing followers of John the Baptist or to achieve a similar goal. But the writer himself states his main purpose clearly: "These have been written so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing you may have life in His name" (20:31). He may have had Greek readers mainly in mind, some of whom were being exposed to heretical influence, but his primary intention was evangelistic. It is possible to understand "may believe" in the sense of "may continue to believe"—in which case the purpose would be to build up believers as well as to win new converts.

For the main emphases of the book see notes on 1:4,7,9,14,19,49; 2:4,11; 3:27; 4:34; 6:35; 13:1—17:26; 13:31; 17:1–2,5; 20:31.

The Deity of Jesus Christ

1 [a]In the beginning was [b]the Word, and the Word was [c]with God, and [d]the Word was God.

2 [1]He was in the beginning with God.

3 [a]All things came into being through Him, and apart from Him nothing came into being that has come into being.

4 [a]In Him was life, and the life was [b]the Light of men.

5 [a]The Light shines in the darkness, and the darkness did not [1]comprehend it.

The Witness John

6 There [1]came a man sent from God, whose name was [a]John.

7 [1]He came [2][a]as a witness, to testify about the Light, [b]so that all might believe through him.

8 [1][a]He was not the Light, but he came to testify about the Light.

9 There was [a]the true Light [1]which, coming into the world, enlightens every man.

10 He was in the world, and [a]the world was made through Him, and the world did not know Him.

11 He came to His [1]own, and those who were His own did not receive Him.

12 But as many as received Him, to them He gave the right to become [a]children of God, even [b]to those who believe in His name, 13 [a]who were [1]born, not of [2]blood nor of the will of the flesh nor of the will of man, but of God.

The Word Made Flesh

14 And [a]the Word [b]became flesh, and [1][c]dwelt among us, and [d]we saw His glory, glory as of [2]the only begotten from the Father, full of [e]grace and [f]truth.

15 John *[a]testified about Him and cried out, saying, "This was He of whom I said, '[b]He who comes after me [1]has a higher rank than I, [c]for He existed before me.' "

16 For of His [a]fullness [1]we have all received, and [2]grace upon grace.

17 For [a]the Law was given through Moses; [b]grace and [c]truth [1]were realized through Jesus Christ.

18 [a]No one has seen God at any time; [b]the

1:1 In the beginning. See Gen 1:1. Word. Greeks used this term not only of the spoken word but also of the unspoken word, the word still in the mind—the reason. When they applied it to the universe, they meant the rational principle that governs all things. Jews, on the other hand, used it as a way of referring to God. Thus John used a term that was meaningful to both Jews and Gentiles. with God. The Word was distinct from the Father. was God. Jesus was God in the fullest sense (see note on Rom 9:5). The prologue (vv. 1–18) begins and ends with a ringing affirmation of His deity (see note on v. 18).

1:4 life. One of the great concepts of this Gospel. The Greek word for "life" (zoe) is found 36 times in John, while no other NT book uses it more than 17 times. Life is Christ's gift (10:28), and He, in fact, is "the life" (14:6). Light of men. This Gospel also links light with Christ, from whom comes all spiritual illumination. He is the "Light of the world," who holds out wonderful hope for man (8:12). For an OT link between life and light see Ps 36:9.

1:5 darkness. The stark contrast between light and darkness is a striking theme in this Gospel (see, e.g., 12:35).

1:6 John. In this Gospel the name John always refers to John the Baptist.

1:7 as a witness, to testify. John the Baptist's singular ministry was to testify to Jesus (10:41). "Witness" is another important concept in this Gospel. The Greek noun for "witness" or "testimony" is used 14 times (in Matthew not at all, in Mark three times, in Luke once) and the verb ("testify") 33 times (found once each in Matthew and Luke, not at all in Mark)—in both cases more often than anywhere else in the NT. John (the author) thereby emphasizes that the facts about Jesus are amply attested. that all might believe through him. People were not to believe "in" John the Baptist but "through" him. Similarly, the writer's purpose was to draw them to belief in Christ (20:31); he uses the Greek verb pisteuo ("believe") 98 times.

1:9 John is referring to the incarnation of Christ. world. Another common word in John's writings, the Greek kosmos is found 78 times in this Gospel and 24 times in his letters (only 47 times in all of Paul's writings). It can mean the universe, the earth, the people on earth, most people, people opposed to God, or the human system opposed to God's purposes. John emphasizes the word by repetition, and moves without explanation from one meaning to another (see, e.g., 17:5,14–15 and notes).

1:12 He gave the right. Membership in God's family is by grace alone—the gift of God (see Eph 2:8–9). It is never a human achievement, as v. 13 emphasizes; yet the imparting of the gift is dependent on man's reception of it, as the words "received" and "believe" make clear.

1:14 became. Indicates transition; the Word existed before He became man. flesh. A strong, almost crude, word that stresses the reality of Christ's manhood. dwelt among us, and we saw His glory. The Greek for "dwelt" is connected with the word for "tent/tabernacle"; the verse would have reminded John's Jewish readers of the tent of meeting, which was filled by the glory of God (Ex 40:34–35). Christ revealed His glory to His disciples by the miracles He performed (see 2:11) and by His death and resurrection. grace and truth. The corresponding Hebrew terms are often translated "(unfailing) love and faithfulness" (see notes on Ps 26:3; Prov 16:6). grace. A significant Christian concept (see notes on Jon 4:2; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2), though John never uses the word after the prologue (vv. 1–18). truth. John uses this word, the Greek aletheia, 25 times and links closely with Jesus, who is the truth (14:6).

1:15 cried out. John characteristically uses present tense verbs in his writing. Here the Greek is in the present tense, even when John wrote it the action was in the past. The present tense in the original suggest the author John's sense that John the Baptist's message still sounded in people's ears beyond his death. He existed before me. In ancient times the older person was given respect and regarded as greater than the younger. People would normally have ranked Jesus lower in respect than John, who was older. John the Baptist explains that this is only apparent, since Jesus, as the Word, existed before he was born on earth.

only begotten God who is [c]in the bosom of the Father, [d]He has explained Him.

The Testimony of John

19 This is [a]the testimony of John, when [b]the Jews sent to him priests and Levites [c]from Jerusalem to ask him, "Who are you?"

20 And he confessed and did not deny, but confessed, "[a]I am not [1]the Christ."

21 They asked him, "What then? Are you [a]Elijah?" And he *said, "I am not." "Are you [b]the Prophet?" And he answered, "No."

22 Then they said to him, "Who are you, so that we may give an answer to those who sent us? What do you say about yourself?"

23 He said, "I am [a]A VOICE OF ONE CRYING IN THE WILDERNESS, 'MAKE STRAIGHT THE WAY OF THE LORD,' as Isaiah the prophet said."

24 Now they had been sent from the Pharisees.

25 They asked him, and said to him, "Why then are you baptizing, if you are not the [1]Christ, nor Elijah, nor [a]the Prophet?"

26 John answered them saying, "[a]I baptize [1]in water, but among you stands One whom you do not know.

27 "It is [a]He who comes after me, the [b]thong of whose sandal I am not worthy to untie."

28 These things took place in Bethany [a]beyond the Jordan, where John was baptizing.

29 The next day he *saw Jesus coming to him and *said, "Behold, [a]the Lamb of God who [b]takes away the sin of the world!

30 "This is He on behalf of whom I said, '[a]After me comes a Man who [1]has a higher rank than I, [b]for He existed before me.'

31 "I did not recognize [1]Him, but so that He might be manifested to Israel, I came baptizing [2]in water."

32 John [a]testified saying, "[b]I have seen the Spirit descending as a dove out of heaven, and He remained upon Him.

33 "I did not recognize [1]Him, but He who sent me to baptize [2]in water said to me, 'He upon whom you see the Spirit descending and remaining upon Him, [a]this is the One who baptizes [2]in the Holy Spirit.'

1:18 the only begotten God. An explicit declaration of Christ's deity (see vv. 1,14 and notes; 3:16). has made Him known. Sometimes in the OT people are said to have seen God (e.g., Ex 24:9–11). But we are also told that no one can see God and live (Ex 33:20). Therefore, since no human being can see God as He really is, those who saw God saw Him in a form He took on Himself temporarily for the occasion. Now, however, Christ has made Him known.

1:19 the Jews. The phrase occurs about 70 times in this Gospel. It is used in a favorable sense (e.g., 4:22) and in a neutral sense (e.g., 2:6). But generally John used it of the Jewish leaders who were hostile to Jesus (e.g., 8:48). Here it refers to the delegation sent by the Sanhedrin to look into the activities of an unauthorized teacher. Levites. Descendants of the tribe of Levi, who were assigned to specific duties in connection with the tabernacle and temple (Num 3:17–37). They also had teaching responsibilities (2 Chr 35:3; Neh 8:7–9), and it was probably in this role that they were sent with the priests to John the Baptist.

1:20 I. Emphatic, contrasting John the Baptist (or Baptizer) with someone else. Throughout the following verses this emphatic "I" occurs frequently, and almost invariably there is an implied contrast with Jesus, who is always given the higher place.

1:21 Are you Elijah? . . . I am not. The Jews remembered that Elijah had not died (2 Kin 2:11) and believed that the same prophet would come back to earth to announce the end time. In this sense, John properly denied that he was Elijah. When Jesus later said the Baptist was Elijah (Matt 11:14; 17:10–13), He meant it in the sense that John was a fulfillment of the prophecy of Mal 4:5 (cf. Luke 1:17). the Prophet. The prophet of Deut 18:15,18. The Jewish people expected a variety of persons to be associated with the coming of the Messiah. John the Baptist emphatically denies being the Prophet. He had come to testify about Jesus, yet they kept asking him about himself. His answers became progressively more terse.

1:23 The Baptist applied the prophecy of Is 40:3 to his own ministry of calling people to repent in preparation for the coming of the Messiah. The men of Qumran (the community that produced the Dead Sea Scrolls; see essay, p. 1356.) applied the same words to themselves, but they prepared for the Lord's coming by isolating themselves from the world to secure their own salvation. John concentrated on helping people come to the Messiah (the Christ).

1:24 Pharisees. The conservative religious party, who probed deeper than the rest of the delegation (v. 19). See notes on Matt 3:7; Mark 2:16; Luke 5:17.

1:25 the Christ. "The Christ" (Greek) and "The Messiah" (Hebrew) both mean "the Anointed One." In OT times anointing signified being set apart for service, particularly as king (cf. 1 Sam 16:1,13; 26:11) or priest (Ex 40:13–15; Lev 4:3). But people were looking for not just an anointed one but the Anointed One, the Messiah.

1:27 the thong of whose sandal I am not worthy to untie. A menial task, fit for a slave. Disciples would perform all sorts of service for their rabbis (teachers), but loosing sandal thongs was expressly excluded.

1:28 Bethany. The Bethany mentioned elsewhere in the Gospels was only about two miles from Jerusalem. The site of this other Bethany is not known, except that it was located on the east side of the Jordan.

1:29 Lamb of God. An expression found in the Bible only here and in v. 36. Many suggestions have been made as to its precise meaning (e.g., the lamb offered at Passover, or the lamb of Is 53:7, of Jer 11:19 or of Gen 22:8). But the expression seems to be a general reference to sacrifice, not the name for a particular offering. John was saying that Jesus would be the sacrifice that would atone for the sin of the world.

1:31 I did not recognize Him. John the Baptist, who "lived in the deserts until the day of his public appearance to Israel" (Luke 1:80), may not have known Jesus at all. But the words probably mean only that he did not know that Jesus was the Messiah until he saw the sign mentioned in vv. 32–33.

1:32 See note on Matt 3:15 for Jesus' baptism.

1:33 the One who baptizes in the Holy Spirit. John baptized with water, but Jesus would baptize with the Spirit. If a specific event that this is [a]the Son of God."

Jesus' Public Ministry, First Converts

35 Again [a]the next day John was standing
[1]with two of his disciples,
36 and he looked at Jesus as He walked, and *said, "Behold, [a]the Lamb of God!"
37 The two disciples heard him speak, and they followed Jesus.
38 And Jesus turned and saw them following, and *said to them, "What do you seek?" They said to Him, "[a]Rabbi (which translated means Teacher), where are You staying?"
39 He *said to them, "Come, and you will see." So they came and saw where He was staying; and they stayed with Him that day, for it was about the [1]tenth hour.
40 [a]One of the two who heard John speak and followed Him, was Andrew, Simon
Peter's brother.
41 He *found first his own brother Simon and *said to him, "We have found the [a]Messiah" (which translated means [1]Christ).
42 He brought him to Jesus. Jesus looked at him and said, "You are Simon the son of [1a]John; you shall be called [b]Cephas" (which is translated [2c]Peter).
43 [a]The next day He purposed to go into [b]Galilee, and He *found [c]Philip. And Jesus *said to him, "[d]Follow Me."
44 Now [a]Philip was from [b]Bethsaida, of the city of Andrew and Peter.
45 [a]Philip *found [b]Nathanael and *said to him, "We have found Him of whom [c]Moses in the Law and also [c]the Prophets wrote—Jesus of [d]Nazareth, [e]the son of Joseph."
46 Nathanael said to him, "[a]Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?" [b]Philip *said to him, "Come and see."
47 Jesus saw Nathanael coming to Him, and *said of him, "Behold, an [a]Israelite indeed, in whom there is no deceit!"
48 Nathanael *said to Him, "How do You know me?" Jesus answered and said to him,
"Before [a]Philip called you, when you were under the fig tree, I saw you."
49 Nathanael answered Him, "[a]Rabbi, You are [b]the Son of God; You are the [c]King of Israel."
50 Jesus answered and said to him,
"Because I said to you that I saw you under the fig tree, do you believe? You will see greater things than these."
51 And He *said to him, "Truly, truly, I say to you, you will see [a]the heavens opened and [b]the angels of God ascending and descending on [c]the Son of Man."

Miracle at Cana

2 On [a]the third day there was a wedding in [b]Cana of Galilee, and the [c]mother of Jesus was there;
2 and both Jesus and His [a]disciples were invited to the wedding.
3 When the wine ran out, the mother of Jesus *said to Him, "They have no wine."
4 And Jesus *said to her, "[a]Woman, [1b]what does that have to do with us? [c]My hour has not yet come."

is intended by these words, the fulfillment was the sending of the Holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2).

1:34 Son of God. See vv. 14,18; 3:16; 20:31.

1:35 two. One was Andrew (v. 40). The other is not named, but from early times it has been thought that he was the author of this Gospel. his disciples. In the sense that they had been baptized by John and looked to him as their religious teacher.

1:36 Lamb of God. See note on v. 29.

1:39 tenth hour. 4:00 P.M.

1:41 the Messiah. See note on v. 25.

1:42 Peter. Both Cephas (Aramaic) and Peter (Greek) mean "rock." In the Gospels, Peter was anything but a rock; he was impulsive and unstable. In Acts, he was a pillar of the early church. Jesus named him not for what he was but for what, by God's grace, he would become.

1:44 Bethsaida. See note on Matt 11:21.

1:45 son of Joseph. Not a denial of the virgin birth of Christ (Matt 1:18,20,23,25; Luke 1:35). Joseph was Jesus' legal, though not His natural, father.

1:46 Nazareth. See 7:52; see also note on Matt 2:23.

1:47 an Israelite indeed. See 2:24–25.

1:48 fig tree. Its shade was a favorite place for study and prayer in hot weather.

1:49 Son of God. See vv. 14,18,34; 3:16; 20:31. At the beginning of Jesus' ministry Nathanael acknowledged Jesus with this meaningful title; later it was used in mockery (Matt 27:40; cf. John 19:7). King of Israel. See 12:13. In Mark 15:32 "Christ" and "King of Israel" are equated.

1:51 heavens opened. In Jesus' ministry the disciples will see heaven's (God's) testimony to Jesus as plainly as if they heard an announcement from heaven concerning Him. the angels of God ascending and descending. As in Jacob's dream (see Gen 28:12 and note), thus marking Jesus as God's elect one through whom redemption comes to the world—perhaps identifying Jesus as the true Israelite (see v. 47). Son of Man. Jesus' favorite self-designation (see notes on Mark 8:31; Luke 6:5; 19:10).

2:1 a wedding. Little is known of how a wedding was performed in the Holy Land in the first century, but clearly the feast was very important and might go on for a week. To fail in proper hospitality was a serious offense. Cana. Mentioned only in John's Gospel (2:11; 4:46; 21:2). It was west of the Sea of Galilee, but the exact location is unknown.

2:3 When the wine ran out. More than a minor social embarrassment, since the family had an obligation to provide a feast of the socially required standard. There was no great variety in beverages, and people normally drank water or wine.

2:4 My hour has not yet come. Several similar expressions scattered through this Gospel (7:6,8,30; 8:20) picture Jesus moving inevitably toward the destiny for which He had come: the time of His sacrificial death on the cross. At the crucifixion and resurrection Jesus' time had truly come (12:23,27; 13:1; 16:32; 17:1).

5 His [a]mother *said to the servants, "Whatever He says to you, do it."

6 Now there were six stone waterpots set there [a]for the Jewish custom of purification, containing [1]twenty or thirty gallons each.

7 Jesus *said to them, "Fill the waterpots with water." So they filled them up to the brim.

8 And He *said to them, "Draw some out now and take it to the [1]headwaiter." So they took it to him.

9 When the headwaiter tasted the water [a]which had become wine, and did not know where it came from (but the servants who had drawn the water knew), the headwaiter *called the bridegroom,

10 and *said to him, "Every man serves the good wine first, and when the people [a]have [1]drunk freely, then he serves the poorer wine; but you have kept the good wine until now."

11 This beginning of His [1][a]signs Jesus did in Cana of [b]Galilee, and manifested His [c]glory, and His disciples believed in Him.

12 After this He went down to [a]Capernaum, He and His [b]mother and His [b]brothers and His [c]disciples; and they stayed there a few days.

First Passover—Cleansing the Temple

13 [a]The Passover of the Jews was near, and Jesus [b]went up to Jerusalem.

14 [a]And He found in the temple those who were selling oxen and sheep and doves, and the money changers seated at their tables.

15 And He made a scourge of cords, and drove them all out of the temple, with the sheep and the oxen; and He poured out the coins of the money changers and overturned their tables;

16 and to those who were selling [a]the doves He said, "Take these things away; stop making [b]My Father's house a [1]place of business."

17 His [a]disciples remembered that it was written, "[b]ZEAL FOR YOUR HOUSE WILL CONSUME ME."

18 [a]The Jews then said to Him, "[b]What sign do You show us [1]as your authority for doing these things?"

19 Jesus answered them, "[a]Destroy this [1]temple, and in three days I will raise it up."

20 [a]The Jews then said, "It took [b]forty-six years to build this [1]temple, and will You raise it up in three days?"

21 But He was speaking of [a]the [1]temple of His body.

22 So when He was raised from the dead, His [a]disciples [b]remembered that He said this; and they believed [c]the Scripture and the word which Jesus had spoken.

23 Now when He was in Jerusalem at [a]the Passover, during the feast, many believed in His name, [b]observing His signs which He was doing.

24 But Jesus, on His part, was not entrusting Himself to them, for [a]He knew all men, 25 and because He did not need anyone to testify concerning man, [a]for He Himself knew what was in man.

The New Birth

3 Now there was a man of the Pharisees, named [a]Nicodemus, a [b]ruler of the Jews;

2 this man came to Jesus by night and said to Him, "[a]Rabbi, we know that You have come from God as a teacher; for no one can do these [1][b]signs that You do unless [c]God is with him."

2:6 custom of purification. Jews became ceremonially defiled during the normal circumstances of daily life, and were cleansed by pouring water over the hands. For a lengthy feast with many guests a large amount of water was required for this purpose. containing. Refers to capacity, not actual content.

2:11 signs. John always refers to Jesus' miracles as "signs," a word emphasizing the significance of the action rather than the marvel (see, e.g., 4:54; 6:14; 9:16; 11:47). They revealed Jesus' glory (see 1:14; cf. Is 35:1–2; Joel 3:18; Amos 9:13).

2:13 Passover. See Ex 12 and notes on Ex 12:11–23; see also notes on Matt 26:17,18–30; Mark 14:1,12; Luke 22:1; and chart, pp. 164–165. Passover was one of the annual feasts that all Jewish men were required to celebrate in Jerusalem (Deut 16:16). See note on 5:1.

2:14–17 Matthew, Mark and Luke record a cleansing of the temple toward the end of Jesus' ministry (see note on Matt 21:12–17).

2:14 oxen and sheep and doves. Required for sacrifices. Jews who came great distances had to be able to buy sacrificial animals near the temple. The merchants, however, were selling them in the outer court of the temple itself, the one place where Gentiles could come to pray. money changers. Many coins had to be changed into currency acceptable to the temple authorities, which made money changers necessary (see note on Mark 11:15). They should not, however, have been working in the temple itself.

2:19 The Jews thought Jesus was referring to the literal temple, but John tells us that He was not (v. 21). Just a few years later Jesus was accused of saying that He would destroy the temple and raise it again (Matt 26:60–61; Mark 14:57–59), and mockers repeated the charge as He hung on the cross (Matt 27:40; Mark 15:29). The same misunderstanding may have been behind the charge against Stephen (Acts 6:14).

2:20 forty-six years. The temple was not finally completed until A.D. 64. The meaning is that work had been going on for 46 years. Since it had begun in 20 B.C., the year of the event recorded here is A.D. 26/27.

2:22 remembered. See 14:26.

2:23 the Passover. See note on v. 13. name. In ancient times an individual's "name" summed up his whole person.

3:1 a man of the Pharisees. See notes on Matt 3:7; Mark 2:16; Luke 5:17.

3:2 by night. Perhaps Nicodemus was afraid to come by day. Or he may have wanted a long talk, which would have been difficult in the daytime with the crowds around Jesus.

3 Jesus answered and said to him, "Truly, truly, I say to you, unless one [a]is born [1]again he cannot see [b]the kingdom of God."

4 Nicodemus *said to Him, "How can a man be born when he is old? He cannot enter a second time into his mother's womb and be born, can he?"

5 Jesus answered, "Truly, truly, I say to you, unless one is born of [a]water and the Spirit he cannot enter into [b]the kingdom of God.

6 "[a]That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.

7 "Do not be amazed that I said to you, 'You must be born [1]again.'

8 "[a]The wind blows where it wishes and you hear the sound of it, but do not know where it comes from and where it is going; so is everyone who is born of the Spirit."

9 Nicodemus said to Him, "How can these things be?"

10 Jesus answered and said to him, "Are you [a]the teacher of Israel and do not understand these things?

11 "Truly, truly, I say to you, [a]we speak of what we know and [b]testify of what we have seen, and [b]you do not accept our testimony.

12 "If I told you earthly things and you do not believe, how will you believe if I tell you heavenly things?

13 "[a]No one has ascended into heaven, but [b]He who descended from heaven: [c]the Son of Man.

14 "As [a]Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must [b]the Son of Man [c]be lifted up;

15 so that whoever [1]believes will [a]in Him have eternal life.

16 "For God so [a]loved the world, that He [b]gave His [1c]only begotten Son, that whoever [d]believes in Him shall not perish, but have eternal life.

17 "For God [a]did not send the Son into the world [b]to judge the world, but that the world might be saved through Him.

18 "[a]He who believes in Him is not judged; he who does not believe has been judged already, because he has not believed in the name of [b]the [1]only begotten Son of God.

19 "This is the judgment, that [a]the Light has come into the world, and men loved the darkness rather than the Light, for [b]their deeds were evil.

20 "[a]For everyone who does evil hates the Light, and does not come to the Light for fear that his deeds will be exposed.

21 "But he who [a]practices the truth comes to the Light, so that his deeds may be manifested as having been wrought in God."

John's Last Testimony

22 After these things Jesus and His [a]disciples came into the land of Judea, and there He was spending time with them and [b]baptizing.

23 John also was baptizing in Aenon near Salim, because there was much water there; and people were coming and were being baptized—

24 for [a]John had not yet been thrown into prison.

25 Therefore there arose a discussion on the part of John's disciples with a Jew about [a]purification.

26 And they came to John and said to him, "[a]Rabbi, He who was with you [b]beyond the Jordan, to whom you [c]have testified, behold, He is baptizing and all are coming to Him."

27 John answered and said, "[a]A man can

3:3 born again. The Greek here and in v. 7 may mean "born from above." Both meanings are consistent with Jesus' redeeming work.

3:5 born of water and the Spirit. A phrase understood in various ways: 1. It means much the same as "born of the Spirit" (v. 8; cf. Titus 3:5). 2. Water here refers to purification. 3. Water refers to baptism—that of John (1:31) or that of Jesus and His disciples (v. 22; 4:1–2). kingdom of God. See note on Matt 3:2.

3:7 You. This assertion applies to everyone, not just Nicodemus (the Greek for "you" is plural here). must. There are no exceptions. born again. See note on v. 3.

3:8 The Holy Spirit is sovereign. He works as He pleases in His renewal of the human heart.

3:11 we. The plural associates others, perhaps the disciples, with Jesus. The words are true of Christians as well as of Christ. testimony. See note on 1:7.

3:13 the Son of Man. Jesus' favorite self-designation (see notes on Mark 8:31; Luke 6:5; 19:10).

3:14 must the Son of Man be lifted up. See notes on 12:31–32.

3:15 believes. See note on 1:7. eternal life. An infinitely high quality of life in living fellowship with God—both now and forever.

3:16 God so loved the world. The great truth that motivated God's plan of salvation (cf. 1 John 4:9–10). world. All people on earth—or perhaps all creation (see note on 1:9). that He gave. See Is 9:6. only begotten Son. See 1:14,18; cf. Gen 22:2,16; Rom 8:32. Although believers are also called "sons of God" (2 Cor 6:18; Rev 21:7), Jesus is God's Son in a unique sense.

3:18 believes . . . does not believe. John is not speaking of momentary beliefs and doubts but of continuing, settled attitudes.

3:22 baptizing. According to 4:2 only the disciples actually baptized.

3:23 Aenon. Possibly about eight miles south of Scythopolis (Beth-shean), west of the Jordan.

3:25 discussion . . . about purification. The Dead Sea (Qumran) Scrolls (see essay, p. 1356) show that some Jews were deeply interested in the right way to achieve ceremonial purification.

3:26 testified. See note on 1:7. John's disciples knew that he had testified about Jesus, but they loved their master and were envious of Jesus' success.

The Woman of Samaria

7 There *came a woman of Samaria to draw water. Jesus *said to her, "Give Me a drink."

8 For His [a]disciples had gone away into [b]the city to buy food.

9 Therefore the [a]Samaritan woman *said to Him, "How is it that You, being a Jew, ask me for a drink since I am a Samaritan woman?" (For [b]Jews have no dealings with Samaritans.)

10 Jesus answered and said to her, "If you knew the gift of God, and who it is who says to you, 'Give Me a drink,' you would have asked Him, and He would have given you [a]living water."

3:27 The words are true of both Jesus and John (and of everyone). Both had what God had given them, so there was no place for envy. given. The Greek for "to give" is used frequently in this Gospel (75 times), especially of the things the Father gives the Son.

3:29 the bridegroom. The most important man at a wedding, referring here to Jesus. The friend (best man) is there only to help the bridegroom, which describes the role of John the Baptist. rejoices greatly. Not because he was on center stage, but because the bridegroom was there. John's joy was to hear of Jesus' success.

3:30 John the Baptist had been sent to prepare the way for the Messiah and here reaffirms his subordinate position.

3:31 He who comes from above. Jesus, whose heavenly origin (cf. 1 Cor 15:47) meant much to John. he who is of the earth. A general expression that could apply to anyone, but here it particularly refers to John the Baptist.

3:32 what He has seen and heard. Jesus taught from divine experience. no one. Does not mean that no person accepted what He said (see v. 33) but that people in general refused His teaching.

3:33 set his seal. When anyone accepts Christ's testimony, he accepts the truth that Jesus came from heaven and that God was acting in Him for the world's salvation. He thereby certifies that God is truthful.

3:34 He whom God has sent. Jesus. without measure. Some hold that it is only to Jesus that the Spirit is given without limit. Others take the second "He" as a reference to Christ's giving the Spirit without limit to believers.

3:36 has. Eternal life is a present possession, not something the believer will only obtain later (see note on v. 15). wrath of God. A strong expression, meaning that God is actively opposed to everything evil. The word "wrath" occurs only here in John's Gospel (see note on Rom 1:18). abides. A sinner cannot expect God's wrath eventually to fade away. God's opposition to evil is both total and permanent.

4:1 Pharisees. The religious leaders took a close interest in John the Baptist (see note on 1:24) and then also in Jesus.

4:2 The disciples did not baptize without Jesus' approval (3:22).

4:3 left Judea. Success (which aroused opposition; see 7:1), not failure, led Jesus to leave Judea.

4:4 had to pass. The necessity lay in Jesus' mission, not in geography. Samaria. Here the whole region, not simply the city. Jews often avoided Samaria by crossing the Jordan and traveling on the east side (see notes on Matt 10:5; Luke 9:52).

4:5 Sychar. A small village near Shechem. Jacob bought some land in the vicinity of Shechem (Gen 33:18–19), and it was apparently this land that he gave to Joseph (Gen 48:21–22). See map, p. 1522.

4:6 Jacob's well. Mentioned nowhere else in Scripture. about the sixth hour. About 12:00 noon.

4:7 to draw water. People normally drew water at the end of the day rather than in the heat of midday (see Gen 24:11 and note). But the practice is attested by Josephus, who says that the young ladies whom Moses helped (Ex 2:15–17) came to draw water at noon.

4:9 have no dealings with. The Greek implies the meaning, "do not use dishes Samaritans have used." A Jew would become ceremonially unclean if he used a drinking vessel handled by a Samaritan, since the Jews held that all Samaritans were "unclean."

4:10 gift. The Greek for this word is used only here in this Gospel and emphasizes God's grace through Christ. Jesus gave life and gave it freely. living water. In 7:38–39 the term is 11 She *said to Him, "[1]Sir, You have nothing to draw with and the well is deep; where then do You get that [a]living water?

12 "You are not greater than our father Jacob, are You, who [a]gave us the well, and drank of it himself and his sons and his cattle?"

13 Jesus answered and said to her, "Everyone who drinks of this water will thirst again;

14 but whoever drinks of the water that I will give him [a]shall never thirst; but the water that I will give him will become in him a well of water springing up to [b]eternal life."

15 The woman *said to Him, "[1]Sir, [a]give me this water, so I will not be thirsty nor come all the way here to draw."

16 He *said to her, "Go, call your husband and come here."

17 The woman answered and said, "I have no husband." Jesus *said to her, "You have correctly said, 'I have no husband';

18 for you have had five husbands, and the one whom you now have is not your husband; this you have said truly."

19 The woman *said to Him, "[1]Sir, I perceive that You are [a]a prophet.

20 "[a]Our fathers worshiped in [b]this mountain, and you people say that [c]in Jerusalem is the place where men ought to worship."

21 Jesus *said to her, "Woman, believe Me, [a]an hour is coming when [b]neither in this mountain nor in Jerusalem will you worship the Father.

22 "[a]You worship what you do not know; we worship what we know, for [b]salvation is from the Jews.

23 "But [a]an hour is coming, and now is, when the true worshipers will worship the Father [b]in spirit and truth; for such people the Father seeks to be His worshipers.

24 "God is [1]spirit, and those who worship Him must worship [a]in spirit and truth."

25 The woman *said to Him, "I know that [a]Messiah is coming ([b]He who is called Christ); when that One comes, He will declare all things to us."

26 Jesus *said to her, "[a]I who speak to you am He."

27 At this point His [a]disciples came, and they were amazed that He had been speaking with a woman, yet no one said, "What do You seek?" or, "Why do You speak with her?"

28 So the woman left her waterpot, and went into the city and *said to the men,

29 "Come, see a man [a]who told me all the things that I have done; [b]this is not [1]the Christ, is it?"

30 They went out of the city, and were coming to Him.

31 Meanwhile the disciples were urging Him, saying, "[a]Rabbi, eat."

32 But He said to them, "I have food to eat that you do not know about."

33 So the [a]disciples were saying to one another, "No one brought Him anything to eat, did he?"

explained as meaning the Holy Spirit, but here it refers to eternal life (see v. 14).

4:11 deep. Christian pilgrim sources as early as the fourth century mention a well in this area that was about 100 feet deep. When the present well was cleaned out in 1935, it was found to be 138 feet deep.

4:12 our father Jacob. Respect for the past prevented her from seeing the great opportunity of the present.

4:14 springing up. The expression is a vigorous one, with a meaning like "leaping up." Jesus was speaking of vigorous, abundant life (cf. 10:10).

4:15 Cf. the misunderstanding of Nicodemus (3:4). In both cases the way was opened for further instruction.

4:18 five husbands. The Jews held that a woman might be divorced twice or at the most three times. If the Samaritans had the same standard, the woman's life had been exceedingly immoral. Apparently she had not married her present partner.

4:19 a prophet. Because of His special insight.

4:20 this mountain. Perhaps the woman did not like the way the conversation was going and so began to argue. The proper place of worship had long been a source of debate between Jews and Samaritans. Samaritans held that "this mountain" (Mount Gerizim) was especially sacred. Abraham and Jacob had built altars in the general vicinity (Gen 12:7; 33:20), and the people had been blessed from this mountain (Deut 11:29; 27:12). In the Samaritan Scriptures, Mount Gerizim (rather than Mount Ebal) was the mountain on which Moses had commanded an altar to be built (Deut 27:4–6). The Samaritans had built a temple on Mount Gerizim c. 400 B.C., which the Jews destroyed c. 128. Both actions, of course, increased hostility between the two groups. See map, p. 1522.

4:22 worship what you do not know. The Samaritan Bible contained only the Pentateuch. They worshiped the true God, but their failure to accept much of His revelation meant that they knew little of Him. salvation is from the Jews. The Messiah would be a Jew.

4:24 God is spirit . . . worship in spirit and truth. The place of worship is irrelevant, because true worship must be in keeping with God's nature, which is spirit. In John's Gospel truth is associated with Christ (14:6; see note on 1:14), a fact that has great importance for the proper understanding of Christian worship.

4:25 Messiah . . . will declare all things. The woman's last attempt to evade the issue. The matter was too important, she reasoned, for people like Jesus and herself to work out. Understanding would have to await the coming of the Messiah (see note on 1:25). The Samaritans expected a Messiah, but their rejection of all the inspired writings after the Pentateuch meant that they knew little about Him. They thought of Him mainly as a teacher.

4:26 I . . . am He. The only occasion before His trial on which Jesus specifically said that He was the Messiah (but see Mark 9:41). The term did not have the political overtones in Samaria that it had in Judea, which may be part of the reason Jesus used the designation here.

4:27 were amazed. Jewish religious teachers rarely spoke with women in public.

4:29 all the things . . . I have done. An exaggeration, but it shows the impression Jesus made on her. this is not the Christ, is it? Her question seems full of longing, as though she did not expect them to say "Yes," but she could not say "No."

4:33 A misunderstanding similar to that of the woman (v. 15).

34 Jesus *said to them, "My food is to [c]do the will of Him who sent Me and to [b]accomplish His work.

35 "Do you not say, 'There are yet four months, and then comes the harvest'? Behold, I say to you, lift up your eyes and look on the fields, that they are white [a]for harvest.

36 "Already he who reaps is receiving [a]wages and is gathering [b]fruit for [c]life eternal; so that he who sows and he who reaps may rejoice together.

37 "For in this case the saying is true, '[a]One sows and another reaps.'

38 "I sent you to reap that for which you have not labored; others have labored and you have entered into their labor."

The Samaritans

39 From [a]that city many of the Samaritans believed in Him because of the word of the woman who testified, "[b]He told me all the things that I have done."

40 So when the Samaritans came to Jesus, they were asking Him to stay with them; and He stayed there two days.

41 Many more believed because of His word;

42 and they were saying to the woman, "It is no longer because of what you said that we believe, for we have heard for ourselves and know that this One is indeed [a]the Savior of the world."

43 After [a]the two days He went forth from there into Galilee.

44 For Jesus Himself testified that [a]a prophet has no honor in his own country.

45 So when He came to Galilee, the Galileans received Him, [a]having seen all the things that He did in Jerusalem at the feast; for they themselves also went to the feast.

Healing a Nobleman's Son

46 Therefore He came again to [a]Cana of Galilee [b]where He had made the water wine. And there was a royal official whose son was sick at [c]Capernaum.

47 When he heard that Jesus had come [a]out of Judea into Galilee, he went to Him and was imploring Him to come down and heal his son; for he was at the point of death.

48 So Jesus said to him, "Unless you people see [1][a]signs and [a]wonders, you simply will not believe."

49 The royal official *said to Him, "[1]Sir, come down before my child dies."

50 Jesus *said to him, "[a]Go; your son lives." The man believed the word that Jesus spoke to him and started off.

51 As he was now going down, his slaves met him, saying that his [1]son was living.

52 So he inquired of them the hour when he began to get better. Then they said to him, "Yesterday at the [1]seventh hour the fever left him."

53 So the father knew that it was at that hour in which Jesus said to him, "Your son lives"; and he himself believed and [a]his whole household.

54 This is again a [a]second [1]sign that Jesus performed when He had [b]come out of Judea into Galilee.

Healing at Bethesda

5:1 After these things there was [a]a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

5:1 [a]Deut 16:1; John 2:13
2 [a]Neh 3:1, 32; 12:39

4:34 My food is to do the will of Him who sent Me. John often mentions that Jesus depended on the Father and did the work the Father sent Him to do (e.g., 5:30; 6:38; 8:26; 9:4; 10:37–38; 12:49–50; 14:31; 15:10; 17:4).

4:35 There are yet four months, and then comes the harvest. Apparently a proverb that meant something like "Harvest cannot be rushed." But, while the crops must take their time ripening, in the fields that Jesus referred to the harvest is already ripe.

4:36 is receiving wages. The work, or at least part of it, had been done, and others were working hard. The disciples were not to think that the harvest was far off. Jesus was not speaking of grain but of "fruit for life eternal." There was urgency, for the crop would not wait. rejoice together. There is no competition among Christ's faithful servants, and sower and reaper share in the joy of the crop.

4:37 See 1 Cor 3:6–9.

4:38 others. May refer to John the Baptist and his supporters, on whose work the apostles would build. Or perhaps Jesus was looking further back, to the prophets and other godly men of old. Either way, He expected the apostles to be reapers as well as sowers.

4:42 the Savior of the world. In the NT the expression occurs only here and in 1John 4:14. It points to the facts (1) that Jesus not only teaches but also saves, and (2) that His salvation extends to the world (see note on 3:16).

4:44 a prophet has no honor in his own country. Nonetheless, Jesus went to Galilee, because He came to die for our salvation (cf. 1:29).

4:45 received Him. The welcome of the Galileans actually was a kind of rejection, for they were interested only in His miracles. They were not welcoming the Messiah who could save them, but only a miracle worker who could amaze them.

4:46 royal official. Evidently an officer in Herod's service.

4:48 Unless you . . . see signs and wonders, you . . . will not believe. The general attitude of Galileans, not that of the official.

4:50 your son lives. Not simply a prophecy, but words of power. Jesus was healing, not forecasting a happy ending (see vv. 51,53).

4:52 seventh hour. 1:00 p.m.

4:53 believed. Cf. the aim of this Gospel (20:31).

4:54 a second sign. There had, of course, already been many such signs (2:23; 3:2), but this was the second time Jesus performed a sign after coming from Judea to Galilee.

5:1 After these things. An indefinite expression (cf. 6:1; 7:1). a feast of the Jews. Probably one of the three pilgrimage feasts to which all Jewish males were expected to go—Passover, Pentecost or Booths. The identity of this feast is significant for the attempt to ascertain the number of Passovers included in Jesus' ministry, and thus the number of years His ministry lasted. John explicitly mentions at least three different Passovers: the first in 2:13,23 (see note on 2:13), the second in 6:4 and sheep gate a pool, which is called [b]in [1]Hebrew [2]Bethesda, having five porticoes.

3 In these lay a multitude of those who were sick, blind, lame, and withered, [1]waiting for the moving of the waters;

4 for an angel of the Lord went down at certain seasons into the pool and stirred up the water; whoever then first, after the stirring up of the water, stepped in was made well from whatever disease with which he was afflicted.]

5 A man was there who had been [1]ill for thirty-eight years.

6 When Jesus saw him lying there, and knew that he had already been a long time in that condition, He *said to him, "Do you wish to get well?"

7 The sick man answered Him, "Sir, I have no man to put me into the pool when [a]the water is stirred up, but while I am coming, another steps down before me."

8 Jesus *said to him, "[a]Get up, pick up your pallet and walk."

9 Immediately the man became well, and picked up his pallet and began to walk.

[a]Now it was the Sabbath on that day.

10 So [a]the Jews were saying to the man who was cured, "It is the Sabbath, and [b]it is not permissible for you to carry your pallet."

11 But he answered them, "He who made me well was the one who said to me, 'Pick up your pallet and walk.' "

12 They asked him, "Who is the man who said to you, 'Pick up your pallet and walk'?"

13 But the man who was healed did not know who it was, for Jesus had slipped away while there was a crowd in that place.

14 Afterward Jesus *found him in the temple and said to him, "Behold, you have become well; do not [a]sin anymore, [b]so that nothing worse happens to you."

15 The man went away, and told [a]the Jews that it was Jesus who had made him well.

16 For this reason [a]the Jews were persecuting Jesus, because He was doing these things on the Sabbath.

17 But He answered them, "My Father is working until now, and I Myself am working."

Jesus' Equality with God

18 For this reason therefore [a]the Jews [b]were seeking all the more to kill Him, because He not only was breaking the Sabbath, but also was calling God His own Father, [c]making Himself equal with God.

19 Therefore Jesus answered and was saying to them, "Truly, truly, I say to you, [a]the Son can do nothing of Himself, unless it is something He sees the Father doing; for whatever [1]the Father does, these things the Son also does in like manner.

20 "[a]For the Father loves the Son, and the third several times (e.g., in 11:55; 12:1). If three Passovers are accepted, the length of Jesus' ministry was between two and three years. However, if the feast of 5:1 was a fourth Passover or assumes that a fourth Passover had come and gone, Jesus' ministry would have lasted between three and four years.

5:2 there is. Not "was." This may mean that the pool was still in existence at the time this was being written, i.e., that John wrote before the destruction of Jerusalem. However, this falls short of proving the time of writing (see Introduction: Date). Bethesda. The manuscripts have a variety of names (e.g., Bethzatha and Bethsaida), but one of the Dead Sea Scrolls seems to show that Bethesda is the right name. The site is generally identified with the twin pools near the present-day Saint Anne's Church. There would have been a colonnade on each of the four sides and another between the two pools.

5:3–4 Some manuscripts do not have 3b–4. They may have been added by a later copyist to explain why people waited by the pool in large numbers.

5:5 ill. John does not say what the trouble was, but it was a form of paralysis or at least lameness.

5:6 Do you wish to get well? The question was important. The man had not asked Jesus for help, and a beggar of that day could lose a sometimes profitable (and easy) income if he were cured. Or perhaps he had simply lost the will to be cured.

5:7 when the water is stirred up. The man did not see Jesus as a potential healer, and his mind was set on the supposed curative powers of the water.

5:9 the man became well. Ordinarily, faith in Jesus was essential to the cure (e.g., Mark 5:34), but here the man did not even know who Jesus was (v. 13). So while Jesus usually healed in response to faith, He was not limited by a person's lack of it.

5:10 it is not permissible for you to carry your pallet. It was not the law of Moses but their traditional interpretation of it that prohibited carrying loads of any kind on the Sabbath. The Jews had very strict regulations on keeping the Sabbath, but also had many curious loopholes that their lawyers made full use of (cf. Matt 23:4).

5:12 the man. The Jews were contrasting the authority of the law of God, which in their view prohibited the action, and that of a mere man (as they considered Jesus to be) who permitted it.

5:14 nothing worse. The eternal consequences of sin are more serious than any physical ailment.

5:16 were persecuting. John does not tell us what form the persecution took. was doing. The continuous action points to more than one incident, and the Jews apparently discerned a pattern.

5:17 My Father is working until now. Jesus' justification for His action was His close relation to His Father. The Jews did not refer to God as "My Father," regarding the term as too intimate—though they might have used "Our Father" or, in prayer, "My Father in heaven." Jesus also exemplified the way the Sabbath should be observed. God does not stop His deeds of compassion on that day and neither did Jesus.

5:18 His own Father. Referring to a special relationship. The Jews did not object to the idea that God is the Father of all, but they strongly objected to Jesus' claim that He stood in a special relationship to the Father—a relationship so close as to make Himself equal with God.

5:19 can. Because of who and what He was, it was not possible for Jesus to act except in dependence on the Father.

5:20 the Father loves the Son. Therefore the Father revealed to the Son His plans and purposes, and the Son obediently carried them out. greater works. The Son's activities in raising the dead and judging (see following verses).

shows Him all things that He Himself is doing; and the Father will show Him [b]greater works than these, so that you will marvel.

21 "For just as the Father raises the dead and [a]gives them life, even so [b]the Son also gives life to whom He wishes.

22 "For not even the Father judges anyone, but [a]He has given all judgment to the Son, 23 so that all will honor the Son even as they honor the Father. [a]He who does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who sent Him.

24 "Truly, truly, I say to you, he who hears My word, and [a]believes Him who sent Me, has eternal life, and [b]does not come into judgment, but has [c]passed out of death into life.

Two Resurrections

25 "Truly, truly, I say to you, [a]an hour is coming and now is, when [b]the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God, and those who [c]hear will live.

26 "For just as the Father has life in Himself, even so He [a]gave to the Son also to have life in Himself;

27 and He gave Him authority to [a]execute judgment, because He is [1]the Son of Man.

28 "Do not marvel at this; for [a]an hour is coming, in which [b]all who are in the tombs will hear His voice, 29 and will come forth; [a]those who did the good deeds to a resurrection of life, those who committed the evil deeds to a resurrection of judgment.

30 "[a]I can do nothing on My own initiative. As I hear, I judge; and [b]My judgment is just, because I do not seek My own will, but [c]the will of Him who sent Me.

31 "[a]If I alone testify about Myself, My testimony is not [1]true.

32 "There is [a]another who testifies of Me, and I know that the testimony which He gives about Me is true.

Witness of John

33 "You have sent to John, and he [a]has testified to the truth.

34 "But [a]the testimony which I receive is not from man, but I say these things so that you may be saved.

35 "He was [a]the lamp that was burning and was shining and you [b]were willing to rejoice for [1]a while in his light.

Witness of Works

36 "But the testimony which I have is greater than the testimony of John; for [a]the works which the Father has given Me [b]to accomplish—the very works that I do—testify about Me, that the Father [c]has sent Me.

Witness of the Father

37 "And the Father who sent Me, [a]He has testified of Me. You have neither heard His voice at any time nor seen His form.

38 "You do not have [a]His word abiding in you, for you do not believe Him whom He [b]sent.

5:21 the Father raises the dead. A firm belief among the Jews. They also held that He did not give this privilege to anyone else. Jesus claimed a prerogative that, according to His opponents, belonged only to God. the Son also gives life. Probably refers to Christ's gift of abundant life here and now, though possibly also to the future resurrection (see 11:25–26).

5:22 given all judgment to the Son. The Jews believed that the Father is Judge of the world, so this teaching seemed heretical to them.

5:24 believes Him . . . has eternal life. Faith and life are connected (cf. 20:31). has eternal life. A present possession (see note on 3:15). has passed. The decisive action has taken place, and the believer no longer belongs to death.

5:25 is coming and now is. A reference not only to the future resurrection but also to the fact that Christ gives life now. The spiritually dead who hear Him receive life from Him.

5:26 has life in Himself. Must be understood against the background of the OT, where life is spoken of as belonging to God and as being His gift (Deut 30:20; Job 10:12; 33:4; Ps 16:11; 27:1; 36:9; etc.). The Son has been given the same kind of life that the Father possesses (cf. also 1 John 5:11 for the benefit to man).

5:27 authority to execute judgment. Granted to the Son by the Father. Son of Man. See note on 1:51.

5:28–29 A reference to the future raising of the dead.

5:29 did the good deeds . . . life . . . committed the evil deeds . . . judgment. As always in Scripture, judgment is on the basis of works, though salvation, of course, is a gift from God in response to faith (cf. v. 24).

5:30 I can do nothing on My own initiative. Jesus stresses His dependence on the Father (see note on v. 19). He judges only as He hears from the Father, which makes His judgment fair.

5:31–47 This section stresses the testimonies (see note on 1:7) of John the Baptist (v. 33), of the works of Jesus (v. 36), of God the Father (v. 37), of the Scriptures (v. 39) and of Moses (v. 46).

5:31 Jesus' testimony about Himself required the support of all God's revelation. Otherwise, it would have been unacceptable.

5:32 another. The Father testifies concerning the Son. The Jews might not accept this testimony, but it was the testimony that mattered most.

5:33 You have sent to John. A reference to the delegation from the Jewish leaders to John the Baptist (see 1:19). he has testified. The testimony of John was important, though not, of course, equal to the testimony of the Father. But had the Jews believed John, they would have believed Christ and would have been saved.

5:35 He was. The past tense may indicate that John was dead or at least imprisoned. In any case, his work was done. was burning and was shining. John's giving light was costly to him. for a while. The Jewish leaders never came to grips with John's message, and their responses to him were always at best tentative and superficial.

5:36 works. The miracles of Jesus, which testified to what He is and to His divine mission (see 10:25).

5:37 the Father . . . He has testified . . . His voice. Probably a reference to God's voice in the Scriptures (see vv. 38–39). God had also given His voice of approval at Jesus' baptism (see Matt 3:17). nor seen His form. Probably refers to their lack of spiritual perception of who Jesus really is.

5:38 you do not believe. The Jews did not recognize what God was saying, as their failure to believe Jesus shows.

Witness of the Scripture

39 "[1][a]You search the Scriptures because you think that in them you have eternal life;
it is [b]these that testify about Me;
40 and you are unwilling to come to Me
so that you may have life.
41 "[a]I do not receive glory from men;
42 but I know you, that you do not have the love of God in yourselves.
43 "I have come in My Father's name, and you do not receive Me; [a]if another comes in his own name, you will receive him.
44 "How can you believe, when you
[a]receive [1]glory from one another and you do not seek [b]the [1]glory that is from [c]the one and only God?
45 "Do not think that I will accuse you before the Father; the one who accuses you is [a]Moses, in whom you have set your hope.
46 "For if you believed Moses, you would believe Me, for [a]he wrote about Me.
47 "But [a]if you do not believe his writings, how will you believe My words?"

Five Thousand Fed

6 After these things [a]Jesus went away to the other side of [b]the Sea of Galilee (or [c]Tiberias).
2 A large crowd followed Him, because they saw the [1][a]signs which He was performing on those who were sick.
3 Then [a]Jesus went up on the mountain, and there He sat down with His disciples.
4 Now [a]the Passover, the feast of the Jews, was near.
5 Therefore Jesus, lifting up His eyes and seeing that a large crowd was coming to Him, *said to [a]Philip, "Where are we to buy bread, so that these may eat?"
6 This He was saying to [a]test him, for He Himself knew what He was intending to do.
7 [a]Philip answered Him, "[b]Two hundred
[1]denarii worth of bread is not sufficient for them, for everyone to receive a little."
8 One of His [a]disciples, [b]Andrew, Simon
Peter's brother, *said to Him,
9 "There is a lad here who has five barley loaves and two [a]fish, but what are these for so many people?"
10 Jesus said, "Have the people [1]sit down." Now there was [a]much grass in the place. So the men [1]sat down, in number about [b]five thousand.
11 Jesus then took the loaves, and [a]having given thanks, He distributed to those who were seated; likewise also of the [b]fish as much as they wanted.
12 When they were filled, He *said to His
[a]disciples, "Gather up the leftover fragments so that nothing will be lost."
13 So they gathered them up, and filled twelve [a]baskets with fragments from the five barley loaves which were left over by those who had eaten.
14 Therefore when the people saw the [1]sign which He had performed, they said,
"This is truly the [a]Prophet who is to come into the world."

Jesus Walks on the Water

15 So Jesus, perceiving that they were
[1]intending to come and take Him by force
[a]to make Him king, [b]withdrew again to [c]the mountain by Himself alone.
16 Now when evening came, His [a]disciples went down to the sea,

5:39 You search. The Jewish leaders studied Scripture in minute detail. Despite their reverence for the very letter of Scripture (see notes on Matt 5:18–21), they did not recognize the One to whom Scripture bears supreme testimony.

5:41 glory from men. Jesus did not accept human praise any more than human testimony (v. 34).

5:42 love of God. May mean God's love for them or theirs for God. Probably it is the latter, but people's love for God is in response to His prior love for them (1 John 4:19).

5:43–44 The Jews of v. 18 had their attention firmly fixed on people. Their emphasis on self-seeking and on human praise showed that they did not accept the One who came from God, and therefore they missed the praise that comes from God.

5:45 the one who accuses you is Moses. Jesus' listeners prided themselves on their attachment to Moses, their great lawgiver. So it was an unexpected thrust for Jesus to say that Moses himself would accuse them before God.

5:46 he wrote about Me. All the NT writers stressed, or assumed, that the OT, rightly read, points to Christ (cf. Luke 24:25–27,44). Jesus applied this truth specifically to the writings of Moses (see, e.g., notes on Gen 49:10; Ex 12:21; Lev 16:5; Num 24:17; Deut 18:15).

6:1–15 The feeding of the 5,000 is the one miracle, apart from the resurrection, found in all four Gospels. It shows Jesus as the supplier of human need, and sets the stage for His testimony that He is the bread of life (v. 35).

6:1 After these things. See 5:1 and note. Tiberias. Probably the official Roman name, while Sea of Galilee was the popular name. The name came from the town of Tiberias (named after the emperor), founded c. A.D. 20, and probably was not much in use during Jesus' ministry.

6:2 signs. See note on 2:11.

6:4 Passover. See note on 2:13.

6:5 Philip. Since he came from nearby Bethsaida (1:44), it was appropriate to ask him.

6:9 barley loaves. Cheap bread, the food of the poor.

6:10 about five thousand. The number of men; women and children were not included (Matt 14:21).

6:12 Gather up the leftover fragments. See note on Mark 6:43.

6:13 twelve baskets . . . left over. There was abundant supply.

6:14 sign. It pointed people to the Son of Man and the food for eternal life that He gives (v. 27), but they thought only of the Prophet, i.e., the prophet of Deut 18:15 who would be like Moses (see 1:21 and note). Through Moses, God had provided food and water for the people in the wilderness, and they expected the Prophet to do no more than this.

6:15 take Him by force to make Him king. Jesus rejected the world's version of kingship as a temptation of the devil (Matt 4:8–10; see note on John 18:36).

17 and after getting into a boat, they started to cross the sea [a]to Capernaum. It had already become dark, and Jesus had not yet come to them.

18 The sea began to be stirred up because a strong wind was blowing.

19 Then, when they had rowed about [1]three or four miles, they *saw Jesus walking on the sea and drawing near to the boat; and they were frightened.

20 But He *said to them, "It is I; [1][a]do not be afraid."

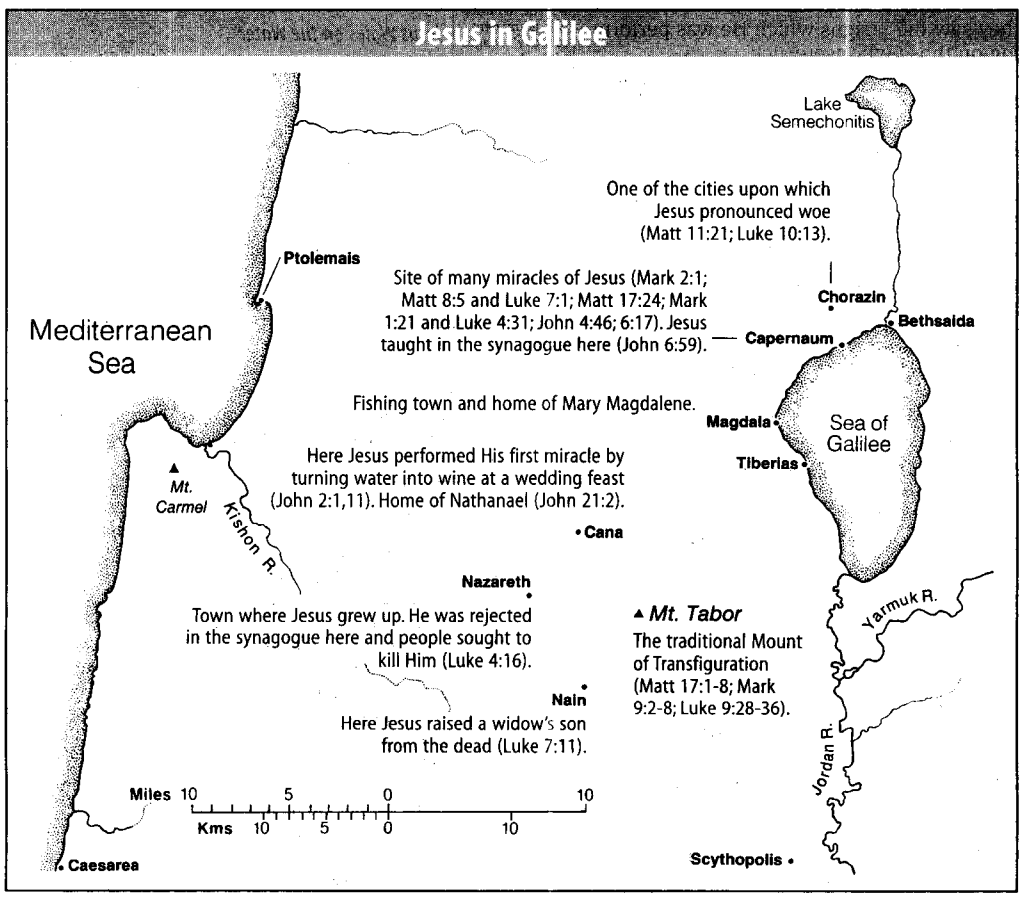
21 So they were willing to receive Him into the boat, and immediately the boat was at the land to which they were going.

22 The next day [a]the crowd that stood on the other side of the sea saw that there was no other small boat there, except one, and that Jesus [b]had not entered with His disciples into the boat, but that His disciples had gone away alone.

23 There came other small boats from [a]Tiberias near to the place where they ate the bread after the [b]Lord [c]had given thanks.

24 So when the crowd saw that Jesus was not there, nor His disciples, they themselves got into the small boats, and [a]came to Capernaum seeking Jesus.

25 When they found Him on the other side of the sea, they said to Him, "[a]Rabbi, when did You get here?"



Words to the People

26 Jesus answered them and said, "Truly, truly, I say to you, you [a]seek Me, not because you saw [b]signs, but because you ate of the loaves and were filled.

27 "Do not [a]work for the food which per-

6:21 immediately the boat was at the land. Some think that this was another miracle. In any event, the boat's safe arrival is implicitly credited to Jesus.
6:22–24 The crowd could not figure out what had happened to Jesus. But they wanted to see Him again, so they looked for Him in the most likely place, Capernaum.
6:27 eternal life. Not something to be achieved but to be ishes, but for the food which endures to [b]eternal life, which [c]the Son of Man will give to you, for on Him the Father, God, [d]has set His seal."

28 Therefore they said to Him, "What shall we do, so that we may work the works of God?"

29 Jesus answered and said to them, "This is [a]the work of God, that you believe in Him whom He [b]has sent."

30 So they said to Him, "[a]What then do You do for a [b]sign, so that we may see, and believe You? What work do You perform?

31 "[a]Our fathers ate the manna in the wilderness; as it is written, '[b]HE GAVE THEM BREAD OUT OF HEAVEN TO EAT.' "

32 Jesus then said to them, "Truly, truly, I say to you, it is not Moses who has given you the bread out of heaven, but it is My Father who gives you the true bread out of heaven.

33 "For the bread of God is [1]that which [a]comes down out of heaven, and gives life to the world."

34 Then they said to Him, "Lord, always [a]give us this bread."

35 Jesus said to them, "[a]I am the bread of life; he who comes to Me will not hunger, and he who believes in Me [b]will never thirst.

36 "But [a]I said to you that you have seen Me, and yet do not believe.

37 "[a]All that the Father gives Me will come to Me, and the one who comes to Me I will certainly not cast out.

38 "For [a]I have come down from heaven, [b]not to do My own will, but [c]the will of Him who [d]sent Me.

39 "This is the will of Him who sent Me, that of [a]all that He has given Me I [b]lose nothing, but [c]raise it up on the last day.

40 "For this is the will of My Father, that everyone who [a]beholds the Son and [b]believes in Him will have eternal life, and I Myself will [c]raise him up on the last day."

Words to the Jews

41 [a]Therefore the Jews were grumbling about Him, because He said, "I am the bread that [b]came down out of heaven."

42 They were saying, "[a]Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother [b]we know? How does He now say, '[c]I have come down out of heaven'?"

43 Jesus answered and said to them, "Do not grumble among yourselves.

44 "No one can come to Me unless the Father who sent Me [a]draws him; and I will [b]raise him up on the last day.

45 "It is written [a]in the prophets, '[b]AND THEY SHALL ALL BE [c]TAUGHT OF GOD.' Everyone who has heard and learned from the Father, comes to Me.

46 "[a]Not that anyone has seen the Father, except the One who is from God; He has seen the Father.

47 "Truly, truly, I say to you, he who believes [a]has eternal life.

48 "[a]I am the bread of life.

received by faith in Christ (see vv. 28–29; see also note on 3:15). Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31. Submission of the Son to the Father is one of John's major themes (see note on 4:34).

6:28 What shall we do . . . ? They missed the point that eternal life is Christ's gift and were thinking in terms of achieving it by pious works.

6:29 work of God. Believing in Jesus Christ is the indispensable "work" God calls for—the one that leads to eternal life.

6:30 What work do You perform? They seek from Jesus a sign greater than the gift of manna that had accompanied Moses' ministry.

6:31 manna. A popular Jewish expectation was that when the Messiah came he would renew the sending of manna. The crowd probably reasoned that Jesus had done little compared to Moses. He had fed 5,000; Moses had fed a nation. He did it once; Moses did it for 40 years. He gave ordinary bread; Moses gave "bread out of heaven."

6:32 Jesus corrected them, pointing out that the manna in the wilderness did not come from Moses but from God, and that the Father still "gives" (the present tense is important) the true bread from heaven (life through the Son).

6:33 the bread of God. Jesus moved the discussion to something (and Someone) much more important than manna.

6:34 this bread. Probably another misunderstanding, like that by the woman at the well (4:15; cf. also Nicodemus, 3:4). Their minds ran along materialistic lines.

6:35 I am. The first of seven self-descriptions of Jesus introduced by "I am" (see 8:12; 9:5; 10:7,9; 10:11,14; 11:25; 14:6; 15:1,5). In the Greek the words are solemnly emphatic and echo Ex 3:14. the bread of life. May mean "the bread that is living" and/or "the bread that gives life." What is implied in v. 33 is now made explicit and repeated with minor variations in vv. 41,48,51.

6:36 Contrast 20:29.

6:37 God's action (see v. 44; 10:29; 17:6; 18:9), not man's (v. 28), is primary in salvation, and Christ's mercy is unfailing (see vv. 31–40; 10:28; 17:9,12,15,19; 18:9).

6:38 I have come down from heaven. Repeated six times in this context (vv. 33,38,41,50–51,58), emphasizing Jesus' divine origin. to do . . . the will of Him who sent Me. See note on 4:34.

6:39 I lose nothing. The true believer will persevere because of Christ's firm hold on him (see Phil 1:6). the last day. An expression found only in John in the NT (see vv. 40,44,54).

6:40 eternal life. See note on 3:15. raise him up on the last day. Death cannot destroy the life that Christ gives.

6:41 the Jews. See note on 1:19.

6:44 draws. People do not come to Christ strictly on their own initiative; the Father draws them.

6:45 the prophets. The section of the OT from which the quotation is taken. Everyone who has . . . learned from the Father, comes. Only those who learn from God come to salvation, and all who learn from Him are saved.

6:49 they died. Jesus' opponents had set their hearts (cf. v. 31) on that which could neither give nor sustain spiritual life.

out of heaven, so that one may eat of it and [b]not die.

51 "[a]I am the living bread that [b]came down out of heaven; if anyone eats of this bread, [c]he will live forever; and the bread also which I will give [d]for the life of the world is [e]My flesh."

52 [a]Then the Jews [b]began to argue with one another, saying, "How can this man give us His flesh to eat?"

53 So Jesus said to them, "Truly, truly, I say to you, unless you eat the flesh of [a]the Son of Man and drink His blood, you have no life in yourselves.

54 "He who eats My flesh and drinks My blood has eternal life, and I will [a]raise him up on the last day.

55 "For My flesh is true food, and My blood is true drink.

56 "He who eats My flesh and drinks My blood [a]abides in Me, and I in him.

57 "As the [a]living Father [b]sent Me, and I live because of the Father, so he who eats Me, he also will live because of Me.

58 "This is the bread which [a]came down out of heaven; not as [b]the fathers ate and died; he who eats this bread [c]will live forever."

Words to the Disciples

59 These things He said [a]in the synagogue as He taught [b]in Capernaum.

60 Therefore many of His [a]disciples, when they heard this said, "[b]This is a difficult statement; who can listen to it?"

61 But Jesus, [a]conscious that His disciples grumbled at this, said to them, "Does this [b]cause you to stumble?

65 And He was saying, "For this reason I have [a]said to you, that no one can come to Me unless [b]it has been granted him from the Father."

Peter's Confession of Faith

66 As a result of this many of His [a]disciples [b]withdrew and were not walking with Him anymore.

67 So Jesus said to [a]the twelve, "You do not want to go away also, do you?"

68 [a]Simon Peter answered Him, "Lord, to whom shall we go? You have [b]words of eternal life.

69 "We have believed and have come to know that You are [a]the Holy One of God."

70 Jesus answered them, "[a]Did I Myself not choose you, [b]the twelve, and yet one of you is [c]a devil?"

71 Now He meant Judas [a]the son of Simon Iscariot, for he, [b]one of [c]the twelve, [1]was going to betray Him.

6:50 eat . . . and not die. Jesus' gift is in contrast; the life He gives is eternal.
6:51 eats of this bread. Appropriates Jesus as the sustenance of one's life. which I will give . . . is My flesh. Looking forward to Calvary. Providing eternal life would be costly to the Giver. world. See note on 4:42.
6:53–58 Jesus' absolute statement that "unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink His blood, you have no life in yourselves" (v. 53) precludes a direct reference to the Lord's Supper. He clearly does not teach that receiving that sacrament is the one requirement for eternal life or that it is the only ordinance through which Christ and His saving benefits are received. In this very discourse He emphasizes faith in response to testimony (see vv. 35,40,47,51). Flesh and blood here point to Christ as the crucified One and the source of life. Jesus speaks of faith's appropriation of Himself as God's appointed sacrifice, not—at least not directly—of any ritual requirement.
6:54 the last day. See note on v. 39.
6:58 the bread which came down out of heaven. As in v. 49, the value of the manna is limited and is contrasted with the heavenly food Christ gives. For the tenth time in this chapter reference is made to Jesus' coming down from heaven or to the bread from heaven.
6:60 difficult. Hard to accept, not hard to understand. The thought of eating the flesh of the Son of Man and drinking His blood was doubtless shocking to most of Jesus' Jewish hearers (see note on vv. 53–58).
6:62 Son of Man. See notes on Mark 8:31; Luke 6:5; 19:10. ascending. Probably refers to the series of events that began with the cross, where Jesus was glorified (see note on 7:39). where He was before. Referring to Jesus' heavenly preexistence.
6:63 Cf. 3:5–6,8. are spirit and . . . life. Are the Spirit at work producing life.
6:65 Coming to Christ for salvation is never a merely human achievement (see vv. 37,39,44–45).
6:66 As a result of this. May also mean "From this time" or both. many . . . withdrew. Jesus had already made clear what discipleship meant, and many were not ready to receive life in the way He taught.
6:68 As in the Synoptic Gospels, Peter acts as spokesman. words of eternal life. The expression is general. Peter was not speaking of a formula but of the thrust of Jesus' teaching. He perceived the truth of v. 63.
6:69 We have believed and have come to know. Since the Greek verbs are in the perfect tense, they mean, "We have entered a state of belief and knowledge that has continued until the present time." the Holy One of God. Applied to Jesus in Mark 1:24; Luke 4:34 (see Acts 2:27).
6:70 a devil. Judas (v. 71) would oppose Christ in the spirit of Satan.
6:71 Iscariot. Means "a man from Kerioth" (in Judea; see Josh 15:25) and would apply equally to the father and the son (cf. 12:4). Judas seems to have been the only non-Galilean among the Twelve. one of the twelve. And therefore one of the last persons likely to betray Jesus.

Jesus Teaches at the Feast

7 After these things Jesus [a]was walking in Galilee, for He was unwilling to walk in Judea because [b]the Jews [c]were seeking to kill Him.

2 Now the feast of the Jews, [a]the Feast of Booths, was near.

3 Therefore His [a]brothers said to Him, "Leave here and go into Judea, so that Your [b]disciples also may see Your works which You are doing.

4 "For no one does anything in secret [1]when he himself seeks to be known publicly. If You do these things, show Yourself to the world."

5 For not even His [a]brothers were believing in Him.

6 So Jesus *said to them, "[a]My time is not yet here, but your time is always opportune.

7 "[a]The world cannot hate you, but it hates Me because I testify of it, that [b]its deeds are evil.

8 "Go up to the feast yourselves; I do not go up to this feast because [a]My time has not yet fully come."

9 Having said these things to them, He stayed in Galilee.

10 But when His [a]brothers had gone up to the feast, then He Himself also went up, not publicly, but as if, in secret.

11 [a]So the Jews [b]were seeking Him at the feast and were saying, "Where is He?"

12 There was much grumbling among the crowds concerning Him; [a]some were saying, "He is a good man"; others were saying, "No, on the contrary, He leads the people astray."

13 Yet no one was speaking openly of Him for [a]fear of the Jews.

14 But when it was now the midst of the feast Jesus went up into the temple, and began to [a]teach.

15 [a]The Jews then were astonished, saying, "How has this man [b]become learned, having never been educated?"

16 So Jesus answered them and said, "[a]My teaching is not Mine, but His who sent Me.

17 "[a]If anyone is willing to do His will, he will know of the teaching, whether it is of God or whether I speak from Myself.

18 "He who speaks from himself [a]seeks his own glory; but He who is seeking the glory of the One who sent Him, He is true, and there is no unrighteousness in Him.

19 "[a]Did not Moses give you the Law, and yet none of you carries out the Law? Why do you [b]seek to kill Me?"

20 The crowd answered, "[a]You have a demon! Who seeks to kill You?"

21 Jesus answered them, "I did [a]one [1]deed, and you all marvel.

22 "For this reason [a]Moses has given you

7:1–8:59 In chs. 7–8 John records strong opposition to Jesus, including repeated references to threats on His life (7:1,13,19,25, 30,32,44; 8:37,40,59). The apostle seems to have gathered the major arguments against the Messiahship of Jesus and here answers them.

7:1 After these things. As in 5:1 and 6:1 the time is indefinite. However, 6:4 refers to the Passover Feast and 7:2 to the Feast of Booths, making the interval about six months.

7:2 Feast of Booths. The great feast in the Jewish year, celebrating the completion of harvest and commemorating God's goodness to the people during the wilderness wanderings (see Lev 23:33–43; Deut 16:13–15; cf. Zech 14:16–19). The name came from the leafy shelters in which people lived throughout the seven days of the Feast.

7:3 brothers. See note on Luke 8:19.

7:4 It is not clear whether the brothers claimed some knowledge of Jesus' miracles that other people did not have or were suggesting that any claim to Messiahship must be decided in Jerusalem. Their advice was not given sincerely, for they did not yet believe in Jesus (v. 5).

7:6 My time. Jesus moved in accordance with the will of God (see note on 2:4).

7:7 The world. Either (1) people opposed to God or (2) the human system opposed to God's purposes (see note on 1:9). The brothers belonged to the world and therefore could not be the objects of its hatred. Jesus, however, rebuked the world and was hated accordingly.

7:8 do not go up. Jesus was not refusing to go to the Feast, but refusing to go in the way the brothers suggested—as a pilgrim. When He went, it would be to deliver a prophetic message from God, for which He awaited "His time" (see v. 6).

7:10 not publicly. Rejecting the brothers' suggestion to show Himself (v. 4).

7:12 grumbling. Because there was significant disagreement about who He was (cf. v. 13).

7:14 the midst of the feast. When the crowds would be at their maximum. Teaching in the temple courts at such a time would reach many.

7:15 The Jews. Distinct from "the crowds" (v. 12), who were also Jews (see note on 1:19). having never been educated. Under a rabbi. Jesus had never been the disciple of a recognized Jewish teacher.

7:16 not Mine. The Father, from whom He came, had been His "rabbi" (see note on 4:34).

7:17 willing to do His will. Reflecting a whole attitude of life. A person sincerely set on doing God's will welcomes Jesus' teaching and believes in Him (cf. 6:29). he will know. Augustine commented, "Understanding is the reward of faith . . . What is 'If any man be willing to do his will'? It is the same thing as to believe."

7:18 He is true. They should recognize that Jesus was not self-seeking. In this Gospel, no one is spoken of as being "true" except God the Father (3:33; 8:26) and Jesus (here). Once more John ranks Jesus with God.

7:19 the Law. The Jews congratulated themselves on being the chosen recipients of the law (cf. Rom 2:17), but Jesus told them that they all broke the law of which they were so proud.

7:20 The crowd. Probably the pilgrims who had come up to Jerusalem for the Feast—different from "the Jews" who were trying to kill Jesus (v. 1) and the Jerusalem mob that knew of the plot (v. 25). You have a demon! The accusation of demon possession is made elsewhere in John (e.g., 8:48–52; 10:20–21; cf. Matt 12:24–32; Mark 3:22–30).

7:21 one deed. Evidently that of healing the lame man (5:1–9), as the discussion about the Sabbath shows.

circumcision (not because it is from Moses, but from [b]the fathers), and on the Sabbath you circumcise a man.

23 "[a]If a man receives circumcision on the Sabbath so that the Law of Moses will not be broken, are you angry with Me because I made an entire man well on the Sabbath?

24 "Do not [a]judge according to appearance, but [1]judge with righteous judgment."

25 So some of the people of Jerusalem were saying, "Is this not the man whom they are seeking to kill?

26 "Look, He is speaking publicly, and they are saying nothing to Him. [a]The rulers do not really know that this is [1]the Christ, do they?

27 "However, [a]we know where this man is from; but whenever the Christ may come, no one knows where He is from."

28 Then Jesus cried out in the temple, [a]teaching and saying, "[b]You both know Me and know where I am from; and [c]I have not come of Myself, but He who sent Me is true, whom you do not know.

29 "[a]I know Him, because [b]I am from Him, and [c]He sent Me."

30 So they [a]were seeking to seize Him; and no man laid his hand on Him, because His [b]hour had not yet come.

31 But [a]many of the crowd believed in Him; and they were saying, "[b]When [1]the Christ comes, He will not perform more [2c]signs than those which this man has, will He?"

32 The Pharisees heard the crowd muttering these things about Him, and the chief priests and the Pharisees sent [a]officers to [b]seize Him.

33 Therefore Jesus said, "[a]For a little while longer I am with you, then [b]I go to Him who sent Me.

34 "[a]You will seek Me, and will not find Me; and where I am, you cannot come."

35 [a]The Jews then said to one another, "[b]Where does this man intend to go that we will not find Him? He is not intending to go to [c]the Dispersion among [d]the Greeks, and teach the Greeks, is He?

36 "What is this statement that He said, '[a]You will seek Me, and will not find Me; and where I am, you cannot come'?"

37 Now on [a]the last day, the great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried out, saying, "[1b]If anyone is thirsty, [2]let him come to Me and drink.

38 "He who believes in Me, [a]as the Scripture said, 'From [1]his innermost being will flow rivers of [b]living water.' "

39 But this He spoke [a]of the Spirit, whom those who believed in Him were to receive; for [b]the Spirit was not yet given, because Jesus was not yet [c]glorified.

Division of People over Jesus

40 Some of the people therefore, when they heard these words, were saying, "This certainly is [a]the Prophet."

41 Others were saying, "This is [1]the Christ." Still others were saying, "[a]Surely 7:22 circumcision. The requirement of circumcision was included in the law Moses gave (Ex 12:44,48; Lev 12:3), yet it did not originate with Moses but went back to Abraham (Gen 17:9–14). The Jews took such regulations as that in Lev 12:3 to mean that circumcision must be performed on the eighth day even if it was the Sabbath, a day on which no work should be done. This exception is of critical importance in understanding the controversy (v. 23). Jesus was not saying that the Sabbath should not be observed or that the Jewish regulations were too harsh. He was saying that His opponents did not understand what the Sabbath meant. The command to circumcise showed that sometimes work not only might be done on the Sabbath but must be done then. Deeds of mercy were in this category.

7:25 people of Jerusalem. An expression found only here and in Mark 1:5 in the NT, probably referring to the Jerusalem mob (see note on v. 20). They did not originate the plot against Jesus, but they knew of it.

7:26 The rulers do not really know . . . do they? In Greek, the question is in a form that expects a negative answer. the Christ. See note on 1:25.

7:27 no one knows where He is from. Some Jews held that the OT gave the origin of the Messiah (cf. v. 42; Matt 2:4–6), but others believed that it did not.

7:28 You . . . know Me. Irony, because in a sense they knew Jesus and that He came from Nazareth, but in a deeper sense they did not know Jesus or the Father (8:19). Jesus mentioned again His dependence on the Father (cf. 4:34) and went on to declare that He had real knowledge of God and that they did not. Both His origin and mission were from God.

7:30 they were seeking to seize Him. Jesus' enemies were powerless against Him until His time came (see note on 2:4).

7:31 crowd. Of pilgrims (see note on v. 20). Many of them believed on the basis of the miraculous signs (cf. 6:26).

7:32 The Pharisees. See notes on Matt 3:7; Mark 2:16; Luke 5:17. the chief priests. There was only one ruling chief priest, but the Romans had deposed a number of chief priests, and these retained the title by courtesy.

7:33 then I go. Jesus changed the topic from His miracles to His death, to which He referred enigmatically (v. 34).

7:35 Dispersion among the Greeks. From the time of the exile, many Jews lived outside the Holy Land and were found in most cities throughout the Roman empire.

7:37 the last . . . day of the feast. Either the seventh or the eighth day: The Feast of Booths lasted seven days (Lev 23:34; Deut 16:13,15) but had a "holy convocation" on the eighth day (Lev 23:36). See note on Mark 14:12. stood and cried out, saying. Teachers usually sat, so Jesus drew special attention to His message.

7:38 living water. See note on 4:10.

7:39 the Spirit. Explaining the "living water" (v. 38). was not yet given. In the manner in which He would be given at Pentecost (see Acts 2). glorified. Here probably refers to Jesus' crucifixion, resurrection and exaltation (see note on 13:31). The fullness of the Spirit's work depends on Jesus' prior work of salvation.

7:40 people. The "crowd" of v. 20 (see note there).

[1]the Christ is not going to come from Galilee, is He?

42 "Has not the Scripture said that the Christ comes from [a]the descendants of David, and from Bethlehem, the village where David was?"

43 So [a]a division occurred in the crowd because of Him.

44 [a]Some of them wanted to seize Him, but no one laid hands on Him.

45 The [a]officers then came to the chief priests and Pharisees, and they said to them, "Why did you not bring Him?"

46 The [a]officers answered, "[b]Never has a man spoken the way this man speaks."

47 The Pharisees then answered them, "[a]You have not also been led astray, have you?

48 "[a]No one of [b]the rulers or Pharisees has believed in Him, has he?

49 "But this crowd which does not know the Law is accursed."

50 [a]Nicodemus (he who came to Him before, being one of them) *said to them,

51 "[a]Our Law does not judge a man unless it first hears from him and knows what he is doing, does it?"

52 They answered him, "[a]You are not also from Galilee, are you? Search, and see that no prophet arises out of Galilee."

The Adulterous Woman

8 But Jesus went to [a]the Mount of Olives.
2 Early in the morning He came again into the temple, and all the people were coming to Him; and [a]He sat down and began to teach them.

3 The scribes and the Pharisees *brought a woman caught in adultery, and having set her in the center of the court,

4 they *said to Him, "Teacher, this woman has been caught in adultery, in the very act.

5 "Now in the Law [a]Moses commanded us to stone such women; what then do You say?"

6 They were saying this, [a]testing Him, [b]so that they might have grounds for accusing Him. But Jesus stooped down and with His finger wrote on the ground.

7 But when they persisted in asking Him, [a]He straightened up, and said to them, "[b]He who is without sin among you, let him be the [c]first to throw a stone at her."

8 Again He stooped down and wrote on the ground.

9 When they heard it, they began to go out one by one, beginning with the older ones, and He was left alone, and the woman, where she was, in the center of the court.

10 [a]Straightening up, Jesus said to her, "Woman, where are they? Did no one condemn you?"

7:42 Bethlehem. There were different ideas about the Messiah's place of origin (cf. v. 27).

7:46 The officers. They knew they would be in trouble for failing to make the arrest, but did not mention the hostility of part of the crowd, which would have given them something of an excuse before the Pharisees. They were favorably impressed by the teaching of Jesus and were not inclined to cause Him trouble.

7:47 The Pharisees then answered. They must have been greatly irritated. Ordinarily the chief priests would have rebuked the temple guards.

7:49 this crowd. The pilgrim crowd again (see note on v. 20). does not know. The Pharisees exaggerated the people's ignorance of Scripture (cf. v. 42). But the average Jew paid little attention to the minutiae that mattered so much to the Pharisees. The "traditions of the elders" were too great a burden for people who earned their living by hard physical work, and consequently these regulations were widely disregarded.

7:50–51 There is irony here. The Pharisees implied that no leader believed in Jesus, yet Nicodemus, "a ruler of the Jews" (3:1), spoke up. They called for people to observe the law, but Nicodemus pointed to their own disregard for the law in this instance.

7:52 no prophet arises out of Galilee. See 1:46. They were angry—and wrong. Jonah came from Galilee, and perhaps other prophets as well. Moreover, the Pharisees overlooked the right of God to raise up prophets from wherever He chooses.

7:53–8:11 This story may not have belonged originally to the Gospel of John. It is absent from almost all the early manuscripts, and those that have it sometimes place it elsewhere (e.g., after Luke 21:38). But the story may well be authentic.

7:53 This verse (along with 8:1) shows that the story was originally attached to another narrative, since Jesus was not present at the meeting of the Sanhedrin described in vv. 45–52.

8:1 Mount of Olives. See note on Mark 11:1.

8:3 scribes. See notes on Matt 2:4; Luke 5:17. a woman caught in adultery. This sin cannot be committed alone, so the question arises as to why only one offender was brought. The incident was staged to trap Jesus (v. 6), and provision had been made for the man to escape. The woman's accusers must have been especially eager to humiliate her, since they could have kept her in private custody while they spoke to Jesus.

8:4 caught . . . in the very act. Compromising circumstances were not sufficient evidence, as Jewish law required witnesses who had seen the act.

8:5 to stone such women. They altered the law a little. The manner of execution was not prescribed unless the woman was a betrothed virgin (Deut 22:23–24). And the law required the execution of both parties (Lev 20:10; Deut 22:22), not just the woman.

8:6 were saying this, testing Him. The Romans did not allow the Jews to carry out death sentences (18:31), so if Jesus had said to stone her, He could have been in conflict with the Romans. If He had said not to stone her, He could have been accused of being unsupportive of the law. wrote. We can only guess what Jesus wrote on the ground.

8:7 without sin. The phrase is quite general and means "without any sin," not "without this sin." let him be the first. Jesus' answer disarmed them. Since He spoke of throwing a stone, He could not be accused of failure to uphold the law. But the qualification for throwing it prevented anyone from acting.

8:9 began to go out. Because they were not "without sin" (v. 7). the older ones. They were the first to realize what was involved. But all the men were either conscience-stricken or afraid, and in the end only Jesus and the woman remained.

8:10 Woman. Not a harsh form of address (cf. its use in 19:26).

11 She said, "No one, [1]Lord." And Jesus said, "[a]I do not condemn you, either. Go. From now on [b]sin no more."]

Jesus Is the Light of the World

12 Then Jesus again spoke to them, saying, "[a]I am the Light of the world; [b]he who follows Me will not walk in the darkness, but will have the Light of life."

13 So the Pharisees said to Him, "[a]You are testifying about Yourself; Your testimony is not [1]true."

14 Jesus answered and said to them, "[a]Even if I testify about Myself, My testimony is [1]true, for I know [b]where I came from and where I am going; but [c]you do not know where I come from or where I am going.

15 "[a]You judge [1]according to the flesh; [b]I am not judging anyone.

16 "But even [a]if I do judge, My judgment is true; for I am not alone in it, but I and the Father who sent Me.

17 "Even in [a]your law it has been written that the testimony of [b]two men is [1]true.

18 "I am He who testifies about Myself, and [a]the Father who sent Me testifies about Me."

19 So they were saying to Him, "Where is Your Father?" Jesus answered, "You know neither Me nor My Father; [a]if you knew Me, you would know My Father also."

20 These words He spoke in [a]the treasury, as [b]He taught in the temple; and no one seized Him, because [c]His hour had not yet come.

21 Then He said again to them, "I go away, and [a]you will seek Me, and [b]will die in your sin; where I am going, you cannot come."

22 So [a]the Jews were saying, "Surely He will not kill Himself, will He, since He says, '[b]Where I am going, you cannot come'?"

23 And He was saying to them, "[a]You are from below, I am from above; [b]you are of this world, [c]I am not of this world.

24 "Therefore I said to you that you [a]will die in your sins; for unless you believe that [1][b]I am He, [a]you will die in your sins."

25 So they were saying to Him, "Who are You?" Jesus said to them, "[1]What have I been saying to you from the beginning?

26 "I have many things to speak and to judge concerning you, but [a]He who sent Me is true; and [b]the things which I heard from Him, these I speak to the world."

27 They did not realize that He had been speaking to them about the Father.

28 So Jesus said, "When you [a]lift up the Son of Man, then you will know that [1][b]I am He, and [c]I do nothing on My own initiative, but I speak these things as the Father taught Me.

29 "And He who sent Me is with Me; [a]He [1]has not left Me alone, for [b]I always do the things that are pleasing to Him."

30 As He spoke these things, [a]many came to believe in Him.

The Truth Will Make You Free

31 So Jesus was saying to those Jews who had believed Him, "[a]If you continue in My word, then you are truly [b]disciples of Mine;

32 and [a]you will know the truth, and [b]the truth will make you free."

33 They answered Him, "[a]We are Abraham's descendants and have never yet been enslaved to anyone; how is it that You say, 'You will become free'?"

34 Jesus answered them, "Truly, truly, I

8:11 Go. From now on sin no more. Jesus did not condone what the woman had done.

8:12 I am. See note on 6:35. the Light. See 1:4 and note; 9:5; 12:46. It is also true that "God is Light" (1 John 1:5). And as Jesus' followers reflect the light that comes from Him, they too are "the light of the world" (Matt 5:14; cf. Phil 2:15). darkness. Both the darkness of this world and that of Satan. the Light of life. "God is Light" (1 John 1:5); but Jesus is also the light from God that lights the way for life—as the pillar of fire lighted the way for the Israelites (see Ex 13:21; Neh 9:12).

8:13 Pharisees. See notes on Matt 3:7; Mark 2:16; Luke 5:17.

8:14 Jesus made two points in reply. First, He was qualified to bear testimony, whereas the Pharisees were not; and He knew both His origin and His destination, whereas they knew neither. (See note on vv. 16–18 for the second point.)

8:15 The judgment of the Pharisees was limited and worldly. In the sense they meant, Jesus made it clear that He did not judge at all. In the proper sense, of course, He did judge (v. 26).

8:16–18 Jesus' second point was that His testimony was not unsupported. The Father was with Him, so He and the Father were the two witnesses required by the law (Deut 17:6; 19:15).

8:16 the Father who sent Me. Jesus was always aware of His mission (see note on 4:34).

8:19 if you knew Me. John makes it clear that the Word (Jesus) was with God and was God (1:1) and reveals God (1:18). Jesus here stresses that the Father is known through the Son and that to know the one is to know the other.

8:20 His hour. See note on 2:4.

8:23 Things other than death divide people (cf., e.g., v. 47; 3:31; 15:19; 1 John 3:10 etc.). of. Here denotes origin. Jesus was certainly in the world, but He was not of the world. They belonged to "this world"—Satan's domain (1 John 5:19).

8:24 believe. See note on 1:7. I am. Jesus echoes God's great affirmation about Himself (see v. 58; see also notes on 6:35; Ex 3:14).

8:28 lift up. Normally used in the NT in the sense of "exalt," but John uses it of the crucifixion (see 3:14). Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31. I am. See notes on vv. 24,58.

8:30 believe. Cf. 20:31.

8:31 believed. Here seems to mean "made a formal profession of faith." Their words show that these people were not true believers (see vv. 33,37).

8:32 the truth. Closely connected with Jesus (v. 36; 14:6), it is not philosophical truth but the truth that leads to salvation. free. Freedom from sin, not from ignorance (see v. 36).

8:33 have never yet been enslaved. An amazing disregard of their Roman overlords.

say to you, [a]everyone who commits sin is the slave of sin.

35 "[a]The slave does not remain in the house forever; [b]the son does remain forever.

36 "So if the Son [a]makes you free, you will be free indeed.

37 "I know that you are [a]Abraham's descendants; yet [b]you seek to kill Me, because My word [1]has no place in you.

38 "I speak the things which I have seen [1]with My Father; therefore you also do the things which you heard from [a]your father."

39 They answered and said to Him, "Abraham is [a]our father." Jesus *said to them, "[b]If you are Abraham's children, do the deeds of Abraham.

40 "But as it is, [a]you are seeking to kill Me, a man who has [b]told you the truth, which I heard from God; this Abraham did not do.

41 "You are doing the deeds of [a]your father." They said to Him, "We were not born of fornication; [b]we have one Father: God."

42 Jesus said to them, "If God were your Father, [a]you would love Me, [b]for I proceeded forth and have come from God, for I have [c]not even come on My own initiative, but [1][d]He sent Me.

43 "Why do you not understand [1][a]what I am saying? It is because you cannot [b]hear My word.

44 "[a]You are of [b]your father the devil, and [c]you want to do the desires of your father. [d]He was a murderer from the beginning, and does not stand in the truth because [e]there is no truth in him. Whenever he speaks [1]a lie, he [f]speaks from his own nature, for he is a liar and the father of [2]lies.

45 "But because [a]I speak the truth, you do not believe Me.

46 "Which one of you convicts Me of sin? If [a]I speak truth, why do you not believe Me?

47 "[a]He who is of God hears the words of God; for this reason you do not hear them, because you are not of God."

48 [a]The Jews answered and said to Him, "Do we not say rightly that You are a [b]Samaritan and [c]have a demon?"

49 Jesus answered, "I do not [a]have a demon; but I honor My Father, and you dishonor Me.

50 "But [a]I do not seek My glory; there is One who seeks and judges.

51 "Truly, truly, I say to you, if anyone [a]keeps My word he will never [b]see death."

52 [a]The Jews said to Him, "Now we know that You [b]have a demon. Abraham died, and the prophets also; and You say, 'If anyone [c]keeps My word, he will never [d]taste of death.'

53 "Surely You [a]are not greater than our father Abraham, who died? The prophets died too; whom do You make Yourself out to be?"

54 Jesus answered, "[a]If I glorify Myself, My glory is nothing; [b]it is My Father who glorifies Me, of whom you say, 'He is our God';

55 and [a]you have not come to know Him, [b]but I know Him; and if I say that I do not know Him, I will be [c]a liar like you, [b]but I do know Him and [d]keep His word.

56 "[a]Your father Abraham [b]rejoiced [1]to see My day, and he saw it and was glad."

57 [a]So the Jews said to Him, "You are not yet fifty years old, and have You seen Abraham?"

58 Jesus said to them, "Truly, truly, I say to you, before Abraham [1]was born, [a]I am."

59 Therefore they [a]picked up stones to 8:34 the slave of sin. Because the sinner cannot break free by his own strength.

8:37 you seek to kill Me. See note on 7:1–8:59.

8:38 Note the contrasts: "I . . . you"; "seen . . . heard"; "My Father . . . your father." Not until later (v. 44) did Jesus say who their father was, but it is clear even at this point that it was neither God nor Abraham as they claimed.

8:39–41 Their deeds revealed their parentage.

8:41 born of fornication. May have been a slander aimed at Jesus' virgin birth.

8:43 what I am saying. The form of expression—the actual words. My word. The content. These descendants of Abraham (v. 33) were so convinced of their own preconceptions that they did not really hear what Jesus was saying (cf. v. 47).

8:44 your father the devil. The Jews' relationship to Satan was now stated explicitly. Jesus clearly excluded the idea of the universal fatherhood of God. you want. Points to determination of will. Their problem was basically spiritual, not intellectual. Being oriented toward Satan, they were bent on murder (v. 37) and eventually would succeed (v. 28). truth. Foreign to Satan and those who are his (see 14:6).

8:46 Which one . . . convicts Me of sin? The asking of the question was more significant than the Jews' failure to answer, in that it showed Jesus had a perfectly clear conscience.

8:47 hears the words of God. See 10:3–4; 1 John 4:6.

8:48 The Jews. See note on 1:19. a Samaritan. Probably to suggest that He was lax in Jewish observances—"No better than a Samaritan." Or it may be a reflection on the birth of Jesus—perhaps claiming that His father was a Samaritan. have a demon. See 10:20 and note on 7:20.

8:51 My word. The whole of Jesus' message, which when accepted brings deliverance from death.

8:53 Surely You are not greater . . . ? The question was framed to expect the answer "No." This is ironic, since Jesus was indeed far greater than Abraham, even as He was greater than Moses (see 6:30–35 and notes).

8:56 My day. All that was involved in the incarnation. Jesus probably was not referring to any one occasion but to Abraham's general joy in the fulfilling of the purposes of God in Christ, by which all nations on earth would receive blessing (Gen 18:18). he saw it. In faith, from afar.

8:57 not yet fifty years old. A generous allowance for Jesus' maximum possible age. Jesus was "about" 30 when He began His ministry (Luke 3:23).

8:58 I am. A solemnly emphatic declaration echoing God's great affirmation in Ex 3:14 (see vv. 24,28; see also note on 6:35).

throw at Him, but Jesus [1][b]hid Himself and went out of the temple.

Healing the Man Born Blind

9 As He passed by, He saw a man blind from birth.

2 And His disciples asked Him, "[a]Rabbi, who sinned, [b]this man or his [c]parents, that he would be born blind?"

3 Jesus answered, "It was neither that this man sinned, nor his parents; but it was so [a]that the works of God might be displayed in him.

4 "We must work the works of Him who sent Me [a]as long as it is day; night is coming when no one can work.

5 "While I am in the world, I am [a]the Light of the world."

6 When He had said this, He [a]spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and applied the clay to his eyes,

7 and said to him, "Go, wash in [a]the pool of Siloam" (which is translated, Sent). So he went away and [b]washed, and [c]came back seeing.

8 Therefore the neighbors, and those who previously saw him as a beggar, were saying, "Is not this the one who used to [a]sit and beg?"

9 Others were saying, "This is he," still others were saying, "No, but he is like him." [1]He kept saying, "I am the one."

10 So they were saying to him, "How then were your eyes opened?"

11 He answered, "The man who is called Jesus made clay, and anointed my eyes, and said to me, 'Go to [a]Siloam and wash'; so I went away and washed, and I received sight."

12 They said to him, "Where is He?" He *said, "I do not know."

Controversy over the Man

13 They *brought to the Pharisees the man who was formerly blind.

14 [a]Now it was a Sabbath on the day when Jesus made the clay and opened his eyes.

15 [a]Then the Pharisees also were asking him again how he received his sight. And he said to them, "He applied clay to my eyes, and I washed, and I see."

16 Therefore some of the Pharisees were saying, "This man is not from God, because He [a]does not keep the Sabbath." But others were saying, "How can a man who is a sinner perform such [1][b]signs?" And [c]there was a division among them.

17 So they *said to the blind man [a]again, "What do you say about Him, since He opened your eyes?" And he said, "He is a [b]prophet."

18 [a]The Jews then did not believe it of him, that he had been blind and had received sight, until they called the parents of the very one who had received his sight,

19 and questioned them, saying, "Is this your son, who you say was born blind? Then how does he now see?"

20 His parents answered them and said, "We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind;

21 but how he now sees, we do not know; or who opened his eyes, we do not know. Ask him; he is of age, he will speak for himself."

22 His parents said this because they [a]were afraid of the Jews; for the Jews [b]had already agreed that if anyone confessed Him to be [1]Christ, [c]he was to be put out of the synagogue.

Jesus did not say "I was" but "I am," expressing the eternity of His being and His oneness with the Father (see 1:1). With this climactic statement Jesus concludes His speech that began with the related claim, "I am the Light of the world" (v. 12).

8:59 stones to throw at Him. The Jews could not interpret Jesus' claim as other than blasphemy, for which stoning was the proper penalty (Lev 24:16).

9:1–12 Jesus performed more miracles of this kind than of any other. Giving sight to the blind was predicted as a Messianic activity (Is 29:18; 35:5; 42:7). Thus these miracles were additional evidence that Jesus was the Messiah (20:31).

9:2 who sinned . . . ? The rabbis had developed the principle that "There is no death without sin, and there is no suffering without iniquity." They were even capable of thinking that a child could sin in the womb or that its soul might have sinned in a preexistent state. They also held that terrible punishments came on certain people because of the sin of their parents. As the next verse shows, Jesus plainly contradicted these beliefs.

9:4 We. Not Jesus only.

9:5 the Light of the world. See note on 8:12.

9:6 Jesus used variety in His cures.

9:7 Siloam. Already an ancient name (see notes on 2 Kin 20:20; Neh 2:14; Job 28:10; Is 8:6). A rock-cut pool on the southern end of the main ridge on which Jerusalem was built, it served as part of the major water system developed by King Hezekiah. Sent. Or "one who has been sent."

9:8 as a beggar. Not mentioned previously, but it was about the only way a blind person of that day could support himself.

9:13 Pharisees. See notes on Matt 3:7; Mark 2:16; Luke 5:17.

9:14 Sabbath. Cf. 5:16 and the discussion that follows.

9:16 some . . . others. The first group started from their entrenched position and ruled out the possibility of Jesus' being from God. The second started from the fact of the "miraculous signs" and ruled out the possibility of His being a sinner (cf. vv. 31–33).

9:17 What do you say about Him . . . ? It is curious that they put such a question to such a person; their doing so reflected their perplexity. a prophet. Probably the highest designation of which the man could think. He progressed in his thinking about Jesus: from a man (v. 11), to a prophet (v. 17) who might be followed by disciples (v. 27), to one "from God" (v. 33), to one who was properly to be worshiped (v. 38).

9:18 The Jews. See note on 1:19. In their prejudice they did not learn from the sign but tried to discredit the miracle.

9:21 he is of age. There was much to which the parents could not testify, but their emphasis on the son's responsibility showed their fear of getting involved.

9:22 put out of the synagogue. Excommunication is reported as early as the time of Ezra (10:8), but there is practically no information about the way it was practiced in NT times. The syna-

23 For this reason his parents said, "[a]He is of age; ask him."

24 So a second time they called the man who had been blind, and said to him, "[a]Give glory to God; we know that [b]this man is a sinner."

25 He then answered, "Whether He is a sinner, I do not know; one thing I do know, that though I was blind, now I see."

26 So they said to him, "What did He do to you? How did He open your eyes?"

27 He answered them, "[a]I told you already and you did not [b]listen; why do you want to hear it again? You do not want to become His disciples too, do you?"

28 They reviled him and said, "You are His disciple, but [a]we are disciples of Moses.

29 "We know that God has spoken to Moses, but as for this man, [a]we do not know where He is from."

30 The man answered and said to them, "Well, here is an amazing thing, that you do not know where He is from, and yet He opened my eyes.

31 "We know that [a]God does not hear sinners; but if anyone is God-fearing and does His will, He hears him.

32 "[1]Since the beginning of time it has never been heard that anyone opened the eyes of a person born blind.

