10:6 gods of Aram. The chief gods were Hadad (Baal), Mot, Anath and Rimmon. gods of Sidon. The Sidonians worshiped essentially the same gods as the Canaanites (see notes on 2:11,13). gods of Moab. The chief deity of Moab was Chemosh. gods of the sons of Ammon. Molech was the chief Ammonite deity (see 1 Kin 11:7) and was sometimes worshiped by the offering of human sacrifice (Lev 18:21; 20:2–5; 2 Kin 23:10). This god is also called Milcom (see 1 Kin 11:5; 2 Kin 23:13; see also note on Lev 18:21). Both Molech and Milcom are forms of a Semitic word for "king." gods of the Philistines. While the Philistines worshiped most of the Canaanite gods, their most popular deities appear to have been Dagon and Baal-zebub. The name Dagon is the same as a Hebrew word for "grain," suggesting that he was a vegetation deity. He was worshiped in Babylonia as early as the second millennium B.C. Baal-zebub was worshiped in Ekron (2 Kin 1:2–3,6,16). The name means "lord of the flies," a deliberate change by followers of the Lord (Yahweh) to ridicule and protest the worship of Baal-zebul ("Baal the prince"), a name known from ancient Canaanite texts (see Matt 10:25; 12:24 and notes).

10:7 Philistines. The account of Philistine oppression is resumed in 13:1.

10:11 The LORD said. See note on 2:1. The Lord rebuked Israel for forgetting that He had delivered them from their oppres-

[b]the Amorites, [c]the sons of Ammon, and the Philistines?

12 "Also when the Sidonians, the Amalekites and the Maonites [a]oppressed you, you cried out to Me, and I delivered you from their hands.

13 "Yet [a]you have forsaken Me and served other gods; therefore I will no longer deliver you.

14 "[a]Go and cry out to the gods which you have chosen; let them deliver you in the time of your distress."

15 The sons of Israel said to the LORD, "We have sinned, [a]do to us whatever seems good to You; only please deliver us this day."

16 [a]So they put away the foreign gods from among them and served the LORD; and [1b]He could bear the misery of Israel no longer.

17 Then the sons of Ammon were summoned and they camped in Gilead. And the sons of Israel gathered together and camped in [a]Mizpah.

18 The people, the leaders of Gilead, said to one another, "Who is the man who will begin to fight against the sons of Ammon? He shall become head over all the inhabitants of Gilead."

Jephthah the Ninth Judge

11 Now [a]Jephthah the Gileadite was a [1]valiant warrior, but he was the son of a harlot. And Gilead [2]was the father of Jephthah.

2 Gilead's wife bore him sons; and when his wife's sons grew up, they drove Jephthah out and said to him, "You shall not have an inheritance in our father's house, for you are the son of another woman."

3 So Jephthah fled from his brothers and lived in the land of [a]Tob; and worthless fellows gathered themselves [1]about Jephthah, and they went out with him.

4 It came about after a while that [a]the sons of Ammon fought against Israel.

5 When the sons of Ammon fought against Israel, the elders of Gilead went to get Jephthah from the land of Tob;

6 and they said to Jephthah, "Come and be our chief that we may fight against the sons of Ammon."

7 Then Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, "[a]Did you not hate me and drive me from my father's house? So why have you come to me now when you are in trouble?"

8 The elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, "For this reason we have now returned to you, that you may go with us and fight with the sons of Ammon and [a]become head over all the inhabitants of Gilead."

9 So Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, "If you take me back to fight against the sons of Ammon and the LORD gives them up [1]to me, will I become your head?"

10 The elders of Gilead said to Jephthah, "[a]The LORD is [1]witness between us; surely we will do [2]as you have said."

11 Then Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him head and chief over them; and Jephthah spoke all his words before the LORD at [a]Mizpah.

12 Now Jephthah sent messengers to the king of the sons of Ammon, saying, "What is between you and me, that you have come to me to fight against my land?"

13 The king of the sons of Ammon said to the messengers of Jephthah, "Because Israel [a]took away my land when they came up from Egypt, from the Arnon as far as the [b]Jabbok and the Jordan; therefore, return them peaceably now."

14 But Jephthah sent messengers again to the king of the sons of Ammon,

15 and they said to him, "Thus says Jephthah, 'Israel did not take away the land of Moab nor the land of the sons of Ammon.

16 'For when they came up from Egypt, and Israel [a]went through the wilderness to the [1]Red Sea and [b]came to Kadesh,

17 then Israel [a]sent messengers to the king of Edom, saying, "Please let us pass sors in Canaan (see notes on 2:16–19; 6:8).

10:12 Maonites. Perhaps the same as the Meunites, who along with the Philistines and Arabs opposed Israel (2 Chr 26:7).

10:17 Mizpah. Means "watchtower." Several places bore this name. Jephthah's headquarters was a town or fortress in Gilead (11:11) called "Mizpah of Gilead" (11:29). It may have been the same as Ramath-mizpeh (Josh 13:26), located about 30 miles east of Beth-shean.

10:18 The Gileadites wanted to resist the Ammonite incursion but lacked the courageous military leadership to press their cause. people. Fighting men.

11:1 the son of a harlot. Therefore Jephthah was a social outcast.

11:3 Tob. The men of Tob were later allied with the Ammonites against David (2 Sam 10:6–8). worthless fellows. See note on 9:4.

11:8 become head. In addition to their initial offer of military command during the war with Ammon (v. 6), the Gileadites now also offer to make Jephthah regional head after the fighting is over.

11:11 The proposal of the elders was ratified by the people, a process followed in the election of Saul (1 Sam 11:15), Rehoboam (1 Kin 12:1) and Jeroboam (1 Kin 12:20).

11:13 my land. When the Israelites had first approached Canaan, this area was ruled by the Amorite king Sihon, who had taken it from the Moabites (Num 21:29). The Ammonites had since become dominant over Moab and now claimed all previous Moabite territory.

11:14–27 Jephthah responded in accordance with international policies of the time; his letter is a classic example of contemporary international correspondence. It also reflects—and appeals to—the common recognition that the god(s) of a people established and protected their political boundaries and decided all boundary disputes. Jephthah's defense of Israel's claim to the land is threefold: (1) Israel took it from Sihon king of the Amorites, not from the Ammonites (vv. 15–22); (2) the Lord gave the land to Israel (vv. 23–25); (3) Israel had long possessed it (vv. 26–27).

through your land," but the king of Edom would not listen. [b]And they also sent to the king of Moab, but he would not consent. So Israel remained at Kadesh.

18 'Then they went through the wilderness and [a]around the land of Edom and the land of Moab, and came to the east side of the land of Moab, and they camped beyond the Arnon; but they [b]did not enter the territory of Moab, for the Arnon was the border of Moab.

19 'And Israel sent [a]messengers to Sihon king of the Amorites, the king of Heshbon, and Israel said to him, "Please let us pass through your land to our place."

20 'But Sihon did not trust Israel to pass through his territory; so Sihon gathered all his people and camped in Jahaz and fought with Israel.

21 'The LORD, the God of Israel, gave Sihon and all his people into the hand of Israel, and they [1][a]defeated them; so Israel possessed all the land of the Amorites, the inhabitants of that country.

22 '[a]So they possessed all the territory of the Amorites, from the Arnon as far as the Jabbok, and from the wilderness as far as the Jordan.

23 'Since now the LORD, the God of Israel, drove out the Amorites from before His people Israel, are you then to possess it?

24 'Do you not possess what [a]Chemosh your god gives you to possess? So whatever the LORD our God has driven out before us, we will possess it.

25 'Now are you any better than [a]Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab? Did he ever strive with Israel, or did he ever fight against them?

26 '[a]While Israel lived in Heshbon and its villages, and in Aroer and its villages, and in all the cities that are on the banks of the Arnon, three hundred years, why did you not recover them within that time?

27 'I therefore have not sinned against you, but you are doing me wrong by making war against me; [a]may the LORD, the Judge, judge today between the sons of Israel and the sons of Ammon.' "

28 But the king of the sons of Ammon [1]disregarded the message which Jephthah sent him.

Jephthah's Tragic Vow

29 Now [a]the Spirit of the LORD came upon Jephthah, so that he passed through Gilead and Manasseh; then he passed through Mizpah of Gilead, and from Mizpah of Gilead he went on to the sons of Ammon.

30 Jephthah made a vow to the LORD and said, "If You will indeed give the sons of Ammon into my hand,

31 then it shall be that whatever comes out of the doors of my house to meet me when I return in peace from the sons of Ammon, it shall be the LORD's, and I will offer it up as a burnt offering."

32 So Jephthah crossed over to the sons of Ammon to fight against them; and the LORD gave them into his hand.

33 He struck them with a very great slaughter from Aroer [1]to the entrance of [a]Minnith, twenty cities, and as far as Abel-keramim. So the sons of Ammon were subdued before the sons of Israel.

34 When Jephthah came to his house at [a]Mizpah, behold, his daughter was coming out to meet him [b]with tambourines and with dancing. Now she was his one and only child; besides her he had no son or daughter.

35 When he saw her, he tore his clothes and said, "Alas, my daughter! You have brought me very low, and you are among those who trouble me; for I have [1]given my word to the LORD, and [a]I cannot take it back."

36 So she said to him, "My father, you have [1]given your word to the LORD; [a]do to me [2]as you have said, since the LORD has avenged you of your enemies, the sons of Ammon."

37 She said to her father, "Let this thing be done for me; let me alone two months, that I may [1]go to the mountains and weep because of [a]my virginity, I and my companions."

38 Then he said, "Go." So he sent her away for two months; and she left with her

11:21 LORD, the God of Israel. War was viewed not only in military terms but also as a contest between deities (see v. 24; Ex 12:12; Num 33:4).

11:24 Chemosh. The chief deity of the Moabites. At this time either the king of Ammon also ruled Moab or there was a military confederacy of the two peoples.

11:25 Balak. See Num 22–24.

11:26 three hundred years. For the relevance of this phrase in establishing the time span for Judges see Introduction: Background.

11:27 Judge. See 1 Sam 24:15. As the divine Judge, the Lord is the final court of appeal. It is significant that in the book of Judges the singular noun "judge" is found only here, where it is used of the Lord, Israel's true Judge.

11:29 Spirit of the LORD. See note on 3:10. In the OT the unique empowering of the Spirit was given to an individual primarily to enable him to carry out the special responsibilities God had given him.

11:30 made a vow. A common practice among the Israelites (see Gen 28:20; 1 Sam 1:11; 2 Sam 15:8). The precise nature of this vow has been the subject of wide speculation, but v. 31 indicates the promise of a burnt offering and leads to the conclusion that Jephthah probably offered his daughter as a human sacrifice (v. 39). A vow was not to be broken (see Num 30:2; Deut 23:21–23; see also Eccl 5:4–5).

11:34 dancing. It was customary for women to greet armies returning victoriously from battle in this way (see Ex 15:20; 1 Sam 18:6).

11:35 tore his clothes. A common practice for expressing extreme grief (see Gen 37:34 and note).

11:37 my virginity. To be kept from marrying and rearing children was a bitter prospect for an Israelite girl.

companions, and wept on the mountains because of her virginity.

39 At the end of two months she returned to her father, who did to her according to the vow which he had made; and she [1]had no relations with a man. Thus it became a custom in Israel, 40 that the daughters of Israel went yearly to [1]commemorate the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite four days in the year.

Jephthah and His Successors

12 Then the men of Ephraim were summoned, and they crossed [1]to Zaphon and [a]said to Jephthah, "Why did you cross over to fight against the sons of Ammon without calling us to go with you? We will burn your house down on you."

2 Jephthah said to them, "I and my people were at great strife with the sons of Ammon; when I called you, you did not deliver me from their hand.

3 "When I saw that you would not deliver me, I [1][a]took my life in my hands and crossed over against the sons of Ammon, and the LORD gave them into my hand. Why then have you come up to me this day to fight against me?"

4 Then Jephthah gathered all the men of Gilead and fought Ephraim; and the men of Gilead [1]defeated Ephraim, because they said, "You are fugitives of Ephraim, O Gileadites, in the midst of Ephraim and in the midst of Manasseh."

5 The Gileadites [a]captured the fords of the Jordan opposite Ephraim. And it happened when any of the fugitives of Ephraim said, "Let me cross over," the men of Gilead would say to him, "Are you an Ephraimite?" If he said, "No,"

6 then they would say to him, "Say now, 'Shibboleth.' " But he said, "Sibboleth," for he could not [1]pronounce it correctly. Then they seized him and slew him at the fords of the Jordan. Thus there fell at that time 42,000 of Ephraim.

7 Jephthah judged Israel six years. Then Jephthah the Gileadite died and was buried in one of the cities of Gilead.

8 Now Ibzan of Bethlehem judged Israel after him.

9 He had thirty sons, and thirty daughters whom he [1]gave in marriage outside the family, and he brought in thirty daughters from outside for his sons. And he judged Israel seven years.

10 Then Ibzan died and was buried in Bethlehem.

11 Now Elon the Zebulunite judged Israel after him; and he judged Israel ten years.

12 Then Elon the Zebulunite died and was buried at Aijalon in the land of Zebulun.

13 Now Abdon the son of Hillel the Pirathonite judged Israel after him.

14 He had forty sons and thirty grandsons who rode on seventy donkeys; and he judged Israel eight years.

15 Then Abdon the son of Hillel the Pirathonite died and was buried at Pirathon in the land of Ephraim, in the hill country of the Amalekites.

Philistines Oppress Again

13 Now the sons of Israel [a]again did evil in the sight of the LORD, so that the LORD gave them into the hands of the Philistines forty years.

2 There was a certain man of [a]Zorah, of the family of the Danites, whose name was Manoah; and his wife was barren and had borne no children.

11:39 custom in Israel. Probably a local custom, since no other mention of it is found in the OT.

12:1 burn your house down. The Philistines issued a similar threat to Samson's wife (14:15). See also 20:48.

12:2 said. Again Jephthah tried diplomacy first (see 11:12,14; see also note on 8:1). I called. New information on the sequence of events.

12:6 Shibboleth. Ironically, the word meant "floods" (see, e.g., Ps 69:2,15). Apparently the Israelites east of the Jordan pronounced its initial letter with a strong "sh" sound, while those in Canaan gave it a softer "s" sound. (Peter was similarly betrayed by his accent; see Matt 26:73.)

12:7 judged Israel . . . years. A new formula for closing out the account of a judge (see note on 3:11; see also Introduction: Literary Features).

12:8 Bethlehem. Probably the Bethlehem in western Zebulun.

12:9 thirty sons, and thirty daughters. See note on 10:4.

12:11 Elon. Also the name of a clan in the tribe of Zebulun (Gen 46:14; Num 26:26).

12:14 forty sons and thirty grandsons. A total of 70 (see notes on 8:30; 10:4).

12:15 hill country of the Amalekites. See note on 5:14. The background of this reference is unknown; the Amalekites are otherwise associated with the Negev (Num 13:29).

13:1–16:31 Samson (from the tribe of Dan), like Ehud (from the tribe of Benjamin), was a loner, whose heroic exploits involved single-handed triumphs over powerful enemies. His story therefore balances that of Ehud (3:12–30). He typifies the nation of Israel—born by special divine provision, consecrated to the Lord from birth and endowed with unique power among his fellowmen. The likeness is even more remarkable in light of his foolish chasing of foreign women, some of ill repute, until he was cleverly subdued by one of them. In this he exemplified Israel, who during the period of the judges constantly prostituted herself to Canaanite gods to her own destruction.

13:1 did evil in the sight of the LORD. See note on 3:7.

13:2 Zorah. A town first assigned to Judah (Josh 15:33), but later given to Dan (Josh 19:41). It became the point of departure for the Danite migration northward (18:2,8,11). Danites. See 1:34 and note. barren . . . no children. The same condition, before divine intervention, as that of Sarah, the mother of Isaac (Gen 11:30; 16:1); Rebekah, the mother of Jacob (Gen 25:21); Hannah, the mother of Samuel (1 Sam 1:2); and Elizabeth, the mother of John the Baptist (Lk 1:7).

13:3 angel of the LORD. See note on Gen 16:7. you shall . . . give but you shall conceive and give birth to a son.

4 "Now therefore, be careful [a]not to drink wine or strong drink, nor eat any unclean thing.

5 "[a]For behold, you shall conceive and give birth to a son, and no razor shall come upon his head, for the boy shall be a [b]Nazirite to God from the womb; and he shall begin to deliver Israel from the hands of the Philistines."

6 Then the woman came and told her husband, saying, "[a]A man of God came to me and his appearance was like the appearance of the angel of God, very awesome. And I did not ask him where he came from, nor did he tell me his name.

7 "But he said to me, 'Behold, you shall conceive and give birth to a son, and now you shall not drink wine or strong drink nor eat any unclean thing, for the boy shall be a Nazirite to God from the womb to the day of his death.' "

8 Then Manoah entreated the LORD and said, "O Lord, please let [a]the man of God whom You have sent come to us again that he may teach us what to do for the boy who is to be born."

9 God listened to the voice of Manoah; and [a]the angel of God came again to the woman as she was sitting in the field, but Manoah her husband was not with her.

10 So the woman ran quickly and told her [1]husband, "Behold, [a]the man who [2]came the other day has appeared to me."

11 Then Manoah arose and followed his wife, and when he came to the man he said to him, "Are you [a]the man who spoke to the woman?" And he said, "I am."

12 Manoah said, "Now when your words come to pass, what shall be the boy's mode of life and his vocation?"

13 So [a]the angel of the LORD said to Manoah, "[b]Let the woman pay attention [1]to all that I said.

14 "She should not eat anything that comes from the [a]vine nor drink wine or strong drink, nor eat any unclean thing; let her observe all that I commanded."

15 Then Manoah said to [a]the angel of the LORD, "Please let us detain you so that we may prepare a young goat for you."

16 The angel of the LORD said to Manoah, "Though you detain me, [a]I will not eat your [1]food, but if you prepare a burnt offering, then offer it to the LORD." For Manoah did not know that he was the angel of the LORD.

17 Manoah said to the angel of the LORD, "[a]What is your name, so that when your words come to pass, we may honor you?"

18 But the angel of the LORD said to him, "Why do you ask my name, seeing it is [1][a]wonderful?"

19 So [a]Manoah took the young goat with the grain offering and offered it on the rock to the LORD, and He performed wonders while Manoah and his wife looked on.

20 For it came about when the flame went up from the altar toward heaven, that the angel of the LORD ascended in the flame of the altar. When Manoah and his wife saw this, they [a]fell on their faces to the ground.

21 Now the angel of the LORD did not appear to Manoah or his wife again. [a]Then Manoah knew that he was the angel of the LORD.

22 So Manoah said to his wife, "[a]We will surely die, for we have seen God."

23 But his wife said to him, "If the LORD had desired to kill us, He would not have accepted a burnt offering and a grain offering from our hands, nor would He have [a]shown us all these things, nor would He have let us hear things like this at this time."

24 Then the woman gave birth to a son and named him Samson; and the [a]child grew up and the LORD blessed him.

25 And [a]the Spirit of the LORD began to stir him in [1b]Mahaneh-dan, between Zorah and Eshtaol.

13:5 Nazirite. From the Hebrew word meaning "separated" or "dedicated." For the stipulations of this vow see Num 6:1–21 and notes. Samson's vow was not voluntary, and it applied to his whole lifetime (v. 7). The same was true of Samuel (1 Sam 1:11) and John the Baptist (Luke 1:15). *begin to deliver Israel from the . . . 13:6 man of God. An expression often used of prophets (see Deut 33:1; 1 Sam 2:27; 9:6–10; 1 Kin 12:22), though it is clear from vv. 3,21 that this messenger was not a prophet but the angel of the Lord.

13:8 teach us. Not the usual parental concern, but a special concern based on the boy's special calling.

13:12 when your words come to pass. A declaration of faith. To Manoah it was not a matter of whether these events would occur, but of when (v. 17).

13:15 detain you . . . prepare a young goat. Such food was considered a special delicacy. Hospitality of this kind was common in the ancient Near East (see 6:18–19; Gen 18:1–8).

13:17 What is your name . . . ? A messenger's identity was considered very important. when your words come to pass. Fulfilled prophecy was a sign of the authenticity of a prophet (Deut 18:21–22; 1Sa 9:6).

13:18 wonderful. In Is 9:6 the Hebrew for this phrase (translated "Wonderful") applies to One who would come as "Mighty God."

13:22 surely die. See 6:23 and notes on Gen 16:13; 32:30.

13:24 Samson. The name is derived from a Hebrew word meaning "sun" or "brightness," and is used here either as an expression of joy over the birth of the child or as a reference to the nearby town of Beth-shemesh, "house of the sun(-god)." the child grew up and the LORD blessed him. Cf. 1 Sam 2:26 (Samuel) and Luke 2:52 (Jesus).

13:25 began to stir him. See notes on 3:10; 11:29. Mahaneh-dan. Means "Dan's camp" (see NASB marg.; see also 18:12).

Samson's Marriage

14 Then Samson went down to Timnah and saw a woman in Timnah, one of the daughters of the Philistines.

2 So he came [1]back and told his father and [2]mother, "I saw a woman in Timnah, one of the daughters of the Philistines; now therefore, get her for me as a wife."

3 Then his father and his mother said to him, "Is there no woman among the daughters of your [1][a]relatives, or among all [2]our people, that you go to [b]take a wife from the uncircumcised Philistines?" But Samson said to his father, "Get her for me, for she [3]looks good to me."

4 However, his father and mother did not know that [a]it was of the LORD, for He was seeking an occasion against the Philistines. Now at that time the Philistines were ruling over Israel.

5 Then Samson went down to Timnah with his father and mother, and came as far as the vineyards of Timnah; and behold, a young lion came roaring toward him.

6 [a]The Spirit of the LORD [1]came upon him mightily, so that [b]he tore him as one tears a young goat though he had nothing in his hand; but he did not tell his father or mother what he had done.

7 So he went down and talked to the woman; and she [1]looked good to Samson.

8 When he returned later to take her, he turned aside to look at the carcass of the lion; and behold, a swarm of bees and honey were in the body of the lion.

9 So he scraped [1]the honey into his [2]hands and went on, eating as he went. When he came to his father and mother, he gave some to them and they ate it; but he did not tell them that he had scraped the honey out of the body of the lion.

10 Then his father went down to the woman; and Samson made a feast there, for the young men customarily did this.

Samson's Riddle

12 Then Samson said to them, "Let me now [a]propound a riddle to you; if you will indeed tell it to me within the seven days of the feast, and find it out, then I will give you thirty linen wraps and thirty [b]changes of clothes.

13 "But if you are unable to tell me, then you shall give me thirty linen wraps and thirty changes of clothes." And they said to him, "Propound your riddle, that we may hear it."

14 So he said to them,

"Out of the eater came something to eat,
And out of the strong came something sweet."

But they could not tell the riddle in three days.

15 Then it came about on the [1]fourth day that they said to Samson's wife, "[a]Entice your husband, so that he will tell us the riddle, [b]or we will burn you and your father's house with fire. Have you invited us to impoverish us? Is this not so?"

16 Samson's wife wept before him and said, "[a]You only hate me, and you do not love me; you have propounded a riddle to the sons of my people, and have not told it to me." And he said to her, "Behold, I have not told it to my father or mother; so should I tell you?"

17 However she wept before him seven days while their feast lasted. And on the seventh day he told her because she pressed him so hard. She then told the riddle to the sons of her people.

18 So the men of the city said to him on the seventh day before the sun went down,

"What is sweeter than honey?
And what is stronger than a lion?"

And he said to them,

14:1 Timnah. Identified as Tell Batash in the Sorek Valley, west of Beth-shemesh. Archaeologists have uncovered the Philistine layer of the town. one of the daughters of the Philistines. The disappointment of Samson's parents (v. 3; cf. Esau, Gen 26:35; 27:46; 28:1) is understandable in light of the prohibition against marriage with the peoples of Canaan (Ex 34:11,16; Deut 7:1,3; see also Judg 3:5–6).

14:2 get her for me. See Gen 34:4. As the head of the family, the father exercised authority in all matters, often including the choice of wives for his sons (see 12:9; Gen 24:3–9; Neh 10:30).

14:3 uncircumcised. A term of scorn, referring to those not bound by covenant to the Lord, used especially of the Philistines (see note on 1 Sam 14:6). she looks good to me. The Hebrew for this expression is similar to that translated "did what was right in his own eyes" in 17:6; 21:25. The author anticipates this theme, which recurs in chs. 17–21.

14:4 it was of the LORD. See Josh 11:20; 1 Kin 12:15. The Lord uses even the sinful weaknesses of men to accomplish His purposes and bring praise to His name (see Gen 45:8; 50:20; 2 Chr 25:20; Acts 2:23; 4:28; Rom 8:28–29).

14:5 vineyards of Timnah. The Sorek Valley (in which Timnah was located) and its surrounding areas were noted for their luxurious vineyards. young lion. Lions were once common in southern Canaan (see 1 Sam 17:34; 2 Sam 23:20; 1 Kin 13:24; 20:36).

14:6 Spirit . . . came upon him. See 13:25; 14:19; 15:14; see also notes on 3:10; 11:29. tore him. David (1 Sam 17:34–37) and Benaiah (2 Sam 23:20) later performed similar feats.

14:10 feast. Such a special feast was common in the ancient Near East (see Gen 29:22) and here lasted seven days (v. 12; see Gen 29:27). Since it would have included drinking wine, Samson may have violated his Nazirite vow (see 13:4,7).

14:11 companions. These are the "attendants of the bridegroom" (cf. Matt 9:15). They were probably charged with protecting the wedding party against marauders.

14:12 riddle. The use of riddles at feasts and special occasions was popular in the ancient world. changes of clothes. Mentioned, together with silver, as gifts of great value in Gen 45:22; 2 Kin 5:22 (see also Zech 14:14).

14:16 do not love me. Delilah used the same tactics (16:15).

"If you had not plowed with my heifer,
You would not have found out my riddle."

19 Then [a]the Spirit of the LORD [1]came upon him mightily, and he went down to Ashkelon and killed thirty of them and took their spoil and gave the changes of clothes to those who told the riddle. And his anger burned, and he went up to his father's house.

20 But Samson's wife was [a]given to his companion who had been his [1]friend.

Samson Burns Philistine Crops

15 But after a while, in the time of wheat harvest, Samson visited his wife [a]with a young goat, and said, "I will go in to my wife in her room." But her father did not let him enter.

2 Her father said, "I really thought that you hated her intensely; so I [a]gave her to your companion. Is not her younger sister [1]more beautiful than she? Please let her be yours [2]instead."

3 Samson then said to them, "This time I shall be blameless in regard to the Philistines when I do them harm."

4 Samson went and caught three hundred foxes, and took torches, and turned the foxes tail to tail and put one torch in the middle between two tails.

5 When he had set fire to the torches, he released [1]the foxes into the standing grain of the Philistines, thus burning up both the shocks and the standing grain, along with the vineyards and groves.

6 Then the Philistines said, "Who did this?" And they said, "Samson, the son-in-law of the Timnite, because [1]he took his wife and gave her to his companion." So the Philistines came up and [a]burned her and her father with fire.

7 Samson said to them, "Since you act like this, I will surely take revenge on you, but after that I will quit."

8 He struck them [1]ruthlessly with a great slaughter; and he went down and lived in the cleft of the rock of Etam.

9 Then the Philistines went up and camped in Judah, and spread out in Lehi.

10 The men of Judah said, "Why have you come up against us?" And they said, "We have come up to bind Samson in order to do to him as he did to us."

11 Then 3,000 men of Judah went down to the cleft of the rock of Etam and said to Samson, "Do you not know [a]that the Philistines are rulers over us? What then is this that you have done to us?" And he said to them, "As they did to me, so I have done to them."

12 They said to him, "We have come down to bind you so that we may give you into the hands of the Philistines." And Samson said to them, "Swear to me that you will not [1]kill me."

13 So they said to [1]him, "No, but we will bind you fast and give you into their hands; yet surely we will not kill you." Then they bound him with two new ropes and brought him up from the rock.

14 When he came to Lehi, the Philistines shouted as they met him. And [a]the Spirit of the LORD [1]came upon him mightily so that the ropes that were on his arms were as flax that is burned with fire, and his bonds [2]dropped from his hands.

15 He found a fresh jawbone of a donkey, so he [1]reached out and took it and [2]killed [a]a thousand men with it.

16 Then Samson said,
"With the jawbone of a donkey,
[1]Heaps upon heaps,
With the jawbone of a donkey
I have [2]killed a thousand men."

14:18 my heifer. Samson's wife (see v. 15). Since heifers were not used for plowing, Samson is accusing them of unfairness.
14:19 Spirit . . . came upon him. God's purposes for Samson included humbling the Philistines. Ashkelon. One of the five principal cities of the Philistines (see map, p. 312).
14:20 companion. See 15:2; probably the young man who had attended Samson (cf. John 3:29), in all likelihood one of his 30 companions (v. 11).
15:1 time of wheat harvest. Near the end of May or the beginning of June (see note on Ruth 1:22). young goat. Such a gift was customary, as with Judah and Tamar (Gen 38:17).
15:2 younger sister. Samson's father-in-law felt he had to make a counterproposal because he had received the bride-price from Samson. Similar marital transactions were made by Laban and Jacob (Gen 29:16–28) and Saul and David (1 Sam 18:19–21).
15:4 foxes. The Hebrew word may refer to foxes or jackals, both of which are still found in modern Israel.
15:5 burning up. The wheat harvest (v. 1) comes at the end of a long dry season, thus making the fields extremely vulnerable to fire.
15:7 revenge. A common feature of life in the ancient Near East. Six cities of refuge were designated by the Lord to prevent endless killings (Josh 20:1–9).
15:9 Lehi. Means "jawbone." This locality probably did not receive the name until after the events described here; the author uses the name in anticipation of those events—a common device in Hebrew narrative. The exact site of Lehi is not known.
15:11 3,000 men of Judah. The only time a force from Judah is explicitly mentioned in connection with any of the judges (but see note on 1:2). The men of Judah were well aware of Samson's capabilities, and even with a large force they did not attempt to tie him up without his consent (vv. 12–13). Philistines are rulers over us. Much of Judah was under Philistine rule, and the tribe was apparently content to accept it. They mustered a force, not to support Samson, but to capture him for the Philistines.
15:14 shouted. A battle cry (see 1 Sam 17:52). They came shouting against Samson as the lion had come roaring against him (14:5). Spirit of the LORD. See notes on 3:10; 11:29; 14:19.
15:15 killed a thousand men with it. Cf. the exploits of Shamgar, who struck down 600 Philistines with an oxgoad (3:31).

threw the jawbone from his hand; and he named that place [1]Ramath-lehi.

18 Then he became very thirsty, and he [a]called to the LORD and said, "You have given this great deliverance by the hand of Your servant, and now [1]shall I die of thirst [2]and fall into the hands of the uncircumcised?"

19 But God split the hollow place that is in Lehi so that water came out of it. When he drank, [a]his [1]strength returned and he revived. Therefore he named it [2]En-hakkore, which is in Lehi to this day.

20 So [a]he judged Israel twenty years in [b]the days of the Philistines.

Samson's Weakness

16 Now Samson went to [a]Gaza and saw a harlot there, and went in to her.

2 When it was told to the Gazites, saying, "Samson has come here," they [a]surrounded the place and lay in wait for him all night at the gate of the city. And they kept silent all night, saying, "Let us wait until the morning light, then we will kill him."

3 Now Samson lay until midnight, and at midnight he arose and took hold of the doors of the city gate and the two posts and pulled them up along with the bars; then he put them on his shoulders and carried them up to the top of the mountain which is opposite Hebron.

4 After this it came about that he loved a woman in the valley of Sorek, whose name was Delilah.

5 The [a]lords of the Philistines came up to her and said to her, "[b]Entice him, and see where his great strength lies and [1]how we may overpower him that we may bind him to afflict him. Then we will each give you eleven hundred pieces of silver."

6 So Delilah said to Samson, "Please tell me where your great strength is and [1]how you may be bound to afflict you."

7 Samson said to her, "If they bind me with seven fresh cords that have not been dried, then I will become weak and be like any other man."

8 Then the lords of the Philistines brought up to her seven fresh cords that had not been dried, and she bound him with them.

9 Now she had men lying in wait in an inner room. And she said to him, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" But he snapped the cords as a string of tow snaps when it [1]touches fire. So his strength was not discovered.

10 Then Delilah said to Samson, "Behold, you have deceived me and told me lies; now please tell me [1]how you may be bound."

11 He said to her, "If they bind me tightly with new ropes [1]which have not been used, then I will become weak and be like any other man."

12 So Delilah took new ropes and bound him with them and said to him, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" For the men were lying in wait in the inner room. But he snapped [1]the ropes from his arms like a thread.

13 Then Delilah said to Samson, "Up to now you have deceived me and told me lies; tell me [1]how you may be bound." And he said to her, "If you weave the seven locks of my [2]hair with the web [3][and fasten it with a pin, then I will become weak and be like any other man."

14 So while he slept, Delilah took the seven locks of his [1]hair and wove them into the web]. And she fastened it with the pin and said to him, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" But he awoke from his sleep and pulled out the pin of the loom and the web.

15:18 shall I die of thirst . . . ? Mighty Samson was, after all, only a mortal man.
15:19 water came out of it. God provided for Samson as He had for Israel in the wilderness. See Ex 17:1–7 (Massah and Meribah); Num 20:2–13 (Meribah).
15:20 judged Israel . . . years. See note on 12:7. twenty years. Round numbers are frequently used in Judges (see Introduction: Background).
16:1 Gaza. An important Philistine seaport on the Mediterranean coast of the southwest portion of Canaan. harlot. While Samson certainly possessed physical strength, he lacked moral strength, which ultimately led to his ruin.
16:2 morning light. By that time they expected Samson to be exhausted and sleeping soundly.
16:3 bars. Probably made of bronze (1 Kin 4:13) or iron (Ps 107:16; Is 45:2). opposite Hebron. That is, in the direction of Hebron, which was 38 miles away in the hill country. Since Hebron was the chief city of Judah, this must be seen as Samson's response to what the men of Judah had done to him (see 15:11–13).
16:5 lords of the Philistines. See note on 3:3. overpower him. The Philistines were not interested in killing him quickly; they sought revenge by a prolonged period of torture. eleven hundred pieces of silver. An extraordinarily generous payment in light of 17:10 (see note there). (The total amount paid by the five Philistines would have been equivalent to the price of 275 slaves, at the rate offered for Joseph centuries earlier; see Gen 37:28.) Micah stole a similar amount of silver from his mother (17:2).
16:7 seven fresh cords. The number seven had special significance to the ancients, symbolizing completeness or fullness. Note that Samson's hair was divided into seven braids (v. 13).
16:11 new ropes. The Philistines apparently did not know that this method had already been tried and had failed (15:13–14).
16:13 Out of disdain, Samson arrogantly played with his Philistine adversaries. fasten it with a pin. Probably from a weaver's shuttle. The details of the account suggest that the loom in question was the vertical type with a crossbeam from which warp threads were suspended. Samson's long hair was woven into the warp and beaten up into the web with the pin, thus forming a tight fabric.

and have not told me where your great strength is."

16 It came about when she pressed him daily with her words and urged him, that his soul was [1]annoyed to death.

17 So he told her all that was in his heart and said to her, "A razor has never come on my head, for I have been a [a]Nazirite to God from my mother's womb. If I am shaved, then my strength will leave me and I will become weak and be like any other man."

18 When Delilah saw that he had told her all that was in his heart, she sent and called the lords of the Philistines, saying, "Come up once more, for he has told me all that is in his heart." Then the lords of the Philistines came up to her and brought the money in their hands.

19 She made him sleep on her knees, and called for a man and had him shave off the seven locks of his [1]hair. Then she began to afflict him, and his strength left him.

20 She said, "The Philistines are upon you, Samson!" And he awoke from his sleep and said, "I will go out as at other times and shake myself free." But he did not know that [a]the LORD had departed from him.

21 Then the Philistines seized him and gouged out his eyes; and they brought him down to Gaza and bound him with bronze chains, and he was a grinder in the prison.

22 However, the hair of his head began to grow again after it was shaved off.

23 Now the lords of the Philistines assembled to offer a great sacrifice to [a]Dagon their god, and to rejoice, for they said,

"Our god has given Samson our enemy into our hands."

24 When the people saw him, [a]they praised their god, for they said,

"Our god has given our enemy into our hands,
Even the destroyer of our country,
Who has slain many of us."

25 It so happened when [1]they were in high spirits, that they said, "Call for Samson, that he may amuse us." So they called for Samson from the prison, and he [2]entertained them. And they made him stand between the pillars.

26 Then Samson said to the boy who was holding his hand, "Let me feel the pillars on which the house rests, that I may lean against them."

27 Now the house was full of men and women, and all the lords of the Philistines were there. And about 3,000 men and women were on the roof looking on while Samson was amusing them.

Samson Is Avenged

28 [a]Then Samson called to the LORD and said, "O Lord [1]GOD, please remember me and please strengthen me just this time, O God, that I may at once [b]be avenged of the Philistines for my two eyes."

29 Samson grasped the two middle pillars on which the house rested, and braced himself against them, the one with his right hand and the other with his left.

30 And Samson said, "Let me die with the Philistines!" And he bent with [1]all his might so that the house fell on the lords and all the people who were in it. So the dead whom he killed at his death were more than those whom he killed in his life.

31 Then his brothers and all his father's household came down, took him, brought him up and buried him between Zorah and Eshtaol in the tomb of Manoah his father. [a]Thus he had judged Israel twenty years.

16:19–20 his strength left him . . . the LORD had departed from him. The source of Samson's strength was ultimately God Himself.

16:20 he did not know. One of the most tragic statements in the OT. Samson was unaware that he had betrayed his calling. He had permitted a Philistine woman to rob him of the sign of his special consecration to the Lord. The Lord's champion lay asleep and helpless in the arms of his paramour.

16:21 gouged out his eyes. Brutal treatment of prisoners of war to humiliate and incapacitate them was common (see 1 Sam 11:2; 2 Kin 25:7; see also note on Judg 1:6). to Gaza. In shame and weakness, Samson was led to Gaza, the place where he had displayed great strength (vv. 1–3). he was a grinder. See note on 9:53.

16:23 Dagon. See note on 10:6. Our god has given. It was common to attribute a victory to the national deities.

16:27 on the roof. The temple complex probably surrounded an open court and had a flat roof where a large number of people had gathered to get a glimpse of the fallen champion.

16:30 bent. Samson pushed the wooden pillars from their stone bases. Archaeologists have discovered a Philistine temple with a pair of closely spaced pillar bases. killed . . . were more. Samson previously had slain well over 1,000 people (see 15:15; see also 14:19; 15:8).

16:31 came down, took him. The freedom of his family to secure his body and give it a burial indicates that the Philistines had no intention of further dishonoring him (contrast Saul's death, 1 Sam 31:9–10). judged Israel . . . years. See note on 12:7. twenty years. Round numbers are frequently used in Judges (see Introduction: Background).

17:1–21:25 Two episodes forming an epilogue to the story of the judges (see Introduction: Literary Features). The events narrated evidently took place fairly early in the period of the judges (see notes on 18:30; 20:1,28). They illustrate the religious and moral degeneracy that characterized the age—when "there was no king in Israel" and "every man did what was right in his own eyes" (17:6; 21:25). Writing at a time when the monarchy under the Davidic dynasty had brought cohesion and order to the land and had reestablished a center for the worship of the Lord, the author portrays this earlier era of the judges as a dismal period of national decay, from which it was to be rescued by the house of David.

17:1–18:31 The first episode illustrates corruption in Israelite worship by telling of Micah's establishment of a local place of

2 He said to his mother, "The eleven hundred pieces of silver which were taken from you, about which you uttered a curse [1]in my hearing, behold, the silver is with me; I took it." And his mother said, "Blessed be my son by the LORD."

3 He then returned the eleven hundred pieces of silver to his mother, and his mother said, "I wholly dedicate the silver from my hand to the LORD for my son [a]to make a graven image and a molten image; now therefore, I will return [1]them to you."

4 So when he returned the silver to his mother, his mother took two hundred pieces of silver and gave them to the silversmith who made [1]them into a graven image and a molten image, and [2]they were in the house of Micah.

5 And the man Micah had a [1][a]shrine and he made an [b]ephod and [2][c]household idols and [3]consecrated one of his sons, [d]that he might become his priest.

6 In those days [a]there was no king in Israel; [b]every man did what was right in his own eyes.

7 Now there was a young man from [a]Bethlehem in Judah, of the family of Judah, who was a Levite; and he was [1]staying there.

8 Then the man departed from the city, from Bethlehem in Judah, to [1]stay wherever he might find a place; and as he made his journey, he came to the [a]hill country of Ephraim to the house of Micah.

9 Micah said to him, "Where do you come from?" And he said to him, "I am a Levite from Bethlehem in Judah, and I am going to [1]stay wherever I may find a place."

10 Micah then said to him, "Dwell with me and be [a]a father and a priest to me, and I will give you ten pieces of silver a year, a suit of clothes, and your maintenance." So the Levite went in.

11 The Levite agreed to live with the man, and the young man became to him like one of his sons.

12 So Micah [1]consecrated the Levite, and the young man [a]became his priest and [2]lived in the house of Micah.

13 Then Micah said, "Now I know that the LORD will prosper me, seeing I have a Levite as priest."

Danites Seek Territory

18 [a]In those days there was no king of Israel; and [b]in those days the tribe of the Danites was seeking an inheritance for themselves to live in, for until that day [1]an inheritance had not [2]been allotted to them as a possession among the tribes of Israel.

2 So the sons of Dan sent from their family five men out of their whole number, [1]valiant men from [a]Zorah and Eshtaol, to spy out the land and to search it; and they said to them, "Go, search the land." And they came to [b]the hill country of Ephraim, to the house of Micah, and lodged there.

3 When they were near the house of Micah, they recognized the voice of the young man, the Levite; and they turned aside there and said to him, "Who brought you here? And what are you doing in this place? And what do you have here?"

4 He said to them, "Thus and so has Micah done to me, and he has hired me and [a]I have become his priest."

5 They said to him, "Inquire of God, please, that we may know whether our way on which we are going will be prosperous."

worship in Ephraim, aided by a Levite claiming descent from Moses. This paganized worship of the Lord is taken over by the tribe of Dan when that tribe abandons its appointed inheritance and migrates to Israel's northern frontier.

17:2 eleven hundred pieces of silver. See note on 16:5. about which you uttered a curse. Fear of the curse seems to have motivated his returning the stolen money. Blessed be my son. A blessing to counteract the curse.

17:3 mother . . . son. With their paganized view of the God of Israel, both were idolaters in disobedience to the law (Ex 20:4,23; Deut 4:16). a graven image and a molten image. The first was probably made of wood overlaid with silver; the second was made of solid silver or of cheaper metal overlaid with silver.

17:4 silversmith. A maker of idols, as in Acts 19:24 (cf. Is 40:19 and Jer 10:9, where the Hebrew for this word is translated "goldsmith").

17:5 ephod. See 8:27 and note on Ex 28:6. idols. Household gods, used in this case for divining (cf. Ezek 21:21; Zech 10:2). Some of them were in human form (1 Sam 19:13).

17:6 was no king. See 18:1; 19:1; 21:25; suggests that Judges was written after the establishment of the monarchy (see Introduction: Author and Date). did what was right in his own eyes. The expression implies that Israel had departed from the covenant standards of conduct found in the law (see Deut 12:8).

17:7 Bethlehem in Judah. Not among the 48 designated Levitical cities (Jos 21).

17:8 departed from the city. The failure of the Israelites to obey the law probably resulted in a lack of support for the Levites, which explains the man's wandering in search of his fortune.

17:10 father. A term of respect used also for Elijah (2 Kin 2:12) and Elisha (2 Kin 6:21; 13:14). See Gen 45:8; Matt 23:9. ten pieces. About four ounces. In the light of this remuneration for a year's service, the stated amounts in 16:5 and 17:2 take on special significance. The offer of wages, clothing and food was more than this Levite could resist (v. 11). Clearly material concerns were at the root of his decision, because later he accepts an even more attractive offer (18:19–20).

17:12 consecrated the Levite. An attempt to make his shrine legitimate and give it prestige. Micah probably removed his son (see v. 5).

18:1 seeking an inheritance. The Danite allotment was at the west end of the strip of land between Judah and Ephraim (Josh 19:41–46), but, due to the opposition of the Amorites (Judg 1:34) and the Philistines, the Danites were unable to occupy that territory (see note on 13:2).

18:2 spy out. See 1:23 and note on Num 13:2.

18:3 recognized the voice. Perhaps they recognized him by his dialect or accent.

18:5 Inquire of God. The request is for an oracle, probably by using the ephod and household gods (see note on 17:5). God had already revealed His will by the allotments given to the var-

6 The priest said to them, "Go in peace; your way in which you are going [1]has the LORD'S approval."

7 Then the five men departed and came to [a]Laish and saw the people who were in it living in security, after the manner of the Sidonians, quiet and secure; for there was no [1]ruler humiliating them for anything in the land, and they were far from the Sidonians and had no dealings with anyone.

8 When they came back to their brothers at Zorah and Eshtaol, their brothers said to them, "What do you report?"

9 They said, "Arise, and let us go up against them; for we have seen the land, and behold, it is very good. And will you [1]sit still? Do not delay to go, to enter, to possess the land.

10 "When you enter, you will come to a secure people with a spacious land; for God has given it into your hand, [a]a place where there is no lack of anything that is on the earth."

11 Then from the family of the Danites, from Zorah and from Eshtaol, six hundred men armed with weapons of war set out.

12 They went up and camped at Kiriath-jearim in Judah. Therefore they called that place [1][a]Mahaneh-dan to this day; behold, it is [2]west of Kiriath-jearim.

13 They passed from there to the hill country of Ephraim and came to the house of Micah.

Danites Take Micah's Idols

14 Then the five men who went to spy out the country of Laish said to their kinsmen, "Do you know that there are in these houses [a]an ephod and [1]household idols and a graven image and a molten image? Now therefore, consider what you should do."

15 They turned aside there and came to the house of the young man, the Levite, to the house of Micah, and asked him of his welfare.

16 The six hundred men armed with their weapons of war, who were of the sons of Dan, stood by the entrance of the gate.

17 Now the five men who went to spy out the land went up and entered there, and took [a]the graven image and the ephod and [1]household idols and the molten image, while the priest stood by the entrance of the gate with the six hundred men armed with weapons of war.

18 When these went into Micah's house and took the graven image, the ephod and [1]household idols and the molten image, the priest said to them, "What are you doing?"

19 They said to him, "Be silent, [a]put your hand over your mouth and come with us, and be to us [b]a father and a priest. Is it better for you to be a priest to the house of one man, or to be priest to a tribe and a family in Israel?"

20 The priest's heart was glad, and he took the ephod and [1]household idols and the graven image and went among the people.

21 Then they turned and departed, and put the little ones and the livestock and the valuables in front of them.

22 When they had gone some distance from the house of Micah, the men who were in the houses near Micah's house assembled and overtook the sons of Dan.

23 They cried to the sons of Dan, who turned [1]around and said to Micah, "What is the matter with you, that you have assembled together?"

24 He said, "You have taken away my gods which I made, and the priest, and have gone away, and what do I have besides? So how can you say to me, 'What is the matter with you?' "

25 The sons of Dan said to him, "Do not let your voice be heard among us, or else [1]fierce men will fall upon you and you will [2]lose your life, with the lives of your household."

26 So the sons of Dan went on their way; and when Micah saw that they were too strong for him, he turned and went back to his house.

27 Then they took what Micah had made and the priest who had belonged to him, and ious tribes (Josh 14–20). They were searching for an oracle that would guarantee the success of their journey.

18:6 Go in peace. The Levite gave them the message they wanted to hear. He was even careful to use the name of the Lord to give the message credibility and authority.

18:7 Laish. The journey northward was about 100 miles from Zorah and Eshtaol (v. 2). This town is called Leshem in Josh 19:47. After its capture by the Danites, Laish was renamed Dan (v. 29), and it was Israel's northernmost settlement (see 20:1; 1 Sam 3:20; 2 Sam 3:10). Excavations there have disclosed that the earliest Israelite occupation of Dan was in the 12th century B.C. and that the first Israelite inhabitants apparently lived in tents or temporary huts. Occupation of the site continued into the Assyrian period, but the town was destroyed and rebuilt many times. A large high place attached to the city was often extensively rebuilt and refurbished and was in use into the Hellenistic period. Sidonians. A peaceful Phoenician people who engaged in commerce throughout the Mediterranean world. had no dealings. They did not feel threatened by other powers and therefore sought no treaties for mutual defense.

18:11 six hundred men. As leaders of the tribe of Dan, they represented the entire tribe's migration to its new location in the north. Cf. the 600 men who constituted the remnant of the tribe of Benjamin (20:47).

18:19 father. See note on 17:10. a tribe and family. Only one clan from the tribe of Dan is ever mentioned—Shuham (Num 26:42; called Hushim in Gen 46:23). The Danites appealed to the Levite's vanity and materialism.

18:21 in front of them. For protection in case of attack; see Gen 33:2–3 (Jacob and Esau).

18:24 You have taken away my gods. Micah was concerned about the loss of gods that could not even protect themselves. what do I have besides? The agonizing cry of one whose faith is centered in helpless gods.

came to [a]Laish, to a people quiet and secure, and struck them with the edge of the sword; and they burned the city with fire.

28 And there was no one to deliver them, because it was far from Sidon and they had no dealings with anyone, and it was in the valley which is near [a]Beth-rehob. And they rebuilt the city and lived in it.

29 [a]They called the name of the city Dan, after the name of Dan their father who was born in Israel; however, the name of the city formerly was Laish.

30 The sons of Dan set up for themselves [a]the graven image; and Jonathan, the son of [b]Gershom, the son of [1]Manasseh, [a]he and his sons were priests to the tribe of the Danites until the day of the captivity of the land.

31 So they set up for themselves Micah's graven image which he had made, all the time that the [a]house of God was at Shiloh.

A Levite's Concubine Degraded

19 Now it came about in those days, when [a]there was no king in Israel, that there was a certain Levite [1]staying in the remote part of the hill country of Ephraim, who took a concubine for himself from Bethlehem in Judah.

2 But his concubine played the harlot against him, and she went away from him to her father's house in Bethlehem in Judah, and was there for a period of four months.

3 Then her husband arose and went after her to [a]speak [1]tenderly to her in order to bring her back, [2]taking with him his servant and a pair of donkeys. So she brought him into her father's house, and when the girl's father saw him, he was glad to meet him.

4 His father-in-law, the girl's father, detained him; and he remained with him three days. So they ate and drank and lodged there.

5 Now on the fourth day they got up early in the morning, and he [1]prepared to go; and the girl's father said to his son-in-law, "[a]Sustain [2]yourself with a piece of bread, and afterward you may go."

6 So both of them sat down and ate and drank together; and the girl's father said to the man, "Please be willing to spend the night, and [a]let your heart be merry."

7 Then the man arose to go, but his father-in-law urged him so that he spent the night there again.

8 On the fifth day he arose to go early in the morning, and the girl's father said, "Please sustain [1]yourself, and wait until [2]afternoon"; so both of them ate.

9 When the man arose to go along with his concubine and servant, his father-in-law, the girl's father, said to him, "Behold now, the day has drawn [1]to a close; please spend the night. Lo, the day is [2]coming to an end; spend the night here that your heart may be merry. Then tomorrow you may arise early for your journey so that you may go [3]home."

10 But the man was not willing to spend the night, so he arose and departed and came to a place opposite [a]Jebus (that is, Jerusalem). And there were with him a pair of saddled donkeys; his concubine also was with him.

11 When they were near Jebus, the day was almost gone; and [a]the servant said to his master, "Please come, and let us turn aside into this city of the Jebusites and spend the night in it."

12 However, his master said to him, "We will not turn aside into the city of foreigners who are not of the sons of Israel; but we will go on as far as Gibeah."

13 He said to his servant, "Come and let us approach one of these places; and we will spend the night in Gibeah or Ramah."

14 So they passed along and went their way, and the sun set on them near Gibeah which belongs to Benjamin.

18:28 Beth-rehob. Probably the same as Rehob in Num 13:21.
18:30 Manasseh. The original reading appears to have been "Moses" (supported by an ancient Hebrew scribal tradition, some Greek Septuagint manuscripts and the Latin Vulgate). The Levite Jonathan would then be identified as the son of Gershom, the son of Moses (Ex 2:22; 18:3; 1 Chr 23:14–15). In an effort to prevent desecration of the name of Moses, later scribes modified the name slightly, making it read "Manasseh." If Jonathan was the grandson of Moses, the events in this chapter must have occurred early in the period of the judges (see notes on 20:1,28). captivity of the land. The date of this captivity has not been determined (see note on v. 7 regarding Laish).
18:31 all the time that the house of God was at Shiloh. See Josh 18:1. For Shiloh's destruction see Ps 78:60; Jer 7:12,14; 26:6. Archaeological work at Shiloh indicates that the site was destroyed c. 1050 B.C. and was left uninhabited for many centuries.
19:1–21:25 The second episode of the epilogue (see note on 17:1–18:31). It illustrates Israel's moral corruption by telling of the degenerate act of the men of Gibeah—an act remembered centuries later (Hos 9:9; 10:9). Although that town showed itself to be as wicked as any Canaanite town, it was defended by the rest of the tribe of Benjamin against the Lord's discipline through the Israelites, until nearly the whole tribe was destroyed.
19:1–30 An account of an Israelite town that revived the ways of Sodom (see Ge 19).
19:1 Levite. Unlike the Levite of chs. 17–18, this man is not named. concubine. See note on Gen 25:6.
19:3 glad to meet him. The separation of the concubine from the Levite was probably a matter of family disgrace, and so his father-in-law was glad for the prospect of the two being reunited.
19:10 Jebus. See 1:21; see also note on Gen 10:16.
19:12 city of foreigners. With the city under the control of the Jebusites, the Levite was afraid that he would receive no hospitality and might be in mortal danger.
19:14 Gibeah . . . Benjamin. Distinguished from the Gibeah in Judah (Josh 15:20,57) and the Gibeah in the hill country of Ephraim (Josh 24:33). As the political capital of Saul's kingdom, it is called Gibeah of Saul in 1 Sam 11:4; see also 1 Sam 13:15.

15 They turned aside there in order to enter and lodge in Gibeah. When [1]they entered, [1]they sat down in the open square of the city, for no one took them into his house to spend the night.

16 Then behold, an old man was coming out of the field from his work at evening. Now the man was from [a]the hill country of Ephraim, and he was [1]staying in Gibeah, but the men of the place [b]were Benjamites.

17 And he lifted up his eyes and saw the traveler in the open square of the city; and the old man said, "Where are you going, and where do you come from?"

18 He said to him, "We are passing from Bethlehem in Judah to the remote part of the hill country of Ephraim, for I am from there, and I went to Bethlehem in Judah. But I am now going to [1]my house, and no man will take me into his house.

19 "Yet there is both straw and fodder for our donkeys, and also bread and wine for me, [1]your maidservant, and [a]the young man who is with your servants; there is no lack of anything."

20 The old man said, "[a]Peace to you. Only let me take care of all your needs; however, do not spend the night in the open square."

21 [a]So he took him into his house and gave the donkeys fodder, and they washed their feet and ate and drank.

22 While they were [1]celebrating, behold, [a]the men of the city, certain [2b]worthless fellows, surrounded the house, pounding the door; and they spoke to the owner of the house, the old man, saying, "Bring out the man who came into your house that we may have [3]relations with him."

23 Then the man, the owner of the house, went out to them and said to them, "No, my fellows, please do not act so wickedly; since this man has come into my house, [a]do not commit this act of folly.

24 "[a]Here is my virgin daughter and his concubine. Please let me bring them out that you may ravish them and do to them [1]whatever you wish. But do not commit such an act of folly against this man."

25 But the men would not listen to him. So the man seized his concubine and brought her out to them; and they raped her and abused her all night until morning, then let her go at the approach of dawn.

26 [1]As the day began to dawn, the woman came and fell down at the doorway of the man's house where her master was, until full daylight.

27 When her master arose in the morning and opened the doors of the house and went out to go on his way, then behold, his concubine was lying at the doorway of the house with her hands on the threshold.

28 He said to her, "Get up and let us go," [a]but there was no answer. Then he placed her on the donkey; and the man arose and went to his [1]home.

29 When he entered his house, he took a knife and laid hold of his concubine and [a]cut her in twelve pieces, limb by limb, and sent her throughout the territory of Israel.

30 All who saw it said, "Nothing like this has ever happened or been seen from the day when the sons of Israel came up from the land of Egypt to this day. Consider it, [a]take counsel and speak up!"

Resolve to Punish the Guilty

20 Then all the sons of Israel from Dan to Beersheba, including the land of Gilead, came out, and the congregation assembled as one man to the LORD at [a]Mizpah.

19:15 took them into his house. See notes on 13:15; Gen 18:2.

19:18 my house. Apparently the Levite was planning to go to Shiloh (see 18:31; Josh 18:1) to present a thank offering to the Lord or a sin offering for himself and his concubine.

19:21 washed their feet. An evidence of hospitality in the ancient Near East, where travelers commonly wore sandals as they walked the dusty roads (see Gen 18:4; 24:32; 43:24; Luke 7:44; John 13:5–14).

19:22 worthless fellows. The Hebrew for this expression refers to the morally depraved (see note on Deut 13:13). Elsewhere the expression is associated with idolatry (Deut 13:13), drunkenness (1 Sam 1:16) and rebellion (1 Sam 2:12). Here the reference is to homosexuality. Bring out the man. The sexual perversion of these wicked men is yet another example of the decadence of an age when "every man did what was right in his own eyes" (17:6; 21:25). A similar request was made by the men of Sodom (Gen 19:5). Homosexuality was common among the Canaanites.

19:23 do not act so wickedly. An expression of outrage at the willful perversion of what is right and natural (see Gen 19:7; 2 Sam 13:12; see also Rom 1:27).

19:24 my virgin daughter and his concubine. The tragedy of this story lies not only in the decadence of Gibeah, but also in the callous selfishness of men who would betray defenseless women to be brutally violated for a whole night. Cf. Gen 19:8, where Lot offered his two daughters to the men of Sodom.

19:29 cut her in twelve pieces. Dismembering the concubine's body and sending parts to each of the 12 tribes was intended to awaken Israel from its moral lethargy and to marshal the tribes to face up to their responsibility. It is ironic that the one who issued such a call was himself so selfish and insensitive. See also Saul's similar action in 1 Sam 11:7.

20:1–48 All Israel (except Jabesh-gilead; see 21:8–9) assembled before the Lord to deal with the moral outrage committed by the men of Gibeah. Having first inquired of God for divine direction, they marched against Gibeah and the Benjamites as the disciplinary arm of the Lord (see Josh 22:11–34), following Him as their King.

20:1 Dan to Beersheba. A conventional way of speaking of all Israel from north (Dan) to south (Beersheba); see 1 Sam 3:20; 2 Sam 3:10; 24:2; 1 Chr 21:2; 2 Chr 30:5. The use of this expression, however, does not mean that the events of this chapter occurred after Dan's move to the north (18:27–29); rather, it indicates the author's perspective at the time of writing the tribes of Israel, took their stand in the assembly of the people of God, 400,000 foot [2]soldiers [a]who drew the sword.

3 (Now the sons of Benjamin heard that the sons of Israel had gone up to Mizpah.) And the sons of Israel said, "Tell us, how did this wickedness take place?"

4 So the Levite, the husband of the woman who was murdered, answered and said, "I came with my concubine to spend the night at Gibeah which belongs to Benjamin.

5 "But the [a]men of Gibeah rose up against me and surrounded the house at night because of me. They intended to kill me; instead, they [b]ravished my concubine so that she died.

6 "And I [a]took hold of my concubine and cut her in pieces and sent her throughout the land of Israel's inheritance; for [b]they have committed a lewd and disgraceful act in Israel.

7 "Behold, all you sons of Israel, [a]give your advice and counsel here."

8 Then all the people arose as one man, saying, "Not one of us will go to his tent, nor will any of us return to his house.

9 "But now this is the thing which we will do to Gibeah; we will go up against it by lot.

10 "And we will take 10 men out of 100 throughout the tribes of Israel, and 100 out of 1,000, and 1,000 out of 10,000 to [1]supply food for the people, that when they come to [2]Gibeah of Benjamin, they may [3]punish them for all the disgraceful acts that they have committed in Israel."

11 Thus all the men of Israel were gathered against the city, united as one man.

12 Then the tribes of Israel sent men through the entire [1]tribe of Benjamin, saying, "What is this wickedness that has taken place among you?

13 "Now then, deliver up the men, the [1a]worthless fellows in Gibeah, that we may put them to death and [b]remove this wickedness from Israel." But the sons of Benjamin would not listen to the voice of their brothers, the sons of Israel.

14 The sons of Benjamin gathered from the cities to Gibeah, to go out to battle against the sons of Israel.

15 From the cities on that day the [a]sons of Benjamin were [1]numbered, 26,000 men who draw the sword, besides the inhabitants of Gibeah who were [1]numbered, 700 choice men.

16 Out of all these people 700 [a]choice men were left-handed; each one could sling a stone at a hair and not miss.

17 Then the men of Israel besides Benjamin were [1]numbered, 400,000 men who draw the sword; all these were men of war.

Civil War, Benjamin Defeated

18 Now the sons of Israel arose, went up to Bethel, and [a]inquired of God and said, "Who shall go up first for us to battle against the sons of Benjamin?" Then the LORD said, "Judah shall go up first."

19 So the sons of Israel arose in the morning and camped against Gibeah.

20 The men of Israel went out to battle against Benjamin, and the men of Israel arrayed for battle against them at Gibeah.

21 Then the sons of Benjamin came out of Gibeah and [1a]felled to the ground on that day 22,000 men of Israel.

22 But the people, the men of Israel, encouraged themselves and arrayed for battle again in the place where they had arrayed themselves the first day.

23 [a]The sons of Israel went up and wept before the LORD until evening, and [b]inquired of the LORD, saying, "Shall we again draw near for battle against the sons of my brother Benjamin?" And the LORD said, "Go up against him."

24 Then the sons of Israel [1]came against the sons of Benjamin the second day.

25 Benjamin went out [1]against them from Gibeah the second day and [2]felled to the ground again 18,000 men of the sons of Israel; all these drew the sword.

26 Then [a]all the sons of Israel and all the people went up and came to Bethel and (Judges was probably written after the Davidic dynasty was fully established; see Introduction: Author and Date). Here the expression refers to the disciplinary action of all Israel (except Jabesh-gilead; see 21:8–9) against Gibeah and the rest of the Benjamites. Such a united response must have occurred early in the time of the judges, before the period of foreign domination of various parts of the land. assembled . . . at Mizpah. A gathering place of the tribes during the days of Saul (1 Sam 7:5–17; 10:17). as one man. Cf. vv. 8,11; 1 Sam 11:7.

20:9 lot. Casting lots was a common method of determining the will of God (see notes on Ex 28:30; Jon 1:7; Acts 1:26).

20:10 10 men. Support for the large army had to be well organized and efficient. One man was responsible for providing food for nine men fighting at the front.

20:13 deliver up . . . the worthless fellows. The demand of Israel was not unreasonable. They wanted to punish only those directly involved in the crime. worthless fellows. See note on Deut 13:13. put them to death. The sin of the men of Gibeah called for the death penalty, and Israel had to punish the sin if she was to avoid guilt herself (see Deut 13:5; 17:7; 19:19–20).

20:16 left-handed. The Benjamite Ehud was also left-handed (3:15). sling a stone. Cf. Zech 9:15. The sling was a very effective weapon, as David later demonstrated in his encounter with Goliath (1 Sam 17:49). A slingstone, weighing one pound or more, could be hurled at 90–100 miles an hour. miss. In other contexts the Hebrew for this verb is translated "to sin."

20:18 Bethel. At this time the ark of the covenant and the high priest Phinehas were at Bethel (see vv. 26–28). inquired of God. Probably by priestly use of Urim and Thummim (see notes on Ex 28:30; 1 Sam 2:28). Who shall go up first . . . ? See 1:1–36. Judah. See note on 1:2.

20:21 22,000 men of Israel. A rousing victory for the Benjamites, who numbered 25,700 and therefore had slain nearly one man apiece.

wept; thus they remained there before the LORD and fasted that day until evening. And they offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the LORD.

27 The sons of Israel [a]inquired of the LORD (for the ark of the covenant of God was there in those days, 28 and Phinehas the son of Eleazar, Aaron's son, stood before it to minister in those days), saying, "Shall I yet again go out to battle against the sons of my brother Benjamin, or shall I cease?" And the LORD said, "Go up, [a]for tomorrow I will deliver them into your hand."

29 [a]So Israel set men in ambush around Gibeah.

30 The sons of Israel went up against the sons of Benjamin on the third day and arrayed themselves against Gibeah as at other times.

31 [a]The sons of Benjamin went out [1]against the people and were drawn away from the city, and they began to strike [2]and kill some of the people as at other times, on the highways, one of which goes up to Bethel and the other to Gibeah, and in the field, about thirty men of Israel.

32 The sons of Benjamin said, "They are struck down before us, as at the first." But the sons of Israel said, "Let us flee that we may draw them away from the city to the highways."

33 Then all the men of Israel arose from their place and arrayed themselves at Baal-tamar; [a]and the men of Israel in ambush broke out of their place, even out of Maareh-geba.

34 When ten thousand choice men from all Israel came against Gibeah, the battle became [1]fierce; [a]but [2]Benjamin did not know that [3]disaster was [4]close to them.

35 And the LORD struck Benjamin before Israel, so that the sons of Israel destroyed 25,100 men of Benjamin that day, all [1]who draw the sword.

36 So the sons of Benjamin saw that they were [1]defeated. [a]When the men of Israel gave [2]ground to Benjamin because they relied on the men in ambush whom they had set against Gibeah, 37 [a]the men in ambush hurried and rushed against Gibeah; the men in ambush also deployed and struck all the city with the edge of the sword.

38 Now the appointed sign between the men of Israel and the men in ambush was [a]that they would make a great cloud of smoke rise from the city.

39 Then the men of Israel turned in the battle, and Benjamin began to strike [1]and kill about thirty men of Israel, [a]for they said, "Surely they are [2]defeated before us, as in the first battle."

40 But when the cloud began to rise from the city in a column of smoke, Benjamin looked [a]behind them; and behold, the whole city was going up in smoke to heaven.

41 Then the men of Israel turned, and the men of Benjamin were terrified; for they saw that [1][a]disaster was [2]close to them.

42 Therefore, they turned their backs before the men of Israel [a]toward the direction of the wilderness, but the battle overtook them while those who came out of the cities destroyed them in the midst of them.

43 [a]They surrounded Benjamin, pursued them without rest and trod them down opposite Gibeah toward the [1]east.

44 Thus 18,000 men of Benjamin fell; all these were valiant warriors.

45 [1]The rest turned and fled toward the wilderness to the rock of [a]Rimmon, but they [2]caught 5,000 of them on the highways and overtook them [3]at Gidom and [4]killed 2,000 of them.

46 So all of Benjamin who fell that day were 25,000 men who draw the sword; all these were valiant warriors.

47 But 600 men turned and fled toward the wilderness to the rock of Rimmon, and they remained at the rock of Rimmon four months.

48 The men of Israel then turned back against the sons of Benjamin and struck them with the edge of the sword, both the entire city with the cattle and all that they found; they also set on fire all the cities which they found.

20:47 600 men. If these had not escaped, the tribe of Benjamin would have been annihilated. The same number of Danites went to Laish (18:11).
21:1–25 Second thoughts about the slaughter of their Benjamite brothers caused the Israelites to grieve over the loss. Only 600 Benjamites were left alive, and the men of Israel decided to provide wives for them in order to keep the tribe from disappearing. After slaughtering most of the people of Jabesh Gilead, the Israelites took 400 girls from the survivors and gave them to 400 Benjamites. Shortly afterward, each of the remaining Benjamites seized a wife from the girls of Shiloh, and Benjamin began to be restored.
21:1 sworn. This vow, probably taken in the name of the Lord, was not an ordinary vow but invoked a curse on oneself if the vow was broken (v. 18; see also Acts 23:12–15).
21:2 Bethel. See 20:18,26–27. wept bitterly. Earlier the Israelites wept because they were defeated by the Benjamites there before God until evening, and lifted up their voices and wept [1]bitterly.

3 They said, "Why, O LORD, God of Israel, has this come about in Israel, so that one tribe should be missing today in Israel?"

4 It came about the next day that the people arose early and built [a]an altar there and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings.

5 Then the sons of Israel said, "Who is there among all the tribes of Israel who did not come up in the assembly to the LORD?" For [1]they had taken a great oath concerning him [a]who did not come up to the LORD at Mizpah, saying, "He shall surely be put to death."

6 And the sons of Israel were sorry for their brother Benjamin and said, "One tribe is cut off from Israel today.

7 "What shall we do for wives for those who are left, since we have [a]sworn by the LORD not to give them any of our daughters in marriage?"

Provision for Their Survival

8 And they said, "What one is there of the tribes of Israel who did not come up to the LORD at Mizpah?" And behold, no one had come to the camp from Jabesh-gilead to the assembly.

9 For when the people were [1]numbered, behold, not one of the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead was there.

10 And the congregation sent 12,000 of the valiant warriors there, and commanded them, saying, "Go and [a]strike the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead with the edge of the sword, with the women and the little ones.

11 "This is the thing that you shall do: you [a]shall utterly destroy every man and every woman who has [1]lain with a man."

12 And they found among the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead 400 young virgins who had not known a man by lying with [1]him; and they brought them to the camp at Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.

13 Then the whole congregation sent word and spoke to the sons of Benjamin who were [a]at the rock of Rimmon, and [b]proclaimed peace to them.

14 Benjamin returned at that time, and they gave them the women whom they had kept alive from the women of Jabesh-gilead; yet they [1]were not enough for them.

15 And the people were sorry for Benjamin because the LORD had made a breach in the tribes of Israel.

16 Then the elders of the congregation said, "What shall we do for wives for those who are left, since the women are destroyed out of Benjamin?"

17 They said, "There must be an inheritance for the survivors of Benjamin, so that a tribe will not be blotted out from Israel.

18 "But we cannot give them wives of our daughters." For the sons of Israel [a]had sworn, saying, "Cursed is he who gives a wife to Benjamin."

19 So they said, "Behold, there is a feast of the LORD from year to year in [a]Shiloh, which is on the north side of Bethel, on the east side of the highway that goes up from Bethel to Shechem, and on the south side of Lebonah."

20 And they commanded the sons of Benjamin, saying, "Go and lie in wait in the vineyards, 21 and watch; and behold, if the daughters of Shiloh come out to [1a]take part in the dances, then you shall come out of the vineyards and each of you shall catch his wife from the daughters of Shiloh, and go to the land of Benjamin.

21:5 not come . . . in the assembly. The tribes had a mutual responsibility in times of military action (see note on 5:13–18). Those who failed to participate were often singled out and sometimes punished (5:15–17,23). great oath. Complicating the situation for Israel was the fact that they had taken a second oath, calling for the death of those who did not participate in the battle.

21:10 12,000. A thousand from each tribe (see Num 31:6), with 1,000 supplied to represent the tribe of Benjamin.

21:11 destroy every man. The punishment of Jabesh Gilead seems brutal, but the covenant bond between the tribes was extremely important. Even though delinquency on some occasions was not punished (5:15–17), the nature of the crime in this case, coupled with Benjamin's refusal to turn over the criminals, caused Israel to take this oath (v. 5).

21:12 Canaan. Emphasizes the fact that the women were brought across the Jordan from the east.

21:19 feast of the LORD. In light of the mention of vineyards (v. 20), it is likely that this reference is to the Feast of Booths (see note on 1 Sam 1:3), though it may have been a local festival. north side of Bethel . . . south side of Lebonah. This detailed description of Shiloh's location may indicate that this material was written at a time when Shiloh was in ruins, perhaps after its destruction during the battle of Aphek (1 Sam 4:1–11).

21:21 catch his wife. With the Benjamites securing wives in this manner, the other tribes were not actually "giving" their daughters to them (see note on v. 22).

21:22 when their fathers or their brothers . . . complain. It was customary for the brothers of a girl who had been abducted to demand satisfaction (see Gen 34:7–31; 2 Sam 13:20–38). It was therefore important that the elders anticipate this response and be prepared to get cooperation from the girls' families.

Ruth

INTRODUCTION

Title

The book is named after one of its main characters, a young woman of Moab, the great-grandmother of David and an ancestress of Jesus (Matt 1:1,5). The only other Biblical book bearing the name of a woman is Esther.

Background

The story is set in the time of the judges, a time characterized in the book of Judges as a period of religious and moral degeneracy, national disunity and general foreign oppression. The book of Ruth reflects a temporary time of peace between Israel and Moab (contrast Judg 3:12–30). Like 1 Sam 1—2, it gives a series of intimate glimpses into the private lives of the members of an Israelite family. It also presents a delightful account of the remnant of true faith and piety in the period of the judges, relieving an otherwise wholly dark picture of that era.

Author and Date of Writing

The author is unknown. Jewish tradition points to Samuel, but it is unlikely that he is the author because the mention of David (4:17,22) implies a later date. Further, the literary style of Hebrew used in Ruth suggests that it was written during the period of the monarchy.

Theme and Theology

The author focuses on Ruth's unswerving and selfless devotion to desolate Naomi (1:16–17; 2:11–12; 3:10; 4:15) and on Boaz's kindness to these two widows (chs. 2—4). He presents striking examples of lives that embody in their daily affairs the self-giving love that fulfills God's law (Lev 19:18; cf. Rom 13:10). Such love also reflects God's love, in a marvelous joining of man's actions with God's (compare 2:12 with 3:9). In God's benevolence such lives are blessed and are made a blessing.

It may seem surprising that one who reflects God's love so clearly is a Moabitess (see map, p. 347). Yet her complete loyalty to the Israelite family into which she has been received by marriage and her total devotion to her desolate mother-in-law mark her as a true daughter of Israel and a worthy ancestress of David. She strikingly exemplifies the truth that participation in the coming kingdom of God is decided, not by blood and birth, but by the conformity of one's life to the will of God through the "obedience of faith" (Rom 1:5). Her place in the ancestry of David signifies that all nations will be represented in the kingdom of David's greater Son.

As an episode in the ancestry of David, the book of Ruth sheds light on his role in the history of redemption. Redemption is a key concept throughout the account; the Hebrew word in its various forms occurs 23 times. The book is primarily a story of Naomi's transformation from despair to happiness through the selfless, God-blessed acts of Ruth and Boaz. She moves from emptiness to fullness (1:21; 3:17; see notes on 1:1,3,5–6,12,21–22; 3:17; 4:15), from destitution (1:1–5) to security and hope (4:13–17). Similarly, Israel was transformed from national desperation at the death of Eli (1 Sam 4:18) to peace and prosperity in the early days of Solomon (1 Kin 4:20–34; 5:4) through the selfless devotion of David, a true descendant of Ruth and Boaz. The author thus reminded Israel that the reign of the house of David, as the means of God's benevolent rule in Israel, held the prospect of God's promised peace and rest. But this rest would continue only so long as those who participated in the kingdom—prince and people alike—reflected in their daily lives the selfless love exemplified by Ruth and Boaz. In Jesus, the great "son of David" (Matt 1:1), and His redemptive work, the promised blessings of the kingdom of God find their fulfillment.

Literary Features

The book of Ruth is a Hebrew short story, told with consummate skill. Among historical narratives in Scripture it is unexcelled in its compactness, vividness, warmth, beauty and dramatic effectiveness — an exquisitely wrought jewel of Hebrew narrative art.

Marvelously symmetrical throughout (see Outline), the action moves from a briefly sketched account of distress (1:1–5; 71 words in Hebrew) through four episodes to a concluding account of relief and hope that is drawn with equal brevity (4:13–17; 71 words in Hebrew). The crucial turning point occurs exactly midway (see note on 2:20). The opening line of each of the four episodes signals its main development (1:6, the return; 2:1, the meeting with Boaz; 3:1, finding a home for Ruth; 4:1, the decisive event at the gate), while the closing line of each episode facilitates transition to what follows (see notes on 1:22; 2:23; 3:18; 4:12). Contrast is also used to good effect: pleasant (the meaning of "Naomi") and bitter (1:20), full and empty (1:21), and the living and the dead (2:20). Most striking is the contrast between two of the main characters, Ruth and Boaz: The one is a young, alien, destitute widow, while the other is a middle-aged, well-to-do Israelite securely established in his home community. For each there is a corresponding character whose actions highlight, by contrast, his or her selfless acts: Ruth — Orpah, Boaz — the unnamed kinsman.

When movements in space, time and circumstance all correspond in some way, a harmony results that both satisfies the reader's artistic sense and helps open doors to understanding. The author of Ruth keeps his readers from being distracted from the central story — Naomi's passage from emptiness to fullness through the selfless acts of Ruth and Boaz (see Theme and Theology). That passage, or restoration, first takes place in connection with her return from Moab to the promised land and to Bethlehem ("house of food"; see note on 1:1). It then progresses with the harvest season, when the fullness of the land is gathered in. All aspects of the story keep the reader's attention focused on the central issue. Consideration of these and other literary devices (mentioned throughout the notes) will aid understanding of the book of Ruth.

Naomi Widowed

1 Now it came about in the days [a]when the judges [1]governed, that there was [b]a famine in the land. And a certain man [c]of Bethlehem in Judah went to sojourn in the land of Moab [2]with his wife and his two sons.

2 The name of the man was Elimelech, and the name of his wife, Naomi; and the names of his two sons were Mahlon and Chilion, Ephrathites of Bethlehem in Judah. Now they [a]entered the land of Moab and remained there.

3 Then Elimelech, Naomi's husband, died; and she was left with her two sons.

4 They took for themselves Moabite women as wives; the name of the one was Orpah and the name of the other Ruth. And they lived there about ten years.

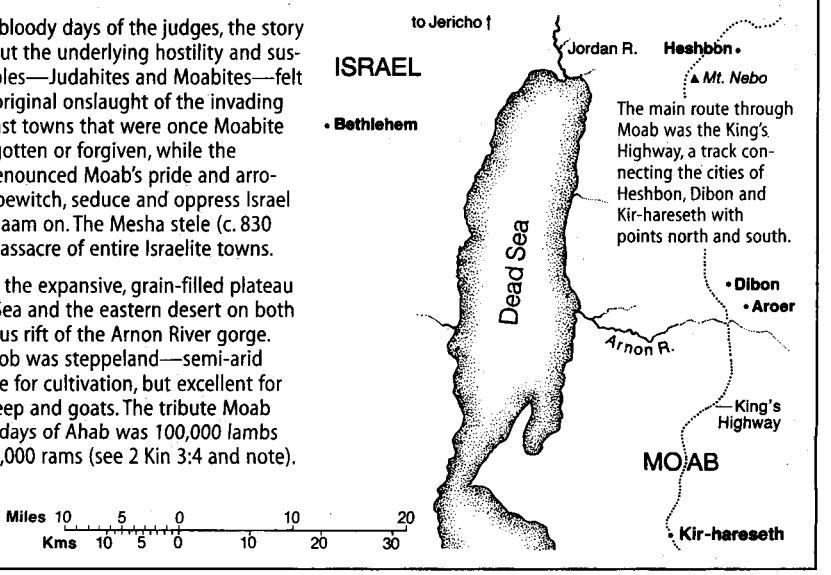
5 Then [1]both Mahlon and Chilion also died, and the woman was bereft of her two children and her husband.

6 Then she arose with her daughters-in-law that she might return from the land of Moab, for she had heard in the land of Moab that the LORD had [a]visited His people in [b]giving them food.

7 So she departed from the place where she was, and her two daughters-in-law with her; and they went on the way to return to the land of Judah.

8 And Naomi said to her two daughters-in-law, "Go, return each of you to her mother's house. [a]May the LORD deal kindly with you as you have dealt with the dead and with me.



9 "May the LORD grant that you may find rest, each in the house of her husband."

1:1 when the judges governed. Probably from c. 1380 to c. 1050 B.C. (see Introduction to Judges: Background). By mentioning the judges, the author calls to mind that period of Israel's apostasy, moral degradation and oppression. famine. Not mentioned in Judges. Bethlehem in Judah. David's hometown (1 Sam 16:18). Bethlehem (the name suggests "house of food") is empty.
1:2 Elimelech. Means "(My) God is King" (see note on Judg 8:23). Naomi. Means "pleasant." Ephrathites. Ephrathah was a name for the area around Bethlehem (see 4:11; Gen 35:19; 1 Sam 17:12; Mic 5:2).
1:3 Elimelech, Naomi's husband, died. Naomi's emptying begins (see v. 21).
1:4 They took . . . Moabite women. Prospect of continuing the family line remained. Moabite women. See Gen 19:36–37. Marriage with Moabite women was not forbidden, though no Moabite—or his sons to the tenth generation—was allowed to "enter the assembly of the LORD" (Deut 23:3). Ruth. The name sounds like the Hebrew for "friendship." Ruth is one of four women in Matthew's genealogy of Jesus. The others are Tamar, Rahab and Bathsheba (Matt 1:3,5–6).
1:5 Mahlon. Ruth's husband (4:10), whose name probably means "weakling." the woman was bereft of her . . . husband. Naomi's emptiness is complete: She has neither husband nor sons. She has only two young daughters-in-law, both of them foreigners and childless.
1:6 arose . . . that she might return. Empty Naomi returns to the newly filled land of promise. the LORD had visited His people. At several points in the account, God's sovereign control of events is acknowledged (here; vv. 13,21; 2:20; 4:12–15). food. Bethlehem ("house of food") again has food.
1:8 Go, return. Desolate Naomi repeatedly urges her daughters-in-law to return to their original homes in Moab (here; vv. 11–12,15); she has nothing to offer them. deal kindly. See 2:20; 3:10.

The Book of Ruth

Set in the dark and bloody days of the judges, the story of Ruth is silent about the underlying hostility and suspicion the two peoples—Judahites and Moabites—felt for each other. The original onslaught of the invading Israelite tribes against towns that were once Moabite had never been forgotten or forgiven, while the Hebrew prophets denounced Moab's pride and arrogance for trying to bewitch, seduce and oppress Israel from the time of Balaam on. The Mesha stele (c. 830 B.C.) boasts of the massacre of entire Israelite towns.

Moab encompassed the expansive, grain-filled plateau between the Dead Sea and the eastern desert on both sides of the enormous rift of the Arnon River gorge. Much of eastern Maob was steppeland—semi-arid wastes not profitable for cultivation, but excellent for grazing flocks of sheep and goats. The tribute Moab paid to Israel in the days of Ahab was 100,000 lambs and the wool of 100,000 rams (see 2 Kin 3:4 and note).

Then she kissed them, and they lifted up their voices and wept.

10 And they said to her, "No, but we will surely return with you to your people."

11 But Naomi said, "Return, my daughters. Why should you go with me? Have I yet sons in my womb, that [a]they may be your husbands?

12 "Return, my daughters! Go, for I am too old to have a husband. If I said I have hope, if I should even have a husband tonight and also bear sons, 13 would you therefore wait until they were grown? Would you therefore refrain from marrying? No, my daughters; for it is [1]harder for me than for you, for [a]the hand of the LORD has gone forth against me."

Ruth's Loyalty

14 And they lifted up their voices and wept again; and Orpah kissed her mother-in-law, but Ruth clung to her.

15 Then she said, "Behold, your sister-in-law has gone back to her people and her [a]gods; return after your sister-in-law."

16 But Ruth said, "Do not urge me to leave you or turn back from following you; for where you go, I will go, and where you lodge, I will lodge. Your people shall be my people, and your God, my God.

17 "Where you die, I will die, and there I will be buried. Thus may [a]the LORD do to me, and worse, if anything but death parts you and me."

18 When [a]she saw that she was determined to go with her, she [1]said no more to her.

19 So they both went until they came to Bethlehem. And when they had come to Bethlehem, [a]all the city was stirred because of them, and [1]the women said, "Is this Naomi?"

20 She said to them, "Do not call me [1]Naomi; call me [2]Mara, for [3a]the Almighty has dealt very bitterly with me.

21 "I went out full, but [a]the LORD has brought me back empty. Why do you call me Naomi, since the LORD has witnessed against me and [1]the Almighty has afflicted me?"

22 So Naomi returned, and with her Ruth the Moabitess, her daughter-in-law, who returned from the land of Moab. And they came to Bethlehem at [a]the beginning of barley harvest.

Ruth Gleans in Boaz' Field

2 Now Naomi had [1]a kinsman of her husband, a [2]man of great wealth, of the family of [a]Elimelech, whose name was Boaz.

2 And Ruth the Moabitess said to Naomi, "Please let me go to the field and [a]glean among the ears of grain after one in whose sight I may find favor." And she said to her, "Go, my daughter."

3 So she departed and went and gleaned in the field after the reapers; and [1]she hap-

1:11 sons . . . may be your husbands. Naomi alludes to the Israelite law (Deut 25:5–6) regarding levirate marriage (see notes on Gen 38:8; Deut 25:5–10; see also Mark 12:18–23), which was given to protect the widow and guarantee continuance of the family line.

1:12 I am too old. Naomi can have no more sons; even her womb is empty.

1:13 the hand of the LORD . . . against me. See notes on vv. 5–6; see also vv. 20–21.

1:14 Orpah's departure highlights the loyalty and selfless devotion of Ruth to her desolate mother-in-law.

1:15 her gods. The chief god of the Moabites was Chemosh.

1:16 This classic expression of loyalty and love discloses the true character of Ruth. Her commitment to Naomi is complete, even though it holds no prospect for her but to share in Naomi's desolation. For a similar declaration of devotion see 2 Sam 15:21.

1:17 may the LORD do to me, and worse. See note on 1 Sam 3:17. Ruth, a Gentile, swears her commitment to Naomi in the name of Israel's God, thus acknowledging Him as her God (see v. 16).

1:20 Naomi . . . Mara. See NASB marg. In the ancient Near East a person's name was often descriptive. Almighty. See note on Gen 17:1.

1:21 full . . . empty. These words highlight the central theme of the story—how the empty Naomi becomes full again.

1:22 Ruth the Moabitess. Several times the author reminds the reader that Ruth is a foreigner from a despised people (2:2,6,21; 4:5,10; see 2:10). beginning. Naomi and Ruth arrive in Bethlehem just as the renewed fullness of the land is beginning to be harvested—an early hint that Naomi will be full again. Reference to the barley harvest also prepares the reader for the next major scene in the harvest fields (see Introduction: Literary Features). harvest. Harvesting grain in ancient Canaan took place in April and May (barley first, wheat a few weeks later; see 2:23). It involved the following steps: (1) cutting the ripened standing grain with hand sickles (Deut 16:9; 23:25; Jer 50:16; Joel 3:13)—usually done by men; (2) binding the grain into sheaves—usually done by women; (3) gleaning, i.e., gathering stalks of grain left behind (2:7); (4) transporting the sheaves to the threshing floor—often by donkey, sometimes by cart (Amos 2:13); (5) threshing, i.e., loosening the grain from the straw—usually done by the treading of cattle (Deut 25:4; Hos 10:11), but sometimes by toothed threshing sledges (Is 41:15; Amos 1:3) or the wheels of carts (Is 28:28); (6) winnowing—done by tossing the grain into the air with winnowing forks (Jer 15:7) so that the wind, which usually came up for a few hours in the afternoon, blew away the straw and chaff (Ps 1:4), leaving the grain at the winnower's feet; (7) sifting the grain (Amos 9:9) to remove any residual foreign matter; (8) bagging for transportation and storage (Gen 42–44). Threshing floors, where both threshing and winnowing occurred, were hard, smooth, open places, prepared on either rock or clay and carefully chosen for favorable exposure to the prevailing winds. They were usually on the east side—i.e., downwind—of the village.

2:1 kinsman. A sign of hope (see note on v. 20). Boaz. Probably means "In him is strength." Boaz is included in both genealogies of Jesus (Matt 1:5; Luke 3:32).

2:2 let me go. Although Ruth is an alien and, as a young woman alone, obviously quite vulnerable in the harvest fields, she undertakes to provide for her mother-in-law. In 3:1 Naomi undertakes to provide for Ruth. glean among the . . . grain. The law of Moses instructed landowners to leave what the harvesters missed so that the poor, the alien, the widow and the fatherless could glean for their needs (Lev 19:9; 23:22; Deut 24:19).

2:3 she happened to come. Divine providence is at work (vv. 19–20).

pened to come to the portion of the field belonging to Boaz, who was of the family of Elimelech.

4 Now behold, Boaz came from Bethlehem and said to the reapers, "[a]May the LORD be with you." And they said to him, "May the LORD bless you."

5 Then Boaz said to his servant who was [1]in charge of the reapers, "Whose young woman is this?"

6 The servant [1]in charge of the reapers replied, "She is the young Moabite woman who returned with Naomi from the land of Moab.

7 "And she said, 'Please let me glean and gather after the reapers among the sheaves.' Thus she came and has remained from the morning until now; she has been sitting in the house for a little while."

8 Then Boaz said to Ruth, "[1]Listen carefully, my daughter. Do not go to glean in another field; furthermore, do not go on from this one, but stay here with my maids.

9 "Let your eyes be on the field which they reap, and go after them. Indeed, I have commanded the servants not to touch you. When you are thirsty, go to the [1]water jars and drink from what the servants draw."

10 Then she [a]fell on her face, bowing to the ground and said to him, "Why have I found favor in your sight that you should take notice of me, since I am a foreigner?"

11 Boaz replied to her, "All that you have done for your mother-in-law after the death of your husband has been fully reported to me, and how you left your father and your mother and the land of your birth, and came to a people that you did not previously know.

12 "[a]May the LORD reward your work, and your wages be full from the LORD, the God of Israel, [b]under whose wings you have come to seek refuge."

13 Then she said, "I have found favor in your sight, my lord, for you have comforted me and indeed have spoken [1]kindly to your maidservant, though I am not like one of your maidservants."

14 At mealtime Boaz said to her, "[1]Come here, that you may eat of the bread and dip your piece of bread in the vinegar." So she sat beside the reapers; and he [2]served her roasted grain, and she ate and was satisfied [a]and had some left.

15 When she rose to glean, Boaz commanded his servants, saying, "Let her glean even among the sheaves, and do not insult her.

16 "Also you shall purposely pull out for her some grain from the bundles and leave it that she may glean, and do not rebuke her."

17 So she gleaned in the field until evening. Then she beat out what she had gleaned, and it was about an ephah of barley.

18 She took it up and went into the city, and her mother-in-law saw what she had gleaned. She also took it out and [a]gave [1]Naomi what she had left after [2]she was satisfied.

19 Her mother-in-law then said to her, "Where did you glean today and where did you work? May he who [a]took notice of you be blessed." So she told her mother-in-law with whom she had worked and said, "The name of the man with whom I worked today is Boaz."

20 Naomi said to her daughter-in-law, "[a]May he be blessed of the LORD who has not withdrawn his kindness to the living and to the dead." Again Naomi said to her, "The man is [1]our relative, he is one of our [2]closest relatives."

21 Then Ruth the Moabitess said, "[1]Furthermore, he said to me, 'You should stay close to my servants until they have finished all my harvest.' "

22 Naomi said to Ruth her daughter-in-law, "It is good, my daughter, that you go out with his maids, so that others do not fall upon you in another field."

23 So she stayed close by the maids of Boaz in order to glean until [a]the end of the

2:4 The exchange of greetings between Boaz and his laborers characterizes Boaz as a godly man with a kind spirit.
2:9 go after them. It was customary for the men to cut the grain and for the servant girls to go behind them to bind the grain into sheaves. Then Ruth could glean what they had left behind (see note on 1:22).
2:11 Ruth's commitment to care for her desolate mother-in-law remains the center of attention throughout the book.
2:12 under whose wings. A figure of a bird protecting her young under her wings (see Matt 23:37; see also note on 3:9).
2:13 your maidservant. A polite reference to herself.
2:15 commanded his servants. Boaz goes beyond the requirement of the law in making sure that Ruth's labors are abundantly productive (see 3:15).
2:17 beat out. See note on 1:22. In Ruth's case, as in that of Gideon (Judg 6:11), the amount was small and could be threshed by hand simply by beating it with a club or stick. ephah. An ephah was probably about three-fifths of a bushel—an unusually large amount for one day's gleaning.
2:20 the LORD who has not withdrawn his kindness. See 1:8. In 3:10 Boaz credits Ruth with demonstrating this same virtue. closest relatives. Redemption is a key concept in Ruth (see Introduction: Theme and Theology). The "closest relative," also known as a kinsman-redeemer, was responsible for protecting the interests of needy members of the extended family—e.g., to provide an heir for a brother who had died (Deut 25:5–10), to redeem land that a poor relative had sold outside the family (Lev 25:25–28), to redeem a relative who had been sold into slavery (Lev 25:47–49) and to avenge the killing of a relative (Num 35:19–21; "avenger" and "kinsman-redeemer" are translations of the same Hebrew word). Naomi is encouraged when she hears that the Lord has led Ruth to the fields of a relative who might serve as their kinsman-redeemer. This moment of Naomi's awakened hope is the crucial turning point of the story.
2:23 until the end of the . . . harvest. This phrase rounds out the harvest episode and prepares for the next major scene on the threshing floor (see Introduction: Literary Features).

barley harvest and the wheat harvest. And she lived with her mother-in-law.

Boaz Will Redeem Ruth

3 Then Naomi her mother-in-law said to her, "My daughter, shall I not seek [1]security for you, that it may be well with you?

2 "Now is not Boaz [a]our [1]kinsman, with whose maids you were? Behold, he winnows barley at the threshing floor tonight.

3 "Wash yourself therefore, and anoint yourself and put on your best clothes, and go down to the threshing floor; but do not make yourself known to the man until he has finished eating and drinking.

4 "It shall be when he lies down, that you shall [1]notice the place where he lies, and you shall go and uncover his feet and lie down; then he will tell you what you shall do."

5 She said to her, "[a]All that you say I will do."

6 So she went down to the threshing floor and did according to all that her mother-in-law had commanded her.

7 When Boaz had eaten and drunk and [a]his heart was merry, he went to lie down at the end of the heap of grain; and she came secretly, and uncovered his feet and lay down.

8 It happened in the middle of the night that the man was startled and [1]bent forward; and behold, a woman was lying at his feet.

9 He said, "Who are you?" And she answered, "I am Ruth your maid. So spread your covering over your maid, for you are a [1]close relative."

10 Then he said, "[a]May you be blessed of the LORD, my daughter. You have shown your last kindness to be better than the first by not going after young men, whether poor or rich.

14 So she lay at his feet until morning and rose before one could recognize another; and he said, "[a]Let it not be known that the woman came to the threshing floor."

The Marriage of Ruth

4 Now Boaz went up to the gate and sat down there, and behold, [a]the [1]close relative of whom Boaz spoke was passing by, so he said, "Turn aside, [2]friend, sit down here." And he turned aside and sat down.

2 He took ten men of the [a]elders of the city and said, "Sit down here." So they sat down.

4:1 [1]Or redeemer [2]Lit a certain one [a]Ruth 3:12
2 [a]1 Kin 21:8; Prov 31:23

3:1 Naomi's awakened hope (cf. 1:8–13) now moves her to undertake provision for Ruth's future (see note on 2:2).

3:2 he winnows . . . tonight. See note on 1:22. In the threshing season it was customary for the landowner to spend the night near the threshing floor to protect his grain from theft.

3:3 Ruth is instructed to prepare herself like a bride (see Ezek 16:9–12). go down to the threshing floor. Women were not normally present at the evening revelries of the threshers (v. 14). eating and drinking. Harvest was a time of festivity (Is 9:3; 16:9–10; Jer 48:33).

3:4 uncover his feet and lie down. Although Naomi's instructions may appear forward, the moral integrity of Naomi and Ruth is never in doubt (see v. 11). Naomi's advice to Ruth is clearly for the purpose of appealing to Boaz's kinsman obligation. Ruth's actions were a request for marriage. Tamar, the mother of Perez (4:12), had also laid claim to the provision of the levirate (or kinsman-redeemer) law (Gen 38:13–30).

3:9 spread your covering over your maid. A request for marriage (see Ezek 16:8); a similar custom is still practiced in some parts of the Middle East today. There is a play on the words "wings" of the Lord (2:12) and "covering" (lit. "wings") of the garment (here), both signifying protection. Boaz is vividly reminded that he must serve as the Lord's protective wing to watch over Ruth.

3:10 last kindness . . . better than the first. See 2:11–12.

3:11 woman of excellence. See Prov 31:10. The Hebrew for this expression is similar to that used of Boaz in 2:1; thus the author maintains a balance between his descriptions of Ruth and Boaz.

3:12 a relative closer than I. How Boaz was related to Ruth's former husband (Mahlon) is unknown, but the closest male relative had the primary responsibility to marry a widow. Naomi instructed Ruth to approach Boaz because he had already shown himself willing to be Ruth's protector. Boaz, however, would not bypass the directives of the law, which clearly gave priority to the nearest relative.

3:13 as the LORD lives. Boaz commits himself by oath (cf. 1:17) to redeem the family property and to arrange Ruth's honorable marriage.

3:15 Boaz goes beyond the requirement of the law in supplying Ruth with grain from the threshing floor (see 2:15).

3:17 empty-handed. Again the empty-full motif (see note on 1:21).

3:18 Wait. The Hebrew underlying this word is translated "sat" in 4:1. Thus the author prepares the reader for the next major scene, in which Boaz sits at the town gate to see the matter through.

4:1 gate. The "town hall" of ancient Israel, the normal place for business and legal transactions, where witnesses were readily available (vv. 9–12; see note on Gen 19:1). friend. The other kinsman remains unnamed.

4:2 ten men of the elders. A full court for legal proceedings.

3 Then he said to the [1]closest relative, "Naomi, who has come back from the land of Moab, has to sell the piece of land [a]which belonged to our brother Elimelech.

4 "So I thought to [1]inform you, saying, '[a]Buy it before those who are sitting here, and before the elders of my people. If you will redeem it, redeem it; but if [2]not, tell me that I may know; for [b]there is no one but you to redeem it, and I am after you.' " And he said, "I will redeem it."

5 Then Boaz said, "On the day you buy the field from the hand of Naomi, you must also acquire Ruth the Moabitess, the widow of the deceased, in order [a]to raise up the name of the deceased on his inheritance."

6 [a]The [1]closest relative said, "I cannot redeem it for myself, because I would [2]jeopardize my own inheritance. Redeem it for yourself; you may have my right of redemption, for I cannot redeem it."

7 Now this was [a]the custom in former times in Israel concerning the redemption and the exchange of land to confirm any matter: a man removed his sandal and gave it to another; and this was the manner of attestation in Israel.

8 So the [1]closest relative said to Boaz, "Buy it for yourself." And he removed his sandal.

9 Then Boaz said to the elders and all the people, "You are witnesses today that I have bought from the hand of Naomi all that belonged to Elimelech and all that belonged to Chilion and Mahlon.

10 "Moreover, I have acquired Ruth the Moabitess, the widow of Mahlon, to be my wife in order to raise up the name of the deceased on his inheritance, so [a]that the name of the deceased will not be cut off from his brothers or from the [1]court of his birth place; you are witnesses today."

11 All the people who were in the [1]court, and the elders, said, "We are witnesses. May the LORD make the woman who is coming into your home [a]like Rachel and Leah, both of whom built the house of Israel; and may you achieve [2]wealth in Ephrathah and [3]become famous in Bethlehem.

12 "Moreover, may your house be like the house of [a]Perez whom Tamar bore to Judah, through the [1]offspring which the LORD will give you by this young woman."

13 So Boaz took Ruth, and she became his wife, and he went in to her. And [a]the LORD [1]enabled her to conceive, and she gave birth to a son.

14 Then the [a]women said to Naomi, "Blessed is the LORD who has not left you without a [1]redeemer today, and may his name [2]become famous in Israel.

15 "May he also be to you a restorer of life and a sustainer of your old age; for your daughter-in-law, who loves you [1a]and is better to you than seven sons, has given birth to him."

4:3 sell the piece of land. See note on 2:20. Two interpretations are possible: 1. Naomi owns the land but is so destitute that she is forced to sell. It was the duty of the kinsman-redeemer to buy any land in danger of being sold outside the family. 2. Naomi does not own the land—it had been sold by Elimelech before the family left for Moab—but by law she retains the right of redemption to buy the land back. Lacking funds to do so herself, she is dependent on a kinsman-redeemer to do it for her. It is the right of redemption that Naomi is "selling." brother. Used in the broader sense of "relative."

4:5 also acquire . . . the widow of the deceased. Now Boaz reveals the other half of the obligation—the acquisition of Ruth. Levirate law (Deut 25:5–6) provided that Ruth's firstborn son would keep Mahlon's name alive and would possess the right of ownership of the family inheritance.

4:6 I cannot redeem it. Possibly he fears that, if he has a son by her and if that son is his only surviving heir, his own property will transfer to the family of Elimelech (see note on Gen 38:9). In that case his risk was no greater than that assumed by Boaz. This kinsman's refusal to assume the kinsman-redeemer's role highlights the kindness and generosity of Boaz toward the two widows—just as Orpah's return to her family highlights Ruth's selfless devotion and loyalty to Naomi.

4:7 a man removed his sandal. The process of renouncing one's property rights and passing them to another was publicly attested by taking off a sandal and transferring it to the new owner (cf. Amos 2:6; 8:6). The Nuzi documents (see chart, p. xix) refer to a similar custom.

4:9 witnesses. The role of public witnesses was to attest to all legal transactions and other binding agreements.

4:10 name of the deceased. See Deut 25:6.

4:11 Rachel and Leah . . . built the house of Israel. Cf. Deut 25:9. The Israelite readers of Ruth would have associated the house of Jacob (Israel), built up by Rachel and Leah, with the house of Israel, rebuilt by David, the descendant of Ruth and Boaz, after it had been threatened with extinction (1 Sam 4). They also knew that the Lord had covenanted to "build" the house of David as an enduring dynasty, through which Israel's blessed destiny would be assured (see 2 Sam 7:27–29). Ephrathah. See note on 1:2.

4:12 Perez whom Tamar bore to Judah. Perez was Boaz's ancestor (vv. 18–21; Matt 1:3; Luke 3:33). His birth to Judah was from a union based on the levirate practice (Gen 38:27–30; see note on 1:11). Perez was therefore an appropriate model within Boaz's ancestry for the blessing the elders gave to Boaz. Moreover, the descendants of Perez had raised the tribe of Judah to a prominent place in Israel. So the blessing of the elders—that, through the offspring Ruth would bear to Boaz, his family would be like that of Perez—was fully realized in David and his dynasty. Thus also v. 12 prepares the reader for the events briefly narrated in the conclusion.

4:13–17 The conclusion of the story balances the introduction (1:1–5): (1) In the Hebrew both have the same number of words; (2) both compress much into a short space; (3) both focus on Naomi; (4) the introduction emphasizes Naomi's emptiness, and the conclusion portrays her fullness.

4:13 the LORD enabled her to conceive. See note on 1:6.

4:14 redeemer. The child Obed, as vv. 15–17 make clear. may his name become famous. This same wish is expressed concerning Boaz in v. 11.

4:15 better to you than seven sons. See 1 Sam 1:8. Since seven was considered a number of completeness, to have seven sons was the epitome of all family blessings in Israel (see 1 Sam 2:5; Job 1:2; 42:13). Ruth's selfless devotion to Naomi receives its climactic acknowledgment.

The Line of David Began Here

16 Then Naomi took the child [1]and laid him in her lap, and became his nurse.

17 The neighbor women gave him a name, saying, "A son has been born to Naomi!" So they named him Obed. He is the father of Jesse, the father of David.

18 Now these are the generations of Perez: [a]to Perez [1]was born Hezron,

16 [1]I.e. as her own
18 [1]Lit begot and so through v 22 [a]Matt 1:3-6

19 and to Hezron was born Ram, and to Ram, Amminadab,

20 and to Amminadab was born Nahshon, and to Nahshon, Salmon,

21 and to Salmon was born Boaz, and to Boaz, Obed,

22 and to Obed was born Jesse, and to Jesse, David.

4:16 laid him in her lap. Possibly symbolizing adoption (see note on Gen 30:3).

4:17 A son has been born to Naomi! Through Ruth, aged Naomi, who can no longer bear children, obtains an heir in place of Mahlon. Obed. The name means "servant," in its full form possibly "servant of the LORD."

4:18–22 See 1 Chr 2:5–15; Matt 1:3–6; Luke 3:31–33. Like the genealogies of Gen 5:3–32; 11:10–26, this genealogy has ten names (see note on Gen 5:5). It brings to mind the reign of David, during which, in contrast to the turbulent period of the judges recalled in 1:1, Israel finally entered into rest in the promised land (see 1 Kin 5:4). It signifies that, just as Naomi was brought from emptiness to fullness through the selfless love of Ruth and Boaz, so the Lord brought Israel from unrest to rest through their descendant David, who selflessly gave himself to fight Israel's battles on the Lord's behalf. The ultimate end of this genealogy is Jesus Christ, the great "son of David" (Matt 1:1), who fulfills prophecy and will bring the Lord's people into final rest.

1 Samuel

INTRODUCTION

Title

1 and 2 Samuel are named after the person God used to establish kingship in Israel. Samuel not only anointed both Saul and David, Israel's first two kings, but he also gave definition to the new order of God's rule over Israel that began with the incorporation of kingship into its structure. Samuel's importance as God's representative in this period of Israel's history is close to that of Moses (see Ps 99:6; Jer 15:1) since he, more than any other person, provided for covenant continuity in the transition from the rule of the judges to that of the monarchy.

1 and 2 Samuel were originally one book. It was divided into two parts by the translators of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) — a division subsequently followed by Jerome (the Latin Vulgate) and by modern versions. The title of the book has varied from time to time, having been designated "The First and Second Books of Kingdoms" (Septuagint), "First and Second Kings" (Vulgate) and "First and Second Samuel" (Hebrew tradition and most modern versions).

Literary Features, Authorship and Date

Many questions have arisen pertaining to the literary character, authorship and date of 1,2 Samuel. Certain literary characteristics of the book suggest that it was compiled with the use of a number of originally independent sources, which the author may have incorporated into his own composition as much as possible in their original, unedited form.

Who the author was cannot be known with certainty since the book itself gives no indication of his identity. Some have suggested Zabud, son of Nathan the prophet, who is referred to in 1 Kin 4:5 as King Solomon's "friend." He would have had access to information about David's reign from his father Nathan, as well as from court records. Whoever the author was, he must have lived shortly after Solomon's death (930 B.C.) and the division of the kingdom (see references to "Israel and Judah" in 11:8; 17:52; 18:16; 2 Sam 5:5; 24:1–9 and the expression "kings of Judah" in 1 Sam 27:6). Also, he doubtless had access to records of the life and times of Samuel, Saul and David. Explicit reference in the book itself is made to only one such source (the book of Jashar, 2 Sam 1:18), but the writer of Chronicles refers to four others that pertain to this period (the account of the chronicles of King David, 1 Chr 27:24; the chronicles of Samuel the seer; the chronicles of Nathan the prophet; the chronicles of Gad the seer, 1 Chr 29:29).

Contents and Theme: Kingship and Covenant

1 Samuel portrays the establishment of kingship in Israel. Before the author describes this momentous change in the structure of the theocracy (God's rule), he effectively depicts the complexity of its context. The following events provide both historical and theological context for the birth of the monarchy:

1. The birth, youth and calling of Samuel (chs. 1—3). In a book dealing for the most part with the reigns of Israel's first two kings, Saul and David, it is significant that the author chose not to include a birth narrative of either of these men, but to describe the birth of their forerunner and anointer, the prophet Samuel. This in itself accentuates the importance the author attached to Samuel's role in the events that follow. He seems to be saying in a subtle way that flesh and blood are to be subordinated to word and Spirit in the process of the establishment of kingship. For this reason chs. 1—3 should be viewed as integrally related to what follows, not as a more likely component of the book of Judges or as a loosely attached prefix to the rest of 1,2 Samuel. Kingship is given its birth and then nurtured by the prophetic word and work of the prophet Samuel. Moreover, the events of Samuel's nativity thematically anticipate the story of God's working that is narrated in the rest of the book.

2. The "ark narratives" (chs. 4—6). This section describes how the ark of God was captured by the Philistines and then, after God wreaked havoc on several Philistine cities, how it was returned to Israel. These narratives reveal the folly of Israel's notion that possession of the ark automatically guaranteed victory over her enemies. They also display the awesome power of the Lord (Yahweh, the God of Israel) and His superiority over the Philistine god Dagon. The Philistines were forced to confess openly their helplessness against God's power by their return of the ark to Israel. The entire ark episode performs a vital function in placing Israel's subsequent sinful desire for a human king in proper perspective.

3. Samuel as a judge and deliverer (ch. 7). When Samuel called Israel to repentance and renewed dedication to the Lord, the Lord intervened mightily in Israel's behalf and gave victory over the Philistines. This narrative reaffirms the authority of Samuel as a divinely ordained leader; at the same time it provides evidence of divine protection and blessing for God's people when they place their confidence in the Lord and live in obedience to their covenant obligations.

All the material in chs. 1—7 serves as a necessary preface for the narratives of chs. 8—12, which describe the rise and establishment of kingship in Israel. The author has masterfully arranged the stories in chs. 8—12 in order to accentuate the serious theological conflict surrounding the historical events. In the study of these chapters, scholars have often noted the presence of a tension or ambivalence in the attitude toward the monarchy: On the one hand, Samuel is commanded by the Lord to give the people a king (8:7,9,22; 9:16–17; 10:24; 12:13); on the other hand, their request for a king is considered a sinful rejection of the Lord (8:7; 10:19; 12:12,17,19–20). These seemingly conflicting attitudes toward the monarchy must be understood in the context of Israel's covenant relationship with the Lord.

Moses had anticipated Israel's desire for a human king (Deut 17:18–20), but Israelite kingship was to be compatible with the continued rule of the Lord over His people as their Great King. Instead, when the elders asked Samuel to give them a king (8:5,19–20), they rejected the Lord's kingship over them (8:7; 10:19; 12:17,19). Their desire was for a king such as the nations around them had—to lead them in battle and give them a sense of national security and unity. The request for a king constituted a denial of their covenant relationship to the Lord, who was their King. Moreover, the Lord not only had promised to be their protector but had also repeatedly demonstrated His power in their behalf, most recently in the ark narratives (chs. 4—6), as well as in the great victory won over the Philistines under the leadership of Samuel (ch. 7).

Nevertheless the Lord instructed Samuel to give the people a king (8:7,9,22). By divine appointment Saul was brought into contact with Samuel, and Samuel was directed to anoint him privately as king (9:1—10:16). Subsequently, Samuel gathered the people at Mizpah, where, after again admonishing them concerning their sin in desiring a king (10:18–19), he presided over the selection of a king by lot. The lot fell on Saul and publicly designated him as the one whom God had chosen (10:24). Saul did not immediately assume his royal office, but returned home to work his fields (11:5,7). When the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead were threatened by Nahash the Ammonite, Saul rose to the challenge, gathered an army and led Israel to victory in battle. His success placed a final seal of divine approval on Saul's selection to be king (cf. 10:24; 11:12–13) and occasioned the inauguration of his reign at Gilgal (11:14—12:25).

The question that still needed resolution, then, was not so much whether Israel should have a king (it was clearly the Lord's will to give them a king), but rather how they could maintain their covenant with God (i.e., preserve the theocracy) now that they had a human king. The problem was resolved when Samuel called the people to repentance and renewal of their allegiance to the Lord on the very occasion of the inauguration of Saul as king (11:14—12:25; see note on 10:25). By establishing kingship in the context of covenant renewal, Samuel placed the monarchy in Israel on a radically different footing from that in surrounding nations. The king in Israel was not to be autonomous in his authority and power; rather, he was to be subject to the law of the Lord and the word of the prophet (10:25; 12:23). This was to be true not only for Saul but also for all the kings who would occupy the throne in Israel in the future. The king was to be an instrument of the Lord's rule over His people, and the people as well as the king were to continue to recognize the Lord as their ultimate Sovereign (12:14–15).

Saul very quickly demonstrated that he was unwilling to submit to the requirements of his theocratic office (chs. 13—15). When he disobeyed the instructions of the prophet Samuel in preparation for battle against the Philistines (13:13), and when he refused to totally destroy the Amalekites as he had been commanded to do by the word of the Lord through Samuel (ch. 15), he ceased to be an instrument of the Lord's rule over His people. These abrogations of the requirements of his theocratic office led to his rejection as king (15:23).

The remainder of 1 Samuel (chs. 16—31) depicts the Lord's choice of David to be Saul's successor, and then describes the long road by which David is prepared for accession to the throne. Although Saul's rule became increasingly anti-theocratic in nature, David refused to usurp the throne by forceful means but left his accession to office in the Lord's hands. Eventually Saul was wounded in a battle with the Philistines and, fearing capture, took his own life. Three of Saul's sons, including David's loyal friend Jonathan, were killed in the same battle (ch. 31).

Chronology

Even though the narratives of 1,2 Samuel contain some statements of chronological import (see, e.g., 1 Sam 6:1; 7:2; 8:1,5; 13:1; 25:1; 2 Sam 2:10–11; 5:4–5; 14:28; 15:7), the data are insufficient to establish a precise chronology for the major events of this period of Israel's history. Except for the dates of David's birth and the duration of his reign, which are quite firm (see 2 Sam 5:4–5), most other dates can only be approximated. The textual problem with the chronological data on the age of Saul when he became king and the length of his reign (see 1 Sam 13:1, NASB marg.) contributes to uncertainty concerning the precise time of his birth and the beginning of his reign. No information is given concerning the time of Samuel's birth (1 Sam 1:1) or death (25:1). His lifetime must have spanned, at least in part, that of Samson and that of Obed, son of Ruth and Boaz and grandfather of David. It is indicated that he was well along in years when the elders of Israel asked him to give them a king (see 8:1,5). One other factor contributing to chronological uncertainty is that the author has not always arranged his material in strict chronological sequence. It seems clear, for example, that 2 Sam 7 is to be placed chronologically after David's conquests described in 2 Sam 8:1–14 (see notes on 2 Sam 7:1; 8:1). The story of the famine sent by God on Israel during the reign of David because of Saul's violation of a treaty with the Gibeonites is found in 2 Sam 21:1–4, though chronologically it occurred prior to the time of Absalom's rebellion recorded in 2 Sam 15—18 (see further the notes on 2 Sam 21:1–2). The following dates, however, provide an approximate chronological framework for the times of Samuel, Saul and David.

Elkanah and His Wives

1 Now there was a certain man from [a]Ramathaim-zophim from the [b]hill country of Ephraim, and his name was [c]Elkanah the son of Jeroham, the son of Elihu, the son of Tohu, the son of Zuph, an Ephraimite.

2 He had [a]two wives: the name of one was [b]Hannah and the name of the other Peninnah; and Peninnah had children, but Hannah had no children.

3 Now this man would go up from his city [a]yearly [b]to worship and to sacrifice to the LORD of hosts in [c]Shiloh. And the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were priests to the LORD there.

4 When the day came that Elkanah sacrificed, he [a]would give portions to Peninnah his wife and to all her sons and her daughters;

5 but to Hannah he would give a double portion, for he loved Hannah, [a]but the LORD had closed her womb.

6 Her rival, however, [a]would provoke her bitterly to irritate her, because the LORD had closed her womb.

7 It happened year after year, as often as she went up to the house of the LORD, she would provoke her; so she wept and would not eat.

8 Then Elkanah her husband said to her, "Hannah, why do you weep and why do you not eat and why is your heart sad? [a]Am I not better to you than ten sons?"

9 Then Hannah rose after eating and drinking in Shiloh. Now Eli the priest was sitting on the seat by the doorpost of [a]the temple of the LORD.

10 She, [l]greatly distressed, prayed to the LORD and wept bitterly.

11 She [a]made a vow and said, "O LORD of hosts, if You will indeed [b]look on the affliction of Your maidservant and remember me, and not forget Your maidservant, but will give Your maidservant a [l]son, then I will give him to the LORD all the days of his life, and [c]a razor shall never come on his head."

12 Now it came about, as she [l]continued praying before the LORD, that Eli was watching her mouth.

13 As for Hannah, [a]she was speaking in her heart, only her lips were moving, but her voice was not heard. So Eli thought she was drunk.

14 Then Eli said to her, "[a]How long will you make yourself drunk? Put away your wine from you."

15 But Hannah replied, "No, my lord, I am a woman [l]oppressed in spirit; I have drunk

1:1 Ramathaim-zophim. The name occurs only here in the OT and appears to be another name for Ramah (see 1:19; 2:11; 7:17; 19:18; 25:1). It is perhaps to be identified with the Ramah of Benjamin (see Josh 18:25) located in the hill country about five miles north of Jerusalem near the border of Ephraim and Benjamin. -zophim. Or "a Zuphite." It is not entirely clear whether this word refers to the man or the place. If it refers to the man, it indicates his descent from Zuph (see 1 Chr 6:34–35). If it refers to the place, it designates the general area in which Ramathaim is located (see 9:5). Ephraimite. Although Elkanah is here called an Ephraimite, he was probably a Levite whose family belonged to the Kohathite clans that had been allotted towns in Ephraim (see Josh 21:20–21; 1 Chr 6:22–26).

1:2 two wives. See notes on Gen 4:19; 16:2; 25:6.

1:3 this man would go up . . . yearly. Three times a year every Israelite male was required to appear before the Lord at the central sanctuary (Ex 23:14–19; 34:23; Deut 16:16–17). The festival referred to here was probably the Feast of Booths, which not only commemorated God's care for His people during the wilderness journey to Canaan (see Lev 23:43) but more especially celebrated, with joy and feasting, God's blessing on the year's crops (see Deut 16:13–15). On such festive occasions Hannah's deep sorrow because of her own barrenness was the more poignant. the LORD of hosts. This is the first time in the Bible that God is designated by this title. The Hebrew for "host(s)" can refer to (1) human armies (Ex 7:4; Ps 44:9); (2) the celestial bodies such as the sun, moon and stars (Gen 2:1; Deut 4:19; Is 40:26); or (3) the heavenly creatures such as angels (Josh 5:14; 1 Kin 22:19; Ps 148:2). The title, "the LORD of hosts," is perhaps best understood as a general reference to the sovereignty of God over all powers in the universe. In the account of the establishment of kingship in Israel it became particularly appropriate as a reference to God as the God of armies—both of the heavenly army (Deut 33:2; Josh 5:14; Ps 68:17; Hab 3:8) and of the army of Israel (1 Sam 17:45). Shiloh. The town in Ephraim between Bethel and Shechem where the central sanctuary and the ark of the covenant were located (see Josh 18:1; Judg 21:19).

1:4 sacrificed. Here refers to a sacrifice that was combined with a festive meal signifying fellowship and communion with the Lord and grateful acknowledgment of His mercies (see Lev 7:11–18; Deut 12:7,17–18).

1:5 the LORD had closed her womb. The Lord gives and withholds children (see Gen 18:10; 29:31; 30:2,22).

1:6 Her rival. See note on Gen 16:4.

1:9 temple. Here and in 3:3 the central sanctuary, the tabernacle (the temple in Jerusalem had not yet been built), is referred to as "the temple of the LORD." It is also called "the house of the LORD" (v. 7; 3:15), "the tent of meeting" (2:22) and "My dwelling" (2:32). The references to the tabernacle as a "house" and a "temple," as well as references to sleeping quarters and doors (3:2,15), give the impression that at this time the tabernacle was part of a larger, more permanent building complex to which the term "temple" could legitimately be applied (cf. Jer 7:12,14; 26:6).

1:11 vow. See Gen 28:20–22; Num 21:2; Ps 50:14; 76:11; 116:14,18; 132:2–5; Prov 20:25; 31:2. Regulations for the making of vows by women are found in Num 30. remember. To remember is more than simply to recall that Hannah existed. It is to go into action in her behalf (see v. 19; see also note on Gen 8:1). all the days of his life. In contrast to the normal period of service for Levites, which was from age 25 to 50 (see Num 8:23–26). razor shall never. Hannah voluntarily vows for her son that which God had required of Samson (Judg 13:5). Long hair was a symbol of dedication to the service of the Lord and was one of the characteristics of the Nazirite vow (see Num 6:1–21). The vow was normally taken for a limited time rather than for life.

1:13 drunk. Eli's mistake suggests that in those days it was not uncommon for drunken people to enter the sanctuary. Further evidence of the religious and moral deterioration of the time is found in the stories of Judg 17–21.

neither wine nor strong drink, but I [a]have poured out my soul before the LORD.

16 "Do not [1]consider your maidservant as a worthless woman, for I have spoken until now out of my great concern and [2]provocation."

17 Then Eli answered and said, "[a]Go in peace; and may the God of Israel [b]grant your petition that you have asked of Him."

18 She said, "[a]Let your maidservant find favor in your sight." So the woman went her way and ate, and [b]her face was no longer sad.

Samuel Is Born to Hannah

19 Then they arose early in the morning and worshiped before the LORD, and returned again to their house in [a]Ramah. And Elkanah [1]had relations with Hannah his wife, and [b]the LORD remembered her.

20 It came about [1]in due time, after Hannah had conceived, that she gave birth to a son; and she named him Samuel, saying, "[a]Because I have asked him of the LORD."

21 Then the man Elkanah [a]went up with all his household to offer to the LORD the yearly sacrifice and pay his vow.

22 But Hannah did not go up, for she said to her husband, "I will not go up until the child is weaned; then I will [a]bring him, that he may appear before the LORD and [b]stay there forever."

23 [a]Elkanah her husband said to her, "Do what seems best [1]to you. Remain until you have weaned him; only [b]may the LORD confirm His word." So the woman remained and nursed her son until she weaned him.

24 Now when she had weaned him, [a]she took him up with her, with a three-year-old bull and one ephah of flour and a jug of wine, and brought him to [b]the house of the LORD in Shiloh, although the child was young.

25 Then [a]they slaughtered the bull, and [b]brought the boy to Eli.

26 She said, "Oh, my lord! [a]As your soul lives, my lord, I am the woman who stood here beside you, praying to the LORD.

27 "[a]For this boy I prayed, and the LORD has given me my petition which I asked of Him.

28 "[a]So I have also [1]dedicated him to the LORD; as long as he lives he is [1]dedicated to the LORD." And [b]he worshiped the LORD there.

Hannah's Song of Thanksgiving

2 Then Hannah [a]prayed and said,
"My heart exults in the LORD;
[b]My [1]horn is exalted in the LORD,
My mouth [2]speaks boldly against my enemies,
Because [c]I rejoice in Your salvation.
2 "[a]There is no one holy like the LORD,
Indeed, [b]there is no one besides You,
[c]Nor is there any rock like our God.
3 "[1]Boast no more so very proudly,
[a]Do not let arrogance come out of your mouth;
[b]For the LORD is a God of knowledge,
[c]And with Him actions are weighed.
4 "[a]The bows of the mighty are shattered,
[b]But the feeble gird on strength.
5 "Those who were full hire themselves out for bread,
But those who were hungry cease to hunger.

1:16 worthless. See note on Deut 13:13.
1:20 Samuel. "Samuel" sounds like the Hebrew for "heard of God."
1:21 yearly sacrifice. See notes on vv. 3–4. his vow. Making vows to God was a common feature of OT piety, usually involving thank offerings and praise (see Lev 7:16; Ps 50:14; 56:12; 66:13–15; 116:17–18; Is 19:21). Elkanah no doubt annually made vows to the Lord as he prayed for God's blessing on his crops and flocks, and fulfilled those vows at the Feast of Booths (see note on v. 3).
1:22 weaned. It was customary in the East to nurse children for three years or longer (in the Apocrypha see 2 Maccabees 7:27) since there was no way to keep milk sweet.
1:23 His word. No previous word from God is mentioned, unless this refers to the pronouncement of Eli in v. 17. The Dead Sea Scrolls, Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) and Syriac version resolve this problem by reading "your word."
1:26 As your soul lives. A customary way of emphasizing the truthfulness of one's words.
2:1 prayed. Hannah's prayer is a song of praise and thanksgiving to God (see Ps 72:20, where the psalms of David are designated "prayers"). This song has sometimes been termed the "Magnificat of the OT" because it is so similar to the Magnificat of the NT (Mary's song, Luke 1:46–55). It also has certain resemblances to the "Benedictus" (the song of Zechariah, Luke 1:67–79). Hannah's song of praise finds many echoes in David's song near the end of the book (2 Sam 22). These two songs frame the main narrative, and their themes highlight the ways of God that the narrative relates—they contain the theology of the book in the form of praise. Hannah speaks prophetically at a time when Israel is about to enter an important new period of her history with the establishment of kingship through her son, Samuel. exults in the LORD. The supreme source of Hannah's joy is not in the child, but in the God who has answered her prayer. My horn is exalted in the LORD. See NASB marg.; cf. Deut 33:17; Ps 75:5,10; 92:10; 112:9; Luke 1:69. To have one's horn lifted up by God is to be delivered from disgrace to a position of honor and strength.
2:2 no one besides You. See 2 Sam 7:22; Deut 4:39; Is 45:6. rock. A metaphor to depict the strength and stability of the God of Israel as the unfailing source of security for His people (see 2 Sam 22:32; Deut 32:4,31; Ps 18:31; Is 30:29; 44:8).
2:3 so very proudly . . . arrogance. After the manner of Peninnah (and others in the narratives of 1,2 Samuel—Eli's sons, the Philistines, Saul, Nabal, Goliath, Absalom, Shimei and Sheba). the LORD is a God of knowledge. See 16:7; 1 Kin 8:39; Ps 139:1–6.
2:4–5 In a series of examples derived from everyday life Hannah shows that God often works contrary to natural expectations and brings about surprising reversals—seen frequently in the stories that follow.

[a]Even the barren gives birth to seven,
But [b]she who has many children languishes.
6 "[a]The LORD kills and makes alive;
[b]He brings down to [1]Sheol and raises up.
7 "[a]The LORD makes poor and rich;
[b]He brings low, He also exalts.
8 "[a]He raises the poor from the dust,
[b]He lifts the needy from the ash heap
[c]To make them sit with nobles,
And inherit a seat of honor;
[d]For the pillars of the earth are the LORD'S,
And He set the world on them.
9 "[a]He keeps the feet of His godly ones,
[b]But the wicked ones are silenced in darkness;
[c]For not by might shall a man prevail.
10 "[a]Those who contend with the LORD will be shattered;
[b]Against them He will thunder in the heavens,
[c]The LORD will judge the ends of the earth;
[d]And He will give strength to His king,
[e]And will exalt the [1]horn of His anointed."

11 Then Elkanah went to his home at [a]Ramah. [b]But the boy ministered to the LORD before Eli the priest.

The Sin of Eli's Sons

12 Now the sons of Eli were [1][a]worthless men; they did not know the LORD

13 [a]and the custom of the priests with the people. When any man was offering a sacrifice, the priest's servant would come while the meat was boiling, with a three-pronged fork in his hand.

14 Then he would thrust it into the pan, or kettle, or caldron, or pot; all that the fork brought up the priest would take for himself. Thus they did in Shiloh to all the Israelites who came there.

15 Also, before [a]they burned the fat, the priest's servant would come and say to the man who was sacrificing, "Give the priest meat for roasting, as he will not take boiled meat from you, only raw."

16 If the man said to him, "They must surely [1]burn the fat [2]first, and then take as much as [3]you desire," then he would say, "No, but you shall give it to me now; and if not, I will take it by force."

17 Thus the sin of the young men was very great before the LORD, for the men [a]despised the offering of the LORD.

2:5 birth to seven. See note on Ruth 4:15.

2:6–8 Hannah declares that life and death, prosperity and adversity, are determined by the sovereign power of God—another theme richly illustrated in the following narrative (see Deut 32:39; 1 Kin 17:20–24; 2 Kin 4:32–35; John 5:21; 11:41–44).

2:6 Sheol. See NASB marg.; see also note on Gen 37:35.

2:8 pillars of the earth. A common figure in the OT for the solid base on which the earth (the dry land on which man lives, not planet earth; Gen 1:10) is founded. The phrase does not teach a particular theory of the structure of the universe (see Job 9:6; 38:6; Ps 75:3; 104:5; Zech 12:1).

2:9 keeps the feet. Travel in ancient Israel was for the most part by foot over trails that were often rocky and dangerous (see Ps 91:11–12; 121:3). godly ones. People who are faithful to the Lord. The Hebrew root underlying this word is used of both God and His people in 2 Sam 22:26 (see also Ps 18:25) to characterize the nature of their mutual relationship. The word is also found in Ps 12:1; 32:6; Prov 2:8.

2:10 judge. Impose His righteous rule upon (see Ps 96:13; 98:9). ends of the earth. All nations and peoples (see Deut 33:17; Is 45:22). His king. Hannah's prayer is here prophetic, anticipating the establishment of kingship in Israel and the initial realization of the Messianic ideal in David (Luke 1:69). Ultimately her expectation finds fulfillment in Christ and His complete triumph over the enemies of God. horn. See note on v. 1. anointed. The first reference in the Bible to the Lord's anointed—i.e., His anointed king. (Priests were also anointed for God's service; see Ex 28:41; Lev 4:3.) The word is often synonymous with "king" (as here) and provides part of the vocabulary basis for the Messianic idea in the Bible. "Anointed" and "Messiah" are the translation and transliteration respectively of the same Hebrew word. The Greek translation of this Hebrew term is Christos, from which comes the English word "Christ" (see note on Matt 1:17). A king (coming from the tribe of Judah) is first prophesied by Jacob (Gen 49:10); kingship is further anticipated in the oracles of Balaam in Num 24:7,17. Also Deut 17:14–20 looks forward to the time when the Lord will place a king of His choice over His people after they enter the promised land. 1,2 Samuel shows how this expectation of the theocratic king is realized in the person of David. Hannah's prophetic anticipation of a king at the time of the dedication of her son Samuel, who was to be God's agent for establishing kingship in Israel, is entirely appropriate.

2:11 ministered. Performed such services as a boy might render while assisting the high priest. to the LORD. At the "house of the LORD" (1:24).

2:12 worthless. See note on Deut 13:13. did not know. In OT usage, to "know" the Lord is not just intellectual or theoretical recognition. To know the Lord is to enter into fellowship with Him and acknowledge His claims on one's life. The term often has a covenantal connotation (see Jer 31:34; Hos 13:4).

2:13–16 Apparently vv. 13–14 describe the practice that had come to be accepted for determining the priests' portion of the peace offerings (Lev 7:31–36; 10:14–15; Deut 18:1–5)—a tradition presumably based on the assumption that a random thrust of the fork would providentially determine a fair portion. Verses 15–16 then describe how Eli's sons arrogantly violated that custom and the law.

2:15 before they burned the fat. On the altar as the Lord's portion, which He was to receive first (see Lev 3:16; 4:10,26,31,35; 7:28,30–31; 17:6). roasting. Boiling is the only form of cooking specified in the law for the priests' portion (Num 6:19–20). Roasting this portion is nowhere expressly forbidden in the law, but it is specified only for the Passover lamb (Ex 12:8–9; Deut 16:7). The present passage seems to imply that for the priests to roast their portion of the sacrifices was unlawful.

2:16 by force. Presenting the priests' portion was to be a voluntary act on the part of the worshipers (see Lev 7:28–36; Deut 18:3).

Samuel before the LORD as a Boy

18 Now [a]Samuel was ministering before the LORD, as a boy [1][b]wearing a linen ephod.
19 And his mother would make him a little [a]robe and bring it to him from year to year when she would come up with her husband to offer [b]the yearly sacrifice.
20 Then Eli would [a]bless Elkanah and his wife and say, "May the LORD give you [1]children from this woman in place of [2]the one she [b]dedicated to the LORD." And they went to their own [3]home.
21 [a]The LORD visited Hannah; and she conceived and gave birth to three sons and two daughters. And [b]the boy Samuel grew before the LORD.

Eli Rebukes His Sons

22 Now Eli was very old; and he heard [a]all that his sons were doing to all Israel, and how they lay with [b]the women who served at the doorway of the tent of meeting.
23 He said to them, "Why do you do such things, the evil things that I hear from all these people?
24 "No, my sons; for the report is not good [a]which I hear [1]the LORD'S people circulating.
25 "If one man sins against another, [a]God will mediate for him; but [b]if a man sins against the LORD, who can intercede for him?" But they would not listen to the voice of their father, for the [c]LORD desired to put them to death.

26 Now the boy [a]Samuel [1]was growing in stature and in favor both with the LORD and with men.
27 Then [a]a man of God came to Eli and said to him, "Thus says the LORD, '[b]Did I not indeed reveal Myself to the house of your father when they were in Egypt in bondage to Pharaoh's house?
28 '[a]Did I not choose them from all the tribes of Israel to be My priests, to go up to My altar, to burn incense, to carry an ephod before Me; and did I not [b]give to the house of your father all the fire offerings of the sons of Israel?

31 [1]Or arm [a]1 Sam 4:11-18; 22:17-20 32 [a]1 Kin 2:26, 27

2:18 Now Samuel. Between 2:11 and 4:1 the author presents a series of sharp contrasts between Samuel and Eli's sons. linen ephod. A priestly garment worn by those who served before the Lord at His sanctuary (see 22:18; 2 Sam 6:14). It was a close-fitting, sleeveless pullover, usually of hip length, and is to be distinguished from the special ephod worn by the high priest (see note on v. 28; cf. Ex 39:1–26).
2:19 little robe. A sleeveless garment reaching to the knees, worn over the undergarment and under the ephod (see 15:27; 18:4). yearly sacrifice. See note on 1:3.
2:22 lay with the women who served. See Ex 38:8. There is no further reference to such women in the OT. Perhaps these women performed various menial tasks, but certainly their service is not to be confused with that of the Levites, which is prescribed in the Pentateuch (Num 1:50; 3:6–8; 8:15; 16:9; 18:2–3). The immoral acts of Eli's sons are reminiscent of the religious prostitution (fertility rites) at the Canaanite sanctuaries (see 1 Kin 14:24; 15:12; 22:46)—acts that were an abomination to the Lord and a desecration of His house (Deut 23:17–18).
2:23 He said to them. Eli rebuked his sons but did not remove them from office. God would do that.
2:25 God. Eli's argument is that when someone commits an offense against another man, there is recourse to a third party to decide the issue (whether this be understood as God or as God's representatives, the judges; see Ex 22:8–9 and note on Ex 22:11); but when the offense is against the Lord, there is no recourse, for God is both the one wronged and the judge. the LORD desired to put them to death. This comment by the author of the narrative is not intended to excuse Eli's sons, but to indicate that Eli's warning was much too late. Eli's sons had persisted in their evil ways for so long that God's judgment on them was determined (v. 34; see Josh 11:20).
2:26 growing in stature and in favor both with the LORD and with men. Cf. Luke's description of Jesus (Luke 2:52).
2:27 man of God. Often a designation for a prophet (see 9:6,10; Deut 33:1; Josh 14:6; 1 Kin 13:1,6–8; 17:18,24; 2 Kin 4:7). house of your father. The descendants of Aaron.
2:28 to be My priests. Three tasks of the priests are mentioned: 1. to go up to My altar. To perform the sacrificial rites at the altar of burnt offering in the courtyard of the tabernacle. 2. to burn incense. At the altar of incense in the holy place (Ex 30:1–10). 3. to carry an ephod. See note on v. 18. It would appear that the reference here is to the special ephod of the high priest (see Ex 28:4–13). The breastplate containing the Urim and Thummim was attached to the ephod of the high priest. The Urim and Thummim were a divinely ordained means of communication with God, placed in the custody of the high priest (see Ex 28:30 and note; see also 1 Sam 23:9–12; 30:7–8).
2:30 I did indeed say. See Ex 29:9; Lev 8–9; Num 16–17; 25:13. Far be it from Me. This is not to say that the promise of the priesthood to Aaron's house has been annulled, but that Eli and his house are to be excluded from participation in this privilege because of their sin. those who honor Me I will honor. See v. 29. Spiritual privileges bring responsibilities and obligations; they are not to be treated as irrevocable rights (see 2 Sam 22:26–27).
2:31 strength . . . strength. Lit. "arm . . . arm," symbolic of strength. Eli's "arm" and that of his priestly family will be cut off (contrast David, 2 Sam 22:35). not be an old man in your house. A prediction of the decimation of Eli's priestly family in the death of his sons (4:11), in the massacre of his descendants by Saul at Nob (22:18–19) and in the removal of Abiathar from his priestly office (1 Kin 2:26–27).
2:32 distress of My dwelling. Including the capture of the ark by the Philistines (4:1–10), the destruction of Shiloh (Jer 7:14) and ing, in spite of all the good that [1]I do for Israel; and an [b]old man will not be in your house forever.

33 'Yet I will not cut off every man of yours from My altar [1]so that your eyes will fail from weeping and your soul grieve, and all the increase of your house will die [2]in the prime of life.

34 'This will be [a]the sign to you which will come concerning your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas: [b]on the same day both of them will die.

35 'But [a]I will raise up for Myself a faithful priest who will do according to what is in My heart and in My soul; and [b]I will build him an enduring house, and he will walk before [c]My anointed always.

36 'Everyone who is left in your house will come and bow down to him for a [1]piece of silver or a loaf of bread and say, "Please [2]assign me to one of the priest's offices so that I may eat a piece of bread." ' "

The Prophetic Call to Samuel

3 Now [a]the boy Samuel was ministering to the LORD before Eli. And [b]word from the LORD was rare in those days, [1]visions were infrequent.

2 It happened at that time as Eli was lying down in his place (now [a]his eyesight had begun to grow dim and he could not see well),

3 and [a]the lamp of God had not yet gone out, and Samuel was lying down in the temple of the LORD where the ark of God was,

4 that the LORD called Samuel; and he said, "[a]Here I am."

5 Then he ran to Eli and said, "Here I am, for you called me." But he said, "I did not call, lie down again." So he went and lay down.

6 The LORD called yet again, "Samuel!" So Samuel arose and went to Eli and said, "Here I am, for you called me." But he [1]answered, "I did not call, my son, lie down again."

7 [a]Now Samuel did not yet know the LORD, nor had the word of the LORD yet been revealed to him.

8 So the LORD called Samuel again for the third time. And he arose and went to Eli and said, "Here I am, for you called me." Then Eli discerned that the LORD was calling the boy.

9 And Eli said to Samuel, "Go lie down, and it shall be if He calls you, that you shall say, 'Speak, LORD, for Your servant is listening.' " So Samuel went and lay down in his place.

10 Then the LORD came and stood and called as at other times, "Samuel! Samuel!" And Samuel said, "Speak, for Your servant is listening."

11 The LORD said to Samuel, "Behold, [a]I am about to do a thing in Israel at which both ears of everyone who hears it will tingle.

12 "In that day [a]I will carry out against Eli all that I have spoken concerning his house, from beginning to end.

13 "For [a]I have told him that I am about to judge his house forever for [b]the iniquity which he knew, because [c]his sons brought a curse on themselves and [d]he did not rebuke them.

14 "Therefore I have sworn to the house of Eli that [a]the iniquity of Eli's house shall not be atoned for by sacrifice or offering forever."

15 So Samuel lay down until morning. Then he [a]opened the doors of the house of the relocation of the tabernacle to Nob (21:1–6; see note on 21:1).

2:33 A reference apparently to Abiathar, who was expelled from office by Solomon (see 1 Kin 2:26–27) after an unsuccessful attempt to make Adonijah king as the successor to David.

2:34 the sign to you. The death of Hophni and Phinehas (4:11) will confirm the longer-term predictions. Such confirmation of a prophetic word was not uncommon (see 10:7–9; 1 Kin 13:3; Jer 28:15–17; Luke 1:18–20).

2:35 I will raise up for Myself a faithful priest. Initially fulfilled in the person of Zadok, who served as a priest during the time of David (see 2 Sam 8:17; 15:24,35; 20:25) and who eventually replaced Abiathar as high priest in the time of Solomon (see 1 Kin 2:35; 1 Chr 29:22). build him an enduring house. Lit. "build for him a faithful house"; the faithful priest will be given a "faithful" (i.e., enduring) priestly family. See the similar word spoken concerning David (25:28, "enduring house"; see also 2 Sam 7:16; 1 Kin 11:38). The line of Zadok was continued by his son Azariah (see 1 Kin 4:1) and was still on the scene at the time of the return from the exile (see 1 Chr 6:14–15; Ezra 3:2). It continued in intertestamental times until Antiochus IV Epiphanes (175–164 B.C.) sold the priesthood to Menelaus (in the Apocrypha see 2 Maccabees 4:23–50), who was not of the priestly line. My anointed. David and his successors (see note on v. 10).

3:1 boy Samuel. See 2:11,18. Samuel is now no longer a little child (see 2:21,26). The Jewish historian Josephus places his age at 12 years; he may have been older. word from the LORD was rare. See Prov 29:18; Amos 8:11. During the entire period of the judges, apart from the prophet of 2:27–36, we are told of only two prophets (Judg 4:4; 6:8) and of five revelations (Judg 2:1–3; 6:11–23; 7:2–11; 10:11–14; 13:3–21). Possibly 2 Chr 15:3 also refers to this period. visions. Cf. Gen 15:1.

3:3 the lamp of God had not yet gone out. The reference is to the golden lampstand, which stood opposite the table of the bread of the Presence (Ex 25:31–40) in the holy place. It was still night, but the early morning hours were approaching when the flame grew dim or went out (see Ex 27:20–21; 30:7–8; Lev 24:3–4; 2 Chr 13:11; Prov 31:18). For the lamp to be permitted to go out before morning was a violation of the Pentateuchal regulations. temple. See note on 1:9.

3:5 he said. Eli's failure to recognize at once that the Lord had called Samuel may be indicative of his own unfamiliarity with the Lord.

3:7 did not yet know the LORD. In the sense of having a direct experience of Him (see Ex 1:8), such as receiving a revelation from God (see the last half of the verse).

3:11–14 The Lord's first revelation to Samuel repeats the message Eli had already received from the "man of God" (2:27–36), thus confirming the fact that the youth had indeed received a revelation from God.

3:15 doors of the house of the LORD. See note on 1:9. The tabernacle itself did not have doors. This may refer to an enclosure in which it stood. vision. See note on vv. 11–14.

the LORD. But Samuel was afraid to tell [b]the vision to Eli.

16 Then Eli called Samuel and said, "Samuel, my son." And he said, "Here I am."

17 He said, "What is the word that He spoke to you? Please do not hide it from me. [a]May God do so to you, and more also, if you hide anything from me of all the words that He spoke to you."

18 So Samuel told him everything and hid nothing from him. And he said, "[a]It is the LORD; let Him do what seems good to Him."

19 Thus [a]Samuel grew and [b]the LORD was with him and [c]let none of his words [1]fail.

20 All Israel [a]from Dan even to Beersheba knew that Samuel was confirmed as a prophet of the LORD.

21 And [a]the LORD appeared again at Shiloh, [b]because the LORD revealed Himself to Samuel at Shiloh by the word of the LORD.

Philistines Take the Ark in Victory

4 Thus the word of Samuel came to all Israel. Now Israel went out to meet the Philistines in battle and camped beside [a]Ebenezer while the Philistines camped in [b]Aphek.

2 The Philistines drew up in battle array to meet Israel. When the battle spread, Israel was [1]defeated before the Philistines who killed about four thousand men on the battlefield.

3 When the people came into the camp, the elders of Israel said, "[a]Why has the LORD defeated us today before the Philistines? [b]Let us take to ourselves from Shiloh the ark of the covenant of the LORD, that [1]it may come among us and deliver us from the power of our enemies."

4 So the people sent to Shiloh, and from there they carried the ark of the covenant of the LORD of hosts [a]who sits above the cherubim; and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were there with the ark of the covenant of God.

5 As the ark of the covenant of the LORD came into the camp, [a]all Israel shouted with a great shout, so that the earth resounded.

6 When the Philistines heard the noise of the shout, they said, "What does the noise of this great shout in the camp of the Hebrews mean?" Then they understood that the ark of the LORD had come into the camp.

7 The Philistines were afraid, for they said, "God has come into the camp." And they said, "[a]Woe to us! For nothing like this has happened before.

8 "Woe to us! Who shall deliver us from the hand of these mighty gods? These are the gods who smote the Egyptians with all kinds of plagues in the wilderness.

9 "[a]Take courage and be men, O Philistines, or you will become slaves to the Hebrews, [b]as they have been slaves to you; therefore, be men and fight."

10 So the Philistines fought and [a]Israel was [1]defeated, and [b]every man fled to his tent; and the slaughter was very great, for there fell of Israel thirty thousand foot soldiers.

11 And the ark of God was taken; and [a]the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, died.

3:17 May God do so to you, and more. A curse formula (see 14:44; 20:13; 25:22; 2 Sam 3:9,35; 19:13; Ruth 1:17; 1 Kin 2:23; 2 Kin 6:31), usually directed against the speaker but here used by Eli against Samuel if he conceals anything the Lord said (see also note on 14:24).

3:18 let Him do what seems good to Him. Eli bows before God, accepting the judgment as righteous (see Ex 34:5–7).

3:19 let none of his words fail. Because none of Samuel's words proved unreliable, he was recognized as a prophet who spoke the word of the Lord (see vv. 20–21).

3:20 Dan even to Beersheba. A conventional expression often used in Samuel, Kings and Chronicles to denote the entire land (Dan was located in the far north and Beersheba in the far south).

3:21 at Shiloh. But not after the events narrated in chs. 4–6 (see Jer 7:12–14; 26:6).

4:1 the word of Samuel came to all Israel. Contrast 3:1. Ebenezer. Means "stone of help." The precise location is unknown, but it was probably a short distance (see v. 6) to the east of Aphek—not to be confused with the location of the stone named Ebenezer that was later erected by Samuel between Mizpah and Shen (see 7:12) to commemorate a victory over the Philistines. Aphek. A town about 12 miles northeast of the coastal city of Joppa. Philistine presence this far north suggests an attempt to spread their control over the Israelite tribes of central Canaan (see v. 9; Judg 15:11).

4:3 Why has the LORD defeated us . . . ? The elders understood that their defeat was more an indication of God's displeasure than it was of Philistine military might. Israel's pagan neighbors also believed that the outcome of battle was decided by the gods. that it may come among us and deliver us. See NASB marg. In an attempt to secure the Lord's presence with them in the struggle against the Philistines, the elders sent for the ark of the covenant. They were correct in thinking there was a connection between God's presence with His people and the ark (cf. v. 4), and no doubt they remembered the presence of the ark at notable victories in Israel's past history (see Num 10:33–36; Josh 3:3,11,14–17; 6:6,12–20). But they incorrectly believed that the Lord's presence with the ark was guaranteed, rather than being subject to His free decision. They reflect the pagan notion that the deity is identified with the symbol of His presence, and that God's favor could automatically be gained by manipulating the symbol.

4:4 sits above the cherubim. On each end of the atonement cover of the ark of the covenant were golden cherubim with their wings spread upward over the ark (see Ex 25:17–22). In the space between these cherubim God's presence with His people was localized in a special way, so that the atonement cover of the ark came to be viewed as the throne of Israel's divine King (see 2 Sam 6:2; Ps 80:1; 99:1). Hophni and Phinehas. These wicked priests (see 2:12) did not restrain the army from its improper use of the ark but actually accompanied the ark to the battlefield.

4:6 Hebrews. See note on Gen 14:13.

4:7 God has come into the camp. The Philistines also identified the God of Israel with the symbol of His presence (see note on v. 3).

4:8 mighty gods. The Philistines could think only in polytheistic terms. Egyptians . . . plagues. See note on 6:6.

4:11 the ark of God was taken. This phrase or a variation of it occurs five times in the chapter (here, vv. 17,19,21–22) and is 12 Now a man of Benjamin ran from the battle line and came to Shiloh the same day with [a]his clothes torn and [1]dust on his head.

13 When he came, behold, [a]Eli was sitting on his seat [1]by the road eagerly watching, because his heart was trembling for the ark of God. So the man came to tell it in the city, and all the city cried out.
14 When Eli heard the noise of the outcry, he said, "What does the noise of this commotion mean?" Then the man came hurriedly and told Eli.
15 Now Eli was ninety-eight years old, and [a]his eyes were set so that he could not see.
16 The man said to Eli, "I am the one who came from the battle line. Indeed, I escaped from the battle line today." And he said, "[a]How did things go, my son?"
17 Then the one who brought the news replied, "Israel has fled before the Philistines and there has also been a great slaughter among the people, and your two sons also, Hophni and Phinehas, are dead, and the ark of God has been taken."
18 When he mentioned the ark of God, [1a]Eli fell off the seat backward beside the gate, and his neck was broken and he died, for [2]he was old and heavy. Thus he judged Israel forty years.
19 Now his daughter-in-law, Phinehas's wife, was pregnant and about to give birth; and when she heard the news that the ark of God was taken and that her father-in-law and her husband had died, she kneeled down and gave birth, for her pains came upon her.

Capture of the Ark Provokes God

5 Now the Philistines took the ark of God and [a]brought it from Ebenezer to [b]Ashdod.
2 Then the Philistines took the ark of God and brought it to [a]the house of Dagon and set it by Dagon.
3 When the Ashdodites arose early the next morning, behold, [a]Dagon had fallen on his face to the ground before the ark of the LORD. So they took Dagon and [b]set him in his place again.
4 But when they arose early the next morning, behold, [a]Dagon had fallen on his face to the ground before the ark of the LORD. And the head of Dagon and both the palms of his hands were cut off on the threshold; [1]only the trunk of Dagon was left to him.
5 Therefore neither the priests of Dagon nor all who enter Dagon's house [a]tread on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod to this day.

the focal point of the narrative. In this disastrous event, God's word in 3:11 finds a swift fulfillment. Hophni and Phinehas, died. The fulfillment of 2:34; 3:12.

4:12 his clothes torn and dust on his head. A sign of grief and sorrow, here marking the messenger as a bearer of bad news (see 2 Sam 1:2; 13:19; 15:32).

4:13 his heart was trembling for the ark of God. Eli had sufficient spiritual sensitivity to be aware of the danger inherent in the sinful and presumptuous act of taking the ark of God into the battle. And he seems to have been even more concerned for the ark than for his sons (see v. 18).

4:18 he died. The death of Eli marked the end of an era that had begun with the death of Joshua and the elders who served with him (see Josh 24:29,31). Incapable of restraining Israel or his sons from their wicked ways, and weakened and blinded by age, the old priest is an apt symbol of the flawed age now coming to its tragic close. He is also a striking contrast to the reign of David, which is the main focus of this narrative. heavy. A bit of information that not only helps explain why Eli's fall was fatal but also links his death with the judgment announced earlier: "Why do you . . . honor your sons above Me, by making yourselves fat . . .?" (2:29). he judged Israel forty years. Eli is here included among the judges (see 2 Sam 7:11; Judg 2:16–19; Ruth 1:1), who served as leaders of Israel in the period between the deaths of Joshua and of the elders who outlived him and the establishment of kingship. It is likely that Eli's leadership of 40 years overlapped that of Jephthah, Ibzan, Elon and Abdon (Judg 12:7–14), as well as that of Samson (Judg 13–16).

4:21 The glory has departed. The glory of Israel was Israel's God, not the ark, and loss of the ark did not mean that God had abandoned His people—God was not inseparably bound to the ark (see Jer 3:16–17). Yet the removal of the ark from Israel did signal estrangement in the relationship between God and His people, and it demonstrated the gravity of their error in thinking that in spite of their wickedness they had the power to coerce God into doing their will simply because they possessed the ark.

5:1 Ashdod. One of the five major cities of the Philistines (Josh 13:3), it was located near the Mediterranean coast about 35 miles west of Jerusalem. See map, p.312.

5:2 Dagon. In Canaanite mythology the son (or brother) of El and the father of Baal. He was the principal god of the Philistines and was worshiped in temples at Gaza (Judg 16:21,23,26), Ashdod (here) and Beth-shan (31:10–12; 1 Chr 10:10). Veneration of this deity was widespread in the ancient world, extending from Mesopotamia to the Aramean and Canaanite area and attested in non-Biblical sources dating from the late third millennium B.C. until Maccabean times (second century B.C.; in the Apocrypha see 1 Maccabees 10:83–85). The precise nature of the worship of Dagon is obscure. Some have considered Dagon to be a fish god, but more recent evidence suggests either a storm or grain god. His name is related to a Hebrew word for "grain."

5:3 Dagon had fallen on his face. The ark was placed next to the image of Dagon by the Philistines in order to demonstrate Dagon's superiority over the God of Israel, but the symbolism was reversed when Dagon was toppled to a position of homage before the ark of the Lord.

5:5 tread on the threshold. Apparently the threshold was considered to possess supernatural power because of its contact with parts of the fallen image of Dagon. Zeph 1:9 appears to be a reference to a more general and rather widespread pagan

6 Now [a]the hand of the LORD was heavy on the Ashdodites, and [b]He ravaged them and smote them with [c]tumors, both Ashdod and its territories.

7 When the men of Ashdod saw that it was so, they said, "The ark of the God of Israel must not remain with us, for His hand is severe on us and on Dagon our god."

8 So they sent and [a]gathered all the lords of the Philistines to them and said, "What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel?" And they said, "Let the ark of the God of Israel be brought around to Gath." And they brought the ark of the God of Israel around.

9 After they had brought it around, [a]the hand of the LORD was against the city with very great confusion; and He smote the men of the city, both young and old, so that [b]tumors broke out on them.

10 So they sent the ark of God to Ekron. And as the ark of God came to Ekron the Ekronites cried out, saying, "They have brought the ark of the God of Israel around to [1]us, to kill [1]us and [2]our people."

11 They [a]sent therefore and gathered all the lords of the Philistines and said, "Send away the ark of the God of Israel, and let it return to its own place, so that it will not kill [1]us and [2]our people." For there was a deadly confusion throughout the city; [b]the hand of God was very heavy there.

12 And the men who did not die were smitten with tumors and [a]the cry of the city went up to heaven.

The Ark Returned to Israel

6 Now the ark of the LORD had been in the [1]country of the Philistines seven months.

2 And [a]the Philistines called for the priests and the diviners, saying, "What shall we do with the ark of the LORD? Tell us [1]how we shall send it to its place."

3 They said, "If you send away the ark of the God of Israel, [a]do not send it empty; but you shall surely [b]return to Him a guilt offering. Then you will be healed and it will be known to you why His hand is not removed from you."

4 Then they said, "What shall be the guilt offering which we shall return to Him?" And they said, "Five golden [a]tumors and five golden mice [b]according to the number of the lords of the Philistines, for one plague was on all of [1]you and on your lords.

5 "So you shall make likenesses of your tumors and likenesses of your mice that ravage the land, and [a]you shall give glory to the God of Israel; perhaps [b]He will ease His hand from you, [c]your gods, and your land.

6 "Why then do you harden your hearts [a]as the Egyptians and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? When He had severely dealt with them, [b]did they not allow [1]the people to go, and they departed?

7 "Now therefore, take and [a]prepare a new cart and two milch cows on which there [b]has never been a yoke; and hitch the cows to the cart and take their calves home, away from them.

8 "Take the ark of the LORD and place it on the cart; and put [a]the articles of gold which you return to Him as [b]a guilt offering in a box by its side. Then send it away that it may go.

9 "Watch, if it goes up by the way of its own territory to [a]Beth-shemesh, then He has done us this great evil. But if not, then [b]we will know that it was not His hand that struck us; it happened to us by chance."

5:6 the hand of the LORD was heavy. Dagon's broken hand lay on the ground (v. 4), but the Lord shows the reality and strength of His own hand by bringing a plague (see note on 6:4) on the people of Ashdod and the surrounding area (see vv. 9,11). God would not be manipulated by His own people (see note on 4:3), nor would He permit the Philistines to think that their victory over the Israelites and the capture of the ark demonstrated the superiority of their god over the God of Israel.

5:8 lords. Of the five major cities of the Philistines (see 6:16; Josh 13:3; Judg 3:3). Let the ark of the God of Israel be brought . . . to Gath. Evidently the leaders of the Philistines did not share the opinion of the Ashdodites that there was a direct connection between what had happened in Ashdod and the presence of the ark; they seem to have suspected that the sequence of events was merely coincidental (see 6:9). The removal of the ark to Gath put the matter to a test.

5:10 Ekron. The northernmost of the five major Philistine cities, located 11 miles northeast of Ashdod and close to Israelite territory (see map, p. 312).

5:11 Send away the ark of the God of Israel. After three successive towns had been struck by disease upon the arrival of the ark, there was little doubt in the people's minds that the power of the God of Israel was the cause of their distress.

6:2 priests and . . . diviners. The experts on religious matters (priests) and the discerners of hidden knowledge by interpretation of omens (diviners) were consulted (see Deut 18:10; Is 2:6; Ezek 21:21).

6:3 guilt offering. The priests and diviners suggest returning the ark with a gift, signifying recognition of guilt in taking the ark from Israel and compensation for this violation of the Lord's honor (see v. 5). For the guilt offering in Israel see Lev 5:14–6:7.

6:4 Five golden tumors. Corresponding to the symptoms of the plague (see 5:6). five golden mice. The disease was accompanied by a plague of mice (v. 5). The Greek translation of the OT (the Septuagint) includes this information earlier in the narrative (at the end of 5:6). It is likely that the mice were carriers of the disease, which may have been a form of the plague.

6:5 make likenesses . . . and you shall give glory to the God of Israel. The golden models were an acknowledgment that the disease and the mice were a judgment from the hand of the God of Israel (see note on v. 3).

6:6 the Egyptians and Pharaoh. The plagues that God inflicted on the Egyptians at the time of the exodus made a lasting impression on the surrounding nations (see 4:8; Josh 2:10).

6:7 has never been a yoke. Have not been trained to pull a cart. take their calves home. Normally cows do not willingly leave their suckling calves.

6:9 Beth-shemesh. A town near the Philistine border, belong-

10 Then the men did so, and took two milch cows and hitched them to the cart, and shut up their calves at home.

11 They put the ark of the LORD on the cart, and the box with the golden mice and the likenesses of their tumors.

12 And the cows took the straight way in the [1]direction of [a]Beth-shemesh; they went along [b]the highway, lowing as they went, and did not turn aside to the right or to the left. And the lords of the Philistines followed them to the border of Beth-shemesh.

13 Now the people of Beth-shemesh were reaping their wheat harvest in the valley, and they raised their eyes and saw the ark and were glad to see it.

14 The cart came into the field of Joshua the Beth-shemite and stood there where there was a large stone; and they split the wood of the cart and [a]offered the cows as a burnt offering to the LORD.

15 [a]The Levites took down the ark of the LORD and the box that was with it, in which were the articles of gold, and put them on the large stone; and the men of Beth-shemesh offered burnt offerings and sacrificed sacrifices that day to the LORD.

16 When the [a]five lords of the Philistines saw it, they returned to Ekron that day.

17 [a]These are the golden tumors which the Philistines returned for a guilt offering to the LORD: one for Ashdod, one for Gaza, one for Ashkelon, one for Gath, one for Ekron;

18 and the golden mice, according to the number of all the cities of the Philistines belonging to the five lords, [a]both of fortified cities and of country villages. [b]The large [1]stone on which they set the ark of the LORD is a witness to this day in the field of Joshua the Beth-shemite.

19 [a]He struck down some of the men of Beth-shemesh because they had looked into the ark of the LORD. He struck down of all the people, 50,070 men, and the people mourned because the LORD had struck the people with a great slaughter.

20 The men of Beth-shemesh said, "[a]Who is able to stand before the LORD, this holy God? And to whom shall He go up from us?"

21 So they sent messengers to the inhabitants of [a]Kiriath-jearim, saying, "The Philistines have brought back the ark of the LORD; come down and take it up to you."

Deliverance from the Philistines

7 And the men of Kiriath-jearim came and took the ark of the LORD and [a]brought it into the house of Abinadab on the hill, and consecrated Eleazar his son to keep the ark of the LORD.

2 From the day that the ark remained at Kiriath-jearim, the time was long, for it was twenty years; and all the house of Israel lamented after the LORD.

3 Then Samuel spoke to all the house of Israel, saying, "[a]If you return to the LORD with all your heart, [b]remove the foreign gods and the [c]Ashtaroth from among you and [d]direct your hearts to the LORD and [e]serve Him alone; and He will deliver you from the hand of the Philistines."

4 So the sons of Israel removed the Baals and the Ashtaroth and served the LORD alone.

5 Then Samuel said, "Gather all Israel to [a]Mizpah and [b]I will pray to the LORD for you."

ing to Judah (see Josh 15:10). Its name means "house (or sanctuary) of the sun(-god)."

6:13 reaping their wheat harvest. The time of wheat harvest is from mid-April until mid-June.

6:14–15 The termination of the trip at Beth-shemesh is just as much a revelation of the hand of God as the journey itself, because it was one of the towns of Judah assigned to the priests at the time of the conquest (see Josh 21:13–16).

6:17 guilt offering. See note on v. 3.

6:18 witness. A kind of monument to the event. this day. The time of the writing of 1,2 Samuel (see Introduction: Literary Features, Authorship and Date).

6:19 looked into the ark. The men of Beth-shemesh (Levites and priests among them) were judged by God for their irreverent curiosity. Because God had so closely linked the manifestation of His own presence among His people with the ark, it was to be treated with great honor and respect (see 2 Sam 6:7; Num 4:17–20). This attitude of respect, however, is quite different from the superstitious attitude that led the elders to take the ark into battle against the Philistines, thus treating it as an object with magical power (see note on 4:3). 50,070. A few Hebrew manuscripts read "70." The additional 50,000 in most Hebrew manuscripts is apparently a copyist's mistake because it is added in an ungrammatical way (no conjunction). Furthermore, this small town could not have contained that many inhabitants.

6:20 to whom shall He go up from us? The inhabitants of Beth-shemesh respond to God's judgment in much the same way as the inhabitants of Ashdod, Gath and Ekron (see 5:8–10).

7:1 house of Abinadab. The ark remained in relative obscurity at Abinadab's house until David brought it to Jerusalem (2 Sam 6:2–3). Somehow the tent of meeting (and the altar of burnt offering) escaped the destruction of Shiloh (Jer 7:12,14; 26:6). It apparently was first moved to Nob (21:1–9). In David's and Solomon's days it was located at Gibeon (1 Chr 16:39; 21:29; 2 Chr 1:3,13), the city whose people had been condemned to be menial laborers at the Lord's sanctuary (Josh 9:23,27). Later, we are told, Solomon brought the "tent of meeting" to the completed temple (see notes on 1 Kin 3:4; 8:4).

7:2 twenty years. Probably the 20-year interval between the return of the ark to Israel and the assembly called by Samuel at Mizpah (see v. 5).

7:3 Ashtaroth. The Hebrew plural of Ashtoreth, who was a goddess of love, fertility and war, worshiped in various forms by many peoples of the ancient Near East, including the Canaanites (see note on Judg 2:13). The worship of Ashtoreth is frequently combined with the worship of Baal (see v. 4; 12:10; Judg 2:13; 3:7; 10:6), in accordance with the common practice in fertility cults to associate male and female deities.

7:5 Mizpah. A town in the territory of Benjamin (Josh 18:26), located about seven and a half miles north of Jerusalem. It was here that the Israelites had previously gathered to undertake disciplinary action against Benjamin (Judg 20:1; 21:1) after the abuse and murder of the concubine of a traveling Levite in Gibeah of Benjamin. Several other places bore the same name (see

6 They gathered to Mizpah, and drew water and [a]poured it out before the LORD, and [b]fasted on that day and said there, "[c]We have sinned against the LORD." And Samuel judged the sons of Israel at Mizpah.

7 Now when the Philistines heard that the sons of Israel had gathered to Mizpah, the lords of the Philistines went up against Israel. And when the sons of Israel heard it, [a]they were afraid of the Philistines.

8 Then the sons of Israel said to Samuel, "[a]Do not cease to cry to the LORD our God for us, that He may save us from the hand of the Philistines."

9 Samuel took [a]a suckling lamb and offered it for a whole burnt offering to the LORD; and Samuel cried to the LORD for Israel and [b]the LORD answered him.

10 Now Samuel was offering up the burnt offering, and the Philistines drew near to battle against Israel. But [a]the LORD thundered with a great [1]thunder on that day against the Philistines and [b]confused them, so that they were [2]routed before Israel.

11 The men of Israel went out of Mizpah and pursued the Philistines, and struck them down as far as below Beth-car.

12 Then Samuel [a]took a stone and set it between Mizpah and Shen, and named it [1]Ebenezer, saying, "Thus far the LORD has helped us."

13 [a]So the Philistines were subdued and [b]they did not come anymore within the border of Israel. And the hand of the LORD was against the Philistines all the days of Samuel.

14 The cities which the Philistines had taken from Israel were restored to Israel, from Ekron even to Gath; and Israel delivered their territory from the hand of the Philistines. So there was peace between Israel and [a]the Amorites.

Samuel's Ministry

15 Now Samuel [a]judged Israel all the days of his life.

16 He used to go annually on circuit to [a]Bethel and [b]Gilgal and [c]Mizpah, and he judged Israel in all these places.

17 Then his return was to [a]Ramah, for his house was there, and there he judged Israel; and he [b]built there an altar to the LORD.

Israel Demands a King

8 And it came about when Samuel was old that [a]he appointed his sons judges over Israel.

2 Now the name of his firstborn was Joel, and the name of his second, Abijah; they were judging in [a]Beersheba.

3 His sons, however, did not walk in his ways, but turned aside after dishonest gain and [a]took bribes and perverted justice.

4 Then all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at [a]Ramah;

5 and they said to him, "Behold, you have grown old, and your sons do not walk in your ways. Now [a]appoint a king for us to judge us like all the nations."

6 But the thing was [1][a]displeasing in the sight of Samuel when they said, "Give us a king to judge us." And [b]Samuel prayed to the LORD.

7 The LORD said to Samuel, "Listen to the voice of the people in regard to all that they say to you, for [a]they have not rejected you, but they have rejected Me from being king over them.

Both were appointed by God to mediate His rule over His people, representing God to Israel and speaking on Israel's behalf to God.

7:6 drew water and poured it out before the LORD. There is no other reference to this type of ceremony in the OT. It appears to symbolize the pouring out of one's heart in repentance and humility before the Lord. For related expressions see 1:15; Ps 62:8; Lam 2:19. Samuel judged. See v. 15; see also note on 4:18.

7:10 the LORD thundered with a great thunder. The Lord had promised to be the protector of His people when they were obedient to their covenant obligations (see Ex 23:22; Deut 20:1–4; see also 2 Sam 5:19–25; Josh 10:11–14; Judg 5:20–21; 2 Kin 7:6; 19:35; 2 Chr 20:17,22).

7:12 Ebenezer. See NASB marg.; see also note on 4:1.

7:13 did not come anymore within the border of Israel. Some interpreters see a contradiction between this statement and subsequent references to the Philistines in 9:16; 10:5; 13:3,5; 17:1; 23:27. This statement, however, only indicates that the Philistines did not immediately counterattack. See 2 Kin 6:23–24 for a similar situation.

7:15 A summary statement marking the end of the author's account of Samuel's ministry as Israel's leader (see v. 6).

7:16 judged Israel. See note on 4:18.

7:17 Ramah. See note on 1:1.

8:1–12:25 See Introduction: Contents and Theme.

8:1 when Samuel was old. Probably about 20 years after the victory at Mizpah, when Samuel was approximately 65 years old (see Introduction: Chronology).

8:3 took bribes. Perversion of justice through bribery was explicitly forbidden in Pentateuchal law (see Ex 23:8; Deut 16:19).

8:5 appoint a king . . . to judge us. The elders cite Samuel's age and the misconduct of his sons as justifications for their request for a king. It soon becomes apparent, however, that the more basic reason for their request was a desire to be like the surrounding nations—to have a human king as a symbol of national power and unity who would lead them in battle and guarantee their security (see v. 20; 10:19; 12:12; see also Introduction: Contents and Theme).

8:7 Listen to the voice of the people . . . that they say to you. Anticipations of kingship in Israel are present already in the Pentateuch (Gen 49:10; Num 24:7,17; Deut 17:14–20); Samuel is therefore instructed to listen to the people's request (see vv. 9,22). they have not rejected you, but . . . Me from being king over them. Cf. Judg 8:23. The sin of Israel in requesting a king (see 10:19; 12:12,17,19–20) did not rest in any evil inherent in kingship itself, but in the kind of kingship the people envisioned and their reasons for requesting it (see Introduction: Contents and Theme). Their desire was for a form of kingship that denied their covenant relationship with the Lord, who Himself was pledged to be their savior and deliverer. In requesting a king done since the day that I brought them up from Egypt even to this day—in that they have forsaken Me and served other gods—so they are doing to you also.

9 "Now then, listen to their voice; [a]however, you shall solemnly [1]warn them and tell them of [b]the [2]procedure of the king who will reign over them."

Warning concerning a King

10 So Samuel spoke all the words of the LORD to [a]the people who had asked of him a king.

11 He said, "[a]This will be the [1]procedure of the king who will reign over you: [b]he will take your sons and place them for himself in his chariots and among his horsemen and [c]they will run before his chariots.

12 "[a]He will appoint for himself commanders of thousands and of fifties, and some to [1]do his plowing and to reap his harvest and to make his weapons of war and equipment for his chariots.

13 "He will also take your daughters for perfumers and cooks and bakers.

14 "[a]He will take the best of your fields and your vineyards and your olive groves and give them to his servants.

15 "He will take a tenth of your seed and of your vineyards and give to his officers and to his servants.

16 "He will also take your male servants and your female servants and your best young men and your donkeys and [1]use them for his work.

17 "He will take a tenth of your flocks, and you yourselves will become his servants.

18 "Then [a]you will cry out in that day because of your king whom you have chosen for yourselves, but [b]the LORD will not answer you in that day."

19 Nevertheless, the people [a]refused to listen to the voice of Samuel, and they said, "No, but there shall be a king over us, 20 [a]that we also may be like all the nations, that our king may judge us and go out before us and fight our battles."

21 Now after Samuel had heard all the words of the people, [a]he repeated them in the LORD's hearing.

22 The LORD said to Samuel, "[a]Listen to their voice and [1]appoint them a king." So Samuel said to the men of Israel, "Go every man to his city."

Saul's Search

9 Now there was a man of Benjamin whose name was [a]Kish the son of Abiel, the son of Zeror, the son of Becorath, the son of Aphiah, the son of a Benjamite, a mighty man of [1]valor.

2 He had a son whose name was Saul, a [a]choice and handsome man, and there was not a more handsome person than he among the sons of Israel; [b]from his shoulders and up he was taller than any of the people.

3 Now the donkeys of Kish, Saul's father, were lost. So Kish said to his son Saul, "Take now with you one of the servants, and arise, go search for the donkeys."

4 He passed through [a]the hill country of Ephraim and passed through the land of [b]Shalishah, but they did not find them. Then they passed through the land of [c]Shaalim, but they were not there. Then he passed through the land of the Benjamites, but they did not find them.

5 When they came to the land of [a]Zuph, Saul said to his servant who was with him, "Come, and let us return, [b]or else my father will cease to be concerned about the donkeys and will become anxious for us."

6 He said to him, "Behold now, there is [a]a man of God in this city, and the man is held in honor; [b]all that he says surely comes true. Now let us go there, [c]perhaps he can tell us about our journey on which we have set out."

7 Then Saul said to his servant, "But behold, if we go, what shall we bring the man? For the bread is gone from our sack and there is [a]no present to bring to the man of God. What do we have?"

8 The servant answered Saul again and

"like all the nations" (v. 20) they broke the covenant, rejected the Lord who was their King (12:12; Num 23:21; Deut 33:5) and forgot His constant provision for their protection in the past (10:18; 12:8–11).

8:11 the procedure of the king. Using a description of the policies of contemporary Canaanite kings (vv. 11–17), Samuel warns the people of the burdens associated with the type of kingship they long for.

8:15 tenth. This king's portion would be over and above the tenth Israel was to devote to the Lord (Lev 27:30–32; Num 18:26; Deut 14:22,28; 26:12). In fact, the demands of the king would parallel all that Israel was to consecrate to the Lord as her Great King (persons, lands, crops, livestock)—even the whole population (v. 17).

8:18 cry out . . . because of your king. See 1 Kin 12:4; Jer 22:13–17.

8:20 like all the nations. See notes on vv. 5,7.

9:2 taller than any of the people. Physically of kingly stature (see 10:23).

9:3 donkeys . . . were lost. Saul is introduced as a donkey wrangler sent in search of donkeys that had strayed from home—perhaps symbolizing Saul and the rebellious people who had asked for a king (cf. Is 1:3). David would be introduced as a shepherd caring for his father's flock and later pictured as the shepherd over the Lord's flock (2 Sam 5:2; 7:7–8; Ps 78:71–72).

9:6 He said to him. Saul's ignorance of Samuel is indicative of his character. man of God. See note on 2:27; here a reference to Samuel. this city. Probably Ramah (see 7:17), the hometown of Samuel, to which he had just returned from a journey (see v. 12; 7:16). all that he says . . . See 3:19 and note.

9:7 what shall we bring the man? Other examples of gifts offered to prophets are found in 1 Kin 14:3; 2 Kin 4:42; 5:15–16; 8:8–9. Whether Samuel accepted the gift and whether he was dependent on such gifts for a livelihood are not clear. Elisha said, "Behold, I have in my hand a fourth of a shekel of silver; I will give it to the man of God and he will [a]tell us our way."

9 (Formerly in Israel, when a man went to inquire of God, he used to say, "Come, and let us go to the seer"; for he who is called a prophet now was formerly called [a]a seer.)

10 Then Saul said to his servant, "Well said; come, let us go." So they went to the city where the man of God was.

11 As they went up the slope to the city, [a]they found young women going out to draw water and said to them, "Is the seer here?"

12 They answered them and said, "He is; [1]see, he is ahead of you. Hurry now, for he has come into the city today, for [a]the people have a sacrifice on [b]the high place today.

13 "As soon as you enter the city you will find him before he goes up to the high place to eat, for the people will not eat until he comes, because [a]he must bless the sacrifice; afterward those who are invited will eat. Now therefore, go up for you will find him at once."

14 So they went up to the city. As they came into the city, behold, Samuel was coming out toward them to go up to the high place.

God's Choice for King

15 Now a day before Saul's coming, [a]the LORD had [1]revealed this to Samuel saying,

16 "About this time tomorrow I will send you a man from the land of Benjamin, and [a]you shall anoint him to be prince over My people Israel; and he will deliver My people from the hand of the Philistines. For [b]I have regarded My people, because their cry has come to Me."

17 When Samuel saw Saul, the LORD [1]said to him, "[a]Behold, the man of whom I spoke to you! This one shall rule over My people."

18 Then Saul approached Samuel in the gate and said, "Please tell me where the seer's house is."

19 Samuel answered Saul and said, "I am the seer. Go up before me to the high place, for you shall eat with me today; and in the morning I will let you go, and will tell you all that is on your mind.

20 "[a]As for your donkeys which were lost three days ago, do not set your mind on them, for they have been found. And [b]for whom is all that is desirable in Israel? Is it not for you and for all your father's household?"

21 Saul replied, "[a]Am I not a Benjamite, of [b]the smallest of the tribes of Israel, and my family the least of all the families of the [1]tribe of Benjamin? Why then do you speak to me in this way?"

22 Then Samuel took Saul and his servant and brought them into the hall and gave them a place at the head of those who were invited, who were about thirty men.

23 Samuel said to the cook, "[1]Bring the portion that I gave you, concerning which I said to you, 'Set it [2]aside.' "

24 Then the cook [a]took up the leg with what was on it and set it before Saul. And Samuel said, "Here is what has been reserved! Set it before you and eat, because it has been kept for you until the appointed time, [1]since I said I have invited the people." So Saul ate with Samuel that day.

refused the gift of Naaman (2 Kin 5:16). In later times false prophets adjusted their message to the desires of those who supported them (1 Kin 22:6,8,18; Mic 3:5,11).

9:8 a fourth of a shekel. That is, about one-tenth of an ounce. Before the use of coins, gold or silver was weighed out for each monetary transaction (see 13:21; Job 28:15). The value of that amount of silver in Saul's time is not known.

9:9 he who is called a prophet . . . formerly called a seer. There was no essential difference between a seer and a prophet. The person popularly designated as a prophet at the time of the writing of 1,2 Samuel was termed a seer in the time of Saul. This need not mean that the term "prophet" was unknown in the time of Saul or that the term "seer" was unknown in later times (see Is 30:10). The reference is to popular usage.

9:12 high place. See Lev 26:30. After entrance into the promised land, the Israelites often followed the custom of the Canaanites in building local altars on hills. (At this time the central sanctuary was not functioning because the ark of God was separated from the tabernacle; Shiloh had been destroyed, and the priestly family, after the death of Eli's sons, was apparently still inactive.) In later times, worship at these "high places" provided a means for the entrance of pagan practices into Israel's religious observances and, for this reason, it was condemned (see note on 1Ki 3:2).

9:13 he must bless the sacrifice. Samuel presided over the sacrificial meal (see 1:4; 2:13–16), at which he gave a prayer, probably similar to those referred to in the NT (see Matt 26:26–27; John 6:11, 23; 1 Tim 4:3–5).

9:16 anoint him. Priests were also anointed (see Ex 29:7; 40:12–15; Lev 4:3; 8:12), but from this point in the OT it is usually the king who is referred to as "the anointed of the LORD" (see note on 2:10; cf. 12:3; 24:6; 26:9,11,16; 2 Sam 1:14,16; 19:21; 22:51; 23:1; Ps 2:2,6; but see also Zech 4:14). Anointing signifies separation to the Lord for a particular task and divine equipping for the task (see 10:1,6; 16:13; Is 61:1). prince. The Hebrew for this word indicates one designated (here by the Lord) to be the chief in rank. It served as a useful term to ease the transition between the time of the judges and that of the kings. Philistines. See note on 7:13.

9:20 all that is desirable in Israel. A reference to Israel's desire for a king.

9:21 smallest of the tribes . . . least of all the families. Saul's origins were among the humblest in Israel (Benjamin was the last of Jacob's sons, and the tribe had been greatly reduced in the time of the judges; see Judg 20:46–48). His elevation to king shows that God "raises the poor" (2:8), which is one of the central themes running throughout Samuel. God's use of the powerless to promote His kingdom in the world is a common feature in the Biblical testimony and underscores the truth that His kingdom is not of this world.

9:24 leg. The Hebrew for this word specifies the thigh, which was normally reserved for the Lord's consecrated priest (see Ex 29:22,27; Lev 7:32–33,35; Num 6:20; 18:18). The presentation of this choice piece of the sacrificial animal to Saul was a distinct honor and anticipated his being designated the Lord's anointed.

25 When they came down from the high place into the city, Samuel spoke with Saul [a]on the [1]roof.

26 And they arose early; and at daybreak Samuel called to Saul on the roof, saying, "Get up, that I may send you away." So Saul arose, and both he and Samuel went out into the street.

27 As they were going down to the edge of the city, Samuel said to Saul, "Say to the servant that he might go ahead of us and pass on, but you remain standing now, that I may proclaim the word of God to you."

Saul among Prophets

10 Then [a]Samuel took the flask of oil, poured it on his head, [b]kissed him and said, "Has not [c]the LORD anointed you a ruler over [d]His inheritance?

2 "When you go from me today, then you will find two men close to [a]Rachel's tomb in the territory of Benjamin at Zelzah; and they will say to you, '[b]The donkeys which you went to look for have been found. Now behold, your father has [1]ceased to be concerned about the donkeys and is anxious for you, saying, "What shall I do about my son?" '

3 "Then you will go on further from there, and you will come as far as the [1][a]oak of Tabor, and there three men going up [b]to God at Bethel will meet you, one carrying three young goats, another carrying three loaves of bread, and another carrying a jug of wine;

4 and they will greet you and give you two loaves of bread, which you will accept from their hand.

5 "Afterward you will come to [1][a]the hill of God where the Philistine garrison is; and it shall be as soon as you have come there to the city, that you will meet [b]a group of prophets coming down from the high place with harp, tambourine, flute, and a lyre before them, and [c]they will be prophesying.

6 "Then [a]the Spirit of the LORD will come upon you mightily, and [b]you shall prophesy with them and be changed into another man.

7 "It shall be when these signs come to you, [a]do for yourself what [1]the occasion requires, for [b]God is with you.

8 "And [a]you shall go down before me to Gilgal; and behold, I will come down to you to offer burnt offerings and [b]sacrifice peace offerings. [c]You shall wait seven days until I come to you and show you what you should do."

9 Then it happened when he turned his back to leave Samuel, God [a]changed [1]his heart; and all those signs came about on that day.

10 [a]When they came to [1]the hill there, behold, a group of prophets met him; and the Spirit of God came upon him mightily, so that he prophesied among them.

11 It came about, when all who knew him previously saw that he prophesied now with the prophets, that the people said to one another, "What has happened to the son of Kish? [a]Is Saul also among the prophets?"

12 A man there said, "Now, who is their father?" Therefore it became a proverb: "[a]Is Saul also among the prophets?"

13 When he had finished prophesying, he came to the high place.

14 Now [a]Saul's uncle said to him and his servant, "Where did you go?" And he said, "[b]To look for the donkeys. When we saw that they could not be found, we went to Samuel."

15 Saul's uncle said, "Please tell me what Samuel said to you."

16 So Saul said to his uncle, "[a]He told us plainly that the donkeys had been found." But he did not tell him about the matter of the kingdom which Samuel had mentioned.

10:1 oil. Perhaps spiced olive oil (see Ex 30:22–33). Has not the LORD anointed you . . .? See note on 9:16. ruler. See 9:16 and note on "prince" (same word in Hebrew). His inheritance. "My people Israel" (9:16). The Lord's inheritance includes both the people (see Ex 34:9) and the land (see Ex 15:17). After departing from Samuel, Saul is to receive three signs (see vv. 2–7) to authenticate Samuel's words and to assure him that the Lord has indeed chosen him to be king.

10:5 the hill of God. Or "Gibeah of God" (see NASB marg.). Gibeah was Saul's hometown (see v. 26; 11:4), located in the tribal area of Benjamin (Josh 18:28; Judg 19:12–14). It was usually called "Gibeah" or "Gibeah of Benjamin" (as in 13:2,15), but twice "Gibeah of Saul" (15:34; 2 Sam 21:6). The present designation (used only here) may have been Samuel's way of reminding Saul that the land of Canaan belonged to God and not to the Philistines (see Deut 32:43; Is 14:2; Hos 9:3). prophets. The bands of prophets with which Samuel was associated (as also the "sons of the prophets" with whom Elijah and Elisha were associated; see note on 1 Kin 20:35) appear to have been small communities of men who banded together in spiritually decadent times for mutual cultivation of their religious zeal. prophesying. Here (and in vv. 6,10–11,13) appears to designate an enthusiastic praising of God inspired by the Holy Spirit (see Num 11:24–30 for similar use of the term).

10:7 do . . . what the occasion requires. Saul is to take whatever action is appropriate when the situation presents itself to manifest publicly his royal leadership (see 11:4–11).

10:8 go down before me to Gilgal. At some unspecified future time, perhaps previously discussed (see 9:25), Saul is to go to Gilgal and wait seven days for Samuel's arrival (see 13:7–14).

10:11 Is Saul also among the prophets? An expression of surprise at Saul's behavior (see note on v. 5) by those who had known him previously—another subtle indication of his character (see notes on 9:3,6).

10:12 who is their father? Some understand the question as an expression of contempt for prophets generally, others as implying the recognition that prophetic inspiration comes from God and therefore could be imparted to whomever God chose. However, since leading prophets were sometimes called "father" (2 Kin 2:12; 6:21; 13:14), the speaker may have intended a disdainful reference to Samuel or an ironical gibe at Saul.

Saul Publicly Chosen King

17 Thereafter Samuel called the [a]people together to the LORD at Mizpah;

18 and he said to the sons of Israel, "[a]Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, 'I brought Israel up from Egypt, and I delivered you from the hand of the Egyptians and from the [1]power of all the kingdoms that were oppressing you.'

19 "But you [a]have today rejected your God, who delivers you from all your calamities and your distresses; yet you have [1]said, 'No, but set a king over us!' Now therefore, [b]present yourselves before the LORD by your tribes and by your clans."

20 Thus Samuel brought all the tribes of Israel near, and the tribe of Benjamin was taken by lot.

21 Then he brought the tribe of Benjamin near by its families, and the Matrite family was taken. And Saul the son of Kish was taken; but when they looked for him, he could not be found.

22 Therefore [a]they inquired further of the LORD, "Has the man come here yet?" So the LORD said, "Behold, he is hiding himself by the baggage."

23 So they ran and took him from there, and when he stood among the people, [a]he was taller than any of the people from his shoulders upward.

24 Samuel said to all the people, "Do you see him [a]whom the LORD has chosen? Surely there is no one like him among all the people." So all the people shouted and said, "[1][b]Long live the king!"

Saul Defeats the Ammonites

11 Now [a]Nahash the Ammonite came up and [1]besieged [b]Jabesh-gilead; and all the men of Jabesh said to Nahash, "Make [c]a covenant with us and we will serve you."

2 But Nahash the Ammonite said to them, "I will make it with you on this condition, [a]that I will gouge out the right eye of every one of you, thus I will make it [b]a reproach on all Israel."

3 [a]The elders of Jabesh said to him, "Let us alone for seven days, that we may send messengers throughout the territory of Israel. Then, if there is no one to deliver us, we will come out to you."

4 Then the messengers came [a]to Gibeah of Saul and spoke these words in the hearing of the people, and all the people [b]lifted up their voices and wept.

5 Now behold, Saul was coming from the field [a]behind the oxen, and [1]he said, "What is the matter with the people that they

10:17 Samuel called the people. After the private designation and anointing of Saul to be king (9:1–10:16), an assembly is called by Samuel to make the Lord's choice known to the people (v. 21) and to define the king's task (v. 25). Mizpah. See note on 7:5.

10:18 I delivered you. Speaking through Samuel, the Lord emphasizes to the people that He has been their deliverer throughout their history. He brought them out of Egypt and delivered them from all their enemies during the time of the judges. Although the judges themselves are sometimes referred to as Israel's deliverers (see Judg 3:9,15,31; 6:14; 10:1; 13:5), this was true only in a secondary sense, for they were instruments of the Lord's deliverance (see Judg 2:18). It was the Lord who sent them (see 12:11; Judg 6:14).

10:19 rejected your God. See note on 8:7.

10:20 tribe of Benjamin was taken. Probably by casting lots (see 14:41–42; Josh 7:15–18). The Urim and Thummim were used for this purpose (see notes on 2:28; Ex 28:30).

10:24 Long live the king! See 2 Sam 16:16.

10:25 ordinances of the kingdom. Samuel here takes the first step toward resolving the tension that existed between Israel's misdirected desire for a king (and their misconceived notion of what the king's role and function should be) and the Lord's intent to give them one (see Introduction: Contents and Theme). This description of the duties and prerogatives of the Israelite king was given for the benefit of both the people and the king-designate. It was intended to clearly distinguish Israelite kingship from that of the surrounding nations and to ensure that the king's role in Israel was compatible with the continued rule of the Lord over Israel as her Great King (see Deut 17:14–20). placed it before the LORD. The written constitutional-legal document defining the role of the king in governing God's covenant people was preserved at the sanctuary (the tabernacle, later the temple). Other written documents defining Israel's covenant relationship with the Lord are referred to in Ex 24:7; Deut 31:26; Josh 24:26.

10:27 worthless men. See note on Deut 13:13. How can this one deliver us? Reflects the people's continued apostate idea that national security was to be sought in the person of the human king (see note on v. 18; cf. 8:20).

11:1 Ammonite. The Ammonites were descended from Lot (see Gen 19:38; Deut 2:19) and lived east of the tribal territory of Gad near the upper regions of the Jabbok River (see Deut 2:37; Josh 12:2). Previous attempts by the Ammonites to occupy Israelite territory are referred to in Judg 3:13; 11:4–32. The Philistine threat to Israel in the west presented the Ammonites with an opportunity to move against Israel from the east with supposed impunity. Jabesh-gilead. A town east of the Jordan in the tribal area of Manasseh.

11:2 gouge out the right eye. Besides causing humiliation (see note on Judg 16:21), the loss of the right eye would destroy the military capability of the archers.

11:4 Gibeah of Saul. See 10:26 and note on 10:5. Close family ties undoubtedly prompted the inhabitants of Jabesh to seek help from the tribe of Benjamin (see Judg 21:12–14).

