will carry them away,
And the storm will scatter them;
But you will [b]rejoice in the LORD,
You will glory in the Holy One of Israel.

17 "The [1]afflicted and needy are seeking [a]water, but there is none,
And their tongue is parched with thirst;
I, the LORD, [b]will answer them Myself,
As the God of Israel I [c]will not forsake
them.
18 "I will open [a]rivers on the bare heights
And springs in the midst of the valleys;
I will make [b]the wilderness a pool of water
And the dry land fountains of water.
19 "I will put the cedar in the wilderness,
The acacia and the [a]myrtle and the [1]olive tree;
I will place the [a]juniper in the desert Together with the box tree and the cypress,
20 That [a]they may see and recognize,
And consider and gain insight as well,
That the [b]hand of the LORD has done
this,
And the Holy One of Israel has created
it.

21 "[1]Present your case," the LORD says.
"Bring forward your strong arguments,"
The [a]King of Jacob says.
22 [a]Let them bring forth and declare to us what is going to take place;
As for the [b]former events, declare what they were,
That we may consider them and know their outcome.
Or announce to us what is coming;
23 [a]Declare the things that are going to come afterward,
That we may know that you are gods;
Indeed, [b]do good or evil, that we may anxiously look about us and fear
together.
24 Behold, [a]you are of [1]no account,
And [b]your work amounts to nothing;
He who chooses you is an
[c]abomination.

25 "I have aroused [a]one from the north,
and he has come;
From the rising of the sun he will call on My name;
And he will come upon rulers as upon
[b]mortar,
Even as the potter treads clay."
26 Who has [a]declared this from the beginning, that we might know?
Or from former times, that we may say, "He is right!"?
Surely there was [b]no one who declared,
Surely there was no one who proclaimed,
Surely there was no one who heard your words.
27 "[a]Formerly I said to Zion, 'Behold, here they are.'
And to Jerusalem, 'I will give a
[b]messenger of good news.'
28 "But [a]when I look, there is no one,
And there is no [b]counselor [1]among
them
Who, if I ask, can [c]give an answer.
29 "Behold, all of them are [1]false;
Their [a]works are [b]worthless,
Their molten images are [c]wind and emptiness.

41:16 winnow. A figure of judgment used also in Jer 51:2. rejoice. Cf. 25:9; 35:10; 51:11.
41:17 afflicted and needy. Israel in exile or on the way home (cf. v. 14; 32:7). will answer. See 30:19 and note.
41:18 rivers on the bare heights. See 30:25 and note. wilderness a pool . . . fountains. See 32:2; 35:6–7 and notes.
41:19 These trees will beautify the wilderness (cf. 35:1–2). Several are named in 60:13 in connection with adorning the place of God's sanctuary. Acacia wood was used for the tabernacle (Ex 25:5,10,13). The pine tree and myrtle replace thorns and briers in 55:13.
41:20 created it. These fruitful conditions are part of God's new creation in behalf of His people (see 48:7; 57:19; 65:17–18).
41:21–22 God takes the nations and their idols to court (see v. 1 and note).
41:22 former events. Earlier predictions or accomplishments (see 42:9; 43:9,18; 46:9; 48:3).
41:23 do good or evil. See note on 40:18–20.
41:24 no account . . . nothing. Like the nations that worship them. See 40:17; 44:9; Hos 9:10. abomination. Like those who marry idolaters (see Mal 2:11).
41:25 aroused. See v. 2 and note. from the north. Cyrus came from the east (v. 2) but conquered a number of kingdoms north of Babylon early in his reign. From the perspective of a writer in Jerusalem, invasions came primarily from the north (see 14:31; Jer 1:14; 6:1,22; 10:22; 46:20; 50:3,9,41; 51:48). call on My name. Cyrus used the Lord's name in his decree (Ezra 1:2) but did not acknowledge Him (see 45:4–5). come upon . . . mortar . . . clay. Similar to Assyria in 10:6. Cf. Mic 7:10; Nah 3:14.
41:26 from the beginning. Before these events began to unfold (cf. v. 4). your. Referring to idols or their worshipers.
41:27 here they are. Words about the deliverance from Babylon. messenger of good news. Isaiah. See 40:9; 52:7 and notes.
41:28 no counselor . . . can give an answer. See 46:7.
41:29 worthless. See v. 24.

God's Promise concerning His Servant

42 "[a]Behold, My [b]Servant, whom I [1]uphold;
My [c]chosen one in whom My [d]soul delights.
I have put My [e]Spirit upon Him;
He will bring forth [f]justice to the [2]nations.
2 "He will not cry out or raise His voice,
Nor make His voice heard in the street.
3 "A bruised reed He will not break
And a dimly burning wick He will not extinguish;
He will faithfully bring forth [a]justice.
4 "He will not be [a]disheartened or crushed
Until He has established justice in the earth;
And the [b]coastlands will wait expectantly for His [1]law."

5 Thus says God the LORD,
Who [a]created the heavens and [b]stretched them out,
Who spread out the [c]earth and its [1]offspring,
Who [d]gives breath to the people on it
And spirit to those who walk in it,
6 "I am the LORD, I have [a]called you in righteousness,
I will also [b]hold you by the hand and [c]watch over you,
And I will appoint you as a [d]covenant to the people,
As a [e]light to the nations,
7 To [a]open blind eyes,
To [b]bring out prisoners from the dungeon
And those who dwell in darkness from the prison.

The Blindness of the People

14 "[a]I have kept silent for a long time,
I have kept still and restrained Myself.
Now like a woman in labor I will groan,
I will both gasp and pant.

42:1–4 Quoted in part in Matt 12:18–21 with reference to Christ. There are four "servant songs" in which the servant is the Messiah: 42:1–4 (or 42:1–7 or 42:1–9); 49:1–6 (or 49:1–7 or 49:1–13); 50:4–9 (or 50:4–11); 52:13–53:12. He is "Israel" in its ideal form (49:3). The nation was to be a kingdom of priests (Ex 19:6), but the Messiah would be the high priest who would atone for the sins of the world (53:4–12). Cyrus was introduced in ch. 41 as a deliverer from Babylon, but the servant would deliver the world from the prison of sin (see v. 7).

42:1 My servant. See 41:8–9 and note; Zech 3:8. In the royal terminology of the ancient Near East "servant" meant something like "trusted envoy" or "confidential representative." chosen one. See 41:8–9 and note. delights. Cf. Luke 3:22. My Spirit upon Him. Like the "branch" of 11:1–2 (see note on 11:2); cf. 61:1. justice. A righteous world order (see v. 4); see also 9:7 and note; 11:4 and note.

42:2 not cry out . . . raise His voice. He will bring peace (see 9:6).

42:3 bruised reed. Someone who is weak (see Ps 72:2,4). The servant will mend broken lives.

42:4 disheartened. Cf. 40:28. justice. Perfect order (see v. 1 and note). wait . . . for His law. As do the nations in 2:2–4. The servant will be a new Moses (see Deut 18:15–18; Acts 3:21–23,26). coastlands. See note on 11:11.

42:5 created the heavens . . . stretched. See 40:22 and note. gives breath . . . spirit. Cf. 57:15.

42:6 called . . . righteousness. Similar to the call of Cyrus (see 41:2 and note). hold you by the hand. See 41:13 and note. covenant. See 49:8. The Messiah will fulfill the Davidic covenant as king (9:7) and will institute the new covenant by His death (Jer 31:31–34; Heb 8:6–13; 9:15). people. Probably the Israelites (see 49:8; Acts 26:17–18). light. Parallel to "salvation" in 49:6 (cf. 51:4).

42:7 open blind eyes. See 29:18; 32:3; 35:5 and notes. bring out . . . dungeon. From the prison of Babylon and also from spiritual and moral bondage (compare 61:1 with Luke 4:18).

42:8 My glory. See 40:5 and note.

42:9 former things. See 41:22 and note. new things. The restoration of Israel (43:19). Cf. 48:6.

42:10 new song. To celebrate the "new things" of v. 9. end of the earth. See 11:12 and note; 41:5. islands. See v. 12; 11:11 and note.

42:11 wilderness. See 35:1 and note. Kedar. See note on 21:16. Sela. See note on 16:1.

42:12 give glory . . . praise. See 24:14–16.

42:13 warrior. God will fight as He did at the Red Sea (Ex 15:3); see 9:6 and note. zeal. Cf. 9:7; 37:32; 59:17; 63:15. raise a war cry. To cause panic among the enemy (see 1 Sam 4:5–8).

42:14 for a long time. During Israel's humiliation and exile.

15 "I will [a]lay waste the mountains and hills
And wither all their vegetation;
I will [b]make the rivers into coastlands
And dry up the ponds.
16 "I will [a]lead the blind by a way they do not know,
In paths they do not know I will guide them.
I will [b]make darkness into light before them
And [c]rugged places into plains.
These are the things I will do,
And I will [d]not leave them undone."
17 They will be turned back and be
[a]utterly put to shame,
Who trust in [1]idols,
Who say to molten images,
"You are our gods."

18 [a]Hear, you deaf!
And look, you blind, that you may see.
19 Who is blind but My [a]servant,
Or so deaf as My [b]messenger whom I send?
Who is so blind as he that is [1][c]at peace with Me,
Or so blind as the servant of the LORD?
20 [a]You have seen many things, but you do not observe them;
Your ears are open, but none hears.
21 The LORD was pleased for His righteousness' sake
To make the law [a]great and glorious.
22 But this is a people plundered and despoiled;
All of them are [a]trapped in [1]caves,
Or are [b]hidden away in prisons;
They have become a prey with none to deliver them,
And a spoil, with none to say, "Give them back!"

Was it not the LORD, against whom we have sinned,
And in whose ways they [a]were not willing to walk,
And whose law they did not [b]obey?
25 So He poured out on him the heat of His anger
And the [a]fierceness of battle;
And it set him aflame all around,
Yet he did not recognize it;
And it burned him, but he [1][b]paid no attention.

Israel Redeemed

43 But now, thus says the LORD, your
[a]Creator, O Jacob,
And He who [b]formed you, O Israel,
"Do not [c]fear, for I have [d]redeemed you;
I have [e]called you by name; you are [f]Mine!
2 "When you [a]pass through the waters,
[b]I will be with you;
And through the rivers, they will not overflow you.
When you [c]walk through the fire, you will not be scorched,
Nor will the flame burn you.
3 "For [a]I am the LORD your God,
The Holy One of Israel, your [b]Savior;
I have given Egypt as your ransom,
[1][c]Cush and Seba in your place.
4 "Since you are [a]precious in My sight,
Since you are [b]honored and I [c]love you,
I will give other men in your place and other peoples in exchange for your life.

restrained Myself. See 63:15; 64:12. The Hebrew verb is also used of Joseph, who controlled his emotions while he tested his brothers (Gen 43:31; 45:1). See 30:18 and note.

42:15 lay waste . . . wither. The opposite of 35:1–2; 41:18. rivers into coastlands. Perhaps to make travel easier. See 37:25; 44:27.

42:16 blind. Israel (vv. 19–20). rugged places into plains. See 40:4. not leave them. Cf. 40:27; 49:14; 54:8.

42:18 deaf . . . blind. See 6:10 and note.

42:19 My servant. Israel. See note on 41:8–9. messenger whom I send. A term associated with prophets (see Hag 1:13; cf. Is 44:26; Mal 3:1).

42:21 law great and glorious. Especially the law of Moses, given in the awesome setting of Mount Sinai (see Ex 34:29).

42:22 plundered and despoiled. By the Assyrians (see 10:6 and note) and the Babylonians (see 39:6). trapped in caves . . . prisons. See v. 7 and note. Cf. Judg 6:2–4.

42:24 Who gave Jacob up . . . ? Babylon conquered Israel, not because their gods were stronger than the Lord (see 40:17–18; 1 Kin 20:23), but because the Lord was punishing His people.

42:25 poured out . . . anger. Israel had a foretaste of the day of the Lord (see 5:25; 9:12,17,21; 13:3; 34:2 and notes; cf. Jer 10:25).

43:1 Creator . . . who formed. God made the nation Israel as surely as He made the first man (see Gen 1:27; see also Is 43:7,15,21; 44:2,24). Do not fear. See 41:10 and note. redeemed you. See notes on 35:9; 41:14. The verb is also used in 29:22; 44:22–23; 48:20 (cf. Ex 15:13). called . . . by name. God chose Israel to serve Him in a special way. See 45:3–4 (Cyrus).

43:2 waters . . . rivers. Probably an allusion to crossing the Red Sea (Ex 14:21–22) and the Jordan River (Josh 3:14–17). Cf. Ps 66:6,12. walk through the fire. Fulfilled literally in the experience of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego (Dan 3:25–27). Contrast 42:25.

43:3 Holy One of Israel. See notes on 1:4; 41:14. Savior. Who delivers from the oppression of Egypt or Babylon and from the spiritual oppression of sin (see 19:20 and note; 25:9 and note; 33:22; 35:4 and note; 43:11–12; 45:15,21–22; 49:25; 60:16; 63:8–9). The name "Isaiah" means "The LORD saves." ransom. The Persians conquered Egypt, Cush and Seba, and perhaps this was a reward or ransom for Persia's kindness to Israel (see note on 41:2; cf. Ezek 29:19–20). Cush. See note on 18:1. Seba. A land near Cush (cf. 45:14) or Sheba (Ps 72:10). It was probably either in south Arabia (see Gen 10:7 and note; see also Ezek 27:21–22) or across the Red Sea in Africa.

5 "Do not fear, for [a]I am with you;
I will bring [b]your offspring from the east,
And [c]gather you from the west.
6 "I will say to the [a]north, 'Give them up!'
And to the south, 'Do not hold them back.'
Bring My [b]sons from afar
And My daughters from the [c]ends of the earth,
7 Everyone who is [a]called by My name,
And whom I have [b]created for My [c]glory,
[d]Whom I formed, even whom I have made."

Israel Is God's Witness

8 Bring out the people who are [a]blind, even though they have eyes,
And the deaf, even though they have ears.
9 All the nations have [a]gathered together
So that the peoples may be assembled.
Who among them can [b]declare this
And proclaim to us the former things?
Let them present [c]their witnesses
[d]that they may be justified,
Or let them hear and say, "It is true."
10 "You are [a]My witnesses," declares the LORD,
"And [b]My servant whom I have chosen,
So that you may know and believe Me
And understand that [c]I am He.
[d]Before Me there was no God formed,
And there will be none after Me.
11 "I, even I, am the LORD,
And there is no [a]savior [b]besides Me.
12 "It is I who have declared and saved and proclaimed,
And there was no [a]strange god among you;
So you are My witnesses," declares the LORD,
"And I am God.
13 "Even [1][a]from eternity [b]I am He,
And there is [c]none who can deliver out of My hand;
[d]I act and who can reverse it?"

Babylon to Be Destroyed

14 Thus says the LORD your [a]Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel,
"For your sake I have sent to Babylon,
And will bring them all down as fugitives,
[1]Even the [b]Chaldeans, into the [c]ships [2]in which they rejoice.
15 "I am the LORD, your Holy One,
[a]The Creator of Israel, your [b]King."
16 Thus says the LORD,
Who [a]makes a way through the sea
And a path through the mighty waters,
17 Who brings forth the [a]chariot and the horse,
The army and the mighty man
(They will lie down together and not rise again;
They have been [b]quenched and extinguished like a wick):
18 "[a]Do not call to mind the former things,
Or ponder things of the past.
19 "Behold, I will do something [a]new,
Now it will spring forth;
Will you not be aware of it?
I will even [b]make a roadway in the wilderness,
Rivers in the desert.
20 "The beasts of the field will glorify Me,
The [a]jackals and the ostriches,
Because I have [b]given waters in the wilderness
And rivers in the desert,
To give drink to My chosen people.

43:5 Do not fear. See 41:10 and note. east. Especially Assyria and Babylonia. See 11:11–12 and notes; cf. Ps 107:3. west. For example, the "islands" of 11:11 (see also 24:14–15; 49:12).
43:6 north. For example, Hamath (see 10:9 and note; 11:11). south. Egypt. ends of the earth. See note on 11:12 (cf. 41:5; 42:10).
43:7 called by My name. People belonging to God. created . . . formed. See v. 1 and note.
43:8 blind . . . deaf. Probably referring to Israel (see 6:10 and note; 42:18–20).
43:9–13 A court scene; see also 41:21–22.
43:9 nations . . . peoples may be assembled. See 41:1 and note. former things. See 41:22 and note. witnesses. To verify the accuracy of earlier predictions by idols or their worshipers (see 41:26).
43:10 You are My witnesses. See also v. 12; 44:8. God's work in behalf of Israel is proof of His saving power. My servant. See 41:8–9 and note.
43:11 The main thrust is repeated in 44:6,8; 45:5–6,18,21–22; 46:9 (see also Deut 32:39). savior. See v. 3 and note.
43:12 strange god. Cf. Deut 32:12,16. Israel repeatedly worshiped other gods (see Judg 2:12–13). witnesses. See v. 10 and note.
43:13 See v. 11. none who can deliver . . . hand. Quoted verbatim from Deut 32:39.
43:14 Redeemer. See 41:14 and note. Holy One of Israel. See 1:4; 41:14 and notes. Babylon. See note on 13:1. fugitives . . . into the ships. The Babylonians used the Persian Gulf, as well as the Tigris and Euphrates rivers, for trading purposes. But their splendid ships (cf. 2:16) would one day become their means of flight (cf. Jer 51:13).
43:15 Creator. See v. 1 and note. King. God was called "king in Jeshurun" (Israel) in Deut 33:5 (contrast 1 Sam 8:7).
43:16–17 A reference to crossing the Red Sea (see v. 2 and note). Pharaoh's chariots and horsemen were destroyed as Israel's God fought against them (see 51:10; Ex 14:28; 15:4).
43:17 extinguished like a wick. Contrast 42:3.
43:19 something new. See 42:9 and note. roadway in the wilderness. See 35:8; 40:3 and notes. Rivers in the desert. See v. 20; 32:2 and note. Contrast 42:15 and note.
43:20 jackals . . . ostriches. Creatures of the desert (see 13:21–22; 34:13–15; 35:7).

21 "The people whom [a]I formed for Myself
[b]Will declare My praise.

The Shortcomings of Israel

22 "Yet you have not called on Me, O Jacob;
But you have become [a]weary of Me,
O Israel.
23 "You have [a]not brought to Me the sheep of your burnt offerings,
Nor have you [b]honored Me with your sacrifices.
I have not [c]burdened you with [1]offerings,
Nor wearied you with [d]incense.
24 "You have bought Me not [1][a]sweet cane with money,
Nor have you [2]filled Me with the fat of your sacrifices;
Rather you have burdened Me with your sins,
You have [b]wearied Me with your iniquities.

25 "I, even I, am the one who [a]wipes out your transgressions [b]for My own sake,
And I will [c]not remember your sins.
26 "[1]Put Me in remembrance, [a]let us argue our case together;
State your cause, [b]that you may be proved right.
27 "Your [a]first [1]forefather sinned,
And your [2b]spokesmen have [3]transgressed against Me.
28 "So I will [1]pollute the [2]princes of the sanctuary,
And I will consign Jacob to the [a]ban and Israel to [b]revilement.

The Blessings of Israel

44 "But now listen, O Jacob, My [a]servant,
And Israel, whom I have chosen:
2 Thus says the LORD who made you
And [a]formed you from the womb, who [b]will help you,
'[c]Do not fear, O Jacob My servant;
And you [d]Jeshurun whom I have chosen.
3 'For [a]I will pour out water on [1]the thirsty land
And streams on the dry ground;
I will [b]pour out My Spirit on your [c]offspring
And My blessing on your descendants;
4 And they will spring up [1]among the grass
Like [a]poplars by streams of water.'
5 "This one will say, 'I am the LORD'S';
And that one [1]will call on the name of Jacob;
And another will [a]write [2]on his hand,
'Belonging to the LORD,'
And will name Israel's name with honor.

6 "Thus says the LORD, the [a]King of Israel and his [b]Redeemer, the LORD of hosts:
'I am the [c]first and I am the last,
And there is no God [d]besides Me.
7 'Who is like Me? [a]Let him proclaim and declare it;
Yes, let him recount it to Me in order,
[1]From the time that I established the ancient [2]nation.
And let them declare to them the things that are coming
And the events that are going to take place.
8 'Do not tremble and do not be afraid;

you and declared it?
And [b]you are My witnesses.

43:21 people . . . declare My praise. Cf. 42:12.
43:22–24 The Israelites may have brought sacrifices (see 1:11–15 and note), but their hearts were not right with God.
43:22 not called . . . become weary. Apparently their prayers were halfhearted (contrast Ps 69:3).
43:23 not burdened . . . Nor wearied. God did not make excessive demands on His people.
43:24 cane. Linked with incense (see v. 23) also in Song 4:14; Jer 6:20. fat. See note on 34:6. burdened . . . wearied. See 1:14.
43:25 wipes out . . . transgressions. In spite of the punishment Israel must suffer (v. 28), God is eager to forgive His people (see 1:18; 44:22; see also 40:2 and note).
43:26 State your cause. The Lord takes Israel to court, as He did the nations in 41:21–22.
43:27 first forefather. See 51:2. Even Abraham was a sinner (see Gen 12:18; 20:9). spokesmen. Probably the priests and prophets.
43:28 consign . . . to the ban. See note on 34:2. Any town of Israel that harbored idolatry was to receive this fate (Deut 13:12–15). Jerusalem suffered destruction at the hands of the Babylonians (2 Kin 25:8–9) because of idolatry (see Ezek 7:15–22).
44:1–2 My servant. See 41:8–9 and note.
44:2 formed you. See 43:1 and note. from the womb. See v. 24. The tenderness of the Creator is shown (see also 49:5; Jer 1:5). Do not fear. See v. 8; 41:10 and note. Jeshurun. Israel (see v. 1), meaning "the upright one"; found elsewhere only in Deut 32:15; 33:5,26.
44:3 pour out water . . . streams. See 30:25; 32:2; 35:6–7 and notes; see also 41:18. pour out My Spirit. Associated with the Messianic age in 32:15 (see note there) and Joel 2:28.
44:4 grass. A symbol of luxuriant growth also in 35:7 (contrast 37:27; 40:6–8).
44:5 call on the name. A willingness to identify with Jacob, the Lord's people. See 43:7 and note. write on his hand. Perhaps a mark of ownership (cf. 49:16; Rev 13:16) or a reminder of one's allegiance (cf. Ex 13:9,16).
44:6 King. See 43:15 and note. Redeemer. See v. 24; 41:14 and note. first . . . last. See 41:4 and note. there is . . . Me. See 43:11 and note.
44:8 You are My witnesses. See 43:10 and note. Rock. See 17:10 and note. As in v. 2; 43:11–13, Isaiah may be drawing on the song of Moses, which describes God as "the Rock" (Deut

Is there any God [c]besides Me,
Or is there any other [d]Rock?
I know of none.' "

The Folly of Idolatry

9 Those who fashion [1]a graven image are all of them futile, and their precious things are of no profit; even their own witnesses fail to see or know, so that they will be [a]put to shame.

10 Who has fashioned a god or cast [1]an idol to [a]no profit?

11 Behold, all his companions will be [a]put to shame, for the craftsmen themselves are mere men. Let them all assemble themselves, let them stand up, let them tremble, let them together be put to shame.

12 The [a]man shapes iron into a cutting tool and does his work over the coals, [1]fashioning it with hammers and working it with his strong arm. He also gets hungry and [2]his strength fails; he drinks no water and becomes weary.

13 [a]Another shapes wood, he extends a measuring line; he outlines it with red chalk. He works it with planes and outlines it with a compass, and makes it like the form of a man, like the beauty of [b]man, so that it may sit in a [c]house.

14 Surely he cuts cedars for himself, and takes a [1]cypress or an oak and [2]raises it for himself among the trees of the forest. He plants a fir, and the rain makes it grow.

15 Then it becomes something for a man to burn, so he takes one of them and warms himself; he also makes a fire to bake bread. He also [a]makes a god and worships it; he makes it a graven image and [b]falls down before it.

16 Half of it he burns in the fire; over this half he eats meat as he roasts a roast and is satisfied. He also warms himself and says, "Aha! I am warm, I have seen the fire."

17 But the rest of it he [a]makes into a god, his graven image. He falls down before it and worships; he also [b]prays to it and says, "Deliver me, for you are my god."

18 They do not [a]know, nor do they understand, for He has [b]smeared over their eyes so that they cannot see and their hearts so that they cannot comprehend.

19 No one [1]recalls, nor is there [a]knowledge or understanding to say, "I have burned half of it in the fire and also have baked bread over its coals. I roast meat and eat it. Then [2]I make the rest of it into an [b]abomination, [3]I fall down before a block of wood!"

20 He [1][a]feeds on ashes; a [b]deceived heart has turned him aside. And he cannot deliver [2]himself, nor say, "[c]Is there not a lie in my right hand?"

God Forgives and Redeems

21 "[a]Remember these things, O Jacob,
And Israel, for you are [b]My servant;
I have formed you, you are My servant,
O Israel, you will [c]not be forgotten by Me.
22 "I have [a]wiped out your transgressions like a thick cloud

For [c]the LORD has redeemed Jacob

32:4,15,30–31), but the metaphor is also common in the Psalms (see note on Ps 18:2).

44:9–20 A satire on the folly of idolatry (see 40:18–20 and note).

44:9 futile . . . no profit. Like the nations and their idols (see 40:17; 41:24 and notes). shame. Cf. v. 11; 42:17; 45:16.

44:11 craftsmen. See 40:19 and note.

44:12–20 Two idols are described: a metal one in v. 12 and a wooden one in vv. 13–20. The latter was more common (see 40:20).

44:12 becomes weary. But God never gets tired (40:28).

44:13 like the form of man. Man was made in the image of God (see Gen 1:26–27 and notes), but an idol is made in the image of man (Deut 4:16; Rom 1:23).

44:14 cedars . . . cypress . . . oak. The most valuable kinds of wood then known. See 9:10; 41:19 and notes.

44:15 worships . . . falls down. Repeated in vv. 17,19; see 2:8,20.

44:16 roasts a roast . . . warms himself. Although wood serves common purposes, it is also made into an idol (see v. 19).

44:17 Deliver me. King Amaziah was condemned for worshiping the gods of Seir, a nation he had defeated in battle (2 Chr 25:14–15). Isaiah denounces such idolatry as totally irrational (see 45:20). Whereas those who worshiped idols associated the god with the idol, for Isaiah there was no god for the idol to represent, so he depicts idolatry as worship of a mere "block of wood" (v. 19).

44:18 smeared over their eyes . . . and their hearts. Israel's condition in 6:9–10 (see note there). The description ironically characterizes both the idols and those who worship them. See also Ps 82:5.

44:19 an abomination. The Lord detests idols (see Deut 27:15). In 1 Kin 11:5,7; 2 Kin 23:13 Molech and Chemosh are called detestable gods and an abomination. Those who worship idols are also called an abomination (see 41:24 and note).

44:20 feeds on ashes. Even devoted worship does not benefit the idolater. Cf. Hos 12:1. lie. Or "fraud." See 2 Thess 2:11.

44:21 My servant. See vv. 1–2; 41:8–9 and note.

44:22 wiped out your transgressions. As in 40:2 (see note there), the suffering of Israel has paved the way for forgiveness and the restoration of the nation (see 43:25 and note). Return to Me. Cf. Jer 31:18. redeemed. Cf. v. 23; see notes on 35:9; 41:14; 43:1.

44:23 Shout for joy . . . Shout joyfully. Nature is called on to join in praise (see also 35:1; 49:13). Break forth . . . you mountains.

And in Israel He [d]shows forth His glory.

24 Thus says the LORD, your [a]Redeemer, and the one who [b]formed you from the womb,
"I, the LORD, am the maker of all things,
[c]Stretching out the heavens by Myself
And spreading out the earth [1]all alone,
25 [a]Causing the [1]omens of boasters to fail,
[2]Making fools out of diviners,
[b]Causing wise men to draw back
And [3]turning their knowledge into foolishness,
26 [a]Confirming the word of His servant
And [1]performing the purpose of His messengers.
It is I who says of Jerusalem, 'She shall be inhabited!'
And of the [b]cities of Judah, '[c]They shall be built.'
And I will raise up her ruins again.
27 "It is I who says to the depth of the sea, 'Be dried up!'
And I will make your rivers [a]dry.
28 "It is I who says of [a]Cyrus, 'He is My shepherd!
And he will perform all My desire.'
And [1]he declares of Jerusalem, '[b]She will be built,'
And of the temple, '[2]Your foundation will be laid.' "

God Uses Cyrus

45 Thus says the LORD to [a]Cyrus His anointed, Whom I have taken by the right [b]hand,
To [c]subdue nations before him
And [1]to [d]loose the loins of kings;
To open doors before him so that gates will not be shut:
2 "I will go before you and [a]make the [1]rough places smooth;
I will [b]shatter the doors of bronze and cut through their iron [c]bars.
3 "I will give you the [1a]treasures of darkness
And hidden wealth of secret places,
So that you may know that it is I,
The LORD, the God of Israel, who [b]calls you by your name.
4 "For the sake of [a]Jacob My servant,
And Israel My chosen one,
I have also [b]called you by your name;
I have given you a title of honor
Though you have [c]not known Me.
5 "I am the LORD, and [a]there is no other;
[b]Besides Me there is no God.
I will [1c]gird you, though you have not known Me;
6 That [1a]men may know from the rising to the setting of the sun
That there is [b]no one besides Me.
I am the LORD, and there is no other,
7 The One [a]forming light and [b]creating darkness,
Causing [1]well-being and [c]creating calamity;
I am the LORD who does all these.

God's Supreme Power

8 "[a]Drip down, O heavens, from above,
And let the clouds pour down righteousness;
Let the [b]earth open up and salvation bear fruit,
[c]And righteousness spring up with it.
I, the LORD, have created it.

See 49:13; 55:12. shows forth His glory. See 35:2 and note; 40:5 and note.

44:24 Redeemer. See 41:14 and note. Stretching out . . . spreading out. See 40:22 and note; cf. 51:13.

44:25 omens of boasters . . . fail. See Deut 13:1–3. diviners. The Hebrew for this word is used of Balaam (Josh 13:22), the witch of Endor (1 Sam 28:8) and false prophets (Jer 27:9). It is linked with soothsaying and sorcery (see 3:2–3 and note; Deut 18:10–11). wise men . . . draw back. See 29:14 and note.

44:26 servant . . . messengers. The true prophets (see 42:19 and note; Jer 7:25). inhabited . . . built. See Jer 32:15; cf. Is 58:12; 61:4. raise up . . . ruins. Contrast 6:11.

44:27 Be dried up! A reference to the crossing of the Red Sea (see 11:15; 37:25; 43:16–17 and notes; cf. 50:2; 51:10).

44:28 Cyrus. See 41:2 and note. shepherd. Often applied to rulers (see 2 Sam 5:2; Jer 23:2). Jerusalem . . . temple. The decree of Cyrus (Ezra 1:2–4; 6:3–5) authorized the rebuilding of the temple, which would lead to a restored Jerusalem (see 45:13).

45:1 anointed. "Messiah" comes from the Hebrew for this word. Cyrus, a foreign emperor, is called "his anointed" just as he is called "my shepherd" (44:28), because God has appointed him to carry out a divine commission in his role as king. Nebuchadnezzar is similarly called "my servant" (Jer 25:9; 27:6; 43:10). The servant—Christ (see note on 42:1–4)—is called "the Messiah" ("the Anointed One") in Dan 9:25–26 (Christ in Greek means "the Anointed One," just as Messiah does in Hebrew). See also Ps 2:2 and note. taken by the right hand. See 41:13 and note.

45:2 doors of bronze . . . iron bars. Normally the doors of city gates were made of wood, and the bars were metal (see Judg 16:3 and note).

45:3 that you may know. God's actions reveal His power (cf. Ezek 6:7; 7:27). calls you by your name. To indicate God's control of Cyrus's activities. See v. 4; see also note on 43:1.

45:4 My servant. See 41:8–9 and note. title of honor. Perhaps "anointed" (v. 1). Though . . . not known Me. See v. 5. Cyrus apparently worshiped the chief Babylonian deity, Marduk, whom he praised in his inscriptions.

45:5 I . . . there is no other. See vv. 6,14,18,21–22; 43:11 and note.

45:6 rising to . . . setting. The whole earth (see Mal 1:11 and note).

45:7 darkness . . . calamity. Such as the darkness that plagued the Egyptians (see Ex 10:21–23; Ps 105:28; cf. Is 47:11; Amos 3:6).

45:8 Drip down . . . pour down. A picture of abundance (see Hos 10:12). righteousness. In v. 13; 41:2 Cyrus is mentioned in connection with God's righteousness. God is "making things right" through the Persian king. salvation bear fruit. God will

9 "Woe to the one who [a]quarrels with his [1]Maker—
An earthenware vessel [2]among the vessels of earth!
Will the [b]clay say to the [1]potter, 'What are you doing?'
Or the thing you are making say, 'He has no hands'?
10 "Woe to him who says to a father, 'What are you begetting?'
Or to a woman, 'To what are you [1]giving birth?' "

11 Thus says the [a]LORD, the Holy One of Israel, and his [1][b]Maker:
"[2][c]Ask Me about the things to come
[3]concerning My [d]sons,
And you shall commit to Me [e]the work of My hands.
12 "It is I who [a]made the earth, and created man upon it.
I [b]stretched out the heavens with My hands
And I [1]ordained [c]all their host.
13 "I have aroused him in [a]righteousness
And I will [b]make all his ways smooth;
He will [c]build My city and will let My exiles go [d]free,
Without any payment or reward," says the LORD of hosts.

14 Thus says the LORD,
"The [1]products of [a]Egypt and the merchandise of [2][b]Cush
And the Sabeans, men of stature,
Will [c]come over to you and will be yours;
They will walk behind you, they will come over in [d]chains
And will [e]bow down to you;
They will make supplication to you:
'[3]Surely, [f]God is [4]with you, and [g]there is none else,
No other God.' "
15 Truly, You are a God who [a]hides Himself,
O God of Israel, [b]Savior!

16 They will be [a]put to shame and even humiliated, all of them;
The [b]manufacturers of idols will go away together in humiliation.
17 Israel has been saved by the LORD
With an [a]everlasting salvation;
You [b]will not be put to shame or humiliated
To all eternity.

18 For thus says the LORD, who [a]created the heavens (He is the God who [b]formed the earth and made it, He established it and did not create it [1]a [c]waste place, but formed it to be [d]inhabited),
"I am the LORD, and [e]there is none else.
19 "[a]I have not spoken in secret,
In [1]some dark land;
I did not say to the [2][b]offspring of Jacob,
'[c]Seek Me in [3]a waste place';
I, the LORD, [d]speak righteousness,
[e]Declaring things that are upright.

20 "[a]Gather yourselves and come;
Draw near together, you fugitives of the nations;
[b]They have no knowledge,
Who [c]carry about [1]their wooden idol
And [d]pray to a god who cannot save.
21 "[a]Declare and set forth your case;
Indeed, let them consult together.
[b]Who has announced this from of old?
Who has long since declared it?
Is it not I, the LORD?
And there is [c]no other God besides Me,
A righteous God and a [d]Savior;
There is none except Me.
22 "[a]Turn to Me and [b]be saved, all the ends of the earth;
For I am God, and there is no other.
23 "[a]I have sworn by Myself,

Prov 3:6). build My city. See note on 44:28. Without . . . payment. Since God had not received a payment when He sold them (see 52:3 and note; contrast note on 43:3).

45:14 products . . . merchandise. See 18:7 and note. Egypt . . . Cush . . . Sabeans. See notes on 18:1; 43:3. come over to you . . . bow down. See Ps 68:31. Israel's future domination over her former enemies has been mentioned in 11:14; 14:1–2 (see note on 14:1); it is also the theme of 49:23; 54:3; 60:11–14. Surely God is with you. One day the nations will acknowledge Israel's God (see v. 23; 19:23–25; Zech 8:20–23).

45:15 hides Himself. God's plans and actions are a mystery to man (cf. 54:8; 55:8–9). Savior. See v. 21 and note on 43:3.

45:16 put to shame. See 42:17; 44:9.

45:17 everlasting salvation. Cf. the "everlasting lovingkindness" of 54:8. not be put to shame. See 29:22 and note.

45:18 created . . . formed. See 40:21–22 and notes. waste place. Or "formless" or "chaotic" (see Gen 1:2 and note). to be inhabited. The Holy Land was now empty (see 6:11; Jer 4:23–26) and chaotic but would soon have inhabitants (see 44:26,28) and be orderly again.

45:19 in secret . . . dark land. Probably an allusion to the clandestine ways of mediums and spiritists (see 8:19; 29:4). Seek me in a waste place. Cf. Jer 29:13–14.

46:9 former things. See 41:22 and note. there is no other. See 43:11 and note.

46:10–11 My purpose. Especially God's purposes and plans regarding Babylon and Israel (see 8:9–10; 14:24; 48:14 and notes). Cf. Ps 33:11.

46:10 from the beginning. See 41:26 and note.

46:11 bird of prey . . . east. Cyrus king of Persia (see 41:2 and note). The swiftness and power of a bird of prey are in view (see 8:8 and note; Jer 49:22; cf. Dan 8:4).

46:12 stubborn-minded. See v. 8; 48:4; Ezek 2:4.

46:13 righteousness. Here equivalent to salvation. See 41:2 and note; 45:8 and note. salvation. See note on 43:3. glory. See 35:2 and note; 40:5 and note; see also 44:23; 49:3.

Lament for Babylon

47 "[a]Come down and sit in the dust,
O [b]virgin [c]daughter of Babylon;
Sit on the ground without a throne,
O daughter of the Chaldeans!
For you shall no longer be called [d]tender and delicate.
2 "Take the [a]millstones and [b]grind meal.
Remove your [c]veil, [d]strip off the skirt,
Uncover the leg, cross the rivers.
3 "Your [a]nakedness will be uncovered,
Your shame also will be exposed;
I will [b]take vengeance and will not
[1]spare a man."
4 Our [a]Redeemer, the LORD of hosts is His name,
The Holy One of Israel.
5 "[a]Sit silently, and go into [b]darkness,
O daughter of the Chaldeans,
For you will no longer be called
The [c]queen of [d]kingdoms.
6 "I was angry with My people,
I profaned My heritage
And gave them into your hand.
You did not show mercy to them,
On the [a]aged you made your yoke very heavy.
7 "Yet you said, 'I will be a [a]queen forever.'
These things you did not [b]consider
Nor remember the [c]outcome of [1]them.

8 "Now, then, hear this, you [a]sensual
one,
Who [b]dwells securely,
Who says in [1]your heart,
'[c]I am, and there is no one besides me.
I will [d]not sit as a widow,
Nor know loss of children.'
9 "But these [a]two things will come on you [b]suddenly in one day:
Loss of children and widowhood.
They will come on you in full measure
In spite of your many [c]sorceries,
In spite of the great power of your spells.
10 "You felt [a]secure in your wickedness and said,
'[b]No one sees me,'
Your [c]wisdom and your knowledge,
[1]they have deluded you;
For you have said in your heart,
'[d]I am, and there is no one besides me.'
11 "But [a]evil will come on you
Which you will not know how to charm away;
And disaster will fall on you
For which you cannot atone;
And [b]destruction about which you do not know
Will come on you [c]suddenly.

12 "Stand fast now in your [a]spells
And in your many sorceries
With which you have labored from your youth;
Perhaps you will be able to profit,
Perhaps you may cause trembling.
13 "You are [a]wearied with your many counsels;
Let now the [b]astrologers,
Those who prophesy by the stars,
Those who predict by the new moons,
Stand up and [c]save you from what will come upon you.
14 "Behold, they have become [a]like stubble,
[b]Fire burns them;
They cannot deliver themselves from the power of the flame;
There will be [c]no coal to warm by
Nor a fire to sit before!
15 "So have those become to you with whom you have labored,
Who have [a]trafficked with you from
your youth;
Each has wandered in his own [1]way;
There is [b]none to save you.

47:1 sit in the dust . . . on the ground. A sign of mourning (see 3:26). virgin daughter of Babylon. A personification of Babylon and its inhabitants.

47:2 millstones and grind. A menial task performed by women (see Ex 11:5 and note; Judg 9:53 and note). cross the rivers. Probably on the way to exile.

47:3 nakedness will be uncovered. See Ezek 16:36. Babylon is no longer a queen (see vv. 5,7); she is reduced to a servant girl or a prostitute (see v. 8). take vengeance. See 34:8 and note. will not spare. See 13:18–20.

47:4 Redeemer. See note on 41:14. LORD of hosts. See 13:4 and note. Holy One of Israel. See 1:4; 41:14 and notes.

47:5 queen of kingdoms. Babylon was a very beautiful city (see 13:19 and note).

47:6 angry . . . profaned My heritage. See 10:5–6 (where Assyria is God's tool); 42:24 and note; 43:28 and note; Lam 2:2. On the aged. Their suffering fulfilled Moses' curse for covenant disobedience (Deut 28:49–50).

47:7 I will be a queen forever. Cf. the arrogant words of Nebuchadnezzar in Dan 4:30.

47:8,10 I am . . . no one besides me. Almost a claim of deity (cf. the Lord's words in 43:11; 45:5–6,18,22). See also 14:12–15 and note.

47:8 dwells securely. Similar language is used of the complacent women of Jerusalem in 32:9,11. widow. Deserted and distressed. loss of children. See v. 9; 13:16,18; 14:22.

47:9,12 sorceries . . . spells. Magical practices to avoid danger and to inflict harm on the enemy (see 3:2–3 and note).

47:10 No one sees me. See 29:15 and note.

47:11 cannot atone. The Medes and Persians would not accept any settlement short of surrender (see 13:17).

47:13 astrologers . . . who prophesy by the stars. Babylon probably utilized their services more than any other nation (see Dan 2:2,10).

47:14 stubble. This will be a rapid, powerful fire. See note on 1:31; cf. Mal 4:1. cannot . . . deliver themselves. In contrast to the mighty Savior of Israel (see 43:3 and note), astrologers and sorcerers are as helpless as idols (see 44:17 and note). no coal to warm by. A subtle reference to firewood, a material from which pagans sometimes made idols (see 44:15).

Israel's Obstinacy

48 "[a]Hear this, O house of Jacob, who are named Israel
And who came forth from the [1][b]loins
of Judah,
Who [c]swear by the name of the LORD
And invoke the God of Israel,
But not in truth nor in [d]righteousness.
2 "For they call themselves after the
[a]holy city
And [b]lean on the God of Israel;
The LORD of hosts is His name.
3 "I [a]declared the former things long ago
And they went forth from My mouth, and I proclaimed them.
[b]Suddenly I acted, and they [c]came to pass.
4 "Because I know that you are
[1][a]obstinate,
And your [b]neck is an iron sinew
And your [c]forehead bronze,
5 Therefore I declared them to you long ago,
Before [1]they took place I proclaimed them to you,
So that you would not say, 'My [a]idol
has done them,
And my graven image and my molten image have commanded them.'
6 "You have heard; look at all this.
And you, will you not declare it?
I proclaim to you [a]new things from this time,
Even hidden things which you have not known.
7 "They are created now and not long ago;
And before today you have not heard
them,
So that you will not say, 'Behold, I knew them.'
8 "You have not [a]heard, you have not known.
Even from long ago your ear has not been open,
Because I knew that you would deal
very treacherously;
And you have been called a [1][b]rebel from [2]birth.
9 "[a]For the sake of My name I [b]delay My wrath,
And for My praise I restrain it for you,
In order not to cut you off.
10 "Behold, I have refined you, but [a]not as silver;
I have tested you in the [b]furnace of affliction.
11 "[a]For My own sake, for My own sake, I will act;
For how can My name be profaned?
And My [b]glory I will not give to another.

Deliverance Promised

12 "Listen to Me, O Jacob, even Israel
[1]whom I called;
[a]I am He, [b]I am the first, I am also the last.
13 "Surely My hand [a]founded the earth,
And My right hand spread out the heavens;
When I [b]call to them, they stand
together.
14 "[a]Assemble, all of you, and listen!
[b]Who among them has declared these things?
The LORD loves him; he will [c]carry out
His good pleasure on [d]Babylon,
And His arm will be against the Chaldeans.
15 "I, even I, have spoken; indeed I have 48:6 new things. For example, Israel's restoration (see 42:9 and note). The Messianic age and the new heavens and new earth may also be in view (cf. 65:17). hidden things. Cf. Rom 16:25–26.

48:7 created now. Now given substance in the prophetic announcement of their coming.

48:8 not heard . . . not known. See 1:3. ear . . . not . . . open. See 6:10 and note. rebel. See 1:2; 46:8 and notes.

48:9 delay My wrath. Cf. Ps 78:38. My praise. The praise God is worthy of.

48:10 refined . . . tested. Images of judgment (see Jer 9:7; Ezek 22:18–22). Purifying fire is also mentioned in 1:25; 4:4. furnace of affliction. For Israel, Egypt had been an "iron furnace" (Deut 4:20; 1 Kin 8:51; Jer 11:4). The fall of Jerusalem and the Babylonian exile were a similar furnace.

48:11 For . . . profaned. Jerusalem's fall and God's scattered people had brought dishonor to God's name (see Ezek 36:20–23). My glory. See 40:5 and note.

48:12 called. To be God's servant, His chosen people. See 42:6; see also 41:2; 43:1 and notes. first . . . last. See 41:4 and note.

48:13 founded the earth, And . . . the heavens. Isaiah often refers to God as Creator (see 40:21–22; 42:5; 51:13 and notes). Cf. Ps 102:25. When I call . . . they stand. All creation does God's bidding (see 40:26 and note; Ps 103:22).

48:14 Who . . . has declared. See 41:21–23,26; 43:9 and notes. loves him. Cyrus the Great (see 41:2 and note). His good pleasure. See 46:10–11 and note. Babylon. See 13:1 and note.

48:15 called him. Cyrus (see 41:2 and note). ways successful. See 44:28; 45:1–4 and notes.

I have brought him, and He will make his ways successful.

Salvation Reaches to the End of the Earth

49 Listen to Me, O [a]islands,
And pay attention, you peoples from afar.
[b]The LORD called Me from the womb;
From the [1]body of My mother He named Me.
2 He has made My [a]mouth like a sharp sword,
In the [b]shadow of His hand He has concealed Me;
And He has also made Me a [1]select [c]arrow,
He has hidden Me in His quiver.
3 He said to Me, "[a]You are My Servant, Israel,
[b]In Whom I will [1]show My glory."
4 But I said, "I have [a]toiled in vain,
I have spent My strength for nothing and vanity;
Yet surely the justice due to Me is with the LORD,
And My [b]reward with My God."

48:16 the first. The prediction about Cyrus and his mission (see 41:25–27 and notes). not spoken in secret. See 45:19 and note. has sent Me, and His Spirit. A reference to either Isaiah or the servant of the Lord. The Spirit of the Lord comes upon the servant in 42:1 (see note there) and upon the Messianic prophet of 61:1 (see note there).
48:17 Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel. See 41:14 and note. teaches you . . . the way you should go. Through the prophets (see 30:20–21 and notes; Ps 32:8).
48:18 well being . . . like a river . . . righteousness like the waves. Abundant and overflowing peace and righteousness (see 45:8 and note; Amos 5:24 and note). Peace (or "well-being") and righteousness are also linked in 9:7; 32:17; 54:13–14; 60:17; Ps 85:10; Heb 7:2.
48:19 descendants . . . like the sand. See 10:22; see also Gen 13:16 and note; Gen 22:17; Jer 33:22 and note. name . . . never be cut off. Israel's name would not be completely obliterated (see v. 9; 54:3).
48:20 Go forth from Babylon! Flee . . . ! Although the Jews did not have to flee (see 52:12), they were encouraged to depart quickly because of the judgment coming on Babylon (cf. Rev 18:4). This is the last mention of Babylon by name in Isaiah. joyful shouting. See 44:23; 49:13; 52:9 and notes. end of the earth. See 11:12; 42:10 and notes. redeemed. See 43:1 and note. His servant. See 41:8–9 and note.
48:21 did not thirst . . . water . . . out of the rock. A reference to God's provision after the exodus (see Ex 17:6 and note; Num 20:11; see also Is 32:2; 35:6; 43:19; 49:10 and notes). God's people would have water on the way home from Babylonian exile also.
48:22 Repeated almost verbatim in 57:21. peace. See 39:8 and note. wicked. Those who rebel against the Lord (see note on 1:2).
49:1–6 (or 1–7 or 1–13) The second of the four servant songs (see note on 42:1–4).
49:1 islands. Or "coastlands." In 42:4 the islands "wait expectantly" for the servant's law. called Me from the womb. Cf. v. 5. The language is similar to that of the call of the prophet Jeremiah (Jer 1:5) and of the apostle Paul (Gal 1:15). Cf. 41:9. He named Me. See 43:1 and note.
49:2 My mouth . . . sharp sword. See Eph 6:17; Heb 4:12; Rev 1:16; 2:12, 16. In 11:4 a powerful rod comes from the mouth of the Messiah. shadow of His hand. Descriptive of protection (see 30:2–3; 51:16). select arrow. Arrows are used of God's judgment in Deut 32:23, 42, of the deadly words of the wicked in Ps 64:3–4 and of Satan's schemes and temptations in Eph 6:11, 16.
49:3 My Servant, Israel. See notes on 41:8–9; 42:1–4; 42:1. "Servant" here cannot mean literally national Israel, since in v. 5 this servant has a mission to Israel. Rather, the Messianic servant is the ideal Israel through whom the Lord will be glorified. He will succeed where national Israel failed. show My glory. Through the redemption He will accomplish (see notes on 35:2; 40:5).
49:4 toiled in vain. Just as the nation Israel had toiled in vain (see 65:23), so Christ would encounter strong opposition during His ministry and would temporarily suffer apparent failure. The "suffering servant" theme is developed in the third and fourth of the four servant songs (50:4–9 or 50:4–11; 52:13–53:12). due to Me . . . My reward. Perhaps referring to the spiritual offspring of the servant (see 53:10)—Jews and Gentiles alike who believe in Him (vv. 5–6); see 40:10 and note. In

5 And now says [a]the LORD, who formed
Me from the womb to be His Servant,
To bring Jacob back to Him, so that
[b]Israel might be gathered to Him
(For I am [c]honored in the sight of the
LORD,
And My God is My [d]strength),
6 He says, "It is too [1]small a thing that
You should be My Servant
To raise up the tribes of Jacob and to restore the [a]preserved ones of Israel;
I will also make You a [b]light [2]of the nations
So that My salvation may [3]reach to the [c]end of the earth."
7 Thus says the LORD, the [a]Redeemer of Israel and its Holy One,
To the [b]despised One,
To the One abhorred by the nation,
To the Servant of rulers,
"[c]Kings will see and arise,
Princes will also [d]bow down,
Because of the LORD who is faithful, the Holy One of Israel who has chosen You."

8 Thus says the LORD,
"In a [a]favorable time I have answered
You,
And in a day of salvation I have helped You;
And I will [b]keep You and [c]give You for a covenant of the people,
To [1d]restore the land, to make them
inherit the desolate heritages;
9 Saying to those who are [a]bound, 'Go forth,'
To those who are in darkness, 'Show yourselves.'
Along the roads they will feed,
And their pasture will be on all [b]bare heights.
10 "They will [a]not hunger or thirst,
Nor will the scorching [b]heat or sun strike them down;
For [c]He who has compassion on them will [d]lead them
And will guide them to [e]springs of
water.
11 "I will make all [a]My mountains a road,
And My [b]highways will be raised up.
12 "Behold, these will come [a]from afar;
And lo, these will come from the [b]north and from the west,
And these from the land of Sinim."
13 [a]Shout for joy, O heavens! And rejoice, O earth!
Break forth into joyful shouting,
O mountains!
For the [b]LORD has comforted His people
And will [c]have compassion on His afflicted.

Promise to Zion

14 But Zion said, "The LORD has forsaken
me,
And the Lord has forgotten me."
15 "Can a woman forget her nursing child
And have no compassion on the son of her womb?
Even these may forget, but [a]I will not forget you.
16 "Behold, I have [a]inscribed you on the palms of My hands;
Your [b]walls are continually before Me.

any case, He will be vindicated and rewarded (50:8; 53:10–12; 1 Tim 3:16).

49:5 formed Me from the womb. See v. 1; 44:2 and notes. bring Jacob back . . . Israel might be gathered. A prophecy of release from captivity in Babylon (see vv. 9–12,22; 41:2 and note) and from the greater captivity of sin (see 42:7 and note). My strength. See 12:2.

49:6 Together with Gen 12:1–3; Ex 19:5–6, this verse is sometimes called the "great commission of the OT" and is quoted in part by Paul and Barnabas in Acts 13:47. preserved ones. Probably referring to the remnant (see 1:9 and note). light of the nations. See 42:6 and note; Acts 26:23. Christ is the light of the world (Luke 2:30–32; John 8:12; 9:5), and Christians reflect His light (Matt 5:14). end of the earth. See 11:12 and note; see also 41:5; 42:10; 48:20.

49:7 Redeemer of Israel . . . Holy One. See 41:14 and note. despised. Applied twice to the suffering servant in 53:3. In 60:14 Zion is despised by her enemies. nation. Refers to either Israel (1:4) or Gentiles. Kings will see . . . bow down. See v. 23. This reaction to the servant is similar to that of 52:15. Former oppressors bow before a restored Jerusalem in 60:14 (cf. 45:14; 60:11–12; 66:23). chosen You. See 41:8–9; 42:1 and notes.

49:8 Quoted in part in 2 Cor 6:2. favorable time . . . day of salvation. The background of this verse is probably the year of jubilee (see 61:1–2; Lev 25:10). The return from exile will bring the same restoration of land for the people as that year of liberty did. keep You . . . for a covenant. See 42:6 and note. make . . . the desolate heritages. See 44:26. It was under Joshua that the land had been divided among individual tribes and families (Josh 14:1–5). The Messianic servant will be a new Joshua—as well as a new Moses (see vv. 9–10, which echo Israel's deliverance from Egypt and her wilderness experiences under Moses during the period of the exodus).

49:9 those . . . bound. The exiles. See 42:7 and note. bare heights. See 41:18 and note.

49:10 not hunger or thirst. See 48:21 and note. has compassion. See 14:1 and note. will lead them. As a shepherd (see 40:11 and note). This whole verse is also a picture of heaven according to Rev 7:16–17.

49:11 mountains a road. See 26:7 and note. highways . . . raised up. See 11:16; 35:8; 40:3; 62:10 and notes.

49:12 come from afar. See 11:11 and note; 60:4. north . . . west. See 43:5–6 and notes. Sinim. See Ezek 29:10; 30:6; located in the most southern part of Egypt (Aswan).

49:13 Shout for joy . . . mountains. Nature is personified often in Isaiah. See 44:23 and note. comforted His people. As He redeemed and saved them. Cf. 2 Cor 1:3–4. will have compassion. See v. 10 and note; 54:7–10.

49:14 forsaken . . . forgotten. See 40:27; 54:7; Lam 5:20–22.

49:15 Can a woman forget . . . ? Cf. Ps 27:10.

49:16 inscribed you on . . . My hands. As the names of the tribes of Israel were engraved on stones and fastened to the ephod

17 "Your [1]builders hurry;
Your [a]destroyers and devastators
Will depart from you.
18 "[a]Lift up your eyes and look around;
[b]All of them gather together, [c]they come to you.
[d]As I live," declares the LORD,
"You will surely [e]put on all of them as [1]jewels and bind them on as a bride.
19 "For [a]your waste and desolate places and your destroyed land—
Surely now you will be [b]too cramped for the inhabitants,
And those who [c]swallowed you will be far away.
20 "The [a]children of [1]whom you were bereaved will yet say in your ears,
'The place is too cramped for me;
Make room for me that I may live here.'
21 "Then you will [a]say in your heart,
'Who has begotten these for me,
Since I have been bereaved of my children
And am [b]barren, an [c]exile and a wanderer?
And who has reared these?
Behold, I was [d]left alone;
From [1e]where did these come?' "

22 Thus says the Lord [1]GOD,
"Behold, I will lift up My hand to the nations
And set up My [a]standard to the peoples;
And they will [b]bring your sons in their bosom,
And your daughters will be carried on their shoulders.
23 "[a]Kings will be your guardians,
And their princesses your nurses.
They will [b]bow down to you with their faces to the earth
And [c]lick the dust of your feet;
And you will [d]know that I am the LORD;
Those who hopefully [e]wait for Me will [f]not be put to shame.

24 "[a]Can the prey be taken from the mighty man,
Or the captives of [1]a tyrant be rescued?"
25 Surely, thus says the LORD,
"Even the [a]captives of the mighty man will be taken away,
And the prey of the tyrant will be rescued;
For I will contend with the one who contends with you,
And I will [b]save your sons.
26 "I will feed your [a]oppressors with their [b]own flesh,
And they will become drunk with their own blood as with sweet wine;
And [c]all flesh will know that I, the LORD, am your [d]Savior
And your [e]Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob."

God Helps His Servant

50 Thus says the LORD,
"Where is the [a]certificate of divorce
By which I have [b]sent your mother away?
Or to whom of My creditors did I [c]sell you?
Behold, you were sold for your [d]iniquities,
And for your [e]transgressions your mother [f]was sent away.
2 "Why was there [a]no man when I came?
When I called, why was there none to answer?

49:18 All . . . gather. See vv. 5,12 and notes. jewels. Beautiful clothes and jewels symbolize strength and joy.

49:19–20 too cramped. The restoration of Israel will be astonishing and complete. The prophecy was partially fulfilled in the return from Babylon (see note on 11:11) and may include spiritual offspring among both Jews and Gentiles (see 54:17 and note).

49:19 waste . . . desolate. Cf. v. 8; see 44:26 and note.

49:21 bereaved . . . barren. The concept of Israel as a barren woman is stressed in 54:1.

49:22 set up My standard. See 5:26 and note; 13:2. bring your sons . . . daughters. See 11:12 and note. The nations bring Israel back also in 14:2; 43:6; 60:9. in their bosom. Cf. 60:4; see 40:11 and note.

49:23 Kings . . . will bow down. See v. 7; 11:14 and notes. know that I am the LORD. See v. 26; 60:16; Ezek 12:20; 13:9; 36:38. hopefully wait for Me. See 40:31 and note. be put to shame. See 29:22 and note.

49:24 mighty man . . . tyrant. The Babylonians (see 51:13).

49:25 captives . . . will be taken. See Ezra 2:1,64–65; Jer 50:33–34; 52:27–30. I will contend. God takes up the case of His people. He will "plead their case" (Jer 50:34). I will save. See 35:4 and note.

49:26 oppressors. See 14:4; 16:4; 51:13. with their own flesh. During the siege of Jerusalem its people were reduced to cannibalism (Lam 4:10). drunk with their own blood. Cf. 51:22–23. all flesh will know. See v. 23 and note. Savior. See 43:3 and note; 60:16. Redeemer. See 41:14 and note. Mighty One of Jacob. See 1:24 and note; 60:16.

50:1 certificate of divorce. A husband was required to give this to a wife he wished to divorce (see Deut 24:1,3; Matt 19:7; Mark 10:4). According to Jer 3:8 God gave the northern kingdom of Israel her certificate of divorce, and Is 54:6–7 indicates that God had left Judah (see 62:4). Perhaps Isaiah's point is that God did not initiate the divorce; Judah broke her relationship with Him. The exile, then, was actually a temporary period of separation (see 54:7) rather than a divorce. My creditors. If a man's debts were not paid, his children could be sold into slavery (see 2 Kin 4:1). But God has no creditors. you were sold. Cf. 45:13; 52:3.

50:2 I came . . . called. Through His servants the prophets (see Jer 25:4). none to answer. Israel was deaf toward God (see 6:10 and note; 66:4). hand so short. The hand represented power. dry up the sea. A reference to crossing the Red Sea (see 43:16–17 and notes; Ps 106:9). rivers a wilderness. See 42:15 and note. fish stink. Perhaps a reference to one of the plagues in Egypt (see 19:5–6,8; Ex 7:18).

50:3 heavens with blackness. Perhaps an allusion to the plague of darkness (Ex 10:21); but see 13:10 and note.

50:4–9 (or 4–11) The third of the four servant songs (see note on 42:1–4).

50:4–5,7,9 Lord God. The only uses of this title in the servant songs.

50:4 sustain the weary one with a word. In 42:3 the servant assisted the weak (contrast 49:2). Cf. Jer 31:25. awakens My ear. Unlike Israel (see v. 2), the servant was responsive to God.

50:5 opened My ear. A sign of obedience (see 1:19; Ps 40:6 and note). was not disobedient. Unlike Israel (see 1:2 and note; 1:20).

50:6 My back to those who strike Me. Beatings were for criminals or fools (see Prov 10:13; 19:29; 26:3; Matt 27:26; John 19:1). pluck out the beard. A sign of disrespect and contempt (see 2 Sam 10:4–5; Neh 13:25). humiliation and spitting. To show hatred (Job 30:10) or to insult or disgrace (Deut 25:9; Job 17:6; Matt 27:30). This treatment of the servant anticipates His ultimate suffering in 52:13–53:12.

50:7 helps Me. See v. 9; 49:8. not disgraced . . . not be ashamed. See 29:22 and note. Ultimately the servant will be honored (see 49:7; 52:13; 53:10–12). My face like flint. Like the prophets, the servant will endure with great determination. Cf. Luke 9:51, where Jesus "determined to go to Jerusalem" (lit. "resolutely set His face to go to Jerusalem").

50:8 vindicates Me. The Lord will find Him righteous (see 45:25; for its ultimate fulfillment see 1 Tim 3:16). contend with. See 49:25 and note. Because Christ was sinless, He also nullifies the charges brought against any who believe in Him (see Rom 8:31–34). Who . . . against Me? Cf. 54:17.

50:9 wear out like a garment; The moth. Those who falsely accuse the righteous succumb to moths in 51:8 (i.e., they will be destroyed).

50:10 fears the LORD. See Gen 20:11; Prov 1:7 and notes. Cf. 25:3; 59:19. in darkness. Perhaps trouble or distress, similar to the experience of the servant (cf. 8:22). trust . . . rely. The Lord encouraged such trust in 12:2; 31:1.

50:11 kindle a fire . . . firebrands. Perhaps a reference to wicked practices that will ultimately destroy those who engage in them. Fire is a frequent figure of punishment (see 1:31 and note; cf. 9:18; 47:14; Ps 7:13). torment. Cf. 66:24.

51:1 who pursue righteousness. Cf. v. 7; Deut 16:20; Prov 15:9. rock. Abraham (v. 2). Elsewhere God is called "the rock" (see 17:10 and note).

51:2 was but one. See Gen 12:1; Ezek 33:24. blessed him and multiplied him. See Gen 12:2–3; 13:16; 15:5; 17:5; 22:17.

51:3 comfort . . . comfort. See 49:13 and note. wilderness . . . like Eden. See 35:1–2. The contrast between the lush splendor of

Who made the depths of the sea a

For the [b]redeemed to cross over?

And come with joyful shouting to Zion,
And [b]everlasting joy will be on their

They will obtain gladness and joy,
And [c]sorrow and sighing will flee

As he makes ready to destroy?
But where is the fury of the Eden and the barrenness of the wilderness is found also in Joel 2:3. Cf. Gen 2:8,10. Joy and gladness. See v. 11; 25:9 and note.

51:4 law . . . My justice. The rule of the servant would bring justice also (see 2:2–4; 42:4 and notes). light of the peoples. The servant is the light in 42:6; 49:6.

51:5 righteousness is near. In the deliverance from exile. Ultimately, salvation through Christ will come to all nations. See 46:13 and note. arms. Symbolic of power. coastlands. See 11:11 and note. wait for Me . . . expectantly. See 40:31 and note; 42:4 and note.

51:6 Lift . . . to the sky. See 40:26. sky will vanish. See 34:4 and note. earth will wear out like a garment. See 24:4; Heb 1:10–11; cf. Is 50:9. be forever. See v. 8; 45:17. The word of God will also endure forever (see 40:8 and note; Matt 24:35; Luke 21:33).

51:7 who know righteousness. See v. 1 and note. in whose heart is My law. See Ps 37:31; Jer 31:33. reproach . . . revilings. Such as those borne by the servant in 50:6–7.

51:8 moth . . . like a garment. See 50:9 and note; cf. 51:6.

51:9 Awake, awake. See 51:17 ("Rouse yourself"); 52:1 for the same double command (see also 40:1 and note).

51:9 put on strength. Cf. 50:2; see note on 40:31. arm of the LORD. Symbol of God's power (cf. v. 5). See 30:30; 50:2 and notes; 52:10; 53:1; 63:12. Rahab . . . the dragon. Egypt. See 27:1 and note; 30:7 and note.

51:10 sea. The Red Sea (see 50:2 and note). the redeemed. See 35:9 and note.

51:11 This verse is the same as 35:10 (see note there).

51:12 who comforts. See v. 3; 49:13 and note. grass. See 37:27; 40:6 and notes.

51:13 stretched out the heavens And . . . earth. See v. 16; 48:13 and note. fury of the oppressor. See 49:26 and note. Babylon's wrath was insignificant beside the mighty wrath of God (cf. 13:3,5; 30:27).

51:14 exile . . . set free. The exiles in Babylon (see 42:7 and note; 49:9). in the dungeon. Cf. 42:7; Jer 37:16.

51:15 stirs up the sea. Cf. Job 26:12; Ps 107:25; Jer 31:35. LORD of hosts. See 13:4 and note.

51:16 My words. Primarily the law of Moses, mentioned in v. 7. Like the servant of 49:2, the people are responding to God's word (cf. 59:21; Josh 1:8). shadow of My hand. See 49:2 and 17 [a]Rouse yourself! Rouse yourself!

Arise, O Jerusalem,
You who have [b]drunk from the LORD'S hand the cup of His anger;
The [1]chalice of reeling you have
[2]drained to the dregs.
18 There is [a]none to guide her among all the sons she has borne,
Nor is there one to take her by the hand among all the sons she has reared.
19 These two things have befallen you;
Who will mourn for you?
The [a]devastation and destruction,
famine and sword;
How shall I comfort you?
20 Your sons have fainted,
They [a]lie helpless at the head of every street,
Like an [b]antelope in a net,
Full of the wrath of the LORD,
The [c]rebuke of your God.

21 Therefore, please hear this, you
[a]afflicted,
Who are [b]drunk, but not with wine:
22 Thus says your Lord, the LORD, even your God
Who [a]contends for His people,
"Behold, I have taken out of your hand
the [b]cup of reeling,
The [1]chalice of My anger;
You will never drink it again.
23 "I will [a]put it into the hand of your tormentors,
Who have said to [1]you, '[b]Lie down that we may walk over you.'
You have even made your back like
the ground
And like the street for those who walk over it."

Cheer for Prostrate Zion

52 [a]Awake, awake,
Clothe yourself in your strength,
O Zion;
Clothe yourself in your [b]beautiful garments,
O Jerusalem, the [c]holy city;
For the uncircumcised and the [d]unclean
Will no longer come into you.
2 Shake yourself [a]from the dust, [b]rise up,
O captive Jerusalem;
[c]Loose yourself from the chains around your neck,
O captive daughter of Zion.
3 For thus says the LORD, "You were [a]sold for nothing and you will be [b]redeemed
[c]without money."
4 For thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "My people [a]went down at the first into Egypt to reside there; then the Assyrian oppressed them without cause.
5 "Now therefore, what do I have here," declares the LORD, "seeing that My people have been taken away without cause?"
Again the LORD declares, "Those who rule over them howl, and My [a]name is continually blasphemed all day long.
6 "Therefore My people shall [a]know My name; therefore in that day I am the one who is speaking, 'Here I am.' "
7 How lovely on the mountains
Are the feet of him who brings [a]good news,
Who announces [1]peace
And brings good news of [2]happiness,
Who announces salvation,
And says to Zion, "Your [b]God [3]reigns!"

note. establish the heavens . . . earth. See v. 13 and note.
51:17 cup of His anger. See vv. 20–22; 13:3 and note. Experiencing God's judgment is often compared to becoming drunk on strong wine. It is the fate of wicked nations in particular. See 29:9; 63:6; Ps 60:3; 75:8; Jer 25:15–16; Lam 4:21; Ezek 23:32–34; Hab 2:16; Zech 12:2; cf. John 18:11.
51:18 Children were expected to take care of parents who were sick or unsteady.
51:19 Who will mourn for you? A question also asked in Jer 15:5. Contrast v. 3.
51:20 in a net. Cf. Prov 7:22. rebuke. See 17:13; 54:9; 66:15.
51:21 you afflicted. Jerusalem (see 54:11). Who are drunk. On God's wrath (see v. 17 and note).
51:22 contends for His people. See 49:25 and note. chalice of My anger. See v. 17 and note.
51:23 your tormentors. The Babylonians. See vv. 13–14; 14:4. your back like the ground. Perhaps figurative, but cf. Josh 10:24.
52:1 Awake, awake, Clothe . . . in your strength. See 51:9,17 and notes. beautiful garments. Perhaps the robes of the priests, which belong to Jerusalem as a "holy city." See 49:18 and note. holy city. See 48:2 and note. uncircumcised . . . unclean. Foreign invaders. See 35:8 and note; Judg 14:3 and note.
52:2 Shake yourself from the dust. Contrast the fate of Babylon in 47:1 (see note there). Loose yourself. See 42:7 and note; 49:9; 51:14. daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants.
52:3 sold for nothing. The enemy paid the Lord nothing for acquiring Jerusalem. See 45:13; 50:1 and notes. redeemed without money. See 41:14 and note; 43:1; 45:13.
52:4 Assyrian oppressed them. See 9:4 and note.
52:5 Quoted in part in Rom 2:24. without cause. See v. 3 and note. My name is . . . blasphemed. The captivity brought disrespect to the God of helpless Jerusalem (see Ezek 36:20–23). Cf. Assyria's blasphemy in 37:23–24.
52:6 know My name. See 49:26 and note. in that day. The day of deliverance from Babylon. See 10:20,27 and note.
52:7 feet of him who brings good news. A reference to a messenger who ran from the scene of a battle to bring news of the outcome to a waiting king and people (see 2 Sam 18:26). Here the news refers to the return from exile (vv. 11–12; see 40:9 and note; 41:27), a deliverance that prefigures Christ's deliverance from sin. See Rom 10:15; Eph 6:15. salvation. See 49:8 and note. Your God reigns! See Ps 96:10. The return of God's people to Jerusalem emphasizes His sovereign rule over the world (see 40:9 and note). God's kingdom will come more fully at the second coming of Christ (see Rev 19:6).
52:8 watchmen. Those in Jerusalem watching for the arrival of the messengers (cf. 62:6–7; 2 Sam 18:24–27).

They shout joyfully together;
For they will see [1]with their own eyes
When the LORD restores Zion.
9 [a]Break forth, shout joyfully together,
You [b]waste places of Jerusalem;
For the LORD has comforted His people,
He has [c]redeemed Jerusalem.
10 The LORD has bared His holy [a]arm
In the sight of all the nations,
[1]That [b]all the ends of the earth may see
The salvation of our God.

11 [a]Depart, depart, go out from there,
[b]Touch nothing unclean;
Go out of the midst of her, [c]purify yourselves,
You who carry the vessels of the LORD.
12 But you will not go out in [a]haste,
Nor will you go [1]as fugitives;
For the [b]LORD will go before you,
And [c]the God of Israel will be your rear guard.

The Exalted Servant

13 Behold, My [a]servant will prosper,
He will be high and lifted up and
[1]greatly [b]exalted.
14 Just as many were astonished at you,
My people,
So His [a]appearance was marred more than any man
And His form more than the sons of men.

The Suffering Servant

53 [a]Who has believed our message?
And to whom has the arm of the LORD been revealed?
2 For He grew up before Him like a [a]tender [1]shoot,
And like a root out of parched ground;
He has [b]no stately form or majesty
That we should look upon Him,
Nor appearance that we should [2]be attracted to Him.
3 He was [a]despised and forsaken of men,
A man of [1]sorrows and [b]acquainted with [2]grief;
And like one from whom men hide their face
He was [c]despised, and we did not [d]esteem Him.

4 Surely our [1]griefs He Himself [a]bore,
And our [2]sorrows He carried;
Yet we ourselves esteemed Him stricken,
[3]Smitten of [b]God, and afflicted.

52:9 Break forth. See 44:23 and note. comforted. See 49:13 and note. redeemed. See v. 3 and note.
52:10 holy arm. See 51:9 and note. God's arm is often associated with redemption and salvation (see Ex 6:6). all the ends of the earth. Equivalent to "all flesh" in 40:5 (see note there). Cf. 45:22.
52:11 Depart, depart. See note on 40:1. unclean. Perhaps referring to pagan religious objects (cf. Gen 31:19; 35:2). You who carry the vessels. Cyrus allowed the people to take back the articles of the temple seized by Nebuchadnezzar (Ezra 1:7–11). The priests and Levites were responsible for them (see Num 3:6–8; 2 Chr 5:4–7).
52:12 not go out in haste. See 48:20 and note. go before you . . . be your rear guard. As He did for the Israelites when they were freed from Egypt (see Ex 13:21; 14:19–20; cf. Is 42:16; 49:10; 58:8).
52:13–53:12 The fourth and longest of the four servant songs (see note on 42:1–4). It constitutes the central and most important unit in chs. 40–66 as well as in chs. 49–57 (see note on 39:8). The song contains five stanzas of three numbered verses each. It is quoted more frequently in the NT than any other OT passage and is often referred to as the "gospel in the OT."
52:13 My servant. See note on 42:1. will prosper. A mark of God's blessing (see 1 Sam 18:14) and of obedience to God's word (see Josh 1:8). high and lifted up. Words that describe the Lord in Isaiah's vision (see 6:1 and note; 57:15). Christ's exaltation is referred to in Acts 2:33; 3:13; Eph 1:20–23; Phil 2:9–11 (see also 1 Pet 1:10–11).
52:14 astonished at you. When they saw Christ's suffering on the cross. Cf. the reaction to the ruined city of Tyre (Ezek 27:35). marred. A term used of a "blemished animal," which should not be offered to the Lord (Mal 1:14). Cf. the disgraceful treatment of the servant (see 50:6 and note). more than any man. Cf. Ps 22:6. His treatment was inhuman.
52:15 sprinkle many nations. With the sprinkling of cleansing (see Lev 14:7; Num 8:7; 19:18–19) and/or of consecration (see Ex 29:21; Lev 8:11,30). Kings will shut their mouths. In astonishment at the suffering and exaltation of the servant (see 49:6–7 and notes). Cf. Job 21:5. For what . . . understand. Quoted in Rom 15:21. Even though they have not heard the prophetic word, kings will understand the mission of the servant when they see His humiliation and exaltation (contrast 6:9–10).
53:1 Quoted in whole or in part in John 12:38; Rom 10:16. our message. The good news about salvation, given by the prophets to Israel and the nations (see 52:7,10). arm of the LORD. See 51:9 and note.
53:2 tender shoot. The Messiah would grow from the "stem of Jesse." See 4:2; 11:1 and notes. His beginnings would be humble. root. See 11:10 and note. stately form. The Hebrew for this word is used of David in 1 Sam 16:18, where it is translated "handsome." Christ had nothing of the bearing or trappings of royalty.
53:3 despised. See 49:7 and note; Ps 22:6. despised . . . forsaken. The Hebrew words used here occur together also in 2:22 (see note there). Cf. John 1:10–11. sorrows. The Hebrew for this word is used of both physical and mental pain (see v. 4; Ex 3:7). hide their face. See 1:15 and note; 8:17.
53:4 Quoted in part in Matt 8:17 with reference to Jesus' healing ministry. griefs. Diseases often result from sinful living and are ultimately the consequences of original (Adamic) sin. See 1:5–6 and note. stricken. With a terrible disease (see Gen 12:17; 2 Kin 15:5). People (Israel in particular) thought the servant

Each of us has turned to his own way;
But the LORD has caused the iniquity of us all
To [1]fall on Him.

7 He was oppressed and He was afflicted,
Yet He did not [a]open His mouth;
[b]Like a lamb that is led to slaughter,
And like a sheep that is silent before its shearers,
So He did not open His mouth.

was suffering for His own sins. afflicted. Or "humbled," or "oppressed" (see v. 7; 58:10).

53:5 pierced. See Ps 22:16; Zech 12:10; John 19:34. crushed. In spirit (see Ps 34:18; cf. Is 57:15). The sins of the world weighed heavily upon Him. healed. Here probably equivalent to "forgiven" (see 6:10; Jer 30:17; see also note on 1 Pet 2:24).

53:6 have gone astray. Cf. Ps 119:176; Jer 50:6; Ezek 34:4–6,16; 1 Pet 2:25. caused the iniquity of us all To fall on Him. Just as the priest laid his hands on the scapegoat and symbolically put Israel's sins on it (Lev 16:21). See 1 Pet 2:24.

53:7–8 Verses read by the Ethiopian eunuch in the presence of Philip (Acts 8:32–33).

53:7 oppressed. Like Israel. See 49:26 and note. The Hebrew for this word is translated "taskmasters" in Ex 5:6. lamb . . . to slaughter. Cf. Ps 44:22; Rev 5:6. John the Baptist called Jesus "the Lamb of God" (John 1:29,36). did not open His mouth. Jesus remained silent before the chief priests and Pilate (Matt 27:12–14; Mark 14:60–61; 15:4–5; John 19:8–9) and before Herod (Luke 23:8–9).

53:8 By oppression and judgment. Jesus was given an unfair trial. His generation. Cf. v. 10.

53:9 wicked men. The manner of His death would indicate that, as far as those who condemned Him were concerned, He was to be buried with executed criminals. a rich man. Not as a burial with honor. The parallelism (with its effective wordplay in Hebrew) makes clear that Isaiah here associates the rich with the wicked, as do many OT writers—because they acquired their wealth by wicked means and/or trusted in their wealth rather than in God (see, e.g., Ps 37:16,35; Prov 18:23; 28:20; Jer 5:26–27; Mic 6:10,12). According to the Gospels (Matt 27:57–60 and parallels), the wealthy Joseph of Arimathea gave Jesus an honorable burial by placing His body in his own tomb. But this was undoubtedly an act of love growing out of his awareness that he had been forgiven much (see Luke 7:47). Thus the fulfillment fitted but also transcended the prophecy. He had done no violence, Nor . . . deceit in His mouth. Peter quotes these lines as he encourages believers to endure unjust suffering (1 Pet 2:22).

53:10 crush Him. See v. 5 and note. guilt offering. An offering where restitution was usually required (Lev 5:16; 6:5) and the offender sacrificed a ram (Lev 5:15). His offspring. Spiritual descendants. prolong His days. Christ would live forever (see 9:7 and note). prosper. See 52:13.

53:11 be satisfied. In 1:11, where the same Hebrew word appears, God had "enough" of innumerable sacrifices that accomplished nothing. Here the one sacrifice of Christ brings perfect satisfaction. His knowledge. His true knowledge of the true God (see 1:3; 6:9; 43:10; 45:4–5; 52:6; 56:10). The Spirit of knowledge (11:2) rested on the Messiah. Cf. 52:13. My servant. See 41:8–9; 42:1 and notes. justify. Cause many to be declared righteous. See 5:23; Rom 5:19 and note. many. See 52:15; Dan 12:3.

53:12 with the great . . . with the strong. God will reward His servant as if he was a king sharing in the spoils of a great victory (see 52:15). divide the booty. God's gift to His suffering servant (cf. 9:3). poured out Himself. As a sacrifice (see v. 10). to death. See Phil 2:8. And was numbered with the transgressors. Quoted in Luke 22:37 with reference to Jesus. interceded. See Jer 7:16 ("pray"); 27:18 ("entreat"). Cf. 59:16; Heb 7:25.

54:1 This verse is applied by Paul to Sarah and the covenant of promise, representing "the Jerusalem above" (Gal 4:26–27). Shout . . . Break forth. See 12:6; 44:23; 52:9 and notes. barren one. Jerusalem (representing Israel), especially during the exile (see 49:21). In the Near East, barrenness was considered a disgrace (see 4:1 and note). sons of the desolate one will be more numerous. See 49:19–20 and note. Israel will be restored both

2 "[a]Enlarge the place of your tent;
[1]Stretch out the curtains of your dwellings, spare not;
Lengthen your [b]cords
And strengthen your [b]pegs.
3 "For you will [a]spread abroad to the right and to the left.
And your [1]descendants will [b]possess nations
And will [c]resettle the desolate cities.

4 "Fear not, for you will [a]not be put to shame;
And do not feel humiliated, for you will not be disgraced;
But you will forget the [b]shame of your youth,
And the [c]reproach of your widowhood you will remember no more.
5 "For your [a]husband is your Maker,
Whose name is the LORD of hosts;
And your [b]Redeemer is the Holy One of Israel,
Who is called the [c]God of all the earth.
6 "For the LORD has called you,
Like a wife [a]forsaken and grieved in spirit,
Even like a wife of one's youth when she is rejected,"
Says your God.
7 "[1]For a [a]brief moment I forsook you,
But with great compassion I will [b]gather you.
8 "In an [1][a]outburst of anger
I hid My face from you for a moment,
But with everlasting [b]lovingkindness I will [c]have compassion on you,"
Says the LORD your [d]Redeemer.

9 "For [1]this is like the days of Noah to Me,
When I swore that the waters of Noah
Would [a]not [2]flood the earth again;
So I have sworn that I will [b]not be angry with you
Nor will I rebuke you.
10 "For the [a]mountains may be removed and the hills may shake,
But My lovingkindness will not be removed from you,
And My [b]covenant of peace will not be shaken,"
Says [c]the LORD who has compassion on you.

11 "O [a]afflicted one, storm-tossed, and [b]not comforted,
Behold, I will set your stones in antimony,
And your foundations I will [c]lay in [1][d]sapphires.
12 "Moreover, I will make your battlements of [1]rubies,
And your gates of [2]crystal,
And your entire [3]wall of precious stones.
13 "[a]All your sons will be [1]taught of the LORD;
And the well-being of your sons will be [b]great.
14 "In [a]righteousness you will be established;
You will be far from [b]oppression, for you will [c]not fear;
And from [d]terror, for it will not come near you.
15 "If anyone fiercely assails you it will not be from Me.
[a]Whoever assails you will fall because of you.
16 "Behold, I Myself have created the smith who blows the fire of coals
And brings out a weapon for its work;
And I have created the destroyer to ruin.

physically and spiritually (cf. 62:4). married woman. See 50:1 and note.

54:2 See 26:15; 33:20 and notes. your tent. Jerusalem is viewed as a woman living in her own tent.

54:3 spread abroad. See 49:19–20 and note; cf. Gen 28:14. possess nations. See 11:14; 49:7 and notes.

54:4 not be put to shame . . . humiliated. See 29:22 and note; 45:17. shame of your youth. Probably the period of slavery in Egypt. Cf. Jer 31:19; Ezek 16:60. reproach of your widowhood. Probably referring to the exile, when Israel was alone, like a widow (vv. 6–7).

54:5 husband. See 62:4–5. Redeemer . . . Holy One of Israel. See 1:4, 41:14 and notes.

54:6–7 wife forsaken . . . forsook. Israel's experience in exile (see 49:14; 50:1 and note; 62:4).

54:7–8,10 compassion. See 14:1; 49:10,13; 51:3.

54:7 brief moment. The Babylonian exile was relatively brief (see 26:20; 50:1 and notes).

54:8 outburst of anger. See 9:12,17,21 and note; 60:10. hid My face. See 1:15 and note. everlasting lovingkindness. See v. 10; 55:3 and note. Cf. 45:17. Redeemer. See v. 5.

54:9 not flood the earth again. See Gen 9:11 and note. not be angry. See 12:1 and note.

54:10 mountains . . . may shake. Cf. 51:6; Ps 46:2; 102:26–27. lovingkindness . . . covenant of peace. A reference to either the covenant with Israel or the Davidic covenant, described in similar terms in 55:3 (see note there). Cf. Jer 33:20–21; for the language see Num 25:11–13.

54:11–12 A figurative description of restored Jerusalem, echoed in the description of the new Jerusalem in Rev 21:10,18–21.

54:11 afflicted one. Jerusalem. See 51:21. storm-tossed. See 28:2 and note. antimony. Perhaps a bluish-green stone. It was used in Solomon's temple (1 Chr 29:2). sapphires. Cf. the "pavement of sapphire" (a blue stone) in Ex 24:10 (see also Ezek 1:26; 10:1).

54:12 battlements. Parapets on the top of walls. wall. Cf. 26:1.

54:13–14 well-being . . . righteousness. See 48:18 and note.

54:13 taught of the LORD. Like the servant of the Lord in 50:4. Cf. Jer 31:34.

54:14 oppression . . . terror. Cf. 14:4; 33:18–19.

54:15 fall because of you. See v. 3.

54:16 created the destroyer. God raised up nations such as Assyria and Babylonia to punish Israel (see 10:5 and note; 33:1 and note).

17 "[a]No weapon that is formed against you will prosper;
And [b]every tongue that [1]accuses you in judgment you will condemn.
This is the heritage of the servants of
the LORD,
And their [c]vindication is from Me,"
declares the LORD.

The Free Offer of Mercy

55 "Ho! Every one who [a]thirsts, come to the waters;
And you who have [b]no [1]money come,
buy and eat.
Come, buy [c]wine and milk
[d]Without money and without cost.
2 "Why do you [1]spend money for what is
[a]not bread,
And your wages for what does not satisfy?
Listen carefully to Me, and [b]eat what is good,
And [c]delight yourself in abundance.
3 "[a]Incline your ear and come to Me.
Listen, that [1]you may [b]live;
And I will make [c]an everlasting covenant with you,
According to the [d]faithful mercies
[2]shown to David.
4 "Behold, I have made [a]him a witness to the peoples,
A [b]leader and commander for the peoples.
5 "Behold, you will call a [a]nation you do
not know,
And a nation which knows you not will [b]run to you,
Because of the LORD your God, even
the Holy One of Israel;
For He has [c]glorified you."

[b]Is 54:10, 13; Jer 29:11 [c]Is 44:23; 49:13 [d]1 Chr 16:33

54:17 every tongue . . . you will condemn. Just as no legitimate charges could be brought against the servant of 50:8–9. servants of the LORD. After ch. 53 the singular "servant" no longer occurs in Isaiah. The "servants" (see 63:17; 65:8–9,13–15; 66:14) are true believers—both Jew and Gentile (see 56:6–8)—who are faithful to the Lord. They are in a sense the "offspring" of the servant (53:10). See 49:19–20 and note.
55:1 The exiles are summoned to return and be restored. thirsts. Spiritual thirst is primary (see 41:17; 44:3; Ps 42:1–2; 63:1). waters. Figurative for spiritual refreshment. Cf. Wisdom's invitation in Prov 9:5. Christ similarly invited people to drink the water of life (John 4:14; 7:37). no money. In hard times even water had to be purchased (see Lam 5:4). wine and milk. Symbols of abundance, enjoyment and nourishment. Without money. The death of the servant (53:5–9) paid for the free gift of life (see Rom 6:23).
55:2 what is not bread. Perhaps the husks of pagan religious practices. Cf. Deut 8:3. in abundance. Great spiritual blessings are compared to a banquet (see 25:6 and note; Ps 22:26; 34:8; Jer 31:14).
55:3 everlasting covenant. David had been promised an unending dynasty, one that would culminate in the Messiah (see 9:7; 54:10; 61:8; 2 Sam 7:14–16 and notes). faithful mercies. Assuring the continuation of the nation. See 54:8 and note. Christ's resurrection was further proof of God's faithfulness to David (see Acts 13:34, which quotes from this verse).
55:4 witness to the peoples. A reference either to David, who exalted the Lord among the nations (Ps 18:43,49–50), or to David's Son, the Messiah, who was a light to the nations (see 42:6; 49:6 and notes). leader . . . for the peoples. Similar titles are used of David (1 Sam 13:14; 25:30) and the Messiah (Dan 9:25).
55:5 you will call a nation. The attraction of nations to Zion and to the God of Israel is a major Biblical theme (see, e.g., 2:2–4; 45:14; Zech 8:22 and notes). which knows you not. The reverse of the exile, when Israel was sent to a nation unknown to them (see Deut 28:36). Ruth left Moab to live with a people she "did not previously know" (Ruth 2:11). Holy One of Israel. See 1:4; 41:14 and notes. glorified. See 4:2; 60:9. The nation will be restored physically and spiritually.
55:6 Seek the LORD. See Jer 29:13–14; Hos 3:5; Amos 5:4,6,14 (contrast the hypocritical seeking of 58:2).
55:7 wicked forsake. See 1:16. return to the LORD . . . abundantly pardon. See 43:25 and note; 44:22 and note.
55:9 My ways higher. See Ps 145:3.
55:11 My word. Especially the promises of vv. 3,5,12. The word is viewed as a messenger also in 9:8; Ps 107:20. Cf. John 1:1. succeeding. See 46:10–11 and note; cf. 40:8; Heb 4:12.
55:12 go out with joy. The departure from Babylon provides the background (see 35:10 and note; 52:9–12 and notes). mountains . . . will break forth into shouts. See 44:23 and note.

13 "Instead of the [a]thorn bush the [b]cypress will come up,
And instead of the [c]nettle the myrtle will come up,
And [1]it will be a [2][d]memorial to the
LORD,
For an everlasting [e]sign which [f]will not be cut off."

Rewards for Obedience to God

56 Thus says the LORD,
"[a]Preserve justice and do
righteousness,
For My [b]salvation is about to come
And My righteousness to be revealed.
2 "How [a]blessed is the man who does
this,
And the son of man who [b]takes hold
of it;
Who [c]keeps from profaning the sabbath,
And keeps his hand from doing any evil."
3 Let not the [a]foreigner who has joined himself to the LORD say,
"The LORD will surely separate me from His people."
Nor let the [b]eunuch say, "Behold, I am a dry tree."
4 For thus says the LORD,
"To the eunuchs who [a]keep My sabbaths,
And choose what pleases Me,
And [b]hold fast My covenant,
5 To them I will give in My [a]house and within My [b]walls a memorial,
And a name better than that of sons and daughters;
I will give [1]them an everlasting [c]name which [d]will not be cut off.

hands. Branches. The language is figurative (cf. 1 Chr 16:33; Ps 98:8; 114:3–6).

55:13 thorn bush . . . cypress . . . nettle . . . myrtle. The reverse of the desolation Isaiah had prophesied about earlier (5:6; 32:13). For the significance of trees see 35:2; see also 41:19 and note. memorial to the LORD. Similar to God's fame in the exodus (see 63:12,14). everlasting sign. God's deliverance would never be forgotten. Cf. 19:20; 56:5.

56:1 salvation . . . righteousness. See 45:8; 46:13; 51:5 and notes.

56:2 keeps . . . the sabbath. See vv. 4,6. Just as the sabbath had been instituted after the exodus from Egypt (see Ex 20:8–11) as a sign of the Mosaic covenant (see Ex 31:13–17), so God's new deliverance (55:12) afforded an opportunity to obey Him fully, an obedience summed up in "keeping the sabbath" (see 58:13; 66:23; Jer 17:21–27; Ezek 20:20–21).

56:3 foreigner. See v. 6. Members of certain nations who came to live among the Israelites had been excluded from worship, at least for several generations (see Ex 12:43; Deut 23:3,7–8). But the work of the servant of the Lord would change this (see 49:19–20; 54:17; 60:10 and notes). Cf. 14:1. eunuch. See v. 4. Eunuchs were also excluded from the assembly of the Lord (Deut 23:1), but they could still be part of God's offspring (see Acts 8:27,38–40).

56:4 hold fast My covenant. Keeping the sabbath was a sign of the covenant (see Ex 31:13–17; Ezek 20:12,20), as was circumcision (see Gen 17:11). See also v.6.

56:5 memorial. Absalom built a "Monument" (same Hebrew word) as a memorial since he had no surviving sons (2 Sam 18:18). name. The Hebrew for "a memorial and a name" (yad vashem) was chosen from v. 5 as the name of the main Holocaust monument in Jerusalem in modern Israel. which will not be cut off. An idiom sometimes referring to the preserving of a name through one's descendants.

56:6 minister. Cf. 60:7,10.

56:7 My holy mountain. See 2:2–4 and note. offerings . . . acceptable on My altar. Cf. 60:7; contrast 1:11–13. house of prayer for all the peoples. Solomon may have anticipated this in his prayer of dedication for the temple (1 Kin 8:41–43).

56:8 gathers the dispersed. See 11:11–12 and notes. others I will gather. Including Gentiles (see v. 3 and note; cf. John 10:16).

56:9–59:15 Many verses in these sections could apply to conditions before or during the Babylonian exile.

56:9 beasts. Foreign invaders (see 18:6 and note).

56:10 watchmen. The prophets (see Hab 2:1). blind . . . love to slumber. Cf. 29:9–10. mute dogs. Watchdogs who guarded the sheep (cf. Job 30:1).

56:11 greedy. They devour the sheep. See Ezek 34:3. shepherds. Rulers may be included. See Ezek 34:1–6.

12 "Come," they say, "let [1]us get [a]wine, and let us drink heavily of strong drink;
And [b]tomorrow will be like today,
only more so."

Evil Leaders Rebuked

57 The righteous man perishes, and no man [a]takes it to heart;
And devout men are taken away,
while no one understands.
For the righteous man is taken away from [b]evil,
2 He enters into peace;
They rest in their [1]beds,
Each one who [a]walked in his upright way.
3 "But come here, you sons of a
[a]sorceress,
[b]Offspring of an adulterer and [1]a
[c]prostitute.
4 "Against whom do you jest?
Against whom do you open wide your mouth
And stick out your tongue?
Are you not children of [a]rebellion,
Offspring of deceit,
5 Who inflame yourselves among the [1a]oaks,
[b]Under every luxuriant tree,
Who [c]slaughter the children in the [2]ravines,
Under the clefts of the crags?
6 "Among the [1a]smooth stones of the [2]ravine
Is your portion, [3]they are your lot;
Even to them you have [b]poured out a drink offering,
You have made a grain offering.
Shall I [4c]relent concerning these things?
7 "Upon a [a]high and lofty mountain
You have [b]made your bed.
You also went up there to offer sacrifice.

14 And it will be said,
"[a]Build up, build up, prepare the way,
Remove every obstacle out of the way of My people."

56:12 wine . . . strong drink. Cf. the behavior of priests and prophets in 28:7. tomorrow will be . . . more so. Cf. the words of the rich fool in Luke 12:19.
57:1 taken away from evil. Huldah explained that righteous King Josiah would die before disaster struck (2 Kin 22:19–20).
57:2 peace. Contrast v. 21. rest. Cf. Paul's words in Phil 1:21,23.
57:3 sorceress. One who practices soothsaying or magic (see 3:2; 47:12; Deut 18:10). adulterer and a prostitute. Spiritual adultery (idolatry) is in view (see vv. 5–8).
57:4 jest . . . open wide your mouth. The people mocked Isaiah in 28:9,14. children of rebellion. See 1:4; 46:8 and note.
57:5 oaks. Sacred trees (see 1:29 and note). luxuriant tree. Associated with high places of pagan worship in 1 Kin 14:23. Cf. Jer 2:20; 3:13. slaughter the children. Often associated with the worship of Molech (cf. v. 9; see note on 30:33, "Topheth") or Baal (Jer 19:5). Ps 106:37–38 says that children were sacrificed to idols and demons.
57:6 ravine. Possibly the Hinnom Valley, southwest of Jerusalem, where Molech was worshiped. drink offering. This pagan libation was especially popular.
57:7 high and lofty mountain. "High places" or "mountain shrines" (see Jer 3:6; Ezek 16:16; 22:9).
57:8 them. Pagan deities or idols.
57:9 oil. Used as an ointment for perfume (see Song 4:10). to Sheol. Cf. 8:19.
57:10 It is hopeless. Ironically, the people said that turning away from their own plans or from foreign gods was hopeless. renewed strength. Contrast 40:30–31.
57:11 Of whom . . . worried and fearful. They feared men (see 51:12). did not remember Me. See 51:13. silent . . . for a long time. God had not acted in judgment (see 42:14 and note).
57:12 righteousness. See 58:2–3; 64:6.
57:13 idols deliver you. See 44:17 and note. wind will carry . . . breath will take. Idols are no stronger than men. refuge in Me. See 25:4. inherit the land. See 49:8 and note. My holy mountain. See 2:2–4 and note.
57:14 Build up, build up. See note on 40:1. prepare the way. See 40:3 and note.

15 For thus says the [a]high and exalted
One
Who [1][b]lives forever, whose name is Holy,
"I [c]dwell on a high and holy place,
And also with the [d]contrite and lowly of spirit
In order to [e]revive the spirit of the lowly
And to revive the heart of the contrite.
16 "For I will [a]not contend forever,
[b]Nor will I always be angry;
For the spirit would grow faint before
Me,
And the [c]breath of those whom I have made.
17 "Because of the iniquity of his [a]unjust gain I was angry and struck him;
I hid My face and was angry,
And he went on [b]turning away, in the way of his heart.
18 "I have seen his ways, but I will [a]heal
him;
I will [b]lead him and [c]restore comfort to him and to his mourners,
19 Creating the [1][a]praise of the lips.
[b]Peace, peace to him who is [c]far and to him who is near,"
Says the LORD, "and I will heal him."
20 But the [a]wicked are like the tossing sea,
For it cannot be quiet,
And its waters toss up refuse and mud.
21 "[a]There is no peace," says [b]my God,
"for the wicked."

Observances of Fasts

58 "[a]Cry loudly, do not hold back;
Raise your voice like a trumpet,
And declare to My people their [b]transgression
And to the house of Jacob their sins.
2 "Yet they [a]seek Me day by day and delight to know My ways,
As a nation that has done
[b]righteousness
And [c]has not forsaken the ordinance of their God.
They ask Me for just decisions,
They delight [d]in the nearness of God.
3 'Why have we [a]fasted and You do not see?
Why have we humbled ourselves and
You do not [1]notice?'
Behold, on the [b]day of your fast you find your desire,
And drive hard all your workers.
4 "Behold, you fast for contention and [a]strife and to strike with a wicked fist.
You do not fast like you do today to [b]make your voice heard on high.
5 "Is it a fast like this which I choose, a day for a man to humble himself?
Is it for bowing [1]one's head like a reed
And for spreading out [a]sackcloth and ashes as a bed?
Will you call this a fast, even an
[b]acceptable day to the LORD?
6 "Is this not the fast which I choose,
To [a]loosen the bonds of wickedness,
To undo the bands of the yoke,
And to [b]let the oppressed go free
And [c]break every yoke?
7 "Is it not to [a]divide your bread [1]with the hungry
And [b]bring the homeless poor into the house;
When you see the [c]naked, to cover
him;
And not to [d]hide yourself from your own flesh?

57:15 high and exalted One. See 6:1; 52:13 and notes; cf. 33:5. contrite. Or "crushed" (see 53:5).

57:16 not contend forever. He had taken Israel to court repeatedly (see 3:13–14). Nor . . . be angry. See 54:9 and note; Jer 3:12.

57:17 hid My face and was angry. See 54:8; see also 1:15 and note.

57:18 heal him. See v. 19; 6:10; 30:26; Jer 3:22. God will forgive and restore His people. lead. Cf. 40:11; 42:16; 49:10. restore comfort. See 49:13 and note.

57:19 lips. Of those mourning the judgment on Jerusalem (see 66:10). Peace, peace. Contrast Jer 6:13–14; 8:10–11. him who is far. Either Gentiles or exiled Jews. Paul probably had this verse in mind in Eph 2:17.

57:20 like the tossing sea. See Jer 49:23. cannot be quiet. Contrast v. 2.

57:21 See 39:8; 48:22 and notes.

58:1 voice like a trumpet. God's powerful voice is compared to a trumpet blast at Mount Sinai (see Ex 19:19; 20:18–19). transgression. See 1:2 and note. sins. See 1:4; 59:12–13.

58:2 seek Me. See 55:6 and note. Cf. the frequent sacrifices of 1:11. delight in the nearness of God. The same hypocrisy is mentioned in 29:13 (see note there).

58:3 fasted . . . fast. See v. 6; a time of self-denial and repentance for sin. After the fall of Jerusalem, the number of fast days increased (see Lev 16:29; see also Zech 7:5). humbled ourselves. Cf. 2 Chr 7:14; 1 Kin 21:29. You do not notice. Note the same attitude in Mal 3:14; cf. Luke 18:12. drive hard all your workers. See 3:14–15; 10:2.

58:4 voice heard on high. Hypocritical religious activity is a hindrance to prayer (see 1:15; 59:2).

58:5 like a reed. A sign of weakness and humility (see 42:3 and note). sackcloth and ashes. Cf. 1 Kin 21:27; Jon 3:5–8. acceptable. A term often applied to sacrifices (see 56:7; 60:7; Lev 1:3).

58:6 bonds of wickedness. During the siege of Jerusalem, Hebrew slaves were rightly released—only to be reclaimed by their masters (see Jer 34:8–11). yoke. See v. 9; 9:4; 10:27, where the yoke imposed by Assyria is mentioned. oppressed. See 1:17.

58:7 divide your bread . . . bring . . . house . . . cover. The outward evidence of genuine righteousness. See Job 31:17–20; Ezek 18:7,16 and Jesus' identification with the hungry and naked in Matt 25:35–36. flesh. Probably refers to close relatives (Gen 37:27), but see 2 Sam 5:1.

8 "Then your [a]light will break out like the dawn,
And your [b]recovery will speedily spring forth;
And your [c]righteousness will go before you;
The glory of the [d]LORD will be your rear guard.
9 "Then you will [a]call, and the LORD will answer;
You will cry, and He will say, 'Here I am.'
If you [b]remove the yoke from your midst,
The [1][c]pointing of the finger and [d]speaking wickedness,
10 And if you [1][a]give yourself to the hungry
And satisfy the [2]desire of the afflicted,
Then your [b]light will rise in darkness
And your gloom will become like midday.
11 "And the [a]LORD will continually guide you,
And [b]satisfy your [1]desire in scorched places,
And [c]give strength to your bones;
And you will be like a [d]watered garden,
And like a [e]spring of water whose waters do not [2]fail.
12 "Those from among you will [a]rebuild the ancient ruins;
You will [b]raise up the age-old foundations;
And you will be called the repairer of the [c]breach,
The restorer of the [1]streets in which to dwell.

Keeping the Sabbath

13 "If because of the sabbath, you [a]turn your foot
From doing your own pleasure on My holy day,
And call the sabbath a [b]delight, the holy day of the LORD honorable,
And honor it, desisting from your [c]own ways,
From seeking your own pleasure
And [d]speaking your own word,
14 Then you will take [a]delight in the LORD,
And I will make you ride [b]on the heights of the earth;
And I will feed you with the heritage of Jacob your father,
For the [c]mouth of the LORD has spoken."

Separation from God

59 Behold, [a]the LORD's hand is not so short
That it cannot save;
[b]Nor is His ear so dull
That it cannot hear.
2 But your [a]iniquities have made a separation between you and your God,
And your sins have hidden His [1]face from you so that He does [b]not hear.
3 For your [a]hands are defiled with blood
And your fingers with iniquity;
Your lips have spoken [b]falsehood,
Your tongue mutters wickedness.
4 [a]No one sues righteously and [b]no one pleads [1]honestly.
They [c]trust in confusion and speak lies;
They [d]conceive mischief and bring forth iniquity.
5 They hatch adders' eggs and [a]weave the spider's web;
He who eats of their eggs dies,
And from that which is crushed a snake breaks forth.
6 Their webs will not become clothing,
Nor will they [a]cover themselves with their works;
Their [b]works are works of iniquity,

The Lord will protect them and guide them. glory of the LORD. Probably a reference to the pillar of cloud and fire in the wilderness (see 4:5–6; Ex 13:21; 14:20 and notes).
58:9 LORD will answer. See 30:19 and note. Here I am. See 65:1. pointing of the finger. A gesture of either contempt (see Prov 6:13) or accusation. speaking wickedness. See Prov 6:12–14.
58:10 hungry . . . afflicted. See vv. 6–7 and notes. light. See v. 8 and note.
58:11 guide you. See 57:18 and note. desire. Both material and spiritual (see note on 32:2). scorched places. See 35:7; 49:10. watered garden. In 1:30 Jerusalem was a garden without water. spring . . . not fail. Cf. the "living water" Jesus gives in John 4:10,14.
58:12 ancient ruins . . . age-old foundations. See 44:26,28 and notes; 61:4; Ezek 36:10; Amos 9:11,14. repairer of the breach. Cf. the work of Nehemiah in Neh 2:17.
58:13 sabbath. See 56:2 and note. My holy day. A day set apart to God (see Ex 3:5 and note). delight. They were also to delight themselves in the Lord (Ps 37:4) and in His law (Ps 1:2). your own ways. Perhaps to engage in business (see Amos 8:5).
58:14 delight in the LORD. See 61:10. ride on the heights. Thus controlling the land. See 33:16 and note; see also Hab 3:19. feed you with the heritage. Enjoying plentiful food in the promised land (see Deut 32:13–14). mouth . . . has spoken. See 40:5 and note.
59:1 hand . . . so short. See 51:9 and note. so dull . . . hear. See 30:19 and note.
59:2 hidden His face . . . He does not hear. See 1:15 and note.
59:3–4 falsehood. See v. 13; 28:15; Hos 4:2.
59:3 defiled with blood. See v. 7; 1:15,21; Ezek 7:23.
59:4 sues righteously . . . pleads. The poor and helpless could not receive fair trials (see v. 14; 1:17–23; 5:7,23). They conceive . . . iniquity. This statement appears verbatim in Job 15:35. Cf. Is 33:11; Ps 7:14.
59:5 spider's web. Verse 6 and Job 8:14–15 stress how fragile it is.

And an [c]act of violence is in their [1]hands.
7 [a]Their feet run to evil,
And they hasten to shed innocent blood;
[b]Their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity,
Devastation and destruction are in their highways.
8 They do not know the [a]way of peace,
And there is [b]no justice in their tracks;
They have made their paths crooked,
[c]Whoever treads on [1]them does not know peace.

A Confession of Wickedness

9 Therefore [a]justice is far from us,
And righteousness does not overtake us;
We [b]hope for light, but behold, darkness,
For brightness, but we walk in gloom.
10 We [a]grope along the wall like blind men,
We grope like those who have no eyes;
We [b]stumble at midday as in the twilight,
Among those who are vigorous we are [c]like dead men.
11 All of us growl like bears,
And [a]moan sadly like doves;
We hope for [b]justice, but there is none,
For salvation, but it is far from us.
12 For our [a]transgressions are multiplied before You,
And our [b]sins [1]testify against us;
For our transgressions are with us,
And [2]we know our iniquities:

14 [a]Justice is turned back,
And [b]righteousness stands far away;
For truth has stumbled in the street,
And uprightness cannot enter.
15 Yes, truth is lacking;
And he who turns aside from evil [a]makes himself a prey.

Now the LORD saw,
And it was [1]displeasing in His sight
[b]that there was no justice.
16 And He saw that there was [a]no man,
And was astonished that there was no one to intercede;
Then His [b]own arm brought salvation to Him,
And His righteousness upheld Him.

And His glory from the [b]rising of the sun,

59:6 act of violence. See v. 3; Jer 6:7; Ezek 7:11.
59:7–8 Quoted in part in Rom 3:15–17 by Paul to show the universality of sin.
59:7 Their feet run . . . to shed innocent blood. This sentence appears in Prov 1:16. thoughts of iniquity. God's thoughts are different (see 55:7–9). Devastation and destruction. Contrast 60:18.
59:8 way of peace. Cf. 26:3,12; 57:20–21; Luke 1:79. paths crooked. Unsafe (see Judg 5:6 and note).
59:9 us . . . We. The prophet includes himself with the people. justice . . . righteousness. Personified here and in v. 14. See v. 4 and note; 1:21. darkness . . . gloom. Similar language describes conditions when Assyria invaded Israel (see 5:30; 8:21–22; 9:1–2). Contrast 58:8.
59:10 We grope . . . like blind men . . . at midday. The fulfillment of the curse for disobedience in Deut 28:29. Cf. Job 5:14. vigorous. Perhaps enemies or oppressors.
59:11 growl like bears. Impatient and frustrated.
59:12 transgressions are multiplied. See 58:1. we know our iniquities. Like Ezra (9:6–7), Isaiah confesses the sins of the nation. In this verse he uses the three most common Hebrew words for evil thoughts and deeds.
59:13 Transgressing and denying. See 46:8; 48:8 and notes. turning away from. See 1:4. oppression. See 30:12. lying words. See vv. 3–4.
59:14 Justice . . . truth. Cf. the personification of wisdom in Prov 8:1–9:12. righteousness stands far away. Cf. v. 9; contrast 46:13 and note.
59:15 truth. Restored Jerusalem is called the "City of Truth" in Zech 8:3 (see 1:21 and note). makes himself a prey. See 32:7.
59:16 there was no man. To help (see 63:5, a parallel to the whole verse). Cf. Ezek 22:30. astonished. Cf. the reaction to the servant in 52:14. intercede. Cf. the intercession of the servant in 53:12 (see note there). His own arm brought salvation. See 51:9; 52:10. For the meaning of salvation see 43:3; 49:8; 52:7 and notes. righteousness. For the relationship between righteousness and salvation see 45:8; 46:13 and notes.
59:17 righteousness like a breastplate. The Lord's armor is compared to the believer's armor in the battle against Satan in Eph 6:14. garments of vengeance. Cf. the blood-spattered garments of 63:1–3. God's vengeance is described also in 34:8 (see note there); 63:4. It is part of the day of the Lord (see 34:2 and note). zeal. God's jealous love (see 9:7 and note; 37:32; 42:13).
59:18 adversaries . . . enemies. God will judge the nations, but He must also punish wicked Israelites (see 65:6–7; 66:6; Jer 25:29). Only the remnant will be blessed (see v. 20; see also 1:9 and note). coastlands. See note on 11:11.
59:19 name. See 30:27 and note. from the west . . . rising of the sun. All nations will see God's saving work in behalf of His people (see 40:5; 45:6; 52:10 and notes). rushing stream. The

For He will [c]come like a [1]rushing stream
Which the wind of the LORD drives.
20 "A [a]Redeemer will come to Zion,
And to those who [b]turn from transgression in Jacob," declares the LORD.
21 "As for Me, this is My [a]covenant with them," says the LORD: "My [b]Spirit which is upon you, and My [c]words which I have put in your mouth shall not depart from your mouth, nor from the mouth of your [1]offspring, nor from the mouth of your [1]offspring's offspring," says the LORD, "from now and forever."

A Glorified Zion

60 "[a]Arise, shine; for your [b]light has come,
And the [c]glory of the LORD has risen upon you.
2 "For behold, [a]darkness will cover the earth
And deep darkness the peoples;
But the LORD will rise upon you
And His [b]glory will appear upon you.
3 "[a]Nations will come to your light,
And kings to the brightness of your rising.

4 "[a]Lift up your eyes round about and see;
They all gather together, they [b]come to you.
Your sons will come from afar,
And your [c]daughters will be [1]carried in the arms.

For in My [c]wrath I struck you, coming of the Lord will be irresistible, like a "overflowing torrent" that overwhelms the enemy (see 30:28).

59:20 Redeemer. See 41:14 and note. come to Zion. In the return from exile, but more fully in the person of Christ. See 35:4; 40:9; 52:7 and notes. Cf. Zech 8:3. those . . . who turn. See 1:27–28 and note; 30:15; 31:6; Ezek 18:30–32.

59:21 covenant. The description fits the "new covenant" best (see 42:6 and note; Jer 31:31–34). My Spirit. See 11:2 and note; 32:15; Ezek 36:27; John 16:13. you . . . your . . . your . . . your . . . your. In Hebrew the pronouns are singular but are probably intended in a collective sense—the citizens of Zion. My words . . . in your mouth. Then Israel will truly be God's people (see 51:16 and note; Jer 31:33). not depart from your mouth. See Josh 1:8.

60:1–2 glory. Probably an allusion to the pillar of cloud, but announcing a new manifestation of God's redeeming glory (see 58:8 and note). See also 35:2 and note.

60:1 light. See 58:8 and note. Here the Lord Himself is viewed as the light (see vv. 19–20).

60:2 darkness. A symbol of gloom, oppression and sin (see 8:22; 9:2; 59:9).

60:3 Nations will come. See vv. 5,10–12 and notes. This theme was first mentioned in 2:2–4 (see note there). light. See 42:6; 49:6 and notes.

60:4 The first two lines are almost identical to the beginning of 49:18, the last two to the end of 49:22 (see note there). The setting there was the return from exile, but here much broader implications are involved. afar. See v. 9; 49:12 and note.

60:5 abundance of the sea. Jerusalem will be enriched by the nations (see v. 11; 61:6; 66:12; see also 18:7; 23:18; 45:14 and notes). The contribution of King Darius to Zerubbabel's temple may be a partial fulfillment (Ezra 6:8–9). Some interpret this verse as referring to conditions during the future phase of the Messianic kingdom, while others apply it to the influx of Gentiles into the church (see note on 2:2–4). See Rev 21:26 (the new Jerusalem); see also Hag 2:7; Zech 14:14 and notes.

60:6 camels will cover you. As caravans bringing goods. Ironically it was on camels that the Midianites once devastated Israel (see 9:4; Judg 6:1–6). Midian. Abraham's son through Keturah (Gen 25:2). The Midianites roamed the deserts of Transjordan. Ephah. A son of Midian (Gen 25:4). Sheba. A wealthy land in southern Arabia, perhaps roughly equal to modern Yemen (see Gen 25:3; 1 Kin 10:1–2). gold and frankincense. The queen of Sheba brought gold and spices to Solomon (1 Kin 10:2). Jer 6:20 mentions the incense of Sheba. Cf. Ps 72:10; Matt 2:11. bear . . . the praises. Cf. the queen's words in 1 Kin 10:9.

60:7 flocks of Kedar. See note on 21:16. Nebaioth. The firstborn son of Ishmael (Gen 25:13). The name is probably preserved in that of the later Nabatean kingdom. minister. See v. 10; 56:6. go up with acceptance. See 56:7; 58:5 and notes.

60:9 coastlands will wait for Me. See 11:11 and note. ships of Tarshish. See note on 2:16. bring your sons. See 49:22 and note. silver and . . . gold. Ships of Tarshish had brought these to Solomon every three years (1 Kin 10:22). Holy One of Israel. See v. 14; 1:4 and note. glorified you. See 55:5 and note.

60:10 Foreigners . . . kings. See vv. 12,14; 49:7,23; 61:5. will build up your walls. In 445 B.C. King Artaxerxes issued the decree

And in My favor I have had compassion on you.
11 "Your [a]gates will be open continually;
They will not be closed day or night,
So that men may [b]bring to you the wealth of the nations,
With [c]their kings led in procession.
12 "For the [a]nation and the kingdom which will not serve you will perish,
And the nations will be utterly ruined.
13 "The [a]glory of Lebanon will come to
you,
The [b]juniper, the box tree and the cypress together,
To beautify the place of My sanctuary;
And I shall make the [c]place of My feet glorious.
14 "The [a]sons of those who afflicted you will come bowing to you,
And all those who despised you will bow themselves at the soles of your feet;
And they will call you the [b]city of the
LORD,
The [c]Zion of the Holy One of Israel.

15 "Whereas you have been [a]forsaken and [b]hated
With no one passing through,
I will make you an everlasting [c]pride,
A joy from generation to generation.
16 "You will also [a]suck the milk of nations
And suck the breast of kings;
Then you will know that I, the LORD,
am your [b]Savior
And your [c]Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.
17 "Instead of bronze I will bring gold,
And instead of iron I will bring silver,
And instead of wood, bronze,
And instead of stones, iron.
And I will make peace your administrators
And righteousness your overseers.
18 "[a]Violence will not be heard again in your land,
Nor [b]devastation or destruction within your borders;
But you will call your [c]walls salvation,
and your [d]gates praise.
19 "No longer will you have the [a]sun for light by day,
Nor for brightness will the moon give you light;
But you will have the [b]LORD for an everlasting light,
And your [c]God for your [1]glory.
20 "Your [a]sun will no longer set,
Nor will your moon wane;
For you will have the LORD for an
everlasting light,
And the days of your [b]mourning will be over.
21 "Then all your [a]people will be righteous;
They will [b]possess the land forever,
The branch of [1]My planting,
The [c]work of My hands,
That I may be [d]glorified.
22 "The [a]smallest one will become a
[1]clan,
And the least one a mighty nation.
I, the LORD, will hasten it in its time."

allowing Nehemiah to rebuild the walls of Jerusalem (Neh 2:8). Some also apply the rebuilt walls to the building up of the church through Gentile believers (Acts 15:14–16). in My wrath I . . . had compassion. See 54:7–8 and notes.

60:11 gates will be open continually. As are the gates of the new Jerusalem (Rev 21:25). wealth. See v. 5.

60:12 nation . . . will perish. Israel's future political domination is referred to also in 11:14; 14:2; 49:23 (cf. vv. 10,14).

60:13 glory of Lebanon. Its magnificent cedar trees, which were used in the construction of Solomon's temple, along with pine trees (1 Kin 5:10,18). See also 35:2. The glory of Solomon's era would return. juniper . . . box . . . cypress. See 41:19 and note. Perhaps the trees would be ornamental rather than building material. beautify . . . sanctuary. See v. 7. place of My feet. The temple, and especially the ark of the covenant, God's "footstool."

60:14 afflicted . . . come bowing. See 49:7,23 and notes. Cf. vv. 10,12. the city of the LORD. Cf. the names for the future Jerusalem in 1:26; 62:4; Ezek 48:35; Zech 8:3; Heb 12:22.

60:15 forsaken and hated. See 6:11–12; 62:4; Jer 30:17. pride . . . joy. See 4:2 and note.

60:16 suck the breast of kings. Jerusalem will receive the very best nourishment, the "wealth of the nations" (v. 5). Then . . . Jacob. For this sentence see 49:26 and note.

60:17 gold . . . silver. As in Solomon's day gold and silver were plentiful (1 Kin 10:21,27), so the future Jerusalem will have the most valuable metals as well as the strongest (iron). Cf. 9:10. peace . . . righteousness. Both are also present in the rule of the Messianic king in 9:7. See note on 48:18.

60:18 Violence will not be heard. Cf. 54:14. devastation or destruction. See 51:19 and note. walls salvation. See 26:1.

60:19 sun . . . moon. According to Rev 21:23; 22:5 their light will no longer be needed in the new Jerusalem, since God and the Lamb will be the "everlasting light." glory. See vv. 1–2 and note; Zech 2:5.

60:20 sun will no longer set. There will be no night there (cf. Rev 22:5) but only the light of joy and salvation (see 58:8 and note). mourning will be over. See 25:8; 35:10; 51:11; 65:19; Rev 21:4.

60:21 people will be righteous. Only the redeemed will be there (see 4:3; 35:8; Rev 21:27). possess the land forever. Enter into full blessing (see 49:8 and note; see also 57:13; 61:7; Ps 37:11,22). branch of My planting. Cf. the vineyard of 5:2,7 (see also 11:1). work of My hands. God made them as a potter forms clay (see 64:8; see also 29:23; 45:11). I may be glorified. They are the evidence of God's redemptive work. See 49:3; 61:3; see also notes on 35:2; 40:5.

60:22 smallest one will become a clan. See 51:2; 54:3 and notes. The blessing of Lev 26:8 is similar.

61:1–2 Jesus applied these verses to Himself in the synagogue at Nazareth (see Luke 4:16–21; cf. Matt 11:5).

61:1 Spirit . . . is upon me. The statement may refer to Isaiah in

To [b]bring good news to the [2c]afflicted;
He has sent me to [d]bind up the brokenhearted,
To [e]proclaim liberty to captives
And [3]freedom to prisoners;
2 To [a]proclaim the favorable year of the LORD
And the [b]day of vengeance of our God;
To [c]comfort all who mourn,
3 To [a]grant those who mourn in Zion,
Giving them a garland instead of ashes,
The [b]oil of gladness instead of mourning,
The mantle of praise instead of a spirit of fainting.
So they will be called [1c]oaks of righteousness,
The planting of the LORD, that He may be glorified.

4 Then they will [a]rebuild the ancient ruins,
They will raise up the former devastations;
And they will repair the ruined cities,
The desolations of many generations.
5 [a]Strangers will stand and pasture your flocks,
And [1]foreigners will be your farmers and your vinedressers.
6 But you will be called the [a]priests of the LORD;
You will be spoken of as [b]ministers of our God.
You will eat the [c]wealth of nations,
And in their [1]riches you will boast.
7 Instead of your [a]shame you will have a [b]double portion,
And instead of humiliation they will shout for joy over their portion.
Therefore they will possess a double portion in their land,
[c]Everlasting joy will be theirs.
8 For I, the LORD, [a]love justice,
I hate robbery [1]in the burnt offering;
And I will faithfully give them their recompense
And make an [b]everlasting covenant with them.
9 Then their offspring will be known among the nations,
And their descendants in the midst of the peoples.
All who see them will recognize them
Because they are the [a]offspring whom the LORD has blessed.

10 I will [a]rejoice greatly in the LORD,
My soul will exult in [b]my God;
For He has [c]clothed me with garments of salvation,
He has wrapped me with a robe of righteousness,
As a bridegroom decks himself with a garland,
And [d]as a bride adorns herself with her jewels.
11 For as the [a]earth brings forth its sprouts,
And as a garden causes the things sown in it to spring up,
So the Lord [1]GOD will [b]cause [c]righteousness and praise
To spring up before all the nations.

Zion's Glory and New Name

62 For Zion's sake I will not keep silent,
And for Jerusalem's sake I will not keep quiet, a limited sense, but the Messianic servant is the main figure intended (cf. what is said of Him in 42:1; see 11:2; 48:16 and notes). Lord GOD. See 50:4–5,7,9 and note. anointed me. See 45:1 and note. good news. See 40:9 and note. afflicted. Cf. 11:4; 29:19. bind up the brokenhearted. See 30:26 and note. liberty to captives. Freedom is used of the year of jubilee in Lev 25:10 (see 49:8 and note). Release from sin has as its background release from Babylon (see 42:7 and note).

61:2 favorable year of the LORD. Corresponds to the "day of salvation" in 49:8 (see note there) and the "My year of redemption" in 63:4. Christ ended His quotation at this point (Luke 4:19–20), probably because the "day of vengeance" will not occur until His second coming. day of vengeance. See 34:2,8 and notes. comfort all who mourn. See 49:13; 57:19 and notes; 66:10; Jer 31:13; Matt 5:4.

61:3 garland. A "turban" (as the Hebrew for this phrase is translated in Ezek 24:17) or headdress. In 3:20 the women of Jerusalem were to lose their beautiful headdresses. oil of gladness. Anointing with olive oil was common on joyous occasions (see Ps 23:5; 45:7; 104:15; 133:1–2; cf. 2 Sam 14:2). See also 1:6 and note. mantle of praise. Contrast the "garments of vengeance" in 59:17. oaks of righteousness. Contrast the oaks of 1:30. planting . . . that He may be glorified. See 60:21 and note.

61:4 rebuild the ancient ruins . . . ruined cities. See 58:12 and note.

61:5 Strangers . . . foreigners. See 14:1–2; 56:3; 60:10 and notes.

61:6 priests of the LORD. See 66:21. True Israel will be a "kingdom of priests" among the Gentiles (see Ex 19:6 and note). ministers. Priests. wealth of nations. See 60:5 and note.

61:7 shame . . . humiliation. See 45:17; 54:4. double portion. The firstborn son received a double share of the inheritance (see Deut 21:17; Zech 9:12). Contrast the "double" punishment Israel received (40:2). Everlasting joy. See 35:10; 51:11; cf. Ps 16:11.

61:8 love justice. Cf. 30:18; 59:15. robbery in the burnt offering. See NASB marg. Israel had been mistreated by her conquerors. Cf. 42:24; 59:18. everlasting covenant. Probably the new covenant (see 55:3; 59:21 and notes; cf. Jer 31:35–37; 32:40).

61:9 offspring whom the LORD has blessed. See 44:3; 65:23 and the promises to Abraham in Gen 12:1–3.

61:10 Zion is probably the speaker. garments of salvation. See v. 3; 52:1 and note. decks himself with a garland. Putting on a turban or headband (see note on v. 3). bride . . . with her jewels. See 49:18 and note.

61:11 sprouts . . . spring up. Cf. 55:10. righteousness and praise To spring up. See 45:8 and note.

62:1,6 I. The Lord.

62:1 not keep silent . . . quiet. See v. 6; 42:14; 57:11 and note;

Until her [a]righteousness goes forth like brightness,
And her [b]salvation like a torch that is burning.
2 The [a]nations will see your righteousness,
And all kings your glory;
And you will be called by a new [b]name
Which the mouth of the LORD will designate.
3 You will also be a [a]crown of beauty in the hand of the LORD,
And a royal [1]diadem in the hand of
your God.
4 It will no longer be said to you,
"[1a]Forsaken,"
Nor to your land will it any longer be said, "[2]Desolate";
But you will be called, "[3]My delight is in her,"
And your land, "[4b]Married";
For the [c]LORD delights in you,
And to Him your land will be married.
5 For as a young man marries a virgin,
So your sons will marry you;
And as the [1]bridegroom rejoices over the bride,
So your [a]God will rejoice over you.

6 On your walls, O Jerusalem, I have appointed [a]watchmen;
All day and all night they will never keep silent.
You who [b]remind the LORD, take no rest for yourselves;
7 And [a]give Him no rest until He establishes
And makes [b]Jerusalem a praise in the earth.
8 [a]The LORD has sworn by His right hand and by His strong arm,
"I will [b]never again give your grain as food for your enemies;
Nor will [1]foreigners drink your new wine for which you have labored."
9 But those who [a]garner it will eat it and praise the LORD;
And those who gather it will drink it in the courts of My sanctuary.

10 Go through, [a]go through the gates,
Clear the way [1]for the people;
[b]Build up, build up the [c]highway,
Remove the stones, lift up a [d]standard over the peoples.
11 Behold, the LORD has proclaimed to the [a]end of the earth,
[b]Say to the daughter of Zion, "Lo, your [c]salvation comes;
[d]Behold His reward is with Him, and His recompense before Him." 12 And they will call them, "[a]The holy
people,
The [b]redeemed of the LORD";
And you will be called, "Sought out, a city [c]not forsaken."

God's Vengeance on the Nations

63 Who is this who comes from [a]Edom,
With [b]garments of [1]glowing colors
from [c]Bozrah,
This One who is majestic in His apparel,
[2]Marching in the greatness of His strength?
"It is I who speak in righteousness,
[d]mighty to save."
2 Why is Your apparel red,
And Your garments like the one who
[a]treads in the wine press?

64:12; 65:6; see also Ps 28:1. righteousness . . . salvation. See 46:13 and note. dawn. Cf. 58:8.

62:2 nations will see . . . glory. See 52:10; see also 40:5; 60:3 and notes. your. Jerusalem's (see vv. 1,6). new name. To reflect a new status (see vv. 4,12; see also 1:26; 60:14; Gen 32:28 and notes).

62:3 crown of beauty. In 28:5 the Lord is a "beautiful crown" for His people (cf. Zech 9:16).