33 "[a]If this man were not from God, He could do nothing."

34 They answered him, "[a]You were born entirely in sins, and are you teaching us?" So they [b]put him out.

39 And Jesus said, "[a]For judgment I came into this world, so that [b]those who do not see may see, and that [c]those who see may become blind."

40 Those of the Pharisees who were with Him heard these things and said to Him, "[a]We are not blind too, are we?"

41 Jesus said to them, "[a]If you were blind, you would have no sin; but [1]since you say, '[b]We see,' your sin remains.

Parable of the Good Shepherd

10 "Truly, truly, I say to you, he who does not enter by the door into the fold of the sheep, but climbs up some other way, he is [a]a thief and a robber.

2 "But he who enters by the door is [a]a shepherd of the sheep.

3 "To him the doorkeeper opens, and the sheep hear [a]his voice, and he calls his own sheep by name and [b]leads them out.

4 "When he puts forth all his own, he goes ahead of them, and the sheep follow him because they know [a]his voice.

5 "A stranger they simply will not follow, but will flee from him, because they do not know [a]the voice of strangers."

6 This [a]figure of speech Jesus spoke to them, but they did not understand what those things were which He had been saying to them.

7 So Jesus said to them again, "Truly, truly, I say to you, I am [a]the door of the sheep.

gogue was the center of Jewish community life, so excommunication cut a person off from many social relationships (though, in some of its forms, at least in later times, not from worship).

9:24 we. Emphatic in the Greek.

9:27 His disciples too. The man already counted himself a disciple.

9:30–33 Good reasoning from an unschooled man.

9:31 God does not hear sinners. Cf. the remark of some of the Pharisees in v. 16.

9:34 put him out. May mean "expelled him from their assembly" or, more probably, "excommunicated him" (see note on v. 22).

9:35 finding him. Jesus obviously had been looking for the man. Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31.

9:36 The man was ready to follow any suggestion from his benefactor.

9:38 Lord . . . he worshiped Him. The man was giving Jesus the reverence due to God. I believe. See 20:31 and note on 1:7.

9:39 It is unlikely that the conversation of vv. 35–38 took place in the presence of the Pharisees. The incident of vv. 39–41, therefore, probably occurred a little later. For judgment. In a sense Jesus did not come for judgment (3:17; 12:47), but His coming divides people, and this always brings a type of judgment. Those who reject His gift end up "blind."

9:40 Pharisees. They found it incredible that anyone would consider them spiritually blind.

9:41 The Pharisees' claim to sight showed their complete unawareness of their spiritual blindness and need. And, though they claimed to have sight, their actions were evidence of their blindness.

10:1–30 Should be understood in light of the OT (and ancient Near Eastern) concept of "shepherd," symbolizing a royal caretaker of God's people. God Himself was called the "Shepherd of Israel" (Ps 80:1; cf. Ps 23:1; Is 40:10–11; Ezek 34:11–16), and He had given great responsibility to the leaders ("shepherds") of Israel, which they failed to respect. God denounced these false shepherds (see Is 56:9–12; Ezek 34) and promised to provide the true Shepherd, the Messiah, to care for the sheep (Ezek 34:23).

10:1 fold of the sheep. A court surrounded by walls but open to the sky, and with only one entrance. The walls kept the sheep from wandering and protected them from wild animals.

10:3 the doorkeeper. Apparently in charge of a large fold, where several flocks were kept. his voice. The sheep recognized the voice of their own shepherd and responded only to him. his own sheep. The shepherd did not call sheep randomly, but only those that belonged to him.

10:4 he goes ahead. The Palestinian shepherd led his sheep (he did not drive them), and the sheep followed because they knew his voice.

10:7 I am. See note on 6:35.

8 "All who came before Me are [a]thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not hear them.

9 "[a]I am the door; if anyone enters through Me, he will be saved, and will go in and out and find pasture.

10 "The thief comes only to steal and kill and destroy; I came that they [a]may have life, and [1]have it abundantly.

11 "[a]I am the good shepherd; the good shepherd [b]lays down His life for the sheep.

12 "He who is a hired hand, and not a [a]shepherd, who is not the owner of the sheep, sees the wolf coming, and leaves the sheep and flees, and the wolf snatches them and scatters them.

13 "He flees because he is a hired hand and is not concerned about the sheep.

14 "[a]I am the good shepherd, and [b]I know My own and My own know Me, 15 even as [a]the Father knows Me and I know the Father; and [b]I lay down My life for the sheep.

16 "I have [a]other sheep, which are not of this fold; I must bring them also, and they will hear My voice; and they will become [b]one flock with [c]one shepherd.

17 "For this reason the Father loves Me, because I [a]lay down My life so that I may take it again.

18 "[a]No one has taken it away from Me, but I [b]lay it down on My own initiative. I have authority to lay it down, and I have authority to take it up again. [c]This commandment I received from My Father."

29 [1]One early ms reads What My Father has given Me is greater than all

19 [a]A division occurred again among the Jews because of these words.

20 Many of them were saying, "He [a]has a demon and [b]is insane. Why do you listen to Him?"

21 Others were saying, "These are not the sayings of one [a]demon-possessed. [b]A demon cannot open the eyes of the blind, can he?"

Jesus Asserts His Deity

22 At that time the Feast of the Dedication took place at Jerusalem;

23 it was winter, and Jesus was walking in the temple in the portico of [a]Solomon.

24 [a]The Jews then gathered around Him, and were saying to Him, "How long [1]will You keep us in suspense? If You are [2]the Christ, tell us [b]plainly."

25 Jesus answered them, "[a]I told you, and you do not believe; [b]the works that I do in My Father's name, these testify of Me.

26 "But you do not believe because [a]you are not of My sheep.

27 "My sheep [a]hear My voice, and [b]I know them, and they follow Me;

28 and I give [a]eternal life to them, and they will never perish; and [b]no one will snatch them out of My hand.

29 "[1]My Father, who has given them to Me, is greater than all; and no one is able to snatch them out of the Father's hand.

10:8 All . . . before Me. "False shepherds" like the Pharisees and the chief priests, not the true OT prophets (see note on vv. 1–30).
10:9 the door. The one way into salvation. Inside there is safety, and one is able to go out and find pasture, i.e., the supply of all needs.
10:10 thief. His interest is in himself. Christ's interest is in His sheep, whom He enables to have life to the full (see note on 1:4).
10:11 I am. See note on 6:35. lays down His life. A shepherd might risk danger for his sheep (see Gen 31:39; 1 Sam 17:34–37), but he expected to come through alive. Jesus said that the good shepherd will die for his sheep.
10:12 hired hand. He is interested in wages, not sheep. In time of danger he runs away because of what he is (v. 13) and abandons the flock to predators.
10:14 I know . . . My own know. A deep mutual knowledge, like that of the Father and the Son.
10:15 I lay down My life. See v. 11; the fact of central importance.
10:16 other sheep. These already belonged to Christ, though they had not yet been brought to Him. not of this fold. Those outside Judaism. Here is a glimpse of the future worldwide scope of the church. one flock. All God's people have the same Shepherd (see 17:20–23).
10:17–18 That Christ would die for His people runs through this section of John's Gospel. Both the love and the plan of the Father are involved, as well as the authority He gave to the Son. Christ obediently chose to die; otherwise, no one would have had the power to kill him.
10:19 division. See 7:43; 9:16.
10:20 has a demon. See note on 7:20.
10:21 Cf. 9:16.
10:22 Feast of the Dedication. The commemoration of the dedication of the temple by Judas Maccabeus in December, 165 B.C., after it had been profaned by Antiochus Epiphanes (see notes on Ezra 6:16; Dan 8:9–12). This was the last great deliverance the Jews had experienced.
10:23 it was winter. A description for those unfamiliar with the Jewish calendar. portico of Solomon. See Acts 3:11; 5:12. It was a roofed structure—somewhat similar to a Greek stoa—commonly but erroneously thought to date back to Solomon's time.
10:24 the Christ. See note on 1:25 and cf. 20:31. This was the critical question, but it was not easy to answer because of the different ideas of Messiahship then in vogue.
10:25 I told you. Jesus had not specifically affirmed His Messiahship except to the Samaritan woman (4:26). He may have meant here that the general thrust of His teaching made His claim clear or that such statements as that in 8:58 were sufficient. Or He may have been referring to the evidence of His whole manner of life (including the miracles)—all He had done in the Father's name (for the name see note on 2:23).
10:26 not of My sheep. Their failure to believe arose from what they were.
10:27 voice. Cf. vv. 3–5. I know them. Cf. v. 14. they follow. Cf. vv. 4–5.
10:28 eternal life. Christ's gift (see note on 3:15). never perish. The Greek construction here is a strong denial that the sheep will ever perish. The sheep's security is in the power of the shepherd, who will let no one take them from him.
10:29 My Father. See note on 5:17. is able. The Father's power ("hand") is greater than that of any enemy, making the sheep completely secure.

30 "[a]I and the Father are [1]one."

31 The Jews [a]picked up stones again to stone Him.

32 Jesus answered them, "I showed you many good works from the Father; for which of them are you stoning Me?"

33 The Jews answered Him, "For a good work we do not stone You, but for [a]blasphemy; and because You, being a man, [b]make Yourself out to be God."

34 Jesus answered them, "Has it not been written in [a]your [b]Law, '[c]I SAID, YOU ARE GODS'?

35 "If he called them gods, to whom the word of God came (and the Scripture cannot be broken), 36 do you say of Him, whom the Father [a]sanctified and [b]sent into the world, 'You are blaspheming,' because I said, '[c]I am the Son of God'?

37 "[a]If I do not do the works of My Father, do not believe Me;

38 but if I do them, though you do not believe Me, believe [a]the works, so that you may [1]know and understand that [b]the Father is in Me, and I in the Father."

39 Therefore [a]they were seeking again to seize Him, and [b]He eluded their grasp.

40 And He went away [a]again beyond the Jordan to the place where John was first baptizing, and He was staying there.

41 Many came to Him and were saying, "While John performed no [a]sign, yet [b]everything John said about this man was true."

42 [a]Many believed in Him there.

The Death and Resurrection of Lazarus

11:1 Now a certain man was sick, Lazarus of [a]Bethany, the village of Mary and her sister [b]Martha.

2 It was the Mary who [a]anointed [b]the Lord with ointment, and wiped His feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was sick.

3 So the sisters sent word to Him, saying, "[a]Lord, behold, [b]he whom You love is sick."

4 But when Jesus heard this, He said, "This sickness is not to end in death, but for [a]the glory of God, so that the Son of God may be glorified by it."

5 Now Jesus loved [a]Martha and her sister and Lazarus.

6 So when He heard that he was sick, He then stayed two days longer in the place where He was.

7 Then after this He *said to the disciples, "[a]Let us go to Judea again."

8 The disciples *said to Him, "[a]Rabbi, the Jews were just now seeking [b]to stone You, and are You going there again?"

9 Jesus answered, "[a]Are there not twelve hours in the day? If anyone walks in the day, he does not stumble, because he sees the light of this world.

10 "But if anyone walks in the night, he stumbles, because the light is not in him."

8 [a]Matt 23:7 [b]John 8:59; 10:31
9 [a]Luke 13:33; John 9:4; 12:35

10:30 one. The Greek is neuter—"one thing," not "one person." The two are one in essence or nature, but they are not identical persons. This great truth is what warrants Jesus' "I am" declarations (see 8:24,28,58 and note on 6:35; see also 17:21–22).

10:31 The Jews. See note on 1:19. to stone Him. They took Jesus' words as blasphemy, and therefore prepared to carry out the law (Lev 24:16), though without due process.

10:32 good works. Or "good deeds" (as, e.g., in Matt 5:16; 1 Tim 5:10,25; 6:18). Although the reference here includes Jesus' miracles, the underlying Greek words refer to works in general that are fine and noble in character first of all (see note on v. 38).

10:33 blasphemy. The Jewish leaders correctly understood the thrust of Jesus' words, but their preconceptions and unbelief prevented them from accepting His claim as true.

10:34 your Law. In its strictest sense the term meant the Pentateuch, but was often used, as here, of the whole OT. you are gods. The words Jesus quotes from Ps 82:6 refer to the judges (or other leaders or rulers), whose tasks were divinely appointed (see Ex 22:28 and note; Deut 1:17; 16:18; 2 Chr 19:6).

10:35 Scripture cannot be broken. Jesus testified to the complete authority and reliability of the OT.

10:36 If there is any sense in which men can be spoken of as "gods" (as Ps 82:6 speaks of human rulers or judges), how much more may the term be used of Him whom the Father set apart and sent!

10:37 the works of My Father. The kind of works of compassion that the Father Himself does.

10:38 works. The miracles were a part of Jesus' works. It was Jesus' quality of life, not people's inability to explain His marvels, that He primarily spoke of here (see note on v. 32).

10:39 they were seeking . . . to seize Him. It is not clear if this was to arrest Him for trial or to take Him out for stoning. He eluded. John does not say why they failed, but he often makes it clear that Jesus could not be killed before the appointed time (see note on 2:4; see also Luke 4:30).

10:41 everything John said. For John the Baptist as a witness see 1:7 and note.

11:1 Lazarus. Mentioned only in chs. 11–12 of John's Gospel (the name is found also in the parable of Luke 16:19–31). The sisters are mentioned in Luke 10:38–42.

11:2 anointed . . . with ointment. See 12:3.

11:3 he whom You love. The relationship must have been exceptionally close.

11:4 Cf. 9:3. This sickness is not to end in death. Thus predicting the raising of Lazarus (v. 44), since Jesus already knew of his death (v. 14). In fact, Lazarus must have died shortly after the messengers left Bethany, accounting for the "four days" of vv. 17,39: one day for the journey of the messengers, the two days when Jesus remained where He was (v. 6; see 10:40), and a day for Jesus' journey to Bethany. But see note on v. 17. glory. See notes on 7:39; 12:41; 13:31. Here God's Son would be glorified through what happened to Lazarus, partly because the miracle displays the glory of God (who alone can raise the dead; see 5:21) in Jesus (v. 40) and partly because it would help initiate events leading to the cross (vv. 46–53).

11:6 He then stayed . . . where He was. Jesus moved as the Father directed, not as people (here Mary and Martha) wished (cf. 2:3–4).

11:8 the Jews. See note on 1:19. were . . . seeking to stone You. See note on 10:31. There was clear danger in going into Judea.

11:9 twelve hours. Enough time for what must be done, but no time for waste.

11 This He said, and after that He *said to them, "Our [a]friend Lazarus [b]has fallen asleep; but I go, so that I may awaken him out of sleep."

12 The disciples then said to Him, "Lord, if he has fallen asleep, he will [1]recover."

13 Now [a]Jesus had spoken of his death, but they thought that He was speaking of [1]literal sleep.

14 So Jesus then said to them plainly, "Lazarus is dead,

15 and I am glad for your sakes that I was not there, so that you may believe; but let us go to him."

16 [a]Therefore Thomas, who is called [1][b]Didymus, said to his fellow disciples, "Let us also go, so that we may die with Him."

17 So when Jesus came, He found that he had already been in the tomb [a]four days.

18 Now [a]Bethany was near Jerusalem, about [1]two miles off;

19 and many of [a]the Jews had come to [b]Martha and Mary, [c]to console them concerning their brother.

20 [a]Martha therefore, when she heard that Jesus was coming, went to meet Him, but [a]Mary [1]stayed at the house.

21 Martha then said to Jesus, "[a]Lord, [b]if You had been here, my brother would not have died.

22 "Even now I know that [a]whatever You ask of God, God will give You."

23 Jesus *said to her, "Your brother will rise again."

24 Martha *said to Him, "[a]I know that he will rise again in the resurrection on the last day."

25 Jesus said to her, "[a]I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in Me will live even if he dies, 26 and everyone who lives and believes in Me [a]will never die. Do you believe this?"

27 She *said to Him, "Yes, Lord; I have believed that You are [1][a]the Christ, the Son of God, even [2][b]He who comes into the world."

28 When she had said this, she [a]went away and called Mary her sister, saying secretly, "[b]The Teacher is here and is calling for you."

29 And when she heard it, she *got up quickly and was coming to Him.

30 Now Jesus had not yet come into the village, but [a]was still in the place where Martha met Him.

31 [a]Then the Jews who were with her in the house, and [b]consoling her, when they saw that Mary got up quickly and went out, they followed her, supposing that she was going to the tomb to weep there.

32 Therefore, when Mary came where Jesus was, she saw Him, and fell at His feet, saying to Him, "[a]Lord, [b]if You had been here, my brother would not have died."

33 When Jesus therefore saw her weeping, and [a]the Jews who came with her also weeping, He [b]was deeply moved in spirit and [1][c]was troubled,

34 and said, "Where have you laid him?" They *said to Him, "Lord, come and see."

35 Jesus [a]wept.

36 So [a]the Jews were saying, "See how He [b]loved him!"

37 But some of them said, "Could not this man, who [a]opened the eyes of the blind man, [1]have kept this man also from dying?"

38 So Jesus, again being deeply moved

11:11 fallen asleep. A euphemism for death, used by the unbelieving world as well as by Christians.
11:15 believe. Cf. 20:31.
11:16 Thomas . . . Didymus. The Hebrew word from which we get "Thomas" and the Greek word Didymus both mean "twin." We usually remember Thomas for his doubting, but he was also capable of devotion and courage.
11:17 four days. See note on v. 4. Many Jews believed that the soul remained near the body for three days after death in the hope of returning to it. If this idea was in the minds of these people, they obviously thought all hope was gone—Lazarus was irrevocably dead.
11:19 to console them. Jewish custom provided for three days of very heavy mourning, then four of heavy mourning, followed by lighter mourning for the remainder of 30 days. It was usual for friends to visit the family to comfort them.
11:20 she . . . went to meet Him. Perhaps because as the elder she was hostess.
11:21 Repeated by Mary in v. 32. Perhaps the sisters had said this to one another often as they awaited Jesus' arrival.
11:22 whatever You ask. This comment seems to mean that Martha hoped for an immediate resurrection in spite of the fact that Lazarus's body had already begun to decay. Nothing is too difficult for God to do.
11:25 I am. See note on 6:35. life. See note on 1:4. Jesus was saying more than that He gives resurrection and life. In some way these are identified with Him, and His nature is such that final death is impossible for Him. He is life (cf. 14:6; Acts 3:15; Heb 7:16). he who believes . . . will live. See note on 1:7. Jesus not only is life but conveys life to the believer so that death will never triumph over him (cf. 1 Cor 15:54–57).
11:27 I have believed. Martha is often remembered for her shortcoming recorded in Luke 10:40–41. But she was a woman of faith, as this magnificent declaration shows.
11:28 The Teacher. A significant description to be given by a woman. The rabbis would not teach women (cf. 4:27), but Jesus taught them frequently.
11:31 to weep there. Wailing at a tomb was common, and the Jews immediately thought this was in Mary's mind. Because they followed her, Jesus got maximum publicity.
11:32 Cf. v. 21.
11:33 weeping. Both times the word denotes a loud expression of grief, i.e., "wailing." troubled. See note on 12:27; cf. 13:21.
11:35 wept. The Greek for this word is not the one for loud grief, as in v. 33, but one that denotes quiet weeping, i.e., "shed tears."
11:36 Cf. v. 5.
11:37 Their position was like that of Martha (v. 21) and Mary (v. 32), but they based it on Jesus' ability to give sight to the blind (cf. ch. 9).

within, *came to the tomb. Now it was a [a]cave, and a stone was lying against it.

39 Jesus *said, "Remove the stone." Martha, the sister of the deceased, *said to Him, "Lord, by this time [1]there will be a stench, for he has been dead [a]four days."

40 Jesus *said to her, "[a]Did I not say to you that if you believe, you will see the glory of God?"

41 So they removed the [a]stone. Then Jesus [b]raised His eyes, and said, "[c]Father, I thank You that You have heard Me.

42 "I knew that You always hear Me; but [a]because of the [1]people standing around I said it, so that they may believe that [b]You sent Me."

43 When He had said these things, He cried out with a loud voice, "Lazarus, come forth."

44 The man who had died came forth, [a]bound hand and foot with wrappings, and [b]his face was wrapped around with a cloth. Jesus *said to them, "Unbind him, and let him go."

45 [a]Therefore many of the Jews [b]who came to Mary, and [c]saw what He had done, believed in Him.

46 But some of them went to the [a]Pharisees and told them the things which Jesus had done.

Conspiracy to Kill Jesus

47 Therefore [a]the chief priests and the Pharisees [b]convened a [c]council, and were saying, "What are we doing? For this man is performing many [1][d]signs.

48 "If we let Him go on like this, all men will believe in Him, and the Romans will come and take away both our [a]place and our nation."

49 But one of them, [a]Caiaphas, [b]who was high priest that year, said to them, "You know nothing at all,

50 nor do you take into account that [a]it is expedient for you that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation not perish."

51 Now he did not say this [1]on his own initiative, but [a]being high priest that year, he prophesied that Jesus was going to die for the nation, 52 and not for the nation only, but in order that He might also [a]gather together into one the children of God who are scattered abroad.

53 So from that day on they [a]planned together to kill Him.

54 Therefore Jesus [a]no longer continued to walk publicly among the Jews, but went away from there to the country near the wilderness, into a city called [b]Ephraim; and there He stayed with the disciples.

55 Now [a]the Passover of the Jews was near, and many went up to Jerusalem out of the country before the Passover [b]to purify themselves.

56 So they [a]were seeking for Jesus, and were saying to one another as they stood in the temple, "What do you think; that He will not come to the feast at all?"

57 Now [a]the chief priests and the Pharisees had given orders that if anyone knew where He was, he was to report it, so that they might seize Him.

11:39 four days. See notes on vv. 4,17.
11:40 glory. See note on v. 4.
11:44 wrappings. Narrow strips, like bandages. Sometimes a shroud was used (see note on 19:40). a cloth. A separate item.
11:45 many of the Jews . . . believed in Him. Perhaps some who had been opposed to Jesus now came to believe (see note on 1:19; cf. 20:31).
11:46 Pharisees. See notes on Matt 3:7; Mark 2:16; Luke 5:17.
11:47 the chief priests and the Pharisees. In all four Gospels the Pharisees appear as Jesus' principal opponents throughout His public ministry. But they lacked political power, and it is the chief priests who were prominent in the events that led to Jesus' crucifixion. Here both groups are associated in a meeting of the Sanhedrin (see note on Mark 14:55). They did not deny the reality of the miraculous signs (see note on 2:11), but they did not understand their meaning, for they failed to believe.
11:48 place. Probably the temple (see Acts 6:13–14; 21:28), though sometimes the Jews used the expression to denote Jerusalem.
11:49 Caiaphas. High priest c. A.D. 18–36. He was the son-in-law of Annas (18:13), who had been deposed from the high priesthood by the Romans in A.D. 15. high priest that year. Means "high priest at that time." The high priesthood was not an annual office but one supposed to be held for life. You know nothing at all. A remark typical of Sadducean rudeness (Caiaphas, as high priest, was a Sadducee). Josephus says that Sadducees "in their intercourse with their peers are as rude as to aliens." For Sadducees see notes on Matt 2:4; 3:7; Mark 12:18; Luke 20:27; Acts 4:1.
11:50 expedient. Caiaphas was concerned with political expediency, not with guilt and innocence. He believed that one man, no matter how innocent, should perish rather than that the nation be put in jeopardy. Ironically, the Jews went ahead with their execution of Jesus, and in A.D. 70 the nation still perished.
11:51 being high priest. Caiaphas was not a private citizen but was God's high priest, and God overruled in what he said. that year. See note on v. 49. prophesied. His words were true in a way he could not imagine. Prophecy in Scripture is the impartation of divinely revealed truth. In reality Caiaphas's words meant that Jesus' death would be for the nation, not by way of removing political trouble, but by taking away the sins of those who believed in Him.
11:52 the children of God . . . scattered abroad. Jesus' death would have effects far beyond the nation (cf. 1:29; 3:16; 4:42; 10:16; etc.).
11:54 went away. Jesus was not to die before His "time" (see note on 2:4), but He would not act imprudently. Knowing the attitude of His opponents, He withdrew. He would die for others, but in His own time, not that of His enemies. Ephraim. If it was the city known as Ophrah, it was about 15 miles north of Jerusalem.
11:55 Passover. See notes on 2:13; 5:1. to purify themselves. Especially important at a time like Passover, because without it, it would not be possible to keep the Feast (cf. 18:28; see note on 2:6).

Mary Anoints Jesus

12 [a]Jesus, therefore, six days before [b]the Passover, came to [c]Bethany where Lazarus was, whom Jesus had raised from the dead.

2 So they made Him a supper there, and [a]Martha was serving; but Lazarus was one of those reclining at the table with Him.

3 [a]Mary then took a [1]pound of very costly [b]perfume of pure nard, and anointed the feet of Jesus and wiped His feet with her hair; and the house was filled with the fragrance of the perfume.

4 But [a]Judas Iscariot, one of His disciples, who was intending to [1]betray Him, *said,

5 "Why was this perfume not sold for [1]three hundred denarii and given to poor people?"

6 Now he said this, not because he was concerned about the poor, but because he was a thief, and as he [a]had the money box, he used to pilfer [b]what was put into it.

7 Therefore Jesus said, "Let her alone, so that she may keep [1]it for [a]the day of My burial.

8 "[a]For you always have the poor with you, but you do not always have Me."

9 The [a]large crowd of the Jews then learned that He was there; and they came, not for Jesus' sake only, but that they might also see Lazarus, [b]whom He raised from the dead.

10 But the chief priests planned to put Lazarus to death also;

11 because [a]on account of him [b]many of the Jews were going away and were believing in Jesus.

Jesus Enters Jerusalem

12 On the next day [a]the large crowd who had come to [b]the feast, when they heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem,

13 took the branches of the palm trees and went out to meet Him, and began to shout, "[a]Hosanna! BLESSED IS HE WHO COMES IN THE NAME OF THE LORD, even the [b]King of Israel."

14 Jesus, finding a young donkey, sat on it; as it is written,

15 "[a]FEAR NOT, DAUGHTER OF ZION; BEHOLD, YOUR KING IS COMING, SEATED ON A DONKEY'S COLT."

16 [a]These things His disciples did not understand at the first; but when Jesus [b]was glorified, then they remembered that these things were written of Him, and that they had done these things to Him.

17 So [a]the [1]people, who were with Him when He called Lazarus out of the tomb and raised him from the dead, continued to testify about Him.

18 [a]For this reason also the [1]people went and met Him, [b]because they heard that He had performed this [2]sign.

19 So the Pharisees said to one another, "You see that you are not doing any good; look, the world has gone after Him."

Greeks Seek Jesus

20 Now there were some [a]Greeks among those who were going up to worship at [b]the feast;

21 these then came to [a]Philip, who was from [b]Bethsaida of Galilee, and began to ask him, saying, "Sir, we wish to see Jesus."

12:11 20 [a]John 7:35 [b]John 12:1 21 [a]John 1:44 [b]Matt 11:21

12:1–11 All four Gospels have an account of a woman anointing Jesus. John's account seems to tell of the same incident recorded in Matt 26:6–13 and Mark 14:3–9, while that in Luke 7:36–50 is different.

12:1 Bethany. See note on Matt 21:17.

12:3 nard. The name of both a plant and the fragrant oil it yielded. Since it was very expensive, Mary's act of devotion was costly. It was also an unusual act, both because she poured the oil on Jesus' feet (normally it was poured on the head) and because she used her hair to wipe them (a respectable woman did not unbind her hair in public). Further, it showed her humility, for it was a servant's work to attend to the feet (see notes on 1:27; 13:5).

12:4 Judas Iscariot. See note on 6:71.

12:6 a thief. The one passage from which we learn that Judas was dishonest. Yet he must have been thought to be a man of some reliability, for he was keeper of the money bag.

12:7 keep. Probably the meaning is "save for this purpose." Perfume was normally associated with festivity, but it was also used in burials (see 19:39–40), and Jesus links it with His burial, which Mary's act unwittingly anticipates.

12:9 Jews. See note on 1:19.

12:10 The Jewish leaders previously had spoken of the death of one man (11:50), but now they wanted another death. Sin grows.

12:12 large crowd. Pilgrims who had come up from the country for the Passover Feast. Many of the pilgrims had doubtless seen and heard Jesus in Galilee, and they welcomed the opportunity to proclaim Him as Messiah.

12:13 branches of the palm trees. Used in celebration of victory. John saw a multitude with palm branches in heaven (Rev 7:9). Hosanna! A Hebrew expression meaning "Save!" that became an exclamation of praise (see note on Jer 31:7). the name. See note on 2:23. even the King of Israel. The people's addition to the words of the psalm, which John alone records. It reflects his special interest in Jesus' royalty, which he brings out throughout the passion narrative.

12:14 donkey. See notes on Zech 9:9; Matt 21:2,7; Mark 11:2; Luke 19:30.

12:16 An example of the meaning of 16:13. glorified. See notes on v. 41; 11:4; 13:31. Only after the crucifixion and the coming of the Holy Spirit did the disciples appreciate the meaning of the prophecy and its fulfillment.

12:19 Pharisees. See notes on Matt 3:7; Mark 2:16; Luke 5:17.

12:20 Greeks. Probably "God-fearers," people attracted to Judaism by its monotheism and morality, but repelled by its nationalism and requirements such as circumcision. They worshiped in the synagogues but did not become proselytes.

12:21 Philip. A Greek name, which may be why they came to this disciple (though he was not the only one of the Twelve to have a Greek name). to see. Means "to have an interview with." After v. 22 John records no more about these Greeks (yet see note on v. 32). He regarded their coming as important but not their conversation with Jesus. Jesus came to die for the world, 22 Philip *came and *told [a]Andrew; Andrew and Philip *came and *told Jesus.

23 And Jesus *answered them, saying, "[a]The hour has come for the Son of Man to [b]be glorified.

24 "Truly, truly, I say to you, [a]unless a grain of wheat falls into the earth and dies, it remains alone; but if it dies, it bears much fruit.

25 "[a]He who loves his [1]life loses it, and he who [b]hates his [1]life in this world will keep it to life eternal.

26 "If anyone [1]serves Me, he must follow Me; and [a]where I am, there My servant will be also; if anyone [1]serves Me, the Father will [b]honor him.

Jesus Foretells His Death

27 "[a]Now My soul has become troubled; and what shall I say, '[b]Father, save Me from [c]this hour'? But for this purpose I came to this hour.

28 "[a]Father, glorify Your name." Then a [b]voice came out of heaven: "I have both glorified it, and will glorify it again."

29 So the crowd of people who stood by and heard it were saying that it had thundered; others were saying, "[a]An angel has spoken to Him."

30 Jesus answered and said, "[a]This voice has not come for My sake, but for your sakes.

31 "[a]Now judgment is upon this world; now [b]the ruler of this world will be cast out.

32 "And I, if I [a]am lifted up from the earth, will [b]draw all men to Myself."

33 But He was saying this [a]to indicate the kind of death by which He was to die.

34 The crowd then answered Him, "We have heard out of [a]the Law that [1][b]the Christ is to remain forever; and how can You say, 'The [c]Son of Man must be [d]lifted up'? Who is this [c]Son of Man?"

35 So Jesus said to them, "[a]For a little while longer [b]the Light is among you. [c]Walk while you have the Light, so that darkness will not overtake you; he who [d]walks in the darkness does not know where he goes.

36 "While you have the Light, [a]believe in the Light, so that you may become [b]sons of Light."

These things Jesus spoke, and He went away and [1][c]hid Himself from them.

37 But though He had performed so many [1]signs before them, yet they were not believing in Him.

38 This was to fulfill the word of Isaiah the prophet which he spoke: "[a]LORD, WHO HAS BELIEVED OUR REPORT? AND TO WHOM HAS THE ARM OF THE LORD BEEN REVEALED?"

39 For this reason they could not believe, for Isaiah said again,

40 "[a]HE HAS BLINDED THEIR EYES AND HE [b]HARDENED THEIR HEART, SO THAT THEY WOULD NOT SEE WITH THEIR EYES AND PERCEIVE WITH THEIR HEART, AND [1]BE CONVERTED AND I HEAL THEM."

41 These things Isaiah said because [a]he saw His glory, and [b]he spoke of Him.

and the coming of these Gentiles indicates the scope of the effectiveness of His approaching crucifixion.

12:23 The hour has come. The hour to which everything else led (see note on 2:4). glorified. Jesus was speaking about His death on the cross and His subsequent resurrection and exaltation (see notes on v. 41; 11:4; 13:31).

12:24 if it dies, it bears. The principle of life through death is seen in the plant world. The kernel must perish as a kernel if there is to be a plant.

12:25 he who hates his life . . . will keep it. To love one's life here and now—to concentrate on one's own success—is to lose what matters (cf. Matt 16:24–25; Mark 8:34–35; Luke 9:23–24). Supremely, of course, the principle is seen in the cross of Jesus. hates. Love for God must be such that all other loves are, by comparison, hatred. life eternal. See note on 3:15.

12:27 troubled. John's equivalent to the agony in Gethsemane described in the other Gospels. this hour. Jesus faced the prospect of becoming sin (or a sin offering) for sinful people (2 Cor 5:21). He considered praying for God to save Him from this death, but refused to pray it, because the very reason He had come was to die.

12:28 Father, glorify Your name. His prayer was not for deliverance but for the Father to be glorified. The voice from heaven gave the answer. name. See note on 2:23.

12:31 upon this world. The cross was God's judgment on the world. the ruler of this world. Satan (cf. 16:11). The cross would seem to be his triumph; in fact, it was his defeat. Out of it would flow the greatest good ever to come to the world.

12:32 lifted up. See note on 3:14. The cross was the supreme exaltation of Jesus (see notes on v. 41; 13:31). all men. Christ will draw people to Himself without regard for nationality, ethnic affiliation or status. It is significant that Greek Gentiles were present on this occasion (v. 20).

12:34 the Law. Here seems to mean OT Scripture in general (see note on 10:34), the reference being to passages such as Ps 89:36; 110:4; Is 9:7; Dan 7:14. the Christ. See note on 1:25. Son of Man. The only place in the Gospels where anyone other than Jesus used the expression, and even here Jesus is being quoted (see note on Mark 8:31).

12:35–36 the Light. Light is closely identified with Jesus, as seen from the call to believe in the light (see notes on 1:4; 8:12).

12:37 they were not believing. God's ancient people should have responded when God sent His Messiah. They should have seen the significance of the signs He did.

12:39 could not believe. Does not mean that the people in question had no choice. They purposely rejected God and chose evil, and v. 40 explains that God in turn brought on them a judicial blinding of eyes and hardening of hearts. Yet many Jewish leaders did believe in Jesus as the Messiah (v. 42).

12:40 These words from Is 6:10 are quoted by Jesus (Matt 13:14–15; Mark 4:12; Luke 8:10) and by Paul (Acts 28:26–27).

12:41 saw His glory. Isaiah spoke primarily of the glory of God (Is 6:3). John spoke of the glory of Jesus and made no basic distinction between the two, attesting Jesus' oneness with God. The thought of glory here is complex. There is the idea of majesty, and there is also the idea (which meant so much to John) that Jesus' death on the cross and His subsequent resurrection and exaltation show His real glory. Isaiah foresaw the 42 Nevertheless [a]many even of [b]the rulers believed in Him, but [c]because of the Pharisees they were not confessing Him, for fear that they would be [1][d]put out of the synagogue;

43 [a]for they loved the [1]approval of men rather than the [1]approval of God.

44 And Jesus cried out and said, "[a]He who believes in Me, does not believe in Me but in Him who sent Me.

45 "[a]He who sees Me sees the One who sent Me.

46 "[a]I have come as Light into the world, so that everyone who believes in Me will not remain in darkness.

47 "If anyone hears My sayings and does not keep them, I do not judge him; for [a]I did not come to judge the world, but to save the world.

48 "[a]He who rejects Me and does not receive My sayings, has one who judges him; [b]the word I spoke is what will judge him at [c]the last day.

49 "[a]For I did not speak [1]on My own initiative, but the Father Himself who sent Me [b]has given Me a commandment as to what to say and what to speak.

50 "I know that [a]His commandment is eternal life; therefore the things I speak, I speak [b]just as the Father has told Me."

The Lord's Supper

13 Now before the Feast of [a]the Passover, Jesus knowing that [b]His hour had come that He would depart out of this world [c]to the Father, having loved His own who were in the world, He loved them [1]to the end.

2 During supper, [a]the devil having already put into the heart of [b]Judas Iscariot, the son of Simon, to betray Him,

3 Jesus, [a]knowing that the Father had given all things into His hands, and that [b]He had come forth from God and was going back to God,

4 *got up from supper, and *laid aside His garments; and taking a towel, He [a]girded Himself.

Jesus Washes the Disciples' Feet

5 Then He *poured water into the basin, and began to [a]wash the disciples' feet and to wipe them with the towel with which He was girded.

6 So He *came to Simon Peter. He *said to Him, "Lord, do You wash my feet?"

7 Jesus answered and said to him, "What I do you do not realize now, but you will understand [a]hereafter."

8 Peter *said to Him, "Never shall You wash my feet!" Jesus answered him, "[a]If I do not wash you, [b]you have no part with Me."

rejection of Christ, as the passages quoted (Is 53:1; 6:10) show. He spoke of the Messiah both in the words about blind eyes and hard hearts, on the one hand, and about healing, on the other. This is the cross and this is glory, for the cross and resurrection and exaltation portray both suffering and healing, rejection and triumph, humiliation and glory.

12:42 many . . . rulers believed. John does not give a picture of unrelieved gloom. Many Jewish leaders believed (see note on 1:7), though they remained secret believers for fear of excommunication (see note on 9:22).

12:44 cried out. The words are given special emphasis by being spoken in a loud voice. believe in Me. John ends his story of the public ministry of Jesus with an appeal for belief. He does not say when Jesus spoke these words (they may have been uttered earlier), but they are a fitting close to this part of his account. Him who sent Me. Jesus' mission, as well as the inseparability of the Father and the Son, is stressed throughout this Gospel.

12:46 I have come . . . into the world. Points to both Jesus' preexistence and His mission. Light. See notes on 1:4; 8:12.

12:47 to judge. Not the purpose of Jesus' coming, but judgment is the other side of salvation. It is not the purpose of the sun's shining to cast shadows, but when the sun shines, shadows are inevitable.

12:49 the Father . . . has given Me a commandment . . . what to say. Jesus' hearers have a great responsibility. His "word" (v. 48) is that which the Father commanded Him to say. To reject it, therefore, is to reject God.

12:50 eternal life. See note on 3:15. therefore. Jesus said what He did in order to fulfill the will of the Father—a wonderful note on which to end the account of Jesus' public ministry.

13:1–17:26 John has by far the longest account of the upper room, though curiously he says nothing about the institution of the Lord's Supper. Still we owe to him most of our information about what our Lord said to His disciples on that night. One feature of the discourse is Jesus' emphasis on love. The Greek noun agape ("love") and the verb agapao ("love") occur only eight times in chs. 1–12 but 31 times in chs. 13–17.

13:1 Feast of the Passover. See notes on 2:13; 5:1. His hour. See note on 2:4.

13:2 supper. Some believe that this feast was a fellowship meal eaten sometime before the Passover Feast. This would mean that the Last Supper could not have been the Passover meal as the Synoptic Gospels clearly indicate. However, this meal may have been the Passover Feast itself, in which case the accounts of the Synoptics and John would agree. the devil. See v. 27. Judas Iscariot. See note on 6:71.

13:3 the Father had given all things into His hands. John again emphasizes the fulfillment of God's plan and Jesus' control of the situation.

13:5 began to wash the disciples' feet. A menial task (see note on 1:27), normally performed by a servant. On this occasion there was no servant and no one else volunteered. Jesus' action was during the meal, not upon arrival, done deliberately to emphasize a point. It was a lesson in humility, but it also set forth the principle of selfless service that was so soon to be exemplified in the cross. John alone tells of this incident, but Luke says that in rebuking the disciples over a quarrel concerning who would be the greatest, Jesus said, "I am among you as the one who serves" (Luke 22:27). Jesus' life of service would culminate on the cross.

13:8 Never. Characteristically, Peter objected, though apparently no one else did. He was a mixture of humility (he did not want Jesus to perform this lowly service for him) and pride (he

9 Simon Peter *said to Him, "Lord, then wash not only my feet, but also my hands and my head."

10 Jesus *said to him, "He who has bathed needs only to wash his feet, but is completely clean; and [a]you are clean, but not all of you."

11 For [a]He knew the one who was betraying Him; for this reason He said, "Not all of you are clean."

12 So when He had washed their feet, and [a]taken His garments and reclined at the table again, He said to them, "Do you know what I have done to you?

13 "You call Me [a]Teacher and [b]Lord; and [1]you are right, for so I am.

14 "If I then, [a]the Lord and the Teacher, washed your feet, you also ought to wash one another's feet.

15 "For I gave you [a]an example that you also should do as I did to you.

16 "Truly, truly, I say to you, [a]a slave is not greater than his master, nor is [b]one who is sent greater than the one who sent him.

17 "If you know these things, you are [a]blessed if you do them.

18 "[a]I do not speak of all of you. I know the ones I have [b]chosen; but it is [c]that the Scripture may be fulfilled, '[d]HE WHO EATS MY BREAD HAS LIFTED UP HIS HEEL AGAINST ME.'

Jesus Predicts His Betrayal

21 When Jesus had said this, He [a]became troubled in spirit, and testified and said, "Truly, truly, I say to you, that [b]one of you will [1]betray Me."

22 The disciples began looking at one another, [a]at a loss to know of which one He was speaking.

23 There was reclining on [a]Jesus' bosom one of His disciples, [b]whom Jesus loved.

24 So Simon Peter *gestured to him, and *said to him, "Tell us who it is of whom He is speaking."

25 He, [a]leaning back thus on Jesus' bosom, *said to Him, "Lord, who is it?"

26 Jesus then *answered, "That is the one for whom I shall dip the morsel and give it to him." So when He had dipped the morsel, He *took and *gave it to Judas, [a]the son of Simon Iscariot.

27 After the morsel, [a]Satan then [b]entered into him. Therefore Jesus *said to him, "What you do, do quickly."

28 Now no one of those reclining at the table knew for what purpose He had said this to him.

29 For some were supposing, because Judas [a]had the money box, that Jesus was saying to him, "Buy the things we have need of [b]for the feast"; or else, that he should [c]give something to the poor.

tried to dictate to Jesus). If I do not wash you. Jesus' reply looks beyond the incident to what it symbolizes: Peter needed a spiritual cleansing. The external washing was a picture of cleansing from sin, which Christians also sometimes need (see note on 1 John 1:9).

13:9 my hands and my head. Peter's response was wholehearted, but he was still dictating to Jesus.

13:10 only to wash his feet. A man would bathe himself before going to a feast. When he arrived, he only needed to wash his feet to be entirely clean again.

13:11 He knew. Again John emphasizes Jesus' command of the situation.

13:13 Teacher . . . Lord. An instructor would normally be called "Teacher," but "Lord" referred to one occupying the supreme place. Jesus accepted both titles.

13:14–15 Some Christians believe that Christ intended to institute a foot-washing ordinance to be practiced regularly. Most Christians, however, interpret Christ's action here as providing an example of humble service.

13:14 wash one another's feet. Christians should be willing to perform the most menial services for one another.

13:16 With minor variations this saying, which Jesus used often, is found in 15:20; Matt 10:24; Luke 6:40 (cf. Luke 22:27).

13:18 do not speak of all of you. Jesus was leading up to His prediction of the betrayal (v. 21). EATS MY BREAD. To eat bread together was a mark of close fellowship (see note on Ps 41:9). LIFTED UP HIS HEEL. May be derived from a horse's preparing to kick, or perhaps something like shaking off the dust from one's feet (Luke 9:5; 10:11).

13:19 so that . . . you may believe. See 20:31. Jesus' concern was for the disciples, not Himself. I am He. An emphatic form of speech, such as that in 8:58 (see note there).

13:20 whomever I send . . . Him who sent Me. Jesus' mission is a common theme in this Gospel, and now the mission of His followers is linked with it (cf. 20:21).

13:21 troubled. See 11:33. Though He knew of it long before it happened, Jesus was grieved by the betrayal of a friend.

13:22 at a loss. The disciples' astonishment shows that Judas had concealed his contacts with the high priests. No one suspected him (see v. 28), but all seem to have thought that the betrayal would be involuntary (see Mark 14:19).

13:23 reclining. At a dinner, guests reclined on couches, leaning on the left elbow with the head toward the table. one of His disciples, whom Jesus loved. Usually thought to be John, the author of this Gospel (see 19:26; 20:2; 21:7,20). The expression does not, of course, mean that Jesus did not love the others, but that there was a special bond with this man.

13:26 the one for whom I shall dip the morsel and give it to him. Evidently Judas was near Jesus, possibly in the seat of honor. John used Judas's full name (see note on 6:71) in recording this solemn moment.

13:27 After the morsel. Evidently the critical moment. If the giving of the bread to Judas was a mark of honor, it also seems to have been a final appeal—which Judas did not accept. Satan. The name is used only here in John (cf. v. 2). do quickly. Jesus' words once more indicate His control. He would die as He directed, not as His opponents determined.

13:29 the feast. See v. 1 and note on v. 2. the poor. See 12:5.

30 So after receiving the morsel he went out immediately; and [a]it was night.

31 Therefore when he had gone out, Jesus *said, "Now [1]is [a]the Son of Man [b]glorified, and [c]God [1]is glorified in Him;

32 [1]if God is glorified in Him, [a]God will also glorify Him in Himself, and will glorify Him immediately.

33 "[a]Little children, I am with you [b]a little while longer. [c]You will seek Me; and as I said to the Jews, now I also say to you, 'Where I am going, you cannot come.'

34 "A [a]new commandment I give to you, [b]that you love one another, [c]even as I have loved you, that you also love one another.

35 "[a]By this all men will know that you are My disciples, if you have love for one another."

36 Simon Peter *said to Him, "Lord, where are You going?" Jesus answered, "[a]Where I go, you cannot follow Me now; but [b]you will follow later."

37 Peter *said to Him, "Lord, why can I not follow You right now? [a]I will lay down my life for You."

38 Jesus *answered, "Will you lay down your life for Me? Truly, truly, I say to you, [a]a rooster will not crow until you deny Me three times.

Jesus Comforts His Disciples

14 "[a]Do not let your heart be troubled; [1]believe in God, believe also in Me.

2 "In My Father's house are many dwelling places; if it were not so, I would have told you; for [a]I go to prepare a place for you.

3 "If I go and prepare a place for you, [a]I will come again and receive you to Myself, that [b]where I am, there you may be also.

4 "And you know the way where I am going."

5 [a]Thomas *said to Him, "Lord, we do not know where You are going, how do we know the way?"

6 Jesus *said to him, "I am [a]the way, and [b]the truth, and [c]the life; no one comes to the Father but through Me.

Oneness with the Father

7 "[a]If you had known Me, you would have known My Father also; from now on you [b]know Him, and have [c]seen Him."

8 [a]Philip *said to Him, "Lord, show us the Father, and it is enough for us."

9 Jesus *said to him, "Have I been so long with you, and yet you have not come to know Me, Philip? [a]He who has seen Me has seen the Father; how can you say, 'Show us the Father'?

10 "Do you not believe that [a]I am in the Father, and the Father is in Me? [b]The words that I say to you I do not speak on My own initiative, but the Father abiding in Me does His works.

11 "Believe Me that [a]I am in the Father and the Father is in Me; otherwise [b]believe because of the works themselves.

12 "Truly, truly, I say to you, he who believes in Me, the works that I do, he will 13:30 night. In light of John's emphasis on the conflict between light and darkness, this may have been more than a time note—picturing also the darkness of Judas's soul.

13:31 Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31. glorified. See v. 32 and note on 7:39. Here the idea of glory includes a reference to Jesus' sacrificial death on the cross and the glorious salvation that would result. God is glorified in Him. The glory of the Father is closely bound to that of the Son.
13:34 A new commandment. In a sense it was an old one (see Lev 19:18), but for Christ's disciples it was new, because it was the mark of their brotherhood, created by Christ's great love for them (cf. Matt 22:37–39; Mark 12:30–31; Luke 10:27). as I have loved you. Our standard is Christ's love for us.
13:35 love. The distinguishing mark of Christ's followers (cf. 1 John 3:23; 4:7–8,11–12,19–21).
13:36 where are You going? Peter seems to have ignored Jesus' words about love and was more concerned about his Master's departure. In Jesus' reply "you" is singular and thus personal to Peter, whereas in v. 33 the word is plural.
13:37 I will lay down my life. Words similar to those of the good shepherd in 10:11. Peter was characteristically sure of himself, when in fact he would not at this time lay down his life for Jesus. Exactly the opposite would be true.
13:38 you deny Me three times. Peter's denial is prophesied in all four Gospels (Matt 26:33–35; Mark 14:29–31; Luke 22:31–34).
14:1 Do not . . . be troubled. The apostles had just received disturbing news (13:33,36). believe. The antidote for a troubled heart.
14:2 My Father's house. Heaven. dwelling places. Implying permanence.
14:3 I will come again. Jesus comes in many ways, but the primary reference here is to His second advent.
14:4 way. See v. 6.
14:5 Thomas. He was honest, and plainly told the Lord he did not understand (see note on 11:16).
14:6 I am. See note on 6:35. the way. To God. Jesus is not one way among many, but the way (cf. Acts 4:12; Heb 10:19–20). In the early church, Christianity was sometimes called "the Way" (e.g., Acts 9:2; 19:9,23). the truth. A key emphasis in this Gospel (see note on 1:14). the life. See note on 1:4. Very likely the statement means "I am the way (to the Father) in that I am the truth and the life."
14:7 Me . . . My Father. Once more Jesus stresses the intimate connection between the Father and Himself. Jesus brought a full revelation of the Father (cf. 1:18), so that the apostles had real knowledge of Him.
14:10 on My own initiative. Jesus' teaching was not of human origin, and there was an inseparable connection between His words and His work.
14:11 Believe . . . that I am in the Father and the Father is in Me. Saving faith is trust in a person, but it must also have factual content. Faith includes believing that Jesus is one with the Father.
14:12 greater works. Miracles (see v. 11). These depended on Jesus' going to the Father, because they are works done in the strength of the Holy Spirit, whom Jesus would send from the Father (15:26; cf. 14:16–17).

do also; and [a]greater works than these he will do; because [b]I go to the Father.

13 "[a]Whatever you ask in My name, that will I do, so that [b]the Father may be glorified in the Son.

14 "If you ask Me anything [a]in My name, I will do it.

15 "[a]If you love Me, you will keep My commandments.

Role of the Spirit

16 "I will ask the Father, and He will give you another [1a]Helper, that He may be with you forever;

17 that is [a]the Spirit of truth, [b]whom the world cannot receive, because it does not see Him or know Him, but you know Him because He abides with you and will be in you.

18 "I will not leave you as orphans; [a]I will come to you.

19 "[1a]After a little while [b]the world will no longer see Me, but you will see Me; [c]because I live, you will live also.

20 "[a]In that day you will know that [b]I am in My Father, and you in Me, and I in you.

21 "[a]He who has My commandments and keeps them is the one who loves Me; and [b]he who loves Me will be loved by My Father, and I will love him and will [c]disclose Myself to him."

22 [a]Judas (not Iscariot) *said to Him, "Lord, what then has happened [b]that You are going to disclose Yourself to us and not to the world?"

23 Jesus answered and said to him, "[a]If anyone loves Me, he will [b]keep My word; and [c]My Father will love him, and We [d]will come to him and make Our abode with him.

24 "He who does not love Me [a]does not keep My words; and [b]the word which you hear is not Mine, but the Father's who sent Me.

25 "These things I have spoken to you while abiding with you.

26 "But the [a]Helper, the Holy Spirit, [b]whom the Father will send in My name, [c]He will teach you all things, and [d]bring to your remembrance all that I said to you.

27 "[a]Peace I leave with you; My peace I give to you; not as the world gives do I give to you. [b]Do not let your heart be troubled, nor let it be fearful.

28 "[a]You heard that I said to you, 'I go away, and [b]I will come to you.' If you loved Me, you would have rejoiced because [c]I go to the Father, for [d]the Father is greater than I.

29 "Now [a]I have told you before it happens, so that when it happens, you may believe.

14:13 in My name. Not simply prayer that mentions Jesus' name but prayer in accordance with all that the person who bears the name is (see note on 2:23). It is prayer aimed at carrying forward the work Jesus did—prayer that He Himself will answer (see also v. 14).

14:15 love . . . keep. Love, like faith (James 2:14–26), cannot be separated from obedience.

14:16 the Father . . . will give you. The first of a series of important passages about the Holy Spirit (v. 26; 15:26; 16:7–15), the gift of the Father. another. Besides Jesus. Helper. Or "Counselor." It is a legal term, but with a broader meaning than "counsel for the defense" (see 1 John 2:1). It referred to any person who helped someone in trouble with the law. The Spirit will always stand by Christ's people.

14:17 the Spirit of truth. In essence and in action the Spirit is characterized by truth. He brings people to the truth of God. All three persons of the Trinity are linked with truth. See also the Father (4:23–24; cf. Ps 31:5; Is 65:16) and the Son (14:6). the world. Which takes no notice of the Spirit of God (cf. 1 Cor 2:14). But the Spirit was "with" Jesus' disciples and would be "in" them. Some believe the latter relationship (indwelling) specifically anticipates the coming of the Holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2; cf. Rom 8:9).

14:18 I will come to you. The words relate to the coming of the Spirit, but Jesus also speaks of His own appearances after the resurrection and at His second coming (see vv. 3, 19, 28; 16:22).

14:19 the world . . . but you. The cross separated the world (who would not see Jesus thereafter) from the disciples (who would). because I live, you will live also. The life of the Christian always depends on the life of Christ (cf. 1:4; 3:15).

14:20 In that day you will know. The resurrection would radically change their thinking.

14:21 keeps . . . loves. Love for Christ and keeping His commands cannot be separated (see note on v. 15). loved by My Father . . . I will love him. The love of the Father cannot be separated from that of the Son.

14:22 what . . . ? Judas (and, for that matter, the others) probably looked for Jesus to fulfill popular Messianic expectations. It was not easy, therefore, to understand how that would mean showing Himself to the disciples but not to the world.

14:23 loves . . . keep . . . love. Again love and obedience are linked (cf. vv. 15,21).

14:24 Once more the close relationship between Jesus' words and the Father's is stressed (see v. 10; 7:16).

14:26 Helper. See note on v. 16. Holy Spirit. His normal title in the NT (though only here and at 1:33; 20:22 in this Gospel)—emphasizing His holiness, rather than His power or greatness. whom the Father will send. Both the Father and the Son are involved in the sending (see 15:26). name. See notes on v. 13; 2:23. bring to your remembrance all that I said to you. Crucial for the life of the church—and for the writing of the NT.

14:27 Peace . . . My peace. A common Hebrew greeting (20:19,21,26), which Jesus uses here in an unusual way. The term speaks, in effect, of the salvation that Christ's redemptive work will achieve for His disciples—total well-being and inner rest of spirit, in fellowship with God. All true peace is His gift, which the repetition emphasizes. not as the world gives do I give. In its greetings of peace the world can only express a longing or wish. But Jesus' peace is real and present. troubled. See note on v. 1.

14:28 heard that I said. Cf. v. 3. the Father is greater than I. Revealing the subordinate role Jesus accepted as a necessary part of the incarnation. The statement must be understood in the light of the unity between the Father and the Son (10:30).

for [a]the ruler of the world is coming, and he has nothing in Me;

31 but so that the world may know that I love the Father, [1]I do exactly as [a]the Father commanded Me. Get up, [b]let us go from here.

Jesus Is the Vine—Followers Are Branches

15 "[a]I am the true vine, and My Father is the [b]vinedresser.

2 "Every branch in Me that does not bear fruit, He takes away; and every branch that bears fruit, He [1]prunes it so that it may bear more fruit.

3 "[a]You are already [1]clean because of the word which I have spoken to you.

4 "[a]Abide in Me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit [1]of itself unless it abides in the vine, so neither can you unless you abide in Me.

5 "I am the vine, you are the branches; he who abides in Me and I in him, he [a]bears much fruit, for apart from Me you can do nothing.

6 "If anyone does not abide in Me, he is [a]thrown away as a branch and dries up; and they gather them, and cast them into the fire and they are burned.

7 "If you abide in Me, and My words abide in you, [a]ask whatever you wish, and it will be done for you.

8 "My [a]Father is glorified by this, that you bear much fruit, and so [1][b]prove to be My disciples.

11 "[a]These things I have spoken to you so that My joy may be in you, and that your [b]joy may be made full.

Disciples' Relation to Each Other

12 "This is [a]My commandment, that you love one another, just as I have loved you.

13 "[a]Greater love has no one than this, that one [b]lay down his life for his friends.

14 "You are My [a]friends if [b]you do what I command you.

15 "No longer do I call you slaves, for the slave does not know what his master is doing; but I have called you friends, for [a]all things that I have heard from My Father I have made known to you.

16 "[a]You did not choose Me but I chose you, and appointed you that you would go and [b]bear fruit, and that your fruit would remain, so that [c]whatever you ask of the Father in My name He may give to you.

17 "This [a]I command you, that you love one another.

17 [a]John 15:12

14:30 ruler of the world. See note on 12:31. has nothing in Me. Satan has a hold on people because of their fallen state. Since Christ was sinless, Satan could have no hold on Him.

14:31 I do exactly as the Father commanded Me. Jesus had stressed the importance of His followers being obedient (vv. 15,21,23), and He set the example. With these words He goes to fulfill His mission (chs. 18–19).

15:1 I am. See note on 6:35. the true vine. The vine is frequently used in the OT as a symbol of Israel (e.g., Ps 80:8–16; Is 5:1–7; Jer 2:21). When this imagery is used, Israel is often shown as lacking in some way. Jesus, however, is "the true vine."

15:2 takes away. A reference to judgment (see note on v. 6). prunes. Pruning produces fruitfulness. In the NT the figure of good fruit represents the product of a godly life (see Matt 3:8; 7:16–20) or virtues of character (see Gal 5:22–23; Eph 5:9; Phil 1:11).

15:3 clean. The Greek for "clean" is the same root word as "prunes" (v. 2). the word. Sums up the message of Jesus.

15:4 Abide in Me. The believer has no fruitfulness apart from his union and fellowship with Christ. A branch out of contact with the vine is lifeless.

15:5 I am the vine. See note on v. 1. The repetition gives emphasis. abides in Me and I in him. A living union with Christ is absolutely necessary; without it there is nothing.

15:6 cast them into the fire and they are burned. Judged (see note on v. 2). In light of such passages as 6:39; 10:27–28, these branches probably do not represent true believers. Genuine salvation is evidenced by a life of fruitfulness (see v. 10 and notes on vv. 2,4; see also Heb 6:9, "things that accompany salvation"; cf. Matt 7:19–23).

15:7 My words abide in you. It is impossible to pray correctly apart from knowing and believing the teachings of Christ. ask whatever you wish. See 14:13 and note.

15:8 My Father is glorified. The Father is glorified in the work of the Son (13:31–32), and He is also glorified in the fruit-bearing of disciples (see Matt 7:20; Luke 6:43–45).

15:10 keep . . . as I have kept. Again the importance of obedience (cf. 14:15,21,23), and again the example of Christ (cf. 14:31). My love . . . His love. See vv. 12,14. Obedience and love go together (see 1John 2:5; 5:2–3).

15:11 joy. Mentioned previously in this Gospel only in 3:29, but one of the characteristic notes of the upper room discourse (16:20–22,24; 17:13). The Christian way is never dreary, for Jesus desires His disciples' joy to be complete.

15:13 Christ's love was not only in words but also in His sacrificial death.

15:15 slaves . . . friends. A servant is simply an agent, doing what his master commands and often not understanding his master's purpose. But Jesus takes His friends into His confidence. all things . . . I have made known to you. From 16:12 we learn that though Jesus had let His disciples know as much as they were able to absorb of the Father's plan, the revelation was not yet complete. The Spirit would make other things known in due course.

15:16 I chose you . . . bear fruit . . . ask. Disciples normally chose the particular rabbi to whom they wanted to be attached, but it was not so with Jesus' disciples. He chose them, and for a purpose—the bearing of fruit. We usually desire a strong prayer life in order that we may be fruitful, but here it is the other way around. Jesus enables us to bear fruit, and then the Father will hear our prayers. name. See notes on 2:23; 14:13.

Disciples' Relation to the World

18 "[a]If the world hates you, [1]you know that it has hated Me before it hated you.

19 "If you were of the world, the world would love its own; but because you are not of the world, but [a]I chose you out of the world, [b]because of this the world hates you.

20 "Remember the word that I said to you, '[a]A slave is not greater than his master.' If they persecuted Me, [b]they will also persecute you; if they [c]kept My word, they will keep yours also.

21 "But all these things they will do to you [a]for My name's sake, [b]because they do not know the One who sent Me.

22 "[a]If I had not come and spoken to them, they would not have [1]sin, but now they have no excuse for their sin.

23 "He who hates Me hates My Father also.

24 "[a]If I had not done among them [b]the works which no one else did, they would not have [1]sin; but now they have both seen and hated Me and My Father as well.

25 "But they have done this to fulfill the word that is written in their [a]Law, '[b]THEY HATED ME WITHOUT A CAUSE.'

26 "When the [1a]Helper comes, [b]whom I will send to you from the Father, that is [c]the Spirit of truth who proceeds from the Father, [d]He will testify about Me, 27 [1]and [a]you will testify also, because you have been with Me [b]from the beginning.

The Holy Spirit Promised

5 "But now [a]I am going to Him who sent Me; and none of you asks Me, '[b]Where are You going?'

6 "But because I have said these things to you, [a]sorrow has filled your heart.

7 "But I tell you the truth, it is to your advantage that I go away; for if I do not go away, the [1a]Helper will not come to you; but if I go, [b]I will send Him to you.

8 "And He, when He comes, will convict the world concerning sin and righteousness and judgment;

10 and concerning [a]righteousness, because [b]I go to the Father and you no longer see Me;

2 [1]Or They will have you excommunicated [a]John 9:22 [b]John 4:21; 16:25 [c]Is 66:5; Acts 26:9-11; Rev 6:9 3 [a]John 8:19, 55; 15:21; 17:25; Acts 3:17; 1 John 3:1 4 [1]Or will remember them, that I told you [a]John 13:19 [b]Luke 1:2 5 [a]John 7:33; 16:10, 17, 28 [b]John 13:36; 14:5 6 [a]John 14:1; 16:22 7 [1]Gr Paracletos, one called alongside to help; or Comforter, Advocate, Intercessor [a]John 14:16 [b]John 14:26 9 [a]John 15:22, 24 10 [a]Acts 3:14; 7:52; 17:31; 1 Pet 3:18 [b]John 16:5

15:18–19 world. Here refers to the human system that opposes God's purpose (see note on 1:9).
15:19 you are not of. The believer's essential being, his new life, comes specially from God, and therefore he is not the same as those who oppose God.
15:21 all these things they will do to you. Because Christians do not belong to the world, persecution from the world is inevitable. The basic reason is the world's ignorance and rejection of the Father (cf. 16:3). name's sake. See note on 2:23.
15:22 no excuse. Privilege and responsibility go together. The Jews had had the great privilege of having the Son of God among them—in addition to having received God's special revelation in the OT. Their rejection of Jesus left them totally guilty and without excuse. Had He not come to them they would still have been sinners, but they would not have been guilty of rejecting Him directly (see v. 24).
15:25 to fulfill the word that is written. In the end God's purpose is always accomplished, despite the belief of sinful men that they have successfully opposed it. Law. See notes on 10:34; 12:34.
15:26 Helper. See note on 14:16. I will send. See notes on 14:16,26. Spirit of truth. See note on 14:17. proceeds from the Father. Probably refers to the Spirit's being sent to do the Father's work on earth rather than to His eternal relationship with the Father. testify. See note on 1:7.
15:27 you . . . also. Emphatic. Believers bear their testimony to Christ in the power of the Spirit. But it is their testimony, and they are responsible for bearing it. from the beginning. The apostles bore the definitive testimony, for they were uniquely chosen and taught by Christ and were eyewitnesses of His glory (see Luke 24:48; Acts 10:39,41).
16:2 make you outcasts from the synagogue. See note on 9:22. service to God. Religious people have often persecuted others in the strong conviction that this was right (see Acts 26:9–11; Gal 1:13–14).
16:3 the Father. See note on 5:17. or Me. Again the Father and the Son are linked. Not to know Christ is to be ignorant of the Father.
16:5 none of you asks Me, 'Where are You going?' Peter had asked such a question (13:36), but quickly turned his attention to another subject. His concern had been with what would happen to himself and the others and not for where Jesus was going.
16:6 sorrow has filled your heart. Because of His announced departure.
16:7 if I do not go away. Jesus did not say why the Spirit would not come until He went away, but clearly taught that His saving work on the cross was necessary before the sending of the Spirit. Helper. See note on 14:16. I will send Him. See note on 14:26.
16:8 He . . . will convict the world. The work the Spirit does in the world. The NT normally speaks of His work in believers. convict. Or "expose the guilt of."
16:9 concerning sin. Apart from the Spirit's convicting work, people can never see themselves as sinners. because they do not believe. May mean that their sin is their failure to believe, or that their unbelief is a classic example of sin. Typically, John may have had both of these in mind.
16:10 concerning righteousness. The righteousness brought

11 [a]and concerning judgment, because the ruler of this world has been judged.

12 "I have many more things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now.

13 "But when He, [a]the Spirit of truth, comes, He will [b]guide you into all the truth; for He will not speak on His own initiative, but whatever He hears, He will speak; and He will disclose to you what is to come.

14 "He will [a]glorify Me, for He will take of Mine and will disclose it to you.

15 "[a]All things that the Father has are Mine; therefore I said that He takes of Mine and will disclose it to you.

Jesus' Death and Resurrection Foretold

16 "[a]A little while, and [b]you will no longer see Me; and again a little while, and [c]you will see Me."

17 Some of His disciples then said to one another, "What is this thing He is telling us, '[a]A little while, and you will not see Me; and again a little while, and you will see Me'; and, 'because [b]I go to the Father'?"

18 So they were saying, "What is this that He says, 'A little while'? We do not know what He is talking about."

19 [a]Jesus knew that they wished to question Him, and He said to them, "Are you deliberating together about this, that I said, 'A little while, and you will not see Me, and again a little while, and you will see Me'?

20 "Truly, truly, I say to you, that [a]you will weep and lament, but the world will rejoice; you will grieve, but [b]your grief will be turned into joy.

21 "[a]Whenever a woman is in labor she has [1]pain, because her hour has come; but when she gives birth to the child, she no longer remembers the anguish because of the joy that a [2]child has been born into the world.

22 "Therefore [a]you too have grief now; but [b]I will see you again, and your heart will rejoice, and no one will take your joy away from you.

Prayer Promises

23 "[a]In that day [b]you will not question Me about anything. Truly, truly, I say to you, [c]if you ask the Father for anything in My name, He will give it to you.

24 "[a]Until now you have asked for nothing in My name; ask and you will receive, so that your [b]joy may be made full.

25 "These things I have spoken to you in [1][a]figurative language; [b]an hour is coming when I will no longer speak to you in [1]figurative language, but will tell you plainly of the Father.

26 "[a]In that day [b]you will ask in My name, and I do not say to you that I will request of the Father on your behalf; about by Christ's sacrificial death (cf. Rom 1:17; 3:21–22). No one but the Holy Spirit can reveal to a person that a righteous status before God does not depend on good works but on Christ's death on the cross. because I go to the Father. The ascension, which as part of Christ's exaltation placed God's seal of approval on Christ's redemptive act.

16:11 concerning judgment. Jesus was speaking of the defeat of Satan, which was a form of judgment, not simply a victory. More than power is in question. God acts with justice. ruler of this world. See note on 12:31.

16:12 you cannot bear them now. This may mean "more than you can understand now," or "more than you can perform without the Spirit's help" (to live out Christ's teaching requires the enabling presence of the Spirit).

16:13 Spirit of truth. See note on 14:17. whatever He hears. We are not told whether He hears from the Father or the Son, but it obviously does not matter, for the verse stresses the close relationship among the three. what is to come. Probably means the whole Christian way or revelation (presented and preserved in the apostolic writings), still future at the time Jesus spoke.

16:14 glorify Me. See note on 1:14. The Spirit draws no attention to Himself but promotes the glory of Christ.

16:15 All things that the Father has are Mine. Cf. 17:10. The three Persons are closely related.

16:16 A little while . . . a little while. Few doubt that the first phrase refers to the interval before the crucifixion. But interpretations differ as to whether the second refers to the interval preceding the resurrection or the coming of the Spirit or the second coming of Christ. It seems that the language here best fits the resurrection.

16:17 go to the Father. See v. 10. Jesus had not linked this with "a little while," but the apostles saw them as connected.

16:20 weep. The same verb for loud wailing as in 11:33, which carries the idea of deep sorrow and its outward expression.

16:21 a woman is in labor. Giving birth usually causes both pain and joy (cf. Is 26:17–19; 66:7–14; Hos 13:13–14).

16:22 I will see you again. As in v. 16, probably a reference to Jesus' appearances after His resurrection. no one will take your joy away. The resurrection would change things permanently, bringing a joy that cannot be removed by the world's assaults.

16:23 you will not question Me about anything. Seems to mean asking for information (rather than asking in prayer), which would not be necessary after the resurrection. Jesus then moved on to the subject of prayer. However, Jesus may have been saying that His disciples previously had been praying to Christ, but after His death and resurrection they were to go directly to the Father and pray in Christ's name (see vv. 24,26–27 and notes). name. See notes on 2:23; 14:13.

16:24 Until now. Previously they had asked the Father or Christ, but they had not asked the Father in Christ's name. your joy. See note on 15:11.

16:25 I have spoken to you in figurative language. Throughout the discourse, not just in the immediately preceding words. an hour is coming. After the resurrection.

16:26 in My name. See notes on 2:23; 14:13. I do not say to you that I will request. Not a contradiction of Rom 8:34; Heb 7:25; 1 John 2:1. Those passages mean that Christ's presence in heaven as the crucified and risen Lord is itself an intercession. Here the teaching is that there will be no need for Him to make petitions in our behalf.

16:27 the Father Himself loves you. Christ is explaining why the disciples can come directly to the Father in prayer. It is because the disciples have loved and trusted in Jesus, and in love God will hear their requests in Jesus' name.

28 "[a]I came forth from the Father and have come into the world; I am leaving the world again and [b]going to the Father."
29 His disciples *said, "Lo, now You are speaking plainly and are not [1]using [a]a figure of speech.
30 "Now we know that You know all things, and have no need for anyone to question You;
by this we [a]believe that You [b]came from God." 31 Jesus answered them, "Do you now believe?
32 "Behold, [a]an hour is coming, and has already come, for [b]you to be scattered, each to [c]his own home, and to leave Me alone; and yet [d]I am not alone, because the Father is with Me.
33 "These things I have spoken to you, so that [a]in Me you may have peace. [b]In the world you have tribulation, but [c]take courage; [d]I have overcome the world."

The High Priestly Prayer

17 Jesus spoke these things; and [a]lifting up His eyes to heaven, He said, "Father, the hour has come; [b]glorify Your Son, that the Son may glorify You,
2 even as [a]You gave Him authority over all flesh, that [b]to [1]all whom You have given Him, [c]He may give eternal life.
3 "This is eternal life, that they may know
You, [a]the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom [b]You have sent.
4 "[a]I glorified You on the earth, [1b]having en Me to do.

16:29 not using a figure of speech. See v. 25 and note.
16:30 believe that You came from God. Two recurring themes of this Gospel: believing (see note on 1:7) and Jesus' coming from God (see notes on 4:34; 17:3,8).
16:32 you to be scattered. The disciples had faith, but not enough to stand firm in face of disaster. Jesus knew they would fail; however, His church is not built on people's strength but on God's ability to use people even after they have failed.
16:33 Notice the contrasts: between "in Me" and "in this world" (see note on 1:9) and between "peace" and "tribulation." I have overcome. Just before His death Jesus affirms His final victory.
17:1–26 Jesus' longest recorded prayer.
17:1 lifting up His eyes to heaven. The customary attitude in prayer (11:41; Ps 123:1; Mark 7:34), though sometimes the person prostrated himself (see Matt 26:39). Father. Used of God in John's Gospel 116 times. the hour. See note on 2:4. glorify . . . glorify. See notes on 1:14; 7:39; 13:31. The glory of the Father and that of the Son are closely connected, and the death by which Jesus would glorify God would lead to eternal life for believers (v. 2).
17:2 gave. The thought of giving is stressed in this chapter (vv. 4,6–9,11–12,14,22,24); see note on 3:27. all whom You have given Him. Again God's initiative in salvation is stressed. He may give eternal life. See note on 3:15.
17:3 sent. Again the mission of Jesus is mentioned.
17:4 I glorified You. Christ's mission was not self-centered. the work which You have given Me. Jesus emphasized the supreme place of the Father.
17:5 glorify Me . . . with the glory which I had with You. Jesus asks the Father to return Him to His previous position of glory, to exchange humiliation for glorification. This occurred at Christ's resurrection and exaltation to God's right hand. world. The universe (see notes on v. 14; 1:9). "World" occurs 18 times in this prayer.
17:6 I have manifested Your name. See notes on 2:23; 14:13; cf. 1:18. the men whom You gave Me. Again the divine initiative (cf. 6:44).
17:7 everything . . . is from You. Only as people see the Father at work in Jesus do they have a proper concept of God. The disciples had at last reached this understanding.
17:8 Three things about the disciples are mentioned: 1. They accepted the teaching (unlike the Pharisees and others who heard it but did not receive it). 2. They knew with certainty Jesus' divine origin. Acceptance of the revelation led them further into truth. 3. They believed (see note on 1:7; cf. 1:12; 20:31).
17:9 not . . . on behalf of the world. The only prayer Jesus could pray for the world was that it cease to be worldly (i.e., opposed to God), and this He did pray (vv. 21,23).
17:11 Holy Father. A form of address found only here in the NT (but cf. 1 Pet 1:15–16; Rev 4:8; 6:10). The name suggests both remoteness and nearness; God is both awe-inspiring and loving. that they may be one. The latter part of the prayer strongly emphasizes unity. Here the unity is already given, not something to be achieved. The meaning is "that they continually be one" rather than "that they become one." The unity is to be like that between the Father and the Son. It is much more than unity of organization, but the church's present divisions are the result of the failures of Christians.
17:12 I was keeping them. Christ's power is adequate for every need. the son of perdition. Lit. "the son of destruction" (see

The Disciples in the World

13 "But now [a]I come to You; and [b]these things I speak in the world so that they may have My [c]joy made full in themselves.

14 "I have given them Your word; and [a]the world has hated them, because [b]they are not of the world, even as I am not of the world.

15 "I do not ask You to take them out of the world, but to keep them [1]from [2a]the evil one.

16 "[a]They are not of the world, even as I am not of the world.

17 "[a]Sanctify them in the truth; Your word is truth.

18 "As [a]You sent Me into the world, [b]I also have sent them into the world.

19 "For their sakes I [a]sanctify Myself, that they themselves also may be [b]sanctified [c]in truth.

Their Future Glory

22 "The [a]glory which You have given Me I have given to them, that they may be one, just as We are one;

24 "Father, I desire that [1]they also, whom You have given Me, [b]be with Me where I am, so that they may see My [c]glory which You have given Me, for You loved Me before [d]the foundation of the world.

25 "O [a]righteous Father, [1]although [b]the world has not known You, yet I have known You; and these have known that [c]You sent Me;

26 and [a]I have made Your name known to them, and will make it known, so that [b]the love with which You loved Me may be in them, and I in them."

2 Thess 2:3), i.e., one belonging to the sphere of damnation and destined for destruction (but predestination is not here in view). Reference is to Judas Iscariot.

17:13 My joy. See note on 15:11.

17:14 the world. The world that is hostile to God and God's people (see notes on v. 5; 1:9). not of the world. They do not have the mind-set of the world, i.e., hostility to God, for they have been "born of the Spirit" (3:8) and are "children of God" (1:12).

17:15 not . . . take them out of the world. The world is where Jesus' disciples are to do their work; Jesus does not wish them to be taken from it until that work is done (see v. 18). the evil one. Especially active in the world (1 John 5:19), making God's protection indispensable.

17:17 Sanctify. Means "to set apart for sacred use" or "to make holy"; also in v. 19. the truth; Your word. Sanctification and revelation (as recorded in God's word) go together. For the connection of Christ's teaching with truth cf. 8:31–32.

17:18 As You sent Me . . . I also have sent them. Jesus' mission is one of the dominant themes of this Gospel and is given as the pattern for His followers. into the world. We may long for heaven, but it is on earth that our work is done.

17:19 I sanctify Myself. This statement appears to be unparalleled. In the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) the verb is used of consecrating priests (Ex 28:41) and sacrifices (Ex 28:38; Num 18:9). Jesus solemnly "sets himself apart to do God's will," which at this point meant His death. that they . . . also . . . may be sanctified. Jesus died on the cross not only to save us but also to consecrate us to God's service (see note on v. 17).

17:20 those also who believe in Me. Jesus had just spoken of the mission and the sanctification of His followers (vv. 18–19). He was confident that they would spread the gospel, and He prayed for those who would believe as a result. All future believers are included in this prayer.

17:21 that they may all be one. See note on v. 11. Father. See note on v. 1. that the world may believe. The unity of believers should have an effect on outsiders, to convince them of the mission of Christ. Jesus' prayer is a rebuke of the groundless and often bitter divisions among believers.

17:22 The glory. See note on v. 1. Believers are to be characterized by humility and service, just as Christ was, and it is on them that God's glory rests. they may be one, just as We are one. Again the Lord emphasized the importance of unity among His followers, and again the standard is the unity of the Father and the Son.

17:23 I in them and You in Me. There are two indwellings: that of the Son in believers, and that of the Father in the Son. It is because the latter is a reality that the former can take place. perfected in unity. Again the emphasis on unity has an evangelistic aim. This time it is connected not only with the mission of Jesus but also with God's love for people and for Christ.

17:24 Father. See note on v. 1. I desire. Means "I will that." Jesus said, "I will"—His last will and testament for His followers. Where He Himself was concerned, He prayed, "not what I will, but what You will" (Mark 14:36). be with Me. The Christian's greatest blessing. My glory. Perhaps used here to refer to Jesus' eternal splendor (see 1 John 3:2). Or Jesus' prayer may have been that in the life to come they might fully appreciate the glory of His lowly service (cf. Eph 2:7).

17:25 righteous Father. A form of address found only here in the NT (cf. "Holy Father," v. 11). these have known. They did not know God directly and personally, but they knew God had sent Christ. To recognize God in Christ's mission is a great advance over anything the world can know.

18:1 ravine of the Kidron. East of Jerusalem and dry except during the rainy season.

18:3 Judas. See note on 6:71. officers from the chief priests and the Pharisees. Equivalent to the temple guard sent by the San-

Roman [1]cohort and [c]officers from the chief priests and the Pharisees, *came there with lanterns and [d]torches and weapons.

4 So Jesus, [a]knowing all the things that were coming upon Him, went forth and *said to them, "[b]Whom do you seek?"

5 They answered Him, "Jesus the Nazarene." He *said to them, "I am He." And Judas also, who was betraying Him, was standing with them.

6 So when He said to them, "I am He," they drew back and fell to the ground.

7 Therefore He again asked them, "[a]Whom do you seek?" And they said, "Jesus the Nazarene."

8 Jesus answered, "I told you that I am He; so if you seek Me, let these go their way,"

9 to fulfill the word which He spoke, "[a]Of those whom You have given Me I lost not one."

10 Simon Peter then, [a]having a sword, drew it and struck the high priest's slave, and cut off his right ear; and the slave's name was Malchus.

11 So Jesus said to Peter, "Put the sword into the sheath; [a]the cup which the Father has given Me, shall I not drink it?"

Jesus before the Priests

12 [a]So [b]the Roman [1]cohort and the [2]commander and the [b]officers of the Jews, arrested Jesus and bound Him, 13 and led Him to [a]Annas first; for he was father-in-law of [b]Caiaphas, who was high priest that year.

14 Now Caiaphas was the one who had advised the Jews that [a]it was expedient for one man to die on behalf of the people.

15 [a]Simon Peter was following Jesus, and so was another disciple. Now that disciple was known to the high priest, and entered with Jesus into [b]the court of the high priest, 16 [a]but Peter was standing at the door outside. So the other disciple, who was known to the high priest, went out and spoke to the doorkeeper, and brought Peter in.

17 [a]Then the slave-girl who kept the door *said to Peter, "[b]You are not also one of this man's disciples, are you?" He *said, "I am not."

18 Now the slaves and the [a]officers were standing there, having made [b]a charcoal fire, for it was cold and they were [c]warming themselves; and Peter was also with them, standing and warming himself.

19 [a]The high priest then questioned Jesus about His disciples, and about His teaching.

20 Jesus answered him, "I [a]have spoken openly to the world; I always [b]taught in [1]synagogues and [c]in the temple, where all the Jews come together; and I spoke nothing in secret.

hedrin. lanterns. Terra-cotta holders into which household lamps could be inserted. torches. Resinous pieces of wood fastened together.

18:4 knowing all the things that were coming upon Him. Jesus was not taken by surprise.

18:5 I am. See 6:35; 8:58 and notes. with them. John does not let us forget where Judas belonged.

18:6 fell to the ground. They came to arrest a meek peasant and instead were met in the dim light by a majestic person.

18:8 I am. The threefold repetition (vv. 5,6,8) emphasizes the solemn words. let these go their way. Jesus cared for the disciples even as He was going to His death. Twice He had made the arresting party say plainly that He was the one they wanted (vv. 4–5,7).

18:9 to fulfill the word. Words normally used in quoting Scripture, and Jesus' words are on the same level. See 6:39; 17:12.

18:10 Simon Peter. It is to John that we owe the information that the man with the sword (the Greek for this word refers to a short sword) was Peter, and that the man he wounded was named Malchus.

18:11 the cup. Often points to suffering (Ps 75:8; Ezek 23:31–34) and the wrath of God (Is 51:17,22; Jer 25:15; Rev 14:10; 16:19). the Father has given Me. The Synoptic Gospels also speak of the cup at the time of Jesus' prayer at Gethsemane (Matt 26:39; Mark 14:36; Luke 22:42), and John says it came from the Father. God was in control.

18:12 bound Him. The reason for the bonds is not clear. Perhaps their use was standard procedure, much like the modern use of handcuffs.

18:13 Annas. Had been deposed from the high priesthood by the Romans in A.D. 15 but was probably still regarded by many as the true high priest. In Jewish law a man could not be sentenced on the day his trial was held. The two examinations—this one (mentioned only by John) and that before Caiaphas—may have been conducted to give some form of legitimacy to what was done. high priest that year. See note on 11:49.

18:14 Caiaphas . . . had advised the Jews. A reference to 11:49–50. For John it was this unconscious prophecy that mattered most about Caiaphas. John may also have been hinting that a fair trial could not be expected from a man who had already said that putting Jesus to death was expedient.

18:15 another disciple. Perhaps John himself. known to the high priest. Refers to more than casual acquaintance; he had entrée into the high priest's house and could bring Peter in.

18:17 slave-girl who kept the door. All four Gospels tell us that Peter's first challenge came from a slave girl, the most unimportant person imaginable. The form of the girl's question implied a negative answer, and Peter capitalized on her expectation by saying, "I am not." The other Gospels seem to indicate that the other denials followed immediately, but it is likely that there were intervals during which other things happened (see Luke 22:58–59).

18:18 Peter was also with them, standing. On a cold night he would have been conspicuous if he had stayed away from the fire.

18:19 questioned. Not legal, since witnesses were supposed to be brought in first to establish guilt. The accused was not required to prove his innocence. Perhaps Annas regarded this as a preliminary inquiry, not a trial.

18:20 I have spoken openly. It should not have been difficult to find witnesses (v. 21). nothing in secret. Not a denial that He taught the disciples privately, but a denial that He had secretly taught them subversive teaching different from His public message.

21 "Why do you question Me? Question those who have heard what I spoke to them; they know what I said."

22 When He had said this, one of the [a]officers standing nearby [b]struck Jesus, saying, "Is that the way You answer the high priest?"

23 [a]Jesus answered him, "If I have spoken wrongly, testify of the wrong; but if rightly, why do you strike Me?"

24 [a]So Annas sent Him bound to [a]Caiaphas the high priest.

Peter's Denial of Jesus

25 [a]Now [b]Simon Peter was standing and warming himself. So they said to him, "[c]You are not also one of His disciples, are you?" He denied it, and said, "I am not."

26 One of the slaves of the high priest, being a relative of the one [a]whose ear Peter cut off, *said, "Did I not see you in [b]the garden with Him?"

27 Peter then denied it again, and immediately [a]a rooster crowed.

Jesus before Pilate

28 [a]Then they *led Jesus from [b]Caiaphas into [c]the [1]Praetorium, and it was early; and they themselves did not enter into [c]the [1]Praetorium so that [d]they would not be defiled, but might eat the Passover.

29 [a]Therefore Pilate went out to them and *said, "What accusation do you bring against this Man?"

30 They answered and said to him, "If this Man were not an evildoer, we would not have delivered Him to you."

31 So Pilate said to them, "Take Him yourselves, and judge Him according to your law." The Jews said to him, "We are not permitted to put anyone to death,"

32 to fulfill [a]the word of Jesus which He spoke, signifying by what kind of death He was about to die.

33 Therefore Pilate [a]entered again into the Praetorium, and summoned Jesus and said to Him, "[b]Are You the King of the Jews?"

34 Jesus answered, "Are you saying this [1]on your own initiative, or did others tell you about Me?"

35 Pilate answered, "I am not a Jew, am I? Your own nation and the chief priests delivered You to me; what have You done?"

36 Jesus answered, "[a]My kingdom [1]is not of this world. If My kingdom were of this world, then My servants would be fighting so that I would not be handed over to the Jews; but as it is, My kingdom is not [2]of this realm."

37 Therefore Pilate said to Him, "So You are a king?" Jesus answered, "[a]You say correctly that I am a king. For this I have been 18:22 struck. Another illegality. The word apparently means a blow with the open hand—a slap.

18:23 testify. A legal term, indicating an invitation to act in proper legal form. John stresses the importance of testimony throughout his Gospel (see note on 1:7).
18:25 they said to him. Lit. "they asked him." Some find a difficulty in that Matt 26:71 says another girl asked this question, whereas Mark 14:69 says it was the same girl, and Luke 22:58 that it was a man. But with a group of servants talking around a fire, several would doubtless take up and repeat such a question, which could be the meaning of John's "they." As on the first occasion (v. 17) the question anticipated the answer "No." The servants probably did not really expect to find a follower of Jesus in the high priest's courtyard, but the question seemed worth asking.
18:26 a relative. Another piece of information we owe to John. A relative would have a deeper interest in the swordsman than other people had. But the light in the garden would have been dim, as in the courtyard (a charcoal fire glows, but does not have flames). Did I not see you . . . ? Expected the answer "Yes."
18:27 a rooster crowed. The fulfillment of the prophecy in 13:38.
18:28 the Praetorium. The palace of the Roman governor, Pilate. John says little about the Jewish phase of Jesus' trial but much about the Roman trial (see note on Mark 14:53–15:15). It is possible that John was in the Praetorium, the governor's official residence, for this trial. early. The chief priests evidently held a second session of the Sanhedrin after daybreak to give some appearance of legality to what they did (Mark 15:1). This occasion would have been immediately after that, perhaps between 6:00 A.M. and 7:00 A.M. defiled. A result of entering a Gentile residence. eat the Passover. Does not mean that the time of the Passover meal had not yet come, for this would contradict the Synoptic Gospels, which have Jesus eating the Passover meal the night before. The term "Passover" was used to refer to the whole festival of Passover and Unleavened Bread, which lasted seven days and included a number of meals.
18:29 Pilate. The Roman governor (see note on Mark 15:1). He showed himself tolerant of Jewish ways. What accusation . . . ? A normal question at the beginning of a trial, but it was difficult to answer, because the Jews had no charge that would stand up in a Roman court of law.
18:31 Take Him yourselves. In other words, no Roman charge, no Roman trial. not permitted to put anyone to death. They were looking for an execution, not a fair trial. The restriction was important, for otherwise Rome's supporters could be quietly removed by local legal executions. Sometimes the Romans seem to have condoned local executions (e.g., of Stephen, Acts 7), but normally they retained the right to inflict the death penalty.
18:32 by what kind of death He was about to die. Cf. 12:32–33 and "must" in 12:34. Jewish execution was by stoning, but Jesus' death was to be by crucifixion, whereby He would bear the curse (Deut 21:22–23). The Romans, not the Jews, had to put Jesus to death. God was overruling in the whole process.
18:33 Are You the King of the Jews? Pilate's first words to Jesus, identical in all four Gospels. One glance was enough to show him that a dangerous rebel existed only in the imaginations of Jesus' enemies.
18:34 Are you saying this on your own initiative . . . ? If so, Pilate's question (v. 33) had meant, "Are you a rebel?" If the question had originated with the Jews, it meant, "Are you the Messianic King?"
18:36 My kingdom. Jesus agrees that He has a kingdom, but asserts that it is not the kind of kingdom that has soldiers to fight for it. It was not built, nor is it maintained, by military might.

born, and for this I have come into the world, [b]to testify to the truth. [c]Everyone who is of the truth hears My voice."

38 Pilate *said to Him, "What is truth?"

And when he had said this, he [a]went out again to the Jews and *said to them, "[b]I find no guilt in Him.

39 "[a]But you have a custom that I release someone [1]for you at the Passover; do you wish then that I release [1]for you the King of the Jews?"

40 So they cried out again, saying, "[a]Not this Man, but Barabbas." Now Barabbas was a robber.

The Crown of Thorns

19 Pilate then took Jesus and [1][a]scourged Him.

2 [a]And the soldiers twisted together a crown of thorns and put it on His head, and put a purple robe on Him;

3 and they began to come up to Him and say, "[a]Hail, King of the Jews!" and to [b]give Him slaps in the face.

4 Pilate [a]came out again and *said to them, "Behold, I am bringing Him out to you so that you may know that [b]I find no guilt in Him."

5 Jesus then came out, [a]wearing the crown of thorns and the purple robe. Pilate *said to them, "Behold, the Man!"

6 So when the chief priests and the [a]officers saw Him, they cried out saying, "Crucify, crucify!" Pilate *said to them, "Take Him yourselves and crucify Him, for [b]I find no guilt in Him."

7 The Jews answered him, "[a]We have a law, and by that law He ought to die because He [b]made Himself out to be the Son of God."

8 Therefore when Pilate heard this statement, he was even more afraid;

9 and he [a]entered into the [1]Praetorium again and *said to Jesus, "Where are You from?" But [b]Jesus gave him no answer.

10 So Pilate *said to Him, "You do not speak to me? Do You not know that I have authority to release You, and I have authority to crucify You?"

11 Jesus answered, "[a]You would have no authority [1]over Me, unless it had been given you from above; for this reason [b]he who delivered Me to you has the greater sin."

12 As a result of this Pilate [1]made efforts to release Him, but the Jews cried out saying, "[a]If you release this Man, you are no friend of Caesar; everyone who makes himself out to be a king [2]opposes Caesar."

13 Therefore when Pilate heard these words, he brought Jesus out, and [a]sat down on the judgment seat at a place called [1]The Pavement, but [b]in [2]Hebrew, Gabbatha.

14 Now it was [a]the day of preparation for the Passover; it was about the [1][b]sixth hour. And he *said to the Jews, "Behold, [c]your King!"

15 So they cried out, "[a]Away with Him,

18:37 to testify to the truth. Two of this Gospel's important ideas (see 1:7 and note; 1:14 and note; 14:6).

18:38 What is truth? Pilate may have been jesting, and meant, "What does truth matter?" Or he may have been serious, and meant, "It is not easy to find truth. What is it?" Either way, it was clear to him that Jesus was no rebel. find no guilt in Him. Teaching the truth was not a criminal offense.

18:39 you have a custom. Prisoners are known to have been released on special occasions in other places. the King of the Jews. John keeps his emphasis on the note of royalty. Pilate may have hoped that the use of the title would influence the people toward the way he wanted them to decide.

18:40 Barabbas. A rebel and a murderer (Luke 23:19). The name is Aramaic and means "son of Abba," i.e., "son of the father"; in place of this man, the "Son of the Father" died.

19:1 Pilate hoped a flogging would satisfy the Jews and enable him to release Jesus (see note on Mark 15:15).

19:2 thorns. A general term relating to any thorny plant. purple. A color used by royalty.

19:6 Take Him . . . crucify Him. The petulant utterance of an exasperated man, for the Jews could not carry out this form of execution. I find no guilt. For the third time Pilate proclaimed Jesus' innocence (see 18:38; 19:4). Luke also records this threefold proclamation (Luke 23:4,14,22).

19:7 He ought to die. Apparently referring to the penalty for blasphemy (Lev 24:16).

19:8 even more afraid. Pilate was evidently superstitious, and this charge frightened him.

19:9 Jesus gave him no answer. The reason is not clear since Jesus had answered other questions readily. Perhaps Pilate would not have understood the answer or would not have believed it.

19:10 I have authority. Pilate was incredulous and very conscious of his authority. His second question indicates his personal responsibility for crucifying Jesus.

19:11 Jesus' last words to Pilate. from above. All earthly authority comes ultimately from God. the greater sin. That of Caiaphas (not Judas, who was only a means). But "greater" implies that there was a lesser sin, so Pilate's sin was also real.

19:12 no friend of Caesar. Some people had official status as "Friends of Caesar," but the term seems to be used here in the general sense. There was an implied threat that if he released Jesus, Pilate would be accused before Caesar. His record was such that he could not face such a prospect without concern.

19:13 The Pavement. Not a translation of Gabbatha, which seems to mean "the hill of the house," but a different name for the same place.

19:14 day of preparation. Normally Friday was the day people prepared for the Sabbath. Here the meaning is Friday of Passover week. about the sixth hour. About noon. Mark 15:25 says that Jesus was crucified at "the third hour." It is possible that Mark's Gospel contains a copyist's error, for the Greek numerals for three and six could be confused. Or it may be that John was using Roman time, in which case the appearance before Pilate would have been at 6:00 A.M. and the crucifixion at 9:00 A.M. (the third hour according to Jewish reckoning; see Mark 15:33). For other time references see Matt 27:45–46; Mark 15:33–34; Luke 23:44. the Jews. See note on 1:19. Behold, your King! John does not let us forget the sovereignty of Jesus. Pilate did not mean the expression seriously, but John did.

away with Him, crucify Him!" Pilate *said to them, "Shall I crucify your King?" The chief priests answered, "We have no king but Caesar."

The Crucifixion

16 So he then [a]handed Him over to them to be crucified.

17 [a]They took Jesus, therefore, and He went out, [1][b]bearing His own cross, to the place called [c]the Place of a Skull, which is called [d]in [2]Hebrew, Golgotha.

18 There they crucified Him, and with Him [a]two other men, one on either side, and Jesus in between.

19 Pilate also wrote an inscription and put it on the cross. It was written, "[a]JESUS THE NAZARENE, [b]THE KING OF THE JEWS."

20 Therefore many of the Jews read this inscription, for the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city; and it was written [a]in [1]Hebrew, Latin and in Greek.

21 So the chief priests of the Jews were saying to Pilate, "Do not write, '[a]The King of the Jews'; but that He said, 'I am [a]King of the Jews.' "

22 Pilate answered, "[a]What I have written I have written."

23 Then [a]the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took His outer garments and made [b]four parts, a part to every soldier and also the [1]tunic; now the tunic was seamless, woven [2]in one piece.

24 So they said to one another, "[a]Let us not tear it, but cast lots for it, to decide whose it shall be"; [b]this was to fulfill the Scripture: "THEY [c]DIVIDED MY OUTER GARMENTS AMONG THEM, AND FOR MY CLOTHING THEY CAST [1]LOTS."

25 Therefore the soldiers did these things.

[a]But standing by the cross of Jesus were [b]His mother, and His mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and [c]Mary Magdalene.

26 When Jesus then saw His mother, and [a]the disciple whom He loved standing nearby, He *said to His mother, "[b]Woman, behold, your son!"

27 Then He *said to the disciple, "Behold, your mother!" From that hour the disciple took her into [a]his own household.

28 After this, Jesus, [a]knowing that all things had already been accomplished, [b]to fulfill the Scripture, *said, "[c]I am thirsty."

29 A jar full of sour wine was standing there; so [a]they put a sponge full of the sour wine upon a branch of hyssop and brought it up to His mouth.

30 Therefore when Jesus had received the sour wine, He said, "[a]It is finished!" And He bowed His head and [b]gave up His spirit.

Care of the Body of Jesus

31 Then the Jews, because it was [a]the day of preparation, so that [b]the bodies would not remain on the cross on the Sabbath ([1]for that Sabbath was a [c]high day), asked Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken away.

32 So the soldiers came, and broke the 19:15 We have no king but Caesar. More irony. They rejected any suggestion that they were rebels against Rome, but expressed the truth of their spiritual condition.

19:17 bearing His own cross. A cross might be shaped like a T, an X, a Y, or an I, as well as like the traditional form. A condemned man would normally carry a beam of it to the place of execution. Somewhere along the way Simon of Cyrene took Jesus' cross (Mark 15:21), probably because Jesus was weakened by the flogging. Golgotha. Aramaic for "the skull." The name of the site is given in both Greek and Aramaic ("Calvary" is from the Latin with the same meaning). See note on Mark 15:22.
19:18 they crucified Him. See note on Mark 15:24. As with the scourging, John describes this horror with one Greek word. None of the Gospel writers dwells on the physical sufferings of Jesus. one on either side. Perhaps meant as a final insult, but it brings out the important truth that in His death Jesus was identified with sinners.
19:19 an inscription. A placard stating the crime for which a man was executed was often fastened to his cross. THE KING OF THE JEWS. Again the royalty theme.
19:20 Hebrew. One of the languages of the Jewish people at that time (along with Hebrew). Latin. The official language of Rome. Greek. The common language of communication throughout the empire. The threefold inscription may account for the slight differences in wording in the four Gospels.
19:22 Pilate must have a sufficient reason for the execution, and he was not above mocking the Jews, but for John his insistence may also have served to underscore that Jesus' kingship is final and unalterable.
19:23 tunic. A type of shirt, reaching from the neck to the knees or ankles. seamless. Therefore too valuable to be cut up.
19:24 See introduction to Ps 22 and notes on Ps 22:17,20–21.
19:25 Clopas. Mentioned only here in the NT. Mary Magdalene. Appears in the crucifixion and resurrection story in all four Gospels, but apart from that we read of her only in Luke 8:2–3.
19:26 disciple whom He loved. John (see note on 13:23).
19:27 took her into his own household. And so took responsibility for her. It may be that Jesus' brothers still did not believe in Him (see 7:5).
19:28 I am thirsty. May refer to Ps 69:21 (cf. Ps 22:15).
19:29 sour wine. Equivalent to cheap wine, the drink of ordinary people. a sponge. A useful way of giving drink to one on a cross, and may indicate forethought and compassion on someone's part. hyssop. The name given to a number of plants. See also note on Ex 12:22.
19:30 It is finished! Apparently the loud cry of Matt 27:50; Mark 15:37. Jesus died as a victor and had completed what He came to do. gave up His spirit. An unusual way of describing death, perhaps suggesting an act of will.
19:31 the Jews. See note on 1:19. preparation. See note on v. 14. a high day. The Sabbath that fell at Passover time. The Passover meal had been eaten on Thursday evening, the day of Preparation was Friday, and the Sabbath came on Saturday. legs might be broken. To hasten death, because the victim then could not put any weight on his legs and breathing would be difficult.

legs of the first man and of the other who was [a]crucified with Him;

33 but coming to Jesus, when they saw that He was already dead, they did not break His legs.

34 But one of the soldiers pierced His side with a spear, and immediately [a]blood and water came out.

35 And he who has seen has [a]testified, and his testimony is true; and he knows that he is telling the truth, so that you also may believe.