11:5 Saul was coming from the field. After Saul's public selection as the king-designate at Mizpah (10:17–27), he returned home (10:26) to resume his normal private activities and to wait for the Lord's leading for the next step in his elevation to the throne (see notes on v. 15; 10:7).

weep?" So they related to him the words of the men of Jabesh.

6 Then [a]the Spirit of God came upon Saul mightily when he heard these words, and [1]he became very angry.

7 He took a yoke of oxen and [a]cut them in pieces, and sent them throughout the territory of Israel by the hand of messengers, saying, "[b]Whoever does not come out after Saul and after Samuel, so shall it be done to his oxen." Then the dread of the LORD fell on the people, and they came out [c]as one man.

8 He [1]numbered them in [a]Bezek; and the [b]sons of Israel were 300,000, and the men of Judah 30,000.

9 They said to the messengers who had come, "Thus you shall say to the men of Jabesh-gilead, 'Tomorrow, by the time the sun is hot, you will have deliverance.' " So the messengers went and told the men of Jabesh; and they were glad.

10 Then the men of Jabesh said, "[a]Tomorrow we will come out to you, and you may do to us whatever seems good [1]to you."

11 The next morning Saul put the people [a]in three companies; and they came into the midst of the camp at the morning watch and struck down the Ammonites until the heat of the day. Those who survived were scattered, so that no two of them were left together.

12 Then the people said to Samuel, "[a]Who is he that said, 'Shall Saul reign over us?' [1b]Bring the men, that we may put them to death."

13 But Saul said, "[a]Not a man shall be put to death this day, for today [b]the LORD has accomplished deliverance in Israel."

14 Then Samuel said to the people, "Come and let us go to [a]Gilgal and [b]renew the kingdom there."

15 So all the people went to Gilgal, and there they made Saul king [a]before the LORD in Gilgal. There they also [b]offered sacrifices of peace offerings before the LORD; and there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced greatly.

Samuel Addresses Israel

12 Then Samuel said to all Israel, "Behold, [a]I have listened to your voice in all that you said to me and I [b]have [1]appointed a king over you.

2 "Now, [a]here is the king walking before you, but [b]I am old and gray, and behold [c]my sons are with you. And [d]I have walked before you from my youth even to this day.

3 "Here I am; bear witness against me before the LORD and [a]His anointed. [b]Whose ox have I taken, or whose donkey have I taken, or whom have I defrauded? Whom have I oppressed, or [c]from whose hand have I taken a bribe to blind my eyes with it? I will restore it to you."

4 They said, "You have not defrauded us or oppressed us or taken anything from any man's hand."

5 He said to them, "The LORD is witness against you, and His anointed is witness this day that [a]you have found nothing [b]in my hand." And they said, "He is witness."

6 Then Samuel said to the people, "It is 11:6 the Spirit of God came upon Saul mightily. For similar endowment of Israel's deliverers with extraordinary vigor by God's Spirit see 10:6,10; Judg 14:6,19; 15:14.

11:7 sent them throughout . . . Israel. For a similar case see Judg 19:29.

11:8 Bezek. Located north of Shechem, west of the Jordan River but within striking distance of Jabesh-gilead.

11:13 the LORD has accomplished deliverance in Israel. Saul recognizes Israel's true deliverer (see note on 10:18). The victory, in combination with Saul's confession, places yet another seal of divine approval on Saul as the man the Lord has chosen to be king.

11:14 let us go to Gilgal and renew the kingdom. Samuel perceives that it is now the appropriate time for the people to renew their allegiance to the Lord. The kingship of which he speaks is the Lord's, not Saul's. Samuel calls for an assembly to restore the covenant relationship between the Lord and His people. He wants to inaugurate Saul's rule in a manner demonstrating that the continued rule of the Lord as Israel's Great King is in no way diminished or violated in the new era of the monarchy (see Introduction: Contents and Theme). Verses 14–15 are a brief synopsis of the Gilgal assembly and are prefaced to the more detailed account of the same assembly in ch. 12. Gilgal. Located east of Jericho near the Jordan River. It was a particularly appropriate place for Israel to renew her allegiance to the Lord (see Josh 4:19–5:11; 10:8–15).

11:15 made Saul king before the LORD. Saul had previously been anointed in private by Samuel at Ramah (10:1) and publicly selected as the king-designate at Mizpah (10:17–27). In the subsequent Ammonite crisis (vv. 1–13) his leadership did not rest on public recognition of his royal authority, but on the military victory. Now at Gilgal Saul is inaugurated as God's chosen king and formally assumes the privileges and responsibilities of this office. peace offerings. This type of offering was an important element in the original ceremony of covenant ratification at Sinai (Ex 24:5,11). It represented the communion or peace between the Lord and His people when the people lived in conformity with their covenant obligations (see Lev 7:11–17; 22:21–23). rejoiced greatly. Rejoicing is the expression of people who have renewed their commitment to the Lord, confessed their sin (see 12:19) and been given a king.

12:3 bear witness against me. When Samuel presents the newly inaugurated king to the people, he seeks to establish publicly his own past faithfulness to the covenant as leader of the nation. His purpose is to exonerate himself and provide an example for Saul in his new responsibilities. Whose ox have I taken, or whose donkey have I taken . . . ? See Ex 20:17; 22:1,4,9. Samuel has not used his position for personal gain (see Num 16:15). whom have I defrauded? Whom have I oppressed . . . ? See Lev 19:13; Deut 24:14. from whose hand have I taken a bribe . . . ? See Ex 23:8; Deut 16:19.

12:6 Samuel said to the people. Samuel turns from consideration of his previous leadership to the matter of the people's request for a king, which he views as a covenant-breaking act and a serious apostasy. It is the LORD. Samuel emphasizes that in the past the Lord had provided the necessary leadership for the nation.

the LORD who [1][a]appointed Moses and Aaron and who brought your fathers up from the land of Egypt.

7 "So now, take your stand, [a]that I may plead with you before the LORD concerning all the righteous acts of the LORD which He did for you and your fathers.

8 "[a]When Jacob went into Egypt and [b]your fathers cried out to the LORD, then [c]the LORD sent Moses and Aaron [1][d]who brought your fathers out of Egypt and settled them in this place.

9 "But [a]they forgot the LORD their God, so [b]He sold them into the hand of Sisera, captain of the army of Hazor, and [c]into the hand of the Philistines and [d]into the hand of the king of Moab, and they fought against them.

10 "[a]They cried out to the LORD and said, 'We have sinned because we have forsaken the LORD and have served [b]the Baals and the Ashtaroth; but [c]now deliver us from the hands of our enemies, and we will serve You.'

11 "Then the LORD sent [a]Jerubbaal and [1][b]Bedan and [c]Jephthah and [d]Samuel, and delivered you from the hands of your enemies all around, so that you lived in security.

The King Confirmed

12 "When you saw [a]that Nahash the king of the sons of Ammon came against you, you said to me, '[b]No, but a king shall reign over us,' [c]although the LORD your God was your king.

13 "Now therefore, [a]here is the king whom you have chosen, [b]whom you have asked for, and behold, the LORD has set a king over you.

14 "[a]If you will fear the LORD and serve Him, and listen to His voice and not rebel against the [1]command of the LORD, then both you and also the king who reigns over you will follow the LORD your God.

15 "[a]If you will not listen to the voice of the LORD, but rebel against the [1]command of the LORD, then [b]the hand of the LORD will be against you, [c]as it was against your fathers.

16 "Even now, [a]take your stand and see this great thing which the LORD will do before your eyes.

17 "[a]Is it not the wheat harvest today? [b]I will call to the LORD, that He may send [1]thunder and rain. Then you will know and see that [c]your wickedness is great which you have done in the sight of the LORD by asking for yourselves a king."

18 So Samuel called to the LORD, and the LORD sent [1]thunder and rain that day; and [a]all the people greatly feared the LORD and Samuel.

19 Then all the people said to Samuel, "[a]Pray for your servants to the LORD your God, so that we may not die, for we have added to all our sins [b]this evil by asking for ourselves a king."

20 Samuel said to the people, "Do not fear. You have committed all this evil, yet [a]do not turn aside from following the LORD, but serve the LORD with all your heart.

21 "You must not turn aside, for then you would go after [a]futile things which can not profit or deliver, because they are futile.

22 "For [a]the LORD will not abandon His

12:7 plead with you. The terminology is that of a legal proceeding, as in vv. 2–5, but now the relationship of the parties is reversed. This time Samuel is the accuser, the people are the defendants, and the Lord is the Judge. righteous acts of the LORD. These righteous acts (see vv. 8–11) demonstrate the constancy of the Lord's covenant faithfulness toward His people in the past and, by way of contrast, serve as an indictment of their present apostasy.

12:11 LORD . . . delivered you. The Lord repeatedly delivered Israel from her enemies right up to Samuel's own lifetime (see 7:3,8,10,12), demonstrating again the people's apostasy in desiring a king.

12:12 When you saw that Nahash . . . came against you. In the face of the combined threat from the Philistines in the west (9:16) and the Ammonites in the east (11:1–13), the Israelites sought to find security in the person of a human king. the LORD your God was your king. The Israelite desire for and trust in a human leader constituted a rejection of the kingship of the Lord and betrayed a loss of confidence in His care, in spite of His faithfulness during the time of the exodus, conquest and judges (see note on 8:7).

12:13 the LORD has set a king over you. In spite of the sinfulness of the people's request, the Lord had chosen to incorporate kingship into the structure of the theocracy (His kingdom). Kingship was given by the Lord to His people and was to function as an instrument of His rule over them (see Introduction: Contents and Theme).

12:14 If you will fear the LORD. Samuel relates the old covenant condition (see Ex 19:5–6; Deut 8:19; 11:13–15,22–28; 28; 30:17–18; Josh 24:20) to the new era Israel is entering with the establishment of the monarchy. you and also the king . . . will follow the LORD your God. Israel and her king are to demonstrate that although human kingship has been established, they will continue to recognize the Lord as their true King. In this new era where potential for divided loyalty between the Lord and the human king arises, Israel's loyalty to the Lord must remain inviolate. For similar use of the expression "to follow" see 2 Sam 2:10; 15:13; 1 Kin 12:20; 16:21.

12:15 If you will not listen. Samuel confronts Israel with the same alternatives Moses had expressed centuries earlier (see Deut 28; 30:15–20). The introduction of kingship into Israel's socio-political structure has not changed the fundamental nature of Israel's relationship to the Lord.

12:16 see this great thing. Samuel calls the people to observe as the Lord Himself demonstrates His existence and power and authenticates the truthfulness and seriousness of Samuel's words.

12:17 wheat harvest. See note on 6:13.

12:19 Pray . . . to the LORD your God. Samuel's indictment (vv. 6–15) combined with the awesome sign of thunder and rain in the dry season (vv. 16–18) prompted the people to confess their sin and request Samuel's intercession for them.

12:20 yet do not turn aside from following the LORD. Samuel again brings into focus the central issue in the controversy surrounding the establishment of kingship in Israel.

12:21 futile things. No rivals to the Lord can deliver or guarantee security.

people [b]on account of His great name, because the LORD [c]has been pleased to make you a people for Himself.

23 "Moreover, as for me, [a]far be it from me that I should sin against the LORD by ceasing to pray for you; but [b]I will instruct you in the good and right way.

24 "[a]Only [1]fear the LORD and serve Him in truth with all your heart; for consider [b]what great things He has done for you.

25 "[a]But if you still do wickedly, [b]both you and your king [c]will be swept away."

War with the Philistines

13 Saul was [1]thirty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned [2]forty two years over Israel.

2 Now Saul chose for himself 3,000 men of Israel, of which 2,000 were with Saul in [a]Michmash and in the hill country of Bethel, while 1,000 were with Jonathan at [b]Gibeah of Benjamin. But he sent away the rest of the people, each to his tent.

3 Jonathan smote [a]the garrison of the Philistines that was in [b]Geba, and the Philistines heard of it. Then Saul [c]blew the trumpet throughout the land, saying, "Let the Hebrews hear."

4 All Israel heard [1]the news that Saul had smitten the garrison of the Philistines, and also that Israel [a]had become odious to the Philistines. The people were then summoned [2]to Saul at Gilgal.

5 Now the Philistines assembled to fight with Israel, 30,000 chariots and 6,000 horsemen, and [a]people like the sand which is on the seashore in abundance; and they came up and camped in Michmash, east of [b]Beth-aven.

6 When the men of Israel saw that they were in a strait (for the people were hard-pressed), then [a]the people hid themselves in caves, in thickets, in cliffs, in cellars, and in pits.

7 Also some of the Hebrews crossed the Jordan into the land of [a]Gad and Gilead. But as for Saul, he was still in Gilgal, and all the people followed him trembling.

8 Now [a]he waited seven days, according to the appointed time set by Samuel, but Samuel did not come to Gilgal; and the people were scattering from him.

9 So Saul said, "Bring to me the burnt offering and the peace offerings." And [a]he offered the burnt offering.

10 As soon as he finished offering the burnt offering, behold, Samuel came; and [a]Saul went out to meet him and to [1]greet him.

11 But Samuel said, "What have you done?" And Saul said, "Because I saw that the people were scattering from me, and that you did not come within the appointed days, and that [a]the Philistines were assembling at Michmash, 12 therefore I said, 'Now the Philistines will come down against me at Gilgal, and I have not asked the favor of the LORD.' So I forced myself and offered the burnt offering."

13 Samuel said to Saul, "[a]You have acted foolishly; [b]you have not kept the commandment of the LORD your God, which He commanded you, for now the LORD would have established your kingdom [1]over Israel [c]forever.

14 "But [a]now your kingdom shall not endure. [b]The LORD has sought out for Himself a man after His own heart, and the LORD has appointed him as ruler over His people, because you have not kept what the LORD commanded you."

12:23 I will instruct you in the good and right way. Samuel is not retiring from his prophetic role when he presents the people with their king. He will continue to intercede for the people (see v. 19; 7:8–9) and will instruct them in their covenant obligations (see Deut 6:18; 12:28). Saul and all future kings are to be subject to instruction and correction by the Lord's prophets.

12:24 fear the LORD. Samuel summarizes Israel's obligation of loyalty to the Lord as an expression of gratitude for the great things He has done for them.

12:25 you and your king will be swept away. Should the nation persist in covenant-breaking conduct, it will bring upon itself its own destruction.

13:1 thirty years old . . . forty two years. The wording of the verse follows the regularly used formula that introduces the reigns of later kings (see, e.g., 2 Sam 2:10; 5:4; 1 Kin 14:21; 2 Kin 8:26).

13:2 Michmash. Located southeast of Bethel and northeast of Gibeah near a pass (see v. 23). Jonathan. Saul's oldest son (see 14:49), mentioned here for the first time.

13:3 Geba. Located across a ravine and south of Michmash.

13:4 odious. A metaphor depicting an object of strong hostility, as in 2 Sam 10:6; 16:21; Gen 34:30; Ex 5:21. Gilgal. See note on 11:14. By prearrangement Saul had been instructed to wait for Samuel there (see notes on v. 8; 10:8).

13:5 30,000 chariots. The Canaanites under Sisera (see Judg 4:13) had 900 chariots. The Israelites did not acquire chariots until the time of Solomon (see 1 Kin 4:26).

13:8 time set by Samuel. See note on 10:8. Saul is fully aware that Samuel's previous instructions had reference to this gathering at Gilgal. the people were scattering. The seven-day delay heightened the fear of the Israelite soldiers.

13:9 Saul . . . offered the burnt offering. Samuel had promised to make these offerings himself (see 10:8) before Israel went to battle (see 7:9), and he had directed Saul to await his arrival and instructions.

13:13 You have acted foolishly. The foolish and sinful aspect (see 26:21; 2 Sam 24:10; 1 Chr 21:8; 2 Chr 16:9) of Saul's act was that he thought he could strengthen Israel's chances against the Philistines while disregarding the instruction of the Lord's prophet Samuel. you have not kept the commandment of the LORD your God. Saul was to recognize the word of the prophet Samuel as the word of the Lord (see 3:20; 15:1; Ex 20:18–19; see also note on Ex 7:1–2). In disobeying Samuel's instructions, Saul violated a fundamental requirement of his theocratic office. His kingship was not to function independently of the law and the prophets (see notes on 12:14,23; 15:11).

13:14 your kingdom shall not endure. Saul will not be followed by his sons; there will be no dynasty bearing his name (contrast the Lord's word to David, 2 Sam 7:11–16). There is a striking parallel in the word of the Lord to Eli (see 2:30,35). The LORD has 15 Then Samuel arose and went up from Gilgal to [a]Gibeah of Benjamin. And Saul [1]numbered the people who were present with him, [b]about six hundred men.

16 Now Saul and his son Jonathan and the people who were present with them were staying in [a]Geba of Benjamin while the Philistines camped at Michmash.

17 And [a]the [1]raiders came from the camp of the Philistines in three [2]companies: one [3]company turned [4]toward [b]Ophrah, to the land of Shual,

18 and another [1]company turned [2]toward [a]Beth-horon, and another [1]company turned [2]toward the border which overlooks the valley of [b]Zeboim toward the wilderness.

19 Now [a]no blacksmith could be found in all the land of Israel, for the Philistines said, "Otherwise the Hebrews will make [1][b]swords or spears."

20 So all Israel went down to the Philistines, each to sharpen his plowshare, his mattock, his axe, and his hoe.

21 The charge was [1]two-thirds of a shekel for the plowshares, the mattocks, the forks, and the axes, and to fix the hoes.

22 So it came about on the day of battle that [a]neither sword nor spear was found in the hands of any of the people who were with Saul and Jonathan, but they were found with Saul and his son Jonathan.

23 And [a]the garrison of the Philistines went out to [b]the pass of Michmash.

Jonathan's Victory

14 Now the day came that Jonathan, the son of Saul, said to the young man who was carrying his armor, "Come and let us cross over to the Philistines' garrison that is on the other side." But he did not tell his father.

2 Saul was staying in the outskirts of [a]Gibeah under the pomegranate tree which is in [b]Migron. And the people who were with him were [c]about six hundred men,

3 and Ahijah, the [a]son of Ahitub, [b]Ichabod's brother, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eli, the priest of the LORD at [c]Shiloh, [d]was [1]wearing an ephod. And the people did not know that Jonathan had gone.

4 [a]Between the passes by which Jonathan sought to cross over to the Philistines' garrison, there was a sharp crag on the one side and a sharp crag on the other side, and the name of the one was Bozez, and the name of the other Seneh.

5 The one crag rose on the north opposite Michmash, and the other on the south opposite Geba.

6 Then Jonathan said to the young man who was carrying his armor, "Come and let us cross over to the garrison of [a]these uncircumcised; perhaps the LORD will work for us, for [b]the LORD is not restrained to save by many or by few."

7 His armor bearer said to him, "Do all that is in your heart; turn yourself, and here I am with you according to your [1]desire."

8 Then Jonathan said, "[a]Behold, we will cross over to the men and reveal ourselves to them.

9 "If they [1]say to us, 'Wait until we come to you'; then we will stand in our place and not go up to them.

10 "But if they [1]say, 'Come up to us,' then we will go up, for the LORD has given them into our hands; and [a]this shall be the sign to us."

11 When both of them revealed themselves to the garrison of the Philistines, the Philistines said, "Behold, [a]Hebrews are coming out of the holes where they have hidden themselves."

12 So the men of the garrison [1]hailed Jonathan and his armor bearer and said, "Come up to us and [a]we will tell you something." And Jonathan said to his armor bearer, "Come up after me, for [b]the LORD has given them into the hands of Israel."

13 Then Jonathan climbed up on his hands and feet, with his armor bearer behind him; and they fell before Jonathan, and his armor bearer put some to death after him.

sought out . . . a man after His own heart, and . . . appointed him. Paul quotes from this passage at Antioch (Acts 13:22). ruler. See 10:16 and note on "prince" in 9:16 (same word in Hebrew).

13:15 six hundred. The seven-day delay had greatly depleted Saul's forces (see vv. 2,4,6–8).

13:17 raiders. The purpose of these Philistine contingents was not to engage the Israelites in battle, but to plunder the land and demoralize its inhabitants.

13:18 valley of Zeboim. Located to the east toward the Jordan Valley.

13:19 no blacksmith. A Philistine monopoly on the technology of iron production placed the Israelites at a great disadvantage in the fashioning and maintenance of agricultural implements and military weapons.

13:22 neither sword nor spear. The Israelites fought with bow and arrow and slingshot.

14:1 on the other side. The Philistines were encamped to the north of the pass and the Israelites to the south.

14:2 Gibeah. Saul had retreated farther south from Geba (13:3) to Gibeah. under the pomegranate tree. It appears to have been customary for leaders in early Israel to hold court under well-known trees (see 22:6; Jdg 4:5).

14:3 Ahijah. Either the brother and predecessor of Ahimelech son of Ahitub (referred to in 21:1; 22:9,11) or an alternate name for Ahimelech. Ichabod's brother. See 4:21. wearing an ephod. See note on 2:28.

14:6 uncircumcised. A term of contempt (see 17:26,36; 31:4; 2 Sam 1:20; Judg 14:3; 15:18; 1 Chr 10:4), which draws attention to Israel's covenant relationship to the Lord (see note on Gen 17:10) and, by implication, to the illegitimacy of the Philistine presence in the land. by many or by few. See note on 17:47. Jonathan's bold plan is undertaken as an act of faith (cf. Heb 11:33–34) founded on God's promise (9:16).

14:10 sign to us. See Judg 6:36–40; Is 7:11.

14:11 Hebrews. See 4:6; 13:3,7 and note on Gen 14:13.

14 That first slaughter which Jonathan and his armor bearer made was about twenty men within about half a furrow in an acre of land.

15 And there was a trembling in the camp, in the field, and among all the people. Even the garrison and [a]the raiders trembled, and [b]the earth quaked so [c]that it became a [1]great trembling.

16 Now Saul's watchmen in Gibeah of Benjamin looked, and behold, the multitude melted away; and they went here and there.

17 Saul said to the people who were with him, "[1]Number now and see who has gone from us." And when they had [1]numbered, behold, Jonathan and his armor bearer were not there.

18 Then Saul said to Ahijah, "[a]Bring the ark of God here." For the ark of God was at that time with the sons of Israel.

19 [a]While Saul talked to the priest, the commotion in the camp of the Philistines continued and increased; so Saul said to the priest, "Withdraw your hand."

20 Then Saul and all the people who were with him rallied and came to the battle; and behold, [a]every man's sword was against his fellow, and there was very great confusion.

21 Now the Hebrews who were with the Philistines previously, who went up with them all around in the camp, even [a]they also turned to be with the Israelites who were with Saul and Jonathan.

22 When all the [a]men of Israel who had hidden themselves in the hill country of Ephraim heard that the Philistines had fled, even they also pursued them closely in the battle.

23 So [a]the LORD delivered Israel that day, and the battle [1]spread beyond [b]Beth-aven.

Saul's Foolish Order

24 Now the men of Israel were hard-pressed on that day, for Saul had [a]put the people under oath, saying, "Cursed be the man who eats food [1]before evening, and until I have avenged myself on my enemies." So none of the people tasted food.

25 All the people of the land entered the forest, and there was honey on the ground.

26 When the people entered the forest, behold, [a]there was a flow of honey; but no man put his hand to his mouth, for the people feared the oath.

27 But Jonathan had not heard when his father put the people under oath; therefore, [a]he put out the end of the staff that was in his hand and dipped it in the honeycomb, and put his hand to his mouth, and [b]his eyes brightened.

28 Then one of the people said, "Your father strictly put the people under oath, saying, 'Cursed be the man who eats food today.' " And the people were weary.

29 Then Jonathan said, "[a]My father has troubled the land. See now, how my eyes have brightened because I tasted a little of this honey.

30 "How much more, if only the people had eaten freely today of the spoil of their enemies which they found! For now the slaughter among the Philistines has not been great."

31 They struck among the Philistines that day from [a]Michmash to [b]Aijalon. And the people were very weary.

14:15 earth quaked. See 7:10; Josh 10:11–14; Ps 77:18 for other instances of divine intervention in nature to bring deliverance to Israel.

14:18 Bring the ark of God. Saul decides to seek God's will before entering into battle with the Philistines (see Num 27:21; Deut 20:2). Here the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) may preserve the original text ("'Bring the ephod.' At that time he wore the ephod before the Israelites") for the following reasons: 1. In 7:1 the ark was located at Kiriath-jearim, where it remained until David brought it to Jerusalem (2 Sam 6), but the ephod was present in Saul's camp at Gibeah (see v. 3). 2. Nowhere else in the OT is the ark used to determine God's will, but the ephod (with the Urim and Thummim) was given for this purpose (see 23:9; 30:7 and notes on 2:18,28). 3. The command to the priest to withdraw his hand (v. 19) is more appropriate with the ephod than with the ark.

14:19 Withdraw your hand. Due to the urgency of the moment, Saul decides that to wait for the word of the Lord might jeopardize his military advantage. As in 13:8–12, his decision rests on his own insight rather than on dependence upon the Lord and a commitment to obey Him.

14:23 So the LORD delivered Israel that day. The writer attributes the victory to the Lord, not to either Saul or Jonathan (see vv. 6,10,15; 11:13).

14:24–46 Following the account of the great victory the Lord had given, the author relates Saul's actions that strikingly illustrated his lack of fitness to be king. This foolish curse before the battle (see note on v. 24) made the army "hard-pressed" and, as Jonathan tellingly observed, "troubled the land" (v. 29) rather than contributing to the victory. And later, when hindered from taking advantage of the battle's outcome by the Lord's refusal to answer (v. 37), Saul was ready to execute Jonathan as the cause, though Jonathan had contributed most to the victory, as everyone else recognized (v. 45). Saul's growing egocentrism was turning into an all-consuming passion that threatened the very welfare of the nation. Rather than serving the cause of the Lord and His people, he was in fact becoming a king "like all the nations" (8:5).

14:24 hard-pressed. Saul's rash action in requiring his troops to fast placed them at an unnecessary disadvantage in the battle (see vv. 29–30). Cursed. Thus Saul as king "put the people under oath" (v. 28), a most serious matter because an oath directly invoked God's involvement, whether it concerned giving testimony (Ex 20:7; Lev 19:12), making commitments (Gen 21:23–24; 24:3–4) or prohibiting action (here; Josh 6:24). It appealed to God as the supreme enforcement power and the all-knowing Judge of human actions. I have avenged myself on my enemies. Saul perceives the conflict with the Philistines more as a personal vendetta (see note on 15:12) than as a battle for the honor of the Lord and the security of the Lord's people (note the contrast between his attitude and that of Jonathan in vv. 6,10,12).

14:31 Aijalon. Located to the west near the Philistines' own territory (see Josh 10:12).

32 [a]The people [1]rushed greedily upon the spoil, and took sheep and oxen and calves, and slew them on the ground; and the people ate them [b]with the blood.

33 Then they told Saul, saying, "Behold, the people are [a]sinning against the LORD by eating with the blood." And he said, "You have acted treacherously; roll a great stone to me today."

34 Saul said, "Disperse yourselves among the people and say to them, 'Each one of you bring me his ox or his sheep, and slaughter it here and eat; and do not sin against the LORD by eating with the blood.' " So all the people that night brought each one his ox [1]with him and slaughtered it there.

35 And [a]Saul built an altar to the LORD; it was the first altar that he built to the LORD.

36 Then Saul said, "Let us go down after the Philistines by night and take spoil among them until the morning light, and let us not leave a man of them." And they said, "Do whatever seems good [1]to you." So [a]the priest said, "Let us draw near to God here."

37 Saul [a]inquired of God, "Shall I go down after the Philistines? Will You give them into the hand of Israel?" But [b]He did not answer him on that day.

38 Saul said, "[a]Draw near here, all you [1]chiefs of the people, and investigate and see how this sin has happened today.

39 "For [a]as the LORD lives, who delivers Israel, though it is in Jonathan my son, he shall surely die." But not one of all the people answered him.

40 Then he said to all Israel, "You shall be on one side and I and Jonathan my son will be on the other side." And the people said to Saul, "Do what seems good [1]to you."

41 Therefore, Saul said to the LORD, the God of Israel, "[a]Give a perfect lot." And Jonathan and Saul were taken, but the people escaped.

42 Saul said, "Cast lots between me and Jonathan my son." And Jonathan was taken.

43 Then Saul said to Jonathan, "[a]Tell me what you have done." So Jonathan told him and said, "[b]I indeed tasted a little honey with the end of the staff that was in my hand. Here I am, I must die!"

44 Saul said, "[a]May God do [1]this to me and more also, for [b]you shall surely die, Jonathan."

45 But the people said to Saul, "Must Jonathan die, who has [1]brought about this great deliverance in Israel? Far from it! As the LORD lives, [a]not one hair of his head shall fall to the ground, for [b]he has worked with God this day." So the people [2]rescued Jonathan and he did not die.

46 Then Saul went up from [1]pursuing the Philistines, and the Philistines went to their own place.

Constant Warfare

47 Now when Saul had taken the kingdom over Israel, he fought against all his enemies on every side, against Moab, [a]the sons of Ammon, Edom, [b]the kings of Zobah, and [c]the Philistines; and wherever he turned, he [1]inflicted punishment.

48 He acted valiantly and [1a]defeated the Amalekites, and delivered Israel from the hands of [2]those who plundered them.

49 Now [a]the sons of Saul were Jonathan and Ishvi and Malchi-shua; and the names of his two daughters were these: the name of the firstborn [b]Merab and the name of the younger [c]Michal.

50 The name of Saul's wife was Ahinoam the daughter of Ahimaaz. And [a]the name of the captain of his army was Abner the son of Ner, Saul's uncle.

51 [a]Kish was the father of Saul, and Ner the father of Abner was the son of Abiel.

52 Now the war against the Philistines was severe all the days of Saul; and when Saul saw any mighty man or any valiant man, he [1a]attached him to [2]his staff.

Saul's Disobedience

15 Then Samuel said to Saul, "[a]The LORD sent me to anoint you as king over His people, over Israel; now therefore, listen to the [1]words of the LORD.

14:37 Saul inquired of God. The means of ascertaining God's will appears to have been the ephod with its Urim and Thummim (see v. 3 and note on v. 18). He did not answer. Because an oath had been broken in the battle, God refused to answer Saul's inquiry concerning further military action.

14:52 all the days of Saul. Closes the main account of Saul's reign. he attached him to his staff. Saul developed a special cadre of professional soldiers bound to himself, much as David was to do later (see 22:2; 23:13; 25:13; 27:2–3; 29:2; 30:1,9; 2 Sam 2:3; 5:6; 8:18; 15:18; 23:8–39).
15:1–35 The event that occasioned Saul's rejection. Although

2 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, 'I will [1]punish Amalek [a]for what he did to Israel, how he set himself against him on the way while he was coming up from Egypt.

3 'Now go and strike Amalek and [a]utterly destroy all that he has, and do not spare him; but [b]put to death both man and woman, child and infant, ox and sheep, camel and donkey.' "

4 Then Saul summoned the people and [1]numbered them in [a]Telaim, 200,000 foot soldiers and 10,000 men of Judah.

5 Saul came to the city of Amalek and set an ambush in the valley.

6 Saul said to [a]the Kenites, "Go, depart, go down from among the Amalekites, so that I do not destroy you with them; for [b]you showed kindness to all the sons of Israel when they came up from Egypt." So the Kenites departed from among the Amalekites.

7 So [a]Saul [1]defeated the Amalekites, from [b]Havilah as you go to [c]Shur, which is [2]east of Egypt.

8 He captured [a]Agag the king of the Amalekites alive, and [b]utterly destroyed all the people with the edge of the sword.

9 But Saul and the people [a]spared Agag and the best of the sheep, the oxen, the fatlings, the lambs, and all that was good, and were not willing to destroy them utterly; but everything despised and worthless, that they utterly destroyed.

Samuel Rebukes Saul

10 Then the word of the LORD came to Samuel, saying,

11 "[a]I regret that I have made Saul king, for [b]he has turned back from [1]following Me and has not carried out My commands." And Samuel was distressed and [c]cried out to the LORD all night.

12 Samuel rose early in the morning to meet Saul; and it was told Samuel, saying, "Saul came to [a]Carmel, and behold, he set up a monument for himself, then turned and proceeded on [1]down to [b]Gilgal."

13 Samuel came to Saul, and Saul said to him, "[a]Blessed are you of the LORD! I have carried out the command of the LORD."

14 But Samuel said, "[a]What then is this [1]bleating of the sheep in my ears, and the [1]lowing of the oxen which I hear?"

15 Saul said, "They have brought them from the Amalekites, for [a]the people spared the best of the sheep and oxen, to sacrifice to the LORD your God; but the rest we have utterly destroyed."

16 Then Samuel said to Saul, "Wait, and let me tell you what the LORD said to me last night." And he said to him, "Speak!"

17 Samuel said, "Is it not true, [a]though you were little in your own eyes, you were made the head of the tribes of Israel? And the LORD anointed you king over Israel,

18 and the LORD sent you on a [1]mission, and said, '[a]Go and utterly destroy the sinners, the Amalekites, and fight against them until they are exterminated.'

no time designation is given, it evidently occurred after the conflicts of 14:47, in a time of relative peace and security. It is likely that David was anointed (16:1–13) shortly after the rejection of Saul (vv. 22,26,28), thus c. 1025 B.C.

15:2 Amalek. A Bedouin people descended from Esau (see Gen 36:12,16) usually located in the Negev and Sinai regions (see 27:8; 30:1; Gen 14:7; Ex 17:8; Num 13:29). what he did to Israel. See Ex 17:8–13; Num 14:43, 45; Deut 25:17–19; cf. Judg 3:13; 6:3–5,33; 7:12; 10:12.

15:3 utterly destroy. See notes on Lev 27:28–29; Deut 2:34; Josh 6:17–18; see also Deut 13:12–18. Saul is given an opportunity as king to demonstrate his allegiance to the Lord by obedience in this assigned task.

15:4 Telaim. Probably the same as Telem in Josh 15:24, located in the southern part of Judah.

15:5 city of Amalek. A settlement of Amalekites, most likely located between Telaim and Kadesh-barnea, possibly the residence of their king.

15:6 Kenites. A Bedouin people of the Sinai, closely related to the Midianites. Moses had married a Kenite woman (see Ex 2:16,21–22; Num 10:29; Judg 1:16; 4:11), and some of the Kenites had accompanied the Israelites when they settled in the land of Canaan (see 27:10; Judg 1:16; 4:17–23; 5:24; 1 Chr 2:55).

15:7 Havilah . . . to Shur. The location of Havilah is uncertain. Shur was on the eastern frontier of Egypt (see 27:8; Gen 16:7; 20:1). Ishmael's descendants occupied this area (see Gen 25:18).

15:8 all the people. All the Amalekites they encountered. Some Amalekites survived (see 27:8; 30:1,18; 2 Sam 8:12; 1 Chr 4:43).

15:9 When Israel refused to obey the Lord's command (v. 3), their holy war against the Amalekites degenerated into personal aggrandizement, much like that of Achan at the time of the conquest of Canaan (see Josh 7:1). Giving to the Lord by destruction only what was despised and weak was a contemptible act (see Mal 1:7–12), not to be excused (see v. 19) by the protestation that the best had been preserved for sacrifice to the Lord (vv. 15,21).

15:11 regret. See note on v. 29. he has turned back from following Me. A violation of the fundamental requirement of his office as king (see notes on 12:14–15).

15:12 Carmel. Located about seven miles south of Hebron (see 25:2; Josh 15:55). monument for himself. Saul's self-glorification here contrasts sharply with his self-abasement after the victory over the Ammonites (see note on 11:13; cf. v. 17; 2 Sam 18:18). Gilgal. Saul returns to the place where he was inaugurated and instructed in the responsibilities of his office (see 11:14–12:25). This was also the place where he had been told that he would not have a continuing dynasty because of his disobedience (see 13:13–14).

15:13 I have carried out the command of the LORD. Here and in v. 20 Saul is clearly less than honest in his statements to Samuel.

15:15 the people spared the best . . . to sacrifice. Saul attempts to shift responsibility from himself to the people and to excuse their action by claiming pious intentions. the LORD your God. Saul's use of the pronoun "your" instead of "my" here and in vv. 21,30 indicates an awareness of his own alienation from the Lord (see 12:19 for a similar case), even though he speaks of obedience and the intent to honor God by sacrifice.

15:17 you were little in your own eyes. See 9:21; 10:22.

20 Then Saul said to Samuel, "[a]I did obey the voice of the LORD, and went on the [1]mission on which the LORD sent me, and have brought back Agag the king of Amalek, and have utterly destroyed the Amalekites.

21 "But [a]the people took some of the spoil, sheep and oxen, the choicest of the things devoted to destruction, to sacrifice to the LORD your God at Gilgal."

22 Samuel said,

"[a]Has the LORD as much delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices
As in obeying the voice of the LORD?
Behold, [b]to obey is better than sacrifice,
And to heed than the fat of rams.

23 "For rebellion is as the sin of
[a]divination,
And insubordination is as [b]iniquity and idolatry.
Because you have rejected the word of the LORD,
[c]He has also rejected you from being king."

24 Then Saul said to Samuel, "[a]I have sinned; [b]I have indeed transgressed the [1]command of the LORD and your words, because I feared the people and listened to their voice.

25 "Now therefore, [a]please pardon my sin and return with me, that I may worship the LORD."

26 But Samuel said to Saul, "I will not return with you; for [a]you have rejected the word of the LORD, and the LORD has rejected you from being king over Israel."

27 As Samuel turned to go, [a]Saul seized the edge of his robe, and it tore.

31 So Samuel went back following Saul, and Saul worshiped the LORD.

32 Then Samuel said, "Bring me Agag, the king of the Amalekites." And Agag came to him [1]cheerfully. And Agag said, "Surely the bitterness of death is past."

33 But Samuel said, "[a]As your sword has made women childless, so shall your mother be childless among women." And Samuel hewed Agag to pieces before the LORD at Gilgal.

16 Now the LORD said to Samuel, "[a]How long will you grieve over Saul, since [b]I have rejected him from being king over Israel? [c]Fill your horn with oil and go; I will send you to [d]Jesse the Bethlehemite, for I have [e]selected a king for Myself among his sons."

2 But Samuel said, "How can I go? When

15:22 Samuel does not suggest that sacrifice is unimportant but that it is acceptable only when brought with an attitude of obedience and devotion to the Lord (see Ps 15; Is 1:11–17; Hos 6:6; Amos 5:21–27; Mic 6:6–8). fat of rams. The fat of sacrificed animals belonged to the Lord (see 2:15; Ex 23:18; Lev 3:14–16; 7:30).

15:23 rebellion. Samuel charges Saul with violating the central requirement of the covenant condition given to him when he became king (see 12:14–15). sin of divination. A serious offense against the Lord (see Lev 19:26; Deut 18:9–12), which Saul himself condemned (28:3,9). you have rejected the word of the LORD. A king who sets his own will above the command of the Lord ceases to be an instrument of the Lord's rule over His people, violating the very nature of his theocratic office. He has also rejected you from being king. The judgment here goes beyond the one given earlier (see note on 13:14). Now Saul himself is to be set aside as king. Although this did not happen immediately, as chs. 16–31 show, the process began that led to his death. It included in its relentless course the removal of God's Spirit and favor from him (16:14), the defection of his son Jonathan and daughter Michal to David, and the insubordination of his own officials (22:17).

15:24 Saul's confession retains an element of self-justification and a shift of blame (contrast David's confession, 2 Sam 12:13; Ps 51). Previously (vv. 15,21) he had attempted to justify the actions of those under him.

15:25 return with me. Saul's greatest concern was not to worship God but to avoid an open break with the prophet Samuel, a break that would undermine his authority as king (see v. 30).

15:28 your neighbor. David (see note on 13:14).

15:29 Glory of Israel. A title of God used elsewhere only in Mic 1:15 (but see note there), though in Ps 106:20 "glory" should probably be capitalized as referring to God (see note on 4:21). Cf. 2 Sam 1:19; Ps 89:17; Is 13:19. will not lie or change His mind. See Num 23:19; Ps 110:4; Jer 4:28; Mal 3:6 and notes. There is no conflict between this statement and vv. 11,35, where the Lord is said to "regret" that he had made Saul king. God has real emotions (one of the marks of personality).

15:31 So Samuel went back following Saul. Samuel's purpose in agreeing to Saul's request is not to honor Saul, but to carry out the divine sentence on Agag and in so doing to reemphasize Saul's neglect of duty.

15:34 Ramah. Samuel's home (see 7:17). Gibeah of Saul. See note on 10:5.

15:35 Samuel grieved. Samuel regarded Saul as if dead (see the use of "mourned" in 6:19). Even though his love for him remained (see v. 11; 16:1), he sought no further contact with him because God had rejected him as king. Saul did come to Samuel on one other occasion (see 19:24).

16:1 the LORD said to Samuel. Probably c. 1025 B.C. (see note on 15:1–35). Jesse. For Jesse's genealogy see Ruth 4:18–22; Matt 1:3–6. Bethlehemite. Bethlehem was a town five miles south of Jerusalem, formerly known as Ephrath (Gen 48:7). It was later to become renowned as the "city of David" (Luke 2:4) and the birthplace of Christ (Mic 5:2; Matt 2:1; Luke 2:4–7). I have selected a king . . . among his sons. See notes on 13:14; 15:28.

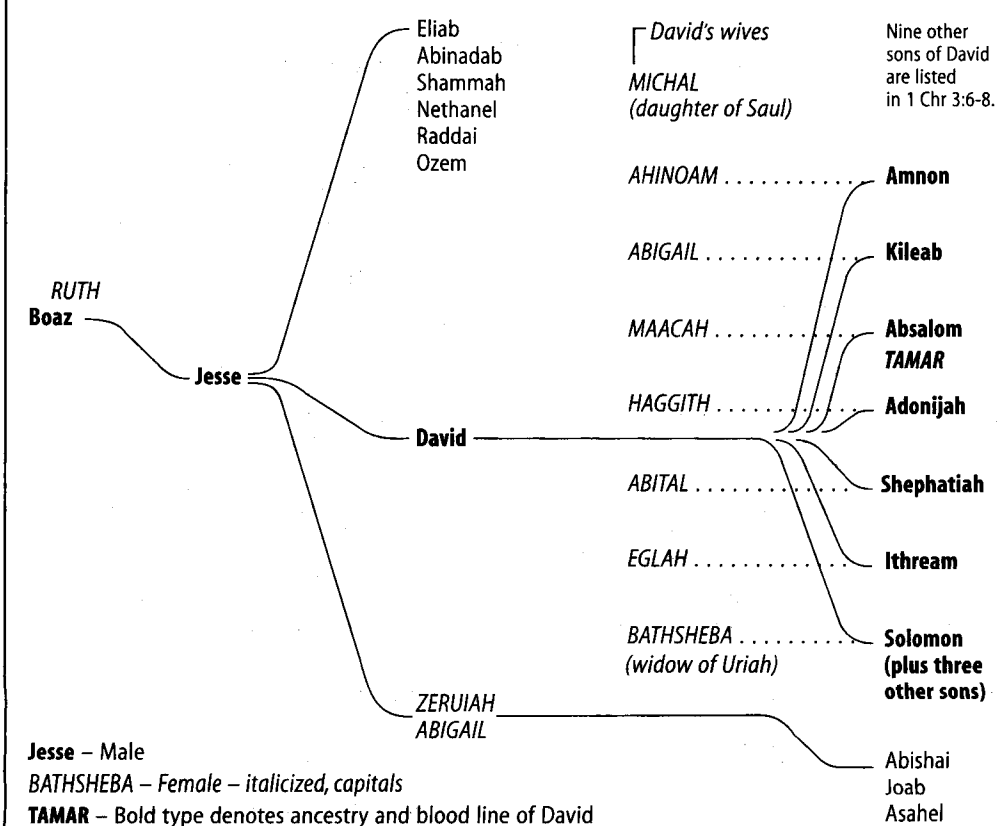
Saul hears of it, he will kill me." And the LORD said, "[a]Take a heifer with you and say, 'I have come to sacrifice to the LORD.'

3 "You shall invite Jesse to the sacrifice, and [a]I will show you what you shall do; and [b]you shall anoint for Me the one whom I [1]designate to you."

4 So Samuel did what the LORD said, and came to [a]Bethlehem. And the elders of the city came trembling to meet him and said, "[b]Do you come in peace?"

5 He said, "In peace; I have come to sacrifice to the LORD. [a]Consecrate yourselves and come with me to the sacrifice." He also consecrated Jesse and his sons and invited them to the sacrifice.

6 When they entered, he looked at [a]Eliab and thought, "Surely the LORD's anointed is before Him."



7 But the LORD said to Samuel, "Do not look at his appearance or at the height of his stature, because I have rejected him; for [1]God sees not as man sees, for man looks at the outward appearance, [a]but the LORD looks at the heart."

8 Then Jesse called [a]Abinadab and made him pass before Samuel. And he said, "The LORD has not chosen this one either."

16:2 Saul . . . will kill me. The road from Ramah (where Samuel was, 15:34) to Bethlehem passed through Gibeah of Saul. Saul already knew that the Lord had chosen someone to replace him as king (see 15:28). Samuel fears that jealousy will incite Saul to violence. Later incidents (18:10–11; 19:10; 20:33) demonstrate that Samuel's fears were well-founded. say, 'I have come to sacrifice to the LORD.' This response is true but incomplete, and it was intended to deceive Saul.
16:3 anoint. See note on 9:16.
16:5 Consecrate yourselves. Involves preparing oneself spiritually as well as making oneself ceremonially clean by washing and putting on clean clothes (see Ex 19:10,14; Lev 15; Num 19:11–22).
16:6 Eliab. Jesse's oldest son (17:13).
16:7 his appearance or at the height. Samuel is not to focus on these outward features, which had characterized Saul (see 9:2; 10:23–24). heart. The Lord is concerned with man's inner disposition and character (see 1 Kin 8:39; 1 Chr 28:9; Luke 16:15; John 2:25; Acts 1:24).
16:8 Abinadab. Jesse's second son.

David's Family Tree

9 Next Jesse made [1][a]Shammah pass by. And he said, "The LORD has not chosen this one either."

10 Thus Jesse made seven of his sons pass before Samuel. But Samuel said to Jesse, "The LORD has not chosen these."

11 And Samuel said to Jesse, "Are these all the children?" And he said, "[a]There remains yet the youngest, and behold, he is tending the sheep." Then Samuel said to Jesse, "Send and [1]bring him; for we will not sit down until he comes here."

David Anointed

12 So he sent and brought him in. Now he was ruddy, with [a]beautiful eyes and a handsome appearance. And the LORD said, "[b]Arise, anoint him; for this is he."

13 Then Samuel took the horn of oil and [a]anointed him in the midst of his brothers; and [b]the Spirit of the LORD came mightily upon David from that day forward. And Samuel arose and went to Ramah.

14 [a]Now the Spirit of the LORD departed from Saul, and [b]an evil spirit from the LORD terrorized him.

15 Saul's servants then said to him, "Behold now, an evil spirit from God is terrorizing you.

16 "Let our lord now command your servants who are before you. Let them seek a man who is a skillful player on the harp; and it shall come about when the evil spirit from God is on you, that [a]he shall play the harp with his hand, and you will be well."

17 So Saul said to his servants, "Provide for me now a man who can play well and bring him to me."

18 Then one of the young men said, "Behold, I have seen a son of Jesse the Bethlehemite who is a skillful musician, [a]a mighty man of valor, a warrior, one prudent in speech, and a handsome man; and [b]the LORD is with him."

19 So Saul sent messengers to Jesse and said, "Send me your son David who is with the flock."

20 Jesse [a]took a donkey loaded with bread and a jug of wine and a young goat, and sent them to Saul by David his son.

21 Then David came to Saul and [1][a]attended him; and [2]Saul loved him greatly, and he became his armor bearer.

22 Saul sent to Jesse, saying, "Let David now stand before me, for he has found favor in my sight."

23 So it came about whenever [a]the evil spirit from God came to Saul, David would take the harp and play it with his hand; and Saul would be refreshed and be well, and the evil spirit would depart from him.

Goliath's Challenge

17 Now [a]the Philistines gathered their armies for battle; and they were gathered at Socoh which belongs to Judah, and they camped between [b]Socoh and [c]Azekah, in [d]Ephes-dammim.

2 Saul and the men of Israel were gathered and camped in [a]the valley of Elah, and drew up in battle array to encounter the Philistines.

3 The Philistines stood on the mountain on one side while Israel stood on the mountain on the other side, with the valley between them.

4 Then a champion came out from the armies of the Philistines named [a]Goliath, 16:9 Shammah. Jesse's third son.

16:11 he is tending the sheep. The Lord's chosen one is a shepherd (see note on 9:3; see also 2 Sam 7:7–8; Ps 78:71–72).
16:13 in the midst of his brothers. The small circle of witnesses to David's anointing assured its confidentiality, but also provided ample testimony for the future that David had been anointed by Samuel and that he was not merely a usurper of Saul's office. the Spirit of the LORD came mightily upon David. See 10:5–6,10; 11:6; Judg 15:14.
16:14–17:58 In the next two episodes, David is introduced to Saul's court and to Israel as a gifted musician and warrior. With these two gifts he would become famous in Israel and would lead the nation to spiritual and political vigor (see 2 Sam 22; 23:1–7). Also through these two gifts Saul would become dependent upon David.
16:14 the Spirit of the LORD departed from Saul. Cf. Judg 16:20. The removal of the Spirit from Saul and the giving of the Spirit to David (v. 13) determined the contrasting courses of their lives. evil spirit from the LORD. This statement and similar ones in Scripture indicate that evil spirits are subject to God's control and operate only within divinely determined boundaries (see Judg 9:23; 1 Kin 22:19–23; Job 1:12; 2:6; compare 2 Sam 24:1 with 1 Chr 21:1). Saul's disobedience continued to be punished by the assaults of an evil spirit (vv. 15–16,23; 18:10; 19:9). terrorized him. Saul's increasing tendencies to despondency, jealousy and violence were no doubt occasioned by his knowledge of his rejection as king (see 13:13–14; 15:22–26; 18:9; 20:30–33; 22:16–18) and his awareness of David's growing popularity, but an evil spirit was also involved in these psychological aberrations (see 18:10–12; 19:9–10).
16:16 you will be well. The soothing effect of certain types of music on a troubled spirit is a generally recognized phenomenon (see 2 Kin 3:15). Beyond this natural effect of music, however, it would appear that in this instance the Spirit of the Lord was active in David's music to suppress the evil spirit temporarily (see v. 23).
16:19 Send me your son David. Saul unknowingly invites to the court the person God chose to be his replacement. In this way David is brought into contact with Saul, and his introduction to Israel begins.
16:21 David . . . became his armor bearer. May refer to a later time after David's victory over Goliath (see 18:2).
17:1 Socoh. Located about 15 miles west of Bethlehem (see 2 Chr 28:18) near the Philistine border. Azekah. Located a little over a mile northwest of Socoh. Ephes-dammim. Pas-dammim in 1 Chr 11:13 (see 2 Sam 23:9).
17:2 valley of Elah. Located between Azekah and Socoh along the Wadi es-Sant.
17:4 champion. The ancient Greeks, to whom the Philistines were apparently related, sometimes decided issues of war through chosen champions who met in combat between the armies. Through this economy of warriors the judgment of the 6 He also had bronze [1]greaves on his legs and a [a]bronze javelin slung between his shoulders.

7 [a]The shaft of his spear was like a weaver's beam, and the head of his spear weighed six hundred shekels of iron; [b]his shield-carrier also walked before him.

8 He stood and shouted to the ranks of Israel and said to them, "Why do you come out to draw up in battle array? Am I not the Philistine and you [a]servants of Saul? Choose a man for yourselves and let him come down to me.

9 "[a]If he is able to fight with me and [1]kill me, then we will become your servants; but if I prevail against him and [1]kill him, then you shall become our servants and serve us."

10 Again the Philistine said, "[a]I defy the ranks of Israel this day; give me a man that we may fight together."

11 When Saul and all Israel heard these words of the Philistine, they were dismayed and greatly afraid.

12 Now David was [a]the son of [1]the [b]Ephrathite of Bethlehem in Judah, whose name was Jesse, and [c]he had eight sons. And [2]Jesse was old in the days of Saul, advanced in years among men.

13 The three older sons of Jesse had [1]gone after Saul to the battle. And [a]the names of his three sons who went to the battle were Eliab the firstborn, and the second to him Abinadab, and the third Shammah.

14 [a]David was the youngest. Now the three oldest followed Saul,

15 [a]but David went back and forth from Saul [b]to tend his father's flock at Bethlehem.

16 The Philistine came [1]forward morning and evening for forty days and took his stand.

17 Then Jesse said to David his son, "[a]Take now for your brothers an ephah of this roasted grain and these ten loaves and run to the camp to your brothers.

18 "[a]Bring also these ten cuts of cheese to the commander of their thousand, [b]and look into the welfare of your brothers, and bring back [1]news of them.

19 "For Saul and they and all the men of Israel are in the valley of Elah, fighting with the Philistines."

David Accepts the Challenge

20 So David arose early in the morning and left the flock with a keeper and took the supplies and went as Jesse had commanded him. And he came to the [a]circle of the camp while the army was going out in battle array shouting the war cry.

21 Israel and the Philistines drew up in battle array, army against army.

22 Then David left his [a]baggage in the [1]care of the baggage keeper, and ran to the battle line and entered in order to greet his brothers.

23 As he was talking with them, behold, the champion, the Philistine from Gath named Goliath, was coming up from the army of the Philistines, and he spoke [a]these same words; and David heard them.

24 When all the men of Israel saw the man, they fled from him and were greatly afraid.

25 The men of Israel said, "Have you seen this man who is coming up? Surely he is coming up to defy Israel. And it will be that the king will enrich the man who kills him with great riches and [a]will give him his daughter and make his father's house [1]free in Israel."

26 Then David spoke to the men who were standing by him, saying, "What will be done for the man who kills this Philistine and takes away [a]the reproach from Israel? For who is this [b]uncircumcised Philistine, that he should [c]taunt the armies of [d]the living God?"

27 The people [1]answered him in accord with this word, saying, "[a]Thus it will be done for the man who kills him."

28 Now Eliab his oldest brother heard when he spoke to the men; and [a]Eliab's anger burned against David and he said, "Why have you come down? And with whom have you left those few sheep in the wilderness? I know your insolence and the gods on the matter at stake was determined (trial by battle ordeal). Israel too may have known this practice (see 2 Sam 2:14–16).

17:11 Saul and all Israel . . . were . . . greatly afraid. Israel's giant warrior (see 9:2; 10:23) quails before the Philistine champion. The fear of Saul and the Israelite army (see vv. 24,32) betrays a loss of faith in the covenant promises of the Lord (see Ex 23:22; Deut 3:22; 20:1–4). Their fear also demonstrates that the Israelite search for security in a human king (apart from trust in the Lord; see notes on 8:5,7) had failed. On the basis of God's covenant promises, Israel was never to fear her enemies but to trust in the Lord (see 2 Sam 10:12; Ex 14:13–14; Num 14:9; Josh 10:8; 2 Chr 20:17).

17:12 Ephrathite. See note on Ru 1:2.

17:15 David went back and forth from Saul. David's position at the court (see 16:21–23) was not permanent, but was performed on an intermittent basis. For the relationship between chs. 16 and 17 see note on v. 55.

17:24 greatly afraid. See note on v. 11.

17:26 who is this . . .? David sees the issues clearly—which sets him apart from Saul and all the other Israelites on that battlefield.

17:28 Eliab's anger burned. Eliab's anger may arise from jealousy toward his brother and a sense of guilt for the defeatist attitude of the Israelites. He recognizes, but does not comprehend, David's indomitable spirit (see 16:13).

wickedness of your heart; for you have come down in order to see the battle."

29 But David said, "What have I done now? Was it not just a [1]question?"

30 Then he turned [1]away from him to another and [a]said the same thing; and the people answered the same thing as [2]before.

David Kills Goliath

31 When the words which David spoke were heard, they told them [1]to Saul, and he sent for him.

32 David said to Saul, "[a]Let no man's heart fail on account of him; [b]your servant will go and fight with this Philistine."

33 Then Saul said to David, "[a]You are not able to go against this Philistine to fight with him; for you are but a youth while he has been a warrior from his youth."

34 But David said to Saul, "Your servant was tending his father's sheep. When a lion or a bear came and took a lamb from the flock, 35 I went out after him and [1]attacked him, and [a]rescued it from his mouth; and when he rose up against me, I seized him by his beard and [1]struck him and killed him.

36 "Your servant has [1]killed both the lion and the bear; and this uncircumcised Philistine will be like one of them, since he has taunted the armies of the living God."

37 And David said, "[a]The LORD who delivered me from the paw of the lion and from the paw of the bear, He will deliver me from the hand of this Philistine." And Saul said to David, "[b]Go, and may the LORD be with you."

38 Then Saul clothed David with his garments and put a bronze helmet on his head, and he clothed him with armor.

39 David girded his sword over his armor and tried to walk, for he had not tested them. So David said to Saul, "I cannot go with these, for I have not tested them." And David took them [1]off.

40 He took his stick in his hand and chose for himself five smooth stones from the brook, and put them in the shepherd's bag which he had, even in his pouch, and [a]his sling was in his hand; and he approached the Philistine.

41 Then the Philistine came on and approached David, with the shield-bearer in front of him.

42 When the Philistine looked and saw David, [a]he disdained him; for he was but a youth, and [b]ruddy, with a handsome appearance.

43 The Philistine said to David, "[a]Am I a dog, that you come to me with sticks?" And [b]the Philistine cursed David by his gods.

44 The Philistine also said to David, "Come to me, and I will give your flesh [a]to the birds of the sky and the beasts of the field."

45 Then David said to the Philistine, "You come to me with a sword, a spear, and a javelin, [a]but I come to you in the name of the LORD of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, whom you have taunted.

46 "This day the LORD will deliver you up into my hands, and I will strike you down and remove your head from you. And I will give the [a]dead bodies of the army of the Philistines this day to the birds of the sky and the wild beasts of the earth, [b]that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel,

47 and that all this assembly may know that [a]the LORD does not deliver by sword or by spear; [b]for the battle is the LORD's and He will give you into our hands."

48 Then it happened when the Philistine rose and came and drew near to meet David, that [a]David ran quickly toward the battle line to meet the Philistine.

49 And David put his hand into his bag and took from it a stone and slung it, and struck the Philistine on his forehead. And the stone sank into his forehead, so that he fell on his face to the ground.

50 Thus David prevailed over the Philistine with a sling and a stone, and he struck the Philistine and killed him; but there was no sword in David's hand.

17:32 Let no man's heart fail on account of him. David's confidence does not rest in his own prowess (see vv. 37,47) but in the power of the living God, whose honor has been violated by the Philistines and whose covenant promises have been scorned by the Israelites.

17:33 You are not able. Saul does not take into account the power of God (see vv. 37,47).

17:34 lion. For the presence of lions in Canaan at that time see 2 Sam 23:20; Judg 14:5–18; 1 Kin 13:24–26; Amos 3:12. bear. See 2 Sam 17:8; 2 Kin 2:24; Amos 5:19.

17:36 this uncircumcised Philistine. See note on 14:6.

17:37 The LORD . . . will deliver me. Reliance on the Lord was essential for the true theocratic king (see notes on 10:18; 11:13). Here David's faith contrasts sharply with Saul's loss of faith (see 11:6–7 for Saul's earlier fearlessness). Saul said to David, "Go." Saul is now dependent on David not only for his sanity (see note on 16:16) but also for the security of his realm.

17:40 his stick. God's newly appointed shepherd of His people (see 2 Sam 5:2; 7:7; Ps 78:72) goes to defend the Lord's threatened and frightened flock. stones. Usually the stones chosen were round and smooth and somewhat larger than a baseball. When hurled by a master slinger, they probably traveled at close to 100 miles per hour. his sling. For the Benjamites' skill with a sling see Judg 20:16.

17:43 Am I a dog . . . ? See note on 2 Sam 9:8.

17:45 in the name of the LORD of hosts. David's strength was his reliance on the Lord (see Ps 9:10; Prov 18:10). For the expression "name of the LORD" see notes on Ex 3:13–14; Deut 12:11.

17:46 all the earth may know. The victory that David anticipates will demonstrate to all the world the existence and power of Israel's God (see Ex 7:17; 9:14,16,29; Deut 4:34–35; Josh 2:10–11; 4:23–24; 1 Kin 8:59–60; 18:36–39; 2 Kin 5:15; 19:19).

17:47 the battle is the LORD's. Both the Israelite and the Philistine armies will be shown the error of placing trust in human devices for personal or national security (see 2:10; 14:6; 2 Chr 14:11; 20:15; Ps 33:16–17; 44:6–7; Eccl 9:11; Hos 1:7; Zec 4:6).

51 Then David ran and stood over the Philistine and [a]took his sword and drew it out of its sheath and killed him, and cut off his head with it. [b]When the Philistines saw that their champion was dead, they fled.

52 The men of Israel and Judah arose and shouted and pursued the Philistines [1]as far as the valley, and to the gates of [a]Ekron. And the slain Philistines [2]lay along the way to [b]Shaaraim, even to Gath and Ekron.

53 The sons of Israel returned from chasing the Philistines and plundered their camps.

54 Then David took the Philistine's head and brought it to Jerusalem, but he put his weapons in his tent.

55 Now when Saul saw David going out against the Philistine, he said to Abner the commander of the army, "Abner, whose son is [a]this young man?" And Abner said, "By your life, O king, I do not know."

56 The king said, "You inquire whose son the youth is."

57 So when David returned from killing the Philistine, Abner took him and [a]brought him before Saul with the Philistine's head in his hand.

58 Saul said to him, "Whose son are you, young man?" And David answered, "[a]I am the son of your servant Jesse the Bethlehemite."

Jonathan and David

18 Now it came about when he had finished speaking to Saul, that [a]the soul of Jonathan was knit to the soul of David, and [b]Jonathan loved him as himself.

2 Saul took him that day and [a]did not let him return to his father's house.

3 Then [a]Jonathan made a covenant with David because he loved him as himself.

4 [a]Jonathan stripped himself of the robe that was on him and gave it to David, with his armor, including his sword and his bow and his belt.

5 So David went out wherever Saul sent him, and [1]prospered; and Saul set him over the men of war. And it was pleasing in the sight of all the people and also in the sight of Saul's servants.

6 It happened as they were coming, when David returned from killing the Philistine, that [a]the women came out of all the cities of Israel, singing and dancing, to meet King Saul, with tambourines, with joy and with [1]musical instruments.

7 The women [a]sang as they [1]played, and said,

"[b]Saul has slain his thousands,
[c]And David his ten thousands."

8 Then Saul became very angry, for this saying [1]displeased him; and he said, "They have ascribed to David ten thousands, but to me they have ascribed thousands. Now [a]what more can he have but the kingdom?"

9 Saul looked at David with suspicion from that day on.

Saul Turns against David

10 Now it came about on the next day that [a]an evil spirit from God came mightily upon Saul, and [b]he raved in the midst of the house, while David was playing the harp with his hand, [1c]as usual; and [2d]a spear was in Saul's hand.

11 [a]Saul hurled the spear for he thought,

17:51 they fled. Most likely the Philistines saw the fall of their champion as the judgment of the gods, but they did not honor Goliath's original proposal (see v. 9).

17:54 brought it to Jerusalem. Jerusalem had not at this time been conquered by the Israelites. David may have kept Goliath's head as a trophy of victory and brought the skull with him to Jerusalem when he took that city and made it his capital (see 2 Sam 5:1–9). Or, having grown up almost under the shadow of the Jebusite city, he may have displayed Goliath's head to its defiant inhabitants as a warning of what the God of Israel was able to do and eventually would do. put his weapons in his tent. As his personal spoils of the battle. Since Goliath's sword is later in the custody of the priest at Nob (see 21:9), he must have dedicated it to the Lord, the true victor in the fight (cf. 31:10).

17:55 whose son is this young man? The seeming contradiction between vv. 55–58 and 16:14–23 may be resolved by noting that prior to this time David was not a permanent resident at Saul's court (see v. 15; 18:2; see also note on 16:21), so that Saul's knowledge of David and his family may have been minimal. Further, Saul may have been so incredulous at David's courage that he was wondering if his family background and social standing might explain his extraordinary conduct.

18:1 It appears that David spoke with Saul at length, and he may have explained his actions as an expression of his faith in the Lord, thus attracting the love and loyalty of Jonathan (see v. 3; 14:6; 19:5). Their friendship endured even when it became clear that David was to replace him as the successor to his father's throne.

18:2 Saul . . . did not let him return. See note on 17:15.

18:3 Jonathan made a covenant with David. The initiative comes from Jonathan. The terms of the agreement are not here specified (see further 19:1; 20:8,13–16,41–42; 23:18) but would appear to involve a pledge of mutual loyalty and friendship. At the very least, Jonathan accepts David as his equal.

18:4 stripped himself of the robe . . . and gave it to David. Jonathan ratifies the covenant in an act that symbolizes giving himself to David. His act may even signify his recognition that David was to assume his place as successor to Saul (see 20:14–15,31; 23:17)—a possibility that seems the more likely in that he also gave David "his sword and his bow and his belt" (cf. 13:22).

18:5 wherever Saul sent him. During the rest of the campaign.

18:7 David his ten thousands. In accordance with the normal conventions of Hebrew poetry, this was the women's way of saying "Saul and David have slain thousands" (10,000 was normally used as the parallel of 1,000—see Deut 32:30; Ps 91:7; Mic 6:7; also in Canaanite poetry found at Ugarit). It is a measure of Saul's insecurity and jealousy that he read their intentions incorrectly and took offense. His resentment may have been initially triggered by the mention of David's name alongside his own. See note on 21:11 for how the Philistines interpreted the song.

18:10 evil spirit from God. See note on 16:14. raved. The Hebrew for this word is sometimes used to indicate uncontrolled ecstatic behavior (see note on 1 Kin 18:29) and is best understood in that sense in this context (see also note on 10:5). as usual. See 16:14,23.

"I will [1]pin David to the wall." But David [2]escaped from his presence twice.

12 Now [a]Saul was afraid of David, [b]for the LORD was with him but [c]had departed from Saul.

13 Therefore Saul removed him from [1]his presence and appointed him as his commander of a thousand; and [a]he went out and came in before the people.

14 David was [1]prospering in all his ways for [a]the LORD was with him.

15 When Saul saw that he was [1]prospering greatly, he dreaded him.

16 But [a]all Israel and Judah loved David, and he went out and came in before them.

17 Then Saul said to David, "[a]Here is my older daughter Merab; I will give her to you as a wife, only be a valiant man for me and fight [b]the LORD'S battles." For Saul thought, "My hand shall not be against him, but [c]let the hand of the Philistines be against him."

18 But David said to Saul, "[a]Who am I, and what is my life or my father's family in Israel, that I should be the king's son-in-law?"

19 So it came about at the time when Merab, Saul's daughter, should have been given to David, that she was given to [a]Adriel [b]the Meholathite for a wife.

David Marries Saul's Daughter

20 Now [a]Michal, Saul's daughter, loved David. When they told Saul, the thing was agreeable [1]to him.

21 Saul thought, "I will give her to him that she may become a snare to him, and [a]that the hand of the Philistines may be against him." Therefore Saul said to David, "[b]For a second time you may be my son-in-law today."

22 Then Saul commanded his servants, "Speak to David secretly, saying, 'Behold, the king delights in you, and all his servants love you; now therefore, become the king's son-in-law.' "

23 So Saul's servants spoke these words [1]to David. But David said, "Is it trivial in your sight to become the king's son-in-law, [a]since I am a poor man and lightly esteemed?"

24 The servants of Saul reported to him [1]according to these words which David spoke.

25 Saul then said, "Thus you shall say to David, 'The king does not desire any [a]dowry except a hundred foreskins of the Philistines, [b]to take vengeance on the king's enemies.' " Now [c]Saul planned to make David fall by the hand of the Philistines.

26 When his servants told David these words, [1]it pleased David to become the king's son-in-law. [2][a]Before the days had expired

27 David rose up and went, [a]he and his men, and struck down two hundred men among the Philistines. Then [b]David brought their foreskins, and they gave them in full number to the king, that he might become the king's son-in-law. So Saul gave him Michal his daughter for a wife.

28 When Saul saw and knew that the LORD was with David, and that Michal, Saul's daughter, loved him, 29 then Saul was even more afraid of David. Thus Saul was David's enemy continually.

30 Then the commanders of the Philistines [a]went out to battle, and it happened as often as they went out, that David [b]behaved himself more wisely than all the servants of Saul. So his name was highly esteemed.

David Protected from Saul

19 Now Saul told Jonathan his son and all his servants [a]to put David to death. But [b]Jonathan, Saul's son, greatly delighted in David.

2 So Jonathan told David saying, "Saul my father is seeking to put you to death. Now therefore, please be on guard in the morning, and stay in a secret place and hide yourself.

3 "I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where you are, and I will speak with my father about you; [a]if I [1]find out anything, then I will tell you."

4 Then Jonathan [a]spoke well of David to Saul his father and said to him, "[b]Do not let the king sin against his servant David, since 18:12 the LORD was with him but had departed from Saul. See 16:14 and note.

18:13 Saul removed him from his presence. His apparent motive was the hope that David would be killed in battle (see vv. 17, 21, 25; 19:1), but the result was greater acclaim for David (see vv. 14,16,30).

18:17 Here is my older daughter. David was entitled to have Saul's daughter as his wife because of his victory over Goliath (see 17:25). This promise had not been kept and is now made conditional on further military service, in which Saul hoped David would be killed. the LORD's battles. See 25:28.

18:25 any dowry except. Normally a bride-price was paid by the bridegroom to the father of the bride (see Gen 34:12; Ex 22:16) as compensation for the loss of his daughter and insurance for her support if widowed. Saul requires David instead to pass a test appropriate for a great warrior, hoping that he will "fall" (see vv. 17,21).

18:28 Michal . . . loved him. God's favor on David is revealed not only in his military accomplishments, but also in Michal's love for him—now added to that of Jonathan. Everything Saul seeks to use against David turns to David's advantage.

18:29 Saul was even more afraid of David. Saul's perception that God's hand was on David did not lead him to repentance and acceptance of his own lot (see 15:26) but into greater fear and jealousy toward David.

19:1 Saul told Jonathan . . . to put David to death. Saul now abandons his indirect attempts on David's life (see 18:13,17,25) and adopts a more direct approach, leading to David's departure from the court and from service to Saul (see vv. 12,18; 20:42).

19:4 Jonathan spoke well of David. Jonathan does not let his own personal ambition distort his perception of David's true theocratic spirit (see v. 5 and notes on 14:6; 17:11; 18:1).

he has not sinned against you, and since his deeds have been very [1]beneficial to you.

5 "For [a]he took his life in his hand and struck the Philistine, and [b]the LORD brought about a great deliverance for all Israel; you saw it and rejoiced. [c]Why then will you sin against innocent blood by putting David to death without a cause?"

6 Saul listened to the voice of Jonathan, and Saul vowed, "As the LORD lives, he shall not be put to death."

7 Then Jonathan called David, and Jonathan told him all these words. And Jonathan brought David to Saul, and he was in his presence as [a]formerly.

8 When there was war again, David went out and fought with the Philistines and [1]defeated them with great slaughter, so that they fled before him.

9 Now there was [a]an evil spirit from the LORD on Saul as he was sitting in his house [b]with his spear in his hand, [c]and David was playing the harp with his hand.

10 [a]Saul tried to [1]pin David to the wall with the spear, but he slipped away out of Saul's presence, so that he [2]stuck the spear into the wall. And David fled and escaped that night.

11 Then [a]Saul sent messengers to David's house to watch him, in order to put him to death in the morning. But Michal, David's wife, told him, saying, "If you do not save your life tonight, tomorrow you will be put to death."

12 [a]So Michal let David down through a window, and he went out and fled and escaped.

13 Michal took [a]the [1]household idol and laid it on the bed, and put a quilt of goats' hair at its head, and covered it with clothes.

14 When Saul sent messengers to take David, she said, "[a]He is sick."

15 Then Saul sent messengers to see David, saying, "Bring him up to me on [1]his bed, that I may put him to death."

16 When the messengers entered, behold, the [1]household idol was on the bed with the quilt of goats' hair at its head.

17 So Saul said to Michal, "Why have you deceived me like this and let my enemy go, so that he has escaped?" And Michal said to Saul, "He said to me, 'Let me go! [a]Why should I put you to death?' "

18 Now David fled and escaped and came [a]to Samuel at Ramah, and told him all that Saul had done to him. And he and Samuel went and stayed in [b]Naioth.

19 It was told Saul, saying, "Behold, David is at Naioth in Ramah."

20 Then [a]Saul sent messengers to take David, but when they saw [b]the company of the prophets prophesying, with Samuel standing and presiding over them, the Spirit of God came upon the messengers of Saul; and [c]they also prophesied.

21 When it was told Saul, he sent other messengers, and they also prophesied. So Saul sent messengers again the third time, and they also prophesied.

22 Then he himself went to Ramah and came as far as the large well that is in Secu; and he asked and said, "Where are Samuel and David?" And someone said, "Behold, they are at Naioth in Ramah."

23 He [1]proceeded there to Naioth in Ramah; and [a]the Spirit of God came upon him also, so that he went along prophesying continually until he came to Naioth in Ramah.

24 He also stripped off his clothes, and he too prophesied before Samuel and [1]lay down [2][a]naked all that day and all that night. Therefore they say, "[b]Is Saul also among the prophets?"

David and Jonathan Covenant

20 Then David fled from Naioth in Ramah, and came and [a]said [1]to Jonathan, "What have I done? What is my iniquity? And what is my sin before your father, that he is seeking my life?"

2 He said to him, "Far from it, you shall not die. Behold, my father does nothing either great or small [1]without disclosing it to me. So why should my father hide this thing from me? It is not so!"

3 Yet David [a]vowed again, [1]saying, "Your father knows well that I have found favor in your sight, and he has said, 'Do not let Jonathan know this, or he will be grieved.' But truly [b]as the LORD lives and as your soul lives, there is [2]hardly a step between me and death."

4 Then Jonathan said to David, "Whatever [1]you say, I will do for you."

5 So David said to Jonathan, "Behold, tomorrow is [a]the new moon, and I ought [b]to sit down to eat with the king. But let me go, [c]that I may hide myself in the field until the third evening.

6 "If your father misses me at all, then say, 'David earnestly asked leave of me to run to [a]Bethlehem his city, because it is [b]the yearly sacrifice there for the whole family.'

7 "If he [1]says, 'It is good,' your servant will be safe; but if he is very angry, [a]know that he has decided on evil.

8 "Therefore deal kindly with your servant, for [a]you have brought your servant into a covenant of the LORD with you. But [b]if there is iniquity in me, put me to death yourself; for why then should you bring me to your father?"

9 Jonathan said, "Far be it from you! For if I should indeed learn that evil has been decided by my father to come upon you, then would I not tell you about it?"

10 Then David said to Jonathan, "Who will tell me [1]if your father answers you harshly?"

11 Jonathan said to David, "Come, and let us go out into the field." So both of them went out to the field.

12 Then Jonathan said to David, "The LORD, the God of Israel, be witness! When I have sounded out my father about this time tomorrow, or the third day, behold, if there is good feeling toward David, shall I not then send to you and [1]make it known to you?

20:5 new moon. Each month of the year was consecrated to the Lord by the bringing of special sacrifices (Num 28:11–15) and the blowing of trumpets (Num 10:10; Ps 81:3). This observance also involved cessation from normal work, especially at the beginning of the seventh month (Lev 23:24–25; Num 29:1–6; 2 Kin 4:23; Is 1:13; Am 8:5).
20:6 yearly sacrifice. David's statement indicates that it was customary for families to observe the new moon festival together once in the year. There is no other reference in the OT to this practice.
20:8 covenant. See note on 18:3.
20:13 may the LORD do so to Jonathan and more. A common curse formula (see note on 3:17). may the LORD be with you as He has been with my father. A clear indication that Jonathan expects David to become king.
20:14 that I may not die. It was quite common in the ancient world for the first ruler of a new dynasty to secure his position by murdering all potential claimants to the throne from the preceding dynasty (see 1 Kin 15:29; 16:11; 2 Kin 10:7; 11:1).
20:15 your lovingkindness from my house. This request was based on the covenant previously concluded between Jonathan and David (see note on 18:3) and was subsequently honored in David's dealings with Jonathan's son Mephibosheth (see 2 Sam 9:3,7; 21:7).

house of David, saying, "[a]May the LORD require it at the hands of David's enemies."

17 Jonathan made David vow again because of his love for him, because [a]he loved him as he loved his own life.

18 Then Jonathan said to him, "[a]Tomorrow is the new moon, and you will be missed because your seat will be empty.

19 "When you have stayed for three days, you shall go down quickly and come to the place where you hid yourself on that eventful day, and you shall remain by the stone Ezel.

20 "I will shoot three arrows to the side, as though I shot at a target.

21 "And behold, I will send the lad, saying, 'Go, find the arrows.' If I specifically say to the lad, 'Behold, the arrows are on this side of you, get them,' then come; for there is safety for you and [1]no harm, as the LORD lives.

22 "But if I [1]say to the youth, '[a]Behold, the arrows are beyond you,' go, for the LORD has sent you away.

23 "[a]As for the [1]agreement of which you and I have spoken, behold, [b]the LORD is between you and me forever."

24 So David hid in the field; and when the new moon came, the king sat down to eat food.

25 The king sat on his seat as usual, the seat by the wall; then Jonathan rose up and Abner sat down by Saul's side, but [a]David's place was empty.

26 Nevertheless Saul did not speak anything that day, for he thought, "It is an accident, [a]he is not clean, surely he is not clean."

27 It came about the next day, the second day of the new moon, that David's place was empty; so Saul said to Jonathan his son, "Why has the son of Jesse not come to the meal, either yesterday or today?"

28 Jonathan then answered Saul, "[a]David earnestly asked leave of me to go to Bethlehem, 29 for he said, 'Please [1]let me go, since our family has a sacrifice in the city, and my brother has commanded me to attend. And now, if I have found favor in your sight, please let me get away that I may see my brothers.' For this reason he has not come to the king's table."

Saul Is Angry with Jonathan

30 Then Saul's anger burned against Jonathan and he said to him, "You son of a perverse, rebellious woman! Do I not know that you are choosing the son of Jesse to your own shame and to the shame of your mother's nakedness?

31 "For [1]as long as the son of Jesse lives on the earth, neither you nor your kingdom will be established. Therefore now, send and bring him to me, for [a]he [2]must surely die."

32 But Jonathan answered Saul his father and said to him, "[a]Why should he be put to death? What has he done?"

33 Then [a]Saul hurled his spear at him to strike him down; [b]so Jonathan knew that his father had decided to put David to death.

34 Then Jonathan arose from the table in fierce anger, and did not eat food on the second day of the new moon, for he was grieved over David because his father had dishonored him.

35 Now it came about in the morning that Jonathan went out into the field for the appointment with David, and a little lad was with him.

36 He said to his lad, "[a]Run, find now the arrows which I am about to shoot." As the lad was running, he shot [1]an arrow past him.

37 When the lad reached the place of the arrow which Jonathan had shot, Jonathan called after the lad and said, "[a]Is not the arrow beyond you?"

38 And Jonathan called after the lad, "Hurry, be quick, do not stay!" And Jonathan's lad picked up the arrow and came to his master.

39 But the lad was not aware of anything; only Jonathan and David knew about the matter.

40 Then Jonathan gave his weapons to his lad and said to him, "Go, bring them to the city."

41 When the lad was gone, David rose from the south side and fell on his face to the ground, and [a]bowed three times. And they kissed each other and wept together, but [b]David wept the more.

42 Jonathan said to David, "[a]Go in safety, inasmuch as we have sworn to each other in

David Takes Consecrated Bread

21 Then David came to [a]Nob to Ahimelech the priest; and Ahimelech [b]came trembling to meet David and said to him, "Why are you alone and no one with you?"

2 David said to Ahimelech the priest, "The king has commissioned me with a matter and has said to me, '[a]Let no one know anything about the matter on which I am sending you and with which I have commissioned you; and I have directed the young men to a certain place.'

3 "Now therefore, what [1]do you have on hand? Give [2]me five loaves of bread, or whatever can be found."

4 The priest answered David and said, "There is no ordinary bread [1]on hand, but there is [a]consecrated bread; if only the young men have [b]kept themselves from women."

5 David answered the priest and said to him, "[a]Surely women have been kept from us as previously when I set out and the [b]vessels of the young men were holy, though it was an ordinary journey; how much more then today will [1]their vessels be holy?"

6 So [a]the priest gave him consecrated bread; for there was no bread there but the [b]bread of the Presence which was removed from before the LORD, in order to put hot bread in its place when it was taken away.

7 Now one of the servants of Saul was there that day, detained before the LORD; and his name was [a]Doeg the Edomite, the [b]chief of Saul's shepherds.

8 David said to Ahimelech, "Now is there not a spear or a sword [1]on hand? For I brought neither my sword nor my weapons [2]with me, because the king's matter was urgent."

9 Then the priest said, "[a]The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom you [1]killed [b]in the valley of Elah, behold, it is wrapped in a cloth behind the ephod; if you would take it for yourself, take it. For there is no other except it here." And David said, "There is none like it; give it to me."

10 Then David arose and fled that day from Saul, and went to [a]Achish king of Gath.

11 But the [a]servants of Achish said to him, "Is this not David the king of the land? [b]Did they not sing of this one as they danced, saying,

'Saul has slain his thousands,
And David his ten thousands'?"

12 David [a]took these words [1]to heart and greatly feared Achish king of Gath.

13 So he [a]disguised his sanity before them, and acted insanely in their hands, and scribbled on the doors of the gate, and let his saliva run down into his beard.

14 Then Achish said to his servants, "Behold, you see the man behaving as a madman. Why do you bring him to me?

15 "Do I lack madmen, that you have brought this one to act the madman in my presence? Shall this one come into my house?"

The Priests Slain at Nob

22 So David departed from there and [a]escaped to [b]the cave of Adullam; and when his brothers and all his father's household heard of it, they went down there to him.

2 Everyone who was in distress, and everyone who [1]was in debt, and everyone who was [2]discontented gathered to him; and he became captain over them. Now there were [a]about four hundred men with him.

3 And David went from there to Mizpah of Moab; and he said to the king of Moab,

21:1 Nob. A town northeast of Jerusalem and south of Gibeah where the tabernacle was relocated after the destruction of Shiloh (4:2–3; Jer 7:12). Although it appears that no attempt was made to bring the ark to this sanctuary (see note on 7:1), Ahimelech the high priest, 85 other priests (22:17–18), the ephod (v. 9) and the table of consecrated bread (v. 6) are mentioned in connection with it. Ahimelech the priest. See note on 14:3. It appears from 22:10,15 that David's purpose in coming to Nob was to seek the Lord's guidance by means of the Urim and Thummim (see notes on 2:28; Ex 28:30).

21:2 It is not clear why David resorts to deception in his response to Ahimelech. Perhaps it was an attempt to protect Ahimelech from the charge of involvement in David's escape from Saul. If so, his strategy was not successful (see 22:13–18).

21:4 consecrated bread. The "bread of the Presence" (see v. 6; Ex 25:30), which was placed in the holy place in the tabernacle and later in the temple as a thank offering to the Lord, symbolizing His provision of daily bread. if only the young men have kept themselves from women. Although the bread was to be eaten only by the priests (see Lev 24:9), Ahimelech agreed to give it to David and his men on the condition that they were ceremonially clean (see Ex 19:15; Lev 15:18). Jesus uses this incident to illustrate the principle that the ceremonial law was not to be viewed in a legalistic manner (see Matt 12:3–4). He also teaches that it is always lawful to do good and to save life (see Luke 6:9). Such compassionate acts are within the true spirit of the law.

21:9 sword of Goliath. See note on 17:54. ephod. See note on 2:28.

21:10 Achish. See note on Ps 34 title. Gath. One of the five major towns of the Philistines (Josh 13:3).

21:11 king of the land. The designation of David as "king" by the Philistines may be understood as a popular exaggeration expressing an awareness of the enormous success and popularity of David among the Israelite people.

22:1 cave of Adullam. See 2 Sam 23:13; Gen 38:1; Josh 12:15; 15:35; 1 Chr 11:15 and note on Ps 142 title.

22:2 four hundred men with him. David, officially an outlaw, was joined by others in similar circumstances, so that he began to develop the power base that would sustain him throughout his later years as king.

22:3 Mizpah of Moab. Precise location unknown. let my father and my mother come and stay with you. The king of Moab was

"Please let my father and my mother come and stay with you until I know what God will do for me."

4 Then he left them with the king of Moab; and they stayed with him all the time that David was in the stronghold.

5 [a]The prophet Gad said to David, "Do not stay in the stronghold; depart, and go into the land of Judah." So David departed and went into the forest of Hereth.

6 Then Saul heard that David and the men who were with him had been discovered. Now [a]Saul was sitting in Gibeah, under the tamarisk tree on the height with his spear in his hand, and all his servants were standing around him.

7 Saul said to his servants who stood around him, "Hear now, O Benjamites! Will the son of Jesse also give to all of you fields and vineyards? [a]Will he make you all commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds?

8 "For all of you have conspired against me so that there is no one who [1]discloses to me [a]when my son makes a covenant with the son of Jesse, and there is none of you [b]who is sorry for me or [1]discloses to me that my son has stirred up my servant against me to lie in ambush, as it is this day."

9 Then [a]Doeg the Edomite, who was [1]standing by the servants of Saul, said, "[b]I saw the son of Jesse coming to Nob, to [c]Ahimelech the son of Ahitub.

10 "[a]He inquired of the LORD for him, [b]gave him provisions, and [c]gave him the sword of Goliath the Philistine."

11 Then the king sent someone to summon Ahimelech the priest, the son of Ahitub, and all his father's household, the priests who were in Nob; and all of them came to the king.

12 Saul said, "Listen now, son of Ahitub." And he [1]answered, "Here I am, my lord."

13 Saul then said to him, "Why have you and the son of Jesse conspired against me, in that you have given him bread and a sword and have inquired of God for him, so that he would rise up against me [a]by lying in ambush as it is this day?"

14 [a]Then Ahimelech answered the king and said, "And who among all your servants is as faithful as David, even the king's son-in-law, who [1]is captain over your guard, and is honored in your house?

15 "Did I just begin [a]to inquire of God for him today? Far be it from me! [b]Do not let the king impute anything to his servant or to any of the household of my father, for your servant knows nothing [1]at all of this whole affair."

16 But the king said, "You shall surely die, Ahimelech, you and all your father's household!"

17 And [a]the king said to the [1]guards who were attending him, "Turn around and put the priests of the LORD to death, because their hand also is with David and because they knew that he was fleeing and did not [2]reveal it to me." But the [b]servants of the king were not willing to put forth their hands to [3]attack the priests of the LORD.

18 Then the king said to Doeg, "You turn around and [1]attack the priests." And Doeg the Edomite turned around and [2]attacked the priests, and [a]he killed that day eighty-five men [b]who wore the linen ephod.

19 And [a]he struck Nob the city of the priests with the edge of the sword, both men and women, children and infants; also oxen, donkeys, and sheep he struck with the edge of the sword.

20 But [a]one son of Ahimelech the son of Ahitub, named Abiathar, [b]escaped and fled after David.

21 Abiathar told David that Saul had killed the priests of the LORD.

22 Then David said to Abiathar, "I knew on that day, when [a]Doeg the Edomite was a natural ally for David because Saul had warred against him (see 14:47) and David's own great-grandmother was a Moabitess (see Ruth 4:13,22).

22:4 stronghold. Perhaps a specific fortress, but more likely a reference to a geographical area in which it was easy to hide (see 23:14; 2 Sam 5:17; 23:14).

22:5 prophet Gad. The king-designate is now served also by a prophet. Later a priest would come to him (v. 20) and complete the basic elements of a royal entourage—and they were all refugees from Saul's administration. This is the first appearance of the prophet who later assisted David in musical arrangements for the temple services (see 2 Chr 29:25), wrote a history of David's reign (see 1 Chr 29:29) and confronted David with the Lord's rebuke for his sin of numbering the Israelites (see 2 Sam 24:11–25). forest of Hereth. Located in the tribal area of Judah.

22:6 Gibeah. See note on 10:5. tamarisk tree. See note on 14:2.

22:7 Benjamites. Saul, a Benjamite (9:1–2; 10:21), seeks to strengthen his position with his own officials by emphasizing tribal loyalty. David was from the tribe of Judah (see note on 16:1; 2 Sam 2:4). give to all of you fields and vineyards? Saul does exactly what Samuel had warned him that he would do—become like the kings of other nations (see 8:14). His actions are contrary to the covenantal ideal for kingship (see notes on 8:7; 10:25). commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds. See 8:12.

22:10 He inquired of the LORD for him. See note on 21:1.

22:17 they knew that he was fleeing. How much the priests really knew is not clear. David himself had not told them (see 21:2–3,8).

22:18 linen ephod. See note on 2:18.

22:19 struck Nob . . . with the edge of the sword. Thus the prophecy of judgment against the house of Eli is fulfilled (see 2:31).

22:20 Abiathar, escaped and fled after David. See note on v. 5. Abiathar brought the high priestly ephod with him (see 23:6) and subsequently "inquired of the LORD" for David (see 23:2 and note; see also 23:4,9; 30:7–8; 2 Sam 2:1; 5:19,23). He served as high priest until removed from office by Solomon for participating in the rebellion of Adonijah (see 1 Kin 2:26–27).

there, that he would surely tell Saul. I have brought about the death of every person in your father's household.

23 "Stay with me; do not be afraid, for [a]he who seeks my life seeks your life, for you are [1]safe with me."

David Delivers Keilah

23 Then they told David, saying, "Behold, the Philistines are fighting against [a]Keilah and are plundering the threshing floors."

2 So David [a]inquired of the LORD, saying, "Shall I go and [1]attack these Philistines?" And the LORD said to David, "Go and [1]attack the Philistines and deliver Keilah."

3 But David's men said to him, "Behold, we are afraid here in Judah. How much more then if we go to Keilah against the ranks of the Philistines?"

4 Then David inquired of the LORD once more. And the LORD answered him and said, "Arise, go down to Keilah, for [a]I will give the Philistines into your hand."

5 So David and his men went to Keilah and fought with the Philistines; and he led away their livestock and struck them with a great slaughter. Thus David delivered the inhabitants of Keilah.

6 Now it came about, when Abiathar the son of Ahimelech [a]fled to David at Keilah, that he came down with an ephod in his hand.

7 When it was told Saul that David had come to Keilah, Saul said, "God has [1]delivered him into my hand, for he shut himself in by entering a city with double gates and bars."

8 So Saul summoned all the people for war, to go down to Keilah to besiege David and his men.

9 Now David knew that Saul was plotting evil against him; so he said to [a]Abiathar the priest, "[b]Bring the ephod here."

10 Then David said, "O LORD God of Israel, Your servant has heard for certain that Saul is seeking to come to Keilah to destroy the city on my account.

11 "Will the men of Keilah surrender me into his hand? Will Saul come down just as Your servant has heard? O LORD God of Israel, I pray, tell Your servant." And the LORD said, "He will come down."

12 Then David said, "Will the men of Keilah surrender me and my men into the hand of Saul?" And the LORD said, "[a]They will surrender you."

13 Then David and his men, [a]about six hundred, arose and departed from Keilah, and they went [b]wherever they could go. When it was told Saul that David had escaped from Keilah, he [1]gave up the pursuit.

14 David stayed in the wilderness in the strongholds, and remained in the hill country in the wilderness of [a]Ziph. And Saul sought him every day, but [b]God did not deliver him into his hand.

Saul Pursues David

15 Now David [1]became aware that Saul had come out to seek his life while David was in the wilderness of Ziph at Horesh.

16 And Jonathan, Saul's son, arose and went to David at Horesh, and [1][a]encouraged him in God.

17 Thus he said to him, "[a]Do not be afraid, because the hand of Saul my father will not find you, and you will be king over Israel and I will be next to you; and [b]Saul my father knows that also."

18 So [a]the two of them made a covenant before the LORD; and David stayed at Horesh while Jonathan went to his house.

19 Then [a]Ziphites came up to Saul at Gibeah, saying, "Is David not hiding with us in the strongholds at Horesh, on [b]the hill of Hachilah, which is on the [1]south of [2]Jeshimon?

20 "Now then, O king, come down according to all the desire of your soul to [1]do so; and [a]our part shall be to surrender him into the king's hand."

21 Saul said, "May you be blessed of the LORD, [a]for you have had compassion on me.

22 "Go now, make more sure, and investigate and see his place where his [1]haunt is, and who has seen him there; for I am told that he is very cunning.

23 "So look, and learn about all the hiding places where he hides himself and return to me with certainty, and I will go with you; and if he is in the land, I will search him out among all the thousands of Judah."

24 Then they arose and went to Ziph before Saul. Now David and his men were in the wilderness of [a]Maon, in the Arabah to the [1]south of [2]Jeshimon.

25 When Saul and his men went to seek him, they told David, and he came down to the rock and stayed in the wilderness of Maon. And when Saul heard it, he pursued David in the wilderness of Maon.

26 Saul went on one side of the mountain, and David and his men on the other side of the mountain; and David was hurrying to get away from Saul, for Saul and his men [a]were surrounding David and his men to seize them.

27 But a messenger came to Saul, saying, "Hurry and come, for the Philistines have made a raid on the land."

28 So Saul returned from pursuing David and went to meet the Philistines; therefore they called that place [1]the Rock of Escape.

29 [1]David went up from there and stayed in the strongholds of [a]Engedi.

David Spares Saul's Life

24 Now [a]when Saul returned from pursuing the Philistines, [b]he was told, saying, "Behold, David is in the wilderness of Engedi."

2 Then [a]Saul took three thousand chosen men from all Israel and went to seek David and his men in front of the Rocks of the Wild Goats.

3 He came to the sheepfolds on the way, where there was a cave; and Saul [a]went in to [1]relieve himself. Now [b]David and his men were sitting in the inner recesses of the cave.

4 The men of David said to him, "Behold, [a]this is the day of which the LORD said to you, 'Behold; [b]I am about to give your enemy into your hand, and you shall do to him as it seems good [1]to you.' " Then David arose and cut off the edge of Saul's robe secretly.

5 It came about afterward that [a]David's [1]conscience bothered him because he had cut off the edge of Saul's robe.

6 So he said to his men, "[a]Far be it from me because of the LORD that I should do this thing to my lord, the LORD'S anointed, to stretch out my hand against him, since he is the LORD'S anointed."

7 David [1]persuaded his men with these words and did not allow them to rise up against Saul. And Saul arose, [2]left the cave, and went on his way.

8 Now afterward David arose and went out of the cave and called after Saul, saying, "My lord the king!" And when Saul looked behind him, [a]David bowed with his face to the ground and prostrated himself.

9 David said to Saul, "Why do you listen to the words of men, saying, 'Behold, David seeks [1]to harm you'?

10 "[a]Behold, this day your eyes have seen that the LORD had given you today into my hand in the cave, and [b]some said to kill you, but my eye had pity on you; and I said, 'I will not stretch out my hand against my lord, for he is the LORD'S anointed.'

11 "Now, [a]my father, see! Indeed, see the edge of your robe in my hand! For in that I cut off the edge of your robe and did not kill you, know and perceive that there is no evil or [1]rebellion in my hands, and I have not sinned against you, though you [b]are lying in wait for my life to take it.

12 "[a]May the LORD judge between [1]you and me, and may the LORD avenge me on you; but my hand shall not be against you.

13 "As the proverb of the ancients says, '[a]Out of the wicked comes forth wickedness'; but my hand shall not be against you.

14 "After whom has the king of Israel come out? Whom are you pursuing? [a]A dead dog, [b]a single flea?

15 "[a]The LORD therefore be judge and decide between [1]you and me; and may He see and [b]plead my cause and [2]deliver me from your hand."

16 When David had finished speaking these words to Saul, Saul said, "[a]Is this your voice, my son David?" Then Saul lifted up his voice and wept.

17 [a]He said to David, "You are more righteous than I; for [b]you have dealt well with me, while I have dealt wickedly with you.

18 "You have declared today that you have done good to me, that [a]the LORD delivered me into your hand and yet you did not kill me.

19 "For if a man [a]finds his enemy, will he let him go away [1]safely? May the LORD therefore reward you with good in return for what you have done to me this day.

20 "Now, behold, [a]I know that you will surely be king, and that [b]the kingdom of Israel will be established in your hand.

21 "So now [a]swear to me by the LORD that you will not cut off my [1]descendants after me and that you will not destroy my name from my father's household."

22 David swore to Saul. And Saul went to his home, but David and his men went up to [a]the stronghold.

24:4 this is the day of which the LORD said. There is no previous record of the divine revelation here alluded to by David's men. Perhaps this was their own interpretation of the anointing of David to replace Saul (see 16:13–14), or of assurances given to David that he would survive Saul's vendetta against him and ultimately become king (see 20:14–15; 23:17). This clause may also be rendered "today the LORD is saying." Then the reference would not be to a verbal communication from the Lord but to the providential nature of the incident itself, which David's men understood as a revelation from God that David should not ignore.

24:6 he is the LORD's anointed. Because Saul's royal office carried divine sanction by virtue of his anointing (see note on 9:16), David is determined not to wrest the kingship from Saul but to leave its disposition to the Lord who gave it (see vv. 12,15; 26:10).

24:11 my father. Saul was David's father-in-law (see 18:27).

24:21 not cut off my descendants. See notes on 20:14–15.

24:22 stronghold. An inaccessible place (see note on 22:4). From previous experience David did not place any confidence in Saul's words of repentance.

Samuel's Death

25 [a]Then Samuel died; and all Israel gathered together and [b]mourned for him, and [c]buried him at his house in Ramah. And David arose and went down to the [d]wilderness of Paran.

Nabal and Abigail

2 Now there was a man in [a]Maon whose business was in [b]Carmel; and the man was very [1]rich, and he had three thousand sheep and a thousand goats. And it came about while [c]he was shearing his sheep in Carmel

3 (now the man's name was Nabal, and his [a]wife's name was Abigail. And the woman was [1]intelligent and beautiful in appearance, but the man was harsh and evil in his dealings, and he was [b]a Calebite),

4 that David heard in the wilderness that Nabal was shearing his sheep.

5 So David sent ten young men; and David said to the young men, "Go up to Carmel, [1]visit Nabal and greet him in my name;

6 and thus you shall say, '[1]Have a long life, [a]peace be to you, and peace be to your house, and peace be to all that you have.

7 'Now I have heard [a]that you have shearers; now your shepherds have been with us and we have not insulted them, [b]nor have they missed anything all the days they were in Carmel.

8 'Ask your young men and they will tell you. Therefore let my young men find favor in your eyes, for we have come on [a]a [1]festive day. Please give whatever you find at hand to your servants and to your son David.' "

9 When David's young men came, they spoke to Nabal according to all these words in David's name; then they waited.

10 But Nabal answered David's servants and said, "[a]Who is David? And who is the son of Jesse? There are many servants today who are each breaking away from his master.

11 "Shall I then [a]take my bread and my water and my meat that I have slaughtered for my shearers, and give it to men [1]whose origin I do not know?"

12 So David's young men retraced their way and went back; and they came and told him according to all these words.

13 David said to his men, "Each of you gird on his sword." So each man girded on his sword. And David also girded on his sword, and about [a]four hundred men went up behind David while two hundred [b]stayed with the baggage.

14 But one of the young men told Abigail, Nabal's wife, saying, "Behold, David sent messengers from the wilderness to [1][a]greet our master, and he scorned them.

15 "Yet the men were very good to us, and we were not [a]insulted, nor did we miss anything [1]as long as we went about with them, while we were in the fields.

16 "[a]They were a wall to us both by night and by day, all the time we were with them tending the sheep.

17 "Now therefore, know and [1]consider what you should do, for evil is plotted against our master and against all his household; and he is such a [2]worthless man that no one can speak to him."

Abigail Intercedes

18 Then Abigail hurried and [a]took two hundred loaves of bread and two jugs of wine and five sheep already prepared and five measures of roasted grain and a hundred clusters of raisins and two hundred cakes of figs, and loaded them on donkeys.

25:1 all Israel . . . mourned for him. Samuel was recognized as a leader of national prominence who played a key role in the restructuring of the theocracy with the establishment of the monarchy (see chs. 8–12). The loss of his leadership was mourned much like that of other prominent figures in Israel's past history, including Jacob (Gen 50:10), Aaron (Num 20:29) and Moses (Deut 34:8). Ramah. See 7:17 and note on 1:1.

25:2–44 Nabal, the "fool" (see v. 25 and note), lived near Carmel, where Saul had erected a monument in his own honor (see 15:12) and had committed the act that led to his rejection (see 15:26). The account of Nabal effectively serves the author's purpose in a number of ways: 1. Nabal's general character, his disdainful attitude toward David though David had guarded his flocks, and his sudden death at the Lord's hand all parallel Saul (whose "flock" David had also protected). This allows the author indirectly to characterize Saul as a fool (see 13:13; 26:21) and to foreshadow his end. 2. David's vengeful attitude toward Nabal displays his natural tendency and highlights his restraint toward Saul, the Lord's anointed (this event is sandwiched between the two instances in which David spared Saul in spite of the urging of his men). 3. Abigail's prudent action prevents David from using his power as leader for personal vengeance (the very thing Saul was doing). In this way the Lord (who avenged His servant) keeps David's sword clean, teaching him a lesson he does not forget. 4. Abigail's confident acknowledgment of David's future accession to the throne foreshadows that event and even anticipates the Lord's commitment to establish David's house as an "enduring house" (v. 28; cf. 2 Sam 7:11–16). 5. Abigail's marriage to David provides him with a wise and worthy wife, while Saul gives away David's wife Michal to another, illustrating how the Lord counters every move Saul makes against David.

25:3 Calebite. A descendant of Caleb (see Num 14:24), who settled at Hebron (see Josh 14:13) after the conquest of Canaan. Since Caleb's name can mean "dog," Nabal is subtly depicted as a dog as well as a fool. He would soon be a dead dog (see note on 2 Sam 9:8), when the Lord would avenge his acts of contempt toward David. The hint is strong that, when the Lord avenges Saul's sins against David (see 24:12,15), the king will no longer pursue a dead dog (see 24:14) but will himself become one—a case of biting irony.

25:4 shearing his sheep. A festive occasion (see v. 8; 2 Sam 13:23–24).

25:8 whatever you find at hand. David and his men ask for some remuneration for their protection of Nabal's shepherds and flocks against pillage (see vv. 15–16,21).

25:17 worthless man. See note on Deut 13:13. no one can speak to him. In this way, too, Nabal is like Saul (cf., e.g., 20:27–33).

19 She said to her young men, "[a]Go on before me; behold, I am coming after you." But she did not tell her husband Nabal.

20 It came about as she was riding on her donkey and coming down by the hidden part of the mountain, that behold, David and his men were coming down toward her; so she met them.

21 Now David had said, "Surely in vain I have guarded all that this man has in the wilderness, so that nothing was missed of all that belonged to him; and he has [a]returned me evil for good.

22 "[a]May God do so to the enemies of David, and more also, [b]if by morning I leave as much as one [1]male of any who belong to him."

23 When Abigail saw David, she hurried and dismounted from her donkey, and fell on her face before David [a]and bowed herself to the ground.

24 She fell at his feet and said, "On me [1]alone, my lord, be the blame. And please let your maidservant speak [2]to you, and listen to the words of your maidservant.

25 "Please do not let my lord [1]pay attention to this [2]worthless man, Nabal, for as his name is, so is he. [3]Nabal is his name and folly is with him; but I your maidservant did not see the young men of my lord whom you sent.

26 "Now therefore, my lord, as the LORD lives, and as your soul lives, since the LORD has restrained you from [1]shedding blood, and [a]from [2]avenging yourself by your own hand, now then [b]let your enemies and those who seek evil against my lord, be as Nabal.

27 "Now let [a]this [1]gift which your maidservant has brought to my lord be given to the young men who [2]accompany my lord.

28 "Please forgive [a]the transgression of your maidservant; for [b]the LORD will certainly make for my lord an enduring house, because my lord is [c]fighting the battles of the LORD, and [d]evil will not be found in you all your days.

31 this will not [1]cause grief or a troubled heart to my lord, both by having shed blood without cause and by my lord having [2]avenged himself. [a]When the LORD deals well with my lord, then remember your maidservant."

32 Then David said to Abigail, "[a]Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, who sent you this day to meet me, 33 and blessed be your discernment, and blessed be you, [a]who have kept me this day from [1]bloodshed and from [2]avenging myself by my own hand.

35 So David received from her hand what she had brought him and said to her, "[a]Go up to your house in peace. See, I have listened to [1]you and [2b]granted your request."

36 Then Abigail came to Nabal, and behold, he was holding [a]a feast in his house, like the feast of a king. And Nabal's heart was merry within him, [b]for he was very drunk; so [c]she did not tell him anything [1]at all until the morning light.

37 But in the morning, when the wine had gone out of Nabal, his wife told him these things, and his heart died within him so that he became as a stone.

38 About ten days later, [a]the LORD struck Nabal and he died.

38 [a]1 Sam 26:10; 2 Sam 6:7; Ps 104:29

25:19 did not tell her husband. Cf. Michal's treatment of Saul (19:11–14).

25:22 May God do so to the enemies of David, and more also. See note on 3:17. The sense may be: "As surely as God will punish my (David's) enemies, so surely will I kill every male in Nabal's household."

25:25 worthless man. See note on Deut 13:13. as his name is, so is he. In ancient times a person's name was believed to reflect his nature and character. Nabal is his name. In Hebrew the name Nabal means "fool."

25:26 as the LORD lives. See note on 14:39.

25:28 the LORD will certainly make . . . an enduring house. While the idea that David was destined to become king in place of Saul may have spread among the general populace, Abigail's assessment of David contrasts sharply with that of her husband (see v. 10). fighting the battles of the LORD. Abigail is familiar with David's victories over the Philistines, in which he sought to glorify the Lord rather than advance his own honor (see 17:26,45–47; 18:16–17). evil will not be found in you. Abigail shows concern for the preservation of David's integrity in view of the office he was later to assume (see vv. 30–31,39).

25:29 bound in the bundle of the living. Using the figure of placing a valuable possession in a carefully wrapped package for safekeeping, Abigail assures David that the Lord will preserve his life in the midst of danger.

25:30 ruler. See note on "prince" in 9:16 (same word in Hebrew).

25:31 shed blood without cause. See note on v. 28.

25:32 who sent you. David recognizes the providential leading of the Lord in his encounter with Abigail (see v. 39).

25:36 holding a feast. See Prov 30:21–22. like the feast of a king. Another clue that the author is using Nabal as a subtle portrayal of Saul.

25:37 became as a stone. Perhaps he suffered a stroke—he who was without moral sensitivity (was a nabal; see v. 25 and note) became as senseless as a stone.

David Marries Abigail

39 When David heard that Nabal was dead, he said, "Blessed be the LORD, who has [a]pleaded the cause of my reproach from the hand of Nabal and [b]has kept back His servant from evil. The LORD has also returned the evildoing of Nabal on his own head." Then David sent [1][c]a proposal to Abigail, to take her as his wife.

40 When the servants of David came to Abigail at Carmel, they spoke to her, saying, "David has sent us to you to take you as his wife."

41 She arose [a]and bowed with her face to the ground and said, "Behold, your maidservant is a maid [b]to wash the feet of my lord's servants."

42 Then [a]Abigail quickly arose, and rode on a donkey, with her five maidens who [1]attended her; and she followed the messengers of David and became his wife.

43 David had also taken Ahinoam of [a]Jezreel, and [b]they both became his wives.

44 Now Saul had given [a]Michal his daughter, David's wife, to Palti the son of Laish, who was from [b]Gallim.

David Again Spares Saul

26 Then the Ziphites came to Saul at Gibeah, saying, "[a]Is not David hiding on the hill of Hachilah, which is before [1]Jeshimon?"

2 So Saul arose and went down to the wilderness of Ziph, having with him [a]three thousand chosen men of Israel, to search for David in the wilderness of Ziph.

3 Saul camped in the hill of Hachilah, which is before [1]Jeshimon, [a]beside the road, and David was staying in the wilderness. When [b]he saw that Saul came after him into the wilderness,

4 David sent out spies, and he knew that Saul was definitely coming.

5 David then arose and came to the place where Saul had camped. And David saw the place where Saul lay, and [a]Abner the son of Ner, the commander of his army; and Saul was lying in the circle of the camp, and the people were camped around him.

6 Then David said to Ahimelech [a]the Hittite and to [b]Abishai the son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, saying, "Who [c]will go down with me to Saul in the camp?" And Abishai said, "I will go down with you."

7 So David and Abishai came to the people by night, and behold, Saul lay sleeping inside the circle of the camp with his spear stuck in the ground at his head; and Abner and the people were lying around him.

8 Then Abishai said to David, "Today God has delivered your enemy into your hand; now therefore, please let me strike him with the spear [1]to the ground with one stroke, and I will not [2]strike him the second time."

9 But David said to Abishai, "Do not destroy him, for [a]who can stretch out his hand against the LORD'S anointed and be without guilt?"

10 David also said, "As the LORD lives, [a]surely the LORD will strike him, or [b]his day will come that he dies, or [c]he will go down into battle and perish.

11 "[a]The LORD forbid that I should stretch out my hand against the LORD'S anointed; but now please take the spear that is at his head and the jug of water, and let us go."

12 So David took the spear and the jug of water from beside Saul's head, and they went away, but no one saw or knew it, nor did any awake, for they were all asleep, because [a]a sound sleep from the LORD had fallen on them.

13 Then David crossed over to the other side and stood on top of the mountain at a distance with a large area between them.

14 David called to the people and to Abner the son of Ner, saying, "Will you not answer, Abner?" Then Abner replied, "Who are you who calls to the king?"

15 So David said to Abner, "Are you not a man? And who is like you in Israel? Why then have you not guarded your lord the king? For one of the people came to destroy the king your lord.

16 "This thing that you have done is not good. As the LORD lives, all of you [1][a]must surely die, because you did not guard your lord, the LORD'S anointed. And now, see where the king's spear is and the jug of water that was at his head."

17 Then Saul recognized David's voice and said, "[a]Is this your voice, my son

25:43 Ahinoam. David's first wife (see 27:3; 30:5; 2 Sam 2:2) and mother of his first son, Amnon (see 2 Sam 3:2). Jezreel. Located near Carmel (see v. 2; Josh 15:55) and not to be confused with the northern town of the same name, where Israel camped against the Philistines (see 29:1,11) and where Ahab resided in later times (see 1 Kin 18:45–46).

26:2 three thousand. Apparently Saul's standing army (see 24:2).

26:5 lay. David arrived at Saul's camp during the night when the men were sleeping. Abner. Saul's cousin (see 14:50).

26:6 Ahimelech the Hittite. Not referred to elsewhere. Hittites had long resided in Canaan (see note on Gen 10:15; see also Gen 15:20; 23:3–20; Deut 7:1; 20:17). Another Hittite in David's service was Uriah (see 2 Sam 11:3; 23:39). Abishai the son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother. Zeruiah was an older sister of David (1 Chr 2:16), so Abishai and Joab (and their brother Asahel, 2 Sam 2:18) were David's nephews as well as trusted military leaders. Joab would long serve as the commander of his army.

18 He also said, "[a]Why then is my lord pursuing his servant? For what have I done? Or what evil is in my hand?

19 "Now therefore, please let my lord the king listen to the words of his servant. If [a]the LORD has stirred you up against me, [b]let Him [1]accept an offering; but [c]if it is [2]men, cursed are they before the LORD, for [d]they have driven me out today so that I would have no attachment with the inheritance of the LORD, saying, 'Go, serve other gods.'

20 "Now then, do not let my blood fall to the ground away from the presence of the LORD; for the king of Israel has come out to search for [a]a single flea, just as one hunts a partridge in the mountains."

21 Then Saul said, "[a]I have sinned. Return, my son David, for I will not harm you again because my life was precious in your sight this day. Behold, I have played the fool and have committed a serious error."

25 Then Saul said to David, "[a]Blessed are you, my son David; you will both accomplish much and surely prevail." So [b]David went on his way, and Saul returned to his place.

David Flees to the Philistines

27 Then David said [1]to himself, "Now I will perish one day by the hand of Saul. [a]There is nothing better for me than [2]to escape into the land of the Philistines. Saul

26:19 let Him accept an offering. David knows no reason why God should be angry with him; but if for some reason God is behind Saul's determined effort to kill him, David appeals for God to accept an offering of appeasement (cf. 16:5)—in any event, to let the matter be settled between David and God, without Saul's involvement. cursed are they before the LORD. David commits any such men to the judgment of God. the inheritance of the LORD. See note on 10:1. David appeals to Saul's conscience by describing his present exclusion from the fellowship of God's people and from living at peace in the Lord's land. Go, serve other gods. In their view, to be expelled from the Lord's land was to be separated from the Lord's sanctuary (an OT form of excommunication) and left to serve the gods of whatever land one may settle in (see Josh 22:24–27).

26:20 search for a . . . flea. See 24:14. David suggests that Saul is making a fool of himself in his fanatical pursuit of an innocent and undesigning man.

26:21 I have sinned. See 24:17. I have played the fool. Saul confesses that his behavior has been not only unwise but also ungodly (see notes on 13:13; 25:2–44).

26:23 I refused to stretch out my hand against the LORD'S anointed. See v. 9 and note on 24:6.

26:25 you will . . . prevail. Saul makes a veiled reference to his own conviction that David will replace him as king (see 24:20).

27:1 I will perish . . . by the hand of Saul. David falters in his faith (see 23:14; 25:29) and under pressure of Saul's superior forces feels compelled to seek security outside Israel's borders. land of the Philistines. For the second time David seeks refuge then will despair of searching for me anymore in all the territory of Israel, and I will escape from his hand."

2 So David arose and crossed over, he and [a]the six hundred men who were with him, to [b]Achish the son of Maoch, king of Gath.

3 And David lived with Achish at Gath, he and his men, [a]each with his household, even David with [b]his two wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess, and Abigail the Carmelitess, Nabal's [1]widow.

4 Now it was told Saul that David had fled to Gath, so he no longer searched for him.

5 Then David said to Achish, "If now I have found favor in your sight, let them give me a place in one of the cities in the country, that I may live there; for why should your servant live in the royal city with you?"

6 So Achish gave him Ziklag that day; therefore [a]Ziklag has belonged to the kings of Judah to this day.

7 The number of days that David lived in the country of the Philistines was [a]a year and four months.

8 Now David and his men went up and raided [a]the Geshurites and the Girzites and [b]the Amalekites; for they were the inhabitants of the land from ancient times, as you come to [c]Shur even as far as the land of Egypt.

9 David [1]attacked the land and did not leave a man or a woman alive, and he [a]took away the sheep, the cattle, the donkeys, the camels, and the clothing. Then he returned and came to Achish.

10 Now Achish said, "Where have you [a]made a raid today?" And David said, "Against the [1]Negev of Judah and against the [1]Negev of [b]the Jerahmeelites and against the [1]Negev of [c]the Kenites."

11 David did not leave a man or a woman alive to bring to Gath, saying, "Otherwise they will tell about us, saying, 'So has David done and so has been his practice all the time he has lived in the country of the Philistines.' "

12 So Achish believed David, saying, "He has surely made himself odious among his people Israel; therefore he will become my servant forever."

Saul and the Spirit Medium

28 Now it came about in those days that [a]the Philistines gathered their armed camps for war, to fight against Israel. And Achish said to David, "Know assuredly that you will go out with me in the camp, you and your men."

2 David said to Achish, "Very well, you shall know what your servant can do." So Achish said to David, "Very well, I will make you [1]my bodyguard [a]for life."

3 Now [a]Samuel was dead, and all Israel had lamented him and buried him [b]in Ramah, his own city. And Saul had removed from the land those who [c]were mediums and spiritists.

in the land of the Philistines (see 21:10–15).

27:2 Achish . . . king of Gath. See 21:10. In contrast to David's previous excursion into Philistia, Achish is now ready to receive him because he has become known as a formidable adversary of Saul. Moreover, to offer sanctuary under the circumstances would obligate David and his men to serve at his call in any military venture (see 28:1).

27:3 Ahinoam. See note on 25:43. Abigail. See 25:39–42.

27:4 he no longer searched for him. Saul did not have sufficient military strength to make incursions into Philistine territory, and with David out of the country he no longer faced an internal threat to his throne.

27:5 in one of the cities in the country. David desired more independence and freedom of movement than was possible while residing under the very eyes of the king of Gath. why should your servant live in the royal city with you? David implies that he is not worthy of this honor.

27:6 Ziklag. Location unknown, but it is included in a list of towns in southern Judah (see Josh 15:31). It was given to the tribe of Simeon (see Josh 19:1–5) and was presumably occupied by them (cf. Judg 1:17–18), only to be lost to the Philistines at a later, undisclosed time. has belonged to the kings of Judah to this day. As royal property. This comment implies that the book of Samuel was written after the time of the division of Israel into the northern and southern kingdoms—an important consideration in determining the date of the writing of the book (see Introduction: Literary Features, Authorship and Date).

27:7 David lived in the country of the Philistines . . . a year and four months. It was not until after the death of Saul that David moved his residence from Ziklag (see 2 Sam 1:1; 2:1–3) to Hebron.

27:8 Geshurites. A people residing in the area south of Philistia who were not defeated by the Israelites at the time of the conquest (see Josh 13:1–3) and who are to be distinguished from the Geshurites residing in the north near the upper Jordan in Aram (see 2 Sam 3:3; 13:37–38; Deut 3:14; Josh 12:5). Girzites. Not mentioned elsewhere in the OT. Amalekites. See note on 15:2. Shur. See note on 15:7.

27:9 did not leave a man or woman alive. David's reason for this is given in v. 11; his action conformed to that of Joshua in the conquest of Canaan (see, e.g., Josh 6:21 and note on Josh 6:17).

27:10 Negev of Judah. Negev in Hebrew means "dry" and designates a large area from Beersheba to the highlands of the Sinai peninsula. Jerahmeelites. Descendants of Judah through Hezron (see 1 Chr 2:9,25). Kenites. See note on 15:6.

27:12 Achish believed David. David led Achish to believe that he was raiding outposts of Israelite territory when in actuality he was attacking the Geshurites, Girzites and Amalekites (see v. 8).

28:1 Know assuredly. In the ancient Near East, to accept sanctuary in a country involved obligations of military service (see note on 27:2).

28:2 you shall know what your servant can do. Perhaps an ambiguous answer. I will make you my bodyguard. Very likely this was conditional on David's proof of his loyalty and effectiveness in the projected campaign.

28:3 Now Samuel was dead. See 25:1. Saul could not turn to him, even in desperation. removed from the land. Possibly a euphemism for "put to death," in agreement with Pentateuchal law (see vv. 9,21). mediums and spiritists. See Lev 19:31; 20:6,27; Deut 18:11.

4 So the Philistines gathered together and came and camped [a]in Shunem; and Saul gathered all Israel together and they camped in [b]Gilboa.

5 When Saul saw the camp of the Philistines, he was afraid and his heart trembled greatly.

6 [a]When Saul inquired of the LORD, [b]the LORD did not answer him, either by [c]dreams or by [d]Urim or by prophets.

7 Then Saul said to his servants, "Seek for me a woman who is a medium, that I may go to her and inquire of her." And his servants said to him, "Behold, [a]there is a woman who is a medium at [b]En-dor."

8 Then Saul [a]disguised himself by putting on other clothes, and went, he and two men with him, and they came to the woman by night; and he said, "[b]Conjure up for me, please, and [c]bring up for me whom I shall [1]name to you."

9 But the woman said to him, "Behold, you know [a]what Saul has done, how he has cut off those who are mediums and spiritists from the land. Why are you then laying a snare for my life to bring about my death?"

10 Saul vowed to her by the LORD, saying, "As the LORD lives, no punishment shall come upon you for this thing."

11 Then the woman said, "Whom shall I bring up for you?" And he said, "Bring up Samuel for me."

12 When the woman saw Samuel, she cried out with a loud voice; and the woman spoke to Saul, saying, "Why have you deceived me? For you are Saul."

13 The king said to her, "Do not be afraid; but what do you see?" And the woman said to Saul, "I see a [1]divine being coming up out of the earth."

14 He said to her, "What is his form?" And she said, "An old man is coming up, and [a]he is wrapped with a robe." And Saul knew that it was Samuel, and [b]he bowed with his face to the ground and did homage.

15 Then Samuel said to Saul, "Why have you disturbed me by bringing me up?" And Saul answered, "I am greatly distressed; for the Philistines are waging war against me, and [a]God has departed from me and [b]no longer answers me, either through prophets or by dreams; therefore I have called you, that you may make known to me what I should do."

16 Samuel said, "Why then do you ask me, since the LORD has departed from you and has become your adversary?

17 "The LORD has done [1]accordingly [a]as He spoke through me; for the LORD has torn the kingdom out of your hand and given it to your neighbor, to David.

18 "As [a]you did not [1]obey the LORD and did not execute His fierce wrath on Amalek, so the LORD has done this thing to you this day.

19 "Moreover the LORD will also give over Israel along with you into the hands of the Philistines, therefore tomorrow [a]you and your sons will be with me. Indeed the LORD will give over the army of Israel into the hands of the Philistines!"

20 Then Saul immediately fell full length upon the ground and was very afraid because of the words of Samuel; also there was no strength in him, for he had eaten no [1]food all day and all night.

21 The woman came to Saul and saw that he was terrified, and said to him, "Behold, your maidservant has [1]obeyed you, and [a]I have [2]taken my life in my hand and have listened to your words which you spoke to me.

28:4 Shunem. The Philistines assembled their forces far to the north, along the plain of Jezreel in the territory of Issachar (see Josh 19:18). Gilboa. A range of mountains east of the plain of Jezreel.

28:5 his heart trembled greatly. Because he is estranged from the Lord and is not performing his role as the true theocratic king (see note on 17:11).

28:6 Saul inquired of the LORD. Presumably through the agency of a priest. Saul seems to sense disaster in the approaching battle and seeks divine revelation concerning its outcome. dreams. Direct personal revelation (see Num 12:6 and note). Urim. Revelation through the priest (see note on 2:28). Since the authentic ephod and its Urim were with Abiathar, who was aligned with David (see 23:2,6,9), either Saul had fabricated another ephod for his use or the author used a conventional statement including the three visual forms of revelation to underscore his point. prophets. David had a prophet (Gad, 22:5), but after Samuel's alienation from Saul (15:35) no prophet served Saul.

28:7 Seek for me a woman who is a medium. In his desperation Saul turns to a pagan practice that he himself had previously outlawed (v. 3) in accordance with the Mosaic law (see Lev 19:26,31). En-dor. Located about six miles northwest of Shunem (see v. 4; Josh 17:11).

28:9 Why are you then laying a snare for my life . . .? The woman is very cautious about practicing her trade with strangers lest she be betrayed to Saul (see note on v. 3).

28:10 As the LORD lives. See note on 14:39.

28:12 When the woman saw Samuel. The episode has been understood in many different ways, among them the following: 1. God permitted the spirit of Samuel to appear to the woman. 2. The woman had contact with an evil or devilish spirit in the form of Samuel by whom she was deceived and controlled. 3. By using parapsychological powers such as telepathy or clairvoyance, the woman was able to discern Saul's thoughts and picture Samuel in her own mind. Whatever the explanation of this mysterious affair, the medium was used in some way to convey to Saul that the impending battle would bring death, would dash his hopes for a dynasty and would conclude his reign with a devastating defeat of Israel that would leave the nation at the mercy of the Philistines, the very people against whom he had struggled all his years as king. And this would come, as Samuel had previously announced (15:26,28), because of his unfaithfulness to the Lord. she cried out . . . you are Saul. By whatever means, the medium suddenly becomes aware that she is dealing with Saul.

28:14 An old man . . . wrapped with a robe. Saul remembers Samuel as customarily dressed in this apparel (see 15:27).

28:21 The woman came to Saul. This statement suggests that the woman removed herself from the direct view of Saul while she gave her oracles.

22 "So now also, please listen to the voice of your maidservant, and let me set a piece of bread before you that you may eat and have strength when you go on your way."

23 But he refused and said, "[a]I will not eat." [b]However, his servants together with the woman urged him, and he listened to [1]them. So he arose from the ground and sat on [c]the bed.

24 The woman had a [a]fattened calf in the house, and she quickly slaughtered it; and she [b]took flour, kneaded it and baked unleavened bread from it.

25 She brought it before Saul and his servants, and they ate. Then they arose and went away that night.

The Philistines Mistrust David

29 Now [a]the Philistines gathered together all their armies to [b]Aphek, while the Israelites were camping by the spring which is in [c]Jezreel.

2 And the lords of the Philistines were proceeding on by hundreds and by thousands, and [a]David and his men were proceeding on in the rear with Achish.

3 Then the commanders of the Philistines said, "What are these Hebrews doing here?" And Achish said to the commanders of the Philistines, "Is this not David, the servant of Saul the king of Israel, [a]who has been with me these days, or rather these years, and [b]I have found no fault in him from the day he [1]deserted to me to this day?"

4 But the commanders of the Philistines were angry with him, and the commanders of the Philistines said to him, "Make the man go back, that he may return [a]to his place where you have assigned him, and do not let him go down to battle with us, [b]or in the battle he may become an adversary to us. For with what could this man make himself acceptable to his lord? Would it not be with the heads of [1]these men?

5 "Is this not David, [a]of whom they sing in the dances, saying,

'Saul has slain his thousands,
And David his ten thousands'?"

6 Then Achish called David and said to him, "As the LORD lives, you have been upright, and [a]your going out and your coming in with me in the army are pleasing in my sight; [b]for I have not found evil in you from the day of your coming to me to this day. Nevertheless, you are not pleasing in the sight of the lords.

7 "Now therefore return and go in peace, that you may not displease the lords of the Philistines."

8 David said to Achish, "[a]But what have I done? And what have you found in your servant from the day when I came before you to this day, that I may not go and fight against the enemies of my lord the king?"

9 But Achish replied to David, "I know that you are pleasing in my sight, [a]like an angel of God; nevertheless [b]the commanders of the Philistines have said, 'He must not go up with us to the battle.'

10 "Now then arise early in the morning [a]with the servants of your lord who have come with you, and as soon as you have arisen early in the morning and have light, depart."

11 So David arose early, he and his men, to depart in the morning to return to the land of the Philistines. And the Philistines went up to Jezreel.

David's Victory over the Amalekites

30 Then it happened when David and his men came to [a]Ziklag on the third day, that [b]the Amalekites had made a raid on the [1]Negev and on [c]Ziklag, and had [2]overthrown Ziklag and burned it with fire;

2 and they took captive the women and all who were in it, both small and great, [1a]without killing anyone, and carried them off and went their way.

3 When David and his men came to the city, behold, it was burned with fire, and their wives and their sons and their daughters had been taken captive.

4 Then David and the people who were with him [a]lifted their voices and wept until there was no strength in them to weep.

5 Now [a]David's two wives had been tak-

29:1 the Philistines gathered . . . all their armies. The narrative flow broken at 28:2 is resumed. Aphek. A place in the vicinity of Shunem (28:4), to be distinguished from another place of the same name referred to in 4:1 (see 1 Kin 20:26,30; 2 Kin 13:17).
29:2 lords of the Philistines. See note on 5:8.
29:3 I have found no fault in him. David's tactics described in 27:10–12 were highly successful.
29:4 place where you have assigned him. See 27:6. in the battle he may become an adversary to us. The Philistines had experienced just such a reversal on a previous occasion (see 14:21).
29:6 As the LORD lives. See note on 14:39. Achish swears by the God of Israel apparently as a means of proving his sincerity to David.
29:8 But what have I done? David pretends disappointment in order to keep intact his strategy of deception. In reality this turn of events rescued David from a serious dilemma. what have you found . . . that I may not go and fight against the enemies of my lord the king? David again uses an ambiguous statement (see 28:2). To whom was he referring as "my lord the king"—Achish or Saul or the Lord?
29:9 like an angel of God. A common simile.
29:11 Jezreel. The place of Israel's camp (see v. 1).
30:1–31:13 While Saul goes to his death at the hands of the Philistines, David is drawn into and pursues the Lord's continuing war with the Amalekites (see 15:2–3 and notes).
30:1 Ziklag. See note on 27:6. Amalekites. See 27:8 and note on 15:2. The absence of David and his warriors gave the Amalekites opportunity for revenge. Negev. See note on 27:10.

en captive, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess and Abigail the [1]widow of Nabal the Carmelite.

6 Moreover David was greatly distressed because [a]the people spoke of stoning him, for all the people were [1]embittered, each one because of his sons and his daughters. But [b]David strengthened himself in the LORD his God.

7 Then [a]David said to [b]Abiathar the priest, the son of Ahimelech, "Please bring me the ephod." So Abiathar brought the ephod to David.

8 [a]David inquired of the LORD, saying, "[b]Shall I pursue this band? Shall I overtake them?" And He said to him, "Pursue, for you will surely overtake them, [c]and you will surely rescue all."

9 So David went, [a]he and the six hundred men who were with him, and came to the brook Besor, where those left behind remained.

10 But David pursued, he and four hundred men, for [a]two hundred who were too exhausted to cross the brook Besor remained behind.

11 Now they found an Egyptian in the field and brought him to David, and gave him bread and he ate, and they provided him water to drink.

12 They gave him a piece of fig cake and two clusters of raisins, and he ate; [a]then his spirit [1]revived. For he had not eaten bread or drunk water for three days and three nights.

13 David said to him, "To whom do you belong? And where are you from?" And he said, "I am a young man of Egypt, a servant of an Amalekite; and my master left me behind when I fell sick three days ago.

14 "We made a raid on [a]the [1]Negev of the Cherethites, and on that which belongs to Judah, and on [b]the [1]Negev of Caleb, and [c]we burned Ziklag with fire."

15 Then David said to him, "Will you bring me down to this band?" And he said, "Swear to me by God that you will not kill me or deliver me into the hands of my master, and I will bring you down to this band."

16 When he had brought him down, behold, they were [1]spread over all the land, [a]eating and drinking and [2]dancing because of [b]all the great spoil that they had taken from the land of the Philistines and from the land of Judah.

17 David [1]slaughtered them [a]from the twilight [2]until the evening of [3]the next day; and not a man of them escaped, except four hundred young men who rode on [b]camels and fled.

18 So David [a]recovered all that the Amalekites had taken, and [1]rescued his two wives.

19 But nothing of theirs was missing, whether small or great, sons or daughters, spoil or anything that they had taken for themselves; [a]David brought it all back.

20 So David had [1]captured all the sheep and the cattle which the people drove ahead of [2]the other livestock, and they said, "[a]This is David's spoil."

The Spoils Are Divided

21 When [a]David came to the two hundred men who were too exhausted to follow David, who had also been left at the brook Besor, and they went out to meet David and to meet the people who were with him, then David approached the people and greeted them.

22 Then all the wicked and worthless men among those who went with David said, "Because they did not go with [1]us, we will not give them any of the spoil that we have recovered, except to every man his wife and his children, that they may lead them away and depart."

23 Then David said, "You must not do so, my brothers, with what the LORD has given us, who has kept us and delivered into our hand the band that came against us.

24 "And who will listen to you in this matter? For [a]as his share is who goes down to the battle, so shall his share be who stays by the baggage; they shall share alike."

25 So it has been from that day forward, that he made it a statute and an ordinance for Israel to this day.

26 Now when David came to Ziklag, he sent some of the spoil to the elders of Judah, to his friends, saying, "Behold, [a]a [1]gift for you from the spoil of [b]the enemies of the LORD:

27 to those who were in [a]Bethel, and to those who were in [b]Ramoth of the [1]Negev, and to those who were in [c]Jattir,

28 and to those who were in [a]Aroer, and to those who were in Siphmoth, and to those who were in [b]Eshtemoa,

29 and to those who were in Racal, and to those who were in the cities of [a]the Jerahmeelites, and to those who were in the cities of [b]the Kenites,

Saul and His Sons Slain

31 [a]Now the Philistines were fighting against Israel, and the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines and fell slain [b]on Mount Gilboa.

2 The Philistines overtook Saul and his sons; and the Philistines [1]killed [a]Jonathan and Abinadab and Malchi-shua the sons of Saul.

3 [a]The battle went heavily against Saul, and the archers [1]hit him; and he was badly wounded by the archers.

4 [a]Then Saul said to his armor bearer, "Draw your sword and pierce me through with it, otherwise [b]these uncircumcised will come and pierce me through and make sport of me." But his armor bearer would not, for he was greatly afraid. [c]So Saul took his sword and fell on it.

5 When his armor bearer saw that Saul was dead, he also fell on his sword and died with him.

6 Thus Saul died with his three sons, his armor bearer, and all his men on that day together.

7 When the men of Israel who were on the other side of the valley, with those who were beyond the Jordan, saw that the men of Israel had fled and that Saul and his sons were dead, they abandoned the cities and fled; then the Philistines came and lived in them.

8 It came about on the [1]next day when the Philistines came to strip the slain, that they found Saul and his three sons fallen on Mount Gilboa.

9 They cut off his head and stripped off his weapons, and sent them [1]throughout the land of the Philistines, [a]to carry the good news [b]to the house of their idols and to the people.

10 They put his weapons in the [1]temple of [a]Ashtaroth, and [b]they fastened his body to the wall of [c]Beth-shan.

11 Now when [a]the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead heard [1]what the Philistines had done to Saul, 12 [a]all the valiant men rose and walked all night, and took the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons from the wall of Beth-shan, and they came to Jabesh and [b]burned them there.

13 They took their bones and [a]buried them under [b]the tamarisk tree at Jabesh, and [c]fasted seven days.

31:4 uncircumcised. See 14:6 and note. make sport of me. A practice that was not uncommon; previously the Philistines had mutilated and humiliated Samson after his capture (see Judg 16:23–25). took his sword and fell on it. The culmination of a long process of self-destruction.

31:6 all his men. Those who had served around him in his administration (but see note on v. 2).

31:9 They cut off his head. David had done the same to Goliath (see 17:51). sent them throughout the land. Saul's head and armor served as proof and trophies of their victory.

31:10 They put his weapons in the temple. Symbolic of ascribing the victory to the Philistine gods.

31:11 Jabesh-gilead. See note on 11:1.

31:12 took the body of Saul and . . . his sons. The men of Jabesh-gilead had not forgotten how Saul had come to their defense when they were threatened by the Ammonites (see ch. 11). burned them. Cremation was not customary in ancient Israel and here appears to have been done to prevent any further abuse of the bodies of Saul and his sons by the Philistines.

31:13 took their bones and buried them. David later had their remains removed from Jabesh and placed in the family burial grounds of Zela in Benjamin (see 2 Sam 21:12–14). fasted seven days. As an indication of their mourning for Saul (cf. 2 Sam 1:12; 3:35; 12:16,21–23).

Contents and Theme: Kingship and Covenant

2 Samuel depicts David as a true (though imperfect) representative of the ideal theocratic king. David was initially acclaimed king at Hebron by the tribe of Judah (chs. 1—4), and subsequently was accepted by the remaining tribes after the murder of Ish-bosheth, one of Saul's surviving sons (5:1–5). David's leadership was decisive and effective. He captured Jerusalem from the Jebusites and made it his royal city and residence (5:6–14). Shortly afterward he brought the ark of the Lord from the house of Abinadab to Jerusalem, publicly acknowledging the Lord's kingship and rule over himself and the nation (ch. 6; Ps 132:3–5).

Under David's rule the Lord caused the nation to prosper, to defeat its enemies and, in fulfillment of His promise (see Gen 15:18), to extend its borders from Egypt to the Euphrates (ch. 8). David wanted to build a temple for the Lord—as His royal house, as a place for His throne (the ark) and as a place for Israel to worship Him. But the prophet Nathan told David that he was not to build the Lord a house (temple); rather, the Lord would build David a house (dynasty). Ch. 7 announces the Lord's promise that this Davidic dynasty would endure forever. This climactic chapter also describes the establishment of the Davidic covenant (see Ps 89:34–37), a covenant that promises ultimate victory over the evil one through the offspring of Eve (see Gen 3:15 and note). This promise—which had come to be focused on Shem and his descendants (see Gen 9:26–27 and notes), then on Abraham and his descendants (see Gen 12:2–3; 13:16; 15:5 and notes) and then on Judah and his (royal) descendants (see Gen 49:8–11 and notes)—is now focused specifically on the royal family of David. Later the prophets make clear that a descendant of David who sits on David's throne will perfectly fulfill the role of the theocratic king. He will complete the redemption of God's people (see Is 9:6–7; 11:1–16; Jer 23:5–6; 30:8–9; 33:14–16; Ezek 34:23–24; 37:24–25), thus enabling them to achieve the promised victory with Him (Rom 16:20).

After the description of David's rule in its glory and success, chs. 10—20 depict the darker side of his reign and describe David's weaknesses and failures. Even though David remained a king after God's own heart because he was willing to acknowledge his sin and repent (12:13), he nevertheless fell far short of the theocratic ideal and suffered the disciplinary results of his disobedience (12:10–12). His sin with Bathsheba (chs. 11—12) and his leniency both with the wickedness of his sons (13:21; 14:1,33; 19:4–6) and with the insubordination of Joab (3:29,39; 20:10,23) led to intrigue, violence and bloodshed within his own family and the nation. It eventually drove him from Jerusalem at the time of Absalom's rebellion. Nonetheless the Lord was gracious to David, and his reign became a standard by which the reigns of later kings were measured (see 2 Kin 18:3; 22:2).

The book ends with David's own words of praise to God, who had delivered him from all his enemies (22:31–51), and with words of expectation for the fulfillment of God's promise that a king will come from the house of David and rule "over men righteously" (23:3–5). These songs echo many of the themes of Hannah's song (1 Sam 2:1–10), and together they frame (and interpret) the basic narrative.

David Learns of Saul's Death

1 Now it came about after [a]the death of Saul, when David had returned from [b]the slaughter of the Amalekites, that David remained two days in Ziklag.

2 On the third day, behold, [a]a man came out of the camp from Saul, [b]with his clothes torn and [1]dust on his head. And it came about when he came to David that [c]he fell to the ground and prostrated himself.

3 Then David said to him, "From where do you come?" And he said to him, "I have escaped from the camp of Israel."

4 David said to him, "[a]How did things go? Please tell me." And he said, "The people have fled from the battle, and also many of the people have fallen and are dead; and Saul and Jonathan his son are dead also."

5 So David said to the young man who told him, "How do you know that Saul and his son Jonathan are dead?"

6 The young man who told him said, "By chance I happened to be on [a]Mount Gilboa, and behold, [b]Saul was leaning on his spear. And behold, the chariots and the horsemen pursued him closely.

7 "When he looked behind him, he saw me and called to me. And I said, 'Here I am.'

8 "He said to me, 'Who are you?' And I [1]answered him, '[a]I am an Amalekite.'

9 "Then he said to me, 'Please stand beside me and kill me, for agony has seized me because my [1]life still lingers in me.'

10 "So I stood beside him [a]and killed him, because I knew that he could not live after he had fallen. And [b]I took the crown which was on his head and the bracelet which was on his arm, and I have brought them here to my lord."

11 Then [a]David took hold of his clothes and tore them, and so also did all the men who were with him.

12 They mourned and wept and [a]fasted until evening for Saul and his son Jonathan and for the people of the LORD and the house of Israel, because they had fallen by the sword.

13 David said to the young man who told him, "Where are you from?" And he [1]answered, "[a]I am the son of an alien, an Amalekite."

14 Then David said to him, "How is it you were not afraid [a]to stretch out your hand to destroy the LORD'S anointed?"

15 And David called one of the young men and said, "Go, [1]cut him down." [a]So he struck him and he died.

16 David said to him, "[a]Your blood is on your head, for [b]your mouth has testified against you, saying, 'I have killed the LORD'S anointed.' "

David's Dirge for Saul and Jonathan

17 Then David [a]chanted with this lament over Saul and Jonathan his son,

18 and he told them to teach the sons of Judah the song of the bow; behold, it is written in [a]the book of Jashar.

19 "[1]Your beauty, O Israel, is slain on your high places!
[a]How have the mighty fallen!

1:1 after the death of. See Josh 1:1; Judg 1:1. The narrative thread of 1 Samuel is continued. 1 and 2 Samuel were originally one book (see Introduction to 1 Samuel: Title). David had returned from the slaughter of the Amalekites. See 1 Sam 30:26. Ziklag. See note on 1 Sam 27:6.

1:2 his clothes torn and dust on his head. See note on 1 Sam 4:12; see also Josh 7:6; Acts 14:14.

1:8 Amalekite. It is not necessary to conclude from v. 3 that this Amalekite was a member of Saul's army. His statement that he "happened to be on Mount Gilboa" (v. 6) is probably not as innocent as it appears. He may have been there as a scavenger to rob the fallen soldiers of their valuables and weapons. It is ironic that Saul's death is reported by an Amalekite (see 1 Sam 15).

1:10 I stood beside him and killed him. The Amalekite's story conflicts with 1 Sam 31:3–6, where Saul is depicted as taking his own life. It appears that the Amalekite fabricated this version of Saul's death, expecting David to reward him (see 4:10). His miscalculation of David's response cost him his life (see v. 15). I took the crown. Apparently he got to Saul before the Philistines did (see 1 Sam 31:8–9).

1:11 took hold of his clothes and tore them. See note on 1 Sam 4:12.

1:12 mourned and wept. David and his men expressed their grief in typical Near Eastern fashion (see Gen 23:2; 1 Kin 13:30; Jer 22:18). fasted. See 3:35; 1 Sam 31:13.

1:13 Amalekite. The man was probably unaware of David's recent hostile encounters with the Amalekites (see v. 1; 1 Sam 30; see also note on 1 Sam 15:2).

1:14 The Amalekite understood nothing of the deep significance that David attached to the sanctity of the royal office in Israel (see note on 1 Sam 24:6). the LORD's anointed. See note on 1 Sam 9:16.

1:15 cut him down David displays no personal satisfaction over Saul's death and condemns to death the one he believes to be his murderer (see note on v. 10; see also 4:10).

1:16 Your blood is on your head. The Amalekite's own testimony brought about his execution (see Josh 2:19; 1 Kin 2:37).

1:17 lament. It was a common practice in the ancient Near East to compose laments for fallen leaders and/or heroes.

1:18 song of the bow. Perhaps David taught his men to sing this lament while they practiced the bow (Israel's most common weapon; see, e.g., 22:35) as a motivation to master the weapon thoroughly so they would not experience a similar defeat (see note on Ezek 21:9). book of Jashar. See note on Josh 10:13.

1:19 Your beauty. A reference to Saul and Jonathan as divinely designated leaders of God's covenant people, who had achieved many significant victories over Israel's enemies (see 1 Sam 14:47–48 and note). high places. Of Gilboa (see vv. 21,25; 1 Sam 31:1). How have the mighty fallen! The theme of David's lament (see v. 27). David's words contain no suggestion of bitterness toward Saul but rather recall the good qualities and accomplishments of Saul and Jonathan.

1:20 Tell it not in Gath . . . Ashkelon. As the major Philistine cities located the closest and farthest from Israel's borders, Gath and Ashkelon represent the entire Philistine nation. David does not want the enemies of God's covenant people to take pleasure in Israel's defeat (as he knew they would; see 1 Sam

2 So David went up there, and [a]his two wives also, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess and Abigail the [1]widow of Nabal the Carmelite.

3 And [a]David brought up his men who were with him, each with his household; and they lived in the cities of Hebron.

4 Then the men of Judah came and there [a]anointed David king over the house of Judah.

And they told David, saying, "It was [b]the men of Jabesh-gilead who buried Saul."

5 David sent messengers to the men of Jabesh-gilead, and said to them, "[a]May you be blessed of the LORD because you have [1]shown this kindness to Saul your lord, and have buried him.

6 "Now [a]may the LORD [1]show lovingkindness and truth to you; and I also will [1]show this goodness to you, because you have done this thing.

31:9–10) and thus bring reproach on the name of the Lord (see Ex 32:12; Num 14:13–19; Deut 9:28; Josh 7:9; Mic 1:10). uncircumcised. See note on 1 Sam 14:6.

1:21 O mountains of Gilboa. As an expression of profound grief, David rhetorically pronounces a curse on the place where Israel was defeated and Saul and Jonathan were killed (for other such rhetorical curses see Job 3:3–26; Jer 20:14–18). not anointed with oil. Leather shields were rubbed with oil to preserve them (see Is 21:5).

1:23 in their death they were not parted. Even though Jonathan opposed his father's treatment of David, he gave his life beside his father in Israel's defense.

1:26 more wonderful Than the love of women. David is not suggesting that marital love is inferior to that of friendship, nor do his remarks have any sexual implications. He is simply calling attention to Jonathan's nearly inexplicable self-denying commitment to David, whom he had long recognized as the Lord's choice to succeed his father rather than himself (see notes on 1 Sam 20:13–16).

1:27 weapons of war. Probably a metaphor for Saul and Jonathan.

2:1 David inquired of the LORD. By means of the ephod through the priest Abiathar (see notes on Ex 28:30; 1 Sam 2:28; 23:2). one of the cities of Judah. Even though Saul was dead and David had many friends and contacts among the people of his own tribe (see 1 Sam 30:26–31), David did not presume to return from Philistine territory to assume the kingship promised to him without first seeking the Lord's guidance. Hebron. An old and important city (see Gen 13:18; 23:2; Josh 15:13–15; see also note on 1 Sam 30:31) centrally located in the tribe of Judah.

2:2 Ahinoam the Jezreelitess. See note on 1 Sam 25:43. Abigail. See 1Sa 25.

2:3 men who were with him. See 1 Sam 22:2; 23:13; 30:3,9.

2:4 anointed David king. See notes on 1 Sam 2:10; 9:16. David had previously been anointed privately by Samuel in the presence of his own family (see note on 1 Sam 16:13). Here the anointing ceremony is repeated as a public recognition by his own tribe of his divine calling to be king. over the house of Judah. Very likely the tribe of Simeon was also involved (see Josh 19:1; Judg 1:3), but the Judahites in every way dominated the area. men of Jabesh-gilead. See notes on 1 Sam 11:1; 31:12. buried Saul. See note on 1 Sam 31:13.

2:7 your lord is dead . . . the house of Judah has anointed me king over them. David's concluding statement to the men of Jabesh-gilead is a veiled invitation to them to recognize him as their king just as the tribe of Judah had done. This appeal for their support, however, was ignored (see 1 Sam 2:8–9).

2:8 Saul's army. His small standing army of professionals loyal to him and his family (see 1 Sam 13:2,15; 14:2,52). Ish-bosheth. The name was originally Eshbaal (1 Chr 8:33) but was changed by the author of Samuel to Ish-bosheth, meaning "man of shame" (see note on 4:4). Evidently Baal (meaning "lord" or "master") was at this time still used to refer to the Lord. Later this was discontinued because of confusion with the Canaan-

9 He made him king over [a]Gilead, over the [b]Ashurites, over [c]Jezreel, over Ephraim, and over Benjamin, even over all Israel.

10 Ish-bosheth, Saul's son, was forty years old when he became king over Israel, and he was king for two years. The house of Judah, however, followed David.

11 [a]The [1]time that David was king in Hebron over the house of Judah was seven years and six months.

Civil War

12 Now Abner the son of Ner, went out from Mahanaim to [a]Gibeon with the servants of Ish-bosheth the son of Saul.

13 And [a]Joab the son of Zeruiah and the servants of David went out and met [1]them by the pool of Gibeon; and they sat down, [2]one on the one side of the pool and [2]the other on the other side of the pool.

14 Then Abner said to Joab, "Now let the young men arise and [1][a]hold a contest before us." And Joab said, "Let them arise."

15 So they arose and went over by count, twelve for Benjamin and Ish-bosheth the son of Saul, and twelve of the servants of David.

16 Each one of them seized his [1]opponent by the head and thrust his sword in his [2]opponent's side; so they fell down together. Therefore that place was called [3]Helkath-hazzurim, which is in Gibeon.

17 That day the battle was very severe, and [a]Abner and the men of Israel were beaten before the servants of David.

18 Now [a]the three sons of Zeruiah were there, Joab and Abishai and Asahel; and Asahel was [b]as [1]swift-footed as one of the gazelles which is in the field.

19 Asahel pursued Abner and did not [1]turn to the right or to the left from following Abner.

20 Then Abner looked behind him and said, "Is that you, Asahel?" And he answered, "It is I."

21 So Abner said to him, "[1]Turn to your right or to your left, and take hold of one of the young men for yourself, and take for yourself his spoil." But Asahel was not willing to turn aside from following him.

22 Abner repeated again to Asahel, "Turn [1]aside from following me. Why should I strike you to the ground? [a]How then could I lift up my face to your brother Joab?"

23 However, he refused to turn aside; therefore Abner struck him in the belly with the butt end of the spear, so that the spear came out at his back. And he fell there and died on the spot. And it came about that all who came to the place where [a]Asahel had fallen and died, stood still.

24 But Joab and Abishai pursued Abner, and when the sun was going down, they came to the hill of Ammah, which is in front of Giah by the way of the wilderness of Gibeon.

25 The sons of Benjamin gathered together behind Abner and became one band, and they stood on the top of a certain hill.

26 Then Abner called to Joab and said, "Shall the sword devour forever? Do you not know that it will be bitter in the end? How long will you [1]refrain from telling the people to turn back from following their brothers?"

27 Joab said, "As God lives, if you had not ite god Baal, and the author of Samuel reflects the later sensitivity. son of Saul. See notes on 1 Sam 14:49; 31:2. brought him. Abner takes the initiative in the power vacuum created by Saul's death, using the unassertive Ish-bosheth as a pawn for his own ambitions (see 3:11; see also note on 4:1). There is no evidence that Ish-bosheth had strong support among the Israelites generally. Mahanaim. A Gileadite town in Transjordan and thus beyond the sphere of Philistine domination—a kind of refugee capital.

2:9 He made him king. As a relative of Saul (see 1 Sam 14:50), Abner had both a family and a career interest in ensuring dynastic succession for Saul's house. Gilead . . . all Israel. This delineation of Ish-bosheth's realm suggests that his actual rule, while involving territory both east and west of the Jordan, was quite limited and that the last entry ("all Israel") was more claim than reality. David ruled over Judah and Simeon, and the Philistines controlled large sections of the northern tribal regions.

2:11 seven years and six months. Cf. Ish-bosheth's two-year reign in Mahanaim (v. 10). Because it appears that David was made king over all Israel shortly after Ish-bosheth's death (5:1–5) and moved his capital to Jerusalem not long afterward (5:6–12), reconciling the lengths of David's and Ish-bosheth's reigns is difficult. The difficulty is best resolved by assuming that it took Ish-bosheth a number of years to be recognized as his father's successor, and that the two years of his reign roughly correspond to the last two or three years of David's reign in Hebron.

2:12 Abner initiates an action to prevent David's sphere of influence from spreading northward out of Judah. Gibeon was located in the tribal area of Benjamin, to which Saul and his family belonged, and which the Philistines had not occupied.

2:13 Joab the son of Zeruiah. See note on 1 Sam 26:6. Joab became a figure of major importance during David's reign as a competent but ruthless military leader (see 10:7–14; 11:1; 12:26; 1 Kin 11:15–16). At times David was unable to control him (3:39; 18:5,14; 1 Kin 2:5–6), and he was eventually executed for his wanton assassinations and his part in the conspiracy to place Adonijah rather than Solomon on David's throne (1 Kin 2:28–34). servants of David. Some, at least, of David's small force of professionals that had gathered around him (see 1 Sam 22:1–2; 23:13; 27:2; 30:9).

2:15 Benjamin. At this time Ish-bosheth seems to have been supported mainly by his own tribesmen.

2:17 That day the battle was very severe. Because the representative combat (see note on 1 Sam 17:4) by 12 men from each side was indecisive, a full-scale battle ensued in which David's forces were victorious. The attempt to use representative combat to avoid the decimation of civil war failed (see 3:1).

2:21 Turn. Abner tried unsuccessfully to avoid the necessity of killing Asahel.

2:22 How then could I lift up my face to your brother Joab? Abner did not want the hostility between himself and Joab to be intensified by the practice of blood revenge (see note on 3:27).

2:26 Shall the sword devour forever? Abner proposes an armistice as a means of avoiding the awful consequences of civil war.

2:27 As God lives. An oath formula (see note on 1 Sam 14:39).

spoken, surely then the people would have gone away in the morning, each from following his brother."

28 So Joab blew the trumpet; and all the people halted and pursued Israel no longer, [a]nor did they continue to fight anymore.

29 Abner and his men then went through the Arabah all that night; so they crossed the Jordan, walked all morning, and came to [a]Mahanaim.

30 Then Joab returned from following Abner; when he had gathered all the people together, [1]nineteen of David's servants besides Asahel were missing.

31 But the servants of David had struck down many of Benjamin and Abner's men, so that three hundred and sixty men died.

32 And they took up Asahel and buried him [a]in his father's tomb which was in Bethlehem. Then Joab and his men went all night until the day [1]dawned at Hebron.

The House of David Strengthened

3 Now [a]there was a long war between the house of Saul and the house of David; and David grew steadily stronger, but the house of Saul grew weaker continually.

2 [a]Sons were born to David at Hebron: his firstborn was Amnon, by [b]Ahinoam the Jezreelitess;

3 and his second, Chileab, by Abigail the [1]widow of Nabal the Carmelite; and the third, Absalom the son of [a]Maacah, the daughter of Talmai, king of [b]Geshur;

4 and the fourth, [a]Adonijah the son of Haggith; and the fifth, Shephatiah the son of Abital;

5 and the sixth, Ithream, by David's wife Eglah. These were born to David at Hebron.

Abner Joins David

6 It came about while there was war between the house of Saul and the house of David that [a]Abner was making himself strong in the house of Saul.

7 Now Saul had a concubine whose name was [a]Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah; and [1]Ish-bosheth said to Abner, "Why have you gone in to my father's concubine?"

8 Then Abner was very angry over the words of Ish-bosheth and said, "[a]Am I a dog's head that belongs to Judah? Today I show kindness to the house of Saul your father, to his brothers and to his friends, and have not delivered you into the hands of David; and yet today you charge me with a guilt concerning the woman.

9 "[a]May God do so to Abner, and more also, if [b]as the LORD has sworn to David, I do not accomplish this for him,

10 [a]to transfer the kingdom from the house of Saul and to establish the throne of David over Israel and over Judah, [b]from Dan even to Beersheba."

11 And he could no longer answer Abner a word, because he was afraid of him.

12 Then Abner sent messengers to David in his place, saying, "Whose is the land? Make your covenant with me, and behold, my hand shall be with you to bring all Israel over to you."

13 He said, "Good! I will make a covenant with you, but I demand one thing of you, [1]namely, [a]you shall not see my face unless you [b]first bring Michal, Saul's daughter, when you come to see [2]me."

14 So David sent messengers to Ish-bosheth, Saul's son, saying, "Give me my

2:28 nor did they continue to fight anymore. For the present the open conflict ceased, but the hostility remained (see 3:1).
2:29 Arabah. See note on Dt 1:1.
3:2–5 The list of six sons born to David in Hebron is given as an evidence of the strengthening of David's house in contrast to that of Saul (v. 1). That these six sons were each born of a different mother indirectly informs us that David married four additional wives (see 2:2) during his time in Hebron. The writer does not offer any direct criticism of this polygamous practice (see 5:13), which conflicts with Deut 17:17, but he lets the disastrous results in David's family life speak for themselves (see chs. 13–19; 1 Kin 1–2). Amnon. Later raped his sister Tamar and was killed by his brother Absalom (see ch. 13). Ahinoam the Jezreelitess. See note on 1 Sam 25:43.
3:3 Chileab. Called Daniel in 1 Chr 3:1. Abigail. See 1 Sam 25. Absalom. Later avenged the rape of Tamar by killing Amnon, and conspired against his father David in an attempt to make himself king (see chs. 13–18). Maacah, the daughter of Talmai. David's marriage to Maacah undoubtedly had political implications. With Talmai as an ally on Ish-bosheth's northern border, David flanked the northern kingdom both south and north. Geshur. A small Aramean city kingdom (see 15:8) located northeast of the Sea of Galilee (see Josh 12:5; 13:11–13).
3:4 Adonijah. Was put to death for attempting to take over the throne before Solomon could be crowned (see 1 Kin 1–2).
3:7 Rizpah. See 21:8–11. Why have you gone in to my father's concubine? Ish-bosheth suspects that Abner's act was part of a conspiracy to seize the kingship (cf. v. 6). Great significance was attached to taking the concubine of a former king (see note on 12:8; see also 16:21; 1 Kin 2:22).
3:9 May God do so to Abner, and more also. A curse formula (see note on 1 Sam 3:17). as the LORD has sworn to David. The knowledge of David's divine designation as successor to Saul had spread widely (see notes on 2:4; 1 Sam 16:13; 25:28).
3:10 transfer the kingdom. Abner was the real power behind the throne. Dan even to Beersheba. See note on 1 Sam 3:20.
3:12 Whose is the land? Possibly a rhetorical question that presumed that the land belonged either to Abner or to David. The former seems more likely from the following sentence. Make your covenant with me. Abner wants assurance that he will face no reprisals for his past loyalty to the house of Saul.
3:13 Michal, Saul's daughter. Although Saul had given Michal to David (1 Sam 18:27), he later gave her to another man after David fled from his court (1 Sam 25:44). In the minds of the northern elders, the reunion of David and Michal would strengthen David's claim to the throne as a legitimate son-in-law of Saul.
3:14 David sent messengers to Ish-bosheth. David wanted Michal returned as an open and official act of Ish-bosheth himself, rather than as part of a subterfuge planned by Abner. David knew that Ish-bosheth would not dare to defy Abner's wishes (see v. 11). a hundred foreskins of the Philistines. See 1 Sam wife Michal, to whom I was betrothed [a]for a hundred foreskins of the Philistines."

15 Ish-bosheth sent and took her from her husband, from [1]Paltiel the son of Laish.

16 But her husband went with her, weeping as he went, and followed her as far as [a]Bahurim. Then Abner said to him, "Go, return." So he returned.

17 Now Abner had [1]consultation with [a]the elders of Israel, saying, "In times past you were seeking for David to be king over you.

18 "Now then, do it! For the LORD has spoken of David, saying, '[a]By the hand of My servant David [1]I will save My people Israel from the hand of the Philistines and from the hand of all their enemies.' "

19 Abner also spoke in the hearing of Benjamin; and in addition Abner went to speak in the hearing of David in Hebron all that seemed good to Israel and to [a]the whole house of Benjamin.

20 Then Abner and twenty men with him came to David at Hebron. And David made a feast for Abner and the men who were with him.

21 Abner said to David, "Let me arise and go and [a]gather all Israel to my lord the king, that they may make a covenant with you, and that [b]you may be king over all that your soul desires." So David sent Abner away, and he went in peace.

22 And behold, [a]the servants of David and Joab came from a raid and brought much spoil with them; but Abner was not with David in Hebron, for he had sent him away, and he had gone in peace.

23 When Joab and all the army that was with him arrived, they told Joab, saying, "Abner the son of Ner came to the king, and he has sent him away, and he has gone in peace."

24 Then Joab came to the king and said, "What have you done? Behold, Abner came to you; why then have you sent him away and he is already gone?

25 "You know Abner the son of Ner, that he came to deceive you and to learn of [a]your going out and coming in and to find out all that you are doing."

Joab Murders Abner

26 When Joab came out from David, he sent messengers after Abner, and they brought him back from the well of Sirah; but David did not know it.

27 So when Abner returned to Hebron, Joab took him aside into the middle of the gate to speak with him privately, and there [a]he struck him in the belly so that he died on account of the blood of Asahel his brother.

28 Afterward when David heard it, he said, "I and my kingdom are innocent before the LORD forever of the blood of Abner the son of Ner.

29 "[a]May it [1]fall on the head of Joab and on all his father's house; and may there not fail from the house of Joab [b]one who has a discharge, or who is a leper, or who takes hold of a distaff, or who falls by the sword, or who lacks bread."

30 So Joab and Abishai his brother killed Abner [a]because he had put their brother Asahel to death in the battle at Gibeon.

David Mourns Abner

31 Then David said to Joab and to all the people who were with him, "[a]Tear your clothes and gird on sackcloth and lament before Abner." And King David walked behind the bier.

32 Thus they buried Abner in Hebron; and the king lifted up his voice and wept at [a]the grave of Abner, and all the people wept.

18:25. Saul had required 100 Philistine foreskins; David presented him with 200 (1 Sam 18:27).

3:16 Bahurim. The last Benjamite city on the way to Hebron (see 16:5; 17:18).

3:17 elders of Israel. The collective leadership of the various tribes comprised an informal national ruling body (see notes on Ex 3:16; Joel 1:2; Matt 15:2; Acts 24:1; see also 1 Sam 8:4; 2 Sam 5:3; 1 Kin 8:1,3; 20:7; 2 Kin 10:1; 23:1). you were seeking for David to be king. Apparently Ish-bosheth's support came mainly from the tribe of Benjamin (see 2:15 and note) and from Gilead in Transjordan (see 2:8; 1 Sam 11:9–11; 31:11–13).

3:18 the LORD has spoken of David. By this time Samuel's anointing of David must have become common knowledge (see 5:2). Abner probably interpreted the anointing as a promise from the Lord, since Samuel was the Lord's much-revered prophet.

3:19 Abner also spoke in the hearing of Benjamin. Because Saul and his family were from the tribe of Benjamin, Abner was careful to consult the Benjamites concerning the transfer of kingship to the tribe of Judah. Apparently they consented, but Abner was not above representing matters in a way that was favorable to his purpose.

3:21 make a covenant with you. See 5:3 and note.

3:25 he came to deceive you. Joab despised Abner for killing his brother (2:18,23; 3:27) and sought to discredit him in David's eyes as a mere opportunist. Perhaps he also sensed that his own position of leadership would be threatened if Abner joined forces with David, since Abner was obviously a power among the northern tribes.

3:27 Joab . . . struck him in the belly so that he died. Joab's murder of Abner is not to be excused either as an act of war or as justifiable blood revenge (cf. Num 35:12; Deut 19:11–13). Asahel had been killed by Abner in the course of battle (see 2:23; see also note on 2:21).

3:29 May it fall on the head of Joab and on all his father's house. After disclaiming any personal or official involvement in the plot to assassinate Abner (v. 28), David cursed Joab and thereby called on God to judge his wicked act. In this crucial hour when David's relationship to the northern tribes hung in the balance, he appears not to have felt sufficiently secure in his own position to bring Joab publicly to justice (see v. 39). The crime went unpunished until early in the reign of Solomon (1 Kin 2:5–6,29–35).

3:31 Joab. He too was compelled to join the mourners. It may be that Joab's involvement was not widely known and that David hoped to keep the matter secret for the time being.

3:32 Hebron. David's royal city at the time. the king lifted up his

33 [a]The king chanted a lament for Abner and said,

"Should Abner die as a fool dies?
34 "Your hands were not bound, nor your feet put in fetters;
As one falls before the [1]wicked, you have fallen."

And all the people wept again over him.

35 Then all the people came [a]to [1]persuade David to eat bread while it was still day; but David vowed, saying, "[b]May God do so to me, and more also, if I taste bread or anything else [c]before the sun goes down."

36 Now all the people took note of it, and it [1]pleased them, just as everything the king did [2]pleased all the people.

37 So all the people and all Israel understood that day that it had not been the will of the king to put Abner the son of Ner to death.

38 Then the king said to his servants, "Do you not know that a prince and a great man has fallen this day in Israel?

39 "I am [a]weak today, though anointed king; and these men [b]the sons of Zeruiah are too difficult for me. [c]May the LORD repay the evildoer according to his evil."

Ish-bosheth Murdered

4 Now when [1]Ish-bosheth, Saul's son, heard that [a]Abner had died in Hebron, [2b]he lost courage, and all Israel was disturbed.

2 Saul's son had two men who were commanders of bands: the name of the one was Baanah and the name of the other Rechab, sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, of the sons of Benjamin (for [a]Beeroth is also considered [b]part of Benjamin,

3 and the Beerothites fled to [a]Gittaim and have been aliens there until this day).

4 Now [a]Jonathan, Saul's son, had a son crippled in his feet. He was five years old when the [b]report of Saul and Jonathan came from Jezreel, and his nurse took him up and fled. And it happened that in her hurry to flee, he fell and became lame. And his name was [1c]Mephibosheth.

5 So the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah, departed and came to the house of [a]Ish-bosheth in the heat of the day while he was taking his midday rest.

6 [1]They came to the middle of the house as [2]if to get wheat, and [a]they struck him in the belly; and Rechab and Baanah his brother escaped.

7 Now when they came into the house, as he was lying on his bed in his bedroom, they struck him and killed him and beheaded him. And they took his head and [1a]traveled by way of the Arabah all night.

8 Then they brought the head of Ish-bosheth to David at Hebron and said to the king, "Behold, the head of Ish-bosheth [a]the son of Saul, your enemy, who sought your life; thus the LORD has given my lord the king vengeance this day on Saul and his [1]descendants."

9 David answered Rechab and Baanah his brother, sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, and said to them, "As the LORD lives, [a]who has redeemed my life from all distress,

10 [a]when one told me, saying, 'Behold, Saul is dead,' and [1]thought he was bringing good news, I seized him and killed him in Ziklag, which was the reward I gave him for his news.

11 "How much more, when wicked men have killed a righteous man in his own house on his bed, shall I not now [a]require his blood from your hand and [1]destroy you from the earth?"

12 Then [a]David commanded the young men, and they killed them and cut off their hands and feet and hung them up beside the pool in Hebron. But they took the head of Ish-bosheth [b]and buried it in the grave of Abner in Hebron.

voice and wept at the grave of Abner. Because Abner's murder had the potential of destroying the union of the nation under David's rule, David did everything possible to demonstrate his innocence to the people. In this he was successful (see vv. 36–37).

3:35 May God do so to me, and more also. A curse formula (see note on 1 Sam 3:17).

3:39 May the LORD repay the evildoer. See note on v. 29.

4:1 he lost courage. Ish-bosheth was very much aware of his dependence on Abner (see note on 2:8). all Israel was disturbed. Civil strife threatened, and the northern tribes were now without a strong leader.

4:2 Beeroth. One of the Gibeonite cities (Josh 9:17) assigned to Benjamin (Josh 18:25).

4:3 Gittaim. Its location is not known (but see Neh 11:33).

4:4 Jonathan, Saul's son, had a son crippled in his feet. The writer emphasizes that with the death of Ish-bosheth (see v. 6) there was no other viable claimant to the throne from the house of Saul. report of Saul and Jonathan. See 1:4; 1 Sam 31:2–4. Mephibosheth. See 9:1–13; 16:1–4; 19:24–30; 21:7–8. The name was originally Merib-baal (apparently meaning "opponent of Baal"; see 1 Chr 8:34), perhaps to be spelled "Meri-baal" (meaning "loved by Baal"), but was changed by the author of Samuel to Mephibosheth (meaning "from the mouth of the shameful thing"). See note on 2:8.

4:7 Arabah. See note on Deut 1:1.

4:8 the LORD has given my lord the king vengeance . . . on Saul. Recab and Baanah depict their assassination of Ish-bosheth in pious terms, expecting David to commend them for their act—a serious miscalculation.

4:9 As the LORD lives. An oath formula (see note on 1 Sam 14:39).

4:11 require his blood from your hand. An expression for the death penalty (see Gen 9:5–6). David here does what he was unable to do with Joab (see note on 3:29).

4:12 their hands and feet. The hands that had assassinated Ish-bosheth and the feet that had run with the news.

uel that have parallel passages in 1 Chronicles. In some instances these parallel accounts are nearly identical; in others there are variations.

5:1 all the tribes of Israel. Representatives of each tribe, including elders and armed soldiers (see 1 Chr 12:23–40). your bone and your flesh. The representatives of the various tribes cite three reasons for recognizing David as their king. The first of these is the acknowledgment that David is an Israelite. Even though national unity had been destroyed in the civil strife following Saul's death (2:8–3:1), this blood relationship had not been forgotten.

5:2 the one who led Israel out and in. The second reason (see note on v. 1) for recognizing David as king (see 1 Sam 18:5, 13–14,16,30). the LORD said to you. The third and most important reason (see 1 Sam 13:13–14; 16:1,13; 23:17; 25:26–31).

5:3 King David made a covenant with them before the LORD. David and Israel entered into a covenant in which both the king and the people obligated themselves before the Lord to carry out their mutual responsibilities (see 2 Kin 11:17 and note). Thus, while David was king over Judah as the one elevated to that position by his tribe and later became king over Jerusalem by conquest (vv. 6–10), his rule over the northern tribes was by virtue of a treaty (covenant) of submission. That treaty was not renewed with David's grandson Rehoboam because he refused to negotiate its terms at the time of his accession to the throne (1 Kin 12:1–16). they anointed David king over Israel. The third time David was anointed (see note on 2:4).

5:5 At Hebron he reigned . . . seven years and six months. See 2:11. Israel and Judah. The specific relationship of David to these two segments of his realm appears to have remained distinct (see note on v. 3).

5:6 Jerusalem. One of the most significant accomplishments of David's reign was the establishment of Jerusalem as his royal city and the nation's capital (see Introduction: Contents and Theme). The site was first occupied in the third millennium B.C. and was a royal city in the time of Abraham (see note on Gen 14:18). It was located on the border between Judah and Benjamin but was controlled by neither tribe. At the time of the conquest both Judah and Benjamin had attacked the city (see notes on Judg 1:8,21), but it was quickly lost again to the Jebusites (Josh 15:63) and was sometimes referred to by the name Jebus (see Judg 19:10; 1 Chr 11:4). The city David conquered covered somewhat less than 11 acres and could have housed not many more than 3,500 inhabitants. By locating his royal city in a newly conquered town on the border between the two segments of his realm, David united the kingdom under his rule without seeming to subordinate one part to the other. Jebusites. A Canaanite people (Gen 10:15–16) inhabiting the

The City of the Jebusites/David's Jerusalem

Substantial historical evidence, both Biblical and extra-Biblical, places the temple of Herod (and before it the temples of Zerubbabel and of Solomon) on the holy spot where King David built an altar to the Lord. David had purchased the land from Araunah the Jebusite, who was using the exposed bedrock as a threshing floor (2 Sam 24:18-25). Tradition claims a much older sanctity for the site, associating it with the altar of Abraham on Mount Moriah (Gen 22:1-19). The writer of Genesis equates Moriah with "the mount of the LORD," and other OT shrines originated in altars erected by Abraham.

c. 1000 B.C.

Barely 12 acres in size, Jebus, a Canaanite city, could well defend itself against attack, with walls atop steep canyons and shafts reaching an underground water source. David captured the stronghold c. 1000 B.C. and made it his capital.

Jerusalem is shown from above and at an angle; and therefore wall shapes appear different from those on flat maps. Wall locations have been determined from limited archaeological evidence; houses are artist's concept.

7 Nevertheless, David captured the stronghold of Zion, that is [a]the city of David.
8 David said on that day, "Whoever would strike the Jebusites, let him reach the lame and the blind, who are hated by David's soul, through the water tunnel." Therefore they say, "The blind or the lame shall not come into the house."
9 So David lived in the stronghold and called it [a]the city of David. And David built all around from the [1][b]Millo and inward.
10 [a]David became greater and greater, for the LORD God of hosts was with him.
11 [a]Then Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David with cedar trees and carpenters and stonemasons; and [b]they built a house for David.
12 And David realized that the LORD had established him as king over Israel, and that He had exalted his kingdom for the sake of His people Israel.
13 Meanwhile [a]David took more concubines and wives from Jerusalem, after he came from Hebron; and more sons and daughters were born to David.
14 Now [a]these are the names of those who were born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon,

War with the Philistines

17 When the Philistines heard that they had anointed David king over Israel, [a]all the Philistines went up to seek out David; and when David heard of it, he went down to the [b]stronghold.
18 Now the Philistines came and spread themselves out in [a]the valley of Rephaim.
19 Then [a]David inquired of the LORD, saying, "Shall I go up against the Philistines? Will You give them into my hand?" And [b]the LORD said to David, "Go up, for I will certainly give the Philistines into your hand."
20 So David came to [a]Baal-perazim and [1]defeated them there; and he said, "The LORD has broken through my enemies before me like the breakthrough of waters." Therefore he named that place [2]Baal-perazim.
21 They abandoned their idols there, so [a]David and his men carried them away.
22 Now [a]the Philistines came up once again and spread themselves out in the valley of Rephaim.
23 When [a]David inquired of the LORD, He said, "You shall not go directly up; circle area in (Josh 15:8; 18:16) and around (Num 13:29; Josh 11:3) Jerusalem. the blind and lame will turn you away. Jerusalem was a natural fortress because of its location on a rise surrounded on three sides by deep valleys; so the Jebusites were confident that their walls could easily be defended.

5:7 stronghold. Probably the fortified city itself. Zion. The first occurrence of the name in the OT (its meaning is unknown). Originally the name appears to have been given to the southernmost hill of the city on which the Jebusite fortress was located. As the city expanded (from the days of Solomon onward), the name continued to be applied to the entire city (see Is 1:8; 2:3).

5:8 David said on that day. 1 Chr 11:6 may be combined with this verse for a more complete account. Joab's part in the conquest of the city demonstrated again his military prowess and reconfirmed him in the position of commander of David's armies. the lame and the blind. An ironic reference to the Jebusites (cf. v. 6). water tunnel. Although the Hebrew for this term is obscure, it appears that David knew of a secret tunnel—perhaps running from the Gihon spring outside the city into the fortress—that gave access to water when the city was under siege (see 2 Chr 32:30). The blind or the lame shall not come into the house. The proverb may mean that the Jebusites did not have access to the royal palace, though they were allowed to remain in the city and its environs.

5:9 Millo. Some archaeologists believe the "Millo" was the system of stone terraces on the steep slope of Jerusalem's hill, creating additional space for buildings (see notes on Judg 9:6; 1 Kin 9:15).

5:11 Hiram king of Tyre. This Phoenician king was the first to accord the newly established King David international recognition. It was vital to him that he have good relations with the king of Israel since Israel dominated the inland trade routes to Tyre, and Tyre was dependent on Israelite agriculture for much of its food (also true in the first century A.D.; see Acts 12:20). A close relationship existed between these two realms until the Babylonian invasions. Tyre. An important Phoenician seaport on the Mediterranean coast north of Israel (see Ezek 26–27).

5:12 David realized that the LORD had established him as king. In the ideology of the ancient Near East the king's possession of a palace was the chief symbolic indication of his status. for the sake of His people Israel. David acknowledged that his elevation to kingship over all Israel was the Lord's doing and that it was an integral part of His continuing redemptive program for Israel—just as the ministries of Moses, Joshua, the judges and Samuel had been.

5:13 David took more concubines and wives. See note on 3:2–5.

5:14 Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon. 1 Chr 3:5 designates Bathsheba as their mother.

5:17 When the Philistines heard that they had anointed David king. Chronologically it is likely that the Philistine attack followed immediately after the events of v. 3 and before the capture of Jerusalem (vv. 6–14). (The author arranged his narrative by topics; see note on 7:1.) The Philistines had not been disturbed by David's reign over Judah, but now they acted to protect their interests in the north, much of which they dominated after the defeat of Saul (1 Sam 31). stronghold. Probably a reference to the wilderness area in southern Judah where David had hidden from Saul (see notes on 1 Sam 22:4; 23:14). This action of David suggests that he had not yet taken Jerusalem.

5:19 David inquired of the LORD. See notes on 2:1; 1 Sam 2:28; 22:20; 23:2.

5:20 the LORD has broken through . . . Baal-perazim. See NASB marg. As a true theocratic king, David attributes the victory to the Lord and does not claim the glory for himself (see notes on 1 Sam 10:18,27; 11:13; 12:11; 14:23; 17:11,45–47).

5:21 abandoned their idols there. As the Israelites had taken the ark into battle (see note on 1 Sam 4:3), so the Philistines carried images of their deities into battle in the hope that this would ensure victory. carried them away. In compliance with the instruction of Deut 7:5, they also burned them (1 Chr 14:12).

5:23 He said. As had been true in the case of the conquest under Joshua, the Lord ordered the battle and He Himself marched against the enemy with His heavenly host (see Josh

24 "It shall be, when [a]you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the [1]balsam trees, then you shall act promptly, for then [b]the LORD will have gone out before you to strike the army of the Philistines."

25 Then David did so, just as the LORD had commanded him, and struck down the Philistines from [1a]Geba [2]as far as [b]Gezer.

Peril in Moving the Ark

6 [a]Now David again gathered all the chosen men of Israel, thirty thousand.

2 And David arose and went with all the people who were with him to [1a]Baale-judah, to bring up from there the ark of God which is called by the [b]Name, the very name of the LORD of hosts who [c]is [2]enthroned above the cherubim.

3 They [1]placed the ark of God on [a]a new cart that they might bring it from the house of Abinadab which was on the hill; and Uzzah and Ahio, the sons of Abinadab, were leading the new cart.

4 So [a]they brought it with the ark of God from the house of Abinadab, which was on the hill; and Ahio was walking ahead of the ark.

5 Meanwhile, David and all the house of Israel [a]were celebrating before the LORD [b]with all kinds of instruments made of [1]fir wood, and with lyres, harps, tambourines, castanets and cymbals.

6 But when they came to the [a]threshing floor of Nacon, Uzzah [b]reached out toward the ark of God and took hold of it, for the oxen nearly upset it.

7 And the anger of the LORD burned against Uzzah, and [a]God struck him down there for [1]his irreverence; and he died there by the ark of God.

8 David became angry because [1]of the LORD's outburst against Uzzah, and that place is called [2]Perez-uzzah to this day.

9 So [a]David was afraid of the LORD that day; and he said, "How can the ark of the LORD come to me?"

10 And David was unwilling to move the ark of the LORD into the city of David with him; but David took it aside to the house of [a]Obed-edom the Gittite.

11 Thus the ark of the LORD remained in the house of Obed-edom the Gittite three months, and the LORD [a]blessed Obed-edom and all his household.

The Ark Is Brought to Jerusalem

12 Now it was told King David, saying, "The LORD has blessed the house of Obed-edom and all that belongs to him, on account of the ark of God." [a]David went and brought up the ark of God from the house of Obed-edom into [b]the city of David with gladness.

13 And so it was, that when the [a]bearers of the ark of the LORD had gone six paces, he sacrificed an [b]ox and a fatling.

14 And [a]David was dancing before the LORD with all his might, and David was [1b]wearing a linen ephod.

15 So David and all the house of Israel were bringing up the ark of the LORD with shouting and the sound of the trumpet.

16 Then it happened as the ark of the LORD came into the city of David that [a]Michal the daughter of Saul looked out of 6:2–5; 8:1–2; 10:8,14; 11:6). David's wars were a continuation and completion of the wars fought by Joshua.

5:24 sound of marching. The heavenly host of the Lord going into battle.

6:2 Baale-judah. That is, Kiriath-jearim (see Josh 15:60; 18:14; 1 Sam 6:21; 7:1; se also note on 1 Ch 13:6). ark of God. See Ex 25:10–22; see also notes on 1 Sam 4:3–4,21. The ark had remained at Kiriath-jearim during the reign of Saul. called by the Name. Used elsewhere to designate ownership (see 12:28; Deut 28:10; Is 4:1; 63:19). LORD of hosts. See note on 1 Sam 1:3. enthroned above the cherubim. See note on 1 Sam 4:4; see also 1 Chr 28:2 ("footstool of our God"). David recognized the great significance of the ark as the earthly throne of Israel's God. As a true theocratic king, he wished to acknowledge the Lord's kingship and rule over both himself and the people by restoring the ark to a place of prominence in the nation.

6:3 new cart. David follows the example of the Philistines (see 1 Sam 6:7) rather than the instructions of Ex 25:12–14; Num 4:5–6,15, which require that the ark be carried on the shoulders of the Levites (see 1 Chr 15:13–15). from the house of Abinadab. See 1 Sam 7:1. Uzzah and Ahio, the sons of Abinadab. 1 Sam 7:1 speaks of Eleazar as the son of Abinadab. The Hebrew word for "son" can have the broader meaning of "descendant."

6:7 his irreverence. Although Uzzah's intent may have been good, he violated the clear instructions the Lord had given for handling the ark (see note on v. 3; cf. Ex 25:15; Num 4:5–6,15; 1 Chr 15:13–15; see also note on 1 Sam 6:19). At this important new beginning in Israel's life with the Lord, the Lord gives a shocking and vivid reminder to David and Israel that those who claim to serve Him must acknowledge His rule with absolute seriousness (see Lev 10:1–3; Josh 7:24–25; 24:19–20; Acts 5:1–11).

6:8 David became angry. David's initial reaction was resentment that his attempt to honor the Lord had resulted in a display of God's wrath. Perez-uzzah. See NASB marg. The place-name memorialized a divine warning that was not soon forgotten (see Josh 7:26 and note). to this day. Until the time of the writing of 2 Samuel.

6:9 David was afraid of the LORD. David's anger was accompanied by fear—not the wholesome fear of proper honor and respect for the Lord (1 Sam 12:24; Josh 24:14) but an anxiety arising from an acute sense of his own guilt (Gen 3:10; Dt 5:5).

6:10 Obed-edom. Perhaps means "servant of man." Gittite. He appears to have been a Levite (see note on 1 Chr 13:13; cf. 1 Chr 15:18,24; 16:5; 26:4–8,15; 2 Chr 25:24), though many think the term "Gittite" fixes his place of birth at the Philistine city of Gath (see 15:18). However, Gittite may be a reference to the Levitical city Gath-rimmon in Dan or Manasseh (Josh 21:20–25).

6:12 David . . . brought up the ark. God's blessing on the household of Obed-edom showed David that God's anger had been appeased.

6:13 bearers of the ark. David had become aware of his previous error (1 Chr 15:13–15). six paces. Sufficient to show that now God's blessing was on the Levites (see 1 Chr 15:26).

6:14 linen ephod. See note on 1 Sam 2:18.

the window and saw King David leaping and dancing before the LORD; and she despised him in her heart.

17 So they brought in the ark of the LORD and set it [a]in its place inside the tent which David had pitched for it; and [b]David offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before the LORD.

18 When David had finished offering the burnt offering and the peace offering, [a]he blessed the people in the name of the LORD of hosts.

19 Further, he distributed to all the people, to all the multitude of Israel, both to men and women, a cake of bread and one of dates and one of raisins to each one. Then all the people departed each to his house.

20 But when David returned to bless his household, Michal the daughter of Saul came out to meet David and said, "How the king of Israel distinguished himself today! [a]He uncovered himself today in the eyes of his servants' maids as one of the [b]foolish ones shamelessly uncovers himself!"

21 So David said to Michal, "[a]It was before the LORD, who chose me above your father and above all his house, to appoint me ruler over the people of the LORD, over Israel; therefore I will celebrate before the LORD.

22 "I will be more lightly esteemed than this and will be humble in my own eyes, but with the maids of whom you have spoken, with them I will be distinguished."

23 Michal the daughter of Saul had no child to the day of her death.

3 Nathan said to the king, "[a]Go, do all that is in your mind, for the LORD is with you."

4 But in the same night the word of the LORD came to Nathan, saying,

5 "Go and say to My servant David, 'Thus says the LORD, "[a]Are you the one who should build Me a house to dwell in?

6 "For [a]I have not dwelt in a house since the day I brought up the sons of Israel from Egypt, even to this day; but I have been moving about [b]in a tent, even in a [1]tabernacle.

6:16 she despised him. Michal had no appreciation for the significance of the event and deeply resented David's public display as unworthy of the dignity of a king (see vv. 20–23).
6:17 burnt offerings. See Lev 1. peace offerings. See note on 1 Sam 11:15.
6:18 he blessed the people. As Solomon would later do at the dedication of the temple (1 Kin 8:55–61).
6:20 uncovered himself. An allusion to David's having worn only a linen ephod (v. 14) rather than his royal robe.
6:23 Michal . . . had no child. Probably a punishment for her pride and at the same time another manifestation of God's judgment on the house of Saul.
7:1–29 God's great promise to David (see Introduction: Contents and Theme). Although it is not expressly called a covenant here, it is elsewhere (23:5; Ps 89:3,28,34,39; cf. Ps 132:11), and David responds with language suggesting his recognition that a covenant had been made (see notes on vv. 20,28).
7:1 when the king lived in his house. See 5:11; see also note on 5:12. and the LORD had given him rest . . . from all his enemies. Chronologically the victories noted in 8:1–14 probably preceded the events of this chapter. The arrangement of material is topical (see also note on 5:17)—ch. 6 records the bringing of the ark to Jerusalem; ch. 7 tells of David's desire to build a temple in Jerusalem in which to house the ark.
7:2 Nathan. The first reference to this prophet (see 12:1–14; 1 Kin 1). tent. See v. 6; 6:17. Now that he himself had a royal palace (symbolic of his established kingship), a tent did not seem to David to be an appropriate place for the throne of Israel's divine King (see note on 6:2; see also Ps 132:2–5; Acts 7:46). He wanted to build Israel's heavenly King a royal house in the capital city of his kingdom.
7:3 Nathan said. In consulting a prophet, David sought God's will, but Nathan boldly voiced approval of David's plans in the Lord's name before he had received a revelation from the Lord.
7:5 Are you the one . . . ? David's desire was commendable (1 Kin 8:18–19), but his gift and mission were to fight the Lord's battles until Israel was securely at rest in the promised land (see v. 10; 1 Kin 5:3).
7:7 did I speak . . . saying, "Why have you not built Me a house . . . ?" David misunderstood the Lord's priorities. He reflected the pagan notion that the gods were interested in human beings only as builders and maintainers of their temples and as practitioners of their cult. Instead, the Lord had raised up rulers in Israel only to shepherd His people (that is also why he had brought David "from the pasture," v. 8).
7:9 I . . . have cut off all your enemies. See note on v. 1.
7:10 I will also appoint a place for My people Israel. It is for this purpose that the Lord has made David king, and through David He will do it. as formerly. In Egypt.
7:11 judges. Leaders during the period of the judges (see will give you rest from all your enemies. The LORD also declares to you that [c]the LORD will make a house for you.

12 "[a]When your days are complete and you [b]lie down with your fathers, [c]I will raise up your [1]descendant after you, who will come forth from [2]you, and I will establish his kingdom.

13 "[a]He shall build a house for My name, and [b]I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever.

14 "[a]I will be a father to him and he will be a son to Me; [b]when he commits iniquity, I will correct him with the rod of men and the strokes of the sons of men, 15 but My lovingkindness shall not depart from him, [a]as I took it away from Saul, whom I removed from before you.

16 "[a]Your house and your kingdom shall endure before [1]Me forever; your throne shall be established forever." ' "

17 In accordance with all these words and all this vision, so Nathan spoke to David.

David's Prayer

18 Then David the king went in and sat before the LORD, and he said, "[a]Who am I, O Lord [1]GOD, and what is my house, that You have brought me this far?

19 "And yet this was insignificant in Your eyes, O Lord GOD, [a]for You have spoken also of the house of Your servant concerning the distant future. And [b]this is the [1]custom of man, O Lord GOD.

20 "Again what more can David say to You? For [a]You know Your servant, O Lord GOD!

21 "[a]For the sake of Your word, and according to Your own heart, You have done all this greatness to let Your servant know.

22 "For this reason [a]You are great, O Lord GOD; for [b]there is none like You, and there is no God besides You, [c]according to all that we have heard with our ears.

23 "And [a]what one nation on the earth is like Your people Israel, whom God went to redeem for Himself as a people and to make a name for Himself, and [b]to do a great thing for You and awesome things for Your land, before [c]Your people whom [d]You have redeemed for Yourself from Egypt, from nations and their gods?

24 "For [a]You have established for Yourself Your people Israel as Your own people forever, and [b]You, O LORD, have become their God.