62:4 Forsaken . . . Desolate. See 54:6–7; 60:15 and note. My delight is in her. Also the name of Hezekiah's wife (2 Kin 21:1; Hephzibah means "My delight is in her"). married. Israel's relationship with the Lord will be restored. See 50:1 and note.

62:5 sons will marry you. The Israelites will again possess the land once deserted. Cf. 54:1. Or the Hebrew for "sons" could be read as "Builder," referring to God (see note on 49:17).

62:6 watchmen. Probably those (the prophets especially; see 56:10) waiting for the messenger with good news (see 52:8 and note). never keep silent. They will be praying that God will not be silent (see v. 1) but will restore Jerusalem. take no rest for yourselves. Cf. David's intense prayer as he searched for a home for the ark (Ps 132:1–5).

62:7 praise in the earth. Cf. Jer 33:9; Zeph 3:19–20; see 60:3 and note.

62:8 has sworn. Cf. 45:23; 54:9. strong arm. See 51:9 and note. grain . . . for your enemies . . . foreigners drink your new wine. Punishment Moses warned about in Lev 26:16; Deut 28:33. See also 52:1 and note; Jer 5:17.

62:9 eat it . . . drink it. See 65:13,21–23. in the courts of My sanctuary. During a festival, or when they brought the tithe to the Lord (Lev 23:39–40; Deut 14:22–26).

62:10 Go through, go through. See note on 40:1. gates. Probably of Babylon (cf. 48:20; Mic 2:12–13). Clear the way . . . build up the highway. See 40:3; 49:11 and notes. Remove the stones. See 57:14. standard. See 5:26 and note.

62:11 end of the earth. See 11:12; 49:6 and notes. daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants. your salvation comes. See 40:9 and note; Zech 9:9; Matt 21:5; see also 43:3 and note. reward . . . recompense. See 40:10 and note.

62:12 holy people. See 4:3; Ex 19:6 and notes. redeemed. See 35:9 and note. Sought out, a city not forsaken. See v. 4.

63:1 Edom. See 21:11; 34:5 and notes. Edom here symbolizes a world that hates God's people. Bozrah. See 34:6 and note. glowing colors. Cf. Christ's robe "dipped in blood" (Rev 19:13) as He wages war at His second coming. righteousness, mighty to save. See 45:8; 46:13; 59:16 and notes.

63:2 Why . . . ? Isaiah responds with a question. treads in the wine press. See 16:10 and note.

3 "[a]I have trodden the wine trough alone,
And from the peoples there was no man with Me.
I also [b]trod them in My anger
And [c]trampled them in My wrath;
And [d]their [1]lifeblood is sprinkled on My garments,
And I [2]stained all My raiment.
4 "For the [a]day of vengeance was in My heart,
And My year of redemption has come.
5 "I looked, and there was [a]no one to help,
And I was astonished and there was no one to uphold;
So My [b]own arm brought salvation to Me,
And My wrath upheld Me.
6 "I [a]trod down the peoples in My anger
And made them [b]drunk in My wrath,
And I [1]poured out their lifeblood on the earth."

God's Ancient Mercies Recalled

7 I shall make mention of the [a]lovingkindnesses of the LORD, the praises of the LORD,
According to all that the LORD has granted us,
And the great [b]goodness toward the house of Israel,
Which He has granted them according to His [c]compassion
And according to the abundance of His lovingkindnesses.
8 For He said, "Surely, they are [a]My people, Sons who will not deal falsely."
So He became their [b]Savior.
9 In all their affliction [1][a]He was afflicted,
And the [b]angel of His presence saved them;
In His [c]love and in His mercy He [d]redeemed them,
And He [e]lifted them and carried them all the days of old.
10 But they [a]rebelled
And grieved His [b]Holy Spirit;
Therefore He turned Himself to become their enemy,
He fought against them.
11 Then [a]His people remembered the days of old, of Moses.
Where is [b]He who brought them up out of the sea with the [1]shepherds of His flock?
Where is He who [c]put His Holy Spirit in the midst of [2]them, 12 Who caused His [a]glorious arm to go at the right hand of Moses,
Who [b]divided the waters before them to make for Himself an everlasting name, 13 Who led them through the depths?
Like the horse in the wilderness, they did not [a]stumble;
14 As the cattle which go down into the valley,
The Spirit of the [a]LORD gave [1]them rest.
So You [b]led Your people,
To make for Yourself a glorious name.

"You Are Our Father"

15 [a]Look down from heaven and see from Your holy and glorious [b]habitation;
Where are Your [c]zeal and Your mighty deeds?
The [d]stirrings of Your heart and Your compassion are restrained toward me.

63:3 trodden the wine trough. A figure of judgment also in Lam 1:15; Joel 3:13; Rev 14:17–20; 19:15. in My anger . . . wrath. The day of the Lord. See v. 6; 13:3; 34:2 and notes.
63:4 day of vengeance . . . My year of redemption. See 61:2 and note. The day of judging the enemy meant at the same time redemption for God's people. See 35:9; 41:14 and notes.
63:5 See 59:16 (a parallel to the whole verse) and note. wrath. In 59:16 "righteousness" is used. God's righteousness and holiness resulted in His wrath.
63:6 made them drunk. They drank the "cup of His anger" (see 51:17 and note). poured out their lifeblood. Here the battle is compared to a sacrifice, as in 34:6.
63:7–64:12 A prayer of Isaiah, asking the Lord to bring about the redemption He has promised—as one of the "watchmen" the Lord has posted on the walls of Jerusalem (see 62:6 and note). It is similar to a national lament (see, e.g., Ps 44).
63:7 lovingkindnesses. A demonstration of God's unfailing love as He stood true to His covenant with Israel. great goodness. Cf. Josh 21:45; 1 Kin 8:66. compassion. See 54:7–8,10 and note.
63:8 My people, Sons who will not deal falsely. But see 1:2–4. Savior. See 43:3 and note.
63:9 In all their affliction He was afflicted. The suffering in Egypt and during the period of the judges is probably in view (see Judg 10:16). angel of His presence. See Ex 23:20–23; 33:14–15. redeemed. See 41:14; 43:1 and notes. lifted . . . carried. Like a father (see Deut 1:31; 32:10–12).
63:10 rebelled. In the wilderness (see 1:2 and note; 30:1; Num 20:10; Ps 78:40). grieved His Holy Spirit. See Ps 106:33; cf. Is 11:1–2; 42:1. become their enemy. See 43:28 and note.
63:11 sea. The Red Sea (see 50:2 and note; 51:10). shepherds. Moses and Aaron (Ps 77:20). Holy Spirit. See note on Ps 51:11. The Spirit rested on Moses and 70 elders (Num 11:17,25). See also v. 14.
63:12 arm. See 51:9 and note; Ex 15:16. divided the waters. See Ex 14:21; cf. 11:15; 51:10. everlasting name. See 55:13 and note.
63:13 depths. Of the Red Sea (see Ex 15:5,8; Ps 106:9). But the crossing of the Jordan may be intended as well (see v. 14 and note).
63:14 into the valley. To find pasture and water. gave them rest. They found a home in Canaan, the promised land (see Deut 12:9; Josh 1:13; 21:44).
63:15 zeal. See 9:7; 42:13 and notes. stirrings of . . . heart and . . . compassion. Cf. Hos 11:8. restrained. See 42:14 and note.

16 For You are our [a]Father, though
[b]Abraham does not know us
And Israel does not recognize us.
You, O LORD, are our Father,
Our [c]Redeemer from of old is Your name.
17 Why, O LORD, do You [a]cause us to stray from Your ways
And [b]harden our heart from fearing You?
[c]Return for the sake of Your servants, the tribes of Your heritage.
18 Your holy people possessed Your sanctuary for a little while,
Our adversaries have [a]trodden it down.

Prayer for Mercy and Help

64 [1]Oh, that You would rend the heavens and [a]come down,
That the mountains might [b]quake at Your presence—
2 [1]As fire kindles the brushwood, as fire causes water to boil—
To make Your name known to Your adversaries,
That the [a]nations may tremble at Your presence!
3 When You did [a]awesome things which we did not expect,
You came down, the mountains quaked at Your presence.
4 For from days of old [a]they have not heard or perceived by ear,
Nor has the eye seen a God besides You,
Who acts in behalf of the one who [b]waits for Him.
5 You [a]meet him who rejoices in [b]doing righteousness,
Who [c]remembers You in Your ways.
Behold, [d]You were angry, for we sinned,
We continued in them a long time;
And shall we be saved?
6 For all of us have become like one who is [a]unclean,
And all our [b]righteous deeds are like a filthy garment;
And all of us [c]wither like a leaf,
And our [d]iniquities, like the wind, take us away.
7 There is [a]no one who calls on Your name,
Who arouses himself to take hold of You;
For You have [b]hidden Your face from us
And have [1]delivered us into the power of our iniquities.
8 But now, O LORD, [a]You are our Father,
We are the [b]clay, and You our potter;
And all of us are the [c]work of Your hand.
9 Do not be [a]angry beyond measure, O LORD,
[b]Nor remember iniquity forever;
Behold, look now, all of us are [c]Your people.
10 Your [a]holy cities have become a [b]wilderness,
Zion has become a wilderness,
Jerusalem a desolation.
11 Our holy and beautiful [a]house,
Where our fathers praised You,
Has been burned by fire;
And [b]all our precious things have become a ruin.

63:16 Father. See 64:8; Deut 32:6. Abraham does not know. Even if their human fathers abandon them, God will not (see 49:14–15 and notes). Redeemer. See 41:14 and note.

63:17 cause us to stray. When Israel went astray (see 53:6), God let them wander. harden our heart. The people's hearts were hard (see 6:10; Ps 95:8), and the Lord confirmed that condition (see 6:10; Ex 4:21 and notes). servants. True believers (see 54:17 and note).

63:18 adversaries. The Babylonians. trodden it down. The temple, graphically described in Ps 74:3–7; cf. Is 64:11. Since it was God's sanctuary, His honor was at stake (cf. 48:11).

63:19 called by Your name. See 43:7 and note.

64:1 rend the heavens. The sky is compared to a tent curtain. For this and the further description of the cosmic effects of God's coming in judgment and redemption see Judg 5:4–5; Ps 18:7–15; 144:5; Nah 1:5; Hab 3:3–7.

64:2 make Your name known. See 30:27 and note.

64:3 awesome things. See Ps 66:3,5–6.

64:4 Nor . . . a God besides You. See 43:11 and note. waits for Him. See 30:18; see also 40:31 and note.

64:5 doing righteousness. See 56:1. You were angry. See 9:12,17,21 and note. God's anger culminated in the exile. saved. Or "delivered" (see 43:3 and note).

64:6 unclean. Ceremonially unclean, like a person with a terrible disease (see 6:5; Lev 5:2; 13:45). righteous deeds. See 57:12 and note. filthy garment. The cloths a woman uses during her period, a time when she is "unclean" (see Lev 15:19–24; Ezek 36:17). wither like a leaf. A figure used also in 1:30. like the wind. Which blows away the chaff (see 17:13; 40:24 and note).

64:7 no one who calls on Your name. The Lord urges earnest prayer in times of distress (see, e.g., 2 Chr 7:14). hidden Your face. See 1:15 and note.

64:8 Father. See 63:16 and note. clay . . . potter. See 45:9 and note. work of Your hand. See 60:21 and note.

64:9 Do not be angry. Cf. the promise to end that anger in 54:7–8 (see notes there). Nor remember iniquity. See 43:25 and note; Jer 31:34; Mic 7:18. Your people. See 63:17–19; Ps 79:13.

64:10 holy cities. Sacred because Israel was the "holy land" (Ps 78:54). Jerusalem is often called the "holy city" (see 48:2 and note). Zion has become a wilderness . . . desolation. See 1:7–9 and note; 6:11; Jer 12:11.

64:11 holy and beautiful house. See 60:7; 63:15. burned by fire. Isaiah here reaches the climax of his lament. See 63:18 and note.

12 Will You [a]restrain Yourself at these things, O LORD?
Will You keep silent and afflict us beyond measure?

A Rebellious People

65 "I permitted Myself to be sought by [a]those who did not ask for Me;
I permitted Myself to be found by those who did not seek Me.
I said, 'Here am I, here am I,'
To a nation which [b]did not call on My name.
2 "[a]I have spread out My hands all day long to a [b]rebellious people,
Who walk in the way which is not good, [1]following their own [c]thoughts,
3 A people who continually [a]provoke Me to My face,
Offering sacrifices in [b]gardens and [c]burning incense on bricks;
4 Who sit among graves and spend the night in secret places;
Who [a]eat swine's flesh,
And the broth of unclean meat is in their pots.
5 "Who say, '[a]Keep to yourself, do not come near me,
For I am holier than you!'
These are smoke in My [1]nostrils,
A fire that burns all the day.
6 "Behold, it is written before Me,
I will [a]not keep silent, but [b]I will repay;
I will even repay into their bosom,
7 Both [1]their own [a]iniquities and the iniquities of their fathers together," says the LORD.

"Because they have [b]burned incense on the mountains
And [c]scorned Me on the hills,
Therefore I will [d]measure their former work into their bosom."

8 Thus says the LORD,
"As the new wine is found in the cluster,
And one says, 'Do not destroy it, for there is [1]benefit in it,'
So I will act on behalf of My servants
In order [a]not to destroy [2]all of them.
9 "I will bring forth [a]offspring from Jacob,
And an [b]heir of My mountains from Judah;
Even [c]My chosen ones shall inherit it,
And [d]My servants will dwell there.
10 "[a]Sharon will be a pasture land for flocks,
And the [b]valley of Achor a resting place for herds,
For My people who [c]seek Me.
11 "But you who [a]forsake the LORD,
Who forget My [b]holy mountain,
Who set a table for [1]Fortune,
And who fill cups with mixed wine for [2]Destiny,
12 I will destine you for the [a]sword,
And all of you will bow down to the [b]slaughter.
Because I called, but you [c]did not answer;
I spoke, but you did not hear.
And you did evil in My sight
And chose that in which I did not delight."

64:12 restrain Yourself . . . keep silent. See 42:14; 57:11; 62:1,6–7 and notes.

65:1–66:24 The grand conclusion to chs. 58–66, as well as to chs. 40–66 and to the whole book.

65:1 did not ask . . . did not seek. The Lord now proceeds to answer Isaiah's prayer. Israel failed to stay close to the Lord, though they sought Him in a superficial way (see 55:6; 58:2 and notes). Here am I. See 58:9. did not call on My name. See 64:7.

65:2 rebellious people. See 1:2; 30:1,9 and notes. their own thoughts. See 59:7 and note.

65:3 provoke Me. By worshiping idols (see Judg 2:12–13). to My face. Defiantly (cf. 3:8–9). gardens. See 1:29 and note. burning incense. As when worshiping the queen of Heaven (see Jer 44:17–19).

65:4 sit among graves. Perhaps to consult the dead (see 8:19 and note; 57:9; Deut 18:11). swine's flesh. Considered ceremonially unclean (see 66:3,17; Lev 11:7–8).

65:5 I am holier than you. Those who engage in pagan rituals believe they are superior to others (cf. the attitude of the Pharisees in Matt 9:11; Luke 7:39; 18:9–12).

65:6 not keep silent. The answer to 64:12. repay. See 59:18 and note.

65:7 burned incense on the mountains. Offered to Baal on the high places (see 57:7; Hos 2:13). scorned Me. See Ezek 20:27–28.

65:8 the cluster. Israel was a vineyard that had produced bad grapes (5:2,4,7). servants. See vv. 9,13–15; 54:17 and note. Here the Lord's servants are equivalent to the remnant (see 1:9 and note).

65:9 offspring. See Jer 31:36. Jacob . . . Judah. The northern and southern kingdoms respectively. heir of My mountains. See 49:8; 60:21 and notes. "Mountains" refers to the whole land, since so much of it was hilly (see Judg 1:9; Ezek 6:2–3). chosen ones. See 41:8–9 and note. inherit. See 57:13 and note.

65:10 Sharon. See 33:9 and note. valley of Achor. A valley near Jericho (see Josh 7:24,26; Hos 2:15). Since Sharon and Achor are on the western and eastern edges of the land respectively, they probably represent the whole country. seek Me. See v. 1; 51:1 and notes.

65:11 forsake the LORD. See 1:4. holy mountain. See 2:2–4 and note. set a table . . . mixed wine. A meal and drink offering presented to deities. See note on 5:22; cf. v. 3; Jer 7:18. Fortune . . . Destiny. The pagan gods of good fortune and fate. See Josh 11:17, where "Gad" may mean "Fortune."

65:12 sword. Designed for God's enemies, such as Edom (34:5–6), but the wicked of Israel would also suffer (see 1:20; 59:18 and note; 66:16). called . . . not answer. See 50:2 and note; 2 Chr 36:15–16. chose . . . I did not delight. Contrast the faithfulness of the eunuchs in 56:4. The last four lines of v. 12 are almost identical to those of 66:4.

13 Therefore, thus says the Lord [1]GOD,
"Behold, My servants will [a]eat, but you will be [b]hungry.
Behold, My servants will [c]drink, but you will be [d]thirsty.
Behold, My servants will [e]rejoice, but you will be [f]put to shame.
14 "Behold, My servants will [a]shout joyfully with a glad heart,
But you will [b]cry out with a [1]heavy heart,
And you will wail with a broken spirit.
15 "You will leave your name for a [a]curse to My chosen ones,
And the Lord [1]GOD will slay you.
But [2]My servants will be called by [b]another name.
16 "Because he who [1]is blessed in the earth
Will [1]be blessed by the [a]God of truth;
And he who swears in the earth
Will [b]swear by the God of truth;
Because the former troubles are forgotten,
And because they are hidden from My sight!

New Heavens and a New Earth

17 "For behold, I create [a]new heavens and a new earth;
And the [b]former things will not be remembered or come to [1]mind.
18 "But be [a]glad and rejoice forever in what I create;
For behold, I create Jerusalem for rejoicing
And her people for gladness.
19 "I will also [a]rejoice in Jerusalem and be glad in My people;
And there will no longer be heard in her
The voice of [b]weeping and the sound of crying.

20 "No longer will there be [1]in it an infant who lives but a few days,
Or an old man who does [a]not [2]live out his days;
For the youth will die at the age of one hundred
And the [3b]one who does not reach the age of one hundred
Will be thought accursed.
21 "They will [a]build houses and inhabit them;
They will also [b]plant vineyards and eat their fruit.
22 "They will not build and [a]another inhabit,
They will not plant and another eat;
For [b]as the [1]lifetime of a tree, so will be the days of My people,
And My chosen ones will [c]wear out the work of their hands.
23 "They will [a]not labor in vain,
Or bear children for calamity;
For they are the [1b]offspring of those blessed by the LORD,
And their descendants with them.
24 "It will also come to pass that before they call, I will [a]answer; and while they are still speaking, I will hear.
25 "The [a]wolf and the lamb will graze together, and the [b]lion will eat straw like the ox; and [c]dust will be the serpent's food. They will [d]do no evil or harm in all My [e]holy mountain," says the LORD.

Heaven Is God's Throne

66 Thus says the LORD,
"[a]Heaven is My throne and the earth is My footstool.
Where then is a [b]house you could build for Me?

65:14 shout joyfully. See 35:10; 54:1 and notes. broken spirit. They had refused God's healing. See 61:1 and note.
65:15 chosen ones. See v. 9 and note. for a curse. The rebellious Israelites will be used as an example when curses are uttered (see Jer 29:22). another name. Perhaps the "new name" of 62:2 (see note there).
65:16 God of truth. God is true to His promises. The Hebrew word for "truth" here is amen (see 2 Cor 1:20; cf. Rev 3:14). swear by. See 45:23. Perhaps a contrast is intended with those who took oaths in the name of Baal (see Jer 12:16).
65:17 new heavens and a new earth. The climax of the "new things" Isaiah has been promising (see 42:9; 48:6 and notes). former things. The "first things" (Rev 21:4), including pain and sorrow.
65:18 be glad and rejoice. See 66:10; see also 51:3 and note. create Jerusalem. John links the notion of a new heaven and a new earth with the "new Jerusalem" (Rev 21:1–2). A restored Jerusalem after the exile and in the Messianic kingdom pointed toward this greater Jerusalem. See note on 54:11–12.
65:19 rejoice . . . be glad. See 62:4–5 and notes. weeping . . . crying. See 25:8 and note; 35:10.

65:21–22 Contrast Moses' curse for disobedience in Deut 28:30.
65:21 plant vineyards. See 62:8–9.

65:25 wolf . . . lamb . . . lion. See 11:6–9 and notes. dust . . . serpent's food. See Gen 3:14 and note. The serpent will be harmless (see 11:8). They . . . mountain. Identical to the first two lines of 11:9.
66:1 throne . . . footstool. See 40:22 and note. Where then is

And where is a place that [1]I may rest?
2 "For [a]My hand made all these things,
Thus all these things came into being," declares the LORD.
"But to this one I will look,
To him who is humble and [b]contrite of spirit, and who [c]trembles at My word.

Hypocrisy Rebuked

3 "But he who kills an ox is like one who slays a man;
He who sacrifices a lamb is like the one who breaks a dog's neck;
He who offers a grain offering is like one who offers [a]swine's blood;
He who [1b]burns incense is like the one who blesses an idol.
As they have chosen their [c]own ways,
And their soul delights in their [d]abominations,
4 So I will [a]choose their [1]punishments
And will [b]bring on them what they dread.
Because I called, but [c]no one answered;
I spoke, but they did not listen.
And they did [d]evil in My sight
And chose that in which I did not delight."
5 Hear the word of the LORD, you who [a]tremble at His word:
"Your brothers who [b]hate you, who [c]exclude you for My name's sake,
Have said, 'Let the LORD be glorified, that we may see your joy.'
But [d]they will be put to shame.
6 "A voice of uproar from the city, a voice from the temple,
The voice of the LORD who is [a]rendering recompense to His enemies.

7 "Before she travailed, [a]she brought forth;
Before her pain came, [b]she gave birth to a boy.
8 "[a]Who has heard such a thing? Who has seen such things?
Can a land be [1]born in one day?
Can a nation be brought forth all at once?
As soon as Zion travailed, she also brought forth her sons.
9 "Shall I bring to the point of birth and [a]not give delivery?" says the LORD.
"Or shall I who gives delivery shut the womb?" says your God.

Joy in Jerusalem's Future

10 "Be [a]joyful with Jerusalem and rejoice for her, all you who [b]love her;
Be exceedingly [c]glad with her, all you who mourn over her,
11 That you may nurse and [a]be satisfied with her comforting breasts,
That you may suck and be delighted with her [b]bountiful bosom."
12 For thus says the LORD, "Behold, I extend [a]peace to her like a river,
And the [b]glory of the nations like an overflowing stream;
And you will [1]be nursed, you will be [c]carried on the [2]hip and fondled on the knees.
13 "As one whom his mother comforts, so I will [a]comfort you;
And you will be comforted in Jerusalem."
14 Then you will [a]see this, and your [b]heart will be glad,
And your [c]bones will flourish like the new grass;
And the [d]hand of the LORD will be made known to His servants,
But He will be [e]indignant toward His enemies.
15 For behold, the LORD will come in [a]fire
And His [b]chariots like the whirlwind,

66:3 Cf. Isaiah's harsh words about ineffective sacrifices in 1:11–14. breaks a dog's neck. The dog was "unclean" and not used in offerings. Cf. the law about breaking a donkey's neck in Ex 13:13. swine's blood. See 65:4 and note. The dog and pig are mentioned together also in Matt 7:6; 2 Pet 2:22. blesses an idol. See 44:19 and note. abominations. Probably idols (see Jer 4:1).

66:4 choose their punishments. Cf. 65:7. Because . . . I did not delight. For these last four lines see 65:12 and note.

66:5 tremble. See v. 2. Your brothers. Fellow Israelites (see Acts 22:1). Let . . . joy. Apparently spoken sarcastically, much like 5:19; Ps 22:8.

66:6 city. Probably Jerusalem. rendering recompense to His enemies. See 59:18 and note; 65:6–7.

66:7 Before she travailed. See 54:1 (and note), where Zion was barren.

66:8 land . . . born in one day. See 49:19–20 and note.

66:9 point of birth. See 37:3 and note.

66:10 Be joyful . . . rejoice. See 65:18 and note. all . . . who love her. Cf. Ps 137:6. who mourn. See 57:19; 61:2 and notes.

66:11 nurse and be satisfied. In 60:16 (see note there) Jerusalem was drinking the milk of nations. Here she is the mother (cf. v. 12; 49:23).

66:12 peace . . . like a river. See 48:18 and note. glory of the nations. See 60:5 and note. overflowing stream. Contrast the destructive flood of 8:7–8 (see note there). on the hip. See 40:11.

66:13 comforted in Jerusalem. See 49:13 and note. Cf. 2 Cor 1:3–4.

66:14 heart will be glad. See 60:5. grass. Usually a symbol of weakness. See 37:27 and note; 51:12; but contrast 44:4. hand of the LORD. Cf. Ezra 7:9; 8:31. servants. See 54:17 and note. indignant. See v. 15; 13:3 and note.

66:15–16 fire. A figure of judgment (see 1:31 and note; 30:27).

66:15 chariots like the whirlwind. See 5:28; 2 Kin 2:11; 6:17; Ps

To render His anger with fury,
And His rebuke with flames of fire.
16 For the LORD will execute judgment by [a]fire
And by His [b]sword on all flesh,
And those slain by the LORD will be many.
17 "Those who sanctify and purify themselves to go to the [a]gardens,
[1]Following one in the center,
Who eat [b]swine's flesh, detestable things and mice,
Will [c]come to an end altogether," declares the LORD.
18 "For I [1]know their works and their [a]thoughts; [2]the time is coming to [b]gather all nations and tongues. And they shall come and see My glory.
19 "I will set a [a]sign among them and will send survivors from them to the nations: [b]Tarshish, [1]Put, [c]Lud, [2]Meshech, Rosh, [d]Tubal and [3]Javan, to the distant [e]coastlands that have neither heard My fame nor seen My glory. And they will [f]declare My glory among the nations.
20 "Then they shall [a]bring all your brethren from all the nations as a grain offering to the LORD, on horses, in chariots, in litters, on mules and on camels, to My [b]holy mountain Jerusalem," says the LORD, "just as the sons of Israel bring their grain offering in a [c]clean vessel to the house of the LORD.
21 "I will also take some of them for [a]priests and for Levites," says the LORD.
22 "For just as the [a]new heavens and the new earth
Which I make will endure before Me," declares the LORD,
"So your [b]offspring and your [c]name will endure.
23 "And it shall be from [a]new moon to new moon
And from sabbath to sabbath,
All [1]mankind will come to [b]bow down before Me," says the LORD.
24 "Then they will go forth and look
On the [a]corpses of the men
Who have [1b]transgressed against Me.
For their [c]worm will not die
[d]And their fire will not be quenched;
And they will be an [e]abhorrence to all [2]mankind."

66:24 Quoted in part in Mark 9:48. go forth and look. The Valley of Hinnom (Hebrew ge' hinnom, from which the word "Gehenna" comes) was located southwest of Jerusalem and became a picture of hell. See Neh 11:30; Jer 7:32. corpses. See 5:25; 34:3. transgressed. See 1:2 and note; 24:20. worm will not die. There will be everlasting torment. See 14:11; 48:22; 50:11; 57:21. fire . . . quenched. See 1:31 and note; Matt 3:12. abhorrence. The Hebrew for this word is translated "contempt" in Dan 12:2.

Jeremiah

INTRODUCTION

Author and Date

The book preserves an account of the prophetic ministry of Jeremiah, whose personal life and struggles are known to us in greater depth and detail than those of any other OT prophet. The meaning of his name is uncertain. Suggestions include "The LORD exalts" and "The LORD establishes," but a more likely proposal is "The LORD throws," either in the sense of "hurling" the prophet into a hostile world or of "throwing down" the nations in divine judgment for their sins. Jeremiah's prophetic ministry began in 626 B.C. and ended sometime after 586 (see notes on 1:2–3). His ministry was immediately preceded by that of Zephaniah. Habakkuk was a contemporary, and Obadiah may have been also. Since Ezekiel began his ministry in Babylon in 593 he too was a late contemporary of the great prophet in Jerusalem. How and when Jeremiah died is not known; Jewish tradition, however, asserts that while living in Egypt he was put to death by being stoned (cf. Heb 11:37).

Jeremiah was a priest, a member of the household of Hilkiah. His hometown was Anathoth (1:1), so he may have been a descendant of Abiathar (1 Kin 2:26), a priest during the days of King Solomon. The Lord commanded Jeremiah not to marry and raise children because the impending divine judgment on Judah would sweep away the next generation (16:1–4). Primarily a prophet of doom, he attracted only a few friends, among whom were Ahikam (26:24), Gedaliah (Ahikam's son, 39:14) and Ebed-melech (38:7–13; cf. 39:15–18). Jeremiah's closest companion was his faithful secretary, Baruch, who wrote down Jeremiah's words as the prophet dictated them (36:4–32). He was advised by Jeremiah not to succumb to the temptations of ambition but to be content with his lot (ch. 45). He also received from Jeremiah and deposited for safekeeping a deed of purchase (32:11–16), and accompanied the prophet on the long road to exile in Egypt (43:6–7). It is possible that Baruch was also responsible for the final compilation of the book of Jeremiah itself, since no event recorded in chs. 1—51 occurred after 580 B.C. (ch. 52 is an appendix added by a later hand).

Given to self-analysis and self-criticism (10:24), Jeremiah has revealed a great deal about his character and personality. Although timid by nature (1:6), he received the Lord's assurance that he would become strong and courageous (1:18; 6:27; 15:20). In his "confessions" (11:18–23; 12:1–4; 15:10–21; 17:12–18; 18:18–23; 20:7–18) he laid bare the deep struggles of his inmost being, sometimes making startlingly honest statements about his feelings toward God (12:1; 15:18). On occasion, he engaged in calling for redress against his personal enemies (12:1–3; 15:15; 17:18; 18:19–23)—a practice that explains the origin of the English word "jeremiad," referring to a denunciatory tirade or complaint. Jeremiah, so often characterized by anguish of spirit (4:19; 9:1; 10:19–20; 23:9), has justly been called the "weeping prophet." But it is also true that the memory of his divine call (1:17) and the Lord's frequent reaffirmations of his commissioning as a prophet (see, e.g., 3:12; 7:2,27–28; 11:2,6; 13:12–13; 17:19–20) made Jeremiah fearless in the service of his God (cf. 15:20).

Background

Jeremiah began prophesying in Judah halfway through the reign of Josiah (640–609 B.C.) and continued throughout the reigns of Jehoahaz (609), Jehoiakim (609–598), Jehoiachin (598–597) and Zedekiah (597–586). It was a period of storm and stress when the doom of entire nations—including Judah itself—was being sealed. The smaller states of western Asia were often pawns in the power plays of such imperial giants as Egypt, Assyria and Babylon, and the time of Jeremiah's ministry was no exception. Ashurbanipal, last of the great Assyrian rulers, died in 627. His successors were no match for Nabopolassar, the founder of the Neo-Babylonian empire, who began his rule in 626 (the year of Jeremiah's call to prophesy). Soon after Assyria's capital city Nineveh fell under the onslaught of a coalition of Babylonians and Medes in 612, Egypt (no friend of Babylon) marched northward in an attempt to rescue Assyria, which was near destruction. King Josiah of Judah made the mistake of trying to stop the Egyptian advance, and his untimely death near Megiddo in 609 at the hands of Pharaoh Neco II was the sad result (2 Chr 35:20–24). Jeremiah, who had found a kindred spirit in the godly Josiah and had perhaps proclaimed the messages recorded in 11:1–8; 17:19–27 during the king's reformation movement, lamented Josiah's death (2 Chr 35:25).

Josiah's son Jehoahaz (his throne name; note on 22:11), also known as Shallum, is mentioned only briefly in the book of Jeremiah (22:10b-12), and then in an unfavorable way. Neco put Jehoahaz in chains and made Eliakim, another of Josiah's sons, king in his place, renaming him Jehoiakim. Jehoahaz had ruled for a scant three months (2 Chr 36:2), and his reign marks the turning point in the court's attitude toward Jeremiah. Once the king's friend and confidant, the prophet now entered a dreary round of persecution and imprisonment, alternating with only brief periods of freedom (20:1–2; 26:8–9; 32:2–3; 33:1; 36:26; 37:12–21; 38:6–13,28).

Jehoiakim was relentlessly hostile toward Jeremiah. On one occasion, when an early draft of the prophet's writings was being read to Jehoiakim (36:21), the king used a scribe's knife to cut the scroll apart, three or four columns at a time, and threw it piece by piece into the firepot in his winter apartment (vv. 22–23). At the Lord's command, however, Jeremiah simply dictated his prophecies to Baruch a second time, adding "many similar words" to them (v. 32).

Just prior to this episode in Jeremiah's life, an event of extraordinary importance took place that changed the course of history: In 605 B.C., the Egyptians were crushed at Carchemish on the Euphrates by Nebuchadnezzar (46:2), the gifted general who succeeded his father Nabopolassar as ruler of Babylon that same year. Neco returned to Egypt with heavy losses, and Babylon was given a virtually free hand in western Asia for the next 70 years. Nebuchadnezzar besieged Jerusalem in 605, humiliating Jehoiakim (Dan 1:1–2) and carrying off Daniel and his three companions to Babylon (Dan 1:3–6). Later, in 598–597, Nebuchadnezzar attacked Jerusalem again, and the rebellious Jehoiakim was heard of no more. His son Jehoiachin ruled Judah for only three months (2 Chr 36:9). Jeremiah foretold the captivity of Jehoiachin and his followers (22:24–30), a prediction that was later fulfilled (24:1; 29:1–2).

Mattaniah, Jehoiachin's uncle and a son of Josiah, was renamed Zedekiah and placed on Judah's throne by Nebuchadnezzar in 597 B.C. (37:1; 2 Chr 36:9–14). Zedekiah, a weak and vacillating ruler, sometimes befriended Jeremiah and sought his advice but at other times allowed the prophet's enemies to mistreat and imprison him. Near the end of Zedekiah's reign, Jeremiah entered into an agreement with him to reveal God's will to him in exchange for his own personal safety (38:15–27). Even then the prophet was under virtual house arrest until Jerusalem was captured in 586 (38:28).

While trying to flee the city, Zedekiah was overtaken by the pursuing Babylonians. In his presence his sons were executed, after which he himself was blinded by Nebuchadnezzar (39:1–7). Nebuzaradan, commander of the imperial guard, advised Jeremiah to live with Gedaliah, whom Nebuchadnezzar had made governor over Judah (40:1–6). After a brief reign, Gedaliah was murdered by his opponents (ch. 41). Others in Judah feared Babylonian reprisal and fled to Egypt, taking Jeremiah and Baruch with them (43:4–7). By that time the prophet was probably over 70 years old. His last recorded words are found in 44:24–30, the last verse of which is the only explicit reference in the Bible to Pharaoh Hophra, who ruled Egypt from 589 to 570 B.C.

Themes and Message

Referred to frequently as "Jeremiah the prophet" in the book that bears his name (20:2; 25:2; 28:5,10–12,15; 29:1,29; 32:2; 34:6; 36:8,26; 37:2,3,6; 38:9–10,14; 42:2,4; 43:6; 45:1; 46:1,13; 47:1; 49:34; 50:1) and elsewhere (2 Chr 36:12; Dan 9:2; Matt 2:17; 27:9; see Matt 16:14), Jeremiah was ever conscious of his call from the Lord (1:5; 15:19) to be a prophet. As such, he proclaimed words that were spoken first by God Himself (19:2) and were therefore certain of fulfillment (28:9; 32:24). Jeremiah had only contempt for false prophets (14:13–18; 23:13–40; 27:14–18) like Hananiah (ch. 28) and Shemaiah (29:24–32). Many of his own predictions were fulfilled in the short term (e.g., 16:15; 20:4; 25:11–14; 27:19–22; 29:10; 34:4–5; 43:10–11; 44:30; 46:13), and others were—or will yet be—fulfilled in the long term (e.g., 23:5–6; 30:8–9; 31:31–34; 33:15–16).

As hinted earlier, an aura of conflict surrounded Jeremiah almost from the beginning. He lashed out against the sins of his countrymen (44:23), scoring them severely for their idolatry (16:10–13,20; 22:9; 32:29; 44:2–3,8,17–19,25)—which sometimes even involved sacrificing their children to foreign gods (7:30–34). But Jeremiah loved the people of Judah in spite of their sins, and he prayed for them (14:7,20) even when the Lord told him not to (7:16; 11:14; 14:11).

Judgment is one of the all-pervasive themes in Jeremiah's writings, though he was careful to point out that repentance, if sincere, would postpone the inevitable. His counsel of submission to Babylon and his message of "life as usual" for the exiles of the early deportations branded him as a traitor in the eyes of many. Actually, of course, his advice against rebellion marked him as a true patriot, a man who loved his countrymen too much to stand by silently and watch them destroy themselves. By warning them to submit and not rebel, Jeremiah was revealing God's will to them—always the most sensible prospect under any circumstances.

For Jeremiah, God was ultimate. The prophet's theology conceived of the Lord as the Creator of all that exists (10:12–16; 51:15–19), as all-powerful (32:27; 48:15; 51:57), as everywhere present (23:24). Jeremiah ascribed the most elevated attributes to the God whom he served (32:17–25), viewing Him as the Lord not only of Judah but also of the nations (5:15; 18:7–10; 25:17–28; chs. 46—51).

At the same time, God is very much concerned about individual people and their accountability to Him. Jeremiah's emphasis in this regard (see, e.g., 31:29–30) is similar to that of Ezekiel (see Ezek 18:2–4), and the two men have become known as the "prophets of individual responsibility." The undeniable relationship between sin and its consequences, so visible to Jeremiah as he watched his beloved Judah in her death throes, made him—in the pursuit of his divine vocation—a fiery preacher (5:14; 20:9; 23:29) of righteousness, and his oracles have lost none of their power with the passing of the centuries.

Called to the unhappy task of announcing the destruction of the kingdom of Judah (thoroughly corrupted by the long and evil reign of Manasseh and only superficially affected by Josiah's efforts at reform), it was Jeremiah's commission to lodge God's indictment against His people and proclaim the end of an era. At long last, the Lord was about to inflict on the remnant of His people the ultimate covenant curse (see Lev 26:31–33; Deut 28:49–68). He would undo all that He had done for them since the day He brought them out of Egypt. It would then seem that the end had come, that Israel's stubborn and uncircumcised (unconsecrated) heart had sealed her final destiny, that God's chosen people had been cast off, that all the ancient promises and covenants had come to nothing.

But God's judgment of His people (and the nations), though terrible, was not to be the last word, the final work of God in history. Mercy and covenant faithfulness would triumph over wrath. Beyond the judgment would come restoration and renewal. Israel would be restored, the nations that crushed her would be crushed, and the old covenants (with Israel, David and the Levites) would be honored. God would make a new covenant with His people in which He would write His law on their hearts (31:31–34) and thus consecrate them to His service. The house of David would rule them in righteousness, and faithful priests would serve. God's commitment to Israel's redemption was as unfailing as the secure order of creation (ch. 33).

Jeremiah's message illumined the distant as well as the near horizon. It was false prophets who proclaimed peace to a rebellious nation, as though the God of Israel's peace was indifferent to her unfaithfulness. But the very God who compelled Jeremiah to denounce sin and pronounce judgment was the God who authorized him to announce that the divine wrath had its bounds, its 70 years. Afterward forgiveness and cleansing would come—and a new day, in which all the old expectations, aroused by God's past acts and His promises and covenants, would yet be fulfilled in a manner transcending all God's mercies of old.

Literary Features

Jeremiah is the longest book in the Bible, containing more words than any other book. Although a number of chapters were written mainly in prose (chs. 7; 11; 16; 19; 21; 24—29; 32—45), including the appendix (ch. 52), most sections are predominantly poetic in form. Jeremiah's poetry is as lofty and lyrical as any found elsewhere in Scripture. A creator of beautiful phrases, he has given us an abundance of memorable passages (e.g., 2:13,26–28; 7:4,11,34; 8:20,22; 9:23–24; 10:6–7,10,12–13; 13:23; 15:20; 17:5–9; 20:13; 29:13; 30:7,22; 31:3,15,29–30,31–34; 33:3; 51:10).

Poetic repetition was used by Jeremiah with particular skill (see, e.g., 4:23–26; 51:20–23). He understood the effectiveness of repeating a striking phrase over and over. An example is "sword, famine and pestilence," found in 15 separate verses (14:12; 21:7,9; 24:10; 27:8,13; 29:17–18; 32:24,36; 34:17; 38:2; 42:17,22; 44:13). He made use of cryptograms (see NASB marg. notes on 25:26; 51:1,41) on appropriate occasions. Alliteration and assonance were also a part of his literary style, examples being zarim wezeruha ("foreigners . . . winnow her," 51:2) and paḥad wapaḥat wapaḥ ("Terror, pit and snare," 48:43; see note on Is 24:17).

Like Ezekiel, Jeremiah was often instructed to use symbolism to highlight his message: a ruined and useless belt (13:1–11), a smashed clay jar (19:1–12), a yoke of straps and crossbars (ch. 27), large stones in a brick pavement (43:8–13). Symbolic value is also seen in the Lord's commands to Jeremiah not to marry and raise children (16:1–4), not to enter a house where there is a funeral meal or where there is feasting (16:5–9), and to buy a field in his hometown, Anathoth (32:6–15). Similarly, the Lord used visual aids in conveying his message to Jeremiah: potter's clay (18:1–10), two baskets of figs (ch. 24).

Outline

Unlike Ezekiel, the oracles in Jeremiah are not arranged in chronological order. Had they been so arranged, the sequence of sections within the book would have been approximately as follows: 1:1—7:15; ch. 26; 7:16—20:18; ch. 25; chs. 46—51; 36:1–8; ch. 45; 36:9–32; ch. 35; chs. 21—24; chs. 27—31; 34:1–7; 37:1–10; 34:8–22; 37:11—38:13; 39:15–18; chs. 32–33; 38:14—39:14; 52:1–30; chs. 40—44; 52:31–34. The outline below represents an analysis of the book of Jeremiah in its present canonical order.

I. Call of the Prophet (ch. 1)
II. Warnings and Exhortations to Judah (chs. 2—35)
  A. Earliest Discourses (chs. 2—6)
  B. Temple Message (chs. 7—10)
  C. Covenant and Conspiracy (chs. 11—13)
  D. Messages concerning the Drought (chs. 14—15)
  E. Disaster and Comfort (16:1—17:18)
  F. Command to Keep the Sabbath Holy (17:19–27)
  G. Lessons from the Potter (chs. 18—20)
  H. Condemnation of Kings, Prophets and People (chs. 21—24)
  I. Foretelling the Babylonian Exile (chs. 25—29)
  J. Promises of Restoration (chs. 30—33)
  K. Historical Appendix (chs. 34—35)
III. Sufferings and Persecutions of the Prophet (chs. 36—38)
  A. Burning Jeremiah's Scroll (ch. 36)

Jeremiah's Call and Commission

1 The words of [a]Jeremiah the son of Hilkiah, of the priests who were in [b]Anathoth in the land of Benjamin,

2 to whom the word of the LORD came in the days of [a]Josiah the son of [b]Amon, king of Judah, in the [c]thirteenth year of his reign.

3 It came also in the days of [a]Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, until the end of the eleventh year of [b]Zedekiah the son of Josiah, king of Judah, until the exile of Jerusalem in the fifth month.

4 Now the word of the LORD came to me saying,

5 "Before I [a]formed you in the womb I knew you,
And [b]before you were born I consecrated you;
I have [c]appointed you a prophet to the nations."

6 Then [a]I said, "Alas, Lord [1]GOD!
Behold, I do not know how to speak,
Because [b]I am a youth."

7 But the LORD said to me,
"Do not say, 'I am a youth,'
[a]Because everywhere I send you, you shall go,
And [b]all that I command you, you shall speak.

8 "[a]Do not be afraid of them,
For [b]I am with you to deliver you," declares the LORD.

9 Then the LORD stretched out His hand and [a]touched my mouth, and the LORD said to me,
"Behold, I have [b]put My words in your mouth.

10 "See, [a]I have appointed you this day over the nations and over the kingdoms,
[b]To pluck up and to break down,
To destroy and to overthrow,
[c]To build and to plant."

1:1–3 The background and setting of Jeremiah's call are stated concisely but comprehensively.

1:1 The words of. See 36:10; see also Neh 1:1; Eccl 1:1; Amos 1:1; cf. Deut 1:1. Jeremiah. For the meaning of the name see Introduction: Author and Date. Nine other OT men had the same name (see 1 Chr 5:24; 12:4,10,13; Neh 10:2; 12:1,34), two of whom were the prophet's contemporaries (Jer 35:3; 52:1). Hilkiah. Means "The LORD is my portion." For Hilkiah's possible relationship to a priestly house dating back to King Solomon see Introduction: Author and Date. Two other men named Hilkiah (a common OT name) were also Jeremiah's contemporaries (see 29:3; Ezra 7:1 and note). priests. Like Ezekiel (Ezek 1:3) and Zechariah (see Introduction to Zechariah: Author), Jeremiah was both prophet and priest. Anathoth. See 11:21–23; 32:6–9. The Hebrew word is the plural form of the name of the Canaanite deity Anat(h), goddess of war. Anathoth had had priestly connections in Israel as early as the times of Joshua (Josh 21:18) and Solomon (1 Kin 2:26), and its pagan origins had presumably been almost forgotten by Jeremiah's time. Present-day Anata, three miles northeast of Jerusalem, preserves the ancient name, though the ancient site was about half a mile southwest of Anata. Benjamin. Anathoth was one of the four Levitical towns in the tribal territory of Benjamin (Josh 21:17–18), and after the exile Benjamites settled there again (Neh 11:31–32).

1:2 to whom. Beginning in v. 4, Jeremiah speaks in the first person (see, e.g., vv. 11,13; 2:1). the word of the LORD came. The most common way of introducing a divine oracle at the beginning of a prophetic book (see Ezek 1:3; Jon 1:1; Hag 1:1; Zech 1:1; cf. Hos 1:1; Joel 1:1; Mic 1:1; Zeph 1:1). Josiah. See 3:6; 36:2. He was the last good and godly king of Judah. Jeremiah sympathized with and supported his attempts at spiritual reformation and renewal (see 22:15b–16), which began in earnest in 621 (see 2 Kin 22:3–23:25; 2 Chr 34:8–35:19; cf. 2 Chr 34:3–7). thirteenth year. 626 B.C. (see 25:3).

1:3 Jehoiakim. His predecessor (Jehoahaz) and successor (Jehoiachin) are not mentioned, since they each reigned only three months. In contrast to his father Josiah, Jehoiakim was a wicked ruler (see 2 Kin 23:36–37; 2 Chr 36:5)—as Jeremiah discovered almost immediately (see Introduction: Background; see also 22:13–15a,17–19; 26:20–23). eleventh year . . . in the fifth month. Ab (July-August), 586 B.C. (see 52:12). Zedekiah. The last king of Judah (see Introduction: Background), as wicked in his own way as Jehoiakim (see 52:1–2; 2 Chr 36:11–14; see also Jer 24:8; 37:1–2). exile. The main captivity of Judah's people coincided with the destruction of Jerusalem and Solomon's temple by Nebuchadnezzar in 586 (see 2 Kin 25:8–11).

1:4–19 The account of Jeremiah's call includes two prophetic visions (vv. 10–16) and some closing words of exhortation and encouragement (vv. 17–19).

1:4 See note on v. 2.

1:5 See Judg 13:5; Gal 1:15. I formed you. See Is 49:5. God's creative act (see Gen 2:7; Ps 119:73) is the basis of His sovereign right (see 18:4–6; Is 43:21) to call Jeremiah into His service. I knew you. In the sense of making Jeremiah the object of His choice. The Hebrew verb used here can be translated "chose" (Gen 18:19); in Amos 3:2 it is rendered "chosen." I have appointed you. The Hebrew for this verb is not the same as that in v. 10, but both refer to the commissioning of the prophet. prophet. Lit. "one who has been called" to be God's spokesman (see Ex 7:1–2; 1 Sam 9:9 and notes). nations. Although Judah's neighbors are probably the primary focus (see 25:8–38; chs. 46–51), Judah herself is not excluded.

1:6 not know how to speak. Like Moses (Ex 4:10), Jeremiah claimed inability to be a prophet; God nevertheless made him His spokesman (15:19). a youth. See 1 Kin 3:7. Jeremiah's objection is denied immediately by the Lord (v. 7).

1:7 Youth and inexperience do not disqualify when God calls (see 1 Tim 4:12); He equips and sustains those He commissions.

1:8 Do not be afraid. See 10:5; 30:10; 40:9; 42:11; 46:27–28; 51:46; see also Is 35:4 and note; 41:10. I am with you. See v. 19; 15:20. God's promise of His continuing presence should calm the fears of the most reluctant of prophets (see Ex 3:12; see also note on Gen 26:3). deliver. See v. 19; 15:20; 39:17. The Lord does not promise that Jeremiah will not be persecuted or imprisoned, but that no serious physical harm will come to him.

1:9 touched my mouth. Either in prophetic vision (see note on v. 11) or figuratively—or both (cf. Is 6:7). I have put My words in your mouth. Continues the figure of speech begun earlier in the verse and provides a classic description of the relationship between the Lord and His prophet (see 5:14; Ex 4:15; Num 22:38; 23:5,12,16; Deut 18:18; Is 51:16; cf. 2 Pet 1:21).

1:10 appointed. See note on v. 5. pluck up . . . break down . . . destroy . . . overthrow . . . build . . . plant. See 12:14–15,17; 18:7–10; 24:6; 31:28; 42:10; 45:4. The first two pairs of verbs are

The Almond Rod and Boiling Pot

11 The word of the LORD came to me saying, "What do you see, [a]Jeremiah?" And I said, "I see a rod of an [1]almond tree."

12 Then the LORD said to me, "You have seen well, for [a]I am [1]watching over My word to perform it."

13 The word of the LORD came to me a second time saying, "[a]What do you see?" And I said, "I see a boiling [b]pot, facing away from the north."

14 Then the LORD said to me, "[a]Out of the north the evil [1]will break forth on all the inhabitants of the land.

15 "For, behold, I am calling [a]all the families of the kingdoms of the north," declares the LORD; "and they will come and they will [b]set each one his throne at the entrance of the gates of Jerusalem, and against all its walls round about and against all the [c]cities of Judah.

16 "I will [1]pronounce My judgments on them concerning all their wickedness, whereby they have [a]forsaken Me and have [2b]offered sacrifices to other gods, and worshiped the [c]works of their own hands.

17 "Now, [a]gird up your loins and arise, and speak to them all which I command you. [b]Do not be dismayed before them, or I will dismay you before them.

18 "Now behold, I have made you today as a fortified city and as a pillar of iron and as walls of bronze against the whole land, to the kings of Judah, to its princes, to its priests and to the people of the land.

19 "They will fight against you, but they will not overcome you, for [a]I am with you to deliver you," declares the LORD.

Judah's Apostasy

2 Now the word of the LORD came to me saying,

2 "Go and [a]proclaim in the ears of Jerusalem, saying, 'Thus says the LORD,

"I remember concerning you the [1b]devotion of your youth,
The love of your betrothals,
[c]Your following after Me in the wilderness,
Through a land not sown.

3 "Israel was [a]holy to the LORD,
The [b]first of His harvest.
[c]All who ate of it became guilty;
Evil came upon them," declares the LORD.' "

4 Hear the word of the LORD, O house of negative, stressing the fact that Jeremiah is to be primarily a prophet of doom, while the last pair is positive, indicating that he is also to be a prophet of restoration—even if only secondarily. The first verb ("pluck up") is the opposite of the last ("plant"), and fully half of the verbs ("break down," "destroy," "overthrow") are the opposite of "build."

1:11 What do you see . . . ? Often spoken by the Lord (or His representative) to introduce a prophetic vision (see v. 13; Amos 7:8; 8:2; Zech 4:2; 5:2).

1:12 watching. The Hebrew for "watching" sounds like the Hebrew for "almond tree." Just as the almond tree blooms first in the year (and therefore "wakes up" early—the Hebrew word for "watching" means to be wakeful), so the Lord is ever watchful to make sure that His word is fulfilled.

1:13 pot. The Hebrew for "pot" stresses its large size (see Job 41:31; Ezek 24:3–5).

1:14 Out of the north the evil. See note on Is 41:25. will break forth. The Hebrew for this word has a similar sound to that for "boiling" in v. 13. land. Judah (see v. 15).

1:15 kingdoms of the north. Since Assyria posed a minimal threat to Judah after the death of Ashurbanipal in 627 B.C., reference is most likely to Babylon and her allies. set each one his throne at . . . the gates of Jerusalem. For the fulfillment see 39:3. Since the gateway of a city was the place where its ruling council sat (see notes on Gen 19:1; Ruth 4:1), the Babylonians replaced Judah's royal authority with their own (cf. 43:10; 49:38).

1:16 My judgments on them. God, sovereign over His own, judges His own for their sins, using the Babylonians as His agents of judgment. offered sacrifices to other gods. A common feature of pagan worship (e.g., 7:9; 11:12–13,17; 18:15; 19:13; 32:29; 44:17). the works of their own hands. Idols (see 16:19–20; 25:6; 2 Kin 22:17; 2 Chr 33:22; Is 46:6).

1:17 gird up your loins. Lit. "Tighten your belt around your waist!" For related expressions see Ex 12:11; 1 Kin 18:46; 2 Kin 4:29; 9:1; Job 38:3; 40:7.

1:18 fortified city. A symbol of security and impregnability (see 5:17; Prov 18:11,19). pillar of iron. Unique in the OT, the expression signifies dignity and strength. walls of bronze. See 15:20. Jeremiah would be able to withstand the abuse and persecution that his divine commission would evoke, even though his enemies themselves would be "bronze and iron" (6:28). kings . . . princes . . . priests . . . people. The whole nation would defy the prophet and his God (see, e.g., 2:26; 23:8; 32:32).

1:19 See note on v. 8; see also 15:20.

2:1–6:30 It is generally agreed that these chapters are among Jeremiah's earliest discourses, delivered during the reign of Josiah (3:6). The basic theme is the virtually total apostasy of Judah (chs. 2–5), leading inevitably to divine retribution through foreign invasion (ch. 6).

2:1–3:5 The wickedness and backsliding of God's people are vividly portrayed in numerous colorful figures of speech.

2:1 See note on 1:2.

2:2 devotion. The Hebrew for this word refers to the most intimate degree of loyalty, love and faithfulness that can exist between two people or between an individual and the Lord. youth . . . your betrothals. Early in her history, Israel had enjoyed a close and cordial relationship with the Lord, who is often described figuratively as Israel's husband (3:14; 31:32; Is 54:5; Hos 2:16). love. But later God's people forsook Him and loved "strangers" (foreign gods, v. 25), tragically abandoning their first love (cf. Rev 2:4). following after Me. But later they followed "emptiness" (v. 5), "things that did not profit" (v. 8), "the Baals" (v. 23). wilderness. Sinai (see v. 6).

2:3 holy to the LORD. Set apart to Him and His service (see notes on Ex 3:5; Lev 11:44; Deut 7:6). The first. Just as the "choice first fruits" of Israel's crops were to be brought to the Lord (Ex 23:19; see Num 18:12; 2 Chr 31:5; Ezek 44:30), so also the people themselves were His first and choicest treasure (cf. James 1:18; Rev 14:4). Evil came upon them. See, e.g., Ex 17:8–16.

2:4 Hear. A common divine imperative in prophetic writings, summoning God's people—as well as the nations—into His courts to remind them of their legal obligations to Him and,

Jacob, and all the families of the house of Israel.

5 Thus says the LORD,
"[a]What injustice did your fathers find in Me,
That they went far from Me
And walked after [b]emptiness and became empty?
6 "They did not say, 'Where is the LORD
Who [a]brought us up out of the land of Egypt,
Who [b]led us through the wilderness,
Through a land of deserts and of pits,
Through a land of drought and of [1]deep darkness,
Through a land that no one crossed
And where no man dwelt?'
7 "I brought you into the [a]fruitful land
To eat its fruit and its good things.
But you came and [b]defiled My land,
And My inheritance you made an abomination.
8 "The [a]priests did not say, 'Where is the LORD?'
And those who handle the law [b]did not know Me;
The [1]rulers also transgressed against Me,
And the [c]prophets prophesied by Baal
And walked after [d]things that did not profit.

They have [1]roared loudly.
And they have [b]made his land a waste;

when necessary, to pass judgment on them (see, e.g., 7:2; 17:20; 19:3; 21:11; 22:2,29; 31:10; 42:15; 44:24,26; Is 1:10; Ezek 13:2; Hos 4:1; Amos 7:16).

2:5 Thus says the LORD. The so-called messenger formula, introducing God's word through the prophet. Though frequent in overall occurrence, its use is restricted to Jeremiah, Isaiah (e.g., 7:7), Ezekiel (e.g., 2:4), Amos (e.g., 1:3), Obadiah (1), Micah (3:5), Nahum (1:12), Haggai (e.g., 1:2), Zechariah (e.g., 1:3) and Malachi (1:4). went far. See 4:1; 23:13,32; 31:19; 50:6; Is 53:6; Ezek 34:4–6,16; 1 Pet 2:25. walked after emptiness. See vv. 8,23; see also note on v. 2. Jeremiah describes the objects of Israel's idolatry in a variety of ways (8:19; 10:8,15; 14:22; 16:19; 51:18). became empty. See 2 Kin 17:15. Idolaters are no better than the idols they worship (see Ps 115:8).

2:6 LORD . . . brought us up out of . . . Egypt. The Lord, Israel's Redeemer (see notes on Gen 2:4; Ex 3:15), freed His people from Egyptian bondage so that they might serve Him alone (Ex 20:2–6). led us. As a shepherd leads his sheep (see v. 17; Deut 8:15; Ps 23:2–3). land of deserts . . . land of . . . darkness. The desert often symbolized darkness with its attendant dangers, including death (v. 31; 9:10; 12:12; 17:6; 23:10; Ps 44:19).

2:7 fruitful. The Hebrew for this word is karmel, translated "fruitful field" in 48:33 and also used as the name of a place (see Is 33:9 and note). Rendered "fruitful land" in 4:26, it is the opposite of a desert. defiled My land. Made it ceremonially unclean (see 3:1–2,9; 16:18; see also note on Lev 4:12). inheritance. The promised land, given by God to Israel as a legacy and often intimately associated with the people themselves (see especially 12:7–9,14–15). abomination. See note on Lev 7:21.

2:8 No one consulted the Lord (see v. 6). priests . . . rulers . . . prophets. See note on 1:18. those who handle the law. Priests (see Deut 31:11 and note). rulers. Lit. "shepherds," a term used elsewhere to denote rulers (23:1–4; 49:19; 50:44; see especially Ezek 34:1–10,23–24). by Baal. In the name of Baal (cf. 11:21; 14:15; 23:25; 26:9). that did not profit. Lit. "unprofitable" (see v. 11; the Hebrew for this word is not the same as that in v. 5, though the meaning is similar).

2:9 contend with. See note on v. 4; see also 25:31; Hos 4:1; 12:2; Mic 6:2.

2:10 Kittim. Represents the western nations and regions. Kedar. Represents the eastern nations and regions (see 49:28; Is 21:16 and note).

2:11 Has . . . gods? A rhetorical question, clearly expecting a negative answer and emphasizing how incredible is Judah's practice of substituting idolatry for the worship of the Lord. their Glory. God (see Ps 106:20; Hos 4:7; see also 1 Sam 15:29). that which does not profit. See note on v. 8.

2:12 Be appalled, O heavens. See note on Is 1:2; see also Mic 6:1–2 and note. The Hebrew for these phrases offers a striking play on words: shommu shamayim.

2:13 See 1:16. Me, The fountain of living waters. See 17:13. God Himself provides life-giving power to His people (see Ps 36:9; see also note on John 4:10; Is 55:1 and note; Rev 21:6). Broken cisterns. Watertight plaster was used to keep cisterns from losing water. Idols, like broken cisterns, will always fail their worshipers; by contrast, God provides life abundant and unfailing.

2:14 Is . . . servant? Another rhetorical question (see note on v. 11), again expecting a negative answer in the light of God's redemptive acts during the period of the exodus (see Ex 6:6; 20:2). prey. To Assyria and Egypt (see vv. 15–16).

2:15 lions. Possibly literal (see 2 Kin 17:25–26), though probably here symbolizing Assyria (see v. 18; 50:17; see also notes on 4:7; Is 15:9). roared . . . roared. See Amos 3:4. made his land a waste. See 4:7; 18:16; 50:3. cities have been destroyed. The Hebrew for this phrase is very similar to that in 4:7, rendered there "cities will be ruins Without inhabitant" (cf. 22:6).

His cities have been destroyed,
without inhabitant.
16 "Also the [1]men of [a]Memphis and

2:16 Memphis. See 44:1; 46:14,19; see also note on Is 19:13. Tahpanhes. Probably the city later called Daphnai by the Greeks, located just south of Lake Menzaleh in the eastern delta region of Egypt and known today as Tell Defneh (see 43:7–9; 44:1; 46:14; Ezek 30:18). shaved the crown of your head. Figurative for bringing disgrace and devastation (see 47:5; 48:37; see also notes on Is 3:17; 7:20).
2:17 He led you. See note on v. 6. the way. See Ex 18:8; 23:20; Deut 1:33.
2:18 See v. 36. The tendency of Israel or Judah to seek help alternately from Egypt and Assyria was not restricted to Jeremiah's time (see, e.g., Hos 7:11; 12:2). drink the waters. Provided by enemies, whether national or spiritual, rather than by God (see v. 13; Is 8:6–8 and notes).
2:19 apostasies. See 3:22; 5:6; 14:7. The word implies repeated apostasy.
2:20–3:6 The rebellion of Judah against God is vividly portrayed by Jeremiah with the use of numerous figures of speech.
2:20 Like a stubborn draft animal (see Hos 4:16), Judah refuses to obey the Lord's commands. broke your yoke And tore off your bonds. See 5:5; see also 31:18; cf. Ps 2:3. Judah has broken God's law and violated His covenant. on every high hill And under every green tree. Locales of pagan worship (see 1 Kin 14:23; 2 Kin 17:10; Ezek 6:13). as a harlot. Ritual prostitution was a particularly detestable practice (see, e.g., Hos 4:10–14).
2:21 See Is 5:1–7; see also Ps 80:8–16; Ezek 17:1–10; Hos 10:1–2; cf. John 15:1–8. choice vine. See Is 5:2. The Hebrew for this word refers to a grape of exceptional quality. foreign vine. A vine symbolizing Israel should not be like a vine symbolizing Israel's enemies (see Deut 32:32).
2:22 lye . . . soap. Mineral alkali and vegetable alkali respectively. Sins can be removed and forgiven (see Ps 51:2,7; Is 1:18), but only when the sinner repents and confesses (see Prov 28:13; cf. 1John 1:7,9).
2:23 defiled. Ceremonially unclean (see 19:13; see also note on Lev 4:12). gone after. See note on v. 2; see also v. 25. Baals. See 9:14; see also note on Judg 2:11. the valley. Probably the Hinnom Valley (see note on Josh 15:5), known also as the Valley of Ben-hinnom (7:31–32; 19:2,6; 32:35). entangling her ways. Instead, the people of Judah should have been obeying the Lord, not turning aside either "to the right or to the left" (Deut 28:14).
2:24 wild donkey. An unruly (see Gen 16:12) and intractable (see Job 39:5–8) animal. accustomed to the wilderness. See 14:6; Job 24:5. sniffs the wind. The picture is one of active searching, not passive waiting (see Hos 2:7,13).
2:25 feet . . . unshod. You wear out your sandals. It is hopeless! See 18:12; see also note on Is 57:10. I have loved strangers. As opposed to the love Judah was expected to express toward God under the terms of their covenant relationship (see, e.g., Deut 6:6; 7:7–13; Hos 2:14–3:1). after them. See v. 23; see also note on v. 2.
2:26 shamed when he is discovered. See, e.g., Ex 22:3–4. The Hebrew word underlying "shame" is often used as a pejorative synonym for the name of Baal, the chief god of Canaan (see 11:13 and note; Hos 9:10; see also note on Judg 6:32). kings . . . princes . . . priests . . . prophets. See note on 1:18.
2:27 See Is 44:13–17; contrast Deut 32:6,18; Is 64:8; Mal 2:10. Arise . . . save. See v. 28.

But in the [b]time of their [1]trouble they will say,
'Arise and save us.'
28 "But where are your [a]gods
Which you made for yourself?
Let them arise, if they can [b]save you
In the time of your [1]trouble;
For [c]according to the number of your cities
Are your gods, O Judah.

29 "Why do you contend with Me?
You have [a]all transgressed against Me," declares the LORD.
30 "[a]In vain I have struck your sons;
They accepted no chastening.
Your [b]sword has devoured your prophets
Like a destroying lion.
31 "O generation, heed the word of the LORD.
Have I been a wilderness to Israel,
Or a [a]land of thick darkness?
Why do My people say, '[b]We are free to roam;
We will no longer come to You'?
32 "Can a virgin forget her ornaments,
Or a bride her attire?
Yet My people have [a]forgotten Me
Days without number.
33 "How well you prepare your way
To seek love!
Therefore even [1]the wicked women
You have taught your ways.
34 "Also on your skirts is found
The [a]lifeblood of the innocent poor;
You did not find them [b]breaking in.
But in spite of all these things,

Surely His anger is turned away from me.'

The Polluted Land

3 God [1]says, "[a]If a husband divorces his wife
And she goes from him
And belongs to another man,
Will he still return to her?
Will not that land be completely [2]polluted?
But you [b]are a harlot with many [3]lovers;
Yet you [c]turn to Me," declares the LORD.
2 "Lift up your eyes to the [a]bare heights and see;
Where have you not been violated?
By the roads you have [b]sat for them
Like an Arab in the desert,
And you have [c]polluted a land
With your harlotry and with your wickedness.
3 "Therefore the [a]showers have been withheld,
And there has been no spring rain.
Yet you had a [b]harlot's forehead;
You refused to be ashamed.
4 "Have you not just now called to Me,
'[a]My Father, You are the [1b]friend of my [c]youth?

2:28 according to . . . your cities Are your gods. See 11:13; cf. 1 Cor 8:5. Every ancient Near Eastern town of any importance had its own patron deity (cf. Acts 19:28,34–35), and many towns were named after deities (see, e.g., note on 1:1).
2:29 content with. Cf. v. 9; see 12:1; Job 33:13.
2:30 I have struck your sons. Cf. Heb 12:6. accepted no chastening. See 5:3. sword has devoured your prophets. See, e.g., 26:20–23; 2 Kin 21:16; 24:4; see also Neh 9:26.
2:31 generation. Often has negative connotations (see, e.g., Deut 32:5). Have I been a wilderness . . . a land of thick darkness? On the contrary, the Lord led His people through the wilderness and its darkness (v. 6). The phrase "thick darkness" translates the Hebrew for "darkness of the LORD" (i.e., darkness sent by the Lord; cf. 1 Sam 26:12 and "The very flame of the LORD" in Song 8:6).
2:32 See Is 49:15,18 and notes. bride. Cf. v. 2. My people have forgotten Me. See 18:15; see also 3:21; 13:25; Is 17:10; Ezek 22:12; 23:35; Hos 8:14. Israel was always to "remember" the Lord and all that He had done for her (Deut 7:18; 8:18) and so trust and worship Him alone, but she often "forgot" Him—put Him out of mind (see Judg 2:10; Hos 2:13).
2:33 love. Here, worship of pagan gods (see note on v. 20).
2:34 See Amos 2:6–8; 4:1; 5:11–12. find them breaking in. See Ex 22:2 and note.
2:36 put to shame by Egypt . . . by Assyria. See vv. 15–18 and notes. The days of Ahaz (see 2 Chr 28:21), and perhaps the days of Zedekiah (see 37:7), are in view here.
2:37 With your hands on your head. Ancient reliefs depict captives with wrists tied together above their heads. those . . . you trust. Egypt and Assyria.
3:1 If . . . polluted? Cf. Deut 24:1–4. Divorce and remarriage on a widespread scale defiles not only the participants but also the land in which they live (cf. v. 2; Lev 18:25–28). are a harlot. See note on 2:20. many. See note on 2:28. turn to Me. Repent of your sins against me (see vv. 12–14,22; 4:1).
3:2 bare heights. Places where pagan gods were consulted and worshiped (see v. 21; 12:12; Num 23:3). violated. Cf. Deut 28:30. By the roads you have sat. See Gen 38:14 and note; Prov 7:10,12. The connection of this imagery with ritual prostitution is made explicit in Ezek 16:25. Like an Arab in the desert. Waiting in ambush to waylay a traveler (see Luke 10:30). polluted a land. See v. 9.
3:3 showers have been withheld. See 14:1–6; Amos 4:7–8. This is the reverse of God's gracious response to His people in Hos 2:21; 6:3. spring rain. See note on Deut 11:14. harlot's forehead. A shameless, brazen countenance (see Prov 7:13).
3:4 My Father. See v. 19; contrast 2:27 and see note there. Com-

Behold, you have spoken
And have done evil things,
And you have [2]had your way."

Faithless Israel

6 Then the LORD said to me in the days of Josiah the king, "Have you seen what faithless Israel did? She [a]went up on every high hill and under every green tree, and she was a harlot there.

7 "[a]I [1]thought, 'After she has done all these things she will return to Me'; but she did not return, and her [b]treacherous sister Judah saw it.

8 "And I saw that for all the adulteries of faithless Israel, I had sent her away and [a]given her a writ of divorce, yet her [b]treacherous sister Judah did not fear; but she went and was a harlot also.

9 "Because of the lightness of her harlotry, she [a]polluted the land and committed adultery with [b]stones and trees.

10 "Yet in spite of all this her treacherous sister Judah did not return to Me with all her heart, but rather in [a]deception," declares the LORD.

God Invites Repentance

11 And the LORD said to me, "[a]Faithless Israel has proved herself more righteous than treacherous Judah.

12 "Go and proclaim these words toward the north and say,

'[a]Return, faithless Israel,' declares the LORD;
'[b]I will not [1]look upon you in anger.
For I am [c]gracious,' declares the LORD;
'I will not be angry forever.
13 'Only [1][a]acknowledge your iniquity,
That you have transgressed against the LORD your God
And have [b]scattered your [2]favors to the strangers [c]under every green tree,
And you have not obeyed My voice,' declares the LORD.
14 'Return, O faithless sons,' declares the LORD;
'For I am a [a]master to you,
And I will take you one from a city and two from a family,
And [b]I will bring you to Zion.'
15 "Then I will give you [a]shepherds after My own heart, who will [b]feed you on knowledge and understanding.

16 "It shall be in those days when you are multiplied and increased in the land," declares the LORD, "they will [a]no longer say, 'The ark of the covenant of the LORD.' And it will not come to mind, nor will they remember it, nor will they miss it, nor will it be made again.

17 "At that time they will call Jerusalem 'The [a]Throne of the LORD,' and [b]all the nations will be gathered to it, to Jerusalem, for the [c]name of the LORD; nor will they [d]walk anymore after the stubbornness of their evil heart.

pared to the NT, the title "Father" for God is relatively rare in the OT. However, it often occurs in personal names—compound names that begin with Abi- (e.g., Abinadab and Abiram) refer to God as "(my) Father." friend. Claiming intimate association (see Ps 55:13; Prov 16:28; 17:9; Mic 7:5); perhaps even claiming to be the Lord's faithful wife (cf. Prov 2:17). of my youth. See note on 2:2.

3:5 Will He be indignant to the end? Not if God's people repent (vv. 12–13).

3:6–6:30 The unfaithfulness of Judah (3:6–5:31) will ultimately bring the Babylonians as God's instrument of judgment (ch. 6).

3:6 Josiah the king. See Introduction: Background; see also note on 1:2. faithless Israel. The northern kingdom, destroyed in 722–721 B.C. (see vv. 8,11–12). on every high hill and under every green tree . . . she was a harlot. See note on 2:20.

3:7 her treacherous sister Judah. The southern kingdom (see vv. 8,10–11). Samaria (Israel's capital) and Jerusalem (Judah's capital) are similarly compared as adulterous sisters in Ezek 23. it. Israel's adultery.

3:8 sent her away. Into exile in 721 B.C. writ of divorce. See v. 1 and note; see also Deut 24:1–14; Is 50:1 and notes. Judah did not fear. She refused to learn from Israel's tragic experience.

3:9 committed adultery with stones and trees. Worshiped pagan deities (see 2:27).

3:10 in deception. Judah's response to Josiah's reform measures (see note on 1:2) was superficial and hypocritical.

3:11 Israel . . . more righteous than . . . Judah. See note on v. 8; see also Ezek 16:51–52; 23:11.

3:12 Go and proclaim. See 2:2. north. Assyria's northern provinces, to which many Israelites had been exiled. Return. Repent (see v. 13). gracious. The Hebrew for this word is used of God elsewhere only in Ps 145:17, where it is translated "kind." not be angry forever. See note on v. 5.

3:13 scattered your favors. See Ezek 16:15,33–34. strangers. See note on 2:25. under every green tree. See note on 2:20.

3:14 master. See 31:32; Hos 2:16–17. The Hebrew root underlying this word is ba'al. Instead of allowing God to be their husband, His people followed "the Baals" (2:23; see note on Judg 2:11). one . . . two. A remnant will return (see note on Is 10:20–22). Zion. Jerusalem.

3:15 See 23:4. shepherds. Rulers (see note on 2:8). after My own heart. Like David (see 1 Sam 13:14; see also Ezek 34:23; Hos 3:5).

3:16 in those days. The Messianic age (see v. 18; 31:29). you are multiplied. See 23:3; Ezek 36:11. For the fuller meaning of the Hebrew underlying this phrase see note on Gen 1:28. nor will it be made again. The ark of the covenant, formerly symbolizing God's royal presence (see 1 Sam 4:3 and NASB marg.), will be irrelevant when the Messiah comes.

3:17 Throne. The Lord had been sits enthroned "above the cherubim" above the ark (see 1 Sam 4:4 and note), but Jerusalem itself would someday be His throne. all the nations will be gathered. See Zech 2:11; see also note on Is 2:2–4. they. Israel. walk anymore after the stubbornness of their evil heart. A stock phrase referring to Israel's disobedience and often involving the worship of pagan gods (see 9:14; 11:8; 13:10; 16:12; 18:12; 23:17).

3:18 Judah will walk with . . . Israel. In the Messianic age God's divided people will again be united (see, e.g., Is 11:12; Ezek

The weeping and the supplications of

They have [b]forgotten the LORD their

Then the [c]nations will bless themselves in Him,
And [d]in Him they will glory."

3 For thus says the LORD to the men of Judah and to Jerusalem,
"[1a]Break up your fallow ground,
And [b]do not sow among thorns.
4 "[a]Circumcise yourselves to the LORD
And remove the foreskins of your heart,
Men of Judah and inhabitants of
Jerusalem,
Or else My [b]wrath will go forth like fire
And burn with [c]none to quench it,
Because of the evil of your deeds."

5 Declare in Judah and proclaim in Jerusalem, and say,
"[a]Blow the trumpet in the land;
Cry aloud and say,
'[b]Assemble yourselves, and let us go
Into the fortified cities.'

37:15–23; Hos 1:11). land of the north. Where they had been exiles (see note on v. 12; see also 31:8). land that I gave . . . as an inheritance. See note on 2:7.

3:19 sons. Israel was the Lord's firstborn (see Ex 4:22; cf. Hos 11:1). pleasant land. See Ps 106:24; Zech 7:14. beautiful inheritance. Judah, Jerusalem, the people themselves—ideally, all were beautiful in God's eyes (see 6:2; 11:16). Father. See note on v. 4.

3:20 A concise summary of the story told in Hos 1–3.

3:21 bare heights. See note on v. 2. weeping and . . . supplications. A description of repentance, verbalized in vv. 22b–25. forgotten. See note on 2:32.

3:22 See v. 14. Return . . . faithless . . . faithlessness. Each of these three words is derived from the same Hebrew root, producing a striking series of puns. I will heal your faithlessness. See 30:17; 33:6; Hos 6:1; 14:1,4. Behold. The people's repentance begins.

3:23 tumult. See, e.g., 1 Kin 18:25–29. in the LORD . . . Is . . . salvation. See Gen 49:18; Ps 3:8; Jon 2:9 and note.

3:24 shameful thing. See notes on 2:26; 11:13. consumed the labor. False worship is costly, both financially and spiritually. our youth. The period of the judges. sons and . . . daughters. Often sacrificed to pagan gods (see note on 7:31).

3:25 shame. The Hebrew for this word is translated "shameful thing" in v. 24.

4:1 waver. The Hebrew for this word implies wandering, as in Gen 4:12,14 (see Gen 4:16 and note).

4:2 truth . . . justice . . . righteousness. The piling up of qualifying words underscores the need for repentance that is sincere and not perfunctory. As the LORD lives. See note on Gen 42:15. nations will bless themselves in Him. Reflects the language of the seventh of God's great promises to Abram (see Gen 12:2–3 and note). Israel's repentance is a necessary precondition for the ultimate blessing of the nations.

4:3 Break up your fallow ground. Probably quoted from Hos 10:12. do not sow among thorns. See Matt 13:7,22. Openness to the Lord's overtures is necessary, as is total commitment to Him (see Ezek 18:31).

4:4 remove the foreskins of your heart. Consecrate your hearts (see 6:10, where "closed" means "uncircumcised"; 9:26; see also Gen 17:10 and note; Deut 10:16; 30:6). wrath will . . . burn with none to quench. See 21:12; see also Is 1:31; Amos 5:6. Because of the evil of your deeds. Probably quoted from Deut 28:20.

4:5–31 The invaders from the north will bring God's judgment against His unrepentant people (see ch. 6).

4:5 Blow the trumpet. To warn of impending doom (see 6:1; see also note on Joel 2:1). go into the fortified cities. See v. 6. To avoid capture by hostile troops, people living in the countryside would take refuge in the nearest walled town (see 5:17; 8:14; 34:7; 48:18).

6 "Lift up a [a]standard toward Zion!
Seek refuge, do not stand still,
For I am bringing [b]evil from the north,
And great destruction.
7 "A [a]lion has gone up from his thicket,
And a [b]destroyer of nations has set out;
He has gone out from his place
To [c]make your land a waste.
Your cities will be ruins
Without inhabitant.
8 "For this, [a]put on sackcloth,
Lament and wail;
For the [b]fierce anger of the LORD
Has not turned back from us."
9 "It shall come about in that day," declares the LORD, "that the [a]heart of the king and the heart of the princes will fail; and the priests will be appalled and the [b]prophets will be astounded."
10 Then I said, "Ah, Lord [1]GOD! Surely You have utterly [a]deceived this people and Jerusalem, saying, '[b]You will have peace'; whereas a sword touches the [2]throat."
11 In that time it will be said to this people and to Jerusalem, "A [a]scorching wind from the bare heights in the wilderness in the direction of the daughter of My people—not to winnow and not to cleanse,
12 a wind too strong for [1]this—will come [2]at My command; now I will also pronounce judgments against them.
13 "Behold, he [a]goes up like clouds,
And his [b]chariots like the whirlwind;
His horses are [c]swifter than eagles.
Woe to us, for [d]we are ruined!"

14 Wash your heart from evil,
O Jerusalem,
That you may be saved.
How long will your [a]wicked thoughts
Lodge within you?
15 For a voice declares from [a]Dan,
And proclaims wickedness from Mount Ephraim.
16 "Report it to the nations, now!
Proclaim over Jerusalem,
'Besiegers come from a [a]far country,
And [b]lift their voices against the cities
of Judah.
17 'Like watchmen of a field they are
[a]against her round about,
Because she has [b]rebelled against Me,'
declares the LORD.
18 "Your [a]ways and your deeds
Have [1]brought these things to you.
This is your evil. How [b]bitter!
How it has touched your heart!"

Lament over Judah's Devastation

19 [a]My [1]soul, my [1]soul! I am in anguish!
[2]Oh, my heart!
My [b]heart is pounding in me;
I cannot be silent,

The [c]sound of the trumpet,
The alarm of war.
20 [a]Disaster on disaster is proclaimed,
For the [b]whole land is devastated;
Suddenly my [c]tents are devastated,
My curtains in an instant.
21 How long must I see the standard
And hear the sound of the trumpet?

4:6 See 6:1. Lift up a standard. See note on Is 5:26. evil from the north. The Babylonians (see 1:14; see also note on Is 41:25). great destruction. See 6:1; cf. 48:3; 50:22; 51:54.
4:7 lion. A symbol of Babylon (see note on 2:15). destroyer. Usually refers to Babylon (6:26; 15:8; 48:8,32), but in 51:1,56 it refers to Persia and her allies (see 51:48,53). cities . . . Without inhabitant. See note on 2:15; see also v. 25; 46:19.
4:8 sackcloth. See note on Gen 37:34. anger . . . Has not turned back. Contrast 2:35.
4:9 in that day. See note on Is 2:11,17,20. king . . . princes . . . priests . . . prophets. See note on 1:18.
4:10 You have utterly deceived. Not directly, but through false prophets (see, e.g., 1 Kin 22:20–23 and note on 1 Kin 22:23). You will have peace. Here the words of false prophets, not of God (see 14:13; 23:17; see also 6:13–14; 8:10–11). throat. The Hebrew for this word is usually translated "soul" or "life," but originally it had the meaning "throat, neck" (see, e.g., Ps 69:1).
4:11 scorching wind. The sirocco or khamsin, a hot, dry wind that brings sand and dust (see Ps 11:6; Is 11:15; Jon 4:8). winnow. See note on Ruth 1:22.
4:12 too strong for this. Neither winnowing (separating grain from chaff) nor cleansing (blowing dust from the grain), God's judgments will sweep away good and bad alike.
4:13 goes up like clouds. Cf. Ezek 38:16. chariots like the whirlwind. See 2 Kin 2:11; 6:17; Ps 68:17; Is 66:15. horses are swifter than eagles. See Hab 1:8, where the Babylonians (Hab 1:6) use horses that are "swifter than leopards" and employ cavalry that "fly like an eagle" (the Hebrew word for "vulture" is translated "eagle" in 4:13; see Deut 28:49). ruined. See v. 20; 9:19; 48:1.
4:14 Wash. See 2:22 and note. wicked thoughts. Against other people (see Prov 6:18; Is 59:7).
4:15 Dan. Far away, close to the northern border of Israel (see 8:16). Ephraim. A few miles north of Jerusalem. The enemy, in the mind's eye of the prophet, is making fearfully rapid progress toward the holy city.
4:16 Besiegers. See Is 1:8. far country. Babylon. lift their voices. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "roared" in 2:15.
4:17 against her round about. See 1:15.
4:19–26 A brief personal interlude, broken only by the divine complaint in v. 22. Jeremiah voices his agony at the approaching destruction of his beloved land and its people.
4:19 See 10:19–20. anguish. Often associated with labor pangs, as here (see 6:24; 49:24; 50:43). heart is pounding. See Job 37:1; Ps 38:10; Hab 3:16. sound of the trumpet. See note on v. 5.
4:20 is devastated. See v. 13; 9:19; 48:1. curtains. Tent curtains (see Is 54:2) were usually made of goat hair (see Ex 26:7) and therefore strong enough to protect from cold and rain (see 10:20).
4:21 standard . . . sound of the trumpet. See notes on vv. 5–6.
4:22 The Lord speaks. foolish. The Hebrew word refers to one who is morally deficient. know Me not. See 2:8. Leaders and people alike had committed the ultimate sin (see Is 1:3; Hos

They are stupid children
And have no understanding.
They are shrewd to [b]do evil,
But to do good they do not know."

23 I looked on the earth, and behold, it was [1a] formless and void;
And to the heavens, and they had no

24 I looked on the mountains, and behold, they were [a]quaking,
And all the hills [1]moved to and fro.
25 I looked, and behold, there was no man,
And all the [a]birds of the heavens had fled.
26 I looked, and behold, [1]the [a]fruitful land was a wilderness,
And all its cities were pulled down
Before the LORD, before His fierce anger.

27 For thus says the LORD,
"The [a]whole land shall be a desolation,
Yet I will [b]not execute a complete destruction.
28 "For this the [a]earth shall mourn
And the [b]heavens above be dark,
Because I have [c]spoken, I have purposed,
And I will not [1]change My mind, nor will I turn from it."
29 At the sound of the horseman and bowman [a]every city flees;
They [b]go into the thickets and climb
among the rocks;
[c]Every city is forsaken,
And no man dwells in them.
30 And you, O desolate one, [a]what will you do?
Although you dress in scarlet,
Although you decorate yourself with ornaments of gold,
Although you [b]enlarge your eyes with paint,
In vain you make yourself beautiful.
Your [1c]lovers despise you;
They seek your life.
31 For I heard a [1]cry as of a woman in labor,
The anguish as of one giving birth to her first child,
The [1]cry of the daughter of Zion
[a]gasping for breath,
[b]Stretching out her [2]hands, saying,
"Ah, woe is me, for [3]I faint before murderers."

Jerusalem's Godlessness

5 "[a]Roam to and fro through the streets of Jerusalem,
And look now and take note.
And seek in her open squares,

4:1). stupid. See 5:21; 10:8,14,21; 51:17. shrewd to do evil. See Mic 7:3.

4:23–26 The striking repetition of "I looked" at the beginning of each verse ties this poem together and underscores its visionary character, as the prophet sees his beloved land in ruins after the Babylonian onslaught. Creation, as it were, has been reversed.

4:23 formless and void. The phrase occurs elsewhere only in Gen 1:2 (see note there). In Jeremiah's vision, the primeval chaos has returned. had no light. Contrast Gen 1:3.

4:24 See Nah 1:5.

4:25 there was no man. The Hebrew underlying this phrase occurs elsewhere only in Gen 2:5. Again, uncreation has replaced creation.

4:26 fruitful land. See note on 2:7. fierce anger. See v. 8; Is 13:13; Nah 1:6.

4:27 not execute a complete destruction. See 5:10,18; 30:11; 46:28. God's mercy tempers the total judgment envisioned by Jeremiah in vv. 23–26.

4:28 will not change My mind. Unless His people repent (see 18:7–8).

4:29 bowman. Babylon's evil deeds against Judah will someday recoil on her (see 50:29). They go. See Judg 6:2; 1 Sam 13:6; Is 2:19,21. Even people living in fortified towns feel unsafe. forsaken. Contrast Is 62:4.

4:30 paint. Antimony, a black powder used to enlarge the eyes and make them more attractive (see 2 Kin 9:30; Ezek 23:40). lovers. The Hebrew root underlying this word is found elsewhere only in Ezek 23:5,7,9,12,16,20, where it is used of Samaria and Jerusalem, the adulterous sisters (see notes on 2:20; 3:7) who "lusted" after foreign nations and their gods. seek your life. They are intent only on murdering you (see v. 31).

4:31 daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants (see 6:2,23). Stretching out her hands. In prayer for help (see Job 11:13).

5:1–31 Jeremiah resumes his vivid description of the wickedness of the people of Judah and Jerusalem.

5:1 See Zeph 1:12. The Lord challenges anyone to find just one righteous person in Israel—a rhetorical way of charging that corruption pervaded the city (see Ps 14:1–3; Is 64:6–7; Hos 4:1–2; Mic 7:2). If you can find . . . I will pardon. See Gen 18:26–32.

5:2 As the LORD lives. See 4:2; see also Gen 42:15 and note. they swear falsely. In violation of Lev 19:12 (see note on Ex 20:7). The Hebrew could be translated "swear by false gods."

5:3 refused . . . correction. See 2:30. made their faces harder than rock. A striking portrayal of rebellion (see Ezek 3:7–9).

5:4 poor. Concerned about basic physical needs (cf. 39:10; 40:7), they are uninformed of God's word and way. foolish. See

Judgment Proclaimed

14 Therefore, thus says the LORD, the God
of hosts,
"Because you have spoken this word,
Behold, I am [a]making My words in your mouth fire
And this people wood, and it will consume them.
15 "Behold, I am [a]bringing a nation

4:22 and note; see also Num 12:11. do not know . . . ordinance of their God. They are more ignorant than the birds of the heavens (see 8:7).
5:5 the great. Although possessing every advantage, they were no more righteous than the poorest of the common people. broken . . . bonds. See note on 2:20.
5:6 lion . . . wolf . . . leopard. See Lev 26:22; Ezek 14:15; cf. 2 Kin 17:25–26. apostasies. See 2:19; 3:22; 14:7. The word implies repeated apostasy.
5:7 Why should I pardon you? See v. 1. those who are not gods. Idols (see 2:11). When I had fed . . . They. See Deut 32:15–16; Hos 2:8. committed adultery. See note on 2:20.
5:8 Religious prostitution (v. 7; see Amos 2:7) leads quite naturally to literal adultery, the breaking of God's law (see Ex 20:14,17). lusty horses. See 13:27; 50:11; Ezek 23:20.
5:10 Go. Addressed to Israel's enemies (see v. 15). vine rows. Vines and vineyards are often symbolic of Israel (see notes on 2:21; Is 5:1). not . . . a complete destruction. See v. 18; see also note on 4:27. Strip away her branches. See Is 18:5; John 15:2,6. are not the LORD's. See Hos 1:9.
5:11 See note on 3:7.
5:12 Not He. The Lord will do nothing, either good or bad (see Zeph 1:12). sword or famine. Jeremiah introduces us to the first two elements of his characteristic triad: "sword, famine and pestilence" (see note on 14:12).
5:13 prophets are as wind. Like images of false gods (see Is 41:29). Thus it will be done to them! See note on 4:29; see also Ps 7:16; 54:5.
5:14 My words in your mouth fire. In contrast to the total lack of God's word in the mouths of false prophets (v. 13). consume. See note on Is 1:31.
5:15 nation . . . from afar. See note on 4:16. enduring . . . ancient nation. Babylon's history reached back 2,000 years and more. whose language you do not know. See Deut 28:49 and note.
5:16 open grave. Symbolizing insatiability, destruction and death (see Ps 5:9; Prov 30:15–16).
5:17 devour your sons and your daughters. Either as sacrifices to pagan gods (see note on 3:24), or as casualties of war (see 10:25). fortified cities in which you trust. See note on 4:5; see also Deut 28:52.
5:18 See v. 10; see also note on 4:27.

19 "It shall come about [a]when [1]they say,
'Why has the LORD our God done all these things to us?' then you shall say to them, 'As you have forsaken Me and served foreign gods in your land, so you will [b]serve strangers in a land that is not yours.'
20 "Declare this in the house of Jacob
And proclaim it in Judah, saying, 21 'Now hear this, O foolish and
[1]senseless people,
Who have [a]eyes but do not see;
Who have ears but do not hear.
22 'Do you not [a]fear Me?' declares the LORD.
'Do you not tremble in My presence?
For I have [b]placed the sand as a boundary for the sea,
An eternal decree, so it cannot cross
over it.
Though the waves toss, yet they cannot prevail;
Though they roar, yet they cannot cross over it.
23 'But this people has a [a]stubborn and rebellious heart;
They have turned aside and departed.
24 'They do not say in their heart,
"Let us now fear the LORD our God,
Who [a]gives rain in its season,
Both [b]the autumn rain and the spring rain,
Who keeps for us
The [c]appointed weeks of the harvest."
25 'Your [a]iniquities have turned these away,
And your sins have withheld good from you.
26 'For wicked men are found among My
people,
They [a]watch like fowlers [1]lying in wait;
They set a trap,
They catch men.
27 'Like a cage full of birds,
So their houses are full of [a]deceit;
Therefore they have become great and rich.
28 'They are [a]fat, they are sleek,
They also [1]excel in deeds of wickedness;
They do not plead the cause,
The cause of the [2b]orphan, that they may prosper;
And they do not [3]defend the rights of the poor.
29 '[a]Shall I not punish [1]these people?'
declares the LORD,
'On a nation such as this
Shall I not avenge Myself?'

30 "An appalling and [a]horrible thing
Has happened in the land:
31 The [a]prophets prophesy falsely,
And the priests rule [1]on their own authority;
And My people [b]love it so!
But what will you do at the end of it?

Destruction of Jerusalem Impending

6 "Flee for safety, O sons of [a]Benjamin,
From the midst of Jerusalem!
Now blow a trumpet in Tekoa
And raise a signal over [1b]Beth-haccerem;
For evil looks down from the [c]north,
And a great destruction.
2 "The comely and [a]dainty one, [b]the daughter of Zion, I will cut off.

5:21 hear this. See note on 2:4. foolish and senseless. See 4:22 and note. Who have eyes . . . do not hear. See note on Is 6:10; see also Deut 29:4; Ps 115:4–8; 135:15–18.
5:22 fear Me. See note on Gen 20:11. boundary for the sea. See Job 38:8–11; Ps 104:6–9.
5:23 Though the sea never crosses its divinely appointed boundaries, God's people have violated the limits He has set for them.
5:24 God, Who gives. See v. 7 and note. autumn . . . spring rain. See 3:3; see also note on Deut 11:14. appointed weeks of the harvest. Perhaps the seven weeks between Passover and the Feast of Weeks (see Lev 23:15–16).
5:26 trap. Lit. "destroyer" (see, e.g., Ex 12:23) or "destruction" (see, e.g., Ezek 21:31). men. Innocent (see Is 29:21), godly, upright people (see Mic 7:2).
5:27 cage. A trap woven of wicker; the Hebrew for this word is translated "basket" in Amos 8:1–2. deceit. Riches gained through extortion and deception (see Hab 2:6).
5:28 fat . . . sleek. Symbolic of prosperity (see Deut 32:15). excel in deeds of wickedness. See Ps 73:7. They do not plead the cause. What the wicked will not do, God must do (see Deut 10:18)—and so must those who truly know and serve Him (see 22:16; James 1:27).
5:29 Repeated from v. 9.
5:31 See 1:18 and note. prophesy falsely. See 20:6 (often, and arrogantly, in God's name; see 23:25; 27:15; 29:9). people love it so. See note on Amos 4:5.
6:1–30 The prophet envisions the future Babylonian attack on Jerusalem.
6:1 The Lord speaks in vv. 1–3. Verse 1 is strongly reminiscent of 4:6 (see note there). But whereas in 4:6 the command was to seek protection in Jerusalem, in 6:1 the people are to flee from Jerusalem, because no place—not even the holy city itself—will be safe from the invader. Benjamin. The tribal territory bordering Judah north of Jerusalem. Jeremiah himself was from Benjamite territory (see 1:1). blow . . . Tekoa. In the Hebrew there is a play on these words. Tekoa was the hometown of Amos (see Introduction to Amos: Author). raise . . . signal. In the Hebrew there is a play on words, made possible by using a different Hebrew word (found also in Lachish Letter 4:10) for "signal" (caused by the smoke of a fire; see Judg 20:38,40) than the one used in 4:6. Beth-haccerem. Mentioned elsewhere only in Neh 3:14 (see note there). evil . . . from the north. See 1:14 and note.
6:2 dainty. The Hebrew word is used to describe the city of Babylon in Is 47:1 ("delicate"). daughter of Zion. See v. 23; see also note on 4:31.
6:3 See 1:15. Shepherds and their flocks. Rulers (see note on

They will [b]pitch their tents [1]around her,
They will pasture each in his [2]place.
4 "[1][a]Prepare war against her;
Arise, and let us [2]attack at [b]noon.
Woe to us, for the day declines,
For the shadows of the evening lengthen!
5 "Arise, and let us [1]attack by night
And [a]destroy her [2]palaces!"
6 For thus says the LORD of hosts,
"[a]Cut down her trees
And cast up a [b]siege against Jerusalem.
This is the city to be punished,
In whose midst there is only
[c]oppression.
7 "[a]As a well [1]keeps its waters fresh,
So she [1]keeps fresh her wickedness.
[b]Violence and destruction are heard in
her;
[c]Sickness and wounds are ever before
Me.
8 "[a]Be warned, O Jerusalem,
Or [1][b]I shall be alienated from you,
And make you a desolation,
A land not inhabited."

9 Thus says the LORD of hosts,
"They will [a]thoroughly glean as the vine the [b]remnant of Israel;
Pass your hand again like a grape gatherer
Over the branches."
10 To whom shall I speak and give warning
That they may hear?
Behold, their [a]ears are [1]closed
And they cannot listen.
Behold, [b]the word of the LORD has become a reproach to them;
They have no delight in it.
11 But I am [a]full of the wrath of the LORD;
I am [b]weary with holding it in.
"[c]Pour it out on the children in the street
And on the [1]gathering of young men
together;
For both husband and wife shall be taken,
The aged [2]and the very old.
12 "Their [a]houses shall be turned over to others,
Their fields and their wives together;
For I will [b]stretch out My hand Against the inhabitants of the land,"
declares the LORD.
13 "For [a]from the least of them even to the greatest of them,
Everyone is [b]greedy for gain,
And from the prophet even to the priest
Everyone [1]deals falsely.
14 "They have [a]healed the brokenness of
My people superficially,
Saying, 'Peace, peace,'
But there is no peace.
15 "Were they [a]ashamed because of the abomination they have done?
They were not even ashamed at all;
They did not even know how to blush.
Therefore they shall fall among those who fall;
At the time that I punish them,
They shall be cast down," says the
LORD.

16 Thus says the LORD,
"Stand by the ways and see and ask for the [a]ancient paths,
Where the good way is, and walk in it;

2:8) with their troops. pitch. The Hebrew for this verb continues the pun on "Tekoa" in v. 1 (see note on v. 8). pasture. Graze or depasture, and thus destroy. each in his place. The Hebrew for this phrase is used similarly ("every man in his place") in Num 2:17.

6:4 The invaders speak in vv. 4–5. Prepare. Lit. "Consecrate" (also in Joel 3:9; Mic 3:5). Since ancient battles had religious connotations, soldiers had to prepare themselves ritually as well as militarily (see Deut 20:2–4; 1 Sam 25:28). at noon. To take advantage of the element of surprise, since the usual time of attack was early in the morning.

6:5 by night. Since attacking soldiers normally retired for the night and resumed siege the following morning, the phrase underscores their eagerness and determination.

6:6 The Lord addresses the Babylonian troops. siege. That is, siege ramps, to help them bring up battering rams and scale Jerusalem's walls (see 33:4). oppression. Against its own people (see note on Is 30:12).

6:7 Sickness and wounds. Jerusalem suffers from spiritual decay and disease (see v. 14), and is not aware of it.

6:8 Be warned. The better part of wisdom (see v. 10; Ps 2:10). be alienated. In sorrow, but also in disgust. The Hebrew for this phrase continues the pun on "Tekoa" in v. 1 (see note on v. 3). desolation, A land not inhabited. See 22:6.

6:9 thoroughly. Stopping just short of complete destruction (see 4:27; 5:10,18; 30:11; 46:28). glean. See notes on Ruth 2:2; Is 17:5. vine. Symbolic of Israel (see 2:21 and note; 5:10). remnant. See 11:23; 23:3; 31:7; 40:11,15; 42:2,15,19; 43:5; 44:7,12,14, 28; 50:20; see also note on Is 10:20–22.

6:10 Jeremiah speaks. give warning. See note on v. 8. closed. Uncircumcised (see also 4:4 and note). The imagery of uncircumcised ears is found elsewhere only in Acts 7:51.

6:11 The prophet speaks, then the Lord resumes His speech (through v. 23). full of the wrath. See 25:15. children . . . young men . . . husband and wife . . . old. All will be judged, from youngest to oldest (see v. 13). in the street. Where children play (see 9:21; Zech 8:5).

6:12–15 Repeated almost verbatim in 8:10–12.

6:12 houses . . . fields . . . wives. See Ex 20:17; Deut 5:21. turned over to others. As Deut 28:30 warned—one of the covenant curses. stretch out My hand Against. To destroy (see 15:6).

6:13 See 1:18 and note.

6:14 brokenness. See note on v. 7. Peace . . . no peace. A common message of false and greedy prophets (see Ezek 13:10; Mic 3:5). The wicked, in any case, cannot expect to enjoy peace (Is 48:22; 57:21).

6:16 ancient paths. The tried and true ways of Judah's godly ancestors (see 18:15; Deut 32:7). walk in it. See Is 30:21. you will find rest for your souls. Quoted by Jesus in Matt 11:29 (see Is 28:12; cf. Ps 119:165).

And [b]you will find rest for your souls.
But they said, 'We will not walk in it.'
17 "And I set [a]watchmen over you,
saying,
'Listen to the sound of the trumpet!'
But they said, 'We will not listen.'
18 "Therefore hear, O nations,
And know, O congregation, what is among them.
19 "[a]Hear, O earth: behold, I am bringing disaster on this people,
The [b]fruit of their [1]plans,
Because they have not listened to My words,
And as for My law, they have [c]rejected it also.
20 "[a]For what purpose does [b]frankincense come to Me from Sheba
And the [1c]sweet cane from a distant land?
[d]Your burnt offerings are not acceptable
And your sacrifices are not pleasing to Me."
21 Therefore, thus says the LORD,
"Behold, [a]I am [1]laying stumbling blocks before this people.
And they will stumble against them,
[b]Fathers and sons together;
Neighbor and [2]friend will perish."

The Enemy from the North

22 Thus says the LORD,
"Behold, [a]a people is coming from the north land,
And a great nation will be aroused from the [b]remote parts of the earth.
23 "They seize [a]bow and spear;
They are [b]cruel and have no mercy;
Their voice [c]roars like the sea,
And they ride on horses,
Arrayed as a man for the battle Against you, O daughter of Zion!"
24 We have [a]heard the report of it;
Our hands are limp.
[b]Anguish has seized us,
Pain as of a woman in childbirth.
25 [a]Do not go out into the field
And [b]do not walk on the road,
For the enemy has a sword,
[c]Terror is on every side.
26 O daughter of my people, [a]put on sackcloth
And [b]roll in ashes;
[1c]Mourn as for an only son,
A lamentation most bitter.
For suddenly the destroyer
Will come upon us.

27 "I have [a]made you an assayer and a tester among My people,
That you may know and assay their way."
28 All of them are stubbornly rebellious,
[a]Going about as a talebearer.
They are [b]bronze and iron;
They, all of them, are corrupt.
29 The bellows blow fiercely,
The lead is consumed by the fire;
In vain the refining goes on,
But the [a]wicked are not [1]separated.
30 [a]They call them rejected silver,
Because the [b]LORD has rejected them.

6:17 watchmen. True prophets (see Ezek 3:17; 33:7; Hab 2:1). sound of the trumpet. To warn of approaching danger (see v. 1; see also note on Joel 2:1).
6:18 hear, O nations. See Mic 1:2.
6:19 My law, they have rejected. Disobeyed the law of Moses (see 8:8–9).
6:20 Sheba. Located in southwestern Arabia, it was the center of the spice trade (see Is 60:6 and note). sweet cane. See Ex 20:23; Song 4:14 "calamus"; Is 43:24. Cane, which probably came from India, was an ingredient in the sacred anointing oil (Ex 30:25). burnt offerings are not acceptable. The attitude of one's heart and the manner of one's life are far more important than the ritual of sacrifice (see note on Is 1:11–15).
6:21 stumbling blocks. The Babylonian invaders (see v. 22).
6:22–24 Repeated almost verbatim in 50:41–43.
6:22 the north land. Babylonia (see 4:6; Is 41:25 and notes). from the remote parts of the earth. See 25:32; 31:8.
6:23 spear. The Hebrew for this word is translated "javelin" in 1 Sam 17:6. Another possibility is "sword," as attested in The War of the Sons of Light against the Sons of Darkness, one of the Dead Sea Scrolls (see essay, p. 1356). roars like the sea. See Is 5:30; see also Is 17:12 and note. horses. See note on 4:13; see also 8:16. daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants (see v. 2; 4:31).
6:24–26 The prophet speaks to, and on behalf of, the people of Judah.
6:24 hands are limp. Courage will fail (see Is 13:7). Anguish. See note on 4:19.
6:25 Terror is on every side. A favorite expression of Jeremiah (20:10; 46:5; 49:29). The Hebrew for this phrase is used once as a proper name, "Magor-missabib" (20:3; see note there).
6:26 put on sackcloth. See 4:8; see also note on Gen 37:34. roll in ashes; Mourn. See Ezek 27:30–31; cf. Mic 1:10. only son. A father's most precious possession (see Gen 22:12,16; Amos 8:10; Zech 12:10; Rom 8:32). destroyer. Babylon (see note on 4:7).
6:27–30 The Lord speaks to Jeremiah and appoints him to test the people of Judah as a refiner tests metals (see 9:7; Is 1:25; Mal 3:2–3).
6:27 assayer and . . . tester. See Job 23:10.
6:28 Going . . . as a talebearer. Contrary to Lev 19:16. bronze and iron. Base metals when compared to gold and silver. are corrupt. See Deut 31:29; Is 1:4.
6:29 In ancient times, lead was added to silver ore in the refining process. When the crucible was heated, the lead oxidized and acted as a flux to remove the alloys. Here the process fails because the ore is not pure enough (cf. Ezek 24:11–13).
6:30 call them rejected. The "stubbornly rebellious" (v. 28), the "wicked" (v. 29), have failed to pass the Lord's test. Nothing worthwhile can be made of them.
7:1–10:25 A series of temple messages delivered by Jeremiah, perhaps over a period of several years. Since 26:2–6,12–15 is very similar in content to ch. 7, it is possible that chs. 7–10 and proclaim there this word and say, 'Hear the word of the LORD, all you of Judah, who enter by these gates to worship the LORD!' "

3 Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "[a]Amend your ways and your deeds, and I will let you dwell in this place.

4 "[a]Do not trust in deceptive words, saying, '[1]This is the temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD.'

5 "For [a]if you truly amend your ways and your deeds, if you truly [b]practice justice between a man and his neighbor,

6 if you do not oppress the alien, the [1][a]orphan, or the widow, and do not shed [b]innocent blood in this place, nor [c]walk after other gods to your own ruin,

7 then I will let you [a]dwell in this place, in the [b]land that I gave to your fathers forever and ever.

8 "Behold, you are trusting in [a]deceptive words to no avail.

9 "Will you steal, murder, and commit adultery and swear falsely, and [1][a]offer sacrifices to Baal and walk after [b]other gods that you have not known,

10 then [a]come and stand before Me in [b]this house, which is called by My name, and say, 'We are delivered!'—that you may do all these abominations?

11 "Has [a]this house, which is called by My name, become a [b]den of robbers in your sight? Behold, [c]I, even I, have seen it," declares the LORD.

12 "But go now to My place which was in [a]Shiloh, where I [b]made My name dwell at the first, and [c]see what I did to it because of the wickedness of My people Israel.

13 "And now, because you have done all these things," declares the LORD, "and I spoke to you, [a]rising up early and [b]speaking, but you did not hear, and I [c]called you but you did not answer,

14 therefore, I will do to the [a]house which is called by My name, [b]in which you trust, and to the place which I gave you and your fathers, as I [c]did to Shiloh.

15 "I will [a]cast you out of My sight, as I have cast out all your brothers, all the [1]offspring of [b]Ephraim.

(or at least ch. 7) date to the reign of Jehoiakim (see 26:1). On the other hand, Jeremiah may have repeated various themes on several occasions during his lengthy ministry. In any event, nothing in chs. 7–10 is inappropriate to the time of King Josiah.

7:1–8:3 The straightforward narrative of this section asserts that Solomon's temple in Jerusalem will not escape the fate of the earlier sanctuary at Shiloh if the people of Judah persist in worshiping false gods.

7:1 The word that came. See 1:2 and note; 1:4,11,13; 2:1.

7:2 gate. In the wall between the inner and outer courts of the temple, perhaps the so-called New Gate (26:10; 36:10). Hear. See note on 2:4. all you . . . who enter . . . to worship. Perhaps during one of the three annual pilgrimage festivals (see Deut 16:16 and note). gates. Leading into the outer court.

7:3 this place. The land God had given them (see v. 7; 14:13,15; 24:5–6).

7:4 deceptive words. Spoken by false prophets. The idea that God would not destroy Jerusalem simply because His dwelling, the temple, was located there was a delusion, fostered in part by the miraculous deliverance of the city during the reign of Hezekiah (see 2 Kin 19:32–36; cf. 2 Sam 7:11b–13; Ps 132:13–14). In the light of Judah's sinful rebellion against the Lord such an idea was of "no avail" (v. 8; see Mic 3:11). This is. Lit. "They are," referring to the buildings that constituted the entire temple complex. temple . . . temple . . . temple. Vain and repetitious babbling (cf. Matt 6:7). Often such a threefold repeating of a word or phrase is for emphasis (see 22:29; see also note on Is 6:3).

7:6 Rulers and people alike needed to hear and act on these prophetic words (see 22:2–3). alien . . . orphan . . . widow. See Deut 16:11,14; 24:19–21; 26:12–13; 27:19. innocent blood. See 19:4; 22:17; 26:15; see also the frightening example of King Manasseh (2 Kin 21:16).

7:7 land . . . forever and ever. See Gen 17:8 and note.

7:8 deceptive words. See note on v. 4.

7:9 This one verse mentions the violation of fully half of the Ten Commandments (cf. Hos 4:2). offer sacrifices to Baal. See note on 1:16. walk after other gods that you have not known. See 19:4. Tragically, such sins would be the cause of their exile to lands they had not known (see 9:14,16; 16:11,13).

7:10 house, which is called by My name. See vv. 11,14,30; 25:29; 32:34; 34:15; 1 Kin 8:43; 2 Chr 6:33; 20:9; Dan 9:18. The "name" of God is equivalent to His gracious presence in such passages (see vv. 12,15). We are delivered! See 12:12. abominations. See 2:7; see also note on Lev 7:21.

7:11 Together with the last half of Is 56:7, part of this verse is quoted by Jesus in Matt 21:13; Mark 11:17; Luke 19:46. den of robbers. As thieves hide in caves and think they are safe, so the people of Judah falsely trust in the temple to protect them in spite of their sins.

7:12 See note on 7:1–8:3. place . . . in Shiloh . . . see what I did to it. See v. 14; 26:6,9; Ps 78:60–61. The tabernacle had been set up in Shiloh after the conquest of Canaan (Josh 18:1) and was still there at the end of the period of the judges (see 1 Sam 1:9 and note). Modern Seilun, near a main highway about 18 miles north of Jerusalem, preserves the name of the ancient site. Archaeological excavations there indicate that it was destroyed by the Philistines c. 1050 B.C. The tabernacle itself was not included in that destruction, since it was still in existence at Gibeon during David's reign (see 1 Chr 21:29). One or more auxiliary buildings had apparently been erected at Shiloh near the tabernacle in connection with various aspects of public worship there (cf. the reference to the "doors of the house of the LORD" in 1 Sam 3:15). Such structures would have been destroyed with the city itself, perhaps sometime after the events of 1 Sam 4.

7:13 rising . . . speaking. The Hebrew idiom underlying this phrase, suggesting repetition or intensity of action, is found frequently in Jeremiah (v. 25; 11:7; 25:3–4; 26:5; 29:19; 32:33; 35:14–15; 44:4), but appears nowhere else in the OT.

7:15 cast you out of My sight. Into exile (see Deut 29:28). as I have . . . all your brothers. God sent Israel, the northern kingdom, into captivity in 721 B.C. (see 2 Kin 17:20). Ephraim. Another name for Israel (see, e.g., 31:9)—and, ironically, the tribal territory in which Shiloh was located.

16 "As for you, [a]do not pray for this people, and do not lift up cry or prayer for them, and do not intercede with Me; for I do not hear
you.
17 "Do you not see what they are doing in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem?
18 "The [1]children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead dough to make cakes for the queen of heaven; and they [a]pour out drink offerings to other gods in order to [b]spite Me.
19 "[a]Do they spite Me?" declares the LORD.
"Is it not themselves they spite, to [1]their own [b]shame?"
20 Therefore thus says the Lord [1]GOD,
"Behold, My [a]anger and My wrath will be poured out on this place, on man and on beast and on the [b]trees of the field and on the fruit of the ground; and it will burn and not be quenched."
21 Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "Add your [a]burnt offerings to your sacrifices and [b]eat flesh.
22 "For I did not [a]speak to your fathers, or command them in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices.
23 "But this is [1]what I commanded them, saying, '[a]Obey My voice, and [b]I will be your God, and you will be My people; and you will walk in all the way which I command you, that it may [c]be well with you.'
24 "Yet they [a]did not obey or incline their ear, but walked in their own counsels and in the stubbornness of their evil heart, and [1b]went backward and not forward.

7:16 Perhaps the events of ch. 26 belong chronologically between vv. 15 and 16 (see Introduction: Outline). do not pray for this people. As a true prophet would (see 27:18; Ex 32:31–32; 1 Sam 12:23). See 11:14; 14:11. There is virtually no hope for them. On various occasions, however, Jeremiah prayed for his countrymen (see, e.g., 18:20).

7:18 children . . . fathers . . . women. Entire families participate in idolatrous worship. cakes. See 44:19. queen of heaven. A Babylonian title for Ishtar, an important goddess in the Babylonian pantheon (see 44:17–19,25). drink offerings to other gods. And sometimes to the queen of heaven herself (see 44:19,25). to spite Me. See Deut 31:29.

7:19 their own shame. See 3:25.

7:20 All nature suffers when God judges sinners (see 5:17; Rom 8:20–22). burn and not be quenched. See 4:4; 21:12; see also Is 1:31; Amos 5:6.

7:21 Because of your sinful deeds your sacrifices are worthless, so you might as well eat them yourselves.

7:22–23 Sacrifices are valid only when accompanied by sincere repentance and joyful obedience (see 6:20; Is 1:11–15 and note).

7:23 your God . . . My people. The most basic summary of the relationship between God and Israel implied in the covenant at Sinai (see Ex 6:7; Lev 26:12 and notes; Deut 26:17–18).

7:24 walked in . . . evil heart. See note on 3:17; see also Gen 6:5 and note.

7:25 sent . . . sending. See note on v. 13. My servants the prophets. See 25:4; 26:5; 29:19; 35:15; 44:4; see also Zech 1:6 and note. God had promised that Moses would be the first in a long line of prophets who would speak in the Lord's name and serve Him faithfully (see Deut 18:15–22 and notes).

7:26 stiffened their neck. See 17:23; 19:15; see also notes on Ex 32:9; Neh 3:5.

7:28 not . . . accept correction. See 2:30; 5:3. truth . . . has been cut off from their mouth. No one seeks the truth (see 5:1 and note).

7:29 Addressed to Jerusalem. Cut off your hair. A sign of mourning (see Job 1:20; Mic 1:16). The Hebrew for the word "hair" is related to the word "Nazirite" (see Num 6:2) and referred originally to the diadem worn by the high priest (see Ex 29:6). The Nazirite's hair was the symbol of his separation or consecration (Num 6:7). As the Nazirite was commanded to cut off his hair when he became ceremonially unclean (Num 6:9), so also Jerusalem must cut off her hair because of her sins. lamentation on the bare heights. See 3:21; see also note on 3:2.

7:30 set their detestable things in the house. Manasseh had put a carved Asherah pole (a wooden symbol of the goddess Asherah; see 2 Kin 13:6 and note) in the temple (2 Kin 21:7). Jeremiah's contemporary, the good King Josiah, removed the pole and other accessories to idol worship (2 Kin 23:4–7). But less than 20 years after Josiah's death, Ezekiel reported that there were numerous idols in the temple courts (see Ezek 8:3,5–6,10,12). defile it. See note on 2:7.

7:31 high places. Pagan cult centers, usually (but not here) located on natural heights (see 1 Sam 9:13–14; 10:5; 1 Kin 11:7). Topheth. See v. 32; 19:6,11–14; see also note on Is 30:33. The declares the LORD, "when it will no longer be called Topheth, or the valley of the son of Hinnom, but the valley of the Slaughter; for they will [b]bury in Topheth [1]because there is no other place.

33 "The [a]dead bodies of this people will be food for the birds of the sky and for the beasts of the earth; and no one will frighten them away.

34 "Then I will make to [a]cease from the cities of Judah and from the streets of Jerusalem the voice of joy and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride; for the [b]land will become a ruin.

The Sin and Treachery of Judah

8 "At that time," declares the LORD, "they will [a]bring out the bones of the kings of Judah and the bones of its princes, and the bones of the priests and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem from their graves.

2 "They will spread them out to the sun, the moon and to all the [a]host of heaven, which they have loved and which they have served, and which they have gone after and which they have sought, and which they have worshiped. They will not be gathered [b]or buried; [c]they will be as dung on the face of the ground.

3 "And [a]death will be chosen rather than life by all the remnant that remains of this evil family, that remains in all the [b]places to which I have driven them," declares the LORD of hosts.

4 "You shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD,

"Do men [a]fall and not get up again?
Does one turn away and not [1]repent?
5 "Why then has this people, Jerusalem,
[a]Turned away in continual apostasy?
They [b]hold fast to deceit,
They [c]refuse to return.

word may be of Aramaic origin with the meaning "fireplace," though in cultures outside Israel it was used as a common noun meaning "place of child sacrifice." Its vocalization was perhaps intentionally conformed to that of Hebrew bosheth, "shameful thing" (see note on Judg 6:32), often used in connection with idol worship (see notes on 2:26; 3:25). The OT Topheth had a fire pit (see Is 30:33), into which the hapless children were apparently thrown. valley of the son of Hinnom. See v. 32; 19:2,6; 32:35; see also note on Josh 15:5. It was used as a trash dump and also as a place for sacrificing children to pagan gods. From the abbreviated name "valley of Hinnom" (see Neh 11:30 and note), Hebrew ge'hinnom, came "Gehenna" (Greek geenna), consistently translated in the NT as "hell," the place of eternal, fiery punishment for all who die without having trusted Christ as Savior (see, e.g., Matt 18:9; Mark 9:47–48). burn their sons and their daughters in the fire. A horrible ritual, prohibited in the law of Moses (see Lev 18:21 and note; Deut 18:10) but practiced by Ahaz (see 2 Kin 16:2–3) and Manasseh (2 Kin 21:1,6).

7:32 behold . . . valley of the Slaughter. Repeated almost verbatim in 19:6. Their place of sacrifice would become their cemetery when the people of Judah were slaughtered by the Babylonian invaders.

7:33 The punishment announced here is one of the curses for covenant disobedience (see Deut 28:26). food for the birds . . . of the earth. See 16:4; 19:7; see also 34:20, where the same judgment is the result of violating God's covenant (34:18–19). To remain unburied was an unspeakable abomination in ancient times.

7:34 See 16:9; 25:10; contrast 33:10–11. land will become a ruin. Another covenant curse (Lev 26:31,33).

8:1 bring out the bones . . . from their graves. A gross indignity and sacrilege (see 2 Kin 23:16,18; Amos 2:1 and note). kings . . . princes . . . priests . . . prophets. See 2:26; see also note on 1:18.

8:2 spread them out to the sun . . . moon . . . host of heaven. To hasten their disintegration, and perhaps also to demonstrate that the heavenly bodies, which had been worshiped by some of Judah's kings (see 2 Kin 21:3,5; 23:11), among others, were powerless to help. loved . . . served . . . gone after . . . sought . . . worshiped. Acts of homage and adoration that should have been given to God alone. They. The bones. not be gathered or buried. Contrast 2 Sam 21:13–14. dung. See 9:22; 16:4; 25:33.

8:3 remnant that remains. See note on 6:9.

8:4–9:26 In contrast to 7:1–8:3, this section is almost completely in poetic form. Jeremiah resumes his extended commentary on the inevitability of divine judgment against sinners.

8:4 say to them. Connects this section with the previous (see 7:28). turn away . . . repent. The Hebrew for these two verbs is identical, forming a play on words.

8:5 The general truths stated in v. 4 are routinely and perversely violated by the people of Jerusalem. Turned away . . . continual . . . return. Continuing the wordplay of v. 4.

8:6 I. The Lord. turned. The Hebrew for this word continues the wordplay of vv. 4–5. his course. And therefore evil (see 23:10).

8:7 See Is 1:3. Although migratory birds obey their God-given instincts, God's rebellious people refuse to obey His laws. do not know The ordinance of the LORD. See note on 5:4.

8:8–9 law of the LORD . . . word of the LORD. Misinterpreting and manipulating the first (the written law of Moses) leads to rejection of the second (God's truth as found in the law and proclaimed by His servants the prophets).

8:8 lying pen. Symbolizes mistreatment of the written law. scribes. The earliest mention of them as a recognizable group. They were apparently organized on the basis of families (see 1 Chr 2:55; 2 Chr 34:13). made it into a lie. Contrast 2 Tim 2:15.

They are dismayed and caught;
Behold, they have [b]rejected the word of the LORD,
And what kind of wisdom do they have?
10 "Therefore I will [a]give their wives to others,
Their fields to [1]new owners;
Because from the least even to the greatest
Everyone is [b]greedy for gain;
From the prophet even to the priest
Everyone practices deceit.
11 "They [a]heal the brokenness of the daughter of My people superficially, Saying, 'Peace, peace,'
But there is no peace.
12 "Were they [a]ashamed because of the abomination they had done?
They certainly were not ashamed,
And they did not know how to blush;
Therefore they shall [b]fall among those who fall;
At the [c]time of their punishment they shall be brought down,"
Says the LORD.

13 "I will [a]surely snatch them away," declares the LORD;
"There will be [b]no grapes on the vine
And [c]no figs on the fig tree,
And the leaf will wither;
And what I have given them will pass away." ' "
14 Why are we sitting still?
[a]Assemble yourselves, and let us [b]go into the fortified cities
And let us perish there,
Because the LORD our God has doomed us
And given us [c]poisoned water to drink,
For [d]we have sinned against the LORD.

A Lament over Zion

9 [1][a]Oh that my head were waters
And my eyes a fountain of tears,

8:9 rejected . . . wisdom. Contrast Deut 4:5–6.
8:10–12 See 6:12–15 and notes.
8:13–9:24 This section is read aloud in synagogues every year on the ninth of Ab (see chart, p. 92), the day the temple in Jerusalem was destroyed by the Babylonians in 586 B.C. and by the Romans in A.D. 70.
8:13 grapes . . . figs. Symbolic of individual people also in Mic 7:1; see ch. 24. vine. Israel (see 2:21 and note). leaf will wither. Contrast 17:8; Ps 1:3.
8:14–16 On behalf of the people the prophet speaks, envisioning the Babylonian invasion.
8:14 Assemble yourselves. See 4:5. The Hebrew for this phrase forms a wordplay with the Hebrew for "snatch them away" in v. 13. go into to the fortified cities. See note on 4:5. poisoned water. The phrase is unique to the prophet Jeremiah (see 9:15; 23:15; cf. 25:15).
8:15 Repeated almost verbatim in 14:19. peace. Under the circumstances, a false hope (see notes on 4:10; 6:14). healing. See note on 6:7.
8:16 Dan. Far away, close to the northern border of Israel. his horses. See note on 4:13. stallions. Lit. "mighty ones"; see 47:3; 50:11.
8:17 serpents . . . for which there is no charm. Such are the wicked always (see Ps 58:4–5).
8:18 The prophet speaks. My heart is faint. See Lam 1:22; 5:17.
8:19 The prophet speaks in the first part of the verse, the Lord in the last part. my people from a distant land. Judah in Babylonian exile (see Ps 137:1–4) as Jeremiah envisions the future. Is the LORD not in Zion? Cf. Mic 3:11. The people are perplexed at their fate, still wondering how God could have permitted the destruction of His land and temple (see note on 7:4). King. God (see Is 33:22). provoked Me. See 7:18; Deut 31:29. graven . . . idols. See note on 2:5.
8:20 The people speak from the hopelessness of their exile. we are not saved. We have been captured by the enemy.
8:21 Jeremiah identifies himself with his exiled countrymen. taken hold of me. See 6:24.
8:22 balm in Gilead. See 46:11; 51:8. The territory of Gilead was an important source of spices and medicinal herbs (see note on Gen 37:25). not the health . . . been restored. Contrast 30:17.
9:1–2 The prophet's frustration is highlighted as he speaks of his countrymen with tender sympathy in v. 1 and with indignant disgust in v. 2.
9:1 Jeremiah is often called the "weeping prophet"—a well-

That I might weep day and night
For the slain of the [b]daughter of my people!

2 [1a]Oh that I had in the desert
A wayfarers' lodging place;
That I might leave my people
And go from them!
For all of them are [b]adulterers,
An assembly of [c]treacherous men.

3 "They [a]bend their tongue like their bow;
Lies and not truth prevail in the land;
For they [b]proceed from evil to evil,
And they [c]do not know Me," declares the LORD.

4 "Let everyone [a]be on guard against his neighbor,
And [b]do not trust any brother;
Because every [c]brother deals [1]craftily,
And every neighbor [d]goes about as a slanderer.

5 "Everyone [a]deceives his neighbor
And does not speak the truth,
They have taught their tongue to speak lies;
They [b]weary themselves committing iniquity.

6 "Your [a]dwelling is in the midst of deceit;
Through deceit they [b]refuse to know Me," declares the LORD.

7 Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts,
"Behold, I will refine them and [a]assay them;
For [b]what else can I do, because of the daughter of My people?

8 "Their [a]tongue is a deadly arrow;
It speaks deceit;
With his mouth one [b]speaks peace to his neighbor,
But inwardly he [c]sets an ambush for him.

9 "[a]Shall I not punish them for these things?" declares the LORD.
"On a nation such as this
Shall I not avenge Myself?

10 "For the [a]mountains I will take up a weeping and wailing,
And for the pastures of the [b]wilderness a dirge,
Because they are [c]laid waste so that no one passes through,
And the lowing of the cattle is not heard;
Both the [d]birds of the sky and the beasts have fled; they are gone.

11 "I will make Jerusalem a [a]heap of ruins,
A haunt of [b]jackals;
And I will make the cities of Judah a [c]desolation, without inhabitant."

12 Who is the [a]wise man that may understand this? And who is he to whom [b]the mouth of the LORD has spoken, that he may declare it? [c]Why is the land ruined, laid waste like a desert, so that no one passes through?

13 The LORD said, "Because they have [a]forsaken My law which I set before them, and have not obeyed My voice nor walked according to it,

14 but have [a]walked after the stubbornness of their heart and after the [b]Baals, as their [c]fathers taught them," 15 therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "behold, [a]I will feed them, this people, with wormwood and give them [b]poisoned water to drink.

16 "I will [a]scatter them among the nations, whom neither they nor their fathers have known; and I will send the [b]sword after them until I have annihilated them."

deserved title (see v. 10; the book of Lamentations; cf. 2 Sam 18:33; Matt 23:37; Rom 9:2–4; 10:1).

9:2 The prophet wants to get as far away from his wicked countrymen as possible (cf. Ps 55:6–8). adulterers. See note on 2:20. assembly. The Hebrew for this word is always used elsewhere in the OT in the sense of a solemn religious assembly (see, e.g., Deut 16:8), sometimes perverted by the worshipers and therefore falling under divine judgment (see Is 1:13; Amos 5:21). treacherous. Toward God (see note on 3:7).

9:3–9 The Lord speaks.

9:3 tongue like their bow. See vv. 5,8; see also Ps 64:3–4; James 3:5–12. do not know Me. See v. 6; Judg 2:10; 1 Sam 2:12; Job 18:21; Hos 4:1; Rom 1:28; contrast Hos 6:3.