36 For these things came to pass [a]to fulfill the Scripture, "[b]NOT A BONE OF HIM SHALL BE [1]BROKEN."

37 And again another Scripture says, "[a]THEY SHALL LOOK ON HIM WHOM THEY PIERCED."

38 [a]After these things Joseph of Arimathea, being a disciple of Jesus, but a [b]secret one for [c]fear of the Jews, asked Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus; and Pilate granted permission. So he came and took away His body.

39 [a]Nicodemus, who had first come to Him by night, also came, [b]bringing a [1]mixture of [c]myrrh and aloes, about a [d]hundred [2]pounds weight.

40 So they took the body of Jesus and [a]bound it in [b]linen wrappings with the spices, as is the burial custom of the Jews.

41 Now in the place where He was crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a [a]new tomb [b]in which no one had yet been laid.

42 Therefore because of the Jewish day of [a]preparation, since the tomb was [b]nearby, they laid Jesus there.

20 [a]Now on the first day of the week [b]Mary Magdalene *came early to the tomb, while it *was still dark, and *saw [c]the stone already taken away from the tomb.

2 So she *ran and *came to Simon Peter and to the other [a]disciple whom Jesus loved, and *said to them, "[b]They have taken away the Lord out of the tomb, and we do not know where they have laid Him."

3 [a]So Peter and the other disciple went forth, and they were going to the tomb.

4 The two were running together; and the other disciple ran ahead faster than Peter and came to the tomb first;

5 and [a]stooping and looking in, he *saw the [b]linen wrappings lying there; but he did not go in.

10 So the disciples went away again [a]to their own homes.

19:34 pierced His side. Probably to make doubly sure that Jesus was dead, but perhaps simply an act of brutality (see v. 37; Is 53:5; Zech 12:10; cf. Ps 22:16). blood and water. The result of the spear piercing the pericardium (the sac that surrounds the heart) and the heart itself.

19:35 he who has seen. Either John himself or someone he regarded as reliable. Obviously he considered the incident important, and comments that it was well attested. knows . . . believe. See note on 1:7.

19:36–37 Scripture. Again John observes God's overruling in the fulfillment of Scripture. It was extraordinary that Jesus was the only one of the three whose legs were not broken and that He suffered an unusual spear thrust that did not break a bone.

19:38 Joseph. A rich disciple (Matt 27:57), and a member of the Sanhedrin who had not agreed to Jesus' condemnation (Luke 23:51). Arimathea. See note on Matt 27:57. secret one. It would have been hard for a member of the Sanhedrin to support Jesus' cause openly. Jesus' closest followers all ran away (Mark 14:50), and it was left to Joseph and Nicodemus to provide for His burial. Pilate granted permission. Otherwise people could take away their crucified friends before they died and revive them.

19:39 Nicodemus. John alone tells us that he joined Joseph in the burial. a hundred pounds. A very large amount, such as was used in royal burials (cf. 2 Chr 16:14).

19:40 linen wrappings. Thin strips like bandages. There was also a shroud, a large sheet (Matt 27:59; Mark 15:46; Luke 23:53).

19:41 a new tomb. Joseph's own tomb (Matt 27:60).

19:42 preparation. See note on v. 14. nearby. Haste was necessary, since it was near sunset, when the Sabbath would start and no work could be done.

20:1 Mary Magdalene. See note on 19:25; cf. Mark 16:9. while it was still dark. Mark says it was "when the sun had risen" (Mark 16:2). Perhaps the women came in groups, with Mary Magdalene coming very early. Or John may refer to the time of leaving home, Mark to that of arrival at the tomb.

20:2 to Simon Peter. Despite his denials, Peter was still the leading figure among the disciples. disciple whom Jesus loved. John (see note on 13:23). we. Indicates that there were others with Mary (see Matt 28:1; Mark 16:1; Luke 24:10), though John does not identify them. have laid Him. Mary had no thought of resurrection.

20:7 rolled up. An orderly arrangement, not in disarray, as would have resulted from a grave robbery.

20:8 he saw and believed. Cf. v. 29. John did not say what he believed, but it must have been that Jesus was resurrected.

20:9 Scripture. First they came to know of the resurrection through what they saw in the tomb; only later did they see it in Scripture. It is obvious they did not make up a story of resurrection to fit a preconceived understanding of Scriptural prophecy. must rise. It was in Scripture and thus the will of God.

20:11 Mary. Perhaps Jesus appeared first to Mary because she needed Him most at that time. weeping. As in 11:33, it means "wailing," a loud expression of grief.

12 and she *saw [a]two angels in white sitting, one at the head and one at the feet, where the body of Jesus had been lying.

13 And they *said to her, "[a]Woman, why are you weeping?" She *said to them, "Because [b]they have taken away my Lord, and I do not know where they have laid Him."

14 When she had said this, she turned around and *[a]saw Jesus standing there, and [b]did not know that it was Jesus.

15 Jesus *said to her, "[a]Woman, why are you weeping? Whom are you seeking?" Supposing Him to be the gardener, she *said to Him, "Sir, if you have carried Him away, tell me where you have laid Him, and I will take Him away."

16 Jesus *said to her, "Mary!" She turned and *said to Him [a]in [1]Hebrew, "[b]Rabboni!" (which means, Teacher).

17 Jesus *said to her, "Stop clinging to Me, for I have not yet ascended to the Father; but go to [a]My brethren and say to them, 'I [b]ascend to My Father and your Father, and My God and your God.' "

18 [a]Mary Magdalene *came, [b]announcing to the disciples, "I have seen the Lord," and that He had said these things to her.

Jesus among His Disciples

19 So when it was evening on that day, the first day of the week, and when the doors were shut where the disciples were, for [a]fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in their midst and *said to them, "[1b]Peace be with you."

29 [a]1 Pet 1:8

20 And when He had said this, [a]He showed them both His hands and His side. The disciples then [b]rejoiced when they saw the Lord.

21 So Jesus said to them again, "[a]Peace be with you; [b]as the Father has sent Me, I also send you."

22 And when He had said this, He breathed on them and *said to them, "Receive the Holy Spirit.

23 "[a]If you forgive the sins of any, their sins [1]have been forgiven them if you retain the sins of any, they have been retained."

24 But [a]Thomas, one of [b]the twelve, called [1a]Didymus, was not with them when Jesus came.

25 So the other disciples were saying to him, "We have seen the Lord!" But he said to them, "Unless I see in [a]His hands the imprint of the nails, and put my finger into the place of the nails, and put my hand into His side, [b]I will not believe."

26 [1]After eight days His disciples were again inside, and Thomas with them. Jesus *came, the doors having been [2]shut, and stood in their midst and said, "[a]Peace be with you."

27 Then He *said to Thomas, "[a]Reach here with your finger, and see My hands; and reach here your hand and put it into My side; and do not be unbelieving, but believing."

28 Thomas answered and said to Him, "My Lord and my God!"

29 Jesus *said to him, "Because you have seen Me, have you believed? [a]Blessed are they who did not see, and yet believed."

20:12 two angels. Matthew has one angel (Matt 28:2), Mark a young man (Mark 16:5) and Luke two men who were angels (Luke 24:4,23). See note on Luke 24:4.

20:14 did not know that it was Jesus. A number of times the risen Jesus was not recognized (21:4; Matt 28:17; Luke 24:16,37). He may have looked different, or He may intentionally have prevented recognition.

20:16 Mary! Cf. 10:3–4. Rabboni! A strengthened form of Rabbi, and in the NT found elsewhere only in Mark 10:51 (in the Greek). Although the word means "(my) teacher," there are few if any examples of its use in ancient Judaism as a form of address other than in calling on God in prayer. However, John's explanation casts doubt on any thought that Mary intended to address Jesus as God here.

20:17 for I have not yet ascended. The meaning appears to be that the ascension was still some time off. Mary would have opportunity to see Jesus again, so she need not cling to Him. Alternatively, Jesus may be reminding Mary that after His crucifixion she cannot have Him with her except through the Holy Spirit (see 16:5–16). My brethren. Probably the disciples (cf. v. 18; Matt 12:50). The members of His family did not believe in Him (7:5), though they became disciples not long after this (Acts 1:14). My Father and your Father. God is Father both of Christ and of believers, but in different senses (see 1:12,14,18,34).

20:19 disciples. Probably includes others besides the apostles, "the twelve" (v. 24). the Jews. See note on 1:19. Peace be with you. The normal Hebrew greeting (cf. Dan 10:19). Because of their behavior the previous Friday, they may have expected rebuke and censure; but Jesus calmed their fears (see note on 14:27).

20:20 His hands and His side. Where the wounds were (John does not refer to the wounds in the feet). According to Luke 24:37 they thought they were seeing a ghost. Jesus was clearly identifying Himself.

20:21 Peace be with you. See note on v. 19. I also send you. See note on 17:18.

20:22 Receive the Holy Spirit. Thus anticipating what happened 50 days later on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2). The disciples needed God's help to carry out the commission they had just been given.

20:23 Lit. "Those whose sins you forgive have already been forgiven; those whose sins you do not forgive have not been forgiven." God does not forgive people's sins because we do so, nor does He withhold forgiveness because we do. Rather, those who proclaim the gospel are in effect forgiving or not forgiving sins, depending on whether the hearers accept or reject Jesus Christ.

20:24 Thomas. See note on 11:16.

20:25 Unless I see . . . and put . . . I will not believe. Hardheaded skepticism can scarcely go further than this.

20:26 Peace. See vv. 19,21 and note on 14:27.

20:28 My Lord and my God! To acknowledge Jesus as one's Lord and God is the high point of faith (see note on 1:1).

20:29 they who did not see, and yet believed. Would have been very few at this time. All whom John mentions had seen in some sense. The words, of course, apply to future believers as well.

Why This Gospel Was Written

30 [a]Therefore many other [1][b]signs Jesus also performed in the presence of the disciples, which are not written in this book;

31 but these have been written [a]so that you may believe that Jesus is [1]the Christ, [b]the Son of God; and that [c]believing you may have life in His name.

Jesus Appears at the Sea of Galilee

21 After these things Jesus [1][a]manifested Himself [b]again to the disciples at the [c]Sea of Tiberias, and He manifested Himself in this way.

2 Simon Peter, and [a]Thomas called [1]Didymus, and [b]Nathanael of [c]Cana in Galilee, and [d]the sons of Zebedee, and two others of His disciples were together.

3 Simon Peter *said to them, "I am going fishing." They *said to him, "We will also come with you." They went out and got into the boat; and [a]that night they caught nothing.

4 But when the day was now breaking, Jesus stood on the beach; yet the disciples did not [a]know that it was Jesus.

5 So Jesus *said to them, "Children, [a]you do not have [1]any fish, do you?" They answered Him, "No."

6 And He said to them, "[a]Cast the net on the right-hand side of the boat and you will find a catch." So they cast, and then they were not able to haul it in because of the great number of fish.

7 [a]Therefore that disciple whom Jesus loved *said to Peter, "It is the Lord." So when Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he put his outer garment on (for he was stripped for work), and threw himself into the sea.

8 But the other disciples came in the little boat, for they were not far from the land, but about [1]one hundred yards away, dragging the net full of fish.

9 So when they got out on the land, they *saw a charcoal [a]fire already laid and [b]fish placed on it, and bread.

10 Jesus *said to them, "Bring some of the [a]fish which you have now caught."

11 Simon Peter went up and drew the net to land, full of large fish, a hundred and fifty-three; and although there were so many, the net was not torn.

Jesus Provides

12 Jesus *said to them, "Come and have [a]breakfast." None of the disciples ventured to question Him, "Who are You?" knowing that it was the Lord.

13 Jesus *came and *took [a]the bread and *gave it to them, and the [b]fish likewise.

14 This is now the [a]third time that Jesus [1]was manifested to the disciples, after He was raised from the dead.

The Love Motivation

15 So when they had [a]finished breakfast, Jesus *said to Simon Peter, "Simon, son of John, do you [1][b]love Me more than these?" He *said to Him, "Yes, Lord; You know that I [2]love You." He *said to him, "Tend [c]My lambs."

16 He *said to him again a second time,

20:30 signs. See note on 2:11. John had selected from among many. in the presence of the disciples. Those who could testify to what He had done. John again stresses testimony (see note on 1:7).

20:31 that you may believe. Expresses John's evangelistic purpose. believe. See note on 1:7. Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God. Faith has content. the Christ. See note on 1:25. This whole Gospel is written to show the truth of Jesus' Messiahship and to present Him as the Son of God, so that the readers may believe in Him. that believing you may have life. Another expression of purpose—to bring about faith that leads to life (see notes on 1:4; 3:15). name. Represents all that He is and stands for (see note on 2:23).

21:1 Sea of Tiberias. See note on 6:1.

21:2 Simon Peter. See note on Mark 1:16. Thomas. See note on 11:16. sons of Zebedee. Not named in this Gospel (see Matt 4:21).

21:3 that night. Nighttime was favored by fishermen in ancient times (as Aristotle, e.g., informs us).

21:4 did not know that it was Jesus. Cf. Mary Magdalene (see note on 20:14).

21:7 disciple whom Jesus loved. See note on 13:23. his outer garment. It is curious that he put on this garment (the word appears only here in the NT) preparatory to jumping into the water. But Jews regarded a greeting as a religious act that could be done only when one was clothed. Peter may have been preparing himself to greet the Lord.

21:11 Peter . . . drew the net to land. Appears to mean that Peter headed up the effort, for the whole group had not been able previously to haul the net into the boat (v. 6). the net was not torn. In contrast to the nets mentioned in Luke 5:6.

21:14 the third time. The third appearance to a group of disciples (20:19–23,24–29), though there had been other appearances to individuals.

21:15–17 love. The Greek word for "love" in Jesus' first two questions is different from the word for "love" in His third question, which is the same word Peter uses in all three answers. It is uncertain whether a distinction in meaning is intended since John often made slight word variations, apparently for stylistic reasons. Also, no distinction is made between these two words elsewhere in this Gospel. In this passage, however, they occur together, and the variations seem too deliberate to be explained on stylistic grounds. The "love" in Jesus' first two questions (agapao) refers to a love in which the entire personality, including the will, is involved. The "love" in Jesus' third question and in Peter's answers (phileo) refers to spontaneous natural affection or fondness in which emotion plays a more prominent role than will. Whatever interpretation is adopted, the important thing is that in so serious a matter as the reinstatement of Peter, the great question was whether he loved Jesus.

21:15 more than these. May mean "more than you love these men" or "more than these men love Me" or "more than you love these things" (i.e., the fishing gear). Perhaps the second is best, for Peter had claimed a devotion above that of the others (cf. 13:37; Matt 26:33; Mark 14:29). Peter did not take up the comparison, and Jesus did not explain it. Tend My lambs. Probably means much the same as "Shepherd My sheep" (v. 16) and "Tend My sheep" (v. 17).

"Simon, son of John, do you [1]love Me?" He *said to Him, "Yes, Lord; You know that I [2]love You." He *said to him, "[a]Shepherd My sheep."

17 He *said to him the third time, "Simon, son of John, do you [1]love Me?" Peter was grieved because He said to him [a]the third time, "Do you [1]love Me?" And he said to Him, "Lord, [b]You know all things; You know that I [1]love You." Jesus *said to him, "[c]Tend My sheep.

Our Times Are in His Hand

18 "Truly, truly, I say to you, when you were younger, you used to gird yourself and walk wherever you wished; but when you grow old, you will stretch out your hands and someone else will gird you, and bring you where you do not wish to go."

19 Now this He said, [a]signifying by [b]what kind of death he would glorify God. And when He had spoken this, He *said to him, "[c]Follow Me!"

16 [1]Gr agapao [2]Gr phileo [a]Matt 2:6; Acts 20:28; 1 Pet 5:2; Rev 7:17
17 [1]Gr phileo [a]John 13:38 [b]John 16:30 [c]John 21:15, 16
19 [a]John 12:33; 18:32 [b]2 Pet 1:14 [c]Matt 8:22; 16:24; John 21:22
20 [a]John 21:7 [b]John 13:25
22 [a]Matt 16:27f; 1 Cor 4:5; 11:26; James 5:7; Rev 2:25 [b]Matt 8:22; 16:24; John 21:19
23 [a]Acts 1:15 [b]Matt 16:27f; 1 Cor 4:5; 11:26; James 5:7; Rev 2:25
24 [a]John 15:27
25 [a]John 20:30

20 Peter, turning around, *saw the [a]disciple whom Jesus loved following them; the one who also had [b]leaned back on His bosom at the supper and said, "Lord, who is the one who betrays You?"

21 So Peter seeing him *said to Jesus, "Lord, and what about this man?"

22 Jesus *said to him, "If I want him to remain [a]until I come, what is that to you? You [b]follow Me!"

23 Therefore this saying went out among [a]the brethren that that disciple would not die; yet Jesus did not say to him that he would not die, but only, "If I want him to remain [b]until I come, what is that to you?"

24 This is the disciple who [a]is testifying to these things and wrote these things, and we know that his testimony is true.

25 And there are also [a]many other things which Jesus did, which if they *were written in detail, I suppose that even the world itself *would not contain the books that *would be written.

21:17 You know all things. Peter's replies stress Christ's knowledge, not his own grasp of the situation.

21:18 stretch out your hands. The early church understood this as a prophecy of crucifixion.

21:19 what kind of death. Peter would be a martyr. Tradition indicates that he was crucified upside down.

21:20 disciple whom Jesus loved. See note on 13:23. following. He was doing what Peter was twice told to do (vv. 19,22). at the supper. See 13:23–25.

21:22 until I come. A clear declaration of the second coming.

21:24 disciple who is testifying. Testimony is important throughout this Gospel (see note on 1:7). We now learn that it was the beloved disciple who was the witness behind the account. these things. Must refer to the whole book. and wrote these things. The beloved disciple was not only the witness but also the actual author. we know. Evidently written by contemporaries in a position to know the truth.

21:25 many other things. As in 20:30 we are assured that the author has been selective. even the world itself would not contain. Our historical knowledge of Jesus is at best partial, but we have been given all we need to know.

Acts

INTRODUCTION

Author

Although the author does not name himself, evidence outside the Scriptures and inferences from the book itself lead to the conclusion that the author was Luke.

The earliest of the external testimonies appears in the Muratorian Canon (c. A.D. 170), where the explicit statement is made that Luke was the author of both the third Gospel and the "Acts of All the Apostles." Eusebius (c. 325) lists information from numerous sources to identify the author of these books as Luke (Ecclesiastical History, 3.4).

Within the writing itself are some clues as to who the author was:

1. Luke, the companion of Paul. In the description of the happenings in Acts, certain passages make use of the pronoun "we." At these points the author includes himself as a companion of Paul in his travels (16:10–17; 20:5—21:18; 27:1—28:16). A historian as careful with details as this author proves to be would have good reason for choosing to use "we" in some places and "they" elsewhere. The author was therefore probably present with Paul at the particular events described in the "we" sections.

These "we" passages include the period of Paul's two-year imprisonment at Rome (ch. 28). During this time Paul wrote, among other letters, Philemon and Colossians. In them he sends greetings from his companions, and Luke is included among them (Philem 23–24; Col 4:10–17). In fact, after eliminating those who, for one reason or another, would not fit the requirements for the author of Acts, Luke is left as the most likely candidate.

2. Luke, the physician. Although it cannot be proved that the author of Acts was a physician simply from his vocabulary, the words he uses and the traits and education reflected in his writings fit well his role as a physician (see, e.g., note on 28:6). It is true that the doctor of the first century did not have as specialized a vocabulary as that of doctors today, but there are some usages in Luke-Acts that seem to suggest that a medical man was the author of these books. And it should be remembered that Paul uses the term "physician" in describing Luke (Col 4:14).

Date

Two dates are possible for the writing of this book: (1) c. A.D. 63, soon after the last event recorded in the book, and (2) c. 70 or even later.

The earlier date is supported by:

1. Silence about later events. While arguments from silence are not conclusive, it is perhaps significant that the book contains no allusion to events that happened after the close of Paul's two-year imprisonment in Rome: e.g., the burning of Rome and the persecution of the Christians there (A.D. 64), the martyrdom of Peter and Paul (possibly 67) and the destruction of Jerusalem (70).

2. No outcome of Paul's trial. If Luke knew the outcome of the trial Paul was waiting for (28:30), why did he not record it at the close of Acts? Perhaps it was because he had brought the history up to date.

Those who prefer the later date hold that 1:8 reveals one of the purposes Luke had in writing his history, and that this purpose influenced the way the book ended. Luke wanted to show how the church penetrated the world of his day in ever-widening circles (Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria, the ends of the earth) until it reached Rome, the world's political and cultural center. On this understanding, mention of the martyrdom of Paul (c. A.D. 67) and of the destruction of Jerusalem (70) was not pertinent. This would allow for the writing of Acts c. 70 or even later.

Recipient

The recipient of the book, Theophilus, is the same person addressed in the first volume, the Gospel of Luke (see Introduction to Luke: Recipient and Purpose).

Importance

The book of Acts provides a bridge for the writings of the NT. As a second volume to Luke's Gospel, it joins what Jesus "began to do and teach" (1:1) as told in the Gospels with what He continued to do and teach through the apostles' preaching and the establishment of the church. Besides linking the Gospel narratives on the one hand and the apostolic letters on the other, it supplies an account of the life of Paul from which we can learn the setting for his letters. Geographically its story spans the lands between Jerusalem, where the church began, and Rome, the political center of the empire. Historically it recounts the first 30 years of the church. It is also a bridge that ties the church in its beginning with each succeeding age. This book may be studied to gain an understanding of the principles that ought to govern the church of any age.

Theme and Purpose

The theme of the work is best summarized in 1:8. It was ordinary procedure for a historian at this time to begin a second volume by summarizing the first volume and indicating the contents anticipated in his second volume. Luke summarized his first volume in 1:1–3; the theme of his second volume is presented in the words of Jesus: "You shall be My witnesses both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and even to the remostest parts of the earth." This is, in effect, an outline of the book of Acts (see Plan and Outline).

The main purposes of the book appear to be:

1. To present a history. The significance of Acts as a historical account of Christian origins cannot be overestimated. It tells of the founding of the church, the spread of the gospel, the beginnings of congregations, and evangelistic efforts in the apostolic pattern. One of the unique aspects of Christianity is its firm historical foundation. The life and teachings of Jesus Christ are established in the four Gospel narratives, and the book of Acts provides a coordinated account of the beginnings of the church.

2. To give a defense. One finds embedded in Acts a record of Christian defenses made to both Jews (e.g., 4:8–12) and Gentiles (e.g., 25:8–11), with the underlying purpose of conversion. It shows how the early church coped with pagan and Jewish thought, the Roman government and Hellenistic society.

Luke probably wrote this work as Paul awaited trial in Rome. If his case came to court, what better court brief could Paul have had than a life of Jesus, a history of the beginnings of the church (including the activity of Paul) and an early collection of Paul's letters?

3. To provide a guide. Luke had no way of knowing how long the church would continue on this earth, but as long as it pursues its course, the book of Acts will be one of its major guides. In Acts we see basic principles being applied to specific situations in the context of problems and persecutions. These same principles continue to be applicable until Christ returns.

4. To depict the triumph of Christianity in the face of bitter persecution. The success of the church in carrying the gospel from Jerusalem to Rome and in planting local churches across the Roman empire demonstrated that Christianity was not a mere work of man. God was in it (see 5:35–39).

Characteristics

1. Accurate historical detail. Every page of Acts abounds with sharp, precise details, to the delight of the historian. The account covers a period of about 30 years and reaches across the lands from Jerusalem to Rome. Luke's description of these times and places is filled with all kinds of people and cultures, a variety of governmental administrations, court scenes in Caesarea, and dramatic events involving such centers as Antioch, Ephesus, Athens, Corinth and Rome. Barbarian country districts and Jewish centers are included as well. Yet in each instance archaeological findings reveal that Luke uses the proper terms for the time and place being described. Hostile criticism has not succeeded in disproving the detailed accuracy of Luke's political and geographical designations.

2. Literary excellence. Not only does Luke have a large vocabulary compared with other NT writers, but he also uses these words in literary styles that fit the cultural settings of the events he is recording. At times he employs good, classical Greek; at other times the Aramaic of first-century Palestine shows through his expressions. This is an indication of Luke's careful practice of using language appropriate to the time and place being described. Aramaisms are used when Luke is describing happenings that took place in Palestine (chs. 1—12). When, however, Paul departs for Hellenistic lands beyond the territories where Aramaic-speaking people live, Aramaisms cease.

3. Dramatic description. Luke's skillful use of speeches contributes to the drama of his narrative. Not only are they carefully spaced and well balanced between Peter and Paul, but the speeches of a number of other individuals add variety and vividness to the account. Luke's use of details brings the action to life. Nowhere in ancient literature is there an account of a shipwreck superior to Luke's with its nautical details (ch. 27). The book is vivid and fast-moving throughout.

4. Objective account. Luke's careful arrangement of material need not detract from the accuracy of his record. He demonstrates the objectivity of his account by recording the failures as well as the successes, the bad as well as the good, in the early church. Not only is the discontent between the Grecian Jews and the Hebraic Jews recorded (6:1) but also the discord between Paul and Barnabas (15:39). Divisions and differences are recognized (15:2; 21:20–21).

Plan and Outline

Luke weaves together different interests and emphases as he relates the beginnings and expansion of the church. The design of his book revolves around (1) key persons: Peter and Paul; (2) important topics and events: the role of the Holy Spirit, pioneer missionary outreach to new fields, conversions, the growth of the church, and life in the Christian community; (3) significant problems: conflict between Jews and Gentiles, persecution of the church by some Jewish elements, trials before Jews and Romans, confrontations with Gentiles, and other hardships in the ministry; (4) geographical advances: five significant stages (see the quotations in the outline; see also map of "The Spread of the Gospel," p. 1598).

Introduction

1 The first account I [1]composed, [a]Theophilus, about all that Jesus [b]began to do and teach,

2 until the day when He [a]was taken up to heaven, after He [b]had [1]by the Holy Spirit given orders to [c]the apostles whom He had [d]chosen.

3 To [1]these [a]He also presented Himself alive after His suffering, by many convincing proofs, appearing to them over a period of forty days and speaking of [b]the things concerning the kingdom of God.

4 [1]Gathering them together, He commanded them [a]not to leave Jerusalem, but to wait for [2b]what the Father had promised, "Which," He said, "you heard of from Me;

5 for [a]John baptized with water, but you will be baptized [1]with the Holy Spirit [2b]not many days from now."

6 So when they had come together, they were asking Him, saying, "Lord, [a]is it at this time You are restoring the kingdom to Israel?"

7 He said to them, "It is not for you to know times or epochs which [a]the Father has fixed by His own authority;

8 but you will receive power [a]when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be [b]My witnesses both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and [c]Samaria, and even to [d]the remotest part of the earth."

The Ascension

9 And after He had said these things, [a]He was lifted up while they were looking on, and a cloud received Him out of their sight.

10 And as they were gazing intently into [1]the sky while He was going, behold, [a]two men in white clothing stood beside them.

11 They also said, "[a]Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking into [1]the sky? This Jesus, who [b]has been taken up from you into heaven, will [c]come in just the same way as you have watched Him go into heaven."

The Upper Room

12 Then they [a]returned to Jerusalem from the [1b]mount called [2]Olivet, which is near Jerusalem, a [3]Sabbath day's journey away.

13 When they had entered the city, they went up to [a]the upper room where they were staying; [b]that is, Peter and John and [1]James and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Matthew, [1]James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon the Zealot, and [c]Judas the [2]son of [1]James.

14 These all with one mind [a]were continually devoting themselves to prayer, along

1:1 The first account The Gospel of Luke. Acts was addressed to the same patron, Theophilus (see Introduction to Luke: Recipient and Purpose). began to do and teach. An apt summation of Luke's Gospel, implying that Jesus' work continues in Acts through His own personal interventions and the ministry of the Holy Spirit.

1:2 taken up to heaven. The last scene of Luke's Gospel (24:50–52) and the opening scene of this second volume (vv. 6–11). The ascension occurred 40 days after the resurrection (v. 3). by the Holy Spirit. Jesus' postresurrection instruction of His apostles was carried on through the Holy Spirit, and succeeding statements make it clear that what the apostles were to accomplish was likewise to be done through the Spirit (vv. 4–5,8; see Luke 24:49; John 20:22; see also Introduction to Judges: Theme and Theology). Luke characteristically stresses the Holy Spirit's work and enabling power (e.g., v. 8; 2:4,17; 4:8,31; 5:3; 6:3,5; 7:55; 8:16; 9:17,31; 10:44; 13:2,4; 15:28; 16:6; 19:2,6; see note on Luke 4:1).

1:3 many convincing proofs. See the resurrection appearances (Matt 28:1–20; Luke 24:1–53; John 20:1–29; ICo 15:3–8). kingdom of God. The heart of Jesus' preaching (see notes on Matt 3:2; Luke 4:43).

1:4 what the Father had promised. The Holy Spirit (see John 14:26; 15:26–27; 16:12–13).

1:5 John baptized with water. See Luke 3:16. not many days from now. The day of Pentecost came ten days later, when the baptism with the Holy Spirit occurred (2:1–4).

1:6 restoring the kingdom to Israel? Like their fellow countrymen, they were looking for the deliverance of the people of Israel from foreign domination and for the establishment of an earthly kingdom. The reference to the coming of the Spirit had caused them to wonder if the new age was about to dawn.

1:7 times or epochs. The elapsing time or the character of coming events (see 1 Thess 5:1).

1:8 A virtual outline of Acts: The apostles were to be witnesses in Jerusalem (chs. 1–7), Judea and Samaria (chs. 8–9) and the ends of the earth—including Caesarea, Antioch, Asia Minor, Greece and Rome (chs. 10–28). However, they were not to begin this staggering task until they had been equipped with the power of the Spirit (vv. 4–5). My witnesses. An important theme throughout Acts (2:32; 3:15; 5:32; 10:39; 13:31; 22:15). Judea. The region in which Jerusalem was located. Samaria. The adjoining region to the north.

1:10 two men in white clothing. A common description of angels.

1:11 Men of Galilee. All the twelve were from Galilee except Judas, and he was no longer present. in just the same way. In the same resurrection body and in clouds and "great glory" (Matt 24:30).

1:12 mount called Olivet. The ascension occurred on the eastern slope of the mount between Jerusalem and Bethany (Luke 19:28–29,37; see notes on Zech 14:4; Mark 11:1; Luke 19:29). Sabbath day's journey. About 3/4 mile (1,100 meters). This distance was drawn from rabbinical reasoning based on several OT passages (Ex 16:29; Num 35:5; Josh 3:4). A faithful Jew was to travel no farther on the Sabbath.

1:13 room. Probably a room on the upper floor of a large house, such as the one where the Last Supper was held (Mark 14:15) or that of Mary, mother of Mark (see note on 12:12). Bartholomew. Apparently John calls him Nathanael (see John 1:45–49; 21:2). James the son of Alphaeus. The same as James the younger (Mark 15:40). Zealot. See note on Matt 10:4. Judas the son of James. Not Judas Iscariot, but the same as Thaddaeus (Matt 10:3; Mark 3:18).

with [b]the women, and Mary the [c]mother of Jesus, and with His [c]brothers.

15 [1]At this time Peter stood up in the midst of [a]the brethren (a gathering of about one hundred and twenty [2]persons was there together), and said, 16 "Brethren, [a]the Scripture had to be fulfilled, which the Holy Spirit foretold by the mouth of David concerning Judas, [b]who became a guide to those who arrested Jesus.

17 "For he was [a]counted among us and received his share in [b]this ministry."

18 (Now this man [a]acquired a field with [b]the price of his wickedness, and falling headlong, he burst open in the middle and all his intestines gushed out.

19 And it became known to all who were living in Jerusalem; so that in [a]their own language that field was called Hakeldama, that is, Field of Blood.)

20 "For it is written in the book of Psalms,

'[a]LET HIS HOMESTEAD BE MADE DESOLATE, AND LET NO ONE DWELL IN IT';

and,

'[b]LET ANOTHER MAN TAKE HIS [1]OFFICE.'

21 "Therefore it is necessary that of the men who have accompanied us all the time that [a]the Lord Jesus went in and out [1]among us—

22 [a]beginning [1]with the baptism of John until the day that He [b]was taken up from us—one of these must become a [c]witness with us of His resurrection."

23 So they put forward two men, Joseph called Barsabbas (who was also called Justus), and [a]Matthias.

24 And they [a]prayed and said, "You, Lord, [b]who know the hearts of all men, show which one of these two You have chosen

25 to [1]occupy [a]this ministry and [b]apostleship from which Judas turned aside to go to his own place."

26 And they [1a]drew lots for them, and the lot fell [2]to [b]Matthias; and he was [3]added to [c]the eleven apostles.

The Day of Pentecost

2 When [a]the day of Pentecost [1]had come, they were all together in one place.

2 And suddenly there came from heaven a noise like a violent rushing wind, and it filled [a]the whole house where they were sitting.

3 And there appeared to them tongues as of fire [1]distributing themselves, and [2]they [3]rested on each one of them.

4 And they were all [a]filled with the Holy

1:14 with the women. Possibly wives of the apostles (cf. 1 Cor 9:5) and those listed as ministering to Jesus (Matt 27:55; Luke 8:2–3; 24:22). Mary the mother of Jesus. Last mentioned here in Scripture. brothers. See note on Luke 8:19. These brothers would include James, who later became important in the church (12:17; 15:13; Gal 2:9).

1:16 the Scripture had to be fulfilled. The Scriptures referred to were Ps 69:25; 109:8 (see v. 20). Both before and after Christ came, numerous psalms were viewed as Messianic. What happened in the psalmist's experience was typical of the experiences of the Messiah. No doubt Jesus' instruction in Luke 24:27,45–47 included these Scriptures.

1:18 this man acquired a field. Judas bought the field indirectly: The money he returned to the priests (Matt 27:3) was used to purchase the potter's field (Matt 27:7). falling headlong. Matt 27:5 reports that Judas hanged himself. It appears that when the body finally fell, either because of decay or because someone cut it down, it was in a decomposed condition and so broke open in the middle. Another possibility is that "hanged" in Matt 27:5 means "impaled" (the Hebrew of Esth 2:23 can be translated "impaled"; see note there) and that the gruesome results of Judas's suicide are described here.

1:19 Hakeldama. An Aramaic term, no doubt adopted by people who knew the circumstances, for the field was purchased with Judas's blood money (Matt 27:3–8).

1:20 it is written. Two passages of Scripture (Ps 69:25; 109:8; see v. 16) were put together to suggest that Judas had left a vacancy that had to be filled.

1:21 went in and out among us. Ministered publicly.

1:22 a witness with us of His resurrection. Apparently several met this requirement. On this occasion, however, the believers were selecting someone to become an official witness to the resurrection—thus, a 12th apostle (v. 25).

1:23 Barsabbas. Means "son of (the) Sabbath." This patronymic was used for two early Jewish Christians, possibly brothers. One was Joseph (here); the other was Judas, a prophet in Jerusalem who was sent to Antioch with Silas (15:22,32). Justus. Joseph's Hellenistic name. Nothing more is known of him.

1:26 drew lots. See Prov 16:33. By casting lots they were able to allow God the right of choice. The use of rocks or sticks to designate the choice was common (see 1 Chr 26:13–16; see also notes on Neh 11:1; Jon 1:7). This is the Bible's last mention of casting lots.

2:1 day of Pentecost. The 50th day after the Sabbath of Passover week (Lev 23:15–16), thus the first day of the week. Pentecost is also called the Feast of Weeks (Deut 16:10), the Feast of the Harvest (Ex 23:16) and the day of the first fruits (Num 28:26). they were all together. The nearest antecedent of "they" is the 11 apostles (plus Matthias), but the reference is probably to all those mentioned in 1:13–15. in one place. Evidently not the upstairs room where they were staying (1:13) but perhaps some place in the temple precincts, for the apostles were "continually in the temple" when it was open (Luke 24:53; see note there).

2:2 violent rushing wind. Breath or wind is a symbol of the Spirit of God (see Ezek 37:9,14; John 3:8). The coming of the Spirit is marked by audible (wind) and visible (fire) signs. whole house. May refer to the temple (cf. 7:47).

2:3 tongues. A descriptive metaphor appropriate to the context, in which several languages are about to be spoken. fire. A symbol of the divine presence (see Ex 3:2 and note), it was also associated with judgment (see Matt 3:12).

2:4 all. Could refer either to the apostles or to the 120. Those holding that the 120 are meant point to the fulfillment of Joel's prophecy (vv. 17–18) as involving more than the 12 apostles. The nearest reference, however, is to the apostles (see note on v. 1), and the narrative continues with Peter and the 11 standing to address the crowd (v. 14). filled with the Holy Spirit. A Spirit and began to [b]speak with other [1]tongues, as the Spirit was giving them [2]utterance.

5 Now there were Jews living in Jerusalem, [a]devout men from every nation under heaven.

6 And when [a]this sound occurred, the crowd came together, and were bewildered because each one of them was hearing them speak in his own [1]language.

fulfillment of 1:5,8; see also Jesus' promise in Luke 24:49. Their spirits were completely under the control of the Spirit; their words were His words. with other tongues. The Spirit enabled them to speak in languages they had not previously learned (the Greek can mean "tongues" or "languages"; also in v. 11). Two other examples of speaking in tongues are found in Acts (10:46; 19:6). One extended NT passage deals with this spiritual gift (1 Cor 12–14). Not all agree, however, that these other passages refer to speaking in known languages. The gift had particular relevance here, where people of different nationalities and languages were gathered.

2:5 Jews . . . devout men. Devout Jews from different parts of the world but assembled now in Jerusalem either as visitors or as current residents (cf. Luke 2:25).

2:6 speak in his own language. Jews from different parts of the world would understand the Aramaic of their homeland. Also the Greek language was common to all parts of the world. But more than this was occurring; they heard the apostles speak in languages native to the different places represented.

2:9 Parthians. Inhabitants of the territory from the Tigris to India. Medes. Media lay east of Mesopotamia, northwest of Persia and south-southwest of the Caspian Sea. Elamites. Elam was north of the Persian Gulf, bounded on the west by the Tigris. Mesopotamia. Between the Euphrates and Tigris rivers. Judea. The homeland of the Jews, perhaps used here in the OT sense "From the river of Egypt as far as the . . . Euphrates" (Gen 15:18), including Galilee. Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia. Districts in Asia Minor.

2:10 Phrygia and Pamphylia. Districts in Asia Minor. Egypt.

11 Cretans and Arabs—we hear them in our own tongues speaking of the mighty deeds of God."

12 And [a]they all continued in amazement and great perplexity, saying to one another, "What does this mean?"

13 But others were mocking and saying, "[a]They are full of [1]sweet wine."

Peter's Sermon

14 But Peter, [1]taking his stand with [a]the eleven, raised his voice and declared to them: "Men of Judea and all you who live in Jerusalem, let this be known to you and give heed to my words.

15 "For these men are not drunk, as you suppose, [a]for it is only the [1]third hour of the day;

16 but this is what was spoken of through the prophet Joel:

17 '[a]AND IT SHALL BE IN THE LAST DAYS,' God says,
'THAT I WILL POUR FORTH OF MY SPIRIT ON ALL [1]MANKIND; AND YOUR SONS AND YOUR DAUGHTERS SHALL PROPHESY, AND YOUR YOUNG MEN SHALL SEE VISIONS, AND YOUR OLD MEN SHALL DREAM DREAMS;

18 EVEN ON MY BONDSLAVES, BOTH MEN AND WOMEN,
I WILL IN THOSE DAYS POUR FORTH OF MY SPIRIT
And they shall prophesy.

19 'AND I WILL GRANT WONDERS IN THE SKY ABOVE
AND SIGNS ON THE EARTH BELOW,
BLOOD, AND FIRE, AND VAPOR OF SMOKE.

20 'THE SUN WILL BE TURNED INTO DARKNESS
AND THE MOON INTO BLOOD,
BEFORE THE GREAT AND GLORIOUS DAY OF THE LORD SHALL COME.

21 'AND IT SHALL BE THAT [a]EVERYONE WHO CALLS ON THE NAME OF THE LORD WILL BE SAVED.'

22 "Men of Israel, listen to these words: [a]Jesus the Nazarene, [b]a man [1]attested to you by God with [2]miracles and [c]wonders and [3]signs which God performed through Him in your midst, just as you yourselves know—

23 this Man, delivered over by the [a]predetermined plan and foreknowledge of God, [b]you nailed to a cross by the hands of [1]godless men and put Him to death.

28 'YOU HAVE MADE KNOWN TO ME THE WAYS OF LIFE;
YOU WILL MAKE ME FULL OF GLADNESS WITH YOUR PRESENCE.'

29 "[1]Brethren, I may confidently say to you regarding the [a]patriarch David that he both [b]died and [c]was buried, and [d]his tomb is [2]with us to this day.

Contained a great number of Jews. Two out of the five districts of Alexandria were Jewish. Libya. A region west of Egypt. Cyrene. The capital of a district of Libya called Cyrenaica. Rome. Thousands of Jews lived in Rome. proselytes. Gentiles who undertook the full observance of the Mosaic law were received into full fellowship with the Jews.

2:11 Cretans. Represented an island lying south-southeast of Greece. Arabs. From a region to the east. The kingdom of the Nabatean Arabs lay between the Red Sea and the Euphrates, with Petra as its capital. we hear them . . . speaking. Not a miracle of hearing but of speaking. The believers were declaring God's wonders in the native languages of the various visiting Jews.

2:14–40 The pattern and themes of the message that follows became common in the early church: (1) an explanation of events (vv. 14–21); (2) the gospel of Jesus Christ—His death, resurrection and exaltation (vv. 22–36); (3) an exhortation to repentance and baptism (vv. 37–40). The outline of this sermon is similar to those in chs. 3; 10; 13.

2:14 with the eleven. The apostles had been baptized with the Holy Spirit and had spoken in other languages to various groups. Now they stood with Peter, who served as their spokesman.

2:15 only the third hour of the day. On a festival day such as Pentecost, the Jew would not break his fast until at least 10:00 A.M. So it was extremely unlikely that a group of men would be drunk at such an early hour.

2:17–18 ALL MANKIND . . . SONS . . . DAUGHTERS . . . YOUNG MEN . . . OLD MEN . . . MEN . . . WOMEN. The Spirit is bestowed on all, irrespective of sex, age and rank.

2:17 LAST DAYS. See Is 2:2; Hos 3:5; Mic 4:1; see also notes on 1 Tim 4:1; 2 Tim 3:1; Heb 1:2; 1 Pet 1:20; 1 John 2:18. In the passage quoted from Joel the Hebrew has "after this" and the Septuagint "after these things." Peter interprets the passage as referring specifically to the latter days of the new covenant (see Jer 31:33–34; Ezek 36:26–27; 39:29) in contrast to the former days of the old covenant. The age of Messianic fulfillment has arrived. MY SPIRIT. See note on 1:2.

2:21 EVERYONE WHO CALLS. Cf. v. 39; includes faith and response rather than merely using words (Matt 7:21).

2:22 attested . . . with miracles and wonders and signs. The mighty works done by Jesus were signs that the Messiah had come.

2:23 godless men. The Greek has "those not having the law," i.e., Gentiles. The reference is to the Romans involved in the trial and crucifixion of Christ. Here, however, the Gentiles were acting in an evil way.

2:27 NOT ABANDON MY SOUL TO HADES. David referred ultimately to the Messiah (v. 31). God would not allow His physical body to decompose.

2:29 his tomb is with us. The tomb of David could be seen in Jerusalem. It still contained the remains of David's body. The words of Ps 16:8–11 did not fully apply to him.

30 "And so, because he was [a]a prophet and knew that [b]GOD HAD SWORN TO HIM WITH AN OATH TO SEAT one [1]OF HIS DESCENDANTS ON HIS THRONE, 31 he looked ahead and spoke of the resurrection of [1]the Christ, that [a]HE WAS NEITHER ABANDONED TO HADES, NOR DID His flesh [2]SUFFER DECAY.

32 "This Jesus [a]God raised up again, to which we are all [b]witnesses.

33 "Therefore having been exalted [1][a]to the right hand of God, and [b]having received from the Father [c]the promise of the Holy Spirit, He has [d]poured forth this which you both see and hear.

34 "For it was not David who ascended into [1]heaven, but he himself says:

'[a]THE LORD SAID TO MY LORD,
"SIT AT MY RIGHT HAND,
35 UNTIL I MAKE YOUR ENEMIES A FOOTSTOOL FOR YOUR FEET." '

36 "Therefore let all the [a]house of Israel know for certain that God has made Him both [b]Lord and [1]Christ—this Jesus [c]whom you crucified."

The Ingathering

37 Now when they heard this, they were [1]pierced to the heart, and said to Peter and the rest of the apostles, "[2]Brethren, [3][a]what shall we do?"

38 Peter said to them, "[a]Repent, and each of you be [b]baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins; and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.

39 "For [a]the promise is for you and your children and for all who are [b]far off, as many as the Lord our God will call to Himself."

40 And with many other words he solemnly [a]testified and kept on exhorting them, saying, "[1]Be saved from this [b]perverse generation!"

41 So then, those who had received his word were baptized; and that day there were added about three thousand [1][a]souls.

42 They were [a]continually devoting themselves to the apostles' teaching and to fellowship, to [b]the breaking of bread and [1][a]to prayer.

43 [1]Everyone kept feeling a sense of awe; and many [a]wonders and [2]signs were taking place through the apostles.

44 And all those who had believed [1]were together and [a]had all things in common;

45 and they [a]began selling their property and possessions and were sharing them with all, as anyone might have need.

46 [a]Day by day continuing with one mind in the temple, and [b]breaking bread [1]from house to house, they were taking their [2]meals together with gladness and [3]sincerity of heart,

47 praising God and [a]having favor with all the people. And the Lord [b]was adding [1]to 2:33 promise of the Holy Spirit. See note on 1:4. has poured forth. See v. 17; Joel 2:28.

2:34 THE LORD SAID TO MY LORD. The Lord (God) said to my Lord (the Son of David, the Messiah). According to Peter, David addressed his descendant with uncommon respect because he, through the inspiration of the Spirit, recognized how great and divine He would be (Matt 22:41–45). Not only was He to be resurrected (vv. 31–32) but He was to be exalted to God's right hand (vv. 33–35). And His presence there was now being demonstrated by the sending of the Holy Spirit (v. 33; John 16:7). See also note on Ps 110:1.

2:37 pierced to the heart. Reflects both belief in Jesus and regret over former rejection.

2:38 Repent, and . . . be baptized. Repentance was important in the message of the forerunner, John the Baptist (Mark 1:4; Luke 3:3), in the preaching of Jesus (Mark 1:15; Luke 13:3) and in the directions Jesus left just before His ascension (Luke 24:47). So also baptism was important to John the Baptizer (Mark 1:4), in the instructions of Jesus (Matt 28:18–19) and in the preaching recorded in Acts—where it was associated with belief (8:12; 18:8), acceptance of the word (v. 41) and repentance (here). in the name of Jesus Christ. Not a contradiction to the fuller formula given in Matt 28:19. In Acts the abbreviated form emphasizes the distinctive quality of this baptism, for Jesus is now included in a way that He was not in John's baptism (19:4–5). for the forgiveness of your sins. Not that baptism effects forgiveness. Rather, forgiveness comes through that which is symbolized by baptism (see Rom 6:3–4 and note). Holy Spirit. Two gifts are now given: the forgiveness of sins (see also 22:16) and the Holy Spirit. The promise of the indwelling gift of the Holy Spirit is given to all Christians (cf. Rom 8:9–11; 1 Cor 12:13).

2:41 there were added. Added to the number of believers.

2:42 apostles' teaching. Included all that Jesus Himself taught (Matt 28:20), especially the gospel, which was centered in His death, burial and resurrection (see vv. 23–24; 3:15; 4:10; 1 Cor 15:1–4). It was a unique teaching in that it came from God and was clothed with the authority conferred on the apostles (2 Cor 13:10; 1 Thess 4:2). Today it is available in the books of the NT. fellowship. The corporate fellowship of believers in worship. breaking of bread. Although this phrase is used of an ordinary meal in v. 46 (see Luke 24:30,35), the Lord's Supper seems to be indicated here (see note on 20:7; cf. 1 Cor 10:16; 11:20). prayer. Acts emphasizes the importance of prayer in the Christian life—private as well as public (1:14; 3:1; 6:4; 10:4,31; 12:5; 16:13,16).

2:44 those who had believed were together. The unity of the early church. all things in common. See 4:34–35. This was a voluntary sharing to provide for those who did not have enough for the essentials of living (see good and bad examples of sharing, 4:36–5:9).

2:46 breaking bread from house to house. Here the daily life of Christians is described, distinguishing their activity in the temple from that in their homes, where they ate their meals—not the Lord's Supper—with gladness and generosity. gladness and sincerity of heart. The fellowship, oneness and sharing enjoyed in the early church are fruits of the Spirit. Joy is to be the mood of the believer (see note on 16:34).

3:1 Peter and John. Among the foremost apostles (Gal 2:9).

their number day by day [c]those who were being saved.

Healing the Lame Beggar

3 Now [a]Peter and John were going up to the temple at the [1]ninth hour, [b]the hour of prayer.

2 And [a]a man who had been lame from his mother's womb was being carried along, whom they [b]used to set down every day at the gate of the temple which is called Beautiful, [c]in order to beg [1]alms of those who were entering the temple.

3 When he saw [a]Peter and John about to go into the temple, he began asking to receive alms.

4 But Peter, along with John, [a]fixed his gaze on him and said, "Look at us!"

5 And he began to give them his attention, expecting to receive something from them.

6 But Peter said, "I do not possess silver and gold, but what I do have I give to you: [a]In the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene—walk!"

7 And seizing him by the right hand, he raised him up; and immediately his feet and his ankles were strengthened.

8 [1][a]With a leap he stood upright and began to walk; and he entered the temple with them, walking and leaping and praising God.

9 And [a]all the people saw him walking and praising God;

10 and they were taking note of him as being the one who used to [a]sit at the Beautiful Gate of the temple to beg alms, and they were filled with wonder and amazement at what had happened to him.

Peter's Second Sermon

11 While he was clinging to [a]Peter and John, all the people ran together to them at the so-called [1][b]portico of Solomon, full of amazement.

12 But when Peter saw this, he replied to the people, "Men of Israel, why are you amazed at this, or why do you gaze at us, as if by our own power or piety we had made him walk?

13 "[a]The God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, [b]the God of our fathers, has glorified His [1][c]servant Jesus, the one whom [d]you delivered and disowned in the presence of [e]Pilate, when he had [f]decided to release Him.

14 "But you disowned [a]the Holy and Righteous One and [b]asked for a murderer to be granted to you, 17 "And now, brethren, I know that you acted [a]in ignorance, just as your [b]rulers did also.

18 "But the things which [a]God announced beforehand by the mouth of all the prophets, [b]that His [1]Christ would suffer, He has thus fulfilled.

Along with John's brother, James, they had been especially close to Jesus (Mark 9:2; 13:3; 14:33; Luke 22:8). Arrested together (4:3), they were also together in Samaria (8:14). the hour of prayer. The three stated times of prayer for later Judaism were midmorning (the third hour, 9:00 A.M.), the time of the evening sacrifice (the ninth hour, 3:00 P.M.) and sunset.

3:2 gate . . . called Beautiful. The favorite entrance to the temple court, it was probably the bronze-sheathed gate that is elsewhere called the Nicanor Gate. Apparently it led from the court of the Gentiles to the court of women, on the east wall of the temple proper.

3:6 In the name of Jesus Christ. Not by power of their own, but by the authority of the Messiah.

3:7 he raised him up. But he had faith to be healed (v. 16).

3:8 entered the temple. From the outer court (for Gentiles also) into the court of women, containing the treasury (Mark 12:41–44), and then into the court of Israel (see map No. 8 at the end of the Study Bible). From the outer court, nine gates led into the inner courts.

3:11 portico of Solomon. A porch along the inner side of the wall enclosing the outer court, with rows of 27-foot-high stone columns and a roof of cedar (see note on John 10:23).

3:12–26 See note on 2:14–40.

3:13 His servant Jesus. A reminder of the suffering servant prophesied in Is 52:13–53:12 (see Matt 12:18; Acts 4:27,30). whom you . . . disowned. Voted against Jesus, spurned Him, denied Him and refused to acknowledge Him as the true Messiah. Pilate . . . had decided to release Him. See John 19:12.

3:14 Holy and Righteous One. Blameless in relation to God and man.

3:15 put to death . . . God raised . . . we are witnesses. A recurring theme in the speeches of Acts (see 2:23–24; 4:10; 5:30–32; 10:39–41; 13:28–29; cf. 1 Cor 15:1–4).

3:18 announced beforehand by . . . all the prophets. Echoes what Jesus had said (Luke 24:26–27). The suffering was prophesied (compare Is 53:7–8 with Acts 8:32–33; Ps 2:1–2 with Acts 4:25–26; Ps 22:1 with Matt 27:46; see also 1 Pet 1:11).

3:19 repent. Repentance is a change of mind and will arising from sorrow for sin and leading to transformation of life (see note on 2:38). return. Subsequent to repentance and not completely identical with it. See 11:21 ("number who believed turned") and 26:20 ("repent and turn"; see also 9:35; 14:15; 15:19; 26:18; 28:27). In the strictest sense, repentance is turning from sin, and faith is turning to God. However, the word "turn" is not always used with such precision. your sins . . . wiped away. Your sins will be forgiven as a result of repentance.

which [c]God spoke by the mouth of His holy prophets from ancient time.

22 "Moses said, '[a]THE LORD GOD WILL RAISE UP FOR YOU A PROPHET [1]LIKE ME FROM YOUR BRETHREN; TO HIM YOU SHALL GIVE HEED to everything He says to you.

23 '[a]And it will be that every [b]soul that does not heed that prophet [c]shall be utterly destroyed from among the people.'

24 "And likewise, [a]all the prophets who have spoken, from Samuel and his successors onward, also announced these days.

25 "It is you who are [a]the sons of the prophets and of the [b]covenant which God [1]made with your fathers, saying to Abraham, '[c]AND IN YOUR SEED ALL THE FAMILIES OF THE EARTH SHALL BE BLESSED.'

26 "For you [a]first, God [b]raised up His [1]Servant and sent Him to bless you by turning every one of you from your wicked ways."

Peter and John Arrested

4 As they were speaking to the people, the priests and [a]the captain of the temple guard and [b]the Sadducees [c]came up to them,

2 being greatly disturbed because they were teaching the people and proclaiming [1a]in Jesus the resurrection from the dead.

3 And they laid hands on them and [a]put them in jail until the next day, for it was already evening.

4 But many of those who had heard the [1]message believed; and [a]the number of the men came to be about five thousand.

5 On the next day, their [a]rulers and elders and scribes were gathered together in Jerusalem;

6 and [a]Annas the high priest was there, and [b]Caiaphas and John and Alexander, and all who were of high-priestly descent.

7 When they had placed them in the center, they began to inquire, "By what power, or in what name, have you done this?"

8 Then Peter, [1a]filled with the Holy Spirit, said to them, "[2b]Rulers and elders of the people,

9 if we are [1]on trial today for [a]a benefit done to a sick man, [2]as to how this man has been made well,

10 let it be known to all of you and to all the people of Israel, that [1a]by the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene, whom you crucified, whom [b]God raised from the dead—[1]by [2]this name this man stands here before you in good health.

3:22–26 RAISE UP . . . raised up. Christ is the fulfillment of prophecies made relative to Moses, David and Abraham. He was to be a prophet like Moses (vv. 22–23), He was foretold in Samuel's declarations concerning David (v. 24; see note there), and He was to bring blessing to all people as promised to Abraham (vv. 25–26).

3:24 prophets . . . from Samuel . . . onward. Samuel anointed David to be king and spoke of the establishment of his kingdom (1 Sam 16:13; cf. 13:14; 15:28; 28:17). Nathan's prophecy (2 Sam 7:12–16) was ultimately Messianic (see Acts 13:22–23, 34; Heb 1:5).

3:25 SEED. The word is singular, ultimately signifying Christ (see Gal 3:16).

4:1 priests. Those who were serving that week in the temple precincts (see note on Luke 1:23). captain of the temple guard. A member of one of the leading priestly families; next in rank to the high priest (see 5:24,26; Luke 22:4,52). Sadducees. A Jewish sect whose members came from the priestly line and controlled the temple. They did not believe in the resurrection or a personal Messiah, but held that the Messianic age—an ideal time—was then present and must be preserved. The high priest, one of their number, presided over the Sanhedrin (see 5:17; 23:6–8; Matt 22:23–33). See also notes on Matt 3:7; Mark 12:18; Luke 20:27.

4:3 evening. The evening sacrifices ended about 4:00 P.M., and the temple gates would be closed at that time. Any judgments involving life and death must be begun and concluded in daylight hours.

4:4 men. Lit. "males." five thousand. A growth from the 3,000 at Pentecost (2:41); see later growth (5:14; 6:7).

4:5 rulers and elders and scribes. The three groups making up the Sanhedrin, Israel's supreme court (see Luke 22:66; see also notes on Matt 2:4; 15:2; Mark 14:55; Luke 5:17).

4:6 Annas. High priest A.D. 6–15, but deposed by the Romans and succeeded by his son, Eleazar, then by his son-in-law, Caiaphas (18–36), who was also called Joseph. However, Annas was still recognized by the Jews as high priest (Luke 3:2; cf. John 18:13, 24). John. May be Jonathan son of Annas, who was appointed high priest in A.D. 36. Others suggest it was Johanan ben Zaccai, who became the president of the Great Synagogue after the fall of Jerusalem. Alexander. Not further identified.

4:8 filled with the Holy Spirit. See note on 2:4.

4:11 the STONE . . . REJECTED. Fulfillment of prophecy was an important element in early Christian sermons and defenses. Jesus had also used Ps 118:22 (Matt 21:42; see 1 Pet 2:7 and cf. Rom 9:33; Is 28:16).

4:12 no other name. See 10:43; John 14:6; 1 Tim 2:5; see also note on Matt 1:21.

4:13 confidence. A certain boldness characterized by the assurance, authority and forthrightness of the apostles (2:29; 4:29; 28:31), and shared by the believers (4:31). uneducated and untrained men. Peter and John had not been trained in the rabbinic schools, nor did they hold official positions in recognized religious circles.

leave the [1][a]Council, they began to confer with one another, 16 saying, "[a]What shall we do with these men? For the fact that a [b]noteworthy [1]miracle has taken place through them is apparent to all who live in Jerusalem, and we cannot deny it.

17 "But so that it will not spread any further among the people, let us warn them to speak no longer to any man [a]in this name."

18 And when they had summoned them, they [a]commanded them not to speak or teach at all [1]in the name of Jesus.

19 But [a]Peter and John answered and said to them, "[b]Whether it is right in the sight of God to give heed to you rather than to God, you be the judge;

20 for [a]we cannot stop speaking about what we have seen and heard."

21 When they had threatened them further, they let them go (finding no basis on which to punish them) [a]on account of the people, because they were all [b]glorifying God for what had happened;

22 for the man was more than forty years old on whom this [1]miracle of healing had been performed.

23 When they had been released, they went to their own companions and reported all that the chief priests and the elders had said to them.

24 And when they heard this, they lifted their voices to God with one accord and said, "O [1]Lord, it is You who [a]MADE THE HEAVEN AND THE EARTH AND THE SEA, AND ALL THAT IS IN THEM, 28 to do whatever Your hand and [a]Your purpose predestined to occur.

29 "And [1]now, Lord, take note of their threats, and grant that Your bond-servants may [a]speak Your word with all [b]confidence,

30 while You extend Your hand to heal, and [1][a]signs and wonders take place through the name of Your holy [2b]servant Jesus."

31 And when they had prayed, the [a]place where they had gathered together was shaken, and they were all [b]filled with the Holy Spirit and began to [c]speak the word of God with [d]boldness.

Sharing among Believers

32 And the [1]congregation of those who believed were of one heart and soul; and not one of them [2]claimed that anything belonging to him was his own, but [a]all things were common property to them.

33 And [a]with great power the apostles were giving [b]testimony to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and abundant grace was upon them all.

34 For there was not a needy person among them, for all who were owners of land or houses [a]would sell them and bring the [1]proceeds of the sales

35 and [a]lay them at the apostles' feet, and they would be [b]distributed to each as any had need.

36 Now Joseph, a Levite of [a]Cyprian birth, who was also called [b]Barnabas by the apostles (which translated means Son of [1c]Encouragement), 37 and who owned a tract of land, sold it and brought the money and [a]laid it at the apostles' feet.

4:20 cannot stop speaking. See 5:29.

4:23 went. Probably to the same upper room where the apostles had met before (1:13) and where the congregation may have continued to meet (12:12).

4:27 Herod. Herod Antipas, tetrarch of Galilee and Perea (Luke 23:7–15). Pontius Pilate. Roman procurator of Judea (Luke 23:1–24).

4:28 predestined. Not that God had compelled them to act as they did, but He willed to use them and their freely chosen acts to accomplish His saving purpose.

4:30 holy servant. See note on 3:13.

4:31 was shaken. An immediate sign that the prayers had been heard (see 16:26). filled with the Holy Spirit. See note on 2:4. speak the word of God. They continued preaching the gospel despite the warnings of the council (see note on v. 13).

4:32 one in heart and soul. In complete accord, extending to their attitude toward personal possessions (see 2:44).

4:33 testimony to the resurrection. As significant as the death of Christ was, the most compelling event was the resurrection—an event about which the disciples could not keep silent.

4:34 all who were owners of land or houses would sell them. See note on 2:44.

4:36 Levite. Although Levites owned no inherited land in the Holy Land, these regulations may not have applied to the Levites in other countries (Cyprus). So perhaps Barnabas sold land he owned in Cyprus and brought the proceeds to the apostles (v. 37). Or he may have been married, and the land sold may have been from his wife's property. It is also possible that the prohibition against Levite ownership of land in the Holy Land was no longer observed. of Cyprian birth. Cyprus was an island in the eastern part of the Mediterranean Sea. Jews had settled there from Maccabean times. Barnabas. Used here as a good example of giving. In this way Luke introduces the one who will become an important companion of Paul (see 13:1–4). For other significant contributions of this greathearted leader to the life and ministry of the early church see 9:27; 11:22,25; 15:37–39.

Fate of Ananias and Sapphira

5 But a man named Ananias, with his wife Sapphira, sold a piece of property,

2 and [a]kept back some of the price for himself, with his wife's [1]full knowledge, and bringing a portion of it, he [b]laid it at the apostles' feet.

3 But Peter said, "Ananias, why has [a]Satan filled your heart to lie [b]to the Holy Spirit and to [c]keep back some of the price of the land?

4 "While it remained unsold, did it not remain your own? And after it was sold, was it not [1]under your control? Why is it that you have [2]conceived this deed in your heart? You have not lied to men but [a]to God."

5 And as he heard these words, Ananias [a]fell down and breathed his last; and [b]great fear came over all who heard of it.

6 The young men got up and [a]covered him up, and after carrying him out, they buried him.

7 Now there elapsed an interval of about three hours, and his wife came in, not knowing what had happened.

8 And Peter responded to her, "Tell me whether you sold the land [1][a]for such and such a price?" And she said, "Yes, [1]that was the price."

9 Then Peter said to her, "Why is it that you have agreed together to [a]put [b]the Spirit of the Lord to the test? Behold, the feet of those who have buried your husband are at the door, and they will carry you out as well."

10 And immediately she [a]fell at his feet and breathed her last, and the young men came in and found her dead, and they carried her out and buried her beside her husband.

11 And [a]great fear came over the whole church, and over all who heard of these things.

12 [1]At the hands of the apostles many [a]signs and wonders were taking place among the people; and they were all with one accord in [b]Solomon's portico.

13 But none of the rest dared to associate with them; however, [a]the people held them in high esteem.

14 And all the more [a]believers in the Lord, multitudes of men and women, were constantly [b]added to their number,

15 to such an extent that they even carried the sick out into the streets and laid them on cots and pallets, so that when Peter came by [a]at least his shadow might fall on any one of them.

16 Also the [1]people from the cities in the vicinity of Jerusalem were coming together, bringing people who were sick [2]or afflicted with unclean spirits, and they were all being healed.

Imprisonment and Release

17 But the high priest rose up, along with all his associates (that is [a]the sect of [b]the Sadducees), and they were filled with jealousy.

18 They laid hands on the apostles and [a]put them in a public jail.

19 But during the night [a]an angel of the Lord opened the gates of the prison, and taking them out he said,

20 "Go, stand and [1]speak to the people in the temple [2][a]the whole message of this Life."

20 [1] Or continue to speak [2] Lit all the words [a] John 6:63, 68

5:1 Ananias . . . Sapphira. Given as bad examples of sharing (Barnabas was the good example; see note on 4:36). Love of praise for (pretended) generosity and love for money led to the first recorded sin in the life of the church. It is a warning to the readers that "God is not mocked" (Gal 6:7). Compare this divine judgment at the beginning of the church era with God's judgments on Nadab and Abihu (Lev 10:2), on Achan (Josh 7:25) and on Uzzah (2 Sam 6:7).

5:2 kept back some. They had a right to keep back whatever they chose, but to make it appear that they had given all when they had not was sinful.

5:3 Satan filled your heart. The continuing activity of Satan is noted (see Luke 22:3; John 13:2,27; 1 Pet 5:8). lie to the Holy Spirit. A comparison with v. 4 shows that the Holy Spirit is regarded as God Himself present with His people.

5:9 to put the Spirit of the Lord to the test. If no dire consequences had followed this act of sin, the results among the believers would have been serious when the deceit became known. Not only would dishonesty appear profitable, but the conclusion that the Spirit could be deceived would follow. It was important to set the course properly at the outset in order to leave no doubt that God will not tolerate such hypocrisy and deceit.

5:11 church. The first use of the term in Acts. It can denote either the local congregation (8:1; 11:22; 13:1) or the universal church (see 20:28). The Greek word for "church" (ekklesia) was already being used for political and other assemblies (see 19:32,40) and, in the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT), for Israel when gathered in religious assembly.

5:12 Solomon's portico. See note on 3:11.

5:13 none of the rest dared to associate with them. Because of the fate of Ananias and his wife, no pretenders or halfhearted followers risked identification with the believers. Luke cannot mean that no one joined the Christian community, since v. 14 indicates that many were coming to Christ.

5:14 multitudes of men and women, were . . . added. See 4:4. This is the first specific mention of women believing (cf. 8:3,12; 9:2; 13:50; 16:1,13–14; 17:4,12,34; 18:2; 21:5; but cf. also 1:14).

5:15 Peter . . . his shadow. Parallels such items as Paul's handkerchiefs (19:12) and the edge of Jesus' cloak (Matt 9:20)—not that any of these material objects had magical qualities, but the least article or shadow represented a direct means of contact with Jesus or His apostles.

5:17 high priest. The official high priest recognized by Rome was Caiaphas, but the Jews considered Annas, Caiaphas's father-in-law, to be the actual high priest since the high priesthood was to be held for life (see note on 4:6). his associates. His family members. sect of the Sadducees. See note on 4:1.

5:18 in a public jail. To await trial the next day.

5:19 angel of the Lord. This phrase is used four other times in Acts: (1) Stephen speaks of him (7:30–38); (2) he guides Philip (8:26); (3) he liberates Peter (12:7–10); (4) he strikes down Herod (12:23). See also Matt 1:20–24; 2:13,19; 28:2; Luke 1:11–38; 2:9.

21 Upon hearing this, they entered into the temple [a]about daybreak and began to teach.

Now when [b]the high priest and his associates came, they called [c]the [1]Council together, even all the Senate of the sons of Israel, and sent orders to the prison house for them to be brought.

22 But [a]the officers who came did not find them in the prison; and they returned and reported back,

23 saying, "We found the prison house locked quite securely and the guards standing at the doors; but when we had opened up, we found no one inside."

24 Now when [a]the captain of the temple guard and the chief priests heard these words, they were greatly perplexed about them as to what [1]would come of this.

25 But someone came and reported to them, "The men whom you put in prison are standing in the temple and teaching the people!"

26 Then [a]the captain went along with [b]the officers and proceeded to bring them back without violence (for [c]they were afraid of the people, that they might be stoned).

27 When they had brought them, they stood them [1]before [a]the Council. The high priest questioned them,

28 saying, "We gave you [a]strict orders not to continue teaching in this name, and [1]yet, you have filled Jerusalem with your teaching and [b]intend to bring this man's blood upon us."

29 But Peter and the apostles answered, "[a]We must obey God rather than men.

30 "[a]The God of our fathers [b]raised up Jesus, [1]whom you had [c]put to death by hanging Him on a [2]cross.

31 "[a]He is the one whom God exalted [1]to His right hand as a [2b]Prince and a [c]Savior, to grant [d]repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins.

Gamaliel's Counsel

33 But when they heard this, they were [a]cut [1]to the quick and intended to kill them.

34 But a Pharisee named [a]Gamaliel, a [b]teacher of the Law, respected by all the people, stood up in [c]the Council and gave orders to put the men outside for a short time.

35 And he said to them, "Men of Israel, take care what you propose to do with these men.

36 "For some time ago Theudas rose up, [a]claiming to be somebody, and a group of about four hundred men joined up with him. [1]But he was killed, and all who [2]followed him were dispersed and came to nothing.

37 "After this man, Judas of Galilee rose up in the days of [a]the census and drew away some people after him; he too perished, and all those who [1]followed him were scattered.

38 "So in the present case, I say to you, stay away from these men and let them alone, for if this plan or [1]action [a]is of men, it will be overthrown;

39 but if it is of God, you will not be able to overthrow them; or else you may even be found [a]fighting against God."

40 They [1]took his advice; and after calling the apostles in, they [a]flogged them and ordered them not to [2]speak in the name of Jesus, and then released them.

41 So they went on their way from the presence of the [1a]Council, [b]rejoicing that they had been considered worthy to suffer shame [c]for His name.

42 [a]And every day, in the temple and [1]from house to house, they [2]kept right on teaching and [3b]preaching Jesus as the [4]Christ.

5:21 Council. The supreme Jewish court, consisting of 70 to 100 men (71 being the proper number). They sat in a semicircle, backed by three rows of disciples of the "learned men," with the clerks of the court standing in front.

5:24 captain of the temple guard. See note on 4:1.

5:28 bring this man's blood upon us. Probably a reference to the apostles' repeated declaration that some of the Jews and some of their leaders had killed Jesus (2:23; 3:13–15; 4:10–11; cf. Matt 27:25).

5:30 cross. Or "tree," used to describe the cross (1 Pet 2:24; see Deut 21:22–23). Like its Hebrew counterpart, the Greek for this word could refer to a tree, a pole, a wooden beam or some similar object.

5:32 so is the Holy Spirit . . . given to those who obey Him. See John 15:26–27. The disciples' testimony was directed and confirmed by the Holy Spirit, who convicts the world through the word (John 16:8–11) and is given to those who respond to God with "the obedience of faith" (Rom 1:5; see note on 6:7).

5:34 a Pharisee named Gamaliel. The most famous Jewish teacher of his time and traditionally listed among the "heads of the schools." Possibly he was the grandson of Hillel. Like Hillel (see note on Matt 19:3), he was moderate in his views, a characteristic that is apparent in his cautious recommendation on this occasion. Saul (Paul) was one of his students (22:3).

5:36 Theudas. We know of him from no other historical source.

5:37 Judas of Galilee. The Jewish historian Josephus refers to him as a man from Gamala in Gaulanitis who refused to give tribute to Caesar. His revolt was crushed, but a movement, started in his time, may have lived on in the party of the Zealots (see 1:13 and note on Matt 10:4). days of the census. Not the first census of Quirinius, noted by Luke in his Gospel (2:2), but the one in A.D. 6.

5:40 flogged. Beaten with the Jewish penalty of "thirty-nine lashes" (2 Cor 11:24).

6:1 the disciples were increasing in number. A considerable length of time may have transpired since the end of ch. 5. The arose on the part of the [2c]Hellenistic Jews against the native [d]Hebrews, because their [e]widows were being overlooked in [f]the daily serving of food.

2 So the twelve summoned the [1]congregation of the disciples and said, "It is not desirable for us to neglect the word of God in order to serve tables.

3 "Therefore, [a]brethren, select from among you seven men of good reputation, [b]full of the Spirit and of wisdom, whom we may put in charge of this task.

4 "But we will [a]devote ourselves to prayer and to the [1]ministry of the word."

5 The statement found approval with the whole [1]congregation; and they chose [a]Stephen, a man [b]full of faith and of the Holy Spirit, and [c]Philip, Prochorus, Nicanor, Timon, Parmenas and [2]Nicolas, a [3d]proselyte from [e]Antioch.

6 And these they brought before the apostles; and after [a]praying, they [b]laid their hands on them.

8 And Stephen, full of grace and power, was performing great [a]wonders and [1]signs among the people.

9 But some men from what was called the Synagogue of the Freedmen, including both [a]Cyrenians and [b]Alexandrians, and some from [c]Cilicia and [1d]Asia, rose up and argued with Stephen.

10 But they were unable to cope with the wisdom and the Spirit with which he was speaking.

11 Then they secretly induced men to say, "We have heard him speak blasphemous words against Moses and against God."

church continued to grow (see 5:14), but this gave rise to inevitable problems, both from within (6:1–7) and from without (6:8–7:60). At this stage of its development, the church was entirely Jewish in its composition. However, there were two groups of Jews within the fellowship: 1. Hellenistic Jews. Hellenists—those born in lands other than the Holy Land who spoke the Greek language and were more Grecian than Hebraic in their attitudes and outlook. 2. native Hebrews. Those who spoke the Aramaic and/or Hebrew language(s) of the Holy Land and preserved Jewish culture and customs. daily serving of food. Help was needed by widows who had no one to care for them and so became the church's responsibility (cf. 4:35; 11:28–29; see also 1 Tim 5:3–16).

6:2 the twelve. At this early stage, the apostles were responsible for church life in general, including the ministry of the word of God and the care of the needy. tables. The early church was concerned about a spiritual ministry ("word of God" and "prayer"; see v. 4) and a material ministry ("serve tables").

6:3 select . . . seven men. The church elected them (v. 5), and the apostles "ordained" them (v. 6). In this way they were appointed to their work. full of the Spirit. See note on 2:4.

6:5 they chose Stephen . . . Nicolas. It is significant that all seven of the men chosen had Greek names. The murmuring had come from the Greek-speaking segment of the church; so those elected to care for the work came from their number so as to represent their interests fairly. Only Stephen and Philip of the Seven receive further notice (Stephen, 6:8–7:60; Philip, 8:5–40; 21:8–9). a proselyte from Antioch. It is significant that a proselyte was included in the number and that Luke points out his place of origin as Antioch, the city to which the gospel was soon to be taken and which was to become the "headquarters" for the forthcoming Gentile missionary effort.

6:6 praying, they laid their hands on them. Laying on of hands was used in the OT period to confer blessing (Gen 48:13–20), to transfer guilt from sinner to sacrifice (Lev 1:4) and to commission a person for a new responsibility (Num 27:23). In the NT period, laying on of hands was observed in healing (28:8; Mark 1:41), blessing (Mark 10:16), ordaining or commissioning (Acts 6:6; 13:3; 1 Tim 5:22) and imparting of spiritual gifts (Acts 8:17; 19:6; 1 Tim 4:14; 2 Tim 1:6). These seven men were appointed to responsibilities turned over to them by the twelve apostles. The Greek word used to describe their responsibility ("serve," v. 2) is the verb from which the noun "deacon" comes. Later one reads of deacons in Phil 1:1; 1 Tim 3:8–13. The Greek noun for "deacon" can also be translated "minister" or "servant." The men appointed on this occasion were simply called "the seven" (21:8), just as the apostles were called "the twelve." It is disputed whether these seven were the first deacons or were later replaced by deacons (see note on 1 Tim 3:8).

6:7 One of a series of progress reports given periodically throughout the book of Acts (1:15; 2:41; 4:4; 5:14; 6:7; 9:31; 12:24; 16:5; 19:20; 28:31). a great many of the priests. Though involved by lineage and life service in the priestly observances of the old covenant, they accepted the preaching of the apostles, which proclaimed a sacrifice that made the old sacrifices unnecessary (Heb 8:13; 10:1–4, 11–14). were becoming obedient to the faith. Responded to the commands of the gospel. To believe is to obey God. Faith itself is obedience, but faith also produces obedience (Rom 1:5; Eph 2:8–10; James 2:14–26).

6:8 great wonders and signs. Until now, Acts told of only the apostles working miracles (2:43; 3:4–8; 5:12). But now, after the laying on of the apostles' hands, Stephen too is reported as working miraculous signs. Philip also will soon do the same (8:6).

6:9 some men . . . rose up and argued. Since Saul was from Tarsus, this may have been the synagogue he attended, and he may have been among those who argued with Stephen. He was present when Stephen was stoned (7:58). Freedmen. Persons who had been freed from slavery. They came from different Hellenistic areas. Cyrenians. Cyrene was the chief city in Libya and north Africa (see note on 2:10), halfway between Alexandria and Carthage. One of its population groups was Jewish (see 11:19–21). Alexandrians. Alexandria was the capital of Egypt and second only to Rome in the empire. Two out of five districts in Alexandria were Jewish. Cilicia. A Roman province in the southeast corner of Asia Minor adjoining Syria. Tarsus, the birthplace of Paul, was one of its principal towns. Asia. A Roman province in the western part of Asia Minor. Ephesus, where Paul later ministered for a few years, was its capital.

6:11 blasphemous words against Moses and against God. Since Stephen declared that the worship of God was no longer to be restricted to the temple (7:48–49), his opponents twisted these words to trump up an accusation that Stephen was attacking the temple, the law, Moses and, ultimately, God.

12 And they stirred up the people, the elders and the scribes, and they [a]came up to him and dragged him away and brought him [1]before [b]the [2]Council.

13 They put forward [a]false witnesses who said, "This man incessantly speaks against this [b]holy place and the Law;

15 And fixing their gaze on him, all who were sitting in the [1][a]Council saw his face like the face of an angel.

Stephen's Defense

7 The high priest said, "Are these things so?"

2 And he said, "Hear me, [a]brethren and fathers! [b]The God of glory [c]appeared to our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, before he lived in [1]Haran,

3 and said to him, '[a]LEAVE YOUR COUNTRY AND YOUR RELATIVES, AND COME INTO THE LAND THAT I WILL SHOW YOU.'

4 "[a]Then he left the land of the Chaldeans and settled in [1]Haran. [b]From there, after his father died, God had him move to this country in which you are now living.

5 "But He gave him no inheritance in it, not even a foot of ground, and yet, even when he had no child, [a]He promised that HE WOULD GIVE IT TO HIM AS A POSSESSION, AND TO HIS DESCENDANTS AFTER HIM.

6 "But [a]God spoke to this effect, that his DESCENDANTS WOULD BE ALIENS IN A FOREIGN LAND, AND THAT THEY WOULD [1]BE ENSLAVED AND MISTREATED FOR FOUR HUNDRED YEARS.

7 " 'AND WHATEVER NATION TO WHICH THEY WILL BE IN BONDAGE I MYSELF WILL JUDGE,' said God, 'AND [a]AFTER THAT THEY WILL COME OUT AND [1]SERVE ME IN THIS PLACE.'

8 "And He [a]gave him [1]the covenant of circumcision; and so [b]Abraham became the father of Isaac, and circumcised him on the eighth day; and [c]Isaac became the father of Jacob, and [d]Jacob of the twelve [e]patriarchs.

9 "The patriarchs [a]became jealous of Joseph and sold him into Egypt. Yet God was with him,

10 and rescued him from all his afflictions, and [a]granted him favor and wisdom in the sight of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and he made him governor over Egypt and all his household.

11 "Now [a]a famine came over all Egypt and Canaan, and great affliction with it, and our fathers [1]could find no food.

12 "But [a]when Jacob heard that there was grain in Egypt, he sent our fathers there the first time.

13 "On the second visit [a]Joseph [1]made himself known to his brothers, and [b]Joseph's family was disclosed to Pharaoh.

14 "Then [a]Joseph sent word and invited Jacob his father and all his relatives to come to him, [b]seventy-five [1][c]persons in all.

15 "And [a]Jacob went down to Egypt and there he and our fathers died.

16 "From there they were removed to [1][a]Shechem and laid in the tomb which Abraham had purchased for a sum of money from the sons of [2]Hamor in [1]Shechem.

6:12 the elders and the scribes. See notes on Matt 2:4; 15:2; Luke 5:17. Council. See note on Mark 14:55.

6:13 speaks against this holy place and the Law. Similar to the charges brought against Christ (see Matt 26:61). Stephen may have referred to Jesus' words as recorded in John 2:19, and the words may have been misunderstood or purposely misinterpreted (v. 14), as at the trial of Jesus.

7:1 high priest. Probably Caiaphas (see Matt 26:57–66), but see note on 4:6; cf. John 18:19, 24. Are these things so? See notes on 6:11,13.

7:2 Abraham . . . in Mesopotamia, before he lived in Haran. Abraham's call came in Ur, not Haran (cf. Gen 15:7; Neh 9:7). Or perhaps he was called first in Ur, and then later his call was renewed in Haran (see note on Jer 15:19–21).

7:4 land of the Chaldeans. A district in southern Babylonia, the name was later applied to a region that included all Babylonia. after his father died. Gen 11:26 does not mean that all three sons—Abraham, Nahor and Haran—were born to Terah in the same year when he was 70 years old. See Gen 11:26–12:1. It may be that Haran was Terah's firstborn and that Abraham was born 60 years later. Thus the death of Terah at 205 years of age could have occurred just before Abraham, at 75, left Haran.

7:6 FOUR HUNDRED YEARS. A round number for the length of Israel's stay in Egypt (Ex 12:40–41 has 430 years). That four generations would represent considerably less than 400 years is not a necessary conclusion (see note on Gen 15:16). Ex 6:16–20 makes Moses the great-grandson of Levi, son of Jacob and brother of Joseph. This would make four generations from Levi to Moses. But in 1 Chr 7:22–27 a list of ten names represents the generations between Ephraim, the son of Joseph, and Joshua. The ten generations at 40 years each would equal 400 years, the same period of time noted as four generations. But one list is abbreviated and the other gives a full genealogy.

7:8 covenant of circumcision. See notes on Gen 17:10–11. The essential conditions for the religion of Israel were already fulfilled long before the temple was built and their present religious customs began. twelve patriarchs. See Gen 35:23–26.

7:9 patriarchs . . . sold him. Israel consistently rejected God's favored individuals. Stephen builds his case about Jesus' rejection by noting Joseph's rejection by his brothers (Gen 37:12–36).

7:13 second visit. See Gen 43.

7:14 Jacob . . . all his relatives . . . seventy-five persons in all. Although the Hebrew Bible uses the number 70 (Gen 46:27; Ex 1:5; Deut 10:22), the Greek translation of the OT (the Septuagint) adds at Gen 46:20 the names of one son of Manasseh, two of Ephraim, and one grandson of each. This makes the number 75 and is the number that Stephen uses.

7:16 Stephen greatly compresses OT accounts of two land purchases (by Abraham and Jacob) and two burial places (at Hebron and Shechem). According to the OT, Abraham purchased land at Hebron (Gen 23:17–18), where he (Gen 25:9–11), Isaac (Gen 35:29) and Jacob (Gen 50:13) were buried. Jacob bought land at Shechem (Gen 33:19), where Joseph was later buried (Josh 24:32). Josephus preserves a tradition that Joseph's broth-

18 until [a]THERE AROSE ANOTHER KING OVER EGYPT WHO KNEW NOTHING ABOUT JOSEPH.

19 "It was he who took [a]shrewd advantage of our race and mistreated our fathers so that they would [1][b]expose their infants and they would not survive.

20 "It was at this time that [a]Moses was born; and he was lovely [1]in the sight of God, and he was nurtured three months in his father's home.

21 "And after he had been set outside, [a]Pharaoh's daughter [1]took him away and nurtured him as her own son.

ers were buried at Hebron. Stephen's rhetorical device (by which he recalls that Jacob and the 12 patriarchs were not buried in Egypt but in Canaan) is strange to modern ears but would have been well understood by his hearers.

7:18 another king . . . who knew nothing about Joseph. See note on Ex 1:8.

7:22 Moses was educated in all the learning of the Egyptians. Not explicitly stated in the OT but to be expected if he grew up in the household of Pharaoh's daughter. Both Philo and Josephus speak of Moses' great learning.

7:23 when he was . . . forty. Moses was 80 years old when sent to speak before Pharaoh (Ex 7:7) and 120 years old when he died (Deut 34:7). Stephen's words agree with a tradition that at Moses' first departure from Egypt he was 40 years of age.

7:29 FLED . . . MIDIAN. Rejected by his own people, Moses feared that they would inform the Egyptians, and this led to his flight to Midian (Ex 2:15), the land flanking the Gulf of Aqaba on both sides. became the father of two sons. Gershom and Eliezer (Ex 2:22; 18:3–4; 1 Chr 23:15).

7:30 After forty years. Plus the 40 years of v. 23, making the 80 years of Ex 7:7. Mount Sinai. Called Horeb in Ex 3:1 (see note there).

7:35 This Moses . . . sent to be both a ruler and a deliverer. Israel rejected Moses, their deliverer, just as the Jews of Stephen's day were rejecting Jesus, their deliverer. Yet both were sent by God. angel who appeared to him in the thorn bush. See Ex 3:2.

7:37 prophet like me. See 3:22–23; see also note on Deut 18:15.

7:38 angel who was speaking to him. According to Jewish interpretation at that time, the law was given to Moses by angel mediation—after the manner of the original call of Moses (see Ex 3:2; see also v. 53; Gal 3:19; Heb 2:2). he received living oracles to pass on to you. Moses was the mediator between God and man on Mount Sinai.

7:39 unwilling to be obedient to him. Another rejection of God's representative and His commands.

7:40 MAKE FOR US GODS. While Moses was on Sinai receiving the law, the people made the golden calf, rejecting God and His representative (Ex 32:1). The people had not traveled far from the idolatry of Egypt.

42 "But God [a]turned away and delivered them up to [1]serve the [2]host of heaven; as it is written in the book of the prophets, '[b]IT WAS NOT TO ME THAT YOU OFFERED VICTIMS AND SACRIFICES [c]FORTY YEARS IN THE WILDERNESS, WAS IT, O HOUSE OF ISRAEL?

43 '[a]YOU ALSO TOOK ALONG THE TABERNACLE OF MOLOCH AND THE STAR OF THE GOD [1]ROMPHA, THE IMAGES WHICH YOU MADE TO WORSHIP. I ALSO WILL REMOVE YOU BEYOND BABYLON.'

44 "Our fathers had [a]the tabernacle of testimony in the wilderness, just as He who spoke to Moses directed him to make it [b]according to the pattern which he had seen.

45 "And having received it in their turn, our fathers [a]brought it in with [1]Joshua upon dispossessing the [2]nations whom God drove out before our fathers, until the time of David.

46 "[a]David found favor in God's sight, and [b]asked that he might find a dwelling place for the [1]God of Jacob.

47 "But it was [a]Solomon who built a house for Him.

48 "However, [a]the Most High does not dwell in houses made by human hands; as the prophet says:

49 '[a]HEAVEN IS MY THRONE,
AND EARTH IS THE FOOTSTOOL OF MY FEET;
WHAT KIND OF HOUSE WILL YOU BUILD FOR ME?' says the Lord,
'OR WHAT PLACE IS THERE FOR MY REPOSE?
50 '[a]WAS IT NOT MY HAND WHICH MADE ALL THESE THINGS?'

51 "You men who are [a]stiff-necked and uncircumcised in heart and ears are always resisting the Holy Spirit; you are doing just as your fathers did.

52 "[a]Which one of the prophets did your fathers not persecute? They killed those who had previously announced the coming of [b]the Righteous One, whose betrayers and murderers [c]you have now become;

53 you who received the law as [a]ordained by angels, and yet did not keep it."

Stephen Put to Death

54 Now when they heard this, they were [a]cut to the quick, and they began gnashing their teeth at him.

55 But being [a]full of the Holy Spirit, he [b]gazed intently into heaven and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing [c]at the right hand of God;

56 and he said, "Behold, I see the [a]heavens opened up and [b]the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God."

57 But they cried out with a loud voice, and covered their ears and rushed at him with one impulse.

58 When they had [a]driven him out of the city, they began stoning him; and [b]the witnesses [c]laid aside their robes at the feet of [d]a young man named Saul.

59 They went on stoning Stephen as he [a]called on the Lord and said, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit!"

60 Then [a]falling on his knees, he cried out with a loud voice, "Lord, [b]do not hold this sin against them!" Having said this, he [1][c]fell asleep.

Saul Persecutes the Church

8 [a]Saul was in hearty agreement with putting him to death.

And on that day a great persecution [1]began against [b]the church in Jerusalem, and they were all [c]scattered throughout the regions of Judea and [d]Samaria, except the apostles.

7:42 God . . . delivered them up. See note on Rom 1:24.
7:43 Stephen quotes Amos 5:25–27 as translated in the Septuagint, except that he replaces Damascus with Babylon in view of the fact that the final exile of Israel from the promised land was carried out by the Babylonians (Amos was speaking first of the Assyrian exile of the northern kingdom).
7:44–50 Because he had been accused of speaking against the "holy place" (6:13), Stephen concludes his recital with a word about the sanctuary. Presumably, he had been preaching that the risen Christ had now replaced the temple as the mediation of God's saving presence among His people and as the one (the "place") through whom they (and "all the nations," Mark 11:17) could come to God in prayer (see note on 6:13).
7:44 tabernacle of testimony. So called by Stephen because the primary contents of the wilderness tabernacle were the ark of the covenant and the two covenant tablets it contained, which were called "the testimony" (see Ex 25:16,21 and notes).
7:49 Isaiah reminded Israel that all creation is the temple that God Himself had made. Stephen recalls that word to remind his hearers that ultimately God builds His own temple.
7:51 uncircumcised in heart and ears. Though physically circumcised, they were acting like the uncircumcised pagan nations around them. They were not truly consecrated to the Lord.
7:53 law as ordained by angels. See note on v. 38.
7:55 full of the Holy Spirit. See note on 2:4; see also 6:5.
7:56 Son of Man. See note on Mark 8:31. Jesus used this title of Himself (see Mark 2:10) to emphasize His relationship to Messianic prediction (Matt 25:31; Dan 7:13–14). It is unusual for someone other than Jesus to apply this term to Christ (see also Rev 1:13).
7:58 laid aside their robes at the feet of . . . Saul. Some have thought that this marked Saul as being in charge of the execution. In any case, it is Luke's way of introducing the main character of the second section of the book.
7:60 do not hold this sin against them. Compare with Jesus' words (Luke 23:34).
8:1 hearty agreement. See 22:20. scattered throughout . . . Judea and Samaria. The beginning of the fulfillment of the commission in 1:8—not by the church's plan, but by events beyond the believers' control. See map, p. 1598. except the apostles. For the apostles to stay in Jerusalem would be an encouragement to those in prison and a center of appeal to those scattered. The church now went underground.

2 Some devout men buried Stephen, and made loud lamentation over him.

3 But [a]Saul began ravaging the church, entering house after house, and [b]dragging off men and women, he would put them in prison.

Philip in Samaria

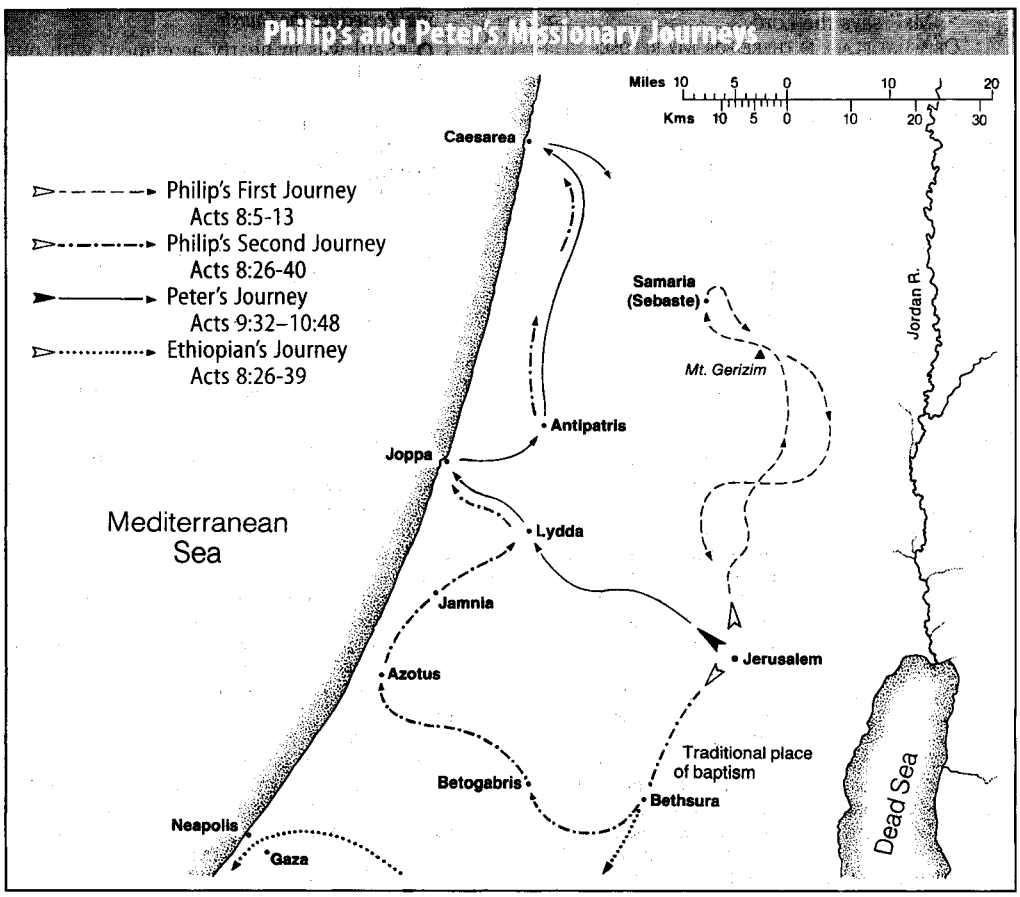
4 Therefore, those [a]who had been scattered went about [1b]preaching the word.

5 [a]Philip went down to the city of Samaria and began proclaiming [1]Christ to them.

6 The crowds with one accord were giving attention to what was said by Philip, as they heard and saw the [1]signs which he was performing.

7 For in the case of many who had [a]unclean spirits, they were coming out of them shouting with a loud voice; and many who had been [b]paralyzed and lame were healed.

8 So there was [a]much rejoicing in that city.



9 Now there was a man named Simon, who formerly was practicing [a]magic in the city and astonishing the people of Samaria, [b]claiming to be someone great;

10 and they all, from smallest to greatest, were giving attention to him, saying, "[a]This man is what is called the Great Power of God."

11 And they were giving him attention

8:3 began ravaging. See 22:4. The Greek underlying this phrase sometimes describes the ravages of wild animals.
8:4 preaching the word. Many witnesses to the gospel went everywhere proclaiming the good news. The number of witnesses multiplied, and the territory covered was expanded greatly (cf. 11:19–20).
8:5 Philip. One of the Seven in the Jerusalem church (6:3,5; see note on 6:6), who now becomes an evangelist, proclaiming the Christ (Messiah); see also 21:8. Philip is an example of one of those who were scattered. the city of Samaria. A reference to the old capital Samaria, renamed Sebaste or Neapolis (modern Nablus).
8:9 Simon. In early Christian literature the "sorcerer" (Simon Magus) is described as the arch-heretic of the church and the "father" of Gnostic teaching.
8:10 the Great Power of God. Simon claimed to be either God Himself or, more likely, His chief representative.
8:13 Simon himself believed; . . . baptized. It is difficult to know because he had for a long time astonished them with his [a]magic arts.

12 But when they believed Philip [a]preaching the good news about the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, they were being [b]baptized, men and women alike.

13 Even Simon himself believed; and after being baptized, he continued on with Philip, and as he observed [a]signs and [b]great miracles taking place, he was constantly amazed.

14 Now when [a]the apostles in Jerusalem heard that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent them [b]Peter and John, 15 who came down and prayed for them [a]that they might receive the Holy Spirit.

16 For He had [a]not yet fallen upon any of them; they had simply been [b]baptized [1]in the name of the Lord Jesus.

17 Then they [a]began laying their hands on them, and they were [b]receiving the Holy Spirit.

18 Now when Simon saw that the Spirit was bestowed through the laying on of the apostles' hands, he offered them money,

19 saying, "Give this authority to me as well, so that everyone on whom I lay my hands may receive the Holy Spirit."

20 But Peter said to him, "May your silver perish with you, because you thought you could [a]obtain the gift of God with money!

21 "You have [a]no part or portion in this [1]matter, for your heart is not [b]right before God.

22 "Therefore repent of this wickedness of yours, and pray the Lord that, [a]if possible, the intention of your heart may be forgiven you.

23 "For I see that you are in the gall of bitterness and in [a]the [1]bondage of iniquity."

24 But Simon answered and said, "[a]Pray to the Lord for me yourselves, so that nothing of what you have said may come upon me."

An Ethiopian Receives Christ

25 So, when they had solemnly [a]testified and spoken [b]the word of the Lord, they started back to Jerusalem, and were [c]preaching the gospel to many villages of the [d]Samaritans.

26 But [a]an angel of the Lord spoke to [b]Philip saying, "Get up and go south to the road that descends from Jerusalem to [c]Gaza." ([1]This is a desert road.)

27 So he got up and went; and [a]there was an Ethiopian eunuch, a court official of Candace, queen of the Ethiopians, who was in charge of all her treasure; and he [b]had come to Jerusalem to worship,

28 and he was returning and sitting in his [1]chariot, and was reading the prophet Isaiah.

29 Then [a]the Spirit said to Philip, "Go up and join this [1]chariot."

30 Philip ran up and heard him reading Isaiah the prophet, and said, "Do you understand what you are reading?"

31 And he said, "Well, how could I, unless someone guides me?" And he invited Philip to come up and sit with him.

32 Now the passage of Scripture which he was reading was this:

"[a]HE WAS LED AS A SHEEP TO SLAUGHTER;
AND AS A LAMB BEFORE ITS SHEARER IS SILENT,
SO HE DOES NOT OPEN HIS MOUTH.

33 "[a]IN HUMILIATION HIS JUDGMENT WAS TAKEN AWAY;
WHO WILL [1]RELATE HIS [2]GENERATION?
FOR HIS LIFE IS REMOVED FROM THE EARTH."

34 The eunuch answered Philip and said, "Please tell me, of whom does the prophet say this? Of himself or of someone else?"

35 Then Philip [a]opened his mouth, and [b]beginning from this Scripture he [c]preached Jesus to him.

36 As they went along the road they came to some water; and the eunuch *said, "Look! Water! [a]What prevents me from being baptized?"

whether Simon's faith was genuine. Even though Luke says Simon believed, Peter's statement that Simon had no part in the apostles' ministry because his heart was not "right before God" (v. 21) casts some doubt.

8:14 had received the word of God. Were obedient to the gospel proclaimed by Philip. sent them Peter and John. The Jerusalem church assumed the responsibility of inspecting new evangelistic efforts and the communities of believers they produced (see 11:22).

8:16 not yet fallen upon any of them. Since the day of Pentecost, those who belong to Christ (see Rom 8:9) also have the Holy Spirit. But the Spirit had not yet been made manifest to the Christians in Samaria by the usual signs. This deficiency was now graciously supplied (v. 17).

8:17 began laying their hands on them. See v. 18; 19:1–7; cf. 2 Tim 1:6; see also note on 6:6.

8:18 he offered them money. Simon had boasted of having great powers before (see v. 10 and note), and now he tried to buy this magical power he believed the apostles possessed.

8:23 in the gall of bitterness. See Deut 29:18.

8:26 an angel of the Lord. Cf. v. 29; see note on 5:19. from Jerusalem to Gaza. A distance of about 50 miles.

8:27 an Ethiopian. Ethiopia corresponded in this period to Nubia, from the upper Nile region at the first cataract (Aswan) to Khartoum. Candace. The traditional title of the queen mother, responsible for performing the secular duties of the reigning king—who was thought to be too sacred for such activities. come to Jerusalem to worship. If not a full-fledged proselyte (Deut 23:1), the Ethiopian was a Gentile God-fearer.

8:30 heard him reading. It was customary practice to read aloud.