Introduction to Judges: Title). I will give you rest from all your enemies. See vv. 1,9. David's victories over threatening powers will be complete, so that the rest already enjoyed will be assured for the future. the LORD will make a house for you. Compare this statement with the rhetorical question of v. 5. In a beautiful play on words God says that David is not to build Him a house (temple); rather, God will build David a house (royal dynasty) that will last forever (v. 16). God has been building Israel ever since the days of Abraham, and now He commits Himself to build David's royal house so that the promise to Israel may be fulfilled—rest in the promised land. It is God's building that effects His kingdom. This covenant with David is unconditional, like those with Noah, Abram and Phinehas (see note on Gen 9:9; see also chart, p. 16), grounded only in God's firm and gracious purpose. It finds its ultimate fulfillment in the kingship of Christ, who was born of the tribe of Judah and the house of David (see Ps 89:30–38; Is 9:1–7; Matt 1:1; Luke 1:32–33,69; Acts 2:30; 13:23; Rom 1:2–3; 2 Tim 2:8; Rev 3:7; 22:16).

7:12 raise up your descendant after you. The royal line of David, in contrast to that of Saul, would continue after David's death by dynastic succession.

7:13 He shall build a house for My name. God's priorities are that His own royal house, where His throne (the ark) can finally come to rest (1 Chr 6:31; 28:2), will wait until Israel is at rest and David's dynasty (in the person of his son) is secure. "Name" is equivalent to "Me" in v. 5 (see note on 1 Sam 25:25).

7:14 father to him... son to Me. This familial language expresses the special relationship God promises to maintain with the descendant(s) of David whom He will establish on David's throne. It marks him as the one God has chosen and enthroned to rule in His name as the official representative of God's rule over His people (see notes on Ps 2:7; 45:6; 89:27). In Jesus Christ this promise comes to ultimate fulfillment (see Matt 1:1; Mark 1:11; Heb 1:5).

7:15 My lovingkindness. God's special and unfailing favor (see note on Ps 6:4).

7:16 your throne shall be established forever. See note on v. 11; see also Introduction: Contents and Theme. The promise of an everlasting kingdom for the house of David became the focal point for many later prophecies and powerfully influenced the development of the Messianic hope in Israel.

7:18–29 David's prayer expresses wonder that God would make such commitments to him and his descendants. But he also acknowledges that what God had pledged to him is for Israel's sake, that its purpose is the fulfillment of God's covenanted promises to His people—and that its ultimate effect will be the honor and praise of God throughout the world.

7:18 went in. Presumably into the tent (6:17) in which the ark was kept. sat before the LORD. The ark was the symbol of God's presence with His people (see Ex 25:22; see also notes on 1 Sam 4:3–4,21).

7:19 And this is the custom of man, O Lord GOD. The meaning of this clause is uncertain (cf. 1 Chr 17:17). It has also been taken as an exclamation ("This is Your law for man, O Sovereign LORD!") and understood as a summation of the divine decree concerning David and his house.

7:20 know. Or "especially acknowledge" or "choose" (see Gen 18:19, "chosen"; Amos 3:2, "chosen"). David recognizes God's promise as a covenant (23:5).

7:21 Your word. Probably God's covenant word of promise to His people.

7:22 no God besides You. See 22:32; 1 Sam 2:2.

7:23 one nation... God went to redeem for Himself as a people. Israel's uniqueness did not consist in her national achievements but in God's choice of her to be His own people (see Deut 7:6–8; 33:26–29). to make a name for Himself. The basis for God's electing love, revealed in His dealings with Israel, did not lie in any meritorious characteristic of the Israelite people but in His own sovereign purposes (see Deut 7:6–8; 9:4–5; 1 Sam 12:22; Neh 9:10; Is 63:12; Jer 32:20–21; Ezek 36:22–38).

7:24 You, O LORD, have become their God. What God has pledged to David, He has pledged as the God of Israel.

25 "Now therefore, O LORD God, the word that You have spoken concerning Your servant and his house, confirm it forever, and do as You have spoken, 26 [a]that Your name may be magnified forever, by saying, 'The LORD of hosts is God over Israel'; and may the house of Your servant David be established before You.

27 "For You, O LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, have [1]made a revelation to Your servant, saying, '[a]I will build you a house'; therefore Your servant has found [2]courage to pray this prayer to You.

28 "Now, O Lord GOD, You are God, and [a]Your words are truth, and You have [1]promised this good thing to Your servant.

29 "Now therefore, may it please You to bless the house of Your servant, that it may continue forever before You. For You, O Lord GOD, have spoken; and [a]with Your blessing may the house of Your servant be blessed forever."

David's Triumphs

8 [a]Now after this it came about that David [1]defeated the Philistines and subdued them; and David took [2]control of the chief city from the hand of the Philistines.

2 [a]He [1]defeated [b]Moab, and measured them with the line, making them lie down on the ground; and he measured two lines to put to death and one full line to keep alive. And [c]the Moabites became servants to David, [d]bringing tribute.

3 Then David [1]defeated [a]Hadadezer, the son of Rehob king of Zobah, as [b]he went to restore his [2]rule at the [3]River.

4 David captured from him 1,700 horsemen and 20,000 foot soldiers; and David [a]hamstrung the chariot horses, but reserved enough of them for 100 chariots.

5 When [a]the Arameans of Damascus came to help Hadadezer, king of Zobah, David [1]killed 22,000 Arameans.

6 Then David put garrisons among the Arameans of Damascus, and [a]the Arameans became servants to David, bringing tribute. And [b]the LORD helped David wherever he went.

7 David took the shields of gold which were [1]carried by the servants of Hadadezer and brought them to Jerusalem.

8 From [1]Betah and from [a]Berothai, cities of Hadadezer, King David took a very large amount of bronze.

9 Now when Toi king of [a]Hamath heard that David had [1]defeated all the army of Hadadezer,

10 Toi sent [1]Joram his son to King David to [2]greet him and bless him, because he had fought against Hadadezer and [3]defeated him; for Hadadezer [4]had been at war with Toi. And [5]Joram brought with him articles of silver, of gold and of bronze.

11 King David also [a]dedicated these to the LORD, with the silver and gold that he had dedicated from all the nations which he had subdued:

12 from [1]Aram and [a]Moab and [b]the sons of Ammon and [c]the Philistines and [d]Amalek, and from the spoil of Hadadezer, son of Rehob, king of Zobah.

13 So [a]David made a name for himself when he returned from [1]killing 18,000 [2]Arameans in [b]the Valley of Salt.

14 He put garrisons in Edom. In all Edom he put garrisons, and [a]all the Edomites became servants to David. And [b]the LORD helped David wherever he went.

15 So David reigned over all Israel; and David [1]administered justice and righteousness for all his people.

15 [1]Lit was doing

7:27 Your servant has found courage to pray this prayer to You. David's prayer lays claim on God's promise.

7:28 good thing. A common summary expression for covenant benefits from God (see, e.g., 1 Sam 2:32, "good"; Num 10:29,32; Deut 26:11; Josh 21:45; 23:14, "good words"; Is 63:7; Jer 29:32; 32:40–41, "good"; 33:9).

8:1 after this it came about. Chronologically the events of this chapter, or many of them, are probably to be placed between chs. 5 and 6 (see 7:1 and note). the chief city. An unknown site, perhaps near Gath (see 1 Chr 18:1).

8:2 Moab. Descendants of Lot (Gen 19:37), occupying territory east of the Dead Sea. Saul fought with the Moabites (1 Sam 14:47), and David sought refuge in Moab for his parents during his exile from Israel (1 Sam 22:3–4). See note on Ruth 1:22.

8:3 Hadadezer. Means "Hadad is (my) help." Hadad was an Aramean deity equivalent to the Canaanite Baal. Zobah. Saul had previously fought against the kings of Zobah (1 Sam 14:47), whose territory was apparently located in the Beqaa Valley between the Lebanon and Anti-Lebanon mountains, thus on Israel's northern border. restore. Saul's earlier victories over the kings of Zobah had extended Israelite control, if only briefly, as far as the fringes of the Euphrates Valley. the River. The land promised to Abraham had included borders from Egypt to the Euphrates River (Gen 15:18–21; Deut 1:7; 11:24; Josh 1:4). Here is at least another provisional fulfillment of this promise (see 1 Kin 4:21–24; see also Gen 17:8; Josh 21:43–45). See map No. 5 at the end of the study Bible.

8:4 hamstrung the chariot horses. See Josh 11:6 and note. David may not have understood the value of the chariot as a military weapon.

8:5 came to help Hadadezer. They feared Israelite expansion to the north.

8:7 shields of gold. Shields adorned with gold—the phrase is similar to "chariots of iron" (see Josh 17:16 and note).

8:8 bronze. Later used by Solomon in the construction of the temple (1 Chr 18:8).

8:9 Hamath. A kingdom centered on the Orontes River, north of Zobah (see v. 3 and note).

8:13 Valley of Salt. See 2 Kin 14:7; see also Ps 60 title.

8:15 justice and righteousness. As a true theocratic king, David's reign was characterized by adherence to God's standards of right rule (see notes on 1 Sam 8:3; 12:3), as no doubt laid down in Samuel's "ordinances of the kingdom" (see 1 Sam 10:25 and note; 1 Kin 2:3–4).

16 [a]Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army, and [b]Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was [c]recorder.

17 [a]Zadok the son of Ahitub and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar were [b]priests, and Seraiah was [c]secretary.

18 [a]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada [1]was over the [b]Cherethites and the Pelethites; and David's sons were [2c]chief ministers.

David's Kindness to Mephibosheth

9 Then David said, "Is there yet [1]anyone left of the house of Saul, [a]that I may show him kindness for Jonathan's sake?"

2 Now there was a servant of the house of Saul whose name was Ziba, and they called him to David; and the king said to him, "Are you [a]Ziba?" And he said, "I am your servant."

3 The king said, "Is there not yet anyone of the house of Saul to whom I may show the [a]kindness of God?" And Ziba said to the king, "[b]There is still a son of Jonathan who is crippled in both feet."

4 So the king said to him, "Where is he?" And Ziba said to the king, "Behold, he is [a]in the house of Machir the son of Ammiel in Lo-debar."

5 Then King David sent and brought him from the house of Machir the son of Ammiel, from Lo-debar.

6 [a]Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan the son of Saul, came to David and [b]fell on his face and prostrated himself. And David said, "Mephibosheth." And he said, "Here is your servant!"

7 David said to him, "Do not fear, for [a]I will surely show kindness to you for the sake of your father Jonathan, and [b]will restore to you all the [1]land of your [2]grandfather Saul; and [c]you shall [3]eat at my table regularly."

8 Again he prostrated himself and said, "What is your servant, that you should regard [a]a dead dog like me?"

9 Then the king called Saul's servant Ziba and said to him, "[a]All that belonged to Saul and to all his house I have given to your master's [1]grandson.

8:16 Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army. See notes on 2:13; 5:8. recorder. The precise duties of this official are not indicated, though the position was an important one in the court and was maintained throughout the period of the monarchy (see 2 Kin 18:18,37; 2 Chr 34:8; Is 36:3,11,22). He may have been a kind of chancellor or chief administrator of royal affairs, responsible among other things for the royal chronicles and annals.
8:17 Zadok the son of Ahitub. First mentioned here, Zadok was a descendant of Eleazar son of Aaron (see 1 Chr 6:4–8,50–52; 24:1–3). His father, Ahitub, is not to be identified with Ichabod's brother of the same name (1 Sam 14:3). Zadok remained loyal to David throughout his reign (15:24–29; 17:15–16; 19:11) and eventually anointed Solomon as David's successor (1 Kin 1:8,45; 2:35; 4:4). Ahimelech the son of Abiathar. It appears that a copyist's error may have occurred here (repeated in 1 Chr 24:3,6,31) in which these two names have been transposed. Abiathar is referred to as son of Ahimelech in 1 Sam 22:20. While it is true that the Abiathar of 1 Sam 22:20 could have had a son named Ahimelech (after his grandfather), such a person does not appear elsewhere in the narratives of Samuel and Kings as a colleague of Zadok, but Abiathar consistently does (15:29,35; 17:15; 19:11; 20:25; 1 Kin 1:7–8,19; 2:27,35; 4:4). Abiathar was a descendant of Aaron through Ithamar (1 Chr 24:3) in the line of Eli (see notes on 1 Sam 2:31,33). Seraiah. Also called Sheva (20:25), Shisha (1 Kin 4:3) and Shavsha (1 Chr 18:16). secretary. His duties presumably included domestic and foreign correspondence, perhaps keeping records of important political events, and various administrative functions (2 Kin 12:10–12).
8:18 Cherethites and the Pelethites. See note on 1 Sam 30:14. Under the leadership of Benaiah, they formed a sort of special royal guard for David (23:22–23). "Pelethite" is probably an alternate form of "Philistine." chief ministers. The Hebrew has the common word for "priests" (see NASB marg.; see also 20:26), but the usage is obscure since that sense appears unlikely. Chronicles has "chiefs at the king's side" (see 1 Chr 18:17 and note), which supports the meaning "chief ministers."
9:1–20:26 These chapters, together with 1 Kin 1:1–2:46, are often referred to as the "Court History of David" and hailed as one of the finest examples of historical narrative to have been produced in the ancient world. Their intimate and precise detail marks them as the work of an eyewitness.
9:1–13 The events of this chapter cannot be dated precisely, but they occurred a number of years after David's capture of Jerusalem. Mephibosheth was five years old at the time of his father's death (4:4); now he has a son of his own (v. 12).
9:1 I may show him kindness for Jonathan's sake. David has not forgotten his promise to Jonathan (see 1 Sam 20:15,42).
9:2 Ziba. The chief steward of Saul's estate, which had been inherited by Mephibosheth son of Jonathan, Saul's firstborn (see 16:1–4; 19:17).
9:3 There is still a son of Jonathan. Saul had other descendants (see 21:8), but Ziba mentions only the one in whom David would be chiefly interested.
9:4 Machir. Apparently a wealthy benefactor of Mephibosheth who later also came to David's aid (17:27). Lo-debar. A town deep in Gileadite territory in Transjordan (Josh 13:26, "Debir"), far from the family estate and from David's court (see note on 2:8).
9:7 restore to you. The property Saul had acquired as king had either been taken over by David, or Ziba as steward had virtually taken possession of it and was profiting from its income (see 16:1–4; 19:26–30). you shall eat at my table regularly. More a matter of high honor than economic assistance. Mephibosheth's general financial needs were to be cared for by the produce of Saul's estate (v. 10).
9:8 dead dog like me. An expression of deep self-abasement. The author has used the "dead dog" motif with great effect. First Goliath, scornfully disdaining the young warrior David, asks, "Am I a dog . . . ?" (1 Sam 17:43)—and unwittingly foreshadows his own end. Then David, in a self-deprecating manner, describes himself as a "dead dog" (1 Sam 24:14) to suggest to Saul that the king of Israel should not consider him worth so much attention. In the Nabal episode, that "dog" (a Calebite) and his sudden death characterize Saul and foreshadow his unhappy end (see note on 1 Sam 25:3). Here a grandson of Saul and in 16:9 a relative of the dead king who curses David are similarly described. For the author, "dead dog" fittingly characterizes those who foolishly scorn or oppose the Lord's anointed, while David's own self-deprecation (see 1 Sam 18:18; 2 Sam 7:18) is conducive to his exaltation.

10 "You and your sons and your servants shall cultivate the land for him, and you shall bring in the produce so that your master's grandson may have food; nevertheless [a]Mephibosheth your master's grandson [b]shall [1]eat at my table regularly." Now Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants.

11 Then Ziba said to the king, "According [a]to all that my lord the king commands his servant so your servant will do." So Mephibosheth ate at [1]David's table as one of the king's sons.

12 Mephibosheth had a young son whose name was Mica. And all who lived in the house of Ziba were servants to Mephibosheth.

13 So Mephibosheth lived in Jerusalem, for [a]he ate at the king's table regularly. Now [b]he was lame in both feet.

Ammon and Aram Defeated

10 [a]Now it happened afterwards that [b]the king of the Ammonites died, and Hanun his son became king in his place.

2 Then David said, "I will show kindness to Hanun the son of [a]Nahash, just as his father showed kindness to me." So David sent [1]some of his servants to console him concerning his father. But when David's servants came to the land of the Ammonites,

3 the princes of the Ammonites said to Hanun their lord, "[1]Do you think that David is honoring your father because he has sent consolers to you? [a]Has David not sent his servants to you in order to search the city, to spy it out and overthrow it?"

4 So Hanun took David's servants and [a]shaved off half of their beards, and [b]cut off their garments in the middle as far as their hips, and sent them away.

5 When they told it to David, he sent to meet them, for the men were greatly humiliated. And the king said, "[1]Stay at Jericho until your beards grow, and then return."

6 Now when the sons of Ammon saw that [a]they had become odious to David, the sons of Ammon sent and [b]hired the Arameans of [c]Beth-rehob and the [d]Arameans of Zobah, 20,000 foot soldiers, and the king of [e]Maacah with 1,000 men, and the men of Tob with 12,000 men.

7 When David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the army, the mighty men.

8 The sons of Ammon came out and drew up in battle array [a]at the entrance of the [1]city, while the Arameans of Zobah and of Rehob and the men of [b]Tob and Maacah were by themselves in the field.

9 Now when Joab saw that [1]the battle was set against him in front and in the rear, he selected from all the choice men of Israel, and arrayed them against the Arameans.

10 But the remainder of the people he placed in the hand of Abishai his brother, and he arrayed them against the sons of Ammon.

11 He said, "If the Arameans are too strong for me, then you shall help me, but if the sons of Ammon are too strong for you, then I will come to help you.

12 "[a]Be strong, and let us show ourselves courageous for the sake of our people and for the cities of our God; and [b]may the LORD do what is good in His sight."

13 So Joab and the people who were with him drew near to the battle against the Arameans, and [a]they fled before him.

14 When the sons of Ammon saw that the Arameans fled, they also fled before Abishai and entered the city. [a]Then Joab returned from fighting against the sons of Ammon and came to Jerusalem.

15 When the Arameans saw that they had been [1]defeated by Israel, they gathered themselves together.

16 [a]And Hadadezer sent and brought out the Arameans who were beyond the [1]River, and they came to Helam; and [b]Shobach the commander of the army of Hadadezer [2]led them.

17 Now when it was told David, he gathered all Israel together and crossed the Jordan, and came to Helam. And the Arameans arrayed themselves to meet David and fought against him.

18 But the Arameans fled before Israel, and David killed [a]700 charioteers of the Arameans and 40,000 horsemen and struck down Shobach the commander of their army, and he died there.

19 When all the kings, servants of Hadadezer, saw that they were [1]defeated by Israel, [a]they made peace with Israel and 9:12 Mica. See 1 Chr 8:35–39 for his descendants.

10:1 king. Nahash (see v. 2; 1 Sam 11). Ammonites. See note on 1 Sam 11:1.
10:2 show kindness. The Hebrew for this expression suggests that a formal treaty existed between the Israelites and the Ammonites. Perhaps this explains why there is no account of a war against the Ammonites in ch. 8, and why the Ammonites did not come to the assistance of the Moabites (8:2).
10:3 city. Rabbah, the capital (11:1; 12:26).
10:4 shaved off half of their beards. In the Eastern world of that time this was considered an insult of the most serious kind. A beard was shaved only as a sign of deep mourning (see Is 15:2; Jer 41:5; Ezek 5:1). cut off their garments . . . as far as their hips. A customary way of degrading prisoners of war (see Is 20:4).
10:5 Jericho. See notes on Josh 6:1,26; 1 Kin 16:34. Jericho remained unrestored during the centuries between Joshua's conquest and the time of Ahab.
10:6 Beth-rehob. See Num 13:21; Judg 18:28. Zobah. See note on 8:3. Maacah. See Deut 3:14; Josh 12:5; 13:13. Tob. See Judg 11:3,5.
10:10 Abishai. See note on 1 Sam 26:6.
10:16 Hadadezer. See note on 8:3. Helam. A town close to the northern border of Gilead.
10:18 700. Evidently a copyist's mistake; in 1 Chr 19:18 the figure is 7,000.
10:19 they made peace with Israel. There is no indication that served them. So the Arameans feared to help the sons of Ammon anymore.

Bathsheba, David's Great Sin

11 [a]Then it happened [1][b]in the spring, at the time when kings go out to battle, that David sent Joab and his servants with him and all Israel, and they destroyed the sons of Ammon and [c]besieged Rabbah. But David stayed at Jerusalem.

2 Now when evening came David arose from his bed and walked around on [a]the roof of the king's house, and from the roof he saw a woman bathing; and the woman was very beautiful in appearance.

3 So David sent and inquired about the woman. And one said, "Is this not [a]Bathsheba, the daughter of Eliam, the wife of [b]Uriah the Hittite?"

4 David sent messengers and took her, and when she came to him, [a]he lay with her; [b]and when she had purified herself from her uncleanness, she returned to her house.

5 The woman conceived; and she sent and told David, and said, "[a]I am pregnant."

6 Then David sent to Joab, saying, "Send me Uriah the Hittite." So Joab sent Uriah to David.

7 When Uriah came to him, [a]David asked concerning the welfare of Joab and [1]the people and the state of the war.

8 Then David said to Uriah, "Go down to your house, and [a]wash your feet." And Uriah went out of the king's house, and a present from the king [1]was sent out after him.

9 But Uriah slept [a]at the door of the king's house with all the servants of his lord, and did not go down to his house.

10 Now when they told David, saying, "Uriah did not go down to his house," David said to Uriah, "Have you not come from a journey? Why did you not go down to your house?"

11 Uriah said to David, "[a]The ark and Israel and Judah are staying in [1]temporary shelters, and my lord Joab and [b]the servants of my lord are camping in the open field. Shall I then go to my house to eat and to drink and to lie with my wife? By your life and the life of your soul, I will not do this thing."

12 Then David said to Uriah, "[a]Stay here today also, and tomorrow I will let you go." So Uriah remained in Jerusalem that day and the [1]next.

13 Now David called him, and he ate and drank before him, and he [a]made him drunk; and in the evening he went out to lie on his bed [b]with his lord's servants, but he did not go down to his house.

14 Now in the morning David [a]wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by the hand of Uriah.

15 [a]He had written in the letter, saying, "[1]Place Uriah in the front line of the [2]fiercest battle and withdraw from him, [b]so that he may be struck down and die."

16 So it was as Joab kept watch on the city, that he put Uriah at the place where he knew there were valiant men.

17 The men of the city went out and fought against Joab, and some of the people among David's servants fell; and [a]Uriah the Hittite also died.

18 Then Joab sent and reported to David all the events of the war.

19 He charged the messenger, saying,

Hadadezer himself made peace with Israel as his vassals did in the aftermath of this defeat. These events represent David's last major campaign against combined foreign powers.

11:1 the spring. Of the year following the events reported in ch. 10. The time must have been about ten years after David became established in Jerusalem. the time when kings go out to battle. Directly after the grain harvest in April and May. Rabbah. See note on 10:3. Though now alone (see 10:19), the Ammonites had not yet been subjugated.

11:2 walked around on the roof. The roofs were flat (see 1 Sam 9:25). David had probably gone there to enjoy the cool evening air.

11:3 Eliam. Perhaps the same Eliam who was a member of David's personal bodyguard (23:34) and a son of his counselor Ahithophel. Uriah. Also listed among those comprising David's royal guard (23:39). His name suggests that even though he was a Hittite, he had adopted the Israelite faith (Uriah means "My light is the LORD"). Hittite. See note on 1 Sam 26:6.

11:4 David sent messengers and took her. Through this action David eventually becomes guilty of breaking the sixth, seventh, ninth and tenth commandments (Ex 20:13–17). when she came to him, he lay with her. Bathsheba appears to have been an unprotesting partner in this adulterous relationship with David. when she had purified herself from her uncleanness. Lev 15:18 required purification after sexual relations.

11:5 I am pregnant. Bathsheba leaves the next step up to David. The law prescribed the death penalty for both David and Bathsheba (Lev 20:10; Deut 22:22), as they well knew.

11:6 Send me Uriah. Under the pretense of seeking information about the course of the war, David brings Uriah back to Jerusalem.

11:8 Go down to your house, and wash your feet. In essence, David tells Uriah to go home and relax. What he does not say specifically is what is most important, and well understood by Uriah (v. 11). a present from the king was sent out after him. The Hebrew word for "present" has the meaning of "food" in Gen 43:34 ("portions" from the king's table). David wanted Uriah and Bathsheba to enjoy their evening together.

11:11 ark. Uriah's statement suggests that the ark was in the field camp with the army rather than in the tent that David had set up for it in Jerusalem (6:17). If so, it was probably there for purposes of worship and to seek guidance for the war. But then the circumstances are even more damning for David—the Lord is in the field with His army while David stays at home in leisure. Shall I then go to my house . . . ? Uriah's devotion to duty exposes by sharp contrast David's dalliance at home while his men are in the field. By your life and the life of your soul. See note on 1 Sam 1:26.

11:13 he made him drunk. In the hope that in this condition he would relent and go to Bathsheba.

11:15 so that he may be struck down and die. Unsuccessful in making it appear that Uriah was the father of Bathsheba's child, David plotted Uriah's death so he could marry Bathsheba himself as quickly as possible.

"When you have finished telling all the events of the war to the king, 20 and if it happens that the king's wrath rises and he says to you, 'Why did you go so near to the city to fight? Did you not know that they would shoot from the wall?
21 'Who [a]struck down Abimelech the son of Jerubbesheth? Did not a woman throw an upper millstone on him from the wall so that he died at Thebez? Why did you go so near the wall?'—then you shall say, 'Your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.' "
22 So the messenger departed and came and reported to David all that Joab had sent him to tell.
23 The messenger said to David, "The men prevailed against us and came out against us in the field, but we [1]pressed them as far as the entrance of the gate.
24 "Moreover, the archers shot at your servants from the wall; so some of the king's servants are dead, and your servant Uriah the Hittite is also dead."
25 Then David said to the messenger, "Thus you shall say to Joab, 'Do not let this thing [1]displease you, for the sword devours one as well as another; make your battle against the city stronger and overthrow it'; and so encourage him."
26 Now when the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was dead, [a]she mourned for her husband.
27 When the time of mourning was over, David sent and [1]brought her to his house and [a]she became his wife; then she bore him a son. But [b]the thing that David had done was evil in the sight of the LORD.

Nathan Rebukes David

12 Then the LORD sent [a]Nathan to David. And [b]he came to him and [1]said,
"There were two men in one city, the one rich and the other poor.
2 "The rich man had a great many flocks and herds.
3 "But the poor man had nothing except [a]one little ewe lamb
Which he bought and nourished;
And it grew up together with him and his children.
It would eat of his [1]bread and drink of his cup and lie in his bosom,
And was like a daughter to him.
4 "Now a traveler came to the rich man,
And he [1]was unwilling to take from his own flock or his own herd,
To prepare for the wayfarer who had come to him;
Rather he took the poor man's ewe lamb and prepared it for the man who had come to him."
5 Then David's anger burned greatly against the man, and he said to Nathan, "As the LORD lives, surely the man who has done this [1][a]deserves to die.
6 "He must make restitution for the lamb [a]fourfold, because he did this thing and had no compassion."
7 Nathan then said to David, "[a]You are the man! Thus says the LORD God of Israel, '[b]It is I who anointed you king over Israel and it is I who delivered you from the hand of Saul.
8 'I also gave you [a]your master's house and your master's wives into your [1]care, and I gave you the house of Israel and Judah; and if that had been too little, I would have added to you many more things like these!
9 'Why [a]have you despised the word of the LORD by doing evil in His sight? [b]You have struck down Uriah the Hittite with the sword, [c]have taken his wife to be your wife, and have killed him with the sword of the sons of Ammon.
10 'Now therefore, [a]the sword shall never depart from your house, because you have despised Me and have taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be your wife.'
11 "Thus says the LORD, 'Behold, I will raise up evil against you from your own house-

11:21 Jerubbesheth. That is, Gideon. Another possible spelling is "Jerubbosheth." In Judges he is called Jerubbaal (see note on Judg 6:32). For similar name changes by the author of Samuel see notes on 2:8; 4:4. millstone. See Judg 9:52–53. Uriah . . . is dead. Joab knows that this news is of great importance to David, and he uses it to squelch any criticism David might otherwise have had of the battle tactics.
11:25 David said to the messenger. David hid his satisfaction over the news with a hypocritical statement that war is war and the death of Uriah should not be a discouragement.
11:27 time of mourning was over. Presumably a period of seven days (Gen 50:10; 1 Sam 31:13). she became his wife. See notes on 3:2–5; 5:14. the thing that David had done was evil in the sight of the LORD. Not only had David brazenly violated God's laws (see note on v. 4) but, even worse, he had shamelessly abused his royal power, which the Lord had entrusted to him to shepherd the Lord's people (5:2; 7:7–8).
12:1 The LORD sent. Prophets were messengers from the Lord. Here the Great King sends His emissary to rebuke and announce judgment on the king He had enthroned over His people. Nathan. See note on 7:2. There were two men. Nathan begins one of the most striking parables in the OT.
12:5 As the LORD lives. See note on 1 Sam 14:39.
12:6 fourfold. In agreement with the requirements of Ex 22:1.
12:8 your master's wives. Earlier narratives refer to only one wife of Saul (Ahinoam, 1 Sam 14:50) and one concubine (Rizpah, 2 Sam 3:7; 21:8). This statement suggests that there were others. But since it was customary for new kings to assume the harem of their predecessors (see note on 3:7), it may be that Nathan merely uses conventional language to emphasize that the Lord had placed David on Saul's throne. I gave you the house of Israel and Judah. See 2:4; 5:2–3.
12:9 despised the word of the LORD. See notes on 11:4,27. You . . . killed him. David is held directly responsible for Uriah's death even though he fell in battle (see 11:15).
12:10 the sword shall never depart from your house. Three of David's sons came to violent deaths: Amnon (13:28–29), Absalom (18:14) and Adonijah (1 Kin 2:25).

hold; [a]I will even take your wives before your eyes and give them to your companion, and he will lie with your wives in [1]broad daylight.

12 'Indeed [a]you did it secretly, but [b]I will do this thing before all Israel, and [1]under the sun.' "

13 Then David said to Nathan, "[a]I have sinned against the LORD." And Nathan said to David, "The LORD also has [1b]taken away your sin; you shall not die.

14 "However, because by this deed you have [a]given occasion to the enemies of the LORD to blaspheme, the child also that is born to you shall surely die."

15 So Nathan went to his house.

Loss of a Child

Then the LORD struck the child that Uriah's [1]widow bore to David, so that he was very sick.

16 David therefore inquired of God for the child; and David [a]fasted and went and [b]lay all night on the ground.

17 [a]The elders of his household stood beside him in order to raise him up from the ground, but he was unwilling and would not eat food with them.

18 Then it happened on the seventh day that the child died. And the servants of David were afraid to tell him that the child was dead, for they said, "Behold, while the child was still alive, we spoke to him and he did not listen to our voice. How then can we tell him that the child is dead, since he might do himself harm!"

19 But when David saw that his servants were whispering together, David perceived that the child was dead; so David said to his servants, "Is the child dead?" And they said, "He is dead."

20 So David arose from the ground, [a]washed, anointed himself, and changed his clothes; and he came into the house of the LORD and [b]worshiped. Then he came to his own house, and when he requested, they set food before him and he ate.

21 Then his servants said to him, "What is this thing that you have done? [1]While the child was alive, you fasted and wept; but when the child died, you arose and ate food."

22 He said, "While the child was still alive, [a]I fasted and wept; for I said, '[b]Who knows, the LORD may be gracious to me, that the child may live.'

23 "But now he has died; why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? [a]I will go to him, but [b]he will not return to me."

Solomon Born

24 Then David comforted his wife Bathsheba, and went in to her and lay with her; and she gave birth to a son, and [1a]he named him Solomon. Now the LORD loved him

25 and sent word through Nathan the prophet, and he named him [1]Jedidiah for the LORD'S sake.

War Again

26 [a]Now Joab fought against [b]Rabbah of the sons of Ammon and captured the royal city.

27 Joab sent messengers to David and said, "I have fought against Rabbah, I have even captured the city of waters.

28 "Now therefore, gather the rest of the people together and camp against the city and capture it, or I will capture the city myself and it will be named after me."

29 So David gathered all the people and went to Rabbah, fought against it and captured it.

30 Then [a]he took the crown of [1]their king from his head; and its weight was a talent of gold, and in it [2]was a precious stone; and it was placed on David's head. And he brought out the spoil of the city in great amounts.

31 He also brought out the people who

12:11 I will raise up evil against you from your own household. David was driven from Jerusalem by Absalom's conspiracy to seize the kingship from his own father (15:1–15). he will lie with your wives in broad daylight. Fulfilled at the time of Absalom's rebellion (see note on 16:22).

12:13 I have sinned against the LORD. David recognizes his guilt and confesses his sin in response to Nathan's rebuke (see Ps 51). There is a clear contrast between David's confession and Saul's (see note on 1 Sam 15:24). The LORD also has taken away your sin. David experienced the joy of knowing his sin was forgiven (see Ps 32:1,5; cf. Ps 51:8,12). you shall not die. The Lord, in his grace, released David from the customary death penalty for adultery and murder (Lev 20:10; 24:17).

12:14 you have given occasion to the enemies of the LORD to blaspheme. David is required to suffer the disciplinary results of his sin in a manner open to public view.

12:20 he came into the house of the LORD and worshiped. In this way David clearly demonstrated his humble acceptance of the disciplinary results of his sin. Again (see note on v. 13) there is a contrast between David's attitude and Saul's (see note on 1 Sam 15:25).

12:23 I will go to him. Like the child, David will die and join him in the grave (see note on Gen 37:35).

12:24 Solomon. See 1 Chr 22:9 and note.

12:25 Jedidiah. Means "beloved of the LORD." The giving of this name suggests that the Lord's special favor rested on Solomon from his birth. And since the name also contained an echo of David's name, it provided assurance to David that the Lord also loved him and would continue his dynasty.

12:26 Joab fought against Rabbah. The writer now returns to the outcome of the attack against the Ammonites (11:1,25), which provided the background for the story of David and Bathsheba. Even while the Lord was displeased with David, He gave the Israelites victory over a people who had abused them.

12:30 the crown . . . was placed on David's head. A crown of such weight (about 75 pounds) would have been worn only briefly and on very special occasions. Perhaps it was worn only once in a symbolic act of transferring to David sovereignty over Ammon.

Once he had become king over all Israel (2 Sam 5:1-5), David:

1. Conquered the Jebusite citadel of Zion/Jerusalem and made it his royal city (2 Sam 5:6-10);
2. Received the recognition of and assurance of friendship from Hiram of Tyre, king of the Phoenicians (2 Sam 5:11-12);
3. Decisively defeated the Philistines so that their hold on Israelite territory was broken and their threat to Israel eliminated (2 Sam 5:17-25; 8:1);
4. Defeated the Moabites and imposed his authority over them (2 Sam 8:2);
5. Crushed the Aramean kingdoms of Hadadezer (king of Zobah), Damascus and Maacah and put them under tribute (2 Sam 8:3-8; 10:6-19). Talmai, the Aramean king of Geshur, apparently had made peace with David while he was still reigning in Hebron and sealed the alliance by giving his daughter in marriage to David (2 Sam 3:3; see 1 Chr 2:23);
6. Subdued Edom and incorporated it into his empire (2 Sam 8:13-14);
7. Defeated the Ammonites and brought them into subjection (2 Sam 12:19-31);
8. Subjugated the remaining Canaanite cities that had previously maintained their independence from and hostility toward Israel, such as Beth-shan, Megiddo, Taanach and Dor.

Since David had earlier crushed the Amalekites (1 Sam 30:17), his wars thus completed the conquest begun by Joshua and secured all the borders of Israel. His empire (united Israel plus the subjugated kingdoms) reached from Ezion-geber on the eastern arm of the Red Sea to the Euphrates River.

were in it, and [a]set them under saws, sharp iron instruments, and iron axes, and made them pass through the brickkiln. And thus he did to all the cities of the sons of Ammon. Then David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

Amnon and Tamar

13 Now it was after this that [a]Absalom the son of David had a beautiful sister whose name was [b]Tamar, and [c]Amnon the son of David loved her.

2 Amnon was so frustrated because of his sister Tamar that he made himself ill, for she was a virgin, and it seemed [1]hard to Amnon to do anything to her.

3 But Amnon had a friend whose name was Jonadab, the son of [1][a]Shimeah, David's brother; and Jonadab was a very shrewd man.

4 He said to him, "O son of the king, why are you so depressed morning after morning? Will you not tell me?" Then Amnon said to him, "I am in love with Tamar, the sister of my brother Absalom."

5 Jonadab then said to him, "Lie down on your bed and pretend to be ill; when your father comes to see you, say to him, 'Please let my sister Tamar come and give me some food to eat, and let her prepare the food in my sight, that I may see it and eat from her hand.' "

6 So Amnon lay down and pretended to be ill; when the king came to see him, Amnon said to the king, "Please let my sister Tamar come and [a]make me a couple of cakes in my sight, that I may eat from her hand."

7 Then David sent to the house for Tamar, saying, "Go now to your brother Amnon's house, and prepare food for him."

8 So Tamar went to her brother Amnon's house, and he was lying down. And she took dough, kneaded it, made cakes in his sight, and baked the cakes.

9 She took the pan and [1]dished them out before him, but he refused to eat. And Amnon said, "[a]Have everyone go out from me." So everyone went out from him.

10 Then Amnon said to Tamar, "Bring the food into the [1]bedroom, that I may eat from your hand." So Tamar took the cakes which she had made and brought them into the bedroom to her brother Amnon.

11 When she brought them to him to eat, he [a]took hold of her and said to her, "Come, lie with me, my sister."

12 But she answered him, "No, my brother, do not violate me, for [a]such a thing is not done in Israel; do not do this [b]disgraceful thing!

13 "As for me, where could I [1]get rid of my reproach? And as for you, you will be like one of the [2]fools in Israel. Now therefore, please speak to the king, for [a]he will not withhold me from you."

14 However, he would not listen to [1]her; since he was stronger than she, he [a]violated her and lay with her.

15 Then Amnon hated her with a very great hatred; for the hatred with which he hated her was greater than the love with which he had loved her. And Amnon said to her, "Get up, go away!"

16 But she said to him, "No, because this wrong in sending me away is greater than the other that you have done to me!" Yet he would not listen to her.

17 Then he called his young man who attended him and said, "Now throw this woman out of my presence, and lock the door behind her."

18 Now she had on [a]a [1]long-sleeved garment; for in this manner the virgin daughters of the king dressed themselves in robes. Then his attendant took her out and locked the door behind her.

19 [a]Tamar put [1]ashes on her head and [b]tore her [2]long-sleeved garment which was on her; and [c]she put her hand on her head and went away, crying aloud as she went.

20 Then Absalom her brother said to her, "Has Amnon your brother been with you? But now keep silent, my sister, he is your brother; do not take this matter to heart." So Tamar remained and was desolate in her brother Absalom's house.

21 Now when King David heard of all these matters, he was very angry.

13:1–39 The trouble within David's family begins (see note on 12:10).

13:1 Tamar. David's daughter by Maacah of Geshur (3:3), and Absalom's full sister. Amnon. David's oldest son (3:2).

13:3 Shimeah. Called Shammah in 1 Sam 16:9.

13:13 as for you. This act would jeopardize Amnon's position as crown prince and heir to the throne. he will not withhold me from you. Possibly a futile attempt by Tamar to escape Amnon's immediate designs rather than a serious proposal, since such a marriage was prohibited in Israel (see Lev 18:9; 20:17; Deut 27:22).

13:15 Amnon hated her. The reversal in Amnon's feelings toward Tamar demonstrates that his former "love" (v. 1) was nothing but sensual desire.

13:16 this wrong in sending me away is greater. No longer a virgin, she could not be offered by her father to any other potential husband (see v. 21 and note).

13:18 long-sleeved garment. See NASB marg. See also Gen 37:3 and note.

13:19 put ashes on her head. A sign of great mourning. tore her long-sleeved garment. Thus expressing her anguish and announcing that her virginity had been violated. put her hand on her head. Also a sign of grief (see Jer 2:37).

13:20 now keep silent, my sister . . . do not take this matter to heart. Absalom urges his sister not to make the matter a public scandal, and attempts to quiet her by minimizing its significance. Meanwhile, he formulates his own secret plans for revenge (see vv. 22,28,32).

13:21 he was very angry. Although David was incensed by Amnon's rape of Tamar, there is no record that he took any puni-

22 But Absalom did not speak to Amnon [a]either good or bad; for [b]Absalom hated Amnon because he had violated his sister Tamar.

23 Now it came about after two full years that Absalom [a]had sheepshearers in Baal-hazor, which is near Ephraim, and Absalom invited all the king's sons.

Absalom Avenges Tamar

24 Absalom came to the king and said, "Behold now, your servant has sheepshearers; please let the king and his servants go with your servant."

25 But the king said to Absalom, "No, my son, we should not all go, for we will be burdensome to you." Although he [1]urged him, he would not go, but blessed him.

26 Then [a]Absalom said, "If not, please let my brother Amnon go with us." And the king said to him, "Why should he go with you?"

27 But when Absalom [1]urged him, he let Amnon and all the king's sons go with him.

28 Absalom commanded his servants, saying, "See now, [a]when Amnon's heart is merry with wine, and when I say to you, 'Strike Amnon,' then put him to death. Do not fear; have not I myself commanded you? Be courageous and be [1]valiant."

29 The servants of Absalom did to Amnon just as Absalom had commanded. Then all the king's sons arose and each mounted [a]his mule and fled.

30 Now it was while they were on the way that the report came to David, saying, "Absalom has struck down all the king's sons, and not one of them is left."

31 Then the king arose, [a]tore his clothes and [b]lay on the ground; and all his servants were standing by with clothes torn.

32 [a]Jonadab, the son of Shimeah, David's brother, [1]responded, "Do not let my lord [2]suppose they have put to death all the young men, the king's sons, for Amnon alone is dead; because by the [3]intent of Absalom this has been determined since the day that he violated his sister Tamar.

33 "Now therefore, do not let my lord the king [a]take the report to [1]heart, namely, 'all the king's sons are dead,' for only Amnon is dead."

34 Now [a]Absalom had fled. And [b]the young man who was the watchman raised his eyes and looked, and behold, many people were coming from the road behind him by the side of the mountain.

35 Jonadab said to the king, "Behold, the king's sons have come; according to your servant's word, so it happened."

36 As soon as he had finished speaking, behold, the king's sons came and lifted their voices and wept; and also the king and all his servants wept [1]very bitterly.

37 Now [a]Absalom fled and went to [b]Talmai the son of Ammihud, the king of [c]Geshur. And David mourned for his son every day.

38 [a]So Absalom had fled and gone to Geshur, and was there three years.

39 The heart of King David longed to go out to Absalom; for [a]he was comforted concerning Amnon, since he was dead.

The Woman of Tekoa

14 Now Joab the son of Zeruiah perceived that [a]the king's heart was inclined toward Absalom.

2 So Joab sent to [a]Tekoa and [1]brought a wise woman from there and said to her, "Please pretend to be a mourner, and put on mourning garments now, and do not [b]anoint tive action against him. Perhaps the memory of his own sin with Bathsheba adversely affected his judicious handling of the matter. Whatever the reason, David abdicated his responsibility both as king and as father. This disciplinary leniency toward his sons (see notes on 14:33; 1 Kin 1:6) eventually led to the death of Amnon and the revolts of Absalom and Adonijah.

13:22 Absalom did not speak to Amnon . . . Absalom hated Amnon. He quietly bided his time.

13:23 Absalom invited all the king's sons. The time of sheepshearing was a festive occasion (see 1 Sam 25:4,8).

13:26 let my brother Amnon go with us. Upon David's refusal of the invitation, Absalom diplomatically requested that Amnon, the crown prince and oldest son, be his representative. Why should he go with you? David's question suggests some misgivings because of the strained relationship between the two half brothers (see v. 22).

13:28 put him to death. Absalom arranged for the murder of his half brother in violation of Eastern hospitality. In the wicked acts of Amnon and Absalom, David's oldest sons became guilty of sexual immorality and murder, as their father had before them. With the murder of Amnon, Absalom not only avenged the rape of his sister but also secured for himself the position of successor to the throne (see 3:3; 15:1–6). Kileab, David's second son (3:3), may have died in his youth since there is no reference to him beyond the announcement of his birth.

13:29 mule. Apparently the normal mount for royalty in David's kingdom (see 18:9; 1 Kin 1:33,38,44; see also note on 1 Kin 1:33).

13:31 tore his clothes and lay on the ground. Common ways of expressing grief (see Josh 7:6; 1 Kin 21:27; Esth 4:1,3; Job 1:20; 2:8).

13:37 Talmai the son of Ammihud, the king of Geshur. Absalom's grandfather (see 3:3).

13:39 longed to go out to Absalom. With Absalom a refugee, David had lost both of his oldest living sons.

14:1 Joab the son of Zeruiah. . . the king's heart was inclined toward Absalom. See note on 2:13. Torn between anger and love (and perhaps remorse), David again leaves the initiative to others.

14:2 So Joab sent. Joab appears to have been motivated by a concern for the political implications of the unresolved dispute between David and the son in line for the throne. He attempts to move David to action by means of a story designed to elicit a response clearly applicable, by analogy, to David's own predicament. A similar technique was used by Nathan the prophet (12:1–7; see 1 Kin 20:38–43). Tekoa. A town a few miles south of Bethlehem, from which the prophet Amos also came (Amos 1:1).

yourself with oil, but be like a woman who has been mourning for the dead many days;
3 then go to the king and speak to him in this manner." So Joab put [a]the words in her mouth.
4 Now when the woman of Tekoa [1]spoke to the king, she fell on her face to the ground and [a]prostrated herself and said, "[b]Help, O king."
5 The king said to her, "What is your trouble?" And she [1]answered, "Truly I am a widow, for my husband is dead.
6 "Your maidservant had two sons, but the two of them struggled together in the field, and there was no [1]one to separate them, so one struck the other and killed him.
7 "Now behold, [a]the whole family has risen against your maidservant, and they say, 'Hand over the one who struck his brother, that we may put him to death for the life of his brother whom he killed, [b]and destroy the heir also.' Thus they will extinguish my coal which is left, so as to [1]leave my husband neither name nor remnant on the face of the earth."
8 Then the king said to the woman, "Go to your house, and I will give orders concerning you."
9 The woman of Tekoa said to the king, "O my lord, the king, [a]the iniquity is on me and my father's house, but [b]the king and his throne are guiltless."
10 So the king said, "Whoever speaks to you, bring him to me, and he will not touch you anymore."
11 Then she said, "Please let the king remember the LORD your God, [a]so that the avenger of blood will not continue to destroy, otherwise they will destroy my son." And he said, "[b]As the LORD lives, not one hair of your son shall fall to the ground."

12 Then the woman said, "Please let your maidservant speak a word to my lord the king." And he said, "Speak."
13 The woman said, "[a]Why then have you planned such a thing against the people of God? For in speaking this word the king is as one who is guilty, in that the king does not bring back [b]his banished one.
14 "For [a]we will surely die and are [b]like water spilled on the ground which cannot be gathered up again. Yet God does not take away life, but plans [1]ways so that [c]the banished one will not be cast out from him.
15 "Now [1]the reason I have come to speak this word to my lord the king is that the people have made me afraid; so your maidservant said, 'Let me now speak to the king, perhaps the king will perform the [2]request of his maidservant.
16 'For the king will hear [1]and deliver his maidservant from the [2]hand of the man who would destroy [3]both me and my son from [a]the inheritance of God.'
17 "Then your maidservant said, 'Please let the word of my lord the king be [1]comforting, for as [a]the angel of God, so is my lord the king to discern good and evil. And may the LORD your God be with you.' "
18 Then the king answered and said to the woman, "Please do not hide anything from me that I am about to ask you." And the woman said, "Let my lord the king please speak."
19 So the king said, "Is the hand of Joab with you in all this?" And the woman replied, "As your soul lives, my lord the king, no one can turn to the right or to the left from anything that my lord the king has spoken. Indeed, it was [a]your servant Joab who commanded me, and it was he who put all these words in the mouth of your maidservant;

14:7 the whole family has risen against your maidservant. It was customary in Israel for a murder victim's next of kin to avenge the blood of his relative by putting the murderer to death (see note on 3:27; see also Num 35:12; Deut 19:11–13). In the case presented, however, blood revenge would wipe out the family line, which was something Israelite law and custom tried to avoid if at all possible (see notes on Deut 25:5–6; Ruth 2:20). destroy the heir as well. The woman suggests that the motivation for blood revenge was more a selfish desire to acquire the family inheritance than a desire for justice (see Num 27:11). leave my husband neither name nor remnant. The implication is that it would be a more serious offense to terminate the woman's family line than to permit a murder to go unpunished by blood revenge. Apparently Joab hoped subtly to suggest to David that if he did not restore Absalom, a struggle for the throne would eventually ensue.
14:8 I will give orders concerning you. David's judicial action may have rested on the legal ground that the murder was not premeditated (see Deut 19:4–6).
14:9 iniquity. For the unpunished crime.
14:11 let the king remember the LORD your God. The woman wants David to confirm his promise by an oath in the Lord's name. As the LORD lives. An oath formula (see notes on Gen 42:15; 1 Sam 14:39) that solemnly binds David to his commitment.
14:13 against the people of God. The woman's suggestion is that David has done the same thing to Israel that her family members have done to her. The people of Israel want their crown prince returned safely to them. the king is as one who is guilty. The argument is that when David exempted the fictitious murderer from blood revenge, he in effect rendered himself guilty for not doing the same in the case of Absalom. The analogy places David in the position of the blood avenger.
14:14 like water spilled on the ground. Blood revenge will not return the victim of murder to life, just as water spilled on the ground cannot be recovered. God does not take away life. In the suggestion that the avenging of blood is contrary to God's ways of dealing with people, the woman apparently distorts Biblical teaching of God's justice (see note on Gen 9:6). But she dwells on the mercy of God, who would rather preserve life than take it (see Ezek 18:23,32; 33:11). David's own guilt and subsequent experience of God's mercy appear to give added weight to the woman's argument (see notes on 12:13; 13:21).
14:15 the people have made me afraid. The woman reverts to her own fabricated story. "The people" are evidently those of her own family who are seeking blood revenge.
14:17 as the angel of God . . . discern good and evil. Possessing superhuman powers of discernment—as a king ideally should (see v. 20; 19:27).

20 in order to change the appearance of things your servant Joab has done this thing. But my lord is wise, [a]like the wisdom of the angel of God, to know all that is in the earth."

Absalom Is Recalled

21 Then the king said to Joab, "Behold now, [a]I will surely do this thing; go therefore, bring back the young man Absalom."

22 Joab fell on his face to the ground, prostrated himself and blessed the king; then Joab said, "Today your servant knows that I have found favor in your sight, O my lord, the king, in that the king has performed the [1]request of his servant."

23 So Joab arose and went to [a]Geshur and brought Absalom to Jerusalem.

24 However the king said, "Let him turn to [a]his own house, and let him not see my face." So Absalom turned to his own house and did not see the king's face.

25 Now in all Israel was no one as handsome as Absalom, so highly praised; [a]from the sole of his foot to the crown of his head there was no defect in him.

26 When he [a]cut the hair of his head (and it was at the end of every year that he cut it, for it was heavy on him so he cut it), he weighed the hair of his head at 200 shekels by the king's weight.

27 [a]To Absalom there were born three sons, and one daughter whose name was [b]Tamar; she was a woman of beautiful appearance.

28 Now Absalom lived two full years in Jerusalem, [a]and did not see the king's face.

29 Then Absalom sent for Joab, to send him to the king, but he would not come to him. So he sent again a second time, but he would not come.

30 Therefore he said to his servants, "See, [a]Joab's [1]field is next to mine, and he has barley there; go and set it on fire." So Absalom's servants set the [1]field on fire.

31 Then Joab arose, came to Absalom at his house and said to him, "Why have your servants set my [1]field on fire?"

32 Absalom [1]answered Joab, "Behold, I sent for you, saying, 'Come here, that I may send you to the king, to say, "Why have I come from Geshur? It would be better for me still to be there." ' Now therefore, let me see the king's face, [a]and if there is iniquity in me, let him put me to death."

33 So when Joab came to the king and told him, he called for Absalom. Thus he came to the king and prostrated himself on his face to the ground before the king, and [a]the king kissed Absalom.

Absalom's Conspiracy

15 Now it came about after this that [a]Absalom provided for himself a chariot and horses and fifty men as runners before him.

2 Absalom used to rise early and [a]stand beside the way to the gate; and when any man had a suit to come to the king for judgment, Absalom would call to him and say, "From what city are you?" And he would say, "Your servant is from one of the tribes of Israel."

3 Then Absalom would say to him, "See, [a]your [1]claims are good and right, but no man listens to you on the part of the king."

4 Moreover, Absalom would say, "[a]Oh that one would appoint me judge in the land, then every man who has any suit or cause could come to me and I would give him justice."

5 And when a man came near to prostrate himself before him, he would put out his hand and take hold of him and [a]kiss him.

6 In this manner Absalom dealt with all Israel who came to the king for judgment; [a]so Absalom stole away the hearts of the men of Israel.

14:21 Joab. He appears to have been present the whole time.
14:23 Joab . . . went to Geshur. See 13:37.
14:24 let him not see my face. David still vacillates (see note on v. 1); he does not offer forgiveness and restoration.
14:25 no one . . . so highly praised. Absalom's handsomeness brought him attention and popular favor—which he was soon to cultivate.
14:26 hair of his head. For the people of that time, hair was apparently a sign of vigor. Kings and heroic figures were usually portrayed with abundant locks, while baldness was a disgrace (see 2 Kin 2:23). In this, too, Absalom seemed destined for the throne. king's weight. The royal shekel was perhaps heavier than the sanctuary shekel (see Ex 30:13; Lev 5:15; Num 3:47).
14:27 three sons. Their names are unknown; 18:18 suggests that they died in their youth. Tamar. Absalom named his daughter after his sister (13:1). Maacah (1 Kin 15:2) was probably a daughter of Tamar, and Absalom's granddaughter (see note on 2 Chr 11:20).
14:32 if there is iniquity in me, let him put me to death. Absalom demands either full pardon and restoration or death, but he still gives no sign of repentance.
14:33 the king kissed Absalom. Signifying his forgiveness and Absalom's reconciliation with the royal family. David sidesteps repentance and justice, and in this way he probably contributes to the fulfillment of the prophecy of Nathan (12:10–12).
15:1 chariot and horses. As far as is known, Absalom was the first Israelite leader to acquire a chariot and horses (cf. Deut 17:16). fifty men. They probably functioned as bodyguards and provided a display of royal pomp that appealed to the masses. Adonijah later followed Absalom's example (1 Kin 1:5).
15:3 your claims are good. Absalom seeks to ingratiate himself with the people by endorsing their grievances apart from any investigation into their legitimacy.
15:4 Oh that one would appoint me judge in the land. Absalom presents himself as the solution to the people's legal grievances. In the case of Amnon, he had taken matters into his own hands because of his father's laxity. He has found, he believes, the weakness in his father's reign, and he capitalizes on it with political astuteness.
15:7 forty years. Some ancient manuscripts read "four years," years that Absalom said to the king, "Please let me go and pay my vow which I have vowed to the LORD, in [a]Hebron.

8 "For your servant [a]vowed a vow while I was living at Geshur in Aram, saying, '[b]If the LORD shall indeed bring me back to Jerusalem, then I will serve the LORD.' "

9 The king said to him, "Go in peace." So he arose and went to Hebron.

10 But Absalom sent spies throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, "As soon as you hear the sound of the trumpet, then you shall say, '[a]Absalom is king in Hebron.' "

11 Then two hundred men went with Absalom from Jerusalem, [a]who were invited and [b]went [1]innocently, and they did not know anything.

12 And Absalom sent for [a]Ahithophel the Gilonite, David's counselor, from his city [b]Giloh, while he was offering the sacrifices. And the conspiracy was strong, for [c]the people increased continually with Absalom.

David Flees Jerusalem

13 Then a messenger came to David, saying, "[a]The hearts of the men of Israel are [1]with Absalom."

14 David said to all his servants who were with him at Jerusalem, "[a]Arise and let us flee, for otherwise none of us will escape from Absalom. Go in haste, or he will overtake us quickly and bring down calamity on us and strike the city with the edge of the sword."

15 Then the king's servants said to the king, "Behold, your servants are ready to do whatever my lord the king chooses."

16 So the king went out and all his household [1]with him. But [a]the king left ten concubines to keep the house.

17 The king went out and all the people [1]with him, and they stopped at the last house.

18 Now all his servants passed on beside him, [a]all the Cherethites, all the Pelethites and all the Gittites, [b]six hundred men who had come [1]with him from Gath, passed on before the king.

19 Then the king said to [a]Ittai the Gittite, "Why will you also go with us? Return and remain with the king, for you are a foreigner and also an exile; return to your own place.

20 "You came only yesterday, and shall I today make you wander with us, while [a]I go where I will? Return and take back your brothers; [b]mercy and [1]truth be with you."

21 But Ittai answered the king and said, "As the LORD lives, and as my lord the king lives, surely [a]wherever my lord the king may be, whether for death or for life, there also your servant will be."

22 Therefore David said to Ittai, "Go and pass over." So Ittai the Gittite passed over with all his men and all the little ones who were with him.

23 While all the country was weeping with a loud voice, all the people passed over. The king also passed over [a]the brook Kidron, and all the people passed over toward [b]the way of the wilderness.

24 Now behold, [a]Zadok also came, and all the Levites with him [b]carrying the ark of the covenant of God. And they set down the ark of God, and [c]Abiathar came up until all the people had finished passing from the city.

25 The king said to Zadok, "Return the ark of God to the city. If I find favor in the sight of the LORD, then [a]He will bring me back again and show me both it and [b]His habitation.

26 "But if He should say thus, '[a]I have no delight in you,' behold, here I am, [b]let Him do to me as seems good [1]to Him."

27 The king said also to Zadok the priest, "Are you not [a]a seer? Return to the city in i.e. four years after Absolom's return to the court (14:33). By this time he must have been about 30 years old, so his revolt must be dated early in the last decade of David's reign. Hebron. Where David was first proclaimed king (see notes on 2:1,4; 5:3,5) and where Absalom was born (3:2–3). Absalom may have had reason to believe that he could count on some local resentment over David's transfer of the capital to Jerusalem. Hebron was also the site of an important sanctuary.

15:8 Geshur. See 13:37.

15:12 Ahithophel. Bathsheba's grandfather (see 11:3; 23:34) and a wise and respected counselor (16:23). He appears to have secretly aligned himself with Absalom's rebellion in its planning stage, perhaps in retaliation against David for his treatment of Bathsheba and Uriah. This unsuspected betrayal by a trusted friend may have prompted David's statements in Ps 41:9; 55:12–14. Gilonite. Giloh was near Hebron (see Josh 15:51).

15:14 none of us will escape from Absalom. Uncertain of the extent of Absalom's support (see v. 13), David fears being trapped in Jerusalem, and he wants to spare the city a bloodbath.

15:16 the king left ten concubines to keep the house. See 5:13; see also note on 3:2. David unknowingly arranges for the fulfillment of one of Nathan's prophecies (see note on 12:11; see also 20:3).

15:18 Cherethites . . . Pelethites. See note on 8:18. Gittites, six hundred men. Philistine soldiers from Gath under the command of Ittai who for some unknown reason had joined David's personal military force (see 18:2).

15:19 Return and remain with the king. David releases the Philistine contingent from further obligations to him.

15:21 As the LORD lives. An oath of loyalty and devotion taken in the name of Israel's God (see note on 1 Sam 14:39). For a similar oath see Ruth 1:16–17.

15:24 Zadok. See note on 8:17. Abiathar. See note on 8:17; see also 1 Sam 22:20–23.

15:25 Return the ark of God to the city. David reveals a true understanding of the connection between the ark and God's presence with His people. He knows that possession of the ark does not guarantee God's blessing (see notes on 1 Sam 4:3,21). He also recognizes that the ark belongs in the capital city as a symbol of the Lord's rule over the nation (see note on 6:2), no matter who the king might be.

15:26 let Him do to me as seems good to Him. David confesses that he has no exclusive claim to the throne and that Israel's divine King is free to confer the kingship on whomever He chooses.

15:27 Are you not a seer? Perhaps an allusion to the high peace and your [b] two sons with you, your son Ahimaaz and Jonathan the son of Abiathar.

28 "See, I am going to wait [a] at the fords of the wilderness until word comes from you to inform me."

29 Therefore Zadok and Abiathar returned the ark of God to Jerusalem and remained there.

30 And David went up the ascent of the Mount of Olives, and wept as he went, and [a] his head was covered and he walked [b] barefoot. Then all the people who were with him each covered his head and went up weeping as they went.

31 Now someone told David, saying, "[a] Ahithophel is among the conspirators with Absalom." And David said, "O LORD, I pray, [b] make the counsel of Ahithophel foolishness."

32 It happened as David was coming to the summit, where God was worshiped, that behold, Hushai the [a] Archite met him with his [1] coat torn and [2] dust on his head.

33 David said to him, "If you pass over with me, then you will be [a] a burden to me.

34 "But if you return to the city, and [a] say to Absalom, 'I will be your servant, O king; as I have been your father's servant in time past, so I will now be your servant,' then you can thwart the counsel of Ahithophel for me.

35 "Are not Zadok and Abiathar the priests with you there? So it shall be that [a] whatever you hear from the king's house, you shall report to Zadok and Abiathar the priests.

36 "Behold [a] their two sons are with them there, Ahimaaz, Zadok's son and Jonathan, Abiathar's son; and [b] by them you shall send me everything that you hear."

37 So Hushai, [a] David's friend, came into the city, and [b] Absalom came into Jerusalem.

Ziba, a False Servant

16 Now when David had passed [a] a little beyond the summit, behold, [b] Ziba the servant of Mephibosheth met him [c] with a couple of saddled donkeys, and on them were two hundred loaves of bread, a hundred clusters of raisins, a hundred summer fruits, and a jug of wine.

2 The king said to Ziba, "Why do you have these?" And Ziba said, "[a] The donkeys are for the king's household to ride, and the bread and summer fruit for the young men to eat, and the wine, [b] for whoever is faint in the wilderness to drink."

3 Then the king said, "And where is [a] your master's son?" And [b] Ziba said to the king, "Behold, he is staying in Jerusalem, for he said, 'Today the house of Israel will restore the kingdom of my father to me.' "

4 So the king said to Ziba, "Behold, all that belongs to Mephibosheth is yours." And Ziba said, "I prostrate myself; let me find favor in your sight, O my lord, the king!"

David Is Cursed

5 When King David came to [a] Bahurim, behold, there came out from there a man of the family of the house of Saul [b] whose name was Shimei, the son of Gera; he came out [c] cursing continually as he came.

6 He threw stones at David and at all the servants of King David; and all the people and all the mighty men were at his right hand and at his left.

7 Thus Shimei said when he cursed, "Get out, get out, [a] you man of bloodshed, and worthless fellow!

8 "[a] The LORD has returned upon you all [b] the bloodshed of the house of Saul, in whose place you have reigned; and the LORD has given the kingdom into the hand of your son Absalom. And behold, you are taken in your own evil, for you are a man of bloodshed!"

9 Then [a] Abishai the son of Zeruiah said to the king, "Why should [b] this dead dog [c] curse my lord the king? Let me go over now and [1] cut off his head."

10 But the king said, "[a] What have I to do priest's custody of the Urim and Thummim as a means of divine revelation (see notes on Ex 28:30; 1 Sam 2:28). See also note on 1Sa 9:9.

15:28 fords of the wilderness. Fords across the Jordan in the vicinity of Gilgal.

15:30 his head was covered. A sign of sorrow (see Esth 6:12; Jer 14:3–4). he walked barefoot. Another sign of sorrow (see Is 20:2,4; Ezek 24:17; Mic 1:8).

15:31 Ahithophel. See note on v. 12.

15:32 Hushai the Archite. The Archites were a clan (some think non-Israelite) that inhabited an area southwest of Bethel (Josh 16:2). Since Hushai was a trusted member of David's court (see note on v. 37), his appearance was the beginning of an answer to David's prayer (v. 31).

15:37 Hushai, David's friend. 1 Chr 27:33 calls him the "king's friend," which seems to be an official title for the king's most trusted adviser (see 1 Kin 4:5).

16:1 Ziba. See ch. 9. Mephibosheth. See note on 4:4.

16:2 Ziba said. Since David assumed control of Saul's estate (9:7–10), Ziba, always the opportunist, seeks to profit from the political crisis.

16:3 your master's son. "Son" here means "grandson," i.e. Mephibosheth (see 9:2–3,9).

16:4 all that belongs to Mephibosheth is yours. Because the revolt was so widespread and loyalties so uncertain, David was quick to assume the worst.

16:5 Bahurim. On the eastern slope of the Mount of Olives (see note on 3:16). of the family of the house of Saul. The clan of Matri (see 1 Sam 10:21). Gera. His exact relation to Saul is unknown (see note on 1Ki 2:8).

16:6 people and . . . mighty men. The Cherethites, Pelethites and 600 Gittites (see 15:18).

16:7 worthless fellow. See note on Deut 13:13.

16:8 bloodshed of the house of Saul. Shimei may be referring to the executions reported in 21:1–14, but the time of that event is uncertain (see note on 21:1).

16:9 Abishai. See note on 1 Sam 26:6. this dead dog. An expression of absolute contempt (see note on 9:8).

with you, O sons of Zeruiah? [b]If he curses, and if the LORD has told him, 'Curse David,' [c]then who shall say, 'Why have you done so?' "

11 Then David said to Abishai and to all his servants, "Behold, [a]my son who came out from [1]me seeks my life; how much more now this Benjamite? Let him alone and let him curse, [b]for the LORD has told him.

12 "Perhaps the LORD will look on my affliction and [1][a]return good to me instead of his cursing this day."

13 So David and his men went on the way; and Shimei went along on the hillside parallel with him and as he went he cursed and cast stones and threw dust at him.

14 The king and all the people who were with him arrived weary and he refreshed himself there.

Absalom Enters Jerusalem

15 [a]Then Absalom and all the people, the men of Israel, entered Jerusalem, and Ahithophel with him.

16 Now it came about when [a]Hushai the Archite, David's friend, came to Absalom, that [b]Hushai said to Absalom, "[c]Long live the king! Long live the king!"

17 Absalom said to Hushai, "Is this your [1]loyalty to your friend? [a]Why did you not go with your friend?"

18 Then Hushai said to Absalom, "No! For whom the LORD, this people, and all the men of Israel have chosen, his I will be, and with him I will remain.

19 "Besides, [a]whom should I serve? Should I not serve in the presence of his son? As I have served in your father's presence, so I will be in your presence."

20 Then Absalom said to Ahithophel, "Give your advice. What shall we do?"

21 Ahithophel said to Absalom, "[a]Go in to your father's concubines, whom he has left to keep the house; then all Israel will hear that you have made yourself odious to your father. The hands of all who are with you will also be strengthened."

22 So they pitched a tent for Absalom on the roof, [a]and Absalom went in to his father's concubines [b]in the sight of all Israel.

23 [a]The advice of Ahithophel, which he [1]gave in those days, was as if one inquired of the word of God; [b]so was all the advice of Ahithophel regarded by both David and Absalom.

Hushai's Counsel

17 Furthermore, Ahithophel said to Absalom, "Please let me choose 12,000 men that I may arise and pursue David tonight.

2 "[a]I will come upon him while he is weary and [1]exhausted and terrify him, so that all the people who are with him will flee. Then [b]I will strike down the king alone,

3 and I will bring back all the people to you. [1]The return of everyone depends on the man you seek; then all the people will be at [a]peace."

4 So the [1]plan pleased Absalom and all the elders of Israel.

5 Then Absalom said, "Now call [a]Hushai the Archite also, and let us hear what [1]he has to say."

6 When Hushai had come to Absalom, Absalom said to [1]him, "Ahithophel has spoken [2]thus. Shall we [3]carry out his plan? If not, you speak."

7 So Hushai said to Absalom, "[a]This time the advice that Ahithophel has [1]given is not good."

8 Moreover, Hushai said, "You know your father and his men, that they are mighty men and they are [1]fierce, [a]like a bear robbed of her cubs in the field. And your father is an [2]expert in warfare, and will not spend the night with the people.

9 "Behold, he has now hidden himself in one of the [1]caves or in another place; and it will be [2]when he falls on them at the first attack, that whoever hears it will say, 'There has been a slaughter among the people who follow Absalom.'

10 "And even the one who is valiant, whose heart is like the heart of a lion, [a]will completely [1]lose heart; for all Israel knows that your father is a mighty man and those who are with him are valiant men.

11 "But I counsel that all Israel be surely gathered to you, [a]from Dan even to Beersheba, [b]as the sand that is by the sea in abundance, and that [1]you personally go into battle.

12 "So we shall come to him in one of the places where he can be found, and we will [1]fall on him [a]as the dew falls on the ground;

16:16 Hushai the Archite, David's friend. See notes on 15:32,37.

16:21 Go in to your father's concubines. This would signify Absalom's assumption of royal power; it would also be a definitive and irreversible declaration of the break between father and son (see notes on 3:7; 12:8; 1 Kin 2:22).

and of him and of all the men who are with him, not even one will be left.

13 "If he withdraws into a city, then all Israel shall bring ropes to that city, and we will [a]drag it into the [1]valley until not even a small stone is found there."

14 Then Absalom and all the men of Israel said, "The counsel of Hushai the Archite is better than the counsel of Ahithophel." For [a]the LORD had ordained to thwart the good counsel of Ahithophel, so that the LORD might bring calamity on Absalom.

Hushai's Warning Saves David

15 Then [a]Hushai said to Zadok and to Abiathar the priests, "[1]This is what Ahithophel counseled Absalom and the elders of Israel, and [1]this is what I have counseled.

16 "Now therefore, send quickly and tell David, saying, '[a]Do not spend the night at the fords of the wilderness, but by all means cross over, or else the king and all the people who are with him will be [1]destroyed.' "

17 [a]Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz were staying at [b]En-rogel, and a maidservant would go and tell them, and they would go and tell King David, for they could not be seen entering the city.

18 But a lad did see them and told Absalom; so the two of them departed quickly and came to the house of a man [a]in Bahurim, who had a well in his courtyard, and they went down [1]into it.

19 And [a]the woman [1]took a covering and spread it over the well's mouth and scattered grain on it, so that nothing was known.

20 Then Absalom's servants came to the woman at the house and said, "Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?" And [a]the woman said to them, "They have crossed the brook of water." And when they searched and could not find them, they returned to Jerusalem.

21 It came about after they had departed that they came up out of the well and went and told King David; and they said to David, "[a]Arise and cross over the water quickly for thus Ahithophel has counseled against you."

22 Then David and all the people who were with him arose and crossed the Jordan; and by [1]dawn not even one remained who had not crossed the Jordan.

23 Now when Ahithophel saw that his counsel was not [1]followed, he [2]saddled his donkey and arose and went to his home, to [a]his city, and [3b]set his house in order, and [c]strangled himself; thus he died and was buried in the grave of his father.

24 Then David came to [a]Mahanaim. And Absalom crossed the Jordan, he and all the men of Israel with him.

25 Absalom set [a]Amasa over the army in place of Joab. Now Amasa was the son of a man whose name was [1]Ithra the Israelite, who went in to Abigail the daughter of [b]Nahash, sister of Zeruiah, Joab's mother.

26 And Israel and Absalom camped in the land of Gilead.

27 Now when David had come to Mahanaim, Shobi [a]the son of Nahash from [b]Rabbah of the sons of Ammon, [c]Machir the son of Ammiel from Lo-debar, and [d]Barzillai the Gileadite from Rogelim,

28 brought [a]beds, basins, pottery, wheat, barley, flour, parched grain, beans, lentils, parched seeds,

29 honey, curds, sheep, and cheese of the herd, for David and for the people who were with him, [a]to eat; for they said, "The people are hungry and weary and thirsty in the wilderness."

Absalom Slain

18 Then David [1]numbered the people who were with him and [a]set over them commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds.

2 David sent the people out, [a]one third under the [1]command of Joab, one third under the [1]command of Abishai the son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and one third under the [1]command of [b]Ittai the Gittite. And the king said to the people, "I myself will surely go out with you also."

3 But the people said, "[a]You should not

17:14 the LORD had ordained to thwart the good counsel of Ahithophel. An answer to David's prayer (see 15:31; cf. Ps 33:10; Prov 21:30).
17:15 Zadok and to Abiathar. See 15:24–29,35–36.

17:17 Jonathan and Ahimaaz. See 15:36. En-rogel. A spring in the Kidron Valley just outside the walls of Jerusalem. a maidservant. A servant girl going to the spring for water would attract no attention.
17:18 Bahurim. See note on 16:5.
17:23 his city. Giloh (see note on 15:12). strangled himself. Ahithophel was convinced that the rebellion would fail and that he would be found guilty of treason as a co-conspirator.
17:24 Mahanaim. Ironically the same place where Ish-bosheth had sought refuge after Saul's death (2:8).
17:25 Amasa. Nephew of David and cousin of both Absalom and Joab son of Zeruiah. Abigail the daughter of Nahash, sister of Zeruiah. Zeruiah was David's sister (1 Chr 2:16). Since the father of Abigail and Zeruiah is Nahash rather than Jesse, it would appear that their unnamed mother married Jesse after the death of Nahash.
17:27 Shobi the son of Nahash. Apparently the brother of Hanun (see 10:2–4), whom David had defeated earlier in his reign (12:26–31). Rabbah of the sons of Ammon. See note on 10:3. Machir. See note on 9:4. Barzillai. A wealthy benefactor of David during his flight to Mahanaim (see 19:32; 1 Kin 2:7). After the Babylonian exile, there were claimants to the priesthood among his descendants (Ezra 2:61–63; Neh 7:63).
18:2 Ittai the Gittite. See 15:18–22.
18:3 You should not go out. In addition to the reason given, David was growing old and was no longer the warrior he had go out; for if we indeed flee, they will not care about us; even if half of us die, they will not care about us. But [1]you are worth ten thousand of us; therefore now it is better that you be ready to help us from the city."

4 Then the king said to them, "Whatever seems best to you I will do." So [a]the king stood beside the gate, and all the people went out by hundreds and thousands.

5 The king charged Joab and Abishai and Ittai, saying, "Deal gently for my sake with the young man Absalom." And [a]all the people heard when the king charged all the commanders concerning Absalom.

6 Then the people went out into the field against Israel, and the battle took place in [a]the forest of Ephraim.

7 The people of Israel were [1]defeated there before the servants of David, and the slaughter there that day was great, 20,000 men.

8 For the battle there was spread over the whole countryside, and the forest devoured more people that day than the sword devoured.

9 Now Absalom happened to meet the servants of David. For Absalom was riding on his mule, and the mule went under the thick branches of a great oak. And [a]his head caught fast in the oak, so he was [1]left hanging between heaven and earth, while the mule that was under him kept going.

10 When a certain man saw it, he told Joab and said, "Behold, I saw Absalom hanging in an oak."

11 Then Joab said to the man who had told him, "Now behold, you saw him! Why then did you not strike him there to the ground? And I would have given you ten pieces of silver and a belt."

12 The man said to Joab, "Even if I should receive a thousand pieces of silver in my hand, I would not put out my hand against the king's son; for [a]in our hearing the king charged you and Abishai and Ittai, saying, '[1]Protect for me the young man Absalom!'

14 Then Joab said, "I will not [1]waste time here with you." [a]So he took three spears in his hand and thrust them through the heart of Absalom while he was yet alive in the [2]midst of the oak.

15 And ten young men who carried Joab's armor gathered around and struck Absalom and killed him.

16 Then [a]Joab blew the trumpet, and the people returned from pursuing Israel, for Joab restrained the people.

17 They took Absalom and cast him into [1]a deep pit in the forest and [a]erected over him a very great heap of stones. And [b]all Israel fled, each to his tent.

18 Now Absalom in his lifetime had taken and [a]set up for himself a pillar which is in [b]the King's Valley, for he said, "[c]I have no son [1]to preserve my name." So he named the pillar after his own name, and it is called Absalom's Monument to this day.

David Is Grief-stricken

19 Then [a]Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said, "Please let me run and bring the king news [b]that the LORD has [1]freed him from the hand of his enemies."

20 But Joab said to him, "You are not the man to carry news this day, but you shall carry news another day; however, you shall carry no news today because the king's son is dead."

21 Then Joab said to the Cushite, "Go, tell the king what you have seen." So the Cushite bowed to Joab and ran.

22 Now Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said once more to Joab, "But whatever happens, please let me also run after the Cushite." And Joab said, "Why would you run, my son, since [a]you will have no reward for going?"

23 "But whatever happens," he said, "I will been (see note on 15:7). This is essentially the same idea that Ahithophel had expressed to Absalom (see 17:2).

18:5 Deal gently for my sake with . . . Absalom. David's love for his (now) oldest son was undying—and almost his undoing (see 19:5–7).

18:6 Israel. Absalom's army (see 15:13; 16:15; 17:4,11,24–26). forest of Ephraim. The battle was apparently fought in Gilead, east of the Jordan (see 17:24,26). Why this area is termed the "forest of Ephraim" is not clear (perhaps it comes from an Ephraimite claim on the area; see Judg 12:1–4).

18:8 the battle there was spread. The armies apparently became dispersed, and many of the men got lost in the forest.

18:9 his mule. See note on 13:29. his head caught fast in the oak. Whether by the entanglement of his abundant hair (14:26) or by some other means is not stated, but his handsome head (see 14:25) was in the end—ironically—his undoing.

18:11 I would have given you. Joab must be referring to an announced intent on his part to reward anyone killing Absalom. His actions and interests did not always coincide with David's wishes (see note on 2:13).

18:15 killed him. The easiest and most certain way of ending the rebellion—but the brutal overkill is indicative of the deep animosity felt by David's men against Absalom.

18:17 great heap of stones. A mound of rocks that mocked the monument Absalom himself had erected (v. 18). all Israel. See note on v. 6.

18:18 set up for himself a pillar. As Saul had done (1 Sam 15:12). King's Valley. Thought to be located near Jerusalem (see Gen 14:17; Josephus, Antiquities, 7.10.3). I have no son. See 14:27 and note. Absalom's Monument. Not to be confused with the much later monument of the same name that is still visible today in the valley east of Jerusalem.

18:19 Ahimaaz the son of Zadok. See 15:27; 17:17–21.

18:20 not the man to carry news. The choice of a messenger depended on the content of the message (see v. 27 and note).

18:21 Cushite. An alien (see notes on Gen 10:6–8; Amos 9:7).

run." So he said to him, "Run." Then Ahimaaz ran by way of the plain and passed up the Cushite.

24 Now [a]David was sitting between the two gates; and [b]the watchman went up to the roof of the gate by the wall, and raised his eyes and looked, and behold, a man running by himself.

25 The watchman called and told the king. And the king said, "If he is by himself there is good news in his mouth." And he came nearer and nearer.

26 Then the watchman saw another man running; and the watchman called to the gatekeeper and said, "Behold, another man running by himself." And the king said, "This one also is bringing good news."

27 The watchman said, "I [1]think the running of the first one [a]is like the running of Ahimaaz the son of Zadok." And the king said, "[b]This is a good man and comes with good news."

28 Ahimaaz called and said to the king, "[1]All is well." And [a]he prostrated himself before the king with his face to the ground. And he said, "[b]Blessed is the LORD your God, who has delivered up the men who lifted their hands against my lord the king."

29 The king said, "[a]Is it well with the young man Absalom?" And Ahimaaz answered, "When Joab sent the king's servant, and your servant, I saw a great tumult, but [b]I did not know what it was."

30 Then the king said, "Turn aside and stand here." So he turned aside and stood still.

31 Behold, the Cushite arrived, and the Cushite said, "Let my lord the king receive good news, for [a]the LORD has [1]freed you this day from the hand of all those who rose up against you."

32 Then the king said to the Cushite, "[a]Is it well with the young man Absalom?" And the Cushite answered, "[b]Let the enemies of my lord the king, and all who rise up against you for evil, be as that young man!"

33 [1]The king was deeply moved and went up to the chamber over the gate and wept. And thus he said as he walked, "[a]O my son Absalom, my son, my son Absalom! [b]Would I had died instead of you, O Absalom, my son, my son!"

Joab Reproves David's Lament

19 Then it was told Joab, "Behold, [a]the king is weeping and mourns for Absalom."

2 The [1]victory that day was turned to mourning for all the people, for the people heard it said that day, "The king is grieved for his son."

3 So the people went by stealth into the city that day, as people who are humiliated steal away when they flee in battle.

4 The king [a]covered his face and [1]cried out with a loud voice, "[b]O my son Absalom, O Absalom, my son, my son!"

5 Then Joab came into the house to the king and said, "Today you have covered with shame the faces of all your servants, who today have saved your life and the lives of your sons and daughters, the lives of your wives, and the lives of your concubines,

6 by loving those who hate you, and by hating those who love you. For you have shown today that [1]princes and servants are nothing to you; for I know this day that if Absalom were alive and all of us were dead today, then [2]you would be pleased.

7 "Now therefore arise, go out and speak [1]kindly to your servants, for I swear by the LORD, if you do not go out, surely [a]not a man will pass the night with you, and this will be worse for you than all the evil that has come upon you from your youth until now."

David Restored as King

8 So the king arose and sat in the gate. When they told all the people, saying, "Behold, the king is [a]sitting in the gate," then all the people came before the king.

Now [b]Israel had fled, each to his tent.

9 All the people were quarreling throughout all the tribes of Israel, saying, "[a]The king delivered us from the [1]hand of our enemies and [b]saved us from the [1]hand of the Philistines, but now [c]he has fled out of the land from Absalom.

10 "However, Absalom, whom we anointed over us, has died in battle. Now then, why are you silent about bringing the king back?"

11 Then King David sent to [a]Zadok and Abiathar the priests, saying, "Speak to the elders of Judah, saying, 'Why are you the 18:27 comes with good news. David presumed that Joab would not have sent someone like Ahimaaz to carry bad news (see v. 20 and note).

18:29 I saw a great tumult. Ahimaaz avoids a direct answer to David's question, though he knew Absalom was dead.

18:33 O my son Absalom . . . ! One of the most moving expressions in all literature of a father's love for a son—in spite of all that Absalom had done.

19:5 Joab came . . . to the king. Apparently confident that the king was unaware of his part in Absalom's death. David never indicates that he learned of it (see 1 Kin 2:5). you have covered with shame the faces of all your servants. Joab boldly rebukes David for allowing his personal grief to keep him from expressing his appreciation for the loyalty of those who risked their lives to preserve his throne. Joab warns David that his love for Absalom can still undo him.

19:9 The king delivered us. With Absalom dead, the northern tribes remember what David had done for them (see 3:17–18; 5:2).

19:11 Speak to the elders of Judah. Even though the rebellion had begun in Hebron in Judah (see 15:9–12), David appeals to the elders of his own tribe to take the initiative in restoring him to the throne in Jerusalem (see 2:4; 1 Sam 30:26). This appeal produced the desired result, but it also led to the arousal of tribal jealousies (see vv. 41–42).

last to bring the king back to his house, since the word of all Israel has come to the king, even to his house?

12 'You are my brothers; [a]you are my bone and my flesh. Why then should you be the last to bring back the king?'

13 "Say to [a]Amasa, 'Are you not my bone and my flesh? [b]May God do so to me, and more also, if you will not be [c]commander of the army before me continually [d]in place of Joab.' "

14 Thus he turned the hearts of all the men of Judah [a]as one man, so that they sent word to the king, saying, "Return, you and all your servants."

15 The king then returned and came as far as the Jordan. And Judah came to [a]Gilgal in order to go to meet the king, to bring the king across the Jordan.

16 Then [a]Shimei the son of Gera, the Benjamite who was from Bahurim, hurried and came down with the men of Judah to meet King David.

17 There were a thousand men of Benjamin with him, with [a]Ziba the servant of the house of Saul, and his fifteen sons and his twenty servants with him; and they rushed to the Jordan before the king.

18 Then they kept crossing the ford to bring over the king's household, and to do what was good in sight. And Shimei the son of Gera fell down before the king as he was about to cross the Jordan.

19 So he said to the king, "[a]Let not my lord consider me guilty, nor remember what your servant did wrong on the day when my lord the king came out from Jerusalem, so that the king would [1]take it to heart.

20 "For your servant knows that I have sinned; therefore behold, I have come today, [a]the first of all the house of Joseph to go down to meet my lord the king."

21 But Abishai the son of Zeruiah said, "[a]Should not Shimei be put to death for this, [b]because he cursed the LORD's anointed?"

22 David then said, "[a]What have I to do with you, O sons of Zeruiah, that you should this day be an adversary to me? [b]Should any man be put to death in Israel today? For do I not know that I am king over Israel today?"

23 The king said to Shimei, "[a]You shall not die." Thus the king swore to him.

24 Then [a]Mephibosheth the [1]son of Saul came down to meet the king; and [b]he had neither [2]cared for his feet, nor [2]trimmed his mustache, nor [c]washed his clothes, from the day the king departed until the day he came home in peace.

25 It was when he came from Jerusalem to meet the king, that the king said to him, "[a]Why did you not go with me, Mephibosheth?"

26 So he answered, "O my lord, the king, my servant deceived me; for your servant said, 'I will saddle a donkey for myself that I may ride on it and go with the king,' [a]because your servant is lame.

27 "Moreover, [a]he has slandered your servant to my lord the king; but my lord the king is [b]like the angel of God, therefore do what is good in your sight.

28 "For [a]all my father's household was nothing but dead men before my lord the king; [b]yet you set your servant among those who ate at your own table. What right do I have yet that I should [1]complain anymore to the king?"

29 So the king said to him, "Why do you still speak of your affairs? I have [1]decided, 'You and Ziba shall divide the land.' "

30 Mephibosheth said to the king, "Let him even take it all, since my lord the king has come safely to his own house."

31 Now [a]Barzillai the Gileadite had come down from Rogelim; and he went on to the Jordan with the king to [1]escort him over the Jordan.

32 Now Barzillai was very old, being eighty years old; and he had [1][a]sustained the king while he stayed at Mahanaim, for he was a very great man.

33 The king said to Barzillai, "You cross

19:13 Amasa. See 17:25 and note. Although Amasa deserved death for treason, David appointed him commander of his army in place of Joab, hoping to secure the allegiance of those who had followed Amasa, especially the Judahites (see 20:5). May God do so to me, and more also. A curse formula (see note on 1 Sam 3:17).

19:15 Gilgal. See note on Josh 4:19.

19:17 a thousand men of Benjamin. No doubt fearing they would be suspected by the king of being implicated in Shimei's deed.

19:20 your servant knows that I have sinned. Shimei's guilt was common knowledge; he could only seize the most appropriate time to plead for mercy. house of Joseph. A common way of referring to the northern tribes (see 1 Kin 11:28; Ezek 37:19; Amos 5:6; Zech 10:6)—of which Ephraim and Manasseh (sons of Joseph) were the most prominent (see Num 26:28; Josh 18:5; Judg 1:22).

19:21 Abishai. See 16:9; see also note on 1 Sam 26:6. the LORD's anointed. See note on 1 Sam 9:16; see also 1 Sam 24:6; 26:9–11; Ex 22:28; 1 Kin 21:10.

19:22 Should any man be put to death in Israel today? It was a day for general amnesty (see 1 Sam 11:13).

19:23 You shall not die. David kept his pledge; he would not himself avenge the wrong committed against him (see note on 1 Sam 25:2–44). But on his deathbed he instructed Solomon to take Shimei's case in hand (see 1 Kin 2:8–9,36–46).

19:24 Mephibosheth. See 9:6–13.

19:25 Why did you not go with me . . . ? David remembers Ziba's previous allegations (see 16:3).

19:26 lame. See 4:4; 9:3.

19:27 he has slandered your servant. See 16:3. like the angel of God. See 14:17 and note. do what is good in your sight. Mephibosheth discreetly requests David to reconsider the grant of his property to Ziba (see 16:4).

19:29 divide the land. Faced with conflicting testimony that could not be corroborated, David withholds judgment and orders the division of Saul's estate.

34 But Barzillai said to the king, "[a]How long [1]have I yet to live, that I should go up with the king to Jerusalem?

35 "I am [1]now [a]eighty years old. Can I distinguish between good and bad? Or can your servant taste what I eat or what I drink? Or can I hear anymore [b]the voice of singing men and women? [c]Why then should your servant be an added burden to my lord the king?

36 "Your servant would merely cross over the Jordan with the king. Why should the king compensate me with this reward?

37 "Please let your servant return, that I may die in my own city near the grave of my father and my mother. However, here is your servant [a]Chimham, let him cross over with my lord the king, and do for him what is good in your sight."

38 The king answered, "Chimham shall cross over with me, and I will do for him what is good in your sight; and whatever you [1]require of me, I will do for you."

39 All the people crossed over the Jordan and the king crossed too. The king then [a]kissed Barzillai and blessed him, and he returned to his place.

40 Now the king went on to Gilgal, and Chimham went on with him; and all the people of Judah and also [a]half the people of Israel [1]accompanied the king.

41 And behold, all the men of Israel came to the king and said to the king, "[a]Why had our brothers [b]the men of Judah stolen you away, and brought the king and his household and all David's men with him over the Jordan?"

42 Then all the men of Judah answered the men of Israel, "Because [a]the king is a close relative to [1]us. Why then [2]are you angry about this matter? Have we eaten at all at the king's expense, or has [3]anything been taken for us?"

43 But the men of Israel answered the men of Judah and said, "[1][a]We have ten parts in the king, therefore [1]we also have more claim on David than you. Why then did you treat us with contempt? Was it not [1]our advice first to bring back [1]our king?" Yet the words of the men of Judah were harsher than the words of the men of Israel.

Sheba's Revolt

20 Now [a]a worthless fellow happened to be there whose name was Sheba, the son of [b]Bichri, a Benjamite; and he blew the trumpet and said,

"[c]We have no portion in David,
Nor do we have inheritance in [d]the son of Jesse;
[e]Every man to his tents, O Israel!"

2 So all the men of Israel [1]withdrew from following David and followed Sheba the son of Bichri; but the men of Judah [2]remained steadfast to their king, from the Jordan even to Jerusalem.

3 Then David came to his house at Jerusalem, and [a]the king took the ten women, the concubines whom he had left to keep the house, and placed them under guard and provided them with sustenance, but did not go in to them. So they were shut up until the day of their death, living as widows.

4 Then the king said to [a]Amasa, "Call out the men of Judah for me within three days, and be present here yourself."

5 So Amasa went to call out the men of Judah, but he [a]delayed longer than the set time which he had appointed him.

6 And David said to [a]Abishai, "Now Sheba the son of Bichri will do us more harm than Absalom; [b]take your lord's servants and pursue him, so that he does not find for himself fortified cities and escape from our sight."

7 So Joab's men went out after him, [a]along with the Cherethites and the Pelethites and all the mighty men; and they went out from Jerusalem to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri.

19:35 distinguish between good and bad. At his age, he would be indifferent to all the pleasures of the court.

19:37 Chimham. Likely a son of Barzillai (see 1Ki 2:7).

19:41 Why had . . . the men of Judah stolen you away, and brought the king . . . over the Jordan? It seems that the Jordan was a kind of psychological border to the land of Israel (see Josh 22:19,25; Judg 12:4)—which may also explain why Ish-bosheth (2:8), Mephibosheth (9:4) and even David himself (17:22) had sought refuge in Transjordan. That being the case, the protest of the Israelites may be that the Judahites had not waited for all Israel to assemble before bringing David across the Jordan, thus leaving the Israelites in a bad light—as though they were reluctant to receive the king back (see v. 43).

19:43 ten parts. The ten tribes, excluding Judah and Simeon (see note on 2:4). we also have more claim on David. The grounds for this assertion may be that the Lord had chosen David to reign in the place of Saul (see 3:17–18; 5:2).

20:1 worthless fellow. See note on Deut 13:13. there. In Gilgal (19:40–43). Bichri. Benjamin's second son (Beker, Gen 46:21; 1 Chr 7:6–9). Benjamite. Tribal jealousy still simmered over the transfer of the royal house from Benjamin (Saul's tribe) to Judah. We have no portion in David. Sheba appeals to the Israelite suspicion that David favored his own tribe Judah over the other tribes (see 1 Kin 12:16).

20:2 all the men of Israel. Those referred to in 19:41–43.

20:3 ten . . . concubines. See notes on 15:16; 16:22.

20:4 Amasa. See notes on 17:25; 19:13. David bypasses Joab.

20:6 Abishai. David bypasses Joab a second time (see v. 7). your lord's servants. "Joab's men" (v. 7).

20:7 Joab's men. See 18:2. It becomes clear that Joab also accompanied the soldiers and, though not in command (by the king's order), he was obviously the leader recognized by the soldiers (see vv. 7,11,15). Cherethites and the Pelethites. See note on 8:18. mighty men. See 23:8–39. Once more in a time of crisis David depended mainly on the small force of professionals (many of them non-Israelite) who made up his private army.

8 When they were at the large stone which is in [a]Gibeon, Amasa came [1]to meet them. Now Joab was [2]dressed in his military attire, and over it was a belt with a sword in its sheath fastened at his waist; and as he went forward, it fell out.

9 Joab said to Amasa, "Is it well with you, my brother?" And [a]Joab took Amasa by the beard with his right hand to kiss him.

Amasa Murdered

10 But Amasa was not on guard against the sword which was in Joab's hand so [a]he struck him in the belly with it and poured out his inward parts on the ground, and did not strike him again, and he died. Then Joab and Abishai his brother pursued Sheba the son of Bichri.

11 Now there stood by him one of Joab's young men, and said, "Whoever favors Joab and whoever is for David, [a]let him follow Joab."

12 But Amasa lay wallowing in his blood in the middle of the highway. And when the man saw that all the people stood still, he [1]removed Amasa from the highway into the field and threw a garment over him when he saw that everyone who came by him stood still.

Revolt Put Down

13 As soon as he was removed from the highway, all the men passed on after Joab to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri.

14 Now he went through all the tribes of Israel to Abel, even Beth-maacah, and all the Berites; and they were gathered together and also went after him.

15 They came and besieged him in [a]Abel Beth-maacah, and [b]they [1]cast up a siege ramp against the city, and it stood by the rampart; and all the people who were with Joab were wreaking destruction in order to topple the wall.

16 Then [a]a wise woman called from the city, "Hear, hear! Please tell Joab, 'Come here that I may speak with you.' "

17 So he approached her, and the woman said, "Are you Joab?" And he answered, "I am." Then she said to him, "Listen to the words of your maidservant." And he answered, "I am listening."

18 Then she spoke, saying, "Formerly they used to say, 'They will surely ask advice at Abel,' and thus they ended the dispute.

19 "I am of those who are peaceable and faithful in Israel. [a]You are seeking to destroy a city, even a mother in Israel. Why would you swallow up [b]the inheritance of the LORD?"

20 Joab replied, "Far be it, far be it from me that I should swallow up or destroy!

21 "Such is not the case. But a man from [a]the hill country of Ephraim, [b]Sheba the son of Bichri by name, has lifted up his hand against King David. Only hand him over, and I will depart from the city." And the woman said to Joab, "Behold, his head will be thrown to you over the wall."

22 Then the woman [a]wisely came to all the people. And they cut off the head of Sheba the son of Bichri and threw it to Joab. So [b]he blew the trumpet, and they were dispersed from the city, each to his tent. Joab also returned to the king at Jerusalem.

23 [a]Now Joab was over the whole army of Israel, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites;

24 and Adoram was over the forced labor, and [a]Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was the recorder;

25 and Sheva was scribe, and Zadok and [a]Abiathar were priests;

26 and Ira the Jairite was also a priest to David.

20:8 Gibeon. See note on 2:12. Amasa came. Apparently with some troops (see v. 11 and note).
20:10 in the belly. See 2:23; 3:27. For the second time Joab commits murder to secure his position as commander of David's army (see 1 Kin 2:5–6). Joab and Abishai his brother. In defiance of David's order, Joab reassumes command on his own initiative (see v. 23).
20:11 Whoever favors Joab and whoever is for David. To dispel any idea that Joab was aligned with Sheba's conspiracy, an appeal is made to Amasa's troops to support Joab if they are truly loyal to David.
20:14 Abel . . . Beth-maacah. Located to the north of Dan (see 1 Kin 15:20; 2 Chr 16:4). Sheba's strategy was to gather as many volunteers for his revolt as possible, but he was obviously afraid to assemble his ragtag army anywhere within close reach of David's men. Berites. Otherwise unknown.
20:18 ask advice at Abel. The city was famous for the wisdom of its inhabitants.
20:19 a mother in Israel. A town that produced faithful Israelites—cities were commonly personified as women (see Jer 50:12; Gal 4:26). the inheritance of the LORD. See note on 1 Sam 10:1.
20:21 hill country of Ephraim. Either Sheba, a Benjamite (see v. 1), lived in the tribal territory of Ephraim or this was the designation of a geographical, rather than a strictly tribal, region.

20:24 Adoram was over the forced labor. A position not established in the early years of David's reign (see 8:15–16). Adoram (a variant of Adoniram) must have been a late appointee of David since he continued to serve under Solomon (1 Kin 4:6; 5:14) and was eventually killed in the early days of the reign of Rehoboam (1 Kin 12:18; 2 Chr 10:18). forced labor. Labor performed for the most part by prisoners of war from defeated nations (see Josh 9:21; 1 Kin 9:15,20–21). recorder. See note on 8:16.

Gibeonite Revenge

21 Now there was [a]a famine in the days of David for three years, year after year; and [b]David sought the presence of the LORD. And the LORD said, "It is for Saul and his bloody house, because he put the Gibeonites to death."

2 So the king called the Gibeonites and spoke to them (now the Gibeonites were not of the sons of Israel but of the remnant of the Amorites, and [a]the sons of Israel [1]made a covenant with them, but Saul had sought to [2]kill them in his zeal for the sons of Israel and Judah).

3 Thus David said to the Gibeonites, "What should I do for you? And how can I make atonement that you may bless [a]the inheritance of the LORD?"

4 Then the Gibeonites said to him, "[a]We have no concern of silver or gold with Saul or his house, nor is it for us to put any man to death in Israel." And he said, "I will do for you whatever you say."

5 So they said to the king, "[a]The man who consumed us and who planned [1]to exterminate us from remaining within any border of Israel,

6 let seven men from his sons be given to us, and we will [1]hang them [a]before the LORD in Gibeah of Saul, [b]the chosen of the LORD." And the king said, "I will give them."

7 But the king spared [a]Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan the son of Saul, [b]because of the oath of the LORD which was between them, between David and Saul's son Jonathan.

8 So the king took the two sons of [a]Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, Armoni and Mephibosheth whom she had borne to Saul, and the five sons of [1][b]Merab the daughter of Saul, whom she had borne to Adriel the son of Barzillai the [c]Meholathite.

9 Then he gave them into the hands of the Gibeonites, and they [1]hanged them in the mountain before the LORD, so that the seven of them fell together; and they were put to death in the first days of harvest at [a]the beginning of barley harvest.

10 [a]And Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took sackcloth and spread it for herself on the rock, from the beginning of harvest until [1]it rained on them from the sky; and [b]she [2]allowed neither the birds of the sky to rest on them by day nor the beasts of the field by night.

11 When it was told David what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, the concubine of Saul, had done,

12 then David went and took [a]the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son from the men of Jabesh-gilead, who had stolen them from the open square of [b]Beth-seh (Num 32:41) or to a judge from Gilead (Judg 10:3,5). priest. See note on 8:18.

21:1–24:25 This concluding section forms an appendix to 1,2 Samuel and contains additional materials (without concern for chronology) relating to David's reign. While its topical arrangement is striking, it also employs a literary pattern, a-b-c/c-b-a, frequently found elsewhere in OT literature. The first and last units (21:1–14; 24:1–25) are narratives of two events in which David had to deal with God's wrath against Israel (the first occasioned by an act of Saul, the second by his own). The second and fifth units (21:15–22; 23:8–39) are accounts of David's warriors (the second much longer than the first). At the center (22:1–23:7) are two songs of David (the first much longer than the second), one of which celebrates David's victories as warrior-king while the other recalls his role as psalmist (see note on 1 Sam 16:14–17:58). It is unknown if motivation for this arrangement went beyond aesthetic considerations. The triumph song of ch. 22 and the song of Hannah in 1 Sam 2:1–10 clearly form a literary frame enclosing the main composition (see note on 1 Sam 2:1).

21:1–14 This event appears to have occurred after David's kindness was extended to Mephibosheth (ch. 9) and before Absalom's rebellion (16:7–8; 18:28; see note on 16:8).

21:1 he put the Gibeonites to death. Saul's action against the Gibeonites is not related elsewhere but appears to have been instituted early in his reign, motivated by an excessive nationalism (if not tribalism—the Gibeonites occupied territory partly assigned to Benjamin, and Saul's great-grandfather was known as the "father of Gibeon," 1 Chr 8:29; 9:35).

21:2 Amorites. A comprehensive name sometimes used to designate all the pre-Israelite inhabitants of Canaan (Gen 15:16; Josh 24:18; Judg 6:10; Amos 2:10). More precisely, the Gibeonites were called Hivites (Josh 9:7; 11:19). the sons of Israel made a covenant with them. A pledge sworn in the name of the Lord (Josh 9:15,18–26). sought to kill them. The reason Saul was unsuccessful is not known.

21:3 bless. Since the oath sworn to them had been violated, they could rightly call down God's curse on the land. the inheritance of the LORD. See note on 1 Sam 10:1.

21:4 nor is it for us to put any man to death in Israel. Bloodguilt could only be redressed by the shedding of blood, but as subject aliens the Gibeonites had no right to legal redress against an Israelite. This restriction must have been Saul's since it is contrary to the Mosaic law (see Ex 22:21; Lev 19:34; 24:22; Deut 1:16–17; 24:17; 27:19).

21:5 The man. Saul. exterminate us from . . . Israel. Those who escaped Saul's attack had been driven from their towns and lands (see 4:2–3 and notes).

21:6 seven. Because it would represent a full number (seven symbolized completeness)—though many more Gibeonites had been slain. Gibeah. The place of Saul's residence (see 1 Sam 10:26).

21:7 oath of the LORD . . . between David and . . . Jonathan. See 4:4; 9:1–13; 1 Sam 18:3; 20:15.

21:8 Rizpah. See 3:7. Merab. See 1 Sam 18:19. Barzillai the Meholathite. Not to be confused with Barzillai the Gileadite (17:27; 19:31).

21:9 the seven of them fell together. This nearly extinguished the house of Saul, which God had rejected (see 1 Sam 13:13–14; 15:23–26). In 1 Chr 8:29–39; 9:35–44 no descendants of Saul are listed other than from the line of Jonathan. the beginning of barley harvest. About the middle of April (see note on Ruth 1:22).

21:10 sackcloth. See note on Gen 37:34. rained. An indication that the famine was caused by drought and evidence that the judgment on Israel for breaking the oath sworn to the Gibeonites (see v. 1) was now over.

21:12 bones of Saul and . . . Jonathan his son. See 1 Sam 31:11–13. David's final act toward Saul and Jonathan was a deed shan, [c]where the Philistines had hanged them on the day [d]the Philistines struck down Saul in Gilboa.

13 He brought up the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son from there, and they gathered the bones of those who had been [1]hanged.

14 They buried the bones of Saul and Jonathan his son in the country of Benjamin in [a]Zela, in the grave of Kish his father; thus they did all that the king commanded, and after that [b]God was moved by prayer for the land.

15 Now when [a]the Philistines were at war again with Israel, David went down and his servants with him; and as they fought against the Philistines, David became weary.

16 Then Ishbi-benob, who was [a]among the descendants of the [1]giant, the weight of whose spear was three hundred shekels of bronze in weight, [2]was girded with a new sword, and he [3]intended to kill David.

17 But [a]Abishai the son of Zeruiah helped him, and struck the Philistine and killed him. Then the men of David swore to him, saying, "[b]You shall not go out again with us to battle, so that you do not extinguish [c]the lamp of Israel."

18 [a]Now it came about after this that there was war again with the Philistines at Gob; then [b]Sibbecai the Hushathite struck down Saph, who was among the descendants of the [1]giant.

19 There was war with the Philistines again at Gob, and Elhanan the son of Jaare-oregim the Bethlehemite [1]killed [2]Goliath the Gittite, [a]the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver's beam.

20 There was war at Gath again, where there was a man of great stature who had six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in number; and he also had been born [a]to the [1]giant.

21 When he defied Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimei, David's brother, struck him down.

22 [a]These four were born to the [1]giant in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

David's Psalm of Deliverance

22 [a]And David spoke [b]the words of this song to the LORD in the day that the LORD delivered him from the [1]hand of all his enemies and from the [1]hand of Saul.

2 He said,
"[a]The LORD is my [1]rock and my fortress and my deliverer;
3 [1a]My God, my rock, in whom I take refuge,
My [b]shield and [c]the horn of my salvation, my stronghold and [d]my refuge;
My savior, You save me from violence.
4 "I call upon the LORD, [a]who is worthy to be praised,
And I am saved from my enemies.
5 "For [a]the waves of death encompassed me;
[b]The torrents of [1]destruction [2]overwhelmed me;
6 [a]The cords of [1]Sheol surrounded me;
The snares of death confronted me.
7 "[a]In my distress I called upon the LORD,
Yes, I [1]cried to my God; of deep respect for the king he had honored and the friend he had loved.

21:15–22 These four Philistine episodes (vv. 15–17, 18, 19, 20–21) cannot be chronologically located with any certainty (see note on 21:1–24:25). Each involves a heroic accomplishment by one of David's mighty men, resulting in the death of a "descendant of the giant" (see vv. 16,18,20,22).

21:16 giant. In saying the four formidable enemy warriors referred to in this series were "born to the giant in Gath" (v. 22), the writer may be linking them to Deut 2:10–11,20–21. In that case, they may have been related to the Anakites (see Josh 11:21–22). Cf. Gen 15:19–20, which in its list of ten peoples of Canaan mentions Rephaites but not Anakites, though the Anakites (but not Rephaites) figure significantly in the accounts of the conquest (Num 13:22,28,33; Deut 1:28; 9:2; Josh 14:12,15; Judg 1:20).

21:17 Abishai. See note on 1 Sam 26:6. so that you do not extinguish the lamp of Israel. A striking metaphor depicting Israel's dependence on David for its security and continuing existence as a nation—its national hope (see 22:29; 23:3–4; 1 Kin 11:36).

21:18 Gob. Probably in the near vicinity of Gezer, where 1 Chr 20:4 locates this same battle. Saph. Called Sippai in 1 Chr 20:4.

21:19 Elhanan . . . killed Goliath. Since it is clear from 1 Sam 17 that David killed Goliath, it is possible that an early copyist misread the Hebrew for "Lahmi the brother of " (see 1 Chr 20:5) as "the Bethlehemite" (in Hebrew the word for "killed" stands first in the clause).

21:21 defied Israel. As Goliath had done (see 1 Sam 17:10,25). Shimei. Also called Shammah (1 Sam 16:9; 17:13).

22:1 this song. Preserved also as Ps 18 (see notes on that psalm). Besides an introduction (vv. 2–4) and conclusion (vv. 47–51), the song consists of three major sections: The first describes David's deliverance from mortal danger at the hands of his enemies (vv. 5–20); the second sets forth the moral grounds for God's saving help (vv. 21–30); the third recounts the help that the Lord gave him (vv. 31–46). The song was probably composed shortly after David's victories over foreign enemies (8:1–14) and before his sin with Bathsheba (compare vv. 21–25 with 1 Kin 15:5). from . . . all his enemies. See 8:1–14. from . . . Saul. See 1 Sam 18–31.

22:2 my rock. A figure particularly appropriate to David's experience (see vv. 32,47; 23:3; Deut 32:4,15,18,31; Ps 28:1; 31:2; 61:2; 78:35; 89:26; 94:22; 95:1). He had often taken refuge among the rocks of the wilderness (1 Sam 23:25; 24:2), but he realized that true security was found only in the Lord. fortress. The Hebrew for this word occurs in 5:17; 23:14; 1 Sam 22:4–5; 24:22, referring to places where David sought refuge.

22:3 My shield. See vv. 31,36; Gen 15:1; Deut 33:29. horn. Here symbolizes strength (see Deut 33:17; Jer 48:25; see also note on Luke 1:69).

22:5 waves of death. In vv. 5–6 David depicts his experiences in poetic figures of mortal danger.

22:6 Sheol. See note on Jnh 2:2.

And my cry for help came into His ears.
8 "Then [a]the earth shook and quaked,
[b]The foundations of heaven were trembling
And were shaken, because He was angry.
9 "Smoke went up [1]out of His nostrils,
[a]Fire from His mouth devoured;
[b]Coals were kindled by it.
10 "He bowed the heavens also, and came down
With [a]thick darkness under His feet.
11 "[a]And He rode on a cherub and flew;
And He [1]appeared on [b]the wings of the wind.
12 "[a]And He made darkness [1]canopies around Him,

13 "From the brightness before Him

14 "[a]The LORD thundered from heaven,
And the Most High uttered His voice.
15 "[a]And He sent out arrows, and scattered them,
Lightning, and [1]routed them.
16 "Then the channels of the sea appeared,
The foundations of the world were [1]laid bare
By the rebuke of the LORD,
[a]At the blast of the breath of His nostrils.
17 "[a]He sent from on high, He took me;
[b]He drew me out of many waters.
18 "He delivered me from my strong enemy,
From those who hated me, for they were too strong for me.
19 "They confronted me in the day of my calamity,
[a]But the LORD was my support.
20 "[a]He also brought me forth into a broad place;
He rescued me, [b]because He delighted in me.
21 "[a]The LORD has rewarded me according to my righteousness;
[b]According to the cleanness of my hands He has recompensed me.
22 "[a]For I have kept the ways of the LORD,
And have not acted wickedly against my God.
23 "[a]For all His ordinances were before me,
And as for His statutes, I did not depart from [1]them.
24 "[a]I was also [1]blameless toward Him,
And I kept myself from my iniquity.
25 "[a]Therefore the LORD has recompensed me according to my righteousness,
According to my cleanness before His eyes.
26 "[a]With the [1]kind You show Yourself [1]kind,
With the [2]blameless You show Yourself [2]blameless;
27 [a]With the pure You show Yourself pure,
[b]And with the perverted You show Yourself [1]astute.
28 "[a]And You save an afflicted people;
[b]But Your eyes are on the haughty whom You abase.
29 "[a]For You are my lamp, O LORD;
And the LORD illumines my darkness.
30 "[a]For by You I can [1]run upon a troop;
By my God I can leap over a wall.
31 "[a]As for God, His way is [1]blameless;
[b]The word of the LORD is tested;
[c]He is a shield to all who take refuge in Him.
32 "[a]For who is God, besides the LORD?
[b]And who is a rock, besides our God?

22:7 His temple. Heaven, where the Lord is enthroned as King (see Ps 11:4; Is 6:1; Jnh 2:7).

22:8–16 See note on Ps 18:7–15.

22:9 Smoke went up out of His nostrils. God's power is portrayed in terms similar to those applied to the awesome beast, the Leviathan (Job 41:19–21).

22:11 cherub. See Ezek 1 and 10, where cherubim are said to be the bearers of the throne of God; see also notes on Gen 3:24; 1 Sam 4:4; Ezek 1:5.

22:14 The LORD thundered. The reference to thunder as the voice of God is common in the OT (see Ps 29; Job 37:2–5). Thunder is particularly suited to expressing God's power and majesty.

22:17 He sent from on high. In vv. 17–20 David describes his deliverance, initially in figurative terms (v. 17; cf. v. 5) and subsequently in more literal language (vv. 18–20).

22:20 delighted in. The Hebrew underlying this expression is used in 15:26; Ps 22:8 (cf. Matt 3:17, "well-pleased") and expresses the idea of the sovereign good pleasure and favor of God toward His anointed one (v. 51).

22:21 according to my righteousness. In vv. 21–25 David refers to the Lord's deliverances as a reward for his own righteousness. While these statements may give the impression of self-righteous boasting and a meritorious basis for divine favor, they should be understood in their context as: (1) David's desire to please the Lord in his service as the Lord's anointed (see note on v. 51); (2) his recognition that the Lord rewards those who faithfully seek to serve Him.

22:26–30 Because God responds to man in kind (see Job 34:11; Prov 3:34), David has experienced the Lord's favor.

22:28 the haughty whom You abase. The words of this verse fit well with David's experience in his conflict with Saul (see Hannah's song, 1 Sam 2:3–8).

22:29 You are my lamp. The Lord causes David's life and undertakings to flourish (see Job 18:5–6; 21:17; see also note on Ps 27:1).

22:31 His way is blameless. The remainder of the song (vv. 31–51) accentuates David's praise to God for His deliverances.

22:32 rock. See note on v. 2.

33 "[a]God is my strong fortress;
And He [1]sets the [2]blameless in [3]His way.
34 "[a]He makes [1]my feet like hinds' feet,
[b]And sets me on my high places.
35 "[a]He trains my hands for battle,
[b]So that my arms can bend a bow of bronze.
36 "You have also given me [a]the shield of Your salvation,
And Your [1]help makes me great.
37 "[a]You enlarge my steps under me,
And my [1]feet have not slipped.
38 "I pursued my enemies and [a]destroyed them,
And I did not turn back until they were consumed.
39 "And I have devoured them and shattered them, so that they did not rise;
And [a]they fell under my feet.
40 "For You have girded me with strength for battle;
You have [1]subdued under me [a]those who rose up against me.
41 "You have also [a]made my enemies turn their backs to me,
And I [1]destroyed those who hated me.
42 "[a]They looked, but there was none to save;
[b]Even to the LORD, but He did not answer them.
43 "[a]Then I pulverized them as the dust of the earth;
[b]I crushed and stamped them as the mire of the streets.
44 "[a]You have also delivered me from the contentions of my people;
[b]You have kept me as head of the nations;
[c]A people whom I have not known serve me.
45 "[a]Foreigners pretend obedience to me;
As soon as they hear, they obey me.
46 "Foreigners [1]lose heart,
[a]And [2]come trembling out of their [3]fortresses.

David's Last Song

23 Now these are the last words of David.
David the son of Jesse declares,
[a]The man who was raised on high declares,
[b]The anointed of the God of Jacob,
And the sweet psalmist of Israel,
2 "[a]The Spirit of the LORD spoke by me,
And His word was on my tongue.
3 "The God of Israel said,
[a]The Rock of Israel spoke to me,
'[b]He who rules over men righteously,
[c]Who rules in the fear of God,
4 [a]Is as the light of the morning when the sun rises,
A morning without clouds,
When the tender grass springs out of the earth,
Through sunshine after rain.'
5 "Truly is not my house so with God?
For [a]He has made an everlasting covenant with me,
Ordered in all things, and secured;
For all my salvation and all my desire,
Will He not indeed make it grow?

22:47 The LORD lives. God's interventions and blessings in David's behalf have shown Him to be the living God (see Deut 5:26).
22:50 I will give thanks to You, O LORD, among the nations. For Paul's reference to this vow see Rom 15:9.
22:51 His king . . . His anointed. See notes on 1 Sam 10:25; 12:14–15. David refers to himself in the third person in a way that acknowledges the covenantal character of his kingship. It is in the context of David's official capacity as the Lord's anointed that the entire song is to be read and understood (see note on v. 21). his descendants forever. David speaks of God's promise through Nathan (see 7:12–16).
23:1 last words of David. Probably to be understood as David's last poetic testimony (in the manner of his psalms), perhaps composed at the time of his final instructions and warnings to his son Solomon (see 1 Kin 2:1–10).
23:2 The Spirit of the LORD spoke by me. David was conscious of God's Spirit at work in him enabling him to speak under the Spirit's guidance (see notes on 2 Tim 3:16; 2 Pet 1:21).
23:3 Rock. See note on 22:2; see also 1 Sam 2:2; Deut 32:4,15,18,30–31. He who rules over men righteously. In brief and vivid strokes David portrays the ideal theocratic king—to be fully realized only in the rule of David's greater son, Jesus Christ. This prophetic utterance complements that of 7:12–16 and anticipates those of Is 9:7; 11:1–5; Jer 23:5–6; 33:15–16; Zec 9:9.
23:4 as the light of the morning. See notes on Ps 27:1; 36:9.
23:5 is not my house so with God? A rhetorical question recalling God's covenant with him and his dynasty (see 7:12–16). everlasting covenant. David expressly calls God's promise to him a covenant that will not be abrogated (see notes on 7:20,28; Is 55:3; see also Ps 89:3,28,34,39; 132:11). make it grow. Through David's promised descendants.

6 "[a]But the worthless, every one of them will be thrust away like thorns,
Because they cannot be taken in hand;
7 But the man who touches them
Must be [1]armed with iron and the shaft of a spear,
And [a]they will be completely burned with fire in their [2]place."

His Mighty Men

8 [a]These are the names of the mighty men whom David had: Josheb-basshebeth a Tahchemonite, chief of the [1]captains, he was called Adino the Eznite, because of eight hundred slain by him at one time;

9 and after him was Eleazar the son of [a]Dodo the [b]Ahohite, one of the three mighty men with David when they [1]defied the Philistines who were gathered there to battle and the men of Israel had [2]withdrawn.

10 [a]He arose and struck the Philistines until his hand was weary and [1]clung to the sword, and [b]the LORD brought about a great [2]victory that day; and the people returned after him only to strip the slain.

11 Now after him was Shammah the son of Agee a [a]Hararite. And the Philistines were gathered [1]into a troop where there was a plot of ground full of lentils, and the people fled from the Philistines.

12 But he took his stand in the midst of the plot, defended it and struck the Philistines; and [a]the LORD brought about a great [1]victory.

13 Then three of the thirty chief men went down and came to David in the harvest time to the [a]cave of Adullam, while the troop of the Philistines was camping in [b]the valley of Rephaim.

14 David was then [a]in the stronghold, while the garrison of the Philistines was then in Bethlehem.

15 [a]David had a craving and said, "Oh that someone would give me water to drink from the well of Bethlehem which is by the gate!"

16 [a]So the three mighty men broke through the camp of the Philistines, and drew water from the well of Bethlehem which was by the gate, and took it and brought it to David. Nevertheless he would not drink it, but [b]poured it out to the LORD;

17 and he said, "Be it far from me, O LORD, that I should do this. [a]Shall I drink the blood of the men who went in jeopardy of their lives?" Therefore he would not drink it. These things the three mighty men did.

18 [a]Abishai, the brother of Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was [b]chief of the [1]thirty. And he swung his spear against three hundred [2]and killed them, and had a name as well as the three.

19 He was most honored of the thirty, therefore he became their commander; however, he did not attain to the three.

20 Then [a]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, the son of a valiant man of [b]Kabzeel, who had done mighty deeds, [1]killed the [2]two sons of Ariel of Moab. He also went down and killed a lion in the middle of a pit on a snowy day.

21 He [1]killed an Egyptian, [2]an impressive man. Now the Egyptian had a spear in his hand, but he went down to him with a club and snatched the spear from the Egyptian's hand and killed him with his own spear.

22 These things [a]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada did, and had a name as well as the three mighty men.

23 He was honored among the thirty, but he did not attain to the three. And David appointed him over his guard.

24 [a]Asahel the brother of Joab was among the thirty; Elhanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem,

25 [a]Shammah the [b]Harodite, Elika the Harodite,

26 Helez the Paltite, Ira the son of Ikkesh the [a]Tekoite,

27 Abiezer the [a]Anathothite, Mebunnai the Hushathite,

23:6 worthless . . . thrust away. Godless people who have no interest in the righteous king will be destroyed (see Ps 2:9; 110:5–6).

23:8–39 See note on 21:1–24:25. This list of 37 (see v. 39) of David's most valiant warriors and the description of some of their exploits are paralleled in 1 Chr 11:11–41. There the list is expanded by 16 names (1 Chr 11:41–47).

23:8 Tahchemonite. 1 Chr 11:11 reads "Hachmonite," derived from an unknown place-name. captains. Two groups of three warriors (vv. 8–12 and 13–23) and one group of 30 warriors (vv. 23–39) are mentioned (see note on v. 39 for the total number of warriors).

23:9 Ahohite. A descendant of Ahoah from the tribe of Benjamin (1Ch 8:4).

23:13 three. Not the same as the three mighty men of v. 9. thirty chief men. See vv. 23–24,39. harvest time. See 11:1 and note. The circumstances of this event suggest that it happened shortly after David had fled from Saul, when men first began to gather to his cause (see 1 Sam 22:1–4), or shortly after his conquest of Jerusalem (see 2 Sam 5:17–18). cave of Adullam. See 1 Sam 22:1. Rephaim. See 5:18.

23:14 stronghold. See note on 1 Sam 22:4.

23:18 Abishai. See 10:10,14; 18:2; see also note on 1 Sam 26:6. three. Presumably those referred to in vv. 13–17.

23:20 Benaiah the son of Jehoiada. Commander of the Cherethites and Pelethites (8:18; 20:23; see v. 23 below) and of the division of troops for the third month of the year (1 Chr 27:5). He supported Solomon's succession to the throne (1 Kin 1–2) and eventually replaced Joab as commander of the army (1 Kin 2:35).

23:24 Asahel. See 2:18–23. thirty. Twenty-nine names are listed in vv. 24–39. Since the three of vv. 13–17 are also included in the thirty (see v. 13), the total number of warriors mentioned is 32. 1 Chr 11:26–47 lists 16 additional names for this group, so it appears that the list includes the names of replacements for vacancies when a warrior either dropped out or died.

29 [a]Heleb the son of Baanah the Netophathite, Ittai the son of Ribai of [b]Gibeah of the sons of Benjamin,
30 Benaiah a [a]Pirathonite, Hiddai of the brooks of [b]Gaash,

36 Igal the son of Nathan of [a]Zobah, Bani the Gadite,

The Census Taken

24:1 [a]Now [b]again the anger of the LORD burned against Israel, and it incited David against them to say, "[c]Go, number Israel and Judah."
2 The king said to Joab the commander of the army who was with him, "Go about now through all the tribes of Israel, [a]from Dan to Beersheba, and [1]register the people, that I may know the number of the people."
3 But Joab said to the king, "[a]Now may the LORD your God add to the people a hundred times as many as they are, while the eyes of my lord the king still see; but why does my lord the king delight in this thing?"
4 Nevertheless, the king's word prevailed against Joab and against the commanders of the army. So Joab and the commanders of the army went out from the presence of the king to [1]register the people of Israel.
5 They crossed the Jordan and camped in [a]Aroer, on the right side of the city that is in the middle of the valley of Gad and toward [b]Jazer.
6 Then they came to Gilead and to [1]the land of Tahtim-hodshi, and they came to Dan-jaan and around to [a]Sidon,
7 and came to the [a]fortress of Tyre and to all the cities of the [b]Hivites and of the Canaanites, and they went out to the south of Judah, to [c]Beersheba.
8 So when they had gone about through the whole land, they came to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days.
9 And Joab gave [a]the number of the [1]registration of the people to the king; and there were in Israel [b]eight hundred thousand valiant men who drew the sword, and the men of Judah were five hundred thousand men.
10 Now [a]David's heart [1]troubled him after he had numbered the people. So David said to the LORD, "[b]I have sinned greatly in what I have done. But now, O LORD, please [2]take away the iniquity of Your servant, for [c]I have acted very foolishly."
11 When David arose in the morning, the word of the LORD came to [a]the prophet Gad, David's [b]seer, saying,
12 "Go and speak to David, 'Thus the LORD says, "I am offering you three things; choose for yourself one of them, which I will do to you." ' "
13 So Gad came to David and told him,

23:34 Eliam. Father of Bathsheba (see 11:3) and son of David's counselor Ahithophel, who joined in Absalom's conspiracy (see 15:12,31,34; 16:20–23; 17:1–23).
23:39 Uriah. Husband of Bathsheba (see 11:3–27). thirty-seven. The total number of warriors referred to in vv. 8–39, including the three of vv. 8–12, the three of vv. 13–17, Abishai (vv. 18–19), Benaiah (vv. 20–23) and the 29 whose names are recorded in vv. 24–39 (see note on v. 24).
24:1 again. The previous occasion may have been the famine of 21:1. the anger of the LORD burned against Israel. The specific reason for the Lord's displeasure is not stated. Because the anger is said to be directed against Israel rather than David, some have concluded that it was occasioned by the widespread support among the people for the rebellions of Absalom and Sheba against David (see 15:12; 17:11,24–26; 18:7; 20:1–2), the divinely chosen and anointed theocratic king. This would mean that the events of this chapter are to be placed chronologically shortly after those of chs. 15–20 and so after 980 B.C. (see note on 15:7). the LORD . . . incited David against them. 1 Chr 21:1 says that Satan inspired David to take the census. Although Scripture is clear that God does not cause anyone to sin (James 1:13–15), it is also clear that man's—and Satan's—evil acts are under God's sovereign control (see Ex 4:21; 7:3; 9:12; 10:1,20,27; 11:10; 14:4; Josh 11:20; 1 Kin 22:22–23; Job 1:12; 2:10; Ezek 3:20; 14:9; Acts 4:28). number Israel and Judah. David's military census (see vv. 2–3) does not appear to have been prompted by any immediate external threat. Since he wanted to "know the number of the people" (v. 2), it is evident that his action was motivated either by pride in the size of the empire he had acquired or by reliance for his security on the size of the reserve of manpower he could muster in an emergency or, more likely, both. The mere taking of a census was hardly sinful (see Num 1:2–3; 26:2–4), but in this instance it represented an unwarranted glorying in and dependence on human power rather than the Lord (not much different from Israel's initial desire to have a king for their security; see 1 Sam 8–12). The act was uncharacteristic of David (see 1 Sam 17:26,37,45–47; 2 Sam 22:2–4,47–51).
24:2 Dan to Beersheba. See note on 1 Sam 3:20.
24:3 but why . . . ? David's directive does not go unchallenged. The fact that he does not answer suggests that he knew his reasons were highly questionable. In any event, Joab's challenge renders David the more guilty.
24:5–8 The military census was begun in southern Transjordan and moved northward, then back across the Jordan, moving from north to south.
24:9 eight hundred thousand . . . five hundred thousand. These figures differ from those of 1 Chr 21:5 (see notes on 1 Chr 21:5–6).
24:10 I have sinned greatly. See note on v. 1.
24:11 the prophet Gad, David's seer. See notes on 1 Sam 9:9; 22:5.
24:12 Go and speak to David. See 12:1 and note. three things.

and said to him, "Shall [a]seven years of famine come to you in your land? Or will you flee three months before your foes while they pursue you? Or shall there be three days' pestilence in your land? Now consider and see what answer I shall return to Him who sent me."

14 Then David said to Gad, "I am in great distress. Let us now fall into the hand of the LORD [a]for His mercies are great, but do not let me fall into the hand of man."

Pestilence Sent

15 So [a]the LORD [1]sent a pestilence upon Israel from the morning until the appointed time, and seventy thousand men of the people [b]from Dan to Beersheba died.

16 [a]When the angel stretched out his hand toward Jerusalem to destroy it, [b]the LORD relented from the calamity and said to the angel who destroyed the people, "It is enough! Now relax your hand!" And the angel of the LORD was by the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite.

17 Then David spoke to the LORD when he saw the angel who was striking down the people, and said, "Behold, [a]it is I who have sinned, and it is I who have done wrong; but [b]these sheep, what have they done? Please let Your hand be against me and against my father's house."

David Builds an Altar

18 So Gad came to David that day and said to him, "[a]Go up, erect an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor of [1]Araunah the Jebusite."

19 David went up according to the word of Gad, just as the LORD had commanded.

20 Araunah looked down and saw the king and his servants crossing over toward him; and Araunah went out and bowed his face to the ground before the king.

21 Then Araunah said, "Why has my lord the king come to his servant?" And David said, "To buy the threshing floor from you, in order to build an altar to the LORD, [a]that the plague may be held back from the people."

22 Araunah said to David, "Let my lord the king take and offer up what is good in his sight. Look, [a]the oxen for the burnt offering, the threshing sledges and the yokes of the oxen for the wood.

23 "Everything, O king, Araunah gives to the king." And Araunah said to the king, "May the LORD your God [a]accept you."

24 However, the king said to Araunah, "No, but I will surely buy it from you for a price, for [a]I will not offer burnt offerings to the LORD my God [1]which cost me nothing." So [b]David bought the threshing floor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver.

25 David built there an altar to the LORD and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings. [a]Thus the LORD was moved by prayer for the land, and the plague was held back from Israel.

The three alternative judgments were all included in the curses that Moses said would come on God's people when they failed to adhere to their covenant obligations (see Deut 28:15–25).

24:14 not . . . into the hand of man. David, who knew both God and war, knew that even in His anger God is more merciful than man let loose in the rampages of war (see Ps 30:5).

24:15 Dan to Beersheba. See note on 1 Sam 3:20.

24:16 angel. Angels appear elsewhere in Scripture as instruments of God's judgment (see Ex 33:2; 2 Kin 19:35; Ps 35:5–6; 78:49; Matt 13:41; Acts 12:23). the LORD relented. See note on 1 Sam 15:29. threshing floor of Araunah. Located on Mount Moriah, immediately north of David's city and overlooking it. Later it would become the site of the temple (see 1 Chr 22:1; 2 Chr 3:1). Jebusite. See note on 5:6.

24:17 let Your hand be against me and against my father's house. Although the people of Israel were not without guilt (see v. 1), David assumes full blame for his own act and acknowledges his responsibility as king for the well-being of the Lord's people (see 5:2; 7:7–8).

24:19 as the LORD had commanded. The Lord Himself appointed the atoning sacrifice in answer to David's prayer.

24:21 To buy the threshing floor from you. David does not simply expropriate the property for his royal purposes (see 1 Sam 8:14).

24:24 burnt offerings. See Lev 1:1–17. David bought the threshing floor. Thus the later site of the temple (see note on v. 16) became the royal property of the house of David. and the oxen. David's haste could not wait for oxen to be brought some distance from his own herds. fifty shekels. See note on 1 Chr 21:25.

24:25 peace offerings. See note on 1 Sam 11:15. Reconciliation and restoration of covenant fellowship were obtained by the king's repentance, intercessory prayer and the offering of sacrifices.

1 Kings

INTRODUCTION

Title

1 and 2 Kings (like 1 and 2 Samuel and 1 and 2 Chronicles) are actually one literary work, called in Hebrew tradition simply "Kings." The division of this work into two books was introduced by the translators of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) and subsequently followed in the Latin Vulgate and most modern versions. In 1448 the division into two sections also appeared in a Hebrew manuscript and was perpetuated in later printed editions of the Hebrew text. Both the Septuagint and the Latin Vulgate further designated Samuel and Kings in a way that emphasized the relationship of these two works (Septuagint: First, Second, Third and Fourth Book of Kingdoms; Latin Vulgate: First, Second, Third and Fourth Kings). Together Samuel and Kings relate the whole history of the monarchy, from its rise under the ministry of Samuel to its fall at the hands of the Babylonians.

The division between 1 and 2 Kings has been made at an appropriate but somewhat arbitrary place, shortly after the deaths of Ahab of the northern kingdom (22:37) and Jehoshaphat of the southern kingdom (22:50). Placing the division at this point causes the account of the reign of Ahaziah of Israel to overlap the end of 1 Kings (22:51–53) and the beginning of 2 Kings (ch. 1). The same is true of the narration of the ministry of Elijah, which for the most part appears in 1 Kings (chs. 17—19). However, his final act of judgment and the passing of his cloak to Elisha at the moment of his ascension to heaven in a whirlwind are contained in 2 Kings (1:1—2:17).

Author, Sources and Date

There is little conclusive evidence as to the identity of the author of 1,2 Kings. Although Jewish tradition credits Jeremiah, few today accept this as likely. Whoever the author was, it is clear that he was familiar with the book of Deuteronomy—as were many of Israel's prophets. It is also clear that he used a variety of sources in compiling his history of the monarchy. Three such sources are named: "the book of the acts of Solomon" (11:41), "the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel" (14:19), "the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah" (14:29). It is likely that other written sources were also employed (such as those mentioned in Chronicles; see below).

Although some scholars have concluded that the three sources specifically cited in 1,2 Kings are to be viewed as official court annals from the royal archives in Jerusalem and Samaria, this is by no means certain. It seems at least questionable whether official court annals would have included details of conspiracies such as those referred to in 16:20; 2 Kin 15:15. It is also questionable whether official court annals would have been readily accessible for public scrutiny, as the author clearly implies in his references to them. Such considerations have led some scholars to conclude that these sources were probably records of the reigns of the kings of Israel and Judah compiled by the succession of Israel's prophets spanning the kingdom period. 1,2 Chronicles makes reference to a number of such writings: "in the chronicles of Samuel the seer, in the chronicles of Nathan the prophet and in the chronicles of Gad the seer" (1 Chr 29:29), "the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite" and "the visions of Iddo the seer" (2 Chr 9:29), "the records of Shemaiah the prophet" (2 Chr 12:15), "the annals of Jehu son of Hanani" (2 Chr 20:34), "the treatise of the Book of the Kings" (2 Chr 24:27), the "acts of Uzziah . . . the prophet Isaiah, the son of Amoz has written" (2 Chr 26:22; see also 2 Chr 32:32)—and there may have been others. It is most likely, for example, that for the ministries of Elijah and Elisha the author depended on a prophetic source (perhaps from the eighth century) that had drawn up an account of those two prophets in which they were already compared with Moses and Joshua.

Some scholars place the date of composition of 1,2 Kings in the time subsequent to Jehoiachin's release from prison (562 B.C.; 2 Kin 25:27–30) and prior to the end of the Babylonian exile in 538. This position is challenged by others on the basis of statements in 1,2 Kings that speak of certain things in the preexilic period that are said to have continued in existence "to this day" (see, e.g., 8:8, the poles used to carry the ark; 9:20–21, conscripted labor; 12:19, Israel in rebellion against the house of David; 2 Kin 8:22, Edom in rebellion against the kingdom of Judah). From such statements it is argued that the writer must have been a person living in Judah in the preexilic period rather than in Babylon in postexilic times. If this argument is accepted, one must conclude that the original book was composed about the time of the death of Josiah and that the material pertaining to the time subsequent to his reign was added during the exile c. 550. While this "two-edition" viewpoint is possible, it rests largely on the "to this day" statements.

An alternative is to understand these statements as those of the original source used by the author rather than statements of the author himself. A comparison of 2 Chr 5:9 with 1 Kin 8:8 suggests that this is a legitimate conclusion. Chronicles is clearly a postexilic writing, yet the wording of the statement concerning the poles used to carry the ark ("they are there to this day") is the same in Chronicles as it is in Kings. Probably the Chronicler was simply quoting his source, namely, 1 Kin 8:8. There is no reason that the author of 1,2 Kings could not have done the same thing in quoting from his earlier sources. This explanation allows for positing a single author living in exile and using the source materials at his disposal.

Theme: Kingship and Covenant

1,2 Kings contains no explicit statement of purpose or theme. Reflection on its content, however, reveals that the author has selected and arranged his material in a manner that provides a sequel to the history found in 1,2 Samuel—a history of kingship regulated by covenant. In general, 1,2 Kings describes the history of the kings of Israel and Judah in the light of God's covenants. The guiding thesis of the book is that the welfare of Israel and her kings depended on their obedience to their obligations as defined in the Mosaic covenant.

It is clearly not the author's intention to present a socio-politico-economic history of Israel's monarchy in accordance with the principles of modern historiography. The author repeatedly refers the reader to other sources for more detailed information about the reigns of the various kings (see, e.g., 11:41; 14:19,29; 15:7,31; 16:5,14,20,27), and he gives a covenantal rather than a social or political or economic assessment of their reigns. From the standpoint of a political historian, Omri would be considered one of the more important rulers in the northern kingdom. He established a powerful dynasty and made Samaria the capital city. According to the Moabite Stone (see chart, p. xix), Omri was the ruler who subjugated the Moabites to the northern kingdom. Long after Omri's death, Assyrian rulers referred to Jehu as the "son of Omri" (either mistakenly or merely in accordance with their literary conventions when speaking of a later king of a realm). Yet in spite of Omri's political importance, his reign is dismissed in six verses (16:23–28) with the statement that he "did evil in the sight of the LORD, and acted more wickedly than all who were before him" (16:25). Similarly, the reign of Jeroboam II, who presided over the northern kingdom during the time of its greatest political and economic power, is treated only briefly (2 Kin 14:23–29).

Another example of the writer's covenantal rather than merely political or economic interest can be seen in the description of the reign of Josiah of Judah. Nothing is said about the early years of his reign, but a detailed description is given of the reformation and renewal of the covenant that he promoted in his 18th year as king (2 Kin 22:3—23:28). Nor is anything said of the motives leading Josiah to oppose Pharaoh Neco of Egypt at Megiddo, or of the major shift in geopolitical power from Assyria to Babylon that was connected with this incident (see notes on 2 Kin 23:29–30).

It becomes apparent, then, that the kings who receive the most attention in 1,2 Kings are those during whose reigns there was either notable deviation from or affirmation of the covenant (or significant interaction between a king and God's prophet; see below). Ahab son of Omri is an example of the former (17:1—22:39). His reign is given extensive treatment, not so much because of its extraordinary political importance, but because of the serious threat to covenant fidelity and continuity that arose in the northern kingdom during his reign. Ultimately the pagan influence of Ahab's wife Jezebel through Ahab's daughter Athaliah (whether she was Jezebel's daughter is unknown) nearly led to the extermination of the house of David in Judah (see 2 Kin 11:1–3).

Manasseh (2 Kin 21:1–18) is an example of a similar sort. Here again it is deviation from the covenant that is emphasized in the account of his reign rather than political features, such as involvement in the Assyrian-Egyptian conflict (mentioned in Assyrian records but not in 2 Kings). The extreme apostasy characterizing Manasseh's reign made exile for Judah inevitable (2 Kin 21:10–15; 23:26–27).

On the positive side, Hezekiah (2 Kin 18:1—20:21) and Josiah (2 Kin 22:1—23:29) are given extensive treatment because of their involvement in covenant renewal. These are the only two kings given unqualified approval by the writer for their loyalty to the Lord (2 Kin 18:3; 22:2). It is noteworthy that all the kings of the northern kingdom are said to have done evil in the eyes of the Lord and walked in the ways of Jeroboam, who caused Israel to sin (see, e.g., 16:26,31; 22:52; 2 Kin 3:3; 10:29). It was Jeroboam who established the golden calf worship at Bethel and Dan shortly after the division of the kingdom (see 12:26–33; 13:1–6).

While the writer depicts Israel's obedience or disobedience to the Sinai covenant as decisive for her historical destiny, he also recognizes the far-reaching historical significance of the Davidic covenant, which promised that David's dynasty would endure forever. This is particularly noticeable in references to the "lamp" that the Lord had promised David (see 11:36; 15:4; 2 Kin 8:19; see also note on 2 Sam 21:17). It also appears in more general references to the promise to David (8:20,25) and its consequences for specific historical developments in Judah's later history (11:12–13,32; 2 Kin 19:34; 20:6). In addition, the writer uses the life and reign of David as a standard by which the lives of later kings are measured (see, e.g., 9:4; 11:4,6,33,38; 14:8; 15:3,5,11; 2 Kin 16:2; 18:3; 22:2).

Another prominent feature of the narratives of 1,2 Kings is the emphasis on the relationship between prophecy and fulfillment in the historical developments of the monarchy. On at least 11 occasions a prophecy is recorded that is later said to have been fulfilled (see, e.g., 2 Sam 7:13 and 1 Kin 8:20; 1 Kin 11:29–39 and 1 Kin 12:15; 1 Kin 13 and 2 Kin 23:16–18). The result of this emphasis is that the history of the kingdom is not presented as a chain of chance occurrences or the mere interplay of human actions but as the unfolding of Israel's historical destiny under the guidance of an omniscient and omnipotent God—Israel's covenant Lord, who rules all history in accordance with His sovereign purposes (see 8:56; 2 Kin 10:10).

The author also stresses the importance of the prophets themselves in their role as official emissaries from the court of Israel's covenant Lord, the Great King to whom Israel and her king were bound in service through the covenant. The Lord sent a long succession of such prophets to call king and people back to covenant loyalty (2 Kin 17:13). For the most part their warnings and exhortations fell on deaf ears. Many of these prophets and prophetesses are mentioned in the narratives of 1,2 Kings (see, e.g., Ahijah, 11:29–40; 14:5–18; Shemaiah, 12:22–24; Micaiah, 22:8–28; Jonah, 2 Kin 14:25; Isaiah, 2 Kin 19:1–7,20–34; Huldah, 2 Kin 22:14–20), but particular attention is given to the ministries of Elijah and Elisha (1 Kin 17—19; 2 Kin 1—13).

Reflection on these features of 1,2 Kings suggests that it was written to explain to a people in exile that the reason for their condition of humiliation was their stubborn persistence in breaking the covenant. In bringing the exile upon His people, God, after much patience, imposed the curses of the covenant, which had stood as a warning to them from the beginning (see Lev 26:27–45; Deut 28:64–68). This is made explicit with respect to the captivity of the northern kingdom in 2 Kin 17:7–23; 18:10–12, and with respect to the southern kingdom in 2 Kin 21. The reformation under Josiah in the southern kingdom is viewed as too little, too late (see 2 Kin 23:26–27; 24:3).

The book, then, provides a retrospective analysis of Israel's history. It explains the reasons both for the destruction of Samaria and Jerusalem and their respective kingdoms and for the bitter experience of being forced into exile. This does not mean, however, that there is no hope for the future. The writer consistently keeps the promise to David in view as a basis on which Israel in exile may look to the future with hope rather than with despair. In this connection the final four verses of the book, reporting Jehoiachin's release from prison in Babylon and his elevation to a place of honor in the court there (2 Kin 25:27–30), take on added significance. The future remains open for a new work of the Lord in faithfulness to His promise to the house of David.

It is important to note that, although the author was undoubtedly a Judahite exile, and although the northern kingdom had been dispersed for well over a century and a half at the time of his writing, the scope of his concern was all Israel—the whole covenant people. Neither he nor the prophets viewed the division of the kingdom as an excommunication of the ten tribes, nor did they see the earlier exile of the northern kingdom as a final exclusion of the northern tribes from Israel's future.

Chronology

1,2 Kings presents the reader with abundant chronological data. Not only is the length of the reign of each king given, but during the period of the divided kingdom the beginning of the reign of each king is synchronized with the regnal year of the ruling king in the opposite kingdom. Often additional data, such as the age of the ruler at the time of his accession, are also provided.

By integrating Biblical data with those derived from Assyrian chronological records, the year 853 B.C. can be fixed as the year of Ahab's death, and the year 841 as the year Jehu began to reign. The years in which Ahab and Jehu had contacts with Shalmaneser III of Assyria can also be given definite dates (by means of astronomical calculations based on an Assyrian reference to a solar eclipse). With these fixed points, it is then possible to work both forward and backward in the lines of the kings of Israel and Judah to give dates for each king. By the same means it can be determined that the division of the kingdom occurred in 930, that Samaria fell to the Assyrians in 722–721 and that Jerusalem fell to the Babylonians in 586.

The synchronistic data correlating the reigns of the kings of Israel and Judah present some knotty problems, which have long been considered nearly insoluble. In more recent times, most of these problems have been resolved in a satisfactory way through recognizing such possibilities as overlapping reigns, co-regencies of sons with their fathers, differences in the time of the year in which the reign of a king officially began, and differences in the way a king's first year was reckoned (e.g., see notes on 15:33; 2 Kin 8:25; see also chart, pp. 478–479).

Content

1,2 Kings describes the history of Israel's monarchy from the closing days of the rule of David until the time of the Babylonian exile. After an extensive account of Solomon's reign, the narrative records the division of the kingdom and then, by means of its synchronistic accounts, presents an interrelated picture of developments within the two kingdoms.

Kingship in the northern kingdom was plagued with instability and violence. Twenty rulers represented nine different dynasties during the approximately 210 years from the division of the kingdom in 930 B.C. until the fall of Samaria in 722–721. In the southern kingdom there were also 20 rulers, but these were all descendants of David (except Athaliah, whose usurping of the throne interrupted the sequence for a few years) and spanned a period of about 345 years from the division of the kingdom until the fall of Jerusalem in 586.

David in Old Age

1 Now King David was old, advanced in age; and they covered him with clothes, but he could not keep warm.

2 So his servants said to him, "Let them seek a young virgin for my lord the king, and let her [1]attend the king and become his nurse; and let her lie in your bosom, that my lord the king may keep warm."

3 So they searched for a beautiful girl throughout all the territory of Israel, and found Abishag the [a]Shunammite, and brought her to the king.

4 The girl was very beautiful; and she became the king's nurse and served him, but the king did not [1]cohabit with her.

5 Now [a]Adonijah the son of Haggith exalted himself, saying, "I will be king." So [b]he prepared for himself chariots and horsemen with fifty men to run before him.

6 His father had never [1]crossed him at any time by asking, "Why have you done so?" And he was also a very handsome man, and [2a]he was born after Absalom.

7 [1]He had conferred with [a]Joab the son of Zeruiah and with [b]Abiathar the priest; and following [c]Adonijah they helped him.

8 But [a]Zadok the priest, [b]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, [c]Nathan the prophet, [d]Shimei, Rei, and [e]the mighty men who belonged to David, were not with Adonijah.

9 Adonijah sacrificed sheep and oxen and fatlings by the [1]stone of Zoheleth, which is beside [a]En-rogel; and he invited all his brothers, the king's sons, and all the men of Judah, the king's servants.

10 But he did not invite Nathan the prophet, Benaiah, the mighty men, and [a]Solomon his brother.

Nathan and Bathsheba

11 Then Nathan spoke to [a]Bathsheba the mother of Solomon, saying, "Have you not heard that Adonijah the son of Haggith has become king, and David our lord does not know it?

12 "So now come, please let me [a]give you counsel and save your life and the life of your son Solomon.

13 "Go [1]at once to King David and say to him, 'Have you not, my lord, O king, sworn to your maidservant, saying, "[a]Surely Solomon your son shall be king after me, and he shall sit on my throne"? Why then has Adonijah become king?'

14 "Behold, while you are still there speaking with the king, I will come in after you and confirm your words."

15 So Bathsheba went in to the king in the bedroom. Now [a]the king was very old, and Abishag the Shunammite was ministering to the king.

16 Then Bathsheba bowed and prostrated herself [1]before the king. And the king said, "What [2]do you wish?"

1:1–12:24 The narrative of the Solomonic era is an exquisite example of literary inversion, in this case consisting of nine sections. The first and last are parallel, as well as the second and eighth, etc.—and the fifth section, which occupies the central position in the structure, is the longest of the nine and describes Solomon's building projects (see Introduction: Outline).

1:1 advanced in age. 2 Sam 5:4 indicates that David died at about 70 years of age (cf. 1 Kin 2:11).

1:3 Shunammite. Abishag came from Shunem (2 Kin 4:8; Josh 19:18; 1 Sam 28:4), located near the plain of Jezreel in the tribal territory of Issachar.

1:4 did not cohabit with her. Significant in connection with Adonijah's request to be given Abishag as his wife after the death of David (see notes on 2:17,22).

1:5 Adonijah. The fourth son of David (see 2 Sam 3:4), who was at this time approximately 35 years of age. It is likely that he was the oldest surviving son of David (see note on 2 Sam 13:28; see also 2 Sam 18:14). exalted himself. A unilateral attempt to usurp the throne, bypassing King David's right to designate his own successor (Adonijah must at least have known that his father favored Solomon; see v. 10). If successful, it would have thwarted God's and David's choice of Solomon (see vv. 13,17,30; 1 Chr 22:9–10; see also note on 2 Sam 12:25). fifty men to run before him. Adonijah here follows the example of Absalom before him (see note on 2 Sam 15:1).

1:6 never crossed him. David appears to have been consistently negligent in disciplining his sons (see notes on 2 Sam 13:21; 14:33). very handsome. Attractive physical appearance was an important asset to an aspirant to the throne (see 1 Sam 9:2; 16:12; 2 Sam 14:25).

1:7 Joab the son of Zeruiah. See notes on 1 Sam 26:6; 2 Sam 2:13; 19:13; 20:10,23. Joab's alignment with Adonijah may have been motivated by a struggle for power with Benaiah (see v. 8; 2 Sam 8:18; 20:23; 23:20–23). Joab held his position more by his standing with the army than by the favor and confidence of David (see 2:5–6). Abiathar the priest. See note on 2 Sam 8:17.

1:8 Zadok the priest. See note on 2 Sam 8:17. Benaiah the son of Jehoiada. See note on 2 Sam 23:20. Nathan the prophet. See 2 Sam 12:1–25. Shimei. Not the Shimei of 2:8,46; 2 Sam 16:5–8; perhaps the same as Shimei son of Ela (4:18). Rei. Or "and his friends," i.e., friends of Shimei. If Rei is a proper name, this is its only occurrence in the OT. mighty men who belonged to David. See 2 Sam 23:8–39.

1:9 Adonijah sacrificed. Here also (see note on v. 5) Adonijah followed the example of Absalom (see 2 Sam 15:7–12). En-rogel. Means "the spring of Rogel"; located just south of Jerusalem in the Kidron Valley. Apparently the site of a spring had some kind of symbolic significance for the business at hand (see v. 33 and note).

1:11 Bathsheba the mother of Solomon. The queen mother held an important and influential position in the royal court (see 2:19; 15:13; 2 Kin 10:13; 2 Chr 15:16). has become king. Although the preceding narrative does not relate the actual proclamation of Adonijah's kingship, it can be assumed (see v. 25; 2:15; cf. 2 Sam 15:10).

1:12 save your life and the life of your son Solomon. It was common in the ancient Near East for a usurper to liquidate all potential claimants to the throne in an attempt to secure his own position (see 15:29; 2 Kin 10:11; 11:1).

1:13 Have you not . . . sworn to your maidservant . . . ? Although 2 Samuel does not record David's oath concerning the succession of Solomon, it does suggest that Solomon was the son through whom the Lord's promise to David for an eternal dynasty would be carried forward (see note on v. 5).

17 She said to him, "My lord, you swore to your maidservant by the LORD your God, saying, '[a]Surely your son Solomon shall be king after me and he shall sit on my throne.'

18 "Now, behold, Adonijah is king; and now, my lord the king, you do not know it.

19 "[a]He has sacrificed oxen and fatlings and sheep in abundance, and has invited all the sons of the king and Abiathar the priest and Joab the commander of the army, but he has not invited Solomon your servant.

20 "As for you now, my lord the king, the eyes of all Israel are on you, to tell them who shall sit on the throne of my lord the king after him.

21 "Otherwise it will come about, [a]as soon as my lord the king sleeps with his fathers, that I and my son Solomon will be considered [1]offenders."

22 Behold, while she was still speaking with the king, Nathan the prophet came in.

23 They told the king, saying, "Here is Nathan the prophet." And when he came in before the king, he prostrated himself [1]before the king with his face to the ground.

24 Then Nathan said, "My lord the king, have you said, 'Adonijah shall be king after me, and he shall sit on my throne'?

25 "[a]For he has gone down today and has sacrificed oxen and fatlings and sheep in abundance, and has invited all the king's sons and the commanders of the army and Abiathar the priest, and behold, they are eating and drinking before him; and they say, '[b]Long live King Adonijah!'

26 "[a]But me, even me your servant, and Zadok the priest and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada and your servant Solomon, he has not invited.

27 "Has this thing been done by my lord the king, and you have not shown to your [1]servants who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?"

28 Then King David said, "Call Bathsheba to me." And she came into the king's presence and stood before the king.

29 The king vowed and said, "[a]As the LORD lives, who has redeemed my life from all distress,

30 surely as [a]I vowed to you by the LORD the God of Israel, saying, 'Your son Solomon shall be king after me, and he shall sit on my throne in my place'; I will indeed do so this day."

31 Then Bathsheba bowed with her face to the ground, and prostrated herself [1]before the king and said, "[a]May my lord King David live forever."

32 Then King David said, "Call to me [a]Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada." And they came into the king's presence.

33 The king said to them, "Take with you [a]the servants of your lord, and have my son Solomon ride on my own mule, and bring him down to [b]Gihon.

34 "Let Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet [a]anoint him there as king over Israel, and [b]blow the trumpet and say, '[c]Long live King Solomon!'

35 "Then you shall come up after him, and he shall come and sit on my throne and be king in my place; for I have appointed him to be ruler over Israel and Judah."

36 Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king and said, "Amen! Thus may the LORD, the God of my lord the king, say.

37 "[a]As the LORD has been with my lord the king, so may He be with Solomon, and [b]make his throne greater than the throne of my lord King David!"

Solomon Anointed King

38 So [a]Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, [b]the Cherethites, and the Pelethites went down and had Solomon ride on King David's mule, and brought him to [c]Gihon.

39 Zadok the priest then [a]took the horn of

1:17 you swore to your maidservant by the LORD your God. An oath taken in the Lord's name was inviolable (see Ex 20:7; Lev 19:12; Josh 9:15,18,20; Judg 11:30,35; Eccl 5:4–7).

1:21 sleeps with his fathers. A conventional expression for death (see Gen 47:30; Deut 31:16).

1:24 Nathan approached David diplomatically by raising a question that revealed the dilemma. Either David had secretly encouraged Adonijah to claim the throne and thereby had broken his oath to Bathsheba and Solomon (see v. 27), or he had been betrayed by Adonijah.

1:25 Long live King Adonijah! An expression of recognition and acclamation of the new king (see 1 Sam 10:24; 2 Sam 16:16; 2 Kin 11:12).

1:31 May my lord King David live forever. An expression of Bathsheba's thanks in the stereotyped hyperbolic language of the court (see Neh 2:3; Dan 2:4; 3:9; 5:10; 6:21).

1:33 the servants of your lord. Presumably including the Cherethites and Pelethites (see v. 38). my own mule. Although crossbreeding was forbidden in the Mosaic law (Lev 19:19), mules (perhaps imported; see Ezek 27:14) were used in the time of David, at least as mounts for royalty (see 2 Sam 13:29; 18:9). To ride on David's own mule was a public proclamation that Solomon's succession to the throne was sanctioned by David (see Gen 41:43; Esth 6:7–8). Gihon. The site of a spring on the eastern slope of Mount Zion (see notes on v. 9; 2Sa 5:8).

1:34 anoint him. See notes on 1 Sam 2:10; 9:16. blow the trumpet. See 2 Kin 9:13; 2 Sam 15:10; 20:1. Long live King Solomon! See note on v. 25.

1:35 Israel and Judah. The distinction between Israel and Judah was rooted in the separate arrangements by which David became king over these two tribal units (see 2 Sam 2:4; 5:3).

1:36 Amen! Thus may the LORD . . . say. See Jer 28:6.

1:37 greater. Not a deprecation of David's accomplishments, but an expression of total loyalty to David and Solomon. Benaiah shared David's own desire for his chosen successor (see vv. 47–48).

1:38 the Cherethites, and the Pelethites. See note on 2 Sam 8:18.

1:39 Zadok . . . anointed Solomon. Kings chosen by God to rule over His people who were not in a line of dynastic succession oil from the tent and [b]anointed Solomon. Then they [c]blew the trumpet, and all the people said, "[d]Long live King Solomon!"

40 All the people went up after him, and the people [1]were playing on flutes and rejoicing with great joy, so that the earth [2]shook at their noise.

41 Now Adonijah and all the guests who were with him heard it as they finished eating. When Joab heard the sound of the trumpet, he said, "Why [1]is the city making such an uproar?"

42 While he was still speaking, behold, [a]Jonathan the son of Abiathar the priest came. Then Adonijah said, "Come in, for [b]you are a valiant man and bring good news."

43 But Jonathan replied to Adonijah, "No! Our lord King David has made Solomon king.

44 "The king has also sent with him Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, the Cherethites, and the Pelethites; and they have made him ride on the king's mule.

45 "Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet have anointed him king in Gihon, and they have come up from there rejoicing, [a]so that the city is in an uproar. This is the noise which you have heard.

46 "Besides, [a]Solomon has even taken his seat on the throne of the kingdom.

47 "Moreover, the king's servants came to bless our lord King David, saying, 'May [a]your God make the name of Solomon better than your name and his throne greater than your throne!' And [b]the king bowed himself on the bed.

48 "The king has also said thus, 'Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who [a]has granted one to sit on my throne today while my own eyes see it.' "

49 Then all the guests of Adonijah were terrified; and they arose and each went on his way.

50 And Adonijah was afraid of Solomon, and he arose, went and [a]took hold of the horns of the altar.

51 Now it was told Solomon, saying, "Behold, Adonijah is afraid of King Solomon, for behold, he has taken hold of the horns of the altar, saying, 'Let King Solomon swear to me today that he will not put his servant to death with the sword.' "

52 Solomon said, "If he is a worthy man, [a]not one of his hairs will fall to the ground; but if wickedness is found in him, he will die."

53 So King Solomon sent, and they brought him down from the altar. And he came and prostrated himself [1]before King Solomon, and Solomon said to him, "Go to your house."

David's Charge to Solomon

2 As David's [1][a]time to die drew near, he charged Solomon his son, saying,

2 "[a]I am going the way of all the earth. [b]Be strong, therefore, and [1]show yourself a man.

3 "Keep the charge of the LORD your God, to walk in His ways, to keep His statutes, His commandments, His ordinances, and His testimonies, [a]according to what is written in the Law of Moses, that [b]you may succeed in all that you do and wherever you turn, were anointed by prophets (Saul, 1 Sam 9:16; David, 1 Sam 16:12; Jehu, 2 Kin 9). Kings who assumed office in the line of dynastic succession were anointed by priests (Solomon, here; Joash, 2 Kin 11:12). The distinction seems to be that the priest worked within the established order while the prophets introduced new divine initiatives. horn of oil. Perhaps containing the anointing oil described in Ex 30:22–33. tent. The tent David had erected in Jerusalem to house the ark (see 2 Sam 6:17) rather than the tabernacle at Gibeon (see 3:4 and note; 2 Chr 1:3).

1:41 heard it. Although Gihon may not have been visible from En-rogel, the distance was not great and the sound would carry down the Kidron Valley.

1:42 Jonathan the son of Abiathar. See 2 Sam 17:17–21.

1:47 better. See note on v. 37.

1:48 one to sit on my throne. In Solomon's succession to the throne David sees a fulfillment of the promise in 2 Sam 7:12,16.

1:49 went on his way. No one wanted to be identified with Adonijah's abortive coup now that it appeared certain to fail.

1:50 took hold of the horns of the altar. The horns of the altar were vertical projections at each corner. The idea of seeking asylum at the altar was rooted in the Pentateuch (see Ex 21:13–14). The priest smeared the blood of the sacrifice on the horns of the altar (see Ex 29:12; Lev 4:7,18,25,30,34) during the sacrificial ritual. Adonijah thus seeks to place his own destiny under the protection of God.

1:52 worthy man. Who recognizes and submits to Solomon's office and authority. if wickedness is found in him. If he shows evidence of continuing opposition to Solomon's succession to the throne.

2:1 he charged. Moses (Deut 31:1–8), Joshua (Josh 23:1–16) and Samuel (1 Sam 12:1–25), as representatives of the Lord's rule, had all given final instructions and admonitions shortly before their deaths.

2:2 the way of all the earth. To the grave (see Josh 23:14). Be strong. See Deut 31:7,23; Josh 1:6–7,9,18.

2:3 Keep the charge of the LORD your God. See Gen 26:5; Lev 18:30; Deut 11:1. walk in His ways. A characteristic expression of Deuteronomy for obedience to covenant obligations (Deut 5:33; 8:6; 10:12; 11:22; 19:9; 26:17; 28:9; 30:16). His statutes, His commandments, His ordinances, and His testimonies. Four generally synonymous terms for covenant obligations (see 6:12; 8:58; 2 Kin 17:37; Deut 8:11; 11:1; 26:17; 28:15,45; 30:10,16). that you may succeed. See Deut 29:9.

2:4 that the LORD may carry out His promise . . . concerning me. David here alludes to the covenanted promise of an everlasting dynasty given to him by God through Nathan the prophet (see notes on 2 Sam 7:11–16). Although the covenant promise to David was unconditional, individual participation in its blessing on the part of David's royal descendants was conditioned on obedience to the obligations of the Mosaic covenant (see 2 Chr 7:17–22). with all their heart and . . . soul. See Deut 4:29; 6:5; 10:12; 30:6. you shall not lack a man on the throne of 5 "Now you also know what Joab the [a]son of Zeruiah did to me, what he did to the two commanders of the armies of Israel, to [b]Abner the son of Ner, and to [c]Amasa the son of Jether, whom he killed; he also [1]shed the blood of war in peace. And he put the blood of war on his belt [2]about his waist, and on his sandals [3]on his feet.

6 "[a]So act according to your wisdom, and do not let his gray hair go down to [1]Sheol in peace.

9 "Now therefore, do not let him go unpunished, [a]for you are a wise man; and you will know what you ought to do to him, and you will bring his gray hair down to [1]Sheol with blood."

Death of David

10 Then [a]David slept with his fathers and was buried in [b]the city of David.

Israel. Both Solomon and his descendants fell short of their covenant obligations. This led to the division of the kingdom and eventually to the exile of both the northern and southern kingdoms. It was only in the coming of Christ that the fallen tent of David would be restored (see notes on Amos 9:11–15; Acts 15:16) and the promise of David's eternal dynasty ultimately fulfilled. When the nation and its king turned away from the requirements of the Sinai covenant, they experienced the covenant curses rather than blessings; but in all this God remained faithful to His covenant promises to Abraham and to David (see Lev 26:42–45; Is 9:6–7; 11:1–16; 16:5; 55:3; Jer 23:5–6; 30:9; 33:17,20–22,25–26; Ezek 34:23–24; 37:24–28).

2:5 Joab the son of Zeruiah. See note on 1:7. Abner the son of Ner. See notes on 2 Sam 3:25–32. Amasa the son of Jether. See 2 Sam 20:10. shed the blood of war in peace. Joab's actions were unlawful assassinations (see Deut 19:1–13; 21:1–9) and only served his own self-interest.

2:7 sons of Barzillai. See note on 2 Sam 17:27. eat at your table. A position of honor that brought with it other benefits (see 18:19; 2 Kin 25:29; 2 Sam 9:7; 19:28; Neh 5:17).

2:8 See 2 Sam 16:5–13. Shimei the son of Gera the Benjamite. Gera was probably the ancestor of Shimei's particular line of descent rather than his immediate father (see Gen 46:21; Judg 3:15). The Hebrew for "son" may mean "descendant," "successor," or "nation."

2:9 do not let him go unpunished. The Mosaic law prohibited cursing a ruler (21:10; Ex 22:28).

2:10 slept with his fathers. See note on 1:21. city of David. See 2 Sam 5:7 and note. Peter implies that David's tomb is still known in his day (Acts 2:29).

2:11 forty years. See 2 Sam 5:4–5. David ruled c. 1010–970 B.C. (see Introduction to 1 Samuel: Chronology).

David his father, and his kingdom was firmly established.

13 Now Adonijah the son of Haggith came to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon. And she said, "[a]Do you come peacefully?" And he said, "Peacefully."

14 Then he said, "I have something to say to you." And she said, "Speak."

15 So he said, "You know that [a]the kingdom was mine and [b]that all Israel [1]expected me to be king; [c]however, the kingdom has turned about and become my brother's, [d]for it was his from the LORD.

16 "Now I am making one request of you; do not [1]refuse me." And she said to him, "Speak."

17 Then he said, "Please speak to Solomon the king, for he will not [1]refuse you, that he may give me [a]Abishag the Shunammite as a wife."

18 Bathsheba said, "Very well; I will speak to the king for you."

Adonijah Executed

19 So Bathsheba went to King Solomon to speak to him for Adonijah. And the king arose to meet her, bowed before her, and sat on his throne; then he [a]had a throne set for the king's mother, and [b]she sat on his right.

20 Then she said, "I am making one small request of you; [a]do not [1]refuse me." And the king said to her, "Ask, my mother, for I will not [2]refuse you."

21 So she said, "[a]Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to Adonijah your brother as a wife."

22 King Solomon answered and said to his mother, "And why are you asking Abishag the Shunammite for Adonijah? [a]Ask for him also the kingdom—[b]for he is my older brother—even for him, for [c]Abiathar the priest, and for Joab the son of Zeruiah!"

23 Then King Solomon swore by the LORD, saying, "May God do so to me and more also, if Adonijah has [a]not spoken this word against his own [1]life.

24 "Now therefore, as the LORD lives, who has established me and set me on the throne of David my father and [a]who has made me a house as He promised, surely Adonijah shall be put to death today."

25 So King Solomon [a]sent Benaiah the son of Jehoiada; and he fell upon him so that he died.

26 Then to Abiathar the priest the king said, "[a]Go to Anathoth to your own field, [b]for you [1]deserve to die; but I will not put you to death at this time, because [c]you carried the ark of the Lord [2]GOD before my father David, and because [d]you were afflicted in everything with which my father was afflicted."

27 So Solomon dismissed Abiathar from being priest to the LORD, in order to fulfill [a]the word of the LORD, which He had spoken concerning the house of Eli in Shiloh.

Joab Executed

28 Now the news came to Joab, [a]for Joab had followed Adonijah, [b]although he had not followed Absalom. And Joab fled to the tent of the LORD and [c]took hold of the horns of the altar.

29 It was told King Solomon that Joab had fled to the tent of the LORD, and behold, he is beside the altar. Then Solomon [a]sent Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, saying, "[b]Go, fall upon him."

30 So Benaiah came to the tent of the LORD and said to him, "Thus the king has said,

2:13 Adonijah the son of Haggith. See note on 1:5. Do you come peacefully? The question (see 1 Sam 16:4; 2 Kin 9:22) reveals Bathsheba's apprehension concerning Adonijah's intention (see 1:5).

2:15 the kingdom was mine. See 1:11. All Israel expected me to be king. A gross exaggeration (see 1:7–8). it was his from the LORD. Adonijah professes to view Solomon's kingship as God's will and to have no further intentions of seeking the position for himself.

2:17 give me Abishag the Shunammite as a wife. Adonijah's request has the appearance of being innocent (but see note on v. 22) since Abishag had remained a virgin throughout the period of her care for David (see 1:1–4; Deut 22:30).

2:19 right. The position of honor (see Ps 110:1; Matt 20:21).

2:20 one small request. Bathsheba does not seem to have attached any great significance to Adonijah's request.

2:22 Ask for him also the kingdom. Solomon immediately understood Adonijah's request as another attempt to gain the throne. Possession of the royal harem was widely regarded as signifying the right of succession to the throne (see notes on 2 Sam 3:7; 12:8; 16:21). Although Abishag was a virgin, she would be regarded by the people as belonging to David's harem; so marriage to Abishag would greatly strengthen Adonijah's claim to the throne. for Abiathar the priest, and for Joab son of Zeruiah. See note on 1:7. Solomon assumes that Abiathar and Joab continue to be involved in Adonijah's treacherous schemes.

2:23 May God do so to me and more also. A curse formula (see note on 1 Sam 3:17).

2:24 has made me a house. Solomon's son and successor, Rehoboam, was born shortly before Solomon became king (cf. 11:42; 14:21). as He promised. See 1 Chr 22:9–10.

2:25 Benaiah the son of Jehoiada. See notes on 1:7; 2 Sam 23:20.

2:26 you carried the ark. See 2 Sam 15:24–25,29; 1 Chr 15:11–12. were afflicted in everything with which my father was afflicted. See 1 Sam 22:20–23; 23:6–9; 30:7; 2 Sam 17:15; 19:11.

2:27 to fulfill the word of the LORD, which He had spoken concerning the house of Eli in Shiloh. See notes on 1 Sam 2:30–35.

2:28 news. Of Adonijah's death and Abiathar's banishment. followed Adonijah. See 1:7. tent of the LORD. See note on 1:39. took hold of the horns of the altar. See note on 1:50.

2:29 fall upon him. The right of asylum was extended only to those who accidentally caused someone's death (see Ex 21:14). Solomon was completely justified in denying this right to Joab, not only for his complicity in Adonijah's conspiracy, but also for his murder of Abner and Amasa (see vv. 31–33). In this incident Solomon finds a suitable occasion for carrying out his father's instruction (see vv. 5–6).

'Come out.' " But he said, "No, for I will die here." And Benaiah brought the king word again, saying, "Thus spoke Joab, and thus he answered me."

31 The king said to him, "[a]Do as he has spoken and fall upon him and bury him, [b]that you may remove from me and from my father's house the blood which Joab shed without cause.

32 "[a]The LORD will return his blood on his own head, [b]because he fell upon two men more righteous and better than he and killed them with the sword, while my father David did not know it: [c]Abner the son of Ner, commander of the army of Israel, and [d]Amasa the son of Jether, commander of the army of Judah.

33 "[a]So shall their blood return on the head of Joab and on the head of his [1]descendants forever; but to David and his [1]descendants and his house and his throne, may there be peace from the LORD forever."

34 Then [a]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada went up and fell upon him and put him to death, and he was buried at his own house [b]in the wilderness.

35 [a]The king appointed Benaiah the son of Jehoiada over the army in his place, and the king appointed [b]Zadok the priest [c]in the place of Abiathar.

Shimei Executed

36 Now the king sent and called for [a]Shimei and said to him, "Build for yourself a house in Jerusalem and live there, and do not go out from there to any place.

37 "For on the day you go out and [a]cross over the [1]brook Kidron, you will know for certain that you shall surely die; [b]your blood shall be on your own head."

38 Shimei then said to the king, "The word is good. As my lord the king has said, so your servant will do." So Shimei lived in Jerusalem many days.

39 But it came about at the end of three years, that two of the servants of Shimei ran away [a]to Achish son of Maacah, king of Gath. And they told Shimei, saying, "Behold, your servants are in Gath."

40 Then Shimei arose and saddled his donkey, and went to Gath to Achish to look for his servants. And Shimei went and brought his servants from Gath.

41 It was told Solomon that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath, and had returned.

42 So the king sent and called for Shimei and said to him, "Did I not make you swear by the LORD and solemnly warn you, saying, 'You will know for certain that on the day you depart and go anywhere, you shall surely die'? And you said to me, 'The word which I have heard is good.'

43 "Why then have you not kept the oath of the LORD, and the command which I [1]have laid on you?"

44 The king also said to Shimei, "[a]You know all the evil which [1]you acknowledge in your heart, which you did to my father David; therefore [b]the LORD shall return your evil on your own head.

45 "But King Solomon shall be blessed, and [a]the throne of David shall be established before the LORD forever."

46 [a]So the king commanded Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and he went out and fell upon him so that he died.

[b]Thus the kingdom was established in the hands of Solomon.

Solomon's Rule Consolidated

3 Then [a]Solomon [1]formed a marriage alliance with Pharaoh king of Egypt, and took Pharaoh's daughter [b]and brought her to

2:35 Benaiah the son of Jehoiada. See note on 2 Sam 23:20. Zadok the priest. See notes on 1 Sam 2:35; 2 Sam 8:17.

2:36 do not go out from there to any place. Confinement to Jerusalem would greatly reduce the possibility of Shimei's (see v. 8) conspiring with any remaining followers of Saul against Solomon's rule.

2:39 Achish son of Maacah, king of Gath. Gath was a major Philistine city (see Josh 13:3; 1 Sam 6:16–17). It is likely that Gath was ruled successively by Maoch, Achish the elder (1 Sam 27:2), Maacah and Achish the younger (here).

2:46 fell upon him so that he died. The third execution carried out by Benaiah (see vv. 25,34). It brought to completion the tasks assigned to Solomon by David just before his death (vv. 6,9).

3:1 formed a marriage alliance with Pharaoh. It appears likely that Solomon established his marriage alliance with either Siamun or Psusennes II, the last kings of the 21st Egyptian dynasty (the first Egyptian pharaoh mentioned by name in the OT is Shishak—11:40; 14:25–26—who established the 22nd Egyptian dynasty c. 945 B.C.). Such an alliance attests Egyptian recognition of the growing importance and strength of the Israelite state. 1 Kin 9:16 indicates that the pharaoh gave his daughter the Canaanite town of Gezer as a dowry at the time of her marriage to Solomon. Gezer was located near the crossing of two important trade routes. One, to the west of Gezer, went from Egypt to the north and was very important for Egypt's commercial interests. The other, to the north of Gezer, went from Jerusalem to the Mediterranean Sea and the port of Joppa and was important to Solomon as a supply line for his building projects. The marriage alliance enabled both Solomon and the pharaoh to accomplish important economic and political objectives. No precise date is given for the conclusion of the marriage alliance, though it appears to have occurred in the third or fourth year of Solomon's reign (see 2:39). Solomon began construction of the temple in his fourth year (6:1), and control of the Gezer area was important to him for the beginning of this project. city of David. The Egyptian princess was given a temporary residence in the old fortress (see 2 Sam 5:7 and note) the city of David [c]until he had finished building his own house and the house of the LORD and [d]the wall around Jerusalem.

2 [a]The people were still sacrificing on the high places, because there was no house built for the name of the LORD until those days.

3 Now [a]Solomon loved the LORD, [b]walking in the statutes of his father David, except he sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.

4 [a]The king went to [b]Gibeon to sacrifice there, [c]for that was the great high place; Solomon offered a thousand burnt offerings on that altar.

5 [a]In Gibeon the LORD appeared to Solomon [b]in a dream at night; and God said, "[c]Ask what you wish me to give you."

Solomon's Prayer

6 Then Solomon said, "[a]You have shown great lovingkindness to Your servant David my father, [b]according as he walked before You in [1]truth and righteousness and uprightness of heart toward You; and [c]You have [2]reserved for him this great lovingkindness, that You have given him a son to sit on his throne, as it is this day.

7 "Now, O LORD my God, [a]You have made Your servant king in place of my father David, yet [b]I am but a little child; [c]I do not know how to go out or come in.

8 "[a]Your servant is in the midst of Your people which You have chosen, [b]a great people who are too many to be numbered or counted.

9 "So [a]give Your servant [1]an understanding heart to judge Your people [b]to discern between good and evil. For who is able to judge this [2]great people of Yours?"

God's Answer

10 [1]It was pleasing in the sight of the Lord that Solomon had asked this thing.

11 God said to him, "Because you have asked this thing and have [a]not asked for yourself [1]long life, nor have asked riches for yourself, nor have you asked for the life of your enemies, but have asked for yourself [2]discernment to understand justice,

12 behold, [a]I have done according to your words. Behold, [b]I have given you a wise and discerning heart, so that there has been no one like you before you, nor shall one like you arise after you.

13 "[a]I have also given you what you have not asked, both [b]riches and honor, so that there will not be any among the kings like you all your days.

14 "[a]If you walk in My ways, keeping My statutes and commandments, as your father David walked, then I will [b]prolong your days."

15 Then [a]Solomon awoke, and behold, it was a dream. And he came to Jerusalem and stood before the ark of the covenant of the until a separate palace of her own could be constructed some 20 years later (7:8; 9:10; 2 Chr 8:11).

3:2 high places. Upon entering Canaan, the Israelites often followed the Canaanite custom of locating their altars on high hills, probably on the old Baal sites. The question of the legitimacy of Israelite worship at these high places has long been a matter of debate. It is clear that the Israelites were forbidden to take over pagan altars and high places and use them for the worship of the Lord (Num 33:52; Deut 7:5; 12:3). It is also clear that altars were to be built only at divinely sanctioned sites (see Ex 20:24; Deut 12:5,8,13–14). It is not so clear whether multiplicity of altars was totally forbidden provided the above conditions were met (see 19:10,14; Lev 26:30–31; Deut 12; 1 Sam 9:12). It seems, however, that these conditions were not followed even in the time of Solomon, and pagan high places were being used for the worship of the Lord. This would eventually lead to religious apostasy and syncretism and was strongly condemned (2 Kin 17:7–18; 21:2–9; 23:4–25). because there was no house built. Worship at a variety of places was apparently considered normal prior to the building of the temple (see Judg 6:24; 13:19; 1 Sam 7:17; 9:12–13).

3:3 except. Solomon's one major fault early in his reign was inconsistency in meeting the Mosaic requirements concerning places of legitimate worship.

3:4 Gibeon. The Gibeonites tricked Joshua and Israel into a peace treaty at the time of the conquest of Canaan (see Josh 9:3–27). The city was subsequently given to the tribe of Benjamin and set apart for the Levites (Josh 18:25; 21:17). David avenged Saul's violation of the Gibeonite treaty by the execution of seven of Saul's descendants (see 2 Sam 21:1–9). great high place. The reason for Gibeon's importance was the presence there of the tabernacle and the ancient bronze altar (see 1 Chr 21:29; 2 Chr 1:2–6). These must have been salvaged after the destruction of Shiloh by the Philistines (see note on 1 Sam 7:1).

3:5 dream. Revelation through dreams is found elsewhere in the OT (see Gen 28:12; 31:11; 46:2; Num 12:6; Judg 7:13; Dan 2:4; 7:1), as well as in the NT (see, e.g., Matt 1:20; 2:12,22).

3:6 lovingkindness. The Hebrew for this word refers to God's covenant favors (see note on 2 Sam 7:15). Solomon is praising the Lord for faithfulness to His promises to David (2 Sam 7:8–16). according as. See note on 2 Sam 22:21.

3:7 I am but a little child. The birth of Solomon is generally placed in approximately the middle of David's 40-year reign, meaning that Solomon was about 20 years old at the beginning of his own reign (see 2:11–12) and lacked experience in assuming the responsibilities of his office (cf. Jer 1:6).

3:8 great people who are too many to be . . . counted. From the small beginnings of a single family living in Egypt (see Gen 46:26–27; Deut 7:7), the Israelites had increased to an extent approaching that anticipated in the promise given to Abraham (Gen 13:16; 22:17–18) and Jacob (Gen 32:12). See 4:20.

3:11 long life . . . riches . . . life of your enemies. Typical desires of ancient Near Eastern monarchs.

3:12 no one like you. See 4:29–34; 10:1–13.

3:13 I have also given you what you have not asked. Cf. Jesus' promise in Luke 12:31.

3:14 if you walk in My ways . . . I will prolong your days. Echoes Deut 6:2; 17:20; 22:7. Unfortunately Solomon did not remain obedient to the covenant as his father David had (11:6), and he did not live to be much more than 60 years of age (see note on v. 7; cf. 11:42).

3:15 ark of the covenant of the Lord. See notes on 6:19; 2 Sam

Lord, and offered burnt offerings and made peace offerings, and [b]made a feast for all his servants.

Solomon Wisely Judges

16 Then two women who were harlots came to the king and stood before him.

17 The one woman said, "Oh, my lord, [1]this woman and I live in the same house; and I gave birth to a child while she was in the house.

18 "It happened on the third day after I gave birth, that this woman also gave birth to a child, and we were together. There was no stranger with us in the house, only the two of us in the house.

19 "This woman's son died in the night, because she lay on it.

20 "So she arose in the middle of the night and took my son from beside me while your maidservant slept, and laid him in her bosom, and laid her dead son in my bosom.

21 "When I rose in the morning to nurse my son, behold, he was dead; but when I looked at him carefully in the morning, behold, he was not my son, whom I had borne."

22 Then the other woman said, "No! For the living one is my son, and the dead one is your son." But [1]the first woman said, "No! For the dead one is your son, and the living one is my son." Thus they spoke before the king.

23 Then the king said, "[1]The one says, 'This is my son who is living, and your son is the dead one'; and [1]the other says, 'No! For your son is the dead one, and my son is the living one.' "

24 The king said, "Get me a sword." So they brought a sword before the king.

25 The king said, "Divide the living child in two, and give half to the one and half to the other."

26 Then the woman whose child was the living one spoke to the king, for [1a]she was deeply stirred over her son and said, "Oh, my lord, give her the living child, and by no means kill him." But the other said, "He shall be neither mine nor yours; divide him!"

27 Then the king said, "Give [1]the first woman the living child, and by no means kill him. She is his mother."

28 When all Israel heard of the judgment which the king had [1]handed down, they feared the king, for [a]they saw that the wisdom of God was in him to [2]administer justice.

Solomon's Officials

4 Now King Solomon was king over all Israel.

2 These were his officials: Azariah the son of Zadok was [a]the priest;

3 Elihoreph and Ahijah, the sons of Shisha were secretaries; [a]Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was the recorder;

4 and [a]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the army; and Zadok and [b]Abiathar were priests;

5 and Azariah the son of Nathan was over [a]the deputies; and Zabud the son of Nathan, a priest, was the king's friend;

6 and Ahishar was over the household; and Adoniram the son of Abda was over the men subject to forced labor.

7 Solomon had twelve deputies over all Israel, who [1]provided for the king and his household; each man had to [2]provide for a month in the year.

8 These are their names: Ben-hur, in the [a]hill country of Ephraim;

9 Ben-deker in Makaz and [a]Shaalbim and [b]Beth-shemesh and Elonbeth-hanan;

10 Ben-hesed, in Arubboth ([a]Socoh was his and all the land of [b]Hepher);

11 Ben-abinadab, in all [1]the [a]height of Dor (Taphath the daughter of Solomon was his wife);

6:2 peace offerings. See note on 1 Sam 11:15.

3:16 two . . . harlots. It is not known if these two were Israelites or Jebusites— possibly the latter. came to the king. It was possible for Israelites (and others within the realm) to bypass lower judicial officials (Deut 16:18) and appeal directly to the king (see 2 Kin 8:3; 2 Sam 15:2).

3:17 live in the same house. Brothels were common in ancient Near Eastern cities.

3:28 they saw that the wisdom of God was in him. This episode strikingly demonstrated that the Lord had answered Solomon's prayer for a discerning heart (vv. 9,12).

4:1 king over all Israel. Solomon ruled over an undivided kingdom, as his father had before him (see 2 Sam 8:15).

4:2 son. According to 2 Sam 15:27,36 and 1 Chr 6:8–9, Azariah was the son of Ahimaaz and the grandson of Zadok (see note on 2:8). Apparently Zadok's son Ahimaaz had died, so that Zadok was succeeded by his grandson Azariah. Zadok. See 2:27,35.

4:3 Shisha. See note on 2 Sam 8:17. secretaries. See note on 2 Sam 8:17. Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud. The same person who served in David's court (see 2 Sam 8:16). recorder. See note on 2 Sam 8:16.

4:4 Benaiah. Replaced Joab as commander of the army (see 2:35; 2 Sam 8:18). Zadok and Abiathar. Abiathar was banished at the beginning of Solomon's reign (2:27,35), and Zadok was succeeded by his grandson Azariah (v. 2).

4:5 Nathan. Either the prophet (1:11) or the son of David (2 Sam 5:14). deputies. See vv. 7–19. priest. See note on 2 Sam 8:18 ("chief ministers"). the king's friend. See note on 2 Sam 15:37.

4:6 over the household. The first OT reference to an office mentioned frequently in 1,2 Kings (1 Kin 16:9; 18:3; 2 Kin 18:18,37; 19:2). It is likely that this official was administrator of the palace and steward of the king's properties. Adoniram. Served not only under Solomon, but also under David before him (2 Sam 20:24) and Rehoboam after him (1 Kin 12:18). forced labor. See notes on 9:15; 2 Sam 20:24.

4:7 Solomon had twelve deputies. The 12 districts were not identical to tribal territories, possibly because the tribes varied greatly in agricultural productivity. But Solomon's administrative decision violated traditional tribal boundaries and probably stirred up ancient tribal loyalties, eventually contributing to the disruption of the united kingdom.

4:8 Ben-hur. The Hebrew Ben means "son of."

4:11 Ben-abinadab. Most likely the "son of" David's brother

12 Baana the son of Ahilud, in [a]Taanach and Megiddo, and all [b]Beth-shean which is beside [c]Zarethan below Jezreel, from Beth-shean to [d]Abel-meholah as far as the other side of [e]Jokmeam;

13 Ben-geber, in [a]Ramoth-gilead ([b]the towns of Jair, the son of Manasseh, which are in Gilead were his: [c]the region of Argob, which is in Bashan, sixty great cities with walls and bronze bars were his);

14 Ahinadab the son of Iddo, in [a]Mahanaim;

15 [a]Ahimaaz, in Naphtali (he also married Basemath the daughter of Solomon);

16 Baana the son of [a]Hushai, in Asher and [1]Bealoth;

17 Jehoshaphat the son of Paruah, in Issachar;

18 [a]Shimei the son of Ela, in Benjamin;

19 Geber the son of Uri, in the land of Gilead, [a]the country of Sihon king of the Amorites and of Og king of Bashan; and he was the only deputy who was in the land.

Solomon's Power, Wealth and Wisdom

20 [a]Judah and Israel were as numerous as the sand that is on the [1]seashore in abundance; they were eating and drinking and rejoicing.

21 [1a]Now Solomon ruled over all the kingdoms [b]from the [2]River to the land of the Philistines and to the border of Egypt; [c]they brought tribute and served Solomon all the days of his life.

4:26 40,000. See NASB marg. 1 Kin 10:26 and 2 Chr 1:14 indicate that Solomon had 1,400 chariots, meaning he maintained stalls for two horses for each chariot, with places for about 1,200 reserve horses. By way of comparison, an Assyrian account of the battle of Qarqar in 853 B.C. Many examples of Mesopotamian wisdom literature have been recovered. wisdom of Egypt. See Gen 41:8; Ex 7:11; Acts 7:22. Examples of Egyptian wisdom literature are to be found in the proverbs of Ptahhotep (c. 2450 B.C.) and Amenemope (see Introduction to Proverbs: Date).

4:31 he was wiser than all men. Until Jesus came (see Luke 11:31). Ethan the Ezrahite. See Ps 89 title. Heman, Calcol and Darda. See note on 1 Chr 2:6.

4:32 3,000 proverbs. Only some of these are preserved in the book of Proverbs.

4:33 animals and birds and creeping things and fish. Examples of Solomon's knowledge of these creatures are found in Prov 6:6–8; 26:2–3,11; 27:8; 28:1,15.

Alliance with King Hiram

5 [1][a]Now Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants to Solomon, when he heard that they had anointed him king in place of his father, for [b]Hiram had [2]always been a friend of David.

2 Then [a]Solomon sent word to Hiram, saying,

3 "You know that [a]David my father was unable to build a house for the name of the LORD his God because of the wars which surrounded him, until the LORD put them under the soles of his feet.

4 "But now [a]the LORD my God has given me rest on every side; there is neither adversary nor [1]misfortune.

5 "Behold, [a]I [1]intend to build a house for the name of the LORD my God, as the LORD spoke to David my father, saying, 'Your son, whom I will set on your throne in your place, he will build the house for My name.'

6 "Now therefore, command that they cut for me [a]cedars from Lebanon, and my servants will be with your servants; and I will give you wages for your servants according to all that you say, for you know that there is no one among us who knows how to cut timber like the Sidonians."

7 When Hiram heard the words of Solomon, he rejoiced greatly and said, "Blessed be the LORD today, who has given to David a wise son over this great people."

8 So Hiram sent word to Solomon, saying, "I have heard the message which you have sent me; I will do [1]what you desire concerning the cedar and cypress timber.

10 So [1]Hiram [2]gave Solomon [3]as much as he desired of the cedar and cypress timber.

11 [a]Solomon then gave Hiram 20,000 [1]kors of wheat as food for his household, and twenty [1]kors of beaten oil; thus Solomon would give Hiram year by year.

12 [a]The LORD gave wisdom to Solomon, just as He [1]promised him; and there was peace between Hiram and Solomon, and the two of them made a covenant.

Conscription of Laborers

13 Now [a]King Solomon [1]levied forced laborers from all Israel; and the forced laborers [2]numbered 30,000 men.

14 He sent them to Lebanon, 10,000 a month in relays; they were in Lebanon a month and two months at home. And [a]Adoniram was over the forced laborers.