9:4 deals craftily. A deceiving Jacob (see Gen 25:26 and note; 27:36; Hos 12:2–3).

9:6 refuse to know Me. The situation has deteriorated even further (v. 3 says simply "do not know Me").

9:7 refine . . . and assay. See 6:27–30 and notes. The Lord will test His people "in the furnace of affliction" (see Is 48:10 and note).

9:8 tongue . . . deceit. See v. 3 and note. With his mouth . . . But inwardly. See Ps 55:21. peace. See 6:14 and note.

9:9 Repeated from 5:9,29.

9:10 The prophet speaks. See 4:23–26 and notes. weeping and wailing. See v. 18; see also note on v. 1. pastures of the wilderness. Good for poor grazing at best (see 1 Sam 17:28; cf. Ex 3:1). laid waste. Lit. "burned"; here parched by the blazing sun. no one passes through. See v. 12; Ezek 33:28.

9:11 The Lord speaks. haunt of jackals. See 10:22; 49:33; 51:37; Ps 44:19; Is 13:21–22; Lam 5:18; Ezek 13:4; Mal 1:3; contrast Is 35:7. without inhabitant. See 2:15; 4:7 and notes.

9:12 The prophet asks a series of questions. Who is the wise man . . . ? See Hos 14:9.

9:13 The Lord answers the prophet and then continues to speak through v. 19. law which I set before them. In the days of Moses (see Deut 4:8).

9:14 stubbornness. See note on 3:17. Baals. See 2:23; see also note on Judg 2:11.

9:15 feed them . . . with wormwood and . . . poisoned water. Repeated in 23:15; see note on 8:14. Centuries earlier, Moses had warned the Israelites concerning just such a fate (see Deut 29:18).

9:16 I will scatter them. See 13:24; 18:17; 30:11; 46:28. This warning was given in Deut 28:64 as one of the covenant curses. send the sword after them. See 42:16. annihilated them. But not to the last man (see note on 4:27; see especially 44:27–28).

17 Thus says the LORD of hosts,
"Consider and call for the [a]mourning women, that they may come;
And send for the [1][b]wailing women, that they may come!
18 "Let them make haste and take up a wailing for us,
That our [a]eyes may shed tears
And our eyelids flow with water.
19 "For a voice of [a]wailing is heard from Zion,
'[b]How are we ruined!
We are put to great shame,
For we have [c]left the land,
Because they have cast down our dwellings.' "
20 Now hear the word of the LORD, O you [a]women,
And let your ear receive the word of His mouth;
Teach your daughters wailing,
And everyone her neighbor a dirge.
21 For [a]death has come up through our windows;
It has entered our palaces
To cut off the [b]children from the streets,
The young men from the town squares.
22 Speak, "Thus says the LORD,
'The corpses of men will fall [a]like dung on the open field,
And like the sheaf after the reaper,
But no one will gather them.' "
23 Thus says the LORD, "[a]Let not a wise man boast of his wisdom, and let not the [b]mighty man boast of his might, let not a [c]rich man boast of his riches;
24 but let him who boasts [a]boast of this, that he understands and knows Me, that I am the LORD who [b]exercises lovingkindness, justice and righteousness on earth; for I [c]delight in these things," declares the LORD.
25 "Behold, the days are coming," declares the LORD, "that I will punish all who are circumcised and yet [a]uncircumcised—
26 Egypt and Judah, and Edom and the sons of Ammon, and Moab and [a]all those inhabiting the desert who clip the hair on their temples; for all the nations are uncircumcised, and all the house of Israel are [b]uncircumcised of heart."

A Satire on Idolatry

10 Hear the word which the LORD speaks to you, O house of Israel.
2 Thus says the LORD,
"[a]Do not learn the way of the nations,
And do not be terrified by the signs of the heavens
Although the nations are terrified by them;
3 For the customs of the peoples are [1][a]delusion;
Because [b]it is wood cut from the forest,
The work of the hands of a craftsman with a cutting tool.
4 "They [a]decorate it with silver and with gold;
They [b]fasten it with nails and with hammers

9:17 mourning women. Professionals, paid to mourn at funerals and other sorrowful occasions (see 2 Chr 35:25; Ecc 12:5; Amos 5:16).
9:18 The purpose of the professional mourners was to arouse the bereaved to weep and lament. wailing. See v. 10. eyes may shed tears. See v. 1.
9:19 How are we ruined! See 4:13,20; 48:1.
9:20–21 The prophet speaks.
9:20 The wailing women will have to teach their daughters how to lament, so great will be the need for their services.
9:21 death. Personified here (as in Hab 2:5). Canaanite mythology included a deity named Mot (a word related to the Hebrew word for "death"), the god of infertility and the netherworld. come up through our windows. Said of enemy soldiers in Joel 2:9. children . . . young men. See 6:11.
9:22 corpses. See 7:33 and note. like dung. See note on 8:2. reaper. The concept of death as the "grim reaper" comes largely from this verse.
9:23 Let not . . . a rich man boast of his riches. An almost exact parallel occurs in the Aramaic Words of Ahiqar, written about a century after Jeremiah's time: "Let not the rich man say, 'In my riches I am glorious.' "
9:24 1 Cor 1:31 summarizes: "Let him who boasts, boast in the Lord." this . . . these. Ultimately, only God and our knowledge of and love for Him are worthwhile. understands and knows. See 3:15; see also note on 4:22. I am the LORD. Ex 6:2–8, a key passage on the doctrine of redemption, begins and ends with this statement of divine self-disclosure. lovingkindness. The Hebrew for this word is translated "devotion" in 2:2 (see note there). I delight in these things. See Ps 11:7; 33:5; 99:4; 103:6; Mic 6:8; 7:18.
9:25–26 See Rom 2:25–29; see also note on Gen 17:10.
9:26 inhabiting . . . on their temples. Arab tribes (see 25:23; 49:32), later to be attacked by the Babylonians under Nebuchadnezzar (see 49:28–33). Cf. Lev 19:27. uncircumcised of heart. See 4:4 and note.
10:1–25 Jeremiah concludes his series of temple messages with a poetic section that focuses primarily on the vast difference between idols and the Lord (vv. 2–16). Idols and their worshipers are condemned in vv. 2–5,8–9,11,14–15, while the one true God is praised in the alternate passages (vv. 6–7,10,12–13,16). See Is 40:18–20; 41:7; 44:9–20; 46:5–7.
10:1 Hear. See note on 2:4.
10:2 Do not . . . be terrified. See 1:17. way. Refers to the religious practices of the nations. The early Christians often called their distinctive beliefs "the Way" (see Acts 9:2; 19:9,23; 22:4; 24:14,22). signs of the heavens. The heavenly bodies were created by the Lord for purposes other than idolatrous worship (see Gen 1:14–18 and notes). nations are terrified. Not only by the heavenly bodies themselves but also by unusual phenomena associated with them (such as comets, meteors and eclipses).
10:3 delusion. A term that Jeremiah often applies to idols (see vv. 8,15; see also note on 2:5). wood . . . forest. See Is 44:14–15. craftsman. The word is often used of idol-makers who work usually—but not always (see Is 40:19)—with wood (see Is 41:7). cutting tool. Cf. Is 44:13.
10:4 with silver and . . . gold. Wooden idols were plated with precious metals to beautify them (see Is 30:22; 40:19). fasten it . . . So that it will not totter. See Is 40:20; 41:7; cf. 46:7; contrast 1 Sam 5:2–4.

So that it will not totter.
5 "Like a scarecrow in a cucumber field are they,
And they [a]cannot speak;
They must be [b]carried,
Because they cannot walk!
Do not fear them,
For they [c]can do no harm,
Nor can they do any good."

6 [a]There is none like You, O LORD;
You are [b]great, and great is Your name in might.
7 [a]Who would not fear You, O [b]King of the nations?
Indeed it is Your due!
For among all the [c]wise men of the nations
And in all their kingdoms,
There is none like You.
8 But they are altogether [a]stupid and foolish
In their discipline of [1]delusion—[2]their idol is wood!
9 Beaten [a]silver is brought from [b]Tarshish,
And [c]gold from Uphaz,
The work of a craftsman and of the hands of a goldsmith;
Violet and purple are their clothing;
They are all the [d]work of skilled men.
10 But the LORD is the [a]true God;
He is the [b]living God and the [c]everlasting King.
At His wrath the [d]earth quakes,
And the nations cannot [e]endure His indignation.
11 [1]Thus you shall say to them, "The
[a]gods that did not make the heavens and the earth will [b]perish from the earth and from under the [2]heavens."

Who [b]established the world by His wisdom;
And by His understanding He has
[c]stretched out the heavens.
13 When He utters His [a]voice, there is a

And He causes the [b]clouds to ascend
from the end of the earth;
He makes lightning for the rain,
And brings out the [c]wind from His 14 Every man is [a]stupid, devoid of knowledge;

Every goldsmith is put to shame by
his [1]idols;
For his molten images are deceitful,
And there is no breath in them.
15 They are [a]worthless, a work of mockery;
In the [b]time of their punishment they
will perish.
16 The [a]portion of Jacob is not like these;
For the [1b]Maker of all is He,
And [c]Israel is the tribe of His inheritance;
The [d]LORD of hosts is His name.

17 [a]Pick up your bundle from the ground,
You who dwell under siege!
18 For thus says the LORD,
"Behold, I am [a]slinging out the inhabitants of the land
At this time,
And will cause them distress,
That they may [1]be found."

My [b]wound is incurable.

10:5 The impotence of idols is described in classic form in Ps 115:4–7; 135:15–18. scarecrow. Verse 70 in the Apocryphal Letter of Jeremiah uses the same imagery. must be carried. Usually on the backs of animals. See Is 46:1. harm, Nor . . . good. Idols can do nothing at all (see Is 41:23).
10:6 none. Among the gods (see Ps 86:8). great is Your name in might. See 16:21.
10:7 King of the nations. See Ps 47:8–9; 96:10. Unlike the tribal deities, limited to their own territories, the Lord is King over all. it. Fear, respect. among all the wise men . . . none like You. See Is 19:12; 29:14; 1 Cor 1:20.
10:8 stupid and foolish. See vv. 14,21; 5:21; see also 4:22 and note. discipline of delusion. Contrast Deut 11:2; Job 5:17; Prov 3:11.
10:9 silver . . . from Tarshish. See Ezek 27:12; see also notes on Is 23:6; Jon 1:3. Uphaz. Mentioned only here; location unknown. craftsman and . . . goldsmith. See Is 40:19; 41:7. Violet and purple . . . clothing. To make the idols look regal. all. The idols.
10:10 Everything that idols are not, the Lord is. true. See 1 Thess 1:9. living. See Deut 5:26. everlasting. See Ex 15:18; Ps 10:16; 29:10. At His . . . indignation. See Ps 97:5; Nah 1:5.
10:11 The text of this verse is in Aramaic. The other major Aramaic passages in the OT are Ezra 4:8–6:18; 7:12–26; Dan 2:4–7:28. This verse is in prose. them. Pagan idolaters, who would have been more likely to understand Aramaic (the language of diplomacy during this period) than Hebrew.
10:12–16 Repeated almost verbatim in 51:15–19.
10:12 It is He. In contrast to the false gods of v. 11. stretched out the heavens. Like a tent or canopy (see Ps 104:2; Is 40:22 and note).
10:13 He causes the clouds . . . from His storehouses. Repeated in Ps 135:7, where the one true God is contrasted to false gods (see Ps 135:5,15–17); cf. Job 38:22.
10:14 stupid. See vv. 8,21; see also note on 4:22. images. Cast in metal; the Hebrew for this word is translated "molten image" in Is 48:5 and "metal images" in Dan 11:8. no breath. See Ps 135:17.
10:15 worthless. See note on v. 3.
10:16 portion of Jacob. A title for God, used again only in 51:19 (see Ps 73:26; 119:57; 142:5; Lam 3:24). tribe of His inheritance. See Is 63:17. The LORD of hosts is His name. See Is 54:5; Amos 4:13.
10:17–22 Destruction and exile are imminent.
10:19–20 On behalf of his countrymen, the prophet bemoans their fate and his own (see 4:19–21).

But I said, "Truly this is a sickness,
And I [c]must bear it."
20 My [a]tent is destroyed,
And all my ropes are broken;
My [b]sons have gone from me and are no more.
There is [c]no one to stretch out my tent again
Or to set up my curtains.
21 For the shepherds have become stupid
And [a]have not sought the LORD;
Therefore they have not prospered,
And [b]all their flock is scattered.
22 The sound of a [a]report! Behold, it comes—
A great commotion [b]out of the land of the north—
To [c]make the cities of Judah
A desolation, a haunt of jackals.

23 I know, O LORD, that [a]a man's way is not in himself,
[b]Nor is it in a man who walks to direct his steps.
24 [a]Correct me, O LORD, but with justice;
Not with Your anger, or You will [1]bring me to nothing.
25 [a]Pour out Your wrath on the nations that [b]do not know You
And on the families that [c]do not call Your name;
For they have devoured Jacob;
They have [d]devoured him and consumed him
And have laid waste his [1]habitation.

10:20 sons. The people of Judah and Jerusalem (Jeremiah never married or had children; see 16:2). curtains. See note on 4:20.
10:21 shepherds . . . flock. Rulers and people (see note on 2:8). stupid. See vv. 8,14; see also note on 4:22. have not sought the LORD. Instead, they consult the heavenly bodies (see 8:2). scattered. See note on 9:16.
10:22 great commotion. The sound of the invaders (see 6:23; 8:16). land of the north. Babylonia (see 4:6; 6:22; see also note on Is 41:25). haunt of jackals. See 9:11 and note.
10:23–25 On the people's behalf, the prophet prays for divine justice.
10:23 Only the Lord can direct people's steps (see Ps 37:23; Prov 16:9).
10:25 Repeated almost verbatim in Ps 79:6–7, where the context (see Ps 79:1–5) shows that the prayer is not vengeful but is an appeal for God's justice. The verse is recited annually by Jews during their Passover service.
11:1–13:27 Because of Judah's violations of its covenant obligations, the people will be exiled to Babylonia. The section is perhaps to be dated to the reign of Josiah (but see note on 13:18).
11:1–17 God's people have broken His covenant with them.
11:2 Hear. See note on 2:4. words. A technical term for covenant stipulations (see vv. 3–4,6; 34:18; see also note on Ex 20:1). this covenant. See vv. 3,6,8,10; Deut 29:9. Reference is to the covenant established by God with Israel through Moses at Mount Sinai (see v. 4; Ex 19–24). speak to. Periodic public reading of covenants was a common and necessary practice (see Deut 31:10–13; Josh 8:34–35).
11:3 Cursed is the man. The phrase ("Cursed is he") appears at the beginning of every verse in Deut 27:15–26 (and "Amen" appears at the end; see note on v. 5). Blessings resulted from obedience to the covenant (see Deut 28:1–14); curses resulted from disobedience (see Deut 28:15–68; see also Deut 11:26–28; 29:20–21).
11:4 out of . . . Egypt, from the iron furnace. See note on Deut 4:20. Listen to My voice. See v. 7; 7:23; Ex 19:5. you shall be My people . . . your God. See note on 7:23.
11:5 confirm the oath . . . I swore. See Gen 15:17–18 and notes; Deut 7:8. land flowing with milk and honey. See 32:22; see also note on Ex 3:8. Amen. Appears at the end of every verse in Deut 27:15–26 (and "Cursed is he" appears at the beginning; see note on v. 3).
11:6 Proclaim. See 2:2; 3:12.
11:7 persistently. See note on 7:13.
11:8 See 7:24. stubbornness of his evil heart. See note on 3:17. therefore I brought on them. See 2 Kin 17:18–23.

the house of Judah have [d]broken My covenant which I made with their fathers."

11 Therefore thus says the LORD, "Behold I am [a]bringing disaster on them which they will [b]not be able to escape; though they will [c]cry to Me, yet I will not listen to them.

12 "Then the cities of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem will [a]go and cry to the gods to whom they burn incense, but they surely will not save them in the time of their disaster.

14 "Therefore [a]do not pray for this people, nor lift up a cry or prayer for them; for I will [b]not listen when they call to Me because of their disaster.

15 "What right has My [a]beloved in My house
When [b]she has done many vile deeds?

Plots against Jeremiah

18 Moreover, the LORD [a]made it known to me and I knew it;
Then You showed me their deeds.

19 But I was like a gentle [a]lamb led to the slaughter;
And I did not know that they had [b]devised plots against me, saying,
"Let us destroy the tree with its [1]fruit,
And [c]let us cut him off from the [d]land of the living,
That his [e]name be remembered no more."

20 But, O LORD of hosts, who [a]judges righteously,
Who [b]tries the [1]feelings and the heart,
Let me see Your vengeance on them,
For to You have I [2]committed my cause.

21 Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the men of [a]Anathoth, who [b]seek your life, saying, "[c]Do not prophesy in the name of the LORD, so that you will not [d]die at our hand";

22 therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts, "Behold, I am about to [a]punish them! The [b]young men will die by the sword, their sons and daughters will die by famine;

23 and a remnant [a]will not be left to them, for I will [b]bring disaster on the men of Anathoth—[c]the year of their punishment."

Jeremiah's Prayer

12 [a]Righteous are You, O LORD, that I would plead my case with You;
Indeed I would [b]discuss matters of justice with You:

22 [a]Jer 21:14 [b]2 Chr 36:17; Jer 18:21 23 [a]Jer 6:9 [b]Jer 23:12; Hos 9:7; Mic 7:4 [c]Luke 19:44 12:1 [a]Ezra 9:15; Ps 51:4; 129:4; Jer 11:20 [b]Job 13:3

My covenant. Emphasizing its origin in God Himself.

11:11 I am bringing . . . on them. Judah will be judged, just as Israel had been judged earlier (see v. 10; see also 2 Kin 17:18–23).

11:12 burn incense. See vv. 13,17; see also note on 1:16.

11:13 gods are as many as . . . cities. See note on 2:28. as many as the streets . . . are the altars. See 2 Chr 28:24. to the shameful thing . . . Baal. Lit. "to the shame(ful god) . . . to Baal." See 3:24; see also notes on 2:26; Judg 6:32.

11:14 do not pray for this people. See note on 7:16; cf. 1 John 5:16.

11:15 See 7:10–11,21–24. My beloved. Judah (see 12:7; cf. Deut 33:12, where Benjamin is called the "beloved of the LORD").

11:16 called your name . . . olive tree. See Ps 52:8; 128:3. tumult. The Hebrew for this word appears elsewhere only in Ezek 1:24, where it refers to the noise made by an army (see Is 13:4). branches are worthless. See Ezek 31:12.

11:17 Fulfilled when Judah was destroyed in 586 B.C. (see 44:2–3). provoke Me. See 8:19; Deut 31:29.

11:18–23 The first of Jeremiah's "confessions" (see Introduction: Author and Date).

11:18 their. Jeremiah's personal enemies, the "men of Anathoth" (vv. 21,23), his hometown.

11:19 lamb led to the slaughter. See 51:40; see also Is 53:7 and note. destroy the tree with its fruit. Contrast 12:2. cut him off from the land of the living. See Is 53:8; contrast Ps 27:13. name. Since Jeremiah had no children (see 16:2), his name would die with him. be remembered no more. As though he were evil (see Job 24:20; Ezek 21:32).

11:20 Repeated almost verbatim in 20:12; see also 17:10. O LORD . . . who judges righteously. See note on Gen 18:25.

11:21 men of Anathoth, who seek your life. See 12:6. "A man's enemies are the men of his own household" (Mic 7:6, quoted by Jesus in Matt 10:36).

11:22 sword . . . famine. See note on 5:12.

11:23 remnant. See 6:9; Is 10:20–22 and notes. them. The conspirators in Anathoth, not its entire population, since 128 men of Anathoth returned to their hometown after the exile (see Ezra 2:23).

12:1–6 The second of Jeremiah's "confessions," continuing (and closely related to) the first (11:18–23). Jeremiah speaks in vv. 1–4, and God responds in vv. 5–6.

12:1 Righteous are You. See note on Gen 18:25; see also 11:20; Ps 51:4; Rom 3:4. Because God is righteous, He is a dependable arbiter and judge. Indeed. He is ready to listen to our questions and complaints. Why has . . . the wicked prospered? The question is not unique to Jeremiah (see, e.g., Job 21:7–15; Mal 3:15). The Lord replies that ultimately the wicked in Judah will perish (vv. 7–13) and that the wicked invaders who destroy them will themselves be destroyed (vv. 14–17).

Why has the [c]way of the wicked prospered?
Why are all those who [d]deal in treachery at ease?
2 You have [a]planted them, they have also taken root;
They grow, they have even produced fruit.
You are [b]near [1]to their lips
But far from their [2]mind.
3 But You [a]know me, O LORD;
You see me;
And You [b]examine my heart's attitude toward You.
Drag them off like sheep for the slaughter
And [1]set them apart for a [c]day of carnage!
4 How long is the [a]land to mourn
And the [b]vegetation of the countryside to wither?
For the [c]wickedness of those who dwell in it,
[d]Animals and birds have been snatched away,
Because men have said, "He will not see our latter [e]ending."

5 "If you have run with footmen and they have tired you out,
Then how can you compete with horses?
If you fall down in a land of peace,
How will you do in the [1][a]thicket of the Jordan?
6 "For even your [a]brothers and the household of your father,
Even they have dealt treacherously with you,
Even they have cried aloud after you.
Do not believe them, although they may say [b]nice things to you."

God's Answer

7 "I have [a]forsaken My house,
I have abandoned My inheritance;
I have given the [b]beloved of My soul
Into the hand of her enemies.
8 "My inheritance has become to Me
Like a lion in the forest;
She has [1][a]roared against Me;
Therefore I have come to [b]hate her.
9 "Is My inheritance like a speckled bird of prey to Me?
Are the [a]birds of prey against her on every side?
Go, gather all the [b]beasts of the field,
Bring them to devour!
10 "Many [a]shepherds have ruined My [b]vineyard,
They have [c]trampled down My field;
They have made My [d]pleasant field
A desolate wilderness.
11 "[1]It has been made a desolation,
Desolate, it [a]mourns [2]before Me;
The [b]whole land has been made desolate,
Because no man [c]lays it to heart.
12 "On all the [1][a]bare heights in the wilderness
Destroyers have come,
For a [b]sword of the LORD is devouring
From one end of the land even to the [2]other;
There is [c]no peace for [3]anyone.

12:2 You have planted them. But a sovereign God can always reconsider His intentions if conditions warrant a change (see 18:9–10). produced fruit. The wicked flourish, while Jeremiah's fellow citizens plot to destroy his own "fruit" (see 11:19). near to their lips . . . far from their mind. Quoted in part by Jesus in Matt 15:8–9.

12:3 examine my heart's attitude. See 11:20. like sheep for the slaughter. Jeremiah asks that his wicked countrymen receive the fate mentioned for himself in 11:19. His request arises not so much out of a desire for revenge as for the vindication of God's righteousness.

12:4 mourn . . . wither. See 23:10; see also 3:3; 14:1. Apparently there was a series of droughts in Judah during Jeremiah's ministry. He will not see. The prophet's enemies do not believe that his predictions will be fulfilled.

12:5 The Lord warns Jeremiah that in the future his troubles will increase (see, e.g., 38:4–6). fall down. The Hebrew for this word, which usually means "trust" ("If you put your trust in a land of peace"), has a negative meaning in a few passages (see, e.g., Prov 14:16, where it is translated "careless"). thicket. Providing cover for lions (see 49:19; 50:44; Zech 11:3). If the Hebrew for this word means "flooding" ("the flooding of the Jordan") here, an ancient example is described in Josh 3:15.

12:6 household. Linking this verse verbally with the following context (see v. 7). Apparently, members of Jeremiah's own family were included in the "men of Anathoth" (11:21,23) who wanted to kill him.

12:7–17 The Lord will judge Judah (vv. 7–13) as well as the wicked neighboring nations (vv. 14–17).

12:7 house. Judah (see, e.g., 11:17). inheritance. God's land and people (see vv. 8–9,14–15; see also Ex 15:17 and note; Deut 4:20; Is 19:25; 47:6). the beloved of My soul. See note on 11:15.

12:8 I . . . hate her. I will withdraw my love from her by giving her "Into the hand of her enemies" (v. 7; see Mal 1:3).

12:9 birds of prey . . . beasts of the field. Judah's enemies (see Is 56:9 and note).

12:10 shepherds. Rulers (see note on 2:8). My vineyard. Judah (see 2:21 and note). pleasant field. See 3:19 and note.

12:11 it mourns. See v. 4 and note. A total of seven s-sounds and seven m-sounds in the Hebrew of this brief verse provides a striking example of Jeremiah's literary gifts.

12:12 bare heights. Places of idolatrous worship (see 3:2; Num 23:3). Destroyers. The Babylonians (see note on 4:7). sword of the LORD. Symbolizing God's instruments of judgment (see 25:29; 47:6). From one end . . . to the other. See 25:33. no peace for anyone. See 6:14 and note).

12:13 See 14:2–4.

They have [b]strained themselves [1]to no profit.
But be ashamed of your [2c]harvest
Because of the [d]fierce anger of the LORD."

14 Thus says the LORD concerning all My [a]wicked neighbors who [b]strike at the inheritance with which I have endowed My people Israel, "Behold I am about to uproot them from their land and will [c]uproot the house of Judah from among them.

15 "And it will come about that after I have uprooted them, I will [a]again have compassion on them; and I will [b]bring them back, each one to his inheritance and each one to his land.

16 "Then if they will really [a]learn the ways of My people, to [b]swear by My name, 'As the LORD lives,' even as they taught My people to [c]swear by Baal, they will be [d]built up in the midst of My people.

17 "But if they will not listen, then I will [a]uproot that nation, uproot and destroy it," declares the LORD.

The Ruined Waistband

13 Thus the LORD said to me, "Go and [a]buy yourself a linen waistband and put it around your waist, but do not put it in water."

2 So I bought the waistband in accordance with the [a]word of the LORD and put it around my waist.

3 Then the word of the LORD came to me a second time, saying,

4 "Take the waistband that you have bought, which is around your waist, and arise, go to [1]the [a]Euphrates and hide it there in a crevice of the rock."

5 So I went and hid it by the Euphrates, [a]as the LORD had commanded me.

6 After many days the LORD said to me, "Arise, go to the Euphrates and take from there the waistband which I commanded you to hide there."

7 Then I went to the Euphrates and dug, and I took the waistband from the place where I had hidden it; and lo, the waistband was ruined, it was totally worthless.

8 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

9 "Thus says the LORD, 'Just so will I destroy the [a]pride of Judah and the great pride of Jerusalem.

10 'This wicked people, who [a]refuse to listen to My words, who [b]walk in the stubbornness of their hearts and have gone after other gods to serve them and to bow down to them, let them be just like this waistband which is totally worthless.

11 'For as the waistband clings to the waist of a man, so I made the whole household of Israel and the whole household of Judah [a]cling to Me,' declares the LORD, 'that they might be for Me a people, for [1b]renown, for [c]praise and for glory; but they [d]did not listen.'

Captivity Threatened

12 "Therefore you are to speak this word to them, 'Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, "Every jug is to be filled with wine." ' And when they say to you, 'Do we not very well know that every jug is to be filled with wine?'

13 then say to them, 'Thus says the LORD, "Behold I am about to fill all the inhabitants of this land—the kings that sit for David on his throne, the priests, the prophets and all

12:14 wicked neighbors. See, e.g., 2 Kin 24:2. strike. Lit. "touch," used in the context of attack and plunder in Zech 2:8. uproot. Carry off into exile (see, e.g., 1 Kin 14:15).

12:15 The exiles from Judah, and those from the neighboring nations, will eventually be brought back to their respective lands (see v. 16; 32:37,44; 33:26; 48:47; 49:6).

12:16 See Is 56:6–7. The Messianic age is in view (see Is 2:2–4). ways. See note on 10:2.

13:1–27 A series of five warnings, the first two (vv. 1–11, 12–14) written in prose and the last three (vv. 15–17, 18–19, 20–27) in poetry.

13:1–11 The story of the ruined, useless belt is the first major example of the Lord's commanding Jeremiah to perform symbolic acts to illustrate his message (see Introduction: Literary Features).

13:1–2,4–7 Go and buy . . . So I bought . . . Take the waistband . . . and hide it . . . So I went and hid it . . . go to the Euphrates and take . . . the waistband . . . Then I went to the Euphrates and dug, and I took the waistband. Like his spiritual ancestor Abraham (see note on Gen 12:4), Jeremiah was characterized by prompt obedience.

13:1 linen. The material of which the priests' garments were made (see Ezek 44:17–18), symbolic of Israel's holiness as a "kingdom of priests" (see Ex 19:6 and note). The linen belt is a symbol of the formerly intimate relationship between God and Judah (see v. 11). do not put it in water. Do not wash it—symbolic of Judah's sinful pride (see v. 9).

13:3 Then. Some time later.

13:4 Euphrates. The Euphrates serves as an appropriate symbol of the corrupting Assyrian and Babylonian influence on Judah that began during the reign of Ahaz (see 2 Kin 16).

13:6 After many days. Perhaps a reference to the lengthy Babylonian exile.

13:7 dug. The belt had either been buried by the prophet or silted over by the water of the river. the waistband was ruined. As foreseen in Lev 26:39, God's people in exile would waste away because of their sins and the sins of their ancestors.

13:9 pride . . . great pride. Contrast 9:23–24. Judah's vaunted pride would be a cause of her downfall and exile (see vv. 15,17), as foreshadowed in Lev 26:19.

13:10 refuse to listen. See note on 9:6. stubbornness of their hearts. See note on 3:17. totally worthless. See 24:8.

13:11 but they did not listen. And therefore the promise of Deut 26:19 can no longer be fulfilled in them.

13:12–14 The Lord uses the imagery of filled wineskins to point toward the eventual destruction of Judah's leaders and people.

13:13 kings . . . priests . . . prophets . . . all the inhabitants of Jerusalem. See 26:16; see also note on 1:18. drunkenness. In a literal sense (see, e.g., Is 28:7), but also symbolizing the effects the inhabitants of Jerusalem—with [a]drunkenness!

14 "I will [a]dash them against each other,
both the [b]fathers and the sons together," declares the LORD. "I will [c]not show pity nor be sorry nor have compassion so as not to destroy them." ' "
15 Listen and give heed, do not be
[a]haughty,
For the LORD has spoken.
16 [a]Give glory to the LORD your God,
Before He brings [b]darkness
And before your [c]feet stumble
On the dusky mountains,
And while you are hoping for light
He makes it into [d]deep darkness,
And turns it into gloom.
17 But [a]if you will not listen to it,
My soul will [b]sob in secret for such pride;
And my eyes will bitterly weep
And flow down with tears,
Because the [c]flock of the LORD has been taken captive.
18 Say to the [a]king and the queen mother,
"[b]Take a lowly seat,
For your beautiful [c]crown
Has come down from your head."
19 The [a]cities of the Negev have been locked up,
And there is no one to open them;
All [b]Judah has been carried into exile,
Wholly carried into exile.

20 "Lift up your eyes and see
Those coming [a]from the north.
Where is the [b]flock that was given you,
Your beautiful sheep?
21 "What will you say when He appoints over you—
And you yourself had taught them—
Former [1][a]companions to be head over
you?
Will not [b]pangs take hold of you
Like a woman in childbirth?
22 "If you [a]say in your heart,
'[b]Why have these things happened to
me?'
Because of the [c]magnitude of your iniquity
[d]Your skirts have been removed
And your heels have [1]been exposed.
23 "[a]Can the Ethiopian change his skin
Or the leopard his spots?
Then you also can [b]do good
Who are accustomed to doing evil.
24 "Therefore I will [a]scatter them like drifting straw
To the desert [b]wind.
25 "This is your [a]lot, the portion measured to you
From Me," declares the LORD,
"Because you have [b]forgotten Me
And trusted in falsehood.
26 "So I Myself have also [a]stripped your skirts off over your face,
That your shame may be seen.
27 "As for your [a]adulteries and your lustful neighings,
The [b]lewdness of your prostitution
On the [c]hills in the field,
I have seen your abominations.
Woe to you, O Jerusalem!
[d]How long will you remain unclean?"

of the wine of God's wrath (see 25:15–29; Ps 60:3; Is 51:17–20; Ezek 23:32–34).

13:14 dash them against each other. The various factions in Judah produced only confusion and chaos in the face of determined outside enemies. not show pity . . . sorry . . . compassion. See 21:7; see also Ezek 5:11.

13:15–17 Sinful pride carries the seeds of its own destruction, says the prophet.

13:15 Listen. See note on 2:4. do not be haughty. See v. 17; see also note on v. 9.

13:16 Give glory to . . . God. An exhortation to speak the truth and confess one's sins (see Josh 7:19 and note; John 9:24). while you are hoping for light. Cf. the description of the day of the Lord in Amos 5:18–20; 8:9.

13:17 My soul will sob. See note on 9:1. pride. See v. 15; see also note on v. 9. flock. People (see v. 20; Zech 10:3; see also notes on 2:8; 10:21). taken captive. Into exile (see v. 19).

13:18–19 The prophet speaks: Exile is imminent.

13:18 king and . . . queen mother. Probably Jehoiachin and Nehushta (2 Kin 24:8). If so, the date is 597 B.C., about 12 years after Josiah's death (see note on 11:1–13:27). crown Has come down. See 22:24–26; 29:2; 2 Kin 24:15.

13:19 Negev. The dry southland (see note on Gen 12:9). locked up. Blocked by debris (see Is 24:10). Wholly carried into exile. See Amos 1:6,9.

13:20–27 First the prophet speaks (vv. 20–23), then the Lord (vv. 24–27). Judah's willful rebellion has made exile inevitable.

13:20 your . . . you, Your. Jerusalem, personified as a woman (see vv. 21–22,26–27), is being addressed. the north. Babylonia (see 4:6; see also note on Is 41:25). flock . . . sheep. See note on v. 17.

13:21 Former companions. Perhaps Egypt and Babylon, who alternated in dominating Judah (see Introduction: Background). Like a woman in childbirth. See 6:24; 49:24; 50:43.

13:22 skirts . . . removed. Disgraced publicly, like a common prostitute (see vv. 26–27; Is 47:3; Hos 2:3,10).

13:23 A rhetorical question, expecting a negative answer (see 17:9).

13:24 like drifting straw. The fate of the wicked (see, e.g., Ps 1:4). desert wind. See note on 4:11.

13:25 forgotten Me. See note on 2:32.

13:26 See v. 22 and note.

13:27 adulteries and . . . lustful neighings. See note on 5:8. lewdness of . . . prostitution. See Ezek 16:27. How long . . . ? There is yet hope, however slender, to postpone the divine wrath (cf., e.g., 12:14–16).

14:1–15:21 Messages delivered by Jeremiah during an especially severe drought, the date of which is unknown.

14:1–15:9 After an initial vivid description of the drought

2 "Judah mourns
And [a]her gates languish;
They sit on the ground [b]in mourning,
And the [c]cry of Jerusalem has ascended.
3 "Their nobles have [a]sent their

The [c]farmers have been put to shame,
They have covered their heads.
5 "For even the doe in the field has given

Because there is [a]no grass.
6 "The [a]wild donkeys stand on the bare
heights;
They pant for air like jackals,
Their eyes fail
For there is [b]no vegetation.
7 "Although our [a]iniquities testify against us,
O LORD, act [b]for Your name's sake!
Truly our [c]apostasies have been many,
We have [d]sinned against You.
8 "O [a]Hope of Israel,
Its [b]Savior in [c]time of distress,
Why are You like a stranger in the land
Or like a traveler who has pitched his

9 "Why are You like a man dismayed,
Like a mighty man who [a]cannot save?
Yet [b]You are in our midst, O LORD,
And we are [c]called by Your name;
Do not forsake us!"

False Prophets

13 But, "Ah, Lord [1]GOD!" I said, "Look, the prophets are telling them, 'You [a]will not see the sword nor will you have famine, but I will give you [2]lasting [b]peace in this place.' "

14 Then the LORD said to me, "The [a]prophets are prophesying falsehood in My name. [b]I have neither sent them nor commanded them nor spoken to them; they are prophesying to you a [c]false vision, divination, futility and the deception of their own [1]minds.

15 "Therefore thus says the LORD concerning the prophets who are prophesying in My name, although it was not I who sent them—yet they keep saying, 'There will be no sword or famine in this land'—[a]by sword and famine those prophets shall [1]meet their end!

16 "The people also to whom they are prophesying will be [a]thrown out into the streets of Jerusalem because of the famine and the sword; and there will be no one to [b]bury them—neither them, nor their wives, (14:2–6), Jeremiah alternately prays (14:7–9,13,19–22) and God responds (14:10–12,14–18; 15:1–9).

14:1 drought. See 17:8. Unlike that in 3:3; 12:4, the suffering is increased because an enemy has invaded the land (see v. 18). Drought was one of the curses threatened (see 23:10) for disobedience to the covenant (see Lev 26:19–20; Deut 28:22–24).

14:2 gates. See 15:7; see also note on Gen 22:17.

14:3 nobles. A drought is no respecter of class distinctions. cover their heads. In mourning (see v. 4; 2 Sam 15:30; cf. 2 Sam 19:4).

14:4 For there has been no rain. See 1 Kin 17:7. Unlike Egypt, where the mighty Nile waters the ground, the Holy Land depends on adequate rainfall.

14:6 pant. The Hebrew underlying this word is translated "sniff the wind" in 2:24. There a female wild donkey (Jerusalem) was in the heat of desire, while here the male wild donkeys are panting because of a drought brought on by Judah's sin.

14:7–9 The prophet prays on behalf of the people (see v. 11).

14:7 for Your name's sake. See v. 21; Josh 7:9; Is 48:9–11. apostasies. See 2:19; 3:22; 5:6.

14:8 O Hope of Israel. See v. 22; 17:13; 50:7; Acts 28:20.

14:9 we are called by Your name. We belong to you, our ever-present Savior (see note on 7:10).

14:10–12 The Lord responds.

14:10–11 this people. God does not acknowledge them as His own (see Is 6:9–10; 8:6,11–12).

14:10 wander. After false gods (see 2:23,31). the LORD does not . . . account. The Hebrew for these three lines is quoted verbatim from Hos 8:13 (cf. Hos 9:9).

14:11 Do not pray. See note on 7:16; cf. 1 Sam 7:8; 12:19.

14:12 not . . . accept them. See v. 10. Sacrifice is to no avail when unaccompanied by repentance (see note on 6:20). sword, famine and pestilence. Curses for violating God's covenant (see Lev 26:25–26); the first occurrence of this triad, which occurs 15 times in Jeremiah (see Introduction: Literary Features).

14:13 Jeremiah reminds the Lord of what the false prophets are saying. not . . . sword nor . . . famine. See 5:12. lasting peace. Jeremiah's elaboration of the false prophets' "Peace, peace" (see 6:14; 8:11).

14:14–18 The Lord responds.

14:14 falsehood. See 5:12. in My name. See Deut 18:20,22. deception of their own minds. See 23:26.

14:15 those prophets shall meet their end. See 28:15–17; Deut 18:20.

14:16 no one to bury them. See note on 7:33. wives . . . sons . . . daughters. All would perish, because all had worshiped false gods (see note on 7:18).

Judgment Must Come

15 Then the LORD said to me, "Even [a]though [b]Moses and [c]Samuel were to [d]stand before Me, My [1]heart would not be [2]with this people; [e]send them away from My presence and let them go!

2 "And it shall be that when they say to you, 'Where should we go?' then you are to tell them, 'Thus says the LORD:

And those destined for the sword, to the sword;
And those destined for famine, to

And those destined for captivity, to

3 "I will [a]appoint over them four kinds of doom," declares the LORD: "the sword to slay, the [b]dogs to drag off, and the [c]birds of the sky and the beasts of the earth to devour and destroy.

4 "I will [a]make them an object of horror among all the kingdoms of the earth because of [b]Manasseh, the son of Hezekiah, the king of Judah, for what he did in Jerusalem.

5 "Indeed, who will have [a]pity on you, O
Jerusalem,
Or who will [b]mourn for you,
Or who will turn aside to ask about your welfare?
6 "You who have [a]forsaken Me," declares
the LORD,
"You keep [b]going backward.
So I will [c]stretch out My hand against you and destroy you;
I am [d]tired of relenting!

14:17 my eyes flow down with tears. See 9:18; 13:17. virgin daughter. Used of Jerusalem in Is 37:22 (see note there; see also Is 23:12 and note); see 18:13.

14:19–22 The prophet prays on behalf of the people.

14:20 iniquity of our fathers. See 2:5–6; 7:25–26. we have sinned. Repentance brings restoration (see Deut 30:2–3).

14:21 throne of Your glory. The Jerusalem temple (see 17:12; 2 Kin 19:14–15; Ps 99:1–2). Remember and do not annul Your covenant. Jeremiah pleads the ancient promise of God in Lev 26:44–45.

14:22 See Hos 2:8,21–22. idols. See note on 2:5. Is it not You . . . ? Only the Lord (not Baal) can send the showers to end the drought (see v. 1). we hope in You. See note on v. 8.

15:1–9 The Lord responds, concluding this section (see note on 14:1–15:9).

15:1 Moses and Samuel. Famed for their intercession for sinful Israel (see Ex 32:11–14,30–34; Num 14:13–23; Deut 9:18–20, 25–29; 1 Sam 7:5–9; 12:19–25; Ps 99:6–8). stand before Me. The posture of God's servants as they are about to pray to Him (see Gen 18:22). send them away. The people are so wicked that God refuses to hear prayers offered on their behalf. They are beyond divine help (see notes on 7:16; 14:11–12).

15:2 See Ezek 14:21; 33:27. death. Probably by plague; see 14:12 (and note), where "sword, famine and pestilence" are God's three agents of destruction, paralleling the first three here.

15:3–4 Foreseen in Deut 28:25–26.

15:3 four kinds. Not the same four as in v. 2, but an elaboration of three of the fates awaiting the corpses of those killed by the sword. The seventh-century B.C. vassal treaties of Esarhaddon present similar curses: "May Ninurta, leader of the gods, fell you with his fierce arrow, fill the plain with your corpses, and give your flesh to the eagles and vultures to feed on . . . May dogs and pigs eat your flesh." dogs. See 1 Kin 21:23. beasts of the earth. See Rev 6:8.

15:4 an object of horror. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "an example of terror" in the parallel in Deut 28:25. Manasseh . . . what he did in Jerusalem. Manasseh, good King Josiah's grandfather, was the most wicked king in Judah's long history (see 2 Kin 21:1–11,16). His sins were a primary cause of Judah's eventual destruction (see 2 Kin 21:12–15; 23:26–27; 24:3–4).

15:5–9 A poem concerning the forthcoming destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. (see Lam 1:1,12,21; 2:13,20).

At the gates of the land;
I will [b]bereave them of children, I will destroy My people;

Anguish and dismay.

Her [b]sun has set while it was yet day;
She has been [c]shamed and humiliated.

I have not [c]lent, nor have men lent money to me,
Yet everyone curses me.

Jeremiah's Prayer and God's Answer

15 [a]You who know, O LORD,
Remember me, take notice of me,
And [b]take vengeance for me on my persecutors.
Do not, in view of Your patience, take me away;
Know that [c]for Your sake I endure reproach.
16 Your words were found and I [a]ate them,
And Your [b]words became for me a joy and the delight of my heart;
For I have been [c]called by Your name, O LORD God of hosts.
17 I [a]did not sit in the circle of merrymakers,
Nor did I exult.
Because of Your hand upon me I sat [b]alone,
For You [c]filled me with indignation.
18 Why has my pain been perpetual
And my [a]wound incurable, refusing to be healed?

15:7 winnow. See note on Ruth 1:22. Winnowing as a figure of judgment is found also in 51:2; Prov 20:8,26; Is 41:16. gates of the land. The approaches to the land. bereave . . . My people. The young men will fall in battle, and Judah and Jerusalem will be left childless (see Ezek 5:17). did not repent. Reminiscent of the refrain in Amos 4:6,8–11:"Yet you have not returned to Me," where the same Hebrew verb is used (see note on 3:1).

15:8 widows . . . more numerous . . . Than the sand of the seas. A tragic reversal of the covenant promise of innumerable offspring (see Gen 22:17 and note). destroyer. Babylon (see note on 4:7). at noonday . . . suddenly. Military attacks at noon were unexpected (see note on 6:4). Anguish. See note on 4:19.

15:9 seven. The complete, ideal number of sons (see Ruth 4:15 and note)—soon to be destroyed. sun has set while it was yet day. See Amos 8:9; cf. Matt 27:45. survivors. Lit."remnant" (see note on 6:9). Even they will be put to the sword (see Mic 6:14).

15:10–21 The third of Jeremiah's "confessions" (see Introduction: Author and Date), including in this case two responses by the Lord (vv. 11–14, 19–21).

15:10 See 20:14–15; Job 3:3–10. mother. See v. 8. In the OT, adjacent paragraphs are often linked by key words. have not lent, nor have men lent. Have not become involved in matters likely to evoke dispute or difference of opinion.

15:11–14 The Lord speaks, first to Jeremiah (v. 11), then to the people of Judah (vv. 12–14).

15:11 God encourages Jeremiah. I will cause the enemy to make supplication to you. Fulfilled, e.g., in 21:1–2; 37:3; 38:14–26; 42:1–3.

15:12 A rhetorical question assuming a negative answer. iron. Symbolic of great strength (see 28:13). from the north. From Babylonia (see note on Is 41:25).

15:13–14 Repeated in large part in 17:3–4.

15:13 Fulfilled in 52:17–23. without cost. Cf. Is 55:1. People and plunder alike would be free for the taking (see note on Is 52:3).

15:14 a fire has been kindled in My anger. Quoted verbatim from Deut 32:22, where the Hebrew is translated "For a fire is kindled in My anger."

15:15 You who know. The Lord is aware of what Jeremiah has suffered (see v. 10). Remember. Express concern for (see note on Gen 8:1).

15:16 Your words . . . I ate them. I digested them, I assimilated them, I made them a part of me (see Ezek 2:8–3:3; Rev 10:9–10). were found. Perhaps referring to the discovery of the Book of the Law in the temple during the reign of Josiah in 621 B.C. (see 2 Kin 22:13; 23:2; see also note on 1:2). became . . . the delight of my heart. See Ps 1:2. I have been called by Your name. See 14:9. I belong to You (see note on 7:10).

15:17 Your hand. Divine constraint (see 2 Kin 3:15; Is 8:11 and note; Ezek 1:3; 3:14,22; 37:1; 40:1). sat alone. Jeremiah never married (see 16:1), and he attracted only a few friends (see Introduction: Author and Date). indignation. At the sins of Judah (see 6:11).

15:18 Two rhetorical questions used by Jeremiah to express his nagging doubts about himself, his mission and God's faithfulness. pain been perpetual . . . wound incurable. Jerusalem is

Will You indeed be to me [b]like a deceptive stream
With water that is unreliable?

19 Therefore, thus says the LORD,
"[a]If you return, then I will restore you—
[b]Before Me you will stand;
And [c]if you extract the precious from
the worthless,
You will become [1]My spokesman.
They for their part may turn to you,
But as for you, you must not turn to
them.
20 "Then I will [a]make you to this people
A fortified wall of bronze;
And though they fight against you,
They will not prevail over you;
For [b]I am with you to save you
And deliver you," declares the LORD.
21 "So I will [a]deliver you from the hand of the wicked,
And I will [b]redeem you from the [1]grasp of the violent."

Distresses Foretold

16 The word of the LORD also came to me saying,
2 "You shall not take a wife for yourself nor have sons or daughters in this place."
3 For thus says the LORD concerning the sons and daughters born in this place, and concerning their [a]mothers who bear them, and their [b]fathers who beget them in this land:
4 "They will [a]die of deadly diseases, they [b]will not be lamented or buried; they will be as [c]dung on the surface of the ground and come to an end by sword and famine, and their carcasses will become food for the [d]birds of the sky and for the beasts of the earth."
5 For thus says the LORD, "Do not enter a house of [1a]mourning, or go to lament or to console them; for I have [b]withdrawn My peace from this people," declares the LORD, "My [c]lovingkindness and compassion.
6 "Both [a]great men and small will die in this land; they will not be buried, they will not be lamented, nor will anyone [b]gash himself or [c]shave his head for them.
7 "Men will not [a]break bread in mourning for them, to comfort anyone for the dead, nor give them a cup of consolation to drink for anyone's father or mother.
8 "Moreover you shall [a]not go into a house of feasting to sit with them to eat and drink."
9 For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: "Behold, I am going to [1a]eliminate from this place, before your eyes and in your time, the voice of rejoicing and the voice of gladness, the voice of the groom and the voice of the bride.
10 "Now when you tell this people all these words, they will say to you, '[a]For what reason has the LORD declared all this great calamity against us? And what is our iniquity, or what is our sin which we have committed against the LORD our God?'
11 "Then you are to say to them, 'It is [a]because your forefathers have forsaken Me,' declares the LORD, 'and have followed [b]other gods and served them and bowed down to them; but Me they have forsaken and have not kept My law.
12 'You too have done evil, even [a]more than your forefathers; for behold, you are each one walking according to the [b]stubbornness of his own [c]evil heart, without listening to Me.

similarly described in 30:12–15, together with God's promise of healing in 30:17. Will You indeed be to me . . . ? See Ps 22:1; Matt 27:46. deceptive stream. See Mic 1:14, where also "deception" probably refers to the kind of intermittent streams described in Job 6:15–20. Jeremiah here accuses God of being undependable, in contrast to the Lord's own earlier description of Himself as a "fountain of living waters" (see 2:13 and note).

15:19–21 The Lord commands Jeremiah to repent, then encourages him and renews his call.

15:19 return . . . restore . . . turn . . . turn. The Hebrew root is the same for all four words (see notes on 3:1; Is 1:25–26). Before Me you will stand. The appropriate posture for the obedient servant (see Num 16:9; Deut 10:8). spokesman. Lit. "mouth" (see 1:9 and note; Ex 4:15–16; see also note on Ex 7:1–2).

15:20 See 1:8,18–19 and notes.

15:21 deliver you from the . . . wicked. See, e.g., 36:26; 38:6–13.

16:1–17:18 Messages of disaster and comfort, with the note of disaster predominating (16:1–13,16–18; 16:21–17:6; 17:9–13,18). The first half of the section is prose (16:1–18), the second half poetry (16:19–17:18).

16:2 Jeremiah's ministry was such that he had to face life alone (see note on 15:17), without the comfort and support a family can provide. You shall not. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is used for the most forceful of negative commands, as, e.g., in the Ten Commandments (see Ex 20:3–4,7,13–17). this place. Judah and Jerusalem, especially the latter (see, e.g., Zeph 1:4).

16:4 diseases. Cf. 14:18. not be lamented or buried. See v. 6; 7:33 and note; 8:2; 14:16; 25:33. dung. See 8:2; 9:22; 25:33. end by sword and famine. See 14:15–16; see also note on 5:12. food for the birds . . . for the beasts. See note on 7:33.

16:5 Do not . . . go to lament. See the similar command of God in Ezek 24:16–17,22–23.

16:6 gash himself or shave his head. Actions forbidden in the law (see Lev 19:28; 21:5 and note; Deut 14:1 and note), but sometimes practiced by Israelites (see 41:5; Ezek 7:18; Mic 1:16).

16:7 Food was customarily offered to mourners (see 2 Sam 3:35; 12:16–17; Ezek 24:17,22; Hos 9:4). cup of consolation. In later Judaism a special cup of wine given to the chief mourner.

16:8 not go into a house of. The present crisis is a time for neither feasting nor mourning (see v. 5).

16:9 See 7:34; 25:10; contrast 33:10–11.

16:10–13 The same question but a more elaborate answer than in 5:19 (see 9:12–16; 22:8–9; Deut 29:24–28; 1 Kin 9:8–9).

16:10 Cf. the similar questions in Mal 1:6–7; 2:17; 3:7–8,13.

16:11 See 11:10, where committing sins like those mentioned here is called breaking the Lord's covenant.

16:12 done evil . . . more than your forefathers. See 1 Kin 14:9. The coming judgment cannot be blamed on the sins of previ-

13 'So I will [a]hurl you out of this land into the [b]land which you have not known, neither you nor your fathers; and there you will [c]serve other gods day and night, for I will grant you no favor.'

God Will Restore Them

14 "[a]Therefore behold, days are coming," declares the LORD, "when it will no longer be said, 'As the LORD lives, who [b]brought up the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt,'

15 but, 'As the LORD lives, who brought up the sons of Israel from the [a]land of the north and from all the countries where He had banished them.' For I will restore them to their own land which I gave to their fathers.

16 "Behold, I am going to send for many [a]fishermen," declares the LORD, "and they will fish for them; and afterwards I will send for many hunters, and they will [b]hunt them [c]from every mountain and every hill and from the clefts of the rocks.

17 "[a]For My eyes are on all their ways; they are not hidden from My face, [b]nor is their iniquity concealed from My eyes.

18 "I will first [a]doubly repay their iniquity and their sin, because they have [b]polluted My land; they have filled My inheritance with the carcasses of their [c]detestable idols and with their abominations."

19 O LORD, my [a]strength and my stronghold,
And my [b]refuge in the day of distress,
To You the [c]nations will come
From the ends of the earth and say,
"Our fathers have inherited nothing but [d]falsehood, Futility and [1e]things of no profit."

20 Can man make gods for himself?
Yet they are [a]not gods!

21 "Therefore behold, I am going to make them know—
This time I will [a]make them know
My [1]power and My might;
And they shall [b]know that My name is the LORD."

The Deceitful Heart

17 The [a]sin of Judah is written down with an [b]iron stylus;
With a diamond point it is [c]engraved upon the tablet of their heart
And on the horns of [1]their altars,

2 As they remember their [a]children,
So they remember their altars and their [1b]Asherim
By [c]green trees on the high hills.

3 O [a]mountain of Mine in the countryside,
I will [b]give over your wealth and all your treasures for booty,
Your high places for sin throughout your borders.

4 And you will, even of yourself, [a]let go of your inheritance

ous generations (see 31:29–30; Ezek 18:2–4). according to the stubbornness of his own evil heart. See note on 3:17; see also 7:24.

16:13 See Deut 28:36,64. I will hurl you out. Into exile (see 7:15; 22:26; Deut 29:28). land . . . you have not known . . . nor your fathers. Babylonia (see 9:16).

16:14–15 Repeated almost verbatim in 23:7–8, the passage outlines nearly 1,000 years of Israelite history: exodus (c. 1446 B.C.), exile (586), restoration (537). See Is 43:16–21; 48:20–21; 51:9–11. As the LORD lives. See note on Gen 42:15.

16:15 land of the north. Babylonia (see note on Is 41:25).

16:16 fishermen . . . hunters. Symbolic of conquerors (see Ezek 12:13; 29:4; Amos 4:2 and note). mountain and . . . hill. To which the people would flee in vain (see 4:29 and note). clefts of the rocks. The phrase occurs outside Jeremiah only in Is 7:19. The Lord may be recalling here the episode of the ruined linen belt, hidden in a "crevice of the rock" (13:4).

16:17 My eyes are on all their ways. See 32:19. they are not hidden from My face. See 23:24.

16:18 doubly repay. See 17:18; Is 40:2 and note. polluted My land. Made it ceremonially unclean (see 2:7; 3:1–2; see also note on Lev 4:12). My inheritance. God's land (see 17:4; see also note on 2:7). carcasses of their detestable idols. See Lev 26:30. Idols have no life in them (see Ps 115:4–7; 135:15–17). abominations. Detestable in the Lord's eyes (see 2:7; see also note on Lev 7:21).

16:19–20 The prophet interjects a few brief words of hope.

16:19 strength . . . stronghold . . . refuge in the day of distress. Such descriptions of God's dependability and protecting power are common in the Psalms (see, e.g., Ps 18:1–2; 28:7–8; 59:9,16–17). To You the nations will come. See 4:2 and note; see also Is 2:2–4; 42:4; 45:14; 49:6; Zech 8:20–23; 14:16. Futility. See note on 2:5. things of no profit. See note on 2:8.

16:20 not gods. See 5:7.

16:21–17:4 The Lord responds to Jeremiah and continues His solemn warnings that began in v. 1.

16:21 make them know . . . make them know . . . shall know. The same Hebrew root underlies each of these words. God would "cause them to know," and then they would surely "know." them . . . they. Probably includes Judah as well as the nations (see Ezek 36:23; 37:14). know that My name is the LORD. "Name" often means "person" or "being" in the OT (see note on Ps 5:11). Ezekiel's equivalent of Jeremiah's phrase is "know that I am the LORD," found in his prophecy about 65 times (see Introduction to Ezekiel: Theological Themes).

17:1 written . . . with an iron stylus. The method used to inscribe the most permanent of records (see Job 19:24). diamond. Or "flint," which was one of the hardest of stones known to ancient man (see Ezek 3:9; Zech 7:12). tablet of their heart. For the same imagery see Prov 3:3; 7:3. horns of their altars. The people of Judah have backslid so badly that their sins are engraved not only on their hearts but also on their altars—to be remembered by God rather than to be atoned for (see Lev 16:18).

17:2 altars and their Asherim. See notes on Ex 34:13; Deut 7:5. green trees . . . high hills. See note on 2:20.

17:3–4 Repeated in large part from 15:13–14 (see notes there).

17:3 mountain of Mine. Mount Zion, the location of the temple in Jerusalem (see Ps 24:3; Is 2:3; Zech 8:3). high places. Locales of idolatrous worship.

17:4 inheritance. The land of Canaan (see 16:18; see also note on 2:7).

That I gave you;
And I will make you serve your [b]enemies
In the [c]land which you do not know;
For you have [d]kindled a fire in My anger
Which will burn forever.

5 Thus says the LORD,
"[a]Cursed is the man who trusts in mankind
And makes [b]flesh his [1]strength,
And whose heart turns away from the LORD.
6 "For he will be like a [a]bush in the desert
And will not see when prosperity comes,
But will live in stony wastes in the wilderness,
A [b]land of salt [1]without inhabitant.
7 "[a]Blessed is the man who trusts in the LORD
And whose [b]trust is the LORD.
8 "For he will be like a [a]tree planted by the water,
That extends its roots by a stream
And will not fear when the heat comes;
But its leaves will be green,
And it will not be anxious in a year of [b]drought
Nor cease to yield fruit.

9 "The [a]heart is more [b]deceitful than all else
And is desperately [c]sick;
Who can understand it?
10 "I, the LORD, [a]search the heart,
I test the [1]mind,
Even [b]to give to each man according to his ways,
According to the [2]results of his deeds.
11 "As a partridge that hatches eggs which it has not laid,
So is he who [a]makes a fortune, but unjustly;
In the midst of his days it will forsake him,
And in [1]the end he will be a [b]fool."

12 [a]A glorious throne on high from the beginning
Is the place of our sanctuary.
13 O LORD, the [a]hope of Israel,
All who [b]forsake You will be put to shame.
Those who turn [1]away on earth will be [c]written down,
Because they have forsaken the fountain of living water, even the LORD.
14 [a]Heal me, O LORD, and I will be healed;
[b]Save me and I will be saved,
For You are my [c]praise.
15 Look, they keep [a]saying to me,
"Where is the word of the LORD?
Let it come now!"
16 But as for me, I have not hurried away from being a shepherd after You,
Nor have I longed for the woeful day;
[a]You Yourself know that the utterance of my lips
Was in Your presence.
17 Do not be a [a]terror to me;
You are my [b]refuge in the day of disaster.

17:5–8 See Ps 1 and notes.
17:5 Cursed. See note on 11:3. flesh. The opposite of "spirit" (see Is 31:3; see also Job 10:4).
17:6 bush. See 48:6. Apart from these two places in Jeremiah, the Hebrew for this word appears elsewhere in the OT only in Ps 102:17, where it is translated "destitute." prosperity. Lit. "good," as in Deut 28:12, where it refers to rain. land of salt. An evidence of God's curse also in Deut 29:23.
17:8 planted. Or "transplanted." stream. See Is 44:4, where the same Hebrew root is used again to illustrate the source of the righteous man's strength. drought. See note on 14:1. yield fruit. The Lord's answer to Jeremiah's complaint in 12:1–2 (see notes there).
17:9 The prophet makes an observation, then asks a rhetorical question. The heart. The source of the "springs of life," in which wickedness must not be allowed to take root (Prov 4:23). deceitful. The Hebrew root for this word is the basis of the name Jacob (see note on Gen 27:36).
17:10 The Lord responds to Jeremiah's question. search . . . test. See 11:20; 12:3. mind. Lit. "kidneys" (see 11:20). According to . . . his deeds. Lit. "the fruit of his deeds" (cf. 6:19).
17:11 The prophet uses a proverb to make his point (as in v. 9); see especially Prov 23:5. partridge. Mentioned elsewhere in the OT only in 1 Sam 26:20. hatches eggs. The Hebrew root underlying this phrase is found again only in Is 34:15. Its Aramaic cognate, however, is used to explain Job 39:14 in the Targum (ancient Aramaic paraphrase). In the midst of his days. See Ps 102:24. fool. Morally and spiritually reprobate (see note on Prov 1:7).
17:12–18 The fourth of Jeremiah's "confessions" (see Introduction: Author and Date).
17:12 glorious throne. See note on 14:21; see also Is 6:1. The Lord is often represented as sitting on a throne between the cherubim on the ark of the covenant in the temple (see, e.g., Ps 80:1; 99:1). on high. Mount Zion is the "high mountain of Israel" (Ezek 20:40). from the beginning. From time immemorial, Zion had been chosen by God as the place of His sanctuary (see Ex 15:17).
17:13 forsaken . . . fountain of living water. Contrast 15:18; see note on 2:13.
17:14 Heal me. See 15:18; Ps 6:2. You are my praise. Equals "you are the One I praise" (likewise in Deut 10:21).
17:15 See 20:8. Jeremiah's enemies accuse him of being a false prophet (see Deut 18:21–22). The accusation must have been voiced before the first invasion of Judah by the Babylonians in 605 B.C. after the battle of Carchemish (see 46:2; see also Introduction: Background).
17:16 shepherd. Symbolic of leadership (see note on 2:8), and therefore of Jeremiah's role as a prophet.
17:17 my refuge. See note on 16:19. day of disaster. See v. 18; 15:11.

18 Let those who persecute me be [a]put to shame, but as for me, [b]let me not be put to shame;
Let them be dismayed, but let me not be dismayed.
[c]Bring on them a day of disaster,
And crush them with twofold destruction!

The Sabbath Must Be Kept

19 Thus the LORD said to me, "Go and stand in the [1]public gate, through which the kings of Judah come in and go out, as well as in all the gates of Jerusalem;

20 and say to them, '[a]Listen to the word of the LORD, [b]kings of Judah, and all Judah and all inhabitants of Jerusalem who come in through these gates:

21 'Thus says the LORD, "[a]Take heed for yourselves, and [b]do not carry any load on the sabbath day or bring anything in through the gates of Jerusalem.

22 "You shall not bring a load out of your houses on the sabbath day [a]nor do any work, but keep the sabbath day holy, as I [b]commanded your [1]forefathers.

23 "Yet they [a]did not listen or incline their ears, but [b]stiffened their necks in order not to listen or take correction.

24 "But it will come about, if you [a]listen attentively to Me," declares the LORD, "to [b]bring no load in through the gates of this city on the sabbath day, [c]but to keep the sabbath day holy by doing no work on it,

The Potter and the Clay

18 The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD saying,

2 "Arise and [a]go down to the potter's house, and there I will announce My words to you."

3 Then I went down to the potter's house, and there he was, making something on the [1]wheel.

4 But the vessel that he was making of clay was spoiled in the hand of the potter; so

17:18 those who persecute me. See 15:15. twofold. see 16:18; Is 40:2 and note.

17:19–27 An extended commentary on the sabbath-day commandment (the covenant sign of God's relationship with Israel; see Ex 31:13–17; Ezek 20:12), probably the version recorded in Deut 5:12–15 (see especially note on v. 22).

17:19 public. Lit."sons of the people."The Hebrew for this word is translated "common people" in 26:23; 2 Kin 23:6 and "lay people" in 2 Chr 35:5,7. The latter meaning seems intended here, and therefore the "public gate" is most likely the east gate of the temple, where the people assembled in large numbers and which the kings would be expected to use frequently.

17:20 kings of Judah. The current king and all subsequent ruling members of David's dynasty (see, e.g., v. 25; 1:18; 2:26; 13:13; 19:3).

17:21 Take heed. See Josh 23:11. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "watch yourselves carefully" in Deut 4:15, and a similar expression is translated "Take heed then to your spirit" in Mal 2:15, stressing the urgency and solemnity of the Lord's command.

17:22 You shall not. See note on 16:2. The Hebrew for this negative expression is stronger than that in v. 21. not . . . do any work . . . keep the sabbath day holy. Specific references to the sabbath-day commandment of Ex 20:8,10; Deut 5:12,14. as I commanded. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is unique to the Ten Commandments as recorded in Deuteronomy (see Deut 5:12,15–16; see note on vv. 19–27).

17:23 did not listen . . . stiffened their necks. Repeated from 7:26 (see note there; see also 11:10). not . . . take correction. See 2:30; 5:3.

17:25 Repeated in part in 22:4. King David's dynasty will last forever (see 23:5–6; 30:9; 33:15; 2 Sam 7:12–17), and Jerusalem will be inhabited for all time (Zech 2:2–12; 8:3; 14:11), if the people of Judah obey the Lord (see v. 27)—and they will, according to 31:33–34.

17:26 land of Benjamin. Jeremiah's hometown was located there (see 1:1). lowland . . . hill country. See note on Deut 1:7. Negev. See note on Gen 12:9. sacrifices of thanksgiving. The repetition here of "bringing" from earlier in the verse separates the thank offerings from the other specific sacrifices mentioned and gives them the more general designation of offerings of thanksgiving (as intended also in 33:11).

17:27 Disobedience will bring disaster and will negate—at least temporarily—the promises of vv. 24–26. gates of Jerusalem. The symbols of sabbath violation would be the first structures destroyed. kindle a fire . . . devour the palaces. Common prophetic language for divine judgment against rebellious cities (see 49:27; 50:32; Amos 1:4,7,10,12,14; 2:2,5; cf. Jer 21:14).

18:1–20:18 Three chapters focusing on lessons the Lord taught Jeremiah at the potter's workshop, probably before 605 B.C. (see note on 17:15).

18:1–17 As the potter controls what he does with the clay, so the Lord is sovereign over the people of Judah.

18:2 go down. The potter's workshop was probably located on the slopes of the Valley of Ben-hinnom near the potsherd gate (see 19:2 and note).

18:3 wheel. Lit."two stones." Both wheels were attached to a single upright shaft, one end of which was sunk permanently in the ground. The potter would spin the lower wheel with his foot and would work the clay on the upper wheel; the process is described in the Apocryphal book of Ecclesiasticus (38:29–30).

18:4 spoiled. The Hebrew for this word is translated "ruined"

he remade it into another vessel, as it pleased the potter to make.

5 Then the word of the LORD came to me saying,

6 "Can I not, O house of Israel, deal with you as this potter does?" declares the LORD. "Behold, like the [a]clay in the potter's hand, so are you in My hand, O house of Israel.

7 "At one moment I might speak concerning a nation or concerning a kingdom to [a]uproot, to pull down, or to destroy it;

8 [a]if that nation against which I have spoken turns from its evil, I will [1][b]relent concerning the calamity I planned to bring on it.

9 "Or at another moment I might speak concerning a nation or concerning a kingdom to [a]build up or to plant it;

10 if it does [a]evil in My sight by not obeying My voice, then I will [1][b]think better of the good with which I had promised to [2]bless it.

11 "So now then, speak to the men of Judah and against the inhabitants of Jerusalem saying, 'Thus says the LORD, "Behold, I am [a]fashioning calamity against you and devising a plan against you. Oh [b]turn back, each of you from his evil way, and [1]reform your ways and your deeds." '

12 "But [a]they will say, 'It's hopeless! For we are going to follow our own plans, and each of us will act according to the [b]stubbornness of his evil heart.'

13 "Therefore thus says the LORD,
'[a]Ask now among the nations,
Who ever heard the like of [1]this?
The [b]virgin of Israel
Has done a most [c]appalling thing.

14 'Does the snow of Lebanon forsake the rock of the open country?
Or is the cold flowing water from a foreign land ever snatched away?

15 'For [a]My people have forgotten Me,
[b]They burn incense [1]to worthless gods
And they [2]have stumbled [3]from their ways,
[3]From the [c]ancient paths,
To walk in bypaths,
Not on a [d]highway,

16 To make their land a [a]desolation,
An object of perpetual [b]hissing;
Everyone who passes by it will be astonished
And [c]shake his head.

17 'Like an [a]east wind I will [b]scatter them
Before the enemy;
I will [1]show them [c]My back and not My face
[d]In the day of their calamity.' "

18 Then they said, "Come and let us [a]devise plans against Jeremiah. Surely the [b]law is not going to be lost to the priest, nor [c]counsel to the sage, nor the divine [d]word to the prophet! Come on and let us [e]strike at him with our tongue, and let us [f]give no heed to any of his words."

19 Do give heed to me, O LORD,
And listen to [1]what my opponents are saying!

in 13:7 with respect to the linen belt that Jeremiah had hidden (see note there). as it pleased the potter. The flaw was in the clay itself, not in the potter's skill.

18:6 like the clay . . . so are you. Biblical imagery often pictures mankind as made of clay by a potter (see Job 4:19 and note). potter's. The Hebrew for this word is translated "Maker" in 10:16 with reference to God.

18:7–10 The Lord retains the right of limiting His own absolute sovereignty on the basis of human response to His offers of pardon and restoration and His threats of judgment and destruction. At . . . if . . . at . . . if. God's promises and threats are conditioned on man's actions. God, who Himself does not change (see Num 23:19; Mal 3:6; James 1:17), nevertheless will change His preannounced response to man, depending on what the latter does (see note on 4:28; see also Joel 2:13; Jon 3:9 and note; Jon 3:8–4:2; 4:11).

18:7 uproot . . . pull down . . . destroy. See 1:10 and note.

18:8 See 26:3. evil . . . calamity. The Hebrew is the same for both words (also in v. 11).

18:9 built up . . . plant it. See 1:10 and note.

18:11 devising a plan. See Esth 8:3; 9:25; Ezek 38:10.

18:12 It's hopeless! See 2:25; see also note on Is 57:10. act according to . . . his evil heart. See note on 3:17.

18:13–17 See 2:10–13.

18:13 virgin of Israel. See 14:17 and note. appalling thing. See 5:30; 23:14; Hos 6:10.

18:14–15 Although nature is reliable (v. 14), Judah is fickle and unfaithful (v. 15).

18:14 Lebanon. One of the highest of the northern mountains (see 22:6), reaching an altitude of over 10,000 feet.

18:15 My people have forgotten Me. Repeated from 2:32 (see note there). burn incense. See note on 1:16. worthless gods. Lit. "nothing" (see Ps 31:6). The Hebrew for this phrase is different from that in either 2:5 or 2:8 (see note on 2:8). they have stumbled. See 2 Chr 28:23. ancient paths. See note on 6:16. Not on a highway. See note on Is 35:8.

18:16 desolation . . . astonished. The same Hebrew root underlies both words. object of . . . hissing. See 19:8; 25:9,18; 29:18; 51:37. The phrase implies hissing or whistling to express shock, ridicule and contempt. Everyone . . . astonished. See 19:8; 1 Kin 9:8. shake his head. See 48:27; Job 16:4 and note; see also Ps 44:14; 109:25.

18:17 east wind. See note on 4:11; see also Ps 48:7. show them My back and not My face. As the people themselves had done to God (see 2:27). His face symbolizes His gracious blessing and favor (see Num 6:24–26).

18:18–23 The fifth of Jeremiah's "confessions" (see Introduction: Author and Date).

18:18 they. Jeremiah's enemies (see note on 17:15). plans against Jeremiah. See v. 12; 11:18–23; 12:6; 15:10–11,15–21. the law. Delegated to the priests (see note on Deut 31:11). priest . . . sage . . . prophet. See 8:8–10; see also Ezek 7:26, where the wise are replaced by the elders. strike at him with our tongue. See note on 9:3.

18:20 good . . . repaid with evil. See Ps 35:12. dug a pit. Symbolic of his enemies' plots against him (see v. 22; Ps 57:6 and

For they have [b]dug a pit for [1]me.
Remember how I [c]stood before You
To speak good on their behalf,
So as to turn away Your wrath from them.
21 Therefore, [a]give their children over to famine
And deliver them up to the [1]power of the sword;
And let their wives become [b]childless and [c]widowed.
Let their men also be smitten to death,
Their [d]young men struck down by the sword in battle.
22 May an [a]outcry be heard from their houses,
When You suddenly bring raiders upon them;
[b]For they have dug a pit to capture me
And [c]hidden snares for my feet.
23 Yet You, O LORD, know
All their [1]deadly designs against me;
[a]Do not [2]forgive their iniquity
Or blot out their sin from Your sight.
But may they be [3b]overthrown before You;
Deal with them in the [c]time of Your anger!

The Broken Jar

19 Thus says the LORD, "Go and buy a [a]potter's earthenware [b]jar, and take some of the [c]elders of the people and some of the [1d]senior priests.

2 "Then go out to the [a]valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entrance of the potsherd gate, and [b]proclaim there the words that I tell you,

3 and say, 'Hear the word of the LORD, O [a]kings of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem: thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "Behold I am about to bring a [b]calamity upon this place, at which the [c]ears of everyone that hears of it will tingle.

4 "Because they have [a]forsaken Me and have [b]made this an alien place and have burned [1]sacrifices in it to [c]other gods, that neither they nor their forefathers nor the kings of Judah had ever known, and because they have filled this place with the [d]blood of the innocent

7 "I will [a]make void the counsel of Judah and Jerusalem in this place, and [b]I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies and by the hand of those who seek their life; and I will give over their [c]carcasses as food for the birds of the sky and the beasts of the earth.

note; Prov 22:14; 23:27). stood before You. See note on 15:1. speak good on their behalf. See 14:7–9,21.

18:21 deliver them up to the power of the sword. The Hebrew underlying this phrase occurs also in Ps 63:10; Ezek 35:5. be smitten to death. Lit."be slain by death," probably referring to plague, as in 15:2 (see note there).

18:22–23 See Ps 141:8–10.

18:22 hidden snares. See Ps 140:5; 142:3.

18:23 You, O LORD, know. See 12:3; 15:15. Do not forgive their iniquity . . . may they be overthrown before You. A prayer not for human vengeance but for divine vindication. blot out. The Phoenician cognate of the Hebrew for this phrase appears in a ninth-century B.C. inscription on a gateway:"If . . . a man . . . blots out the name of Azitawadda from this gate . . . may (the gods) wipe out . . . that man!"

19:1–15 A jar deliberately broken by Jeremiah (vv. 1–10) symbolizes the forthcoming destruction of Judah and Jerusalem (vv. 11–15). In ch. 18, the potter's clay was still moist and pliable, making it possible to reshape and rework it (see 18:1–11). In ch. 19, however, the clay jar is hard and, if unsuitable for the owner's use, can only be destroyed (see v. 11).

19:1 jar. The Hebrew for this word implies a vessel with a narrow neck, perhaps the water decanter frequently found in excavations and ranging from 5 to 12 inches high. elders. See note on Ex 3:16. of the people. See 1 Kin 8:1–3. of the senior priests. See 2 Kin 19:2,"elders of the priests." Elders in Israel were of two kinds, one performing primarily civil functions and the other primarily religious functions.

19:2 valley of Ben-hinnom. See note on 7:31. potsherd gate. The Hebrew underlying the word "potsherd" is the same as that translated "clay" in v. 1. The Jerusalem Targum identified the potsherd gate (so called because it overlooked the main dump for broken pottery) with the Rubbish Gate of Neh 2:13 (see note there); 3:13–14; 12:31.

19:3 kings. See note on 17:20. calamity . . . ears . . . will tingle. Echoed from 2 Kin 21:12 (see 1 Sam 3:11). The phrase refers to the shock of hearing an announcement of threatened punishment.

19:4 they. All who tried to combine the worship of idols with the worship of the one true God. this . . . place. Jerusalem. burned sacrifices. The Hebrew for this phrase is mostly translated this same way elsewhere in Jeremiah (see note on 1:16). filled this place with the blood of the innocent. The blood of godly people (see 2:34; 7:6; 22:3,17; 26:15), specifically as shed by wicked King Manasseh (see 15:4 and note; see also especially 2 Kin 21:16).

19:5–6 Repeated in large part from 7:31–32 (see notes there).

19:7 make void. Lit. "pour out." The Hebrew for "make void" ("pour out") sounds like the Hebrew for "jar" (see note on v. 1). As Jeremiah was saying this, he may have been pouring water from the jar to the ground (cf. 2 Sam 14:14). fall by the sword before their enemies. The Babylonians are the instruments of the divine threat (see 20:6). carcasses as food . . . beasts of the earth. See 7:33 and note.

19:8 Echoes the language of 18:16 (see note there; see also Ezek 27:35; Zeph 2:15). desolation . . . astonished. The same Hebrew root underlies both words. hissing . . . hiss. The same Hebrew root underlies both words.

passes by it will be astonished and hiss because of all its [1]disasters.

9 "I will make them [a]eat the flesh of their sons and the flesh of their daughters, and they will eat one another's flesh in the siege and in the distress with which their enemies and those who seek their life will distress them." '

10 "Then you are to break the [a]jar in the sight of the men who accompany you

11 and say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, "Just so will I [a]break this people and this city, even as one breaks a potter's vessel, which cannot again be repaired; and they will [b]bury in Topheth [1]because there is no other place for burial.

12 "This is how I will treat this place and its inhabitants," declares the LORD, "so as to make this city like Topheth.

13 "The [a]houses of Jerusalem and the houses of the kings of Judah will be [b]defiled like the place Topheth, because of all the [c]houses on whose rooftops they burned [1]sacrifices to [d]all the heavenly host and [e]poured out drink offerings to other gods." ' "

14 Then Jeremiah came from Topheth, where the LORD had sent him to prophesy; and he stood in the [a]court of the LORD'S house and said to all the people:

15 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, 'Behold, I am about to bring on this city and all its towns the entire calamity that I have declared against it, because they have [a]stiffened their necks so [b]as not to heed My words.' "

Pashhur Persecutes Jeremiah

20 When Pashhur the priest, the son of [a]Immer, who was [b]chief officer in the house of the LORD, heard Jeremiah prophesying these things,

2 Pashhur had Jeremiah the prophet [a]beaten and put him in the [b]stocks that were at the upper [c]Benjamin Gate, which was by the house of the LORD.

3 On the next day, when Pashhur released Jeremiah from the stocks, Jeremiah said to him, "Pashhur is not the name the LORD has [a]called you, but rather [1][b]Magor-missabib.

19:9 One of the covenant curses (see Lev 26:29; Deut 28:53–57). eat the flesh of their sons and . . . daughters . . . eat one another's flesh. When Jerusalem's food supply ran out during the Babylonian siege in 586 B.C., cannibalism resulted (see Lam 2:20; 4:10; Ezek 5:10). Such shocking activity was not unprecedented in Israel (see 2 Kin 6:28–29), and it would occur again in A.D. 70 during the Roman siege of Jerusalem (see Zech 11:9 and note): "A woman . . . who . . . had fled to Jerusalem . . . killed her son, roasted him, and ate one half, concealing and saving the rest" (Josephus, Jewish War, 6.3.4).

19:11 break this people . . . as one breaks a potter's vessel. Egyptians of the 12th Dynasty (1991–1786 B.C.) inscribed the names of their enemies on pottery bowls and then smashed them, hoping to break the power of their enemies by so doing. cannot again be repaired. See note on vv. 1–15.

19:13 will be defiled like . . . Topheth. King Josiah had earlier "defiled Topheth" (2 Kin 23:10). burned sacrifices. See note on 1:16. rooftops. See 32:29; see also note on Is 15:3. The kings of Judah had built pagan altars on the roof of the palace in Jerusalem (see 2 Kin 23:12). The Ugaritic Keret epic of the 14th century B.C. (see chart, p. xix) describes a similar practice: "Go to the top of a tower, bestride the top of the wall . . . Honor Baal with your sacrifice . . . Then descend . . . from the housetops." heavenly host. Worship of the sun, moon and stars was common in Judah throughout much of the later history of the monarchy (see, e.g., 2 Kin 17:16; 21:3,5; 23:4–5; Zeph 1:5). drink offerings to other gods. See note on 7:18.

19:14 all the people. A much larger audience than the elders of v. 1.

19:15 all its towns. The towns of Judah that were dependent on Jerusalem (see 1:15; 9:11). stiffened their necks . . . not to heed My words. Repeated from 7:26 (see note there; see also 11:10).

20:1–6 Pashhur's response to Jeremiah's symbolic act (vv. 1–2), and Jeremiah's rejoinder (vv. 3–6).

20:1 Pashhur. One or more different men with the same name appear in 21:1; 38:1. Immer. Perhaps a descendant of the head of the 16th division of priests in the Jerusalem temple (see 1 Chr 24:14). chief officer. The priest in charge of punishing troublemakers, real or imagined, in the temple courts (see v. 2; 29:26). The position was second only to that of the chief priest himself (compare 29:25–26 with 52:24).

20:2 The first of many recorded acts of physical violence against Jeremiah. the prophet. The first time Jeremiah is so called in the book (see Introduction: Themes and Message), here to stress the enormity of Pashhur's actions. beaten. Probably in accordance with the Mosaic law of Deut 25:2–3 (see note on Deut 25:3). stocks. Lit. "restraint, confinement" (the Hebrew for this word is translated "prison" in 2 Chr 16:10). upper Benjamin Gate. Probably the same as the "north gate of the inner court" (Ezek 8:3; see 2 Kin 15:35; see also Ezek 9:2). by the house of the LORD. This qualifying phrase distinguishes the temple's Gate of Benjamin from the "Benjamin Gate" in the city wall (37:13; 38:7). Both gates were in the northern part of the city, facing the territory of Benjamin.

20:3 Magor-missabib. Means "terror on every side." (See note on 6:25). The phrase "terror on every side" (see v. 10) is found in the plural in Lam 2:22.

20:4 Pashhur's new name symbolizes terror to all Judah, whose people will be exiled to Babylonia or put to death. friends. Associates and allies in the sense of covenant partners (see v. 6). king of Babylon. Nebuchadnezzar, who acceded to the Babylonian throne in 605 B.C. (see notes on 17:15; 18:1–20:18).

20:5 Fulfilled in 597 B.C. (see 2 Kin 24:13) and in 586 (see 52:17–23; 2 Kin 25:13–17).

enemies, and they will plunder them, take them away and bring them to Babylon.

6 'And you, [a]Pashhur, and all who live in your house will go into captivity; and you will enter Babylon, and there you will die and there you will be buried, you and all your [b]friends to whom you have [c]falsely prophesied.' "

Jeremiah's Complaint

7 O LORD, You have deceived me and I was deceived;
You have [a]overcome me and prevailed.
I have become a [b]laughingstock all day long;
Everyone [c]mocks me.
8 For each time I speak, I cry aloud;
I [a]proclaim violence and destruction,
Because for me the [b]word of the LORD has [1]resulted
In reproach and derision all day long.
9 But if I say, "I will not [a]remember Him
Or speak anymore in His name,"
Then in [b]my heart it becomes like a burning fire
Shut up in my bones;
And I am weary of holding it in,
And [c]I cannot endure it.
10 For [a]I have heard the whispering of many,
"[b]Terror on every side!
[c]Denounce him; yes, let us denounce him!"
[1]All my [d]trusted friends,
Watching for my fall, say:
"Perhaps he will be [2]deceived, so that we may [e]prevail against him
And take our revenge on him."
11 But the [a]LORD is with me like a dread champion;
Therefore my [b]persecutors will stumble and not prevail.
They will be utterly ashamed, because they have [1]failed,
With an [c]everlasting disgrace that will not be forgotten.
12 Yet, O LORD of hosts, You who [a]test the righteous,
Who see the [1]mind and the heart;
Let me [b]see Your vengeance on them;
For [c]to You I have set forth my cause.
13 [a]Sing to the LORD, praise the LORD!
For He has [b]delivered the soul of the needy one
From the hand of evildoers.

14 Cursed be the [a]day when I was born;
Let the day not be blessed when my mother bore me!
15 Cursed be the man who brought the news
To my father, saying,
"A [1][a]baby boy has been born to you!"
And made him very happy.
16 But let that man be like the cities
Which the LORD [a]overthrew without [1]relenting,

20:6 you, Pashhur, . . . will go into captivity. Probably in 597 B.C., because shortly after that year (see 29:2) two other men in succession had replaced Pashhur as chief officer in the temple (see 29:25–26). you have falsely prophesied. The priest Pashhur had pretended to be a prophet.

20:7–18 The sixth, last and longest of Jeremiah's "confessions" (see Introduction: Author and Date). In some respects, it is the most daring and bitter of them all.

20:7 Cf. 15:18. deceived. Lit. "seduced" (Ex 22:16) or "enticed" (1 Kin 22:20–22); see v. 10. Jeremiah feels that when the Lord originally called him to be a prophet, He had overly persuaded him (see 1:7–8,17–19; cf. Ezek 14:9).

20:8 Jeremiah attributes his suffering to the Lord's demands on his life. violence and destruction. The prophet's message echoes the Lord's word (see 6:7). reproach. See Ps 44:13; 79:4.

20:9 A classic description of prophetic reluctance overcome by divine compulsion (see 1:6–8; Amos 3:8; Acts 4:20; 1 Cor 9:16). in my heart . . . like a burning fire. See 5:14; 23:29. The figure is unique to the prophet Jeremiah (see also Lam 1:13).

20:10 The Hebrew of the first two lines is identical with that of the first two lines of Ps 31:13. Terror on every side! See note on 6:25. The phrase is here used as a nickname for Jeremiah in the light of his doleful message. friends. Lit. "men of my peace/welfare" (a similar Hebrew phrase appears in Ps 41:9, where it is translated "close friend"). Watching for my fall. See Ps 35:15; 38:16. deceived. See v. 7 and note. we may prevail against him. Or so they think (see v. 11). take our revenge on him. His enemies will not give up, no matter what it takes (see 11:19; 12:6; 26:11; cf. Ps 56:5–6; 71:10).

20:11 the LORD is with me. See 1:8 and note. dread. The Lord's strength produces dread in His opponents. The Hebrew for this word is translated "violent" in 15:21, where it describes Jeremiah's enemies. Here it has a different nuance and is applied to God, whose "dread" overcomes all "violence." champion. See notes on Ex 14:14; 15:3.

20:12 Repeated almost verbatim from 11:20.

20:13 Sing . . . praise. See 31:7; see also introduction to Ps 9. delivered . . . From the hand of evildoers. See 15:21; 21:12. needy. See 22:16. By Jeremiah's time, "poor/needy" had become virtually synonymous with "righteous" (see Amos 2:6; see also notes on Ps 9:18; 34:6).

20:14–18 See Job 3:3–19. From the heights of exultation (v. 13), Jeremiah now sinks to the depths of despair. The irreversibility of his divine call (v. 9), the betrayal of his friends (v. 10), the relentless pursuit of his enemies (vv. 7,11), the negative and condemnatory nature of his message (v. 8)—all have combined to bring to his lips a startling expression of despondency and hopelessness. The passage serves also as a transition to the next major section of the book. Judah and Jerusalem, Jeremiah will soon say, are now irrevocably doomed (see 21:1–10).

20:14 Cursed be the day when I was born. See note on Job 3:3. The prophet questions the very basis of his divine commission (see 1:5).

20:15 News of the birth of a son, normally a blessing in ancient times (see, e.g., Gen 29:31–35), Jeremiah sees as a curse in his own case. Cursed be the man. A rhetorical curse, not directed against the man personally.

20:16 cities . . . the LORD overthrew. Sodom and Gomorrah (see Gen 19:24–25,29). By Jeremiah's time, their wickedness had long

And let him hear an [b]outcry in the morning
And a [2]shout of alarm at noon;
17 Because he did not [a]kill me [1]before birth,
So that my mother would have been my grave,
And her womb ever pregnant.
18 Why did I ever come forth from the womb
To [a]look on trouble and sorrow,
So that my [b]days have been spent in [c]shame?

Jeremiah's Message for Zedekiah

21 The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD when [a]King Zedekiah sent to him [b]Pashhur the son of Malchijah, and [c]Zephaniah the priest, the son of Maaseiah, saying,

2 "Please [a]inquire of the LORD on our behalf, for [b]Nebuchadnezzar king of [c]Babylon is warring against us; perhaps the LORD will deal with us [d]according to all His [1]wonderful acts, so that the enemy will withdraw from us."

3 Then Jeremiah said to them, "You shall say to Zedekiah as follows:

4 'Thus says the LORD God of Israel, "Behold, I am about to [a]turn back the weapons of war which are in your hands, with which you are warring against the king of Babylon and the Chaldeans who are besieging you outside the wall; and I will [b]gather them into the center of this city.

5 "I [a]Myself will war against you with an [b]outstretched hand and a mighty arm, even in [c]anger and wrath and great indignation.

6 "I will also strike down the inhabitants of this city, both man and beast; they will die of a great [a]pestilence.

7 "Then afterwards," declares the LORD, "[a]I will give over Zedekiah king of Judah and his servants and the people, even those who survive in this city from the pestilence, the sword and the famine, into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of their foes and into the hand of those who seek their lives; and he will strike them down with the edge of the sword. He [b]will not spare them nor have pity nor compassion." '

8 "You shall also say to this people, 'Thus says the LORD, "Behold, I [a]set before you the way of life and the way of death.

9 "He who [a]dwells in this city will die by the [b]sword and by famine and by pestilence; but he who goes out and falls away to the Chaldeans who are besieging you will live, and he will have his own life as booty.

been proverbial (see 23:14; Deut 29:23; see also note on Is 1:9–10). shout of alarm. See 4:19. at noon. See note on 6:4.

20:17 pregnant. In his anguish, Jeremiah wishes that his mother's womb, which gave him birth, had been instead his eternal tomb.

21:1–24:10 The prophet denounces Judah's rulers (21:1–23:7), false prophets (23:8–40) and sinful people (ch. 24). Although for the most part chs. 1–20 relate events in chronological order, chs. 21–52 are arranged on the basis of subject matter rather than chronology (see 24:1; 25:1; 26:1; 27:1; 29:2; 32:1; 35:1; 36:1; 37:1; 45:1; 49:34; 51:59; 52:4).

21:1–23:7 The rulers of Judah, who bear the primary responsibility for the nation's economic, social and spiritual ills, are the first to be denounced by Jeremiah.

21:1 The word which came. The phrase does not appear again until 25:1, suggesting that chs. 21–24 constitute an integral section in the book. Zedekiah. Means "The LORD is my righteousness." See Introduction: Background. Pashhur the son of Malchijah. Not the same as the Pashhur of 20:1–6 (see 38:1). Zephaniah the priest . . . son of Maaseiah. Not the same as the prophet Zephaniah (see 29:25,29; 37:3; 52:24; see also Zeph 1:1).

21:2 inquire of the LORD. A request for knowledge or information (see Gen 25:22; 2 Kin 22:13), not necessarily for help. Nebuchadnezzar. The name means "O Nabu [a god], protect my son/boundary!" He was the most famous ruler (605–562 B.C.) of the Neo-Babylonian empire (612–539). is warring. About 588, because the brash Zedekiah had rebelled against Babylon (see 52:3). us. Jerusalem. wonderful acts. For example, in the days of Hezekiah (see Is 37:36). the enemy will withdraw. See Is 37:37.

21:4 turn back the weapons. Your defense of Jerusalem will fail. Chaldeans. See note on Job 1:17. gather them into . . . this city. Either (1) the weapons, meaning that Judah's troops would be totally unable to defend the approaches to the city, or (2) the Babylonians, meaning that Jerusalem's defeat is imminent and inevitable.

21:5 I Myself will war against you. The Lord, usually His people's defender, will now destroy them and seal their doom. with an outstretched hand and a mighty arm. See 27:5; 32:17. A similar phrase is used to describe God's powerful redemption of Israel at the exodus (see 32:21; Deut 4:34; 5:15; 7:19; 26:8), but here God turns His wrath against His own people. in anger and wrath and great indignation. Probably quoted from Deut 29:28, where the Hebrew for this phrase is translated "in anger and in fury and in great wrath."

21:7 I will give over Zedekiah . . . his servants and the people. Fulfilled in 52:8–11,24–27 (see Ezek 12:13–14). pestilence, the sword and the famine. See v. 9. For this triad see note on 14:12. not spare them nor have pity nor compassion. For this triad see 13:14; see also Ezek 5:11. The three triads here heighten the literary effect of the passage.

21:8–10 See 27:12–13. Similar advice is offered in 38:2–3, 17–18 (see Deut 30:15–20).

21:8 Behold, I set before you. See Deut 11:26. The people are offered a choice, but few of them will make the right decision. the way of life and the way of death. See Deut 30:15,19; see also Prov 6:23.

21:9 Repeated almost verbatim in 38:2. Jeremiah's counsel of surrender branded him as a traitor in the eyes of many (see 37:13), but he was in fact a true patriot who wanted to stay in Judah even after Jerusalem was destroyed (see 37:14; 40:6; 42:7–22). he who . . . falls away to the Chaldeans . . . will live. Fulfilled in 39:9; 52:15. he will have his own life. Lit. "his life will be his (only) booty." The victorious in battle can expect to share plunder; the defeated are fortunate indeed if their lives are spared.

21:10 set My face. See 44:11. harm and not for good. See for [1]harm and not for good," declares the LORD. "It will be [b]given into the hand of the king of Babylon and he will [c]burn it with fire." '

11 "Then say to the household of the [a]king of Judah, 'Hear the word of the LORD,

12 O [a]house of David, thus says the LORD:
"[b]Administer justice [1]every [c]morning;
And deliver the person who has been robbed from the [2]power of his oppressor,
[d]That My wrath may not go forth like fire
And [e]burn with none to extinguish it,
Because of the evil of their deeds.

13 "Behold, [a]I am against you, O [b]valley dweller, O [1]rocky plain," declares the LORD,
"You men who say, '[c]Who will come down against us?
Or who will enter into our habitations?'

14 "But I will punish you [a]according to the [1]results of your deeds," declares the LORD,
"And I will [b]kindle a fire in its forest
That it may devour all its environs." ' "

Amos 9:4; contrast 24:6. It will be given . . . burn it with fire. See 34:2.

21:12 Administer justice. See 5:28; 22:16; 1 Kin 3:28; Lam 3:59. The king was obliged and expected to do so, as was the future Messiah (see 23:5; 33:15). every morning. When the mind is clear and the day is cool (court sessions were held outside, at the city gate; see notes on Gen 19:1; Ruth 4:1). deliver . . . robbed. Repeated in 22:3. That My wrath . . . none to extinguish it. The Hebrew is repeated verbatim from 4:4 (see Amos 5:6). wrath may . . . burn. See 15:14; 17:4,27.

21:13 valley. Jerusalem, surrounded on three sides by valleys (see note on Is 22:7), is called the "Valley of vision" in Is 22:1,5. rocky plain. Mount Zion. You . . . who say. The pronouns are plural in the second half of the verse (referring to Jerusalem's inhabitants), singular in the first half (referring to Jerusalem personified). Who will come . . . against us? The people think that no one can successfully besiege them (see notes on 7:4; 8:19).

21:14 according to . . . your deeds. See note on 17:10. kindle a fire . . . devour. See note on 17:27. forests. Perhaps refers figuratively to Jerusalem's royal palace, called the "house of the forest of Lebanon" (1 Kin 7:2; 10:17,21; see Is 22:8) because of the cedar (see 22:7,14,15,23) used in its construction. The palace (see 22:1) is compared to the "summit of Lebanon" in 22:6 (see 22:23 and note).

22:1 Go down. The palace was at a lower elevation than the temple (see 26:10; 36:10–12).

22:2 king of Judah. Probably Zedekiah (see 21:3,7; compare v. 3 with 21:12), whose predecessors are mentioned in sequence later in the chapter (Josiah, vv. 10a,15b–16; Jehoahaz/Shallum, vv. 10b–12; Jehoiakim, vv. 13–15a,17–19; Jehoiachin/Coniah, vv. 24–30). David's throne. Though all the kings of the Davidic dynasty failed to a greater or lesser degree, the victorious Messiah would someday appear as the culmination of David's royal line (see 23:5 and note; 33:15; Ezek 34:23–24; Matt 1:1). who enter these gates. See 17:25 and note.

22:3 Contrast Is 11:3–5 with Ezek 22:6–7.

22:4 Repeated in part from 17:25.

22:5 See 17:27 and note. swear by Myself. See notes on Gen 22:16; Is 45:23; see also 49:13; 51:14; cf. 44:26. become a desolation. Fulfilled in 52:13 (see 27:17).

22:6 Gilead . . . Lebanon. Renowned for their forests. Lebanon in particular supplied cedar for the royal palace (see note on 21:14; see also 1 Kin 5:6,8–10; 7:2–3; 10:27).

22:7 set apart. Lit. "consecrate" (see note on 6:4). destroyers. The Babylonians (see note on 4:7; see also 12:12). Each with his weapons. See Ezek 9:2. cut down your . . . cedars. Cf. Is 10:33–34; cf. especially the vivid description of the Babylonian troops smashing the carved paneling of the Jerusalem temple with their axes and hatchets (Ps 74:3–6).

22:8–9 Echoed in 1 Kin 9:8–9; see Deut 29:24–26.

22:9 forsook the covenant . . . bowed down to other gods . . . served them. A gross violation of the first and second stipulations of the Mosaic covenant (see Ex 20:3–5 and notes).

10 [a]Do not weep for the dead or mourn for him,
But weep continually for the one who goes away;
For [b]he will never return
Or see his native land.

11 For thus says the LORD in regard to [1][a]Shallum the son of Josiah, king of Judah, who became king in the place of Josiah his father, who went forth from this place, "He will never return there;

12 but in the place where they led him captive, there he will [a]die and not see this land again.

Messages about the Kings

13 "Woe to him who builds his house
[a]without righteousness
And his [1]upper rooms without justice,
Who uses his neighbor's services without pay
And [b]does not give him his wages,
14 Who says, 'I will [a]build myself a roomy house
With spacious [1]upper rooms,
And cut out its windows,
[2]Paneling it with [b]cedar and painting it [3]bright red.'
15 "Do you become a king because you are competing in cedar?
Did not your father eat and drink
And [a]do justice and righteousness?
Then it was [b]well with him.
16 "He pled the cause of the [a]afflicted and needy;
Then it was well.
[b]Is not that what it means to know Me?"
Declares the LORD.
17 "But your eyes and your heart
Are intent only upon your own [a]dishonest gain,
And on [b]shedding innocent blood
And on practicing oppression and extortion."
18 Therefore thus says the LORD in regard to [a]Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah,
"They will not [b]lament for him:
'[c]Alas, my brother!' or, 'Alas, sister!'
They will not lament for him:
'Alas for the master!' or, 'Alas for his splendor!'
19 "He will be [a]buried with a donkey's burial,
Dragged off and thrown out beyond the gates of Jerusalem.
20 "Go up to Lebanon and cry out,
And lift up your voice in Bashan;
Cry out also from [a]Abarim,
For all your [b]lovers have been crushed.
21 "I spoke to you in your prosperity;
But [a]you said, 'I will not listen!'
[b]This has been your practice [c]from your youth,
That you have not obeyed My voice.
22 "The wind will sweep away all your [a]shepherds,

22:10 weep for the dead. Josiah, who was mourned long after his death (see 2 Chr 35:24–25). one who goes away. Jehoahaz/Shallum. In 609 B.C., Pharaoh Neco "brought him to Egypt, and he died there" (2 Kin 23:34).

22:11 Shallum. See 1 Chr 3:15. "Shallum" was his personal name, "Jehoahaz" his throne name (the latter means "The LORD seizes").

22:12 the place where they led him captive. Egypt (see note on v. 10).

22:13–19 A scathing denunciation of King Jehoiakim, who is described in the third person (vv. 13–14), then rhetorically addressed in the second person (vv. 15,17), then identified by name (v. 18), meaning "The LORD raises up." Good King Josiah is referred to in vv. 15b–16 by way of contrast.

22:13 Woe to him who builds. See Hab 2:9,12. without righteousness . . . without justice. Contrast v. 3; 21:12. upper rooms. See note on Judg 3:20. uses his neighbor's services without pay. Contrary to the law (see Lev 25:39; Deut 24:14–15). Jehoiakim's refusal to pay them may have been due partly to inability, since Judah was under heavy tribute to Egypt during the early part of his reign (see 2 Kin 23:35).

22:14 windows. The windows described here may well be the same as those found in the ruins of Beth-hakkerem (see 6:1; see also note on Neh 3:14) by archaeologists in the early 1960s. Paneling. Haggai similarly deplores the use of paneling as an extravagant and unneeded luxury in certain situations (see Hag 1:4).

22:15 your father. Josiah. eat and drink. Enjoy life (see Eccl 2:24–25; 3:12–13). do justice and righteousness. Like his ancestor David (see 2 Sam 8:15); contrast v. 13 (see note there).

22:16 James defines a proper relationship to God in similar terms (see James 1:27); contrast 5:28 (see note there). afflicted and needy. See note on 20:13. to know Me. To love God fully, which results in living a pious life and serving those in need (see Deut 10:12–13; Hos 6:6; Mic 6:8).

22:17 your. Jehoiakim's (see v. 18). dishonest gain. See 6:13; 8:10. shedding innocent blood. See note on 19:4; for an illustration of Jehoiakim's cruelty in this regard see 26:20–23. oppression. See v. 3; 6:6; 21:12.

22:18 Contrast 2 Chr 35:24–25. They will not lament for him: "Alas, my brother!" Contrast 1 Kin 13:30.

22:19 a donkey's burial. Tantamount to no burial at all (see 36:30); fulfilled in 2 Kin 24:6, where no burial is described and where it says that Jehoiakim "slept with his fathers," a euphemism for dying (see notes on Gen 25:8; 1 Kin 1:21). Dragged off. See 15:3.

22:20–23 The Lord speaks to Jerusalem, which is personified as a woman (see v. 23).

22:20 Lebanon . . . Bashan . . . Abarim. Mountainous regions (see v. 6; Num 27:12; 33:47–48; Deut 32:49; Judg 3:3; Ps 68:15), the first two in the north and the third in the south, suitable heights from which the whole land of Israel could be rhetorically addressed. lovers. See 4:30 and note. "Lovers" here refers to nations joined together by treaty. Judah's onetime allies included Egypt, Assyria (see 2:36), Edom, Moab, Ammon and Phoenicia (see 27:3), all of whom had been—or soon would be—conquered by Babylonia (see 27:6–7; 28:14). crushed. See 14:17.

22:21 not listen . . . not obeyed My voice. See 7:22–26; 11:7–8. your youth. The days of Israel's early history in Egypt (see 2:2 and note; Hos 2:15).

22:22 sweep . . . shepherds . . . wickedness. The Hebrew root is the same for the first two words, and that of the third is very

And your [b]lovers will go into captivity;
Then you will surely be [c]ashamed and humiliated
Because of all your wickedness.
23 "You who dwell in Lebanon,
Nested in the cedars,
How you will groan when pangs come upon you,
[a]Pain like a woman in childbirth!
24 "As I live," declares the LORD, "even though [1][a]Coniah the son of Jehoiakim king of Judah were a [b]signet ring on My right hand, yet I would pull [1]you [2]off;
25 and I will [a]give you over into the hand of those who are seeking your life, yes, into the hand of those whom you dread, even into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and into the hand of the Chaldeans.
26 "I will [a]hurl you and your [b]mother who bore you into another country where you were not born, and there you will die.
27 "But as for the land to which they desire to return, they will not return to it.
28 "Is this man Coniah a despised, shattered jar?
Or is he an [a]undesirable vessel?
Why have he and his descendants been [b]hurled out
And cast into a [c]land that they had not known?

A man who will [b]not prosper in his days;

Sitting on the throne of David

The Coming Messiah: the Righteous Branch

23 "[a]Woe to the shepherds who are [b]destroying and scattering the [c]sheep of My pasture!" declares the LORD.
2 Therefore thus says the LORD God of Israel concerning the shepherds who are [1]tending My people: "You have scattered My flock and driven them away, and have not attended to them; behold, I am about to [a]attend to you for the [b]evil of your deeds," declares the LORD.
3 "Then I Myself will [a]gather the remnant of My flock out of all the countries where I have driven them and bring them back to their pasture, and they will be fruitful and multiply.
4 "I will also raise up [a]shepherds over them and they will [1]tend them; and they will [b]not be afraid any longer, nor be terrified, [c]nor will any be missing," declares the LORD.
5 "Behold, the [a]days are coming,"
declares the LORD,
"When I will raise up for David a righteous [1][b]Branch;

similar. For "shepherds" see 2:8 and note; 10:21; 23:1–4. The initial fulfillment of this verse took place in 597 B.C. (see 2 Kin 24:12–16). wind will sweep away. See 13:24; Job 27:21; Is 27:8.

22:23 Lebanon . . . cedars. The palace in Jerusalem (see 1 Kin 7:2; see also 21:14 and note; Ezek 17:3–4,12. Pain like a woman in childbirth! See 4:31; 6:24; 13:21; see also note on 4:19.

22:24–30 A prophecy against King Jehoiachin (fulfilled in 24:1; 29:2), who was also known as Coniah (vv. 24, 28), a shortened form of Jeconiah (24:1); see Introduction: Background. Jehoiachin (52:31), Coniah (22:24) and Jeconiah (24:1) were the same person. All three forms of the name mean "The LORD establishes."

22:24 As I live. See note on Gen 42:15. even though Coniah . . . were a signet ring. The curse on Coniah is apparently reversed in Hag 2:23 (see note there).

22:25 give you over into . . . those whom you dread. Contrast 39:17.

22:26 Fulfilled in 597 B.C. (see 29:2; 2 Kin 24:15). hurl . . . into another country. Send into exile in Babylonia (see 7:15; 16:13; Deut 29:28). you and your mother who bore you. Coniah and Nehushta (see note on 13:18).

22:28 A rhetorical question, answered in v. 30. shattered jar . . . hurled out. Coniah and his descendants, like Judah itself (see 19:10–11), are under God's judgment. he and his descendants. Though Coniah was only 18 years old at the time of his exile (see 2 Kin 24:8), he already had more than one wife (see 2 Kin 24:15) and therefore probably one or more children.

22:29 land, land, land. The repetition implies the strongest possible emphasis and intensity (see 7:4; 23:30–32; Ezek 21:27; see also note on Is 6:3).

22:30 childless. Not in the sense of Coniah's having no children at all (he had at least seven; see 1 Chr 3:17–18), but of having none to sit on the throne of David in Judah. Coniah's grandson Zerubbabel (1 Chr 3:17–19; Matt 1:12) became governor of Judah (see Hag 1:1), but not king. Zedekiah was a son of Josiah (see 37:1), not of Coniah, and he and his sons died before the latter (see 52:10–11). Coniah therefore was Judah's last surviving Davidic king—until Christ.

23:1–8 A summary statement (probably dating to Zedekiah's reign; see note on v. 6) that includes God's intention to judge the wicked rulers and leaders of Judah (vv. 1–2), to ultimately bring His people back from exile (vv. 3–4,7–8), and to raise up an ideal Davidic King (vv. 5–6).

23:1 See 10:21 and note. sheep. The people of Judah (see v. 2).

23:2 attended to . . . attend to. The same Hebrew root underlies both phrases (see v. 4 and note). What Judah's rulers had failed to do is summarized in Ezek 34:4.

23:3 remnant. See notes on 6:9; Is 10:20–22. I have driven. Although Judah's sins and the sins of their leaders had caused them to be "driven . . . away" (v. 2) into exile, the Lord Himself ultimately carried out the results of His people's repeated violations of their covenant commitments. be fruitful and multiply. See note on Gen 1:28.

23:4 be afraid . . . terrified. The absence of a concerned shepherd invites attacks by wild animals (see Ezek 34:8). be missing. See Num 31:49. The Hebrew root underlying this phrase is the same as that for "attended to" and "attend to" in v. 2 (see note there).

23:5–6 One of the most important Messianic passages in Jeremiah, echoed in 33:15–16.

23:5 raise up. See 2 Sam 7:12; see also 30:9; Ezek 34:23–24; 37:24. for David. See Matt 1:1; 1:17 and note. The Messiah,

And He will [c]reign as king and [2]act wisely
And [d]do justice and righteousness in the land.
6 "In His days Judah will be saved,
And [a]Israel will dwell securely;
And this is His [b]name by which He will be called,
'The [c]LORD our righteousness.'
7 "[a]Therefore behold, the days are coming," declares the LORD, "when they will no longer say, 'As the LORD lives, who brought up the sons of Israel from the land of Egypt,'
8 [a]but, 'As the LORD lives, who [b]brought up and led back the descendants of the household of Israel from the north land and from all the countries where I had driven them.' Then they will live on their own soil."

False Prophets Denounced

9 As for the prophets:
My [a]heart is broken within me,
All my bones tremble;
I have become like a drunken man,
Even like a man overcome with wine,
Because of the LORD
And because of His holy words.
10 For the land is full of [a]adulterers;
For the land [b]mourns because of the curse.
The [c]pastures of the wilderness have dried up.
Their course also is evil
And their might is not right.
11 "For [a]both prophet and priest are polluted;
Even in My house I have found their wickedness," declares the LORD.
12 "Therefore their way will be like [a]slippery paths to them,
They will be driven away into the [b]gloom and fall down in it;
For I will bring [c]calamity upon them,
The year of their punishment," declares the LORD.

13 "Moreover, among the prophets of Samaria I saw an [a]offensive thing:
They [b]prophesied by Baal and [c]led My people Israel astray.
14 "Also among the prophets of Jerusalem I have seen a [a]horrible thing:
The committing of [b]adultery and walking in falsehood;
And they strengthen the hands of [c]evildoers,
So that no one has turned back from his wickedness.
All of them have become to Me like [d]Sodom,
And her inhabitants like Gomorrah.
15 "Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts concerning the prophets,
'Behold, I am going to [a]feed them wormwood
And make them drink poisonous water,
For from the prophets of Jerusalem
Pollution has gone forth into all the land.' "

16 Thus says the LORD of hosts,
"[a]Do not listen to the words of the prophets who are prophesying to you.
They are [b]leading you into futility;
They speak a [c]vision of their own [1]imagination,
Not [d]from the mouth of the LORD.

unlike any previous descendant of David, would be the ideal King. He would sum up in Himself all the finest qualities of the best rulers, and infinitely more. Branch. A Messianic title (see note on Is 4:2). The Targum (ancient Aramaic paraphrase) reads "Messiah" here. reign . . . wisely. See note on Is 52:13. do justice and righteousness. See 22:3,15; said also of King David (see 2 Sam 8:15).

23:6 Judah . . . And Israel. God's reunited people will be restored (see Ezek 37:15–22). be saved . . . dwell securely. The deliverance will be both spiritual and physical (see Deut 33:28–29). The LORD our righteousness. Although Zedekiah did not live up to the meaning of his name, "The LORD is my righteousness," Jesus the Messiah would bestow on His people the abundant blessings (see Ezek 34:25–31) that come from the hands of a King who does "justice and righteousness" (v. 5).

23:7–8 Repeated almost verbatim from 16:14–15 (see notes there).

23:9–40 False prophets denounced (see 2:8; 4:9; 5:30–31; 6:13–15; 8:10–12; 14:13–15; 18:18–23; 26:8,11,16; 27–28; Is 28:7–13; Ezek 13; Mic 3:5–12).

23:9 As for. The Hebrew for "as for" introduces headings also in 46:2; 48:1; 49:1,7,23,28. His holy words. Contrast the unholy words of the false prophets (see vv. 16–18).

23:10 See Is 24:4–6. adulterers. See 5:7–8; 9:2; see also note on 2:20. mourns . . . dried up. See 12:4 and note. To worship other gods is to deny to the land the fertility that only the Lord can bring (see Hos 2:5–8,21–22; Amos 4:4–9). curse. Brought on by violating the Lord's covenant (see 11:3 and note; 11:8). pastures of the wilderness. See note on 9:10. course . . . is evil. Evil because it is their own and not God's (see 8:6).

23:11 Even in My house . . . wickedness. For examples see 32:34; 2 Kin 16:10–14; 21:5; Ezek 8:5,10,14,16.

23:12 their way . . . into the gloom. See Ps 35:5–6; see also Ps 73:18.

23:13 prophesied by Baal. See 2:8 and note; see also 1 Kin 18:19–40.

23:14 walking in falsehood. See 14:13. strengthen the hands of. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "encouraged" in Ezek 13:22. no one has turned back from his wickedness. See Ezek 13:22. like Sodom . . . like Gomorrah. See note on 20:16.

23:15 I am going . . . poisonous water. Repeated almost verbatim from 9:15 (see note there). Pollution. See v. 11.

23:16 vision. "Revelation" or "prophecy" (see 1 Sam 3:1; Prov 29:18; Is 1:1; Obad 1). of their own imagination. See v. 26; 14:14. False prophets are like preachers of a "different gospel" (Gal 1:6–9).

17 "They keep saying to those who
[a]despise Me,

Then they would have [b]announced
My words to My people,
And would have turned them back from their evil way
And from the evil of their deeds.

23 "Am I a God who is [a]near," declares
the LORD,
"And not a God far off?
24 "Can a man [a]hide himself in hiding places
So I do not see him?" declares the LORD.
"[b]Do I not fill the heavens and the earth?" declares the LORD.
25 "I have [a]heard what the prophets have said who [b]prophesy falsely in My name, saying, 'I had a [c]dream, I had a dream!' 26 "How long? Is there anything in the hearts of the prophets who prophesy falsehood, even these prophets of the [a]deception of their own heart,
27 who intend to [a]make My people forget
My name by their dreams which they relate to one another, just as their fathers [b]forgot
My name because of Baal?
28 "The prophet who has a dream may relate his dream, but let him who has [a]My word speak My word in truth. [b]What does straw have in common with grain?" declares
the LORD.
29 "Is not My word like [a]fire?" declares the LORD, "and like a [b]hammer which shatters a rock?
30 "Therefore behold, [a]I am against the prophets," declares the LORD, "who steal My words from each other.
31 "Behold, I am against the prophets," declares the LORD, "who use their tongues and declare, 'The Lord declares.'
32 "Behold, I am against those who have prophesied [a]false dreams," declares the LORD, "and related them and led My people astray by their falsehoods and [b]reckless boasting; yet [c]I did not send them or command them, nor do they [d]furnish this people the slightest benefit," declares the LORD.

or a priest asks you saying, 'What is the [1a]oracle of the LORD?' then you shall say to

33 [1]Or burden, and so throughout the ch [a]Is 13:1; Nah 1:1; Hab 1:1; Zech 9:1; Mal 1:1

23:17 You will have peace. The essential message of the false prophets (see 6:14 and note; 8:11; 14:13 and note; cf. 28:8–9). stubbornness of his own heart. See note on 3:17.
23:18 council of the LORD. God's heavenly confidants (see v. 22; Job 15:7–10 and note; see also 1 Kin 22:19–22; Job 1:6; 2:1; 29:4 and note; Ps 89:7). In Amos 3:7 the Hebrew for "council" is translated "counsel," the purposes that God has promised to reveal to His chosen servants (see v. 20).
23:19–20 Repeated almost verbatim in 30:23–24.
23:19 storm . . . whirling tempest. A vivid image of God's wrath.
23:20 you will clearly understand it. Unlike the false prophets, who continued to mislead their hearers even in Babylonia after the exile of 597 B.C. (see 29:20–23).
23:21 I did not send. See v. 32; 29:9; contrast 1:7; Is 6:8; Ezek 3:5. did not speak to them. See 29:23.
23:22 My council. See note on v. 18.
23:23 God who is near . . . God far off. God is both transcendent and immanent; He lives "on a high and holy place, And also with the . . . lowly of spirit" (Is 57:15).
23:24 hide . . . So I do not see him. See Job 26:6; Ps 139:7–12; Amos 9:2–4. fill the heavens and the earth. See Is 66:1.
23:25 prophesy falsely. See 5:12. in My name. See Deut 18:20,22. dream. Usually not a means of divine revelation to a true prophet (see 27:9; Deut 13:1–3; 1 Sam 28:6; Zech 10:2; but cf. Num 12:6; Joel 2:28).
23:26 their own heart. See note on v. 16.
23:27 My name. To forget the Lord's name is tantamount to forgetting Him. forgot . . . because of Baal. When Judah's ancestors forgot God, they began to serve Baal (see Judg 3:7; 1 Sam 12:9–10).
23:28–29 The true word of God is symbolized in three figures of speech (grain, fire, hammer).
23:28 straw . . . grain. Of the two, only grain can feed and nourish (see note on 15:16).
23:29 like fire. See note on 20:9. The fire of the divine word ultimately tests "the quality of each man's work" (1 Cor 3:13). like a hammer. Similarly, the divine word works relentlessly, like a sword or hammer, to judge "the thoughts and intentions of the heart" (Heb 4:12).
23:30–32 I am against. The threefold statement is for emphasis (see note on 22:29).
23:31 prophets . . . who . . . declare. False prophets are claiming that their own prophecies are the oracles of God. The Hebrew for this verb is used only here with someone other than God as the subject. The phrase "declares the LORD" or its equivalent occurs hundreds of times in the OT, more frequently in Jeremiah (over 175 times) than in any other book.
23:32 did not send. See v. 21 and note.
23:33 oracle. The Hebrew for this word can also mean "burden" (see NASB marg.), a term that may refer to a burdensome them, 'What [1]oracle?' The LORD declares, 'I will [b]abandon you.'

34 "Then as for the prophet or the priest or the people who say, 'The [a]oracle of the LORD,' I will bring punishment upon that man and his household.

35 "Thus will each of you say to his neighbor and to his brother, '[a]What has the LORD answered?' or, 'What has the LORD spoken?'

36 "For you will no longer remember the oracle of the LORD, because every man's own word will become the oracle, and you have [a]perverted the words of the [b]living God, the LORD of hosts, our God.

37 "Thus you will say to that prophet, 'What has the LORD answered you?' and, 'What has the LORD spoken?'

38 "For if you say, 'The oracle of the LORD!' surely thus says the LORD, 'Because you said this word, "The oracle of the LORD!" I have also sent to you, saying, "You shall not say, 'The oracle of the LORD!' " ', 39 "Therefore behold, [a]I will surely forget you and cast you away from My presence, along with the city which I gave you and your fathers.

40 "I will put an everlasting [a]reproach on you and an everlasting humiliation which will not be forgotten."

Baskets of Figs and the Returnees

24 After [a]Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had carried away captive Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, and the officials of Judah with the craftsmen and smiths from Jerusalem and had brought them to Babylon, the LORD showed me: behold, two [b]baskets of figs set before the temple of the LORD!

2 One basket had very good figs, like [a]first-ripe figs, and the other basket had [b]very bad figs which could not be eaten due to rottenness.

3 Then the LORD said to me, "[a]What do you see, Jeremiah?" And I said, "Figs, the good figs, very good; and the bad figs, very bad, which cannot be eaten due to rottenness."

4 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

5 "Thus says the LORD God of Israel, 'Like these good figs, so I will regard [a]as good the captives of Judah, whom I have sent out of this place into the land of the Chaldeans.

6 'For I will set My eyes on them for good, and I will [a]bring them again to this land; and I will [b]build them up and not overthrow them, and I will [c]plant them and not pluck them up.

7 'I will give them a [a]heart to know Me, for I am the LORD; and they will be [b]My people, and I will be their God, for they will [c]return to Me with their whole heart.

8 'But like the [a]bad figs which cannot be eaten due to rottenness—indeed, thus says the LORD—so I will [1]abandon [b]Zedekiah king of Judah and his officials, and the [c]remnant of Jerusalem who remain in this land and the ones who dwell in the land of [d]Egypt.

9 'I will [a]make them a terror and an evil for all the kingdoms of the earth, as a [b]reproach and a proverb, a taunt and a [c]curse in all places where I will scatter them.

10 'I will send the [a]sword, the famine and the pestilence upon them until they are destroyed from the land which I gave to them and their forefathers.' " message from the Lord (see, e.g., Nah 1:1).

23:36 The three divine titles at the end of the verse enhance the solemnity of what is being said. living God. See 10:10; Deut 5:26.

23:39 forget. The Hebrew for this word is a pun on the Hebrew for the word "oracle" in vv. 33–34,36,38. the city. Jerusalem.

23:40 Echoed from 20:11.

24:1–10 See Amos 8:1–3. Having denounced Judah's leaders (21:1–23:8) and false prophets (23:9–40), Jeremiah now describes the division of Judah's people into good and bad (24:1–3) and summarizes the Lord's determination to restore the good (vv. 4–7) but destroy the bad (vv. 8–10).

24:1 Jeconiah . . . and the officials . . . to Babylon. In 597 B.C. craftsmen and smiths. See 29:2; 2 Kin 24:14,16. Only the poorest and weakest people were left behind in Judah (see 2 Kin 24:14). the LORD showed me. A common way of introducing prophetic visions (see Amos 7:1,4,7). figs. See note on 8:13. set. The Hebrew root underlying this word is translated "meet" in Ex 29:42–43. As the Lord desired to "meet" with the Israelites at the entrance to the tabernacle, so the figs (symbolizing the people of Judah) would be "met" by him in front of the Jerusalem temple.

24:2 very good figs, like first-ripe figs. The first figs in June are especially juicy and delicious (see Is 28:4; Hos 9:10; Mic 7:1; Nah 3:12).

24:3 What do you see . . . ? See note on 1:11.

24:5–6 Just as good figs should be protected and preserved by their owner, so also the exiles of 597 B.C., who were the best of Judah's leaders and craftsmen (see 2 Kin 24:14–16), would be watched over and cared for by the Lord (see 29:4–14).

24:6 I will set My eyes on them for good. Contrast Amos 9:4. bring them again. In 538 B.C. build them up . . . overthrow . . . plant . . . pluck. See 1:10 and note.

24:7 a heart to know Me. For a more comprehensive prediction including the same promise see 31:31–34. My people . . . their God. The classic statement of covenant relationship (see 31:33; 32:38; see also notes on Gen 17:7; Zech 8:8). with their whole heart. See 29:13.

24:8 dwell in . . . Egypt. Perhaps those deported with Jehoahaz in 609 B.C. (see 22:10b–12 and notes; 2 Kin 23:31–34) and/or those who fled to Egypt after the Babylonians defeated the Egyptians in the battle of Carchemish in 605 (see 46:2).

24:9 terror . . . for all the kingdoms. See 34:17. reproach . . . taunt. See Deut 28:37. proverb. See notes on 1 Kin 9:7; Job 17:6.

24:10 sword, the famine and the pestilence. See note on 14:12. destroyed from the land. In 586 B.C. (see 52:4–27).

25:1–29:32 The dominant theme in chs. 25–29 is the forthcoming destruction of Jerusalem and exile to Babylonia in 586 B.C. (hinted at briefly in 24:10).

[a]fourth year of [b]Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah (that was the [c]first year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon),

2 which Jeremiah the prophet spoke to all the [a]people of Judah and to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying,

3 "From the [a]thirteenth year of [b]Josiah the son of Amon, king of Judah, even to this day, [1]these [c]twenty-three years the word of the LORD has come to me, and I have spoken to you [2d]again and again, but you have not listened.

4 "And the LORD has sent to you all His [a]servants the prophets [1]again and again, but you have not listened nor inclined your ear to hear,

5 saying, '[a]Turn now everyone from his evil way and from the evil of your deeds, and dwell on the land which the LORD has given to you and your forefathers [b]forever and ever;

6 and [a]do not go after other gods to [1]serve them and to [2]worship them, and do not provoke Me to anger with the work of your hands, and I will do you no harm.'

7 "Yet you have not listened to Me," declares the LORD, "in order that you might [a]provoke Me to anger with the work of your hands to your own harm.

8 "Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, 'Because you have not obeyed My words,

9 behold, I will [a]send and take all the families of the north,' declares the LORD, 'and I will send to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, [b]My servant, and will bring them against this land and against its inhabitants and against all these nations round about; and I will [1]utterly destroy them and [c]make them a horror and a hissing, and an everlasting desolation.

10 'Moreover, I will [1a]take from them the voice of joy and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the [b]sound of the millstones and the light of the lamp.

11 '[a]This whole land will be a desolation and a horror, and these nations will serve the king of Babylon [b]seventy years.

Babylon Will Be Judged

12 'Then it will be [a]when seventy years are completed I will [b]punish the king of Babylon and that nation,' declares the LORD, 'for their iniquity, and the land of the Chaldeans; and [c]I will make it an everlasting desolation.

13 'I will bring upon that land all My words which I have pronounced against it, all that is written in [a]this book which Jeremiah has prophesied against [b]all the nations.

14 '([1]For [a]many nations and great kings will make slaves of them, even them; and I will [b]recompense them according to their deeds and according to the work of their hands.)' "

15 For thus the LORD, the God of Israel, says to me, "Take this [a]cup of the wine of wrath from My hand and cause all the nations to whom I send you to drink it.

25:1–38 Divine judgment will descend not only on Judah but on "all . . . nations round about" (v. 9) as well.

25:1 fourth year of Jehoiakim . . . first year of Nebuchadnezzar. The synchronism yields the date 605 B.C. (see note on Dan 1:1).

25:3 thirteenth year of Josiah. 626 B.C. (or possibly as early as 627); see 1:2. twenty-three years. Nineteen under Josiah and four under Jehoiakim (see v. 1). again and again. See v. 4; see also note on 7:13. you have not listened. Jeremiah, now halfway through his prophetic ministry, had been warned at the time of his call that the people of Judah would oppose him (see 1:17–19).

25:4 Echoed from 7:25–26; see also 35:15. His servants the prophets. See note on 7:25.

25:5 dwell on the land . . . LORD has given . . . your forefathers forever. Echoed from 7:7; see Gen 17:8 and note.

25:6 provoke Me to anger. See 7:18; Deut 31:29. the work of your hands. Idols (see note on 1:16).

25:7 to your own harm. See 7:6.

25:9 families of the north. Babylonia and her allies (see 1:15 and note). Nebuchadnezzar . . . My servant. See 27:6; 43:10. "Servant" is used here not in the sense of "worshiper" but of "vassal" or "agent of judgment," just as the pagan ruler Cyrus is called the Lord's "shepherd" in Is 44:28 and His "anointed" in Is 45:1. this land. Judah. nations round about. Named in vv. 19–26. utterly destroy. The Hebrew term refers to the irrevocable giving over of things to the LORD, often by totally destroying them. See 50:21,26; 51:3; see also note on Deut 2:34. a horror and a hissing. See note on 18:16. everlasting desolation. See 49:13; Ps 74:3; Is 58:12 and note.

25:11–12 seventy years. See 29:10. This round number (as in Ps 90:10; Is 23:15) probably represents the period from 605 (see notes on v. 1; Dan 1:1) to 538 B.C., which marked the beginning of Judah's return from exile (see 2 Chr 36:20–23; see also notes on Dan 9:1–2). The 70 years of Zech 1:12 are not necessarily the same as those here and in 29:10. They probably represent the period from 586 (when Solomon's temple was destroyed) to 516 (when Zerubbabel's temple was completed). See note on Zech 7:5.