8:34 of whom does the prophet say this? Beginning with Is 53 (see v. 35), Philip may have identified the suffering servant with the Davidic Messiah of Is 11 or with the Son of Man (Dan 7:13).

8:35 preached Jesus. Proclaimed the way of salvation through Jesus Christ.

8:36 they came to some water. There were several possibilities: a brook in the Valley of Elah (which David crossed to meet Goliath, 1 Sam 17:40); the Wadi el-Hasi just north of Gaza; water from a spring or one of the many pools in the area.

37 [1And Philip said, "If you believe with all your heart, you may." And he answered and said, "I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God."]

38 And he ordered the 1chariot to stop; and they both went down into the water, Philip as well as the eunuch, and he baptized him.

39 When they came up out of the water, [a]the Spirit of the Lord snatched Philip away; and the eunuch no longer saw him, 1but went on his way rejoicing.

40 But Philip 1found himself at 2[a]Azotus, and as he passed through he [b]kept preaching the gospel to all the cities until he came to [c]Caesarea.

The Conversion of Saul

9 [a]Now 1Saul, still [b]breathing 2threats and murder against the disciples of the Lord, went to the high priest,

2 and asked for [a]letters from him to [b]the synagogues at [c]Damascus, so that if he found any belonging to [d]the Way, both men and women, he might bring them bound to Jerusalem.

3 As he was traveling, it happened that he was approaching Damascus, and [a]suddenly a light from heaven flashed around him;

4 and [a]he fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to him, "Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting Me?"

5 And he said, "Who are You, Lord?" And He said, "I am Jesus whom you are persecuting,

6 but get up and enter the city, and [a]it will be told you what you must do."

7 The men who traveled with him [a]stood speechless, [b]hearing the 1voice but seeing no one.

8 Saul got up from the ground, and [a]though his eyes were open, he 1could see nothing; and leading him by the hand, they brought him into [b]Damascus.

9 And he was three days without sight, and neither ate nor drank.

10 Now there was a disciple at [a]Damascus named [b]Ananias; and the Lord said to him in [c]a vision, "Ananias." And he said, "Here I am, Lord."

11 And the Lord said to him, "Get up and go to the street called Straight, and inquire at the house of Judas for a man from [a]Tarsus named Saul, for he is praying, 12 and he has seen 1in a vision a man named Ananias come in and [a]lay his hands on him, so that he might regain his sight."

13 But Ananias answered, "Lord, I have heard from many about this man, [a]how much harm he did to [b]Your 1saints at Jerusalem;

14 and here he [a]has authority from the chief priests to bind all who [b]call on Your name."

15 But the Lord said to him, "Go, for [a]he is a chosen 1instrument of Mine, to bear My name before [b]the Gentiles and [c]kings and the sons of Israel;

16 for [a]I will show him how much he must suffer for My name's sake."

17 So Ananias departed and entered the 8:39 rejoicing. Joy is associated with salvation in Acts (see note on 16:34).

8:40 Azotus. OT Ashdod (see 1 Sam 5:1), one of the five Philistine cities. It was about 19 miles from Gaza and 60 miles from Caesarea. Caesarea. Rebuilt by Herod and with an excellent harbor, it served as the headquarters of the Roman procurators. The account leaves Philip in Caesarea at this time; his next appearance is 20 years later, and he is still located in the same place (21:8).

9:1 Saul. Introduced at the stoning of Stephen (7:58), he was born in Tarsus and trained under Gamaliel (22:3). See note on Phil 3:4–14. threats and murder. We do not know that Saul was directly involved in the death of anyone other than Stephen (8:1), but there appear to have been similar cases (22:4; 26:10). high priest. Probably Caiaphas (see note on 4:6) and the members of the Sanhedrin, who had authority over Jews both in Judea and elsewhere.

9:2 Damascus. Located in the Roman province of Syria, it was the nearest important city outside the Holy Land. It also had a large Jewish population. The distance from Jerusalem to Damascus was about 150 miles, four to six days' travel. the Way. A name for Christianity occurring a number of times in Acts (16:17; 18:25–26; 19:9,23; 22:4; 24:14,22; see 2 Pet 2:2). Jesus called himself "the way" (John 14:6). bound to Jerusalem. Where the full authority of the Council could be exercised in trial for either acquittal or death.

9:3 a light from heaven. "At midday" (26:13).

9:4 why are you persecuting Me? To persecute the church is to persecute Christ, for the church is His body (see 1 Cor 12:27; Eph 1:22–23).

9:5 Who are You, Lord? In rabbinic tradition such a voice from heaven would have been understood as the voice of God Himself. The solemn repetition of Saul's name and the bright light suggested to him that he was in the presence of deity.

9:7 hearing the voice. Those with Saul heard the voice but "did not understand" (22:9) what it was saying (cf. Dan 10:7).

9:10 Ananias. This Ananias is mentioned elsewhere only in 22:12. His was a common name (5:1; 23:2). The Greek form is derived from the Hebrew name Hananiah, meaning "The LORD is gracious/shows grace" (see Dan 1:6).

9:11 street called Straight. Probably followed the same route of the long, straight street that today runs through the city from east to west. It is a decided contrast to the numerous crooked streets of the city (see map, p. 1589). Tarsus. See note on 22:3. praying. Prayer is often associated with visions in Luke and Acts (see 10:9–11; Luke 1:10; 3:21; 9:28).

9:13,32 saints. See notes on Rom 1:7; Phil 1:1.

9:15 before the Gentiles. See Rom 1:13–14. kings. Agrippa (26:1) and Caesar at Rome (25:11–12; 28:19).

9:17 Jesus, who appeared to you. The Damascus road experience was not merely a vision. The resurrected Christ actually appeared to Saul, and on this fact Saul based his qualification house, and after [a]laying his hands on him said, "[b]Brother Saul, the Lord Jesus, who appeared to you on the road by which you were coming, has sent me so that you may regain your sight and be [c]filled with the Holy Spirit."

18 And immediately there fell from his eyes something like scales, and he regained his sight, and he got up and was baptized;

19 and he took food and was strengthened.

Saul Begins to Preach Christ

Now [a]for several days he was with [b]the disciples who were at Damascus,

20 and immediately he began to proclaim Jesus [a]in the synagogues, [1]saying, "He is [b]the Son of God."

21 All those hearing him continued to be amazed, and were saying, "Is this not he who in Jerusalem [a]destroyed those who [b]called on this name, and who had come here for the purpose of bringing them bound before the chief priests?"

22 But Saul kept increasing in strength and confounding the Jews who lived at Damascus by proving that this Jesus is the [1]Christ.

23 When [a]many days had elapsed, [b]the Jews plotted together to do away with him,

24 but [a]their plot became known to Saul. [b]They were also watching the gates day and night so that they might put him to death; to be an apostle (1 Cor 9:1; 15:8).

9:20 immediately. Following his baptism. synagogues. It became Saul's regular practice to preach at every opportunity in the synagogues (13:5; 14:1; 17:1–2,10; 18:4,19; 19:8). He is the Son of God. Saul's message was a declaration of what he himself had become convinced of on the Damascus road: Christ's deity and Messiahship (see v. 22 and note on Luke 2:11).

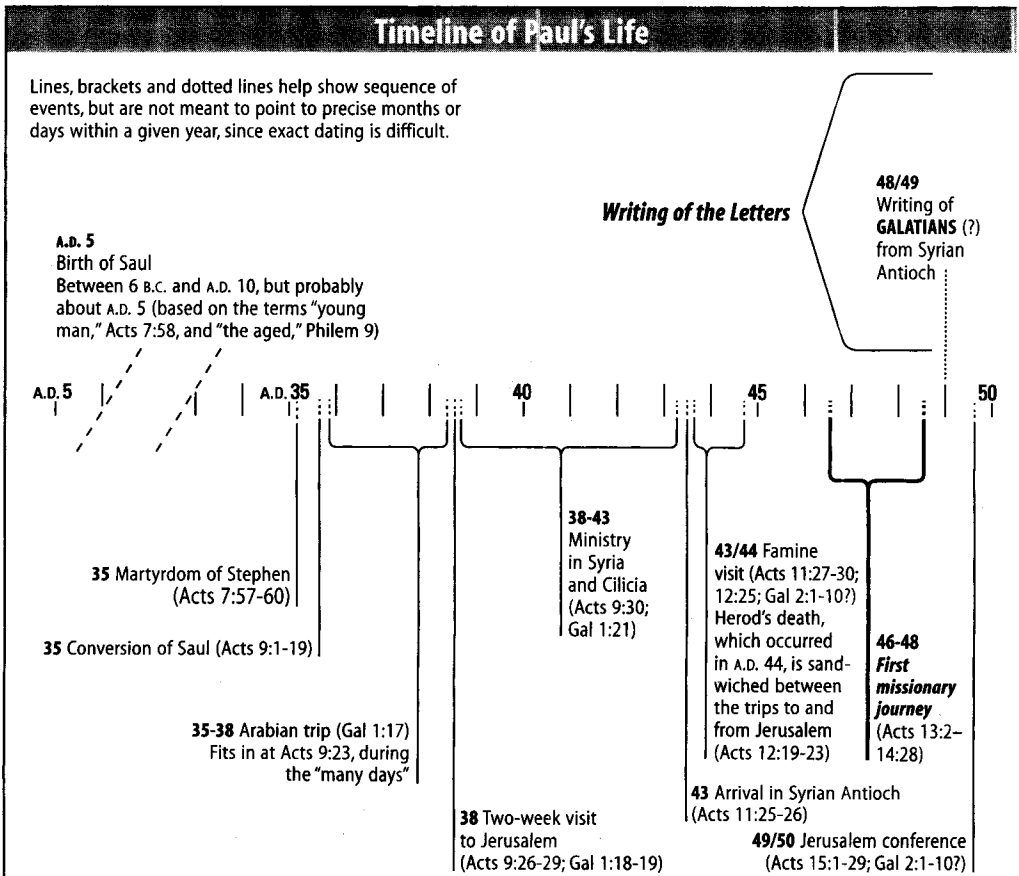
9:23 When many days had elapsed. Three years (Gal 1:17–18). It is probable that the major part of this period was spent in Arabia, away from Damascus, though the borders of Arabia extended to the environs of Damascus. the Jews plotted together to do away with him. Upon his return to Damascus, the governor under Aretas gave orders for his arrest (2 Cor 11:32). The absence of Roman coins struck in Damascus between A.D. 34 and 62 may indicate that Aretas was in control during that period.

Roman Damascus

Damascus represented much more to Saul, the strict Pharisee, than any other stop on his campaign of repression. It was the hub of a vast commercial network with far-flung lines of caravan trade reaching into north Syria, Mesopotamia, Anatolia, Persia and Arabia. If the new "Way" of Christianity flourished in Damascus, it would quickly reach all these places. From the viewpoint of the Sanhedrin and of Saul, the arch-persecutor, it had to be stopped in Damascus.

The city itself was a veritable oasis, situated in a plain watered by the Biblical rivers Abanah and Pharpar.

Roman architecture overlaid the Hellenistic town plan with a great temple to Jupiter and a mile-long colonnaded street, the "street called Straight" of Acts 9:11. The city gates and a section of the town wall may still be seen today, as well as the lengthy bazaar that runs along the line of the ancient street.



The dominant political figure at the time of Paul's escape from Damascus (2 Cor 11:32-33) was Aretas IV, king of the Nabateans (9 B.C.-A.D. 40), though normally the Decapolis cities were attached to the province of Syria and were thus under the influence of Rome.

25 but his disciples took him by night and let him down through an opening in the wall, lowering him in a large basket.
26 [a]When he came to Jerusalem, he was trying to associate with the disciples; [1]but they were all afraid of him, not believing that he was a disciple.
27 But [a]Barnabas took hold of him and brought him to the apostles and described to them how he had [b]seen the Lord on the road, and that He had talked to him, and how [c]at Damascus he had [d]spoken out boldly in the name of Jesus.
28 And he was with them, [1]moving about freely in Jerusalem, [a]speaking out boldly in the name of the Lord.
29 And he was talking and arguing with the [1a]Hellenistic Jews; but they were attempting to put him to death.
30 But when [a]the brethren learned of it, they brought him down to [b]Caesarea and [c]sent him away to [d]Tarsus.
31 So [a]the church throughout all Judea and Galilee and Samaria [1]enjoyed peace,

9:26 he came to Jerusalem. From Gal 1:19 we learn that all the apostles were away except Peter and James, the Lord's brother. James was not one of the twelve, but he held a position in Jerusalem comparable to that of an apostle.
9:27 Barnabas. See note on 4:36.
9:29 he was talking and arguing. Formerly Saul was arguing against Christ; now he is forcefully presenting Jesus as the Messiah.

The singular thus does not here refer to the various congregations but to the church as a whole (see note on 5:11). going on . . . in the comfort of the Holy Spirit. The work of the Spirit is particularly noted throughout the book of Acts (see 13:2 and note on 1:2). This is why the book is sometimes called the Acts of the Holy Spirit.

the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Spirit, it continued to increase.

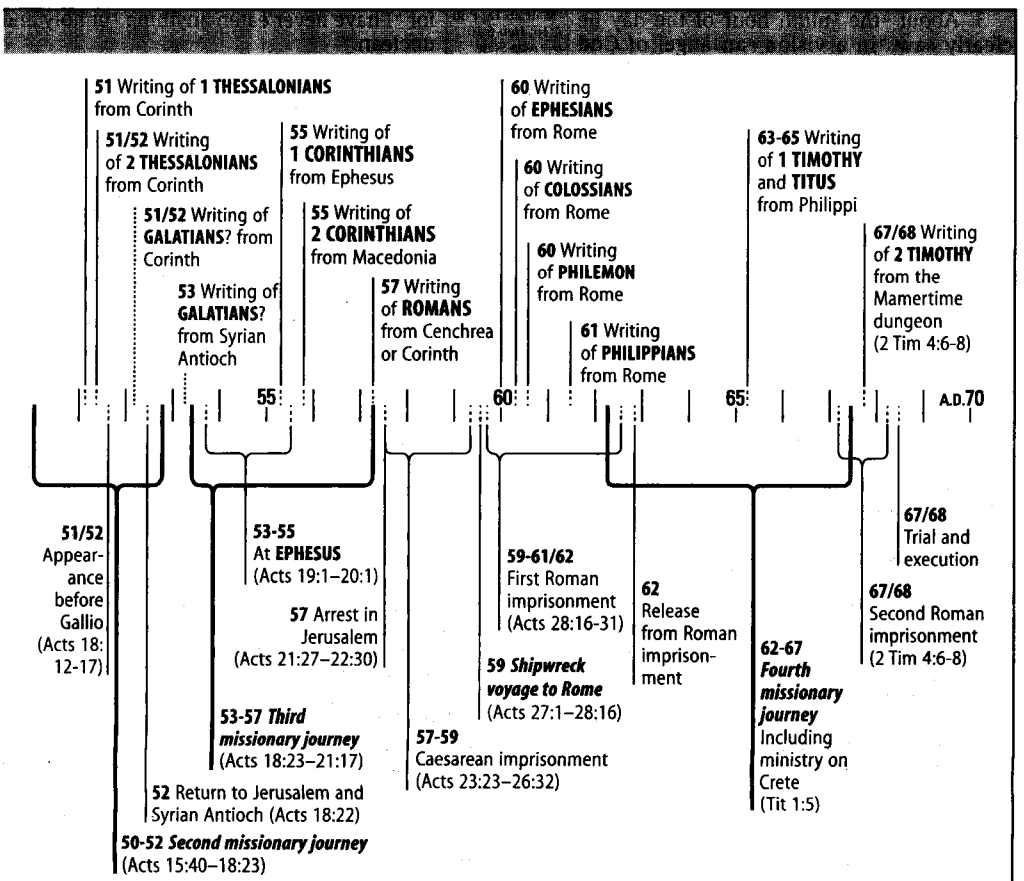
Peter's Ministry

32 Now as Peter was traveling through all those regions, he came down also to [a]the [1]saints who lived at [2b]Lydda.

33 There he found a man named Aeneas, who had been bedridden eight years, for he was paralyzed.

34 Peter said to him, "Aeneas, Jesus Christ heals you; get up and make your bed." Immediately he got up.

35 And all who lived at [1a]Lydda and [b]Sharon saw him, and they [c]turned to the Lord.



36 Now in [a]Joppa there was a disciple named Tabitha (which translated in Greek is called [1]Dorcas); this woman was abounding with deeds of kindness and charity which she continually did.

37 And it happened [1]at that time that she fell sick and died; and when they had washed her body, they laid it in an [a]upper room.

38 Since Lydda was near [a]Joppa, [b]the dis-

9:32 Lydda. A town two or three miles north of the road connecting Joppa and Jerusalem. Lydda is about 12 miles from Joppa.
9:33 Aeneas. Since Peter was there to visit the believers, Aeneas was probably one of the Christians.
9:35 Sharon. The fertile plain of Sharon runs about 50 miles along the Mediterranean coast, roughly from Joppa to Caesarea. The reference here, however, may be to a village in the neighborhood of Lydda instead of to a district (an Egyptian papyrus refers to a town by that name in the Holy Land).
9:36 Joppa. About 38 miles from Jerusalem, the main seaport of Judea. Today it is known as Jaffa and is a suburb of Tel Aviv.
9:37 washed her body. In preparation for burial, a custom common to both Jews (Purification of the Dead) and Greeks. upper room. If burial was delayed, it was customary to lay the body in an upper room. In Jerusalem the body had to be buried the day the person died, but outside Jerusalem up to three days might be allowed for burial.
9:38 near Joppa. See note on v. 32. Do not delay in coming. Whether for consolation or for a miracle, Peter was urged to ciples, having heard that Peter was there, sent two men to him, imploring him, "Do not delay in coming to us."

39 So Peter arose and went with them. When he arrived, they brought him into the [a]upper room; and all the [b]widows stood beside him, weeping and showing all the [1]tunics and garments that Dorcas used to make while she was with them.

40 But Peter [a]sent them all out and [b]knelt down and prayed, and turning to the body, he said, "[c]Tabitha, arise." And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter, she sat up.

41 And he gave her his hand and raised her up; and calling [a]the [1]saints and [b]widows, he presented her alive.

42 It became known all over [a]Joppa, and [b]many believed in the Lord.

43 And Peter stayed many days in [a]Joppa with [b]a tanner named Simon.

Cornelius's Vision

10 Now there was a man at [a]Caesarea named Cornelius, a centurion of what was [b]called the Italian [1]cohort,

2 a devout man and [a]one who feared God with all his household, and [b]gave many [1]alms to the Jewish people and prayed to God continually.

3 About [a]the [1]ninth hour of the day he clearly saw [b]in a vision [c]an angel of God who had just come in and said to him, "Cornelius!"

4 And [a]fixing his gaze on him and being much alarmed, he said, "What is it, Lord?"

hurry in order to arrive before the burial.

9:40 sent them all out. Cf. 1 Kin 17:23; 2 Kin 4:33. Peter had been present on all three occasions recorded in Scripture when Jesus raised individuals from the dead (Matt 9:25; Luke 7:11–17; John 11:1–44). As when Jesus raised Jairus's daughter, the crowd in the room was told to leave. Unlike Jesus, however, Peter knelt and prayed.

9:42 many believed. Cf. John 12:11.

9:43 a tanner. Occupations were frequently used with personal names to identify individuals further (see 16:14; 18:3; 19:24; 2 Tim 4:14), but in this case it is especially significant. A tanner was involved in treating the skins of dead animals, thus contacting the unclean according to Jewish law; so he was despised by many. Peter's decision to stay with him shows already a willingness to reject Jewish prejudice and prepares the way for his coming vision and the mission to the Gentiles.

10:1 Caesarea. Located 30 miles north of Joppa and named in honor of Augustus Caesar, it was the headquarters for the Roman forces of occupation (see also note on 8:40). Cornelius. A Latin name made popular when Cornelius Sulla liberated some 10,000 slaves over 100 years earlier. These had all taken his family name, Cornelius. centurion. Commanded a military unit that normally numbered at least 100 men (see note on Luke 7:2). The Roman legion (about 6,000 men) was divided into ten regiments, each of which had a designation. This was the "Italian" (another was the "Imperial," or "Augustan," 27:1). A centurion commanded about a sixth of a regiment. Centurions were carefully selected; all of them mentioned in the NT appear to have had noble qualities (e.g., Luke 7:5). The Roman centurions provided necessary stability to the entire Roman system.

10:2 devout. In spite of all his good deeds, Cornelius needed to hear the way of salvation from a human messenger. The role of the angel (v. 3) was to bring Cornelius and Peter together (cf. 8:26; 9:10). feared God. The term used of one who was not a full Jewish proselyte but who believed in one God and respected the moral and ethical teachings of the Jews.

10:3 About the ninth hour. Another indication that Cornelius followed Jewish religious practices. Three in the afternoon was a Jewish hour of prayer (see 3:1)—the hour of the evening incense. a vision. Not a dream or trance but a revelation through an angel to Cornelius while at prayer (see v. 30; see also note on 9:11).

10:4 memorial. A portion of the grain offering burned on the altar was called a "memorial" (Lev 2:2).

10:5–6 Joppa . . . tanner named Simon. See notes on 9:36,43.

10:9 housetop . . . to pray. It was customary for eastern houses to have flat roofs with outside stairways. The roof was used as a convenient place for relaxation and privacy.

10:10 fell into a trance. A state of mind God produced and used to communicate with Peter. It was not merely imagination or a dream. Peter's consciousness was heightened to receive the vision from God.

10:12 all kinds of four-footed animals. Including animals both clean and unclean according to Lev 11.

10:14 By no means, Lord. So deeply ingrained was the observance of the laws of clean and unclean that Peter refused to obey immediately. unholy and unclean. Anything common (impure) was forbidden by the law to be eaten.

15 Again a voice came to him a second time, "[a]What God has cleansed, no longer consider [1]unholy."

16 This happened three times, and immediately the [1]object was taken up into the [2]sky.

17 Now while Peter was greatly perplexed in [1]mind as to what [a]the vision which he had seen might be, behold, [b]the men who had been sent by Cornelius, having asked directions for Simon's house, appeared at the gate;

18 and calling out, they were asking whether Simon, who was also called Peter, was staying there.

19 While Peter was reflecting on [a]the vision, [b]the Spirit said to him, "Behold, [1]three men are looking for you.

20 "But get up, go downstairs and [a]accompany them [1]without misgivings, for I have sent them Myself."

21 Peter went down to the men and said, "Behold, I am the one you are looking for; what is the reason for which you have come?"

22 They said, "Cornelius, a centurion, a righteous and [a]God-fearing man well spoken of by the entire nation of the Jews, [b]was divinely directed by a [c]holy angel to send for you to come to his house and hear [1][d]a message from you."

23 So he invited them in and gave them lodging.

Peter at Caesarea

And on the next day he got up and went away with them, and [a]some of [b]the brethren from [c]Joppa accompanied him.

24 On the following day he entered [a]Caesarea. Now Cornelius was waiting for them and had called together his relatives and close friends.

25 When Peter entered, Cornelius met him, and fell at his feet and [1][a]worshiped him.

26 But Peter raised him up, saying, "[a]Stand up; I too am just a man."

Gentiles Hear Good News

34 [a]Opening his mouth, Peter said:

"I most certainly understand now that [b]God is not one to show partiality, 35 but [a]in every nation the man who [1][b]fears Him and [2]does what is right is welcome to Him.

36 "The word which He sent to the sons of Israel, [a]preaching [1][b]peace through Jesus Christ (He is [c]Lord of all)—

37 you yourselves know the thing which took place throughout all Judea, starting from Galilee, after the baptism which John proclaimed.

38 "[1]You know of [a]Jesus of Nazareth, how

10:15 God has cleansed. Jesus had already laid the groundwork for setting aside the laws of clean and unclean food (Matt 15:11; see 1 Tim 4:3–5).

10:16 three times. To make a due impression on Peter.

10:23 invited them in. By providing lodging for them, Peter was already taking the first step toward accepting Gentiles. Such intimate relationship with Gentiles was contrary to prescribed Jewish practice. the next day. It was too late in the day to start out on the long journey to Caesarea (see note on v. 1). some of the brethren. Six in number (11:12), they were Jewish in background (10:45).

10:26 I too am just a man. Possibly Cornelius was only intending to honor Peter as one having a rank superior to his own, since he was God's messenger. But Peter allowed no chance for misunderstanding—he was not to be worshiped as more than a created being.

10:28 God has shown me. Peter recognized that his vision had deeper significance than declaring invalid the distinction between clean and unclean meat; he saw that the barrier between Jew and Gentile had been removed (see Eph 2:11–22).

10:30 Four days ago. The Jews counted a part of a day as a day: (1) the day the angel appeared to Cornelius, (2) the day the messengers came to Joppa and Peter received a vision, (3) the day the group set out from Joppa and (4) the day they arrived at Cornelius's house. a man . . . in shining garments. Common language to describe an angel when appearing in the form of a man.

10:34 God is not one to show partiality. God does not favor an individual because of his station in life, his nationality or his material possessions (see note on James 2:1). He does, however, respect his character and judge his work. This is evident because "in every nation the man who fears Him and does what is right is welcome to Him" (v. 35). Cornelius already worshiped the true God, but this was not enough: He lacked faith in Christ (v. 36).

10:36 peace. Between God and man (reconciliation). Lord of all. Lord of both Jew and Gentile (see vv. 34–35).

10:37 after the baptism which John proclaimed. Similar to the God [b]anointed Him with the Holy Spirit and with power, [2c]and how He went about doing good and healing all who were oppressed by the devil, for [d]God was with Him.

39 "We are [a]witnesses of all the things He did both in the [1]land of the Jews and in Jerusalem. They also [b]put Him to death by hanging Him on a [2]cross.

40 "[a]God raised Him up on the third day and granted that He become visible, 41 [a]not to all the people, but to [b]witnesses who were chosen beforehand by God, that is, to us [c]who ate and drank with Him after He arose from the dead.

42 "And He [a]ordered us to [1]preach to the people, and solemnly to [b]testify that this is the One who has been [c]appointed by God as [d]Judge of the living and the dead.

43 "Of Him [a]all the prophets bear witness that through [b]His name everyone who believes in Him receives forgiveness of sins."

44 While Peter was still speaking these words, [a]the Holy Spirit fell upon all those who were listening to the [1]message.

45 [a]All the [1]circumcised believers who came with Peter were amazed, because the gift of the Holy Spirit had been [b]poured out on the Gentiles also.

46 For they were hearing them [a]speaking with tongues and exalting God. Then Peter answered,

47 "[a]Surely no one can refuse the water for these to be baptized who [b]have received the Holy Spirit just as we did, can he?"

48 And he [a]ordered them to be baptized [b]in the name of Jesus Christ. Then they asked him to stay on for a few days.

Peter Reports at Jerusalem

11 Now the apostles and [a]the brethren who were throughout Judea heard that the Gentiles also had received the word of God.

2 And when Peter came up to Jerusalem, [1a]those who were circumcised took issue with him,

3 saying, "[a]You [1]went to uncircumcised men and ate with them."

4 But Peter began speaking [1]and proceeded to explain to them [a]in orderly sequence, saying,

5 "[a]I was in the city of Joppa praying; and in a trance I saw [b]a vision, an [1]object coming down like a great sheet lowered by four corners from [2]the sky; and it came right down to me,

6 and when I had fixed my gaze on it and was observing it [1]I saw the four-footed animals of the earth and the wild beasts and the [2]crawling creatures and the birds of the [3]air.

7 "I also heard a voice saying to me, 'Get up, Peter; [1]kill and eat.'

8 "But I said, 'By no means, Lord, for nothing [1]unholy or unclean has ever entered my mouth.'

9 "But a voice from heaven answered a second time, '[a]What God has cleansed, no longer [1]consider unholy.'

10 "This happened three times, and everything was drawn back up into [1]the sky.

11 "And behold, at that moment three men appeared at the house in which we were staying, having been sent to me from [a]Caesarea.

12 "[a]The Spirit told me to go with them [1b]without misgivings. [c]These six brethren also went with me and we entered the man's house.

13 "And he reported to us how he had seen the angel [1]standing in his house, and saying, 'Send to Joppa and have Simon, who is also called Peter, brought here;

14 and he will speak [a]words to you by which you will be saved, you and [b]all your household.'

outline of Mark's Gospel, Peter's sermon begins with John's baptism and continues to the resurrection of Jesus. This is significant since the early church fathers viewed Mark as the "interpreter" of Peter (see Introduction to Mark: Author). See previous summaries of Peter's preaching (2:14–41; 3:12–26; 4:8–12; 5:29–32); see also note on 2:14–40.

10:38 how God anointed Him. See Is 61:1–3; Luke 4:18–21.

10:39 hanging him on a cross. See note on 5:30.

10:41 who ate and drank. Those who ate with Jesus after He rose from the dead received unmistakable evidence of His bodily resurrection (see Luke 24:42–43; John 21:12–15).

10:44 the Holy Spirit fell upon. See 8:16 and note.

10:45 amazed . . . on the Gentiles also. Apparently the early Jewish Christians failed to understand that the gospel was for the Gentiles as well as for the Jews, and that they would share alike in the benefits of redemption. Gentile proselytes to Judaism, however, were accepted (see 6:5).

10:47 Surely no one can refuse the water for these to be baptized . . . ? The Gentiles had received the same gift (11:17) as the Jewish believers; they spoke in tongues as did the Jewish Christians on the day of Pentecost. This was unavoidable evidence that the invitation to the kingdom was open to Gentiles as well as to Jews.

11:1 the apostles and the brethren. At times "brethren" is used to refer to those of common Jewish lineage (2:29; 7:2), but in Christian contexts it denotes those united in Christ (6:3; 10:23). In matters of deep concern, the apostles did not act alone. The divine will gave guidance, and the apostles interpreted and exhorted, but the consent of the whole church was sought ("the whole congregation," 6:5; "apostles and the brethren," 11:1; "the church," 11:22; "the church and the apostles and the elders," 15:4; cf. 15:22).

11:2 those . . . circumcised. Jewish Christians.

11:3 uncircumcised men. The Gentiles who would not observe the laws of clean and unclean food and would violate Jewish regulations concerning food preparation.

11:4–17 See notes on 10:1–23,28–33.

11:14 you and all your household. Not only the family but also slaves and employed individuals under Cornelius's authority (see note on Gen 6:18).

15 "And as I began to speak, [a]the Holy Spirit fell upon them just [b]as He did upon us at the beginning.

16 "And I remembered the word of the Lord, how He used to say, '[a]John baptized with water, but you will be baptized [1]with the Holy Spirit.'

17 "Therefore if [a]God gave to them the same gift as He gave to us also after believing in the Lord Jesus Christ, [b]who was I that I could [1]stand in God's way?"

18 When they heard this, they [1]quieted down and [a]glorified God, saying, "Well then, God has granted to the Gentiles also the [b]repentance that leads to life."

The Church at Antioch

19 [a]So then those who were scattered because of the [1]persecution that occurred in connection with Stephen made their way [2]to [b]Phoenicia and [c]Cyprus and [d]Antioch, speaking the word to no one except to Jews alone.

20 But there were some of them, men of [a]Cyprus and [b]Cyrene, who came to [c]Antioch and began speaking to the [1d]Greeks also, [2e]preaching the Lord Jesus.

21 And [a]the hand of the Lord was with them, and [b]a large number who believed turned to the Lord.

22 The [1]news about them [2]reached the ears of the church at Jerusalem, and they sent [a]Barnabas off [3]to [b]Antioch.

23 Then when he arrived and [1]witnessed [a]the grace of God, he rejoiced and began to encourage them all with [2]resolute heart to remain true to the Lord;

11:17 stand in God's way. Peter could not deny the Gentiles the invitation to be baptized (10:47) and to enjoy full fellowship in Christ with all believers. The Jewish believers were compelled to recognize that God was going to save Gentiles on equal terms with Jews. By divine action rather than by human choice, the door was being opened to Gentiles.

11:18 repentance that leads to life. A change of one's attitude toward sin, which leads to a turning from sin to God and results in eternal life (see note on 2:38).

11:19 Phoenicia. A country about 15 miles wide and 120 miles long stretching along the northeastern Mediterranean coast (modern Lebanon). Its important cities were Tyre and Sidon. Cyprus. An island in the northeastern Mediterranean; the home of Barnabas (4:36). Antioch. The third city of the Roman empire (after Rome and Alexandria). It was 15 miles inland from the northeast corner of the Mediterranean. The first largely Gentile local church was located here, and it was from this church that Paul's three missionary journeys were launched (13:1–4; 15:40; 18:23).

11:20 Cyrene. See note on 2:10. Greeks. Not Greek-speaking Jews, but Gentiles.

11:21 hand of the Lord. Cf. 4:30; 13:11; cf. also Luke 1:66. It indicates divine approval and blessing, sometimes evidenced by signs and wonders (see Ex 8:19).

11:22 Barnabas. See notes on 4:36; 9:27. Antioch. See note on v. 19. The sending of Barnabas was apparently in keeping with the Jerusalem church's policy of sending leaders to check on new ministries that came to their attention (see 8:14).

11:24 full of the Holy Spirit and of faith. See the description of Stephen (6:5).

11:25 Tarsus. See 9:11,30 and note on 22:3.

11:26 entire year. Luke notes definite periods of time (18:11; 19:8,10; 24:27; 28:30). Christians. Whether adopted by believers or invented by enemies as a term of reproach, it is an apt title for those "belonging to Christ" (the meaning of the term).

11:27 prophets. The first mention of the gift of prophecy in Acts. Prophets preach, exhort, explain or, as in this case, foretell (see 13:1; 15:32; 19:6; 21:9–10; Rom 12:6; 1 Cor 12:10; 13:2,8; 14:3,6,29–37; see also notes on Jon 3:2; Zech 1:1; Eph 4:11).

11:28 Agabus. Later foretells Paul's imprisonment (21:10). In Acts, prophets are engaged in foretelling (v. 27; 21:9–10) at least as often as in "forthtelling" (15:32).

11:30 elders. First reference to them in Acts (see notes on 1 Tim 3:1; 5:17). Since the apostles are not mentioned, they may have been absent from Jerusalem at this time.

12:1 about that time. Some hold that the events recorded in ch. 12 group together matters concerning Herod and may not be in strict chronological order. For example, the arrival of Barnabas and Saul in Jerusalem (11:30) may have followed Herod's persecution and Peter's release from prison. Since the date of Herod's death was A.D. 44, these events would probably have occurred in 43. According to this view, the famine of 11:28 occurred c. 46, following Herod's death (v. 23). Others hold that such juggling of events is not necessary. Thus the relief gift of 11:30 came before Herod's death in 44, and the return of Barnabas and Saul (v. 25) followed Herod's death. According to the former view, the Jerusalem visit of Gal 2:1–10 was the famine visit of v. 25; 11:30. According to the latter view, the Gal 2:1 vis-

2 And he [a]had James the brother of John [b]put to death with a sword.

3 When he saw that it [a]pleased the Jews, he proceeded to arrest Peter also. Now [1]it was during [b]the days of Unleavened Bread.

4 When he had seized him, he put him in prison, delivering him to four [1a]squads of soldiers to guard him, intending after [b]the Passover to bring him out before the people.

5 So Peter was kept in the prison, but prayer for him was being made fervently by the church to God.

6 On [1]the very night when Herod was about to bring him forward, Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, [a]bound with two chains, and guards in front of the door were watching over the prison.

7 And behold, [a]an angel of the Lord suddenly [b]appeared and a light shone in the cell; and he struck Peter's side and woke him up, saying, "Get up quickly." And [c]his chains fell off his hands.

8 And the angel said to him, "Gird yourself and [1]put on your sandals." And he did so. And he *said to him, "Wrap your cloak around you and follow me."

9 And he went out and continued to follow, and he did not know that what was being done by the angel was real, but thought he was seeing [a]a vision.

10 When they had passed the first and second guard, they came to the iron gate that leads into the city, which [a]opened for them by itself; and they went out and went along one street, and immediately the angel departed from him.

11 When Peter [a]came [1]to himself, he said, "Now I know for sure that [b]the Lord has sent forth His angel and rescued me from the hand of Herod and from all [2]that the Jewish people were expecting."

12 And when he realized this, he went to the house of Mary, the mother of [a]John who was also called Mark, where many were gathered together and [b]were praying.

13 When he knocked at the door of the gate, [a]a servant-girl named Rhoda came to answer.

14 When she recognized Peter's voice, [a]because of her joy she did not open the gate, but ran in and announced that Peter was standing in front of the gate.

15 They said to her, "You are out of your mind!" But she kept insisting that it was so. They kept saying, "It is [a]his angel."

16 But Peter continued knocking; and when they had opened the door, they saw him and were amazed.

17 But [a]motioning to them with his hand to be silent, he described to them how the Lord had led him out of the prison. And he said, "Report these things to [1b]James and [c]the brethren." Then he left and went to another place.

18 Now when day came, there was no small disturbance among the soldiers as to [1]what could have become of Peter.

19 When Herod had searched for him and had not found him, he examined the guards and ordered that they [a]be led away to execution. Then he went down from Judea to [b]Caesarea and was spending time there.

Death of Herod

20 Now he was very angry with the people of [a]Tyre and Sidon; and with one accord they came to him, and having won over Blastus the king's chamberlain, they were asking for peace, because [b]their country was fed by the king's country.

21 On an appointed day Herod, having put on his royal apparel, took his seat on the

it was the Jerusalem council visit of 15:1–29. Herod the king. Agrippa I, grandson of Herod the Great (see notes on Matt 2:1; 14:1) and son of Aristobulus. He was a nephew of Herod Antipas, who had beheaded John the Baptist (Matt 14:3–12) and had tried Jesus (Luke 23:8–12). When Antipas was exiled, Agrippa received his tetrarchy as well as those of Philip and Lysanias (see Luke 3:1). In A.D. 41 Judea and Samaria were added to his realm.

12:2 James. Brother of John the apostle and son of Zebedee (Matt 4:21). This event took place about ten years after Jesus' death and resurrection. Jesus had warned of their coming suffering (Matt 20:23). death with a sword. Beheaded, like John the Baptist.

12:3 days of Unleavened Bread. See note on Luke 22:1.

12:4 four squads. One company of four soldiers for each of the four watches of the night. Passover. Another way of referring to the whole week of the festival (see note on Luke 22:1).

12:7 a light shone. The glory of the Lord (see Luke 2:9).

12:9 he went out. Out of the prison, probably the tower of Antonia, located at the northwest corner of the temple—the "barracks" where Paul was later held (see 21:34).

12:12 Mary. The aunt of Barnabas (see Col 4:10). Apparently her home was a gathering place for Christians. It may have been the location of the upper room where the Last Supper was held (see Mark 14:13–15; see also Acts 1:13) and the place of prayer in 4:31. John . . . Mark. See note on v. 25.

12:13 Rhoda. A hired servant, but in sympathy with the family and the church.

12:15 his angel. Reflects the belief that everyone has a personal angel who ministers to him (cf. Matt 18:10; Heb 1:14), adding the idea that such an angel occasionally showed himself and that his appearance resembled the person under his care.

12:16 they . . . were amazed. Though "prayer for him was being made fervently by the church" (v. 5).

12:17 James. The Lord's brother, a leader in the Jerusalem church (Gal 1:19). James, the brother of John, had been killed (see v. 2).

12:19 Caesarea. Not only a headquarters for Roman procurators, but Agrippa used it as his capital when no procurators were assigned to Judea (see notes on 8:40; 10:1).

12:20 Tyre and Sidon. The leading cities of Phoenicia (Lebanon today). They were dependent on the grainfields of Galilee for their food. Blastus. The treasurer; not otherwise known.

12:21 On an appointed day. A festival Herod was celebrating in honor of Claudius Caesar (Josephus, Antiquities, 19.8.2). royal

22 The people kept crying out, "The voice of a god and not of a man!"

23 And immediately [a]an angel of the Lord struck him because he did not give God the glory, and he was eaten by worms and [1]died.

24 But [a]the word of the Lord continued to grow and to be multiplied.

25 And [a]Barnabas and [a]Saul returned [1]from Jerusalem [b]when they had fulfilled their [2]mission, taking along with them [c]John, who was also called Mark.

First Missionary Journey

13 Now there were at [a]Antioch, in the [b]church that was there, [c]prophets and [d]teachers: [e]Barnabas, and Simeon who was called Niger, and Lucius of [f]Cyrene, and Manaen who had been brought up with [g]Herod the tetrarch, and Saul.

2 While they were ministering to the Lord and fasting, [a]the Holy Spirit said, "Set apart for Me [b]Barnabas and Saul for [c]the work to which I have called them."

3 Then, when they had fasted and [a]prayed and [b]laid their hands on them, [c]they sent them away.

4 So, being [a]sent out by the Holy Spirit, they went down to Seleucia and from there they sailed to [b]Cyprus.

5 When they reached Salamis, they began to proclaim the word of God in [a]the synagogues of the Jews; and they also had [b]John as their helper.

6 When they had gone through the whole island as far as Paphos, they found a [a]magician, a Jewish [b]false prophet whose name was Bar-Jesus,

7 who was with the [a]proconsul, Sergius Paulus, a man of intelligence. This man summoned Barnabas and Saul and sought to hear the word of God.

8 But Elymas the [a]magician (for so his name is translated) was opposing them, seeking to turn the [b]proconsul away from [c]the faith.

9 But Saul, who was also known as Paul, [1][a]filled with the Holy Spirit, fixed his gaze on him,

10 and said, "You who are full of all deceit and fraud, you [a]son of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness, will you not cease to make crooked [b]the straight ways of the Lord?

11 "Now, behold, [a]the hand of the Lord is upon you, and you will be blind and not see the sun for a time." And immediately a mist and a darkness fell upon him, and he went apparel. The historian Josephus describes a silver robe, dazzling bright, that Herod wore that day. When people acclaimed him a god, he did not deny it. He was seized with violent pains, was carried out and died five days later (Josephus, Antiquities, 19.8.2).

12:23 angel of the Lord. See note on v. 7. eaten by worms. A miserable death associated with Herod's acceptance of acclaim to be divine, but may also be seen as divine retribution for his persecution of the church.

12:24 the word of the Lord . . . multiplied. Third summary report of progress (see 6:7; 9:31). Three more follow (16:5; 19:20; 28:31).

12:25 John . . . Mark. See v. 12. He was perhaps the young man who fled on the night of Jesus' arrest (Mark 14:51–52). He wrote the second Gospel (see Introduction to Mark: Author; John Mark in the NT) and accompanied Barnabas and Saul on the first part of their first missionary journey (see notes on 15:38–39).

13:1 prophets. See note on 11:27. The special gift of inspiration experienced by OT prophets (Deut 18:18–20; 2 Pet 1:21) was known in the NT as well (2:17–18; 1 Cor 14:29–32; Eph 3:5). The prophets are second to the apostles in Paul's lists (1 Cor 12:28–29; Eph 2:20; 4:11; but cf. Luke 11:49; Rom 12:6; 1 Cor 12:10). teachers. See 11:26; 15:35; 18:11; 20:20; 28:31; 1 Cor 12:28–29; Eph 4:11. Barnabas . . . Saul. The church leaders at Antioch, perhaps listed in the order of their importance. Barnabas. See note on 4:36. He was sent originally to Antioch by the church in Jerusalem (11:22), had recently returned from taking alms to Jerusalem (12:25) and was a recognized leader in the church at Antioch. Simeon who was called Niger. "Simeon" suggests Jewish background; in that case, Niger (Latin for "black") may indicate his dark complexion. Lucius of Cyrene. Lucius is a Latin name. In the second group of preachers coming to Antioch, some were from Cyrene (11:20), capital of Libya (see 6:9 and note). Manaen. In Hebrew, Menahem. Since he was the foster brother of Herod Antipas, he would be able to tell of the thoughts and actions of Herod (see Luke 9:7–9).

13:2 ministering to the Lord and fasting. Paul's first missionary journey did not result from a planning session but from the Spirit's initiative as the leaders worshiped (see v. 4). The communication from the Holy Spirit may have come through the prophets.

13:3 laid their hands on them. For the purpose of separating the two for the designated work (see 14:26 for the completion of the mission). Fasting and prayer accompany this appointment (see 14:23; cf. Luke 2:37).

13:4 See map No. 11 at the end of the study Bible. Seleucia. The seaport of Antioch (16 miles to the west, and 5 miles upstream from the mouth of the Orontes River). Cyprus. Many Jews lived there, and the gospel had already been preached there (11:19–20; see note on 11:19).

13:5 Salamis. A town on the east coast of the central plain of Cyprus, near modern Famagusta. John. John Mark, a cousin of Barnabas (see Col 4:10); see also note on 12:25.

13:6 Paphos. At the western end of Cyprus, nearly 100 miles from Salamis. It was the headquarters for Roman rule. Bar-jesus. "Bar" is Aramaic for "son of"; "Jesus" is derived from the Greek for "Joshua" (see note on Matt 1:21).

13:7 proconsul. Since Cyprus was a Roman senatorial province, a proconsul was assigned to it.

13:8 Elymas. A Semitic name meaning "sorcerer" or "magician" or "wise man" (probably a self-assumed designation).

13:9 Saul . . . known as Paul. The names mean "asked [of God]" and "little" respectively. It was customary to have a given name, in this case Saul (Hebrew, Jewish background), and a later name, in this case Paul (Roman, Hellenistic background). From now on Saul is called Paul in Acts. This may be due to Saul's success in preaching to Paulus or to the fact that he is now entering the Gentile phase of his ministry. The order in which they are mentioned now changes from "Barnabas and Saul" to "Paul and Barnabas." Upon their return to the Jerusalem church, about seeking those who would lead him by the hand.

12 Then the [a]proconsul believed when he saw what had happened, being amazed at [b]the teaching of the Lord.

13 Now Paul and his companions put out to sea from [a]Paphos and came to [b]Perga in [c]Pamphylia; but [d]John left them and returned to Jerusalem.

14 But going on from Perga, they arrived at [a]Pisidian [b]Antioch, and on [c]the Sabbath day they went into [d]the synagogue and sat down.

15 After [a]the reading of the Law and [b]the Prophets [c]the synagogue officials sent to them, saying, "Brethren, if you have any word of exhortation for the people, say it."

16 Paul stood up, and [a]motioning with his hand said,

"Men of Israel, and [b]you who fear God, listen:

17 "The God of this people Israel [a]chose our fathers and [1b]made the people great during their stay in the land of Egypt, and with an uplifted arm [c]He led them out from it.

however, the order reverts to "Barnabas and Paul" (15:12).

13:12 proconsul believed. He was convinced by the miracle and the message.

13:13 Perga in Pamphylia. Perga was the capital of Pamphylia, a coastal province of Asia Minor between the provinces of Lycia and Cilicia, and was 5 miles inland and 12 miles east of the important seaport Attalia. John left them. Homesickness to get back to Jerusalem, an illness of Paul necessitating a change in plans and a trip to Galatia, and a change in leadership from Barnabas to Paul have all been suggested as reasons for John Mark's return. Paul's dissatisfaction with his departure is noted later (15:37–39).

13:14 Pisidian. See note on 14:24. Antioch. Named after Antiochus, king of Syria after the death of Alexander the Great. It was 110 miles from Perga and was at the hub of good roads and trade. The city had a large Jewish population. It was a Roman colony, which meant that a contingent of retired military men was settled there. They were given free land and were made citizens of the city of Rome, with all the accompanying privileges. synagogue. Paul's regular practice was to begin his preaching in the synagogue as long as the Jews would allow it (see v. 5; 14:1; 17:1,10,17; 18:4,19; 19:8). His reason for doing so was grounded in his understanding of God's redemptive plan (see v. 46; Rom 1:16; 2:9–10; see also Rom 9–11). He was not neglecting his Gentile mission, for the God-fearers (Gentiles committed to worshiping the one true God) were part of the audience. Moreover, the synagogue provided a ready-made preaching situation with a building, regularly scheduled meetings and a people who knew the OT Scriptures. It was customary to invite visitors, and especially visiting rabbis (such as Paul), to address the gathering.

13:15 the Law and the Prophets. Sections from the OT were read, followed by exposition and exhortation. officials. Those who were responsible for calling readers and preachers, arranging the service and maintaining order.

13:16 you who fear God. See note on 10:2.

13:19 about four hundred and fifty years. The 400 years of the 21 "Then they [a]asked for a king, and God gave them [b]Saul the son of Kish, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, for forty years.

22 "After He had [a]removed him, He raised up David to be their king, concerning whom He also testified and said, '[b]I HAVE FOUND DAVID the son of Jesse, A MAN AFTER MY HEART, who will do all My [1]will.'

23 "[a]From the descendants of this man, [b]according to promise, God has brought to Israel [c]a Savior, Jesus, 24 after [a]John had proclaimed before [1]His coming a [b]baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel.

25 "And while John [a]was completing his course, [b]he kept saying, 'What do you suppose that I am? I am not He. But behold, one is coming after me the sandals of whose feet I am not worthy to untie.'

26 "Brethren, sons of Abraham's family, and those among you who fear God, to us the message of [a]this salvation has been sent.

27 "For those who live in Jerusalem, and their [a]rulers, [b]recognizing neither Him nor the [1]utterances of [c]the prophets which are [d]read every Sabbath, fulfilled these by condemning Him.

28 "And though they found no ground for putting Him to death, they [a]asked Pilate that He be [1]executed.

29 "When they had [a]carried out all that was written concerning Him, [b]they took Him down from [c]the [1]cross and [d]laid Him in a tomb.

30 "But God [a]raised Him from the dead;

31 and for many days [a]He appeared to those who came up with Him from Galilee to Jerusalem, the very ones who are now [b]His witnesses to the people.

32 "And we [a]preach to you the good news of [b]the promise made to the fathers,

33 that God has fulfilled this promise [1]to our children in that He [a]raised up Jesus, as it is also written in the second Psalm, '[b]YOU ARE MY SON; TODAY I HAVE BEGOTTEN YOU.'

38 "Therefore let it be known to you, brethren, that [a]through [1]Him forgiveness of sins is proclaimed to you, 39 and [1]through Him [a]everyone who believes is [2]freed [3]from all things, from which you could not be [2]freed [3]through the Law of Moses.

40 "Therefore take heed, so that the thing spoken of [a]in the Prophets may not come upon you:

41 '[a]BEHOLD, YOU SCOFFERS, AND MARVEL, AND [1]PERISH;
FOR I AM ACCOMPLISHING A WORK IN YOUR DAYS,
A WORK WHICH YOU WILL NEVER BELIEVE, THOUGH SOMEONE SHOULD DESCRIBE IT TO YOU.' "

42 As [1]Paul and Barnabas were going out, the people kept begging that these [2]things might be spoken to them the next [a]Sabbath.

43 Now when the meeting of the synagogue had broken up, many of the Jews and of the [a]God-fearing [1][b]proselytes followed Paul and Barnabas, who, speaking to them, were urging them to continue in [c]the grace of God.

Paul Turns to the Gentiles

44 The next [a]Sabbath nearly the whole city assembled to hear the word of [1]the Lord.

45 But when [a]the Jews saw the crowds, they were filled with jealousy and began contradicting the things spoken by Paul, and were [1]blaspheming.

46 Paul and Barnabas spoke out boldly and said, "It was necessary that the word of God be spoken to you [a]first; since you repudiate it and judge yourselves unworthy of eternal life, behold, [b]we are turning to the Gentiles.

47 "For so the Lord has commanded us,
'[a]I HAVE PLACED YOU AS A [b]LIGHT FOR THE GENTILES, THAT YOU MAY [1]BRING SALVATION TO THE END OF THE EARTH.' "

48 When the Gentiles heard this, they

"stay in the land of Egypt" (v. 17; see note on 7:6) plus the 40 years in the wilderness and the time between the crossing of the Jordan and the distribution of the land (see Josh 14–19).

13:23 according to promise. See, e.g., Is 11:1–16.

13:29–31 cross . . . tomb . . . God raised . . . witnesses. See note on 3:14.

13:31 many days. Forty days (see 1:3).

13:33 TODAY I HAVE BEGOTTEN YOU. Here refers to the resurrection of Jesus (note on Ps 2:7–9; cf. Rom 1:4).

13:35 NOT ALLOW YOUR HOLY ONE TO UNDERGO DECAY. Quoted also in Peter's sermon at Pentecost (see note on 2:27).

13:39 freed from. Justification combines two aspects: (1) the forgiveness of sins (here); (2) the gift of righteousness (Rom 3:21–22).

13:46 It was necessary . . . spoken to you first. Since the gospel came from and was for the Jews first and since Paul was himself a Jew with great compassion for his people (Rom 9:1–5; 10:1–3). See note on v. 14.

began rejoicing and glorifying [a]the word of [1]the Lord; and as many as [b]had been appointed to eternal life believed.

49 And [a]the word of the Lord was being spread through the whole region.

50 But [a]the Jews incited the [1][b]devout women [c]of prominence and the leading men of the city, and instigated a persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and drove them out of their [2]district.

51 But [a]they shook off the dust of their feet in protest against them and went to [b]Iconium.

52 And the disciples were continually [a]filled with joy and with the Holy Spirit.

Acceptance and Opposition

14 In [a]Iconium [b]they entered the synagogue of the Jews together, and spoke in such a manner [c]that a large number of people believed, both of Jews and of [d]Greeks.

2 But [a]the Jews who [1][b]disbelieved stirred up the [2]minds of the Gentiles and embittered them against [c]the brethren.

3 Therefore they spent a long time there [a]speaking boldly with reliance upon the Lord, who was testifying to the word of His grace, granting that [1][b]signs and wonders be done by their hands.

4 [a]But the [1]people of the city were divided; and some [2]sided with [b]the Jews, and some with [c]the apostles.

5 And when an attempt was made by both the Gentiles and [a]the Jews with their rulers, to mistreat and to [b]stone them,

6 they became aware of it and fled to the cities of [a]Lycaonia, [b]Lystra and [c]Derbe, and the surrounding region;

9 This man was listening to Paul as he spoke, who, [a]when he had fixed his gaze on him and had seen that he had [b]faith to be [1]made well,

10 said with a loud voice, "Stand upright on your feet." [a]And he leaped up and began to walk.

11 When the crowds saw what Paul had done, they raised their voice, saying in the [a]Lycaonian language, "[b]The gods have become like men and have come down to us."

12 And they began calling Barnabas, [1]Zeus, and Paul, [2]Hermes, because he was [3]the chief speaker.

13 The priest of Zeus, whose temple was [1]just outside the city, brought oxen and garlands to the gates, and [a]wanted to offer sacrifice with the crowds.

14 But when [a]the apostles Barnabas and Paul heard of it, they [b]tore their [1]robes and rushed out into the crowd, crying out

15 and saying, "Men, why are you doing these things? We are also [a]men of the same nature as you, and [b]preach the gospel to you that you should turn from these [1][c]vain things to a [d]living God, [e]WHO MADE THE HEAVEN AND THE EARTH AND THE SEA AND ALL THAT IS IN THEM.

13:48 as many as had been appointed to eternal life believed. Possession of eternal life involves both human faith and divine appointment.

13:51 shook off the dust. To show the severance of responsibility and the repudiation of those who had rejected their message and had brought suffering to the servants of the Lord (see note on Luke 9:5). Iconium. Modern Konya; it was an important crossroads and agricultural center in the central plain of the province of Galatia.

13:52 filled . . . with the Holy Spirit. See note on 2:4.

14:1 large number. At first there was good success, then bitter opposition from the Jews (v. 2). But these evidently failed in their initial attempt, for Paul and Barnabas remained there a considerable time (v. 3). A second wave of persecution was planned, involving violence (v. 5).

14:3 was testifying . . . granting that signs and wonders. A major purpose of miracles was to confirm the truth of the words and the approval of God.

14:4 apostles. Both Paul and Barnabas are called apostles (see v. 14; see also note on Mark 6:30). The term is used here not of the twelve but in the broader sense to refer to persons sent on a mission, i.e., missionaries (see 13:2–3).

14:5 stone them. A Jewish mode of execution for blasphemy. Probably mob action was planned here.

14:6 cities of Lycaonia. Lycaonia was a district east of Pisidia, north of the Taurus Mountains. It was part of the Roman province of Galatia. Lystra. A Roman colony (see note on 13:14) and probable home of Timothy (though he was known in Iconium as well), it was about 20 miles from Iconium and 130 miles from Antioch. Derbe. About 60 miles from Lystra; home of Gaius (see 20:4 and note on 14:20).

14:12 Zeus . . . Hermes. Zeus was the patron god of the city, and his temple was there. People who came to bring sacrifices to Zeus apparently decided to make an offering to Paul and Barnabas instead. The identification of Zeus with Barnabas may indicate that his appearance was more imposing, and Paul was identified as the god Hermes (the Roman Mercury) because he was the spokesman (see 28:6). This incident may have been occasioned by an ancient legend that told of a supposed visit to the same general area by Zeus and Hermes. They were, however, not recognized by anyone except an old couple. So the people of Lystra were determined not to allow such an oversight to happen again.

14:13 gates. The Greek for this expression can refer to the temple gates, the city gates or house gates.

14:14 tore their robes. A Jewish way of expressing great anguish (see Gen 37:29,34).

14:15 vain things. Used in the OT to denote false gods (see 1 Sam 12:21).

16 "[1]In the generations gone by He [a]permitted all the [2]nations to [b]go their own ways;

17 and yet [a]He did not leave Himself without witness, in that He did good and [b]gave you rains from heaven and fruitful seasons, [1]satisfying your hearts with food and gladness."

18 Even saying these things, with difficulty they restrained the crowds from offering sacrifice to them.

19 But [a]Jews came from [b]Antioch and [c]Iconium, and having won over the crowds, they [d]stoned Paul and dragged him out of the city, supposing him to be dead.

20 But while [a]the disciples stood around him, he got up and entered the city. The next day he went away with Barnabas to [b]Derbe.

21 After they had [a]preached the gospel to that city and had [b]made many disciples, they returned to [c]Lystra and to [d]Iconium and to [e]Antioch,

22 strengthening the souls of [a]the disciples, encouraging them to continue in [b]the faith, and saying, "[c]Through many tribulations we must enter the kingdom of God."

23 When [a]they had appointed [b]elders for them in every church, having [c]prayed with fasting, they [d]commended them to the Lord in whom they had believed.

24 They passed through [a]Pisidia and came into [b]Pamphylia.

25 When they had spoken the word in [a]Perga, they went down to Attalia.

26 From there they sailed to [a]Antioch, from [b]which they had been [c]commended to the grace of God for the work that they had [1]accomplished.

The Council at Jerusalem

15 [a]Some men came down from Judea and began teaching [b]the brethren, "Unless you are [c]circumcised according to [d]the custom of Moses, you cannot be saved."

2 And when Paul and Barnabas had [1]great dissension and [a]debate with them, [b]the brethren determined that Paul and Barnabas and some others of them should go up to Jerusalem to the [c]apostles and elders concerning this issue.

3 Therefore, being [a]sent on their way by the church, they were passing through both [b]Phoenicia and Samaria, [c]describing in detail the conversion of the Gentiles, and were bringing great joy to all [d]the brethren.

4 When they arrived at Jerusalem, they were received by the church and [a]the apostles and the elders, and they [b]reported all that God had done with them.

5 But some of [a]the sect of the [b]Pharisees who had believed stood up, saying, "It is necessary to [c]circumcise them and to direct them to observe the Law of Moses."

14:19 they stoned Paul. Inside the city rather than at the usual place of execution outside the walls (cf. 2 Cor 12:2).

14:20 disciples stood around him. Young Timothy may have been present (see 2 Tim 3:10–11). Derbe. A border town in the southeastern part of the Lycaonian region of Galatia (see note on v. 6). An inscription naming the city has been discovered about 30 miles east of what was previously thought to be the city site.

14:23 appointed. The Greek for this word (used also in 2 Cor 8:19) can mean (1) to stretch out the hand, (2) to appoint by show of hands or (3) to appoint or elect without regard to the method. In 6:6 the appointment of the seven included selection by the church and presentation to the apostles, who prayed and laid their hands on them. Because these were new churches, at least partly pagan in background, Paul and Barnabas may have both selected and appointed the elders.

14:24 Pisidia. A district about 120 miles long and 50 miles wide, north of Pamphylia (13:13–14). Bandits frequented the region (see perhaps 2 Cor 11:26). Pamphylia. A district 80 miles long and 20 miles at the widest part, on the southern coast of Asia Minor. After A.D. 74 Pisidia was included in the Roman province of Pamphylia (see 13:13).

14:25 Perga. See note on 13:13. Attalia. The best harbor on the coast of Pamphylia (see 13:13).

14:26 Antioch. See 11:20; see also note on 11:19.

14:27 opened a door of faith. God had brought Gentiles to faith—had, as it were, opened the door for them to believe (cf. 11:18).

14:28 long time. Probably more than a year.

15:1 Some men. Probably from "the sect of the Pharisees" (v. 5). These were believers who insisted that before a person could become a true Christian he must keep the law of Moses, and the test of such compliance was circumcision. from Judea. Meant that these Judaizers (or legalists) were given a hearing, not that they correctly represented the apostles and elders of Jerusalem (cf. v. 24).

15:2 go up to Jerusalem. See notes on 12:1; Gal 2:1. Those who hold that Gal 2:1–10 refers to the famine visit of 11:27–30; 12:25 argue that since Gal 2:2 says that the visit mentioned there was occasioned by a revelation, it must refer to Agabus's prediction of the coming famine (11:27–28). Those who believe that Gal 2:1–10 refers to the Jerusalem council visit of 15:1–22 assert that the famine visit occurred at the time of Herod Agrippa's death in A.D. 44 (11:27–30; 12:25). Thus Saul's conversion, which was 14 years earlier (Gal 2:1), would have occurred in 30, the probable year of Christ's crucifixion—which obviously seems too early.

15:4–22 The sequence of meetings described in vv. 4–22 is: (1) a general meeting of welcome and report (vv. 4–5); (2) a meeting of the leaders (perhaps to one side) while the church was still assembled (vv. 6–11); (3) a meeting of the apostles, the elders and the whole assembly (vv. 12–22).

15:4 The first meeting was a report, cordially received, about the work done among the Gentiles.

15:5 some of the sect of the Pharisees . . . believed. Some Phar-

6 [a]The apostles and the elders came together to [1]look into this [2]matter.

7 After there had been much [a]debate, Peter stood up and said to them, "Brethren, you know that [1]in the early days [b]God made a choice among you, that by my mouth the Gentiles would hear the word of [c]the gospel and believe.

8 "And God, [a]who knows the heart, testified to them [b]giving them the Holy Spirit, just as He also did to us;

9 and [a]He made no distinction between us and them, [b]cleansing their hearts by faith.

10 "Now therefore why do you [a]put God to the test by placing upon the neck of the disciples a yoke which [b]neither our fathers nor we have been able to bear?

11 "But we believe that we are saved through [a]the grace of the Lord Jesus, in the same way as they also are."

12 All the people kept silent, and they were listening to Barnabas and Paul as they were [a]relating what [b]signs and wonders God had done through them among the Gentiles.

James's Judgment

13 After they had stopped speaking, [1a]James answered, saying, "Brethren, listen to me.

14 "[a]Simeon has related how God first concerned Himself about taking from among the Gentiles a people for His name.

15 "With this the words of [a]the Prophets agree, just as it is written,

16 '[a]AFTER THESE THINGS [b]I will return,
AND I WILL REBUILD THE [1]TABERNACLE OF DAVID WHICH HAS FALLEN, AND I WILL REBUILD ITS RUINS,
AND I WILL RESTORE IT,

17 [a]SO THAT THE REST OF [1]MANKIND MAY SEEK THE LORD,
AND ALL THE GENTILES [2b]WHO ARE CALLED BY MY NAME,'

18 [a]SAYS THE LORD, WHO [1b]MAKES THESE THINGS KNOWN FROM LONG AGO.

19 "Therefore it is [a]my judgment that we do not trouble those who are turning to God from among the Gentiles, 20 but that we write to them that they abstain from [1a]things contaminated by idols and from [b]fornication and from [c]what is strangled and from blood.

21 "For [a]Moses from ancient generations has in every city those who preach him, since [1]he is read in the synagogues every Sabbath."

22 Then it seemed good to [a]the apostles and the elders, with the whole church, to choose men from among them to send to [b]Antioch with Paul and Barnabas—Judas called Barsabbas, and [c]Silas, leading men among [d]the brethren,

23 and they [1]sent this letter by them, isees became Christians and brought their Judaic beliefs with them. They believed that Gentiles must first become converts to Judaism and be circumcised (see v. 1), and then they would be eligible to be saved by faith. Perhaps some of them had gone to Antioch and now returned to present their case.

15:7 Peter stood up. After a period of considerable discussion by the apostles and elders, Peter addressed them. Gentiles would hear. Peter's argument was his own experience: God had sent him to preach to the Gentiles (10:28–29).

15:8 giving them the Holy Spirit. The irrefutable proof of God's acceptance (see 10:44,47; 11:17–18).

15:9 cleansing their hearts by faith. Peter's way of saying what Paul affirmed (Rom 5:1; cf. Gal 2:15–16).

15:10 a yoke. The law (see Gal 5:1; cf. Matt 11:28–29).

15:11 we are saved . . . as they also are. See Rom 3:9. through the grace of the Lord. No circumcision was required.

15:12 people kept silent. See note on vv. 4–22. Apparently the people had remained in place while the apostles and elders met. The assembly had not remained quiet during that time, but now they became silent to listen to the leaders. Barnabas and Paul. The order here puts Barnabas first (perhaps reflecting his importance in Jerusalem), whereas in the account of the missionary journey the order was "Paul and Barnabas" after the events on the island of Cyprus (13:7,9,13,42). signs and wonders. See 8:19–20; 14:3.

15:13 James. The brother of the Lord. His argument added proof from Scripture.

15:14 Simeon. Peter (see v. 7). James uses Peter's Hebrew name in its Hebrew form (Simeon is a variant of Simon). a people for His name. A new community largely made up of Gentiles but including Jews as well (John 10:16; cf. 1 Pet 2:9–10).

15:15 Prophets. Specifically Amos 9:11–12.

15:16 AFTER THESE THINGS I will return. Some have taken this quotation from Amos as setting forth a sequence of the end times, including (1) the church age (taking out "a people for His name," v. 14), (2) the restoration of Israel as a nation (v. 16) and (3) the final salvation of the Gentiles (vv. 17–18). Others declare that the quotation merely confirms God's intent to save Gentiles.

15:19 do not trouble. Circumcision was not required, but four stipulations were laid down (see note on v. 20). These were in areas where the Gentiles had particular weaknesses and where the Jews were particularly repulsed by Gentile violations. It would help both the individual and the relationship between Gentile and Jew if these requirements were observed. They involved divine directives that the Jews believed were given before the Mosaic laws.

15:20 things contaminated by idols. See v. 29; 1 Cor 8:7–13; Rev 2:14,20. fornication. A sin taken too lightly by the Greeks and also associated with certain pagan religious festivals. what is strangled. Thus retaining the blood that was forbidden to be eaten (see Gen 9:4). blood. Expressly forbidden in Jewish law (see Lev 17:10–12). Reference here may be to consuming blood apart from meat.

15:22 apostles and the elders, with the whole church. Apparently there was unanimous agreement with the choice of messengers and with the contents of the letter (vv. 23–29). Judas called Barsabbas. The same surname as that of Joseph Barsabbas (see 1:23 and note). The two may have been brothers. Silas. A leader in the Jerusalem church, a prophet (v. 32) and a Roman citizen (16:37).

15:23 in Antioch and Syria and Cilicia. Antioch was the leading city of the combined provinces of Syria and Cilicia.

15:28 seemed good to the Holy Spirit and to us. Prior authority is given to the Spirit (whose working in the assembly is thus claimed), but there was also agreement among the apostles, elders and brothers (vv. 22–23).

15:29 abstain from things . . . fornication. See note on v. 20.

15:32 prophets. One of the primary functions of prophets in the early church was, as here indicated, to encourage and strengthen the brothers.

37 Barnabas wanted to take [a]John, called Mark, along with them also.

38 But Paul kept insisting that they should not take him along who had [a]deserted them [1]in Pamphylia and had not gone with them to the work.

39 And there occurred such a sharp disagreement that they separated from one another, and Barnabas took [a]Mark with him and sailed away to [b]Cyprus.

2 and he was well spoken of by [a]the brethren who were in [b]Lystra and [c]Iconium.

3 Paul wanted this man to [1]go with him; and he [a]took him and circumcised him because of the Jews who were in those parts, for they all knew that his father was a Greek.

4 Now while they were passing through the cities, they were delivering [a]the decrees which had been decided upon by [b]the apostles and [c]elders who were in Jerusalem, for them to observe.

5 So [a]the churches were being strengthened [1]in the faith, and were [b]increasing in number daily.

6 They passed through the [1a]Phrygian and [b]Galatian region, having been forbidden by the Holy Spirit to speak the word in [2c]Asia;

7 and after they came to [a]Mysia, they were trying to go into [b]Bithynia, and the [c]Spirit of Jesus did not permit them;

8 and passing by [a]Mysia, they came down to [b]Troas.

9 [a]A vision appeared to Paul in the night: a man of [b]Macedonia was standing and appealing to him, and saying, "Come over to Macedonia and help us."

15:36 every city in which we proclaimed the word. Towns of the first missionary journey (see 13:4–14:26).

15:38 who had deserted them. Mark had turned back at Perga and did not go to Antioch, Iconium, Lystra and Derbe (see note on 13:13).

15:39 they separated from one another. Barnabas and Mark do not appear again in Acts. However, in 1 Cor 9:6 Paul names Barnabas as setting a noble example in working to support himself. Also in Gal 2:11–13 another scene is described in Antioch that includes Barnabas. Mark evidently returned from his work with Barnabas and became associated with Peter (see 1 Pet 5:13). During Paul's first imprisonment, Mark was included in Paul's group (see Col 4:10; Philem 24). By the end of Paul's life he came to admire Mark so much that he requested him to come to be with him during his final days (2 Tim 4:11; see Introduction to Mark: John Mark in the NT). Cyprus. The island of Barnabas's birthplace (cf. 4:36).

15:40 Silas. Had returned to Jerusalem with Judas after delivering the Jerusalem letter (vv. 32–33). His presence in Antioch now indicates that, after reporting to those who had sent him, he came back to Antioch to participate in the church's work there.

16:1 See map No. 11 at the end of the study Bible. Derbe. See notes on 14:6,20. Paul had approached Derbe on the first trip from the opposite direction, so the order of towns is reversed here. Lystra. See note on 14:6. Timothy. Since Paul addressed him as a young man some 15 years later (see 1 Tim 4:12), he must have been in his teens at this time. father was a Greek. Statements concerning his mother's faith (here and in 2 Tim 1:5) and silence concerning any faith on his father's part suggest that the father was neither a convert to Judaism nor a believer in Christ.

16:3 he . . . circumcised him. As a matter of expediency so that his work among the Jews might be more effective. This was different from Titus's case (see Gal 2:3), where circumcision was refused because some were demanding it as necessary for salvation.

16:6 They. Paul, Silas and Timothy. Phrygian. . . . region. The district was formerly the Hellenistic territory of Phrygia, but it had more recently been divided between the Roman provinces of Asia and Galatia. Iconium and Antioch were in Galatian Phrygia. Galatian region. The name had been used to denote the Hellenistic kingdom, but in 25 B.C. it had been expanded considerably to become the Roman province of that name. Asia. This, too, had been a smaller area formerly but now was a Roman province including the Hellenistic districts of Mysia, Lydia, Caria and parts of Phrygia.

16:7 Mysia. In the northwest part of the province of Asia. Luke uses these old Hellenistic names, but Paul preferred the provincial (Roman) names. Bithynia. A senatorial province formed after 74 B.C., it was east of Mysia. Spirit of Jesus. As the "Holy Spirit" was used at times interchangeably with "God" (see 5:3–4), so here "Holy Spirit" is used interchangeably with "Spirit of Jesus." not permit. The Spirit may have led in any of a number of ways: vision, circumstances, good sense or use of the prophetic gift.

16:8 Troas. Located ten miles from ancient Troy. Alexandria Troas (its full name) was a Roman colony and an important seaport for connections between Macedonia and Greece on the one hand and Asia Minor on the other. Paul returned to Troas following his work in Ephesus on his third journey (see 2 Cor 2:12). At some time—on Paul's second journey or on his third—a church was started there, for Paul ministered to believers in Troas when he returned from his third journey on his way to Jerusalem (20:5–12).

16:9 vision. One of the ways God gave direction (cf. 10:3). man of Macedonia. Macedonia had become a Roman province in 10 When he had seen [a]the vision, immediately [b]we sought to [1]go into Macedonia, concluding that God had called us to [c]preach the gospel to them.

11 So putting out to sea from [a]Troas, we ran [b]a straight course to Samothrace, and on the day following to Neapolis;

12 and from there to [a]Philippi, which is a leading city of the district of [b]Macedonia, [c]a Roman colony; and we were staying in this city for some days.

13 And on [a]the Sabbath day we went outside the gate to a riverside, where we were supposing that there would be a place of prayer; and we sat down and began speaking to the women who had assembled.

First Convert in Europe

14 A woman named Lydia, from the city of [a]Thyatira, a seller of purple fabrics, [b]a worshiper of God, was listening; [1]and the Lord [c]opened her heart to respond to the things spoken by Paul.

15 And when she and [a]her household had been baptized, she urged us, saying, "If you have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into my house and stay." And she prevailed upon us.

16 It happened that as we were going to [a]the place of prayer, a slave-girl having [b]a spirit of divination met us, who was bringing her masters much profit by fortune-telling.

17 Following after Paul and us, she kept crying out, saying, "These men are bond-servants of [a]the Most High God, who are proclaiming to you [1]the way of salvation."

18 She continued doing this for many days. But Paul was greatly annoyed, and turned and said to the spirit, "I command you [a]in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her!" And it came out at that very [1]moment.

19 But when her masters saw that their hope of [a]profit was [1]gone, they seized [b]Paul and Silas and [c]dragged them into the market place before the authorities,

20 and when they had brought them to the chief magistrates, they said, "These men are throwing our city into confusion, being Jews,

21 and [a]are proclaiming customs which it is not lawful for us to accept or to observe, being [b]Romans."

Paul and Silas Imprisoned

22 The crowd rose up together against them, and the chief magistrates tore their [1]robes off them and proceeded to order [2]them to be [a]beaten with rods.

23 When they had struck them with many blows, they threw them into prison, commanding [a]the jailer to guard them securely;

24 [1]and he, having received such a command, threw them into the inner prison and fastened their feet in [a]the [2]stocks.

25 But about midnight [a]Paul and Silas were praying and [b]singing hymns of praise to God, and the prisoners were listening to them;

26 and suddenly [a]there came a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison house were shaken; and immediately

148 B.C. There is no indication that the man of the vision is Luke, as some have suggested, but he does join the group at this point.

16:10 we sought to go. This is where the "we" passages of Acts begin (see Introduction: Author). The conclusion is that Luke is informing the reader that he had joined the party at Troas.

16:11 Samothrace. An island in the northeastern Aegean Sea. It was a convenient place for boats to anchor rather than risk sailing at night. Neapolis. The seaport for Philippi, ten miles away; modern Kavalla.

16:12 Philippi. A city in eastern Macedonia named after Philip II, father of Alexander the Great (see map, p. 1729). Since it was a Roman colony, it was independent of provincial administration and had a governmental organization modeled after that of Rome (see note on 13:14). Many retired legionnaires from the Roman army settled there, but few Jews. See Introduction to Philippians: Recipients. leading city. Thessalonica was the capital of Macedonia. But Macedonia had four districts, and Philippi was in the first of these.

16:13 a place of prayer. There were so few Jews in Philippi that there was no synagogue, so the Jews who were there met for prayer along the banks of the Gangites River (see map, p. 1729). It was customary for such places of prayer to be located outdoors near running water.

16:14 Lydia. A businesswoman. Her name may be associated with her place of origin, the Hellenistic district of Lydia. Thyatira. In the Roman province of Asia, 20 miles southeast of Pergamum (in the Hellenistic kingdom of Lydia). It was famous for its dyeing works, especially royal purple (crimson). See Rev 1:11 and note on Rev 2:18. worshiper of God. Lydia was a Gentile who, like Cornelius (see 10:2), believed in the true God and followed the moral teachings of Scripture. She had not, however, become a full convert to Judaism. opened her heart. After the resurrection the minds of the disciples were opened to understand the Scriptures (Luke 24:45); similarly, Lydia's heart was opened to respond to the gospel message of Paul.

16:16 a spirit of divination. A "python" spirit, a demonic spirit. The python was a mythical snake worshiped at Delphi and associated with the Delphic oracle. The term "python" came to be used of the persons through whom the python spirit supposedly spoke. Since such persons spoke involuntarily, the term "ventriloquist" was used to describe them. To what extent she actually predicted the future is not known.

16:17 us. The "we" section (see note on v. 10) ends here and begins again in 20:5. Most High God. A title used by the man possessed by an evil spirit (Mark 5:7). It was a common title among both Jews (see Num 24:16; Is 14:14; Dan 3:26) and Greeks (found in inscriptions). But the title is not used of God in the NT by Christians or Jews (cf. Acts 7:48).

16:20 magistrates. The Greek term strategos (Latin praetor), not the usual word but a term of courtesy used in some Roman colonies, such as Philippi.

16:21 customs . . . not lawful. If a religion failed to receive Roman approval, it was considered religio illicita. Judaism had legal recognition, but Christianity did not.

16:22 beaten. With rods.

16:24 inner prison . . . stocks. Used not only for extra security but also for torture.

[b]all the doors were opened and everyone's [c]chains were unfastened.

27 When [a]the jailer awoke and saw the prison doors opened, he drew his sword and was about [b]to kill himself, supposing that the prisoners had escaped.

28 But Paul cried out with a loud voice, saying, "Do not harm yourself, for we are all here!"

29 And he called for lights and rushed in, and trembling with fear he fell down before [a]Paul and Silas,

30 and after he brought them out, he said, "Sirs, [a]what must I do to be saved?"

The Jailer Converted

31 They said, "[a]Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved, you and [b]your household."

32 And they spoke the word of [1]the Lord to him together with all who were in his house.

33 And he took them [a]that very hour of the night and washed their wounds, and immediately he was baptized, he and all his household.

34 And he brought them into his house and set [1]food before them, and rejoiced [2]greatly, having believed in God with [a]his whole household.

35 Now when day came, the chief magistrates sent their policemen, saying, "Release those men."

36 And [a]the jailer reported these words to Paul, saying, "The chief magistrates have sent to release you. Therefore come out now and go [b]in peace."

37 But Paul said to them, "They have beaten us in public without trial, [a]men who are Romans, and have thrown us into prison; and now are they sending us away secretly? No indeed! But let them come themselves and bring us out."

38 The policemen reported these words to the chief magistrates. [a]They were afraid when they heard that they were Romans, 39 and they came and appealed to them, and when they had brought them out, they kept begging them [a]to leave the city.

40 They went out of the prison and entered the house of [a]Lydia, and when they saw [b]the brethren, they [1]encouraged them and departed.

Paul at Thessalonica

17 Now when they had traveled through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to [a]Thessalonica, where there was a synagogue of the Jews.

2 And [a]according to Paul's custom, he went to them, and for three [b]Sabbaths reasoned with them from [c]the Scriptures,

3 [1]explaining and [2]giving evidence that the [3]Christ [a]had to suffer and [b]rise again from the dead, and saying, "[c]This Jesus whom I am proclaiming to you is the [3]Christ."

4 [a]And some of them were persuaded and joined [b]Paul and Silas, [1]along with a large number of the [c]God-fearing [d]Greeks and [2]a number of the [e]leading women.

5 But [a]the Jews, becoming jealous and taking along some wicked men from the market place, formed a mob and set the city in an uproar; and attacking the house of [b]Jason, they were seeking to bring them out to the people.

6 When they did not find them, they began [a]dragging Jason and some brethren before the city authorities, shouting, "These men who have upset [1][b]the world have come here also;

16:27 about to kill himself. If a prisoner escaped, the life of the guard was demanded in his place (see 12:19). To take his own life would shorten the shame and distress.

16:30 what must I do to be saved? The jailer had heard that these were preachers of a way of salvation (v. 17). Now with the earthquake and his own impending death, he wanted to know about the way.

16:31 Believe in the Lord Jesus. A concise statement of the way of salvation (see 10:43).

16:32 word of the Lord. See 10:36. Paul and Silas explained the gospel more thoroughly to the jailer and to all the other members of his household, and they all believed in Christ and were saved (v. 34).

16:34 rejoiced greatly. The consistent consequence of conversion, regardless of circumstances (see note on 8:39).

16:35 magistrates. See note on v. 20.

16:37 without trial. Public beating for a Roman citizen (see v. 38) would have been illegal, let alone beating without a trial. let them come themselves. Paul and Silas were not asking for an escort to salve their injured pride as much as they were establishing their innocence for the sake of the church in Philippi and its future.

17:1 Amphipolis . . . Thessalonica. The Egnatian Way crossed the whole of present-day northern Greece east-west and included Philippi, Amphipolis, Apollonia and Thessalonica on its route. At several locations, such as Kavalla (Neapolis), Philippi and Apollonia, the road is still visible today. If a person traveled about 30 miles a day, each city could be reached after one day's journey. Thessalonica. About 100 miles from Philippi. It was the capital of the province of Macedonia and had a population of more than 200,000, including a colony of Jews (and a synagogue). All these contributed to Paul's decision to preach there. See Introduction to 1 Thessalonians: The City and the Church.

17:2 went to them. To the synagogue (v. 1; see note on 13:14). three Sabbaths. These two weeks represent the time spent in the synagogue reasoning with the Jews, not Paul's total time in Thessalonica. An analysis of the Thessalonian letters reveals that Paul had taught them much more doctrine than would have been possible in two or three weeks.

17:4 God-fearing Greeks. See notes on 10:2; 16:14. leading women. Perhaps the wives of the leading men of the city, but women who deserve notice and position in their own right (see also v. 12).

17:5 becoming jealous. Because of the large number of people (including some Jews, many God-fearing Gentiles and many prominent women) who responded to Paul's ministry (cf. 13:45). house of Jason. Paul had probably been staying there.

17:6 city authorities. The Greek term politarch (lit. "city ruler"),

7 [1]and Jason [a]has welcomed them, and they all act [b]contrary to the decrees of Caesar, saying that there is another king, Jesus."

8 They stirred up the crowd and the city authorities who heard these things.

9 And when they had received a [1]pledge from [a]Jason and the others, they released them.

Paul at Berea

10 [a]The brethren immediately sent [b]Paul and Silas away by night to [c]Berea, [1]and when they arrived, they went into [d]the synagogue of the Jews.

11 Now these were more noble-minded than those in [a]Thessalonica, [1]for they received the word with [2]great eagerness, examining the Scriptures daily to see whether these things were so.

12 Therefore [a]many of them believed, [1]along with a number of [b]prominent Greek [c]women and men.

13 But when the Jews of [a]Thessalonica found out that the word of God had been proclaimed by Paul in [b]Berea also, they came there as well, agitating and stirring up the crowds.

14 Then immediately [a]the brethren sent Paul out to go as far as the sea; and [b]Silas and [c]Timothy remained there.

15 Now [a]those who escorted Paul brought him as far as [b]Athens; and receiving a command for [c]Silas and Timothy to [d]come to him as soon as possible, they left.

Paul at Athens

16 Now while Paul was waiting for them at [a]Athens, his spirit was being provoked within him as he was observing the city full of idols.

17 So he was reasoning [a]in the synagogue with the Jews and [b]the God-fearing Gentiles, and in the market place every day with those who happened to be present.

18 And also some of the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers were [1]conversing with him. Some were saying, "What would [a]this [2]idle babbler wish to say?" Others, "He seems to be a proclaimer of strange deities,"—because he was preaching [b]Jesus and the resurrection.

19 And they [a]took him and brought him [1]to the [2b]Areopagus, saying, "May we know what [c]this new teaching is [3]which you are proclaiming?

20 "For you are bringing some strange things to our ears; so we want to know what these things mean."

21 (Now all the Athenians and the strangers [a]visiting there used to spend their time in nothing other than telling or hearing something new.)

used here and in v. 8, is found nowhere else in Greek literature, but it was discovered in 1835 in a Greek inscription on an arch that had spanned the Egnatian Way on the west side of Thessalonica. (The arch was destroyed in 1867, but the block with the inscription was rescued and is now in the British Museum in London.) The term has since been found in 16 other inscriptions in surrounding towns of Macedonia, and elsewhere.

17:7 act contrary to the decrees of Caesar. Blasphemy was the gravest accusation for a Jew, but treason—to support a rival king above Caesar—was the worst accusation for a Roman.

17:9 received a pledge. Jason was forced to guarantee a peaceful, quiet community, or he would face the confiscation of his properties and perhaps even death.

17:10 Paul and Silas. It has been suggested that Timothy was left at Philippi and rejoined Paul and Silas at Berea (compare v. 10 with v. 14). Berea. Modern Verria, located 50 miles from Thessalonica in another district of Macedonia. synagogue. See note on 13:14.

17:14 as far as the sea. One might conclude that Paul went by boat to Athens. But the road to Athens is also a coast road, and Paul may have walked the distance after having been escorted to the coast (some 20 miles). In any event, Christian companions stayed with him until reaching Athens.

17:15 Athens. Five centuries before Paul, Athens had been at the height of its glory in art, philosophy and literature. She had retained her reputation in philosophy through the years and still maintained a leading university in Paul's day.

17:17 synagogue. See note on 13:14. God-fearing Gentiles. See note on 10:2.

17:18 Epicurean . . . philosophers. Originally they taught that the supreme good is happiness—but not mere momentary pleasure or temporary gratification. By Paul's time, however, this philosophy had degenerated into a more sensual system of thought. Stoic philosophers. They taught that people should live in accord with nature, recognize their own self-sufficiency and independence, and suppress their desires. At its best, Stoicism had some admirable qualities, but, like Epicureanism, by Paul's time it had degenerated into a system of pride. babbler. The Greek word meant "seed picker," a bird picking up seeds here and there. Then it came to refer to the loafer in the marketplace who picked up whatever scraps of learning he could find and paraded them without digesting them himself.

17:19 Areopagus. Means "hill of Ares." Ares was the Greek god of thunder and war (the Roman equivalent was Mars). The Areopagus was located just west of the acropolis and south of the Agora and had once been the site of the meeting of the Court or Council of the Areopagus. Earlier the Council governed a Greek city-state, but by NT times the Areopagus retained authority only in the areas of religion and morals and met in the Royal Portico at the northwest corner of the Agora. They considered themselves the custodians of teachings that introduced new religions and foreign gods.

17:22 religious. Or "superstitious." The Greek for this word could be used to congratulate a person or to criticize him, depending on whether the person using it included himself in the circle of individuals he was describing. The Athenians would not know which meaning to take until Paul continued. In this context it is clear that Paul wanted to be complimentary in order to gain a hearing.

23 "For while I was passing through and examining the [a]objects of your worship, I also found an altar with this inscription, 'TO AN UNKNOWN GOD.' Therefore what [b]you worship in ignorance, this I proclaim to you.

24 "[a]The God who made the world and all things in it, since He is [b]Lord of heaven and earth, does not [c]dwell in temples made with hands;

25 nor is He served by human hands, [a]as though He needed anything, since He Himself gives to all people life and breath and all things;

26 and [a]He made from one man every nation of mankind to live on all the face of the earth, having [b]determined their appointed times and the boundaries of their habitation,

27 that they would seek God, if perhaps they might grope for Him and find Him, [a]though He is not far from each one of us;

28 for [a]in Him we live and move and [1]exist, as even some of your own poets have said, 'For we also are His children.'

29 "Being then the children of God, we [a]ought not to think that the Divine Nature is like gold or silver or stone, an image formed by the art and thought of man.

30 "Therefore having [a]overlooked [b]the times of ignorance, God is [c]now declaring to men that all people everywhere should repent,

31 because He has fixed [a]a day in which [b]He will judge [1][c]the world in righteousness [2]through a Man whom He has [d]appointed, having furnished proof to all men [3]by [e]raising Him from the dead."

32 Now when they heard of [a]the resurrection of the dead, some began to sneer, but others said, "We shall hear you [1]again concerning this."

33 So Paul went out of their midst.

34 But some men joined him and believed, among whom also were Dionysius the [a]Areopagite and a woman named Damaris and others with them.

Paul at Corinth

18 After these things he left [a]Athens and went to [b]Corinth.

2 And he found a Jew named [a]Aquila, a native of [b]Pontus, having recently come from [c]Italy with his wife [a]Priscilla, because [d]Claudius had commanded all the Jews to leave Rome. He came to them,

3 and because he was of the same trade, he stayed with them and [a]they were working, for by trade they were tent-makers.

4 And he was reasoning [a]in the synagogue every [b]Sabbath and trying to persuade [c]Jews and Greeks.

5 But when [a]Silas and Timothy [b]came down from [c]Macedonia, Paul began devoting himself completely to the word, solemnly [d]testifying to the Jews that [e]Jesus was the [1]Christ.

6 But when they resisted and blasphemed, he [a]shook out his garments and 17:23 TO AN UNKNOWN GOD. The Greeks were fearful of offending any god by failing to give him attention; so they felt they could cover any omissions by the label "unknown god." Other Greek writers confirm that such altars could be seen in Athens—a striking point of contact for Paul.

17:24 The God who made the world. Thus a personal Creator, in contrast with the views of pantheistic Stoicism.

17:26 He made from one man every nation. All people are of one family (whether Athenians or Romans, Greeks or barbarians, Jews or Gentiles). determined their appointed times. He planned the exact times when nations should emerge and decline. boundaries of their habitation. He also planned the specific area to be occupied by each nation. He is God, the Designer (things were not left to Chance, as the Epicureans thought).

17:28 some of your own poets. There are two quotations here: (1) "In Him we live and move and exist," from the Cretan poet Epimenides (c. 600 B.C.) in his Cretica, and (2) "For we also are His children," from the Cilician poet Aratus (c. 315–240) in his Phaenomena, as well as from Cleanthes (331–233) in his Hymn to Zeus. Paul quotes Greek poets elsewhere as well (see 1 Cor 15:33; Titus 1:12 and notes).

17:30 overlooked the times of ignorance. God had not judged them for worshiping false gods in their ignorance (see v. 31).

17:31 a Man whom He has appointed. Jesus, the Son of Man (see Dan 7:13; cf. Matt 25:31–46; Acts 10:42).

17:32 resurrection of the dead. Immortality of the soul was accepted by the Greeks, but not resurrection of a dead body.

17:33 their midst. The meeting of the Areopagites.

17:34 Dionysius. Later tradition states, though it cannot be proved, that he became bishop of Athens. Damaris. Some have suggested that she must have been a foreign, educated woman to have been present at a public meeting such as the Areopagus. It is also possible that she was a God-fearing Gentile who had heard Paul at the synagogue (v. 17).

18:1 went to Corinth. Either by land along the isthmus (a distance of about 50 miles) or by sea from Piraeus, the port of Athens, to Cenchrea, on the eastern shore of the isthmus of Corinth. See Introduction to 1 Corinthians: The City of Corinth; see also map, p. 1661.

18:2 Pontus. In the northeastern region of Asia Minor, a province lying along the Black Sea between Bithynia and Armenia (see 2:9). Priscilla. The diminutive form of Prisca. Since no mention is made of a conversion and since a partnership is established in work (see v. 3), it is likely that they were already Christians. They may have been converted in Rome by those returning from Pentecost or by others at a later time. Claudius. Emperor of Rome (A.D. 41–54). commanded all the Jews to leave Rome. Recorded in Suetonius (Claudius, 25). The expulsion order was given, Suetonius writes, because of "their [the Jews'] continual tumults instigated by Chrestus" (a common misspelling of "Christ"). If "Chrestus" refers to Christ, the riots obviously were "about" Him rather than led "by" Him.

18:3 tent-makers. Paul would have been taught this trade as a youth. It was the Jewish custom to provide manual training for sons, whether rich or poor.

18:4 synagogue. See note on 13:14.

18:5 Silas and Timothy came down from Macedonia. Paul instructed these two to come to him at Athens (17:15). Evidently said to them, "Your [b]blood be on your own heads! I am clean. From now on I will go [c]to the Gentiles."

7 Then he left there and went to the house of a man named [1]Titius Justus, [a]a worshiper of God, whose house was next to the synagogue.

8 [a]Crispus, [b]the leader of the synagogue, believed in the Lord [c]with all his household, and many of the [d]Corinthians when they heard were believing and being baptized.

9 And the Lord said to Paul in the night by [a]a vision, "Do not be afraid any longer, but go on speaking and do not be silent;

10 for I am with you, and no man will attack you in order to harm you, for I have many people in this city."

11 And he settled there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them.

12 But while Gallio was [a]proconsul of [b]Achaia, [c]the Jews with one accord rose up against Paul and brought him before [d]the judgment seat,

13 saying, "This man persuades men to worship God contrary to [a]the law."

14 But when Paul was about to [a]open his mouth, Gallio said to the Jews, "If it were a matter of wrong or of vicious crime, O Jews, it would be reasonable for me to put up with you;

15 but if there are [a]questions about words and names and your own law, look after it yourselves; I am unwilling to be a judge of these matters."

16 And he drove them away from [a]the judgment seat.

17 And they all took hold of [a]Sosthenes, [b]the leader of the synagogue, and began beating him in front of [c]the judgment seat. But Gallio was not concerned about any of these things.

18 Paul, having remained many days longer, [a]took leave of [b]the brethren and put out to sea for [c]Syria, and with him were [d]Priscilla and [d]Aquila. In [e]Cenchrea [1]he [f]had his hair cut, for he was keeping a vow.

19 They came to [a]Ephesus, and he left them there. Now he himself entered [b]the synagogue and reasoned with the Jews.

20 When they asked him to stay for a longer time, he did not consent, 21 but [a]taking leave of them and saying, "I will return to you again [b]if God wills," he set sail from [c]Ephesus.

22 When he had landed at [a]Caesarea, he went up and greeted the church, and went down to [b]Antioch.

23 And having spent some time there, he left and passed successively through the [a]Galatian region and Phrygia, strengthening all the disciples.

they did (1 Thess 3:1), but they may have been sent back to Macedonia almost immediately to check on the churches—perhaps Silas to Philippi and Timothy to Thessalonica.

18:7 Titius Justus. Titius was a common Roman name. Justus is used to distinguish him from the Titus of 2 Cor 2:13; 7:13–14; 8:16,23. worshiper of God. Like Titus, an uncircumcised Gentile, but attending the synagogue.

18:8 Crispus. Paul baptized him (1 Cor 1:14). leader of the synagogue. See note on 13:15. believing and being baptized. The response to the gospel, a process going on daily, as the tense of the Greek verbs indicates.

18:9 by a vision. Paul had seen the Lord in a resurrection body at his conversion (9:4–6; 1 Cor 15:8) and in the temple at Jerusalem in a trance (22:17–18). Now he sees Him in a vision (see 23:11).

18:11 a year and six months. During this time he may also have taken the gospel to the neighboring districts of Achaia (2 Cor 1:1).

18:12 Gallio. The brother of Seneca, the philosopher, who was the tutor of Nero. Gallio was admired as a man of exceptional fairness and calmness. From an inscription found at Delphi, it is known that Gallio was proconsul of Achaia in A.D. 51–52. This information enables us to date Paul's visit to Corinth on his second journey as well as his writing of the Thessalonian letters.

18:13 contrary to the law. The Jews were claiming that Paul was advocating a religion not recognized by Roman law as Judaism was. If he had been given the opportunity to speak, he could have argued that the gospel he was preaching was the faith of his fathers (see 24:14–15; 26:6–7) and thus authorized by Roman law.

18:17 they all took hold of Sosthenes. It is not clear whether the Greeks beat Sosthenes, seeing the occasion as an opportunity to vent their feelings against the Jews, or the Jews beat their own synagogue ruler because he was unsuccessful in presenting their case—probably the former. A Sosthenes is included with Paul in the writing of 1 Corinthians (1:1). Perhaps he was the second ruler of the synagogue at Corinth to become a Christian in response to Paul's preaching (see v. 8).

18:18 Priscilla and Aquila. The order of the names used here (but cf. v. 2) may indicate the prominent role of Priscilla or her higher social position (see Rom 16:3; 2 Tim 4:19). he was keeping a vow. Grammatically this could refer to Aquila, but the emphasis on Paul and his activity makes Paul more probable. It was probably a temporary Nazirite vow (see Num 6:1–21). Different vows were frequently taken to express thanks for deliverance from grave dangers. Shaving the head marked the end of a vow.

18:19 Ephesus. Leading commercial city of Asia Minor, the capital of provincial Asia and the warden of the temple of Artemis (Diana). See Introduction to Ephesians: The City of Ephesus; see also map, p. 1716. he left them there. Priscilla and Aquila would give valuable aid upon Paul's return, providing advice as to where and how the work there could be started. synagogue. See note on 13:14.

18:22 greeted the church. Could refer to a congregation in Caesarea, but the explanation that "he went up" makes it more likely that it was the church in Jerusalem, some 2,500 feet above sea level.

18:23 See map No. 11 at the end of the study Bible. Galatian region and Phrygia. The same route he had taken when starting on his second missionary journey, but in the reverse order

24 Now a Jew named [a]Apollos, an [b]Alexandrian by birth, [1]an eloquent man, came to [c]Ephesus; and he was mighty in the Scriptures.

25 This man had been instructed in [a]the way of the Lord; and being fervent in spirit, he was speaking and teaching accurately the things concerning Jesus, being acquainted only with [b]the baptism of John;

26 and [1]he began to speak out boldly in the synagogue. But when [a]Priscilla and Aquila heard him, they took him aside and explained to him [b]the way of God more accurately.

27 And when he wanted to go across to [a]Achaia, [b]the brethren encouraged him and wrote to [c]the disciples to welcome him; and when he had arrived, he greatly [1]helped those who had believed through grace, 28 for he powerfully refuted the Jews in public, demonstrating [a]by the Scriptures that [b]Jesus was the [1]Christ.

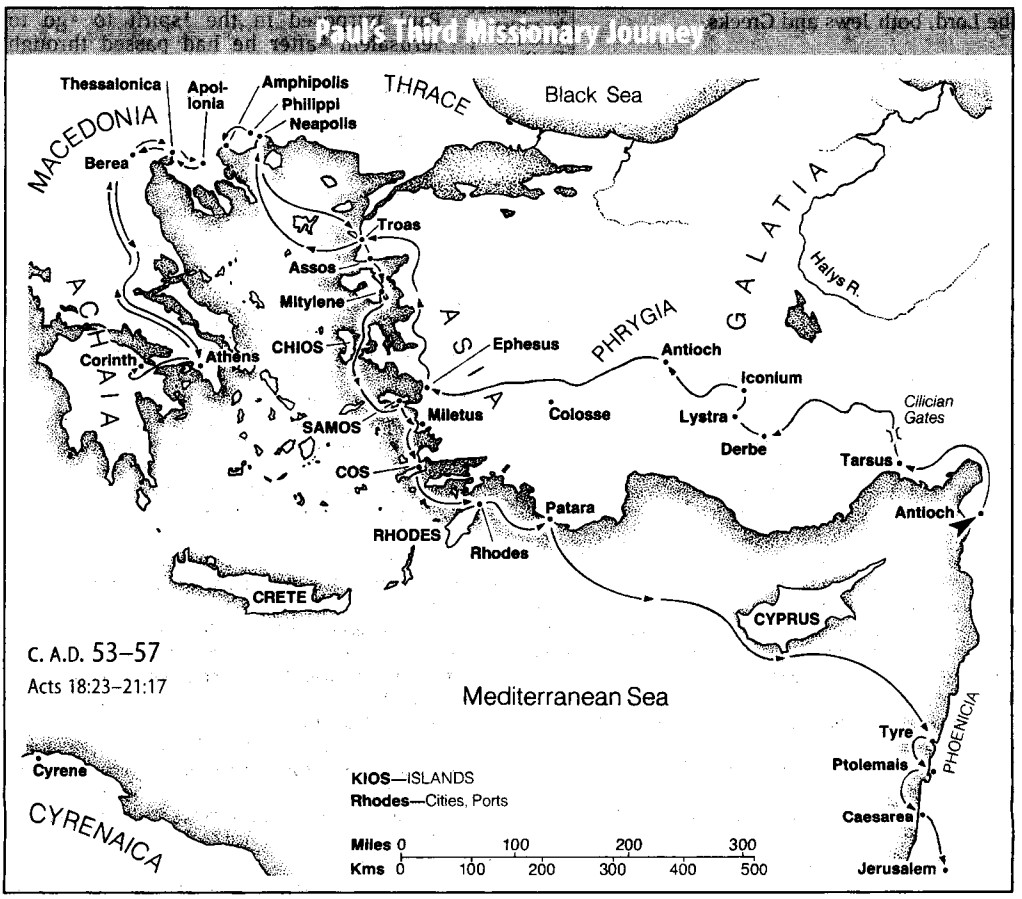
Paul at Ephesus

19 It happened that while [a]Apollos was at [b]Corinth, Paul passed through the [c]upper country and came to [d]Ephesus, and found some disciples.