5:3 unable to build a house. Although David was denied the privilege of building the temple, he did make plans and provisions for its construction (see 1 Chr 22:2–5; 28:2; cf. also Ps 30 title).
5:4 rest. Described here as "neither adversary nor misfortune." God's promises to His people (see Ex 33:14; Deut 25:19; Josh 1:13,15) and to David (2 Sam 7:11) have now been fulfilled (see 8:56), so that the Israelites are free to concentrate their strength and resources on building their Great King's royal house (see note on 2 Sam 7:11).
5:5 name. Signifies God's revealed character or self-revelation as a person (see, e.g., 8:16; Ex 20:24; Deut 12:5; 2 Sam 6:2; 7:13). as the LORD spoke to David my father. See 2 Sam 7:12–13; 1 Chr 22:8–10.
5:6 command. A more detailed account of Solomon's request is found in 2 Chr 2:3–10. cedars from Lebanon. Widely used in the ancient Near East in the construction of royal houses and temples.
5:7 Blessed be the LORD. In polytheistic cultures it was common practice for the people of one nation to recognize the deities of another nation (see 10:9; 11:5) and even to ascribe certain powers to them (see 2 Kin 18:25; see also 2 Chr 2:12).
5:9 place where you direct me. Joppa (2 Chr 2:16; see note on 1 Kin 3:1). giving food to my household. Provision of food for Hiram's court personnel appears to cover only the cost of the wood itself. In addition, Solomon would have to provide for the wages of the Phoenician laborers (v. 6). Comparison of v. 11 with 2 Chr 2:10 indicates that besides wheat and olive oil for Hiram's court, Solomon also sent barley and wine for labor costs. Hiram may have sold some of these provisions in order to pay the laborers.
5:11 20,000 kors of wheat. About 125,000 bushels. By way of comparison, Solomon's court received 10,950 kors of flour and 21,900 kors of meal on an annual basis (see 4:22). Solomon's whole grain payment to Hiram of 20,000 kors of wheat and 20,000 kors of barley (2 Chr 2:10) would probably yield about 26,666 kors of refined flour and meal, or about 20 percent less than the requirements of Solomon's own court.
5:13 forced laborers. See notes on 9:15; 2 Sam 20:24. Resentment among the people toward this sort of forced labor eventually led to a civil uprising and the division of Solomon's kingdom immediately after his death (12:1–18).
5:15 70,000 transporters . . . 80,000 hewers. Conscripted from the non-Israelite population that David had subdued and incorporated into his kingdom (see 2 Chr 2:17–18). mountains. The limestone hills of the Holy Land where the stone was quarried.
5:16 3,300 chief deputies.. 1 Kin 9:23 refers to 550 chief officers. If these are two different categories of supervisory personnel, the total is 3,850 men. 2 Chr 2:2 refers to 3,600 supervisors, and 2 Chr 8:10 speaks of 250 chief officers, which again yields a total of 3,850 men in a supervisory capacity.
5:17 great stones, costly stones. For the size of these stones see 7:10. Transportation of such stones to Jerusalem would require enormous manpower.

builders and [a]the Gebalites [2]cut them, and prepared the timbers and the stones to build the house.

The Building of the Temple

6 [a]Now it came about in the four hundred and eightieth year after the sons of Israel came out of the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in the month of Ziv which is the second month, that he [1]began to build the house of the LORD.

2 As for the house which King Solomon built for the LORD, its length was sixty [1]cubits and its width twenty cubits and its height thirty cubits.

3 The porch in front of the nave of the house was twenty cubits [1]in length, [2]corresponding to the width of the house, and its [3]depth along the front of the house was ten cubits.

4 Also for the house [a]he made windows with artistic frames.

5 [a]Against the wall of the house he built stories encompassing the walls of the house around both the nave and the [b]inner sanctuary; thus he made [c]side chambers all around.

6 The lowest story was five cubits wide, and the middle was six cubits wide, and the third was seven cubits wide; for on the outside he [1]made offsets in the wall of the house all around in order that the beams would not [2]be inserted in the walls of the house.

7 [a]The house, while it was being built, was built of stone [1]prepared at the quarry, and there was neither hammer nor axe nor any iron tool heard in the house while it was being built.

8 The doorway for the [1]lowest side chamber was on the right side of the house; and they would go up by winding stairs to the middle story, and from the middle to the third.

9 So [a]he built the house and finished it; and he covered the house with beams and [1]planks of cedar.

10 He also built the stories against the whole house, each five [1]cubits high; and they [2]were fastened to the house with timbers of cedar.

11 Now the word of the LORD came to Solomon saying,

12 "Concerning this house which you are building, [a]if you will walk in My statutes and execute My ordinances and keep all My commandments by walking in them, then I will carry out My word with you which I spoke to David your father.

13 "[a]I will dwell among the sons of Israel, and [b]will not forsake My people Israel."

14 [a]So Solomon built the house and finished it.

15 Then he [a]built the walls of the house on the inside with boards of cedar; from the floor of the house to the [1]ceiling he overlaid the walls on the inside with wood, and he overlaid the floor of the house with boards of cypress.

16 [a]He built twenty cubits on the rear part of the house with boards of cedar from the floor to the [1]ceiling; he built them for it on the inside as an inner sanctuary, even as [b]the most holy place.

17 The house, that is, the nave in front of the inner sanctuary, was forty [1]cubits long.

18 There was cedar on the house within, carved in the shape of [a]gourds and open flowers; all was cedar, there was no stone seen.

19 Then he prepared an inner sanctuary within the house in order to place there the ark of the covenant of the LORD.

5:18 Gebalites. Gebal is also known as Byblos (see note on Ezek 27:9).

6:1–38 See drawing, p. 458.

6:1 four hundred and eightieth year . . . fourth year. Synchronizations between certain events in the reigns of later Israelite kings and Assyrian chronological records fix the fourth year of Solomon's reign at c. 966 B.C. (see Introduction: Chronology). If Israel's exodus is placed 480 years prior to 966, it would have occurred c. 1446 (the chronology followed in this study Bible) during the rule of the 18th-dynasty Egyptian pharaoh, Amunhotep II. On the basis of Ex 1:11 and certain other historical considerations, however, some have concluded that the exodus could not have occurred prior to the rule of the 19th-dynasty pharaoh, Rameses II—thus not until c. 1290 (see note on Gen 47:11). This would mean that the 480 years of this verse would be understood as either a schematic (perhaps representative of 12 generations multiplied by the conventional, but not always actual, 40-year length of a generation) or aggregate figure (the combined total of a number of subsidiary time periods, which in reality were partly concurrent, examples of which are to be found in Egyptian and Mesopotamian records).

6:2 house which King Solomon built. The temple was patterned after the tabernacle (and, in general, other temples of the time) and was divided into three major areas: the most holy place, the holy place and the outer courtyard. The most holy place in the temple was cubical, as it probably was in the tabernacle. The dimensions of the temple in most instances seem to be double those of the tabernacle (see Ex 26:15–30; 36:20–34).

6:6 offsets. To avoid making holes in the temple wall, it was built with a series of ledges on which the beams for the three floors of side chambers rested. This accounts for the different widths of the rooms on each floor.

6:11 the word of the LORD came to Solomon. As the temple neared completion the Lord spoke to Solomon, perhaps through an unnamed prophet (but see 3:5,11–14; 9:2–9).

6:12 if you will walk in My statutes . . . I will carry out My word with you. In words similar to those spoken by David (see notes on 2:1–4), the Lord assures Solomon of a continuing dynasty (see 2 Sam 7:12–16) if he is faithful to the covenant.

6:13 I will dwell among the sons of Israel. In the temple being built (see 9:3). To avoid any apprehension among the Israelites concerning His presence with them (cf. Ps 78:60; Jer 26:6,9; see note on 1 Sam 7:1), the Lord gives assurance that He will dwell in their midst (see 8:10–13; Lev 26:11).

6:16 most holy place. Similar terminology ("holy of holies") was used for the inner sanctuary housing the ark in the tabernacle (see Ex 26:33–34; Lev 16:2,16–17, 20, 23).

6:19 ark of the covenant of the LORD. The Ten Commandments are called the "words of the covenant" in Ex 34:28. The stone tablets on which the Ten Commandments were inscribed are 20 [1]The inner sanctuary was twenty cubits in length, twenty cubits in width, and twenty cubits in height, and he overlaid it with pure gold. He also overlaid the altar with cedar.

21 So Solomon overlaid the inside of the house with pure gold. And he drew chains of gold across the front of the inner sanctuary, and he overlaid it with gold.

22 He overlaid the whole house with gold, until all the house was finished. Also [a]the whole altar which was by the inner sanctuary he overlaid with gold.

23 [a]Also in the inner sanctuary he made two cherubim of olive wood, each ten cubits high.

24 Five cubits was the one wing of the cherub and five cubits the other wing of the cherub; from the end of one wing to the end of the other wing were ten cubits.

25 The other cherub was ten cubits; both the cherubim were of the same measure and the same form.

26 The height of the one cherub was ten cubits, and so was the other cherub.

27 He placed the cherubim in the midst of the inner house, and [a]the wings of the cherubim were spread out, so that the wing of called the "tablets of the covenant" in Deut 9:9. The ark in which the tablets were kept (see Ex 25:16,21; 40:20; Deut 10:1–5) is thus sometimes called the "ark of the covenant of the LORD" (see Deut 10:8; 31:9,25; Josh 3:11). Elsewhere the ark is variously designated as the "ark of the LORD" (Josh 3:13; 4:11), the "ark of the testimony" (Ex 30:6; 31:7) and the "ark of God" (1 Sam 3:3; 4:11,17,21; 5:1–2).

6:20 pure gold. The extensive use of gleaming gold probably symbolized the glory of God and His heavenly temple (cf. Rev 21:10–11,18,21).

6:21 chains of gold. The curtain covering the entrance to the most holy place was probably hung on these chains (see 2 Chr 3:14; Matt 27:51; Heb 6:19).

6:22 altar which was by the inner sanctuary. The incense altar (see 7:48; Ex 30:1,6; 37:25–28; Heb 9:3–4).

6:23 cherubim. See note on Ex 25:18. They were to stand as sentries on either side of the ark (8:6–7; 2 Chr 3:10–13). Two additional cherubim stood on the ark—one on each end of its atonement cover (Ex 25:17–22). ten cubits high. The most holy place, where the cherubim stood, was 20 cubits high (v. 16).

Solomon's Temple

960–586 B.C.

Temple source materials are subject to academic interpretation, and subsequent art reconstructions vary.

This reconstruction recognizes influence from the desert tabernacle, accepts general Near Eastern cultural diffusion, and rejects overt pagan Canaanite symbols. It uses known archaeological parallels to supplement the text, and assumes interior dimensions from 1 Kin 6:17-20.

The temple of Solomon, located adjacent to the king's palace, functioned as God's royal palace and Israel's national center of worship. The Lord said to Solomon, "I have consecrated this house . . . by putting My name there forever, and My eyes and My heart will be there perpetually" (1 Kin 9:3). By its cosmological and royal symbolism, the sanctuary taught the absolute sovereignty of the Lord over the whole creation and His special headship over Israel.

The floor plan is a type that has a long history in Semitic religion, particularly among the West Semites. An early example of the tripartite division into 'ulam, hekal, and debir (portico, main hall, and inner sanctuary) has been found at Syrian Ebla (c. 2300 B.C.) and, much later but more contemporaneous with Solomon, at Tell Tainat in the Orontes basin (c. 900 B.C.). Like Solomon's, the later temple has three divisions, contains two columns supporting the entrance, and is located adjacent to the royal palace.

Many archaeological parallels can be drawn to the methods of construction used in the temple, e.g., the "stone and cedar beam" technique described in 1 Kin 6:36. Interestingly, evidence for the largest bronze-casting industry ever found in Palestine comes from the same locale and period as that indicated in Scripture: Zarethan in the Jordan Valley c. 1000 B.C.

the one was touching the one wall, and the wing of the other cherub was touching the other wall. So their wings were touching each other in the center of the house.

28 He also overlaid the cherubim with gold.

29 Then he carved all the walls of the house round about with carved engravings of cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers, inner and outer sanctuaries.

30 He overlaid the floor of the house with gold, inner and outer sanctuaries.

31 For the entrance of the inner sanctuary he made doors of olive wood, the lintel and five-sided doorposts.

32 So he made two doors of olive wood, and he carved on them carvings of cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers, and overlaid them with gold; and he spread the gold on the cherubim and on the palm trees.

33 So also he made for the entrance of the nave four-sided doorposts of olive wood

34 and [a]two doors of cypress wood; the two leaves of the one door turned on pivots, and the two [1]leaves of the other door turned on pivots.

35 He carved on it cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers; and he overlaid them with gold evenly applied on the engraved work.

36 [a]He built the inner court with three rows of cut stone and a row of cedar beams.

37 [a]In the fourth year the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid, in the month of Ziv.

38 In the eleventh year, in the month of Bul, which is the eighth month, the house was finished throughout all its parts and according to all its plans. So he was seven years in building it.

Solomon's Palace

7 Now [a]Solomon was building his own house thirteen years, and he finished all his house.

2 [a]He built the house of the forest of Lebanon; its length was 100 [1]cubits and its width 50 cubits and its height 30 cubits, on four rows of cedar pillars with cedar beams on the pillars.

3 It was paneled with cedar above the side chambers which were on the 45 pillars, 15 in each row.

4 There were artistic window frames in three rows, and window was opposite window in three ranks.

5 All the doorways and doorposts had squared artistic frames, and window was opposite window in three ranks.

6 Then he made [a]the hall of pillars; its length was 50 cubits and its width 30 cubits, and a porch was in front of them and pillars and a [b]threshold in front of them.

7 He made the hall of the [a]throne where he was to judge, the hall of judgment, and [b]it was paneled with cedar from floor to floor.

8 His house where he was to live, the other court inward from the hall, was of the same workmanship. [a]He also made a house like this hall for Pharaoh's daughter, [b]whom Solomon had married.

9 All these were of costly stones, of stone cut according to measure, sawed with saws, inside and outside; even from the foundation to the coping, and so on the outside to the great court.

10 The foundation was of costly stones, even large stones, stones of ten cubits and stones of eight cubits.

11 And above were costly stones, stone cut according to measure, and cedar.

12 So [a]the great court all around had three rows of cut stone and a row of cedar beams even as the inner court of the house of the LORD, and [b]the porch of the house.

Hiram's Work in the Temple

13 Now [a]King Solomon sent and brought Hiram from Tyre.

6:29 he carved . . . cherubim. Not a violation of the second commandment, which prohibited making anything to serve as a representation of God and worshiping it (see note on Ex 20:4). palm trees, and open flowers. Early Jewish synagogues were adorned with similar motifs. The depiction of cherubim and beautiful trees and flowers is reminiscent of the Garden of Eden, from which man had been driven as a result of sin (Gen 3:24). In a symbolic sense, readmission to the paradise of God is now to be found only by means of atonement for sin at the sanctuary.

6:36 inner court. Suggests that there was an outer courtyard (see 8:64). 2 Chr 4:9 refers to the "court of the priests" (inner) and the "great court" (outer). The inner court is also called the upper court (Jer 36:10) because of its higher position on the temple mount.

6:37 fourth year. Of Solomon's reign (see v. 1 and note).

6:38 eleventh year. Of Solomon's reign (959 B.C.).

7:1 thirteen years. Solomon spent almost twice as long building his own house as he did the Lord's house (see 6:38; see also Hag 1:2–4).

7:2 house of the forest of Lebanon. Four rows of cedar pillars in the palace created the impression of a great forest. length was 100 cubits and its width 50 cubits and its height 30 cubits. About 150 feet long, 75 feet wide and 45 feet high. Compare these measurements with those of the temple in 6:2.

7:3 45 pillars, 15 in each row. Suggests that there were three floors in the building above the main hall on the ground level. The building included storage area for weaponry (see 10:16–17).

7:6 hall. Apparently an entrance hall to the palace of the forest of Lebanon. Its length (50 cubits) corresponds to the width of the palace.

7:7 hall of the throne. It is not clear whether the throne hall, the hall of judgment, Solomon's own living quarters (v. 8) and the palace for Pharaoh's daughter (v. 8) were separate buildings or locations within the palace of the forest of Lebanon.

7:9 sawed with saws. The pinkish white limestone of the Holy Land is easily cut when originally quarried, but gradually hardens with exposure.

7:12 great court. Constructed in the same way as the inner court of the temple (6:36).

7:13 King Solomon sent. Prior to the completion of the temple and the construction of Solomon's palace (see 2 Chr 2:7, 13–14). Hiram. His full name is Huram-abi (Huram is a variant of Hiram; 2 Chr 2:13).

14 [a]He was a widow's son from the tribe of Naphtali, and his father was a man of Tyre, a worker in bronze; and [b]he was filled with wisdom and understanding and skill for doing any work in bronze. So he came to King Solomon and [c]performed all his work.

15 He fashioned [a]the two pillars of bronze; [b]eighteen cubits was the height of one pillar, and a line of twelve cubits [1]measured the circumference of both.

16 He also made two capitals of molten bronze to set on the tops of the pillars; the height of the one capital was five [1]cubits and the height of the other capital was five cubits.

17 There were nets of network and twisted threads of chainwork for the capitals which were on the top of the pillars; seven for the one capital and seven for the other capital.

18 So he made the pillars, and two rows around on the one network to cover the capitals which were on the top of the pomegranates; and so he did for the other capital.

19 The capitals which were on the top of the pillars in the porch were of lily design, four cubits.

20 There were capitals on the two pillars, even above and close to the [1]rounded projection which was beside the network; and [a]the pomegranates numbered two hundred in rows around [2]both capitals.

21 [a]Thus he set up the pillars at the [b]porch of the nave; and he set up the right pillar and named it [1]Jachin, and he set up the left pillar and named it [2]Boaz.

22 On the top of the pillars was lily design. So the work of the pillars was finished.

23 [a]Now he made the sea of [b]cast metal ten cubits from brim to brim, circular in form, and its height was five cubits, and [1]thirty cubits in circumference.

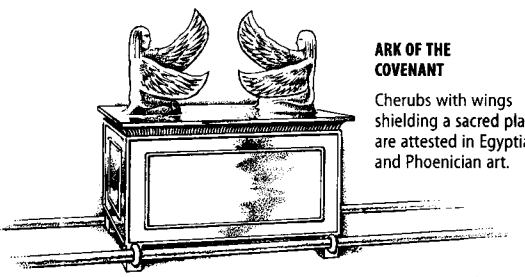
7:14 widow's son from the tribe of Naphtali. 2 Chr 2:14 indicates that Huram-abi's mother was from Dan. Apparently she was born in the city of Dan in northern Israel close to the tribe of Naphtali, from which came her first husband. After he died, she married a man from Tyre. any work in bronze. Huram-abi had a much wider range of skills as well (see 2 Chr 2:7,14).
7:15 two pillars of bronze. One was placed on each side of the main entrance to the temple (v. 21). Surely decorative, they may also have embodied a symbolism not known to us. It has been suggested that they were not freestanding but supported a roof (forming a portico to the temple) and an architrave.
7:21 the right pillar. The temple, like the tabernacle before it, faced east (see Ezek 8:16).
7:23 sea of cast metal. This enormous reservoir of water corresponded to the bronze basin made for the tabernacle (see Ex 30:17–21; 38:8). Its water was used by the priests for ritual cleansing (2 Chr 4:6). thirty cubits. Technically speaking, this should be 31.416 cubits because of the ten-cubit diameter of

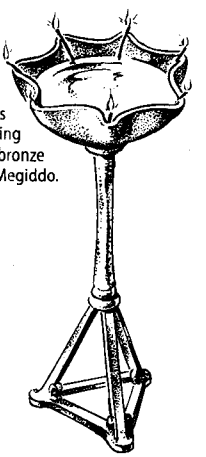


Temple Furnishings

Glimpses of the rich ornamentation of Solomon's temple can be gained through recent discoveries that illumine the text of 1 Kin 6-7.

MOVABLE BRONZE BASIN

An extremely close parallel to the wheeled portable basins used in the courtyard of the temple has come from archaeological excavations on Cyprus. This representation combines elements from the Biblical text with the archaeological evidence.

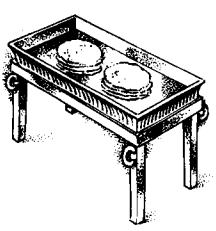


ARK OF THE COVENANT

Cherubs with wings shielding a sacred place are attested in Egyptian and Phoenician art.

LAMPSTAND

Ten lampstands were in the temple, five on each side of the sanctuary (1 Kin 7:49), to which were added ten tables (2 Chr 4:8). Ritual sevenfold lamps have been found at several places in Israel, including Hazor and Dothan. The stand itself is modeled on bronze ones from the excavations at Megiddo.



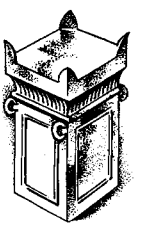


TABLE FOR THE BREAD OF THE PRESENCE

A stone incense altar having four horns on the corners was found at Megiddo. It provides a clear idea of the shape of the gold incense altar in the temple. The table for the bread of the Presence was also made of gold.

INCENSE ALTAR

24 Under its brim [a]gourds went around encircling it ten to a cubit, [b]completely surrounding the sea; the gourds were in two rows, cast [1]with the rest.

25 [a]It stood on twelve oxen, three facing north, three facing west, three facing south, and three facing east; and the sea was set on top of them, and all their rear parts turned inward.

26 It was a handbreadth thick, and its brim was made like the brim of a cup, as a lily blossom; it could hold two thousand baths.

27 Then [a]he made the ten stands of bronze; the length of each stand was four cubits and its width four cubits and its height three cubits.

28 This was the design of the stands: they had borders, even borders between the [1]frames,

29 and on the borders which were between the [1]frames were lions, oxen and cherubim; and on the [1]frames there was a pedestal above, and beneath the lions and oxen were wreaths of hanging work.

30 Now each stand had four bronze wheels with bronze axles, and its four feet had supports; beneath the basin were cast supports with wreaths at each side.

31 Its opening inside the crown at the top was a cubit, and its opening was round like the design of a pedestal, a cubit and a half; and also on its opening there were engravings, and their borders were square, not round.

32 The four wheels were underneath the borders, and the axles of the wheels were on the stand. And the height of a wheel was a cubit and a half.

33 The workmanship of the wheels was like the workmanship of a chariot wheel. Their axles, their rims, their spokes, and their hubs were all cast.

34 Now there were four supports at the four corners of each stand; its supports were part of the stand itself.

35 On the top of the stand there was a circular form half a [1]cubit high, and on the top of the stand its [2]stays and its borders were part of it.

36 He engraved on the plates of its stays and on its borders, cherubim, lions and palm trees, according to the clear space on each, with wreaths all around.

37 [a]He made the ten stands like this: all of them had one casting, one measure and one form.

38 [a]He made ten basins of bronze, one basin held forty baths; each basin was four cubits, and on each of the ten stands was one basin.

39 Then he set the stands, five on the right side of the house and five on the left side of the house; and he set the sea of cast metal on the right side of the house eastward toward the south.

40 Now Hiram made the basins and the shovels and the bowls. So Hiram finished doing all the work which he performed for King Solomon in the house of the LORD:

41 the two pillars and the two bowls of the capitals which were on the top of the [a]two pillars, and the two networks to cover the two bowls of the capitals which were on the top of the pillars;

42 and the [a]four hundred pomegranates for the two networks, two rows of pomegranates for each network to cover the two bowls of the capitals which were on the tops of the pillars;

43 and the ten stands with the ten basins on the stands;

44 and [a]the one sea and the twelve oxen under the sea;

45 and [a]the pails and the shovels and the bowls; even all these utensils which Hiram made for King Solomon in the house of the LORD were of polished bronze.

46 [a]In the plain of the Jordan the king cast them, in the clay ground between [b]Succoth and [c]Zarethan.

47 Solomon left all the utensils unweighed, because they were too many; [a]the weight of the bronze could not be ascertained.

48 Solomon made all the furniture which was in the house of the LORD: [a]the golden altar and the golden table on which was the [b]bread of the Presence; the circular top. Thirty may be a round number here, or perhaps the measurement was taken a bit below the rim or on the inside circumference (see v. 26).

7:24 ten to a cubit. With ten gourds to a cubit it took 300 gourds to span the entire reservoir, or 600 gourds counting both rows.

7:27 ten stands. These movable bronze stands were designed to hold water basins (see v. 38) of much smaller dimensions than the bronze sea. The water from the basins was used to wash certain prescribed parts of the animals that were slaughtered for burnt offerings (see Lev 1:9,13; 2Ch 4:6).

7:36 He engraved . . . cherubim, lions and palm trees. See note on 6:29.

7:40 basins. Perhaps used for cooking meat to be eaten in connection with the peace offerings (see Lev 7:11–17; 22:21–23). shovels. Used for removing ashes from the altar. bowls. For use by the priests in various rites involving the sprinkling of blood or water (see Ex 27:3).

7:41 two networks. See v. 17.

7:42 four hundred pomegranates. See vv. 18,20.

7:46 Succoth. Located on the east side of the Jordan (Gen 33:17; Josh 13:27; Judg 8:4–5) just north of the Jabbok River. Excavations in this area have confirmed that Succoth was a center of metallurgy during the period of the monarchy. Zarethan. Located near Adam (see Josh 3:16) and Abel-meholah (4:12).

7:48 golden altar. See 6:22. golden table. The bread of the Presence was placed on this table (see Ex 25:23–30; 1 Chr 9:32; 2 Chr 13:11; 29:18). Ten such golden tables are mentioned in 1 Chr 28:16 and 2 Chr 4:8,19, five on the right side and five on the left of the temple.

49 and the lampstands, five on the right side and five on the left, in front of the inner sanctuary, of pure gold; and [a]the flowers and the lamps and the tongs, of gold;

50 and the cups and the snuffers and the bowls and the spoons and the [a]firepans, of pure gold; and the hinges both for the doors of the inner house, the most holy place, and for the doors of the house, that is, of the nave, of gold.

51 [a]Thus all the work that King Solomon performed in the house of the LORD was finished. And [b]Solomon brought in the things dedicated by his father David, the silver and the gold and the utensils, and he put them in the treasuries of the house of the LORD.

The Ark Brought into the Temple

8 [a]Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel and all [b]the heads of the tribes, the leaders of the fathers' households of the sons of Israel, to King Solomon in Jerusalem, [c]to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD from [d]the city of David, which is Zion.

2 All the men of Israel assembled themselves to King Solomon at [a]the feast, in the month Ethanim, which is the seventh month.

3 Then all the elders of Israel came, and [a]the priests took up the ark.

4 They brought up the ark of the LORD and [a]the tent of meeting and all the holy utensils, which were in the tent, and the priests and the Levites brought them up.

5 And King Solomon and all the congregation of Israel, who were assembled to him, [a]were with him before the ark, sacrificing [1]so many sheep and oxen they could not be counted or numbered.

6 Then [a]the priests brought the ark of the covenant of the LORD [b]to its place, into the inner sanctuary of the house, to the most holy place, [c]under the wings of the cherubim.

7 For the cherubim spread their wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubim made a covering over the ark and its poles from above.

8 But [a]the poles were so long that the ends of the poles could be seen from the holy place before the inner sanctuary, but they could not be seen outside; they are there to this day.

9 [a]There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets of stone which Moses put there at Horeb, where [b]the LORD made a covenant with the sons of Israel, when they came out of the land of Egypt.

10 It happened that when the priests came from the holy place, [a]the cloud filled the house of the LORD,

11 so that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud, for the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD.

Solomon Addresses the People

12 [a]Then Solomon said,
"The LORD has said that [b]He would dwell in the thick cloud.
13 "[a]I have surely built You a lofty house,
[b]A place for Your dwelling forever."

14 Then the king [1]faced about and [a]blessed all the assembly of Israel, while all the assembly of Israel was standing.

The Prayer of Dedication

22 Then [a]Solomon stood before the altar of the LORD in the presence of all the assembly of Israel and [b]spread out his hands toward heaven.

23 He said, "O LORD, the God of Israel, [a]there is no God like You in heaven above or on earth beneath, [b]keeping covenant and showing lovingkindness to Your servants who walk before You with all their heart, 24 who have kept with Your servant, my father David, that which You have [1]promised him; indeed, You have spoken with Your mouth and have fulfilled it with Your hand as it is this day.

25 "Now therefore, O LORD, the God of Israel, keep with Your servant David my father that which You have [1]promised him, saying, '[2][a]You shall not lack a man to sit on the throne of Israel, if only your sons take heed to their way to walk before Me as you have walked.'

26 "Now therefore, O God of Israel, let Your word, I pray, be confirmed [a]which You have spoken to Your servant, my father David.

27 "But will God indeed dwell on the earth? Behold, [a]heaven and the [1]highest heaven cannot contain You, how much less this house which I have built!

28 "Yet have regard to the [a]prayer of Your servant and to his supplication, O LORD my God, to listen to the cry and to the prayer which Your servant prays before You today;

29 [a]that Your eyes may be open toward this house night and day, toward [b]the place of which You have said, 'My name shall be there,' to listen to the prayer which Your servant shall pray toward this place.

30 "[a]Listen to the supplication of Your servant and of Your people Israel, [b]when they pray toward this place; hear in heaven Your dwelling place; hear and [c]forgive.

31 "[a]If a man sins against his neighbor and is made to take an oath, and he comes and takes an oath before Your altar in this house, 32 then hear in heaven and act and judge Your servants, [a]condemning the wicked by bringing his way on his own head and justifying the righteous by giving him according to his righteousness.

33 "[a]When Your people Israel are [1]defeated before an enemy, because they have sinned against You, [b]if they turn to You again and confess Your name and pray and make supplication to You in this house, 34 then hear in heaven, and forgive the sin of Your people Israel, and bring them back to the land which You gave to their fathers.

35 "[a]When the heavens are shut up and there is no rain, because they have sinned against You, and they pray toward this place and confess Your name and turn from their sin when You afflict them,

36 then hear in heaven and forgive the sin of Your servants and of Your people Israel, [a]indeed, teach them the good way in which they should walk. And [b]send rain on Your

8:23 no God like You. No other god has acted in history as has the God of Israel, performing great miracles and directing the course of events so that His long-range covenant promises are fulfilled (see Ex 15:11; Deut 4:39; 7:9; Ps 86:8–10).
8:24 that which You have promised. See v. 15; 2 Sam 7:5–16.
8:25 if only your sons . . . walk before Me. See 9:4–9; 2 Chr 7:17–22; see also note on 1 Kin 2:4.
8:27 how much less this house which I have built! With the construction of the temple and the appearance of a visible manifestation of the presence of God within its courts, the erroneous notion that God was irreversibly and exclusively bound to the temple in a way that guaranteed His assistance to Israel no matter how the people lived could very easily arise (see Jer 7:4–14; Mic 3:11). Solomon confessed that even though God had chosen to dwell among His people in a special and localized way, He far transcended containment by anything in all creation.
8:29 My name. I the Lord (see note on 5:5).
8:30 pray toward this place. When an Israelite was unable to pray in the temple itself, he was to direct his prayers toward the place where God had pledged to be present among His people (see Dan 6:10). heaven Your dwelling place. See note on v. 27.
8:31 made to take an oath. In cases such as default in pledges (Ex 22:10–12) or alleged adultery (Num 5:11–31), when there was insufficient evidence to establish the legitimacy of the charge, the supposed offender was required to take an oath of innocence at the sanctuary. Such an oath, with its attendant blessings and curses, was considered a divinely given means of determining innocence or guilt since the consequences of the oath became apparent in the life of the individual either by his experiencing the blessing or the curse or by direct divine revelation through the Urim and Thummim (see Ex 28:29–30; Lev 8:8; Num 27:21).
8:32 hear in heaven. It is clear that Solomon viewed the oath as an appeal to God to act and not as an automatic power that worked in a magical way.
8:33 defeated before an enemy, because they have sinned against You. Defeat by enemies was listed in Deut 28:25 as one of the curses that would come on Israel if she disobeyed the covenant. Solomon's prayer reflects an awareness of the covenant obligations the Lord had placed on His people and a knowledge of the consequences that disobedience would entail.
8:34 bring them back to the land. A reference to prisoners taken in battle.
8:35 no rain. Drought was another of the covenant curses listed in Deut 28:22–24.
8:36 good way . . . they should walk. In accordance with covenant obligations (see Deut 6:18; 12:25; 13:18; 1 Sam 12:23).

8:39 render to each according to all his ways. Not to be viewed as a request for retribution for the wrong committed (forgiveness and retribution are mutually exclusive), but as a desire for whatever discipline God in His wisdom may use to correct His people and to instruct them in the way of the covenant (see v. 40; Prov 3:11; Heb 12:5–15).

8:41 foreigner who is not of Your people Israel. One who comes from a foreign land to pray to Israel's God at the temple, as distinguished from a resident alien.

8:42 they will hear. See 9:9 (foreign nations generally); 10:1 (queen of Sheba); Josh 2:9–11 (Rahab); 1 Sam 4:6–8 (Philistines). Your great name and Your mighty hand, and of Your outstretched arm. God's great power, demonstrated by His interventions in the history of His people (see Deut 4:34; 5:15; 7:19; 11:2; 26:8).

8:44 go out to battle . . . whatever way You shall send them. Military initiatives undertaken with divine sanction (see, e.g., Lev 26:7; Deut 20; 21:10; 1 Sam 15:3; 23:2,4; 30:8; 2 Sam 5:19,24). toward the city which You have chosen. See note on v. 30.

8:46 an enemy, so that they take them away captive. On the basis of Lev 26:33–45; Deut 28:64–68; 30:1–5 Solomon knew that stubborn disobedience would lead to exile from the promised land.

8:51 iron furnace. See Deut 4:20 and note.

8:53 You have separated them . . . as Your inheritance. Solomon began his prayer with an appeal to the Davidic covenant (vv. 23–30), and he closes with an appeal to the Sinaitic covenant (see Ex 19:5; Lev 20:24,26; Deut 7:6; 32:9).

8:54 kneeling on his knees. Cf. v. 22; 2 Sam 7:18; 2 Chr 6:13; Luke 22:41; Eph 3:14.

LORD, from kneeling on his knees with his [1]hands spread toward heaven.

55 And he stood and [a]blessed all the assembly of Israel with a loud voice, saying:

56 "Blessed be the LORD, who has given rest to His people Israel, [a]according to all that He [1]promised; [b]not one word has [2]failed of all His good [3]promise, which He [1]promised through Moses His servant.

57 "May the LORD our God be with us, as He was with our fathers; [a]may He not leave us or forsake us, 58 that [a]He may incline our hearts to Himself, to walk in all His ways and to keep His commandments and His statutes and His ordinances, which He commanded our fathers.

59 "And may these words of mine, with which I have made supplication before the LORD, be near to the LORD our God day and night, that He may maintain the [1]cause of His servant and the [1]cause of His people Israel, [2]as each day requires,

60 so [a]that all the peoples of the earth may know that [b]the LORD is God; there is no one else.

61 "[a]Let your heart therefore be [1]wholly devoted to the LORD our God, to walk in His statutes and to keep His commandments, as at this day."

Dedicatory Sacrifices

62 [a]Now the king and all Israel with him [b]offered sacrifice before the LORD.

63 Solomon offered for the sacrifice of peace offerings, which he offered to the LORD, 22,000 oxen and 120,000 sheep. [a]So the king and all the sons of Israel dedicated the house of the LORD.

64 On the same day the king consecrated the middle of the court that was before the house of the LORD, because there he [1]offered the burnt offering and the grain offering and the fat of the peace offerings; for [a]the bronze altar that was before the LORD was too small to hold the burnt offering and the grain offering and the fat of the peace offerings.

65 So [a]Solomon observed the feast at that time, and all Israel with him, a great assembly [b]from the entrance of Hamath [c]to the brook of Egypt, before the LORD our God, for seven days and seven more days, even fourteen days.

66 On the eighth day he sent the people away and they blessed the king. Then they went to their tents joyful and glad of heart for all the goodness that the LORD had [1]shown to David His servant and to Israel His people.

God's Promise and Warning

9 [a]Now it came about when Solomon had finished building the house of the LORD, and [b]the king's house, and [c]all [1]that Solomon desired to do,

2 that [a]the LORD appeared to Solomon a second time, as He had appeared to him at Gibeon.

3 The LORD said to him, "[a]I have heard your prayer and your supplication, which you have made before Me; I have consecrated this house which you have built [b]by putting My name there forever, and [c]My eyes and My heart will be there perpetually.

4 "As for you, [a]if you will walk before Me as your father David walked, in integrity of heart and uprightness, doing according to all that I have commanded you and will keep My statutes and My ordinances,

5 then [a]I will establish the throne of your kingdom over Israel forever, just as I [1]promised to your father David, saying, '[2]You shall not lack a man on the throne of Israel.'

8:56 Blessed be the LORD. Solomon understood this historic day to be a testimony to God's covenant faithfulness. rest to His people. After the conquest of Canaan under the leadership of Joshua, the Lord gave the Israelites a period of rest from their enemies (Josh 11:23; 21:44; 22:4), even though there remained much land to be possessed (Josh 13:1; Judg 1). It was only with David's victories that the rest was made durable and complete (see 2 Sam 7:1; see also note on 1 Kin 5:4).
8:58 incline our hearts to Himself. Solomon asks for a divine work of grace within his people that will enable them to be faithful to the covenant (see Deut 30:6; Ps 51:10; Phil 2:13).
8:59 His servant. The king, who, as the Lord's anointed, serves as the earthly representative of God's rule over His people (see notes on Ps 2:2,7).
8:60 so that all . . . may know. See note on Ps 46:10.
8:63 peace offerings. Involved a communion meal (see note on 1 Sam 11:15). 22,000 oxen and 120,000 sheep. Although these numbers may seem large, there were vast numbers of people who participated in the dedication ceremony, which lasted 14 days (see vv. 1–2; see also v. 65).
8:65 entrance of Hamath. See note on Ezek 47:15. brook of Egypt. Probably Wadi el-Arish (see note on Gen 15:18). People came to Jerusalem for the dedication of the temple from nearly the entire area of Solomon's dominion (see note on 4:21). seven days and seven more days, even fourteen days. It appears that the seven-day celebration for the dedication of the temple was followed by the seven-day Feast of Booths (see note on v. 2), which was observed from the 15th to the 21st of the seventh month. According to Chronicles, this was followed by a final assembly on the next day, in accordance with Lev 23:33–36; then on the 23rd of the month the people were sent to their homes (see 2 Chr 7:8–10).
9:1 when Solomon had finished. At the earliest this would be in the 24th year (4 + 7 + 13 = 24) of Solomon's reign—946 B.C. (see 6:1,37–38; 7:1; 9:10).
9:2 He had appeared to him at Gibeon. See 3:4–15.
9:3 putting My name there forever. See 8:10–13. My eyes and My heart will be there perpetually. See 8:29.
9:4–5 if you will walk before Me . . . in integrity of heart . . . I will establish the throne of your kingdom over Israel forever. See 8:25 and note on 2:4. The Lord reemphasizes to Solomon the importance of obedience to the covenant in order to experience its blessings rather than its curses. This was particularly necessary as Solomon's kingdom grew in influence and wealth, with all the potential for covenant-breaking that prosperity brought (see Deut 8:12–14,17; 31:20; 32:15).

6 "[a]But if you or your sons indeed turn away from following Me, and do not keep My commandments and My statutes which I have set before you, and go and serve other gods and worship them,
7 [a]then I will cut off Israel from the land which I have given them, and [b]the house which I have consecrated for My name, I will [1]cast out of My sight. So [c]Israel will become a proverb and a byword among all peoples.
8 "And this house will become [1a]a heap of ruins; everyone who passes by will be astonished and hiss and say, '[b]Why has the LORD done thus to this land and to this house?'
9 "And they will say, '[a]Because they forsook the LORD their God, who brought their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and adopted other gods and worshiped them and served them, therefore the LORD has brought all this adversity on them.' "

Cities Given to Hiram

10 [a]It came about [b]at the end of twenty years in which Solomon had built the two houses, the house of the LORD and the king's house
11 (Hiram king of Tyre had supplied
Solomon with cedar and cypress timber and gold according to all his desire), then King Solomon gave Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee.
12 So Hiram came out from Tyre to see the cities which Solomon had given him, and they [1]did not please him.
13 He said, "What are these cities which you have given me, my brother?" So [1]they were called the land of [2a]Cabul to this day.
14 [a]And Hiram sent to the king 120 talents of gold.

15 Now this is the account of the forced labor which King Solomon [a]levied to build the house of the LORD, his own house, the [1b]Millo, the wall of Jerusalem, [c]Hazor,
[d]Megiddo, and [e]Gezer.

9:11 Solomon gave Hiram twenty cities in the land of Galilee. Comparison of vv. 10–14 with 5:1–12 suggests that during Solomon's 20 years of building activity he became more indebted to Hiram than anticipated in their original agreement (see note on 5:9), which had provided for payment for labor (5:6) and wood (5:10–11). From vv. 11,14 it is evident that in addition to wood and labor Solomon had also acquired great quantities of gold from Hiram. It appears that Solomon gave Hiram the 20 towns in the Phoenician-Galilee border area as a surety for repayment of the gold. 2 Chr 8:1–2 indicates that at some later date when Solomon's gold reserves were increased, perhaps after the return of the expedition to Ophir (1 Kin 9:26–28; 10:11) or the visit of the queen of Sheba (10:1–13), he settled his debt with Hiram and recovered the 20 towns held as collateral.
9:15 forced labor. Non-Israelite slave labor of a permanent nature (in contrast to the temporary conscription of Israelite workmen described in 5:13–16). the Millo. Probably for Solomon's expansion of Jerusalem on the ridge north from David's city (see note on 2 Sam 5:9). Hazor. Solomon's building activity at Hazor, Megiddo and Gezer was intended to strengthen the fortifications of these ancient, strategically located towns (Solomonic gates, probably built by the same masons, have been found at all three sites). Hazor was the most important fortress in the northern Galilee area, controlling the trade route running from the Euphrates River to Egypt. Megiddo. Another fortress along the great north-south trade route; it commanded the pass through the Carmel range from the plain of Jezreel to the coastal plain of Sharon. Gezer. See note on 3:1.
9:16 killed the Canaanites . . . in the city. Although Joshua had killed the king of Gezer at the time of the conquest (Josh 10:33; 12:12), the tribe of Ephraim had been unable to drive out its inhabitants (Josh 16:10; Judg 1:29).
9:17 lower Beth-horon. Located about eight miles northwest of Jerusalem at a pass giving entrance to the Judahite highlands and Jerusalem from the coastal plain.
9:18 Baalath. To be identified with either the Bealoth of Josh 15:24 located to the south of Hebron in the tribe of Judah or the Baalath southwest of Beth-horon in the tribe of Dan (Josh 19:44). Tamar. Perhaps Tadmor (see 2 Chr 8:4).
9:20 Amorites . . . Jebusites. See Deut 7:1; 20:17; see also notes on Gen 10:15–18; 13:7; 15:16; 23:9; Josh 5:1; Judg 3:3; 6:10; 2 Sam 21:2.

Solomon had built for her, [b]then he built the Millo.

25 Now [a]three times in a year Solomon offered burnt offerings and peace offerings on the altar which he built to the LORD, burning incense with them on the altar which was before the LORD. So he finished the house.

26 King Solomon also built a [a]fleet of ships in [b]Ezion-geber, which is near Eloth on the shore of the [1]Red Sea, in the land of Edom.

27 [a]And Hiram sent his servants with the fleet, sailors who knew the sea, along with the servants of Solomon.

28 They went to [a]Ophir and took four hundred and twenty talents of gold from there, and brought it to King Solomon.

The Queen of Sheba

10 [a]Now when the [a]queen of [b]Sheba heard about the fame of Solomon concerning the name of the LORD, she came [c]to test him with difficult questions.

2 So she came to Jerusalem with a very large retinue, with camels [a]carrying spices and very much gold and precious stones. When she came to Solomon, she spoke with him about all that was in her heart.

3 Solomon [1]answered all her questions; nothing was hidden from the king which he did not [2]explain to her.

4 When the queen of Sheba perceived all the wisdom of Solomon, the house that he had built,

5 the food of his table, the seating of his servants, the attendance of his waiters and their attire, his cupbearers, and [1]his stairway by which he went up to the house of the LORD, there was no more spirit in her.

6 Then she said to the king, "It was a true report which I heard in my own land about your words and your wisdom.

7 "Nevertheless I did not believe the [1]reports, until I came and my eyes had seen it. And behold, the half was not told me. You exceed in wisdom and prosperity the report which I heard.

8 "How [a]blessed are your men, how blessed are these your servants who stand before you continually and hear your wisdom.

9 "[a]Blessed be the LORD your God who delighted in you to set you on the throne of Israel; [b]because the LORD loved Israel forever, therefore He made you king, [c]to do justice and righteousness."

10 [a]She gave the king a hundred and twenty talents of gold, and a very great amount of spices and precious stones. Never again did such abundance of spices come in as that which the queen of Sheba gave King Solomon.

11 [a]Also the ships of Hiram, which brought gold from Ophir, brought in from Ophir a very great number of almug trees and precious stones.

12 [a]The king made of the almug trees supports for the house of the LORD and for the king's house, also lyres and harps for the singers; such almug trees have not come in again nor have they been seen to this day.

13 King Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all her desire which she requested, besides what he gave her according to [1]his royal bounty. Then she turned and went to her own land [2]together with her servants.

9:25 three times in a year. On the occasion of the three important annual festivals: the Feast of Unleavened Bread, the Feast of Weeks, and the Feast of Booths (see Ex 23:14–17; 2 Chr 8:13).
9:26 ships. Used in a large trading business that brought great wealth to Solomon's court (see v. 28; 10:11). Ezion-geber. Located at the northern tip of the Gulf of Aqaba (see 22:48; Num 33:35; Deut 2:8). Red Sea. The Hebrew for this term, normally read as Yam Suph ("sea of reeds"), refers to the body of water through which the Israelites passed at the time of the exodus (see notes on Ex 13:18; 14:2). It can also be read, however, as Yam Soph ("sea of ⌊land's⌋ end"), a more likely reading when referring to the Red Sea, and especially (as here) to its eastern arm (the Gulf of Aqaba).
9:28 Ophir. A source for gold (2 Chr 8:18; Job 28:16; Ps 45:9; Is 13:12), almug trees and precious stones (10:11), and silver, ivory, apes and baboons (10:22). Its location is disputed: Southeastern Arabia, southwestern Arabia, the northeastern African coast (in the area of Somalia), India and Zimbabwe have all been suggested. If Ophir was located in Arabia, it was probably a trading center for goods from farther east as well as from east Africa. But the three-year voyages of Solomon's merchant vessels (10:22) suggest a more distant location than the Arabian coast.
10:1 Sheba. Archaeological evidence suggests that Sheba is to be identified with a mercantile kingdom that flourished in southwest Arabia (see notes on Gen 10:28; Joel 3:8) c. 900–450 B.C. It profited from the sea trade of India and east Africa by transporting luxury commodities north to Damascus and Gaza on caravan routes through the Arabian Desert. It is possible that Solomon's fleet of ships threatened Sheba's continued dominance of this trading business. concerning the name of the LORD. The queen of Sheba recognized a connection between the wisdom of Solomon and the God he served. Jesus used her example to condemn the people of His own day who had not recognized that "something greater than Solomon" was in their midst (Matt 12:42; Luke 11:31).
10:9 Blessed be the LORD your God. The queen of Sheba's confession is beautifully worded and reflects a profound understanding of Israel's covenant relationship with the Lord. However, it does not necessarily imply anything more than her recognition of the Lord as Israel's national God in conformity with the ideas of polytheistic paganism (see note on 5:7; see also 2 Chr 2:12; Dan 3:28–29). There is no confession that Solomon's God has become her God to the exclusion of all others.
10:10 a hundred and twenty talents of gold. See notes on 9:11,28.
10:11 ships of Hiram. See 9:26–28. Hiram had supplied the wood, the sailors and the expertise in construction that Israel lacked. almug trees. Perhaps a variant of "algum trees" (2 Chr 9:10–11). Its identity is unknown, though some suggest it is juniper. It was apparently available from Lebanon as well as Ophir (2 Chr 2:8).
10:13 all her desire which she requested. The exchange of gifts between Solomon and the queen may have signified the effecting of a trade agreement (see note on v. 1). There is no basis for

Wealth, Splendor and Wisdom

14 [a]Now the weight of gold which came in to Solomon in one year was 666 talents of gold,

15 besides that from the traders and the [1]wares of the merchants and all the kings of the [a]Arabs and the governors of the country.

16 [a]King Solomon made 200 large shields of beaten gold, [1]using 600 shekels of gold on each large shield.

17 He made [a]300 shields of beaten gold, [1]using three minas of gold on each shield, and [b]the king put them in the house of the forest of Lebanon.

18 Moreover, the king made a great throne of [a]ivory and overlaid it with refined gold.

19 There were six steps to the throne and a round top to the throne at its rear, and [1]arms [2]on each side of the seat, and two lions standing beside the [1]arms.

20 Twelve lions were standing there on the six steps on the one side and on the other; nothing like it was made for any other kingdom.

21 All King Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the forest of Lebanon were of pure gold. None was of silver; it was not considered [1]valuable in the days of Solomon.

22 For [a]the king had at sea the ships of Tarshish with the ships of Hiram; once every three years the ships of Tarshish came bringing gold and silver, ivory and apes and peacocks.

23 [a]So King Solomon became greater than all the kings of the earth in riches and in wisdom.

24 All the earth was seeking the presence of Solomon, [a]to hear his wisdom which God had put in his heart.

25 [a]They brought every man his gift, articles of silver and gold, garments, weapons, spices, horses, and mules, so much year by year.

26 [a]Now Solomon gathered chariots and horsemen; and he had 1,400 chariots and 12,000 horsemen, and he [1]stationed them in the [b]chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem.

27 [a]The king made silver as common as stones in Jerusalem, and he made cedars as plentiful as sycamore trees that are in the [1]lowland.

28 [a]Also Solomon's import of horses was from Egypt and Kue, and the king's merchants procured them from Kue for a price.

29 A chariot [1]was imported from Egypt for 600 shekels of silver, and a horse for 150; and [2]by the same means they exported them [a]to all the kings of the Hittites and to the kings of the Arameans.

Solomon Turns from God

11 Now [a]King Solomon loved many foreign women along with the daughter of Pharaoh: Moabite, Ammonite, Edomite, Sidonian, and Hittite women,

2 from the nations concerning which the LORD had said to the sons of Israel, "[a]You shall not [1]associate with them, nor shall they [1]associate with you, for they will surely turn your heart away after their gods." Solomon held fast to these in love.

3 [a]He had seven hundred wives, princesses, and three hundred concubines, and his wives turned his heart away.

4 For when Solomon was old, his wives turned his heart away after other gods; and [a]his heart was not [1]wholly devoted to the LORD his God, as the heart of David his father had been.

5 For Solomon went after [a]Ashtoreth the 10:15 that from . . . the kings of the Arabs. Tribute from Bedouin sheiks for passage of their caravans into Israelite territory. governors of the country. See 4:7–19.

10:16 large shields. Rectangular shields that afforded maximum protection (in distinction from the smaller round shields). These gold shields were probably not intended for battle but for ceremonial use, symbolizing Israel's wealth and glory. They were probably made of wood overlaid with gold. Shishak of Egypt carried them off as plunder in the fifth regnal year of Solomon's son Rehoboam (see 14:25–26).

10:22 ships of Tarshish. See 2 Chr 9:21. The same fleet is referred to in v. 11; 9:26–28. "Ships of Tarshish" are not necessarily ships that sail to Tarshish (see note on Jon 1:3) but can designate large trading vessels.

10:26 chariots and horsemen. See note on 4:26. Accumulation of chariots and horses by the king was forbidden in the Mosaic law (Deut 17:16).

10:29 exported them. Through his agents Solomon was the middleman in a lucrative trading business. Hittites. See note on Gen 10:15. Arameans. A people who occupied a large area north and east of the Sea of Galilee (cf. note on Aram in Gen 10:22).

11:1 loved many foreign women. Many of Solomon's marriages were no doubt for the purpose of sealing international relationships with various kingdoms, large and small—a common practice in the ancient Near East. But this violated not only Deut 17:17 with respect to the multiplicity of wives, but also the prohibition against taking wives from the pagan peoples among whom Israel settled (see Ex 34:16; Deut 7:1–3; Josh 23:12–13; Ezra 9:2; 10:2–3; Neh 13:23–27). Moabite. See note on Gen 19:36–38. Ammonite. See note on Gen 19:36–38; see also 14:21; Deut 23:3. Edomite. See notes on Gen 25:26; 36:1; Amos 1:11; 9:12; see also Deut 23:7–8. Sidonian. See 16:31.

11:2 they will surely turn your heart away after their gods. An example in Israel's earlier history is found in Num 25:1–15.

11:3 seven hundred . . . three hundred. Cf. Song 6:8, but see note there.

11:4 his heart was not wholly devoted to the LORD his God. See 8:61. The atmosphere of paganism and idolatry introduced into Solomon's court by his foreign wives gradually led Solomon into syncretistic religious practices.

11:5 Ashtoreth. See v. 33; 14:15; 2 Kin 23:13; see also note on Judg 2:13. Milcom. See 2 Kin 23:10,13. Molech and Milcom are alternate names for the same pagan deity. Worship of this god not only severely jeopardized the continued recognition of the goddess of the Sidonians and after [1][b]Milcom the detestable idol of the Ammonites.

6 Solomon did what was evil in the sight of the LORD, and did not follow the LORD fully, as David his father had done.

7 Then Solomon built a high place for [a]Chemosh the detestable idol of Moab, on the mountain which is [1]east of Jerusalem, and for [b]Molech the detestable idol of the sons of Ammon.

8 Thus also he did for all his foreign wives, who burned incense and sacrificed to their gods.

9 Now [a]the LORD was angry with Solomon [b]because his heart was turned away from the LORD, the God of Israel, [c]who had appeared to him twice,

10 and [a]had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods; but he did not observe what the LORD had commanded.

11 So the LORD said to Solomon, "Because [1]you have done this, and you have not kept My covenant and My statutes, which I have commanded you, [a]I will surely tear the kingdom from you, and will give it to your servant.

12 "Nevertheless I will not do it in your days for the sake of your father David, but I will tear it out of the hand of your son.

13 "However, [a]I will not tear away all the kingdom, but [b]I will give one tribe to your son for the sake of My servant David and [c]for the sake of Jerusalem which I have chosen."

God Raises Adversaries

15 For it came about, [a]when David was in Edom, and Joab the commander of the army had gone up to bury the slain, and had [b]struck down every male in Edom

16 (for Joab and all Israel stayed there six months, until he had cut off every male in Edom),

17 that Hadad fled [1]to Egypt, he and certain Edomites of his father's servants with him, while Hadad was a young boy.

18 They arose from Midian and came to [a]Paran; and they took men with them from Paran and came to Egypt, to Pharaoh king of Egypt, who gave him a house and assigned him food and gave him land.

19 Now Hadad found great favor [1]before Pharaoh, so that he gave him in marriage the sister of his own wife, the sister of Tahpenes the queen.

20 The sister of Tahpenes bore his son Genubath, whom Tahpenes weaned in Pharaoh's house; and Genubath was in Pharaoh's house among the sons of Pharaoh.

21 But [a]when Hadad heard in Egypt that David slept with his fathers and that Joab the commander of the army was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, "Send me away, that I may go to my own country."

22 Then Pharaoh said to him, "But what have you lacked with me, that behold, you are seeking to go to your own country?" And he answered, "Nothing; nevertheless you must surely [1]let me go."

23 [a]God also raised up another adversary to him, Rezon the son of Eliada, who had fled from his lord [b]Hadadezer king of Zobah.

24 He gathered men to himself and became leader of a marauding band, [a]after David slew them of Zobah; and they went to absolute kingship of the Lord over His people, but also involved (on rare occasions) the abomination of child sacrifice (see 2 Kin 16:3; 17:17; 21:6; Lev 18:21; 20:2–5; see also note on Judg 10:6).

11:6 as David his father had done. Although David committed grievous sins, he was repentant, and he was never involved in idolatrous worship.

11:7 high place. See note on 3:2. Chemosh. See note on 2 Kin 3:27.

11:9 appeared to him twice. See 3:4–5; 9:1–9.

11:11 not kept My covenant. Solomon had broken the most basic demands of the covenant (see Ex 20:2–5) and thereby severely undermined the entire covenant relationship between God and His people.

11:12 for the sake of your father David. Because of David's unwavering loyalty to the Lord and God's covenant with him (see 2 Sam 7:11–16).

11:13 one tribe. Judah (see note on vv. 31–32; see also 12:20). for the sake of Jerusalem which I have chosen. Now that Jerusalem contained the temple built by David's son in accordance with 2 Sam 7:13, the destiny of Jerusalem and the Davidic dynasty were closely linked (see 2 Kin 19:34; 21:7–8; Ps 132). The temple represented God's royal palace, where His earthly throne (the ark) was situated and where He had pledged to be present as Israel's Great King (9:3).

11:14 Hadad. A familiar name among Edomite kings (see Gen 36:35,39).

11:15 David was in Edom. See 2 Sam 8:13–14.

11:16 all Israel . . . every male in Edom. All those, on both sides, who took part in the campaign.

11:17 a young boy. Probably in his early teens.

11:18 Midian. At this time Midianites inhabited a region on the eastern borders of Moab and Edom. Paran. A wilderness area southeast of Kadesh in the central area of the Sinai peninsula (see Num 10:12; 12:16; 13:3). Pharaoh king of Egypt. See note on 3:1. gave him a house and . . . food and . . . land. In a time of Israel's growing strength it was in Egypt's interest to befriend those who would harass Israel and keep her power in check.

11:21 Send me away. It appears that Hadad returned to Edom during the early days of Solomon's reign.

11:22 what have you lacked with me . . . ? Because Egypt had by this time established relatively good relations with Israel (see note on 3:1), the pharaoh was reluctant to see Hadad return to Edom and provoke trouble with Solomon.

11:24 leader of a marauding band. As David had been (1 Sam 22:1–2), and Jephthah before him (Judg 11:3). they went to Damascus and stayed there, and reigned. Presumably this took place in the early part of Solomon's reign (see 2 Sam 8:6 for the situation in Damascus during the time of David). It is likely that Solomon's expedition (2 Chr 8:3) against Hamath-zobah (the kingdom formerly ruled by Hadadezer, 2 Sam 8:3–6) was provoked by opposition led by Rezon. Even though Solomon was able to retain control of the territory north of Damascus to the Damascus and stayed [1]there, and reigned in Damascus.

25 So he was an adversary to Israel all the days of Solomon, along with the evil that Hadad did; and he abhorred Israel and reigned over Aram.

26 Then [a]Jeroboam the son of Nebat, an Ephraimite of Zeredah, Solomon's servant, whose mother's name was Zeruah, a widow, [b]also [1]rebelled against the king.

27 Now this was the reason why he [1]rebelled against the king: [a]Solomon built the [2]Millo, and closed up the breach of the city of his father David.

28 Now the man Jeroboam was a valiant warrior, and when [a]Solomon saw that the young man was [1]industrious, he appointed him over all the [2]forced labor of the house of Joseph.

29 It came about at that time, when Jeroboam went out of Jerusalem, that [a]the prophet Ahijah the Shilonite found him on the road. Now [1]Ahijah had clothed himself with a new cloak; and both of them were alone in the field.

30 Then [a]Ahijah took hold of the new cloak which was on him and tore it into twelve pieces.

31 He said to Jeroboam, "Take for yourself ten pieces; for thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, 'Behold, [a]I will tear the kingdom out of the hand of Solomon and give you ten tribes

32 ([a]but he will have one tribe, for the sake of My servant David and for the sake of Jerusalem, [b]the city which I have chosen from all the tribes of Israel),

33 because they have forsaken Me, and [a]have worshiped Ashtoreth the goddess of the Sidonians, [b]Chemosh the god of Moab, and Milcom the god of the sons of Ammon; and they have not walked in My ways, doing what is right in My sight and observing My statutes and My ordinances, as his father David did.

34 'Nevertheless I will not take the whole kingdom out of his hand, but I will make him [1]ruler all the days of his life, for the sake of My servant David whom I chose, who observed My commandments and My statutes;

35 but [a]I will take the kingdom from his son's hand and give it to you, even ten tribes.

36 'But [a]to his son I will give one tribe, [b]that My servant David may have a lamp always before Me in Jerusalem, [a]the city where I have chosen for Myself to put My name.

37 'I will take you, and you shall reign over whatever [1]you desire, and you shall be king over Israel.

38 'Then it will be, that if you listen to all that I command you and walk in My ways, and do what is right in My sight by observing My statutes and My commandments, as My servant David did, then [a]I will be with you and [b]build you an enduring house as I built for David, and I will give Israel to you.

39 'Thus I will afflict the [1]descendants of David for this, but not always.' "

40 Solomon sought therefore to put Jero-

11:28 all the forced labor of the house of Joseph. See 5:13–18. Jeroboam's supervision of the conscripted laborers from the tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh made him aware of the smoldering discontent among the people over Solomon's policies (see 12:4).

11:31–32 ten tribes . . . one tribe. The tradition of considering the ten northern tribes as a unit distinct from the southern tribes (Judah and Simeon—Levi received no territorial inheritance; see Josh 21) goes back to the period of the judges (see Judg 5:14–16). The reason, no doubt, was the continuing presence of a non-Israelite corridor (Jerusalem, Gibeonite league, Gezer) that separated the two Israelite regions (see map No. 4 at the end of the study Bible). Political division along the same line during the early years of David's reign and the different arrangements that brought the southern and northern segments under David's rule (see 2 Sam 2:4; 5:3) reinforced this sense of division. With the conquest of Jerusalem by David (2 Sam 5:6–7) and the pharaoh's gift of Gezer to Solomon's wife (9:16–17), all Israel was for the first time territorially united. (Now that Jerusalem and Gezer were under Israelite control, the Gibeonite league, which had submitted already to Joshua—see Josh 9—could be effectively absorbed politically.) In the division here announced, the "one tribe" refers to the area dominated by Judah (but including Simeon; see Josh 19:1–9), and the "ten tribes" refers to the region that came under David's rule at the later date (Ephraim and Manasseh, Joseph's sons, being counted as two tribes; see Gen 48:5; see also note on Josh 14:4). For further refinement of the new boundaries that came about see note on 12:21.

11:34 I will make him ruler all the days of his life. See vv. 12–13.

11:35 from his son's hand. From Rehoboam (see 12:1–24).

11:36 a lamp always before Me in Jerusalem. Symbolizes the continuance of the Davidic dynasty in the city where God had chosen to cause His name to dwell (see v. 13 and note). In a number of passages, the burning or snuffing out of one's lamp signifies the flourishing or ceasing of one's life (Job 18:6; 21:17; Prov 13:9; 20:20; 24:20). Here (and in 15:4; 2 Kin 8:19; 2 Chr 21:7; Ps 132:17) the same figure is applied to David's dynasty (see especially Ps 132:17, where "prepared a lamp for Mine anointed" is parallel to "cause the horn of David to spring forth"). In David's royal sons his "lamp" continues to burn before the Lord in Jerusalem.

11:37 Israel. The northern ten tribes.

11:38 If you listen to all that I command you . . . I will be with you. Jeroboam was placed under the same covenant obligations as David and Solomon before him (see 2:3–4; 3:14; 6:12–13).

11:39 afflict the descendants of David. The division of the kingdom considerably reduced the status and power of the house of David. not always. Anticipates a restoration (announced also in the Messianic prophecies of Jer 30:9; Ezek 34:23; 37:15–28; Hos 3:5; Amos 9:11–12) in which the nation is reunited under the rule of the house of David.

11:40 Solomon sought therefore to put Jeroboam to death. Jeroboam, perhaps indifferent to the timing announced by Ahijah

The Divided Kingdom

930–586 B.C.

The division of Solomon's kingdom had geographical and political causes, with roots reaching back to earlier tribal rivalries. Israel was closer to Phoenician cities and major trade routes than Judah, whose heartland was a plateau-like ridge higher than the district around Samaria.

The Aramean wars were fierce and destructive contests between the kingdom of Damascus and Israel during the greater part of the ninth century. These so-called Aramean-Ephraimitic wars ended with the conquests of Jeroboam II and an era of great prosperity for Israel.

The campaigns of Tiglath-pileser III of Assyria were enormously destructive, following a celebrated pattern of siege warfare. By 732 B.C. the northern kingdom was tributary to the Assyrians.

The final capture and destruction of Samaria took place in 722/721 B.C. after a long siege. The surviving inhabitants were exiled to distant places in the Assyrian empire, and new settlers were brought to Samaria.

The Benjamite frontier was an issue that brought Judah and Israel into conflict early in their history. After a struggle between Asa and Baasha, the border was finally fixed south of Bethel in the territory of Benjamin.

The role of Mesha, king of Moab, was first that of a vassal and then a rebel, as both the Bible and the Mesha stele make clear.

Periods of expansion and contraction characterized the two kingdoms during the period 930-722 B.C. Judah was to some extent protected by its geography, but Israel was forced to develop an efficient standing army with substantial chariotry to defend against frequent attacks. Assyrian records mention that Ahab of Israel provided 2,000 chariots—by far the largest contingent—in the battle of Qarqar in 853 B.C. This militarism in part explains Israel's unstable dynastic history, for the usurpers were usually army officers.

Judah's prosperity was intermittent and depended in large part on control of the trade routes to Egypt and the Red Sea. Border fortresses in the Judahite desert guarded the approaches from Edom. The "front door" of Judah was through Lachish and from there up to Hebron and Jerusalem. The capital was besieged many times, most forcefully by the Assyrians in 701 B.C. and by the Babylonians in 597 and 586, leading to the destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar and marking the end of the monarchy.

An impressive devotion to the Davidic dynastic line characterized the southern kingdom and helped to maintain stability, in contrast to the more mercurial northern kingdom.

boam to death; but Jeroboam arose and fled to Egypt to [a]Shishak king of Egypt, and he was in Egypt until the death of Solomon.

The Death of Solomon

41 [a]Now the rest of the acts of Solomon and whatever he did, and his wisdom, are they not written in the book of the acts of Solomon?

42 Thus [a]the time that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel was forty years.

43 And Solomon [a]slept with his fathers and was buried in the city of his father David, and his son [b]Rehoboam reigned in his place.

King Rehoboam Acts Foolishly

12 [a]Then Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel had come to [b]Shechem to make him king.

2 Now [a]when Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard of it, [1]he was living in Egypt (for he was yet in Egypt, where he had fled from the presence of King Solomon).

3 Then they sent and called him, and Jeroboam and all the assembly of Israel came and spoke to Rehoboam, saying,

4 "[a]Your father made our yoke hard; now therefore lighten the hard service of your father and his heavy yoke which he put on us, and we will serve you."

5 Then he said to them, "[a]Depart [1]for three days, then return to me." So the people departed.

6 King Rehoboam [a]consulted with the elders who had [1]served his father Solomon while he was still alive, saying, "How do you counsel me to answer this people?"

7 Then they spoke to him, saying, "[a]If you will be a servant to this people today, and will serve them and [1]grant them their petition, and speak good words to them, then they will be your servants forever."

8 But he forsook the counsel of the elders which they had given him, and consulted with the young men who grew up with him [1]and served him.

9 So he said to them, "What counsel do you give that we may answer this people who have spoken to me, saying, 'Lighten the yoke which your father put on us'?"

10 The young men who grew up with him spoke to him, saying, "Thus you shall say to this people who spoke to you, saying, 'Your father made our yoke heavy, now you make it lighter for us!' But you shall speak to them, 'My little finger is thicker than my father's loins!

11 'Whereas my father loaded you with a heavy yoke, I will add to your yoke; my father disciplined you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions.' "

12 Then Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day as the king had [1]directed, saying, "[a]Return to me on the third day."

13 The king answered the people harshly, for he forsook the advice of the elders which they had [1]given him,

14 and he spoke to them according to the advice of the young men, saying, "[a]My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to your yoke; my father disciplined you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions."

15 So the king did not listen to the people; [a]for it was a turn of events from the LORD, [b]that He might establish His word, which the

(vv. 34–35), may have made an abortive attempt to wrest the kingdom from Solomon (see v. 26). Shishak king of Egypt. See 14:25–26. This first Egyptian pharaoh to be mentioned by name in the OT was the Libyan founder of the 22nd dynasty (945–924 B.C.). Solomon's marriage ties were with the previous dynasty (see note on 3:1).

11:41 acts of Solomon. A written source concerning Solomon's life and administration, which was used by the writer of 1,2 Kings (see Introduction: Author, Sources and Date; see also 15:7,23).

11:43 slept with his fathers. See note on 1:21.

12:1 Shechem. A city of great historical significance located in the hill country of northern Ephraim (see Gen 12:6; 33:18–20; Josh 8:30–35 and note on Josh 8:30; see also Josh 20:7; 21:21; 24:1–33). all Israel. That is, representatives of the northern tribes (see v. 16). The fact that David became king over the northern tribes on the basis of a covenant (see 2 Sam 5:3) suggests that their act of submission was to be renewed with each new king and that it was subject to negotiation.

12:2 heard of it. Heard about the death of Solomon (11:43). living in Egypt. See 2 Chr 10:2.

12:4 made our yoke hard. Smoldering discontent with Solomon's heavy taxation and conscription of labor and military forces flared up into strong expression (see 4:7,22–23,27–28; 5:13–14; 9:22; see also notes on 9:15; 11:28). Conditions had progressively worsened since the early days of Solomon's rule (see 4:20).

12:6 elders who had served his father Solomon. Officials of Solomon's government such as Adoniram (4:6) and the district governors (4:7–19).

12:7 Authority in the kingdom of God is for service, not for personal aggrandizement.

12:8 young men. Young in comparison to the officials who had served Solomon. Rehoboam was 41 years old when he became king (14:21). served him. Apparently Rehoboam had quickly established new administrative positions for friends and associates of his own generation.

12:10 My little finger is thicker than my father's loins! A proverb claiming that Rehoboam's weakest measures will be far stronger than his father's strongest measures.

12:11 scorpions. Metal-spiked leather lashes. Not only will governmental burdens on the people be increased, but the punishment for not complying with the government's directives will also be intensified.

12:14 according to the advice of the young men. Rehoboam's answer reflects a despotic spirit completely contrary to the covenantal character of Israelite kingship (see Deut 17:14–20; see also note on 1 Sam 10:25).

12:15 it was a turn of events from the LORD. By this statement the writer of Kings does not condone either the foolish act of Rehoboam or the revolutionary spirit of the northern tribes, but he reminds the reader that all these things occurred to bring about the divinely announced punishment on the house of David for Solomon's idolatry and breach of the covenant (11:9–13). For the relationship between divine sovereignty over LORD spoke through Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

The Kingdom Divided

16 When all Israel saw that the king did not listen to them, the people answered the king, saying,

"What portion do we have in David?
We have no inheritance in the son of Jesse;
[a]To your tents, O Israel!
Now look after your own house, David!"

So Israel departed to their tents.

17 But [a]as for the sons of Israel who lived in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.

18 Then King Rehoboam sent [a]Adoram, who was over the forced labor, and all Israel stoned him [1]to death. And King Rehoboam made haste to mount his chariot to flee to Jerusalem.

19 [a]So Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David to this day.

20 It came about when all Israel heard that Jeroboam had returned, that they sent and called him to the assembly and made him king over all Israel. [a]None but the tribe of Judah followed the house of David.

21 [a]Now when Rehoboam had come to Jerusalem, he assembled all the house of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin, 180,000 chosen men who were warriors, to fight against the house of Israel to restore the kingdom to Rehoboam the son of Solomon.

22 But the word of God came to [a]Shemaiah the man of God, saying,

23 "Speak to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all the house of Judah and Benjamin and to the [a]rest of the people, saying,

24 'Thus says the LORD, "You must not go up and fight against your [1]relatives the sons of Israel; return every man to his house, [a]for this thing has come from Me." ' " So they listened to the word of the LORD, and returned and went their way according to the word of the LORD.

Jeroboam's Idolatry

25 Then [a]Jeroboam built Shechem in the hill country of Ephraim, and lived [1]there. And he went out from there and built [b]Penuel.

26 Jeroboam said in his heart, "Now the kingdom will return to the house of David.

27 "[a]If this people go up to offer sacrifices in the house of the LORD at Jerusalem, then the heart of this people will return to their lord, even to Rehoboam king of Judah; and they will kill me and return to Rehoboam king of Judah."

28 So the king [1]consulted, and [a]made two golden [b]calves, and he said to them, "It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem; [c]behold your gods, O Israel, that brought you up from the land of Egypt."

29 He set [a]one in [b]Bethel, and the other he put in [c]Dan.

all things and human responsibility for evil acts see note on 2 Sam 24:1. His word, which the LORD spoke through Ahijah . . . to Jeroboam. See 11:29–39.

12:16 all Israel. The northern tribes (see note on v. 1). David. The Davidic dynasty (see 2 Sam 20:1 for an earlier expression of the same sentiment).

12:17 sons of Israel who lived in the cities of Judah. People originally from the northern tribes who had settled in Judah. They were later to be joined by others from the north who desired to serve the Lord and worship at the temple (see 2 Chr 11:16–17).

12:18 Adoram, who was over the forced labor. Adoram (a variant of Adoniram) had served in the same capacity under both David (2 Sam 20:24) and Solomon (1 Kin 4:6; 5:14).

12:19 this day. The time of the writing of the source from which the author of 1 Kings derived this account (see Introduction: Author, Sources and Date).

12:21 tribe of Benjamin. Although the bulk of Benjamin was aligned with the northern tribes (see note on 11:31–32), the area around Jerusalem remained under Rehoboam's control (as did the Gibeonite cities and Gezer). The northern boundary of Judah must have reached almost to Bethel (12 miles north of Jerusalem)—which Abijah, Rehoboam's son, even held for a short while (see 2 Chr 13:19). 180,000 . . . warriors. Probably includes all support personnel together with those who would actually be committed to battle.

12:22 Shemaiah. Wrote a history of Rehoboam's reign (2 Chr 12:15). Another of his prophecies is recorded in 2 Chr 12:5–8. man of God. A common way of referring to a prophet (see, e.g., 13:1; Deut 18:18; 33:1; 1 Sam 2:27; 9:9–10).

12:23 rest of the people. See note on v. 17.

12:24 went their way. Although full-scale civil war was averted, intermittent skirmishes and battles between Israel and Judah continued throughout the reigns of Rehoboam, Abijah and Asa, until political instability in Israel after the death of Baasha finally brought the conflict to a halt. Asa's son Jehoshaphat entered into an alliance with Ahab and sealed the relationship by the marriage of his son Jehoram to Ahab's daughter Athaliah (see 14:30; 15:6,16; 22:2,44; 2 Kin 8:18).

12:25 Penuel. A town in Transjordan (see Gen 32:31; Judg 8:9,17) of strategic importance for defense against the Arameans of Damascus (see 11:23–25) and the Ammonites.

12:26 return to the house of David. Jeroboam did not have confidence in the divine promise given to him through Ahijah (see 11:38) and thus took action that forfeited the theocratic basis for his kingship.

12:28 two golden calves. Pagan gods of the Arameans and Canaanites were often represented as standing on calves or bulls as symbols of their strength and fertility (see note on Judg 2:13). behold your gods, O Israel, that brought you up from the land of Egypt. Like Aaron (Ex 32:4–5), Jeroboam attempted to combine the pagan calf symbol with the worship of the Lord, though he attempted no physical representation of the Lord—no "god" stood on the backs of his bulls.

12:29 Bethel. Located about 12 miles north of Jerusalem close to the border of Ephraim but within the territory of Benjamin (Josh 18:11–13,22). Bethel held a prominent place in the history of Israel's worship of the Lord (see Gen 12:8; 28:11–19; 35:6–7; Judg 20:26–28; 1 Sam 7:16). Dan. Located in the far north of the land near Mount Hermon. A similarly paganized worship was practiced here during the period of the judges (Judg 18:30–31).

people went to worship before the one as far as Dan.

31 And [a]he made houses on high places, and [b]made priests from among [1]all the people who were not of the sons of Levi.

32 Jeroboam [1]instituted a feast in the eighth month on the fifteenth day of the month, [a]like the feast which is in Judah, and he [2]went up to the altar; thus he did in Bethel, sacrificing to the calves which he had made. And he stationed in Bethel [b]the priests of the high places which he had made.

33 Then he [1]went up to the altar which he had made in Bethel on the fifteenth day in the eighth month, even in the month which he had [2][a]devised [3]in his own heart; and he [2]instituted a feast for the sons of Israel and [1]went up to the altar [b]to burn [4]incense.

Jeroboam Warned, Stricken

13 Now behold, there came [a]a man of God from Judah to Bethel by the word of the LORD, while Jeroboam was standing by the altar [b]to burn incense.

2 [a]He cried against the altar by the word of the LORD, and said, "O altar, altar, thus says the LORD, 'Behold, a son shall be born to the house of David, [b]Josiah by name; and on you he shall sacrifice the priests of the high places who burn incense on you, and human bones shall be burned on you.' "

3 Then he gave a [1]sign the same day, saying, "[a]This is the [1]sign which the LORD has spoken, 'Behold, the altar shall be split apart and the [2]ashes which are on it shall be poured out.' "

4 Now when the king heard the saying of the man of God, which he cried against the altar in Bethel, Jeroboam stretched out his hand from the altar, saying, "Seize him." But his hand which he stretched out against him dried up, so that he could not draw it back to himself.

5 The altar also was split apart and the [1]ashes were poured out from the altar, according to the [2]sign which the man of God had given by the word of the LORD.

6 The king said to the man of God, "Please [1][a]entreat the LORD your God, and pray for me, that my hand may be restored to me." So [b]the man of God [2]entreated the LORD, and the king's hand was restored to him, and it became as it was before.

7 Then the king said to the man of God, "Come home with me and refresh yourself, and [a]I will give you a reward."

8 But the man of God said to the king, "[a]If you were to give me half your house I would not go with you, nor would I eat bread or drink water in this place.

9 "For so [1]it was commanded me by the word of the LORD, saying, 'You shall eat no bread, nor drink water, nor return by the way which you came.' "

10 So he went another way and did not return by the way which he came to Bethel.

The Disobedient Prophet

11 Now [a]an old prophet was living in Bethel; and his [1]sons came and told him all the deeds which the man of God had done that day in Bethel; the words which he had spoken to the king, these also they related to their father.

12 Their father said to them, "[1]Which way did he go?" Now his sons [2]had seen the way which the man of God who came from Judah had gone.

12:30 this thing became a sin. Jeroboam's royal policy promoted violation of the second commandment (Ex 20:4–6). It inevitably led to Israel's violation of the first commandment also (Ex 20:3) and opened the door for the entrance of fully pagan practices into Israel's religious rites (especially in the time of Ahab). Jeroboam foolishly abandoned religious principle for political expediency and in so doing forfeited the promise given him by the prophet Ahijah (see 11:38).

12:31 he made houses on high places. See note on 3:2. not of the sons of Levi. Many of the priests and Levites of the northern kingdom migrated to Judah because Jeroboam bypassed them when appointing cult personnel in the north (see 2 Chr 11:13–14).

12:32 feast which is in Judah. Apparently the Feast of Booths, observed in Judah on the 15th to the 21st of the seventh month (see 8:2; Lev 23:34). went up to the altar. Jeroboam overstepped the limits of his prerogatives as king and assumed the role of a priest (see 2 Chr 26:16–21).

13:1 man of God. See note on 12:22. from Judah to Bethel. God sent a prophet from the southern kingdom to Bethel in the northern kingdom. Possibly He did this to emphasize that the divinely appointed political division (11:11,29–39; 12:15,24) was not intended to establish rival religious systems in the two kingdoms. Two centuries later the prophet Amos from Tekoa in Judah also went to Bethel in the northern kingdom to pronounce God's judgment on Jeroboam II (Amos 7:10–17).

13:2 Josiah. A prophetic announcement of the rule of King Josiah, who came to the throne in Judah nearly 300 years after the division of the kingdom. shall sacrifice the priests of the high places. Fulfilled in 2 Kin 23:15–20.

13:3 sign. The immediate fulfillment of a short-term prediction would serve to authenticate the reliability of the longer-term prediction (see Deut 18:21–22).

13:5 ashes were poured out. Visibly demonstrating God's power to fulfill the words of the prophet (see note on v. 3) and providing a clear sign that Jeroboam's offering was unacceptable to the Lord (see Lev 6:10–11).

13:6 your God. Should not be taken as implying that Jeroboam no longer considered the Lord as his own God (cf. 2:3; Gen 27:20), but as suggesting that he recognized the prophet as his superior in the theocratic order. king's hand was restored. The Lord's gracious response to Jeroboam's request is to be seen as an additional sign (see v. 3) given to confirm the word of the prophet and to move Jeroboam to repentance.

13:7 Come home with me. Jeroboam attempted to renew his prestige in the eyes of the people by creating the impression that there was no fundamental break between himself and the prophetic order (see 1 Sam 15:30 for a similar situation).

13:9 You shall eat no bread. The prophet's refusal of Jeroboam's invitation rested on a previously given divine command. It underscored God's extreme displeasure with the apostate worship at Bethel.

13 Then he said to his sons, "Saddle the donkey for me." So they saddled the donkey for him and he rode away on it.

14 So he went after the man of God and found him sitting under [1]an oak; and he said to him, "Are you the man of God who came from Judah?" And he said, "I am."

15 Then he said to him, "Come home with me and eat bread."

16 He said, "[a]I cannot return with you, nor go with you, nor will I eat bread or drink water with you in this place.

17 "For a command came to me [a]by the word of the LORD, 'You shall eat no bread, nor drink water there; do not return by going the way which you came.' "

18 He said to him, "[a]I also am a prophet like you, and [b]an angel spoke to me by the word of the LORD, saying, 'Bring him back with you to your house, that he may eat bread and drink water.' " But [c]he lied to him.

19 So he went back with him, and ate bread in his house and drank water.

20 Now it came about, as they were sitting down at the table, that the word of the LORD came to the prophet who had brought him back;

21 and he cried to the man of God who came from Judah, saying, "Thus says the LORD, 'Because you have [1]disobeyed the [2]command of the LORD, and have not observed the commandment which the LORD your God commanded you,

22 but have returned and eaten bread and drunk water in the place of which He said to you, "Eat no bread and drink no water"; your body shall not come to the grave of your fathers.' "

23 It came about after he had eaten bread and after he had drunk, that he saddled the donkey for him, for the prophet whom he had brought back.

24 Now when he had gone, [a]a lion met him on the way and killed him, and his body was thrown on the road, with the donkey standing beside it; the lion also was standing beside the body.

25 And behold, men passed by and saw the body thrown on the road, and the lion standing beside the body; so they came and told it in the city where [a]the old prophet lived.

26 Now when the prophet who brought him back from the way heard it, he said, "It is the man of God, who [1]disobeyed the [2]command of the LORD; therefore the LORD has given him to the lion, which has torn him and killed him, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke to him."

27 Then he spoke to his sons, saying, "Saddle the donkey for me." And they saddled it.

28 He went and found his body thrown on the road with the donkey and the lion standing beside the body; the lion had not eaten the body nor torn the donkey.

29 So the prophet took up the body of the man of God and laid it on the donkey and brought it back, and he came to the city of the old prophet to mourn and to bury him.

30 He laid his body in his own grave, and they mourned over him, saying, "[a]Alas, my brother!"

31 After he had buried him, he spoke to his sons, saying, "When I die, bury me in the grave in which the man of God is buried; [a]lay my bones beside his bones.

32 "[a]For the thing shall surely come to pass which he cried by the word of the LORD against the altar in Bethel and [b]against all the houses of the high places which are in the cities of [c]Samaria."

33 After this event Jeroboam did not return from his evil way, but [a]again he made priests of the high places from among [1]all the people; [b]any who would, he ordained, to be priests of the high places.

34 [1][a]This event became sin to the house of Jeroboam, [b]even to blot it out and destroy it from off the face of the earth.

13:18 I also am a prophet like you. A half-truth. It is likely that the old prophet in Bethel had faithfully proclaimed the word of the Lord in former days, but those days had long since passed.

13:19 he went back with him. Neither the old prophet's lie nor his own need justified disobedience to the direct and explicit command of the Lord. His public action in this matter undermined respect for the divine authority of all he had said at Bethel.

13:20 the word of the LORD came to the prophet. The fundamental distinction between a true and a false prophecy here becomes apparent. The false prophecy arises from one's own imagination (Jer 23:16; Ezek 13:2,7) while the true prophecy is from God (Ex 4:16; Deut 18:18; Jer 1:9; 2 Pet 1:21).

13:22 your body shall not come to the grave of your fathers. The man of God from Judah will die far from his own home and family burial plot.

13:24 killed him. A stern warning to Jeroboam that God takes His word very seriously. the donkey standing beside it; the lion also. The remarkable fact that the donkey did not run and the lion did not attack the donkey or disturb the man's body (v. 28) clearly stamped the incident as a divine judgment. This additional miracle was reported in Bethel (v. 25) and provided yet another sign authenticating the message that the man of God from Judah had delivered at Jeroboam's altar. But Jeroboam was still not moved to repentance (v. 33).

13:30 laid his body in his own grave. See v. 22. The old prophet did the only thing left for him to do in order to make amends for his deliberate and fatal deception.

13:31 grave in which the man of God is buried. The old prophet chose in this way to identify himself with the message that the man of God from Judah had given at Bethel.

13:32 Samaria. As the capital of the northern kingdom, Samaria is used to designate the entire territory of the northern ten tribes (see note on 16:24). However, Samaria was not established until about 50 years after this (16:23–24). The use of the name here reflects the perspective of the author of Kings (see note on Gen 14:14 for a similar instance of the use of a place-name—Dan—of later origin than the historical incident with which it is connected).

13:33 made priests . . . from among all the people. See 12:31 and note.

13:34 sin. The sin in 12:30 was the establishment of a

Ahijah Prophesies against the King

14 At that time Abijah the son of Jeroboam became sick.

2 Jeroboam said to his wife, "Arise now, and [a]disguise yourself so that they will not know that you are the wife of Jeroboam, and go to [b]Shiloh; behold, Ahijah the prophet is there, who [c]spoke concerning me that I would be king over this people.

3 "[a]Take ten loaves with you, some cakes and a jar of honey, and go to him. He will tell you what will happen to the boy."

4 Jeroboam's wife did so, and arose and went to [a]Shiloh, and came to the house of [b]Ahijah. Now Ahijah could not see, [c]for his eyes were [1]dim because of his age.

5 Now the LORD had said to Ahijah, "Behold, the wife of Jeroboam is coming to [1]inquire of you concerning her son, for he is sick. You shall say thus and thus to her, for it will be when she arrives that [a]she will pretend to be another woman."

6 When Ahijah heard the sound of her feet coming in the doorway, he said, "Come in, wife of Jeroboam, why do you pretend to be another woman? For I am sent to you with a harsh message.

7 "Go, say to Jeroboam, 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel, "[a]Because I exalted you from among the people and made you leader over My people Israel,

8 and [a]tore the kingdom away from the house of David and gave it to you—[b]yet you have not been like My servant David, who kept My commandments and who followed Me with all his heart, [c]to do only that which was right in My sight;

9 you also have done more evil than all who were before you, and [a]have gone and made for yourself other gods and [b]molten images to provoke Me to anger, and have [c]cast Me behind your back—

10 therefore behold, I am bringing calamity on the house of Jeroboam, and [a]will cut off from Jeroboam [1]every male person, [b]both bond and free in Israel, and I [c]will make a clean sweep of the house of Jeroboam, as one sweeps away dung until it is all gone.

11 "[a]Anyone belonging to Jeroboam who dies in the city the dogs will eat. And he who dies in the field the birds of the heavens will eat; for the LORD has spoken it." '

12 "Now you, arise, go to your house. [a]When your feet enter the city the child will die.

13 "All Israel shall mourn for him and bury him, for [1]he alone of Jeroboam's family will come to the grave, because in him [a]something good was found toward the LORD God of Israel in the house of Jeroboam.

14 "Moreover, [a]the LORD will raise up for Himself a king over Israel who will cut off the house of Jeroboam this day [1]and from now on.

15 "For the LORD will strike Israel, as a reed is shaken in the water; and [a]He will uproot Israel from [b]this good land which He gave to their fathers, and [c]will scatter them beyond the Euphrates River, [d]because they have made their [1]Asherim, provoking the LORD to anger.

paganized worship; here it is persistence in this worship with all its attendant evils.

14:1 At that time. Probably indicating a time not far removed from the event narrated in ch. 13. Abijah. Means "My (divine) Father is the LORD," suggesting that Jeroboam, at least to some degree, desired to be regarded as a worshiper of the Lord.

14:2 disguise yourself. Jeroboam's attempt to mislead the prophet Ahijah into giving a favorable prophecy concerning the sick boy indicates (1) his consciousness of his own guilt, (2) his superstition that prophecy worked in a magical way and (3) his confused but real respect for the power of the Lord's prophet. who spoke concerning me that I would be king over this people. See 11:29–39.

14:3 ten loaves. The gift of an ordinary farmer (like Saul in 1 Sam 9:7–8) rather than that of a king (see 2 Kin 8:7–9).

14:5 the LORD had said to Ahijah. See 1 Sam 9:15–17; 2 Kin 6:32 for other examples of divine revelation concerning an imminent visit.

14:6 Come in, wife of Jeroboam. Ahijah's recognition of the woman and his knowledge of the purpose of her visit served to authenticate his message as truly being the word of the Lord.

14:7–8 exalted you . . . made you leader . . . tore the kingdom away. Jeroboam is first reminded of the gracious acts of the Lord in his behalf (see 11:26,30–38).

14:8 you have not been like My servant David. Jeroboam had not responded to God's gracious acts and had ignored the requirements given when Ahijah told him he would become king (see 11:38).

14:9 all who were before you. Jeroboam's wickedness surpassed that of Saul, David and Solomon in that he implemented a paganized system of worship for the entire populace of the northern kingdom. other gods. See notes on 12:28,30.

14:10 bond and free. Without exception (see 21:21; 2 Kin 9:8; 14:26).

14:11 he who dies in the field the birds of the heavens will eat. See note on 16:4. The covenant curse of Deut 28:26 is applied to Jeroboam's male descendants, none of whom will receive an honorable burial.

14:12 child. The Hebrew for this word allows for wide latitude in age (the same term is used for the young advisers of Rehoboam; see 12:8 and note). will die. Although the death of Abijah was a severe disappointment to Jeroboam and his wife, it was an act of God's mercy to the prince, sparing him the disgrace and suffering that were to come on his father's house (see Is 57:1–2).

14:13 All Israel shall mourn for him and bury him. Perhaps an indication that Abijah was the crown prince, and was well known and loved by the people. grave. He alone of Jeroboam's descendants would receive an honorable burial.

14:14 a king . . . who will cut off the house of Jeroboam. Ahijah looked beyond the brief reign of Nadab, Jeroboam's son (15:25–26), to the revolt of Baasha (15:27–16:7).

14:15 as a reed is shaken in the water. Descriptive of the instability of the royal house in the northern kingdom, which was to be characterized by assassinations and revolts (see 15:27–28; 16:16; 2 Kin 9:24; 15:10,14,25,30). He will uproot Israel. The list of curses for covenant breaking found in Deuteronomy climaxes in forced exile for God's people from the land of promise (Deut 28:63–64; 29:25–28). Asherim. Ahijah perceived that Jeroboam's use of golden bulls in worship would inevitably lead to the adoption of other elements of Canaanite nature religion.

16 "He will give up Israel [a]on account of the sins of Jeroboam, which he [1]committed and with which he made Israel to sin."

17 Then Jeroboam's wife arose and departed and came to [a]Tirzah. [b]As she was entering the threshold of the house, the child died.

18 [a]All Israel buried him and mourned for him, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke through His servant Ahijah the prophet.

19 Now the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, [a]how he made war and how he reigned, behold, they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

20 The time that Jeroboam reigned was twenty-two years; and he slept with his fathers, and Nadab his son reigned in his place.

Rehoboam Misleads Judah

21 [a]Now Rehoboam the son of Solomon reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, [b]the city which the LORD had chosen from all the tribes of Israel to put His name there. And his mother's name was Naamah the Ammonitess.

22 [a]Judah did evil in the sight of the LORD, and they [b]provoked Him to jealousy more than all that their fathers had done, with [1]the sins which they [2]committed.

23 For they also built for themselves [a]high places and sacred [b]pillars and [1c]Asherim on every high hill and [d]beneath every luxuriant tree.

24 There were also [a]male cult prostitutes in the land. They did according to all the abominations of the nations which the LORD dispossessed before the sons of Israel.

25 [a]Now it happened in the fifth year of King Rehoboam, that Shishak the king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem.

26 He took away the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king's house, and [a]he took everything, [1b]even taking all the shields of gold which Solomon had made.

27 So King Rehoboam made shields of bronze in their place, and [a]committed them to the [1]care of the commanders of the [2]guard who guarded the doorway of the king's house.

28 Then it happened as often as the king entered the house of the LORD, that the [1]guards would carry them and would bring them back into the [1]guards' room.

29 [a]Now the rest of the acts of Rehoboam and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

30 [a]There was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam continually.

31 And Rehoboam slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David; and [a]his mother's name was Naamah the Ammonitess. And Abijam his son became king in his place.

The goddess Asherah was the consort of El (see notes on Ex 34:13; Judg 2:13), and the Asherim were probably wooden representations of the goddess (see note on Ex 34:13).

14:16 sins of Jeroboam. See 12:26–33; 13:33–34. which he made Israel to sin. A phrase repeated often in 1,2 Kings (e.g., 15:26; 16:2,13,19,26).

14:17 Tirzah. Used by the kings of Israel as the royal city until Omri purchased and built up Samaria to serve that purpose (16:24). It is probably modern Tell el-Far'ah, about seven miles north of Shechem (see note on SS 6:4).

14:19 war. See v. 30; 15:6; 2 Chr 13:2–20. Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. A record of the reigns of the kings of the northern kingdom used by the author of 1,2 Kings and apparently accessible to those interested in further details of the history of the reigns of Israelite kings. It is not to be confused with the canonical book of 1,2 Chronicles, which was written later than 1,2 Kings and contains the history of the reigns of the kings of Judah only (see Introduction: Author, Sources and Date).

14:20 twenty-two years. 930–909 B.C. slept with his fathers. See note on 1:21. Nadab. See 15:25–32.

14:21 forty-one years old. Rehoboam was born shortly before David's death (see 11:42; see also note on 2:24). seventeen years. 930–913 B.C. city which the LORD had chosen . . . to put His name. See 9:3; Ps 132:13.

14:22 Judah did evil in the sight of the LORD. The reign of Rehoboam is described in greater detail in 2 Chr 11–12. The priests and Levites who immigrated to Judah from the north led the country to follow the way of David and Solomon for the first three years of Rehoboam's reign (see 12:24; 2 Chr 11:17). In later years Rehoboam and the people of Judah turned away from the Lord (2 Chr 12:1).

14:23 high places. See note on 3:2. sacred pillars. Stone pillars, bearing a religious significance, that were placed next to the altars. The use of such pillars was common among the Canaanites and was explicitly forbidden to the Israelites in the Mosaic law (Ex 23:24; Lev 26:1; Deut 16:21–22). It is likely that the pillars were intended to be representations of the deity (2 Kin 3:2). For legitimate uses of stone pillars see Gen 28:18; 31:45; Ex 24:4. Asherim. See note on v. 15.

14:24 male cult prostitutes. Ritual prostitution was an important feature of Canaanite fertility religion. The Israelites had been warned by Moses not to engage in this abominable practice (see Deut 23:17–18; see also 1 Kin 15:12; 2 Kin 23:7; Hos 4:14).

14:25 fifth year of King Rehoboam. 926 B.C. Shishak. See notes on 3:1; 11:40. came up against Jerusalem. Shishak's invasion is described in more detail in 2 Chr 12:2–4 and is also attested in a victory inscription found on the walls of the temple of Amun in Thebes, where numerous cities that Shishak plundered in both Judah and the northern kingdom are listed. 2 Chr 12:5–8 indicates that fear of the impending invasion led to a temporary reformation in Judah.

14:26 shields of gold which Solomon had made. See 10:16–17.

14:27 shields of bronze. The reduced realm could not match the great wealth Solomon had accumulated in Jerusalem (see 10:21,23,27).

Abijam Reigns over Judah

15 [a]Now in the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, Abijam became king over Judah.

2 He reigned three years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was [1a]Maacah the daughter of [2b]Abishalom.

3 He walked in all the sins of his father which he had committed before him; and [a]his heart was not [1]wholly devoted to the LORD his God, like the heart of his father David.

4 But for David's sake the LORD his God gave him a [a]lamp in Jerusalem, to raise up his son after him and to establish Jerusalem;

5 [a]because David did what was right in the sight of the LORD, and had not turned aside from anything that He commanded him all the days of his life, [b]except in the case of Uriah the Hittite.

6 [a]There was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all the days of his life.

7 Now [a]the rest of the acts of Abijam and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? [b]And there was war between Abijam and Jeroboam.

Asa Succeeds Abijam

8 [a]And Abijam slept with his fathers and they buried him in the city of David; and Asa his son became king in his place.

9 So in the twentieth year of Jeroboam the king of Israel, Asa began to reign as king of Judah.

10 He reigned forty-one years in Jerusalem; and [a]his mother's name was Maacah the daughter of Abishalom.

11 [a]Asa did what was right in the sight of the LORD, like David his father.

12 [a]He also put away the male cult prostitutes from the land and [b]removed all the idols which his fathers had made.

13 [1a]He also removed Maacah his mother from being queen mother, because she had made a horrid image [2]as an Asherah; and Asa cut down her horrid image and [b]burned it at the brook Kidron.

14 [a]But the high places were not taken away; nevertheless [b]the heart of Asa was [1]wholly devoted to the LORD all his days.

15 [a]He brought into the house of the LORD the dedicated things of his father and his own dedicated things: silver and gold and utensils.

16 [a]Now there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days.

17 [a]Baasha king of Israel went up against Judah and [1b]fortified Ramah [c]in order to prevent anyone from going out or coming in to Asa king of Judah.

18 Then [a]Asa took all the silver and the 15:1 eighteenth year of King Jeroboam. The first of numerous synchronisms in 1,2 Kings between the reigns of the kings in the north and those in Judah (see, e.g., vv. 9,25,33; 16:8,15,29; see also Introduction: Chronology). Abijam. A variant of Abijah; see note on 14:1. Both Rehoboam and Jeroboam had sons by this name.

15:2 three years. 913–910 B.C. Maacah the daughter of Abishalom. See NASB marg. Abijah's mother is said to be a daughter of Uriel of Gibeah in 2 Chr 13:2. It is likely that Maacah was the granddaughter of Absalom and the daughter of a marriage between Tamar (Absalom's daughter; see 2 Sam 14:27) and Uriel. Absalom's mother was also named Maacah (2 Sam 3:3).

15:3 sins of his father. See 14:22–24. not wholly devoted to the LORD his God, like . . . his father David. Although David fell into grievous sin, his heart was never divided between serving the Lord and serving the nature deities of the Canaanites.

15:4 lamp in Jerusalem. See note on 11:36.

15:5 Uriah the Hittite. See 2 Sam 11.

15:6 Rehoboam. See note on 12:24.

15:7 rest of the acts of Abijam. See 2 Chr 13. Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. See note on 14:29. war between Abijam and Jeroboam. Cf. v. 6; 14:30. From 2 Chr 13 it is clear that the chronic hostile relations of preceding years flared into serious combat in which Abijam defeated Jeroboam and took several towns from him, including Bethel (2 Chr 13:19).

15:8 slept with his fathers. See note on 1:21.

15:9 twentieth year of Jeroboam. 910 B.C. (see note on 14:20).

15:10 forty-one years. 910–869 B.C. Maacah the daughter of Abishalom. See note on v. 2.

15:12 male cult prostitutes. See note on 14:24. removed all the idols which his fathers had made. See 14:23.

15:13 removed Maacah his mother. 2 Chr 14:1–15:16 indicates a progression in Asa's reform over a period of years. Although Asa had destroyed pagan idols and altars early in his reign (2 Chr 14:2–3), it was not until after a victory over Zerah the Cushite (2 Chr 14:8–15) that Asa responded to the message of the prophet Azariah son of Oded by calling for a covenant renewal assembly in Jerusalem in the 15th year of his reign (2 Chr 15:10). After this assembly Asa deposed his grandmother (the Hebrew for "mother" here means "grandmother," a common usage) Maacah because of her idolatry (2 Chr 15:16). made a horrid image as an Asherah. See note on 14:15. It appears that Maacah's action was a deliberate attempt to counter Asa's reform.

15:14 the high places were not taken away. The reference here and in 2 Chr 15:17 is to those high places where the Lord was worshiped (for the question of legitimacy of worship of the Lord at high places see note on 3:2). When 2 Chr 14:3 indicates that Asa removed the high places, it is to be taken as a reference to the high places that were centers of pagan Canaanite worship (see 2 Chr 17:6; 20:33 for the same distinction). This same statement of qualified approval that is made of Asa is made of five other kings of Judah prior to the time of Hezekiah (Jehoshaphat, 22:43; Joash, 2 Kin 12:3; Amaziah, 2 Kin 14:4; Azariah, 2 Kin 15:4; Jotham, 2 Kin 15:35). wholly devoted to the LORD. See note on v. 3.

15:15 dedicated things: silver and gold. Most likely consisting of war booty that Abijam had taken from Jeroboam (2 Chr 13) and that Asa acquired from Zerah the Cushite (2 Chr 14:8–15).

15:16 war between Asa and Baasha . . . all their days. A reference to the chronic hostile relations that had existed ever since the division of the kingdom, rather than to full-scale combat (see notes on v. 7; 12:24; see also 2 Chr 15:19).

15:17 fortified Ramah. Baasha had recaptured the territory previously taken from Jeroboam by Abijam (see note on v. 7; see also 2 Chr 13:19) since Ramah was located south of Bethel and only about five miles north of Jerusalem. prevent anyone from going out or coming in to Asa. See 2 Chr 15:9–10.

15:18 silver and the gold which were left. That which remained gold which were left in the treasuries of the house of the LORD and the treasuries of the king's house, and delivered them into the hand of his servants. And [b]King Asa sent them to Ben-hadad the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezion, king of Aram, who lived in [c]Damascus, saying,

19 "Let there be a [a]treaty between [1]you and me, as between my father and your father. Behold, I have sent you a present of silver and gold; go, break your treaty with Baasha king of Israel so that he will withdraw from me."

20 So Ben-hadad listened to King Asa and sent the commanders of his armies against the cities of Israel, and [1]conquered [a]Ijon, [b]Dan, [c]Abel-beth-maacah and all [d]Chinneroth, besides all the land of Naphtali.

21 When Baasha heard of it, [a]he ceased [1]fortifying Ramah and remained in [b]Tirzah.

22 Then King Asa made a proclamation to all Judah—none was exempt—and they carried away the stones of Ramah and its timber with which Baasha had built. And King Asa built with them [a]Geba of Benjamin and Mizpah.

Jehoshaphat Succeeds Asa

23 [a]Now the rest of all the acts of Asa and all his might and all that he did and the cities which he built, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? But in the time of his old age he was diseased in his feet.

24 And Asa slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father; and [a]Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his place.

Nadab, then Baasha, Rules over Israel

25 Now [a]Nadab the son of Jeroboam became king over Israel in the second year of Asa king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel two years.

26 He did evil in the sight of the LORD, and [a]walked in the way of his father and [b]in his sin which he made Israel sin.

27 Then [a]Baasha the son of Ahijah of the house of Issachar conspired against him, and Baasha struck him down at [b]Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines, while Nadab and all Israel were laying siege to Gibbethon.

28 So Baasha killed him in the third year of Asa king of Judah and reigned in his place.

29 It came about as soon as he was king, he struck down all the household of Jeroboam. He did not leave to Jeroboam [1]any persons alive, until he had destroyed them, [a]according to the word of the LORD, which He spoke by His servant Ahijah the Shilonite,

30 and because of the sins of Jeroboam which he sinned, and [a]which he made Israel sin, because of his provocation with which he provoked the LORD God of Israel to anger.

31 [a]Now the rest of the acts of Nadab and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

after the plundering of Jerusalem by Shishak of Egypt (see 14:25). Hezion. It is not clear whether Hezion is to be identified with Rezon of Damascus (see 11:23–25) or regarded as the founder of a new dynasty.

15:19 treaty . . . between my father and your father. A reference to a previously unmentioned treaty between Abijam and Tabrimmon of Aram. When Tabrimmon died, Baasha succeeded in establishing a treaty with his successor Ben-hadad. Asa saw no hope for success against Baasha without the assistance provided by a renewal of the old treaty with Aram. Although his plan seemed to be successful, it was condemned by Hanani the prophet as a foolish act and a denial of reliance on the Lord (see 2 Chr 16:7–10). The true theocratic king was never to fear his enemies but to trust in the God of the covenant for security and protection (see note on 1 Sam 17:11). Ahaz was later to follow Asa's bad example and seek Assyria's help when he was attacked by Israel and Aram (see 2 Kin 16:5–9; Is 7).

15:20 Naphtali. The cities that Ben-hadad conquered in Naphtali were of particular importance because the major trade routes from Damascus going west to Tyre and southwest through the plain of Jezreel to the coastal plain and Egypt transversed this area. This same territory was later seized by the Assyrian ruler Tiglath-pileser III (2 Kin 15:29).

15:21 Tirzah. See note on 14:17.

15:22 proclamation to all Judah. Asa's action is reminiscent of the labor force conscripted by Solomon (5:13–14; 11:28). Geba . . . Mizpah. Asa established two border fortresses to check Baasha's desire to expand his territory southward. Geba was east of Ramah, and Mizpah was southwest of Ramah.

15:23 rest of all the acts of Asa. See 2 Chr 14:2–16:14. Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. See note on 14:29. diseased in his feet. See 2 Chr 16:12.

15:24 slept with his fathers. See note on 1:21. Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his place. For the reign of Jehoshaphat see 22:41–50; 2 Chr 17:1–21:1.

15:25 second year of Asa. See note on v. 1. The second year of Asa of Judah corresponded to the 22nd and last year of Jeroboam of Israel (see v. 9; 14:20). two years. 909–908 B.C.

15:26 his sin which he made Israel sin. Jeroboam's sin (see note on 14:16). Although Abijam of Judah occupied Bethel during the reign of Jeroboam (see note on v. 7), it is probable that the paganized worship Jeroboam initiated was continued elsewhere until control of Bethel was regained by Baasha.

15:27 Gibbethon. A town located between Jerusalem and Joppa (probably a few miles west of Gezer) in the territory originally assigned to Dan (Josh 19:43–45). This Levitical city (Josh 21:23) probably fell into Philistine hands at the time of the Philistine expansion in the period of the judges.

15:28 third year of Asa. 908 B.C. (see note on v. 10). It is likely that Baasha was a commander in Nadab's army and was able to secure the support of the military for his revolt.

15:29 the word . . . He spoke by . . . Ahijah. See 14:10–11.

15:30 sins of Jeroboam which he sinned, and which he made Israel sin. See note on 14:16.

15:31 Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. See note on 14:19.

15:32 war . . . all their days. See note on v. 16. The demise of Jeroboam's dynasty did not improve relations between the two kingdoms.

33 In the third year of Asa king of Judah, Baasha the son of Ahijah became king over all Israel at Tirzah, and reigned twenty-four years.

34 He did evil in the sight of the LORD, and [a]walked in the way of Jeroboam and in his sin which he made Israel sin.

Prophecy against Baasha

16 Now the word of the LORD came to [a]Jehu the son of [b]Hanani against Baasha, saying,

2 "Inasmuch as I [a]exalted you from the dust and made you leader over My people Israel, and [b]you have walked in the way of Jeroboam and have made My people Israel sin, provoking Me to anger with their sins,

3 behold, [a]I will consume [b]Baasha and his house, and [c]I will make your house like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

4 "[a]Anyone of Baasha who dies in the city the dogs will eat, and anyone of his who dies in the field the birds of the heavens will eat."

5 [a]Now the rest of the acts of Baasha and what he did and his might, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

The Israelite Kings

6 And Baasha slept with his fathers and was buried in [a]Tirzah, and Elah his son became king in his place.

7 Moreover, the word of the LORD through [a]the prophet Jehu the son of Hanani also came against Baasha and his household, both because of all the evil which he did in the sight of the LORD, provoking Him to anger with [b]the work of his hands, in being like the house of Jeroboam, and because [c]he struck [1]it.

8 In the twenty-sixth year of Asa king of Judah, Elah the son of Baasha became king over Israel at Tirzah, and reigned two years.

9 His servant [a]Zimri, commander of half his chariots, conspired against him. Now he was at Tirzah drinking himself drunk in the house of Arza, [b]who was over the household at Tirzah.

10 Then Zimri went in and struck him and put him to death in the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, and became king in his place.

11 It came about when he became king, as soon as he sat on his throne, that [a]he [1]killed all the household of Baasha; he did not leave [2]a single male, neither of his [3]relatives nor of his friends.

12 Thus Zimri destroyed all the household of Baasha, [a]according to the word of the LORD, which He spoke against Baasha through [b]Jehu the prophet,

13 for all the sins of Baasha and the sins of Elah his son, which they sinned and which they made Israel sin, [a]provoking the LORD God of Israel to anger with their [1]idols.

14 [a]Now the rest of the acts of Elah and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

15 In the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, Zimri reigned seven days at Tirzah. Now the people were camped against [a]Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines.

16 The people who were camped heard [1]it said, "Zimri has conspired and has also struck down the king." Therefore all Israel

15:33 third year of Asa. 908 B.C. (see note on v. 10). Tirzah. See note on 14:17. twenty-four years. 908–886 B.C. His official years were counted as 24, though his actual years were 23 (see 16:8; see also Introduction: Chronology).

15:34 his sin which he made Israel sin. See note on 14:16. The assessment of Baasha's reign indicates no improvement over the reign of Nadab, whom he replaced (see v. 26).

16:1 Jehu. Like his father before him (see 2 Chr 16:7–10), Jehu brought God's word of condemnation to a king. Much as the man of God from Judah (see note on 13:1) and later the prophet Amos, he was sent from the south to a northern king. His ministry continued for about 50 years until the reign of Jehoshaphat of Judah (2 Chr 19:2; 20:34).

16:2 I exalted you from the dust. Cf. 14:7. walked in the way of Jeroboam. See note on 14:16.

16:3 consume Baasha and his house. Cf. 14:10 (the house of Jeroboam); 21:21 (the house of Omri and Ahab).

16:4 Identical to the prophecy against Jeroboam's dynasty in 14:11.

16:5 his might. For the purposes of the writer of Kings (see Introduction: Theme), it was not necessary to list any of Baasha's achievements. He may have been a very successful ruler from a military-political point of view. Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. See note on 14:19.

16:6 slept with his fathers. See note on 1:21.

16:7 evil which he did . . . like the house of Jeroboam. See v. 2; 15:34. he struck it. Although Baasha fulfilled God's purpose (14:10,14) in destroying the house of Jeroboam, he remained responsible for this violent and unlawful act (cf. Gen 50:20; Is 10:5–7,12).

16:8 twenty-sixth year of Asa. 886 B.C. (see note on 15:10; see also Introduction: Chronology). two years. 886–885 B.C.

16:9 drinking himself drunk. The fact that Elah was carousing at Tirzah while the army was laying siege to Gibbethon (v. 15) indicates he had little perception of his responsibilities as king.

16:10 twenty-seventh year of Asa. 885 B.C.

16:11 killed all the household of Baasha. See 15:29; 2 Kin 10:1–7; 11:1. friends. Probably including the chief adviser to the king (see note on 2 Sam 15:37).

16:12 word of the LORD . . . through Jehu the prophet. See vv. 1–4. Zimri did not consciously decide to fulfill Jehu's prophecy, but unwittingly he became the instrument by which Jehu's prediction was fulfilled (see note on v. 7) when he conspired against Elah and destroyed the dynasty of Baasha.

16:13 sins of Baasha and . . . Elah his son, which they sinned. See 15:34. idols. A reference to all the paganism in Israel's religious observances, including the use of the golden calves in worship (see 12:28; 14:9).

16:15 twenty-seventh year of Asa. 885 B.C. (see notes on 15:1,10). Gibbethon. See notes on v. 9; 15:27.

made Omri, the commander of the army, king over Israel that day in the camp.

17 Then Omri and all Israel with him went up from Gibbethon and besieged Tirzah.

18 When Zimri saw that the city was taken, he went into the citadel of the king's house and burned the king's house over him with fire, and [a]died,

19 because of his sins which he sinned, doing evil in the sight of the LORD, [a]walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin which he did, making Israel sin.

20 [a]Now the rest of the acts of Zimri and his conspiracy which he [1]carried out, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

21 Then the people of Israel were divided into two parts: half of the people followed Tibni the son of Ginath, to make him king; the other half followed Omri.

22 But the people who followed Omri prevailed over the people who followed Tibni the son of Ginath. And Tibni died and Omri became king.

23 In the thirty-first year of Asa king of Judah, Omri became king over Israel and reigned twelve years; he reigned six years at [a]Tirzah.

24 He bought the hill [1]Samaria from Shemer for two talents of silver; and he built on the hill, and named the city which he built [1a]Samaria, after the name of Shemer, the owner of the hill.

25 [a]Omri did evil in the sight of the LORD, and [b]acted more wickedly than all who were before him.

26 For he [a]walked in all the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat and in his sins which he made Israel sin, provoking the LORD God of Israel with their [1]idols.

27 Now the rest of the acts of Omri which he did and his might which he [1]showed, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

28 So Omri slept with his fathers and was buried in Samaria; and Ahab his son became king in his place.

29 Now Ahab the son of Omri became king over Israel in the thirty-eighth year of Asa king of Judah, and Ahab the son of Omri reigned over Israel in Samaria twenty-two years.

30 Ahab the son of Omri did evil in the sight of the LORD [a]more than all who were before him.

31 It came about, as though it had been a trivial thing for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, that [a]he married Jezebel the daughter of Ethbaal king of the [b]Sidonians, and went to serve Baal and worshiped him.

16:22 Tibni died. It is not clear whether Tibni's death was due to natural causes or the result of the military struggle for control of the land.

16:23 thirty-first year of Asa. 880 B.C. (see note on 15:10; see also Introduction: Chronology). became king. Became sole king. The struggle for control of the northern kingdom between Omri and Tibni lasted four years (compare this verse with v. 15). twelve years. 885–874. The 12 years of Omri's reign include the four years of struggle between Omri and Tibni (cf. vv. 15,29). Tirzah. See note on 14:17. Omri had been able to capture Tirzah in a matter of days (vv. 15–19).

16:24 Samaria. Seven miles northwest of Shechem, Samaria rose about 300 feet above the surrounding fertile valleys (referred to as a "crown" in Is 28:1). The original owner may have been persuaded to sell his property (see 21:3) on the condition that the city be named after him (cf. Ruth 4:5). The site provided an ideal location for a nearly impregnable capital city for the northern kingdom (see 20:1–21; 2 Kin 6:25; 18:9–10). With the establishment of this royal city, the kings of the north came to possess a royal citadel-city like that of the Davidic dynasty (see 2 Sam 5:6–12). Archaeologists have discovered that Omri and Ahab also adorned it with magnificent structures to rival those Solomon had erected in Jerusalem. From this time on, the northern kingdom could be designated by the name of the royal city, just as the southern kingdom could be designated by its capital, Jerusalem (see, e.g., 21:1; Is 10:10; Amos 6:1).

16:25 acted more wickedly than all. Omri's alliance with Ethbaal of Tyre and Sidon (Omri's son Ahab married Ethbaal's daughter Jezebel to seal the alliance) led to widespread Baal worship in the northern kingdom (vv. 31–33) and eventually to the near extinction of the Davidic line in the southern kingdom (see 2 Kin 11; see also note on 2 Kin 8:18). This marriage alliance must have been established in the early years of Omri's reign (see note on v. 23), perhaps to strengthen his hand against Tibni (see vv. 21–22).

16:26 sins which he made Israel sin. See 12:26–33; see also note on 14:16. idols. See note on v. 13.

16:27 his might which he showed. Omri's military and political accomplishments were not of importance for the purposes of the writer of Kings (see Introduction: Theme). Apart from establishing Samaria as the capital of the northern kingdom, about all that is known of him is that he organized a governmental structure in the northern kingdom that was in place during the rule of his son, Ahab (see 20:14–15). Omri's dynasty, however, endured for over 40 years. A century and a half later (732 B.C.) Tiglath-pileser III of Assyria referred to Israel as the "house of Omri" in his annals. Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. See note on 14:19.

16:28 slept with his fathers. See note on 1:21.

16:29 thirty-eighth year of Asa. 874 B.C. (see notes on 15:9–10). twenty-two years. 874–853 B.C.

16:30 did evil . . . more than all. Omri sinned more than those before him (see v. 25), and Ahab sinned more than his father had. Evil became progressively worse in the royal house of the northern kingdom. Nearly a third of the narrative material in 1,2 Kings concerns the 34-year period of the reigns of Ahab and his two sons, Ahaziah and Joram. In this period the struggle between the kingdom of God (championed especially by Elijah and Elisha) and the kingdom of Satan was especially intense.

16:31 married Jezebel the daughter of Ethbaal. The Jewish historian Josephus refers to Ethbaal as a king-priest who ruled over Tyre and Sidon for 32 years. Ahab had already married Jezebel during the reign of his father (see note on v. 25). Baal. Perhaps Melqart, the local manifestation of Baal in Tyre, whose worship was brought to Israel by Jezebel. It is probable that Ahab participated in the worship of this deity at the time of his marriage.

32 So he erected an altar for Baal in [a]the house of Baal which he built in Samaria.
33 Ahab also made [a]the [1]Asherah. Thus [b]Ahab did more to provoke the LORD God of Israel than all the kings of Israel who were before him.
34 [a]In his days Hiel the Bethelite built Jericho; he laid its foundations with the loss of Abiram his firstborn, and set up its gates with the loss of his youngest son Segub, according to the word of the LORD, which He spoke by Joshua the son of Nun.

Elijah Predicts Drought

17 Now Elijah the Tishbite, who was of [1][a]the settlers of Gilead, said to Ahab, "[b]As the LORD, the God of Israel lives, before whom I stand, surely [c]there shall be neither dew nor rain these years, except by my word."
2 The word of the LORD came to him, saying,
3 "Go away from here and turn eastward, and hide yourself by the brook Cherith, which is [1]east of the Jordan.
4 "It shall be that you will drink of the brook, and [a]I have commanded the ravens to provide for you there."
5 So he went and did according to the word of the LORD, for he went and lived by the brook Cherith, which is [1]east of the Jordan.
6 The ravens brought him bread and meat in the morning and bread and meat in the evening, and he would drink from the brook.
7 It happened after a while that the brook dried up, because there was no rain in the land.
8 Then the word of the LORD came to him, saying,
9 "Arise, go to [a]Zarephath, which belongs to Sidon, and stay there; behold, [b]I have commanded a widow there to provide for you."
10 So he arose and went to Zarephath, and when he came to the gate of the city, behold, a widow was there gathering sticks; and [a]he called to her and said, "Please get me a little water in a [1]jar, that I may drink."
11 As she was going to get it, he called to her and said, "Please bring me a piece of bread in your hand."
12 But she said, "[a]As the LORD your God lives, [b]I have no [1]bread, only a handful of flour in the [2]bowl and a little oil in the jar;

The names of Ahab's sons (Ahaziah, "The LORD grasps"; Joram, "The LORD is exalted") suggest that Ahab did not intend to replace the worship of the Lord with the worship of Baal but to worship both deities in a syncretistic way.

16:32 house of Baal which he built in Samaria. Ahab imported the Phoenician Baal worship of his wife Jezebel into the northern kingdom by constructing a temple of Baal in Samaria, just as Solomon had erected the temple of the Lord in Jerusalem. This pagan temple and its sacred stone (see note on 14:23) were later destroyed by Jehu (2 Kin 10:21–27).

16:33 Asherah. See note on 14:15. than all the kings of Israel. See note on v. 30. Ahab elevated the worship of Baal to an official status in the northern kingdom at the beginning of his reign.

16:34 built Jericho. Does not mean that Jericho had remained uninhabited since its destruction by Joshua (see Josh 18:21; Judg 1:16; 3:13; 2 Sam 10:5), but that it had remained an unwalled town or village. During the rule of Ahab, Hiel fortified the city by reconstructing its walls and gates (see 9:17 for a similar use of "rebuilt"). This violated God's intention that the ruins of Jericho (Josh 6:26) be a perpetual reminder that Israel had received the land of Canaan from God's hand as a gift of grace. Accordingly, Hiel suffered the curse Joshua had pronounced.

17:1 Elijah. Elijah's name (meaning "The LORD is my God") was the essence of his message (18:21,39). He was sent to oppose vigorously, by word and action, both Baal worship and those who engaged in it. of the settlers of Gilead. See NASB marg. Gilead was in the northern Transjordan area. The precise location of Tishbe is unknown. before whom I stand. A technical expression indicating one who stands in the service of a king. Kings and priests in Israel were supposed to be anointed to serve as official representatives of the Lord, Israel's Great King, leading Israel in the way of faithfulness to the Lord and channeling His covenantal care and blessings to them. Since the days of Jeroboam the northern kingdom had not had such a priest (12:31), and its kings had all been unfaithful. Now, in the great crisis brought on by Ahab's promotion of Baal worship, the Lord sent Elijah (and after him Elisha) to serve as His representative (instead of king and priest), much as Moses had done long ago. The author of Kings highlights many parallels between the ministries of Elijah and Moses. neither dew nor rain. The drought was not only a divine judgment on a nation that had turned to idolatry, but also a demonstration that even though Baal was considered the god of fertility and lord of the rain clouds, he was powerless to give rain (cf. Lev 26:3–4; Hos 2:5,8).

17:3 Go away from here. With this command God withdrew His prophet from His land and people to leave them isolated from His word and blessings. The absence of the prophet confirmed and intensified the judgment. brook Cherith . . . east of the Jordan. The location of Cherith is uncertain. Perhaps it was a gorge formed by one of the northern tributaries to the Yarmuk River.

17:4 ravens to provide for you there. The Lord's faithful servant Elijah was miraculously sustained beyond the Jordan (like Israel in the wilderness in the time of Moses) while Israel in the promised land was going hungry—a clear testimony against Israel's reliance on Baal. The fact that Elijah was sustained in a miraculous way apart from living among his own people demonstrated that the word of God was not dependent on the people, but the people were dependent on the word of God.

17:9 Zarephath, which belongs to Sidon. A coastal town located between Tyre and Sidon in the territory ruled by Jezebel's father Ethbaal (16:31). Elijah is commanded to go and reside in the heart of the very land from which the Baal worship now being promoted in Israel had come. I have commanded a widow there to provide for you. Elijah, as the bearer of God's word, was now to be sustained by human hands, but they were the hands of a poor widow facing starvation (v. 12). She was, moreover, from outside the circle of God's own people (cf. Luke 4:25–26)—in fact, she was from the pagan nation that at that time (much like Egypt earlier and Babylon later) represented the forces arrayed against God's kingdom.

17:10 So he arose and went. Elijah's reliance on the Lord demonstrated the faith in the Lord that Israel should have been living by.

17:12 As the LORD your God lives. Her oath in the name of the Lord was either an accommodation to Elijah, whom she recognized as an Israelite (see notes on 5:7; 10:9), or a genuine expresand behold, I am gathering [3]a few sticks that I may go in and prepare for me and my son, that we may eat it and [c]die."

13 Then Elijah said to her, "Do not fear; go, do as you have said, but make me a little bread cake from [1]it first and bring it out to me, and afterward you may make one for yourself and for your son.

14 "For thus says the LORD God of Israel, 'The [1]bowl of flour shall not be exhausted, nor shall the jar of oil [2]be empty, until the day that the LORD sends rain on the face of the earth.' "

15 So she went and did according to the word of Elijah, and she and he and her household ate for many days.

16 The [1]bowl of flour was not exhausted nor did the jar of oil [2]become empty, according to the word of the LORD which He spoke through Elijah.

Elijah Raises the Widow's Son

17 Now it came about after these things that the son of the woman, the mistress of the house, became sick; and his sickness was so severe that there was no breath left in him.

18 So she said to Elijah, "[a]What do I have to do with you, O [b]man of God? [1]You have come to me to bring my iniquity to remembrance and to put my son to death!"

19 He said to her, "Give me your son." Then he took him from her bosom and carried him up to the upper room where he was living, and laid him on his own bed.

18 Now it happened [a]after many days that the word of the LORD came to Elijah in the third year, saying, "Go, show yourself to Ahab, and [b]I will send rain on the face of the earth."

sion of previous knowledge of and commitment to the God of Israel.

17:13 make me a little bread cake from it first and . . . afterward you may make one for yourself and for your son. As a prophet, Elijah's words are the command of the Lord. The widow is asked to give all she has to sustain the bearer of the word of God. The demand to give her all is in essence the demand of the covenant that Israel had broken.

17:14 thus says the LORD God of Israel. Elijah can tell the widow "Do not fear" (v. 13) because the demand of the covenant is not given without the promise of the covenant. The Lord does not ask more than He promises to give.

17:15 did according to the word of Elijah. By an act of faith the woman received the promised blessing. Israel had forsaken the covenant and followed Baal and Asherah in search of prosperity. Now in the midst of a pagan kingdom a widow realized that trustful obedience to the word of God is the way that leads to life.

17:16 bowl of flour was not exhausted. God miraculously provided for this non-Israelite who, in an act of faith in the Lord's word, had laid her life on the line. He gave her "manna" from heaven even while He was withholding food from His unfaithful people in the promised land. The warning of Deut 32:21 was being fulfilled (cf. Rom 10:19; 11:11,14).

17:18 You have come . . . to bring my iniquity to remembrance and to put my son to death! The widow concluded that Elijah's presence in her house had called God's attention to her sin, and that the death of her son was a divine punishment for this sin. Although her sense of guilt seems to have been influenced by pagan ideas, both she and Elijah are confronted with the question: Why did the God who promised life bring death instead?

17:21 stretched himself upon the child three times. The apparent intent of this physical contact was to transfer the bodily warmth and stimulation of the prophet to the child. Elijah's prayer, however, makes it clear that he expected the life of the child to return as an answer to prayer, not as a result of bodily contact. let this child's life return to him. Moved by a faith like that of Abraham (Rom 4:17; Heb 11:19), Elijah prayed for the child's return to life so that the veracity and trustworthiness of God's word might be demonstrated.

17:22 the life of the child returned to him. The first instance of raising the dead recorded in Scripture. This non-Israelite widow was granted the supreme covenant blessing, the gift of life rescued from the power of death. This blessing came in the person of her son, the only hope for a widow in ancient society (see 2 Kin 4:14; Ruth 1:11–12; 4:15–17; Luke 7:12).

17:24 you are a man of God. The widow had addressed Elijah as a man of God previously (v. 18), but now she knew in a much more experiential way that he truly was a prophet of the Lord (see note on 12:22). the word of the LORD in your mouth is truth. God used this experience to convince the Phoenician widow that His word was completely reliable. Her confession was one that the Lord's own people in Israel had failed to make.

18:1 third year. Apparently of the drought. Later Jewish tradition indicates that the drought lasted three and a half years (cf. Luke 4:25; James 5:17), but that probably represents a symbolic number for a drought cut short (half of seven years; see Gen 41:27; 2 Kin 8:1). show yourself to Ahab, and I will send rain on the face of the earth. Elijah's return is not occasioned by repentance in Israel but by the command of the Lord, who in His sovereign grace determined to reveal Himself anew to His people.

18:3 Obadiah. A common OT name, meaning "servant of the LORD." over the household. See note on 4:6.

5 Then Ahab said to Obadiah, "Go through the land to all the springs of water and to all the valleys; perhaps we will find grass and keep the horses and mules alive, and not [1]have to kill some of the cattle."

6 So they divided the land between them to [1]survey it; Ahab went one way by himself and Obadiah went another way by himself.

7 Now as Obadiah was on the way, behold, Elijah [1]met him, [a]and he recognized him and fell on his face and said, "Is this you, Elijah my master?"

8 He said to him, "It is I. Go, say to your master, 'Behold, Elijah is here.' "

9 He said, "What [1]sin have I committed, that you are giving your servant into the hand of Ahab to put me to death?

10 "[a]As the LORD your God lives, there is no nation or kingdom where my master has not sent to search for you; and when they said, 'He is not here,' he made the kingdom or nation swear that they could not find you.

11 "And now you are saying, 'Go, say to your master, "Behold, Elijah is here." '

12 "It will come about when I leave you [a]that the Spirit of the LORD will carry you where I do not know; so when I come and tell Ahab and he cannot find you, he will kill me, although I your servant have [1]feared the LORD from my youth.

13 "[a]Has it not been told to my master what I did when Jezebel killed the prophets of the LORD, that I hid [1]a hundred prophets of the LORD by fifties in a cave, and provided them with bread and water?

14 "And now you are saying, 'Go, say to your master, "Behold, Elijah is here" '; he will then kill me."

15 Elijah said, "[a]As the LORD of hosts lives, before whom I stand, I will surely show myself to him today."

16 So Obadiah went to meet Ahab and told him; and Ahab went to meet Elijah.

17 When Ahab saw Elijah, [a]Ahab said to him, "Is this you, you troubler of Israel?"

18 He said, "I have not troubled Israel, but you and your father's house have, because [a]you have forsaken the commandments of the LORD and [b]you have followed the Baals.

19 "Now then send and gather to me all Israel at [a]Mount Carmel, [b]together with 450 prophets of Baal and 400 prophets of [c]the Asherah, who eat at Jezebel's table."

God or Baal on Mount Carmel

20 So Ahab sent a message among all the sons of Israel and brought the prophets together at Mount Carmel.

21 Elijah came near to all the people and said, "[a]How long will you [1]hesitate between two opinions? [b]If the LORD is God, follow Him; but if Baal, follow him." But the people did not answer him a word.

22 Then Elijah said to the people, "I [a]alone am left a prophet of the LORD, but Baal's prophets are [b]450 men.

23 "Now let them give us two oxen; and let them choose one ox for themselves and cut it up, and place it on the wood, but put no fire under it; and I will prepare the other ox and lay it on the wood, and I will not put a fire under it.

24 "Then you call on the name of your god, and I will call on the name of the LORD, and [a]the God who answers by fire, He is God." And all the people said, "[1]That is a good idea."

25 So Elijah said to the prophets of Baal, "Choose one ox for yourselves and prepare it first for you are many, and call on the name of your god, but put no fire under it."

26 Then they took the ox which [1]was giv-

18:5 The famine did not move Ahab to repentance (contrast Ahab's response to the famine with that of David years earlier, 2 Sam 21:1). But when his military strength seemed to be jeopardized, he scoured the land for food and water (see 10:26; according to the annals of the Assyrian ruler Shalmaneser III, Ahab had a force of at least 2,000 chariots).

18:8 say to your master, 'Behold, Elijah is here.' This action would publicly identify Obadiah with Elijah in contrast to his previous clandestine support of the prophets sought by Jezebel (see vv. 4,13).

18:12 the Spirit of the LORD will carry you where I do not know. Elijah's disappearance earlier and now his sudden reappearance suggested to Obadiah that God's Spirit was miraculously transporting the prophet about (see 2 Kin 2:16).

18:13 Jezebel killed the prophets. Possibly in an attempt to please Baal so he would send rain. prophets of the LORD. Probably members of the communities of "prophets" that had sprung up in Israel during this time of apostasy (see note on 20:35).

18:17 you troubler of Israel. Ahab holds Elijah to account for the drought and charges him with a crime against the state worthy of death (he calls him a trouble bringer; see Josh 7:25).

18:18 You have forsaken the commandments of the LORD and . . . followed the Baals. The source of Israel's trouble was not Elijah or even the drought, but the breach of covenantal loyalty.

18:19 Mount Carmel. A high ridge next to the Mediterranean Sea, where the effects of the drought would be least apparent (see Amos 1:2) and the power of Baal to nurture life would seem to be strongest. prophets of Baal . . . prophets of the Asherah. See v. 29 and note. Asherah. See note on 14:15. eat at Jezebel's table. See note on 2:7.

18:21 hesitate. The Hebrew for this word is the same as that used for "leaped" in v. 26 (see note there). Elijah speaks with biting irony: In her religious ambivalence Israel is but engaging in a wild and futile religious "dance." If the LORD is God, follow Him; but if Baal, follow him. Elijah placed a clear choice before the people. He drew a sharp contrast between the worship of the Lord and that of Baal, to eliminate the apostate idea that both deities could be worshiped in a syncretistic way.

18:22 I alone am left. At least the only one to stand boldly and publicly against the king and the prophets of Baal (but see v. 4; 19:10,14; 20:13,28,35; 22:6,8; see also 19:18 and note).

18:24 The God who answers by fire, He is God. Both the Lord and Baal were said to ride the thunderstorm as their divine chariot (see Ps 104:3 and note); thunder was their voice (see Ps 29:3–9 and note) and lightning ("fire") their weapon (see Ps 18:14 and note). Elijah's challenge is direct. Cf. Lev 9:24.

en them and they prepared it and called on the name of Baal from morning until noon saying, "O Baal, answer us." But there was [a]no voice and no one answered. And they [2]leaped about the altar which [3]they made.

27 It came about at noon, that Elijah mocked them and said, "Call out with a loud voice, for he is a god; either he is occupied or gone aside, or is on a journey, or perhaps he is asleep and needs to be awakened."

28 So they cried with a loud voice and [a]cut themselves according to their custom with swords and lances until the blood gushed out on them.

29 When midday was past, they [1]raved [a]until the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice; but there was no voice, no one answered, and no [2]one paid attention.

30 Then Elijah said to all the people, "Come near to me." So all the people came near to him. And [a]he repaired the altar of the LORD which had been torn down.

31 Elijah took twelve stones according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob, to whom the word of the LORD had come, saying, "[a]Israel shall be your name."

32 So with the stones he built an altar in [a]the name of the LORD, and he made a trench around the altar, large enough to hold two [1]measures of seed.

33 [a]Then he arranged the wood and cut the ox in pieces and laid it on the wood.

34 And he said, "Fill four pitchers with water and pour it on the burnt offering and on the wood." And he said, "Do it a second time," and they did it a second time. And he said, "Do it a third time," and they did it a third time.

35 The water flowed around the altar and he also filled the trench with water.

Elijah's Prayer

36 [a]At the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice, Elijah the prophet came near and said, "[b]O LORD, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, today let it be known that [c]You are God in Israel and that I am Your servant and [d]I have done all these things at Your word.

37 "Answer me, O LORD, answer me, that this people may know that You, O LORD, are God, and that You have turned their heart back again."

38 Then the [a]fire of the LORD fell and consumed the burnt offering and the wood and the stones and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench.

39 When all the people saw it, they fell on their faces; and they said, "[a]The LORD, He is God; the LORD, He is God."

40 Then Elijah said to them, "Seize the prophets of Baal; do not let one of them escape." So they seized them; and Elijah brought them down to [a]the brook Kishon, [b]and slew them there.

41 Now Elijah said to Ahab, "Go up, eat and drink; for there is the sound of the roar of a heavy shower."

42 So Ahab went up to eat and drink. But Elijah went up to the top of [a]Carmel; and he [b]crouched down on the earth and put his face between his knees.

43 He said to his servant, "Go up now, look toward the sea." So he went up and looked and said, "There is nothing." And he said, "Go back" seven times.

44 It came about at the seventh time, that he said, "Behold, [a]a cloud as small as a man's hand is coming up from the sea." And he said, "Go up, say to Ahab, '[1]Prepare your 18:26 leaped about the altar. The ecstatic cultic dance was part of the pagan ritual intended to arouse the deity to perform some desired action.

18:27 occupied . . . asleep. Elijah ridicules, but as he does he shows knowledge of the Baal myths.
18:28 until the blood gushed out. Self-inflicted wounds (causing blood to flow) were symbolic of self-sacrifice as an extreme method of arousing the deity to action. Such mutilation of the body was strictly forbidden in the Mosaic law (Lev 19:28; Deut 14:1).
18:29 raved. Indicative of ecstatic raving, in which the ritual reached its climax (see notes on 1 Sam 10:5; 18:10). time of the . . . evening sacrifice. See Ex 29:38–41; Num 28:3–8. no voice. Dramatic demonstration of Baal's impotence (see Ps 115:5–8; 135:15–18; Jer 10:5).
18:30 altar of the LORD which had been torn down. It is possible that the altar had been built by people of the northern ten tribes after the division of the kingdom (see note on 3:2) and that it had been destroyed by the agents of Jezebel (vv. 4,13; 19:10,14).
18:31 twelve stones according to the number of the tribes. In this way Elijah called attention to the covenant unity of Israel as the people of God in spite of her political division. What was about to happen concerned the entire nation, not just the northern ten tribes.
18:34 water. By drenching the whole installation Elijah showed to all that he was using no tricks.
18:36 said. Elijah's simple but earnest prayer stands in sharp contrast to the frantic shouts and "dancing" and self-mutilation of the Baal prophets. God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel. An appeal to the Lord to remember His ancient covenant with the patriarchs, and to Israel to remember all that the Lord has done for her since the days of her forefathers.
18:38 fire of the LORD fell. See note on v. 24.
18:40 slew them there. Elijah, acting on the authority of the Lord, who sent him, carried out the sentence pronounced in the Mosaic law for prophets of pagan deities (Deut 13:13–18; 17:2–5).
18:41 sound of . . . a heavy shower. Now that Baal worship has been struck a devastating blow, there is the promise of rain (see 17:1). Significantly, Ahab takes no action—either to carry out the Mosaic sentence or to halt Elijah.
18:42 Elijah . . . crouched down on the earth and put his face between his knees. Now that the people had confessed that the Lord alone was God, Elijah prayed for the covenant curse to be lifted (see note on 17:1) by the coming of rain (see 8:35; 2 Chr 7:13–14).
18:43 Seven times. The number symbolic of completeness.
18:44 coming up from the sea. Appearing on the western horizon.

chariot and go down, so that the heavy shower does not stop you.' "

45 In a little while the sky grew black with clouds and wind, and there was a heavy shower. And Ahab rode and went to [a]Jezreel.

46 Then [a]the hand of the LORD was on Elijah, and [b]he girded up his loins and [1]outran Ahab [2]to Jezreel.

Elijah Flees from Jezebel

19 Now Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done, and [1][a]how he had killed all the prophets with the sword.

2 Then Jezebel sent a messenger to Elijah, saying, "[a]So may the gods do to me and even more, if I do not make your [1]life as the [1]life of one of them by tomorrow about this time."

3 And he [1]was afraid and arose and ran for his [2]life and came to [a]Beersheba, which belongs to Judah, and left his servant there.

4 But he himself went a day's journey into the wilderness, and came and sat down under a [1]juniper tree; and [a]he requested for himself that he might die, and said, "It is enough; now, O LORD, take my [2]life, for I am not better than my fathers."

5 He lay down and slept under a [1]juniper tree; and behold, there was [a]an angel touching him, and he said to him, "Arise, eat."

6 Then he looked and behold, there was at his head a bread cake baked on hot stones, and a jar of water. So he ate and drank and lay down again.

7 The angel of the LORD came again a second time and touched him and said, "Arise, eat, because the journey is too great for you."

8 So he arose and ate and drank, and went in the strength of that food [a]forty days and forty nights to [b]Horeb, the mountain of God.

Elijah at Horeb

9 Then he came there to a cave and lodged there; and behold, [a]the word of the LORD came to him, and He said to him, "What are you doing here, Elijah?"

10 He said, "[a]I have been very zealous for the LORD, the God of hosts; for the sons of Israel have forsaken Your covenant, [b]torn down Your altars and killed Your prophets with the sword. And [c]I alone am left; and they seek my life, to take it away."

11 So He said, "[a]Go forth and stand on the mountain before the LORD." And behold, the LORD was passing by! And [b]a great and strong wind was rending the mountains and breaking in pieces the rocks before the LORD; but the LORD was not in the wind. And after the wind an earthquake, but the LORD was not in the earthquake.

12 After the earthquake a fire, but the LORD was not in the fire; and after the fire [a]a sound of a gentle blowing.

13 When Elijah heard it, [a]he wrapped his face in his mantle and went out and stood in the entrance of the cave. And behold, [b]a voice came to him and said, "What are you doing here, Elijah?"

18:46 outran Ahab to Jezreel. Divinely energized by extraordinary strength, Elijah ran before Ahab's chariot to Jezreel. This dramatic scene, with the Lord's prophet running before the king and the Lord Himself racing behind him riding His mighty thundercloud chariot (see note on v. 24), served as a powerful appeal to Ahab to break once for all with Baal and henceforth to rule as the servant of the Lord.

19:2 May the gods do to me and even more. A curse formula (see note on 1 Sam 3:17). one of them. The dead prophets of Baal (v. 1).

19:3 he was afraid and arose and ran for his life. In spite of Elijah's great triumph in the trial on Mount Carmel and the dramatic demonstration that Elijah's God is the Lord of heaven and earth and the source of Israel's blessings, Jezebel is undaunted. Hers is no empty threat, and Ahab has shown that he is either unwilling or unable to restrain her. So Elijah knows that one of the main sources of Israel's present apostasy is still spewing out its poison and that his own life is in danger. Beersheba. The southernmost city in Judah (see notes on Gen 21:31; Amos 5:5; see also Judg 20:1).

19:4 juniper tree. A wilderness shrub, sometimes large enough to offer some shade. requested for himself that he might die. Cf. Jon 4:3,8. Elijah concluded that his work was fruitless and consequently that life was not worth living. He had lost his confidence in the triumph of the kingdom of God and was withdrawing from the arena of conflict.

19:7 angel of the LORD. See note on Gen 16:7. God in His mercy provided sustenance and rest for His discouraged servant. the journey is too great for you. Evidently Elijah had already determined to go to Mount Horeb, where God had established His covenant with His people. There is no indication that the Lord had instructed him to do this as He had previously directed him to go to Cherith (17:2–3) and to Zarephath (17:8–9) and to meet Ahab (18:1).

19:8 forty days and forty nights. Sustained by the Lord as Moses had been for the same length of time on Mount Sinai (Ex 24:18; 34:28) and as Jesus would be in the wilderness (Matt 4:2,11). Horeb, the mountain of God. Probably an alternate name for Mount Sinai (see Ex 3:1; 19:1–3), located in the wilderness apparently about 250 miles south of Beersheba.

19:9 What are you doing here, Elijah? The question implies that Elijah had come to Sinai for his own misguided reasons and not because the Lord had sent him.

19:10 Elijah did not give a direct answer to the Lord's question but implied that the work the Lord had begun centuries earlier with the establishment of the Sinai covenant had now come to nothing. Whereas Moses had interceded for Israel when they sinned with the golden calf (Ex 32:11–13), Elijah condemned the Israelites for breaking the covenant, and bitterly complained over the fruitlessness of his own work. I alone am left. See note on 18:22.

19:12 gentle blowing. In the symbolism of these occurrences (vv. 11–12) the Lord appears to be telling Elijah that although His servant's indictment of Israel was a call for God to judge His people with windstorm, earthquake and fire, it was not God's will to do so now. Elijah must return to continue God's mission to His people, and Elisha is to carry it on for another generation (v. 16).

19:13 What are you doing here, Elijah? After demonstrating His presence in the gentle whisper rather than in the wind, earthquake or fire, the Lord gave Elijah an opportunity to revise the answer he had previously given to the same question (vv. 9–10).

14 Then he said, "[a]I have been very zealous for the LORD, the God of hosts; for the sons of Israel have forsaken Your covenant, torn down Your altars and killed Your prophets with the sword. And I alone am left; and they seek my life, to take it away."

15 The LORD said to him, "Go, return on your way to the wilderness of Damascus, and when you have arrived, [a]you shall anoint Hazael king over Aram;

16 and [a]Jehu the son of Nimshi you shall anoint king over Israel; and [b]Elisha the son of Shaphat of Abel-meholah you shall anoint as prophet in your place.

19:14 Elijah's unrevised answer demonstrated that he did not understand the significance of the divine revelation he had just witnessed.

19:15 The LORD said to him. Giving instructions to Elijah that revealed His sovereign power over people and nations. Even though Israel would experience divine judgment through Hazael, Jehu and Elisha, God would continue to preserve a remnant faithful to Himself among the people. return . . . to the wilderness of Damascus. Apparently Elijah is to go back by way of the road east of the Dead Sea and the Jordan. As it turns out, all three anointings take place east of the Jordan, though it is Elisha who effects the anointing of the two kings. anoint. Appears to mean here no more than "designate as divinely appointed." This anointing was actually done by Elijah's successor Elisha (see 2 Kin 8:7–15). Hazael. Subsequently became a serious threat to Israel during the reigns of Joram, Jehu and Jehoahaz (see 2 Kin 8:28–29; 10:32–33; 12:17–18; 13:3,22).

19:16 Jehu . . . you shall anoint. Jehu was a military commander under Ahab and Joram, Ahab's son (2 Kin 9:5–6). He was anointed king over Israel by "one of the sons of the prophets" at the instruction of Elisha (2 Kin 9:1–16), with the mandate to destroy the house of Ahab. Elisha. As with Elijah (see note on 17:1), Elisha's name (meaning "God is salvation" or "God saves") was the essence of his ministry. His name evokes memory of Joshua ("The LORD saves"). Elijah is given someone to finish his work just as Moses was, and Elisha channels the covenant blessings to the faithful in Israel just as Joshua brought Israel into the promised land (see the account of Elisha's ministry in 2 Kin 2:19–8:15; 9:1–3; 13:14–20). In the NT John the Baptist ("Elijah," Matt 11:14; 17:12) was followed by Jesus ("Joshua"; see note on Matt 1:21) to complete God's saving work. son of Shaphat. Shaphat means "He judges," which is also in accordance with Elisha's ministry. of Abel-meholah. See map below.

Lives of Elijah and Elisha

17 "It shall come about, the [a]one who escapes from the sword of Hazael, Jehu [b]shall put to death, and the one who escapes from the sword of Jehu, Elisha shall put to death.

18 "[a]Yet I will leave 7,000 in Israel, all the knees that have not bowed to Baal and every mouth that has not [b]kissed him."

19 So he departed from there and found Elisha the son of Shaphat, while he was plowing with twelve pairs of oxen before him, and he with the twelfth. And Elijah passed over to him and threw [a]his mantle on him.

20 He left the oxen and ran after Elijah and said, "Please [a]let me kiss my father and my mother, then I will follow you." And he said to him, "Go back again, for what have I done to you?"

21 So he returned from following him, and took the pair of oxen and sacrificed them and [a]boiled their flesh with the implements of the oxen, and gave it to the people and they ate. Then he arose and followed Elijah and ministered to him.

War with Aram

20 Now [a]Ben-hadad king of Aram gathered all his army, [b]and there were thirty-two kings with him, and horses and chariots. And he went up and [c]besieged Samaria and fought against it.

2 Then he sent messengers to the city to Ahab king of Israel and said to him, "Thus says Ben-hadad,

3 'Your silver and your gold are mine; your most beautiful wives and children are also mine.' "

4 The king of Israel replied, "It is according to your word, my lord, O king; I am yours, and all that I have."

5 Then the messengers returned and said, "Thus says [1]Ben-hadad, 'Surely, I sent to you saying, "You shall give me your silver and your gold and your wives and your children," 6 but about this time tomorrow I will send my servants to you, and they will search your house and the houses of your servants; and [1]whatever is desirable in your eyes, they will [2]take in their hand and carry away.' "

7 Then the king of Israel called all the elders of the land and said, "Please observe and [a]see how this man is looking for trouble; for he sent to me for my wives and my children and my silver and my gold, and I did not refuse him."

8 All the elders and all the people said to him, "Do not listen or consent."

9 So he said to the messengers of Ben-hadad, "Tell my lord the king, 'All that you sent for to your servant at the first I will do, but this thing I cannot do.' " And the messengers departed and brought him word again.

10 Ben-hadad sent to him and said, "May [a]the gods do so to me and more also, if the dust of Samaria will suffice for handfuls for all the people who [1]follow me."

11 Then the king of Israel replied, "Tell him, '[a]Let not him who girds on his armor boast like him who takes it off.' "

12 When Ben-hadad heard this message, as [a]he was drinking [1]with the kings in the [2]temporary shelters, he said to his servants, "Station yourselves." So they stationed themselves against the city.

Ahab Victorious

13 Now behold, a prophet approached Ahab king of Israel and said, "Thus says the LORD, 'Have you seen all this great multitude? Behold, [a]I will deliver them into your hand today, and [b]you shall know that I am the LORD.' "

19:18 7,000. A round number, no doubt symbolic of the fullness or completeness of the divinely preserved godly remnant (Rom 11:2–4). In any case Elijah had been mistaken in his conclusion that he alone had remained faithful (see vv. 10,14; 18:22 and note). not kissed him. See Hos 13:2.
19:19 threw his mantle on him. Thus designating Elisha as his successor (see note on v. 16).
19:21 sacrificed them . . . with the implements. Elisha's break with his past vocation was complete, though he obviously came from a wealthy family. ministered to him. In Hebrew the same designation as used for Joshua's relationship to Moses ("servant," Ex 24:13; 33:11).
20:1 Ben-hadad king of Aram. Chronological considerations suggest that this was Ben-hadad II, either a son or a grandson of Ben-hadad I, who had ruled Aram as early as 900–895 B.C. (see notes on 15:9–10,18–20,33). The events of this chapter span parts of two years (see vv. 22–26) followed by three years of peace between Israel and Aram (see 22:1). Ahab died at the conclusion of the three years of peace in a battle against the Arameans (22:37) in 853. This means that the events of this chapter are to be dated c. 857. thirty-two kings. Tribal chieftains or city-state kings who were vassals of Ben-hadad II.
20:4 I am yours, and all that I have. Ahab's submission to Ben-hadad's demand suggests that Israel saw little hope for the possibility of a military victory over the Aramean forces. The negotiated settlement would end the siege on Samaria, spare Ahab's life and avoid the plundering of the city.
20:6 I will send my servants to . . . search your house and the houses of your servants. Ben-hadad's new demand required the surrender of the city to his forces.
20:9 this thing I cannot do. Ahab replied in language conceding Ben-hadad's superiority ("my lord the king,'. . . your servant . . .' ") but was adamant in refusing to surrender the city.
20:10 May the gods do so to me and more also. A curse formula (see note on 1 Sam 3:17).
20:11 Let not him who girds on his armor boast like him who takes it off. A saying similar to the familiar "Don't count your chickens before they hatch."
20:13 you shall know that I am the LORD. Although Ahab had not sought God's help in the crisis confronting the city, the Lord graciously chose to reveal Himself yet another time (see 18:36–37) to the king and people, this time through a deliverance.

14 Ahab said, "By whom?" So he said, "Thus says the LORD, 'By the young men of the rulers of the provinces.' " Then he said, "Who shall [1]begin the battle?" And he [2]answered, "You."

15 Then he mustered the young men of the rulers of the provinces, and there were 232; and after them he mustered all the people, even all the sons of Israel, 7,000.

16 They went out at noon, while [a]Ben-hadad was drinking himself drunk in the [1]temporary shelters [2]with the thirty-two kings who helped him.

17 The young men of the rulers of the provinces went out first; and Ben-hadad sent out and they told him, saying, "Men have come out from Samaria."

18 [a]Then he said, "If they have come out for peace, take them alive; or if they have come out for war, take them alive."

19 So these went out from the city, the young men of the rulers of the provinces, and the army which followed them.

20 They [1]killed each his man; and the Arameans fled and Israel pursued them, and Ben-hadad king of Aram escaped on a horse with horsemen.

21 The king of Israel went out and [1]struck the horses and chariots, and [1]killed the Arameans with a great slaughter.

22 Then [a]the prophet came near to the king of Israel and said to him, "Go, strengthen yourself and observe and see what you have to do; for [b]at the turn of the year the king of Aram will come up against you."

23 Now the servants of the king of Aram said to him, "[a]Their gods are gods of the mountains, therefore they were stronger than we; but rather let us fight against them in the plain, and surely we will be stronger than they.

24 "Do this thing: remove the kings, each from his place, and put captains in their place, 25 and [1]muster an army like the army that you have lost, horse for horse, and chariot for chariot. Then we will fight against them in the plain, and surely we will be stronger than they." And he listened to their voice and did so.

Another Aramean War

26 [a]At the turn of the year, Ben-hadad mustered the Arameans and went up to [b]Aphek to fight against Israel.

27 The sons of Israel were mustered and were provisioned and went to meet them; and the sons of Israel camped before them like two little flocks of goats, [a]but the Arameans filled the country.

28 Then [a]a man of God came near and spoke to the king of Israel and said, "Thus says the LORD, 'Because the Arameans have said, "[b]The LORD is a god of the mountains, but He is not a god of the valleys," therefore [c]I will give all this great multitude into your hand, and you shall know that I am the LORD.' "

29 So they camped one over against the other seven days. And on the seventh day the battle was joined, and the sons of Israel [1]killed of the Arameans 100,000 foot soldiers in one day.

30 But the rest fled to [a]Aphek into the city, and the wall fell on 27,000 men who were left. And Ben-hadad fled and came into the city [b]into an inner chamber.

31 [a]His servants said to him, "Behold now, we have heard that the kings of the house of Israel are merciful kings, please let us [b]put sackcloth on our loins and ropes on our heads, and go out to the king of Israel; perhaps he will save your [1]life."

20:14 young men of the rulers of the provinces. See note on 16:27. Organizational details of the provincial government of the northern kingdom are unknown.

20:15 the young men . . . were 232 . . . all the sons of Israel, 7,000. Not a large military force (though a significant number for a city under siege) but one of fitting size for demonstrating that the imminent victory was from the Lord rather than from Israel's own military superiority (cf. Jdg 7:2).

20:20 They killed each his man. Apparently they were met by a small advance force like their own (see 2 Sam 2:15–16). escaped on a horse with horsemen. Since fighting on horseback did not come until later, reference must be to chariot horses and charioteers. After their defeat, the Arameans seem to have withdrawn to Damascus.

20:22 the king of Aram will come up against you. The anonymous prophet (see v. 13) warned Ahab against undue self-confidence. The prophet's announcement of an impending renewed attack by Ben-hadad should have driven Ahab to more complete reliance on the God who had revealed Himself on Mount Carmel and in the recent military victory.

20:23 gods of the mountains. An expression of the pagan idea that a deity's power extended only over the limited area of his particular jurisdiction. therefore they were stronger than we. The Arameans believed that the outcome of military conflicts depended on the relative strength of the gods of the opposing forces rather than on the inherent strength of the two armies. For this reason, their strategy was to fight the next battle in a way that advantageously maximized the supposed strengths and weaknesses of the deities involved.

20:26 Aphek. Presumably the Aphek located a few miles east of the Sea of Galilee. The battle apparently took place in the Jordan Valley near the juncture of the Yarmuk and Jordan rivers.

20:28 man of God. Apparently the same prophet mentioned in vv. 13,22. you shall know that I am the LORD. See note on v. 13. God will again demonstrate that He is the sovereign ruler over all nature and history and that the pagan nature deities are powerless before Him.

20:29 killed . . . 100,000 foot soldiers. Probably includes all those who were driven from the field and the Aramean encampment, including support personnel.

20:30 wall fell. The God of Israel not only gave Israel's army a victory in battle but also caused an additional disaster to fall on the Aramean army. 27,000. Aphek was certainly not so large a city that its wall could literally have collapsed on so many. Perhaps this is the number of troops that had taken refuge in Aphek and were left defenseless when the city walls gave way.

20:31 kings of the house of Israel are merciful. The Arameans recognized that Israel's kings were different from, e.g., the ruth-

32 So [a]they girded sackcloth on their loins and put ropes on their heads, and came to the king of Israel and said, "[b]Your servant Ben-hadad says, 'Please let me live.' " And he said, "Is he still alive? He is my brother."

33 Now the men [1]took this as an omen, and quickly [2]catching his word said, "Your brother Ben-hadad." Then he said, "Go, bring him." Then Ben-hadad came out to him, and he [3]took him up into the chariot.

34 Ben-hadad said to him, "[a]The cities which my father took from your father I will restore, and you shall make streets for yourself in Damascus, as my father made in Samaria." Ahab said, "And I will let you go with this covenant." So he made a covenant with him and let him go.

35 Now a certain man of [a]the sons of the prophets said to [1]another [b]by the word of the LORD, "Please strike me." But the man refused to strike him.

36 Then he said to him, "Because you have not listened to the voice of the LORD, behold, as soon as you have departed from me, [a]a lion will [1]kill you." And as soon as he had departed from him a lion found him and [2]killed him.

37 Then he found another man and said, "Please [1]strike me." And the man [2]struck him, [3]wounding him.

38 So the prophet departed and waited for the king by the way, and [a]disguised himself with a bandage over his eyes.

39 As the king passed by, he cried to the king and said, "Your servant went out into the midst of the battle; and behold, a man turned aside and brought a man to me and said, 'Guard this man; if for any reason he is missing, [a]then your life shall be for his life, or else you shall pay a talent of silver.'

40 "While your servant was busy here and there, he was gone." And the king of Israel said to him, "So shall your judgment be; you yourself have decided it."

41 Then he hastily took the bandage away from his eyes, and the king of Israel recognized him that he was of the prophets.

42 He said to him, "Thus says the LORD, 'Because you have let go out of your hand the man whom I had devoted to destruction, therefore [a]your [1]life shall go for his [1]life, and your people for his people.' "

43 So [a]the king of Israel went to his house sullen and vexed, and came to Samaria.

Ahab Covets Naboth's Vineyard

21 Now it came about after these things that Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard which was in [a]Jezreel beside the palace of Ahab king of Samaria.

2 Ahab spoke to Naboth, saying, "[a]Give me your vineyard, that I may have it for a less Assyrian kings. sackcloth . . . ropes. Perhaps here symbolic of humility and submission.

20:32 Your servant. In the diplomatic language of the time, Ben-hadad acknowledged his inferiority and subordination to Ahab by designating himself Ahab's servant (see note on v. 9). my brother. Ahab disregarded Ben-hadad's concession and responded in terminology used by rulers who considered themselves equals (see 9:13). In doing this, Ahab gave much more than Ben-hadad had asked or expected.

20:33 took him up into the chariot. Not the treatment normally accorded a defeated military opponent.

20:34 cities which my father took from your father. Perhaps Ramoth-gilead (see 22:3) along with some of the cities Ben-hadad I had taken from Baasha (15:20) at an even earlier time. make streets for yourself. Outlets for engaging in the lucrative international trade—a distinct economic advantage; usually such privileges were a jealously guarded local monopoly. made a covenant with him and let him go. A parity treaty (a peace treaty between equals) that included among its provisions the political and trade agreements proposed by Ben-hadad.

20:35 sons of the prophets. An expression designating members of prophetic companies (see 2 Kin 2:3,5,7,15; 4:1,38; 5:22; 6:1; 9:1). "Son" is not to be understood here as "male child" or "descendant" but as the member of a group. These companies of prophets were apparently religious communities that sprang up in the face of general indifference and apostasy for the purpose of mutual edification and the cultivation of the experience of God. It seems likely that they were known as prophets because their religious practices (sometimes ecstatic) were called prophesying (see 18:29; Num 11:25–27; 1 Sam 10:5–6,10–11; 18:10; 19:20–24)—to be distinguished from "prophet" in the sense of one bringing ("prophesying") a word from the Lord. The relationship of the Lord's great prophets (such as Samuel, Elijah and Elisha) to these communities was understandably a close one, the Lord's prophets probably being viewed as their spiritual mentors.

20:36 as soon as you have departed from me, a lion will kill you. A penalty reminiscent of what happened to the man of God from Judah (13:23–24).

20:39 talent. About 75 pounds. Because few soldiers could have paid such a large sum, it would appear to Ahab that the man's life was at stake.

20:40 So shall your judgment be. Ahab refused to grant clemency. Little did he know that he was pronouncing his own death sentence (cf. the similar technique used by Nathan the prophet, 2 Sam 12:1–12).

20:42 the man whom I had devoted to destruction. The Hebrew refers to the irrevocable giving over of things or persons to the Lord, often by totally destroying them (see notes on Lev 27:28; Josh 6:17). It is not clear whether Ahab violated a previous revelation or erred by simply neglecting to inquire of the Lord before releasing Ben-hadad. In any case, the Lord had given Ben-hadad into Ahab's hand (see v. 28), and Ahab was responsible to the Lord for his custody. your life shall go for his life, and your people for his people. Because Ahab sinned in his official capacity as king, the sentence fell not only on Ahab personally but also on the people of the northern kingdom. Ahab died in battle against the Arameans (22:29–39), and Israel was severely humiliated by them during the reigns of Jehu and Jehoahaz (2 Kin 10:32; 13:3).

21:1 beside the palace of Ahab. Ahab maintained a residence in Jezreel in addition to his official palace in Samaria (see 18:45; 2 Kin 9:30). Samaria. The entire northern kingdom is here represented by its capital city (see note on 16:24).

21:2 Give me your vineyard. Because royal power in Israel was limited by covenantal law (see Deut 17:14–20; 1 Sam 10:25), Ahab was unable simply to confiscate privately held land, as was customary with Canaanite kings (see note on v. 7; see also 1 Sam 8:9–17).

vegetable garden because it is close beside my house, and I will give you a better vineyard than it in its place; if [1]you like, I will give you the price of [2]it in money."

3 But Naboth said to Ahab, "The LORD forbid me [a]that I should give you the inheritance of my fathers."

4 [a]So Ahab came into his house sullen and vexed because of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken to him; for he said, "I will not give you the inheritance of my fathers." And he lay down on his bed and turned away his face and ate no [1]food.

5 But Jezebel his wife came to him and said to him, "How is it that your spirit is so sullen that you are not eating [1]food?"

6 So he said to her, "Because I spoke to Naboth the Jezreelite and said to him, 'Give me your vineyard for money; or else, if it pleases you, I will give you a vineyard in its place.' But he said, 'I will not give you my vineyard.' "

7 Jezebel his wife said to him, "[a]Do you now [1]reign over Israel? Arise, eat bread, and let your heart be joyful; I will give you the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite."

8 [a]So she wrote letters in Ahab's name and sealed them with his seal, and sent letters to [b]the elders and to the nobles who were living with Naboth in his city.

9 Now she wrote in the letters, saying, "Proclaim a fast and seat Naboth at the head of the people;

10 and seat two [a]worthless men before him, and let them testify against him, saying, '[b]You cursed God and the king.' Then take him out and [c]stone him [1]to death."

Jezebel's Plot

11 So the men of his city, the elders and the nobles who lived in his city, did as Jezebel had sent word to them, just as it was written in the letters which she had sent them.

12 They [a]proclaimed a fast and seated Naboth at the head of the people.

13 Then the two worthless men came in and sat before him; and the worthless men testified against him, even against Naboth, before the people, saying, "Naboth cursed God and the king." [a]So they took him outside the city and stoned him [1]to death with stones.

14 Then they sent word to Jezebel, saying, "Naboth has been stoned and is dead."

15 When Jezebel heard that Naboth had been stoned and was dead, Jezebel said to Ahab, "Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth, the Jezreelite, which he refused to give you for money; for Naboth is not alive, but dead."

16 When Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, Ahab arose to go down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, to take possession of it.

17 Then the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,

18 "Arise, go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, [a]who is in Samaria; behold, he is in the vineyard of Naboth where he has gone down to take possession of it.

19 "You shall speak to him, saying, 'Thus says the LORD, "[a]Have you murdered and also taken possession?" ' And you shall speak to him, saying, 'Thus says the LORD, "[b]In the place where the dogs licked up the blood of Naboth the dogs will lick up your blood, even yours." ' "

20 Ahab said to Elijah, "[a]Have you found me, O my enemy?" And he [1]answered, "I have found you, [b]because you have sold yourself to do evil in the sight of the LORD.

21 "Behold, I will bring evil upon you, and [a]will utterly sweep you away, and will cut off from Ahab every male, both bond and free in Israel;

22 and [a]I will make your house [b]like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah,

21:3 Naboth's refusal to dispose of his land was based on the conviction that the land was the Lord's, that He had granted a perpetual lease to each Israelite family and that this lease was to be jealously preserved as the family's permanent inheritance in the promised land.

21:7 Do you now reign over Israel? A sarcastic remark of incredulity spoken by one accustomed to the despotic practices of the Phoenician and Canaanite kings, who would not hesitate a moment to use their power to satisfy personal interests (contrast the attitude and practice of Samuel in the exercise of his civil power, 1 Sam 12:3–4).

21:9 Proclaim a fast. Jezebel attempted to create the impression that a disaster threatened the people that could be averted only if they would humble themselves before the Lord and remove any person whose sin had brought God's judgment on them (cf. Judg 20:26; 1 Sam 7:5–6; 2 Chr 20:2–4).

21:10 two. Mosaic law required two witnesses for capital offenses (Num 35:30; Deut 17:6; 19:15). worthless men. See note on Deut 13:13. let them testify. The entire scenario was designed to give an appearance of legitimate judicial procedure (see Ex 20:16; 23:7; Lev 19:16). You cursed God and the king. For this the Mosaic law prescribed death by stoning (Lev 24:15–16).

21:13 outside the city. In accordance with Mosaic law (Lev 24:14; Num 15:35–36). Naboth was stoned on his own field (compare v. 19 with 2 Kin 9:21,26), and his sons were stoned with him (see 2 Kin 9:26; cf. the case of Achan, Josh 7: 24–25), thus also eliminating his heirs.

21:19 Have you murdered and also taken possession? Ahab's willing compliance with Jezebel's scheme made him guilty of murder and theft. In the place where the dogs licked up the blood of Naboth the dogs will lick up your blood. Ahab's subsequent repentance (v. 29) occasioned the postponement of certain aspects of this prophecy until the time of his son Joram, whose body was thrown on the field of Naboth (2 Kin 9:25–26). Ahab himself was killed in battle at Ramoth-gilead (22:29–37) and his body brought to Samaria, where the dogs licked the blood being washed from his chariot (22:38).

21:21 bond and free. See note on 14:10.

21:22 like the house of Jeroboam. See 14:10; 15:28–30. the house of Baasha. See 16:3–4,11–13.

because of the provocation with which you have provoked Me to anger, and because you [c]have made Israel sin.

23 "Of Jezebel also has the LORD spoken, saying, '[a]The dogs will eat Jezebel in the [1]district of Jezreel.'

24 "[a]The one belonging to Ahab, who dies in the city, the dogs will eat, and the one who dies in the field the birds of heaven will eat."

25 [a]Surely there was no one like Ahab who sold himself to do evil in the sight of the LORD, [1]because Jezebel his wife incited him.

26 [a]He acted very abominably in following idols, [b]according to all that the Amorites had done, whom the LORD cast out before the sons of Israel.

27 It came about when Ahab heard these words, that [a]he tore his clothes and put [1]on sackcloth and fasted, and he lay in sackcloth and went about [2]despondently.

28 Then the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,

29 "Do you see how Ahab has humbled himself before Me? Because he has humbled himself before Me, I will not bring the evil in his days, but I will bring the evil upon his house [a]in his son's days."

Ahab's Third Campaign against Aram

22 Three [1]years passed without war between Aram and Israel.

2 [a]In the third year [b]Jehoshaphat the king of Judah came down to the king of Israel.

3 Now the king of Israel said to his servants, "Do you know that [a]Ramoth-gilead belongs to us, and we [1]are still doing nothing to take it out of the hand of the king of Aram?"

4 And he said to Jehoshaphat, "Will you go with me to battle at Ramoth-gilead?" And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, "[a]I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses."

5 Moreover, Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, "Please inquire [1]first for the word of the LORD."

6 Then [a]the king of Israel gathered the prophets together, about four hundred men, and said to them, "Shall I go against Ramoth-gilead to battle or shall I refrain?" And they said, "Go up, for the Lord will give it into the hand of the king."

7 But [a]Jehoshaphat said, "Is there not yet a prophet of the LORD here that we may inquire of him?"

8 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "There is yet one man by whom we may inquire of the LORD, but I hate him, because he does not prophesy good concerning me, but evil. He is Micaiah son of Imlah." But Jehoshaphat said, "Let not the king say so."

9 Then the king of Israel called an officer and said, "[1]Bring quickly Micaiah son of Imlah."

10 Now the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah were sitting each on his throne, arrayed in their robes, at the threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Samaria; and [a]all the prophets were prophesying before them.

11 Then Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah made [a]horns of iron for himself and said, "Thus says the LORD, '[b]With these you will gore the Arameans until they are consumed.' "

12 All the prophets were prophesying thus, saying, "Go up to Ramoth-gilead and prosper, for the LORD will give it into the hand of the king."

21:25 Jezebel his wife incited him. See 16:31; 18:4; 19:1–2; 21:7.
21:26 Amorites. Here a designation for the entire pre-Israelite population of Canaan (see Gen 15:16; Dt 1:7).
21:27 sackcloth. See note on Gen 37:34.
21:29 in his son's days. The judgment was postponed but not rescinded (see note on v. 19).
22:1 Three years. See note on 20:1. without war between Aram and Israel. The annals of the Assyrian ruler Shalmaneser III (859–824 B.C.) record the participation of both "Ahab the Israelite" and Hadadezer (Ben-hadad) of Damascus in a coalition of 12 rulers that fought against Assyrian forces at Qarqar on the Orontes River in 853. According to the Assyrian records, Ahab contributed 2,000 chariots and 10,000 foot soldiers to the allied forces. Assyrian claims of victory appear exaggerated since they withdrew and did not venture westward again for four or five years.
22:2 Jehoshaphat the king of Judah came down to the king of Israel. Perhaps to congratulate him on the success of the western alliance against the Assyrian threat (see notes on v. 1; 2 Chr 18:2).
22:3 Ramoth-gilead. Located near the Yarmuk River in Transjordan; an Israelite city since the days of Moses (see 4:13; Deut 4:43; Josh 20:8). belongs to us. Israel could lay claim to Ramoth-gilead also by virtue of the treaty concluded with Ben-hadad a few years earlier (see 20:34), the provisions of which he had apparently failed to honor.
22:4 Will you go with me . . . ? Even though Ahab had just been allied with the Arameans against the Assyrians, now that the Assyrian threat was over he did not hesitate to seize an opportunity to free Ramoth-gilead from Aramean control. I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses. Jehoshaphat was later to be condemned by the prophet Jehu (2 Chr 19:2) for violating the Lord's will by joining forces with Ahab. In this alliance, Jehoshaphat completely reversed the policy of his father Asa, who had entered into an alliance with the Arameans against Baasha of the northern kingdom (see 15:17–23).
22:5 inquire first for the word of the LORD. Jehoshaphat hesitated to proceed with the planned action without the assurance of the Lord's favor (see 1 Sam 23:1–4; 2Sa 2:1).
22:6 prophets. No doubt associated with the paganized worship at Bethel (see notes on 12:28–29), they exercised their "office" by proclaiming messages designed to please the king (see Amos 7:10–13).
22:7 Is there not yet a prophet of the LORD here . . . ? Jehoshaphat recognized that the 400 prophets were not to be relied on (see Ezek 13:2–3) and asked for consultation with a true prophet of the Lord.
22:8 does not prophesy good. Ahab's assessment of a prophet depended on whether his message was favorable to him (see 18:17; 21:20).
22:11 Zedekiah. Evidently the spokesman for the 400 prophets. horns of iron. A symbol of power (see Deut 33:17).

Micaiah Predicts Defeat

13 Then the messenger who went to summon Micaiah spoke to him saying, "Behold now, the words of the prophets are uniformly favorable to the king. Please let your word be like the word of one of them, and speak favorably."

14 But Micaiah said, "[a]As the LORD lives, what [b]the LORD says to me, that I shall speak."

15 When he came to the king, the king said to him, "Micaiah, shall we go to Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall we refrain?" And he [1]answered him, "[a]Go up and succeed, and the LORD will give it into the hand of the king."

16 Then the king said to him, "How many times must I adjure you to speak to me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?"

17 So he said,

"I saw all Israel
Scattered on the mountains,
[a]Like sheep which have no shepherd.
And the LORD said, 'These have no master.
Let each of them return to his house in peace.' "

18 Then the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "[a]Did I not tell you that he would not prophesy good concerning me, but evil?"

19 [1]Micaiah said, "Therefore, hear the word of the LORD. [a]I saw the LORD sitting on His throne, and [b]all the host of heaven standing by Him on His right and on His left.

20 "The LORD said, 'Who will entice Ahab to go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead?' And one said this while another said that.

21 "Then a spirit came forward and stood before the LORD and said, 'I will entice him.'

22 "The LORD said to him, 'How?' And he said, 'I will go out and [a]be a deceiving spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' Then He said, 'You are to entice him and also prevail. Go and do so.'

23 "Now therefore, behold, [a]the LORD has put a deceiving spirit in the mouth of all these your prophets; and the LORD has proclaimed disaster against you."

24 Then [a]Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah came near and struck Micaiah on the cheek and said, "[b]How did the Spirit of the LORD pass from me to speak to you?"

25 Micaiah said, "Behold, you shall see on that day when you [a]enter an inner room to hide yourself."

26 Then the king of Israel said, "Take Micaiah and return him to Amon the governor of the city and to Joash the king's son;

27 and say, 'Thus says the king, "[a]Put this man in prison and feed him [1]sparingly with bread and water until I return safely." ' "

28 Micaiah said, "[a]If you indeed return safely the LORD has not spoken by me." And he said, "[b]Listen, all you people."

Defeat and Death of Ahab

29 So [a]the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah went up against Ramoth-gilead.

30 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "[a]I will disguise myself and go into the battle, but you put on your robes." So the king of Israel disguised himself and went into the battle.

31 Now [a]the king of Aram had commanded the thirty-two captains of his chariots, saying, "Do not fight with small or great, but with the king of Israel alone."

32 So when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, they said, "Surely it is the king of Israel," and they turned aside to fight against him, and Jehoshaphat cried out.

33 When the captains of the chariots saw that it was not the king of Israel, they turned back from pursuing him.

34 Now a certain man drew his bow at random and struck the king of Israel [1]in a joint of the armor. So he said to the driver of 22:13 let your word be like the word of one of them. A bit of advice reflecting the view that all prophets were merely self-serving.

22:15 we. A subtle shift (see v. 6) that seeks a favorable response by including Jehoshaphat as a co-sponsor of the enterprise. Go up . . . the LORD will give it into the hand of the king. Micaiah sarcastically mimics the 400 false prophets (see v. 12).

22:16 speak to me nothing but the truth. Micaiah apparently betrayed his lack of seriousness, and Ahab immediately recognizes this.

22:17 Like sheep which have no shepherd . . . These have no master. Using the imagery of shepherd and sheep (see Num 27:16–17; Zech 13:7; Matt 9:36; 26:31), Micaiah depicts Ahab's death in the upcoming battle.

22:19 I saw the LORD sitting on His throne. A true prophet was one who had, as it were, been made privy to what had transpired in God's heavenly throne room and so could truthfully declare what God intended to do (see Is 6:1; Jer 23:16–22).

22:23 the LORD has put a deceiving spirit in the mouth of all these your prophets. Some view the lying spirit as Satan or one of his agents. Others have suggested a spirit of God who undertakes the task of a lying spirit (but see 1 Sam 15:29). Still others understand the lying spirit as a symbolic picture of the power of the lie. The Lord had given the 400 prophets over to the power of the lie because they did not love the truth and had chosen to speak out of their own hearts (see Jer 14:14; 23:16,26; Ezek 13:2–3,17; see also note on 2 Sam 24:1; cf. 2 Thess 2:9–12).

22:24 How did the Spirit of the LORD pass from me to speak to you? By this sarcastic question Zedekiah suggests that one prophet can be a liar just as well as another.

22:25 enter an inner room to hide. Where Zedekiah will seek refuge (cf. 20:30). This will vindicate Micaiah's prophetic authority.

22:30 disguise. By this strategy he thought he could direct attention away from himself and so minimize any chance for fulfillment of Micaiah's prediction.

22:31 with the king of Israel alone. If the leader was killed or captured, ancient armies usually fell apart (cf. vv. 35–36).

22:34 driver of his chariot. A war chariot normally carried two men—a fighter and a driver. Sometimes, it appears, there were three men, but the third seems to have been an officer who commanded a chariot unit (see 9:22; 2 Kin 9:25; Ex 14:7; 15:4).

his chariot, "Turn [2]around and take me out of the [3]fight; [a]for I am severely wounded."

35 The battle [1]raged that day, and the king was propped up in his chariot in front of the Arameans, and died at evening, and the blood from the wound ran into the bottom of the chariot.

36 [a]Then a cry passed throughout the army close to sunset, saying, "Every man to his city and every man to his [1]country."

37 So the king died and was brought to Samaria, and they buried the king in Samaria.

38 They washed the chariot by the pool of Samaria, and the dogs licked up his blood (now the harlots bathed themselves there), [a]according to the word of the LORD which He spoke.

39 Now the rest of the acts of Ahab and all that he did and [a]the ivory house which he built and all the cities which he built, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

40 So Ahab slept with his fathers, and Ahaziah his son became king in his place.

The New Rulers

41 [a]Now Jehoshaphat the son of Asa became king over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel.

42 Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

43 [a]He walked in all the way of Asa his father; he did not turn aside from it, doing right in the sight of the LORD. [b]However, the high places were not taken away; the people still sacrificed and burnt incense on the high places.

44 [a]Jehoshaphat also made peace with the king of Israel.

45 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, and his might which he showed and how he warred, are they not written [a]in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

46 The remnant of [a]the sodomites who remained in the days of his father Asa, he [1]expelled from the land.

47 Now [a]there was no king in Edom; a deputy was king.

48 Jehoshaphat made [a]ships of Tarshish to go to [b]Ophir for gold, but [c]they did not go for the ships were broken at [d]Ezion-geber.

49 Then Ahaziah the son of Ahab said to Jehoshaphat, "Let my servants go with your servants in the ships." But Jehoshaphat was not willing.

50 [a]And Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of his father David, and Jehoram his son became king in his place.

51 Ahaziah the son of Ahab [a]became king over Israel in Samaria in the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and he reigned two years over Israel.

52 He did evil in the sight of the LORD and [a]walked in the way of his father and in the way of his mother and in the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin.

53 [a]So he served Baal and worshiped him and provoked the LORD God of Israel to anger, according to all that his father had done.

22:38 according to the word of the LORD. A partial fulfillment of Elijah's prophecy concerning Ahab's death (see note on 21:19).
22:39 ivory house which he built. Excavators of Samaria have found ivory inlays in some of the buildings dating from this period of Israel's history. Ahab's use of ivory in this way is indicative of the realm's economic prosperity during his reign. cities which he built. Excavators have found evidence that Ahab strengthened the fortifications of Megiddo and Hazor. Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. See note on 14:19.
22:40 slept with his fathers. See note on 1:21. Ahaziah his son became king in his place. For the reign of Ahaziah see vv. 51–53; 2Ki 1.
22:41 Jehoshaphat . . . became king over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab. Appears to refer to the beginning of Jehoshaphat's reign as sole king in 869 B.C. (see notes on v. 42; 16:29; see also Introduction: Chronology).
22:42 twenty-five years. 872–848 B.C. The full span of Jehoshaphat's reign dates from the 39th year of King Asa, when he became co-regent with his father (see note on 15:10; see also 2 Chr 16:12).
22:43 the high places were not taken away. See notes on 3:2; 15:14.
22:44 king. Probably to be understood in the collective sense and as including Ahab, Ahaziah and Joram, all of whom ruled in the north during the reign of Jehoshaphat in the south (see note on v. 4).

22:46 sodomites. See note on 14:24.
22:47 no king in Edom. Suggests that Edom was subject to Judah (see 2 Sam 8:14; 2 Kin 8:20).
22:48 Ophir. See note on 9:28. broken at Ezion-geber. The destruction of the trading ships was a judgment of God on Jehoshaphat for entering into an alliance with Ahaziah of the northern kingdom (see 2 Chr 20:35–37).
22:50 slept with his fathers. See note on 1:21. Jehoram his son became king in his place. For the reign of Jehoram see 2 Kin 8:16–24; 2 Chr 21.
22:51 seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat. 853 B.C. (see notes on vv. 41–42). two years. 853–852 (see note on 2 Kin 1:17).

Ahaziah's Messengers Meet Elijah

1 Now [a]Moab rebelled against Israel after the death of Ahab.

2 And Ahaziah fell through the lattice in his upper chamber which was in Samaria, and became ill. So he sent messengers and said to them, "Go, [a]inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron, [b]whether I will recover from this sickness."

3 But the angel of the LORD said to [a]Elijah the Tishbite, "Arise, go up to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria and say to them, 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are going to inquire of [b]Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron?'

4 "Now therefore thus says the LORD, '[1a]You shall not come down from the bed where you have gone up, but you shall surely die.' " Then Elijah departed.

5 When the messengers returned to him he said to them, "[1]Why have you returned?"

6 They said to him, "A man came up to meet us and said to us, 'Go, return to the king who sent you and say to him, "Thus says the LORD, 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are sending [a]to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore [1]you shall not come down from the bed where you have gone up, but shall surely die.' " ' "

7 He said to them, "What kind of man was he who came up to meet you and spoke these words to you?"

8 They [1]answered him, "[a]He was a hairy man with a leather girdle [2]bound about his loins." And he said, "It is Elijah the Tishbite."

9 Then the king [a]sent to him a captain of fifty with his fifty. And he went up to him, and behold, he was sitting on the top of the hill. And he said to him, "O man of God, the king says, 'Come down.' "

10 Elijah replied to the captain of fifty, "If I am a man of God, [a]let fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty." [b]Then fire came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty.

11 So he again sent to him another captain of fifty with his fifty. And he said to him, "O man of God, thus says the king, 'Come down quickly.' "

12 Elijah replied to them, "If I am a man of God, let fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty." Then the fire of God came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty.

13 So he [a]again sent the captain of a third fifty with his fifty. When the third captain of fifty went up, he came and bowed down on his knees before Elijah, and begged him and said to him, "O man of God, please let my

1:1 Moab rebelled. Moab had been brought into subjection by David (see 2 Sam 8:2), but when the northern and Transjordan tribes rebelled and made Jeroboam their king, political domination of Moab probably also shifted to the northern kingdom. An inscription of Mesha king of Moab (see chart, p. xix) indicates that during the reign of Omri's "son" (probably a reference to his grandson Joram, not to Ahab) the Moabites were able to free the area of Medeba from Israelite control (see map No. 5 at the end of the study Bible). after the death of Ahab. See 1 Kin 22:37.

1:2 Baal-zebub. See note on Judg 10:6. Ekron. The northernmost of the five major Philistine cities (see Josh 13:3; 1 Sam 5:10 and notes). whether I will recover. Ahaziah appears to have feared that his injury would be fatal. He turned to the pagan deity for a revelatory oracle, not for healing.

1:3 angel of the LORD. See 1 Kin 19:7; see also note on Gen 16:7. The Lord usually spoke directly to the consciousness of the prophet (1 Kin 17:2,8; 18:1; 19:9; 21:17). Perhaps the means of revelation was changed in this instance to heighten the contrast between the messengers of Ahaziah (vv. 2–3,5) and the angel (which means "messenger") of the Lord. Elijah the Tishbite. See note on 1 Kin 17:1. king of Samaria. See note on 1 Kin 21:1.

1:4 you shall surely die. Ahaziah will receive the oracle he sought, but it will come from the Lord through Elijah, not from Baal-zebub.

1:5 Why have you returned? Ahaziah realized the messengers could not have traveled so quickly to Ekron and back.

1:8 hairy man. See 1 Kin 19:19. That is, he wore a garment (probably his cloak) made of sheepskin or camel's hair, tied with a simple leather thong (cf. Matt 3:4). His dress contrasted sharply with the fine linen clothing (see Jer 13:1) of his wealthy contemporaries and constituted a protest against the materialistic attitudes of the king and the upper classes (cf. Matt 11:7–8; Luke 7:24–25). It is Elijah the Tishbite. Ahaziah was familiar with Elijah's appearance because of the prophet's many encounters with Ahab, his father.

1:9 the king sent to him a captain of fifty with his fifty. The pagan people of that time thought that the magical power of curses could be nullified either by forcing the pronouncer of the curse to retract his statement or by killing him so that his curse would go with him to the netherworld. It appears that Ahaziah shared this view and desired to take Elijah prisoner in order to counteract the pronouncement of his death. O man of God, the king says, 'Come down.' Ahaziah attempted to place the prophet under the authority of the king. This constituted a violation of the covenant nature of Israelite kingship, in which the king's actions were always to be placed under the scrutiny and authority of the word of the Lord spoken by His prophets (see notes on 1 Sam 10:25; 12:23).

1:10 fire came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty. See 1 Kin 18:38. Another link between the ministries of Elijah and Moses (see Lev 10:2; Num 16:35). At stake in this incident was the question of who was sovereign in Israel. Would Ahaziah recognize that the king in Israel was only a vice-regent under the authority and kingship of the Lord, or would he exercise despotic power, like pagan kings (see notes on 1 Sam 12:14–15)? At Mount Carmel the Lord had revealed Himself and authenticated His prophet by fire from heaven (see 1 Kin 18:38–39). Now this previous revelation is confirmed to Ahaziah. Jesus' rebuke of His disciples for suggesting that fire be called down from heaven to destroy the Samaritans (Luke 9:51–56) is not to be understood as a disapproval of Elijah's action, but as an indication that the disciples failed to discern the difference between the issue at stake in Elijah's day and the unbelief of the Samaritans in their own day.

1:11 he again sent to him another captain of fifty with his fifty. Ahaziah refused to submit to the word of the Lord in spite of the dramatic revelation of God's power.

1:13 bowed down on his knees before Elijah. The third captain, recognizing that Elijah was the bearer of the word of the Lord, feared for his life and bowed before him with a humble request.

life and the lives of these fifty servants of yours be precious in your sight.

14 "Behold fire came down from heaven and consumed the first two captains of fifty with their fifties; but now let my [1]life be precious in your sight."

15 [a]The angel of the LORD said to Elijah, "Go down with him; [b]do not be afraid of him." So he arose and went down with him to the king.

16 Then he said to him, "Thus says the LORD, 'Because you have sent messengers [a]to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron—is it because there is no God in Israel to inquire of His word?—therefore [1]you shall not come down from the bed where you have gone up, but shall surely die.' "

Jehoram Reigns over Israel

17 So Ahaziah died according to the word of the LORD which Elijah had spoken. And because he had no son, Jehoram became king in his place [a]in the second year of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah.

18 Now the rest of the acts of Ahaziah which he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

Elijah Taken to Heaven

2 And it came about when the LORD was about to [a]take up Elijah by a [1]whirlwind to heaven, that Elijah went with [b]Elisha from [c]Gilgal.

2 Elijah said to Elisha, "[a]Stay here please, for the LORD has sent me as far as [b]Bethel." But Elisha said, "[c]As the LORD lives and as you yourself live, I will not leave you." So they went down to Bethel.

3 Then [a]the sons of the prophets who were at Bethel came out to Elisha and said to him, "Do you know that the LORD will take away your master from over [1]you today?" And he said, "Yes, I know; be still."

4 Elijah said to him, "Elisha, please [a]stay here, for the LORD has sent me to [b]Jericho." But he said, "[a]As the LORD lives, and as you yourself live, I will not leave you." So they came to Jericho.

5 [a]The sons of the prophets who were at Jericho approached Elisha and said to him, "[b]Do you know that the LORD will take away your master from over [1]you today?" And he [2]answered, "Yes, I know; be still."

6 Then Elijah said to him, "Please [a]stay here, for the LORD has sent me to [b]the Jordan." And he said, "As the LORD lives, and as you yourself live, I will not leave you." So the two of them went on.

7 Now [a]fifty men of the sons of the prophets went and stood opposite them at a distance, while the two of them stood by the Jordan.

8 Elijah [a]took his mantle and folded it together and [b]struck the waters, and they were divided here and there, so that the two of them crossed over on dry ground.

9 When they had crossed over, Elijah said to Elisha, "Ask what I shall do for you before I am taken from you." And Elisha said, "Please, let a [a]double portion of your spirit be upon me."

10 He said, "You have asked a hard thing. Nevertheless, if you [a]see me when I am taken from you, it shall be so for you; but if not, it shall not be so."

11 As they were going along and talking, behold, there appeared [a]a chariot of fire and horses of fire which separated the two of them. And Elijah went up by a [1]whirlwind to heaven.

12 Elisha saw it and cried out, "[a]My father, my father, the [1]chariots of Israel and (see note on 8:16). The reference here is to the second year of that co-regency. The 18th year of Jehoshaphat (3:1) is therefore the same as the second year of Jehoram's co-regency (852).