25:11 This . . . land . . . and these nations. Judah and the nations named in vv. 19–26.

25:12 punish the king . . . and that nation. See 50:18. The city of Babylon was captured by the Medes and Persians in 539 B.C. (near the end of Jeremiah's 70 years; see note on vv. 11–12). for their iniquity. See 50:11,31–32; 51:6,49,53,56; Is 13:19. an everlasting desolation. See 50:12–13; 51:26; see also note on Is 13:20.

25:13 book. After this word, the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) inserts the material found in chs. 46–51, though rearranged.

25:14 many nations. Media, Persia and their allies. great kings. Cyrus and his associates. recompense them according to their deeds. See 50:29; 51:24.

25:15 cup of the wine of wrath. Symbolic of divine judgment, especially against wicked nations (see Is 51:17 and note; see also 51:7; Rev 18:6). nations to whom I send you. See 1:5 and note.

25:16 stagger and go mad. See 13:12–14 and notes; Rev 14:8. because of the sword. As the sting of wine causes people to mad because of the sword that I will send among them."

17 Then I took the cup from the LORD'S hand and [a]made all the nations to whom the LORD sent me drink it:

18 [a]Jerusalem and the cities of Judah and its kings and its princes, to make them a ruin, a horror, a hissing and a curse, as it is this day;

19 [a]Pharaoh king of Egypt, his servants, his princes and all his people;

20 and all the [1a]foreign people, all the kings of the [b]land of Uz, all the kings of the land of the [c]Philistines (even Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron and the remnant of [d]Ashdod);

21 [a]Edom, [b]Moab and the sons of [c]Ammon;

22 and all the kings of [a]Tyre, all the kings of Sidon and the kings of [b]the coastlands which are beyond the sea;

23 and [a]Dedan, Tema, [b]Buz and all who [c]cut the corners of their hair;

24 and all the kings of [a]Arabia and all the kings of the [1b]foreign people who dwell in the desert;

25 and all the kings of Zimri, all the kings of [a]Elam and all the kings of [b]Media;

26 and all the kings of the north, near and far, one with another; and [a]all the kingdoms of the earth which are upon the face of the ground, and the king of [1b]Sheshach shall drink after them.

27 "You shall say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "[a]Drink, be drunk, vomit, fall and rise no more because of the [b]sword which I will send among you." '

28 "And it will be, if they [a]refuse to take the cup from your hand to drink, then you will say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts: "[b]You shall surely drink!

29 "For behold, I am [a]beginning to work calamity in this city which is [b]called by My name, and shall you be completely free from punishment? You will not be free from punishment; for [c]I am summoning a sword against all the inhabitants of the earth," declares the LORD of hosts.'

30 "Therefore you shall prophesy against them all these words, and you shall say to them,

'The [a]LORD will [b]roar from on high
And utter His voice from His holy habitation;
He will roar mightily against His [1]fold.
He will shout like those who tread the grapes,
Against all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 'A clamor has come to the end of the earth,
Because the LORD has [a]a controversy with the nations.
He is entering into [b]judgment with all flesh;
As for the wicked, He has given them to the sword,' declares the LORD."

stagger, so the stroke of the sword causes them to fall, never to rise again (see v. 27).

25:17 A symbolic description of Jeremiah's announcement of divine judgment against the nations.

25:18 Jerusalem and . . . Judah. God's own people are to be judged first (see v. 29; see also Ezek 9:6; 1 Pet 4:17). its kings. See note on 17:20. ruin . . . horror . . . hissing . . . curse. See vv. 9,11; 18:16; 19:8.

25:19–26 The roster of nations begins with Egypt and ends with Babylon, as in chs. 46–51; but Damascus (see 49:23–27) is omitted, and a few other regions are added.

25:19 Egypt. See 46:2–28.

25:20 foreign people. See v. 24; Neh 13:3. Uz. See note on Job 1:1. Philistines. See ch. 47; see also note on Gen 10:14. Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron. See note on Judg 1:18. remnant of Ashdod. According to the Greek historian Herodotus (2.157), the Egyptian pharaoh Psammetichus I (664–610 B.C.) destroyed Ashdod after a long siege. By Nehemiah's time, it was inhabited again (see note on Neh 4:7). The fifth main Philistine city, Gath (see Josh 13:3), though important earlier (see, e.g., 1 Sam 21:10–12), was destroyed and apparently not rebuilt (in later centuries it is not mentioned with the other four cities; see Amos 1:6–8; Zeph 2:4; Zech 9:5–6).

25:21–22 See 27:3–5.

25:21 Edom. See 49:7–22; see also note on Gen 36:1. Moab and . . . Ammon. See 48:1–49:6; see also note on Gen 19:36–38.

25:22 Tyre . . . Sidon. See 47:4; see also notes on Is 23:1–2,4,12. coastlands . . . beyond the sea. Island and maritime regions, some of them Phoenician colonies, located to the west and northwest of Tyre and Sidon (see notes on Ezek 27:15; Dan 11:18).

25:23 Dedan. See 49:8; see also notes on Is 21:13; Ezek 25:13. Tema. See note on Is 21:14. Buz. A desert region in the east. who cut the corners of their hair. See 9:26 and note. Cutting the forelocks of the hair (Lev 19:27) was something only a non-Israelite would do.

25:24 Arabia. See 49:28–33; see also 3:2. foreign people. See v. 20; Neh 13:3. The same Hebrew root underlies "Arabia" and "foreign people."

25:25 Zimri. Not to be confused with the Israelite king of that name, Zimri is perhaps the same as Zimran, whom Keturah bore to Abraham (see Gen 25:1–2). The region known as Zimri (location unknown) would then have been named after him. Elam. See 49:34–39; see also note on Gen 10:22. Media. Later to join the Persians in conquering Babylon (see 51:11,28; see also note on Is 13:17).

25:26 Sheshach. A cryptogram for Babylon. The cryptogram is formed by substituting the first consonant of the Hebrew alphabet for the last, the second for the next-to-last, etc. Its purpose is not fully understood, though in some cases the cryptogram itself bears a suitable meaning (see note on 51:1). shall drink after them. The Lord's agents of judgment are not themselves exempt from His judgment (see 51:48–49).

25:27 fall . . . because of the sword. See note on v. 16.

25:29 beginning. See note on v. 18. city . . . called by My name. Jerusalem (see note on 7:10).

25:30 The LORD will roar . . . And utter His voice. An echo of Joel 3:16; Amos 1:2 (see note there; see also Hos 11:10; Amos 3:8). His fold. Judah. shout like those who tread the grapes. See Is 9:3; 16:9–10; 63:3 and note; see also Is 16:10 and note.

25:31 clamor. The sounds of war (see Amos 2:2). controversy . . . judgment. See note on 2:9; see also 2:35; 12:1.

32 Thus says the LORD of hosts,
"Behold, evil is going forth
From [a]nation to nation,
And a great [b]storm is being stirred up
From the remotest parts of the earth.
33 "Those [a]slain by the LORD on that day will be from one end of the earth to the [1]other. They will [b]not be lamented, gathered or buried; they will be like [c]dung on the face of the ground.
34 "Wail, you shepherds, and cry;
And [a]wallow in ashes, you masters of the flock;
For the days of your [b]slaughter and your dispersions [1]have come,
And you will fall like a choice vessel.
35 "[a]Flight will perish from the shepherds,
And escape from the masters of the flock.
36 "Hear the sound of the cry of the shepherds,
And the wailing of the masters of the flock!
For the LORD is destroying their
pasture,
37 "And the peaceful [1][a]folds are made silent
Because of the [b]fierce anger of the
LORD.
38 "He has left His hiding place [a]like the lion;
For their land has become a horror
Because of the fierceness of the [1]oppressing sword
And because of His fierce anger."

Cities of Judah Warned

26 In the beginning of the reign of [a]Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, this word came from the LORD, saying,
2 "Thus says the LORD, '[a]Stand in the court of the LORD'S house, and speak to all the cities of Judah who have [b]come to worship in the LORD'S house [c]all the words that I have commanded you to speak to them. [d]Do not omit a word!
3 '[a]Perhaps they will listen and everyone will turn from his evil way, that [b]I may repent of the calamity which I am planning to do to them because of the evil of their deeds.'
4 "And you will say to them, 'Thus says the LORD, "[a]If you will not listen to Me, to [b]walk in My law which I have set before you,
5 to listen to the words of [a]My servants the prophets, whom I have been sending to you [1]again and again, but you have not listened;
6 then I will make this house like [a]Shiloh, and this city I will make a [b]curse to all the nations of the earth." ' "

A Plot to Murder Jeremiah

7 The [a]priests and the prophets and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the house of the LORD.
8 When Jeremiah finished speaking all that the LORD had commanded him to speak to all the people, the priests and the prophets and all the people seized him, saying, "[a]You must die!
9 "Why have you prophesied in the name of the LORD saying, 'This house will be like Shiloh and this city will be [a]desolate, without inhabitant'?" And [b]all the people gathered about Jeremiah in the house of the LORD.
10 When the [a]officials of Judah heard these things, they came up from the king's house to the house of the LORD and sat in the [b]entrance of the New Gate of the LORD'S house.

25:32 great storm . . . From the remotest parts of the earth. The wrath of God (see 23:19), mediated through the coming invasion of the Babylonians (see note on Is 41:25).
25:33 not be lamented . . . like dung on . . . the ground. Repeated from 8:2 (see note there); 16:4.
25:34–36 shepherds . . . masters of the flock. See 10:21; 22:22.
25:34 wallow in ashes. See 6:26. the days . . . have come. See Lam 4:18. fall like a choice vessel. Cf. the description of Jehoiachin (Coniah) in 22:28.
26:1–24 A summary (vv. 2–6)—and its results (vv. 7–24)—of one of Jeremiah's temple messages in ch. 7 (see note on 7:1–10:25).
26:1 beginning of the reign. See 27:1. The Babylonian equivalent of the Hebrew for this phrase implies that the first year of King Jehoiakim (609–608 B.C.) is probably meant.
26:2 court of the LORD'S house. Perhaps near the New Gate (see v. 10; see also note on 7:2). who have come to worship. See 7:2 and note. Do not omit a word! See Deut 4:2 and note.
26:3 See 7:3,5–7. repent. See vv. 13,19; see also notes on 4:28; 18:7–10.
26:4 If you will not listen. See v. 5; 7:13. My law. See 7:6,9 and notes.
26:5 See 7:13,25–26. My servants the prophets. See note on 7:25. again and again. See note on 7:13.
26:6 make this house like Shiloh. See v. 9; see also note on 7:12. this city. Jerusalem. a curse. See 24:9; 25:18; see also note on Zech 8:13.
26:8 You must die! The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "you will surely die" in Gen 2:17. A similar phrase describes the ultimate penalty for gross violations of the law of Moses (see, e.g., Ex 21:15–17; Lev 24:16–17,21; Deut 18:20; cf. 1 Kin 21:13).
26:9 gathered about. With hostile intent (see Num 16:3).
26:10 officials of Judah. Those responsible for making legal decisions concerning disputes taking place in the temple precincts. The priests and (false) prophets, who had a vested interest in Jerusalem and its temple, felt that Jeremiah should be sentenced to death because he was predicting the destruction of both the city and the Lord's house (see vv. 8–9,11). After hearing Jeremiah's defense (vv. 12–15), the officials decided in his favor (v. 16). The people, fickle and easily swayed, first opposed Jeremiah (vv. 8–9), then supported him (v. 16). New Gate. See 36:10; possibly the same as the "upper Benjamin Gate" (see 20:2 and note).

11 Then the priests and the prophets [a]spoke to the officials and to all the people, saying, "A [b]death sentence for this man! For he has prophesied [c]against this city as you have heard in your hearing."

12 Then Jeremiah spoke to all the officials and to all the people, saying, "[a]The LORD sent me to prophesy against this house and against this city all the words that you have heard.

13 "Now therefore [a]amend your ways and your deeds and obey the voice of the LORD your God; and the LORD will [1]change His mind about the misfortune which He has pronounced against you.

14 "But as for me, behold, [a]I am in your hands; do with me as is good and right in your sight.

15 "Only know for certain that if you put me to death, you will bring [a]innocent blood on yourselves, and on this city and on its inhabitants; for truly the LORD has sent me to you to speak all these words in your hearing."

Jeremiah Is Spared

16 Then the officials and all the people [a]said to the priests and to the prophets, "No [b]death sentence for this man! For he has spoken to us in the name of the LORD our God."

17 Then [a]some of the elders of the land rose up and spoke to all the assembly of the people, saying,

18 "[1][a]Micah of Moresheth prophesied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah; and he spoke to all the people of Judah, saying, 'Thus the LORD of hosts has said,

"[b]Zion will be plowed as a field,
And Jerusalem will become ruins,
And the [c]mountain of the house as the
[2]high places of a forest." '

19 "Did Hezekiah king of Judah and all Judah put him to death? Did he not [a]fear the LORD and entreat the favor of the LORD, and [b]the LORD [1]changed His mind about the misfortune which He had pronounced against them? But we are [c]committing a great evil against ourselves."

20 Indeed, there was also a man who prophesied in the name of the LORD, Uriah the son of Shemaiah from [a]Kiriath-jearim; and he prophesied against this city and against this land words similar to all those of Jeremiah.

21 When King Jehoiakim and all his mighty men and all the officials heard his words, then the [a]king sought to put him to death; but Uriah heard it, and he was afraid and [b]fled and went to Egypt.

22 Then King Jehoiakim sent men to Egypt: [a]Elnathan the son of Achbor and certain men with him went into Egypt.

23 And they brought Uriah from Egypt and led him to King Jehoiakim, who [a]slew him with a sword and cast his dead body into the [1]burial place of the [2]common people.

24 But the hand of [a]Ahikam the son of Shaphan was with Jeremiah, so that he was [b]not given into the hands of the people to put him to death.

26:12 The LORD sent me. Contrast 23:21.
26:13 amend your ways and your deeds. Repeated from 7:3 (see also 18:11; 35:15). change His mind. See vv. 3,19; see also notes on 4:28; 18:7–10.
26:15 innocent blood. See 7:6 and note; see also Matt 27:24–25; Acts 5:28.
26:16 Contrast v. 11; see note on v. 10.
26:17 elders. See 19:1; see also note on Ex 3:16.
26:18–19 The elders cite the precedent of Micah, who lived a century earlier and who (together with Isaiah) convinced King Hezekiah to pray for forgiveness on behalf of his people. The Lord answered the prayers of the king and the prophets, and in 701 B.C. Jerusalem and the temple were spared (see Is 37:33–37).
26:18 Micah of Moresheth. See Introduction to Micah: Author. Zion will be plowed . . . as the high places of a forest. The Hebrew is quoted verbatim from Mic 3:12—the only place in the OT where one prophet quotes another and identifies his source.
26:19 entreat the favor of the LORD. Cf. Ex 32:11; 1 Sam 13:12; 2 Kin 13:4; Ps 119:58). changed His mind. See vv. 3,13; see also notes on 4:28; 18:7–10.
26:20–23 A parenthesis, cited as an example of the contrast between how a good king, Hezekiah, treated the Lord's prophets and how a wicked king, Jehoiakim, was known to have treated them.
26:20 Uriah. Not mentioned elsewhere in the OT, though it has been claimed (but not substantiated) that he appears in one of the Lachish letters (see note on 34:7; see also chart, p. xix).
26:21 mighty men. Perhaps the royal bodyguard. Uriah . . . fled . . . to Egypt. A fatal mistake, for now he could be accused of treason and sedition.
26:22 Elnathan the son of Achbor. One of King Jehoiakim's highest officials (see 36:12), he was impressed on another occasion by Jeremiah's prophecies (see 36:16), "pleaded with the king not to burn" Jeremiah's scroll (36:25), and warned the prophet to hide (see 36:19). An Elnathan (perhaps the same man) was Jehoiakim's father-in-law (see 2 Kin 24:6,8). An Achbor (perhaps the father of this Elnathan) was one of King Josiah's officials (see 2 Kin 22:12,14; see also note on v. 24).
26:23 brought Uriah from Egypt. Mutual rights of extradition were a part of the treaty imposed on Judah by Egypt when Jehoiakim became the vassal of Pharaoh Neco II (see 2 Kin 23:34–35). Jehoiakim . . . slew him. Apart from divine intervention, Jeremiah probably would have fallen victim to the same fate (see 36:26). burial place of the common people. See note on 17:19. Commoners were buried in the Kidron Valley east of Jerusalem (see 2 Kin 23:6).
26:24 Ahikam the son of Shaphan. One of King Josiah's officials (see 2 Kin 22:12,14), along with an Achbor who may have been the father of the Elnathan in v. 22 (see note there). Ahikam was also the father of Gedaliah, who would become governor of Judah after Jerusalem was destroyed in 586 B.C. (see 40:5) and who also befriended Jeremiah (see 39:14). was with Jeremiah. Ahikam's high position in Jehoiakim's court was doubtless instrumental in saving the prophet's life.

The Nations to Submit to Nebuchadnezzar

27 In the beginning of the reign of [1][a]Zedekiah the son of Josiah, king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying—

2 thus says the LORD to me—"Make for yourself [a]bonds and [b]yokes and put them on your neck,

3 and send [1]word to the king of [a]Edom, to the king of [a]Moab, to the king of the sons of [a]Ammon, to the king of [a]Tyre and to the king of [a]Sidon [2]by the messengers who come to Jerusalem to Zedekiah king of Judah.

4 "Command them to go to their masters, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, thus you shall say to your masters,

5 "[a]I have made the earth, the men and the beasts which are on the face of the earth [b]by My great power and by My outstretched arm, and I will [c]give it to the one who is [1]pleasing in My sight.

6 "Now I [a]have given all these lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, [b]My servant, and I have given him also the [c]wild animals of the field to serve him.

7 "[a]All the nations shall serve him and his son and his grandson [b]until the time of his own land comes; then [c]many nations and great kings will [1]make him their servant.

8 "It will be, that the nation or the kingdom which [a]will not serve him, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and which will not put its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, I will punish that nation with the [b]sword, with famine and with pestilence," declares the LORD, "until I have destroyed [1]it by his hand.

9 "But as for you, [a]do not listen to your prophets, your diviners, your [1]dreamers, your soothsayers or your sorcerers who speak to you, saying, 'You will not serve the king of Babylon.'

10 "For they prophesy a [a]lie to you in order to [b]remove you far from your land; and I will drive you out and you will perish.

11 "But the nation which will [a]bring its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon and serve him, I will [b]let remain on its land," declares the LORD, "and they will till it and dwell in it." ' "

12 I spoke words like all these to [a]Zedekiah king of Judah, saying, "Bring your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon and serve him and his people, and live!

13 "Why will you [a]die, you and your people, by the sword, famine and pestilence, as the LORD has spoken to that nation which will not serve the king of Babylon?

14 "So [a]do not listen to the words of the prophets who speak to you, saying, 'You will not serve the king of Babylon,' for they prophesy a [b]lie to you;

15 for [a]I have not sent them," declares the LORD, "but they [b]prophesy falsely in My name, in order that I may [c]drive you out and that you may perish, [d]you and the prophets who prophesy to you."

16 Then I spoke to the priests and to all this people, saying, "Thus says the LORD: Do

27:1–29:32 Further attempts by Jeremiah to counteract the teachings of false prophets, who were claiming that Babylon's doom was near and that rebellion against Nebuchadnezzar was therefore warranted and desirable.

27:1–22 Jeremiah tells the nations (see vv. 3–11), King Zedekiah (see vv. 12–15), and the priests and people of Judah (see vv. 16–22) to submit to the Babylonian yoke.

27:1 In the beginning of the reign. See note on 26:1. In this case, however, the phrase has been extended in meaning to include Zedekiah's fourth year (593 B.C.; see 28:1).

27:2 yokes. The kind worn by oxen. The yoke was a symbol of political submission (see vv. 8,11–12; Lev 26:13). That Jeremiah actually wore such a yoke for a time is clear from 28:10,12.

27:3 send word. In his role as a "prophet to the nations" (1:5). Edom, Moab, Ammon. Lands east and south of Judah (see 25:21 and note). Tyre . . . Sidon. Prominent cities in Phoenicia, north of Judah (see 25:22 and note). messengers who come . . . to Zedekiah. Perhaps to discuss rebellion against Babylonia. They may have counted on support from Egypt, where Psammetichus II had become pharaoh a year earlier (594 B.C.). Zedekiah went to Babylon in 593 (see 51:59), perhaps to be interrogated by Nebuchadnezzar. In any case, Zedekiah rebelled against him (see 52:3).

27:5 great power and . . . outstretched arm. See note on 21:5.

27:6 Nebuchadnezzar . . . My servant. See note on 25:9. given him . . . wild animals . . . to serve him. Nothing would be beyond the reach of Nebuchadnezzar's dominion (see 28:14; Dan 2:38).

27:7 him . . . his son . . . his grandson. Three generations of rulers, not necessarily in direct father-son relationships (cf. Deut 6:2). The words "son" and "father" are often used figuratively in the OT. "Son" may mean "descendants" or "successors" or "nations," while "father" may mean "ancestor" or "predecessor" or "founder." See notes on Gen 10:2,8; Dan 5:1. time of his own land comes. Babylonia will be judged (see note on 25:26). many nations and great kings. See note on 25:14.

27:8 yoke. See note on v. 2. sword, with famine and with pestilence. See note on 14:12. until I have destroyed. See 9:16; 24:10.

27:9 See 29:8. your prophets. False prophets. diviners . . . soothsayers . . . sorcerers. Forbidden in Israel (see Lev 19:26; Deut 18:10–11). The Hebrew for "soothsayers" is a loanword from Akkadian (the language of Assyria and Babylonia). dreamers. Including prophets and diviners (see 23:25–28; 29:8).

27:10 prophesy a lie. See note on 5:31; cf. 2 Tim 4:3–4.

27:11 yoke. See note on v. 2. serve . . . till. The Hebrew underlying both words is the same ("work" is the common denominator in serving and tilling).

27:12 your necks . . . serve . . . live. The Hebrew for all these words is plural, since Jeremiah is speaking to the people of Judah as well as to Zedekiah (see v. 13). yoke. See note on v. 2.

27:13 See v. 8. sword, famine and pestilence. See note on 14:12.

27:14 See v. 10.

27:15 See 14:14; 23:21 and note.

27:16 prophets . . . saying, ' . . . shortly . . . ' As the prophet Hananiah was saying (see 28:1–3). vessels of the LORD's house. Some were carried off to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar in 605 B.C. (see not listen to the words of your prophets who prophesy to you, saying, 'Behold, the [a]vessels of the LORD's house will now shortly be brought again from Babylon'; for they are prophesying a [b]lie to you.

18 "But [a]if they are prophets, and if the word of the LORD is with them, let them now [b]entreat the LORD of hosts that the vessels which are left in the house of the LORD, in the house of the king of Judah and in Jerusalem may not go to Babylon.

19 "For thus says the LORD of hosts concerning the [a]pillars, concerning the sea, concerning the stands and concerning the rest of the vessels that are left in this city, 20 which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon did not take when he [a]carried into exile Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, from Jerusalem to Babylon, and all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem.

21 "Yes, thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that are left in the house of the LORD and in the house of the king of Judah and in Jerusalem, 22 'They will be [a]carried to Babylon and they will be there until the [b]day I visit them,' declares the LORD. 'Then I will [c]bring them [1]back and restore them to this place.' "

Hananiah's False Prophecy

28 Now in the same year, [a]in the beginning of the reign of [b]Zedekiah king of Judah, in the fourth year, in the fifth month, [c]Hananiah the son of Azzur, the prophet, who was from [d]Gibeon, spoke to me in the house of the LORD in the presence of the priests and all the people, saying,

2 "[a]Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, 'I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon.

4 'I am [a]also going to bring back to this place [b]Jeconiah the son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, and all the [c]exiles of Judah who went to Babylon,' declares the LORD, 'for I will break the [d]yoke of the king of Babylon.' "

5 Then the prophet Jeremiah spoke to the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the priests and in the presence of all the people who were standing in the [a]house of the LORD,

6 and the prophet Jeremiah said, "[a]Amen! May the LORD do so; may the LORD [1]confirm your words which you have prophesied to bring back the vessels of the LORD's house and all the exiles, from Babylon to this place.

7 "Yet [a]hear now this word which I am about to speak in your hearing and in the hearing of all the people!

8 "The prophets who were before me and before you from ancient times [a]prophesied against many lands and against great kingdoms, of war and of calamity and of pestilence.

9 "The prophet who prophesies of peace, [a]when the word of the prophet comes to pass, then that prophet will be known as one whom the LORD has truly sent."

10 Then Hananiah the prophet took the [a]yoke from the neck of Jeremiah the prophet and broke it.

11 Hananiah spoke in the presence of all the people, saying, "[a]Thus says the LORD, 'Even so will I break within two full years the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon from the neck of all the nations.' " Then the prophet Jeremiah went his way.

Dan 1:1–2), others in 597 (see 2 Kin 24:13). Still others would be carried off in 586 (see vv. 21–22; 52:17–23).

27:18 if they are prophets . . . let them now entreat. If they are true prophets and in communion with the Lord, let them intercede for Judah, because the Lord has announced His intention to judge the nation.

27:19 the pillars . . . the sea . . . the stands. See 52:17; see also 1 Kin 7:15–37 and notes.

27:22 They will be carried to Babylon. In 586 B.C. (see 52:17–23). I will bring them back. In 538 and shortly afterward (see Ezra 1:7–11).

28:1–17 The true prophet Jeremiah confronts the false prophet Hananiah.

28:1 in the beginning of the reign. See notes on 26:1; 27:1. the reign of Zedekiah . . . the fourth year. 593 B.C. Hananiah. Means "The LORD is gracious," an appropriate name for a prophet who believed strongly (though mistakenly) that the Lord would soon bring back the exiles of Judah and the temple articles (see vv. 3–4,11). prophet. The word is used for all prophets, whether true (vv. 5,10–12,15) or false (vv. 1,5,10,12,15,17). Gibeon. See 41:12,16; see also note on Josh 9:3.

28:2 Thus says the LORD. See v. 11. Though a false prophet, Hananiah claims to have the same authority as Jeremiah (see vv. 13–14,16; see also 23:31). yoke. See note on 27:2.

28:3 Hananiah's prediction directly contradicts the words of Jeremiah (see 27:16–22 and notes). two years. See v. 11. Contrast Jeremiah's 70 years (25:11–12; 29:10).

28:4 bring back. Contradicting Jeremiah's prophecy (see 22:24–27), which was fulfilled (see 52:34). Jeconiah . . . went to Babylon. In 597 B.C. yoke. See note on 27:2.

28:6 See 1 Kin 1:36. Amen. See 11:5 and note. May the LORD do so. Fulfillment is one of the signs of a true prophecy (see v. 9).

28:7 Yet. Though in sympathy with what Hananiah is predicting, Jeremiah reminds him that their true predecessors were basically prophets of doom (see v. 8).

28:8 war . . . calamity . . . pestilence. An appropriate modification of Jeremiah's usual triad (see note on 14:12).

28:9 peace. Ordinarily the message of false prophets (see 6:14 and note).

28:10 yoke from the neck of . . . the prophet. See note on 27:2. broke it. Perhaps symbolically to break the power of Jeremiah's earlier prophecies (see 25:11–12; 27:7), which contradicted his own.

28:11 two full years. See note on v. 3.

12 The [a]word of the LORD came to Jeremiah after Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah, saying,

13 "Go and speak to Hananiah, saying, 'Thus says the LORD, "You have broken the yokes of wood, but you have made instead of them [a]yokes of iron."

14 'For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "I have put a [a]yoke of iron on the neck of all these nations, that they may serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; and they will [b]serve him. And [c]I have also given him the beasts of the field." ' "

15 Then Jeremiah the prophet said to Hananiah the prophet, "Listen now, Hananiah, the LORD has not sent you, and [a]you have made this people trust in a lie.

16 "Therefore thus says the LORD, '[a]Behold, I am about to [1]remove you from the face of the earth. This year you are going to [b]die, because you have [2c]counseled rebellion against the LORD.' "

17 So Hananiah the prophet died in the same year in the seventh month.

Message to the Exiles

29 Now these are the words of the [a]letter which Jeremiah the prophet sent from Jerusalem to the rest of the elders of the exile, the priests, the prophets and all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had taken into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon.

2 (This was after King [a]Jeconiah and the [b]queen mother, the court officials, the princes of Judah and Jerusalem, the craftsmen and the smiths had departed from Jerusalem.)

3 The letter was sent by the hand of Elasah the son of Shaphan, and Gemariah the son of [a]Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah king of Judah sent to Babylon to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, saying,

4 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, to all the exiles whom I have [a]sent into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon,

5 '[a]Build houses and live in them; and plant gardens and eat their [1]produce.

6 'Take [a]wives and [1]become the fathers of sons and daughters, and take wives for your sons and give your daughters to husbands, that they may bear sons and daughters; and multiply there and do not decrease.

7 '[a]Seek the [1]welfare of the city where I have sent you into exile, and [b]pray to the LORD on its behalf; for in its [1]welfare you will have [1]welfare.'

8 "For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, 'Do not let your [a]prophets who are in your midst and your diviners [b]deceive you, and do not listen to [1c]the dreams which [2]they dream.

9 'For they [a]prophesy falsely to you in My name; [b]I have not sent them,' declares the LORD.

10 "For thus says the LORD, 'When [a]seventy years have been completed for Babylon, I will visit you and fulfill My [b]good word to you, to bring you back to this place.

11 'For I know the [a]plans that I [1]have for you,' declares the LORD, 'plans for [b]welfare and not for calamity to give you a future and a [c]hope.

28:13 yokes of iron. The wooden yoke of submission (see note on 27:2) would be exchanged for the iron yoke of servitude (see v. 14; 38:17–23).
28:14 all these nations . . . will serve him. See 27:7. given him the beasts of the field. See 27:6 and note.
28:15 the LORD has not sent you. A mark of the false prophet (see 23:21 and note).
28:16 remove. The Hebrew root underlying this word is the same as that underlying "sent" in v. 15. The Lord had not "sent" Hananiah to prophesy, and therefore he would soon be "sent away" to his death. counseled rebellion. Such activity on the part of false prophets was punishable by death (see Deut 13:5; see also Deut 18:20; cf. Ezek 11:13; Acts 5:1–11).
28:17 Hananiah . . . died . . . in the seventh month. He who had falsely prophesied restoration "within two years" (vv. 3,11) himself died within two months (see v. 1).
29:1–32 Jeremiah's letter to the exiles of 597 B.C. (vv. 4–23) is followed by God's message of judgment against the false prophet Shemaiah (vv. 24–32).
29:2 queen mother. Nehushta (2 Kin 24:8). craftsmen and . . . smiths. See 24:1 and note.
29:3 letter was sent by the hand of. It was placed it in the ancient equivalent of the diplomatic pouch to ensure its safe arrival. Shaphan. Perhaps the father also of Ahikam (see 26:24 and note) and/or Gemariah (see 36:10), both of whom were sympathetic to Jeremiah and his mission. Hilkiah. Perhaps the Hilkiah who was high priest under Josiah (see 2 Kin 22:12, where Hilkiah and one or more Shaphans are mentioned together). Zedekiah . . . sent to . . . Nebuchadnezzar. Possibly at or about the same time (593 B.C.) that Zedekiah himself went to Babylon for a brief period (see 51:59). The purpose of the journey(s) is unknown.
29:4 I. The Lord (see v. 7). Since it is God who has exiled His people, they are to submit to their captors and not rebel against them.
29:5 Build . . . plant. Reminiscent of Jeremiah's call (see 1:10), but here used in a literal sense. live in them. Ezekiel, e.g., lived in his own house in Babylonia (see Ezek 8:1).
29:6 Take wives. But among the exiles themselves, not among the women of Babylonia (cf. Deut 7:3–4; Ezra 9:1–2).
29:7 An unprecedented and unique concept in the ancient world: working toward and praying for the prosperity of one's captors. welfare . . . welfare . . . welfare. The Hebrew word is shalom in all three cases. city. Every place in which the exiles settle down. pray . . . on its behalf. See Ezra 6:10 and note; Matt 5:44; in the Apocrypha cf. 1 Maccabees 7:33.
29:8 prophets . . . diviners . . . dreams. See 27:9 and notes. in your midst. The exiles in Babylon had their share of false prophets (see vv. 21,31), who had doubtless accompanied them when they were deported in 597 B.C.
29:9 See v. 31; see also notes on 23:16,21.
29:10 seventy years. See note on 25:11–12. bring you back. See note on 27:22.

of both prosperity and disaster (see Is 45:7).
29:12–13 Echoed from Deut 4:29–30. The Lord's gracious gift of prosperity is contingent on His people's willingness to repent.
29:14 A summary of Deut 30:3–5. restore your fortunes. See 30:3,18; 31:23; 32:44; 33:7,11,26; 48:47; 49:6,39; and note on Ps 126:4. The Hebrew for "restore" sounds very similar to that for "fortunes."
29:15 prophets . . . in Babylon. See note on v. 8.
29:16 the king . . . on the throne of David. Zedekiah. sits . . . dwell. The Hebrew for both words is identical. King and people alike are guilty.
29:17 sword, famine and pestilence. See v. 18; see also note on 14:12. split-open figs that cannot be eaten. See 24:8.
29:18 See 24:9 and note.
29:19 again and again. See note on 7:13. My servants the prophets. See note on 7:25. you did not listen. See Ezek 2:5,7; 3:7,11.
29:21 Ahab . . . and . . . Zedekiah. Not the well-known kings (of Israel and Judah respectively); rather, they were false prophets (see note on v. 8).
29:22 curse . . . roasted. The Hebrew underlying each of these words sounds like Kolaiah, the name of Ahab's father (v. 21). fire. Used in Babylonia as a method of execution (see Dan 3:6,24; this is also evident in the Code of Hammurapi, sections 25; 110; 157).
29:23 acted foolishly in Israel. See Gen 34:7 and note. committed adultery . . . and . . . spoken . . . falsely. See note on 23:10. I am He who knows. See v. 11.
29:24 Shemaiah. A false prophet (see v. 31). Nehelamite. The Hebrew root underlying this word is the same as that for "dreams" in v. 8 (see 27:9 and note).
29:25 Zephaniah. Not the prophet of that name (see note on 21:1).
29:26 Jehoiada. Not the same as the priest during the days of King Joash (see 2 Kin 12:7). overseer in the house of the LORD. See note on 20:1. madman. Prophetic behavior sometimes appeared deranged to the casual observer (see 2 Kin 9:11). stocks. See note on 20:2.
29:27 Anathoth. See note on 1:1.
29:28 See v. 5 and note. long. Here 70 years (see 25:11–12 and note; see also 2 Sam 3:1).
29:29 Zephaniah . . . read. He was apparently sympathetic toward Jeremiah (see 21:1–2; 37:3).
29:31–32 The Lord's threat against Shemaiah is similar to that against Hananiah (see 28:15–16).

says the LORD concerning [b]Shemaiah the Nehelamite, "Because Shemaiah has [c]prophesied to you, although I did not send him, and he has [d]made you trust in a lie,"

32 therefore thus says the LORD, "Behold, I am about to [a]punish Shemaiah the Nehelamite and his [1]descendants; he will [b]not have anyone living among this people, [c]and he will not see the good that I am about to do to My people," declares the LORD, "because he has [2d]preached rebellion against the LORD." ' "

Deliverance from Captivity Promised

30 The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,

2 "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, '[a]Write all the words which I have spoken to you in a book.

3 'For behold, [a]days are coming,' declares the LORD, 'when I will [b]restore the [1]fortunes of My people [c]Israel and Judah.' The LORD says, 'I will also [d]bring them back to the land that I gave to their forefathers and they shall possess it.' "

4 Now these are the words which the LORD spoke concerning Israel and concerning Judah:

5 "For thus says the LORD,
'[1]I have heard a sound of [a]terror,
Of dread, and there is no peace.
6 'Ask now, and see
If a male can give birth.
Why do I see every man
With his hands on his loins, [a]as a woman in childbirth?
And why have all faces turned pale?

30:1–33:26 Often called Jeremiah's "book of consolation," the section depicts the ultimate restoration of both Israel (the northern kingdom) and Judah (the southern kingdom) and is the longest sustained passage in Jeremiah concerned with the future hope of the people of God (for other and briefer passages on restoration see 3:14–18; 16:14–15; 23:3–8; 24:4–7). The information in 32:1 may be used to date the entire section to 587 B.C., the year before Jerusalem was destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar and its people exiled to Babylon.
30:1–31:40 Written almost entirely in poetry, these two chapters are filled with optimism as the prophet looks forward to the time when God would redeem His people.
30:1 The heading for chs. 30–31 (and perhaps chs. 32–33 as well).
30:2 Write. In order to preserve for future generations the predictions of restoration. book. In scroll form (see, e.g., 36:2,4; 45:1; see also note on Ex 17:14). all the words which I have spoken to you. Concerning the future redemption of God's people. The phrase is less comprehensive here than in 36:2.
30:3 restore the fortunes. See note on 29:14. Israel and Judah. The northern and southern kingdoms, the first of which was exiled in 721 B.C. and the second of which would be entering the final stage of its exile in about a year (see note on 30:1–33:26).
30:5 sound of terror. The sound of battle and destruction.
30:6 woman in childbirth. A symbol of anguish and distress (see note on 4:19).
30:7 A description of the day of the Lord (see notes on Is 2:11,17,20; Amos 5:18; 8:9). Jeremiah's immediate reference is to the foreseeable future (see vv. 8,18), but a more remote time in the Messianic age is also in view. great. See Joel 2:11; Zeph 1:14; cf. Joel 1:15. There is none like it. See Dan 12:1; Joel 2:2; Matt 24:21. time of . . . distress. See Dan 12:1; Matt 24:21 and note; Rev 16:18). Jacob's. Israel's (see v. 10).
30:8 on that day. See note on Is 2:11,17,20. yoke. See note on 27:2. tear off their bonds. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "tear their fetters apart" in Ps 2:3, where the nations plot to free themselves from the Lord and His anointed ruler. Here the Lord promises to free His people from enslavement to the nations. strangers. Including, but not limited to, Babylonia.
30:9 David their king. The Messiah (see note on 23:5). The Targum (ancient Aramaic paraphrase) here reads "Messiah, the son of David, their king." raise up. See note on 23:5.
30:10–11 Repeated almost verbatim in 46:27–28.
30:10 Jacob My servant. See Is 41:8–9 and note; 44:1–2,21; 45:4; 48:20. no one will make him afraid. Contrast v. 5; see Lev 26:6; Job 11:19; Is 17:2; Ezek 34:28; 39:26; Mic 4:4 and note; Zeph 3:13.
30:11 I am with you . . . to save you. Words spoken originally to Jeremiah alone (see 1:8,19; 15:20) are now spoken to all God's people. scattered. See 9:16 and note; 23:1–2. not destroy you completely. See 4:27 and note. by no means leave you unpunished. See 25:29; 49:12.
30:12–13 See 8:22; Hos 5:13; 6:1; 7:1; 11:3.
30:12 Your. Judah's. wound is incurable. See 15:18 and note. injury is serious. See 14:17.

And your [a]injury is serious.
13 'There is no one to plead your cause;
No healing for your sore,
[a]No recovery for you.
14 'All your [a]lovers have forgotten you,
They do not seek you;
For I have [b]wounded you with the wound of an enemy,
With the [c]punishment of a [d]cruel one,
Because your [e]iniquity is great
And your [f]sins are numerous.
15 'Why do you cry out over your injury?
Your pain is incurable.
Because your iniquity is great
And your sins are numerous,
I have done these things to you.
16 'Therefore all who [a]devour you will be devoured;
And all your adversaries, every one of them, [b]will go into captivity;
And those who plunder you will be for plunder,
And all who prey upon you I will give for prey.
17 'For I will [1]restore you to [2a]health
And I will heal you of your wounds,'
declares the LORD,
'Because they have called you an [b]outcast, saying:
"It is Zion; no one [3]cares for her." '

Restoration of Jacob

18 "Thus says the LORD,
'Behold, I will [a]restore the [1]fortunes of the tents of Jacob
And [b]have compassion on his dwelling places;
And the [c]city will be rebuilt on its ruin,
And the [d]palace will stand on its rightful place.

Israel's Mourning Turned to Joy

31 "At that time," declares the LORD, "I will be the [a]God of all the [b]families of Israel, and they shall be My people."
2 Thus says the LORD,

30:13 plead your cause. Against your enemies. No healing for your sore. See Hos 5:13.
30:14 lovers. See note on 22:20. Egypt, e.g., often supported Judah against the Babylonians (see 37:5–7). Because your . . . sins are numerous. See 5:6; 13:22. The Hebrew for this clause is repeated verbatim in v. 15.
30:16 all who devour you. See 3:24; 5:17; 8:16; 10:25. will be devoured. See note on 25:26; see also 51:48–49. will be for plunder. See Is 17:14.
30:17 restore you to health. Contrast 8:22; see 33:6; Is 58:8.
30:18 restore the fortunes. See note on 29:14. the city . . . the palace. Lit. "a city . . . a palace," perhaps referring to Judah's cities and palaces in general (see Amos 9:14). It is possible, however, that only Jerusalem and its palace are intended (see 31:38). ruin. The Hebrew for this word is tel(l), referring to a mound of ruins resulting from the accumulation of the debris of many years or centuries of occupation and on which successive series of towns were often built (see, e.g., Josh 11:13).
30:19 thanksgiving. See 33:11. celebrate. See 31:4 and note; contrast 15:17. multiply . . . not be diminished. See 29:6; Ezek 36:37–38. honor . . . not be insignificant. See Is 9:1.
30:20 formerly. Probably the early days of the united kingdom, especially the reign of David. congregation. In 1 Kin 12:20 the Hebrew for this word is translated "assembly," the political and religious governing body of the people. shall be established before Me. See Ps 102:28; 2 Sam 7:24.
30:21 leader . . . ruler. Although the Targum renders "Messiah" here, the terms probably refer in the first place to the rulers of Judah immediately after the exile. But Jesus Christ ultimately fulfills the promise. one of them . . . from their midst. Not foreigners (cf. Deut 18:15,18). bring him near . . . approach. See Num 16:5; contrast Ex 24:2. Unauthorized approaches into God's presence were punishable by death (see Ex 19:21; Num 8:19).
30:22 See 31:1; see also note on 7:23.
30:23–24 Repeated almost verbatim from 23:19–20 (see notes there).
31:1–40 Continuing the theme of restoration begun in 30:1, Jeremiah records the words of the Lord to (1) all the people of God, v. 1; (2) the restored northern kingdom of Israel, vv. 2–22; (3) the restored southern kingdom of Judah, vv. 23–26; and (4) Israel and Judah together, vv. 27–40 (prologue, vv. 27–30; body, vv. 31–37; epilogue, vv. 38–40—each section beginning with the words "Behold, days are coming").
31:1 See 30:22; see also note on 7:23. all the families of Israel. All 12 tribes.

"The people who survived the sword
[a]Found grace in the wilderness—
Israel, when it went to [b]find its rest."
3 The LORD appeared to [1]him from afar,
saying,
"I have [a]loved you with an everlasting
love;
Therefore I have drawn you with
[b]lovingkindness.
4 "[a]Again I will build you and you will be rebuilt,
O virgin of Israel!
Again you will [1]take up your [b]tambourines,
And go forth to the dances of the [c]merrymakers.
5 "Again you will [a]plant vineyards
On the [1]hills of Samaria;
The planters will plant
And will [2]enjoy them.
6 "For there will be a day when watchmen
On the hills of Ephraim call out,
'Arise, and [a]let us go up to Zion,
To the LORD our God.' "

7 For thus says the LORD,
"[a]Sing aloud with gladness for Jacob,
And shout among the [1][b]chief of the nations;
Proclaim, give praise and say,
'O LORD, [c]save Your people,
The [d]remnant of Israel.'
8 "Behold, I am [a]bringing them from the north country,
And I will [b]gather them from the remote parts of the earth,
Among them the [c]blind and the [d]lame,
The woman with child and she who is in labor with child, together;
A great [1]company, they will return here.
9 "[a]With weeping they will come,
And by supplication I will lead them;
I will make them walk by [b]streams of waters,
On a straight path in which they will [c]not stumble;
For I am a [d]father to Israel,
And Ephraim is [e]My firstborn."

10 Hear the word of the LORD,
O nations,
And declare in the [a]coastlands afar off,
And say, "He who scattered Israel will [b]gather him
And keep him as a [c]shepherd keeps his flock."
11 For the LORD has [a]ransomed Jacob
And redeemed him from the hand of him who was [b]stronger than he.
12 "They will [a]come and shout for joy on 31:2 people who survived the sword. The righteous remnant (see v. 7; see also note on 6:9), who will return from captivity. wilderness. The Arabian Desert, the antitype of the Sinai wilderness through which Israel's ancestors marched after the exodus. Return from exile is often pictured as or compared to release from Egyptian slavery at the time of the exodus (see 16:14–15 and note; see also Is 35:1–11 and notes; 40:3–4; 42:14–16; 43:18–21; 48:20–21; 51:9–11; cf. Hos 2:14–15). Israel. The northern kingdom (see also vv. 4,7,9–10,21). Other names for it are Samaria (v. 5), Ephraim (vv. 6,9,18,20), Jacob (vv. 7,11) and Rachel (v. 15). rest. See 6:16; contrast Deut 28:65. See notes on Deut 3:20; Josh 1:13.

31:3 drawn . . . with lovingkindness. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "continue Your lovingkindness" in Ps 36:10 (see note on Ps 6:4).

31:4 build. See 1:10 and note. virgin of Israel. See v. 21; 18:13; see also 14:17 and note. tambourines. Used on joyful occasions (see Ps 68:25), especially following a military victory (see Ex 15:20 and note; Judg 11:34)—in contrast to Judah's experience during the exile (see Ps 137:1–3). dances. See v. 13; often a religious activity in ancient times (see 2 Sam 6:14). merrymakers. The Hebrew for this word is translated "celebrate" in 30:19.

31:5 plant. See 1:10 and note. Samaria. Conquered in 722–721 B.C. (see 2 Kin 17:24), it would someday be resettled by God's people. plant And will enjoy them. See Deut 28:30; Is 62:8–9; 65:21–22. Since the law stipulated that the fruit of a tree could not be eaten until the fifth year after planting it (see Lev 19:23–25), a return to normalcy is envisioned here.

31:6 watchmen On the hills. For example, in later times watchmen were stationed in appropriate locations to observe and give notice of the appearance of various phases of the moon to fix the times of the most important feasts (see Deut 16:16). Ephraim . . . to Zion. In the days of Jeroboam I, the people of the northern kingdom had been required to worship at northern shrines (see 1 Kin 12:26–30). In the future, however, they would worship the Lord only in Jerusalem (cf. John 4:20). go up. The verb is often used of journeys to Jerusalem (see, e.g., Ezra 1:3; 7:7; Is 2:3), whose elevation is above the surrounding countryside.

31:7 chief of the nations. See Deut 26:19; Amos 6:1. Israel was the greatest nation not because of intrinsic merit but because of divine grace and appointment (see Deut 7:6–8; 2 Sam 7:23–24). save. The Hebrew for this word is the basis of "Hosanna," the cry of the people of Jerusalem on Palm Sunday (see Matt 21:9 and note; see also Ps 20:9; 28:9; 86:2; and especially 118:25). remnant. See note on 6:9.

31:8 the north country. See 3:18 and note; 4:6 and note; 6:22; 16:15. remote parts of the earth. See 6:22; 25:32. blind . . . lame. See Is 35:5–6 and notes; 42:16.

31:9 With weeping. Contrast Ps 126:5–6; Is 55:12. make them walk. See Is 40:11; 48:21; contrast Is 20:4. by streams of waters. See Is 49:10; see also 41:18. straight path. See Is 40:3–4 and notes; 43:16,19. I am a father to Israel. See 3:4 and note; see also Deut 32:6; Is 63:16; 64:8. firstborn. Cf. v. 20; see Ex 4:22 and note; Hos 11:1–4.

31:10 coastlands. Remote areas to the west of Israel (see 2:10; 25:22 and note; 47:4; Ps 72:10; Is 41:1,5; 42:10,12; 49:1). scattered Israel . . . keep him as a shepherd keeps his flock. See 23:1–3 and notes.

31:11 redeemed. See note on Ruth 2:20. As the Lord had redeemed His people from Egyptian slavery (see Ex 6:6; 15:13; Deut 7:8; 9:26), so now He would redeem their descendants from Babylonian exile (see Is 41:14 and note; 43:1 and note; 52:9). from . . . him who was stronger than he. See Ps 35:10.

31:12 height of Zion. See note on 17:12. bounty of the LORD. Primarily material blessings (see v. 14; Hos 3:5). grain . . . new

And they will be [c]radiant over the
[1]bounty of the LORD—
Over the [d]grain and the new wine and the oil,
And over the young of the [e]flock and
the herd;
And their life will be like a [f]watered garden,
And they will [g]never languish again.
13 "Then the virgin will rejoice in the
[a]dance,
And the young men and the old,
together,
For I will [b]turn their mourning into joy
And will comfort them and give them
[c]joy for their sorrow.
14 "I will [1]fill the soul of the priests with [2]abundance,
And My people will be [a]satisfied with
My goodness," declares the LORD.

15 Thus says the LORD,
"[a]A voice is heard in [b]Ramah,
Lamentation and bitter weeping.
Rachel is weeping for her children;
She [c]refuses to be comforted for her children,
Because [d]they are no more."
16 Thus says the LORD,
"[a]Restrain your voice from weeping
And your eyes from tears;
For your [b]work will be rewarded,"
declares the LORD,
"And they will [c]return from the land of the enemy.
17 "There is [a]hope for your future,"
declares the LORD,
"And your children will return to their own territory.

I certainly still remember him;
Therefore My [1b]heart yearns for him;

declares the LORD.

22 "How long will you go here and there,

23 Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "Once again they will speak this word in the land of Judah and in its cities when I [a]restore their [1]fortunes,
'The LORD bless you, O [b]abode of
righteousness,
O [c]holy hill!'

wine . . . oil. See note on Deut 7:13; see also Hos 2:8. like a watered garden. See Is 58:11 and note. never languish again. See note on Is 25:8.

31:14 abundance. Either (1) a synonym for God's bounty (see Ps 36:8; 63:5; Is 55:2) or (2) a reference to the special portions of the sacrificial animal reserved for the priests (see Lev 7:31–36).

31:15 Quoted in Matt 2:18, where Herod's orders to kill all the male infants "in Bethlehem and all its vicinity" (Matt 2:16) are stated to be a fulfillment of this passage. Ramah. Located about five miles north of Jerusalem, it was one of the towns through which Jerusalem's people passed on their way to exile in Babylonia (see 40:1; cf. Is 10:29; Hos 5:8). Rachel. Jacob's favorite wife (see Gen 29:30) and the grandmother of Ephraim and Manasseh (see Gen 30:22–24; 48:1–2), the two most prominent and powerful tribes in the northern kingdom. The name is used here to personify that kingdom (see note on v. 2).

31:16 For your work will be rewarded. Echoed in 2 Chr 15:7. Here the work is the bearing and raising of children.

31:17 hope for your future. See 29:11. children will return. Cf. Hos 11:10–11.

31:18–19 Bring me back . . . be restored . . . turned back. The same Hebrew root underlies all three phrases (see 8:4–5 and notes).

31:18 Like an untrained calf. The same figure of speech is used in Hos 4:16; 10:11.

31:19 smote on my thigh. A gesture of mourning and grief (see Ezek 21:12). Similar expressions are found in other ancient literature, such as the Babylonian Descent of Ishtar, verse 21; Homer, Iliad, 15.397–398; 16.125; Odyssey, 13.198–199. ashamed and . . . humiliated. See Is 45:16. youth. Early history (see 2:2; 3:24–25; 22:21; 32:30; Is 54:4; Ezek 16:22).

31:20 delightful child. Cf. Is 5:7. Therefore . . . I will surely have mercy on him. See Hos 11:1–4,8–9. My heart yearns. See Is 16:11.

31:21 The departing exiles are advised to set up markers along their path to exile so that in due time they will be able to find their way back to Judah. roadmarks. Tombstone-shaped markers (see 2 Kin 23:17; Ezek 39:15). virgin of Israel. See v. 4; see also 14:17 and note.

31:22 faithless daughter. The people of Judah are apostate (see 3:14,22). created a new thing. See Is 42:9 and note. encompass. Embrace with tender and unfailing love (see Ps 32:7,10; see also Ps 26:6). Judah would someday return to the Lord and love Him without reservation.

31:23 restore their fortunes. See note on 29:14. The LORD bless you. See Ps 128:5; 134:3. abode of righteousness. Jerusalem (cf. Is 1:21,26). holy hill. The temple hill (see Ps 2:6; 48:1–2; Is 2:2–3; 11:9; 27:13; 66:20).

24 "Judah and all its cities will [a]dwell together in it, the farmer and they who go about with flocks.

25 "[a]For I satisfy the weary ones and [1]refresh everyone who languishes."

26 At this I [a]awoke and looked, and my [b]sleep was pleasant to me.

A New Covenant

27 "Behold, days are coming," declares the LORD, "when I will [a]sow the house of Israel and the house of Judah with the seed of man and with the seed of beast.

28 "As I have [a]watched over them to [b]pluck up, to break down, to overthrow, to destroy and to bring disaster, so I will watch over them to [c]build and to plant," declares the LORD.

29 "In those days they will not say again,
'[a]The fathers have eaten sour grapes,
And the children's teeth are [1]set on edge.'

30 "But [a]everyone will die for his own iniquity; each man who eats the sour grapes, his teeth will be [1]set on edge.

31 "[a]Behold, days are coming," declares the LORD, "when I will make a [b]new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah, 32 not like the [a]covenant which I made with their fathers in the day I [b]took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, My [c]covenant which they broke, although I was a husband to them," declares the LORD.

33 "But [a]this is the covenant which I will make with the house of Israel after those days," declares the LORD, "[b]I will put My law within them and on their heart I will write it; and [c]I will be their God, and they shall be My people.

34 "They will [a]not teach again, each man his neighbor and each man his brother, saying, 'Know the LORD,' for they will all [b]know Me, from the least of them to the greatest of them," declares the LORD, "for I will [c]forgive their iniquity, and their [d]sin I will remember no more."

35 Thus says the LORD,
Who [a]gives the sun for light by day
And the [1]fixed order of the moon and the stars for light by night,
Who [b]stirs up the sea so that its waves roar;
[c]The LORD of hosts is His name:

31:26 I awoke. Jeremiah had evidently received the previous divine revelation (beginning in 30:3) in a dream (for similar examples see Dan 10:9; Zech 4:1). sleep . . . pleasant. See Prov 3:24.

31:27 sow . . . seed. See Ezek 36:8–11. The same Hebrew root underlies both words. Israel and . . . Judah. North and south would again be united (see 3:18 and note.)

31:28 watched . . . watch. See note on 1:12. pluck up . . . break down . . . overthrow, to destroy . . . build . . . plant. See note on 1:10.

31:29 The fathers . . . set on edge. Repeated in Ezek 18:2. This was apparently a popular proverb that originated in a misunderstanding of such passages as Ex 20:5 and Num 14:18, which teach that a man's sins can have a negative effect on his descendants. In the time of Jeremiah and Ezekiel, many people felt that God's hand of judgment against them was due not to their own sins, but to the sins of their ancestors.

31:30 everyone will die for his own iniquity. See Deut 24:16; Ezek 18:3,20; 33:7–18. Although group or collective responsibility is an important concept, Jeremiah and Ezekiel emphasize individual responsibility as both preparation and explanation for the imminent destruction of Jerusalem, which the people might have been tempted to blame on the sins of their forefathers.

31:31–34 The high point of Jeremiah's prophecies, this passage is the longest sequence of OT verses to be quoted in its entirety in the NT (see note on Heb 8:8–12; see also Heb 10:16–17). Verse 31 contains the only OT use of the phrase "new covenant," which (together with its NT echoes) has come down to us (via Latin) as "new testament," the name that would later be applied to the distinctively Christian part of the Biblical canon.

31:31 days are coming. See vv. 27,38. The phrase often refers to the Messianic era. make. Lit. "cut" (see notes on 34:18; Gen 15:18). new covenant. See note on vv. 31–34; see also 1 Cor 11:25; 2 Cor 3:6; Heb 9:15; 12:24; and note on Mark 14:24). As the old covenant was solemnized by the blood of sacrificial animals, so the new would be solemnized by the blood of Christ. house of Israel . . . house of Judah. The reunited people of God (see 3:18 and note).

31:32 covenant which I made with their fathers. See 7:23; 11:1–8; Ex 19:5; 20:22–23:19 and notes. The covenant at Sinai eventually became known as the "old covenant" (2 Cor 3:14) or "first covenant" (Heb 8:7; 9:15,18). took them by the hand. See Hos 11:3–4. My covenant which they broke. See 11:10. The people, not God, were responsible for violating His covenant (see note on Is 24:5). I was a husband. See 3:14 and note.

31:33 house of Israel. Here includes both Israel and Judah (see v. 31 and note on 3:18). put My law within them. Internally (see Deut 6:6; 11:18; 30:14; Ezek 11:19; 18:31; 36:26–27), in contrast to setting it before them externally (see 9:13; Deut 4:8; 11:32). on their heart I will write it. So that it effectively governs their lives, in contrast to the ineffectiveness of merely presenting it in writing, though inscribed on durable stone (see Ex 24:4; 31:18; 32:15–16; 34:28–29; Deut 4:13; 5:22; 9:9,11; 10:4). I will be . . . My people. See note on 7:23. The "new" covenant does not abolish the "old" but supersedes it in the sense that through the new covenant the old is fulfilled and its purpose achieved.

31:34 not teach . . . his neighbor. When the Lord has done His new work, there will no longer be among His people those who are ignorant of Him and His will for human lives. True knowledge of the Lord will be shared by all—young and old, the peasant and the powerful (see 5:4–5 and notes; see also 32:38–40; Is 54:13 and note; Ezek 11:19–20; 36:25–27; Eph 3:12; Heb 4:16; 10:19–22). Know. In the experiential, not the academic, sense (see Ex 6:3 and note). I will forgive . . . their sin. The glorious basis of the new covenant (see Heb 10:14–17).

31:35 gives the sun . . . moon . . . stars. See Gen 1:16–18 and notes. Who stirs up . . . is His name. The same line is found in Is 51:15 (see Ps 46:3; Is 17:12).

From before Me," declares the LORD,
"Then the offspring of Israel also will [b]cease
From being a nation before Me [2]forever."

37 Thus says the LORD,
"[a]If the heavens above can be measured
And the foundations of the earth searched out below,
Then I will also [b]cast off all the offspring of Israel
For all that they have done," declares the LORD.

38 "Behold, days are coming," declares the LORD, "when the [a]city will be rebuilt for the LORD from the [b]Tower of Hananel to the [c]Corner Gate.

39 "The [a]measuring line will go out farther straight ahead to the hill Gareb; then it will turn to Goah.

40 "And [a]the whole valley of the dead bodies and of the ashes, and all the fields as far as the brook [b]Kidron, to the corner of the [c]Horse Gate toward the east, shall be [d]holy to the LORD; it will not be plucked up or overthrown anymore forever."

Jeremiah Imprisoned

32 The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the [a]tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar.

2 Now at that time the army of the king of Babylon was besieging Jerusalem, and Jeremiah the prophet was shut up in the [a]court of the guard, which was in the house of the king of Judah,

6 And Jeremiah said, "The word of the LORD came to me, saying,

7 'Behold, Hanamel the son of Shallum your uncle is coming to you, saying, "Buy for yourself my field which is at [a]Anathoth, for you have the [b]right of redemption to buy it." '

8 "Then Hanamel my uncle's son came to me in the [a]court of the guard according to the word of the LORD and said to me, 'Buy my field, please, that is at [b]Anathoth, which is in the land of Benjamin; for you have the right of possession and the redemption is yours; buy it for yourself.' Then I knew that this was the [c]word of the LORD.

9 "I bought the field which was at Anathoth from Hanamel my uncle's son, and I [a]weighed out the silver for him, seventeen [b]shekels of silver.

10 "I [1][a]signed and [b]sealed the deed, and [c]called in witnesses, and weighed out the silver on the scales.

31:36 See 33:20–21,25–26. Just as God's creation order is established and secure, so also Israel will always have descendants.
31:37 cast off all. Israel will continue to exist, even though a terrible judgment is about to sweep the kingdom of Judah away.
31:38–40 See Zech 14:10–11.
31:38 the city. Jerusalem. Tower of Hananel . . . Corner Gate. The eastern and western ends of the northern wall (see note on Zech 14:10).
31:39 measuring line. Mentioned in connection with restored Jerusalem also in Ezek 40:3; Zech 1:16; 2:1. Gareb . . . Goah. Exact locations unknown, but probably to the west of Jerusalem.
31:40 valley. Probably the Hinnom Valley (see 2:23 and note). Horse Gate. See note on Neh 3:28. holy to the LORD. See Zech 14:20 and note. plucked up . . . overthrown. See note on 1:10.
32:1–44 Though with some reluctance (see v. 25), Jeremiah obeys the Lord's command to buy a field in Anathoth from his cousin (see vv. 8–9) even as the Babylonians are besieging Jerusalem (see vv. 2,24).
32:1 tenth year of Zedekiah . . . eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar. 587 B.C., the year before Jerusalem was destroyed by the Babylonians (see 52:12–13). The siege began in 588 (see 39:1; 52:4).
32:2 shut up in the court of the guard. See Neh 3:25 and note. Jeremiah was imprisoned by King Zedekiah (see 37:21) and remained in the courtyard of the guard until Jerusalem fell (see 38:13,28; 39:14).
32:3–5 See 21:3–7; 34:2–5; 37:17. The fulfillment is recorded in 52:7–14.
32:5 until I visit him. After his capture by the Babylonians, Zedekiah was taken to Babylon, where he eventually died (see 52:11). you will not succeed. See note on 29:4.
32:7 Anathoth. Jeremiah's hometown (see note on 1:1). you have the right . . . to buy it. In accordance with the ancient law of redemption (see Lev 25:23–25; see also notes on Ruth 2:20; 4:3).
32:8 came to me in the court. Though imprisoned, Jeremiah was allowed to have visitors. in the land of Benjamin. Some time earlier, Jeremiah had been on his way home "to take possession of some property . . . among the people" in Benjamin (37:12), but he was arrested, falsely accused of treason, and thrown into prison (see 37:13–16).
32:9 I bought. In obedience to the Lord's command (see v. 7). weighed out. Coinage had not yet been invented. seventeen shekels of silver. About 7 ounces of silver. The size of the field is unknown, but the price was probably not exorbitant (contrast Gen 23:15; see note there).
32:10 sealed. Not to attest his signature (as, e.g., in Esth 3:12; see note on Gen 38:18) but to guarantee the contents of the deed and keep it from being tampered with (see Is 8:16; 29:11; Dan 12:4,9; Rev 15:1–5).

11 "Then I took the deeds of purchase, both the sealed copy containing the [a]terms and conditions and the open copy;
12 and I gave the deed of purchase to [a]Baruch the son of [b]Neriah, the son of Mah-seiah, in the sight of Hanamel my uncle's son and in the sight of the witnesses who signed the deed of purchase, before all the Jews who were sitting in the court of the guard.
13 "And I commanded Baruch in their presence, saying,
14 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "Take these deeds, this sealed deed of purchase and this open deed, and put them in an earthenware jar, that they may [1]last a long time."
15 'For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "[a]Houses and fields and vineyards will again be bought in this land." '

Jeremiah Prays and God Explains

16 "After I had given the deed of purchase to Baruch the son of Neriah, then I [a]prayed to the LORD, saying,
17 '[a]Ah Lord [1]GOD! Behold, You have [b]made the heavens and the earth by Your great power and by Your outstretched arm!
[c]Nothing is too difficult for You,
18 who [a]shows lovingkindness to thousands, but [b]repays the iniquity of fathers into the bosom of their children after them, O [c]great and [d]mighty God. The [e]LORD of hosts is His name;
19 [a]great in counsel and mighty in deed, whose [b]eyes are open to all the ways of the sons of men, [c]giving to everyone according to his ways and according to the fruit of his deeds;
20 who has [a]set signs and wonders in the land of Egypt, and even to this day both in Israel and among mankind; and You have [b]made a name for Yourself, as at this day.
21 'You [a]brought Your people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signs and with wonders, and with a strong hand and with an outstretched arm and with great terror;
22 and gave them this land, which You
[a]swore to their forefathers to give them, a land flowing with milk and honey.
23 'They [a]came in and took possession of it, but they [b]did not obey Your voice or [c]walk in Your law; they have done nothing of all that You commanded them to do; therefore
You have made [d]all this calamity come upon
them.
24 'Behold, the [a]siege ramps have reached the city to take it; and the city is [b]given into the hand of the Chaldeans who fight against it, because of the [c]sword, the famine and the pestilence; and what You have spoken has [d]come to pass; and behold, You see it.
25 'You have said to me, O Lord [1]GOD,
"Buy for yourself the field with money and call in witnesses"—although the city is given into the hand of the Chaldeans.' " 26 Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying,
27 "Behold, I am the LORD, the [a]God of all flesh; is anything [b]too difficult for Me?"
28 Therefore thus says the LORD, "Behold,
I am about to [a]give this city into the hand of the Chaldeans and into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he will take
it.

32:11 open copy. For ready reference, the authenticity of which would then be guaranteed by the sealed copy if the unsealed deed should be lost, damaged or changed (deliberately or otherwise). Examples of tied and sealed papyrus documents of the fifth and subsequent centuries B.C. have been found at Elephantine in southern Egypt, in the desert of Judah west of the Dead Sea, and elsewhere (see chart, p. xix).

32:12 Baruch. Means "blessed (by the Lord)." He was Jeremiah's faithful secretary and friend (see Introduction: Author and Date).

32:14 put them in an earthenware jar, that they may last a long time. Documents found in clay jars at Elephantine (see note on v. 11) and Qumran (west of the Dead Sea) were preserved almost intact for more than 2,000 years (see essay, p. 1356).

32:15 Jeremiah's deed of purchase would enable him (or his heirs) to reclaim the field as soon as normal economic activity resumed after the exile.

32:17 See 27:5. great power and by Your outstretched arm. See v. 21; see also note on 21:5. Nothing is too difficult for you. See note on Gen 18:14. The Lord's reply to Jeremiah echoes these words (see v. 27).

32:18 shows lovingkindness to thousands . . . repays the iniquity of fathers. See Ex 20:5–6; 34:7; see also note on Ex 20:6. repays . . . into the bosom. A symbol of retribution (see Ps 79:12; Is 65:6–7; cf. Luke 6:38). great and mighty God. See Deut 10:17. LORD of hosts is His name. See 31:35; Is 54:5; Amos 4:13.

32:19 great in counsel and mighty in deed. See Ps 66:5; Is 9:6; 28:29. giving to everyone according to . . . his deeds. The Hebrew is repeated verbatim from 17:10 (see note there; see also 1 Cor 3:8; Eph 6:8).

32:20 signs and wonders. See v. 21; Ex 7:3; see also notes on Ex 3:12; 4:8. to this day. See 11:7.

32:21 Repeated almost verbatim from Deut 26:8 (see Deut 4:34). strong hand . . . outstretched arm. See v. 17 and note on 21:5. great terror. See Ex 15:14–16.

32:22 land flowing with milk and honey. See 11:5; see also note on Ex 3:8.

32:24 siege ramps. See 6:6; 33:4; see also note on Is 37:33. sword . . . famine . . . pestilence. See note on 14:12.

32:25 Jeremiah expresses his doubts concerning what must seem to him to be an unwise investment. Nevertheless, he remains the obedient servant (see vv. 8–9).

32:27 the LORD, the God of all flesh. Echoes Num 16:22; 27:16, emphasizing God's universal dominion. is anything too difficult for Me? Responds to the description in Jeremiah's prayer (see v. 17 and note on Gen 18:14), stressing God's omnipotence. God is worthy of obedience because He is always faithful in fulfilling His promises.

29 "The Chaldeans who are fighting against this city will enter and [a]set this city on fire and burn it, with the [b]houses where people have offered incense to Baal on their roofs and poured out drink offerings to other gods to provoke Me to anger.

30 "Indeed the sons of Israel and the sons of Judah have been doing only [a]evil in My sight from their youth; for the sons of Israel have been only [b]provoking Me to anger by the work of their hands," declares the LORD.

31 "Indeed this city has been to Me a [a]provocation of My anger and My wrath from the day that they built it, even to this day, so that it should be [b]removed from before My face,

32 because of all the evil of the sons of Israel and the sons of Judah which they have done to provoke Me to anger—they, their [a]kings, their leaders, their priests, their prophets, the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

33 "They have turned their back to Me and not their face; though I taught them, [1a]teaching again and again, they would not listen [2]and receive instruction.

34 "But they [a]put their detestable things in the house which is called by My name, to defile it.

35 "They built the [a]high places of Baal that are in the valley of Ben-hinnom to cause their sons and their daughters to pass through the fire to [b]Molech, which I had not commanded them nor had it [1]entered My mind that they should do this abomination, to cause Judah to sin.

36 "Now therefore thus says the LORD God of Israel concerning this city of which you say, 'It is [a]given into the hand of the king of Babylon by sword, by famine and by pestilence.'

37 "Behold, I will [a]gather them out of all the lands to which I have driven them in My anger, in My wrath and in great indignation; and I will bring them back to this place and [b]make them dwell in safety.

38 "They shall be [a]My people, and I will be their God;

39 and I will [a]give them one heart and one way, that they may fear Me always, for their own [b]good and for the good of their children after them.

40 "I will make an [a]everlasting covenant with them that I will [b]not turn away from them, to do them good; and I will [c]put the fear of Me in their hearts so that they will not turn away from Me.

41 "I will [a]rejoice over them to do them good and will [1]faithfully [b]plant them in this land with [c]all My heart and with all My soul.

42 "For thus says the LORD, '[a]Just as I brought all this great disaster on this people, so I am going to [b]bring on them all the good that I am promising them.

43 '[a]Fields will be bought in this land of which you say, "[b]It is a desolation, without man or beast; it is given into the hand of the Chaldeans."

44 'Men will buy fields for money, [1a]sign and seal deeds, and call in witnesses in the [b]land of Benjamin, in the environs of Jerusalem, in the cities of Judah, in the cities of the hill country, in the cities of the lowland and in the cities of the [2]Negev; for I will [c]restore their [3]fortunes,' declares the LORD."

32:34–35 Repeated from 7:30–31 (see notes there).
32:35 Molech. The god of the Ammonites (see 49:1,3; see also note on Lev 18:21).
32:36 Now therefore. After judgment on the wicked comes restoration for the righteous. you. The pronoun is plural, referring to the people of Judah as a whole. sword . . . famine . . . pestilence. See note on 14:12.
32:37 See Deut 30:1–5. My anger . . . wrath . . . great indignation. See note on 21:5. bring them back . . . make them dwell. See Ezek 36:11,33; Hos 11:11. The Hebrew underlying the first phrase sounds like that underlying the second.

32:43–44 Fields will be bought. The field purchased by Jeremiah (see v. 9) is symbolic of the many fields that will be purchased in Judah after the Babylonian exile, when economic conditions return to normal (see note on v. 15).
32:43 you. See note on v. 36. desolation, without man or beast. See 4:23–26 and notes.
32:44 land of Benjamin. See 1:1. Here Benjamin is mentioned first because it was the region in which Jeremiah's hometown was located (see vv. 7–8 and notes). hill country . . . lowland. See note on Deut 1:7. Negev. See note on Gen 12:9. restore their fortunes. See note on 29:14.
33:1–26 Concluding Jeremiah's "book of consolation" (see note on 30:1–33:26), the section is divided into two roughly equal parts: (1) vv. 1–13, which continues and builds on ch. 32, and (2) vv. 14–26, which summarizes a wider range of earlier pas-still [1][a]confined in the court of the guard, saying,

2 "Thus says [a]the LORD who made [1]the earth, the LORD who formed it to establish it, the [b]LORD is His name,

3 '[a]Call to Me and I will answer you, and I will tell you [b]great and mighty things, [c]which you do not know.'

4 "For thus says the LORD God of Israel concerning the [a]houses of this city, and concerning the houses of the kings of Judah which are broken down to make a defense against the [b]siege ramps and against the sword,

5 'While they are coming to [a]fight with the Chaldeans and to fill them with the corpses of men whom I have slain in My anger and in My wrath, and I have [b]hidden My face from this city because of all their wickedness:

6 'Behold, I will bring to it [a]health and healing, and I will heal them; and I will reveal to them an [b]abundance of peace and truth.

7 'I will [a]restore the [1]fortunes of Judah and the fortunes of Israel and will [b]rebuild them as they were at first.

8 'I will [a]cleanse them from all their iniquity by which they have sinned against Me, and I will pardon all their iniquities by which they have sinned against Me and by which they have transgressed against Me.

9 '[1]It will be to Me a [a]name of joy, praise and glory before [b]all the nations of the earth which will hear of all the [c]good that I do for them, and they will [d]fear and tremble because of all the good and all the peace that I make for it.'

10 "Thus says the LORD, 'Yet again there will be heard in this place, of which you say, "It is a [a]waste, without man and without beast," that is, in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem that are [b]desolate, without man and without inhabitant and without beast,

11 the voice of [a]joy and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the voice of those who say,

"[b]Give thanks to the LORD of hosts,
For the LORD is good,
For His lovingkindness is everlasting";

and of those who bring a [c]thank offering into the house of the LORD. For I will restore the [1]fortunes of the land as they were at first,' says the LORD.

12 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, 'There will again be in this place which is waste, [a]without man or beast, and in all its cities, a [1]habitation of shepherds who rest their [b]flocks.

13 'In the [a]cities of the hill country, in the cities of the lowland, in the cities of the Negev, in the land of Benjamin, in the environs of Jerusalem and in the cities of Judah, the flocks will again [b]pass under the hands of the one who numbers them,' says the LORD.

The Davidic Kingdom

14 'Behold, [a]days are coming,' declares the LORD, 'when I will [b]fulfill the good word which I have spoken concerning the house of Israel and the house of Judah.

15 'In those days and at that time I will cause a [a]righteous Branch of David to spring forth; and He shall execute [b]justice and righteousness on the earth.

16 'In those days [a]Judah will be saved and Jerusalem will dwell in safety; and this is the name by which she will be called: the [b]LORD is our righteousness.'

sages in Jeremiah and elsewhere—it is not found in the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT).

33:1 the second time. Ch. 32 comprises the first time. still confined. In 587 B.C. (see note on 32:1). court of the guard. See 32:2 and note.

33:2 See 10:12; 32:17; 51:15; see also 31:35 and note.

33:3 Call . . . and I will answer. Man's prayer invites—and assures—God's response (see Ps 3:4; 4:3; 18:6; 27:7; 28:1–2; 30:8; 55:17; Matt 7:7; contrast 11:14). great and mighty. The Hebrew for this phrase usually refers to the formidable cities of Canaan and is translated "large and fortified to heaven" (Deut 1:28; see Num 13:28; Deut 9:1; Josh 14:12). mighty things, which you do not know. The Hebrew (with the change of one letter) for this phrase echoes Is 48:6: "hidden things which you have not known." As the rest of ch. 33 demonstrates, the Lord will first judge His people (vv. 4–5) and then restore them in ways that will be nothing short of incredible (vv. 6–26).

33:4 Jerusalem's houses—including those of the king—were torn down so that their stones could be used to repair the city's battered walls (see Is 22:10 and note). siege ramps. To help the invaders bring up battering rams and scale Jerusalem's walls (see 6:6).

33:5 fight with the Chaldeans. See 32:5. corpses. Of Jerusalem's defenders.

33:6 health and healing. See 30:17; contrast 8:22.

33:7 restore the fortunes. See vv. 11,26; see also note on 29:14. Judah and . . . Israel. See note on 3:18.

33:8 pardon all their iniquities. The basis of the institution of the new covenant (see 31:34 and note; see also 50:20; Ezek 36:25–26).

33:9 tremble because of all the good. See Hos 3:5.

33:10 See 32:43 and note.

33:11 voice of joy . . . voice of the bride. The glorious reversal of the judgment proclaimed in 7:34; 16:9; 25:10. those who say, "Give thanks . . ." See note on 17:26. restore the fortunes. See note on 29:14.

33:13 hill country . . . cities of Judah. See 17:26 and note; 32:44. flocks . . . pass under the hands . . . numbers them. See Ezek 20:37.

33:15–16 Repeated from 23:5–6 (see notes there).

33:16 she will be called. Because of Jerusalem's intimate relationship to the Messiah, it is given the same name by which He is called in 23:6 (for other examples see Judg 6:24; Ezek 48:35).

20 "Thus says the LORD, 'If you can [a]break My covenant for the day and My covenant for the night, so that day and night will not be at their appointed time, 21 then [a]My covenant may also be broken with David My servant so that he will not have a son to reign on his throne, and with the Levitical priests, My ministers.

A Prophecy against Zedekiah

34 The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD, when [a]Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army, with [b]all the kingdoms of the earth that were under his dominion and all the peoples, were fighting against Jerusalem and against all its cities, saying,

2 "Thus says the LORD God of Israel, '[a]Go and speak to Zedekiah king of Judah and say to him: "Thus says the LORD, 'Behold, [b]I am giving this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and [c]he will burn it with fire.

3 '[a]You will not escape from his hand, for you will surely be captured and delivered into his hand; and you will [b]see the king of Babylon eye to eye, and he will speak with you [1]face to face, and you will go to Babylon.' " ' desolate wasteland, all God's past covenants with His people appear to be rendered of no effect—His covenants with Israel, with David and with Phinehas (see chart, p. 16). This series of oracles, however, gives reassurance that the ancient covenants are not being repudiated, that they are as secure as God's covenant concerning the creation order, and that in the future restoration they will all yet be fulfilled.

33:17 See 2 Sam 7:12–16; 1 Kin 2:4; 8:25; 9:5; 2 Chr 6:16; 7:18. This passage is fulfilled ultimately in Jesus (see Luke 1:32–33).

33:18 See Num 25:13. The priestly covenant with the Levites, like the royal covenant with David, was not a private grant to the priestly family involving only that family and the Lord. It was rather an integral part of the Lord's dealings with His people in which Israel was assured of the ministry of a priesthood that was acceptable to the Lord and through whose mediation they could enjoy communion with Him. That ministry was and is being fulfilled by Jesus, who administers a higher and better priesthood (see Ps 110:4; Heb 5:6–10; 6:19–20; 7:11–25). Levitical priests. See Deut 17:9,18.

33:20 covenant for the day and . . . the night. See v. 25; 31:35–36. Although reference may be to God's sovereign establishment of the creation order in the beginning, more likely the covenant of Gen 9:8–17 (see Gen 8:22) is in view.

33:21 covenant . . . with the Levitical priests. See Mal 2:4.

33:22 In words that echo the covenant promises to the patriarchs (Abraham, Gen 22:17; Isaac, Gen 26:4; Jacob, Gen 32:12), the Lord assures the flourishing of the two mediatorial (royal and priestly) families and thus the continuation of this ministry in the spiritual commonwealth He has established with His people. This promise of a numerous progeny to both the royal and priestly families is no doubt fulfilled in that great throng who (will) reign with Christ (see Rom 5:17; 8:17; 1 Cor 6:3; 2 Tim 2:12; Rev 3:21; 5:10; 20:5–6; 22:5; see also Matt 19:28; Luke 22:30) and who in Christ have been consecrated to be priests (see 1 Pet 2:5,9; Rev 1:6; 5:10; 20:6; see also Is 66:21; Rom 6:13; 12:1; 15:16; Eph 5:2; Phil 4:18; Heb 13:15–16).

33:24 two families. Israel and Judah. But because of the use of the word "families" instead of "kingdoms," the reference may be to the two mediatorial (royal and priestly) families, or to the families of Jacob and David (see v. 26). the LORD chose. See Amos 3:2 and note.

33:25–26 See v. 20 and note.

33:26 restore their fortunes and . . . have mercy. Echoes Deut 30:3; see note on 29:14.

34:1–35:19 The first major division of the book (chs. 2–35) now draws to a close. Jeremiah's warnings and exhortations to Judah are concluded with a historical appendix (chs. 34–35), a technique used to conclude the third major division of the book (chs. 39–45) as well (see note on 45:1–5). Ch. 52, written by someone other than Jeremiah, serves as a fitting historical appendix to the entire book.

34:1–22 The chapter divides naturally into two parts (vv. 1–7 and 8–22), each of which dates to 588 B.C. (see notes on vv. 7,21–22).

34:1–7 Jeremiah's warning to King Zedekiah parallels the prophet's similar admonition in 21:1–10 (see notes there).

34:1 kingdoms . . . under his dominion and all the peoples. Nebuchadnezzar's empire was vast (see Ezek 26:7; Dan 3:2–4; 4:1; cf. the similar description of the Medes in 51:28). fighting against Jerusalem. Subject nations were expected to supply troops to fight alongside those of their overlord (see 2 Kin 24:2); In a 14th-century B.C. treaty between the Hittite ruler Mursilis II and Duppi-tessub king of the Amorites, Mursilis says, "If you do not send your son or brother with your foot soldiers and charioteers to help the Hittite king, you act in disregard of the gods of the oath." all its cities. See 19:15 and note.

34:2–3 See 32:3–5 and note; see also 39:4–7; Ezek 12:12–13; 17:11–20.

4 "Yet hear the word of the LORD, O Zedekiah king of Judah! Thus says the LORD concerning you, 'You will not die by the sword.

5 'You will die in peace; and as spices were burned for your fathers, the former kings who were before you, so they will [a]burn spices for you; and [b]they will lament for you, "Alas, lord!" ' For I have spoken the word," declares the LORD.

6 Then Jeremiah the prophet spoke [a]all these words to Zedekiah king of Judah in Jerusalem

7 when the army of the king of Babylon was fighting against Jerusalem and against all the remaining cities of Judah, that is, [a]Lachish and [b]Azekah, for they alone remained as [c]fortified cities among the cities of Judah.

8 The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD after King Zedekiah had [a]made a covenant with all the people who were in Jerusalem to [b]proclaim [1]release to them:

9 that each man should set free his male servant and each man his female servant, a [a]Hebrew man or a Hebrew woman; so that [b]no one should keep them, a Jew his brother, in bondage.

10 And all the [a]officials and all the people obeyed who had entered into the covenant that each man should set free his male servant and each man his female servant, so that no one should keep them any longer in bondage; they obeyed, and set them free.

11 But afterward they turned around and took back the male servants and the female servants whom they had set free, and brought them into subjection for male servants and for female servants.

12 Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,

13 "Thus says the LORD God of Israel, 'I [a]made a covenant with your forefathers in the day that I [b]brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage, saying,

14 "[a]At the end of seven years each of you shall set free his Hebrew brother who [1]has been sold to you and has served you six years, you shall send him out free from you; but your forefathers [b]did not obey Me or incline their ear to Me.

34:4 not die by the sword. See 32:5; 38:17,20; 52:11; Ezek 17:16.
34:5 spices were burned for . . . the former kings. Not cremation (see 2 Chr 16:14; 21:19; see also note on Amos 6:10). Alas, lord! Words of mourning at the death of a king (see 22:18; cf. 1 Kin 13:30).
34:7 Lachish and Azekah. Solomon's son Rehoboam had fortified them (see 2 Chr 11:5,9), but Lachish was later besieged (701 B.C.) during Hezekiah's reign by the Assyrian king Sennacherib (see 2 Chr 32:9). A contemporary relief depicting Sennacherib's conquest states that he "sat on a throne and passed in review the plunder taken from Lachish." In 1935, 18 ostraca (broken pottery fragments used as writing material) were discovered at Lachish, nearly all of them in the ruins of the latest occupation level (588 B.C.) of the Israelite gate-tower. Ostracon 4, written to the commander at Lachish shortly after the events described here, ends as follows: "We are watching for the fire-signals of Lachish . . . for we cannot see Azekah." See note on 6:1.
34:8–22 Contemporary with the events of 37:4–12 (see note on vv. 21–22).
34:8 proclaim release. See Lev 25:10 and note. release to them. In accordance with the general provisions of the law of Moses (see Ex 21:2–11 and notes; Lev 25:39–55; Deut 15:12–18).
34:9 Hebrew. See Ex 21:2; see also note on Gen 14:13. no one should keep . . . a Jew . . . in bondage. See Lev 25:39,42.
34:10 they . . . set them free. To gain God's blessing, and/or in the hope that the freed slaves would be more willing to help defend Jerusalem.
34:11 afterward. When the Babylonian siege was temporarily lifted due to Egyptian intervention (see vv. 21–22; 37:5,11). took back the . . . servants . . . they had set free. In violation of Deut 15:12. brought them into subjection. Cf. 2 Chr 28:10.
34:13 house of bondage. Lit. "house of slaves" (see Ex 13:3,14; 20:2; Deut 5:6; 6:12; 8:14; 13:5; Josh 24:17; Judg 6:8). The Israelites were to free their slaves because God had earlier freed the Israelites (see Deut 15:15).
34:14 end of seven years . . . send him out free. A loose quotation of Deut 15:12.
34:15–16 you had turned . . . Yet you turned. The Hebrew for the two phrases is identical, providing an ironic play on words (see note on v. 18).
34:16 you . . . profaned My name. By breaking the Lord's covenant. Zedekiah was a man whose word could not be trusted (see Ezek 17:15,18). free according to their desire. See Deut 21:14.
34:17 sword . . . pestilence . . . famine. See note on 14:12. a terror to all the kingdoms of the earth. See 15:4 and note.
34:18 transgressed . . . passed. The Hebrew root underlying both words is the same, again providing an ironic play on words (see note on vv. 15–16). made . . . cut. The Hebrew for the two words is identical. In ancient times, making a covenant involved a self-maledictory oath ("May thus and so be done to me if I do not keep this covenant"), which was often symbolized by cutting an animal in two and walking between the two halves (see Gen 15:18 and note). between its parts. See note on Gen 15:17.

The Rechabites' Obedience

35 The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the days of [a]Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, saying,

2 "Go to the house of the [a]Rechabites and speak to them, and bring them into the house of the LORD, into one of the [b]chambers, and give them wine to drink."

3 Then I took Jaazaniah the son of Jeremiah, son of Habazziniah, and his brothers and all his sons and the whole house of the Rechabites,

4 and I brought them into the house of the LORD, into the chamber of the sons of Hanan the son of Igdaliah, the [a]man of God, which was near the chamber of the officials, which was above the chamber of Maaseiah the son of Shallum, [b]the doorkeeper.

5 Then I set before the [1]men of the house of the Rechabites pitchers full of wine and cups; and I said to them, "[a]Drink wine!"

6 But they said, "We will not drink wine, for [a]Jonadab the son of [b]Rechab, our father, commanded us, saying, 'You shall [c]not drink wine, you or your sons, forever.

7 'You shall not build a house, and you shall not sow seed and you shall not plant a vineyard or own one; but in [a]tents you shall dwell all your days, that you may live [b]many days in the land where you [c]sojourn.'

8 "We have [a]obeyed the voice of Jonadab the son of Rechab, our father, in all that he commanded us, not to drink wine all our days, we, our wives, our sons or our daughters,

9 nor to build ourselves houses to dwell in; and we [a]do not have vineyard or field or seed.

10 "We have only [a]dwelt in tents, and have obeyed and have done according to all that [b]Jonadab our father commanded us.

11 "But when [a]Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up against the land, we said, 'Come and let us [b]go to Jerusalem before the army of the Chaldeans and before the army of the Arameans.' So we have dwelt in Jerusalem."

Judah Rebuked

12 Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying,

13 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, 'Go and say to the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, "[a]Will you not receive instruction by listening to My words?" declares the LORD.

34:20 food for the birds . . . of the earth. See 7:33 and note.
34:21–22 Because of the arrival of the Egyptians on the scene, the Babylonians in 588 B.C. temporarily lifted the siege of Jerusalem (see note on v. 11).
34:21 gone away from you. See the hope expressed in 21:2.
34:22 I will bring them back. See 37:8.
35:1–19 The family of the Recabites, who obeyed their forefather's command, are an example and rebuke to the people of Judah, who have disobeyed the Lord (see v. 16). The mention of "the army of the Chaldeans and . . . Arameans" (v. 11) dates the chapter to no earlier than the eighth year of King Jehoiakim, who began his reign in 609 B.C., whose capital city of Jerusalem was besieged in 605 (see Dan 1:1 and note) by Nebuchadnezzar, and who rebelled against Nebuchadnezzar three or four years later—an unwise act that led to raids on his territory by Babylonians, Arameans and others (see 2 Kin 24:1–2). (The raids are perhaps reflected in 12:7–13.)
35:1 in the days of Jehoiakim. Chs. 35–36 (see 36:1) are a flashback to the reign of Jehoiakim (609–598 B.C.; see Introduction: Outline).
35:2 Rechabites. A nomadic tribal group related to the Kenites (see 1 Chr 2:55), some of whom lived among or near the Israelites (see Judg 1:16; 4:11; 1 Sam 27:10) and were on friendly terms with them (see 1 Sam 15:6; 30:26,29). the house of the LORD . . . the chambers. Used for storage and/or as living quarters (see 1 Kin 6:5; 1 Chr 28:12; 2 Chr 31:11; Neh 13:4–5).
35:3 Jaazaniah. Means "The LORD hears." It was a common name in Jeremiah's time (see 40:8; Ezek 8:11; 11:1) and appears on a stamp seal (discovered at Tell en-Nasbeh north of Jerusalem and dating c. 600 B.C.) as well as on one of the Lachish ostraca (see note on 34:7). Jeremiah. Not the prophet.
35:4 sons. Perhaps here in the sense of "disciples" (see Amos 7:14 and note). man of God. A synonym for "prophet" (see 1 Kin 12:22; see also note on 1 Sam 9:9), emphasizing his relationship to the One who has called him. Maaseiah. Perhaps the man of the same name mentioned in 21:1; 29:25; 37:3. doorkeeper. One of three supervisors (see 52:24) over those who guarded the entrances to the temple (see 2 Kin 12:9).
35:5 pitchers. Large vessels, from which smaller cups would be filled.
35:6 We will not drink wine. A permanent vow taken by the Recabites; cf. the Nazirites' temporary vow (see Num 6:2–3,20; Judg 13:4–7). Malkijah son of Recab may have been a later renegade exception to the Recabite vow, since he was "official of the district of Beth-haccherem" (Neh 3:14), which means "house of the vineyard." Jonadab. Spelled "Jehonadab" in 2 Kin 10:15,23. Nearly 250 years before the days of Jeremiah, he helped King Jehu destroy Baal worship (at least temporarily) in the northern kingdom.
35:7 in tents you shall dwell. Except during times of national emergency (see v. 11). you may live many days in the land. An echo of Ex 20:12, where honoring one's parents is commanded.
35:8 We have obeyed . . . Jonadab. Contrast Judah's disobedience toward God (see v. 16).
35:11 See note on vv. 1–19.
35:13 receive instruction. The Hebrew underlying this phrase

14 "The [a]words of Jonadab the son of Rechab, which he commanded his sons not to drink wine, are observed. So they do not drink wine to this day, for they have obeyed their father's command. But I have spoken to you [1][b]again and again; yet you have [c]not listened to Me.

15 "Also I have sent to you all My [a]servants the prophets, sending them [1]again and again, saying: '[b]Turn now every man from his evil way and amend your deeds, and [c]do not go after other gods to worship them. Then you will [d]dwell in the land which I have given to you and to your forefathers; but you have not [e]inclined your ear or listened to Me.

16 'Indeed, the sons of Jonadab the son of Rechab have [a]observed the command of their father which he commanded them, but this people has not listened to Me.' " '

17 "Therefore thus says the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel, 'Behold, [a]I am bringing on Judah and on all the inhabitants of Jerusalem all the disaster that I have pronounced against them; because I [b]spoke to them but they did not listen, and I have called them but they did not answer.' "

18 Then Jeremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, 'Because you have [a]obeyed the command of Jonadab your father, kept all his commands and done according to all that he commanded you;

19 therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "Jonadab the son of Rechab [a]shall not lack a man to [b]stand before Me [1]always." ' "

Jeremiah's Scroll Read in the Temple

36 In the [a]fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,

2 "Take a [1][a]scroll and write on it all the [b]words which I have spoken to you concerning [c]Israel and concerning Judah, and concerning all the [d]nations, from the [e]day I first spoke to you, from the days of Josiah, even to this day.

3 "[a]Perhaps the house of Judah will hear all the calamity which I plan to bring on them, in order that every man will [b]turn from his evil way; then I will [c]forgive their iniquity and their sin."

4 Then Jeremiah called [a]Baruch the son of Neriah, and Baruch wrote on a [1][b]scroll [2]at the dictation of Jeremiah all the words of the LORD which He had spoken to him.

5 Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, "I am [1][a]restricted; I cannot go into the house of the LORD.

6 "So you go and [a]read from the scroll which you have [b]written [1]at my dictation the words of the LORD [2]to the people in the LORD's house on a [c]fast day. And also you shall read them [2]to all the people of Judah who come from their cities.

7 "[a]Perhaps their supplication will [1]come before the LORD, and everyone will turn from his evil way, for [b]great is the anger and the wrath that the LORD has pronounced against this people."

8 Baruch the son of Neriah did according to all that Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, [a]reading from the book the words of the LORD in the LORD's house.

9 Now in the [a]fifth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, in the [b]ninth month, all the people in Jerusalem and all the people who [c]came from the cities of Judah to Jerusalem proclaimed a [d]fast before the LORD.

10 Then Baruch read from the book the words of Jeremiah in the house of the LORD in the [a]chamber of [b]Gemariah the son of 36:1–38:28 Three chapters united by the common theme of Jeremiah's suffering and persecution.

36:1–32 An account of King Jehoiakim's attempt to destroy Jeremiah's written prophecies.

36:1 fourth year of Jehoiakim. 605 B.C.—a critical year in Judah's history (see notes on 25:1; 46:2).

36:2 scroll. See notes on 30:2; Ex 17:14. write on it. To preserve Jeremiah's messages for future generations. all the words which I have spoken to you. This "earliest edition" of Jeremiah's prophecies may have included all or most of chs. 1–26; 46–51. first spoke to you, from the days of Josiah. See note on 1:2.

36:3 Perhaps . . . then. If the people repent, the Lord will relent (see 18:7–10 and note; 26:3).

36:4 Baruch. See note on 32:12.

36:5 I am restricted. Perhaps because of his unpopular temple message(s) (see 7:2–15; 26:2–6), or perhaps because of the events recorded in 19:1–20:6.

36:6 fast day. Proclaimed because of a national emergency (cf. Joel 2:15), perhaps in this case the Babylonian attack of 605 B.C. (see Dan 1:1 and note).

36:7 See v. 3 and note.

36:8 If the book were in chronological order, ch. 45 would appear after this verse (see Introduction: Outline).

36:9 fifth year . . . in the ninth month. December, 604 B.C., during a time of cold weather (see v. 22).

36:10 Cf. 2 Kin 23:2. chamber. See note on 35:2. Gemariah. A common name in Jeremiah's time (see 29:3), found on one of the Lachish ostraca (see note on 34:7) as well as in at least two of the Elephantine papyri (see note on 32:11) a century later.

Shaphan the [c]scribe, in the upper court, at the [d]entry of the New Gate of the LORD's house, to all the people.

11 Now when [a]Micaiah the son of Gemariah, the son of Shaphan, had heard all the words of the LORD from the book, 12 he went down to the king's house, into the scribe's chamber. And behold, all the officials were sitting there—[a]Elishama the scribe, and [b]Delaiah the son of Shemaiah, and [c]Elnathan the son of Achbor, and Gemariah the son of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the son of Hananiah, and all the other officials.

13 Micaiah [a]declared to them all the words that he had heard when Baruch read from the book to the people.

14 Then all the officials sent [a]Jehudi the son of Nethaniah, the son of Shelemiah, the son of Cushi, to Baruch, saying, "Take in your hand the scroll from which you have read to the people and come." So Baruch the son of Neriah [b]took the scroll in his hand and went to them.

15 They said to him, "Sit down, please, and read it to us." So Baruch [a]read it to them.

16 When they had heard all the words, they turned in [a]fear one to another and said to Baruch, "We will surely [b]report all these words to the king."

17 And they asked Baruch, saying, "Tell us, please, [a]how did you write all these words? Was it [1]at his dictation?"

18 Then Baruch said to them, "He [a]dictated all these words to me, and I wrote them with ink on the book."

19 Then the officials said to Baruch, "Go, [a]hide yourself, you and Jeremiah, and do not let anyone know where you are."

The Scroll Is Burned

20 So they went to the [a]king in the court, but they had deposited the scroll in the chamber of [a]Elishama the scribe, and they reported all the words to the king.

21 Then the king sent Jehudi to get the scroll, and he took it out of the chamber of Elishama the scribe. And Jehudi [a]read it to the king as well as to all the officials who stood beside the king.

22 Now the king was sitting in the [a]winter house in the [b]ninth month, with a fire burning in the brazier before him.

23 When Jehudi had read three or four columns, the king cut it with a scribe's knife and [a]threw it into the fire that was in the brazier, until all the scroll was consumed in the fire that was in the brazier.

24 Yet the king and all his servants who heard all these words were [a]not afraid, nor did they [b]rend their garments.

25 Even though Elnathan and Delaiah and Gemariah [a]pleaded with the king not to burn the scroll, he would not listen to them.

26 And the king commanded Jerahmeel the king's son, Seraiah the son of Azriel, and Shelemiah the son of Abdeel to [a]seize Baruch the scribe and Jeremiah the prophet, but the [b]LORD hid them.

The Scroll Is Replaced

27 Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah after the king had [a]burned the scroll and the words which [b]Baruch had written at the dictation of Jeremiah, saying,

28 "[a]Take again another scroll and write on it all the former words that were [b]on the first scroll which Jehoiakim the king of Judah burned.

29 "And concerning Jehoiakim king of Judah you shall say, 'Thus says the LORD, "You have [a]burned this scroll, saying, '[b]Why have you written on it [1]that the [c]king of Babylon will certainly come and destroy this land, and will make man and beast to cease from it?' "

30 'Therefore thus says the LORD concerning Jehoiakim king of Judah, "He shall have [a]no one to sit on the throne of David, and his [b]dead body shall be cast out to the heat of the day and the frost of the night.

31 "I will also [a]punish him and his [1]descendants and his servants for their iniq-

Shaphan. Secretary of state under King Josiah (see 2 Kin 22:3; see also notes on 26:24; 29:3). entry of the New Gate. See 26:10 and note.

36:12 Elnathan the son of Achbor. See note on 26:22.

36:18 ink. Mentioned only here in the OT (but see also 2 Cor 3:3; 2 John 12; 3 John 13). In ancient times, ink was made from soot or lampblack mixed with gum arabic, oil, or a metallic substance (as in the case of the Lachish ostraca; see note on 34:7).

36:19 The officials were understandably concerned about the safety of Jeremiah and Baruch (cf. 26:20–23).

36:20 deposited. For safekeeping (see Is 10:28).

36:22 winter house. See Amos 3:15; here probably a large room in the king's palace. ninth month. See note on v. 9. brazier. A depression or container in the middle of the floor where coals were kept burning to warm the room.

36:23 Contrast King Josiah's desire to know the word of God and obey it (see 2 Kin 22:11–23:3; 23:21–24). columns. Lit. "doors," so called because of their rectangular shape. cut. Lit. "tore." Instead of tearing his clothes (see note on v. 24), the king tore the prophet's scroll.

36:24 servants . . . were not afraid. See v. 31. Contrast the response of the "officials" (v. 12; see vv. 16,25). nor did they rend their garments. Contrast the response of Jehoiakim's father Josiah (see 2 Kin 22:11; cf. 1 Kin 21:27).

36:26 the king's son. Since Jehoiakim was only about 30 years old (see 2 Kin 23:36), the phrase probably is not to be understood literally but means "member of the royal court" (as also in 38:6; 1 Kin 22:26; Zeph 1:8).

36:30 Jehoiakim . . . shall have no one to sit on the throne. His son Jehoiachin (see 2 Kin 24:6) "ruled" only 3 months (see 2 Kin 24:8) and then was captured and carried off to exile in Babylonia (see 2 Kin 24:15), where he eventually died (see 52:33–34). his dead body shall be cast out. As punishment for the fact that he "threw" (v. 23) the prophet's scroll into the fire (see 22:18–19 and notes).

36:31 See 11:11; 19:15; 35:17. servants. See note on v. 24.

uity, and I will [b]bring on them and the inhabitants of Jerusalem and the men of Judah all the calamity that I have declared to them—but they did not listen." ' "

32 Then Jeremiah took another scroll and gave it to Baruch the son of Neriah, the scribe, and he [a]wrote on it at the dictation of Jeremiah all the words of the book which Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned in the fire; and many [1]similar words were added to them.

Jeremiah Warns against Trust in Pharaoh

37 Now [a]Zedekiah the son of Josiah whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had [b]made king in the land of Judah, reigned as king in place of [c]Coniah the son of Jehoiakim.

2 But [a]neither he nor his servants nor the people of the land listened to the words of the LORD which He spoke through Jeremiah the prophet.

3 Yet [a]King Zedekiah sent Jehucal the son of Shelemiah, and [b]Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah, the priest, to Jeremiah the prophet, saying, "[c]Please pray to the LORD our God on our behalf."

4 Now Jeremiah was still coming in and going out among the people, for they had not yet [a]put him in the prison.

5 Meanwhile, [a]Pharaoh's army had set out from Egypt; and when the Chaldeans who had been besieging Jerusalem heard the report about them, they [b]lifted the siege from Jerusalem.

6 Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah the prophet, saying,

7 "Thus says the LORD God of Israel, '[a]Thus you are to say to the king of Judah, who sent you to Me to inquire of Me: "Behold, [b]Pharaoh's army which has come out for your assistance is going to return to its own land of Egypt.

8 "The Chaldeans will also [a]return and fight against this city, and they will capture it and burn it with fire." '

9 "Thus says the LORD, 'Do not [a]deceive yourselves, saying, "The Chaldeans will surely go away from us," for they will not go.

10 'For [a]even if you had defeated the entire army of Chaldeans who were fighting against you, and there were only wounded men left among them, each man in his tent, they would rise up and [b]burn this city with fire.' "

Jeremiah Imprisoned

11 Now it happened when the army of the Chaldeans had lifted the siege from Jerusalem because of Pharaoh's army,

12 that Jeremiah went out from Jerusalem to go to the land of Benjamin in order to [a]take [1]possession of some property there among the people.

13 While he was at the [a]Gate of Benjamin, a captain of the guard whose name was Irijah, the son of Shelemiah the son of Hananiah was there; and he [b]arrested Jeremiah the prophet, saying, "You are [1]going over to the Chaldeans!"

14 But Jeremiah said, "[a]A lie! I am not [1]going over to the Chaldeans"; yet he would not listen to him. So Irijah arrested Jeremiah and brought him to the officials.

15 Then the officials were [a]angry at Jeremiah and beat him, and they [b]put him in jail in the house of Jonathan the scribe, which they had made into the prison.

16 For Jeremiah had come into the [1][a]dungeon, that is, the vaulted cell; and Jeremiah stayed there many days.

17 Now King Zedekiah sent and took him out; and in his palace the king [a]secretly asked him and said, "Is there a [b]word from 36:32 another scroll. Cf. similarly Ex 34:1.

37:1–38:28 During the last two years of Zedekiah's reign (588–586 B.C.), Jeremiah is imprisoned by the authorities (see 20:2 and note).

37:1 See 2 Kin 24:15,17–18. Zedekiah. Means "The LORD is my righteousness." See Introduction: Background. reigned . . . in place of Coniah. In 597 B.C. This fulfills the prophecy concerning Jehoiakim in 36:30.

37:3 Zedekiah sent . . . to Jeremiah. See 21:1. Jehucal the son of Shelemiah. Later became Jeremiah's enemy (see 38:1,4). Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah, the priest. "Priest" here refers to Zephaniah (see 21:1 and note). pray . . . on our behalf. See 21:2 and note; perhaps to ask the Lord to make the temporary withdrawal of the Babylonians in 588 B.C. (see note on 34:21–22) permanent.

37:5 Pharaoh's army. The troops of Hophra (see 44:30), called Apries by Greek historians. set out from Egypt. Probably to help Zedekiah at his request; Lachish ostracon 3 (see note on 34:7) mentions a visit to Egypt made by the commander of Judah's army. All such ploys by Zedekiah would fail, however (see Ezek 17:15,17). Chaldeans . . . lifted the siege. To deal with the Egyptian threat (see 34:21 and note).

37:7 Pharaoh's army . . . return to . . . Egypt. Hophra would soon be defeated by Nebuchadnezzar (see note on Ezek 30:21).

37:10 wounded. Lit. "pierced through," "mortally wounded." Though seriously handicapped, the Babylonians would still destroy Jerusalem.

37:12 land of Benjamin. Where Jeremiah's hometown, Anathoth, was located (see note on 1:1). take possession of some property. See 1 Sam 30:24. While there was a brief lull in the Babylonian invasion, Jeremiah wanted to settle matters of estate with the other members of his family.

37:13 Gate of Benjamin. See 38:7; see also note on Zech 14:10. You are going over to the Chaldeans. Irijah's fear was understandable, since Jeremiah recommended surrendering to the Babylonians (see 21:9; 38:2) and since many Judahites in fact defected (see 38:19; 39:9; 52:15).

37:14 A lie! See 2 Kin 9:12).

37:15 beat him. See 20:2 and note. house of Jonathan. Jeremiah would later look back on this prison as a place of great danger for him (see v. 20; 38:26).

37:16 dungeon. Lit. "house of the cistern," probably underground (see Ex 12:29).

37:17 Zedekiah . . . secretly asked him. Not wanting to do so in the LORD?" And Jeremiah said, "There is!" Then he said, "You will be [c]given into the hand of the king of Babylon!"

18 Moreover Jeremiah said to King Zedekiah, "[a]In what way have I sinned against you, or against your servants, or against this people, that you have put me in prison?

19 "[a]Where then are your prophets who prophesied to you, saying, 'The [b]king of Babylon will not come against you or against this land'?

20 "But now, please listen, O my lord the king; please let my [a]petition [1]come before you and do not make me return to the house of Jonathan the scribe, that I may not die there."

21 Then King Zedekiah gave commandment, and they committed Jeremiah to the [a]court of the guardhouse and gave him a loaf of [b]bread daily from the bakers' street, until all the bread in the city was [c]gone. So Jeremiah remained in the court of the guardhouse.

Jeremiah Thrown into the Cistern

38 Now Shephatiah the son of Mattan, and Gedaliah the son of Pashhur, and Jucal the [a]son of Shelemiah, and [b]Pashhur the son of Malchijah heard the words that Jeremiah was speaking to all the people, saying,

2 "Thus says the LORD, 'He who [a]stays in this city will die by the [b]sword and by famine and by pestilence, but he who goes out to the Chaldeans will live and have his own [c]life as booty and stay alive.'

3 "Thus says the LORD, 'This city will certainly be [a]given into the hand of the army of the king of Babylon and he will capture it.' "

4 Then the [a]officials said to the king, "Now let this man be put to death, inasmuch as he is [1][b]discouraging the men of war who are left in this city and [2]all the people, by speaking such words to them; for this man [c]is not seeking the well-being of this people but rather their harm."

5 So King Zedekiah said, "Behold, he is in your [1]hands; for the king [a]can do nothing against you."

6 Then they took Jeremiah and cast him into the [a]cistern of Malchijah the king's son, which was in the court of the guardhouse; and they let Jeremiah down with ropes. Now in the cistern there was no water but only [b]mud, and Jeremiah sank into the mud.

7 But [a]Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, [1]a [b]eunuch, while he was in the king's palace, heard that they had put Jeremiah into the cistern. Now the king was sitting in the [c]Gate of Benjamin;

8 and Ebed-melech went out from the king's palace and spoke to the king, saying,

9 "My lord the king, these men have acted wickedly in all that they have done to Jeremiah the prophet whom they have cast into the cistern; and he [1]will die right where he is because of the famine, for there is [a]no more bread in the city."

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, saying, "Take thirty men from here [1]under your authority and bring up Jeremiah the prophet from the cistern before he dies."

11 So Ebed-melech took the men under his [1]authority and went into the king's palace to a place beneath the storeroom and took from there worn-out clothes and worn-out rags and let them down by ropes into the cistern to Jeremiah.

12 Then Ebed-melech the Ethiopian said to Jeremiah, "Now put these worn-out clothes and rags under your armpits under the ropes"; and Jeremiah did so.

the presence of his officials, whom he apparently feared. You will be given into the hand of the king of Babylon. See 32:4; 34:3.
37:19 your prophets. False prophets (see Deut 18:22).
37:20 let my petition come before you. See 36:7.
37:21 court of the guardhouse. A less objectionable prison than the dungeon of v. 16 (see note on 32:2). bakers' street. Perhaps near the Tower of the Ovens (see note on Neh 3:11). until all the bread . . . was gone. The Hebrew word for "bread" is translated "food" in 52:6.
38:1 Pashhur. See note on 20:1. Jucal the son of Shelemiah. See note on 37:3. Pashhur the son of Malchijah. See note on 21:1. Jeremiah was speaking to all the people. Though he was confined in the courtyard of the guard (see 37:21), he was allowed to have visitors and to speak freely to them (see 32:8,12).
38:2 Echoes 21:9 (see note there).
38:3 Echoes 32:28 (see 34:2; 37:8).
38:4 officials. Those named in v. 1. discouraging. See Ezra 4:4; lit. "weakening the hands of," as in a similar situation in Lachish ostracon 6 (see note on 34:7): "The words of the officials are not good; they serve only to weaken our hands." Contrast Is 35:3. seeking the well-being. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "Seek the welfare" in 29:7 (see note there). well-being . . . harm. The Hebrew for these words is translated "prosperity . . . calamity" in Is 45:7.
38:5 the king can do nothing. Not because of inability or lack of authority but through failure of nerve. He feared his own officials (see vv. 25–26; see also 37:17 and note).
38:6 cistern. Shaped like a bell, with the narrow end at the top (see 37:16 and note). king's son. See note on 36:26. in the cistern there was no water. Zedekiah's officials wanted to kill Jeremiah (see v. 4), but not by taking his life with their own hands (cf. Gen 37:20–24).
38:7 Ebed-melech. Means "king's servant." king was sitting in the Gate of Benjamin. See 37:13; see also note on Zech 14:10. Since a city gateway was often used as a courtroom or town hall (see notes on Gen 19:1; Ruth 4:1), Zedekiah may have been settling various legal complaints on this occasion (see 2 Sam 15:2–4) and would therefore be in a position to help Ebed-melech.
38:9 no more bread in the city. See 37:21 and note.
38:10 thirty men. The large number was probably to keep the officials (see v. 4) and their friends from trying to prevent Jeremiah's rescue.
38:11 place beneath the storeroom. Perhaps a wardrobe storeroom (see 2 Kin 10:22).
38:12 put these worn-out clothes . . . under the ropes. Ebed-melech's kindnesses to Jeremiah were evidence that he trusted in the Lord, and the Lord rewarded him (see 39:15–18).

13 So they pulled Jeremiah up with the ropes and lifted him out of the cistern, and Jeremiah stayed in the [a]court of the guardhouse.

14 Then King Zedekiah [a]sent and [1]had Jeremiah the prophet brought to him at the third entrance that is in the house of the LORD; and the king said to Jeremiah, "I am going to [b]ask you something; do not hide anything from me."

15 Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "[a]If I tell you, will you not certainly put me to death? Besides, if I give you advice, you will not listen to me."

16 But King Zedekiah swore to Jeremiah in [a]secret saying, "As the LORD lives, who made this [1][b]life for us, surely I will not put you to death nor will I give you over to the hand of [c]these men who are seeking your [1]life."

Interview with Zedekiah

17 Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "Thus says the LORD [a]God of hosts, the [b]God of Israel, 'If you will indeed [c]go out to the officers of the king of Babylon, then [1]you will live, this city will not be burned with fire, and you and your household will [2]survive.

18 'But if you will [a]not go out to the officers of the king of Babylon, then this city [b]will be given over to the hand of the Chaldeans; and they will burn it with fire, and [c]you yourself will not escape from their hand.' "

19 Then King Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "I [a]dread the Jews who have [1][b]gone over to the Chaldeans, for they may give me over into their hand and they will [c]abuse me."

20 But Jeremiah said, "They will not give you over. Please [1][a]obey the LORD in what I am saying to you, that it may go [b]well with you and [2][c]you may live.

21 "But if you keep refusing to go out, this is the word which the LORD has shown me:

22 'Then behold, all of the [a]women who have been left in the palace of the king of Judah are going to be brought out to the [1]officers of the king of Babylon; and those women will say,

"[2]Your close friends
Have misled and overpowered you;
While your feet were sunk in the mire,
They turned back."

23 'They will also bring out all your wives and your [a]sons to the Chaldeans, and [b]you yourself will not escape from their hand, but will be seized by the hand of the king of Babylon, and [b]this city will be burned with fire.' "

24 Then Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "Let no man know about these words and you will not die.

25 "But if the [a]officials hear that I have talked with you and come to you and say to you, 'Tell us now what you said to the king and what the king said to you; do not hide it from us and we will not put you to death,'

26 then you are to say to them, 'I was [a]presenting my petition before the king, not to make me return to the house of Jonathan to die there.' "

27 Then all the officials came to Jeremiah and questioned him. So he reported to them in accordance with all these words which the king had commanded; and they ceased speaking with him, since the [1]conversation had not been overheard.

28 So Jeremiah [a]stayed in the court of the guardhouse until the day that Jerusalem was captured.

Jerusalem Captured

39 [1]Now when Jerusalem was captured [2][a]in the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army came to Jerusalem and laid siege to it;

2 in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, in the ninth day of the month, the city wall was [a]breached.

38:22 women . . . in the palace . . . brought out to the officers. Women in a conquered king's harem became the property of the conquerors (cf. 2 Sam 16:21–22). Your close friends Have misled and overpowered you. Repeated almost verbatim in Obad 7 (see 20:10 and note). Zedekiah's so-called friends were his officials (see v. 4) and false prophets (see 37:19). feet were sunk in the mire. Symbolic of great distress (see Ps 69:14).

39:1–45:5 The most detailed account in the OT of the Babylonian conquest of Jerusalem and its aftermath. The section concludes with a brief appendix (ch. 45).
39:1–10 A vivid summary of the siege and fall of Jerusalem and of the exile of its inhabitants (see 52:4–27).
39:1–2 Summarizes 52:4–7a.
39:1 ninth year of Zedekiah . . . tenth month. The final Babylonian siege of Jerusalem began on the tenth day of the month (see 52:4; 2 Kin 25:1; Ezek 24:1–2), or Jan. 15, 588 B.C.
39:2 eleventh year . . . fourth month . . . ninth day. July 18, 586 B.C. (see 52:5–6; 2 Kin 25:2–3). The siege lasted just over two

3 Then all the [a]officials of the king of Babylon came in and sat down at the [b]Middle Gate: Nergal-sar-ezer, Samgar-nebu, Sarsekim the [1]Rab-saris, Nergal-sar-ezer the [2]Rab-mag, and all the rest of the officials of the king of Babylon.

4 When Zedekiah the king of Judah and all the men of war saw them, they [a]fled and went out of the city at night by way of the king's garden through the gate [b]between the two walls; and he went out toward the [1]Arabah.

5 But the army of the [a]Chaldeans pursued them and overtook Zedekiah in the [b]plains of Jericho; and they seized him and brought him up to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon at [c]Riblah in the land of Hamath, and he passed sentence on him.

6 Then the [a]king of Babylon slew the sons of Zedekiah [b]before his eyes at Riblah; the king of Babylon also slew all the [c]nobles of Judah.

7 He then [a]blinded Zedekiah's eyes and bound him in [b]fetters of bronze to bring him to [c]Babylon.

8 The Chaldeans also [a]burned with fire the king's palace and the houses of the people, and they [b]broke down the walls of Jerusalem.

9 As for the rest of the people who were left in the city, the [1a]deserters who had gone over to him and [b]the rest of the people who remained, [c]Nebuzaradan the [d]captain of the bodyguard carried them into exile in Babylon.

10 But some of the [a]poorest people who had nothing, [a]Nebuzaradan the captain of the bodyguard left behind in the land of Judah, and gave them vineyards and fields [1]at that time.

Jeremiah Spared

11 Now Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon gave orders about [a]Jeremiah through Nebuzaradan the captain of the bodyguard, saying,

12 "Take him and [1]look after him, and [a]do nothing harmful to him, but rather deal with him just as he tells you."

13 So Nebuzaradan the captain of the bodyguard sent word, along with Nebushazban the [1]Rab-saris, and Nergal-sar-ezer the [2]Rab-mag, and all the leading officers of the king of Babylon;

14 they even sent and [a]took Jeremiah out of the court of the guardhouse and entrusted him to [b]Gedaliah, the son of [c]Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, to take him home. So he stayed among the people.

15 Now the word of the LORD had come to Jeremiah while he was [a]confined in the court of the guardhouse, saying,

16 "Go and speak to [a]Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "Behold, I am about to bring My words on this city [b]for disaster and not for [1]prosperity; and they will [c]take place before you on that day.

17 "But I will [a]deliver you on that day," declares the LORD, "and you will not be given into the hand of the men whom you dread.

18 "For I will certainly rescue you, and you will not fall by the sword; but you will have your own [a]life as booty, because you have [b]trusted in Me," declares the LORD.' "

Jeremiah Remains in Judah

40 The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD after [a]Nebuzaradan captain of the bodyguard had released him from [b]Ramah, when he had taken him bound in [c]chains among all the exiles of Jerusalem and Judah who were being exiled to Babylon.

and a half years.

39:3 sat down at the Middle Gate. In fulfillment of 1:15. The Middle Gate may have been located in the wall separating the citadel of Mount Zion from the lower city, therefore serving as a strategic vantage point for the invaders. Nergal-sar-ezer. Means "Nergal [a god; see 2 Kin 17:30], protect the king." One of the two men so named here (see v. 13) is probably Neriglissar, who later became a successor of Nebuchadnezzar as ruler of Babylonia (560–556 B.C.). Rab-saris. See v. 13; see also note on 2 Kin 18:17. Rab-mag. See v. 13. The Hebrew for this phrase is cognate to Babylonian rab mu(n)gi, a high military official who sometimes served as an envoy to foreign rulers.

39:4–7 See 52:7–11; see also 2 Kin 25:4–7 and notes.

39:5 plains. The Hebrew for this word is the plural of the word for "Arabah" (v. 4).

39:8–10 See 52:12–16; see also 2 Kin 25:8–12 and notes.

39:12 look after him. See note on 40:4.

39:13 Nergal-sar-ezer. See note on v. 3.

39:14 took Jeremiah out. Either (1) a summary statement of Jeremiah's release from prison, the specific details of which are given in 40:1–6; or (2) a brief description of the first of two releases, the second of which (made necessary because Jeremiah had been arrested again by mistake in the confusion surrounding the capture and transporting of thousands of exiles) is detailed in 40:1–6. court of the guardhouse. See note on 32:2. Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan. See note on 26:24. home. The governor's residence. An early sixth-century seal impression found at Lachish reads: "Belonging to Gedaliah [probably the man named in this verse], who is over the house."

39:15–18 See note on 38:12.

39:16 Go and speak. Though confined in prison, Jeremiah was permitted to have visitors (see note on 38:1). I am about to bring My words on this city. See 19:15.

39:17 the men . . . you dread. The court officials (see 38:1) who, in Ebed-melech's judgment, had "acted wickedly" (38:9).

39:18 your own life as booty. See note on 21:9. you have trusted in Me. Ebed-melech had expressed his faith in God by securing Jeremiah's release from the cistern (see 38:7–13; see also note on 38:12).

40:1–44:30 A lively narrative of the aftermath of the fall of Jerusalem. Chronologically, the chapters are the latest in the book (although 52:31–34 is later, it is part of the appendix and not of the book proper).

40:1 The word which came. A heading introducing the prophe-

2 Now the captain of the bodyguard had taken Jeremiah and said to him, "The [a]LORD your God promised this calamity against this place;

3 and the LORD has brought it on and done just as He promised. Because you people [a]sinned against the LORD and did not listen to His voice, therefore this thing has happened to you.

4 "But now, behold, I am [a]freeing you today from the chains which are on your hands. If [1]you would prefer to come with me to Babylon, come along, and I will [2]look after you; but if [3]you would prefer not to come with me to Babylon, [4]never mind. Look, the [b]whole land is before you; go wherever it seems good and right for you to go."

5 As [1]Jeremiah was still not going back, [2]he said, "Go on back then to [a]Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon has [b]appointed over the cities of Judah, and stay with him among the people; or else go anywhere it seems right for you to go." So the captain of the bodyguard gave him a [c]ration and a [d]gift and let him go.

6 Then Jeremiah went to [a]Mizpah to [b]Gedaliah the son of Ahikam and stayed with him among the people who were left in the land.

7 [a]Now all the [1]commanders of the forces that were in the field, they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah the son of Ahikam over the land and that he had put him in charge of the men, women and [2]children, those of the [b]poorest of the land who had not been exiled to Babylon.

8 So they came to Gedaliah at Mizpah, along with [a]Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and [b]Johanan and Jonathan the sons of Kareah, and Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth, and the sons of Ephai the [c]Netophathite, and [d]Jezaniah the son of the [e]Maacathite, both they and their men.

9 Then Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, [a]swore to them and to their men, saying, "[b]Do not be afraid of serving the Chaldeans; stay in the land and serve the king of Babylon, that it may go well with you.

10 "Now as for me, behold, I am going to stay at Mizpah to [a]stand for you before the Chaldeans who come to us; but as for you, [b]gather in wine and [c]summer fruit and oil and put them in your storage vessels, and live in your cities that you have taken over."

11 Likewise, also all the Jews who were in [a]Moab and among the sons of [b]Ammon and in [c]Edom and who were in all the other countries, heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant for Judah, and that he had appointed over them Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan.

12 Then all the Jews [a]returned from all the places to which they had been driven away and came to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah at Mizpah, and gathered in wine and summer fruit in great abundance.

13 Now Johanan the son of Kareah and all the commanders of the forces that were in the field came to Gedaliah at Mizpah

14 and said to him, "Are you well aware that Baalis the king of the sons of [a]Ammon has sent Ishmael the son of Nethaniah to take your life?" But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam did not believe them.

15 Then Johanan the son of Kareah spoke secretly to Gedaliah in Mizpah, saying, "[a]Let me go and kill Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and not a man will know! Why should he [b]take your life, so that all the Jews who are gathered to you would be scattered and the [c]remnant of Judah would perish?"

16 But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam said to Johanan the son of Kareah, "[a]Do not do this thing, for you are telling a lie about Ishmael."

Gedaliah Is Murdered

41 [a]In the seventh month [b]Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, of the royal [1]family and one of the chief officers of the king, along with ten men, came to Mizpah to [c]Gedaliah the son of Ahikam. While they [d]were eating bread together there in Mizpah, cies of Jeremiah after the exile, just as "the word . . . came" (1:2) introduces his prophecies from the time of his call up to the exile (see 1:3). Nebuzaradan . . . released him. See note on 39:14. Ramah. See note on 31:15. chains. Manacles that were fastened to the wrists (see v. 4; see also Job 36:8; Is 45:14).

40:2–3 Nebuzaradan doubtless knew the basic content of Jeremiah's prophetic message against Jerusalem, and he here repeats it to the prophet in summary fashion.

40:4 I will look after you. Nebuzaradan promises to carry out Nebuchadnezzar's wishes concerning Jeremiah (see 39:12). the whole land is before you. Cf. Abram's offer to Lot in Gen 13:9.

40:5–9 See 2 Kin 25:22–24 and notes.

40:5 Gedaliah the son of Ahikam. See note on 26:24. ration. The Hebrew for this word is translated "allowance" in 52:34.

40:8 Jezaniah. See note on 2 Kin 25:23.

40:10 gather in wine and summer fruit and oil. Nebuzaradan (see 39:9) had arrived in Jerusalem in August of 586 B.C. (see note on 52:12). Grapes, figs and olives are harvested in the Holy Land during August and September.

40:14 Baalis. Either (1) "King Ba'lay," as his name is written on an early sixth-century B.C. bottle discovered in Jordan, or (2) Ba'al-Yasha', an Ammonite king whose name appears on a stamp seal found at Tell el-'Umeiri in Jordan in 1984. sons of Ammon. Ammon was among the nations that earlier had been allies against Babylonia (see 27:3 and note; see also Ezek 21:18–32).

40:15 secretly. See note on 38:16. remnant. See note on 6:9.

40:16 telling a lie. See 37:14 and note. Gedaliah's naive faith in Ishmael's integrity would cost him his life.

41:1–3 See 2 Kin 25:25 and note.

41:1 one of the chief officers of the king. Ishmael's loyalty to Zedekiah might explain his assassination of Gedaliah, whom he considered to be a Babylonian puppet ruler. they were eating bread together. Ancient custom with respect to hospitality

2 Ishmael the son of Nethaniah and the ten men who were with him arose and [a]struck down Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, with the sword and [b]put to death the one [c]whom the king of Babylon had appointed over the land.

3 Ishmael also struck down all the Jews who were with him, that is with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and the Chaldeans who were found there, the men of war.

4 Now it happened on the [1]next day after the killing of Gedaliah, when no one knew about it,

5 that eighty men [a]came from [b]Shechem, from [c]Shiloh, and from [d]Samaria with [e]their beards shaved off and their clothes torn and [1]their bodies [f]gashed, having grain offerings and incense in their hands to bring to the [g]house of the LORD.

6 Then Ishmael the son of Nethaniah went out from Mizpah to meet them, [a]weeping as he went; and as he met them, he said to them, "Come to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam!"

7 Yet it turned out that as soon as they came inside the city, Ishmael the son of Nethaniah and the men that were with him [a]slaughtered them and cast them into the cistern.

8 But ten men who were found among them said to Ishmael, "Do not put us to death; for we have [a]stores of wheat, barley, oil and honey hidden in the field." So he refrained and did not put them to death along with their companions.

9 Now as for the cistern where Ishmael had cast all the corpses of the men whom he had struck down [1]because of Gedaliah, it was the [a]one that King Asa had made on [b]account of Baasha, king of Israel; Ishmael the son of Nethaniah filled it with the slain.

10 Then Ishmael took captive all the [a]remnant of the people who were in Mizpah, the [b]king's daughters and all the people who were left in Mizpah, whom Nebuzaradan the captain of the bodyguard had put under the charge of Gedaliah the son of Ahikam; thus Ishmael the son of Nethaniah took them captive and proceeded to cross over to the sons of [c]Ammon.

Johanan Rescues the People

11 But Johanan the son of Kareah and all the [a]commanders of the forces that were with him heard of all the evil that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had done.

12 So they took all the men and went to [a]fight with Ishmael the son of Nethaniah and they found him by the [b]great [1]pool that is in Gibeon.