[a]Acts 8:35 [b]Acts 18:5 19:1 [a]Acts 18:24; 1 Cor 1:12; 3:5, 6, 22; 4:6; 16:12; Titus 3:13 [b]Acts 18:1 [c]Acts 18:23 [d]Acts 18:21, 24; 19:17, 26, 28, 34f; 20:16f; 21:29; 1 Cor 15:32; 16:8; Eph 1:1; 1 Tim 1:3; 2 Tim 1:18; 4:12; Rev 1:11; 2:1



(16:6). The use of the phrase may indicate the southern part of Galatia in the Phrygian area (see note on 16:6).

18:24 Alexandrian. Alexandria, in Egypt, was the second most important city in the Roman empire and had a large Jewish population.

18:25 baptism of John. It was not in the name of Jesus (see also 19:2–4). Apollos knew something about Jesus, but basically he, like John, was still looking forward to the coming of the Messiah. His baptism was based on repentance rather than on faith in the finished work of Christ.

18:27 Achaia. The Roman province with Corinth as its capital.

19:1 Apollos was at Corinth. Apollos was introduced at Ephesus (18:24) in the absence of Paul; he moved to Corinth before Paul returned to Ephesus. But later Apollos came back to Ephesus during Paul's ministry there (see 1 Cor 16:12). through the upper country. Not the lower direct route down the Lycus and Meander valleys but the upper Phrygian route approaching Ephesus from a more northerly direction. If Paul got to northern Galatia, which is unlikely, it must have been on one of these trips through the interior (see 16:6; 18:23). Ephesus. See note

2 He said to them, "[a]Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you believed?" And they said to him, "No, [b]we have not even heard whether [1]there is a Holy Spirit."

3 And he said, "Into what then were you baptized?" And they said, "[a]Into John's baptism."

4 Paul said, "[a]John baptized with the baptism of repentance, telling the people [b]to believe in Him who was coming after him, that is, in Jesus."

5 When they heard this, they were [a]baptized [1]in the name of the Lord Jesus.

6 And when Paul had [a]laid his hands upon them, the Holy Spirit came on them, and they began [b]speaking with tongues and [c]prophesying.

7 There were in all about twelve men.

8 And he entered [a]the synagogue and continued speaking out boldly for three months, reasoning and persuading them [b]about the kingdom of God.

9 But when [a]some were becoming hardened and disobedient, speaking evil of [b]the Way before the [1]people, he withdrew from them and took away [c]the disciples, reasoning daily in the school of Tyrannus.

10 This took place for [a]two years, so that all who lived in [1][b]Asia heard [c]the word of the Lord, both Jews and Greeks.

Miracles at Ephesus

11 God was performing [a]extraordinary [1]miracles by the hands of Paul,

13 But also some of the Jewish [a]exorcists, who went from place to place, attempted to name over those who had the evil spirits the name of the Lord Jesus, saying, "I adjure you by Jesus whom Paul preaches."

14 Seven sons of one Sceva, a Jewish chief priest, were doing this.

15 And the evil spirit answered and said to them, "I recognize Jesus, and I know about Paul, but who are you?"

16 And the man, in whom was the evil spirit, leaped on them and subdued all of them and overpowered them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded.

17 This became known to all, both Jews and Greeks, who lived in [a]Ephesus; and fear fell upon them all and the name of the Lord Jesus was being magnified.

18 Many also of those who had believed kept coming, confessing and disclosing their practices.

19 And many of those who practiced magic brought their books together and began burning them in the sight of everyone; and they counted up the price of them and found it [1]fifty thousand [a]pieces of silver.

20 So [1][a]the word of the Lord [b]was growing mightily and prevailing.

21 Now after these things were finished, Paul purposed in the [1]spirit to [a]go to Jerusalem [b]after he had passed through [c]Macedonia and [d]Achaia, saying, "After I have been there, [e]I must also see Rome."

22 And having sent into [a]Macedonia two of [b]those who ministered to him, [c]Timothy on 18:19. some disciples. These 12 (v. 7) seem to have been followers of Jesus, but indirectly through John the Baptist or some of his followers. Or perhaps they had received their teaching from Apollos himself in his earlier state of partial understanding (see 18:26). Like Apollos, they had a limited understanding of the gospel (see note on 18:25).

19:2 receive the Holy Spirit. Paul finds that they were not informed about the Holy Spirit at all (vv. 3–6).

19:4 John baptized. See notes on Matt 3:11,15. baptism of repentance. A summation of John's teaching. It was preparatory and provisional, stressing man's sinfulness and thus creating a sense of need for the gospel. John's baptism looked forward to Jesus, who by His death would make possible the forgiveness of sins (see note on Mark 1:4).

19:6 laid his hands upon them. See note on 6:6. Holy Spirit came on them . . . began speaking with tongues and prophesying. The same experience the disciples had at Pentecost (2:4,11) and the Gentiles had in Caesarea (10:46).

19:8 three months. Much longer than the three Sabbaths in Thessalonica (17:2), but the same approach: Jews first, then Greeks (see note on 13:14).

19:9 the Way. See note on 9:2. school of Tyrannus. See map, p. 1716; probably a school used regularly by Tyrannus, a philosopher or rhetorician. Instruction was probably given in the cooler, morning hours. One Greek manuscript adds that Paul did his instructing from 11:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. This would have been the hot time of the day, but the hall was available and the people were not at their regular work.

19:10 two years. Two years and three months (see v. 8) was the longest stay in one missionary location that Luke records. By Jewish reckoning, any part of a year is considered a year; so this period can be spoken of as three years (20:31). all who lived in Asia heard. One of the elements of Paul's missionary strategy is seen here. Many of the cities where Paul planted churches were strategic centers that, when evangelized, served as focal points from which the gospel radiated out to the surrounding areas. Other examples are Antioch in Pisidia (see 13:14), Thessalonica (see 17:1), Athens (see 17:15) and Corinth (see 18:1).

19:12 handkerchiefs. Probably used by Paul in his trade of leatherworking: one for tying around his head, the other around his waist. Cf. 5:15.

19:14 Sceva, a Jewish chief priest. May have been related to the high priestly family of Jerusalem. But more likely he took this title himself to make further impression with his magical wiles. Drawn by Paul's ability to drive out evil spirits, Jewish exorcists wanted to copy his work (cf. 13:6).

19:19 books. Such documents bearing alleged magical formulas and secret information have been unearthed. Ephesus was a center for magical incantations. fifty thousand pieces of silver. The high price was not due to the quality of the books but to the supposed power gained by their secret rigmarole of words and names.

19:22 Erastus. An important figure at Corinth, "the city trea-and [d]Erastus, he himself stayed in [1e]Asia for a while.

23 About that time there occurred no small disturbance concerning [a]the Way.

24 For a man named Demetrius, a silversmith, who made silver shrines of [1]Artemis, [a]was bringing no little [2]business to the craftsmen;

25 these he gathered together with the workmen of similar trades, and said, "Men, you know that our prosperity [1]depends upon this business.

26 "You see and hear that not only in [a]Ephesus, but in almost all of [1b]Asia, this Paul has persuaded and turned away a considerable number of people, saying that [2c]gods made with hands are no gods at all.

27 "Not only is there danger that this trade of ours fall into disrepute, but also that the temple of the great goddess [1]Artemis be regarded as worthless and that she whom all of [2a]Asia and [b]the [3]world worship will even be dethroned from her magnificence."

28 When they heard this and were filled with rage, they began crying out, saying, "Great is [1]Artemis of the [a]Ephesians!"

29 The city was filled with the confusion, and they rushed [1]with one accord into the theater, dragging along [a]Gaius and [b]Aristarchus, Paul's traveling [c]companions from [d]Macedonia.

30 And when Paul wanted to go into the [1]assembly, [a]the disciples would not let him.

31 Also some of the [1]Asiarchs who were friends of his sent to him and repeatedly urged him not to [2]venture into the theater.

32 [a]So then, some were shouting one thing and some another, for the [1]assembly was in confusion and the majority did not know [2]for what reason they had come together.

33 Some of the crowd [1]concluded it was Alexander, since the Jews had put him forward; and having [a]motioned with his hand, Alexander was intending to make a defense to the [2]assembly.

34 But when they recognized that he was a Jew, a single outcry arose from them all as they shouted for about two hours, "Great is [1]Artemis of the Ephesians!"

35 After quieting the crowd, the town clerk *said, "Men of [a]Ephesus, what man is there after all who does not know that the city of the Ephesians is guardian of the temple of the great [1]Artemis and of the image which fell down from [2]heaven?

36 "So, since these are undeniable facts, you ought to keep calm and to do nothing rash.

41 After saying this he dismissed the [1]assembly.

Paul in Macedonia and Greece surer" at one time (see note on Rom 16:23). He is located later at Corinth also (2 Tim 4:20). Just now he returns to Corinth by way of Macedonia with Timothy.

19:24 Demetrius, a silversmith. Each trade had its guild, and Demetrius was probably a responsible leader of the guild for the manufacture of silver shrines and images. Artemis. The Greek name for the Roman goddess Diana. The Ephesian Artemis, however, was very different from the Greco-Roman goddess. She had taken on the characteristics of Cybele, the mother goddess of fertility worshiped in Asia Minor and served by many prostitute priestesses. A meteorite may be the basis of the many-breasted image of heavenly workmanship claimed for Artemis (v. 35). (Some have identified the objects that cover the torso of the image as ostrich eggs.) Reproductions of the original image from the time of the emperor Domitian (A.D. 81–96) have been found in Ephesus.

19:25 prosperity. Since the temple of Artemis was one of the seven wonders of the ancient world, people came from far and wide to view it. Their purchase of silver shrines and images produced a lucrative business for the craftsmen.

19:27 temple of the great goddess. See map, p. 1716; the glory of Ephesus: 425 feet long and 220 feet wide, having 127 white marble columns 62 feet high and less than 4 feet apart. In the inner sanctuary was the many-breasted image supposedly dropped from heaven.

19:29 Aristarchus. Traveled later with Paul from Corinth to Jerusalem (20:3–4), and also accompanied Paul on the voyage from Jerusalem to Rome (27:1–2; Col 4:10).

19:31 Asiarchs. Greek Asiarchon, members of a council of men of wealth and influence elected to promote the worship of the emperor. Paul had friends in this highest circle.

19:33 Alexander. Pushed forward by the Jews either to make clear the disassociation of the Jews from the Christians and/or to accuse the Christians further of an offense against the Greeks. The crowd recognized that the Jews were not worshipers of Artemis any more than the Christians.

19:35 town clerk. The secretary of the city who published the decisions of the civic assembly. He was the most important local official and the chief executive officer of the assembly, acting as go-between for Ephesus and the Roman authorities.

19:38 courts . . . proconsuls. Probably general terms, not intended to refer to more than one court or one proconsul. As capital city of the province of Asia, Ephesus was the headquarters for the proconsul.

19:39 lawful assembly. The regular civil meeting ordinarily held three times a month.

exhorted them and taken his leave of them, he left [b]to go to [c]Macedonia.

2 When he had gone through those districts and had given them much exhortation, he came to Greece.

3 And there he spent three months, and when [a]a plot was formed against him by the Jews as he was about to set sail for [b]Syria, he decided to return through [c]Macedonia.

4 And [1]he was accompanied by Sopater of [a]Berea, the son of Pyrrhus, and by [b]Aristarchus and Secundus of the [c]Thessalonians, and [b]Gaius of [d]Derbe, and [e]Timothy, and [f]Tychicus and [g]Trophimus of [2h]Asia.

5 But these had gone on ahead and were waiting for [a]us at [b]Troas.

6 [a]We sailed from [b]Philippi after [c]the days of Unleavened Bread, and came to them at [d]Troas within five days; and there we stayed seven days.

7 On [a]the first day of the week, when [b]we were gathered together to [c]break bread, Paul began talking to them, intending to leave the next day, and he prolonged his [1]message until midnight.

8 There were many [a]lamps in the [b]upper room where we were gathered together.

9 And there was a young man named [1]Eutychus sitting [2]on the window sill, sinking into a deep sleep; and as Paul kept on talking, he was overcome by sleep and fell down from the third floor and was picked up dead.

10 But Paul went down and [a]fell upon him, and after embracing him, he [b]said, "[1]Do not be troubled, for his life is in him."

11 When he had gone back up and had [a]broken the bread and [1]eaten, he talked with them a long while until daybreak, and then left.

12 They took away the boy alive, and were [1]greatly comforted.

Troas to Miletus

13 But [a]we, going ahead to the ship, set sail for Assos, intending from there to take Paul on board; for so he had arranged it, intending himself to go [1]by land.

14 And when he met us at Assos, we took him on board and came to Mitylene.

15 Sailing from there, we arrived the following day opposite Chios; and the next day we crossed over to Samos; and the day following we came to [a]Miletus.

20:1 taken his leave . . . he left. Paul wanted to: (1) leave Ephesus, (2) preach in Troas on his way to Macedonia, (3) meet Titus at Troas with a report from Corinth (see 2 Cor 2:12–13) and (4) continue collecting the offering for Judea (see 1 Cor 16:1–4; 2 Co 8:1–9:15; Rom 15:25–28).

20:2 he had gone through those districts. May cover a considerable period. He may have gone to Illyricum (see Rom 15:19) at this time.

20:3 three months. Probably a reference to the stay in Corinth, the capital of Achaia. These would be the winter months when ships did not sail regularly. Paul probably wrote Romans at this time (see Introduction to Romans: Occasion). a plot . . . against him. The Jews were determined to take Paul's life; also, at this time he was carrying the offering for the Christians in Judea, so there would have been a temptation for theft as well. The port at Cenchrea would have provided a convenient place for Paul's enemies to detect him as he entered a ship to embark for Syria.

20:4 These men seem to be the delegates appointed to accompany Paul and the money given for the needy in Judea (see note on 2 Cor 8:23). Three were from Macedonia, two from Galatia and two from Asia. Luke may have joined them at Philippi ("We sailed," v. 6; see note on 16:10). Sopater. May be the same as Sosipater (Rom 16:21). Aristarchus. See note on 19:29. Secundus. Not mentioned elsewhere. His name means "second," as Tertius (see Rom 16:22) means "third" and Quartus (see Rom 16:23) means "fourth." Gaius from Derbe. A Gaius from Macedonia was associated with Aristarchus (see 19:29), but the grouping of the names in pairs (after the reference to Sopater) indicates that this Gaius was associated with Roman Galatia and is different from the Macedonian Gaius. Timothy. May have represented more than one particular church. He was from Lystra but had been responsible for working in other churches (1 Cor 16:10–11; Phil 2:19–23). He had been sent to Macedonia before Paul left Ephesus (19:22). Tychicus. A constant help to Paul, especially in association with the churches of Asia (Eph 6:21–22; Col 4:7–9; 2 Tim 4:12; Titus 3:12). Trophimus. Appears again in 21:29 (see 2 Tim 4:20). He was an Ephesian, and it is implied that he was a Gentile.

20:5 Troas. Was to be the rendezvous for Paul and those who went on ahead by sea from Neapolis, the seaport of Philippi (16:11). Paul and his immediate companions stayed in Philippi before sailing a week later.

20:6 from Philippi. From the seaport, Neapolis, about ten miles away. days of Unleavened Bread. Began with Passover and lasted a week. Paul spent the period in Philippi. Formerly he had hoped to reach Jerusalem sooner (see 19:21), but now he hoped to arrive there for Pentecost (see 20:16). within five days. The voyage from Neapolis to Troas took five days. It had taken about two days the other direction (16:11). seven days. Although Paul was in a hurry to arrive at Jerusalem by Pentecost, he remained seven days at Troas. This might have been because of a ship schedule, but more likely the delay was in order to meet with the believers on the first day of the week to break bread.

20:7 first day of the week. Sunday. Although some maintain that they met on Saturday evening since the Jewish day began at six o'clock the previous evening, there is no indication that Luke is using the Jewish method of reporting time to tell of happenings in this Hellenistic city. to break bread. Here indicates the Lord's Supper, since breaking bread was the expressed purpose for this formal gathering. The Lord's Supper had been commanded (Luke 22:19), and it was observed regularly (see 2:42).

20:9 Eutychus. A name common among the freedman class (see note on 6:9).

20:10 his life is in him. As Peter had raised Tabitha (9:40), so Paul raised Eutychus.

20:13 Assos. On the opposite side of the peninsula from Troas—about 20 miles away by land. The coastline, however, was about 40 miles. Thus Paul was not far behind the ship that sailed around the peninsula.

20:14 Mitylene. After the first day of sailing, they put into this harbor on the southeast shore of the island of Lesbos.

20:15 Chios. The second night they spent off the shore of this larger island, which lay along the west coast of Asia Minor.

16 For Paul had decided to sail past [a]Ephesus so that he would not have to spend time in [1][b]Asia; for he was hurrying [c]to be in Jerusalem, if possible, [d]on the day of Pentecost.

Farewell to Ephesus

17 From Miletus he sent to [a]Ephesus and called to him [b]the elders of the church.

18 And when they had come to him, he said to them,

"You yourselves know, [a]from the first day that I set foot in [1]Asia, how I was with you the whole time,

19 serving the Lord with all humility and with tears and with trials which came upon me [1]through [a]the plots of the Jews;

20 how I [a]did not shrink from declaring to you anything that was profitable, and teaching you publicly and [1]from house to house,

21 solemnly [a]testifying to both Jews and Greeks of [b]repentance toward God and [c]faith in our Lord Jesus Christ.

22 "And now, behold, bound in [1]spirit, [a]I am on my way to Jerusalem, not knowing what will happen to me there, 23 except that [a]the Holy Spirit solemnly [b]testifies to me in every city, saying that [c]bonds and afflictions await me.

24 "But [a]I do not consider my life of any account as dear to myself, so that I may [b]finish my course and [c]the ministry which I received from the Lord Jesus, to [d]testify solemnly of the gospel of [e]the grace of God.

25 "And now, behold, I know that all of you, among whom I went about [a]preaching the kingdom, will no longer see my face.

26 "Therefore, I [1]testify to you this day that [a]I am [2]innocent of the blood of all men.

27 "For I [a]did not shrink from declaring to you the whole [b]purpose of God.

28 "Be on guard for yourselves and for all [a]the flock, among which the Holy Spirit has made you [1]overseers, to shepherd [b]the church of God which [c]He [2]purchased [3]with His own blood.

29 "I know that after my departure [a]savage wolves will come in among you, not sparing [b]the flock;

30 and from among your own selves men will arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away [a]the disciples after them.

31 "Therefore be on the alert, remembering that night and day for a period of [a]three years I did not cease to admonish each one [b]with tears.

32 "And now I [a]commend you to God and to [b]the word of His grace, which is able to [c]build you up and to give you [d]the inheritance among all those who are sanctified.

33 "[a]I have coveted no one's silver or gold or clothes.

34 "You yourselves know that [a]these hands ministered to my own needs and to the [b]men who were with me.

35 "In everything I showed you that by working hard in this manner you must help the weak and remember the words of the Lord Jesus, that He Himself said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.' "

36 When he had said these things, he [a]knelt down and prayed with them all.

37 And [1]they began to weep aloud and [2][a]embraced Paul, and repeatedly kissed him, Samos. Crossing the mouth of the bay that leads to Ephesus, they came on the third day to Samos, one of the most important islands in the Aegean. Miletus. Thirty miles south of Ephesus, the destination of the ship Paul was on. He would have had to change ships to put into Ephesus, which would have lost time (see v. 16). If he had come to Ephesus, he would have had to visit a number of families, which would have taken more time. If trouble should arise, as the riot of a year ago (19:23–41), even more time would be lost. It could not be risked.

20:16 on the day of Pentecost. Fifty days from Passover. Five days plus seven days (v. 6) plus four days (vv. 13–15) had already gone by, leaving only about two-thirds of the time for the remainder of the trip.

20:17 elders of the church. The importance of the leadership of elders has been evident throughout Paul's ministry. He had delivered the famine gift from the church at Antioch to the elders of the Jerusalem church (11:30). He had appointed elders on his first missionary journey (see 14:23) and had addressed the holders of this office later in Philippi (Phil 1:1, "overseers"). He requested the Ephesian elders to meet with him on this solemn occasion (see v. 28). Some years later he wrote down instruction about the elders' qualifications (1 Tim 3; Titus 1).

20:19 with tears. See v. 31. Paul's ministry at Ephesus was conducted with emotional fervency and a sense of urgency.

20:22 bound in spirit. Paul did not go to Jerusalem against the direction of the Spirit, as some have suggested, but because of the guidance of the Spirit. People pleaded with him not to go (21:4,12), not because the Spirit prohibited his going but because the Spirit revealed the capture that awaited him there (21:11–12).

20:25 all of you . . . will no longer see my face. Not a message from God but what Paul anticipated. He had been mistaken before in his plans: He had intended to stay in Ephesus until Pentecost, but he had to leave earlier (see v. 1; 1 Cor 16:8–9). His prophetic power was not used to foresee his own future, just as his healing power was not used to heal his own disease (see 2 Cor 12:7–9). As it turned out, it seems that Paul did revisit Ephesus (see 1 Tim 1:3).

20:28 overseers, to shepherd. The "elders" (v. 17) were called "overseers" and told to pastor ("shepherd") the flock—demonstrating that the same men could be called "elders," "overseers" or "pastors." His own blood. Lit. "the blood of his own one," a term of endearment (such as "his own dear one," referring to His own Son).

20:31 three years. See note on 19:10.

20:32 are sanctified. Positional sanctification (see 26:18; see also note on 1 Cor 1:2).

20:34 ministered to my own needs. Paul had worked in Thessalonica (1 Thess 2:9) and Corinth (Acts 18:3).

20:35 remember the words . . . that He Himself said. A formula

38 [1]grieving especially over [a]the word which he had spoken, that they would not see his face again. And they were [b]accompanying him to the ship.

Paul Sails from Miletus

21 When [a]we had parted from them and had set sail, we ran [b]a straight course to Cos and the next day to Rhodes and from there to Patara;

2 and having found a ship crossing over to [a]Phoenicia, we went aboard and set sail.

3 When we came in sight of [a]Cyprus, leaving it on the left, we kept sailing to [b]Syria and landed at [c]Tyre; for there the ship was to unload its cargo.

4 After looking up [a]the disciples, we stayed there seven days; and they kept telling Paul [1b]through the Spirit not to set foot in Jerusalem.

5 When [1]our days there were ended, we left and started on our journey, while they all, with wives and children, [a]escorted us until we were out of the city. After [b]kneeling down on the beach and praying, we said farewell to one another.

6 Then we went on board the ship, and they returned [a]home again.

7 When we had finished the voyage from [a]Tyre, we arrived at Ptolemais, and after greeting [b]the brethren, we stayed with them for a day.

8 On the next day we left and came to [a]Caesarea, and entering the house of [b]Philip the [c]evangelist, who was [b]one of the seven, we stayed with him.

9 Now this man had four virgin daughters who were [a]prophetesses.

10 As we were staying there for some days, a prophet named [a]Agabus came down from Judea.

11 And coming to us, he [a]took Paul's belt and bound his own feet and hands, and said, "This [b]is what the Holy Spirit says: 'In this way the Jews at Jerusalem will [c]bind the man who owns this belt and [d]deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles.' "

12 When we had heard this, we as well as the local residents began begging him [a]not to go up to Jerusalem.

13 Then Paul answered, "What are you doing, weeping and breaking my heart? For [a]I am ready not only to be bound, but even to die at Jerusalem for [b]the name of the Lord Jesus."

14 And since he would not be persuaded, we fell silent, remarking, "[a]The will of the Lord be done!"

Paul at Jerusalem

15 After these days we got ready and [a]started on our way up to Jerusalem.

16 Some of [a]the disciples from [b]Caesarea also came with us, taking us to Mnason of [c]Cyprus, a [d]disciple of long standing with whom we were to lodge.

17 After we arrived in Jerusalem, [a]the brethren received us gladly.

18 And the following day Paul went in with us to [1a]James, and all [b]the elders were present.

19 After he had greeted them, he [a]began to relate one by one the things which God had done among the Gentiles through his [b]ministry.

20 And when they heard it they began [a]glorifying God; and they said to him, "You regularly used in the early church to introduce a quotation from Jesus (1 Clement 46:7). This is a rare instance of a saying of Jesus not found in the canonical Gospels.

21:1 ran a straight course to Cos. Favorable winds took them to a stopping place for the night at this island. Rhodes. The leading city on the island of Rhodes, once noted for its harbor colossus, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world (but demolished over two centuries before Paul arrived there). It took them a day to get to Rhodes. Patara. On the southern coast of Lycia. Paul changed ships from a vessel that hugged the shore of Asia Minor to one going directly to Tyre and Phoenicia.

21:3 Cyprus. See 13:4. Tyre. Paul had passed through this Phoenician area at least once before (15:3; cf. Mark 7:24).

21:4 seven days. These, added to the 29 days since the Passover in Philippi, would leave only two weeks until Pentecost. kept telling Paul . . . not to set foot. The Spirit warned of the coming trials in store for Paul at Jerusalem. Because of these warnings, Paul's brothers urged him not to go on, knowing that trials lay ahead. But Paul felt "bound in spirit" to go (20:22).

21:7 Ptolemais. The modern city of Acco, north of and across the bay from Mount Carmel. It was one day's journey from Tyre on the north and another 35 miles to Caesarea on the south.

21:8 Caesarea. A Gentile city, the capital of Roman Judea (see note on 10:1). Philip the evangelist. Philip's evangelistic work may have focused on Caesarea for almost 25 years (see note on 8:40). "Evangelist" is a title used only here and in Eph 4:11; 2 Tim 4:5.

21:9 virgin daughters. They may have been dedicated in a special way to serving the Lord. prophetesses. See 1 Cor 11:5; 12:8–10; cf. Luke 2:36. For OT prophetesses see Ex 15:20; Judg 4:4; 2 Kin 22:14; Neh 6:14.

21:10 prophet named Agabus. Evidently he held the office of prophet, as Philip held the office of evangelist (v. 8). This is the same prophet who had been in Antioch prophesying the coming famine in Jerusalem some 15 years earlier (11:27–29).

21:12 we as well as the local residents. Now Luke, in the company of travelers with Paul, joins in urging Paul not to go to Jerusalem.

21:14 will of the Lord be done! May mean that they finally recognized that it was the Lord's will for Paul to go to Jerusalem.

21:16 Mnason. Must have been a disciple of some means to be able to accommodate Paul and a group of about nine men traveling with him.

21:17 arrived in Jerusalem. No more than a day or two before Pentecost. the brethren received us gladly. May indicate the grateful reception of the offering as well.

21:18 James. The brother of the Lord, author of the letter of James and leader of the church in Jerusalem (see Gal 1:19; 2:9). He is called an apostle but was not one of the twelve.

21:23 under a vow. They were evidently under the temporary see, brother, how many [1]thousands there are among the Jews of those who have believed, and they are all [b]zealous for the Law;

21 and they have been told about you, that you are [a]teaching all the Jews who are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, telling them [b]not to circumcise their children nor to [1]walk according to [c]the customs.

22 "What, then, is to be done? They will certainly hear that you have come.

23 "Therefore do this that we tell you. We have four men who [1][a]are under a vow;

24 take them and [a]purify yourself along with them, and [1]pay their expenses so that they may [b]shave their [2]heads; and all will know that there is nothing to the things which they have been told about you, but that you yourself also walk orderly, keeping the Law.

25 "But concerning the Gentiles who have believed, we wrote, [a]having decided that they should abstain from [1]meat sacrificed to idols and from blood and from what is strangled and from fornication."

26 Then Paul [1]took the men, and the next day, [a]purifying himself along with them, [b]went into the temple giving notice of the completion of the days of purification, until the sacrifice was offered for each one of them.

Paul Seized in the Temple

27 When [a]the seven days were almost over, [b]the Jews from [1c]Asia, upon seeing him in the temple, began to stir up all the crowd and laid hands on him,

28 crying out, "Men of Israel, come to our aid! [a]This is the man who preaches to all men everywhere against our people and the Law and this place; and besides he has even brought Greeks into the temple and has [b]defiled this holy place."

29 For they had previously seen [a]Trophimus the [b]Ephesian in the city with him, and they supposed that Paul had brought him into the temple.

30 Then all the city was provoked, and [1]the people rushed together, and taking hold of Paul they [a]dragged him out of the temple, and immediately the doors were shut.

31 While they were seeking to kill him, a report came up to the [1]commander of the [a]Roman [2]cohort that all Jerusalem was in confusion.

32 At once he [a]took along some soldiers and centurions and ran down to them; and when they saw the [1]commander and the soldiers, they stopped beating Paul.

35 When he got to [a]the stairs, he was carried by the soldiers because of the violence of the [1]mob;

36 for the multitude of the people kept following them, shouting, "[a]Away with him!"

37 As Paul was about to be brought into [a]the barracks, he said to the [1]commander, "May I say something to you?" And he *said, "Do you know Greek?

Nazirite vow and became unclean before the completion time of the vow (perhaps from contact with a dead body); cf. Num 6:2–12.

21:24 purify yourself. In some instances the rites included the offering of sacrifices. Such rites were observed by choice by some Jewish Christians but were not required of Christians, whether Jew or Gentile. pay their expenses. Paul's part in sponsoring these men would include (1) paying part or all of the expenses of the sacrificial victims (in this case eight pigeons and four lambs, Num 6:9–12) and (2) going to the temple to notify the priest when their days of purification would be fulfilled so the priests would be prepared to sacrifice their offerings (v. 26). keeping the Law. Paul had earlier taken a vow himself (18:18), he had been a Jew to the Jews (see 1 Cor 9:20–21), and Timothy had been circumcised (16:3). However, Paul was very careful not to sacrifice Christian principle in any act of obedience to the law (he would not have Titus circumcised, Gal 2:3).

21:27 seven days. Cf. Num 6:9. These were the days required for purification, shaving their heads at the altar, the sacrifice of a sin offering and burnt offering for each, and announcing the completion to the priests. Jews from Asia. Paul had suffered already from the hands of Asian Jews (20:19).

21:28 brought Greeks into the temple. Explicitly forbidden according to inscribed stone markers (still in existence). Any Gentiles found within the bounds of the court of Israel would be killed. But there is no evidence that Paul had brought anyone other than Jews into the area.

21:29 Trophimus. Paul probably did not take him into the forbidden area. If he had, they should have attacked Trophimus rather than Paul.

21:30 doors were shut. By order of the temple officer to prevent further trouble inside the sacred precincts.

21:31 commander. Greek chiliarch, a commander of 1,000 (a regiment), Claudius Lysias by name (23:26), who was stationed at the Fortress of Antonia (see note on v. 37).

21:32 some . . . centurions. Since the plural is used, it is likely that at least two centurions and 200 soldiers were involved.

21:33 two chains. Probably his hands were chained to a soldier on either side.

21:37 barracks. The Fortress of Antonia was connected to the northern end of the temple area by two flights of steps. The tower overlooked the temple area.

21:38 the Egyptian who . . . stirred up a revolt. Josephus tells of an Egyptian false prophet who some years earlier had led 4,000 (Josephus, through a misreading of a Greek capital letter, says 30,000) out to the Mount of Olives. Roman soldiers killed hun-

39 But Paul said, "[a]I am a Jew of Tarsus in [b]Cilicia, a citizen of no insignificant city; and I beg you, allow me to speak to the people."

40 When he had given him permission, Paul, standing on [a]the stairs, [b]motioned to the people with his hand; and when there [1]was a great hush, he spoke to them in the [2c]Hebrew dialect, saying,

Paul's Defense before the Jews

22 "[a]Brethren and fathers, hear my defense which I now offer to you."

2 And when they heard that he was addressing them in the [1a]Hebrew dialect, they became even more quiet; and he *said,

3 "[a]I am [b]a Jew, born in [c]Tarsus of [d]Cilicia, but brought up in this city, educated [1]under [e]Gamaliel, [2f]strictly according to the law of our fathers, being zealous for God just as [g]you all are today.

6 "[a]But it happened that as I was on my way, approaching Damascus about noontime, a very bright light suddenly flashed from heaven all around me,

7 and I fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to me, 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting Me?'

dreds, but the leader escaped. men of the Assassins. The Greek here is a loanword from Latin sicarii, meaning "dagger-men," who were violent assassins.

21:39 Tarsus. See note on 22:3.

21:40 the Hebrew dialect. More likely Aramaic than Hebrew, since Aramaic was the most commonly used language among Palestinian Jews.

22:1 Brethren. See note on 11:1.

22:2 the Hebrew dialect. See note on 21:40. Actually, if he had spoken in Hebrew, they would have become quieter in order not to miss a single word, because it would have been more difficult for them to understand.

22:3 born in Tarsus. Paul had citizenship in Tarsus (21:39) as well as being a Roman citizen. "No insignificant city" (21:39) was used by Euripides to describe Athens. Tarsus was 10 miles inland on the Cydnus River and 30 miles from the mountains, which were cut by a deep, narrow gorge called the Cilician Gates. It was an important commercial center, university city and crossroads of travel. brought up in this city. Paul must have come to Jerusalem at an early age. Another translation ("brought up in this city at the feet of Gamaliel, being thoroughly trained according to the law of our fathers") would suggest that Paul came to Jerusalem when he was old enough to begin training under Gamaliel. Gamaliel. The most honored rabbi of the first century. Possibly he was the grandson of Hillel (see also 5:34–40).

22:4 I persecuted this Way. See 9:1–4.

22:5 high priest. Caiaphas, the high priest over 20 years earlier, was now dead, and Ananias was high priest (see 23:2); but the records of the high priest would show Paul's testimony to be true.

22:6 about noontime. A detail not included in the earlier account (9:1–22).

22:8 Who are You, Lord? See note on 9:5. persecuting. See note on 9:4.

22:9 did not understand the voice. They heard the sound (9:7) but did not understand what was said.

22:12 Ananias . . . devout by the standard of the Law. Important to this audience (see note on Luke 1:6).

22:14 to see the Righteous One. Cf. 3:14. To see the resurrected Jesus was all-important to Paul (see 26:16; 1 Cor 9:1; 15:8). It was that experience that had convinced him of the truth of the gospel and that became the foundation of his theology.

22:16 wash away your sins. Baptism is the outward sign of an inward work of grace. The reality and the symbol are closely associated in the NT (see 2:38; Titus 3:5; 1 Pet 3:21). The outward rite, however, does not produce the inward grace (cf. Rom 2:28–29; Eph 2:8–9; Phil 3:4–9). See note on Rom 6:3–4.

22:17 when I returned to Jerusalem. Refers to the visit described in 9:26; Gal 1:17–18. in the temple, that I fell into a trance. See Peter's trance (10:10; 11:5; cf. 2 Cor 12:3). Paul was not a blasphemer of the temple but continued to hold it in high honor.

21 " And He said to me, 'Go! For I will send you far away [a]to the Gentiles.' "

22 They listened to him up to this statement, and then they raised their voices and said, "[a]Away with such a fellow from the earth, for [b]he should not be allowed to live!"

23 And as they were crying out and [a]throwing off their cloaks and [b]tossing dust into the air,

24 the [1]commander ordered him to be brought into [a]the barracks, stating that he should be [b]examined by scourging so that he might find out the reason why they were shouting against him that way.

25 But when they stretched him out [1]with thongs, Paul said to the centurion who was standing by, "Is it [2]lawful for you to scourge [a]a man who is a Roman and uncondemned?"

26 When the centurion heard this, he went to the [1]commander and told him, saying, "What are you about to do? For this man is a Roman."

27 The [1]commander came and said to him, "Tell me, are you a Roman?" And he said, "Yes."

28 The [1]commander answered, "I acquired this citizenship with a large sum of money." And Paul said, "But I was actually born a citizen."

29 Therefore those who were about to [a]examine him immediately [1]let go of him; and the [2]commander also [b]was afraid when he found out that he was a Roman, and because he had [3][c]put him in chains.

30 But on the next day, [a]wishing to know for certain why he had been accused by the Jews, he [b]released him and ordered the chief priests and all [c]the [1]Council to assemble, and brought Paul down and set him before them.

Paul before the Council

23 Paul, looking intently at [a]the [1]Council, said, "[b]Brethren, [c]I have [2]lived my life with a perfectly good conscience before God up to this day."

2 The high priest [a]Ananias commanded those standing beside him [b]to strike him on the mouth.

3 Then Paul said to him, "God is going to strike you, [a]you whitewashed wall! Do you [b]sit to try me according to the Law, and in violation of the Law order me to be struck?"

4 But the bystanders said, "Do you revile God's high priest?"

5 And Paul said, "I was not aware, brethren, that he was high priest; for it is written, '[a]YOU SHALL NOT SPEAK EVIL OF A RULER OF YOUR PEOPLE.' "

6 But perceiving that one group were [a]Sadducees and the other Pharisees, Paul began crying out in [b]the [1]Council, "[c]Brethren, [d]I am a Pharisee, a son of Pharisees; I am on trial for [e]the hope and resurrection of the dead!"

22:20 standing by approving. Does not necessarily mean that Paul had to be a member of the Sanhedrin, though some have thought so (see note on 26:10). He could show his approval by allowing them to put their cloaks at his feet.

22:24 commander. See note on 21:31. barracks. See note on 21:37. examined by scourging. Not with the rod, as at Philippi (16:22–24), but with the scourge, a merciless instrument of torture. It was legal to use it to force a confession from a slave or alien but never from a Roman citizen. The scourge consisted of a whip of leather thongs with pieces of bone or metal attached to the ends.

22:25 they stretched him out. The Greek word used for tying a person to a post for whipping. centurion. See note on 10:1. Roman. According to Roman law, all Roman citizens were assured exclusion from all degrading forms of punishment: beating with rods, scourging, crucifixion.

22:28 acquired . . . large sum of money. There were three ways to obtain Roman citizenship: (1) receive it as a reward for some outstanding service to Rome; (2) buy it at a considerable price; (3) be born into a family of Roman citizens. How Paul's father or an earlier ancestor had gained citizenship, no one knows. By 171 B.C. a large number of Jews were citizens of Tarsus, and in the time of Pompey (106–48) some of these could have received Roman citizenship as well. Cf. 16:37.

22:30 he released him. Paul was no longer bound, and presumably he would have been free completely if the Council had not wished to detain him. chief priests. Those of the high priestly line of descent (mainly Sadducees), but the Council now included a considerable number of Pharisees. These men constituted the ruling body of the Jews. The Jewish court was respected by the Roman governor, whose approval had to be obtained before sentencing to capital punishment.

23:1 Council. See note on 5:21. Brethren. Fellow Jews (see note on 11:1). good conscience. A consistent claim of Paul.

23:2 Ananias. High priest A.D. 47–59, son of Nebedaeus. He is not to be confused with the high priest Annas (A.D. 6–15; see note on Luke 3:2). Ananias was noted for cruelty and violence. When the revolt against Rome broke out, he was assassinated by his own people.

23:3 whitewashed wall! Having an attractive exterior but filled with unclean contents, such as tombs holding dead bodies (see Matt 23:27); or walls that look substantial but fall before the winds (see Ezek 13:10–12). It is a metaphor for a hypocrite.

23:5 I was not aware . . . that he was high priest. Explained in different ways: 1. Paul had poor eyesight (suggested by such passages as Gal 4:15; 6:11) and failed to see that the one who presided was the high priest. 2. He failed to discern that the one who presided was the high priest because on some occasions others had sat in his place. 3. He was using pure irony: A true high priest would not give such an order. 4. He refused to acknowledge that Ananias was the high priest under these circumstances.

23:6 Sadducees. See notes on 4:1; Matt 3:7; Mark 12:18; Luke 20:27. They denied the resurrection and angels and spirits (v. 8). Pharisees. See notes on Matt 3:7; Mark 2:16; Luke 5:17.

7 As he said this, there occurred a dissension between the Pharisees and Sadducees, and the assembly was divided.

8 For [a]the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection, nor an angel, nor a spirit, but the Pharisees acknowledge them all.

9 And there occurred a great uproar; and some of [a]the scribes of the Pharisaic party stood up and began to argue heatedly, saying, "[b]We find nothing wrong with this man; [c]suppose a spirit or an angel has spoken to him?"

10 And as a great dissension was developing, the [1]commander was afraid Paul would be torn to pieces by them and ordered the troops to go down and take him away from them by force, and bring him into [a]the barracks.

11 But on [a]the night immediately following, the Lord stood at his side and said, "[b]Take courage; for [c]as you have [d]solemnly witnessed to My cause at Jerusalem, so you must witness at Rome also."

A Conspiracy to Kill Paul

12 When it was day, [a]the Jews formed a [1]conspiracy and [b]bound themselves under an oath, saying that they would neither eat nor drink until they had killed Paul.

13 There were more than forty who formed this plot.

14 They came to the chief priests and the elders and said, "We have [a]bound ourselves under a solemn oath to taste nothing until we have killed Paul.

15 "Now therefore, you [1]and [a]the [2]Council notify the [3]commander to bring him down to you, as though you were going to determine his case by a more thorough investigation; and we for our part are ready to slay him before he comes near the place."

16 But the son of Paul's sister heard of their ambush, [1]and he came and entered [a]the barracks and told Paul.

17 Paul called one of the centurions to him and said, "Lead this young man to the [1]commander, for he has something to report to him."

18 So he took him and led him to the [1]commander and *said, "Paul [a]the prisoner called me to him and asked me to lead this young man to you since he has something to tell you."

19 The [1]commander took him by the hand and stepping aside, began to inquire of him privately, "What is it that you have to report to me?"

20 And he said, "[a]The Jews have agreed to ask you to bring Paul down tomorrow to [b]the [1]Council, as though they were going to inquire somewhat more thoroughly about him.

21 "So do not [1]listen to them, for more than forty of them are [a]lying in wait for him who have [b]bound themselves under a curse not to eat or drink until they slay him; and now they are ready and waiting for the promise from you."

22 So the [1]commander let the young man go, instructing him, "Tell no one that you have notified me of these things."

Paul Moved to Caesarea

23 And he called to him two of the centurions and said, "Get two hundred soldiers ready by [1]the third hour of the night to proceed to [a]Caesarea, [2]with seventy horsemen and two hundred [3]spearmen."

24 They were also to provide mounts to put Paul on and bring him safely to [a]Felix the governor.

25 And he wrote a letter having this form:

26 "Claudius Lysias, to the [a]most excellent governor Felix, [b]greetings.

27 "When this man was arrested by the Jews and was about to be slain by them, [a]I came up to them with the troops and rescued him, [b]having learned that he was a Roman.

28 "And [a]wanting to ascertain the charge for which they were accusing him, I [b]brought him down to their [1c]Council;

29 and I found him to be accused over [a]questions about their Law, but [1]under [b]no accusation deserving death or [2]imprisonment.

30 "When I was [a]informed that there would be [b]a plot against the man, I sent him to you at once, also instructing [c]his accusers to [1]bring charges against him before you."

23:10 commander. See note on 21:31. barracks. See note on 21:37.

23:11 the Lord stood at his side. In times of crisis and need for strength, Paul was given help (see 18:9; 22:18; 27:23).

23:12 bound themselves under an oath. Probably these were from the Zealots or the "terrorists" (see note on 21:38) later responsible for revolt against Rome.

23:17 centurions. See note on 10:1. commander. See note on 21:31.

23:22 Tell no one. For the boy's own safety and because of the commander's plans to transfer Paul under cover of night (see v. 23).

23:23 soldiers . . . horsemen . . . spearmen. Heavily armed infantry, cavalry and lightly armed soldiers. The commander assigned 470 men to protect Paul, the Roman citizen (cf. 22:25–29)—but the Greek for "spearmen" is an obscure word and could perhaps be translated "additional mounts and pack animals."

23:27 having learned that he was a Roman. Inserted to gain the commander's favor with Rome, but not a true statement, because the commander did not learn of Paul's citizenship until he was about to scourge him to gain information.

23:30 instructing his accusers to bring . . . before you. He anticipated that the order would be given by the time the letter was delivered.

31 So the soldiers, in accordance with their orders, took Paul and brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 But the next day, leaving [a]the horsemen to go on with him, they returned to [b]the barracks.

33 When these had come to [a]Caesarea and delivered the letter to [b]the governor, they also presented Paul to him.

34 When he had read it, he asked from what [a]province he was, and when he learned that [b]he was from Cilicia, 35 he said, "I will give you a hearing after your [a]accusers arrive also," giving orders for him to be [b]kept in Herod's [1]Praetorium.

Paul before Felix

24 After [a]five days the high priest [b]Ananias came down with some elders, [1]with an [2]attorney named Tertullus, and they [3]brought charges to [c]the governor against Paul.

2 After Paul had been summoned, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying to the governor,

"Since we have through you attained much peace, and since by your providence reforms are being carried out for this nation,

3 we acknowledge this in every way and everywhere, [a]most excellent Felix, with all thankfulness.

4 "But, that I may not weary you any further, I beg you [1]to grant us, by your kindness, a brief hearing.

5 "For we have found this man a real pest and a fellow who stirs up dissension among all the Jews throughout [1]the world, and a ringleader of the [a]sect of the Nazarenes.

6 "And he even tried to [a]desecrate the temple; and [1]then we arrested him. [[2]We wanted to judge him according to our own Law.

7 "But Lysias the commander came along, and with much violence took him out of our hands,

8 ordering his accusers to come before you.] By examining him yourself concerning all these matters you will be able to ascertain the things of which we accuse him."

9 [a]The Jews also joined in the attack, asserting that these things were so.

10 When [a]the governor had nodded for him to speak, Paul responded:

"Knowing that for many years you have been a judge to this nation, I cheerfully make my defense, 11 since you can take note of the fact that no more than [a]twelve days ago I went up to Jerusalem to worship.

12 "[a]Neither in the temple, nor in the synagogues, nor in the city itself did they find me carrying on a discussion with anyone or [b]causing [1]a riot.

13 "[a]Nor can they prove to you the charges of which they now accuse me.

14 "But this I admit to you, that according to [a]the Way which they call a [b]sect I do serve [1c]the God of our fathers, [d]believing everything that is in accordance with the Law and that is written in the Prophets;

23:31 Antipatris. Rebuilt by Herod the Great and named for his father. It was a military post between Samaria and Judea—30 miles from Jerusalem.

23:33 Caesarea. The headquarters of Roman rule for Samaria and Judea—28 miles from Antipatris.

23:34 he. Antonius Felix. The emperor Claudius had appointed him governor of Judea c. A.D. 52, a time when Felix's brother was the emperor's favorite minister. The brothers had formerly been slaves, then freedmen, then high officials in government. The historian Tacitus said of Felix, "He held the power of a tyrant with the disposition of a slave." He married three queens in succession, one of whom was Drusilla (see note on 24:24). from Cilicia. If Paul had come from a province nearby, Felix might have turned him over for trial under another's jurisdiction.

23:35 Herod's Praetorium. Erected as a royal residence by Herod the Great but now used as a Roman government center (praetorium)—the place for the official business of the emperor and/or to house personnel directly responsible to the emperor. Praetoria were located in Rome (Phil 1:13), Ephesus, Jerusalem (John 18:28), Caesarea and other parts of the empire.

24:1 After five days. After the departure from Jerusalem. This would allow just enough time for a messenger to go from Caesarea to Jerusalem, the Council to appoint their representatives, and the appointees to make the return journey to Caesarea. Ananias. See note on 23:2. The high priest himself made the 60-mile journey to supervise the case personally. elders. The Council was made up of 71 elders. The designation was used of both the religious and the political councils. See notes on Ex 3:16; 2 Sam 3:17; Joel 1:2; Matt 15:2. attorney. Lit. "orator." In a court trial one trained in forensic rhetoric would serve as an attorney at law. Tertullus. A common variant of the name Tertius. Possibly he was a Roman but more likely a Hellenistic Jew familiar with the procedures of the Roman court.

24:2–3 much peace . . . with all thankfulness. The expected eulogy with which to introduce a speech before a judge. In his six years in office Felix had eliminated bands of robbers, thwarted organized assassins and crushed a movement led by an Egyptian (see note on 21:38). But in general his record was not good. He was recalled by Rome two years later because of misrule. His reforms and improvements are hard to identify historically.

24:5 pest . . . ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes. To excite dissension in the empire was treason against Caesar. To be a leader of a religious sect without Roman approval was contrary to law. the sect of the Nazarenes. Christianity.

24:6 tried to desecrate the temple. The charge is now qualified by "an attempt," rather than the former claim (see note on 21:28).

24:10 Paul's reserved introduction lacks the flattery employed by Tertullus (vv. 2–4).

24:11 twelve days ago. Paul answers each accusation. He was not a troublemaker, and he had not been involved in disturbances. He had but recently arrived in Jerusalem. He had spent five days in Caesarea and nearly seven in Jerusalem.

24:14 according to the Way . . . I do serve . . . God. Paul admits to his part in the Way, but he still believes the Law and the Prophets. He shares the same hope as the Jews—resurrection and judgment (v. 15).

15 having a hope in God, which [a]these men cherish themselves, that there shall certainly be a resurrection of both the righteous and the wicked.

16 "In view of this, [a]I also [1]do my best to maintain always a blameless conscience both before God and before men.

17 "Now [a]after several years I [b]came to bring [1]alms to my nation and to present offerings;

18 in which they found me occupied in the temple, having been [a]purified, without any [b]crowd or uproar. But there were some [c]Jews from [1]Asia—

19 who ought to have been present before you and to [a]make accusation, if they should have anything against me.

20 "Or else let these men themselves tell what misdeed they found when I stood before [a]the [1]Council,

21 other than for this one statement which [a]I shouted out while standing among them, 'For the resurrection of the dead I am on trial before you today.' "

22 But Felix, [1]having a more exact knowledge about [a]the Way, put them off, saying, "When Lysias the [2]commander comes down, I will decide your case."

23 Then he gave orders to the centurion for him to be [a]kept in custody and yet [b]have some freedom, and not to prevent any of [c]his friends from ministering to him.

24 But some days later Felix arrived with Drusilla, his [1]wife who was a Jewess, and sent for Paul and heard him speak about [a]faith in Christ Jesus.

25 But as he was discussing [a]righteousness, [b]self-control and [c]the judgment to come, Felix became frightened and said, "Go away for the present, and when I find time I will summon you."

26 At the same time too, he was hoping that [a]money would be given him by Paul; therefore he also used to send for him quite often and converse with him.

27 But after two years had passed, Felix [1]was succeeded by Porcius [a]Festus, and [b]wishing to do the Jews a favor, Felix left Paul [c]imprisoned.

Paul before Festus

25 Festus then, having arrived in [a]the province, three days later went up to Jerusalem from [b]Caesarea.

2 And the chief priests and the leading men of the Jews [a]brought charges against Paul, and they were urging him,

3 requesting a [1]concession against [2]Paul, that he might [3]have him brought to Jerusalem (at the same time, [a]setting an ambush to kill him on the way).

4 Festus then [a]answered that Paul [b]was being kept in custody at [c]Caesarea and that he himself was about to leave shortly.

5 "Therefore," he *said, "let the influential men among you [1]go there with me, and if there is anything wrong [2]about the man, let them [3]prosecute him."

6 After he had spent not more than eight or ten days among them, he went down to [a]Caesarea, and on the next day he took his seat on [b]the tribunal and ordered Paul to be brought.

24:16 blameless conscience. See note on 23:1.

24:17 to bring alms to my nation. The only explicit reference in Acts to the collection that was so important to Paul (see note on 20:4). to present offerings. May refer to Paul's help in sponsoring those who were fulfilling their vows (see 21:24). He also may have intended to present offerings for himself.

24:18 Jews from Asia. See 21:27–29. The absence of these Asian Jews would seem to suggest that they could not substantiate their accusations.

24:21 For the resurrection. Paul again introduces the point of contention between the Pharisees and Sadducees.

24:22 having . . . exact knowledge about the Way. Felix could not have governed Judea and Samaria for six years without becoming familiar with the place and activities of the Christians.

24:23 yet have some freedom. Perhaps Paul was under house arrest similar to what he experienced while waiting trial in Rome (28:30–31)—in recognition of the fact that he was a Roman citizen who had not been found guilty of any crime.

24:24 Drusilla. Felix's third wife, daughter of Herod Agrippa I. At age 15 she married Azizus, king of Emesa, but deserted him for Felix a year later. Her son, also named Agrippa, died in the eruption of Vesuvius (A.D. 79).

24:25 Felix became frightened. Hearing of righteousness, self-control and the judgment, Felix looked at his past life and was filled with fear. He had a spark of sincerity and concern. when I find time. Lust, pride, greed and selfish ambition made it continually inconvenient to change.

24:26 money would be given him. Felix supposed that Paul had access to considerable funds. He had heard of his bringing an offering to the Jewish Christians in Jerusalem (see v. 17). So he wanted Paul to give him money in order to secure his release. Paul no longer had the money, nor would he offer a bribe if he had it.

24:27 Felix was succeeded by . . . Festus. Felix was recalled to Rome in A.D. 59/60 to answer for disturbances and irregularities in his rule, such as his handling of riots between Jewish and Syrian inhabitants. Festus is not mentioned in existing historical records before his arrival in Judea. He died in office after two years, but his record for that time shows wisdom and honesty superior to both his predecessor, Felix, and his successor, Albinus. to do the Jews a favor. Felix did not want to incite more anger among the Jews, whom he would be facing in Roman court shortly. To release Paul from prison would do just that.

25:1 to Jerusalem from Caesarea. Sixty miles, a two-day trip. Festus was anxious to go immediately to the center of Jewish rule and worship.

25:2 chief priests and . . . leading . . . Jews. The Council (see note on Mark 14:55).

25:3 an ambush. Probably the same group that had earlier made a vow to take Paul's life (see note on 23:12).

25:6 took his seat on the tribunal. To make his decision binding as a formal ruling.

7 After Paul arrived, the Jews who had come down from Jerusalem stood around him, bringing [a]many and serious charges against him [b]which they could not prove,

8 while Paul said in his own defense, "[a]I have committed no offense either against the Law of the Jews or against the temple or against Caesar."

9 But Festus, [a]wishing to do the Jews a favor, answered Paul and said, "[b]Are you willing to go up to Jerusalem and [1]stand trial before me on these charges?"

10 But Paul said, "I am standing before Caesar's [a]tribunal, where I ought to be tried. I have done no wrong to the Jews, as you also very well know.

11 "If, then, I am a wrongdoer and have committed anything worthy of death, I do not refuse to die; but if none of those things is true of which these men accuse me, no one can hand me over to them. I [a]appeal to Caesar."

12 Then when Festus had conferred with [1]his council, he answered, "You have appealed to Caesar, to Caesar you shall go."

13 Now when several days had elapsed, King Agrippa and Bernice arrived at [a]Caesarea [1]and paid their respects to Festus.

14 While they were spending many days there, Festus laid Paul's case before the king, saying, "There is a man who was [a]left as a prisoner by Felix;

15 and when I was at Jerusalem, the chief priests and the elders of the Jews [a]brought charges against him, asking for a sentence of condemnation against him.

16 "I [a]answered them that it is not the custom of the Romans to hand over any man before [b]the accused meets his accusers face to face and has an opportunity to make his defense against the charges.

17 "So after they had assembled here, I did not delay, but on the next day took my seat on [a]the tribunal and ordered the man to be brought before me.

18 "When the accusers stood up, they began bringing charges against him not of such crimes as I was expecting,

19 but they simply had some [a]points of disagreement with him about their own [1][b]religion and about a dead man, Jesus, whom Paul asserted to be alive.

20 "[a]Being at a loss how to investigate [1]such matters, I asked whether he was willing to go to Jerusalem and there stand trial on these matters.

21 "But when Paul [a]appealed to be held in custody for [1]the Emperor's decision, I ordered him to be kept in custody until I send him to Caesar."

22 Then [a]Agrippa said to Festus, "I also would like to hear the man myself." "Tomorrow," he *said, "you shall hear him."

Paul before Agrippa

23 So, on the next day when [a]Agrippa came [1]together with [a]Bernice amid great pomp, and entered the auditorium [2]accompanied by the [3]commanders and the prominent men of the city, at the command of Festus, Paul was brought in.

24 Festus *said, "King Agrippa, and all

25:7 which they could not prove. Again, as in the first hearing, Paul's adversaries produced no witnesses or evidence of any kind.

25:8 no offense . . . against the Law. Paul had respect for the law (see Rom 7:12; 8:3–4; 1 Cor 9:20). against the temple. See notes on 21:28–29. Paul had not defied its customs by taking Trophimus into forbidden areas (21:29). Jesus had prophesied its destruction, but He was not responsible for its plight (Luke 21:5–6). against Caesar. Paul proclaimed the kingdom of God but not as a political rival of Rome (cf. 17:6–7). He advocated respect for law and order (see Rom 13:1–7) and prayer for civil rulers (see 1 Tim 2:2).

25:9 Are you willing to go up to Jerusalem . . . ? Obviously not. Festus had said that the trial would be before him; so Paul insisted that he was then standing in the Roman civil court (v. 10). He wanted to keep his trial there rather than suffer at the hands of a Jewish religious court. As a Roman citizen, he could refuse to go to a local provincial court; instead he looked to a higher Roman court.

25:11 I appeal to Caesar. Nero had become the emperor by this time. It was the right of every Roman citizen to have his case heard before Caesar himself (or his representative) in Rome. This was the highest court of appeal, and winning such a case could have led to more than just Paul's acquittal. It could have resulted in official recognition of Christianity as distinct from Judaism.

25:12 his council. The officials and legal experts who made up the advisory council for the Roman governor.

25:13 King Agrippa. Herod Agrippa II. He was 17 years old at the death of his father in A.D. 44 (12:23). Being too young to succeed his father, he was replaced by Roman procurators. Eight years later, however, a gradual extension of territorial authority began. Ultimately he ruled over territory north and northeast of the Sea of Galilee, over several Galilean cities and over some cities in Perea. At the Jewish revolt, when Jerusalem fell, he was on the side of the Romans. He died C. A.D. 100—the last of the Herods. Bernice. The oldest daughter of Agrippa I, she was 16 years old at his death. When only 13, she married her uncle, Herod of Chalcis, and had two sons. When Herod died, she lived with her brother, Agrippa II. To silence rumors that she was living in incest with her brother, she married Polemon, king of Cilicia, but left him soon to return to Agrippa. She became the mistress of the emperor Vespasian's son Titus but was later ignored by him. paid their respects. It was customary for rulers to pay a complimentary visit to a new ruler at the time of his assignment. It was advantageous to each that they get along (cf. Herod Antipas and Pilate, Luke 23:6–12).

25:19 religion. Or "superstition," the same word used by Paul in 17:22 (see note there).

25:22 I also would like to hear. Agrippa had been wishing to hear Paul (cf. Antipas wanting to see Jesus, Luke 9:9; 23:8).

25:23 auditorium. Not the judgment hall, for this was not a court trial. It was in an auditorium appropriate for the pomp of the occasion, with a king, his sister, the Roman governor and the outstanding leaders of both the Jews and the Roman government present. commanders. Five regiments were stationed at Caesarea, so their five commanders would be in attendance (see note on 21:31).

you gentlemen here present with us, you see this man about whom [a]all the people of the Jews appealed to me, both at Jerusalem and here, loudly declaring that [b]he ought not to live any longer.

25 "But I found that he had committed [a]nothing worthy of death; and since he himself [b]appealed to [1]the Emperor, I decided to send him.

26 "[1]Yet I have nothing definite about him to write to my lord. Therefore I have brought him before you all and especially before you, King Agrippa, so that after the investigation has taken place, I may have something to write.

27 "For it seems absurd to me in sending a prisoner, not to indicate also the charges against him."

Paul's Defense before Agrippa

26 [a]Agrippa said to Paul, "You are permitted to speak for yourself." Then Paul stretched out his hand and proceeded to make his defense:

2 "In regard to all the things of which I am accused by the Jews, I consider myself fortunate, King Agrippa, that I am about to make my defense before you today;

3 [1]especially because you are an expert in all [a]customs and [2]questions among the Jews; therefore I beg you to listen to me patiently.

4 "So then, all Jews know [a]my manner of life from my youth up, which from the beginning was spent among my own nation and at Jerusalem;

5 since they have known about me for a long time, if they are willing to testify, that I lived as a [a]Pharisee [b]according to the strictest [c]sect of our religion.

6 "And now I am [1]standing trial [a]for the hope of [b]the promise made by God to our fathers;

---

25:26 I have nothing definite. Festus was required to send Caesar an explicit report on the case when an appeal was made. He hoped for some help from Agrippa in this matter. This was not an official trial but a special hearing to satisfy the curiosity of Agrippa and provide an assessment for Festus. especially before you, King Agrippa. He would be sensitive to differences between Pharisees and Sadducees, expectations of the Messiah, differences between Jews and Christians, and Jewish customs pertinent to these problems.

26:1 permitted to speak. Agrippa gave the permission because Festus allowed him to have charge of the hearing.

26:3 an expert in all customs and questions among the Jews. Agrippa as king controlled the temple treasury and the investments of the high priest, and could appoint the high priest. He was consulted by the Romans on religious matters. This is one of the reasons Festus wanted him to assess Paul.

26:5 I lived as a Pharisee. Cf. Gal 1:14.

26:6 the hope of the promise made by God. Including God's kingdom, the Messiah and the resurrection (see v. 8).

26:8 Paul had been speaking to Agrippa but at this point must have addressed others as well, such as Festus and the commanders (see note on 21:31), who did not believe in the resurrection. Agrippa was also allied with the Sadducees, whom he appointed high priests, and was likely to reject both the resurrection of Christ and resurrection in general.

26:10 I cast my vote against them. Does not necessarily mean that Paul was a member of the Council (see note on 22:20). He may have been appointed to a commission to carry out the prosecution (see v. 12), where his vote was given.

26:11 force them to blaspheme. He tried to force them either to curse Jesus or to confess publicly that Jesus is the Son of God, in which case they could be condemned for blasphemy, a sufficient cause for death (see Matt 26:63–66).

26:12 I was journeying to Damascus. Again Paul gives an account of his conversion (see 9:1–19; 22:4–21 and notes).

26:14 I heard a voice. See notes on 9:7; 22:9. to kick against the goads. A Greek proverb for useless resistance—the ox succeeds only in hurting itself.

26:17 to whom I am sending you. Not only to the Jews but also to the Gentiles (see 22:21; Gal 1:15–16). His mission was from God (Gal 1:1).

18 to [a]open their eyes so that they may turn from [b]darkness to light and from the dominion of [c]Satan to God, that they may receive [d]forgiveness of sins and an [e]inheritance among those who have been sanctified by [f]faith in Me.'

19 "So, King Agrippa, I did not prove disobedient to the heavenly vision, 20 but kept declaring both [a]to those of Damascus first, and also [b]at Jerusalem and then throughout all the region of Judea, and even [c]to the Gentiles, that they should [d]repent and turn to God, performing deeds [e]appropriate to repentance.

21 "For this reason some Jews [a]seized me in the temple and tried [b]to put me to death.

22 "So, having obtained help from God, I stand to this day [a]testifying both to small and great, stating nothing but what [b]the Prophets and Moses said was going to take place;

23 [1a]that [2]the Christ was [3]to suffer, and [1]that [b]by reason of His resurrection from the dead He would be the first to proclaim [c]light both to the Jewish people and to the Gentiles."

24 While Paul was saying this in his defense, Festus *said in a loud voice, "Paul, you are out of your mind! [1]Your great [a]learning is [2]driving you mad."

25 But Paul *said, "I am not out of my mind, [a]most excellent Festus, but I utter words [1]of sober truth.

26 "For the king [1a]knows about these matters, and I speak to him also with confidence, since I am persuaded that none of these things escape his notice; for this has not been done in a [2]corner.

27 "King Agrippa, do you believe the Prophets? I know that you [1]do."

28 Agrippa replied to Paul, "[1]In a short time you [2]will persuade me to [3]become a [a]Christian."

29 And Paul said, "[1]I would wish to God, that whether [2]in a short or long time, not only you, but also all who hear me this day, might become such as I am, except for these [a]chains."

30 [a]The king stood up and the governor and Bernice, and those who were sitting with them,

31 and when they had gone aside, they began talking to one another, saying, "[a]This man is not doing anything worthy of death or [1]imprisonment."

32 And Agrippa said to Festus, "This man might have been [a]set free if he had not [b]appealed to Caesar."

Paul Is Sent to Rome

27 When it was decided that [a]we [b]would sail for [c]Italy, they proceeded to deliver Paul and some other prisoners to a centurion of the Augustan [1d]cohort named Julius.

2 And embarking in an Adramyttian ship, which was about to sail to the regions along the coast of [1a]Asia, we put out to sea accompanied by [b]Aristarchus, a [c]Macedonian of [d]Thessalonica.

3 The next day we put in at [a]Sidon; and Julius [b]treated Paul with consideration and [c]allowed him to go to his friends and receive care.

4 From there we put out to sea and sailed under the shelter of [a]Cyprus because [b]the winds were contrary.

26:18 from darkness to light. A figure especially characteristic of Paul (see Rom 13:12; 2 Cor 4:6; Eph 5:8–14; Col 1:13; 1 Thess 5:5). have been sanctified. Positional sanctification (see notes on 20:32; 1 Cor 1:2).

26:22 the Prophets and Moses. The OT Scriptures (Luke 24:27,44).

26:23 the Gentiles. Cf. Isa 49:6.

26:24 you are out of your mind! See John 10:20; 1 Cor 14:23. The governor felt that Paul's education and reading of the sacred Scriptures had led him to a mania about prophecy and resurrection.

26:26 not been done in a corner. This gospel is based on actual events, lived out in historical times and places. The king must himself attest to the truth of what Paul has affirmed.

26:27 do you believe the Prophets? King Agrippa was faced with a dilemma. If he said "Yes," Paul would press him to recognize their fulfillment in Jesus; if he said "No," he would be in trouble with the devout Jews, who accepted the message of the prophets as the very word of God.

26:28 In a short time you will persuade me to become a Christian. His answer is an evasion of Paul's question and an answer to what he anticipates Paul's next question to be. His point is that he will not be persuaded by such a brief statement.

26:29 these chains. Paul was still bound as a prisoner.

27:1 See map No. 11 at the end of the study Bible. we would sail. The "we" narrative (see note on 16:10) begins again (the last such reference appeared in 21:18). Probably Luke has spent the two years of Paul's Caesarean imprisonment nearby, and now he joins those ready to sail. centurion . . . named Julius. Otherwise unknown. Perhaps he was given the specific duties of an imperial courier, which included delivering prisoners for trial. Augustan cohort. The Roman legions were designated by number, and each of the regiments also had designations. The identification "Augustan," or "Imperial" (belonging to the empire), was common (see note on 10:1).

27:2 Adramyttian. A harbor on the west coast of the province of Asia, southeast of Troas, east of Assos. regions along the coast. At one of these stops, Julius would plan to transfer to a ship going to Rome. Aristarchus. See 19:29; 20:4; see also Philem 24 and Col 4:10, indicating he was in Rome with Paul later.

27:3 Sidon. About 70 miles north of Caesarea.

27:4 the shelter of Cyprus. They sought the protecting shelter of the island by sailing north on the eastern side of the island, then west along the northern side. the winds were contrary. Prevailing winds in summer were westerly.

along the coast of [a]Cilicia and [b]Pamphylia, we landed at Myra in Lycia.

6 There the centurion found an [a]Alexandrian ship sailing for [b]Italy, and he put us aboard it.

7 When we had sailed slowly for a good many days, and with difficulty had arrived off Cnidus, [a]since the wind did not permit us to go farther, we sailed under the shelter of [b]Crete, off Salmone;

8 and with difficulty [a]sailing past it we came to a place called Fair Havens, near which was the city of Lasea.

9 When considerable time had passed and the voyage was now dangerous, since even [a]the [1]fast was already over, Paul began to admonish them,

10 and said to them, "Men, I perceive that the voyage will certainly be with [a]damage and great loss, not only of the cargo and the ship, but also of our lives."

11 But the centurion was more persuaded by the [a]pilot and the [1]captain of the ship than by what was being said by Paul.

12 Because the harbor was not suitable for wintering, the majority reached a decision to put out to sea from there, if somehow they could reach Phoenix, a harbor of [a]Crete, facing southwest and northwest, and spend the winter there.

13 [1]When a moderate south wind came up, supposing that they had attained their purpose, they weighed anchor and began [a]sailing along [b]Crete, close inshore.

Shipwreck

14 But before very long there [a]rushed down from [1]the land a violent wind, called [2]Euraquilo;

15 and when the ship was caught in it and could not face the wind, we gave way to it and let ourselves be driven along.

16 Running under the shelter of a small island called Clauda, we were scarcely able to get the ship's [1]boat under control.

17 After they had hoisted it up, they used [1]supporting cables in undergirding the ship; and fearing that they might [a]run aground on the shallows of Syrtis, they let down the [2]sea anchor and in this way let themselves be driven along.

18 The next day as we were being violently storm-tossed, [1]they began to [a]jettison the cargo;

19 and on the third day they threw the ship's tackle overboard with their own hands.

20 Since neither sun nor stars appeared for many days, and no small storm was assailing us, from then on all hope of our being saved was gradually abandoned.

21 [1]When they had gone a long time without food, then Paul stood up in their midst and said, "[a]Men, you ought to have [2]followed my advice and not to have set sail from [b]Crete and [3]incurred this [a]damage and loss.

27:5 Cilicia and Pamphylia. Adjoining provinces on the southern shore of Asia Minor. From Sidon to Myra along this coast would normally be a voyage of 10 to 15 days. Myra in Lycia. The growing importance of the city of Myra was associated with the development of navigation. Instead of hugging the coast from point to point, more ships were daring to run directly from Alexandria in Egypt to harbors like Myra on the southern coast of Asia Minor. It was considerably out of the way on the trip to Rome from Egypt, but the prevailing westerly wind would not allow a direct voyage toward the west. Myra became an important grain-storage city as well.

27:6 Alexandrian ship. A ship from Egypt (with grain cargo, v. 38) bound for Rome. Paul and the others could have remained on the first ship and continued up the coast to Macedonia, then taken the land route over the Egnatian Way across Greece and on to Rome, entering Italy at the port of Brundisium. But Julius chose to change ships here, accepting the opportunity of a voyage direct to Rome. Some suggest that Aristarchus from Macedonia stayed with the first ship and went to his home area to tell of Paul's coming imprisonment in Rome. If so, he later joined Paul in Rome (see note on v. 2).

27:7 Cnidus. From Myra to Cnidus at the southwest point of Asia Minor was about 170 miles. The trip probably took another 10 to 15 days. Crete. An island 160 miles long. Rather than cross the open sea to Greece, the ship was forced to bear south, seeking to sail west with the protection of the island of Crete on the north ("under the shelter of Crete"). Salmone. A promontory on the northeast point of Crete.

27:8 Fair Havens . . . Lasea. The former was a port about midway on the southern coast of Crete, and the latter was a city about five miles away.

27:9 the fast. The Jewish day of atonement fell in the latter part of September or in October. The usual sailing season by Jewish calculation lasted from Pentecost (May-June) to Booths, which was five days after the Fast. The Romans considered sailing after Sept. 15 doubtful and after Nov. 11 suicidal.

27:12 Phoenix. A major city that served as a wintering place, having a harbor with protection against the storms.

27:14 Euraquilo. A typhoon-like, east-northeast wind (a "northeaster"), which drove the ship away from their destination.

27:16 Clauda. About 23 miles from Crete. This provided enough shelter to make preparation against the storm. to get the ship's boat under control. A small boat was being towed behind the ship. It was interfering with the progress of the ship and with the steering. It may also have been in danger of being crushed against the ship in the wind and the waves. It had to be taken aboard (v. 17).

27:17 used supporting cables in undergirding the ship. Probably crosswise, in order to keep the ship from being broken apart by the storm. Syrtis. A long stretch of desolate banks of quicksand along northern Africa off the coast of Tunis and Tripoli—still far away, but in such a storm the ship could be driven a great distance. sea anchor. Lowered apparently to keep the ship from running onto the sandbars of Syrtis, but the Greek for this expression should perhaps be rendered "mainsail."

27:18 jettison the cargo. To lighten the ship. They kept some bags of grain, however (see v. 38).

27:19 ship's tackle. Spars, planks and perhaps the yardarm with the mainsail attached. At times these were dragged behind, serving as a brake.

27:21 ought to have followed my advice. Although they had not done so, Paul had good news for everyone (vv. 22–26).

22 "Yet now I urge you to [a]keep up your courage, for there will be no loss of life among you, but only of the ship.
23 "For this very night [a]an angel of the God to whom I belong and [b]whom I serve [c]stood before me,
24 saying, 'Do not be afraid, Paul; [a]you must stand before Caesar; and behold, God has granted you [b]all those who are sailing with you.'
25 "Therefore, [a]keep up your courage, men, for I believe God that [1]it will turn out exactly as I have been told.
26 "But we must [a]run aground on a certain [b]island."
27 But when the fourteenth night came, as we were being driven about in the Adriatic Sea, about midnight the sailors began to surmise that [1]they were approaching some land.
28 They took soundings and found it to be twenty fathoms; and a little farther on they took another sounding and found it to be fifteen fathoms.
29 Fearing that we might [a]run aground somewhere on the [1]rocks, they cast four anchors from the stern and [2]wished for daybreak.
30 But as the sailors were trying to escape from the ship and had let down [a]the ship's boat into the sea, on the pretense of intending to lay out anchors from the bow,
31 Paul said to the centurion and to the soldiers, "Unless these men remain in the ship, you yourselves cannot be saved."
32 Then the soldiers cut away the [a]ropes of the ship's boat and let it fall away.
33 Until the day was about to dawn, Paul was encouraging them all to take some food, saying, "Today is the fourteenth day that you have been constantly watching and going without eating, having taken nothing.
34 "Therefore I encourage you to take some food, for this is for your preservation, for [a]not a hair from the head of any of you will perish."
35 Having said this, he took bread and [a]gave thanks to God in the presence of all, and he broke it and began to eat.
36 All [a]of them [1]were encouraged and they themselves also took food.

27:27 fourteenth night. After leaving Fair Havens. Adriatic Sea. The sea between Italy, Malta, Crete and Greece. In ancient times the Adriatic Sea extended as far south as Sicily and Crete. (Some think this sea included all the area between Greece, Italy and Africa and that it was known as the Adrian, not the Adriatic, Sea.) Its extent now has been considerably reduced. began to surmise. By the sound of breakers.
27:28 took another sounding. Measured the depth of the sea by letting down a weighted line.
27:30 trying to escape. Without a port for the ship, the sailors felt their chance for survival was better in the single lifeboat, unencumbered by the many passengers.
27:31 Unless these men remain. If the sailors had been allowed to desert the ship in seeking to save themselves, the passengers would have been unable to beach the ship the following day.
27:33 having taken nothing. No provisions had been distributed nor regular meals eaten since the storm began.
27:35 took bread and gave thanks. Paul gave two good examples: He ate food for physical nourishment and gave thanks to God. To give thanks before a meal was common practice among God's people (see Luke 9:16; 24:30; 1 Tim 4:4–5).

37 All of us in the ship were two hundred and seventy-six [1][a]persons.

38 When they had eaten enough, they began to lighten the ship by [a]throwing out the wheat into the sea.

39 When day came, [a]they [1]could not recognize the land; but they did observe a bay with a beach, and they resolved to drive the ship onto it if they could.

40 And casting off [a]the anchors, they left them in the sea while at the same time they were loosening the ropes of the rudders; and hoisting the foresail to the wind, they were heading for the beach.

41 But striking a [1]reef where two seas met, they ran the vessel aground; and the prow stuck fast and remained immovable, but the stern began to be broken up by the force of the waves.

42 The soldiers' plan was to [a]kill the prisoners, so that none of them would swim away and escape;

43 but the centurion, [a]wanting to bring Paul safely through, kept them from their intention, and commanded that those who could swim should [1]jump overboard first and get to land, 44 and the rest should follow, some on planks, and others on various things from the ship. And so it happened that [a]they all were brought safely to land.

Safe at Malta

28 When [a]they had been brought safely through, [b]then we found out that [c]the island was called [1]Malta.

2 [a]The [1]natives showed us extraordinary kindness; for because of the rain that had set in and because of the cold, they kindled a fire and [b]received us all.

3 But when Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks and laid them on the fire, a viper came out [1]because of the heat and fastened itself on his hand.

4 When [a]the [1]natives saw the creature hanging from his hand, they began saying to one another, "[b]Undoubtedly this man is a murderer, and though he has been saved from the sea, [2]justice has not allowed him to live."

5 However [a]he shook the creature off into the fire and suffered no harm.

6 But they were expecting that he was about to swell up or suddenly fall down dead. But after they had waited a long time and had seen nothing unusual happen to him, they changed their minds and [a]began to say that he was a god.

7 Now in the neighborhood of that place were lands belonging to the leading man of the island, named Publius, who welcomed us and entertained us courteously three days.

8 And it happened that the father of Publius was lying in bed afflicted with recurrent fever and dysentery; and Paul went in to see him and after he had [a]prayed, he [b]laid his hands on him and healed him.

9 After this had happened, the rest of the people on the island who had diseases were coming to him and getting cured.

10 They also honored us with many [1]marks of respect; and when we were setting sail, they [2]supplied us with [3]all we needed.

Paul Arrives at Rome

11 At the end of three months we set sail on [a]an Alexandrian ship which had wintered at the island, and which had [1]the Twin Brothers for its figurehead.

12 After we put in at Syracuse, we stayed there for three days.

27:37 two hundred and seventy-six persons. To note the number on board may have been necessary in preparation for the distribution of food or perhaps for the coming attempt to get ashore. The number is not extraordinary for the time. Josephus refers to a ship that had 600 aboard (Life, 15).

27:38 lighten the ship. They threw overboard the remaining bags of wheat (see v. 18), which had probably been kept for food supply. The lighter the ship, the farther it could sail in to shore.

27:40 loosening the ropes of the rudders. In order to lower the stern rudders into place so the ship could be steered toward the sandy shore. Ancient ships had a steering oar on either side of the stern.

27:42 soldiers' plan was to kill the prisoners. If a prisoner escaped, the life of his guard was taken in his place. The soldiers did not want to risk having a prisoner escape.

27:43 Once more the centurion is to be admired for stopping this plan and trusting the prisoners.

28:1 Malta. Known as Melita by the Greeks and Romans. It was included in the province of Sicily and is located 58 miles south of that large island.

28:2 natives. Lit. "barbarians"; all non-Greek-speaking people were called this by Greeks. Far from being uncivilized tribesmen, they were Phoenician in ancestry and used a Phoenician dialect but were thoroughly Romanized. rain . . . and . . . cold. It was the end of October or the beginning of November.

28:3 a viper. Must have been known to the islanders to be poisonous.

28:6 to swell up. The usual medical term for inflammation; it is used only by Luke in the NT (see Introduction to Luke: Author). say that he was a god. Parallel to the Lystrans' attempt to worship Paul and Barnabas (14:11–18).

28:7 leading man. The "first man" of Malta, a technical term for the top authority. Luke's designation is accurate here, as elsewhere, even though the Greek term used is not a common one. Cf. also "proconsul" (Greek anthypatos, 13:7), "magistrates" (Greek strategoi, 16:20), "city authorities" (Greek politarchas, 17:6), "Asiarchs" (Greek Asiarchon, 19:31). Publius. A Roman name, but the first name and not the family name. It must have been what the islanders called him.

28:11 At the end of three months. They had to remain here until the sailing season opened in late February or early March. the Twin Brothers. The two "sons of Zeus" (Greek Dioscuroi), the guardian deities of sailors.

28:12 Syracuse. The leading city on the island of Sicily, situated on the east coast.

13 From there we sailed around and arrived at Rhegium, and a day later a south wind sprang up, and on the second day we came to Puteoli.

14 [1]There we found some [a]brethren, and were invited to stay with them for seven days; and thus we came to Rome.

15 And the [a]brethren, when they heard about us, came from there as far as the [1]Market of Appius and [2]Three Inns to meet us; and when Paul saw them, he thanked God and took courage.

16 When we entered Rome, Paul was [a]allowed to stay by himself, with the soldier who was guarding him.

17 After three days [1]Paul called together those who were [a]the leading men of the Jews, and when they came together, he began saying to them, "[b]Brethren, [c]though I had done nothing against our people or [d]the customs of our [2]fathers, yet I was delivered as a prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans.

18 "And when they had [a]examined me, they [b]were willing to release me because there was [c]no ground [1]for putting me to death.

19 "But when the Jews [1]objected, I was forced to [a]appeal to Caesar, not that I had any accusation against my nation.

20 "For this reason, therefore, I [1]requested to see you and to speak with you, for I am wearing [a]this chain for [b]the sake of the hope of Israel."

21 They said to him, "We have neither received letters from Judea concerning you, nor have any of [a]the brethren come here and reported or spoken anything bad about you.

22 "But we desire to hear from you what [1]your views are; for concerning this [a]sect, it is known to us that [b]it is spoken against everywhere."

23 When they had set a day for Paul, they came to him at [a]his lodging in large numbers; and he was explaining to them by solemnly [b]testifying about the kingdom of God and trying to persuade them concerning Jesus, [c]from both the Law of Moses and from the Prophets, from morning until evening.

24 [a]Some were being persuaded by the things spoken, but others would not believe.

25 And when they did not agree with one another, they began leaving after Paul had spoken one parting word, "The Holy Spirit rightly spoke through Isaiah the prophet to your fathers,

26 saying,

'[a]GO TO THIS PEOPLE AND SAY,
"[1b]YOU WILL KEEP ON HEARING, [2]BUT WILL NOT UNDERSTAND; AND [3]YOU WILL KEEP ON SEEING, BUT WILL NOT PERCEIVE;

27 [a]FOR THE HEART OF THIS PEOPLE HAS BECOME DULL,
AND WITH THEIR EARS THEY SCARCELY HEAR,
AND THEY HAVE CLOSED THEIR EYES;
OTHERWISE THEY MIGHT SEE WITH THEIR EYES, AND HEAR WITH THEIR EARS,
AND UNDERSTAND WITH THEIR HEART AND RETURN,
AND I WOULD HEAL THEM." '

28 "Therefore let it be known to you that [a]this salvation of God has been sent [b]to the Gentiles; they will also listen."

Around the promontory north of the town was the whirlpool of Charybdis and the rock of Scylla. Coming from his triumph in Judea, the general Titus landed here on his way to Rome. Puteoli. Modern Pozzuoli, almost 200 miles from Rhegium. It was situated in the northern part of the Bay of Naples and was the chief port of Rome, though 75 miles away. The population included Jews as well as Christians.

28:14 stay . . . for seven days. As at Troas (20:6) and Tyre (21:4), Paul was with them for one or perhaps two Sundays to observe the keeping of the Lord's Supper and to teach and preach. Either the centurion had business to care for or he was free to delay the journey at Paul's request (see 27:42–43; see also 27:3). Rome. See map, p. 1631.

28:15 Market of Appius. A small town 43 miles from Rome, noted for its wickedness. Some Roman Christians came this far to meet Paul. Beyond this they would not be certain of the way he would come. Three Inns. A town 33 miles from Rome. Other Roman believers met Paul here. The term "inn" was used to designate any kind of shop.

28:16 stay by himself. "In his own rented quarters" (v. 30). He had committed no flagrant crime and was not a politically dangerous rival. So he was allowed to have his own living quarters, but a guard was with him at all times, perhaps chained to him (Eph 6:20; Phil 1:13–14,17; Col 4:3,18; Philem 10,13).

28:17 leading men of the Jews. The decree of the emperor Claudius (see 18:2) had been allowed to lapse, and Jews had returned to Rome with their leaders. Brethren. An epithet that recognized the common Jewish blood he shared with them. Cf. the usage in v. 15, referring to brothers in Christ.

28:20 the hope of Israel. See note on 26:6.

28:22 we desire to hear . . . your views. The Jews in Rome were well aware of the dispute over whether Jesus was the Messiah. They wanted to hear Paul's presentation, and he was eager to present it before the arrival of adverse opinions from the Jewish leaders of Jerusalem.

28:23 Law of Moses . . . Prophets. The OT Scriptures (see Luke 24:27,44).

28:28 salvation of God has been sent to the Gentiles. The main thought of the book of Acts. The gospel is meant for all. And Paul was a chosen vessel to carry the message to Gentiles as well as to Jews.

30 And he stayed two full years [1]in his own rented quarters and was welcoming all who came to him,

28:30 two full years. Paul served the Lord (v. 31) during the full period of waiting for his accusers to press the trial in Rome. There are a number of indications that he was released from this imprisonment: 1. Acts stops abruptly at this time. 2. Paul wrote to churches expecting to visit them soon; so he must have anticipated a release (see Phil 2:24; Philem 22). 3. A number of the details in the Pastoral Letters do not fit into the historical setting given in the book of Acts. Following the close of the book, these details indicate a return to Asia Minor, Crete and Greece. 4. Tradition indicates that Paul went to Spain. Even if he did not go, the very fact that a tradition arose suggests a time when he could have taken that journey. See map, pp. 1762–1763.

Rome in the Time of Paul

The Neronian persecution in A.D. 64 was a transparent attempt by the emperor to blame Christians for the great fire that destroyed large parts of the city. The populace, however, blamed Nero and felt sorry for those unjustly tortured in the arena (cf. Tacitus, Annals, 15.44).

In terms of political importance, geographical position and sheer magnificence, the superlative city of the empire was Rome, the capital.

Located on a series of jutting foothills and low-lying eminences (the "seven mountains") east of a bend in the Tiber River some 18 miles from the Mediterranean, Rome was celebrated for its impressive public buildings, aqueducts, baths, theaters and thoroughfares, many of which led from distant provinces. The city of the first Christian century had spread far beyond its fourth-century B.C "Servian" walls and lay unwalled, secure in its greatness.

The most prominent features were the Capitoline hill, with temples to Jupiter and Juno, and the nearby Palatine, adorned with imperial palaces, including Nero's "Golden House." Both hills overlooked the Roman Forum, the hub of the entire empire.

Alternatively described as the glorious crowning achievement of mankind and as the sewer of the universe where all the scum from every corner of the empire gathered, Rome had reasons for both civic pride in its architecture and shame for staggering urban social problems not unlike those of cities today.

The apostle Paul entered the city from the south on the Via Appia. He first lived under house arrest and then, after a period of freedom, as a condemned prisoner in the Mamertime dungeon near the Forum. Remarkably, Paul was able to proclaim the gospel among all classes of people, from the palace to the prison. According to tradition, he was executed at a spot on the Ostian Way outside Rome in A.D. 68.

Romans

Author

The writer of this letter was the apostle Paul (see 1:1). No voice from the early church was ever raised against his authorship. The letter contains a number of historical references that agree with known facts of Paul's life. The doctrinal content of the book is typical of Paul, which is evident from a comparison with other letters he wrote.

Date and Place of Writing

The book was probably written in the early spring of A.D. 57. Very likely Paul was on his third missionary journey, ready to return to Jerusalem with the offering from the mission churches for poverty-stricken believers in Jerusalem (see 15:25–27). In 15:26 it is suggested that Paul had already received contributions from the churches of Macedonia and Achaia, so he either was at Corinth or had already been there. Since he had not yet been at Corinth (on his third missionary journey) when he wrote 1 Corinthians (cf. 1 Cor 16:1–4) and the collection issue had still not been resolved when he wrote 2 Corinthians (2 Cor 8—9), the writing of Romans must follow that of 1,2 Corinthians (dated c. 55).

The most likely place of writing is either Corinth or Cenchrea (about six miles away) because of references to Phoebe of Cenchrea (16:1) and to Gaius, Paul's host (16:23), who was probably a Corinthian (see 1 Cor 1:14). Erastus (16:23) may also have been a Corinthian (see 2 Tim 4:20).

Recipients

The original recipients of the letter were the people of the church at Rome (1:7), who were predominantly Gentile. Jews, however, must have constituted a substantial minority of the congregation (see 4:1; chs. 9—11; see also note on 1:13). Perhaps Paul originally sent the entire letter to the Roman church, after which he or someone else used a shorter form (chs. 1—14 or 1—15) for more general distribution. See note on 2 Pet 3:15.

Major Theme

Paul's primary theme in Romans is the basic gospel, God's plan of salvation and righteousness for all mankind, Jew and Gentile alike (1:16–17). Although justification by faith has been suggested by some as the theme, it would seem that a broader theme states the message of the book more adequately. "Righteousness of God" (1:17) includes justification by faith, but it also embraces such related ideas as guilt, sanctification and security.

Purpose

Paul's purposes for writing this letter were varied:

1. He wrote to prepare the way for his coming visit to Rome and his proposed mission to Spain (1:10–15; 15:22–29).

2. He wrote to present the basic system of salvation to a church that had not received the teaching of an apostle before.

3. He sought to explain the relationship between Jew and Gentile in God's overall plan of redemption. The Jewish Christians were being rejected by the larger Gentile group in the church (14:1) because the Jewish believers still felt constrained to observe dietary laws and sacred days (14:2–6).

Occasion

When Paul wrote this letter, he was probably at Corinth (Acts 20:2–3) on his third missionary journey. His work in the eastern Mediterranean was almost finished (see 15:18–23), and he greatly desired to visit the Roman church (see 1:11–12; 15:23–24). At this time, however, he could not go to Rome because he felt he must personally deliver the collection taken among the Gentile churches for the poverty-stricken Christians of Jerusalem (see 15:25–28). So instead of going to Rome, he sent a letter to prepare the Christians there for his intended visit in connection with a mission to Spain (see 15:23–24). For many years Paul had wanted to visit Rome to minister there (see 1:13–15), and this letter served as a careful and systematic theological introduction to that hoped-for personal ministry. Since he was not acquainted directly with the Roman church, he says little about its problems (but see 14:1—15:13; cf. also 13:1–7; 16:17–18).

Content

Paul begins by surveying the spiritual condition of all mankind. He finds Jews and Gentiles alike to be sinners and in need of salvation. That salvation has been provided by God through Jesus Christ and His redemptive work on the cross. It is a provision, however, that must be received by faith—a principle by which God has always dealt with mankind, as the example of Abraham shows. Since salvation is only the beginning of Christian experience, Paul moves on to show how the believer is freed from sin, law and death—a provision made possible by his union with Christ in both death and resurrection and by the indwelling presence and power of the Holy Spirit. Paul then shows that Israel too, though presently in a state of unbelief, has a place in God's sovereign redemptive plan. Now she consists of only a remnant, allowing for the conversion of the Gentiles, but the time will come when "all Israel will be saved" (11:26). The letter concludes with an appeal to the readers to work out their Christian faith in practical ways, both in the church and in the world. None of Paul's other letters states so profoundly the content of the gospel and its implications for both the present and the future.

Special Characteristics

1. The most systematic of Paul's letters. It reads more like an elaborate theological essay than a letter.

2. Emphasis on Christian doctrine. The number and importance of the theological themes touched upon are impressive: sin, salvation, grace, faith, righteousness, justification, sanctification, redemption, death and resurrection.

3. Widespread use of OT quotations. Although Paul regularly quotes from the OT in his letters, in Romans the argument is sometimes carried along by such quotations (see especially chs. 9—11).

4. Deep concern for Israel. Paul writes about her present status, her relationship to the Gentiles and her final salvation.

The Gospel Exalted

1 Paul, a bond-servant of Christ Jesus, [1][a]called as an apostle, [b]set apart for [c]the gospel of God,

2 which He [a]promised beforehand through His [b]prophets in the holy Scriptures,

3 concerning His Son, who was born [a]of a [1]descendant of David [b]according to the flesh,

4 who was declared [a]the Son of God with power [1]by the resurrection from the dead, according to the [2]Spirit of holiness, Jesus Christ our Lord,

5 through whom we have received grace and [a]apostleship [1]to bring about the [b]obedience of faith among [c]all the Gentiles for His name's sake,

6 among whom you also are the [a]called of Jesus Christ;

7 to all who are [a]beloved of God in Rome, called as [1][b]saints: [c]Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

8 First, [a]I thank my God through Jesus Christ [1]for you all, because [b]your faith is being proclaimed throughout the whole world.

9 For [a]God, whom I [b]serve in my spirit in the preaching of the gospel of His Son, is my witness as to how unceasingly [c]I make mention of you,

10 always in my prayers making request, if perhaps now at last by [a]the will of God I may succeed in coming to you.

12 that is, that I may be encouraged together with you while among you, each of us by the other's faith, both yours and mine.

13 [a]I do not want you to be unaware, [b]brethren, that often I [c]have planned to come to you (and have been prevented so far) so that I may obtain some [d]fruit among you also, even as among the rest of the Gentiles.

14 [a]I am [1]under obligation both to Greeks and to [b]barbarians, both to the wise and to the foolish.

15 So, for my part, I am eager to [a]preach the gospel to you also who are in Rome.

16 For I am not [a]ashamed of the gospel, for [b]it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes, to the [c]Jew first and also to [d]the Greek.

17 For in it [a]the righteousness of God is revealed [1]from faith to faith; as it is written, "[2b]BUT THE RIGHTEOUS man SHALL LIVE BY FAITH."

Unbelief and Its Consequences

1:1 Paul. In ancient times writers put their names at the beginning of letters. For more information on Paul see notes on Acts 9:1; Phil 3:4–14. bond-servant. The Greek for this word means (1) a "slave," who completely belongs to his owner and has no freedom to leave, and (2) a "servant," who willingly chooses to serve his master. See notes on Ex 14:31; Ps 18 title; Is 41:8–9; 42:1. apostle. One specially commissioned by Christ (see notes on Mark 6:30; 1 Cor 1:1; Heb 3:1). gospel. See note on Mark 1:1.
1:2 prophets. Not just the writers of the prophetic books, for the whole OT prophesied about Jesus (see Luke 24:27,44). holy Scriptures. The OT.
1:7 saints. The basic idea of the Greek for this word is "holiness." All Christians are saints in that they are positionally "set apart" to God and are experientially being made increasingly "holy" by the Holy Spirit (see note on 1 Cor 1:2). Grace. See notes on Jon 4:2; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2. peace. See notes on John 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.
1:8 thank. Paul often began his letters with thanks (see 1 Cor 1:4; Eph 1:16; Phil 1:3; Col 1:3; 1 Thess 1:2; 2 Thess 1:3; 2 Tim 1:3; Philem 4). through Jesus Christ. The Christian must go through Christ not only for requests to God (see John 15:16) but also to give thanks. throughout the whole world. Every place where the gospel has been preached.
1:9 gospel of His Son. The same as the "gospel of God" (v. 1).
1:12 together. Paul's genuine humility is seen in his desire to be ministered to by the believers at Rome as well as to minister to them.
1:13 fruit. New converts as well as spiritual growth by those already converted. among you . . . among the rest of the Gentiles. Suggests that the church at Rome was predominantly Gentile.
1:14 Greeks. Those Gentiles who spoke Greek or followed the Greek way of life, even though they may have been Latin-speaking citizens of the Roman empire. barbarians. Lit. "barbarians," a word that probably imitated the unintelligible sound of their languages to Greek ears. They were the other Gentiles to whom Paul ministered.
1:16–17 The theme of the entire book.
1:16 not ashamed. Not even in the capital city of the Roman empire (see v. 15). gospel. See note on Mark 1:1. first. Not only in time but also in privilege. "Salvation is from the Jews" (John 4:22), and the Messiah was a Jew. The "oracles of God" (3:2), the covenants, law, temple worship, revelation of the divine glory, and Messianic prophecies came to them (9:3–5). These privileges, however, were not extended to the Jews because of their superior merit or because of God's partiality toward them. It was necessary that the invasion of this world by the gospel begin at a particular point with a particular people, who in turn were responsible to carry that gospel to the other nations.
1:17 righteousness. The state of being "in the right" in relation to God (see notes on 2:13; 3:21,24).
1:18–3:20 In developing the theme of righteousness from God (1:17; 3:21–5:21), Paul sets the stage by showing that all have sinned and therefore need the righteousness that only God can provide. He shows the sin of the Gentiles (1:18–32) and the sin of the Jews (2:1–3:8) and then summarizes the sin of all—Gentile and Jew alike (3:9–20).
1:18–20 No one—not even one who has not heard of the Bible or of Christ—has an excuse for not honoring God, because the whole created world reveals Him.
1:18 wrath of God. Not a petulant, irrational burst of anger, such 19 because [a]that which is known about God is evident [1]within them; for God made it evident to them.

20 For [a]since the creation of the world His invisible attributes, His eternal power and divine nature, have been clearly seen, [b]being understood through what has been made, so that they are without excuse.

21 For even though they knew God, they did not [1]honor Him as God or give thanks, but they became [a]futile in their speculations, and their foolish heart was darkened.

22 [a]Professing to be wise, they became fools,

23 and [a]exchanged the glory of the incorruptible God for an image in the form of corruptible man and of birds and four-footed animals and [1]crawling creatures.

24 Therefore [a]God gave them over in the lusts of their hearts to impurity, so that their bodies would be [b]dishonored among them.

25 For they exchanged the truth of God for [1]a [a]lie, and worshiped and served the creature rather than the Creator, [b]who is blessed [2]forever. Amen.

26 For this reason [a]God gave them over to [b]degrading passions; for their women exchanged the natural function for that which is [1]unnatural, 27 and in the same way also the men abandoned the natural function of the woman and burned in their desire toward one another, [a]men with men committing [1]indecent acts and receiving in [2]their own persons the due penalty of their error.

28 And just as they did not see fit [1]to acknowledge God any longer, [a]God gave them over to a depraved mind, to do those things which are not proper,

29 being filled with all unrighteousness, wickedness, greed, evil; full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, malice; they are [a]gossips,

30 slanderers, [1][a]haters of God, insolent, arrogant, boastful, inventors of evil, [b]disobedient to parents,

31 without understanding, untrustworthy, [a]unloving, unmerciful;

32 and although they know the ordinance of God, that those who practice such things are worthy of [a]death, they not only do the same, but also [b]give hearty approval to those who practice them.

The Impartiality of God

2 Therefore you have [a]no excuse, [1][b]every one of you who passes judgment, for in that which [c]you judge another, you condemn yourself; for you who judge practice the same things.

2 And we know that the judgment of God [1]rightly falls upon those who practice such things.

3 But do you suppose this, [a]O man, [1]when you pass judgment on those who practice such things and do the same yourself, that you will escape the judgment of God?

4 Or do you think lightly of [a]the riches of His [b]kindness and [c]tolerance and [d]patience, not knowing that the kindness of God leads you to repentance?

5 But [1]because of your stubbornness and unrepentant heart [a]you are storing up wrath for yourself [b]in the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God, as humans often exhibit, but a holy, just revulsion against what is contrary to and opposes His holy nature and will. is revealed. God's wrath is not limited to the end-time judgment of the wicked (1 Thess 1:10; Rev 19:15; 20:11–15). Here the wrath of God is His abandonment of the wicked to their sins (vv. 24–32). the truth. The truth about God revealed in the creation order.

1:21 knew God. From seeing His revelation in creation (vv. 19–20). The fact that these people were idolaters (v. 23) and knew God only through the creation order indicates that they were Gentiles. give thanks. For earthly blessings, such as sun, rain and crops (see Matt 5:45; Acts 14:17).

1:23 glory. God's unique majesty (see Is 48:11), which fallen mankind has lost sight of and for which they have substituted deities of their own devising, patterned after various creatures.

1:24,26,28 God gave them over. God allowed sin to run its course as an act of judgment.

1:25 Amen. Can mean either "Yes indeed, it is so" or "So be it" (see 9:5; 11:36; 15:33; 16:27; see also note on Deut 27:15; cf. 1 Kin 1:36).

1:26 their women. Not necessarily their wives.

1:27 Homosexual practice is sinful in God's eyes. The OT also condemns the practice (see Lev 18:22).