1:18 Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. See note on 1 Kin 14:19.
2:2 I will not leave you. Elisha was aware that Elijah's ministry was almost finished and that his departure was near (v. 5). He was determined to accompany him until the moment the Lord took him. His commitment to Elijah and to Elijah's ministry was unfailing (see v. 9; 1 Kin 19:21).
2:3 sons of. See note on 1 Kin 20:35. During the days of Elijah and Elisha, companies of prophets were located at Bethel (here), Jericho (v. 5) and Gilgal (4:38). It appears that Elijah journeyed by divine instruction to Gilgal (v. 1), Bethel (v. 2) and Jericho (v. 4) for a last meeting with each of these companies.
2:7 Fifty men. These men were to witness the miracle by which Elijah and Elisha crossed the river.
2:8 Elijah took his mantle . . . and struck the waters. Elijah used his cloak much as Moses had used his staff at the time of Israel's passage through the "Red Sea" (see Ex 14:16,21,26).
2:9 let a double portion . . . be upon me. Elisha was not expressing a desire for a ministry twice as great as Elijah's, but he was using terms derived from inheritance law to express his desire to carry on Elijah's ministry. Inheritance law assigned a double portion of a father's possessions to the firstborn son (see Deut 21:17 and note).
2:10 hard thing. Although Elijah had previously been told to anoint Elisha as his successor (1 Kin 19:16,19–21), Elijah's response clearly showed that the issue rested solely with the Lord's sovereign good pleasure. if you see me . . . it shall be so . . . but if not, it shall not be so. Elijah left the answer to Elisha's request in the Lord's hands.
2:11 chariot of fire and horses of fire. The Lord's heavenly host has accompanied and supported Elijah's ministry (as it had that of Moses; see Ex 15:1–10), and now at his departure Elisha is allowed to see it (cf. 6:17). Elijah went up by a whirlwind to heaven. Elijah, like Enoch before him (Gen 5:24), was taken up to heaven bodily without experiencing death; like Moses (Deut 34:4–6), he was taken away outside the promised land.
2:12 chariots of Israel and its horsemen! Elisha depicted Elijah as embodying the true strength of the nation. He, rather than its horsemen!" And he saw [2]Elijah no more. Then [b]he took hold of his own clothes and tore them in two pieces.

13 He also took up the mantle of Elijah that fell from him and returned and stood by the bank of the Jordan.

14 He took the mantle of Elijah that fell from him and struck the waters and said, "Where is the LORD, the God of Elijah?" And when he also had [a]struck the waters, they were divided here and there; and Elisha crossed over.

Elisha Succeeds Elijah

15 Now when [a]the sons of the prophets who were at Jericho opposite him saw him, they said, "The spirit of Elijah rests on Elisha." And they came to meet him and bowed themselves to the ground before him.

16 They said to him, "Behold now, there are with your servants fifty strong men, please let them go and search for your master; perhaps [a]the Spirit of the LORD has taken him up and cast him on some mountain or into some valley." And he said, "You shall not send."

17 But when [a]they urged him until he was ashamed, he said, "Send." They sent therefore fifty men; and they searched three days but did not find him.

18 They returned to him while he was staying at Jericho; and he said to them, "Did I not say to you, 'Do not go'?"

19 Then the men of the city said to Elisha, "Behold now, the situation of this city is pleasant, as my lord sees; but the water is bad and the land [1]is unfruitful."

20 He said, "Bring me a new jar, and put salt [1]in it." So they brought it to him.

21 He went out to the spring of water and [a]threw salt [1]in it and said, "Thus says the LORD, 'I have [2]purified these waters; there shall not be from there death or [3]unfruitfulness any longer.' "

22 So the waters have been [1]purified to this day, according to the word of Elisha which he spoke.

23 Then he went up from there to Bethel; and as he was going up by the way, young lads came out from the city and [a]mocked him and said to him, "Go up, you baldhead; go up, you baldhead!"

24 When he looked behind him and saw them, he [a]cursed them in the name of the LORD. Then two female bears came out of the woods and tore up forty-two lads of [1]their number.

25 He went from there to [a]Mount Carmel, and from there he returned to Samaria.

Jehoram Meets Moab Rebellion

3 Now Jehoram the son of Ahab became king over Israel at Samaria [a]in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and reigned twelve years.

2 He did evil in the sight of the LORD, the apostate king, is the Lord's representative. The same description was later used of Elisha (13:14).

2:13 He also took up the mantle. See note on v. 8. Possession of Elijah's cloak symbolized Elisha's succession to Elijah's ministry (see 1 Kin 19:19).

2:14 when he . . . struck the waters, they were divided. See v. 8. The Lord authenticated Elisha's succession to Elijah's ministry and demonstrated that the same divine power that had accompanied Elijah's ministry was now operative in the ministry of Elisha. In crossing the Jordan as Joshua had before him, Elisha is shown to be Elijah's "Joshua" (Elisha and Joshua are very similar names, Elisha meaning "God saves" and Joshua "The LORD saves").

2:15 bowed themselves to the ground before him. Indicated their recognition of Elisha's succession to Elijah's position. Elisha was now the Lord's official representative in this time of royal apostasy.

2:16 Perhaps the Spirit of the LORD has taken him up and cast him on. Obadiah expressed the same idea years earlier (see 1 Kin 18:12). You shall not send. Elisha knew their search would be fruitless.

2:17 Send. When the company of prophets refused to be satisfied with Elisha's answer, he permitted them to go so that the authority and truth of his words would be confirmed to them.

2:19 city. Evidently Jericho (see v. 18). the water is bad and the land is unfruitful. The inhabitants of Jericho were experiencing the effects of the covenant curse (contrast Deut 28:15–18 with Ex 23:25–26; Lev 26:9; Deut 28:1–4). See 1 Kin 16:34; Josh 6:26.

2:20 new jar. That which was to be used in the service of the Lord was to be undefiled by profane use (see Lev 1:3,10; Num 19:2; Deut 21:3; 1 Sam 6:7). put salt in it. Elisha may have used salt because of its known preservative qualities, but it is more likely that he used it to symbolize the covenant faithfulness of the Lord (see note on Num 18:19; see also 2 Chr 13:5).

2:21 I have purified these waters. Any idea of a magical effect of the salt in the purification of the water is excluded by the explicit statement that the Lord Himself healed the water. In this symbolic way Elisha was able, as the first act of his ministry, to proclaim to the people that in spite of their disobedience the Lord was merciful and was still reaching out to them in His grace (see 13:23).

2:23 Go up. Since Bethel was the royal cult center of the northern kings (1 Kin 12:29; Amos 7:13) and Elijah and Elisha were known to frequent Samaria (perhaps even as their main residence; see note on 5:3), the youths from Bethel no doubt assumed that Elisha was going up to Samaria to continue Elijah's struggle against royal apostasy. (Some believe that the youths, in their mocking, were telling Elisha to ascend to heaven as Elijah had done.) you baldhead! Baldness was uncommon among the ancient Jews, and luxuriant hair seems to have been viewed as a sign of strength and vigor (see note on 2 Sam 14:26). By calling Elisha "baldhead," the youths from Bethel expressed that city's utter disdain for the Lord's representative, who, they felt, had no power.

2:24 cursed them in the name of the LORD. Elisha pronounced a curse similar to the covenant curse of Lev 26:21–22. The result gave warning of the judgment that would come on the entire nation should it persist in disobedience and apostasy (see 2 Chr 36:16). Thus Elisha's first acts were indicative of his ministry that would follow: God's covenant blessings would come to those who looked to Him (vv. 19–22), but God's covenant curses would fall on those who turned away from Him.

3:1 Jehoram the son of Ahab became king . . . in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat. See note on 1:17. twelve years. 852–841 B.C.

though not like his father and his mother; for [a]he put away the sacred pillar of Baal [b]which his father had made.

3 Nevertheless, [a]he clung to the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [b]which he made Israel sin; he did not depart from them.

4 Now Mesha king of Moab was a sheep breeder, and [a]used to pay the king of Israel 100,000 lambs and the wool of 100,000 rams.

5 But [a]when Ahab died, the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel.

6 And King Jehoram went out of Samaria [1]at that time and mustered all Israel.

7 Then he went and sent word to Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, saying, "The king of Moab has rebelled against me. Will you go with me to fight against Moab?" And he said, "I will go up; [a]I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses."

8 He said, "Which way shall we go up?" And he [1]answered, "The way of the wilderness of Edom."

9 So [a]the king of Israel went with [b]the king of Judah and [c]the king of Edom; and they made a circuit of seven days' journey, and there was no water for the army or for the cattle that followed them.

10 Then the king of Israel said, "Alas! For the LORD has called these three kings to give them into the hand of Moab."

11 But Jehoshaphat said, "[a]Is there not a prophet of the LORD here, that we may inquire of the LORD by him?" And one of the king of Israel's servants answered and said, "[b]Elisha the son of Shaphat is here, [c]who used to pour water on the hands of Elijah."

12 Jehoshaphat said, "The word of the LORD is with him." So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat and the king of Edom went down to him.

13 Now Elisha said to the king of Israel, "What do I have to do with you? [a]Go to the prophets of your father and to the prophets of your mother." And the king of Israel said to him, "No, for the LORD has called these three kings together to give them into the hand of Moab."

14 Elisha said, "[a]As the LORD of hosts lives, before whom I stand, were it not that I regard the presence of Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, I would not look at you nor see you.

15 "But now [a]bring me a minstrel." And it came about, when the minstrel played, that [b]the hand of the LORD came upon him.

16 He said, "Thus says the LORD, 'Make this valley full of trenches.'

17 "For thus says the LORD, 'You shall not see wind nor shall you see rain; yet that valley [a]shall be filled with water, so that you shall drink, both you and your cattle and your beasts.

18 'This is but a [a]slight thing in the sight of the LORD; He will also give the Moabites into your hand.

19 '[a]Then you shall strike every fortified city and every choice city, and fell every good tree and stop all springs of water, and mar every good piece of land with stones.' "

From 10:27 it appears that this stone was later reinstated, perhaps by Jezebel.

3:3 sins of Jeroboam . . . which he made Israel sin. See note on 1 Kin 14:16.

3:4 Mesha king of Moab. See note on 1:1. 100,000 lambs and the wool of 100,000 rams. The heavy annual tribute (see Is 16:1) that Israel required from the Moabites as a vassal state.

3:5 king of Moab rebelled. See note on 1:1.

3:7 Will you go with me to fight against Moab? Jehoram wished to attack Moab from the rear (v. 8), but to do that his army had to pass through Judah. I am as you are, my people as your people, my horses as your horses. See 1 Kin 22:4. Jehoshaphat had already been condemned by prophets of the Lord for his alliance with the northern kings Ahab (see 2 Chr 18:1; 19:1–2) and Ahaziah (2 Chr 20:35–37), yet he agreed to join with Jehoram against Moab. Perhaps he was disturbed by the potential danger to Judah posed by the growing strength of Moab (see 2 Chr 20), and he may have considered Jehoram less evil than his predecessors (see v. 2).

3:8 the way of the wilderness of Edom. This route of attack took the armies of Israel and Judah south of the Dead Sea, enabling them to circumvent the fortifications of Moab's northern frontier and to avoid the possibility of a rearguard action against them by the Arameans of Damascus. The Edomites, who were subject to Judah, were in no position to resist the movement of Israel's army through their territory.

3:9 king of Edom. Although here designated a king, he was in reality a governor appointed by Jehoshaphat (see 8:20; 1 Kin 22:47).

3:11 Is there not a prophet of the LORD here . . . ? See 1 Kin 22:7. Only after the apparent failure of their own strategies did the three rulers seek the word of the Lord (v. 12). Elisha the son of Shaphat is here. Since Elijah is reported to have sent a letter to Jehoshaphat's son Jehoram after his father's death (2 Chr 21:12–15), it seems that Elisha accompanied the armies on this campaign as the representative of the aged Elijah. The event is narrated here after the account of Elisha's initiation as Elijah's successor and the two events that foreshadowed the character of his ministry. Following this introduction to Elisha's ministry, the present episode is topically associated with the series of Elisha's acts that now occupies the narrative.

3:13 Go to the prophets of your father and . . . mother. See 1 Kin 22:6.

3:14 were it not that I regard . . . Jehoshaphat . . . I would not look at you. Jehoram will share in the blessing of the word of God only because of his association with Jehoshaphat.

3:15 bring me a minstrel. To create a disposition conducive to receiving the word of the Lord.

3:16 this valley. The Israelite armies were encamped in the broad valley (the Arabah) between the highlands of Moab on the east and those of Judah on the west, just south of the Dead Sea.

3:17 shall be filled with water. The word of the Lord contained a promise and a directive. The Lord will graciously provide for His people, but they must respond to His word in faith and obedience (v. 16).

3:19 The two armies will devastate the rebellious country.

20 It happened in the morning [a]about the time of offering the sacrifice, that behold, water came by the way of Edom, and the country was filled with water.

21 Now all the Moabites heard that the kings had come up to fight against them. And all who were able to [1]put on armor and older were summoned and stood on the border.

22 They rose early in the morning, and the sun shone on the water, and the Moabites saw the water opposite them as red as blood.

23 Then they said, "This is blood; the kings have surely fought together, and they have slain one another. Now therefore, Moab, to the spoil!"

24 But when they came to the camp of Israel, the Israelites arose and struck the Moabites, so that they fled before them; and they went forward [1]into the land, [2]slaughtering the Moabites.

25 [a]Thus they destroyed the cities; and each one threw a stone on every piece of good land and filled it. So they stopped all the springs of water and felled all the good trees, until in [b]Kir-hareseth only they left its stones; however, the slingers went about it and struck it.

26 When the king of Moab saw that the battle was too fierce for him, he took with him 700 men who drew swords, to break through to the king of Edom; but they could not.

27 Then he took his oldest son who was to reign in his place, and [a]offered him as a burnt offering on the wall. And there came great wrath against Israel, and they departed from him and returned to their own land.

The Widow's Oil

4 Now a certain woman of the wives of [a]the sons of the prophets cried out to [1]Elisha, "Your servant my husband is dead, and you know that your servant feared the LORD; and [b]the creditor has come to take my two children to be his slaves."

2 Elisha said to her, "What shall I do for you? Tell me, what do you have in the house?" And she said, "Your maidservant has nothing in the house except [a]a jar of oil."

3 Then he said, "Go, borrow vessels at large for yourself from all your neighbors, even empty vessels; do not get a few.

4 "And you shall go in and shut the door behind you and your sons, and pour out into all these vessels, and you shall set aside what is full."

5 So she went from him and shut the door behind her and her sons; they were bringing the vessels to her and she poured.

6 When [a]the vessels were full, she said to her son, "Bring me another vessel." And he said to her, "There is not one vessel more." And the oil stopped.

7 Then she came and told [a]the man of God. And he said, "Go, sell the oil and pay your debt, and you and your sons can live on the rest."

The Shunammite Woman

8 Now there came a day when Elisha passed over to [a]Shunem, where there was a [1]prominent woman, and she persuaded him to eat [2]food. And so it was, as often as he passed by, he turned in there to eat [2]food.

9 She said to her husband, "Behold now, I perceive that this is a holy [a]man of God passing by us continually.

10 "Please, let us [a]make a little walled upper chamber and let us set a bed for him there, and a table and a chair and a lampstand; and it shall be, when he comes to us, that he can turn in there."

3:20 time of offering. See Ex 29:38–39; Num 28:3–4. water came by the way of Edom. Flash floods in the distant mountains of Edom caused water to flow north through the broad, usually dry, valley that sloped toward the Dead Sea (see note on v. 16).
3:23 the kings have surely . . . slain one another. The Moabites would have good reason to suspect that an internal conflict had arisen between the parties of an alliance whose members had previously been mutually hostile.
3:25 Kir-hareseth. The capital city of Moab (see Is 16:7,11; Jer 48:31,36), usually identified with present-day Kerak, located about 11 miles east of the Dead Sea and 15 miles south of the Arnon River.
3:26 break through to the king of Edom. A desperate attempt by the king of Moab to induce Edom to turn against Israel and Judah.
3:27 offered him as a burnt offering on the wall. King Mesha offered his oldest son, the crown prince, as a burnt offering (see 16:3; Jer 7:31) to the Moabite god Chemosh (see 1 Kin 11:7; Num 21:29; Jer 48:46) in an attempt to induce the deity to come to his aid. there came great wrath against Israel. The Hebrew underlying this clause would normally refer to a visitation of God's wrath. It may be that just when total victory appeared to be in Israel's grasp, God's displeasure with the Ahab dynasty showed itself in some way that caused the Israelite kings to give up the campaign. Comparing Aramaic and later Hebrew usage, a few scholars suggest that the Hebrew here can be translated, "There was great dismay upon/in Israel."
4:1 sons of the prophets. See notes on 2:3; 1 Kin 20:35. to take my two children to be his slaves. Servitude as a means of debt payment by labor was permitted in the Mosaic law (Ex 21:1–2; Lev 25:39–41; Deut 15:1–11). It appears that the practice was much abused (see Neh 5:5,8; Amos 2:6; 8:6), even though the law limited the term of such bondage and required that those so held be treated as hired workers.
4:4 shut the door behind you and your sons. The impending miracle was not intended to be a public sensation but to demonstrate privately God's mercy and grace to this widow (cf. Ps 68:5). She did not hesitate to respond to the instructions of the Lord's prophet in faith and obedience.
4:8 Shunem. See note on 1 Kin 1:3.
4:9 holy man of God. The woman recognized that Elisha was a person set apart to the Lord's work in a very special sense. Nowhere else in the OT is the term "holy" applied to a prophet.
4:10 when he comes to us . . . he can turn in there. By her hospitality the woman was able to assist in sustaining the proclamation of God's word through Elisha.

11 [1]One day he came there and turned in to the upper chamber and [2]rested.

12 Then he said to [a]Gehazi his servant, "Call this Shunammite." And when he had called her, she stood before him.

13 He said to him, "Say now to her, 'Behold, you have been [1]careful for us with all this [2]care; what can I do for you? Would you be spoken for to the king or to the captain of the army?' " And she [3]answered, "I live among my own people."

14 So he said, "What then is to be done for her?" And Gehazi [1]answered, "Truly she has no son and her husband is old."

15 He said, "Call her." When he had called her, she stood in the doorway.

16 Then he said, "[a]At this season [1]next year you will embrace a son." And she said, "No, my lord, O man of God, [b]do not lie to your maidservant."

17 The woman conceived and bore a son at that season [1]the next year, as Elisha had said to her.

The Shunammite's Son

18 When the child was grown, the day came that he went out to his father to the reapers.

19 He said to his father, "My head, my head." And he said to his servant, "Carry him to his mother."

20 When he had taken him and brought him to his mother, he sat on her [1]lap until noon, and then died.

21 She went up and [a]laid him on the bed of [b]the man of God, and shut the door behind him and went out.

22 Then she called to her husband and said, "Please send me one of the servants and one of the donkeys, that I may run to the man of God and return."

23 He said, "Why will you go to him today? It is neither [a]new moon nor sabbath." And she said, "It will be well."

24 Then she saddled a donkey and said to her servant, "Drive and go forward; do not slow down [1]the pace for me unless I tell you."

25 So she went and came to the man of God to [a]Mount Carmel.

When the man of God saw her at a distance, he said to Gehazi his servant, "Behold, [1]there is the Shunammite.

26 "Please run now to meet her and say to her, 'Is it well with you? Is it well with your husband? Is it well with the child?' " And she [1]answered, "It is well."

27 When she came to the man of God [a]to the hill, she caught hold of his feet. And Gehazi came near to push her away; but the man of God said, "Let her alone, for her soul is [1]troubled within her; and the LORD has hidden it from me and has not told me."

28 Then she said, "Did I ask for a son from my lord? Did I not say, '[a]Do not deceive me'?"

29 Then he said to Gehazi, "[a]Gird up your loins and [b]take my staff in your hand, and go your way; if you meet any man, do not [c]salute him, and if anyone salutes you, do not answer him; and [d]lay my staff on the lad's face."

30 The mother of the lad said, "[a]As the LORD lives and as you yourself live, I will not leave you." And he arose and followed her.

31 Then Gehazi passed on before them and laid the staff on the lad's face, but there was no sound or [1]response. So he returned

4:12 Gehazi. Referred to here for the first time; he appears to have served Elisha in some of the same ways as Elisha had served Elijah, though the two men were of drastically different character (see 5:19–27; 6:15).

4:13 I live among my own people. The Shunammite woman felt secure and content in the community of her own family and tribe, and she had no need or desire for favors from high government officials.

4:14 she has no son and her husband is old. A great disappointment because it meant that the family's name would cease and its land and possessions would pass on to others. It was also a great threat to this young wife's future in that she faced the likelihood of many years as a widow with no provider or protector—children were a widow's only social security in old age (see 8:1–6; see also note on 1 Kin 17:22).

4:16 At this season next year. See Gen 17:21; 18:14. O man of God, do not lie to your maidservant. The woman's response revealed the depths of her desire for a son and her fear of disappointment more than it showed a lack of confidence in the word of Elisha.

4:17 as Elisha had said to her. The trustworthiness of Elisha's word was confirmed, and the birth of the son was shown to be the result of God's gracious intervention in her behalf.

4:20 he . . . died. The child, given as an evidence of God's grace and the reliability of His word, was suddenly taken from the woman in a severe test of her faith. Her subsequent actions demonstrate the strength of her faith in the face of great calamity.

4:21 laid him on the bed of the man of God. In this way the woman concealed the child's death from the rest of the household while she went to seek the prophet at whose word the child had been born.

4:23 Why will you go to him today? The question suggests that it was not uncommon for the woman to go to Elisha, but that on this occasion the timing of her visit was unusual. It is neither new moon nor sabbath. The sabbath and new moon were observed by cessation from work (see notes on Gen 2:3; Ex 16:23; 20:9–10; 1 Sam 20:5; see also Lev 23:3).

4:26 It is well. The woman was determined to share her distress with no one but the prophet from whom she had received the promise of the birth of her son.

4:28 Did I not say, 'Do not deceive me'? The woman struggled with the question of why the Lord would take from her that which she had been given as a special demonstration of His grace and the trustworthiness of His word.

4:29 lay my staff on the lad's face. It appears that Elisha expected the Lord to restore the boy's life when the staff was placed on him. This does not suggest that Elisha attributed magical power to the staff, but that he viewed it as a representation of his own presence and a symbol of divine power (see note on 2:8; cf. Ex 14:16; Acts 19:12).

4:30 I will not leave you. The woman was not convinced that to meet him and told [2]him, "The lad [a]has not awakened."

32 When Elisha came into the house, behold the lad was dead and laid on his bed.

33 So he entered and [a]shut the door behind them both and prayed to the LORD.

34 And [a]he went up and lay on the child, and put his mouth on his mouth and his eyes on his eyes and his hands on his hands, and he stretched himself on him; and the flesh of the child became warm.

35 Then he returned and walked in the house once back and forth, and went up and [a]stretched himself on him; and the lad sneezed seven times and the lad opened his eyes.

36 He called Gehazi and said, "Call this Shunammite." So he called her. And when she came in to him, he said, "Take up your son."

37 Then she went in and fell at his feet and bowed herself to the ground, and [a]she took up her son and went out.

The Poisonous Stew

38 When Elisha returned to [a]Gilgal, there was [b]a famine in the land. [1]As [c]the sons of the prophets [d]were sitting before him, he said to his servant, "[e]Put on the large pot and boil stew for the sons of the prophets."

39 Then one went out into the field to gather herbs, and found a wild vine and gathered from it his lap full of wild gourds, and came and sliced them into the pot of stew, for they did not know what they were.

40 So they poured it out for the men to eat. And as they were eating of the stew, they cried out and said, "O man of God, there is [a]death in the pot." And they were unable to eat.

41 But he said, "Now bring meal." [a]He threw it into the pot and said, "Pour it out for the people that they may eat." Then there was no harm in the pot.

42 Now a man came from Baal-shalishah, and brought the man of God bread of the first fruits, twenty loaves of barley and fresh ears of grain in his sack. And he said, "[a]Give them to the people that they may eat."

43 His attendant said, "What, [a]will I set this before a hundred men?" But he said, "Give them to the people that they may eat, for thus says the LORD, 'They shall eat and have some left over.' "

44 So he set it before them, and they ate and [a]had some left over, according to the word of the LORD.

Naaman Is Healed

5 Now [a]Naaman, captain of the army of the king of Aram, was a great man [1]with his master, and highly respected, because by him the LORD had given victory to Aram. The man was also a valiant warrior, but he was a leper.

2 Now the Arameans had gone out [a]in bands and had taken captive a little girl from the land of Israel; and she [1]waited on Naaman's wife.

3 She said to her mistress, "I wish that my master were [1]with the prophet who is in Samaria! Then he would cure him of his leprosy."

Gehazi's mission would be successful and insisted that Elisha himself accompany her to Shunem.

4:33 shut the door behind them both and prayed. Just as Elijah had done in a similar situation years before (see 1 Kin 17:20–22), Elisha first turned to the Lord in earnest prayer for restoration of life to the dead child. His prayer is clear evidence that his subsequent actions were not intended as a magical means of restoring life.

4:34 lay on the child. See note on 1 Kin 17:21. Perhaps Elisha was familiar with the earlier similar action of Elijah.

4:37 fell at his feet and bowed herself to the ground. The woman gratefully acknowledged the special favor granted to her by the Lord through Elisha, and silently reaffirmed the verbal confession of the widow of Zarephath (see 1 Kin 17:24).

4:38 famine in the land. Perhaps the same famine mentioned in 8:1. Famine was a covenant curse (see Lev 26:19–20,26; Deut 28:18,23–24; 1 Kin 8:36–37) and evidence of God's anger with His people's disobedience to their covenant obligations. sons of the prophets. See note on 2:3.

4:39 wild vine . . . gourds. The precise type of plant is not specified.

4:41 meal. The flour itself did not make the stew edible (see 2:21 and note). It was simply a means by which the Lord provided for those who were faithful to the covenant, at a time when others suffered under the covenant curse.

4:42 first fruits. Instead of bringing the first fruits of the new harvest (see Lev 2:14; 23:15–17; Deut 18:3–5) to the apostate priests at Bethel and Dan (see 1 Kin 12:28–31), godly people in the northern kingdom may have contributed their offerings for the sustenance of Elisha and those associated with him (see note on v. 23). Thus they looked upon Elisha rather than the apostate king and priests as the true representative of their covenant Lord.

4:43 says the LORD. The bread was multiplied at the word of the Lord through Elisha apart from any intermediate means (contrast v. 41; 2:20; cf. Mark 6:35–43).

5:1 king of Aram. Probably Ben-hadad II (see notes on 8:7; 13:3; 1 Kin 20:1). the LORD had given victory to Aram. Probably a reference to an otherwise undocumented Aramean victory over the Assyrians in the aftermath of the battle of Qarqar in 853 B.C. (see note on 1 Kin 22:1). In the narrator's theological perspective, this victory is attributable to the sovereignty of the God of Israel, who is seen as the ruler and controller of the destinies of all nations, not just that of Israel (see Ezek 30:24; Amos 2:1–3; 9:7). leper. The Hebrew word was used for various diseases affecting the skin—not necessarily leprosy.

5:2 gone out in bands. Although Israel had concluded a peace treaty with the Arameans during the reign of Ahab (see 1 Kin 20:34), minor border skirmishes continued between the two states in the aftermath of the battle for control of Ramoth-gilead, in which Ahab had been killed (see note on 1 Kin 22:4; see also 1 Kin 22:35). little girl from the land of Israel. In sharp contrast to the Israelite king in Samaria, this young girl held captive in Damascus was very much aware of God's saving presence with His people through His servant Elisha, and she selflessly shared that knowledge with her Aramean captors.

5:3 prophet who is in Samaria. Elisha, who maintained a residence in Samaria (see v. 9; 2:25; 6:19).

4 [1]Naaman went in and told his master, saying, "Thus and thus spoke the girl who is from the land of Israel."

5 Then the king of Aram said, "Go [1]now, and I will send a letter to the king of Israel." He departed and [a]took with him ten talents of silver and six thousand shekels of gold and ten [b]changes of clothes.

6 He brought the letter to the king of Israel, saying, "And now as this letter comes to you, behold, I have sent Naaman my servant to you, that you may cure him of his leprosy."

7 When the king of Israel read the letter, [a]he tore his clothes and said, "[b]Am I God, to kill and to make alive, that this man is sending word to me to cure a man of his leprosy? But [c]consider now, and see how he is seeking [1]a quarrel against me."

8 It happened when Elisha [a]the man of God heard that the king of Israel had torn his clothes, that he sent word to the king, saying, "Why have you torn your clothes? Now let him come to me, and he shall know that there is a prophet in Israel."

9 So Naaman came with his horses and his chariots and stood at the doorway of the house of Elisha.

10 Elisha sent a messenger to him, saying, "[a]Go and wash in the Jordan seven times, and your flesh will be restored to you and you will be clean."

11 But Naaman was furious and went away and said, "Behold, I [1]thought, 'He will surely come out to me and stand and call on the name of the LORD his God, and wave his hand over the place and cure the leper.'

12 "Are not [1]Abanah and Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? Could I not wash in them and be clean?" So he turned and [a]went away in a rage.

13 [a]Then his servants came near and spoke to him and said, "[b]My father, had the prophet told you to do some great thing, would you not have done it? How much more then, when he says to you, 'Wash, and be clean'?"

14 So he went down and dipped himself seven times in the Jordan, according to the word of the man of God; and [a]his flesh was restored like the flesh of a little child and [b]he was clean.

Gehazi's Greed

15 When he returned to the man of God [1]with all his company, and came and stood before him, he said, "Behold now, [a]I know that there is no God in all the earth, but in Israel; so please [b]take a [2]present from your servant now."

16 But he said, "[a]As the LORD lives, before whom I stand, [b]I will take nothing." And he urged him to take it, but he refused.

5:5 I will send a letter to the king of Israel. The border skirmishes had not nullified the official peace between the two nations as established by treaty. The king of Israel was Jehoram (see 1:17; 3:1; 9:24). ten talents of silver. About 750 pounds of silver. An idea of the relative value of this amount of silver can be seen by comparing it with the price Omri paid for the hill of Samaria (see 1 Kin 16:24).

5:6 that you may cure him of his leprosy. Ben-hadad assumed that the prophet described by the Israelite slave girl was subject to the authority of the king and that his services could be bought with a sufficiently large gift. He thought he could buy with worldly wealth one of the chief blessings of God's saving presence among His people.

5:7 he is seeking a quarrel against me. Jehoram concluded that the entire incident was an attempt by Ben-hadad to create a pretext for a declaration of war. So blind was the king to God's saving presence through Elisha that he could think only of international intrigue.

5:8 Why have you torn your clothes? Elisha chided Jehoram for his fear (see note on 1 Sam 17:11) and for his failure to consult the Lord's prophet (see 3:13–14 for evidence of the tension that existed between Jehoram and Elisha).

5:9 with his horses and his chariots. This proud pagan would command the healing by his lordly presence.

5:10 wash in the Jordan seven times. The instruction is designed to demonstrate to Naaman that healing would come by the power of the God of Israel, but only if he obeyed the word of the Lord's prophet. The prophet himself was not a healer. Ritual washings were practiced among Eastern religions as a purification rite, and the number seven was generally known as a symbol of completeness. Naaman was to wash in the muddy waters of the Jordan River, demonstrating that there was no natural connection between the washing and the desired healing. Perhaps it also suggested that one needed to pass through the Jordan, as Israel had done (Josh 3–4), in order to obtain healing from the God of Israel.

5:11 wave his hand over the place and cure the leper. Naaman expected to be healed by the magical technique of the prophet rather than by the power of God operative in connection with his own obedient response to God's word.

5:12 Abanah and Pharpar. The Abanah was termed the Golden River by the Greeks. It is usually identified with the Barada River of today, rising in the Anti-Lebanon mountains and flowing through the city of Damascus. The Pharpar River flows east from Mount Hermon just to the south of Damascus.

5:14 his flesh was restored like the flesh of a little child and he was clean. Physically he was reborn (see also v. 15 and note). As he obeyed God's word, Naaman received the gift of God's grace. Naaman is here a sign to disobedient Israel that God's blessing is found only in the path of trustful obedience. When His own people turn away from covenant faithfulness, God will raise up those who will follow His word from outside the covenant nation (see notes on 1 Kin 17:9–24; see also Matt 8:10–12; Luke 4:27).

5:15 no God in all the earth, but in Israel. Naaman's confession put to shame the Israelites who continued to waver in their opinion on whether Baal and the Lord (Yahweh) were both gods, or whether Yahweh alone was God (see note on 1 Kin 18:21).

5:16 I will take nothing. Elisha did not seek monetary gain for proclaiming the word of the Lord (see Matt 10:8). Naaman was healed solely by divine grace, not by the power of Elisha.

5:17 let your servant at least be given two mules' load of earth. In the ancient world it was commonly thought that a deity could be worshiped only on the soil of the nation to which he burnt offering nor will he sacrifice to other gods, but to the LORD.

18 "In this matter may the LORD pardon your servant: when my master goes into the house of Rimmon to worship there, and [a]he leans on my hand and I bow myself in the house of Rimmon, when I bow myself in the house of Rimmon, the LORD pardon your servant in this matter."

19 He said to him, "[a]Go in peace." So he departed from him some distance.

20 But [a]Gehazi, the servant of Elisha the man of God, [1]thought, "Behold, my master has spared this Naaman the Aramean, [2]by not receiving from his hands what he brought. [b]As the LORD lives, I will run after him and take something from him."

21 So Gehazi pursued Naaman. When Naaman saw one running after him, he came down from the chariot to meet him and said, "Is all well?"

22 He said, "[a]All is well. My master has sent me, saying, 'Behold, just now two young men of the sons of the prophets have come to me from [b]the hill country of Ephraim. Please give them a talent of silver and [c]two changes of clothes.' "

23 Naaman said, "[a]Be pleased to take two talents." And he urged him, and bound two talents of silver in two bags with two changes of clothes and gave them to two of his servants; and they carried them before him.

24 When he came to the [1]hill, he took them from their hand and [a]deposited them in the house, and he sent the men away, and they departed.

25 But he went in and stood before his master. And Elisha said to him, "Where have you been, Gehazi?" And he said, "[a]Your servant went nowhere."

26 Then he said to him, "Did not my heart go with you, when the man turned from his chariot to meet you? [a]Is it a time to receive money and to receive clothes and olive groves and vineyards and sheep and oxen and male and female servants?

27 "Therefore, the leprosy of Naaman shall cling to you and to your [1]descendants forever." So he went out from his presence [a]a leper as white as snow.

The Axe Head Recovered

6 Now [a]the sons of the prophets said to Elisha, "Behold now, the place before you where we are living is too limited for us.

2 "Please let us go to the Jordan and each of us take from there a beam, and let us make a place there for ourselves where we may live." So he said, "Go."

3 Then one said, "Please be willing to go with your servants." And he [1]answered, "I shall go."

4 So he went with them; and when they came to the Jordan, they cut down trees.

5 But as one was felling a beam, [1]the axe head fell into the water; and he cried out and said, "Alas, my master! For it was borrowed."

6 Then the man of God said, "Where did it fall?" And when he showed him the place, [a]he cut off a stick and threw it in there, and made the iron float.

7 He said, "Take it up for yourself." So he put out his hand and took it.

was bound (see v. 15). For this reason Naaman wanted to take Israelite soil with him in order to have a place in Damascus for the worship of the Lord.

5:18 my master. Ben-hadad, king of Aram. Rimmon. Also known as Hadad (and in Canaan and Phoenicia as Baal), this Aramean deity was the god of storm ("Rimmon" means "thunderer") and war. The two names were sometimes combined (see note on Zech 12:11).

5:19 Go in peace. Elisha did not directly address Naaman's problem of conscience (v. 18), but commended him to the leading and grace of God as he returned to his pagan environment and official responsibilities.

5:20 As the LORD lives. An oath formula (see note on 1 Sam 14:39).

5:22 sons of the prophets. See note on 2:3. Please give them a talent of silver and two changes of clothes. Gehazi deceived Naaman in order to satisfy his desire for material gain. The evil of his lie was compounded in that it obscured the gracious character of the Lord's work in Naaman's healing and blurred the distinction between Elisha's function as a true prophet of the Lord and the self-serving actions of false prophets and pagan soothsayers.

5:24 house. Of Elisha (see v. 9).

5:26 Is it a time to receive money . . . ? Gehazi sought to use the grace of God granted to another individual for his own material advantage. This was equivalent to making merchandise of God's grace (see note on 2 Cor 2:17). "Money" here and elsewhere in 2 Kings refers to gold or silver in various weights, not to coins, which were a later invention. clothes . . . female servants. Evidently what Gehazi secretly hoped to acquire with the two talents of silver (see note on v. 5).

5:27 leprosy. See note on v. 1. to you and to your descendants forever. For the extension of punishment to the children of an offender of God's law see Ex 20:5 and note; see also note on Josh 7:24. white as snow. See Ex 4:6.

6:1 sons of the prophets. See note on 2:3.

6:2 a place there for ourselves where we may live. Some have suggested that the company of prophets lived in a communal housing structure. The Hebrew for this phrase, however, could be translated "a place there for us to sit," referring to some type of assembly hall. It is implied in 4:1–7 that there were separate dwellings for the members of the prophetic companies (see note on 1 Sam 19:18).

6:5 it was borrowed. At that time an iron axe head was a costly tool, too expensive for the members of the prophetic company to purchase. Having lost it, the borrower faced the prospect of having to work off the value as a bondservant.

6:6 he cut off a stick and threw it in there, and made the iron float. The Lord demonstrated here His concern for the welfare of His faithful ones.

6:8 king of Aram. Probably Ben-hadad II (see note on 5:1). warring against Israel. A reference to border clashes rather than full-servants saying, "In such and such a place shall be my camp."

9 [a]The man of God sent word to the king of Israel saying, "Beware that you do not pass this place, for the Arameans are coming down there."

10 The king of Israel sent to the place about which the man of God had told him; thus he warned him, so that he guarded himself there, [1]more than once or twice.

11 Now the heart of the king of Aram was enraged over this thing; and he called his servants and said to them, "Will you tell me which of us is for the king of Israel?"

12 One of his servants said, "No, my lord, O king; but Elisha, the prophet who is in Israel, tells the king of Israel the words that you speak in your bedroom."

13 So he said, "Go and see where he is, that I may send and take him." And it was told him, saying, "Behold, he is in [a]Dothan."

14 He sent horses and chariots and a great army there, and they came by night and surrounded the city.

15 Now when the attendant of the man of God had risen early and gone out, behold, an army with horses and chariots was circling the city. And his servant said to him, "Alas, my master! [1]What shall we do?"

16 So he [1]answered, "[a]Do not fear, for [b]those who are with us are more than those who are with them."

17 Then Elisha prayed and said, "[a]O LORD, I pray, open his eyes that he may see." And the LORD opened the servant's eyes and he saw; and behold, the mountain was full of [b]horses and chariots of fire all around Elisha.

18 When they came down to him, Elisha prayed to the LORD and said, "Strike this [1]people with blindness, I pray." So He [a]struck them with blindness according to the word of Elisha.

19 Then Elisha said to them, "This is not the way, nor is this the city; follow me and I will bring you to the man whom you seek." And he brought them to Samaria.

20 When they had come into Samaria, Elisha said, "O [a]LORD, open the eyes of these men, that they may see." So the LORD opened their eyes and they saw; and behold, they were in the midst of Samaria.

21 Then the king of Israel when he saw them, said to Elisha, "[a]My father, shall I [1]kill them? Shall I [1]kill them?"

22 He [1]answered, "You shall not [2]kill them. Would you [2a]kill those you have taken captive with your sword and with your bow? [b]Set bread and water before them, that they may eat and drink and go to their master."

23 So he prepared a great feast for them; and when they had eaten and drunk he sent them away, and they went to their master. And [a]the marauding bands of Arameans did not come again into the land of Israel.

The Siege of Samaria—Cannibalism

24 Now it came about after this, that [a]Ben-hadad king of Aram gathered all his army and went up and besieged Samaria.

25 There was a great [a]famine in Samaria; and behold, they besieged it, until a donkey's head was sold for eighty shekels of silver, and a fourth of a [1]kab of dove's dung for five shekels of silver.

scale hostility (see v. 23; see also note on 5:2). Some indication of Israelite weakness and Aramean strength is seen in the ability of the Arameans to send forces to Dothan (only about 11 miles north of Samaria) without apparent difficulty (see vv. 13–14).

6:9 man of God. Elisha (see v. 10). king of Israel. Probably Jehoram (see 1:17; 3:1; 9:24).

6:11 which of us is for the king of Israel? Repeated evidence that Israel possessed advance knowledge of Aramean military plans led the king of Aram to suspect that there was a traitor among his top officials.

6:12 king of Israel. Jehoram (see 3:1).

6:13 take him. The king of Aram thought he could eliminate Elisha's influence by denying him contact with Israel's king. Dothan. Located on a hill about halfway between Jezreel and Samaria, where the main royal residences were (see 1:2; 3:1; 8:29; 9:15; 10:1; 1 Kin 21:1).

6:16 those who are with us are more than those who are with them. Elisha knew that there was greater strength in the unseen reality of the hosts of heaven than in the visible reality of the Aramean forces (see 2 Chr 32:7–8; Ps 34:7; 1 John 4:4).

6:17 he saw . . . the mountain was full of horses and chariots. In response to Elisha's prayer, his servant was able to see the protecting might of the heavenly hosts gathered about Elisha (see Gen 32:1–2; Ps 34:7; 91:11–12; Matt 18:10; 26:53; see also note on 2 Kin 2:11).

6:18 Strike this people with blindness. Elisha had prayed for the eyes of his servant to be opened to the unseen reality of the heavenly hosts; now he prays for the eyes of the Aramean soldiers to be closed to earthly reality (see Gen 19:11).

6:19 This is not the way, nor is this the city. Elisha's statement led the Aramean soldiers to believe that they were being directed to the city where Elisha could be found. Technically this statement was not an untruth, since Elisha accompanied them to Samaria, but it was a means of deceiving the Aramean soldiers into a trap inside Samaria, the fortress-like capital city of the northern kingdom (see Ex 1:19–20; Josh 2:6; 1 Sam 16:1–2 for other instances of deception recorded in the OT).

6:20 they were in the midst of Samaria. The power of the Lord operative through Elisha turned the intended captors into captives.

6:21 king of Israel. Jehoram (see note on v. 9).

6:22 You shall not kill them. In reality the Aramean soldiers had been taken captive by the power of the Lord, not by Jehoram's military prowess. The Lord's purpose was to demonstrate to them and their king and to the Israelites and their king that Israel's national security ultimately was grounded in the Lord, not in military forces or strategies.

6:23 bands of Arameans did not come again into the land of Israel. See notes on v. 8; 5:2. Temporarily the Arameans recognized the futility of opposition to the power of the God of Israel.

6:24 Ben-hadad. The same Ben-hadad who had besieged Samaria on a previous occasion (see notes on 13:3; 1 Kin 20:1). This siege is probably to be dated c. 850 B.C.

6:25 donkey's head. According to Pentateuchal law the donkey was unclean and not to be eaten (see Lev 11:2–7; Deut 14:4–8). The severity of the famine caused the inhabitants of Samaria

26 As the king of Israel was passing by on the wall a woman cried out to him, saying, "Help, my lord, O king!"

27 He said, "[1]If the LORD does not help you, from where shall I help you? From the threshing floor, or from the wine press?"

28 And the king said to her, "[a]What [1]is the matter with you?" And she [2]answered, "This woman said to me, 'Give your son that we may eat him today, and we will eat my son tomorrow.'

29 "[a]So we boiled my son and ate him; and I said to her on the next day, 'Give your son, that we may eat him'; but she has hidden her son."

30 When the king heard the words of the woman, [a]he tore his clothes—now he was passing by on the wall—and the people looked, and behold, he had sackcloth [1]beneath on his [2]body.

31 Then he said, "May [a]God do so to me and more also, if the head of Elisha the son of Shaphat [1]remains on him today."

32 Now Elisha was sitting in his house, and [a]the elders were sitting with him. And the king sent a man from his presence; but before the messenger came to him, he said to the elders, "Do you [b]see how this son of a murderer has sent to take away my head? Look, when the messenger comes, shut the door and [1]hold the door shut against him. Is not the sound of his master's feet behind him?"

33 While he was still talking with them, behold, the messenger came down to him and he said, "[a]Behold, this evil is from the LORD; why should I wait for the LORD any longer?"

Elisha Promises Food

7 Then Elisha said, "Listen to the word of the LORD; thus says the LORD, '[a]Tomorrow about this time a [1]measure of fine flour will be sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel, in the gate of Samaria.' "

2 [a]The royal officer on whose hand the king was leaning answered the man of God and said, "Behold, [b]if the LORD should make windows in heaven, could this thing be?" Then he said, "Behold, you will see it with your own eyes, but you will not eat [1]of it."

Four Lepers Relate Arameans' Flight

3 Now there were four [a]leprous men at the entrance of the gate; and they said to one another, "Why do we sit here until we die?

4 "If we say, 'We will enter the city,' then the famine is in the city and we will die there; and if we sit here, we die also. Now therefore come, and let us [1]go over to [a]the camp of the Arameans. If they spare us, we will live; and if they kill us, we will but die."

5 They arose at twilight to go to the camp of the Arameans; when they came to the outskirts of the camp of the Arameans, behold, there was no one there.

6 For [a]the Lord had caused the army of the Arameans to hear a sound of chariots and a sound of horses, even the sound of a great army, so that they said to one another, "Behold, the king of Israel has hired against us [b]the kings of the Hittites and [c]the kings of the Egyptians, to come upon us."

7 Therefore they [a]arose and fled in the twilight, and left their tents and their horses and their donkeys, even the camp just as it was, and fled for their life.

8 When these lepers came to the outskirts of the camp, they entered one tent and ate and drank, and [a]carried from there silver and gold and clothes, and went and hid them; and they returned and entered another tent and carried from there also, and went and hid them.

9 Then they said to one another, "We are not doing right. This day is a day of good not only to disregard the laws of uncleanness, but also to place a high value on the least edible part of the donkey. eighty shekels of silver. About two pounds of silver; see also note on 5:5.

6:27 If the LORD does not help you, from where shall I help you? Jehoram correctly recognized his own inability to assist the woman if the Lord Himself did not act in Israel's behalf, but he wrongly implied that the Lord was to be blamed for a situation brought on by Israel's own disobedience and idolatry.

6:28 we will eat my son tomorrow. The sins of the king and people were so great that the covenant curses of Lev 26:29 and Deut 28:53,57 were being inflicted (cf. Lam 4:10).

6:30 tore his clothes. More an expression of anger toward Elisha and the Lord (see v. 31) than one of repentance and sorrow for the sins that had provoked the covenant curse. sackcloth. A coarse cloth usually worn as a sign of mourning (see note on Gen 37:34). It is not clear why Jehoram wore sackcloth hidden under his royal robe. Perhaps it was a testing of the Lord, a private ritual to attempt to gain divine favor.

6:31 May God do so to me and more also. A curse formula (see note on 1 Sam 3:17). if the head of Elisha . . . remains on him today. Joram considered Elisha in some way responsible for the conditions in the city. Cf. Ahab's attitude toward Elijah (1 Kin 18:10,16; 21:20).

6:32 elders. Leaders of the city (see notes on Ex 3:16; 2 Sam 3:17). They sit with Elisha rather than with the king.

6:33 why should I wait for the LORD any longer? Jehoram felt himself deceived by Elisha and abandoned by the Lord, whom he blamed for the disastrous conditions in the city.

7:1 a measure of fine flour will be sold for a shekel. See NASB marg. A seah was about seven quarts, and a shekel was about two-fifths of an ounce. This was about double the normal cost of flour, but a phenomenal improvement over the highly inflated prices the famine had caused.

7:2 windows in heaven. See v. 19; Gen 8:2; Is 24:18.

7:3 entrance of the gate. Pentateuchal law excluded persons with skin diseases from residence in the community (Lev 13:46; Num 5:2–3).

7:6 the LORD had caused the . . . Arameans to hear a sound. See 2 Sam 5:24 and note. kings of the Hittites and . . . Egyptians. Kings of small city-states ruled by dynasties of Hittite origin, which had arisen in northern Aram after the fall of the Hittite empire c. 1200 B.C.

news, but we are keeping silent; if we wait until morning light, punishment will [1]overtake us. Now therefore come, let us go and tell the king's household."

10 So they came and called to the gatekeepers of the city, and they told them, saying, "We came to the camp of the Arameans, and behold, there was no one there, nor the voice of man, only the horses tied and the donkeys tied, and the tents just as they were."

11 The gatekeepers called and told it within the king's household.

12 Then the king arose in the night and said to his servants, "I will now tell you what the Arameans have done to us. They know that [a]we are hungry; therefore they have gone from the camp [b]to hide themselves in the field, saying, 'When they come out of the city, we will capture them alive and get into the city.' "

13 One of his servants said, "Please, let some men take five of the horses which remain, which are left [1]in the city. Behold, they will be in any case like all the multitude of Israel who are left in it; behold, they will be in any case like all the multitude of Israel who have already perished, so let us send and see."

14 They took therefore two chariots with horses, and the king sent after the army of the Arameans, saying, "Go and see."

The Promise Fulfilled

15 They went after them to the Jordan, and behold, all the way was full of clothes and equipment which the Arameans had thrown away in their haste. Then the messengers returned and told the king.

16 So the people went out and plundered the camp of the Arameans. Then a [1]measure of fine flour was sold for a shekel and two [1]measures of barley for a shekel, [a]according to the word of the LORD.

17 Now the king appointed [a]the royal officer on whose hand he leaned [1]to have charge of the gate; but the people trampled on him at the gate, and he died just as the man of God had said, [b]who spoke when the king came down to him.

18 It happened just as the man of God had spoken to the king, saying, "[a]Two [1]measures of barley for a shekel and a [1]measure of fine flour for a shekel, will be sold tomorrow about this time at the gate of Samaria."

19 Then the royal officer answered the man of God and said, "Now behold, [a]if the LORD should make windows in heaven, could such a thing be?" And he said, "Behold, you will see it with your own eyes, but you will not eat [1]of it."

20 And so it happened to him, for the people trampled on him at the gate and he died.

Jehoram Restores the Shunammite's Land

8 Now [a]Elisha spoke to the woman whose son he had restored to life, saying, "Arise and go [1]with your household, and sojourn wherever you can sojourn; for the [b]LORD has called for a famine, and [c]it will even come on the land for seven years."

2 So the woman arose and did according to the word of the man of God, and she went with her household and sojourned in the land of the Philistines seven years.

3 At the end of seven years, the woman returned from the land of the Philistines; and she went out to [1]appeal to the king for her house and for her field.

4 Now the king was talking with [a]Gehazi, the servant of the man of God, saying, "Please relate to me all the great things that Elisha has done."

5 As he was relating to the king [a]how he had restored to life the one who was dead, behold, the woman whose son he had restored to life [1]appealed to the king for her house and for her field. And Gehazi said, "My lord, O king, this is the woman and this is her son, whom Elisha restored to life."

6 When the king asked the woman, she related it to him. So the king appointed for her a certain officer, saying, "Restore all that was hers and all the produce of the field from the day that she left the land even until now."

7:12 what the Arameans have done to us. Jehoram's unbelief caused him to conclude that the report of the four leprous men was part of an Aramean war strategy rather than an evidence of the fulfillment of Elisha's prophecy (see v. 1).

7:16–20 according to the word of the LORD . . . as the man of God had said . . . as the man of God had spoken . . . so it happened to him. Emphasizing the trustworthiness of the prophetic word spoken by Elisha. In the fulfillment of Elisha's prophecy Israel was reminded that deliverance from her enemies was a gift of God's grace and that rejection of God's word provoked the wrath of divine judgment.

8:1 the LORD has called for a famine. The famine should have been perceived by the people of the northern kingdom as a covenant curse sent on them because of their sin (see note on 4:38). seven years. It is not clear whether this famine began before or after the Aramean siege of Samaria (see 4:38; 6:24–7:20).

8:2 she went with her household. Elisha's instruction enabled the woman and her family to escape the privations of the famine.

8:3 went . . . to the king. See note on 1 Kin 3:16. appeal . . . for her house and for her field. Either someone had illegally occupied the woman's property during her absence, or it had fallen to the domain of the king by virtue of its abandonment.

8:4 Gehazi. See 5:27. relate to me all the great things that Elisha has done. The king's lack of familiarity with Elisha's ministry is perhaps an indication that this incident occurred in the early days of the reign of Jehu rather than in the time of Jehoram, who had had numerous contacts with Elisha (see 3:13–14; 5:7–10; 6:10–23; 6:24–7:20). But see note on 5:7.

8:5 As he was relating to the king. The woman's approach to the king providentially coincided with Gehazi's story of her son's miraculous restoration to life through the ministry of Elisha.

8:6 Restore all that was hers. The widow and her son were living examples of the Lord's provision and blessing for those who were obedient to the word of the Lord through His prophets.

Elisha Predicts Evil from Hazael

7 Then Elisha came to [a]Damascus. Now [b]Ben-hadad king of Aram was sick, and it was told him, saying, "[c]The man of God has come here."

8 The king said to [a]Hazael, "[b]Take a gift in your hand and go to meet the man of God, and [c]inquire of the LORD by him, saying, 'Will I recover from this sickness?' "

9 So Hazael went to meet him and took a gift in his hand, even every kind of good thing of Damascus, forty camels' loads; and he came and stood before him and said, "[a]Your son Ben-hadad king of Aram has sent me to you, saying, 'Will I recover from this sickness?' "

10 Then Elisha said to him, "[a]Go, say to him, 'You will surely recover,' but the [b]LORD has shown me that he will certainly die."

11 He [1]fixed his gaze steadily on him [a]until he was ashamed, and [b]the man of God wept.

12 Hazael said, "Why does my lord weep?" Then he [1]answered, "Because [a]I know the evil that you will do to the sons of Israel: their strongholds you will set on fire, and their young men you will kill with the sword, and their little ones you [b]will dash in pieces, and their women with child you will rip up."

13 Then Hazael said, "But what is your servant, [a]who is but a dog, that he should do this great thing?" And Elisha [1]answered, "[b]The LORD has shown me that you will be king over Aram."

14 So he departed from Elisha and returned to his master, who said to him, "What did Elisha say to you?" And he [1]answered, "He told me that [a]you would surely recover."

15 On the following day, he took the cover and dipped it in water and spread it on his face, [a]so that he died. And Hazael became king in his place.

Another Jehoram Reigns in Judah

16 Now in the fifth year of [a]Joram the son of Ahab king of Israel, Jehoshaphat being then the king of Judah, Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah became king.

17 He was [a]thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

18 He walked in the way of the kings of Israel, just as the house of Ahab had done, for [a]the daughter of Ahab became his wife; and he did evil in the sight of the LORD.

19 However, the LORD was not willing to destroy Judah, for the sake of David His servant, [a]since He had [1]promised him to give a [2]lamp to him through his sons always.

20 In his days [a]Edom revolted from under the hand of Judah, and made a king over themselves.

21 Then Joram crossed over to Zair, and all his chariots with him. And he arose by night and struck the Edomites who had surrounded him and the captains of the chariots; [a]but his [1]army fled to their tents.

8:7 Elisha came to Damascus. The time had come for Elisha to carry out one of the three tasks originally given to Elijah at Mount Horeb (see notes on 1 Kin 19:15–16). The annals of the Assyrian ruler Shalmaneser III record Assyrian victories over Ben-hadad (Hadadezer) of Damascus in 846 B.C. and Hazael of Damascus in 842. Elisha's visit to Damascus is to be dated c. 843.

8:8 inquire of the LORD by him. In a reversal of the situation described in 1:1–4, a pagan king seeks an oracle from Israel's God. Will I recover . . . ? The question is the same as that of Ahaziah in 1:2.

8:9 every kind of good thing of Damascus, forty camels' loads. Damascus was the center for trade between Egypt, Asia Minor and Mesopotamia. Ben-hadad evidently thought a generous gift would favorably influence Elisha's oracle. Your son Ben-hadad. Use of father-son terminology is a tacit acknowledgment by Ben-hadad of Elisha's superiority (see 6:21; 1 Sam 25:8).

8:10 You will surely recover. An assertion that Ben-hadad's illness was not terminal (see v. 14).

8:12 evil that you will do to the sons of Israel. The Lord gave Elisha a clear picture of the severity of the judgment He was about to send on Israel by the hand of Hazael (see 9:14–16; 10:32; 12:17–18; 13:3,22). set on fire . . . their women with child you will rip up. These actions were characteristic of victorious armies at that time (see 15:16; Hos 10:14; 13:16; Amos 1:13). Elisha's words do not sanction such acts but simply describe Hazael's future attacks on Israel.

8:13 what is your servant, who is but a dog, that he should do this great thing? Hazael did not show repulsion at these violent acts but saw no possibility to gain the power necessary to accomplish them (for this metaphorical use of "dog" see note on 2 Sam 9:8). you will be king over Aram. Elisha's prophecy suggests that Hazael was not a legitimate successor to Ben-hadad. In an Assyrian inscription Hazael is designated "the son of a nobody" (i.e., a commoner) who usurped the throne.

8:15 died. Elisha's prophecy of Hazael's kingship did not legitimize the assassination. Hazael's murder of Ben-hadad as well as his future acts of violence against Israel were wicked acts arising out of his own sinful heart (see Is 10:5–19). His reign extended from c. 842 B.C. to c. 806 or 796, and he was followed by a son he named Ben-hadad (13:24).

8:16 fifth year of Joram. 848 B.C. Jehoram had been co-regent with his father since 853 (see note on 1:17), but he now began his reign as sole king.

8:17 reigned eight years in Jerusalem. Jehoram's sole reign is to be dated 848–841 B.C.

8:18 as the house of Ahab had done. Jehoram introduced Baal worship in Judah, as Ahab had done in the northern kingdom (see 11:18). Baal worship now spread to the southern kingdom at the same time it was being restricted in the northern kingdom by Ahab's son Joram (see 3:1–2). the daughter of Ahab became his wife. Jehoram's wife was Athaliah, a daughter of Ahab but probably not of Jezebel (see v. 26; 2 Chr 18:1). Athaliah's influence on Jehoram paralleled that of Jezebel on Ahab (see 1 Kin 16:31; 18:4; 19:1–2; 2 Chr 21:6).

8:19 lamp to him. See note on 1 Kin 11:36; see also Ps 132:17. The Lord spared Judah and its royal house the judgment He brought on the house of Ahab because of the covenant He had made with David (see 2 Sam 7:16,29; 2 Chr 21:7).

8:20 made a king over themselves. Previously Edom had been subject to Judah and had been ruled by a deputy (see note on 3:9; see also 1 Kin 22:47).

8:21 his army fled. Although Jehoram and his army were able 22 [a]So Edom revolted [1]against Judah to this day. Then [b]Libnah revolted at the same time.

23 The rest of the acts of Joram and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

Ahaziah Succeeds Jehoram in Judah

24 So Joram slept with his fathers and [a]was buried with his fathers in the city of David; and [b]Ahaziah his son became king in his place.

25 [a]In the twelfth year of Joram the son of Ahab king of Israel, Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah began to reign.

26 [a]Ahaziah was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Athaliah the granddaughter of Omri king of Israel.

27 [a]He walked in the way of the house of Ahab and did evil in the sight of the LORD, like the house of Ahab had done, because he was a son-in-law of the house of Ahab.

28 Then he went with Joram the son of Ahab to war against [a]Hazael king of Aram at [b]Ramoth-gilead, and the Arameans [1]wounded Joram.

29 So [a]King Joram returned to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds which the Arameans had [1]inflicted on him at [b]Ramah when he fought against Hazael king of Aram. Then [c]Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to see Joram the son of Ahab in Jezreel because he was sick.

Jehu Reigns over Israel

9 Now Elisha the prophet called one of [a]the sons of the prophets and said to him, "[b]Gird up your loins, and [c]take this flask of oil in your hand and go to [d]Ramoth-gilead.

2 "When you arrive there, [1]search out [a]Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat the son of Nimshi, and go in and [2b]bid him arise from among his brothers, and bring him to an inner room.

3 "Then take the flask of oil and pour it on his head and say, 'Thus says the LORD, "[a]I have anointed you king over Israel." ' Then open the door and flee and do not wait."

4 So [a]the young man, the servant of the prophet, went to Ramoth-gilead.

5 When he came, behold, the captains of the army were sitting, and he said, "I have a word for you, O captain." And Jehu said, "[1]For which one of us?" And he said, "For you, O captain."

6 He arose and went into the house, and he poured the oil on his head and said to him, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, '[a]I have anointed you king over the people of the LORD, even over Israel.

7 'You shall strike the house of Ahab your master, [a]that I may avenge [b]the blood of My servants the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the LORD, [c]at the hand of Jezebel.

8 'For the whole house of Ahab shall perish, and [a]I will cut off from Ahab [b]every male person [c]both bond and free in Israel.

9 '[a]I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and [b]like the house of Baasha the son of Ahijah.

10 '[a]The dogs shall eat Jezebel in the territory of Jezreel, and none shall bury her.' " Then he opened the door and fled.

11 Now Jehu came out to the servants of his master, and one said to him, "[a]Is all well? Why did this [b]mad fellow come to you?" And he said to them, "You know very well the man and his talk."

to break through an encirclement by Edomite forces, they were soundly defeated and forced to retreat to their own territory.

8:22 to this day. Until the time of the writing of the account of Jehoram's reign used by the author of 1,2 Kings (see Introduction to 1 Kings: Author, Sources and Date; see also note on 1 Kin 8:8). Later, Amaziah of Judah was able to inflict a serious defeat on Edom (14:7), and his successor Azariah regained control of the trade route to Elath through Edomite territory (14:22; 2 Chr 26:2). Libnah revolted at the same time. Libnah appears to have been located close to the Philistine border near Lachish (see 19:8). It is likely that the revolt of Libnah was connected with that of the Philistines and Arabs described in 2 Chr 21:16–17.

8:23 the acts of Joram [Jehoram]. See 2 Chr 21:4–20. Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. See note on 1 Kin 14:29.

8:25 twelfth year of Joram. 841 B.C. In 9:29 the first year of Joram's reign was counted as his accession year and his second year as the first year of his reign, whereas here his accession year was counted as the first year of his reign (see Introduction to 1 Kings: Chronology).

8:26 twenty-two years old when he became king. See note on 2 Chr 22:2. Athaliah. See note on v. 18.

8:27 way of the house of Ahab. See 2 Chr 22:3–5.

8:28 he went with Joram . . . to war against Hazael . . . at Ramoth-gilead. As Jehoshaphat had joined Ahab in battle against the Arameans at Ramoth-gilead (1 Kin 22), so now Ahaziah joined his uncle Joram in a similar venture. On the previous occasion Ahab met his death (1 Kin 22:37). On this occasion Joram was wounded and, while recuperating in Jezreel (see note on 1 Kin 21:1), both he and his nephew Ahaziah were assassinated by Jehu (see 9:14–28).

9:1 sons of the prophets. See note on 2:3.

9:3 I have anointed you king. See notes on 1 Sam 2:10; 9:16; 1 Kin 19:16.

9:8 bond and free. See note on 1 Kin 14:10.

9:9 like the house of Jeroboam. See 1 Kin 14:7–11; 15:27–30. like the house of Baasha. See 1 Kin 16:1–4,8–12. Elijah had spoken the same words to Ahab years before (see 1 Kin 21:21–24).

9:11 this mad fellow. The epithet betrays a scornful attitude on the part of the military officers of the northern kingdom toward members of the prophetic companies.

12 They said, "It is a lie, tell us now." And he said, "Thus and thus he said to me, 'Thus says the LORD, "I have anointed you king over Israel." ' "

13 Then [a]they hurried and each man took his garment and placed it under him on the bare steps, and [b]blew the trumpet, saying, "Jehu is king!"

Jehoram (Joram) Is Assassinated

14 So Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat the son of Nimshi conspired against Joram. [a]Now Joram [1]with all Israel was [2]defending Ramoth-gilead against Hazael king of Aram,

15 but [a]King [1]Joram had returned to Jezreel to be healed of the wounds which the Arameans had [2]inflicted on him when he fought with Hazael king of Aram. So Jehu said, "If this is your mind, then let no one escape or [3]leave the city to go tell it in Jezreel."

16 Then Jehu rode in a chariot and went to Jezreel, for Joram was lying there. [a]Ahaziah king of Judah had come down to see Joram.

17 Now the watchman was standing on the tower in Jezreel and he saw the [1]company of Jehu as he came, and said, "I see a [1]company." And Joram said, "Take a horseman and send him to meet them and let him say, 'Is it peace?' "

18 So a horseman went to meet him and said, "Thus says the king, 'Is it peace?' " And Jehu said, "[a]What have you to do with peace? Turn behind me." And the watchman [1]reported, "The messenger came to them, but he did not return."

19 Then he sent out a second horseman, who came to them and said, "Thus says the king, 'Is it peace?' " And Jehu [1]answered, "What have you to do with peace? Turn behind me."

20 The watchman [1]reported, "He came even to them, and he did not return; and [a]the driving is like the driving of [b]Jehu the son of Nimshi, for he drives furiously."

21 Then [1]Joram said, "[2]Get ready." And they made his chariot ready. [1a]Joram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah went out, each in his chariot, and they went out to meet Jehu and found him in the [3b]property of Naboth the Jezreelite.

22 When [1]Joram saw Jehu, he said, "Is it peace, Jehu?" And he [2]answered, "What peace, [a]so long as the harlotries of your mother Jezebel and her witchcrafts are so many?"

23 So [1]Joram [2]reined about and fled and said to Ahaziah, "[a]There is treachery, O Ahaziah!"

24 And [a]Jehu [1]drew his bow with his full strength and [2]shot [3]Joram between his arms; and the arrow went [4]through his heart and he sank in his chariot.

25 Then Jehu said to Bidkar his officer, "Take him up and [a]cast him into the [1]property of the field of Naboth the Jezreelite, for I remember when [2]you and I were riding together after Ahab his father, that the [b]LORD laid this [c]oracle against him:

26 'Surely [a]I have seen yesterday the blood of Naboth and the blood of his sons,' says the LORD, 'and [b]I will repay you in this [1]property,' says the LORD. Now then, take and cast him into the [1]property, according to the word of the LORD."

Jehu Assassinates Ahaziah

27 [a]When Ahaziah the king of Judah saw this, he fled by the way of the garden house. And Jehu pursued him and said, "[1]Shoot him too, in the chariot." So they shot him at the ascent of Gur, which is at [b]Ibleam. But he fled to Megiddo and died there.

28 [a]Then his servants carried him in a chariot to Jerusalem and buried him in his grave with his fathers in the city of David.

29 Now in [a]the eleventh year of Joram, the son of Ahab, Ahaziah became king over Judah.

30 When Jehu came to Jezreel, Jezebel heard of it, and [a]she painted her eyes and adorned her head and looked out the window.

31 As Jehu entered the gate, she said, "[a]Is it [1]well, Zimri, [2]your master's murderer?"

32 Then he lifted up his face to the window and said, "Who is on my side? Who?" And two or three officials looked down at him.

Jezebel Is Slain

33 He said, "Throw her down." So they threw her down, and some of her blood was sprinkled on the wall and on the horses, and he trampled her under foot.

9:15 let no one escape . . . to go tell it in Jezreel. For the success of Jehu's revolt and to avoid a civil conflict it was important to take Joram totally by surprise.
9:16 Jezreel. About 45 miles from Ramoth-gilead. Ahaziah . . . had come down to see Joram. See 8:29.
9:21 property of Naboth. See notes on 1 Kin 21:2–3,13,19.
9:22 harlotries . . . and her witchcrafts. Both punishable by death (see Deut 13; 18:10–12). As long as these evils were promoted in the northern kingdom, there could be no peace.
9:26 according to the word of the LORD. Jehu saw himself providentially placed in the position of fulfilling the prophecy of Elijah given years before (see 1 Kin 21:18–24). Even though Ahab's own blood was not shed on Naboth's field (see 1 Kin 21:29 and note), Jehu saw in Joram's death the fulfillment of Elijah's prophecy (see note on 1 Kin 21:19).
9:27 fled to Megiddo and died there. It may be questioned whether Jehu was justified in extending the purge of Ahab's house (see Hos 1:4) to the descendants of the house of David through Ahab's daughter Athaliah (see 8:18,26).
9:31 Zimri, your master's murderer. In bitter sarcasm Jezebel called Jehu by the name Zimri. About 45 years earlier Zimri had seized the throne from Elah by assassination and then had destroyed the whole house of Baasha. He ruled, however, for only seven days before Omri seized power (see 1 Kin 16:8–20).

34 When he came in, he ate and drank; and he said, "See now to [a]this cursed woman and bury her, for [b]she is a king's daughter."

35 They went to bury her, but they found nothing more of her than the skull and the feet and the palms of her hands.

36 Therefore they returned and told him. And he said, "This is the word of the LORD, which He spoke by His servant Elijah the Tishbite, saying, '[a]In the [1]property of Jezreel the dogs shall eat the flesh of Jezebel;

37 and [a]the corpse of Jezebel will be as dung on the face of the field in the [1]property of Jezreel, so they cannot say, "This is Jezebel." ' "

Judgment upon Ahab's House

10 Now Ahab had seventy sons in [a]Samaria. And Jehu wrote letters and sent them to Samaria, to the rulers of Jezreel, the elders, and to the guardians of the children of Ahab, saying,

2 "Now, [a]when this letter comes to you, since your master's sons are with you, [1]as well as the chariots and horses and a fortified city and the weapons,

3 select the best and [1]fittest of your master's sons, and set him on his father's throne, and fight for your master's house."

4 But they feared greatly and said, "Behold, [a]the two kings did not stand before him; how then can we stand?"

5 And the one who was over the household, and he who was over the city, the elders, and the guardians of the children, sent word to Jehu, saying, "[a]We are your servants, all that you say to us we will do, we will not make any man king; do what is good in your sight."

6 Then he wrote a letter to them a second time saying, "If you are on my side, and you will listen to my voice, take the heads of the men, your master's sons, and come to me at Jezreel tomorrow about this time." Now the king's sons, seventy persons, were with the great men of the city, who were rearing them.

7 When the letter came to them, they took the king's sons and [a]slaughtered them, seventy persons, and put their heads in baskets, and sent them to him at Jezreel.

8 When the messenger came and told him, saying, "They have brought the heads of the king's sons," he said, "Put them in two heaps at the entrance of the gate until morning."

9 Now in the morning he went out and stood and said to all the people, "You are [1]innocent; behold, [a]I conspired against my master and killed him, but [b]who [2]killed all these?

10 "Know then that [a]there shall fall to the earth nothing of the word of the LORD, which the LORD spoke concerning the house of Ahab, for the LORD has done [b]what He spoke [1]through His servant Elijah."

11 So Jehu [1]killed all who remained of the house of Ahab in [a]Jezreel, and all his great men and his acquaintances and his priests, until he left him without a survivor.

12 Then he arose and departed and went to Samaria. On the way while he was at [1]Beth-eked of the shepherds, 9:36 the word of the LORD, which He spoke by His servant Elijah. In the manner of Jezebel's death the word of the Lord was confirmed—the word she had defied during her life (see 1 Kin 21:23).

10:1 Ahab had seventy sons. The number of Ahab's wives is unknown (see 1 Kin 20:5). The 70 presumably included both sons and grandsons. Samaria. In order to consolidate his coup and establish control of the northern kingdom, Jehu still faced the formidable problems of taking the nearly impregnable fortress of Samaria (see note on 1 Kin 16:24) and then of completing the destruction of Ahab's house. rulers. Officers appointed by the king (see 1 Kin 4:1–6). elders. Local leaders by virtue of their position in the tribal and family structure (see notes on Ex 3:16; 2 Sam 3:17). guardians of the children of Ahab. Those entrusted with the care and upbringing of the princes in the royal family.

10:3 fight for your master's house. Jehu's strategy was to induce the leaders of Samaria into submission to his rule by bluffing a military confrontation.

10:4 feared greatly. The leaders of Samaria were completely intimidated by Jehu's challenge.

10:5 the one . . . over the household. See note on 1 Kin 4:6. he who was over the city. Probably an official appointed by the king who served as commander of the militia of the capital city. the elders, and the guardians. See note on v. 1.

10:6 take the heads of . . . your master's sons, and come to me. The wording of Jehu's command contains what appears to be a deliberate ambiguity. The "heads of the men, your master's sons" could be understood as a reference to the leading figures among the 70 descendants of Ahab, such as the crown prince and several other sons of special ability and standing. On the other hand, the expression could be taken as a reference to the literal heads of all 70 princes.

10:7 slaughtered them, seventy persons. The leaders of the city understood the communiqué in the literal sense, as Jehu most certainly had hoped they would. put their heads in baskets, and sent them to him. The leaders of Samaria did not carry the heads of the princes to Jezreel themselves as they had been ordered to do by Jehu (see v. 6). It is likely that they feared for their lives.

10:8 Put them in two heaps at the entrance of the gate. This gruesome procedure imitated the barbaric practice of the Assyrian rulers Ashurnasirpal and Shalmaneser III, whose reigns were characterized by acts of terror.

10:9 I conspired . . . and killed him. Jehu openly confessed his own part in the overthrow of the government of Joram. who killed all these? Because of the ambiguous communiqué Jehu sent to the leaders of Samaria (see note on v. 6), he can now deny any personal responsibility for the slaughter of the 70 sons of Ahab and can lay the blame for it on the leaders of Samaria.

10:10 what He spoke through His servant Elijah. See 1 Kin 21:20–24,29. Jehu implies a divine sanction not only for what had already been done but also for his intent to continue the purge of Ahab's house and associates.

10:11 all his great men and his acquaintances and his priests. Jehu went beyond the responsibility given to him (see 9:7; Hos 1:4) and acted solely on grounds of political self-interest. Jehu himself had been in the service of Ahab (see 9:25).

13 [a]Jehu [1]met the [2]relatives of Ahaziah king of Judah and said, "Who are you?" And they [3]answered, "We are the [2]relatives of Ahaziah; and we have come down [4]to greet the sons of the king and the sons of the queen mother."

14 He said, "Take them alive." So they took them alive and killed them at the pit of Beth-eked, forty-two men; and he left none of them.

15 Now when he had departed from there, he [1]met [a]Jehonadab the son of [b]Rechab coming to meet him; and he [2]greeted him and said to him, "Is your heart right, as my heart is with your heart?" And Jehonadab [3]answered, "It is." Jehu said, "If it is, [c]give me your hand." And he gave him his hand, and he took him up to him into the chariot.

16 He said, "Come with me and [a]see my zeal for the LORD." So [1]he made him ride in his chariot.

17 When he came to Samaria, [a]he [1]killed all who remained to Ahab in Samaria, until he had destroyed him, [b]according to the word of the LORD which He spoke to Elijah.

Jehu Destroys Baal Worshipers

18 Then Jehu gathered all the people and said to them, "[a]Ahab served Baal a little; Jehu will serve him much.

19 "Now, [a]summon all the prophets of Baal, all his worshipers and all his priests; let no one be missing, for I have a great sacrifice for Baal; whoever is missing shall not live." But Jehu did it in [1]cunning, so that he might destroy the worshipers of Baal.

20 And Jehu said, "[a]Sanctify a solemn assembly for Baal." And [b]they proclaimed it.

21 Then Jehu sent [1]throughout Israel and all the worshipers of Baal came, so that there was not a man left who did not come. And when they went into [a]the house of Baal, the house of Baal was filled from one end to the other.

22 He said to the one who was [1]in charge of the wardrobe, "Bring out garments for all the worshipers of Baal." So he brought out garments for them.

23 Jehu went into the house of Baal with Jehonadab the son of Rechab; and he said to the worshipers of Baal, "Search and see that there is here with you none of the servants of the LORD, but only the worshipers of Baal."

24 Then they went in to offer sacrifices and burnt offerings.

Now Jehu had stationed for himself eighty men outside, and he had said, "[a]The one who permits any of the men whom I bring into your hands to escape [1]shall give up his life in exchange."

25 Then it came about, as soon as he had finished offering the burnt offering, that Jehu said to the [1][a]guard and to the royal officers, "[b]Go in, [2]kill them; let none come out." And they [3]killed them with the edge of the sword; and the [1]guard and the royal officers threw them out, and went to the [4]inner room of the house of Baal.

26 They brought out the sacred [a]pillars of the house of Baal and burned them.

27 They also broke down the sacred pillar of Baal and broke down the house of Baal, and [a]made it a latrine to this day.

28 Thus Jehu eradicated Baal out of Israel.

29 However, [a]as for the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, which he made Israel sin, from these Jehu did not depart, even the [b]golden calves that were at Bethel and that were at Dan.

30 The LORD said to Jehu, "Because you have done well in executing what is right in My eyes, and have done to the house of Ahab according to all that was in My heart, [a]your sons of the fourth generation shall sit on the throne of Israel."

31 But Jehu [1][a]was not careful to walk in the law of the LORD, the God of Israel, with all his heart; [b]he did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam, which he made Israel sin.

10:15 Jehonadab the son of Rechab. Jehonadab was the leader of a conservative movement among the Israelites that was characterized by strong opposition to Baalism as well as to various practices of a settled agricultural society, including the building of houses, the sowing of crops and the use of wine. His followers still adhered to these principles over 200 years later and were known as Rechabites (see Jer 35:6–10).

10:16 made him ride in his chariot. Public association with Jehonadab gave Jehu added credentials among the rural populace as a follower of the Lord.

10:18 Ahab served Baal a little; Jehu will serve him much. After settling in Samaria, Jehu gave the appearance of having previously appealed to the word of the Lord as a mere political maneuver.

10:19 shall not live. Jehu's reputation made this no idle threat.

10:26 burned them. May refer to the Asherim (see note on 1 Kin 14:15) that usually accompanied a sacred pillar (see 1 Kin 16:32–33).

10:30 Because you have done . . . to the house of Ahab according to all that was in My heart. Jehu was the Lord's instrument to bring judgment on the house of Ahab, for which he was commended. But he was later condemned by the prophet Hosea for the killing of all Ahab's associates, as well as Ahaziah of Judah and the 42 Judahite princes—the "bloodshed of Jezreel" (Hos 1:4). fourth generation. The restriction of this blessing to four generations is reflective of the qualified approval given to Jehu's reign. Nevertheless, his dynasty survived longer than any other dynasty of the northern kingdom, lasting nearly 100 years. It included the reigns of Jehoahaz, Jehoash, Jeroboam II and Zechariah (see note on 15:12).

10:31 was not careful to walk in the law of the LORD . . . with all his heart. Jehu seems to have been driven more by a political desire to secure his own position on the throne of the northern kingdom than by a desire to serve the Lord. In this he was

Jehoahaz Succeeds Jehu

34 Now the rest of the acts of Jehu and all that he did and all his might, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

35 And Jehu slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria. And Jehoahaz his son became king in his place.

36 Now the [1]time which Jehu reigned over Israel in Samaria was twenty-eight years.

Athaliah Queen of Judah

11 [a]When Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she rose and destroyed all the royal [1]offspring.

2 But Jehosheba, the daughter of King Joram, sister of Ahaziah, [a]took Joash the son of Ahaziah and stole him from among the king's sons who were being put to death, and placed him and his nurse in the bedroom. So they hid him from Athaliah, and he was not put to death.

3 So he was hidden with her in the house of the LORD six years, while Athaliah was reigning over the land.

4 [a]Now in the seventh year Jehoiada sent and brought the captains of hundreds of [b]the Carites and of the [1]guard, and brought them to him in the house of the LORD. Then he made a covenant with them and put them under oath in the house of the LORD, and showed them the king's son.

5 He commanded them, saying, "This is the thing that you shall do: [a]one third of you, who come in on the sabbath and keep watch over the king's house

6 (one third also shall be at the gate Sur, and one third at the gate behind the [1]guards), [2]shall keep watch over the house for defense.

7 "Two parts of you, even all who go out on the sabbath, shall also keep watch over the house of the LORD for the king.

8 "Then you shall surround the king, each with his weapons in his hand; and whoever comes within the ranks shall be put to death. And [a]be with the king when he goes out and when he comes in."

9 So the captains of hundreds [a]did according to all that Jehoiada the priest commanded. And each one of them took his men who were to come in on the sabbath, with those who were to go out on the sabbath, and came to Jehoiada the priest.

10 [a]The priest gave to the captains of hundreds the spears and shields that had been King David's, which were in the house of the LORD.

11 The [1]guards stood each with his weapons in his hand, from the right [2]side of the house to the left [2]side of the house, by the altar and by the house, around the king.

12 Then he brought the king's son out and [a]put the crown on him and gave him [b]the testimony; and they made him king and guilty of using God's judgment on the house of Ahab to satisfy his self-interest.

10:32 the LORD began to cut off portions from Israel. The climax of the covenant curses enumerated in Lev 26 and Deut 28 was Israel's expulsion from Canaan. During the rule of Jehu the northern kingdom experienced the beginnings of this curse (see 17:7–18 for its full realization).

10:33 All of Transjordan was lost to Hazael and the Arameans of Damascus.

10:34 rest of the acts of Jehu. The Black Obelisk of the Assyrian ruler Shalmaneser III informs us that Jehu paid tribute to the Assyrians shortly after coming to the throne of the northern kingdom in 841 B.C. In the Assyrian inscription Jehu is incorrectly called the "son of Omri," but this may simply be Shalmaneser's way of identifying Jehu with Samaria (or Israel). There is no reference to this payment of tribute in the Biblical narratives of Jehu's reign. Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. See note on 1 Kin 14:19.

10:35 slept with his fathers. See note on 1 Kin 1:21. Jehoahaz his son became king in his place. For the reign of Jehoahaz see 13:1–9.

10:36 twenty-eight years. 841–814 B.C.

11:1 Athaliah. See note on 8:18. her son was dead. See 9:27. destroyed all the royal offspring. To secure the throne in Judah for herself. By this time the royal family in Judah had already been reduced to a mere remnant. Joram, the late husband of Athaliah and the father of Ahaziah, had killed all his brothers when he succeeded his father Jehoshaphat on the throne (see 2 Chr 21:4). Jehu had slain another 42 members of the royal house of Judah, perhaps including many of the sons of Joram's brothers (10:12–14; 2 Chr 22:8–9), and the brothers of Ahaziah had been killed by marauding Arabs (2 Chr 22:1). It is likely that Athaliah's purge focused primarily on the children of Ahaziah, i.e., her own grandchildren. Ahaziah had died at the young age of 22 (see 8:26). This attempt to completely destroy the house of David was an attack on God's redemptive plan—a plan that centered in the Messiah, which the Davidic covenant promised (see notes on 2 Sam 7:11,16; 1 Kin 8:25).

11:2 daughter of King Joram, sister of Ahaziah. It is likely that Jehosheba was the daughter of Joram by a wife other than Athaliah, and thus she was a half sister of Ahaziah. She was married to the high priest Jehoiada (see 2 Chr 22:11). him and his nurse. The child was not more than a year old and had not yet been weaned (see vv. 3,21).

11:4 seventh year. Of Athaliah's rule. captains of hundreds. 2 Chr 23:1 lists the names of five commanders, all native Israelites. Carites. Mercenary soldiers from Caria in southwest Asia Minor who served as royal bodyguards. brought them to him in the house of the LORD. 2 Chr 23:2 includes the Levites and family leaders of Judah in the conspiracy.

11:10 spears and shields that had been King David's, which were in the house of LORD. David had probably taken the spears and gold shields as plunder in his battle with Hadadezer and then dedicated them to the Lord (see 2 Sam 8:7–11).

11:12 testimony. Either (1) the Ten Commandments, (2) the entire Mosaic covenant or (3) a document dealing more specifically with the covenant responsibilities of the king (see Deut 17:14–20; see also note on 1 Sam 10:25). The third option is anointed him, and they clapped their hands and said, "[c]Long live the king!"

13 [a]When Athaliah heard the noise of the guard and of the people, she came to the people in the house of the LORD.

14 She looked and behold, the king was standing [a]by the pillar, according to the custom, with the captains and the [1]trumpeters beside the king; and [b]all the people of the land rejoiced and blew trumpets. Then Athaliah [c]tore her clothes and cried, "[d]Treason! Treason!"

15 And Jehoiada the priest commanded the captains of hundreds who were appointed over the army and said to them, "Bring her out [1]between the ranks, and whoever follows her put to death with the sword." For the priest said, "Let her not be put to death in the house of the LORD."

16 So they [1]seized her, and when she arrived at the horses' entrance of the king's house, she was [a]put to death there.

17 Then [a]Jehoiada made a covenant between the LORD and the king and the people, that they would be the LORD'S people, also [b]between the king and the people.

18 All the people of the land went to [a]the house of Baal, and tore it down; [b]his altars and his images they broke in pieces thoroughly, and [c]killed Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars. And the priest appointed [1]officers over the house of the LORD.

19 He took the captains of hundreds and the [a]Carites and the [1]guards and all the people of the land; and they brought the king down from the house of the LORD, and came by the way of [b]the gate of the [1]guards to the king's house. And he sat on the throne of the kings.

20 So [a]all the people of the land rejoiced and the city was quiet. For they had put Athaliah to death with the sword at the king's house.

Joash (Jehoash) Reigns over Judah

12 In the seventh year of Jehu, [a]Jehoash became king, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Zibiah of Beersheba.

2 Jehoash did right in the sight of the LORD all his days in which Jehoiada the priest instructed him.

3 Only [a]the high places were not taken away; the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.

The Temple to Be Repaired

4 Then Jehoash said to the priests, "All the money of the sacred things [a]which is brought into the house of the LORD, in current money, both [b]the money of each man's assessment and all the money [1]which any man's heart prompts him to bring into the house of the LORD,

5 let the priests take it for themselves, each from his acquaintance; and they shall repair the [1]damages of the house wherever any damage may be found."

6 But it came about that in the twenty-third year of King Jehoash [a]the priests had not repaired the damages of the house.

most likely. anointed him. See notes on 1 Sam 2:10; 9:16; 1 Kin 1:39. Long live the king! See 1 Sam 10:24; 1 Kin 1:34,39.

11:14 pillar. Apparently one of the two bronze pillars of the portico of the temple, named Jachin and Boaz (see 23:3; 1 Kin 7:15–22; 2 Chr 23:13). all the people of the land. It is likely that Jehoiada had chosen to stage his coup on a sabbath during one of the major religious festivals, when many from the realm who were loyal to the Lord would be in Jerusalem.

11:17 covenant between the LORD and the king and people, that they would be the LORD's people. A renewal of the Mosaic covenant, by which Israel had been constituted as the Lord's people (see Ex 19:5–6; Deut 4:20). The years of apostasy, involving both the royal house and the people of Judah, necessitated a renewal of allegiance to the Lord at the time of an important new beginning for the southern kingdom (see notes on 1 Sam 11:14–15; 12:14–15,24–25). also between the king and the people. Defined responsibilities and mutual obligations of king and people that were compatible with Israel's covenant relationship with the Lord (see notes on 1 Sam 10:25; 2 Sam 5:3).

11:18 images. Stone pillars (see note on 1 Kin 14:23) and Asherim (see note on 1 Kin 14:15).

11:19 captains of hundreds and the Carites and the guards. See note on v. 4.

11:21 See v. 3. The Lord had preserved a lamp for David in Jerusalem (see 1 Kin 11:36).

12:1 seventh year of Jehu. 835 B.C. (see note on 10:36). forty years. 835–796.

12:2 all his days in which Jehoiada the priest instructed him. After Jehoiada died, Jehoash turned away from the Lord (see 2 Chr 24:17–27).

12:3 high places were not taken away. These were high places where the Lord was worshiped rather than pagan deities (see note on 1 Kin 15:14). They were nevertheless potential sources for the entrance of pagan practices into Israel's worship (see note on 1Ki 3:2).

12:4 money of the sacred things . . . brought into the house of the LORD. The money was derived from three different sources: 1. money collected in the census. At the age of 20, Israelite youths were required to register for military service and to make an offering of half a shekel (see note on 5:26) for use in the service of the central sanctuary (see Ex 30:11–16; 38:25–26; Num 2:32). 2. money received from personal vows. Various types of vows and their equivalence in monetary assessments are described in Lev 27:1–25. 3. money brought voluntarily to the temple. For voluntary offerings see Lev 22:18–23; Deut 16:10.

12:5 acquaintance. Or, more likely, "treasurer," a temple functionary who handled financial matters for the priests relative to the people's sacrifices and offerings. wherever any damage may be found. Construction of the temple had been completed 124 years before the beginning of the reign of Jehoash (see notes on v. 1; 1 Kin 6:38). In addition to deterioration due to age, it had fallen into disrepair and abuse during the rule of Athaliah (see 2 Chr 24:7).

12:6 twenty-third year of King Jehoash. Jehoash may have instituted his plan for restoration of the temple a few years before the priest, and for the other priests and said to them, "Why do you not repair the damages of the house? Now therefore take no more money from your acquaintances, but pay it for the damages of the house."

8 So the priests agreed that they would take no more money from the people, nor repair the damages of the house.

9 But [a]Jehoiada the priest took a chest and bored a hole in its lid and put it beside the altar, on the right side as one comes into the house of the LORD; and the priests who guarded the threshold put in it all the money which was brought into the house of the LORD.

10 When they saw that there was much money in the chest, [a]the king's scribe and the high priest came up and tied it in bags and counted the money which was found in the house of the LORD.

11 They gave the money which was weighed out into the hands of those who did the work, who had the oversight of the house of the LORD; and they [1]paid it out to the carpenters and the builders who worked on the house of the LORD;

12 and [a]to the masons and the stonecutters, and for buying timber and hewn stone to repair the damages to the house of the LORD, and for all that was [1]laid out for the house to repair it.

13 But [a]there were not made for the house of the LORD [b]silver cups, snuffers, bowls, trumpets, any vessels of gold, or vessels of silver from the money which was brought into the house of the LORD;

14 for they gave that to those who did the work, and with it they repaired the house of the LORD.

15 Moreover, [a]they did not require an accounting from the men into whose hand they gave the money to pay to those who did the work, for they dealt faithfully.

16 The [a]money from the guilt offerings and [b]the money from the sin offerings was not brought into the house of the LORD; [c]it was for the priests.

17 Then [a]Hazael king of Aram went up and fought against Gath and captured it, and [b]Hazael set his face to go up to Jerusalem.

18 [a]Jehoash king of Judah took all the sacred things that Jehoshaphat and Jehoram and Ahaziah, his fathers, kings of Judah, had dedicated, and [b]his own sacred things and all the gold that was found among the treasuries of the house of the LORD and of the king's house, and sent them to Hazael king of Aram. Then he went away from Jerusalem.

Joash (Jehoash) Succeeded by Amaziah in Judah

19 Now the rest of the acts of Joash and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

20 [a]His servants arose and made a conspiracy and [b]struck down Joash at [c]the house of Millo as he was going down to Silla.

the 23rd year of his reign. Now at age 30 he asserts his royal authority and takes charge of the temple repairs.

12:7 Take no more money from your acquaintances. The proceeds from the sources of revenue mentioned in v. 4 were no longer to be given to the priests.

12:8 priests agreed. Apparently a compromise was reached: The priests would no longer take the money received from the people, but neither would they pay for the temple repairs from the money they had already received.

12:9 priests who guarded the threshold. Three high-ranking priests charged with protecting the temple from unlawful (profane) entry (see 25:18; Jer 52:24). put in it all the money. When the people were assured that all their offerings would be used for the temple restoration, they responded with greater generosity. See 22:3–7 for continuation (or renewal) of this practice in the reign of Josiah.

12:10 king's scribe. See note on 2 Sam 8:17. Jehoash arranges for direct royal supervision of the temple's monetary affairs.

12:11 those . . . who had the oversight. The whole matter is taken out of the hands of the priests.

12:13 there were not made for the house of the LORD . . . vessels of gold, or . . . silver. All the money was initially designated for the restoration of the temple. When the restoration was completed, additional funds were used for the acquisition of silver and gold articles for use in the temple service (see 2 Chr 24:14).

12:16 money from the guilt offerings and . . . sin offerings. See Lev 5:16; 6:5; Num 5:7–10 for references to priestly income in connection with the bringing of a guilt offering. There is no Pentateuchal reference to priestly income in connection with the bringing of a sin offering (but see Lev 7:7).

12:17 Then. These events must have taken place toward the end of Jehoash's reign. From 2 Chr 24:17–24 it is clear that the Aramean attack was occasioned by Jehoash's turning away from the Lord after Jehoiada's death. Jehoash's apostasy reached its climax in the stoning of Jehoiada's son Zechariah (2 Chr 24:22). Probably because of Jehoash's earlier zeal for the temple, the author of Kings did not choose to relate these matters. Hazael. See 8:7–15; 10:32–33; 13:3,22. Gath. One of the major Philistine cities (see Josh 13:3) that David had conquered (1 Chr 18:1) and that continued to be subject to Judah during the reign of Rehoboam (2 Chr 11:8). In the latter years of the reign of Jehoash of Judah (835–796 B.C.) and during the reign of Jehoahaz of Israel (814–798; see 13:3,7), the Arameans had virtually overrun the northern kingdom, enabling them to advance against the Philistines and the kingdom of Judah with little resistance. Hazael set his face to go up to Jerusalem. See 2 Chr 24:23–24.

12:18 sacred things . . . gold . . . sent them to Hazael. Years earlier, Asa had sought to secure assistance from the Arameans with a similar gift (see 1 Kin 15:18).

12:19 Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. See note on 1 Kin 14:29. A fuller account of the reign of Joash (Jehoash) is also found in 2 Chr 22:10–24:27.

12:20 made a conspiracy. The conspiracy was aroused in response to Joash's murder of Zechariah son of Jehoiada (see 2 Chr 24:25). house of Millo. For the meaning of Millo see note on Judg 9:6. Here the reference may be to a building (perhaps a kind of barracks) built on the "Millo" in the old City of David (see 2 Sam 5:9 and note; 1 Kin 11:27). Perhaps the king was staying there temporarily with his troops at the time of his assassination; Chronicles says he was killed "on his bed" (2 Chr 24:25). Silla. Perhaps refers to a steep descent from the City of David down into the Kidron Valley.

21 For Jozacar the son of Shimeath and Jehozabad the son of [a]Shomer, his servants, struck him and he died; and they buried him with his fathers in the city of David, and [b]Amaziah his son became king in his place.

Kings of Israel: Jehoahaz and Jehoash

13 In the twenty-third year of Joash the son of Ahaziah, king of Judah, Jehoahaz the son of Jehu became king over Israel at Samaria, and he reigned seventeen years.

2 He did evil in the sight of the LORD, and followed the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, [a]with which he made Israel sin; he did not turn from them.

3 [a]So the anger of the LORD was kindled against Israel, and He gave them continually into the hand of [b]Hazael king of Aram, and into the hand of [c]Ben-hadad the son of Hazael.

4 Then [a]Jehoahaz entreated the favor of the LORD, and the LORD listened to him; for [b]He saw the oppression of Israel, how the king of Aram oppressed them.

5 The LORD gave Israel a [1][a]deliverer, so that they [2]escaped from under the hand of the Arameans; and the sons of Israel lived in their tents as formerly.

6 Nevertheless they did not turn away from the sins of the house of Jeroboam, [a]with which he made Israel sin, but walked in [1]them; and [b]the Asherah also remained standing in Samaria.

7 For he left to Jehoahaz of the [1]army not more than fifty horsemen and ten chariots and 10,000 footmen, for the king of Aram had destroyed them and [a]made them like the dust at threshing.

8 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoahaz, and all that he did and his might, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

9 And Jehoahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria; and Joash his son became king in his place.

10 In the thirty-seventh year of Joash king of Judah, Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned sixteen years.

11 He did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not turn away from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, with which he made Israel sin, but he walked in [1]them.

12 [a]Now the rest of the acts of Joash and all that he did and his might with which he fought against Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

13 So Joash slept with his fathers, and Jeroboam sat on his throne; and Joash was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel.

Death of Elisha

14 When Elisha [1]became sick with the illness of which he was to die, Joash the king of Israel came down to him and wept over [2]him and said, "[a]My father, my father, the chariots of Israel and its horsemen!"

15 Elisha said to him, "Take a bow and arrows." So he [1]took a bow and arrows.

16 Then he said to the king of Israel, "Put your hand on the bow." And he put his hand

13:1 twenty-third year of Joash. 814 B.C. (see note on 12:1; see also Introduction to 1 Kings: Chronology). seventeen years. 814–798.
13:2 sins of Jeroboam. See 1 Kin 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16.
13:3 Hazael. See notes on 8:12,13,15; 10:33. Ben-hadad. See v. 24. His reign began in either 806 or 796 B.C.
13:4 the LORD listened to him. Although deliverance did not come during the lifetime of Jehoahaz (see v. 22), the Lord was merciful to His people in spite of their sin, because of His covenant with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob (v. 23).
13:5 Israel a deliverer. Probably either (1) the Assyrian ruler Adadnirari III (810–783 B.C.), whose attacks on the Arameans of Damascus in 806 and 804 enabled the Israelites to break Aramean control over Israelite territory (see v. 25; 14:25), or (2) Jehoash son of Jehoahaz (vv. 17,19,25), or (3) Jeroboam II, who was able to extend Israel's boundaries far to the north (see 14:25,27) after the Assyrians had broken the military power of the Arameans.
13:6 Asherah also remained standing. This idol had been set up by Ahab (see 1 Kin 16:33) and had either escaped destruction by Jehu when he purged Baal worship from Samaria (see 10:27–28) or had been reintroduced during the reign of Jehoahaz.
13:7 ten chariots. In effect, a small police force. According to the Assyrian annals of Shalmaneser III, Ahab had contributed 2,000 chariots to the coalition of forces that opposed the Assyrians at the battle of Qarqar in 853 B.C. (see note on 1 Kin 22:1). 10,000 footmen. At the battle of Qarqar Ahab had supplied 10,000 foot soldiers to the coalition of forces opposing the Assyrians. At that time this would have represented only a contingent of Israel's army, while now it represented the entire Israelite infantry. In 857 Ahab had inflicted 100,000 casualties on the Aramean foot soldiers in one day (see 1 Kin 20:29).

13:13 slept with his fathers. See note on 1 Kin 1:21. Jeroboam sat on his throne. For the reign of Jeroboam II see 14:23–29.
13:14 Elisha became sick. Ch. 9 contains the last previous reference to Elisha. Since Jehu had been anointed in 841 B.C. (see note on 10:36) and Joash began to reign in 798 (see note on v. 10), there is at least a 43-year period in which we are told nothing of Elisha's activities. Based on Elisha's relationship with Elijah, he must have been born prior to 880 and he must have lived to be more than 80 years of age. the chariots of Israel and its horsemen! An expression of recognition by Joash that Elisha was of greater significance for Israel's military success than Israel's military forces were (see notes on 2:12; 6:13,16–23).
13:16 laid his hands on the king's hands. By this symbolic act on it, then Elisha laid his hands on the king's hands.

17 He said, "Open the window toward the east," and he opened it. Then Elisha said, "Shoot!" And he shot. And he said, "The LORD's arrow of victory, even the arrow of victory over Aram; for you will [1]defeat the Arameans at [a]Aphek until you have [2]destroyed them."

18 Then he said, "Take the arrows," and he took them. And he said to the king of Israel, "Strike the ground," and he struck it three times and [1]stopped.

19 So [a]the man of God was angry with him and said, "You should have struck five or six times, then you would have struck Aram until you would have [1]destroyed it. But now you shall strike Aram [b]only three times."

20 Elisha died, and they buried him. Now [a]the bands of the Moabites would invade the land in the spring of the year.

21 As they were burying a man, behold, they saw a marauding band; and they cast the man into the grave of Elisha. And when the man [1]touched the bones of Elisha he [a]revived and stood up on his feet.

22 Now [a]Hazael king of Aram had oppressed Israel all the days of Jehoahaz.

23 But the [a]LORD was gracious to them and [b]had compassion on them and turned to them because of [c]His covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and would not destroy them or cast them from His presence until now.

24 When Hazael king of Aram died, Ben-hadad his son became king in his place.

Amaziah Reigns over Judah

14 [a]In the second year of Joash son of Joahaz king of Israel, [b]Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah became king.

2 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Jehoaddin of Jerusalem.

3 He did right in the sight of the LORD, yet not like David his father; he did according to all that Joash his father had done.

4 Only [a]the high places were not taken away; [b]the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.

5 Now it came about, as soon as the kingdom was firmly in his hand, that he [1][a]killed his servants who had slain the king his father.

6 But the sons of the [1]slayers he did not put to death, according to what is written in the book of the Law of Moses, as the LORD commanded, saying, "[a]The fathers shall not be put to death for the sons, nor the sons be put to death for the fathers; but [b]each shall be put to death for his own sin."

7 He [1]killed of Edom in [a]the Valley of Salt 10,000 and took [b]Sela by war, and named it [c]Joktheel to this day.

Elisha indicated that Joash was to engage the Arameans in battle with the Lord's blessing on him.

13:17 window toward the east. Faced Transjordan, which was controlled by the Arameans (see 10:32–33). Aphek. About 60 years earlier Ahab had won a decisive victory at Aphek over the Arameans and Ben-hadad II (see 1 Kin 20:26–30 and note on 1 Kin 20:26).

13:18 struck it three times and stopped. The moderately enthusiastic response to Elisha's directive reflected insufficient zeal for accomplishing the announced task.

13:19 strike Aram only three times. Joash's moderate enthusiasm in striking the ground with arrows symbolized the moderate success he would have against the Arameans. It would be left for Jeroboam II son of Joash to gain complete victory over them (see 14:25,28).

13:21 when the man touched the bones of Elisha he revived and stood up on his feet. The life-giving power of the God Elisha represented is demonstrated once again in this last OT reference to Elisha (for previous demonstrations of this power see 4:32–37 and 1 Kin 17:17–24; for Elijah's translation to heaven without dying see 2:11–12).

13:23 until now. Until the time of the writing of the source from which the author derived this account (see note on 1 Kin 8:8; see also Introduction to 1 Kings: Author, Sources and Date). would not destroy them or cast them from His presence. In His mercy and grace the Lord was long-suffering toward His people and refrained from full implementation of the covenant curse of exile from Canaan (see note on 10:32). This postponement of judgment provided Israel with the opportunity to repent and return to covenant faithfulness.

13:24 Ben-hadad. See note on v. 3.

13:25 cities which he had taken . . . from . . . Jehoahaz. Probably towns west of the Jordan, since the area east of the Jordan had been lost already in the time of Jehu (see 10:32–33). It was not until the time of Jeroboam II that the area east of the Jordan was fully recovered for Israel (see 14:25). Three times. In fulfillment of Elisha's prophecy (v. 19).

14:1 second year of Joash. 796 B.C. (see note on 13:10).

14:2 twenty-nine years. 796–767. Amaziah's 29-year reign included a 24-year co-regency with his son Azariah (see notes on v. 21; 15:1–2).

14:3 not like David his father. Amaziah did not remain completely free from involvement with the worship of pagan deities (see 2 Chr 25:14–16). His loyalty to the Lord fell short of that of Asa and Jehoshaphat before him (see 1 Kin 15:11,14; 22:43; see also 1 Kin 9:4; 11:4).

14:4 high places were not taken away. See note on 1 Kin 15:14.

14:7 killed of Edom . . . 10,000. Amaziah was able to regain temporarily (see 2 Chr 28:17) some of Judah's control over the Edomites, which had been lost during the reign of Jehoram (see 8:20–22). Valley of Salt. The same battlefield on which David had defeated the Edomites (see 2 Sam 8:13; 1 Chr 18:12; Ps 60 title), generally identified with the Arabah directly south of the Dead Sea. Sela. Means "rock"; often regarded as the Edomite stronghold presently known as Petra (a Greek word meaning "rock"; see Judg 1:36; Is 16:1; 42:11; Obad 3). to this day. Until the time of the writing of the account of Amaziah's reign used by the author (see note on 1 Kin 8:8; see also Introduction to 1 Kings: Author, Sources and Date).

8 [a]Then Amaziah sent messengers to Jehoash, the son of Jehoahaz son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, "[b]Come, let us face each other."

9 Jehoash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, "[a]The thorn bush which was in Lebanon sent to the cedar which was in Lebanon, saying, 'Give your daughter to my son in marriage.' But there passed by a wild beast that was in Lebanon, and trampled the thorn bush.

10 "[a]You have indeed [1]defeated Edom, and [b]your heart has [2]become proud. Enjoy your glory and stay at home; for why should you provoke trouble so that you, even you, would fall, and Judah with you?"

11 But Amaziah would not listen. So Jehoash king of Israel went up; and he and Amaziah king of Judah faced each other at [a]Beth-shemesh, which belongs to Judah.

12 Judah was defeated [1]by Israel, and [a]they fled each to his tent.

13 Then Jehoash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Jehoash the son of Ahaziah, at Beth-shemesh, and came to Jerusalem and tore down the wall of Jerusalem from [a]the Gate of Ephraim to [b]the Corner Gate, 400 [1]cubits.

14 [a]He took all the gold and silver and all the utensils which were found in the house of the LORD, and in the treasuries of the king's house, the hostages also, and returned to Samaria.

Jeroboam II Succeeds Jehoash in Israel

15 [a]Now the rest of the acts of Jehoash which he did, and his might and how he fought with Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

16 So Jehoash slept with his fathers and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel; and Jeroboam his son became king in his place.

Azariah (Uzziah) Succeeds Amaziah in Judah

17 [a]Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah lived fifteen years after the death of Jehoash son of Jehoahaz king of Israel.

18 Now the rest of the acts of Amaziah, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

19 They conspired against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to [a]Lachish; but they sent after him to Lachish and killed him there.

20 Then they brought him on horses and he was buried at Jerusalem with his fathers in the city of David.

21 All the people of Judah took [1]Azariah, who was sixteen years old, and made him king in the place of his father Amaziah.

22 [a]He built Elath and restored it to Judah after the king slept with his fathers.

23 In the fifteenth year of Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah, Jeroboam the son of Joash king of Israel became king in Samaria, and reigned forty-one years.

24 He did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not depart from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, which he made Israel sin.

Perhaps it was provoked by the hostile actions of mercenary troops from the northern kingdom after their dismissal from the Judahite army (see 2 Chr 25:10,13) and by the refusal of Jehoash to establish a marriage alliance with Amaziah (see v. 9).

14:9 Jehoash . . . sent . . . saying. For his reply Jehoash used a fable (see Judg 9:8–15) in which he represented himself as a strong cedar and Amaziah as an insignificant thistle that could easily be trampled underfoot.

14:11 would not listen. See 2 Chr 25:20. Beth-shemesh. A town about 15 miles west of Jerusalem near the border between Judah and Dan (see Josh 15:10; 1Sa 6:9).

14:13 Jehoash . . . captured Amaziah. It is likely that Amaziah was taken back to the northern kingdom as a prisoner, where he remained until being released to return to Judah after the death of Jehoash (see vv. 15–16; see also note on v. 21). Gate of Ephraim to the Corner Gate. The Corner Gate (see Jer 31:38; Zech 14:10) was at the northwest corner of the wall around Jerusalem. The Ephraim Gate was on the north side of Jerusalem (see Neh 12:39), 600 feet east of the Corner Gate. This northwestern section of the wall of Jerusalem was the point at which the city was most vulnerable to attack.

14:14 gold and silver and all the utensils . . . found in the house of the LORD, and . . . the king's house. The value of the plundered articles was probably not great, because Joash had previously stripped the temple and palace to pay tribute to Hazael of Damascus (see 12:17–18). hostages also. The hostages were probably intended to secure additional payments of tribute in view of the meager war booty.

14:15 Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. See note on 1 Kin 14:19.

14:16 slept with his fathers. See 13:12–13; see also note on 1 Kin 1:21.

14:17 lived fifteen years after the death of Jehoash. Jehoash died in 782 B.C. and Amaziah in 767.

14:18 Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. See note on 1 Kin 14:29.

14:19 conspired against him. 2 Chr 25:27 connects the conspiracy against Amaziah with his turning away from the Lord, but it did not serve the purpose of the author of Kings to note this. Lachish. A fortress city in southern Judah 15 miles west of Hebron, presently known as Tell ed-Duweir (see 18:14; 2 Chr 11:9).

14:21 All the people of Judah took Azariah, who was. Or "Now all the people of Judah had taken Azariah, when he was." Azariah is also called Uzziah (see 15:13). made him king in place of his father Amaziah. It is likely that this occurred after Amaziah had been taken prisoner by Jehoash (see v. 13). Thus Azariah's reign substantially overlapped that of his father Amaziah (see notes on v. 2; 15:2).

14:22 built Elath and restored it to Judah. Azariah extended the subjection of the Edomites begun by his father (see v. 7) and reestablished Israelite control over the important port city on the Gulf of Aqaba (see 1 Kin 9:26).

14:23 fifteenth year of Amaziah. 782 B.C. (see note on v. 2). This was the beginning of Jeroboam's sole reign. He had previously served as co-regent with his father Joash. forty-one years. 793–753 (including the co-regency with his father).

14:24 sins of Jeroboam. See 1 Kin 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16; Amos 3:13–14; 4:4–5; 5:4–6; 7:10–17.

26 For the [a]LORD saw the affliction of Israel, which was very bitter; for [b]there was neither bond nor free, nor was there any helper for Israel.

27 The [a]LORD did not say that He would blot out the name of Israel from under heaven, but He saved them by the hand of Jeroboam the son of Joash.

Zechariah Reigns over Israel

28 Now the rest of the acts of Jeroboam and all that he did and his might, how he fought and how he recovered for Israel, [a]Damascus and [b]Hamath, which had belonged to Judah, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

29 And Jeroboam slept with his fathers, even with the kings of Israel, and Zechariah his son became king in his place.

Series of Kings: Azariah (Uzziah) over Judah

15 [a]In the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Azariah son of Amaziah king of Judah became king.

2 He was [a]sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was [1]Jecoliah of Jerusalem.

3 He did right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father Amaziah had done.

4 Only [a]the high places were not taken away; the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.

5 [a]The LORD struck the king, so that he was a leper to the day of his death. And he [b]lived in a separate house, [1]while Jotham the king's son was over the household, judging the people of the land.

6 Now the rest of the acts of Azariah and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

7 And Azariah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the city of David, and Jotham his son became king in his place.

Zechariah over Israel

8 [a]In the thirty-eighth year of Azariah king of Judah, Zechariah the son of Jeroboam became king over Israel in Samaria for six months.

14:25 entrance of Hamath. Jeroboam II was able to free the northern kingdom from the oppression it had suffered at the hands of Hazael and Ben-hadad (see 10:32; 12:17; 13:3,22,25). He also extended Israelite political control over the Arameans of Damascus, an undertaking that had been begun by his father Joash (see 13:25). Assyrian pressure on the Arameans, including attacks on Damascus by Shalmaneser IV in 773 B.C. and Ashur-dan III in 772, had weakened the Arameans enough to enable Jeroboam II to gain the upper hand over them. Meanwhile, Assyria also became too weak to suppress Jeroboam's expansion. Sea of the Arabah. The Dead Sea. According to Amos 6:14 the southern limit of Jeroboam's kingdom in Transjordan was the "brook of the Arabah"—probably to be connected with the Valley of Salt (see note on v. 7). If so, Jeroboam had also subdued Moab and the Ammonites. Jonah . . . the prophet . . . of Gath-hepher. See Jon 1:1. Gath-hepher was located in the tribe of Zebulun, northeast of Nazareth (see Josh 19:13). This reference to Jonah is of help in dating the ministry of the prophet.

14:26 affliction. At the hands of the Arameans (see 10:32–33; 13:3–7), the Moabites (13:20) and the Ammonites (Amos 1:13). bond nor free. See note on 1 Kin 14:10.

14:27 did not say. The sin of the Israelites had not yet reached its full measure, and the Lord mercifully extended to the nation an additional period of grace in which there was opportunity to repent (see note on 13:23). Persistence in apostasy, however, would bring certain judgment (see Amos 4:2–3; 6:14). saved them by the hand of Jeroboam. See note on 13:5.

14:28 all that he did. During Jeroboam's reign the northern kingdom enjoyed greater material prosperity than at any time since the rule of David and Solomon. Unfortunately, it was also a time of religious formalism and apostasy as well as social injustice (see the books of Amos and Hosea, who prophesied during Jeroboam's reign). Damascus and Hamath. See note on v. 25. Judah. Damascus and Hamath were once included in territory ruled by David and Solomon (see 2 Sam 8:6; 2 Chr 8:3). Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. See note on 1 Kin 14:19.

14:29 slept with his fathers. See note on 1 Kin 1:21. Zechariah his son became king in his place. For the reign of Zechariah see 15:8–12.

15:1 twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam. 767 B.C., based on dating the beginning of Jeroboam's co-regency with Joash in 793 (see note on 14:23). Azariah . . . became king. He began his sole reign, after a 24-year co-regency with his father Amaziah (see notes on v. 2; 14:2,21). (His actual years were one less than his official years.)

15:2 fifty-two years. 792–740 B.C. (but he was co-regent with his father Amaziah 792–767). See note on v. 1.

15:3 according to all that his father Amaziah had done. See note on 14:3.

15:4 high places were not taken away. See 14:4; see also note on 1 Kin 15:14.

15:5 struck the king, so that he was a leper. A punishment for usurping the priestly function of burning incense on the altar in the temple (see 2 Chr 26:16–21; cf. Lev 13:46). was over the household, judging the people of the land. Jotham ruled for his father for the remainder of Azariah's life (750–740 B.C.; see note on v. 33).

15:6 all that he did. A more detailed account of Azariah's accomplishments is found in 2 Chr 26:1–15. Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. See note on 1 Kin 14:29.

15:7 slept with his fathers. See note on 1 Kin 1:21. Jotham his son became king in his place. For the reign of Jotham see vv. 32–38.

15:8 thirty-eighth year of Azariah. 753 B.C. (see note on v. 2).

15:9 sins of Jeroboam. See 1 Kin 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16.

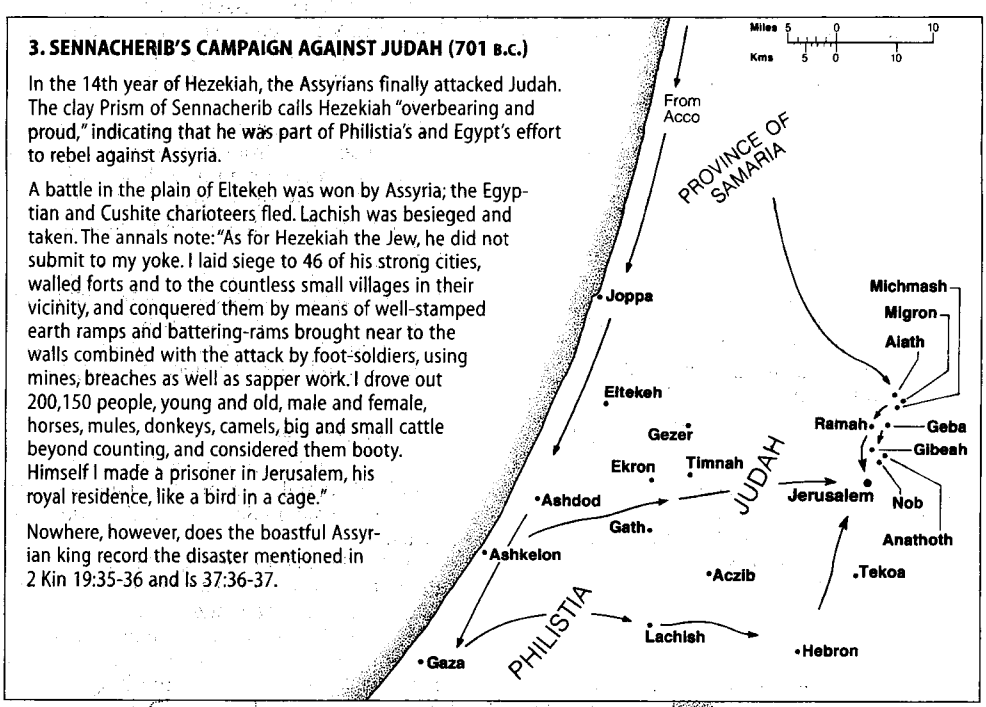
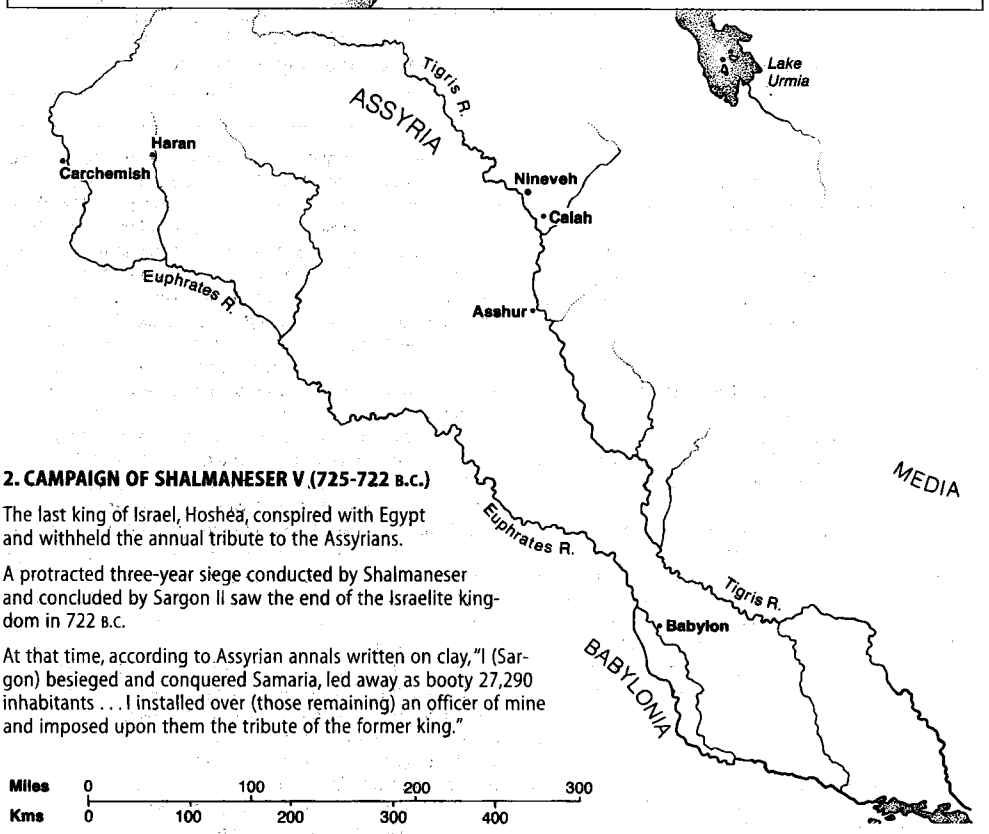
The Assyrian invasions of the eighth century B.C. were the most traumatic political events in the entire history of Israel.

The brutal Assyrian style of warfare relied on massive armies, superbly equipped with the world's first great siege machines manipulated by an efficient corps of engineers.

Psychological terror, however, was Assyria's most effective weapon. It was ruthlessly applied, with corpses impaled on stakes, severed heads stacked in heaps, and captives skinned alive.

The shock of bloody military sieges on both Israel and Judah was profound. The prophets did not fail to scream out against their horror, while at the same time pleading with the people to see God's hand in history, to recognize spiritual causes in the present punishment.





3. SENNACHERIB'S CAMPAIGN AGAINST JUDAH (701 B.C.)

In the 14th year of Hezekiah, the Assyrians finally attacked Judah. The clay Prism of Sennacherib calls Hezekiah "overbearing and proud," indicating that he was part of Philistia's and Egypt's effort to rebel against Assyria.

A battle in the plain of Eltekeh was won by Assyria; the Egyptian and Cushite charioteers fled. Lachish was besieged and taken. The annals note: "As for Hezekiah the Jew, he did not submit to my yoke. I laid siege to 46 of his strong cities, walled forts and to the countless small villages in their vicinity, and conquered them by means of well-stamped earth ramps and battering-rams brought near to the walls combined with the attack by foot-soldiers, using mines, breaches as well as sapper work. I drove out 200,150 people, young and old, male and female, horses, mules, donkeys, camels, big and small cattle beyond counting, and considered them booty. Himself I made a prisoner in Jerusalem, his royal residence, like a bird in a cage."

Nowhere, however, does the boastful Assyrian king record the disaster mentioned in 2 Kin 19:35-36 and Is 37:36-37.

2. CAMPAIGN OF SHALMANESER V (725-722 B.C.)

The last king of Israel, Hoshea, conspired with Egypt and withheld the annual tribute to the Assyrians.

A protracted three-year siege conducted by Shalmaneser and concluded by Sargon II saw the end of the Israelite kingdom in 722 B.C.

At that time, according to Assyrian annals written on clay, "I (Sargon) besieged and conquered Samaria, led away as booty 27,290 inhabitants . . . I installed over (those remaining) an officer of mine and imposed upon them the tribute of the former king."

spired against him and [a]struck him before the people and [1]killed him, and reigned in his place.

11 Now the rest of the acts of Zechariah, behold they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

12 This is [a]the word of the LORD which He spoke to Jehu, saying, "Your sons to the fourth generation shall sit on the throne of Israel." And so it was.

13 Shallum son of Jabesh became king in the [a]thirty-ninth year of Uzziah king of Judah, and he reigned one month in [b]Samaria.

14 Then Menahem son of Gadi went up from [a]Tirzah and came to Samaria, and struck Shallum son of Jabesh in Samaria, and killed him and became king in his place.

15 Now the rest of the acts of Shallum and his conspiracy which he made, behold they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

16 Then Menahem struck Tiphsah and all who were in it and its borders from Tirzah, because they did not open to him; therefore he struck it and ripped up [a]all its women who were with child.

Menahem over Israel

17 In the [a]thirty-ninth year of Azariah king of Judah, Menahem son of Gadi became king over Israel and reigned ten years in Samaria.

18 He did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not depart all his days from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, which he made Israel sin.

19 [a]Pul, king of Assyria, came against the land, and Menahem gave Pul a thousand talents of silver so that his hand might be with him to [b]strengthen the kingdom [1]under his rule.

20 Then Menahem exacted the money from Israel, even from all the mighty men of wealth, from each man fifty shekels of silver to pay the king of Assyria. So the king of Assyria returned and did not remain there in the land.

21 Now the rest of the acts of Menahem and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

22 And Menahem slept with his fathers, and Pekahiah his son became king in his place.

Pekahiah over Israel

23 In [a]the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekahiah son of Menahem became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned two years.

24 He did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, which he made Israel sin.

25 Then Pekah son of Remaliah, his officer, conspired against him and struck him in Samaria, in [a]the castle of the king's house with Argob and Arieh; and with him were fifty men of the Gileadites, and he killed him and became king in his place.

15:11 Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. See note on 1 Kin 14:19.
15:12 the word of the LORD . . . And so it was. The word was given in 10:30. With the downfall of Jehu's dynasty, the northern kingdom entered a period of political instability (see Hos 1:4). The remaining five kings of the northern kingdom were all assassinated with the exception of Menahem, who reigned ten years, and Hoshea, who was imprisoned by the Assyrians. From the strength and wealth of the reign of Jeroboam II, the decline and fall of the northern kingdom was swift.
15:13 thirty-ninth year of Uzziah. 752 B.C. (see note on v. 2). Uzziah is another name for Azariah (see note on 14:21).
15:14 Menahem . . . went up from Tirzah . . . to Samaria. It is likely that Menahem was the commander of a military garrison at Tirzah, the former capital of the northern kingdom (see 1 Kin 14:17; 15:21,33). became king in his place. For the reign of Menahem see vv. 17–22.
15:15 Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. See note on 1 Kin 14:19.
15:16 Tiphsah. There was a Tiphsah located far to the north of Hamath (see 14:25) on the Euphrates River (see 1 Kin 4:24). It is unlikely that this was the city intended. Some interpreters prefer the reading "Tappuah" of the Septuagint. Tappuah was a city on the border between Ephraim and Manasseh (Josh 16:8; 17:7–8). Perhaps there was a Tiphsah in Israel not otherwise mentioned. ripped up all its women who were with child. See 8:12 and note.

15:18 sins of Jeroboam. See 1 Kin 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16.
15:19 Pul. The Babylonian name (see 1 Chr 5:26) of the Assyrian ruler Tiglath-pileser III (745–727 B.C.). came against the land. Assyrian annals of Tiglath-pileser III indicate that he marched west with his army in 743 and took tribute from, among others, Carchemish, Hamath, Tyre, Byblos, Damascus, and Menahem of Samaria (see map Nos. 6 and 7 at the end of the study Bible). thousand talents. About 37 tons. This was an enormous sum of money. As a relative comparison, Omri bought the hill of Samaria for about 150 pounds of silver (see 1 Kin 16:24). his hand might be with him to strengthen . . . his rule. It appears that as a usurper Menahem still felt insecure on the throne. The opposition to his rule may have come from those following the leadership of Pekah, who favored an alliance with the Arameans of Damascus in order to resist the Assyrian threat (see note on v. 27). Hosea denounced the policy of seeking aid from the Assyrians and predicted that it would fail (Hos 5:13–15).
15:20 fifty shekels. About one and one-fourth pounds. A simple calculation reveals that it would require approximately 60,000 men of means to provide the 1,000 talents of tribute. This gives some indication of the prosperity the northern kingdom had enjoyed during the time of Jeroboam II.
15:21 Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. See note on 1 Kin 14:19.
15:23 fiftieth year of Azariah. 742 B.C. (see note on v. 2). two years. 742–740.
15:24 sins of Jeroboam. See 1 Kin 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16.
15:25 his officer. Pekah was probably the ranking official in the Transjordan provinces, but his allegiance to Menahem and Pekahiah may well have been more apparent than real (see note on v. 27). conspired against him. Differences over foreign policy probably played an important role in fomenting Pekah's revolution. Pekahiah undoubtedly followed the policy of his father Menahem in seeking Assyria's friendship (see v. 20). Pekah advocat-

Pekah over Israel

27 In [a]the fifty-second year of Azariah king of Judah, [b]Pekah son of Remaliah became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned twenty years.

28 He did evil in the sight of the LORD; he did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, which he made Israel sin.

29 In the days of Pekah king of Israel, [1a]Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria came and [2]captured Ijon and Abel-beth-maacah and Janoah and Kedesh and Hazor and Gilead and Galilee, all the land of Naphtali; and [b]he carried them captive to Assyria.

30 And Hoshea the son of Elah made a conspiracy against Pekah the son of Remaliah, and struck him and put him to death and became king in his place, in the twentieth year of Jotham the son of Uzziah.

31 Now the rest of the acts of Pekah and all that he did, behold, they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel.

ed friendly relations with the Arameans of Damascus in order to counter potential Assyrian aggression (see 16:1–9; Is 7:1–2,4–6).

15:26 Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. See note on 1 Kin 14:19.

15:27 fifty-second year of Azariah. 740 B.C. (see note on v. 2). twenty years. 752–732, based on the assumptions (which the data seem to require) that Pekah had established in Transjordan virtually a rival government to that of Menahem when Menahem assassinated Shallum (see notes on vv. 17,19,25), and that the number of regnal years given here includes this period of rival rule.

15:28 sins of Jeroboam. See 1 Kin 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16.

15:29 Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria came. See note on v. 19. The historical background for this attack is found in 16:5–9; 2 Chr 28:16–21; Is 7:1–17. Ijon . . . Naphtali. Over 150 years earlier Ben-hadad I of Damascus had taken this same territory from the northern kingdom in response to an appeal by a king of Judah (see notes on 1 Kin 15:19–20). carried them captive to Assyria. See 1 Chr 5:26. The forced exile of Israelites from their homeland was a fulfillment of the covenant curse (see note on 10:32).

15:30 Hoshea . . . made a conspiracy against Pekah. Hoshea probably represented the faction in the northern kingdom that favored cooperation with Assyria rather than resistance. In one of his annals Tiglath-pileser III claims to have placed Hoshea on the throne of the northern kingdom and to have taken ten talents of gold and 1,000 talents of silver as tribute from him. twentieth year of Jotham. 732 B.C. (see notes on vv. 32–33). Reference is to his 20th official year, which was his 19th actual year.

15:31 Chronicles of the Kings of Israel. See note on 1 Kin 14:19.

15:32 second year of Pekah. 750 B.C. (see note on v. 27).

15:33 sixteen years. 750–735 B.C. Jotham was co-regent with his father 750–740 (see note on v. 5). Jotham's reign was in some sense terminated in 735, and his son Ahaz took over. However, Jotham continued to live until at least 732 (see notes on vv. 30,37).

15:34 that his father Uzziah had done. See note on v. 3; see also 2 Chr 27:2.

15:35 high places were not taken away. See v. 4; see also note on 1 Kin 15:14. upper gate of the house of the LORD. See 2 Chr 23:20; Jer 20:2; Ezek 8:3; 9:2. Additional information on Jotham's building activities is given in 2 Chr 27:3–4.

15:36 the rest of the acts of Jotham. See 2 Chr 27:1–6. Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. See note on 1 Kin 14:29.

15:37 This parenthetical statement concerning Jotham's reign supports the idea of an overlap between the reigns of Jotham and Ahaz (see note on v. 33), since 16:5–12; 2 Chr 28:5–21; Is 7:1–17 all place the major effort of Rezin and Pekah in the time of Ahaz.

15:38 slept with his fathers. See note on 1 Kin 1:21.

16:1 seventeenth year of Pekah. 735 B.C. (see note on 15:27). The reign of Ahaz apparently overlapped that of Jotham, with Ahaz serving as a senior partner beginning in 735 (see notes on 15:33,37; see also notes on v. 2; 17:1).

16:2 twenty years old when he became king. Perhaps the age at which Ahaz became a senior co-regent with his father Jotham in 735 B.C. (see note on v. 1). Otherwise, according to the ages and dates provided, Ahaz would have been 11 or 12 instead of 14 or 15 years old when his son Hezekiah was born (cf. 18:1–2). sixteen years. The synchronizations of the reigns of Ahaz and Hezekiah of Judah with those of Pekah and Hoshea of the northern kingdom present some apparent chronological difficulties (see notes on v. 1; 17:1; 18:1,9–10). It seems best to take the 16 years specified here as the number of years Ahaz reigned after the death of Jotham, thus 732–715 (see notes on 15:30,33). The beginning of his reign appears to be dated in a variety of ways in the Biblical text: (1) in 744/743, which presupposes a co-regency with his grandfather Azariah at the tender age of 11 or 12 (see 17:1); (2) in 735, when he became senior co-regent with Jotham (see v. 1); and (3) in 732, when he

3 But he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, [a]and even made his son pass through the fire, [b]according to the abominations of the nations whom the LORD had [1]driven out from before the sons of Israel.

4 He [a]sacrificed and burned incense on the high places and on the hills and under every green tree.

5 Then [a]Rezin king of Aram and Pekah son of Remaliah, king of Israel, came up to Jerusalem to wage war; and they besieged Ahaz, [b]but could not [1]overcome him.

6 At that time Rezin king of Aram recovered [a]Elath for Aram, and cleared the Judeans out of [1]Elath entirely; and the [2]Arameans came to Elath and have lived there to this day.

Ahaz Seeks Help of Aram

7 [a]So Ahaz sent messengers to [b]Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, saying, "I am your servant and your son; come up and deliver me from the [1]hand of the king of Aram and from the [1]hand of the king of Israel, who are rising up against me."

8 [a]Ahaz took the silver and gold that was found in the house of the LORD and in the treasuries of the king's house, and sent a present to the king of Assyria.

9 [a]So the king of Assyria listened to him; and the king of Assyria went up against Damascus and [b]captured it, and carried the people of it away into exile to [c]Kir, and put Rezin to death.

Damascus Falls

10 Now King Ahaz went to Damascus to meet [a]Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, and saw the altar which was at Damascus; and King Ahaz sent to [b]Urijah the priest the [1]pattern of the altar and its model, according to all its workmanship.

11 So Urijah the priest built an altar; according to all that King Ahaz had sent from Damascus, thus Urijah the priest made it, [1]before the coming of King Ahaz from Damascus.

12 When the king came from Damascus, the king saw the altar; then [a]the king approached the altar and [1]went up to it,

13 and [1]burned his burnt offering and his meal offering, and poured his drink offering and sprinkled the blood of his peace offerings on the altar.

14 [a]The bronze altar, which was before the LORD, [1]he brought from the front of the house, from between [b]his altar and the house of the LORD, and he put it on the north side of his altar.

15 Then King Ahaz [1]commanded Urijah the priest, saying, "Upon the great altar [2]burn began his sole reign after the death of Jotham. did not do . . . as his father David had done. Ahaz does not even receive the qualified approval given to Amaziah (14:3), Azariah (15:3) and Jotham (15:34).

16:3 way of the kings of Israel. It is unlikely that Ahaz adhered to the calf worship introduced by Jeroboam I at Bethel and Dan (see 1 Kin 12:26–32; 13:33–34; 14:16). The reference here is probably to Baal worship in the spirit of Ahab (see notes on 1 Kin 16:31–33; see also 2 Chr 28:2). made his son pass through the fire. Israel had been warned by Moses not to engage in this pagan rite (see Lev 18:21; Deut 18:10). In Israel the firstborn son in each household was to be consecrated to the Lord and redeemed by a payment of five shekels to the priests (see Ex 13:1,11–13; Num 18:16). See also 3:27; 17:17; 21:6; 23:10; 2 Chr 28:3; Jer 7:31; 32:35.

16:4 high places. See 15:4,35; see also note on 1 Kin 15:14. These high places appear to be those assimilated from pagan Baal worship and used for the worship of the Lord in a syncretistic fashion. under every green tree. Large trees were viewed as symbols of fertility by the pre-Israelite inhabitants of Canaan. Immoral pagan rites were performed at shrines located under such trees. Contrary to the explicit prohibition of the Mosaic covenant, the Israelites adopted this pagan custom (see 17:10; 1 Kin 14:23; Deut 12:2; Jer 2:20; 3:6; 17:2; Ezek 6:13; 20:28; Hos 4:13–14).

16:5 Rezin . . . and Pekah . . . came up to Jerusalem to wage war. See notes on 15:25,37. could not overcome. See Is 7:1–17; 2 Chr 28:5–21. Rezin and Pekah desired to replace Ahaz on the throne of the southern kingdom with the son of Tabeel in order to gain another ally in their anti-Assyrian political policy (see notes on 15:19,25). The Lord delivered Judah and Ahaz from this threat in spite of their wickedness because of the promises of the Davidic covenant (see 1 Kin 11:36; 2 Sam 7:13; Is 7:3–7,14).

16:6 Rezin king of Aram recovered Elath. See note on 14:22. Arameans came to Elath. The Hebrew for "Arameans" can also be read as "Edomites" (see 2 Chr 28:17). The Philistines also took this opportunity to avenge previous defeats (compare 2 Chr 26:5–7 with 2 Chr 28:18). to this day. See note on 1 Kin 8:8.

16:7 Tiglath-pileser. See notes on 15:19, 29. your servant and your son. Ahaz preferred to seek security for Judah by means of a treaty with Assyria rather than by obedience to the Lord and trust in His promises (see Ex 23:22; Is 7:10–16).

16:8 silver and gold . . . in the house of the LORD. The temple treasure must have been restored to some degree by Jotham (see 12:18; 14:14). The name "Jehoahaz of Judah" (Ahaz) appears on a list of rulers (including those of the Philistines, Ammonites, Moabites and Edomites) who brought tribute to Tiglath-pileser in 734 B.C.

16:9 went up against Damascus and captured it. In 732 B.C. Tiglath-pileser III moved against Damascus and destroyed it (see the prophecies of Is 7:16; Amos 1:3–5). carried the people of it away . . . to Kir. The Arameans were sent back to the place from which they had come (Amos 9:7) in fulfillment of the prophecy of Amos (Amos 1:5). The location of Kir is unknown, though it is mentioned in connection with Elam in Is 22:6.

16:10 Ahaz went to Damascus to meet Tiglath-pileser. As a vassal king to express his gratitude and loyalty to the victorious Assyrian ruler. altar . . . at Damascus. Perhaps that of the god Rimmon (see 5:18; 2 Chr 28:23), but more likely a royal altar of Tiglath-pileser. Ahaz's reproduction of such an altar would have been a further sign of submission to the Assyrians.

16:13 burnt offering . . . meal offering . . . drink offering . . . peace offerings. With the exception of the drink offering, these same sacrifices were offered at the dedication of the temple (1 Kin 8:64).

16:14 north side of his altar. Ahaz removed the bronze altar from its prominent place in front of the temple and gave it a place alongside the new stone altar.

16:15 great altar. Even though fire from heaven had inaugurated and sanctioned the use of the bronze altar for the worship of the Lord (see 2 Chr 7:1), Ahaz now replaced it with an altar

[a]the morning burnt offering and the evening meal offering and the king's burnt offering and his meal offering, with the burnt offering of all the people of the land and their meal offering and their drink offerings; and sprinkle on it all the blood of the burnt offering and all the blood of the sacrifice. But [b]the bronze altar shall be for me to inquire by."

16 So Urijah the priest did according to all that King Ahaz commanded.

17 Then King Ahaz [a]cut off the borders of the stands, and removed the laver from them; he also [b]took down the sea from the bronze oxen which were under it and put it on a pavement of stone.

18 The covered way for the sabbath which they had built in the house, and the outer entry of the king, he removed from the house of the LORD because of the king of Assyria.

Hezekiah Reigns over Judah

19 Now the rest of the acts of Ahaz which he did, are they not written [a]in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

20 So [a]Ahaz slept with his fathers, and [b]was buried with his fathers in the city of David; and his son Hezekiah reigned in his place.

Hoshea Reigns over Israel

17 In the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah, [a]Hoshea the son of Elah became king over Israel in Samaria, and reigned nine years.

2 He did evil in the sight of the LORD, only not as the kings of Israel who were before him.

3 [a]Shalmaneser king of Assyria came up [b]against him, and Hoshea became his servant and paid him tribute.

4 But the king of Assyria found conspiracy in Hoshea, who had sent messengers to So king of Egypt and had offered no tribute to the king of Assyria, as he had done year by year; so the king of Assyria shut him up and bound him in prison.

5 Then the king of Assyria invaded the whole land and went up to [a]Samaria and besieged it three years.

Israel Captive

6 In the ninth year of Hoshea, [a]the king of Assyria captured Samaria and [b]carried Israel away into exile to Assyria, and [c]settled them in Halah and Habor, on the river of [d]Gozan, and [e]in the cities of the Medes.

Why Israel Fell

built on the pattern of the pagan altar from Damascus. Although the bronze altar was quite large (see 2 Chr 4:1), the new altar was larger. morning burnt offering. See 3:20; Ex 29:38–39; Num 28:3–4. evening meal offering. See note on 1 Kin 18:29. king's burnt offering and his meal offering. There is no other reference to these special offerings of the king in the OT, with the possible exception of Ezekiel's depiction of the offerings of a future prince (Ezek 46:12). the bronze altar shall be for me to inquire by. Seeking omens by the examination of the entrails of sacrificed animals is well attested in ancient Near Eastern texts. Here Ahaz states his intention to follow an Assyrian divination technique in an attempt to secure the Lord's guidance.

16:17 borders of the stands, and removed the laver. See 1 Kin 7:27–39. took down the sea from the bronze oxen. See 1 Kin 7:23–26. Perhaps the bronze was needed for tribute required by Tiglath-pileser III.

16:18 because of the king of Assyria. As a vassal of Tiglath-pileser, Ahaz was forced to relinquish some of the symbols of his own royal power.

16:19 rest of the acts of Ahaz. See 2 Chr 28, where, among other things, it is said that Ahaz even "closed the doors of the house of the LORD" (2 Chr 28:24). Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. See note on 1 Kin 14:29.

16:20 slept with his fathers. See note on 1 Kin 1:21; see also 2 Chr 28:27. his son Hezekiah reigned in his place. For the reign of Hezekiah see 18:1–20:21.

17:1 twelfth year of Ahaz. 732 B.C. (see note on 15:30), on the assumption that Ahaz began a co-regency with Azariah in 744/743 (see notes on 16:1–2). Some interpreters prefer to place the beginning of the reign of Ahaz in 735 on the assumption that the "twelfth" year of his reign in this text is a copyist's error for the "fourth" year of his reign (i.e., 732). nine years. 732–722 (see Introduction to 1 Kings: Chronology).

17:3 Shalmaneser. Hoshea had become a vassal to Assyria under the rule of Tiglath-pileser III (see note on 15:30). The latter was succeeded on the Assyrian throne by Shalmaneser V, who ruled 727–722 B.C.

17:5 three years. 725–722 B.C. Samaria was a strongly fortified city and extremely difficult to subdue (see note on 1 Kin 16:24).

17:6 ninth year of Hoshea. 722 B.C. (see note on v. 1). king of Assyria captured Samaria. In the winter (December) of 722–721 Shalmaneser V died (possibly by assassination), and the Assyrian throne was seized by Sargon II (722–705). In his annals Sargon II lays claim to the capture of Samaria at the beginning of his reign, but it was hardly more than a mopping-up operation. carried Israel away into exile. Because the northern kingdom refused to be obedient to their covenant obligations, the Lord brought on them the judgment pronounced already by Ahijah during the reign of the northern kingdom's first king, Jeroboam I (see note on 1 Kin 14:15). In his annals Sargon II claims to have deported 27,290 Israelites. He then settled other captured people in the vacated towns of the northern kingdom (see v. 24). Halah. Location uncertain. Habor, on the river of Gozan. Or, more likely, "Gozan, on the river of Habor." Gozan was an Assyrian provincial capital located on a tributary of the Euphrates River. cities of the Medes. Towns located in the area south of the Caspian Sea and northeast of the Tigris River.

17:7–23 A theological explanation for the downfall of the northern kingdom. Israel had repeatedly spurned the Lord's gracious acts, had refused to heed the prophets' warnings of impending judgment (vv. 13–14,23) and had failed to keep her covenant obligations (v. 15). The result was the implementation of the covenant curse precisely as it had been presented to the Israelites by Moses before they entered into Canaan (Deut 28:49–68; 32:1–47).

17:7 brought them up from the land of Egypt. The deliverance

8 and [a]walked in the [1]customs of the nations whom the LORD had driven out before the sons of Israel, and in the customs [b]of the kings of Israel which they had [2]introduced.

9 The sons of Israel [1]did things secretly which were not right against the LORD their God. Moreover, they built for themselves high places in all their towns, from [a]watch-tower to fortified city.

10 [a]They set for themselves sacred pillars and [1][b]Asherim on every high hill and under every green tree,

11 and there they burned incense on all the high places as the nations did which the LORD had carried away to exile before them; and they did evil things provoking the LORD.

12 They served idols, [a]concerning which the LORD had said to them, "You shall not do this thing."

13 Yet the [a]LORD warned Israel and Judah [b]through all His prophets and [c]every seer, saying, "[d]Turn from your evil ways and keep My commandments, My statutes according to all the law which I commanded your fathers, and which I sent to you through My servants the prophets."

14 However, they did not listen, but [a]stiffened their neck [1]like their fathers, who did not believe in the LORD their God.

15 [a]They rejected His statutes and [b]His covenant which He made with their fathers and His warnings with which He warned them. And [c]they followed vanity and [d]became vain, and went after the nations which surrounded them, concerning which the [c]LORD had commanded them not to do like them.

16 They forsook all the commandments of the LORD their God and made for themselves molten images, even [a]two calves, and [b]made an [1]Asherah and [c]worshiped all the host of heaven and [d]served Baal.

17 Then [a]they made their sons and their daughters pass through the fire, and [b]practiced divination and enchantments, and [c]sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the LORD, provoking Him.

18 So the LORD was very angry with Israel and [a]removed them from His [1]sight; [b]none was left except the tribe of Judah.

19 Also [a]Judah did not keep the commandments of the LORD their God, but [b]walked in the [1]customs [2]which Israel had [3]introduced.

20 The LORD rejected all the [1]descendants of Israel and afflicted them and [a]gave them into the hand of plunderers, until He had cast them [2]out of His sight.

21 When [a]He had torn Israel from the house of David, [b]they made Jeroboam the son of Nebat king. Then [c]Jeroboam drove Israel away from following the LORD and made them [1]commit a great sin.

22 The sons of Israel walked in all the sins of Jeroboam which he did; they did not depart from them

23 [a]until the LORD removed Israel from His sight, [b]as He spoke through all His servants from Egypt was the fundamental redemptive event in Israel's history. She owed her very existence as a nation to this gracious and mighty act of the Lord (see Ex 20:2; Deut 5:15; 26:8; Josh 24:5–7,17; Judg 10:11; 1 Sam 12:6; Neh 9:9–13; Mic 6:4). feared other gods. A violation of the most basic obligation of Israel's covenant with the Lord (see v. 35; Deut 5:7; 6:14; Josh 24:14–16,20; Jer 1:16; 2:5–6; 25:6; 35:15).

17:11 evil things. Perhaps a reference to ritual prostitution (see note on 1 Kin 14:24; see also Hos 4:13–14).

17:12 You shall not do this thing. See Ex 20:4–5; see also Ex 23:13; Lev 26:1; Deut 5:6–10.

17:13 warned Israel and Judah through all His prophets. Israel not only violated the requirements of the Sinai covenant, but she also spurned the words of prophets the Lord had graciously sent to call His people back to the covenant (see, e.g., 1 Kin 13:1–3; 14:6–16; Judg 6:8–10; 1 Sam 3:19–21 as well as the ministries of Elijah, Elisha, Amos and Hosea). seer. See note on 1 Sam 9:9.

17:14 stiffened their neck. A figure derived from the obstinate resistance of an ox to being placed under a yoke (see Deut 10:16; Jer 2:20; 7:26; 17:23; 19:15; Hos 4:16).

17:15 followed vanity. See Deut 32:21; Jer 2:5; 8:19; 10:8; 14:22; 51:18.

17:16 molten images, even two calves. The golden calves of Bethel and Dan (see 1 Kin 12:28–30). Asherah. See note on 1 Kin 14:15. all the host of heaven. Israel had been commanded not to follow the astral cults of her pagan neighbors (see Deut 4:19; 17:3). Although this form of idolatry is not mentioned previously in 1,2 Kings, the prophet Amos apparently alludes to its practice in the northern kingdom during the reign of Jeroboam II (see note on Amos 5:26). It was later introduced in the southern kingdom during the reign of Manasseh (see 21:3,5) and abolished during the reformation of Josiah (see 23:4–5,12; see also Ezek 8:16).

17:17 made their sons and their daughters pass through the fire. See note on 16:3. divination and enchantments. Such practices were forbidden in the Mosaic covenant (see note on 16:15; see also Lev 19:26; Deut 18:10).

17:18 removed them from His sight. The exile of the northern kingdom (see v. 6; 23:27). none was left except the tribe of Judah. The southern kingdom included elements of the tribes of Simeon and Benjamin, but Judah was the only tribe in the south to retain its complete integrity (see notes on 1 Kin 11:31–32; see also note on 2 Kin 19:4).

17:20 afflicted them and gave them into the hand of plunderers. See 10:32–33; 13:3,20; 24:2; 2 Chr 21:16; 28:18; Amos 1:13.

17:21 torn Israel from the house of David. See 1 Kin 11:11,31; 12:24. The division of the kingdom was of the Lord, but it came to the nation as a punishment for their sins. Jeroboam . . . made them commit a great sin. See 1 Kin 12:26–32; 13:33–34.

17:23 spoke through all His servants the prophets. See 1 Kin 14:15–16; Hos 10:1–7; 11:5; Amos 5:27.

Exile of the Northern Kingdom

The mass deportation policy of the Assyrians was a companion piece to the brutal and calculated terror initiated by Ashurnasirpal and followed by all his successors. It was intended to forestall revolts but, like all Draconian measures, it merely spread misery and engendered hatred. In the end, it hastened the disintegration of the Assyrian empire.

There is some evidence that Israel experienced its first deportations under Tiglath-pileser III (745-727 B.C.), a cruelty repeated by Sargon II (722-705 B.C.) at the time of the fall of Samaria. The latter king's inscriptions boast of carrying away 27,290 inhabitants of the city "as booty." According to 2 Kin 17:6, they were sent to Assyria, to Halah (Calah?), to Habor on the Gozan River, and apparently to the eastern frontiers of the empire (to the towns of the Medes, most probably somewhere in the vicinity of Ecbatana, the modern Hamadan).

The sequel is provided by the inscriptions of Sargon: "The Arabs who live far away in the desert, who know neither overseers nor officials, and who had not yet brought their tribute to any king, I deported . . . and settled them in Samaria."

Much mythology has developed around the theme of the so-called ten lost tribes of Israel. A close examination of Assyrian records reveals that the deportations approximated only a limited percentage of the population, usually consisting of noble families. Agricultural workers, no doubt the majority, were deliberately left to care for the crops (cf. the Babylonian practice, 2Ki 24:14; 25:12).

the prophets. [a]So Israel was carried away into exile from their own land to Assyria until this day.

Cities of Israel Filled with Strangers

24 [a]The king of Assyria brought men from Babylon and from Cuthah and from [1][b]Avva and from [c]Hamath and Sepharvaim, and settled them in the cities of Samaria in place of the sons of Israel. So they possessed Samaria and lived in its cities.

25 At the beginning of their living there, they [a]did not fear the LORD; therefore the LORD sent lions among them which killed some of them.

26 So they spoke to the king of Assyria, saying, "The nations whom you have carried away into exile in the cities of Samaria do not know the custom of the god of the land; so he has sent lions among them, and behold, they kill them because they do not know the custom of the god of the land."

27 Then the king of Assyria commanded, saying, "Take there one of the priests whom you carried away into [1]exile and let [2]him go and live there; and let him teach them the custom of the god of the land."

28 So one of the priests whom they had carried away into exile from Samaria came and lived at Bethel, and taught them how they should fear the LORD.

29 But every nation still made gods of its own and put them [a]in the houses of the high places which the people of Samaria had made, every nation in their cities in which they lived.

30 [a]The men of Babylon made Succoth-benoth, the men of Cuth made Nergal, the men of Hamath made Ashima, 31 and the Avvites made Nibhaz and Tartak; and [a]the Sepharvites burned their children in the fire to [b]Adrammelech and Anammelech the gods of [c]Sepharvaim.

32 [a]They also feared the LORD and [1][b]appointed from among themselves priests of the high places, who acted for them in the houses of the high places.

33 They feared the LORD and served their own gods according to the custom of the nations from among whom they had been carried away into exile.

34 To this day they do according to the earlier customs: they do not fear the LORD, nor do they [1]follow their statutes or their ordinances or the law, or the commandments which the LORD commanded the sons of Jacob, [a]whom He named Israel;

35 with whom the LORD made a covenant and commanded them, saying, "[a]You shall not fear other gods, nor [b]bow down yourselves to them nor [c]serve them nor sacrifice to them.

36 "But the LORD, [a]who brought you up from the land of Egypt with great power and with [b]an outstretched arm, [c]Him you shall fear, and to Him you shall bow yourselves down, and to Him you shall sacrifice.

37 "The statutes and the ordinances and the law and the commandment which He wrote for you, [a]you shall observe to do forever; and you shall not fear other gods.

38 "The covenant that I have made with you, [a]you shall not forget, nor shall you fear other gods.

17:24 king of Assyria. Primarily Sargon II (722–705 B.C.), though later Assyrian rulers, including Esarhaddon (681–669) and Ashurbanipal (669–627), settled additional non-Israelites in Samaria (see Ezra 4:2,9–10). Babylon . . . Cuthah. Babylon and Cuthah (located about eight miles northeast of Babylon) were forced to submit to Assyrian rule by Sargon II in 709. Avva. Probably the same as Ivvah (see 18:34; 19:13). Its association with Hamath, Arpad and Sepharvaim suggests a location somewhere in Aram (Syria). Hamath. Located on the Orontes River (see 14:25; 18:34; see also note on Ezek 47:15). In 720 Sargon II made the kingdom of Hamath into an Assyrian province. Sepharvaim. Perhaps located in Aramean territory, possibly between Damascus and Hamath. Samaria. Here a designation for the entire northern kingdom (see note on 1 Kin 13:32).

17:25 did not fear the LORD. They worshiped their own national deities. sent lions among them. Lions had always been present in Canaan (see 1 Kin 13:24; 20:36; Judg 14:5; 1 Sam 17:34; Amos 3:12). In the aftermath of the disruption and depopulation caused by the conflict with the Assyrians, the lions greatly increased in number (see Ex 23:29). This was viewed by the inhabitants of the land and the writer of Kings as a punishment from the Lord (see Lev 26:21–22).

17:26 king of Assyria. Sargon II. the custom of the god of the land. According to the religious ideas of that time, each regional deity required special ritual observances, which, if ignored or violated, would bring disaster on the land.

17:27 one of the priests. Of the golden calf cult established in the northern kingdom by Jeroboam I (see 1 Kin 12:31 and note).

17:28 came and lived at Bethel. Bethel continued to be the center for the apostate form of Yahweh worship that had been promoted in the northern kingdom since the time of Jeroboam I (see notes on 1 Kin 12:28–30).

17:29 people of Samaria. The mixed population of the former territory of the northern kingdom. These people of mixed ancestry eventually came to be known as Samaritans. In later times the Samaritans rejected the idolatry of their polytheistic origins and followed the teachings of Moses, including monotheism. In NT times Jesus testified to a Samaritan woman (John 4:4–26), and many Samaritans were converted under the ministry of Philip (Acts 8:4–25).

17:32 acted for them in the houses of the high places. See note on 1 Kin 12:31.

17:33 They feared the LORD and served their own gods. A classic statement of syncretistic religion.

17:34 To this day. Until the time of the writing of 1,2 Kings. fear the LORD. Here used in the sense of faithful worship. In vv. 32–33 "fear the LORD" refers to a paganized worship.

17:35 You shall not fear other gods. The Mosaic covenant demanded exclusive worship of the Lord (Ex 20:5; Deut 5:9). This was the first and great commandment, and it was to distinguish Israel from all other peoples.

17:36 the LORD, who brought you up from the land of Egypt . . . you shall fear. Here, as in v. 7, the deliverance from Egypt is cited as the gracious act of the Lord par excellence that entitled Him to exclusive claim on Israel's loyalty.

39 "But the LORD your God you shall fear; and He will deliver you from the hand of all your enemies."

40 However, they did not listen, but they did according to their earlier custom.

41 [a]So while these nations feared the LORD, they also served their [1]idols; their children likewise and their grandchildren, as their fathers did, so they do to this day.

Hezekiah Reigns over Judah

18 Now it came about [a]in the third year of Hoshea, the son of Elah king of Israel, that [b]Hezekiah the son of Ahaz king of Judah became king.

2 He was [a]twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Abi the daughter of Zechariah.

3 [a]He did right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father David had done.

4 [a]He removed the high places and broke down the sacred pillars and cut down the [1]Asherah. He also broke in pieces [b]the bronze serpent that Moses had made, for until those days the sons of Israel burned incense to it; and it was called [2]Nehushtan.

5 [a]He trusted in the LORD, the God of Israel; [b]so that after him there was none like him among all the kings of Judah, nor among those who were before him.

6 For he [a]clung to the LORD; he did not depart from following Him, but kept His commandments, which the LORD had commanded Moses.

Hezekiah Victorious

7 [a]And the LORD was with him; wherever he went he prospered. And [b]he rebelled against the king of Assyria and did not serve him.

8 [a]He [1]defeated the Philistines as far as Gaza and its territory, from [b]watchtower to fortified city.

9 Now in the fourth year of King Hezekiah, which was the seventh year of Hoshea son of Elah king of Israel, [a]Shalmaneser king of Assyria came up against Samaria and besieged it.

10 At the end of three years they captured it; in the sixth year of Hezekiah, which was [a]the ninth year of Hoshea king of Israel, Samaria was captured.

11 Then the king of Assyria carried Israel away into exile to Assyria, and put them in [a]Halah and on the Habor, the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes, 12 because they [a]did not obey the voice of the LORD their God, but transgressed His covenant, even all that Moses the servant of the LORD commanded; they would neither listen nor do it.

Invasion of Judah

13 [a]Now in the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, Sennacherib king of Assyria came 17:39 will deliver you from . . . all your enemies. See Ex 23:22; Deut 20:1–4; 23:14.

17:41 to this day. See note on v. 34.
18:1 third year of Hoshea . . . Hezekiah . . . became king. 729 B.C. (see 17:1). Hezekiah was co-regent with his father Ahaz from 729 to 715 (see note on 16:2 and Is 36:1).
18:2 became king. Became sole king of Judah. twenty-nine years. 715–686 B.C. See also 2 Chr 29–32 and Is 36–39 for a description of the events of his reign, including a more detailed account of the reformation he led (2 Chr 29–31). One of his first acts was to reopen the temple, which had been closed by his father Ahaz (see note on 16:19; see also 2 Chr 29:3).
18:3 right . . . according to all that his father David had done. Hezekiah is one of the few kings who is compared favorably with David. The others are Asa (1 Kin 15:11), Jehoshaphat (1 Kin 22:43) and Josiah (2 Kin 22:2). A qualification is introduced, however, with both Asa and Jehoshaphat: They did not remove the high places (see 1 Kin 15:14; 22:43).
18:4 removed the high places. Hezekiah was not the first king to destroy high places (see notes on 1 Kin 3:2; 15:14), but he was the first to destroy high places dedicated to the worship of the Lord (see 12:3; 14:4; 15:4,35; 17:9; 1 Kin 22:43). This became known even to the Assyrian king, Sennacherib (see v. 22). sacred pillars. See 3:2; 10:26–27; 17:10; see also note on 1 Kin 14:23. Asherah. See 13:6; 17:10,16; 1 Kin 16:23; see also note on 1 Kin 14:15. sons of Israel burned incense to it. It is unlikely that the bronze snake had been an object of worship all through the centuries of Israel's existence as a nation. Just when an idolatrous significance was attached to it is not known, but perhaps it occurred during the reign of Hezekiah's father Ahaz (see ch. 16). Snake worship of various types was common among ancient Near Eastern peoples.
18:5 after him there was none like him . . . nor among those . . . before him. A difference of emphasis is to be seen in this statement when compared to that of 23:25. Hezekiah's uniqueness is to be found in his trust in the Lord, while Josiah's uniqueness is to be found in his scrupulous observance of the Mosaic law.
18:7 rebelled against the king of Assyria. Judah had become a vassal to Assyria under Ahaz (see 16:7)—which required at least formal recognition of Assyrian deities. Hezekiah reversed the policy of his father Ahaz and sought independence from Assyrian dominance. It is likely that sometime shortly after 705 B.C., when Sennacherib replaced Sargon II on the Assyrian throne, Hezekiah refused to pay the annual tribute due the Assyrians.
18:8 defeated the Philistines. In a reversal of the conditions existing during the time of Ahaz, in which the Philistines captured Judahite cities in the hill country and Negev (see 2 Chr 28:18), Hezekiah was able once again to subdue the Philistines. Probably Hezekiah tried to coerce the Philistines into joining his anti-Assyrian policy. In one of his annals Sennacherib tells of forcing Hezekiah to release Padi, king of the Philistine city of Ekron, whom Hezekiah held prisoner in Jerusalem. This occurred in connection with Sennacherib's military campaign in 701 B.C.
18:9 fourth year of King Hezekiah. 725 B.C., the fourth year of Hezekiah's co-regency with Ahaz (see notes on v. 1; 17:1).
18:10 three years. See note on 17:5. ninth year of Hoshea. See note on 17:6.
18:11 king of Assyria carried Israel away. See note on 17:6.
18:12 transgressed His covenant. See 17:7–23.
18:13 fourteenth year. Of Hezekiah's sole reign: 701 B.C. (see note on v. 2). Sennacherib . . . came up against. Verses 13–16 correspond very closely with Sennacherib's own account of his 701 campaign against Phoenicia, Judah and Egypt. seized them. In his annals, Sennacherib claims to have captured 46 of Hezeup against all the fortified cities of Judah and seized them.

14 Then Hezekiah king of Judah sent to the king of Assyria at Lachish, saying, "[a]I have done wrong. [1]Withdraw from me; whatever you [2]impose on me I will bear." So the king of Assyria [3]required of Hezekiah king of Judah three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold.

15 [a]Hezekiah gave him all the silver which was found in the house of the LORD, and in the treasuries of the king's house.

16 At that time Hezekiah cut off the gold from the doors of the temple of the LORD, and from the doorposts which Hezekiah king of Judah had overlaid, and gave it to the king of Assyria.

17 Then the king of Assyria sent [a]Tartan and Rab-saris and Rabshakeh from Lachish to King Hezekiah with a large army to Jerusalem. So they went up and came to Jerusalem. And when they went up, they came and stood by the [b]conduit of the upper pool, which is on the highway of the [1]fuller's field.

18 When they called to the king, [a]Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, and [b]Shebnah the scribe and Joah the son of Asaph the recorder, came out to them.

19 Then Rabshakeh said to them, "Say now to Hezekiah, 'Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria, "[a]What is this confidence that you [1]have?

20 "You say (but they are [1]only empty words), 'I have counsel and strength for the war.' Now on whom do you rely, [a]that you have rebelled against me?

22 "But if you say to me, 'We trust in the LORD our God,' is it not He whose high places and [a]whose altars Hezekiah has taken away, and has said to Judah and to Jerusalem, 'You shall worship before this altar in Jerusalem'?

23 "Now therefore, [1]come, make a bargain with my master the king of Assyria, and I will give you two thousand horses, if you are able on your part to set riders on them.

26 Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, and Shebnah and Joah, said to Rabshakeh, "Speak now to your servants in Aramaic, for we [1]understand it; and do not speak with us in [2a]Judean in the hearing of the people who are on the wall."

27 But Rabshakeh said to them, "Has my master sent me only to your master and to you to speak these words, and not to the men who sit on the wall, doomed to eat their own dung and drink their own urine with you?"

28 Then Rabshakeh stood and cried with a loud voice in Judean, [1]saying, "Hear the word of the great king, the king of Assyria.

kiah's fortified cities, as well as numerous open villages, and to have taken 200,150 of the people captive. He says he made Hezekiah "a prisoner in Jerusalem his royal residence, like a bird in a cage," but he does not say he took Jerusalem.

18:14 three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold. About eleven tons of silver and one ton of gold. The Assyrian and Biblical reports of the amount of tribute paid by Hezekiah to Sennacherib agree with respect to the 30 talents of gold, but Sennacherib claims to have received 800 talents of silver rather than the 300 specified in the Biblical text. This discrepancy may be the result of differences in the weight of Assyrian and Israelite silver talents, or it may simply be due to the Assyrian propensity for exaggeration. For the relative value of this amount of silver and gold see note on 15:19.

18:15 silver . . . in the house of the LORD, and in the treasuries of the king's house. See 12:10,18; 14:14; 16:8; 1 Kin 7:51; 14:26; 15:18.

18:17 Lachish. See note on Is 36:2. conduit . . . field. See note on Is 7:3. It is ironic that the Assyrian officials demand Judah's surrender on the very spot where Isaiah had warned Ahaz to trust in the Lord rather than in an alliance with Assyria for deliverance from the threat against him from Aram and the northern kingdom of Israel (see 16:5–10; Is 7:1–17).

18:18 over the household. See note on 1 Kin 4:6. scribe. See note on 2 Sam 8:17. recorder. See note on 2 Sam 8:16.

18:19 great king. A frequently used title of the Assyrian rulers—and occasionally of the Lord (Ps 47:2; 48:2; 95:3; Mal 1:14; Matt 5:35). says. The following address is a masterpiece of calculated intimidation and psychological warfare designed to break the resistance of the inhabitants of Jerusalem (see vv. 26–27).

18:21 rely on . . . Egypt. See 19:9; Is 30:1–5; 31:1–3.

18:22 is it not He whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah has taken away . . . ? The Assyrians cleverly attempted to drive a wedge between Hezekiah and the people. They attempted to exploit any resentment that may have existed among those who opposed Hezekiah's reformation and his destruction of the high places (see note on v. 4).

18:23 if you are able . . . to set riders on them. With this sarcastic taunt, the Assyrians undoubtedly accurately suggest that the Judahites were so weak in military personnel that they could not even take advantage of such a generous offer. In contrast with the Assyrians, the army of Judah at the time consisted largely of foot soldiers. The city under siege would have contained few chariots, and it is not known whether the Israelites ever employed mounted men in combat.

18:25 The LORD said to me. Possibly Assyrian spies had informed Sennacherib of the prophecies of Isaiah and Micah.

18:26 Aramaic. Had become the international language of the Near East, known and used by those experienced in diplomacy and commerce. It is surprising that the Assyrian officials were able to speak the Hebrew dialect of the common people of Judah (see 2 Chr 32:18).

18:27 men who sit on the wall. The Assyrian strategy was to negotiate in the hearing of the people in order to demoralize them and turn them against Hezekiah. eat their own dung and drink their own urine. A vivid portrayal of the potential hardship of a prolonged siege.

29 "Thus says the king, '[a]Do not let Hezekiah deceive you, for he will not be able to deliver you from [1]my hand;
30 nor let Hezekiah make you trust in the LORD, saying, "The LORD will surely deliver us, and this city will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria."
31 'Do not listen to Hezekiah, for thus says the king of Assyria, "[1]Make your peace with me and come out to me, and eat [a]each of his vine and each of his fig tree and drink each of the waters of his own cistern,
32 until I come and take you away [a]to a land like your own land, a land of grain and new wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of olive trees and honey, that you may live and not die." But do not listen to Hezekiah when he misleads you, saying, "The LORD will deliver us."
33 '[a]Has any one of the gods of the nations delivered his land from the hand of the king of Assyria?
34 '[a]Where are the gods of Hamath and [b]Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim, Hena and [1c]Ivvah? Have they delivered Samaria from my hand?
35 'Who among all the gods of the lands [1]have delivered their land from my hand, [a]that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem from my hand?' "
36 But the people were silent and answered him not a word, for the king's commandment was, "Do not answer him."
37 Then [a]Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, and Shebna the scribe and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came to Hezekiah [b]with their clothes torn and told him the words of Rabshakeh.

Isaiah Encourages Hezekiah

19 [a]And when King Hezekiah heard it, he [b]tore his clothes, [c]covered himself with sackcloth and entered the house of the LORD.
2 Then he sent Eliakim who was over the household with Shebna the scribe and the elders of the priests, [a]covered with sackcloth, to [b]Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz.
3 They said to him, "Thus says Hezekiah, 'This day is a day of distress, rebuke, and rejection; for children have come to birth and there is no strength to deliver.
4 '[a]Perhaps the LORD your God will hear all the words of Rabshakeh, whom his master the king of Assyria has sent [b]to reproach the living God, and will rebuke the words which the LORD your God has heard. Therefore, offer a prayer for [c]the remnant that is left.' "
5 So the servants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah.
6 Isaiah said to them, "Thus you shall say to your master, 'Thus says the LORD, "Do not be afraid because of the words that you have heard, with which the [a]servants of the king of Assyria [b]have blasphemed Me.

18:29 Thus says the king. The Assyrian officials now address their remarks directly to the populace rather than to the officials of Hezekiah, as in vv. 19–27. Do not let Hezekiah deceive you. Here and in vv. 30–31 the people are urged three times to turn against Hezekiah.
18:30 this city will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria. Hezekiah could say this on the basis of God's promise to him (see 20:6; see also note on Is 38:6).
18:31 eat each of his vine and each of his fig tree and drink . . . of his own cistern. Depicting peaceful and prosperous times (see 1 Kin 4:25; Mic 4:4; Zech 3:10).
18:32 until I come and take you away to a land like your own. Ultimately surrender meant deportation, but Sennacherib pictured it as something desirable. that you may live and not die. The alternatives depicted for the people are: (1) Trust in the Lord and Hezekiah and die, or (2) trust in the Assyrians and enjoy prosperity and peace. These words directly contradict the alternatives placed before Israel by Moses in Deut 30:15–20.
18:33–35 Has any one of the gods of the nations delivered his land from the hand of the king of Assyria? . . . that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem from my hand? The flaw in the Assyrian reasoning was to equate the one true and living God with the no-gods (Deut 32:21) of the pagan peoples the Assyrians had defeated (see 19:4,6; 2 Chr 32:13–19; Is 10:9–11).
18:34 Hamath. See notes on 14:25; 17:24. Arpad. A city located near Hamath and taken by the Assyrians in 740 B.C. (see 19:13; Is 10:9; Jer 49:23). Sepharvaim. See note on 17:24. Hena. Probably located in the vicinity of the other cities mentioned. Ivvah. See note on 17:24.
18:36 for the king's commandment was, "Do not answer him." The Assyrian attempt to stir up a popular revolt against the leadership and authority of Hezekiah had failed.
18:37 clothes torn. An expression of great emotion (see 6:30; 1 Kin 21:27). Perhaps in this instance it was motivated by the Assyrian blasphemy against the true God (see 19:4,6; Matt 26:65; Mark 14:63–64).
19:1 sackcloth. See note on 6:30.
19:2 over the household. See note on 1 Kin 4:6. scribe. See note on 2 Sam 8:17. elders of the priests. Probably the oldest members of various priestly families (see Jer 19:1). The crisis involved not only the city of Jerusalem, but also the temple. Isaiah the prophet. The first reference to Isaiah in the book of Kings, though he had been active in the reigns of Uzziah, Jotham and Ahaz (see Isa 1:1).
19:3 for children have come to birth and there is no strength to deliver. Depicts the critical nature of the threat facing the city.
19:4 living God. In contrast to the no-gods of 18:33–35. See 1 Sam 17:26,36,45 for another example of ridiculing the living and true God. offer a prayer. Intercessory prayer was an important aspect of the ministry of the prophets (see, e.g., the intercession of Moses and Samuel: Ex 32:31–32; 33:12–17; Num 14:13–19; 1 Sam 7:8–9; 12:19, 23; Ps 99:6; Jer 15:1). remnant. Those left in Judah after Sennacherib's capture of many towns and numerous people (see note on 18:13; cf. Is 10:28–32). Archaeological evidence reveals that many Israelites fled the northern kingdom during the Assyrian assaults and settled in Judah, so that the nation of Judah became the remnant of all Israel.
19:7 spirit. Of insecurity and fear. rumor. Some interpreters link this "rumor" with the challenge to Sennacherib from Tirhakah of Egypt (v. 9). Others regard it as disturbing information from Sennacherib's homeland. fall by the sword. See v. 37. Here

Sennacherib Defies God

8 Then Rabshakeh returned and found the king of Assyria fighting against [a]Libnah, for he had heard that [1]the king had left [b]Lachish.

9 When he heard them say concerning Tirhakah king of [1]Cush, "Behold, he has come out to fight against you," he sent messengers again to Hezekiah saying,

10 "Thus you shall say to Hezekiah king of [1]Judah, 'Do not [a]let your God in whom you trust deceive you saying, "[b]Jerusalem will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria."

11 'Behold, you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the lands, destroy-my fathers destroyed deliver them, even

Hezekiah's Prayer

14 Then [a]Hezekiah took the [1]letter from the hand of the messengers and read it, and he went up to the house of the LORD and

God's Answer through Isaiah

20 Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah saying, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, 'Because you have prayed to Me about Sennacherib king of Assyria, [a]I have heard you.'

21 "This is the word that the LORD has spoken against him:

'She has despised you and mocked you,
[a]The virgin daughter of Zion;
She [b]has shaken her head behind you,
The daughter of Jerusalem!

22 'Whom have you [a]reproached and
[b]blasphemed?
And against whom have you raised
your voice,
And [1]haughtily lifted up your eyes?
Against the [c]Holy One of Israel!

23 '[a]Through your messengers you have reproached the Lord,
And you have said, "With my many chariots
I came up to the heights of the mountains,
To the remotest parts of Lebanon;
And I [1]cut down its tall cedars and its choice cypresses.
And I [1]entered its farthest lodging place, its [b]thickest forest.

24 "I dug wells and drank foreign waters,
And with the sole of my feet I [1][a]dried up
All the rivers of [2]Egypt."

25 '[a]Have you not heard?
Long ago I did it;
From ancient times I planned it.
[b]Now I have brought it to pass,
That you should turn fortified cities into ruinous heaps.

the eventual murder of Sennacherib is connected with his blasphemy against the living God.

It is not known just when Haran was taken by the Assyrians. Rezeph. Located south of the Euphrates River and northeast of Hamath. Eden. See Ezek 27:23; Amos 1:5; a district along the Euphrates River south of Haran. It was incorporated into the Assyrian empire by Shalmaneser III in 855 B.C. Telassar. Location unknown.

19:18 work of men's hands. For the foolishness and futility of idolatry see Ps 115:3–8; 135:15–18; Is 2:20; 40:19–20; 41:7; 44:9–20.

19:20 I have heard you. On this occasion Isaiah's message to Hezekiah was unsolicited by the king (contrast v. 2).

19:21–28 The arrogance of the Assyrians and their ridicule of the Israelites and their God are countered with a derisive pronouncement of judgment (cf. Ps 2) on the misconceived Assyrian pride (see Is 10:5–34).

19:21 virgin daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants.

19:22 Holy One of Israel. A designation of the God of Israel characteristic of Isaiah (see note on Isa 1:4).

19:24 dried up All the rivers of Egypt. A presumptuous boast for one who had not even conquered Egypt.

19:25 I planned it. Now I have brought it to pass. The God of Israel is the ruler of all nations and history. The Assyrians attributed their victories to their own military superiority. However, Isaiah said that God alone ordained these victories (see Is 10:5–19; cf. Ezek 30:24–26).

26 'Therefore their inhabitants were short of strength,
They were dismayed and put to shame;
They were [a]as the vegetation of the field and as the green herb,
As grass on the housetops is scorched before it is grown up.
27 'But [a]I know your sitting down,
And your going out and your coming in,
And your raging against Me.
28 'Because of your raging against Me,
And because your [1]arrogance has come up to My ears,
Therefore I [a]will put My hook in your nose,
And My bridle in your lips,
And [b]I will turn you back by the way which you came.
29 'Then this shall be [a]the sign for you: [1]you will eat this year what grows of itself, in the second year what springs from the same, and in the third year sow, reap, plant vineyards, and eat their fruit.
30 '[a]The surviving remnant of the house of Judah will again take root downward and bear fruit upward.
31 'For out of Jerusalem will go forth a remnant, and [a]out of Mount Zion [1]survivors. [b]The zeal of [2]the LORD will perform this.
32 'Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the king of Assyria, "[a]He will not come to this city or shoot an arrow there; and he will not come before it with a shield or throw up a siege ramp against it.

35 [a]Then it happened that night that the angel of the LORD went out and struck 185,000 in the camp of the Assyrians; and when [1]men rose early in the morning, behold, all of them were [2]dead.

Hezekiah's Illness and Recovery

20 [a]In those days Hezekiah became [1]mortally ill. And Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz came to him and said to him, "Thus says the LORD, '[b]Set your house in order, for you shall die and not live.' "
2 Then he turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD, saying,
3 "[a]Remember now, O LORD, I beseech You, [b]how I have walked before You in truth and with a whole heart and have done what is good in Your sight." And [c]Hezekiah wept [1]bitterly.
4 Before Isaiah had gone out of the mid-

19:27 I know. See Ps 121:8.
19:28 hook in your nose. At the top of an Assyrian obelisk an Assyrian king (probably Esarhaddon, 681–669 B.C.) is pictured holding ropes attached to rings in the noses of four of his enemies. Here Isaiah portrays the same thing happening to Sennacherib (see note on Is 37:29; cf. Ezek 38:4; Amos 4:2).
19:29 you will eat this year what grows of itself. Sennacherib had apparently either destroyed or confiscated the entire harvest that had been sown the previous fall. The people would only have use of the later, second growth that came from seeds dropped from the previous year's harvest (see Lev 25:5). This suggests that Sennacherib came to Judah in March or April about the time of harvest. the second year what springs from the same. Sennacherib's departure would be too late in the fall (October) for new crops to be planted for the coming year. In the Holy Land crops are normally sown in September and October. in the third year sow, reap. The routine times for sowing and harvesting could be observed in the following year. The third year is likely a reference to the third year of harvests detrimentally affected by the Assyrian presence.
19:30–31 remnant. See note on v. 4. For use of the term "remnant" as a designation for those who will participate in the future unfolding of God's redemptive program see Is 11:11,16; 28:5; Mic 4:7; Rom 11:5.
19:32 not come to this city. Sennacherib, who was presently at Libnah (see v. 8; see also note on 8:22), would not be able to carry out his threats against Jerusalem (see note on 18:13).
19:34 for My servant David's sake. See note on 1 Kin 11:13.
19:35 angel of the LORD. See note on Gen 16:7. 185,000. See Is 37:36.
19:36 Nineveh. The capital of the Assyrian empire.
19:37 Nisroch. The name of this deity does not appear in preserved Assyrian records. his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer. Ancient records refer to the murder of Sennacherib by an unnamed son on the 20th of the month of Tebet in the 23rd year of Sennacherib's reign. Ararat. See note on Gen 8:4. Esarhaddon his son became king in his place. And reigned 681–669 B.C. Assyrian inscriptions speak of a struggle among Sennacherib's sons for the right of succession to the Assyrian throne. Sennacherib's designation of Esarhaddon as heir apparent, even though he was younger than several of his brothers, may have sparked the abortive attempt at a coup by Adrammelech and Sharezer.
20:1 In those days. Hezekiah's illness (vv. 1–11) as well as his reception of envoys from Babylon (vv. 12–19) must have preceded the Assyrian campaign in 701 B.C. (see v. 6; see also notes on vv. 12–13). Babylonian records indicate that Merodach-baladan (v. 12) died in Elam after being expelled from Babylon in 703. Set your house in order. Arrangements of a testamentary nature needed to be made, especially with respect to throne succession. you shall die. Assuming that Hezekiah was 25 years old in 715 when he began his sole reign (see 18:2) and that his illness occurred a little more than 15 years prior to his death (see note on v. 6), he would have been about 37 or 38 years old at this time.
20:3 walked before You in truth . . . and have done what is good. Hezekiah's prayer is not an appeal for divine favor that is based on good works, but it expresses the realization that the Lord graciously favors those who earnestly serve Him (see note on 2 Sam 22:21).

dle court, the word of the LORD came to him, saying,

5 "Return and say to [a]Hezekiah the leader of My people, 'Thus says the LORD, the God of your father David, "[b]I have heard your prayer, [c]I have seen your tears; behold, I will heal you. On the third day you shall go up to the house of the LORD.

6 "I will add fifteen years to your [1]life, and I will deliver you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria; and [a]I will defend this city for My own sake and for My servant David's sake." ' "

7 Then Isaiah said, "Take a cake of figs." And they took and laid it on the boil, and he recovered.

8 Now Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "What will be the sign that the LORD will heal me, and that I shall go up to the house of the LORD the third day?"

9 Isaiah said, "[a]This shall be the sign to you from the LORD, that the LORD will do the thing that He has spoken: shall the shadow go forward ten steps or go back ten steps?"

10 So Hezekiah [1]answered, "It is easy for the shadow to decline ten steps; no, but let the shadow turn backward ten steps."

11 Isaiah the prophet cried to the LORD, and [a]He brought the shadow on the [1]stairway back ten steps by which it had gone down on the [1]stairway of Ahaz.

Hezekiah Shows Babylon His Treasures

12 [a]At that time [1]Berodach-baladan a son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present to Hezekiah, for he heard that Hezekiah had been sick.

13 Hezekiah listened to them, and showed them [a]all his treasure house, the silver and the gold and the spices and the precious oil and the house of his armor and all that was found in his treasuries. There was nothing in his house nor in all his dominion that Hezekiah did not show them.

14 Then Isaiah the prophet came to King Hezekiah and said to him, "What did these men say, and from where have they come to you?" And Hezekiah said, "They have come from a far country, from Babylon."

15 He said, "What have they seen in your house?" So Hezekiah [1]answered, "They have seen all that is in my house; there is nothing among my treasuries that I have not shown them."

16 Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of the LORD.

17 'Behold, the days are coming when [a]all that is in your house, and all that your fathers have laid up in store to this day will be carried to Babylon; nothing shall be left,' says the LORD.

18 'Some [a]of your sons who shall issue from you, whom you will beget, will be taken away; and they will become [b]officials in the palace of the king of Babylon.' "

19 Then Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "The word of the LORD which you have spoken is [a]good." For he [1]thought, "Is it not so, if there will be peace and truth in my days?"

20 [a]Now the rest of the acts of Hezekiah and all his might, and how he [b]made the 20:5 I will heal you. God is the one who sovereignly ordains all that comes to pass (Ps 139:16; Eph 1:11). Hezekiah's petition and God's response demonstrate that (1) divine sovereignty does not make prayer inappropriate but, on the contrary, it establishes it, and (2) both prayer and the divine response to prayer are to be included in one's conception of God's sovereign plan (see 1 Kin 21:29; Ezek 33:13–16).

20:6 add fifteen years to your life. Hezekiah died in 686 B.C. The beginning of the extension of his life is thus to be placed no later than 702. for My own sake and for My servant David's sake. See 19:34; see also note on 1 Kin 11:13.

20:7 cake. The Lord healed Hezekiah (see v. 5), but divine healing does not necessarily exclude the use of known remedies.

20:9 steps. See v. 11 (see also note on Is 38:8).

20:12 Berodach-baladan. Or, as in NASB marg., "Merodach-baladan." The name means "(The god) Marduk has given me a son." He ruled in Babylon 721–710 B.C. before being forced to submit to Assyrian domination by Sargon II of Assyria. Sometime after Sargon's death in 705, Berodach-baladan briefly reestablished Babylonian independence and ruled in Babylon until Sennacherib forced him to flee in 703 (see note on v. 1). sent letters and a present to Hezekiah. See 2 Chr 32:31; Is 39. It is likely that Berodach-baladan was attempting to draw Hezekiah into an alliance against Assyria. Although Hezekiah rejected the pro-Assyrian policies of his father Ahaz (see 16:7) and rebelled against Assyria (see 18:7), he erred in seeking to strengthen Israel's security by friendship with Babylon and Egypt (see 2 Chr 32:31; Is 30–31; see also notes on 1 Sam 17:11; 1 Kin 15:19).

20:13 listened to them, and showed them all. Hezekiah's reception of the delegation from Babylon was overly hospitable. Perhaps it was an attempt to bolster Judah's security by impressing the Babylonians with the wealth and power of his kingdom as a basis for mutual cooperation against the Assyrians. In principle this was a denial of the covenantal nature of the royal office in Israel (see note on 2 Sam 24:1). silver . . . oil. The presence of these treasures in Jerusalem is evidence that this incident occurred before the payment of tribute to Sennacherib in 701 B.C. (see 18:15–16).

20:14 What did these men say . . . ? Hezekiah gave no response to Isaiah's question concerning the diplomatic purpose of the Babylonian envoys.

20:17 carried to Babylon. Hezekiah's reception of the Babylonians would bring the exact opposite of what he desired and expected. Isaiah's prediction of Babylonian exile at least 115 years before it happened is all the more remarkable because, when he spoke, it appeared that Assyria rather than Babylon was the world power from whom Judah had the most to fear.

20:18 Some of your sons . . . will be taken away. Hezekiah's own son Manasseh was taken by the Assyrians and held prisoner for a while in Babylon (see 2 Chr 33:11); later, many more from the house of David were to follow (see 24:15; 25:7; Dan 1:3).

20:19 word . . . is good. Although it is possible to understand Hezekiah's statement as a selfish expression of relief that he himself would not experience the announced adversity, it seems better to take it as a humble acceptance of the Lord's judgment (see 2 Chr 32:26) and as gratefulness for the intervening time of peace that the Lord in His mercy was granting to His people.

Manasseh Succeeds Hezekiah

21 [a]Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Hephzibah.

2 [a]He did evil in the sight of the LORD, [b]according to the abominations of the nations whom the LORD dispossessed before the sons of Israel.

5 For he built altars for [a]all the host of heaven in [b]the two courts of the house of the LORD.

8 "And I [a]will not make the feet of Israel wander anymore from the land which I gave their fathers, if only they will observe to do according to all that I have commanded them, and according to all the law that My servant Moses commanded them."

9 But they did not listen, and Manasseh [a]seduced them to do evil more than the nations whom the LORD destroyed before the sons of Israel.

The King's Idolatries Rebuked

10 Now the LORD spoke through His servants the prophets, saying,

11 "[a]Because Manasseh king of Judah has done these abominations, [b]having done wickedly more than all the Amorites did who were before him, and [c]has also made Judah sin [d]with his idols;

12 therefore thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, 'Behold, I am bringing such calamity on Jerusalem and Judah, that whoever hears of it, [a]both his ears will tingle.

13 '[a]I will stretch over Jerusalem the line of Samaria and the plummet of the house of Ahab, and I will wipe Jerusalem as one wipes a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down.

14 'I will abandon the remnant of My inheritance and deliver them into the hand of their enemies, and they will become as plunder and spoil to all their enemies;

15 because they have done evil in My sight, and have been provoking Me to anger since the day their fathers came from Egypt, even to this day.' "

16 [a]Moreover, Manasseh shed very much innocent blood until he had filled Jerusalem from one end to another; besides his sin

20:20 the pool and the conduit. Hezekiah built a tunnel from the Gihon spring (see 1 Kin 1:33,38) to a cistern (2 Chr 32:30) inside the city's walls (see diagram No. 8 at the end of the study Bible). This greatly reduced Jerusalem's vulnerability to siege by guaranteeing a continuing water supply. In 1880 an inscription (the Siloam inscription; see chart, p. xix) was found in the rock wall at the entrance to this tunnel, describing the method of its construction. The tunnel, cut through solid rock, is over 1,700 feet long; its height varies from 3 2/3 feet to 11 1/2 feet and it averages 2 feet in width. Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. See note on 1 Kin 14:29.

20:21 slept with his fathers. See note on 1 Kin 1:21.

21:1 twelve years old. Manasseh was born after Hezekiah's serious illness (see 20:6). fifty-five years. 697–642 B.C., including a ten-year co-regency (697–686) with his father Hezekiah. This was the longest reign of any king in either Israel or Judah.

21:2 abominations. Manasseh reversed the religious policies of his father Hezekiah (see 18:3–5) and reverted to those of Ahaz (see 16:3).

21:3 high places . . . Hezekiah . . . had destroyed. See note on 18:4; see also 2 Chr 31:1. Asherah. See 1 Kin 14:15,23; 15:13; 16:33. as Ahab. Manasseh was the Ahab of Judah (see 1 Kin 16:30–33). worshiped all the host of heaven. See note on 17:16.

21:11 done wickedly more than all the Amorites. See note on 1 Kin 21:26.

21:12 whoever hears of it, both his ears will tingle. See Jer 19:3.

21:13 line . . . plummet. Instruments normally associated with construction are used here as symbols of destruction (see Is 34:11; Amos 7:7–9,17).

21:14 I will abandon. In the sense of giving over to judgment (see Jer 12:7), not in the sense of abrogation of the covenant (see 1 Sam 12:22; Is 43:1–7). remnant of My inheritance. Upon the destruction of the northern kingdom, Judah had become the remnant of the Lord's inheritance (see 1 Kin 8:51; Deut 4:20; 1 Sam 10:1; Ps 28:9; see also note on 2 Kin 19:4).

21:15 The history of Israel was a history of covenant breaking. With the reign of Manasseh the cup of God's wrath overflowed, and the judgment of exile from the land of promise (see note on 17:7–23) became inevitable (see 24:1–4).

21:16 innocent blood. A reference to godly people and perhaps even prophets who were martyred for opposition to [b]with which he made Judah sin, in doing evil in the sight of the LORD.

17 [a]Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh and all that he did and his sin which he [1]committed, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

18 [a]And Manasseh slept with his fathers and was buried in the garden of his own house, [b]in the garden of Uzza, and Amon his son became king in his place.

Amon Succeeds Manasseh

19 [a]Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Meshullemeth the daughter of Haruz of Jotbah.

20 He did evil in the sight of the LORD, [a]as Manasseh his father had done.

21 For he walked in all the way that his father had walked, and served the idols that his father had served and worshiped them.

22 So [a]he forsook the LORD, the God of his fathers, and did not walk in the way of the LORD.

23 [a]The servants of Amon conspired against him and killed the king in his own house.

24 Then [a]the people of the land [1]killed all those who had conspired against King Amon, and the people of the land made Josiah his son king in his place.

25 Now the rest of the acts of Amon which he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

26 He was buried in his grave [a]in the garden of Uzza, and Josiah his son became king in his place.

Josiah Succeeds Amon

22 [a]Josiah was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Jedidah the daughter of Adaiah of [b]Bozkath.

2 He did right in the sight of the LORD and walked in all the way of his father David, nor did he [a]turn aside to the right or to the left.

3 Now [a]in the eighteenth year of King Josiah, the king sent Shaphan, the son of Azaliah the son of Meshullam the scribe, to the house of the LORD saying,

4 "[a]Go up to Hilkiah the high priest that he may [1]count the money brought in to the house of the LORD which the doorkeepers have gathered from the people.

5 "[a]Let them deliver it into the hand of the workmen who have the oversight of the house of the LORD, and let them give it to the workmen who are in the house of the LORD to repair the [1]damages of the house,

6 to the carpenters and the builders and the masons and for buying timber and hewn stone to repair the house.

7 "Only [a]no accounting shall be made with them for the money delivered into their hands, for they deal faithfully."