13 Now as soon as all the people who were with Ishmael saw Johanan the son of Kareah and the commanders of the forces that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people whom Ishmael had taken captive from Mizpah turned around and came back, and went to Johanan the son of Kareah.

15 But Ishmael the son of Nethaniah [a]escaped from Johanan with eight men and went to the sons of Ammon.

16 Then Johanan the son of Kareah and all the commanders of the forces that were with him took from Mizpah [a]all the remnant of the people whom he had [1]recovered from Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, after he had struck down Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, that is, the men who were [2]soldiers, the women, the [3]children, and the eunuchs, whom he had brought back from Gibeon.

17 And they went and stayed in [1][a]Geruth Chimham, which is beside Bethlehem, in order to [b]proceed into Egypt

18 because of the Chaldeans; for they were [a]afraid of them, since Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had struck down Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, whom [b]the king of Babylon had appointed over the land.

probably made Gedaliah assume that his guests would not harm him, much less kill him (see note on Judg 4:21).

41:5 came. In the "seventh month" (v. 1) to celebrate the Feast of Booths (see note on Ex 23:16). beards shaved . . . clothes torn . . . bodies gashed. Signs of mourning (see 16:6 and note; see also note on Ezra 9:3), probably over the destruction of Jerusalem. Shechem . . . Shiloh . . . Samaria. Formerly worship centers in the north (see notes on 7:12; Gen 12:6; see also Josh 24:25–26). After the northern kingdom was destroyed in 722–721 B.C., many Israelites made periodic pilgrimages to Jerusalem, especially during the reform movements of Hezekiah (see 2 Chr 30:11) and Josiah (see 2 Chr 34:9). grain offerings and incense. Bloodless offerings, since the altar of the Jerusalem temple had been destroyed. house of the LORD. Though the temple itself was in ruins, the site was still considered holy.

41:6 weeping. Pretending to share the sorrow of the mourners from the north.

41:7 the city. Mizpah. cistern. A favorite place to dispose of victims, whether living or dead (see 37:16 and note; 38:6).

41:8 wheat, barley, oil and honey. Supplies that Ishmael perhaps would have taken with him when he fled to Ammon (see v. 15).

41:9 the cistern . . . was the one King Asa had made. Probably as part of the fortifications Asa had built at Mizpah (see 1 Kin 15:22), since cisterns were essential for storing water during times of siege. Archaeologists have discovered numerous cisterns in the ruins of ancient Mizpah (modern Tell en-Nasbeh, seven and a half miles north of Jerusalem).

41:10 king's daughters. Women who had been members of King Zedekiah's court, not necessarily daughters of the king himself (see note on 36:26). sons of Ammon. See 40:14 and note.

41:12 great pool . . . in Gibeon. Perhaps the same as the one mentioned in 2 Sam 2:13.

41:15 escaped . . . with eight men. Ishmael lost only two of his men (see v. 2) in the fight with Johanan.

41:17 Geruth Chimham. Location unknown; perhaps means "lodging place of Chimham," a friend of David who returned with him to Jerusalem after Absalom's death (see 2 Sam 19:37–40).

Warning against Going to Egypt

42 Then all the [1]commanders of the forces, [a]Johanan the son of Kareah, Jezaniah the son of Hoshaiah, and all the people [b]both small and great approached

2 and said to Jeremiah the prophet, "Please let our [a]petition [1]come before you, and [b]pray for us to the LORD your God, that is for all this remnant; because we are left but a [c]few out of many, as your own eyes now see us,

3 that the LORD your God may tell us the [a]way in which we should walk and the thing that we should do."

4 Then Jeremiah the prophet said to them, "I have heard you. Behold, I am going to [a]pray to the LORD your God in accordance with your words; and I will tell you the whole [1]message which the [b]LORD will answer you. I will [c]not keep back a word from you."

5 Then they said to Jeremiah, "May the [a]LORD be a true and faithful witness against us if we do not act in accordance with the whole [1]message with which the LORD your God will send you to us.

6 "Whether it is [1]pleasant or [2]unpleasant, we will [a]listen to the voice of the LORD our God to whom we are sending you, so that it may go [b]well with us when we listen to the voice of the LORD our God."

7 Now at the [a]end of ten days the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah.

8 Then he called for Johanan the son of Kareah and all the [1]commanders of the forces that were with him, and for all the people both small and great,

9 and said to them, "Thus [a]says the LORD the God of Israel, to whom you sent me to present your petition before Him:

10 'If you will indeed stay in this land, then I will [a]build you up and not tear you down, and I will plant you and not uproot you; for I [1]will [b]relent concerning the calamity that I have inflicted on you.

11 '[a]Do not be afraid of the king of Babylon, whom you are now fearing; do not be afraid of him,' declares the LORD, 'for [b]I am with you to save you and deliver you from his hand.

12 'I will also show you compassion, so that [a]he will have compassion on you and restore you to your own soil.

13 'But if you are going to say, "We will [a]not stay in this land," so as not to listen to the voice of the LORD your God,

14 saying, "No, but we will [a]go to the land of Egypt, where we will not see war or [b]hear the sound of a trumpet or hunger for bread, and we will stay there";

15 then [1]in that case listen to the word of the LORD, O remnant of Judah. Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "If you really set your [2]mind to enter [a]Egypt and go in to reside there,

16 then the [a]sword, which you are afraid of, will overtake you there in the land of Egypt; and the famine, about which you are anxious, will follow closely after you there in Egypt, and you will die there.

17 "So all the men who set their [1]mind to go to Egypt to reside there will die by the [a]sword, by famine and by pestilence; and they will [b]have no survivors or refugees from the calamity that I am going to bring on them." ' "

18 For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "As My [a]anger and wrath have been poured out on the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so My wrath will be poured out on you when you enter Egypt. And you will become a [b]curse, an object of horror, an imprecation and a reproach; and [c]you will see this place no more."

19 The LORD has spoken to you, O remnant of Judah, "Do not [a]go into Egypt!" You should clearly [b]understand that today I have [c]testified against you.

20 For you have only [1][a]deceived yourselves; for it is you who sent me to the LORD your God, saying, "Pray for us to the LORD our God; and whatever the LORD our God says, tell us so, and we will do it."

21 So I have [a]told you today, but you have [b]not [1]obeyed the LORD your God, even in whatever He has sent me to tell you.

42:1 Jezaniah the son of Hoshaiah. Possibly the same as "Jezaniah the son of the Maacathite" (40:8). Apparently, Jezaniah was also known as Jaazaniah (2 Kin 25:23) and Azariah (as found in the Septuagint of this verse; see also 43:2), as was King Uzziah (see notes on 2 Kin 14:21; 2 Chr 26:1).
42:2 Jeremiah. Had probably been among the "remnant" from Mizpah (41:16). let our petition come before you. See v. 9; 37:20.
42:3 The people may be asking the Lord to confirm what they sincerely believe to be their only option: flight to Egypt (see v. 17; 41:17).
42:6 we will listen to . . . the LORD our God. Though they twice declare here their desire to do God's will, they soon demonstrate that they have already decided to follow their own inclinations (see 43:2).
42:7 end of ten days. Jeremiah does not bring God's word to the people until he is sure of it himself (see 28:10–12).
42:10 build you up . . . tear you down . . . plant . . . uproot. See 1:10 and note; see also 31:4,28; 33:7.
42:12 he will have compassion on you. For similar examples see Gen 43:14; 1 Kin 8:50.
42:16 the sword, which you are afraid of, will overtake you. See 43:11 and note.
42:17–18 See 44:11–14.
42:17 sword . . . famine . . . pestilence. See note on 14:12.
42:18 My anger and wrath have been poured out. See 7:20; 44:6. a curse . . . and a reproach. See notes on 24:9; 25:18; see also 29:18. this place. Jerusalem.
42:19 I have testified. See 11:7.

22 Therefore you should now clearly understand that you will [a]die by the sword, by famine and by pestilence, in the [b]place where you wish to go to reside.

In Egypt Jeremiah Warns of Judgment

43 But as soon as Jeremiah, whom the LORD their God had sent, had [a]finished telling all the people all the words of the LORD their God—that is, all these words—

2 Azariah the [a]son of Hoshaiah, and Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the arrogant men said to Jeremiah, "You are [b]telling a lie! The LORD our God has not sent you to say, 'You are not to enter Egypt to reside there';

3 but [a]Baruch the son of Neriah is inciting you against us to give us over into the hand of the Chaldeans, so they will put us to death or exile us to Babylon."

4 So [a]Johanan the son of Kareah and all the [1]commanders of the forces, and all the people, [b]did not obey the voice of the LORD to [c]stay in the land of Judah.

5 But Johanan the son of Kareah and all the [1]commanders of the forces took the [a]entire remnant of Judah who had returned from all the nations to which they had been driven away, in order to reside in the land of Judah—

6 the men, the women, the [1]children, the [a]king's daughters and [b]every person that Nebuzaradan the captain of the bodyguard had left with Gedaliah the son of Ahikam [2]and grandson of Shaphan, together with [c]Jeremiah the prophet and Baruch the son of Neriah—

7 and they entered the land of Egypt (for they did not obey the voice of the LORD) and went in as far as [a]Tahpanhes.

8 Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah in [a]Tahpanhes, saying,

9 "Take some large stones in your [1]hands and hide them in the mortar in the [2]brick terrace which is at the entrance of Pharaoh's [3]palace in Tahpanhes, in the sight of [4]some of the Jews;

10 and say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, "Behold, I am going to send and get [a]Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, [b]My servant, and I am going to set his throne right over these stones that I have hidden; and he will spread his [c]canopy over them.

11 "He will also come and [a]strike the land of Egypt; those who are meant for death will be given over to death, and those for captivity to captivity, and [b]those for the sword to the sword.

12 "And [1]I shall set fire to the temples of the [a]gods of Egypt, and he will burn them and take them captive. So he will [b]wrap himself with the land of Egypt as a shepherd wraps himself with his garment, and he will depart from there safely.

13 "He will also shatter the [1]obelisks of [2]Heliopolis, which is in the land of Egypt; and the temples of the gods of Egypt he will burn with fire." ' "

Conquest of Egypt Predicted

44 The word that came to Jeremiah for all the Jews living in the land of Egypt, those who were living in [a]Migdol, [b]Tahpanhes, [c]Memphis, and the land of [d]Pathros, saying,

2 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, 'You yourselves have seen all the calamity that I have brought on Jerusalem and all the cities of Judah; and behold, this day they are in [a]ruins and no one lives in them,

3 [a]because of their wickedness which they committed so as to [b]provoke Me to anger by continuing to [c]burn [1]sacrifices and to [d]serve other gods whom they had not known, neither they, you, nor your fathers.

43:2 Azariah. See note on 42:1. arrogant men. They demonstrate themselves to be such by their words.
43:3 Baruch. See note on 32:12. Jeremiah's opponents decide to put the blame on someone they consider less spiritually formidable than the prophet himself.
43:6 king's daughters. See note on 41:10. Jeremiah . . . and Baruch. No doubt they went to Egypt unwillingly, in the light of 32:6–15; 40:1–6; 42:13–22.
43:7 Tahpanhes. See note on 2:16.
43:9 Pharaoh's palace. Not necessarily his main residence. One of the Elephantine papyri, e.g., mentions the "king's house," apparently a more modest dwelling for Pharaoh's use when he visited Elephantine in southern Egypt.
43:10 Nebuchadnezzar . . . My servant. See note on 25:9. his throne. Symbolizing his authority.
43:11 See 15:2 and note. He will . . . strike . . . Egypt. A fragmentary text now owned by the British Museum in London states that Nebuchadnezzar carried out a punitive expedition against Egypt in his 37th year (568–567 B.C.) during the reign of Pharaoh Amasis (see Ezek 29:17–20 and notes).
43:12 he will wrap . . . as a shepherd wraps. Routinely and confidently.
43:13 obelisks of Heliopolis . . . in the land of Egypt. Lit. "Beth-shemesh in Egypt," with the qualifying phrase being used to distinguish the site from "Beth-shemesh, which belongs to Judah" (2 Kin 14:11). The Egyptian city is probably to be identified with Heliopolis (Greek for "city of the sun"), called On in Hebrew (see note on Gen 41:45). obelisks. Sacred pillars, for which ancient Heliopolis was famous.
44:1–30 The last of Jeremiah's recorded prophecies (see note on 40:1–44:30).
44:1 Jews living in . . . Egypt. As a result of previous deportations (see, e.g., 2 Kin 23:34) and/or the Jews mentioned in 43:5–7. In either case, some time must have elapsed between chs. 43 and 44 to bring about the gathering mentioned in v. 15. land of Egypt . . . land of Pathros. See note on Is 11:11. Migdol. Location uncertain; probably in northern Egypt (see 46:14). The name means "watchtower." Tahpanhes, Memphis. See notes on 2:16; Is 19:13.
44:3 See note on 1:16; see also 11:17; 19:4; 32:32.

4 'Yet I [a]sent you all My servants the prophets, [1]again and again, saying, "Oh, do not do this [b]abominable thing which I hate."

5 'But [a]they did not listen or incline their ears to turn from their wickedness, so as not to burn [1]sacrifices to other gods.

6 'Therefore My [a]wrath and My anger were poured out and burned in the [b]cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, so they have become a ruin and a [c]desolation as it is this day.

7 'Now then thus says the LORD God of hosts, the God of Israel, "Why are you [a]doing great harm to yourselves, so as to [b]cut off from you man and woman, child and infant, from among Judah, leaving yourselves without remnant,

8 [a]provoking Me to anger with the works of your hands, [b]burning [1]sacrifices to other gods in the land of Egypt, where you are entering to reside, so that you might be cut off and become a [c]curse and a reproach among all the nations of the earth?

9 "Have you forgotten the [a]wickedness of your fathers, the wickedness of the kings of Judah, and the wickedness of their wives, your own wickedness, and the wickedness of your wives, which they committed in the land of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem?

10 "But they [a]have not become [1]contrite even to this day, nor have they feared nor [b]walked in My law or My statutes, which I have set before you and before your fathers." '

11 "Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, 'Behold, I am going to [a]set My face against you for [1]woe, even to cut off all Judah.

12 'And I will [a]take away the remnant of Judah who have set their [1]mind on entering the land of Egypt to reside there, and they will all [2b]meet their end in the land of Egypt; they will fall by the sword and meet their end by famine. Both small and great will die by the sword and famine; and they will become a [c]curse, an object of horror, an imprecation and a reproach.

13 'And I will [a]punish those who live in the land of Egypt, as I have punished Jerusalem, with the sword, with famine and with pestilence.

14 'So there will be [a]no refugees or survivors for the remnant of Judah who have entered the land of Egypt to reside there and then to return to the land of Judah, to which they are [1b]longing to return and live; for none will [c]return except a few refugees.' "

15 Then [a]all the men who were aware that their wives were burning [1]sacrifices to other gods, along with all the women who were standing by, as a large assembly, [2]including all the people who were living in Pathros in the land of Egypt, responded to Jeremiah, saying,

16 "As for the [1a]message that you have spoken to us in the name of the LORD, [b]we are not going to listen to you!

17 "But rather we will certainly [a]carry out every word that has proceeded from our mouths, [1]by burning [2]sacrifices to the [b]queen of heaven and pouring out drink offerings to her, just as [c]we ourselves, our forefathers, our kings and our princes did in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem; for then we had [d]plenty of [3]food and were well off and saw no [4]misfortune.

18 "But since we stopped burning [1]sacrifices to the queen of heaven and pouring out drink offerings to her, we have [a]lacked everything and have [2]met our end by the sword and by famine."

19 "And," said the women, "when we were [a]burning [1]sacrifices to the queen of heaven and [2]were pouring out drink offerings to her, was it [b]without our husbands that we made for her sacrificial cakes [3]in her image and poured out drink offerings to her?"

44:17 queen of heaven. See note on 7:18. then we . . . were well off. Judah had been relatively prosperous during King Manasseh's lengthy reign.
44:18 since we stopped. As a result of King Josiah's reform movement, which began in 621 B.C. we have lacked everything. Beginning with Josiah's death in 609, a series of disasters, including invasion and exile, had struck Judah. The people understandably (though mistakenly) attributed their misfortune to their failure to worship the queen of heaven.
44:19 women. Since Ishtar (the "queen of heaven") was a Babylonian goddess of fertility, women played a major role in her worship. was it without our husbands . . . ? To have validity, a religious vow made by a married woman (see v. 25) had to be confirmed by her husband (see Num 30:10–15). we made for her . . . cakes in her image. See 7:18 and note.

21 "As for the [1][a]smoking sacrifices that you burned in the cities of Judah and in the [b]streets of Jerusalem, you and your forefathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, did not the LORD [c]remember them and did not all this come into His [2]mind?

22 "So the LORD was [a]no longer able to endure it, [b]because of the evil of your deeds, because of the abominations which you have committed; thus your land has become a [c]ruin, an object of horror and a curse, without an inhabitant, as it is this day.

23 "Because you have burned [1]sacrifices and have sinned against the LORD and [a]not obeyed the voice of the LORD or [b]walked in His law, His statutes or His testimonies, therefore this [c]calamity has befallen you, as it has this day."

24 Then Jeremiah said to all the people, including all the women, "[a]Hear the word of the LORD, all Judah who are [b]in the land of Egypt,

25 thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, as follows: 'As for you and your wives, you have spoken with your mouths and fulfilled it with your hands, saying, "We will [a]certainly perform our vows that we have vowed, to burn [1]sacrifices to the queen of heaven and pour out drink offerings to her." [2b]Go ahead and confirm your vows, and certainly perform your vows!'

26 "[1]Nevertheless hear the word of the LORD, all Judah who are living in the land of Egypt, 'Behold, I have [a]sworn by My great name,' says the LORD, '[b]never shall My name be invoked again by the mouth of any man of Judah in all the land of Egypt, saying, "[c]As the Lord [2]GOD lives."

27 'Behold, I am watching over them [a]for harm and not for good, and [b]all the men of Judah who are in the land of Egypt will [1]meet their end by the sword and by famine until they [2]are completely gone.

28 '[a]Those who escape the sword will return out of the land of Egypt to the land of Judah [1b]few in number. Then all the remnant of Judah who have gone to the land of Egypt to reside there will know [c]whose word will stand, Mine or theirs.

29 'This will be the [a]sign to you,' declares the LORD, 'that I am going to punish you in this place, so that you may know that [b]My words will surely stand against you for harm.'

30 "Thus says the LORD, 'Behold, I am going to give over [a]Pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt to the hand of his enemies, to the hand of those who seek his life, just as I gave over [b]Zedekiah king of Judah to the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, who was his enemy and was seeking his life.' "

Message to Baruch

45 This is the message which Jeremiah the prophet spoke to [a]Baruch the son of Neriah, when he had [b]written down these words in a book [1]at Jeremiah's dictation, in the [c]fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, saying:

2 "Thus says the LORD the God of Israel to you, O Baruch:

3 'You said, "Ah, woe is me! For the LORD has added sorrow to my pain; I am [a]weary with my groaning and have found no rest." '

4 "Thus you are to say to him, 'Thus says the LORD, "Behold, [a]what I have built I am about to tear down, and what I have planted I am about to uproot, that is, the whole land."

5 'But you, are you [a]seeking great things for yourself? Do not seek them; for behold, I am going to [b]bring disaster on all flesh,' declares the LORD, 'but I will [c]give your life to you as booty in all the places where you may go.' "

44:30 Hophra. Ruled Egypt 589–570 B.C. (see 37:5 and note). his enemies . . . who seek his life. Hophra was killed by his Egyptian rivals during a power struggle. I gave over Zedekiah . . . to . . . Nebuchadnezzar. See 39:5–7.
45:1–5 A brief message of encouragement to Baruch, Jeremiah's faithful secretary (see note on 32:12). Though out of chronological order, the section provides a suitable historical appendix to chs. 39–44 as well as a smooth transition to chs. 46–51 (see notes on v. 1; 46:2).
45:1 had written . . . in a book. See 36:4; see also 36:2 and note. fourth year of Jehoiakim. 605 B.C. Ch. 45 fits chronologically between 36:8 and 36:9 (see note on 36:8).
45:3 To some extent Baruch shared Jeremiah's anguish, the result of Jeremiah's prophetic call and ministry (see, e.g., 8:18–9:2; 20:7–18). weary with my groaning. See Ps 6:6. found no rest. See Lam 5:5.
45:4 built . . . tear down . . . planted . . . uproot. See note on 1:10; see also 2:21; 31:4–5,28,40; 32:41; 33:7. land. Or "earth" (see "all flesh" in v. 5; see also 25:15,31; 46–51).
45:5 great things . . . Do not seek them. See Ps 131:1. Baruch's brother Seraiah would occupy an important position under King Zedekiah (see 32:12; 51:59), but Baruch himself was not to be ambitious or self-seeking. give your life to you as booty. See note on 21:9.
46:1–51:64 See notes on 25:1–38; 25:13; 25:19–26. Chs. 46–51 consist of a series of prophecies against the nations (see Is 13–23; Ezek 25–32; Amos 1–2; Zeph 2:4–15). They begin with Egypt (ch. 46) and end with Babylonia (chs. 50–51), the two powers that vied for control of Judah during Jeremiah's ministry. The arrangement of the prophecies is in a generally west-to-east direction.

Defeat of Pharaoh Foretold

46 That which came as the word of the LORD to Jeremiah the prophet [a]concerning the nations.

2 To [a]Egypt, concerning the army of [b]Pharaoh Neco king of Egypt, which was by the Euphrates River at [c]Carchemish, which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon defeated in the [d]fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah:

3 "[a]Line up the shield and [1]buckler,
And draw near for the battle!
4 "Harness the horses,
And [1]mount the steeds,
And take your stand with helmets on!
[a]Polish the spears,
Put on the [b]scale-armor!
5 "Why have I seen it?
They are terrified,
They are [a]drawing back,
And their [b]mighty men are defeated
And have taken refuge in flight,
Without facing back;
[1][c]Terror is on every side!"
Declares the LORD.
6 Let not the [a]swift man flee,
Nor the mighty man escape;
In the north beside the river
Euphrates
They have [b]stumbled and fallen.
7 Who is this that [a]rises like the Nile,
Like the rivers whose waters surge about?
8 Egypt rises like the Nile,
Even like the rivers whose waters surge about;
And He has said, "I will [a]rise and cover that land;
I will surely [b]destroy the city and its inhabitants."
9 Go up, you horses, and [1][a]drive madly,
you chariots,
That the mighty men may [2]march forward:
Ethiopia and [3][b]Put, that handle the shield,
And the [4][c]Lydians, that handle and
bend the bow.
10 For [a]that day belongs to the Lord [1]GOD
of hosts,
A day of [b]vengeance, so as to avenge
Himself on His foes;
And the [c]sword will devour and be satiated
And [2]drink its fill of their blood;
For there will be a [d]slaughter for the Lord [1]GOD of hosts,
In the land of the north by the river
Euphrates.
11 Go [a]up to Gilead and obtain balm,
[b]O virgin daughter of Egypt!
In vain have you multiplied [1]remedies;
There is [c]no healing for you.
12 The nations have heard of your [a]shame,
And the earth is full of your [b]cry of distress;
For one [c]warrior has stumbled over
[1]another,
And both of them have fallen down
together.

13 This is the [1]message which the LORD spoke to Jeremiah the prophet about the [a]coming of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon to [b]smite the land of Egypt:

46:1 the word of the LORD . . . concerning. See 14:1; 47:1; 49:34; 50:1. nations. To whom Jeremiah was called to prophesy (see 1:5 and note).

46:2 concerning . . . Egypt. See Is 19–20; Ezek 29–32. Neco. Ruled Egypt 610–595 B.C. Carchemish. See 2 Chr 35:20; Is 10:9. The name means "fortress of Chemosh" (chief god of Moab; see 2 Kin 23:13), as clarified by the Ebla tablets (see Introduction to Genesis: Background; see also chart, p. xix). which Nebuchadnezzar. Egypt's defeat by Babylonia at Carchemish was one of the most decisive battles in the ancient world, ending Egypt's age-long claims and pretensions to power in Syro-Palestine. fourth year of Jehoiakim. 605 B.C., the first year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign (see 25:1).

46:3 Line up. Spoken to the Egyptians in sarcasm (see, e.g., Nah 2:1; 3:14).

46:4 horses. Egypt was a prime source for the finest horses (see 1 Kin 10:28). Put on the scale-armor! See 51:3.

46:5 Terror is on every side! The phrase is used in 6:25 (see note there) with reference to the Babylonian army (see 6:22 and note).

46:7–8 rivers whose waters surge about. In the northern Egyptian delta, where the Nile branches out into numerous streams.

46:8 rise and cover that land. The same metaphor is used of Assyria in Is 8:7–8 (see note there). city. The Hebrew for this word is in the singular but should be interpreted as a generic plural ("city" is generic also in 8:16).

46:9 Go up. See note on v. 3; see also 8:6; Nah 3:3. drive madly, you chariots. See Nah 2:4. Put. See note on Gen 10:6. Lydians. See note on Is 66:19. Men from Cush, Put and Lydia were mercenaries in the Egyptian army.

46:10 day of vengeance. See Is 34:8 and note. The Lord will avenge Egypt's cruelties toward Judah (see, e.g., 2 Kin 23:29,33–35). sword will devour. See v. 14. drink its fill of their blood . . . a slaughter. The imagery of "blood" and "slaughter" found in the Israelite sacrificial ritual was often used to describe battles (see Is 34:5–7 and notes; Zeph 1:7–8).

46:11 Gilead . . . balm. See 8:22 and note. virgin daughter of Egypt. See v. 19; Is 23:12 and note; Is 47:1; see also 14:17 and note; 18:13; 31:4,21. In vain . . . remedies . . . no healing for you. The statement is ironic in the light of Egypt's reputation for expertise in the healing arts.

46:12 stumbled . . . fallen. See vv. 6,16.

46:13 Nebuchadnezzar . . . to smite . . . Egypt. In 568–567 B.C. (see note on 43:11), long after the battle of Carchemish (see note on v. 2).

46:14 Migdol. See note on 44:1. Memphis and Tahpanhes. See 44:1; see also notes on 2:16; Is 19:13. Take your stand. See v. 4. sword has devoured. See v. 10.

Say, 'Take your stand and get yourself ready,
For the [c]sword has devoured those around you.'
15 "Why have your [a]mighty ones become prostrate?
They do not stand because the LORD has [b]thrust them down.
16 "They have repeatedly [a]stumbled;
Indeed, they have fallen one against another.
Then they said, 'Get up! And [b]let us go back
To our own people and our native land
Away from the [1][c]sword of the oppressor.'
17 "[1]They cried there, 'Pharaoh king of Egypt is but [a]a big noise;
He has let the appointed time pass by!'
18 "As I live," declares the [a]King
Whose name is the LORD of hosts,
"Surely one shall come who looms up like [b]Tabor among the mountains,
Or like [c]Carmel by the sea.
19 "Make your baggage ready for [a]exile,
O [b]daughter dwelling in Egypt,
For [c]Memphis will become a desolation;
It will even be burned down and [1]bereft of inhabitants.
20 "Egypt is a pretty [a]heifer,
But a [1]horsefly is coming [b]from the north—it is coming!
21 "Also her [a]mercenaries in her midst
Are like [1]fattened [b]calves,
For even they too have turned back and have fled away together;
They did not stand their ground.
For the day of their calamity has come upon them,
The time of their [c]punishment.
22 "Its sound moves along like a serpent;
For they move on [1]like an army
And come to her as woodcutters with axes.
23 "They have cut down her [a]forest," declares the LORD;
"Surely it will no more be found,
Even though [1]they are now more numerous than [b]locusts
And are without number.
24 "The daughter of Egypt has been put to shame, Given over to the [1]power of the [a]people of the north."
25 The LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, says, "Behold, I am going to punish Amon of [a]Thebes, and [b]Pharaoh, and Egypt along with her [c]gods and her kings, even Pharaoh and those who [d]trust in him.
26 "I shall give them over to the [1]power of those who are [a]seeking their lives, even into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and into the hand of his [2]officers. [b]Afterwards, however, it will be inhabited as in the days of old," declares the LORD.
27 "But as for you, O Jacob My servant,
[a]do not fear,
Nor be dismayed, O Israel!
For, see, I am going to [b]save you from afar,
And your descendants from the land of their captivity;
And Jacob will return and be [c]undisturbed
And secure, with no one making him tremble.

46:15 mighty ones. The Hebrew for this word is not the same as that for "mighty men" (vv. 5,9) or "warrior" (v. 12). It is lit. "strong ones," often referring to powerful animals ("stallions" in 8:16; 47:3; 50:11; "steeds" in Judg 5:22). In Ps 22:12; 50:13; 68:30; Is 34:7 the Hebrew word is translated "bulls" (see note on Ps 68:30). became prostrate. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "Apis has fled" in the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT). Apis was a bull-god worshiped in Egypt, especially at Memphis (see v. 14). An alternative translation of v. 15 would then read as follows: "Why did Apis flee? Why did your bull [many manuscripts have the singular form] not stand? Because the LORD pushed him down."
46:16 They have repeatedly stumbled. See vv. 6,12; lit. "He will make many stumble." they said, '. . . let us go . . .' The mercenaries in Pharaoh's army (see v. 9 and note) will decide to return to their homelands. sword of the oppressor. See 25:38; 50:16.
46:17 a big noise. In Is 30:7, Egypt is called the one "who has been exterminated." let the appointed time pass by. After the battle of Carchemish (see v. 2), Nebuchadnezzar returned to Babylonia on learning of his father's death. Egypt failed to press its advantage at that time.
46:18 As I live. See notes on Gen 22:16; 42:15. King. God is called "King" also in 8:19; 10:7,10; 48:15; 51:57. one. Nebuchadnezzar. Tabor . . . Carmel. Two prominent mountains in Israel (see notes on Judg 4:6; Song 7:5; Is 33:9).
46:19 Make your baggage ready for exile. Echoed in Ezek 12:3. Egypt. Lit. "Daughter of Egypt" (see v. 11 and note). become a desolation. Judah is so described in 2:15; 9:12.
46:20 heifer. Perhaps an ironic reference to Egyptian bull-worship (see note on v. 15). horsefly. Nebuchadnezzar. Insects are often used to symbolize an attacking enemy (see note on Ex 23:28).
46:21 mercenaries. See note on v. 9. calves. See note on v. 20. day of their calamity. See 18:17. time of their punishment. See 11:23; 23:12; 50:27.
46:22 serpent. Often used by Egyptian pharaohs as a symbol of their sovereignty (see note on Ex 4:3). woodcutters with axes. See 21:14; see also Is 10:18–19,33–34 and notes.
46:23 more numerous than locusts. Here an invading army is compared to locusts. In Joel 2:11,25 locusts are compared to an invading army.
46:24 daughter of Egypt. See note on v. 11.
46:25 Amon. The chief god of Egypt during much of its history. Wicked King Manasseh may have named his son after the Egyptian deity (see 2 Kin 21:18; 2 Chr 33:22). Thebes. The capital of Upper (southern) Egypt (see Ezek 30:14–16).
46:26 it will be inhabited as in the days of old. Cf. 48:47; 49:6,39. Egypt would be restored in the Messianic age (see Is 19:23–25).
46:27–28 Repeated almost verbatim from 30:10–11 (see notes there).

28 "O Jacob My servant, do not fear,"
declares the LORD,
"For [a]I am with you.
For I will make a full end of all the nations
Where I have driven you,
Yet I will [b]not make a full end of you;
But I will [c]correct you properly
And by no means leave you unpunished."

Prophecy against Philistia

47 That which came as the word of the LORD to Jeremiah the prophet concerning the [a]Philistines, before Pharaoh [1]conquered [b]Gaza.

2 Thus says the LORD:
"Behold, waters are going to rise from [a]the north
And become an overflowing torrent,
And [b]overflow the land and all its fullness,
The city and those who live in it;
And the men will [c]cry out,
And every inhabitant of the land will wail.
3 "Because of the noise of the [1][a]galloping hoofs of his [2]stallions,
The tumult of his chariots, and the rumbling of his wheels,
The fathers have not turned back for their children,
Because of the limpness of their hands,
4 On account of the day that is coming
To [a]destroy all the Philistines,
To cut off from [b]Tyre and Sidon
Every ally that is left;
For the LORD is going to destroy the Philistines,
The remnant of the coastland of [c]Caphtor.
5 "[a]Baldness has come upon Gaza;
[b]Ashkelon has been ruined.
O remnant of their valley,
How long will you [c]gash yourself?
6 "Ah, [a]sword of the LORD,
How long will you not be quiet?
Withdraw into your sheath;
Be at rest and stay still.
7 "How can [1]it be quiet,
When the LORD has [a]given it an order?
Against Ashkelon and against the seacoast—
There He has [b]assigned it."

Prophecy against Moab

48 Concerning [a]Moab. Thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel,
"Woe to [b]Nebo, for it has been destroyed;
[c]Kiriathaim has been put to shame, it has been captured;
The lofty stronghold has been put to shame and [1]shattered.
2 "There is praise for Moab no longer;
In [a]Heshbon they have devised calamity against her:
'Come and let us cut her off from being a nation!'
You too, [1]Madmen, will be silenced;
The sword will follow after you.
3 "The sound of an outcry from [a]Horonaim,
'Devastation and great destruction!'
4 "Moab is broken,
Her little ones have sounded out a cry of distress.
5 "For by the ascent of [a]Luhith

47:1 concerning the Philistines. See Is 14:28–32; Ezek 25:15–17; Amos 1:6–8; Zeph 2:4–7. Pharaoh. It is uncertain whether Neco II (see 46:2; see also note on 2 Kin 23:29) or Hophra (see notes on 37:5; 44:30) is intended. Gaza. See v. 5; 25:20; see also note on Judg 1:18.

47:2 waters are going to rise. See notes on 46:7–8. the north. Babylonia, as in 1:13–14; 46:20. the land . . . live in it. The Hebrew for this phrase is repeated verbatim from 8:16. land. Phoenicia and Philistia. city. A generic singular used as a plural (see note on 46:8); includes Tyre and Sidon (see v. 4) as well as Gaza, Ashkelon (see v. 5) and other Philistine cities.

47:3 stallions. Lit. "strong ones" (see note on 46:15). limpness of their hands. Paralyzed by terror (see 6:24; Is 13:7).

47:4 Tyre and Sidon. See notes on v. 2; 25:22; 27:3. remnant. See v. 5. Caphtor. Crete (the Kerethites of Zeph 2:5 and elsewhere were probably Cretans), one of many islands in the Mediterranean believed to be the original homeland of the Philistines (see Gen 10:14 and note; see also Deut 2:23).

47:5 Baldness has come. See note on 16:6; see also 48:37. Gaza. See v. 1; 25:20; see also note on Judg 1:18. Ashkelon. See v. 7; 25:20; see also note on Judg 1:18. remnant. See note on v. 4. valley. Roughly equivalent to the modern Gaza Strip, it lay west of the foothills that separated Philistia from Judah. gash yourself. See note on 16:6; see also 48:37.

47:6 you. The Philistines.

47:7 Against Ashkelon. The immediate fulfillment took place under Nebuchadnezzar in 604 B.C. seacoast. See Ezek 25:16; the Philistine plain (see note on v. 5).

48:1 Concerning Moab. See Is 15–16; Ezek 25:8–11; Amos 2:1–3; Zeph 2:8–11. Josephus (Antiquities, 10.9.7) implies that Jeremiah's prophecy concerning the future destruction of Moab was fulfilled in the "twenty-third year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign" (582 B.C.; see 52:30). Nebo. See v. 22; a town originally allotted to the tribe of Reuben (see Num 32:3,37–38; see also Is 15:2 and note). Kiriathaim. See v. 23. An ancient town (see Gen 14:5), it too was allotted to Reuben (see Josh 13:19 and note). Nebo, Kiriathaim and several other towns referred to in this chapter are mentioned also in an important Moabite inscription written by Mesha king of Moab (see 2 Kin 3:4) and discovered in 1868 (see chart, p. xix).

48:2 Heshbon. See vv. 34,45; 49:3; Num 21:25. Originally allotted to Reuben (see Num 32:37; Josh 13:17), it was later reassigned to Gad as a Levitical town (see Josh 21:39). have devised. The Hebrew for this phrase is a pun on "Heshbon." Madmen. Location unknown; perhaps a longer spelling of "Dimon" (Is 15:9—but see note there). In Is 25:10, the feminine form of the Hebrew word madmen is translated "manure pile." sword will follow after you. See 9:16; 42:16.

48:3 Horonaim. See vv. 5,34; location unknown.

48:4 broken. Like a clay jar (see 19:11).

48:5 Luhith. Location unknown (see Is 15:5).

They will ascend with continual weeping;
For at the descent of Horonaim
They have heard the [1]anguished cry of destruction.
6 "[a]Flee, save your lives,
That you may be like a juniper in the wilderness.
7 "For because of your [a]trust in your own achievements and treasures,
Even you yourself will be captured;
And [b]Chemosh will go off into exile
Together with his priests and his princes.
8 "A destroyer will come to every city,
So that no city will escape;
The valley also will be ruined
And the [a]plateau will be destroyed,
As the LORD has said.
9 "Give [1][a]wings to Moab,
For she will [2]flee away;
And her cities will become a [b]desolation,
Without inhabitants in them.
10 "[a]Cursed be the one who does the LORD'S work [b]negligently,
And cursed be the one who restrains his [c]sword from blood.

11 "Moab has been [a]at ease since his youth;
He has also been [b]undisturbed, like wine on [1]its dregs,
And he has not been [c]emptied from vessel to vessel,
Nor has he gone into exile.
Therefore [2]he retains his flavor,
And his aroma has not changed.
12 "Therefore behold, the days are coming," declares the LORD, "when I will send to him those who tip vessels, and they will tip him over, and they will empty his vessels and shatter [1]his jars.
13 "And Moab will be [a]ashamed of [b]Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of [c]Bethel, their confidence.
14 "How can you say, 'We are [a]mighty warriors,
And men valiant for battle'?
15 "Moab has been destroyed and [1]men have gone up to [2]his cities;
His choicest [3][a]young men have also gone down to the slaughter," Declares the [b]King, whose name is the LORD of hosts.
16 "The disaster of Moab will [a]soon come,
And his calamity has swiftly hastened.
17 "Mourn for him, all you who live around him,
Even all of you who know his name;
Say, 'How has the mighty [1][a]scepter been broken,
A staff of splendor!'
18 "[a]Come down from your glory
And sit [1]on the parched ground,
O [b]daughter dwelling in [c]Dibon,
For the destroyer of Moab has come up against you,
He has ruined your strongholds.
19 "Stand by the road and keep watch,
O inhabitant of [a]Aroer;
[b]Ask him who flees and her who escapes
And say, 'What has happened?'
20 "Moab has been put to shame, for it has been [1]shattered.
Wail and cry out;
Declare by the [a]Arnon
That Moab has been destroyed.

48:6 Flee, save your lives. See 51:6. like a juniper. See note on 17:6.
48:7 Chemosh. See vv. 13,46; the national god of Moab (see 1 Kin 11:7,33; 2 Kin 23:13). The Hebrew text here implies the alternate spelling Chemish, as in "Carchemish" (see note on 46:2). will go off into exile . . . and his princes. A stock phrase (see 49:3; Amos 1:15). Images of pagan deities were often carried about from place to place (see 43:12; Amos 5:26).
48:8 destroyer. See v. 32; probably Nebuchadnezzar. valley . . . plateau. Much of western Moab overlooks the Jordan Valley.
48:9 See 17:6. Give wings to Moab. Or "put salt on Moab"—to make its farmland unproductive and barren (see note on Judg 9:45).
48:10 negligently. Or "slack" (as in Prov 12:24). Those whom the Lord designates to destroy Moab are urged on in their appointed task.
48:11 A copy of the Hebrew text of this verse has been found inscribed on a large clay seal, dating to the early Christian era and apparently used for stamping the bitumen with which the mouths of wine jars were sealed. since his youth. From her early history. like wine. An apt figure, since Moab was noted for her vineyards (see vv. 32–33; Is 16:8–10). on its dregs. In order to improve with age (see Is 25:6). Nor has he gone into exile. Unlike Israel.
48:12 days are coming. Moab will be destroyed (see note on v. 1). tip vessels. Gently, in order to leave the unwanted sediment in the bottom. But these men will be the agents of divine judgment and will "shatter" Moab (see v. 4 and note).
48:13 Chemosh. See note on v. 7. house of Israel. The northern kingdom, destroyed and exiled in 722–721 B.C. Bethel. Either (1) the well-known town where one of Jeroboam's golden calves was placed (see 1 Kin 12:28–30) or, (2) in parallelism with Chemosh, the West Semitic deity known from contemporary Babylonian inscriptions as well as from the Elephantine papyri a century later.
48:14 How can you say . . . ? See 2:23; 8:8.
48:15 gone down to the slaughter. See 50:27; for war depicted as the slaughter of sacrificial animals see Is 34:6 and note. King. See note on 46:18. The true King is the Lord, not Chemosh.
48:16 See Deut 32:35.
48:17 who live around him . . . who know his name. Nations near and far respectively. mighty. At one time Moab had been powerful and feared (see 27:3; 2 Kin 1:1; 3:5; 24:2). scepter . . . staff. Symbols of authority and dominion (see Gen 49:10; Ps 2:9; Ezek 19:11,14).
48:18 Come down . . . sit. See Is 47:1 and note. daughter. See note on Is 23:10. Dibon. See v. 22; Num 21:30; see also note on Is 15:2.
48:19 Aroer. See Num 32:34; Deut 2:36.
48:20 Arnon. Moab's most important river.

21 "Judgment has also come upon the plain,
upon Holon, [a]Jahzah and against [b]Mephaath,
22 against Dibon, Nebo and Beth-diblathaim,
23 against Kiriathaim, Beth-gamul and [a]Beth-meon, 24 against [a]Kerioth, Bozrah and all the cities of the land of Moab, far and near.
25 "The [a]horn of Moab has been cut off and his [b]arm broken," declares the LORD.
26 "[a]Make him drunk, for he has [1]become [b]arrogant toward the LORD; so Moab will [2]wallow in his vomit, and he also will become a laughingstock.
27 "Now was not Israel a [a]laughingstock to you? Or was he [1][b]caught among thieves? For each time you speak about him you [c]shake your head in scorn.
28 "Leave the cities and dwell among the
[a]crags,
O inhabitants of Moab,
And be like a [b]dove that nests
Beyond the mouth of the chasm.
29 "[a]We have heard of the pride of Moab—he is very proud—
Of his haughtiness, his [b]pride, his arrogance and [1]his self-exaltation.
30 "I know his [a]fury," declares the LORD,
"But it is futile;
His idle boasts have accomplished
nothing.
31 "Therefore I will [a]wail for Moab,
Even for all Moab will I cry out;
[1]I will moan for the men of [b]Kir-heres.
32 "More than the [a]weeping for [b]Jazer
I will weep for you, O vine of Sibmah!
Your tendrils stretched across the sea,
They reached to the sea of Jazer;
Upon your summer fruits and your grape harvest
The destroyer has fallen.
33 "So [a]gladness and joy are taken away
From the fruitful field, even from the land of Moab.
And I have made the wine to [b]cease
from the wine presses;
No one will tread them with shouting,
The shouting will not be shouts of joy.
34 "[a]From the outcry at Heshbon even to [b]Elealeh, even to Jahaz they have [1]raised their voice, from [c]Zoar even to Horonaim and to Eglath-shelishiyah; for even the waters of Nimrim will become desolate.
35 "I will make an end of Moab," declares the LORD, "the one who offers sacrifice on the [a]high place and the one who [1][b]burns incense to his gods.
36 "Therefore My [a]heart [1]wails for Moab like flutes; My heart also [1]wails like flutes for the men of Kir-heres. Therefore they have [b]lost the abundance it produced.
37 "For [a]every head is bald and every beard cut short; there are gashes on all the hands and [b]sackcloth on the loins.
38 "On all the [a]housetops of Moab and in its streets [1]there is lamentation everywhere;
for I have broken Moab like an undesirable
[b]vessel," declares the LORD.
39 "How [1]shattered it is! How they have wailed! How Moab has turned his back—he is ashamed! So Moab will become a laughingstock and an [a]object of terror to all around him."
40 For thus says the LORD:
"Behold, one will [a]fly swiftly like an eagle

48:21 plain. See note on v. 8. Holon. Not the same as the town mentioned in Josh 15:51; 21:15. Its location is unknown. Jahzah. See 1 Chr 6:78; elsewhere called Jahaz (see v. 34; see also Is 15:4 and note).
48:22 Dibon. See v. 18. Nebo. See note on v. 1. Beth-diblathaim. Perhaps the same as, or near, Almon-diblathaim (see Num 33:46).
48:23 Kiriathaim. See note on v. 1. Beth-gamul. Modern Khirbet Jumeil, five miles east of Aroer. Beth-meon. The same as Baal-meon (see Num 32:38) and Beth-baal-meon (see Josh 13:17).
48:24 Kerioth. See note on Amos 2:2. Its location is unknown. Bozrah. Not the same as Bozrah in Edom (see 49:13,22), but another name for Bezer in Moab (see note on Deut 4:43).
48:26 The Lord speaks to the Babylonian invaders. Make him drunk. By drinking down the cup of God's wrath (see 13:13; 25:15–17,28). wallow in his vomit. See 25:27; Is 19:14. he also will become a laughingstock. As she had once ridiculed others (see v. 27; Zeph 2:8,10).
48:27 shake your head in scorn. See 18:16 and note; see also Ps 64:8.
48:28 like a dove . . . mouth of the chasm. See Ps 55:6–8; Song 2:14.
48:29–30 An expanded version of the description of Moab found in Is 16:6.
48:29 pride of Moab. It had long since become proverbial (see Is 25:10–11; Zeph 2:8–10).
48:31–33 See Is 16:7–10.
48:31–32 I. The prophet (as in Is 16:9; cf. Is 15:5).
48:31 moan. Like a mourning dove (see Is 38:14; 59:11). Kir-heres. See Is 16:7,11; see also note on Is 15:1.
48:32 More than . . . for Jazer. See Is 16:9. Jazer . . . Sibmah . . . sea. See note on Is 16:8. vine. See note on v. 11. destroyer. See v. 8; probably Nebuchadnezzar.
48:33 tread. See note on Is 16:10. not be shouts of joy. Instead, shouts of judgment (see 25:30; 51:14).
48:34 See Is 15:4–6 and notes.
48:36 See Is 16:11. flutes. Played by mourners at funerals (see Matt 9:23–24).
48:37 Signs of mourning (see Is 15:2–3 and notes). gashes. See note on 16:6.
48:38 broken . . . like an undesirable vessel. See v. 4 and note on v. 12; cf. the description of King Jehoiachin in 22:28 (see note there).
48:39 laughingstock. See v. 26 and note.
48:40–41 Echoed in 49:22 with respect to Edom.
48:40 eagle. Nebuchadnezzar (as in Ezek 17:3); see Deut 28:49 and note.

LORD.

pit
Will be caught in the snare;
For I shall bring upon her, even upon
Moab,
The year of their [b]punishment,"
declares the LORD.

45 "In the shadow of Heshbon

Prophecy against Ammon

49 Concerning the sons of [a]Ammon. Thus says the LORD:
"Does Israel have no sons?
Or has he no heirs?
Why then has [1]Malcam taken possession of Gad
And his people settled in its cities?
2 "Therefore behold, the days are coming," declares the LORD,
"That I will cause a [1][a]trumpet blast of war to be heard Against [b]Rabbah of the sons of
Ammon;
And it will become a desolate heap,
And her [c]towns will be set on fire.
Then Israel will take [d]possession of his possessors,"
Says the LORD.
3 "Wail, O [a]Heshbon, for [b]Ai has been destroyed!
Cry out, O daughters of Rabbah, [c]Gird yourselves with sackcloth and lament,
And rush back and forth inside the walls;
For [1]Malcam will [d]go into exile Together with his priests and his princes.
4 "How [a]boastful you are about the valleys!
Your valley is flowing away,
O [b]backsliding daughter
Who trusts in her [c]treasures, saying,
'[d]Who will come against me?'
5 "Behold, I am going to bring [a]terror upon you,"
Declares the Lord [1]GOD of hosts,
"From all directions around you;
And each of you will be [b]driven out
[2]headlong,
With no one to gather the [c]fugitives
together.

48:41 Kerioth. Location uncertain (see v. 24; see also note on Amos 2:2).
48:43 Terror, pit and snare. The Hebrew original illustrates Jeremiah's fondness for the well-turned phrase (see Introduction: Literary Features)—though in this case Jeremiah was not its creator (see note on Is 24:17).
48:44 one who flees . . . Will fall . . . one who climbs . . . Will be caught. Divine judgment, once determined, is unavoidable (see Amos 5:19).
48:45–46 Echoed from Num 21:28–29; 24:17. Balaam's oracles against Moab are about to be fulfilled.
48:45 Heshbon. See note on v. 2. Apparently at this time it was controlled by the Ammonites (see 49:3). Sihon. Refers to the associates of Sihon king of the Amorites, whose chief city was Heshbon (see Num 21:27) during the time of the exodus. revelers. See note on v. 29.
48:46 Chemosh. See note on v. 7.
48:47 See 46:26. restore the fortunes. See note on 29:14. In the latter days. During the Messianic era. Thus far. A note by the final compiler of the book of Jeremiah (see 51:64).
49:1 Concerning the sons of Ammon. See Ezek 25:1–7; Amos 1:13–15; Zeph 2:8–11. Ammon was east of the Jordan and north of Moab (see note on Gen 19:36–38). Malcam. The chief god of the Ammonites (see 1 Kin 11:5,7,33), also known as Milcom (see 1 Kin 11:5). Both titles are related to the West Semitic word for "king" (Hebrew melek). taken possession of Gad. Probably refers to the aftermath of Tiglath-pileser III's conquest of Transjordan in 734–732 B.C. The Ammonites later apparently recovered from their defeat and overran some of the territory owned by the Israelite tribe of Gad. his. Molech's.
49:2 trumpet blast of war. See Amos 1:14. Rabbah of the sons of Ammon. See note on Deut 3:11. heap. See note on 30:18.
49:3 Heshbon. See note on 48:45; see also Judg 11:26–27. Ai. Not the Ai of Josh 8. Its location is unknown. walls. The Hebrew for this word refers not to city walls but to walls separating vineyards from each other (see Num 21:24). Malcam. See note on v. 1. will go into exile . . . and his princes. See note on 48:7.
49:4 backsliding daughter. Applied to the people of Judah in 31:22. Who trusts in her treasures. Spoken to Moab in 48:7. Who will come against me? According to Josephus (Antiquities, 10.9.7) Nebuchadnezzar destroyed Ammon in the 23rd year of his reign (582 B.C.).

6 "But afterward I will [a]restore
The [1]fortunes of the sons of Ammon,"
Declares the LORD.

Prophecy against Edom

7 Concerning [a]Edom.
Thus says the LORD of hosts,
"Is there no longer any [b]wisdom in [c]Teman?
Has good counsel been lost to the prudent?
Has their wisdom decayed?
8 "Flee away, turn back, dwell in the depths,
O inhabitants of [a]Dedan,
For I [1]will bring the [b]disaster of Esau upon him
At the time I [2]punish him.
9 "[a]If grape gatherers came to you,
Would they not leave gleanings?
If thieves came by night,
They would destroy only [1]until they had enough.
10 "But I have [a]stripped Esau bare,
I have uncovered his hiding places
So that he will not be able to conceal himself;
His [1]offspring has been destroyed along with his [2]relatives
And his neighbors, and [b]he is no more.
11 "Leave your [1][a]orphans behind, I will keep them alive;
And let your [b]widows trust in Me."
12 For thus says the LORD, "Behold, those [1]who were not sentenced to drink the [a]cup will certainly drink it, and are you the one who will be [b]completely acquitted? You will not be acquitted, but you will certainly drink it.
13 "For I have [a]sworn by Myself," declares the LORD, "that [b]Bozrah will become an [c]object of horror, a reproach, a ruin and a curse; and all its cities will become perpetual ruins."
14 I have [a]heard a message from the LORD,
And an [b]envoy is sent among the nations, saying,
"[c]Gather yourselves together and come against her,
And rise up for battle!"
15 "For behold, I have made you small among the nations,
Despised among men.
16 "As for the terror of you,
The arrogance of your heart has deceived you,
O you who live in the clefts of [1]the
[a]rock,
Who occupy the height of the hill.
Though you make your nest as [b]high as an eagle's,
I will [c]bring you down from there,"
declares the LORD.
17 "Edom will become an [a]object of horror;
everyone who passes by it will be horrified and will [b]hiss at all its wounds.
18 "Like the [a]overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah with its neighbors," says the LORD,
"[b]no one will live there, nor will a son of man reside in it.
19 "[a]Behold, one will come up like a lion from the [1][b]thickets of the Jordan against [2]a perennially watered pasture; for in an instant
I will make him run away from it, and whoever is [c]chosen I shall appoint over it. For who is [d]like Me, and who will summon Me into court? And who then is the shepherd
[e]who can stand against Me?"
20 Therefore hear the [a]plan of the LORD which He has planned against Edom, and

49:6 See 48:47; see also note on 29:14.

49:7–22 Shares many memorable phrases and concepts with the book of Obadiah.

49:7 Concerning Edom. See Is 21:11–12; Ezek 25:12–14; Amos 1:11–12; Obad 1–16. wisdom. For which Edom was justly famed (see notes on Job 1:1; 2:11). Teman. An important Edomite town located south of the Dead Sea (see note on Job 2:11). In v. 20 it is used in parallelism with Edom itself.

49:8 Flee away, turn back. See v. 24; 46:21. Dedan. See 25:23; see also notes on Is 21:13; Ezek 25:13. Esau. The patriarch Jacob's brother, and another name for Edom (see Gen 25:29–30; 36:1), just as Israel was another name for Jacob (see Gen 32:28). The fact that Esau was Jacob's brother made Edom's enmity toward Israel all the more reprehensible (see Amos 1:11; Obad 10).

49:9–10 Paralleled in Obad 5–6.

49:9 grape gatherers. See note on v. 13. leave gleanings. For the poor to glean (see note on Ruth 2:2).

49:10 stripped . . . bare. See note on 13:22. is no more. See 31:15; Is 19:7.

49:12 Echoed from 25:28–29. those . . . not sentenced to drink . . . will certainly drink. Though they are God's chosen ones, the people of Judah will be punished because of their sin (see Amos 3:2).

49:13 sworn by Myself. See notes on Gen 22:16; Is 45:23; see also 22:5; 51:14. Bozrah. Not the Bozrah of 48:24 (see note there); the Edomite Bozrah was probably the capital of Edom in the days of Jeremiah (see v. 22; Gen 36:33; see also notes on Is 34:6; Amos 1:12). The Hebrew root underlying Bozrah is the same as that for "grape gatherers" in v. 9. ruin . . . curse. See 25:18. perpetual ruins. See 25:9; Ps 74:3; Is 58:12 and note.

49:14–16 Paralleled in Obad 1–4.

49:16 arrogance. Edom's besetting sin (see v. 4; Obad 11–13; cf. 48:29–30). rock. Perhaps a reference to Petra (see note on 2 Kin 14:7), the most spectacular of the mountain strongholds for which Edom was noted.

49:17 Echoed from 19:8.

49:18 Repeated almost verbatim in 50:40, and echoed in part in v. 33. overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah. See Gen 19:24–25. Later calamities were often compared with the one that befell Sodom and Gomorrah (see note on Amos 4:11). its neighbors. Primarily Admah and Zeboiim (see Gen 14:2,8; Deut 29:23; Hos 11:8).

49:19–21 Repeated almost verbatim in the oracle against Babylon (see 50:44–46).

49:19 thickets of the Jordan. See 12:5 and note. shepherd. Ruler (see note on 2:8).

His purposes which He has purposed against the inhabitants of Teman: surely they will drag them off, even the little ones of the flock; surely He will make their [1]pasture [b]desolate because of them.

21 The [a]earth has quaked at the noise of their downfall. There is an outcry! The noise of it has been heard at the [1]Red Sea.

22 Behold, [1]He will mount up and [a]swoop like an eagle and spread out His wings [2]against Bozrah; and the [b]hearts of the mighty men of Edom in that day will be like the heart of a woman in labor.

Prophecy against Damascus

23 Concerning [a]Damascus.
"[b]Hamath and [c]Arpad are put to shame,
For they have heard bad news;
They are [d]disheartened.
There is anxiety by the sea,
It [e]cannot be calmed.
24 "Damascus has become helpless;
She has turned away to flee,
And panic has gripped her;
[a]Distress and pangs have taken hold of her
Like a woman in childbirth.
25 "How [1]the [a]city of praise has not been deserted,
The town of My joy!
26 "Therefore, her [a]young men will fall in her streets,
And all the men of war will be [1]silenced in that day," declares the LORD of hosts.
27 "I will [a]set fire to the wall of Damascus,
And it will devour the [1]fortified towers of [b]Ben-hadad."

Prophecy against Kedar and Hazor

28 Concerning [a]Kedar and the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon defeated. Thus says the LORD,
"Arise, go up to Kedar
And devastate the [1][b]men of the east.

Nor will a son of man reside in it."

Prophecy against Elam

34 That which came as the word of the LORD to Jeremiah the prophet concerning [a]Elam, [b]at the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, saying:
35 "Thus says the LORD of hosts,
'Behold, I am going to [a]break the bow of Elam,
The [1]finest of their might.
36 'I will bring upon Elam the [a]four winds
From the four ends of heaven,

35 [1]Lit first [a]Ps 46:9; Is 22:6; Jer 51:56 36 [a]Dan 7:2; 8:8; Rev 7:1

49:20 Teman. See note on v. 7. flock. The people of Edom.
49:22 Echoed from 48:40–41. eagle. Represents Nebuchadnezzar in 48:40 (see note there), and probably here also. A more complete subjugation of the Edomites, however, was accomplished by Nabatean Arabs (perhaps the "jackals of the wilderness" of Mal 1:3) beginning c. 550 B.C. Bozrah. See note on v. 13.
49:23 Concerning Damascus. See Is 17; Amos 1:3–5 (see also note on Is 17:1). Hamath. An important city in the kingdom of Aram (see Is 10:9 and note). Arpad. See note on Is 10:9. anxiety by the sea. See Is 57:20.
49:24 Distress. See note on 4:19.
49:26 Repeated almost verbatim in 50:30.
49:27 A conventional word of judgment (see note on Amos 1:4).
49:28 Concerning Kedar. See Is 21:13–17; see also 2:10 and note. kingdoms of Hazor. See vv. 30,33; not the Hazor north of the Sea of Galilee (see Josh 11:1). These kingdoms may have included Dedan, Tema, Buz and other Arab regions (see 25:23–24 and notes), since the Hebrew root of the proper name Hazor often serves as a common noun meaning "settlement" (see especially Is 42:11; see also Gen 25:16). Nebuchadnezzar . . . defeated. In 599–598 B.C. men of the east. See Job 1:3; Ezek 25:4. The Hebrew for this phrase is translated "sons of the east" in Judg 6:3 (see note there).
49:29 Terror on every side! See note on 6:25.
49:30 Dwell in the depths. See v. 8.
49:31 at ease. Completely secure (see Job 21:23). securely. In safety, unsuspecting (see Judg 18:7; Ezek 38:11). has no gates or bars. Lives in unwalled villages (see Deut 3:5; cf. 1 Sam 23:7). alone. A condition that elsewhere characterizes Israel (see Num 23:9; Deut 33:28).
49:32 scatter to all the winds. See Ezek 5:12; 12:4. who cut the corners of their hair. See note on 9:26. disaster from every side. Contrast the description of Solomon's realm in 1 Kin 5:4.
49:33 haunt of jackals. See note on 9:11. No one . . . reside in it. Repeated verbatim from v. 18.
49:34 the word of the LORD . . . concerning. See note on 46:1. Elam. See note on Is 11:11. Zedekiah. Ruled 597–586 B.C.
49:35 bow. The Elamites were skilled archers (see Is 22:6).
49:36 Contrast Is 11:12. to all these winds. In every direction

And will [b]scatter them to all these winds;
And there will be no nation
To which the outcasts of Elam will not go.
37 'So I will [1]shatter Elam before their enemies
And before those who seek their lives;
And I will [a]bring calamity upon them,
Even My [b]fierce anger,' declares the LORD,
'And I will [c]send out the sword after them
Until I have consumed them.
38 'Then I will set My throne in Elam
And destroy [1]out of it king and princes,'
Declares the LORD.
39 'But it will come about in the last days
That I will [a]restore the [1]fortunes of Elam,' "
Declares the LORD.

Prophecy against Babylon

50 The word which the LORD spoke concerning [a]Babylon, the land of the Chaldeans, through Jeremiah the prophet:
2 "[a]Declare and proclaim among the nations.
Proclaim it and [b]lift up a standard.
Do not conceal it but say,
'[c]Babylon has been captured,
[d]Bel has been put to shame, [1]Marduk has been [2]shattered;
Her [e]images have been put to shame, her idols have been shattered.'
3 "For a nation has come up against her out of the [a]north; it will make her land [b]an object of horror, and there will be [c]no inhabitant in it. Both man and beast have wandered off, they have gone away!
4 "In those days and at that time," declares the LORD, "the sons of Israel will come, both they and the sons of Judah [a]as well; they will go along [b]weeping as they go, and it will be [c]the LORD their God they will seek.
5 "They will [a]ask for the way to Zion, turning their faces [1]in its direction; [2]they [3]will come that they may join themselves to the LORD in an [b]everlasting covenant that will not be forgotten.
6 "My people have become [a]lost sheep;
[b]Their shepherds have led them astray.
They have made them turn aside on the [c]mountains;
They have gone along from mountain to hill
And have forgotten their [d]resting place.
7 "All who came upon them have devoured them;
And their adversaries have said, '[a]We are not guilty,
Inasmuch as they have sinned against the LORD who is the [b]habitation of righteousness,
Even the LORD, the [c]hope of their fathers.'
8 "Wander away from the [a]midst of Babylon
And [1]go forth from the land of the Chaldeans;
Be also like male goats [2]at the head of the flock.
9 "For behold, I am going to [a]arouse and bring up against Babylon
A horde of great nations from the land of the north,
And they will draw up their battle lines against her;
From there she will be taken captive.
Their arrows will be like [1]an expert warrior
Who does not return empty-handed.

49:37 I will send out . . . have consumed them. The Hebrew for this sentence is repeated verbatim from 9:16.

49:38 set My throne in. See 1:15 and note.

49:39 See note on 29:14.

50:1–51:64 See Is 13:1–14:23; 21:1–9. Jeremiah's prophecy concerning Babylon is by far the longest of his oracles against foreign nations (chs. 46–51) and expands on his earlier and briefer statements (see 25:12–14,26). Its date, in whole or in part, is 593 B.C. (see 51:59 and note). The two chapters divide into three main sections (50:2–28; 50:29–51:26; 51:27–58), each of which begins with a summons concerning war against Babylon, Judah's mortal enemy (see 50:2–3; 50:29–32; 51:27–32).

50:1 word. Or "message" (as in 46:13), comprising chs. 50–51. through. See 37:2. The message would eventually be sent by the prophet to Babylon itself (see 51:59–61).

50:2 Declare and proclaim. See 4:5; 46:14. lift up a standard. See note on Is 5:26. See 4:6. Babylon has been captured. Fulfilled in 539 B.C. Bel. See 51:44; Is 46:1 and note. put to shame . . . shattered. The repetition of each of these phrases emphasizes that the chief god of Babylon and his images and idols are alike doomed. Her . . . her. Babylon's. idols. Lit. "little pellets of dung." Derogatory references concerning idols and idolatry are common in the OT (see, e.g., Is 44:9–20).

50:3 nation . . . out of the north. In Jeremiah, the foe from the north is almost always Babylon (see, e.g., 1:14–15). Here, however, the reference is probably to Persia. Babylon's nemesis is expanded to "A horde of great nations" in v. 9, specified by name in 51:27–28. man and beast have wandered off. See 33:12.

50:4 Israel . . . Judah as well. See note on 3:18. weeping. Tears of repentance (see 3:21–22; 31:9).

50:5 everlasting covenant. See 32:40 and note; see also 31:31–34; 33:20–21.

50:6 lost sheep. See Jesus' parable in Luke 15:3–7. shepherds. Rulers (see note on 2:8). mountain to hill. Places where pagan gods were worshiped (see note on 2:20). their resting place. The Lord (see v. 7).

50:7 hope of their fathers. See 14:8,22; Acts 28:20.

50:8 like male goats at the head of the flock. Judah would be among the first of the captive peoples to be released from exile in Babylon.

50:9 horde of great nations. See Is 13:4. They are named in 51:27–28 (see note on v. 3). not return empty-handed. See Is 55:11.

10 "[1][a]Chaldea will become plunder;
All who plunder her will have enough," declares the LORD.

11 "Because you are glad, because you are jubilant,
O you who [a]pillage My heritage,
Because you skip about [1]like a threshing [b]heifer
And neigh like [2]stallions,
12 Your [a]mother [1]will be greatly ashamed,
She who gave you birth [1]will be humiliated.
Behold, she will be the least of the nations,
A [b]wilderness, a parched land and a desert.
13 "Because of the indignation of the LORD she will [a]not be inhabited,
But she will be [b]completely desolate;
Everyone who passes by Babylon [c]will be horrified
And will hiss because of all her wounds.
14 "Draw up your battle lines against Babylon on every side,
All you who [1]bend the bow;
Shoot at her, do not be sparing with your arrows,
For she has [a]sinned against the LORD.
15 "Raise your battle cry against her on every side!
She has [a]given [1]herself up, her pillars have fallen,
Her [b]walls have been torn down.
For this is the [c]vengeance of the LORD:
Take vengeance on her;
[d]As she has done to others, so do to her.
16 "Cut off the [a]sower from Babylon
And the one who wields the sickle at the time of harvest;
From before [1]the [b]sword of the oppressor
[c]They will each turn back to his own people
And they will each flee to his own land.
17 "Israel is a [a]scattered [1]flock, the [b]lions have driven them away. The first one who devoured him was the [c]king of Assyria, and this last one who has broken his bones is [d]Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon.
18 "Therefore thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: 'Behold, I am going to punish the king of Babylon and his land, just as I [a]punished the king of Assyria.
19 'And I will [a]bring Israel back to his pasture and he will graze on Carmel and Bashan, and his [1]desire will be satisfied in the [b]hill country of Ephraim and Gilead.
20 'In those days and at that time,' declares the LORD, 'search will be made for the iniquity of Israel, but [a]there will be none; and for the sins of Judah, but they will not be found; for I will pardon those [b]whom I leave as a remnant.'
21 "Against the land of [1]Merathaim, go up against it,
And against the inhabitants of [2a]Pekod.
Slay and [3]utterly destroy them," declares the LORD,
"And do according to all that I have commanded you.
22 "The [a]noise of battle is in the land,
And great destruction.
23 "How the [a]hammer of the whole earth
Has been cut off and broken!
How Babylon has become
An object of horror among the nations!
24 "I [a]set a snare for you and you were also [b]caught, O Babylon,
While you yourself were not aware;

50:11 you. Babylon. My heritage. God's land and people (see 2:7; 12:7 and notes). skip about like a threshing heifer. See Mal 4:2. stallions. See note on 8:16.
50:12 mother. Either (1) the city or, more likely, (2) the land (see Is 50:1; Hos 2:5). least. Lit. "last." As Amalek, "first of the nations" (Num 24:20) to attack Israel, was destroyed, so Babylon, the last to attack Israel (up to Jeremiah's time), would be destroyed.
50:13 not be inhabited. See Is 13:20 and note. Everyone who passes . . . because of all her wounds. Said of Jerusalem in 19:8 and of Edom in 49:17.
50:14 you who bend the bow. Including the Medes (see Is 13:17–18).
50:15 Raise your battle cry. See Josh 6:16. vengeance of the LORD. See v. 28; 51:11. Though originating in His sovereign holiness, it was often carried out by His people (see Num 31:3).
50:16 sword of the oppressor. See 46:16. They will each . . . to his own land. The Hebrew for this passage has a parallel in Is 13:14. The captive peoples are warned to flee Babylon in order to avoid being cut down by her invaders.
50:17 scattered flock. See Joel 3:2. lions. Symbolic of Assyria and Babylon (see 4:7; Is 15:9 and notes). The first . . . was the king of Assyria. The Assyrians destroyed Israel (the northern kingdom) in 722–721 B.C. this last . . . is Nebuchadnezzar. The Babylonians destroyed Judah (the southern kingdom) in 586 B.C.
50:18 I punished the king of Assyria. Nineveh, the proud Assyrian capital, fell in 612 B.C., and Assyria herself was conquered by a coalition of Medes and Babylonians in 609.
50:19 Carmel. See Is 33:9 and note. Bashan. See note on Is 2:13. hill country of Ephraim. The lush mountainsides of central Israel (see Ezek 34:13–14). Gilead. See Num 32:1; Mic 7:14.
50:20 See 33:8 and note; see also 36:3; Mic 7:18–19.
50:21 Merathaim. Means "double rebellion [against the Lord]," perhaps referring to vv. 24,29 (see Judg 3:8; Is 40:2 and notes). It is probably a pun on the Babylonian word marratu, which sometimes referred to a region in southern Babylonia that was characterized by briny waters. Pekod. See Ezek 23:23; means "punishment [from the Lord]," a pun on Puqudu, the Babylonian name for an Aramean tribe living on the eastern bank of the lower Tigris River. utterly destroy. See v. 26; 25:9 and note; 51:3; see also note on Deut 2:34.
50:22 great destruction. See 4:6; 6:1; cf. 48:3; 51:54.
50:23 hammer of the whole earth. See note on Is 10:5. object of horror among the nations. The Hebrew for this sentence is repeated verbatim in 51:41.
50:24 caught . . . not aware. The Persian attack in 539 B.C.

You have been found and also seized
Because you have engaged in [c]conflict with the LORD."
25 The LORD has opened His armory
And has brought forth the [a]weapons of His indignation,
For it is a [b]work of the Lord [1]GOD of hosts
In the land of the Chaldeans.
26 Come to her from the [1]farthest border;
[a]Open up her barns,
Pile her up like heaps
And [2b]utterly destroy her,
Let nothing be left to her.
27 [a]Put all her young bulls to the sword;
Let them [b]go down to the slaughter!
Woe be upon them, for their [c]day has come,
The time of their punishment.
28 There is a [a]sound of fugitives and refugees from the land of Babylon,
To declare in Zion the [b]vengeance of the LORD our God,
Vengeance for His [c]temple.

29 "Summon [1]many against Babylon,
All those who [2]bend the bow:
Encamp against her on every side,
Let there be no escape[3].
Repay her according to her work;
[a]According to all that she has done, so do to her;
For she has become [b]arrogant against the LORD,
Against the Holy One of Israel.
30 "Therefore her [a]young men will fall in her streets,
And all her men of war will be [1b]silenced in that day," declares the LORD.
31 "Behold, [a]I am against you,
O [1]arrogant one,"
Declares the Lord [2]GOD of hosts,
"For your day has come,
The time [3]when I will punish you.

would catch the city of Babylon completely by surprise (see 51:8; Is 47:11).

50:25 weapons of His indignation. The nations (see 51:27–28) that the Lord would use to conquer Babylon (see Is 13:5 and note). a work of the Lord. See 48:10.

50:26 heaps. The Hebrew for this expression is used in Neh 4:2 to describe heaps of rubble that had been burned. utterly destroy her. By burning (see note on v. 21; see also Josh 11:11–13).

50:27 young bulls. The people of Babylon, including especially her fighting men (see Is 34:6–7 and notes). go down to the slaughter. See note on 48:15. time of their punishment. See 11:23; 23:12; 46:21.

50:28 fugitives and refugees. Jewish exiles who had fled the destruction overtaking Babylon. vengeance . . . Vengeance for His temple. See v. 15 and note; 46:10; 51:6. The conquest of Babylon was the Lord's response to Babylon's burning of the Jerusalem temple.

50:29 Repay her according to her work. Echoed from 25:14 (see 51:24). According to all that she has done. See v. 15. Holy One of Israel. A title of God found frequently in Isaiah (see note on Is 1:4), it occurs in Jeremiah only here and in 51:5.

50:30 Repeated almost verbatim from 49:26.

50:31–32 A distant echo of 21:13–14, spoken there to Jerusalem but here to Babylon.

50:33 all who took them captive. See Is 14:2. refused to let them go. Reminiscent of Pharaoh's repeated refusals before the exodus (see, e.g., Ex 7:14; 8:2,32; 9:2,7).

50:34 Redeemer. See 31:11 and note. plead their case. See 51:36. bring rest. See 31:2 and note; see also Is 14:3,7 and notes on Deut 3:20; Josh 1:13.

50:35–38 Cf. Ezek 21.

50:36 oracle priests . . . will become fools. The Hebrew words rendered "fool" in the OT usually denote one who is morally deficient. See Is 44:25; see also Num 12:11.

50:37 against their horses and . . . chariots. See Is 43:17; see also Ps 20:7. foreigners. See 25:20,24; Neh 13:3. will become women. See Nah 3:13.

50:38 idols. See 51:52; see also note on Is 21:9. are mad. See 25:16 and note.

40 "As when God overthrew [a]Sodom
And Gomorrah with its neighbors,"
declares the LORD,
"No man will live there,

north,
And a great nation and many kings
Will be aroused from the remote parts of the earth.
42 "They [a]seize their bow and javelin;
They are [b]cruel and have no mercy.
Their [c]voice roars like the sea;
And they ride on [d]horses,
[e]Marshalled like a man for the battle Against you, O daughter of Babylon.
43 "The [a]king of Babylon has heard the

Babylon Judged for Sins against Israel

51 Thus says the LORD:
"Behold, I am going to arouse against
Babylon
And against the inhabitants of
[1]Leb-kamai
[2]The [a]spirit of a destroyer.
2 "I will dispatch [1]foreigners to Babylon that they may [a]winnow her
And may devastate her land;
For on every side they will be opposed to her
In the day of her calamity.
3 "[1]Let not [2]him who [3][a]bends his bow
[3]bend it,
[1]Nor let him rise up in his [b]scale-armor;
So do not spare her young men;
Devote all her army to destruction.
4 "They will fall down [1]slain in the land of the Chaldeans,
And [a]pierced through in their streets."

5 For [a]neither Israel nor Judah has been [1]forsaken
By his God, the LORD of hosts,
Although their land is [b]full of guilt
[2]Before the Holy One of Israel.
6 [a]Flee from the midst of Babylon,
And each of you save his life!
Do not be [1][b]destroyed in her
[2]punishment,
For this is the [c]LORD's time of vengeance;
He is going to [d]render recompense to
her.
7 Babylon has been a golden [a]cup in the hand of the LORD,
Intoxicating all the earth.
The [b]nations have drunk of her wine;
Therefore the nations are [c]going mad.
8 Suddenly [a]Babylon has fallen and been broken;
[b]Wail over her!
[c]Bring [1]balm for her pain;
Perhaps she may be healed.

50:40 Repeated almost verbatim from 49:18 (see note there).
50:41–43 Repeated almost verbatim from 6:22–24 (see notes there). The earlier oracle, referring to Jerusalem, is here applied to Babylon.
50:44–46 Repeated almost verbatim from 49:19–21 (see notes there). The oracle against Edom is here applied to Babylon.
51:1 arouse . . . The spirit. See 1 Chr 5:26; Hag 1:14. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "stirred up . . . the spirit of" in 2 Chr 21:16. Leb-kamai. Lit. "the heart of my attackers" (cf. Rev 17:5, where Babylon is called "the mother of harlots and of the abominations of the earth"). For Leb-kamai as a cryptogram for Chaldea (Babylon), see note on 25:26. destroyer. See note on 4:7; here including the "kings of the Medes" (v. 11).
51:2 foreigners . . . may winnow her. The Hebrew for this phrase is an excellent example of alliteration and assonance (see Introduction: Literary Features).
51:3 Devote . . . to destruction. See note on 25:9. See also note on Deut 2:34.
51:4 fall . . . in their streets. See 49:26; 50:30.
51:5 forsaken. Lit. "widowed"; contrast Is 54:4,6–7 and notes. Holy One of Israel. See note on 50:29.
51:6 Flee . . . each of you save his life! See v. 45; 48:6. This was spoken to the people of Judah (as in 50:8). the LORD's time of vengeance. See note on 50:15. render recompense to her. See Is 59:18; 66:6.
51:7 See 25:15–16 and notes. Babylon . . . a golden cup. See note on Dan 2:32–43.
51:8 Babylon has fallen. See Is 21:9 and note. balm. See note on 8:22.

9 We applied healing to Babylon, but she was not healed;
Forsake her and [a]let us each go to his own country,
For her judgment has [b]reached to heaven
And [1]towers up to the very skies.
10 The LORD has [a]brought [1]about our vindication;
Come and let us [b]recount in Zion
The work of the LORD our God!

11 [a]Sharpen the arrows, fill the quivers!
The LORD has aroused the spirit of the kings of the Medes,
Because His purpose is against
Babylon to destroy it;
For it is the [b]vengeance of the LORD,
vengeance for His temple.
12 [a]Lift up a [1]signal against the walls of Babylon;
Post a strong guard,
Station [2]sentries,
Place men in ambush!
For the LORD has both [b]purposed and performed
What He spoke concerning the inhabitants of Babylon.
13 O you who [a]dwell by many waters,
Abundant in [b]treasures,
Your end has come,
The [1]measure of your [2c]end.
14 The [a]LORD of hosts has sworn by Himself:
"Surely I will fill you with a
[1]population like [b]locusts,
And they will cry out with [2]shouts of victory over you."

15 It is [a]He who made the earth by His power,
Who established the world by His
wisdom,
And by His understanding He
[b]stretched out the heavens.
16 When He utters His [a]voice, there is a tumult of waters in the heavens,
And He causes the [b]clouds to ascend
from the end of the earth;
He makes lightning for the rain
And brings forth the [c]wind from His storehouses.
17 [a]All mankind is stupid, devoid of knowledge;
Every goldsmith is put to shame by
his [1]idols,
For his molten images are [b]deceitful,
And there is no breath in them.
18 They are [a]worthless, a work of
mockery;
In the time of their punishment they
will perish.
19 The [a]portion of Jacob is not like these;
For the [1]Maker of all is He,
And of the [2]tribe of His inheritance;
The [b]LORD of hosts is His name.
20 He says, "You are My [1a]war-club, My weapon of war;
And with you I [b]shatter nations,
And with you I destroy kingdoms.
21 "With you I [a]shatter the horse and his rider,
And with you I shatter the [b]chariot
and its rider,
22 And with you I shatter [a]man and woman,
And with you I shatter old man and [b]youth,
And with you I shatter young man
and virgin,
23 And with you I shatter the shepherd and his flock,
And with you I shatter the farmer and his team,
And with you I shatter governors and prefects.
24 "But I will repay Babylon and all the inhabitants of [a]Chaldea for [b]all their evil that they have done in Zion before your eyes,"
declares the LORD.
25 "Behold, [a]I am against you,

51:9 The speakers are the nations conquered by Babylon. each go to his own country. See 50:16 and note. her judgment. Her sin, deserving of judgment. reached to heaven . . . up to the very skies. Poetic exaggeration (see Deut 1:28; Ps 57:10; 108:4).
51:10 Judah speaks (see 50:28). The LORD has brought . . . vindication. See Ps 37:6.
51:11 aroused. Lit."stirred up the spirit of" (see note on v. 1). Medes. See v. 28; Is 13:17 and note; Is 21:2; Dan 5:28,31; 6:8,12,15; 8:20. vengeance . . . vengeance for His temple. See note on 50:28.
51:12 Place men in ambush! To keep defenders from retreating to the safety of their fortifications (see Josh 8:14–22; Judg 20:29–39).
51:13 many waters. The "rivers of Babylon" (Ps 137:1), including the mighty Euphrates along with a magnificent system of irrigation canals, were proverbial. measure of your end. Like a thread from the loom (see Is 38:12).
51:14 sworn by Himself. See note on Gen 22:16. like locusts. See 46:23. cry out with . . . victory. See note on 48:33.
51:15–19 Repeated almost verbatim from 10:12–16 (see notes there).
51:20–23 Illustrates Jeremiah's fondness for the effective use of repetition (see 4:23–26; see also Introduction: Literary Features).
51:20 You are My war-club. Cf. Prov 25:18; either (1) Cyrus of Persia, soon to conquer Babylon, or, more likely, (2) Babylon, destroyer of nations (see 50:23; see also note on Is 10:5). shatter. See vv. 21–23. The Hebrew root for this verb is the same as that for "war-club." See also Ex 15:6. The Hebrew verb is translated "dash (to pieces)" in Ps 137:9; Hos 10:14; 13:16.
51:24 repay . . . for all their evil that they have done. See v. 6; 50:15,29. your. Judah's.
51:25 destroying mountain. Symbolizes a powerful kingdom (see Dan 2:35,44–45), here Babylon. burnt out mountain. After being judged by the Lord, Babylon will be like an extinct volcano.

Who destroys the whole earth,"
declares the LORD,
"And I will stretch out My hand against you,
And roll you down from the crags,
And I will make you a [c]burnt out mountain.
26 "They will not take from you even a stone for a corner
Nor a stone for foundations,
But you will be [a]desolate forever,"
declares the LORD.

27 [a]Lift up a [1]signal in the land,
Blow a trumpet among the nations!
Consecrate the nations against her,
Summon against her the [b]kingdoms of [c]Ararat, Minni and [d]Ashkenaz;
Appoint a marshal against her,
Bring up the [e]horses like bristly locusts.
28 Consecrate the nations against her,
The kings of the Medes,
[1]Their governors and all [1]their [2]prefects,
And every land of [3]their dominion.
29 So the [a]land quakes and writhes,
For the purposes of the LORD against Babylon stand,
To make the land of Babylon
[1]A [b]desolation without inhabitants.
30 The [a]mighty men of Babylon have ceased fighting,
They stay in the strongholds;
[b]Their strength is [1]exhausted,
They are becoming [b]like women;
Their dwelling places are set on fire,
The [c]bars of her gates are broken.
31 One [1][a]courier runs to meet [1]another,
And one [2][b]messenger to meet [2]another,
To tell the king of Babylon
That his city has been captured from end to end;
32 The fords also have been seized,
And they have burned the marshes with fire,
And the men of war are terrified.

33 For thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel:
"The daughter of Babylon is like a [a]threshing floor
At the time [1]it is stamped firm;
Yet in a little while the time of [b]harvest will come for her."

34 "Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon has [a]devoured me and crushed me,
He has set me down like an [b]empty vessel;
He has [c]swallowed me like a monster,
He has filled his stomach with my delicacies;
He has washed me away.
35 "May the [a]violence done to me and to my flesh be upon Babylon,"
The [1]inhabitant of Zion will say;
And, "May my blood be upon the inhabitants of Chaldea,"
Jerusalem will say.
36 Therefore thus says the LORD,
"Behold, I am going to [a]plead your case
And [b]exact full vengeance for you;
And [c]I will dry up her [1]sea
And make her fountain dry.
37 "[a]Babylon will become a heap of ruins, a haunt of jackals,
An [b]object of horror and hissing, without inhabitants.
38 "They will roar together like [a]young lions,
They will growl like lions' cubs.
39 "When they become heated up, I will serve them their banquet
And [a]make them drunk, that they may become jubilant
And may [b]sleep a perpetual sleep
And not wake up," declares the LORD.
40 "I will bring them down like [1]lambs [a]to the slaughter,
Like rams together with male goats.

59 The [1]message which Jeremiah the prophet commanded Seraiah the son of [a]Neriah, the grandson of Mahseiah, when he went with [b]Zedekiah the king of Judah to Babylon in the fourth year of his reign. (Now Seraiah was quartermaster.)

60 So Jeremiah [a]wrote in a single [1]scroll all the calamity which would come upon Babylon, that is, all these words which have been written concerning Babylon.

61 Then Jeremiah said to Seraiah, "As soon as you come to Babylon, then see that you read all these words aloud,

62 and say, 'You, O LORD, have [1]promised concerning this place to [a]cut it off, so that there will be [b]nothing dwelling in it, [2]whether man or beast, but it will be a perpetual desolation.'

63 " And as soon as you finish reading this [1]scroll, you will tie a stone to it and [a]throw it into the middle of the Euphrates, 64 and say, 'Just so shall Babylon sink down and [a]not rise again because of the calamity that I am going to bring upon her; and they will become [b]exhausted.' " [c]Thus far are the words of Jeremiah.

The Fall of Jerusalem

52 [a]Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem; and his mother's name was [1][b]Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of [c]Libnah.

2 He did [a]evil in the sight of the LORD like all that [b]Jehoiakim had done.

3 For through the [a]anger of the LORD this came about in Jerusalem and Judah until He cast them out from His presence. And Zedekiah [b]rebelled against the king of Babylon.

4 [a]Now it came about in the ninth year of his reign, on the tenth day of the tenth month, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came, he and all his army, against Jerusalem, camped against it and built a [b]siege wall all around [1]it.

5 [a]So the city was under siege until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah.

6 On the ninth day of the [a]fourth month the [b]famine was so severe in the city that there was no food for the people of the land.

7 Then the city was [a]broken into, and all the [b]men of war fled and went forth from the city at night by way of the gate between the two walls which was by the king's garden, though the Chaldeans were [1][c]all around the city. And they went by way of the Arabah.

8 But the army of the Chaldeans pursued the king and [a]overtook Zedekiah in the [1]plains of Jericho, and all his army was scattered from him.

9 Then they captured the king and [a]brought him up to the king of Babylon at [b]Riblah in the land of [c]Hamath, and he [1]passed sentence on him.

10 The king of Babylon [a]slaughtered the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes, and he also slaughtered all the [1]princes of Judah in Riblah.

11 Then he [a]blinded the eyes of Zedekiah; and the king of Babylon bound him with bronze fetters and brought him to Babylon and put him in prison until the day of his death.

12 [a]Now on the tenth day of the fifth month, which was the [b]nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, [c]Nebuzaradan the captain of the bodyguard, [1]who was in the service of the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem.

51:58 broad wall. See note on v. 44. high gates. The famous Ishtar Gate was almost 40 feet high. the peoples . . . only for fire. Very similar to Hab 2:13.

51:59–64 A prose conclusion to the book in general and to the oracle against Babylon in particular.

51:59 Seraiah the son of Neriah. An ancient seal has been found that bears the inscription "Belonging to Seraiah son of Neriah," and it no doubt refers to the man mentioned here. He was a brother of Jeremiah's secretary, Baruch (see 32:12). he. Seraiah. Zedekiah . . . fourth year. 593 B.C. Zedekiah may have been summoned to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar to be interrogated by him (see note on 27:3). quartermaster. Lit. "resting-place officer" (see Num 10:33), the official responsible for determining when and where his men on the march should stay overnight.

51:60 scroll. See note on Ex 17:14. all . . . which have been written concerning Babylon. Probably the oracle of 50:2–51:58 (see note on 50:1).

51:62 You . . . have promised. See v. 26.

51:64 Thus far are the words of Jeremiah. A note by the final compiler of the book of Jeremiah (see 48:47).

52:1–27,31–34 Paralleled almost verbatim in 2 Kin 24:18–25:21,27–30 (see notes there). (52:4–27 is summarized in 39:1–10; see notes there.) The writer(s) of Kings and the writer of the appendix to Jeremiah (perhaps Baruch) doubtless had access to the same sources. It is unlikely that either of the two accounts copied from the other, since each has peculiarities characteristic of the larger work that it concludes. In a few passages, Jeremiah is fuller than Kings (compare especially vv. 10–11 with 2 Kin 25:7; v. 15 with 2 Kin 25:11; vv. 19–23 with 2 Kin 25:15–17; v. 31 with 2 Kin 25:27; v. 34 with 2 Kin 25:30).

52:1 Jeremiah. Not the prophet.

52:12 tenth day. The parallel in 2 Kin 25:8 reads "seventh day"; one of the numbers is a copyist's error, but we cannot tell which (see vv. 22,25,31).

13 He [a]burned the house of the LORD, the [b]king's house and all the houses of Jerusalem; even every large house he burned with fire.

14 So all the army of the Chaldeans who were with the captain of the guard [a]broke down all the walls around Jerusalem.

15 Then Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard [a]carried away into exile some of the poorest of the people, the rest of the people who were left in the city, the [1][b]deserters who had deserted to the king of Babylon and the rest of the artisans.

16 But [a]Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard left some of the poorest of the land to be vinedressers and [1]plowmen.

17 Now the bronze [a]pillars which belonged to the house of the LORD and the [b]stands and the bronze [c]sea, which were in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans broke in pieces and carried all their bronze to Babylon.

18 They also took away the [a]pots, the shovels, the snuffers, the basins, the [1]pans and all the bronze vessels which were used in temple service.

19 The captain of the guard also took away the [a]bowls, the firepans, the basins, the pots, the lampstands, the [1]pans and the drink offering bowls, what was fine gold and what was fine silver.

20 The two pillars, the one sea, and the twelve bronze bulls that were under [1]the sea, and the stands, which King Solomon had made for the house of the LORD—the bronze of all these vessels was [a]beyond weight.

21 As for the pillars, the [a]height of each pillar was eighteen [1]cubits, and [2]it was twelve cubits in [a]circumference and four fingers in thickness, and hollow.

22 Now a [a]capital of bronze was on it; and the height of each capital was five cubits, with network and [b]pomegranates upon the capital all around, all of bronze. And the second pillar was like these, including pomegranates.

23 There were ninety-six [1]exposed pomegranates; all [a]the pomegranates numbered a hundred on the network all around.

24 Then the captain of the guard took [a]Seraiah the chief priest and [b]Zephaniah the second priest, with the three [1][c]officers of the temple.

25 He also took from the city one official who was overseer of the men of war, and seven [1]of the [a]king's advisers who were found in the city, and the scribe of the commander of the army who mustered the people of the land, and sixty men of the people of the land who were found in the midst of the city.

26 Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard took them and [a]brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah.

27 Then the king of Babylon [a]struck them down and put them to death at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Judah was [b]led away into exile from its land.

28 These are the people whom [a]Nebuchadnezzar carried away into exile: in the [1]seventh year 3,023 Jews;

29 in the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar 832 persons from Jerusalem;

30 in the twenty-third year of Nebuchadnezzar, [a]Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried into exile 745 Jewish people; there were 4,600 persons in all.

31 [a]Now it came about in the thirty-seventh year of the exile of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-fifth of the month, that [1]Evil-merodach king of Babylon, in the first year of his reign, [2][b]showed favor to Jehoiachin king of Judah and brought him out of prison.

32 [a]Then he spoke kindly to him and set his throne above the thrones of the kings who were with him in Babylon.

33 So [1]Jehoiachin [a]changed his prison clothes, and [2][b]had his meals in [3]the king's presence regularly all the days of his life.

34 For his allowance, a [a]regular allowance was given him by the king of Babylon, a daily portion all the days of his life until the day of his death.

52:22 five cubits. About 7 1/2 feet. The parallel in 2 Kin 25:17 reads "three cubits" (about 4 1/2 feet; see note there), probably a copyist's error.

52:25 seven. The parallel in 2 Kin 25:19 reads "five"; see note on v. 12.

52:28 seventh year. Of Nebuchadnezzar's reign (see vv. 29–30), which was 597 B.C. 3,023. Probably includes only adult males, since the corresponding figure(s) in 2 Kin 24:14,16 are significantly higher.

52:29 eighteenth year. 586 B.C. In v. 12 the same year is called the "nineteenth year"; the difference is due to alternate ways of computing regnal years (for a similar case see note on Dan 1:1).

52:30 twenty-third year. 581 B.C. Nebuzaradan . . . carried into exile. Either (1) to quell further rebellion (see v. 3), or (2) in belated reprisal for Gedaliah's assassination (see 41:1–3).

52:31–34 Paralleled almost verbatim in 2 Kin 25:27–30 (see notes there). Jeremiah and Kings thus conclude with the same happy ending.

52:31 twenty-fifth. The parallel in 2 Kin 25:27 reads "twenty-seventh"; see note on v. 12.

52:34 until the day of his death. See v. 11. Since the phrase does not appear in the parallel verses in 2 Kings in either case, its intention is probably to highlight the contrast between Zedekiah, who remained in prison till the day he died (see v. 11), and Jehoiachin, who was released from prison and treated well by the Babylonian kings till the day he died.

Lamentations

INTRODUCTION

Title

The Hebrew title of the book is 'ekah ("How ...!"), the first word not only in 1:1 but also in 2:1; 4:1. Because of its subject matter, the book is also referred to in Jewish tradition as qinot, "Lamentations" (the title given to it in the Greek Septuagint and Latin Vulgate).

Author and Date

Although Lamentations is anonymous and we cannot be certain who wrote it, ancient Jewish and Christian tradition ascribes it to Jeremiah. This is partly on the basis of 2 Chr 35:25 (though the "Lamentations" are not to be identified with the OT book of Lamentations); partly on the basis of such texts as Jer 7:29; 8:21; 9:1,10,20; and partly because of the similarity of vocabulary and style between the books of Jeremiah and Lamentations. Also, since the prophet Jeremiah was an eyewitness to the divine judgment on Jerusalem in 586 B.C., it is reasonable to assume that he was the author of the book that so vividly portrays the event. Lamentations poignantly shares the overwhelming sense of loss that accompanied the destruction of the city, temple and ritual as well as the exile of Judah's inhabitants.

The earliest possible date for the book is 586 B.C., and the latest is 516 (when the rebuilt Jerusalem temple was dedicated). The graphic immediacy of Lamentations argues for an earlier date, probably before 575.

Literary Features

The entire book is poetic. Each of its five laments contains 22 verses (except the third, which has 66 verses—3 times 22), reflecting the number of letters in the Hebrew alphabet. Moreover, the first four are alphabetic acrostics (beginning in 1:1; 2:1; 3:1; 4:1). The first three laments are equal in length; in the first and second each verse (except 1:7) has three Hebrew lines, while in the third each of the 66 verses has one Hebrew line. The fourth is shorter (each of its 22 verses has two Hebrew lines), and the fifth is shorter still (each verse has one Hebrew line). Use of the alphabet as a formal structure indicates that, however passionate these laments, they were composed with studied care.

Themes and Theology

Lamentations is not the only OT book that contains individual or community laments. (A large number of the Psalms are lament poems, and every prophetic book except Haggai includes one or more examples of the lament genre.) However, it is the only book that consists solely of laments.

As a series of laments over the destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C., it stands in a tradition with such ancient non-Biblical writings as the Sumerian "Lamentation over the Destruction of Ur," "Lamentation over the Destruction of Sumer and Ur," and "Lamentation over the Destruction of Nippur." Orthodox Jews customarily read it aloud in its entirety on the ninth day of Ab, the traditional date of the destruction of Solomon's temple in 586 as well as the date of the destruction of Herod's temple in A.D. 70. Many also read it each week at the Western Wall (known also as the "Wailing Wall") in the Old City of Jerusalem. In addition the book is important in traditional Roman Catholic liturgy, where it is read during the last three days of Holy Week.

This latter tradition reminds us that the book of Lamentations describes Jerusalem's destruction not only for its own sake but also for the profound theological lessons to be learned from it. The horrors of 586 B.C. are not overlooked, of course:

1. Wholesale devastation and slaughter engulf kings (2:6,9; 4:20), princes (1:6; 2:2,9; 4:7–8; 5:12), elders (1:19; 2:10; 4:16; 5:12), priests (1:4,19; 2:6,20; 4:16), prophets (2:9,20) and commoners (2:10–12; 3:48; 4:6) alike.

2. Starving mothers are reduced to cannibalism (2:20; 4:10).

3. The flower of Judah's citizenry is dragged off into ignominious exile (1:3,18).

4. An elaborate system of ceremony and worship comes to an end (1:4,10).

But other matters, ultimately of far greater significance, are probed as well.

The author of Lamentations understands clearly that the Babylonians were merely the human agents of divine retribution and that God Himself has destroyed His city and temple (1:12–15; 2:1–8,17,22; 4:11). Nor was the Lord's action arbitrary; blatant, God-defying sin and covenant-breaking rebellion were the root causes of his people's woes (1:5,8–9; 4:13; 5:7,16). Although weeping (1:16; 2:11,18; 3:48–51) is to be expected and cries for redress against the enemy (1:22; 3:59–66) are understandable, the proper response in the wake of judgment is sincere, heartfelt contrition (3:40–42). The book that begins with lament (1:1–2) rightly ends in repentance (5:21–22).

In the middle of the book, the theology of Lamentations reaches its apex as it focuses on the goodness of God. He is the Lord of hope (3:21,24–25), of love (3:22), of faithfulness (3:23), of salvation (3:26). In spite of all evidence to the contrary, "His compassions never fail. They are new every morning; Great is Your faithfulness" (3:22–23).

The Sorrows of Zion

1 How [a]lonely sits the city
That was [b]full of people!
She has become like a [c]widow
Who was once [d]great among the nations!
She who was a princess among the [1]provinces
Has become a [e]forced laborer!
2 She [a]weeps bitterly in the night
And her tears are on her cheeks;
She has none to comfort her
Among all her [b]lovers.
All her friends have [c]dealt treacherously with her;
They have become her enemies.
3 [a]Judah has gone into exile [1]under affliction
And [1]under [2]harsh servitude;
She dwells [b]among the nations,
But she has found no rest;
All [c]her pursuers have overtaken her
In the midst of [3]distress.
4 The roads [1]of Zion are in mourning
Because [a]no one comes to the appointed feasts.
All her gates are [b]desolate;
Her priests are groaning,
Her [c]virgins are afflicted,
And she herself [2]is [d]bitter.
5 Her adversaries have become [1]her masters,
Her enemies [2]prosper;
For the LORD has [a]caused her grief
Because of the multitude of her transgressions;
Her little ones have gone away
As captives before the adversary.
6 All her [a]majesty
Has departed from the daughter of Zion;
Her princes have become like deer
That have found no pasture;
And they have [1][b]fled without strength
Before the pursuer.
7 In the days of her affliction and homelessness
[a]Jerusalem remembers all her precious things
That were from the days of old,
When her people fell into the hand of the adversary
And [b]no one helped her.
The adversaries saw her,
They [c]mocked at her [1]ruin.
8 Jerusalem sinned [a]greatly,
Therefore [b]she has become an unclean thing.
All who honored her despise her
Because they have seen her nakedness;
Even [c]she herself groans and turns away.
9 Her [a]uncleanness was in her skirts;
She [1]did not consider her [b]future.
Therefore she has [2][c]fallen astonishingly;
[d]She has no comforter.
"[e]See, O LORD, my affliction,
For the enemy has [f]magnified himself!"
10 The adversary has stretched out his hand
Over all her precious things,
For she has seen the [a]nations enter her sanctuary,
The ones whom You commanded
That they should [b]not enter into Your congregation.
11 All her people groan [a]seeking bread;
They have given their precious things for food
To [b]restore their [1]lives themselves.
"See, O LORD, and look,
For I am [c]despised."

1:1 How . . . ! Expresses a mixture of shock and despair (see 2:1; 4:1–2; Is 1:21; Jer 48:17). lonely sits. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "sat alone" in Jer 15:17. There the prophet sat alone; here his beloved city does the same. city. Jerusalem. was full of people. See Is 1:21. full . . . great. The Hebrew is the same for both words. great among the nations. Contrast Jer 49:15. forced laborer. See Ex 1:11; 1 Kin 4:6.

1:2 She weeps bitterly. As did Jeremiah, and for much the same reason (see Jer 13:17). in the night. See 2:18–19. none to comfort her. See vv. 9,16–17,21. lovers . . . friends. Political allies (see, e.g., Jer 2:36–37; 27:3). All . . . have dealt treacherously with her. See v. 19; like Edom (see 4:21–22; Ps 137:7) and Ammon (see Jer 40:14; Ezek 25:2–3,6). become her enemies. See v. 17.

1:3 among the nations . . . found no rest. As Moses warned in Deut 28:65.

1:4 in mourning. Deserted and desolate (see Judg 5:6; Is 33:8 and notes). appointed feasts. See Ex 23:14–17 and notes; Lev 23:2. virgins are afflicted. A sign of utter defeat (contrast Ex 15:20 and note; Judg 21:19,21; Ps 68:25; Jer 31:13).

1:5 masters. Lit. "head"—in accordance with Deut 28:44 (contrast Deut 28:13). prosper. See Jer 12:1.

1:6 daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants. Her princes . . . have fled . . . Before the pursuer. See Jer 52:7–8.

1:7 affliction and homelessness. See 3:19. precious things. See vv. 10–11. days of old. For example, the days of David and Solomon. fell into the hand of the adversary. See 2 Sam 24:14. ruin. Lit. "cessation." The Hebrew root for this word is the same as that for "sabbath"—and may be intended as an ironic pun (see Lev 26:34–35).

1:8 unclean. See v. 17 and note. It refers to the ceremonial uncleanness of a woman during her monthly period (see Lev 12:2,5; 15:19); Jerusalem is here personified as a woman (see v. 6).

1:9 uncleanness. Ceremonial uncleanness (see note on Lev 4:12), here caused by willful sin. did not consider her future. See Is 47:7. See, O LORD. See vv. 11,20. enemy has magnified himself. See v. 16.

1:10 commanded . . . not enter into Your congregation. See Ezek 44:7,9.

1:11 seeking bread. Food shortages were an ever-present problem during and after the siege of Jerusalem. restore their lives. See v. 19; 1 Sam 30:12.

12 "Is [a]it nothing to all you who pass this way?
Look and see if there is any [1]pain like my [1]pain
Which was severely dealt out to me,
Which the [b]LORD inflicted on the day of His [c]fierce anger.
13 "From on high He sent fire into my [a]bones,
And it [1]prevailed over them.
He has spread a [b]net for my feet;
He has turned me back;
He has made me [c]desolate,
[2]Faint all day long.
14 "The [a]yoke of my transgressions is bound;
By His hand they are knit together.
They have [b]come upon my neck;
He has made my strength [1]fail.
The Lord [c]has given me into the hands
Of those against whom I am not able to stand.
15 "The [a]Lord has rejected all my strong men
In my midst;
He has called an appointed [1]time against me
To crush my [b]young men;
The Lord has [c]trodden as in a wine press
The virgin daughter of Judah.
16 "For these things I [a]weep;
[1]My eyes run down with water;
Because far from me is a [b]comforter,
One who restores my soul.
My children are desolate
Because the enemy has prevailed."
17 Zion [a]stretches out her hands;
There is no one to comfort her;
The LORD has [b]commanded concerning Jacob
That the ones round about him should be his adversaries;
[c]Jerusalem has become an unclean thing among them.
18 "The LORD is [a]righteous;
For I have [b]rebelled against His [1]command;
Hear now, all peoples,
And [c]behold my [2]pain;
[d]My virgins and my young men
Have gone into captivity.
19 "I [a]called to my lovers, but they deceived me;
My [b]priests and my elders perished in the city
While they sought food to [c]restore [1]their strength themselves.
20 "See, O LORD, for I am in distress;
My [1][a]spirit is greatly troubled;
My heart is overturned within me,
For I have been very [b]rebellious.
In the street the sword [2]slays;
In the house it is like death.
21 "They have heard that I [a]groan;
There is no one to comfort me;
All my enemies have heard of my [1]calamity;
They are [b]glad that You have done it.
Oh, that You would bring the day which You have proclaimed,
That they may become [c]like me.
22 "Let all their wickedness come before You;
And [a]deal with them as You have dealt with me
For all my transgressions;
For my groans are many and my heart is faint."

God's Anger over Israel

2 How the Lord has [a]covered the daughter of Zion
With a cloud in His anger!
He has [b]cast from heaven to earth
The [c]glory of Israel,

12 [1]Or sorrow [a]Jer 18:16; 48:27 [b]Jer 30:23, 24 [c]Is 13:13; Jer 4:8

2:1 [a]Ezek 30:18 [b]Is 14:12-15; Ezek 28:14-16 [c]Is 64:11

1:12 See v. 18. Up to this point, the author has been the main speaker. Now, at the halfway mark of ch. 1, the main speaker changes to Jerusalem personified. fierce anger. See 2:3,6; 4:11. The Hebrew for this expression is common in Jeremiah (see Jer 4:8,26; 12:13; 25:37–38; 44:6; 49:37; 51:45).
1:13 From on high He sent fire. See 1 Kin 18:38; 2 Kin 1:10,12,14; 2 Chr 7:1. my bones. The bones of Jerusalem (personified as a woman; see note on v. 8). In a strikingly similar image, the word of the Lord was like fire in the bones of the prophet (see Jer 20:9 and note). spread a net for my feet. See Ps 57:6; Prov 29:5. desolate. Like Absalom's sister Tamar (see 2 Sam 13:20).
1:15 trodden as in a wine press. A common metaphor of divine judgment (see Is 63:2–3; Joel 3:13; Rev 14:19–20; 19:15). virgin daughter of Judah. See 2:13; see also notes on 2 Kin 19:21; Jer 14:17.
1:16 eyes run down with water. See 3:48; Jer 9:18; 13:17; 14:17; see also Jer 9:1. enemy has prevailed. See v. 9.
1:17 be his adversaries. See v. 2. unclean thing. See note on v. 8; for the same imagery elsewhere see Ezra 9:11; Is 30:22; 64:6; Ezek 7:19–20; 36:17.
1:18 The LORD is righteous. See Deut 32:4; 2 Chr 12:6; Ps 119:137; Jer 12:1; see also note on Ps 4:1. rebelled against His command. See Num 20:24. Hear now, all peoples. See 1 Kin 22:28; Ps 49:1; Mic 1:2.
1:19 lovers . . . deceived me. See v. 2 and note. restore their strength themselves. See note on v. 11.
1:20 My spirit is greatly troubled. Repeated in 2:11. In the street . . . In the house. See Jer 14:18. The Sumerian "Lamentation over the Destruction of Ur" contains a striking parallel: "Inside it we die of famine, outside we are killed by weapons" (lines 403–404).
1:21 day which You have proclaimed. Day of God's judgment on the nations (see Jer 25:15–38).
1:22 wickedness . . . before You. See Ps 109:14–15. my heart is faint. The same expression is found in Jer 8:18; see Lam 5:17; Is 1:5.
2:1 How . . . ! See note on 1:1. daughter of Zion. See 1:6 and note. cast from . . . The glory of Israel. The imagery is that of a falling star (as in Is 14:12). footstool. Either (1) the ark of the covenant (see 1 Chr 28:2) or, more likely, (2) Mount Zion (see Ps 99:5,9).

And has not remembered His [d]footstool
In the day of His anger.
2 The Lord has [a]swallowed up; He has not spared
All the habitations of Jacob.
In His wrath He has [b]thrown down
The strongholds of the daughter of Judah;
He has [c]brought them down to the ground;
He has [d]profaned the kingdom and its princes.
3 In fierce anger He has cut off
[1]All the [a]strength of Israel;
He has [b]drawn back His right hand
From before the enemy.
And He has [c]burned in Jacob like a flaming fire Consuming round about.
4 He has bent His [a]bow like an enemy;
He has set His right hand like an adversary
And slain all that were [b]pleasant to the eye;
In the tent of the daughter of Zion
He has [c]poured out His wrath like fire.
5 The Lord has become like an [a]enemy.
He has [b]swallowed up Israel;
He has swallowed up all its [c]palaces,
He has destroyed its strongholds
And [d]multiplied in the daughter of Judah
Mourning and moaning.
6 And He has violently treated His [1]tabernacle like a garden booth;
He has [a]destroyed His appointed [2]meeting place.
The LORD has [b]caused to be forgotten
The appointed feast and sabbath in Zion,
And He has [c]despised king and priest
In the indignation of His anger.
7 The Lord has [a]rejected His altar,
He has abandoned His sanctuary;
He [b]has delivered into the hand of the enemy
The walls of her palaces.
They have made a [c]noise in the house of the LORD
As in the day of an appointed feast.
8 The LORD [1]determined to destroy
The wall of the daughter of Zion.
He has [a]stretched out a line,
He has not restrained His hand from [2]destroying,
And He has [b]caused rampart and wall to lament;
They have languished together.
9 Her [a]gates have sunk into the ground,
He has destroyed and broken her bars.
Her king and her princes are among the nations;
The [b]law is no more.
Also, her prophets find
[c]No vision from the LORD.
10 The elders of the daughter of Zion
[a]Sit on the ground, they [b]are silent.
They have thrown [c]dust on their heads;
They have girded themselves with [d]sackcloth.
The [e]virgins of Jerusalem
Have bowed their heads to the ground.
11 My [a]eyes fail because of tears,
My [1b]spirit is greatly troubled;
My [2c]heart is poured out on the earth
[d]Because of the [3]destruction of the daughter of my people,
When [e]little ones and infants faint
In the streets of the city.
12 They say to their mothers,
"[a]Where is grain and wine?"
As they faint like a wounded man
In the streets of the city,
As their [b]life is poured out
On their mothers' bosom.
13 How shall I admonish you?
To what [a]shall I compare you,
O daughter of Jerusalem?

2:2 swallowed up . . . All the inhabitants. See v. 5. daughter of Judah. See note on 1:15.
2:3 flaming fire Consuming. See Num 11:3; Job 1:16; Ps 106:18.
2:4 bent His bow. See Deut 32:42; Ps 7:12–13; Zech 9:13–14. poured out His wrath. See Ps 69:24; 79:6; Jer 6:11; 7:20; 10:25; 42:18; 44:6; Hos 5:10; Zeph 3:8.
2:5 palaces . . . strongholds. See Hos 8:14. multiplied . . . moaning. The Sumerian "Lamentation over the Destruction of Sumer and Ur" offers this parallel: "In the desolate city there was uttered nothing but laments and dirges" (lines 361–362, 486–487). daughter of Judah. See note on 1:15.
2:6 His tabernacle. The Hebrew word can refer to either the tabernacle or the temple, as here (see Ps 27:4–5). like a garden. Cf. Is 5:5–6; Jer 5:10; 12:10. His appointed meeting place. The tabernacle/temple, where God met with His people (see Ex 25:22; 29:42–43; Ps 74:4).
2:7 rejected . . . abandoned. These two verbs are found in Ps 89:38–39 ("cast off . . . spurned") in connection with the Lord's forsaking of the king from the dynasty of David. made a noise in the house of the LORD. See Ps 74:4. As in the day of an appointed feast. See Hos 12:9.
2:8 determined to destroy. See Jer 32:31. daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants. stretched out a line. To destroy with the same standards of precision and propriety used in building (see Is 28:17 and note; Amos 7:7–8 and notes). rampart . . . wall. See Is 26:1. The ramparts were the outer fortifications (see 2 Sam 20:15).
2:9 prophets find No vision. The Lord was no longer communicating to His people through prophets (see Ps 74:9; Amos 8:11 and note; Mic 3:7).
2:10 elders. See note on Ex 3:16. Sit on the ground . . . throw dust on their heads . . . girded themselves with sackcloth . . . bowed their heads. Signs of mourning (see Job 2:12–13; Ps 35:13–14). virgins of Jerusalem. See 1:4 and note.
2:11 My eyes fail. See note on Ps 6:7. tears. See note on 1:16. My spirit is greatly troubled. Repeated from 1:20. my people. See 3:48; 4:10; see also note on Jer 14:17.
2:12 life is poured out. See Job 30:16; Ps 107:5; Jon 2:7.
2:13 admonish you. See Job 29:11. daughter of Jerusalem . . . virgin daughter of Zion. See notes on 1:6; Jer 14:17.

To what shall I liken you as I comfort you,
O [b]virgin daughter of Zion?
For your [1]ruin is as vast as the sea;
Who can [c]heal you?
14 Your [a]prophets have seen for you
False and foolish visions;
And they have not [b]exposed your iniquity
So as to restore you from captivity,
But they have [c]seen for you false and misleading [1]oracles.
15 All who pass along the way
[a]Clap their hands in derision at you;
They [b]hiss and shake their heads
At the daughter of Jerusalem,
"Is this the city of which they said,
'[c]The perfection of beauty,
[d]A joy to all the earth'?"
16 All [a]your enemies
Have opened their mouths wide against you;
They hiss and [b]gnash their teeth.
They say, "We have [c]swallowed her up!
Surely this is the [d]day for which we waited;
We have reached it, we have seen it."
17 The LORD has [a]done what He purposed;
He has accomplished His word
Which He commanded from days of old.
He has thrown down [b]without sparing,
And He has caused the enemy to [c]rejoice over you;
He has [d]exalted the [1]might of your adversaries.
18 Their [a]heart cried out to the Lord,
"O [b]wall of the daughter of Zion,
Let your [c]tears run down like a river day and night;
Give yourself no relief,
Let [1]your eyes have no rest.

At the beginning of the night watches;
[b]Pour out your heart like water
Before the presence of the Lord;
Lift up your hands to Him
For the [c]life of your little ones
Who are [d]faint because of hunger
At the head of every street."
20 See, O LORD, and look!
With [a]whom have You dealt thus?
Should women [b]eat their [1]offspring,
The little ones who were [2]born healthy?
Should [c]priest and prophet be slain
In the sanctuary of the Lord?
21 On the ground in the streets
Lie [a]young and old;
My [b]virgins and my young men
Have fallen by the sword.
You have slain them in the day of Your anger,
You have slaughtered, [c]not sparing.
22 You called as in the day of an appointed feast
My [a]terrors on every side;
And there was [b]no one who escaped or survived
In the day of the LORD's anger.
Those [c]whom I [1]bore and reared,
My enemy annihilated them.

Jeremiah Shares Israel's Affliction

3 I am the man who has [a]seen affliction
Because of the rod of His wrath.
2 He has driven me and made me walk
In [a]darkness and not in light.
3 Surely against me He has [a]turned His hand
Repeatedly all the day.

3:1 [a]Ps 88:7, 15, 16 2 [a]Job 30:26; Is 59:9; Jer 4:23 3 [a]Ps 38:2; Is 5:25

2:14 prophets . . . False. Jeremiah often denounced false prophets (see Jer 5:12–13; 6:13–15; 8:10–12; 14:13–15; 23:9–40; 27:9–28:17). foolish. Or "whitewash(ed)"; for an explanation of this image see Ezek 13:10–16; 22:28. misleading. The unusual Hebrew word underlying this word comes from the same root as that underlying "drive you out" in Jer 27:10,15: The lies of false prophets "mislead" the people and thus lead to "banishment" by the Lord—so they are "banishing" in their effect.
2:15 who pass along the way. See 1:12. Clap their hands. See Job 27:23. hiss. See v. 16; see also note on Jer 19:8. shake their heads. See note on Job 16:4; see also Ps 44:14; 109:25; Jer 18:16. daughter of Jerusalem. See notes on 1:6; Jer 14:17. they said, 'The perfection of beauty.' As in Ps 50:2 (see note there). they said . . . '. . . A joy to all the earth.' As in Ps 48:2 (see note there; cf. Jer 51:41).
2:16 swallowed her up. See vv. 2,5; Jer 51:34.
2:17 accomplished His word. See Is 55:11 and note. from days of old. The days of Moses (see, e.g., the threats of Lev 26:23–39; Deut 28:15–68). exalted the might. Increased the strength (see 1 Sam 2:1; Ps 75:4).
2:18 See Jer 14:17. O wall. A city gate is similarly addressed in Is 14:31. daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants.
2:19 beginning of the night watches. See note on Judg 7:19; see also Ps 63:6. Pour out your heart. In earnest prayer (see Ps 62:8). like water. A common simile with "pour out" (see Deut 12:16,24; 15:23; Ps 79:3; Hos 5:10). Lift up your hands. In prayer and praise (see Ps 28:2; 63:4; 1 Tim 2:8). little ones . . . faint because of hunger. See vv. 11–12.
2:20–22 The prayer called for in v. 19.
2:20 women eat their offspring. See note on Jer 19:9.
2:21 See Jer 6:11 and note.
2:22 called . . . My. See 1:15. terrors on every side. See note on Jer 6:25. no one who escaped or survived. See Jer 42:17; 44:14. day of the LORD's anger. The chapter ends as it began (see v. 1).
3:1–2 I . . . me. Whether the author is Jeremiah or an anonymous mourner, he speaks not only for himself but also for the suffering community of which he is a part (see "we" and "us" in vv. 40–47). The Hebrew text of v. 1 is at the exact center of the book.
3:1 affliction. See v. 19. rod of His wrath. See Job 9:34; 21:9. The reference is to Babylon (see Is 10:5 and note).
3:2 darkness and not in light. See Job 12:25; characteristic of the "day of the LORD" (Amos 5:18).

4 He has caused my [a]flesh and my skin to waste away,
He has [b]broken my bones.
5 He has [a]besieged and encompassed me with [b]bitterness and hardship.
6 In [a]dark places He has made me dwell,
Like those who have long been dead.
7 He has [a]walled me in so that I cannot go out;
He has made my [1][b]chain heavy.
8 Even when I cry out and call for help,
He [a]shuts out my prayer.
9 He has [a]blocked my ways with hewn
stone;
He has made my paths crooked.
10 He is to me like a bear lying in wait,
Like a lion in secret places.
11 He has turned aside my ways and
[a]torn me to pieces;
He has made me desolate.
12 He [a]bent His bow
And [b]set me as a target for the arrow.
13 He made the [1]arrows of His [a]quiver
To enter into my [2]inward parts.
14 I have become a [a]laughingstock to all
my people,
Their mocking [b]song all the day.
15 He has [a]filled me with bitterness,
He has made me drunk with
wormwood.
16 He has [a]broken my teeth with [b]gravel;
He has made me cower in the [c]dust.
17 My soul has been rejected [a]from peace;
I have forgotten [1]happiness.
18 So I say, "My strength has perished,
And so has my [a]hope from the LORD."

Hope of Relief in God's Mercy

19 Remember my affliction and my [1]wandering, the [a]wormwood and bitterness.
20 Surely [a]my soul remembers
And is [b]bowed down within me.
21 This I recall to my mind,
Therefore I have [a]hope.
22 The LORD'S [a]lovingkindnesses [1]indeed never cease,
[b]For His compassions never fail.
23 They are new [a]every morning;
Great is [b]Your faithfulness.
24 "The LORD is my [a]portion," says my soul,
"Therefore I [b]have hope in Him."
25 The LORD is good to those who [a]wait for Him,
To the [1]person who [b]seeks Him.
26 It is good that he [a]waits silently
For the salvation of the LORD.
27 It is good for a man that he should bear
The yoke in his youth.
28 Let him [a]sit alone and be silent
Since He has laid it on him.
29 Let him [1]put his mouth in the [a]dust,
Perhaps there is [b]hope.
30 Let him give his [a]cheek to [1]the smiter,
Let him be filled with reproach.
31 For the Lord will [a]not reject forever,
32 For if He causes grief,
Then He will have [a]compassion

19 [1]Or bitterness [a]Jer 9:15; Lam 3:5, 15
20 [a]Job 21:6 [b]Ps 42:5, 6, 11; 43:5; 44:25

31 [a]Ps 77:7; 94:14; Is 54:7-10
32 [a]Ps 78:38; 106:43-45; Hos 11:8

3:4 waste away. See Job 13:28 ("decaying"); Ps 49:14 ("consume"). broken my bones. See Is 38:13 and note.
3:5 bitterness. Lit. "poison" (see Jer 8:14 and note).
3:6 Reminiscent of Ps 143:3.
3:7 walled. The Hebrew for this word is the same as that for "blocked" in v. 9 (see Job 19:8; Hos 2:6). cannot go out. See Ps 88:8.
3:8 shuts out my prayer. See v. 44; Ps 18:41; Prov 1:28; Jer 7:16 and note.
3:9 hewn stone. Of enormous size, like those used in the foundation of Solomon's temple (see 1 Kin 5:17). made . . . crooked. Or "distorted/destroyed" (as in Is 24:1); for the imagery see Job 30:13.
3:10 like a bear . . . Like a lion. See Ps 10:9; 17:12; Jer 4:7; 5:6; 49:19; 50:44.
3:11 See 1:2.
3:12 bent His bow. See note on 2:4. set me as a target. See note on Job 6:4.
3:13 inward parts. Lit. "kidneys" (as in Job 16:13).
3:14 See Jeremiah's complaint in Jer 20:7. mocking song. See v. 63; Ps 69:12.
3:15 filled me with bitterness. The Hebrew underlying this phrase is translated "saturates me with bitterness" in Job 9:18 (see note on Jer 9:15). For the significance of the bitter herbs eaten during the Passover meal see note on Ex 12:8.
3:18 the LORD. The first mention of God in ch. 3.
3:19 The poet remembers all these experiences and verbalizes them once again. affliction and . . . wandering. See 1:7.
3:21–26 The theological high point of the book of Lamentations (see Introduction: Themes and Theology).
3:22 lovingkindness. See v. 32. The Hebrew for this phrase is plural (as also in Ps 107:43) and denotes the Lord's loving faithfulness to His covenant promises (see Ps 89:1). See note on Ps 6:4.
3:23 They. The "lovingkindnesses" and "compassions" (v. 22) of the Lord. every morning. See Is 33:2. Great is Your faithfulness. It is beyond measure (see note on v. 32; see also Ps 36:5).
3:24 The LORD is my portion. See Ps 73:26; 142:5. He was the inheritance share of the priests and Levites (see Num 18:20; see also note on Gen 15:1). Therefore I have hope. This phrase serves as a refrain (see v. 21).
3:25 The LORD is good. See Ps 34:8; 86:5. who wait for Him. See Ps 25:3; 69:7.
3:26 See Is 26:3; 30:15.
3:27 a man . . . should bear The yoke. Echoes the thought of v. 1: "the man who has seen affliction."
3:28 sit alone. See note on 1:1. it. The yoke (see v. 27).
3:29 Perhaps there is hope. See Job 11:18.
3:30 give his cheek. See Matt 5:39. filled with reproach. See Ps 123:3–4.
3:31 See Jer 3:5 and note.
3:32 The same God who judges also restores (see Job 5:18; Ps 30:5; Is 54:8). His abundant lovingkindness. See note on v. 22; see also "great is Your faithfulness" (v. 23)—faithfulness and unfailing love are often used together to sum up God's covenant mercies toward His people.

According to His abundant lovingkindness.
33 For He [a]does not afflict [1]willingly
Or grieve the sons of men.
34 To crush under His feet
All the prisoners of the [1]land,
35 To [1]deprive a man of [a]justice
In the presence of the Most High,
36 To [1][a]defraud a man in his lawsuit—
Of these things the Lord does not [2]approve.
37 Who is [1]there who speaks and it [a]comes to pass,
Unless the Lord has commanded it?
38 Is it not from the mouth of the Most High
That [1][a]both good and ill go forth?
39 Why should any living [1]mortal, or any man,
Offer [a]complaint [2]in view of his sins?
40 Let us [a]examine and probe our ways,
And let us return to the LORD.
41 We [a]lift up our heart [1]and hands
Toward God in heaven;
42 We have [a]transgressed and rebelled,
You have [b]not pardoned.
43 You have covered Yourself with [a]anger
And [b]pursued us;
You have slain and [c]have not spared.
44 You have [a]covered Yourself with a cloud
So that [b]no prayer can pass through.
45 You have made us mere [a]offscouring and refuse
In the midst of the peoples.
46 All our enemies have [a]opened their mouths against us.
47 [a]Panic and pitfall have befallen us,
Devastation and destruction;
48 My [1][a]eyes run down with streams of water
Because of the destruction of the daughter of my people.

49 My eyes pour down [a]unceasingly,
Without stopping,
50 Until the LORD [a]looks down
And sees from heaven.
51 My eyes bring pain to my soul
Because of all the daughters of my city.
52 My enemies [a]without cause
Hunted me down [b]like a bird;
53 They have silenced [1]me [a]in the pit
And have [2][b]placed a stone on me.
54 Waters flowed [a]over my head;
I said, "I am cut off!"
55 I [a]called on Your name, O LORD,
Out of the lowest pit.
56 You have [a]heard my voice,
"[b]Do not hide Your ear from my prayer for relief,
From my cry for help."
57 You [a]drew near when I called on You;
You said, "[b]Do not fear!"
58 O Lord, You [a]have pleaded my soul's cause;
You have [b]redeemed my life.
59 O LORD, You have [a]seen my oppression;
[b]Judge my case.
60 You have seen all their vengeance,
All their [a]schemes against me.
61 You have heard their [a]reproach, O LORD,
All their schemes against me.
62 The [a]lips of my assailants and their whispering
Are against me all day long.
63 Look on their [a]sitting and their rising;
[b]I am their mocking song.
64 You will [a]recompense them, O LORD,
According to the work of their hands.
65 You will give them [1][a]hardness of heart,

3:33 does not afflict willingly. See Ezek 18:23,32; Hos 11:8; 2 Pet 3:9.
3:34 crush under His feet. As the Babylonians had done in 586 B.C.
3:35 deprive . . . justice. As the leaders of Judah had done, in direct violation of the law (see Ex 23:6). In the presence of the Most High. In the presence of those whom the Most High designates to dispense justice (see Ex 22:8–9 and NASB marg.; see also introduction to Ps 82). Most High. See note on Gen 14:19.
3:36 defraud . . . in his lawsuit. Men might act unjustly, but God never does (see Job 8:3; 34:12).
3:37 speaks . . . comes to pass. See note on Gen 1:3.
3:38 See Amos 3:6.
3:39 Offer complaint. As the Israelites did in the wilderness (see Num 11:1).
3:40 us. See note on vv. 1–2. examine . . . our ways. See 1 Cor 11:28.
3:41 lift up . . . hands. See note on 2:19. heaven. Where God is enthroned (see Ps 2:4).
3:42 We have transgressed and rebelled. For similar confessions see Ps 106:6; Dan 9:5.
3:43 with anger . . . pursued us. See v. 66; Jer 29:18. slain . . . not spared. See 2:21.

3:56 cry for help. See Job 32:20; Ps 118:5.
3:57 near when I called. See Ps 145:18. Do not fear! Reminiscent of Jeremiah's call to prophesy (see Jer 1:8 and note).
3:58 redeemed my life. See Ps 103:4; see also note on Ps 25:22.
3:63 sitting and . . . rising. Engaging in any kind of activity (see Deut 6:7; 11:19; Ps 139:2; Is 37:28). I am their mocking song. See note on v. 14.
3:64 Paralleled in Ps 28:4; see note on Ps 5:10.

Your curse will be on them.
66 You will [a]pursue them in anger and destroy them
From under the [b]heavens of the LORD!