1:28 acknowledge God. See vv. 19,21. a depraved mind. The intent precedes the act (see v. 21; Mark 7:20–23).

1:32 they know. Their outrageous conduct was not due to total ignorance of what God required but to self-will and rebellion. hearty approval. The extreme of sin is applauding, rather than regretting, the sins of others.

2:1–16 In this section Paul sets forth principles that govern God's judgment. God judges (1) according to truth (v. 2), (2) according to deeds (vv. 6–11) and (3) according to the light a person has (vv. 12–15). These principles lay the groundwork for Paul's discussion of the guilt of the Jews (vv. 17–29).

2:1 no excuse. Paul's teaching about judging agrees with that of Jesus (see note on Matt 7:1), who did not condemn judging as such, but hypocritical judging. one . . . who passes judgment. A warning that had special relevance for Jews, who were inclined to look down on Gentiles because of their ignorance of God's revelation in the OT and because of their immoral lives.

2:2 we know. An expression Paul frequently used that assumed the persons addressed agreed with the statement that followed (see 3:19; 7:14; 8:22,28; 1 Cor 8:1,4; 2 Cor 5:1; 1 Tim 1:8).

2:3 Jesus also condemned this attitude (Matt 7:3; cf. Luke 18:9).

2:4 The purpose of God's kindness is to give opportunity for repentance (2 Pet 3:9). The Jews had misconstrued His patience to be a lack of intent to judge.

2:5 day of wrath. Judgment at the end of time in contrast to the judgment discussed in 1:18–32.

7 to those who by [a]perseverance in doing good seek for [b]glory and honor and [c]immortality, [d]eternal life;
8 but to those who are [a]selfishly ambitious and [b]do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, wrath and indignation.
9 There will be [a]tribulation and distress
[1]for every soul of man who does evil, of the Jew [b]first and also of the Greek, 10 but [a]glory and honor and peace to everyone who does good, to the Jew [b]first and also to the Greek.
11 For [a]there is no partiality with God.
12 For all who have sinned [1][a]without the Law will also perish [1]without the Law, and all who have sinned [2]under the Law will be judged [3]by the Law;
13 for it is [a]not the hearers [1]of the Law who are [2]just before God, but the doers [1]of the Law will be justified.
14 For when Gentiles who do not have
[1]the Law do [2][a]instinctively the things of the Law, these, not having [1]the Law, are a law to themselves,
15 in that they show [a]the work of the Law written in their hearts, their conscience bearing witness and their thoughts alternately accusing or else defending them, 16 on the day when, [a]according to my gospel, [b]God will judge the secrets of men through Christ Jesus.

The Jew Is Condemned by the Law

17 But if you bear the name "Jew" and [a]rely [1]upon the Law and boast in God, 18 and know His will and [1][a]approve the things that are essential, being instructed out of the Law,
19 and are confident that you yourself are a guide to the blind, a light to those who are in darkness,

20 a [1]corrector of the foolish, a teacher of [2]the immature, having in the Law [a]the embodiment of knowledge and of the truth, 21 you, therefore, [a]who teach another, do you not teach yourself? You who [1]preach that one shall not steal, do you steal?
22 You who say that one should not commit adultery, do you commit adultery? You who abhor idols, do you [a]rob temples?
23 You who [a]boast [1]in the Law, through your breaking the Law, do you dishonor
God?
24 For "[a]THE NAME OF GOD IS BLASPHEMED AMONG THE GENTILES [b]BECAUSE OF YOU," just as it is written.
25 For indeed circumcision is of value if you [a]practice [1]the Law; but if you are a transgressor [2]of the Law, [b]your circumcision has become uncircumcision.
26 [a]So if [b]the [1]uncircumcised man [c]keeps the requirements of the Law, will not his uncircumcision be regarded as circumcision?
27 And [a]he who is physically uncircumcised, if he keeps the Law, will he not [b]judge you who [1]though having the letter of the Law and circumcision are a transgressor [2]of the Law?
28 For [a]he is not a Jew who is one outwardly, nor is circumcision that which is outward in the flesh.
29 But [a]he is a Jew who is one inwardly; and [b]circumcision is that which is of the heart, by the [c]Spirit, not by the letter; [d]and his praise is not from men, but from God.

2:6–7 Paul is not contradicting his continual emphasis in all his writings, including Romans, that a person is saved not by what he does but by faith in what Christ does for him. Rather, he is discussing the principle of judgment according to deeds (see note on vv. 1–16). If anyone persists in doing good deeds (i.e., lives a perfect life), he will receive eternal life. No one can do this, but if anyone could, God would give him life, since God judges according to what a person does.
2:9 of the Jew first. With spiritual privilege comes spiritual responsibility (see Amos 3:2; Luke 12:48).
2:11 A basic teaching of both the OT and the NT.
2:12 Law. The Mosaic Law. "For all who have sinned without the Law" refers to Gentiles. God judges according to the light available to people. Gentiles will not be condemned for not obeying a Law they did not possess. Their judgment will be on other grounds (see 1:18–20; 2:15; cf. Amos 1:3–2:3).
2:13 will be justified. At God's pronouncement of acquittal on judgment day (see note on 3:24).
2:14 instinctively. By natural impulse without the external constraint of the Mosaic Law. things of the Law. Does not mean that pagans fulfilled the requirements of the Mosaic Law but refers to practices in pagan society that agreed with the Law, such as caring for the sick and elderly, honoring parents and condemning adultery. law to themselves. The moral nature of pagans, enlightened by conscience (v. 15), functioned for them as the Mosaic Law did for the Jews.
2:16 This verse picks up Paul's thought from v. 13, vv. 14–15 being parenthetical in Paul's argument.
2:17–24 The presentation takes the form of a dialogue. Paul knew how a self-righteous Jew thought, for he had been one himself. He cites one advantage after another that Jews considered to be unqualified assets. But those assets became liabilities when there was no correspondence between profession and practice. Paul applied to the Jew the principles of judgment set forth in vv. 1–16 (see note on those verses).
2:19–20 the blind . . . immature. Gentiles, to whom Jews regarded themselves as vastly superior because they (the Jews) possessed the Mosaic law.
2:22 do you rob temples? See Acts 19:37. Large amounts of wealth were often stored in pagan temples.
2:25 circumcision. A sign of the covenant that God made with Israel (see Lev 12:3) and a pledge of the covenant blessing (see Gen 17 and notes on Gen 17:10–11). The Jews had come to regard circumcision as a guarantee of God's favor.
2:27 If a Gentile's deeds excelled those of a Jew in righteousness, that very fact condemned the Jew, who had an immeasurably better set of standards in the Law of Moses.
2:29 by the Spirit. The true sign of belonging to God is not an

All the World Guilty

3 Then what [1]advantage has the Jew? Or what is the benefit of circumcision?

2 Great in every respect. First of all, that [a]they were entrusted with the [b]oracles of God.

3 What then? If [a]some [1]did not believe, their [2]unbelief will not nullify the faithfulness of God, will it?

4 [a]May it never be! Rather, let God be found true, though every man be found [b]a liar, as it is written,

"[c]THAT YOU MAY BE JUSTIFIED IN YOUR WORDS,
AND PREVAIL WHEN YOU [1]ARE JUDGED."

5 But if our unrighteousness [1][a]demonstrates the righteousness of God, [b]what shall we say? The God who inflicts wrath is not unrighteous, is He? ([c]I am speaking in human terms.)

6 [a]May it never be! For otherwise, how will [b]God judge the world?

7 But if through my lie [a]the truth of God abounded to His glory, [b]why am I also still being judged as a sinner?

8 And why not say (as we are slanderously reported and as some claim that we say), "[a]Let us do evil that good may come"? [1]Their condemnation is just.

9 What then? [1][a]Are we better than they? Not at all; for we have already charged that both [b]Jews and [c]Greeks are [d]all under sin;

10 as it is written,

"[a]THERE IS NONE RIGHTEOUS, NOT EVEN ONE;

11 THERE IS NONE WHO UNDERSTANDS,
THERE IS NONE WHO SEEKS FOR GOD;

12 ALL HAVE TURNED ASIDE, TOGETHER THEY HAVE BECOME USELESS;
THERE IS NONE WHO DOES GOOD,
THERE IS NOT EVEN ONE."

13 "[a]THEIR THROAT IS AN OPEN GRAVE, WITH THEIR TONGUES THEY KEEP DECEIVING,"
"[b]THE POISON OF ASPS IS UNDER THEIR LIPS";

14 "[a]WHOSE MOUTH IS FULL OF CURSING AND BITTERNESS";

15 "[a]THEIR FEET ARE SWIFT TO SHED BLOOD,

16 DESTRUCTION AND MISERY ARE IN THEIR PATHS,

17 AND THE PATH OF PEACE THEY HAVE NOT KNOWN."

18 "[a]THERE IS NO FEAR OF GOD BEFORE THEIR EYES."

19 Now we know that whatever the [a]Law says, it speaks to [b]those who are [1]under the Law, so that every mouth may be closed and [c]all the world may become accountable to God;

20 because [a]by the works [1]of the Law no flesh will be justified in His sight; for [2][b]through the Law comes the knowledge of sin.

outward mark on the physical body, but the regenerating power of the Holy Spirit within—what Paul meant by "circumcision . . . of the heart" (see Deut 30:6).

3:2 First of all. Paul does not discuss the other advantages of being a Jew until 9:4–5. entrusted. The advantage of having the very words of God involves a duty.

3:3 faithfulness of God. God is faithful to His promises and would punish Israel for its unbelief (v. 5; see 2 Tim 2:13).

3:4 God's punishment of sin exhibits His faithfulness to His righteous character.

3:5 demonstrates the righteousness of God. By contrast, in showing it up against the dark background of man's sin. in human terms. "Human" in the sense of its weakness and absurdity.

3:6 judge. On judgment day. the world. All moral creatures (also in v. 19)—a more limited reference than in 1:20.

3:9 Are we better than they? Are Jews better than Gentiles in the sight of God? all. Nine times in four verses (vv. 9–12) Paul mentions the universality of sin ("all," two times; "none," four times; "not even one," two times; "together," once). under sin. Under its power and condemnation.

3:10–18 A collection of OT quotations that underscores Paul's charge that both Jews and Gentiles are under the power of sin. Several factors explain why the citations are not always verbatim: 1. NT quotations sometimes gave the general sense and were not meant to be word-for-word. 2. Quotation marks were not used in Greek. 3. The quotations were often taken from the Greek translation (the Septuagint) of the Hebrew OT, because Greek readers were not familiar with the Hebrew Bible. 4. Sometimes the NT writer, in order to drive home his point, would purposely (under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit) enlarge, abbreviate or adapt an OT passage or combine two or more passages.

3:11 UNDERSTANDS. About God and what is right.

3:13 OPEN GRAVE. Expressing the corruption of the heart.

3:18 FEAR OF GOD. Awesome reverence for God; the source of all godliness (see note on Gen 20:11).

3:19 we know. See note on 2:2. Law. The OT (as in John 10:34; 15:25; 1 Cor 14:21). those who are under the Law. Jews. every mouth . . . all the world. Jews as well as Gentiles are guilty.

3:20 justified. See notes on v. 24; 2:13.

3:21–5:21 Having shown that all (both Gentiles and Jews) are unrighteous (1:18–3:20), Paul now shows that God has provided a righteousness for mankind.

3:21 But now. There are two possible meanings: (1) temporal—all of time is divided into two periods, and in the "now" period the righteousness from God has been made known; (2) logical—the contrast is between the righteousness gained by observing the law (which is impossible, v. 20) and the righteousness provided by God. witnessed by the Law and the Prophets. See Gen 15:6; Ps 32:1–2; Hab 2:4.

3:22–23 there is no distinction . . . glory of God. A parenthetical thought: "All those who believe" (v. 22) are "justified as a gift" (v. 24), not "all have sinned" (v. 23) are "justified as a gift" (v. 24). Thus "justified" goes with "believe" not with "sinned".

3:22 no distinction. Between Jews and Gentiles (see 10:12).

23 for all [1][a]have sinned and fall short of the glory of God,

24 being justified as a gift [a]by His grace through [b]the redemption which is in Christ Jesus;

25 whom God displayed publicly as [a]a [1]propitiation [2][b]in His blood through faith. This was to demonstrate His righteousness, [3]because in the [c]forbearance of God He [d]passed over the sins previously committed;

26 for the demonstration, I say, of His righteousness at the present time, so that He would be just and the justifier of the one who [1]has faith in Jesus.

27 Where then is [a]boasting? It is excluded. By [b]what kind of law? Of works? No, but by a law of faith.

28 [1]For [a]we maintain that a man is justified by faith apart from works [2]of the Law.

29 Or [a]is God the God of Jews only? Is He not the God of Gentiles also? Yes, of Gentiles also, 30 since indeed [a]God [b]who will justify the [1]circumcised [2]by faith and the [3]uncircumcised through faith [c]is one.

31 Do we then nullify [1]the Law through faith? [a]May it never be! On the contrary, we [b]establish the Law.

Justification by Faith Evidenced in Old Testament

4 What then shall we say that Abraham, [1]our forefather [a]according to the flesh, has found?

2 For if Abraham was justified [1]by works, he has something to boast about, but [a]not [2]before God.

3 For what does the Scripture say? "[a]ABRAHAM BELIEVED GOD, AND IT WAS CREDITED TO HIM AS RIGHTEOUSNESS."

4 Now to the one who [a]works, his wage is not credited as a favor, but as what is due.

5 But to the one who does not work, but [a]believes in Him who justifies the ungodly, his faith is credited as righteousness,

6 just as David also speaks of the blessing on the man to whom God credits righteousness apart from works:

7 "[a]BLESSED ARE THOSE WHOSE LAWLESS
DEEDS HAVE BEEN FORGIVEN,
AND WHOSE SINS HAVE BEEN COVERED.
8 "[a]BLESSED IS THE MAN WHOSE SIN THE LORD
WILL NOT [b]TAKE INTO ACCOUNT."

7 [a]Ps 32:1
8 [a]Ps 32:2 [b]2 Cor 5:19

3:23 glory of God. What God intended man to be. The glory that man had before the fall (see Gen 1:26–28; Ps 8:5–6; cf. Eph 4:24; Col 3:10) the believer will again have through Christ (see Heb 2:5–9).

3:24 justified. Paul uses the Greek verb for "justified" 27 times, mostly in Romans and Galatians. It is translated by some form of the English word "justify" 24 times, by "freed" three times (6:7,18,22), by "acquitted" once (1 Cor 4:4) and by "vindicated" once (1 Tim 3:16). The term describes what happens when someone believes in Christ as his Savior: From the negative viewpoint, God declares the person to be not guilty; from the positive viewpoint, He declares him to be righteous. He cancels the guilt of the person's sin and credits righteousness to him. Paul emphasizes two points in this regard: 1. No one lives a perfectly good, holy, righteous life. On the contrary, "there is none righteous" (v. 10), and "all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God" (v. 23). "By the works of the Law no flesh will be justified in His sight" (v. 20). 2. But even though all are sinners and not sons, God will declare everyone who puts his trust in Jesus not guilty but righteous. This legal declaration is valid because Christ died to pay the penalty for our sin and lived a life of perfect righteousness that can in turn be imputed to us. This is the central theme of Romans and is stated in the theme verse, 1:17 ("the righteousness of God"). Christ's righteousness (His obedience to God's law and His sacrificial death) will be credited to believers as their own. Paul uses the word "credited" nine times in ch. 4 alone. as a gift by His grace. The central thought in justification is that, although man clearly and totally deserves to be declared guilty (vv. 9–19), because of his trust in Christ God declares him righteous. This is stated in several ways here: (1) "as a gift" (for nothing), (2) "by His grace," (3) "through the redemption which is in Christ Jesus" and (4) "through faith" (v. 25). redemption. A word taken from the slave market—the basic idea is that of obtaining release by payment of a ransom. Paul uses this word to refer to release from guilt, with its liability for judgment, and to deliverance from slavery to sin, because Christ in His death paid the ransom for us.

3:25 propitiation. The Greek for this phrase speaks of a sacrifice that satisfies the righteous wrath of God: "One who would turn aside God's wrath, taking away sin." Without this appeasement all people are justly destined for eternal punishment. See also note on 1 John 2:2. His blood through faith. Saving faith looks to Jesus Christ in His sacrificial death for us.

3:25b–26 The sins of God's people, punished symbolically in the animal sacrifices of the OT period, would be totally punished in the once-for-all sacrifice of Christ on the cross.

3:28 by faith. When Luther translated this passage, he added the word "alone," which, though not in the Greek, accurately reflects the meaning (see note on James 2:14–26).

3:30 God . . . is one. By appealing to the first article of Jewish faith ("the LORD is one!" Deut 6:4), Paul argues that there is only one way of salvation for both Jew and Gentile, namely, faith in Christ.

3:31 Paul anticipated being charged with antinomianism (against law): If justification comes by faith alone, then is not the law rejected? He gives a more complete answer in chs. 6–7 and reasserts the validity of the law in 13:8–10.

4:1 Abraham, our forefather. The great patriarch of the Jewish nation, the true example of a justified person (see James 2:21–23). The Jews of Jesus' time used Abraham as an example of justification by works, but Paul holds him up as a shining example of righteousness by faith (see Gal 3:6–9).

4:3 The reference is to Gen 15:6, where nothing is mentioned about works. credited. Abraham had kept no law, rendered no service and performed no ritual that earned credit to his account before God. His belief in God, who had made promises to him, was credited to him as righteousness.

4:6–8 God does not continue to credit unrighteousness to the sinner who repents, but forgives him when he confesses (see Ps 32:3–5; Ezek 18:23,27–28,32; 33:14–16).

9 Is this blessing then on [1][a]the circumcised, or on [2]the uncircumcised also? For [b]we say, "[c]FAITH WAS CREDITED TO ABRAHAM AS RIGHTEOUSNESS."

10 How then was it credited? While he was [1]circumcised, or [2]uncircumcised? Not while [1]circumcised, but while [2]uncircumcised;

11 and he [a]received the sign of circumcision, [b]a seal of the righteousness of the faith which [1]he had while uncircumcised, so that he might be [c]the father of [d]all who believe without being circumcised, that righteousness might be credited to them,

12 and the father of circumcision to those who not only are of the circumcision, but who also follow in the steps of the faith of our father Abraham which [1]he had while uncircumcised.

13 For [a]the promise to Abraham or to his [1]descendants [b]that he would be heir of the world was not [2]through the Law, but through the righteousness of faith.

14 For [a]if those who are [1]of the Law are heirs, faith is made void and the promise is nullified;

15 for [a]the Law brings about wrath, but [b]where there is no law, there also is no violation.

16 For this reason it is [1]by faith, in order that it may be in accordance with [a]grace, so that the promise will be guaranteed to [b]all the [2]descendants, not only to [3]those who are of the Law, but also to [3c]those who are of the faith of Abraham, who is [d]the father of us all,

17 (as it is written, "[a]A FATHER OF MANY NATIONS HAVE I MADE YOU") in the presence of Him whom he believed, even God, [b]who gives life to the dead and [1c]calls into being [d]that which does not exist.

18 In hope against hope he believed, so that he might become [a]a father of many nations according to that which had been spoken, "[b]SO SHALL YOUR [1]DESCENDANTS BE."

19 Without becoming weak in faith he contemplated his own body, now [a]as good as dead since [b]he was about a hundred years old, and [c]the deadness of Sarah's womb;

20 yet, with respect to the promise of God, he did not waver in unbelief but grew strong in faith, [a]giving glory to God,

21 and [a]being fully assured that [b]what God had promised, He was able also to perform.

22 Therefore [a]IT WAS ALSO CREDITED TO HIM AS RIGHTEOUSNESS.

23 Now [a]not for his sake only was it written that it was credited to him,

4:9 circumcised. Jews. uncircumcised. Gentiles.
4:10 Not while . . . but while. Abraham was declared righteous (Gen 15) some 14 years before he was circumcised (Gen 17). See Gal 3:17 for a similar statement.
4:11 sign. Circumcision was, among other things, the outward sign of the righteousness that God had credited to Abraham for his faith. so that. Abraham is the "father" of believing Gentiles (the uncircumcised), because he believed and was justified before the rite of circumcision (the mark of Jews) was instituted.
4:12 father of circumcision. Abraham is also the father of believing Jews. Thus his story shows that for Jew and Gentile alike there is only one way of justification—the way of faith.
4:13 not through the Law. Not on the condition that the promise be merited by works of the Law. his descendants. All those of whom Abraham is said to be father (vv. 11–12). heir of the world. "World" here refers to the creation, as in 1:20. No express mention of this heirship is made in the Genesis account of Abraham. He is promised "descendants as the dust of the earth" (Gen 13:16) and possession of the land of Canaan (Gen 12:7; 13:14–15; 15:7,18–21; 17:8), and that all the peoples on earth will be blessed through him (Gen 12:3; 18:18) or his offspring (Gen 22:18). But since, as Genesis already makes clear, God purposed through Abraham and his offspring to work out the destiny of the whole world, it was implicit in the promises to Abraham that he and his offspring would "inherit the earth" (see Ps 37:9,11,22,29,34; Matt 5:5). The full realization of this awaits the consummation of the Messianic kingdom at Christ's return.
4:14 those who are of the Law. Those whose claim to the inheritance is based on the fulfillment of the Law. promise. See note on v. 13.
4:15 Law brings about wrath. The Law, because it reveals sin and even stimulates it (see 7:7–11), produces wrath, not promise. violation. Overstepping a clearly defined line. Where there is no Law there is still sin, but it does not have the character of transgression.
4:16 A summary of the thought of vv. 11–12. For the close correlation between faith and grace see 3:24–25; Eph 2:8. those who are of the Law. Jewish Christians. those who are of the faith of Abraham. Gentile Christians who share Abraham's faith but who, like Abraham, do not possess the Law.
4:17 in the presence of Him. God considers Abraham the father of Jews and believing Gentiles alike, no matter how others (especially the Jews) may see him. God, who gives life to the dead. The main reference is to the birth of Isaac through Abraham and Sarah, both of whom were far past the age of childbearing (see Gen 18:11). Secondarily Paul alludes also to the resurrection of Christ (see vv. 24–25). calls . . . that which does not exist. God has the ability to create out of nothing, as He demonstrated in the birth of Isaac.
4:18 In hope against hope he believed. When all hope, as a human possibility, failed, Abraham placed his hope in God.
4:19 Without becoming weak in faith. Abraham had some anxious moments (see Gen 17:17–18), but God did not count these against him. contemplated. Faith does not refuse to face reality but looks beyond all difficulties to God and His promises. deadness of Sarah's womb. Sarah was ten years younger than Abraham (see Gen 17:17) but well past the age of bearing children.
4:20 giving glory to God. Because Abraham had faith to believe that God would do what He promised. Whereas works are man's attempt to establish a claim on God, faith brings glory to Him.
4:22 Therefore. Abraham's faith was "credited to him as righteousness" because it was true faith, i.e., complete confidence in God's promise.
4:23 not for his sake only. Abraham's experience was not private or individual but had broad implications. If justification by faith was true for him, it is universally true.

24 but for our sake also, to whom it will be credited, as those [a]who believe in Him who [b]raised Jesus our Lord from the dead, 25 He who was [a]delivered over because of our transgressions, and was [b]raised because of our justification.

Results of Justification

5 [a]Therefore, having been justified by faith, [1b]we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ,

2 through whom also we have [a]obtained our introduction by faith into this grace [b]in which we stand; and [1]we exult in hope of the glory of God.

3 [a]And not only this, but [1]we also [b]exult in our tribulations, knowing that tribulation brings about [c]perseverance;

4 and [a]perseverance, [b]proven character; and proven character, hope;

5 and hope [a]does not disappoint, because the love of God has been [b]poured out within our hearts through the Holy Spirit who was given to us.

6 For while we were still [a]helpless, [b]at the right time [c]Christ died for the ungodly.

7 For one will hardly die for a righteous man; [1]though perhaps for the good man someone would dare even to die.

8 But God [a]demonstrates [b]His own love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, [c]Christ died for us.

9 Much more then, having now been justified [1a]by His blood, we shall be saved [b]from the wrath of God through Him.

10 For if while we were [a]enemies we were reconciled to God through the death of His Son, much more, having been reconciled, we shall be saved [1b]by His life.

11 [a]And not only this, [1]but we also exult in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have now received [b]the reconciliation.

12 Therefore, just as through [a]one man sin entered into the world, and [b]death through sin, and [c]so death spread to all men, because all sinned—

4:24 but for our sake also. As Abraham was justified because he believed in a God who brought life from the dead, so we will be justified by believing "in Him who raised Jesus our Lord from the dead."

4:25 These words, which reflect the Septuagint (Greek) translation of Is 53:12, are probably quoted from a Christian confessional formula.

5:1 peace with God. Not merely a subjective feeling (peace of mind) but primarily an objective status, a new relationship with God: Once we were His enemies, but now we are His friends (see v. 10; Eph 2:16; Col 1:21–22).

5:2 introduction. Jesus ushers us into the presence of God. The heavy curtain (of the temple) that separated man from God and God from man has been removed (see note on Matt 27:51). hope of the glory of God. The Christian's confidence that the purpose for which God created him will be ultimately realized (see note on 3:23).

5:3 exult in our tribulations. Not "because of" but "in." Paul does not advocate a morbid view of life but a joyous and triumphant one.

5:4 A Christian can rejoice in suffering because he knows that it is not meaningless. Part of God's purpose is to produce character in His children.

5:5 hope does not disappoint. The believer's hope is not to be equated with unfounded optimism. On the contrary, it is the blessed assurance of our future destiny and is based on God's love, which is revealed to us by the Holy Spirit and objectively demonstrated to us in the death of Christ. Paul has moved from faith (v. 1) to hope (vv. 2,4–5) to love (v. 5; see 1 Cor 13:13; see also note on 1 Thess 1:3). has been poured out. The verb indicates a present status resulting from a past action. When we first believed in Christ, the Holy Spirit poured out His love in our hearts, and His love for us continues to dwell in us.

5:6 the right time. The appointed moment in God's redemptive plan (Mark 1:15; Gal 4:4). Christ died for the ungodly. Christ's love is grounded in God's free grace and is not the result of any inherent worthiness found in its objects (mankind). In fact, it is lavished on us in spite of our undesirable character.

5:7 righteous man . . . good man. We were neither righteous nor good, but sinners, when Christ died for us (see v. 8; 3:10–12).

5:9 by His blood. By laying down His life as a sacrifice—a reference to Christ's death for our sins (see 3:25). wrath of God. The final judgment, as the verb "shall be saved" makes clear (cf. 1 Thess 1:9–10).

5:10 enemies. Man is the enemy of God, not the reverse. Thus the hostility must be removed from man if reconciliation is to be accomplished. God took the initiative in bringing this about through the death of His Son (see v. 11; Col 1:21–22). reconciled. To reconcile is "to put an end to hostility," and is closely related to the term "justify," as the parallelism in vv. 9–10 indicates:

v. 9	v. 10
justified	reconciled
by His blood	through the death of His Son
we shall be saved	we shall be saved saved by His life. A reference to the unending life and ministry of the resurrected Christ for His people (see Heb 7:25). Since we were reconciled when we were God's enemies, we will be saved because Christ lives to keep us.

5:11 we have now received the reconciliation. Reconciliation, like justification (v. 1), is a present reality for Christians and is something to rejoice about.

5:12–21 A contrast between Adam and Christ. Adam introduced sin and death into the world; Christ brought righteousness and life. The comparison begun in v. 12 is completed in v. 18; these two verses summarize the whole passage. These two men also sum up the message of the book up to this point. Adam stands for man's condemnation (1:18–3:20); Christ stands for the believer's justification (3:21–5:11).

5:12 death. Physical death is the penalty for sin. It is also the symbol of spiritual death, man's ultimate separation from God. because all sinned. Not a repetition of 3:23. The context shows that Adam's sin involved the rest of mankind in condemnation (vv. 18–19) and death (v. 15). We do not start life with even the possibility of living it sinlessly; we begin it with a sinful nature (see Gen 8:21; Ps 51:5; 58:3; Eph 2:3).

13 for [1]until the Law sin was in the world, but [a]sin is not imputed when there is no law.
14 Nevertheless death reigned from Adam until Moses, even over those who had not sinned [a]in the likeness of the offense of Adam, who is a [1][b]type of Him who was to come.
15 But [1]the free gift is not like the transgression. For if by the transgression of [a]the one [b]the many died, much more did the grace of God and the gift by [c]the grace of the one Man, Jesus Christ, abound to the many.
16 The gift is not like that which came through the one who sinned; for on the one hand [a]the judgment arose from one transgression [1]resulting in condemnation, but on the other hand the free gift arose from many transgressions [2]resulting in justification.
17 For if by the transgression of the one, death reigned [a]through the one, much more those who receive the abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness will [b]reign in life through the One, Jesus Christ.
18 So then as through [a]one transgression
[1]there resulted condemnation to all men, even so through one [b]act of righteousness
[2]there resulted [c]justification of life to all men.
19 For as through the one man's disobedience [a]the many [b]were made sinners, even so through [c]the obedience of the One [a]the many will be made righteous.
20 [1][a]The Law came in so that the transgression would increase; but where sin increased, [b]grace abounded all the more, 21 so that, as [a]sin reigned in death, even so [b]grace would reign through righteousness to eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Believers Are Dead to Sin, Alive to God

6 [a]What shall we say then? Are we to [b]continue in sin so that grace may increase?
2 [a]May it never be! How shall we who [b]died to sin still live in it?
3 Or do you not know that all of us who have been [a]baptized into [b]Christ Jesus have been baptized into His death?
4 Therefore we have been [a]buried with Him through baptism into death, so that as Christ was [b]raised from the dead through the [c]glory of the Father, so we too might walk in [d]newness of life.
5 For [a]if we have become [1]united with Him in the likeness of His death, certainly we shall also be [2]in the likeness of His resurrection,
6 knowing this, that our [a]old [1]self was [b]crucified with Him, in order that our [c]body of sin might be [2]done away with, so that we would no longer be slaves to sin;

5:13 sin is not imputed. In the period when there was no (Mosaic) law, sin was not charged against man (see 4:15). Death, however, continued to occur (v. 14). Since death is the penalty for sin, people between Adam and Moses were involved in the sin of someone else, namely, Adam (see note on v. 12).
5:14 type. Adam by his sin brought universal ruin on the human race. In this act he is the prototype of Christ, who through one righteous act (v. 18) brought universal blessing. The analogy is one of contrast.
5:15 the many. The same as "all men" in v. 12 (see Is 53:11; Mark 10:45). much more. A theme that runs through this section. God's grace is infinitely greater for good than is Adam's sin for evil.
5:16 gift. Salvation. many transgressions. The sins of the succeeding generations.
5:17 will reign in life. The future reign of believers with Jesus Christ (2 Tim 2:12; Rev 22:5).
5:18 life to all men. Does not mean that everyone eventually will be saved, but that salvation is available to all. To be effective, God's gracious gift must be received (see v. 17).
5:19 made righteous. A reference to a standing (status) before God (see 2 Cor 5:21), not to a change in character. The latter (the doctrine of sanctification) is developed in chs. 6–8.
5:20 Law came in. Not to bring about redemption but to point up the need for it. The Law made sin even more sinful by revealing what sin is in stark contrast to God's holiness.
6:1–8:39 In 3:21–5:21 Paul explains how God has provided for our redemption and justification. He next explains the doctrine of sanctification—the process by which believers grow to maturity in Christ. He treats this subject in three parts: (1) freedom from sin's tyranny (ch. 6), (2) freedom from the Law's condemnation (ch. 7) and (3) life in the power of the Holy Spirit (ch. 8).
6:1 Are we to continue in sin so that grace may increase? This question arose out of what Paul had just said in 5:20: "Where sin increased, grace abounded all the more." Such a question expresses an antinomian (against law) viewpoint. Apparently some objected to Paul's teaching of justification by faith alone because they thought it would lead to moral irresponsibility.
6:2 died to sin. The reference is to an event in the past and is explained in v. 3.
6:3–4 The when and how of the Christian's death to sin. In NT times baptism so closely followed conversion that the two were considered part of one event (see Acts 2:38 and note). So although baptism is not a means by which we enter into a vital faith relationship with Jesus Christ, it is closely associated with faith. Baptism depicts graphically what happens as a result of the Christian's union with Christ, which comes with faith—through faith we are united with Christ, just as through our natural birth we are united with Adam. As we fell into sin and became subject to death in father Adam, so we now have died and been raised again with Christ—which baptism symbolizes.
6:4 buried with Him through baptism into death. Amplified in vv. 5–7. through the glory of the Father. By the power of God. God's glory is His divine excellence, His perfection. Any one of His attributes is a manifestation of His excellence. Thus His power is a manifestation of His glory, as is His righteousness (see 3:23). Glory and power are often closely related in the Bible (see Ps 145:11; Col 1:11; 1 Pet 4:11; Rev 1:6; 4:11; 5:12–13; 7:12; 19:1). walk in newness of life. Amplified in vv. 8–10.
6:6 our old self. Our unregenerate self; what we once were. body of sin. The self in its pre-Christian state, dominated by sin. This is a figurative expression in which the old self is personified. It is a "body" that can be put to death. For the believer, this old self has been rendered powerless so that it can no longer enslave us to sin—whatever lingering vitality it may yet exert in its death throes.

7 for [a]he who has died is [1]freed from sin.
8 Now [a]if we have died with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with Him,
9 knowing that Christ, having been [a]raised from the dead, [1]is never to die again; [b]death no longer is master over Him.
10 For the death that He died, He died to sin once for all; but the life that He lives, He lives to God.
11 Even so consider yourselves to be [a]dead to sin, but alive to God in Christ Jesus.
12 Therefore do not let sin [a]reign in your mortal body so that you obey its lusts,
13 and do not go on [a]presenting [1]the members of your body to sin as [2]instruments of unrighteousness; but [b]present yourselves to God as those alive from the dead, and your members as [2]instruments of righteousness to God.
14 For [a]sin shall not [b]be master over you, for [c]you are not under law but [d]under grace.
15 What then? [a]Shall we sin because we are not under law but under grace? [b]May it never be!
16 Do you not [a]know that when you present yourselves to someone as [b]slaves for obedience, you are slaves of the one whom you obey, either of [c]sin [1]resulting in death, or of obedience [2]resulting in righteousness?
17 But [a]thanks be to God that [1]though you were slaves of sin, you became obedient from the heart to that [b]form of teaching to which you were committed,
18 and having been [a]freed from sin, you became slaves of righteousness.
19 [a]I am speaking in human terms because of the weakness of your flesh. For just [b]as you presented your members as slaves to impurity and to lawlessness, [1]resulting in further lawlessness, so now present your members as slaves to righteousness, [2]resulting in sanctification.
20 For [a]when you were slaves of sin, you were free in regard to righteousness.
21 Therefore what [1][a]benefit were you then [2]deriving [3]from the things of which you are now ashamed? For the outcome of those things is [b]death.
22 But now having been [a]freed from sin and [b]enslaved to God, you [1]derive your [2][c]benefit, [3]resulting in sanctification, and [d]the outcome, eternal life.
23 For the wages of [a]sin is death, but the free gift of God is [b]eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.

6:7 has died. The believer's death with Christ to sin's ruling power. freed from sin. Set free from its shackles and power.

6:8 As resurrection followed death in the experience of Christ, so the believer who dies with Christ is raised to a new quality of moral life here and now. Resurrection in the sense of a new birth is already a fact, and it increasingly exerts itself in the believer's life.

6:10 He died to sin once for all. In His death Christ (for the sake of sinners) submitted to the "reign" of sin (5:21); but His death broke the judicial link between sin and death, and He passed forever from the sphere of sin's "reign." Having been raised from the dead, He now lives forever to glorify God. to God. For the glory of God.

6:11 consider yourselves. The first step toward victory over sin in the believer's life (for the succeeding steps see note on vv. 12–13). He is dead to sin and alive to God, and by faith he is to live in the light of this truth. in Christ. The first occurrence in Romans of this phrase, which is found often in Paul's writings. True believers are "in Christ" because they have died with Christ and have been raised to new life with Him.

6:12–13 A call for the Christian to become in experience what he already is in position—dead to sin (see vv. 5–7) and alive to God (see vv. 8–10). The second step toward the Christian's victory over sin is refusal to let sin reign in his life (v. 12). The third step is to offer himself to God (v. 13).

6:13 presenting. Put yourselves in the service of, perhaps also echoing the language of sacrifice. members of your body. All the separate capacities of your being (also in v. 19).

6:14 sin shall not be master over you. Paul conceived of sin as a power that enslaves, and so personified it. not under law. The meaning is not that the Christian has been freed from all moral authority. He has, however, been freed from the law in the manner in which God's people were under law in the OT era. Law provides no enablement to resist the power of sin; it only condemns the sinner. But grace enables. under grace. For the disciplinary aspect of grace see Titus 2:11–12.

6:15–23 The question raised here seems to come from those who are afraid that the doctrine of justification by faith alone will remove all moral restraint. Paul rejects such a suggestion and shows that a Christian does not throw morality to the winds. To the contrary, he exchanges sin for righteousness as his master.

6:16 The contrast between sin and obedience suggests that sin is by nature disobedience to God.

6:17 obedient from the heart. Christian obedience is not forced or legalistic, but willing. form of teaching. May refer to a summary of the moral and ethical teachings of Christ that was given to new converts in the early church.

6:18 slaves of righteousness. A Christian has changed masters. Whereas he was formerly a slave to sin, he becomes a slave (a willing servant) to righteousness.

6:19 I am speaking in human terms. An apology for using an imperfect analogy. The word "slave" when applied to Christians, who are free in Christ, naturally presents problems.

6:22 freed from sin. See note on v. 6. sanctification. Slavery to God produces holiness, and the end of the process is eternal life (viewed not in its present sense but in its final, future sense). There is no eternal life without holiness (see Heb 12:14). Anyone who has been justified will surely give evidence of that fact by the presence of holiness in his life. For other uses of various forms of the word "sanctification" see v. 19; 1 Cor 1:30; 1 Thess 4:3–4,7; 2 Thess 2:13; 1 Tim 2:15; Heb 12:14; 1 Pet 1:2.

6:23 Two kinds of servitude are contrasted here. One brings death as its wages; the other results in eternal life, not as wages earned or merited, but as a gift of God. For the contrast between wages and gift see 4:4.

Believers United to Christ

7 Or do you not know, [a]brethren (for I am speaking to those who know the law), that the law has jurisdiction over a person as long as he lives?

2 For [a]the married woman is bound by law to her [1]husband while he is living; but if her husband dies, she is released from the law [2]concerning the husband.

3 So then, if while her husband is living she is joined to another man, she shall be called an adulteress; but if her husband dies, she is free from the law, so that she is not an adulteress though she is joined to another man.

4 Therefore, my brethren, you also were [a]made to die [b]to the Law [c]through the body of Christ, so that you might be joined to another, to Him who was raised from the dead, in order that we might bear fruit for God.

5 For while we were [a]in the flesh, the sinful passions, which were [b]aroused by the Law, were at work [c]in [1]the members of our body to bear fruit for death.

6 But now we have been [a]released from the Law, having [b]died to that by which we were bound, so that we serve in [c]newness of [d]the [1]Spirit and not in oldness of the letter.

7 [a]What shall we say then? Is the Law sin? [b]May it never be! On the contrary, [c]I would not have come to know sin except [1]through the Law; for I would not have known about [2]coveting if the Law had not said, "[d]YOU SHALL NOT [2]COVET."

8 But sin, [a]taking opportunity [b]through the commandment, produced in me [1]coveting of every kind; for [c]apart [2]from the Law sin is dead.

9 I was once alive apart [1]from the Law; but when the commandment came, sin became alive and I died;

10 and this commandment, which was [1a]to result in life, proved [2]to result in death for me;

11 for sin, [a]taking an opportunity [b]through the commandment, [c]deceived me and through it killed me.

12 [a]So then, the Law is holy, and the commandment is holy and righteous and good.

13 Therefore did that which is good become a cause of death for me? [a]May it never be! Rather it was sin, in order that it might be shown to be sin by effecting my death through that which is good, so that through the commandment sin would become utterly sinful.

7:1 law. Perhaps Paul has in mind the Mosaic law, but his concern here is with the fundamental character of law as such.
7:2–3 These verses illustrate the principle set down in v. 1. Death decisively changes a person's relationship to the law.
7:4 Therefore. Paul now draws the conclusion from the principle stated in v. 1 and illustrated in vv. 2–3. die to the Law. The Law's power to condemn no longer threatens the Christian, whose death here is to be understood in terms of 6:2–7. There, however, he dies to sin; here he dies to the Law. The result is that the Law has no more hold on him. through the body of Christ. His physical body (self) crucified. joined to another. The resurrected Christ (see 6:5). The purpose of this union is to produce the fruit of holiness.
7:5 in the flesh. A condition, so far as Christians are concerned, that belongs to the past—the unregenerate state. aroused by the Law. The Law not only reveals sin; it also stimulates it. The natural tendency in man is to desire the forbidden thing. death. Physical death and, beyond that, spiritual death—final separation from God—were the fruit of our "union" with the Law.
7:6 released from the Law. In the sense of its condemnation (see note on v. 4). by which we were bound. The Law; see vv. 4,6. newness of the Spirit. See note on 8:4. oldness of the letter. Life under the OT Law.
7:7 Is the Law sin? This question was occasioned by the remarks about the Law in vv. 4–6. I. Paul seems to be using the first person pronoun of himself, but also as representative of mankind in general (vv. 7–12) and of Christians in particular (vv. 13–25). I would not have come to know sin. The Law fulfilled the important function of revealing the presence and fact of sin.
7:8 opportunity through the commandment. See note on v. 5. sin is dead. Not nonexistent but not fully perceived.
7:9 I was once alive. Paul reviews his own experience from the vantage point of his present understanding. Before he realized that the Law condemned him to death, he was alive. Reference is to the time either before his bar mitzvah (see below) or before his conversion, when the true rigor of the Law became clear to him (see Luke 18:20–21; Phil 3:6). when the commandment came. When Paul came to the realization that he stood guilty before the law—a reference either to his bar mitzvah, when he, at age 13, assumed full responsibility for the Law, or to the time when he became aware of the full force of the Law (at his conversion). I died. Paul came to realize he was condemned to death, because Law reveals sin, and sin's wages is death (6:23).
7:10 to result in life. See Lev 18:5. As it worked out, Law became the avenue through which sin entered—both in Paul's experience and in that of mankind. Instead of giving life, the Law brought condemnation; instead of producing holiness, it stimulated sin.
7:12 the Law is holy. Despite the despicable use that sin made of the Law, the Law was not to blame. The Law is God's and as such is holy, righteous and good.
7:13–25 Whether Paul is describing a Christian or non-Christian experience has been hotly debated through the centuries. That he is speaking of the non-Christian life is suggested by: (1) the use of phrases such as "sold into bondage to sin" (v. 14), "I know that nothing good dwells in me" (v. 18) and "Wretched man that I am!" (v. 24)—which do not seem to describe Christian experience; (2) the contrast between ch. 7 and ch. 8, making it difficult for the other view to be credible; (3) the problem of the value of conversion if one ends up in spiritual misery. In favor of the view that Paul is describing Christian experience are: (1) the use of the present tense throughout the passage; (2) Paul's humble opinion of himself (v. 18); (3) his high regard for God's Law (vv. 14,16); (4) the location of this passage in the section of Romans where Paul is dealing with sanctification—the growth of the Christian in holiness.
7:13 Sin used a holy thing (law) for an unholy end (death). By this fact the contemptible nature of sin is revealed.
7:14 spiritual. The Law had its origin in God. I am. The personal pronoun and the verb, taken together, suggest that Paul

The Conflict of Two Natures

14 For we know that the Law is [a]spiritual, but I am [a]of flesh, [b]sold [1c]into bondage to sin.

15 For what I am doing, [a]I do not understand; for I am not practicing [b]what I would like to do, but I am doing the very thing I hate.

16 But if I do the very thing I do not want to do, I agree with [a]the Law, confessing that the Law is good.

17 So now, [a]no longer am I the one doing it, but sin which dwells in me.

18 For I know that nothing good dwells in me, that is, in my [a]flesh; for the willing is present in me, but the doing of the good is not.

19 For [a]the good that I want, I do not do, but I practice the very evil that I do not want.

20 But if I am doing the very thing I do not want, [a]I am no longer the one doing it, but sin which dwells in me.

21 I find then [a]the [1]principle that evil is present in me, the one who wants to do good.

22 For I joyfully concur with the law of God [1]in [a]the inner man, 23 but I see [a]a different law in [1]the members of my body, waging war against the [b]law of my mind and making me a prisoner [2]of [c]the law of sin which is in my members.

24 Wretched man that I am! Who will set me free from [1a]the body of this [b]death?

Deliverance from Bondage

8 Therefore there is now no [a]condemnation for those who are [b]in [c]Christ Jesus.

2 For [a]the law of the Spirit of life [1]in [b]Christ Jesus [c]has set you free from the law of sin and of death.

3 For [a]what the Law could not do, [1b]weak as it was through the flesh, God did: sending His own Son in [c]the likeness of [2]sinful flesh and as an offering for sin, He condemned sin in the flesh,

4 so that the [a]requirement of the Law might be fulfilled in us, who [b]do not walk according to the flesh but according to the Spirit.

5 For those who are according to the flesh set their minds on [a]the things of the flesh, but those who are according to the Spirit, [b]the things of the Spirit.

6 [a]For the mind set on the flesh is [b]death, but the mind set on the Spirit is life and peace,

7 because the mind set on the flesh is is describing his present (Christian) experience. of flesh. Even a believer has the seeds of rebellion in his heart. sold into bondage to sin. A phrase so strong that many refuse to accept it as descriptive of a Christian. However, it may graphically point out the failure even of Christians to meet the radical ethical and moral demands of the gospel. It also points up the persistent nature of sin.

7:15 I do not understand. The struggle within creates tension, ambivalence and confusion.

7:16 I agree . . . that the Law is good. Even when Paul is rebellious and disobedient, the Holy Spirit reveals to him the essential goodness of the Law.

7:17 no longer am I the one doing it. Not an attempt to escape moral responsibility but a statement of the great control sin can have over a Christian's life.

7:18 nothing good dwells in me. A reference to man's fallen nature, as the last phrase of the sentence indicates. Paul is not saying that no goodness at all exists in Christians.

7:20 sin . . . in me. See note on v. 17.

7:22 I joyfully concur with the law of God. The Mosaic Law or God's law generally. It is difficult to see how a non-Christian could say this.

7:23 different law. A principle or force at work in Paul preventing him from giving obedience to God's law. law of my mind. His desire to obey God's law. law of sin. Essentially the same as "another law," mentioned above.

7:24 body of this death. Figurative for the body of sin (6:6) that hung on him like a corpse and from which he could not gain freedom.

7:25 The first half of this verse is the answer to the question stated in v. 24—deliverance comes, not through legalistic effort, but through Christ. The last half is a summary of vv. 13–24. I myself. The real self—the inner being that delights in God's law (v. 22).

8:1 condemnation. The law brings condemnation because it points out, stimulates and condemns sin. But the Christian is no longer "under law" (6:14). in Christ Jesus. United with him, as explained in 6:1–10 (see note on 6:11).

8:2 the law of the Spirit of life. The controlling power of the Holy Spirit, who is life-giving. Paul uses the word "law" in several different ways in Romans—to mean, e.g., a controlling power (here); God's law (2:17–20; 9:31; 10:3–5); the Pentateuch (3:21b); the OT as a whole (3:19); a principle (3:27). law of sin and of death. The controlling power of sin, which ultimately produces death.

8:3 could not do. The law was not able to overcome sin. It could point out, condemn and even stimulate sin, but it could not remove it. in the likeness of sinful flesh. Christ in His incarnation became truly a man, but, unlike all other men, was sinless. in the flesh. "Flesh" may refer either to man's flesh or to Christ's. If the latter, it states where God condemned sin, namely, in Christ's human (but not sinful) nature—the interpretation that seems more consistent with Paul's teaching.

8:4 requirement of the Law. The Law still plays a role in the life of a believer—not, however, as a means of salvation but as a moral and ethical guide, obeyed out of love for God and by the power that the Spirit provides. This is the fulfillment of Jer 31:33–34 (a prophecy of the new covenant). fulfilled. God's aim in sending His Son was that believers might be enabled to embody the true and full intentions of the law. according to the Spirit. How the law's righteous requirements can be fully met—by no longer letting the sinful nature hold sway but by yielding to the directing and empowering ministry of the Holy Spirit.

8:5–8 Two mind-sets are described here: that of the sinful nature and that of the Spirit. The former leads to death, the latter to life and peace. The sinful nature is bound up with death

[a]hostile toward God; for it does not subject itself to the law of God, for it is not even able to do so,

8 and those who are [a]in the flesh cannot please God.

9 However, you are not [a]in the flesh but in the Spirit, if indeed the Spirit of God [b]dwells in you. But [c]if anyone does not have the Spirit of Christ, he does not belong to Him.

10 [a]If Christ is in you, though the body is dead because of sin, yet the spirit is [1]alive because of righteousness.

11 But if the Spirit of Him who [a]raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, [b]He who raised [c]Christ Jesus from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies [1]through His Spirit who dwells in you.

12 So then, brethren, we are under obligation, not to the flesh, to live according to the flesh—

13 for [a]if you are living according to the flesh, you [1]must die; but if by the Spirit you are [b]putting to death the deeds of the body, you will live.

14 For all who are [a]being led by the Spirit of God, these are [b]sons of God.

15 For you [a]have not received a spirit of slavery [1]leading to fear again, but you [b]have received [2]a spirit of adoption as sons by which we cry out, "[c]Abba! Father!"

(v. 6), hostility to God (v. 7), insubordination (v. 7) and unacceptability to God (v. 8).

8:10 though the body is dead because of sin. Even a Christian's body is subject to physical death, the consequence of sin. the spirit is alive. Or "the Spirit is life" (see v. 2). On this reading, "body" is understood as in 7:24. because of righteousness. Because the spirit of the Christian has been justified, it is not subject to death as is his body. The Christian is indwelt by the life-giving Spirit as a result of his justification.

8:11 For the close connection between the resurrection of Christ and that of believers see 1 Cor 6:14; 15:20,23; 2 Cor 4:14; Phil 3:21; 1 Thess 4:14. give life to your mortal bodies. The resurrection of our bodies, guaranteed to believers by the indwelling presence of the Holy Spirit—whose presence is evidenced by a Spirit-controlled life (vv. 4–9), which in turn provides assurance that our resurrection is certain even now.

8:14 sons of God. God is the Father of all in the sense that He created all and His love and providential care are extended to all (see Matt 5:45). But not all are His children. Jesus said to the unbelieving Jews of His day, "You are of your father the devil" (John 8:44). People become children of God through faith in God's unique Son (see John 1:12–13), and being led by God's Spirit is the hallmark of this relationship.

8:15 adoption. The underlying Greek term for "adoption" occurs four other times in the NT (v. 23; 9:4; Gal 4:5 [see note there]; Eph 1:5). Adoption was common among the Greeks and Romans, who granted the adopted son all the privileges of a natural son, including inheritance rights. Christians are adopted sons by grace; Christ, however, is God's Son by nature. Abba! Father! Abba (Aramaic for "Father") is expressive of an especially close relationship to God.

8:16 testifies with our spirit. The inner testimony of the Holy Spirit to our relationship to Christ. children of God. The same as "sons of God," terms that in the NT are synonymous.

8:17 heirs. Those who have already entered, at least partially, into the possession of their inheritance. fellow heirs with Christ. Everything really belongs to Christ, but by grace we share in what is His. if indeed we suffer with Him. The Greek construction used here does not set forth a condition but states a fact. The meaning, then, is not that there is some doubt about sharing Christ's glory. Rather, despite the fact that Christians presently suffer, they are assured a future entrance into their inheritance.

8:19 the creation. Both animate and inanimate, but exclusive of human beings (see vv. 22–23, where "whole creation" and "we ourselves" are contrasted). the revealing of the sons of God. Christians are already sons of God, but the full manifestation of all that this means will not come until the end (see 1 John 3:1–2).

8:20 was subjected to futility. A reference to Gen 3:17–19. in hope. A possible allusion to the promise of Gen 3:15.

8:21 will be set free from its slavery to corruption. The physical universe is not destined for destruction (annihilation) but for renewal (see 2 Pet 3:13; Rev 21:1). And living things will no longer be subject to death and decay, as they are today.

8:22 groans. Creation is personified as a woman in labor waiting for the birth of her child.

8:23 first fruits of the Spirit. The Christian's possession of the Holy Spirit is not only evidence of his present salvation (vv. 14,16) but is also a pledge of his future inheritance—and not only a pledge but also the down payment on that inheritance (see 2 Cor 1:22; 5:5; Eph 1:14). adoption as sons. See note on v. 15. Christians are already God's children, but this is a reference to the full realization of our inheritance in Christ. redemption of our body. The resurrection, as the final stage of our adoption. The first stage was God's predestination of our adoption (see Eph 1:5); the second is our present inclusion as children of God (see v. 14; Gal 3:26).

[d]waiting eagerly for our adoption as sons, [e]the redemption of our body.

24 For [a]in hope we have been saved, but [b]hope that is seen is not hope; for who hopes for what he already sees?

25 But [a]if we hope for what we do not see, with perseverance we wait eagerly for it.

Our Victory in Christ

26 In the same way the Spirit also helps our weakness; for [a]we do not know how to pray as we should, but [b]the Spirit Himself intercedes for us with groanings too deep for words;

27 and [a]He who searches the hearts knows what [b]the mind of the Spirit is, because He [c]intercedes for the [1]saints according to the will of God.

28 And we know that [1]God causes [a]all things to work together for good to those who love God, to those who are [b]called according to His purpose.

29 For those whom He [a]foreknew, He also [b]predestined to become [c]conformed to the image of His Son, so that He would be the [d]firstborn among many brethren;

30 and these whom He [a]predestined, He also [b]called; and these whom He called, He also [c]justified; and these whom He justified, He also [d]glorified.

31 [a]What then shall we say to these things? [b]If God is for us, who is against us?

32 He who [a]did not spare His own Son, but [b]delivered Him over for us all, how will He not also with Him freely give us all things?

35 Who will separate us from [a]the love of [1]Christ? Will [b]tribulation, or distress, or [c]persecution, or [c]famine, or [c]nakedness, or [c]peril, or sword?

36 Just as it is written,

"[a]FOR YOUR SAKE WE ARE BEING PUT TO DEATH ALL DAY LONG;

37 But in all these things we overwhelmingly [a]conquer through [b]Him who loved us.

38 For I am convinced that neither [a]death, nor life, nor [b]angels, nor principalities, nor [a]things present, nor things to come, nor powers,

8:24 in hope. We are saved by faith (see Eph 2:8), not hope; but hope accompanies salvation.

8:26 In the same way. As hope sustains the believer in suffering, so the Holy Spirit helps him in prayer. with groanings too deep for words. In v. 23 it is the believer who groans; here it is the Holy Spirit. Whether Paul means words that are unspoken or words that cannot be expressed in human language is not clear—probably the former, though v. 27 seems to suggest the latter.

8:27 The relationship between the Holy Spirit and God the Father is so close that the Holy Spirit's prayers need not be audible. God knows His every thought.

8:28 good. That which conforms us "to the image of His Son" (v. 29). called. Effectual calling: the call of God to which there is invariably a positive response.

8:29 foreknew. Some insist that the knowledge here is not abstract but is couched in love and mixed with purpose. They hold that God not only knew us before we had any knowledge of Him but that He also knew us, in the sense of choosing us by His grace, before the foundation of the world (see Eph 1:4; 2 Tim 1:9 and notes). Others believe that Paul here refers to the fact that in eternity past God knew those who by faith would become His people. predestined. Predestination here is to moral conformity to the likeness of His Son. that He would be the firstborn among many brethren. The reason God foreknew, predestined and conformed believers to Christ's likeness is that the Son might hold the position of highest honor in the great family of God.

8:30 predestined . . . glorified. The sequence by which God carries out His predestination. glorified. Since this final stage is firmly grounded in God's set purpose, it is as certain as if it had already happened.

8:31 If God is for us. The form of the condition makes it clear that there is no doubt about it.

8:32 The argument (from the greater to the lesser) here is similar to that in 5:9–10. If God gave the supreme gift of His Son to save us, He will certainly also give whatever is necessary to bring to fulfillment the work begun at the cross. See note on Gen 22:16.

8:33–34 A court of law is in mind. No charge can be brought against the Christian because God has already pronounced a verdict of not guilty.

8:34 Three reasons are given as to why no one can condemn God's elect: (1) Christ died for us; (2) He is alive and seated at the right hand of God, the position of power; (3) He is interceding for us.

8:35–39 Paul wanted to show his readers that suffering does not separate believers from Christ but actually carries them along toward their ultimate goal.

8:36 Ps 44:22 is quoted to show that suffering has always been part of the experience of God's people.

8:37 who loved us. Referring especially to Christ's death on the cross.

8:39 nor height, nor depth. It is impossible to get beyond God's loving reach. nor any other created thing. Includes all created things. Only God is not included, and He is the one who has justified us (v. 33).

9:1 in the Holy Spirit. Conscience is a reliable guide only when enlightened by the Holy Spirit.

2 that I have great sorrow and unceasing grief in my heart.

3 For [a]I could [1]wish that I myself were [b]accursed, separated from Christ for the sake of my brethren, my kinsmen [c]according to the flesh,

5 whose are [a]the fathers, and [b]from whom is [1]the Christ according to the flesh, [c]who is over all, [d]God [e]blessed [2]forever. Amen.

6 But it is not as though [a]the word of God has failed. [b]For they are not all Israel who are descended from Israel;

7 nor are they all children [a]because they are Abraham's [1]descendants, but: "[2b]THROUGH ISAAC YOUR [1]DESCENDANTS WILL BE NAMED."

8 That is, it is not the children of the flesh who are [a]children of God, but the [b]children of the promise are regarded as [1]descendants.

9 For this is the word of promise: "[a]AT THIS TIME I WILL COME, AND SARAH SHALL HAVE A SON."

10 [a]And not only this, but there was [b]Rebekah also, when she had conceived twins by one man, our father Isaac;

16 So then it does not depend on the man who wills or the man who [a]runs, but on [b]God who has mercy.

17 For the Scripture says to Pharaoh, "[a]FOR THIS VERY PURPOSE I RAISED YOU UP, TO DEMONSTRATE MY POWER IN YOU, AND THAT MY NAME MIGHT BE PROCLAIMED [1]THROUGHOUT THE WHOLE EARTH."

18 So then He has mercy on whom He desires, and He [a]hardens whom He desires.

9:3 accursed. The Greek for this word is anathema, and it means delivered over to the wrath of God for eternal destruction (see 1 Cor 12:3; 16:22; Gal 1:8–9). Such was Paul's great love for his fellow Jews. For a similar expression of love see Ex 32:32.
9:4 Israelites. The descendants of Jacob (who was renamed Israel by God; see Gen 32:28). The name was used of the entire nation (see Judg 5:7), then of the northern kingdom after the nation was divided (see 1 Kin 12), the southern kingdom being called Judah. During the intertestamental period and later in NT times, Palestinian Jews used the title to indicate that they were the chosen people of God. Its use here is especially relevant because Paul is about to show that, despite Israel's unbelief and disobedience, God's promises to her are still valid. adoption. Israel had been accepted as God's son (see Ex 4:22–23; Jer 31:9; Hos 11:1). glory. The evidence of the presence of God among His people (see Ex 16:7,10; Lev 9:6,23; Num 16:19). covenants. For example, the Abrahamic (Gen 15:17–21; 17:1–8); the Mosaic (Ex 19:5; 24:1–4), renewed on the plains of Moab (Deut 29:1–15), at Mounts Ebal and Gerizim (Josh 8:30–35) and at Shechem (Josh 24); the Levitical (Num 25:12–13; Jer 33:21; Mal 2:4–5); the Davidic (2 Sam 7; 23:5; Ps 89:3–4,28–29; 132:11–12); and the new (prophesied in Jer 31:31–40). promises. Especially those made to Abraham (Gen 12:7; 13:14–17; 17:4–8; 22:16–18) but also including the many OT Messianic promises (e.g., 2 Sam 7:12,16; Is 9:6–7; Jer 23:5; 31:31–34; Ezek 34:23–24; 37:24–28).
9:5 fathers. Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and his sons. Christ . . . who is over all, God. One of the clearest statements of the deity of Jesus Christ found in the entire NT, assuming that "God" refers to "Christ." See also 1:4; Matt 1:23; 28:19; Luke 1:35; 5:20–21; John 1:1,3,10,14,18; 5:18; 20:28; 2 Cor 13:14; Phil 2:6; Col 1:15–20; 2:9; Titus 2:13; Heb 1:3,8; 2 Pet 1:1; Rev 1:13–18; 22:13.
9:6 word of God. His clearly stated purpose, which has not failed, because "they are not all Israel who are descended from Israel." Paul is not denying the election of all Israel (as a nation) but stating that within Israel there is a separation, that of unbelieving Israel and believing Israel. Physical descent is no guarantee of a place in God's family.
9:7 descendants. Physical descendants (e.g., Ishmael and his offspring).
9:8 children of the flesh. Those merely biologically descended from Abraham. children of God. See v. 4. Not all Israelites were God's children. The reference is to the Israel of faith.
9:11 done anything good or bad. God's choice of Jacob was based on sovereign freedom, not on the fulfillment of any prior conditions. God's purpose according to His choice. God's purpose embodied in His election (see note on Eph 1:4). not because of works but because of Him who calls. Before Rebekah's children were even born, God made a choice—a choice obviously not based on works. calls. See 8:28 and note.
9:13 JACOB I LOVED, BUT ESAU I HATED. Equivalent to "Jacob I chose, but Esau I rejected." In vv. 6–13 Paul is clearly dealing with personal and not national election—he is not portraying the nation Israel (Jacob) over the nation Edom (Esau)—though Mal 1:2–3 does speak of the nations. Paul's intention is evident in light of the problem he is addressing: How can God's promise stand when so many who comprise Israel (in the OT collective sense) are unbelieving and therefore cut off?
9:14 There is no injustice with God, is there? Unjust to elect on the basis of His sovereign freedom, as with Jacob and Esau.
9:15 Paul denies injustice in God's dealing with Isaac and Ishmael, and Jacob and Esau, by appealing to God's sovereign right to dispense mercy as He chooses.
9:16 it. God's choice, which is not controlled in any way by man. However, Paul makes it clear that the basis for Israel's rejection was her unbelief (see vv. 30–32).
9:17 Pharaoh. Pharaoh of the exodus. RAISED YOU UP. Made you ruler of Egypt. MY NAME. The character of God, particularly as revealed in the exodus (see Ex 15:13–18; Josh 2:10–11; 9:9; 1 Sam 4:8).
9:18 The first part of this verse again echoes Ex 33:19 (see v. 15) and the last part such texts as Ex 7:3; 9:12; 14:4,17, in which

19 [a]You will say to me then, "[b]Why does on whom He desires. Cannot mean that God is arbitrary in His mercy, because Paul ultimately bases God's rejection of Israel on her unbelief (see vv. 30–32).

9:19 Someone may object: "If God determines whose heart is hardened and whose is not, how can God blame anyone for hardening his heart?"
9:20 who are you, O man, who answers back to God? Paul is not silencing all questioning of God by man, but he is speaking to those with an impenitent, God-defying attitude who want to make God answerable to man for what He does and who, by their questions, defame the character of God.
9:21 The analogy between God and the potter and between man and the pot should not be pressed to the extreme. The main point is the sovereign freedom of God in dealing with man.
9:22–23 An illustration of the principle stated in v. 21. The emphasis is on God's mercy, not His wrath.
9:22 No one can call God to account for what He does. But He does not exercise His freedom of choice arbitrarily, and He shows great patience even toward the objects of His wrath. In light of 2:4, the purpose of such patience is to bring about repentance.
9:23 glory. See note on 3:23.
9:25–26 In the original context these passages from Hosea refer to the spiritual restoration of Israel. But Paul finds in them the principle that God is a saving, forgiving, restoring God, who delights to take those who are "not My people" and make them "My people." Paul then applies this principle to Gentiles, whom God makes His people by sovereignly grafting them into covenant relationship (see ch. 11).
9:27–29 The two passages from Isaiah indicate that only a small remnant will survive from the great multitude of Israelites. God's calling includes both Jews and Gentiles (see v. 24), but the vast majority are Gentiles, as v. 30 suggests.
9:30–32 A new step in Paul's argument: The reason for Israel's rejection lay in the nature of her disobedience—she failed to obey her own God-given law, which in reality was pointing to Christ. She pursued the law—yet not by faith but by works. Thus the real cause of Israel's rejection was that she failed to believe.
9:31 law of righteousness. The law that prescribed the way to righteousness. Paul does not reject obedience to the law but righteousness by works, the attempt to use the law to put God in one's debt.
9:32 not . . . by faith. The failure of Israel was not that she pursued the wrong thing (i.e., righteous standing before God), but that she pursued it by works in a futile effort to merit God's favor rather than pursuing it by faith. the stumbling stone. Jesus, the Messiah. God's rejection of Israel was not arbitrary but was based on Israel's rejection of God's way of gaining righteousness (faith).
9:33 The two passages from Isaiah, which are here combined, apparently were commonly used by early Christians in defense of Jesus' Messiahship (see 1 Pet 2:4,6–8; see also Ps 118:22; Luke 20:17–18).
10:1 prayer to God for them. Paul often prayed for the churches (see Eph 1:15–23; Col 1:3; 1 Thess 1:2–3; 2 Thess 1:3). Here he prays for the salvation of his fellow countrymen.
10:2 zeal for God. The Jews' zeal for God (see Acts 21:20; 22:3; Gal 1:14) was commendable in that God was its object, but it was flawed because it was not based on right knowledge about God's way of salvation. Paul, before his conversion, was an example of such zeal (see Gal 1:14).

teousness and [b]seeking to establish their own, they did not subject themselves to the righteousness of God.

4 For [a]Christ is the [1]end of the law for righteousness to [b]everyone who believes.

5 For Moses writes that the man who practices the righteousness which is [1]based on law [a]shall live [2]by that righteousness.

6 But [a]the righteousness [1]based on faith speaks as follows: "[b]DO NOT SAY IN YOUR HEART, 'WHO WILL ASCEND INTO HEAVEN?' (that is, to bring Christ down),

7 or 'WHO WILL DESCEND INTO THE [a]ABYSS?' (that is, to [b]bring Christ up from the dead)."

8 But what does it say? "[a]THE WORD IS NEAR YOU, in your mouth and in your heart"—that is, the word of faith which we are preaching,

9 [1]that [a]if you confess with your mouth Jesus as Lord, and [b]believe in your heart that [c]God raised Him from the dead, you will be saved;

10 for with the heart a person believes, [1]resulting in righteousness, and with the mouth he confesses, [2]resulting in salvation.

11 For the Scripture says, "[a]WHOEVER BELIEVES IN HIM WILL NOT BE [1]DISAPPOINTED."

13 for "[a]WHOEVER WILL CALL ON THE NAME OF THE LORD WILL BE SAVED."

14 How then will they call on Him in whom they have not believed? How will they believe in Him [a]whom they have not heard? And how will they hear without [b]a preacher?

15 How will they preach unless they are sent? Just as it is written, "[a]HOW BEAUTIFUL ARE THE FEET OF THOSE WHO [1][b]BRING GOOD NEWS OF GOOD THINGS!"

16 However, they [a]did not all heed the [1]good news; for Isaiah says, "[b]LORD, WHO HAS BELIEVED OUR REPORT?"

17 So faith comes from [c]hearing, and hearing by [b]the word [1]of Christ.

18 But I say, surely they have never heard, have they? Indeed they have;

"[a]THEIR VOICE HAS GONE OUT INTO ALL THE EARTH, AND THEIR WORDS TO THE ENDS OF THE [1]WORLD."

10:3 their own. Righteous standing based on mere human effort. righteousness of God. Righteous standing based on faith (see 1:17), which comes from God as a gift and cannot be earned by man's works.

10:4 Christ is the end of the law. Although the Greek word for "end" (telos) can mean either (1) "termination," "cessation," or (2) "goal," "culmination," "fulfillment," it seems best here to understand it in the latter sense. Christ is the fulfillment of the law (see Matt 5:17) in the sense that He brought it to completion by obeying perfectly its demands and by fulfilling its types and prophecies. The Christian is no longer "under law" (6:15), since Christ has freed him from its condemnation, but the law still plays a role in his life. He is liberated by the Holy Spirit to fulfill its moral demands (see 8:4). righteousness. The righteous standing before God that Christ makes available to everyone who believes (see notes on 1:17; 3:24).

10:5 the man who practices . . . righteousness . . . shall live by that righteousness. Lev 18:5 (see note there; see also Deut 6:25) speaks of the righteousness to which Israel was called under the Sinai covenant. Some understand Paul's purpose in quoting it here as describing the way of obtaining righteousness ("shall live") by keeping the law (see 2:6–10). Others think that the reference is to Christ, who perfectly fulfilled the law's demands and thus makes salvation available to all who believe (see Heb 5:9).

10:6–7 The purpose of the OT quotation is to explain the nature of the righteousness that is by faith. It does not require heroic feats such as bringing Christ down from heaven or up from the grave. Deut 30:12–13 in its original context refers to the law, and Paul here applies the basic principle to Christ.

10:8 THE WORD IS NEAR YOU. In the OT passage the "word" is God's word as found in the law. Paul takes the passage and applies it to the gospel, "the word of faith"—the main point being the accessibility of the gospel. Righteousness is gained by faith, not by deeds, and is readily available to anyone who will receive it freely from God through Christ.

10:9 Jesus as Lord. The earliest Christian confession of faith (cf. 1 Cor 12:3), probably used at baptisms. In view of the fact that "Lord" (Greek kyrios) is used over 6,000 times in the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) to translate the name of Israel's God (Yahweh), it is clear that Paul, when using this word of Jesus, is ascribing deity to him. in your heart. In Biblical terms the heart is not merely the seat of the emotions and affections, but also of the intellect and will. God raised Him from the dead. A bedrock truth of Christian doctrine (see 1 Cor 15:4,14,17) and the central thrust of apostolic preaching (see, e.g., Acts 2:31–32; 3:15; 4:10; 10:40). Christians believe not only that Jesus lived but also that He still lives. will be saved. In the future tense. Paul is thinking of final salvation—salvation at the last day.

10:10 Salvation involves inward belief ("with the heart") as well as outward confession ("with the mouth").

10:12 no distinction between Jew and Greek. In the sense that both are on the same footing as far as salvation is concerned (see v. 13).

10:13 Peter cited this same passage (Joel 2:32) on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2:21).

10:14–15 Since it might be argued that Jews had never had a fair opportunity to hear and respond to the gospel, Paul, by means of a series of rhetorical questions, states (in reverse order) the conditions necessary to call on Christ and be saved: (1) a preacher sent from God, (2) proclamation of the message, (3) hearing the message, (4) believing the message.

10:15 HOW BEAUTIFUL ARE THE FEET OF THOSE WHO BRING GOOD NEWS. The quotation is from Is 52:7, which refers to those who bring the exiles the good news of their imminent release from captivity in Babylon. Here it is applied to gospel preachers, who bring the good news of release from captivity to sin.

10:17 word of Christ. Either (1) the gospel concerning Christ, or (2) Christ speaking His message through His messengers.

10:18 THEIR VOICE. The quotation is from Ps 19:4, which refers to the testimony of the heavens to the glory of God. Here "their voice" is applied to gospel preachers and is used to show that Israel cannot offer the excuse that she did not have opportunity to hear, since preachers went everywhere. These words (originally used to describe God's revelation in nature) aptly describe the widespread preaching of the gospel, and Paul uses

19 But I say, surely Israel did not know, did they? First Moses says,

"[a]I WILL [b]MAKE YOU JEALOUS BY THAT WHICH IS NOT A NATION,
BY A NATION WITHOUT UNDERSTANDING WILL I ANGER YOU."

20 And Isaiah is very bold and says,

"[a]I WAS FOUND BY THOSE WHO DID NOT SEEK ME,
I BECAME MANIFEST TO THOSE WHO DID NOT ASK FOR ME."

21 But as for Israel He says, "[a]ALL THE DAY LONG I HAVE STRETCHED OUT MY HANDS TO A DISOBEDIENT AND OBSTINATE PEOPLE."

Israel Is Not Cast Away

11 I say then, God has not [a]rejected His people, has He? [b]May it never be! For [c]I too am an Israelite, [1]a descendant of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin.

2 God [a]has not rejected His people whom He [b]foreknew. [c]Or do you not know what the Scripture says in the passage about Elijah, how he pleads with God against Israel?

3 "Lord, [a]THEY HAVE KILLED YOUR PROPHETS, THEY HAVE TORN DOWN YOUR ALTARS, AND I ALONE AM LEFT, AND THEY ARE SEEKING MY LIFE."

4 But what [1]is the divine response to him? "[a]I HAVE KEPT for Myself SEVEN THOUSAND MEN WHO HAVE NOT BOWED THE KNEE TO BAAL."

5 In the same way then, there has also come to be at the present time [a]a remnant according to God's [1]gracious choice.

6 But [a]if it is by grace, it is no longer [1]on the basis of works, otherwise grace is no longer grace.

7 What then? What [a]Israel is seeking, it has not obtained, but [1]those who were chosen obtained it, and the rest were [b]hardened;

8 just as it is written,

"[a]GOD GAVE THEM A SPIRIT OF STUPOR, EYES TO SEE NOT AND EARS TO HEAR NOT, DOWN TO THIS VERY DAY."

9 And David says,

"[a]LET THEIR TABLE BECOME A SNARE AND A TRAP, AND A STUMBLING BLOCK AND A RETRIBUTION TO THEM.
10 "[a]LET THEIR EYES BE DARKENED TO SEE NOT, AND BEND THEIR BACKS FOREVER."

11 [a]I say then, they did not stumble so as to fall, did they? [b]May it never be! But by their transgression [c]salvation has come to the Gentiles, to [d]make them jealous.

12 Now if their transgression is riches for the world and their failure is riches for the Gentiles, how much more will their [1][a]fulfillment be!

13 But I am speaking to you who are Gentiles. Inasmuch then as [a]I am an apostle of Gentiles, I magnify my ministry, 14 if somehow I might [a]move to jealousy [b]my [1]fellow countrymen and [c]save some of them.

15 For if their rejection is the [a]reconciliation of the world, what will their acceptance be but [b]life from the dead?

them to show that Jews had ample opportunity to hear the message of redemption.

10:19 surely Israel did not know, did they? The quotation that follows (from Deut 32:21) answers this question by suggesting that the Gentiles, whom the Jews considered to be spiritually unenlightened, understood. Surely if they understood the message, the Jews could have. THAT WHICH IS NOT A NATION. The Gentiles, those who are not a nation of God's forming in the sense that Israel was.

10:21 The responsibility for Israel's rejection as a nation rested with Israel herself. She had failed to meet God's requirement, namely, faith.

11:1 rejected. Totally rejected. There has always been a faithful remnant among the Jewish people.

11:2 whom He foreknew. See note on 8:29.

11:5 remnant. As it was in Elijah's day, so it was in Paul's day. Despite widespread apostasy, a faithful remnant of Jews remained. according to God's gracious choice. The grounds for the existence of the remnant was not their good works but God's grace.

11:7 What Israel is seeking. A righteous standing before God, which eluded the greater part of Israel. those who were chosen. The faithful remnant among the Jews. were hardened. Because they refused the way of faith (see 9:31–32), God made them impervious to spiritual truth (see notes on Is 6:8–10)—a judicial hardening of Israel.

11:8 TO THIS VERY DAY. The spiritual dullness of the Jews had continued from Isaiah's day to Paul's day.

11:9–10 The passage from Ps 69:22–23 was probably originally spoken by David concerning his enemies; Paul uses it to describe the results of the divine hardening.

11:11 their transgression. The Jews' rejection of the gospel. make them jealous. See v. 14; 10:19.

11:12 riches for the world. Equivalent to "riches for the Gentiles," a reference to the abundant benefits of salvation already enjoyed by believing Gentiles, which had come about because of the rejection of the gospel by the Jews. That rejection caused the apostles to turn to the Gentiles (see Acts 13:46–48; 18:6). their failure. Equivalent to "their transgression" (see note on v. 11), but focusing on the loss that this transgression entailed. how much more. See note on v. 15. their fulfillment. The salvation of Israel (see vv. 26–27; see also the "fullness of the Gentiles," v. 25).

11:13 apostle of Gentiles. See 1:5; Acts 9:15; Gal 1:16; 2:7,9.

11:15 their rejection. God's temporary and partial exclusion of the Jews. reconciliation of the world. Somewhat equivalent to "riches for the world" (see note on v. 12). life from the dead. Equivalent to "how much more" in v. 12. The sequence of redemptive events is: The "transgression" and "failure" (v. 12) of Israel leads to the salvation of the Gentiles, which leads to the jealousy or envy of Israel, which leads to the "fulfillment" (v. 12) of Israel when the hardening is removed, which leads to even more riches for the Gentiles. But to what does the "how much more" (v. 12) for the Gentiles refer, which Paul describes here as "life from the dead"? Three views may be suggested: (1) an unprecedented spiritual awakening in the world; (2) the consummation of redemption at the resurrection of the dead; (3) a figurative expression describing the conversion of the Jews as a joyful and glorious event (like resurrection)—which will result in even greater blessing for the world. Of these three 16 If the [a]first piece of dough is holy, the lump is also; and if the root is holy, the branches are too.

17 But if some of the [a]branches were broken off, and [b]you, being a wild olive, were grafted in among them and became partaker with them of the [1]rich root of the olive tree, 18 do not be arrogant toward the branches; but if you are arrogant, remember that [a]it is not you who supports the root, but the root supports you.

19 [a]You will say then, "Branches were broken off so that I might be grafted in."

20 Quite right, they were broken off for their unbelief, but you [a]stand by your faith. [b]Do not be conceited, but fear;

21 for if God did not spare the natural branches, He will not spare you, either.

22 Behold then the kindness and severity of God; to those who fell, severity, but to you, God's [a]kindness, [b]if you continue in His kindness; otherwise you also [c]will be cut off.

23 And they also, [a]if they do not continue in their unbelief, will be grafted in, for God is able to graft them in again.

24 For if you were cut off from what is by nature a wild olive tree, and were grafted contrary to nature into a cultivated olive tree, how much more will these who are the natural branches be grafted into their own olive tree?

25 For [a]I do not want you, brethren, to be uninformed of this [b]mystery—so that you will not be [c]wise in your own estimation—that a partial [d]hardening has happened to Israel until the [e]fullness of the Gentiles has come in;

26 and so all Israel will be saved; just as it is written,

"[a]THE DELIVERER WILL COME FROM ZION, HE WILL REMOVE UNGODLINESS FROM JACOB."

27 "[a]THIS IS [1]MY COVENANT WITH THEM, views the first seems least likely, since, before Israel's spiritual rebirth, the fullness of the Gentiles will already have come in (see v. 25). Since the Gentile mission will then be complete, there seems to be no place for a period of unprecedented spiritual awakening. The second view also seems unlikely, since the context suggests nothing of bodily resurrection.

11:16 The first half of this verse is a reference to Num 15:17–21. Part of the dough made from the first of the harvested grain (first fruits) was offered to the Lord. This consecrated the whole batch. first piece of dough. The patriarchs. lump. The Jewish people. holy. Not that all Jews are righteous (i.e., saved) but that God will be true to His promises concerning them (see 3:3–4). Paul foresaw a future for Israel, even though she was for a time set aside. root. The patriarchs. branches. The Jewish people.

11:17 branches. Individual Jews. wild olive. Gentile Christians. grafted in. The usual procedure was to insert a shoot or slip of a cultivated tree into a common or wild one. In vv. 17–24, however, the metaphor is used, "contrary to nature" (v. 24), of grafting a wild olive branch (the Gentiles) into the cultivated olive tree. Such a procedure is unnatural, which is precisely the point. Normally, such a graft would be unfruitful. rich root. The patriarchs. The whole olive tree represents the people of God.

11:18 the root supports you. The salvation of Gentile Christians is dependent on the Jews, especially the patriarchs (e.g., the Abrahamic covenant). See John 4:22.

11:19 Branches. Unbelieving Jews.

11:20 fear. On the fear of God see note on Gen 20:11; see also Prov 3:7; Phil 2:12–13; Heb 4:1, "be careful"; 1 Pet 1:17.

11:22 kindness and severity of God. Any adequate doctrine of God must include these two elements. When we ignore His kindness, God seems a ruthless tyrant; when we ignore His sternness, He seems a doting Father.

11:23 God is able to graft them in again. Paul holds out hope for the Jews—God is able (see Matt 19:26; Mark 10:27; Luke 18:27).

11:24 contrary to nature. Paul recognized that such grafting was not commonly practiced (see note on v. 17). The inclusion of Gentiles in the family of God is "contrary to nature" (cf. Eph 2:12). Obviously, the reasoning in this verse is more theological than horticultural. It would be difficult horticulturally to graft broken branches back into the parent tree, but the Jews really "belong" (historically and theologically) to the parent tree. Thus they will "much more . . . be grafted into their own olive tree."

11:25 mystery. The so-called mystery religions of Paul's day used the Greek word (mysterion) in the sense of something that was to be revealed only to the initiated. Paul himself, however, used it to refer to something formerly hidden or obscure but now revealed by God for all to know and understand (see 16:25; 1 Cor 2:7; 4:1; 13:2; 14:2; 15:51; Eph 1:9; 3:3–4,9; 5:32; 6:19; Col 1:26–27; 2:2; 4:3; 2 Thess 2:7; 1 Tim 3:9,16). The word is used of (1) the incarnation (1 Tim 3:16; see note there), (2) the death of Christ (1 Cor 2:7, "God's wisdom is a mystery"), (3) God's purpose to sum up all things in Christ (Eph 1:9) and especially to include both Jews and Gentiles in the NT church (Eph 3:3–6), (4) the change that will take place at the resurrection (1 Cor 15:51), and (5) the plan of God by which both Jew and Gentile, after a period of disobedience by both, will by His mercy be included in His kingdom (v. 25). so that you will not be wise in your own estimation. God's merciful plan to include the Gentiles in His great salvation plan should humble them, not fill them with arrogance. partial. Israel's hardening is partial, not total. until. Israel's hardening is temporary, not permanent. fullness of the Gentiles. The total number of the elect Gentiles.

11:26 and so. An emphatic statement that this is the way all Israel will be saved. all Israel. Three main interpretations of this phrase are: (1) the total number of elect Jews of every generation (equivalent to the "fulfillment" of Israel [v. 12], which is analogous to the "fullness ['full number'] of the Gentiles" [v. 25]); (2) the total number of the elect, both Jews and Gentiles, of every generation; (3) the great majority of Jews of the final generation. will be saved. The salvation of the Jews will, of course, be on the same basis as anyone's salvation: personal faith in Jesus Christ, crucified and risen from the dead. THE DELIVERER WILL COME FROM ZION. The quotation is from Is 59:20, where the deliverer ("Redeemer") seems to refer to God. The Talmud understood the text to be a reference to the Messiah, and Paul appears to use it in this way. ZION. See note on Gal 4:26.

11:27 COVENANT. The new covenant of Jer 31:31–34. WHEN I TAKE AWAY THEIR SINS. See Jer 31:34; Zech 13:1. Just as salvation for Gentiles involves forgiveness of sins, so the Jews, when they are saved, are forgiven by the mercy of God—His forgiveness based only on their repentance and faith (see v. 23; Zech 12:10–13:1).

28 [1]From the standpoint of the gospel they are [a]enemies for your sake, but [2]from the standpoint of God's choice they are beloved for [b]the sake of the fathers;

29 for the gifts and the [a]calling of God [b]are irrevocable.

30 For just as you once were disobedient to God, but now have been shown mercy because of their disobedience, 31 so these also now have been disobedient, that because of the mercy shown to you they also may now be shown mercy.

32 For [a]God has shut up all in disobedience so that He may show mercy to all.

33 Oh, the depth of [a]the riches [1]both of the [b]wisdom and knowledge of God! [c]How unsearchable are His judgments and unfathomable His ways!

34 For [a]WHO HAS KNOWN THE MIND OF THE LORD, OR WHO BECAME HIS COUNSELOR?

35 Or [a]WHO HAS FIRST GIVEN TO HIM [1]THAT IT MIGHT BE PAID BACK TO HIM AGAIN?

36 For [a]from Him and through Him and to Him are all things. [b]To Him be the glory [1]forever. Amen.

11:28 they are enemies. Only temporarily. for your sake. Explained in v. 11. beloved for the sake of the fathers. Not because any merit was passed on from the patriarchs to the Jewish people as a whole, but because God in love chose Israel and that choice was irrevocable.

11:29 the gifts and the calling of God are irrevocable. God does not change His mind with reference to His call. Even though Israel is presently in a state of unbelief, God's purpose will be fulfilled in her.

11:32 all. Both groups under discussion (Jews and Gentiles). There has been a period of disobedience for each in order that God may have mercy on them all. Paul is in no way teaching universal salvation.

11:33–36 The doxology that ends this section of Romans is the natural outpouring of Paul's praise to God, whose wisdom and knowledge brought about His great plan for the salvation of both Jews and Gentiles.

12:1–16:27 Paul now turns to the practical application of all he has said previously in the letter. This does not mean that he has not said anything about Christian living up to this point. Chs. 6–8 have touched on this already, but now Paul goes into detail to show that Jesus Christ is to be Lord of every area of life. These chapters are not a postscript to the great theological discussions in chs. 1–11. In a real sense the entire letter has been directed toward the goal of showing that God demands our action as well as our believing and thinking. Faith expresses itself in obedience.

12:1 Therefore I urge you. Paul draws an important inference from the truth set forth in chs. 1–11. mercies of God. Much of the letter has been concerned with demonstrating this. your bodies. See 6:13 and note. living . . . sacrifice. In contrast to dead animal sacrifices, or perhaps "living" in the sense of having the new life of the Holy Spirit (see 6:4). spiritual service. Not merely ritual activity but the involvement of heart, mind and will. worship. Obedient service.

12:2 this world. With all its evil and corruption (see Gal 1:4). be transformed. Here a process, not a single event. The same word is used in the transfiguration narratives (Matt 17:2–8; Mark 9:2–8) and in 2 Cor 3:18. mind. Thought and will as they relate to morality (see 1:28). so that. After the spiritual transformation just described has taken place. will of God. What God wants from the believer here and now. good. That which leads to the spiritual and moral growth of the Christian. acceptable. To God, not necessarily to us. perfect. No improvement can be made on the will of God.

12:3 God has allotted. Since the power comes from God, there can be no basis for a superior attitude or self-righteousness. measure of faith. The power given by God to each believer to fulfill various ministries in the Church (see vv. 4–8).

12:4–8 Paul likens Christians to members of a human body. There are many members and each has a different function, but all are needed for the health of the body. The emphasis is on unity within diversity (see 1 Cor 12:12–31).

12:5 in Christ. The key to Paul's concept of Christian unity. It is only in Jesus Christ that any unity in the church is possible. True unity is spiritually based. See note on 6:11.

12:6 gifts. Greek charismata, referring to special gifts of grace—freely given by God to His people to meet the needs of the body (see notes on 1 Cor 1:7; 12:4). prophecy. See note on 1 Cor 12:10. according to. There is to be no false modesty that denies the existence of gifts or refuses to use them. to the proportion of his faith. Probably means about the same thing as "measure of faith" in v. 3 (see note there).

12:7 service. Any kind of service needed by the body of Christ or by any of its members. teaches. See notes on 1 Cor 12:28; Eph 4:11.

12:8 exhorts. Exhorting others with an uplifting, cheerful call to worthwhile accomplishment. The teacher often carried out

9 Let [a]love be without hypocrisy. [b]Abhor what is evil; cling to what is good.

10 Be [a]devoted to one another in brotherly love; [1]give preference to one another [b]in honor;

11 not lagging behind in diligence, [a]fervent in spirit, [b]serving the Lord;

12 [a]rejoicing in hope, [b]persevering in tribulation, [c]devoted to prayer,

14 [a]Bless those who persecute [1]you; bless and do not curse.

15 [a]Rejoice with those who rejoice, and weep with those who weep.

16 [a]Be of the same mind toward one another; [b]do not be haughty in mind, but [1]associate with the lowly. [c]Do not be wise in your own estimation.

17 [a]Never pay back evil for evil to anyone. [1b]Respect what is right in the sight of all men.

18 If possible, [a]so far as it depends on you, [b]be at peace with all men.

19 [a]Never take your own revenge, beloved, but [1]leave room for the wrath of God, for it is written, "[b]VENGEANCE IS MINE, I WILL REPAY," says the Lord.

21 Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good.

Be Subject to Government

13 Every [1][a]person is to be in [b]subjection to the governing authorities. For [c]there is no authority except [2]from God, and those which exist are established by God.

2 Therefore [1]whoever resists authority has opposed the ordinance of God; and they who have opposed will receive condemnation upon themselves.

3 For [a]rulers are not a cause of fear for [1]good behavior, but for evil. Do you want to have no fear of authority? Do what is good and you will have praise from the same;

4 for it is a minister of God to you for good. But if you do what is evil, be afraid; for it does not bear the sword for nothing; for it is a minister of God, an [a]avenger who brings wrath on the one who practices evil.

this function. In teaching, the believer is shown what he must do; in encouraging, he is helped to do it. gives. Giving what is one's own, or possibly distributing what has been given by others. who leads. Possibly a reference to an elder. The Ephesian church had elders by about this time (see Acts 20:17; 1 Thess 5:12; 1 Tim 5:17). shows mercy. Caring for the sick, the poor and the aged. with cheerfulness. Serving the needy should be a delight, not a chore.

12:9 love. The Christian's love for fellow Christians and perhaps also for his fellowman. without hypocrisy. True love, not pretense. In view of the preceding paragraph, with its emphasis on social concern, the love Paul speaks of here is not mere emotion but is active love.

12:10 brotherly love. Love within the family of God. give preference to one another in honor. Only a mind renewed by the Holy Spirit (see v. 2) could possibly do this (see Phil 2:3).

12:11 fervent in spirit. If "spirit" means "Holy Spirit" here the reference would be to the fervor the Holy Spirit provides.

12:12 rejoicing in hope. The certainty of the Christian's hope is a cause for joy (see 5:5; see also 8:16–25; 1 Pet 1:3–9). persevering. Enduring triumphantly—necessary for a Christian, because affliction is his inevitable experience (see John 16:33). devoted to prayer. One must not only pray in hard times, but also maintain communion with God through prayer at all times (see Luke 18:1; 1 Thess 5:17).

12:13 contributing to . . . the saints. The Christian has social responsibility to all people, but especially to other believers (see Gal 6:10).

12:14 Bless those who persecute you. Paul is echoing Jesus' teaching in Matt 5:44; Luke 6:28.

12:15 Identification with others in their joys and in their sorrows is a Christian's privilege and responsibility.

12:17 Never pay back evil for evil to anyone. See Matt 5:39–42,44–45; 1 Thess 5:15; 1 Pet 3:9. Respect what is right in the sight of all men. A possible reflection of Prov 3:4 in the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT). Christian conduct should never betray the high moral standards of the gospel, or it will provoke the disdain of unbelievers and bring the gospel into disrepute (see 2 Cor 8:21; 1 Tim 3:7).

12:18 If possible . . . be at peace. Jesus pronounced a blessing on peacemakers (Matt 5:9), and believers are to cultivate peace with everyone to the extent that it depends on them.

12:20 HEAP BURNING COALS ON HIS HEAD. Doing good to one's enemy (v. 21), instead of trying to take revenge, may bring about his repentance (see note on Prov 25:22).

13:1 be in subjection. A significant word in vv. 1–7. governing authorities. The civil rulers, all of whom were probably pagans at the time Paul was writing. Christians may have been tempted not to submit to them and to claim allegiance only to Christ. established by God. Even the possibility of a persecuting state did not shake Paul's conviction that civil government is ordained by God.

13:2 condemnation. Either divine judgment or, more likely, punishment by the governing authorities, since v. 3 ("For") explains this verse; see also v. 4.

13:3 Do what is good and you will have praise. Paul is not stating that this will always be true but is describing the proper, ideal function of rulers. When civil rulers overstep their proper function, the Christian is to obey God rather than man (see Acts 4:19; 5:29).

13:4 it is a minister of God. In the order of divine providence the ruler is God's servant (see Is 45:1). good. Rulers exist for the benefit of society—to protect the general public by maintaining good order. the sword. The symbol of Roman authority on both the national and the international levels. Here we find the Biblical principle of using force for the maintenance of good order.

5 Therefore it is necessary to be in subjection, not only because of wrath, but also [a]for conscience' sake.

6 For because of this you also pay taxes, for rulers are servants of God, devoting themselves to this very thing.

7 [a]Render to all what is due them: [b]tax to whom tax is due; [c]custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honor to whom honor.

8 Owe nothing to anyone except to love one another; for [a]he who loves [1]his neighbor has fulfilled the law.

9 For this, "[a]YOU SHALL NOT COMMIT ADULTERY, YOU SHALL NOT MURDER, YOU SHALL NOT STEAL, YOU SHALL NOT COVET," and if there is any other commandment, it is summed up in this saying, "[b]YOU SHALL LOVE YOUR NEIGHBOR AS YOURSELF."

10 Love [1]does no wrong to a neighbor; therefore [a]love is the fulfillment of the law.

11 Do this, knowing the time, that it is [a]already the hour for you to [b]awaken from sleep; for now [1]salvation is nearer to us than when we believed.

12 [a]The night is almost gone, and [b]the day is near. Therefore let us lay aside [c]the deeds of darkness and put on [d]the armor of light.

13 Let us [1a]behave properly as in the day, [b]not in carousing and drunkenness, not in sexual promiscuity and sensuality, not in strife and jealousy.

14 But [a]put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh [b]in regard to its lusts.

Principles of Conscience

14 Now [a]accept the one who is [b]weak in faith, but not for the purpose of passing judgment on his opinions.

2 [a]One person has faith that he may eat all things, but he who is [b]weak eats vegetables only.

3 The one who eats is not to [a]regard with contempt the one who does not eat, and the one who does not eat is not to [b]judge the one who eats, for God has [c]accepted him.

4 [a]Who are you to judge the [1]servant of another? To his own [2]master he stands or falls; and he will stand, for the Lord is able to make him stand.

13:5 for conscience' sake. Civil authorities are ordained by God, and in order to maintain a good conscience Christians must duly honor them.

13:6 you also pay taxes. Because rulers are God's agents, who function for the benefit of society in general.

13:8 except to love. To love is the one debt that is never paid off. No matter how much one has loved, he is under obligation to keep on loving. one another. Includes not only fellow Christians but all people, as the second half of the verse makes clear ("neighbor"). the law. The Mosaic law, which lays down both moral and social responsibilities.

13:9 Further explains the last statement of v. 8, namely, that love of neighbor encompasses all our social responsibilities. YOUR NEIGHBOR. Jesus taught that our neighbor is anyone in need (see Luke 10:25–37), which is probably the idea Paul has in mind here. AS YOURSELF. Not a command to love ourselves but a recognition of the fact that we naturally do so.

13:11–14 In this section, as in other NT passages, the certain coming of the end of the present age is used to provide motivation for godly living (see, e.g., Matt 25:31–46; Mark 13:33–37; James 5:7–11; 2 Pet 3:11–14).

13:11 the time. The time of salvation, the closing period of the present age, before the consummation of the kingdom. the hour. The time for action. salvation. The full realization of salvation at the second coming of Jesus Christ (see 8:23; Heb 9:28; 1 Pet 1:5). is nearer. Every day brings us closer to the second advent of Christ.

13:12 The night. The present evil age. is almost gone, and the day is near. A clear example of the NT teaching of the "nearness" of the end times (see Matt 24:33; 1 Cor 7:29; Phil 4:5; James 5:8–9; 1 Pet 4:7; 1 John 2:18). These texts do not mean that the early Christians believed that Jesus would return within a few years (and thus were mistaken). Rather, they regarded the death and resurrection of Christ as the crucial events of history that began the last days. Since the next great event in God's redemptive plan is the second coming of Jesus Christ, "the night," no matter how long chronologically it may last, is "almost gone." the day. The appearing of Jesus Christ, which ushers in the consummation of the kingdom.

13:14 put on the Lord Jesus Christ. See Gal 3:27. Paul exhorts believers to display outwardly what has already taken place inwardly—including practicing all the virtues associated with Christ.

14:1 who is weak in faith. Probably Jewish Christians at Rome who were unwilling to give up the observance of certain requirements of the law, such as dietary restrictions and the keeping of the Sabbath and other special days. Their concern was not quite the same as that of the Judaizers of Galatia. The Judaizers thought they could put God in their debt by works of righteousness and were trying to force this heretical teaching on the Galatian churches, but the "weak" Roman Christians did neither. They were not yet clear as to the status of OT regulations under the new covenant inaugurated by the coming of Christ. not for . . . passing judgment on his opinions. Fellowship among Christians is not to be based on everyone's agreement on disputable questions. Christians do not agree on all matters pertaining to the Christian life, nor do they need to.

14:2 One person has faith. In contrast, Paul now describes the "strong" Christian. Here faith is used in the sense of assurance or confidence. The strong Christian's understanding of the gospel allows him to recognize that one's diet has no spiritual significance.

14:4 of another. God's. A Christian must not reject a fellow Christian, who is also a servant of God. To his own master he stands or falls. The "weak" Christian is not the master of his "strong" brother, nor is the "strong" the master of the "weak." God is Master, and to Him alone all believers are responsible.

14:5 one day above another. Some feel that this refers primarily to the Sabbath, but it is probably a reference to all the special days of the OT ceremonial law. regards every day alike. All days are to be dedicated to God through holy living and godly service. fully convinced in his own mind. The importance of per-another, another regards every day alike. Each person must be [b]fully convinced in his own mind.

6 He who observes the day, observes it for the Lord, and he who eats, [1]does so for the Lord, for he [a]gives thanks to God; and he who eats not, for the Lord he does not eat, and gives thanks to God.

7 For not one of us [a]lives for himself, and not one dies for himself;

8 for if we live, we live for the Lord, or if we die, we die for the Lord; therefore [a]whether we live or die, we are the Lord's.

9 For to this end [a]Christ died and lived again, that He might be [b]Lord both of the dead and of the living.

10 But you, why do you judge your brother? Or you again, why do you [a]regard your brother with contempt? For [b]we will all stand before the judgment seat of God.

11 For it is written,

"[a]As I LIVE, SAYS THE LORD, [b]EVERY KNEE SHALL BOW TO ME, AND EVERY TONGUE SHALL [1]GIVE PRAISE TO GOD."

12 So then [a]each one of us will give an account of himself to God.

13 Therefore let us not [a]judge one another anymore, but rather determine this—[b]not to put an obstacle or a stumbling block in a brother's way.

14 I know and am convinced [1]in the Lord Jesus that [a]nothing is unclean in itself; but to him who [b]thinks anything to be unclean, to him it is unclean.

16 Therefore [a]do not let what is for you a good thing be [1]spoken of as evil;

17 for the kingdom of God [a]is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and [b]peace and [b]joy in the Holy Spirit.

18 For he who in this way [a]serves Christ is [b]acceptable to God and approved by men.

19 So then [1]we [a]pursue the things which make for peace and the [b]building up of one another.

20 [a]Do not tear down the work of God for the sake of food. [b]All things indeed are clean, but [c]they are evil for the man who eats [1]and gives offense.

23 But [a]he who doubts is condemned if he eats, because his eating is not from faith; and whatever is not from faith is sin.

sonal conviction in disputable matters of conduct runs through this passage (see vv. 14,16,22–23).

14:6 The motivation behind the actions of both the strong and the weak is to be the same: Both should want to serve the Lord and give thanks for His provision.

14:7 not one of us lives for himself. The reference is to "us" Christians. We do not live to please ourselves but the Lord. not one dies for himself. Even in death the important thing is one's relationship to the Lord. Paul repeats the truths of this verse in v. 8.

14:9 Lord. See note on 10:9. Christ's Lordship over both the dead and the living arises out of His death and resurrection.