The Lost Book

8 Then Hilkiah the high priest said to Shaphan the scribe, "[a]I have found the book of the law in the house of the LORD." And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan who read it.

9 Shaphan the scribe came to the king and brought back word to the king and said, "Your servants have emptied out the money

Manasseh's evil practices (see vv. 10–11). According to a Jewish tradition (not otherwise substantiated) Isaiah was sawed in two during Manasseh's reign (cf. Heb 11:37).

21:17 rest of the acts of Manasseh. See 2 Chr 33:12–19. Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. See note on 1 Kin 14:29.

21:18 slept with his fathers. See note on 1 Kin 1:21. Uzza. Probably a shortened form of Uzziah (see 14:21–22 and 15:1–7, Azariah; 2 Chr 26, Uzziah).

21:19 two years. 642–640 B.C. Jotbah. Some identify it with the Jotbathah of Num 33:33–34 and Deut 10:7, near Eziongeber. Others, including the church father Jerome, have located it in Judah.

21:20 did evil. Amon did not share in the change of heart that characterized his father Manasseh in the last days of his life (see 2 Chr 33:12–19). He must have restored the idolatrous practices that Manasseh abolished because these were again in existence in the time of Josiah (see 23:5–7,12).

21:23 conspired against him. Whether this palace revolt was motivated by religious or political considerations is not known.

21:24 people of the land. The citizenry in general (see 11:14,18; 14:21; 23:30). killed all those who had conspired against King Amon. It is not clear whether this counterinsurgency was motivated simply by loyalty to the house of David or by other factors.

21:25 Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. See note on 1 Kin 14:29.

21:26 Uzza. See note on v. 18.

22:1 thirty-one years. 640–609 B.C. (see note on 21:19). Bozkath. Located in Judah in the vicinity of Lachish (see Josh 15:39).

22:2 way of his father David. See note on 18:3. Josiah was the last godly king of the Davidic line prior to the exile. Jeremiah, who prophesied during the time of Josiah (see Jer 1:2), spoke highly of him (Jer 22:15–16). Zephaniah also prophesied in the early days of his reign (Zeph 1:1).

22:3 eighteenth year. 622 B.C. Josiah was then 26 years old (see v. 1). He had begun to serve the Lord faithfully at the age of 16 (the 8th year of his reign, 2 Chr 34:3). When he was 20 years old (the 12th year of his reign, 2 Chr 34:3), he had already begun to purge the land of its idolatrous practices. the scribe. Probably refers back to Shaphan (see v. 12). For the duties of such a scribe see note on 2 Sam 8:17. Two additional individuals are mentioned as accompanying Shaphan in 2 Chr 34:8.

22:4 Hilkiah. Father of Azariah and grandfather of Seraiah, the high priest executed at the time of the destruction of Jerusalem by the Babylonians (see 25:18–20). It is unlikely that this Hilkiah was also the father of Jeremiah (see Jer 1:1). money . . . the doorkeepers have gathered. Josiah used the method devised by Joash for collecting funds for the restoration of the temple (see 12:1–16; 2 Chr 34:9).

22:5 workmen who have the oversight. See 2 Chr 34:12–13.

22:8 book of the law. Some interpreters hold that this refers to a copy of the entire Pentateuch, while others understand it as a reference to a copy of part or all of Deuteronomy alone (see Deut 31:24,26; 2 Chr 34:14).

that was found in the house, and have delivered it into the hand of the workmen who have the oversight of the house of the LORD."

10 Moreover, Shaphan the scribe told the king saying, "Hilkiah the priest has given me a book." And Shaphan read it in the presence of the king.

11 When the king heard the words of the book of the law, [a]he tore his clothes.

12 Then the king commanded Hilkiah the priest, [a]Ahikam the son of Shaphan, [1][b]Achbor the son of Micaiah, Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiah the king's servant saying,

13 "Go, inquire of the LORD for me and the people and all Judah concerning the words of this book that has been found, for [a]great is the wrath of the LORD that burns against us, because our fathers have not listened to the words of this book, to do according to all that is written concerning us."

Huldah Predicts

14 So Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam, Achbor, Shaphan, and Asaiah went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of [1][a]Tikvah, the son of Harhas, keeper of the wardrobe (now she lived in Jerusalem in the [b]Second Quarter); and they spoke to her.

15 She said to them, "Thus says the LORD God of Israel, 'Tell the man who sent you to me, 16 thus says the LORD, "Behold, I [a]bring evil on this place and on its inhabitants, even all the words of the book which the king of Judah has read.

17 "[a]Because they have forsaken Me and have burned incense to other gods that they might provoke Me to anger with all the work of their hands, therefore My wrath burns against this place, and it shall not be quenched." '

18 "But to [a]the king of Judah who sent you to inquire of the LORD thus shall you say to him, 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel, "Regarding the words which you have heard, 19 [a]because your heart was tender and [b]you humbled yourself before the LORD when you heard what I spoke against this place and against its inhabitants that they should become [c]a desolation and a [d]curse, and you have [e]torn your clothes and wept before Me, I truly have heard you," declares the LORD.

20 "Therefore, behold, I will gather you to your fathers, and [a]you will be gathered to your grave in peace, and your eyes will not see all the evil which I will bring on this place." ' " So they brought back word to the king.

Josiah's Covenant

23 [a]Then the king sent, and they gathered to him all the elders of Judah and of Jerusalem.

2 The king went up to the house of the LORD and all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem with him, and the priests and the prophets and all the people, both small and great; and [a]he read in their hearing all the words of the book of the covenant [b]which was found in the house of the LORD.

3 [a]The king stood by the pillar and made a covenant before the LORD, [b]to walk after the LORD, and to keep His commandments and His testimonies and His statutes with all his heart and all his soul, to carry out the words of this covenant that were written in this book. And all the people [1]entered into the covenant.

22:11 tore his clothes. See note on 18:37; contrast Josiah's reaction with that of Jehoiakim to the words of the scroll written by Jeremiah (see Jer 36:24). Perhaps the covenant curses of Lev 26 and/or Deut 28, climaxing with the threat of exile, were the statements that especially disturbed Josiah.

22:12 Ahikam. Father of Gedaliah, who was later to be appointed governor of Judah by Nebuchadnezzar (see 25:22; Jer 39:14). He was also the protector of Jeremiah when his life was threatened during the reign of Jehoiakim (see Jer 26:24). Achbor. His son Elnathan is mentioned in 24:8; Jer 26:22; 36:12. Shaphan the scribe. See note on v. 3.

22:14 Huldah the prophetess. Why the delegation sought out Huldah rather than Jeremiah or Zephaniah is not known. Perhaps it was merely a matter of her accessibility in Jerusalem. Shallum . . . keeper of the wardrobe. Perhaps the same Shallum who was the uncle of Jeremiah (see Jer 32:7). Second Quarter. A section of the city probably located in a newly developed area between the first and second walls in the northwest part of Jerusalem (see 2 Chr 33:14; Zeph 1:10).

22:16 this place. Jerusalem.

22:19 your heart was tender. See v. 11.

22:20 gather you to your fathers. See note on 1 Kin 1:21. you will be gathered to your grave in peace. This prediction refers to Josiah's death before God's judgment on Judah through Nebuchadnezzar and so is not contradicted by his death in battle with Pharaoh Neco of Egypt (see 23:29–30). Josiah was assured that the final judgment on Judah and Jerusalem would not come in his own days.

23:1 elders. See note on 10:1.

23:2 book of the covenant. Although this designation is used in Ex 24:7 with reference to the contents of Ex 20–23, it is here applied to either all or part of the book of Deuteronomy or the entire Mosaic law. Whatever else the scroll contained, it clearly included the covenant curses of Lev 26 and/or Deut 28 (see notes on v. 21; 22:8,11).

23:3 pillar. See note on 11:14. made a covenant. Josiah carries out the function of covenant mediator; cf. Moses (Ex 24:3–8; Deut 1–34), Joshua (Josh 24), Samuel (1 Sam 11:14–12:25) and Jehoiada (2 Kin 11:17). walk after the LORD. See notes on 1 Sam 12:14,20. entered into the covenant. It is likely that some sort of ratification rite was performed, in which the people participated and pledged by oath to be loyal to their covenant obligations. Whether this was done symbolically (see Jer 34:18) or verbally (see Deut 27:11–26) is not clear.

23:4 doorkeepers. See 12:9. Baal, for Asherah. See note on 1 Kin 14:15. host of heaven. See note on 17:16. carried their

the temple of the LORD all the vessels that were made for Baal, for [2]Asherah, and for all the host of heaven; and [c]he burned them outside Jerusalem in the fields of the Kidron, and carried their ashes to Bethel.

5 He did away with the idolatrous priests whom the kings of Judah had appointed to burn incense in the high places in the cities of Judah and in the surrounding area of Jerusalem, also those who burned incense to Baal, to the sun and to the moon and to the constellations and to all the [a]host of heaven.

6 He brought out the Asherah from the house of the LORD outside Jerusalem to the brook Kidron, and burned it at the brook Kidron, and [a]ground it to dust, and [b]threw its dust on the graves of the [1]common people.

7 He also broke down the houses of the [a]male cult prostitutes which were in the house of the LORD, where [b]the women were weaving [1]hangings for the Asherah.

8 Then he brought all the priests from the cities of Judah, and defiled the high places where the priests had burned incense, from [a]Geba to Beersheba; and he broke down the high places of the gates which were at the entrance of the gate of Joshua the governor of the city, which were on one's left at the city gate.

9 Nevertheless [a]the priests of the high places did not go up to the altar of the LORD in Jerusalem, but they ate unleavened bread among their brothers.

10 [a]He also defiled [1]Topheth, which is in the valley of the son of Hinnom, [b]that no man might make his son or his daughter pass through the fire for [c]Molech.

12 [a]The altars which were on the roof, the upper chamber of Ahaz, which the kings of Judah had made, and [b]the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courts of the house of the LORD, the king broke down; and he [1]smashed them there and [c]threw their dust into the brook Kidron.

ashes to Bethel. See vv. 15–16. Bethel was located just over the border between Judah and the former northern kingdom in territory nominally under Assyrian control. With a decline in Assyrian power, Josiah was able to exert his own influence in the north. He apparently deposited the ashes at Bethel in order to desecrate (see note on v. 14) the very place where golden calf worship had originally polluted the land (see notes on 1 Kin 12:28–30).

23:5 idolatrous priests. See Hos 10:5; Zeph 1:4. kings of Judah. A reference to Manasseh and Amon, and perhaps to Ahaz before them. high places. See note on 18:4.

23:6 Asherah. See note on 1 Kin 14:15. The Asherah destroyed by Hezekiah (18:4) was reintroduced by Manasseh (21:7). When Manasseh turned to the Lord, it is likely that he too got rid of the Asherah (see 2 Chr 33:15) and that it was then again reintroduced by Amon (2 Kin 21:21; 2 Chr 33:22). threw its dust on the graves of the common people. Intended as a defilement of the goddess, not as a desecration of the graves of the poor (see Jer 26:23).

23:7 male cult prostitutes. See note on 1 Kin 14:24.

23:8 defiled the high places. See note on 18:4. Geba to Beersheba. Geba was on the northern border of the southern kingdom (see 1 Kin 15:22), and Beersheba was on its southern border (see note on 1 Sam 3:20).

23:9 ate unleavened bread among their brothers. Although not permitted to serve at the temple altar, these priests were to be sustained by a share of the priestly provisions (see Lev 2:10; 6:16–18). They occupied a status similar to that of priests with physical defects (see Lev 21:16–23).

23:10 Topheth. The name of an area in the Valley of Hinnom where altars used for child sacrifice were located (see Is 30:33; Jer 7:31; 19:5–6). make his son or his daughter pass through the fire. See 17:17; 21:6; see also note on 16:3. Molech. See note on 1 Kin 11:5.

23:11 horses . . . given to the sun. If live, the horses may have been used to pull chariots bearing images of a sun-god in religious processions. Small images of horses have recently been found in a cult place just outside one of the ancient walls of Jerusalem. Nathan-melech. Perhaps the official in charge of the chariots.

23:12 altars . . . on the roof. Altars dedicated to the worship of all the starry hosts (see Jer 19:13; Zeph 1:5)—erected by Ahaz (2 Kin 16:3–4,10–16), Manasseh (21:3) and Amon (21:21–22).

23:13 high places . . . Solomon . . . had built. See note on 1 Kin 11:5.

23:14 filled their places with human bones. The bones would defile these sites and make them unsuitable for cultic use in the future (see Num 19:16).

23:15 altar that was at Bethel. See 1 Kin 12:32–33. Nothing is said of the golden calf, which undoubtedly had been sent to Assyria as tribute at the time of the captivity of the northern kingdom (see Hos 10:5–6).

23:16 graves. Of the priests of the Bethel sanctuary (see 1 Kin 13:2). burned them on the altar and defiled it. See notes on vv. 6,14. the man of God . . . who proclaimed these things. See 1 Kin 13:1–2,32.

17 Then he said, "What is this monument that I see?" And the men of the city told him, "[a]It is the grave of the man of God who came from Judah and proclaimed these things which you have done against the altar of Bethel."

18 He said, "Let him alone; let no one disturb his bones." So they [1]left his bones undisturbed [a]with the bones of the prophet who came from Samaria.

19 Josiah also removed all the houses of the high places which were [a]in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made provoking [1]the LORD; and he did to them [2]just as he had done in Bethel.

20 All the priests of the high places who were there [a]he slaughtered on the altars and burned human bones on them; then he returned to Jerusalem.

Passover Reinstituted

21 Then the king commanded all the people saying, "[a]Celebrate the Passover to the LORD your God [b]as it is written in this book of the covenant."

22 [a]Surely such a Passover had not been celebrated from the days of the judges who judged Israel, nor in all the days of the kings of Israel and of the kings of Judah.

23 But in the eighteenth year of King Josiah, this Passover was observed to the LORD in Jerusalem.

24 Moreover, Josiah [1]removed [a]the mediums and the spiritists and the [b]teraphim and [c]the idols and all the abominations that were seen in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, [d]that he might [2]confirm the words of the law which were written [e]in the book that Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the LORD.

25 Before him there was no king [a]like him who turned to the LORD with all his heart and with all his soul and with all his might, according to all the law of Moses; nor did any like him arise after him.

26 However, the LORD did not turn from the fierceness of His great wrath with which His anger burned against Judah, [a]because of all the provocations with which Manasseh had provoked Him.

27 The LORD said, "I will remove Judah also from My sight, [a]as I have removed Israel. And [b]I will cast off Jerusalem, this city which I have chosen, and the [1]temple of which I said, 'My name shall be there.' "

Jehoahaz Succeeds Josiah

28 Now the rest of the acts of Josiah and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

29 [a]In his days [b]Pharaoh Neco king of Egypt went up to the king of Assyria to the river Euphrates. And King Josiah went to meet him, and when Pharaoh Neco saw him he killed him at [c]Megiddo.

30 [a]His servants drove [1]his body in a chariot from Megiddo, and brought him to Jerusalem and buried him in his own tomb. [b]Then the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah and anointed him and 23:18 prophet who came from Samaria. See 1 Kin 13:31–32. Samaria is here not to be understood as the city by that name since the prophet came from Bethel (see 1 Kin 13:11), and the city Samaria did not yet exist (see 1 Kin 16:24). Rather, it is to be taken as a designation for the entire area of the former northern kingdom (see notes on 17:24,29; 1 Kin 13:32).

23:20 All the priests of the high places . . . he slaughtered. These were non-Levitical priests of the apostate worship practiced in the area of the former northern kingdom (see notes on 17:27–28,33–34). They were treated like the pagan priests of Judah (see v. 5) in contrast to Josiah's treatment of the priests at the high places in Judah (see vv. 8–9). Josiah's actions in this matter conformed to the requirements of Deut 13; 17:2–7.

23:21 Celebrate the Passover. A more complete description of this observance is found in 2 Chr 35:1–19. as it is written in this book of the covenant. See note on v. 2. This appears to refer to Deut 16:1–8, where the Passover is described in a communal setting at a sanctuary (see Ex 23:15–17; 34:23–24; Lev 23:4–14) rather than in the family setting of Ex 12:1–14,43–49.

23:22 The uniqueness of Josiah's Passover celebration seems to be in the fact that all the Passover lambs were slaughtered exclusively by the Levites (see 2 Chr 35:1–19; cf. 2 Chr 30:2–3,17–20 for the Passover observed in the time of Hezekiah).

23:23 eighteenth year. See note on 22:3.

23:24 teraphim. See note on Gen 31:19. words of the law. See notes on v. 2; 22:8.

23:25 no king like him. See note on 18:5. with all his heart . . . soul and . . . might. See Dt 6:5.

23:26 However, the LORD did not turn from the fierceness of His great wrath. The judgment against Judah and Jerusalem was postponed but not rescinded because of Josiah's reformation (see notes on 21:15; 22:20).

23:27 as I have removed Israel. See 17:18–23. Jerusalem, this city which I have chosen. See 21:4,7,13. the temple of which I said, 'My name shall be there.' See note on 1 Kin 8:16.

23:28 Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. See note on 1 Kin 14:29.

23:29 Pharaoh Neco king of Egypt. Ruled 610–595 B.C. went up to the king of Assyria. Pharaoh Neco intended to help Ashuruballit II, the last Assyrian king, in his struggle against the rising power of Babylon under Nabopolassar. The Assyrian capital, Nineveh, had already fallen to the Babylonians and Medes in 612 (see the book of Nahum). The remaining Assyrian forces had regrouped at Haran, but in 609 they were forced west of the Euphrates. It appears to be at this time that the Egyptians under Neco were coming to the Assyrians' aid. King Josiah went to meet him. Perhaps Josiah opposed the passage of Neco's army through the pass at Megiddo (see 2 Chr 35:20–24) because he feared that the growth of either Egyptian or Assyrian power would have adverse results for the continued independence of Judah.

23:30 buried him in his own tomb. See 2 Chr 35:24–25. people of the land. See note on 21:24. Jehoahaz the son of Josiah. Jehoahaz's name was originally Shallum (see 1 Chr 3:15; Jer 22:11), which was probably changed to Jehoahaz at the time of his accession to the throne. Perhaps Jehoahaz was chosen by the people over Jehoiakim because it was known that Jehoiakim favored a pro-Egyptian policy instead of the anti-Egyptian policy of Josiah and Jehoahaz. anointed him. See note on 1 Sam 9:16.

made him king in place of his father.

31 [a]Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was [b]Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

32 He did evil in the sight of the LORD, [a]according to all that his fathers had done.

33 [a]Pharaoh Neco imprisoned him at [b]Riblah in the land of [c]Hamath, that he might not reign in Jerusalem; and he imposed on the land a fine of one hundred talents of silver and a talent of gold.

Jehoiakim Made King by Pharaoh

34 Pharaoh Neco made [a]Eliakim the son of Josiah king in the place of Josiah his father, and [b]changed his name to Jehoiakim. But he took Jehoahaz away and [1c]brought him to Egypt, and he died there.

35 So Jehoiakim [a]gave the silver and gold to Pharaoh, but he taxed the land in order to give the money at the [1]command of Pharaoh. He exacted the silver and gold from the people of the land, each according to his valuation, to give it to Pharaoh Neco.

36 [a]Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Zebidah the daughter of Pedaiah of Rumah.

Babylon Controls Jehoiakim

24 [a]In his days Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up, and Jehoiakim became his servant for three years; then he turned and rebelled against him.

2 The LORD sent against him [a]bands of Chaldeans, [b]bands of Arameans, [c]bands of Moabites, and bands of Ammonites. So He sent them against Judah to destroy it, [d]according to the word of the LORD which He had spoken through His servants the prophets.

3 [a]Surely at the [1]command of the LORD it came upon Judah, to remove them from His sight [b]because of the sins of Manasseh, according to all that he had done,

4 and [a]also for the innocent blood which he shed, for he filled Jerusalem with innocent blood; and the LORD would not forgive.

5 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoiakim and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

Jehoiachin Reigns

6 So [a]Jehoiakim slept with his fathers, and Jehoiachin his son became king in his place.

23:31 three months. In 609 B.C. Jeremiah. Not the prophet (see Jer 1:1). Libnah. See note on 8:22.

23:32 evil . . . according to . . . his fathers. See 16:3; 21:2,21; Ezek 19:3.

23:33 imprisoned him at Riblah. By either deception or overt force the Egyptians were able to take Jehoahaz captive and impose tribute on Judah (see 2 Chr 36:3). Jehoahaz was imprisoned at Neco's military headquarters established at Riblah on the Orontes River. Nebuchadnezzar was later to make his headquarters at the same place (see 25:6,20).

23:34 Eliakim the son of Josiah. Eliakim was an older brother of Jehoahaz (see 1 Chr 3:15). Perhaps he had been bypassed earlier as a successor to Josiah because of a pro-Egyptian political stance. changed his name to Jehoiakim. The meaning of these two names is similar (Eliakim, "God has established"; Jehoiakim, "Yahweh has established"). Perhaps Neco wanted to use the name change to imply that his actions were sanctioned by Yahweh, the God of Judah (see 18:25; 2 Chr 35:21). In any case, the change in name indicated that Jehoiakim was subject to Neco's authority. took Jehoahaz . . . to Egypt, and he died there. See 2 Chr 36:4; Jer 22:10–12.

23:35 from the people of the land. The tribute for Neco was raised by a graduated tax placed on the very people who had supported the kingship of Jehoahaz (see v. 30). Menahem of the northern kingdom had used a similar method of raising funds for tribute (see 15:20).

23:36 eleven years. 609–598 B.C.

23:37 did evil in the sight of the LORD. Jehoiakim was responsible for the murder of the prophet Uriah from Kiriath-jearim (Jer 26:20–24), and his rule was characterized by dishonesty, oppression and injustice (see Jer 22:13–19). He reintroduced idolatrous worship in the temple (see Ezek 8:5–17) and refused to accept the word of the Lord through Jeremiah (see Jer 36). his fathers. Manasseh (21:1–18) and Amon (21:19–26).

24:1 Nebuchadnezzar. Means "O (god) Nabu, protect my son!" He was the son of Nabopolassar (see note on 23:29) and the most powerful king of the Neo-Babylonian empire (612–539 B.C.), reigning 605–562 (see Dan 1–4). came up. In 605 Nebuchadnezzar, the crown prince and commander of the Babylonian army, defeated Pharaoh Neco and the Egyptians at the battle of Carchemish and again at Hamath (see 23:29; Jer 46:2). These victories had far-reaching implications in the geopolitical power structure of the eastern Mediterranean world. Nebuchadnezzar went on to conquer all of the "Hatti-country," which, according to Babylonian records, included the "city of Judah." Daniel was among the Judahite hostages taken at this time (see Dan 1:1). Perhaps as early as Sept. 6, 605, Nebuchadnezzar acceded to the Babylonian throne upon the death of his father. three years. Probably 604–602. In 604 Nebuchadnezzar returned to the west and took tribute from "all the kings of Hatti-land." It is likely that Jehoiakim was included among these kings. turned and rebelled. In 601 Nebuchadnezzar again marched west against Egypt and was repulsed by strong Egyptian resistance. This may have encouraged Jehoiakim's rebellion, even though Jeremiah had warned against it (see Jer 27:9–11).

24:2 The LORD sent against him . . . Chaldeans . . . Arameans . . . Moabites . . . Ammonites. Reaction to Jehoiakim's rebellion was swift. Babylonian (Chaldean) troops, perhaps garrisoned in Aram, along with troops of other loyal vassals, were sent to put down the Judahite rebellion.

24:3 sins of Manasseh. See 21:11–12; 23:26–27; Jer 15:3–4.

24:4 innocent blood. See note on 21:16. would not forgive. See 22:17.

24:5 Chronicles of the Kings of Judah. See note on 1 Kin 14:29.

24:6 slept with his fathers. See note on 1 Kin 1:21. Jehoiakim died shortly before Jerusalem fell to the Babylonian siege (see vv. 8–12). Whether his death was due to natural causes or political intrigue is not indicated.

7 [a]The king of Egypt did not come out of his land again, [b]for the king of Babylon had taken all that belonged to the king of Egypt from [c]the brook of Egypt to the river Euphrates.

8 [a]Jehoiachin was [b]eighteen years old when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Nehushta the daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem.

9 He did evil in the sight of the LORD, [a]according to all that his father had done.

Deportation to Babylon

10 At that time the servants of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon went up to Jerusalem, and the city came under siege.

11 And Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon came to the city, while his servants were besieging it.

12 [a]Jehoiachin the king of Judah went out to the king of Babylon, he and his mother and his servants and his captains and his officials. So [b]the king of Babylon took him captive in the eighth year of his reign.

13 [a]He carried out from there all the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king's house, and [b]cut in pieces all the vessels of gold [c]which Solomon king of Israel had made in the temple of the LORD, just as the LORD had said.

14 Then [a]he led away into exile all Jerusalem and all the captains and all the mighty men of valor, [b]ten thousand captives, and [c]all the craftsmen and the smiths. None remained [d]except the poorest people of the land.

15 So [a]he led Jehoiachin away into exile to Babylon; also the king's mother and the king's wives and his officials and the leading men of the land, he led away into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon.

16 All the men of valor, [a]seven thousand, and the craftsmen and the smiths, one thousand, all strong and fit for war, and these the king of Babylon brought into exile to Babylon.

Zedekiah Made King

17 [a]Then the king of Babylon made [1]his uncle Mattaniah king in his place, and changed his name to Zedekiah.

18 [a]Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was [b]Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

19 He did evil in the sight of the LORD, [a]according to all that Jehoiakim had done.

20 For [a]through the anger of the LORD this came about in Jerusalem and Judah until He cast them out from His presence. And [b]Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

Nebuchadnezzar Besieges Jerusalem

25 [a]Now in the ninth year of his reign, on the tenth day of the tenth month, [b]Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came, he and all his army, against Jerusalem, camped against it and [c]built a siege wall all around [1]it.

2 So the city was under siege until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah.

24:7 The king of Egypt did not come out of his land again. This was due to the Egyptian defeat at Carchemish (see Jer 46:2) in 605 B.C., and it explains why Jehoiakim received no help from Egypt in his rebellion against the Babylonians. brook of Egypt. See note on 1 Kin 8:65.

24:8 three months. In 598–597 B.C. Babylonian records place the fall of Jerusalem to Nebuchadnezzar on Mar. 16, 597. This means that the three-month and ten-day reign (see 2 Chr 36:9–10) of Jehoiachin began in December, 598.

24:9 according to all that his father had done. See 23:37; Jer 22:20–30.

24:11 Nebuchadnezzar the king . . . came to the city. Babylonian records say that Nebuchadnezzar "encamped against the city of Judah, and on the second day of the month of Addaru [i.e., Mar. 16, 597 B.C.] he seized the city and captured the king."

24:12 eighth year. April, 597 B.C. (see 2 Chr 36:10; see also note on Jer 52:28, where a different system of dating is reflected).

24:13 As the LORD had said. See 20:13,17.

24:14 ten thousand. This figure may include the 7,000 fighting men and 1,000 craftsmen mentioned in v. 16 (see note on Jer 52:28, where a different number of captives is mentioned).

24:15 Jehoiachin away into exile to Babylon. Fulfilling Jeremiah's prophecy (Jer 22:24–27; see 2 Kin 25:27–30).

24:17 his uncle Mattaniah. Mattaniah was a son of Josiah (see 1 Chr 3:15; Jer 1:3) and brother of Jehoiachin's father, Jehoiakim. changed his name to Zedekiah. Mattaniah's name (meaning "gift of Yahweh") was changed to Zedekiah ("righteousness of Yahweh"). Perhaps Nebuchadnezzar wanted to imply that his actions against Jerusalem and Jehoiachin were just. In any case, the name change signified subjection to Nebuchadnezzar (see note on 23:34).

24:18 eleven years. 597–586 B.C. Jeremiah. See note on 23:31. Libnah. See note on 8:22.

24:19 did evil . . . according to all that Jehoiakim had done. See note on 23:37. During Zedekiah's reign idolatrous practices continued to increase in Jerusalem (see 2 Chr 36:14; Ezek 8–11). He was a weak and indecisive ruler (see Jer 38:5,19), who refused to heed the word of the Lord given through Jeremiah (2 Chr 36:12).

24:20 Zedekiah rebelled. Most interpreters link Zedekiah's revolt with the succession to the Egyptian throne in 589 B.C. of the ambitious pharaoh Apries (Hophra). Zedekiah had sworn allegiance to Nebuchadnezzar (Ezek 17:13), he had sent envoys to Babylon (see Jer 29:3), and he had made a personal visit (see Jer 51:59). However, he seems to have capitulated to the seductive propaganda of the anti-Babylonian and pro-Egyptian faction in Jerusalem (see Jer 37:5; Ezek 17:15–16) in a tragically miscalculated effort to gain independence from Babylon.

25:1 ninth year . . . tenth day . . . tenth month. Jan. 15, 588 B.C. (see Jer 39:1; 52:4; Ezek 24:1–2). Nebuchadnezzar . . . came . . . against Jerusalem. Earlier, Nebuchadnezzar had subdued all the fortified cities in Judah except Lachish and Azekah (see Jer 34:7). A number of Hebrew inscriptions on potsherds were found at Lachish in 1935 and 1938. These Lachish ostraca (or letters; see chart, p. xix) describe conditions at Lachish and Azekah during the Babylonian siege.

25:2–3 eleventh year . . . ninth day . . . fourth month. July 18, 586 B.C. (see Jer 39:2; 52:5–7). Some scholars follow a different dat-

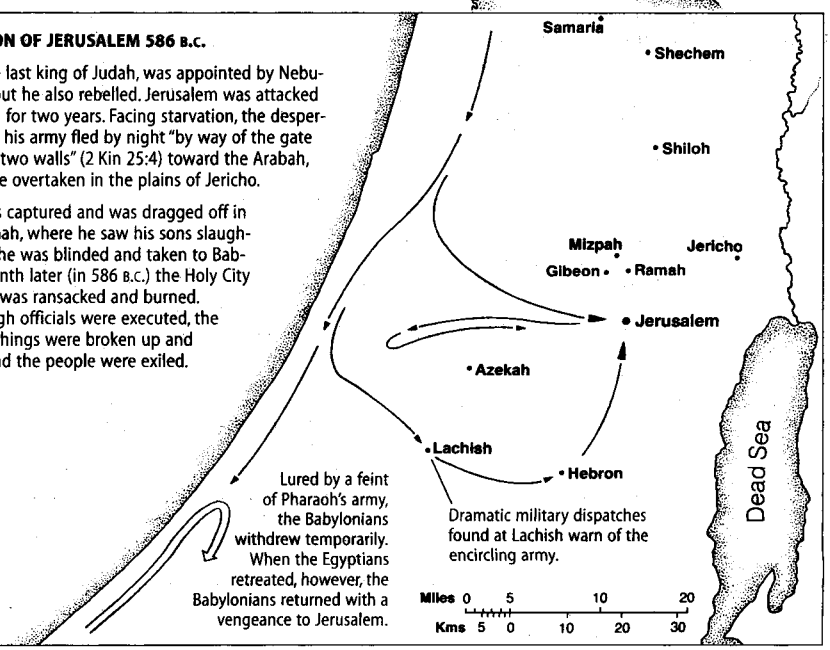
Soon a stronger power appeared in the north in the person of Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Chaldeans (Neo-Babylonians), who determined to follow the fierce policies of his Assyrian predecessors.

The tribute of Jehoiakim was paid at a distance when he heard of Nebuchadnezzar's approach. After three years as a Babylonian vassal, he rebelled, bringing a rapid response in the form of small-scale raids from Babylonians, Arameans, Moabites and Ammonites (c. 602 B.C.). Finally, Nebuchadnezzar's forces controlled all of the coastal territory north of the brook of Egypt.

When 18-year-old Jehoiachin had ruled just three months (597 B.C.), the main Babylonian army struck, capturing Jerusalem and exiling the king as a captive in Babylon. Ten thousand persons were deported.



The Medes yielded to the Persian conqueror Cyrus by 549 B.C.; a decade later the Neo-Babylonian empire fell to the Persians as well. Cyrus initiated a major policy shift, creating an enlightened and humane government that allowed Aramaic-speaking people, including Jews, to hold official posts.

The Chaldeans (Kaldu), as the Neo-Babylonians were called, had important connections at Ur and Haran, centers of worship of the moon-god Sin. They also developed the trade routes across North Arabia, where Tema was particularly important, becoming the residence of Nabonidus during the last days of the kingdom.

DESTRUCTION OF JERUSALEM 586 B.C.

Zedekiah, the last king of Judah, was appointed by Nebuchadnezzar, but he also rebelled. Jerusalem was attacked and besieged for two years. Facing starvation, the desperate king with his army fled by night "by way of the gate between the two walls" (2 Kin 25:4) toward the Arabah, but both were overtaken in the plains of Jericho.

Zedekiah was captured and was dragged off in chains to Riblah, where he saw his sons slaughtered before he was blinded and taken to Babylon. One month later (in 586 B.C.) the Holy City of Jerusalem was ransacked and burned. Numerous high officials were executed, the temple furnishings were broken up and carried off, and the people were exiled.

Lured by a feint of Pharaoh's army, the Babylonians withdrew temporarily. When the Egyptians retreated, however, the Babylonians returned with a vengeance to Jerusalem.

Dramatic military dispatches found at Lachish warn of the encircling army.

3 On the ninth day of the fourth month [a]the famine was so severe in the city that there was no food for the people of the land.

4 [a]Then the city was broken into, and all the men of war fled by night by way of the gate between the two walls beside [b]the king's garden, though the Chaldeans were all around the city. And [1]they went by way of the Arabah.

5 But the army of the Chaldeans pursued the king and overtook him in the plains of Jericho and all his army was scattered from him.

6 Then [a]they captured the king and [b]brought him to the king of Babylon at [c]Riblah, and [1]he passed sentence on him.

7 [a]They slaughtered the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes, then [b]put out the eyes of Zedekiah and bound him with bronze fetters and brought him to Babylon.

Jerusalem Burned and Plundered

8 [a]Now on the seventh day of the [b]fifth month, which was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard, a servant of the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem.

9 [a]He burned the house of the LORD, [b]the king's house, and all the houses of Jerusalem; even every great house he burned with fire.

10 So all the army of the Chaldeans who were with the captain of the guard [a]broke down the walls around Jerusalem.

11 Then [a]the rest of the people who were left in the city and the deserters who had deserted to the king of Babylon and the rest of the people, Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away into exile.

12 But the captain of the guard left some of [a]the poorest of the land to be vinedressers and plowmen.

13 [a]Now the bronze pillars which were in the house of the LORD, and the stands and [b]the bronze sea which were in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans broke in pieces and carried the [1]bronze to Babylon.

14 [a]They took away the pots, the shovels, the snuffers, the spoons, and all the bronze vessels which were used in temple service.

15 The captain of the guard also took away the firepans and the basins, what was fine gold and what was fine silver.

16 The two pillars, the one sea, and the stands which Solomon had made for the house of the LORD—[a]the bronze of all these vessels was beyond weight.

17 [a]The height of the one pillar was eighteen [1]cubits, and a bronze capital was on it; the height of the capital was three [1]cubits, with a network and pomegranates on the capital all around, all of bronze. And the second pillar was like these with network.

18 Then the captain of the guard took [a]Seraiah the chief priest and [b]Zephaniah the second priest, with the three [1]officers of the temple.

19 From the city he took one official who was overseer of the men of war, and [a]five [1]of the king's advisers who were found in the city; and the [2]scribe of the captain of the army who mustered the people of the land; and sixty men of the people of the land who were found in the city.

20 Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard took them and brought them to the king of Babylon at [a]Riblah.

21 Then the king of Babylon struck them down and put them to death at Riblah in the land of Hamath. [a]So Judah was led away into exile from its land.

Gedaliah Made Governor

22 Now as for the people who were left in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had left, he appointed [a]Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan over them.

23 [a]When all the captains of the forces, they and their men, heard that the king of Ezekiel (12:13) had predicted that Zedekiah would be brought to Babylon, but that he would not see it. Zedekiah could have spared his own life and prevented the destruction of Jerusalem if he had listened to Jeremiah (see Jer 38:14–28).

25:17 height of the capital was three cubits. Four and a half feet high. In 1 Kin 7:16 and Jer 52:22 the height of the capital is given as seven and a half feet (five cubits). The two-cubit difference may be due to a copyist's error.

25:18 Seraiah the chief priest. Seraiah was the grandson of Hilkiah (see note on 22:4; see also 22:8; 1 Chr 6:13–14). His son Jehozadak was taken captive to Babylon. Ezra was one of Jehozadak's descendants (see Ezr 7:1).

25:20 brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. See v. 6 and note.

25:21 Judah was led away into exile from its land. Judah's exile from Canaan fulfilled the prediction of judgment given during the reign of Manasseh (see 23:27). Exile was the most dire of the covenant curses (see Lev 26:33; Deut 28:36; see also Jer 25:8–11).

25:22 Gedaliah. See note on 22:12. Gedaliah shared Jeremiah's nonresistance approach to the Babylonians (see v. 24) and won their confidence as a trustworthy governor of Judah (see Jer 41:10).

Babylon had appointed Gedaliah governor,
they came to Gedaliah to [b]Mizpah, namely,
Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and Johanan the son of Kareah, and Seraiah the son of the son of the Maacathite, they and their men.

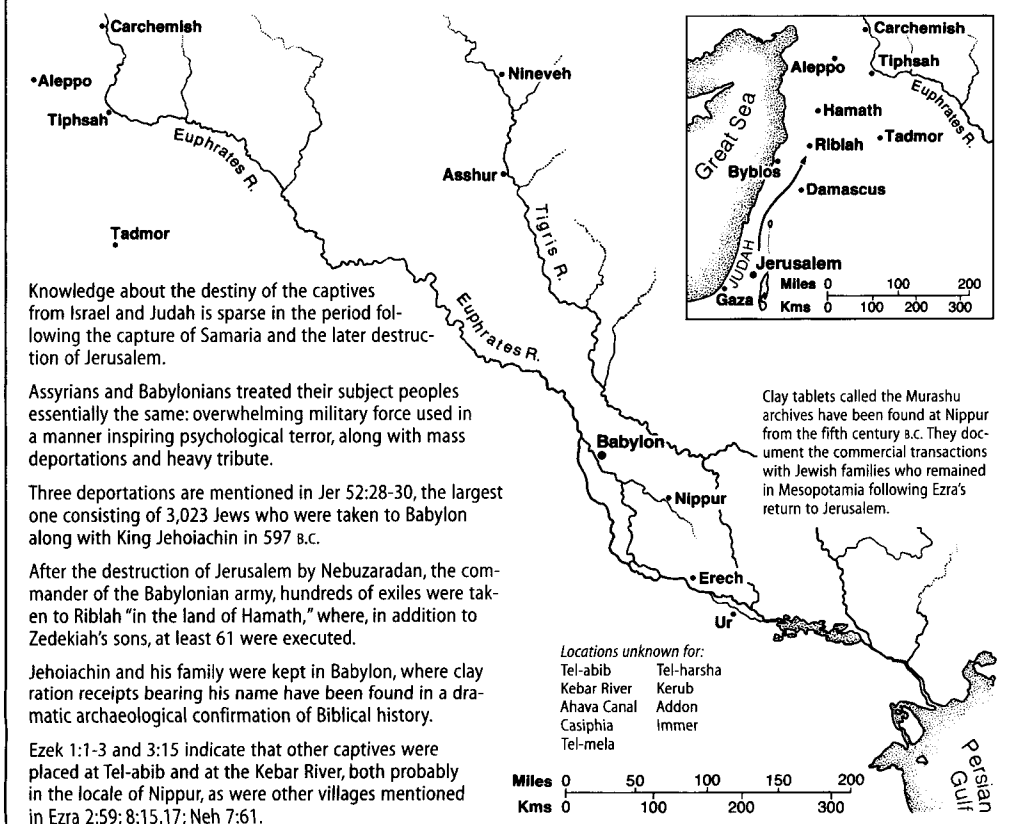
25:23 Mizpah. Had been a town of important political significance in the time just before the establishment of the monarchy (see note on 1 Sam 7:5). Jeremiah found Gedaliah there (see Jer 40:1–6). Ishmael the son of Nethaniah. Verse 25 gives a fuller genealogy. Elishama, Ishmael's grandfather, was the royal secretary under Jehoiakim (Jer 36:12). Jaazaniah the son of the Maacathite. In 1932 an agate seal was found at Tell en-Nasbeh (Mizpah) bearing the name of Jaazaniah (perhaps the man mentioned here) with the inscription: "Belonging to Jaazaniah the servant of the king."



25:24 Gedaliah urged submission to the Babylonians as the judgment of God. He advocated the restoration of the normal pursuits of a peacetime society (see Jer 27). A similar message had been given by Jeremiah to the captives taken to Babylon in 597 B.C. (see Jer 29:4–7).

25:25 seventh month. October, 586 B.C. struck Gedaliah down. A more complete account of the assassination of Gedaliah is given in Jer 40:13–41:15. Ishmael appears to have had personal designs on the throne, to have resented Gedaliah's ready submission to the Babylonians, and to have been manipulated by the Ammonites, who also chafed under Babylonian domination (see Jer 40:14; 41:10,15).

25:26 went to Egypt. Pharaoh Apries (Hophra) was then ruler in Egypt (see note on 24:20).

Exile of the Southern Kingdom

Knowledge about the destiny of the captives from Israel and Judah is sparse in the period following the capture of Samaria and the later destruction of Jerusalem.

Assyrians and Babylonians treated their subject peoples essentially the same: overwhelming military force used in a manner inspiring psychological terror, along with mass deportations and heavy tribute.

Three deportations are mentioned in Jer 52:28-30, the largest one consisting of 3,023 Jews who were taken to Babylon along with King Jehoiachin in 597 B.C.

After the destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuzaradan, the commander of the Babylonian army, hundreds of exiles were taken to Riblah "in the land of Hamath," where, in addition to Zedekiah's sons, at least 61 were executed.

Jehoiachin and his family were kept in Babylon, where clay ration receipts bearing his name have been found in a dramatic archaeological confirmation of Biblical history.

Ezek 1:1-3 and 3:15 indicate that other captives were placed at Tel-abib and at the Kebar River, both probably in the locale of Nippur, as were other villages mentioned in Ezra 2:59; 8:15,17; Neh 7:61.

Clay tablets called the Murashu archives have been found at Nippur from the fifth century B.C. They document the commercial transactions with Jewish families who remained in Mesopotamia following Ezra's return to Jerusalem.

His name means "man of (the god) Marduk." released Jehoiachin . . . from prison. Babylonian administrative tablets (see chart, p. xix), recording the payment of rations in oil and barley to prisoners held in Babylon, mention Yaukin (Jehoiachin) king of Iahudu (Judah) and five of his sons (cf. 24:15). No reason is given for Jehoiachin's release. Perhaps it was part of a general amnesty proclaimed at the beginning of Evil-merodach's reign.

25:28 spoke kindly to him and set his throne above the throne of the kings. The book of Kings ends on a hopeful note. The judgment of exile will not destroy the people of Israel or the line of David. God's promise concerning David's house remains (see 2 Sam 7:14–16).

1 Chronicles

Title

The Hebrew title (dibre hayyamim) can be translated "the events (or annals) of the days (or years)." The same phrase occurs in references to sources used by the author or compiler of Kings (translated "chronicles" in, e.g., 1 Kin 14:19,29; 15:7,23,31; 16:5,14,20,27; 22:45). The Septuagint translators (who translated the OT into Greek) called the book "the things omitted," indicating that they regarded it as a supplement to Samuel and Kings. Jerome (A.D. 347–420), translator of the Latin Vulgate, suggested that a more appropriate title would be "chronicle of the whole sacred history." Luther took over this suggestion in his German version, and others have followed him. Chronicles was first divided into two books by the Septuagint translators.

Author, Date and Sources

According to ancient Jewish tradition, Ezra wrote Chronicles, Ezra and Nehemiah (see Introduction to Ezra: Literary Form and Authorship), but this cannot be established with certainty. A growing consensus dates Chronicles in the latter half of the fifth century B.C., thus possibly within Ezra's lifetime. And it must be acknowledged that the author, if not Ezra himself, at least shared many basic concerns with that reforming priest—though Chronicles is not so narrowly "priestly" in its perspective as was long affirmed.

Some believe the text contains evidence here and there of later expansions after the basic work had been composed. While editorial revisions are not unlikely, all specific proposals regarding them remain tentative.

In his recounting of history long past, the Chronicler relied on many written sources. About half his work was taken from Samuel and Kings; he also drew on the Pentateuch, Judges, Ruth, Psalms, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Lamentations and Zechariah (though he used texts of these books that varied somewhat from those that have been preserved in the later standardized Hebrew texts). And there are frequent references to still other sources: "the Book of the Kings of Israel" (9:1; 2 Chr 20:34; cf. 2 Chr 33:18), "the account of the chronicles of King David" (27:24), "the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel" or "... of Israel and Judah" (2 Chr 16:11; 25:26; 27:7; 28:26; 32:32; 35:27; 36:8), "the treatise of the Book of the Kings" (2 Chr 24:27). It is unclear whether these all refer to the same source or to different sources, and what their relationship is to Samuel and Kings or to the royal annals referred to in Kings. In addition, the author cites a number of prophetic writings: those of "Samuel the seer" (29:29), "Nathan the prophet" (29:29; 2 Chr 9:29), "Gad the seer" (29:29), "Ahijah the Shilonite" (2 Chr 9:29), "Iddo the seer" (2 Chr 9:29; 12:15; 13:22), "Shemaiah the prophet" (2 Chr 12:15), "the prophet Isaiah" (2 Chr 26:22), "the Hozai" (2 Chr 33:19). All these he used, often with only minor changes, to tell his own story of the past. He did not invent, but he did select, arrange and integrate his sources to compose a narrative "sermon" for postexilic Israel as she struggled to reorient herself as the people of God in a new situation.

Purpose and Themes

Just as the author of Kings had organized and interpreted the data of Israel's history to address the needs of the exiled community, so the Chronicler wrote for the restored community. The burning issue was the question of continuity with the past: Is God still interested in us? Are His covenants still in force? Now that we have no Davidic king and are subject to Persia, do God's promises to David still have meaning for us? After the great judgment (the dethroning of the house of David, the destruction of the nation, of Jerusalem and of the temple, and the exile to Babylon), what is our relationship to Israel of old? Several elements go into the Chronicler's answer:

1. Continuity with the past is signified by the temple in Jerusalem, rebuilt by the Lord's sovereign influence over a Persian imperial edict (2 Chr 36:22–23). For a generation that had no independent political status and no Davidic king the author takes great pains to show that the temple of the Lord and its service (including its book of prayer and praise, an early edition of the Psalms) are supreme gifts of God given to Israel through the Davidic dynasty. For that reason his account of the reigns of David and Solomon is largely devoted to David's preparation for and Solomon's building of the temple and David's instructions for the temple service (with the counsel of Gad the seer and Nathan the prophet, 2 Chr 29:25, and also of the Levites Asaph, Heman and Jeduthun, 2 Chr 35:15). See also the Chronicler's accounts of the reigns of Asa, Jehoshaphat, Joash, Hezekiah and Josiah. The temple of the Lord in the ancient holy city and its service (including the Psalms) were the chief legacy left to the restored community by the house of David.

2. The value of this legacy is highlighted by the author's emphasis on God's furtherance of His gracious purposes toward Israel through His sovereign acts of election: (1) of the tribe of Levi to serve before the ark of the covenant (15:2; see 23:24–32), (2) of David to be king over Israel (28:4; 2 Chr 6:6), (3) of Solomon his son to be king and to build the temple (28:5–6,10; 29:1), (4) of Jerusalem (2 Chr 6:6,34,38; 12:13; 33:7) and (5) of the temple (2 Chr 7:12,16; 33:7) to be the place where God's Name would be present among His people. These divine acts give assurance to postexilic Israel that her rebuilt temple in Jerusalem and its continuing service mark her as God's people whose election has not been annulled.

3. In addition to the temple, Israel has the law and the prophets as a major focus of her covenant life under the leadership of the house of David. Neither the Davidic kings nor the temple had in themselves assured Israel's security and blessing. All had been conditional on Israel's and the king's faithfulness to the law (28:7; 2 Chr 6:16; 7:17; 12:1; 33:8). In the Chronicler's account, a primary feature of the reign of every faithful Davidic king was his attempt to bring about compliance with the law: David (6:49; 15:13,15; 16:40; 22:12–13; 29:19), Asa (2 Chr 14:4; 15:12–14), Jehoshaphat (2 Chr 17:3–9; 19:8–10), Joash (2 Chr 24:6,9), Hezekiah (2 Chr 29:10,31; 30:15–16; 31:3–4,21), Josiah (2 Chr 34:19–21, 29–33; 35:6,12,26). And to heed God's prophetic word was no less crucial. The faithful kings, such as David, Asa, Jehoshaphat, Hezekiah and Josiah — and even Rehoboam (2 Chr 11:4; 12:6) and Amaziah (2 Chr 25:7–10) — honored it; the unfaithful kings disregarded it to their destruction (Jehoram, 2 Chr 21:12–19; Joash, 2 Chr 24:19–25; Amaziah, 2 Chr 25:15–16,20; Manasseh, 2 Chr 33:10–11; see 36:15–16). Chronicles, in fact, notes the ministries of more prophets than do Samuel and Kings. Jehoshaphat's word to Israel expresses the Chronicler's view succinctly: "Put your trust in the LORD your God and you will be established. Put your trust in his prophets and succeed" (2 Chr 20:20). In the Chronicler's account of Israel's years under the kings, her response to the law and the prophets was more decisive for her destiny than the reigns of kings.

Thus the law and the prophets, like the temple, are more crucial to Israel's continuing relationship with the Lord than the presence or absence of a king, the reigns of the Davidic kings themselves being testimony.

4. The Chronicler further underscores the importance of obedience to the law and the prophets by emphasizing the theme of immediate retribution. See the express statements of David (28:9), of the Lord (2 Chr 7:14) and of the prophets (2 Chr 12:5; 15:2,7; 16:7,9; 19:2–3; 21:14–15; 24:20; 25:15–16; 28:9; 34:24–28). In writing his accounts of individual reigns, he never tires of demonstrating how sin always brings judgment in the form of disaster (usually either illness or defeat in war), whereas repentance, obedience and trust yield peace, victory and prosperity.

5. Clearly the author of Chronicles wished to sustain Israel's hope for the promised Messiah, son of David, in accordance with the Davidic covenant (2 Sam 7) and the assurances of the prophets, including those near to him (Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi). He was careful to recall the Lord's pledge to David (1 Chr 17) and to follow this with many references back to it (see especially his account of Solomon's reign and also 2 Chr 13:5; 21:7; 23:3). But perhaps even more indicative are his idealized depictions of David, Solomon, Asa, Jehoshaphat, Hezekiah and Josiah. While not portrayed as flawless, these kings are presented as prime examples of the Messianic ideal, i.e., as royal servants of the Lord whose reigns promoted godliness and covenant faithfulness in Israel. They were crowned with God's favor toward His people in the concrete forms of victories, deliverances and prosperity. They sat, moreover, on the "throne of the LORD" (29:23; see 28:5; 2 Chr 9:8) and ruled over the Lord's kingdom (17:14; 2 Chr 13:8). Thus they served as types, foreshadowing the David to come of whom the prophets had spoken, and their remembrance nurtured hope in the face of much discouragement (see the book of Malachi). See further the next section on "Portrait of David and Solomon."

6. Yet another major theme of the Chronicler's history is his concern with "all Israel" (see, e.g., 9:1; 11:1–4; 12:38–40; 16:1–3; 18:14; 21:1–5; 28:1–8; 29:21–26; 2 Chr 1:1–3; 7:8–10; 9:30; 10:1–3,16; 12:1; 18:16; 28:23;

29:24; 30:1–13,23–27; 34:6–9,33). As a matter of fact, he viewed the restored community as the remnant of all Israel, both north and south (9:2–3). This was more than a theological conceit. His narrative makes frequent note of movements of godly people from Israel to Judah for specifically religious reasons. The first were Levites in the time of Rehoboam (2 Chr 11:14). In the reign of Asa others followed from Ephraim and Manasseh (2 Chr 15:9). Shortly after the Assyrian destruction of the northern kingdom, many from that devastated land resettled in Judah at Hezekiah's invitation (2 Chr 30). Presumably not all who came for Hezekiah's great Passover remained, but archaeology has shown a sudden large increase in population in the region around Jerusalem at this time, and the Chronicler specifically mentions "sons of Israel . . . who lived in the cities of Judah" (2 Chr 31:6). He also speaks of the people of "Manasseh and Ephraim and from all the remnant of Israel" who joined with the people of "Judah and Benjamin and the inhabitants of Jerusalem" in restoring the temple in the days of Josiah (2 Chr 34:9). These were also present at Josiah's Passover (2 Chr 35:17–18). So the kingdom of "Judah" had absorbed many from the northern kingdom through the years, and the Chronicler viewed it as the remnant of all Israel from the time of Samaria's fall.

7. The genealogies also demonstrate continuity with the past. To the question "Is God still interested in us?" the Chronicler answers, "He has always been." God's grace and love for the restored community did not begin with David or the conquest or the exodus—but with creation (1:1). For the genealogies see below.

8. The Chronicler often introduces speeches not found in Samuel and Kings, using them to convey some of his main emphases. Of the 165 speeches in Chronicles of varying lengths, only 95 are found in the parallel texts of Samuel and Kings. Cf., e.g., the speeches of Abijah (2 Chr 13:4–12), Asa (2 Chr 14:11) and Jehoshaphat (2 Chr 20:5–12).

Portrait of David and Solomon

The bulk of the Chronicler's history is devoted to the reigns of David (chs. 11—29) and Solomon (2 Chr 1—9). His portraits of these two kings are quite distinctive and provide a key to his concerns:

1. The Chronicler has idealized David and Solomon. Anything in his source material (mainly Samuel and Kings) that might tarnish his picture of them is omitted. He makes no reference to the seven-year reign in Hebron before the uniting of the kingdom, the wars between Saul's house and David, the negotiations with Abner, the difficulties over David's wife Michal, or the murders of Abner and Ish-bosheth (2 Sam 1—4). The Chronicler presents David as being immediately anointed king over all Israel after the death of Saul (ch. 11) and enjoying the total support of the people (11:10—12:40; see note on 3:1–9). Subsequent difficulties for David are also not recounted. No mention is made of David's sin with Bathsheba, the crime and death of Amnon, the fratricide by Absalom and his plot against his father, the flight of David from Jerusalem, the rebellions of Sheba and Shimei, and other incidents that might diminish the glory of David's reign (2 Sam 11—20). David is presented without blemish, apart from the incident of the census (the Chronicler had a special purpose for including it; see ch. 21 and notes).

The Chronicler handles Solomon similarly. Solomon is specifically named in a divine oracle as David's successor (22:7–10; 28:6). His accession to the throne is announced publicly by David and is greeted with the unanimous support of all Israel (chs. 28—29). No mention is made of the bedridden David, who must overturn the attempted coup by Adonijah at the last moment to secure the throne for Solomon. Nor is there mention that the military commander Joab and the high priest Abiathar supported Adonijah's attempt (1 Kin 1). Solomon's execution of those who had wronged David (1 Kin 2) is also omitted. The accession of Solomon is without competition or detracting incident. The account of his reign is devoted almost wholly to the building of the temple (2 Chr 2—8), and no reference to his failures is included. No mention is made of his idolatry, his foreign wives or the rebellions against his rule (1 Kin 11). Even the blame for the schism is removed from Solomon (1 Kin 11:26–40; 12:1–4) and placed on the scheming of Jeroboam. Solomon's image in Chronicles is such that he can be paired with David in the most favorable light (2 Chr 11:17).

The David and Solomon of the Chronicler, then, must be seen not only as the David and Solomon of history, but also as typifying the Messianic king of the Chronicler's expectation.

2. Not only is there idealization of David and Solomon, but the author also appears to consciously adopt the account of the succession of Moses and Joshua as a model for the succession of David and Solomon:

a. Both David and Moses fail to attain their goals—one to build the temple and the other to enter the promised land. In both cases the divine prohibition is related to the appointment of a successor (22:5–13; 28:2–8; Deut 1:37–38; 31:2–8).

b. Both Solomon and Joshua bring the people of God into rest (22:8–9; Josh 11:23; 21:44).

c. There are a number of verbal parallels in the appointments of Solomon and Joshua (compare 22:11–13,16; 28:7–10,20; 2 Chr 1:1 with Deut 31:5–8,23; Josh 1:5,7–9).

d. There are both private and public announcements of the appointment of the successors: private (22:6; Deut 31:23); public (28:8; Deut 31:7—both "in the sight of all Israel").

e. Both enjoy the immediate and wholehearted support of the people (29:23–24; Deut 34:9; Josh 1:16–18).

f. It is twice reported that God "highly exalted" or "exalted . . . greatly" Solomon and Joshua (29:25; 2 Chr 1:1; Josh 3:7; 4:14).

The Chronicler also uses other models from Pentateuchal history in his portrayal of David and Solomon. Like Moses, David received the plans for the temple from God (28:11–19; Ex 25:9) and called on the people to bring voluntary offerings for its construction (29:1–9; Ex 25:1–7). Solomon's relationship to Huram-abi, the craftsman from Tyre (2 Chr 2:13–14), echoes the role of Bezalel and Oholiab in the building of the tabernacle (Ex 35:30—36:7). See note on 2 Chr 1:5.

Genealogies

Analysis of genealogies, both inside and outside the Bible, has disclosed that they serve a variety of functions (with different principles governing the lists), that they vary in form (some being segmented, others linear) and depth (number of generations listed), and that they are often fluid (subject to change).

There are three general areas in which genealogies function: the familial or domestic, the legal-political, and the religious. In the domestic area an individual's social status, privileges and obligations may be reflected in his placement in the lineage (see 7:14–19); the rights of the firstborn son and the secondary status of the children of concubines are examples from the Bible. In the political sphere genealogies substantiate claims to hereditary office or settle competing claims when the office is contested. Land organization and territorial groupings of social units may also be determined by genealogical reckoning—e.g., the division of the land among the 12 tribes. In Israel military levies also proceeded along genealogical lines; several of the genealogies in Chronicles reflect military conscription (5:1–26; 7:1–12,30–40; 8:1–40). Genealogies function in the religious sphere primarily by establishing membership among the priests and Levites (6:1–30; 9:10–34; Neh 7:61–65).

As to form, some genealogical lists trace several lines of descent (segmented genealogies) while others are devoted to a single line (linear genealogies).

Comparison of genealogical lists of the same tribal or family line often brings to light surprising differences. This fluidity of the lists may reflect variation in function. But sometimes changes in the status or relations of social structures are reflected in genealogies by changes in the relationships of names in the genealogy (see notes on 1:35–42; 6:22,27) or by the addition of names or segments to a lineage (see notes on 5:11–22; 6:27; 7:6–12). The most common type of fluidity in Biblical materials is telescoping, the omission of names from the list. Unimportant names are left out in order to relate an individual to a prominent ancestor, or possibly to achieve the desired number of names in the genealogy. Some Biblical genealogies, for example, omit names to achieve multiples of 7: For the period from David to the exile Matthew gives 14 generations (2 times 7), while Luke gives 21 (3 times 7), and the same authors give similar multiples of 7 for the period from the exile to Jesus (Matt 1:1–17; Luke 3:23–38).

The genealogies of Chronicles show variation in all these properties; the arrangements often reflect the purpose for which the genealogies were composed prior to their being adopted by the Chronicler as part of his record.

1:1–9:44 The genealogies succinctly show the restored community's continuity with the past. The great deeds of God on Israel's behalf prior to the rise of David are passed over in silence, but the genealogies serve as a skeleton of history to show that the Israel of the restoration stands at the center of the divine purpose from the beginning (from Adam, v. 1). And the genealogies also serve the very practical purpose of legitimizing the present. They provide the framework by which the ethnic and religious purity of the people can be maintained. They also establish the continuing line of royal succession and the legitimacy of the priests for the postexilic temple service. (See Introduction: Genealogies.)

1:1–2:1 The Chronicler here covers the period from Adam to Jacob, and the materials are drawn almost entirely from Genesis. The subsidiary lines of descent are presented first: Japheth and Ham (vv. 5–16) are given before Shem (vv. 17–27), the sons of Shem other than those in Abraham's ancestry (vv. 17–23) before that line (vv. 24–27), the sons of Abraham's concubines (vv. 28–33) before Isaac's line (v. 34), the descendants of Esau and the Edomite ruling houses (vv. 35–54) before the sons of Israel (2:1). In each case the elect lineage is given last.

Several features of this genealogy are striking when compared with non-Biblical materials. The genealogy begins without an introduction. Two sections of the genealogy have no kinship terms and are only lists of names: the first 13 names (vv. 1–4; see note on v. 4) and vv. 24–27. In vv. 5–16 (and following v. 27) kinship terms are used. Both segmented (those tracing several lines of descent) and linear (those tracing a single line) genealogies are included. This identical structure is found in a copy of the Assyrian King List: There is no introduction, and the scribe has drawn lines across the tablet dividing it into four sections, two of which are lists of names without kinship terms, alternating with two lists in which relations are specified; both segmented and linear genealogies are used. This suggests that the Chronicler was following a known literary pattern for his composition.

1:1–4 From creation to the flood. This list is taken from Gen 5:1–32 (see notes there). The omission of Cain and Abel demonstrates the Chronicler's interest in the chosen line (see Gen 4:17–25).

1:4 Noah. Shem, Ham, and Japheth were the sons of Noah. The Chronicler's readers would have known this and would not have needed a kinship notice in the text; the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) and some modern translations read "the sons of Noah" to clarify the relationship of the four names.

1:5–23 This genealogy is drawn from the table of nations in Gen 10:2–29 (see notes there). The arrangement is primarily geographical and cultural rather than biological. Omitting the Philistines (v. 12) as a parenthesis, a total of 70 nations is achieved: Japheth, 14; Ham, 30; Shem, 26 (see note on Gen 10:2)—an example of a genealogy telescoped to attain multiples of 7 (see Introduction: Genealogies).

1:28–34 See notes on Gen 25:1–18.

1:36 sons of Eliphaz. These correspond to Gen 36:11–12, but with one difficulty: Listing Timna and Amalek as sons of Eliphaz is in apparent conflict with Gen 36:12, where Timna is the con-

37 The sons of Reuel were Nahath, Zerah, Shammah and Mizzah.
38 [a]The sons of Seir were Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, Dishon, Ezer and Dishan.
39 The sons of Lotan were Hori and [1]Homam; and Lotan's sister was Timna.
40 The sons of Shobal were [1]Alian, Manahath, Ebal, [2]Shephi and Onam. And the sons of Zibeon were Aiah and Anah.
41 The [1]son of Anah was Dishon. And the sons of Dishon were [2]Hamran, Eshban, Ithran and Cheran.
42 The sons of Ezer were Bilhan, Zaavan and [1]Jaakan. The sons of Dishan were Uz and Aran.
43 [a]Now these are the kings who reigned in the land of Edom before any king of the sons of Israel reigned. Bela was the son of Beor, and the name of his city was Dinhabah.
44 When Bela died, Jobab the son of Zerah of [a]Bozrah became king in his place.
45 When Jobab died, Husham of the land of [a]the Temanites became king in his place.
46 When Husham died, Hadad the son of Bedad, who [1]defeated Midian in the field of Moab, became king in his place; and the name of his city was Avith.
47 When Hadad died, Samlah of Masrekah became king in his place.
48 When Samlah died, Shaul of Rehoboth by the River became king in his place.
49 When Shaul died, Baal-hanan the son of Achbor became king in his place.
50 When Baal-hanan died, [1]Hadad became king in his place; and the name of his city was [2]Pai, and his wife's name was Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab.
51 Then Hadad died.

Now the chiefs of Edom were: chief Timna, chief [1]Aliah, chief Jetheth,
52 chief Oholibamah, chief Elah, chief Pinon,
53 chief Kenaz, chief Teman, chief Mibzar,
54 chief Magdiel, chief Iram. These were the chiefs of Edom.

Genealogy: Twelve Sons of Jacob (Israel)

2 [a]These are the sons of Israel: Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Zebulun,
2 Dan, Joseph, Benjamin, Naphtali, Gad and Asher.
3 [a]The sons of Judah were Er, Onan and Shelah; these three were born to him by Bath-shua the Canaanitess. And Er, Judah's firstborn, was wicked in the sight of the LORD, so He put him to death.
4 [a]Tamar his daughter-in-law bore him Perez and Zerah. Judah had five sons in all.
5 The sons of Perez were Hezron and Hamul.
6 The sons of Zerah were [1]Zimri, Ethan, Heman, Calcol and [2]Dara; five of them in all.
7 The [1]son of Carmi was [2][a]Achar, the troubler of Israel, who violated the ban.
8 The [1]son of Ethan was Azariah.

cubine of Eliphaz and mother of Amalek. The Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) assumes a mistake in the Hebrew text and lists Amalek as Eliphaz's son by Timna. Perhaps the Chronicler has once again omitted kinship terminology (see notes on 1:1–2:1; v. 4). Alternatively, some regard this as an example of genealogical fluidity (see Introduction: Genealogies): Since the name Timna also became the name of a chiefdom in Edom (v. 51; Gen 36:40), during the course of time Timna was "promoted" in the Edomite genealogies to the position of a son of Eliphaz and brother of Amalek.

1:43–54 See Gen 36:31–43. The Chronicler continues with extensive coverage of Edom. This is striking in contrast to his omission of the line of Cain and the brief treatment of the line of Ishmael. It probably reflects the fact that the Edomites were important in the Chronicler's own day (see 18:11–13; 2 Chr 8:17; 21:8; 25:20; 28:17).

2:1–2 Although there are numerous lists of the 12 tribes in the OT, only four are given in genealogical form: (1) Gen 29:31–30:24; 35:16–20; (2) Gen 35:22–26; (3) Gen 46:8–27; (4) here. Other lists of the tribes are found in 12:24–37; 27:16–22; Ex 1:2–5; Deut 27:12–13; 33; Ezek 48:31–34. In other lists the tribe of Levi is omitted, and the number 12 is achieved by dividing Joseph into the tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh (Num 1:5–15; 1:20–43; 2:3–31; 7:12–83; 10:14–28; 13:4–15; 26:5–51). In this passage the Chronicler appears to follow Gen 35:22–26 except for the position of the tribe of Dan, which is found in seventh instead of ninth place. The list here does not set the order in which the Chronicler will take up the tribes; rather, he moves immediately to his major concern with the house of David and the tribe of Judah (2:3–4:23), even though Judah is fourth in the genealogy. In the lists of these chapters the Chronicler maintains the number 12, but with the following names: Judah, Simeon, Reuben, Gad, half of Manasseh, Levi, Issachar, Benjamin, Naphtali, Ephraim, Manasseh and Asher. Zebulun and Dan are omitted.

2:3–9 The lineage of Judah is traced to Hezron's sons (v. 9), whose descendants are given in 2:10–3:24. Of Judah's five sons, the first two (Er and Onan) died as the result of sin recorded in Gen 38. The lineage of the third son, Shelah, is taken up in 4:21; this section focuses on the remaining two (see Gen 46:12; Num 26:19–22).

2:6 Ethan, Heman, Calcol and Dara. Not immediate descendants of Zerah; rather, they are from the later period of the reign of Solomon (1 Kin 4:31). A Heman and an Ethan were David's musicians (see 15:19; Ps 88–89 titles), but whether these are the same individuals is uncertain. If they are the same, the fact that in 6:33–42 and 15:19 Heman and Ethan are assigned to the tribe of Levi may be another example of genealogical fluidity, where these men's musical skills brought them into the Levitical lineage. Or the reverse may have occurred: As Levites associated with Judah, they were brought into that lineage.

2:7 Achar. Achar (meaning "trouble") is called Achan in Josh 7; 22:20. The change from Achan to Achar is probably a play on words reflecting the trouble Achan brought to Israel.

2:10–3:24 That the Chronicler's primary concern in the genealogy of Judah is with the line of David is seen in his arrangement of this section's material as an inversion:

adab, and Amminadab became the father of Nahshon, leader of the sons of Judah;
11 Nahshon became the father of Salma,
Salma became the father of Boaz,
12 Boaz became the father of Obed, and Obed became the father of Jesse;
13 and Jesse became the father of Eliab his firstborn, then Abinadab the second,
[1]Shimea the third,
14 Nethanel the fourth, Raddai the fifth,
15 Ozem the sixth, David the seventh;
16 and their sisters were Zeruiah and Abigail. And the three sons of Zeruiah were
[1]Abshai, Joab and Asahel.
17 Abigail bore Amasa, and the father of Amasa was [1]Jether the Ishmaelite.
18 Now Caleb the son of Hezron had sons by Azubah his wife, and by Jerioth; and these were her sons: Jesher, Shobab, and Ardon.
19 When Azubah died, Caleb married
Ephrath, who bore him Hur.
20 Hur became the father of Uri, and Uri became the father of Bezalel.
21 Afterward Hezron went in to the daughter of Machir the father of Gilead, whom he married when he was sixty years old; and she bore him Segub.
22 Segub became the father of Jair, who had twenty-three cities in the land of Gilead.
23 But Geshur and Aram took [1]the towns of Jair from them, with Kenath and its villages, even sixty cities. All these were the sons of Machir, the father of Gilead.
24 After the death of Hezron in Calebephrathah, Abijah, Hezron's wife, bore him
Ashhur the father of Tekoa.
25 Now the sons of Jerahmeel the first-born of Hezron were Ram the firstborn, then Bunah, Oren, Ozem and Ahijah.
26 Jerahmeel had another wife, whose name was Atarah; she was the mother of Onam.
27 The sons of Ram, the firstborn of Jerahmeel, were Maaz, Jamin and Eker.
28 The sons of Onam were Shammai and Jada. And the sons of Shammai were Nadab and Abishur.
29 The name of Abishur's wife was Abihail, and she bore him Ahban and Molid.
30 The sons of Nadab were Seled and Appaim, and Seled died without sons.
31 The [1]son of Appaim was Ishi. And the [1]son of Ishi was Sheshan. And the [1]son of Sheshan was Ahlai.
32 The sons of Jada the brother of Shammai were Jether and Jonathan, and Jether died without sons.
33 The sons of Jonathan were Peleth and Zaza. These were the sons of Jerahmeel.
34 Now Sheshan had no sons, only daughters. And Sheshan had an Egyptian servant whose name was Jarha.
35 Sheshan gave his daughter to Jarha his servant in marriage, and she bore him Attai.
36 Attai became the father of Nathan, and Nathan became the father of Zabad,
37 and Zabad became the father of Ephlal, and Ephlal became the father of Obed,
38 and Obed became the father of Jehu, and Jehu became the father of Azariah,
39 and Azariah became the father of Helez, and Helez became the father of Eleasah,
40 and Eleasah became the father of Sismai, and Sismai became the father of Shallum, 41 and Shallum became the father of Jekamiah, and Jekamiah became the father of Elishama.
42 Now the sons of Caleb, the brother of Jerahmeel, were Mesha his firstborn, who

The Chronicler has structured this central portion of the Judah genealogy to highlight the Davidic ancestry and descent, which frame this section and emphasize the position of David—in line with the Chronicler's interests in the historical portions that follow (see note on 4:1–23).

2:10–17 Verses 10–12 are a linear genealogy from Ram to Jesse; then Jesse's lineage is segmented, reminiscent of 1 Sam 16:1–13. The source for most of the material is Ruth 4:19–22. In 1 Sam 16:10–13 David was the eighth of Jesse's sons to appear before Samuel; in this passage only seven are named, enabling David to occupy the favored place of the seventh son (v. 15; see Introduction: Genealogies). David was the half-uncle of his famous warriors Abishai, Joab, Asahel and Amasa (11:6,20,26; 2 Sam 2:13,18; 17:25; 19:13).

2:18–24 For the Chronicler the important name in this genealogy of the Calebites is Bezalel (v. 20), the wise master craftsman who supervised the building of the tabernacle (Ex 31:1–5). He is mentioned in the Bible only in Exodus and Chronicles. The Chronicler uses Bezalel and Oholiab (Ex 31:6) as a model for his portrait of Solomon and Huram-abi in the building of the temple (see note on 2 Chr 1:5). By inserting a reference to the builder of the tabernacle next to the genealogy of David in vv. 10–17, the Chronicler characteristically juxtaposes the themes of king and temple—so important to his historical narrative.

2:25–33 This section is identified as a separate entity from the supplementary material by its opening and closing formulas: "the sons of Jerahmeel" (v. 25) and "These were the sons of Jerahmeel" (v. 33). Verses 25–41 are the only genealogical materials on the Jerahmeelites in the Bible. 1 Sam 27:10 and 30:27–29 place their settlements in the Negev.

2:34–41 Supplementary material on the line of Sheshan (v. 31); it is a linear genealogy to a depth of 13 generations. The generation of Elishama (v. 41) would be the 23rd since Judah, if there has been no telescoping in this lineage. If no names are omitted, Elishama would likely be contemporary with David, though we know nothing of him.

2:42–55 The same opening and closing formulas noted in vv. 25,33 occur in vv. 42,50a: "Now the sons of Caleb . . . These were the sons of Caleb." The list in this section is a mixture of personal and place-names; the phrase "father of" can be under-was the father of Ziph; and [1]his son was Mareshah, the father of Hebron.

43 The sons of Hebron were Korah and Tappuah and Rekem and Shema.

44 Shema became the father of Raham, the father of Jorkeam; and Rekem became the father of Shammai.

45 The son of Shammai was Maon, and Maon was the father of Bethzur.

46 Ephah, Caleb's concubine, bore Haran, Moza and Gazez; and Haran became the father of Gazez.

47 The sons of Jahdai were Regem, Jotham, Geshan, Pelet, Ephah and Shaaph.

48 Maacah, Caleb's concubine, bore Sheber and Tirhanah.

49 She also bore Shaaph the father of Madmannah, Sheva the father of Machbena and the father of Gibea; and the daughter of Caleb was Achsah.

50 These were the sons of Caleb.

The [1]sons of Hur, the firstborn of Ephrathah, were Shobal the father of Kiriath-jearim, 51 Salma the father of Bethlehem and Hareph the father of Beth-gader.

52 Shobal the father of Kiriath-jearim had sons: Haroeh, half of the Manahathites, 53 and the families of Kiriath-jearim: the Ithrites, the Puthites, the Shumathites and the Mishraites; from these came the Zorathites and the Eshtaolites.

54 The sons of Salma were Bethlehem and the Netophathites, Atroth-beth-joab and half of the Manahathites, the Zorites.

55 The families of scribes who lived at Jabez were the Tirathites, the Shimeathites and the Sucathites. Those are the Kenites who came from Hammath, the father of the house of Rechab.

Family of David

3 [a]Now these were the sons of David who were born to him in Hebron: the firstborn was Amnon, by Ahinoam the Jezreelitess; the second was Daniel, by Abigail the Carmelitess;

2 the third was Absalom the son of Maacah, the daughter of Talmai king of Geshur; the fourth was Adonijah the son of Haggith;

3 the fifth was Shephatiah, by Abital; the sixth was Ithream, by his wife Eglah.

4 Six were born to him in Hebron, and [a]there he reigned seven years and six months. And in Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years.

5 [a]These were born to him in Jerusalem: Shimea, Shobab, Nathan and [b]Solomon, four, by [c]Bath-shua the daughter of Ammiel;

6 and Ibhar, Elishama, Eliphelet,

7 Nogah, Nepheg and Japhia,

8 Elishama, Eliada and Eliphelet, nine.

9 All these were the sons of David, besides the sons of the concubines; and [a]Tamar was their sister.

10 Now Solomon's son was Rehoboam, Abijah was his son, Asa his son, Jehoshaphat his son,

11 Joram his son, Ahaziah his son, Joash his son,

12 Amaziah his son, Azariah his son, Jotham his son,

13 Ahaz his son, Hezekiah his son, Manasseh his son,

14 Amon his son, Josiah his son.

15 The sons of Josiah were Johanan the firstborn, and the second was Jehoiakim, the third Zedekiah, the fourth Shallum.

16 The sons of Jehoiakim were Jeconiah his son, Zedekiah his son.

17 The sons of Jeconiah, the prisoner, were Shealtiel his son, stood not only as ancestor or predecessor, but also (as likely here) as "founder of" or "leader of" a city.

2:50b–55 Resumes the genealogy of Hur (v. 20). The same formulas for identifying the genealogical sections in vv. 25,33 and in vv. 42,50a are used in v. 50b and 4:4: "The sons of Hur ... These were the sons of Hur." The presence of these formulas suggests that this section and 4:1–4 were once a unit; the Chronicler has inserted his record of the Davidic descent (ch. 3) into the middle of this other genealogy, apparently to balance the sections of his material (see notes on 2:10–3:24; 4:1–23). Otherwise the disruption of the genealogy of Hur may have already occurred in the Chronicler's sources.

2:55 Tirathites, the Shimeathites and the Sucathites. May refer to three families, as translated here, or possibly to three different classes of scribes, perhaps those who (1) read, (2) copied and (3) checked the work. Kenites. Originally a foreign people, many of the Kenites were incorporated into Judah (see Num 10:29–32; Judg 1:16; 4:11).

3:1–24 See note on 2:10–3:24.

3:1–9 This list of David's children is largely drawn from 2 Sam 3:2–5; 5:13–16; 13:1 (see notes there). The sons born in Jerusalem are repeated in 1 Chr 14:3–7. The name Eliphelet occurs twice (vv. 6,8); in 14:5,7 two spellings of the name are given (only one son having this name is mentioned in 2 Sam 5:14–16). The reference to David's seven-year rule in Hebron (v. 4) is repeated in 29:27, though the Chronicler does not deal with this period in his narrative. The references to Absalom, Tamar, Adonijah, Amnon and Bathsheba all recall unhappy incidents in the life of David, incidents the Chronicler has omitted from his later narrative (see 2 Sam 11–15; 17–18; 1 Kin 1).

3:10 Rehoboam. See 2 Chr 10–12. Abijah. See 2 Chr 13:1–14:1. Asa. See 2 Chr 14–16. Jehoshaphat. See 1 Kin 22.

3:11 Joram. See 2 Chr 21.

3:13 Ahaz. See 2 Chr 28. Hezekiah. See 2 Chr 29–32. Manasseh. See 2 Chr 33:1–20.

3:14 Amon. See 2 Chr 33:21–25. Josiah. See 2 Kin 22:1–23:30; 2 Chr 34:1–36:1.

3:15–16 "Johanan the firstborn" is not mentioned elsewhere and may have died before Josiah. The genealogy is segmented at this point, instead of linear as in vv. 10–14. Since Josiah's other three sons would all occupy the throne, the succession was not uniformly father to son. Shallum/Jehoahaz (2 Chr 36:2–4; 2 Kin 23:30–35) was replaced by Jehoiakim (2 Chr 36:5–8; 2 Kin 23:34–24:6); Jehoiakim was succeeded by his son Jehoiachin (2 Chr 36:9–10; 2 Kin 24:8–16). After Jehoiachin was taken captive to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar, Josiah's son Zedekiah (2 Kin 24:17–25:7; 2 Chr 36:11–14) became the last king of Judah.

3:17–20 Seven sons are attributed to Jeconiah (Jehoiachin), but

18 and Malchiram, Pedaiah, Shenazzar, Jekamiah, Hoshama and Nedabiah.

19 The sons of Pedaiah were Zerubbabel and Shimei. And the [1]sons of Zerubbabel were Meshullam and Hananiah, and Shelomith was their sister;

20 and Hashubah, Ohel, Berechiah, Hasadiah and Jushab-hesed, five.

21 The [1]sons of Hananiah were Pelatiah and Jeshaiah, the sons of Rephaiah, the sons of Arnan, the sons of Obadiah, the sons of Shecaniah.

22 The [1]descendants of Shecaniah were Shemaiah, and the sons of Shemaiah: Hattush, Igal, Bariah, Neariah and Shaphat, six.

23 The [1]sons of Neariah were Elioenai, Hizkiah and Azrikam, three.

24 The sons of Elioenai were Hodaviah, Eliashib, Pelaiah, Akkub, Johanan, Delaiah and Anani, seven.

Line of Hur, Asher

4 [a]The sons of Judah were Perez, Hezron, Carmi, Hur and Shobal.

2 Reaiah the son of Shobal [1]became the father of Jahath, and Jahath became the father of Ahumai and Lahad. These were the families of the Zorathites.

3 These were the [1]sons of Etam: Jezreel, Ishma and Idbash; and the name of their sister was Hazzelelponi.

4 Penuel was the father of Gedor, and Ezer the father of Hushah. These were the sons of Hur, the firstborn of Ephrathah, the father of Bethlehem.

5 Ashhur, the father of Tekoa, had two wives, Helah and Naarah.

6 Naarah bore him Ahuzzam, Hepher, Temeni and Haahashtari. These were the sons of Naarah.

7 The sons of Helah were Zereth, [1]Izhar and Ethnan.

8 Koz became the father of Anub and Zobebah, and the families of Aharhel the son of Harum.

9 Jabez was more honorable than his brothers, and his mother named him Jabez saying, "Because I bore him with pain."

10 Now Jabez called on the God of Israel, saying, "Oh that You would bless me indeed and enlarge my border, and that Your hand might be with me, and that You would keep me from harm that it may not pain me!" And God granted him what he requested.

11 Chelub the brother of Shuhah became the father of Mehir, who was the father of Eshton.

12 Eshton became the father of Beth-rapha and Paseah, and Tehinnah the father of [1]Ir-nahash. These are the men of Recah.

13 Now the sons of Kenaz were Othniel and Seraiah. And the [1]sons of Othniel were Hathath and Meonothai.

not one succeeded him (see notes on vv. 15–16; Jer 22:30). Tablets found in Babylon dating from the 10th to the 35th year of Nebuchadnezzar (595–570 B.C.) and listing deliveries of rations mention Jeconiah and five sons as well as other Judahites held in Babylon. Jeconiah received similar largess from Nebuchadnezzar's successor Evil-merodach (562–560 B.C.; see 2 Kin 25:27–30).

3:18 Shenazzar. May be another spelling of the name Sheshbazzar. If so, the treasures of the temple were consigned to his care for return to Judah (Ezra 1:11). He also served for a short time as the first governor of the returnees and made an initial attempt at rebuilding the temple (Ezra 5:14–16). Little is known of him; he soon disappeared from the scene and was overshadowed by his nephew Zerubbabel, who assumes such importance in Ezra, Haggai and Zechariah. But see note on Ezra 1:8.

3:19 Pedaiah. Other texts name Shealtiel (v. 17) as Zerubbabel's father (Ezra 3:2,8; Neh 12:1; Hag 1:12,14; 2:2,23). Suggestions offered to resolve this difficulty are: 1. Shealtiel may have died early, and Pedaiah became the head of the family. 2. Pedaiah may have married the childless widow of Shealtiel; Zerubbabel would then be regarded as the son of Shealtiel according to the law of levirate marriage (Deut 25:5–6). In Luke 3:27 Neri instead of Jehoiachin (v. 17) is identified as the father of Shealtiel. Similar suggestions to those above could be made in this instance as well. It is also interesting to note that the genealogies of Jesus in Matt 1 and Luke 3 both trace his descent to Zerubbabel, but that none of the names subsequent to Zerubbabel (v. 19–24) is found in the NT genealogies.

3:20 five. May have been sons of Zerubbabel, but no kinship terms are provided. Since the sons of Hananiah (v. 19) are specified in v. 21, they could also be the sons of Meshullam (v. 19).

3:21 sons of Rephaiah . . . Shecaniah. Probably other Davidic families at the time of Zerubbabel (v. 19) or Pelatiah and Jeshaiah. If they are understood as contemporary with Zerubbabel, his genealogy was carried only two generations (his sons and grandsons) and a date for Chronicles as early as 450 B.C. is possible (see Introduction: Author, Date and Sources).

3:22 six. Perhaps a copyist accidentally omitted one name.

4:1–23 None of the genealogies of Judah in this section appears elsewhere in Scripture. Although the section may have the appearance of miscellaneous notes, the careful shaping of the Chronicler is evident in light of the overall inverted structure of the genealogies of Judah:

2:3	Shelah
2:4–8	Perez
2:9—3:24	Hezron
4:1–20	Perez
4:21–23	Shelah

This balancing of the material in inverse order shows the centrality of the section of the lineage of Hezron and the house of David; the same balancing in inverse order is observed within the Hezron section (see note on 2:10–3:24). The record of Judah's oldest surviving son, Shelah, frames the entire genealogy of Judah. There are 15 fragmentary genealogies in this section, with two to six generations in each.

4:1–2 The descendants of Judah here are not brothers; rather, the genealogy is linear.

4:1 Carmi. Either a scribal confusion or an alternative name for Chelubai (2:9); the confusion may have been induced by 2:7.

4:2 Reaiah. A variant of Haroeh (2:52).

4:5–8 Supplementary to 2:24.

4:9–10 The practice of inserting short historical notes into genealogical records is amply attested in non-Biblical genealogical texts from the ancient Near East as well as in other Biblical genealogies (Gen 4:19–24; 10:8–12).

4:13 Othniel. The first of Israel's judges (Josh 15:17; Judg 1:13; 3:9–11).

rah, and Seraiah became the father of Joab the father of [1]Ge-harashim, for they were craftsmen.

15 The sons of Caleb the son of Jephunneh were Iru, Elah and Naam; and the [1]son of Elah was [2]Kenaz.

16 The sons of Jehallelel were Ziph and Ziphah, Tiria and Asarel.

17 The [1]sons of Ezrah were Jether, Mered, Epher and Jalon. ([2]And these are the sons of Bithia the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Mered took) and she conceived and bore Miriam, Shammai and Ishbah the father of Eshtemoa.

18 His Jewish wife bore Jered the father of Gedor, and Heber the father of Soco, and Jekuthiel the father of Zanoah.

19 The sons of the wife of Hodiah, the sister of Naham, were the [1]fathers of Keilah the Garmite and Eshtemoa the Maacathite.

20 The sons of Shimon were Amnon and Rinnah, Benhanan and Tilon. And the sons of Ishi were Zoheth and Ben-zoheth.

21 The sons of Shelah the son of Judah were Er the father of Lecah and Laadah the father of Mareshah, and the families of the house of the linen workers at Beth-ashbea;

22 and Jokim, the men of Cozeba, Joash, Saraph, who ruled in Moab, and Jashubi-lehem. And the [1]records are ancient.

23 These were the potters and the inhabitants of Netaim and Gederah; they lived there with the king for his work.

Descendants of Simeon

24 The sons of Simeon were [1]Nemuel and Jamin, [2]Jarib, [3]Zerah, Shaul;

25 Shallum his son, Mibsam his son, Mishma his son.

26 The sons of Mishma were Hammuel his son, Zaccur his son, Shimei his son.

27 Now Shimei had sixteen sons and six daughters; but his brothers did not have many sons, nor did all their family multiply like the sons of Judah.

28 They lived at Beersheba, Moladah and Hazar-shual,

29 at Bilhah, Ezem, Tolad,

30 Bethuel, Hormah, Ziklag,

31 Beth-marcaboth, Hazar-susim, Beth-biri and Shaaraim. These were their cities until the reign of David.

32 Their villages were Etam, Ain, Rimmon, Tochen and Ashan, five cities;

33 and all their villages that were around the same cities as far as [1]Baal. These were their settlements, and they have their genealogy.

34 Meshobab and Jamlech and Joshah the son of Amaziah,

35 and Joel and Jehu the son of Joshibiah, the son of Seraiah, the son of Asiel,

36 and Elioenai, Jaakobah, Jeshohaiah, Asaiah, Adiel, Jesimiel, Benaiah,

37 Ziza the son of Shiphi, the son of Allon, the son of Jedaiah, the son of Shimri, the son of Shemaiah;

38 these mentioned by name were leaders in their families; and their fathers' houses increased greatly.

39 They went to the entrance of Gedor, even to the east side of the valley, to seek pasture for their flocks.

40 They found rich and good pasture, and [a]the land was broad and quiet and peaceful; for those who lived there formerly were Hamites.

41 [a]These, recorded by name, came in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and [1]attacked their tents and the Meunites who were found there, and destroyed them utterly to this day, and lived in their place, because there was pasture there for their flocks.

42 From them, from the sons of Simeon, five hundred men went to [a]Mount Seir, with Pelatiah, Neariah, Rephaiah and Uzziel, the sons of Ishi, as their leaders.

43 [a]They [1]destroyed the remnant of the Amalekites who escaped, and have lived there to this day.

4:16–20 This portion of the genealogy is from preexilic times; several of the places named were not included in the province of Judah in the restoration period (e.g., Ziph and Eshtemoa).

4:17 Bithia the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Mered took. Mered is otherwise unknown; the fact that he married a daughter of Pharaoh suggests his prominence. The event may be associated with the fortunes of Israel in Egypt under Joseph.

4:21,23 This section accurately reflects a feature of ancient Near Eastern society. Clans were often associated not only with particular localities but also with special trades or guilds, such as linen workers (v. 21), potters (v. 23), royal patronage (v. 23) and scribes (2:55).

4:24–43 The genealogy of Simeon is also found in Gen 46:10; Ex 6:15; Num 26:12–13. Simeon settled in part of the territory of Judah; the list of occupied towns should be compared with Josh 15:26–32,42; 19:2–7. Since Simeon occupied areas allotted to Judah, this tribe was politically incorporated into Judah and appears to have lost much of its own identity in history (see Gen 34:24–31; 49:5–7; see also notes on Gen 34:25; 49:7). Geographical and historical notes are inserted in the genealogy (see note on vv. 9–10). Apparently two genealogies are included here: vv. 24–33—ending with the formula, "they have their genealogy"—and vv. 34–43. Overpopulation (v. 38) caused them to expand toward Gedor and east toward Edom at the time of Hezekiah (vv. 39–43). The long hostility between Israel and Amalek surfaced once again (v. 43; cf. Ex 17:8–16; Deut 25:17–19; 1 Sam 15; see Introduction to Esther: Purpose, Themes and Literary Features).

5:1–26 The genealogical records of the Transjordan tribes: Reuben, Gad and half of Manasseh (see Num 32:33–42). The Chronicler's concern with "all Israel" includes incorporating the genealogical records of these tribes that were no longer significant entities in Israel's life in the restoration period, having been swept away in the Assyrian conquests.

5:1–10 The necessity to explain why the birthright of the firstborn did not remain with Reuben (see Gen 35:22; 49:4 for Reu-

2 [a]Though Judah prevailed over his brothers, and [b]from him came the leader, yet the birthright belonged to Joseph),

3 [a]the sons of Reuben the firstborn of Israel were Hanoch and Pallu, Hezron and Carmi.

4 The sons of Joel were Shemaiah his son, Gog his son, [a]Shimei his son,

5 Micah his son, Reaiah his son, Baal his son,

6 Beerah his son, whom [1]Tilgath-pilneser king of Assyria carried away into exile; he was leader of the Reubenites.

7 His [1]kinsmen by their families, [a]in the genealogy of their generations, were Jeiel the chief, then Zechariah

8 and Bela the son of Azaz, the son of Shema, the son of Joel, who lived in [a]Aroer, even to Nebo and Baal-meon.

9 To the east he settled as far as the entrance of the wilderness from the river Euphrates, [a]because their cattle had increased in the land of Gilead.

10 In the days of Saul [a]they made war with the Hagrites, who fell by their hand, so that they [1]occupied their tents throughout [2]all the land east of Gilead.

11 Now the sons of Gad lived opposite them in the land of [a]Bashan as far as [b]Salecah.

12 Joel was the chief and Shapham the second, then Janai and Shaphat in Bashan.

13 Their [1]kinsmen of their fathers' households were Michael, Meshullam, Sheba, Jorai, Jacan, Zia and Eber, seven.

14 These were the sons of Abihail, the son of Huri, the son of Jaroah, the son of Gilead, the son of Michael, the son of Jeshishai, the son of Jahdo, the son of Buz;

15 Ahi the son of Abdiel, the son of Guni, was head of their fathers' households.

16 They lived in Gilead, in Bashan and in its towns, and in all the pasture lands of [a]Sharon, as far as their [1]borders.

17 All of these were enrolled in the genealogies in the days of [a]Jotham king of Judah and in the days of [b]Jeroboam king of Israel.

18 The sons of Reuben and the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh, consisting of valiant men, men who bore shield and sword and shot with bow and were skillful in battle, were 44,760, who [a]went to war.

19 They made war against [a]the Hagrites, [b]Jetur, Naphish and Nodab.

20 They were helped against them, and the Hagrites and all who were with them were given into their hand; for [a]they cried out to God in the battle, and He answered their prayers because [b]they trusted in Him.

21 They took away their cattle: their 50,000 camels, 250,000 sheep, 2,000 donkeys; and 100,000 [1]men.

22 For many fell slain, because [a]the war was of God. And [b]they settled in their place until the [c]exile.

23 Now the sons of the half-tribe of Manasseh lived in the land; from Bashan to Baal-hermon and [a]Senir and Mount Hermon they were numerous.

ben's sin) interrupts the initial statement (v. 1), which is then repeated after the explanation (v. 3). The parenthetical material (vv. 1–2) shows the writer's partiality for Judah, even though Joseph received the double portion (Ephraim and Manasseh) of the firstborn. The Hebrew term translated "leader" (v. 2) is used of David in 11:2; 17:7; 2 Sam 5:2; 6:21; 7:8; cf. 1 Chr 28:4. The use of military titles (vv. 6–7) and a battle account (v. 10) suggest that this genealogy may have functioned in military organization (see Introduction: Genealogies). The source for some of this material on Reuben is Num 26:5–11. The Chronicler has omitted reference to Eliab and his three sons who perished in the rebellion of Korah (see Num 26:8–10) and so were not relevant to his purpose.

5:6 Tilgath-pilneser. Tiglath-pileser. This Assyrian king (745–727 B.C.) attacked Israel (v. 26; 2 Kin 15:29) and also imposed tribute on Ahaz of Judah (2 Chr 28:19–20; 2 Kin 16:7–10).

5:10 Hagrites. See vv. 19–22. Named among the enemies of Israel (Ps 83:6), this tribe is apparently associated with Hagar, the mother of Ishmael (Gen 16), but see note on Ps 83:6.

5:11–22 The materials in this list for the tribe of Gad have no parallels in the Bible. The other genealogies of Gad are organized around his seven sons (Gen 46:16; Num 26:15–18); here four names are given, none found in the other lists. The Chronicler states (v. 17) that these records came from the period of Jotham of Judah (750–732 B.C.) and Jeroboam of Israel (793–753). The presence of military titles and narratives (vv. 12,18–22) suggests that this genealogy originated as part of a military census. The territory of Gad is delineated in Deut 3:12.

5:18–22 The first example of the Chronicler's theme of immediate retribution (see Introduction: Purpose and Themes). Success in warfare is attributed to their crying out to God (v. 20; cf. 2 Chr 6:24–25,34–39; 12:7–12; 13:13–16; 14:9–15; 18:31; 20:1–30; 32:1–23).

5:23–26 Manasseh is treated further in 7:14–19; the half-tribe that settled in Transjordan is dealt with here since it shared the same fate as Reuben and Gad, and possibly also so that the Chronicler could keep the total of 12 for his tribal genealogies (see note on 2:1–2). Again immediate retribution is apparent: Just as trust in God can bring victory (vv. 18–22), so also defeat comes to the unfaithful (vv. 25–26). The use of the retributive theme in these two accounts argues for the unity of the genealogies with the historical portions of Chronicles. The list of names given here is not properly a genealogy but a list of clans. Since they are described as brave warriors in connection with a battle report (vv. 24–26), this section too is likely derived from records of military conscription (see note on vv. 1–10; see also 2 Kin 15:19,29; 17:6; 18:11).

6:1–81 This chapter is devoted to a series of lists, all pertaining to the tribe of Levi. The first section (vv. 1–15) records the line of the high priests down to the exile; the clans of Levi follow (vv. 16–30). David's appointees as temple musicians came from the three clans of Levi: Gershon, Kohath and Merari (vv. 31–47). The generations between Aaron and Ahimaaz are given a separate listing (vv. 49–53), reinforcing the separate duties of priests and Levites (see note on Ex 32:26). The listing of the Levitical possessions among the tribes concludes the chapter (vv. 54–81).

6:1–3 A short segmented genealogy narrows the descendants of Levi to the lineage of Eleazar, in whose line the high priests are presented in linear form (vv. 4–15). The sons of Levi (v. 1) always appear in this order, based on age (v. 16; Gen 46:11; Ex 6:16; Num 3:17; 26:57). Of Aaron's four sons (v. 3), the first two died as a result of sacrilege (Lev 10:2; Num 26:61); succeeding generations of priests would trace their lineage to either Eleazar or Ithamar.

6:4–15 This list of high priests from the time of Eleazar to the exile has been sharply telescoped. The following high priests known from the OT are not mentioned: Jehoiada (2 Kin 12:2), Urijah (2 Kin 16:10–16), possibly two other Azariahs (2 Chr 26:17,20; 31:10–13), Eli (1 Sam 1:9; 14:3) and Abiathar (2 Sam 8:17). The list is repeated with some variation in Ezra 7:1–5 (see notes there).

6:8 Ahitub became the father of Zadok. This Zadok was one of David's two priests (18:16; 2 Sam 8:17). When David's other priest, Abiathar (see note on vv. 4–15), supported the rebellion of Adonijah, Zadok supported Solomon (1 Kin 1). After the expulsion of Abiathar (1 Kin 2:26–27), Zadok alone held the office (1 Chr 29:22), which continued in his line (1 Kin 4:2). The Ahitub mentioned here should not be confused with the priest who was the grandson of Eli (1 Sam 14:3) and grandfather of Abiathar (1 Sam 22:20); the line of Zadok replaced the line of Eli (1 Sam 2:27–36; 1 Kin 2:26–27). For the importance of the line of Zadok see Ezek 40:46; 43:19; 44:15; 48:11. Ezra was concerned to trace his own priestly lineage to this house (Ezra 7:1–5).

6:13 Hilkiah. Discovered the Book of the Law in the temple at the time of Josiah (2 Kin 22; 2 Chr 34).

6:14 Seraiah. Executed by the Babylonians after the conquest of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. (2 Kin 25:18–21). Jehozadak. Father of Jeshua, the high priest in the first generation of the restoration. His name is spelled "Jozadak" in Ezra 3:2,8; 5:2; 10:18; Neh 12:26 and "Jehozadak" elsewhere (see Hag 1:1; 2:2; Zech 6:11).

6:16–19a Repeated from Ex 6:16–19; Num 3:17–20; 26:57–61.

6:22–23 Assir . . . Elkanah . . . Ebiasaph. Ex 6:24 names these men as sons of Korah, but here they are presented in the form ordinarily used for a linear genealogy of successive generations (see vv. 20–21,25–26,29–30). Either this is another example of genealogical fluidity, or one must understand "his son" as referring to Kohath and not to the immediately preceding name.

6:22 Amminadab. The almost parallel genealogy later in this chapter lists Izhar in the place of Amminadab—who is nowhere else listed as a son of Kohath, while every other list includes Izhar (vv. 2,37–38; Ex 6:18,21). Either Amminadab is an otherwise unattested alternative name of Izhar, or he is an otherwise unknown son. Or this may be another example of genealogical 24 Tahath his son, Uriel his son, Uzziah his son and Shaul his son.

25 The sons of Elkanah were Amasai and Ahimoth.
26 As for Elkanah, the sons of Elkanah were Zophai his son and Nahath his son,
27 Eliab his son, Jeroham his son, Elkanah his son.
28 The sons of Samuel were [a]Joel the firstborn, and Abijah the second.
29 The sons of Merari were Mahli, Libni his son, Shimei his son, Uzzah his son,
30 Shimea his son, Haggiah his son, Asaiah his son.
31 [a]Now these are those whom David appointed over the service of song in the house of the LORD, [b]after the ark rested there.
32 They ministered with song before the tabernacle of the tent of meeting, until Solomon had built the house of the LORD in Jerusalem; and they [1]served in their office according to their order.
33 These are those who [1]served with their sons: From the sons of the Kohathites were Heman the singer, the son of Joel, the son of Samuel,
34 the son of Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Eliel, the son of Toah,
35 the son of Zuph, the son of Elkanah, the son of Mahath, the son of Amasai,
36 the son of Elkanah, the son of Joel, the son of Azariah, the son of Zephaniah,
37 the son of Tahath, the son of Assir, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah,
38 the son of Izhar, the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, the son of Israel.
39 Heman's brother Asaph stood at his right hand, even Asaph the son of Berechiah, the son of Shimea,
40 the son of Michael, the son of Baaseiah, the son of Malchijah,
41 the son of Ethni, the son of Zerah, the son of Adaiah,
42 the son of Ethan, the son of Zimmah, the son of Shimei,
43 the son of Jahath, the son of Gershom, the son of Levi.
44 On the left hand were their [1]kinsmen the sons of Merari: Ethan the son of Kishi, the son of Abdi, the son of Malluch,
45 the son of Hashabiah, the son of Amaziah, the son of Hilkiah,
46 the son of Amzi, the son of Bani, the son of Shemer,
47 the son of Mahli, the son of Mushi, the son of Merari, the son of Levi.
48 Their [1]kinsmen the Levites were [2]appointed for all the service of the tabernacle of the house of God.
49 But Aaron and his sons [1a]offered on the altar of burnt offering and [b]on the altar of incense, for all the work of the most holy place, and [c]to make atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the servant of God had commanded.
50 [a]These are the sons of Aaron: Eleazar his son, Phinehas his son, Abishua his son,
51 Bukki his son, Uzzi his son, Zerahiah his son,
52 Meraioth his son, Amariah his son, Ahitub his son,
53 Zadok his son, Ahimaaz his son.
54 Now these are their settlements according to their camps within their borders. To the sons of Aaron of the families of the Kohathites (for theirs was the [a]first lot),
55 to them they gave [a]Hebron in the land of Judah and its pasture lands around it;
56 [a]but the fields of the city and its villages, they gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh.
57 [a]To the sons of Aaron they gave the following cities of refuge: Hebron, Libnah also with its pasture lands, Jattir, Eshtemoa with its pasture lands,
58 [1]Hilen with its pasture lands, Debir with its pasture lands,
59 [1]Ashan with its pasture lands and Beth-shemesh with its pasture lands;
60 and from the tribe of Benjamin: Geba with its pasture lands, [1]Allemeth with its pasture lands, and Anathoth with its pasture lands. All their cities throughout their families were thirteen cities.

fluidity in which the Levites are linked with the tribe of Judah and the lineage of David (see Ruth 4:18–22; see also Matt 1:4; Luke 3:33) in view of Aaron's marriage to the daughter of Amminadab of Judah (Ex 6:23; see 1 Chr 2:10).

6:24 Uriel. Possibly the one who led the Kohathites in David's day (15:5).

6:26–27 Zophai . . . Nahath . . . Eliab. Apparently variant names for Zuph, Toah and Eliel (vv. 34–35).

6:28 Samuel. His lineage is also given in 1 Sam 1:1, where his family is identified as Ephraimite (see note there). Either this is an example of genealogical fluidity, in which Samuel's involvement in the tabernacle (1 Sam 3) and performance of priestly duties (9:22; 1 Sam 2:18; 3:1) resulted in his incorporation into the Levites, or the term "Ephraimite" is to be understood as a place of residence, not as a statement of lineage.

6:31–48 Each of the three Levitical clans contributed musicians for the temple: Heman from the family of Kohath, Asaph from Gershon, and Ethan from Merari. The Chronicler makes frequent reference to the appointment of the musical guilds by David (15:16,27; 25:1–31; 2 Chr 29:25–26; see Neh 12:45–47). The frequent mention of the role of the Levites has led many to assume that the author was a member of the musicians. Non-Biblical literature also attests to guilds of singers and musicians in Canaanite temples. This genealogy appears to function as a means of legitimizing the Levites of the restoration period (Ezra 2:40–41; Neh 7:43–44; 10:9–13, 28–29; 11:15–18; 12:24–47).

6:49–53 Repeats vv. 4–8 but presumably serves a different function: to legitimize the line of Zadok, which is traced down to Solomon's time, as the only Levitical division authorized to offer sacrifices.

6:54–81 This list of Levitical possessions is taken from Josh 21 with only minor differences (see notes there). The Levites, who were given no block of territory of their own, were distributed throughout Israel.

61 [a]Then to the rest of the sons of Kohath were given by lot, from the family of the tribe, from the half-tribe, the half of Manasseh, ten cities.

62 To the sons of Gershom, according to their families, were given from the tribe of Issachar and from the tribe of Asher, the tribe of Naphtali, and the tribe of Manasseh, thirteen cities in Bashan.

63 [a]To the sons of Merari were given by lot, according to their families, from the tribe of Reuben, the tribe of Gad and the tribe of Zebulun, twelve cities.

64 [a]So the sons of Israel gave to the Levites the cities with their pasture lands.

65 They gave by lot from the tribe of the sons of Judah, the tribe of the sons of Simeon and the tribe of the sons of Benjamin, [a]these cities which are mentioned by name.

66 [a]Now some of the families of the sons of Kohath had cities of their territory from the tribe of Ephraim.

67 They gave to them the following cities of refuge: Shechem in the hill country of Ephraim with its pasture lands, Gezer also with its pasture lands,

68 Jokmeam with its pasture lands, Bethhoron with its pasture lands,

69 Aijalon with its pasture lands and Gath-rimmon with its pasture lands;

70 and from the half-tribe of Manasseh: Aner with its pasture lands and Bileam with its pasture lands, for the rest of the family of the sons of Kohath.

71 To the sons of Gershom were given, from the family of the half-tribe of Manasseh: Golan in Bashan with its pasture lands and Ashtaroth with its pasture lands;

72 and from the tribe of Issachar: Kedesh with its pasture lands, Daberath with its pasture lands

73 and Ramoth with its pasture lands, Anem with its pasture lands;

74 and from the tribe of Asher: Mashal with its pasture lands, Abdon with its pasture lands,

75 Hukok with its pasture lands and Rehob with its pasture lands;

76 and from the tribe of Naphtali: Kedesh in Galilee with its pasture lands, Hammon with its pasture lands and Kiriathaim with its pasture lands.

77 To the rest of the Levites, the sons of Merari, were given, from the tribe of Zebulun: Rimmono with its pasture lands, Tabor with its pasture lands;

78 and beyond the Jordan at Jericho, on the east side of the Jordan, were given them, from the tribe of Reuben: Bezer in the wilderness with its pasture lands, Jahzah with its pasture lands,

79 Kedemoth with its pasture lands and Mephaath with its pasture lands;

80 and from the tribe of Gad: Ramoth in Gilead with its pasture lands, Mahanaim with its pasture lands, 81 Heshbon with its pasture lands and Jazer with its pasture lands.

Genealogy from Issachar

7 Now the sons of Issachar were four: Tola, [1]Puah, [2]Jashub and Shimron.

2 The sons of Tola were Uzzi, Rephaiah, Jeriel, Jahmai, Ibsam and Samuel, heads of their fathers' households. The sons of Tola were mighty men of valor in their generations; [a]their number in the days of David was 22,600.

3 The [1]son of Uzzi was Izrahiah. And the sons of Izrahiah were Michael, Obadiah, Joel, Isshiah; all five of them were [a]chief men.

4 With them by their generations according to their fathers' households were 36,000 [1]troops of the army for war, for they had many wives and sons.

5 Their [1]relatives among all the families of Issachar were mighty men of valor, enrolled by genealogy, in all 87,000.

Descendants of Benjamin

6 [a]The sons of Benjamin were three: Bela and Becher and Jediael.

7 The sons of Bela were five: Ezbon, Uzzi, Uzziel, Jerimoth and Iri. They were heads of fathers' households, mighty men of valor, and were 22,034 enrolled by genealogy.

8 The sons of Becher were Zemirah, Joash, Eliezer, Elioenai, Omri, Jeremoth, Abijah, Anathoth and Alemeth. All these were the sons of Becher.

9 They were enrolled by genealogy, according to their generations, heads of their fathers' households, 20,200 mighty men of valor.

10 The [1]son of Jediael was Bilhan. And the sons of Bilhan were Jeush, Benjamin, Ehud, Chenaanah, Zethan, Tarshish and Ahishahar.

11 All these were sons of Jediael, according to the heads of their fathers' households, 17,200 mighty men of valor, who were [1]ready to go out with the army to war.

12 [1]Shuppim and [2]Huppim were the sons of [3]Ir; Hushim was the [4]son of [5]Aher.

7:1–5 Parts of the genealogy of Issachar are taken from Gen 46:13; Num 1:28; 26:23–25, though many of the names are otherwise unattested. This list of the clans appears to come from a military muster (vv. 2,4–5) from the time of David (v. 2), perhaps reflecting the census of ch. 21 and 2 Sam 24.

7:6–12 There is considerable fluidity among the Biblical sources listing the sons of Benjamin. This list gives three sons; Gen 46:21 records ten; Num 26:38–39 and 1 Chr 8:1–2 both list five (the only name appearing in all these sources is Bela, the firstborn). The variations reflect different origins and functions for these genealogies. The list here appears to function in the military sphere (vv. 7,9,11).

Sons of Naphtali

13 The sons of Naphtali were [1]Jahziel, Guni, Jezer, and [2]Shallum, the sons of Bilhah.

Descendants of Manasseh

14 The sons of Manasseh were Asriel, whom his Aramean concubine bore; she bore Machir the father of Gilead.

15 Machir took a wife for Huppim and Shuppim, [1]whose sister's name was Maacah. And the name of the second was Zelophehad, and Zelophehad had daughters.

16 Maacah the wife of Machir bore a son, and she named him Peresh; and the name of his brother was Sheresh, and his sons were Ulam and Rakem.

17 The [1]son of Ulam was Bedan. These were the sons of Gilead the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh.

18 His sister Hammolecheth bore Ishhod and [1]Abiezer and Mahlah.

19 The sons of Shemida were Ahian and Shechem and Likhi and Aniam.

Descendants of Ephraim

20 [a]The sons of Ephraim were Shuthelah and [1]Bered his son, Tahath his son, Eleadah his son, Tahath his son,

21 Zabad his son, Shuthelah his son, and Ezer and Elead whom the men of Gath who were born in the land killed, because they came down to take their livestock.

22 Their father Ephraim [a]mourned many days, and his relatives [b]came to comfort him.

23 Then he went in to his wife, and she conceived and bore a son, and he named him [1]Beriah, because misfortune had come upon his house.

24 His daughter was Sheerah, [a]who built lower and upper Beth-horon, also Uzzensheerah.

25 Rephah was his son along with Resheph, Telah his son, Tahan his son,

26 Ladan his son, Ammihud his son, Elishama his son,

27 [1]Non his son and [a]Joshua his son.

28 [a]Their possessions and settlements were Bethel with its towns, and to the east [1]Naaran, and to the west Gezer with its towns, and Shechem with its towns as far as [2]Ayyah with its towns, 29 and along the borders of the sons of Manasseh, Beth-shean with its towns, Taanach with its towns, Megiddo with its towns, Dor with its towns. In these lived the [a]sons of Joseph the son of Israel.

Descendants of Asher

30 [a]The sons of Asher were Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi and Beriah, and Serah their sister.

31 The sons of Beriah were Heber and Malchiel, who was the father of Birzaith.

32 Heber [1]became the father of Japhlet, [2]Shomer and Hotham, and Shua their sister.

33 The sons of Japhlet were Pasach, Bimhal and Ashvath. These were the sons of Japhlet.

34 The sons of [1]Shemer were Ahi and Rohgah, Jehubbah and Aram.

35 The [1]sons of his brother Helem were Zophah, Imna, Shelesh and Amal.

36 The sons of Zophah were Suah, Harnepher, Shual, Beri and Imrah, 37 Bezer, Hod, Shamma, Shilshah, Ithran and Beera.

38 The sons of Jether were Jephunneh, Pispa and Ara.

39 The sons of Ulla were Arah, Hanniel and Rizia.

40 All these were the sons of Asher, heads of the fathers' houses, choice and mighty men of valor, heads of the princes. And the number of them enrolled by genealogy for service in war was 26,000 men.

Genealogy from Benjamin

8 And [a]Benjamin [1]became the father of Bela his firstborn, Ashbel the second, [b]Aharah the third,

2 Nohah the fourth and Rapha the fifth.

3 Bela had sons: [1]Addar, Gera, Abihud,

7:14–19 See note on 5:23–26. The sources for this genealogy are Num 26:29–34; Josh 17:1–18. The daughters of Zelophehad (v. 15) prompted the rulings on the inheritance rights of women (Num 26:29–34; 27:1–11; 36:1–12; Josh 17:3–4). Of the 13 different clans of the tribe of Manasseh known from these genealogies, seven are mentioned in the Samaria ostraca (about 65 inscribed potsherds containing records of deliveries of wine, oil, barley and other commodities in the eighth century B.C.). The prominence of women in this genealogy is unusual; this suggests that it may have functioned in the domestic sphere, perhaps as a statement of the social status of the various clans of Manasseh (see Introduction: Genealogies).

7:20–29 The source for part of the genealogy of Ephraim is Num 26:35. If Rephah (v. 25) is the grandson of Ephraim, ten generations are recorded from Ephraim to Joshua, a number that fits very well the 400-year interval when Israel was in Egypt. Joshua's Ephraimite ancestry is also mentioned in Num 13:8 (where he is called "Hoshea"; see Num 13:16). The raid against Gath (vv. 21–22) must have taken place well before the conquest of Canaan and must have originated in Egypt. The list of settlements (vv. 28–29) summarizes Josh 16–17.

7:30–40 The genealogy of Asher follows Gen 46:17 for the first three generations; it is also parallel to Num 26:44–46, except that the name Ishvah (v. 30) is missing there. This genealogy too reflects a military function (v. 40).

8:1–40 The inclusion of a second and even more extensive genealogy of Benjamin (see note on 7:6–12) reflects both the importance of this tribe and the Chronicler's interest in Saul. Judah, Simeon and part of Benjamin had composed the southern kingdom (1 Kin 12:1–21), and their territory largely comprised the restoration province of Judah in the Chronicler's own time. The genealogy of Benjamin is more extensive than that of all the other tribes except Judah and Levi. The Chronicler is also concerned with the genealogy of Saul (vv. 29–38) in order to set the stage for the historical narrative that begins with the 32 Mikloth became the father of [1]Shimeah. And they also lived with their [2]relatives in Jerusalem opposite their other [2]relatives.

Genealogy from King Saul

33 [a]Ner became the father of Kish, and Kish became the father of Saul, and Saul became the father of Jonathan, Malchi-shua, [1]Abinadab and [2]Eshbaal.
34 The son of Jonathan was [1]Merib-baal, and Merib-baal became the father of Micah.
35 The sons of Micah were Pithon, Melech, [1]Tarea and Ahaz.
36 Ahaz became the father of [1]Jehoaddah, and Jehoaddah became the father of Alemeth, Azmaveth and Zimri; and Zimri became the father of Moza.
37 Moza became the father of Binea; [1]Raphah was his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son.
38 Azel had six sons, and these were their names: Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah and Hanan. All these were the sons of Azel.
39 The sons of Eshek his brother were Ulam his firstborn, Jeush the second and Eliphelet the third.
40 The sons of Ulam were mighty men of valor, archers, and had many sons and grandsons, 150 of them. All these were of the sons of Benjamin.

People of Jerusalem

9 So all Israel was enrolled by genealogies; and behold, they are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel. And [a]Judah was carried away into exile to Babylon for their unfaithfulness.
2 [a]Now the first who lived in their possessions in their cities were Israel, the priests, the Levites and [b]the [1]temple servants.

end of his reign (ch. 10); Saul's genealogy is repeated in 9:35–44. Several references suggest that this genealogy also originated in the military sphere (vv. 6,10,13,28,40).

9:1 All Israel. The Chronicler's concern with "all Israel" is one key to why he included the genealogies (see Introduction: Purpose and Themes).

9:2–34 This list of the members of the restored community reflects the Chronicler's concern with the institutions of his own day, especially the legitimacy of officeholders. He lists laity ("Israel," v. 2) in vv. 3–9, priests in vv. 10–13 and Levites in vv. 14–34. He mentions a fourth class of returnees—the temple servants (v. 2)—but does not give them separate listing in the material that follows. They may have been originally foreigners who were incorporated into the Levites (Josh 9:23; Ezra 8:20) and so are not listed apart from that tribe. A similar office is known in the temple at ancient Ugarit. The list here is related to the one in Neh 11, but less than half the names are the same in the two lists.

9:3 Ephraim and Manasseh. Again reflecting his concern with "all Israel," the Chronicler shows that the returnees were not only from Judah and Benjamin but also from the northern tribes.

Omri, the son of Imri, the son of Bani, from the sons of Perez the [a]son of Judah.

5 From the Shilonites were Asaiah the firstborn and his sons.

6 From the sons of Zerah were Jeuel and their [1]relatives, 690 of them.

7 From the sons of Benjamin were Sallu the son of Meshullam, the son of Hodaviah, the son of Hassenuah,

8 and Ibneiah the son of Jeroham, and Elah the son of Uzzi, the son of Michri, and Meshullam the son of Shephatiah, the son of Reuel, the son of Ibnijah;

9 and their relatives according to their generations, [a]956. All these were heads of fathers' households according to their fathers' houses.

10 [a]From the priests were Jedaiah, Jehoiarib, Jachin,

11 and [1]Azariah the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, [a]the chief officer of the house of God;

12 and Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pashhur, the son of Malchijah, and Maasai the son of Adiel, the son of Jahzerah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Meshillemith, the son of Immer;

13 and their relatives, heads of their fathers' households, 1,760 very able men for the work of the service of the house of God.

14 [a]Of the Levites were Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, of the sons of Merari;

15 and Bakbakkar, Heresh and Galal and Mattaniah the son of Mica, the son of [1]Zichri, the son of Asaph,

16 and [1]Obadiah the son of [2]Shemaiah, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun, and Berechiah the son of Asa, the son of Elkanah, who lived in the villages of the Netophathites.

17 Now the gatekeepers were [1]Shallum and Akkub and Talmon and Ahiman and their relatives (Shallum the chief 18 being stationed until now at [a]the king's gate to the east). These were the gatekeepers for the camp of the sons of Levi.

19 Shallum the son of Kore, the son of [1]Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, and his relatives of his father's house, the Korahites, were over the work of the service, keepers of the thresholds of the tent; and their fathers had been over the camp of the LORD, keepers of the entrance.

20 [a]Phinehas the son of Eleazar was ruler over them previously, and the LORD was with him.

21 [a]Zechariah the son of Meshelemiah was gatekeeper of the entrance of the tent of meeting.

22 All these who were chosen to be gatekeepers at the thresholds were 212. These were enrolled by genealogy in their villages, [a]whom David and Samuel the seer appointed [b]in their office of trust.

23 So they and their sons [1]had charge of the gates of the house of the LORD, even the house of the tent, as guards.

24 The gatekeepers were [1]on the four sides, to the east, west, north and south.

25 Their relatives in their villages [a]were to come in every seven days from time to time to be with [1]them;

26 for the four chief gatekeepers who were Levites, were in an office of trust, and were over the chambers and over the treasuries in the house of God.

27 They spent the night around the house of God, [a]because the watch was [1]committed to them; and they were [2]in charge of opening it morning by morning.

28 Now some of them [1]had charge of the utensils of service, for [2]they counted them when they brought them in and when they took them out.

29 Some of them also were appointed over the furniture and over all the utensils of the sanctuary and [a]over the fine flour and the wine and the oil and the frankincense and the spices.

30 Some of [a]the sons of the priests prepared the mixing of the spices.

31 Mattithiah, one of the Levites, who was the firstborn of Shallum the Korahite, had [a]the [1]responsibility over the things which were baked in pans.

32 Some of their relatives of the sons of the Kohathites [a]were over the showbread to prepare it every sabbath.

9:4–6 See 2:3–6; 4:21. The returnees of Judah are traced to Judah's sons Perez, Zerah and Shelah—if the word "Shilonites" (v. 5) is read as "Shelanites" (Num 26:20). If the reading "Shilonites" is retained, the reference is to Shiloh, the important sanctuary city (Judg 18:31; Jer 7:12–14; 26:9).

9:10–13 The list of priests is essentially the same as that in Neh 11:10–14. Since it is tied to the list of priests earlier in the genealogies (6:1–15,50–53), contemporary Israel's continuity with her past is shown.

9:15–16 Asaph . . . Jeduthun. Leaders of musical groups (6:39; 16:41). Later the Chronicler also lists the musicians (ch. 25) before the gatekeepers (ch. 26).

9:16 Netophathites. See note on Neh 12:28.

9:17–21 The Chronicler gives the names of four gatekeepers, while Neh 11:19 mentions only two. The chief of the gatekeepers had the honor of responsibility for the gate used by the king (Ezek 46:1–2). The gatekeepers are also listed in ch. 26; Ezra 2:42. These officers traced their origin to Phinehas (v. 20; 6:4; Num 3:32; 25:6–13).

9:22–27 Twenty-four guard stations were manned in three shifts around the clock; 72 men would be needed for each week. With a total of 212 men, each would have a tour of duty approximately every three weeks (26:12–18).

9:28–34 The Levites not only were responsible for the temple precincts and for opening the gates in the morning, but they also had charge of the chambers and supply rooms (23:28; 26:20–29) as well as the implements, supplies and furnishings (28:13–18; Ezra 1:9–11). In addition they were responsible for the preparation of baked goods (Ex 25:30; Lev 2:5–7; 7:9). The priests alone prepared the perfumed anointing oil and spices (Ex 30:23–33).

33 Now these are [a]the singers, heads of fathers' households of the Levites, who lived in the chambers of the temple free from other service; for they were [1]engaged [b]in their work day and night.

34 These were heads of fathers' households of the Levites according to their generations, chief men, [1]who lived in Jerusalem.

Ancestry and Descendants of Saul

35 [a]In Gibeon Jeiel the father of Gibeon lived, and his wife's name was Maacah,

36 and his firstborn son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner, Nadab, 37 Gedor, Ahio, Zechariah and Mikloth.

38 Mikloth became the father of Shimeam. And they also lived with their relatives in Jerusalem opposite their other relatives.

39 [a]Ner became the father of Kish, and Kish became the father of Saul, and Saul became the father of Jonathan, Malchi-shua, Abinadab and Eshbaal.

40 The son of Jonathan was Merib-baal; and Merib-baal became the father of Micah.

41 The sons of Micah were Pithon, Melech, Tahrea [a]and Ahaz.

42 Ahaz became the father of Jarah, and Jarah became the father of Alemeth, Azmaveth and Zimri; and Zimri became the father of Moza, 43 and Moza became the father of Binea and Rephaiah his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son.

44 Azel had six sons whose names are these: Azrikam, Bocheru and Ishmael and Sheariah and Obadiah and Hanan. These were the sons of Azel.

Defeat and Death of Saul and His Sons

10 [a]Now the Philistines fought against Israel; and the men of Israel fled before the Philistines and fell slain on Mount Gilboa.

2 The Philistines closely pursued Saul and his sons, and the Philistines struck down Jonathan, [1][a]Abinadab and Malchi-shua, the sons of Saul.

3 The battle became heavy against Saul, and the archers [1]overtook him; and he was wounded by the archers.

4 Then Saul said to his armor bearer, "Draw your sword and thrust me through with it, otherwise these uncircumcised will come and abuse me." But his armor bearer would not, for he was greatly afraid. [a]Therefore Saul took his sword and fell on it.

5 When his armor bearer saw that Saul was dead, he likewise fell on his sword and died.

6 [a]Thus Saul died with his three sons, and all those of his house died together.

7 When all the men of Israel who were in the valley saw that they had fled, and that Saul and his sons were dead, they forsook their cities and fled; and the Philistines came and lived in them.

8 It came about the next day, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, that they found Saul and his sons fallen on Mount Gilboa.

9 [a]So they stripped him and took his head and his armor and sent messengers around the land of the Philistines to carry the good news to their idols and to the people.

10 They put his armor in the house of their gods and fastened his head in the house of Dagon.

Jabesh-gilead's Tribute to Saul

11 When all Jabesh-gilead heard all that the Philistines had done to Saul,

12 [a]all the valiant men arose and took away the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons and brought them to Jabesh, and they buried their bones under the oak in Jabesh, and fasted seven days.

13 [a]So Saul died for his trespass which he committed against the LORD, because of the word of the LORD which he did not keep; and also [b]because he asked counsel of a medium, making inquiry of it,

14 and did not inquire of the LORD. Therefore He killed him and [a]turned the kingdom to David the son of Jesse.

David Made King over All Israel

11 [a]Then all Israel gathered to David at Hebron [1]and said, "Behold, we are your bone and your flesh.

2 "In times past, even when Saul was king, you were the one who led out and brought in Israel; and the LORD your God said to you, '[a]You shall shepherd My people Isra-

9:35–44 The genealogy of Saul is duplicated here (see 8:29–38) as a transition to the short account of his reign that begins the Chronicler's narration (ch. 10).

10:2 For the strategy of pursuing the king in battle see note on 1 Kin 22:31.

10:6 his three sons. See v. 2 (Ish-bosheth survived; see note on 1 Sam 31:2). all those of his house. His three sons and his chief officials (his official "house"), not all his descendants (see 8:33–34 and notes; 1 Sam 31:6).

10:13–14 These verses are not paralleled in the Samuel account; they were put here by the Chronicler in line with his concern with immediate retribution (see Introduction: Purpose and Themes). Seeking mediums was forbidden (Deut 18:9–14) and brought death to Saul. The Chronicler is obviously writing to an audience already familiar with Samuel and Kings, and he frequently assumes that knowledge. Here the consultation with the medium at Endor is alluded to (see 1 Sam 28), but the Chronicler does not recount the incident.

11:1–2 Chr 9:31 See Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon.

11:1–3 The material here parallels that in 2 Sam 5:1–3, but is recast by the Chronicler in accordance with his emphasis on the popular support given David by "all Israel" (v. 1). While the Chronicler twice mentions the seven-year reign at Hebron before the death of Ish-bosheth and the covenant with the northern tribes (3:4; 29:27), these incidents are bypassed in the el, and you shall be prince over My people Israel.' "

3 So all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and David made a covenant with them in Hebron before the LORD; and [a]they anointed David king over Israel, [b]according to the word of the LORD through Samuel.

Jerusalem, Capital City

4 Then David and all Israel went to Jerusalem ([a]that is, Jebus); and the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land, were there.

5 The inhabitants of Jebus said to David, "You shall not enter here." Nevertheless David captured the stronghold of Zion (that is, the city of David).

6 Now David had said, "Whoever strikes down a Jebusite first shall be chief and commander." [a]Joab the son of Zeruiah went up first, so he became chief.

7 Then David dwelt in the stronghold; therefore it was called the city of David.

8 He [1]built the city all around, from the [2]Millo even to the surrounding area; and Joab [3]repaired the rest of the city.

9 [a]David became greater and greater, for the LORD of hosts was with him.

David's Mighty Men

10 [a]Now these are the heads of the mighty men whom David had, who gave him strong support in his kingdom, together with all Israel, to make him king, [b]according to the word of the LORD concerning Israel.

11 These constitute the list of the mighty men whom David had: [a]Jashobeam, the son of a Hachmonite, [b]the chief of the thirty; he lifted up his spear against three hundred [1]whom he killed at one time.

12 After him was Eleazar the son of [a]Dodo, the Ahohite, who was [1]one of the three mighty men.

13 He was with David at [1]Pasdammim [a]when the Philistines were gathered together there to battle, and there was a plot of ground full of barley; and the people fled before the Philistines.

14 They took their stand in the midst of the plot and defended it, and struck down the Philistines; and the LORD saved them by a great [1]victory.

15 Now three of the thirty chief men went down to the rock to David, into the cave of Adullam, while [a]the army of the Philistines was camping in the valley of Rephaim.

16 David was then in the stronghold, while [a]the garrison of the Philistines was then in Bethlehem.

17 David had a craving and said, "Oh that someone would give me water to drink from the well of Bethlehem, which is by the gate!"

18 So the three broke through the camp of the Philistines and drew water from the well of Bethlehem which was by the gate, and took it and brought it to David; nevertheless David would not drink it, but poured it out to the LORD;

19 and he said, "Be it far from me before my God that I should do this. Shall I drink the blood of these men who went [1]at the risk of their lives? For at the risk of their lives they brought it." Therefore he would not drink it. These things the three mighty men did.

20 As for [1]Abshai the brother of Joab, he was chief of the [2]thirty, and he swung his spear against three hundred [3]and killed them; and he had a name as well as the [2]thirty.

21 Of the three in the second rank he was the most honored and became their commander; however, he did not attain to the first three.

22 [a]Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, the son of a valiant man of Kabzeel, mighty in deeds, struck down the [1]two sons of Ariel of Moab. He also went down and [2]killed a lion inside a pit on a snowy day.

23 He [1]killed an Egyptian, a man of great stature five [2]cubits tall. Now in the Egyptian's hand was [a]a spear like a weaver's beam, but he went down to him with a club and snatched the spear from the Egyptian's hand and [1]killed him with his own spear.

24 These things Benaiah the son of Jehoiada did, and had a name as well as the three mighty men.

25 Behold, he was honored among the thirty, but he did not attain to the three; and David appointed him over his guard.

26 Now the mighty men of the armies were Asahel the brother of Joab, Elhanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem,

27 [1]Shammoth the Harorite, Helez the [2]Pelonite,

28 Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite, Abiezer the Anathothite, narrative portion of the book. Most striking is the elimination at this point of the information in 2 Sam 5:4–5. Rather, the Chronicler paints a picture of immediate accession over "all Israel," followed by the immediate conquest of Jerusalem (see Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon). The author once again assumes the reader's knowledge of the parallel account.

11:4–9 See 2 Sam 5:6–10 and notes. The "all Israel" theme appears in v. 4 as a substitute for "the king and his men" (2 Sam 5:6).

11:10–41a See 2 Sam 23:8–39 and notes. In the Samuel account this list of David's mighty men is given near the end of his reign. The Chronicler has moved the list to the beginning of his reign and has greatly expanded it (11:41b–12:40), again as part of his emphasis on the broad support of "all Israel" for the kingship of David (v. 10).

11:11 three hundred. Actually 800 (see 2 Sam 23:8), 300 here apparently being a copyist's mistake, perhaps influenced by the same number in v. 20.

11:12–14 See 2 Sam 23:9b–11a.

11:15–19 David recognizes that he is not worthy of such devotion and makes the water a drink offering to the Lord (see Gen 35:14; 2 Kin 16:13; Jer 7:18; Hos 9:4).

David's Supporters in Ziklag

12 [a]Now these are the ones who came to David at Ziklag, while he was still restricted because of Saul the son of Kish; and they were among the mighty men who helped him in war.
2 They were equipped with bows, [a]using both the right hand and the left to sling stones and to shoot arrows from the bow; [b]they were Saul's kinsmen from Benjamin.
3 The chief was Ahiezer, then Joash, the sons of Shemaah the Gibeathite; and Jeziel and Pelet, the sons of Azmaveth, and Beracah and Jehu the Anathothite,
4 and Ishmaiah the Gibeonite, a mighty man among the thirty, and over the thirty. [1]Then Jeremiah, Jahaziel, Johanan, Jozabad the Gederathite,
5 [1]Eluzai, Jerimoth, Bealiah, Shemariah, Shephatiah the Haruphite,
6 Elkanah, Isshiah, Azarel, Joezer, Jashobeam, the Korahites,
7 and Joelah and Zebadiah, the sons of Jeroham of Gedor.
8 From the Gadites there [1]came over to David in the stronghold in the wilderness, mighty men of valor, men trained for war, who could handle shield and spear, and whose faces were like the faces of lions, and [a]they were as swift as the gazelles on the mountains.
9 Ezer was the first, Obadiah the second, Eliab the third,
10 Mishmannah the fourth, Jeremiah the fifth,
11 Attai the sixth, Eliel the seventh,
12 Johanan the eighth, Elzabad the ninth,
13 Jeremiah the tenth, Machbannai the eleventh.
14 These of the sons of Gad were [1]captains of the army; [a]he who was least was equal to a hundred and the greatest to a thousand.
15 [a]These are the ones who crossed the Jordan in the first month when it was overflowing all its banks and they put to flight all those in the valleys, both to the east and to the west.
16 Then some of the sons of Benjamin and Judah came to the stronghold to David.
17 David went out to meet them, and said to them, "If you come peacefully to me to help me, my heart shall be united with you; but if to betray me to my adversaries, since there is no [1]wrong in my hands, may the God of our fathers look on it and decide."
18 Then [a]the Spirit [1]came upon [b]Amasai, who was the chief of the thirty, and he said,

"We are yours, O David,
And with you, O son of Jesse!
[c]Peace, peace to you,
And peace to him who helps you;
Indeed, your God helps you!"

Then David received them and made them [2]captains of the band.
19 [a]From Manasseh also some defected to David when he was about to go to battle with the Philistines against Saul. But they did not help them, for the lords of the Philistines after consultation sent him away, saying, "At the cost of our heads he may defect to his master Saul."
20 As he went to Ziklag there defected to him from Manasseh: Adnah, Jozabad, Jediael, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu and Zillethai, 11:41b–12:40 See note on vv. 10–41a. The list in 2 Sam 23 ends with Uriah the Hittite (2 Sam 11); the source for the additional names is not known. The emphasis continues to be on the support of "all Israel"—even Saul's own kinsmen recognized the legitimacy of David's kingship before Saul's death (12:1–7,16–18,23,29).

12:1 The Chronicler assumes the reader's knowledge of the events at Ziklag (1 Sam 27); see vv. 19–20.
12:8–15 The men of Gad were from Transjordan. Melting snows to the north would have brought the Jordan to flood stage in the first month (March-April) at the time of their crossing (v. 15). The most appropriate time for this incident would have been in the period of David's wandering in the region of the Dead Sea (1 Sam 23:14; 24:1; 25:1; 26:1).

Supporters Gathered at Hebron

23 Now these are the numbers of the [1]divisions equipped for war, [a]who came to David at Hebron, [b]to turn the kingdom of Saul to him, [c]according to the [2]word of the LORD.

24 The sons of Judah who bore shield and spear were 6,800, equipped for war.

25 Of the sons of Simeon, mighty men of valor for war, 7,100.

26 Of the sons of Levi 4,600.

27 Now Jehoiada was the leader of the house of Aaron, and with him were 3,700,

28 also [a]Zadok, a young man mighty of valor, and of his father's house twenty-two captains.

29 Of the sons of Benjamin, [a]Saul's kinsmen, 3,000; for until now [b]the greatest part of them had kept their allegiance to the house of Saul.

30 Of the sons of Ephraim 20,800, mighty men of valor, famous men in their fathers' households.

31 Of the half-tribe of Manasseh 18,000, who were designated by name to come and make David king.

32 Of the sons of Issachar, [a]men who understood the times, with knowledge of what Israel should do, their chiefs were two hundred; and all their kinsmen were at their command.

33 Of Zebulun, there were 50,000 who went out in the army, who could draw up in battle formation with all kinds of weapons of war and helped David [1]with [a]an undivided heart.

34 Of Naphtali there were 1,000 captains, and with them 37,000 with shield and spear.

35 Of the Danites who could draw up in battle formation, there were 28,600.

36 Of Asher there were 40,000 who went out in the army to draw up in battle formation.

37 From the other side of the Jordan, of the Reubenites and the Gadites and of the half-tribe of Manasseh, there were 120,000 with all kinds of weapons of war for the battle.

38 All these, being men of war who could draw up in battle formation, came to Hebron with [a]a perfect heart to make David king over all Israel; and all the rest also of Israel were of one mind to make David king.

39 They were there with David three days, eating and drinking, for their kinsmen had prepared for them.

40 Moreover those who were near to them, even as far as Issachar and Zebulun and Naphtali, [a]brought food on donkeys, camels, mules and on oxen, great quantities of flour cakes, fig cakes and bunches of raisins, wine, oil, oxen and sheep. There was joy indeed in Israel.

Peril in Transporting the Ark

13 Then David consulted with the captains of the thousands and the hundreds, even with every leader.

2 David said to all the assembly of Israel, "If it seems good to you, and if it is from the LORD our God, let us send everywhere to our 12:23–37 The emphasis remains on "all Israel" (v. 38). Though 13 tribes are named, they are grouped in order to maintain the traditional number of 12 (see note on 2:1–2). The northernmost and the Transjordan tribes send the largest number of men (vv. 33–37), reinforcing the degree of support that David enjoyed not only in Judah and Benjamin but throughout the other tribes as well. The numbers in this section seem quite high. Essentially two approaches are followed on this question: 1. It is possible to explain the numbers so that a lower figure is actually attained. The Hebrew word for "thousand" may represent a unit of a tribe, each having its own commander (13:1; see Num 31:14,48,52,54). In this case the numbers would be read not as a total figure, but as representative commanders. For example, the 6,800 from Judah (v. 24) would be read either as six commanders of 1,000 and eight commanders of 100 (see 13:1), or possibly as six commanders of thousands and 800 men. Reducing the numbers in this fashion fits well with 13:1 and with the list of commanders alone found for Zadok's family (v. 28) and the tribe of Issachar (v. 32). Taking the numbers as straight totals would require the presence of 340,800 persons in Hebron for a feast at the same time. 2. Another approach is to allow the numbers to stand and to view them as hyperbole on the part of the Chronicler to achieve a number "like the army of God" (v. 22). This approach would fit well with the Chronicler's glorification of David and with the banquet scene that follows.

12:38–40 The Chronicler's portrait of David is influenced by his Messianic expectations (see Introduction: Purpose and Themes). In the presence of a third of a million people (see note on vv. 23–37) David's coronation banquet typifies the future Messianic feast (Is 25:6–8). The imagery of the Messianic banquet became prominent in the intertestamental literature (Apocalypse of Baruch 29:4–8; Enoch 62:14) and in the NT (see Matt 8:11–12 and Luke 13:28–30; Matt 22:1–10 and Luke 14:16–24; see also Matt 25:1–13; Luke 22:28–30; Rev 19:7–9). The Lord's Supper anticipates that coming banquet (Matt 26:29; Mark 14:25; Luke 22:15–18; 1 Cor 11:23–26).

13:1–14 See 2 Sam 6:1–11 and notes. The author abandons the chronological order as given in 2 Sam 5–6 and puts the transfer of the ark first, delaying his account of the palace building and the Philistine campaign until later (ch. 14). This is in accordance with his portrayal of David; David's concern with the ark was expressed immediately upon his accession—his consultation with the leaders appears to be set in the context of the coronation banquet (12:38–40).

13:1–4 These verses are not found in Samuel and reflect the Chronicler's own concerns with "all Israel." The semi-military expedition to retrieve the ark in 2 Sam 6:1 is here broadened by consultation with and support from the whole assembly of Israel, "all the land" (v. 2), including the priests and Levites—an important point for the Chronicler since only they are allowed to move the ark (15:2,13; 23:25–27; Deut 10:8).

kinsmen who remain in all the land of Israel, also to the priests and Levites who are with them in their cities with pasture lands, that they may meet with us;

3 and let us bring back the ark of our God to us, [a]for we did not seek it in the days of Saul."

4 Then all the assembly said that they would do so, for the thing was right in the eyes of all the people.

5 [a]So David assembled all Israel together, from the Shihor of Egypt even to the entrance of Hamath, [b]to bring the ark of God from Kiriath-jearim.

6 [a]David and all Israel went up to [b]Baalah, that is, to Kiriath-jearim, which belongs to Judah, to bring up from there the ark of God, the LORD [c]who is enthroned above the cherubim, where His name is called.

7 They [1]carried the ark of God on a new cart from [a]the house of Abinadab, and Uzza and Ahio drove the cart.

8 David and all Israel were celebrating before God with all their might, [a]even with songs and with lyres, harps, tambourines, cymbals and with trumpets.

9 When they came to [a]the threshing floor of Chidon, Uzza put out his hand to hold the ark, because the oxen nearly upset it.

10 The anger of the LORD burned against Uzza, so He struck him down [a]because he put out his hand to the ark; [b]and he died there before God.

11 Then David became angry because [1]of the LORD's outburst against Uzza; and he called that place [2]Perez-uzza to this day.

12 David was afraid of God that day, saying, "How can I bring the ark of God home to me?"

13 So David did not take the ark with him to the city of David, but took it aside [a]to the house of Obed-edom the Gittite.

14 Thus the ark of God remained with the family of Obed-edom in his house three months; and [a]the LORD blessed the family of Obed-edom with all that he had.

David's Family Enlarged

14 [a]Now Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David with cedar trees, masons and carpenters, to build a house for him.

2 And David realized that the LORD had established him as king over Israel, and that his kingdom was highly exalted, for the sake of His people Israel.

3 Then David took more wives at Jerusalem, and David [1]became the father of more sons and daughters.

4 [a]These are the names of the children [1]born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon,

5 Ibhar, Elishua, Elpelet,

6 Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia,

7 Elishama, Beeliada and Eliphelet.

Philistines Defeated

8 When the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king over all Israel, all the Philistines went up in search of David; and David heard of it and went out against them.

9 Now the Philistines had come and [a]made a raid in the valley of Rephaim.

10 David inquired of God, saying, "Shall I go up against the Philistines? And will You give them into my hand?" Then the LORD said to him, "Go up, for I will give them into your hand."

11 So they came up to Baal-perazim, and David [1]defeated them there; and David said, "God has broken through my enemies by my 13:3 we did not seek it in the days of Saul. 1 Sam 14:18 may be an exception (but see note there).

13:5–6 The emphasis remains on the united action of "all Israel." Israelites came to participate in this venture all the way from Lebo Hamath in the north and from the Shihor River in the south.

13:5 Shihor. An Egyptian term meaning "the pool of Horus." It appears to be a part of the Nile or one of the major canals of the Nile (see Josh 13:3; Is 23:3; Jer 2:18 and notes).

13:6 Baalah. The Canaanite name for Kiriath-jearim, also known as Kiriath-baal (Josh 18:14). The Chronicler assumes that his readers are familiar with the account of how the ark came to be at Kiriath-jearim (1 Sam 6:1–7:1).

13:7 Uzza and Ahio. Sons or descendants of Abinadab (2 Sam 6:3).

13:10 because he put out his hand to the ark. The ark was to be moved only by Levites, who carried it with poles inserted through rings in the sides of the ark (Ex 25:12–15). None of the holy things was to be touched, on penalty of death (Num 4:15). These strictures were observed in the second and successful attempt to move the ark to Jerusalem (15:1–15). It cannot be known whether Uzza and Ahio were Levites—the Samuel account does not mention the presence of Levites, but the Chronicler's careful inclusion of Levites in this expedition suggests that they were present (see note on vv. 1–4). In any case, the ark should not have been moved on a cart (as done by the Philistines, 1 Sam 6) or touched.

13:13 Obed-edom. Perhaps the same man mentioned in 15:18,21,24. In 26:4 God's blessing on Obed-edom included numerous sons. This reference also establishes that Obed-edom was a Levite and that the ark was properly left in his care.

14:1–17 The Chronicler backtracks to pick up material from 2 Sam 5 deferred to this point (see note on 13:1–14). The three-month period that the ark remained with Obed-edom (13:14) was filled with incidents showing God's blessing on David: the building of his royal house (vv. 1–2), his large family (vv. 3–7) and his success in warfare (vv. 8–16)—all because of the Lord's blessing (vv. 2,17).

14:1–2 See 2 Sam 5:11–12 and notes.

14:1 Hiram. Later provided materials and labor for building the temple (2 Chr 2). His mention here implies international recognition of David as king over Israel and a treaty between David and Hiram.

14:3–7 See 3:5–9; 2 Sam 5:13–16. David's children born in Hebron are omitted (3:1–4; 2 Sam 3:2–5; see note on 11:1–3).

14:7 Beeliada. Eliada in 3:8; 2 Sam 5:16.

14:8–12 See 2 Sam 5:17–21 and notes.

14:11 broken through . . . Baal-perazim. The Hebrew underlying the name of this place where the Lord broke out against the Philistines is the same as that underlying the word used in hand, like the breakthrough of waters." Therefore they named that place [2]Baal-perazim.

12 They abandoned their gods there; so David gave the order and they were burned with fire.

13 The Philistines made [a]yet another raid in the valley.

14 David inquired again of God, and God said to him, "You shall not go up after them; circle around [1]behind them and come at them in front of the [2]balsam trees.

15 "It shall be when you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the balsam trees, then you shall go out to battle, for God will have gone out before you to strike the army of the Philistines."

16 David did just as God had commanded him, and they struck down the army of the Philistines from [1]Gibeon even as far as Gezer.

17 Then the fame of David went out into all the lands; and [a]the LORD brought the fear of him on all the nations.

Plans to Move the Ark to Jerusalem

15 Now David built houses for himself in the city of David; and he prepared a place for the ark of God and [a]pitched a tent for it.

2 Then David said, "[a]No one is to carry the ark of God but the Levites; for the LORD chose them to carry the ark of God and to minister to Him forever."

3 And [a]David assembled all Israel at Jerusalem to bring up the ark of the LORD [b]to its place which he had prepared for it.

4 David gathered together the sons of Aaron and [a]the Levites:

5 of the sons of Kohath, Uriel the chief, and 120 of his [1]relatives;

6 of the sons of Merari, Asaiah the chief, and 220 of his relatives;

7 of the sons of Gershom, Joel the chief, and 130 of his relatives;

8 of the sons of Elizaphan, Shemaiah the chief, and 200 of his relatives;

9 of the sons of Hebron, Eliel the chief, and 80 of his relatives;

10 of the sons of Uzziel, Amminadab the chief, and 112 of his relatives.

11 Then David called for [a]Zadok and [b]Abiathar the priests, and for the Levites, for Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Eliel and Amminadab, 12 and said to them, "You are the heads of the fathers' households of the Levites; [a]consecrate yourselves both you and your relatives, that you may bring up the ark of the LORD God of Israel [b]to the place that I have prepared for it.

13 "[a]Because you did not carry it at the first, the LORD our God made an outburst on us, for we did not seek Him according to the ordinance."

14 [a]So the priests and the Levites consecrated themselves to bring up the ark of the LORD God of Israel.

15 The sons of [a]the Levites carried the ark of God on their shoulders with the poles thereon, as Moses had commanded according to the word of the LORD.

16 Then David spoke to the chiefs of the Levites [a]to appoint their relatives the singers, with instruments of music, harps, lyres, loud-sounding cymbals, to raise sounds of joy.

17 So [a]the Levites appointed Heman the son of Joel, and from his relatives, Asaph the son of Berechiah; and from the sons of Merari their relatives, Ethan the son of Kushaiah, 18 and with them their relatives of the second rank, Zechariah, [1]Ben, Jaaziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, Mikneiah, Obed-edom and Jeiel, the gatekeepers.

19 So the singers, Heman, Asaph and Ethan were appointed to sound aloud cymbals of bronze;

13:11 when the Lord broke out against Uzza (see note there; see also NASB marg. here). Perez-uzza means "breakthrough of Uzza."

14:12 gave the order and they were burned. 2 Sam 5:21 does not mention burning but says that David and his men carried the idols away. Many have seen here an intentional change on the part of the Chronicler in order to bring David's actions into strict conformity with the law, which required that pagan idols be burned (Deut 7:5,25). However, some Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) manuscripts of Samuel agree with Chronicles that David burned the idols. This would indicate that the Chronicler was not innovating for theological reasons but was carefully reproducing the text he had before him, which differed from the Masoretic (traditional Hebrew) text of Samuel.

14:13–16 See 2 Sam 5:22–25 and notes.

14:17 the LORD brought the fear of him on all the nations. Here and elsewhere the Chronicler uses an expression that refers to an incapacitating terror brought on by the sense that the awful power of God is present in behalf of His people (see Ex 15:16). Thus David is seen by the nations as the very representative of God (similarly Asa, 2 Chr 14:14; Jehoshaphat, 2 Chr 17:10; 20:29).

15:1–16:3 This account of the successful attempt to move the ark to Jerusalem is greatly expanded over the material in 2 Samuel. Only 15:25–16:3 has a parallel (2 Sam 6:12–19); the rest of the material is unique to the Chronicler and reflects his own interests, especially in the Levites and cultic musicians (vv. 3–24; see Introduction: Purpose and Themes). Ps 132 should also be read in connection with this account.

15:1 built houses for himself. See 14:1–2 and note on 13:1–14.

15:2–3 See note on 13:10.

15:4–10 The three clans of Levi are represented (Kohath, Merari and Gershon), as well as three distinct subgroups within Kohath (Elizaphan, Hebron and Uzziel)—862 in all.

15:12 consecrate yourselves. Through ritual washings and avoidance of ceremonial defilement (Ex 29:1–37; 30:19–21; 40:31–32; Lev 8:5–35).

15:13–15 The Chronicler provides the explanation for the failure in the first attempt to move the ark, an explanation not found in the Samuel account (see note on 13:10).

15:18,21,24 Obed-edom. See note on 13:13.

22 Chenaniah, chief of the Levites, was in charge of the singing; he gave instruction in singing because he was skillful.
23 Berechiah and Elkanah were gatekeepers for the ark.
24 Shebaniah, Joshaphat, Nethanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah and Eliezer, the priests, [a]blew the trumpets before the ark of God. Obed-edom and Jehiah also were gatekeepers for the ark.
25 [a]So it was David, with the elders of Israel and the captains over thousands, who went to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD from [b]the house of Obed-edom with joy.
26 Because God was helping the Levites who were carrying the ark of the covenant of the LORD, they sacrificed [a]seven bulls and seven rams.
27 Now David was clothed with a robe of fine linen with all the Levites who were carrying the ark, and the singers and Chenaniah the leader of the singing with the singers. [a]David also wore an ephod of linen.
28 Thus all Israel brought up the ark of the covenant of the LORD with shouting, and with sound of the horn, with trumpets, with loud-sounding cymbals, with harps and lyres.
29 It happened when the ark of the covenant of the LORD came to the city of David, that [a]Michal the daughter of Saul looked out of the window and saw King David leaping and celebrating; and she despised him in her heart.

A Tent for the Ark

16 And they brought in the ark of God and [a]placed it inside the tent which David had pitched for it, and they offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before God.
2 When David had finished offering the burnt offering and the peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the LORD.
3 He distributed to everyone of Israel, both man and woman, to everyone a loaf of bread and a portion of meat and a raisin cake.
4 He appointed some of the Levites as ministers before the ark of the LORD, even to celebrate and to thank and praise the LORD God of Israel:
5 Asaph the chief, and second to him Zechariah, then [1]Jeiel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Mattithiah, Eliab, Benaiah, Obed-edom and Jeiel, with musical instruments, harps, lyres; also Asaph played loud-sounding cymbals,
6 and Benaiah and Jahaziel the priests blew trumpets continually before the ark of the covenant of God.
7 Then on that day David [a]first assigned [1]Asaph and his [2]relatives to give thanks to the LORD.

Seek His face continually.

The word which He commanded to a thousand generations,

And His oath to Isaac.
17 [a]He also confirmed it to Jacob for a statute,
To Israel as an everlasting covenant,

15:24 priests, blew the trumpets. See 16:6; Num 10:1–10.
15:27 Both 2 Sam 6:14 and the Chronicler mention David's wearing a linen ephod, a garment worn by priests (1 Sam 2:18; 22:18). The Chronicler adds, however, that David (as well as the rest of the Levites in the procession) was wearing a robe of fine linen, further associating him with the dress of the cultic functionaries. Apparently the Chronicler viewed David as a priest-king, a kind of Messianic figure (see Ps 110; Zech 6:9–15).
15:29 Parallel to 2 Sam 6:16, but the Chronicler omits the remainder of this incident recorded there (2 Sam 6:20–23). Some interpreters regard this omission as part of the Chronicler's positive view of David, so that a possibly unseemly account is omitted. On the other hand, it is equally plausible that the Chronicler here simply assumes the reader's knowledge of the other account (see notes on 10:13–14; 11:1–3; 12:1; 13:6).
16:1–3 David is further associated with the priests in his supervision of the sacrifices and his exercising the priestly prerogative of blessing the people (Num 6:22–27; see note on 15:27). The baked goods provided by David were for the sacrificial meal following the peace offerings (Lev 3:1–17; 7:11–21,28–36).
16:8–36 Similar to various parts of the book of Psalms (for vv. 8–22 see Ps 105:1–15; for vv. 23–33, Ps 96; for vv. 34–36, Ps 106:1,47–48). This psalm is not found in the Samuel account. The use of the lengthy historical portion from Ps 105 emphasizing the promises to Abraham would be particularly relevant to the Chronicler's postexilic audience, for whom the faithfulness of God was a fresh reality in their return to the land. The citation from Ps 106 would also be of immediate relevance to the Chronicler's audience as those who had been gathered and delivered from the nations (v. 35).

God's Covenant with David

17:1 [a]2 Sam 7:1-29

17 [a]And it came about, when David dwelt in his house, that David said to Nathan the prophet, "Behold, I am dwelling in a house of cedar, but the ark of the covenant of the LORD is under curtains."
2 Then Nathan said to David, "Do all that is in your heart, for God is with you."
3 It came about the same night that the word of God came to Nathan, saying,

16:29 holy array. See note on Ps 29:2.
16:39 tabernacle . . . at Gibeon. The tabernacle remained at Gibeon until Solomon's construction of the temple in Jerusalem (2 Chr 1:13; 5:5), when it was stored within the temple. The existence of these two shrines—the tabernacle and the temporary structure for the ark in Jerusalem (v. 1)—accounts for the two high priests: Zadok serving in Gibeon and Abiathar in Jerusalem (18:16; 27:34; see note on 6:8).
16:42 trumpets . . . sound aloud. See Num 10:1–10.
17:1–27 See 2 Sam 7 and notes.
17:1,10 In these verses the Chronicler omits the statement that David had rest from his enemies (2 Sam 7:1,11). Several factors may be at work in this omission: 1. The account of David's major wars is yet to come (chs. 18–20). Chronologically, this passage should follow the account of the wars (v. 8), but the author has placed it here to continue his concern with the ark and the building of the temple (vv. 4–6,12). 2. The Chronicler also views David as a man of war through most of his life (22:6–8), in contrast to Solomon, who is the man of "rest" (22:9) and who will build the temple (22:10). For the Chronicler, David has rest from enemies only late in his life (22:18). 3. As part of his concern to parallel David and Solomon to Moses and Joshua, Solomon (like Joshua) brings the people to rest from enemies (see Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon).

4 "Go and tell David My servant, 'Thus says the LORD, "[a]You shall not build a house for Me to dwell in;

5 for I have not dwelt in a house since the day that I brought up Israel to this day, [a]but I have [1]gone from tent to tent and from one dwelling place to another.

6 "In all places where I have walked with all Israel, have I spoken a word [a]with any of the judges of Israel, whom I commanded to shepherd My people, saying, 'Why have you not built for Me a house of cedar?' " '

7 "Now, therefore, thus shall you say to My servant David, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, "I took you from the pasture, from following the sheep, to be leader over My people Israel.

8 "I have been with you wherever you have gone, and have cut off all your enemies from before you; and I will make you a name like the name of the great ones who are in the earth.

9 "I will appoint a place for My people Israel, and will plant them, so that they may dwell in their own place and not be moved again; and the [1]wicked will not waste them anymore as formerly,

10 even from the day that I commanded judges to be over My people Israel. And I will subdue all your enemies.

Moreover, I tell you that the LORD will build a house for you.

11 "When your days are fulfilled that you must go to be with your fathers, that I will set up one of your [1]descendants after you, who will be of your sons; and I will establish his kingdom.

12 "He shall build for Me a house, and I will establish his throne forever.

13 "[a]I will be his father and he shall be My son; and I will not take My lovingkindness away from him, [b]as I took it from him who was before you.

14 "But I will settle him in My house and in My kingdom forever, and his throne shall be established forever." ' "

15 According to all these words and according to all this vision, so Nathan spoke to David.

David's Prayer in Response

16 Then David the king went in and sat before the LORD and said, "[a]Who am I, O LORD God, and what is my house that You have brought me this far?

17 "This was a small thing in Your eyes, O God; but You have spoken of Your servant's house for a great while to come, and have regarded me according to the standard of a man of high degree, O LORD God.

18 "What more can David still say to You concerning the honor bestowed on Your servant? For You know Your servant.

19 "O LORD, [a]for Your servant's sake, and according to Your own heart, You have wrought all this greatness, to make known all these great things.

20 "O LORD, there is none like You, nor is there any God besides You, according to all that we have heard with our ears.

21 "And what one nation in the earth is like Your people Israel, whom God went to redeem for Himself as a people, to make You a name by great and terrible things, in driving out nations from before Your people, whom You redeemed out of Egypt?

22 "[a]For Your people Israel You made Your own people forever, and You, O LORD, became their God.

23 "Now, O LORD, let the word that You have spoken concerning Your servant and concerning his house be established forever, and do as You have spoken.

24 "Let Your name be established and magnified forever, saying, 'The LORD of hosts is the God of Israel, even a God to Israel; and the house of David Your servant is established before You.'

25 "For You, O my God, have revealed to Your servant that You will build for him a house; therefore Your servant has found courage to pray before You.

26 "Now, O LORD, You are God, and have [1]promised this good thing to Your servant.

27 "And now it has pleased You to bless the house of Your servant, that it may [1]continue forever before You; for You, O LORD, have blessed, and it is blessed forever."

[a]2 Sam 8:1-18

17:12–14 Though in this context these words refer to Solomon, the NT applies them to Jesus (Mark 1:11; Luke 1:32–33; Heb 1:5).

17:13 The Chronicler omits from his source (2 Sam 7:14) any reference to "punishment with the rod" or "flogging" as discipline for Solomon. This omission reflects his idealization of Solomon as a Messianic figure, for whom such punishment would not be appropriate (see Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon).

17:14 The Chronicler introduces his own concerns by the changes in the pronouns found in his source (2 Sam 7:16); instead of "Your house and your kingdom," the Chronicler reads "My house and My kingdom." This same emphasis on theocracy (God's rule) is found in several other passages unique to Chronicles (28:5–6; 29:23; 2 Chr 1:11; 9:8; 13:4–8).

17:16 sat. Aside from its parallel in 2 Sam 7:18, the only other reference in the OT to sitting as a posture for prayer is 1 Kin 19:4.

17:21–22 The references to the exodus from Egypt would remind the Chronicler's audience of the second great exodus, the release of the restoration community from the period of Babylonian captivity.

18:1–20:8 The accounts of David's wars serve to show the blessing of God on his reign; God keeps His promise to subdue

2 He defeated Moab, and the Moabites became servants to David, bringing tribute.

3 David also defeated Hadadezer king of Zobah as far as Hamath, as he went to establish his [1]rule to the Euphrates River.

4 David took from him 1,000 chariots and 7,000 horsemen and 20,000 foot soldiers, and David hamstrung all the chariot horses, but reserved enough of them for 100 chariots.

5 When the Arameans of [1]Damascus came to help Hadadezer king [a]of Zobah, David [2]killed 22,000 men of the Arameans.

6 Then David put garrisons among the Arameans of [1]Damascus; and the Arameans became servants to David, bringing tribute. And the LORD helped David wherever he went.

7 David took the shields of gold which were [1]carried by the servants of Hadadezer and brought them to Jerusalem.

8 Also from [1]Tibhath and from Cun, cities of Hadadezer, David took a very large amount of bronze, with which [a]Solomon made the bronze sea and the pillars and the bronze utensils.

9 Now when [1]Tou king of Hamath heard that David had [2]defeated all the army of Hadadezer king of Zobah,

10 he sent [1]Hadoram his son to King David to [2]greet him and to bless him, because he had fought against Hadadezer and had [3]defeated him; for Hadadezer had been at war with Tou. And Hadoram brought all kinds of articles of gold and silver and bronze.

11 King David also dedicated these to the LORD with the silver and the gold which he had carried away from all the nations: from Edom, Moab, the sons of Ammon, the Philistines, and from Amalek.

12 Moreover Abishai the son of Zeruiah [1]defeated 18,000 Edomites in the Valley of Salt.

13 Then he put garrisons in Edom, and all the Edomites became servants to David. And the LORD helped David wherever he went.

14 So David reigned over all Israel; and he [1]administered justice and righteousness for all his people.

15 [a]Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army, and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder;

16 and Zadok the son of Ahitub and Abimelech the son of Abiathar were priests, and Shavsha was secretary;

17 and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites, and the sons of David were chiefs at the king's side.

David's enemies (17:10). These accounts are also particularly relevant to a theme developed in the postexilic prophets: that the silver and gold of the nations would flow to Jerusalem; the tribute of enemy peoples builds the temple of God (18:7–8,11; 22:2–5,14–15; cf. Hag 2:1–9,20–23; Zech 2:7–13; 6:9–15; 14:12–14). While this passage of Chronicles portrays God's blessing on David, it simultaneously explains the Chronicler's report later (22:6–8; 28:3) that David could not build the temple because he was a man of war. The material in these chapters essentially follows the Chronicler's source in 2 Samuel. The major differences are not changes the Chronicler introduces into the text, but items he chooses not to deal with—in particular 2 Sam 9; 11:2–12:25, where accounts not compatible with his portrait of David occur.

18:1–13 See 2 Sam 8:1–14 and notes.

18:2 The Chronicler omits the harsh treatment of the Moabites recorded in 2 Sam 8:2, perhaps so that no unnecessary cruelty or brutality would tarnish his portrait of David.

18:5 Arameans. Mentioned also among the enemies of Saul (1 Sam 14:47, "Zobah"). By the time of David they were united north (Zobah) and south (Beth-rehob, 2 Sam 10:6) under Hadadezer. They persisted as a foe of Israel for two centuries until they fell to Assyria shortly before the northern kingdom likewise fell (2 Kin 16:7–9).

18:8 Tibhath and from Cun. Located in the valley between the Lebanon and Anti-Lebanon mountain ranges. with which Solomon made the bronze . . . utensils. See 2 Chr 4:2–5,18.

18:12 Abishai. 2 Sam 8:13 speaks only of David (see 1 Kin 11:15–16; Ps 60 title).

18:15–17 The titles and duties of these officers at David's court appear to be modeled on the organization of Egyptian functionaries serving Pharaoh.

18:15 For the account of how Joab attained his position over the army see 11:4–6; 2 Sam 5:6–8.

18:16 Zadok . . . Abimelech the son of Abiathar. See notes on 6:8; 16:39; 2 Sam 8:17.

18:17 Cherethites and the Pelethites. Apparently a group of foreign mercenaries who constituted part of the royal bodyguard (2 Sam 8:18; 20:23; see note on 1 Sam 30:14). They remained loyal to David at the time of the rebellions of Absalom (2 Sam 15:18) and Sheba (2 Sam 20:7) and supported the succession of Solomon against his rival Adonijah (1 Kin 1:38,44). chiefs. The earlier narrative at this point uses the Hebrew term ordinarily translated "priests" (see note on 2 Sam 8:18). The Chronicler has used a term for civil service instead of sacral service. Two approaches to this passage are ordinarily followed: 1. Some scholars see here an attempt by the Chronicler to keep the priesthood restricted to the Levitical line as part of his larger concern with legitimacy of cultic institutions in his own day. 2. Others argue that the Hebrew term used in 2 Sam 8:18 could earlier have had a broader meaning than "priest" and could be used of some other types of officials (cf. 2 Sam 20:26; 1 Kin 4:5). The Chronicler used an equivalent term, since by his day the Hebrew term for "priest" was restricted to cultic functionaries. The Septuagint, Targum, Old Latin and Josephus all translate the term in Samuel by some word other than "priest."

19:1–20:3 The Chronicler follows 2 Sam 10–12 closely (see notes there), apart from his omission of the account of David's sin with Bathsheba (11:2–12:25). The Ammonites were a traditional enemy of Israel (2 Chr 20:1–2,23; 27:5; Judg 3:13; 10:7–9; 10:17–11:33; 1 Sam 11:1–13; 14:47; 2 Kin 10:32–33; Jer 49:1–6; Zeph 2:8–11). Even during the postexilic period Tobiah the Ammonite troubled Jerusalem (Neh 2:19; 4:3,7; 6:1,12,14; 13:4–9).

19:1 Nahash. Possibly the same as Saul's foe (1 Sam 11:1), or perhaps his descendant.

2 Then David said, "I will show kindness to Hanun the son of Nahash, because his father showed kindness to me." So David sent messengers to console him concerning his father. And David's servants came into the land of the sons of Ammon to Hanun to console him.

3 But the princes of the sons of Ammon said to Hanun, "[1]Do you think that David is honoring your father, in that he has sent comforters to you? Have not his servants come to you to search and to overthrow and to spy out the land?"

4 So Hanun took David's servants and shaved them and cut off their garments in the middle as far as their hips, and sent them away.

5 Then certain persons went and told David about the men. And he sent to meet them, for the men were greatly humiliated. And the king said, "[1]Stay at Jericho until your beards grow, and then return."

6 When the sons of Ammon saw that they had made themselves odious to David, Hanun and the sons of Ammon sent 1,000 talents of silver to hire for themselves chariots and horsemen from Mesopotamia, from Aram-maacah and [a]from Zobah.

7 So they hired for themselves 32,000 chariots, and the king of Maacah and his people, who came and camped before [a]Medeba. And the sons of Ammon gathered together from their cities and came to battle.

8 When David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the army, the mighty men.

9 The sons of Ammon came out and drew up in battle array at the entrance of the city, and the kings who had come were by themselves in the field.

Ammon and Aram Defeated

10 Now when Joab saw that the [1]battle was set against him in front and in the rear, he selected from all the choice men of Israel and they arrayed themselves against the Arameans.

11 But the remainder of the people he placed in the hand of [1]Abshai his brother; and they arrayed themselves against the sons of Ammon.

12 He said, "If the Arameans are too strong for me, then you shall help me; but if the sons of Ammon are too strong for you, then I will help you.

13 "Be strong, and let us show ourselves courageous for the sake of our people and for the cities of our God; and may the LORD do what is good in His sight."

14 So Joab and the people who were with him drew near to the battle against the Arameans, and they fled before him.

15 When the sons of Ammon saw that the Arameans fled, they also fled before Abshai his brother and entered the city. Then Joab came to Jerusalem.

16 When the Arameans saw that they had been [1]defeated by Israel, they sent messengers and brought out the Arameans who were beyond the [2]River, with Shophach the commander of the army of Hadadezer [3]leading them.

17 When it was told David, he gathered all Israel together and crossed the Jordan, and came upon them and drew up in formation against them. And when David drew up in battle array against the Arameans, they fought against him.

18 The Arameans fled before Israel, and David killed of the Arameans 7,000 charioteers and 40,000 foot soldiers, and put to death Shophach the commander of the army.

19 So when the servants of Hadadezer saw that they were [1]defeated by Israel, they made peace with David and served him. Thus the Arameans were not willing to help the sons of Ammon anymore.

War with Philistine Giants

20 [a]Then it happened [1]in the spring, at the time when kings go out to battle, that Joab led out the army and ravaged the land of the sons of Ammon, and came and besieged Rabbah. But David stayed at Jerusalem. And [b]Joab struck Rabbah and overthrew it.

2 [a]David took the crown of [1]their king from his head, and he found it to weigh a talent of gold, and there was a precious stone in it; and it was placed on David's head. And he brought out the spoil of the city, a very great amount.

3 He brought out the people who were in it, [a]and cut them with saws and with sharp instruments and with axes. And thus David did to all the cities of the sons of Ammon. Then David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

4 [a]Now it came about after this, that war [1]broke out at [2]Gezer with the Philistines;

5 And there was war with the Philistines again, and Elhanan the son of [a]Jair [1]killed Lahmi the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the [b]shaft of whose spear was like a weaver's beam.

6 Again there was war at Gath, where there was a man of great stature who had twenty-four fingers and toes, six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot; and he also was descended from the giants.

7 When he taunted Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimea, David's brother, [1]killed him.

8 These were descended from the giants in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

Census Brings Pestilence

21 [a]Then Satan stood up against Israel and moved David to number Israel.

2 So David said to Joab and to the princes of the people, "[a]Go, number Israel from Beersheba even to Dan, and bring me word that I may know their number."

3 Joab said, "[a]May the LORD add to His people a hundred times as many as they are! But, my lord the king, are they not all my lord's servants? Why does my lord seek this thing? Why should he be a cause of guilt to Israel?"

4 Nevertheless, the king's word prevailed against Joab. Therefore, Joab departed and went throughout all Israel, and came to Jerusalem.

5 Joab gave the number of the [1]census of all the people to David. And [a]all Israel were 1,100,000 men who drew the sword; and Judah was 470,000 men who drew the sword.

6 [a]But he did not [1]number Levi and Benjamin among them, for the king's [2]command was abhorrent to Joab.

7 [1]God was displeased with this thing, so He struck Israel.

8 David said to God, "I have sinned greatly, in that I have done this thing. [a]But now, please take away the iniquity of Your servant, for I have done very foolishly."

9 The LORD spoke to [a]Gad, David's [b]seer, saying,

10 "Go and speak to David, saying, 'Thus says the LORD, "I [1]offer you three things; choose for yourself one of them, which I will do to you." ' "

11 So Gad came to David and said to him, "Thus says the LORD, 'Take for yourself

12 [a]either three years of famine, or three months to be swept away before your foes, while the sword of your enemies overtakes you, or else three days of the sword of the LORD, even pestilence in the land, and the angel of the LORD destroying throughout all the territory of Israel.' Now, therefore, consider what answer I shall return to Him who sent me."

13 David said to Gad, "I am in great distress; please let me fall into the hand of the LORD, [a]for His mercies are very great. But do not let me fall into the hand of man."

14 [a]So the LORD [1]sent a pestilence on Israel; 70,000 men of Israel fell.

15 And God sent an angel to Jerusalem to destroy it; but as he was about to destroy it, the LORD saw and [a]was sorry over the calamity, and said to the destroying angel, "It is enough; now relax your hand." And the angel of the LORD was standing by the threshing floor of [1]Ornan the Jebusite.

16 Then David lifted up his eyes and saw the angel of the LORD standing between earth and heaven, with his drawn sword in his 20:6 the giants. See note on 2 Sam 21:16.

21:1–22:1 See 2 Sam 24 and notes. Although the story of David's census is quite similar in both narratives, the two accounts function differently. In Samuel the account belongs to the appendix (2 Sam 21–24), which begins and ends with accounts of the Lord's anger against Israel during the reign of David because of actions by her kings (in ch. 21, an act of Saul; in ch. 24, an act of David). See note on 2 Sam 21:1–24:25. The Chronicler appears to include it in order to account for the purchase of the ground on which the temple would be built. The additional material in Chronicles that is not found in Samuel (21:28–22:1) makes this interest clear. The census is the preface to David's preparations for the temple (chs. 22–29).
21:1 See note on 2 Sam 24:1. Satan. Satan means "accuser" (see Job 1:6; Zech 3:1 and notes).
21:4 The Chronicler abridges the more extensive account of Joab's itinerary found in 2 Sam 24:4–8; he does not mention that the census required nine months and 20 days (2 Sam 24:8).
21:5 all Israel were 1,100,000 men . . . Judah was 470,000. 2 Sam 24:9 has 800,000 in Israel and 500,000 (which could be a round number for 470,000) in Judah. The reason for the difference is unclear. Perhaps it is to be related to the unofficial and incomplete nature of the census (see 27:23–24), with the differing figures representing the inclusion or exclusion of certain unspecified groupings among the people (see v. 6). Or perhaps it is simply due to a copyist's mistake.
21:6 The Chronicler adds the note that Joab exempted Levi and Benjamin from the counting. This additional note reflects the Chronicler's concern with the Levites and with the worship of Israel. The tabernacle in Gibeon and the ark in Jerusalem both fell within the borders of Benjamin.
21:9 Gad. A longtime friend of David, having been with him when he was a fugitive from Saul (1 Sam 22:3–5; cf. 1 Chr 29:29; 2 Chr 29:25).
21:12 three years of famine. 2 Sam 24:13 reads "seven years of famine," but the Septuagint reads "three years" there.
21:16 The verse has no parallel in the traditional Hebrew text of 2 Sam 24, so some scholars regard it as an addition by the Chronicler reflecting the more developed doctrine of angels in the postexilic period. However, a fragmentary Hebrew text of Samuel from the third century B.C., discovered at Qumran, contains the verse. It now appears that the Chronicler was carefully copying the Samuel text at his disposal, which differed in some respects from the Masoretic (traditional Hebrew) text.

hand stretched out over Jerusalem. Then David and the elders, [a]covered with sackcloth, fell on their faces.

17 David said to God, "Is it not I who [1]commanded to count the people? Indeed, I am the one who has sinned and done very wickedly, [a]but these sheep, what have they done? O LORD my God, please let Your hand be against me and my father's household, but not against Your people that they should be plagued."

David's Altar

18 [a]Then the angel of the LORD [1]commanded Gad to say to David, that David should go up and build an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite.

19 So David went up at the word of Gad, which he spoke in the name of the LORD.

20 Now Ornan turned back and saw the angel, and his four sons who were with him hid themselves. And Ornan was threshing wheat.

21 As David came to Ornan, Ornan looked and saw David, and went out from the threshing floor and prostrated himself [1]before David with his face to the ground.

22 Then David said to Ornan, "Give me the [1]site of this threshing floor, that I may build on it an altar to the LORD; for the full price you shall give it to me, that the plague may be restrained from the people."

23 Ornan said to David, "Take it for yourself; and let my lord the king do what is good in his sight. See, I will give the oxen for burnt offerings and the threshing sledges for wood and the wheat for the grain offering; I will give it all."

24 But King David said to Ornan, "No, but I will surely buy it for the full price; for I will not take what is yours for the LORD, or offer a burnt offering [1]which costs me nothing."

25 So [a]David gave Ornan 600 shekels of gold by weight for the [1]site.

26 Then David built an altar to the LORD there and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings. And he called to the LORD and [a]He answered him with fire from heaven on the altar of burnt offering.

27 The LORD commanded the angel, and he put his sword back in its sheath.

28 At that time, when David saw that the LORD had answered him on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite, he offered sacrifice there.

29 [a]For the tabernacle of the LORD, which Moses had made in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt offering were in the high place at Gibeon at that time.

30 But David could not go before it to inquire of God, for he was terrified by the sword of the angel of the LORD.

David Prepares for Temple Building

22 Then David said, "[a]This is the house of the LORD God, and this is the altar of burnt offering for Israel."

2 So David [1]gave orders to gather [a]the foreigners who were in the land of Israel, and [b]he set stonecutters to hew out stones to build the house of God.

3 David [a]prepared large quantities of iron [1]to make the nails for the doors of the gates and for the clamps, and more [b]bronze than could be weighed;

4 and timbers of cedar logs beyond number, for [a]the Sidonians and Tyrians brought large quantities of cedar timber to David.

Josephus, who appears to be following the text of Samuel, also reported this information. Presumably, he too used a text of Samuel similar to that followed by the Chronicler.

21:20–21 The Chronicler reports that Ornan (a variant of Araunah; see 2 Sam 24:16) was threshing wheat as the king approached—information not found in 2 Sam 24:20. However, Josephus and the fragmentary text of Samuel from Qumran both mention this information (see note on v. 16).

21:25 600 shekels of gold. 2 Sam 24:24 says 50 shekels of silver were paid for the threshing floor and oxen. The difference has been explained by some as the Chronicler's attempt to glorify David and the temple by inflating the price. However, the difference is more likely explained by the Chronicler's statement that this was the price for the "site," i.e., for a much larger area than the threshing floor alone.

21:26 fire from heaven. Underscores the divine approval and the sanctity of the site (see 2 Chr 7:1; Lev 9:24; 1 Kin 18:37–38).

21:28–22:1 This material is not found in 2 Sam 24. It reflects the Chronicler's main concern in reporting this narrative (see note on 21:1–22:1).

21:30 it. The tabernacle.

22:1–29:30 This material is unique to Chronicles and displays some of the Chronicler's most characteristic interests: the preparations for the building of the temple, the legitimacy of the priests and Levites, and the royal succession. The chapters portray a theocratic "Messianic" kingdom as it existed under David and Solomon.

22:1 David dedicates this property (21:18–30) as the site for the temple (see vv. 2–6). See note on Ps 30 title.

22:2–19 Solomon's appointment to succeed David was twofold: (1) a private audience, with David and some leaders in attendance (vv. 17–19), and (2) a public announcement to the people (ch. 28), similar to when Joshua succeeded Moses (see Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon).

22:2 foreigners . . . stonecutters. 2 Sam 20:24 confirms the use of forced labor by David, but does not specify that these laborers were aliens, not Israelites. Solomon used Israelites in conscripted labor (1 Kin 5:13–18; 9:15–23; 11:28), but the Chronicler mentions only his use of aliens (2 Chr 8:7–10). Though they were personally free, aliens were without political rights and could be easily exploited. The OT frequently warns that they were not to be oppressed (Ex 22:21; 23:9; Lev 19:33; Deut 24:14; Jer 7:6; Zech 7:10). Isaiah prophesies the participation of foreigners in the building of Jerusalem's walls in the future (Is 60:10–12).

22:3 bronze. See note on 18:8.

22:5 young. Solomon's age at the time of his accession is not known with certainty. He came to the throne in 970 B.C. and was likely born c. 991.

be built for the LORD shall be exceedingly magnificent, famous and glorious throughout all lands. Therefore now I will make preparation for it." So David made ample preparations before his death.

Solomon Charged with the Task

6 Then [a]he called for his son Solomon, and charged him to build a house for the LORD God of Israel.

7 David said to Solomon, "[a]My son, [1]I had intended to build a house to the name of the LORD my God.

8 "But the word of the LORD came to me, saying, '[a]You have shed much blood and have [1]waged great wars; you shall not build a house to My name, because you have shed so much blood on the earth before Me.

9 'Behold, a son will be born to you, who shall be a man of rest; and [a]I will give him rest from all his enemies on every side; for [b]his name shall be [1]Solomon, and I will give peace and quiet to Israel in his days.

10 '[a]He shall build a house for My name, and he shall be My son and I will be his father; and I will establish the throne of his kingdom over Israel forever.'

11 "Now, my son, [a]the LORD be with you that you may be successful, and build the house of the LORD your God just as He has spoken concerning you.

12 "[a]Only the LORD give you discretion and understanding, and give you charge over Israel, so that you may [b]keep the law of the LORD your God.

13 "[a]Then you will prosper, if you are careful to observe the statutes and the ordinances which the LORD commanded Moses concerning Israel. [b]Be strong and courageous, do not fear nor be dismayed.

14 "Now behold, [1]with great pains I have prepared for the house of the LORD [a]100,000 talents of gold and 1,000,000 talents of silver, and [b]bronze and iron beyond weight, for [2]they are in great quantity; also timber and stone I have prepared, and you may add to them.

15 "Moreover, there are many workmen with you, stonecutters and masons of stone and carpenters, and all men who are skillful in every kind of work.

16 "Of the gold, the silver and the bronze and the iron there is no limit. Arise and work, and may [a]the LORD be with you."

17 [a]David also commanded all the leaders of Israel to help his son Solomon, saying,

18 "Is not the LORD your God with you? And [a]has He not given you rest on every side? For He has given the inhabitants of the land into my hand, and the land is subdued before the LORD and before His people.

19 "Now [a]set your heart and your soul to seek the LORD your God; arise, therefore, and build the sanctuary of the LORD God, [b]so that you may bring the ark of the covenant of the LORD and the holy vessels of God into the house that is to be built [c]for the name of the LORD."

Solomon Reigns

23 [a]Now when David [1]reached old age, [b]he made his son Solomon king over Israel.

2 And he gathered together all the leaders of Israel with the priests and the Levites.

Offices of the Levites

3 [a]The Levites were numbered from thirty years old and upward, and [b]their number by [1]census of men was 38,000.

4 Of these, 24,000 were [a]to oversee the work of the house of the LORD; and 6,000 were [b]officers and judges,

5 and 4,000 were gatekeepers, and [a]4,000 were praising the LORD with the instruments which [1]David made for giving praise.

6 David divided them into divisions [a]according to the sons of Levi: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

22:8–9 See note on 17:1. In 1 Kin 5:3 Solomon explains that David could not build the temple because he was too busy with wars. The Chronicler's nuance is slightly different—not just that wars took so much of his time, but that David was in some sense defiled by them because of the bloodshed. A pun on Solomon's name is woven into the divine oracle ("Solomon" sounds like and may be derived from the Hebrew word for "peace").

22:10 See note on 17:12–14.

22:12–13 See Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon.

22:19 See 2 Chr 5:1–7.

23:1–27:34 David's preparations for the temple were not restricted to amassing materials for the building; he also arranged for its administration and worship. Unique to Chronicles (see note on 22:1–29:30), these details of the organization of the theocracy (God's kingdom) were of vital concern in the Chronicler's own day. Characteristically for the Chronicler, details about religious and cultic matters (chs. 23–26) take precedence over those that are civil and secular (ch. 27). David's arrangements provided the basis and authority for the practices of the restored community.

23:1 made his son Solomon king. The account of Solomon's succession is resumed in chs. 28–29. The Chronicler omits the accounts of disputed succession and bloody consolidation recorded in 1 Kin 1–2 (see note on 28:1–29:30) since these would not be in accord with his overall portrait of David and Solomon (see Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon).

23:2–5 The Levites were not counted in the census that had provoked the wrath of God (21:6–7).

23:3 Levites . . . from thirty years old and upward. The census of Levites was made first in accordance with the Mosaic prescription (Num 4:1–3). Apparently soon after this count, David instructed that the age be lowered to 20 years (vv. 24,27); a similar adjustment to age 25 had been made under Moses (Num 8:23–24, but see note on Num 8:24).

23:6 Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. The Levites were organized by their three clans (ch. 6; Ex 6:16–19; Num 3). This list parallels those in 6:16–30; 24:20–30.

Gershonites

7 Of the Gershonites were [1]Ladan and Shimei.

8 The sons of Ladan were Jehiel the first and Zetham and Joel, three.

9 The sons of Shimei were Shelomoth and Haziel and Haran, three. These were the heads of the fathers' households of Ladan.

10 The sons of Shimei were Jahath, [1]Zina, Jeush and Beriah. These four were the sons of Shimei.

11 Jahath was the first and Zizah the second; but Jeush and Beriah did not have many sons, so they became a father's household, one [1]class.

Kohathites

12 The sons of Kohath were four: Amram, Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel.

13 [a]The sons of Amram were Aaron and Moses. And [b]Aaron was set apart to sanctify him as most holy, he and his sons forever, [c]to burn incense before the LORD, to minister to Him and to bless in His name forever.

14 But as for [a]Moses the man of God, his sons were named among the tribe of Levi.

15 The sons of Moses were Gershom and Eliezer.

16 The [1]son of Gershom was [2]Shebuel the chief.

17 The [1]son of Eliezer was Rehabiah the chief; and Eliezer had no other sons, but the sons of Rehabiah were very many.

18 The [1]son of Izhar was [2]Shelomith the chief.

19 The sons of Hebron were Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third and Jekameam the fourth.

20 The sons of Uzziel were Micah the first and Isshiah the second.

Merarites

21 The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. The sons of Mahli were Eleazar and Kish.

22 Eleazar died and had no sons, but daughters only, so their brothers, the sons of Kish, took them as wives.

23 The sons of Mushi were three: Mahli, Eder and Jeremoth.

Duties Revised

24 [a]These were the sons of Levi according to their fathers' households, even the heads of the fathers' households of those of them who were [1]counted, in the number of names by their [2]census, doing the work for the service of the house of the LORD, [b]from twenty years old and upward.

25 For David said, "The LORD God of Israel [a]has given rest to His people, and He dwells in Jerusalem forever.

26 "Also, [a]the Levites will no longer need to carry the tabernacle and all its utensils for its service."

27 For by the last words of David the sons of Levi were numbered from twenty years old and upward.

28 For their office is [1]to assist the sons of Aaron with the service of the house of the LORD, in the courts and in the chambers and in the purifying of all holy things, even the work of the service of the house of God,

29 [a]and with the showbread, and [b]the fine flour for a grain offering, and unleavened wafers, or [c]what is baked in the pan or [d]what is well-mixed, and [e]all measures of volume and size.

30 They are to stand every morning to thank and to praise the LORD, and likewise at evening, 31 and to offer all burnt offerings to the LORD, [a]on the sabbaths, the new moons and [b]the fixed festivals in the number set by the ordinance concerning them, continually before the LORD.

32 Thus [a]they are to keep charge of the tent of meeting, and charge of the holy place, and [b]charge of the sons of Aaron their [1]relatives, for the service of the house of the LORD.

Divisions of Levites

24 Now the divisions of the [1]descendants of Aaron were these: [a]the sons of Aaron were Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

2 [a]But Nadab and Abihu died before their father and had no [1]sons. So Eleazar and Ithamar served as priests.

3 David, with [a]Zadok of the sons of Eleazar and Ahimelech of the sons of Ithamar, divided them according to their offices [1]for their ministry.

4 Since more chief men were found from the [1]descendants of Eleazar than the [1]descendants of Ithamar, they divided them thus: there were sixteen heads of fathers' households of the [1]descendants of Eleazar

23:24,27 twenty years old and upward. See note on v. 3.
23:28–32 See note on 9:28–34. The function of the Levites was to assist the priests. In addition to the care of the precincts and implements, baked goods and music (mentioned as Levitical duties in 9:22–34), the Chronicler adds details on the role of the Levites assisting in sacrifices.
23:30 morning . . . evening. See Ex 29:38–41; Num 28:3–8.
24:1–19 There are several lists of priests from the postexilic period (see 6:3–15; 9:10–13; Ezra 2:36–39; Neh 10:1–8; 11:10–12; 12:1–7,12–21).
24:2 Nadab and Abihu died. The Chronicler alludes to the events recorded in Lev 10:1–3 (see note on 6:1–3).
24:3 Zadok . . . Ahimelech. Zadok and Abiathar had served as David's high priests. Here, late in David's life, Abiathar's son Ahimelech appears to have taken over some of his father's duties (see note on 6:8), but see note on 2 Sam 8:17.
24:4 sixteen . . . eight. A total of 24 divisions was selected by lot. This would allow for service either in monthly shifts, as was done by priests in Egyptian mortuary temples, or for two-week shifts once each year as found in NT times. The names of the first, secand eight of the [1]descendants of Ithamar, according to their fathers' households.

5 [a]Thus they were divided by lot, the one as the other; for they were officers of the sanctuary and officers of God, both from the [1]descendants of Eleazar and the [1]descendants of Ithamar.

6 Shemaiah, the son of Nethanel the scribe, from the Levites, recorded them in the presence of the king, the princes, Zadok the priest, [a]Ahimelech the son of Abiathar, and the heads of the fathers' households of the priests and of the Levites; one father's household taken for Eleazar and one taken for Ithamar.

7 Now the first lot came out for Jehoiarib, the second for Jedaiah,

8 the third for Harim, the fourth for Seorim,

9 the fifth for Malchijah, the sixth for Mijamin,

10 the seventh for Hakkoz, the eighth for [a]Abijah,

11 the ninth for Jeshua, the tenth for Shecaniah,

12 the eleventh for Eliashib, the twelfth for Jakim,

13 the thirteenth for Huppah, the fourteenth for Jeshebeab,

14 the fifteenth for Bilgah, the sixteenth for Immer,

15 the seventeenth for Hezir, the eighteenth for Happizzez,

16 the nineteenth for Pethahiah, the twentieth for Jehezkel,

17 the twenty-first for Jachin, the twenty-second for Gamul,

18 the twenty-third for Delaiah, the twenty-fourth for Maaziah.

19 [a]These were their offices for their ministry when they came in to the house of the LORD according to the ordinance given to them through Aaron their father, just as the LORD God of Israel had commanded him.

20 Now for the rest of the sons of Levi: of the sons of Amram, [1]Shubael; of the sons of Shubael, Jehdeiah.

21 Of Rehabiah: of the sons of Rehabiah, Isshiah the first.

28 By Mahli: Eleazar, who had no sons.

29 By Kish: the sons of Kish, Jerahmeel.

ond, fourth, ninth and 24th divisions have been found in a Dead Sea scroll from the fourth cave at Qumran (see essay, p. 1356).

24:7 Jehoiarib. Mattathias, father of the Maccabees, was a member of the Jehoiarib division (in the Apocrypha see 1 Maccabees 2:1).

24:10 Abijah. The father of John the Baptist was "of the division of Abijah" (Luke 1:5).

24:15 Hezir. The division from the family of Hezir was prominent in intertestamental times; the name appears on one of the large tombs in the Kidron Valley, east of Jerusalem.

24:20–31 This list supplements 23:7–23 by extending some of the lines mentioned there.