Distress of the Siege Described

4 How [a]dark the gold has become,
How the pure gold has changed!
The sacred stones are poured out
At the [1]corner of every street.
2 The precious sons of Zion,
Weighed against fine gold,
How they are regarded as [a]earthen jars,
The work of a potter's hands!
3 Even [a]jackals offer the breast,
They nurse their young;
But the daughter of my people has become [b]cruel
Like [c]ostriches in the wilderness.
4 The [a]tongue of the infant cleaves
To the roof of its mouth because of [b]thirst;
The little ones [c]ask for bread,
But no one breaks it for them.
5 Those who ate [a]delicacies
Are desolate in the streets;
Those [1]reared in purple
Embrace ash pits.
6 For the [1]iniquity of the daughter of my people
Is greater than the [2a]sin of Sodom,
Which was [b]overthrown as in a moment,
And no hands were [3]turned toward her.
7 Her [1]consecrated ones were [a]purer than snow,
They were whiter than milk;
They were more ruddy in [2]body than corals,
Their polishing was like [3b]lapis lazuli.
8 Their appearance is [a]blacker than soot,
They are not recognized in the streets;
Their [b]skin is shriveled on their bones,
It is withered, it has become like wood.
9 Better are those [1a]slain with the sword
Than those [1]slain with hunger;
For they [2b]pine away, being stricken
For lack of the fruits of [3]the field.
10 The hands of compassionate women
[a]Boiled their own children;
They became [b]food for them
Because of the destruction of the daughter of my people.
11 The LORD has [a]accomplished His wrath,
He has poured out His fierce anger;
And He has [b]kindled a fire in Zion
Which has consumed its foundations.
12 The kings of the earth did not believe,
Nor did any of [a]the inhabitants of the world,
That the adversary and the enemy
Could [b]enter the gates of Jerusalem.
13 Because of the sins of her [a]prophets
And the iniquities of her priests,
Who have shed in her midst
The [b]blood of the righteous;
14 They wandered, [a]blind, in the streets;
They were defiled with [b]blood
So that no one could touch their [c]garments.
15 "Depart! [a]Unclean!" [1]they cried of themselves.
"Depart, depart, do not touch!"
So they [b]fled and wandered;
Men among the nations said,
"They shall not continue to dwell with us."
16 The presence of the LORD has scattered them,
He will not continue to regard them;
They did not [1a]honor the priests,
They did not favor the elders.
17 Yet our eyes failed,
Looking for [1]help was [a]useless;
In our watching we have watched
For a [b]nation that could not save.

4:15 Unclean! The cry of the person with a skin disease (see Lev 13:45). Men . . . not continue to dwell. Threatened in Deut 28:65–66.
4:16 Threatened in Deut 28:49–50.
4:17 our eyes failed. See Deut 28:28; Ps 69:3. nation that could not save. For example, Egypt (see Ezek 29:16).

18 They [a]hunted our steps
So that we could not walk in our streets;
Our [b]end drew near,
Our days were [1]finished
For our end had come.
19 Our pursuers were [a]swifter
Than the eagles of the sky;
They chased us on the mountains,
They waited in ambush for us in the wilderness.
20 The [a]breath of our nostrils, the [b]LORD'S anointed,
Was [c]captured in their pits,
Of whom we had said, "Under his [d]shadow
We shall live among the nations."
21 Rejoice and be glad, O daughter of [a]Edom,
Who dwells in the land of Uz;
But the [b]cup will come around to you as well,
You will become drunk and make yourself naked.
22 The punishment of your iniquity has been [a]completed, O daughter of Zion;
He will exile you no longer.
But He [b]will punish your iniquity, O daughter of Edom;
He will expose your sins!

A Prayer for Mercy

5 Remember, O LORD, what has befallen us;
Look, and see our [a]reproach!
2 Our inheritance has been turned over to [a]strangers,
Our [b]houses to aliens.
3 We have become orphans [a]without a father,
Our mothers are like widows.
4 [1]We have to pay for our drinking [a]water,
Our wood comes to us at a price.
5 [1]Our pursuers are at our necks;
We are worn out, there is [a]no rest for us.
6 We have [1]submitted to [a]Egypt and Assyria [2]to get enough bread.
7 Our [a]fathers sinned, and are no more;
It is we who have borne their iniquities.
8 [a]Slaves rule over us;
There is [b]no one to deliver us from their hand.
9 We get our bread [1]at the [a]risk of our lives
[2]Because of the sword in the wilderness.
10 Our skin has become as [a]hot as an oven,
Because of [1]the burning heat of famine.
11 They ravished the [a]women in Zion,
The virgins in the cities of Judah.
12 Princes were hung by their hands;
[1][a]Elders were not respected.
13 Young men [1][a]worked at the grinding mill,
And youths [b]stumbled under loads of wood.
14 Elders [1]are gone from the gate,
Young men from their [a]music.
15 The joy of our hearts has [a]ceased;
Our dancing has been turned into mourning.

Ezekiel

Background

Ezekiel lived during a time of international upheaval. The Assyrian empire that had once conquered the Syro-Palestinian area and destroyed the northern kingdom of Israel (which fell to the Assyrians in 722–721 B.C.) began to crumble under the blows of a resurgent Babylon. In 612 the great Assyrian city of Nineveh fell to a combined force of Babylonians and Medes. Three years later, Pharaoh Neco II of Egypt marched north to assist the Assyrians and to try to reassert Egypt's age-old influence over Palestine and Aram (Syria). At Megiddo, King Josiah of Judah, who may have been an ally of Babylon as King Hezekiah had been, attempted to intercept the Egyptian forces but was crushed, losing his life in the battle (see 2 Kin 23:29–30; 2 Chr 35:20–24).

Jehoahaz, a son of Josiah, ruled Judah for only three months, after which Neco installed Jehoiakim, another son of Josiah, as his royal vassal in Jerusalem (609 B.C.). In 605 the Babylonians overwhelmed the Egyptian army at Carchemish (see Jer 46:2), then pressed south as far as the Philistine plain. In the same year, Nebuchadnezzar was elevated to the Babylonian throne and Jehoiakim shifted allegiance to him. When a few years later the Egyptian and Babylonian forces met in a standoff battle in southwestern Palestine, Jehoiakim rebelled against his new overlord.

Nebuchadnezzar soon responded by sending a force against Jerusalem, subduing it in 597 B.C. Jehoiakim's son Jehoiachin and about 10,000 Jews (see 2 Kin 24:14), including Ezekiel, were exiled to Babylon, where they joined those who had been exiled in Jehoiakim's "third year" (see Dan 1:1 and note). Nebuchadnezzar placed Jehoiachin's uncle, Zedekiah, on the throne in Jerusalem, but within five or six years he too rebelled. The Babylonians laid siege to Jerusalem in 588, and in July, 586, the walls were breached and the city plundered. On Aug. 14, 586, the city and temple were burned.

Under Nebuchadnezzar and his successors, Babylon dominated the international scene until it was crushed by Cyrus the Persian in 539 B.C. Israel's monarchy was ended; the City of David and the Lord's temple no longer existed.

Author

What is known of Ezekiel is derived solely from the book that bears his name. He was among the Jews exiled to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar in 597 B.C., and there among the exiles he received his call to become a prophet (see 1:1–3). He was married (see 24:15–18), lived in a house of his own (see 3:24; 8:1) and, along with his fellow exiles, had a relatively free existence.

He was of a priestly family (see note on 1:3) and therefore was eligible to serve as a priest. As a priest-prophet called to minister to the exiles (cut off from the temple of the Lord with its symbolism, sacrifices, priestly ministrations and worship rituals), his message had much to do with the temple (see especially chs. 8—11; 40—48) and its ceremonies.

Ezekiel was obviously a man of broad knowledge, not only of his own national traditions but also of international affairs and history. His acquaintance with general matters of culture, from shipbuilding to literature, is equally amazing. He was gifted with a powerful intellect and was capable of grasping large issues and of dealing with them in grand and compelling images. His style is often detached, but in places it is passionate and earthy (see chs. 16; 23).

More than any other prophet he was directed to involve himself personally in the divine word by acting it out in prophetic symbolism.

Occasion, Purpose and Summary of Contents

Though Ezekiel lived with his fellow exiles in Babylon, his divine call forced him to suppress any natural expectations he may have had of an early return to an undamaged Jerusalem. For the first seven years of his ministry (593–586 B.C.) he faithfully relayed to his fellow Jews the harsh, heart-rending, hope-crushing word of divine judgment: Jerusalem would fall (see chs. 1—24). Their being God's covenant people and Jerusalem's being the city of His temple would not bring their early release from exile or prevent Jerusalem from being destroyed (see Jer 29—30). The only hope the prophet was authorized to extend to his hearers was that of living at peace with themselves and with God during their exile.

After being informed by the Lord that Jerusalem was under siege and would surely fall (24:1–14), Ezekiel was told that his beloved wife would soon die. The delight of his eyes would be taken from him just as the temple, the delight of Israel's eyes, would be taken from her. He was not to mourn openly for his wife, as a sign to his people not to mourn openly for Jerusalem (24:15–27). He was then directed to pronounce a series of judgments on the seven nations of Ammon, Moab, Edom, Philistia, Tyre, Sidon and Egypt (chs. 25—32). The day of God's wrath was soon to come, but not on Israel alone.

Once news was received that Jerusalem had fallen, Ezekiel's message turned to the Lord's consoling word of hope for His people—they would experience revival, restoration and a glorious future as the redeemed and perfected kingdom of God in the world (chs. 33—48).

Date

Since the book of Ezekiel contains more dates (see chart below) than any other OT prophetic book, its prophecies can be dated with considerable precision. In addition, modern scholarship, using archaeology (Babylonian annals on cuneiform tablets) and astronomy (accurate dating of eclipses referred to in ancient archives), provides precise modern calendar equivalents.

Twelve of the 13 dates specify times when Ezekiel received a divine message. The other is the date of the arrival of the messenger who reported the fall of Jerusalem (33:21).

Having received his call in July, 593 B.C., Ezekiel was active for 22 years, his last dated oracle being received in April, 571 (see 29:17). If the "thirtieth year" of 1:1 refers to Ezekiel's age at the time of his call, his prophetic career exceeded a normal priestly term of service by two years (see Num 4:3). His period of activity coincides with Jerusalem's darkest hour, preceding the 586 destruction by 7 years and following it by 15.

Themes

The OT in general and the prophets in particular presuppose and teach God's sovereignty over all creation, over people and nations and the course of history. And nowhere in the Bible are God's initiative and control expressed more clearly and pervasively than in the book of Ezekiel. From the first chapter, which graphically describes the overwhelming invasion of the divine presence into Ezekiel's world, to the last phrase of Ezekiel's vision ("The LORD is there") the book sounds and echoes God's sovereignty.

This sovereign God resolved that He would be known and acknowledged. No less than 65 occurrences of the clause (or variations) "Then they will know that I am the LORD" testify to that divine desire and intention. Chs. 1—24 teach that God will be revealed in the fall of Jerusalem and the destruction of the temple; chs. 25—32 teach that the nations likewise will know God through His judgments; and chs. 33—48 promise that God will be known through the restoration and spiritual renewal of Israel.

God's total sovereignty is also evident in His mobility. He is not limited to the temple in Jerusalem. He can respond to His people's sin by leaving His sanctuary in Israel, and He can graciously condescend to visit His exiled children in Babylon.

God is free to judge, and He is equally free to be gracious. His stern judgments on Israel ultimately reflect His grace. He allows the total dismemberment of Israel's political and religious life so that her renewed life and His presence with her will be clearly seen as a gift from the Lord of the universe.

Furthermore, as God's spokesman, Ezekiel's "son of man" status (see note on 2:1) testifies to the sovereign God he was commissioned to serve.

Literary Features

The three major prophets (Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel) and Zephaniah all have the same basic sequence of messages: (1) oracles against Israel, (2) oracles against the nations, (3) consolation for Israel. In no other book is this pattern as clear as in Ezekiel (see Outline).

Besides clarity of structure, the book of Ezekiel reveals symmetry. The vision of the desecrated temple fit for destruction (chs. 8—11) is balanced by the vision of the restored and purified temple (chs. 40—48). The God presented in agitated wrath (ch. 1) is also shown to be a God of comfort ("The LORD is there," 48:35). Ezekiel's call to be a watchman of divine judgment (ch. 3) is balanced by his call to be a watchman of the new age (ch. 33). In one place (ch. 6) the mountains of Israel receive a prophetic rebuke, but in another (ch. 36) they are consoled.

Prophetic books are usually largely poetic, the prophets apparently having spoken in imaginative and rhythmic styles. Most of Ezekiel, however, is prose, perhaps due to his priestly background. His repetitions have an unforgettable hammering effect, and his priestly orientation is also reflected in a case-law type of sentence (compare 3:19, "If you have warned the wicked . . . ," with Ex 21:2, "If you buy a Hebrew slave . . .").

The book contains four visions (chs. 1—3; 8—11; 37:1–14; 40—48) and 12 symbolic acts (3:22–26; 4:1–3; 4:4–8; 4:9–11; 4:12–14; 5:1–3; 12:1–16; 12:17–20; 21:6–7; 21:18–24; 24:15–24; 37:15–28). Five messages are in the form of parables (chs. 15; 16; 17; 19; 23).

Theological Significance

Other prophets deal largely with Israel's idolatry, with her moral corruption in public and private affairs, and with her international intrigues and alliances on which she relied instead of the Lord. They announce God's impending judgment on His rebellious nation but speak also of a future redemption: a new exodus, a new covenant, a restored Jerusalem, a revived Davidic dynasty, a worldwide recognition of the Lord and His Messiah and a paradise-like peace.

The contours and sweep of Ezekiel's message are similar, but he focuses uniquely on Israel as the holy people of the holy temple, the holy city and the holy land. By defiling her worship, Israel had rendered herself unclean and had defiled temple, city and land. From such defilement God could only withdraw and judge His people with national destruction.

But God's faithfulness to His covenant and His desire to save were so great that He would revive His people once more, shepherd them with compassion, cleanse them of all their defilement, reconstitute them as a perfect expression of His kingdom in the promised land under the hand of David, overwhelm all the forces and powers arrayed against them, display His glory among the nations and restore the glory of His presence to the holy city.

Ezekiel powerfully depicts the grandeur and glory of God's sovereign rule (see Themes) and His holiness, which He jealously safeguards. The book's theological center is the unfolding of God's saving purposes in the history of the world—from the time in which He must withdraw from the defilement of His covenant people to the culmination of His grand design of redemption. The message of Ezekiel, which is ultimately eschatological, anticipates—even demands—God's future works in history proclaimed by the NT.

The Vision of Four Figures

1 Now it came about in the thirtieth year, on the fifth day of the fourth month, while I was by the [a]river Chebar among the exiles, the [b]heavens were opened and I saw [1c]visions of God.

2 (On the fifth of the month [1]in the [a]fifth year of King Jehoiachin's exile,

3 the [a]word of the LORD came expressly to Ezekiel the priest, son of Buzi, in the [b]land of the Chaldeans by the river Chebar; and there [c]the hand of the LORD came upon him.)

4 As I looked, behold, a [a]storm wind was coming from the north, a great cloud with fire flashing forth continually and a bright light around it, and in its midst something like [b]glowing metal in the midst of the fire.

5 Within it there were figures resembling [a]four living beings. And this was their appearance: they had human [b]form.

6 Each of them had [a]four faces and [b]four wings.

7 Their legs were straight and [1]their feet were like a calf's hoof, and they gleamed like [a]burnished bronze.

8 Under their wings on their [a]four sides were human [b]hands. As for the faces and wings of the four of them,

9 their wings touched one another; their faces did [a]not turn when they moved, each [b]went straight forward.

10 As for the [a]form of their faces, each had the [b]face of a man; [1]all four had the face of a lion on the right and the face of a bull on the left, and [1]all four had the face of an eagle.

11 Such were their faces. Their wings were spread out above; each had two touching another being, and [a]two covering their bodies.

12 And [a]each went straight forward; [b]wherever the spirit was about to go, they would go, without turning as they went.

13 [1]In the midst of the living beings there was something that looked like burning coals of [a]fire, [2]like torches darting back and forth among the living beings. The fire was bright, and lightning was [3]flashing from the fire.

14 And the living beings [a]ran to and fro like bolts of [b]lightning.

15 Now as I looked at the living beings, behold, there was one [a]wheel on the earth beside the living beings, [1]for each of the four of them.

16 The [a]appearance of the wheels and their workmanship was like [1]sparkling [b]beryl, and all four of them had the same form, their appearance and workmanship being as if [2]one wheel were within another.

17 Whenever they [1]moved, they [1]moved in any of their four [2]directions without [a]turning as they [1]moved.

18 As for their rims they were lofty and awesome, and the rims of all four of them were [a]full of eyes round about.

19 [a]Whenever the living beings [1]moved, the wheels [1]moved with them. And whenever the living beings [b]rose from the earth, the wheels rose also.

20 [a]Wherever the spirit was about to go, they would go in that direction[1]. And the wheels rose close beside them; for the spirit of the living [2]beings was in the wheels.

21 [a]Whenever those went, these went; and whenever those stood still, these stood still.

21 [a]Ezek 10:17

1:1 the thirtieth year. Or "my thirtieth year," probably Ezekiel's age. According to Num 4:3, a person entered the Levitical priesthood in his 30th year. Denied the priesthood in exile, Ezekiel received another commission—that of prophet. River Chebar. A canal of the Euphrates near the city of Nippur, south of Babylon, and possibly a place of prayer for the exiles (see Ps 137:1; cf. Acts 16:13). visions of God. A special term, always in the plural and always with the word "God" (not with the more personal "LORD"). The expression precedes this and the two other major visions of the prophet (8:3; 40:2).

1:2 fifth year of King Jehoiachin's exile. Verses 2–3, written in the third person (the only third-person narrative in the book), clarify the date in v. 1. King Jehoiachin's. Led an early group of exiles to Babylon in 597 B.C. (see Introduction: Historical Background). Ezekiel was among them and received his prophetic call in 593.

1:3 Ezekiel. See 24:24. Means "God is strong" (cf. 3:14), "God strengthens" (cf. 30:25; 34:16) or "God makes hard" (cf. 3:8). Jehezkel (1 Chr 24:16) is the same name in Hebrew but does not refer to the same person. priest. Member of a priestly family (the text could be translated "Ezekiel the son of Buzi the priest"). hand of the LORD. A phrase repeated six times in the book (3:14,22; 8:1; 33:22; 37:1; 40:1), indicating an overpowering experience of divine revelation.

1:4 I looked. Introduces the first part of the vision: storm and living creatures (vv. 4–14). The "I looked" of v. 15 introduces the second part: wheels and the glory of the Lord. storm wind. See Ps 18:10–12.

1:5 four living beings. "Four," which stands for completeness (cf. the four directions in Gen 13:14 and the four quarters of the earth in Is 11:12), is used often in this chapter—and over 40 times in the book. The living creatures, called "cherubim" in ch. 10, are throne attendants, here (see v. 10) representing God's creation: "man," God's ordained ruler of creation (see Gen 1:26–28; Ps 8); "lion," the strongest of the wild beasts; "bull," the most powerful of the domesticated animals; "eagle," the mightiest of the birds. These four creatures appear again in Rev 4:7 and often are seen in the paintings and sculpture of the Middle Ages, where they represent the four Gospels.

1:7 like a calf's. Perhaps indicates agility (cf. Ps 29:6; Mal 4:2).

1:12 the spirit. See v. 20.

1:16 beryl. The precise identification of this stone is uncertain. See Ex 28:20, where the stone appears in the priestly breastplate. as if one wheel were within another. Probably two wheels intersecting at right angles in order to move in all four directions (see v. 17). The imagery symbolizes the omnipresence of God.

1:18 full of eyes. Symbolizes God's all-seeing nature.

And whenever those rose from the earth, the wheels rose close beside them; for the spirit of the living [1]beings was in the wheels.

Vision of Divine Glory

22 Now [a]over the heads of the living [1]beings there was something like an expanse, like the awesome gleam of [2]crystal, spread out over their heads.

23 Under the expanse their wings were stretched out straight, one toward the other; each one also had [a]two wings covering its body on the one side and on the other.

24 I also heard the sound of their wings like the [a]sound of abundant waters as they went, like the [b]voice of [1]the Almighty, a sound of tumult like the [c]sound of an army camp; whenever they stood still, they dropped their wings.

25 And there came a voice from above the [a]expanse that was over their heads; whenever they stood still, they dropped their wings.

26 Now [a]above the expanse that was over their heads there was something [b]resembling a throne, like [1c]lapis lazuli in appearance; and on that which resembled a throne, high up, was a figure with the appearance of a [d]man.

27 Then I [1]noticed from the appearance of His loins and upward something [a]like [2]glowing metal that looked like fire all around within it, and from the appearance of His loins and downward I saw something like fire; and there was a radiance around Him.

28 As the appearance of the [a]rainbow [1]in the clouds on a rainy day, so was the appearance of the surrounding radiance. Such was the appearance of the likeness of the [b]glory of the LORD. And when I saw it, I [c]fell on my face and heard a voice speaking.

The Prophet's Call

2 Then He said to me, "Son of man, [a]stand on your feet that I may speak with you!"

2 As He spoke to me the [a]Spirit entered me and set me on my feet; and I heard Him speaking to me.

3 Then He said to me, "Son of man, I am sending you to the sons of Israel, to a rebellious people who have [a]rebelled against Me; [b]they and their fathers have transgressed against Me to this very day.

4 "I am sending you to them who are [1a]stubborn and obstinate children, and you shall say to them, 'Thus says the Lord [2]GOD.'

5 "As for them, [a]whether they listen or [1]not—for they are a rebellious house—they will [b]know that a prophet has been among them.

6 "And you, son of man, [a]neither fear them nor fear their words, though [b]thistles and thorns are with you and you sit on scorpions; neither fear their words nor be dismayed at their presence, for they are a rebellious house.

7 "But you shall [a]speak My words to them [b]whether they listen or [1]not, for they are rebellious.

8 "Now you, son of man, listen to what I am speaking to you; do not be rebellious like that rebellious house. Open your mouth and [a]eat what I am giving you."

9 Then I looked, and behold, a [a]hand was extended to me; and lo, a [1b]scroll was in it.

10 When He spread it out before me, it was written on the front and back, and written on it were lamentations, mourning and [a]woe.

Ezekiel's Commission

3 Then He said to me, "Son of man, eat what you find; [a]eat this scroll, and go, speak to the house of Israel."

2 So I [a]opened my mouth, and He fed me this scroll.

3 He said to me, "Son of man, feed your

1:22 expanse. The same word occurs in Gen 1:6–8, where its function is to separate the waters above from the waters below. Here it separates the creatures from the glory of the Lord.

1:26 a figure with the appearance of a man. Ezekiel is reporting his vision of God, but he carefully avoids saying he saw God directly (see Gen 16:13; Ex 3:6; Judg 13:22).

1:28 likeness. See note on v. 26. glory of the LORD. When God's glory was symbolically revealed, it took the form of brilliant light (see Ex 40:34; Is 6:3). What is remarkable about Ezekiel's experience is that God's glory had for centuries been associated with the temple in Jerusalem (see 1 Kin 8:11; Ps 26:8; 63:2; 96:6; 102:16). Now God had left His temple and was appearing to His exiled people in Babylon—a major theme in the first half of Ezekiel's message (see 10:4; 11:23). In his vision of the restored Jerusalem the prophet saw the glory of the Lord returning (43:2).

2:1 Son of man. A term used 93 times in Ezekiel, emphasizing the prophet's humanity as he was addressed by the transcendent God (see note on Ps 8:4). Dan 7:13 and 8:17 are the only other places where the phrase is used as a title in the OT. Jesus' frequent use of the phrase in referring to Himself showed that He was the eschatological figure spoken of in Dan 7:13 (see, e.g., Mark 8:31 and note).

2:2 the Spirit entered me and set me on my feet. The Spirit of God, who empowered the chariot wheels (1:12,19; 10:16–17) and the creatures (1:20), now entered Ezekiel—symbolizing the Lord's empowering of the prophet's entire ministry.

2:3 rebellious people. A keynote of Ezekiel's preaching: The entire nation throughout its history had been rebellious against God.

2:6 thistles and thorns . . . scorpions. Vivid images of those who would make life difficult for the prophet.

2:10 on the front and back. Normally, ancient scrolls were written on one side only. The implication here is that the scroll was thoroughly saturated with words of divine judgment. See Zech 5:3 and Rev 5:1 for the same figure. lamentations, mourning and woe. Although Ezekiel was later commanded to preach hope (see note on 33:1–48:35), his initial commission (until the fall of Jerusalem) was to declare God's displeasure and the certainty of His judgment on Jerusalem and all of Judah.

stomach and [a]fill your [1]body with this scroll which I am giving you." Then I [b]ate it, and it was sweet as [c]honey in my mouth.

4 Then He said to me, "Son of man, [1]go to the house of Israel and speak with My words to them.

5 "For [a]you are not being sent to a people of [1][b]unintelligible speech or difficult language, but to the house of Israel,

6 nor to many peoples of [1]unintelligible speech or difficult language, whose words you cannot understand. [2]But I have sent you to them [3]who should listen to you;

7 yet the house of Israel will not be willing to listen to you, since they are [a]not willing to listen to Me. Surely the whole house of Israel is [1]stubborn and obstinate.

8 "Behold, I have made your face as hard as their faces and your forehead as hard as their foreheads.

9 "Like [1]emery harder than flint I have made your forehead. Do not be afraid of them or be dismayed before them, though they are a rebellious house."

10 Moreover, He said to me, "Son of man, take into your heart all My [a]words which I will speak to you and listen [1]closely.

11 "[1]Go to the exiles, to the sons of your people, and speak to them and tell them, whether they listen or [2]not, 'Thus says the Lord [3]GOD.' "

12 Then the [a]Spirit lifted me up, and I heard a great [b]rumbling sound behind me, "Blessed be the glory of the LORD [1]in His place."

13 And I heard the sound of the wings of the living beings touching one another and the sound of the [a]wheels beside them, even a great rumbling sound.

14 So the Spirit lifted me up and took me away; and I went embittered in the rage of my spirit, and [a]the hand of the LORD was strong on me.

15 Then I came to the exiles who lived beside the river Chebar at Tel-abib, and I sat there [a]seven days where they were living, causing consternation among them.

16 [a]At the end of seven days the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

17 "Son of man, I have appointed you a [a]watchman to the house of Israel; whenever you hear a word from My mouth, [b]warn them from Me.

18 "When I say to the wicked, 'You will surely die,' and you do not warn him or speak out to warn the wicked from his wicked way that he may live, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity, but his [a]blood I will require at your hand.

19 "Yet if you have [a]warned the wicked and he does not turn from his wickedness or from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity; but you have [b]delivered yourself.

20 "Again, [a]when a righteous man turns away from his righteousness and commits iniquity, and I place an [b]obstacle before him, he will die; since you have not warned him, he shall die in his sin, and his righteous deeds which he has done shall not be remembered; but his blood I will require at your hand.

21 "However, if you have [a]warned [1]the righteous man that the righteous should not sin and he does not sin, he shall surely live because he took warning; and you have delivered yourself."

22 The hand of the LORD was on me there, and He said to me, "Get up, go out to the plain, and there I will [a]speak to you."

23 So I got up and went out to the plain; and behold, the [a]glory of the LORD was standing there, like the glory which [b]I saw by the river Chebar, and I fell on my face.

24 The [a]Spirit then entered me and made

3:3 sweet as honey in my mouth. What Jeremiah experienced emotionally (Jer 15:16) was experienced by Ezekiel in a more sensory way: Words from God are sweet to the taste (see Ps 19:10; 119:103)—even when their content is bitter (see Rev 10:9–10).

3:6 I have sent you to them who should listen. Jesus spoke similar words to Israel (see Matt 11:21).

3:9 harder than flint I have made your forehead. Strength and courage were necessary equipment for a prophet, especially when preaching judgment. Jeremiah was similarly equipped (see Jer 1:18).

3:10 take into your heart . . . listen closely. The prophet is to stand in marked contrast to the people, who do not listen.

3:11 Go to the exiles . . . the sons of your people. Ezekiel's ministry was to the exilic community, most of whom refused to believe that God would abandon Jerusalem and the temple. After the fall of Jerusalem, therefore, they were strongly inclined to despair.

3:14 embittered in the rage of my spirit. The prophet, knowing the righteousness of God's anger, personally identified with the divine emotions. hand of the LORD was strong on me. See note on 1:3.

3:15 Tel-abib. The only mention of the specific place where the exiles lived. In Babylonian the name meant "mound of the flood [i.e., destruction]," apparently referring to the ruined condition of the site. When used of the modern Israeli city, Tel Aviv, this name (Abib and Aviv are the same word in Hebrew) is understood to mean "hill of grain." seven days. Considering Ezekiel's priestly background (see note on 1:3), the seven-day period may have been a parallel to the time required for a priest's ordination (see Lev 8:1–33).

3:17 I have appointed you a watchman. In ancient Israel, watchmen were stationed on the highest parts of the city wall to inform its inhabitants of the progress of a battle (1 Sam 14:16) or of approaching messengers (2 Sam 18:24–27; 2 Kin 9:17–20). The prophets were spiritual watchmen, relaying God's word to the people (see Jer 6:17; Hos 9:8; Hab 2:1). Ezekiel's function as a watchman was not so much to warn the exiles of the impending doom of Jerusalem as to teach that God holds each one responsible for his own behavior. This commission, repeated in 33:7–9, is spelled out in ch. 18.

3:22 hand of the LORD. See note on 1:3.

me stand on my feet, and He spoke with me and said to me, "Go, shut yourself up in your house.

25 "As for you, son of man, they will [a]put ropes on you and bind you with them so that you cannot go out among them.

26 "Moreover, [a]I will make your tongue stick to [1]the roof of your mouth so that you will be mute and cannot be a man who rebukes them, for they are a rebellious house.

27 "But [a]when I speak to you, I will open your mouth and you will say to them, 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD.' He who hears, let him hear; and he who refuses, let him refuse; [b]for they are a rebellious house.

Siege of Jerusalem Predicted

4 "Now you son of man, [a]get yourself a brick, place it before you and inscribe a city on it, Jerusalem.

2 "Then [a]lay siege against it, build a siege wall, [1]raise up a ramp, pitch camps and place battering rams against it all around.

3 "Then get yourself an iron plate and set it up as an iron wall between you and the city, and set your face toward it so that [a]it is under siege, and besiege it. This is a [b]sign to the house of Israel.

4 "As for you, lie down on your left side and lay the iniquity of the house of Israel on it; you shall [a]bear their iniquity for the number of days that you lie on it.

5 "For I have assigned you a number of days corresponding to the years of their iniquity, three hundred and ninety days; thus [a]you shall bear the iniquity of the house of Israel.

6 "When you have completed these, you shall lie down a second time, but on your right side and bear the iniquity of the house of Judah; I have assigned it to you for forty days, a day for [a]each year.

7 "Then you shall set your face toward the siege of Jerusalem with your arm bared and [a]prophesy against it.

8 "Now behold, I will [2]put ropes on you so that you cannot turn from one side to the other until you have completed the days of your siege.

Defiled Bread

9 "But as for you, take wheat, barley, beans, lentils, millet and [a]spelt, put them in one vessel and make them into bread for yourself; you shall eat it according to the number of the days that you lie on your side, three hundred and ninety days.

10 "Your food which you eat shall be [a]twenty shekels a day by weight; you shall eat it from time to time.

11 "The water you drink shall be the sixth part of a hin by measure; you shall drink it from time to time.

12 "You shall eat it as a barley cake, having baked it in their sight over human [a]dung."

13 Then the LORD said, "Thus will the sons of Israel eat their bread [a]unclean among the nations where I will banish them."

14 But I said, "[a]Ah, Lord [1]GOD! Behold, I have [b]never been defiled; for from my youth until now I have never eaten what [c]died of itself or was torn by beasts, nor has any [d]unclean meat ever entered my mouth."

15 Then He said to me, "See, I will give you cow's dung in place of human dung over which you will prepare your bread."

16 Moreover, He said to me, "Son of man, behold, I am going to [a]break the staff of bread in Jerusalem, and they will eat bread by [b]weight and with anxiety, and drink water by [c]measure and in horror, 17 because bread and water will be scarce; and they will be appalled with one another and [a]waste away in their iniquity.

3:26 you will be mute. Verses 26–27 indicate that the prophet would be unable to speak except when he had a direct word from the Lord. His enforced silence underscored Israel's stubborn refusal to take God's word seriously. This condition was relieved only after the fall of Jerusalem (24:27; 33:22). From that time on, Ezekiel was given messages of hope, which he continually shared with his fellow exiles.

4:1 get . . . a brick. The first of several symbolic acts to be performed by the prophet. After inscribing a likeness of the city of Jerusalem on a moist clay brick, such as those commonly used in Babylonia, Ezekiel was to place around it models of siege works to represent the city under attack (v. 2). He was then to place an iron plate (perhaps a baking griddle) between himself and the symbolized city (v. 3) to indicate the unbreakable strength of the siege.

4:3 besiege it. Ezekiel's own presence in the scene signified that the siege would actually be laid by the Lord Himself.

4:4 you shall bear their iniquity. A representative rather than a substitutionary bearing of sin. The prophet's action symbolized Israel's sins; it did not remove them.

4:5 three hundred and ninety days. The 390 years (see v. 6) may represent the period from the time of Solomon's unfaithfulness to the fall of Jerusalem. Correspondingly, the 40 years of v. 6 may represent the long reign of wicked Manasseh before his repentance (see 2 Kin 21:11–15; 23:26–27; 24:3–4; 2 Chr 33:12–13).

4:6 on your right side. Lying on his left side (see v. 5) placed Ezekiel to the north of the symbolic city; lying on his right side placed him to the south—signifying the northern and southern kingdoms respectively.

4:9 take wheat, barley, beans, lentils, millet and spelt. A scant, vegetarian diet representing the meager provisions of a besieged city.

4:15 cow's dung. Commonly used in the Near East as a fuel for baking, even today. Ezekiel again showed his sensitivity to things ceremonially unclean (see note on 1:3), and God graciously responded to the prophet's objection by allowing this substitute for human excrement.

5:1 take a sharp sword. What Isaiah had expressed in a metaphor (Is 7:20) Ezekiel acted out in prophetic symbolism.

2 "One third you shall burn in the fire at the center of the city, when the [a]days of the siege are completed. Then you shall take one third and strike it with the sword all around [1]the city, and one third you shall scatter to the wind; and I will [b]unsheathe a sword behind them.

3 "Take also a few in number from [1]them and bind them in the edges of your robes.

4 "Take again some of them and throw them into the fire and burn them in the fire; from it a fire will [1]spread to all the house of Israel.

5 "Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, 'This is [a]Jerusalem; I have set her at the [b]center of the nations, with lands around her.

6 'But she has rebelled against My ordinances more wickedly than the nations and against My statutes [a]more than the lands which surround her; for they have [b]rejected My ordinances and have not walked [1]in My statutes.'

7 "Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD, 'Because you have [a]more turmoil than the nations which surround you and have not walked in My statutes, nor observed My ordinances, nor observed the ordinances of the nations which surround you,'

8 therefore, thus says the Lord GOD, 'Behold, I, even I, am [a]against you, and I will [b]execute judgments among you in the sight of the nations.

9 'And because of all your abominations, I will do among you what I have [a]not done, and the like of which I will never do again.

10 'Therefore, [a]fathers will eat their sons among you, and sons will eat their fathers; for I will execute judgments on you and [b]scatter all your remnant to every wind.

11 'So as I live,' declares the Lord GOD, 'surely, because you have [a]defiled My sanctuary with all your [b]detestable idols and with all your abominations, therefore I will also withdraw, and My eye will have no pity and I will not spare.

12 'One third of you will die by [a]plague or be consumed by famine among you, one third will fall by the sword around you, and one third I will [b]scatter to every wind, and I will [c]unsheathe a sword behind them.

Idolatrous Worship Denounced

6 And the word of the LORD came to me saying,

2 "Son of man, set your face toward the [a]mountains of Israel, and prophesy against them

3 and say, 'Mountains of Israel, listen to the word of the Lord [1]GOD! Thus says the Lord [1]GOD to the mountains, the hills, the ravines and the valleys: "Behold, I Myself am going to bring a sword on you, and [a]I will destroy your high places.

4 "So your [a]altars will become desolate and your incense altars will be smashed; and I will make your slain fall in front of your idols.

5 "I will also lay the dead bodies of the sons of Israel in front of their idols; and I will scatter your [a]bones around your altars.

6 "In all your dwellings, [a]cities will become waste and the high places will be desolate, that your altars may become waste and [1]desolate, your [b]idols may be broken

5:5 This is Jerusalem. After wordlessly acting out the symbols (beginning in 4:1), Ezekiel received and probably related the divine explanations. center of the nations. A privileged position, which made Israel's responsibility and judgment all the more severe (see note on 38:12).

5:8 I, even I, am against you. A short and effective phrase of judgment used often by Ezekiel (see 13:8; 21:3; 26:3; 28:22; 29:3,10; 30:22; 34:10; 35:3; 38:3; 39:1; see also Jer 23:30–32; 50:31; 51:25; Nah 2:13; 3:5).

5:10 fathers will eat their sons. Cannibalism, the most gruesome extremity of life under siege, was threatened as a consequence of breaking the covenant (Deut 28:53; see Jer 19:9; Lam 2:20; Zech 11:9).

5:11 So as I live. See note on 18:3.

5:13 they will know that I, the LORD, have spoken. The first of 65 occurrences in Ezekiel of this or similar declarations. God's acts of judgment and salvation reveal who He is. Since the people would not listen to God's words, they would be taught by His actions. spent My wrath upon. An expression frequently used by the Lord in this book (see 6:12; 7:8; 13:15; 20:8,21).

5:15 a reproach, a reviling, a warning and an object of horror. A fourfold list (see note on 1:5).

6:3 high places. Open-air sanctuaries of Canaanite origin, condemned throughout the OT. The high places, together with the "altars," "incense altars" and "idols" (v. 4), make up a list of four objects (see note on 1:5).

6:4 incense altars. Made of burnt clay, about two feet high, usually inscribed with animal figures and idols of Canaanite and brought to an end, your incense altars may be cut down, and your works may be blotted out.

7 "The slain will fall among you, and you will know that I am the LORD.

8 "However, I will leave a [a]remnant, for you will have those who [b]escaped the sword among the nations when you are scattered among the countries.

9 "Then those of you who escape will [a]remember Me among the nations to which they will be carried captive, how I have [1][b]been hurt by their adulterous hearts which turned away from Me, and by their eyes which played the harlot after their idols; and they will [c]loathe themselves in their own sight for the evils which they have committed, for all their abominations.

10 "Then they will know that I am the LORD; I have not said in vain [1]that I would inflict this disaster on them." '

11 "Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, 'Clap your hand, [a]stamp your foot and say, "[b]Alas, because of all the evil abominations of the house of Israel, which will fall by [c]sword, famine and plague!

12 "He who is [a]far off will die by the plague, and he who is near will fall by the sword, and he who remains and is besieged will die by the famine. Thus will I [b]spend My wrath on them.

13 "Then you will know that I am the LORD, when their [a]slain are among their idols around their altars, on [b]every high hill, on all the tops of the mountains, under every green tree and under every leafy oak—the places where they offered soothing aroma to all their idols.

14 "So throughout all their habitations I will [a]stretch out My hand against them and make the land more desolate and waste than the wilderness toward Diblah; thus they will know that I am the LORD." ' "

Punishment for Wickedness Foretold

7 Moreover, the word of the LORD came to me saying,

2 "And you, son of man, thus says the Lord [1]GOD to the land of Israel, 'An [a]end! The end is coming on the four corners of the land.

3 'Now the end is upon you, and I will send My anger against you; I will judge you according to your ways and bring all your abominations upon you.

4 'For My eye will have no pity on you, nor will I spare you, but I will [a]bring your ways upon you, and your abominations will be among you; then you will [b]know that I am the LORD!'

5 "Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, 'A [a]disaster, unique disaster, behold it is coming!

6 'An end is coming; the end has come! It has [a]awakened against you; behold, it has come!

7 'Your doom has come to you, O inhabitant of the land. The [a]time has come, the [b]day is near—tumult rather than joyful shouting on the mountains.

8 'Now I will shortly [a]pour out My wrath on you and spend My anger against you; [b]judge you according to your ways and bring on you all your abominations.

9 'My eye will show no pity nor will I spare. I will [1]repay you according to your ways, while your abominations are in your midst; then you will know that I, the LORD, do the smiting.

10 'Behold, the day! Behold, it is coming! Your doom has gone forth; the [a]rod has budded, arrogance has blossomed.

11 'Violence [1]has grown into a rod of [a]wickedness. None of them shall remain, none of their people, none of their [b]wealth, nor anything eminent among them.

12 'The [a]time has come, the day has arrived. Let not the [b]buyer rejoice nor the seller mourn; for [c]wrath is against all their multitude.

13 'Indeed, the seller will not [1][a]regain [2]what he sold as long as [3]they both live; for the vision regarding all their multitude will not [4]be averted, nor will any of them maintain his life by his iniquity.

gods. idols. The Hebrew for this word is a derisive term (lit. "dung pellets"), used especially by Ezekiel (38 times, as opposed to only 9 times elsewhere in the OT).

6:7 know that I am the LORD. See Introduction: Themes.

6:9 those of you who escape will remember Me. The corrective outcome God intends from the severe judgment to come (see v. 10).

6:11 Clap your hand. A command to Ezekiel, calling for his personal involvement in the tragedy—though Israel's enemies were condemned for the same practice (see 25:6).

6:14 I will stretch out My hand against. A common expression in Ezekiel (see 14:9,13; 16:27; 25:7; 35:3). Diblah. Perhaps the Beth-diblathaim of Jer 48:22, a city in Moab; or Riblah, a city north of Damascus on the Orontes River (a few Hebrew manuscripts read "Riblah").

7:2 four corners of the land. The whole world would be affected by God's judgment on the land of Israel (see note on 1:5).

7:7 the day. The day of the Lord. Beginning with Amos (Amos 5:18–20), that day is seen by all the prophets as a day of great judgment—and often (though not here) as a judgment that sweeps away all the enemies that threaten God's people, thereby bringing peace. tumult rather than joyful shouting. Cf. Amos 5:20 ("darkness instead of light").

7:8 pour out My wrath. A common expression in Ezekiel (see 9:8; 14:19; 20:8,13,21; 22:31; 30:15; 36:18).

7:12 Let not the buyer rejoice. End-time advice similar to that of Jesus (see Matt 24:17–18).

15 'The [a]sword is outside and the plague and the famine are within. He who is in the field will die by the sword; famine and the plague will also consume those in the city.
16 'Even when their survivors [a]escape, they will be on the mountains like [b]doves of the valleys, all of them [1c]mourning, each over his own iniquity.
17 'All [a]hands will hang limp and all knees will [1]become like water.
18 'They will [a]gird themselves with sackcloth and [b]shuddering will overwhelm them;
and shame will be on all faces and [c]baldness
on all their heads.
19 'They will [a]fling their silver into the streets and their gold will become an abhorrent thing; their [b]silver and their gold will not be able to deliver them in the day of the wrath of the LORD. They cannot satisfy their [1]appetite nor can they fill their stomachs, for their iniquity has become an occasion of stumbling.

The Temple Profaned

20 'They transformed the beauty of His ornaments into pride, and [a]they made the images of their abominations and their detestable things with it; therefore I will make it an abhorrent thing to them.
21 'I will give it into the hands of the [a]foreigners as plunder and to the wicked of the earth as spoil, and they will profane it.
22 'I will also turn My [a]face from them, and they will profane My secret place; then robbers will enter and profane it.
23 '[a]Make the chain, for the land is full of [1b]bloody crimes and the city is [c]full of violence.
24 'Therefore, I will bring the worst of the [a]nations, and they will possess their houses. I will also make the [b]pride of the strong ones cease, and their [c]holy places will be profaned.
25 'When anguish comes, they will seek
[a]peace, but there will be none.
26 '[a]Disaster will come upon disaster and [b]rumor will be added to rumor; then they will seek a [c]vision from a prophet, but the [d]law will be lost from the priest and [e]counsel from the elders.
27 'The king will mourn, the prince will be [a]clothed with horror, and the hands of the people of the land will [1]tremble. According to their conduct I will deal with them, and by their judgments I will judge them. And they will know that I am the LORD.' "

Vision of Abominations in Jerusalem

8 It came about in the sixth year, on the fifth day of the sixth month, as I was sitting in my house with the elders of Judah sitting before me, that the hand of the Lord
[1]GOD fell on me there.
2 Then I looked, and behold, a likeness as the appearance of [1]a man; from His loins and downward there was the [a]appearance of fire, and from His loins and upward the appearance of brightness, like the appearance [b]of [2]glowing metal.
3 He stretched out the form of a hand and caught me by a lock of my head; and the [a]Spirit lifted me up between earth and heaven and brought me in the visions of God to Jerusalem, to the entrance of the [1]north gate of the inner court, where the seat of the idol of jealousy, which [b]provokes to jealousy, was located.
4 And behold, the [a]glory of the God of Israel was there, like the appearance which I saw in the plain.
5 Then He said to me, "Son of man,
[a]raise your eyes now toward the north." So I raised my eyes toward the north, and behold, to the north of the altar gate was this [b]idol of jealousy at the entrance.
6 And He said to me, "Son of man, do you see what they are doing, the great [a]abominations which the house of Israel are committing here, so that I would be far from 7:20 beauty of His ornaments. See Ex 32:2–4.

7:22 My secret place. The Jerusalem temple.
7:24 pride of the strong ones. The Jerusalem temple, described by the word "pride" (as in 24:21; 33:28).
7:26 prophet . . . priest . . . elders. There would be no guidance from God and no direction from the elders (see 1 Sam 28:6; Amos 8:11–12; Mic 3:6–7).
7:27 king . . . prince. Here both nouns describe the same person. Ezekiel considered Jehoiachin to be the true king (1:2) and Zedekiah a mere prince (12:12). people of the land. Full citizens of Judah who owned land and served in the army (cf. 12:19; 45:16,22; 46:3).
8:1–11:25 The vision contained in these four chapters vividly depicts the departure of the divine glory from the corrupted temple (see 8:4; 9:3; 10:18–19; 11:23).
8:1 in the sixth year, on the fifth day of the sixth month. Sept. 17, 592 B.C.—the second of 13 dates in Ezekiel. This one, like those in 1:2 and 40:1, introduces a vision. sitting in my house. The exiles were free to build houses (see Jer 29:5). elders of Judah sitting before me. They also had freedom of movement, assembly and worship. A year and two months after his inaugural vision and preaching, the prophet commanded a hearing. Some have seen in such meetings the beginnings of the synagogue form of worship. hand of the Lord GOD. See note on 1:3.
8:2 likeness as the appearance of a man. An angel, similar in appearance to God in 1:26–27. the appearance of fire . . . like . . . glowing metal. A way of describing the blinding brightness of the divine messenger (see Matt 28:3; cf. Acts 9:3).
8:3 brought me . . . to Jerusalem. Ezekiel had been directed to prophesy stern judgments on Jerusalem (chs. 1–7). Now he was transported to Jerusalem in visions of God (see 11:24) and shown the reason for the judgments. idol . . . which provokes to jealousy. Any idol in the temple provoked the Lord to jealousy, but this one seems to be a statue of Asherah, the Canaanite goddess of fertility, which Josiah had removed some 30 years previously (see 2 Kin 23:6).
8:5 idol of jealousy. See note on v. 3.

My sanctuary? But yet you will see still greater abominations."

7 Then He brought me to the entrance of the court, and when I looked, behold, a hole in the wall.

8 He said to me, "Son of man, now [a]dig through the wall." So I dug through the wall, and behold, an entrance.

9 And He said to me, "Go in and see the wicked abominations that they are committing here."

10 So I entered and looked, and behold, every form of creeping things and beasts and detestable things, with all the idols of the house of Israel, were carved on the wall all around.

11 Standing in front of them were [a]seventy [b]elders of the house of Israel, with Jaazaniah the son of Shaphan standing among them, each man with his [c]censer in his hand and the fragrance of the cloud of incense rising.

12 Then He said to me, "Son of man, do you see what the elders of the house of Israel are committing in the dark, each man in the room of his carved images? For they say, '[a]The LORD does not see us; the LORD has [b]forsaken the land.' "

13 And He said to me, "Yet you will see still greater abominations which they are committing."

14 Then He brought me to the entrance of the [a]gate of the LORD'S house which was toward the north; and behold, women were sitting there weeping for Tammuz.

15 He said to me, "Do you see this, son of man? Yet you will see still greater abominations than these."

16 Then He brought me into the inner court of the LORD'S house. And behold, at the entrance to the temple of the LORD, between the porch and the altar, were about twenty-five men with their [a]backs to the temple of the LORD and their faces toward the east; and [b]they were [1]prostrating themselves eastward toward the sun.

17 He said to me, "Do you see this, son of man? Is it too light a thing for the house of Judah to commit the abominations which they have committed here, that they have [a]filled the land with violence and [b]provoked Me repeatedly? For behold, they are putting the twig to their nose.

18 "Therefore, I indeed will deal in wrath. My eye will have no pity nor will I spare; and [a]though they cry in My ears with a loud voice, yet I will not listen to them."

The Vision of Slaughter

9 Then He cried out in my hearing with a loud [a]voice saying, "Draw near, [1]O executioners of the city, each with his destroying weapon in his hand."

2 Behold, six men came from the direction of the upper gate which faces north, each with his shattering weapon in his hand; and among them was [a]a certain man clothed in linen with a [1]writing case at his loins. And they went in and stood beside the bronze altar.

3 Then the [a]glory of the God of Israel went up from the cherub on which it had been, to the threshold of the [1]temple. And He called to the man clothed in linen at whose loins was the writing case.

4 The LORD said to him, "Go through the midst of the city, even through the midst of Jerusalem, and put a [a]mark on the foreheads of the men who [b]sigh and groan over all the abominations which are being committed in its midst."

5 But to the others He said in my hearing, "Go through the city after him and strike; do not let your eye have pity and do not spare.

6 "[1]Utterly [a]slay old men, young men, maidens, little children, and women, but do not [b]touch any man on whom is the mark; and you shall [c]start from My sanctuary." So they started with the [2]elders who were before the [3]temple.

7 And He said to them, "[a]Defile the [1]temple and fill the courts with the slain. Go out!" Thus they went out and struck down the people in the city.

8 As they were striking the people and I alone was left, I [a]fell on my face and cried out [1]saying, "[b]Alas, Lord [2]GOD! Are You

8:10 every form of creeping things . . . detestable things. Probably reflecting Egyptian influence (see 2 Kin 23:31–35).

8:11 Jaazaniah. Not the same person as in 11:1. Ironically, the name means "The LORD hears," and the irony is sharpened by the quotation in v. 12.

8:14 Tammuz. The only Biblical reference to this Babylonian fertility god. The women of Jerusalem were bewailing his dying, which they felt caused the annual wilting of vegetation. According to some interpreters, he is alluded to in Dan 11:37 ("the desire of women"—see note there).

8:16 with their backs to the temple. Almost all ancient temples were oriented toward the east. Worshiping the sun as it rose required one to turn his back to the temple.

8:17 putting the twig to their nose. A ceremonial gesture in nature worship, not documented elsewhere in the Bible.

9:1 loud voice. The thunderous voice of God (see Ex 19:19 and NASB marg.; see also Ps 29).

9:2 six men came from the direction of the upper gate. These six guardian angels of the city, plus the seventh clothed in linen (cf. the seven angels of the judgment in Rev 8:2,6), came from the place where the idol that provoked to jealousy stood (see 8:3 and note). shattering weapon. Probably a war club or a battle-ax.

9:3 the glory . . . went up. God began to vacate the temple, His glory moving to the door (see note on 8:1–11:25).

9:4 mark. A taw, the last letter of the Hebrew alphabet, which originally looked like an "x" (cf. Rev 7:2–4; 13:16; 14:9,11; 20:4; 22:4). the men who sigh and groan. The remnant (see Ex 12:23; 1 Kin 19:18).

9:6 start from My sanctuary. Judgment begins with God's people (see 1 Pet 4:17).

9:8 Are You . . . Jerusalem? One of the few times Ezekiel questioned the Lord (see 11:13).

destroying the whole remnant of Israel [3]by pouring out Your wrath on Jerusalem?"

9 Then He said to me, "The iniquity of the house of Israel and Judah is very, very great, and the land is [a]filled with blood and the city is [b]full of perversion; for [c]they say, 'The LORD has forsaken the land, and the LORD does not see!'

10 "But as for Me, [a]My eye will have no pity nor will I spare, but [b]I will bring their conduct upon their heads."

11 Then behold, the man clothed in linen at whose loins was the [1]writing case [2]reported, saying, "I have done just as You have commanded me."

Vision of God's Glory Departing from the Temple

10 Then I looked, and behold, in the [1][a]expanse that was over the heads of the cherubim something like a [b]sapphire stone, in appearance resembling a [c]throne, appeared above them.

2 And He spoke to the man clothed in linen and said, "Enter between the [a]whirling wheels under the [1]cherubim and fill your hands with [b]coals of fire from between the cherubim and scatter them over the city." And he entered in my sight.

3 Now the cherubim were standing on the right side of the [1]temple when the man entered, and the cloud filled the [a]inner court.

4 Then the [a]glory of the LORD went up from the cherub to the threshold of the temple, and the [b]temple was filled with the cloud and the court was filled with the [c]brightness of the glory of the LORD.

5 Moreover, the sound of the wings of the cherubim was heard as far as the outer court, like the [a]voice of [1]God Almighty when He speaks.

6 It came about when He commanded the man clothed in linen, saying, "Take fire from between the whirling wheels, from between the cherubim," he entered and stood beside a wheel.

7 Then the cherub stretched out his hand from between the cherubim to the fire which was between the cherubim, took some and put it into the hands of the one clothed in linen, who took it and went out.

8 The cherubim appeared to have the form of a man's hand under their wings.

9 Then I looked, and behold, [a]four wheels beside the cherubim, one wheel beside each cherub; and the appearance of the wheels was like the gleam of a [1][b]Tarshish stone.

10 As for their appearance, all four of them had the same likeness, as if one wheel were within another wheel.

11 When they moved, they went [a]in any of their four [1]directions without turning as they went; but they followed in the direction which [2]they faced, without turning as they went.

12 Their [a]whole body, their backs, their hands, their wings and the [b]wheels were full of eyes all around, the wheels belonging to all four of them.

13 The wheels were called in my hearing, the whirling wheels.

14 And [a]each one had four faces. The first face was the face of a cherub, the second face was the face of a man, the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle.

15 Then the cherubim rose up. They are the [a]living beings that I saw by the river Chebar.

16 Now when the cherubim moved, the wheels would go beside them; also when the cherubim lifted up their wings to rise from the ground, the wheels would not turn from beside them.

17 When [1]the cherubim [a]stood still, [1]the wheels would stand still; and when they rose up, [1]the wheels would rise with them, for the spirit of the living beings was in them.

18 Then the glory of the LORD departed from the threshold of the temple and stood [a]over the cherubim.

19 When [a]the cherubim departed, they lifted their wings and rose up from the earth in my sight with the wheels beside them; and they stood still at the entrance of the east gate of the LORD's house, and the glory of the God of Israel [1]hovered over them.

20 These are the [a]living beings that I saw beneath the God of Israel by [b]the river Chebar; so I knew that they were cherubim.

21 [a]Each one had four faces and each one four wings, and beneath their wings was the form of human hands.

22 As for the likeness of their faces, they were the same faces whose appearance I had seen by the river Chebar. Each one went straight ahead.

10:1 I looked. Ch. 10 echoes ch. 1, underscoring the identity of what Ezekiel saw at the River Chebar with what he now sees in his vision (see 8:4). The creatures in ch. 1 are here called cherubim (see note on 1:5).

10:2 coals of fire. While in 1:13 the living creatures looked like burning coals, here there are real coals. scatter them over the city. A judgment by fire (see Gen 19:24; Amos 7:4).

10:7 the cherub stretched out his hand. Though the "man clothed in linen" was initially commanded to get the coals himself (v. 2), he received them from the hand of one of the creatures (see 1:8). who took it and went out. No further report is given, but the destructive spreading of the coals over Jerusalem is assumed.

10:14 The first face was the face of a cherub. While the faces of the man, lion and eagle are identical with those in 1:10, the ox is here called a cherub (see note on Gen 3:24).

LORD's house which faced eastward. And behold, there were twenty-five men at the entrance of the gate, and among them I saw Jaazaniah son of Azzur and [b]Pelatiah son of Benaiah, leaders of the people.

2 He said to me, "Son of man, these are the men who devise iniquity and [a]give evil advice in this city,

3 who say, '[1]Is not the time near to build houses? [2]This [a]city is the pot and we are the flesh.'

4 "Therefore, [a]prophesy against them, son of man, prophesy!"

5 Then the Spirit of the LORD fell upon me, and He said to me, "Say, 'Thus says the LORD, "So you think, house of Israel, for [a]I know [1]your [b]thoughts.

6 "You have [a]multiplied your slain in this city, filling its streets with [1]them."

7 'Therefore, thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "Your [a]slain whom you have laid in the midst of [2]the city are the flesh and this city is the pot; but [3]I will [b]bring you out of it.

8 "You have [a]feared a sword; so I will [b]bring a sword upon you," the Lord GOD declares.

9 "And I will bring you out of the midst of [1]the city and deliver you into the hands of [a]strangers and [b]execute judgments against you.

10 "You will [a]fall by the sword. I will judge you to the [b]border of Israel; so you shall know that I am the LORD.

11 "This city will [a]not be a pot for you, nor will you be flesh in the midst of it, but I will judge you to the border of Israel.

12 "Thus you will know that I am the LORD; for you have not walked in My statutes nor have you [a]executed My ordinances, but have acted according to the ordinances of the [b]nations around you." ' "

13 Now it came about as I prophesied, that [a]Pelatiah son of Benaiah died. Then I fell on my face and cried out with a loud voice and said, "[b]Alas, Lord GOD! Will You bring the remnant of Israel to a complete end?"

11:1 Jaazaniah. See note on 8:11. Pelatiah. Means "The LORD delivers."
11:3 time near to build houses? The residents of Jerusalem who were not exiled in 597 B.C. felt smugly secure, thinking that nothing worse would befall them. pot. As in ch. 24, Jerusalem is compared to a cooking pot. Those left behind boasted that they were the "meat," the choice portions—the inference being that the exiles in Babylon were the discarded bones (see v. 15).
11:7 Your slain whom you have laid . . . are the flesh. The meat, redefined by the prophet, is not those in power in Jerusalem (who will be driven out) but the innocent people they killed.
11:11 to the border of Israel. At Riblah (see 2 Kin 25:20–21).
11:13 Will You . . . end? See note on 9:8.
11:16 I was a sanctuary for them. A key verse in Ezekiel. Although the exiles had been driven from Jerusalem and its sanctuary (the symbol of God's presence among His people), God Himself became their sanctuary, i.e., He was present among them. Later Christ also became a substitute for the temple (see John 2:19–21).
11:19 one heart . . . new spirit. Inner spiritual and moral transformation that results in single-minded commitment to the Lord and to His will (see 36:26).
11:20 they will be My people, and I shall be their God. The heart of God's covenant promise (see Ex 6:7).
11:23 The glory of the LORD went up. The final eastward movement of the glory (as the Lord left His temple), which stopped above the Mount of Olives (see 9:3; 10:4,19; see also note on 8:1–11:25).
11:24 See note on 8:3.

Ezekiel Prepares for Exile

12 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

2 "Son of man, you live in the [a]midst of the [b]rebellious house, who [c]have eyes to see but do not see, ears to hear but do not hear; for they are a rebellious house.

3 "Therefore, son of man, prepare for yourself baggage for exile and go into exile by day in their sight; even go into exile from your place to another place in their sight. [a]Perhaps they will [1]understand though they are a rebellious house.

4 "Bring your baggage out by day in their sight, as baggage for exile. Then you will go out [a]at evening in their sight, as those going into exile.

5 "Dig a hole through the wall in their sight and [1]go out through it.

6 "Load the baggage on your shoulder in their sight and carry it out in the dark. You shall [a]cover your face so that you cannot see the land, for I have set you as a [b]sign to the house of Israel."

7 I [a]did so, as I had been commanded. By day I [b]brought out my baggage like the baggage of an exile. Then in the evening I dug through the wall with my hands; I went out in the dark and carried the baggage on my shoulder in their sight.

8 In the morning the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

9 "Son of man, has not the house of Israel, the [a]rebellious house, said to you, '[b]What are you doing?'

10 "Say to them, 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "This [2a]burden concerns the prince in Jerusalem as well as all the house of Israel who are [3]in it." '

11 "Say, 'I am [1]a [a]sign to you. As I have done, so it will be done to them; they will [b]go into exile, into captivity.'

12 "The [a]prince who is among them will load his baggage on his shoulder in the dark and go out. [1]They will dig a hole through the wall to bring it out. He will cover his face so that he can not see the land with his eyes.

13 "I will also spread My [a]net over him, and he will be caught in My snare. And I will bring him to Babylon in the land of the Chaldeans; yet he will [b]not see it, though he will die there.

14 "I will [a]scatter to every wind all who are around him, his helpers and all his troops; and I will draw out a sword after them.

15 "So they will [a]know that I am the LORD when I scatter them among the nations and spread them among the countries.

16 "But I will [1]spare a few of them from the [a]sword, the famine and the pestilence that they may tell all their abominations among the nations where they go, and [2]may [b]know that I am the LORD."

17 Moreover, the word of the LORD came to me saying,

18 "Son of man, [a]eat your bread with trembling and drink your water with quivering and anxiety.

19 "Then say to the people of the land, 'Thus says the Lord GOD concerning the inhabitants of Jerusalem in the land of Israel, "They will eat their bread with anxiety and drink their water with horror, because [1]their land will be [2a]stripped of its fullness on account of the violence of all who live in it.

20 "The inhabited [a]cities will be laid waste and the [b]land will be a desolation. So you will know that I am the LORD." ' "

21 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

22 "Son of man, what is this [a]proverb you people have concerning the land of Israel, saying, 'The [b]days are long and every [c]vision fails'?

23 "Therefore say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "I will make this proverb cease so that they will no longer use it as a proverb in Israel." But tell them, "[a]The days draw near as well as the [1]fulfillment of every vision.

24 "For there will no longer be any [1a]false vision or flattering divination within the house of Israel.

12:2 eyes to see but do not see. The hardening about which the Lord had spoken to Isaiah (Is 6:9–10).

12:3 prepare for yourself baggage. Another symbolic act, which, like those in chs. 4–5, follows a vision. Perhaps they will understand. Some hope remained that they would change.

12:5 Dig . . . through the wall. Not the city wall, which was made of stone and was many feet thick, but the sun-dried brick wall of his house.

12:6 sign. Prophets were often instructed to perform symbolic acts (see, e.g., v. 11; 24:24,27).

12:8 In the morning. After Ezekiel "did . . . as . . . commanded" (v. 7). Again the divine explanation follows the prophet's unquestioning obedience (see note on 8:3).

12:9 What are you doing? The book's first indication of the people's response to the prophet's symbolic acts.

12:10 prince in Jerusalem. Zedekiah (see note on 7:27).

12:13 he will not see it. Nebuchadnezzar's men would put out Zedekiah's eyes (see 2 Kin 25:7).

12:18 eat . . . with trembling. Another prophetic symbol. Ezekiel's trembling must have been particularly violent, because the Hebrew word for "tremble" is used elsewhere to describe an earthquake (see 1 Kin 19:11; Amos 1:1).

12:19 people of the land. See note on 7:27.

12:22 proverb. A mocking proverb (probably coined by false prophets; see ch. 13; Jer 23:9–40; 28), which had become a popular saying. vision. The Hebrew for this word is not the same as that used in 1:1 but is the one used in 7:26, referring to a message that could be written down (see Hab 2:2)—specifically Ezekiel's oracles of judgment.

12:23 fulfillment of every vision. Divine affirmation of the true prophetic word (cf. Is 55:11).

25 "For I the LORD will speak, and whatever [a]word I speak will be performed. It will no longer be delayed, for in [b]your days, O [c]rebellious house, I will speak the word and perform it," declares the Lord GOD.' "

26 Furthermore, the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

27 "Son of man, behold, the house of Israel is saying, 'The vision that he sees is for [a]many [1]years from now, and he prophesies of times far off.'

28 "Therefore say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "None of My words will be delayed any longer. Whatever word I speak will be performed," ' " declares the Lord GOD.

False Prophets Condemned

13 Then the word of the LORD came to me saying,

2 "Son of man, prophesy against the [a]prophets of Israel who prophesy, and say to those who prophesy from their own [1]inspiration, '[b]Listen to the word of the LORD!

3 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "Woe to the [a]foolish prophets who are following their own spirit and have [b]seen nothing.

4 "O Israel, your prophets have been like foxes among ruins.

5 "You have not [a]gone up into the [b]breaches, nor did you build the wall around the house of Israel to stand in the battle on the [c]day of the LORD.

6 "They see [1][a]falsehood and lying divination who are saying, 'The LORD declares,' when the LORD has not sent them; [b]yet they hope for the fulfillment of their word.

7 "[a]Did you not see a false vision and speak a lying divination when you said, 'The LORD declares,' but it is not I who have spoken?" ' "

8 Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD, "Because you have spoken [1]falsehood and seen a lie, therefore behold, [a]I am against you," declares the Lord GOD.

9 "So My hand will be against the [a]prophets who see false visions and utter lying divinations. They will [1]have no place in the council of My people, [b]nor will they be written down in the register of the house of Israel, nor will they enter the land of Israel, [2]that you may know that I am the Lord GOD.

10 "It is definitely because they have [a]misled My people by saying, '[b]Peace!' when there is [c]no peace. And when anyone builds a wall, behold, they plaster it over with whitewash;

11 so tell those who plaster it over with whitewash, that it will fall. A [a]flooding rain will come, and you, O hailstones, will fall; and a violent wind will break out.

12 "Behold, when the wall has fallen, will you not be asked, 'Where is the plaster with which you plastered it?' "

13 Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD, "I will make a violent wind break out in My wrath. There will also be in My anger a flooding rain and [a]hailstones to consume it in wrath.

14 "So I will tear down the wall which you plastered over with whitewash and bring it down to the ground, so that its [a]foundation is laid bare; and when it falls, you will be [b]consumed in its midst. And you will [c]know that I am the LORD.

15 "Thus I will spend My wrath on the wall and on those who have plastered it over with whitewash; and I will say to you, 'The wall [1]is gone and its plasterers are gone, 16 along with the prophets of Israel who prophesy to Jerusalem, and who [a]see visions of peace for her when there is [b]no peace,' declares the Lord GOD.

17 "Now you, son of man, set your face against the daughters of your people who are [a]prophesying [b]from their own [1]inspiration. Prophesy against them

18 and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "Woe to the women who sew magic bands on [1]all wrists and make veils for the heads of persons of every stature to [a]hunt down [2]lives! Will you hunt down the [2]lives of My people, but preserve the [2]lives of others for yourselves?

12:27 many years from now. Whereas the first proverb denies that Ezekiel's words would ever be fulfilled, this one allows that they might be fulfilled in the distant future, beyond the concern of the present generation.
13:2 from their own inspiration. Cf. Jer 23:21–22.
13:3 have seen nothing. No revelation from God was received.
13:4 foxes. Animals that travel in packs and feed on dead flesh—a powerfully negative image (see Ps 63:10; Lam 5:18).
13:5 You have not gone up. The function of true prophets is described (cf. 22:30; Ps 106:23). day of the LORD. See note on 7:7.
13:6 They see falsehood. Whether the false prophets had actual visions is unknown, but they claimed to have received revelations from God when in reality their messages only proclaimed what their hearers wanted to hear (see Is 30:10; Jer 23:9–17; 2 Tim 4:3).
13:8 I am against you. See 5:8 and note.
13:9 They will have no place. Part of a threefold punishment, resulting in total exclusion from the community.
13:10 'Peace!' when there is no peace. See v. 16; Jer 6:14; 8:11. whitewash. The Hebrew for this word is used only by Ezekiel (see 22:28). A similar-sounding Hebrew word means "unsatisfying things," and Ezekiel may have chosen the word he did because of its similarity to the other one.
13:11 flooding rain will come. The violent thunderstorm of God's judgment (imagery frequently used in the OT) was about to sweep them away (see, e.g., Ps 18:7–15; 77:17–18; 83:15; Is 28:17; 30:30; Jer 23:19; 30:23).
13:18 magic bands. Exactly what the women were doing is not known, but that it was some kind of black magic or voodoo is clear. The Bible consistently avoids explicit description of occult practices.
13:19 For handfuls of barley. Involvement in religious matters and to [b]keep [1]others alive who should not live, by your lying to My people who listen to lies." ' "

20 Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD, "Behold, I am against your magic bands by which you hunt [1]lives there as [2]birds and I will tear them from your arms; and I will let [1]them go, even those [1]lives whom you hunt as [2]birds.

21 "I will also tear off your veils and [a]deliver My people from your hands, and they will no longer be in your hands to be hunted; and you will know that I am the LORD.

22 "Because you [a]disheartened the righteous with falsehood when I did not cause him grief, but have [1][b]encouraged the wicked not to [c]turn from his wicked way and preserve his life,

23 therefore, you women will no longer see [1][a]false visions or practice divination, and I will [b]deliver My people out of your hand. Thus you will [c]know that I am the LORD."

Idolatrous Elders Condemned

14 Then some [a]elders of Israel came to me and [b]sat down before me.

2 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

3 "Son of man, these men have [a]set up their idols in their hearts and have [b]put right before their faces the stumbling block of their iniquity. Should I be [c]consulted by them at all?

4 "Therefore speak to them and tell them, 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "Any man of the house of Israel who sets up his idols in his heart, puts right before his face the stumbling block of his iniquity, and then comes to the prophet, I the LORD will be brought to give him an answer in [2]the matter in view of the [a]multitude of his idols,

5 in order to lay hold of [1][a]the hearts of the house of Israel who are [2][b]estranged from Me through all their idols." '

6 "Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "[a]Repent and turn away from your idols and turn your faces away from all your [b]abominations.

7 "For anyone of the house of Israel or of the [a]immigrants who stay in Israel who separates himself from Me, sets up his idols in his heart, puts right before his face the stumbling block of his iniquity, and then comes to the prophet to inquire of Me for himself, [b]I the LORD will be brought to answer him in My own person.

8 "I will [a]set My face against that man and make him a [b]sign and [1]a proverb, and I will cut him off from among My people. So you will know that I am the LORD.

9 "But if the prophet is [1]prevailed upon to speak a word, it is I, the LORD, who have [1]prevailed upon that prophet, and I will stretch out My hand against him and [a]destroy him from among My people Israel.

10 "They will bear the punishment of their iniquity; as the iniquity of the inquirer is, so the iniquity of the prophet will be,

11 in order that the house of Israel may no longer [a]stray from Me and no longer [b]defile themselves with all their transgressions. Thus they will be [c]My people, and I shall be their God," declares the Lord GOD."

The City Will Not Be Spared

12 Then the word of the LORD came to me saying,

13 "Son of man, if a country sins against Me by [a]committing unfaithfulness, and I stretch out My hand against it, [1]destroy its [b]supply of bread, send famine against it and cut off from it both man and beast, 14 even [a]though these three men, [b]Noah, [c]Daniel and [d]Job were in its midst, by their own righteousness they could only deliver [e]themselves," declares the Lord GOD.

15 "If I were to cause [a]wild beasts to pass through the land and they [1]depopulated it, and it became desolate so that no one would pass through it because of the beasts,

16 though these three men were in its midst, as I live," declares the Lord GOD, "they could not deliver either their sons or their daughters. [a]They alone would be delivered, but the country would be desolate.

of any kind for mere gain is consistently condemned in the Bible (see, e.g., Jer 6:13; 8:10; Mic 3:5,11; Acts 8:9–24; Titus 1:11). For the proper attitude and motivation see 2 Cor 11:7; 2 Thess 3:8; 1 Tim 3:3. you have . . . put to death. The women had used their evil powers to unjust ends, involving even matters of life and death.

14:1 elders of Israel. Apparently interchangeable with "elders of Judah" (see note on 8:1).

14:3 idols. See note on 6:4. be consulted. A technical term for seeking an oracle from a prophet (see 2 Kin 1:16; 3:11; 8:8).

14:4 I the LORD will . . . give him an answer. The punishment for idolatry was death (Deut 13:6–18).

14:6 Repent. First of three calls for repentance from Ezekiel, who elsewhere proclaims inescapable judgment (see 18:30; 33:11, "turn back").

14:9 prevailed upon. Related to the divine hardening (3:20; cf. 1 Kin 22:19–23).

14:14,20 Noah, Daniel and Job. Three ancient men of renown, selected because of their proverbial righteousness. Because the Hebrew here spells "Danel" instead of "Daniel," another Daniel may be referred to (Ugaritic literature speaks of an honored "Danel"; see chart, p. xix), since the Biblical Daniel's righteousness probably had not become proverbial so soon (Daniel and Ezekiel were contemporaries; see Dan 1:1). If the Biblical Daniel is meant, what he shared in common with Noah and Job was not only righteousness but also deliverance (part of Ezekiel's emphasis).

the country and [b]cut off man and beast from it,'

18 even though these three men were in its midst, as I live," declares the Lord GOD, "they could not deliver either their sons or their daughters, but they alone would be delivered.

19 "Or if I should send a [a]plague against that country and pour out My wrath in blood on it to cut off man and beast from it,

20 even though Noah, Daniel and Job were in its midst, as I live," declares the Lord GOD, "they could not deliver either their son or their daughter. They would deliver only themselves by their righteousness."

21 For thus says the Lord GOD, "How much more when [a]I send My four [1]severe judgments against Jerusalem: sword, famine, wild beasts and plague to cut off man and beast from it!

22 "Yet, behold, [1]survivors will be left in it who will be brought out, both sons and daughters. Behold, they are going to come forth to you and you will [a]see their conduct and actions; then you will be [b]comforted for the calamity which I have brought against Jerusalem for everything which I have brought upon it.

23 "Then they will comfort you when you see their conduct and actions, for you will know that I have not done [a]in vain whatever I did [1]to it," declares the Lord GOD.

Jerusalem like a Useless Vine

15 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

2 "Son of man, how is the wood of the [a]vine better than any wood of a branch which is among the trees of the forest?

3 "Can wood be taken from it to make [1]anything, or can men take a peg from it on which to hang any vessel?

4 "[1]If it has been put into the [a]fire for fuel, and the fire has consumed both of its ends and its middle part has been charred, is it then useful for [2]anything?

5 "Behold, while it is intact, it is not made into [1]anything. How much less, when the fire has consumed it and it is charred, can it still be made into [1]anything!

6 "Therefore, thus says the Lord [1]GOD, 'As the wood of the vine among the trees of the forest, which I have given to the fire for fuel, so have I given up the inhabitants of Jerusalem;

7 and I [a]set My face against them. Though they have [b]come out of the fire, yet the fire will consume them. Then you will know that I am the LORD, when I set My face against them.

8 'Thus I will make the land desolate, because they have [a]acted unfaithfully,' " declares the Lord GOD.

15:2 vine. For Israel as a vine see Ps 80:8–13; cf. Luke 20:9–19; John 15:1–17.

15:3 can men take a peg . . . to hang any vessel? See Is 22:23–25.

15:4 is it then useful for anything? Whereas Isaiah (5:1–7) and Jeremiah (2:21) express divine disappointment over Israel's failure to produce good fruit, Ezekiel typically laments her total uselessness.

15:7 Though they have come out of the fire. A reference to the siege of Jerusalem in 597 B.C., which resulted in the exile of which Ezekiel was a part (see 1:2; 2 Kin 24:10–16). fire will consume them. Prophecy threatening another and more devastating siege—Ezekiel's main message before 586 (see 5:2,4; 10:2,7).

16:3 Cf. Deut 26:5. Your origin and your birth. Jerusalem had a centuries-old, pre-Israelite history (Gen 14:18), and the city long resisted Israelite conquest (Josh 15:63). It became fully Israelite only after David's conquest (2 Sam 5:6–9). father . . . mother. A reference to Jerusalem's non-Israelite origin generally, not to any specific individuals. Amorite. Cf. v. 45. Like the Canaanites, the Amorites were pre-Israelite, Semitic inhabitants of Canaan (Gen 48:22; Josh 5:1; 10:5; Judg 1:34–36). Hittite. The Hittites were non-Semitic residents of Canaan, who earlier had flourished in Asia Minor during the second millennium B.C. (see Gen 23:10–20; 26:34; 1 Sam 26:6; 2 Sam 11:2–27; 1 Kin 11:1).

16:4 rubbed with salt. This practice has been observed among Arab peasants in the Holy Land as late as A.D. 1918. wrapped in cloths. Cf. Luke 2:7.

16:5 thrown out into the open field. Abandoned to die. Exposure of infants, common in ancient pagan societies, was abhorrent to Israel.

squirming in your blood, I said to you while you were in your blood, 'Live!' Yes, I said to you while you were in your blood, 'Live!'

7 "I [a]made you [1]numerous like plants of the field. Then you grew up, became tall and reached the age for fine ornaments; your breasts were formed and your hair had grown. Yet you were naked and bare.

8 "Then I passed by you and saw you, and behold, [1]you were at the time for love; so I [a]spread My skirt over you and covered your nakedness. I also [b]swore to you and [c]entered into a covenant with you so that you [d]became Mine," declares the Lord GOD.

9 "Then I bathed you with water, washed off your blood from you and [a]anointed you with oil.

10 "I also clothed you with [a]embroidered cloth and put sandals of porpoise skin on your feet; and I wrapped you with fine linen and covered you with silk.

11 "I adorned you with ornaments, put [a]bracelets on your hands and a [b]necklace around your neck.

12 "I also put a [a]ring in your nostril, earrings in your ears and a [b]beautiful crown on your head.

13 "Thus you were adorned with [a]gold and silver, and your dress was of fine linen, silk and embroidered cloth. You ate fine flour, honey and oil; so you were exceedingly beautiful and advanced to [b]royalty.

14 "Then your [a]fame went forth among the nations on account of your beauty, for it was [b]perfect because of My splendor which I bestowed on you," declares the Lord GOD.

15 "But you [a]trusted in your beauty and [b]played the harlot because of your fame, and you poured out your harlotries on every passer-by [1]who might be willing.

17 "You also took your beautiful [1][a]jewels made of My gold and of My silver, which I had given you, and made for yourself male images that you might play the harlot with them.

18 "Then you took your embroidered cloth and covered them, and offered My oil and My incense before them.

19 "Also [a]My bread which I gave you, fine flour, oil and honey with which I fed you, [1]you would offer before them for a soothing aroma; so it happened," declares the Lord GOD.

20 "Moreover, you took your sons and daughters whom you had borne to [a]Me and [b]sacrificed them to [1]idols to be devoured. Were your harlotries so small a matter?

21 "You slaughtered [a]My children and offered them up to [1]idols by [b]causing them to pass through the fire.

22 "Besides all your abominations and harlotries you did not remember the days of [a]your youth, when you were naked and bare and squirming in your blood.

23 "Then it came about after all your wickedness ('Woe, woe to you!' declares the Lord GOD), 24 that you built yourself a [a]shrine and made yourself a [b]high place in every square.

25 "You built yourself a high place at the top of [a]every street and made your beauty abominable, and you spread your legs to every passer-by to multiply your harlotry.

26 [1]Lit great of flesh [a]Jer 7:18, 19; Ezek 8:17

16:6 blood. Of childbirth. Live! God's basic desire for all people, summed up in one word (see 18:23,32; 1 Tim 2:4; 2 Pet 3:9).
16:7 hair. Pubic hair (see Is 7:20).
16:8 spread My skirt. Symbolic of entering a marriage relationship (see notes on Deut 22:30; Ruth 3:9). covenant. Since the maiden symbolizes Jerusalem, this does not refer to the Sinai covenant but to marriage as a covenant (see Mal 2:14).
16:9 blood. Menstrual blood, indicating sexual maturity.
16:10 embroidered cloth . . . sandals of porpoise skin . . . fine linen. Representative of the very best garments. embroidered cloth. See 27:16,24; colored, variegated material fit for a queen (see Ps 45:14). sandals of porpoise skin. The same kind of leather was used to cover the tabernacle ("porpoise skins," Ex 25:5; 26:14).
16:11 bracelets on your hands. See Gen 24:22.
16:12 ring. Not piercing the nose but worn on the outer part of the nose (see Gen 24:47). earrings. Circular ear ornaments, worn by men (Num 31:50). The Hebrew for this word is not the same as that used in Gen 35:4; Ex 32:2–3. crown. The wedding crown (see Song 3:11, where the groom wears it).
16:13 gold and silver. Cf. Hos 2:8. fine flour. Used in offerings, therefore of high quality (see v. 19; 46:14). oil. Cf. Hos 2:8. For the combination of honey and oil see Deut 32:13. you were exceedingly beautiful. Cf. Eph 5:27.
16:14 your fame went forth. Especially in the time of David and Solomon.
16:15 harlot. The accusation of prostitution referred both to spiritual turning away from the Lord and to physical involvement with the fertility rites of Canaanite paganism (cf. Jer 3:1–5; Hos 4:13–14; 9:1). harlotries. Sexual favors. Verb and noun forms of the Hebrew for this word occur 23 times in this chapter. every passer-by. Cf. Gen 38:14–16.
16:16 clothes. All of the Lord's previous gifts were used by Jerusalem in prostituting herself. Cloths of some kind were needed in the Asherah cult practices (see 2 Kin 23:7). They may have been used as curtains or as bedding (see Amos 2:7–8).
16:17 male images. Phallic symbols or pictures of naked men (see 23:14).
16:20 sons and daughters . . . sacrificed. See 20:26,31; 23:37; 2 Kin 21:6; 23:10; Jer 7:31; 19:5; 32:35. Laws against child sacrifice are recorded in Lev 18:21; 20:2; Deut 12:31; 18:10.
16:24 shrine . . . high place. Cultic prostitution was moved from the high places (v. 15), which were outside the towns, into Jerusalem.
16:26 lustful. The Hebrew is more graphic: "having oversized organs." The language reflects both God's and Ezekiel's disgust with Jerusalem's apostasy. neighbors. Nowhere else in the OT are the Egyptians called "neighbors."

27 "Behold now, I have stretched out My hand against you and diminished your rations. And I delivered you up to the desire of those who hate you, the [a]daughters of the Philistines, who are ashamed of your lewd conduct.

28 "Moreover, you played the harlot with the [a]Assyrians because you were not satisfied; you played the harlot with them and still were not satisfied.

29 "You also multiplied your harlotry with the land of merchants, Chaldea, yet even with this you were not satisfied." ' "

30 "How [a]languishing is your heart," declares the Lord GOD, "while you do all these things, the actions of a [1][b]bold-faced harlot.

31 "When you built your shrine at the beginning of every street and made your high place in every square, in [a]disdaining money, you were not like a harlot.

32 "You adulteress wife, who takes strangers instead of her husband!

33 "[1]Men give gifts to all harlots, but you [a]give your gifts to all your lovers to bribe them to come to you from every direction for your harlotries.

34 "Thus you are different from those women in your harlotries, in that no one plays the harlot [1]as you do, because you give money and no money is given you; thus you are different."

35 Therefore, O harlot, hear the word of the LORD.

36 Thus says the Lord GOD, "Because your lewdness was poured out and your nakedness uncovered through your harlotries with your lovers and with all your detestable [a]idols, and because of the blood of your sons which you gave to [1]idols,

37 therefore, behold, I will [a]gather all your lovers with whom you took pleasure, even all those whom you loved and all those whom you [b]hated. So I will gather them against you from every direction and [c]expose your nakedness to them that they may see all your nakedness.

38 "Thus I will [a]judge you like women who commit adultery or shed blood are judged; and I will bring on you the blood of [b]wrath and jealousy.

39 "I will also give you into [1]the hands of your lovers, and they will tear down your shrines, demolish your high places, [a]strip you of your clothing, take away your [2]jewels, and will leave you naked and bare.

40 "They will [1]incite a [a]crowd against you and they will stone you and cut you to pieces with their swords.

41 "They will [a]burn your houses with fire and execute judgments on you in the sight of many women. Then I will [b]stop you from playing the harlot, and you will also no longer pay [1]your lovers.

42 "So I [a]will calm My fury against you and My jealousy will depart from you, and I will be pacified and angry [b]no more.

43 "Because you have [a]not remembered the days of your youth but [1]have [b]enraged Me by all these things, behold, I in turn will [c]bring your conduct down on your own head," declares the Lord GOD, "so that you will not commit this lewdness on top of all your other abominations.

44 "Behold, everyone who quotes [a]proverbs will quote this proverb concerning you, saying, '[1]Like mother, [1]like daughter.'

45 "You are the daughter of your mother, who loathed her husband and children. You are also the [a]sister of your sisters, who [b]loathed their husbands and children. Your mother was a Hittite and your father an Amorite.

46 "Now your [a]older sister is Samaria, who lives [1]north of you with her [2]daughters; and your younger sister, who lives [3]south of you, is [b]Sodom with her [2]daughters.

47 "Yet you have not merely walked in their ways or done according to their abominations; but, as if that were [a]too little, you acted [b]more corruptly in all your conduct than they.

48 "As I live," declares the Lord GOD, "Sodom, your sister and her daughters have [a]not done as you and your daughters have done.

49 "Behold, this was the guilt of your sister Sodom: she and her daughters had [a]arrogance, [b]abundant food and [c]careless ease, but she did not [1]help the [d]poor and needy.

50 "Thus they were haughty and committed [a]abominations before Me. Therefore I [b]removed them [1]when I saw it.

16:33 you give your gifts to all your lovers. Jerusalem's perversity is here pictured as worse than adultery and ordinary prostitution (see also v. 34).
16:37 expose your nakedness. A reversal of the marriage covering (v. 8) and a return to the state described in v. 7.
16:38 judge you. The punishment was death (see Lev 20:10; Deut 22:22) by stoning (see v. 40; Deut 22:21–24; John 8:5–7) or burning (Gen 38:24).
16:39 your shrines . . . your high places. The cultic centers within the city (see v. 24).
16:40 crowd . . . will stone you. Cf. 23:47.
16:41 burn your houses. A common form of punishment (see Judg 12:1; 15:6). no longer pay your lovers. See v. 33.
16:44 Like mother, like daughter. Referring to Jerusalem's continual and seemingly hereditary tendency toward evil (cf. vv. 3,45).
16:46 daughters. Suburbs or satellite cities.
16:47 more corruptly . . . than they. The Bible frequently compares a city or people to Sodom (see v. 46) as the epitome of evil and degradation (see Deut 29:23; 32:32; Is 1:9–10; 3:9; Jer 23:14; Lam 4:6; Matt 10:15; 11:23–24; Jude 7).
16:49 guilt of your sister Sodom. Here social injustice rather than sexual perversion (Gen 19) is highlighted.

51 "Furthermore, Samaria did not commit half of your sins, for you have multiplied your abominations more than they. Thus you have made your sisters appear [a]righteous by all your abominations which you have committed.

52 "Also bear your disgrace in that you have [1]made judgment favorable for your sisters. Because of your sins in which you acted [a]more abominably than they, they are more in the right than you. Yes, be also ashamed and bear your disgrace, in that you made your sisters appear righteous.

53 "Nevertheless, I will restore their captivity, the captivity of Sodom and her daughters, the captivity of Samaria and her daughters, and [1]along with them [2]your own captivity,

54 in order that you may bear your humiliation and feel [a]ashamed for all that you have done when you become [b]a consolation to them.

55 "Your sisters, Sodom with her daughters and Samaria with her daughters, [1]will return to their former state, and you with your daughters will also return to your former state.

56 "As the name of your sister Sodom was not heard from your lips in your day of pride,

57 before your [a]wickedness was uncovered, [1]so now you have become the [b]reproach of the daughters of [2]Edom and of all who are around her, of the daughters of the Philistines—those surrounding you who despise you.

58 "You have [a]borne the penalty of your lewdness and abominations," the LORD declares.

59 For thus says the Lord GOD, "I will also do with you as you have done, you who have [a]despised the oath by breaking the covenant.

The Covenant Remembered

60 "Nevertheless, I will remember My covenant with you in the days of your youth, and I will establish an [a]everlasting covenant with you.

61 "Then you will [a]remember your ways and be ashamed when you receive your sisters, both your older and your younger; and I will give them to you as daughters, but not because of your covenant.

62 "Thus I will [a]establish My covenant with you, and you shall [b]know that I am the LORD,

63 so that you may [a]remember and be ashamed and [b]never open your mouth anymore because of your humiliation, when I have [c]forgiven you for all that you have done," the Lord GOD declares.

Parable of Two Eagles and a Vine

17 Now the word of the LORD came to me
saying,

2 "Son of man, propound a riddle and speak a [a]parable to the house of Israel,

3 [1]saying, 'Thus says the Lord [2]GOD, "A great [a]eagle with [b]great wings, long pinions and a full plumage of many colors came to [c]Lebanon and took away the top of the cedar.

4 "He plucked off the topmost of its young twigs and brought it to a land of merchants;
he set it in a city of traders.

5 "He also took some of the seed of the land and planted it in [1][a]fertile soil. He [2]placed it beside abundant waters; he set it like a [b]willow.

6 "Then it sprouted and became a low, spreading vine with its branches turned toward him, but its roots remained under it.
So it became a vine and yielded shoots and sent out branches.

7 "But there was [1]another great eagle with great wings and much plumage; and behold, this vine bent its roots toward him and sent out its branches toward him from the beds where it was [a]planted, that he might water
it.

8 "It was planted in good [1]soil beside abundant waters, that it might yield branches and bear fruit and become a splendid vine." '

9 "Say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "Will it thrive? Will he not pull up its roots and cut off its fruit, so that it withers—so that all its sprouting leaves wither? And neither by great [1]strength nor by many people can it be raised from its roots again.

10 "Behold, though it is planted, will it

16:57 reproach of the daughters of Edom. The OT frequently condemns Edom for this (see 25:12–14; 35; Is 63:1; Obadiah).

16:60 everlasting covenant. See 37:26; Is 55:3; Jer 32:40.

17:3 great eagle. Nebuchadnezzar (see v. 12). Lebanon. Jerusalem (see v. 12). cedar. David's dynasty; his royal family.
17:4 topmost of its young twigs. Jehoiachin. land of merchants. The country of Babylonia (see v. 12; 16:29). city of traders. Babylon.
17:5 seed. Zedekiah son of Josiah; he was the brother of Jehoahaz and Jehoiakim and uncle of Jehoiachin (see 2 Kin 23–24). planted it. Made him king (2 Kin 24:17).
17:6 low, spreading vine. No longer a tall cedar, because thousands of Judah's leading citizens had been deported (see 2 Kin 24:15–16; see also Jer 52:28). But see note on 15:2.
17:7 another great eagle. An Egyptian pharaoh, either Psammetichus II (595–589 B.C.) or Hophra (589–570). Hophra, mentioned in Jer 44:30, is probably the pharaoh who offered help to Jerusalem in 586 (see Jer 37:5). If the fact that ch. 17 is located between ch. 8 (dated 592) and ch. 20 (dated 591) is chronologically meaningful, Psammetichus is meant. bent its roots toward him. Zedekiah appealed to Egypt for military aid (v. 15), an act of rebellion against Nebuchadnezzar (see 2 Kin 24:20).

Zedekiah's Rebellion

11 Moreover, the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

12 "Say now to the [a]rebellious house, 'Do you not [b]know what these things mean?' Say, 'Behold, the [c]king of Babylon came to Jerusalem, took its king and princes and brought them to him in Babylon.

13 'He took one of the royal [1a]family and made a covenant with him, [2]putting him under [b]oath. He also took away the [c]mighty of the land, 14 that the kingdom might [a]be [1]in subjection, not exalting itself, but keeping his covenant that it might continue.

15 'But he [a]rebelled against him by sending his envoys to Egypt that they might give him horses and many [1]troops. Will he succeed? Will he who does such things [b]escape? Can he indeed break the covenant and escape?

16 'As I live,' declares the Lord GOD, 'Surely in the [1]country of the king who [2]put him on the throne, whose oath he [a]despised and whose covenant he broke, [3b]in Babylon he shall die.

17 '[a]Pharaoh with his mighty army and great company will not [1]help him in the war, when they cast up ramps and build siege walls to cut off many lives.

18 'Now he despised the oath by breaking the covenant, and behold, he [1a]pledged his allegiance, yet did all these things; he shall not escape.' "

19 Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD, "As I live, surely My oath which he despised and My covenant which he broke, I will [1]inflict on his head.

20 "I will spread My [a]net over him, and he will be [b]caught in My snare. Then I will bring him to Babylon and [c]enter into judgment with him there regarding the unfaithful act which he has committed against Me.

21 "All the [1a]choice men in all his troops will fall by the sword, and the survivors will be scattered to every wind; and you will know that I, the LORD, have spoken."

22 Thus says the Lord GOD, "I will also take a sprig from the lofty top of the cedar and set it out; I will pluck from the topmost of its young twigs a tender one and I will plant it on a [a]high and lofty mountain.

23 "On the high mountain of Israel I will plant it, that it may bring forth boughs and bear fruit and become a stately [a]cedar. And birds of every [1]kind will [2]nest under it; they will [2]nest in the shade of its branches.

24 "All the [a]trees of the field will know that I am the LORD; I bring down the high tree, exalt the low tree, dry up the green tree and make the dry tree [b]flourish. I am the LORD; I have spoken, and I will perform it."

God Deals Justly with Individuals

18 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

2 "[a]What do you mean by using this proverb concerning the land of Israel, saying,

'[b]The fathers eat the sour grapes,
But the children's teeth [1]are set on edge'?

3 "As I live," declares the Lord [1]GOD, "you are surely not going to use this proverb in Israel anymore.

4 "Behold, [a]all [1]souls are Mine; the [2]soul of the father as well as the [2]soul of the son is Mine. The [3]soul who [b]sins will die.

5 "But if a man is righteous and practices justice and righteousness,

17:10 east wind. The hot, dry wind known as the khamsin, which withers vegetation (see 19:12). Here it stands for Nebuchadnezzar and his Babylonian forces.
17:12 the rebellious house. See 2:3 and note.
17:15 Can he indeed break the covenant and escape? The point of the chapter (see vv. 16,18).
17:16 in Babylon he shall die. See 2 Kin 25:7.
17:19 My oath . . . My covenant. The king of Judah would have sworn faithfulness to the treaty in the name of the Lord. To swear such an oath and then violate it was to despise God.
17:22 I will. A beautiful Messianic promise follows, using the previous imagery in a totally new and unexpected way. sprig. A member of David's family (cf. Is 11:1; Zech 3:8; 6:12). cedar. See note on v. 3. plant it. Make him king (see v. 5). high and lofty mountain. Jerusalem.
17:23 birds . . . will nest under it. See Mark 4:32.
18:2 this proverb. Cf. Jer 31:29, which indicates that the proverb arose first in Jerusalem. Jeremiah predicted the cessation of the proverb, and Ezekiel said its end had come. concerning the land of Israel. And about the fate of those who have suffered loss. The fathers . . . on edge. The proverb, though it expresses self-pity, fatalism and despair, and though it mocks the justice of God, had its origin in Israelite belief in corporate solidarity (see Ex 20:5; 34:7 and Ezekiel's own words in chs. 16; 23). In Lam 5:7 the thought appears as a sincere confession. set on edge. The Hebrew for this phrase perhaps means "blunted" or "worn" (cf. Eccl 10:10), but it may refer to the sensation in the mouth when eating something bitter or sour.
18:3 As I live. A divine oath, revealing God's unalterable intention. It is used often in Ezekiel (5:11; 14:16,18,20; 16:48; 17:16,19; 20:3,31,33; 33:11,27; 34:8; 35:6,11).
18:4 The soul who sins will die. Or "Only the soul . . ." Ezekiel spoke out against a false use the people were making of a doctrine of inherited guilt (perhaps based on a false understanding of Ex 20:5; 34:7). What follows is his description of three men, standing for three generations, who break the three/four-generation pattern. soul. "Life" or "person," not used here to distinguish spirit from body.
18:5 man is righteous. The first generation that keeps the law. The following 15 commandments are partly ceremonial but are mostly moral injunctions. See the Ten Commandments in Ex 20 and Deut 5; cf. Ps 15:2–5; 24:3–6; Is 33:15.

18:6 eat at the mountain shrines. Eating meat sacrificed to idols on the high places (see 6:3; Hos 4:13). lift up his eyes to. Seek help from (see 23:27; 33:25; Ps 121:1). idols. See note on 6:4. defile. Adultery (condemned in Ex 20:14; Deut 22:22; Lev 18:20; 20:10) is here associated with a menstrual prohibition (see Lev 15:19–24; 18:19; 20:18), which is absent from the two listings that follow (cf. vv. 11,15).

18:7 oppress. The rich taking advantage of the poor. restores to the debtor his pledge. See Ex 22:26; Deut 24:12–13; Amos 2:8. robbery. See the commandment against stealing in Ex 20:15; Deut 5:19. This is violent ("armed") robbery rather than secret theft or burglary (see Lev 19:13). bread to the hungry. See Deut 15:7–11; Matt 25:31–46.

18:8 lend . . . on interest. See 22:12; Ps 15:5; Prov 28:8. What is forbidden in Ex 22:25; Lev 25:35–37; Deut 23:19 is interest on loans to the needy. Deut 23:20 allows an Israelite to "charge interest to a foreigner"; Ezekiel condemns usury. (Interest on modern commercial loans is a different matter.)

18:9 he is righteous and will surely live. After the checklist of commandments has been gone over, the verdict is rendered (cf. Ps 15:5; 24:5). live. See note on 16:6. This is life as more than mere existence; it includes communion with God (see Ps 63:3; 73:27–28).

18:10 violent son. Evil, second generation. About half (eight) of the previous commandments follow, but in a different order.

18:13 his blood will be on his own head. He is held responsible for his own sin (see Lev 20:9,11–12,16,27).

18:14 a son. Righteous, third generation. Twelve commandments follow.

18:21 But if the wicked man turns . . . and observes . . . he shall surely live. Verses 1–20 indicate that the chain of inherited guilt can be broken, and vv. 21–29 teach that the power of guilt accumulated within a person's life can be overcome.

18:24 But when a righteous man turns. See Heb 2:3; 2 Pet 2:20–22 for warnings against those who knowingly and willfully turn from righteousness.

18:26 When a righteous man. Verses 26–29 repeat the argument developed in vv. 21–25.

from his righteousness, commits iniquity and dies because of it, for his iniquity which he has committed he will die.

27 "Again, when a wicked man turns away [a]from his wickedness which he has committed and practices justice and righteousness, he will save his life.

28 "Because he considered and turned away from all his transgressions which he had committed, he shall surely live; he shall not die.

29 "But the house of Israel says, 'The way of the Lord is not right.' Are My ways not right, O house of Israel? Is it not your ways that are not right?

30 "Therefore I will judge you, O house of Israel, each according to his conduct," declares the Lord GOD. "[a]Repent and turn away from all your transgressions, so that iniquity may not become a stumbling block to you.

31 "[a]Cast away from you all your transgressions which you have committed and make yourselves a [b]new heart and a new spirit! For why will you die, O house of Israel?

32 "For I have [a]no pleasure in the death of anyone who dies," declares the Lord GOD. "Therefore, repent and live."

Lament for the Princes of Israel

19 "As for you, take up a [a]lamentation for the [b]princes of Israel

2 and say,

'[1]What was your mother?
A lioness among lions!
She lay down among young lions,
She reared her cubs.

3 'When she brought up one of her cubs,
He became a lion,
And he learned to tear his prey;
He devoured men.

4 'Then nations heard about him;
He was captured in their pit,
And they [a]brought him with hooks
To the land of Egypt.

5 'When she saw, as she waited,
That her hope was lost,
She took [1]another of her cubs
And made him a young lion.

6 'And he [a]walked about among the lions;
He became a young lion,
He learned to tear his prey;
He devoured men.

7 'He [1]destroyed their [2]fortified towers
And laid waste their cities;
And the land and its fullness were appalled
Because of the sound of his roaring.

8 'Then [a]nations set against him
On every side from their provinces,
And they spread their net over him;
He was captured in their pit.

9 '[a]They put him in a cage with hooks
And [b]brought him to the king of Babylon;
They brought him in hunting nets
So that his voice would be heard no more
On the mountains of Israel.

10 'Your mother was [a]like a vine in your [1]vineyard,
Planted by the waters;
It was fruitful and full of branches
Because of abundant waters.

11 'And it had [1][a]strong branches fit for scepters of rulers,
And its [b]height was raised above the clouds
So that it was seen in its height with the mass of its branches.

12 'But it was [a]plucked up in fury;
It was [b]cast down to the ground;
And the [c]east wind dried up its fruit.
Its [1][d]strong branch [2]was torn off
So that [3]it withered;
The fire consumed it.

13 'And now it is planted in the [a]wilderness,
In a dry and thirsty land.

14 'And [a]fire has gone out from its branch;

18:30 Therefore. Concluding, summary oracle. each. While the house of Israel as a whole was guilty, God's judgment would be just and individual. Repent. Second call to repentance (see 14:6).

18:31 make . . . a new heart. What had been promised unconditionally (11:19; 36:26) is here portrayed as attainable but not inevitable (cf. the same tension between Phil 2:12 and 2:13).

18:32 I have no pleasure. Verse 23 is echoed in this final, grand summary, called by some the most important message in the whole book of Ezekiel (see note on 16:6).

19:1 lamentation. A metered (three beats plus two beats) chant usually composed for funerals of fallen leaders (as in 2 Sam 1:17–27), but often used sarcastically by the OT prophets to lament or to ironically predict the death of a nation (see Is 14:4–21; Amos 5:1–3). See also 2:10. princes. Kings.

19:2 lioness. Although a lament, this chapter is an allegory like that in ch. 17 (to which it is related in content). Ch. 17 gives an interpretation, but this one does not. The lioness may be a personification of Israel (see v. 1), Judah (see 4:6; 8:1,17; 9:9) or Jerusalem (see 5:5), all of which may be considered to be mother to the kings (see vv. 10–14).

19:3 one of her cubs. Jehoahaz (see 2 Kin 23:31–34; Jer 22:10–12), who reigned only three months. devoured men. A reference to his oppressive policies (see Jer 22:13).

19:5 another of her cubs. Perhaps Jehoiachin (who reigned only three months, 2 Kin 24:8), but probably Zedekiah (of whom v. 7 appears a more likely description). Both were taken to Babylon (v. 9). If the reference is to Jehoiachin (2 Kin 24:15), this was a true lament; if to Zedekiah, it was a prediction (2 Kin 25:7).

19:10 Your mother was like a vine. The one previously pictured as a lioness (v. 2) is here a vine (see 15:2 and note; 17:7).

19:12 east wind. Nebuchadnezzar and his army (see note on 17:10).

19:13 wilderness. Babylonia—which to Israel seemed like a wilderness (see 20:35).

19:14 fire. Rebellion (see 2 Kin 24:20). its branch. Zedekiah.

It has consumed its shoots and fruit,
So that there is not in it a [1]strong branch,
A scepter to rule.' "
This is a lamentation, and has become a lamentation.

God's Dealings with Israel Rehearsed

20 Now in the seventh year, in the fifth month, on the tenth of the month, [1]certain of the [a]elders of Israel came to inquire of the LORD, and sat before me.

2 And the word of the LORD came to me saying,

3 "Son of man, speak to the elders of Israel and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "Do you come to inquire of Me? As I live," declares the Lord GOD, "[a]I will not be inquired of by you." '

4 "Will you judge them, will you judge them, son of man? [a]Make them know the abominations of their fathers;

5 and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "On the day when I [a]chose Israel and [1]swore to the [2]descendants of the house of Jacob and made Myself known to them in the land of Egypt, when I [1]swore to them, saying, [b]I am the LORD your God,

6 on that day I swore to them, [a]to bring them out from the land of Egypt into a land that I had [1]selected for them, [b]flowing with milk and honey, which is [c]the glory of all lands.

7 "I said to them, '[a]Cast away, each of you, the detestable things of his eyes, and [b]do not defile yourselves with the idols of Egypt; [c]I am the LORD your God.'

8 "But they [a]rebelled against Me and were not willing to listen to Me; [1]they did not cast away the detestable things of their eyes, nor did they forsake the [b]idols of Egypt.

Then I [2]resolved to [c]pour out My wrath on them, to accomplish My anger against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

9 "But I acted [a]for the sake of My name, that it should [b]not be profaned in the sight of the nations among whom they lived, in whose sight I made Myself known to them by bringing them out of the land of Egypt.

10 "So I took them out of the land of Egypt and brought them into the [a]wilderness.

11 "I gave them My [a]statutes and informed them of My ordinances, by [b]which, if a man [1]observes them, he will live.

12 "Also I gave them My sabbaths to be a [a]sign between Me and them, that they might know that I am the LORD who sanctifies them.

13 "But the house of Israel [a]rebelled against Me in the wilderness. They did not walk in My statutes and they rejected My ordinances, [b]by which, if a man [1]observes them, he will live; and My [c]sabbaths they greatly profaned. Then I [2]resolved to [d]pour out My wrath on them in the wilderness, to annihilate them.

14 "But I acted for the sake of My name, that it should not be profaned in the sight of the nations, before whose sight I had brought them out.

15 "Also [a]I swore to them in the wilderness that I would not bring them into the land which I had given them, flowing with milk and honey, which is the glory of all lands,

16 because they rejected My ordinances, and as for My statutes, they did not walk in them; they even profaned My sabbaths, for their [a]heart continually went after their idols.

17 "Yet My eye spared them rather than destroying them, and I did not cause their [a]annihilation in the wilderness.

18 "I said to their [1][a]children in the wilderness, '[b]Do not walk in the statutes of your fathers or keep their ordinances or defile yourselves with their idols.

has become a lamentation. Indicates repeated use (see Ps 137:1).

20:1 seventh year . . . fifth month . . . tenth of the month. Aug. 14, 591 B.C., the third date (see 1:2; 8:1). Since Ezekiel had received many revelations before this (see opening verses of chs. 12–18), the date must emphasize the importance of this chapter. Like chs. 16 and 23, it presents a negative view of Israel's history; unlike them, it does not employ allegory. elders of Israel. See notes on 8:1; 14:1. inquire. See v. 3 and note on 14:3.

20:3 As I live. See note on 18:3. inquired of. See note on 14:3.

20:5 I chose. The only occurrence of the word "choose" in Ezekiel. Verses 5–26 present Israel's history in three acts (vv. 5–9, Egypt; vv. 10–17, Wilderness, Part 1; vv. 18–26, Wilderness, Part 2); but see note on v. 28. Each act has four scenes: (1) revelation, (2) rebellion, (3) wrath, (4) reconsideration. I swore. See vv. 15,23,42. I am the LORD your God. See Ex 3:6,14–15 and notes.

20:6 land . . . flowing with milk and honey. See note on Ex 3:8. the glory of all lands. Cf. Deut 8:7–10; Jer 3:19 for the land's natural beauty. Its real beauty lay in being selected as God's dwelling place (Deut 12:5,11).

20:7 idols. See note on 6:4.

20:8 But they rebelled. See vv. 13,21; see also Josh 24:14. Then I resolved to pour out My wrath on them. An internal refrain (see vv. 13,21); see also note on 7:8. accomplish My anger against. See note on 5:13.

20:9 for the sake of My name. See vv. 14,22,44. Name and person are closely connected in the Bible. God's name is His identity and reputation—that by which He is known. The phrase used here is equivalent to "for My own sake" (cf. Is 37:35; 43:25). God's acts of deliverance—past and future—identify Him, revealing His true nature (see 36:22; Ps 23:3; Is 48:9). profaned. By ridicule (see Num 14:15–16).

20:10 wilderness. Act Two (see note on v. 5).

20:11 will live. See vv. 13,21; contrast v. 25. See notes on 16:6; 18:9; see also Lev 18:5 and note.

20:12 sabbaths to be a sign. Israel's observance of the sabbath was to serve as a sign that she was the Lord's holy people (see Ex 31:13–17). Ezekiel highlights the sabbath (see 22:8,26; 23:38; 44:24; 45:17; 46:3), as did Jeremiah (Jer 17:19–27; cf. Neh 13:17–18). Jewish legalism later corrupted the sabbath law (see Matt 12:1–14).

20:13 profaned. By not observing the sabbath-rest (see Jer 17:21–23) or by not observing it in the manner and spirit God intended (see Amos 8:5).

20:18 I said to their children. Act Three (see note on v. 5). God

19 'a I am the LORD your God; b walk in My statutes and keep My ordinances and 1 observe them.
20 'a Sanctify My sabbaths; and they shall be a sign between Me and you, that you may know that I am the LORD your God.'
21 "But the a children rebelled against Me; they did not walk in My statutes, nor were they careful to observe My ordinances, by which, if a man observes them, he will live; they profaned My sabbaths. So I 1 resolved to pour out My wrath on them, to accomplish My anger against them in the wilderness.
22 "But I a withdrew My hand and acted b for the sake of My name, that it should not be profaned in the sight of the nations in whose sight I had brought them out.
23 "Also I swore to them in the wilderness that I would a scatter them among the nations and disperse them among the lands,
24 because they had not observed My ordinances, but had rejected My statutes and had profaned My sabbaths, and a their eyes were 1 on the idols of their fathers.
25 "I also gave them statutes that were a not good and ordinances by which they could not live;
26 and I pronounced them a unclean because of their gifts, in that they b caused all 1 their firstborn to pass through the fire so that I might make them desolate, in order that they might c know that I am the LORD." '
27 "Therefore, son of man, a speak to the house of Israel and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "Yet in this your fathers have b blasphemed Me by c acting treacherously against Me.
28 "When I had a brought them into the land which I swore to give to them, then they saw every b high hill and every leafy tree, and they offered there their sacrifices and there they presented the provocation of their offering. There also they made their soothing aroma and there they poured out their drink offerings.
29 "Then I said to them, 'What is the high place to which you go?' So its name is called 1 Bamah to this day." '
30 "Therefore, say to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "Will you defile yourselves 1 after the manner of your a fathers and play the harlot after their detestable things?
31 "1 When you offer your gifts, when you a cause your sons to pass through the fire, you are defiling yourselves with all your idols to this day. And shall I be inquired of by you, O house of Israel? As I live," declares the Lord GOD, "I will not be inquired of by you.
32 "What a comes 1 into your mind will not come about, when you say: 'We will be like the nations, like the tribes of the lands, b serving wood and stone.'

God Will Restore Israel to Her Land

33 "As I live," declares the Lord GOD, "surely with a mighty hand and with an a outstretched arm and with wrath poured out, I shall be b king over you.
34 "I will a bring you out from the peoples and gather you from the lands where you are scattered, with a mighty hand and with an outstretched arm and with b wrath poured out;
35 and I will bring you into the a wilderness of the peoples, and there I will enter into judgment with you face to face.
36 "As I a entered into judgment with your fathers in the b wilderness of the land of Egypt, so I will enter into judgment with you," declares the Lord GOD.
37 "I will make you a pass under the rod, and I will bring you into the bond of the covenant;
38 and I will a purge from you the rebels and those who transgress against Me; I will bring them out of the land where they sojourn, but they will b not enter the 1 land of Israel. Thus you will know that I am the LORD.
39 "As for you, O house of Israel," thus says the Lord GOD, "a Go, serve everyone his idols; 1 but later you will surely listen to Me, and My holy name you will b profane no longer with your gifts and with your idols.

20:28 When I had brought them into the land. Apparently Act Four in Ezekiel's history (see note on v. 5), but it is not carried through with the same schematic consistency.
20:30 Will you . . . ? The point of the chapter: "How will you act?"
20:31 inquired of. See note on 14:3.
20:32 will not come about. As happened to those who were exiled to Egypt (see Jer 44:15–19). like the nations. The temptation to lose its uniqueness was always present for Israel (see 1 Sam 8:5).
20:33 mighty hand . . . outstretched arm. Terminology of the exodus (cf. Deut 4:34; 5:15; 7:19; 11:2; 26:8).
20:35 wilderness of the peoples. Exile among the nations would be for Israel like a return to the wilderness through which she journeyed on the way to the promised land (see Hos 2:14).
20:37 pass under the rod. The way a shepherd counts or separates his flock (see Jer 33:13; Matt 25:32–33). I will bring you into the bond of the covenant. As He had in the Sinai wilderness (see 16:60,62).
20:38 purge. As in the first wilderness experience, many were not allowed to enter the land (see Num 14:26–35).
20:39 Go, serve everyone his idols. Irony; the opposite is meant (cf. 1 Kin 22:15; Amos 4:4).

40 "For on My holy mountain, on the high mountain of Israel," declares the Lord GOD, "there the whole house of Israel, [a]all of them, will serve Me in the land; there I will [b]accept them and there I will [1]seek your contributions and the choicest of your gifts, with all your holy things.

41 "[1]As a soothing aroma I will accept you when I [a]bring you out from the peoples and gather you from the lands where you are scattered; and I will prove Myself [b]holy among you in the sight of the nations.

Parable of the Sword of the LORD

21 [1]And the word of the LORD came to me saying,

2 "Son of man, [a]set your face toward Jerusalem, and [1b]speak against the sanctuaries and prophesy against the land of Israel;

3 and say to the land of Israel, 'Thus says the LORD, "Behold, [a]I am against you; and I will draw My sword out of its sheath and cut off from you the [b]righteous and the wicked.

4 "Because I will cut off from you the righteous and the wicked, therefore My sword will go forth from its sheath against [a]all flesh from south to north.

5 "Thus all flesh will know that I, the LORD, have drawn My sword out of its sheath. It will [a]not return to its sheath again." '

6 "As for you, son of man, groan with breaking [1]heart and bitter grief, groan in their sight.

7 "And when they say to you, 'Why do you groan?' you shall say, 'Because of the [a]news that is coming; and [b]every heart will melt, all hands will be feeble, every spirit will [1]faint and all knees will [2]be weak as water. Behold, it comes and it will happen,' declares the Lord [3]GOD."

8 Again the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

9 "Son of man, prophesy and say, 'Thus says the LORD.' Say,

7 [1]Lit be dim [2]Lit flow [3]Heb YHWH, usually rendered LORD, and so throughout the ch [a]Ezek 7:26 [b]Is 13:7; Nah 2:10

20:40 My holy mountain. Mentioned only here in Ezekiel, it refers to Jerusalem or Zion (see Ps 2:6; 3:4; 15:1; see also Is 11:9; 56:7; 57:13; 65:11; Obad 16; Zeph 3:11). whole house of Israel. Includes the northern kingdom, which fell in 722–721 B.C. (see 11:15; 36:10). I will seek. See Deut 23:21 ("require"); Mic 6:8. contributions. Possibly refers to a prescribed contribution. The other 19 occurrences in Ezekiel of the Hebrew for this word are confined to chs. 44–48, where the reference is to the land set aside for the temple and priests (see 45:1; 48:8–10,"allotment") or to the special gifts for the priests (see 44:30). choicest . . . gifts. Voluntary contributions (but possibly including first fruits).

20:41 As a soothing aroma. Either in a metaphorical sense (as in Eph 5:2) or in a literal sense (as in 6:13). bring you out. Cf. v. 34.

20:43 you will remember . . . and . . . loathe yourselves. A thorough repentance (see 6:9; 16:63; 36:31; Luke 15:17–19).

20:44 for My name's sake. Summarizes and concludes the oracle (see note on v. 9).

20:46 set your face. A posture required eight times of Ezekiel (here; 13:17; 21:2; 25:2; 28:21; 29:2; 35:2; 38:2). toward Teman. Or "toward the south," i.e., toward Judah and Jerusalem, the object of all of Ezekiel's prophesying in these chapters. Any Babylonian invasion would traverse the Holy Land from north to south (see 26:7).

20:47 kindle a fire. Common figurative language for invading forces (see Is 10:16–19; Jer 15:14; 17:4,27; 21:14; see also note on 15:7). green . . . as well as . . . dry tree. All trees (cf. 17:24; Luke 23:31). from south to north. Expresses totality, not direction; equivalent to saying,"from the border on the right to that on the left."

20:49 parables. See note on 17:2; for other ridiculing of the prophet see 12:21–28; 33:32.

21:2 set your face. See note on 20:46. against the sanctuaries. See 9:6 and note.

21:3 I am against you. See note on 5:8. My sword. For the sword of the Lord's judgment see Is 31:8; 34:6; 66:16. This is the first of five sword oracles (see vv. 8–17, 18–24, 25–27, 28–32). Here the sword refers to Babylon and Nebuchadnezzar (v. 19). the righteous and the wicked. Indicates the completeness of the judgment that is about to come on Israel. No one will escape its devastating effects, not even the righteous in the land. Contrast God's deliverance of Noah (Gen 6:7–8) and Lot (Gen 18:23; 19:12–13).

21:4 from south to north. See note on 20:47.

21:6 groan with breaking heart and bitter grief. Ezekiel's display of intense grief is to serve as another prophetic sign and as an occasion for a new message of impending judgment.

21:7 when they say to you. Cf. 12:9 for the people's response to Ezekiel's behavior. This is Ezekiel's seventh symbolic act (see Introduction: Literary Features).

'[a]A sword, a sword sharpened
And also polished!
10 'Sharpened to make a [a]slaughter,
Polished [1]to flash like lightning!'
Or shall we rejoice, the [2]rod of My son [b]despising every tree?

11 "It is given to be polished, that it may be handled; the sword is sharpened and polished, to give it into the hand of the slayer.

12 "[a]Cry out and wail, son of man; for it is against My people, it is against all the [b]officials of Israel. They are delivered over to the sword with My people, therefore strike your thigh.

13 "For there is a testing; and what if even the [1]rod which despises will be no more?" declares the Lord GOD.

14 "You therefore, son of man, prophesy and clap your hands together; and let the sword be [a]doubled the third time, the sword for the slain. It is the sword for the great one slain, which surrounds them,

15 that their [a]hearts may melt, and many [b]fall at all their [c]gates. I have given the glittering sword. Ah! It is made for striking like lightning, it is wrapped up in readiness for slaughter.

17 "I will also clap My hands together, and I will [1][a]appease My wrath; I, the LORD, have spoken."

The Instrument of God's Judgment

18 The word of the LORD came to me saying,

19 "As for you, son of man, [1][a]make two ways for the sword of the king of Babylon to come; both of them will go out of one land. And [2]make a signpost; [3]make it at the head of the way to the city.

20 "You shall [1]mark a way for the sword to come to [a]Rabbah of the sons of Ammon, and to Judah into [b]fortified Jerusalem.

21 "For the king of Babylon stands at the [1]parting of the way, at the head of the two ways, to use [a]divination; he [b]shakes the arrows, he consults the [2c]household idols, he looks at the liver.

22 "Into his right hand came the divination, 'Jerusalem,' to [a]set battering rams, to open the mouth [1]for slaughter, to lift up the voice with a battle cry, to set battering rams against the gates, to cast up ramps, to build a siege wall.

23 "And it will be to them like a false divination in their eyes; [a]they have sworn solemn oaths. But he [b]brings iniquity to remembrance, that they may be seized.

24 "Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD, 'Because you have made your iniquity to be remembered, in that your transgressions are uncovered, so that in all your deeds your sins appear—because you have come to remembrance, you will be seized with the hand.

25 'And you, O slain, wicked one, the prince of Israel, whose [a]day has come, in the time of the [1]punishment of the end,'

26 thus says the Lord GOD, 'Remove the turban and take off the [a]crown; this will [1]no longer be the same. [b]Exalt that which is low and abase that which is high.

27 '[a]A ruin, a ruin, a ruin, I will make it. This also will be no more until [b]He comes whose right it is, and I will give it to Him.'

21:9 A sword, a sword. A sword song (see note on v. 3), possibly accompanied by dancing or symbolic actions. Such songs may have been sung by warriors about to go into battle (see note on 2 Sam 1:18).

21:10 To think that the Babylonians would conquer every other country except Judah was a false hope. rod. Represents rule, government or kingdom. My son. Corresponds to "My people" in v. 12 (see Gen 49:9).

21:11 slayer. Nebuchadnezzar (v. 19).

21:12 Cry out and wail . . . strike your thigh. Eighth symbolic act (see Introduction: Literary Features).

21:13 there is a testing. Of Judah. what if even the rod . . . will be no more? See note on v. 10. The question anticipates the final interruption of Davidic kingship, which came in 586 B.C. (see vv. 25–27).

21:14 clap your hands. See 6:11 and note. let the sword be doubled. Cf. 2 Kin 13:18–19.

21:17 clap My hands. In scorn and in harmony with God's command to Ezekiel in v. 14.

21:19 king of Babylon. Nebuchadnezzar. one land. Babylon, or possibly Aram (Syria)—Nebuchadnezzar headquartered at Riblah in northern Aram (see 2 Kin 25:6).

21:20 Rabbah. Capital of Ammon (Jer 49:2); modern Amman (capital of Jordan).

21:21 to use divination . . . the arrows. For the purpose of seeking good omens for the coming campaign—a practice not elsewhere mentioned in the Bible. Apparently arrows were labeled (e.g., "Rabbah," "Jerusalem"), placed into a quiver and drawn out, one with each hand. Right-hand selection was seen as a good omen (see v. 22). idols. Miniature representations of the gods worshiped by the family or clan (see Gen 31:19). Consulting them is referred to in Hos 3:4; Zech 10:2. The household idols of Gen 31:19–35 were small enough to hide in a saddle, but others were life-size (1 Sam 19:13–16). looks at the liver. Looking at the color and configurations of sheep livers to foretell the future was common in ancient Babylonia and Rome, but the practice is not mentioned elsewhere in the Bible.

21:23 false divination. The leaders of Jerusalem, once submissive to Nebuchadnezzar but now in rebellion (2 Kin 24:20), hoped that the result of the omen-seeking (vv. 21–22) was misleading.

21:25 prince of Israel. Zedekiah (see note on 7:27).

21:26 turban. Only here is it mentioned as royal headwear. Elsewhere it is worn by priests (Ex 28:4,37,39; 29:6; 39:28,31; Lev 8:9; 16:4), as a setting for the crown (Ex 28:36–37; 29:6; 39:31; Lev 8:9). It was made of fine linen (Ex 28:39; 39:28). Exalt . . . low . . . abase . . . high. A common Biblical expression for the reversal of human conditions because of the intervention of the Lord (see 17:24; 1 Sam 2:7–8; Luke 1:52–53).

21:27 A ruin, a ruin, a ruin. Threefold repetition for emphasis (see Is 6:3; Jer 7:4). until He comes whose right it is. The Messiah; apparently an allusion to Gen 49:10 (see note there). Or

28 "And you, son of man, prophesy and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD concerning the sons of Ammon and concerning their [a]reproach,' and say: 'A sword, a sword is drawn, polished for the slaughter, to cause it [1]to [b]consume, that it may be like lightning—

29 while they see for you [a]false visions, while they divine lies for you—to place you on the necks of the wicked who are slain, whose day has come, in the [b]time of the [1]punishment of the end.

30 '[a]Return it to its sheath. In the [b]place where you were created, in the land of your origin, I will judge you.

The Sins of Israel

22 Then the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

2 "And you, son of man, will you judge, will you judge the bloody city? Then cause her to know all her abominations.

3 "You shall say, 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "A city [a]shedding blood in her midst, so that her time will come, and that makes idols, contrary to her interest, for defilement!

4 "You have become [a]guilty by [1]the blood which you have shed, and defiled by your idols which you have made. Thus you have brought your [2]day near and have come to your years; therefore I have made you a [b]reproach to the nations and a mocking to all the lands.

5 "Those who are near and those who are far from you will mock you, you of ill repute, full of [a]turmoil.

6 "Behold, the [a]rulers of Israel, each according to his [1]power, have been in you for the purpose of shedding blood.

7 "They have [a]treated father and mother lightly within you. The [b]alien they have oppressed in your midst; the [c]fatherless and the widow they have wronged in you.

8 "You have [a]despised My holy things and [b]profaned My sabbaths.

9 "Slanderous men have been in you for the purpose of shedding blood, and in you they have eaten at the mountain shrines. In your midst they have [a]committed acts of lewdness.

10 "In you [1]they have [a]uncovered their fathers' nakedness; in you they have humbled her who was [b]unclean in her menstrual impurity.

11 "One has committed abomination with his [a]neighbor's wife and another has lewdly defiled his [b]daughter-in-law. And another in you has [c]humbled his sister, his father's daughter.

12 "In you they have [a]taken bribes to shed blood; you have taken [b]interest and profits, and you have injured your neighbors for gain by [c]oppression, and you have [d]forgotten Me," declares the Lord GOD.

13 "Behold, then, I smite My hand at your [a]dishonest gain which you have acquired and at [1]the bloodshed which is among you.

14 "Can [a]your heart endure, or can your hands be strong in the days that I will deal with you? [b]I, the LORD, have spoken and will act.

15 "I will [a]scatter you among the nations and I will disperse you through the lands, and I will [b]consume your uncleanness from you.

16 "You will profane yourself in the sight of the nations, and you will [a]know that I am the LORD." ' "

17 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

18 "Son of man, the house of Israel has become [a]dross to Me; all of them are [b]bronze and tin and iron and lead in the [c]furnace; they are the dross of silver.

possibly the reference is to Nebuchadnezzar, translating "... whose is the judgment" or "... who pronounces sentence" (see 2 Kin 25:6).

21:28 sons of Ammon. See v. 20. After judgment on Jerusalem, the foreigners would be dealt with (cf. Is 10:5). their reproach. See 25:3,6; also cf. 36:15. A sword, a sword. Nebuchadnezzar's (see vv. 9,19 and notes).

21:29 false visions ... divine lies. Apparently Ammon also had false prophets of peace (see v. 10 and note; 13:10; Jer 6:14; 8:11–12). you. Nebuchadnezzar's sword.

21:30 Return it. Addressing Nebuchadnezzar.

21:31 brutal men. The people of the East, as in 25:4.

22:2 will you judge ...? Cf. 20:4. the bloody city. Jerusalem, the usual focal point of Ezekiel's prophecy (see 5:5).

22:3 shedding blood ... makes idols. Two categories of sins are developed: social injustices and idol worship. idols. See note on 6:4.

22:6 rulers of Israel. Leaders generally, not kings; contrast 21:12 with 19:1.

22:7 fatherless ... widow they have wronged. Cf. Is 1:17.

22:8 sabbaths. A major concern in Ezekiel (see note on 20:12).

22:9 eaten at the mountain shrines ... acts of lewdness. See notes on 6:3; 16:15; 18:6.

22:10 humbled her who was unclean. Cf. 18:6.

22:11 abomination. All the sins mentioned in this verse were specifically forbidden in the law (Lev 18:7–20; 20:10–21; Deut 22:22–23,30; 27:22).

22:12 interest and profits. See note on 18:8.

22:13 smite My hand. In anger (see 21:14,17).

22:18 dross. For references to Jerusalem as a furnace see Is 1:21–26; Jer 6:27–30. Typically, imagery used by others to represent purifying was used by Ezekiel to picture total destruction (see note on 15:4).

19 "Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD, 'Because all of you have become dross, therefore, behold, I am going to gather you into the midst of Jerusalem.

20 'As they gather silver and bronze and iron and lead and tin into the [a]furnace to blow fire on it in order to melt it, so I will gather you in My anger and in My wrath and I will lay you there and melt you.

21 'I will gather you and blow on you with the fire of My wrath, and you will be melted in the midst of it.

22 'As silver is melted in the furnace, so you will be melted in the midst of it; and you will know that I, the LORD, have [a]poured out My wrath on you.' "

23 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

24 "Son of man, say to her, 'You are a land that is [a]not cleansed or rained on in the day of indignation.'

25 "There is a [a]conspiracy of her prophets in her midst like a roaring lion tearing the prey. They have [b]devoured lives; they have taken treasure and precious things; they have made many [c]widows in the midst of her.

26 "Her [a]priests have done violence to My law and have [b]profaned My holy things; they have made no [c]distinction between the holy and the profane, and they have not taught the difference between the [d]unclean and the clean; and they hide their eyes from My sabbaths, and I am profaned among them.