14:10 why do you judge your brother? Addressed to weak Christians. why do you regard your brother with contempt? Addressed to strong Christians. we will all. Refers to every Christian. judgment seat of God. All Christians will be judged, and the judgment will be based on works (see 2 Cor 5:10; cf. 1 Cor 3:10–15).

14:13 but rather. The words that immediately follow are addressed to strong Christians. obstacle. Something that causes one to fall into sin.

14:14 I know and am convinced in the Lord Jesus. Now that Paul was a Christian, the old food taboos no longer applied (see Matt 15:10–11,16–20; Mark 7:14–23). nothing is unclean in itself. For Paul's teaching elsewhere on this subject see 1 Tim 4:4; Titus 1:15. to him who thinks anything to be unclean, to him it is unclean. Not to be generalized to mean that sin is only a matter of subjective opinion or conscience. Paul is not discussing conduct that in the light of Scripture is clearly sinful, but conduct concerning which Christians may legitimately differ (in this case, food regulations). With regard to such matters, decisions should be guided by conscience.

14:15 love. The key to proper settlement of disputes. him for whom Christ died. Christ so valued the weak brother as to die for him. Surely the strong Christian ought to be willing to make adjustments in his own behavior for the sake of such brothers.

14:16 what is for you a good thing. From your own understanding of Christian liberty. be spoken of as evil. To exercise freedom without responsibility can lead to evil results.

14:17 kingdom of God. See notes on Matt 3:2; Luke 4:43. is not eating and drinking. To be concerned with such trivial matters is to miss completely the essence of Christian living. righteousness. Righteous living. Paul's concern for the moral and ethical dimension of the Christian life stands out in all his letters. peace. See 5:1 and note. joy in the Holy Spirit. Joy given by the Holy Spirit.

14:19 the building up of one another. The spiritual building up of individual Christians and of the church (see 1:11–12).

14:20 work of God. The weak Christian brother who as a redeemed person is God's work and in whom God continues to work (cf. Eph 2:10). gives offense. Paul recognizes a strong Christian's right to certain freedoms, but qualifies it with the principle of regard for a weak brother's scruples.

14:22 have as your own conviction before God. The strong Christian is not required to go against his convictions or change his standards. Yet he is not to flaunt his Christian freedom but keep it a private matter. what he approves. Probably a reference to the eating of certain foods.

14:23 whatever. The matters discussed above, namely, conduct about which there can be legitimate differences of opinion between Christians.

Self-denial on Behalf of Others

15 Now we who are strong ought to bear the weaknesses of [a]those without strength and not just please ourselves.
2 Each of us is to [a]please his neighbor
[1]for his good, to his [b]edification.
3 For even [a]Christ did not please Himself; but as it is written, "[b]THE REPROACHES OF THOSE WHO REPROACHED YOU FELL ON ME."
4 For [a]whatever was written in earlier times was written for our instruction, so that through perseverance and the encouragement of the Scriptures we might have hope.
5 Now may the [a]God [1]who gives perseverance and encouragement grant you [b]to be of the same mind with one another according to Christ Jesus,
6 so that with one accord you may with one [1]voice glorify [a]the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.
7 Therefore, [a]accept one another, just as Christ also accepted [1]us to the glory of God.
8 For I say that Christ has become a servant to [a]the circumcision on behalf of the truth of God to confirm [b]the promises given to the fathers,
9 and for [a]the Gentiles to [b]glorify God for His mercy; as it is written,
"[c]THEREFORE I WILL [1]GIVE PRAISE TO YOU
AMONG THE GENTILES, AND I WILL SING TO YOUR NAME."
10 Again he says,
"[a]REJOICE, O GENTILES, WITH HIS PEOPLE."

11 And again,
"[a]PRAISE THE LORD ALL YOU GENTILES, AND LET ALL THE PEOPLES PRAISE HIM."
12 Again Isaiah says,
"[a]THERE SHALL COME [b]THE ROOT OF JESSE,
AND HE WHO ARISES TO RULE OVER THE GENTILES,
[c]IN HIM SHALL THE GENTILES HOPE."
13 Now may the God of hope fill you with all [a]joy and peace in believing, so that you will abound in hope [b]by the power of the Holy Spirit.
14 And concerning you, my brethren, I myself also am convinced that you yourselves are full of [a]goodness, filled with [b]all knowledge and able also to admonish one another.
15 But I have written very boldly to you on some points so as to remind you again, because of [a]the grace that was given me
[1]from God,
16 to be [a]a minister of Christ Jesus to the Gentiles, ministering as a priest the [b]gospel of God, so that my [c]offering of the Gentiles may become acceptable, sanctified by the Holy Spirit.
17 Therefore in Christ Jesus I have found
[a]reason for boasting in [b]things pertaining to God.
18 For I will not presume to speak of any-

15:1 we who are strong. Paul identifies himself with the strong Christians, those whose personal convictions allow them more freedom than the weak. to bear. Not merely to tolerate or put up with but to uphold lovingly. weaknesses. Not sins, since in the matters under discussion there is no clear guidance in Scripture. not just please ourselves. Not that a Christian should never please himself, but that he should not insist on doing what he wants without regard to the scruples of other Christians.
15:3 Christ did not please Himself. He came to do the will of the Father, not His own will. This involved suffering and even death (see Matt 20:28; Mark 10:45; 1 Cor 10:33–11:1; 2 Cor 8:9; Phil 2:5–8). THE REPROACHES OF THOSE WHO REPROACHED YOU FELL ON ME. In the psalm quoted (69:9) "you" refers to God and "me" refers to the righteous sufferer, whom Paul identifies with Christ. The quotation serves to show how Christ did not please himself, but voluntarily bore man's hostility toward God.
15:4 Here Paul defends his application of Ps 69:9 to Christ. In so doing, he states a great truth concerning the purpose of Scripture: It was written for our instruction, so that as we patiently endure we might be encouraged to hold fast our hope in Christ (see 1 Cor 10:6,11).
15:5 to be of the same mind. Not that believers should all come to the same conclusions on the matters of conscience discussed above, but that they might agree to disagree in love.
15:7 just as Christ also accepted us. See 14:3,4,15.
15:8 Christ has become a servant to the circumcision. Clearly revealed in His earthly ministry. He was sent to the Jewish people and largely limited His ministry to them (see Matt 15:24). God gave a special priority, so far as the gospel is concerned, to the Jews (see 3:1–8). promises given to the fathers. The covenant promises made to Abraham (Gen 12:1–3; 17:7; 18:19; 22:18), Isaac (Gen 26:3–4) and Jacob (Gen 28:13–15; 46:2–4).
15:9 for the Gentiles to glorify God. From the beginning, God's redemptive work in and for Israel had in view the redemption of the Gentiles (see Gen 12:3). They would both see God's mighty and gracious acts for His people and hear the praises of God's people as they celebrated what God had done for them (a common theme in the Psalms; see Paul's quotations in vv. 9b–12 and note on Ps 9:1). Thus they would come to know the true God and glorify Him for His mercy (see notes on Ps 46:10; 47:9). God's greatest and climactic act for Israel's salvation was the sending of the Messiah to fulfill the promises made to the patriarchs and so to gather in the great harvest of the Gentiles.
15:12 ROOT OF JESSE. Jesse was the father of David (see 1 Sam 16:5–13; Matt 1:6), and the Messiah was the "Son of David" (Matt 21:9). See Is 11:1; Rev 5:5. IN HIM SHALL THE GENTILES HOPE. The Gentile mission of the early church was a fulfillment of this prophecy, as is the continuing evangelization of the nations.
15:13 God of hope. Any hope the Christian has comes from God. See note on 5:5. by the power of the Holy Spirit. Hope cannot be conjured up by man's effort; it is God's gift by His Spirit (see 8:24–25).
15:15 so as to remind you again. Since Paul had never preached or taught in Rome, he may be referring to Christian doctrine generally known in the church.
15:16 minister of Christ Jesus to the Gentiles. See note on 11:13. ministering as a priest the gospel. Paul's priestly function was different from that of the Levitical priests. They were involved with the rituals of the temple, whereas he preached the gospel. my offering . . . may become acceptable, sanctified by the Holy Spirit. The offering Paul brought to God was the Gentile church.
15:17 I have found reason for boasting. Paul was not boasting of his own achievements but of what Christ had accomplished through him.

thing [1]except what [a]Christ has accomplished through me, [2]resulting in the obedience of the Gentiles by word and deed, 19 in the power of [1a]signs and wonders, [b]in the power of the Spirit; so that [c]from Jerusalem and round about as [d]far as Illyricum I have [2]fully preached the gospel of Christ.

20 And thus I aspired to [a]preach the gospel, not where Christ was already named, [b]so that I would not build on another man's foundation;

21 but as it is written,

"[a]THEY WHO HAD NO NEWS OF HIM SHALL SEE,
AND THEY WHO HAVE NOT HEARD SHALL UNDERSTAND."

22 For this reason [a]I have often been prevented from coming to you;

23 but now, with no further place for me in these regions, and since I [a]have had for many years a longing to come to you

24 whenever I [a]go to Spain—for I hope to see you in passing, and to be [b]helped on my way there by you, when I have first [c]enjoyed your company [1]for a while—

25 but now, [a]I am going to Jerusalem [b]serving the [1]saints.

26 For [a]Macedonia and [b]Achaia have been pleased to make a contribution for the poor among the [1]saints in Jerusalem.

27 Yes, they were pleased to do so, and they are indebted to them. For [a]if the Gentiles have shared in their spiritual things, they are indebted to minister to them also in material things.

28 Therefore, when I have finished this, and [a]have [1]put my seal on this fruit of theirs, I will [b]go on by way of you to Spain.

29 I know that when [a]I come to you, I will come in the fullness of the blessing of Christ.

30 Now I urge you, brethren, by our Lord Jesus Christ and by [a]the love of the Spirit, to [b]strive together with me in your prayers to God for me,

31 that I may be [a]rescued from those who are disobedient in Judea, and that my [b]service for Jerusalem may prove acceptable to the [1c]saints;

32 so that [a]I may come to you in joy by [b]the will of God and find refreshing rest in your company.

33 Now [a]the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

Greetings and Love Expressed

16 I [a]commend to you our sister Phoebe, who is a [1]servant of the church which is at [b]Cenchrea;

2 that you [a]receive her in the Lord in a manner worthy of the [1b]saints, and that you help her in whatever matter she may have need of you; for she herself has also been a helper of many, [2]and of myself as well.

3 Greet [a]Prisca and Aquila, my fellow workers [b]in [c]Christ Jesus,

4 who for my life risked their own necks, to whom not only do I give thanks, but also all the churches of the Gentiles;

5 also greet [a]the church that is in their house. Greet Epaenetus, my beloved, who is the [b]first convert to Christ from [1c]Asia.

Acts mentions nothing of his ministry there, and perhaps all he means is that he reached the border. I have fully preached the gospel. Not everyone had heard the gospel in the eastern Mediterranean, but Paul believed that his work there had been completed and it was time to move on to other places.

15:22 prevented from coming to you. Paul's great desire to complete the missionary task in the eastern Mediterranean had prevented him from making a trip to Rome.

15:23 no further place for me. Because of the principle stated in v. 20. for many years a longing to come to you. See 1:11–15.

15:24 to be helped on my way there by you. Paul wanted to use the Roman church as a base of operations for a mission to Spain. enjoyed your company for a while. More than a quick stop at Rome was contemplated (see 1:11–12).

15:25 serving the saints. Paul wanted to present the gift (see v. 26) personally to the Jerusalem church. The gift needed interpretation. It was not merely money; it represented the love and concern of the Gentile churches for their Jewish brothers and sisters. saints. Refers generally to believers in Jesus Christ (see note on 1:7).

15:26 contribution. See 1 Cor 16:1–4; 2 Cor 8–9.

15:27 their spiritual things. Especially Christ and the gospel.

15:28 this fruit. The collection from the Gentile churches.

15:31 that I may be rescued from those . . . disobedient in Judea. Paul wanted to go to Jerusalem. The delivery of the collection was important to him, but he had received warnings about what might happen to him there (see Acts 20:22–23). may prove acceptable. Perhaps a reference to the way in which the money was to be distributed—often a delicate and difficult task.

15:32 find refreshing. See 1:11–12.

15:33 God of peace. See notes on 5:1; 1 Thess 5:23.

16:1 our sister. In the sense of being a fellow believer. Phoebe. Probably the carrier of the letter to Rome. servant. One who serves or ministers in any way. When church related, as it is here, it probably refers to a specific office—woman deacon or deaconess. Cenchrea. A port located about six miles east of Corinth on the Saronic Gulf.

16:3 Prisca and Aquila. Close friends of Paul who worked in the same trade of tentmaking (see Acts 18:2–3).

16:4 for my life risked their own necks. There is no other record of this in the NT or elsewhere, but it must have been widely known, as the last part of the verse indicates.

15 Greet Philologus and Julia, Nereus and his sister, and Olympas, and all [a]the [1]saints who are with them.

16 [a]Greet one another with a holy kiss. All the churches of Christ greet you.

17 Now I urge you, brethren, keep your eye on those who cause dissensions and [1]hindrances [a]contrary to the teaching which you learned, and [b]turn away from them.

18 For such men are [a]slaves, not of our Lord Christ but of [b]their own [1]appetites; and by their [c]smooth and flattering speech they deceive the hearts of the unsuspecting.

19 For the report of your obedience [a]has reached to all; therefore I am rejoicing over you, but [b]I want you to be wise in what is good and innocent in what is evil.

20 [a]The God of peace will soon crush [b]Satan under your feet.

16:6 Mary. Six persons are known by this name in the NT. This one is unknown apart from this reference.

16:7 Junias. A feminine name. among the apostles. Two interpretations are given: 1. "Apostles" is used in a wider sense than the twelve—to include preachers of the gospel recognized by the churches (see Acts 14:4,14; 1 Thess 2:6). 2. "Apostles" is preceded by the definite article, which may indicate that the twelve are in view. In this case, the meaning would be that these two persons were outstanding "in the opinion of" the apostles.

16:8–10 Ampliatus . . . Urbanus . . . Stachys . . . Apelles. All common slave names found in the imperial household.

16:10 Aristobulus. Perhaps refers to the grandson of Herod the Great and brother of Herod Agrippa I.

16:11 my kinsman. Perhaps a reference to his being a Jew. Narcissus. Sometimes identified with Tiberius Claudius Narcissus, a wealthy freedman of the Roman emperor Tiberius.

16:12 Tryphaena and Tryphosa. Perhaps sisters, even twins, because it was common for such persons to be given names from the same root. Persis. Means "Persian woman."

16:14–15 None of these persons can be further identified, except that they were slaves or freedmen in the Roman church.

16:16 holy kiss. See 1 Cor 16:20; 2 Cor 13:12; 1 Thess 5:26; 1 Pet 5:14. Justin Martyr (A.D. 150) tells us that the holy kiss was a regular part of the worship service in his day. It is still a practice in some churches.

16:17–20 A theological application of the story of man's fall (Gen 3).

16:17 those who cause dissensions and hindrances. Who these people were we cannot tell, but some of their characteristics are mentioned in v. 18.

16:19 wise in what is good. Christians are to be experts in doing good.

16:20 God of peace. See 15:33. will soon crush Satan. A reference to Satan's final doom (cf. Gen 3:15). For "soon" see note on 13:12.

16:21 Jason. Possibly the Jason mentioned in Acts 17:5–9. Sosipater. Probably Sopater son of Pyrrhus from Berea (see Acts 20:4).

16:22 I, Tertius, who write this letter. Not mentioned elsewhere in the NT. He had functioned as Paul's secretary.

16:23 Gaius. Usually identified with Titius Justus, a God-fearer, in whose house Paul stayed while in Corinth (see Acts 18:7; 1 Cor 1:14). His full name would be Gaius Titius Justus. whole church. In Corinth. Erastus. At Corinth archaeologists have discovered a reused block of stone in a paved square, with the Latin inscription: "Erastus, commissioner of public works, bore the expense of this pavement." This may refer to the Erastus mentioned here. If it does, it is the earliest reference to a Christian by name outside the NT. He may also be the same person referred to in Acts 19:22 and 2 Tim 4:20, though it is difficult to be certain because the name was fairly common. Quartus. Means "fourth (son)."

16:25 my gospel. Not a gospel different from that preached by others, but a gospel Paul received by direct revelation (see Gal 1:12). preaching of Jesus Christ. A description of the gospel; it is about Jesus Christ, who is its content. mystery. See note on 11:25. for long ages. From eternity past (see 1 Cor 2:6–10).

16:26 manifested, and by the Scriptures of the prophet. See 1:2. all the nations. The universality of the gospel (see Matt 28:19).

16:27 to . . . God . . . be the glory. The ultimate purpose of all things.

1 Corinthians

Author and Date

Paul is acknowledged as the author both by the letter itself (1:1–2; 16:21) and by the early church fathers. His authorship was attested by Clement of Rome as early as A.D. 96, and today practically all NT scholars concur. The letter was written c. 55 toward the close of Paul's three-year residency in Ephesus (see 16:5–9; Acts 20:31). It is clear from his reference to staying at Ephesus until Pentecost (16:8) that he intended to remain there somewhat less than a year when he wrote 1 Corinthians.

The City of Corinth

It has been estimated that in Paul's day Corinth had a population of about 250,000 free persons, plus as many as 400,000 slaves. In a number of ways it was the chief city of Greece.

1. Its commerce. Located just off the Corinthian isthmus, it was a crossroads for travelers and traders. It had two harbors: (1) Cenchrea, six miles to the east on the Saronic Gulf, and (2) Lechaion, a mile and a half to the west on the Corinthian Gulf. Goods flowed across the isthmus on the Diolkos, a road by which smaller ships could be hauled fully loaded across the isthmus, and by which cargoes of larger ships could be transported by wagons from one side to the other. Goods flowed through the city from Italy and Spain to the west and from Asia Minor, Phoenicia and Egypt to the east.

2. Its culture. Although Corinth was not a university town like Athens, it was characterized nevertheless by typical Greek culture. Its people were interested in Greek philosophy and placed a high premium on wisdom.

3. Its religion. Corinth contained at least 12 temples. Whether they were all in use during Paul's time is not known for certain. One of the most infamous was the temple dedicated to Aphrodite, the goddess of love, whose worshipers practiced religious prostitution. About a fourth of a mile north of the theater stood the temple of Asclepius, the god of healing, and in the middle of the city the sixth-century B.C. temple of Apollo was located. In addition, the Jews had established a synagogue; the inscribed lintel of it has been found and placed in the museum at old Corinth.

4. Its immorality. Like any large commercial city, Corinth was a center for open and unbridled immorality. The worship of Aphrodite fostered prostitution in the name of religion. At one time 1,000 sacred prostitutes served her temple. So widely known did the immorality of Corinth become that the Greek verb "to Corinthianize" came to mean "to practice sexual immorality." In a setting like this it is no wonder that the Corinthian church was plagued with numerous problems.

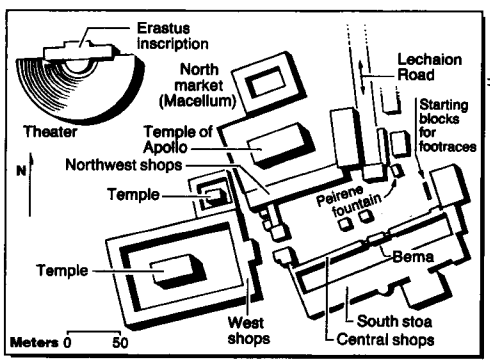
Occasion and Purpose

Paul had received information from several sources concerning the conditions existing in the church at Corinth. Some members of the household of Chloe had informed him of the factions that had developed in the church (1:11). There were three individuals—Stephanas, Fortunatus and Achaicus—who had come to Paul in Ephesus to make some contribution to his ministry (16:17), but whether these were the ones from Chloe's household we do not know.

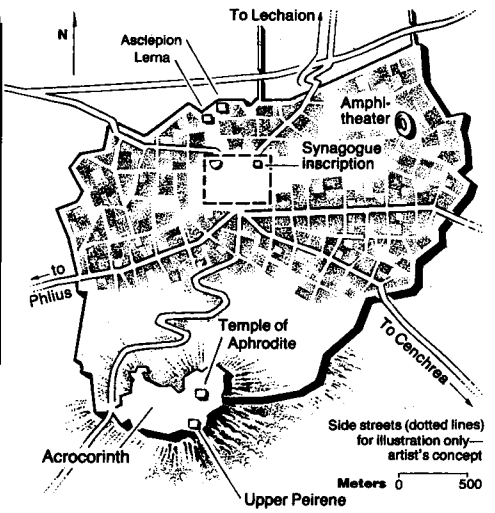
Some of those who had come had brought disturbing information concerning moral irregularities in the church (chs. 5—6). Immorality had plagued the Corinthian assembly almost from the beginning. From 5:9–10 it is apparent that Paul had written previously concerning moral laxness. He had urged believers "not to associate with immoral people" (5:9). Because of misunderstanding he now finds it necessary to clarify his instruction (5:10–11) and to urge immediate and drastic action (5:3–5,13).

Other Corinthian visitors had brought a letter from the church that requested counsel on several subjects (see 7:1; cf. 8:1; 12:1; 16:1).

It is clear that, although the church was gifted (see 1:4–7), it was immature and unspiritual (3:1–4). Paul's purposes for writing were: (1) to instruct and restore the church in its areas of weakness, correcting erroneous practices such as divisions (1:10—4:21), immorality (ch. 5; 6:12–20), litigation in pagan courts (6:1–8) and abuse of the Lord's Supper (11:17–34); (2) to correct false teaching concerning the resurrection (ch. 15); and (3) to give instruction concerning the offering for poverty-stricken believers in Jerusalem (16:1–4).



Theme



The letter revolves around the theme of problems in Christian conduct in the church. It thus has to do with progressive sanctification, the continuing development of holiness of character. Obviously Paul was personally concerned with the Corinthians' problems, revealing a true pastor's (shepherd's) heart.

Relevance

This letter is timely for the church today, both to instruct and to inspire. Most of the questions and problems that confronted the church at Corinth are still very much with us—problems like immaturity, instability, divisions, jealousy and envy, lawsuits, marital difficulties, sexual immorality and misuse of spiritual gifts. Yet in spite of this concentration on problems, the book contains some of the most familiar and beloved chapters in the entire Bible—e.g., ch. 13 (on love) and ch. 15 (on resurrection).

Corinth in the Time of Paul

The city of Corinth, perched like a one-eyed Titan astride the narrow isthmus connecting the Greek mainland with the Peloponnese, was one of the dominant commercial centers of the Hellenic world as early as the eighth century B.C.

No city in Greece was more favorably situated for land and sea trade. With a high, strong citadel at its back, it lay between the Saronic Gulf and the Ionian Sea and ports at Lechaion and Cenchrea. A diolkos, or stone tramway for the overland transport of ships, linked the two seas. Crowning the Acrocorinth was the temple of Aphrodite, served, according to Strabo, by more than 1,000 pagan priestess-prostitutes.

By the time the gospel reached Corinth in the spring of A.D. 52, the city had a proud history of leadership in the Achaian League, and a spirit of revived Hellenism under Roman domination following the destruction of the city by Mummius in 146 B.C.

Paul's lengthy stay in Corinth brought him directly in contact with the major monuments of the agora, many of which still survive. The fountain-house of the spring Peirene, the temple of Apollo, the macellum or meat market (1 Cor 10:25) and the theater, the bema (Acts 18:12), and the unimpressive synagogue all played a part in the experience of the apostle. An inscription from the theater names the city official Erastus, probably the friend of Paul mentioned in Rom 16:23.

Appeal to Unity

1 Paul, [a]called as an apostle of Jesus Christ [1]by [b]the will of God, and [c]Sosthenes our [d]brother,

2 To [a]the church of God which is at [b]Corinth, to those who have been sanctified in Christ Jesus, [1]saints [c]by calling, with all who in every place [d]call on the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, their Lord and ours:

3 [a]Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 [a]I thank [1]my God always concerning you for the grace of God which was given you in Christ Jesus,

5 that in everything you were [a]enriched in Him, in all [b]speech and [b]all knowledge,

6 even as [a]the testimony concerning Christ was confirmed [1]in you,

7 so that you are not lacking in any gift, [a]awaiting eagerly the revelation of our Lord Jesus Christ,

8 [a]who will also confirm you to the end, blameless in [b]the day of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 [a]God is faithful, through whom you were [b]called into [c]fellowship with His Son, Jesus Christ our Lord.

10 Now [a]I exhort you, [b]brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that you all [1]agree and that there be no [2c]divisions among you, but that you be [3]made complete in [d]the same mind and in the same judgment.

11 For I have been informed concerning you, my brethren, by Chloe's people, that there are quarrels among you.

12 Now I mean this, that [a]each one of you is saying, "I am of Paul," and "I of [b]Apollos," and "I of [c]Cephas," and "I of Christ."

13 [1]Has Christ been divided? Paul was not crucified for you, was he? Or were you [a]baptized [2]in the name of Paul?

14 [1]I thank God that I [a]baptized none of you except [a]Crispus and [b]Gaius, 15 so that no one would say you were baptized [1]in my name.

16 Now I did baptize also the [a]household of Stephanas; beyond that, I do not know whether I baptized any other.

17 [a]For Christ did not send me to baptize, but to preach the gospel, [b]not in [1]cleverness of speech, so that the cross of Christ would not be made void.

The Wisdom of God

18 For the word of the cross is [a]foolishness to [b]those who [1]are perishing, but to us who [2]are being saved it is [c]the power of God.

19 For it is written,

"[a]I WILL DESTROY THE WISDOM OF THE WISE,

1:1 Paul. The Greek custom was to begin a letter with the writer's name. For more information on Paul see notes on Acts 9:1; Phil 3:4–14. apostle of Jesus Christ. See notes on Mark 6:30; Heb 3:1. Paul uses this title in all his letters (except Philippians, 1,2 Thessalonians and Philemon) to establish his authority as Christ's messenger—an authority that had been challenged (see ch. 9; 2 Cor 11). He reinforces his authority by adding "by the will of God," i.e., by divine initiative. Sosthenes. Perhaps the synagogue ruler at Corinth who was assaulted by the Greeks (Acts 18:17). If so, he obviously became a Christian—possibly while Paul was preaching at Corinth (Acts 18:18) or during Apollos's ministry there (Acts 19:1).

1:2 church of God. Used only by Paul and only in Acts 20:28, here and 2 Cor 1:1. Its OT counterpart is the expression "assembly (or community) of the LORD" (see Deut 23:1; see also Num 16:3; 20:4; 1 Chr 28:8). sanctified. Set apart for the Lord. It can also mean "made holy," which is done by (1) being declared holy through faith in Christ's atoning death on the cross (sometimes called positional sanctification), and (2) being made holy by the work of the Holy Spirit in the lives of Christians (sometimes called progressive sanctification). In spite of the fact that Paul found much in the Corinthian Christians to criticize, he still called them "sanctified"—not because of their conduct, but because of their relationship to Christ (positional sanctification).

1:3 Grace . . . and peace. See notes on Jon 4:2; John 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.

1:4 thank. See Rom 1:8.

1:5 speech and . . . knowledge. Gifts of the Spirit (see 12:8; also 2 Cor 8:7).

1:6 confirmed. Paul's preaching about Christ had been accepted by the Corinthians, and they had proved it to be true.

1:7 any gift. Probably refers to the spiritual gifts of chs. 12–14. According to those chapters, a spiritual gift is a manifestation of the Holy Spirit enabling one to minister to the needs of Christ's body, the church (see 12:7–11; 14:3,12,17). The Greek word used here stresses that it is a gift of grace.

1:8 who. God the Father. the end. Of the age, when Christ comes again. in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ. When He returns (v. 7; Phil 1:6).

1:9 God is faithful. He may be trusted to do what He has promised (1 Thess 5:24), namely, to "confirm you to the end" (v. 8).

1:10 brethren. In Christ believers have a unity similar to that of blood brothers and sisters. Paul is referring to both men and women (see 16:20; Rom 16:3,6–7,12–13,15).

1:11 quarrels. See Gal 5:20; James 4:1–2.

1:12 Apollos. He had carried on a fruitful ministry in Corinth (Acts 18:24–28; 19:1). Cephas. Peter. It has been suggested that those who followed Peter in Corinth were Jewish Christians.

1:13 Has Christ been divided? See 12:12–13. in the name of Paul? Implies becoming a follower or intimate associate.

1:16 household. Other examples of households being baptized are those of Cornelius (Acts 10:24, 48), Lydia (Acts 16:15) and the Philippian jailer (Acts 16:33–34). The term may include family members, servants or anyone who lived in the house. Stephanas. See 16:15,17.

1:17 not . . . to baptize. Paul is not minimizing baptism; rather, he is asserting that his God-given task was primarily to preach. Jesus (John 4:2) and Peter (Acts 10:48) also had others baptize for them. cleverness of speech. Lit. "wisdom of speech." Paul's mission was not to couch the gospel in the language of the trained orator, who had studied the techniques of influencing people by persuasive arguments.

1:19 The quotation is from Is 29:14, where God denounced the policy of the "wise" in Judah in seeking an alliance with Egypt

AND THE CLEVERNESS OF THE CLEVER I WILL SET ASIDE."

20 [a]Where is the wise man? Where is the scribe? Where is the debater of [b]this age? Has not God [c]made foolish the wisdom of [d]the world?

21 For since in the wisdom of God [a]the world through its wisdom did not come to know God, [b]God was well-pleased through the [c]foolishness of the [1]message preached to [d]save those who believe.

22 For indeed [a]Jews ask for [1]signs and Greeks search for wisdom;

23 but we preach [1][a]Christ crucified, [b]to Jews a stumbling block and to Gentiles [c]foolishness,

24 but to those who are [a]the called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ [b]the power of God and [c]the wisdom of God.

25 Because the [a]foolishness of God is wiser than men, and [b]the weakness of God is stronger than men.

26 For [1]consider your [a]calling, brethren, that there were [b]not many wise according to [2]the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble;

27 but [a]God has chosen the foolish things of [b]the world to shame the wise, and God has chosen the weak things of [b]the world to shame the things which are strong,

28 and the base things of [a]the world and the despised God has chosen, [b]the things that are not, so that He may [c]nullify the things that are,

29 so that [a]no [1]man may boast before God.

30 But [1]by His doing you are in [a]Christ Jesus, who became to us [b]wisdom from God, [2]and [c]righteousness and [d]sanctification, and [e]redemption,

31 so that, just as it is written, "[a]LET HIM WHO BOASTS, BOAST IN THE LORD."

Paul's Reliance upon the Spirit

2 And when I came to you, brethren, I [a]did not come with superiority of speech or of wisdom, proclaiming to you [b]the [1]testimony of God.

2 For I determined to know nothing among you except [a]Jesus Christ, and Him crucified.

3 I was with you in [a]weakness and in [b]fear and in much trembling,

4 and my [1]message and my preaching were [a]not in persuasive words of wisdom, but in demonstration of [b]the Spirit and of power,

5 so that your faith would not [1]rest on the wisdom of men, but on [a]the power of God.

6 Yet we do speak wisdom among those who are [a]mature; a wisdom, however, not of [b]this age nor of the rulers of [b]this age, who are [c]passing away;

7 but we speak God's wisdom in a [a]mystery, the hidden wisdom which God [b]predestined before the [c]ages to our glory;

when threatened by King Sennacherib of Assyria. THE WISE. Aristides said that on every street in Corinth one met a so-called wise man, who had his own solutions to the world's problems.

1:20 wise man. Probably a reference to Gentile philosophers in general. scribe. Probably the Jewish teacher of the law (see note on Matt 2:4). debater of this age. Probably refers to the Greek sophists, who engaged in long and subtle disputes. God made foolish the wisdom of the world. All humanly devised philosophical systems end in meaninglessness because they have a wrong concept of God and His revelation.

1:21 wisdom . . . foolishness. Jesus expresses a similar thought in Luke 10:21. It is God's intention that worldly wisdom should not be the means of knowing Him. foolishness of the message preached. Not that preaching is foolish, but that the message being preached (Christ crucified) is viewed by the world as foolish.

1:22 Greeks search for wisdom. True of Greeks in general, but especially of the Greek philosophers.

1:23 Christ crucified. See 2:2. to Jews a stumbling block. They expected a triumphant, political Messiah (Acts 1:6), not a crucified one. to Gentiles foolishness. Greeks and Romans were sure that no reputable person would be crucified, so it was unthinkable that a crucified criminal could be the Savior.

1:24 power. See Rom 1:4,16; Mark 12:24. wisdom. See v. 30. The crucified Christ is the power that saves and the wisdom that transforms seeming folly into ultimate and highest discernment.

1:26–31 The Corinthian Christians themselves were living proof that salvation does not depend on anything in man, so that when someone is saved, he must boast in the Lord (v. 31).

1:30 by His doing you are in Christ. It is God who has called you to union and communion with Christ. righteousness. It is by faith in Christ that we are justified (declared righteous); see Rom 5:19. sanctification. See note on v. 2. redemption. See note on Rom 3:24.

2:1 when I came to you. On his initial trip to Corinth C. A.D. 51 (Acts 18). with superiority of speech or of wisdom. See note on 1:17. Perhaps Apollos (Acts 18:24–28) had influenced the Corinthians in such a way that they were placing undue emphasis on eloquence and intellectual ability.

2:2 know nothing . . . except Jesus Christ. Paul resolved to make Christ the sole subject of his teaching and preaching while he was with them. Jesus Christ. See 1:30. Him crucified. See 1:17–18,23.

2:4 not in persuasive words of wisdom. This does not give preachers a license to neglect study and preparation. Paul's letters reveal a great deal of knowledge in many areas of learning, and his eloquence is apparent in his address before the Areopagus (see Acts 17:22–31 and notes). Paul's point is that unless the Holy Spirit works in a listener's heart, the wisdom and eloquence of a preacher are ineffective. Paul's confidence as a preacher did not rest on intellectual and oratorical ability, as did that of the Greek orators (see note on 1:17). demonstration. The Greek word is used of producing proofs in an argument in court. Paul's preaching was marked by the convincing demonstration of the power of the Holy Spirit.

2:6 mature. Wise, developed Christians; contrast the "infants" mentioned in 3:1 (see Heb 5:13–6:3).

2:7 mystery. Cf. Rom 16:25–26; Eph 3:4–5; 1 Tim 3:16. The mys-

8 the wisdom [a]which none of the rulers of [b]this age has understood; for if they had understood it they would not have crucified [c]the Lord of glory;

9 but just as it is written,

"[a]THINGS WHICH EYE HAS NOT SEEN AND EAR HAS NOT HEARD,
AND which HAVE NOT ENTERED THE HEART

ALL THAT GOD HAS PREPARED FOR THOSE WHO LOVE HIM."

10 [1][a]For to us God revealed them [b]through the Spirit; for the Spirit searches all things, even the [c]depths of God.

11 For who among men knows the thoughts of a man except the [a]spirit of the man which is in him? Even so the thoughts of God no one knows except the Spirit of God.

12 Now we [a]have received, not the spirit of [b]the world, but the Spirit who is from God, so that we may know the things freely given to us by God, 13 which things we also speak, [a]not in words taught by human wisdom, but in those taught by the Spirit, [1]combining spiritual thoughts with spiritual words.

14 But [1]a [a]natural man [b]does not accept the things of the Spirit of God, for they are [c]foolishness to him; and he cannot understand them, because they are spiritually [2]appraised.

15 But he who is [a]spiritual appraises all things, yet he himself is appraised by no one.

16 FOR [a]WHO HAS KNOWN THE MIND OF THE LORD, THAT HE WILL INSTRUCT HIM? But [b]we have the mind of Christ.

Foundations for Living

3 And I, brethren, could not speak to you as to [a]spiritual men, but as to [b]men of flesh, as to [c]infants in Christ.

2 I gave you [a]milk to drink, not solid food; for you [b]were not yet able to receive it. Indeed, even now you are not yet able,

3 for you are still fleshly. For since there is [a]jealousy and strife among you, are you not fleshly, and are you not walking [1][b]like mere men?

4 For when [a]one says, "I am of Paul," and another, "I am of Apollos," are you not mere [b]men?

5 What then is Apollos? And what is Paul? [a]Servants through whom you believed, even [b]as the Lord gave opportunity to each one.

6 [a]I planted, [b]Apollos watered, but [c]God was causing the growth.

7 So then neither the one who plants nor the one who waters is anything, but God who causes the growth.

8 Now he who plants and he who waters are one; but each will [a]receive his own [1]reward according to his own labor.

9 For we are God's [a]fellow workers; you are God's [1][b]field, God's [c]building.

10 According to [a]the grace of God which was given to me, like a wise master builder [b]I laid a foundation, and [c]another is building on it. But each man must be careful how he builds on it.

tery, or secret, was once hidden but is now known because God has revealed it to His people (v. 10). To unbelievers it is still hidden. to our glory. God's wisdom will cause every believer to share eventually in Christ's glory (Rom 8:17).

2:8 rulers of this age. Such as the chief priests (Luke 24:20), Pilate and Herod Antipas (cf. Acts 4:27). crucified the Lord of glory. The cross is here contrasted with the majesty of the victim.

2:9 ALL THAT GOD HAS PREPARED. Probably not to be limited to either present or future blessing; both are involved (cf. vv. 7,12).

2:10 Spirit searches all things. Not in order to know them, for He knows all things. Instead He comprehends the depth of God's nature and His plans of grace; so He is fully competent to make the revelation claimed here.

2:12 spirit of the world. Cf. v. 6 ("wisdom . . . of this age"); the spirit of human wisdom as alienated from God—the attitude of the sinful nature (Rom 8:6–7).

2:13 those taught by the Spirit. The message Paul proclaimed was expressed in words given by the Holy Spirit. Thus spiritual truth was aptly combined with fitting spiritual words.

2:14–3:4 This passage explains why many fail to apprehend true wisdom (2:9). It is because such wisdom is perceived by the spiritual (mature) Christian (2:14–16; cf. v. 6). The Corinthians, however, were worldly (infant) believers (3:1–4), and the proof of their immaturity was their division over human leaders (3:3–4).

2:14 natural man. Described in Jude 19 as one who is "worldly-minded" (cf. Rom 8:9). The non-Christian is basically dominated by the merely physical, worldly or natural life. Because he does not possess the Holy Spirit, he is not equipped to receive appreciatively truth that comes from the Spirit. Such a person needs the new birth (John 3:1–8; Titus 3:5–6). foolishness. See 1:18.

2:15 spiritual. Mature (v. 6). appraised by no one. One who does not have the Spirit is not qualified to judge the spiritual person. Thus believers are not rightfully subject to the opinions of unbelievers.

3:1 brethren. See note on 1:10. spiritual. See note on 2:15. men of flesh. See note on 2:14–3:4.

3:2 milk . . . not solid food. See notes on Heb 5:12–14.

3:3 like mere men. Like men of the world instead of men of God. They were following merely human standards.

3:4 I am of Paul . . . Apollos. See 1:12.

3:6 I planted. See Acts 18:4–11. Paul's work was of a pioneer nature, preaching where no one had ever preached before. Apollos watered. See Acts 18:24–28. Apollos worked in the established church, edifying the converts Paul had won.

3:9 God's field. The people are God's farm. God's building. They are also depicted as God's temple (vv. 16–17). He owns the farm and the building where both Paul and Apollos worked.

3:10 I laid a foundation. By preaching Christ and Him crucified (2:2). another. Apollos.

11 For no man can lay a [a]foundation other than the one which is laid, which is Jesus Christ.

12 Now if any man builds on the foundation with gold, silver, [1]precious stones, wood, hay, straw, 13 [a]each man's work will become evident; for [b]the day will show it because it is to be revealed with fire, and the fire itself will test [1]the quality of each man's work.

14 If any man's work which he has built on it remains, he will [a]receive a reward.

15 If any man's work is burned up, he will suffer loss; but he himself will be saved, yet [a]so as through fire.

16 [a]Do you not know that [b]you are a [1]temple of God and that the Spirit of God dwells in you?

17 If any man destroys the [1]temple of God, God will destroy him, for the [1]temple of God is holy, and [2]that is what you are.

18 [a]Let no man deceive himself. [b]If any man among you thinks that he is wise in [c]this age, he must become foolish, so that he may become wise.

19 For [a]the wisdom of this world is foolishness before God. For it is written, "He is [b]THE ONE WHO CATCHES THE WISE IN THEIR CRAFTINESS";

20 and again, "[a]THE LORD KNOWS THE REASONINGS of the wise, THAT THEY ARE USELESS."

21 So then [a]let no one boast in men. For [b]all things belong to you,

22 [a]whether Paul or Apollos or Cephas or the world or [b]life or death or things present or things to come; all things belong to you,

23 and [a]you belong to Christ; and [b]Christ belongs to God.

Servants of Christ

4 Let a man regard us in this manner, as [a]servants of Christ and [b]stewards of [c]the mysteries of God.

2 In this case, moreover, it is required [1]of stewards that one be found trustworthy.

3 But to me it is a very small thing that I may be examined by you, or by any human [1]court; in fact, I do not even examine myself.

4 For I [a]am conscious of nothing against myself, yet I am not by this [b]acquitted; but the one who examines me is the Lord.

5 Therefore [a]do not go on [1]passing judgment before [2]the time, but wait [b]until the Lord comes who will both [c]bring to light the things hidden in the darkness and disclose the motives of men's hearts; and then each man's [d]praise will come to him from God.

6 Now these things, brethren, I have figuratively applied to myself and Apollos for your sakes, so that in us you may learn not to exceed [a]what is written, so that no one of you will [b]become [1]arrogant [c]in behalf of one against the other.

7 For who regards you as superior? [a]What do you have that you did not receive? And if you did receive it, why do you boast as if you had not received it?

8 You are [a]already filled, you have already become rich, you have become kings without us; and indeed, I wish that you had become kings so that we also might reign with you.

3:12 gold, silver, precious stones. Precious, durable work that stands the test of divine judgment; symbolic of pure Christian doctrine and living. wood, hay, straw. Worthless work that will not stand the test; symbolic of weak, insipid teaching and life.
3:13 Cf. 4:5; 2 Cor 5:10. the day. See note on 1:8. fire. God's judgment. The work of some believers will stand the test while that of others will disappear—emphasizing the importance of teaching the pure word of God.
3:15 loss. Of reward (v. 14). as through fire. Perhaps a Greek proverbial phrase, meaning "by a narrow escape," with one's work burned up by the fire of God's pure justice and judgment.
3:16 temple of God. God's church. Paul does not mean here that each of his readers is a temple of the Holy Spirit. He says, "You yourselves (plural) are God's temple (singular)." In 6:19 he speaks of each Christian as a temple of the Holy Spirit.
3:17 God will destroy him. Strong language, indicating that such a foolish laborer is not one of the Lord's true servants. This is in contrast to the thought of v. 15, where the faulty Christian worker is saved, but his work is destroyed (he suffers loss of reward). In the context of chs. 1–4 Paul here refers to people who tear the local church apart by factions and quarrels (1:11–12). holy. Sacred, set apart for God's use and glory; so do not desecrate the church by breaking it up into various factions.
3:18 become foolish. Turn away from human wisdom (from being "wise in this age"). Cf. 1:18. become wise. Cf. 1:21, 24.
3:21 in men. About being some man's disciple (see 1:12; 3:4; cf. 1:31; 4:6). all things belong to you. All these Christian leaders belong to the whole church. No group can call one leader its very own (see vv. 22–23).
3:23 you belong to Christ. You are united with and belong to Christ. Christ belongs to God. Christ is in union with God the Father (John 10:30) and with God the Holy Spirit (2 Cor 13:14). Similarly, Christians are in union with the church's true leaders (v. 22) and with Christ (v. 23), who in turn is in union with the other members of the Trinity.
4:1 stewards. The Greek underlying this phrase means "house manager." mysteries. Things that human wisdom cannot discover but that are now revealed by God to His people (see note on Rom 11:25).
4:3 not even examine myself. His judgment was merely human, and his conscience may be mistaken (v. 4). Only God is fully qualified to judge.
4:5 the time. When God will judge believers (see 3:13). disclose the motives. Cf. Ps 19:12; 139:23–24; Heb 4:12–13.
4:6 these things. See 3:5–4:5. learn not to exceed what is written. Perhaps a proverb common among the rabbis. what is written. In Scripture. Our view of man should be Biblical (cf. v. 7; 1:9, 31; 3:19–20; Rom 12:3). We should recognize man's weakness and ever-present limitations. become arrogant. One of the root causes of divisions.
4:8 Paul uses irony and sarcasm here to get the Corinthians to see how poor they really are because of their haughtiness and spiritual immaturity in comparison with apostles.

tles last of all, as men [a]condemned to death; because we [b]have become a spectacle to the world, [1]both to angels and to men.

10 We are [a]fools for Christ's sake, but [b]you are prudent in Christ; [c]we are weak, but you are strong; you are distinguished, but we are without honor.

11 To this present hour we are both [a]hungry and thirsty, and are poorly clothed, and are roughly treated, and are homeless;

12 and we toil, [a]working with our own hands; when we are [b]reviled, we bless; when we are [c]persecuted, we endure;

13 when we are slandered, we try to [1]conciliate; we have [a]become as the scum of the world, the dregs of all things, even until now.

14 I do not write these things to [a]shame you, but to admonish you as my beloved [b]children.

15 For if you were to have countless [a]tutors in Christ, yet you would not have many fathers, for in [b]Christ Jesus I [c]became your father through the [d]gospel.

16 Therefore I exhort you, be [a]imitators of me.

17 For this reason I [a]have sent to you [b]Timothy, who is my [c]beloved and faithful child in the Lord, and he will remind you of my ways which are in Christ, [d]just as I teach everywhere in every church.

Immorality Rebuked

4:9 apostles. See note on 1:1. spectacle. "Theater" is derived from the Greek word used here. Paul refers to the gladiatorial contests in the arena (or perhaps to the triumphal procession of a victorious Roman general). He pictures all the world and even angels looking on while the apostles are brought in last to fight to the death.
4:10 More irony.
4:11–13 A graphic description of Paul's condition in Ephesus right up to the writing of this letter.
4:12 we toil, working with our own hands. Paul was a tentmaker by trade (Acts 18:3; cf. 20:34–35; 1 Cor 9:6,18). we bless. See Matt 5:44. endure. Instead of retaliating.
4:14 my beloved children. See v. 15.
4:15 your father. See 3:6,10.
4:18 some. Some of the Corinthians who were trying to undercut Paul's authority (see 9:1–3) were teaching that he was unstable (2 Cor 1:17) and that his ministry was not important (2 Cor 10:10).
4:19 arrogant. See 5:2.
4:20 kingdom of God. God's present reign in the lives of His people—that dynamic new life in Christ (2 Cor 5:17), the power of the new birth (John 3:3–8), showing itself in a humble life, dedicated to Christ and His church. not . . . in words but in power. Idle, empty talk is contrasted with the genuine power of the Holy Spirit.
5:1 not . . . even among the Gentiles. The Roman orator Cicero states that incest was practically unheard of in Roman society. his father's wife. That this expression was used rather than "his mother" suggests that the woman was his stepmother. The OT prohibited such sexual relations (Lev 18:8; Deut 27:20).
5:2 arrogant. Evidently proud of their liberty—a distortion of grace. removed from your midst. Excommunicated from the church (cf. John 9:22).
5:4 In the name of our Lord Jesus, when you are assembled. The Corinthians are to pass judgment on the man by the authority of the Lord Jesus. the power of our Lord Jesus. Jesus' power is present through His word and His Holy Spirit.
5:5 deliver such a one to Satan. Abandon this sinful man to the devil that he may afflict the man as he pleases. This abandonment to Satan was to be accomplished, not by some magical incantation, but by expelling the man from the church (see v. 13; also vv. 2,7,11). To expel him was to put him out in the devil's territory, severed from any connection with God's people. for the destruction of his flesh. Satan is allowed to bring physical affliction on the man, which would bring him to repentance. his spirit may be saved. Cf. 3:15. The person put out of the church may well be a Christian. day of the Lord Jesus. When Christ returns (see 1:7).
5:6 a little leaven . . . the whole lump of dough. To illustrate Christian holiness and discipline, Paul alludes to the prohibition against the use of leaven (or yeast) in the bread eaten in the Passover Feast (see Ex 12:15). Leaven in Scripture usually symbolizes evil or sin (see note on Mark 8:15), and the church here is called on to get rid of the leaven of sin (v. 8) because they are an unleavened batch of dough—new creations in Christ (2 Cor 5:17).
5:7 Clean out the old leaven. Perhaps refers to the Passover custom of sweeping all the (leavened) bread crumbs out of one's may be a new lump, just as you are in fact unleavened. For Christ our [a]Passover also has been sacrificed.

8 Therefore let us celebrate the feast, [a]not with old leaven, nor with the leaven of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.

9 I wrote you in my letter [a]not to associate with immoral people;

10 I did not at all mean with the immoral people of this world, or with the covetous and swindlers, or with [a]idolaters, for then you would have to go out of the world.

11 But [1]actually, I wrote to you not to associate [2]with any so-called [a]brother if he is an immoral person, or covetous, or [b]an idolater, or a reviler, or a drunkard, or a swindler—not even to eat with such a one.

12 For what have I to do with judging [a]outsiders? [b]Do you not judge those who are within the church?

13 But those who are outside, God [1]judges. [a]REMOVE THE WICKED MAN FROM AMONG YOURSELVES.

Lawsuits Discouraged

6 Does any one of you, when he has a [1]case against his neighbor, dare to go to law before the unrighteous and [a]not before the [2]saints?

2 Or [a]do you not know that [b]the [1]saints will judge [c]the world? If the world is judged by you, are you not competent to [2]constitute the smallest law courts?

3 [a]Do you not know that we will judge angels? How much more matters of this life?

4 So if you have law courts dealing with matters of this life, [1]do you appoint them as judges who are of no account in the church?

5 [a]I say this to your shame. Is it so, that there is not among you one wise man who will be able to decide between his [b]brethren,

6 but brother goes to law with brother, and that before [a]unbelievers?

7 Actually, then, it is already a defeat for you, that you have lawsuits with one another. [a]Why not rather be wronged? Why not rather be defrauded?

8 On the contrary, you yourselves wrong and defraud. You do this even to your [a]brethren.

9 Or [a]do you not know that the unrighteous will not [b]inherit the kingdom of God? [c]Do not be deceived; [d]neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor [1]effeminate, nor homosexuals, house before preparing the Passover meal. as you are in fact unleavened. Positionally they were a new batch, already sanctified in God's sight (see 1:2; 6:11), but Paul calls on them to become holy also in conduct (see note on 1:2). Christ our Passover. In His death on the cross, Christ fulfilled the true meaning of the Jewish sacrifice of the Passover lamb (Is 53:7; John 1:29). Christ, the Lamb of God, was crucified on Passover day, a celebration that began the evening before when the Passover meal was eaten (cf. Ex 12:8).

5:8 let us celebrate the feast. Keeping the Feast of Unleavened Bread (which followed Passover) symbolizes living the Christian life in holy dedication to God (cf. Rom 12:1–2; 1 Pet 2:5) and not getting involved in such sins as malice and wickedness and incestuous relations.

5:9 I wrote you in my letter. Paul here clarifies a previous letter (one not preserved). The Corinthians mistook that letter to mean that, on separating from sin, they should disassociate themselves from all immoral persons, including non-Christian people. Instead, Paul meant that they should separate from immoral persons in the church who claimed to be Christian brothers (vv. 10–11).

5:11 not even to eat with such a one. Calling oneself a Christian while continuing to live an immoral life is reprehensible and degrading, and gives a false testimony to Christ. If the true Christian has intimate association with someone who does this, the non-Christian world may assume that the church approves such immoral, ungodly living and thus the name of Christ would be dishonored. Questions could arise concerning the true character of the Christian's own testimony (cf. Rom 16:17–18; 2 Thess 3:6, 14–15).

5:12 judge those who are within. The church is to exercise spiritual discipline over the professing believers in the church (cf. Matt 18:15–18), but it is not to attempt to judge the unsaved world. There are governing authorities to do that (Rom 13:1–5), and the ultimate judgment of the world is to be left to God (v. 13; cf. Rev 20:11–15).

6:1 a case against his neighbor. Paul seems to be talking about various kinds of property court cases here (cf. the phrase "rather be cheated," v. 7), not criminal cases that should be handled by the state (Rom 13:3–4). before the saints. The Corinthians should take their property cases before qualified Christians for settlement. In Paul's day the Romans allowed the Jews to apply their own law in property matters, and since the Romans did not yet consider Christians as a separate class from the Jews, Christians no doubt had the same rights.

6:2 saints will judge the world. With Christ. Cf. Matt 19:28; 2 Tim 2:12; Rev 20:4. competent to constitute the smallest law courts. Paul views believers as fully competent to judge cases where Christians have claims against each other, because they view matters from a godly vantage point. In comparison with their future role in the judgment of the world and of angels, judgments concerning things of this life are insignificant.

6:3 we will judge angels. Cf. 2 Pet 2:4,9; Jude 6.

6:4 judges who are of no account. Either the verse suggests that the least in the church are capable of judging such small matters, or it asks ironically if believers should submit their cases to pagan judges, who really are not qualified to decide on cases between Christians.

6:7 already a defeat. Most likely by greed, retaliation and hatred, instead of practicing unselfishness, forgiveness and love—even willingness to suffer loss.

6:9 not inherit the kingdom of God. Cf. John 3:3–5. fornicators. Paul here identifies three kinds of sexually immoral persons: adulterers, male prostitutes and males who practice homosexuality. In Rom 1:26 he adds the category of females who practice homosexuality. People who engage in such practices, as well as the other offenders listed in vv. 9–10, are explicitly excluded from God's kingdom (but see next note).

drunkards, nor revilers, nor swindlers, will [a]inherit the kingdom of God.

The Body Is the Lord's

12 [a]All things are lawful for me, but not all things are profitable. All things are lawful for me, but I will not be mastered by anything.

13 [a]Food is for the [1]stomach and the [1]stomach is for food, but God will [b]do away with both [2]of them. Yet the body is not for immorality, but [c]for the Lord, and [d]the Lord is for the body.

14 Now God has not only [a]raised the Lord, but [b]will also raise us up through His power.

15 [a]Do you not know that [b]your bodies are members of Christ? Shall I then take away the members of Christ and make them members of a prostitute? [c]May it never be!

16 Or [a]do you not know that the one who joins himself to a prostitute is one body with her? For He says, "[b]THE TWO SHALL BECOME ONE FLESH."

17 But the one who joins himself to the Lord is [a]one spirit with Him.

Teaching on Marriage

7 Now concerning the things about which you wrote, it is [a]good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 But because of immoralities, each man is to have his own wife, and each woman is to have her own husband.

3 The husband must [1]fulfill his duty to his wife, and likewise also the wife to her husband.

4 The wife does not have authority over her own body, but the husband does; and likewise also the husband does not have authority over his own body, but the wife does.

6:11 Such were some of you. God, however, does save and sanctify people like those described in vv. 9–10.
6:12 All things are lawful for me. Paul is probably quoting some in the Corinthian congregation who boasted that they had a right to do anything they pleased. The apostle counters by observing that such "freedom" of action may not benefit the Christian. not be mastered by anything. One may become enslaved by those actions in which he "freely" indulges (see note on 10:23).
6:13 Food is for the stomach and the stomach is for food. Paul quotes some Corinthians again who were claiming that as the physical acts of eating and digesting food have no bearing on one's inner spiritual life, so the physical act of promiscuous sexual activity does not affect one's spiritual life. the body is not for immorality, but for the Lord. Paul here declares the dignity of the human body: It is intended for the Lord. Although granting that food and the stomach are transitory, Paul denies that what one does with his body is unimportant. This is particularly true of the use of sex, which the Lord has ordained in wedlock for the good of mankind (cf. Heb 13:4).
6:14 God . . . raised the Lord . . . also raise us. As an illustration of God's high regard for the body, Paul cites the resurrection of Christ's body and, eventually, the believer's body (15:51–53; 1 Thess 4:16–17). A body destined for resurrection should not be used for immorality.
6:15 members of Christ. See 12:27. It is not merely the spirit that is a member of Christ's body; it is the whole person, consisting of spirit and body. This fact gives dignity to the human body.
6:16 one body with her. In a sexual relationship the two bodies become one (cf. Gen 2:24; Matt 19:5), and a new human being may emerge from the sexual union. Sexual relations outside the marriage bond are a gross perversion of the divinely established marriage union.
6:17 one spirit with Him. There is a higher union than the marriage bond: the believer's spiritual union with Christ, which is the perfect model for the kind of unity that should mark the marriage relationship (cf. Eph 5:21–33).
6:18 other sin . . . is outside the body. Perhaps means that in a unique way, sexual immorality gratifies one's physical body. Or, since the word "other" does not occur in the Greek text, Paul may be quoting a Corinthian slogan (see note on v. 12), which he refutes in the second half of the verse. the immoral man sins against his own body. The body is a temple of the Holy Spirit (v. 19); thus to use it in prostitution disgraces God's temple. Furthermore, the prostitutes of Corinth were dedicated to the service of Aphrodite, the goddess of love and sex. See note on 7:2.
6:19 your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit. The Christian should value his body as a sacred place where God dwells and should realize that by the Spirit's presence and power he can be helped against such sins as sexual immorality (Rom 8:9). not your own. Cf. 1 Pet 2:9.
6:20 glorify God in your body. Cf. 10:31; Rom 6:12–13; Col 3:17.
7:1 things about which you wrote. The Corinthians had written Paul, asking him a number of vexing questions (see 8:1; 12:1). good for a man not to touch a woman. Because of the crisis at Corinth (v. 26). Elsewhere (Eph 5:22–33; Col 3:18–19; 1 Tim 3:2,12; 5:14) Paul spoke strongly in favor of the married state, and in 1 Tim 4:1–3 he taught that forbidding to marry would be a sign of the end-time apostasy. Another possible interpretation is that Paul is again (see notes on 6:12–13,18) quoting a slogan of the Corinthians suggesting it was good for a man not to have sexual relations with a woman. He refutes this idea in v. 2 by stating that sexual relations have their proper expression in marriage.
7:2 immoralities. Example: The temple to Aphrodite on the Acrocorinth, the rocky eminence above Corinth, at one time had in service 1,000 prostitute priestesses.
7:3 fulfill his duty to his wife. Married couples should have normal sexual relations. Permanent abstention deprives the other partner of his or her natural right and may be conducive to temptation.
7:4 likewise. Both husband and wife have conjugal rights and exclusive possession of the other in this area.

5 [a]Stop depriving one another, except by agreement for a time, so that you may devote yourselves to prayer, and [1]come together again so that [b]Satan will not tempt you because of your lack of self-control.

6 But this I say by way of concession, [a]not of command.

7 [1]Yet I wish that all men were [a]even as I myself am. However, [b]each man has his own gift from God, one in this manner, and another in that.

8 But I say to the unmarried and to widows that it is [a]good for them if they remain [b]even as I.

9 But if they do not have self-control, [a]let them marry; for it is better to marry than to burn with passion.

10 But to the married I give instructions, [a]not I, but the Lord, that the wife should not [1]leave her husband 11 (but if she does leave, she must remain unmarried, or else be reconciled to her husband), and that the husband should not [1]divorce his wife.

12 But to the rest [a]I say, not the Lord, that if any brother has a wife who is an unbeliever, and she consents to live with him, he must not [1]divorce her.

13 And a woman who has an unbelieving husband, and he consents to live with her, she must not [1]send her husband away.

14 For the unbelieving husband is sanctified through his wife, and the unbelieving wife is sanctified through [1]her believing husband; for otherwise your children are unclean, but now they are [a]holy.

15 Yet if the unbelieving one leaves, let him leave; the brother or the sister is not under bondage in such cases, but God has called [1]us [2][a]to peace.

16 For how do you know, O wife, whether you will [a]save your husband? Or how do you know, O husband, whether you will save your wife?

17 Only, [a]as the Lord has assigned to each one, as God has called each, in this manner let him walk. And [b]so I direct in [c]all the churches.

18 Was any man called when he was already circumcised? He is not to become uncircumcised. Has anyone been called in uncircumcision? [a]He is not to be circumcised.

19 [a]Circumcision is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing, but what matters is [b]the keeping of the commandments of God.

20 [a]Each man must remain in that [1]condition in which he was called.

21 Were you called while a slave? [1]Do not worry about it; but if you are able also to become free, rather [2]do that.

22 For he who was called in the Lord while a slave, is [a]the Lord's freedman; likewise he who was called while free, is [b]Christ's slave.

7:5 Stop depriving one another. Of sexual fulfillment. Satan . . . not tempt you because of your lack of self-control. The Christian deprived of normal sexual activity with his or her marriage partner may be tempted by Satan to sexual immorality. The normal God-given sexual drive in the human being is strong.

7:6 concession, not of command. Although marriage is desirable and according to God's plan, it was not mandatory under the difficult circumstances at Corinth (see v. 26). In another situation (1 Tim 5:14) Paul urges "the younger widows to marry."

7:10 I give instructions, not I, but the Lord). Paul is citing a command from the Lord Jesus during His earthly ministry that married couples must stay together (Matt 5:32; 19:3–9; Mark 10:2–12; Luke 16:18). Paul probably heard such commands from other disciples (cf. Gal 1:18–19) or from Jesus Himself by a special revelation.

7:11 but if she does leave, she must remain unmarried, or else be reconciled. Paul argues that in the light of Christ's command she (or he) is not to marry again. Rather, the separated or divorced couple are to be reconciled. Clearly the ideal is that marriage should not be permanently disrupted.

7:12 I say, not the Lord. Paul is not quoting a direct command from Jesus here. any brother has a wife . . . an unbeliever. The apostle is talking here (and in v. 13) about couples already married, when one of them becomes a Christian. If at all possible, they should remain together, unless the unbeliever, whether man or woman, refuses to remain (v. 15).

7:14 the unbelieving husband . . . wife is sanctified. The unbelieving partner is influenced by the godly life of the Christian partner; so that family is under the holy influence of the believer and in that sense is sanctified. your children . . . are holy. They at least have the advantage of being under the sanctifying influence of one Christian parent (see v. 16) and so may be called holy. Some believe that such children are called holy because they are included with their parents in the new covenant in Christ, just as the children of Abraham were included in the covenant with their father (and so were circumcised).

7:15 the brother or the sister is not under bondage in such cases. The believer is not under obligation to try to continue living with the unbeliever. peace. If the unbeliever were forced to live with the believer, there would be no peace in the home.

7:17 as the Lord has assigned to each one . . . let him walk. Each Christian is to live contentedly for the Lord in whatever economic, social and religious station in life God has placed him. See v. 18 for an example.

7:18 circumcised . . . uncircumcised. Jew . . . Gentile. In the religious sphere, Christian Jews should not try to obliterate physically the fact that they are Jews, and Christian Gentiles should not yield to Jewish pressure for circumcision (cf. Acts 15:1–5; Gal 5:1–3).

7:21 Were you . . . a slave? In the social and economic sphere, the Christian slave should live contentedly in his situation, realizing that he has become free in Christ (v. 22; John 8:32, 36). if you are able . . . to become free . . . do that. If a Christian slave has an opportunity to get his freedom, he should take advantage of it. In the Roman empire slaves were sometimes freed by Roman patricians. There is nothing wrong with seeking to improve your condition, but be content at every stage.

7:22 he who was . . . free, is Christ's slave. A man who was not a Roman slave should realize that in a spiritual sense he belonged to Christ, and, because of his allegiance to Christ, he must not oppress the underprivileged slave. Cf. Eph 6:5,9; Col 3:22; 4:1.

23 [a]You were bought with a price; do not become slaves of men.

24 Brethren, [a]each one is to remain with God in that condition in which he was called.

25 Now concerning virgins I have [a]no command of the Lord, but I give an opinion as one who [1][b]by the mercy of the Lord is trustworthy.

26 I think then that this is good in view of the [1]present [a]distress, that [b]it is good for a man [2]to remain as he is.

27 Are you bound to a wife? Do not seek to be released. Are you released from a wife? Do not seek a wife.

28 But if you marry, you have not sinned; and if a virgin marries, she has not sinned. Yet such will have [1]trouble in this life, and I am trying to spare you.

29 But this I say, brethren, [a]the time has been shortened, so that from now on those who have wives should be as though they had none;

30 and those who weep, as though they did not weep; and those who rejoice, as though they did not rejoice; and those who buy, as though they did not possess;

31 and those who use the world, as though they did not [a]make full use of it; for [b]the form of this world is passing away.

32 But I want you to be free from concern. One who is [a]unmarried is concerned about the things of the Lord, how he may please the Lord;

33 but one who is married is concerned about the things of the world, how he may please his wife,

34 and his interests are divided. The woman who is unmarried, and the virgin, is concerned about the things of the Lord, that she may be holy both in body and spirit; but one who is married is concerned about the things of the world, how she may please her husband.

35 This I say for your own benefit; not to put a restraint upon you, but [1]to promote what is appropriate and to secure undistracted devotion to the Lord.

36 But if any man thinks that he is acting unbecomingly toward his virgin daughter, if she is past her youth, and if it must be so, let him do what he wishes, he does not sin; let [1]her marry.

37 But he who stands firm in his heart, [1]being under no constraint, but has authority [2]over his own will, and has decided this in his own heart, to keep his own virgin daughter, he will do well.

38 So then both he who gives his own virgin daughter in marriage does well, and he who does not give her in marriage will do better.

39 [a]A wife is bound as long as her husband lives; but if her husband [1]is dead, she is free to be married to whom she wishes, only [b]in the Lord.

40 But [a]in my opinion she is happier if she remains as she is; and I think that I also have the Spirit of God.

7:23 bought with a price . . . not . . . slaves of men. Christians in all stations of life should realize that their ultimate allegiance is not to men but to Christ, who bought them with His blood (6:20; 1 Pet 1:18–19).

7:25 Now concerning virgins. Paul answers another major question the Corinthians had asked (v. 1). I give an opinion as one who . . . is trustworthy. Paul is not giving a direct command from Jesus here (as in v. 10; cf. Acts 20:35). In this matter, which is not a question of right and wrong, Paul expresses his own judgment. Even though he put it this way, he is certainly not denying that he wrote under the influence of divine inspiration (see v. 40). And since he writes under inspiration, what he recommends is clearly the better course of action.

7:26 present distress. Probably a reference to the pressures of the Christian life in an immoral and particularly hostile environment (cf. vv. 2,28; 5:1; 2 Tim 3:12). Paul's recommendation here does not apply to all times and all situations.

7:28 trouble. Times of suffering and persecution for Christ, when being married would mean even greater hardship in taking care of one's mate.

7:29 time has been shortened. The time for doing the Lord's work has become increasingly short. Life is fleeting, as times of persecution remind us. Do not be unduly concerned with the affairs of this world (vv. 29–31) because material things are changing and disappearing (v. 31). Some think the reference is to the Lord's second coming.

7:34 his interests are divided. He cannot give undistracted service to Christ (v. 35). This is particularly true in times of persecution.

7:36 he is acting unbecomingly toward his virgin daughter . . . past her youth . . . let her marry. In the light of hostility toward believers in Corinth, a man might refrain from giving his daughter in marriage. But if he then realizes that his daughter is getting beyond her prime marriageable age and the situation thus seems unfair to her, it is perfectly proper for him to give her in marriage.

7:37 has authority over his own will . . . will do well. The man who determines that there is no need for him to give his daughter in marriage under the circumstances has made a good decision too (v. 38).

7:39 bound as long as her husband lives. Marriage is a lifelong union (yet see the exception clause in Matt 19:9). if her husband is dead. Death breaks the marriage bond, and a Christian is then free to marry another Christian ("only in the Lord").

7:40 as she is. A widow. I think that I also have the Spirit of God. Paul writes as one convinced that he is guided by the Holy Spirit.

8:1 Now concerning things sacrificed to idols. Another matter the Corinthians had written about (see note on 7:1). sacrificed to idols. Offered on pagan altars. Meat left over from a sacrifice might be eaten by the priests, eaten by the offerer and his friends at a feast in the temple (see note on v. 10) or sold in the public meat market. Some Christians felt that if they ate such meat, they participated in pagan worship and thus com-anything, he has not yet [b]known as he ought to know;

3 but if anyone loves God, he [a]is known by Him.

4 Therefore concerning the eating of [a]things sacrificed to idols, we know that [1]there is [b]no such thing as an idol in the world, and that [c]there is no God but one.

5 For even if [a]there are so-called gods whether in heaven or on earth, as indeed there are many gods and many lords,

6 yet for us [a]there is but one God, [b]the Father, [c]from whom are all things and we exist for Him; and [d]one Lord, Jesus Christ, [e]by whom are all things, and we exist through Him.

7 However not all men [a]have this knowledge; but [b]some, being accustomed to the idol until now, eat food as if it were sacrificed to an idol; and their conscience being weak is defiled.

8 But [a]food will not [1]commend us to God; we are neither [2]the worse if we do not eat, nor [3]the better if we do eat.

9 But [a]take care that this [1]liberty of yours does not somehow become a stumbling block to the [b]weak.

10 For if someone sees you, who have [a]knowledge, dining in an idol's temple, will not his conscience, if he is weak, be strengthened to eat [b]things sacrificed to idols?

11 For through [a]your knowledge he who is weak [b]is ruined, the brother for whose sake Christ died.

12 [a]And so, by sinning against the brethren and wounding their conscience when it is weak, you sin [b]against Christ.

13 Therefore, [a]if food causes my brother to stumble, I will never eat meat again, so that I will not cause my brother to stumble.

Paul's Use of Liberty

9 Am I not [a]free? Am I not an [b]apostle? Have I not [c]seen Jesus our Lord? Are you not [d]my work in the Lord?

2 If to others I am not an apostle, at least I am to you; for you are the [a]seal of my [b]apostleship in the Lord.

3 My defense to those who examine me is this:

promised their testimony for Christ. Other Christians did not feel this way. knowledge. Explained in vv. 2–6. Knowledge makes arrogant. It fills one with false pride. love edifies. Explained in vv. 7–13. The Christian should love his brother who doubts.

8:2 has not yet known. The wisest and most knowledgeable Christian realizes that his knowledge is limited. God is the only one who knows all (cf. Rom 11:33–36).

8:3 if anyone loves God, he is known by Him. A person who tempers his knowledge with love toward God shows that he is really known and thus accepted by God as one of God's own redeemed (Gal 4:8–9; 1John 4:7–8).

8:4 no such thing as an idol. It represents no real god and possesses no power (see Ps 115:4–7; 135:15–17; Is 44:12–20). But there are demons behind them (10:20).

8:5 so-called gods. The alleged gods of Greek and Roman mythology. many gods and many lords. Not that there actually are many gods and lords. This would contradict the consistent and emphatic teaching of Scripture that there is but one God (Deut 6:4). Paul is recognizing the obvious fact that there are many who are worshiped as gods—though they do not actually exist, to say nothing of being deities.

8:6 from whom are all things . . . by whom are all things. See Heb 2:10. God the Father is the ultimate source of all creation (Acts 4:24). God the Son is the dynamic one through whom, with the Father, all things came into existence (John 1:3; Col 1:16).

8:7 have this knowledge. Knows that an idol has no personal reality. their conscience being weak is defiled. Christians who conceive of an idol as being real cannot rid themselves of this idea. Consequently, they think that in eating meat sacrificed on pagan altars they have involved themselves in pagan worship and thus have sinned against Christ.

8:9 this liberty of yours. To eat meat sacrificed to idols because you know that an idol is nothing (v. 4). the weak. Those Christians whose consciences are weak, who think it is wrong to eat meat sacrificed to idols.

8:10 dining in an idol's temple. At the site of ancient Corinth, archaeologists have discovered two temples containing rooms apparently used for pagan feasts where meat offered to idols was eaten. To such feasts Christians may have been invited by pagan friends.

8:11 through your knowledge he who is weak is ruined. The weak Christian is influenced by the example of the stronger Christian and, though he feels it to be wrong, eats the meat that has been offered to an idol. The spiritual destruction that follows is explained in v. 12.

8:12 wounding their conscience when it is weak. Eating meat offered to idols when they feel it is wrong tends to blunt their consciences, so that doing what is wrong becomes much easier. The result may be moral tragedy. you sin against Christ. Because Christ died for your brother (v. 11), even as He died for you. It is also a sin against Christ because it breaks the unity of the members of His body (the church).

8:13 I will never eat meat again. Paul will forever refrain from engaging in the harmless practice of eating meat sacrificed to idols if it will cause his weak Christian brother, who feels it is wrong, also to eat that meat.

9:1 Am I not free? Do I not have the rights that any Christian has? Am I not an apostle? Some at Corinth (2 Cor 12:11–12) and elsewhere (Gal 1:1; 1:15–2:10) questioned Paul's genuine apostleship. To certify his apostleship Paul gives this proof: that he has seen the Lord Jesus (Acts 9:1–9; 22:6–16; 26:12–18), as was true of the other apostles (Acts 1:21–22). Furthermore, he adds that his ministry has produced true spiritual fruit (the Corinthians) for the Lord, which should confirm to them that he is indeed an apostle.

9:4 right to eat and drink. Paul and Barnabas, as God's workers, have a right to have their food and other physical needs supplied at the church's expense (cf. vv. 6,13–14).

5 [1][a]Do we not have a right to take along a [2]believing wife, even as the rest of the apostles and the [b]brothers of the Lord and [c]Cephas?

6 Or do only [1][a]Barnabas and I not have a right to refrain from working?

7 Who at any time serves [a]as a soldier at his own expense? Who [b]plants a vineyard and does not eat the fruit of it? Or who tends a flock and does not [1]use the milk of the flock?

8 I am not speaking these things [a]according to [1]human judgment, am I? Or does not the Law also say these things?

9 For it is written in the Law of Moses, "[a]YOU SHALL NOT MUZZLE THE OX WHILE HE IS THRESHING." God is not concerned about [b]oxen, is He?

10 Or is He speaking altogether for our sake? Yes, [a]for our sake it was written, because [b]the plowman ought to plow in hope, and the thresher to thresh in hope of sharing the crops.

11 [a]If we sowed spiritual things in you, is it too much if we reap material things from you?

12 If others share the right over you, do we not more? Nevertheless, we [a]did not use this right, but we endure all things [b]so that we will cause no hindrance to the [c]gospel of Christ.

13 [a]Do you not know that those who [b]perform sacred services eat the food of the temple, and those who attend regularly to the altar have their share [1]from the altar?

14 So also [a]the Lord directed those who proclaim the [b]gospel to [c]get their living from the gospel.

15 But I have [a]used none of these things. And I am not writing these things so that it will be done so in my case; for it would be better for me to die than have any man make [b]my boast an empty one.

16 For if I preach the gospel, I have nothing to boast of, for [a]I am under compulsion; for woe is me if I do not preach [b]the gospel.

17 For if I do this voluntarily, I have a [a]reward; but if against my will, I have a [b]stewardship entrusted to me.

18 What then is my [a]reward? That, when I preach the gospel, I may offer the gospel [b]without charge, so as [c]not to make full use of my right in the gospel.

19 For though I am [a]free from all men, I have made myself [b]a slave to all, so that I may [c]win more.

20 [a]To the Jews I became as a Jew, so that I might win Jews; to those who are under [1]the Law, as under [1]the Law though [b]not being myself under [1]the Law, so that I might win those who are under [1]the Law;

21 to those who are [a]without law, [b]as without law, though not being without the law of God but [c]under the law of Christ, so that I might win those who are without law.

22 To the [a]weak I became weak, that I might win the weak; I have become [b]all things to all men, [c]so that I may by all means save some.

23 I do all things for the sake of the gospel, so that I may become a fellow partaker of it.

24 [a]Do you not know that those who run in a race all run, but only one receives [b]the prize? [c]Run in such a way that you may win.

9:5 take along a believing wife. Paul asserts his right to be married, if he wishes. This does not mean that he was married, as some have imagined (see 7:7). Other apostles, including Peter (see Mark 1:30), had wives.

9:11 reap material things. Food, lodging and pay supplied by the Corinthians (cf. Gal 6:6). Paul here sets forth the principle that Christian workers should be paid for their labors.

9:12 did not use this right. The point of Paul's discussion in ch. 9. He had numerous rights that he did not claim because of his love for the Corinthians. Thus ch. 9 is an extended personal illustration of the practice advocated in ch. 8. Because of love for others, believers should be ready to surrender their rights.

9:13 those who perform sacred services. The Corinthian believers would understand this illustration not only from their knowledge of the OT (cf. Lev 7:28–36; Num 18:8–20) but also from the practice in pagan temples in Greece and Rome.

9:15 my boast. That he had preached the gospel without charge, so that they could not say that they had paid him for it.

9:16 I am under compulsion. The Lord had laid on Paul the necessity of preaching the gospel (Acts 9:1–16; 26:16–18; see also Jer 20:9 and note).

9:18 my reward . . . when I preach the gospel. Paul's reward in preaching is not material things but the boasting that he has preached to the Corinthians without charge and has not taken advantage of the rights he deserves: food and drink, shelter and pay (vv. 3–12).

9:19 I have made myself a slave to all. Not only did Paul not use his right to material support in preaching the gospel but he also deprived himself—curtailed his personal privileges and social and religious rights—in dealing with different kinds of people. that I may win. To bring to Christ.

9:20 those who are under the Law. Those under the OT Law and religious practices (the Jews). as under the Law. For the Jews' sake Paul conformed to the Jewish Law (Acts 16:3; 18:18; 21:20–26).

9:21 those who are without law. Those who have not been raised under the OT law (the Gentiles). as without law. Paul accommodated himself to Gentile culture when it did not violate his allegiance to Christ, though he still reckoned that he was under God's law and Christ's law. (By "Christ's law" Paul is probably referring to Christ's teachings, though the term is not necessarily restricted to them.)

9:22 the weak. Those whose consciences are weak (8:9–12). I became weak. Paul did not exercise his Christian freedom in such things as eating meat sacrificed to idols (8:9,13).

9:23 become a . . . partaker. The blessings of realizing that he has been faithful to Christ in preaching, of hearing the Lord's "Well done" (Matt 25:21; Luke 19:17) and of seeing others come to Christ.

9:24 race all run. The Corinthians were familiar with the foot races in their own Isthmian games, which occurred every other year and were second only to the Olympic games in impor-

25 Everyone who [a]competes in the games exercises self-control in all things. They then do it to receive a perishable [b]wreath, but we an imperishable.

26 Therefore I [a]run in such a way, as not without aim; I box in such a way, as not [b]beating the air;

27 but I [1]discipline [a]my body and make it my slave, so that, after I have preached to others, I myself will not be disqualified.

Avoid Israel's Mistakes

10 For [a]I do not want you to be unaware, brethren, that our fathers were all [b]under the cloud and all [c]passed through the sea;

2 and all were [a]baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea;

3 and all [a]ate the same spiritual food;

4 and all [a]drank the same spiritual drink, for they were drinking from a spiritual rock which followed them; and the rock was [1]Christ.

5 Nevertheless, with most of them God was not well-pleased; for [a]they were laid low in the wilderness.

6 Now these things happened as [a]examples for us, so that we would not crave evil things as [b]they also craved.

7 Do not be [a]idolaters, as some of them were; as it is written, "[b]THE PEOPLE SAT DOWN TO EAT AND DRINK, AND STOOD UP TO [c]PLAY."

15 I speak as to wise men; you judge what I say.

16 Is not the [a]cup of blessing which we bless a sharing in the blood of Christ? Is not the [1][b]bread which we break a sharing in the body of Christ?

tance. prize. In ancient times the prize was a perishable wreath (v. 25).

9:25 wreath . . . imperishable. See 2 Tim 4:8; James 1:12; 1 Pet 5:4; Rev 2:10; 3:11; 4:10 and notes.

9:26 run . . . not without aim. See Phil 3:14.

9:27 I discipline my body and make it my slave. Here Paul uses the figure of boxing to represent the Christian life. He does not aimlessly beat the air, but he severely disciplines his own body in serving Christ. will not be disqualified. Paul realizes that he must with rigor serve the Lord and battle against sin. If he fails in this, he may be excluded from the reward (see 3:10–15).

10:1 under the cloud. Under God's leadership and guidance (Ex 13:21–22; Num 9:15–23; 14:14; Deut 1:33; Ps 78:14). His guidance did not fail them—He successfully led them through the sea (Ex 14:22,29).

10:2 As a people, they were united under God's redemptive program, and they submitted to Moses, God's appointed leader (Ex 14:31). baptized. A figure used to depict their submission to Moses as their deliverer and leader, just as Christian baptism depicts the believer's submission to Christ as Savior and Lord.

10:3–4 spiritual food . . . spiritual drink. The manna and the water from the rock are used as figures representing the spiritual sustenance that God continually provides for His people (Ex 16:2–36; 17:1–7; Num 20:2–11; 21:16).

10:4 the rock was Christ. The rock, from which the water came, and the manna were symbolic of supernatural sustenance through Christ, the bread of life and the water of life (John 4:14; 6:30–35).

10:5 with most of them God was not well-pleased. In spite of the remarkable privileges given to Israel (vv. 1–4), they failed to obey God, thus incurring His displeasure. Of the adults who came out of Egypt, only Caleb and Joshua were allowed to enter Canaan (Num 14:22–24, 28–35; Josh 1:1–2).

10:6 as they also craved. What Paul has in mind is described in vv. 7–10.

10:7 idolaters. Referring to the incident of the golden calf (Ex 32:1–6). The people ate a ritual meal sacrificed to an idol (cf. ch. 8).

10:8 Refers to Israel's joining herself to Baal of Peor (Num 25:1–9), participating in the worship of this god of the Moabites and engaging in sexual immorality with the prostitute virgins who worshiped this god. twenty-three thousand. The Hebrew and Greek (Septuagint) texts of Num 25:9 have 24,000. It is clear that Paul is not striving for exactness. He is only speaking approximately. First-century writers were not as concerned about being precise as 20th-century authors often are.

10:10 Nor grumble. As in Num 16:41. destroyer. Paul links the angel who brought the plague of Num 16:46–50—because of the grumbling of the Israelites against Moses and Aaron (Num 16:41)—with the destroying angel of Ex 12:23.

10:11 written for our instruction. See note on Rom 15:4. the ends of the ages. The period of time inaugurated by Christ's death and resurrection and continuing into the future until Christ's second coming and beyond. It is the period of fulfillment when all that God has been doing for His people throughout all previous ages comes to its fruition in the Messiah.

10:13 temptation. Temptation in itself is not sin. Jesus was tempted (Matt 4:1–11). Yielding to the temptation is sin. endure it. Through God's enablement to resist the temptation to sin.

10:14 flee from idolatry. Like that described in Ex 32:1–6. Corinthian Christians had come out of a background of paganism. Temples for the worship of Apollo, Asclepius, Demeter, Aphrodite and other pagan gods and goddesses were seen daily by the Corinthians as they engaged in the activities of everyday life. The worship of Aphrodite, with its many sacred prostitutes, was a particularly strong temptation.

10:16 cup of blessing. One of the cups drunk at the Jewish 17 Since there is one [1]bread, we [a]who are many are one body; for we all partake of the one [1]bread.

18 Look at [1]the nation [a]Israel; are not those who [b]eat the sacrifices sharers in the altar?

19 What do I mean then? That a thing sacrificed to idols is anything, or [a]that an idol is anything?

20 No, but I say that the things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they [a]sacrifice to demons and not to God; and I do not want you to become sharers in demons.

21 [a]You cannot drink the cup of the Lord and the cup of demons; you cannot partake of the table of the Lord and [b]the table of demons.

22 Or do we [a]provoke the Lord to jealousy? We are not [b]stronger than He, are we?

23 [a]All things are lawful, but not all things are profitable. All things are lawful, but not all things [b]edify.

24 Let no one [a]seek his own good, but that of his [1]neighbor.

Passover, at which time the Lord's Supper was instituted (Matt 26:17–30; Mark 14:12–26; Luke 22:7–23). sharing in the blood of Christ. A memorial symbol of fellowship with the crucified Christ, not a literal drinking of His blood. When the Lord's Supper was instituted, Christ had not yet poured out His blood. The Lord's Supper is to remind us of Him (11:25).

10:17 one bread. The act of many believers partaking of one loaf of bread symbolizes the unity of the body of Christ, the church, which is nourished by the one bread of life (see John 6:33–58).

10:18 those who eat the sacrifices sharers in the altar. When the people of Israel ate part of the sacrifice made at the altar (Lev 7:15; 8:31; Deut 12:17–18), they participated in the worship of God, who established the sacrifices and whose altar it was. Likewise when the pagans sacrificed, they did so to demons (vv. 20–21). Paul denies that the idol is anything, i.e., that it is a real deity (v. 19). Nor is a sacrifice offered to a so-called god anything, because the idol is nothing and the god being worshiped is no god at all. In reality, demons (not gods) were the objects of idol worship. God's people are warned that if they do eat meat sacrificed to idols, they should not eat it with pagans in their temple feasts, for to do so is to become "sharers in demons" (v. 20).

10:22 provoke the Lord to jealousy. By sharing in pagan idolatry and worship (cf. Ex 20:5; Deut 32:21; Ps 78:58).

10:23 not all things are profitable. See note on 6:12. Personal freedom and desire for one's rights are not the only considerations. One must also consider the good "of his neighbor" (v. 24; cf. 8:1; Gal 6:2).

10:25 Eat anything that is sold in the meat market. Even if it has been sacrificed to an idol, because out in the public market it has lost its pagan religious significance.

10:26 A quotation from Ps 24:1 used at Jewish mealtimes as a blessing (cf. Ps 50:12; 89:11).

10:27 eat anything that is set before you. Whether or not it might be meat sacrificed to idols, ask no questions. As long as the subject has not been brought up, you are free to eat the meat, even if it had been offered to an idol.

10:28 for the sake of the one who informed you. If the meat has been identified as meat sacrificed to idols and you eat it, the man—whether a believer or an unbeliever—might think you condone, or even are willing to participate in, the worship of the idols the meat has been offered to. for conscience' sake. In eating meat that has publicly been declared to have been sacrificed to idols, you may offend "the other man's" conscience (v. 29) by causing him to think it is all right to eat meat sacrificed to idols even though he has doubts about it. Or if he is an unbeliever, he may think that the Christian worships both God and a pagan idol.

10:29 my freedom. Cf. Rom 14:16. The exercise of one's personal freedom is to be governed by whether it will bring glory to God, whether it will build up the church of God and whether it will encourage the unsaved to receive Christ as Savior and Lord (vv. 31–33).

10:30 that for which I give thanks. Paul could thank God for meat sacrificed to idols, for the idol is nothing and the meat is a part of God's created world.

10:31 all to the glory of God. The all-inclusive principle that governs the discussion in chs. 8–10 is that God should be glorified in everything that is done.

10:32 Give no offense. The particular cause of stumbling Paul had in mind was that of eating meat offered to idols (see 8:13). Living to glorify God will result in doing what is beneficial for others, whether Christians ("the church of God") or non-Christians ("Jews, Greeks").

10:33 please all men in all things. Paul does not mean that he will compromise the truths of the gospel in order to please everybody, but that he will consider his fellowman and not cause anyone's conscience to be offended by his daily life, thus keeping that person from receiving the gospel. that they may be saved. See 9:22.

11:1 Notice the order: (1) Christ is the supreme example (cf.

2 Now [a]I praise you because you [b]remember me in everything and [c]hold firmly to the traditions, just as I delivered them to you.

3 But I want you to understand that [1]Christ is the [a]head of every man, and [b]the man is the head of a woman, and God is the [c]head of [1]Christ.

4 Every man who has something on his head while praying or [a]prophesying disgraces his head.

5 But every [a]woman who has her head uncovered while praying or prophesying disgraces her head, for she is one and the same as the woman [1]whose head is [b]shaved.

6 For if a woman does not cover [1]her head, let her also [2]have her hair cut off; but if it is disgraceful for a woman to [2]have her hair cut off or [1]her head shaved, let her cover [1]her head.

7 For a man ought not to have his head covered, since he is the [a]image and glory of God; but the woman is the glory of man.

8 For [a]man [1]does not originate from woman, but woman from man;

9 for indeed man was not created for the woman's sake, but [a]woman for the man's sake.

10 Therefore the woman ought to have a symbol of authority on her head, because of the angels.

11 However, in the Lord, neither is woman [1]independent of man, nor is man [1]independent of woman.

12 For as the woman [1]originates from the man, so also the man has his birth through the woman; and [a]all things [2]originate [b]from God.

13 [a]Judge [1]for yourselves: is it proper for a woman to pray to God with her head uncovered?

14 Does not even nature itself teach you that if a man has long hair, it is a dishonor to him, 15 but if a woman has long hair, it is a glory to her? For her hair is given to her for a covering.

16 But if one is inclined to be contentious, [a]we have no [1]other practice, nor have [b]the churches of God.

17 But in giving this instruction, [a]I do not praise you, because you come together not for the better but for the worse.

18 For, in the first place, when you come together [1]as a church, I hear that [2a]divisions exist among you; and in part I believe it.

1 Pet 2:21); (2) Christ's apostle follows His example ("just as I also am of Christ"); (3) we are to follow the apostle's example.

11:3–16 The subject of this section is propriety in public worship, not male-female relations in general. Paul is concerned, however, that the proper relationship between husbands and wives be reflected in public worship. As in the previous section, he desires that all be done to the glory of God (10:31).

11:3 Some understand the term "head" to refer primarily to the concept of honor, in that one's physical head is the seat of his honor (cf. vv. 4–5). Thus as Christ honored God, man is to honor Christ, and woman is to honor her husband. Others see in the word "head" the idea of authority (which would also include the concept of honor). They point out that Paul clearly uses the term in the sense of authority in Eph 1:21–22 ("under His feet"; "head over everything"), in Eph 5:22–23 (where headship is seen in a context of submission) and in Col 1:18; 2:10. Thus as Christ is in authority over man and is therefore to be honored by man, so the husband is in a position of authority and is therefore to be honored by his wife. See note on 15:28.

11:4 The first use of "head" in this verse refers to man's physical head; the second refers to his spiritual Head (Christ)—or perhaps is intended in a double sense. In the culture of Paul's day, men uncovered their heads in worship to signify their respect for and submission to deity. When a man prayed or prophesied with his head covered, he failed to show the proper attitude toward Christ.

11:5–6 For a woman, taking off her head covering in public and exposing her hair was a sign of loose morals and sexual promiscuity. Paul says she might as well have her hair cut or shaved off. The shaved head indicated that the woman either had been publicly disgraced because of some shameful act or was openly flaunting her independence and her refusal to be in submission to her husband. Paul's message to her was: Show your respect for and submission to your husband by covering your head during public worship.

Some do not see in these verses a temporary cultural significance to the covering/uncovering of the head. They insist that, since Paul referred to the order of creation (vv. 7–9), his directive is not to be restricted to his time. Thus women of all times should wear a head covering.

Others find a lasting principle in the passage requiring wives, in all ways, to show respect for their husbands by submitting to their authority—not merely by a particular style of attire, but by godly lives. Man, who was created first, is to have authority over his wife (see 1 Tim 2:11–14). The wife was made out of his body (Gen 2:21–24) to be his helper and companion (Gen 2:20). She is to honor her husband by submitting to him as her head (see v. 3).

Still others see these verses, not as a mandate for all marriages, but as reflecting marriage relationships at that time in Corinth and therefore giving a reason why the women there should have covered their heads (v. 10). They point to vv. 11–12 as a contrast, emphasizing equality and mutual dependence between men and women who are "in the Lord" (v. 11; see Gal 3:28; 1 Pet 3:7).

11:10 symbol of authority. Understood by some to refer to the woman's authority as co-ruler with man in the creation (Gen 1:26–27). Others take the phrase to refer to the man's authority as properly recognized by the woman in her head covering. angels. Perhaps mentioned here because they are interested in all aspects of the Christian's salvation and are sensitive to decorum in worship (cf. Eph 3:10; 1 Tim 5:21).

11:13–14 proper . . . nature itself. Believers must be conscious of how their actions appear in their culture, in light of what is considered to be honorable behavior.

11:16 In worship services, Paul and the churches in general followed the common custom of the men wearing short hair and the women long hair. Paul was basing his remarks, particularly in vv. 13–16, on common custom in the churches.

11:17 do not praise. Contrast v. 2.

11:18 divisions. Paul had already dealt with one aspect of these divisions (1:10–17).

19 For there [a]must also be factions among you, [b]so that those who are approved may become [1]evident among you.

20 Therefore when you meet together, it is not to eat the Lord's Supper, 21 for in your eating each one takes his own supper first; and one is hungry and [a]another is drunk.

22 What! Do you not have houses in which to eat and drink? Or do you despise the [a]church of God and [b]shame those who have nothing? What shall I say to you? Shall [c]I praise you? In this I will not praise you.

The Lord's Supper

23 For [a]I received from the Lord that which I also delivered to you, that [b]the Lord Jesus in the night in which He was betrayed took bread;

24 and when He had given thanks, He broke it and said, "This is My body, which is for you; do this in remembrance of Me."

25 In the same way He took [a]the cup also after supper, saying, "This cup is the [b]new covenant in My blood; do this, as often as you drink it, in remembrance of Me."

26 For as often as you eat this bread and drink the cup, you proclaim the Lord's death [a]until He comes.

27 Therefore whoever eats the bread or drinks the cup of the Lord in an unworthy manner, shall be [a]guilty of the body and the blood of the Lord.

28 But a man must [a]examine himself, and in so doing he is to eat of the bread and drink of the cup.

29 For he who eats and drinks, eats and drinks judgment to himself if he does not judge the body rightly.

30 For this reason many among you are weak and sick, and a number [1a]sleep.

31 But if we judged ourselves rightly, we would not be judged.

32 But when we are judged, we are [a]disciplined by the Lord so that we will not be condemned along with [b]the world.

33 So then, my brethren, when you come together to eat, wait for one another.

34 If anyone is [a]hungry, let him eat [b]at home, so that you will not come together for judgment. The remaining matters I will [c]arrange [d]when I come.

The Use of Spiritual Gifts

12 Now concerning [a]spiritual gifts, brethren, [b]I do not want you to be unaware.

12:1 [a]1 Cor 12:4; 14:1 [b]Rom 1:13

11:19 those who are approved. As deplorable as factions may be, they serve one good purpose: They distinguish those who are faithful and true in God's sight.

11:20 not to eat the Lord's Supper. Their intention was to eat the Lord's Supper, but it was profaned by their gluttony and discrimination.

11:21 is hungry . . . is drunk. The early church held the agape ("love") feast in connection with the Lord's Supper (cf. 2 Pet 2:13; Jude 12). Perhaps the meal was something like a present-day potluck dinner. In good Greek style they brought food for all to share, the rich bringing more and the poor less, but because of their cliques the rich ate much and the poor were left hungry.

11:22 Shall I praise you? See v. 17.

11:23–26 Observe the similarity of Paul's words here with Matt 26:26–29; Mark 14:22–25; and especially Luke 22:17–20.

11:23 I received from the Lord. Paul does not necessarily mean that he received the message about the Lord's Supper directly from Christ. The information probably was passed on to him by others who had heard it from Jesus.

11:24 had given thanks. The Jewish practice at meals. This makes it a true Eucharist ("thanksgiving"). My body. The broken bread is a symbol of Christ's body given for sinners (Luke 22:19). in remembrance of Me. As the Feast of Passover was a commemorative meal (see Ex 12:14), so also the Lord's Supper is a memorial supper, recalling and portraying Christ's death for sinners.

11:25 the cup. A symbol of the new covenant in Jesus' blood (Luke 22:20; cf. Jer 31:31–34). (The old covenant was the Mosaic or Sinaitic covenant; see Ex 24:3–8.) By the use of this covenant sign God signifies His bestowal of salvation upon His people, sealed and paid for by the shedding of Jesus' blood. after supper. After the Passover supper. The Lord's Supper was first celebrated by Jesus in connection with the Passover meal (cf. Matt 26:18–30 and parallels in Mark and Luke).

11:26 as often as you eat . . . and drink. The Lord's Supper should be held periodically, but there is no explicit instruction as to how often. until He comes. Cf. Matt 26:29.

11:27 in an unworthy manner. In the irreverent and self-centered manner that characterized some of the Corinthians at their unruly agape supper (vv. 19–22; see note on v. 21).

11:28 examine himself. A person should test the attitude of his own heart and actions and his awareness of the significance of the Supper, thus making the Supper, under God, a spiritual means of grace.

11:29 judgment. Not God's eternal judgment, which is to come on the unbeliever, but such disciplinary judgment as physical sickness and death (v. 30). if he does not judge the body rightly. The word "body" may refer to either the Lord's physical body or the church as the body of Christ (see 12:13,27). The first view means that the person partakes of the Lord's Supper without recognizing that it symbolizes Christ's crucified body. But in that case, why is the blood not mentioned? The second view means that the participant is not aware of the nature of the church as the body of Christ, resulting in the self-centered actions of vv. 20–21.

11:30 sleep. A common first-century figure of speech for death.

11:32 disciplined. As God's redeemed children we are disciplined—just as a human father disciplines his child—so that we might repent of our sins (cf. 2 Cor 7:10) and grow in grace (2 Pet 3:18; Heb 12:7–11).

11:33 come together to eat. Another reference to the agape fellowship meal (see note on v. 21). Each person was to exercise restraint and wait to eat with the others. If a person was too hungry, he should satisfy his hunger at home and not bring selfish and discriminatory practices into the church.

11:34 remaining matters . . . when I come. Paul suggests that they had other problems concerning the Lord's Supper that needed his attention, but he would take care of these later.

12:1 Now concerning. Suggests Paul is answering another question raised by the Corinthians in their letter (cf. 7:1; 8:1; 16:1). spiritual gifts. For a definition see note on 1:7, though a different Greek word is used there.

2 [a]You know that when you were pagans, you were [b]led astray to the [c]mute idols, however you were led.

3 Therefore I make known to you that no one speaking [1a]by the Spirit of God says, "Jesus is [2b]accursed"; and no one can say, "Jesus is [c]Lord," except [1a]by the Holy Spirit.

4 Now there are [a]varieties of gifts, but the same Spirit.

5 And there are varieties of ministries, and the same Lord.

6 There are varieties of effects, but the same [a]God who works all things in all persons.

7 But to each one is given the manifestation of the Spirit [a]for the common good.

8 For to one is given the word of [a]wisdom through the Spirit, and to another the word of [b]knowledge according to the same Spirit;

9 to another [a]faith [1]by the same Spirit, and to another [b]gifts of [2]healing [1]by the one Spirit,

10 and to another the [1]effecting of [2a]miracles, and to another [b]prophecy, and to another the [3c]distinguishing of spirits, to another various [d]kinds of tongues, and to another the [e]interpretation of tongues.

11 But one and the same Spirit works all these things, [a]distributing to each one individually just as He wills.

12 For even [a]as the body is one and yet has many members, and all the members of the body, though they are many, are one body, [b]so also is Christ.

13 For [1a]by one Spirit we were all baptized into one body, whether [b]Jews or Greeks, whether slaves or free, and we were all made to [c]drink of one Spirit.

14 For [a]the body is not one member, but many.

15 If the foot says, "Because I am not a hand, I am not a part of the body," it is not for this reason [1]any the less a part of the body.