25:1 commanders of the army. David often sought the counsel of military leaders (11:10; 12:32; 28:1), even in cultic affairs (13:1; 15:25). Asaph . . . Heman . . . Jeduthun. See note on 6:31–48. to prophesy. There are several passages in Chronicles, largely in portions unique to these books, where cultic personnel are designated prophets (here; 2 Chr 20:14–17; 29:30; 35:15; cf. 2 Kin 23:2; 2 Chr 34:30). Zechariah the priest also appears to function as a prophet, though he is not so named (2 Chr 24:19–22). This may reflect postexilic interest in the prophet-priest-king figure of Messianic expectation: In Chronicles not only do priests prophesy, but kings also function as priests (see notes on 15:27; 16:1–3). David's organizing of the temple musicians may reflect his overall interest in music (1 Sam 16:23; 18:10; 19:9; 2 Sam 1:17–27; 6:5,14).

6 All these were under the [1]direction of their father to sing in the house of the LORD, [a]with cymbals, harps and lyres, for the service of the house of God. [b]Asaph, Jeduthun and Heman were under the [1]direction of the king.

7 Their number who were trained in singing to the LORD, with their [1]relatives, all who were skillful, was [a]288.

Divisions of Musicians

8 [a]They cast lots for their duties, all alike, the small as well as the great, the teacher as well as the pupil.

9 Now the first lot came out for Asaph to Joseph, the second for Gedaliah, he with his relatives and sons were twelve;

10 the third to Zaccur, his sons and his relatives, twelve;

11 the fourth to [1]Izri, his sons and his relatives, twelve;

Divisions of the Gatekeepers

26 For the divisions of the gatekeepers there were of the Korahites, [1]Meshelemiah the son of Kore, of the sons of [2]Asaph.

2 Meshelemiah had sons: Zechariah the firstborn, Jediael the second, Zebadiah the third, Jathniel the fourth,

3 Elam the fifth, Johanan the sixth, Eliehoenai the seventh.

4 [a]Obed-edom had sons: Shemaiah the firstborn, Jehozabad the second, Joah the third, Sacar the fourth, Nethanel the fifth,

5 Ammiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh and Peullethai the eighth; God had indeed blessed him.

6 Also to his son Shemaiah sons were born who ruled over the house of their father, for they were mighty men of valor.

7 The sons of Shemaiah were Othni, Rephael, Obed and Elzabad, whose brothers, Elihu and Semachiah, were valiant men.

8 All these were of the sons of Obed-edom; they and their sons and their [1]relatives were able men with strength for the service, 62 from Obed-edom.

9 Meshelemiah had sons and relatives, 18 valiant men.

10 Also [a]Hosah, one of the sons of Merari had sons: Shimri the first (although he was not the firstborn, his father made him first),

11 Hilkiah the second, Tebaliah the third, Zechariah the fourth; all the sons and relatives of Hosah were 13.

12 To these divisions of the gatekeepers, the chief men, were given duties like their relatives to minister in the house of the LORD.

13 [a]They cast lots, the small and the great alike, according to their fathers' households, for every gate.

14 The lot to the east fell to [1]Shelemiah. Then they cast lots for his son Zechariah, a counselor with insight, and his lot came out to the north.

15 For Obed-edom it fell to the south, and to his sons went the storehouse.

13 [a]1 Chr 24:5, 31; 25:8
14 [1]In 9:17, Shallum

25:5 fourteen sons and three daughters. Numerous progeny are a sign of divine blessing (see Job 1:2; 42:13). This is specifically stated for Heman as the result of the promises of God to exalt him. See 3:1–9; 14:2–7; 26:4–5; 2 Chr 11:18–21; 13:21; 21:2; 24:3.
26:1–19 The most extensive of the Chronicler's lists of gatekeepers (see 9:17–27; 16:37–38). A list of gatekeepers in the postexilic period is found in Ezra 2:42 (Neh 7:45).
26:1 Asaph. This name appears to be an abbreviation of Ebiasaph (6:23; 9:19); he should not be confused with the temple musician (25:1–2,6).
26:4–5 Numerous sons are again a sign of divine blessing (see note on 25:5).
26:4 Obed-edom. Had cared for the ark when it was left at his house (see note on 13:13).
26:12 duties. Elaborated in 9:22–29.
26:14 to the east. The east gate was the main entrance; it had six guard posts, as opposed to four at the other gates (v. 17).
26:15 to the south. The palaces of David and Solomon were south of the temple mount. The southern gate would be the main one used by the king, and this assignment probably 16 For Shuppim and Hosah it was to the west, by the gate of Shallecheth, on the ascending highway. Guard corresponded to guard.

17 On the east there were six Levites, on the north four daily, on the south four daily, and at the storehouse two by two.

18 At the [1][a]Parbar on the west there were four at the highway and two at the Parbar.

19 These were the divisions of the gatekeepers of the sons of Korah and of the sons of Merari.

Keepers of the Treasure

20 [1]The Levites, their relatives, [2]had [a]charge of the treasures of the house of God and of the treasures of the dedicated gifts.

21 The sons of Ladan, the sons of the Gershonites belonging to Ladan, namely, the Jehielites, were the heads of the fathers' households, belonging to Ladan the Gershonite.

22 The sons of Jehieli, Zetham and Joel his brother, [1]had charge of the treasures of the house of the LORD.

23 As for the Amramites, the Izharites, the Hebronites and the Uzzielites, 24 Shebuel the son of Gershom, the son of Moses, was officer over the treasures.

25 His relatives by Eliezer were Rehabiah his son, Jeshaiah his son, Joram his son, Zichri his son and Shelomoth his son.

26 This Shelomoth and his relatives [1]had charge of all the treasures of the dedicated gifts [a]which King David and the heads of the fathers' households, the commanders of thousands and hundreds, and the commanders of the army, had dedicated.

27 They dedicated [1]part of the spoil won in battles to repair the house of the LORD.

28 And all that Samuel the seer had dedicated and Saul the son of Kish, Abner the son of Ner and Joab the son of Zeruiah, everyone who had dedicated anything, all of this was [1]in the care of [2]Shelomoth and his relatives.

Outside Duties

29 As for the Izharites, Chenaniah and his sons [a]were assigned to outside duties for Israel, as [b]officers and judges.

30 As for the Hebronites, [a]Hashabiah and his relatives, 1,700 capable men, had charge of the affairs of Israel [1]west of the Jordan, for all the work of the LORD and the service of the king.

31 As for the Hebronites, [a]Jerijah the chief [1](these Hebronites were investigated according to their genealogies and fathers' households, in the fortieth year of David's reign, and men of outstanding capability were found among them at [b]Jazer of Gilead)

32 and his relatives, capable men, were 2,700 in number, heads of fathers' households. And King David made them overseers of the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half-tribe of the Manassites [a]concerning [1]all the affairs of God and of the king.

Commanders of the Army

27 Now this is the enumeration of the sons of Israel, the heads of fathers' households, the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, and their officers who served the king in all the affairs of the divisions which came in and went out month by month throughout all the months of the year, each division numbering 24,000:

2 Jashobeam the son of Zabdiel [1][a]had charge of the first division for the first month; and in his division were 24,000.

3 He was from the sons of Perez, and was reflects a particular honor for Obed-edom (see notes on 26:4–5; see also Ezek 46:1–10).

26:16 gate of Shallecheth. The only reference to a gate by this name; presumably it was on the western side. The Chronicler writes to an audience familiar with these topographical details.

26:20 treasures of the house of God. The Levites in charge of these treasuries received the offerings of the people and cared for the valuable temple equipment (9:28–29). treasures of the dedicated gifts. The plunder from warfare (vv. 27–28). Texts from Mesopotamian temples confirm the presence of temple officers who served as assayers to handle and refine the precious metals received as revenue and offerings. The procedure with reference to the offerings of the people may be seen in the reign of Joash (2 Chr 24:4–14; 2 Kin 12:4–16). Numerous passages reflect on the wealth collected in the temple (see, e.g., 29:1–9; 2 Chr 4:1–22; 34:9–11; 36:7,10,18–19; 1 Kin 14:25–28; 15:15,18; 2 Kin 12:4–18; 14:14; 16:8; 25:13–17).

26:26 gifts which King David... had dedicated. See note on 18:1–20:8; see also 2 Chr 5:1.

26:27 They dedicated part of the spoil won in battles. Cf. Gen 14:17–20.

26:29–32 These verses designate the 6,000 officials and judges (23:4) who would work outside Jerusalem; they are drawn from two sub-clans of Kohath (6:18). Deut 17:8–13 envisages a judicial function for the priests and Levites (see 2 Chr 19:4–11).

26:30,32 for all the work of the LORD and the service of the king . . . concerning all the affairs of God and of the king. In the theocracy (kingdom of God) there is no division between secular and sacred, no tension in serving God and the king (cf. Matt 22:15–22; Luke 16:10–13; Rom 13:1–7; 1 Tim 2:1–4; 1 Pet 2:13–17).

26:31 fortieth year. The last year of David's reign.

27:1–15 The names of the commanders of David's army are the same as those found in the list of his mighty men (see 11:11–47; see also 2 Sam 23:8–39 and notes). Those who had served David while he fled from Saul became commanders in the regular army.

27:1 24,000. See note on 12:23–37. Although a national militia consisting of 12 units of 24,000 each (a total of 288,000) is not unreasonable, the stress in this passage on unit commanders and divisions suggests that here too the Hebrew word for "1,000" should perhaps be taken as the designation of a military unit. To designate a division as "1,000" would be to give the upper limit of the number of men in such a unit, though such units would ordinarily not have a full complement of men. If this approach is followed, the figures in the following verses would be read as "24 units" instead of 24,000.

27:2 Jashobeam. See 11:11.

chief of all the commanders of the army for the first month.

4 Dodai the Ahohite and his division had charge of the division for the second month, Mikloth being the chief officer; and in his division were 24,000.

5 The third commander of the army for the third month was Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada the priest, as chief; and in his division were 24,000.

6 This Benaiah was the mighty man of the thirty, and had charge of thirty; and over his division was Ammizabad his son.

7 The fourth for the fourth month was Asahel the brother of Joab, and Zebadiah his son after him; and in his division were 24,000.

8 The fifth for the fifth month was the commander Shamhuth the Izrahite; and in his division were 24,000.

9 The sixth for the sixth month was Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite; and in his division were 24,000.

10 The seventh for the seventh month was Helez the Pelonite of the sons of Ephraim; and in his division were 24,000.

11 The eighth for the eighth month was Sibbecai the Hushathite of the Zerahites; and in his division were 24,000.

12 The ninth for the ninth month was Abiezer the Anathothite of the Benjamites; and in his division were 24,000.

13 The tenth for the tenth month was Maharai the Netophathite of the Zerahites; and in his division were 24,000.

14 The eleventh for the eleventh month was Benaiah the Pirathonite of the sons of Ephraim; and in his division were 24,000.

15 The twelfth for the twelfth month was Heldai the Netophathite of Othniel; and in his division were 24,000.

Chief Officers of the Tribes

16 Now in charge of the tribes of Israel: chief officer for the Reubenites was Eliezer the son of Zichri; for the Simeonites, Shephatiah the son of Maacah;

17 for Levi, Hashabiah the son of Kemuel; for Aaron, Zadok;

18 for Judah, Elihu, one of David's brothers; for Issachar, Omri the son of Michael;

19 for Zebulun, Ishmaiah the son of Obadiah; for Naphtali, Jeremoth the son of Azriel;

20 for the sons of Ephraim, Hoshea the son of Azaziah; for the half-tribe of Manasseh, Joel the son of Pedaiah;

21 for the half-tribe of Manasseh in Gilead, Iddo the son of Zechariah; for Benjamin, Jaasiel the son of Abner;

22 for Dan, Azarel the son of Jeroham. [a]These were the princes of the tribes of Israel.

23 But David did not [1]count those twenty years of age and under, [a]because the LORD had said He would multiply Israel [b]as the stars of heaven.

24 Joab the son of Zeruiah had begun to count them, but did not finish; and because of [a]this, wrath came upon Israel, and the number was not included in the account of the chronicles of King David.

Various Overseers

25 Now Azmaveth the son of Adiel had charge of the king's storehouses. And Jonathan the son of Uzziah had charge of the storehouses in the country, in the cities, in the villages and in the towers.

26 Ezri the son of Chelub had charge of the [1]agricultural workers who tilled the soil.

27 Shimei the Ramathite had charge of the vineyards; and Zabdi the Shiphmite had charge of the [1]produce of the vineyards stored in the wine cellars.

28 Baal-hanan the Gederite had charge of the olive and [a]sycamore trees in the [1]Shephelah; and Joash had charge of the stores of oil.

29 Shitrai the Sharonite had charge of the cattle which were grazing in [a]Sharon; and Shaphat the son of Adlai had charge of the cattle in the valleys.

27:7 Asahel. See 11:26; 2 Sam 2:18–23.
27:9–15 The remainder of the commanders were selected from among the thirty (see 11:25 and the names listed in 11:27–31).
27:16–22 The Chronicler's interest in "all Israel" appears in this list of officers who were over the 12 tribes (see Introduction: Purpose and Themes). The number is kept at 12 by omitting Gad and Asher (see note on 2:1–2).
27:17 Zadok. See note on 6:8; see also 12:28; 16:39.
27:18 Elihu. Not named elsewhere among the brothers of David. Perhaps he is the unnamed son from the list in 2:10–17 (see note there). Elihu could also be a variant of the name of Jesse's oldest son, Eliab, or the term "brother" could be taken in the sense of "relative," in which case Elihu would be a more distant kinsman.
27:21 Abner. A relative of King Saul (see 26:28; 1 Sam 14:50–51; 17:55–58; 26:5–16; 2 Sam 2:8–4:1).
27:23–24 count . . . the number. Refers to the census narrative in ch. 21 (2 Sam 24).
27:23 twenty years of age and under. The figures reported in ch. 21 and 2 Sam 24 were the numbers of those older than 20 years. said He would multiply Israel as the stars. The patriarchal promises of numerous descendants (Gen 12:2; 13:16; 15:5; 22:17) appear to have been the basis for the objections of Joab (v. 24) to the taking of a census (21:3; 2 Sam 24:3).
27:24 did not finish. Joab did not count those under age 20, nor did he include the tribes of Levi and Benjamin (21:6).
27:25–31 A list of the administrators of David's property (v. 31). The large cities of the ancient Near East had three basic economic sectors: (1) royal, (2) temple and (3) private. There is no evidence of direct taxation during the reign of David; his court appears to have been financed by extensive landholdings, commerce, plunder from his many wars, and tribute from subjugated kingdoms.

30 Obil the Ishmaelite had charge of the camels; and Jehdeiah the Meronothite had charge of the donkeys.

31 Jaziz the [a]Hagrite had charge of the flocks. All these were [1]overseers of the property which belonged to King David.

Counselors

32 Also Jonathan, David's uncle, was a counselor, a man of understanding, and a scribe; and Jehiel the son of Hachmoni [1]tutored the king's sons.

33 [a]Ahithophel was counselor to the king; and [b]Hushai the Archite was the king's friend.

34 Jehoiada the son of [a]Benaiah, and [b]Abiathar [1]succeeded Ahithophel; and Joab was the [c]commander of the king's army.

David's Address about the Temple

28 Now [a]David assembled at Jerusalem all the officials of Israel, the princes of the tribes, and the commanders of the divisions that served the king, and the commanders of thousands, and the commanders of hundreds, and the overseers of all the property and livestock belonging to the king and his sons, with the officials and [b]the mighty men, even all the valiant men.

2 Then King David rose to his feet and said, "Listen to me, my brethren and my people; I [a]had [1]intended to build a [2]permanent home for the ark of the covenant of the LORD and for [b]the footstool of our God. So I had made preparations to build it.

3 "But God said to me, '[a]You shall not build a house for My name because you are a man of war and have shed blood.'

4 "Yet, the LORD, the God of Israel, [a]chose me from all the house of my father to be king over Israel [b]forever. For [c]He has chosen Judah to be a leader; and [d]in the house of Judah, my father's house, and among the sons of my father He took pleasure in me to make me king over all Israel.

5 "[a]Of all my sons (for the LORD has given me many sons), [b]He has chosen my son Solomon to sit on the throne of the kingdom of the LORD over Israel.

6 "He said to me, 'Your son [a]Solomon is the one who shall build My house and My courts; for I have chosen him to be a son to Me, and I will be a father to him.

7 'I will establish his kingdom forever [a]if he resolutely performs My commandments and My ordinances, as [1]is done now.'

8 "So now, in the sight of all Israel, the assembly of the LORD, and in the hearing of our God, observe and seek after all the commandments of the LORD your God so that you may possess the good land and bequeath it to your sons after you forever.

9 "As for you, my son Solomon, know the God of your father, and [a]serve Him with [1]a whole heart and a willing [2]mind; [b]for the LORD searches all hearts, and understands every intent of the thoughts. [c]If you seek Him, He will let you find Him; but if you forsake Him, He will reject you forever.

10 "Consider now, for the LORD has chosen you to build a house for the sanctuary; [a]be courageous and act."

11 Then David gave to his son Solomon [a]the plan of [b]the porch of the temple, its buildings, its storehouses, its upper rooms, its inner rooms and [c]the room for the mercy seat;

12 and the plan of all that he had in [1]mind, for the courts of the house of the LORD, and for all the surrounding rooms, for [a]the storehouses of the house of God and for the storehouses of the dedicated things;

13 also for [a]the divisions of the priests and [b]the Levites and for all the work of the service of the house of the LORD and for all the utensils of service in the house of the LORD;

14 for the golden utensils, the weight of gold for all utensils for every kind of service; for the silver utensils, the weight of silver for all utensils for every kind of service;

27:32–34 A list of David's cabinet members, supplementary to that in 18:14–17.

27:33 Ahithophel. Was replaced after he committed suicide, following his support of Absalom's rebellion (2 Sam 15:12, 31–37; 16:20–17:23).

27:34 Benaiah. See v. 5.

28:1–29:30 The account of the transition from the reign of David to that of Solomon is one of the clearest demonstrations of the Chronicler's idealization of their reigns when it is compared with the succession account in 1 Kin 1–2. The Chronicler makes no mention of the infirmities of the aged David (1 Kin 1:1–4), the rebellion of Adonijah and the king's sons (1 Kin 1:5–10), the court intrigue to secure Solomon's succession (1 Kin 1:11–31) or David's charge to Solomon to punish his enemies after his death (1 Kin 2:1–9). His selection of material presents a transition of power that is smooth and peaceful and receives the support of "all Israel" (29:25), the officials and the people (28:1–2; 29:6–9,21–25). Instead of the bedridden David who sends others to anoint Solomon (1 Kin 1:32–35), David himself is present and in charge of the ceremonies (see 23:1 and note).

28:1 The assembly is composed largely of the groups named in ch. 27. This public announcement (v. 5) follows the private announcement of Solomon's succession in ch. 22 (see note on 22:2–19).

28:3 you are a man of war and have shed blood. See note on 22:8–9.

28:5 chosen my son Solomon. See vv. 6,10; 29:1. These are the only uses in the OT of the Hebrew verb for "chosen" with reference to any king after David (see Introduction: Purpose and Themes). The Chronicler's application of this term to Solomon is consistent with his depiction of that king. kingdom of the LORD. See note on 17:14.

28:6 a son to Me. See 17:12–14 and note; see also 22:10.

28:8–9 See Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon.

28:12 David provides Solomon with the plans for the temple. This reflects the Chronicler's modeling David after Moses: Just as Moses received the plans for the tabernacle from God (Ex 25–30), so also David received the plans for the temple.

15 and the weight of gold for the [a]golden lampstands and their golden lamps, with the weight of each lampstand and its lamps; and the weight of silver for the silver lampstands, with the weight of each lampstand and its lamps according to the use of each lampstand;

16 and the gold by weight for the tables of showbread, for each table; and silver for the silver tables;

17 and the forks, the basins, and the pitchers of pure gold; and for the golden bowls with the weight for each bowl; and for the silver bowls with the weight for each bowl;

18 and for [a]the altar of incense refined gold by weight; and gold for the model of the chariot, even [b]the cherubim that spread out their wings and covered the ark of the covenant of the LORD.

19 "All this," said David, "the LORD made me understand in writing by His hand upon me, [a]all the [1]details of this pattern."

20 Then David said to his son Solomon, "[a]Be strong and courageous, and act; do not fear nor be dismayed, for the LORD God, my God, is with you. [b]He will not fail you nor forsake you until all the work for the service of the house of the LORD is finished.

21 "Now behold, [a]there are the divisions of the priests and the Levites for all the service of the house of God, and [b]every willing man of any skill will be with you in all the work for all kinds of service. The officials also and all the people will be entirely at your command."

Offerings for the Temple

29 Then King David said to the entire assembly, "My son Solomon, whom alone God has chosen, [a]is still young and inexperienced and the work is great; for [b]the [1]temple is not for man, but for the LORD God.

2 "Now [a]with all my ability I have provided for the house of my God the gold for the things of gold, and the silver for the things of silver, and the bronze for the things of bronze, the iron for the things of iron, and wood for the things of wood, onyx stones and inlaid stones, stones of antimony and stones of various colors, and all kinds of precious stones and alabaster in abundance.

3 "Moreover, in my delight in the house of my God, the treasure I have of gold and silver, I give to the house of my God, over and above all that I have already provided for the holy [1]temple,

6 Then [a]the rulers of the fathers' households, and the princes of the tribes of Israel, and the commanders of thousands and of hundreds, with [b]the overseers over the king's work, offered willingly;

7 and for the service for the house of God they gave 5,000 talents and 10,000 [a]darics of gold, and 10,000 talents of silver, and 18,000 talents of brass, and 100,000 talents of iron.

8 [1]Whoever possessed precious stones gave them to the treasury of the house of the LORD, [2]in care of [a]Jehiel the Gershonite.

9 Then the people rejoiced because they had offered so willingly, for they made their offering to the LORD [a]with a whole heart, and King David also rejoiced greatly.

David's Prayer

10 So David blessed the LORD in the sight of all the assembly; and David said, "Blessed are You, O LORD God of Israel our father, forever and ever.

11 "[a]Yours, O LORD, is the greatness and the power and the glory and the victory and the majesty, indeed everything that is in the heavens and the earth; Yours is the dominion, O LORD, and You exalt Yourself as head over all.

12 "[a]Both riches and honor come from You, and You rule over all, and [b]in Your hand is power and might; and it lies in Your hand to make great and to strengthen everyone.

13 "Now therefore, our God, we thank You, and praise Your glorious name.

14 "But who am I and who are my people that we should [1]be able to offer as generously as this? For all things come from You, and from Your hand we have given You.

15 "For [a]we are sojourners before You, and tenants, as all our fathers were; [b]our days on the earth are like a shadow, and there is no hope.

16 "O LORD our God, all this abundance that we have provided to build You a house for Your holy name, it is from Your hand, and all is Yours.

17 "Since I know, O my God, that [a]You try

28:19 in writing by His hand upon me. The Chronicler may intend no more than the ordinary process of inspiration whereby David wrote under divine influence. On the other hand, he may imply a parallel with Moses, who also received documents from the hand of the Lord (Ex 25:40; 27:8; 31:18; 32:16).
28:20 See Introduction: Portrait of David and Solomon.
29:1 chosen. See note on 28:5. young. See note on 22:5.
29:2–9 After donating his personal fortune to the construction of the temple, David appeals to the people for their voluntary gifts. The Chronicler again appears to be modeling his account of David on events from the life of Moses (Ex 25:1–8; 35:4–9,20–29). The willing response of the people aided the building of both tabernacle and temple.
29:7 darics. The daric was a Persian coin, apparently named for Darius I (522–486 B.C.) in whose reign it first appears (see Ezra 8:27). Since the Chronicler's readers were familiar with it, he could use it as an up-to-date standard of value for an earlier treasure of gold.

the heart and [b]delight in uprightness, I, in the integrity of my heart, have willingly offered all these things; so now with joy I have seen Your people, who are present here, make their offerings willingly to You.

18 "O LORD, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, our fathers, preserve this forever in the [1]intentions of the heart of Your people, and direct their heart to You;

19 and [a]give to my son Solomon a perfect heart to keep Your commandments, Your testimonies and Your statutes, and to do them all, and [b]to build the [1]temple, for which I have made provision."

20 Then David said to all the assembly, "Now bless the LORD your God." And [a]all the assembly blessed the LORD, the God of their fathers, and [b]bowed low and did homage to the LORD and to the king.

Sacrifices

21 On the next day [a]they [1]made sacrifices to the LORD and offered burnt offerings to the LORD, 1,000 bulls, 1,000 rams and 1,000 lambs, with their drink offerings and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel.

22 So they ate and drank that day before the LORD with great gladness.

Solomon Again Made King

And they made Solomon the son of David king [a]a second time, and they [b]anointed him as ruler for the LORD and Zadok as priest.

23 Then [a]Solomon sat on the throne of the LORD as king instead of David his father; and he prospered, and all Israel obeyed him.

24 All the officials, the mighty men, and also all the sons of King David [1]pledged allegiance to King Solomon.

25 [a]The LORD highly exalted Solomon in the sight of all Israel, and [b]bestowed on him royal majesty which had not been on any king before him in Israel.

26 Now [a]David the son of Jesse reigned over all Israel.

27 [a]The period which he reigned over Israel was forty years; he reigned in Hebron seven years and [1]in Jerusalem thirty-three years.

Death of David

28 Then he died in [a]a [1]ripe old age, [b]full of days, riches and honor; and his son Solomon reigned in his place.

29 "Now the acts of King David, from first to last, are written in the chronicles of [a]Samuel the seer, in the chronicles of [b]Nathan the prophet and in the chronicles of [c]Gad the seer, 30 with all his reign, his power, and the circumstances which came on him, on Israel, and on all the kingdoms of the lands.

The anointing of both Solomon and Zadok portrays the harmony between them (see Zech 4:14; 6:13 and notes). second time. Perhaps the first time was Solomon's anointing recorded in 1 Kin 1:32–36, but omitted by the Chronicler (see note on 28:1–29:30). However, the phrase "second time" is missing in the Septuagint, suggesting that it may have been an addition to the Hebrew text of this passage by an ancient scribe after the Septuagint had already been translated, in order to harmonize the Chronicles account with Kings. Multiple anointings are found in the cases of both Saul (1 Sam 10:1,24; 11:14–15) and David (1 Sam 16:13; 2 Sam 2:4; 5:3).

29:24 All . . . pledged allegiance. But compare the rebellion of Adonijah, in which the officers and sons of the king had assisted the attempted coup (1 Kin 1:9,19,25). Again the Chronicler has bypassed a negative event that would tarnish his image of David and Solomon.

INTRODUCTION

See Introduction to 1 Chronicles.

The Building of the Temple in Chronicles

The Chronicler has used the Pentateuchal history as a model for his account of the reigns of David and Solomon. Similarly, the Pentateuchal record of the building of the tabernacle affects his account of the building of the temple:

1. The building of the tabernacle was entrusted to Bezalel and Oholiab (Ex 35:30—36:7), and they provide the Chronicler's model for the relationship of Solomon and Huram-abi (2 Chr 2:13). It is significant that the only references to Bezalel outside the book of Exodus are in Chronicles (1 Chr 2:20; 2 Chr 1:5).

Solomon is the new Bezalel: (1) Both Solomon and Bezalel are designated by name for their tasks by God; they are the only workers on their projects to be chosen by name (Ex 31:2; 35:30—36:2; 38:22–23; 1 Chr 28:6). (2) Both are from the tribe of Judah (Ex 31:2; 35:30; 1 Chr 2:20; 3:10). (3) Both receive the Spirit to endow them with wisdom (Ex 31:3; 35:30–31; 2 Chr 1:1–13), and Solomon's vision at Gibeon (2 Chr 1:3–13) dominates the preface to the account of the temple construction (2 Chr 2—7). (4) Both build a bronze altar for the sanctuary (2 Chr 1:5; 4:1; 7:7)—significantly, the bronze altar is not mentioned in the summary list of Huram-abi's work (4:12–16). (5) Both make the sanctuary furnishings (Ex 31:1–10; 37:10–29; 2 Chr 4:19–22).

Similarly, Huram-abi becomes the new Oholiab: (1) In the account of the temple building in Kings, Huram-abi is not mentioned until after the story of the main construction of temple and palace has been told (1 Kin 7:13–45); in Chronicles he is introduced as being involved in the building work from the beginning, just as Oholiab worked on the tabernacle from the beginning (Ex 31:6; 2 Chr 2:13). (2) Kings speaks only of Huram-abi's skill in casting bronze (1 Kin 7:14); in Chronicles, however, his list of skills is the same as Oholiab's (Ex 31:1–6; 35:30–36:2; 38:22–23; 2 Chr 2:14). (3) Kings reports that the mother of Huram-abi was a widow from the tribe of Naphtali (1 Kin 7:14); Chronicles, however, states that she was a widow from the tribe of Dan (2 Chr 2:14), thus giving Huram-abi the same ancestry as Oholiab (Ex 31:6; 35:34; 38:23). See note on 2 Chr 2:13.

2. The plans for both tabernacle and temple are given by God (Ex 25:1—30:37; see Ex 25:9,40; 27:8; see also 1 Chr 28:11–19—not mentioned in Samuel and Kings).

3. The spoils of war are used as building materials for both tabernacle and temple (Ex 3:21–22; 12:35–36; see 1 Chr 18:6–11—not mentioned in Samuel and Kings).

4. The people contribute willingly and generously for both structures (Ex 25:1–7; 36:3–7; see 1 Chr 29:1–9—not mentioned in Samuel and Kings).

5. The glory cloud appears at the dedication of both structures (Ex 40:34–35; 2 Chr 7:1–3).

Solomon Worships at Gibeon

1 Now [a]Solomon the son of David established himself securely over his kingdom, and the LORD his God was with him and [b]exalted him greatly.

2 Solomon spoke to all Israel, [a]to the commanders of thousands and of hundreds and to the judges and to every leader in all Israel, the heads of the fathers' households.

3 Then Solomon and all the assembly with him went to [a]the high place which was at Gibeon, [b]for God's tent of meeting was there, which Moses the servant of the LORD had made in the wilderness.

4 However, David had brought up [a]the ark of God from Kiriath-jearim [1]to [b]the place he had prepared for it, for he had pitched a tent for it in Jerusalem.

5 Now [a]the bronze altar, which Bezalel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, had made, [1]was there before the tabernacle of the LORD, and Solomon and the assembly sought it out.

6 Solomon went up there before the LORD to the bronze altar which was at the tent of meeting, and [a]offered a thousand burnt offerings on it.

7 [a]In that night God appeared to Solomon and said to him, "Ask what I shall give you."

Solomon's Prayer for Wisdom

8 Solomon said to God, "You have dealt with my father David with great lovingkindness, and [a]have made me king in his place.

9 "Now, O LORD God, [a]Your [1]promise to my father David is fulfilled, for You have made me king over [b]a people as numerous as the dust of the earth.

10 "[a]Give me now wisdom and knowledge, [b]that I may go out and come in before this people, for who can rule this great people of Yours?"

12 wisdom and knowledge have been granted to you. And [a]I will give you riches and wealth and honor, [1]such as none of the kings who were before you has possessed nor those who will [2]come after you."

13 [a]So Solomon went [1]from the high place which was at Gibeon, from the tent of meeting, to Jerusalem, and he reigned over Israel.

Solomon's Wealth

14 [a]Solomon amassed chariots and horsemen. [b]He had 1,400 chariots and 12,000 horsemen, and he stationed them in [c]the chariot cities and with the king at Jerusalem.

15 [a]The king made [b]silver and gold as plentiful in Jerusalem as stones, and he made cedars as plentiful as sycamores in the [1]lowland.

16 Solomon's [a]horses were imported from Egypt and from Kue; the king's traders procured them from Kue for a price.

17 They [1]imported chariots from Egypt for 600 shekels of silver apiece and horses for 150 apiece, and [2]by the same means they [3]exported them to all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Aram.

Solomon Will Build a Temple and Palace

2 [1a]Now Solomon [2]decided to build a house for the name of the LORD and a [3]royal palace for himself.

2 [1]So [a]Solomon [2]assigned 70,000 men to carry loads and 80,000 men to quarry stone in the mountains and 3,600 to supervise them.

3 [a]Then Solomon sent word to [1]Huram

1:1–9:31 The account of the reign of Solomon is primarily devoted to his building of the temple (chs. 2–7); his endowment with wisdom is mainly to facilitate the building work. Much of the material in Kings that does not bear on building the temple is omitted by the Chronicler; e.g., he does not mention the judgment between the prostitutes (1 Kin 3:16–28) or the building of the royal palace (1 Kin 7:1–12).

1:1 established himself. This expression, or a variation of it, is common in Chronicles (12:13; 13:7–8,21; 15:8; 16:9; 17:1; 21:4; 23:1; 25:11; 27:6; 32:5; 1 Chr 11:10; 19:13). Here and in 21:4 it includes the elimination of enemies and rivals to the throne (see 1 Kin 2, especially v. 46).

1:2–13 See 1 Kin 3:4–15 and notes. Verses 2–6 are largely unique to Chronicles and show some of the writer's concerns: 1. The support of "all Israel" (v. 2) is emphasized (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes). 2. While the writer of Kings is somewhat apologetic about Solomon's visit to a high place (1 Kin 3:3), the Chronicler adds the note that this was the location of the tabernacle made by Moses in the wilderness (v. 3), bringing Solomon's action into line with the provisions of the law (Lev 17:8–9).

1:5 Bezalel. See Introduction: The Building of the Temple in Chronicles. It is specifically in connection with his offering on the altar built by Bezalel (Ex 31:1–11; 38:1–2) that Solomon receives the wisdom from God to reign. In the account that follows, Solomon devotes his gift of wisdom primarily to building the temple, just as Bezalel had been gifted by God to serve as the master craftsman of the tabernacle.

1:7 God . . . said to him. Both David and Solomon function as prophets (7:1; 29:25; 1 Chr 22:8; 28:6,19).

1:9 numerous as the dust. In provisional fulfillment of the promise to Abraham (Gen 13:16; 22:17; see note on 1 Chr 27:23; cf. Gen 28:14).

1:14–17 The Chronicler does not include the material in 1 Kin 3:16–4:34. He moves rather to the account of Solomon's wealth in 1 Kin 10:26–29; part of this material is repeated in 2 Chr 9:25–28. Recounting Solomon's wealth at this point shows the fulfillment of God's promise (v. 12).

1:16 Egypt. See note on 1 Kin 10:29.

2:1 palace. Although the Chronicler frequently mentions the palace Solomon built (7:11; 8:1; 9:11), he gives no details of its construction (see 1 Kin 7:1–12).

2:2 See vv. 17–18.

2:3–10 The Chronicler's theological interests appear in his handling of Solomon's correspondence with Huram (a variant of the king of Tyre, saying, "[b]As you dealt with David my father and sent him cedars to build him a house to dwell in, so do for me.

4 "Behold, I am about to build a house for the name of the LORD my God, dedicating it to Him, [a]to burn fragrant incense before Him and to set out [b]the showbread continually, and to offer [c]burnt offerings morning and evening, [d]on sabbaths and on new moons and on the appointed feasts of the LORD our God, this being required forever in Israel.

5 "The house which I am about to build will be great, for [a]greater is our God than all the gods.

6 "But [a]who is able to build a house for Him, for the heavens and the highest heavens cannot contain Him? So who am I, that I should build a house for Him, except to [1]burn incense before Him?

7 "Now [a]send me a skilled man to work in gold, silver, brass and iron, and in purple, crimson and violet fabrics, and who knows how to make engravings, to work with the skilled men [1][b]whom I have in Judah and Jerusalem, whom David my father provided.

8 "[a]Send me also cedar, cypress and algum timber from Lebanon, for I know that your servants know how to cut timber of Lebanon; and indeed [b]my servants will work with your servants,

9 to prepare timber in abundance for me, for the house which I am about to build will be great and wonderful.

10 "Now behold, [a]I will give to your servants, the woodsmen who cut the timber, 20,000 [1]kors of crushed wheat and 20,000 [1]kors of barley, and 20,000 baths of wine and 20,000 baths of oil."

Huram to Assist

11 Then Huram, king of Tyre, [1]answered in a letter sent to Solomon: "[a]Because the LORD loves His people, He has made you king over them."

12 Then Huram [1]continued, "Blessed be [a]the LORD, the God of Israel, who has made heaven and earth, who has given King David a wise son, [2]endowed with discretion and understanding, [b]who will build a house for the LORD and a [3]royal palace for himself.

13 "Now I am sending Huram-abi, a skilled man, [1]endowed with understanding,

14 [a]the son of a [1]Danite woman and [2]a Tyrian father, who knows how to work in gold, silver, bronze, iron, stone and wood, and in purple, violet, linen and crimson fabrics, and who knows how to make all kinds of engravings and to [3]execute any design which may be assigned to him, to work with your skilled men and with [4]those of my lord David your father.

15 "Now then, let my lord send to his servants wheat and barley, oil and wine, of [a]which he has spoken.

16 "[a]We will cut whatever timber you need from Lebanon and bring it to you on rafts by sea to Joppa, so that you may carry it up to Jerusalem."

17 Solomon numbered all the aliens who were in the land of Israel, [a]following the [1]census which his father David had [2]taken; and 153,600 were found.

18 [a]He appointed 70,000 of them to carry loads and 80,000 to quarry stones in the mountains and 3,600 supervisors to make the people work.

The Temple Construction in Jerusalem

Hiram) of Tyre. In the Kings account the correspondence was initiated by Huram (1 Kin 5:1). The Chronicler omits this (and also the material in 1 Kin 5:3–5) but adds his own material, reflecting his concerns with the temple worship in vv. 3–7.

2:4 See 1 Chr 23:28–31.

2:7 See Introduction: The Building of the Temple in Chronicles. In the Kings account Solomon's request for a master craftsman is found late in the narrative (1 Kin 7:13); to carry out his parallel between Oholiab and Huram-abi, the Chronicler includes it in the initial correspondence. Furthermore, here and in vv. 13–14 the list of Huram-abi's skills is expanded and matches that of Bezalel and Oholiab (Kings is concerned only with casting bronze).

2:10 The payment here differs from that reported in 1 Kin 5:11, but the texts speak of two different payments: In Kings the payment is an annual sum delivered to the royal household of Hiram, while Chronicles speaks of one payment to the woodsmen. The goods paid are also not identical; the oil specified in Kings is of a finer quality.

2:11–16 See 1 Kin 5:7–9; 7:13–14 and notes.

2:13 Huram-abi. See note on v. 7. Kings reports that the ancestry of Huram-abi was through a widow of Naphtali (1 Kin 7:14); Chronicles strengthens the parallel between Huram-abi and Oholiab by assigning him Danite ancestry. These statements are not necessarily contradictory: (1) The mother's ancestry may have been Danite, though she lived in the territory of Naphtali; or (2) her parents may have been from Dan and Naphtali, allowing her descent to be reckoned to either. The Danites had been previously associated with the Phoenicians (Judg 18:7).

2:17–18 See 1 Kin 5:13–18 and notes. The Chronicler specifies that this levy of forced laborers was from aliens resident in the land, not from Israelites. This is not stated in the parallel passage in Kings, though 1 Kin 9:20–22 confirms that alien labor was used (see 8:8).

2:18 3,600 supervisors. See v. 2. The number given in 1 Kin 5:16 is 3,300; however, some manuscripts of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) also have 3,600. The Chronicler may have been following a different text of Kings from the present Masoretic (traditional Hebrew) text at this point (but see note on 1 Kin 5:16).

3:1–17 The Chronicler has considerably curtailed the description of the temple's construction found in Kings, omitting completely 1 Kin 6:4–20. This abridgment probably indicates that the Chronicler's audience was familiar with the details of the earlier history and that the temple of the restoration period was less elaborate than the original Solomonic structure (Hag 2:3). On the other hand, the Chronicler goes into more detail on the furnishings and implements (3:6–9; 4:1,6–9).

3:1 Mount Moriah. The only passage in the OT where Mount pared [b]on the threshing floor of [1]Ornan the Jebusite.

2 He began to build on the second day in the second month [1]of the fourth year of his reign.

Dimensions and Materials of the Temple

3 Now these are the [1]foundations which [a]Solomon laid for building the house of God. The length in [2]cubits, according to the old standard was sixty cubits, and the width twenty cubits.

4 The porch which was in front of the house [a]was as long as the width of the house, twenty cubits, and the height 120; and inside he overlaid it with pure gold.

5 He overlaid [a]the [1]main room with cypress wood and overlaid it with fine gold, and [2]ornamented it with palm trees and chains.

6 Further, he [1]adorned the house with precious stones; and the gold was gold from [2]Parvaim.

7 [a]He also overlaid the house with gold—the beams, the thresholds and its walls and its doors; and he [b]carved cherubim on the walls.

8 Now he made [a]the [1]room of the holy of holies: its length across the width of the house was twenty cubits, and its width was twenty cubits; and he overlaid it with fine gold, amounting to 600 talents.

9 The weight of the nails was fifty shekels of gold. He also overlaid [a]the upper rooms with gold.

10 [a]Then he made two [1]sculptured cherubim in the room of the holy of holies and overlaid them with gold.

11 The wingspan of the cherubim was twenty cubits; the wing of one, of five cubits, touched the wall of the house, and its other wing, of five cubits, touched the wing of the other cherub.

12 The wing of the other cherub, of five cubits, touched the wall of the house; and its other wing of five cubits was attached to the wing of the [1]first cherub.

13 The wings of these cherubim extended twenty cubits, and they stood on their feet [1]facing the main room.

14 [a]He made the veil of violet, purple, crimson and fine linen, and he worked cherubim on it.

15 [a]He also made two pillars for the front of the house, thirty-five cubits [1]high, and the capital on the top of each was five cubits.

16 He made chains in the inner sanctuary and placed them on the tops of the pillars; and he made one hundred pomegranates and placed them on the chains.

17 [a]He erected the pillars in front of the temple, one on the right and the other on the left, and named the one on the right Jachin and the one on the left Boaz.

Furnishings of the Temple

4 Then [a]he made a bronze altar, twenty cubits in length and twenty cubits in width and ten cubits in height.

2 [a]Also he made the cast metal sea, ten cubits from brim to brim, circular in form, and its height was five cubits and [1]its circumference thirty cubits.

3 Now figures like oxen were under it and all around it, ten cubits, entirely encircling the sea. The oxen were in two rows, cast [1]in one piece.

Zion is identified with Mount Moriah, the place where Abraham was commanded to offer Isaac (Gen 22:2,14). the place that David had prepared. See 1 Chr 21:18–22:1.

3:2 second month of the fourth year. In the spring of 966 B.C. (see note on 1 Kin 6:1).

3:4 overlaid. Or "inlaid," which perhaps gives a more correct picture: not that the entire interior was covered with gold leaf, but that designs (palm trees, chains) were inlaid with gold leaf (v. 5).

3:6 Parvaim. Designates either the source of the gold (perhaps southeast Arabia) or a particular quality of fine gold.

3:7 cherubim. See vv. 10–14; see also notes on Gen 3:24; Ezek 1:5.

3:8 length . . . was twenty cubits, and its width was twenty cubits. It was also 20 cubits high (1 Kin 6:20), making the dimensions of the holy of holies a perfect cube, as probably also in the tabernacle. In the New Jerusalem there is no temple (Rev 21:22); rather, the whole city is in the shape of a cube (Rev 21:16), for the whole city becomes "the holy of holies."

3:9 nails . . . of gold. The fact that gold is such a soft metal would make it unlikely that nails were made of this substance. It is probable that this small amount (only 1 1/4 pounds) represents gold leaf or sheeting used to gild the nail heads.

3:10–13 See 1 Kin 6:23–27 and notes.

3:14 veil. Also separated the two rooms of the tabernacle (Ex 26:31). Wooden doors could also be closed across the opening (4:22; 1 Kin 6:31–32; cf. Matt 27:51; Heb 9:8).

3:15 thirty-five cubits high. Since 1 Kin 7:15 indicates the pillars were each 18 cubits high (confirmed by 2 Kin 25:17; Jer 52:21, though the Septuagint at Jer 52:21 has 35), 35 here probably refers to the combined height of both. Alternatively, 35 may be the result of a copyist's mistake.

3:17 pillars. Remains of such pillars have been found in the excavations of numerous temples in the Holy Land. Cf. Rev 3:12. Jachin . . . Boaz. Jachin probably means "He establishes," and Boaz probably means "in Him is strength."

4:1 bronze altar. The parallel text in Kings does not mention the main altar of the temple described here (1 Kin 7:22–23), though several other passages in Kings do refer to it (1 Kin 8:64; 9:25; 2 Kin 16:14). The main altar of Solomon's temple was similar to the altar with steps that is described in Ezek 43:13–17.

4:2 cast metal sea. Replaced the bronze basin of the tabernacle (Ex 30:18); it was used by the priests for their ceremonial washing (v. 6; Ex 30:21). The NT views these rituals as foreshadowing the cleansing provided by Christ (Titus 3:5; Heb 9:11–14). In the temple of Ezekiel, the sea, which was on the south side in front of the temple (v. 10), has been replaced by a life-giving river that flows from the south side of the temple (Ezek 47:1–12; cf. Joel 3:18; Zech 14:8; John 4:9–15; Rev 22:1–2).

4:3 oxen. 1 Kin 7:24 has "gourds." The Hebrew for the two words is very similar, so the difference may well be due to a copyist's mistake.

4:4 twelve oxen. Possibly symbolic of the 12 tribes, which also the north, three facing west, three facing south and three facing east; and the sea was set on top of them and all their hindquarters turned inwards.

5 It was a handbreadth thick, and its brim was made like the brim of a cup, like a lily blossom; it [a]could hold 3,000 baths.

6 [a]He also made ten basins in which to wash, and he set five on the right side and five on the left [1]to rinse things for the burnt offering; but the sea was for the priests to wash in.

7 Then [a]he made the ten golden lampstands in the way prescribed for them and he set them in the temple, five on the right side and five on the left.

8 He also made [a]ten tables and placed them in the temple, five on the right side and five on the left. And he made one hundred golden bowls.

9 Then he made [a]the court of the priests and [b]the great court and doors for the court, and overlaid their doors with bronze.

10 [a]He set the sea on the right [1]side of the house toward the southeast.

11 [a]Huram also made the pails, the shovels and the bowls. So Huram finished doing the work which he performed for King Solomon in the house of God:

12 the two pillars, the bowls and the two capitals on top of the pillars, and the two networks to cover the two bowls of the capitals which were on top of the pillars,

13 and [a]the four hundred pomegranates for the two networks, two rows of pomegranates for each network to cover the two bowls of the capitals which were on the pillars.

14 [a]He also made the stands and he made the basins on the stands,

15 and the one sea with the twelve oxen under it.

16 The pails, the shovels, the forks and all its utensils, [a]Huram-abi made of polished bronze for King Solomon for the house of the LORD.

17 On the plain of the Jordan the king cast them in the clay ground between Succoth and Zeredah.

18 [a]Thus Solomon made all these utensils in great quantities, for the weight of the bronze could not be found out.

19 Solomon also made all the things that were in the house of God: even the golden altar, [a]the tables with the bread of the Presence on them,

20 the lampstands with their lamps of pure gold, [a]to burn in front of the inner sanctuary in the way prescribed;

21 the flowers, the lamps, and the tongs of gold, of purest gold;

22 and the snuffers, the bowls, the spoons and the firepans of pure gold; and the entrance of the house, its inner doors for the holy of holies and the doors of the house, that is, of the nave, of gold.

The Ark Is Brought into the Temple

5 [a]Thus all the work that Solomon performed for the house of the LORD was finished. And Solomon brought in the [1][b]things that David his father had dedicated, even the silver and the gold and all the utensils, and put them in the treasuries of the house of God.

2 [a]Then Solomon assembled to Jerusalem the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, the leaders of the fathers' households of the sons of Israel, [b]to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD out of the city of David, which is Zion.

3 [a]All the men of Israel assembled themselves to the king at [b]the feast, that is in the seventh month.

4 Then all the elders of Israel came, and [a]the Levites took up the ark.

5 They brought up the ark and the tent of meeting and all the holy utensils which were in the tent; the Levitical priests brought them up.

6 And King Solomon and all the congregation of Israel who were assembled with him before the ark, were sacrificing [1]so many sheep and oxen that they could not be counted or numbered.

7 Then the priests brought the ark of the covenant of the LORD to its place, into the 5:3 feast . . . in the seventh month. The Feast of Booths. The month is designated by its Canaanite name Ethanim in 1 Kin 8:2; the Hebrew name is Tishri. According to 1 Kin 6:38 the temple was completed in the eighth month of Solomon's 11th year, i.e., September-October, 959 B.C. This celebration of dedication took place either a month before the completion of the work or 11 months after, probably the latter (see note on 1 Kin 8:2).

5:6 Cf. David's bringing of the ark to Jerusalem (1 Chr 15:26; 16:1–3).

inner sanctuary of the house, to the holy of holies, under the wings of the cherubim.

8 For the cherubim spread their wings over the place of the ark, so that the cherubim made a covering over the ark and its [1]poles.

9 The poles were so long that [a]the ends of the poles of the ark could be seen in front of the inner sanctuary, but they could not be seen outside; and [1]they are there to this day.

10 [a]There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets which Moses put there at Horeb, where the LORD made a covenant with the sons of Israel, when they came out of Egypt.

The Glory of God Fills the Temple

11 When the priests came forth from the holy place (for all the priests who were present had sanctified themselves, without regard [a]to divisions),

12 and all the Levitical singers, [a]Asaph, Heman, Jeduthun, and their sons and kinsmen, clothed in fine linen, [b]with cymbals, harps and lyres, standing east of the altar, and with them one hundred and twenty priests [c]blowing trumpets

13 in unison when the trumpeters and the singers were to make themselves heard with one voice to praise and to glorify the LORD, and when they lifted up their voice [a]accompanied by trumpets and cymbals and instruments of music, and when they praised the LORD saying, "[b]He indeed is good for His lovingkindness is everlasting," then the house, the house of the LORD, was filled with a cloud,

14 so that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud, for [a]the glory of the LORD filled the house of God.

Solomon's Dedication

6 [a]Then Solomon said,
"The LORD has said that He would
dwell in the thick cloud.
2 "I have built You a lofty house,
And a place for Your dwelling forever."

3 Then the king [1]faced about and blessed all the assembly of Israel, while all the assembly of Israel was standing.

4 He said, "Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, who spoke with His mouth to my father David and has fulfilled it with His hands, saying,

5 'Since the day that I brought My people from the land of Egypt, I did not choose a city out of all the tribes of Israel in which to build a house that My name might be there, nor did I choose any man for a leader over My people Israel;

6 but [a]I have chosen Jerusalem that My name might be there, and I [b]have chosen David to be over My people Israel.'

7 "[a]Now it was [1]in the heart of my father David to build a house for the name of the LORD, the God of Israel.

8 "But the LORD said to my father David, 'Because it was [1]in your heart to build a house for My name, you did well that it was [1]in your heart.

9 'Nevertheless you shall not build the house, but your son who [1]will be born to you, he shall build the house for My name.'

10 "Now the LORD has fulfilled His word which He spoke; for I have risen in the place of my father David and sit on the throne of Israel, as the LORD [1]promised, and have built the house for the name of the LORD, the God of Israel.

11 "There I have set the ark [a]in which is the covenant of the LORD, which He made with the sons of Israel."

Solomon's Prayer of Dedication

12 Then he stood before the altar of the LORD in the presence of all the assembly of Israel and spread out his hands.

13 [a]Now Solomon had made a bronze platform, five cubits long, five cubits wide and three cubits high, and had set it in the midst of the court; and he stood on it, [b]knelt on his knees in the presence of all the assembly of Israel and spread out his hands toward heaven.

14 He said, "O LORD, the God of Israel, [a]there is no god like You in heaven or on earth, [b]keeping covenant and showing lovingkindness to Your servants who walk before You with all their heart;

15 [a]who has kept with Your servant David, my father, that which You have [1]promised him; indeed You have spoken with Your mouth and have fulfilled it with Your hand, as it is this day.

6:13 Not in 1 Kin 8. Some think that the Chronicler may have wished to clarify the fact that Solomon was not "before the altar" (v. 12) exercising priestly duties. On the other hand, the verse may have been dropped from Kings by a copying error: The phrase "spread out his hands" occurs in vv. 12–13; it is possible that the scribe copying Kings looked back to the second occurrence of the phrase, thus omitting the verse. The verse would then be present in Chronicles because it was in the particular text of Kings used by the Chronicler.

16 "Now therefore, O LORD, the God of Israel, keep with Your servant David, my father, that which You have [1]promised him, saying, '[2a]You shall not lack a man to sit on the throne of Israel, if only your sons take heed to their way, to walk in My law as you have walked before Me.'

17 "Now therefore, O LORD, the God of Israel, let Your word be confirmed which You have spoken to Your servant David.

18 "But [a]will God indeed dwell with mankind on the earth? Behold, [b]heaven and the [1]highest heaven cannot contain You; how much less this house which I have built.

19 "Yet have regard to the prayer of Your servant and to his supplication, O LORD my God, to listen to the cry and to the prayer which Your servant prays before You;

20 that Your [a]eye may be open toward this house day and night, toward [b]the place of which You have said that You would put Your name there, to listen to the prayer which Your servant shall pray toward this place.

21 "Listen to the supplications of Your servant and of Your people Israel when they pray toward this place; hear from Your dwelling place, from heaven; [a]hear and forgive.

22 "If a man sins against his neighbor and is made to take an oath, and he comes and takes an oath before Your altar in this house,

23 then hear from heaven and act and judge Your servants, [1a]punishing the wicked by bringing his way on his own head and justifying the righteous by giving him according to his righteousness.

24 "If Your people Israel [1]are defeated before an enemy because [a]they have sinned against You, and they return to You and confess Your name, and pray and make supplication before You in this house,

28 "If there is [a]famine in the land, if there is pestilence, if there is blight or mildew, if there is locust or grasshopper, if their enemies besiege them in the land of their [1]cities, whatever plague or whatever sickness there is,

6:28–31 See Lev 26:16,20,25–26; Deut 28:20–22,27–28,35,42.
6:32–33 The prophets also envisaged the Gentiles as coming to Jerusalem to worship the Lord (Is 56:6–8; Zech 8:20–23; 14:16–21; cf. Ps 87).
6:34–35 See Lev 26:7–8; Deut 28:6–7. The Chronicler repeatedly demonstrates God's answer to prayer in time of battle (ch. 13; 14:9–15; 18:31; 20:1–29; 25:5–13; 32:20–22).

tions, and maintain their cause and forgive Your people who have sinned against You.

40 "Now, O my God, I pray, [a]let Your eyes be open and [b]Your ears attentive to the prayer offered in this place.

41 "[a]Now therefore arise, O LORD God, to Your resting place, You and the ark of Your might; let Your priests, O LORD God, be clothed with salvation and let Your godly ones rejoice in what is good.

42 "O LORD God, do not turn away the face of Your anointed; [a]remember Your lovingkindness to Your servant David."

The Shekinah Glory

7 [a]Now when Solomon had finished praying, [b]fire came down from heaven and consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices, and the glory of the LORD filled the house.

2 [a]The priests could not enter into the house of the LORD because the glory of the LORD filled the LORD'S house.

3 All the sons of Israel, seeing the fire come down and the glory of the LORD upon the house, bowed down on the pavement with their faces to the ground, and they worshiped and gave praise to the LORD, saying, "[a]Truly He is good, truly His lovingkindness is everlasting."

Sacrifices Offered

4 [a]Then the king and all the people offered sacrifice before the LORD.

5 King Solomon offered a sacrifice of 22,000 oxen and 120,000 sheep. Thus the king and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 The priests stood at their posts, and [a]the Levites also, with the instruments of music to the LORD, which King David had made for giving praise to the LORD—"for His lovingkindness is everlasting"—whenever [1]he gave praise by their [2]means, while [b]the priests on the other side blew trumpets; and all Israel was standing.

7 [a]Then Solomon consecrated the middle of the court that was before the house of the LORD, for there he offered the burnt offerings and the fat of the peace offerings because the bronze altar which Solomon had made was not able to contain the burnt offering, the grain offering and the fat.

The Feast of Dedication

8 So [a]Solomon observed the feast at that time for seven days, and all Israel with him, a very great assembly who came from the entrance of Hamath to the [b]brook of Egypt.

9 On the eighth day they held [a]a solemn assembly, for the dedication of the altar they observed seven days and the feast seven days.

10 Then on the twenty-third day of the seventh month he sent the people to their tents, rejoicing and happy of heart because of the goodness that the LORD had shown to David and to Solomon and to His people Israel.

God's Promise and Warning

11 [a]Thus Solomon finished the house of the LORD and the king's palace, and successfully completed all that [1]he had planned on doing in the house of the LORD and in his palace.

12 Then the LORD appeared to Solomon at night and said to him, "I have heard your prayer and [a]have chosen this place for Myself as a house of sacrifice.

13 "[a]If I shut up the heavens so that there is no rain, or if I command the locust to devour the land, or if I send pestilence among My people,

14 [a]and My people [1]who are called by My name humble themselves and pray and seek My face and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven, will forgive their sin and will heal their land.

6:40–42 The Chronicler replaces the ending of Solomon's prayer in Kings (1 Kin 8:50–53) with a repetition of Ps 132:8–10, a psalm that deals with bringing the ark to the temple, the theme of this section in Chronicles (5:2–14). The prayer in Kings ends with an appeal to the exodus deliverance under Moses, while in Chronicles the appeal is on the basis of the eternal promises to David.

7:1–22 See 1 Kin 8:54–9:9 and notes.

7:1–3 Not found in 1 Kin 8. The addition of the fire descending from heaven to consume the sacrifices provides the same sign of divine acceptance as was given at the dedication of the tabernacle (Lev 9:23–24) and David's offering at the threshing floor of Ornan (a variant of Araunah; see 2 Sam 24:16) the Jebusite (1 Chr 21:26; cf. 1 Kin 18:38). While vv. 1–3 are unique to Chronicles, the Chronicler has omitted Solomon's blessing of the congregation (1 Kin 8:55–61).

7:1 glory of the LORD. See 5:14 and note.

7:3 He is good . . . everlasting. See v. 6; 5:13.

7:6 The verse is unique to Chronicles and reflects the author's overall interest in the Levites, especially the musicians (cf. 29:26–27; see note on 1 Chr 6:31–48). all Israel. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes.

7:8 from the entrance of Hamath to the brook of Egypt. Not only were the patriarchal promises of descendants provisionally fulfilled under David and Solomon (see 1:9; 1 Chr 27:23–24 and notes), but also the promises of land (Gen 15:18–21).

7:9 eighth day. The final day of the Feast of Booths (see 5:3 and note; Lev 23:36; Num 29:35). seven days . . . seven days. The dedication had run from the 8th to the 14th day of the month, and the Feast of Booths from the 15th to the 22nd day. The day of atonement was on the 10th day of the 7th month (Lev 16; cf. 1 Kin 8:65–66).

7:12 appeared to Solomon. The second time God appeared to Solomon; the first was at Gibeon (1:3–13; 1 Kin 9:2).

7:13–15 Unique to Chronicles. These verses illustrate the writer's emphasis on immediate retribution (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes). The Chronicler subsequently portrays the kings in a way that demonstrates this principle (see v. 22).

7:14 See, e.g., 12:6–7,12.

17 "As for you, if you walk before Me as your father David walked, even to do according to all that I have commanded you, and will keep My statutes and My ordinances,
18 then I will establish your royal throne as I covenanted with your father David, saying, '[1][a]You shall not lack a man to be ruler in Israel.'
19 "[a]But if you turn away and forsake My statutes and My commandments which I have set before you, and go and serve other gods and worship them,

Solomon's Activities and Accomplishments

8 [a]Now it came about at the end of the twenty years in which Solomon had built the house of the LORD and his own house
2 that he built the cities which Huram had given to [1]him, and settled the sons of Israel there.
3 Then Solomon went to Hamath-zobah and captured it.
4 He built Tadmor in the wilderness and all the storage cities which he had built in Hamath.
5 He also built upper [a]Beth-horon and lower Beth-horon, [b]fortified cities with walls, gates and bars;
6 and Baalath and all the storage cities that Solomon had, and all the cities for [1]his chariots and cities for [1]his horsemen, and all that it pleased Solomon to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and in all the land [2]under his rule.
7 [a]All of the people who were left of the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Hivites and the Jebusites, who were not of Israel,
8 namely, from their descendants who were left after them in the land whom the sons of Israel had not destroyed, [a]them Solomon raised as forced laborers to this day.
9 But Solomon did not make slaves for his work from the sons of Israel; they were men of war, his chief captains and commanders of his chariots and his horsemen.
10 These were the chief [1]officers of King Solomon, two hundred and fifty who ruled over the people.
11 [a]Then Solomon brought Pharaoh's daughter up from the city of David to the house which he had built for her, for he said, "My wife shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel, because [1]the places are holy where the ark of the LORD has entered."
12 Then Solomon offered burnt offerings to the LORD on [a]the altar of the LORD which he had built before the porch;
13 and [a]did so according to the daily rule, offering them up [b]according to the commandment of Moses, for [c]the sabbaths, [d]the new moons and the [e]three annual feasts—the Feast of Unleavened Bread, the Feast of Weeks and the Feast of Booths.
14 Now according to the ordinance of his father David, he appointed [a]the divisions of the priests for their service, and [b]the Levites for their duties of praise and ministering before the priests according to the daily rule, and [c]the gatekeepers by their divisions at every gate; for [d]David the man of God had so commanded.

7:17–18 See 1 Kin 9:4–5. Such words as these reinforced ancient Israel's Messianic hopes.
7:19–22 See 1 Kin 9:6–9.
8:1–18 See 1 Kin 9:10–18 and notes. Verses 13–16 are unique to Chronicles and underscore the Chronicler's concern to show continuity with the past and his association of David with Moses (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).
8:1–2 In 1 Kin 9:10–14 the cities were given to Hiram by Solomon, whereas in Chronicles the reverse is true. Perhaps as part of his effort to idealize Solomon, the Chronicler does not record the fact that Hiram found these cities unacceptable payment (1 Kin 9:11–13); he mentions only the sequel to the story, the return of the cities to Solomon and their subsequent improvement. They may also have served as a kind of collateral against the monies owed Hiram, who returned them when the debt was satisfied (see note on 1 Kin 9:11). The Chronicler also says nothing about Pharaoh's gift of Gezer to Solomon (1 Kin 9:16).
8:3–4 The Chronicler records an additional military campaign to the north, not mentioned in Kings. David had also campaigned in the north against Zobah (1 Chr 18:3–9; 19:6; 2 Sam 8:3–12; 10:6–8; cf. 1 Kin 11:23–24).
8:5 The two Beth-horons were situated on a strategic road from the coastal plain to the area just north of Jerusalem.
8:7 not of Israel. See 2:17; 1 Chr 22:2; 1 Kin 9:21.
8:8 to this day. See note on 5:9.
8:11 holy. Both 1 Kin 9:24 and Chronicles record the transfer of Pharaoh's daughter to special quarters, but only Chronicles adds the reason: Not only the temple but also David's palace was regarded as holy, because of the presence of the ark.
8:12–16 In line with his overall interests, the Chronicler considerably elaborates on the sacrificial and temple provisions made by Solomon. While 1 Kin 9:25 mentions only the sacrifices at the three annual feasts, the Chronicler adds the offerings on sabbaths and new moons to conform these provisions fully to Mosaic prescription (Lev 23:1–37; Num 28–29).

15 And they did not depart from the commandment of the king to the priests and Levites in any manner or concerning the storehouses.

16 Thus all the work of Solomon was carried out [1]from the day of the foundation of the house of the LORD, and until it was finished. So the house of the LORD was completed.

17 Then Solomon went to [a]Ezion-geber and to [b]Eloth on the seashore in the land of Edom.

18 And Huram by his servants sent him ships and servants who knew the sea; and they went with Solomon's servants to Ophir, and [a]took from there four hundred and fifty talents of gold and brought them to King Solomon.

Visit of the Queen of Sheba

9 [a]Now when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon, she came to Jerusalem to test Solomon with difficult questions. She had a very large retinue, with camels carrying spices and a large amount of gold and precious stones; and when she came to Solomon, she spoke with him about all that was on her heart.

2 Solomon [1]answered all her questions; nothing was hidden from Solomon which he did not [2]explain to her.

3 When the queen of Sheba had seen the wisdom of Solomon, the house which he had built,

4 the food at his table, the seating of his servants, the attendance of his ministers and their attire, his cupbearers and their attire, and [1]his stairway by which he went up to the house of the LORD, she was breathless.

5 Then she said to the king, "It was a true report which I heard in my own land about your words and your wisdom.

6 "Nevertheless I did not believe their reports until I came and my eyes had seen it. And behold, the half of the greatness of your wisdom was not told me. You surpass the report that I heard.

7 "How [1]blessed are your men, how [1]blessed are these your servants who stand before you continually and hear your wisdom.

8 "Blessed be the LORD your God who delighted in you, [a]setting you on His throne as king for the LORD your God; [b]because your God loved Israel establishing them forever, therefore He made you king over them, to do justice and righteousness."

9 Then she gave the king one hundred and twenty talents of gold and a very great amount of spices and precious stones; there had never been spice like that which the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.

10 The servants of Huram and the servants of Solomon [a]who brought gold from Ophir, also brought algum trees and precious stones.

11 From the algum trees the king made steps for the house of the LORD and for the king's palace, and lyres and harps for the singers; and none like that was seen before in the land of Judah.

12 King Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all her desire which she requested besides a return for what she had brought to the king. Then she turned and went to her own land with her servants.

Solomon's Wealth and Power

13 [a]Now the weight of gold which came to Solomon in one year was 666 talents of gold,

14 besides that which the traders and merchants brought; and all [a]the kings of Arabia and the governors of the country brought gold and silver to Solomon.

15 King Solomon made 200 large shields of beaten gold, [1]using 600 shekels of beaten gold on each large shield.

16 He made 300 shields of beaten gold, [1]using three hundred shekels of gold on each shield, and the king put them in the house of the forest of Lebanon.

17 Moreover, the king made a great throne of ivory and overlaid it with pure gold.

18 There were six steps to the throne and a footstool in gold attached to the throne, and [1]arms [2]on each side of the seat, and two lions standing beside the [1]arms.

19 Twelve lions were standing there on the six steps on the one side and on the other; nothing like it was made for any other kingdom.

20 All King Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the forest of Lebanon were of pure gold; silver was not considered [1]valuable in the days of Solomon.

8:17–18 See 1 Kin 9:26–28. This joint venture between Solomon and Huram secured for these kings the lucrative trade routes through the Mediterranean to the south Arabian peninsula; Solomon became the middleman between these economic spheres.

8:18 Huram . . . sent him ships. Presumably ships crafted in Phoenicia and assembled at the port of Ezion-geber after being shipped overland (see 9:21).

9:1–12 See 1 Kin 10:1–13 and notes. The visit of the queen of Sheba portrays the fulfillment of God's promise to give Solomon wisdom and wealth (1:12). Although the themes of Solomon's wisdom and wealth are here put to the fore, a major motive for the queen's visit may have been commercial, perhaps prompted by Solomon's naval operations toward south Arabia (8:17–18).

9:1 Sheba. See note on 1 Kin 10:1; see also Job 1:15; 6:19; Ps 72:10–11,15; Is 60:6; Jer 6:20; Ezek 27:22; 38:13; Joel 3:8.

9:8 His throne. The most significant variation from the account of the queen's visit in 1 Kings (10:9) is found here. The queen's speech becomes the vehicle for the Chronicler's conviction that the throne of Israel is the throne of God, for whom the king ruled (see 13:18; see also note on 1 Chr 17:14).

21 [a]For the king had ships which went to Tarshish with the servants of Huram; once every three years the ships of Tarshish came bringing gold and silver, ivory and apes and peacocks.

22 [a]So King Solomon became greater than all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom.

23 And all the kings of the earth were seeking the presence of Solomon, to hear his wisdom which God had put in his heart.

24 [a]They brought every man his gift, articles of silver and gold, garments, weapons, spices, horses and mules, so much year by year.

25 Now Solomon had [a]4,000 stalls for horses and chariots and 12,000 horsemen, and he stationed them in the chariot cities and with the king in Jerusalem.

26 [a]He was the ruler over all the kings from the Euphrates River even to the land of the Philistines, and as far as the border of Egypt.

27 [a]The king made silver as common as stones in Jerusalem, and he made cedars as plentiful as sycamore trees that are in the [1]lowland.

28 [a]And they were bringing horses for Solomon from Egypt and from all countries.

29 [a]Now the rest of the acts of Solomon, from first to last, [b]are they not written in the [1]records of Nathan the prophet, and in the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the visions of [2]Iddo the seer concerning Jeroboam the son of Nebat?

30 [a]Solomon reigned forty years in Jerusalem over all Israel.

Death of Solomon

31 And Solomon slept with his fathers and was buried in [a]the city of his father David; and his son Rehoboam reigned in his place.

Rehoboam's Reign of Folly

10 [a]Then Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel had come to Shechem to make him king.

2 When Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard of it (for [a]he was in Egypt where he had fled from the presence of King Solomon), Jeroboam returned from Egypt.

3 So they sent and summoned him. When Jeroboam and all Israel came, they spoke to Rehoboam, saying,

4 "Your father made our [a]yoke hard; now therefore lighten the hard service of your father and his heavy yoke which he put on us, and we will serve you."

5 He said to them, "Return to me again in three days." So the people departed.

6 Then King Rehoboam [a]consulted with the elders who had [1]served his father Solomon while he was still alive, saying, "How do you counsel me to answer this people?"

7 They spoke to him, saying, "If you will be kind to this people and please them and [a]speak good words to them, then they will be your servants forever."

8 But he [a]forsook the counsel of the elders which they had given him, and consulted with the young men who grew up with him [1]and served him.

9 So he said to them, "What counsel do you give that we may answer this people, who have spoken to me, saying, 'Lighten the yoke which your father put on us'?"

10 The young men who grew up with him spoke to him, saying, "Thus you shall say to the people who spoke to you, saying, 'Your father made our yoke heavy, but you make it lighter for us.' Thus you shall say to them, 'My little finger is thicker than my father's loins!

11 'Whereas my father loaded you with a heavy yoke, I will add to your yoke; my father disciplined you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions.' "

12 So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day as the king had [1]directed, saying, "Return to me on the third day."

13 The king answered them harshly, and King Rehoboam forsook the counsel of the elders.

14 He spoke to them according to the advice of the young men, saying, "[1]My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to it; my father disciplined you with whips, but I will discipline you with scorpions."

10:1–36:23 The material covering the divided monarchy in Chronicles is considerably shorter than that in Kings: 27 chapters compared to 36 (1 Kin 12–2 Kin 25). Moreover, about half of this material is unique to Chronicles and shows no dependence on Kings. The most obvious reason for this is that the Chronicler has written a history of the Davidic dynasty in Judah; the history of the northern kingdom is passed over in silence except where it impinges on that of Judah. At least two considerations prompt this treatment of the divided kingdom: 1. The Chronicler is concerned to trace God's faithfulness to His promise to give David an unbroken line of descent on the throne of Israel. 2. At the time of the Chronicler the restored community was confined to the returnees of the kingdom of Judah, who were actually the remnant of all Israel (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).
10:1–19 See 1 Kin 12:1–20 and notes. Somewhat in line with his idealization of Solomon, the Chronicler places most of the blame for the schism on the rebellious Jeroboam (cf. 13:6–7).
10:1 Rehoboam. Reigned 930–913 B.C.
10:2 Jeroboam. His second mention in Chronicles (see 9:29). The Chronicler assumes the reader's familiarity with 1 Kin 11:26–40.

the LORD might establish His word, which He spoke through Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

16 When all Israel saw that the king did not listen to them the people answered the king, saying,

"[a]What portion do we have in David?
We have no inheritance in the son of Jesse.
Every man to your tents, O Israel;
Now look after your own house, David."

[b]So all Israel departed to their tents.

17 But as for the sons of Israel who lived in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.

18 Then King Rehoboam sent Hadoram, who was [a]over the forced labor, and the sons of Israel stoned him [1]to death. And King Rehoboam made haste to mount his chariot to flee to Jerusalem.

19 So [a]Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David to this day.

Rehoboam Reigns over Judah and Builds Cities

11 [a]Now when Rehoboam had come to Jerusalem, he assembled the house of Judah and Benjamin, 180,000 chosen men who were warriors, to fight against Israel to restore the kingdom to Rehoboam.

2 But the word of the LORD came to [a]Shemaiah the man of God, saying,

3 "Speak to Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all Israel in Judah and Benjamin, saying,

4 'Thus says the LORD, "You shall not go up or fight against [a]your [1]relatives; return every man to his house, [b]for this thing is from Me." ' " So they listened to the words of the LORD and returned from going against Jeroboam.

5 Rehoboam lived in Jerusalem and [a]built cities for defense in Judah.

6 Thus he built Bethlehem, Etam, Tekoa,
7 Beth-zur, Soco, Adullam,
8 Gath, Mareshah, Ziph,
9 Adoraim, Lachish, Azekah,
10 Zorah, Aijalon and Hebron, which are fortified cities in Judah and in Benjamin.

11 He also strengthened the fortresses and put officers in them and stores of food, oil and wine.

12 He put shields and spears in every city and strengthened them greatly. So he held Judah and Benjamin.

13 Moreover, the priests and the Levites who were in all Israel stood with him from all their districts.

Jeroboam Appoints False Priests

14 For [a]the Levites left their pasture lands and their property and came to Judah and Jerusalem, for [b]Jeroboam and his sons had excluded them from serving as priests to the LORD.

15 [a]He set up priests of his own for the high places, for the satyrs and for the calves which he had made.

16 [a]Those from all the tribes of Israel who set their hearts on seeking the LORD God of Israel [1]followed them to Jerusalem, to sacrifice to the LORD God of their fathers.

17 [a]They strengthened the kingdom of Judah and supported Rehoboam the son of Solomon for three years, for they walked in the way of David and Solomon for three years.

Rehoboam's Family

18 Then Rehoboam took as a wife Mahalath the daughter of Jerimoth the son of David and of Abihail the daughter of [a]Eliab the son of Jesse,

19 and she bore him sons: Jeush, Shemariah and Zaham.

20 After her he took [a]Maacah the daugh-

10:15 Ahijah. The Chronicler assumes the reader's familiarity with 1 Kin 11:29–33.

10:18 Hadoram . . . over the forced labor. Had held the same office under Solomon (see 1 Kin 4:6; 5:14, where he is called Adoniram).

10:19 to this day. See note on 5:9.

11:1–23 Verses 1–4 are parallel to 1 Kin 12:21–24; vv. 5–23 are largely unique to Chronicles. The Chronicler's account of Rehoboam is a good example of his emphasis on immediate retribution (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes). Ch. 11 traces the rewards for obedience to the command of God (vv. 1–4): Rehoboam enjoys prosperity and power (vv. 5–12), popular support (vv. 13–17) and progeny (vv. 18–23). Ch. 12 demonstrates the reverse: Disobedience brings judgment.

11:2 Shemaiah. The function of the prophets as guardians of the theocracy (God's kingdom) is prominent in Chronicles; most of Judah's kings are portrayed as receiving advice from prophets (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).

11:3 all Israel in Judah and Benjamin. A variation from the wording found in 1 Kin 12:23, in accordance with the Chronicler's interest in "all Israel."

11:4 from Me. See 10:15.

11:5–10 This list of cities is not found in Kings. Rehoboam fortified his eastern, western and southern borders, but not the north, perhaps demonstrating his hope of reunification of the kingdoms, as well as the threat of invasion from Egypt.

11:13–17 The Chronicler assumes the reader's familiarity with 1 Kin 12:26–33. This material is unique to Chronicles and reflects the author's concern both with the temple and its personnel and with showing that the kingdom of Judah was the remnant of all Israel.

11:14 pasture lands and their property. See 1 Chr 6:54–80; Lev 25:32–34; Num 35:1–5; see also Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes.

11:15 satyrs and . . . calves. The account in Kings mentions only the golden calves (for the worship of goat idols or satyrs see Lev 17:7).

11:17 way of David and Solomon. Characteristic of the Chronicler's idealization of Solomon; contrast the portrait of Solomon in 1 Kin 11:1–13. three years. See note on 12:2.

11:18–22 The report on the size of Rehoboam's family is placed here as part of the Chronicler's effort to show God's blessing on his obedience (see note on 11:1–23). The material is not in chronological sequence with the surrounding context ter of [1]Absalom, and she bore him Abijah, Attai, Ziza and Shelomith.

21 Rehoboam loved Maacah the daughter of Absalom more than all his other wives and concubines. For [a]he had taken eighteen wives and sixty concubines and fathered twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters.

22 [a]Rehoboam appointed Abijah the son of Maacah as head and leader among his brothers, for he intended to make him king.

23 He acted wisely and distributed [1]some of his sons through all the territories of Judah and Benjamin to all the fortified cities, and he gave them food in abundance. And he sought many wives for them.

Shishak of Egypt Invades Judah

12 [a]When the kingdom of Rehoboam was established and strong, [b]he and all Israel with him forsook the law of the LORD.

2 [a]And it came about in King Rehoboam's fifth year, because they had been unfaithful to the LORD, that [b]Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem

3 with 1,200 chariots and 60,000 horsemen. And the people who came with him from Egypt were without number: [a]the Lubim, the Sukkiim and the Ethiopians.

4 He captured [a]the fortified cities of Judah and came as far as Jerusalem.

5 Then [a]Shemaiah the prophet came to Rehoboam and the princes of Judah who had gathered at Jerusalem because of Shishak, and he said to them, "Thus says the LORD, '[b]You have forsaken Me, so I also have forsaken you [1]to Shishak.' "

6 So the princes of Israel and the king humbled themselves and said, "The [a]LORD is righteous."

7 When the LORD saw that they humbled themselves, the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah, saying, "[a]They have humbled themselves so I will not destroy them, but I will grant them some measure of deliverance, and [b]My wrath shall not be poured out on Jerusalem by means of Shishak.

8 "But they will become his slaves so [a]that they may learn the difference between My service and the service of the kingdoms of the countries."

Plunder Impoverishes Judah

9 [a]So Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, and took the treasures of the house of the LORD and the treasures of the king's palace. He took everything; [b]he even took the golden shields which Solomon had made.

10 Then King Rehoboam made shields of bronze in their place and committed them to the [1]care of the commanders of the [2]guard who guarded the door of the king's house.

11 As often as the king entered the house of the LORD, the [1]guards came and carried them and then brought them back into the [1]guards' room.

12 And [a]when he humbled himself, the anger of the LORD turned away from him, so as not to destroy him completely; and also conditions [b]were good in Judah.

13 [a]So King Rehoboam strengthened himself in Jerusalem and reigned. Now Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the LORD had chosen from all the tribes of Israel, to put His name there. And his mother's name was Naamah the Ammonitess.

14 He did evil [a]because he did not set his heart to seek the LORD.

15 [a]Now the acts of Rehoboam, from first to last, are they not written in the [1]records of [b]Shemaiah the prophet and of [c]Iddo the seer, according to genealogical enrollment? And but summarizes events throughout his reign. The Chronicler uses numerous progeny as a sign of divine blessing (see 13:21; see also notes on 21:2; 1 Chr 25:5).

11:20 Maacah the daughter of Absalom. See note on 1 Kin 15:2. She was likely the granddaughter of Absalom, through his daughter Tamar (2 Sam 14:27; 18:18), who was married to Uriel (2 Chr 13:2).

11:21–22 These verses explain why the eldest son was not appointed Rehoboam's successor.

11:23 distributed some of his sons. Rehoboam may have sought to secure the succession of Abijah by assigning other sons to outlying posts, perhaps to avoid the difficulties faced by David, whose sons at court (Adonijah and Absalom) had attempted to seize power.

12:1–14 See note on 11:1–23. Whereas obedience to the prophetic word (11:1–4) had brought blessing (11:5–23), now the prophet comes to announce judgment for disobedience (see 1 Kin 14:25–28). While the writer of Kings also reports the attack of Shishak, the Chronicler alone adds the rationale that the invasion was because of forsaking the commands of God (vv. 1–2,5).

12:1 all Israel. Used in a variety of ways in 2 Chronicles: (1) of both kingdoms (9:30), (2) of the northern kingdom (10:16; 11:13) or (3) of the southern kingdom alone (as here; 11:3). forsook. The opposite of seeking the LORD (v. 14); see v. 5; see also note on 24:18,20,24.

12:2 fifth year. 925 B.C. The Chronicler often introduces chronological notes not found in Kings (e.g., 11:17; 15:10,19; 16:1, 12–13; 17:7; 21:20; 24:15,17,23; 26:16; 27:5,8; 29:3; 34:3; 36:21). These become a vehicle for his emphasis on immediate retribution by dividing the reigns of individual kings into cycles of obedience-blessing and disobedience-punishment. This sequence is clear for Rehoboam: Three years of obedience and blessing (11:17) are followed by rebellion, presumably in the fourth year (12:1), and punishment in the fifth (here). Shishak. Founder of the 22nd dynasty of Egypt, he ruled c. 945–924 B.C. The Bible mentions this invasion only as it affected Jerusalem, but Shishak's own inscription on the wall of the temple of Amun at Karnak (Thebes) indicates that his armies also swept as far north as the plain of Jezreel and Megiddo.

12:3 Sukkiim. Probably a group of mercenary soldiers of Libyan origin who are known from Egyptian texts.

12:5 See notes on vv. 1–14; v. 1.

12:6–7 See v. 12. The Chronicler has in mind God's promise in 7:14.

12:13 seventeen years. See note on 10:1.

12:15–16 See 1 Kin 14:29–31.

there were wars between Rehoboam and Jeroboam continually.

16 And Rehoboam slept with his fathers and was buried in the city of David; and his son [a]Abijah became king in his place.

Abijah Succeeds Rehoboam

13 [a]In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam, Abijah became king over Judah.

2 He reigned three years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Micaiah the daughter of Uriel of Gibeah.

[a]Now there was war between Abijah and Jeroboam.

3 Abijah began the battle with an army of valiant warriors, 400,000 chosen men, while Jeroboam drew up in battle formation against him with 800,000 chosen men who were valiant warriors.

Civil War

4 Then Abijah stood on Mount [a]Zemaraim, which is in the hill country of Ephraim, and said, "Listen to me, Jeroboam and all Israel:

5 "Do you not know that [a]the LORD God of Israel gave the rule over Israel forever to David [1]and his sons by [b]a covenant of salt?

6 "Yet [a]Jeroboam the son of Nebat, the servant of Solomon the son of David, rose up and rebelled against his [1]master,

7 and worthless men gathered about him, scoundrels, who proved too strong for Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, when [1][a]he was young and timid and could not hold his own against them.

8 "So now you intend to resist the kingdom of the LORD [1]through the sons of David, [2]being a great multitude and having with you [a]the golden calves which Jeroboam made for gods for you.

9 "[a]Have you not driven out the priests of the LORD, the sons of Aaron and the Levites, and made for yourselves priests like the peoples of other lands? Whoever comes [b]to consecrate himself with a young bull and seven rams, even he may become a priest of what are [c]no gods.

10 "But as for us, the LORD is our God, and we have not forsaken Him; and the sons of Aaron are ministering to the LORD as priests, and the Levites [1]attend to their work.

11 "Every morning and evening [a]they [1]burn to the LORD burnt offerings and fragrant incense, and [b]the showbread is set on the clean table, and the golden lampstand with its lamps is ready to light every evening; for we keep the charge of the LORD our God, but you have forsaken Him.

12 "Now behold, God is with us at our head and [a]His priests with the signal trumpets to sound the alarm against you. O sons of Israel, do not fight against the LORD God of your fathers, for you will not succeed."

13 But Jeroboam [a]had set an ambush to come from the rear, so that Israel was in front of Judah and the ambush was behind them.

14 When Judah turned around, behold, [1]they were attacked both front and rear; so [a]they cried to the LORD, and the priests blew the trumpets.

15 Then the men of Judah raised a war cry, and when the men of Judah raised the war cry, then it was that God [1][a]routed Jeroboam and all Israel before Abijah and Judah.

16 When the sons of Israel fled before Judah, [a]God gave them into their hand.

17 Abijah and his people defeated them with a great slaughter, so that 500,000 chosen men of Israel fell slain.

18 Thus the sons of Israel were subdued at that time, and the sons of Judah [1]conquered [a]because they trusted in the LORD, the God of their fathers.

19 Abijah pursued Jeroboam and captured from him several cities, Bethel with its villages, Jeshanah with its villages and [1]Ephron with its villages.

Death of Jeroboam

20 Jeroboam did not again recover strength in the days of Abijah; and the [a]LORD struck him and [b]he died.

13:1–14:1 The Chronicler's account of Abijah's reign is about three times longer than that in 1 Kin 15:1–8, largely due to Abijah's lengthy speech (13:4–12; see note on 28:1–27). The most striking difference in the accounts of Abijah's reign in Kings and in Chronicles is the evaluation given in each: Kings offers a negative evaluation (1 Kin 15:3), for which there was no doubt warrant, while the assessment in Chronicles is positive, in view of what the Chronicler is able to report of him. The kings' reigns, like the lives of common people, were often a mixture of good and evil.

13:2 three years. 913–910 B.C. Macaiah. A variant of Maacah (see note on 11:20).

13:3 400,000 . . . 800,000. Surprisingly large figures but in line with those in 1 Chr 21:5 (see note there). Apparently this was all-out war.

13:4 Mount Zemaraim. Location uncertain. The town Zemaraim was in the territory of Benjamin (Josh 18:22); presumably the battle was along the common border of Benjamin and Israel. all Israel. See note on 12:1; here and in v. 15 the reference is to the northern kingdom.

13:5 See 7:17–18; 1 Chr 17:13–14. covenant of salt. See notes on Num 18:19; 2 Kin 2:20.

13:6 See note on 10:1–19.

13:7 Not all in the northern kingdom are rebuked, only the leadership—a subtle appeal to those in the north who had been led into rebellion. worthless men. See note on Deut 13:13. young and timid. Cf. 1 Chr 22:5; 29:1. Rehoboam was 41 years old at the time of the schism (12:13).

13:8 kingdom of the LORD. The house of David represents the kingdom of God (see 9:8 and note).

13:9 See 1 Kin 12:25–33. consecrate himself. Cf. Ex 29:1.

13:10–12 The Chronicler's concern with acceptable worship focuses on the legitimate priests and the observance of prescribed worship (cf. 1 Chr 23:28–31).

21 But Abijah became powerful; and took fourteen wives to himself, and became the father of twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters.

22 Now the rest of the acts of Abijah, and his ways and his words are written in [a]the [1]treatise of [b]the prophet Iddo.

Asa Succeeds Abijah in Judah

14 [1][a]So Abijah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David, and his son Asa became king in his place. The land was undisturbed for ten years during his days.

2 [1]Asa did good and right in the sight of the LORD his God,

3 for he removed [a]the foreign altars and [b]high places, tore down the sacred pillars, cut down the [1][c]Asherim,

4 and commanded Judah to seek the LORD God of their fathers and to observe the law and the commandment.

5 He also removed the high places and the [a]incense altars from all the cities of Judah. And the kingdom was undisturbed under him.

6 [a]He built fortified cities in Judah, since the land was undisturbed, and [1]there was no one at war with him during those years, [b]because the LORD had given him rest.

7 For he said to Judah, "[a]Let us build these cities and surround them with walls and towers, gates and bars. The land is still [1]ours because we have sought the LORD our God; we have sought Him, and He has given us rest on every side." So they built and prospered.

8 Now Asa had an army of [a]300,000 from Judah, bearing large shields and spears, and 280,000 from Benjamin, bearing shields and wielding bows; all of them were valiant warriors.

9 Now Zerah the Ethiopian [a]came out against them with an army of a million men and 300 chariots, and he came to [b]Mareshah.

10 So Asa went out [1]to meet him, and they drew up in battle formation in the valley of Zephathah at Mareshah.

11 Then Asa [a]called to the LORD his God and said, "LORD, there is no one besides You to help in the battle between the powerful and those who have no strength; so help us, O LORD our God, [b]for we trust in You, and in Your name have come against this multitude. O LORD, You are our God; let not man prevail against You."

12 So [a]the LORD [1]routed the Ethiopians before Asa and before Judah, and the Ethiopians fled.

13 Asa and the people who were with him pursued them as far as [a]Gerar; and so many Ethiopians fell that [1]they could not recover, for they were shattered before the LORD and before His army. And they carried away very much plunder.

14 They [1]destroyed all the cities around Gerar, [a]for the dread of the LORD had fallen on them; and they despoiled all the cities, for there was much plunder in them.

15 They also struck down [1]those who owned livestock, and they carried away large numbers of sheep and camels. Then they returned to Jerusalem.

13:21 See note on 11:18–22.

14:1 undisturbed for ten years. For the Chronicler peace and prosperity go hand in hand with righteous rule. This first decade of Asa's reign (910–900 B.C.) preceded the invasion by Zerah (14:9–15) and was followed by 20 more years of peace, from the 15th (15:10) to the 35th years (15:19). Contrast this account with the statement that there was war between Asa and Baasha throughout their reigns (see 1 Kin 15:16 and note). The tensions between the two kingdoms may have accounted for Asa's fortifications (14:7–8), though actual combat was likely confined to raids until the major campaign was launched in Asa's 36th year (16:1). See 15:8 and note.

14:2–16:14 The account of Asa's reign (910–869 B.C.) here is greatly expanded over the one in 1 Kin 15:9–24. The expansions characteristically express the Chronicler's view concerning the relationship between obedience and blessing, disobedience and punishment. The author introduces chronological notes into his account to divide Asa's reign into these periods (see note on 12:2): For ten years Asa did what was right and prospered (14:1–7), and an invasion by a powerful Cushite (Ethiopian) force was repulsed because he called on the Lord (14:8–15). There followed further reforms (15:1–9) and a covenant renewal in Asa's 15th year (15:10–18), and so he enjoyed peace until his 35th year (15:19). But then came a change: When confronted by an invasion from the northern kingdom in his 36th year (16:1), he hired Aramean reinforcements rather than trusting in the Lord (16:2–6), and imprisoned the prophet who rebuked him (16:7–10). In his 39th year he was afflicted with a disease (16:12), but still steadfastly refused to seek the Lord. In his 41st year he died (16:13).

14:3 sacred pillars. See note on 1 Kin 14:23. Asherim. Wooden symbols of the goddess Asherah (here and throughout 2 Chronicles).

14:5 removed the high places. 1 Kin 15:14 states that Asa did not remove the high places. This difficulty is best resolved by the Chronicler's own statement in 15:17, which is properly parallel to 1 Kin 15:14: Early in his reign Asa did attempt to remove the high places, but pagan worship was extremely resilient, and ultimately his efforts were unsuccessful (15:17). Statements that the high places both were and were not removed are also found in the reign of Jehoshaphat (17:6; 20:33). Cf. Deut 12:2–3.

14:7 rest on every side. See note on 20:30.

14:9 Zerah the Ethiopian. Lit. "Zerah the Cushite." Many identify him with Pharaoh Osorkon I, second pharaoh of the 22nd Egyptian dynasty. However, since he is not called "king" or "pharaoh," and is known as the "Cushite" or "Nubian," some prefer to identify him as an otherwise unknown general serving the pharaoh. The invasion appears to have been an attempt to duplicate the attack of Shishak 30 years earlier (12:1–12), but the results against Asa were quite different.

14:10 valley of Zephathah. Marked the entrance to a road leading to the hills of Judah and Jerusalem. Mareshah. Earlier fortified by Rehoboam (11:8) to protect the route mentioned here.

14:13 Gerar. See note on Gen 20:1. plunder. Much of this booty (v. 14) made its way to the storehouses of the temple (15:18; see note on 1 Chr 18:1–20:8).

14:14 dread of the LORD. See note on 1 Chr 14:17.

The Prophet Azariah Warns Asa

15 Now [a]the Spirit of God came on Azariah the son of Oded,

2 and he went out [1]to meet Asa and said to him, "Listen to me, Asa, and all Judah and Benjamin: [a]the LORD is with you when you are with Him. And [b]if you seek Him, He will let you find Him; but if you forsake Him, He will forsake you.

3 "[a]For many days Israel was without the true God and without [b]a teaching priest and without law.

4 "But [a]in their distress they turned to the LORD God of Israel, and they sought Him, and He let them find Him.

5 "[a]In those times there was no peace to him who went out or to him who came in, for many disturbances [1]afflicted all the inhabitants of the lands.

6 "[a]Nation was crushed by nation, and city by city, for God troubled them with every kind of distress.

7 "But you, [a]be strong and do not [1]lose courage, for there is [b]reward for your work."

Asa's Reforms

8 Now when Asa heard these words and the [1]prophecy which Azariah the son of Oded the prophet spoke, he took courage and removed the abominable idols from all the land of Judah and Benjamin and from [a]the cities which he had captured in the hill country of Ephraim. [b]He then restored the altar of the LORD which was in front of the porch of the LORD.

9 He gathered all Judah and Benjamin and those from Ephraim, Manasseh and Simeon [a]who resided with them, for many defected to him from Israel when they saw that the LORD his God was with him.

10 So they assembled at Jerusalem in the third month of the fifteenth year of Asa's reign.

11 [a]They sacrificed to the LORD that day 700 oxen and 7,000 sheep from the spoil they had brought.

12 [a]They entered into the covenant to seek the LORD God of their fathers with all their heart and soul;

13 and whoever would not seek the LORD God of Israel [a]should be put to death, whether small or great, man or woman.

14 Moreover, they made an oath to the LORD with a loud voice, with shouting, with trumpets and with horns.

15 All Judah rejoiced concerning the oath, for they had sworn with their whole heart and had sought Him [1]earnestly, and He let them find Him. So [a]the LORD gave them rest on every side.

16 [a]He also removed Maacah, the mother of King Asa, from the position of queen mother, because she had made a horrid image [1]as [b]an Asherah, and [c]Asa cut down her horrid image, crushed it and burned it at the brook Kidron.

17 But the high places were not removed from Israel; nevertheless Asa's heart was blameless all his days.

18 He brought into the house of God the dedicated things of his father and his own dedicated things: silver and gold and utensils.

19 And there was no more war until the thirty-fifth year of Asa's reign.

Asa Wars against Baasha

16 In the thirty-sixth year of Asa's reign [a]Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah and [1]fortified Ramah in order to prevent anyone from going out or coming in to Asa king of Judah.

2 Then Asa brought out silver and gold

15:1–19 This chapter appears to recount a second stage in the reforms introduced by Asa, beginning with the victory over Zerah and encouraged by the preaching of Azariah (v. 1).

15:3 teaching priest. The duties of the priests were not only to officiate at the altar, but also to teach the law (see 17:7–9; Lev 10:11).

15:8 cities which he had captured in . . . Ephraim. A tacit admission that there had been some fighting between Baasha and Asa prior to Asa's 36th year (16:1); see 17:1.

15:9 many defected to him. Cf. the defection from the northern kingdom that also occurred under Rehoboam (11:13–17).

15:10 third month of the fifteenth year. Spring, 895 B.C., the year after Zerah's invasion (v. 19). The Feast of Weeks (or Pentecost) was held in the third month (Lev 23:15–21) and may have been the occasion for this assembly.

15:12 covenant. A renewal of the covenant made at Sinai, similar to the covenant renewals on the plain of Moab (Deut 29:1), at Mount Ebal (Josh 8:30–35), at Shechem (Josh 24:25) and at Gilgal (1 Sam 11:14; see note there). Later the priest Jehoiada (23:16), as well as Hezekiah (29:10) and Josiah (34:31), would also lead in renewals of the covenant—events of primary significance in the view of the Chronicler.

15:13 would not seek the LORD. Would turn to other gods. should be put to death. In accordance with basic covenant law (Ex 22:20; Deut 13:6–9).

15:15 rest. See note on 20:30.

15:16 Asherah. See note on 14:3.

15:17 high places were not removed. See 14:5 and note.

16:1 thirty-sixth year of Asa's reign Baasha. According to Kings, Baasha ruled for 24 years and was succeeded by Elah in the 26th year of Asa (1 Kin 15:33; 16:8). Obviously Baasha could not have been alive in the 36th year of Asa, where this passage places him—he had been dead for a decade. In order to solve this difficulty, some suggest that the Chronicler here and in 15:19 is dating from the schism in Israel rather than from the year number of Asa's reign: Since Rehoboam had reigned 17 years and Abijah 3, 20 years are deducted with the result that the 35th and 36th years of Asa are in fact the 15th and 16th years of his reign. This would make Baasha's attack come as a possible response to the defections from the northern kingdom (15:9). While this solution may be possible, it has not met with general acceptance. The action described here is not dated in 1 Kin 15:17. Perhaps the dates here and in 15:19 are the result of a copyist's error (possibly for an original 25th and 26th).

16:2–9 Hiring foreign troops brought Asa into a foreign alliance, which showed lack of trust in the Lord. Other examples from the treasuries of the house of the LORD and the king's house, and sent them to Ben-hadad king of Aram, who lived in Damascus, saying,

3 "Let there be a treaty between [1]you and me, as between my father and your father. Behold, I have sent you silver and gold; go, break your treaty with Baasha king of Israel so that he will withdraw from me."

4 So Ben-hadad listened to King Asa and sent the commanders of his armies against the cities of Israel, and they [1]conquered Ijon, Dan, Abel-maim and all [a]the [2]store cities of Naphtali.

5 When Baasha heard of it, he ceased [1]fortifying Ramah and stopped his work.

6 Then King Asa brought all Judah, and they carried away the stones of Ramah and its timber with which Baasha had been building, and with them he [1]fortified Geba and Mizpah.

Asa Imprisons the Prophet

7 At that time [a]Hanani the seer came to Asa king of Judah and said to him, "[b]Because you have relied on the king of Aram and have not relied on the LORD your God, therefore the army of the king of Aram has escaped out of your hand.

8 "Were not [a]the Ethiopians and the Lubim [b]an immense army with very many chariots and horsemen? Yet [c]because you relied on the LORD, He delivered them into your hand.

9 "For [a]the eyes of the LORD move to and fro throughout the earth that He may strongly support those [b]whose heart is completely His. You have acted foolishly in this. Indeed, from now on you will surely have wars."

10 Then Asa was angry with the seer and put him in [1]prison, for he was enraged at him for this. And Asa oppressed some of the people at the same time.

11 [a]Now, the acts of Asa from first to last, behold, they are written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel.

12 In the thirty-ninth year of his reign Asa became diseased in his feet. His disease was severe, yet even in his disease he [a]did not seek the LORD, but the physicians.

13 So Asa slept with his fathers, [1]having died in the forty-first year of his reign.

14 They buried him in his own tomb which he had cut out for himself in the city of David, and they laid him in the resting place which he had filled [a]with spices of various kinds blended by the perfumers' art; and [b]they made a very great fire for him.

Jehoshaphat Succeeds Asa

17 [a]Jehoshaphat his son then became king in his place, and made his position over Israel firm.

2 He placed troops in all [a]the fortified cities of Judah, and set garrisons in the land of Judah and in the cities of Ephraim [b]which Asa his father had captured.

His Good Reign

3 The LORD was with Jehoshaphat because he [1]followed the example of his father David's earlier days and did not seek the Baals,

4 but sought the God of his father, [1]followed His commandments, [a]and did not act as Israel did.

5 So the LORD established the kingdom in his [1]control, and all Judah brought tribute to Jehoshaphat, and [a]he had great riches and honor.

6 [1]He took great pride in the ways of the LORD and again [a]removed the high places and the Asherim from Judah.

7 Then in the third year of his reign he sent his officials, Ben-hail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel and Micaiah, [a]to teach in the cities of Judah;

8 and with them [a]the Levites, Shemaiah, Nethaniah, Zebadiah, Asahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah, Tobijah and Tobadonijah, the Levites; and with them Elishama and Jehoram, the priests.

9 They taught in Judah, having [a]the book of the law of the LORD with them; and they went throughout all the cities of Judah and taught among the people.

of condemned foreign alliances are found in the reigns of Jehoshaphat (20:35–37), Ahaziah (22:1–9) and Ahaz (28:16–21). By hiring Ben-hadad to the north, Asa opened a two-front war for Baasha and forced his withdrawal.

16:12 diseased in his feet. For other examples of disease as punishment for sin see 21:16–20; 26:16–23; Acts 12:23. Cf. 2 Kin 15:5.

17:1–21:3 The Chronicler's account of Jehoshaphat's reign is more than twice as long as that in Kings, where the interest in Ahab and Elijah overshadows the space allotted to Jehoshaphat (1 Kin 22:1–46). The Chronicler has also used Jehoshaphat's reign to emphasize immediate retribution. This theme is specifically announced in 19:10 and is illustrated in the blessing of Jehoshaphat's obedient faith and in the reproof for his wrongdoing (19:2–3; 20:35–37). Jehoshaphat reigned 872–848 B.C., from 872 to 869 likely as co-regent with his father Asa (see 20:31 and note). The details of his reign may not be in chronological order; the teaching mission of 17:7–9 may have been part of the reforms noted in 19:4–11.

17:2 cities of Judah . . . cities of Ephraim. See note on 15:8. Abijah (13:19), Asa (15:8) and now Jehoshaphat had managed to hold these cities; they would be lost under Amaziah (25:17–24).

17:6 removed the high places. Just as his father Asa had attempted to remove the high places, only to have them be restored (14:5; 15:17), so also Jehoshaphat removed them initially, only to have them revive and persist (20:33; cf. 1 Kin 22:43). But see notes on 1 Kin 3:2; 15:14. Asherim. See note on 14:3.

17:7–9 This incident may be part of the reform more fully detailed in 19:4–11. In the theocracy, the law of the Lord was supposed to be an integral part of the law of the land; the king and his officials, as well as the priests and prophets, were representatives of the Lord's kingship over His people.

17:7 third year. Perhaps the first year of his sole reign after a co-regency of three years with his father Asa (see 20:31 and note).

10 Now [a]the dread of the LORD was on all the kingdoms of the lands which were around Judah, so that they did not make war against Jehoshaphat.

11 Some of the Philistines [a]brought gifts and silver as tribute to Jehoshaphat; the Arabians also brought him flocks, 7,700 rams and 7,700 male goats.

12 So Jehoshaphat grew greater and greater, and he built fortresses and store cities in Judah.

13 He had large supplies in the cities of Judah, and warriors, valiant men, in Jerusalem.

14 This was their muster according to their fathers' households: of Judah, commanders of thousands, Adnah was the commander, and with him 300,000 valiant warriors;

15 and next to him was Johanan the commander, and with him 280,000;

16 and next to him Amasiah the son of Zichri, [a]who volunteered for the LORD, and with him 200,000 valiant warriors;

17 and of Benjamin, Eliada a valiant warrior, and with him 200,000 armed with bow and shield;

18 and next to him Jehozabad, and with him 180,000 equipped for war.

19 These are they who served the king, apart from [a]those whom the king put in the fortified cities through all Judah.

Jehoshaphat Allies with Ahab

18 Now [a]Jehoshaphat had great riches and honor; and he allied himself by marriage with Ahab.

2 [a]Some years later he went down to visit Ahab at Samaria. And Ahab slaughtered many sheep and oxen for him and the people who were with him, and induced him to go up against Ramoth-gilead.

3 Ahab king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, "Will you go with me against Ramoth-gilead?" And he said to him, "I am as you are, and my people as your people, and we will be with you in the battle."

4 Moreover, Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, "Please inquire [1]first for the word of the LORD."

5 Then the king of Israel assembled the prophets, four hundred men, and said to them, "Shall we go against Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall I refrain?" And they said, "Go up, for God will give it into the hand of the king."

6 But Jehoshaphat said, "Is there not yet a prophet of the LORD here that we may inquire of him?"

7 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "There is yet one man by whom we may inquire of the LORD, but I hate him, for he never prophesies good concerning me but always evil. He is Micaiah, son of Imla." But Jehoshaphat said, "Let not the king say so."

Ahab's False Prophets Assure Victory

8 Then the king of Israel called an officer and said, "[1]Bring quickly Micaiah, Imla's son."

9 Now the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah were sitting each on his throne, arrayed in their robes, and they were sitting [a]at the threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Samaria; and all the prophets were prophesying before them.

10 Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah made horns of iron for himself and said, "Thus says the LORD, 'With these you shall gore the Arameans until they are consumed.' "

11 All the prophets were prophesying thus, saying, "Go up to Ramoth-gilead and succeed, for the LORD will give it into the hand of the king."

Micaiah Brings Word from God

12 Then the messenger who went to summon Micaiah spoke to him saying, "Behold, the words of the prophets are uniformly favorable to the king. So please let your word be like one of them and speak favorably."

13 But Micaiah said, "As the LORD lives, [a]what my God says, that I will speak."

14 When he came to the king, the king said to him, "Micaiah, shall we go to Ramoth-gilead to battle, or shall I refrain?" He said, "Go up and succeed, for they will be given into your hand."

15 Then the king said to him, "How many times must I adjure you to speak to me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?"

16 So he said,

"I saw all Israel

18:1–19:3 See 1 Kin 22:1–40 and notes. To conform with his interest in the southern kingdom and Jehoshaphat, the Chronicler omits elaboration on the death of Ahab and his succession (1 Kin 22:36–40) and adds the material on the prophetic condemnation of Jehoshaphat's involvement (19:1–3).
18:1 Not found in 1 Kin 22. The verse enhances the status of Jehoshaphat by mentioning the blessing of wealth for his fidelity, and also sets the stage for an entangling foreign alliance condemned by the prophet in 19:2–3. allied himself by marriage with Ahab. This marriage alliance to Athaliah, daughter of Ahab, resulted later in an attempt to exterminate the Davidic line (22:10–23:21).
18:2 The Chronicler further enhances the status of Jehoshaphat by noting the large number of animals Ahab slaughtered in his honor, a note not found in 1 Kin 22. induced him. Also not found in the parallel text. The Hebrew for this verb is often used in the sense of inciting to evil (e.g., 1 Chr 21:1) and may express the Chronicler's attitude toward Jehoshaphat's involvement.
18:4 inquire first for the word of the LORD. This request fits the Chronicler's overall positive portrait of Jehoshaphat.

Scattered on the mountains,
[a]Like sheep which have no shepherd;
And the LORD said,
'These have no master.
Let each of them return to his house in peace.' "

17 Then the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not tell you that he would not prophesy good concerning me, but evil?"

18 Micaiah said, "Therefore, hear the word of the LORD. [a]I saw the LORD sitting on His throne, and all the host of heaven standing on His right and on His left.

19 "The LORD said, 'Who will entice Ahab king of Israel to go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead?' And one said this while another said that.

20 "Then a [a]spirit came forward and stood before the LORD and said, 'I will entice him.' And the LORD said to him, 'How?'

21 "He said, 'I will go and be [a]a deceiving spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' Then He said, 'You are to entice him and prevail also. Go and do so.'

22 "Now therefore, behold, [a]the LORD has put a deceiving spirit in the mouth of these your prophets, for the LORD has proclaimed disaster against you."

23 Then Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah came near and [a]struck Micaiah on the cheek and said, "[1]How did the Spirit of the LORD pass from me to speak to you?"

24 Micaiah said, "Behold, you will see on that day when you enter an inner room to hide yourself."

25 Then the king of Israel said, "[a]Take Micaiah and return him to Amon [b]the governor of the city and to Joash the king's son;

26 and say, 'Thus says the king, "[a]Put this man in prison and feed him [1]sparingly with bread and water until I return safely."' "

27 Micaiah said, "If you indeed return safely, the LORD has not spoken by me." And he said, "[a]Listen, all you people."

Ahab's Defeat and Death

28 So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah went up against Ramoth-gilead.

29 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "I will disguise myself and go into battle, but you put on your robes." So the king of Israel disguised himself, and they went into battle.

30 Now the king of Aram had commanded the captains of his chariots, saying, "Do not fight with small or great, but with the king of Israel alone."

31 So when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, they said, "It is the king of Israel," and they turned aside to fight against him. But Jehoshaphat [a]cried out, and the LORD helped him, and God diverted them from him.

32 When the captains of the chariots saw that it was not the king of Israel, they turned back from pursuing him.

33 A certain man drew his bow at random and struck the king of Israel [1]in a joint of the armor. So he said to the driver of the chariot, "Turn [2]around and take me out of the [3]fight, for I am severely wounded."

34 The battle raged that day, and the king of Israel propped himself up in his chariot in front of the Arameans until the evening; and at sunset he died.

Jehu Rebukes Jehoshaphat

19 Then Jehoshaphat the king of Judah returned in safety to his house in Jerusalem.

2 [a]Jehu the son of Hanani the seer went out to meet him and said to King Jehoshaphat, "[b]Should you help the wicked and love those who hate the LORD and [1c]so bring wrath on yourself from the LORD?

3 "But [1a]there is some good in you, for [b]you have removed the [2]Asheroth from the land and you [c]have set your heart to seek God."

4 So Jehoshaphat lived in Jerusalem and went out again among the people from Beersheba to the hill country of Ephraim and [a]brought them back to the LORD, the God of their fathers.

Reforms Instituted

5 He appointed [a]judges in the land in all the fortified cities of Judah, city by city.

6 He said to the judges, "Consider what you are doing, for [a]you do not judge for man but for the LORD who is with you [1]when you render judgment.

18:29 The fact that Ahab disguises himself while directing Jehoshaphat into battle in royal regalia, thus making Jehoshaphat the logical target for attack, is consistent with Israel's dominant position at this time.

18:31 the LORD helped him, and God diverted them from him. Not found in 1 Kin 22:32. However, some Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) manuscripts of Kings do contain the statement that "the LORD helped him," suggesting that the Chronicler was following a Hebrew text of Kings that had these words.

19:1–3 Not found in 1 Kin 22.

19:2 Should you help the wicked . . . ? Jehu's father Hanani had earlier given Jehoshaphat's father Asa the same warning (see 16:7–9). Jehoshaphat later committed the same sin again and suffered for it (20:35–37).

19:3 Asheroth. See note on 14:3.

19:4 Jehoshaphat . . . went . . . among the people. The king traveled throughout the realm personally to promote religious reformation.

19:5 appointed judges. The name Jehoshaphat (meaning "The LORD judges") is appropriate for the king who instituted this judicial reform. The arrangement of the courts under Jehoshaphat (vv. 5–11) would be of particular interest to the Chronicler's audience in the postexilic period, when the courts of the restored community would have their own existence and structure legitimized by this precedent.

19:6 Cf. Deut 16:18–20; 17:8–13.

7 "Now then let the fear of the LORD be upon you; [1]be very careful what you do, for [2]the LORD our God will [a]have no part in unrighteousness [b]or partiality or the taking of a bribe."

8 In Jerusalem also Jehoshaphat appointed some [a]of the Levites and priests, and some of the heads of the fathers' households of Israel, for the judgment of the LORD and to judge [1]disputes among the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

9 Then he charged them saying, "Thus you shall do in the fear of the LORD, faithfully and wholeheartedly.

10 "[a]Whenever any dispute comes to you from your brethren who live in their cities, between blood and blood, between law and commandment, statutes and ordinances, you shall warn them so that they may not be guilty before the LORD, and [b]wrath may not come on you and your brethren. Thus you shall do and you will not be guilty.

11 "Behold, Amariah the chief priest will be over you in [1][a]all that pertains to the LORD, and Zebadiah the son of Ishmael, the ruler of the house of Judah, in [1]all that pertains to the king. Also the Levites shall be officers before you. [2][b]Act resolutely, and the LORD be with the upright."

Judah Invaded

20 Now it came about after this that the sons of Moab and the sons of Ammon, together with some of the [1][a]Meunites, came to make war against Jehoshaphat.

2 Then some came and reported to Jehoshaphat, saying, "A great multitude is coming against you from beyond the sea, out of [1]Aram and behold, they are in [a]Hazazon-tamar (that is Engedi)."

3 Jehoshaphat was afraid and [1][a]turned his attention to seek the LORD, and [b]proclaimed a fast throughout all Judah.

4 So Judah gathered together to [a]seek help from the LORD; they even came from all the cities of Judah to seek the LORD.

Jehoshaphat's Prayer

5 Then Jehoshaphat stood in the assembly of Judah and Jerusalem, in the house of the LORD before the new court,

6 and he said, "O LORD, the God of our fathers, [a]are You not God in the heavens? And [b]are You not ruler over all the kingdoms of the nations? Power and might are in Your hand so that no one can stand against You.

7 "Did You not, O our God, drive out the inhabitants of this land before Your people Israel and [a]give it to the descendants of [b]Abraham Your friend forever?

8 "They have lived in it, and have built You a sanctuary there for Your name, saying,

9 '[a]Should evil come upon us, the sword, or judgment, or pestilence, or famine, we will stand before this house and before You (for [b]Your name is in this house) and cry to You in our distress, and You will hear and deliver us.'

10 "Now behold, [a]the sons of Ammon and Moab and [1]Mount Seir, [b]whom You did not let Israel invade when they came out of the land of Egypt (they turned aside from them and did not destroy them),

11 see how they are rewarding us by [a]coming to drive us out from Your possession which You have given us as an inheritance.

12 "O our God, [a]will You not judge them? For we are powerless before this great multitude who are coming against us; nor do we know what to do, but [b]our eyes are on You."

13 All Judah was standing before the LORD, with their infants, their wives and their children.

19:7 let the fear of the LORD be upon you. Let a terrifying sense of God's presence restrain you from any injustice (see note on 1 Chr 14:17).

19:8 Levites and priests . . . for the judgment of the LORD. See note on 1 Chr 26:29–32. One effect of this judicial reform appears to be the bringing of the traditional system of justice administered by the elders of the city under closer royal and priestly supervision.

19:11 all that pertains to the LORD . . . all that pertains to the king. This division into the affairs of religion and the affairs of the king reflects the postexilic structure of the Chronicler's day. Cf. the anointing of Solomon and Zadok (1 Chr 29:22) and the administration of the postexilic community by Zerubbabel, a Davidic descendant, and Joshua, the high priest (Zech 4:14; 6:9–15).

20:1–30 This episode held special interest for the Chronicler since the restored community was being harassed by the descendants of these same peoples (see Neh 2:19; 4:1–3,7–9; 6:1–4; 13). He uses it to encourage his contemporaries to trust in the Lord and His prophets, as Jehoshaphat son of David had exhorted (v. 20). The account is significantly structured. Apart from the outer frame, which highlights the reversal of circumstances (vv. 1–4,28–30), it falls into three divisions: (1) Jehoshaphat's prayer (vv. 5–13), (2) the Lord's response (vv. 14–19), (3) the great victory (vv. 20–27). At the center of each is its crucial statement, and these are all linked by a key word: v. 9, "we will stand before this house and before You"; v. 17, "stand and see the salvation of the LORD on your behalf"; v. 23, "The sons of Ammon and Moab rose up (lit. 'stood up') against the inhabitants of Mount Seir destroying them."

20:1 Meunites. A people from the region of Mount Seir in Edom (26:7; 1 Chr 4:41; cf. 2 Chr 20:10,22–23).

20:2 Aram. The Arameans are well to the north and not mentioned among the attackers named in v. 1, so "Edom" may be the correct reading (supported in some manuscripts). The difference between "Aram" and "Edom" in Hebrew is only one letter, which is very similar in shape and was often confused in the process of copying manuscripts.

20:5–12 Jehoshaphat's prayer shows him to be a true theocratic king, a worthy son of David and type (foreshadowing) of the awaited Messiah (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).

20:9 An apparent reference to Solomon's prayer and the divine promise of response (6:14–42; 7:12–22).

son of Zechariah, the son of Benaiah, the son of Jeiel, the son of Mattaniah, the Levite of the sons of Asaph;

15 and he said, "Listen, all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem and King Jehoshaphat: thus says the LORD to you, '[a]Do not fear or be dismayed because of this great multitude, for [b]the battle is not yours but God's.

16 'Tomorrow go down against them. Behold, they will come up by the ascent of Ziz, and you will find them at the end of the valley in front of the wilderness of Jeruel.

17 'You need not fight in this battle; station yourselves, [a]stand and see the salvation of the LORD on your behalf, O Judah and Jerusalem.' Do not fear or be dismayed; tomorrow go out to face them, [b]for the LORD is with you."

18 Jehoshaphat [a]bowed his head with his face to the ground, and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell down before the LORD, worshiping the LORD.

19 The Levites, from the sons of the Kohathites and of the sons of the Korahites, stood up to praise the LORD God of Israel, with a very loud voice.

Enemies Destroy Themselves

20 They rose early in the morning and went out to the wilderness of Tekoa; and when they went out, Jehoshaphat stood and said, "Listen to me, O Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem, [a]put your trust in the LORD your God and you will be established. Put your trust in His prophets and succeed."

21 When he had consulted with the people, he appointed those who sang to the LORD and those who [a]praised Him in holy attire, as they went out before the army and said, "[b]Give thanks to the LORD, for His lovingkindness is everlasting."

22 When they began singing and praising, the LORD [a]set ambushes against the sons of [b]Ammon, Moab and Mount Seir, who had come against Judah; so they were [1]routed.

23 For the sons of Ammon and Moab rose up against the inhabitants of Mount Seir destroying them completely; and when they had finished with the inhabitants of Seir, [a]they helped to destroy one another.

24 When Judah came to the lookout of the wilderness, they looked toward the multitude, and behold, they were corpses lying on the ground, and no one had escaped.

25 When Jehoshaphat and his people came to take their spoil, they found much among them, including goods, [1]garments and valuable things which they took for themselves, more than they could carry. And they were three days taking the spoil because there was so much.

Triumphant Return to Jerusalem

26 Then on the fourth day they assembled in the valley of Beracah, for there they blessed the LORD. Therefore they have named that place "The Valley of [1]Beracah" until today.

27 Every man of Judah and Jerusalem returned with Jehoshaphat at their head, returning to Jerusalem with joy, [a]for the LORD had made them to rejoice over their enemies.

28 They came to Jerusalem with harps, lyres and trumpets to the house of the LORD.

29 And [a]the dread of God was on all the kingdoms of the lands when they heard that the LORD had fought against the enemies of Israel.

30 So the kingdom of Jehoshaphat was at peace, [a]for his God gave him rest on all sides.

31 [a]Now Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah. He was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem twenty-five years. And his mother's name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

32 He walked in the way of his father Asa and did not depart from it, doing right in the sight of the LORD.

33 [a]The high places, however, were not removed; [b]the people had not yet directed their hearts to the God of their fathers.

34 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, first [1]to last, behold, they are written in the annals of [a]Jehu the son of Hanani, which is [2]recorded in the Book of the Kings of Israel.

20:20 put your trust in the LORD your God and . . . in His prophets. A particularly apt word for the Chronicler's contemporaries to hear from this son of David—at a time when their only hope for the future lay with the Lord and the reassuring words of His prophets.
20:21 in holy attire. See note on Ps 29:2.

20:31 twenty-five years. Kings reports 22 (18 in 2 Kin 3:1, and 4 more in 8:16). These figures are reconciled by suggesting a co-regency with his father Asa for three years, probably due to the severity of his father's illness and the need to arrange for a secure succession (16:10–14). The author of Kings speaks only of his years of sole reign after his father's death.

20:34 Jehu the son of Hanani. See note on 19:2.

Alliance Displeases God

35 [a]After this Jehoshaphat king of Judah allied himself with Ahaziah king of Israel. He acted wickedly [1]in so doing.

36 So he allied himself with him to make ships to go [a]to Tarshish, and they made the ships in Ezion-geber.

37 Then Eliezer the son of Dodavahu of Mareshah prophesied against Jehoshaphat saying, "Because you have allied yourself with Ahaziah, the LORD has destroyed your works." So the ships were broken and could not go to Tarshish.

Jehoram Succeeds Jehoshaphat in Judah

21 [a]Then Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David, and Jehoram his son became king in his place.

2 He had brothers, the sons of Jehoshaphat: Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, [1]Azaryahu, Michael and Shephatiah. All these were the sons of Jehoshaphat king [a]of Israel.

3 Their father gave them many gifts of silver, gold and precious things, [a]with fortified cities in Judah, but he gave the kingdom to Jehoram because he was the firstborn.

4 Now when Jehoram had [1]taken over the kingdom of his father and made himself [2]secure, he [a]killed all his brothers with the sword, and some of the rulers of Israel also.

5 [a]Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

6 [a]He walked in the way of the kings of Israel, just as the house of Ahab did ([b]for Ahab's daughter was his wife), and he did evil in the sight of the LORD.

Revolt against Judah

8 In his days [a]Edom revolted [1]against the rule of Judah and set up a king over themselves.

9 Then Jehoram crossed over with his commanders and all his chariots with him. And he arose by night and struck down the Edomites who were surrounding him and the commanders of the chariots.

10 So Edom revolted [1]against Judah to this day. Then Libnah revolted at the same time [2]against his rule, because he had forsaken the LORD God of his fathers.

11 Moreover, [a]he made high places in the mountains of Judah, and caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem [b]to play the harlot and led Judah astray.

12 Then a letter came to him from Elijah the prophet saying, "Thus says the LORD God of your father David, 'Because [a]you have not walked in the ways of Jehoshaphat your father [b]and the ways of Asa king of Judah,

13 but [a]have walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and have caused Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to play the harlot [b]as the house of Ahab played the harlot, and you [c]have also killed your brothers, [1]your own family, who were better than you,

20:35–37 See 1 Kin 22:48–49. The lucrative maritime trade through the Gulf of Aqaba no doubt tempted Jehoshaphat to enter into this improper alliance (see 19:2 and note). Solomon's earlier alliance for the same purpose had been with a non-Israelite king (8:17–18).

20:35 Ahaziah. Reigned 853–852 B.C. (see 1 Kin 22:51–2 Kin 1:18 for the account of his reign).

21:2 sons of Jehoshaphat. The Chronicler shows the blessing of God on Jehoshaphat by mentioning his large family, particularly his seven sons (see 11:18–22; 1 Chr 25:5 and notes). Jehoshaphat's large number of sons is in striking contrast to the wicked Jehoram who, after murdering his brothers (v. 4), is left with but one son (v. 17). Jehoram's wife Athaliah would later perform a similar slaughter (22:10).

21:3 Cf. the similar actions of Rehoboam (11:23).

21:4–20 See 2 Kin 8:16–24.

21:4 This bloody assassination of all potential rivals is not reported in Kings, but it fits the pattern of the northern kings (see v. 6). The princes of Israel were probably leading men in the southern kingdom who opposed having a king married to a daughter of Ahab. For this use of "Israel" see note on 12:1.

21:5 eight years. 848–841 B.C. The period 853–848 was probably a co-regency of Jehoram with his father Jehoshaphat—Jehoshaphat's 18th year was also Jehoram's second year (cf. 2 Kin 1:17; 3:1).

21:6 Ahab's daughter was his wife. Probably the marriage referred to in 18:1, used to cement the alliance between Jehoshaphat and Ahab. Such political marriages were common. Many of Solomon's marriages sealed international relationships, as did Ahab's marriage to Jezebel.

21:8–10 The pious Jehoshaphat had enjoyed victory over Edom (20:1–30), while the wicked Jehoram is defeated in his attempt to keep Edom in subjection to Judah (see note on 20:30).

21:10 To this day. See note on 5:9. Libnah. Located between Judah and Philistia. because he had forsaken the LORD. Not found in 2 Kin 8:22. The Chronicler introduces this judgment as an indication of immediate retribution (see notes on 12:1–14; 12:2; see also Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).

21:12–20a Not found in the parallel text in 2 Kin 8.

21:12–15 This reference to a letter from Elijah is the only mention in Chronicles of that prophet, to whom the books of Kings give so much attention (1 Kin 17–2 Kin 2). Elijah's letter specifically announces the immediate consequences of Jehoram's disobedience—further defeat in war, which will cost Jehoram his wives and sons; and disease, which will lead to his death (see note on 16:12). Cf. also the foot disease of Asa (16:12–14) and the leprosy of Uzziah (26:16–23). Kings does not mention the nature of Jehoram's death. Some have argued that this letter could not be authentic because, they claim, Elijah was taken to heaven before Jehoram became king. But this is not a necescome out because of the sickness, day by day.' "

16 Then [a]the LORD stirred up against Jehoram the spirit of the Philistines and [b]the Arabs who [1]bordered the Ethiopians;

17 and they came against Judah and invaded it, and carried away all the possessions found in the king's house together with his sons and his wives, so that no son was left to him except [1][a]Jehoahaz, the youngest of his sons.

18 So after all this the LORD smote him [a]in his bowels with an incurable sickness.

19 Now it came about in the course of time, at the end of two years, that his bowels came out because of his sickness and he died in great pain. And his people made no fire for him like [a]the fire for his fathers.

20 He was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eight years; and he departed [1][a]with no one's regret, and they buried him in the city of David, [b]but not in the tombs of the kings.

Ahaziah Succeeds Jehoram in Judah

22 [a]Then the inhabitants of Jerusalem made [1]Ahaziah, his youngest son, king in his place, for the band of men who came with [b]the Arabs to the camp had slain all the older sons. So Ahaziah the son of Jehoram king of Judah began to reign.

2 Ahaziah was [1]twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Athaliah, the [2]granddaughter of Omri.

3 He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab, for his mother was his counselor to do wickedly.

4 He did evil in the sight of the LORD like the house of Ahab, for they were his counselors after the death of his father, to [a]his destruction.

Ahaziah Allies with Jehoram of Israel

5 He also walked according to their counsel, and went with Jehoram the son of Ahab king of Israel to wage war against Hazael king of Aram at Ramoth-gilead. But the [1][a]Arameans [2]wounded [3]Joram.

6 So he returned to be healed in Jezreel of the wounds [1]which they had inflicted on him at Ramah, when he fought against Hazael king of Aram. And [2]Ahaziah, the son of Jehoram king of Judah, went down to see Jehoram the son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he was sick.

7 Now [a]the destruction of Ahaziah was from God, in that [1]he went to Joram. For when he came, [b]he went out with Jehoram against Jehu the son of Nimshi, [c]whom the LORD had anointed to cut off the house of Ahab.

Jehu Murders Princes of Judah

8 [a]It came about when Jehu was executing judgment on the house of Ahab, he found the princes of Judah and the sons of Ahaziah's brothers ministering to Ahaziah, and slew them.

21:16 Ethiopians. Lit. "Cushites," people from the upper Nile region.

21:20 eight years. See note on v. 5. This is the first time that the Chronicler does not refer his readers to other sources for additional details on the reign of a king. not in the tombs of the kings. Only the Chronicler mentions the refusal of the people to accord Jehoram the customary burial honors of a tomb with the other kings of Judah (cf. 24:25).

22:1–9 The Chronicler's account of Ahaziah's reign is much shorter than the parallel in 2 Kin 8:24–9:29, probably due to the fact that the Kings account focuses on the rebellion of Jehu and the downfall of the dynasty of Omri (see 2 Kin 8:26; see also 1 Kin 16:21–28)—events in the northern kingdom, in which the Chronicler is not interested. The Chronicler's account again shows his interest in immediate retribution: Ahaziah's personal wickedness and his involvement in a foreign alliance result in immediate judgment and a reign of only one year (see note on 16:2–9; see also Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).

22:1 had slain all the older sons. Emphasizes divine retribution: Jehoram, who murdered all his brothers, had to watch the death of his own sons (21:4,13,16–17).

22:2 twenty-two. See NASB marg. The Hebrew reading of "42" would make Ahaziah older than his father (21:20). one year. 841 B.C.

22:3–4 The great influence of the dynasty of Omri in Judah is indicated by the power of Athaliah and the presence of advisers from the northern kingdom (see note on 18:29).

22:5 went with Jehoram . . . to wage war. An action similar to that for which Jehoshaphat had been rebuked (see 19:2 and note). Hazael. Had been anointed by Elisha; he later killed his master in a coup to seize the throne (2 Kin 8:13–15; cf. 1 Kin 19:15 and note). Ramoth-gilead. Located in the Transjordan border area between Israel and Aram. More than ten years earlier Jehoshaphat had participated with Ahab in a battle there that cost Ahab his life (ch. 18; 1 Kin 22).

22:6 returned to . . . Jezreel. Jehoram apparently recovered Ramoth-gilead and left Jehu in charge (2 Kin 8:28–9:28).

22:7 destruction of Ahaziah was from God. The Chronicler assumes that the reader is familiar with the account of Jehu's anointing and the additional details of the coup, which resulted in the deaths of Jehoram and Ahaziah (2 Kin 8:28–9:28). While the writer of Kings primarily portrays the end of the dynasty of Omri as a result of the judgment of God (1 Kin 21:20–29; 2 Kin 9:24–10:17), the Chronicler notes that the assassination of Ahaziah was also brought about by God.

22:9 The account of Ahaziah's death appears to be somewhat different in the two histories (cf. 2 Kin 9:21–27; 10:12–14). Since the writer of Chronicles presumes the reader's familiarity with the other account (see note on v. 7), it is best to take the details of Chronicles as supplementary to Kings, not contradictory, though it is difficult to know the precise sequence and location of events. Apart from the Chronicler's statement that Ahaziah received a decent burial because of his father's piety rather than his own, the apparent differences in the two accounts do not appear to be theologically motivated. There is no summary statement about the reign of Ahaziah in either history.

[b]and buried him. For they said, "He is the son of Jehoshaphat, [c]who sought the LORD with all his heart." So there was no one of the house of Ahaziah to retain the power of the kingdom.

10 [a]Now when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she rose and destroyed all the royal [1]offspring of the house of Judah.

11 But Jehoshabeath the king's daughter took Joash the son of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the king's sons who were being put to death, and placed him and his nurse in the bedroom. So Jehoshabeath, the daughter of King Jehoram, the wife of Jehoiada the priest (for she was the sister of Ahaziah), hid him from Athaliah so that she would not put him to death.

12 He was hidden with them in the house of God six years while Athaliah reigned over the land.

Jehoiada Sets Joash on the Throne of Judah

23 [a]Now in the seventh year Jehoiada strengthened himself, and took captains of hundreds: Azariah the son of Jeroham, Ishmael the son of Johanan, Azariah the son of Obed, Maaseiah the son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the son of Zichri, and they entered into a covenant with him.

2 They went throughout Judah and gathered the Levites from all the cities of Judah, and the heads of the fathers' households of [a]Israel, and they came to Jerusalem.

3 Then all the assembly made a covenant with the king in the house of God. And [1]Jehoiada said to them, "Behold, the king's son shall reign, [a]as the LORD has spoken concerning the sons of David.

4 "This is the thing which you shall do: one third of you, of the priests and Levites [a]who come in on the sabbath, shall be gatekeepers,

5 and one third shall be at the king's house, and a third at the Gate of the Foundation; and all the people shall be in the courts of the house of the LORD.

6 "But let no one enter the house of the LORD except the priests and [a]the ministering Levites; they may enter, for they are holy. And let all the people keep the charge of the LORD.

7 "The Levites will surround the king, each man with his weapons in his hand; and whoever enters the house, let him be killed. Thus be with the king when he comes in and when he goes out."

8 So the Levites and all Judah did according to all that Jehoiada the priest commanded. And each one of them took his men who were to come in on the sabbath, with those who were to go out on the sabbath, for Jehoiada the priest did not dismiss any of [a]the divisions.

9 Then Jehoiada the priest gave to the captains of hundreds the spears and the large and small shields which had been King David's, which were in the house of God.

10 He stationed all the people, each man with his weapon in his hand, from the right [1]side of the house to the left [1]side of the house, by the altar and by the house, around the king.

11 Then they brought out the king's son and put the crown on him, and gave him [a]the testimony and made him king. And Jehoiada and his sons anointed him and said, "[b]Long live the king!"

Athaliah Murdered

12 When Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, she came into the house of the LORD to the people.

22:10–12 See 2 Kin 11:1–3. In the history of Judah, Athaliah represents the only break in the continuity of the Davidic dynasty; she is the only queen of Judah to rule in her own name (841–835 B.C.). Her attempt to wipe out the royal family repeated the action of her husband Jehoram (21:4). It threatened the continuity of the Davidic dynasty, and if she had succeeded, Judah may have been claimed by the dynasty of Omri in the north since Athaliah was from that dynasty and had no living son and heir.

22:11 wife of Jehoiada the priest. Not noted in Kings.

23:1–24:27 See 2 Kin 11:4–12:21 and notes. The Chronicler divides the reign of Joash (835–796 B.C.) into three parts: (1) the recovery of the throne for the house of David (ch. 23); (2) Joash and Jehoiada—the good years (24:1–16); (3) Joash alone—the bad years (24:17–27). The last section is largely unique to Chronicles and further develops the theme of immediate retribution: Once again chronological notes provide the framework for cycles of obedience and disobedience (24:15–17,23); see notes on 12:2; 14:2–16:14.

23:1–21 See 2 Kin 11:4–20. The Chronicler has followed his source rather closely but has introduced material reflecting his own concerns in three areas: 1. The account in Kings has more to say about the participation of the military in the coup; the Chronicler adds material emphasizing the presence of temple officials and their role (vv. 2,6,8,13,18–19). 2. The Chronicler stresses the widespread popular support for the coup by mentioning the presence of large groups of people, such as "all the people" or "the whole assembly" (vv. 3,5–6,8,10,16–17). 3. The Chronicler shows additional concern for the sanctity of the temple area by inserting notes showing the steps taken to ensure that only qualified personnel enter the temple precincts (vv. 5–6,19).

23:1 Azariah . . . Elishaphat. The Chronicler names the commanders, which was not done in Kings, but he does not mention the Carites, mercenaries who served as a royal guard (see note on 2 Kin 11:4). Verse 20 exhibits the same omission (cf. 2 Kin 11:19), the motive for which may have been the Chronicler's concern that only authorized persons enter the temple precincts.

23:2 the Levites . . . and the heads of the . . . households of Israel. Reflects both the Chronicler's concerns with the temple personnel and the widespread support for the coup against Athaliah.

23:3 as the LORD has spoken. See 2 Sam 7:11–16.

23:11 the testimony. May refer to the covenant sworn by the assembly (vv. 1,3; cf. v. 16) or to the law of God, by which the king was to rule (see Deut 17:18–20). See note on 2 Kin 11:12.

13 She looked, and behold, the king was standing by his pillar at the entrance, and the captains and the [1]trumpeters were beside the king. And all the people of the land rejoiced and blew trumpets, the singers with their musical instruments [2]leading the praise. Then Athaliah tore her clothes and said, "Treason! Treason!"

14 Jehoiada the priest brought out the captains of hundreds who were appointed over the army and said to them, "Bring her out [1]between the ranks; and whoever follows her, put to death with the sword." For the priest said, "Let her not be put to death in the house of the LORD."

15 So they [1]seized her, and when she arrived at the entrance of [a]the Horse Gate of the king's house, they [b]put her to death there.

Reforms Carried Out

16 Then [a]Jehoiada made a covenant between himself and all the people and the king, that they would be the LORD's people.

17 And all the people went to the house of Baal and tore it down, and they broke in pieces his altars and his images, and [a]killed Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars.

18 Moreover, Jehoiada placed the offices of the house of the LORD under the [1]authority of [a]the Levitical priests, [b]whom David had assigned over the house of the LORD, to offer the burnt offerings of the LORD, as it is written in the law of Moses—[c]with rejoicing and singing according to the [2]order of David.

19 He stationed [a]the gatekeepers of the house of the LORD, so that no one would enter who was in any way unclean.

20 [a]He took the captains of hundreds, the nobles, the rulers of the people and all the people of the land, and brought the king down from the house of the LORD, and came through the upper gate to the king's house. And they placed the king upon the royal throne.

21 So [a]all of the people of the land rejoiced and the city was quiet. For they had put Athaliah to death with the sword.

Young Joash Influenced by Jehoiada

24 [a]Joash was seven years old when he became king, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was Zibiah from Beersheba.

2 [a]Joash did what was right in the sight of the LORD all the days of Jehoiada the priest.

3 Jehoiada took two wives for him, and he became the father of sons and daughters.

Faithless Priests

4 Now it came about after this that Joash [1]decided [a]to restore the house of the LORD.

5 He gathered the priests and Levites and said to them, "Go out to the cities of Judah and collect money from all [a]Israel to [1]repair the house of your God [2]annually, and you shall do the matter quickly." But the Levites did not act quickly.

6 So the king summoned Jehoiada the chief priest and said to him, "Why have you not required the Levites to bring in from Judah and from Jerusalem [a]the levy fixed by Moses the servant of the LORD on the congregation of Israel [b]for the tent of the testimony?"

7 For [a]the sons of the wicked Athaliah had broken into the house of God and even [1]used the holy things of the house of the LORD for the Baals.

Temple Repaired

8 So the king commanded, and [a]they made a chest and set it outside by the gate of the house of the LORD.

9 [a]They made a proclamation in Judah and Jerusalem to bring to the LORD [b]the levy fixed by Moses the servant of God on Israel in the wilderness.

10 All the officers and all the people rejoiced and brought in their levies and [1]dropped them into the chest until they had finished.

11 It came about whenever the chest was brought in to the king's officer by the Levites, and when [a]they saw that there was much money, then the king's scribe and the chief priest's officer would come, empty the 24:2 Provides the outline for the Chronicler's treatment of Joash—the good years while Jehoiada was alive (vv. 1–16), and the turn to evil after his death (vv. 17–27). See note on 25:2.

24:3 Another expression of the Chronicler's conviction that large families represent the blessing of God (see v. 27; see also note on 1 Chr 25:5).
24:4 restore the house of the LORD. The vandalism and atrocities of Athaliah (v. 7) required the refurbishing of the temple.
24:5 The writer of 2 Kings speaks of three different sources of revenue (2 Kin 12:4–5), whereas the Chronicler mentions only the census tax (see Ex 30:14; 38:26; Matt 17:24). The reason for the tardiness of the priests is not stated (see 2 Kin 12:6–8). The writer of Kings notes that the audience with the priests takes place in the 23rd year of Joash's reign, when he is presumably no longer the ward of Jehoiada. Resistance on the part of the priests to the reassignment of the temple revenues for repair work may be the underlying cause.
24:8 chest. Mesopotamian texts speak of a similar offering box placed in temples. Representatives of both the king and the temple officials administered temple revenues (see note on 1 Chr 26:20).

chest, take it, and return it to its place. Thus they did daily and collected much money.

12 The king and Jehoiada gave it to those who did the work of the service of the house of the LORD; and they hired masons and carpenters to restore the house of the LORD, and also workers in iron and bronze to [1]repair the house of the LORD.

13 So the workmen labored, and the repair work progressed in their hands, and they [1]restored the house of God [2]according to its specifications and strengthened it.

14 When they had finished, they brought the rest of the money before the king and Jehoiada; and it was made into utensils for the house of the LORD, utensils for the service and the burnt offering, and pans and utensils of gold and silver. And they offered burnt offerings in the house of the LORD continually all the days of Jehoiada.

15 Now when Jehoiada [1]reached a ripe old age he died; he was one hundred and thirty years old at his death.

16 They buried him [a]in the city of David among the kings, because he had done well in [b]Israel and [1]to God and His house.

17 But after the death of Jehoiada the officials of Judah came and bowed down to the king, and the king listened to them.

18 They abandoned [a]the house of the LORD, the God of their fathers, and [b]served the [1]Asherim and the idols; so [c]wrath came upon Judah and Jerusalem for this their guilt.

19 Yet [a]He sent prophets to them to bring them back to the LORD; though they testified against them, they would not listen.

Joash Murders Son of Jehoiada

20 [a]Then the Spirit of God [1]came on Zechariah the son of Jehoiada the priest; and he stood above the people and said to them, "Thus God has said, '[b]Why do you transgress the commandments of the LORD and do not prosper? [c]Because you have forsaken the LORD, He has also forsaken you.' "

21 So [a]they conspired against him and at the command of the king they stoned him [1]to death in the court of the house of the LORD.

22 Thus Joash the king did not remember the kindness which his father Jehoiada had shown him, but he murdered his son. And as he died he said, "May [a]the LORD see and [1]avenge!"

Aram Invades and Defeats Judah

23 Now it happened at the turn of the year that [a]the army of the Arameans came up against him; and they came to Judah and Jerusalem, destroyed all the officials of the people from among the people, and sent all their spoil to the king of Damascus.

24 Indeed the army of the Arameans came with a small number of men; yet [a]the LORD delivered a very great army into their hands, [b]because they had forsaken the LORD, the God of their fathers. Thus they executed judgment on Joash.

25 [a]When they had departed from him (for they left him very sick), his own servants conspired against him because of the blood of the [1]son of Jehoiada the priest, and murdered him on his bed. So he died, and they buried him in the city of David, but they did not bury him in the tombs of the kings.

26 Now these are those who conspired against him: Zabad the son of Shimeath the Ammonitess, and Jehozabad the son of Shimrith the Moabitess.

27 As to his sons and the many [1]oracles against him and [a]the [2]rebuilding of the house of God, behold, they are written in the [3][b]treatise of the Book of the Kings. Then Amaziah his son became king in his place.

Amaziah Succeeds Joash in Judah

24:15–22 This section is unique to the Chronicler and shows his emphasis on immediate retribution (see note on 23:1–24:27). After a period of righteous rule until the death of Jehoiada, Joash turns to idolatry and murders Jehoiada's son. In the following year he is invaded and defeated by Aram because Judah, under his leadership, "had forsaken the LORD" (v. 24).

24:18,20,24 abandoned . . . forsaken . . . forsaken . . . forsaken. The Hebrew word is the same in these verses; it is a verb frequently used by the Chronicler to denote the reason for divine punishment (see note on 12:1; see also 7:19,22; 12:5; 13:10–11; 15:2; 21:10; 24:18,20,24; 28:6; 29:6; 34:25; 1 Chr 28:9,20).

24:19 Yet He sent prophets. Israel's failure to heed the Lord's prophets ultimately led to her destruction (see 36:16; cf. 20:20; see also Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes).

24:20 Zechariah. See note on Matt 23:35.

24:24 small number of men. Just as God had helped the small army of Judah against overwhelming odds when the king and people were faithful to Him (14:8–9; 20:2,12), so now in their unfaithfulness they are defeated by a much smaller force of invaders (see note on 20:30).

24:25 servants . . . because of the blood of the son . . . murdered him. Only the Chronicler mentions that this assassination was revenge for the murder of Zechariah. did not bury him in the tombs of the kings. Burial in the tombs of the kings was an honor accorded to Jehoiada (v. 16), but withheld from his rebellious ward Joash (see note on 21:20).

24:26 the Ammonitess. . . the Moabitess. Information not given in Kings but important to the Chronicler (see note on 20:1–30).

25:1–28 Typically, the Chronicler has divided the reign of Amaziah into two parts: (1) the good years, marked by obedience, divine blessing and victory (vv. 1–13), and (2) the bad years of idolatry, defeat and regicide (vv. 14–28). See 2 Kin 14:1–20 and notes.

25:1 twenty-nine years. 796–767 B.C.

2 He did right in the sight of the LORD, [a]yet not with a whole heart.

3 Now [a]it came about as soon as the kingdom was [1]firmly in his grasp, that he killed his servants who had slain his father the king.

4 However, he did not put their children to death, but did as it is written in the law in the book of Moses, which the LORD commanded, saying, "[a]Fathers shall not be put to death for sons, nor sons be put to death for fathers, but each shall be put to death for his own sin."

Amaziah Defeats Edomites

5 Moreover, Amaziah assembled Judah and appointed them according to their fathers' households under commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds throughout Judah and Benjamin; and he [1]took a census of those [a]from twenty years old and upward and found them to be [b]300,000 choice men, able to go to war and handle spear and shield.

6 He hired also 100,000 valiant warriors out of Israel for one hundred talents of silver.

7 But [a]a man of God came to him saying, "O king, do not let the army of Israel go with you, for the LORD is not with Israel nor with any of the sons of Ephraim.

8 "But if you do go, do it, be strong for the battle; yet God will [1]bring you down before the enemy, [a]for God has power to help and to [1]bring down."

9 Amaziah said to the man of God, "But what shall we do for the hundred talents which I have given to the troops of Israel?" And the man of God answered, "[a]The LORD has much more to give you than this."

10 Then Amaziah [1]dismissed them, the troops which came to him from Ephraim, to go home; so their anger burned against Judah and they returned [2]home in fierce anger.

11 Now Amaziah strengthened himself and led his people forth, and went to [a]the Valley of Salt and struck down 10,000 of the sons of Seir.

12 The sons of Judah also captured 10,000 alive and brought them to the top of the cliff and threw them down from the top of the cliff, so that they were all dashed to pieces.

13 But the [1]troops whom Amaziah sent back from going with him to battle, raided the cities of Judah, from Samaria to Bethhoron, and struck down 3,000 of them and plundered much spoil.

Amaziah Rebuked for Idolatry

14 Now after Amaziah came from slaughtering the Edomites, [a]he brought the gods of the sons of Seir, set them up as his gods, bowed down before them and burned incense to them.

15 Then the anger of the LORD burned against Amaziah, and He sent him a prophet who said to him, "Why have you sought the gods of the people [a]who have not delivered their own people from your hand?"

16 As he was talking with him, [1]the king said to him, "Have we appointed you a royal counselor? Stop! Why should you be struck down?" Then the prophet stopped and said, "I know that God has planned to destroy you, because you have done this and have not listened to my counsel."

Amaziah Defeated by Joash of Israel

17 [a]Then Amaziah king of Judah took counsel and sent to Joash the son of Jehoahaz the son of Jehu, the king of Israel, saying, "Come, let us face each other."

18 Joash the king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, "[a]The thorn bush which was in Lebanon sent to the cedar which was in Lebanon, saying, 'Give your daughter to my son in marriage.' But there passed by a wild beast that was in Lebanon and trampled the thorn bush.

19 "You said, 'Behold, you have [1]defeated Edom.' And [a]your heart has [2]become proud in boasting. Now stay at home; for why should you provoke trouble so that you, even you, would fall and Judah with you?"

25:2 The Chronicler does not indicate that Amaziah failed to remove the high places, which continued to be used as places for sacrifice by the people (see 2 Kin 14:4). Also compare 24:2 with 2 Kin 12:4, and 26:4 with 2 Kin 15:4. The writer appears to be motivated by his outline, which covered the good years first and then the reversion to evil. Negative comments about these kings are held to the second half of the account of their reigns, whereas in Kings the summary judgment about their reigns and the high places is given immediately.

25:5–16 An expansion of 2 Kin 14:7. The author of Kings mentions the successful war with Edom only as a prelude to Amaziah's challenge to Joash, but the Chronicler sets it in the framework of his emphasis on immediate retribution: Obedience brings victory over Edom, while the subsequent idolatry (vv. 14–16) brings defeat in the campaign against Israel. By expanding his account the Chronicler gives the theological reason for both the victory over Edom and the defeat before Israel.

25:7 do not let the army of Israel go with you. Another instance of the Chronicler's condemnation of alliances that imply lack of trust in the Lord (see notes on 16:2–9; 22:5). Cf. other prophetic speeches that call on the people to trust in God (20:15–17,20; 32:7–8).

25:13 This may be the inciting incident for the later war with the north. Samaria. A town by this name in the southern kingdom is not otherwise known. The reference may be a copyist's error.

25:14–25 The Chronicler's account of the war with the north is close to the parallel in 2 Kin 14:8–14, except for some additions in line with his theme of immediate retribution. The Chronicler mentions Amaziah's foolish idolatry and the prophetic speech of judgment, neither of which is found in Kings. He also adds notes in vv. 20,27 to emphasize that the idolatry of Amaziah was being punished.

25:18 Cf. the parable in Judg 9:7–15.

into the hand of Joash because they had sought the gods of Edom.

21 So Joash king of Israel went up, and he and Amaziah king of Judah faced each other at Beth-shemesh, which belonged to Judah.

22 Judah was defeated [1]by Israel, and they fled each to his tent.

23 Then Joash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Joash the son of [a]Jehoahaz, at Beth-shemesh, and brought him to Jerusalem and tore down the wall of Jerusalem from the Gate of Ephraim to the Corner Gate, 400 [1]cubits.

24 He took all the gold and silver and all the utensils which were found in the house of God with [a]Obed-edom, and the treasures of the king's house, the hostages also, and returned to Samaria.

25 [a]And Amaziah, the son of Joash king of Judah, lived fifteen years after the death of Joash, son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel.

26 Now the rest of the acts of Amaziah, from first to last, behold, are they not written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel?

27 From the time that Amaziah turned away from following the LORD they conspired against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to Lachish; but they sent after him to Lachish and killed him there.

28 Then they brought him on horses and buried him with his fathers in the city of Judah.

Uzziah Succeeds in War

6 Now he went out and [a]warred against the Philistines, and broke down the wall of Gath and the wall of Jabneh and the wall of Ashdod; and he built cities in the area of Ashdod and among the Philistines.

7 [a]God helped him against the Philistines, and against the Arabians who lived in Gur-baal, and the Meunites.

25:27 See note on vv. 14–25.

26:1–23 See 2 Kin 15:1–7 and notes. The Chronicler has characteristically divided his account of Uzziah's reign into two parts: the good years, then the bad; cf. his treatment of Uzziah's father Amaziah and his grandfather Joash (see notes on 24:2; 25:1–28). The Chronicler elaborates on the blessings and divine help that flowed from Uzziah's obedience and fidelity (vv. 4–15), whereas the author of Kings only alludes to his fidelity (2 Kin 15:3). Where Kings only mentions Uzziah's leprosy (2 Kin 15:5), the Chronicler gives additional details to show that the disease was a result of unfaithfulness (vv. 16–21). Under Uzziah and his contemporary in the north, Jeroboam II, the borders of Israel and Judah briefly reached the extent they had attained under David and Solomon (vv. 6–8; 2 Kin 14:25). In part, this flourishing of the two kingdoms was facilitated by the removal of the Aramean threat by Assyria under Adadnirari III (802 B.C.), following which Assyria herself went into a period of weakness.

26:1 Uzziah. Also called Azariah (see, e.g., 2 Kin 15:6–7; 1 Chr 3:12). It is likely that Uzziah was a throne name, while Azariah was his personal name.

26:3 fifty-two years. 792–740 B.C., including a co-regency with Amaziah from 792 to 767.

26:4 The Chronicler has constructed his account of Uzziah's reign to give it the same outline as that for Amaziah and Joash (see note on vv. 1–23). He has also once again bypassed the statement in the parallel account that the king did not remove the high places (2 Kin 15:4), just as he did in the accounts of the other two kings (see note on 25:2).

26:5 days of Zechariah. The author again uses chronological notes to portray the cycles of blessing and judgment associated with the individual king's response to God's commands (see note on 12:2).

26:6–8 Uzziah's conquests were toward the southeast and the southwest; Israel's powerful Jeroboam II was in control to the north of Judah.

26:7 Meunites. See note on 20:1.

26:9 Corner Gate . . . Valley Gate. Found at the northeast and southwest portions of the walls. fortified. This construction along the wall of Jerusalem may reflect, in part, repair of the damage done by Joash during the reign of Amaziah (25:23).

26:10 towers . . . cisterns. Towers and cisterns have been found in several excavations (Qumran, Gibeah, Beersheba). A seal bearing Uzziah's name has been found in a cistern at Tell Beit Mirsim.

26:11 Uzziah had an army ready for battle. Tiglath-pileser III of Assyria states that he was opposed in his advance toward the west (743 B.C.) by a coalition headed by "Azriau of Yaudi," perhaps Azariah (Uzziah) of Judah.

sions according to the number of their muster, [2]prepared by Jeiel the scribe and Maaseiah the official, under the direction of Hananiah, one of the king's officers.

12 The total number of the heads of the [1]households, of valiant warriors, was 2,600.

13 Under their direction was an [1]elite army of [a]307,500, who could wage war with great power, to help the king against the enemy.

14 Moreover, Uzziah prepared [1]for all the army shields, spears, helmets, body armor, bows and sling stones.

15 In Jerusalem he made engines of war invented by skillful men to be on the towers and on the corners for the purpose of shooting arrows and great stones. Hence his [1]fame spread afar, for he was marvelously helped until he was strong.

Pride Is Uzziah's Undoing

16 But [a]when he became strong, his heart was so [1]proud that he acted corruptly, and he was unfaithful to the LORD his God, for [b]he entered the temple of the LORD to burn incense on the altar of incense.

17 Then [a]Azariah the priest entered after him and with him eighty priests of the LORD, valiant men.

18 [a]They opposed Uzziah the king and said to him, "[b]It is not for you, Uzziah, to burn incense to the LORD, [c]but for the priests, the sons of Aaron who are consecrated to burn incense. Get out of the sanctuary, for you have been unfaithful and will have no honor from the LORD God."

19 But Uzziah, with a censer in his hand for burning incense, was enraged; and while he was enraged with the priests, [a]the leprosy broke out on his forehead before the priests in the house of the LORD, beside the altar of incense.

20 Azariah the chief priest and all the priests looked at him, and behold, he was leprous on his forehead; and they hurried him out of there, and he himself also hastened to get out because the LORD had smitten him.

21 [a]King Uzziah was a leper to the day of his death; and he lived in [b]a separate house, being a leper, for he was cut off from the house of the LORD. And Jotham his son was over the king's house judging the people of the land.

22 Now the rest of the acts of Uzziah, first to last, the prophet [a]Isaiah, the son of Amoz, has written.

23 So Uzziah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers [a]in the field of the grave which belonged to the kings, for they said, "He is a leper." And Jotham his son became king in his place.

Jotham Succeeds Uzziah in Judah

27 [a]Jotham was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Jerushah the daughter of Zadok.

2 He did right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father Uzziah had done; [a]however he did not enter the temple of the LORD. But the people continued acting corruptly.

3 He built the upper gate of the house of the LORD, and he built extensively the wall of [a]Ophel.

4 Moreover, he built [a]cities in the hill country of Judah, and he built fortresses and towers on the wooded hills.

5 He fought also with the king of the Ammonites and prevailed over them so that the Ammonites gave him during that year one hundred talents of silver, ten thousand [1]kors of wheat and ten thousand of barley. The Ammonites also paid him this amount in the second and in the third year.

6 [a]So Jotham became mighty because he ordered his ways before the LORD his God.

7 [a]Now the rest of the acts of Jotham, even all his wars and his acts, behold, they are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah.

27:1 sixteen years. 750–735 B.C., including a co-regency with Uzziah (750–740). His reign also overlapped that of his successor Ahaz from 735 to 732.

27:2 did not enter the temple. The Chronicler commends Jotham for not making the same error Uzziah did (26:16). acting corruptly. Appears to refer to the flourishing high places (2 Kin 15:35).

27:3–6 Unique to the Chronicler and an elaboration of his thesis that fidelity to God's commands brings blessing: in construction, military victory and prosperity—all "because he ordered his ways before the LORD" (v. 6). Judah's relationship with the Ammonites held particular interest for the Chronicler (see notes on 20:1–30; 24:26).

Judah Is Invaded

5 Wherefore, [a]the LORD his God delivered him into the hand of the king of Aram; and they [1]defeated him and carried away from him a great number of captives and brought them to Damascus. And he was also delivered into the hand of the king of Israel, who [2]inflicted him with heavy casualties.

6 For [a]Pekah the son of Remaliah slew in Judah 120,000 in one day, all valiant men, because they had forsaken the LORD God of their fathers.

7 And Zichri, a mighty man of Ephraim, slew Maaseiah the king's son and Azrikam the ruler of the house and Elkanah the second to the king.

8 [a]The sons of Israel carried away captive of [b]their brethren 200,000 women, sons and daughters; and they [1]took also a great deal of spoil from them, and brought the spoil to Samaria.

9 But a prophet of the LORD was there, whose name was Oded; and [a]he went out to meet the army which came to Samaria and said to them, "Behold, because the LORD, the God of your fathers, [b]was angry with Judah, He has delivered them into your hand, and you have slain them in a rage [c]which has even reached heaven.

10 "Now you are proposing to [a]subjugate for yourselves the people of Judah and Jerusalem for male and female slaves. Surely, do you not have transgressions of your own against the LORD your God?

11 "Now therefore, listen to me and return the captives [a]whom you captured from your brothers, [b]for the burning anger of the LORD is against you."

12 Then some of the heads of the sons of Ephraim—Azariah the son of Johanan, Berechiah the son of Meshillemoth, Jehizkiah the son of Shallum, and Amasa the son of Hadlai—arose against those who were coming from the battle,

13 and said to them, "You must not bring the captives in here, for you are proposing to bring upon us guilt against the LORD adding to our sins and our guilt; for our guilt is great so that His burning anger is against Israel."

14 So the armed men left the captives and the spoil before the officers and all the assembly.

15 Then [a]the men who were designated by name arose, took the captives, and they clothed all their naked ones from the spoil; and they gave them clothes and sandals, fed them and [b]gave them drink, anointed them with oil, led all their feeble ones on donkeys, and brought them to Jericho, [c]the city of palm trees, to their brothers; then they returned to Samaria.

28:1–27 See 2 Kin 16:1–20 and notes, though only the introduction and conclusion in the two accounts are strictly parallel. The reign of Ahaz is the only one for which the Chronicler does not mention a single redeeming feature. In his account the Chronicler appears to adopt explicit parallels from the speech of Abijah condemning the northern kingdom (ch. 13) in order to show that under Ahaz the southern kingdom had sunk to the same depths of apostasy. Judah's religious fidelity, of which Abijah had boasted, was completely overthrown under Ahaz.

28:1 sixteen years. 732–715 B.C., not including the co-regency with Jotham (735–732).

28:2 made molten images. Cf. 13:8.

28:3 valley of Ben-hinnom. Cf. 33:6. Josiah put an end to the pagan practices observed there (2 Kin 23:10). burned his sons in fire. See Lev 20:1–5; Jer 7:31–32. 2 Kin 16:3 has the singular "son." Some have regarded the plural as a deliberate inflation on the part of the Chronicler to heighten the wickedness of Ahaz. However, some manuscripts of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) also have a plural in 2 Kin 16:3, suggesting that the Chronicler may have faithfully copied the text before him.

28:5 Cf. 13:16–17. God delivered him into the hand of. According to the Chronicler's view on immediate retribution, defeat in war is one of the results of disobedience (see note on 20:30). also delivered into the hand of the king of Israel. 2 Kin 16:5–6 and Is 7 make it clear that Rezin (king of Aram) and Pekah acted together against Judah. The Chronicler has chosen either to treat them separately or to report on two different episodes of the Aram-Israel coalition.

28:6 Pekah. Reigned over the northern kingdom 752–732 B.C. (see 2 Kin 15:27–31). had forsaken the LORD. The same charge Abijah made against the northern kingdom (13:11).

28:9–15 The kindness of the northern captors to their captives from Judah, especially as recorded in vv. 14–15, may be the background for Jesus' parable of the Good Samaritan (Luke 10:25–37). Oded's attitude to the north is shown by his willingness to call them "brothers" (v. 11). In this case, too, the record of ch. 13 has been reversed: The northern tribes are more righteous than the south.

Compromise with Assyria

16 [a]At that time King Ahaz sent to the [1]kings of Assyria for help.

17 [a]For again the Edomites had come and attacked Judah and carried away captives.

18 [a]The Philistines also had invaded the cities of the [1]lowland and of the Negev of Judah, and had taken Beth-shemesh, Aijalon, Gederoth, and Soco with its villages, Timnah with its villages, and Gimzo with its villages, and they settled there.

19 For the LORD humbled Judah because of Ahaz king of [a]Israel, for he had brought about a lack of restraint in Judah and was very unfaithful to the LORD.

20 So [a]Tilgath-pilneser king of Assyria came against him and afflicted him instead of strengthening him.

21 [a]Although Ahaz took a portion out of the house of the LORD and out of the palace of the king and of the princes, and gave it to the king of Assyria, it did not help him.

22 Now in the time of his distress this same King Ahaz [a]became yet more unfaithful to the LORD.

23 [a]For he sacrificed to the gods of Damascus which had [1]defeated him, and said, "[b]Because the gods of the kings of Aram helped them, I will sacrifice to them that they may help me." But they became the [2]downfall of him and all Israel.

24 Moreover, when Ahaz gathered together the utensils of the house of God, he [a]cut the utensils of the house of God in pieces; and he [b]closed the doors of the house of the LORD and [c]made altars for himself in every corner of Jerusalem.

25 In every city of Judah he made high places to burn incense to other gods, and provoked the LORD, the God of his fathers, to anger.

26 [a]Now the rest of his acts and all his ways, from first to last, behold, they are written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel.

27 [a]So Ahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city, in Jerusalem, for they did not bring him into the tombs of the kings of [b]Israel; and Hezekiah his son reigned in his place.

Hezekiah Succeeds Ahaz in Judah

29 [a]Hezekiah became king when he was twenty-five years old; and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Abijah, the daughter of Zechariah.

2 [a]He did right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father David had done.

3 In the first year of his reign, in the first month, he [a]opened the doors of the house of the LORD and repaired them.

28:17–18 Edomites . . . attacked Judah . . . Philistines also had invaded. Foreign alliances (v. 16) led to further defeats for Ahaz (see note on 16:2–9).

28:19 The LORD humbled Judah because of Ahaz. The same formula used to describe the defeat of the northern tribes in 13:18, though under Ahaz it is Judah that is subdued.

28:20 Tilgath-pilneser. A variant of Tiglath-pileser, king of Assyria 745–727 B.C. (see 1 Chr 5:26 and note). afflicted him instead of strengthening him. Appears on the surface to contradict the statement in 2 Kin 16:9 that Tiglath-pileser III responded to Ahaz's request by attacking and capturing Damascus, exiling its population and killing Rezin. The Chronicler assumes the reader's familiarity with the other account and knows of the temporary respite for Judah gained by Assyrian intervention against Damascus and the northern kingdom of Israel. But he focuses on the long-range results, in which Judah herself was reduced to vassalage to Assyria.

28:22–23 The Chronicler presumes the reader's familiarity with Ahaz's trip to Damascus and his copying of the altar and practices there (2 Kin 16:10–16).

28:24–25 Additional details on Ahaz's alterations are found in 2 Kin 16:17–18. The Chronicler also adds details in his description of Hezekiah's reforming activities to correct some of the abuses under Ahaz: Not only had the doors been shut, but also the lamps were put out and offerings were not made at the sanctuary (29:7); the altar and utensils were desecrated, and the table for the consecrated bread was neglected (29:18–19). It is precisely these accoutrements of proper temple service about which Abijah had boasted when he proclaimed the faithfulness of Judah in contrast to that of the northern kingdom (13:11). Now these orthodox furnishings are lacking under Ahaz and make the southern kingdom just like the north (see note on vv. 1–27).

28:27 did not bring him into the tombs of the kings. The third king whose wickedness resulted in the loss of this honor at death. The others were Jehoram (21:20) and Joash (24:25). Uzziah's sin and leprosy brought the same result, though it is not reported in exactly the same terms (26:23). Cf. also Manasseh (33:20).

29:1–32:33 The Chronicler devotes more attention to Hezekiah than to any other post-Solomonic king. Although the parallel text (2 Kin 18–20) has about the same amount of material, only about a fourth of the total relates the same or similar material; only a few verses are strict literary parallels (29:1–2; 32:32–33). In Kings preeminence among the post-Solomonic kings is given to Josiah (2 Kin 22–23; cf. 1 Kin 13:2), and the record of Hezekiah is primarily devoted to his confrontation with Sennacherib of Assyria. By contrast, the Chronicler highlights almost exclusively Hezekiah's religious reform and his devotion to matters of ceremony and ritual. The parallel passage (2 Kin 18:1–6) touches the religious reform only briefly. The numerous parallels in these chapters with the account of Solomon's reign suggest that the Chronicler viewed Hezekiah as a "second Solomon" in his celebration of the Passover (30:2,5,23,25–26), his cultic arrangements (29:7,18,35; 31:2–3), his wealth (32:27–29), the honor accorded him by the Gentiles (32:23) and the extent of his dominion (30:25).

29:1 twenty-nine years. 715–686 B.C. (but see note on Is 36:1), including a 15-year extension of life granted by God (2 Kin 20:6) but not mentioned by the Chronicler.

29:3–30:27 Not found in Kings.

29:3 first year. 715 B.C., another example of the Chronicler's practice of introducing chronological materials into his narrative (see note on 12:2). opened the doors of the house of the LORD. Necessary after the actions of Ahaz (28:24). repaired them. The repairs to the doors included new gold overlay (2 Kin 18:16).

4 He brought in the priests and the Levites and gathered them into the square on the east.

Reforms Begun

5 Then he said to them, "Listen to me, O Levites. [a]Consecrate yourselves now, and consecrate the house of the LORD, the God of your fathers, and carry the uncleanness out from the holy place.

6 "For our fathers have been unfaithful and have done evil in the sight of the LORD our God, and have forsaken Him and [a]turned their faces away from the dwelling place of the LORD, and have [1]turned their backs.

7 "They have also [a]shut the doors of the porch and put out the lamps, and have not burned incense or offered burnt offerings in the holy place to the God of Israel.

8 "Therefore [a]the wrath of the LORD was against Judah and Jerusalem, and He has made them an object of terror, of horror, and of [b]hissing, as you see with your own eyes.

9 "For behold, [a]our fathers have fallen by the sword, and our sons and our daughters and our wives are in captivity for this.

10 "Now it is in my heart [a]to make a covenant with the LORD God of Israel, that His burning anger may turn away from us.

11 "My sons, do not be negligent now, for [a]the LORD has chosen you to stand before Him, to minister to Him, and to be His ministers and burn incense."

12 Then the Levites arose: [a]Mahath, the son of Amasai and Joel the son of Azariah, from the sons of [b]the Kohathites; and from the sons of Merari, Kish the son of Abdi and Azariah the son of Jehallelel; and from the Gershonites, Joah the son of Zimmah and Eden the son of Joah;

13 and from the sons of Elizaphan, Shimri and [1]Jeiel; and from the sons of Asaph, Zechariah and Mattaniah;

14 and from the sons of Heman, [1]Jehiel and Shimei; and from the sons of Jeduthun, Shemaiah and Uzziel.

15 They assembled their brothers, [a]consecrated themselves, and went in [b]to cleanse the house of the LORD, according to the commandment of the king [c]by the words of the LORD.

16 So the priests went in to the inner part of the house of the LORD to cleanse it, and every unclean thing which they found in the temple of the LORD they brought out to the court of the house of the LORD. Then the Levites received it to carry out to [a]the Kidron [1]valley.

17 Now they began [1]the consecration [a]on the first day of the first month, and on the eighth day of the month they entered the porch of the LORD. Then they consecrated the house of the LORD in eight days, and finished on the sixteenth day of the first month.

18 Then they went in to King Hezekiah and said, "We have cleansed the whole house of the LORD, the altar of burnt offering with all of its utensils, and the table of showbread with all of its utensils.

19 "Moreover, [a]all the utensils which King Ahaz had discarded during his reign in his unfaithfulness, we have prepared and consecrated; and behold, they are before the altar of the LORD."

Hezekiah Restores Temple Worship

20 Then King Hezekiah arose early and assembled the princes of the city and went up to the house of the LORD.

21 They brought seven bulls, seven rams, seven lambs and seven male goats [a]for a sin offering for the kingdom, the sanctuary, and Judah. And he ordered the priests, the sons of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the LORD.

22 So they slaughtered the bulls, and the priests took the blood and sprinkled it on the altar. They also slaughtered the rams and sprinkled the blood on the altar; they slaughtered the lambs also and [a]sprinkled the blood on the altar.

23 Then they brought the male goats of the sin offering before the king and the assembly, and [a]they laid their hands on them.

24 The priests slaughtered them and purged the altar with their blood [a]to atone for all Israel, for the king ordered the burnt offering and the sin offering for all Israel.

25 [a]He then stationed the Levites in the house of the LORD with cymbals, with harps and with lyres, [b]according to the command of David and of [c]Gad the king's seer, and of 29:5–11 Hezekiah's speech demonstrates again the Chronicler's convictions about the coherence of action and effect: The sins of the past brought difficulty and judgment, but renewed fidelity brings relief.

29:7 Hezekiah reinstitutes these temple arrangements—following the pattern of Solomon (2:4; 4:7).

29:8 object of terror, of horror, and of hissing. Echoes the language of the prophets, especially Jeremiah (see Jer 19:8; 25:9,18; 29:18; 51:37). Reference is to the Assyrian devastation of the northern kingdom and much of Judah.

29:12 Kohathites . . . sons of Merari . . . Gershonites. The three clans of Levi (1 Chr 6:1).

29:13–14 Asaph . . . Heman . . . Jeduthun. Founders of the three families of Levitical musicians (1 Chr 6:31–48; 25:1–31).

29:13 Elizaphan. A leader of the Kohathites (Num 3:30), whose family had achieved status almost as a sub-clan (see 1 Chr 15:8 and note on 1 Chr 15:4–10).

29:16 carry out to the Kidron Valley. Asa also burned pagan cult objects there (15:16; cf. 30:14).

29:18 These actions under Hezekiah mirror those of Solomon (2:4).

29:21 sin offering. See Lev 4:1–5:13.

29:22 sprinkled the blood. See Lev 17:6; Num 18:17.

29:23 laid their hands on them. See Lev 4:13–15; 8:14–15; Num 8:12.

29:25 David and of Gad . . . and of Nathan . . . prophets. The

[a]Nathan the prophet; for the command was from the LORD through His prophets.

26 The Levites stood with [a]the musical instruments of David, and [b]the priests with the trumpets.

27 Then Hezekiah gave the order to offer the burnt offering on the altar. When the burnt offering began, [a]the song to the LORD also began with the trumpets, [1]accompanied by the instruments of David, king of Israel.

28 While the whole assembly worshiped, the singers also sang and the trumpets sounded; all this continued until the burnt offering was finished.

29 Now at the completion of the burnt offerings, [a]the king and all who were present with him bowed down and worshiped.

30 Moreover, King Hezekiah and the officials ordered the Levites to sing praises to the LORD with the words of David and Asaph the seer. [a]So they sang praises with joy, and bowed down and worshiped.

31 Then Hezekiah said, "[a]Now that you have [1]consecrated yourselves to the LORD, come near and bring sacrifices and thank offerings to the house of the LORD." And the assembly brought sacrifices and thank offerings, and [b]all those who were [2]willing brought burnt offerings.

32 The number of the burnt offerings which the assembly brought was 70 bulls, 100 rams, and 200 lambs; all these were for a burnt offering to the LORD.

33 The consecrated things were 600 bulls and 3,000 sheep.

34 But the priests were too few, so that they were unable to skin all the burnt offerings; [a]therefore their brothers the Levites helped them until the work was completed and until the other priests had consecrated themselves. For [b]the Levites were more [1]conscientious to consecrate themselves than the priests.

35 There were also [1][a]many burnt offerings with [b]the fat of the peace offerings and with [c]the libations for the burnt offerings. Thus the service of the house of the LORD was established again.

36 Then Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced over what God had prepared for the people, because the thing came about suddenly.

All Israel Invited to the Passover

30 Now Hezekiah sent to all Israel and Judah and wrote letters also to Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the LORD at Jerusalem to [1]celebrate the Passover to the LORD God of Israel.

2 For the king and his princes and all the assembly in Jerusalem had decided [a]to celebrate the Passover in the second month,

3 since they could not celebrate it [a]at that time, because the priests had not consecrated themselves in sufficient numbers, nor had the people been gathered to Jerusalem.

4 Thus the thing was right in the sight of the king and [1]all the assembly.

5 So they established a decree to circulate a [1]proclamation throughout all Israel [a]from Beersheba even to Dan, that they should come to celebrate the Passover to the LORD God of Israel at Jerusalem. For they had not celebrated it in great numbers as it was [2]prescribed.

6 [a]The [1]couriers went throughout all Israel and Judah with the letters from the hand of the king and his princes, even according to the command of the king, saying, "O sons of Israel, return to the LORD God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, that He may return to those of you who escaped and are left from [b]the [2]hand of the kings of Assyria.

7 "[a]Do not be like your fathers and your brothers, who were unfaithful to the LORD God of their fathers, so that [b]He made them a horror, as you see.

Chronicler considers David among the prophets (see notes on 1:7; 1 Chr 28:19).

29:26 instruments of David. See 1 Chr 23:5.

29:35 many burnt offerings . . . peace offerings . . . libations. Reminiscent of the dedication of the temple under Solomon (7:4–6). For the laws regarding the peace offerings see Lev 3; 7:11–21; for the "libations for the burnt offerings" see Num 15:1–12. service of the house of the LORD was established again. Similar to the formula used in 8:16 with reference to Solomon's work.

30:1–27 Unique to the Chronicler; cf. the famous Passover under Josiah (35:1–19; 2 Kin 23:21–23). Hezekiah allowed two deviations from the law (Ex 12; Deut 16:1–8) in this observance: (1) the date in the second month (v. 2) and (2) exemption from some ritual requirements (vv. 18–19).

30:1 all Israel and Judah. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes. With the northern kingdom now ended as the result of the Assyrian invasion and deportation (which surprisingly is not mentioned), the Chronicler shows "all Israel" once again united around the Davidic king and the temple (see vv. 5,18–19,25).

30:2 second month. After the division of the kingdom, Jeroboam deferred the sacral calendar of the northern kingdom by one month (1 Kin 12:32), possibly to further wean the subjects in the north away from devotion to Jerusalem. By delaying the celebration of Passover one month, Hezekiah not only allows time for the priests to consecrate themselves (v. 3) and for the people to gather (vv. 3,13), but also achieves unity between the kingdoms on the date of the Passover for the first time since the schism more than two centuries earlier. Delaying the date reflects Hezekiah's concern to involve "all Israel." For the first time since Solomon the entire nation observes Passover together, reflecting the Chronicler's view that Hezekiah is a "second Solomon." Passover was prescribed for the 14th day of the first month (Ex 12:2,6; Deut 16:1–8), but could not be celebrated at that time due to the defilement of the temple and the purification rites under way (29:3,17). For celebration of Passover by the restored community shortly after the dedication of the rebuilt temple see Ezra 6:16–22.

30:5 great numbers. Another comparison with the time of Solomon (see v. 26). At the time of its inception, Passover was primarily a family observance (Ex 12). It later became a national celebration at the temple (v. 8; see Deut 16:1–8).

8 "Now do not [a]stiffen your neck like your fathers, but [1]yield to the LORD and enter His sanctuary which He has consecrated forever, and serve the LORD your God, [b]that His burning anger may turn away from you.

9 "For [a]if you return to the LORD, your brothers and your sons will find compassion before those who led them captive and will return to this land. [b]For the LORD your God is gracious and compassionate, and will not turn His face away from you if you return to Him."

10 So the [1]couriers passed from city to city through the country of Ephraim and Manasseh, and as far as Zebulun, but [a]they laughed them to scorn and mocked them.

11 Nevertheless [a]some men of Asher, Manasseh and Zebulun humbled themselves and came to Jerusalem.

12 The [a]hand of God was also on Judah to give them one heart to do what the king and the princes commanded by the word of the LORD.

Passover Reinstituted

13 Now many people were gathered at Jerusalem to celebrate the Feast of Unleavened Bread [a]in the second month, a very large assembly.

14 They arose and removed the altars which were in Jerusalem; they also [a]removed all the incense altars and [b]cast them into the brook Kidron.

15 Then [a]they slaughtered the Passover lambs on the fourteenth of the second month. And [b]the priests and Levites were ashamed of themselves, and consecrated themselves and brought burnt offerings to the house of the LORD.

16 [a]They stood at their stations after their custom, according to the law of Moses the man of God; the priests sprinkled the blood which they received from the hand of the Levites.

17 For there were many in the assembly who had not consecrated themselves; therefore, [a]the Levites were over the slaughter of the Passover lambs for everyone who was unclean, in order to consecrate them to the LORD.

18 For a multitude of the people, [a]even many from Ephraim and Manasseh, Issachar and Zebulun, had not purified themselves, [b]yet they ate the Passover [c]otherwise than [1]prescribed. For Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, "May the good LORD pardon

19 [a]everyone who prepares his heart to seek God, the LORD God of his fathers, though not according to the purification rules of the sanctuary."

20 So the LORD heard Hezekiah and [a]healed the people.

21 The sons of Israel present in Jerusalem [a]celebrated the Feast of Unleavened Bread for seven days with great joy, and the Levites and the priests praised the LORD day after day with loud instruments to the LORD.

22 Then Hezekiah [a]spoke [1]encouragingly to all the Levites who showed good insight in the things of the LORD. So they ate for the appointed seven days, sacrificing peace offerings and [b]giving thanks to the LORD God of their fathers.

23 Then the whole assembly [a]decided to celebrate the feast another seven days, so they celebrated the seven days with joy.

24 For [a]Hezekiah king of Judah had contributed to the assembly 1,000 bulls and 7,000 sheep, and the princes had contributed to the assembly 1,000 bulls and 10,000 sheep; and [b]a large number of priests consecrated themselves.

25 All the assembly of Judah rejoiced, with the priests and the Levites and [a]all the assembly that came from Israel, both the sojourners who came from the land of Israel and those living in Judah.

26 So there was great joy in Jerusalem, because there was nothing like this in Jerusalem [a]since the days of Solomon the son of David, king of Israel.

27 Then [a]the Levitical priests arose and [b]blessed the people; and their voice was heard and their prayer came to [c]His holy dwelling place, to heaven.

30:8 enter His sanctuary. Passover was one of three annual pilgrim feasts requiring attendance at the temple (see Num 28:9–29:39).

30:9 find compassion before those who led them captive. In Solomon's prayer in 6:39 the Chronicler omitted the phrase found in the parallel account (1 Kin 8:50) that their conquerors would "have compassion on them." Here the phrase is found in the speech of Hezekiah, again portraying him as a kind of "second Solomon" (see Lev 26:40–42). will return to this land. Those who repent will have hope of return, even those from the Assyrian captivity.

30:14 cast them into the brook Kidron. See 29:16 and note.

30:15 the priests and Levites . . . consecrated themselves. The reproach previously directed against the priests (v. 3; 29:34) is here broadened to include also the Levites—an exhortation to the priests and Levites of the restored community to be faithful.

30:17 Levites were over the slaughter of the Passover lambs. See Ex 12:6; Deut 16:6. According to the law the heads of families were to slay the Passover sacrifice. The Levites perhaps acted for the recent arrivals from the northern kingdom who were not ceremonially clean. Cf. John 11:55.

30:18–19 Faith and obedience take precedence over ritual (see Mark 7:1–23; John 7:22–23; 9:14–16).

30:20 The response to Hezekiah's prayer recalls the prayer of Solomon (7:14).

30:23 another seven days. The festival was observed for two weeks, just as the observance of the dedication of Solomon's temple had been (7:8–9).

30:26 since the days of Solomon. An explicit indication of the Chronicler's modeling of the reign of Hezekiah after that of Solomon (see note on 29:1–32:33).

30:27 prayer came to His holy dwelling place, to heaven. Another echo of Solomon's dedication prayer (6:21,30,33,39).

Idols Are Destroyed

31 Now when all this was finished, all Israel who were present went out to the cities of Judah, [a]broke the pillars in pieces, cut down the [1]Asherim and pulled down the high places and the altars throughout all Judah and Benjamin, as well as in Ephraim and Manasseh, [2]until they had destroyed them all. Then all the sons of Israel returned to their cities, each to his possession.

2 And Hezekiah appointed [a]the divisions of the priests and the Levites by their divisions, each according to his service, both the priests and the Levites, [b]for burnt offerings and for peace offerings, to minister and to give thanks and to praise in the gates of the camp of the LORD.

Reforms Continued

3 He also appointed [a]the king's portion of his goods for the burnt offerings, namely, for the morning and evening burnt offerings, and the burnt offerings for the sabbaths and for the new moons and for the fixed festivals, [b]as it is written in the law of the LORD.

4 Also he [1]commanded the people who lived in Jerusalem to give [a]the portion due to the priests and the Levites, that they might devote themselves to [b]the law of the LORD.

5 As soon as the [1]order spread, the sons of Israel provided in abundance the first fruits of grain, new wine, oil, honey and of all the produce of the field; and they brought in abundantly [a]the tithe of all.

6 The sons of Israel and Judah who lived in the cities of Judah also brought in the tithe of oxen and sheep, and [a]the tithe of [1]sacred gifts which were consecrated to the LORD their God, and placed them in heaps.

7 In the third month they began to [1]make the heaps, and finished them by the seventh month.

8 When Hezekiah and the rulers came and saw the heaps, they blessed the LORD and [a]His people Israel.

9 Then Hezekiah questioned the priests and the Levites concerning the heaps.

10 Azariah the chief priest [a]of the house of Zadok said to [1]him, "[b]Since the contributions began to be brought into the house of the LORD, we have had enough to eat with plenty left over, for the LORD has blessed His people, and this great quantity is left over."

11 Then Hezekiah commanded them to prepare [a]rooms in the house of the LORD, and they prepared them.

12 They faithfully brought in the contributions and the tithes and the consecrated things; and Conaniah the Levite was the officer in charge [a]of them and his brother Shimei was second.

13 Jehiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad, Eliel, Ismachiah, Mahath and Benaiah were overseers [1]under the authority of Conaniah and Shimei his brother by the appointment of King Hezekiah, and [a]Azariah was the chief officer of the house of God.

14 Kore the son of Imnah the Levite, the keeper of the eastern gate, was over the freewill offerings of God, to apportion the contributions for the LORD and the most holy things.

15 [1]Under his authority were [a]Eden, Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah and Shecaniah in [b]the cities of the priests, to distribute faithfully their portions to their brothers by divisions, whether great or small,

16 without regard to their genealogical enrollment, to the males from [1][a]thirty years old and upward—everyone who entered the house of the LORD [b]for his daily obligations—for their work in their duties according to their divisions;

17 as well as the priests who were enrolled genealogically according to their fathers' households, and the Levites [a]from twenty years old and upwards, by their duties and their divisions.

18 The genealogical enrollment included [1]all their little children, their wives, their sons and their daughters, for the whole assembly, for they consecrated themselves [2]faithfully in holiness.

19 Also for the sons of Aaron the priests who were in [a]the pasture lands of their cities, or in each and every city, [b]there were men who were designated by name to distribute 31:1–21 Apart from the first verse, which parallels 2 Kin 18:4, the material of this chapter is unique to the Chronicler, whose interest in the Levites and the temple predominates. Hezekiah's efforts to ensure the material support of the Levites (v. 4) probably had relevance to the postexilic audience for whom the Chronicler wrote.

31:1 all Israel . . . all the sons of Israel. The Chronicler's interest in "all Israel" as united under Hezekiah is again apparent. pillars. See note on 1 Kin 14:23. Asherim. See note on 14:3.

31:2 Echoes 8:14. The Chronicler continues to model Hezekiah as a "second Solomon" (see notes on 29:7,18).

31:3 appointed the king's portion. The king's giving from his own wealth prompted a generous response from the people, as it had also under David (1 Chr 29:3–9).

31:5–6 See Deut 12:5–19; 14:22–27. The grain, new wine and oil had to be brought to the temple (Deut 12:17). Those coming from a distance, however, could bring the value of their offerings and purchase them on arrival (Deut 14:24). Only those who actually lived in Judah brought the tithe of their herds and flocks, a difficult procedure for those who lived farther away. For the restored community's commitment to bring their first fruits, tithes and offerings see Neh 10:35–39. For their failure to do so see Neh 13:10–13; Mal 3:8–10.

31:7 third month. May-June, the time of the Feast of Pentecost and the grain harvest. seventh month. September-October, the time of the Feast of Booths and the fruit and vine harvest (see Ex 23:16).

31:16 thirty years. Though all ancient manuscripts read "three years," that is probably a copyist's mistake for "30 years," the age at which duties were assigned in the temple (1 Chr 23:3).

portions to every male among the priests and to everyone genealogically enrolled among the Levites.

20 Thus Hezekiah did throughout all Judah; and [a]he did what was good, right and true before the LORD his God.

21 Every work which he began in the service of the house of God in law and in commandment, seeking his God, he did with all his heart and [a]prospered.

Sennacherib Invades Judah

32 After these [1]acts of faithfulness [a]Sennacherib king of Assyria came and invaded Judah and besieged the fortified cities, and [2]thought to break into them for himself.

2 Now when Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib had come and that [1]he intended to make war on Jerusalem,

3 he decided with his officers and his warriors to cut off the supply of water from the springs which were outside the city, and they helped him.

4 So many people assembled [a]and stopped up all the springs and [b]the stream which flowed [1]through the region, saying, "Why should the kings of Assyria come and find abundant water?"

5 And he took courage and [a]rebuilt all the wall that had been broken down and [1]erected towers on it, and built [b]another outside wall and strengthened the [c]Millo in the city of David, and made weapons and shields in great number.

6 He appointed military officers over the people and gathered them to him in the square at the city gate, and [a]spoke [1]encouragingly to them, saying,

7 "[a]Be strong and courageous, do not fear or be dismayed because of the king of Assyria nor because of all the horde that is with him; [b]for the one with us is greater than the one with him.

8 "With him is only [a]an arm of flesh, but [b]with us is the LORD our God to help us and to fight our battles." And the people relied on the words of Hezekiah king of Judah.

Sennacherib Undermines Hezekiah

9 After this [a]Sennacherib king of Assyria sent his servants to Jerusalem while he was [1]besieging Lachish with all his forces with him, against Hezekiah king of Judah and against all Judah who were at Jerusalem, saying,

10 "Thus says Sennacherib king of Assyria, 'On what are you trusting that you are remaining in Jerusalem under siege?

11 'Is not Hezekiah misleading you to give yourselves over to die by hunger and by thirst, saying, "The LORD our God will deliver us from the [1]hand of the king of Assyria"?

12 '[a]Has not the same Hezekiah taken away His high places and His altars, and said to Judah and [1]Jerusalem, "You shall worship before one altar, and on it you shall [2]burn incense"?

13 'Do you not know what I and my fathers have done to all the peoples of the lands? [a]Were the gods of the nations of the lands able at all to deliver their land from my hand?

14 '[a]Who was there among all the gods of those nations which my fathers utterly destroyed who could deliver his people out of my hand, that your God should be able to deliver you from my hand?

15 'Now therefore, do not let Hezekiah deceive you or mislead you like this, and do not believe him, for [a]no god of any nation or kingdom was able to deliver his people from my hand or from the hand of my fathers. How much less will your God deliver you from my hand?' "

16 His servants spoke further against the LORD God and against His servant Hezekiah.

17 He also wrote letters to insult the LORD God of Israel, and to speak against Him, saying, "[a]As the gods of the nations of the lands [1]have not delivered their people from my hand, so the God of Hezekiah will not deliver His people from my hand."

18 [a]They called this out with a loud voice in the language of Judah to the people of Jerusalem who were on the wall, to frighten and terrify them, so that they might take the city.

31:20–21 Another brief indication of the Chronicler's emphasis on immediate retribution: Not only does disobedience bring immediate chastening, but obedience and seeking God bring prosperity.

32:1–23 The record of Sennacherib's invasion is much more detailed in 2 Kings and Isaiah (see note on 29:1–32:33).

32:1 The Chronicler omits the date of the invasion (701 B.C., Hezekiah's 14th year; see 2 Kin 18:13; Is 36:1).

32:2–8 Unique to the Chronicler, but normal preparations for invasion.

32:3–4 See v. 30.

32:9 The Chronicler bypasses 2 Kin 18:14–16, which records Hezekiah's suit for peace with its accompanying bribe stripped from the temple treasures. These acts were apparently out of accord with the Chronicler's portrait of Hezekiah. He also omits 2 Kin 18:17b–18.

32:10 The Chronicler omits 2 Kin 18:20–21 (and Is 36:5–6), containing a portion of the Assyrian commander's speech ridiculing Hezekiah and the citizens of Jerusalem for trusting in Egypt and Pharaoh. This, too, may be theologically motivated, in light of the Chronicler's attitude toward foreign alliances (see note on 16:2–9). The same concern with foreign alliances is also likely the reason for the omission of the material in 2 Kin 18:23–27 (and Is 36:8–12), where mention is again made of the hope of Egyptian intervention (see 2 Kin 19:9 for the incursion of Tirhakah).

32:16 spoke further. The Chronicler appears to assume his reader's familiarity with the longer account of the Assyrian taunts found in Kings and Isaiah.

32:18 called this out . . . in the language of Judah. Assumes knowledge of the fuller story (2 Kin 18:26–28; Is 36:11–13).

19 They spoke [1]of the God of Jerusalem as of [a]the gods of the peoples of the earth, the work of men's hands.

Hezekiah's Prayer Is Answered

20 But King Hezekiah and Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, prayed about this and cried out to heaven.