27 "Her princes within her are like wolves tearing the prey, by shedding blood and [a]destroying lives in order to get [b]dishonest gain.

28 "Her prophets have smeared whitewash for them, seeing [a]false visions and divining lies for them, saying, 'Thus says the Lord GOD,' when the LORD has not spoken.

29 "The people of the land have practiced [a]oppression and committed robbery, and they have wronged the poor and needy and have [b]oppressed the sojourner without justice.

30 "I [a]searched for a man among them who would [b]build up the wall and [c]stand in the gap before Me for the land, so that I would not destroy it; but I found [1]no one.

31 "Thus I have poured out My [a]indignation on them; I have consumed them with the fire of My wrath; [b]their way I have brought upon their heads," declares the Lord GOD.

Oholah and Oholibah's Sin and Its Consequences

23 The word of the LORD came to me again, saying,

2 "Son of man, there were [a]two women, the daughters of one mother;

3 and they played the harlot in Egypt. They [a]played the harlot in their youth; there their breasts were pressed and there their virgin bosom was handled.

4 "Their names were Oholah the elder and Oholibah her sister. And they became Mine, and they bore sons and daughters. And as for their names, Samaria is Oholah and Jerusalem is Oholibah.

5 "Oholah played the harlot [1]while she was Mine; and she lusted after her lovers, after the [a]Assyrians, her neighbors,

6 who were clothed in purple, [a]governors and officials, all of them desirable young men, horsemen riding on horses.

7 "She bestowed her harlotries on them, all of whom were the choicest [1]men of Assyria; and with all whom she lusted after, with all their idols she [a]defiled herself.

8 "She did not forsake her harlotries [a]from the time in Egypt; for in her youth [1]men had lain with her, and they handled her virgin bosom and poured out their [2]lust on her.

9 "Therefore, I gave her into the hand of her [a]lovers, into the hand of the [1]Assyrians, after whom she lusted.

10 "They [a]uncovered her nakedness; they took her sons and her daughters, but they slew her with the sword. Thus she became a [1]byword among women, and they executed judgments on her.

11 "Now her sister Oholibah saw this, yet she was [a]more corrupt in her lust than she, and her harlotries were more than the harlotries of her sister.

22:25 prophets. Ezekiel begins to speak plainly concerning the "dross" of vv. 18–22. All of Jerusalem's leaders and people were included: prophets (here and v. 28), priests (v. 26), princes (v. 27), people (v. 29). like a roaring lion. Cf. v. 27; 13:4; Zeph 3:3.

22:26 distinction between the holy and the profane. The main duty of priests (see 44:23). sabbaths. See note on v. 8.

22:28 whitewash. See 13:10 and note.

22:29 people of the land. See 7:27 and note.

22:30 I searched for a man. Cf. Is 51:18; 59:16; 63:5. stand in the gap before Me. See note on 13:5. To intercede with God in behalf of the people was part of a prophet's task (Gen 20:7; 1 Sam 12:23; Jer 37:3; 42:2). Some interpret the task here as teaching, particularly calling the people to repentance. Cf. the task of the prophetic "watchman" (3:17–21; 33:1–6).

23:4 Oholah. Means "her tent." Oholibah. Means "My tent is in her." Cf. the two sisters of Jer 3:6–12. "Tent" could stand for Canaanite high places, for the Lord's tabernacle (except that Ezekiel never uses the word elsewhere for the legitimate shrine) or for Israel's tent-dwelling origin.

23:5 played the harlot. Here represents political alliances with pagan powers—not idolatry as in ch. 16 (see note on 16:15). The graphic language of the chapter underscores God's and Ezekiel's disgust with Israel for playing the worldly game of international politics rather than relying on the Lord for her security—as clear a case of religious prostitution as idolatry. Assyrians. See 2 Kin 15:19.

23:8 in Egypt. Cf. 20:5–8. Israel's entire history was marked by unfaithfulness. For her attachment to Egypt see Ex 17:3; Num 11:5,18,20; 14:2–4; 21:5.

23:10 uncovered her nakedness. A reference to the fall of Samaria to the Assyrians in 722–721 B.C.

12 "She lusted after the [1][a]Assyrians, governors and officials, the ones near, magnificently dressed, horsemen riding on horses, all of them desirable young men.
13 "I saw that she had defiled herself; they both took [1]the same way.
14 "So she increased her harlotries. And she saw men [a]portrayed on the wall, images of the [b]Chaldeans portrayed with vermilion,
15 girded with belts on their loins, with flowing turbans on their heads, all of them looking like officers, [1]like the [2]Babylonians in Chaldea, the land of their birth.
16 "[1]When she saw them she [a]lusted after them and sent messengers to them in Chaldea.
17 "The [1][a]Babylonians came to her to the bed of love and defiled her with their harlotry. And when she had been defiled by them, [2]she became disgusted with them.
18 "She [a]uncovered her harlotries and uncovered her nakedness; then [1]I became [b]disgusted with her, as [1]I had become disgusted with her [c]sister.
19 "Yet she multiplied her harlotries, remembering the days of her youth, when she played the harlot in the land of Egypt.
20 "She [a]lusted after their paramours, whose flesh is like the flesh of donkeys and whose issue is like the issue of horses.
21 "Thus you longed for the [a]lewdness of your youth, when [1]the Egyptians handled your bosom because of the breasts of your youth.
22 "Therefore, O Oholibah, thus says the Lord [1]GOD, 'Behold I will arouse your lovers against you, from whom [2]you were alienated, and I will bring them against you from every side:
23 the [1][a]Babylonians and all the [b]Chaldeans, [c]Pekod and Shoa and Koa, and all the [2][d]Assyrians with them; desirable young men, governors and officials all of them, officers and [3]men of renown, all of them riding on horses.
24 'They will come against you with weapons, [a]chariots and [1]wagons, and with a company of peoples. They will set themselves against you on every side with buckler and shield and helmet; and I will commit the [b]judgment to them, and they will judge you according to their customs.
25 'I will set My [a]jealousy against you, that they may deal with you in wrath. They will remove your nose and your ears; and your [1]survivors will fall by the sword. They will take your [b]sons and your daughters; and your [1]survivors will be consumed by the fire.
26 'They will also [a]strip you of your clothes and take away your [b]beautiful jewels.
27 'Thus [a]I will make your lewdness and your harlotry brought from the land of Egypt to cease from you, so that you will not lift up your eyes to them or remember Egypt anymore.'
28 "For thus says the Lord GOD, 'Behold, I will give you into the hand of those whom you [a]hate, into the hand of those from whom [1]you were alienated.
29 'They will [a]deal with you in hatred, take all your property, and leave you naked and bare. And the nakedness of your harlotries will be uncovered, both your lewdness and your harlotries.
30 'These things will be done to you because you have [a]played the harlot with the nations, because you have defiled yourself with their idols.
31 'You have walked in the way of your sister; therefore I will give [a]her cup into your hand.'
32 "Thus says the Lord GOD,
'You will [a]drink your sister's cup,
Which is deep and wide.
[1]You will be [b]laughed at and held in derision;
It contains much.
33 'You will be filled with [a]drunkenness and sorrow,
The cup of horror and desolation,
The cup of your sister Samaria.
34 'You will [a]drink it and drain it.
Then you will gnaw its fragments
And tear your breasts;
for I have spoken,' declares the Lord GOD.
35 "Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD, 'Because you have [a]forgotten Me and [b]cast Me behind your back, bear now the punishment of your lewdness and your harlotries.' "
36 Moreover, the LORD said to me, "Son of man, will you [a]judge Oholah and Oholibah? Then [b]declare to them their abominations.
37 "For they have committed adultery, and blood is on their hands. Thus they have committed adultery with their idols and even caused their sons, [a]whom they bore to Me, to pass through the fire to [1]them as food.

38 "Again, they have done this to Me: they have [a]defiled My sanctuary on the same day and have [b]profaned My sabbaths.

39 "For when they had slaughtered their children for their idols, they entered My [a]sanctuary on the same day to profane it; and lo, thus they did within My house.

40 "Furthermore, [1]they have even sent for men who come from afar, to whom a messenger was sent; and lo, they came—for whom you bathed, [a]painted your eyes and [b]decorated yourselves with ornaments;

41 and you sat on a splendid [a]couch with a [b]table arranged before it on which you had set My [c]incense and My [c]oil.

Parable of the Boiling Pot

24 And the word of the LORD came to me in the ninth year, in the tenth month, on the tenth of the month, saying,

2 "Son of man, write the name of the day, this very day. The king of Babylon [1]has [a]laid siege to Jerusalem this very day.

3 "Speak a [a]parable to the [b]rebellious house and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD,

"Put on the [c]pot, put it on and also pour water in it;

4 [1][a]Put in it the pieces,
Every good piece, the thigh and the shoulder;
Fill it with choice bones.

5 "Take the [a]choicest of the flock,
And also pile [1]wood under [2]the pot.
Make it boil vigorously.
Also seethe its bones in it."

6 'Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD,
"Woe to the [a]bloody city,
To the pot in which there is rust
And whose rust has not gone out of it!
Take out of it piece after piece,
[1]Without making a choice.

7 "For her blood is in her midst;
She placed it on the bare rock;
She did not [a]pour it on the ground
To cover it with dust.

8 "That it may [a]cause wrath to come up to take vengeance,
I have put her blood on the bare rock,
That it may not be covered."

9 'Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD,
"[a]Woe to the bloody city!
I also will make the pile great.

10 "Heap on the wood, kindle the fire,
[1]Boil the flesh well
And mix in the spices,
And let the bones be burned.

23:38 defiled My sanctuary. See ch. 8. sabbaths. See note on 22:8.
23:40 they have even sent for men. Possibly a reference to the Jerusalem summit meeting in Zedekiah's time (Jer 27). you. Jerusalem. painted your eyes. By daubing them with kohl, a soot-like compound, to draw attention to the eyes.
23:41 couch with a table arranged before it. Ready for a banquet (see Is 21:5; also Prov 9:2).
24:1 ninth year . . . tenth month . . . tenth of the month. Jan. 15, 588 B.C.; Ezekiel's fourth date (see 1:2; 8:1; 20:1).
24:2 write . . . this very day. The king . . . this very day. God revealed to Ezekiel what was happening in Jerusalem.
24:3 parable. Cf. 17:2; 20:49. rebellious house. The last occurrence of this condemning phrase in Ezekiel (see 2:5,6,8; 3:9,26–27; 12:2–3,9,25; 17:12). Jerusalem's rebellion would soon be crushed. pot. The image of 11:3–12, a discussion of the remnant, here pictures total destruction. The cooking pot is Jerusalem (cf. 11:3).
24:4 Every good piece. The people of Jerusalem who thought they were spared the exile in 597 B.C. because of their goodness (see 11:3 and note).
24:5 wood. Nebuchadnezzar's siege equipment.
24:6 bloody city. Cf. 22:3. there is rust. Representing Jerusalem's irredeemable situation. Without making a choice. After the siege of Jerusalem in 597, perhaps the Babylonians had cast lots to see whom they would take away into exile. Now everyone would go.
24:7 blood . . . on the bare rock. Jerusalem had brazenly left on display the blood she unjustly shed (cf. Is 3:9). For uncovered blood see Gen 4:10; Job 16:18; Is 26:21.
24:8 wrath. God's wrath. What Jerusalem had begun (v. 7), God would complete through judgment. Compare Ex 8:32 with Ex 9:12.

11 "Then [a]set it empty on its coals
So that it may be hot
And its bronze may [1]glow
And its [b]filthiness may be melted in it,
Its rust consumed.
12 "She has [a]wearied Me with toil,
Yet her great rust has not gone from her;
Let her rust be in the fire!
13 "In your filthiness is lewdness.
Because I would have cleansed you,
Yet you are [a]not clean,
You will not be cleansed from your filthiness again
Until I have [1][b]spent My wrath on you.
14 "I, the LORD, have spoken; it is [a]coming and I will act. I will not relent, and I will not [b]pity and I will not be sorry; [c]according to your ways and according to your deeds [1]I will judge you," declares the Lord GOD.' "

Death of Ezekiel's Wife Is a Sign

15 And the word of the LORD came to me saying,
16 "Son of man, behold, I am about to take from you the [a]desire of your eyes with a [b]blow; but you shall not [c]mourn and you shall not weep, and your [d]tears shall not come.
17 "Groan silently; make [a]no mourning for the dead. Bind on your turban and put your shoes on your feet, and do not cover your mustache and [b]do not eat the bread of men."
18 So I spoke to the people in the morning, and in the evening my wife died. And in the morning I did as I was commanded.
19 The people said to me, "Will you not tell us what these things that you are doing mean for us?"
20 Then I said to them, "The word of the LORD came to me saying,
21 'Speak to the house of Israel, "Thus says the Lord GOD, 'Behold, I am about to profane My sanctuary, the pride of your power, the [a]desire of your eyes and the delight of your soul; and your [b]sons and your daughters whom you have left behind will fall by the sword.
22 'You will do as I have done; you will not cover your mustache and you will not eat the bread of men.
23 'Your turbans will be on your heads and your shoes on your feet. You [a]will not mourn and you will not weep, but [b]you will rot away in your iniquities and you will groan [1]to one another.
24 'Thus Ezekiel will be a [a]sign to you; according to all that he has done you will do; when it comes, then you will know that I am the Lord GOD.' "
25 'As for you, son of man, will it not be on the day when I take from them their [a]stronghold, the joy of their [1]pride, the desire of their eyes and [2]their heart's delight, their sons and their daughters,
26 that on that day he who [a]escapes will come to you with information for your ears?
27 'On that day your [a]mouth will be opened to him who escaped, and you will speak and be mute no longer. Thus you will be a sign to them, and they will know that I am the LORD.' "

Judgment on Gentile Nations—Ammon

25 And the word of the LORD came to me saying,
2 "Son of man, set your face toward the [a]sons of Ammon and prophesy against them,
3 and say to the sons of Ammon, 'Hear the word of the Lord [1]GOD! Thus says the Lord GOD, "Because you said, '[a]Aha!' against My sanctuary when it was profaned, and against the land of Israel when it was made desolate, and against the house of Judah when they went into exile, 24:16 desire of your eyes. The object of loving attention (see vv. 21,25)—apparently a conventional way of referring to a man's wife. blow. Some swiftly fatal disease, one that often reached plague proportions (see Ex 9:14; Num 14:37).

24:17 Bind on your turban. The mourner normally removed it and put dust on his head (see Josh 7:6; 1 Sam 4:12). shoes on your feet. To remove them showed grief (see 2 Sam 15:30). cover your mustache. A gesture of shame (Mic 3:7) or uncleanness (Lev 13:45). bread of men. The funeral meal (see Jer 16:7).
24:19 The people said to me. The third time that the people responded to Ezekiel's behavior (see 12:9; 21:7).
24:21 profane. By letting Nebuchadnezzar burn it down.
24:24 Ezekiel. The prophet speaks of himself in the third person. Elsewhere his name occurs only in 1:3. sign. See note on 12:6.
24:26 he who escapes. The first of the exiles of 586 B.C. information. About the siege—its beginning (verifying the accuracy of vv. 1–2) and its ending (see note on 33:21).
24:27 be mute no longer. Ezekiel's wife died the same day the temple was burned (Aug. 14, 586 B.C.; see 2 Kin 25:8–9). See notes on 3:26; 33:21. sign. See note on 12:6.
25:1–32:32 Oracles against the nations. Frequently in the prophets, God's word of judgment on Israel is accompanied by oracles of judgment on the nations. These make clear that, while judgment begins "with the household of God" (1 Pet 4:17), the pagan nations would not escape God's wrath. Often these judgments are implicit messages of salvation for Israel (see 28:25–26) since the Lord's victories over hostile powers remove an enemy of His people or punish them for their cruel attacks on His people. In the case of Ezekiel there are seven oracles (the seventh of which has seven parts, each introduced by the phrase "The word of the LORD came to me"; see Introduction: Outline).
25:2 set your face. See note on 20:46. sons of Ammon. Ammon (part of modern Jordan) was immediately east of Israel (see 21:20; see also Jer 9:26; 49:1–6; Amos 1:13–15; Zeph 2:8–11). For hostile Ammonite action during this time and later see 2 Kin 24:2; Neh 4:7.
25:3 Aha! A cry of malicious joy (cf. 26:2; 36:2; Ps 35:21–25).
25:4 sons of the east. Probably nomadic tribes of the desert

5 "I will make [a]Rabbah a pasture for camels and the sons of Ammon a resting place for flocks. Thus you will know that I am the LORD."

6 'For thus says the Lord GOD, "Because you have [a]clapped your hands and stamped your feet and [b]rejoiced with all the scorn of your soul against the land of Israel,

7 therefore, behold, I have [a]stretched out My hand against you and I will give you for [b]spoil to the nations. And I will [c]cut you off from the peoples and [d]make you perish from the lands; I will destroy you. Thus you will [e]know that I am the LORD."

Moab

8 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "Because [a]Moab and Seir say, 'Behold, the house of Judah is like all the nations,'

9 therefore, behold, I am going to [1]deprive the flank of Moab of its cities, of its cities which are on its [2]frontiers, the glory of the land, [a]Beth-jeshimoth, [b]Baal-meon and [c]Kiriathaim,

10 and I will give it for a possession along with the sons of Ammon to the [a]sons of the east, so that the sons of Ammon will not be remembered among the nations.

11 "Thus I will execute judgments on Moab, and they will know that I am the LORD."

Edom

12 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "Because [a]Edom has acted against the house of Judah by taking vengeance, and has incurred grievous guilt, and avenged themselves upon them,"

13 therefore thus says the Lord GOD, "I will also [a]stretch out My hand against Edom and [b]cut off man and beast from it. And I will lay it waste; from [c]Teman even to [d]Dedan they will fall by the sword.

14 "'[a]I will lay My vengeance on Edom by the hand of My people Israel. Therefore, they will act in Edom [b]according to My anger and according to My wrath; thus they will know My vengeance," declares the Lord GOD.

Philistia

15 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "Because the Philistines have acted in [a]revenge and have taken vengeance with scorn of soul to destroy with everlasting enmity,"

16 therefore thus says the Lord GOD, "Behold, I will [a]stretch out My hand against the Philistines, even cut off the [b]Cherethites and destroy the remnant of the seacoast.

17 "I will execute great vengeance on them with wrathful rebukes; and they will [a]know that I am the LORD when I lay My vengeance on them." ' "

Judgment on Tyre

26 Now in the eleventh year, on the first of the month, the word of the LORD came to me saying,

2 "Son of man, because [a]Tyre has said concerning Jerusalem, 'Aha, the [b]gateway of the peoples is broken; it has [1]opened to me. I shall be filled, now that she is laid waste,'

3 therefore thus says the Lord [1]GOD, 'Behold, I am against you, O Tyre, and I will east of Ammon, though this could be a reference to Nebuchadnezzar and his army (see 21:31).

25:5 Rabbah. See note on 21:20. pasture . . . resting place. A common OT description for destroyed cities (see Is 34:13–15; Zeph 2:13–15). The sites were returned to the conditions they were in before the cities were built, representing the undoing of human efforts.

25:6 clapped your hands. See 6:11 and note.

25:8 Moab. Immediately to the south of Ammon, east of the Dead Sea (see Is 15–16; Jer 48; Amos 2:1–3; Zeph 2:8–11). Seir. Edom, a country south of Moab and south of the Dead Sea (see ch. 35, especially v. 15; 36:5; Is 34:5–17; 63:1–6; Jer 49:7–11; Amos 1:11–12). like all the nations. Israel wanted to be like the nations (see 20:32 and note), but when the nations saw Judah in her apparent vulnerability and lost their awe of her, they failed to take her God seriously (cf. Lam 4:12).

25:9 flank of Moab. Lower hills rising from the Dead Sea, visible from Jerusalem. Beth-jeshimoth. A town in the plains of Moab. Baal-meon. A major Moabite town mentioned in an inscribed monument of Mesha, king of Moab (see chart, p. xix). Kiriathaim. A city also mentioned in the Mesha inscription (cf. 2 Kin 3:4–5).

25:12 Edom. See note on v. 8 ("Seir"). taking vengeance. By not harboring Judah's refugees after 586 B.C. (see Obad 11–14).

25:13 Teman. A district near Petra in central Edom (see Jer 49:7,20; Amos 1:12; Obad 9; Hab 3:3). Dedan. A tribe and territory in southern Edom (see 27:20; 38:13; Is 21:13; Jer 49:8).

25:15 Philistines. Inhabitants of the coastal plain along the Mediterranean west of Judah (1 Sam 6:17), who strove for control of Canaan until subdued by David. Their hostility to Israel continued, however (see Is 14:29–31; Jer 47; Amos 1:6–8; Zeph 2:4–7), until Nebuchadnezzar deported them.

25:16 Cherethites. Related to, if not identical with, the Philistines (see 1 Sam 30:14 and note; 2 Sam 8:18; 15:18; 20:7). seacoast. Of the Mediterranean.

26:1 eleventh year . . . first of the month. The number of the month is missing. The entire year dates from Apr. 23, 587, to Apr. 13, 586 B.C. The oracle must date from the end of that year, in the 11th (Feb. 13, 586) or the 12th month (Mar. 15, 586). See note on 33:21. This is the fifth date in the book (see 1:2; 8:1; 20:1; 24:1).

26:2 Tyre. The island capital of Phoenicia, present-day Lebanon. It was involved in an anti-Assyrian coalition in 594 B.C. (see Jer 27:3). Ezekiel, more than any other prophet, prophesied against Tyre (see chs. 27–28; but see Is 23; Jer 25:22; 47:4; Joel 3:4–5; Amos 1:9–10; Zech 9:2–4). Aha. See note on 25:3. gateway of the peoples. Because of its geographical location, its political importance and the central role it played in international trade. The anti-Assyrian summit meeting was held there (see Jer 27).

26:3 I am against you. See note on 5:8. as the sea brings up its waves. For invading armies likened to waves of the sea cf. Is bring up [a]many nations against you, as the [b]sea brings up its waves.

4 'They will [a]destroy the walls of Tyre and break down her towers; and I will scrape her debris from her and make her a bare rock.

5 'She will be a place for the spreading of nets in the midst of the sea, for I have spoken,' declares the Lord GOD, 'and she will become [a]spoil for the nations.

6 'Also her [a]daughters who are [1]on the mainland will be slain by the sword, and they will know that I am the LORD.' "

7 For thus says the Lord GOD, "Behold, I will bring upon Tyre from the north Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, [a]king of kings, with horses, [b]chariots, cavalry and [1]a great army.

8 "He will slay your daughters [1]on the mainland with the sword; and he will make [a]siege walls against you, cast up a [b]ramp against you and raise up a large shield against you.

9 "The blow of his battering rams he will direct against your walls, and with his [1]axes he will break down your towers.

10 "Because of the multitude of his [a]horses, the dust raised by them will cover you; your walls will [b]shake at the noise of cavalry and [1]wagons and chariots when he [c]enters your gates as men enter a city that is breached.

11 "With the hoofs of his [a]horses he will trample all your streets. He will slay your people with the sword; and your strong pillars will [b]come down to the ground.

12 "Also they will make a spoil of your riches and a prey of your [a]merchandise, [b]break down your walls and destroy your [c]pleasant houses, and [1]throw your stones and your timbers and your debris [d]into the water.

13 "So I will [1]silence the sound of your [a]songs, and the sound of your [b]harps will be heard no more.

14 "I will make you a bare rock; you will be a place for the spreading of nets. You will be [a]built no more, for I the [b]LORD have spoken," declares the Lord GOD.

15 Thus says the Lord GOD to Tyre, "Shall not the [a]coastlands [b]shake at the sound of your fall when the wounded groan, when the slaughter occurs in your midst?

16 "Then all the princes of the sea will [a]go down from their thrones, remove their robes and strip off their embroidered garments. They will [b]clothe themselves with [1]trembling; they will sit on the ground, [c]tremble every moment and be appalled at you.

17 "They will take up a [a]lamentation over you and say to you,

'[b]How you have perished, O inhabited one,
From the seas, O renowned city,
Which was [c]mighty on the sea,
She and her inhabitants,
Who [1]imposed [2]her terror
On all her inhabitants!

18 'Now the [a]coastlands will tremble
On the day of your fall;
Yes, the coastlands which are by the sea
Will be terrified at your [b]passing.' "

19 For thus says the Lord GOD, "When I make you a desolate city, like the cities which are not inhabited, when I [a]bring up the deep over you and the great waters cover you,

20 then I will bring you down with those who [a]go down to the pit, to the people of old, and I will make you dwell in the [b]lower parts of the earth, like the ancient waste places, with those who go down to the pit, so that you will not [1]be inhabited; but I will set [c]glory in the land of the living.

21 "I will [1]bring [a]terrors on you and you will be no more; though you will be sought, [b]you will never be found again," declares the Lord GOD.

Lament over Tyre

27 Moreover, the word of the LORD came to me saying,

2 "And you, son of man, [a]take up a lamentation over Tyre;

17:12–13. Since Tyre was an island, the metaphor is especially appropriate here.

26:5 spoil for the nations. Cf. 25:7; 34:28.

26:7 I will bring. A clear indication of God's sovereignty over the nations (cf. 28:7; 29:8). north. The direction from which Nebuchadnezzar would descend on Tyre after first marching his army up the Euphrates River valley rather than across the Arabian Desert (cf. Jer 1:13). Nebuchadnezzar. The first of four references to him in Ezekiel (see 29:18–19; 30:10). He ruled from 605 to 562 B.C., and his name means "O (god) Nabu, protect my son" or "O (god) Nabu, protect my boundary." Jeremiah and Ezekiel both proclaimed that this pagan king would be used by God to do His work (see Jer 25:9; 27:6).

26:8 siege. Nebuchadnezzar's 15-year siege of Tyre began shortly after the fall of Jerusalem. There is no record that Tyre fell at this time (see note on 29:18).

26:14 be built no more. Eventually fulfilled by Alexander's devastating siege in 332 B.C. (see note on Is 23:1).

26:16 princes of the sea. Called kings in 27:35, they were probably trading partners with Tyre. remove their robes. Usually mourners tore their clothes (Job 2:12) and put on sackcloth, but cf. the king of Nineveh (Jon 3:6). clothe themselves with trembling. Because of political shock waves from the fall of such a powerful city (cf. 7:27; Ps 35:26; 109:29).

26:17 lamentation. See note on 19:1.

26:19 the deep. The primeval, chaotic mass (as in Gen 1:2). Tyre's collapse into the sea is described in almost cosmic terms.

26:20 pit. The grave, "the earth below" (cf. Ps 69:15). people of old. Those long dead (Ps 143:3; Lam 3:6).

26:21 See 27:36; 28:19.

27:2 lamentation. See note on 19:1.

Your builders have perfected your beauty.

5 "They have [1]made all your planks of fir trees from [a]Senir;
They have taken a cedar from Lebanon to make a mast for you.

6 "Of [a]oaks from [b]Bashan they have made your oars;
With ivory they have [1]inlaid your deck of boxwood from the coastlands of [c]Cyprus.

7 "Your sail was of fine embroidered linen from Egypt
So that it became your [1]distinguishing mark;
Your [2]awning was [3][a]blue and purple from the coastlands of [b]Elishah.

8 "The inhabitants of Sidon and [a]Arvad were your rowers;
Your [b]wise men, O Tyre, were [1]aboard; they were your pilots.

All the ships of the sea and their sailors were with you in order to deal in your merchandise.

27:3 I am perfect in beauty. See 28:12; cf. 28:2 for a similar prideful statement. Since Tyre is described as a stately ship in the following verses, some translate, "You are a ship, perfect in beauty."
27:4 perfected your beauty. See v. 11.
27:5 Senir. Amorite name for Hermon, the Anti-Lebanon mountain (or range) famed for cedar.
27:6 Bashan. See note on 39:18. Cyprus. Hebrew Kittim, which was originally the name of a town in southern Cyprus colonized by Phoenicia.
27:7 Elishah. A city on the east side of Cyprus; also the oldest name for Cyprus (but see note on Gen 10:4).
27:8 Sidon. A harbor city 25 miles north of Tyre, which sometimes rivaled her in political and commercial importance (see note on 28:21). Arvad. Another Phoenician island-city, off the Mediterranean coast and north of Sidon.
27:9 Gebal. Byblos, an important ancient city on the coast between Sidon and Arvad (see 1 Kin 5:18).
27:10 Lud. In Asia Minor (Lydia). Put. Libya, in North Africa, west of Egypt. men of war. The ship image is abandoned, and Tyre is now described literally—as a city (see "walls" and "towers" in v. 11), complete with a mercenary army gathered from the whole world.
27:11 Arvad. See note on v. 8. Gammadim. Men of Gammad, which was either (1) northern Asia Minor, or (2) a coastal town near Arvad. It is not mentioned elsewhere in the Bible.
27:12 Tarshish. Traditionally located on the coast of southern Spain, but the island of Sardinia has also been suggested. Passages such as 1 Kin 10:22; Jon 1:3 imply that it was a long distance from the Canaanite coast. The list of places in vv. 12–23 generally follows a west-to-east direction.
27:13 Tubal and Meshech. Both in Asia Minor.
27:14 Beth-togarmah. In eastern Asia Minor, present-day Armenia (see 38:6). horses. Asia Minor was known for its horses (see 1 Kin 10:28).
27:15 Dedan. See note on 25:13.
27:16 Aram. Syria. Since Damascus, the capital of Aram, is mentioned in v. 18, perhaps Edom is meant here (some manuscripts read "Edom" instead of "Aram"; see also 25:12 and note).
27:17 Israel . . . your traders. In the past. Since 722–721 B.C. Israel had ceased to exist as a political state. Minnith. An Ammonite town, apparently famous for its wheat; "wheat from Minnith" possibly denoted a superior quality of wheat. balm. Gum or oil from one of several plants; a product of Gilead (see Gen 37:25; Jer 8:22; 46:11).
27:18 Damascus. Capital of Aram (see note on v. 16; see also Is 7:8). Helbon. A town north of Damascus, still in existence and still a wine-making center. The name occurs only here in the Bible.
27:19 Vedan. Or, if "Ve" in "Vedan" is read as a conjunction, "And Dan." Dan was a term that Homer used for Greeks. Some read (as does the Septuagint) "and wine from" for "Vedan and Javan . . ." Uzal. See Gen 10:27; 1 Chr 1:21; perhaps Yemen or the area between Haran and the Tigris. cassia. Similar to the cinnamon tree. The only other Biblical mention of it is in Ex 30:24, where it appears in a list of aromatic plants. sweet cane. An aromatic reed.

27:20 Dedan. See note on 25:13.

27:21 Arabia and . . . Kedar. A general expression for the Bedouin tribes from Aram to the Arabian Desert. For Kedar see Is 42:11; 60:7; Jer 49:28.

27:22 Sheba. See note on 23:42. Raamah. A city in southern Arabia.

27:23 Haran. A city east of Carchemish, in present-day eastern Turkey. It was well-known in ancient times as a center both for trade and for the worship of the moon-god Sin. From here Abraham moved to Canaan (see Gen 11:31; 12:4). Canneh. Of uncertain location, presumably in Mesopotamia. It is often identified with Calneh (Is 10:9, "Calno"; Amos 6:2). Eden. A district south of Haran, mentioned in connection with Haran in 2 Kin 19:12. See Beth-eden in Amos 1:5. Sheba. See note on 23:42. Asshur. Can mean the city, the country (Assyria) or the people (Assyrians). Here it is probably the city south of Nineveh that gave its name to the country. Chilmad. If a town, it is yet unidentified; presumably in Mesopotamia. Some read "all Media."

27:25 Tarshish. See note on v. 12. The ship image is resumed (see notes on vv. 3,10).

27:26 east wind. Disastrous at sea (Ps 48:7) as well as on land (Jer 18:17). It possibly symbolizes Nebuchadnezzar (as in 17:10; 19:12).

27:30 dust on their heads. See 26:16 for a similar scene. wallow in ashes. Cf. Mic 1:10.

27:31 make themselves bald. Cf. 7:18; Is 15:2; 22:12.

28:2 leader of Tyre. May refer to the city of Tyre as ruler, or to Ethbaal II, the king then ruling Tyre (see v. 12). His namesake Ethbaal I was the father of Jezebel (1 Kin 16:31). lifted up. In pride; cf. 27:3; Prov 16:18; Acts 12:21–23.

There is no secret that is a match for you.

In the heart of the seas.
9 'Will you still say, "I am a god,"
In the presence of your slayer,
Though you are a man and not God,
In the hands of those who wound you?
10 'You will die the death of the
[a]uncircumcised
By the hand of strangers,
For I have spoken!' declares the Lord GOD!" ' "

11 Again the word of the LORD came to me saying,
12 "Son of man, [a]take up a lamentation over the king of Tyre and say to him, 'Thus says the Lord GOD,
"You [1]had the seal of perfection,
Full of wisdom and perfect in beauty.
13 "You were in [a]Eden, the garden of God;
[b]Every precious stone was your covering:
The [c]ruby, the topaz and the diamond;
The beryl, the onyx and the jasper;
The lapis lazuli, the turquoise and the emerald;
And the gold, the workmanship of your [1][d]settings and [2]sockets,
Was in you.
On the day that you were created
They were prepared.
14 "You were the [a]anointed cherub who [1]covers,
And I placed you there.
You were on the holy [b]mountain of God;
You walked in the midst of the [c]stones of fire.
15 "You were [a]blameless in your ways
From the day you were created
Until [b]unrighteousness was found in you.
16 "By the [a]abundance of your trade
[1]You were internally [b]filled with violence,
And you sinned;
Therefore I have cast you as profane
From the mountain of God.
And I have destroyed you, O [2]covering cherub,
From the midst of the stones of fire.
17 "Your heart was lifted up because of your [a]beauty;
You [b]corrupted your wisdom by reason of your splendor.
I cast you to the ground;
I put you before [c]kings,
That they may see you.
18 "By the multitude of your iniquities,
In the unrighteousness of your trade
You profaned your sanctuaries.
Therefore I have brought [a]fire from the midst of you;
It has consumed you,
And I have turned you to [b]ashes on the earth
In the eyes of all who see you.
19 "All who know you among the peoples
Are appalled at you;
You have become [1][a]terrified
And you will cease to be [b]forever." ' "

28:7 strangers. The Babylonians; see next phrase.
28:8 pit. Cf. Job 33:22,24; see note on 26:20.
28:10 uncircumcised. Used here in the sense of barbarian or uncouth. The Phoenicians, like the Israelites and the Egyptians, practiced circumcision (see 31:18; 32:19).
28:12 lamentation. See note on 19:1. king of Tyre. Cf. v. 2, but see note on Is 14:12–15. seal of perfection. See Hag 2:23, where Zerubbabel is called God's "signet ring." With cutting irony Ezekiel depicts the proud king of Tyre as the first man created, radiant with wisdom and beauty.
28:13 You were in Eden. Like Adam (Gen 2:15). Ezekiel continues to use imagery of the creation and the fall to picture the career of the king of Tyre (see 31:9,16,18). Every precious stone. Unlike Adam, who was naked (Gen 2:25), the king is pictured as a fully clothed priest, ordained (v. 14) to guard God's holy place. The 9 stones are among the 12 worn by the priest (Ex 28:17–20). (The Septuagint lists all 12.) settings and sockets. For the precious stones. On the day that you were created. Cf. v. 15; Gen 5:2.
28:14 cherub who covers. Cf. v. 16. The Genesis account has cherubim (plural) stationed at the border of the garden after the expulsion of Adam and Eve (Gen 3:24). holy mountain of God. Cf. v. 16. This does not reflect the Genesis story. See Is 14:13 for the figure of God dwelling on a mountain. stones of fire. The precious stones (v. 13; cf. Rev 4:1–6; 21:15–21).
28:15 You were blameless . . . Until. The parallel to Gen 2–3 is clear (see Gen 6:9; 17:1).
28:16 abundance of your trade . . . filled with violence. Tyre's major crime.
28:17 cast you to the ground. Expulsion from the heavenly garden.

Judgment of Sidon

20 And the word of the LORD came to me saying,

21 "Son of man, [a]set your face toward [b]Sidon, prophesy against her

22 and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD,
"Behold, I am against you, O Sidon,
And I will [1]be glorified in your midst.
Then they will know that I am the LORD when I [a]execute judgments in her,
And I will manifest My holiness in her.

23 "For [a]I will send pestilence to her
And blood to her streets,
And the [b]wounded will [1]fall in her midst
By the sword upon her on every side;
Then they will know that I am the
LORD.

24 "And there will be no more for the house of Israel a [a]prickling brier or a painful thorn from any round about them who scorned them; then they will know that I am the Lord GOD."

Israel Regathered

25 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "When I [a]gather the house of Israel from the peoples among whom they are scattered, and will manifest My holiness in them in the sight of the nations, then they will [b]live in their [1]land which I gave to My servant Jacob.

26 "They will [a]live in it securely; and they will [b]build houses, plant vineyards and live securely when I [c]execute judgments upon all who scorn them round about them. Then they will know that I am the LORD their God." ' "

Judgment of Egypt

3 "Speak and say, 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "Behold, I am against you, Pharaoh
king of Egypt,
The great [2a]monster that lies in the midst of his [3]rivers,
That [b]has said, 'My Nile is mine, and I myself have made it.'

4 "I will put [a]hooks in your jaws
And make the fish of your [1]rivers cling to your scales.
And I will bring you up out of the midst of your [1]rivers,
And all the fish of your [1]rivers will cling to your scales.

5 "I will [a]abandon you to the wilderness,
you and all the fish of your [1]rivers;
You will fall on the [2]open field; you will not be brought together or [3b]gathered.
I have given you for [c]food to the beasts of the earth and to the birds of the sky.

6 "Then all the inhabitants of Egypt will know that I am the LORD,
Because they have been only a [a]staff made of reed to the house of Israel.

7 "When they took hold of you with the hand,
You [a]broke and tore all their [1]hands;
And when they leaned on you,
You broke and made all their loins
[2]quake."

8 'Therefore thus says the Lord GOD, "Behold, I will [a]bring upon you a sword and I will cut off from you man and beast.

9 "The [a]land of Egypt will become a desolation and waste. Then they will know that I am the LORD.

9 [a]Ezek 29:10-12; 30:7, 8, 13-19

28:21 set your face. See note on 20:46. Sidon. See 27:8 and note. This is the only time in the OT that Sidon is mentioned apart from Tyre (cf. Is 23:1–4; Jer 47:4; Joel 3:4; Zech 9:2).

28:22 I am against you. Possibly because of Sidon's involvement in the Jerusalem summit conference (Jer 27:3; see note on 5:8). I will be glorified in your midst. The Lord's glory would be recognized in Sidon's punishment.

28:24 prickling brier. For references to Israel's enemies as briers see Num 33:55; Josh 23:13.

28:25 When I gather . . . Israel. A frequent promise in Ezekiel and later (see 11:17; 20:34,41–42; 29:13; 34:13; 36:24; 37:21; 38:8; 39:27; Neh 1:9; Zech 10:8,10). My servant Jacob. Cf. 37:25. For the promise see Gen 28:13; 35:12; Ps 105:10–11.

28:26 live in it securely. A perennial ideal that had become an especially meaningful promise (cf. 34:28; 38:8,11,14; 39:26; Lev 25:18–19; Jer 23:6; 32:37; 33:16). houses . . . vineyards. Basic necessities of the good life (cf. Is 65:21; Jer 29:5,28; Amos 9:14).

29:1 tenth year . . . tenth month . . . twelfth of the month. Jan. 7, 587 B.C.; the sixth date in Ezekiel (see 1:2; 8:1; 20:1; 24:1; 26:1). This is the first of seven oracles against Egypt, all of which are dated, except one (30:1). They represent divine and prophetic anger at Egypt's actions (or nonactions) at this time.

29:2 set your face. See note on 20:46. Pharaoh. Hophra, 589–570 B.C. (see Jer 44:30).

29:3 I am against you. See note on 5:8. great monster. Or "crocodile"; pictured as being in the Nile. See note on Ex 4:3; see also Job 41:1 and note; Is 27:1 ("dragon"). his rivers. Nile delta and canals (cf. Is 7:18; 19:6; 37:25). That has said. Boasts inscribed on Egyptian monuments (such as in Shelley's "Ozymandias") had become proverbial.

29:4 hooks. Cf. 19:4. fish of your rivers. Egypt's conquered territories or mercenaries.

29:5 food to the beasts. Particularly frustrating to the pharaoh's great hopes for an afterlife, as symbolized by the pyramids and expressed in the Egyptian "Book of the Dead."

29:6 they have been . . . a staff . . . of reed. A comparison made earlier (see Is 36:6). Hophra briefly but unsuccessfully diverted the Babylonians from laying siege to Jerusalem (see Jer 37:1–10).

29:8 sword. Nebuchadnezzar's (see note on 21:3). For the entire expression, which is not found in other prophetic books, see 6:3; 11:8; 14:17; 33:2; see also Lev 26:25.

Because [1]you [b]said, 'The Nile is mine, and I have made it,'

10 therefore, behold, I am [a]against you and against your [1]rivers, and I will make the land of Egypt an utter waste and desolation, from Migdol to Syene and even to the border of [2]Ethiopia.

11 "A man's foot will [a]not pass through it, and the foot of a beast will not pass through it, and it will not be inhabited for forty years.

12 "So I will make the land of Egypt a desolation in the [a]midst of desolated lands. And her cities, in the midst of cities that are laid waste, will be desolate forty years; and I will [b]scatter the Egyptians among the nations and disperse them among the lands."

13 'For thus says the Lord GOD, "At the end of forty years I will [a]gather the Egyptians from the peoples [1]among whom they were scattered.

14 "I will turn the fortunes of Egypt and make them return to the land of [a]Pathros, to the land of their origin, and there they will be a lowly kingdom.

15 "It will be the [a]lowest of the kingdoms, and it will never again lift itself up above the nations. And I will make them so small that they will not [b]rule over the nations.

16 "And it will never again be the [a]confidence of the house of Israel, [1b]bringing to mind the iniquity of their having turned [2]to Egypt. Then they will know that I am the Lord GOD." ' "

17 Now in the [a]twenty-seventh year, in the first month, on the first of the month, the word of the LORD came to me saying,

18 "Son of man, [a]Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon made his army labor [1]hard against Tyre; every head was made [b]bald and every shoulder was rubbed bare. But he and his army had no wages from Tyre for the labor that he had [2]performed against it."

19 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD, "Behold, I [a]will give the land of Egypt to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. And he will carry off her [1b]wealth and capture her spoil and seize her plunder; and it will be wages for his army.

20 "I have given him the land of Egypt for his labor which he [1a]performed, because they acted for Me," declares the Lord GOD.

21 "On that day I will make a [a]horn sprout for the house of Israel, and I will [1b]open your mouth in their midst. Then they will know that I am the LORD."

Lament over Egypt

30 The word of the LORD came again to me saying,

2 "Son of man, prophesy and say, 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD,

"[a]Wail, 'Alas for the day!'

3 "For the day is near,
Even [a]the day of the LORD is near;
It will be a day of [b]clouds,
A time of doom for the nations.

4 "A sword will come upon Egypt,
And anguish will be in [1]Ethiopia;
When the slain fall in Egypt,
They [a]take away her [2]wealth,
And her foundations are torn down.

5 "[1]Ethiopia, Put, Lud, all [2a]Arabia, [3]Libya and the [4]people of the land [5]that is in league will fall with them by the sword."

6 'Thus says the LORD,

"Indeed, those who support [a]Egypt will fall
And the pride of her power will come down;
From Migdol to Syene
They will fall within her by the sword,"
Declares the Lord GOD.

29:10 Migdol. Location unknown; probably in northern Egypt (see Jer 44:1; 46:14). Syene. A town in southern Egypt. "From Migdol to Syene" (see 30:6) probably indicated all Egypt, just as "from Dan to Beersheba" meant all Israel (see, e.g., Judg 20:1; 1 Sam 3:20).

29:11 forty years. Sometimes used to signify a long and difficult period (cf. 4:6).

29:14 Pathros. Southern Egypt (see 30:14; Jer 44:1,15).

29:17 The second oracle against Egypt (see note on v. 1). twenty-seventh year . . . first month . . . first of the month. Apr. 26, 571 B.C.; the seventh date in Ezekiel (see v. 1; 1:2; 8:1; 20:1; 24:1; 26:1) and the latest date given in the book. Since the remaining dated oracles are in more or less chronological order, the date is mentioned here probably because of the subject matter (Egypt).

29:18 made his army labor hard. Nebuchadnezzar besieged Tyre for 15 years, from 586 to 571 B.C. (see 26:7–14). every head was made bald. Probably from the leather helmets.

29:19 I will give. God's sovereignty over the nations is again proclaimed.

29:21 make a horn sprout for. Revive the strength of. The passage is not a Messianic prophecy. open your mouth. Ezekiel's muteness (3:26; 24:27) would be removed, and this word anticipates that of 33:22.

30:1 The third oracle against Egypt (see note on 29:1). No date is given, but it was probably between January and April of 587 B.C. Compare 29:1 with 30:20. Jerusalem was under siege at this time.

30:2–3 the day . . . the day of the LORD. The day of God's coming in judgment (see 7:7 and note). Egypt's judgment is announced.

30:3 the day is near. Cf. Is 13:6. day of clouds. Cf. Joel 2:2; Zeph 1:15.

30:4 sword. Nebuchadnezzar's (see v. 10; see also note on 21:3).

30:5 Put. Libya, in Africa (see note on 27:10). Lud. Not in Asia Minor (see note on 27:10) but somewhere in northern Africa. Libya. Hebrew Cub (see NASB marg.), probably best understood as an unidentified place. people of the land . . . in league. Apparently Jews living in Egypt (see Jer 44).

30:6 From Migdol to Syene. See note on 29:10.

7 "They will be desolate
In the [a]midst of the desolated lands;
And her cities will be
In the midst of the devastated cities.
8 "And they will [a]know that I am the LORD,
When I set a [b]fire in Egypt
And all her helpers are broken.
9 "On that day [a]messengers will go forth from Me in ships to frighten [b]secure [1]Ethiopia; and [c]anguish will be on them as on the day of Egypt; for behold, it comes!"
10 'Thus says the Lord GOD,
"[a]I will also make the [1]hordes of Egypt cease
By the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon.
11 "He and his people with him,
[a]The most ruthless of the nations,
Will be brought in to destroy the land;
And they will draw their swords against Egypt
And fill the land with the slain.
12 "Moreover, I will make the [a]Nile canals dry
And [b]sell the land into the hands of evil men.
And I will make the land desolate
And [1]all that is in it,
By the hand of strangers; I the LORD have spoken."

13 'Thus says the Lord GOD,
"I will also [a]destroy the idols
And make the [1]images cease from [2b]Memphis.
And there will no longer be a prince in the land of Egypt;
And I will put fear in the land of Egypt.
14 "I will make [a]Pathros desolate,
Set a fire in [b]Zoan
And execute judgments on [1c]Thebes.
15 "I will pour out My wrath on [1]Sin,
The stronghold of Egypt;
I will also cut off the hordes of [2]Thebes.
16 "I will set a fire in Egypt;
[1]Sin will writhe in anguish,
[2]Thebes will be breached
And [3]Memphis will have [4]distresses daily.
17 "The young men of [1a]On and of Pi-beseth
Will fall by the sword,
And [2]the women will go into captivity.
18 "In [a]Tehaphnehes the day will [1]be [b]dark
When I [c]break there the yoke bars of Egypt.
Then the pride of her power will cease in her;
A cloud will cover her,
And her daughters will go into captivity.
19 "Thus I will [a]execute judgments on Egypt,
And they will know that I am the LORD." ' "

Victory for Babylon

20 In the [a]eleventh year, in the first month, on the seventh of the month, the word of the LORD came to me saying,
21 "Son of man, I have [a]broken the arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt; and, behold, it has not been [b]bound up [1]for healing [2]or wrapped with a bandage, that it may be strong to hold the sword.
22 "Therefore thus says the Lord GOD, 'Behold, I am [a]against Pharaoh king of Egypt and will break his arms, both the strong and the [b]broken; and I will make the sword [c]fall from his hand.
23 'I will [a]scatter the Egyptians among the nations and disperse them among the lands.
24 'For I will [a]strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon and put [b]My sword in his hand; and I will break the arms of Pharaoh, so that he will groan before him with the groanings of a wounded man.
25 'Thus I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, but the arms of Pharaoh

30:8 set a fire in. Make war on.
30:9 messengers . . . in ships. See Is 18 for a similar oracle on Cush, involving ships on the Nile.
30:11 most ruthless of the nations. A common phrase for the Babylonians, who were known for their cruelty (see 2 Kin 25:7).
30:13 idols. See note on 6:4. Memphis. Located 15 miles south of Cairo, Memphis was a former capital of Egypt and one of her largest cities. The list of towns reveals no discernible pattern but is a literary device used to underscore the scope of the destruction (cf. Is 10:9–11,27–32; Mic 1:10–15; Zeph 2:4). prince. King.
30:14 Pathros. See 29:14 and note. Zoan. A city in northeast Egypt in the delta region; also called Raamses (see Ex 1:11), Avaris and Tanis (see Is 19:11,13; 30:4). Thebes. Capital of Upper Egypt; present-day Luxor and Karnak (see NASB marg.).
30:15 Sin. A fortress in the eastern delta region of the Nile (see NASB marg.).
30:17 On. Heliopolis ("city of the sun"), the Greek name for On (see NASB marg.); located six miles northeast of Cairo. Pi-beseth. Bubastis, at one time the capital of Lower (northern) Egypt; located 40 miles northeast of Cairo.
30:18 Tehaphnehes. Tahpanhes, in extreme northeast Egypt. Johanan son of Kareah and his men fled there after the murder of Gedaliah (see Jer 43:4–7). dark. A common Biblical metaphor describing ruin, destruction or death. cloud will cover her. See v. 3 and note; 32:7.

Pharaoh Warned of Assyria's Fate

31 In the [a]eleventh year, in the third month, on the first of the month, the word of the LORD came to me saying,

2 "Son of man, say to Pharaoh king of Egypt and to his [a]hordes,

'Whom are you like in your greatness?

3 'Behold, Assyria was a [a]cedar in Lebanon
With beautiful branches and forest shade,
And [1][b]very high,
And its top was among the [2]clouds.

4 'The [a]waters made it grow, the [1]deep made it high.
With its rivers it continually [2]extended all around its planting place,
And sent out its channels to all the trees of the field.

5 'Therefore [a]its height was loftier than all the trees of the field
And its boughs became many and its branches long
Because of [b]many waters [1]as it spread them out.

6 'All the [a]birds of the heavens nested in its boughs,
And under its branches all the beasts of the field gave birth,
And all great nations lived under its shade.

7 'So it was beautiful in its greatness, in the length of its branches;
For its [1]roots extended to many waters.

8 'The [a]cedars in [b]God's garden [1]could not match it;
The [2]cypresses [1]could not compare with its boughs,
And the plane trees [3]could not match its branches.
No tree in [b]God's garden [1]could compare with it in its beauty.

9 'I made it beautiful with the multitude of its branches,
And all the trees of [1]Eden, which were in the [a]garden of God, were jealous of it.

10 'Therefore thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "Because [2]it is high in stature and has set its top among the [3]clouds, and its [a]heart is haughty in its loftiness,

11 therefore I will give it into the hand of a [1][a]despot of the nations; he will thoroughly deal with it. According to its wickedness I have [b]driven it away.

12 "[a]Alien [b]tyrants of the nations have cut it down and left it; on the [c]mountains and in all the valleys its branches have fallen and its boughs have been broken in all the ravines of the land. And all the peoples of the earth have [d]gone down from its shade and left it.

13 "On its ruin all the [a]birds of the heavens will dwell, and all the beasts of the field will be on its fallen branches

14 so that all the trees by the waters may not be exalted in their stature, nor set their top among the [1]clouds, nor their [2]well-watered mighty ones stand erect in their height. For they have all been given over to death, to the [a]earth beneath, among the sons of men, with those who go down to the pit."

15 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "On the day when it went down to Sheol I [a]caused lamentations; I closed the [1]deep over it and held back its rivers. And its many waters were stopped up, and I made Lebanon [2]mourn for it, and all the trees of the field wilted away on account of it.

16 "I made the nations [a]quake at the sound of its fall when I made it [b]go down to Sheol with those who go down to the pit; and all the [1]well-watered trees of Eden, the choicest and best of [c]Lebanon, were [d]comforted in the earth beneath.

17 "They also [a]went down with it to Sheol to those who were [b]slain by the sword; and those who were its [1]strength lived [c]under its shade among the nations.

Lament over Pharaoh and Egypt

32 In the [a]twelfth year, in the twelfth month, on the first of the month, the word of the LORD came to me saying,

2 "Son of man, take up a [a]lamentation over Pharaoh king of Egypt and say to him,

'You [1]compared yourself to a young
[b]lion of the nations,
Yet you are like the [c]monster in the seas;
And you [d]burst forth in your rivers
And muddied the waters with your feet
And [2]fouled their rivers.' "

3 Thus says the Lord [1]GOD,
"Now I will [a]spread My net over you
With a company of many peoples,
And they shall lift you up in My net.

4 "I will leave you on the land;
I will cast you on the [1]open field.
And I will cause all the [a]birds of the heavens to dwell on you,
And I will satisfy the beasts of the whole earth [2]with you.

5 "I will lay your flesh [a]on the mountains
And fill the valleys with your refuse.

6 "I will also make the land drink the discharge of your [a]blood
As far as the mountains,
And the ravines will be full of you.

7 "And when I [a]extinguish you,
I will [b]cover the heavens and darken their [c]stars;
I will cover the [d]sun with a cloud
And the moon will not give its light.

8 "All the shining [a]lights in the heavens
I will darken over you
And will set darkness on your land,"
Declares the Lord GOD.

9 "I will also [a]trouble the hearts of many peoples when I [b]bring your destruction among the nations, into lands which you have not known.

10 "I will make many peoples [a]appalled at you, and their kings will be horribly afraid of you when I brandish My sword before them; and [b]they will tremble every moment, every man for his own life, on the day of your fall."

11 For [a]thus says the Lord GOD, "The sword of the king of Babylon will come upon you.

12 "By the swords of the mighty ones I will cause your hordes to fall; all of them are [a]tyrants of the nations,
And they will [b]devastate the pride of Egypt,
And all its hordes will be destroyed.

13 "I will also destroy all its cattle from beside many waters;
And [a]the foot of man will not muddy them anymore
And the hoofs of beasts will not muddy them.

14 "Then I will make their waters settle
And will cause their rivers to run like oil,"
Declares the Lord GOD.

15 "When I make the land of Egypt a [a]desolation,
And the land is destitute of that which filled it,
When I smite all those who live in it,
Then they shall [b]know that I am the LORD.

16 "This is a [a]lamentation and they shall [1]chant it. The daughters of the nations shall [1]chant it. Over Egypt and over all her hordes they shall [1]chant it," declares the Lord GOD.

17 In the [a]twelfth year, on the [a]fifteenth of the month, the word of the LORD came to me saying,

32:1 The sixth oracle against Egypt (see note on 29:1). twelfth year . . . twelfth month . . . first of the month. Mar. 3, 585 B.C.; the tenth date in Ezekiel (see 1:2; 8:1; 20:1; 24:1; 26:1; 29:1,17; 30:20; 31:1). If the Septuagint and Syriac are followed ("eleventh year"), then the chronological order of the Egypt oracles is preserved (and the date would be Mar. 13, 586). Cf. 29:1; 30:20; 31:1; see v. 17 and note.

32:2 lamentation. See note on 19:1. lion of the nations. A figure for royalty and grandeur (see 19:1–9). monster. See 29:3 and note. seas . . . rivers. Canals of the Nile (see note on 29:3).

32:3 spread My net. Earlier it was Zedekiah over whom God's net was thrown (see 12:13; 17:20; 19:8).

32:4 I will leave. God's actions here are very similar to those described in 29:3–5.

32:7 I will cover the heavens. The first of seven clauses threatening the darkness associated with the day of the Lord (see Joel 2:2,10,31; 3:15; Amos 5:18–20; Zeph 1:15).

32:9 trouble the hearts. This and the next verse reflect the fear brought about whenever great world powers fall, reminding lesser nations that they are even more vulnerable. Cf. similar feelings aroused by Tyre's fall (26:16–18; 27:35; 28:19).

32:10 My sword. See note on 21:3.

32:11 king of Babylon. Nebuchadnezzar (cf. 21:19).

32:12 tyrants of the nations. Babylon (see note on 30:11).

32:14 rivers to run like oil. Their surface undisturbed by any form of life. This is the only place in the Bible where this eerie metaphor is used to describe desolation.

32:16 daughters of the nations. A world chorus of professional wailers (see Jer 9:17–18).

32:17 The seventh and last oracle against Egypt (see note on 29:1). twelfth year . . . fifteenth of the month. No month is given (as in 26:1; 40:1). The whole year dates from Apr. 13, 586, to Apr. 1, 585 B.C. The Septuagint suggests the first month, the 15th day of which would be Apr. 27, 586.

Egypt and [b]bring it down, her and the daughters of the powerful nations, to the [c]nether world, with those who go down to the pit;

19 'Whom do you surpass in beauty?
Go down and make your bed with the 20 "They shall fall in the midst of those who are slain by the sword. [1]She is given over to the sword; they have [a]drawn her and all her hordes away.

21 "The [a]strong among the mighty ones shall speak of him and his helpers from the midst of Sheol, 'They have gone down, they lie still, the uncircumcised, slain by the sword.'

22 "[a]Assyria is there and all her company; [1]her graves are round about [2]her. All of them are slain, fallen by the sword,

23 whose [a]graves are set in the remotest parts of the pit and her company is round about her grave. All of them are slain, fallen by the sword, who [1]spread terror in the land of the living.

24 "[a]Elam is there and all her hordes around her grave; all of them slain, fallen by the sword, who went down uncircumcised to the [b]lower parts of the earth, who instilled their terror in the [c]land of the living and [d]bore their disgrace with those who went down to the pit.

25 "They have made a [a]bed for her among the slain with all her hordes. Her graves are around it, they are all uncircumcised, slain by the sword (although their terror was [1]instilled in the land of the living), and they bore their disgrace with those who go down to the pit; [2]they were put in the midst of the slain.

26 "[a]Meshech, [b]Tubal and all their hordes are there; their graves [1]surround them. All of them were slain by the sword [c]uncircumcised, though they instilled their terror in the land of the living.

27 "[a]Nor do they lie beside the fallen [1b]heroes of the uncircumcised, who went down to Sheol with their weapons of war and whose swords were laid under their heads; but the punishment for their [c]iniquity rested on their bones, though the terror of these [1]heroes was once in the land of the living.

28 "But in the midst of the uncircumcised you will be broken and lie with those slain by the sword.

29 "There also is [a]Edom, its kings and all its [1]princes, who [2]for all their might are laid with those slain by the sword; they will lie with the uncircumcised and with those who go down to the pit.

30 "There also are the [1]chiefs of the [a]north, all of them, and all the [b]Sidonians, who in spite of the terror resulting from their might, in shame went down with the slain. So they lay down uncircumcised with those slain by the sword and bore their disgrace with those who go down to the pit.

31 "These Pharaoh will see, and he will be [a]comforted for all his hordes slain by the sword, even Pharaoh and all his army," declares the Lord GOD.

32 "Though I instilled a terror of him in the land of the living, yet he will be made to lie down among the uncircumcised along with those slain by the sword, even Pharaoh and all his hordes," declares the Lord GOD.

The Watchman's Duty

33 And the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

2 "Son of man, speak to the [a]sons of your people and say to them, 'If I bring a sword upon a land, and the people of the land take one man from among them and make him their watchman,

3 and he sees the sword coming upon the land and [a]blows on the trumpet and warns the people,

4 then he who hears the sound of the trumpet and [a]does not take warning, and a sword comes and takes him away, his [b]blood will be on his own head.

5 'He heard the sound of the trumpet but did not take warning; his blood will be on himself. But had he taken warning, he would have [a]delivered his life.

6 'But if the watchman sees the sword coming and does not blow the trumpet and the people are not warned, and a sword comes and takes a person from them, he is [a]taken away [1]in his iniquity; but his [b]blood I will require from the watchman's hand.'

33:1–48:35 A section depicting consolation for Israel (see Introduction: Outline).

33:1–37:28 Sermons and oracles of comfort following the fall of Jerusalem. Interspersed are words of warning and judgment (e.g., 33:23–29; 34:1–19; 35; 36:1–7), some of which may have been intended to comfort a downtrodden people.

33:2 sons of your people. Fellow Israelites in exile with Ezekiel. sword. The invading army. people of the land. Full citizens who owned land and served in the army (see 7:27; 12:19; 45:16,22; 46:3). watchman. A figure introduced in ch. 3 and expanded in ch. 18 (see note on 3:16).

33:3 trumpet. An instrument made from a ram's horn (Josh 6:4,6,13), used to warn of approaching danger (Neh 4:18–20; Jer 4:19; Amos 3:6) and to announce the beginnings of religious periods (e.g., day of atonement, Lev 25:9; new moon festival, Ps 81:3).

33:4 his blood will be on his own head. See note on 18:13.

33:6 his blood. His life, blood being the life principle (see Gen 9:5; 42:22).

7 "Now as for you, son of man, I have [1][a]appointed you a watchman for the house of Israel; so you will hear a [2]message from My mouth and give them [b]warning from Me.

8 "When I say to the wicked, 'O wicked man, you will [a]surely die,' and you do not speak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity, but his blood I will require from your hand.

9 "But if you on your part warn a wicked man to turn from his way and he [a]does not turn from his way, he will die in his iniquity, but you have [b]delivered your life.

10 "Now as for you, son of man, say to the house of Israel, 'Thus you have spoken, saying, "Surely our transgressions and our sins are upon us, and we are [a]rotting away in them; [b]how then can we [1]survive?" '

11 "Say to them, '[a]As I live!' declares the Lord [1]GOD, 'I take [b]no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but rather that the wicked [c]turn from his way and live. [d]Turn back, turn back from your evil ways! Why then will you die, O house of Israel?'

12 "And you, son of man, say to [1]your fellow citizens, 'The [a]righteousness of a righteous man will not deliver him in the day of his transgression, and as for the wickedness of the wicked, he will [b]not stumble because of it in the day when he turns from his wickedness; whereas a righteous man will not be able to live [2]by his righteousness on the day when he commits sin.'

13 "When I say to the righteous he will surely live, and he so trusts in his righteousness that he [a]commits iniquity, none of his righteous deeds will be remembered; but in that same iniquity of his which he has committed he will die.

14 "But when I say to the wicked, 'You will surely die,' and he [a]turns from his sin and practices [b]justice and righteousness,

15 if a wicked man restores a pledge, [a]pays back what he has taken by robbery, walks by the [b]statutes [1]which ensure life without committing iniquity, he shall surely live; he shall not die.

16 "[a]None of his sins that he has committed will be remembered against him. He has practiced justice and righteousness; he shall surely live.

17 "Yet [1]your fellow citizens say, 'The way of the Lord is not right,' when it is their own way that is not right.

18 "When the righteous turns from his righteousness and [a]commits iniquity, then he shall die in [1]it.

19 "But when the wicked turns from his wickedness and practices justice and righteousness, he will live by them.

20 "Yet you say, '[a]The way of the Lord is not right.' O house of Israel, I will judge each of you according to his ways."

Word of Jerusalem's Capture

21 Now [a]in the [b]twelfth year of our exile, on the fifth of the tenth month, the [1]refugees from Jerusalem came to me, saying, "[c]The city has been [2]taken."

22 Now the [a]hand of the LORD had been upon me in the evening, before the [1]refugees came. And He [b]opened my mouth [2]at the time they came to me in the morning; so my mouth was [c]opened and I was no longer [3]speechless.

23 Then the word of the LORD came to me saying,

24 "Son of man, they who [a]live in these waste places in the land of Israel are saying, '[b]Abraham was only one, yet he possessed the land; so to [c]us who are many the land has been given as a possession.'

25 "Therefore say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "You eat meat with the [a]blood in it, lift up your eyes to your idols as you shed blood. [b]Should you then possess the land?

33:7 house of Israel. Both the nation and the individuals. Compare vv. 7–9 with 3:17–19.

33:10 our transgressions and our sins. The first time the exiles expressed consciousness of sin. Previously they had blamed their fathers (18:2) and even God (18:19,25).

33:11 As I live! See note on 18:3. I take no pleasure. The question of 18:23 is now a statement. God's basic intention for His creation is life, not death (see note on 16:6). Turn back. The third call for repentance (see 14:6; 18:30).

33:12–20 Deals with the same subject as 18:21–29—namely, that the individual, whether righteous or wicked, has a choice to live righteously each day.

33:15 restores a pledge, pays back what he has taken. See note on 18:7. statutes which ensure life. The purpose of God's law was to foster and protect life (cf. 20:13,21). he shall surely live. The entire section is Ezekiel's answer to the despairing question of v. 10.

33:17 The way of the Lord is not right. Cf. 18:25,29.

33:21 twelfth year . . . fifth of the tenth month. Jan. 8, 585 B.C., five months after the Jerusalem temple was burned. See date in 2 Kin 25:8, which in modern reckoning is Aug. 14, 586. The journey between Jerusalem and Babylon could be made in four months (Ezra 7:9). refugees from Jerusalem. The first of the exiles of 586 (see 24:26, "he who escapes"). They (or "He"; see NASB marg.) had escaped alive from the disaster at Jerusalem. The city has been taken. With this statement all of Ezekiel's previous prophecies were fulfilled and vindicated. He was then sent with a new mission: pastoral comfort.

33:22 no longer speechless. The muteness that had come upon him at the beginning of his ministry was lifted (see 3:26 and note).

33:24 they . . . in these waste places. The residents of Jerusalem not exiled in 586 B.C. Abraham was only one . . . us who are many. A boast by the unrepentant, similar to that of 11:15 (cf. Luke 3:8).

33:25 eat meat with the blood. Forbidden in Gen 9:4; Lev 7:26–27; 17:10; Deut 12:16,23. lift up your eyes to your idols. See note on 18:6.

26 "You [1][a]rely on your sword, you commit abominations and each of you defiles his neighbor's wife. Should you then possess the land?" '

27 "Thus you shall say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "As I live, surely those who are in the waste places will [a]fall by the sword, and whoever is in the [1]open field I will give to the beasts to be devoured, and those who are in the strongholds and in the [b]caves will die of pestilence.

28 "I will [a]make the land a desolation and a waste, and the [b]pride of her power will cease; and the mountains of Israel will be desolate so that no one will pass through.

29 "Then they will know that I am the LORD, when I make the land a desolation and a waste because of all their abominations which they have committed." '

30 "But as for you, son of man, [1]your fellow citizens who talk about you by the walls and in the doorways of the houses, speak to one another, each to his brother, saying, '[a]Come now and hear what the [2]message is which comes forth from the LORD.'

31 "They come to you as people come, and sit before you as My people and hear your words, but they do not do them, for they do the lustful desires expressed by their [a]mouth, and their heart goes after their [b]gain.

32 "Behold, you are to them like a sensual song by one who has a [a]beautiful voice and plays well on an instrument; for they hear your words but they do not practice them.

33 "So when it [a]comes to pass—[1]as surely it will—then they will know that a prophet has been in their midst."

Prophecy against the Shepherds of Israel

34 Then the word of the LORD came to me saying,

2 "Son of man, prophesy against the [a]shepherds of Israel. Prophesy and say to [1]those shepherds, 'Thus says the Lord [2]GOD, "Woe, shepherds of Israel who have been [3][b]feeding themselves! Should not the shepherds [3][c]feed the flock?

5 "They were [a]scattered for lack of a shepherd, and they became [b]food for every beast of the field and were scattered.

6 "My flock [a]wandered through all the mountains and on every high hill; [b]My flock was scattered over all the surface of the earth, and there was [c]no one to search or seek for them." ' "

7 Therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of the LORD:

8 "As I live," declares the Lord GOD, "surely because My flock has become a [a]prey, My flock has even become food for all the beasts of the field for lack of a shepherd, and My shepherds did not search for My flock, but rather the shepherds fed themselves and did not feed My flock;

So the shepherds will not [3]feed themselves anymore, but I will [c]deliver My flock from their mouth, so that they will not be food for them." ' "

The Restoration of Israel

11 For thus says the Lord GOD, "Behold, I Myself will [a]search for My sheep and seek them out.

12 "[a]As a shepherd [1]cares for his herd in the day when he is among his scattered [2]sheep, so I will [1][b]care for My [2]sheep and will deliver

33:27 As I live. See note on 18:3. sword . . . beasts . . . pestilence. Cf. the threefold threat in 5:12; 7:15; 12:16 and the fourfold threat in 14:12–21.

33:30–33 Words of assurance meant for Ezekiel alone.

33:31 sit before you. As the elders had (8:1; 14:1). goes after their gain. The people were waiting for Ezekiel to tell them how they could personally profit from the situation rather than what God's larger designs were for them (cf. Matt 20:20–28).

33:32 one who has a beautiful voice. May indicate that Ezekiel chanted his oracles (see 2 Kin 3:15; Is 5:1), but more likely the prophet was using a metaphor. they hear . . . but they do not practice. See Is 29:13; Matt 21:28–32; cf. James 1:22–25.

34:2 shepherds of Israel. Those responsible for providing leadership, especially the kings and their officials (see 2 Sam 7:7; Jer 25:18–19), but also the prophets and priests (see Is 56:11; Jer 23:9–11). Ezekiel had earlier singled out the princes, priests and prophets for special rebuke (ch. 22). To call a king a shepherd was common throughout the ancient Near East. For David's rise from shepherd to shepherd-king see Ps 78:70–71. For condemnation of the shepherds cf. Jer 23:1–4.

34:3 eat . . . clothe . . . slaughter. Legitimate rewards for shepherds. Their crime was that they did not care for the flock.

34:4 sought for the lost. Cf. Jer 50:6; Matt 18:12–14; Luke 15:4; 19:10.

34:5 scattered. Often used by Ezekiel to describe Israel's exile and dispersion (11:16–17; 12:15; 20:23,34,41; 22:15; 28:25). lack of a shepherd. A picture used often in the Bible (e.g., Mark 6:34).

34:8 beasts of the field. Hostile foreign nations; but see v. 28, where they are contrasted.

34:10 I am against the shepherds. See note on 5:8.

34:11 I Myself will search for My sheep. Having dealt with the faithless shepherds (vv. 1–10), the Lord committed Himself to shepherd His flock (see Jer 23:3–4).

34:12 from all the places. Babylon was not the only place where the Israelites had gone (see Jer 43:1–7). cloudy and them from all the places to which they were scattered on a [c]cloudy and gloomy day.

13 "I will bring them out from the peoples and gather them from the countries and bring them to their own land; and I will [a]feed them on the mountains of Israel, by the [b]streams, and in all the inhabited places of the land.

14 "I will feed them in a [a]good pasture, and their grazing ground will be on the mountain heights of Israel. There they will lie down on good grazing ground and feed in [1][b]rich pasture on the mountains of Israel.

15 "I will [a]feed My flock and I will [1]lead them to rest," declares the Lord GOD.

16 "I will seek the lost, bring back the scattered, bind up the broken and strengthen the sick; but the [a]fat and the strong I will destroy. I will [b]feed them with judgment.

17 "As for you, My flock, thus says the Lord GOD, 'Behold, I will [a]judge between one [1]sheep and another, between the rams and the male goats.

18 'Is it too [a]slight a thing for you that you should feed in the good pasture, that you must tread down with your feet the rest of your pastures? Or that you should drink of the clear waters, that you must [1]foul the rest with your feet?

19 'As for My flock, they must eat what you tread down with your feet and drink what you [1]foul with your feet!' "

20 Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD to them, "Behold, I, even I, will judge between the fat sheep and the lean sheep.

21 "Because you push with side and with shoulder, and [a]thrust at all the [1]weak with your horns until you have scattered them [2]abroad,

22 therefore, I will [a]deliver My flock, and they will no longer be a prey; and I will judge between one sheep and another.

30 "Then they will know that [a]I, the LORD their God, am with them, and that they, the house of Israel, are My people," declares the Lord GOD.

31 "As for you, My [a]sheep, the [b]sheep of My pasture, you are men, and I am your God," declares the Lord GOD.

gloomy day. The day of the Lord that had come upon Israel when Jerusalem fell in August of 586 B.C. (see 7:7 and note).

34:13 I will bring them out. The promises of restoration—begun in 11:17 and repeated in 20:34,41–42; 28:25—find special emphasis in this part (chs. 33–39) of Ezekiel (see 36:24; 37:21; 38:8; 39:27). mountains of Israel. Compare the tone of 6:3–7 with judgment now past (see v. 12). The mountains perhaps represented the scene of salvation.

34:14 I will feed them. See Is 40:11; John 10:11.

34:16 the fat and the strong. Those with power who had fattened themselves by oppressing the other "sheep" (see vv. 17–22).

34:17 rams and . . . goats. People of power and influence who were oppressing poorer Israelites. This prophetic word shows the same concern for social justice found elsewhere in the prophets (see Is 3:13–15; 5:8; Amos 5:12; 6:1–7; Mic 2:1–5). Cf. the treatment of slaves Jeremiah observed (Jer 34:8–11).

34:23 My servant David. A ruler like David and from his line (see Ps 89:4,20,29; Jer 23:5–6).

34:24 prince. The Lord announced a theocracy, a kingdom where He would be King and the earthly king a "prince" (cf. 37:25; 44:3; 45:7,16–17,22; 46:2–18; 48:21–22).

34:25 covenant of peace. Cf. 37:26. All of God's covenants aim at peace (see Gen 26:28–31; Num 25:12; Is 54:10; Mal 2:5). This covenant (the "new covenant" spoken of by Jeremiah, 31:31–34) looks to the final peace, initiated by Christ (Phil 4:7) and still awaiting final fulfillment. "Peace" (Hebrew shalom) is more than absence of hostility; it is fullness of life enjoyed in complete security. sleep in the woods. Often dangerous (see Ps 104:20–21; Jer 5:6).

34:26 showers . . . in their season. Autumn rains, which signal the beginning of the rainy season, and spring rains, which come at the end (cf. Jer 5:24). showers of blessing. Blessing, the power of life promised to God's people through Abraham (Gen 12:1–3), is beautifully symbolized in the life-giving effects of rain.

34:27 bars of their yoke. The bars were wooden pegs inserted down through holes in the yoke and tied below the animal's neck with cords (Is 58:6) to form a collar (cf. 30:18; Lev 26:13; Jer 27:2; 28:10–13). The entire picture represents foreign domination.

34:29 insults of the nations. See 22:4.

34:30 I, the LORD their God, am with them . . . they . . . are My people. Covenant language (cf. 11:20; Ex 6:7; Hos 1:9), though the exact wording of this verse has no parallel elsewhere in Ezekiel.

Prophecy against Mount Seir

35 Moreover, the word of the LORD came to me saying,

2 "Son of man, set your face against [a]Mount Seir, and prophesy against it

3 and say to it, 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD,
"Behold, I am against you, Mount Seir,
And I will [a]stretch out My hand
against you
And make you a [b]desolation and a waste.

4 "I will [a]lay waste your cities
And you will become a desolation.
Then you will know that I am the LORD.

5 "Because you have had everlasting [a]enmity and have [1]delivered the sons of Israel to the power of the sword at the time of their calamity, at the time of the [2b]punishment of the end,

6 therefore as I live," declares the Lord GOD, "I will [1]give you over to [a]bloodshed, and bloodshed will pursue you; since you have not hated bloodshed, therefore bloodshed will pursue you.

7 "I will make Mount Seir a waste and a desolation and I will cut off from it the one who passes through and returns.

8 "I will [a]fill its mountains with its slain; on your hills and in your valleys and in all your ravines those slain by the sword will [1]fall.

9 "I will make you an everlasting [a]desolation and your cities will not be inhabited. Then you will know that I am the LORD.

10 "Because you have [a]said, 'These two nations and these two lands will be mine, and we will possess [1]them,' although the [b]LORD was there,

11 therefore as I live," declares the Lord GOD, "I will deal with you [a]according to your anger and according to your envy which you showed because of your hatred against them; so I will [b]make Myself known among them when I judge you.

12 "Then you will know [1]that I, the LORD, have heard all your revilings which you have spoken against the mountains of Israel saying, 'They are laid desolate; they are [a]given to us for food.'

13 "And you have [1a]spoken arrogantly against Me and have multiplied your words against Me; [b]I have heard it."

14 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "As all the [a]earth rejoices, I will make you a desolation.

15 "As you [a]rejoiced over the inheritance of the house of Israel because it was desolate, [b]so I will do to you. You will be a [c]desolation, O Mount Seir, and all Edom, all of it. Then they will know that I am the LORD." '

The Mountains of Israel to Be Blessed

36 "And you, son of man, prophesy to the mountains of Israel and say, 'O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD.

2 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "Because the enemy has spoken against you, 'Aha!' and, 'The everlasting [2a]heights have become our possession,'

3 therefore prophesy and say, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "[1]For good reason they have made you [a]desolate and crushed you from every side, that you would become a possession of the rest of the nations and you have been taken up in the [2b]talk and the whispering of the people." ' "

4 'Therefore, O [a]mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD. Thus says the Lord GOD to the mountains and to the hills, to the ravines and to the valleys, to the desolate wastes and to the forsaken cities which have become a [b]prey and a derision to the rest of the nations which are round about,

5 therefore thus says the Lord GOD, "Surely in the fire of My [a]jealousy I have spoken against the [b]rest of the nations, and against all Edom, who [1]appropriated My land for themselves as a possession with wholehearted [c]joy and with scorn of soul, to drive it out for a prey."

35:2 set your face against. See note on 20:46. Mount Seir. Edom (v. 15), Israel's relative (Jacob and Esau being twins, Gen 25:21–30) and constant enemy, from whom brotherhood was sought but seldom found (cf. Amos 1:11). Edom had to be dealt with before Israel could find peace (cf. Gen 32–33). See 25:12 and note; Is 63:1–6.

35:3 I am against you. See note on 5:8.

35:5 everlasting enmity. Beginning with Jacob's deception of Isaac for Esau's blessing (Gen 27; see especially v. 41) and continuing later (Num 20:14–21; 2 Sam 8:13–14; 1 Kin 9:26–28). time of their calamity. Edom looted Jerusalem in 586 B.C. (see Obad 11–14).

35:6 as I live. See note on 18:3. bloodshed will pursue you. Retributive justice based on Gen 9:6.

35:9 everlasting desolation. To experience no restoration like Egypt's (see 29:13–16).

35:10 These two nations. Israel and Judah.

35:11 as I live. See note on 18:3.

35:13 you have spoken arrogantly against Me. Cf. Obad 12; Zeph 2:8,10; also Ps 35:26; Jer 48:26,42.

36:1–15 The comforting counterpart to ch. 6. Verses 1–7 announce punishment for the nations, vv. 8–15 restoration for Israel.

36:2 the enemy has spoken against you. See 25:3; 26:2. Aha! See note on 25:3. everlasting heights. The promised land, of which the elevated region between the Jordan Valley and the Mediterranean coast was the central core.

36:3 rest of the nations. All nations that in the past had conquered parts of Israel—until finally they took full possession.

36:4 mountains . . . hills . . . ravines . . . valleys. See 6:3 and note on 1:5.

36:5 fire of My jealousy. The Lord was personally offended by the ridicule of the nations because it was His special land they were mocking and plundering (see "My land" later in the verse). Edom. Singled out because of their long-standing hostility to Israel (see ch. 35, especially vv. 2,5 and notes).

6 'Therefore prophesy concerning the land of Israel and say to the mountains and to the hills, to the ravines and to the valleys, "Thus says the Lord GOD, 'Behold, I have spoken in My jealousy and in My wrath because you have [a]endured the insults of the nations.'

7 "Therefore thus says the Lord GOD, 'I have [1]sworn that surely the nations which are around you will themselves endure their insults.

8 'But you, O mountains of Israel, you will [a]put forth your branches and bear your fruit for My people Israel; for they will soon come.

9 'For, behold, I am for you, and I will [a]turn to you, and you will be [b]cultivated and sown.

10 'I will multiply men on you, [a]all the house of Israel, all of it; and the [b]cities will be inhabited and the waste places will be rebuilt.

11 'I will multiply on you man and beast; and they will increase and be fruitful; and I will cause you to be inhabited as you were [a]formerly and will [1]treat you [b]better than at the first. Thus you will know that I am the LORD.

12 'Yes, I will cause [a]men—My people Israel—to walk on you and possess you, so that you will become their [b]inheritance and never again [c]bereave them of children.'

13 "Thus says the Lord GOD, 'Because they say to you, "You are a [a]devourer of men and have bereaved your [1]nation of children,"

14 therefore you will no longer devour men and no longer bereave your nation of children,' declares the Lord GOD.

15 "I will not let you hear [a]insults from the nations anymore, nor will you bear [b]disgrace from the peoples any longer, nor will you cause your nation to [c]stumble any longer," declares the Lord GOD.' "

16 Then the word of the LORD came to me saying,

17 "Son of man, when the house of Israel was living in their own land, they [a]defiled it by their ways and their deeds; their way before Me was like [b]the uncleanness of a woman in her impurity.

18 "Therefore I [a]poured out My wrath on them for the blood which they had shed on the land, because they had defiled it with their idols.

19 "Also I [a]scattered them among the nations and they were dispersed throughout the lands. [b]According to their ways and their deeds I judged them.

20 "When they came to the nations where they went, they [a]profaned My holy name, because it was said of them, 'These are the [b]people of the LORD; yet they have come out of His land.'

21 "But I had [1]concern for My [a]holy name, which the house of Israel had profaned among the nations where they went.

Israel to Be Renewed for His Name's Sake

22 "Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "It is [a]not for your sake, O house of Israel, that I am about to act, but for My holy name, which you have profaned among the nations where you went.

23 "I will [a]vindicate the holiness of My great name which has been profaned among the nations, which you have profaned in their midst. Then the [b]nations will know that I am the LORD," declares the Lord GOD, "when I prove Myself holy among you in their sight.

24 "For I will [a]take you from the nations, gather you from all the lands and bring you into your own land.

24 [a]Is 43:5, 6; Ezek 34:13; 37:21

36:8 branches and . . . fruit. Signs of productivity (see 17:8,23) and the Lord's restored favor (see Lev 26:3–5); to be contrasted with Edom's desolation in 35:3,7,15. soon. As judgment neared (7:7; 12:23), a speedy return of the exiles was announced.

36:9 I will turn to you. Cf. Lev 26:9 for the identical clause in a similar context.

36:10 all the house of Israel. In this chapter (as in 37:15–23) Ezekiel is speaking of the restoration of all Israel.

36:11 increase and be fruitful. Identical terminology to the divine blessing at creation (Gen 1:22,28; see Gen 8:17; 9:1,7) and the subsequent covenant blessing (see Gen 17:6; 35:11; 48:3–4; Ex 1:7). Thus you will know that I am the LORD. These words of recognition, used throughout the book to express God's revelation through judgment, here point to God's self-disclosure in salvation (see note on 5:13; cf. 34:30).

36:12 walk on you. The mountains of Israel are still being addressed. bereave them of children. The mountains are poetically pictured as having contributed to the depopulation brought by the exile. This may refer to the fact that Canaan contained the Canaanites and their religious centers ("high places"), which had led Israel astray and so brought God's wrath down on His people (see 6:3 and note).

36:16–38 Summarizes all that Ezekiel prophesied concerning Israel.

36:18 blood . . . defiled it with their idols. A summary reference to Israel's social injustices and idolatrous religious practices (see 22:3 and note). idols. See note on 6:4.

36:20 they profaned My holy name. Because Israel had been removed from her land, it seemed to the nations that her God was unable to protect and preserve His people (cf. Num 14:15–16; 2 Kin 18:32–35; 19:10–12).

36:22 It is not for your sake. Not because God did not care for Israel, but because they did not deserve what He was about to do (cf. Deut 9:4–6). Statements like these make Ezekiel a preacher of pure grace. for My holy name. The reason given in ch. 20 for the withholding of divine punishment (see 20:9,14,22) is here given as a reason for divine restoration.

36:23 Then the nations will know that I am the LORD. The ultimate purpose of God's plans with Israel is that the whole world may know the true God.

36:24–30 There are four stages of restoration in this central passage of Ezekiel: (1) return of the exiles (v. 24), (2) cleansing from sin (v. 25), (3) enablement by God's Spirit to live God's way (vv. 26–27), and (4) prosperity in the land (vv. 28–30).

25 "Then I will [a]sprinkle clean water on you, and you will be clean; I will cleanse you from all your [b]filthiness and from all your [c]idols.

26 "Moreover, I will give you a [a]new heart and put a new spirit within you; and I will remove the [b]heart of stone from your flesh and give you a heart of flesh.

27 "I will [a]put My Spirit within you and cause you to walk in My statutes, and you will be careful to observe My ordinances.

28 "You will live in the land that I gave to your forefathers; so you will be [a]My people, and I will be your God.

29 "Moreover, I will save you from all your uncleanness; and I will call for the grain and multiply it, and I [a]will not [1]bring a famine on you.

30 "I will [a]multiply the fruit of the tree and the produce of the field, so that you will not receive again the disgrace of famine among the nations.

31 "Then you will [a]remember your evil ways and your deeds that were not good, and you will loathe yourselves in your own sight for your iniquities and your abominations.

32 "I am not doing this [a]for your sake," declares the Lord GOD, "let it be known to you. Be ashamed and confounded for your ways, O house of Israel!"

33 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "On the day that I cleanse you from all your iniquities, I will cause the [a]cities to be inhabited, and the [b]waste places will be rebuilt.

34 "The desolate land will be cultivated instead of being a desolation in the sight of everyone who passes by.

35 "They will say, 'This desolate land has become like the [a]garden of Eden; and the waste, desolate and ruined cities are fortified and inhabited.'

36 "Then the nations that are left round about you will know that I, the LORD, have rebuilt the ruined places and planted that which was desolate; I, the LORD, have spoken and [a]will do it."

37 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "This also I will let the house of Israel ask Me to do for them: I will increase their men like a flock.

38 "Like the [a]flock [1]for sacrifices, like the flock at Jerusalem during her appointed feasts, so will the waste cities be filled with [b]flocks of men. Then they will know that I am the LORD." ' "

Vision of the Valley of Dry Bones

37 The [a]hand of the LORD was upon me, and He [b]brought me out [1]by the Spirit of the LORD and set me down in the middle of the [c]valley; and it was full of bones.

2 He caused me to pass among them round about, and behold, there were very many on the surface of the valley; and lo, they were very dry.

3 He said to me, "Son of man, [a]can these bones live?" And I answered, "O Lord [1]GOD, [b]You know."

4 Again He said to me, "[a]Prophesy over these bones and say to them, 'O dry bones, [b]hear the word of the LORD.'

5 "Thus says the Lord GOD to these bones, 'Behold, I will cause [1a]breath to enter you that you may come to life.

36:26–27 Contains "new covenant" terminology (see Jer 31:33–34).

36:26 new heart. See notes on 11:19; 18:31. put a new spirit within you. Transform your mind and heart. Here and in 11:19 God declared that He would bring about the change. In 18:31 (see note there) He called on His people to effect the change. What He requires of His people He always provides. heart of flesh. "Flesh" in the OT is often a symbol for weakness and frailty (Is 31:3); in the NT it often stands for the sinful nature as a God-opposing force (as in Rom 8:5–8). Here it stands (in opposition to stone) for a pliable, teachable heart.

36:27 My Spirit. God bestows His Spirit to enable the human spirit to do His will. Verses 25–27 are closely paralleled in Ps 51:7–11.

36:28 My people . . . your God. Covenant language (see 11:20 and note).

36:29 from all your uncleanness. From cultic and moral defilement (see v. 25; 37:23). I will call. As at the beginning when God called creation into being (cf. Gen 1:5,8,10).

36:30 disgrace. As in v. 15.

36:31 Then you will remember. God's undeserved grace leads to recollection and repentance (cf. 6:9; 16:63; 20:43; Ps 130:4).

36:32 not . . . for your sake. See note on v. 22.

36:33 On the day. Connects the promise of cleansing (vv. 24–32) and the promise of repopulation (vv. 33–36).

36:35 garden of Eden. Primeval fertility is suggested (cf. 28:13; 31:9). fortified. In contrast to 38:11.

36:36 nations . . . will know. See note on v. 23.

36:37 let the house of Israel ask. Allowing petitions to come to Him again, God reversed His earlier refusals to hear (cf. 14:3; 20:3,31).

36:38 Like the flock for sacrifices. See 1 Kin 8:63; 1 Chr 29:21; 2 Chr 35:7 for the appropriateness of the comparison.

37:1–28 One of Ezekiel's major visions. Surprisingly no date is given (as in 1:2; 8:1; 40:1), but the event must have occurred sometime after 586 B.C.

37:1 hand of the LORD. See note on 1:3. Spirit of the LORD. Used elsewhere in Ezekiel only in 11:5; usually simply "the Spirit," as in 8:3; 11:1,24. valley. The Hebrew for this word is the same as that translated "plain" in 3:22–23; 8:4. Ezekiel now received a message of hope, where he had previously heard God's word of judgment. bones. Verse 11 interprets them as symbolizing Israel's apparently hopeless condition in exile.

37:2 there were very many. Symbolizing the whole community of exiles. very dry. Long dead, far beyond the reach of resuscitation (1 Kin 17:17–24; 2 Kin 4:18–37; but see 2 Kin 13:21).

37:4 Prophesy over these bones. Ezekiel had previously prophesied to inanimate objects (mountains, 6:2; 36:1; forests, 20:47) and now prophesied to lifeless bones and the "breath" (v. 9).

6 'I will put sinews on you, make flesh grow back on you, cover you with skin and put breath in you that you may come alive; and you will [a]know that I am the LORD.' "

7 So I prophesied [a]as I was commanded; and as I prophesied, there was a [1]noise, and behold, a rattling; and the bones came together, bone to its bone.

8 And I looked, and behold, sinews were on them, and flesh grew and skin covered them; but there was no breath in them.

9 Then He said to me, "Prophesy to the breath, prophesy, son of man, and say to the breath, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "Come from the four winds, O breath, and [a]breathe on these slain, that they [b]come to life." ' "

10 So I prophesied as He commanded me, and the [a]breath came into them, and they came to life and stood on their feet, an [b]exceedingly great army.

The Vision Explained

11 Then He said to me, "Son of man, these bones are the [a]whole house of Israel; behold, they say, 'Our [b]bones are dried up and our hope has perished. We are [1]completely [c]cut off.'

12 "Therefore prophesy and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "Behold, I will open your graves and [a]cause you to come up out of your graves, My people; and I will bring you into the land of Israel.

13 "Then you will know that I am the LORD, when I have opened your graves and caused you to come up out of your graves, My people.

14 "I will [a]put My [1]Spirit within you and you will come to life, and I will place you on your own land. Then you will know that I, the LORD, have spoken and done it," declares the LORD.' "

Reunion of Judah and Israel

15 The word of the LORD came again to me saying,

16 "And you, son of man, take for yourself [a]one stick and write on it, 'For [b]Judah and for the sons of Israel, his companions'; then take another stick and write on it, 'For [c]Joseph, the stick of Ephraim and all the house of Israel, his companions.'

17 "Then [a]join them for yourself one to another into one stick, that they may become one in your hand.

18 "When the sons of your people speak to you saying, 'Will you not declare to us [a]what you mean by these?'

19 say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "Behold, I will take the stick of Joseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel, his companions; and I will put them with it, with the stick of Judah, and make them one stick, and they will be one in My hand." '

20 "The sticks on which you write will be in your hand before their eyes.

21 "Say to them, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "Behold, I will [a]take the sons of Israel from among the nations where they have gone, and I will gather them from every side and bring them into their own land;

22 and I will make them [a]one nation in the land, on the mountains of Israel; and [b]one king will be king for all of them; and they will no longer be two nations and no longer be divided into two kingdoms.

23 "They will [a]no longer defile themselves with their idols, or with their detestable things, or with any of their transgressions; but [b]I will deliver them from all their [1]dwelling places in which they have sinned, and will cleanse them. And they will be My people, and I will be their God.

37:6 sinews . . . flesh . . . skin . . . breath. Lists of four items are common in Ezekiel (see note on 1:5).
37:7 a rattling. Probably the sound of the bones coming together, but possibly recalling the sound accompanying God's presence, as in 3:12–13 ("rumbling sound").
37:8 but there was no breath. This visionary re-creation of God's people recalls the two-step creation of man in Gen 2:7, where man was first formed from the dust and then received the breath of life.
37:9 breath. The Hebrew for this word can also mean "wind" or "spirit." four. See note on 1:5. slain. What Ezekiel saw was a battlefield strewn with the bones of the fallen (see v. 10).
37:11 Our bones . . . cut off. A sense of utter despair, to which the vision offers hope.
37:12 graves. The imagery shifts from a scattering of bones on a battlefield (see note on v. 9) to a cemetery with sealed graves.
37:14 I will place you on your own land. These words make it clear that the Lord is not speaking here of a resurrection from the dead but of the national restoration of Israel.
37:16 take . . . one stick. Ezekiel's last symbolic act involving a material object (cf. 4:1,3,9; 5:1). write on it. Zech 11:7 seems to be based on this passage in Ezekiel.
37:17 join them . . . one to another. The sticks may have been miraculously joined, or Ezekiel may have joined the sticks together in his hand.
37:18 Will you not declare to us . . . ? The symbolic act successfully aroused the people's curiosity (see 12:9; 21:7; 24:19).
37:19 they will be one in My hand. God would duplicate Ezekiel's symbolic act by uniting the two kingdoms separated since Solomon's death (see 1 Kin 12). For similar prophecies of the reunion of Israel see 33:23,29; Jer 3:18; 23:5–6; Hos 1:11; Amos 9:11.
37:22 mountains of Israel. See 6:2–3; 34:13; 36:1. one king. Only here and in v. 24 is the word "king" used of the future ruler. Usually "prince" is used (see note on 34:24), as in v. 25. See 7:27 and note; see also 44:3; 45:7–9 and frequently in chs. 45–48, where the ruler in the ideal age is always referred to as "prince."
37:23 idols. The old and basic offense (see note on 6:4). dwelling places. See NASB marg. ("backslidings") and Jer 2:19; 3:22. cleanse. Cf. 36:25 for the same notion. My people . . . their God. See note on 11:20.

The Davidic Kingdom

24 "My servant [a]David will be king over them, and they will all have [b]one shepherd; and they will walk in My ordinances and keep My statutes and observe them.

25 "They will live on the land that I gave to Jacob My servant, in which your fathers lived; and they will live on it, they, and their sons and their sons' sons, forever; and [a]David My servant will be their prince forever.

26 "I will make a [a]covenant of peace with them; it will be an [b]everlasting covenant with them. And I will [1]place them and [c]multiply them, and will set My [d]sanctuary in their midst forever.

27 "My [a]dwelling place also will be with them; and [b]I will be their God, and they will be My people.

28 "And the nations will know that I am the LORD [a]who sanctifies Israel, when My sanctuary is in their midst forever." ' "

Prophecy about Gog and Future Invasion of Israel

38 And the word of the LORD came to me saying,

2 "Son of man, set your face toward [a]Gog of the land of [b]Magog, the [1]prince of [c]Rosh, [d]Meshech and [d]Tubal, and prophesy against him

3 and say, 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "Behold, I am against you, O Gog, [2]prince of Rosh, Meshech and Tubal.

37:24 My servant David. As in 34:23 (see note there) the coming Messianic ruler is called David because He would be a descendant of David and would achieve for Israel what David had—except more fully. king. See note on v. 22. shepherd. As in 34:23 the coming ruler is likened to a shepherd who cares for his flock (cf. John 10, especially v. 16).

37:25 Jacob My servant. See 28:25 and note.

37:26 covenant of peace. See 34:25 and note. everlasting covenant. See 16:60 and note. The phrase occurs 16 times in the OT, referring at times to the Noahic covenant (Gen 9:16), the Abrahamic (Gen 17:7,13,19), the Davidic (2 Sam 23:5) and the "new" (Jer 32:40). Cf. the covenant with Phinehas (Num 25:12–13). set My sanctuary in their midst. As he had done before. This word is further developed in Ezekiel's vision of the future age, in which the rebuilt sanctuary would have central position (chs. 40–48). See vv. 27–28.

38:1 This statement, repeated often for receiving God's word, stands as an introduction to chs. 38–39, which are a unit. The future restoration of Israel under the reign of the house of David (ch. 37) will bring about a massive coalition of world powers to destroy God's kingdom. But the vast host that comes against Jerusalem will end up as dead bodies strewn over the fields of the promised land. Israel will become the cemetery of the enemy hordes (cf. ch. 37).

38:2 Son of man. See note on 2:1. set your face. See note on 20:46. Gog. Apparently a leader or king whose name appears only here and in Rev 20:8. Several identifications have been attempted, notably Gyges, king of Lydia (c. 660 B.C.). Possibly the name is purposely vague, standing for a mysterious, as yet undisclosed, enemy of God's people. of the land of Magog. In Gen 10:2; 1 Chr 1:5 Magog is one of the sons of Japheth, thus the name of a people. In Ezek 39:6 it appears to refer to a people. But since the Hebrew prefix ma- can mean "place of," Magog may here simply mean "land of Gog." Israel had long experienced the hostility of the Hamites and other Semitic peoples; the future coalition here envisioned will include—and in fact be led by—peoples descended from Japheth (cf. Gen 10). prince of Rosh. "Prince of Rosh" can be translated "chief prince of," which would refer to a military commander-in-chief. Meshech and Tubal. These sons of Japheth (see Gen 10:2; 1 Chr 1:5) are probably located in eastern Asia Minor (cf. 27:13; 32:26). They are peoples and territories to the north of Israel (cf. vv. 6,15; 39:2). As in the days of the Assyrians and Babylonians, the major attack will come from the north.

38:3 I am against you. See note on 5:8.

38:4 I will turn you about. Emphasis is on the fact that God is completely in control of all that is to follow. put hooks into your jaws. As with Pharaoh in 29:4, Gog is likened to a beast led around by God.

38:5 Ethiopia. Hebrew Cush, the upper (southern) Nile region. The invading forces from the north (see v. 2 and note) are joined by armies from the south. Put. Libya (Africa).

38:6 Gomer. Another of Gog's northern allies (see note on v. 2), mentioned in Gen 10:3; 1 Chr 1:6 as one of the sons of Japheth. According to non-Biblical sources, these peoples originated north of the Black Sea. Beth-togarmah. See note on 27:14. According to Gen 10:3 and 1 Chr 1:6 Togarmah is one of the children of Gomer.

38:8 After many days . . . in the latter years. After all the events of national restoration, the immigration and settlement in Israel as described in chs. 34–37 will be completed.

38:9 like a cloud. Jeremiah similarly describes the invasion from the north in Jer 4:13.

38:10 on that day. A phrase also common to other prophetic writings; here it refers to the day of Gog's invasion of Israel. thoughts will come into your mind. The divine initiative (v. 4) is into your mind and you will [a]devise an evil plan,

11 and you will say, 'I will go up against the land of [1][a]unwalled villages. I will go against those who are [b]at rest, that live securely, all of them living without walls and having no bars or gates,

12 to [a]capture spoil and to seize plunder, to turn your hand against the waste places which are now inhabited, and against the people who are gathered from the nations, who have acquired cattle and goods, who live at the [1]center of the world.'

13 "[a]Sheba and [b]Dedan and the merchants of [c]Tarshish with all its [1]villages will say to you, 'Have you come to capture spoil? Have you assembled your company to seize plunder, to carry away silver and gold, to take away cattle and goods, to capture great [d]spoil?' " '

14 "Therefore prophesy, son of man, and say to Gog, 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "On that day when My people Israel are [a]living securely, will you not know it?

15 "[a]You will come from your place out of the remote parts of the north, you and many peoples with you, all of them riding on horses, a great assembly and a mighty army;

16 and you will come up against My people Israel like a cloud to cover the land. It shall come about in the last days that I will bring you against My land, so that the nations may [a]know Me when I am [b]sanctified through you before their eyes, O Gog."

17 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "Are you the one of whom I spoke in former days through My servants the prophets of Israel, who [a]prophesied in those days for many years that I would bring you against them?

18 "It will come about on that day, when Gog comes against the land of Israel," declares the Lord GOD, "that My fury will mount up in My [a]anger.

19 "In My [a]zeal and in My blazing wrath I declare that on that day there will surely be a great [1][b]earthquake in the land of Israel.

20 "[a]The fish of the sea, the birds of the heavens, the beasts of the field, all the creeping things that creep on the earth, and all the men who are on the face of the earth will shake at My presence; the [b]mountains also will be thrown down, the steep pathways will [1]collapse and every wall will fall to the ground.

21 "I will call for a [a]sword against [1]him on all My mountains," declares the Lord GOD. "[b]Every man's sword will be against his brother.

22 "With pestilence and with blood I will enter into [a]judgment with him; and I will rain on him and on his troops, and on the many peoples who are with him, [1]a torrential rain, with [b]hailstones, fire and brimstone.

23 "I will magnify Myself, sanctify Myself, and [a]make Myself known in the sight of many nations; and they will know that I am the LORD." '

Prophecy against Gog—Invaders Destroyed

3 "I will [a]strike your bow from your left hand and dash down your arrows from your right hand.

paralleled, as it often is in Scripture, by human action (cf. Deut 31:3; Is 10:6–7). evil plan. A raiding expedition (see v. 12).

38:11 land of unwalled villages. Speaks of a blissfully peaceful, ideal future time when walls no longer will be needed. See Zech 2:4–5, which assumes, as does this passage, that the Lord alone is sufficient protection (cf. 36:35–36).

38:12 center of the world. The Hebrew for "center" also means "navel," a graphic image for the belief that Israel was the vital link between God and the world (the idea occurs also in 5:5). The word occurs elsewhere in the Bible only in Judg 9:37. Since the Hebrew for "world" can also mean "land," theologically Jerusalem is both the center of the land of Israel and the center of the earth.

38:13 Sheba. Southwest corner of the Arabian peninsula (modern Yemen), known for trading (Job 6:19; see 23:42; 27:22; 1 Kin 10:1–2). Dedan. See note on 25:13. Tarshish. See note on 27:12.

38:17 Are you the one of whom I spoke . . . ? Probably a general reference to earlier prophecies of divine judgment on the nations arrayed against God and His people.

38:19 earthquake. Signaling the mighty presence of God, who comes to overwhelm the great army invading His land.

38:20 The fourfold listing of the animal world indicates the totality of nature (see note on 1:5; cf. Gen 9:2; 1 Kin 4:33; Job 12:7–8 for similar listings).

38:21 I will call for a sword. God's sword of judgment (Is 34:5–6; Jer 25:29). Every man's sword will be against his brother. The coalition of Israel's enemies will turn on itself, as did the armies that attacked Judah in the time of Jehoshaphat (2 Chr 20:22–23).

38:22 The list of divine weapons suggests that God will intervene directly without the benefit of an earthly army.

39:1 Gog, prince of Rosh, Meshech. Or "Gog, chief prince of Meshech"; see note on 38:2. While vv. 1–16 add new details, the same basic events as those in ch. 38 are described.

39:2 from the remotest parts of the north. As in 38:6,15.

39:3 bow. Cf. Jer 6:23. The Lord will disarm Israel's enemies before they can shoot an arrow.

39:4 food to every kind of predatory bird. A theme expanded in vv. 17–20.

day of which I have spoken.
9 "Then those who inhabit the cities of Israel will [a]go out and make [b]fires with the weapons and burn them, both shields and bucklers, bows and arrows, war clubs and spears, and for seven years they will make fires of them.
10 "They will not take wood from the field or gather firewood from the forests, for they will make fires with the weapons; and they will take the spoil of those who despoiled them and seize the [a]plunder of those who plundered them," declares the Lord GOD.
11 "On that day I will give Gog a burial ground there in Israel, the valley of those who pass by east of the sea, and it will block off those who would pass by. So they will bury Gog there with all his [1]horde, and they will call it the valley of [2]Hamon-gog.
12 "For seven months the house of Israel will be burying them in order to [a]cleanse the land.
13 "Even all the people of the land will bury them; and it will be [1]to their [a]renown on the day that I [b]glorify Myself," declares the Lord GOD.
14 "They will set apart men who will constantly pass through the land, [a]burying those who were passing through, even those left on the surface of the ground, in order to cleanse it. At the end of seven months they will make a search.
15 "As those who pass through the land pass through and anyone sees a man's bone, then he will [1]set up a marker by it until the buriers have buried it in the valley of [2]Hamon-gog.
16 "And even the name of the city will be Hamonah. So they will cleanse the land." ' 17 "As for you, son of man, thus says the Lord GOD, 'Speak to every [1]kind of [a]bird and to every [a]beast of the field, "Assemble and come, gather from every side to My sacrifice which I am going to [b]sacrifice for you, as a great sacrifice on the mountains of Israel, that you may eat flesh and drink blood.
18 "You will [a]eat the flesh of mighty men and drink the blood of the princes of the earth, as though they were [b]rams, lambs, goats and [c]bulls, all of them fatlings of [d]Bashan.
19 "So you will eat fat until you are glutted, and drink blood until you are drunk, from
My sacrifice which I have sacrificed for you.
20 "You will be glutted at My table with [a]horses and charioteers, with mighty men and all the men of war," declares the Lord
GOD.
21 "And I will set My [a]glory among the nations; and all the nations will see My judgment which I have executed and My hand which I have laid on them.
22 "And the house of Israel will [a]know that I am the LORD their God from that day onward.
23 "The nations will know that the house of Israel went into exile for their [a]iniquity because they acted treacherously against Me,

39:6 I will send fire. See 30:8 and note.
39:9 burn them. Cf. Ps 46:9, where God does the burning. seven. A symbolic number signifying the finality of this great battle against God's people, as well as indicating the size of the invading armies.
39:12 seven. As in v. 9, the number seven symbolizes totality, completeness and finality, and it also reveals the large number of invaders. cleanse the land. Ritual purity is a basic element in Ezekiel's theology (see 22:26; 24:13; 36:25,33; 37:23). Corpses were especially unclean (see Lev 5:2; 21:1,11; 22:4; Num 5:2; 6:6–12; 19:16; 31:19).
39:13 people of the land. See 7:27 and note, though here a special class may not be implied.
39:14 set apart men . . . constantly pass through. After the seven-month burial period observed by all the people, special squads will be hired full time to ensure total cleansing of the land—by marking for burial any human bones that may have been missed. Total ritual purity is the aim.
39:15 marker. Probably of stone, either a large one or a heap of smaller ones.
39:17 Speak to every kind of bird . . . to My sacrifice. Various interpretations are: 1. Since the enemies are all dead and buried, this section (vv. 17–20) is perhaps to be understood as poetic imagery. 2. However, if the passage reverts back to v. 4, a more literal interpretation is possible—the dead bodies were not all buried at once. 3. Verses 17–20 involve a restating of vv. 9–16, employing a different figure (see Is 34:6; Jer 46:10; Zeph 1:7). The metaphor of sacrifice suggests a consecration to the Lord in judgment, as with Jericho (see Josh 6:17 and note).
39:18 You will eat the flesh of mighty men. A gory description of what birds of prey commonly do (see previous note and Rev 19:17–21). as though they were. The bodies of the victims are compared to animals commonly used for sacrifices. Bashan. Rich pastureland east of the Sea of Galilee, known for its sleek cattle (Deut 32:14; Ps 22:12; Amos 4:1) and its oak trees (27:6; Is 2:13).
39:19 eat fat . . . drink blood. Further indication that this is the Lord's sacrificial feast, in that fat and blood were normally reserved for God (see 44:15; Lev 3:17).
39:20 My table. Sacrificial altar. See 40:38–43 and 41:22 for description of the tables in the new temple.
39:21 My glory. God's visible presence in the world (see note on 1:28). Here that visibility is due to divine intervention in history.
39:22–23 the house of Israel will know . . . The nations will know. As God had made Himself known to Israel and the nations through His saving acts in Israel's behalf (see Ex 6:7; 7:5,17; 10:2; 14:18; 16:6–7,12; Josh 3:10; 4:24; cf. Josh 2:9–11; 5:1), so now Israel and the nations will see Him again at work as He judges His people for their sin (see v. 27).

and I [b]hid My face from them; so I gave them into the hand of their adversaries, and all of them fell by the sword.

24 "[a]According to their uncleanness and according to their transgressions I dealt with them, and I hid My face from them." ' "

Israel Restored

25 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD, "Now I will [1][a]restore the fortunes of Jacob and have mercy on the whole [b]house of Israel; and I will be [c]jealous for My holy name.

26 "They will [1][a]forget their disgrace and all their treachery which they [2]perpetrated against Me, when they [b]live securely on their own land with [c]no one to make them afraid.

27 "When I [a]bring them back from the peoples and gather them from the lands of their enemies, then I shall be [b]sanctified [1]through them in the sight of the many nations.

28 "Then they will know that I am the LORD their God because I made them go into exile among the nations, and then gathered them again to their own land; and I will leave none of them there any longer.

29 "I will not hide My face from them any longer, for I will have [a]poured out My Spirit on the house of Israel," declares the Lord GOD.

Vision of the Man with a Measuring Rod

40 In the [a]twenty-fifth year of our exile, at the beginning of the year, on the tenth of the month, in the fourteenth year after the [b]city was [1]taken, on that same day the [c]hand of the LORD was upon me and He brought me there.

2 In the [a]visions of God He brought me into the land of Israel and set me on a very [b]high mountain, and on it [c]to the south there was a [d]structure like a city.

3 So He brought me there; and behold, there was a man whose appearance was like the appearance of [a]bronze, with a [b]line of flax and a [c]measuring [1]rod in his hand; and he was standing in the gateway.

4 The man said to me, "[a]Son of man, [b]see with your eyes, hear with your ears, and give attention to all that I am going to show you; for you have been brought here in order to show it to you. [c]Declare to the house of Israel all that you see."

Measurements Relating to the Temple

5 And behold, there was a [a]wall on the outside of the [1]temple all around, and in the man's hand was a measuring rod of six cubits, each of which was a cubit and a [2]handbreadth. So he measured the thickness of the [3]wall, one rod; and the height, one rod.

6 Then he went to the gate which faced [a]east, went up its steps and measured the threshold of the gate, one rod [1]in width; and the other threshold was one rod [1]in width.

7 The [a]guardroom was one rod long and one rod wide; and there were five cubits between the guardrooms. And the threshold of the gate by the porch of the gate [1]facing inward was one rod.

8 Then he measured the porch of the gate [1]facing inward, one rod.

9 He measured the porch of the gate,

39:23 I hid My face. Expression of divine displeasure (see Ps 30:7; Is 54:8; 57:17).

39:24 their uncleanness and . . . their transgressions. Spelled out especially in ch. 22, but also throughout chs. 6–24.

39:25 Jacob. The nation of Israel, as in 20:5. The parallelism within the verse supports this identity. My holy name. See note on 20:9.

39:26 They will forget their disgrace. The remembrance of shame previously called for (6:9; 20:43; 36:31) is here erased.

39:27 I shall be sanctified through them. God will reveal Himself anew in a restored, holy people (cf. 20:41; 28:25; 36:23).

39:28 Then they will know. See note on v. 22.

39:29 I will have poured out My Spirit. The gift of God's enabling Spirit (see 11:19; 36:26–27; 37:14).

40:1 twenty-fifth year . . . beginning . . . tenth. Apr. 28, 573 B.C. of our exile. All the dates in the book of Ezekiel (see chart, p. 1158) are reckoned from the 597 exile, but only here and in 33:21 is the exile specifically mentioned (see 1:2). the beginning of the year. Hebrew Rosh Hashanah, the well-known Jewish New Year festival. It has long occurred in the fall (in either September or October), but since throughout the book Ezekiel uses a different and older religious calendar, the spring date as given above is correct (see note on Lev 23:24). hand of the LORD was upon me. See note on 1:3.

40:2 visions of God. Introduces all three of Ezekiel's major visions (see 1:1; 8:3). very high mountain. Mount Zion, also seen as extraordinarily high in other prophetic visions (17:22; Is 2:2; Mic 4:1; Zech 14:10). Height here signifies importance, as the earthly seat of God's reign. on it to the south. With the city located on its southern slopes, the mountain is to the north (cf. Ps 48; see Ps 48:2 and note).

40:3 like . . . bronze. Indicates the man was other than human. line of flax. Used for longer measurements such as those in 47:3. measuring rod. Used for shorter measurements—about ten feet and four inches long. in the gateway. Presumably of the outer court (see vv. 17–19).

40:5 wall on the outside of the temple all around. Separating the sacred from the secular. six cubits. In using the long cubit (seven handbreadths, or about 21 inches), which was older than the shorter cubit (six handbreadths, or about 18 inches), Ezekiel was returning to more ancient standards for the new community (see 2 Chr 3:3).

40:6 gate which faced east. The gate of the outer court. The three gates (east, north, south) of the outer court were similar to the three in the inner court (v. 32), having six alcoves for the guards (three on each side) and a portico (vv. 8–9). Comparable gate plans have been discovered at Megiddo, Gezer and Hazor, all dating from the time of Solomon (see 1 Kin 9:15). The guards kept out anyone who might profane the temple area (see Ezra 2:62). went up its steps. The first of three sets of stairs leading to the temple. This one had seven steps (v. 22); the next one (inner court), eight (v. 31); the last (temple), ten (v. 49; based on the Septuagint reading of this verse)— possibly indicating increasing degrees of "holiness" (sacredness).

Ezekiel uses a long or "royal" cubit, 20.4 inches or 51.81 cm ("cubit and a hand-breadth," Ezek 40:5) as opposed to the standard Hebrew cubit of 17.6 inches or 44.7 cm.

Scripture describes a floor plan, but provides few height dimensions. This artwork shows an upward projection of the temple over the floor plan. This temple existed only in a vision of Ezekiel (Eze 40:2), and has never actually been built as were the temples of Solomon, Zerubbabel and Herod.

eight cubits; and its side pillars, two cubits. And the porch of the gate was [1]faced inward.

10 The guardrooms of the gate toward the east numbered three on each side; the three of them had the same measurement. The side pillars also had the same measurement on each side.

11 And he measured the width of the [1]gateway, ten cubits, and the length of the gate, thirteen cubits.

12 There was a [1]barrier wall one cubit wide in front of the guardrooms on each side; and the guardrooms were six cubits square on each side.

13 He measured the gate from the roof of the one guardroom to the roof of the other, a width of twenty-five cubits from one door to the door opposite.

14 He made the side pillars sixty cubits high; the gate extended round about to the side pillar of the [a]courtyard.

15 From the front of the entrance gate to the front of the inner porch of the gate was fifty cubits.

16 There were [1][a]shuttered windows looking toward the guardrooms, and toward their side pillars within the gate all around, and likewise for the porches. And there were windows all around inside; and on each side pillar were [b]palm tree ornaments.

17 Then he brought me into the [a]outer court, and behold, there were [b]chambers and a pavement made for the court all around; thirty chambers [1]faced the pavement.

18 The pavement (that is, the lower pavement) was by the [1]side of the gates, corresponding to the length of the gates.

19 Then he measured the width from the front of the [a]lower gate to the front of the exterior of the inner court, a [b]hundred cubits on the east and on the north.

20 As for the [a]gate of the outer court which faced the north, he measured its length and its width.

21 [1]It had three [a]guardrooms on each side; and its [b]side pillars and its porches [2]had the same measurement as the first gate. Its length was [c]fifty cubits and the width [d]twenty-five cubits.

22 Its [a]windows and its porches and its palm tree ornaments had the same measurements as the [b]gate which faced toward the east; and [1]it was reached by seven [c]steps, and its [2]porch was in front of them.

23 The inner court had a gate opposite the gate on the north as well as the gate on the east; and he measured a [a]hundred cubits from gate to gate.

24 Then he led me toward the south, and behold, there was a [a]gate toward the south; and he measured its [b]side pillars and its porches according to [1]those same measurements.

25 [1]The gate and its porches had [a]windows all around like [2]those other windows; the length was [b]fifty cubits and the width twenty-five cubits.

26 There were seven [a]steps going up to it, and its porches were in front of them; and it had [b]palm tree ornaments on its side pillars, one on each side.

27 The inner court had a gate toward the [a]south; and he measured from gate to gate toward the south, a [b]hundred cubits.

28 Then he brought me to the inner court by the south gate; and he measured the south gate [a]according to those same measurements.

29 Its [a]guardrooms also, its side pillars and its [b]porches were according to those same measurements. And [1]the gate and its porches had [b]windows all around; it was [c]fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.

30 There were [a]porches all around, twenty-five cubits long and five cubits wide.

31 Its porches were toward the outer court; and [a]palm tree ornaments were on its side pillars, and its stairway had eight [b]steps.

32 He brought me into the [a]inner court toward the east. And he measured the gate [b]according to those same measurements.

33 Its [a]guardrooms also, its side pillars and its porches were according to those same measurements. And [1]the gate and its porches had [b]windows all around; it was [c]fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.

34 Its [a]porches were toward the outer court; and [a]palm tree ornaments were on its side pillars, on each side, and its stairway had eight [b]steps.

35 Then he brought me to the [a]north gate; and he measured it according to those same measurements,

36 with its [a]guardrooms, its side pillars and its [b]porches. And [1]the gate had [b]windows all around; the length was [c]fifty cubits and the width twenty-five cubits.

40:16 palm tree. As in Solomon's temple (see 1 Kin 6:29,32,35).

40:20 gate . . . which faced the north. Both it and the south gate (v. 24) were identical to the east gate.
40:22 seven steps. See note on v. 6.
40:28 south gate. Of the inner wall, which is not described but must be assumed. he measured . . . according to those same measurements. In both the outer walls (see note on v. 6).
40:34 eight steps. See note on v. 6.

37 Its side pillars were toward the outer court; and [a]palm tree ornaments were on its side pillars on each side, and its stairway had eight [b]steps.

38 A [a]chamber with its doorway was by the side pillars at the gates; there they [b]rinse the burnt offering.

39 In the porch of the gate were two [a]tables on each side, on which to slaughter the [b]burnt offering, the sin offering and the guilt offering.

40 On the outer [1]side, [2]as one went up to the [3]gateway toward the north, were two tables; and on the other [1]side of the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Four [a]tables were on each side [1]next to the gate; or, eight tables on which they slaughter sacrifices.

42 For the burnt offering there were four [a]tables of [b]hewn stone, a cubit and a half long, a cubit and a half wide and one cubit high, on which they lay the instruments with which they slaughter the [a]burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 The double [1]hooks, one handbreadth in length, were installed [2]in the house all around; and on the tables was the flesh of the offering.

44 From the outside to the [a]inner gate were [1][b]chambers for the [c]singers in the inner court, one of which was at the [2]side of the north gate, with [3]its front toward the south, and one at the [2]side of the [4]south gate facing toward the north.

45 He said to me, "This is the [a]chamber which faces toward the south, intended for the priests who [b]keep charge of the [1]temple;

46 but the [a]chamber which faces toward the north is for the priests who [b]keep charge of the altar. These are the [c]sons of Zadok, who from the sons of Levi [d]come near to the LORD to minister to Him."

47 He measured the court, a perfect square, a [a]hundred cubits long and a hundred cubits wide; and the altar was in front of the [1]temple.

48 Then he brought me to the [a]porch of the [1]temple and measured each side pillar of the porch, five cubits on each side; and the width of the gate was three cubits on each side.

49 The length of the porch was twenty cubits and the width eleven cubits; and at the [a]stairway by which it was ascended were [b]columns belonging to the side pillars, one on each side.

The Inner Temple

41 Then he [a]brought me to the [1][b]nave and measured the [c]side pillars; six cubits wide on each side was the width of the [2]side pillar.

2 The width of the entrance was ten cubits and the [1]sides of the entrance were five cubits on each side. And he measured [2]the length of the nave, [a]forty cubits, and the width, [a]twenty cubits.

3 Then he went [1][a]inside and measured each [b]side pillar of the doorway, two cubits, and the doorway, six cubits high; and the width of the doorway, seven cubits.

4 He measured its length, [a]twenty cubits, and the width, twenty cubits, before the [b]nave; and he said to me, "This is the [c]most holy place."

5 Then he measured the wall of the [1]temple, six cubits; and the width of the [a]side chambers, four cubits, all around about the house on every side.

6 [a]The side chambers were in three stories, [1]one above another, and [2]thirty in each story; and [3]the side chambers [b]extended to the wall which stood on [4]their inward side all around, that they might be fastened, and not be fastened into the wall of the temple itself.

7 The side chambers surrounding the temple were wider at each successive story. Because the [a]structure surrounding the temple went upward by stages on all sides of the temple, therefore the width of the temple increased as it went higher; and thus one went up from the lowest story to the highest by way of the [1]second story.

8 I saw also that the house had a raised

40:38 side pillars at the gates. The porticoes of the inner gateways were on the side of the outer court, facing away from the temple. rinse. The inner parts and the legs were washed (Lev 1:9).

40:39 burnt offering. Probably one of the oldest kinds of sacrifice. The entire animal was burned in consecration to God (see Lev 1). sin offerings and guilt offerings. Discussed in Lev 4–7. The peace offerings, which were more festive, are notable by their absence from this listing (see 43:27; 45:17; 46:2,12).

40:46 sons of Zadok. For the distinction between the sons of Zadok and the Levites see the fuller discussion in the notes on 44:15–31.

40:47 altar. Described in 43:13–17.

40:48 porch. Similar to the portico in Solomon's temple but slightly larger (see 1 Kin 6:3).

40:49 columns. Called Jachin and Boaz in Solomon's temple (see 1 Kin 7:21).

41:1 nave. The largest of the three rooms comprising the temple (see NASB marg., the main inner hall). This outer sanctuary was identical in size to Solomon's (see 1 Kin 6:17).

41:3 he went inside. Only the angel, not Ezekiel, entered the most holy place. Lev 16 forbids any but the high priest to enter it, and then only once a year (see Heb 9:7). six cubits high. Or "six cubits wide"; note the progressive narrowness of the door openings as one approaches the inner sanctuary (40:48, 14 cubits; 41:2, 10 cubits).

41:6 thirty in each story. These 90 side rooms were probably storerooms for the priests, possibly for the tithes (see Mal 3:10).

[1]platform all around; the foundations of the side chambers were a full rod of [a]six [2]long cubits in height.

9 The [1]thickness of the outer wall of the side chambers was five cubits. But the [a]free space between the side chambers belonging to the temple

10 and the outer [a]chambers was twenty cubits in width all around the temple on every side.

11 The [1]doorways of the [2]side chambers toward the [a]free space consisted of one doorway toward the north and another doorway toward the south; and the width of the [a]free space was five cubits all around.

12 The [a]building that was in front of the [b]separate area at the side toward the west was seventy cubits wide; and the wall of the building was five cubits [1]thick all around, and its length was ninety cubits.

13 Then he measured the temple, a [a]hundred cubits long; the [b]separate area with the [c]building and its walls were also a [a]hundred cubits long.

14 Also the width of the front of the temple and that of the separate [1]areas along the east side totaled a hundred cubits.

15 He measured the length of the [a]building [1]along the front of the [b]separate area behind it, with a [2c]gallery on each side, a hundred cubits; he also measured the inner nave and the porches of the court.

16 The [a]thresholds, the [1b]latticed windows and the [2c]galleries round about their [d]three stories, opposite the threshold, were [e]paneled with wood all around, and from the ground to the windows (but the windows were covered),

17 over the entrance, and to the inner house, and on the outside, and on all the wall all around inside and outside, by measurement.

18 It was [1]carved with [a]cherubim and [b]palm trees; and a palm tree was between cherub and cherub, and every cherub had two faces,

19 a [a]man's face toward the palm tree on one side and a young [a]lion's face toward the palm tree on the other side; they were [1]carved on all the house all around.

20 From the ground to above the entrance [a]cherubim and [a]palm trees were [1]carved, as well as on the wall of the nave.

21 The [a]doorposts of the [b]nave were square; as for the front of the sanctuary, the appearance of one doorpost was like that of the other.

22 The [a]altar was of wood, three cubits high and its length two cubits; its corners, its [1]base and its [2]sides were of wood. And he said to me, "This is the [b]table that is before the LORD."

23 The [a]nave and the [b]sanctuary each had a double [c]door.

24 Each of the doors had two leaves, two [1a]swinging leaves; two leaves for one door and two leaves for the other.

25 Also there were [1]carved on them, on the doors of the nave, [a]cherubim and [a]palm trees like those [1]carved on the walls; and there was a [2b]threshold of wood on the front of the porch outside.

26 There were [1a]latticed windows and [b]palm trees on one side and on the other, on the sides of the [c]porch; thus were the [d]side chambers of the house and the [2]thresholds.

Chambers of the Temple

42 Then he [a]brought me out into the [b]outer court, the way [c]toward the north; and he brought me to the [d]chamber which was opposite the [e]separate area and opposite the [f]building toward the north.

2 Along the length, which was a [a]hundred cubits, was the north door; the width was fifty cubits.

3 Opposite the [a]twenty cubits which belonged to the inner court, and opposite the [b]pavement which belonged to the outer court, was [1c]gallery corresponding to [1]gallery in three stories.

4 Before the [a]chambers was an inner walk ten cubits wide, a way of one hundred cubits; and their openings were on the north.

5 Now the upper chambers were [1]smaller because the [2a]galleries took more space away from them than from the lower and middle ones in the building.

6 For they were in [a]three stories and had no pillars like the pillars of the courts; therefore the upper chambers were [1]set back from the ground upward, more than the lower and middle ones.

41:13 hundred. The 100-cubit symmetry stood for perfection.
41:16 paneled with wood all around. As in Solomon's temple (1 Kin 6:15).
41:18 cherubim. Who served as guards (cf. Gen 3:24). These, as opposed to those mentioned in ch. 10, have only two faces—a man's and a lion's (see 1 Kin 6:29,32,35).
41:22 altar . . . of wood. As the great altar stood outside the temple proper (43:13–17), so a smaller altar (3'5" square by 5' high) stood outside the most holy place. It served as a table, no doubt to hold the bread of the Presence (Ex 25:30; Lev 24:5–9; see 1 Kin 7:48 and note). Ezekiel makes no mention of an altar of incense or of lampstands, such as were found in Solomon's temple and in the tabernacle before it. Also not included are the "sea" (1 Kin 7:23) and the ark of the covenant.
41:23 double door. Folding doors, so that the entry could be made still narrower.
42:1 chamber . . . opposite the separate area. The chambers' function is described in vv. 13–14. They have no parallel in Solomon's temple as described in 1 Kin 6.

chambers, toward the outer court facing the chambers, its length was fifty cubits.

8 For the length of the chambers which were in the outer court was fifty cubits; and behold, the length of those facing the temple was a [a]hundred cubits.

9 Below these chambers was the [a]entrance on the east side, as one enters them from the outer court.

10 In the [1]thickness of the [a]wall of the court toward the east, facing the [b]separate area and facing the building, there were [c]chambers.

11 The [a]way in front of them was like the appearance of the chambers which were on the north, according to their length so was their width, and all their exits were both according to their arrangements and openings.

12 Corresponding to the openings of the chambers which were toward the south was an opening at the head of the way, the way in front of the [a]wall toward the east, as one enters them.