12:2 led astray to the mute idols. At one time the Corinthians had been led by various influences to worship mute idols (cf. 10:19–20), but now they are to be led by the Holy Spirit.
12:3 "Jesus is accursed"... "Jesus is Lord." One who is regenerated by the Holy Spirit cannot pronounce a curse on Jesus; rather, he is the only one who from the heart can confess, "Jesus is Lord" (cf. John 20:28; also 1 John 4:2–3). The Greek word for "Lord" here is used in the Greek translation of the OT (the Septuagint) to translate the Hebrew name Yahweh ("the LORD").
12:4–6 same Spirit... same Lord... same God. These verses, reflecting the Trinity, show the diversity and unity of spiritual gifts.
12:4 gifts. Gifts of grace produced by the indwelling Holy Spirit. See note on v. 1.
12:5 ministries. The Greek word in its various forms is used to indicate service to the Christian community, such as serving tables (Acts 6:2–3); it is also the word used a little later in the first-century Christian church for the office of deacon (Phil 1:1).
12:6 effects. The Greek word indicates power that is in operation. Spiritual gifts produce results that are obvious.
12:7 to each one is given the manifestation... for the common good. Every member of the body of Christ has been given some spiritual gift that is an evidence of the Spirit's working in his life. All the gifts are intended to build up the members of the Christian community (see 1 Pet 4:10–11). They are not to be used for selfish advantage, as some in the Corinthian community apparently were doing.
12:8 to one... to another. Not everyone has the same gift or all the gifts. word of wisdom... knowledge. Gifts that meet the need of the Christian community when knowledge or wisdom is required to make decisions or to choose proper courses of action.
12:9 faith. Not saving faith, which all Christians have, but faith to meet a specific need within the body of Christ. gifts of healing. Lit. "gifts of healings." The double plural may suggest different kinds of illnesses and the various ways God heals them.
12:10 effecting of miracles. Lit. "deeds of power." In Scripture a miracle is an action that cannot be explained by natural means. It is an act of God intended as evidence of His power and purpose. prophecy. A communication of the mind of God imparted to a believer by the Holy Spirit. It may be a prediction (cf. Agabus, Acts 11:28; 21:10–11) or an indication of the will of God in a given situation (cf. 14:29–30; Acts 13:1–2). distinguishing of spirits. Since there can also be false prophecies that come from evil spirits, this gift is necessary in order to distinguish the true from the false (cf. 1John 4:1–6). various kinds of tongues. Since the Greek word for "tongues" means "languages" or "dialects," some understand it to refer to the ability to speak in unlearned human languages, as the apostles did on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2:4,6,11; cf. also 1 Cor 14:9–10). Others believe that in chs. 12–14 the term "tongues" refers to both earthly and heavenly languages, including ecstatic languages of praise and prayer (13:1; 14:2,10). interpretation of tongues. The communication of the message spoken in a tongue so that hearers can understand and be edified (cf. 14:5, 13,27–28).
12:11 as He wills. The Holy Spirit sovereignly determines which gift or gifts each believer should have.
12:12 one... many members. This example illustrates the unity and diversity of the different spiritual gifts exercised by God's people, who are all members of the one body of Christ. is Christ. Is Christ's body, the church, of which He is the head (Eph 1:22–23).
12:13 by one Spirit... all baptized into one body. Spiritually baptized, regenerated by the Holy Spirit (John 3:3,5) and united with Christ as part of His body. Jews or Greeks. In Christ there is no racial or cultural distinction. slaves or free. No social distinction. all made to drink of one Spirit. God has given all His people the Holy Spirit to indwell them (6:19) so that their lives may overflow with the fruit of the Spirit (Gal 5:22–23; cf. John 7:37–39).
12:14–20 Addressed mainly to those who feel that their gifts are inferior and unimportant. Apparently the more spectacular gifts (such as tongues) had been glorified in the Corinthian church, making those who did not have them feel inferior.
12:14 As the human body must have diversity to work effectively as a whole, so the members of Christ's body have diverse gifts, the use of which can help bring about the accomplishment of Christ's united purpose. Each must properly exercise his gifts or effectively use his position for the good of the whole: e.g., the gift of the message of wisdom, the message of knowledge, the position of apostle, elder (1 Pet 5:1), deacon (Acts 6:1–6).

16 And if the ear says, "Because I am not an eye, I am not a part of the body," it is not for this reason [1]any the less a part of the body.
17 If the whole body were an eye, where would the hearing be? If the whole were hearing, where would the sense of smell be?
18 But now God has [a]placed the members, each one of them, in the body, [b]just as He desired.
19 If they were all one member, where would the body be?
20 But now [a]there are many members, but one body.
21 And the eye cannot say to the hand, "I have no need of you"; or again the head to the feet, "I have no need of you."
22 On the contrary, [1]it is much truer that the members of the body which seem to be weaker are necessary;
23 and those members of the body which we [1]deem less honorable, [2]on these we bestow more abundant honor, and our less presentable members become much more presentable,
24 whereas our more presentable members have no need of it. But God has so composed the body, giving more abundant honor to that member which lacked,
25 so that there may be no [1]division in the body, but that the members may have the same care for one another.
26 And if one member suffers, all the members suffer with it; if one member is [1]honored, all the members rejoice with it.
27 Now you are [a]Christ's body, and [b]individually members of it.
28 And God has [1][a]appointed in [b]the church, first [c]apostles, second [d]prophets, third [e]teachers, then [2][f]miracles, then [g]gifts of healings, helps, [h]administrations, various [i]kinds of tongues.
29 All are not apostles, are they? All are not prophets, are they? All are not teachers, are they? All are not workers of [1]miracles, are they?
30 All do not have gifts of healings, do they? All do not speak with tongues, do they? All do not [a]interpret, do they?
31 But [a]earnestly desire the greater gifts.
And I show you a still more excellent way.

The Excellence of Love

12:18 Paul stresses the sovereign purpose of God in diversifying the parts of the body; by implication he is saying that God has arranged that different Christians in the body of Christ exercise different spiritual gifts, not the same gift. And this diversity is intended to accomplish God's unified purpose. God's method employs diversity to create unity.
12:21–26 Addressed mainly to those who feel that their gifts are superior and most important. These verses provide another indication that some gifts, like tongues, had been magnified as being preeminent.
12:21 The principle here is the interdependence of the parts of the body in the one whole. Christians in the body of Christ are mutually dependent as they exercise their distinctive functions.
12:22 weaker are necessary. Christians who seem to have less important functions in the body of Christ are actually indispensable.
12:23 those members of the body which we deem less honorable, on these we bestow more abundant honor. Just as we give food to the stomach, though it is a less attractive part of the body, so we should give honor and support to the Christians in the church who have ordinary gifts (in their functions). our less presentable members become much more presentable. Christians whose functions may be very obscure in the church are to be given special respect.
12:24 Persons with more spectacular gifts do not need to be given special honor.
12:25 no division. See 1:10–12.
12:26 all the members suffer. In the body of Christ if one Christian suffers, all the Christians are affected (cf. Acts 12:1–5—the martyrdom of James and the imprisonment of Peter).
12:27 you are Christ's body. Addressed to the local church at Corinth. Each local church is the body of Christ just as the universal church is Christ's body.
12:28 The list here differs somewhat from that in vv. 8–10 (see notes there). Paul notes three of the gifted individuals of Eph 4:11, then five of the spiritual gifts listed in vv. 8–10. The apostles and prophets were part of the foundation of the church (Eph 2:20), and teaching was associated with the pastoral office (Eph 4:11; 1 Tim 3:2). These three gifted individuals are listed as "first," "second" and "third," indicating their importance in the church. The rest of the list is introduced with "then," indicating the variety that follows. Paul's lists of spiritual gifts seem to be largely random samples. Apart from v. 28a he does not rank them in importance since he has already insisted that all gifts are important (vv. 21–26). apostles. Those chosen by Christ during His earthly ministry to be with Him and to go out and preach (Mark 3:14). They were also to be witnesses of the resurrection (Acts 1:21–22). The term may occasionally have been used in a broader sense (Rom 16:7; Gal 1:19). miracles . . . healings . . . tongues. See notes on vv. 9–10. helps. Any act of helping others may be the product of a spiritual gift (cf. Rom 12:6–8), though the primary reference here is probably to a ministry to the poor, needy, sick and distressed (cf. Acts 6:1–6). administrations. Those with gifts of administration were enabled by the Holy Spirit to organize and project plans and spiritual programs in the church.
12:29–30 All are not apostles. Christians have different gifts, and no one gift should be expected by everyone.
12:31 earnestly desire the greater gifts. See v. 28; 14:1,5,12,39. An alternative translation could be "you are eagerly desiring . . . ." If this is correct, the Corinthians were apparently seeking status through the exercise of the gifts that seemed to them to be more important. a still more excellent way. Paul now shows the right way to exercise all spiritual gifts—the way of love. He does not identify love as a gift; rather, it is a fruit of the Spirit (Gal 5:22).
13:1–3 tongues . . . prophecy . . . faith . . . give. Paul selects four gifts as examples. He declares that even their most spectacular manifestations mean nothing unless motivated by love.
13:1 tongues of men and of angels. Paul uses hyperbole. Even if he could speak not only the various languages that human beings speak but even the languages used by angels—if he did not speak in love, it would be nothing but noise. love. The

2 If I have the gift of [a]prophecy, and know all [b]mysteries and all [c]knowledge; and if I have [d]all faith, so as to [e]remove mountains, but do not have love, I am nothing.

3 And if I [a]give all my possessions to feed the poor, and if I [b]surrender my body [1]to be burned, but do not have love, it profits me nothing.

4 Love [a]is patient, love is kind and [b]is not jealous; love does not brag and is not [c]arrogant,

5 does not act unbecomingly; it [a]does not seek its own, is not provoked, [b]does not take into account a wrong suffered,

6 [a]does not rejoice in unrighteousness, but [b]rejoices with the truth;

7 [1][a]bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.

8 Love never fails; but if there are gifts of [1][a]prophecy, they will be done away; if there are [b]tongues, they will cease; if there is knowledge, it will be done away.

9 For we [a]know in part and we prophesy in part;

10 but when the perfect comes, the partial will be done away.

11 When I was a child, I used to speak like a child, think like a child, reason like a child; when I [1]became a man, I did away with childish things.

12 For now we [a]see in a mirror [1]dimly, but then [b]face to face; now I know in part, but then I will know fully just as I also [c]have been fully known.

13 But now faith, hope, love, abide these three; but the [1]greatest of these is [a]love.

3 But one who prophesies speaks to men for [a]edification and [b]exhortation and consolation.

4 One who [a]speaks in a tongue [b]edifies himself; but one who [c]prophesies [b]edifies the church.

Greek for this word indicates a selfless concern for the welfare of others that is not called forth by any quality of lovableness in the person loved, but is the product of a will to love in obedience to God's command. It is like Christ's love manifested on the cross (cf. John 13:34–35; 1 John 3:16).

13:2 all mysteries and all knowledge. Again Paul uses hyperbole to express the amount of understanding possessed. Even if one's gift is unlimited knowledge, if one does not possess and exercise that knowledge in love, he is nothing. faith, so as to remove mountains. A special capacity to trust God to meet outstanding needs. Again Paul uses hyperbole.

13:3 surrender my body to be burned. A reference to suffering martyrdom through burning at the stake, as many early Christians experienced. Even the supreme sacrifice, if not motivated by love, accomplishes nothing.

13:4–7 Love is now described both positively and negatively.

13:4 not arrogant. See 8:1.

13:5 not act unbecomingly. Perhaps an indirect reference to their unruly conduct in worship (11:18–22).

13:6 does not rejoice in unrighteousness. As they were doing in ch. 5.

13:8 prophecy . . . will be done away; . . . tongues . . . will cease; . . . knowledge . . . will be done away. These three will cease because they are partial in nature (v. 9) and will be unnecessary when what is complete has come (v. 10).

13:10 the perfect. The Greek for this word can mean "end," "fulfillment," "completeness" or "maturity." In this context the contrast is between the partial and the complete. Some refer the verse to the return of Christ, others to the death of the Christian, others to the maturity (or establishment) of the church (see the illustration in v. 11), still others to the completion of the canon of NT Scripture. Verse 12, however, seems to indicate that Paul is here speaking of Christ's second coming.

13:12 we see in a mirror dimly. The imagery is of a polished metal (probably bronze) mirror in which one could receive only an imperfect reflection (cf. James 1:23)—in contrast to seeing the Lord directly and clearly in heaven. know fully . . . fully known. The Christian will know the Lord to the fullest extent possible for a finite being, similar to the way the Lord knows the Christian fully and infinitely. This will not be true until the Lord returns.

13:13 faith, hope and love. See note on 1 Thess 1:3. abide. Now and forever. the greatest of these is love. Because God is love (1John 4:8) and has communicated His love to us (1John 4:10) and commands us to love one another (John 13:34–35). Love supersedes the gifts because it outlasts them all. Long after these sought-after gifts are no longer necessary, love will still be the governing principle that controls all that God and His redeemed people are and do.

14:1–5 The basic principle Paul insists on is that whatever is done in the church must contribute to the edification (building up) of the body. This is in keeping with the declaration in 12:7 that gifts are "given for the common good." It also is in agreement with the principle of love (ch. 13). What is spoken in the church, then, must be intelligible—it must be spoken in the vernacular language or at least be interpreted in the vernacular. Prophecy is therefore more desirable than tongues (unless an interpreter is present) because prophecy is spoken in the native language of the listeners.

14:1 Pursue love . . . spiritual gifts. Love is the means by which spiritual gifts are made effective. especially that you may prophesy. See note on 12:10.

14:2 tongue. Or "another language" (also in vv. 4,13,14,19, 26,27). The hearers cannot understand what the person who speaks in a tongue is saying. Therefore what he says is a mystery unless it is interpreted. Only God understands it. in his spirit. It is not spoken from his mind (see vv. 14–17).

14:3 In prophesying the speaker can edify and encourage others (12:7).

14:4 edifies himself. This edification does not involve the mind since the speaker does not understand what he has said. It is a personal edification in the area of the emotions, of deepening conviction, of fuller commitment and greater love.

5 Now I wish that you all [a]spoke in tongues, but [b]even more that you would prophesy; and greater is one who prophesies than one who [a]speaks in tongues, unless he interprets, so that the church may receive [c]edifying.

6 But now, brethren, if I come to you speaking in tongues, what will I profit you unless I speak to you either by way of [a]revelation or of [b]knowledge or of [c]prophecy or of [d]teaching?

7 Yet even lifeless things, either flute or harp, in producing a sound, if they do not produce a distinction in the tones, how will it be known what is played on the flute or on the harp?

8 For if [a]the [1]bugle produces an indistinct sound, who will prepare himself for battle?

9 So also you, unless you utter by the tongue speech that is clear, how will it be known what is spoken? For you will be [a]speaking into the air.

10 There are, perhaps, a great many kinds of [1]languages in the world, and no kind is without meaning.

11 If then I do not know the meaning of the language, I will be to the one who speaks a [1][a]barbarian, and the one who speaks will be a [1]barbarian [2]to me.

12 So also you, since you are zealous of [1]spiritual gifts, seek to abound for the [a]edification of the church.

13 Therefore let one who speaks in a tongue pray that he may interpret.

14 For if I pray in a tongue, my spirit prays, but my mind is unfruitful.

15 [a]What is the outcome then? I will pray with the spirit and I will pray with the mind also; I will [b]sing with the spirit and I will sing with the mind also.

16 Otherwise if you bless [1]in the spirit only, how will the one who fills the place of the [2]ungifted say [a]the "Amen" at your [b]giving of thanks, since he does not know what you are saying?

17 For you are giving thanks well enough, but the other person is not [a]edified.

18 I thank God, I speak in tongues more than you all;

19 however, in the church I desire to speak five words with my mind so that I may instruct others also, rather than ten thousand words in a tongue.

Instruction for the Church

20 [a]Brethren, [b]do not be children in your thinking; yet in evil [c]be infants, but in your thinking be mature.

21 In [a]the Law it is written, "[b]BY MEN OF STRANGE TONGUES AND BY THE LIPS OF STRANGERS I WILL SPEAK TO THIS PEOPLE, AND EVEN SO THEY WILL NOT LISTEN TO ME," says the Lord.

22 So then tongues are for a sign, not to those who believe but to unbelievers; but [a]prophecy is for a sign, not to unbelievers but to those who believe.

23 Therefore if the whole church assembles together and all speak in tongues, and 14:5 wish that you all spoke in tongues. Paul was not opposed to tongues-speaking if it was practiced properly. greater is the one who prophesies. Because he serves the common good more effectively since what he says can be understood and thus edifies the church. unless he interprets. If the tongues-speaker also has the gift of interpretation, his speaking is as beneficial as prophecy, for then it can be understood (see v. 13).

14:6 what will I profit you . . . ? It would be useless for a person to speak in tongues unless, by interpretation, he brings the church something understandable and edifying.

14:7 flute or harp. Instruments that were well known in Greece. distinction in the tones. For a person to recognize the tune and to understand and appreciate it, there must be a variety of notes so arranged as to create a meaningful tune. One note repeated monotonously cannot accomplish this.

14:8 the bugle . . . prepare himself for battle. All Greeks would be acquainted with the use of the trumpet for battle signals (cf. Homer's Iliad, 18.219), and the Jews would be familiar with the use of the ram's horn (Num 10:9; Josh 6:4,9). Again, the notes sounded must convey a message.

14:9 speech that is clear. Speak in the vernacular language of the listeners rather than in a tongue (or else provide an interpretation).

14:10 many kinds of languages. Some see vv. 10–11 as an indication that the tongues of chs. 12–14 were unlearned foreign languages.

14:12 abound for the edification of the church. The basic principle of ch. 14.

14:14 mind is unfruitful. When a person speaks in tongues or prays in tongues, the human mind does not produce the language.

14:15–17 pray . . . sing . . . bless . . . say the "Amen" . . . giving of thanks. Elements employed in OT (1 Chr 16:36; Neh 5:13; 8:6; Ps 104:33; 136:1; 148:1) and NT worship (Rom 11:36; Eph 5:18–20). "Amen," meaning "It is true" or "So be it," is the believer's confession of agreement with the words spoken (cf. Gal 1:5). Thus it is important that a message in tongues be interpreted.

14:15 pray with the spirit . . . with the mind . . . sing with the spirit . . . with the mind. May mean that Paul will sometimes pray or sing with his spirit in a tongue; at other times he will pray or sing with his mind in his own language. Others believe that Paul was declaring his intention to pray or sing with both mind and spirit at the same time.

14:19 however, in the church. Some believe that an interpretation is unnecessary when the gift of tongues is being used as a private prayer language. They base such a distinction on v. 18 (see v. 14) when compared with the phrase quoted here.

14:20 in evil be infants. Just as in the case of infants, have no evil desires or wrong motives in wanting to excel in spiritual gifts (such as speaking in tongues) as an end in itself.

14:21–22 The passage from Is 28 indicates that the foreign language of the Assyrians was a sign to unbelieving Israel that judgment was coming on them. Paul deduced from this fact that tongues were intended to be a sign for unbelievers (v. 22), as, e.g., in Acts 2:4–12. Similarly, prophecy was for believers (v. 22) since it communicated revealed truth to those disposed to receive it (cf. Matt 13:11–16).

14:21 In the Law. Cf. Rom 3:10–19, where Paul quotes from a number of passages from the OT, including Isaiah, and then in v. 19 collectively calls them "the Law."

[1]ungifted men or unbelievers enter, will they not say that [a]you are mad?

24 But if all [a]prophesy, and an unbeliever or an [1]ungifted man enters, he is [b]convicted by all, he is called to account by all;

25 [a]the secrets of his heart are disclosed; and so he will [b]fall on his face and worship God, [c]declaring that God is certainly among you.

27 If anyone speaks in a [a]tongue, it should be by two or at the most three, and each in turn, and one must [b]interpret;

28 but if there is no interpreter, he must keep silent in the church; and let him speak to himself and to God.

14:23 ungifted men. Perhaps those untaught in spiritual gifts (see 12:1), or perhaps inquirers into the Christian faith. unbelievers. Those who have made no movement toward saving faith. The context is a meeting of the church in which everyone is speaking in tongues with the result that general confusion reigns. you are mad. The visitors will be repulsed by the confusion, and the phenomenon meant to be an impressive sign will have a negative effect on the unsaved.

14:24 all prophesy. Prophecy, spoken in the vernacular language and intended for believers, turns out to have a positive effect on unbelievers because they hear and understand and are convicted of their sins. (Yet see restrictions on prophesying in vv. 29–32 and notes there.)

14:26–27 each one . . . anyone . . . one. The stress here is again on the diversity and yet complementary nature of spiritual gifts. It is also apparent that every member could participate, not just certain leaders or officers.

14:26 a psalm . . . a teaching . . . a revelation . . . a tongue . . . an interpretation. Elements that made up the worship service at Corinth. Some of these elements (the hymn and the word of instruction) came from OT and synagogue worship (cf. Matt 26:30; Luke 4:16–22). All parts of Christian worship should be edifying to the church.

14:27–28 Three restrictions are placed on speaking in a tongue "in the church" (v. 28): 1. Only two or three should do so in a meeting. 2. They should do so one at a time. 3. There must be interpretation.

14:28 he must keep silent. The implication seems to be that it was up to the one speaking in a tongue in the Corinthian church to make certain that there was in the audience someone to interpret his message.

14:29 Let two or three prophets speak. Apparently in turn (v. 31), as with the tongues-speakers (v. 27). pass judgment. The prophets themselves were to decide whether the messages of their fellow prophets were valid (see note on v. 32).

14:30 a revelation. Not an inspired revelation intended to become a part of written Scripture. In OT times, Scriptural revelation came through prophets, and in NT times through apostles or close associates of apostles. Prophecy referred to in chs. 12–14 could come through any member of the church (vv. 26,29–31). It could be a prediction (Agabus, Acts 11:28; 21:10–11), a divine directive (Acts 13:1–2) or a message designed to strengthen, encourage or comfort (v. 3).

14:32 subject to prophets. Prophecy (and tongues as well) was not an uncontrollable emotional ecstasy. Paul insists that these gifts should be controlled by the recipients themselves (vv. 15, 26–32). See notes on vv. 27–29.

14:33 God . . . of peace. See note on 1 Thess 5:23. confusion. Paul was concerned that disorderly and unregulated worship at Corinth would bring discredit on the name of the God who had called them in Christ to peace and unity. In all the churches of the saints. A unique expression in the NT that stresses the universality and commonality of the whole visible church of God on earth. All congregations are to obey the directives that follow.

14:34–35 See note on 11:3–16. Some believe that in light of 11:3 there is a God-ordained order that is to be the basis for administration and authority. Women are to be in submission to their husbands both at home (see Eph 5:22) and in the church (see v. 34; 1 Tim 2:11–12) regardless of their particular culture. According to this view, a timeless order was established at creation (see note on 11:5–6).

Others maintain that Paul's concern is that the church be strengthened (v. 26) by believers showing respect for others (see vv. 30–31) and for God (see v. 33) as they exercise their spiritual gifts. Such respect must necessarily take account of accepted social practices. If within a particular social order, it is disgraceful for a woman to speak in church—and it was in this case (v. 35)—then she shows disrespect by doing so and should remain silent. There were occasions, though—even in this culture—for women to speak in church. For example, in 11:5 Paul assumes that women pray and prophesy in public worship. Thus his purpose, according to this view, was not to define the role of women but to establish a fitting (vv. 34–35) and orderly (vv. 27–31) way of worship (v. 40).

Still others say that in this context Paul is discussing primarily the disruption of worship by women who become involved in noisy discussions surrounding tongues-speaking and prophecy. Instead of publicly clamoring for explanations, the wives were to discuss matters with their husbands at home (cf. v. 35). Paul does not altogether forbid women to speak in church (see 11:5). What he is forbidding is the disorderly speaking indicated in these verses.

14:36 Paul asks these rhetorical questions sarcastically, suggesting that the Corinthians were following their own practice in these matters rather than conforming to God's word.

[b]spiritual, let him recognize that the things which I write to you [c]are the Lord's commandment.

38 But if anyone does not recognize this, he [1]is not recognized.

14:37 the Lord's commandment. Paul's commands are the Lord's commands and are to be followed. In a situation where so much stress was being placed on gifts, Paul insists that any genuinely gifted person will recognize the apostle's God-given authority.
14:38 he is not recognized. Paul and the churches will ignore such a disobedient person, and so he will be regarded as an unbeliever.
14:39 do not forbid to speak in tongues. Paul's solution to the tongues problem in the Corinthian church was not to forbid tongues, but to correct the improper use of the gift.
14:40 properly and in an orderly manner. As spelled out in vv. 26–35.
15:2 if you hold fast. See note on Heb 3:14. believed in vain. If you are not persevering in the Christian faith, this is an evidence that you did not have saving faith in the first place (cf. Judas Iscariot, who eventually showed that he was not a true believer).
15:3–5 Two lines of evidence for the death and resurrection of Christ are given here: (1) the testimony of the OT (e.g., Ps 16:8–11; Is 53:5–6,11) and (2) the testimony of eyewitnesses (Acts 1:21–22). Six resurrection appearances are listed here. The Gospels give more.
15:3 I delivered to you as of first importance what I also received. Here Paul links himself with early Christian tradition. He was not its originator, nor did he receive it directly from the Lord. His source was other Christians. The verbs he uses are technical terms for receiving and transmitting tradition (see note on 11:23). What follows is the heart of the gospel: that Christ died for our sins (not for His own sins; cf. Heb 7:27), that He was buried (confirmation that He had really died) and that He was raised from the dead.
15:4 on the third day. Cf. Matt 12:40. The Jews counted parts of days as whole days. Thus the three days would include part of Friday afternoon, all of Saturday, and Sunday morning. A similar way of reckoning time is seen in John 20:26 (lit. "after eight days," NASB "a week later"); two Sundays are implied, one at each end of the expression.
15:5 Cephas . . . the twelve. The appearance to Peter is the one mentioned in Luke 24:34, which occurred on Easter Sunday. The appearance to the twelve seems to have taken place on Sunday evening (see Luke 24:36–43; John 20:19–23). "The twelve" seems to have been used to refer to the group of original apostles, even though Judas was no longer with them (notice, however, that the 11 disciples, the 11 apostles or "the eleven" are referred to in Matt 28:16; Mark 16:14; Luke 24:9,33; Acts 1:26).
15:6 more than five hundred . . . at one time. The appearance to this large group may be mentioned to help bolster the faith of those Corinthians who evidently had some doubts about the resurrection of Christ (cf. v. 12). This appearance may be the one in Galilee recorded in Matt 28:10,16–20, where the eleven and possibly more met the risen Lord. some have fallen asleep. A common expression at that time for physical death (cf. Acts 7:60).
15:7 James. Since this James is listed in addition to the apostles, he is not James son of Zebedee or James son of Alphaeus (Matt 10:2–3). This is James, the half-brother of Jesus (Matt 13:55), who did not believe in Christ before the resurrection (John 7:5) but afterward joined the apostolic band (Acts 1:14) and later became prominent in the Jerusalem church (Acts 15:13). It is not clear in Scripture when and where this appearance to James occurred. to all the apostles. For example, Acts 1:6–11.
15:8 last of all. See Acts 9:1–8. This appearance to Paul came several years after the resurrection (perhaps c. A.D. 33). one untimely born. Paul was not part of the original group of apostles. He had not lived with Christ as the others had. His entry into the apostolic office was not at the same time ("untimely") as the others. Furthermore, at his conversion he was abruptly snatched from his former way of life (Acts 9:3–6).
15:9 church of God. In persecuting the church, he was actually persecuting Christ (see Acts 9:4–5).
15:12–19 Some at Corinth were saying that there was no resurrection of the body, and Paul draws a number of conclusions from this false contention. If the dead do not rise from the grave, then (1) "not even Christ has been raised" (v. 13); (2) "our preaching is vain" (v. 14); (3) "your faith also is vain" (v. 14); (4) we are "false witnesses" that God raised Christ from the dead (v. 15); among you say that there [a]is no resurrection of the dead?

13 But if there is no resurrection of the dead, not even Christ has been raised;

14 and [a]if Christ has not been raised, then our preaching is vain, your faith also is vain.

15 Moreover we are even found to be false witnesses of God, because we testified [1]against God that He [a]raised [2]Christ, whom He did not raise, if in fact the dead are not raised.

16 For if the dead are not raised, not even Christ has been raised;

17 and if Christ has not been raised, your faith is worthless; [a]you are still in your sins.

18 Then those also who [a]have fallen asleep in Christ have perished.

19 If we have hoped in Christ in this life only, we are [a]of all men most to be pitied.

The Order of Resurrection

20 But now Christ [a]has been raised from the dead, the [b]first fruits of those who [c]are asleep.

21 For since [a]by a man came death, by a man also came the resurrection of the dead.

22 For [a]as in Adam all die, so also in [1]Christ all will be made alive.

23 But each in his own order: Christ [a]the first fruits, after that [b]those who are Christ's at [c]His coming,

24 then comes the end, when He hands over [a]the kingdom to the [b]God and Father, when He has abolished [c]all rule and all authority and power.

25 For He must reign [a]until He has put all His enemies under His feet.

26 The last enemy that will be [a]abolished is death.

27 For [a]HE HAS PUT ALL THINGS IN SUBJECTION UNDER HIS FEET. But when He says, "[b]All things are put in subjection," it is evident that He is excepted who put all things in subjection to Him.

28 When [a]all things are subjected to Him, then the Son Himself also will be subjected to the One who subjected all things to Him, so that [b]God may be all in all.

29 Otherwise, what will those do who are baptized for the dead? If the dead are not raised at all, why then are they baptized for them?

30 Why are we also [a]in danger every hour?

15:12 He has been raised. Christ was raised historically on the third day. Paul uses this same verb form (that expresses the certainty of Christ's bodily resurrection) a total of seven times in this passage (vv. 4,12–14,16–17,20).

15:20 now Christ has been raised. Paul's categorical conclusion based on his evidence set forth in vv. 3–8. first fruits. The first sheaf of the harvest given to the Lord (Lev 23:10–11,17,20) as a token that all the harvest belonged to the Lord and would be dedicated to Him through dedicated lives. So Christ, who has been raised, is the guarantee of the resurrection of all of God's redeemed people (cf. 1 Thess 4:13–18).

15:21 by a man came death. Through Adam (Gen 3:17–19). by a man also came the resurrection of the dead. Through Christ, the second Adam, "the last Adam" (v. 45; cf. Rom 5:12–21).

15:22 in Adam all die. All who are "in Adam"—i.e., his descendants—suffer death. in Christ all will be made alive. All who are "in Christ"—i.e., who are related to Him by faith—will be made alive at the resurrection (cf. John 5:25; 1 Thess 4:16–17; Rev 20:6).

15:23 each in his own order. Christ, the first fruits, was raised in His own time in history (c. A.D. 30), and those who are identified with Christ by faith will be raised at His second coming. His resurrection is the pledge that ours will follow.

15:24 the end. The second coming of Christ and all the events accompanying it. This includes His handing over the kingdom to the Father, following His destroying all dominion, authority and power of the persons and forces who oppose Him.

15:25 For He must reign. During this process of Christ's destroying all dominion and handing over the kingdom to the Father, Christ must reign (Rev 20:1–6). Some take this to mean that Christ will literally reign with His saints for 1,000 years on the earth (cf. Is 2:2–4; Mic 4:1–5). Others believe that this refers to Christ's reign over the course of history and in the lives of His people, who are spiritually raised, or born again. This reign is viewed as continuing throughout the present age. under His feet. An OT figure for complete conquest. Verse 25 is an allusion to Ps 110:1 (cf. Matt 22:44).

15:26 This destruction of death will occur at the end of the second-coming events after Christ conquers His enemies (Rev 19:11–21; 20:5–14), at the great white throne judgment (when death and Hades will be thrown into the lake of fire).

15:28 the Son Himself also will be subjected to the One. The Son will be made subject to the Father in the sense that administratively, after He subjects all things to His power, He will then turn it all over to God the Father, the administrative head. This is not to suggest that the Son is in any way inferior to the Father. All three persons of the Trinity are equal in deity and in dignity. The subordination referred to is one of function (see note on 11:3). The Father is supreme in the Trinity; the Son carries out the Father's will (e.g., in creation, redemption); the Spirit is sent by the Father and the Son to vitalize life, communicate God's truth, apply His salvation to people and enable them to obey God's will (or word). so that God may be all in all. The triune God will be shown to be supreme and sovereign in all things.

15:29 those . . . who are baptized for the dead. The present tense suggests that at Corinth people were currently being baptized for the dead. But because Paul does not give any more information about the practice, many attempts have been made to interpret the concept. Three of these are: 1. Living believers were being baptized for believers who died before they were baptized, so that they too, in a sense, would not miss out on baptism. 2. Christians were being baptized in anticipation of the resurrection of the dead. 3. New converts were being baptized to fill the ranks of Christians who had died. At any rate, Paul mentions this custom almost in passing, using it in his arguments substantiating the resurrection of the dead, but without necessarily approving the practice. Probably the passage will always remain obscure.

15:30 Why are we also in danger every hour? If there is no res-

31 I affirm, brethren, by the boasting in you which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, [a]I die daily.

32 If [1]from human motives I [a]fought with wild beasts at [b]Ephesus, what does it profit me? If the dead are not raised, [c]LET US EAT AND DRINK, FOR TOMORROW WE DIE.

33 [a]Do not be deceived: "Bad company corrupts good morals."

34 [a]Become sober-minded [1]as you ought, and stop sinning; for some have [b]no knowledge of God. [c]I speak this to your shame.

35 But [a]someone will say, "How are [b]the dead raised? And with what kind of body do they come?"

36 [a]You fool! That which you [b]sow does not come to life unless it dies;

37 and that which you sow, you do not sow the body which is to be, but a bare grain, perhaps of wheat or of [1]something else.

38 But God gives it a body just as He wished, and [a]to each of the seeds a body of its own.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one flesh of men, and another flesh of beasts, and another flesh of birds, and another of fish.

40 There are also heavenly bodies and earthly bodies, but the glory of the heavenly is one, and the glory of the earthly is another.

41 There is one glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars; for star differs from star in glory.

42 [a]So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown [1][b]a perishable body, it is raised [2][c]an imperishable body;

43 it is sown in dishonor, it is raised in [a]glory; it is sown in weakness, it is raised in power;

44 it is sown a [a]natural body, it is raised a [b]spiritual body. If there is a natural body, there is also a spiritual body.

45 So also it is written, "The first [a]MAN, Adam, BECAME A LIVING SOUL." The [b]last Adam became a [c]life-giving spirit.

46 However, the spiritual is not first, but the natural; then the spiritual.

47 The first man is [a]from the earth, [1][b]earthy; the second man is from heaven.

48 As is the earthy, so also are those who are earthy; and as is the heavenly, [a]so also are those who are heavenly.

49 Just as we have [a]borne the image of the earthy, [1]we [b]will also bear the image of the heavenly.

The Mystery of Resurrection

50 Now I say this, brethren, that [a]flesh and blood cannot [b]inherit the kingdom of God; nor does [1]the perishable inherit [2][c]the imperishable.

urrection, why should we suffer persecution and privation for Christ every day (cf. 2 Cor 11:23–29)?

15:32 I fought with wild beasts at Ephesus. This statement can be taken literally or figuratively. But since from Acts 19 we have no evidence of Paul suffering imprisonment and having to face the lions, it is more likely that the expression means that the enemies in Ephesus were as ferocious as wild beasts. LET US EAT AND DRINK, FOR TOMORROW WE DIE. See Is 22:13; a fitting philosophy of life if there is no resurrection.

15:33 A quotation from the Greek comedy Thais written by the Greek poet Menander, whose writings the Corinthians would know. The application of the quotation is that those who are teaching that there is no resurrection (v. 12) are the "bad company," and they are corrupting the "good morals" of those who hold to the correct doctrine. Cf. Prov 13:20.

15:34 stop sinning. The sin of denying that there is a resurrection and thus doubting even the resurrection of Christ, all of which had a negative effect on the lives they were living. some have no knowledge of God. Even in the Corinthian church. This, Paul says, is a shameful situation.

15:35–49 In discussing the nature of the resurrection body, Paul compares it to plant life (vv. 36–38), to fleshly beings (v. 39) and to celestial and earthly physical bodies (vv. 40–41).

15:36–38 Plant organisms, though organized similarly in their own order, are different; the seed sown is related to the new plant that sprouts, but the new sprout has a different and genuinely new body that God has given it.

15:39 All flesh is not the same. Although there is much that is similar in the organizational character of fleshly beings, each species is different: man, animals, birds, fish.

15:40–41 Here the analogy involves inanimate objects of creation: the sun, moon and stars with their differing splendor, and the earthly bodies (possibly the great mountains, canyons and seas) with their splendor. In it all, God can take similar physical material and organize it differently to accomplish His purpose.

15:42–44 In applying these analogies, the apostle says that in the case of the resurrection of the dead, God will take a perishable, dishonorable, weak (and sinful) body—"a natural body" characterized by sin—and in the resurrection make it an imperishable, glorious, powerful body. "Spiritual body" does not mean a nonmaterial body but, from the analogies, a physical one similar to the present natural body organizationally, but radically different in that it will be imperishable, glorious and powerful, fit to live eternally with God. There is continuity, but there is also change.

15:44–49 The contrast here between the natural body and the spiritual body again follows from their two representatives (see notes on vv. 21–22). One is the first Adam, who had a natural body of the dust of the ground (Gen 2:7) and through whom a natural body is given to his descendants. The other is the last Adam, Christ, the life-giving spirit (cf. John 5:26) who through His death and resurrection will at the second coming give His redeemed people a spiritual body—physical, yet imperishable, without corruption, and adaptable to live with God forever (cf. Phil 3:21). It will be a body similar to Christ's resurrected, glorified physical body (cf. Luke 24:36–43).

15:46 Adam, the earthly man, and his descendants received natural, earthly bodies. Christ, the last Adam, the man from heaven who became incarnate in a human body, received a glorified, spiritual body following His resurrection. Similarly, His redeemed people will receive a spiritual body.

15:50 Paul's final argument about the resurrection of the body: God's redeemed people must have newly organized, imperishable bodies to live with him. "Flesh and blood" stands for perishable, corrupt, weak, sinful human beings.

51 Behold, I tell you a [a]mystery; we will not all sleep, but we will all be [b]changed, 52 in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet; for [a]the trumpet will sound, and [b]the dead will be raised [1]imperishable, and [c]we will be changed.
53 For this [1]perishable must put on [2a]the imperishable, and this [b]mortal must put on immortality.
54 But when this [1]perishable will have put on [2]the imperishable, and this mortal will have put on immortality, then will come about the saying that is written, "[a]DEATH IS SWALLOWED UP in victory.
55 "[a]O DEATH, WHERE IS YOUR VICTORY? O DEATH, WHERE IS YOUR STING?"
56 The sting of [a]death is sin, and [b]the power of sin is the law;
57 but [a]thanks be to God, who gives us the [b]victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.
58 [a]Therefore, my beloved brethren, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in [b]the work of the Lord, knowing that your toil is not in vain in the Lord.

Instructions and Greetings

16 Now concerning [a]the collection for [b]the saints, as [c]I directed the churches of [d]Galatia, so do you also.
2 On [a]the first day of every week each one of you is to [1]put aside and save, as he may prosper, so that [b]no collections be made when I come.
3 When I arrive, [a]whomever you may approve, I will send them with letters to carry your gift to Jerusalem;
4 and if it is fitting for me to go also, they will go with me.
5 But I [a]will come to you after I go through [b]Macedonia, for I [c]am going through Macedonia;
6 and perhaps I will stay with you, or even spend the winter, so that you may [a]send me on my way wherever I may go.
7 For I do not wish to see you now [a]just in passing; for I hope to remain with you for some time, [b]if the Lord permits.
8 But I will remain in [a]Ephesus until [b]Pentecost;
9 for a [a]wide door [1]for effective service has opened to me, and [b]there are many adversaries.
10 Now if [a]Timothy comes, see that he is with you without [1]cause to be afraid, for he is doing [b]the Lord's work, as I also am.
11 [a]So let no one despise him. But [b]send 15:51 mystery. Things about the resurrection body that were not understood but are now revealed (see note on Rom 11:25). we will not all sleep. Some believers will not experience death and the grave. we will all be changed. All believers, whether alive when Jesus comes again or in the grave, will receive changed, imperishable bodies.

15:52 in a moment. The change to an imperishable body will occur instantly at the last trumpet call. Some refer this to the "loud trumpet call" of Matt 24:31 or the seventh trumpet of Rev 11:15, others to the rapture (the snatching away) of God's people (cf. 1 Thess 4:16), which they hold will take place before Christ's (and their) return to reign on earth (cf. Rev 19:11–16; 20:1–6). we will be changed. Paul lived in anticipation of Christ's return, as all believers should.
15:56 The sting of death is sin. It was sin that brought us under death's power—it was Adam's sin that brought his death and ultimately ours (see Rom 5:12). the power of sin is the law. The law of God gives sin its power, for it reveals our sin and condemns us because of our sin.
15:57 victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. Victory over the condemnation for sin that the law brought (v. 56) and over death and the grave (vv. 54–55), through the death and resurrection of Christ (cf. Rom 4:25).
15:58 Therefore. Because of Christ's resurrection and ours, we know that serving Him is not empty, useless activity. your toil is not in vain in the Lord. Our effort is invested in the Lord's winning cause. He will also reward us at His second coming (Matt 25:21; cf. Luke 19:17).
16:1 Now concerning. Again an answer to one of the questions of the Corinthians (cf. 7:1; 8:1; 12:1). the saints. God's people at Jerusalem (cf. v. 3; Rom 15:26). churches of Galatia. The fact that the Galatian and Macedonian churches (2 Cor 8:1; 9:1–4) are involved, along with the Corinthians, indicates that the collection of this offering was quite widespread. The Jerusalem saints may have become poverty-stricken because of the famine recorded in Acts 11:28 (c. A.D. 44 or 46), or because of the persecution of Jerusalem Christians (cf. Acts 8:1).
16:2 On the first day of every week each one of you is to put aside. Every Sunday each person was to bring what he had set aside for the Lord's work—an amount proportionate to his income. Since it was to be brought on Sunday, the new day for worship (cf. Acts 20:7; Rev 1:10), probably it was collected at the worship service, not at home. Justin Martyr indicates (in his Apology, 1.67–68) that in his time (c. A.D. 150) offerings were brought to the church on Sundays.
16:3 For proper financial accountability and responsibility these approved men would act as auditors and guardians of the funds the Corinthians gave (cf. 2 Cor 8:16–21).
16:4 if it is fitting for me to go also. Possibly to take care of important missionary business, or to be there to explain about the gift when it arrives.
16:5 after I go through Macedonia. After leaving Ephesus (v. 8), where he was when he wrote 1 Corinthians, Paul planned to go up to Macedonia, no doubt to visit the Philippians and others in northern Greece, and then to Corinth. He had originally planned to go to Corinth first and then to Macedonia but thought it best to change his plans (see 2 Cor 1:12–2:4).
16:6 even spend the winter. Probably the three-month stay in Greece mentioned in Acts 20:3. send me on my way. With supplies and equipment, and certainly with prayers and goodwill. However, Paul had indicated earlier in the letter (9:7–12) that he did not want to be a financial burden to them.
16:8 until Pentecost. The 50th day (Pentecost means "50") after Passover, when the Jews celebrated the Feast of First fruits (Lev 23:10–16)—late spring.
16:9 many adversaries. Probably a reference to the pagan craftsmen who made the silver shrines of Artemis and to the general populace whom they had stirred up (Acts 19:23–34).
16:10 if Timothy comes. In Acts 19:22 Paul sends Timothy (and Erastus) into Macedonia, after which Timothy was to go on to him on his way [c]in peace, so that he may come to me; for I expect him with the brethren.

12 But concerning [a]Apollos our brother, I encouraged him greatly to come to you with the brethren; and it was not at all his desire to come now, but he will come when he has opportunity.

13 [a]Be on the alert, [b]stand firm in the faith, [c]act like men, [d]be strong.

14 Let all that you do be done [a]in love.

15 Now I urge you, brethren (you know the [a]household of Stephanas, that [1]they were the [b]first fruits of [c]Achaia, and that they have devoted themselves for [d]ministry to [e]the saints), 16 that [a]you also be in subjection to such men and to everyone who helps in the work and labors.

17 I rejoice over the [1][a]coming of Stephanas and Fortunatus and Achaicus, because they have [2]supplied [b]what was lacking on your part.

18 For they [a]have refreshed my spirit and yours. Therefore [b]acknowledge such men.

19 The churches of [a]Asia greet you. [b]Aquila and Prisca greet you heartily in the Lord, with [c]the church that is in their house.

20 All the brethren greet you. [a]Greet one another with a holy kiss.

21 The greeting is in [a]my own hand—[1]Paul.

22 If anyone does not love the Lord, he is to be [1][a]accursed. [2][b]Maranatha.

23 [a]The grace of the Lord Jesus be with you.

24 My love be with you all in Christ Jesus. Amen.

Corinth (1 Cor 4:17). see that he is with you without cause to be afraid. Timothy seems to have been somewhat timid (1 Tim 4:12; 2 Tim 1:7), and Paul wants the Corinthians to treat him kindly.

16:11 brethren. Possibly including Erastus (cf. Acts 19:22), who was a believer from Corinth and "city treasurer" (Rom 16:23; see note there).

16:12 But concerning Apollos. The Corinthians had asked Paul about Apollos (cf. the similar words, "now concerning," in 7:1; 8:1; 12:1; 16:1) and his coming to see them.

16:15 household of Stephanas. Evidently the Corinthians had little respect for this household that Paul had baptized (1:16). They were among the first converts in Achaia (Greece), along with the few individuals in Athens who had believed a short time earlier (Acts 17:34). ministry. The whole household of Stephanas was serving.

16:17 Probably the ones who had brought to the apostle the letter from the Corinthians referred to in 7:1. Their coming "supplied what was lacking" from the Corinthians, i.e., the affection of these three brothers supplied the affection Paul desired from the whole Corinthian church.

16:18 refreshed my spirit and yours. Perhaps through their willingness to come to get Paul's advice and to bring it back to them. At least a new relationship between Paul and the Corinthians was in the making.

16:19 of Asia. The Roman province (presently in western Turkey) in which Ephesus and the surrounding cities were located (cf. Acts 19:10). During Paul's long ministry in Ephesus all in the province of Asia heard the word. The churches of Colosse, Laodicea and Hierapolis (cf. Col 4:13–16; Rev 1:11), which were located on the border of the province of Asia, may be included in the greetings, along with the other churches of Rev 2–3. Aquila and Prisca. They had helped Paul found the church at Corinth (Acts 18:1–4). heartily in the Lord. Enthusiastically as fellow believers. the church that is in their house. Aquila and Priscilla had left Corinth with Paul and had gone to Ephesus (Acts 18:18–19). Evidently they were still there, and a church was meeting at their house; it now sends greetings. House churches were common in this early period (cf. Rom 16:3–5; Philem 2).

16:20 holy kiss. The kiss of mutual respect and love in the Lord was evidently the public practice of early Christians—from a practice that was customary in the ancient East. Such a practice may have been used in the first-century A.D. synagogue—men kissing men, and women kissing women—and it would have been natural for the practice to have been continued in the early Jewish-Gentile churches.

16:21 greeting is in my own hand. Paul now signs this letter, as was his habit (see Col 4:18; Philem 19), a mark of the authenticity of the letter (2 Thess 3:17). Someone else had been penning the letter for him up to this point (cf. Rom 16:22).

16:22 he is to be accursed. May this person experience God's displeasure and wrath, since he has declared himself an unbeliever (John 3:36). This is not a curse based on things God has created (e.g., heaven and earth), an oath that Jesus forbids. Rather, it is a curse based on God as witness to the unbeliever's essential lack of love and obedience to God (see also Gal 1:8–9). Maranatha. An expression meaning "O Lord come!," used by the early church as a cry that the second coming of Christ may soon take place.

16:23 The apostle's usual benediction (see Gal 6:18; Eph 6:24; Phil 4:23); a longer Trinitarian benediction is found in 2 Cor 13:14.

16:24 Although he has been severe with the Corinthians, Paul wants them to know that he loves them as believers in Christ Jesus.

2 Corinthians

Author

Paul is the author of this letter (see 1:1; 10:1). It is stamped with his style and it contains more autobiographical material than any of his other writings.

Date

The available evidence indicates that the year A.D. 55 is a reasonable estimate for the writing of this letter. From 1 Cor 16:5–8 we conclude that 1 Corinthians was written from Ephesus before Pentecost (in the spring) and that 2 Corinthians was written later that same year before the onset of winter. 2 Cor 2:13; 7:5 indicate that it was written from Macedonia.

Recipients

The opening salutation of the letter states that it was addressed to the church in Corinth and to the Christians throughout Achaia (the Roman province comprising all the territory of Greece south of Macedonia).

Purpose

The Corinthian church had been infiltrated by false teachers who were challenging both Paul's personal integrity and his authority as an apostle. Because he had announced a change in his itinerary, with the result that he would now pay the Corinthians one (long) visit instead of two (short) visits, these adversaries were asserting that his word was not to be trusted. They were also saying that he was not a genuine apostle and that he was putting into his own pocket the money they had collected for the poverty-stricken believers in Jerusalem. Paul asks the Corinthians to consider that his personal life in their midst was always honorable and that his life-transforming message of salvation was true. He urges them to prepare for his impending visit by completing the collection they had started a year previously and by dealing with the troublemakers in their midst. He warns them that he means what he writes.

Structure

The structure of the letter relates primarily to Paul's impending third visit to Corinth. The letter falls naturally into three sections:

1. Paul explains the reason for the change of itinerary (chs. 1—7).
2. Paul encourages the Corinthians to complete the collection in preparation for his arrival (chs. 8—9).
3. Paul stresses the certainty of his coming, his authenticity as an apostle and his readiness as an apostle to exercise discipline if necessary (chs. 10—13).

Unity

Some have questioned the unity of this letter (see note on 2:3–4), but it forms a coherent whole, as the structure (above) shows. Tradition has been unanimous in affirming its unity (the early church fathers, e.g., knew the letter only in its present form). Furthermore, none of the early Greek manuscripts breaks up the book.

Introduction

1 Paul, [a]an apostle of [b]Christ Jesus [c]by the will of God, and [d]Timothy our brother,

To [e]the church of God which is at [f]Corinth with all the [1]saints who are throughout [g]Achaia:

2 [a]Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 [a]Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and [b]God of all comfort,

4 who [a]comforts us in all our affliction so that we will be able to comfort those who are in [1]any affliction with the comfort with which we ourselves are comforted by God.

5 For just [a]as the sufferings of Christ are [1]ours in abundance, so also our comfort is abundant through Christ.

6 But if we are afflicted, it is [a]for your comfort and salvation; or if we are comforted, it is for your comfort, which is effective in the patient enduring of the same sufferings which we also suffer;

7 and our hope for you is firmly grounded, knowing that [a]as you are sharers of our sufferings, so also you are sharers of our comfort.

8 For [a]we do not want you to be unaware, brethren, of our [b]affliction which came to us in [1c]Asia, that we were burdened excessively, beyond our strength, so that we despaired even of life;

9 [1]indeed, we had the sentence of death within ourselves so that we would not trust in ourselves, but in God who raises the dead;

10 who [a]delivered us from so great a peril of death, and will deliver us, [1]He [b]on whom we have set our hope. And He will yet deliver us, 11 you also joining in [c]helping us through your prayers, so that thanks may be given by [b]many persons on our behalf for the favor bestowed on us through the prayers of many.

Paul's Integrity

12 For our [1]proud confidence is this: the testimony of [a]our conscience, that in holiness and [b]godly sincerity, [c]not in fleshly wisdom but in the grace of God, we have conducted ourselves in the world, and especially toward you.

13 For we write nothing else to you than what you read and understand, and I hope you will understand [a]until the end;

14 just as you also partially did understand us, that we are your reason to be proud as you also are ours, in [a]the day of our Lord Jesus.

15 In this confidence I intended at first to [a]come to you, so that you might [1]twice receive a [2b]blessing;

16 [1]that is, to [a]pass [2]your way into [b]Macedonia, and again from Macedonia to come to you, and by you to be [c]helped on my journey to Judea.

17 Therefore, I was not vacillating when I intended to do this, was I? Or what I purpose, do I purpose [a]according to the flesh, so that with me there will be yes, yes and no, no at the same time?

1:1 apostle. One specially commissioned by Christ (see notes on Mark 6:30; 1 Cor 1:1; Heb 3:1). Timothy. Evidently with Paul when this letter was written, but not necessarily a co-author. our brother. Our fellow believer, our brother in Christ (cf. Acts 9:17; Heb 2:11). church of God. The community of believers, the local representatives of the universal church (see note on 1 Cor 1:2). saints. Another term for God's people; it means "those who have been set apart as holy to the Lord" (see note on Rom 1:7). Achaia. Greece, as distinct from Macedonia in the north. Though the letter deals particularly with the situation in Corinth, it was also intended for Christians elsewhere in Greece. Presumably copies of the letter would be made in Corinth and circulated to them.

1:2 Grace to you and peace. See notes on Jon 4:2; John 14:27; 20:19; Gal 1:3; Eph 1:2.

1:3 God. The source of our comfort. comfort. Consolation and encouragement. This comfort flows to believers when they suffer for Jesus' sake, and it equips them to comfort others who are in trouble (vv. 4–7).

1:8 our affliction. Throughout this letter Paul uses the editorial plural (we, us, our, ourselves). Except where the context plainly indicates otherwise, these plurals should be understood as referring to Paul alone. Asia. The Roman province of that name in western Asia Minor, now Turkish territory. The precise location where Paul's hardships occurred is not given, nor is the nature of affliction.

1:9 Paul's hardships were so life-threatening that he regarded his survival and recovery as tantamount to being raised from the dead. trust . . . in God. A key principle of this letter. God's grace is all-sufficient, and our weakness is precisely the opportunity for His power to be displayed (cf. 12:9–10).

1:12 In defending his trustworthiness against the slanders being spread about him, Paul appeals to the witness of his own conscience and to the Corinthians' firsthand knowledge of his character. He had spent 18 months with them when he first came to Corinth (Acts 18:11), so they could not plead ignorance of his integrity.

1:13 In keeping with their knowledge of Paul's character, they can trust what he writes from a distance: He means what he says.

1:14 partially. Some in Corinth had allowed their confidence in Paul and his apostolic authority to be shaken by the false apostles who had penetrated their ranks. day of our Lord Jesus. His return (cf. 1 Thess 2:19–20).

1:15 that you might twice receive a blessing. Here and in v. 16 Paul refers to his change of itinerary. Originally he had planned to cross over by sea from Ephesus to Corinth, visiting the Corinthians before traveling north to Macedonia, and then, returning from Macedonia, to visit them a second time, thus giving them the benefit of two short visits. This was when he was on good terms with them. What probably occurred was that he paid them a quick visit directly from Ephesus, a visit he had not contemplated and one that he made "in sorrow" (2:1). That visit then gave rise to his letter that caused them sorrow (see 7:8–9).

1:17 I was not vacillating . . . was I? Paul's opponents in Corinth had been attempting to persuade the Christians there that this change of plan was evidence that his word was not to be 18 But as [a]God is faithful, [b]our word to you is not yes and no.

19 For [a]the Son of God, Christ Jesus, who was preached among you by us—by me and [b]Silvanus and [c]Timothy—was not yes and no, but is yes [d]in Him.

20 For [a]as many as are the promises of God, [b]in Him they are yes; therefore also through Him is [c]our Amen to the glory of God through us.

21 Now He who [a]establishes us with you in Christ and [b]anointed us is God,

2 But I determined this [1]for my own sake, that I [a]would not come to you in sorrow again.

2 For if I [a]cause you sorrow, who then makes me glad but the one whom I made sorrowful?

3 This is the very thing I [a]wrote you, so that [b]when I came, I would not have sorrow from those who ought to make me rejoice; having [c]confidence in you all that my joy would be the joy of you all.

trusted, that he was fickle and unreliable. The two rhetorical questions are in effect his denial that he acts lightly and that he says "Yes" and "No" at the same time so that it is impossible to know what he means. In any case, his plan to visit the Corinthians had not been abandoned; it had simply been modified.

1:18 not yes and no. Paul now (vv. 18–20) appeals to the gospel message he had preached to them: Believing it, they had found it to be altogether true and entirely free from ambiguity, and by their experience of its dynamic power they had proved it to be one great affirmative in Christ, in whom all God's promises are "Yes."

1:20 Amen. The "Amen" uttered by the congregation at the end of an offering of prayer or praise (cf. 1 Cor 14:16).

1:22 sealed. See notes on Hag 2:23; Eph 1:13. pledge. A part given as a guarantee that the whole will be forthcoming. The part is of the same kind as the whole. The first installment of a sum of money that has been inherited, e.g., assures the recipient that the whole will be received. This justifies the expansion of a single Greek word into several English words: "a deposit, guaranteeing what is to come."

1:23 to spare you. Paul's change of plans for visiting the Corinthian Christians had been motivated, not by a fickle and insensitive attitude, but by love and concern for them.

2:1 come . . . in sorrow again. Paul had already made one painful visit to Corinth, and he wanted to avoid another such visit, though he was ready to exert his authority should it prove necessary (cf. 13:2). The occasion of this former painful visit is not known to us. It could not have been his original visit to Corinth at the time when the church there was founded in response to the preaching of the gospel. Therefore he must have paid a second visit, which is confirmed by 12:14; 13:1, where he states that the visit he is now about to make will be his third. The second visit probably took place between the writing of 1 and 2 Corinthians, though some hold that it occurred before 1 Corinthians was written.

2:3–4 I wrote you . . . out of much affliction and anguish. This passage refers to a previous letter that had been sent to the Corinthians. The consensus of the church from the earliest times has been that this previous letter is 1 Corinthians. In more recent times, however, the hypothesis that the reference is to an intermediate letter, written after 1 Corinthians and before 2 Corinthians, has been widely accepted. Some advocates of this theory hold that the letter in question is now lost; others have identified it, in whole or in part, with the last four chapters of 2 Corinthians, contending that these chapters are out of harmony with the earlier ones and that they fit the description of a letter written "out of great distress and anguish." There is, however, no historical evidence that the unity of 2 Corinthians was questioned or that its integrity was doubted prior to modern times.

2:5–11 Speaks of a particular person who has been the cause of serious offense in Corinth and upon whom church discipline has been imposed. Paul admonishes the Corinthians that because the offender has shown genuine sorrow and repentance for his sin the punishment should be discontinued and he should be lovingly restored to their fellowship. Church discipline, important as it is, should not be allowed to develop into a form of graceless rigor in which there is no room for pardon and restoration. The offense in question probably took place during Paul's intermediate visit to Corinth (see note on v. 1) and was the occasion for his writing the severe letter demanding the punishment of the offender (see note on vv. 3–4). Another view is that Paul refers to the incident recorded in 1 Cor 5.

2:12 when I came to Troas. Paul had traveled up from Ephesus

[b]gospel of Christ and when a [c]door was opened for me in the Lord,

13 I [a]had no rest for my spirit, not finding [b]Titus my brother; but [c]taking my leave of them, I went on to [d]Macedonia.

14 [a]But thanks be to God, who always [b]leads us in triumph in Christ, and manifests through us the [c]sweet aroma of the [d]knowledge of Him in every place.

15 For we are a [a]fragrance of Christ to God among [b]those who are being saved and among those who are perishing;

16 [a]to the one an aroma from death to death, to the other an aroma from life to life. And who is [b]adequate for these things?

to Troas, a city on the Aegean coast opposite the island of Tenedos, hoping to find Titus there and to receive news from him about the Corinthian church. But Titus, who presumably Paul knew would be following the same route in reverse, did not arrive in Troas; so Paul, anxious for news from Corinth, "went on to Macedonia" (v. 13), perhaps to the city of Philippi.

2:13 my brother. Cf. 8:23. Paul held Titus in high esteem; he entrusted Titus with the organization of the collection of funds in Corinth for the relief of the poverty-stricken Christians of Jerusalem (8:6), and he chose him to bear this letter to the Corinthian Christians (8:16–17).

2:14 At this point Paul breaks off the narrative of his itinerary and in a characteristic manner allows his spontaneous spirit to carry him into a lengthy digression (the narrative is not resumed until 7:5). The digression, however, is quite relevant to the main tenor of this letter, for it is an immensely rich outpouring of triumphant faith in praise of the unfailing adequacy of the grace of God for every conceivable situation, no matter how threatening and destructive it may seem to be. leads us in triumph. The imagery is that of a Roman triumph in which the victorious general would lead his soldiers and the captives they had taken in festive procession, while the people watched and applauded and the air was filled with the sweet smell released by the burning of spices in the streets. So the Christian, called to spiritual warfare, is triumphantly led by God in Christ, and it is through Him that God spreads everywhere the "sweet aroma" of the knowledge of Christ.

2:16 an aroma from death . . . an aroma from life. As the gospel aroma is released in the world through Christian testimony, it is always sweet-smelling, even though it may be differently received. The two ultimate categories of mankind are "those who are being saved and . . . those who are perishing" (v. 15). To the latter, testifying Christians are the smell of death, not because the gospel message has become evil-smelling or death-dealing, but because in rejecting the life-giving grace of God unbelievers choose death for themselves. To those who welcome the gospel of God's grace, Christians with their testimony are the fragrance of life. who is adequate for these things? For the answer see 3:5.

2:17 we are not . . . peddling the word of God. Paul is referring to false teachers who had infiltrated the Corinthian church. Such persons—themselves insincere, self-sufficient and boastful—artfully presented themselves in a persuasive manner, and their chief interest was to take money from gullible church members. Paul, by contrast, had preached the gospel sincerely and free of charge, taking care not to be a financial burden to the Corinthian believers (see 11:7–12; 1 Cor 9:7–15).

3:1 Are we beginning to commend ourselves again? Paul is sensitive to the fact that virtually everything he wrote or said was liable to be twisted and used in a hostile manner by the false teachers in Corinth. letters of commendation. The appearance of vagrant impostors, who claimed to be teachers of apostolic truth, led to the need for letters of recommendation. Paul needed no such confirmation; but others, including the Corinthian intruders, did need authentication and, being themselves false, often resorted to unscrupulous methods for obtaining or forging letters of recommendation.

3:2 known and read by all men. Because of the power of the gospel demonstrated by their transformed lives.

3:3 letter of Christ. Paul is no more than the instrument in the hands of the Master. written not with ink. As a parchment or papyrus document would be. with the Spirit of the living God. As though the Spirit were a substitute for ink! Ink fades and may easily be deleted or blocked out since it is no more than an inanimate fluid. But the Spirit of the living God is Himself life and therefore life-giving (v. 6), and the life He gives is eternal and without defect. not on tablets of stone. As at Sinai (see note on v. 6). on tablets of human hearts. See Jer 31:33; Ezek 11:19; 36:26. Paul explains the significance of this contrast between the old and the new covenants in vv. 7–18.

3:5 our adequacy is from God. Answers the question in 2:16: "And who is adequate for these things?"

3:6 servants of. Those who serve the cause of (see Rom 15:16; Col 1:7; 4:7; 1 Tim 4:6). Paul will return to the theme of "this ministry" in 4:1. new covenant. Here Paul takes up the theme suggested by the mention of "tablets of human hearts" (v. 3). See Heb 8–10 and note on Heb 7:22. Paul's reference to ministers of a new covenant in contrast to the "ministry of death" (v. 7) may have been occasioned by his opponents in Corinth who were Judaizers, perhaps those who claimed to be associated with Peter (1 Cor 1:12) and who are referred to as Hebrews in 11:22 (see note there). the letter. The "tablets of stone" on that the sons of Israel could not look intently at the face of Moses because of the glory of his face, fading as it was,

8 how will the ministry of the Spirit fail to be even more with glory?

9 For if [a]the ministry of condemnation has glory, much more does the [b]ministry of righteousness abound in glory.

10 For indeed what had glory, in this case has no glory because of the glory that surpasses it.

11 For if that which fades away was [1]with glory, much more that which remains is in glory.

12 [a]Therefore having such a hope, [b]we use great boldness in our speech,

13 and are not like Moses, [a]who used to put a veil over his face so that the sons of Israel would not look intently at the end of what was fading away.

14 But their minds were [a]hardened; for until this very day at the [b]reading of [c]the old covenant the same veil [1]remains unlifted, because it is removed in Christ.

15 But to this day whenever Moses is read, a veil lies over their heart;

16 [a]but whenever a person turns to the Lord, the veil is taken away.

17 Now the Lord is the Spirit, and where [a]the Spirit of the Lord is, [b]there is liberty.

18 But we all, with unveiled face, [a]beholding as in a mirror the [b]glory of the Lord, are being [c]transformed into the same image from glory to glory, just as from [d]the Lord, the Spirit.

which the letter of the law was originally written (see Ex 24:12; 31:18; 32:15–16). the Spirit. The writing of the law "with the Spirit of the living God . . . on tablets of human hearts," which was the promise of the new covenant as foretold by the prophets (see Jer 31:31–34; 32:39–40; Ezek 11:19; 36:26). the letter kills, but the Spirit gives life. Does not mean that the external, literal sense of Scripture is deadly or unprofitable while the inner, spiritual (mystical or mythical) sense is vital. "The letter" is synonymous with the law as an external standard before which all people, because they are lawbreakers, stand guilty and condemned to death. Therefore it is described as the "ministry of death" and the "ministry of condemnation" (vv. 7,9). On the other hand, the Spirit who gives life is the "Spirit of the living God" who, in fulfillment of the promise of the new covenant, writes that same law inwardly "on tablets of human hearts" (v. 3). He thus provides the believer with love for God's law, which previously he had hated, and with power to keep it, which previously he had not possessed.

3:7–18 Paul is defending his "ministry" of the new covenant in Christ (cf. v. 6; 4:1) and here compares the experiences of Moses, who mediated the old covenant of Sinai, and his own as a minister of the new covenant. But he now applies the word "ministry" to the law that was "engraved in letters on stone" and to the Spirit, who writes "on tablets of human hearts" (v. 3). The point of comparison is the fading glory that shone on Moses' face and the "ever-increasing glory" reflected in the faces of those who minister the new covenant. This contrast in regard to glory serves to highlight the temporary and inadequate character of the old covenant and the permanent and effective character of the new covenant.

3:7 came with glory. The law of the old covenant given at Sinai was in no way bad or evil; on the contrary, Paul describes it elsewhere as holy, righteous, good and spiritual (Rom 7:12,14). The evil is in the hearts and deeds of people who, as lawbreakers, bring upon themselves the condemnation of the law and the penalty of death—and the law engraved on stone could not purge away that evil. glory of his face. The glory of God surrounded the giving of the law and was reflected on the face of Moses when he descended from the mountain (see Ex 34:29–30).

3:8–9 ministry of the Spirit . . . ministry of righteousness. The ministry of the Spirit gives life instead of death. "Righteousness" is here both objective (justification) and personal (sanctification).

3:11 that which fades away. Paul here applies the fading to the old covenant of Sinai, which was not to endure forever. In due course it was superseded by the unfading and much more glorious radiance belonging to the new covenant.

3:13 Moses, who used to put a veil over his face. See Ex 34:33–35. The purpose of the veil was to prevent the Israelites from seeing the fading of the glory.

3:14 until this very day . . . the same veil remains. The veil that prevented them from seeing the fading of the glory on Moses' face is still with them, preventing them from recognizing the temporary and inadequate character of the old covenant—a "veil" that is removed only in Christ. Only those who have received the new covenant in Christ have the power to see how the new covenant has transcended and replaced the old covenant—because of its greater glory.

3:17 the Lord is the Spirit. This statement should be linked with what was said at the end of v. 6: "the Spirit gives life." It is only by turning to the Lord (v. 16) that the condemnation and the sentence of death pronounced by the law on the lawbreaker are annulled and replaced by the free life-giving grace of the new covenant. There is a close relationship between the Spirit of Christ and the Holy Spirit. Both are said to dwell in the believer (Rom 8:9; Gal 2:20). In Rom 8:9–10 the Spirit, the Spirit of God, the Spirit of Christ, and Christ all seem to be used interchangeably. In Acts 16:6–7 the Holy Spirit and the Spirit of Jesus appear to be one and the same. Perhaps this is because the Holy Spirit proceeds from the Father and the Son, and the first two persons of the Trinity accomplish their purposes through the Spirit.

3:18 with unveiled face. In contrast to Moses. being transformed into the same image from glory to glory. Christ Himself is the glory of God in the fullness of its radiance (Heb 1:3); His is the eternal and unfading glory, which He had with the Father before the world began (John 17:5). We who believe are made partakers of this glory by being gradually transformed into the likeness of Christ. The reference here is to the process of Christian sanctification.

4:1 this ministry. See 3:6 and note. we do not lose heart. When God through His mercy calls and commissions His servants, He also supplies the strength necessary for them to persevere in the face of hardships and persecutions.

4:2 we have renounced the things hidden because of shame. Paul is referring to the false teachers in Corinth. By contrast, he is able to appeal to the conscience of every one of them and ness or [b]adulterating the word of God, but by the manifestation of truth [c]commending ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God.

3 And even if our [a]gospel is [b]veiled, it is veiled [1]to [c]those who are perishing,

4 in whose case [a]the god of [b]this [1]world has [c]blinded the minds of the unbelieving [2]so that they might not see the [d]light of the gospel of the [e]glory of Christ, who is the [f]image of God.

5 For we [a]do not preach ourselves but Christ Jesus as Lord, and ourselves as your bond-servants [1]for Jesus' sake.

6 For God, who said, "[a]Light shall shine out of darkness," is the One who has [b]shone in our hearts to give the [c]Light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Christ.

7 But we have this treasure in [a]earthen vessels, so that the surpassing greatness of [b]the power will be of God and not from ourselves;

8 we are [a]afflicted in every way, but not [b]crushed; [c]perplexed, but not [b]forsaken; [c]struck down, but not destroyed;

10 [a]always carrying about in the body the dying of Jesus, so that [b]the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our body.

11 For we who live are constantly being delivered over to death for Jesus' sake, so that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our mortal flesh.

12 So death works in us, but life in you.

13 But having the same [a]spirit of faith, according to what is written, "[b]I BELIEVED, THEREFORE I SPOKE," we also believe, therefore we also speak, 14 knowing that He who [a]raised the Lord Jesus [b]will raise us also with Jesus and will [c]present us with you.

15 For all things are [a]for your sakes, so that the grace which is [1][b]spreading to more and more people may cause the giving of thanks to abound to the glory of God.

16 Therefore we [a]do not lose heart, but though our outer man is decaying, yet our [b]inner man is [c]being renewed day by day.

17 For momentary, [a]light affliction is producing for us an eternal weight of glory far beyond all comparison, also to his integrity in the sight of God, because his practice was always that of setting forth the truth plainly, i.e., without veiling it or resorting to deception (cf. 1:12,18–24).

4:3 if our gospel is veiled. See 3:13–18.

4:4 god of this world. The devil, who is the archenemy of God and the unseen power behind all unbelief and ungodliness. Those who follow him have in effect made him their god. this world. Used in contrast to the future eternal age when God's creation will be forever purged of all that now mars and defiles it. In Gal 1:4 it is called the "present evil age." blinded the minds of the unbelieving. Paul continues to use the imagery of the veil that covers the divine glory so that those who reject the gospel fail to see that glory (3:12–18). image of God. Christ, who is both the incarnate Son and the Second Person of the Trinity, authentically displays God to us, for He is the very radiance of divine glory (Heb 1:3). He is the image of God in which man was originally created and into which redeemed mankind is being gloriously transformed (3:18), until at last, when Christ comes again at the end of this age, we who believe will be like Him (1 John 3:2).

4:5 we do not preach ourselves. As did the false teachers, puffed up with self-importance. Paul does not lord it over their faith (1:24), for there is only one Lord, Jesus Christ, and He is the theme of Paul's preaching.

4:6 Light shall shine out of darkness. God said this at the creation (Gen 1:2–4), and God says it again in the new creation or new birth (see 5:17; John 3:3,7; 1 Pet 1:3) as the darkness of sin is dispelled by the light of the gospel. the Light of the knowledge of the glory of God. The light that now shines in Paul's heart (qualifying him to be a proclaimer of Christ) is the knowledge of the glory of God as it was displayed in the face of Christ—who has come, not just from an earthly tabernacle, but from the glorious presence of God in heaven itself (see John 1:14).

4:7 this treasure. The gospel. earthen vessels. It was customary to conceal treasure in clay jars, which had little value or beauty and did not attract attention to themselves and their precious contents. Here they represent Paul's human frailty and unworthiness. surpassing greatness of the power will be of God and not from ourselves. The idea that the absolute insufficiency of man reveals the total sufficiency of God pervades this letter.

4:10 always carrying about in the body the dying of Jesus. The frailty of the "earthen vessel" of Paul's humanity (v. 7) is plainly seen in the constant hardships and persecutions with which he is buffeted for the sake of the gospel and through which he shares in Christ's suffering (see 1:5; Rom 8:17; Phil 3:10; Col 1:24).

4:11 that the life of Jesus also may be manifested in our mortal flesh. The reference is to Christ's resurrection life and power. Once again (see note on v. 7), human weakness provides the occasion for the triumph of divine power, and daily "dying" magnifies the wonder of daily resurrection life (see 1:9).

4:13 I believed, therefore I spoke. Faith leads to testimony. Paul therefore tirelessly labored and journeyed to bring the gospel message to others.

4:16 Therefore we do not lose heart. Repeating the statement in v. 1. The intervening paragraphs explain why the apostle continues to have a cheerful heart, and the remaining verses of the chapter summarize the argument he has developed. decaying. Because of the hardships to which he is subjected. being renewed. Because of the inextinguishable flame of the resurrection life of Jesus burning within. Moreover, the inward renewal overcomes the outward destruction, and ultimately overcomes even death itself.

4:17 momentary, light affliction. Seen in the perspective of eternity, the Christian's difficulties, whatever they may be, diminish in importance. eternal weight of glory far beyond all comparison. By comparison, the eternal glory is far greater than all the suffering one may face in this life (cf. Rom 8:18).

4:18 things which are seen . . . things which are not seen. The experiences and circumstances of this present life, often painful and perplexing, are what is visible to the Christian; but these are merely phenomena in the passing parade of our fallen age seen; for the things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal.

The Temporal and Eternal

5 For we know that if [1]the [a]earthly [b]tent which is our house is torn down, we have a building from God, a house [c]not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

2 For indeed in this house we [a]groan, longing to be [b]clothed with our dwelling from heaven,

3 inasmuch as we, having put it on, will not be found naked.

4 For indeed while we are in this tent, we [a]groan, being burdened, because we do not want to be unclothed but to be [b]clothed, so that what is [c]mortal will be swallowed up by life.

5 Now He who prepared us for this very purpose is God, who [a]gave to us the Spirit as a [1]pledge.

6 Therefore, being always of good courage, and knowing that [a]while we are at home in the body we are absent from the Lord—

5:1 [1]Lit our earthly house of the tent [a]Job 4:19; 1 Cor 15:47; 2 Cor 4:7 [b]2 Pet 1:13f [c]Mark 14:58; Acts 7:48; Heb 9:11, 24

7 for [a]we walk by faith, not by [1]sight—

8 we are of good courage, I say, and [a]prefer rather to be absent from the body and [b]to be at home with the Lord.

9 Therefore we also have as our ambition, whether at home or absent, to be [a]pleasing to Him.

10 For we must all appear before [a]the judgment seat of Christ, so that each one may be recompensed for [1]his deeds in the body, according to what he has done, whether good or bad.

11 Therefore, knowing the [a]fear of the Lord, we persuade men, but we are made manifest to God; and I hope that we are [b]made manifest also in your consciences.

12 We are not [a]again commending ourselves to you but are giving you an [b]occasion to be proud of us, so that you will have an answer for those who take pride in appearance and not in heart.

13 For if we [1]are [a]beside ourselves, it is for God; if we are of sound mind, it is for you.

and are therefore temporary and fleeting. To fix our eyes on these visible things would cause us to lose heart (vv. 1,16). By contrast the unseen realities, which are no less real for being invisible (cf. Heb 11:1,7, 26–27), are eternal and imperishable. Accordingly, we look up and away from the impermanent appearances of this present world scene (see Phil 3:20; Heb 12:2).

5:1 earthly tent which is our house. Our present body (see 2 Pet 1:13). As a tent is a temporary and flimsy abode, so our bodies are frail, vulnerable and wasting away (4:10–12,16). a building from God, a house . . . eternal in the heavens. A solid structure—permanent, not temporary. This is one of the eternal realities that are as yet unseen (4:18). not made with hands. The work of God, and therefore perfect and permanent (see Heb 9:11).

5:2 we groan. Because we long for the perfection that will be ours when we put on the glorious spiritual body (cf. 1 Cor 15:42–49). clothed with our dwelling from heaven. The eternal dwelling provided by God is pictured as something the Christian puts on like a garment.

5:3 naked. Without the clothing of a body, which is the state of those whose earthly tent-dwelling has been dismantled by death (see note on v. 8).

5:4 what is mortal. Our present mortal body. swallowed up by life. By our participation in the resurrection life of Jesus (4:10) our mortal being is swallowed up by life, not by death. Paul reverses the age-old imagery of death and the grave being the great swallower (see Ps 69:15; Prov 1:12), as did Isaiah (see Is 25:8; see also 1 Cor 15:54).

5:5 God, who gave to us the Spirit. The Holy Spirit, poured out by the risen and exalted Savior, applies the benefits of Christ's redeeming work to the believer's heart and makes the resurrection power of Jesus a reality of his daily experience (cf. 4:14,16). This guarantees his eventual total transformation into the likeness of Christ's glorified body (Phil 3:21). pledge. See note on 1:22.

5:6 at home in the body . . . absent from the Lord. Still living here in our earthly tent-dwelling (v. 1); it does not mean that we are deprived of the Lord's spiritual presence with us in our daily pilgrimage.

5:8 absent from the body . . . at home with the Lord. The situation of the Christian after death, when he is no longer living in his "earthly tent" (v. 1). This is an intermediate state between death and resurrection and, apparently, a disembodied state; but it is not a limbo of oblivion, for the believer who has died is at home with his Lord, and that is preferable to our present life in the body (cf. Phil 1:23).

5:9 whether at home or absent. Whether we will be alive or will have already died at His coming.

5:10 appear before the judgment seat of Christ. This accounting has nothing to do with justification, which is credited to the Christian fully and forever through faith in Christ; instead, it refers to what we have done with our lives as Christians (cf. 1 Cor 3:11–15). deeds in the body . . . what he has done. Although the body is wasting away, we are responsible for our actions while in it. Non-Christians, too, are morally responsible and liable to God's judgment (see Rom 2:5,16), but Paul has believers in mind here.

5:11 fear of the Lord. As the one to whom we are accountable (v. 10). we persuade men. Paul needs to persuade some members of the Corinthian church that he, not any of the false teachers who have invaded their ranks, is their authentic apostle.

5:12 take pride in appearance. The pretension of the false apostles is a superficial front; their concern is not with spirituality that is true and deep, but with money and popularity and self-importance.

5:13 beside ourselves . . . of sound mind. Probably Paul's enemies were asserting that he was suffering from religious mania, pointing perhaps to the sensational conversion he claimed to have experienced on the road to Damascus and to what they regarded as his insane way of life. If this is to be out of his mind, Paul does not deny it, for this whole letter shows how willingly and joyfully he endured affliction for the gospel (cf. 12:10). That, however, was essentially a matter between him and God. On the other hand, there was nothing that could be called eccentric about his manner of presenting the gospel to the Corinthians, for in this he had been, and continued to be, sensible and sober-minded, avoiding flowery rhetoric and all forms of sensationalism (cf. 1 Cor 2:1–5).

14 For the love of Christ [a]controls us, having concluded this, that [b]one died for all, therefore all died;

15 and He died for all, so that they who live might no longer [a]live for themselves, but for Him who died and rose again on their behalf.

16 Therefore from now on we recognize no one [1a]according to the flesh; even though we have known Christ [1]according to the flesh, yet now we know Him in this way no longer.

17 Therefore if anyone is [a]in Christ, [1]he is [b]a new creature; [c]the old things passed away; behold, new things have come.

18 Now [a]all these things are from God, [b]who reconciled us to Himself through Christ and gave us the [c]ministry of reconciliation, 19 namely, that [a]God was in Christ reconciling the world to Himself, [b]not counting their trespasses against them, and [1]He has [2]committed to us the word of reconciliation.

20 Therefore, we are [a]ambassadors for Christ, [b]as though God were making an appeal through us; we beg you on behalf of Christ, be [c]reconciled to God.

21 He made Him who [a]knew no sin to be [b]sin on our behalf, so that we might become the [c]righteousness of God in Him.

Their Ministry Commended

6 And [a]working together with Him, [b]we also urge you not to receive [c]the grace of God in vain—

Behold, now is "THE ACCEPTABLE TIME," behold, now is "THE DAY OF SALVATION"—

5:14 love of Christ. As shown in His death for us, though some hold that the meaning here is "our love for Christ." one. The incarnate Son. for all. For all mankind. therefore all died. Because Christ died for all, He involved all in His death. For some His death would confirm their own death, but for others (those who by faith would become united with Him) His death was their death to sin and self, so that they now live in and with the resurrected Christ (v. 15). However, some hold that Paul is not speaking specifically here about the scope of Christ's atonement but about the effect of Christ's death on the Christian life. Thus "all" would refer not to mankind in general but only to the church.

5:16 we have known Christ according to the flesh. Paul is admitting that before his conversion he held views of Christ that were "according to the flesh"—based on purely human considerations.

5:17 in Christ. United with Christ through faith in Him and commitment to Him. new creature. Redemption is the restoration and fulfillment of God's purposes in creation (see note on 4:6), and this takes place in Christ, through whom all things were made (see John 1:3; Col 1:16; Heb 1:2) and in whom all things are restored or created anew (cf. Rom 8:18–23; Eph 2:10).

5:18 all these things are from God. God takes the initiative in redemption (see Rom 5:8; John 3:16), and He sustains it and brings it to completion. ministry of reconciliation. We who are the recipients of divine reconciliation have the privilege and obligation of now being, like Paul in a sense, the heralds and instruments in God's hands to minister the message of reconciliation throughout the world (v. 19).

5:21 knew no sin . . . sin on our behalf. A summary of the gospel and its logic. Christ, the only entirely righteous one, at Calvary took our sin upon himself and endured the punishment we deserved, namely, death and separation from God. Thus, by a marvelous exchange, He made it possible for us to receive His righteousness and thereby be reconciled to God. Our standing and our acceptance before God are solely in Him (cf. 1 Cor 1:30). Again, all this is God's doing; all this is freely available to us because of the initiative of divine grace. be sin. Or "be a sin offering."

6:1 to receive the grace of God in vain. To live for oneself (see 5:15) is one way to do this.

6:2 THE ACCEPTABLE TIME . . . THE DAY OF SALVATION. An affirmation that is true in a general sense of all God's saving acts in the history of His people, but that finds its particular fulfillment in this present age of grace between the two comings of Christ. This understanding does not exclude from grace and salvation those who lived before Christ's coming, for the believers of the OT period received the promises that in due course were fulfilled in Christ (1:20) and they saw and welcomed their fulfillment from a distance (see John 8:56; Heb 11:13).

6:3 giving no cause for offense in anything. Paul is concerned that he live an exemplary life because he does not want the ministry discredited.

6:4–10 Cf. 4:8–12.

6:4 commending ourselves as servants of God. Paul commends himself again inasmuch as the gospel he preached in Corinth is at stake; but, in contrast to the false apostles who were no better than self-servers, he does so as God's servant. His life, with all its trials and afflictions, could not have been more starkly different from that of these intruders whose concern was for their own comfort and prestige.

10 as [a]sorrowful yet always [a]rejoicing, as [b]poor yet making many rich, as [c]having nothing [1]yet possessing [d]all things.

11 [a]Our mouth [1]has spoken freely to you, O Corinthians, our [b]heart is opened wide.

12 You are not restrained [1]by us, but [a]you are restrained in your own [2]affections.

13 Now in a like [a]exchange—I speak as to [b]children—open wide to us also.

14 [a]Do not be [1]bound together with [b]unbelievers; for what [c]partnership have righteousness and lawlessness, or what fellowship has light with darkness?

15 Or what [a]harmony has Christ with [1]Belial, or [2]what has a [b]believer in common with an [c]unbeliever?

16 Or [a]what agreement has the temple of God with idols? For we are [b]the temple of [c]the living God; just as God said,

"[d]I WILL [e]DWELL IN THEM AND [f]WALK AMONG THEM;
AND I WILL BE THEIR GOD, AND THEY SHALL BE MY PEOPLE.

17 "[a]Therefore, [b]COME OUT FROM THEIR MIDST AND BE SEPARATE," says the Lord.
"AND DO NOT TOUCH WHAT IS UNCLEAN;
And I will welcome you.

18 "[a]And I will be a father to you,
And you shall be [b]sons and daughters to Me,"
Says the Lord Almighty.

Paul Reveals His Heart

7 Therefore, having these promises, [a]beloved, [b]let us cleanse ourselves from all defilement of flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God.

2 [a]Make room for us in your hearts; we wronged no one, we corrupted no one, we took advantage of no one.

3 I do not speak to condemn you, for I have said [a]before that you are [b]in our hearts to die together and to live together.

4 Great is my [a]confidence [1]in you; great is my [b]boasting on your behalf. I am filled with [c]comfort; I am overflowing with [d]joy in all our affliction.

5 For even when we came into [a]Macedonia our flesh had no rest, but we were [b]afflicted on every side: [c]conflicts without, fears within.

6 But [a]God, who comforts the [1]depressed, [b]comforted us by the coming of [c]Titus;

7 and not only by his coming, but also by the comfort with which he was comforted in you, as he reported to us your longing, your mourning, your zeal for me; so that I rejoiced even more.

8 For though I [a]caused you sorrow by my letter, I do not regret it; though I did regret it—for I see that that letter caused you sorrow, though only for a while—

9 I now rejoice, not that you were made sorrowful, but that you were made sorrowful to the point of repentance; for you were made sorrowful according to the will of God,

6:10 making many rich. In Christ. True wealth does not consist in worldly possessions but in being "rich toward God" (Luke 12:15,21). The believer, even if he has nothing of this world's goods, nevertheless has everything in Him who is Lord of all (cf. 1 Cor 1:4–5; 3:21–23; Eph 2:7; 3:8; Phil 4:19; Col 2:3).

6:11–13 Paul has always been completely open and sincere in his relations with the Christians in Corinth (cf. 1:12–14; 4:2), but the false apostles among them have been trying to persuade them that Paul does not really love them. Now the apostle tenderly appeals to these Corinthians, who are the beneficiaries of his love for them (cf. 11:11).

6:14 Do not be bound together with unbelievers. Doubtless Paul has in mind the OT prohibition of "mixtures" as in Deut 22:10. For the Corinthian believers to cooperate with false teachers, who are in reality servants of Satan, notwithstanding their charming and persuasive ways (see notes on 11:13–14), is to become unequally yoked, destroying the harmony and fellowship that unite them in Christ.

6:15 Belial. A term (from Hebrew) used to designate Satan (see note on Deut 13:13).

6:16 agreement has the temple of God and idols. There can be no reversion to or compromise with the idolatry they have forsaken for the gospel (cf. 1 Thess 1:9). temple of the living God. Built of "living stones," namely, Christian believers (1 Pet 2:5); therefore it is all the more important that they form no defiling and unholy alliances (cf. 1 Cor 6:19–20).

7:1 holiness. See 1 Thess 4:7; 1John 3:3.

7:2 we wronged no one. Implies that Paul had been accused by the false teachers of being unjust, destructive and fraudulent—the very things they themselves were guilty of.

7:3 Again he declares the depth of his affection for the Corinthian believers and appeals to them to respond, contrary to the wishes of the false teachers, by displaying their love for him, their genuine apostle (cf. 6:11–13).

7:4 Great is my confidence . . . overflowing with joy. The long digression that started at 2:14 concludes here on this note of exhilaration. The news he had been so anxiously awaiting from Corinth has turned out to be good and reassuring, and Paul is overjoyed to receive it.

7:5–6 when we came into Macedonia . . . God . . . comforted us by the coming of Titus. Here Paul resumes the account he began in 2:12–13, where he described how his hopes of meeting Titus in Troas were disappointed and how, restless for news, he had decided to press on into Macedonia. He now explains that on reaching Macedonia, he was at last comforted by the arrival of Titus, who brought the news he most wanted to hear concerning the situation in Corinth. Titus himself had been well received in that city and was able to assure Paul (see v. 7) of the "longing" and "zeal" of the Corinthian Christians for him and of the "mourning" they had expressed because of the grief they had caused him. Consequently, he "rejoiced even more."

7:8–9 I do not regret it . . . I did regret it . . . I now rejoice. Paul did regret the necessity of writing a letter to the Corinthians that caused sorrow to them. However, it was not the actual writing that he regretted, but the situation that required the writing. Moreover, the fact that the letter had the desired effect made him happy, for their sorrow did not leave them embittered and hostile but led them to repentance. They became sorrowful as God intended, and so were benefited, not harmed, by the letter.

so that you might not suffer loss in anything [1]through us.

10 For the sorrow that is according to the will of God produces a [a]repentance [1]without regret, leading to salvation, but the sorrow of the world produces death.

11 For behold what earnestness this very thing, this [1]godly sorrow, has produced in you: what vindication of yourselves, what indignation, what fear, what [a]longing, what zeal, what [b]avenging of wrong! In everything you [c]demonstrated yourselves to be innocent in the matter.

12 So although [a]I wrote to you, it was not for the sake of [b]the offender nor for the sake of the one offended, but that your earnestness on our behalf might be made known to you in the sight of God.

13 For this reason we have been [a]comforted.

And besides our comfort, we rejoiced even much more for the joy of [b]Titus, because his [c]spirit has been refreshed by you all.

14 For if in anything I have [a]boasted to him about you, I was not put to shame; but as we spoke all things to you in truth, so also our boasting before [b]Titus proved to be the truth.

15 His [1]affection abounds all the more toward you, as he remembers the [a]obedience of you all, how you received him with [b]fear and trembling.

16 I rejoice that in everything [a]I have confidence in you.

Great Generosity

8 Now, brethren, we wish to make known to you the grace of God which has been [a]given in the churches of [b]Macedonia,

2 that in a great ordeal of affliction their abundance of joy and their deep poverty overflowed in the [a]wealth of their liberality.

3 For I testify that [a]according to their ability, and beyond their ability, they gave of their own accord,

4 begging us with much urging for the [a]favor [1]of participation in the [2b]support of the [3]saints,

5 and this, not as we had [1]expected, but they first [a]gave themselves to the Lord and to us by [b]the will of God.

6 So we [a]urged [b]Titus that as he had previously [c]made a beginning, so he would also complete in you [d]this gracious work as well.

7 But just as you [a]abound [b]in everything, in faith and utterance and knowledge and in all earnestness and in the [1]love we inspired in you, see that you [a]abound in this gracious work also.

8 I [a]am not speaking this as a command, but as proving through the earnestness of others the sincerity of your love also.

9 For you know [a]the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that [b]though He was rich, yet for your sake He became poor, so that you through His poverty might become rich.

10 I [a]give my opinion in this matter, for this is to your advantage, who were the first to begin [b]a year ago not only to do this, but also to desire to do it.

11 But now finish [1]doing it also, so that just as there was the [a]readiness to desire it, so there may be also the completion of it by your ability.

12 For if the readiness is present, it is acceptable [a]according to what a person has, not according to what he does not have.

7:10 sorrow that is according to the will of God . . . sorrow of the world. The former manifests itself by repentance and the experience of divine grace; the latter brings death because, instead of being God-centered sorrow over the wickedness of sin, it is self-centered sorrow over the painful consequences of sin. The letter's primary purpose was not to deal with the notorious offender in Corinth or the person he had injured, but to test their loyalty and devotion to Paul as their apostle.

8:1–9:15 Paul addresses the question of the collection of money for the distressed Christians in Jerusalem, which the Corinthians had started but not completed.

8:1 grace. The "gracious work" of giving on the part of believers (v. 7) is more than matched by the self-giving "grace of our Lord Jesus Christ" (v. 9).

8:2 abundance of joy. In the blessings of the gospel.

8:5 they first gave themselves to the Lord. The true principle of all Christian giving. These Macedonian Christians are an amazing example to the Corinthian believers and to the church in every age of the dynamic difference that God's grace makes in the lives and attitudes of His people—a central theme of this letter (cf. 12:9–10).

8:6 we urged Titus. The collection had been started in Corinth under the direction of Titus during the previous year (see v. 10; 9:2), but, no doubt because of the troubles in the Corinthian church, had slowed down or come to a standstill. Paul is now sending Titus back to them, taking with him this present letter, for the purpose of completing this good work, which he describes as a "gracious work" (cf. the link between the grace of God and the selfless generosity of the Macedonian churches in vv. 1–5).

8:7 you abound in everything. Cf. 1 Cor 1:4–7.

8:8 I am not speaking this as a command. True charity and generosity cannot be commanded. earnestness of others. The remarkable example of the Macedonian churches (vv. 1–5). sincerity of your love. They can prove this by giving selflessly and spontaneously.

8:9 though He was rich . . . He became poor. The eternal Son, in His incarnation and His atoning death in our place on the cross, emptied Himself of His riches (see Phil 2:7). through His poverty might become rich. The supreme and inescapable incentive of all genuine Christian generosity.

8:11 now finish doing it. The work they had started "a year ago" with desire (v. 10) needs to be completed (see note on v. 6).

8:12 according to what a person has. What matters is the willingness, which is the motive of true generosity, no matter how small the amount that can be afforded. An outstanding example of one who put this principle into practice is the poor widow (see Mark 12:41–44). The mechanics of the collection being made in Corinth had been proposed by Paul in his earlier letter (see 1 Cor 16:1–2).

13 For this is not for the ease of others and for your affliction, but by way of equality—
14 at this present time your abundance being a supply for [a]their need, so that their abundance also may become a supply for [a]your need, that there may be equality;
15 as it is written, "[a]HE WHO gathered MUCH DID NOT HAVE TOO MUCH, AND HE WHO gathered LITTLE HAD NO LACK."
16 But [a]thanks be to God who [b]puts the same earnestness on your behalf in the heart of [c]Titus.
17 For he not only accepted our [a]appeal, but being himself very earnest, he has gone to you of his own accord.
18 We have sent along with him [a]the brother whose fame in the things of the [b]gospel has spread through [c]all the churches;
19 [a]and not only this, but he has also been [b]appointed by the churches to travel with us in [c]this gracious work, which is being administered by us for the glory of the Lord Himself, and to show our [d]readiness,
20 [1]taking precaution so that no one will discredit us in our administration of this generous gift;
21 for we [a]have regard for what is honorable, not only in [b]the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men.
22 We have sent with them our brother, whom we have often tested and found diligent in many things, but now even more diligent because of his great confidence in you.
23 As for [a]Titus, he is my [b]partner and fellow worker [1]among you; as for our [c]brethren, they are [2d]messengers of the churches, [e]a glory to Christ.

2 for I know your readiness, of which I [a]boast about you to the [b]Macedonians, namely, that [c]Achaia has been prepared since [d]last year, and your zeal has stirred up most of them.
3 But I have sent the brethren, in order that our [a]boasting about you may not be made empty in this case, so that, [b]as I was saying, you may be prepared;
4 otherwise if any [a]Macedonians come with me and find you unprepared, we—not to speak of you—will be put to shame by this confidence.
5 So I thought it necessary to urge the [a]brethren that they would go on ahead to you and arrange beforehand your previously promised [1b]bountiful gift, so that the same would be ready as a [1c]bountiful gift and not [2d]affected by covetousness.

Though in the daily gathering the aged and weak might collect less than the prescribed amount and the young and vigorous might collect more, there was an equal distribution, so that the excess of some ministered to the deficiency of others.
8:16 Titus. Had established a relationship of trust and affection with the Corinthians (see 7:6–7,13–15). He had organized the collection when it was started the previous year (see note on v. 6).
8:18 the brother. Probably Luke, but possibly Barnabas. In any case, it was someone who was widely known for the faithfulness of his ministry.
8:19 appointed by the churches. Paul provides a good example of the care that church leaders should take in handling money.
8:20 It is important not only that God sees (cf. vv. 19,21) but also that people see that one is carrying on the Lord's work in a proper, ethical and honest manner.
8:21 we have regard for what is honorable. Even so, Paul is the victim of disgraceful slander (implied by 12:17–18; see Introduction: Purpose); but the integrity of his representatives (see note on v. 23) reflects well on his own integrity.
8:22 our brother. This second brother is anonymous, like the one already mentioned (see v. 18 and note).
8:23 partner and fellow worker. See note on 2:13. messengers of the churches. Duly elected delegates of the churches at large (so that they could not be dismissed as cronies chosen by Paul alone); see note on Acts 20:4. a glory to Christ. Christians of outstanding faithfulness.
9:6 Probably a well-known proverb—but not taken from the OT book of Proverbs.

9:8 always having all sufficiency in everything. Through His abounding grace, God can enable each Christian to abound in generous deeds (see v. 11).
9:9–10 RIGHTEOUSNESS. See note on Ps 1:5.
9:12 not only fully supplying the needs of the saints. The effect of generous giving on the part of the Corinthians will extend beyond Jerusalem, the destination of their gift, to the church as a whole, causing widespread prayer and praise to be offered (see vv. 13–14).

Paul Describes Himself

10 Now [a]I, Paul, myself [b]urge you by the [c]meekness and gentleness of Christ—I who [d]am [1]meek when face to face with you, but bold toward you when absent!

2 I ask that [a]when I am present I need not be bold with the confidence with which I propose to be courageous against [b]some, who regard us as if we walked [c]according to the flesh.

3 For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war [a]according to the flesh,

4 for the [a]weapons of our warfare are not of the flesh, but [1]divinely powerful [b]for the destruction of fortresses.

5 We are destroying speculations and every [a]lofty thing raised up against the knowledge of God, and we are taking every thought captive to the [b]obedience of Christ,

6 and we are ready to punish all disobedience, whenever [a]your obedience is complete.

7 [1][a]You are looking at [2]things as they are outwardly. [b]If anyone is confident in himself that he is Christ's, let him consider this again within himself, that just as he is Christ's, [c]so also are we.

8 For even if [a]I boast somewhat [1]further about our [b]authority, which the Lord gave for building you up and not for destroying you, I will not be put to shame,

9 [1]for I do not wish to seem as if I would terrify you by my letters.

10 For they say, "His letters are weighty and strong, but his [1]personal presence is [a]unimpressive and [b]his speech contemptible."

11 Let such a person consider this, that what we are in word by letters when absent, such persons we are also in deed when present.

9:14 the surpassing grace of God in you. Displayed in this unselfish demonstration of their loving concern for fellow believers who are in desperate need.

9:15 indescribable gift. His own Son (John 3:16). God is the first giver; He first selflessly gives Himself to us in the person of His Son, and all true Christian giving is our response of gratitude for this gift that is beyond description (cf. 8:9; 1 John 4:9–11).

10:1 meek when face to face . . . bold . . . when absent! From the mild tone of the first nine chapters of Paul's letter, it appears that the majority of the Corinthian believers had been won over to Paul (cf. 7:6–13), after having been alienated by his Corinthian opponents. In this final section (chs. 10–13), however, Paul deals firmly with the slanders that have been spread against him in Corinth by the remaining opposition. Those who wish to discredit him have been saying that he is bold at a distance, threatening to take severe disciplinary action, especially in his letters (cf., e.g., his warning that, if necessary, he will come "with a rod" in 1 Cor 4:18–21). But they say that he will not dare to be anything but weak and indecisive if he is present with them in person—in short, that he does not have the apostolic authority he claims to have. Paul is ready to prove otherwise, should the occasion demand, when he comes to Corinth for the third time (see vv. 6,10–11). His appeal to the meekness and gentleness of Christ is an indication of his own affectionate desire to show these same qualities when present with them. In any case, though weak in himself, Paul is strong in the Lord—as this whole letter explains—and those who are rebellious can expect to feel the force of his divinely given authority.

10:4 weapons of our warfare. Paul is prepared for warfare; his weapons, however, are not the weapons prized by this fallen world and fashioned by human pride and arrogance. fortresses. Of "speculations" and "every lofty thing" (v. 5) defiantly raised "against the knowledge of God" (cf. Rom 1:18–23), among which are the faulty reasonings by which the false apostles have been trying to shake the faith of the Christians in Corinth (see 1 Cor 2:13–14).

10:5 every thought . . . obedience of Christ. The center of man's being thus becomes fully subject to the lordship of Christ.

10:7 he is Christ's. Probably echoes the claim to superior spirituality by the Christ party (1 Cor 1:12) and the false teachers in Corinth. Paul, who had dramatically encountered and been commissioned by the risen Lord (see Acts 9:3–9; 22:6–11; 26:12–18) and who received the gospel he preached "through a revelation of Jesus Christ" (Gal 1:12; cf. 2 Cor 12:2–7), asserts that he belongs to Christ just as much.

10:8 authority . . . for building you up. The primary purpose of Paul's apostolic authority is constructive, for building up, not destructive, for pulling down (the same statement is made again in 13:10). The demands he makes in his letters are written so that they may put right what is amiss and so that things may be in order for his arrival, thus removing the need for severe action (pulling down) and preparing the way for edification (building up).

10:9 terrify you by my letters. See 2:3–4; 7:8–9; chs. 10–13; 1 Cor 4:18–21.