21 And the LORD sent an angel who destroyed every mighty warrior, commander and officer in the camp of the king of Assyria. So he returned [1]in shame to his own land.
And when he had entered the temple of his god, some of his own children killed him there with the sword.

22 So the LORD [a]saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib the king of Assyria and from the hand of all others, and [1]guided them on every side.

23 And [a]many were bringing gifts to the LORD at Jerusalem and choice presents to Hezekiah king of Judah, so that [b]he was exalted in the sight of all nations thereafter.

24 [a]In those days Hezekiah became [1]mortally ill; and he prayed to the LORD, and [2]the LORD spoke to him and gave him a sign.

25 But Hezekiah gave no return for the benefit [1]he received, [a]because his heart was [2]proud; [b]therefore wrath came on him and on Judah and Jerusalem.

26 However, [a]Hezekiah [1]humbled the pride of his heart, both he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that the wrath of the LORD did not come on them in the days of Hezekiah.

27 Now Hezekiah had immense riches and honor; and he made for himself treasuries for silver, gold, precious stones, spices, shields and all kinds of valuable articles,

28 storehouses also for the produce of grain, wine and oil, pens for all kinds of cattle and [1]sheepfolds for the flocks.

30 It was Hezekiah who [a]stopped the directed them to the west side of the city of did.

the rulers of Babylon, who sent to him to inquire of [b]the wonder that had happened in the land, God left him alone only [c]to test him, that He might know all that was in his heart.

32 Now the rest of the acts of Hezekiah and his deeds of devotion, behold, they are written in the vision of Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel.

they buried him in the [1]upper section of the

and the inhabitants of Jerusalem [a]honored

Manasseh Succeeds Hezekiah in Judah

33 [a]Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem.

according to the abominations of the nations whom the LORD dispossessed before the sons of Israel.

Hezekiah his father had broken down; [b]he

LORD of which the LORD had said, "My name shall be [b]in Jerusalem forever."

5 For he built altars for all the host of 32:20 This brief reference to the prayers of Hezekiah and Isaiah abridges the much longer narrative in 2 Kin 19:1–34 (and Is 37:1–35).

32:21 See 2 Kin 19:35–37; Is 37:36–38. The Chronicler and the parallel accounts telescope events somewhat: Sennacherib's invasion of Judah was in 701 B.C., while his death at the hand of his sons was in 681.

32:23 exalted in the sight of all nations. Another effort to compare Hezekiah with Solomon (see 9:23–24).

32:24 The Chronicler again abridges the narrative in 2 Kin 20:1–11 (and Is 38:1–8), assuming the reader's familiarity with the role of Isaiah and the miraculous sign of the shadow reversing ten steps.

32:25–30 Not found in the parallel texts.

32:25–26 proud . . . pride. The Chronicler does not specify the nature of Hezekiah's pride (however, see v. 31; 2 Kin 20:12–13; Is 39:1–2). Even for a "second Solomon" like Hezekiah, disobedience brings anger from the Lord.

32:27–29 The Chronicler likens Hezekiah to Solomon also by recounting his wealth (9:13–14).

32:30 See vv. 2–4; 2 Kin 20:20.

32:31 See v. 25. The Chronicler assumes the reader's knowledge of the fuller account in 2 Kin 20:12–19 (and Is 39:1–8). The envoys from Babylon were apparently interested in joint efforts against the Assyrians, hoping to open two fronts against them simultaneously.

33:1–20 See 2 Kin 21:1–18 and notes. Manasseh had the longest reign of any of the kings of Judah, a total of 55 years (v. 1). The emphasis in the two accounts differs: While both histories report at length the evil done in Manasseh's reign, only the Chronicler mentions his journey to Babylon and his repentance and restoration to rule. For the writer of Kings, the picture is only a bad one in which Manasseh could be considered almost single-handedly the cause of the exile (2 Kin 21:10–15; 23:26). Some scholars regard the record of Manasseh's repentance in Chronicles as motivated by the author's emphasis on immediate retribution: Length of reign is viewed as a blessing for obedience, so that the Chronicler deliberately records some good in Manasseh as a ground for his long reign. However, it must be noted that length of reign is not elsewhere used by the Chronicler as an indication of divine blessing. The usual indicators for such blessing in his account are peace and prosperity, building projects, success in warfare and large families.

33:1 fifty-five years. 697–642 B.C.

33:3 Asherim. See note on 14:3.

heaven in [a]the two courts of the house of the LORD.

6 [a]He made his sons pass through the fire in the valley of Ben-hinnom; and he practiced witchcraft, used divination, practiced sorcery and [b]dealt with mediums and spiritists. He did much evil in the sight of the LORD, provoking Him to anger.

7 Then he put [a]the carved image of the idol which he had made in the house of God, of which God had said to David and to Solomon his son, "[b]In this house and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen from all the tribes of Israel, I will put My name forever;

8 and I will not again remove the foot of Israel from the land [a]which I have appointed for your fathers, if only they will observe to do all that I have commanded them according to all the law, the statutes and the ordinances given through Moses."

9 Thus Manasseh misled Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to do more evil than the nations whom the LORD destroyed before the sons of Israel.

Manasseh's Idolatry Rebuked

10 The LORD spoke to Manasseh and his people, but [a]they paid no attention.

11 [a]Therefore the LORD brought the commanders of the army of the king of Assyria against them, and they captured Manasseh with [1]hooks, [b]bound him with bronze chains and took him to Babylon.

12 When [a]he was in distress, he entreated the LORD his God and [b]humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers.

13 When he prayed to Him, [a]He was moved by his entreaty and heard his supplication, and brought him again to Jerusalem to his kingdom. Then Manasseh [b]knew that the LORD was God.

14 Now after this he built the outer wall of the city of David on the west side of [a]Gihon, in the valley, even to the entrance of the [b]Fish Gate; and he encircled the [c]Ophel with it and made it very high. Then he put army commanders in all the fortified cities of Judah.

15 He also [a]removed the foreign gods and the idol from the house of the LORD, as well as all the altars which he had built on the mountain of the house of the LORD and in Jerusalem, and he threw them outside the city.

16 He set up the altar of the LORD and sacrificed [a]peace offerings and thank offerings on it; and he ordered Judah to serve the LORD God of Israel.

17 Nevertheless [a]the people still sacrificed in the high places, although only to the LORD their God.

18 Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh even [a]his prayer to his God, and the words of [b]the seers who spoke to him in the name of the LORD God of Israel, behold, they are among the records of the kings of [c]Israel.

19 His prayer also and [a]how God was entreated by him, and all his sin, his unfaithfulness, and [b]the sites on which he built high places and erected the Asherim and the carved images, before he humbled himself, behold, they are written in the records of the [1]Hozai.

20 So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his own house. And Amon his son became king in his place.

Amon Becomes King in Judah

21 [a]Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem.

22 He did evil in the sight of the LORD as Manasseh his father [a]had done, and Amon sacrificed to all [b]the carved images which his father Manasseh had made, and he served them.

33:6 made his sons pass through the fire. See 28:3–4.

33:10 See note on vv. 1–20. The Chronicler abridges what the Lord said to Manasseh and the people through the prophets; the fuller record is found in 2 Kin 21:10–15.

33:11–17 Unique to the Chronicler, showing his stress on immediate retribution: Manasseh's evil brings invasion and defeat, while his repentance brings restoration to rule.

33:11 took him to Babylon. In extant non-Biblical records there is no reference as yet to Manasseh being taken to Babylon by an Assyrian king. Esarhaddon (681–669 B.C.) lists him among 22 kings required to forward materials for his building projects, and Ashurbanipal (669–627) names him as one of a number of vassals supporting his campaign against Egypt. The fact that an Assyrian king would have him taken to Babylon suggests that this incident may have taken place during the rebellion of Shamash-shum-ukin against his brother and overlord Ashurbanipal. This rebellion lasted from 652 to 648, and Manasseh may have joined or at least have been suspected of assisting in the Babylonian defection from Assyria. Manasseh may have been found innocent, or he may have been pardoned on the basis of a renewed pledge of loyalty. Egypt had also bolted from the Assyrian yoke under the new 26th dynasty, and the return of Manasseh to rule may reflect the Assyrian need of a vassal near the border of Egypt.

33:12 The language is reminiscent of Solomon's prayer (7:14).

33:14 built the outer wall. For the Chronicler such building programs are a sign of divine blessing (8:1–6; 11:5–12; 14:6–7; 26:9–10,14–15; 32:1–5,27–30; 1 Chr 11:7–9; 15:1).

33:15–16 Whatever the precise nature of Manasseh's reforms, Josiah would later still need to remove "the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courts of the house of the LORD" (2 Kin 23:12).

33:19 Asherim. See note on 14:3.

33:20 buried him in his own house. Cf. 2 Kin 21:18. His burial in the palace garden makes Manasseh the fifth king the Chronicler names who was not buried in the tombs of the kings (see note on 28:27).

33:21–25 See 2 Kin 21:19–26. The Chronicler's account of the reign of Amon (642–640 B.C.) is quite similar to that in Kings, apart from (1) the additional note that Amon was not repentant like his father Manasseh, a note based on a passage unique to the Chronicler (vv. 12–13), and (2) the absence of the death formula.

23 Moreover, he did not humble himself before the LORD [a]as his father Manasseh had [1]done, but Amon multiplied guilt.

24 Finally [a]his servants conspired against him and put him to death in his own house.

25 But the people of the land [1]killed all the conspirators against King Amon, and the people of the land made Josiah his son king in his place.

Josiah Succeeds Amon in Judah

34 [a]Josiah was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem.

2 [a]He did right in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the ways of his father David and did not turn aside to the right or to the left.

3 For in the eighth year of his reign while he was still a youth, he began to [a]seek the God of his father David; and in the twelfth year he began [b]to purge Judah and Jerusalem of the high places, the Asherim, the carved images and the molten images.

4 They tore down the altars of the Baals in his presence, and [a]the incense altars that were high above them he chopped down; also the Asherim, the carved images and the molten images he broke in pieces and [b]ground to powder and scattered it on the graves of those who had sacrificed to them.

5 Then [a]he burned the bones of the priests on their altars and purged Judah and Jerusalem.

Josiah Repairs the Temple

8 [a]Now in the eighteenth year of his reign, when he had purged the land and the house, he sent Shaphan the son of Azaliah, and Maaseiah [b]an official of the city, and Joah the son of Joahaz the recorder, to repair the house of the LORD his God.

9 They came to [a]Hilkiah the high priest and delivered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Levites, the [1]doorkeepers, had collected [2]from [b]Manasseh and Ephraim, and from all the remnant of Israel, and from all Judah and Benjamin and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

10 Then they gave it into the hands of the workmen who had the oversight of the house of the LORD, and the workmen who were working in the house of the LORD [1]used it to restore and repair the house.

11 They in turn gave it to the carpenters and to the builders to buy quarried stone and timber for couplings and to make beams for the houses [a]which the kings of Judah had let go to ruin.

12 [a]The men did the work faithfully with foremen over them to supervise: Jahath and Obadiah, the Levites of the sons of Merari, Zechariah and Meshullam of the sons of the Kohathites, and [b]the Levites, all who were skillful with musical instruments.

13 They were also over [a]the burden bear-

34:1–36:1 See 2 Kin 22:1–23:30 and notes. Both accounts of Josiah's reign are about the same length and treat the same subjects, but with considerable variation in emphasis. Both deal with three different aspects of Josiah's reform: (1) the removal of foreign cults, (2) the finding of the book of the law and the covenant renewal that followed and (3) the celebration of Passover. On the second item the two histories are quite similar. On the first item the writer of Kings goes to great lengths (2 Kin 23:4–20), while the Chronicler summarizes it only briefly (34:3–7,33). The account of the Passover is greatly expanded in Chronicles (35:1–19), while only alluded to in 2 Kings (23:21–23). Not only are these items treated at different lengths, but the order is also changed. In Kings the finding of the book of the law in the temple in Josiah's 18th year is the first incident mentioned. The writer appears to have organized his material geographically, i.e., beginning with the temple and spreading through the city, then into the rest of the nation. The Chronicler, on the other hand, has arranged the incidents in order of their occurrence and has characteristically introduced a number of chronological notes into the text: 34:3 (two notes without parallel in Kings); 34:8 (see 2 Kin 22:3); 35:19 (see 2 Kin 23:23; see also note on 2 Chr 12:2). Chronicles makes it clear that the reform began in Josiah's 12th year (34:3), six years before the discovery of the book of the law.

34:1–2 See 2 Kin 22:1–2.

34:1 thirty-one years. 640–609 B.C.

34:3–7 The writer of Kings covers this aspect of Josiah's reform in much greater detail (2 Kin 23:4–20). He also delays his account of the removal of pagan cults until after the discovery of the book of the law, while the Chronicler places it before.

34:3 Some scholars have sought to tie the events of Josiah's 8th (v. 3), 12th (v. 3) and 18th (v. 8) years to stages in the progressive decline and fall of the Assyrian empire, which had dominated the area for about two centuries. The demise of Assyrian control in Aram and Israel undoubtedly facilitated and encouraged Josiah's reassertion of Davidic authority over former Assyrian provinces (vv. 6–7). However, one must not undercut religious motives in Josiah's reforms. Otherwise, the reform is reduced to merely a religious expression of an essentially political rebellion. Asherim. See note on 14:3.

34:6 Manasseh, Ephraim, Simeon, even as far as Naphtali. The Chronicler's concern for "all Israel" (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Purpose and Themes) is apparent in his recording the involvement of the northern tribes in Josiah's reform (see also vv. 9,21,33). The Chronicler again shows all Israel united under a Davidic king, just as he did under Hezekiah (see note on 30:1). Simeon. Perhaps some Simeonites had migrated from Judah to the north.

34:7 throughout the land of Israel. Defined by the list of tribes in v. 6.

34:8–21 See 2 Kin 22:3–13 and notes.

34:9 Manasseh and Ephraim, and from all the remnant of Israel. Again as part of his concern with "all Israel," the Chronicler notes that worshipers from the north also brought gifts to the temple (not explicitly indicated in 2 Kin 22:4).

34:10–13 Cf. 24:8–12.

Hilkiah Discovers Lost Book of the Law

14 When they were bringing out the money which had been brought into the house of the LORD, [a]Hilkiah the priest found the book of the law of the LORD given by Moses.

15 Hilkiah responded and said to Shaphan the scribe, "I have found the book of the law in the house of the LORD." And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan.

16 Then Shaphan brought the book to the king and [1]reported further word to the king, saying, "Everything that was [2]entrusted to your servants they are doing.

17 "They have also emptied out the money which was found in the house of the LORD, and have delivered it into the hands of the supervisors and the workmen."

18 Moreover, Shaphan the scribe told the king saying, "Hilkiah the priest gave me a book." And Shaphan read from it in the presence of the king.

19 When the king heard [a]the words of the law, [b]he tore his clothes.

20 Then the king commanded Hilkiah, Ahikam the son of Shaphan, [1]Abdon the son of Micah, Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiah the king's servant, saying,

21 "Go, inquire of the LORD for me and for those who are left in Israel and in Judah, concerning the words of the book which has been found; for [a]great is the wrath of the LORD which is poured out on us because our fathers have not observed the word of the LORD, to do according to all that is written in this book."

Huldah, the Prophetess, Speaks

22 So Hilkiah and those whom the king [1]had told went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of [2]Tokhath, the son of Hasrah, the keeper of the wardrobe (now she lived in Jerusalem in the Second Quarter); and they spoke to her regarding this.

23 She said to them, "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, 'Tell the man who sent you to Me, 24 thus says the LORD, "Behold, [a]I am bringing evil on this place and on its inhabitants, even all [b]the curses written in the book which they have read in the presence of the king of Judah.

25 "[a]Because they have forsaken Me and have burned incense to other gods, that they might provoke Me to anger with all the works of their hands; therefore My wrath will be poured out on this place and it shall not be quenched." '

26 "But to the king of Judah who sent you to inquire of the LORD, thus you will say to him, 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel regarding the words which you have heard,

27 "[a]Because your heart was tender and you humbled yourself before God when you heard His words against this place and against its inhabitants, and because you humbled yourself before Me, tore your clothes and wept before Me, I truly have heard you," declares the LORD.

28 "Behold, I will gather you to your fathers and you shall be gathered to your grave in peace, so your eyes will not see all the evil which I will bring on this place and on its inhabitants." ' " And they brought back word to the king.

29 [a]Then the king sent and gathered all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem.

30 The king went up to the house of the LORD and [a]all the men of Judah, the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the priests, the Levites and all the people, from the greatest to the least; and he read in their hearing all the words of the book of the covenant which was found in the house of the LORD.

Josiah's Good Reign

31 Then the king [a]stood in his place and [b]made a covenant before the LORD to walk after the LORD, and to keep His commandments and His testimonies and His statutes with all his heart and with all his soul, to perform the words of the covenant written in this book.

32 Moreover, he made all who were present in Jerusalem and Benjamin to stand with him. So the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the covenant of God, the God of their fathers.

33 Josiah [a]removed all the abominations from all the lands belonging to the sons of Israel, and made all who were present in Israel to serve the LORD their God. Throughout his [1]lifetime they did not turn from following the LORD God of their fathers.

The Passover Observed Again

35 Then Josiah [a]celebrated the Passover to the LORD in Jerusalem, and [b]they slaughtered the Passover animals on the fourteenth day of the first month.

35:1–19 The Chronicler gives much more extensive coverage to Josiah's Passover celebration than is found in the brief allusion in Kings (2 Kin 23:21–23).

35:1 first month. The traditional month; contrast the Passover of Hezekiah (see note on 30:2).

[a]encouraged them in the service of the house of the LORD.

3 He also said to [a]the Levites who taught all Israel and who were holy to the LORD, "Put the holy ark in the house which Solomon the son of David king of Israel built; [b]it will be a burden on your shoulders no longer. Now serve the LORD your God and His people Israel.

4 "[a]Prepare yourselves by your fathers' households in your divisions, according to the writing of David king of Israel and [b]according to the writing of his son Solomon.

5 "Moreover, [a]stand in the holy place according to the sections of the fathers' households of your brethren the [1]lay people, and according to the Levites, by division of a father's household.

6 "Now [a]slaughter the Passover animals, [b]sanctify yourselves and prepare for your brethren to do according to the word of the LORD by Moses."

7 Josiah contributed to the lay people, to all who were present, flocks of lambs and young goats, all for the Passover offerings, numbering 30,000 plus 3,000 bulls; these were from the king's possessions.

8 His officers also contributed a freewill offering to the people, the priests and the Levites. Hilkiah and Zechariah and Jehiel, [a]the officials of the house of God, gave to the priests for the Passover offerings 2,600 from the flocks and 300 bulls.

9 [a]Conaniah also, and Shemaiah and Nethanel, his brothers, and Hashabiah and Jeiel and Jozabad, the officers of the Levites, contributed to the Levites for the Passover offerings 5,000 from the flocks and 500 bulls.

10 So the service was prepared, and [a]the priests stood at their stations and the Levites by their divisions according to the king's command.

11 [1][a]They slaughtered the Passover animals, and while [b]the priests sprinkled [2]the blood received from their hand, [c]the Levites skinned them.

12 Then they removed the burnt offerings that they might give them to the sections of the fathers' households of the lay people to present to the LORD, as it is written in the book of Moses. They did this also with the bulls.

13 So [a]they roasted the Passover animals on the fire according to the ordinance, and they boiled [b]the holy things in pots, in kettles, in pans, and carried them speedily to all the lay people.

14 Afterwards they prepared for themselves and for the priests, because the priests, the sons of Aaron, were offering the burnt offerings and the fat until night; therefore the Levites prepared for themselves and for the priests, the sons of Aaron.

15 The singers, the sons of Asaph, were also at their stations [a]according to the command of David, Asaph, Heman, and Jeduthun the king's seer; and [b]the gatekeepers at each gate did not have to depart from their service, because the Levites their brethren prepared for them.

16 So all the service of the LORD was prepared on that day to celebrate the Passover, and to offer burnt offerings on the altar of the LORD according to the command of King Josiah.

17 Thus [a]the sons of Israel who were present celebrated the Passover at that time, and the Feast of Unleavened Bread seven days.

18 [a]There had not been celebrated a Passover like it in Israel since the days of Samuel the prophet; nor had any of the kings of Israel celebrated such a Passover as Josiah did with the priests, the Levites, all Judah and Israel who were present, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

19 In the eighteenth year of Josiah's reign this Passover was celebrated.

Josiah Dies in Battle

20 [a]After all this, when Josiah had set the [1]temple in order, Neco king of Egypt came up to make war at [b]Carchemish on the Euphrates, and Josiah went out to engage him.

21 But [1]Neco sent messengers to him, saying, "[a]What have we to do with each other, O King of Judah? I am not coming against you today but against the house with which I am at war, and God has ordered me to hurry. Stop for your own sake from interfering 35:3 Put the holy ark in the house. Implies that it had been removed, perhaps for protection during the evil reigns of Manasseh and Amon, who preceded Josiah.

35:4 David . . . Solomon. The Chronicler specifically parallels David and Solomon in three cases: 7:10 (contrast 1 Kin 8:66, where only David is mentioned); 11:17; and here. This tendency reflects his glorification and idealization of both (see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Portrait of David and Solomon).

35:7–9 The emphasis in Chronicles on voluntary and joyful giving (24:8–14; 29:31–36; 31:3–21; 1 Chr 29:3–9) presumably had direct relevance to the postexilic readers for whom the Chronicler wrote.

35:18 since the days of Samuel the prophet. Instead of "from the days of the judges" (2 Kin 23:22).

35:19 eighteenth year. The same year as the discovery of the book of the law (34:8,14).

35:20–27 See 2 Kin 23:28–30. In 609 B.C. Pharaoh Neco "went up to the king of Assyria to the river Euphrates" (2 Kin 23:29) against the Babylonians.

35:20 at Carchemish. Not found in Kings.

35:21–22 Unique to the Chronicler, showing his view on retribution once again: Josiah's death in battle comes as a result of his disobedience to the word of God as heard even in the mouth of the pagan pharaoh.

35:21 house with which I am at war. A reference to the Babylonians; Nabopolassar was on the throne of Babylon, while his son Nebuchadnezzar was commanding the armies in the field. Nebuchadnezzar would succeed his father after another battle with God who is with me, so that He will not destroy you."

22 However, Josiah would not turn [1]away from him, but [a]disguised himself in order to make war with him; nor did he listen to the words of Neco [b]from the mouth of God, but came to make war on the plain of [c]Megiddo.

23 The archers shot King Josiah, and the king said to his servants, "Take me away, for I am badly wounded."

24 So his servants took him out of the chariot and carried him in the second chariot which he had, and brought him to Jerusalem [1]where he died and was buried in the tombs of his fathers. [a]All Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Josiah.

25 Then [a]Jeremiah chanted a lament for Josiah. And all the male and female singers speak about Josiah in their lamentations to this day. And they made them an ordinance in Israel; behold, they are also written in the Lamentations.

26 Now the rest of the acts of Josiah and his deeds of devotion as written in the law of the LORD, 27 and his acts, first to last, behold, they are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah.

Jehoahaz, Jehoiakim, then Jehoiachin Rule

36 [a]Then the people of the land took [1b]Joahaz the son of Josiah, and made him king in place of his father in Jerusalem.

2 Joahaz was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem.

3 Then the king of Egypt deposed him at Jerusalem, and imposed on the land a fine of one hundred talents of silver and one talent of gold.

4 The king of Egypt made Eliakim his brother king over Judah and Jerusalem, and changed his name to Jehoiakim. But [a]Neco took Joahaz his brother and brought him to Egypt.

5 [a]Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem; and he did evil in the sight of the LORD his God.

6 Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up [a]against him and [b]bound him with bronze chains to take him to Babylon.

7 [a]Nebuchadnezzar also brought some of the articles of the house of the LORD to Babylon and put them in his temple at Babylon.

8 [a]Now the rest of the acts of Jehoiakim and [1]the abominations which he did, and what was found against him, behold, they are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah. And Jehoiachin his son became king in his place.

9 [a]Jehoiachin was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem, and he did evil in the sight of the LORD.

Captivity in Babylon Begun at Carchemish against Egypt in 605 B.C. Josiah may have been an ally of Babylon (see 32:31; 33:11 and notes).

35:22 disguised himself. Cf. Ahab and Jehoshaphat (see 18:29 and note). plain of Megiddo. See note on Judg 5:19.

35:24b–25 Unique to Chronicles.

35:25 Jeremiah chanted a lament for Josiah. Jeremiah held Josiah in high esteem (Jer 22:15–16). The laments he composed are no longer extant. The statement that he composed laments is one of the reasons the book of Lamentations has been traditionally associated with him. to this day. See note on 5:9.

36:2–14 Josiah is the only king of Judah to be succeeded by three of his sons (Jehoahaz, Jehoiakim and Zedekiah). The Chronicler's account of the reigns of the remaining kings of Judah is quite brief.

36:2 See 2 Kin 23:31–35. With the death of Josiah at the hands of Pharaoh Neco, Judah slipped into a period of Egyptian domination (vv. 3–4). three months. In 609 B.C. Neco's assertion of authority over Judah ended the brief 20 years of Judahite independence under Josiah. The Chronicler makes no moral judgment on this brief reign, though the author of Kings does (2 Kin 23:32).

36:4 Just as Neco took Jehoahaz into captivity and replaced him with Eliakim, whose name he changed to Jehoiakim, so also Nebuchadnezzar would later take Jehoiachin to Babylon, replacing him with Mattaniah, whose name he changed to Zedekiah (2 Kin 24:15–17). Each conqueror wanted to place his own man on the throne; the change of name implied authority over him.

36:5–8 See 2 Kin 23:36–24:7. Jehoiakim persecuted the prophets and is the object of scathing denunciation by Jeremiah (Jer 25–26; 36). After the Egyptian defeat at Carchemish (Jer 46:2) in 605 B.C., Jehoiakim transferred allegiance to Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon. When he later rebelled and again allied himself with Egypt, Nebuchadnezzar sent a punitive army against him. But Jehoiakim died before the army arrived, and Nebuchadnezzar took his son Jehoiachin into captivity.

36:5 eleven years. 609–598 B.C.

36:9–10 See 2 Kin 24:8–17; see also Jer 22:24–28; 24:1; 29:2; 52:31. Although Jehoiachin was taken into captivity (597 B.C.) with a large retinue, including the queen mother and high officials, and was succeeded by Zedekiah, the exiles continued to date in terms of his reign (Jer 52:31; Ezek 1:2; cf. Esth 2:5–6).

36:9 three months and ten days. 598–597 B.C.

36:11–14 See 2 Kin 24:18–20; Jer 52:1–3. Verses 13b–14 are unique to the Chronicler (cf. Jer 1:3; 21:1–7; 24:8; 27:1–15; 32:1–5; 34:1–7,21; 37:1–39:7). Zedekiah succumbed to the temptation to look to Egypt for help and rebelled against Nebuchadnezzar. Babylonian reaction was swift. Jerusalem was besieged (Jer 21:3–7) in 588 B.C. and held out for over two years before being destroyed in the summer of 586.

giance by God. But [b]he stiffened his neck and hardened his heart against turning to the LORD God of Israel.

14 Furthermore, all the officials of the priests and the people were very unfaithful following all the abominations of the nations; and they defiled the house of the LORD which He had sanctified in Jerusalem.

15 The LORD, the God of their fathers, [a]sent word to them again and again by His messengers, because He had compassion on His people and on His dwelling place;

16 but they continually [a]mocked the messengers of God, [b]despised His words and scoffed at His prophets, [c]until the wrath of the LORD arose against His people, until there was no remedy.

17 [a]Therefore He brought up against them the king of the Chaldeans who slew their young men with the sword in the house of their sanctuary, and had no compassion on young man or virgin, old man or infirm; He gave them all into his hand.

18 [a]All the articles of the house of God, great and small, and the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king and of his officers, he brought them all to Babylon.

19 Then [a]they burned the house of God and broke down the wall of Jerusalem, and burned all its fortified buildings with fire and destroyed all its valuable articles.

20 Those who had escaped from the sword he [a]carried away to Babylon; and [b]they were servants to him and to his sons until the rule of the kingdom of Persia,

36:15–16 See 24:19 and note.

36:20–21 The conclusion of the two Biblical histories is interestingly different: The writer(s) of Samuel and Kings had sought to show why the exile occurred and had traced the sad history of Israel's disobedience to the exile, the time in which the writer(s) of those books lived. With the state at an end, he could still show God's faithfulness to His promises to David (2 Kin 25:27–30) by reporting the favor bestowed on his descendants. The Chronicler, whose vantage point was after the exile, was able to look back to the exile not only as judgment, but also as containing hope for the future. For him the purified remnant had returned to a purified land (vv. 22–23), and a new age was beginning. The exile was not judgment alone, but also blessing, for it allowed the land to catch up on its sabbath rests (Lev 26:40–45). And God had remembered His covenant (Lev 26:45) and restored His people to the land (see next note).

36:22–23 The writer of Kings concluded his history before the restoration; so this text is not paralleled in his account. It is repeated, however, at the beginning of Ezra (1:1–4), which resumes the history at the point where Chronicles ends—indicating that Chronicles and Ezra may have been written by the same author. See the prophecy of Jeremiah (Jer 25:1–14; cf. Dan 9). Cyrus also issued decrees for other captive peoples, allowing them to return to their lands. Under God's sovereignty, this effort by a Persian king to win the favor of peoples treated harshly by the Babylonians also inaugurated the restoration period. See notes on Ezra 1:1–4.

Ezra

Ezra and Nehemiah

Although the caption to Neh 1:1, "The words of Nehemiah the son of Hacaliah," indicates that Ezra and Nehemiah were originally two separate compositions, they were combined as one in the earliest Hebrew manuscripts. Josephus (c. A.D. 37–100) and the Jewish Talmud refer to the book of Ezra but not to a separate book of Nehemiah. The oldest manuscripts of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) also treat Ezra and Nehemiah as one book.

Origen (A.D. 185–253) is the first writer known to distinguish between two books, which he called I Ezra and II Ezra. In translating the Latin Vulgate (A.D. 390–405), Jerome called Nehemiah the second book of Esdrae (Ezra). The English translations by Wycliffe (1382) and Coverdale (1535) also called Ezra "I Esdras" and Nehemiah "II Esdras." The same separation first appeared in a Hebrew manuscript in 1448.

Literary Form and Authorship

As in the closely related books of 1 and 2 Chronicles, one notes the prominence of various lists in Ezra and Nehemiah, which have evidently been obtained from official sources. Included are lists of (1) the temple articles (Ezra 1:9–11), (2) the returned exiles (Ezra 2, which is virtually the same as Neh 7:6–73), (3) the genealogy of Ezra (Ezra 7:1–5), (4) the heads of the clans (Ezra 8:1–14), (5) those involved in mixed marriages (Ezra 10:18–43), (6) those who helped rebuild the wall (Neh 3), (7) those who sealed the covenant (Neh 10:1–27), (8) residents of Jerusalem and other towns (Neh 11:3–36) and (9) priests and Levites (Neh 12:1–26).

Also included in Ezra are seven official documents or letters (all in Aramaic except the first, which is in Hebrew): (1) the decree of Cyrus (1:2–4), (2) the accusation of Rehum and others against the Jews (4:11–16), (3) the reply of Artaxerxes I (4:17–22), (4) the report from Tattenai (5:7–17), (5) the memorandum of Cyrus's decree (6:2b-5), (6) Darius's reply to Tattenai (6:6–12) and (7) the authorization given by Artaxerxes I to Ezra (7:12–26). The documents compare favorably with contemporary non-Biblical documents of the Persian period.

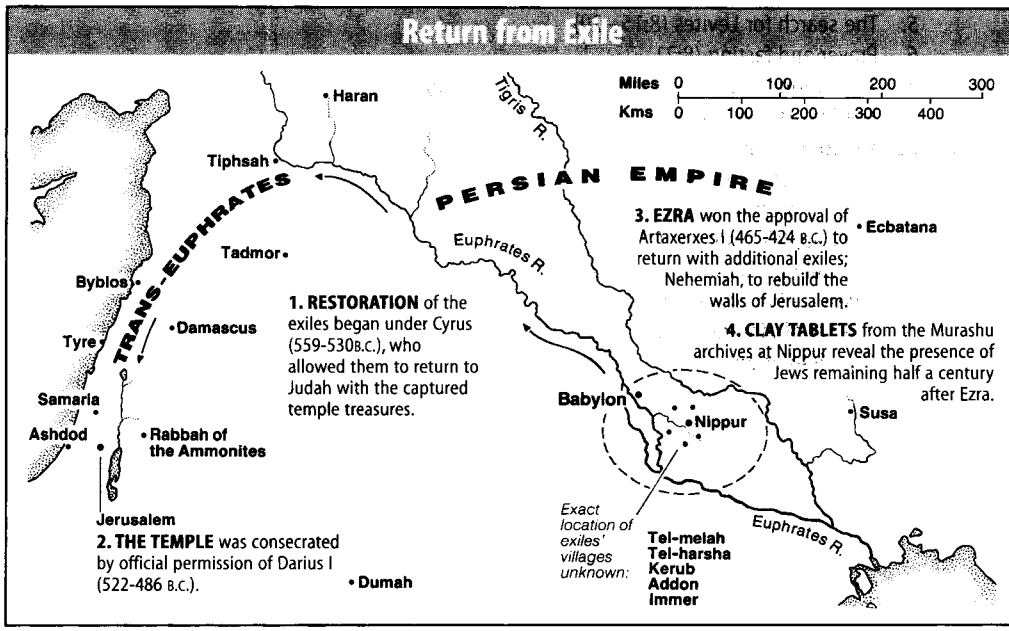
Certain materials in Ezra are first-person extracts from his memoirs: 7:27–28; 8:1–34; 9. Other sections are written in the third person: 7:1–26; 10; see also Neh 8. Linguistic analysis has shown that the first-person and third-person extracts resemble each other, making it likely that the same author wrote both.

Most scholars conclude that the author/compiler of Ezra and Nehemiah was also the author of 1,2 Chronicles. This viewpoint is based on certain characteristics common to both Chronicles and Ezra-Nehemiah. The verses at the end of Chronicles and at the beginning of Ezra are virtually identical. Both Chronicles and Ezra-Nehemiah exhibit a fondness for lists, for the description of religious festivals and for such phrases as "heads of fathers' households" and "the house of God." Especially striking in these books is the prominence of Levites and temple personnel. The words for "singer," "gatekeeper" and "temple servants" are used almost exclusively in Ezra-Nehemiah and Chronicles. See Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Author, Date and Sources.

Date

We may date the composition of Ezra c. 440 B.C. and the Nehemiah memoirs c. 430.

The Order of Ezra and Nehemiah



According to the traditional view, Ezra arrived in Jerusalem in the seventh year (Ezra 7:8) of Artaxerxes I (458 B.C.), followed by Nehemiah, who arrived in the king's 20th year (445; Neh 2:1).

Some have proposed a reverse order in which Nehemiah arrived in 445 B.C., while Ezra arrived in the seventh year of Artaxerxes II (398). By amending "seventh" (Ezra 7:8) to either "27th" or "37th," others place Ezra after Nehemiah but maintain that they were contemporaries.

These alternative views, however, present more problems than the traditional position. As the text stands, Ezra arrived before Nehemiah and they are found together in Neh 8:9 (at the reading of the Law) and Neh 12:26,36 (at the dedication of the wall). See chart, p. 637.

Languages

Ezra and Nehemiah were written in a form of late Hebrew with the exception of Ezra 4:8—6:18; 7:12–26, which were written in Aramaic, the international language during the Persian period. Of these 67 Aramaic verses, 52 are in records or letters. Ezra evidently found these documents in Aramaic and copied them, inserting connecting verses in Aramaic.

Cyrus's Proclamation

1 [a]Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, in order to fulfill the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah, the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, so that he [b]sent a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and also put it in writing, saying:

2 "Thus says Cyrus king of Persia, 'The LORD, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth and [a]He has appointed me to build Him a house in Jerusalem, which is in Judah.

3 'Whoever there is among you of all His people, may his God be with him! Let him go up to Jerusalem which is in Judah and rebuild the house of the LORD, the God of Israel; [a]He is the God who is in Jerusalem.

4 'Every survivor, at whatever place he may [1]live, let the men of [2]that place support him with silver and gold, with goods and cattle, together with a freewill offering for the house of God which is in Jerusalem.' "

Holy Vessels Restored

5 Then the heads of fathers' households of Judah and Benjamin and the priests and the Levites arose, [a]even everyone whose spirit God had stirred to go up and rebuild the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem.

6 All those about them [1][a]encouraged them with articles of silver, with gold, with goods, with cattle and with valuables, aside from all that was given as a freewill offering.

7 [a]Also King Cyrus brought out the articles of the house of the LORD, [b]which Nebuchadnezzar had carried away from Jerusalem and put in the house of his gods;

8 and Cyrus, king of Persia, had them brought out by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and he counted them out to [a]Sheshbazzar, the prince of Judah.

9 Now this was their number: 30 [a]gold dishes, 1,000 silver dishes, 29 [1]duplicates;

10 30 gold bowls, 410 silver bowls of a second kind and 1,000 other articles.

1:1–3a Virtually identical with the last two verses of 2 Chronicles. This fact has been used to argue that Chronicles and Ezra-Nehemiah were written and/or edited by the same person, the so-called Chronicler. However, the repetition may have been a device of the author of Chronicles (or less probably of Ezra) to dovetail the narratives chronologically.

1:1 first year. Of the reign of Cyrus over Babylon, beginning in March, 538 B.C., after he captured Babylon in October, 539. Cyrus, the founder of the Persian empire, reigned over the Persians from 559 until 530. Is 44:28; 45:1 speak of him as the Lord's "shepherd" and His "anointed." to fulfill the word of the LORD by the mouth of Jeremiah. Jeremiah prophesied a 70-year Babylonian captivity (Jer 25:11–12; 29:10). The first deportation began in 605, the third year of Jehoiakim (Dan 1:1); in 538, approximately 70 years later, the people began to return.

1:2–4 This oral proclamation of Cyrus's decree was written in Hebrew, the language of the Israelite captives, in contrast to the copy of the decree in 6:3–5, which was an Aramaic memorandum for the archives.

1:2 God of heaven. Of the 22 OT occurrences of the phrase, 17 occur in Ezra, Nehemiah and Daniel. house in Jerusalem. Jerusalem and the house of God are prominent subjects in Ezra and Nehemiah.

1:3 Cyrus instituted the policy of placating the gods of his subject peoples instead of carrying off their cult images as the Assyrians and the Babylonians had done earlier. His generosity to the Jews was paralleled by his benevolence to the Babylonians.

1:4 Every survivor, at whatever place he may live. Probably designates the many Jews who did not wish to leave Mesopotamia. freewill offering. A key to the restoration of God's temple and its services (see 2:68; 3:5; 8:28).

1:5 heads of fathers' households. In ancient times families were extended families—more like clans than modern nuclear families. The authority figure was the patriarch, who was the "head of the household." See 10:16; see also 2:59; Neh 7:61; 10:34. Judah and Benjamin. The two main tribes of the kingdom of Judah, which the Babylonians had exiled. Levites. See Introduction to Leviticus: Title.

1:7 It was the custom for conquerors to carry off the images of the gods of conquered cities. Since the Jews did not have an image of the Lord (see note on Ex 20:4), Nebuchadnezzar carried away only the temple articles.

1:8 Mithredath. A Persian name meaning "given by/to Mithra," a Persian god who became popular among Roman soldiers in the second century A.D. Sheshbazzar. A Babylonian name meaning either "Sin, protect the father" or "Shamash/Shashu, protect the father." Sin was the moon-god, and Shamash (Shashu is a variant) was the sun-god. In spite of his Babylonian name, Sheshbazzar was probably a Jewish official who served as a deputy governor of Judah under the satrap in Samaria (see 5:14). Some believe that Sheshbazzar and Zerubbabel were the same person and give the following reasons: 1. Both were governors (5:14; Hag 1:1; 2:2). 2. Both are said to have laid the foundation of the temple (3:2–8; 5:16; Hag 1:14–15; Zech 4:6–10). 3. Jews in Babylon were often given "official" Babylonian names (cf. Dan 1:7). 4. Josephus (Antiquities, 11.1.3) seems to identify Sheshbazzar with Zerubbabel.

Others point out, however, that the Apocrypha distinguishes between the two men (1 Esdras 6:18). Furthermore, it is likely that Sheshbazzar was an elderly man at the time of the return, while Zerubbabel was probably a younger contemporary. Sheshbazzar also may have been viewed as the official governor, while Zerubbabel served as the popular leader (3:8–11). Whereas the high priest Jeshua is associated with Zerubbabel, no priest is associated with Sheshbazzar. Although Sheshbazzar presided over the foundation of the temple in 536 B.C., so little was accomplished that Zerubbabel had to preside over a second foundation some 16 years later (see Hag 1:14–15; Zech 4:6–10).

Still others hold that Sheshbazzar is to be identified with Shenazzar (1 Chr 3:18), the fourth son of King Jeconiah. Zerubbabel would then have been Sheshbazzar's nephew (compare 3:2 with 1 Chr 3:18).

1:9–11 When Assyrian and Babylonian conquerors carried off plunder, their scribes made a careful inventory of all the goods seized. The total of the figures in vv. 9–10 adds up to 2,499 rather than the 5,400 of v. 11. It may be that only the larger and more valuable vessels were specified.

1:11 We are not told anything about the details of Sheshbazzar's journey, which probably took place in 537 B.C. Judging from Ezra's later journey (7:8–9), the trip took about four months. See map No. 7b at the end of the study Bible; see also map, p. 633.

bered 5,400. Sheshbazzar brought them all up with the exiles who went up from Babylon to Jerusalem.

2:1–70 The list of returning exiles in ch. 2 almost exactly parallels the list in Neh 7:6–73 (see also 1 Esdras 5:4–46 in the Apocrypha). The list of localities indicates that people retained the memories of their homes and that exiles from a wide background of tribes, villages and towns returned. In comparing the list here with that in Neh 7, one notes many differences in the names and numbers listed. About 20 percent of the numbers, e.g., are not the same in Ezra and Nehemiah. Many of these differences may be explained, however, by assuming that a cipher notation was used with vertical strokes for units and horizontal strokes for tens, which led to copying errors.

2:1 province. Probably Judah (cf. 5:8, where the Aramaic word for "province" occurs; see also Neh 1:3).

2:2 Zerubbabel. See notes on 3:2; 5:2. Jeshua. Means "The LORD saves" and is an Aramaic variant of Hebrew "Joshua." The Greek form is "Jesus" (see note on Matt 1:21). Jeshua is the same as the Joshua of Hag 1:1, the son of the high priest Jehozadak (Jozadak, Ezra 3:2), who was taken into exile (1 Chr 6:15). Nehemiah. Not the Nehemiah of the book by that name. Mordecai. A Babylonian name based on that of Marduk the god of Babylon (cf. Jer 50:2). Esther's cousin had the same name (Esth 2:7).

2:3 Parosh. Means "flea" (Israelites were often named after insects and animals). Members of this family, as well as of several other families named in vv. 6–14, also returned with Ezra (8:3–14).

2:5 Arah. Probably means "wild ox." Since the name is rare in the OT and has been found in documents from Mesopotamia, it may have been adopted during the exile.

2:6 Pahath-moab. Means "governor of Moab" and may have once designated an official title.

2:12 Azgad. Cf. 8:12; means "Gad is strong." It is a reference either to Gad (the god of fortune, referred to in Is 65:11) or to the Transjordanian tribe of Gad.

2:16 Ater. Means "left-handed," as in Judg 3:15; 20:16.

2:21–35 Whereas the names in vv. 3–20 are of families, vv. 21–35 present a series of villages and towns, many of which were in Benjamite territory north of Jerusalem. It is significant that there are no references to towns in the Negev, south of Judah. When Nebuchadnezzar overran Judah in 597 B.C. (Jer 13:19), the Edomites (see the book of Obadiah) took advantage of the situation and occupied that area.

2:21 men of Bethlehem. The ancestors of Jesus may have been among the returnees (see 1 Sam 17:12; 20:6; Mic 5:2; Luke 2:4).

2:23 Anathoth. See note on Jer 1:1.

2:28 Bethel. See note on Gen 12:8. Towns such as Bethel, Mizpah, Gibeon and Gibeah seem to have escaped the Babylonian assault. Bethel, however, was destroyed in the transition between the Babylonian and Persian periods. Archaeological excavations reveal that there was a small town on the site in Ezra's day.

2:31 See v. 7.

2:33 Lod. Modern Lydda.

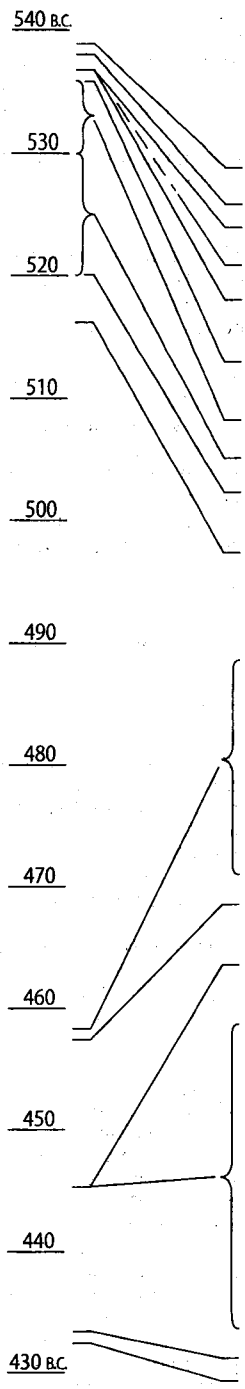
2:35 Senaah. The largest number of returnees—3,630 (3,930 in Neh 7:38)—is associated with Senaah. It has therefore been suggested that they did not come from a specific locality or family, but represented the poorer and lower classes of people, as inferred from the meaning of the name ("the hated one").



2:36–39 Four clans of priests numbering 4,289, about a tenth of the total.

2:40 Levites. See Introduction to Leviticus: Title. 74. The number of Levites who returned was relatively small (cf. 8:15). Since the Levites had been entrusted with the menial tasks of temple service, many of them may have found a more comfortable way of life in exile.

2:41 Asaph. One of the three Levites appointed by David over the temple singers (1 Chr 25:1; 2 Chr 5:12; 35:15), whose duties are detailed in 1 Chr 15:16–24.

2:42 gatekeepers. Usually Levites (1 Chr 9:26; 2 Chr 23:4; 35:15; Neh 12:25; 13:22). They are mentioned 16 times in Ezra-Nehemiah and 19 times in Chronicles. Their primary function was to tend the doors and gates of the temple (1 Chr 9:17–27) and to perform other menial tasks (1 Chr 9:28–32; 2 Chr 31:14).

2:43–57 The temple servants and the descendants of Solomon's servants together numbered 392 (v. 58), which was more than the total of the Levites, singers and gatekeepers together (vv. 40–42).

2:46 Hanan. Means "(God) is gracious." The verb "to be gracious" and its derivatives are the components of numerous personal names in the OT—e.g., Johanan ("The LORD is gracious"; see 8:12), which has given us the English name John.

2:51 Bakbuk. Means "jar." It may have originally been a nickname for a fat man with a protruding belly. Cf. Jer 19:1, 10, where the same Hebrew word is translated "jar"; see Jer 19:7, where the Hebrew for "make a void" means lit. "pour out" and sounds like the Hebrew for "jar."

2:53 Barkos. Means "son of Kos" (or Qos, an Edomite god).

2:55,58 sons of Solomon's servants. The phrase occurs only here and in Neh 7:57,60; 11:3. These may be the descendants of the Canaanites whom Solomon enslaved (1 Kin 9:20–21).

2:55 Hassophereth. Probably means "the scribal office/function" and may have once been an official title.

2:59–63 Individuals who lacked evidence of their ancestry.

2:59 Tel-melah . . . Immer. Places in Mesopotamia where the Jews were settled by their Babylonian captors. Tel-melah. Means "mound of salt," possibly a mound on which salt had been scattered (see Judg 9:45 and note). The Hebrew word tel designates a hill-like mound (see note on Josh 11:13) formed by the remains of a ruined city. The Jewish exiles had been settled along the Chebar River (Ezek 1:1), perhaps near Nippur, a city in southern Mesopotamia that was the stronghold of rebels. The Jews had probably been settled on the mounds of ruined cities that had been depopulated by the Babylonians.

2:61 Barzillai. Means "man of iron." For another Barzillai see 2 Sam 17:27–29; 19:31–39; 1 Kin 2:7.

2:63 governor. Probably either Sheshbazzar or Zerubbabel (see note on 1:8). Urim and Thummim. See note on Ex 28:30.

2:64 42,360. Considerably more than the sum of the other figures given:

Categories	Ezra	Nehemiah	1 Esdras
Men of Israel	24,144	25,406	25,947
Priests	4,289	4,289	5,288
Levites, singers, gatekeepers	341	360	341
Temple servants, descendants of Solomon's servants	392	392	372
Men of unproven origin	652	642	652
Totals	29,818	31,089	32,600

It is difficult to account for the difference of about 10,000–12,000. The figure may refer to an unspecified 10,000–12,000 women and/or children, and it doubtless includes the priests of unproven origin referred to in vv. 61–63. Some suggest that the groups explicitly counted were returnees from Judah and Benjamin, while the remainder were from other tribes.

2:65 male and female servants. The ratio of servants to others (one to six) is relatively high. The fact that so many returned with their masters speaks highly of the benevolent treatment of servants by the Jews. singing men and women. The men and women singers listed here may be secular singers who sang at social events such as weddings and funerals (2 Chr 35:25), as distinct from the temple singers of v. 41, who were all male.

2:66 horses. Perhaps a donation from Cyrus for the nobility. mules. Often used by royalty and the wealthy (1 Kin 1:33; Is 66:20).

67 their camels, 435; their donkeys, 6,720.
68 Some of the heads of fathers' households, when they arrived at the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem, offered willingly for the house of God to [1]restore it on its foundation.
69 According to their ability they gave [a]to the treasury for the work 61,000 gold drachmas and 5,000 silver minas and 100 priestly [1]garments.
70 [a]Now the priests and the Levites, some of the people, the singers, the gatekeepers and the temple servants lived in their cities, and all Israel in their cities.

Altar and Sacrifices Restored

3 Now when the seventh month came, and [a]the sons of Israel were in the cities, the people gathered together as one man to Jerusalem.
2 Then [a]Jeshua the son of Jozadak and his brothers the priests, and [b]Zerubbabel the son [c]of Shealtiel and his brothers arose and [d]built the altar of the God of Israel to offer burnt offerings on it, [e]as it is written in the law of Moses, the man of God.
3 So they set up the altar on its foundation, for [1][a]they were terrified because of the peoples of the lands; and they [b]offered burnt offerings on it to the LORD, burnt offerings morning and evening.
4 They celebrated the [a]Feast of [1]Booths, [b]as it is written, and offered [2]the fixed number of burnt offerings daily, [c]according to the ordinance, as each day required;
5 and afterward there was a [a]continual burnt offering, also [b]for the new moons and [c]for all the fixed festivals of the LORD that were consecrated, and from everyone who offered a freewill offering to the LORD.
6 From the first day of the seventh month they began to offer burnt offerings to the LORD, but the foundation of the temple of the LORD had not been laid.
7 Then they gave money to the masons and carpenters, and [a]food, drink and oil to the Sidonians and to the Tyrians, [b]to bring cedar wood from Lebanon to the sea at [c]Joppa, according to the permission they had [1]from [d]Cyrus king of Persia.

Temple Restoration Begun

8 Now in the second year of their coming to the house of God at Jerusalem in the second month, [a]Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and Jeshua the son of Jozadak and the rest of their brothers the priests and the Levites, and all who came from the captivity to Jerusalem, began the work and [b]appointed the Levites from twenty years and older to oversee the work of the house of the LORD.
9 Then [a]Jeshua with his sons and brothers stood united with Kadmiel and his sons, the sons of [1]Judah and the sons of Henadad with their sons and brothers the Levites, to oversee the workmen in the temple of God.
10 Now when the builders had [a]laid the foundation of the temple of the LORD, [1]the priests stood in their apparel with trumpets, and the Levites, the sons of Asaph, with cymbals, to praise the LORD [b]according to the [2]directions of King David of Israel.
11 [a]They sang, praising and giving thanks to the LORD, saying, "[b]For He is good, for His

2:67 donkeys. Were used to carry loads, women or children. Sheep, goats and cattle are not mentioned. They would have slowed the caravan.
2:68 arrived . . . Jerusalem. For the route of the return from exile see map No. 7b at the end of the study Bible.
2:69 The parallel passage (Neh 7:70–72) gives a fuller description than the account in Ezra. In Ezra the gifts come from the heads of the families (v. 68), while in Nehemiah the gifts are credited to three sources: the governor, the heads of the families, and the rest of the people. drachmas. The drachma was a Greek silver coin. Some believe that the coin intended here was the Persian daric, a gold coin. minas. In the sexagesimal system (based on the number 60) that originated in Mesopotamia, there were 60 shekels in a mina and 60 minas in a talent. A shekel, which was about two-fifths of an ounce of silver, was the average wage for a month's work. Thus a mina would be the equivalent of five years' wages, and a talent would be 300 years' wages.
2:70 Later, Nehemiah (11:1–2) would be compelled to move people by lot to reinforce the population of Jerusalem.
3:1 seventh month. Tishri (September-October), about three months after the arrival of the exiles in Judah (in 537 B.C.). Tishri was one of the most sacred months of the Jewish year (see Lev 23:23–43 and notes).
3:2 Jeshua . . . Zerubbabel. The priest takes precedence over the civil leader in view of the nature of the occasion (contrast 3:8; 4:3; 5:2; Hag 1:1).
3:4 Feast of Booths. See Lev 23:33–43 and notes.
3:5 new moons. See note on 1 Sam 20:5. festivals . . . that were consecrated. See note on Lev 23:2. freewill offering. See note on 1:4. It is noteworthy that the restoration of the sacrifices preceded the erection of the temple itself.
3:7 cedar wood. As in the case of the first temple, the Phoenicians cooperated by sending timber and workmen (1 Kin 5:6–12).
3:8 second year. Since the Jews probably returned to Judah in the spring of 537 B.C., the second year would be the spring of 536. second month. The same month (April-May) in which Solomon had begun his temple (1 Kin 6:1). twenty years. In earlier times the lower age limit for Levites was 30 (Num 4:3) or 25 years (Num 8:24). It was later reduced to 20 (1 Chr 23:24,27; 2 Chr 31:17), probably because there were so few Levites.
3:10 trumpets. Made of hammered silver (see Num 10:2 and note). According to Josephus (Antiquities, 3.12.6—written C.A.D. 93), the trumpet was "in length a little short of a cubit; it is a narrow tube, slightly thicker than a flute." With the possible exception of their use at the coronation of Joash (2 Kin 11:14; 2 Chr 23:13), the trumpets were always blown by priests. They were most often used on joyous occasions, such as here and at the dedication of the rebuilt walls of Jerusalem (Neh 12:35; cf. 2 Chr 5:13; Ps 98:6). cymbals. The Hebrew for this word occurs 13 times in the OT, all in Chronicles except here and Neh 12:27.
3:11 sang. May mean "sang responsively," referring to antiphonal singing by a choir divided into two groups. He is good . . . His lovingkindness is . . . forever. See, e.g., 1 Chr 16:34; lovingkindness is upon Israel forever." And all the people shouted with a great shout when they praised the LORD because the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid.

12 Yet many of the priests and Levites and heads of fathers' households, [a]the old men who had seen the first [1]temple, wept with a loud voice when the foundation of this house was laid before their eyes, while many shouted aloud for joy,

13 so that the people could not distinguish the sound of the shout of joy from the sound of the weeping of the people, for the people shouted with a loud shout, and the sound was heard far away.

Adversaries Hinder the Work

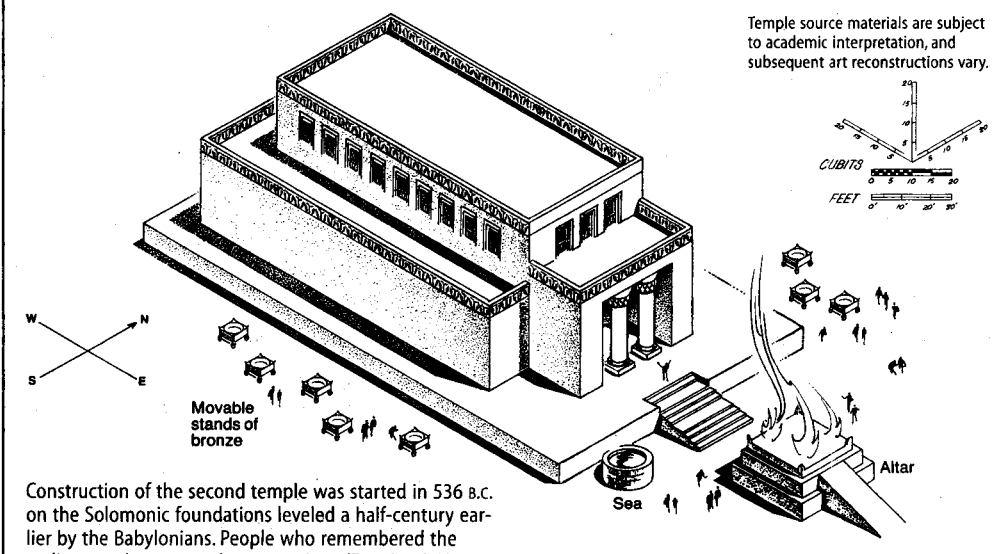
3:13 shout of joy . . . sound of the weeping. The people of Israel were accustomed to showing their emotions in visible and audible ways (10:1; Neh 1:4; 8:9). The same God who had permitted judgment had now brought them back and would enable them to complete the project. A Babylonian cornerstone reads: "I started the work weeping, I finished it rejoicing." Cf. Ps 126:5–6.



4:1–23 A summary of various attempts to thwart the efforts of the Jews. In vv. 1–5 the author describes events in the reign of Cyrus (559–530 B.C.), in v. 6 the reign of Ahasuerus (486–465) and in vv. 7–23 the reign of Artaxerxes I (465–424). He then reverts in v. 24 to the time of Darius I (522–486), during whose reign the temple was completed (see 5:1–2; 6:13–15; Haggai; Zech 1:1–17; 4:9).

4:1 enemies. The people who offered their "help" (v. 2) were from Samaria. Judah and Benjamin. See notes on 1:5; 1 Kin 12:21.

4:2 After the fall of Samaria in 722–721 B.C., the Assyrian kings brought in people from Mesopotamia and Aram. These people served their own gods but also took up the worship of the Lord as the god of the land (2 Kin 17:24–41). Esarhaddon. See note on 2 Kin 19:37.

Zerubbabel's Temple

Temple source materials are subject to academic interpretation, and subsequent art reconstructions vary.

Construction of the second temple was started in 536 B.C. on the Solomonic foundations leveled a half-century earlier by the Babylonians. People who remembered the earlier temple wept at the comparison (Ezra 3:12). Not until 516 B.C., the 6th year of the Persian emperor Darius I (522-486), was the temple finally completed at the urging of Haggai and Zechariah (Ezra 6:13-15).

Archaeological evidence confirms that the Persian period in the Holy Land was a comparatively impoverished one in terms of material culture. Later Aramaic documents from Elephantine in Upper Egypt illustrate the official process of gaining permission to construct a Jewish place of worship, and the opposition engendered by the presence of various foes during this period.

Of the temple and its construction, little is known. Among the few contemporary buildings, the Persian palace at Lachish and the Tobiad monument at Iraq el-Amir may be compared in terms of technique.

Unlike the more famous structures razed in 586 B.C. and A.D. 70, the temple begun by Zerubbabel suffered no major hostile destruction, but was gradually repaired and reconstructed over a long period. Eventually it was replaced entirely by Herod's magnificent edifice.

3 But Zerubbabel and Jeshua and the rest of the heads of fathers' households of Israel said to them, "[a]You have nothing in common with us in building a house to our God; but we ourselves will together build to the LORD God of Israel, [b]as King Cyrus, the king of Persia has commanded us."

4 Then [a]the people of the land [1]discouraged the people of Judah, and frightened them from building,

5 and hired counselors against them to frustrate their counsel all the days of Cyrus king of Persia, even until the reign of Darius king of Persia.

6 Now in the reign of [1a]Ahasuerus, in the beginning of his reign, they wrote an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

7 And in the days of [1]Artaxerxes, Bishlam, Mithredath, Tabeel and the rest of his colleagues wrote to Artaxerxes king of Persia; and the [2]text of the letter was written in Aramaic and translated [a]from Aramaic.

The Letter to King Artaxerxes

9 then wrote Rehum the commander and Shimshai the scribe and [a]the rest of their colleagues, the judges and [b]the lesser governors, the officials, the secretaries, the men of Erech, the Babylonians, the men of Susa, that is, the Elamites,

10 and the rest of the nations which the great and honorable [1]Osnappar deported and settled in the city of Samaria, and in the rest of the region beyond the [2]River. [a]Now

11 this is the copy of the letter which they sent to him:

"To King Artaxerxes: Your servants, the men in the region beyond the River, and now

12 let it be known to the king that the Jews who came up from you have come to us at Jerusalem; they are rebuilding [a]the rebellious and evil city and [b]are finishing the walls and repairing the foundations.

13 "Now let it be known to the king, that if that city is rebuilt and the walls are finished, [a]they will not pay tribute, custom or toll, and it will damage the revenue of the kings.

14 "Now because we [1]are in the service of the palace, and it is not fitting for us to see the king's dishonor, therefore we have sent and informed the king,

15 so that a search may be made in the record books of your fathers. And you will discover in the record books and learn that

4:4 people of the land. Josephus (Antiquities, 11.2.1) singles out especially the Cutheans (see 2 Kin 17:24,30). frightened them. The Hebrew for this verb often describes the fear aroused in a battle situation (Judg 20:41; 2 Sam 4:1; 2 Chr 32:18).
4:5 hired. Cf. the hiring of Balaam (Deut 23:4–5; Neh 13:2) and the hiring of a prophet to intimidate Nehemiah (Neh 6:12–13).
4:6 Ahasuerus. See the book of Esther. When Darius died in 486 B.C., Egypt rebelled, and Ahasuerus, the son of Darius, had to march west to suppress the revolt.
4:7 Artaxerxes. Three Persian kings bore this name: Artaxerxes I (465–424 B.C.), II (404–358) and III (358–338). The king here is Artaxerxes I. Mithredath. See 1:8 and note. Tabeel. An Aramaic name (see Is 7:6 and note). wrote. Near Eastern kings employed an elaborate system of informers and spies. Egyptian sources speak of the "ears and eyes" of Pharaoh. Sargon II of Assyria had agents in Urartu whom he ordered: "Write me whatever you see and hear." The King's Eye and the King's Ear were two officials who reported to the Persian monarch.
4:8–6:18 For this passage the author draws upon Aramaic documents. In the original text of Ezra, this section is written in Aramaic; a further Aramaic section is 7:12–26.
4:8 commander. An official who had the role of a chancellor or commissioner. Perhaps Rehum dictated, and Shimshai wrote the letter in Aramaic. (Alternatively, Shimshai may have been a high official rather than a scribe.) The letter would then be read in a Persian translation before the king (v. 18). According to Herodotus (3.128), royal scribes were attached to each governor to report directly to the Persian king.
4:9 colleagues. See vv. 17,23; 5:3,6; 6:6,13. One of the striking characteristics of Persian bureaucracy was that each responsibility was shared among colleagues. Erech. See note on Gen 10:10. Babylonians. During the reign of the Assyrian king Ashurbanipal (669–627 B.C.), a major revolt had taken place (652–648), involving Shamash-shum-ukin, the brother of the king and the ruler over Babylonia. After a long siege Shamash-shum-ukin hurled himself into the flames. Doubtless these men of Babylon and the other cities mentioned were the descendants of the rebels, whom the Assyrians deported to the west. Susa. The major city of Elam (in southwest Iran). Because of Susa's part in the revolt, Ashurbanipal brutally destroyed it in 640 (two centuries before Rehum's letter).
4:10 Osnappar. The last great Assyrian king, famed for his library at Nineveh. He is not named elsewhere in the Bible, but he is probably the king who freed Manasseh from exile (2 Chr 33:11–13). deported. Osnappar (a variant of Ashurbanipal) may be the unnamed Assyrian king who brought people to Samaria according to 2 Kin 17:24. It is characteristic of such deportations that the descendants of populations that had been removed from their homelands nearly two centuries earlier should still stress their origins. Samaria. The murder of Amon king of Judah (642–640 B.C.; see 2 Kin 21:23; 2 Chr 33:24) was probably the result of an anti-Assyrian movement inspired by the revolt in Elam and Babylonia. The Assyrians may then have deported the rebellious Samaritans and replaced them with the rebellious Elamites and Babylonians. beyond the River. That is, the Euphrates River. From Israel's point of view the land "beyond the River" was Mesopotamia (Josh 24:2–3,14–15; 2 Sam 10:16). From the Mesopotamian point of view the land "beyond the River" included the areas of Aram, Phoenicia and Israel (1 Kin 4:24). The Persians also called this area Athura.
4:12 finishing the walls and repairing the foundations. As Isaiah had foretold (see Is 58:12 and note).
4:13 Most of the gold and silver coins that came into Persia's treasury were melted down to be stored as bullion. Very little of the taxes returned to benefit the provinces.
4:14 we are in the service of the palace. Lit. "we eat the salt of the palace." Salt was made a royal monopoly by the Ptolemies in Egypt, and perhaps by the Persians as well.
4:15 record books. See 5:17; 6:1; Esth 2:23; 6:1–2. There were several repositories of such documents at the major capitals.

that city is a rebellious city and damaging to kings and provinces, and that they have incited revolt within it in past days; therefore that city was laid waste.

16 "We inform the king that if that city is rebuilt and the walls finished, as a result you will have no possession in the province beyond the River."

The King Replies and Work Stops

17 Then the king sent an answer to Rehum the commander, to Shimshai the scribe, and to the rest of their colleagues who live in Samaria and in the rest of the provinces beyond the River: "Peace. And now 18 the document which you sent to us has been [1][a]translated and read before me.

19 "A decree has been [1]issued by me, and a search has been made and it has been discovered that that city has risen up against the kings in past days, that rebellion and revolt have been perpetrated in it,

20 [a]that mighty kings have [1]ruled over Jerusalem, governing all the provinces [b]beyond the River, and that [c]tribute, custom and toll were paid to them.

21 "So, now issue a decree to make these men stop work, that this city may not be rebuilt until a decree is issued by me.

22 "Beware of being negligent in carrying out this matter; why should damage increase to the detriment of the kings?"

23 Then as soon as the copy of King Artaxerxes' document was read before Rehum and Shimshai the scribe and their colleagues, they went in haste to Jerusalem to the Jews and stopped them by force of arms.

24 Then work on the house of God in Jerusalem ceased, and it was stopped until the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Temple Work Resumed

5 When the prophets, [a]Haggai the prophet and [b]Zechariah the son of Iddo, prophesied to the Jews who were in Judah and Jerusalem in the name of the God of Israel, who was over them,

2 then [a]Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and Jeshua the son of Jozadak arose and began to rebuild the house of God which is in Jerusalem; and [b]the prophets of God were with them supporting them.

3 At that time [a]Tattenai, the governor of the province beyond the [1]River, and Shethar-bozenai and their colleagues came to them and spoke to them thus, "[b]Who issued you a decree to rebuild this [2]temple and to finish this structure?"

4 [a]Then we told them accordingly what the names of the men were who were reconstructing this building.

5 But [a]the eye of their God was on the elders of the Jews, and they did not stop them until a report could come to Darius, and then a written reply be returned concerning it.

Adversaries Write to Darius

6 This is the copy of the letter which [a]Tattenai, the governor of the province beyond the River, and Shethar-bozenai and his colleagues [b]the officials, who were beyond the River, sent to Darius the king.

7 They sent a report to him in which it was written thus: "To Darius the king, all peace.

These royal archives preserved documents for centuries. In the third century B.C. the Babylonian priest Berossus made use of the Babylonian Chronicles in his history of Babylon, which covered events from the Assyrian to the Hellenistic (beginning with Alexander's conquest of Babylon in 330 B.C.) eras.

4:18 translated. From Aramaic into Persian (see note on 4:8–6:18). read. Since the king probably could not read Aramaic, he would have had the document read to him.

4:19 rebellion. There is some truth in the accusation. Jerusalem had rebelled against the Assyrians in 701 B.C. (2 Kin 18:7) and against the Babylonians in 600 and 589 (2 Kin 24:1,20).

4:21–23 As a result of the intervention of the provincial authorities, Artaxerxes I (see v. 11 and note on v. 7) ordered that the Jews stop rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem (see note on Neh 1:3). The events of vv. 7–23 probably occurred prior to 445 B.C.. The forcible destruction of these recently rebuilt walls rather than the destruction by Nebuchadnezzar would then be the basis of the report made to Nehemiah (Neh 1:3).

4:24 After this long digression describing the opposition to Jewish efforts, the writer returns to his original subject of the rebuilding of the temple (vv. 1–5). second year of the reign of Darius. According to Persian reckoning, the second regnal year of Darius I began on Nisan 1 (Apr. 3), 520 B.C., and lasted until Feb. 21, 519. In that year the prophet Haggai (Hag 1:1–5) exhorted Zerubbabel to begin rebuilding the temple on the first day of the sixth month (Aug. 29). Work began on the temple on the 24th day of the month, Sept. 21 (Hag 1:15). During his first two years, Darius had to establish his right to the throne by fighting numerous rebels, as recounted in his famous Behistun (Bisitun) inscription. It was only after the stabilization of the Persian empire that efforts to rebuild the temple could be permitted.

5:1 Haggai . . . Zechariah. Beginning on Aug. 29, 520 B.C. (Hag 1:1), and continuing until Dec. 18 (Hag 2:1,10,20), the prophet Haggai delivered a series of messages to stir up the people to resume work on the temple. Two months after Haggai's first speech, Zechariah joined him (Zech 1:1).

5:2 Zerubbabel. A Babylonian name meaning "offspring of Babylon," referring to his birth in exile. He was the son of Shealtiel and the grandson of Jeconiah (1 Chr 3:17), the next-to-last king of Judah. Zerubbabel was the last of the Davidic line to be entrusted with political authority by the occupying powers. He was also an ancestor of Jesus (Matt 1:12–13; Luke 3:27). Jeshua. See note on 2:2.

5:3 Tattenai. Probably a Babylonian name. Shethar-bozenai. Perhaps a Persian official.

5:5 did not stop. The Persian governor gave the Jews the benefit of the doubt by not stopping the work while the inquiry was proceeding.

5:6–7 sent to Darius the king . . . to him. Texts found in the royal city of Persepolis vividly confirm that such inquiries were sent directly to the king himself, revealing the close attention he paid to minute details.

house of the great God, which is being built with huge stones, and [1]beams are being laid in the walls; and this work is going on with great care and is succeeding in their hands.

9 "Then we asked those elders and said to them thus, 'Who issued you a decree to rebuild this temple and to finish this structure?'

10 "We also asked them their names so as to inform you, and that we might write down the names of the men who were at their head.

11 "Thus they [1]answered us, saying, 'We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth and are rebuilding the temple that was built many years ago, [a]which a great king of Israel built and finished.

12 'But [a]because our fathers had provoked the God of heaven to wrath, [b]He gave them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, the Chaldean, who destroyed this temple and deported the people to Babylon.

13 'However, [a]in the first year of Cyrus king of Babylon, King Cyrus [b]issued a decree to rebuild this house of God.

14 'Also [a]the gold and silver utensils of the house of God which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple [1]in Jerusalem, and brought them to the temple of Babylon, these King Cyrus took from the temple of Babylon and they were given to one [b]whose name was Sheshbazzar, whom he had appointed governor.

15 'He said to him, "Take these utensils, go and deposit them in the temple [1]in Jerusalem and let the house of God be rebuilt in its place."

16 'Then that Sheshbazzar came and [a]laid the foundations of the house of God [1]in Jerusalem; and from then until now it has been under construction and it is [b]not yet completed.'

17 "Now if it pleases the king, [a]let a search be conducted in the king's treasure house, which is there in Babylon, if it be that a decree was issued by King Cyrus to rebuild this house of God at Jerusalem; and let the king send to us his decision concerning this matter."

Darius Finds Cyrus's Decree

6 Then King Darius issued a decree, and [a]search was made in the [1]archives, where the treasures were stored in Babylon.

2 In [1]Ecbatana in the fortress, which is [a]in the province of Media, a scroll was found and there was written in it as follows: "Memorandum—

3 "[a]In the first year of King Cyrus, Cyrus the king issued a decree: 'Concerning the house of God at Jerusalem, let the [1]temple, the place where sacrifices are offered, be rebuilt and let its foundations be [2]retained, its height being 60 cubits and its width 60 cubits;

4 [a]with three layers of huge stones and [1]one layer of timbers. And let the cost be paid from the [2]royal treasury.

5 'Also let [a]the gold and silver utensils of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon, be returned and [1]brought to their places in the temple in Jerusalem; and you shall put them in the house of God.'

6 "Now therefore, [a]Tattenai, governor of the province beyond the [1]River, Shethar-bozenai and [2]your colleagues, the officials of the provinces beyond the [1]River, [3]keep away from there.

5:8 beams. May refer to interior paneling (1 Kin 6:15–18) or to logs alternating with the brick or stone layers in the walls (see note on 6:4).
5:11 great king of Israel. According to 1 Kin 6:1 Solomon began building the temple in the fourth year of his reign (966 B.C.). The project lasted seven years (1 Kin 6:38).
5:12 Chaldean. The Chaldeans were the inhabitants of the southern regions of Mesopotamia who established the Neo-Babylonian empire (612–539 B.C.). Their origins are obscure. In the late seventh century B.C. the Chaldeans, led by Nebuchadnezzar's father Nabopolassar, overthrew the Assyrians.
5:14 Sheshbazzar . . . governor. See note on 1:8.
6:1 archives, where the treasures were stored in Babylon. Many documents have also been found in the so-called "treasury" area of Persepolis (see map, p. 545).
6:2 Ecbatana. One of the four capitals (along with Babylon, Persepolis and Susa) of the Persian empire. Located in what is today the Iranian city of Hamadan, its remains have not yet been excavated. This is the only reference to the site in the OT, though there are numerous references in the Apocryphal books (Judith 1:1–4; Tobit 3:7; 7:1; 14:12–14; 2 Maccabees 9:3). Media. The homeland of the Medes in northwestern Iran. The Medes were an Indo-European tribe related to the Persians. After the rise of Cyrus in 550 B.C., they became subordinate to the Persians. The name of the area was retained as late as the NT era (Acts 2:9).
6:3–5 Compare this Aramaic memorandum of the decree of Cyrus with the Hebrew version in 1:2–4. The Aramaic is written in a more sober administrative style without any reference to the Lord (Yahweh). A similar memorandum dealing with permission to rebuild the Jewish temple at Elephantine in Upper Egypt was found among fifth-century B.C. Aramaic papyri recovered at that site.
6:3 height being 60 cubits and its width 60 cubits. These dimensions, which contrast with those of Solomon's temple (see 1 Kin 6:2 and note), are probably not specifications of the temple as built but of the outer limits of a building the Persians were willing to subsidize. The second temple was not as grandiose as the first (3:12; Hag 2:3).
6:4 huge stones . . . timbers. See 5:8. The same kind of construction is mentioned in 1 Kin 6:36; 7:12. Such a design was possibly intended to cushion the building against earthquake shocks. let the cost be paid from the royal treasury. In 1973 archaeologists discovered at Xanthos in southwest Turkey a religious foundation charter from the late Persian period that provides some striking parallels with this decree of Cyrus. As in Ezra, amounts of sacrifices, names of priests and the responsibility for the upkeep of the cult are specified. The Persian king seems to have known details of the cult.

7 "Leave this work on the house of God alone; let the governor of the Jews and the elders of the Jews rebuild this house of God on its site.

8 "Moreover, [a]I issue a decree concerning what you are to do for these elders of Judah in the rebuilding of this house of God: the full cost is to be paid to these people from the royal treasury out of the taxes of the provinces beyond the River, and that without delay.

9 "Whatever is needed, both young bulls, rams, and lambs for a burnt offering to the God of heaven, and wheat, salt, wine and anointing oil, as the priests in Jerusalem request, it is to be given to them daily without fail,

10 that they may offer [1]acceptable sacrifices to the God of heaven and [a]pray for the life of the king and his sons.

11 "And I issued a decree that [a]any man who violates this edict, a timber shall be drawn from his house and he shall be impaled on it and [b]his house shall be made a refuse heap on account of this.

12 "May the God who [a]has caused His name to dwell there overthrow any king or people who [1]attempts to change it, so as to destroy this house of God in Jerusalem. I, Darius, have issued this decree, let it be carried out with all diligence!"

The Temple Completed and Dedicated

13 Then [a]Tattenai, the governor of the province beyond the River, Shethar-bozenai and their colleagues carried out the decree with all diligence, just as King Darius had sent.

14 And [a]the elders of the Jews [1]were successful in building through the prophesying of Haggai the prophet and Zechariah the son of Iddo. And [2]they finished building according to the command of the God of Israel and the decree [b]of Cyrus, [c]Darius, and [d]Artaxerxes king of Persia.

15 This [1]temple was completed [2]on the third day of the [a]month Adar; it was the sixth year of the reign of King Darius.

16 And the sons of Israel, the priests, the Levites and the rest of the [1]exiles, [a]celebrated the dedication of this house of God with joy.

17 They offered for the dedication of this temple of God 100 bulls, 200 rams, 400 lambs, and as a sin offering for all Israel [a]12 male goats, corresponding to the number of the tribes of Israel.

18 Then they appointed the priests to 6:8 paid . . . from the royal treasury. It was a consistent policy of Persian kings to help restore sanctuaries in their empire. For example, a memorandum concerning the rebuilding of the Jewish temple at Elephantine was written by the Persian governors of Judah and Samaria. Also from non-Biblical sources we learn that Cyrus repaired temples at Uruk (Erech) and Ur. Cambyses, successor to Cyrus, gave funds for the temple at Sais in Egypt. The temple of Amun in the Khargah Oasis was rebuilt by order of Darius.

6:9 That the Persian monarchs were interested in the details of foreign religions is shown clearly by the ordinances of Cambyses and Darius I, regulating the temples and priests in Egypt. On the authority of Darius II (423–404 B.C.) a letter was written to the Jews at Elephantine concerning the keeping of the Feast of Unleavened Bread.

6:10 pray for the life of the king and his sons. In the inscription on the Cyrus Cylinder (made of baked clay), the king asks: "May all the gods whom I have resettled in their sacred cities ask Bel and Nebo daily for a long life for me." The Jews of Elephantine offered to pray for the Persian governor of Judah. The daily synagogue services included a prayer for the royal family (cf. 1 Tim 2:1–2).

6:11 any man who violates this edict. It was customary at the end of decrees and treaties to append a long list of curses against anyone who might disregard them. impaled. According to Herodotus (3.159), Darius I impaled 3,000 Babylonians when he took the city of Babylon. See Esth 2:23 and note.

6:12 May the God . . . overthrow any king or people. At the end of his famous Behistun (Bisitun) inscription Darius I warned: "If you see this inscription or these sculptures, and destroy them and do not protect them as long as you have strength, may Ahuramazda strike you, and may you not have a family, and what you do . . . may Ahuramazda utterly destroy." caused His name to dwell. See note on Deut 12:5.

6:13–14 Work on the temple had made little progress not only because of opposition but also because of the preoccupation of the returnees with their own homes (Hag 1:2–9). Because they had placed their own interests first, God sent them famine as a judgment (Hag 1:5–6,10–11). Spurred by the preaching of Haggai and Zechariah, and under the leadership of Zerubbabel and Jeshua, a new effort was begun (Hag 1:12–15).

6:14 Artaxerxes. The reference to him seems out of place, because he did not contribute to rebuilding the temple. He may have been inserted here since he contributed to the work of the temple at a later date under Ezra (7:21–24).

6:15 temple was completed. On Mar. 12, 516 B.C., almost 70 years after its destruction. The renewed work on the temple had begun on Sept. 21, 520 (Hag 1:15), and sustained effort had continued for almost three and a half years. According to Hag 2:3, the older members who could remember the splendor of Solomon's temple were disappointed when they saw the smaller size of Zerubbabel's temple (cf. Ezra 3:12). Yet in the long run the second temple, though not as grand as the first, enjoyed a much longer life. The general plan of the second temple was similar to that of Solomon's, but the most holy place was left empty because the ark of the covenant had been lost through the Babylonian conquest. According to Josephus, on the Day of Atonement the high priest placed his censer on the slab of stone that marked the former location of the ark. The holy place was furnished with a table for the bread of the Presence, the incense altar, and one lampstand (in the Apocrypha cf. 1 Maccabees 1:21–22; 4:49–51) instead of Solomon's ten (1 Kin 7:49).

6:16 exiles . . . dedication. Cf. the dedication of Solomon's temple (1 Kin 8). The leaders of those who returned from exile were responsible for the completion of the temple. "Dedication" translates the Aramaic word ḥanukkah. The Jewish holiday in December that celebrates the recapture of the temple from the Seleucids and its rededication (165 B.C.) is also known as Hanukkah.

6:17 100 . . . 200 . . . 400. The number of animals sacrificed was small in comparison with similar services in the reigns of Solomon (1 Kin 8:5,63), Hezekiah (2 Chr 30:24) and Josiah (2 Chr 35:7), when thousands rather than hundreds were offered.

The Passover Observed

19 [a]The exiles observed the Passover on [b]the fourteenth of the first month.

20 [a]For the priests and the Levites had purified themselves together; all of them were pure. Then [b]they slaughtered the Passover lamb for all the exiles, both for their brothers the priests and for themselves.

21 The sons of Israel who returned from exile and [a]all those who had separated themselves from [b]the impurity of the nations of the land to join them, to seek the LORD God of Israel, ate the Passover.

22 And [a]they observed the Feast of Unleavened Bread seven days with joy, for the LORD had caused them to rejoice, and [b]had turned the heart of [c]the king of Assyria toward them to [1]encourage them in the work of the house of God, the God of Israel.

Ezra Journeys from Babylon to Jerusalem

7 [a]Now after these things, in the reign of [b]Artaxerxes king of Persia, there went up Ezra son of Seraiah, son of Azariah, son of Hilkiah,

2 son of Shallum, son of Zadok, son of Ahitub,

3 son of Amariah, son of Azariah, son of Meraioth,

4 son of Zerahiah, son of Uzzi, son of Bukki,

5 son of Abishua, son of Phinehas, son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the chief priest.

6 This Ezra went up from Babylon, and he was a [a]scribe skilled in the law of Moses, which the LORD God of Israel had given; and the king granted him all [1]he requested [b]because the hand of the LORD his God was upon him.

7 [a]Some of the sons of Israel and some of the priests, the Levites, the singers, the gatekeepers and the temple servants went up to Jerusalem in the seventh year of King Artaxerxes.

8 He came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, which was in the seventh year of the king.

9 For on the first of the first month [1]he began to go up from Babylon; and on the first of the fifth month he came to Jerusalem,

6:18 divisions. The priests were separated into 24 divisions (1 Chr 24:1–19), each of which served at the temple for a week at a time (cf. Luke 1:5,8). In 1962 fragments of a synagogue inscription listing the 24 divisions were found at Caesarea. written in the book of Moses. Perhaps referring to such passages as Ex 29; Lev 8; Num 3; 8:5–26; 18.

6:19 Passover on the fourteenth of the first month. The date would have been about Apr. 21, 516 B.C.

6:20 purified themselves . . . pure. See note on Lev 4:12. Priests and Levites had to be ceremonially clean to fulfill their ritual functions.

6:21 all those who had separated themselves. The returning exiles were willing to accept those who separated themselves from the paganism of the foreigners who had been introduced into the area by the Assyrians.

6:22 king of Assyria. A surprising title for Darius, the Persian king. But even after the fall of Nineveh in 612 B.C., the term "Assyria" continued to be used for former territories the Assyrians had occupied (even Syria is an abbreviation of Assyria). Persian kings adopted a variety of titles, including "king of Babylon" (cf. 5:13; Neh 13:6).

7:1–5 The genealogy of Ezra given here lists 16 ancestors back to Aaron, the brother of Moses.

7:1 after these things. The events of the preceding chapter concluded with the completion of the temple in 516 B.C. Artaxerxes. The identity of the king mentioned in this chapter has been disputed. If this was Artaxerxes I, which seems likely, Ezra would have arrived in Judah in 458, and there would be a gap of almost 60 years between the events of ch. 6 and those of ch. 7. The only recorded event during this interval is the opposition to the rebuilding of Jerusalem in the reign of Ahasuerus (486–465) in 4:6. Ezra. Perhaps a shortened form of Azariah, a name that occurs twice in the list of his ancestors. The Greek form is Esdras, as in the Apocrypha. Seraiah. Means "The LORD is prince." He was the high priest under Zedekiah who was killed in 586 by Nebuchadnezzar (2 Kin 25:18–21) some 128 years before Ezra's arrival. He was therefore the ancestor rather than the father of Ezra; "son" often means "descendant" (see 1 Chr 6:14–15). Azariah. Means "The LORD helps." Hilkiah. Means "My portion is the LORD." He was the high priest under Josiah (2 Kin 22:4).

7:2 Zadok. Means "righteous." He was a priest under David (2 Sam 8:17). Solomon appointed Zadok as high priest in place of Abiathar, who supported the rebel Adonijah (1 Kin 1:7–8; 2:35). Ezekiel regarded the Zadokites as free from idolatry (Ezek 44:15). They held the office of high priest until 171 B.C. The Sadducees may have been named after Zadok, and the Qumran community (see essay, p. 1356) looked for the restoration of the Zadokite priesthood. Ahitub. Probably means "My (divine) brother is good." He was actually the grandfather of Zadok (Neh 11:11).

7:5 Eleazar. Means "God helps." The Greek form of the name is Lazarus (John 11:1).

7:6 scribe. See Neh 8:1,4,9,13; 12:26,36. Earlier, scribes served kings as secretaries, such as Seraiah under David (2 Sam 8:17, where the Hebrew word for "scribe" is translated "secretary"; see note there). Other scribes took dictation—such as Baruch, who wrote down what Jeremiah spoke (Jer 36:32). From the exilic period on, the "scribes" were scholars who studied and taught the Scriptures (cf. the "teachers of the law" and "scribes" in the NT; see notes on Matt 2:4; Luke 5:17). In the NT period they were addressed as "rabbis" (cf. Matt 23:7). skilled. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "ready" in Ps 45:1 and "skilled" in Prov 22:29. hand of the LORD. For this striking description of God's power and favor cf. also vv. 9,28; 8:18,22,31; Neh 2:8,18.

7:7–9 seventh year . . . first of the first month . . . first of the fifth month. Ezra began his journey on the first of Nisan (Apr. 8, 458 B.C.) and arrived in Jerusalem on the first of Ab (Aug. 4, 458). The journey took four months, including an 11-day delay indicated by the comparison of v. 9 with 8:31. The spring was the most auspicious time for such journeys; most armies went on campaigns at this time of the year. Although the actual distance between Babylon and Jerusalem is about 500 miles, the travelers had to cover a total of about 900 miles, going northwest along the Euphrates River and then south. The relatively slow pace was caused by the presence of the elderly and the children. See map No. 7b at the end of the study Bible.

7:10 study . . . practice . . . teach. See Neh 8.

7:11 decree. Many regard the letter of Artaxerxes I as the beginning point of Daniel's first 69 "weeks" (Dan 9:24–27). Others regard the commission of Nehemiah by the same king as the starting point of this prophecy (Neh 1:1,11; 2:1–8). By using either a solar calendar with the former date (458 B.C.) or a lunar calendar with the latter date (445), one can arrive remarkably close to the date of Jesus' public ministry.

7:12 The text of vv. 12–26 is in Aramaic (see note on 4:18–6:18). king of kings. The phrase was originally used by Assyrian kings, since their empires incorporated many kingdoms. It was then used by the later Babylonian (Ezek 26:7; Dan 2:37) and Persian kings. Cf. 1 Tim 6:15; Rev 17:14; 19:16.

7:13 people of Israel. It is noteworthy that "Israel" is used rather than "Judah." It was Ezra's aim to make one Israel of all who returned. The markedly Jewish coloring of this decree may have resulted from the king's use of Jewish officials, quite possibly Ezra himself, to help him compose it.

7:14 seven counselors. Cf. Esth 1:14, which refers to the seven princes who "had access to the king's presence." This corresponds with Persian practice as reported by the early Greek historians Herodotus and Xenophon. law of your God. Perhaps the complete Pentateuch (the five books of Moses) in its present form (see v. 6).

7:15 silver and gold. Cf. Hag 2:8. freely offered. The Persian treasury had ample funds, and benevolence was a well-attested policy of Persian kings.

7:16 offering of the people. The custom of sending gifts to Jerusalem from the Jews who lived outside the Holy Land continued until the Jewish-Roman War, when the Romans forced the Jews to send such contributions to the temple of Jupiter instead (Josephus, Antiquities, 18.9.1). There are close parallels to such directives in the contemporary letters from the Jewish garrison at Elephantine in Egypt, including a papyrus in which Darius II ordered: "Let grain offering, incense and burnt offering be offered" on the altar of the god Yahu "in your name."

7:20 provide for it from the royal treasury. Texts from the treasury at Persepolis also record the disbursement of supplies and funds from the royal purse.

7:22 100 talents. An enormous amount (about three and three-fourths tons). 100 kors. The total was relatively small (about 600 bushels). The wheat would be used in grain offerings. salt as needed. See note on 4:14. A close parallel is the benefaction of Antiochus III as recorded by Josephus (Antiquities, 12.3.3): "In the first place we have decided, on account of their piety, to furnish for their sacrifices an allowance of sacrificial animals, wine, oil and frankincense to the value of 20,000 pieces of silver, and sacred artabae of fine flour in accordance with their native law, and 1,460 medimni of wheat and 375 medimni of salt."

7:23 wrath against the kingdom of the king. Egypt had revolted against the Persians in 460 B.C. and had expelled the Persians with the help of the Athenians in 459. In 458, when Ezra traveled to Jerusalem, the Persians were involved in suppressing this revolt. his sons. We do not know how many sons the king had at this time, but he ultimately had 18, according to Ctesias (a Greek physician who wrote an extensive history of Persia).

7:24 not . . . to impose tax . . . or toll on . . . the priests . . . or servants. Priests and other temple personnel were often given exemptions from enforced labor or taxes. A close parallel is found in the Gadates Inscription of Darius I to a governor in western Turkey, granting exemptions to the priests of Apollo. Antiochus III granted similar exemptions to the Jews: "The priests, the scribes of the temple and the temple singers shall be relieved from the poll tax, the crown tax and the salt tax that they pay" (Josephus, Antiquities, 12.3.3).

of the priests, Levites, singers, doorkeepers, Nethinim or servants of this house of God.

25 "You, Ezra, according to the wisdom of your God which is in your hand, [a]appoint magistrates and judges that they may judge all the people who are in the province beyond the River, even all those who know the laws of your God; and you may [b]teach anyone who is ignorant of them.

26 "[a]Whoever will not observe the law of your God and the law of the king, let judgment be executed upon him strictly, whether for death or for [1]banishment or for confiscation of goods or for imprisonment."

The King's Kindness

27 Blessed be the LORD, the God of our fathers, [a]who has put such a thing as this in the king's heart, to adorn the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem,

28 and [a]has extended lovingkindness to me before the king and his counselors and before all the king's mighty princes. Thus I was strengthened according to [b]the hand of the LORD my God upon me, and I gathered [1]leading men from Israel to go up with me.

People Who Went with Ezra

8 Now these are the heads of their fathers' households and the genealogical enrollment of those who went up with me from Babylon in the reign of King Artaxerxes:

5 of the sons of Zattu, Shecaniah, the son of Jahaziel and 300 males with him;

6 and of the sons of [a]Adin, Ebed the son of Jonathan and 50 males with him;

7 and of the sons of Elam, Jeshaiah the son of Athaliah and 70 males with him;

9 of the sons of Joab, Obadiah the son of Jehiel and 218 males with him;

10 and of the sons of Bani, Shelomith, the son of Josiphiah and 160 males with him;

11 and of the sons of Bebai, Zechariah the son of Bebai and 28 males with him;

12 and of the sons of Azgad, Johanan the son of Hakkatan and 110 males with him;

13 and of the sons of Adonikam, the last ones, these being their names, Eliphelet, Jeuel and Shemaiah, and 60 males with them;

14 and of the sons of Bigvai, Uthai and [1]Zabbud, and 70 males with [2]them.

Ezra Sends for Levites

15 Now I assembled them at [a]the river that runs to Ahava, where we camped for three days; and when I observed the people and the priests, I [b]did not find any Levites there.

16 So I sent for Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechari-

7:26 Whoever will not observe . . . let judgment be executed. The extensive powers given to Ezra are striking and extend to secular fields. Perhaps the implementation of these provisions involved Ezra in a great deal of traveling, which would explain the silence about his activities between his arrival and the arrival of Nehemiah 13 years later. A close parallel to the king's commission of Ezra may be found in an earlier commission by Darius I, who sent Udjahorresenet, a priest and scholar, back to Egypt. He ordered the codification of the Egyptian laws by the chief men of Egypt—a task that took from 518 to 503 B.C.

7:28 me. The first occurrence of the first person for Ezra—a trait that characterizes the "Ezra Memoirs," which begin in v. 27 and continue to the end of ch. 9.

8:1–21 In vv. 1–14 Ezra lists those who accompanied him in his return from Mesopotamia, including the descendants of 15 individuals. The figures of the men given total 1,496 in addition to the individuals named. There were also women and children (see note on v. 21). About 40 Levites (vv. 18–19) are also included, as are 220 "temple servants" (v. 20).

8:2 Gershom. Also the name of the firstborn son of Moses and Zipporah. "Gershom" sounds like the Hebrew for "a sojourner there" (see Ex 2:22). Ithamar. Also the name of the fourth son of Aaron (Ex 6:23).

8:3 Zechariah. Cf. v. 11. The name means "The LORD remembers"; it was the name of about 30 individuals mentioned in the Bible, including both the OT prophet and the father of John the Baptist (Luke 1:5–67).

8:4 Eliehoenai. Means "On the LORD are my eyes"; the name occurs only here and in 1 Chr 26:3. Cf. Ps 25:15.

8:6 Ebed. May be a shortened form of Obadiah (cf. v. 9), meaning "servant of the LORD." Jonathan. Means "The LORD gives"; it was the name of 15 OT individuals.

8:7 Athaliah. Also the name of a famous queen, daughter of Ahab (2 Kin 11).

8:8 Michael. Means "Who is like God?" It was the name of ten other Biblical personages, including the archangel (Dan 10:13; Jude 9; Rev 12:7).

8:10 Shelomith. Although it is a feminine form (see also note on Song 6:13), it is often a man's name, as here. The Greek equivalent is Salome.

8:12 Azgad. See note on 2:12. Johanan. See note on 2:46. Hakkatan. Means "the little one"; the name occurs only here.

8:15 river that runs to Ahava. Probably a canal that flows into either the Euphrates or the Tigris (the Chebar "River" in Ezek 1:1 was also a canal). three days. Perhaps from the 9th to the 12th day of Nisan; the journey began on the 12th (see v. 31). did not find any Levites. Since they were entrusted with many menial tasks, they may have found a more comfortable way of life in exile. A rabbinic midrash (comment) on Ps 137 relates the legend that Levites were in the caravan but that they were not qualified to officiate because when Nebuchadnezzar had ordered them to sing for him the songs of Zion, "they refused and bit off the ends of their fingers, so that they could not play on the harps." In the Hellenistic era (following Alexander's conquest of the Holy Land in 333 B.C.) the role of the Levites declined sharply, though the "Temple Scroll" among the Dead Sea Scrolls from Qumran (see essay, p. 1356) assigns important roles to them.

8:16 Ariel. Means "lion of God" or "altar hearth" (see note on Is 29:1,2,7). It occurs only here as a personal name. Meshullam. Perhaps means "rewarded." Some assume that he is the same ah and Meshullam, [1]leading men, and for Joiarib and Elnathan, teachers.

17 I sent them to Iddo the [1]leading man at the place Casiphia; and I [2]told them what to say to [3]Iddo and his brothers, [a]the temple servants at the place Casiphia, that is, to bring ministers to us for the house of our God.

18 [a]According to the good hand of our God upon us they brought us a [b]man of insight of the sons of Mahli, the son of Levi, the son of Israel, namely Sherebiah, and his sons and brothers, 18 men;

19 and Hashabiah and [1]Jeshaiah of the sons of Merari, with his brothers and their sons, 20 men;

20 and 220 of [a]the temple servants, whom David and the princes had given for the service of the Levites, all of them designated by name.

Protection of God Invoked

21 Then I proclaimed [a]a fast there at [b]the river of Ahava, that we might [c]humble ourselves before our God to seek from Him a [1]safe journey for us, our little ones, and all our possessions.

22 For I was ashamed to request from the king troops and horsemen to [1]protect us from the enemy on the way, because we had said to the king, "[a]The hand of our God is [2]favorably disposed to all those who seek Him, but [b]His power and His anger are against all those who [c]forsake Him."

23 So we fasted and sought our God concerning this matter, and He [1a]listened to our entreaty.

24 Then I set apart twelve of the leading priests, [a]Sherebiah, Hashabiah, and with them ten of their brothers;

25 and I [a]weighed out to them [b]the silver, the gold and the utensils, the offering for the house of our God which the king and [c]his counselors and his princes and all Israel present there had offered.

26 [a]Thus I weighed into their hands 650 talents of silver, and silver utensils worth 100 talents, and 100 gold talents, 27 and 20 gold bowls worth 1,000 darics, and two utensils of fine shiny bronze, precious as gold.

28 Then I said to them, "[a]You are holy to the LORD, and the [b]utensils are holy; and the silver and the gold are a freewill offering to the LORD God of your fathers.

29 "Watch and keep them [a]until you weigh them before the leading priests, the Levites and the heads of the fathers' households of Israel at Jerusalem, in the chambers of the house of the LORD."

30 So the priests and the Levites [a]accepted the weighed out silver and gold and the utensils, to bring them to Jerusalem to the house of our God.

31 Then we journeyed from [a]the river Ahava on [b]the twelfth of the first month to go to Jerusalem; and [c]the hand of our God was over us, and He delivered us from the hand of the enemy and the ambushes by the way.

32 [a]Thus we came to Jerusalem and remained there three days.

Treasure Placed in the Temple

33 On the fourth day the silver and the gold and the utensils [a]were weighed out in the house of our God into the hand of [b]Meremoth the son of Uriah the priest, and with him was Eleazar the son of Phinehas; and with them were the Levites, Jozabad the son of Jeshua and Noadiah the son of Binnui.

34 Everything was numbered and weighed, and all the weight was recorded at that time.

as the Meshullam who opposed the marriage reforms (10:15). teachers. Lit. "those who cause to understand." The Hebrew for this word is translated "explained" in Neh 8:7.

8:17 Casiphia. Some have located it at the site that was later to become the Parthian capital of Ctesiphon on the Tigris River, north of Babylon.

8:18–19 18 men . . . 20 men. Only about 40 Levites from two families were found who were willing to join Ezra's caravan.

8:20 temple servants. See note on 2:43–57.

8:21 safe journey. Lit. "straight way"—unimpeded by obstacles and dangers (see v. 31; cf. Prov 3:6). possessions. The vast treasures they were carrying with them offered a tempting bait for robbers.

8:22 I was ashamed. Scripture speaks often of unholy shame (Jer 48:13; 49:23; Mic 3:7) and on occasion, as here, of holy shame. Ezra was quick to blush with such shame (see also 9:6). Having proclaimed his faith in God's ability to protect the caravan, he was embarrassed to ask for human protection. Grave dangers faced travelers going the great distance between Mesopotamia and the Holy Land. Some 13 years later Nehemiah was accompanied by an armed escort. The difference, however, does not mean that Nehemiah was a man of lesser faith (see note on Neh 2:9).

8:23 fasted and sought our God. For the association of fasting and prayer see Neh 1:4; Dan 9:3; Matt 17:21; Acts 14:23.

8:25 offering. Lit. "what is lifted," i.e., dedicated (cf. Ex 25:2; 35:5; Lev 7:14). In Deut 12:6 the Hebrew for this word is translated "the contribution of your hand."

8:26 650 talents . . . 100 talents. Enormous sums, worth millions of dollars today. See also note on 7:22.

8:27 1,000 darics. About 19 pounds. The word occurs only here and in 1 Chr 29:7 (but see note on 2:69). shiny. This kind of bronze may have been orichalc, a bright yellow (the Hebrew for "yellowish" in Lev 13:30,32,36 is related to the Hebrew for "shiny" here) alloy of copper, which resembles gold and was highly prized in ancient times.

8:31 twelfth. See notes on v. 15; 7:7–9.

8:32 remained there three days. Nehemiah also took a similar rest period after his arrival in Jerusalem (Neh 2:11).

8:33 Meremoth the son of Uriah. Probably the same as the man who repaired two sections of the wall (Neh 3:4,21).

8:34 recorded. According to Babylonian practice (e.g., in the Code of Hammurapi; see chart, p. xix) almost every transaction, including sales and marriages, had to be recorded in writing. Ezra may have had to send back to Artaxerxes a signed certification of the delivery of the treasures.

35 [a]The exiles who had come from the captivity offered burnt offerings to the God of Israel: [b]12 bulls for all Israel, 96 rams, 77 lambs, 12 male goats for a sin offering, all as a burnt offering to the LORD.

36 Then [a]they delivered the king's edicts to [b]the king's satraps and to the governors in the provinces beyond the [1]River, and they supported the people and the house of God.

Mixed Marriages

9 Now when these things had been completed, the princes approached me, saying, "The people of Israel and the priests and the Levites have not [a]separated themselves from the peoples of the lands, [b]according to their abominations, those of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians and the Amorites.

2 "For [a]they have taken some of their daughters as wives for themselves and for their sons, so that [b]the holy [1]race has [c]intermingled with the peoples of the lands; indeed, the hands of the princes and the rulers have been foremost in this unfaithfulness."

3 When I heard about this matter, I [a]tore my garment and my robe, and pulled some of the hair from my head and my beard, and [b]sat down appalled.

4 Then [a]everyone who trembled at the words of the God of Israel on account of the unfaithfulness of the exiles gathered to me, and I sat appalled until [b]the evening offering.

Prayer of Confession

5 But at the evening offering I arose from my [1]humiliation, even with my garment and my robe torn, and I fell on my knees and [a]stretched out my [2]hands to the LORD my God;

6 and I said, "O my God, I am ashamed and embarrassed to lift up my face to You, my God, for our iniquities have [1]risen above our heads and our [a]guilt has grown even to the heavens.

7 "[a]Since the days of our fathers to this day we have been in great guilt, and on account of our iniquities we, our kings and our priests have been given into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the sword, to captivity and to plunder and to [1][b]open shame, as it is this day.

8:35 offered. Except for the identical number of male goats, the offerings here were far fewer than those presented by the returnees under Zerubbabel (6:17), who brought with him a far greater number of families.

9:1 when these things had been completed . . . have not separated themselves. Ezra had reached Jerusalem in the fifth month (7:9). The measures dealing with the problem of intermarriage were announced in the ninth month (10:9), or four months after his arrival. Those who brought Ezra's attention to the problem were probably the ordinary members of the community rather than the leaders, who were themselves guilty (v. 2). Malachi, who prophesied about the same time as Ezra's mission, indicates that some Jews had broken their marriages to marry daughters of a foreign god (Mal 2:10–16), perhaps the daughters of influential landholders. One of the reasons for such intermarriages may have been the shortage of returning Jewish women who were available. What happened to a Jewish community that was lax concerning intermarriage can be seen in the example of the Elephantine settlement in Egypt, which was contemporary with Ezra and Nehemiah. There the Jews who married pagan spouses expressed their devotion to pagan gods in addition to the Lord. The Elephantine community was gradually assimilated and disappeared. peoples of the lands. The eight groups mentioned are representative of the original inhabitants of Canaan before the Israelite conquest (see note on Ex 3:8). Only the Ammonites, Moabites and Egyptians were still living there in the postexilic period (cf. 2 Chr 8:7–8). Canaanites. See note on Gen 10:6. Hittites. See note on Gen 10:15. Perizzites. See note on Gen 13:7. Jebusites. See note on Gen 10:16. the Ammonites, the Moabites. See note on Gen 19:36–38. Amorites. See note on Gen 10:16.

9:2 holy race. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "holy seed" in Is 6:13. been foremost. In the wrong direction (see 10:18). unfaithfulness. See 10:6; Josh 22:16; Dan 9:7. Marrying those who did not belong to the Lord was an act of infidelity for the people of Israel.

9:3 tore my garment and my robe. A common way to express grief or distress (see v. 5; Gen 37:29,34; Josh 7:6; Judg 11:35; 2 Sam 13:19; 2 Chr 34:27; Esth 4:1; Job 1:20; Is 36:22; Jer 41:5; Matt 26:65). pulled some of the hair from my head and my beard. Unique in the Bible. Elsewhere we read about the shaving of one's head and/or beard (Job 1:20; Jer 41:5; 47:5; Ezek 7:18; Amos 8:10). When Nehemiah was confronted with the same problem of intermarriage, instead of pulling out his own hair he pulled out the hair of the offending parties (Neh 13:25).

9:4 everyone who trembled. Cf. Ex 19:16; Is 66:2; Heb 12:21. appalled. See v. 3; cf. Dan 4:19; 8:27. evening offering. See Ex 12:6. The informants had probably visited Ezra in the morning, so that he must have sat appalled for many hours. The time of the evening sacrifice, usually about 3:00 P.M., was also the appointed time for prayer and confession (Acts 3:1).

9:5 humiliation. The Hebrew for this word later meant "fasting." See note on Lev 16:29,31. fell on my knees. Cf. 1 Kin 8:54; Ps 95:6; Dan 6:10. stretched out my hands. See note on Ex 9:29. Ezra's prayer (vv. 6–15) may be compared with those of Nehemiah (Neh 9:5–37) and Daniel (Dan 9:4–19).

9:6 ashamed and embarrassed. See 8:22 and note; Luke 18:13. Ezra felt both an inner shame before God and an outward humiliation before people for his own sins and the sins of his people. The two Hebrew verbs often occur together; see Ps 35:4; Is 45:16; Jer 31:19 ("ashamed and also humiliated"). our iniquities . . . our guilt. Cf. also vv. 7,13,15; 10:10,19; 1 Chr 21:3; 2 Chr 24:18; Ps 38:4. has grown even to the heavens. But God's love is more than a match for our guilt (Ps 103:11–12).

9:7 Since the days of our fathers. Israelites were conscious of their corporate solidarity with their ancestors. sword. Cf. Neh 4:13. In Ezek 21 "the sword of the king of Babylon" (21:19) is described as an instrument of divine judgment. open shame. Cf. Dan 9:7–8; 2 Chr 32:21.

9:8 remnant. See Gen 45:7; Is 1:9; 10:20–22 and notes. peg. Or "nail," like a nail driven into a wall (see Is 22:23 and note) or a tent peg driven into the ground (Is 33:20; 54:2). enlight- en our eyes and grant us a little reviving in our bondage.

9 "[a]For we are slaves; yet in our bondage our God has not forsaken us, but [b]has extended lovingkindness to us in the sight of the kings of Persia, to give us reviving to raise up the house of our God, to restore its ruins and to give us a wall in Judah and Jerusalem.

10 "Now, our God, what shall we say after this? For we have forsaken Your commandments, 11 which You have commanded by Your servants the prophets, saying, 'The land which you are entering to possess is an unclean land with the uncleanness of the peoples of the lands, with their abominations which have filled it from end to end and [a]with their impurity.

12 'So now do not [a]give your daughters to their sons nor take their daughters to your sons, and [b]never seek their peace or their prosperity, that you may be strong and eat the good things of the land and [c]leave it as an inheritance to your sons forever.'

14 [a]shall we again break Your commandments and intermarry with the peoples [1]who commit these abominations? [b]Would You not be angry with us [2]to the point of destruction, until there is no remnant nor any who escape?

15 "O LORD God of Israel, [a]You are righteous, for we have been left an escaped remnant, as it is this day; behold, we are before You in [b]our guilt, for [c]no one can stand before You because of this."

Reconciliation with God

10 Now [a]while Ezra was praying and making confession, weeping and prostrating himself [b]before the house of God, a very large assembly, men, women and children, gathered to him from Israel; for the people wept bitterly.

2 Shecaniah the son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Elam, said to Ezra, "[a]We have been unfaithful to our God and have [1]married foreign women from the peoples of the land; yet now there is hope for Israel in spite of this.

3 "So now [a]let us make a covenant with our God to put away all the wives and [1b]their children, according to the counsel of [2]my lord and of [c]those who tremble at the commandment of our God; and let it be done [d]according to the law.

4 "Arise! For this matter is [1]your responsibility, but we will be with you; [a]be courageous and act."

5 Then Ezra rose and [a]made the leading priests, the Levites and all Israel, take oath that they would do according to this [1]proposal; so they took the oath.

6 Then Ezra [a]rose from before the house of God and went into the chamber of Jehohanan the son of Eliashib. Although he went there, [b]he did not eat bread nor drink water, for he was mourning over the unfaithfulness of the exiles.

en our eyes. An increase in light means vitality and joy (Ps 13:3; 19:8; Eccl 8:1).

9:9 kings of Persia. The Achaemenid Persian kings were favorably disposed to the Jews: Cyrus (539–530 B.C.) gave them permission to return (ch. 1); his son Cambyses (530–522), though not named in the Bible, also favored the Jews, as we learn from Elephantine papyri; Darius I (522–486) renewed the decree of Cyrus (ch. 6); his son Ahasuerus (486–465) granted privileges and protection to Jews (Esth 8–10); his son Artaxerxes I (465–424) gave authorizations to Ezra (ch. 7) and to Nehemiah (Neh 2). restore its ruins. Isaiah had prophesied that the Lord would restore Jerusalem's ruins (Is 44:26), which would burst into singing (Is 52:9; cf. 58:12; 61:4). wall. Used of a city wall only in Mic 7:11. The use here is metaphorical (cf. Zech 2:4–5).

9:11–12 The references are not to a single OT passage but to several passages, such as Deut 11:8–9; Is 1:19; Ezek 37:25.

9:11 Your servants the prophets. See notes on Jer 7:25; Zech 1:6. uncleanness. Of Canaanite idolatry and the immoral practices associated with it (Lev 18:3; 2 Chr 29:5; Lam 1:17; Ezek 7:20; 36:17). The degrading practices and beliefs of the Canaanites are described in texts from ancient Ugarit (see chart, p. xix).

9:14 be angry. God's anger came upon the Israelites because they had violated His covenant with them (Deut 7:4; 11:16–17; 29:26–28; Josh 23:16; Judg 2:20).

9:15 You are righteous. See note on Ps 4:1. our guilt. A proper sense of God's holiness makes us aware of our unworthiness. See Is 6:1–5; Luke 5:8. For comparable passages of national lament see Ps 44; 60; 74; 79–80; 83; 85; 90; 108; 126; 129; 137.

10:1 weeping. Not silently but out loud (see 3:13 and note; Neh 1:4; Joel 2:12). prostrating himself. The prophets and other leaders used object lessons, even bizarre actions, to attract people's attention (Is 7:3; 8:1–4,18; Jer 13:1–11; 19; 27:2–12; Ezek 4:1–5:4).

10:2 Ezra, as a wise teacher, waited for his audience to draw their own conclusions about what should be done. Shecaniah. Perhaps his father Jehiel is the Jehiel mentioned in v. 26 since he was also of the family of Elam. If so, Shecaniah was doubtless grieved that his father had married a non-Jewish woman. Six members of the clan of Elam were involved in intermarriage (v. 26).

10:3 make a covenant. Lit. "cut a covenant" (see note on Gen 15:18). wives and their children. Mothers were given custody of their children when marriages were dissolved. When Hagar was dismissed, Ishmael was sent with her (Gen 21:14). In Babylonia divorced women were granted their children and had to wait for them to grow up before remarrying, according to the Code of Hammurapi (see chart, p. xix). In Greece, however, children from broken homes remained with their fathers.

10:4 Arise! Cf. David's exhortation (1 Chr 22:16).

10:5 oath. The implied curse attendant upon nonfulfillment of a Biblical oath is often expressed in the vague statement, "May God do so to you, and more also, if . . ." (see note on 1 Sam 3:17). On rare occasions the full implications of the curse are spelled out (Num 5:19–22; Job 31; Ps 7:4–5; 137:5–6).

10:6 chamber. Such temple chambers were used as storerooms (8:29; Neh 13:4–5). did not eat bread nor drink water. Complete fasting from both food and drink was rare. Moses did it twice (Ex 34:28; Deut 9:18), and the Ninevites also did it (Jon

Judah and Jerusalem to all the exiles, that they should assemble at Jerusalem,

8 and that whoever would not come within three days, according to the counsel of the leaders and the elders, all his possessions should be forfeited and he himself excluded from the assembly of the exiles.

9 So all the men of Judah and Benjamin assembled at Jerusalem within the three days. It was the ninth month on the twentieth of the month, and all the people sat in the open square before the house of God, [a]trembling because of this matter and the heavy rain.

10 Then Ezra the priest stood up and said to them, "You have been unfaithful and have married foreign wives adding to the guilt of Israel.

11 "Now therefore, [a]make confession to the LORD God of your fathers and [b]do His will; and [c]separate yourselves from the peoples of the land and from the foreign wives."

12 Then all the assembly replied with a loud voice, "That's right! As you have said, so it is [1]our duty to do.

13 "But there are many people; it is the rainy season and we are not able to stand in the open. Nor can the task be done in one or two days, for we have transgressed greatly in this matter.

14 "Let our leaders [1]represent the whole assembly and let all those in our cities who have married foreign wives come at appointed times, together with the elders and judges of each city, until the [a]fierce anger of our God on account of this matter is turned away from us."

15 Only Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jahzeiah the son of Tikvah [1]opposed this, with Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite supporting them.

16 But the exiles did so. And [1]Ezra the priest selected men who were heads of fathers' households for each of their father's households, all of them by name. So they [2]convened on the first day of the tenth month to investigate the matter.

17 They finished investigating all the men who had married foreign wives by the first day of the first month.

List of Offenders

18 Among the sons of the priests who had married foreign wives were found of the sons of [a]Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and his brothers: Maaseiah, Eliezer, Jarib and Gedaliah.

19 They [1]pledged to put away their wives, and being guilty, [a]they offered a ram of the flock for their offense.

20 Of the sons of Immer there were Hanani and Zebadiah;

21 and of the sons of Harim: Maaseiah, Elijah, Shemaiah, Jehiel and Uzziah;

22 and of the sons of Pashhur: Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethanel, Jozabad and Elasah.

23 Of Levites there were Jozabad, Shimei, Kelaiah (that is, Kelita), Pethahiah, Judah and Eliezer.

24 Of the singers there was Eliashib; and of the gatekeepers: Shallum, Telem and Uri.

25 Of Israel, of the sons of [a]Parosh there were Ramiah, Izziah, Malchijah, Mijamin, Eleazar, Malchijah and Benaiah;

3:7). Ordinarily, fasting involved abstaining only from eating (1 Sam 1:7; 2 Sam 3:35). mourning. The Hebrew for this word often describes the reaction of those aware of the threat of deserved judgment (Ex 33:4; Num 14:39).

10:7–8 While Ezra continued to fast and pray, the officials and elders ordered all the exiles to assemble in Jerusalem. Although Ezra had been invested with great authority (7:25–26), he used it sparingly and influenced the people by his example.

10:8 within three days. Since the territory of Judah had been much reduced, the most distant people would not be more than 50 miles from Jerusalem. The borders were Bethel in the north, Beersheba in the south, Jericho in the east and Ono in the west (cf. Neh 7:26–38; 11:25–35). forfeited. The Hebrew for this word means "to ban from profane use and to devote to the Lord," either by destruction (see Ex 22:20; Num 21:2; Deut 2:34; 13:12–18 and notes) or by giving it to the Lord's treasury (cf. Lev 27:28; Josh 6:19; 7:1–15).

10:9,16–17 See chart, p. 637.

10:9 Judah and Benjamin. See note on 1:5. open square. Either the outer court of the temple or the open space before the Water Gate (Neh 8:1). rain. The Hebrew for this word is a plural of intensity, indicating heavy torrential rains. The ninth month, Kislev (November-December), is in the middle of the "rainy season" (v. 13), which begins with light showers in October and lasts to mid-April. December and January are also cold months, with temperatures in the 50s and even 40s in Jerusalem. The people shivered not only because they were drenched, but perhaps also because they sensed divine displeasure in the heavy rains (see 1 Sam 12:17–18; Ezek 13:11,13).

10:10 adding to the guilt of Israel. See Ex 9:34; Judg 3:12; 4:1; 2 Chr 28:13. The sins and failures of the exiles were great enough, but they added insult to injury by marrying pagan women.

10:11 separate yourselves. See Num 16:21; 2 Cor 6:14.

10:12 with a loud voice. See Neh 9:4.

10:14 elders and judges of each city. See Deut 16:18; 19:12; 21:3,19; Ruth 4:2.

10:15 Perhaps these four men opposed the measure because they wanted to protect themselves or their relatives, or they may have viewed it as being too harsh. Jahzeiah. Means "May the LORD see" (the name is found only here). Tikvah. Means "hope" (found elsewhere only in 2 Kin 22:14). Meshullam. See note on 8:16. If he is the Meshullam of v. 29, he himself had married a pagan wife. Shabbethai. Occurs only here and in Neh 8:7; 11:16; perhaps means "one born on the Sabbath."

10:16–17 The committee completed its work in three months, discovering that about 110 men were guilty of marrying pagan wives.

10:18–22 See 2:36–39.

10:19 pledged. For the symbolic use of the handshake (see NASB marg.) see 2 Kin 10:15; Ezek 17:18. ram. Guilt offerings were to be made for sins committed unintentionally (Lev 5:14–19) as well as intentionally (Lev 6:1–7), and a ram was the appropriate offering in either case (Lev 5:15; 6:6).

10:24 It is striking that only one singer and three gatekeepers were involved. No temple servants (2:43–54) or descendants of Solomon's servants (2:55–57) sinned through intermarriage.

26 and of the sons of Elam: Mattaniah, Zechariah, Jehiel, Abdi, Jeremoth and Elijah;
27 and of the sons of [a]Zattu: Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, Jeremoth, Zabad and Aziza;
28 and of the sons of Bebai: Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai and Athlai;
29 and of the sons of Bani: Meshullam, Malluch and Adaiah, Jashub, Sheal and Jeremoth;
30 and of the sons of Pahath-moab: Adna, Chelal, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezalel, Binnui and Manasseh;
31 and of the sons of Harim: Eliezer, Isshijah, [a]Malchijah, Shemaiah, Shimeon,
32 Benjamin, Malluch and Shemariah;
33 of the sons of Hashum: Mattenai, Mattattah, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasseh and Shimei;
34 of the sons of Bani: Maadai, Amram, Uel,
35 Benaiah, Bedeiah, Cheluhi,
36 Vaniah, Meremoth, Eliashib,
37 Mattaniah, Mattenai, Jaasu,
38 Bani, Binnui, Shimei,
39 Shelemiah, Nathan, Adaiah,
40 Machnadebai, Shashai, Sharai,
41 Azarel, Shelemiah, Shemariah,
42 Shallum, Amariah and Joseph.
43 Of the sons of [a]Nebo there were Jeiel, Mattithiah, Zabad, Zebina, Jaddai, Joel and Benaiah.
44 All these had married [a]foreign wives, and some of them had wives by whom they had children.

10:25–43 See 2:3–20.
10:30 Bezalel. Cf. Ex 31:2.
10:31 Shimeon. Probably means "one who hears." The Hebrew for this name is the same as that for Simeon, Jacob's second son. In Greek the name became Simon (e.g., Matt 4:18).
10:43 Nebo. The Hebrew equivalent of the name of the Babylonian god Nabu (see Is 46:1); found only here as a personal name.
10:44 Some of the marriages had produced children, but this was not accepted as a reason for halting the divorce proceedings.

Nehemiah's Grief for the Exiles

1 The words of [a]Nehemiah the son of Hacaliah.

Now it happened in [b]the month Chislev, [c]in the twentieth year, while I was in [d]Susa the [1]capitol,

2 that [a]Hanani, one of my brothers, and [1]some men from Judah came; and I asked them concerning the Jews who had escaped and had survived the captivity, and about Jerusalem.

3 They said to me, "The remnant there in the [a]province who survived the captivity are in great distress and [b]reproach, and [b]the wall of Jerusalem is broken down and [c]its gates are burned with fire."

4 When I heard these words, [a]I sat down and wept and mourned for days; and I was fasting and praying before [b]the God of heaven.

5 I said, "I beseech You, O LORD God of heaven, [a]the great and awesome God, [b]who preserves the covenant and lovingkindness for those who love Him and keep His commandments,

6 [a]let Your ear now be attentive and Your eyes open to hear the prayer of Your servant which I am praying before You now, day and night, on behalf of the sons of Israel Your servants, [b]confessing the sins of the sons of Israel which we have sinned against You; [c]I and my father's house have sinned.

7 "[a]We have acted very corruptly against You and have not kept the commandments, nor the statutes, nor the ordinances [b]which You commanded Your servant Moses.

8 "Remember the word which You commanded Your servant Moses, saying, '[a]If you are unfaithful I will scatter you among the peoples;

9 [a]but if you return to Me and keep My commandments and do them, though those of you who have been scattered were in the most remote part of the heavens, I [b]will gather them from there and will bring them [c]to the place where I have chosen to cause My name to dwell.'

10 "[a]They are Your servants and Your people whom You redeemed by Your great power and by Your strong hand.

11 "O Lord, I beseech You, [a]may Your ear be attentive to the prayer of Your servant and the prayer of Your servants who delight to [1]revere Your name, and make Your servant successful today and grant him compassion before this man."

Now I was the [b]cupbearer to the king.

11 [1]Or fear [a]Neh 1:6 [b]Gen 40:21; Neh 2:1

1:1 The words of. Originally an introduction to the title of a separate composition (see Jer 1:1; Amos 1:1), though the books of Ezra and Nehemiah appear as a single work from earliest times (see Introduction to Ezra: Ezra and Nehemiah). Nehemiah. Means "The LORD comforts." Hacaliah. Perhaps means "Wait for the LORD," though an imperative in a Hebrew name is quite unusual. The name occurs only here and in 10:1. Chislev . . . twentieth year. November-December, 445 B.C. See chart, p. 637. Susa. See note on Ezra 4:9.

1:2 Hanani. Probably a shortened form of Hananiah, which means "The LORD is gracious." one of my brothers. See 7:2. The Elephantine papyri mention a Hananiah who was the head of Jewish affairs in Jerusalem. Many believe that he is to be identified with Nehemiah's brother, and that he may have governed between Nehemiah's first and second terms (see note on 7:2). Jews who had escaped. See Ezra 9:8 and notes on Gen 45:7; 2 Kin 19:30–31; Is 1:9; 10:20–22.

1:3 province. See note on Ezra 2:1. wall of Jerusalem is broken down. The lack of a city wall meant that the people were defenseless against their enemies. Thucydides (1.89) describes the comparable condition of Athens after its devastation by the Persians in 480–479 B.C. Excavations at Jerusalem during 1961–67 revealed that the lack of a wall on the eastern slopes also meant the disintegration of the terraces there. When Nebuchadnezzar assaulted Jerusalem, he battered and broke down the walls around it (2 Kin 25:10). Most, however, do not believe that Nehemiah's distress was caused by Nebuchadnezzar's destruction in 586 but by the episode of Ezra 4:7–23. The Jews had attempted to rebuild the walls earlier in the reign of Artaxerxes I; but after the protest of Rehum and Shimshai, the king ordered the Jews to desist. See note on Ezra 4:21–23.

1:4 sat down. Cf. Ezra 9:3; Job 2:13. wept. See 8:9; Ezra 3:13 and note; 10:1; Esth 8:3. mourned. See Ezra 10:6; Dan 10:2. fasting and praying. See note on Ezra 8:23. During the exile, fasting became a common practice, including solemn fasts to commemorate the fall of Jerusalem and the murder of Gedaliah (see note on Zech 8:19; see also Esth 4:16; Dan 9:3; 10:3; Zech 7:3–7). God of heaven. See note on Ezra 1:2.

1:5 lovingkindness. Or "faithful love," the quality that honors a covenant through thick and thin.

1:6 praying before You now, day and night. Cf. Ps 42:3; 88:1; Jer 9:1; 14:17; Lam 2:18; Luke 2:37; 1 Thess 3:10; 1 Tim 5:5; 2 Tim 1:3. sins . . . I and my father's house. Nehemiah does not exclude himself or members of his own family in his confession of sins. A true sense of the awesome holiness of God reveals the depths of our own sinfulness (Is 6:1–5; Luke 5:8).

1:7 commandments . . . statutes . . . ordinances. See note on Gen 26:5. Moses. For the prominence of the law of Moses in Ezra and Nehemiah see Ezra 3:2; 6:18; 7:6; Neh 1:8; 8:1,14; 9:14; 10:29; 13:1.

1:8 Remember. See note on 13:31; a key word in the book (4:14; 5:19; 6:14; 13:14,22,29,31). unfaithful . . . scatter. Dispersion was the inescapable consequence of the people's unfaithfulness. By the NT period there were still more Jews in the Diaspora (dispersion) than in the Holy Land.

1:9 I will gather them. See Deut 30:1–5; a frequent promise, especially in the prophets (e.g., Is 11:12; Jer 23:3; 31:8–10; Ezek 20:34,41; 36:24; Mic 2:12). chosen to cause My name to dwell. See Deut 12:5 and note; Ps 132:13.

1:10 Your people . . . You redeemed. Although they had sinned and failed, they were still God's people by virtue of His redeeming them (see Deut 4:34; 9:29).

1:11 make Your servant successful today. Cf. Gen 24:12. cupbearer. Lit. "one who gives (someone) something to drink." The Hebrew for this word occurs 11 other times in the OT in the sense of "cupbearer" (Gen 40:1–2,5,9,13,20–21,23; 41:9; 1 Kin 10:5; 2 Chr 9:4). According to the Greek historian Xenophon (Cyropaedia, 1.3.9), one of the cupbearer's duties was to choose and taste the king's wine to make certain that it was not poisoned (see 2:1). Thus Nehemiah had to be a man who enjoyed the unreserved confidence of the king. The need for trustworthy court attendants is underscored by the intrigues that characterized the Achaemenid court of Persia. Ahasuerus, the father of Artaxerxes I, was killed in his own bedchamber by a courtier.

Nehemiah's Prayer Answered

2 And it came about in the month Nisan, [a]in the twentieth year of King [b]Artaxerxes, that wine was before him, and [c]I took up the wine and gave it to the king. Now I had not been sad in his presence.

2 So the king said to me, "Why is your face sad though you are not sick? [a]This is nothing but sadness of heart." Then I was very much afraid.

3 I said to the king, "[a]Let the king live forever. Why should my face not be sad [b]when the city, the place of my fathers' tombs, lies desolate and its gates have been consumed by fire?"

4 Then the king said to me, "What would you request?" [a]So I prayed to the God of heaven.

5 I said to the king, "If it please the king, and if your servant has found favor before you, send me to Judah, to the city of my fathers' tombs, that I may rebuild it."

6 Then the king said to me, the queen sitting beside him, "How long will your journey be, and when will you return?" So it pleased the king to send me, and [a]I gave him a definite time.

7 And I said to the king, "If it please the king, let letters be given me [a]for the governors of the provinces beyond the River, that they may allow me to pass through until I come to Judah,

8 and a letter to Asaph the keeper of the king's [a]forest, that he may give me timber to make beams for the gates of [b]the fortress which is by the [1]temple, for the wall of the city and for the house to which I will go." And the king granted them to me because [c]the good hand of my God was on me.

9 Then I came to [a]the governors of the provinces beyond the River and gave them the king's letters. Now [b]the king had sent with me officers of the army and horsemen.

10 When [a]Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite [1]official heard about it, it was very displeasing to them that some-

2:1 Nisan . . . twentieth year. March-April, 444 B.C. (see chart, p. 637). There was a delay of four months from Chisley, when Nehemiah first heard the news (1:1), to Nisan, when he approached the king. Various reasons have been suggested: 1. The king may have been in his other winter palace at Babylon. 2. Perhaps the king was not in the right mood. 3. Even though Nehemiah was a favorite of the king, he would not have rashly blurted out his request. sad in his presence. No matter what one's personal problems were, the king's servants were expected to keep their feelings to themselves and to display a cheerful disposition before him.

2:3 Let the king live forever. A common form of address to kings. city. Nehemiah does not mention Jerusalem by name (see v. 5); he may have wished to arouse the king's sympathy by stressing first the desecration of ancestral tombs.

2:4 I prayed to the God of heaven. Before turning to answer the king, Nehemiah utters a brief, spontaneous prayer to God. One of Nehemiah's striking characteristics is his frequent recourse to prayer (1:4; 4:4,9; 5:19; 6:9,14; 13:14,22,29,31).

2:6 queen. The Hebrew for this word is used only here and in Ps 45:9. It is a loanword from Akkadian and means lit. "(woman) of the palace." The Aramaic equivalent is found only in Dan 5:2–3,23, where it is translated "wives." Ctesias, a Greek who lived at the Achaemenid court, informs us that the name of Artaxerxes's queen was Damaspia and that he had at least three concubines. Like Esther, Damaspia may have used her influence with the king (Esth 5). The Achaemenid court was notorious for the great influence exercised by the royal women. Especially domineering was Amestris, the cruel wife of Ahasuerus and mother of Artaxerxes I. How long will your journey be . . . ? Nehemiah probably asked for a brief leave of absence, which he then had extended. We can infer from 5:14 that he spent 12 years on his first term as governor of Judah. In the 32nd year of Artaxerxes, Nehemiah returned to report to the king and then came back to Judah for a second term (13:6–7).

2:7 letters. A contemporary document from Arsames, the satrap of Egypt who was at the Persian court, to one of his officers who was returning to Egypt orders Persian officials to provide him with food and drink on the stages of his journey. beyond the River. See note on Ezra 4:10.

2:8 forest. The Hebrew for this word is pardes, a loanword from Old Persian meaning "enclosure," a pleasant retreat or park. The word occurs elsewhere in the OT only in Eccl 2:5 ("parks") and Song 4:13 ("orchard"). In the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) the Greek transliteration paradeisos is used here. In the period between the OT and the NT, the word acquired the sense of the abode of the blessed dead, i.e., "paradise." It appears three times in the NT (Luke 23:43; 2 Cor 12:4; Rev 2:7). As to the location of the "king's forest," some believe that it was in Lebanon, which was famed for its forests of cedars and other coniferous trees (see notes on Judg 9:15; Ezra 3:7). But a more plausible suggestion is that it should be identified with Solomon's gardens at Etham, about six miles south of Jerusalem (see Josephus, Antiquities, 8.7.3). For city gates, costly imported cedars from Lebanon would not be used but rather indigenous oak, poplar or terebinth (Hos 4:13). fortress. Probably refers to the fortress north of the temple, the forerunner of the Antonia fortress built by Herod the Great (Josephus, Antiquities, 15.11.4; see Acts 21:34,37; 22:24).

2:9 officers of the army and horsemen. In striking contrast to Ezra (see note on Ezra 8:22), Nehemiah was accompanied by an armed escort since he was officially Judah's governor.

2:10 Sanballat. A Babylonian name, meaning "Sin (the moon-god) has given life." Horonite. Identifies him as coming from (1) Hauran (Ezek 47:16,18), east of the Sea of Galilee, (2) Horonaim, in Moab (Jer 48:34), or, most probably, (3) either Upper or Lower Beth Horon, two key cities 12 miles northwest of Jerusalem, which guarded the main road to Jerusalem (Josh 10:10; 16:3,5; 1 Maccabees 3:16; 7:39). Sanballat was the chief political opponent of Nehemiah (v. 19; 4:1,7; 6:1–2,5,12,14; 13:28). He held the position of governor over Samaria (cf. 4:1–2). An Elephantine papyrus letter of the late fifth century B.C. to Bagohi (Bigvai), governor of Judah, refers to "Delaiah and Shelemiah, the sons of Sanballat, governor of Samaria." In 1962 a fourth-century B.C. papyrus was found in a cave north of Jericho, listing the name Sanballat, probably a descendant of Nehemiah's contemporary. Tobiah. Means "The LORD is good." He was probably a worshiper of the Lord (Yahweh), as indicated not only by his name but also by that of his son Jehohanan (6:17–18), meaning "The LORD is gracious." Jehohanan was married to the daughter of Meshullam son of Berechiah, the leader of one of the groups repairing the wall (3:4,30; 6:18). Tobiah also had a close relationship with Eliashib the priest (13:4–7). Ammonite. See Ezra 9:1; see also note on Gen 19:36–38. Tobi-one had come to seek the welfare of the sons of Israel.

Nehemiah Inspects Jerusalem's Walls

11 So I [a]came to Jerusalem and was there three days.

12 And I arose in the night, I and a few men with me. I did not tell anyone what my God was putting into my [1]mind to do for Jerusalem and there was no animal with me except the animal on which I was riding.

13 So I went out at night by [a]the Valley Gate in the direction of the Dragon's Well and on to the [1]Refuse Gate, inspecting the walls of Jerusalem [b]which were broken down and its [c]gates which were consumed by fire.

14 Then I passed on to [a]the Fountain Gate and [b]the King's Pool, but there was no place for [1]my mount to pass.

15 So I went up at night by the [a]ravine and inspected the wall. Then I entered the Valley Gate again and returned.

16 The officials did not know where I had gone or what I had done; nor had I as yet told the Jews, the priests, the nobles, the officials or the rest who did the work.

17 Then I said to them, "You see the bad situation we are in, that [a]Jerusalem is desoah was probably governor of Transjordan under the Persians. In later generations a prominent family bearing the name of Tobiah was sometimes associated with the region of Ammon in non-Biblical texts. very displeasing. The reasons for the opposition of Sanballat and Tobiah were not basically religious but political. The authority of the Samaritan governor in particular was threatened by Nehemiah's arrival.

2:11 three days. See note on Ezra 8:32.

2:12 Nehemiah was cautious and discreet as he inspected the city's fortifications. animal on which I was riding. Probably a mule or donkey.

2:13 Nehemiah did not make a complete circuit of the walls, but only of the southern area (see map below). Jerusalem was always attacked from the north because it was most vulnerable there, so the walls had probably been completely destroyed in that part of the city. Valley Gate. See 3:13. According to 2 Chr 26:9 Uzziah fortified towers in the west wall, which overlooked the Tyropoeon Valley, i.e., the central valley between the Hinnom and Kidron valleys. Excavations in 1927–28 uncovered the remains of a gate from the Persian period, which has been identified as the Valley Gate. Dragon's Well. Many scholars suggest that this was En-rogel (Josh 15:7–8; 18:16; 2 Sam 17:17; 1 Kin 1:9), a well situated at the junction of the Hinnom and Kidron valleys, 250 yards south of the southeast ridge of Jerusalem. Others suggest that it was the Pool of Siloam. Refuse Gate. Perhaps the gate leading to the rubbish dump in the Hinnom Valley (cf. 3:13–14; 12:31; 2 Kin 23:10). It was situated about 500 yards south of the Valley Gate (3:13).

2:14 Fountain Gate. Possibly in the southeast wall facing toward En-rogel (see 3:15; 12:37). King's Pool. Hezekiah may have diverted the overflow from his Siloam tunnel (cf. 2 Kin 20:20; 2 Chr 32:30) to irrigate the royal gardens (2 Kin 25:4) located outside the city walls at the junction of the Kidron and Hinnom valleys. The King's Pool was probably therefore the Pool of Siloam (3:15) or the adjacent Birket el-Hamra. no place . . . to pass. Possibly because of the collapse of the supporting terraces (cf. 2 Sam 5:9; 1 Kin 9:15,24) on the east side of the city.

2:15 ravine. The Kidron.

2:16 nobles. The Hebrew root for this word means "free" (see 4:14,19; 5:7; 6:17; 7:5; 13:17; see also note on 3:5).

2:17 desolate. The condition of the walls and gates of the city since their destruction by Nebuchadnezzar in 586 B.C., in spite of abortive attempts to rebuild them. The leaders and people had evidently become reconciled to this sad state of affairs. It took an outsider to assess the situation and to rally them to renewed efforts.

late and its gates burned by fire. Come, let us rebuild the wall of Jerusalem so that we will no longer be a reproach."

18 I told them how the hand of my God had been favorable to me and also about the king's words which he had spoken to me. Then they said, "Let us arise and build." [a]So they put their hands to the good work.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite [1]official, and [a]Geshem the Arab heard it, [b]they mocked us and despised us and said, "What is this thing you are doing? [a]Are you rebelling against the king?"

20 So I answered them and said to them, "[a]The God of heaven will give us success; therefore we His servants will arise and build, [b]but you have no portion, right or memorial in Jerusalem."

Builders of the Walls

3 Then [a]Eliashib the high priest arose with his brothers the priests and built [b]the Sheep Gate; they consecrated it and [c]hung its doors. They consecrated [1]the wall to [d]the Tower of the Hundred and [e]the Tower of Hananel.

6 Joiada the son of Paseah and Meshullam the son of Besodeiah repaired [a]the Old Gate; they laid its beams and hung its doors with its bolts and its bars.

2:18 my God . . . and . . . the king's words. Nehemiah could personally attest that God was alive and active in his behalf and that he (Nehemiah) had come with royal sanction and authority.
2:19 Sanballat . . . Tobiah. See note on v. 10. Geshem. Inscriptions from Dedan in northwest Arabia and from Tell el-Maskhutah near Ismailia in Egypt bear the name of Geshem, who may have been in charge of a north Arabian confederacy that controlled vast areas from northeast Egypt to northern Arabia, including the southern part of the Holy Land. Geshem may have been opposed to Nehemiah's development of an independent kingdom because he feared that it might interfere with his lucrative spice trade. Arab. See 2 Chr 9:14; Is 21:13; Jer 25:24. Arabs became dominant in Transjordan from the Assyrian to the Persian periods. Sargon II of Assyria resettled some Arabs in Samaria in 715 B.C. Classical sources reveal that the Arabs enjoyed a favored status under the Persians.
3:1–32 One of the most important chapters in the OT for determining the topography of Jerusalem (see map No. 8 at the end of the study Bible; see also map, p. 657). The narrative begins at the Sheep Gate (northeast corner of the city) and proceeds in a counterclockwise direction around the wall. About 40 key men are named as participants in the reconstruction of about 45 sections. The towns listed as the homes of the builders may have represented the administrative centers of the province of Judah. Ten gates are named: (1) Sheep Gate (v. 1), (2) Fish Gate (v. 3), (3) Old Gate (v. 6), (4) Valley Gate (v. 13), (5) Refuse Gate (v. 14), (6) Fountain Gate (v. 15), (7) Water Gate (v. 26), (8) Horse Gate (v. 28), (9) East Gate (v. 29), (10) Inspection Gate (v. 31). The account suggests that most of the rebuilding was concerned with the gates, where the enemy's assaults were always concentrated. Not all the sections of the walls or buildings in Jerusalem were in the same state of disrepair. A selective policy of destruction seems to be indicated by 2 Kin 25:9.
3:1 Eliashib the high priest. It was fitting that the high priest should set the example. Among the ancient Sumerians the king himself would carry bricks for the building of a temple. Sheep Gate. See v. 32; 12:39. It was known in NT times (John 5:2) as located near the Bethesda Pool (in the northeast corner of Jerusalem). Even today a sheep market is held periodically near this area. The Sheep Gate may have replaced the earlier Gate of Benjamin (Jer 37:13; 38:7; Zech 14:10). Tower of the Hundred. See 12:39. "Hundred" may refer to (1) its height (100 cubits), (2) the number of its steps or (3) a military unit (cf. Deut 1:15). Tower of Hananel. The towers were associated with the "fortress which is by the temple" (2:8) in protecting the vulnerable northern approaches to the city.
3:3 Fish Gate. See 12:39. During the days of the first temple, it was one of Jerusalem's main entrances (2 Chr 33:14; Zeph 1:10). Merchants brought fish from either Tyre or the Sea of Galilee to the fish market (13:16) through this entrance, which may have been located close to the site of the present-day Damascus Gate.
3:4 Meremoth. See note on Ezra 8:33. Meshullam. Repaired a second section (v. 30). Nehemiah complained that Meshullam had given his daughter in marriage to a son of Tobiah (see 6:17–18 and note on 2:10).
3:5 Tekoites. Tekoa was a small town about 6 miles south of Bethlehem and 11 miles from Jerusalem. It was the hometown of the prophet Amos. nobles. The Hebrew for this word is different from that in 2:16 (see note there) and means "mighty" or "magnificent" (see 10:29; 2 Chr 23:20; Jer 14:3). These aristocrats disdained manual labor. support. Lit. "put the back of the neck to." The expression is drawn from the imagery of oxen that refuse to yield to the yoke (Jer 27:12).
3:6 Old Gate. In the northwest corner. Its Hebrew name (Jeshanah Gate) has been interpreted to mean "Old Gate," or "gate to Jeshanah" (lying on the border between Judah and Samaria, 2 Chr 13:19), or as a corruption of Mishneh (the Hebrew word for "Second Quarter" or "New Quarter"; see Zeph 1:10) Gate. In any case, it may be another name for the Gate of Ephraim (see 12:39), which otherwise is not mentioned in ch. 3.
3:7 official seat. Lit. "throne," which symbolizes authority here.
3:8 goldsmiths. See vv. 31–32. perfumers. See 1 Sam 8:13. Broad Wall. See 12:38. In 1970–71 archaeological excavations in Jerusalem uncovered such a wall west of the temple area. It is dated to the early seventh century B.C. and was probably built by Hezekiah (2 Chr 32:5). The expansion to and beyond the 9 Next to them Rephaiah the son of Hur, [a]the official of half the district of Jerusalem, made repairs.

10 Next to them Jedaiah the son of Harumaph made repairs opposite his house. And next to him Hattush the son of Hashabneiah made repairs.

11 Malchijah the son of Harim and Hasshub the son of Pahath-moab repaired another section and [a]the Tower of Furnaces.

12 Next to him Shallum the son of Hallohesh, [a]the official of half the district of Jerusalem, made repairs, he and his daughters.

13 Hanun and the inhabitants of Zanoah repaired [a]the Valley Gate. They built it and hung its doors with its bolts and its bars, and a thousand cubits of the wall to the [1]Refuse Gate.

14 Malchijah the son of Rechab, the official of the district of [a]Beth-haccherem repaired the [1b]Refuse Gate. He built it and hung its doors with its bolts and its bars.

15 Shallum the son of Col-hozeh, the official of the district of Mizpah, [a]repaired the Fountain Gate. He built it, covered it and hung its doors with its bolts and its bars, and the wall of the Pool of Shelah at [b]the king's garden as far as [c]the steps that descend from the city of David.

16 After him Nehemiah the son of Azbuk, [a]official of half the district of Beth-zur, made repairs as far as a point opposite the tombs of David, and as far as [b]the artificial pool and the house of the mighty men.

17 After him the Levites carried out repairs under Rehum the son of Bani. Next to him Hashabiah, the official of half the district of Keilah, carried out repairs for his district.

18 After him their brothers carried out repairs under Bavvai the son of Henadad, official of the other half of the district of Keilah.

19 Next to him Ezer the son of Jeshua, [a]the official of Mizpah, repaired [1]another section in front of the ascent of the armory [b]at the Angle.

20 After him Baruch the son of Zabbai zealously repaired another section, from the Angle to the doorway of the house of [a]Eliashib the high priest.

21 After him Meremoth the son of Uriah the son of Hakkoz repaired another section, from the doorway of Eliashib's house even as far as the end of [1]his house.

22 After him the priests, [a]the men of the [1]valley, carried out repairs.

23 After [1]them Benjamin and Hasshub carried out repairs in front of their house. After [1]them Azariah the son of Maaseiah, son of Ananiah, carried out repairs beside his house.

24 After him Binnui the son of Henadad repaired another section, from the house of Azariah as far as [a]the Angle and as far as the corner.

25 Palal the son of Uzai made repairs in front of the Angle and the tower projecting from the upper house of the king, which is by [a]the court of the guard. After him Pedaiah the son of Parosh made repairs.

26 [a]The temple servants living in [b]Ophel made repairs as far as the front of [c]the Water Gate toward the east and the projecting tower.

Broad Wall may have become necessary because of the influx of refugees fleeing from the fall of Samaria in 722–721.

3:10 Jedaiah . . . made repairs opposite his house. See vv. 23,28–30. It made sense to have him and others repair the sections of the wall nearest their homes.

3:11 Tower of Furnaces. It was on the western wall, perhaps in the same location as one built by Uzziah (2 Chr 26:9). The furnaces may have been those situated in the "bakers' street" (Jer 37:21).

3:12 daughters. A unique reference to women working on the wall. When the Athenians attempted to rebuild their walls after the Persians had destroyed them, it was decreed that "the whole population of the city—men, women and children—should take part in the wall-building" (Thucydides, 1.90.3).

3:13 Valley Gate. See note on 2:13. a thousand cubits. Five hundred yards, an extraordinary length; probably most of the section was relatively intact. Refuse Gate. See note on 2:13.

3:14 Beth-haccherem. Means "house of the vineyard." It was a fire-signal point (Jer 6:1) and is identified with Ramat Rahel, two miles south of Jerusalem. It may have been the residence of a district governor in the Persian period.

3:15 Fountain Gate. See note on 2:14. Pool of Shelah. Shelah is a variant of Shiloah, i.e., Siloam, perhaps the lower Pool of Is 22:9 (see note on Is 8:6). king's garden. See note on 2:14. city of David. See 12:37; see also note on 2 Sam 5:7.

3:16 Beth-zur. A district capital, 13 miles south of Jerusalem. Excavations in 1931 and 1957 revealed that occupation was sparse during the early Persian period but was resumed in the fifth century B.C. tombs of David. Cf. 2:5. David was buried in the city area (1 Kin 2:10; 2 Chr 21:20; 32:33; Acts 2:29). The so-called Tomb of David on Mount Zion venerated today by Jewish pilgrims is in the Coenaculum building, erected in the 14th century A.D. Such a site for David's tomb is mentioned no earlier than the ninth century A.D. house of the mighty men. May have been the house of David's mighty men (see 2 Sam 23:8–39), which perhaps served later as the barracks or armory.

3:17–18 Keilah. Located about 15 miles southwest of Jerusalem, it played an important role in David's early history (1 Sam 23:1–13).

3:19 armory. See note on v. 16.

3:20–21 The residences of the high priest and his fellow priests were located inside the city along the eastern wall.

3:25 upper house of the king. Perhaps the old palace of David (see 12:37). Like Solomon's palace, it would have had a guardhouse (Jer 32:2).

3:26 Ophel. See v. 27. The word means "swelling" or "bulge," hence a "hill" (as in Mic 4:8), specifically the northern part of the southeastern hill of Jerusalem, which formed the original City of David, just south of the temple area (2 Chr 27:3). Water Gate. So called because it led to the main source of Jerusalem's water, the Gihon spring. It must have opened onto a large area, for the reading of the Law took place there (8:1,3,16; 12:37). projecting tower. Perhaps the large tower whose ruins were discovered by archaeologists on the crest of the Ophel hill in 27 After [1]them [a]the Tekoites repaired another section in front of the great projecting tower and as far as the wall of Ophel.

28 Above [a]the Horse Gate the priests carried out repairs, each in front of his house.

29 After [1]them Zadok the son of Immer carried out repairs in front of his house. And after him Shemaiah the son of Shecaniah, the keeper of the East Gate, carried out repairs.

30 After him Hananiah the son of Shelemiah, and Hanun the sixth son of Zalaph, repaired another section. After him Meshullam the son of Berechiah carried out repairs in front of his own [1]quarters.

31 After him Malchijah, [1]one of [a]the goldsmiths, carried out repairs as far as the house of the temple servants and of the merchants, in front of the [2]Inspection Gate and as far as the upper room of the corner.

32 Between the upper room of the corner and [a]the Sheep Gate the goldsmiths and the merchants carried out repairs.

Work Is Ridiculed

4 [1]Now it came about that when [a]Sanballat heard that we were rebuilding the wall, he became furious and very angry and mocked the Jews.

2 He spoke in the presence of his brothers and [a]the [1]wealthy men of Samaria and said, "What are these feeble Jews doing? Are they going to restore it for themselves? Can they offer sacrifices? Can they finish in a day? Can they revive the stones from the [2b]dusty rubble even the burned ones?"

3 Now Tobiah the Ammonite was near him and he said, "Even what they are building—[a]if a fox should [1]jump on it, he would break their stone wall down!"

4 [a]Hear, O our God, how we are despised! [b]Return their reproach on their own heads and give them up for plunder in a land of captivity.

6 So we built the wall and the whole wall was joined together to half its height, for the people had a [1]mind to work.

7 [1]Now when Sanballat, Tobiah, the Arabs, the Ammonites and the Ashdodites heard that the [2]repair of the walls of Jerusalem went on, and that the breaches began to be closed, they were very angry.

8 All of them [a]conspired together to come and fight against Jerusalem and to cause a disturbance in it.

Discouragement Overcome

9 But we prayed to our God, and because of them we [a]set up a guard against them day and night.

10 Thus [1]in Judah it was said,
"The strength of the burden bearers is failing,
Yet there is much [2]rubbish;
And we ourselves are unable To rebuild the wall."

11 Our enemies said, "They will not know or see until we come among them, kill them and put a stop to the work."

12 When the Jews who lived near them came and told us ten times, "[1]They will come up against us from every place where you may turn,"

13 then I stationed men in the lowest parts of the space behind the wall, the [1]exposed places, and I [a]stationed the people in families with their swords, spears and bows.

14 When I saw their fear, I rose and spoke to the nobles, the officials and the rest of the people: "[a]Do not be afraid of them; remember the Lord who is great and awesome, and [b]fight for your brothers, your sons, your daughters, your wives and your houses."

1923–25. Excavations at the base of the tower in 1978 revealed a level dating to the Persian era.

3:27 Tekoites. The common people of Tekoa did double duty, whereas the nobles of Tekoa shirked their responsibility (see note on v. 5).

3:28 Horse Gate. Where Athaliah was slain (2 Chr 23:15). It may have been the easternmost point in the city wall—a gate through which one could reach the Kidron Valley (Jer 31:40).

3:29 East Gate. May have been the predecessor of the present Golden Gate.

3:31 goldsmiths. See v. 8. Inspection Gate. In the northern part of the eastern wall.

3:32 Sheep Gate. Back to the point of departure (see v. 1).

4:2 He . . . said. Disputes between rival Persian governors were frequent. Sanballat asked several derisive questions to taunt the Jews and to discourage them in their efforts. burned. Fire had damaged the stones, which were probably limestone, and had caused many of them to crack and crumble.

4:3 fox. See Judg 15:4; Song 2:15. The Hebrew for this word may also mean "jackal." The jackal normally hunts in packs, whereas the fox is usually a nocturnal and solitary animal.

4:4–5 As in the so-called imprecatory psalms (Ps 79:12; 83; 94:1–3; 109:14; 137:7–9), Nehemiah does not himself take action against his opponents but calls down on them redress from God. In v. 5 Nehemiah's prayer echoes the language of Jer 18:23.

4:7 Ashdodites. See note on Is 20:1. Ashdod became a district capital under Persian rule.

4:9 prayed . . . set up a guard. Prayer and watchfulness blend faith and action, and also emphasize both the divine side and the human side.

4:10 failing. The picture is of a worker staggering under the weight of his load and ready to fall at any step.

4:11 Our enemies said. Either Nehemiah had friendly informants, or the enemy was spreading unsettling rumors.

4:12 ten times. Many times.

4:13 lowest parts . . . exposed places. Nehemiah posted men conspicuously in the areas that were the most vulnerable along the wall. spears. Used as thrusting weapons (Num 25:7–8; 1 Kin 18:28).

4:14 Do not be afraid of them; remember the Lord. See note on 1:8. The best way to dispel fear is to remember the Lord, who alone is to be feared (see Deut 3:22; 20:3; 31:6).

known to us, and that [a]God had frustrated their plan, then all of us returned to the wall, each one to his work.

16 From that day on, half of my servants carried on the work while half of them held the spears, the shields, the bows and the breastplates; and the captains were behind the whole house of Judah.

17 Those who were rebuilding the wall and those who carried burdens took their load with one hand doing the work and the other holding a weapon.

18 As for the builders, each wore his sword girded at his side as he built, while [1]the trumpeter stood near me.

19 I said to the nobles, the officials and the rest of the people, "The work is great and extensive, and we are separated on the wall far from one another.

20 "At whatever place you hear the sound of the trumpet, [1]rally to us there. [a]Our God will fight for us."

21 So we carried on the work with half of them holding spears from [1]dawn until the stars [2]appeared.

22 At that time I also said to the people, "Let each man with his servant spend the night within Jerusalem so that they may be a guard for us by night and a laborer by day."

23 So neither I, my brothers, my servants, nor the men of the guard who followed me, none of us removed our clothes, each took his weapon even to the water.

Usury Abolished

5 Now [a]there was a great outcry of the people and of their wives against their [b]Jewish brothers.

2 For there were those who said, "We, our sons and our daughters are many; therefore let us [a]get grain that we may eat and live."

3 There were others who said, "We are mortgaging our fields, our vineyards and our houses that we might get grain because of the famine."

4:16 shields. Made primarily of wood or wickerwork and therefore combustible (Ezek 39:9). breastplates. The Hebrew for this word designated primarily a breastplate of metal or a coat of mail (see 2 Chr 18:33).

4:17 with one hand doing the work and the other holding a weapon. Means either that the workers carried their materials with one hand and their weapons with the other, or simply that the weapons were kept close at hand.

4:18 trumpeter. See note on Is 18:3; see also Josh 6:4,6,8,13.

4:20 Our God will fight for us. For the concept of holy war, in which God fights for His people, see Josh 10:14,42; Judg 4:14; 20:35; 2 Sam 5:24; see also essay, p. 271.

4:21 until the stars appeared. Indicates the earnestness of their efforts, since the usual time to stop working was at sunset (Deut 24:15; Matt 20:8).

4:22 guards for us by night. Even men from outside Jerusalem stayed in the city at night so that some of them could serve as sentries.

4:23 Constant preparedness was the rule. According to Josephus (Antiquities, 11.5.8), Nehemiah "himself made the rounds of the city by night, never tiring either through work or lack of food and sleep, neither of which he took for pleasure but as a necessity."

5:1–19 During his major effort to rebuild the walls of Jerusalem, Nehemiah faced an economic crisis. Since the building of the wall took only 52 days (6:15), it is surprising that Nehemiah called a "great assembly" (v. 7) in the midst of such a project. Perhaps the economic pressures created by the rebuilding program brought to light problems that had long been simmering and that had to be dealt with before work could proceed. Among the classes affected by the economic crisis were (1) the landless, who were short of food (v. 2); (2) the landowners, who were compelled to mortgage their properties (v. 3); (3) those forced to borrow money at exorbitant interest rates and sell their children into slavery (vv. 4–5).

5:1 wives. The situation was so serious that the wives joined in the protest as they ran short of funds and supplies to feed their families. They complained not against the foreign authorities but against their own countrymen who were taking advantage of their poorer brothers at a time when all were needed for the defense of the country.

5:2 grain. About six to seven bushels would be needed for a man to feed his family for a month.

5:3 mortgaging. Even those who had considerable property were forced to mortgage it, benefiting the wealthy few (cf. Is 5:8). In times of economic stress the rich got richer, and the poor got poorer. famine. The economic situation was aggravated by the natural conditions that had produced a famine. Some 75 years earlier the prophet Haggai had referred to a time of drought, when food was insufficient (Hag 1:5–11). Such times of distress were considered to be expressions of God's judgment (Is 51:19; Jer 14:13–18; Amos 4:6). Famines were common in Canaan. They occurred in the time of Abraham (Gen 12:10), Isaac (Gen 26:1), Joseph (Gen 41:27,54), Ruth (Ruth 1:1), David (2 Sam 21:1), Elijah (1 Kin 18:2), Elisha (2 Kin 4:38) and Claudius (Acts 11:28).

5:4 tax. It is estimated that the Persian king collected the equivalent of 20 million darics a year in taxes. Little was ever returned to benefit the provinces, because most of it was melted down and stored as bullion. Alexander the Great found at Susa alone 9,000 talents (about 340 tons) of coined gold and 40,000 talents (about 1,500 tons) of silver stored as bullion. As coined money was increasingly taken out of circulation by taxes, poverty increased dramatically. The acquisition of land by the Persians and its removal from production also helped produce a 50 percent rise in prices during the Persian period.

5:5 slaves. In times of economic distress families would borrow funds, using family members as collateral. If a man could not repay the loan and its interest, his children, his wife, or even the man himself could be sold into bondage. An Israelite who fell into debt, however, would serve his creditor as a "hired man" (Lev 25:39–40). He was to be released in the seventh year (Deut 15:12–18), unless he chose to stay voluntarily. During the seven-year famine in Egypt, Joseph was approached by people who asked him to accept their land and their bodies in exchange for food (Gen 47:18–19). The irony for the Israelites was that at least as exiles in Mesopotamia their families were together, but now, because of dire economic necessity, their children were being sold into slavery.

daughters are forced into bondage already, and [1]we are helpless because our fields and vineyards belong to others."

6 Then I was very [a]angry when I had heard their outcry and these words.

7 I consulted with myself and contended with the nobles and the rulers and said to them, "[a]You are exacting usury, each from his brother!" Therefore, I held a great assembly against them.

8 I said to them, "We according to our ability [a]have [1]redeemed our Jewish brothers who were sold to the nations; now would you even sell your brothers that they may be sold to us?" Then they were silent and could not find a word to say.

9 Again I said, "The thing which you are doing is not good; should you not walk in the fear of our God because of [a]the reproach of the nations, our enemies?

10 "And likewise I, my brothers and my servants are lending them money and grain. Please, let us leave off this usury.

11 "Please, give back to them this very day their fields, their vineyards, their olive groves and their houses, also the hundredth part of the money and of the grain, the new wine and the oil that you are exacting from them."

12 Then they said, "We [a]will give it back and [b]will require nothing from them; we will do exactly as you say." So I called the priests and [c]took an oath from them that they would do according to this [1]promise.

Nehemiah's Example

14 Moreover, from the day that I was appointed to be their governor in the land of Judah, from [a]the twentieth year to the [b]thirty-second year of King Artaxerxes, for twelve years, neither I nor my [1]kinsmen have eaten the governor's food allowance.

15 But the former governors who were before me [1]laid burdens on the people and took from them bread and wine besides forty shekels of silver; even their servants domineered the people. But I did not do so [a]because of the fear of God.

16 I also [1]applied myself to the work on this wall; we did not buy any land, and all my servants were gathered there for the work.

5:6 I was very angry. Sometimes it becomes necessary to express indignation against social injustice (cf. Mark 11:15–18; Eph 4:26).
5:7 usury. See notes on Ex 22:25–27; Lev 25:36; Deut 23:20. Josephus (Antiquities, 4.8.25) explains: "Let it not be permitted to lend upon usury to any Hebrew either meat or drink; for it is not just to draw a revenue from the misfortunes of a fellow countryman. Rather, in consoling him in his distress, you should reckon as gain the gratitude of such persons and the recompense that God has in store for an act of generosity."
5:8 Jewish brothers who were sold. An impoverished brother could be hired as a servant, but he was not to be sold as a slave (Lev 25:39–42). to the nations. The sale of fellow Hebrews as slaves to foreigners was forbidden (Ex 21:8). were silent. Their guilt was so obvious that they had no rebuttal or excuse (cf. John 8:7–10).
5:9 not good. Failure to treat others, especially fellow believers, with compassion is an insult to our Maker and a blot on our testimony (cf. Prov 14:31; 1 Pet 2:12–15).
5:10 let us leave off this usury. The OT condemns the greed that seeks a profit at the expense of people (Ps 119:36; Is 56:9–12; 57:17; Jer 6:13; 8:10; 22:13–17; Ezek 22:12–13; 33:31). In view of the economic crisis facing his people, Nehemiah urges the creditors to relinquish their rights to repayment with interest.
5:11 grain, the new wine and the oil. See notes on 10:37; Deut 7:13.
5:13 shook out the front of my garment. Symbolizing the solemnity of an oath and reinforcing the attendant curses for its nonfulfillment. Amen! See 8:6; Num 5:22; see also note on Deut 27:15.
5:14 thirty-second year. From Apr. 1, 433 B.C., to Apr. 19, 432. Nehemiah served his first term as governor for 12 years before being recalled to court (13:6), after which he returned to Jerusalem (13:7) for a second term whose length cannot be determined. governor's food allowance. See v. 18. Provincial governors normally assessed the people in their provinces for their support. But Nehemiah, like Paul (1 Cor 9; 2 Thess 3:8–9), sacrificed even what was normally his in order to serve as an example to the people.
5:15 governors. The Hebrew for this word is used of Sheshbazzar (Ezra 5:14) and Zerubbabel (Hag 1:1,14; 2:2) as well as of various Persian officials (Ezra 5:3,6; 6:6–7,13; 8:36; Neh 2:7,9; 3:7). Nehemiah was not referring here to men of the caliber of Zerubbabel. Some believe that Judah did not have governors before Nehemiah and that the reference here is to governors of Samaria. But new archaeological evidence, in the form of seals and seal impressions, confirms the reference to the previous governors of Judah. burdens. It was customary Persian practice to exempt temple personnel from taxation, which increased the burden on lay people. servants. If the governors themselves used extortion, their underlings often proved even more oppressive (cf. Matt 18:21–35; 20:25–28). fear of God. Those in high positions are in danger of abusing their authority over their subordinates if they forget that they themselves are servants of a superior "Master in heaven" (Col 4:1; cf. Gen 39:9; 2 Cor 5:11).
5:16 did not buy any land. Nehemiah's behavior as governor was guided by principles of service rather than by opportunism.
5:17 at my table. As part of his social responsibility, a ruler or governor was expected to entertain lavishly. A text found at Nimrud has Ashurnasirpal II feeding 69,574 guests at a banquet for ten days. When Solomon dedicated the temple, he sacrificed 22,000 cattle and 120,000 sheep and goats, and held a great festival for the assembly for 14 days (1 Kin 8:62–65). We are not told how many he fed (cf. 1 Kin 4:27).
5:18 each day. The meat listed here would provide one meal abundance. Yet for all this [b]I did not demand the governor's food allowance, because the servitude was heavy on this people.

19 [a]Remember me, O my God, for good, according to all that I have done for this people.

The Enemy's Plot

6 Now when it was reported to Sanballat, Tobiah, to Geshem the Arab and to the rest of our enemies that I had rebuilt the wall, and that no breach remained in it, [a]although at that time I had not set up the doors in the gates,

2 then Sanballat and Geshem sent a message to me, saying, "Come, let us meet together at [1]Chephirim in the plain of [a]Ono." But they were planning to [2]harm me.

3 So I sent messengers to them, saying, "I am doing a great work and I cannot come down. Why should the work stop while I leave it and come down to you?"

4 They sent messages to me four times in this manner, and I answered them in the same way.

5 Then Sanballat sent his servant to me in the same manner a fifth time with an open letter in his hand.

6 In it was written, "It is reported among the nations, and [1]Gashmu says, that [a]you and the Jews are planning to rebel; therefore you are rebuilding the wall. And you are to be their king, according to these reports.

7 "You have also appointed prophets to proclaim in Jerusalem concerning [1]you, 'A king is in Judah!' And now it will be reported to the king according to these reports. So come now, let us take counsel together."

8 Then I sent a message to him saying, "Such things as you are saying have not been done, but you are [a]inventing them [1]in your own mind."

9 For all of them were trying to frighten us, [1]thinking, "[2]They will become discouraged with the work and it will not be done." But now, [a]O God, strengthen my hands.

10 When I entered the house of Shemaiah the son of Delaiah, son of Mehetabel, [a]who was [1]confined at home, he said, "Let us meet together in the house of God, within the temple, and let us close the doors of the temple, for they are coming to kill you, and they are coming to kill you at night."

11 But I said, "[a]Should a man like me flee? And could one such as I go into the temple [1]to save his life? I will not go in."

12 Then I perceived [1]that surely God had not sent him, but he uttered his prophecy against me because Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13 He was hired for this reason, [a]that I might become frightened and act according-for 600–800 persons, including the 150 Jews and officials of v. 17. Cf. Solomon's provisions for one day (1 Kin 4:22–23). choice sheep. Cf. Mal 1:8. birds. Poultry. Chickens were domesticated in the Indus River Valley by 2000 B.C. and were brought to Egypt by the time of Thutmose III (15th century B.C.). They were known in Mesopotamia and in Greece by the eighth century B.C. The earliest inscriptional evidence for poultry in the land of Canaan is the seal of Jaazaniah (dated c. 600 B.C.), which depicts a fighting rooster.

5:19 Remember me. See note on 1:8; cf. Heb 6:10. Perhaps Nehemiah's memoirs (see Introduction to Ezra: Literary Form and Authorship) were inscribed as a memorial that was set up in the temple. A striking parallel to Nehemiah's prayer is found in a prayer of Nebuchadnezzar: "O Marduk, my lord, do remember my deeds favorably as good [deeds]; may (these) my good deeds be always before your mind."

6:1 Sanballat, Tobiah, to Geshem. See notes on 2:10,19.

6:2 Ono. Located about seven miles southeast of Joppa near Lod (Lydda; see note on Ezra 2:33), in the westernmost area settled by the returning Jews (Neh 7:37; 11:35). It may have been proposed as neutral territory, but Nehemiah recognized the invitation as a trap (cf. Gen 4:8; Jer 41:1–3).

6:3 Nehemiah's sharp reply may seem like a haughty response to a reasonable invitation, but he correctly discerned the insincerity of his enemies. He refused to be distracted by matters that would divert his energies from rebuilding Jerusalem's wall.

6:4 four times. Nehemiah's foes were persistent, but he was equally persistent in resisting them.

6:5 open letter. During this period a letter was ordinarily written on a papyrus or leather sheet, which was rolled up, tied with a string and sealed with a clay bulla (seal impression) to guarantee the letter's authenticity. Sanballat apparently wanted the contents of his letter to be made known to the public at large.

6:6 their king. The Persian kings did not tolerate the claims of pretenders to kingship, as we can see from the Behistun (Bisitun) inscription of Darius I. In NT times the Roman emperor was likewise suspicious of any unauthorized claims to royalty (John 19:12; cf. Matt 2:1–13).

6:8 Such things . . . you are inventing. Nehemiah does not mince words. He calls the report a lie. He may have sent his own messenger to the Persian king to assure him of his loyalty.

6:9 They will become discouraged with the work. Lit. "Their hands will get too weak for the work," figurative language to express the idea of discouragement. The Hebrew for this phrase is used also in Ezra 4:4; Jer 38:4, as well as on an ostracon from Lachish dated c. 588 B.C.

6:10 Shemaiah . . . was confined. Perhaps as a symbolic action to indicate that his own life was in danger and to suggest that both Nehemiah and he must flee to the temple (for other symbolic actions see 1 Kin 22:11; Is 20:2–4; Jer 27:2–7; 28:10–11; Ezek 4:1–17; 12:3–11; Acts 21:11). Since Shemaiah had access to the temple, he may have been a priest. He was clearly a friend of Tobiah (cf. v. 12), and therefore Nehemiah's enemy. It was at least credible for Shemaiah to propose that Nehemiah take refuge in the temple area at the altar of asylum (see Ex 21:13–14 and notes), but not in the "house of God," the temple building itself.

6:11 Even if the threat against his life was real, Nehemiah was not a coward who would run into hiding. Nor would he transgress the law to save his life. As a layman, he was not permitted to enter the sanctuary (Num 18:7). When King Uzziah entered the temple to burn incense, he was punished by being afflicted with leprosy (2 Chr 26:16–21).

6:12 The fact that Shemaiah proposed a course of action contrary to God's word revealed him as a false prophet (cf. Deut 18:20; Is 8:19–20; see note on Deut 13:1–5).

6:13 If Nehemiah had wavered in the face of the threat against him, his leadership would have been discredited and morale among the people would have plummeted.

ly and sin, so that they might have an evil report in order that they could reproach me.

14 [a]Remember, O my God, Tobiah and Sanballat according to these works of theirs, and also Noadiah [b]the prophetess and the rest of the prophets who were trying to frighten me.

The Wall Is Finished

15 So [a]the wall was completed on the twenty-fifth of the month Elul, in fifty-two days.

16 [a]When all our enemies heard of it, and all the nations surrounding us saw it, they [1]lost their confidence; for [b]they recognized that this work had been accomplished [2]with the help of our God.

17 Also in those days many letters went from the nobles of Judah to Tobiah, and Tobiah's letters came to them.

18 For many in Judah were bound by oath to him because he was the son-in-law of Shecaniah the son of Arah, and his son Jehohanan had married the daughter of Meshullam the son of Berechiah.

19 Moreover, they were speaking about his good deeds in my presence and reported my words to him. Then Tobiah sent letters to frighten me.

Census of First Returned Exiles

7 Now when [a]the wall was rebuilt and I had set up the doors, and the gatekeepers and the singers and the Levites were appointed,

2 then I put [a]Hanani my brother, and [b]Hananiah the commander of [c]the fortress, in charge of Jerusalem, for he was [d]a faithful man and feared God more than many.

3 Then I said to them, "Do not let the gates of Jerusalem be opened until the sun is hot, and while they are standing guard, let them shut and bolt the doors. Also appoint guards from the inhabitants of Jerusalem, each at his post, and each in front of his own house."

4 Now the city was large and spacious, but the people in it were few and the houses were not built.

5 [a]Then my God put it into my heart to assemble the nobles, the officials and the people to be enrolled by genealogies. Then I found the book of the genealogy of those who came up first [1]in which I found the following record:

6 [a]These are the [1]people of the province who came up from the captivity of the exiles whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away, and who returned to Jerusalem and Judah, each to his city,

7 who came with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, [1]Azariah, [2]Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, [3]Mispereth, Bigvai, [4]Nehum, Baanah.

6:15 twenty-fifth of the month Elul. Oct. 2, 444 B.C. fifty-two days. The walls that lay in ruins for nearly a century and a half were rebuilt in less than two months once the people were galvanized into action by Nehemiah's leadership. Archaeological investigations have shown that the circumference of the wall in Nehemiah's day was much reduced. Josephus states (Antiquities, 11.5.8) that the rebuilding of the wall took two years and four months, but he is doubtless including such additional tasks as further strengthening of various sections, embellishing and beautifying, and the like. The dedication of the wall is described in 12:27–47.

6:17–18 Tobiah was related to an influential family in Judah, since his son Jehohanan was married to the daughter of Meshullam, who had helped repair the wall of Jerusalem (3:4,30).

7:2 Hanani my brother, and Hananiah. Or "Hanani my brother, that is, Hananiah" (see note on 1:2). fortress. See notes on 2:8;3:1. in charge of Jerusalem. Over Rephaiah and Shallum, who were over sections of the city (3:9,12).

7:3 until the sun is hot. Normally the gates would be opened at dawn, but their opening was to be delayed until the sun was high in the heavens to prevent the enemy from making a surprise attack before most of the people were up.

7:6–73 Essentially the same as Ezra 2. See notes there for the nature of the list and the reasons for the numerous variations in names and numbers between the two lists.

7:7 Nahamani. Does not occur in Ezra 2:2.

59 the sons of Shephatiah, the sons of Hattil, the sons of Pochereth-hazzebaim, the sons of [1]Amon.
60 All the temple servants and the sons of Solomon's servants were 392.
61 These were they who came up from Tel-melah, Tel-harsha, Cherub, [1]Addon and Immer; but they could not show their fathers' houses or their [2]descendants, whether they were of Israel:
62 the sons of Delaiah, the sons of Tobiah, the sons of Nekoda, 642.
63 Of the priests: the sons of [1]Hobaiah, the sons of Hakkoz, the sons of Barzillai, who took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai, the Gileadite, and was named after them.
64 These searched among their ancestral registration, but it could not be located; therefore they were considered unclean and excluded from the priesthood.
65 [a]The [1]governor said to them that they should not eat from the most holy things until a priest arose with [b]Urim and Thummim.

Total of People and Gifts

66 The whole assembly together was 42,360,
67 besides their male and their female servants, [1]of whom there were 7,337; and they had 245 male and female singers.
68 [1][a]Their horses were 736; their mules, 245;
69 their camels, 435; their donkeys, 6,720.
70 Some from among the heads of fathers' households gave to the work. The [1][a]governor gave to the treasury 1,000 gold drachmas, 50 basins, 530 priests' garments.
71 Some of the heads of fathers' households gave into the treasury of the work 20,000 gold drachmas and 2,200 silver minas.
72 That which the rest of the people gave was 20,000 gold drachmas and 2,000 silver minas and 67 priests' garments.
73 Now [a]the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, some of the people, the temple servants and all Israel, lived in their cities.
[b]And when the seventh month came, the sons of Israel were in their cities.

Ezra Reads the Law

8 And all the people gathered as one man at the square which was in front of [a]the Water Gate, and they [1]asked [b]Ezra the scribe to bring [c]the book of the law of Moses which the LORD had [2]given to Israel.
2 Then [a]Ezra the priest brought the law before the assembly of men, women and all who could listen with understanding, on [b]the first day of the seventh month.

7:73 lived in their cities. See note on Ezra 2:70. seventh month. October-November, 444 B.C.
8:1–18 According to the traditional view, the reading of the Law by Ezra would be the first reference to him in almost 13 years since his arrival in 458 B.C. Since he was commissioned to teach the Law (Ezra 7:6,10,14,25–26), it is surprising that there was such a long delay in its public proclamation.
8:1 all the people gathered. See Ezra 3:1, which also refers to an assembly called in the seventh month (Tishri), the beginning of the civil year (see chart, p. 92). square . . . in front of the Water Gate. See vv. 3,16; see also notes on 3:26; Ezra 10:9. Squares were normally located near a city gate (2 Chr 32:6). scribe. See note on Ezra 7:6. book of the law of Moses. Cf. vv. 2–3,5,8–9,13–15,18. Four views have been proposed concerning the extent of this book: (1) a collection of legal materials, (2) the priestly laws of Exodus and Leviticus, (3) the laws of Deuteronomy, (4) the Pentateuch. Surely Ezra could have brought back with him the Torah, i.e., the entire Pentateuch.
8:2 women. See 10:28. Women did not usually participate in assemblies (see note on Ex 10:11), but were brought, together with children, on such solemn occasions (Deut 31:12; Josh 8:35; 2 Kin 23:2). first day of the seventh month. Oct. 8, 444 B.C.; the New Year's Day of the civil calendar (see note on Lev 23:24), celebrated as the Feast of Trumpets (Num 29:1–6), with cessation of labor and a sacred assembly.
8:3 read from it. See Ex 24:7; Acts 8:30. from early morning until

[1]early morning until midday, in the presence of men and women, those who could understand; and all the people were attentive to the book of the law.

4 Ezra the scribe stood at a wooden podium which they had made for the purpose. And beside him stood Mattithiah, Shema, Anaiah, Uriah, Hilkiah, and Maaseiah on his right hand; and Pedaiah, Mishael, Malchijah, Hashum, Hashbaddanah, Zechariah and Meshullam on his left hand.

5 Ezra opened [a]the book in the sight of all the people for he was standing above all the people; and when he opened it, all the people [b]stood up.

6 Then Ezra blessed the LORD the great God. And all the people answered, "[a]Amen, Amen!" while lifting up their hands; then [b]they bowed low and worshiped the LORD with their faces to the ground.

7 Also Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, the Levites, explained the law to the people while the people remained in their place.

8 They read from the book, from the law of God, [1]translating to give the sense so that they understood the reading.

"This Day Is Holy"

9 Then Nehemiah, who was the [1a]governor, and Ezra [b]the priest and scribe, and the Levites who taught the people said to all the people, "[c]This day is holy to the LORD your God; [d]do not mourn or weep." For all the people were weeping when they heard the words of the law.

10 Then he said to them, "Go, eat of the fat, drink of the sweet, and [a]send portions to him who has nothing prepared; for this day is holy to our Lord. Do not be grieved, for the joy of the LORD is your strength."

11 So the Levites calmed all the people, saying, "Be still, for the day is holy; do not be grieved."

12 All the people went away to eat, to drink, [a]to send portions and to [1]celebrate a great festival, [b]because they understood the words which had been made known to them.

Feast of Booths Restored

13 Then on the second day the heads of fathers' households of all the people, the priests and the Levites were gathered to Ezra the scribe that they might gain insight into the words of the law.

14 They found written in the law how the LORD had commanded through Moses that the sons of Israel [a]should live in booths during the feast of the seventh month.

15 [1a]So they proclaimed and circulated a proclamation in all their cities and [b]in Jerusalem, saying, "[c]Go out to the hills, and bring olive branches and [2]wild olive branches, myrtle branches, palm branches and branches of other leafy trees, to make booths, as it is written."

midday. The people evidently stood (vv. 5,7) for five or six hours, listening attentively to the reading and exposition (vv. 7–8,12) of the Scriptures.

8:5 book. Scroll (see note on Ex 17:14). all the people stood up. The rabbis deduced from this verse that the congregation should stand for the reading of the Torah. It is customary in Eastern Orthodox churches for the congregation to stand throughout the service.

8:6 lifting up their hands. See Ex 9:29 and note; Ps 28:2; 134:2; 1 Tim 2:8. Amen, Amen! See notes on Deut 27:15; Rom 1:25. The repetition conveys the intensity of feeling behind the affirmation (for other repetitions see Gen 22:11 and note; cf. 2 Kin 11:14; Luke 23:21). worshiped. In its original sense the Hebrew for this verb meant "to prostrate oneself on the ground," as the frequently accompanying phrase "to the ground" indicates. Private acts of worship often involved prostration "to the ground," as in the case of Abraham's servant (Gen 24:52), Moses (Ex 34:8), Joshua (Josh 5:14) and Job (Job 1:20). There are three cases of spontaneous communal worship in Exodus (4:31; 12:27; 33:10). In 2 Chr 20:18 Jehoshaphat and the people "fell down before the LORD, worshiping the LORD" when they heard His promise of victory.

8:7 explained. See v. 8; Ezra 8:16 and note; Ps 119:34,73,130; Is 40:14.

8:8 read. See note on v. 3. translating. Rabbinic tradition understands the Hebrew for this expression as referring to translation from Hebrew into an Aramaic Targum. But there is no evidence of Targums (free Aramaic translations of OT books or passages) from such an early date. The earliest extensive Targum is one on Job from Qumran, dated c. 150–100 B.C. Targums exist for every book of the OT except Daniel and Ezra-Nehemiah. understood. See v. 12.

8:9 Nehemiah . . . Ezra. An explicit reference showing that they were contemporaries (see 12:26,36). do not mourn. See Ezra 10:6 and note; Esth 9:22; Is 57:18–19; Jer 31:13. weep. See 1:4; Ezra 3:13 and note; 10:1.

8:10 eat of the fat. Delicious festive food prepared with much fat. The fat of sacrificial animals was offered to God as the tastiest element of the burnt offering (Lev 1:8,12), the peace offering (Lev 3:9–10), the sin offering (Lev 4:8–10) and the guilt offering (Lev 7:3–4). The fat was not to be eaten in these cases. send portions to him who has nothing. It was customary for God's people to remember the less fortunate on joyous occasions (2 Sam 6:19; Esth 9:22; contrast 1 Cor 11:20–22; James 2:14–16).

8:14 booths. See notes on Ex 23:16; Lev 23:34,42; John 7:37.

8:15 olive. Widespread in Mediterranean countries. It was growing in Canaan before the conquest (Deut 8:8). Because it takes an olive tree 30 years to mature, its cultivation requires peaceful conditions. wild olive branches. Lit. "tree of oil," commonly regarded as the wild olive tree. But this is questionable since the "tree of oil" was used as timber (1 Kin 6:23,31–33), whereas the wood of the wild olive tree would have been of little value for use in the temple's furniture. Also, the wild olive tree contains very little oil. The phrase may refer to a resinous tree like the fir. myrtle. Evergreen bushes with a pleasing odor (Is 41:19; 55:13; Zech 1:8,10–11). palm. The date palm was common around Jericho (Deut 34:3; 2 Chr 28:15). other leafy trees. Cf. Ezek 6:13; 20:28. Later Jewish celebrations of the Feast of Tabernacles include waving the lulav (made of branches of palms, myrtles and willows) with the right hand and holding branches of the ethrog (a citrus native to Canaan) in the left.

16 So the people went out and brought them and made booths for themselves, each [a]on his roof, and in their courts and in the courts of the house of God, and in the square at [b]the Water Gate and in the square at [c]the Gate of Ephraim.

17 The entire assembly of those who had returned from the captivity made booths and lived in [1]them. The sons of Israel [a]had indeed not done so from the days of Joshua the son of Nun to that day. And [b]there was great rejoicing.

18 [a]He read from the book of the law of God daily, from the first day to the last day. And they [b]celebrated the feast seven days, and on [c]the eighth day there was a solemn assembly according to the ordinance.

The People Confess Their Sin

9 Now on the twenty-fourth day of [a]this month the sons of Israel assembled [b]with fasting, in sackcloth and with [c]dirt upon them.

2 The [1][a]descendants of Israel separated themselves from all foreigners, and stood and [b]confessed their sins and the iniquities of their fathers.

3 While [a]they stood in their place, they read from the book of the law of the LORD their God for a fourth of the day; and for another fourth they confessed and worshiped the LORD their God.

4 [a]Now on the Levites' platform stood Jeshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani and Chenani, and they cried with a loud voice to the LORD their God.

5 Then the Levites, Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah and Pethahiah, said, "Arise, bless the LORD your God forever and ever!

O may Your glorious name be blessed
And exalted above all blessing and praise!

6 "[a]You alone are the LORD.
[b]You have made the heavens,
The heaven of heavens with all their host,
The earth and all that is on it,
The seas and all that is in them.
[c]You give life to all of them
And the heavenly host bows down before You.

7 "You are the LORD God,
[a]Who chose Abram
And brought him out from [b]Ur of the Chaldees,
And [c]gave him the name Abraham.

8 "You found [a]his heart faithful before You,
And made a covenant with him
To give him the land of the Canaanite,
Of the Hittite and the Amorite,
Of the Perizzite, the Jebusite and the Girgashite—
To give it to his [1]descendants.
And You [b]have fulfilled Your promise,
For You are righteous.

9 "[a]You saw the affliction of our fathers in Egypt,
And [b]heard their cry by the [1]Red Sea.

10 "Then You performed [a]signs and wonders against Pharaoh,
Against all his servants and all the people of his land;
For You knew that [b]they acted arrogantly toward them,
And [c]made a name for Yourself as it is this day.

8:16 courts of the house of God. See note on 13:7. The temple that Ezekiel saw in his visions had an outer and an inner court (see diagram, p. 1212). Ezekiel's temple was to some extent patterned after Solomon's, which had an inner court of priests and an outer court (1 Kin 6:36; 7:12; 2 Kin 21:5; 23:12; 2 Chr 4:9; 33:5). The temple of the NT era had a court of the Gentiles and an inner court, which was subdivided into courts of the women, of Israel and of the priests. The Temple Scroll from Qumran has God setting forth in detail an ideal temple. Columns 40–46 describe the outer court as follows: "On the roof of the third story are columns for the constructing of booths for the Feast of Tabernacles, to be occupied by the elders, tribal chieftains and commanders of thousands and hundreds." Gate of Ephraim. A gate of the oldest rampart of Jerusalem (see note on 3:6; see also 2 Kin 14:13). It was restored by Nehemiah (12:39).

8:17 from the days of Joshua . . . to that day. The phrase does not mean that the Feast of Booths had not been celebrated since Joshua's time, because such celebrations took place after the dedication of Solomon's temple (2 Chr 7:8–10) and after the return of the exiles (Ezra 3:4). What apparently is meant is that the feast had not been celebrated before with such great joy (cf. 2 Chr 30:26; 35:18).

8:18 assembly. See Num 29:35.

9:1–37 The ninth chapters of Ezra, Nehemiah and Daniel are devoted to confessions of national sin and to prayers for God's grace.

9:1 twenty-fourth day. Oct. 30, 444 B.C.; a day of penance in the spirit of the day of atonement, which was held on the tenth day (Lev 16:29–30). fasting . . . sackcloth . . . dirt. See notes on Gen 37:34; Ezra 8:23; 10:6; Joel 1:13–14.

9:3 fourth of the day. About three hours.

9:5–37 One of the most beautiful prayers outside the Psalms, it reviews God's grace and power (1) in creation (v. 6), (2) in the Abrahamic covenant (vv. 7–8), (3) in Egypt and at the Red Sea (vv. 9–11), (4) in the wilderness and at Sinai (vv. 12–21), (5) during the conquest of Canaan (vv. 22–25), (6) through the judges (vv. 26–28), (7) through the prophets (vv. 29–31) and (8) in the present situation (vv. 32–37). Cf. Ps 78; 105–106.

9:6 You alone are the LORD. Though not in the words of Deut 6:4, which expresses the central monotheistic conviction of Israel's faith, the prayer begins with a similar affirmation (cf. 2 Kin 19:15; Ps 86:10). heaven of heavens. See Deut 10:14; 1 Kin 8:27; 2 Chr 2:6; Ps 148:4. heavenly host bows down before You. See Ps 89:5–7.

9:7 Ur of the Chaldees. See note on Gen 11:28. gave him the name Abraham. See note on Gen 17:5.

9:8 faithful. Compare Rom 4:16–22 with James 2:21–23. made a covenant with him. See note on Gen 15:18. Canaanite . . . Girgashite. See notes on Gen 10:6,15–18; 13:7; Ex 3:8; Ezra 9:1.

9:9 Red Sea. See notes on Ex 13:18; 14:2.

11 "[a]You divided the sea before them,
So they passed through the midst of the sea on dry ground;
And [b]their pursuers You hurled into the depths,
Like a stone into [1]raging waters.
12 "And with a pillar of cloud [a]You led them by day,
And with a pillar of fire by night
To light for them the way
In which they were to go.
13 "Then [a]You came down on Mount Sinai,
And [b]spoke with them from heaven;
You gave them [c]just ordinances and true laws,
Good statutes and commandments.
14 "So You made known to them [a]Your holy sabbath,
And laid down for them commandments, statutes and law,
Through Your servant Moses.
15 "You [a]provided bread from heaven for them for their hunger,
You [b]brought forth water from a rock for them for their thirst,
And You [c]told them to enter in order to possess
The land which You [1]swore to give them.

16 "But they, our fathers, [a]acted arrogantly;
They [1][b]became stubborn and would not listen to Your commandments.
17 "They refused to listen,
And [a]did not remember Your wondrous deeds which You had performed among them;
So they became stubborn and [b]appointed a leader to return to their slavery [1]in Egypt.
But You are a God [c]of forgiveness,
Gracious and compassionate,
Slow to anger and abounding in lovingkindness;
And You did not forsake them.
18 "Even when they [a]made for themselves
A calf of molten metal
And said, 'This is your God
Who brought you up from Egypt,'
And committed great [1]blasphemies,
19 [a]You, in Your great compassion,
Did not forsake them in the wilderness;
[b]The pillar of cloud did not leave them by day,
To guide them on their way,
Nor the pillar of fire by night, to light for them the way in which they were to go.
20 "[a]You gave Your good Spirit to instruct them,
Your manna You did not withhold from their mouth,
And You gave them water for their thirst.
21 "Indeed, [a]forty years You provided for them in the wilderness and they were not in want;
Their clothes did not wear out, nor did their feet swell.
22 "You also gave them kingdoms and peoples,
And allotted them to them as a [1]boundary.
[a]They took possession of the land of Sihon [2]the king of Heshbon
And the land of Og the king of Bashan.
23 "You made their sons numerous as [a]the stars of heaven,
And You brought them into the land
Which You had told their fathers to enter and possess.
24 "[a]So their sons entered and possessed the land.
And [b]You subdued before them the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites,
And You gave them into their hand, with their kings and the peoples of the land,
To do with them [1]as they desired.
25 "[a]They captured fortified cities and a [1][b]fertile land.
They took possession of [c]houses full of every good thing,
Hewn cisterns, vineyards, olive groves,