13 Then he said to me, "The north chambers and the south chambers, which are opposite the [a]separate area, they are the [b]holy chambers where the priests who are [c]near to the LORD shall eat the [d]most holy things. There they shall lay the most holy things, the grain offering, the sin offering and the guilt offering; for the place is holy.

14 "When the priests enter, then they shall not go out into the outer court from the sanctuary [1]without [a]laying there their [b]garments in which they minister, for they are holy. They shall put on other garments; then they shall approach that which is for the people."

15 Now when he had finished measuring the inner house, he brought me out by the way of the [a]gate which faced toward the east and measured it all around.

16 He measured on the east side with the measuring reed five hundred reeds by the [a]measuring reed.

17 He measured on the north side five hundred reeds by the measuring reed.

18 On the south side he measured five hundred reeds with the measuring reed.

19 He turned to the west side and measured five hundred reeds with the measuring reed.

20 He measured it [1]on the four sides; it had a [a]wall all around, the [b]length five hundred and the [b]width five hundred, to [c]divide between the holy and the profane.

Vision of the Glory of God Filling the Temple

43 Then he led me to the [a]gate, the gate facing toward the east;

2 and behold, the [a]glory of the God of Israel was coming from the way of the [b]east. And His [c]voice was like the sound of many waters; and the earth [d]shone with His glory.

3 And it was like the appearance of the vision which I saw, like the [a]vision which I saw when [1]He came to [b]destroy the city. And the visions were like the vision which I saw by the [c]river Chebar; and I [d]fell on my face.

4 And the glory of the LORD came into the house by the way of the gate facing toward the [a]east.

5 And the [a]Spirit lifted me up and brought me into the inner court; and behold, the [b]glory of the LORD filled the house.

6 Then I heard one speaking to me from the house, while a [a]man was standing beside me.

7 He said to me, "Son of man, this is the place of My [a]throne and the place of the soles of My feet, where I will [b]dwell among the sons of Israel forever. And the house of Israel will not again defile My holy name, neither they nor their kings, by their harlotry and by the [1][c]corpses of their kings [2]when they die, 42:20 length five hundred and . . . width five hundred. Perfect symmetry in the ideal temple's total area.

43:2 behold, the glory. The high point of chs. 40–48. The temple had been prepared for this moment, and all that follows flows from this appearance. coming from the . . . east. The direction Ezekiel had seen God leave (see 11:23). In the book of Ezekiel God's glory is always active (see vv. 4–5; 3:23; 9:3; 10:4,18; 44:4). like the sound of many waters. Ezekiel experienced an audition as well as a vision. For the comparison see 1:24; Rev 1:15; 14:2; 19:6. the earth shone with His glory. God's visible glory is always described as being very bright (see 10:4; Luke 2:9; Rev 21:11,23).

43:3 like the vision which I saw. And yet it was different, for no creatures or wheels are mentioned here. when He came to destroy the city. See ch. 9. by the River Chebar. See ch. 1. I fell on my face. See 1:28; 3:23; 9:8; 11:13; 44:4.

43:4 by the . . . gate facing . . . east. See note on v. 2.

43:5 And the Spirit lifted me up. With God being nearer, the function of the guiding angel was taken over by the Spirit of God. Ezekiel was transported into the inner court but not into the temple (cf. 3:14; 8:3; 11:1,24). filled the house. As at the consecration of Solomon's temple (1 Kin 8:11; see Ex 40:34–35; Is 6:4).

43:6 one. God, but out of reverence not named here, preserving an air of awe and mystery.

43:7 place of My throne. See Is 6:1; Jer 3:17. place of the soles of My feet. See 1 Chr 28:2; Ps 99:5; 132:7; Is 60:13; Lam 2:1. I will dwell among the sons of Israel forever. Renewing the promise of 37:26–28 (see v. 9; 1 Kin 6:13; Zech 2:11). harlotry. The word can stand either for the sacred prostitution in the Canaanite religion (Baalism) or for spiritual apostasy from true worship of the Lord (see note on 16:15). corpses. The reference is either to idols or to monuments or graves of past kings. Fourteen kings of Judah were buried in Jerusalem, possibly near (too near for Ezekiel) the temple area (see 2 Kin 21:18,26; 23:30).

8 by setting their threshold by My threshold and their door post beside My door post, with only the wall between Me and them. And they have [a]defiled My holy name by their abominations which they have committed. So I have consumed them in My anger.

And write it [b]in their sight, so that they may observe its whole [1]design and all its statutes and [c]do them.

The Offerings

18 And He said to me, "[a]Son of man, thus says the Lord [1]GOD, 'These are the statutes for the altar on the day it is built, to offer [b]burnt offerings on it and to [c]sprinkle blood on it.

19 'You shall give to the Levitical priests who are from the offspring of [a]Zadok, who draw [b]near to Me to minister to Me,' declares the Lord GOD, 'a [c]young bull for a [d]sin offering.

20 'You shall take some of its blood and put it on its four [a]horns and on the four corners of the [b]ledge and on the border round about; thus you shall [c]cleanse it and make atonement for it.

21 'You shall also take the bull for the sin offering, and it shall be [a]burned in the appointed place of the house, outside the sanctuary.

22 'On the second day you shall offer a [a]male goat without blemish for a sin offering, and they shall [b]cleanse the altar as they cleansed it with the bull.

23 'When you have finished cleansing it, you shall present a [a]young bull without blemish and a [b]ram without blemish from the flock.

24 'You shall present them before the LORD, and the priests shall throw [a]salt on them, and they shall offer them up as a burnt offering to the LORD.

25 '[a]For seven days you shall prepare daily a goat for a sin offering; also a young bull and a ram from the flock, without blemish, shall be prepared.

26 'For seven days they shall make atonement for the altar and purify it; so shall they [1]consecrate it.

27 'When they have completed the days, it shall be that on the [a]eighth day and onward,

43:8 their threshold by My threshold. Solomon's temple was surrounded by many of his own private structures (see 1 Kin 7:1–12). The distinction between God's holy temple and the rest of the world is a central idea in the book of Ezekiel (see v. 12; 44:23). So I have consumed them. As elsewhere in Ezekiel, the unstable practices of the people and their kings brought about their destruction (see 5:11; 18:10–12; and especially 22:1–15).

43:12 This is the law. Refers to the contents of chs. 40–42.

43:13 altar. Alluded to in 40:47 and here described in detail. Although the material is not mentioned, dressed stones were probably to be used. Ex 20:24–26 allowed an altar to be made of earth, but use of dressed stones for those altars was strictly forbidden (see notes on Ex 20:24–25). Solomon's altar was bronze (1 Kin 8:64). Ezekiel's altar, much larger than Solomon's, was over 20 feet tall, made up of three slabs of decreasing size, like a pyramid or Babylonian ziggurat: the "lower ledge" (v. 14), two cubits high; the "larger ledge" (v. 14), four cubits high; and the "altar hearth" (v. 15), four cubits high.

43:15 altar hearth. The Hebrew for this term appears only here in the OT and may also mean "mountain of God" or "lion of God"; it is a variant of a form that appears in Is 29:1–2. four horns. Stone projections from each of the four corners of the altar hearth. On earlier altars they afforded a refuge of last resort for an accused person (see Ex 21:12–14; 1 Kin 1:50–51; 2:28–29).

43:17 its steps. Forbidden in Ex 20:26 but here required because of the size (see note on v. 13).

43:18 burnt offerings. See note on 40:39. sprinkle blood. See Ex 29:16; Lev 4:6; 5:9.

43:19 from the offspring of Zadok. See note on 44:15. sin offering. To cleanse the altar from the pollution of human sin (see note on 40:39).

43:21 outside the sanctuary. As prescribed in Ex 29:14; Lev 4:12,21; 8:17; 9:11; 16:27. This action foreshadows one aspect of Christ's sacrifice (see Heb 13:11–13).

43:22 cleanse. By the sprinkling of the blood (see v. 20).

the priests shall [1]offer your burnt offerings on the altar, and your [b]peace offerings; and I will [c]accept you,' declares the Lord GOD."

Gate for the Prince

44 Then He brought me back by the way of the [a]outer gate of the sanctuary, which faces the east; and it was shut.

2 The LORD said to me, "This gate shall be shut; it shall not be opened, and no one shall enter by it, for the [a]LORD God of Israel has entered by it; therefore it shall be shut.

3 "As for the [a]prince, he shall sit in it as prince to [b]eat bread before the LORD; he shall [c]enter by way of the [d]porch of the gate and shall go out [1]by the same way."

4 Then He brought me by way of the [a]north gate to the front of the house; and I looked, and behold, the [b]glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD, and I [c]fell on my face.

5 The LORD said to me, "Son of man, [1a]mark well, see with your eyes and hear with your ears all that I say to you concerning all the [b]statutes of the house of the LORD and concerning all its laws; and [1]mark well the entrance of the house, with all exits of the sanctuary.

6 "You shall say to the [1a]rebellious ones, to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord [2]GOD, "[b]Enough of all your abominations, O house of Israel,

7 when you brought in [a]foreigners, [b]uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in My sanctuary to profane it, even My house, when you [c]offered My food, the fat and the blood; for they [d]made My covenant void—this in addition to all your abominations.

12 "Because they ministered to them [a]before their idols and became a [b]stumbling block of iniquity to the house of Israel, therefore I have [1c]sworn against them," declares the Lord GOD, "that they shall [d]bear the punishment for their iniquity.

13 "And they shall [a]not come near to Me to serve as a priest to Me, nor come near to any of My holy things, to the things that are most holy; but they will [b]bear their shame and their abominations which they have committed.

14 "Yet I will [1]appoint them [2]to [a]keep charge of the house, of all its service and of all that shall be done in it.

Ordinances for the Levites

15 "But the [a]Levitical priests, the sons of [b]Zadok, who [c]kept charge of My sanctuary when the sons of Israel [d]went astray from Me, shall come near to Me to minister to Me; and they shall [e]stand before Me to offer Me the [f]fat and the blood," declares the Lord GOD.

43:27 peace offerings. After the seven-day consecration by burnt offerings and sin offerings, the altar was ready for the celebration of the more festive peace offerings where the people partook of some of the meat (see Lev 3).

44:2 therefore it shall be shut. The reason given here is that God entered through the east gate (43:1–2), thus making it holy. Related reasons may be that God would never again leave as before (10:19; 11:23) and that sun worship would be made impossible (see 8:16). Today the east gate (called the Golden Gate) of the sacred Moslem area (Haram esh-Sharif) in Jerusalem is likewise sealed shut as a result of a later but possibly related tradition.

44:3 prince. The first mention of the prince in chs. 40–48 (see 34:24 and note). to eat. Probably his part of the peace offering (see Lev 7:15; Deut 12:7; see also Ezek 43:27 and note). While this honor is accorded the prince, it is significant that he is given no other part in the ceremonial functions, reserved now solely for the priests (see 2 Chr 26:16–20). by way of the porch. From the inside of the outer court.

44:7 uncircumcised in heart. Spiritually unfit.

44:9 No foreigner uncircumcised . . . shall enter My sanctuary. Nehemiah enforced this restriction when he dismissed Tobiah (Neh 13:8), an Ammonite (Neh 2:10; see Deut 23:3). Foreigners could, however, be a part of Israel (see 47:22).

44:10 Levites. Members of the tribe of Levi served as priests from the earliest days (see Deut 33:8–11; Judg 17:13). when Israel went astray. The reference is mainly to the period of the monarchy, especially to the last years, during which Ezekiel so often criticized the people's idolatry (see 6:3–6; 14:3–11; 16:18–21; 23:36–49; 36:17–18; 37:23).

44:11 stand before them. Cf. standing before the Lord (see v. 15); the Levites still had an honorable position.

44:15 Zadok. Traced his Levitical lineage to Aaron through Aaron's son Eleazar (1 Chr 6:50–53). He served as priest under David, along with Abiathar (see 2 Sam 8:17 and note; 15:24–29; 20:25). He supported Solomon (as opposed to Abiathar, who pledged himself to Adonijah) and thus secured for himself and his descendants the privilege of serving in the Jerusalem temple (see 1 Kin 1). Later the Zadokites were removed from office, but the Qumran (Dead Sea Scrolls) community remained loyal to them. who kept charge. A distinction Ezekiel did not make in his oracles of judgment (see 7:26; 22:26 and the thrust of all of ch. 8). In chs. 40–48, however, the Zadokites received special consideration because of their faithfulness.

16 "They shall [a]enter My sanctuary; they shall come near to My [b]table to minister to Me and keep My charge.

17 "It shall be that when they enter at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with [a]linen garments; and wool shall not [1]be on them while they are ministering in the gates of the inner court and in the house.

18 "Linen [a]turbans shall be on their heads and [b]linen undergarments shall be on their loins; they shall not gird themselves with anything which makes them sweat.

19 "When they go out into the outer court, into the outer court to the people, they shall [a]put off their garments in which they have been ministering and lay them in the holy chambers; then they shall put on other garments so that they will [b]not transmit holiness to the people with their garments.

20 "Also they shall [a]not shave their heads, yet they shall not [b]let their locks [1]grow long; they shall only trim the hair of their heads.

21 "[a]Nor shall any of the priests drink wine when they enter the inner court.

22 "And they shall not [1]marry a widow or a [a]divorced woman but shall [b]take virgins from the offspring of the house of Israel, or a widow who is the widow of a priest.

23 "Moreover, they shall teach My people the [a]difference between the holy and the profane, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean.

24 "In a dispute [a]they shall take their stand to judge; they shall judge it according to My ordinances. They shall also keep My laws and My statutes in all My [b]appointed feasts and [c]sanctify My sabbaths.

25 "[1][a]They shall not go to a dead person to defile themselves; however, for father, for mother, for son, for daughter, for brother, or for a sister who has not had a husband, they may defile themselves.

The LORD's Portion of the Land

45 "And when you [a]divide by lot the land for inheritance, you shall offer [1]an [b]allotment to the LORD, a [c]holy portion of the land; the length shall be the length of 25,000 [d]cubits, and the width shall be [2]20,000. It shall be holy within all its boundary round about.

2 "Out of this there shall be for the holy place a square round about [a]five hundred by five hundred cubits, and fifty cubits for its [1][b]open space round about.

3 "From this [1]area you shall measure a length of 25,000 cubits and a width of 10,000 cubits; and in it shall be the sanctuary, the most holy place.

44:16 They shall enter. This elevation of the Zadokites and demotion of the Levites were part of the concern for ritual purity, a major theme of chs. 40–48. Only the fittest were to serve. My table. Either the table that held the bread (see 41:22 and note) or the large altar on which the Lord's food was presented (v. 7).

44:17 linen. Cooler than wool (see v. 18).

44:18 turbans. Ezekiel wore one (24:17).

44:19 put off their garments. In the interest of ritual purity.

44:20 shall not shave their heads. Because it was a mourning ritual (7:18) that rendered the mourner unclean (see Lev 21:1–5). not let their locks grow long. Because it implied the taking of a vow that might prevent the priest from serving (see Num 6:5; Acts 21:23–26).

44:23 difference between the holy and the profane. One of Ezekiel's central concerns. The important task of declaring God's will on matters of clean and unclean food, the fitness of sacrificial animals and ritual purity either had been done for pay (see Mic 3:11) or had been neglected altogether (see Jer 2:8; Ezek 22:26). See Hag 2:10–13 for a positive example.

44:24 they shall . . . judge. One of their functions from earliest days (see 1 Sam 4:18 and note; see also 2 Chr 19:8–11).

44:25 dead person. Contact with the dead made a person ceremonially unclean (Lev 21:1–3; Hag 2:13).

44:28 no possession. The statement that priests were not to own land agrees with Num 18:20,23–24; Deut 10:9; Josh 13:14,33; 18:7.

44:31 died a natural death. This restriction applied to all Israel according to Lev 7:24.

45:1 when you divide by lot the land. Envisioned a new acquisition and redistribution of the land. offer . . . to the LORD. The entire square area in the center of the land was to be set aside for the Lord. 20,000 cubits. With the 5,000-cubit city area (v. 6) it was a perfect square. holy within all its boundary. Set apart for the Lord and owned by no tribe.

45:2 square round about five hundred by five hundred cubits. The temple area discussed in 42:16–20. open space. An unoccupied strip of land that served as a buffer between the more holy and the less holy, though the whole area was holy (see 42:20).

45:3 you shall measure. The middle strip of the holy square was specifically for the temple.

4 "It shall be the holy portion of the land;
it shall be for the [a]priests, the ministers of the sanctuary, who [b]come near to minister to the LORD, and it shall be a place for their houses and a holy place for the sanctuary.
5 "An area [a]25,000 cubits in length and 10,000 in width shall be for the Levites, the ministers of the house, and for their possession [1]cities to dwell in.
6 "You shall give the [a]city possession of an area 5,000 cubits wide and 25,000 cubits long, alongside the [1]allotment of the holy portion; it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

Portion for the Prince

7 "The [a]prince shall have land on either side of the holy [1]allotment and the [2]property of the city, adjacent to the holy [1]allotment and the [2]property of the city, on the west side toward the west and on the east side toward the east, and in length comparable to one of the portions, from the west border to the east border.
8 "This shall be his land for a possession in Israel; so My princes shall no longer [a]oppress My people, but they shall give the rest of the land to the house of Israel [b]according to their tribes."
9 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "[a]Enough, you princes of Israel; put away [b]violence and destruction, and [c]practice justice and righteousness. Stop your [d]expropriations from My people," declares the Lord GOD.
10 "You shall have [a]just balances, a just
[b]ephah and a just [b]bath.
11 "The ephah and the bath shall be [1]the same quantity, so that the bath will contain a tenth of a [a]homer and the ephah a tenth of a homer; [2]their standard shall be according to the homer.
12 "The [a]shekel shall be twenty [a]gerahs;
twenty shekels, twenty-five shekels, and fifteen shekels shall be your [1]maneh.
13 "This is the offering that you shall offer:

a sixth of an ephah from a homer of barley;
14 and the prescribed portion of oil
(namely, the bath of oil), a tenth of a bath from each kor (which is ten baths or a homer, for ten baths are a homer);

45:4 land . . . for the priests. Not to own (see 44:28) but to live on.
45:5 area . . . for the Levites. A section of equal size just to the north was for the Levites to dwell on, even though it was in the holy area. The Levites, as opposed to the Zadokite priests, could hold land as a possession.
45:6 city. The former Jerusalem contained the temple area. The new holy city would not, but would be adjacent to the temple. 5,000 cubits wide. The southernmost section of the city completed the perfectly square area. it shall be for the whole house of Israel. Not to any one tribe or person as in former days.
45:7 The prince shall have land. A considerable portion of territory. In view of the next verse (cf. 46:18) the generous allotment should have kept the prince from greed like that of Ahab (see 1 Kin 21). The prince was also responsible for sizable offerings (v. 17).
45:9 you princes of Israel. The language of this verse is reminiscent of the preaching Ezekiel did before 586 B.C. (see 22:6).
45:10 You shall have just balances. Israel was not to repeat the economic injustices of the past. The OT often warns against cheating in weights and measures (see Lev 19:35–36; Deut 25:13–16; Mic 6:10–12).
45:11 same quantity. A little more than half a bushel. homer. About six bushels.
45:13 offering. Given to the prince as distinct from the gifts given to the priests (44:30). The prince is to use these gifts in part for the offerings to the Lord (see v. 16).
45:17 drink offerings. Usually wine is meant (see Num 15:5; Hos 9:4); but wine is not mentioned here, though oil is (vv. 14,24).
45:18–46:24 This entire section involves so many variations from Pentateuchal law that the rabbis spent a great deal of effort trying to reconcile them. For example, the provision in 45:18 for an annual purification of the temple does not seem to take into consideration the day of atonement ritual of Lev 16.
45:19 priest. High priest.
45:22 sin offering. See note on 40:39.

shall provide as a [b]burnt offering to the LORD [c]seven bulls and seven rams without blemish on every day of the seven days, and a male goat daily for a sin offering.

24 "He shall provide as a [a]grain offering an ephah [1]with a bull, an ephah [1]with a ram and a hin of oil [1]with an ephah.

25 "In the [a]seventh month, on the fifteenth day of the month, at the feast, he shall provide like this, seven days [1]for the sin offering, the burnt offering, the grain offering and the oil."

The Prince's Offerings

46 'Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "The [a]gate of the [b]inner court facing east shall be [c]shut the six [d]working days; but it shall be opened on the [e]sabbath day and opened on the day of the [f]new moon.

2 "The [a]prince shall enter by way of the porch of the gate from outside and stand by the [b]post of the gate. Then the priests shall provide his burnt offering and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate and then go out; but the gate shall not be [c]shut until the evening.

3 "The [a]people of the land shall also worship at the doorway of that gate before the LORD on the sabbaths and on the [b]new moons.

4 "The [a]burnt offering which the prince shall offer to the LORD on the sabbath day shall be [b]six lambs without blemish and a ram without blemish;

5 and the [a]grain offering shall be an ephah [1]with the ram, and the grain offering [1]with the lambs [2]as much as he is [b]able to give, and a hin of oil [1]with an ephah.

6 "On the day of the [a]new moon he shall offer a young bull without blemish, also six lambs and a ram, which shall be without blemish.

7 "And he shall provide a [a]grain offering, an ephah [1]with the bull and an ephah [1]with the ram, and [1]with the lambs as [2]much as he is [b]able, and a hin of oil [1]with an ephah.

8 "When the [a]prince enters, he shall go in by way of the porch of the gate and go out [1]by the same way.

9 "But when the people of the land come [a]before the LORD at the appointed feasts, he who enters by way of the north gate to worship shall go out by way of the south gate. And he who enters by way of the south gate shall go out by way of the north gate. [1]No one shall return by way of the gate by which he entered but shall go straight out.

10 "When they go in, the prince shall go in [a]among them; and when they go out, [1]he shall go out.

11 "At the [a]festivals and the appointed feasts the [b]grain offering shall be an ephah [1]with a bull and an ephah [1]with a ram, and [1]with the lambs as [2]much as one is able to give, and a hin of oil [1]with an ephah.

12 "When the prince provides a [a]freewill offering, a burnt offering, or peace offerings as a freewill offering to the LORD, the gate facing east shall be [b]opened for him. And he shall provide his burnt offering and his peace offerings as he does on the [c]sabbath day. Then he shall go out, and the gate shall be shut after he goes out.

13 "And you shall provide a [a]lamb a year old without blemish for a burnt offering to the LORD daily; [b]morning by morning you shall provide it.

14 "Also you shall provide a grain offering with it morning by morning, a [a]sixth of an ephah and a third of a hin of oil to moisten the fine flour, a grain offering to the LORD continually by a perpetual [1]ordinance.

15 "Thus they shall provide the lamb, the grain offering and the oil, morning by morning, for a [a]continual burnt offering."

16 'Thus says the Lord GOD, "If the prince gives a [a]gift out of his inheritance to any of his sons, it shall belong to his sons; it is their possession by inheritance.

17 "But if he gives a gift from his inheritance to one of his servants, it shall be his until the [a]year of liberty; then it shall return to the

45:25 seventh month . . . fifteenth day . . . at the feast. In some respects the most important of the festivals—called the Feast of Ingathering (Ex 23:16; 34:22) and the Feast of Booths (Deut 16:16).

46:1 gate of the inner court. While the east gate of the outer court was permanently closed (44:2), the east gate of the inner court could be opened on festival days.

46:2 by way of the porch of the gate. The portico of the gate of the inner court faced the outer court. stand by the post of the gate. Which had been ritually cleansed (45:19). From there the prince could observe the sacrifices being performed on the great altar in the inner court, but he was not allowed into the inner court itself.

46:3 at the doorway of that gate. But in the outer court.

46:4 six lambs . . . and a ram. Another example of a difference from Pentateuchal laws (see note on 45:18–46:24). Num 28:9 calls for two lambs and no ram on the Sabbath.

46:5 ephah. Contrast Num 28:9.

46:6 day of the new moon. The first day of the month. Contrast the requirement of Num 28:11.

46:7 a grain offering, an ephah. Contrast Num 28:12.

46:9 he who enters by . . . the north gate. These appear to be crowd control measures. If so, the new era would see masses of people thronging the sanctuary on the festival day.

46:12 freewill offering. Above and beyond what was required of the prince.

46:13 morning by morning. Contrast Num 28:3–8, where the daily sacrifice consists of one lamb in the morning and one in the evening (see 1 Chr 16:40; 2 Chr 13:11; 31:3). A different custom appears in 2 Kin 16:15, where a burnt offering was offered in the mornings, a grain offering in the evenings.

46:14 sixth of an ephah . . . third of a hin. Contrast Num 28:5.

46:16 his sons. Ezekiel pictured a hereditary rulership.

46:17 until the year of liberty. The year of jubilee—held, theoretically, every 50th year (see Lev 25:8–15, especially v. 13).

prince. His inheritance shall be only his sons'; it shall belong to them.

The Boiling Places

19 Then he brought me through the [a]entrance, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers for the priests, which faced north; and behold, there was a place at the extreme rear toward the west.

20 He said to me, "This is the place where the priests shall boil the [a]guilt offering and the sin offering and where they shall [b]bake the grain offering, in order that they may not bring them out into the outer court to transmit holiness to the people."

21 Then he brought me out into the outer court and led me across to the four corners of the court; and behold, in every corner of the court there was a small court.

22 In the four corners of the court there were enclosed courts, forty cubits long and thirty wide; these four in the corners were [1]the same size.

23 There was a row of masonry round about in them, around the four of them, and boiling places were made under the rows round about.

24 Then he said to me, "These are the boiling [1]places where the ministers of the house shall boil the sacrifices of the people."

Water from the Temple

47 Then he brought me back to the [a]door of the house; and behold, [b]water was flowing from under the threshold of the house toward the east, for the house faced east. And the water was flowing down from under, from the right side of the house, from south of the altar.

2 He brought me out by way of the north gate and led me around [1]on the outside to the outer gate by way of the gate that faces east. And behold, water was trickling from the south side.

3 When the man went out toward the east with a line in his hand, he measured a thousand cubits, and he led me through the water, water reaching the ankles.

4 Again he measured a thousand and led me through the water, water reaching the knees. Again he measured a thousand and led me through the water, water reaching the loins.

5 Again he measured a thousand; and it was a river that I could not ford, for the water had risen, enough water to swim in, a [a]river that could not be forded.

6 He said to me, "Son of man, have you [a]seen this?" Then he brought me [1]back to the bank of the river.

7 Now when I had returned, behold, on the bank of the river there were very many [a]trees on the one side and on the other.

8 Then he said to me, "These waters go out toward the eastern region and go down into the [a]Arabah; then they go toward the sea, being made to flow into the [b]sea, and the waters of the sea become [1]fresh.

9 "It will come about that every living creature which swarms in every place where the [1]river goes, will live. And there will be very many fish, for these waters go there and the others [2]become fresh; so [a]everything will live where the river goes.

10 "And it will come about that [a]fishermen will stand beside it; from [b]Engedi to Eneglaim there will be a place for the [c]spreading of nets. Their fish will be according to their kinds, like the fish of the [d]Great Sea, [e]very many.

11 "But its swamps and marshes will not become [1]fresh; they will be [2]left for [a]salt.

46:19–24 Fits well after 42:13–14, where other rooms for priests are described. The provisions here are a fitting conclusion to the sacrifice laws. The priests' area (vv. 19–20) was to be kept separate from the cooking areas of the Levites (vv. 21–24).
47:1 he. The angelic guide (40:3), who here appears for the last time, concluded Ezekiel's visionary tour of the new temple. door of the house. Ezekiel was standing in the inner court. water. The rest of this section (vv. 1–12) makes it clear that healing, life-nurturing water is meant (see Ps 36:8; 46:4 and notes; see also Joel 3:18; Zech 13:1; 14:8; Rev 22:1–2). In the larger background was the river flowing from the Garden of Eden (Gen 2:10).
47:2 brought me out by way of the north gate. Because the east gate was closed (44:2).
47:5 measured a thousand. For a total of four measurings (see note on 1:5). river that could not be forded. Amazing, in that a stream fed by no tributaries does not increase as it flows.
47:7 very many trees. Reminiscent of Eden (Gen 2:9).
47:8 toward the eastern region. Contrast Zech 14:8. Arabah. Here the waterless region between Jerusalem and the Dead Sea (i.e., part of the Jordan Valley). the sea. Usually means the Mediterranean Sea, but here obviously the Dead Sea is intended. become fresh. The Hebrew says, figuratively, "become healed." That this lowest (1,300 feet below sea level) and saltiest (25 percent) body of water in the world should sustain such an abundance of life indicates the wonderful renewing power of this "river of the water of life" (Rev 22:1).
47:9 every living creature which swarms. Overtones of Gen 1:20–21 point to a new creation.
47:10 Engedi. Means "spring of the goat"; a strong spring midway along the western side of the Dead Sea. Eneglaim. Means "spring of the two calves." It is possibly Ain Feshkha, at the northwestern corner of the Dead Sea, though some suggest a location on the east bank. the Great Sea. The Mediterranean.
47:11 they will be left for salt. Perhaps to provide the salt needed in the sacrifices (43:24).

month because their water flows from the sanctuary, and their fruit will be for food and their [d]leaves for healing."

Boundaries and Division of the Land

13 Thus says the Lord [1]GOD, "This shall be the [a]boundary by which you shall divide the land for an inheritance among the twelve tribes of Israel; Joseph shall have two [b]portions.

14 "You shall divide it for an inheritance, each one [1]equally with the other; for I [2][a]swore to give it to your forefathers, and this land shall fall to you [3]as an inheritance.

15 "This shall be the boundary of the land: on the [a]north side, from the Great Sea by the way of Hethlon, to the entrance of [1][b]Zedad;

16 [1][a]Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is between the border of [b]Damascus and the border of Hamath; Hazer-hatticon, which is by the border of Hauran.

17 "The boundary shall [1]extend from the sea to [a]Hazar-enan at the border of Damascus, and on the north toward the north is the border of Hamath. This is the north side.

18 "The [a]east side, from between Hauran, Damascus, [b]Gilead and the land of Israel, shall be the [c]Jordan; from the north border to the eastern sea you shall measure. This is the east side.

19 "The [a]south side toward the south shall extend from [b]Tamar as far as the waters of [c]Meribath-kadesh, to the [d]brook of Egypt and to the [e]Great Sea. This is the south side toward the south.

20 "The [a]west side shall be the Great Sea, from the south border to a point opposite [1][b]Lebo-hamath. This is the west side.

21 "So you shall divide this land among yourselves according to the tribes of Israel.

22 "You shall divide it by [a]lot for an inheritance among yourselves and among the [b]aliens who stay in your midst, who bring forth sons in your midst. And they shall be to you as the native-born among the sons of Israel; they shall be allotted an [c]inheritance with you among the tribes of Israel.

23 "And in the tribe with which the alien stays, there you shall give him his inheritance," declares the Lord GOD.

Division of the Land

48 "Now [a]these are the names of the tribes: from the northern extremity, [1]beside the way of Hethlon to [2]Lebo-hamath, as far as Hazar-enan at the border of Damascus, toward the north [1]beside Hamath, [3]running from east to west, [b]Dan, one portion.

47:12 They will bear every month. A marvelous extension of the promises in 34:27; 36:30 (see Amos 9:13).
47:13 Joseph shall have two portions. Since the tribe of Levi received none (44:28), Ephraim and Manasseh, Joseph's two sons adopted by Jacob (Gen 48:17–20), each received an allotment (see 48:4–5).
47:14 for I swore. A reference to the covenant made with Abram (Gen 15:9–21; see Ezek 20:5; 36:28).
47:15 This shall be the boundary. Approximates Israel's borders at the time of David and Solomon, except that Transjordan is not included (see v. 18)—which, in any event, was never within the boundaries of the promised land proper. The following specified boundaries closely resemble those in Num 34:1–12. way of Hethlon. Probably situated on the Mediterranean coast, somewhere in present-day Lebanon. to the entrance of Zedad. Or "past Lebo Hamath to Zedad." Lebo, however, probably does not mean "entrance," but should be identified with modern Lebweh, about 15 miles northeast of Baalbek and 20 miles southwest of Kadesh on the Orontes River, near Riblah. At one time Lebo must have served as a fortress guarding the southern route to Hamath. Perhaps the phrase should be translated "Lebo of Hamath" (see NASB marg.). It is often referred to in Scripture as the northern limit of Israel (see v. 20; 48:1; Num 13:21; 34:8; Josh 13:5; 1 Kin 8:65; 2 Kin 14:25; Amos 6:14). Zedad. Mentioned in Num 34:8 but otherwise unknown.
47:16 Berothah. Probably to be identified with the Berothai of 2 Sam 8:8, but otherwise unknown. Sibraim. Location unknown; probably the Sephar-vaim of 2 Kin 17:24; 18:34. Damascus. Capital of Aram (Syria); according to v. 17 it was included in Israel. Hamath. A city about 120 miles north of Damascus on the Orontes River. Hazer-hatticon. Means "the middle enclosure." Its location is unknown, but it is possibly the same as Hazar-enan in v. 17.
47:18 eastern sea. The Dead Sea (see Joel 2:20; Zech 14:8).
47:19 Meribath-kadesh. A district about 50 miles south of Beersheba, identified with Kadesh-barnea in Num 34:4. brook of Egypt. The Wadi el-Arish, a deeply cut riverbed with seasonal flow that runs from the Sinai north-northwest until it enters the Mediterranean, 50 miles south of Gaza. It marked the southernmost extremity of Solomon's kingdom (1 Kin 8:65).
47:22 they shall be to you as the native-born . . . of Israel. A gracious inclusiveness that went beyond the provision of 14:7. It reflects the same universalism that is found in such prophecies as Is 56:3–8.
48:1 Hethlon to Lebo-hamath. See note on 47:15. Hazar-enan. See note on 47:16. Dan. Occupies its historical location as the northernmost tribe (see the phrase "from Dan to Beersheba," giving northern and southern boundaries—e.g., in Judg 20:1; 1 Sam 3:20). Dan was born to Rachel's maidservant Bilhah (Gen 35:25).
48:2 Asher. Born to Leah's maidservant Zilpah (Gen 35:26). The tribes descended from maidservants were placed farthest from the sanctuary (see Dan, v. 1; Naphtali, v. 3; Gad, v. 27).
48:3 Naphtali. Born to Rachel's maidservant Bilhah (see note on v. 2).
48:4 Manasseh. See note on 47:13.
48:5 Ephraim. See note on 47:13.

6 "Beside the border of Ephraim, from the east side to the west side, [a]Reuben, one portion.

7 "Beside the border of Reuben, from the east side to the west side, [a]Judah, one portion.

8 "And beside the border of Judah, from the east side to the west side, shall be the [1]allotment which you shall [2]set apart, 25,000 [3]cubits in width, and in length like one of the portions, from the east side to the west side; and the [a]sanctuary shall be in the middle of it.

9 "The allotment that you shall set apart to the LORD shall be 25,000 cubits in length and 10,000 in width.

Portion for the Priests

10 "The holy allotment shall be for these, namely for the [a]priests, toward the north 25,000 cubits in length, toward the west 10,000 in width, toward the east 10,000 in width, and toward the south 25,000 in length; and the sanctuary of the LORD shall be in its midst.

11 "It shall be for the priests who are sanctified of the [a]sons of Zadok, who have kept My charge, who did not go astray when the sons of Israel went astray as the [b]Levites went astray.

12 "It shall be an allotment to them from the allotment of the land, a most holy place, by the border of the Levites.

13 "Alongside the border of the priests the Levites shall have 25,000 cubits in length and 10,000 in width. The whole length shall be 25,000 cubits and the width 10,000.

14 "Moreover, they [a]shall not sell or exchange any of it, or alienate this [1]choice portion of land; for it is holy to the LORD.

15 "The remainder, 5,000 cubits in width and 25,000 [1]in length, shall be for [a]common use for the city, for dwellings and for [2]open spaces; and the city shall be in its midst.

16 "These shall be its measurements: the north side 4,500 cubits, the south side [a]4,500 cubits, the east side 4,500 cubits, and the west side 4,500 cubits.

17 "The city shall have [1]open spaces: on the north 250 cubits, on the south 250 cubits, on the east 250 cubits, and on the west 250 cubits.

18 "The remainder of the length alongside the holy allotment shall be 10,000 cubits toward the east and 10,000 toward the west; and it shall be [1]alongside the holy allotment. And its produce shall be food for the workers of the city.

19 "The workers of the city, out of all the tribes of Israel, shall cultivate it.

20 "The whole allotment shall be 25,000 by 25,000 cubits; you shall [1]set apart the holy allotment, a [2]square, with the [3]property of the city.

Portion for the Prince

21 "The [a]remainder shall be for the prince, on the one side and on the other of the holy allotment and of the [1]property of the city; in front of the 25,000 cubits of the allotment toward the east border and westward in front of the 25,000 toward the west border, alongside the portions, it shall be for the prince. And the holy allotment and the sanctuary of the house shall be in the middle of it.

22 "Exclusive of the [1]property of the Levites and the [1]property of the city, which are in the middle of that which belongs to the prince, everything between the border of Judah and the border of Benjamin shall be for the prince.

Portion for Other Tribes

23 "As for the rest of the tribes: from the east side to the west side, [a]Benjamin, one portion.

24 "Beside the border of Benjamin, from the east side to the west side, [a]Simeon, one portion.

25 "Beside the border of Simeon, from the east side to the west side, [a]Issachar, one portion.

26 "Beside the border of Issachar, from the east side to the west side, [a]Zebulun, one portion.

27 "Beside the border of Zebulun, from the east side to the west side, [a]Gad, one portion.

28 "And beside the border of Gad, at the south side toward the south, the border shall be from [a]Tamar to the waters of Meribath-kadesh, to the brook of Egypt, to the [b]Great Sea.

29 "This is the [a]land which you shall divide by lot to the tribes of Israel for an inheritance, and these are their several portions," declares the Lord [1]GOD.

48:31 Reuben . . . Judah . . . Levi. The three most influential tribes—Reuben, the firstborn; Judah, the Messianic tribe; Levi, the tribe of the priesthood—had gates together on the north side. Since Levi was included in this list, Joseph (v. 32) represented Ephraim and Manasseh (see note on 47:13) in order to keep the number at 12. For the gates cf. Rev 21:12–14.

48:35 The LORD is there. The great decisive word concerning the holy city; in Hebrew Yahweh-Shammah, a possible word-play on Yerushalayim, the Hebrew pronunciation of Jerusalem. For other names of Jerusalem see 23:4; Is 1:26; 60:14; 62:2–4,12; Jer 3:17; 33:16; Zech 8:3.

Daniel

Author, Date and Authenticity

The book mentions Daniel as its author in several passages, such as 9:2 and 10:2. That Jesus concurred is clear from His reference to " 'the abomination of desolation,' which was spoken of through Daniel the prophet" (Matt 24:15), quoting 9:27; 11:31; 12:11. The book was probably completed c. 530 B.C., shortly after the capture of Babylon by Cyrus in 539.

The widely held view that the book of Daniel is largely fictional rests mainly on the modern philosophical assumption that long-range predictive prophecy is impossible. Therefore all fulfilled predictions in Daniel, it is claimed, had to have been composed no earlier than the Maccabean period (second century B.C.), after the fulfillments had taken place. But objective evidence excludes this hypothesis on several counts:

1. To avoid fulfillment of long-range predictive prophecy in the book, the adherents of the late-date view usually maintain that the four empires of chs. 2 and 7 are Babylon, Media, Persia and Greece. But in the mind of the author, "the Medes and Persians" (5:28) together constituted the second in the series of four kingdoms (2:36–43). Thus it becomes clear that the four empires are the Babylonian, Medo-Persian, Greek and Roman. See chart on "Visions in Daniel," p. 1239.

2. The language itself argues for a date earlier than the second century. Linguistic evidence from the Dead Sea Scrolls (which furnish authentic samples of Hebrew and Aramaic writing from the second century B.C.; see "The Time between the Testaments," p. 1356) demonstrates that the Hebrew and Aramaic chapters of Daniel must have been composed centuries earlier. Furthermore, as recently demonstrated, the Persian and Greek words in Daniel do not require a late date. Some of the technical terms appearing in ch. 3 were already so obsolete by the second century B.C. that translators of the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) translated them incorrectly.

3. Several of the fulfillments of prophecies in Daniel could not have taken place by the second century anyway, so the prophetic element cannot be dismissed. The symbolism connected with the fourth kingdom makes it unmistakably predictive of the Roman empire (see 2:33; 7:7,19), which did not take control of Syro-Palestine until 63 B.C. Also, the prophecy concerning the coming of "the Messiah, the Prince," 483 years after "the issuing of a decree to restore and rebuild Jerusalem" (9:25), works out to the time of Jesus' ministry.

Objective evidence, therefore, appears to exclude the late-date hypothesis and indicates that there is insufficient reason to deny Daniel's authorship.

Theme

The theological theme of the book is God's sovereignty: "The Most High God is ruler over the realm of mankind" (5:21). Daniel's visions always show God as triumphant (7:11,26–27; 8:25; 9:27; 11:45; 12:13). The climax of His sovereignty is described in Revelation: "The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ; and He will reign forever and ever" (Rev 11:15; cf. Dan 2:44; 7:27).

Literary Form

The book is made up primarily of historical narrative (found mainly in chs. 1—6) and apocalyptic (revelatory) material (found mainly in chs. 7—12). The latter may be defined as symbolic, visionary, prophetic literature, usually composed during oppressive conditions and being chiefly eschatological in theological content. Apocalyptic literature is primarily a literature of encouragement to the people of God (see Introduction to Zechariah: Literary Form; see also Introduction to Revelation: Literary Form). For the symbolic use of numbers in apocalyptic literature see Introduction to Revelation: Distinctive Feature.

The Choice Young Men

1 In the third year of the reign of [a]Jehoiakim king of Judah, [b]Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came to Jerusalem and besieged it.

2 The [a]Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, along with some of the [b]vessels of the house of God; and he brought them to the land of [c]Shinar, to the house of his [1]god, and he brought the vessels into the treasury of his [1][d]god.

3 Then the king [1]ordered Ashpenaz, the chief of his [2]officials, to bring in some of the sons of Israel, including some of the [3]royal [a]family and of the nobles,

4 youths in whom was [a]no defect, who were good-looking, showing [b]intelligence in every branch of wisdom, endowed with understanding and discerning knowledge, and who had ability for [1]serving in the king's [2]court; and he ordered him to teach them the [3]literature and [c]language of the [d]Chaldeans.

5 The king appointed for them a daily ration from the [a]king's choice food and from the wine which he drank, and appointed that they should be [1]educated three years, at the end of which they were to [2b]enter the king's personal service.

6 Now among them from the sons of Judah were [a]Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah.

7 Then the commander of the officials assigned new names to them; and to Daniel he assigned the name [a]Belteshazzar, to Hananiah [b]Shadrach, to Mishael [b]Meshach and to Azariah [b]Abed-nego.

Daniel's Resolve

8 But Daniel [1]made up his mind that he would not [a]defile himself with the [b]king's choice food or with the [c]wine which he drank; so he sought permission from the commander of the officials that he might not defile himself.

9 Now God granted Daniel [1][a]favor and compassion in the sight of the commander of the officials,

10 and the commander of the officials said to Daniel, "I am afraid of my lord the king, who has appointed your food and your drink; for why should he see your faces looking more haggard than the youths who are your own age? Then you would [1]make me forfeit my head to the king."

11 But Daniel said to the overseer whom the commander of the officials had appointed over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, 12 "Please test your servants for ten days, and let us be [a]given some vegetables to eat and water to drink.

13 "Then let our appearance be [1]observed in your presence and the appearance of the youths who are eating the king's choice food; and deal with your servants according to what you see."

14 So he listened to them in this matter and tested them for ten days.

15 At the end of ten days their appearance seemed [a]better and [1]they were fatter than all the youths who had been eating the king's choice food.

16 So the overseer continued to [1]withhold their choice food and the wine they were to drink, and kept [a]giving them vegetables.

17 As for these four youths, [a]God gave them knowledge and intelligence in every branch of [1]literature and wisdom; Daniel even understood all kinds of [b]visions and dreams.

18 Then at the end of the days which the king had [1]specified [2]for presenting them, the

1:1 third year. According to the Babylonian system of computing the years of a king's reign, the third year of Jehoiakim would have been 605 B.C., since his first full year of kingship began on New Year's Day after his accession in 608. But according to the Judahite system, which counted the year of accession as the first year of reign, this was the fourth year of Jehoiakim (Jer 25:1; 46:2).

1:2 brought them. Judah was exiled to Babylonia because she disobeyed God's word regarding covenant-keeping, the sabbath years and idolatry (see Lev 25:1–7; 26:27–35; 2 Chr 36:14–21). The first deportation (605 B.C.) included Daniel, and the second (597) included Ezekiel. A third deportation took place in 586, when the Babylonians destroyed Jerusalem and the temple.

1:4 literature and language of the Chaldeans. Including the classical literature in Sumerian and Akkadian cuneiform, a complicated syllabic writing system. But the language of normal communication in multiracial Babylon was Aramaic, written in an easily learned alphabetic script (see 2:4).

1:6 Daniel. Means "God is (my) Judge." Hananiah. Means "The LORD shows grace." Mishael. Means "Who is what God is?" Azariah. Means "The LORD helps."

1:7 Belteshazzar. Probably means, in Babylonian, "Bel (i.e., Marduk), protect his life!" Shadrach. Probably means "command of Aku (Sumerian moon-god)." Meshach. Probably means "Who is what Aku is?" Abed-nego. Means "servant of Nego/Nebo (i.e., Nabu)."

1:8 king's choice food or . . . wine. Israelites considered food from Nebuchadnezzar's table to be contaminated because the first portion of it was offered to idols. Likewise a portion of the wine was poured out on a pagan altar. Ceremonially unclean animals were used and were neither slaughtered nor prepared according to the regulations of the law. he sought . . . that he might not defile himself. He demonstrated the courage of his convictions.

1:9 God granted Daniel favor. The careers of Joseph and Daniel were similar in many respects (see Gen 39–41).

1:12 test your servants. Daniel used good judgment by offering an alternative instead of rebelling. ten. Often had the symbolic significance of completeness.

1:17 With God's help, Daniel and his friends mastered the Babylonian literature on astrology and divination by dreams. But in the crucial tests of interpretation and prediction (see 2:3–11; 4:7), all the pagan literature proved worthless. Only by God's special revelation (2:17–28) was Daniel able to interpret correctly.

commander of the officials [3]presented them before Nebuchadnezzar.

19 The king talked with them, and out of them all not one was found like [a]Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah; so they [1][b]entered the king's personal service.

20 As for every matter of [a]wisdom [1]and understanding about which the king consulted them, he found them [b]ten times [c]better than all the [2][d]magicians and conjurers who were in all his realm.

21 And Daniel [1]continued until the [a]first year of Cyrus the king.

The King's Forgotten Dream

2 Now in the second year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar [1][a]had dreams; and his spirit was troubled and his [b]sleep [2]left him.

2 Then the king [1]gave orders to call in the [2][a]magicians, the conjurers, the sorcerers and the [3]Chaldeans to tell the king his dreams. So they came in and stood before the king.

3 The king said to them, "I [1][a]had a dream and my spirit [2]is anxious to [3]understand the dream."

4 Then the Chaldeans spoke to the king in [1][a]Aramaic: "[b]O king, live forever! [c]Tell the dream to your servants, and we will declare the interpretation."

5 The king replied to the Chaldeans, "[1]The command from me is firm: if you do not make known to me the dream and its interpretation, you will be [2][a]torn limb from limb and your houses will be made a rubbish heap.

6 "But if you declare the dream and its interpretation, you will receive from me [a]gifts and a reward and great honor; therefore declare to me the dream and its interpretation."

7 They answered a second time and said, "Let the king [a]tell the dream to his servants, and we will declare the interpretation."

8 The king replied, "I know for certain that you are [1]bargaining for time, inasmuch as you have seen that [2]the command from me is firm,

9 that if you do not make the dream known to me, there is only [a]one [1]decree for you. For you have agreed together to speak lying and corrupt [2]words before me until the [3]situation is changed; therefore tell me the dream, that I may [b]know that you can declare to me its interpretation."

10 The Chaldeans answered [1]the king and said, "There is not a man on earth who could declare the matter [2]for the king, inasmuch as no great king or ruler has ever asked anything like this of any [3][a]magician, conjurer or Chaldean.

11 "Moreover, the thing which the king demands is [1]difficult, and there is no one else who could declare it [2]to the king except [a]gods, whose [b]dwelling place is not with mortal flesh."

12 Because of this the king became [a]indignant and very furious and gave orders to destroy all the wise men of Babylon.

13 So the [1]decree went forth that the wise men should be slain; and they looked for [a]Daniel and his friends to [2]kill them.

14 Then Daniel replied with discretion and discernment to [a]Arioch, the captain of the king's [1]bodyguard, who had gone forth to slay the wise men of Babylon;

15 he said to Arioch, the king's commander, "For what reason is the [1]decree from the king so [2]urgent?" Then Arioch informed Daniel about the matter.

16 So Daniel went in and requested of the king that he would [1]give him time, in order that he might declare the interpretation to the king.

17 Then Daniel went to his house and informed his friends, [a]Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, about the matter, 18 so that they might [a]request compassion from the God of heaven concerning this mystery, so that Daniel and his friends would not be [b]destroyed with the rest of the wise men of Babylon.

The Secret Is Revealed to Daniel

19 Then the mystery was revealed to Daniel in a night [a]vision. Then Daniel blessed the God of heaven;

20 Daniel said,

1:20 ten. See note on v. 12. magicians. See note on Gen 41:8.

1:21 first year of Cyrus the king. Over Babylon (539 B.C.). Daniel was still living in the year 537 (10:1), so he saw the exiles return to Judah from Babylonian captivity.

2:1 second year of . . . Nebuchadnezzar. 604 B.C.

2:4 Aramaic. Since the astrologers were of various racial backgrounds, they communicated in Aramaic, the language everyone understood. From here to the end of ch. 7 the entire narrative is in Aramaic. These six chapters deal with matters of importance to the Gentile nations of the Near East and were written in a language understandable to all. But the last five chapters (8–12) revert to Hebrew, since they deal with special concerns of the chosen people.

2:11 whose dwelling place is not with mortal flesh. Who are not readily accessible.

2:14 Arioch. Meaning uncertain. It is also the name of a Mesopotamian king who lived centuries earlier (Gen 14:1,9).

2:18 God of heaven. See note on Ezra 1:2. mystery. A key word in Daniel (2:19,27–30,47; 4:9). It also appears often in the writings (Dead Sea Scrolls) of the Qumran sect (see essay, p. 1356). The Greek equivalent is used in the NT to refer to the secret purposes of God that He reveals only to His chosen prophets and apostles (see note on Rom 11:25).

"Let the name of God be [a]blessed forever and ever,
For [b]wisdom and power belong to Him.
21 "It is He who [a]changes the times and the epochs;
He [b]removes kings and [1]establishes kings;
He gives [c]wisdom to wise men
And knowledge to [2]men of understanding.
22 "It is He who [a]reveals the profound and hidden things;
[b]He knows what is in the darkness,
And the [c]light dwells with Him.
23 "To You, O [a]God of my fathers, I give thanks and praise,
For You have given me [b]wisdom and power;
Even now You have made known to me what we [c]requested of You,
For You have made known to us the king's matter."

24 Therefore, Daniel went in to Arioch, whom the king had appointed to destroy the wise men of Babylon; he went and spoke to him as follows: "[a]Do not destroy the wise men of Babylon! Take me [1]into the king's presence, and I will declare the interpretation to the king."

25 Then Arioch hurriedly [a]brought Daniel [1]into the king's presence and spoke to him as follows: "I have found a man among the [2b]exiles from Judah who can make the interpretation known to the king!"

26 The king said to Daniel, whose name was [a]Belteshazzar, "Are you able to make known to me the dream which I have seen and its interpretation?"

27 Daniel answered before the king and said, "As for the mystery about which the king has inquired, neither [a]wise men, conjurers, [1]magicians nor diviners are able to declare it to the king.

28 "However, there is a [a]God in heaven who reveals mysteries, and He has made known to King Nebuchadnezzar what will take place in the [1b]latter days. This was your dream and the [c]visions [2]in your mind while on your bed.

29 "As for you, O king, while on your bed your thoughts [1]turned to what would take place [2]in the future; and [a]He who reveals mysteries has made known to you what will take place.

30 "But as for me, this mystery has not been revealed to me for any [a]wisdom [1]residing in me more than in any other living man, but for the purpose of making the interpretation known to the king, and that you may [2]understand the [b]thoughts of your [3]mind.

The King's Dream

31 "You, O king, were looking and behold, there was a single great statue; that statue, which was large and [1]of extraordinary splendor, was standing in front of you, and its appearance was [a]awesome.

32 "The [a]head of that statue was made of fine gold, its breast and its arms of silver, its belly and its thighs of bronze,

33 its legs of iron, its feet partly of iron and partly of clay.

34 "You [1]continued looking until a [a]stone was cut out [b]without hands, and it struck the statue on its feet of iron and clay and [c]crushed them.

35 "Then the iron, the clay, the bronze, the silver and the gold were crushed [1]all at the same time and became [a]like chaff from the summer threshing floors; and the wind carried them away so that [b]not a trace of them was found. But the stone that struck the statue became a great [c]mountain and filled the whole earth.

The Interpretation—Babylon the First Kingdom

36 "This was the dream; now we will tell [a]its interpretation before the king.

37 "You, O king, are the [a]king of kings, to whom the God of heaven has given the [1]kingdom, the [b]power, the strength and the glory;

38 and wherever the sons of men dwell, or the [a]beasts of the field, or the birds of the sky, He has given them into your hand and has caused you to rule over them all. You are the head of gold.

Medo-Persia and Greece

39 "After you there will arise another kingdom inferior to you, then another third kingdom of bronze, which will rule over all the earth.

Rome

40 "Then there will be a [a]fourth kingdom as strong as iron; inasmuch as iron crushes

2:22 light dwells with Him. See Ps 36:9.

2:32–43 See map No. 7b and map No. 13 at the end of the study Bible. The gold head represents the Neo-Babylonian empire (v. 38; see Jer 51:7); the silver chest and arms, the Medo-Persian empire established by Cyrus in 539 B.C. (the date of the fall of Babylon); the bronze belly and thighs, the Greek empire established by Alexander the Great c. 330; the iron legs and feet, the Roman empire. The toes (v. 41) are understood by some to represent a later confederation of states occupying the territory formerly controlled by the Roman empire. The diminishing value of the metals from gold to silver to bronze to iron represents the decreasing power and grandeur (v. 39) of the rulers of the successive empires, from the absolute despotism of Nebuchadnezzar to the democratic system of checks and balances that characterized the Roman senates and assemblies. The metals also symbolize a growing degree of toughness and endurance, with each successive empire lasting longer than the preceding one.

and shatters all things, so, like iron that breaks in pieces, it will crush and break all these in pieces.

41 "In that you saw the feet and toes, partly of potter's clay and partly of iron, it will be a divided kingdom; but it will have in it the toughness of iron, inasmuch as you saw the iron mixed with [1]common clay.

42 "As the toes of the feet were partly of iron and partly of pottery, so some of the kingdom will be strong and part of it will be brittle.

43 "And in that you saw the iron mixed with [1]common clay, they will combine with one another [2]in the seed of men; but they will not adhere to one another, even as iron does not combine with pottery.

The Divine Kingdom

44 "In the days of those kings the [a]God of heaven will [b]set up a [c]kingdom which will never be destroyed, and that kingdom will not be [1]left for another people; it will [d]crush and put an end to all these kingdoms, but it will itself endure forever.

45 "Inasmuch as you saw that a [a]stone was cut out of the mountain without hands and that it crushed the iron, the bronze, the clay, the silver and the gold, the [b]great God has made known to the king what [c]will take place [1]in the future; so the dream is true and its interpretation is trustworthy."

Daniel Promoted

46 Then King Nebuchadnezzar fell on his face and did [a]homage to Daniel, and gave orders to present to him an offering and [1b]fragrant incense.

47 The king answered Daniel and said, "Surely [a]your God is a [b]God of gods and a Lord of kings and a [c]revealer of mysteries, since you have been able to reveal this mystery."

48 Then the king [1a]promoted Daniel and gave him many great gifts, and he made him ruler over the whole [b]province of Babylon and chief [2]prefect over all the wise men of Babylon.

49 And Daniel made request of the king, and he [a]appointed [b]Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego over the administration of the province of Babylon, while Daniel was at the king's [1c]court.

The King's Golden Image

3 Nebuchadnezzar the king made an [a]image of gold, the height of which was sixty [1]cubits and its width six [1]cubits; he set it up on the plain of Dura in the [b]province of Babylon.

2 Then Nebuchadnezzar the king sent word to assemble the [a]satraps, the prefects and the governors, the counselors, the treasurers, the judges, the magistrates and all the rulers of the provinces to come to the dedication of the image that Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up.

3 Then the satraps, the prefects and the governors, the counselors, the treasurers, the judges, the magistrates and all the rulers of the provinces were assembled for the dedication of the image that Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up; and they stood before the image that Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

4 Then the herald loudly proclaimed: "To you [1]the command is given, [a]O peoples, nations and men of every [2]language,

5 that at the moment you [a]hear the sound of the horn, flute, [1]lyre, [2]trigon, [3]psaltery, bagpipe and all kinds of music, you are to fall down and worship the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king has set up.

6 "But whoever does not fall down and worship shall [1]immediately be [a]cast into the midst of a [b]furnace of blazing fire."

7 Therefore at that time, when all the peoples heard the sound of the horn, flute, [1]lyre, trigon, psaltery, bagpipe and all kinds of music, all the peoples, nations and men of every [2]language fell down and worshiped the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up.

Worship of the Image Refused

8 For this reason at that time certain [a]Chaldeans came forward and [1b]brought charges against the Jews.

9 They responded and said to Nebuchadnezzar the king: "[a]O king, live forever!

10 "You, O king, have [a]made a decree that every man who hears the sound of the horn, flute, [1]lyre, trigon, psaltery, and bagpipe and all kinds of music, is to [b]fall down and worship the golden image.

11 "But whoever does not fall down and

2:44 The fifth kingdom is the eternal kingdom of God, built on the ruins of the sinful empires of man. Its authority will extend over "the whole earth" (v. 35) and ultimately over "a new heaven and a new earth" (Rev 21:1).

3:2 The seven classifications of government officials were to pledge full allegiance to the newly established empire as they stood before the image. The image probably represented the god Nabu, whose name formed the first element in Nebuchadnezzar's name (in Akkadian Nabu-kudurri-uṣur, meaning "Nabu, protect my son!" or "Nabu, protect my boundary!").

3:5 The words for "lyre," "psaltery" and "bagpipe" are the only Greek loanwords in Daniel. Greek musicians and instruments are mentioned in Assyrian inscriptions written before the time of Nebuchadnezzar.

worship shall be cast into the midst of a furnace of blazing fire.

12 "There are certain Jews whom you have [a]appointed over the administration of the province of Babylon, namely Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego. These men, O king, have disregarded you; they do not serve your gods or worship the golden image which you have set up."

13 Then Nebuchadnezzar in [a]rage and anger gave orders to bring Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego; then these men were brought before the king.

14 Nebuchadnezzar responded and said to them, "Is it true, Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego, that you do not serve [a]my gods or worship the golden image that I have set up?

15 "Now if you are ready, [a]at the moment you hear the sound of the horn, flute, [1]lyre, trigon, psaltery and bagpipe and all kinds of music, to fall down and worship the image that I have made, very well. But if you do not worship, you will [2]immediately be [b]cast into the midst of a furnace of blazing fire; and [c]what god is there who can deliver you out of my hands?"

16 [a]Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego replied to the king, "O Nebuchadnezzar, we do not need to give you an answer concerning this matter.

17 "[1]If it be so, our [a]God whom we serve is able to deliver us from the furnace of blazing fire; [2]and [b]He will deliver us out of your hand, O king.

18 "[a]But even if He does not, [b]let it be known to you, O king, that we are not going to serve your gods or worship the golden image that you have set up."

Daniel's Friends Protected

19 Then Nebuchadnezzar was filled with [a]wrath, and his facial expression was altered toward Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego. He answered [1]by giving orders to heat the furnace seven times more than it was usually heated.

20 He commanded certain valiant warriors who were in his army to tie up Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego in order to cast them into the furnace of blazing fire.

21 Then these men were tied up in their [1][a]trousers, their [2]coats, their caps and their other clothes, and were cast into the midst of the furnace of blazing fire.

22 For this reason, because the king's [1]command was [2][a]urgent and the furnace had been made extremely hot, the flame of the fire slew those men who carried up Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego.

23 But these three men, Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego, [a]fell into the midst of the furnace of blazing fire still tied up.

24 Then Nebuchadnezzar the king was astounded and stood up in haste; he said to his high officials, "Was it not three men we cast bound into the midst of the fire?" They replied to the king, "Certainly, O king."

25 He said, "Look! I see four men loosed and [a]walking about in the midst of the fire [1]without harm, and the appearance of the fourth is like a son of the [b]gods!"

26 Then Nebuchadnezzar came near to the door of the furnace of blazing fire; he responded and said, "Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego, come out, you servants of the [a]Most High God, and come here!" Then Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego [b]came out of the midst of the fire.

27 The [a]satraps, the prefects, the governors and the king's high officials gathered around and saw in regard to these men that the [b]fire had no [1]effect on [2]the bodies of these men nor was the hair of their head singed, nor were their [3][c]trousers [4]damaged, nor had the smell of fire even come upon them.

28 Nebuchadnezzar responded and said, "Blessed be the [a]God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego, who has [b]sent His angel and delivered His servants who put their [c]trust in Him, [1]violating the king's command, and yielded up their bodies so as [d]not to serve or worship any god except their own God.

29 "Therefore I [a]make a decree that any people, nation or tongue that speaks anything offensive against the God of [b]Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego shall be torn limb from limb and their [c]houses reduced to a rubbish heap, inasmuch as there is [d]no other god who is able to deliver in this way."

30 Then the king [a]caused Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego to prosper in the province of Babylon.

3:18 if He does not. Whether God decides to rescue them (v. 17) or not, their faith is fully resigned to His will.
3:19 The temperature was controlled by the number of bellows forcing air into the fire chamber. Therefore sevenfold intensification was achieved by seven bellows pumping at the same time. But the expression "seven times more than it was usually heated" may have been figurative for "as hot as possible" (seven signifies completeness).
3:25 See Ps 91:9–12. son of the gods. Nebuchadnezzar was speaking as a pagan polytheist and was content to conceive of the fourth figure as a lesser heavenly being (v. 28) sent by the all-powerful God of the Israelites.

The Vision of a Great Tree

4 "[1]I, Nebuchadnezzar, was at ease in my house and [a]flourishing in my palace.
5 "I saw a [a]dream and it made me fearful; and these fantasies as I lay on my bed and the [b]visions [1]in my mind kept alarming me.
6 "So I gave orders to [a]bring into my presence all the wise men of Babylon, that they might make known to me the interpretation of the dream.
7 "Then the [1a]magicians, the conjurers, the [2]Chaldeans and the diviners came in and I related the dream [3]to them, but they could not make its [b]interpretation known to me.
8 "But finally Daniel came in before me, whose name is [a]Belteshazzar according to the name of my god, and in whom is [1b]a spirit of the holy gods; and I related the dream [2]to him, saying,
9 'O Belteshazzar, [a]chief of the magicians, since I know that [b]a spirit of the holy gods is in you and [c]no mystery baffles you, [d]tell me
the visions of my dream which I have seen, along with its interpretation.
10 'Now these were the [a]visions [1]in my mind as I lay on my bed: I was looking, and behold, there was a [b]tree in the midst of the [2]earth and its height was great.
11 'The tree grew large and became strong
And its height [a]reached to the sky,
And it was visible to the end of the whole earth.
12 'Its foliage was [a]beautiful and its fruit abundant,
And in it was food for all.
The [b]beasts of the field found [c]shade
under it,
And the [d]birds of the sky dwelt in its branches,
And all [1]living creatures fed themselves from it.
13 'I was looking in the [a]visions [1]in my mind as I lay on my bed, and behold, [b]an angelic watcher, a [c]holy one, descended from heaven.
14 'He shouted out and spoke as follows:
"[a]Chop down the tree and cut off its
branches,
Strip off its foliage and scatter its fruit;
Let the [b]beasts flee from under it
And the birds from its branches.
15 "Yet [a]leave the stump [1]with its roots in
the ground,
But with a band of iron and bronze around it
In the new grass of the field;
And let him be drenched with the dew
of heaven,
And let [2]him share with the beasts in the grass of the earth.
16 "Let his [1]mind be changed from that of a man
And let a beast's [1]mind be given to
him,
And let [a]seven [2]periods of time pass over him.
17 "This sentence is by the decree of the angelic watchers
And the decision is a command of the holy ones,
In order that the living may [a]know
That the Most High is ruler over the realm of mankind,
And [b]bestows it on whom He wishes
And sets over it the [c]lowliest of men."
18 'This is the dream which I, King Nebuchadnezzar, have seen. Now you, Belteshazzar, tell me its interpretation, inasmuch as none of the [a]wise men of my kingdom is able to make known to me the interpretation; but you are able, for a [b]spirit of the holy gods is in you.'

Daniel Interprets the Vision

19 "Then Daniel, whose name is Belteshazzar, was appalled for a while as his [a]thoughts alarmed him. The king responded and said, 'Belteshazzar, do not [b]let the dream or its interpretation alarm you.' Belte-shazzar replied, '[c]My lord, if only the dream applied to those who hate you and its interpretation to [d]your adversaries!

riences of vv. 4–37. The language of his confession may reflect Daniel's influence.

4:8 according to the name of my god. See note on 1:7. Bel ("lord") was a title for the god Marduk.

4:10 tree. Interpreted in v. 22.

4:11 grew large and . . . strong. In one of Nebuchadnezzar's building inscriptions, Babylon is compared to a spreading tree (cf. v. 22). its height reached to the sky. A phrase often used of Mesopotamian temple-towers (see also note on Gen 11:4).

4:13 angelic watcher. Or "watchman"; also in vv. 17,23.

4:15 leave the stump. Implies that the tree will be revived later (see v. 26).

4:16 seven. Signifies completeness. periods of time. Or "years." The term referred to a given season of the year, and so to the year as a whole (see 7:25). For example, every recurrent spring meant that another full year had elapsed since the previous spring. Alternatively, the "periods of time" can be indefinite.

4:17 angelic watchers. The agents of God, who is the ultimate source (v. 24).

4:19 Daniel . . . was appalled. Possibly over how to state the interpretation in an appropriate way.

26 'And in that it was commanded to [a]leave the stump [1]with the roots of the tree, your kingdom will be [2]assured to you after you recognize that it is [b]Heaven that rules.

The Vision Fulfilled

28 "All this [a]happened to Nebuchadnezzar the king.

29 "[a]Twelve months later he was walking on the roof of the royal palace of Babylon.

4:25 recognize that the Most High is ruler. He learned the lesson (compare v. 30 with v. 37).

4:28 All this happened. But only because Nebuchadnezzar

30 "The king [1]reflected and said, 'Is this not Babylon the [a]great, which I myself have built as a royal [2]residence by the might of my power and for the glory of my majesty?'

31 "While the word was in the king's mouth, a voice [1]came from heaven, saying, 'King Nebuchadnezzar, to you it is declared: [2]sovereignty has been removed from you,

32 and [a]you will be driven away from mankind, and your dwelling place will be with the beasts of the field. You will be given grass to eat like cattle, and [b]seven [1]periods of time will pass over you until you recognize that the [c]Most High is ruler over the realm of mankind and bestows it on whomever He wishes.'

33 "Immediately the word concerning Nebuchadnezzar was fulfilled; and he was [a]driven away from mankind and began eating grass like cattle, and his body was drenched with the dew of heaven until his hair had grown like eagles' feathers and his nails like birds' claws.

34 "But at the end of [1]that period, I, Nebuchadnezzar, raised my eyes toward heaven and my [2]reason returned to me, and I blessed the [a]Most High and praised and honored [b]Him who lives forever;

For His dominion is an [c]everlasting dominion,
And His kingdom endures from generation to generation.

35 "[a]All the inhabitants of the earth are accounted as nothing,
But [b]He does according to His will in the host of heaven
And among the inhabitants of earth;
And [c]no one can [1]ward off His hand
Or say to Him, '[d]What have You done?'

36 "At that time my [1][a]reason returned to me. And my majesty and [b]splendor were [2]restored to me for the glory of my kingdom, and my counselors and my nobles began seeking me out; so I was reestablished in my [3]sovereignty, and surpassing [c]greatness was added to me.

37 "Now I, Nebuchadnezzar, praise, exalt and honor the King of [a]heaven, for [b]all His works are [1]true and His ways [2]just, and He is able to humble those who [c]walk in pride."

Belshazzar's Feast

5 Belshazzar the king [1]held a great [a]feast for a thousand of his nobles, and he was drinking wine in the presence of the thousand.

2 When Belshazzar tasted the wine, he gave orders to bring the gold and silver [a]vessels which Nebuchadnezzar his [1]father had taken out of the temple which was in Jerusalem, so that the king and his nobles, his wives and his concubines might drink from them.

3 Then they brought the gold vessels that had been taken out of the temple, the house of God which was in Jerusalem; and the king and his nobles, his wives and his concubines drank from them.

4 They [a]drank the wine and praised the gods of [b]gold and silver, of bronze, iron, wood and stone.

5 Suddenly the fingers of a man's hand emerged and began writing opposite the lampstand on the plaster of the wall of the king's palace, and the king saw the [1]back of the hand that did the writing.

6 Then the king's [1][a]face grew pale and his thoughts alarmed him, and his [b]hip joints went slack and his [c]knees began knocking together.

7 The king called aloud to bring in the [a]conjurers, the [1]Chaldeans and the diviners. The king spoke and said to the wise men of Babylon, "Any man who can read this inscription and explain its interpretation to me shall be [b]clothed with purple and have a [c]necklace of gold around his neck, and have authority as [2][d]third ruler in the kingdom."

8 Then all the king's wise men came in, but [a]they could not read the inscription or make known its interpretation to the king.

9 Then King Belshazzar was greatly [a]alarmed, his [1][b]face grew even paler, and his nobles were perplexed.

10 The queen entered the banquet [1]hall because of the words of the king and his nobles; the queen spoke and said, "[a]O king, live forever! Do not let your thoughts alarm you or your [2]face be pale.

Likewise, "father" could mean "ancestor" or "predecessor" (see vv. 2,11,13,18). See also note on v. 10.

And King Nebuchadnezzar, your father, your father [2c]the king, appointed him chief of the [3]magicians, conjurers, [4]Chaldeans and diviners.

12 "This was because an [a]extraordinary spirit, knowledge and insight, interpretation of dreams, explanation of enigmas and solving of difficult problems were found in this Daniel, whom the king named [b]Belteshazzar. Let Daniel now be summoned and he will declare the interpretation."

Daniel Interprets Handwriting on the Wall

13 Then Daniel was brought in before the king. The king spoke and said to Daniel, "Are you that Daniel who is one of the [1a]exiles from Judah, whom my father the king [b]brought from Judah?

14 "Now I have heard about you that [1]a spirit of the gods is in you, and that illumination, insight and extraordinary wisdom have been found in you.

15 "Just now the [a]wise men and the conjurers were brought in before me that they might read this inscription and make its interpretation known to me, but they [b]could not declare the interpretation of the [1]message.

16 "But I personally have heard about you, that you are able to give interpretations and solve difficult problems. Now if you are able to read the inscription and make its [a]interpretation known to me, you will be [b]clothed with purple and wear a necklace of gold around your neck, and you will have authority as the [1]third ruler in the kingdom."

17 Then Daniel answered and said before the king, "[1]Keep your [a]gifts for yourself or give your rewards to someone else; however, I will read the inscription to the king and make the interpretation known to him.

18 "[1]O king, the [a]Most High God [b]granted [2]sovereignty, [c]grandeur, glory and majesty to Nebuchadnezzar your father.

19 "Because of the grandeur which He bestowed on him, all the peoples, nations and men of every [1]language feared and trembled before him; [a]whomever he wished he killed and whomever he wished he spared alive; and whomever he wished he elevated and whomever he wished he humbled.

20 "But when his heart was [a]lifted up and his spirit became so [1b]proud that he behaved arrogantly, he was [c]deposed from his royal throne and his glory was taken away from him.

21 "He was also [a]driven away from [1]mankind, and his heart was made like that of beasts, and his dwelling place was with the [b]wild donkeys. He was given grass to eat like cattle, and his body was drenched with the dew of heaven until he recognized that the [c]Most High God is ruler over the realm of mankind and that He sets over it whomever He wishes.

22 "Yet you, his [1]son, Belshazzar, have [a]not humbled your heart, [2]even though you knew all this,

23 but you have [a]exalted yourself against the [b]Lord of heaven; and they have brought the vessels of His house before you, and you and your nobles, your wives and your concubines have been drinking wine from them; and you have praised the [c]gods of silver and gold, of bronze, iron, wood and stone, which do not see, hear or understand. But the God [d]in whose hand are your life-breath and your [e]ways, you have not glorified.

24 "Then the [1a]hand was sent from Him and this inscription was written out.

25 "Now this is the inscription that was written out: '[1]MENĒ, [1]MENĒ, [2]TEKĒL, [3]UPHARSIN.'

26 "This is the interpretation of the [1]message: 'MENĒ'—God has numbered your kingdom and [a]put an end to it.

27 " 'TEKĒL'—you have been [a]weighed on the scales and found deficient.

28 " 'PERĒS'—your kingdom has been divided and given over to the [a]Medes and [1]Persians."

29 Then Belshazzar gave orders, and they [a]clothed Daniel with purple and put a necklace of gold around his neck, and issued a proclamation concerning him that he now had authority as the [1]third ruler in the kingdom.

5:22–23 Three charges were brought against Belshazzar: (1) He sinned not through ignorance but through disobedience and pride (v. 22); (2) he defied God by desecrating the sacred vessels (v. 23a); and (3) he praised idols and so did not honor God (v. 23b).

5:26–28 See NASB marg. on v. 25. Three weights (mina, shekel, and half mina/shekel) may be intended, symbolizing three rulers (respectively): (1) Nebuchadnezzar, (2) either Evil-merodach (2 Kin 25:27; Jer 52:31) or Nabonidus, and (3) Belshazzar.

5:27 weighed on the scales. Measured in the light of God's standards (cf. Job 31:6; Ps 62:9; Prov 24:12).

5:30 That same night. See Prov 29:1; Luke 12:20.

30 That same night [a]Belshazzar the Chaldean king was [b]slain.

31 [1]So [a]Darius the Mede received the kingdom at about the age of sixty-two.

Daniel Serves Darius

6 [1]It seemed good to Darius to appoint 120 satraps over the kingdom, that they would be in charge of the whole kingdom,

2 and over them three commissioners (of whom [a]Daniel was one), that these satraps might be accountable to them, and that the king might not suffer [b]loss.

3 Then this Daniel began distinguishing himself [1]among the commissioners and satraps because [2]he possessed an [a]extraordinary spirit, and the king planned to appoint him over the [b]entire kingdom.

4 Then the commissioners and satraps began [a]trying to find a ground of accusation against Daniel in regard to [1]government affairs; but they could find [b]no ground of accusation or evidence of corruption, inasmuch as he was faithful, and no negligence or corruption was to be found in him.

5 Then these men said, "We will not find any ground of accusation against this Daniel unless we find it against him with regard to the [a]law of his God."

6 Then these commissioners and satraps came [1]by agreement to the king and spoke to him as follows: "King Darius, [a]live forever!

7 "All the [a]commissioners of the kingdom, the prefects and the satraps, the high officials and the governors have [b]consulted together that the king should establish a statute and enforce an injunction that anyone who makes a petition to any god or man besides you, O king, for thirty days, shall [c]be cast into the lions' [1]den.

8 "Now, O king, [a]establish the injunction and sign the document so that it may not be changed, according to the [b]law of the Medes and Persians, which [1]may not be revoked."

9 Therefore King Darius [a]signed the document, that is, the injunction.

10 Now when Daniel knew that the document was signed, he entered his house (now in his roof chamber he had windows open [a]toward Jerusalem); and he continued [b]kneeling on his knees three times a day, [c]praying and [d]giving thanks before his God, [1]as he had been doing previously.

11 Then these men came [1][a]by agreement and found Daniel making petition and supplication before his God.

12 Then they approached and [a]spoke before the king about the king's injunction, "Did you not sign an injunction that any man who makes a petition to any god or man besides you, O king, for thirty days, is to be cast into the lions' den?" The king replied, "The statement is true, according to the [b]law of the Medes and Persians, which [1]may not be revoked."

13 Then they answered and spoke before the king, "[a]Daniel, who is one of the [1]exiles from Judah, pays [b]no attention to you, O king, or to the injunction which you signed, but keeps making his petition three times a day."

14 Then, as soon as the king heard this statement, he was deeply [a]distressed and set his mind on delivering Daniel; and even until sunset he kept exerting himself to rescue him.

15 Then these men came [1]by agreement to the king and said to the king, "Recognize, O king, that it is a [a]law of the Medes and Persians that no injunction or statute which the king establishes may be changed."

Daniel in the Lions' Den

16 Then the king gave orders, and Daniel was brought in and [a]cast into the lions' den. The king spoke and said to Daniel, "[1][b]Your God whom you constantly serve will Himself deliver you."

17 A [a]stone was brought and laid over the mouth of the den; and the king sealed it with his own signet ring and with the signet rings of his nobles, so that nothing would be changed in regard to Daniel.

18 Then the king went off to his palace and spent the night [a]fasting, and no entertainment was brought before him; and his [b]sleep fled from him.

19 Then the king arose at dawn, at the break of day, and went in haste to the lions' den.

20 When he had come near the den to Daniel, he cried out with a troubled voice. The king spoke and said to Daniel, "Daniel, servant of the living God, has [a]your God, whom you constantly serve, been [b]able to deliver you from the lions?"

21 Then Daniel spoke [1]to the king, "[a]O king, live forever!

22 "My God [a]sent His angel and [b]shut the

5:31 Darius the Mede. Perhaps another name for Gubaru, referred to in Babylonian inscriptions as the governor that Cyrus put in charge of the newly conquered Babylonian territories. Or "Darius the Mede" may have been Cyrus's throne name in Babylon (see 6:28, which can be read, "in the reign of Darius, that is, the reign of Cyrus the Persian"; see also 1 Chr 5:26 for a similar phenomenon). received the kingdom. The head of gold is now no more, as predicted in 2:39.

6:7 The conspirators lied in stating that "all" the royal administrators supported the proposed decree, since they knew that Daniel (totally unaware of the proposal) was the foremost of the three administrators.

lions' mouths and they have not harmed me, inasmuch as [1]I was found innocent before Him; and also [2]toward you, O king, I have committed no crime."

23 Then the king was very pleased and gave orders for Daniel to be taken up out of the den. So Daniel was taken up out of the den and [a]no injury whatever was found on him, because he had [b]trusted in his God.

24 The king then gave orders, and they brought those men who had [1]maliciously accused Daniel, and they [a]cast them, their [b]children and their wives into the lions' den; and they had not reached the bottom of the den before the lions overpowered them and crushed all their bones.

25 Then Darius the king wrote to all the [a]peoples, nations and men of every [1]language who were living in all the land: "[b]May your [2]peace abound!

26 "[1]I [a]make a decree that in all the dominion of my kingdom men are to fear and tremble before the God of Daniel;

For He is the [b]living God and [c]enduring forever,
And [d]His kingdom is one which will not be destroyed,
And His dominion will be [2]forever.

27 "He delivers and rescues and performs
[a]signs and wonders
In heaven and on earth,
Who has also delivered Daniel from the [1]power of the lions."

28 So this [a]Daniel enjoyed success in the reign of Darius and in the reign of [b]Cyrus the Persian.

Vision of the Four Beasts

7 In the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon Daniel saw a [a]dream and visions [1]in his mind as he lay on his bed; then he [b]wrote the dream down and related the [2]following summary of [3]it.

2 Daniel [1]said, "I was [a]looking in my vision by night, and behold, the [b]four winds of heaven were stirring up the great sea.

3 "And four great [a]beasts were coming up from the sea, different from one another.

4 "The first was [a]like a lion and had the wings of an eagle. I kept looking until its wings were plucked, and it was lifted up from the ground and made to stand on two feet like a man; a human [1]mind also was given to it.

5 "And behold, another beast, a second one, resembling a bear. And it was raised up on one side, and three ribs were in its mouth between its teeth; and thus they said to it, 'Arise, devour much meat!'

6 "After this I kept looking, and behold, another one, [a]like a leopard, which had on its [1]back four wings of a bird; the beast also had [b]four heads, and dominion was given to it.

7 "After this I kept looking in the night visions, and behold, a [a]fourth beast, dreadful and terrifying and extremely strong; and it had large iron teeth. It devoured and crushed and trampled down the remainder with its feet; and it was different from all the beasts that were before it, and it had [b]ten horns.

8 "While I was contemplating the horns, behold, [a]another horn, a little one, came up among them, and three of the first horns were pulled out by the roots before it; and behold, [1]this horn possessed eyes like the eyes of a man and [b]a mouth uttering great boasts.

The Ancient of Days Reigns

9 "I kept looking
Until [a]thrones were set up,
And the Ancient of Days took His seat;
His [b]vesture was like white snow
And the [c]hair of His head like pure wool.
His [d]throne was [1]ablaze with flames,
Its [e]wheels were a burning fire.

10 "A river of [a]fire was flowing
And coming out from before Him;
[b]Thousands upon thousands were attending Him,

6:23 he . . . trusted in his God. That the lions were ravenously hungry (v. 24) was no obstacle to the Lord's rewarding Daniel's faith by saving his life.
6:24 them, their children and their wives. In accordance with Persian custom.
7:1 first year of Belshazzar. Probably 553 B.C. The events of ch. 7 preceded those of ch. 5.
7:2 the great sea. The world of nations and peoples (see also vv. 3,17).
7:3 beasts. The insignia or symbols of many Gentile nations were beasts (or birds) of prey (see v. 17).
7:4–7 The lion with an eagle's wings is a cherub (see note on Gen 3:24), symbolizing the Neo-Babylonian empire. The rest of v. 4 perhaps reflects the humbling experience of Nebuchadnezzar, as recorded in ch. 4. The bear (v. 5), raised up on one of its sides, refers to the superior status of the Persians in the Medo-Persian federation. The three ribs may represent the three principal conquests: Lydia (546 B.C.), Babylon (539) and Egypt (525). The leopard with four wings (v. 6) represents the speedy conquests of Alexander the Great (334–330), and the four heads correspond to the four main divisions into which his empire fell after his untimely death in 323 (see 8:22): Macedon and Greece (under Antipater and Cassander), Thrace and Asia Minor (under Lysimachus), Syria (under Seleucus I), the Holy Land and Egypt (under Ptolemy I). The fourth, unnamed, beast (v. 7), with its irresistible power and surpassing all its predecessors, points to the Roman empire. Its ten horns correspond to the ten toes of 2:41–42.
7:7 ten horns. Indicative of the comprehensiveness of the beast's sphere of authority (see note on 1:12).
7:8 another horn, a little one. The antichrist, or a world power sharing in the characteristics of the antichrist. mouth uttering great boasts. See 11:36; 2 Thess 2:4; Rev 13:5–6.
7:9 Ancient of Days. God. throne . . . wheels. See Ezek 1:15–21, 26–27.
7:10 Thousands . . . myriads. See 1 Sam 18:7 and note.

And myriads upon myriads were standing before Him;
The [c]court sat,
And [d]the books were opened.

11 "Then I kept looking because of the sound of the [1]boastful words which the horn was speaking; I kept looking until the beast was slain, and its body was destroyed and given to the [a]burning [2]fire.

12 "As for the rest of the beasts, their dominion was taken away, but an extension of life was granted to them for an appointed period of time.

The Son of Man Presented

heaven
One like a [a]Son of Man was coming,
And He came up to the Ancient of Days
And was presented before Him.

14 "And to Him was given [a]dominion,
Glory and [1b]a kingdom,
[c]That all the peoples, nations and men of every [2]language Might serve Him.

Which will not pass away;

The Vision Interpreted

15 "As for me, Daniel, my spirit was distressed [1]within me, and the [a]visions [2]in my mind kept [b]alarming me.

16 "I approached one of those who were [a]standing by and began asking him the [1]exact meaning of all this. So he [b]told me and made known to me the interpretation of these things:

17 'These great beasts, which are four in number, are four kings who will arise from the earth.

[a]Zech 1:9, 19; Rev 5:5; 7:13, 14 [b]Dan 8:16, 17; 9:22

7:13 like a Son of Man. See Rev 1:13. This is the first reference to the Messiah as the Son of Man, a title that Jesus applied to Himself. He will be enthroned as ruler over the whole earth (previously misruled by the four kingdoms of men), and His kingdom "will not be destroyed" (v. 14), whether on earth or in heaven. with the clouds of heaven . . . was coming. See Mark 14:62; Rev 1:7.

7:16 one of those . . . standing by. An angel.

Visions in Daniel

18 'But the [1][a]saints of the Highest One will [b]receive the kingdom and possess the kingdom forever, [2]for all ages to come.'

19 "Then I desired to know the [1]exact meaning of the [a]fourth beast, which was different from all [2]the others, exceedingly dreadful, with its teeth of iron and its claws of bronze, and which devoured, crushed and trampled down the remainder with its feet,

20 and the meaning of the ten horns that were on its head and the other horn which came up, and before which three of them fell, namely, that horn which had eyes and a mouth uttering great boasts and [1]which was larger in appearance than its associates.

21 "I kept looking, and that horn was [a]waging war with the [1]saints and overpowering them

22 until the Ancient of Days came and [a]judgment was [1]passed in favor of the [2]saints of the Highest One, and the time arrived when the [2]saints took possession of the kingdom.

23 "Thus he said: 'The fourth beast will be a fourth kingdom on the earth, which will be different from all the other kingdoms and will devour the whole earth and tread it down and crush it.

24 'As for the [a]ten horns, out of this kingdom ten kings will arise; and another will arise after them, and he will be different from the previous ones and will subdue three kings.

25 'He will [a]speak [1]out against the [b]Most High and [c]wear down the [2]saints of the Highest One, and he will intend to make [d]alterations in times and in law; and [3]they will be given into his hand for a [4][e]time, [4]times, and half a [4]time.

26 'But the court will sit for judgment, and his dominion will be [a]taken away, [1]annihilated and destroyed [2]forever.

27 'Then the [1][a]sovereignty, the dominion and the greatness of all the kingdoms under the whole heaven will be given to the people of the [2]saints of the Highest One; His kingdom will be an [b]everlasting kingdom, and all the dominions will [c]serve and obey Him.'

28 "[1]At this point the revelation ended. As for me, Daniel, my thoughts were [a]greatly alarming me and my [2]face grew pale, but I [b]kept the matter [3]to myself."

Vision of the Ram and Goat

8 In the third year of the reign of Belshazzar the king a vision appeared to me, [1]Daniel, subsequent to the one which appeared to me [2]previously.

2 I [a]looked in the vision, and while I was looking I was in the citadel of [b]Susa, which is in the province of [c]Elam; and I looked in the vision and I myself was beside the Ulai [1]Canal.

3 Then I lifted my eyes and looked, and behold, a [a]ram which had two horns was standing in front of the [1]canal. Now the two horns were [2]long, but one was [2]longer than the other, with the [2]longer one coming up last.

4 I saw the ram [a]butting westward, northward, and southward, and no other beasts could stand before him nor was there anyone to rescue from his [1]power, but [b]he did as he pleased and magnified himself.

5 While I was observing, behold, a male goat was coming from the west over the surface of the whole earth without touching the ground; and the [1]goat had a [a]conspicuous horn between his eyes.

6 He came up to the ram that had the two horns, which I had seen standing in front of the [1]canal, and rushed at him in his mighty wrath.

7 I saw him come beside the ram, and he was enraged at him; and he struck the ram and shattered his two horns, and the ram had no strength to withstand him. So he hurled him to the ground and trampled on him, and there was none to rescue the ram from his [1]power.

8 Then the male goat magnified himself exceedingly. But as soon as [a]he was mighty, the [b]large horn was broken; and in its place there came up four conspicuous horns toward the [c]four winds of heaven.

The Little Horn

7:24 ten kings. All the political powers (see note on 1:12) that will arise out of the fourth kingdom—not necessarily simultaneously (but see 2:44). three kings. Some of the ten. Three often signified a small, indefinite number.
7:25 He. See note on v. 8. a time, times, and half a time. Or "a year, two years, and half a year."
7:27 given to . . . the saints. For their benefit. God and the Messiah will rule (see Rev 19–22).
8:1–12:13 These chapters are written in Hebrew (see note on 2:4).
8:1 third year. About 551 B.C. The events of ch. 8 preceded those of ch. 5.
8:3 The ram represents the Medo-Persian empire (v. 20). The longer of his two horns reflects the predominant position of Persia.
8:5 The rapidly charging goat is Greece, and the prominent horn is Alexander the Great, "the first king" (v. 21).
8:7 shattered his two horns. Greece crushes Medo-Persia.
8:8 the large horn was broken. The death of Alexander the Great at the height of his power (323 B.C.). four conspicuous horns. See note on 7:4–7 ("four heads").
8:9–12 Another horn emerges (v. 9) not from the ten horns belonging to the fourth kingdom (as in 7:8), but rather from toward the south, toward the east, and toward the [1][b]Beautiful Land.

10 It grew up to the host of heaven and caused some of the host and some of the [a]stars to fall to the earth, and it [b]trampled them down.

11 It even [a]magnified itself [1]to be equal with the [2]Commander of the host; and it removed the [b]regular sacrifice from Him, and the place of His sanctuary was thrown down.

12 And on account of transgression the host will be given over to the horn along with the regular sacrifice; and it will [a]fling truth to the ground and perform its will and prosper.

13 Then I heard a [a]holy one speaking, and another holy one said to that particular one who was speaking, "[b]How long will the vision about the regular sacrifice apply, [1]while the transgression causes horror, so as to allow both the holy place and the host [2]to be [c]trampled?"

14 He said to me, "For [a]2,300 evenings and mornings; then the holy place will be [1]properly restored."

Interpretation of the Vision

15 When [a]I, Daniel, had seen the vision, I sought [1]to understand it; and behold, standing before me was one [2]who looked like a [b]man.

16 And I heard the voice of a man between the banks of Ulai, and he called out and said, "[a]Gabriel, give this man an understanding of the vision."

17 So he came near to where I was standing, and when he came I was frightened and [a]fell on my face; but he said to me, "Son of man, understand that the vision pertains to the [b]time of the end."

18 Now while he was talking with me, I [a]sank into a deep sleep with my face to the ground; but he [b]touched me and made me stand [1]upright.

19 He said, "Behold, I am going to [a]let you know what will occur at the final period of the indignation, for it pertains to the appointed time of the end.

one of the four horns belonging to the third kingdom. This "rather small horn" is Antiochus IV Epiphanes, who during the last few years of his reign (168–164 B.C.) made a determined effort to destroy the Jewish faith. He in turn served as a type of the even more ruthless beast of the last days, who is also referred to in 7:8 as "another horn, a little one." Antiochus was to extend his power over Israel, "the Beautiful Land" (v. 9; see Jer 3:19), and defeat the godly believers there (referred to as "the host of heaven," v. 10; see also v. 12), many of whom died for their faith. Then he set himself up to be the equal of God ("the Commander of the host," v. 11) and ordered the daily sacrifices to end. Eventually the army of Judas Maccabeus recaptured Jerusalem and rededicated the temple (v. 14) to the Lord (December, 165)—the origin of the Feast of Hanukkah (see John 10:22), still celebrated by Jews today (in the Apocrypha see 1 Maccabees 1–4).

8:13 a holy one. An angel.

8:14 There were two daily sacrifices for the continual burnt offering (9:21; Ex 29:38–42), representing the atonement required for Israel as a whole. The 2,300 evenings and mornings probably refer to the number of sacrifices consecutively offered on 1,150 days, the interval between the desecration of the Lord's altar and its reconsecration by Judas Maccabeus on Kislev 25, 165 B.C. The pagan altar set up by Antiochus on Kislev 25, 168, was apparently installed almost two months after the Lord's altar was removed, accounting for the difference between 1,095 days (an exact three years) and the 1,150 specified here.

8:17 Son of man. See note on Ezek 2:1.

8:23–25 A description of Antiochus IV and his rise to power by intrigue and deceit (he was not the rightful successor to the Seleucid throne).

8:25 Prince of princes. God. broken without human agency. Antiochus died in 164 B.C. at Tabae in Persia through illness or accident; God "broke" him.

Daniel's Prayer for His People

9 In the first year of [a]Darius the son of Ahasuerus, of Median descent, who was made king over the kingdom of the Chaldeans—

2 in the first year of his reign, I, Daniel, observed in the books the number of the years which was revealed as the word of the LORD to [a]Jeremiah the prophet for the completion of the desolations of Jerusalem, namely, [a]seventy years.

3 So I [1]gave my attention to the Lord God to seek Him by prayer and supplications, with fasting, sackcloth and ashes.

4 I prayed to the LORD my God and confessed and said, "Alas, O Lord, the [a]great and awesome God, who [b]keeps His covenant and lovingkindness for those who love Him and keep His commandments,

5 [a]we have sinned, committed iniquity, acted wickedly and [b]rebelled, even [c]turning aside from Your commandments and ordinances.

6 "Moreover, we have not [a]listened to Your servants the prophets, who spoke in Your name to our kings, our princes, our fathers and all the people of the land.

7 "[a]Righteousness belongs to You, O Lord, but to us [1][b]open shame, as it is this day—to the men of Judah, the inhabitants of Jerusalem and all Israel, those who are nearby and those who are far away in [c]all the countries to which You have driven them, because of their unfaithful deeds which they have committed against You.

8 "[1]Open shame belongs to us, O Lord, to our kings, our princes and our fathers, because we have sinned against You.

9 "To the Lord our God belong [a]compassion and forgiveness, [1]for we have [b]rebelled against Him;

10 nor have we obeyed the voice of the LORD our God, to walk in His [1]teachings which He [a]set before us through His servants the prophets.

11 "Indeed [a]all Israel has transgressed Your law and turned aside, not obeying Your voice; so the [b]curse has been poured out on us, along with the oath which is written in the law of Moses the servant of God, for we have sinned against Him.

12 "Thus He has [a]confirmed His words which He had spoken against us and against our [1][b]rulers who ruled us, to bring on us great calamity; for under the whole heaven there has [c]not been done anything like what was done to Jerusalem.

13 "As it is written in the [a]law of Moses, all this calamity has come on us; yet we have [b]not [1]sought the favor of the LORD our God by [c]turning from our iniquity and [2]giving attention to Your truth.

14 "Therefore the LORD has [1][a]kept the calamity in store and brought it on us; for the LORD our God is [b]righteous with respect to all His deeds which He has done, but we have not obeyed His voice.

15 "And now, O Lord our God, who have [a]brought Your people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand and have [b]made a name for Yourself, as it is this day—we have sinned, we have been wicked.

16 "O Lord, in accordance with all Your [1]righteous acts, let now Your [a]anger and Your wrath turn away from Your city Jerusalem, Your [b]holy mountain; for because of our sins and the iniquities of our fathers, Jerusalem and Your people have become a [c]reproach to all those around us.

17 "So now, our God, listen to the prayer of Your servant and to his supplications, and for [1]Your sake, O Lord, [a]let Your face shine on Your [b]desolate sanctuary.

18 "O my God, [a]incline Your ear and hear! Open Your eyes and [b]see our desolations and the city which is [c]called by Your name; for we are not [1][d]presenting our supplications before You on account of [2]any merits of our own, but on account of Your great compassion.

19 "O Lord, hear! O Lord, forgive! O Lord, listen and take action! For Your own sake, O my God, [a]do not delay, because Your city and Your people are called by Your name."

Gabriel Brings an Answer

20 Now while I was [a]speaking and praying, and [b]confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel, and [1]presenting my supplication before the LORD my God in behalf of the holy mountain of my God,

21 while I was still speaking in prayer, then the man [a]Gabriel, whom I had seen in the vision [1]previously, [2]came to me [3]in my extreme weariness about the time of the [b]evening offering.

2 In those days, I, Daniel, had been [a]mourning for three entire weeks.

3 I [a]did not eat any [1]tasty food, nor did meat or wine enter my mouth, nor did I use any ointment at all until the entire three weeks were completed.

4 On the twenty-fourth day of the first month, while I was by the bank of the great [a]river, that is, the [1]Tigris,

5 I lifted my eyes and looked, and behold, there was a certain man [a]dressed in linen, whose waist was [b]girded with a belt of pure [c]gold of Uphaz.

6 His body also was like [1]beryl, his face [2]had the appearance of lightning, [a]his eyes were like flaming torches, his arms and feet like the gleam of polished bronze, and the sound of his words like the sound of a [3]tumult.

7 Now I, Daniel, [a]alone saw the vision, while the [b]men who were with me did not see the vision; nevertheless, a great [c]dread fell on them, and they ran away to hide themselves.

8 So I was [a]left alone and saw this great vision; yet [b]no strength was left in me, for my [1]natural color turned to [2]a deathly pallor, and I retained no strength.

9 But I heard the sound of his words; and as soon as I heard the sound of his words, I [a]fell into a deep sleep on my face, with my face to the ground.

9:24 weeks. Probably seven-year periods of time, making a total of 490 years, but the numbers may be symbolic. Of the six purposes mentioned (all to be fulfilled through the Messiah), some believe that the last three were not achieved by the crucifixion and resurrection of Christ but await His further action: the establishment of everlasting righteousness (on earth), the complete fulfillment of vision and prophecy, and the anointing of the "most holy" (either "most holy place" or "most holy One").
9:25–27 The time between the decree authorizing the rebuilding of Jerusalem (v. 25) and the coming of the Messiah ("the Anointed One") was to be 69 (7 plus 62) "weeks," or 483 years (see note on Ezra 7:11). The "seven weeks" may refer to the period of the complete restoration of Jerusalem (partially narrated in Ezra and Nehemiah) and the "sixty-two weeks" to the period between that restoration and the Messiah's coming to Israel. The final (70th) "week" is not mentioned specifically until v. 27, following the prophecy of the destruction of Jerusalem by "the people of the prince who is to come" (Titus in A.D. 70). Therefore, while many hold that the 70th "week" was fulfilled during Christ's earthly ministry and the years immediately following, others conclude that there is an indeterminate interval between the 69th and the 70th "week"—a period of "war" and "desolations" (v. 26). According to this latter opinion, in the 70th "week" the little horn or beast of the last days (referred to here as the one who "on the wing of abominations . . . makes desolate" and who is the antitype of the Roman Titus) will establish a covenant for seven years with the Jews (the "many") but will violate the covenant halfway through that period (but see also note on v. 27). The cutting off of the Messiah (v. 26) refers to the crucifixion of Christ.
9:27 he will make a firm covenant . . . will put a stop to sacrifice. According to some, a reference to the Messiah's (v. 26) instituting the new covenant and putting "a stop" to the OT sacrificial system; according to others, a reference to the antichrist's ("the [ultimate] prince who is to come," v. 26) making a treaty with the Jews in the future and then disrupting their system of worship. abominations. See note on 11:31.
10:1 third year of Cyrus. The third year after his conquest of Babylonia in 539 B.C.
10:3 See 1:8–16.
10:5–6 See Rev 1:12–16.
10:7 Cf. Acts 9:7.

am about to tell you and [c]stand [2]upright, for I have now been sent to you." And when he had spoken this word to me, I stood up [d]trembling.

12 Then he said to me, "[a]Do not be afraid, Daniel, for from the first day that you set your heart on understanding this and on [b]humbling yourself before your God, your words were heard, and I have come in response [c]to your words.

13 "But the prince of the kingdom of Persia was [1]withstanding me for twenty-one days; then behold, [a]Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me, for I had been left there with the kings of Persia.

14 "Now I have come to [a]give you an understanding of what will happen to your people in the [1][b]latter days, for the vision pertains to [c]the days yet future."

15 When he had spoken to me according to these words, I [1]turned my face toward the ground and became [a]speechless.

16 And behold, [1][a]one who resembled a human being was [b]touching my lips; then I opened my mouth and spoke and said to him who was standing before me, "O my lord, as a result of the vision [2][c]anguish has come upon me, and I have retained no strength.

17 "For [a]how can such a servant of my lord talk with such as my lord? As for me, there remains just now [b]no strength in me, nor has any breath been left in me."

18 Then this one with human appearance touched me again and [a]strengthened me.

19 He said, "O man of [1]high esteem, [a]do not be afraid. Peace [2]be with you; take [b]courage and be courageous!" Now as soon as he spoke to me, I received strength and said, "May my lord speak, for you have [c]strengthened me."

20 Then he said, "Do you [1]understand why I came to you? But I shall now return to fight against the [2]prince of Persia; so I am going forth, and behold, the [2][a]prince of [3]Greece is about to come.

Conflicts to Come

11 "In the [a]first year of Darius the Mede, [1]I arose to be [2]an encouragement and a protection for him.

2 "And now I will tell you the [a]truth. Behold, three more kings are going to arise [1]in Persia. Then a fourth will gain far more riches than all of them; as soon as he becomes strong through his riches, [2]he will arouse the whole empire against the realm of [3][b]Greece.

3 "And a [a]mighty king will arise, and he will rule with great authority and [b]do as he pleases.

4 "But as soon as he has arisen, his kingdom will be broken up and parceled out [a]toward the [b]four [1]points of the compass, though not to his own descendants, nor according to his authority which he wielded, for his sovereignty will be [c]uprooted and given to others besides [2]them.

5 "Then the [a]king of the South will grow strong, [1]along with one of his princes [2]who will gain ascendancy over him and obtain dominion; his domain will be a great dominion indeed.

6 "After some years they will form an alliance, and the daughter of the king of the South will come to the [a]king of the North to carry out [1]a peaceful arrangement. But she will not retain her [2]position of power, nor will he remain with his [3]power, but she will be given up, along with those who brought her in and the one who sired her as well as he who supported her in those times.

7 "But one of the [1]descendants of her line will arise in his place, and he will come against their army and enter the [a]fortress of the king of the North, and he will deal with them and display great strength.

10:13 prince of the kingdom of Persia. Apparently a demon exercising influence over the Persian realm in the interests of Satan (see also v. 20). His resistance was finally overcome by the archangel Michael, "the great prince who stands guard" over the people of God (12:1).

10:20 prince of Greece. See note on v. 13. This spiritual power will also have to be opposed.

10:21 writing of truth. See 12:1; perhaps a reference to the divine record of the destinies of all human beings (see note on Ex 32:32).

11:1 Darius the Mede. See note on 5:31.

11:2 three more kings. Cambyses (530–522 B.C.), Pseudo-Smerdis or Gaumata (522) and Darius I (522–486). fourth. Xerxes I (486–465), who attempted to conquer Greece in 480 (see note on Esth 1:1).

11:3 mighty king. Alexander the Great (336–323).

11:4 four points. See 7:2–3 and note on 7:4–7 (four heads).

11:5 king of the South. Ptolemy I Soter (323–285 B.C.) of Egypt. one of his princes. Seleucus I Nicator (311–280). his domain. Initially Babylonia, to which he then added extensive territories both east and west.

11:6 daughter of the king of the South. Berenice, daughter of Ptolemy II Philadelphus (285–246 B.C.) of Egypt. king of the North. Antiochus II Theos (261–246) of Syria. peaceful arrangement. A treaty cemented by the marriage of Berenice to Antiochus. she will not retain her . . . power, nor will he remain. Antiochus's former wife, Laodice, conspired to have Berenice and Antiochus put to death. the one who sired her. Berenice's father Ptolemy died at about the same time.

11:7 one of . . . her line. Berenice's brother, Ptolemy III Euergetes (246–221 B.C.) of Egypt, who did away with Laodice. the fortress of. Either (1) Seleucia (see Acts 13:4), which was the port of Antioch, or (2) Antioch itself. king of the North. Seleucus II Callinicus (246–226 B.C.) of Syria.

8 "Also their [a]gods with their [1]metal images and their precious vessels of silver and gold he will take into captivity to Egypt, and he on his part will [2]refrain from attacking the king of the North for some years.

9 "Then [1]the latter will enter the realm of the king of the South, but will return to his own land.

10 "His sons will [1]mobilize and assemble a multitude of great forces; and one of them will keep on coming and [a]overflow and pass through, that he may [2]again wage war up to his very fortress.

11 "The [a]king of the South will be enraged and go forth and fight [1]with the king of the North. Then the latter will raise a great multitude, but that multitude will be given into [2]the hand of the former.

12 "When the multitude is carried away, his heart will be lifted up, and he will cause tens of thousands to fall; yet he will not prevail.

13 "For the king of the North will again raise a greater multitude than the former, and [1]after an [a]interval of some years he will [2]press on with a great army and much equipment.

14 "Now in those times many will rise up against the king of the South; the violent ones among your people will also lift themselves up in order to fulfill the vision, but they will [1]fall down.

15 "Then the king of the North will come, cast up a [a]siege ramp and capture a well-fortified city; and the forces of the South will not stand their ground, not even [1]their choicest troops, for there will be no strength to make a stand.

16 "But he who comes against him will [a]do as he pleases, and [b]no one will be able to withstand him; he will also stay for a time in the [1c]Beautiful Land, with destruction in his hand.

11:17 he will also give him the daughter of women. Antiochus gave his daughter Cleopatra I in marriage to Ptolemy V in 194 B.C.

11:18 he. Antiochus. coastlands. Asia Minor and perhaps also mainland Greece. commander. The Roman consul Lucius Cornelius Scipio Asiaticus, who defeated Antiochus at Magnesia in Asia Minor in 190 B.C.

11:19 stumble and fall. Antiochus died in 187 B.C. while attempting to plunder a temple in the province of Elymais.

11:20 in his place one will arise. Seleucus IV Philopator (187–175 B.C.), son and successor of Antiochus the Great. oppressor. Seleucus's finance minister, Heliodorus. he will be shattered. Seleucus was the victim of a conspiracy engineered by Heliodorus.

11:21 despicable person. Seleucus's younger brother, Antiochus IV Epiphanes (175–164 B.C.). honor of kingship has not been conferred. Antiochus seized power while the rightful heir to the throne, the son of Seleucus (later to become Demetrius I), was still very young. kingdom. Syro-Palestine.

11:22 prince of the covenant. Either the high priest Onias III, who was murdered in 170 B.C., or, if the Hebrew for this phrase is translated "confederate prince," Ptolemy VI Philometor (181–146) of Egypt.

11:23 he. Antiochus.

Soon after the death of Alexander the Great in 323 B.C., his generals divided his empire into four parts, two of which—Egypt and Syria—were under the rule of the Ptolemies and Seleucids respectively. Palestine was controlled from Egypt by the Ptolemaic dynasty from 323 to 198, and was subsequently governed by the Seleucids of Syria from 198 to 142.

The Diadochi, as the successors of Alexander were called, struggled bitterly for power over his domain. At first Ptolemy I seized his own satrapy, Egypt and North Africa, which had splendid resources and natural defense capabilities. Seleucus gained Syria and Mesopotamia, and by 301 Lysimachus held Thrace and Asia Minor and Cassander ruled Macedon. The situation changed again by 277, when only three major Hellenistic kingdoms stabilized in Egypt, in Syria, and in Macedonia under the Antigonids (277-168). Each continued until the eventual triumph of Rome.

Dan 11 treats the "king of the South" and the "king of the North," describing their conflicts, wars and alliances. Their hostility toward the people of God culminated in the "abomination of desolation" (Dan 11:31), identified historically with the reign of Antiochus IV Epiphanes (175-164). The Maccabean revolt followed, leading eventually to the founding of the Hasmonean dynasty.

The Time of the End

12 "Now at that time [a]Michael, the great prince who stands guard over the sons of your people, will arise. And there will be a [b]time of distress [c]such as never occurred since there was a nation until that time; and at that time your people, everyone who is found written in the [d]book, will be rescued.

2 "[a]Many of those who sleep in the dust of the ground will awake, [b]these to everlasting life, but the others to disgrace and everlasting [1]contempt.

3 "[1]Those who have [a]insight will [b]shine brightly like the brightness of the [2]expanse of heaven, and those who [c]lead the many to righteousness, like the stars forever and ever.

4 "But as for you, Daniel, [a]conceal these words and [b]seal up the book until the [c]end of time; [d]many will go back and forth, and knowledge will increase."

5 Then I, Daniel, looked and behold, two others were standing, one on this bank of the river and the other on that bank of the river.

6 And [a]one said to the man [b]dressed in linen, who was above the waters of the river, "[c]How long will it be until the end of these wonders?"

7 I heard the man dressed in linen, who was above the waters of the river, [1]as he [a]raised his right hand and his left toward heaven, and swore by [b]Him who lives forever that it would be for a [2][c]time, [2]times, and half a [2]time; and as soon as [3]they finish [d]shattering the [4]power of the holy people, all these events will be completed.

8 As for me, I heard but could not understand; so I said, "My lord, what will be the [1]outcome of these events?"

9 He said, "Go your way, Daniel, for these words are concealed and [a]sealed up until the end time.

10 "[a]Many will be purged, [1]purified and refined, but the [b]wicked will act wickedly; and none of the wicked will understand, but [2]those who [c]have insight will understand.

11 "From the time that the regular sacrifice is abolished and the [1][a]abomination of desolation is set up, there will be 1,290 days.

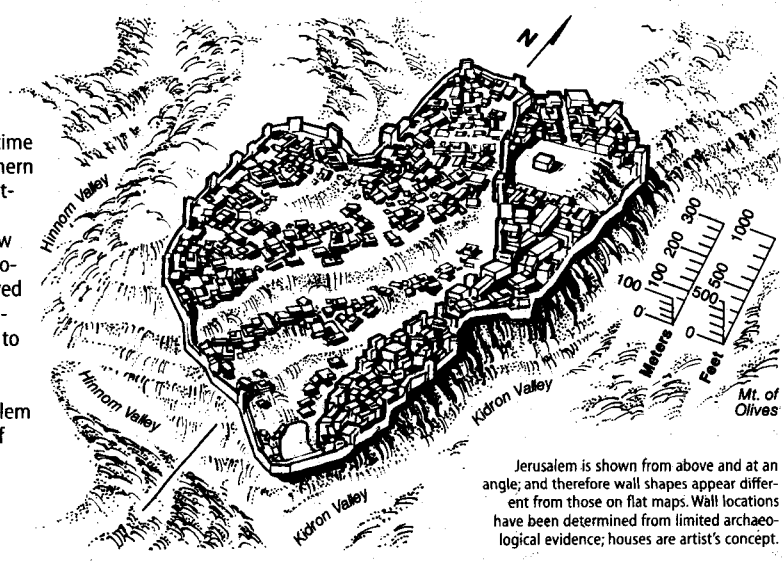
The Book of the Twelve, or the Minor Prophets

In Ecclesiasticus (an Apocryphal book written c. 190 B.C.), Jesus ben Sira spoke of "the twelve prophets" (Ecclesiasticus 49:10) as a unit parallel to Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel. He thus indicated that these 12 prophecies were at that time thought of as a unit and were probably already written together on one scroll, as is the case in later times. Josephus (Against Apion, 1.8.3) also was aware of this grouping. Augustine (The City of God, 18.25) called them the "Minor Prophets," referring to the small size of these books by comparison with the major prophetic books and not at all suggesting that they are of minor importance.



In the traditional Jewish canon these works are arranged in what was thought to be their chronological order: (1) the books that came from the period of Assyrian power (Hosea, Joel, Amos, Obadiah, Jonah, Micah), (2) those written about the time of the decline of Assyria (Nahum, Habakkuk, Zephaniah) and (3) those dating from the postexilic era (Haggai, Zechariah, Malachi). On the other hand, their order in the Septuagint (the earliest Greek translation of the OT) is: Hosea, Amos, Micah, Joel, Obadiah, Jonah, Nahum, Habakkuk, Zephaniah, Haggai, Zechariah, Malachi (the order of the first six was probably determined by length, except for Jonah, which is placed last among them because of its different character).

In any event, it appears that within a century after the composition of Malachi the Jews had brought together the 12 shorter prophecies to form a book (scroll) of prophetic writings, which was received as canonical and paralleled the three major prophetic books of Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel. The great Greek manuscripts Alexandrinus and Vaticanus place the Twelve before the major prophets, but in the traditional Jewish canon and in all modern versions they appear after them.

Jerusalem During the Time of the Prophets

c. 750–586 B.C.

Refugees arrived in Jerusalem about the time of the fall of the northern kingdom (722 B.C.). Settlement spread to the western hill, and a new wall was added for protection. Hezekiah carved an underground aqueduct out of solid rock to bring an ample water supply inside the city walls, enabling Jerusalem to survive the siege of Sennacherib in 701.

Jerusalem is shown from above and at an angle; and therefore wall shapes appear different from those on flat maps. Wall locations have been determined from limited archaeological evidence; houses are artist's concept.

Hosea

Author and Date

Hosea son of Beeri prophesied about the middle of the eighth century B.C., his ministry beginning during or shortly after that of Amos. Amos threatened God's judgment on Israel at the hands of an unnamed enemy; Hosea identifies that enemy as Assyria (7:11; 8:9; 10:6; 11:11). Judging from the kings mentioned in 1:1, Hosea must have prophesied for at least 38 years, though almost nothing is known about him from sources outside his book. He was the only one of the writing prophets to come from the northern kingdom (Israel), and his prophecy is primarily directed to that kingdom. But since his prophetic activity is dated by reference to kings of Judah, the book was probably written in Judah after the fall of the northern capital, Samaria (722–721)—an idea suggested by references to Judah throughout the book (1:7,11; 4:15; 5:5,10,13; 6:4,11; 10:11; 11:12; 12:2). Whether Hosea himself authored the book that preserves his prophecies is not known. The book of Hosea stands first in the division of the Bible called the Book of the Twelve (in the Apocrypha; see Ecclesiasticus 49:10) or the Minor Prophets (a name referring to the brevity of these books as compared to Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel).

Background

Hosea lived in the tragic final days of the northern kingdom, during which six kings (following Jeroboam II) reigned within 25 years (2 Kin 15:8—17:41). Four (Zechariah, Shallum, Pekahiah, Pekah) were murdered by their successors while in office, and one (Hoshea) was captured in battle; only one (Menahem) was succeeded on the throne by his son. These kings, given to Israel by God "in . . . anger" and taken away "in . . . wrath" (13:11), floated away "like a stick on the surface of the water" (10:7). "Bloodshed" followed "bloodshed" (4:2). Assyria was expanding westward, and Menahem accepted that world power as overlord and paid tribute (2 Kin 15:19–20). But shortly afterward, in 733 B.C., Israel was dismembered by Assyria because of the intrigue of Pekah (who had gained Israel's throne by killing Pekahiah, Menahem's son and successor). Only the territories of Ephraim and western Manasseh were left to the king of Israel. Then, because of the disloyalty of Hoshea (Pekah's successor), Samaria was captured and its people exiled in 722–721, bringing the northern kingdom to an end.

Theme and Message

The first part of the book (chs. 1—3) narrates the family life of Hosea as a symbol (similar to the symbolism in the lives of Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel) to convey the message the prophet had from the Lord for His people. God ordered Hosea to marry an adulterous wife, Gomer, and their three children were each given a symbolic name representing part of the ominous message. Ch. 2 alternates between Hosea's relation to Gomer and its symbolic representation of God's relation to Israel. The children are told to drive the unfaithful mother out of the house; but it was her reform, not her riddance, that was sought. The prophet was ordered to continue loving her, and he took her back and kept her in isolation for a while (ch. 3). The affair graphically represents the Lord's relation to the Israelites (cf. 2:4,9,18), who had been disloyal to Him by worshiping Canaanite deities as the source of their abundance. Israel was to go through a period of exile (cf. 7:16; 8:14; 9:3,6,17; 11:5). But the Lord still loved His covenant people and longed to take them back, as Hosea took back Gomer. This return is described with imagery recalling the exodus from Egypt and settlement in Canaan (cf. 1:11; 2:14–23; 3:5; 11:10–11; 14:4–7). Hosea saw Israel's past experiences with the Lord as the fundamental pattern, or type, of God's future dealings with His people.

The second part of the book (chs. 4—14) gives the details of Israel's involvement in Canaanite religion, but a systematic outline of the material is difficult. Like other prophetic books, Hosea carried a call to repentance. Israel's alternative to destruction was to forsake her idols and return to the Lord (chs. 6; 14). Information gleaned from materials discovered at Ugarit (dating from the 15th century B.C.; see chart, p. xix) and from the writings of the early Christian historian Eusebius enables us to know more clearly the religious practices against which Hosea protested.

Hosea saw the failure to acknowledge God (4:6; 13:4) as Israel's basic problem. God's relation to Israel was that of love (2:19; 4:1; 6:6; 10:12; 12:6). The intimacy of the covenant relationship between God and Israel, illustrated in the first part of the book by the husband-wife relationship, is later amplified by the father-child relationship (11:1–4). Disloyalty to God was spiritual adultery (4:13–14; 5:4; 9:1; cf. Jer 3). Israel had turned to Baal worship and had sacrificed at the pagan high places, which included associating with the sacred prostitutes at the sanctuaries (4:14) and worshiping the calf image at Samaria (8:5; 10:5–6; 13:2). There was also international intrigue (5:13; 7:8–11) and materialism. Yet despite God's condemnation and the harshness of language with which the unavoidable judgment was announced, the major purpose of the book is to proclaim God's compassion and love that cannot—finally—let Israel go.

Special Problems

The book of Hosea has at least two perplexing problems. The first concerns the nature of the story told in chs. 1—3 and the character of Gomer. While some interpreters have thought the story to be merely an allegory of the relation between God and Israel, others claim, more plausibly, that the story is to be taken literally. Among the latter, some insist that Gomer was faithful at first and later became unfaithful, others that she was unfaithful even before the marriage.

The second problem of the book is the relation of ch. 3 to ch. 1. Despite the fact that no children are mentioned in ch. 3, some interpreters claim that the two chapters are different accounts of the same episode. The traditional interpretation, however, is more likely, namely, that ch. 3 is a sequel to ch. 1—i.e., after Gomer proved unfaithful, Hosea was instructed to take her back.

Hosea's Wife and Children

1 The word of the LORD which came to [a]Hosea the son of Beeri, during the days of [b]Uzziah, [c]Jotham, [d]Ahaz and [e]Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and during the days of [f]Jeroboam the son of Joash, king of Israel.

2 When the LORD first spoke through Hosea, the LORD said to Hosea, "[a]Go, take to yourself a wife of harlotry and have children of harlotry; for [b]the land commits flagrant harlotry, [1]forsaking the LORD."

3 So he went and took Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, and she conceived and [a]bore him a son.

4 And the LORD said to him, "Name him [a]Jezreel; for yet a little while, and [b]I will [1]punish the house of Jehu for the bloodshed of Jezreel, and [c]I will put an end to the kingdom of the house of Israel.

5 "On that day I will [a]break the bow of Israel in the [b]valley of Jezreel."

6 Then she conceived again and gave birth to a daughter. And [1]the LORD said to him, "Name her [2]Lo-ruhamah, for I will no longer [a]have compassion on the house of Israel, that I would ever forgive them.

7 "But I will have [a]compassion on the house of Judah and [b]deliver them by the LORD their God, and will not deliver them by [c]bow, sword, battle, horses or horsemen."

8 When she had weaned Lo-ruhamah, she conceived and gave birth to a son.

9 And [1]the LORD said, "Name him [2]Lo-ammi, for you are not My people and I am not [3]your God."

Hosea was a contemporary of Isaiah, Amos and Micah (see the similar first verse in their prophecies).

1:2 take . . . a wife of harlotry. See Introduction: Special Problems. harlotry. Spiritual harlotry (unfaithfulness) is the one great sin of which the Lord (through Hosea) accuses Israel.

1:4 Jezreel. Means "God scatters," here used to reinforce the announcement of judgment on the reigning house (see notes on v. 11; 2:22). Jeroboam II was of the dynasty of Jehu (841–814 B.C.), which was established at Jezreel by the overthrow of Ahab's son Joram (2 Kin 9:14–37; cf. 1 Kin 19:16–17). Jehu's dynasty ended with the murder of Zechariah in 753 (2 Kin 15:8–10).

1:5 the bow of Israel. Israel's military power, broken in 724 B.C., though Samaria held out under siege for some two years longer (2 Kin 17:5–6).

1:6 Lo-ruhamah. See NASB marg. The naming represents a reversal of the love (compassion) that God had earlier shown to Israel (Ex 33:19; Deut 7:6–8) but that later was promised again (2:23).

1:7 Judah . . . deliver them. They were saved from Assyria by the Lord in 722–721 B.C. and again in 701 (see 2 Kin 19:32–36).

1:9 Lo-ammi. See NASB marg. The naming represents a break in the covenant relationship between the Lord and Israel (see Ex 6:7; Jer 7:23), which later, however, would be restored (v. 10; 2:1,23). The warnings became more severe in moving from the first to the third child.

1:10 Cited in Rom 9:26; 1 Pet 2:10 and applied to the mission to the Gentiles. Yet. The threatened punishment (vv. 4–9) would be for only a limited time, and a period of blessing would follow. sand of the sea. See the promise to Abraham and Jacob (Gen 22:17; 32:12; cf. Jer 33:22; Heb 11:12). sons. Contrasts with "children of harlotry" (v. 2; 2:4). living God. Contrasts with idols—"who were not God" (Deut 32:17).

1:11 gathered together. Israel and Judah would become one nation again. up from the land. Possibly the land of exile (cf. Ex 1:10). Another interpretation is that they would spring up from the ground as plants do. Jezreel. Here "God scatters" (see note on v. 4) refers to sowing or planting, indicating a reversal of the meaning of the first child's name (see 2:21–23).

2:1 Ammi . . . Ruhamah. See NASB marg. The negatives associated with the names of Hosea's children (see notes on 1:6,9) are dropped.

2:2 not my wife. The marriage was broken by unfaithfulness, but reconciliation, not divorce, was sought (cf. vv. 7–15).

2:3 strip her. The husband supplied the wife's clothing (see Ex 21:10; Ezek 16:10), and here her unfaithfulness was exposed (see Jer 13:26; Ezek 16:39). expose her . . . when she was born. As Israel was when the Lord found her in Egypt—in slavery and with nothing (cf. Ezek 16:4–8; Nah 3:5).

And slay her with [d]thirst.
4 "Also, I will have no compassion on her children,
Because they are [a]children of harlotry.
5 "For their mother has [a]played the harlot;
She who conceived them has acted shamefully.
For she said, '[a]I will go after my lovers,
Who [b]give me my bread and my water,
My wool and my flax, my [c]oil and my drink.'
6 "Therefore, behold, I will [a]hedge up [1]her way with [b]thorns,
And I will build [2]a wall against her so that she cannot find her [c]paths.
7 "She will [a]pursue her lovers, but she will not overtake them;
And she will seek them, but will not find them.
Then she will say, '[b]I will go back to my [c]first husband,
For it was [d]better for me then than now!'

8 "For she does [a]not know that it was [b]I who gave her the grain, the new wine and the oil,
And lavished on her silver and gold, Which they [1]used for Baal.
9 "Therefore, I will [a]take back My grain at [1]harvest time
And My new wine in its season.
I will also take away My wool and My flax
Given to cover her nakedness.
10 "And then I will [a]uncover her lewdness In the sight of her lovers,
And no one will rescue her out of My hand.
11 "I will also [a]put an end to all her gaiety,
Her [b]feasts, her [c]new moons, her sabbaths
And all her festal assemblies.
12 "I will [a]destroy her vines and fig trees,
Of which she said, 'These are my wages
Which my lovers have given me.'
And I will [b]make them a forest,
And the [c]beasts of the field will devour them.
13 "I will punish her for the [a]days of the Baals
When she used to [1b]offer sacrifices to them
And [c]adorn herself with her [2]earrings and jewelry,
And follow her lovers, so that she [d]forgot Me," declares the LORD.

Restoration of Israel

14 "Therefore, behold, I will allure her,
[a]Bring her into the wilderness
And speak [1]kindly to her.
15 "Then I will give her her [a]vineyards from there,
And [b]the valley of Achor as a door of hope.
And she will [1c]sing there as in the days of her youth,
As in the [d]day when she came up from the land of Egypt.
16 "It will come about in that day," declares the LORD,
"That you will call Me [1a]Ishi
And will no longer call Me [2]Baali.

2:4 children of harlotry. See 1:2. This contrasts with being "sons" of the Lord (1:10; 11:1).
2:5 go after. The wife was chasing other men (see Jer 3:2; Ezek 16:33). lovers. See vv. 7, 10. The reference is to Canaanite deities (such as Baal), whose worshipers hoped to gain agricultural fertility. Who give me my bread . . . my drink. Ugaritic texts attribute crops to rain given by Baal. wool . . . flax . . . oil . . . drink. The agricultural staples of the Holy Land. Israel does not know the true source of her blessings.
2:6 hedge up her way. Rather than punish Israel with death (cf. Deut 22:21; Ezek 16:39–40; Nah 3:5–7), the Lord would isolate her.
2:7 pursue. A cultic term in Hosea; elsewhere the Hebrew for this word is translated "press on" or "pursue" (6:3; 8:3; 12:1). seek. See 5:6, 15. not find. See 5:6. go back. The Hebrew for this expression often means "repent." my first husband. The Lord.
2:8 she does not know. The Canaanites attributed grain, wine and oil to Baal. silver and gold. Used for making idols (see 8:4; 9:6; 13:2). Baal. The Canaanite god who was believed to control the weather and the fertility of crops, animals and man (see note on Judg 2:13).
2:9 take back. By withholding the fruits of field and flock, the Lord made known the true source of those blessings.
2:10 uncover her lewdness. The unfaithful wife was exposed to public shame (see Lam 1:8; Ezek 16:37; 23:29). no one will rescue her. Baal had no power.
2:11 put an end to . . . gaiety. In exile these joyous seasons would be only a memory. feasts. See Ex 23:14–17; Deut 16:16. See also chart, pp. 164–165. new moons. See 2 Kin 4:23; Is 1:13; Amos 8:5. sabbaths. See Ex 20:8–11.
2:12 wages . . . my lovers have given. The harlot's pay (see 9:1; Deut 23:18; Ezek 16:33; Mic 1:7). Israel attributed her agricultural products to the false gods she worshiped, rather than to the Lord (see Deut 11:13–14). forest. See Is 5:5–6; 7:23; 32:13; Mic 3:12.
2:13 days. Festival days. Baals. See v. 17; 11:2. Hosea used the plural here, suggesting the idols at the many local shrines (see Jer 2:23; 9:14). follow. See note on v. 5. forgot. The opposite of "know" in Hosea (cf. 13:4–6).
2:14 into the wilderness. For a second betrothal (see vv. 19–20). It refers back to the days of Israel's wilderness wandering, before she was tempted by the Baals in Canaan. speak kindly to. Reassure, encourage, comfort (cf. Gen 34:3; Ruth 2:13; Is 40:2). God continually shows love in the midst of judgment.
2:15 valley of Achor. Near Jericho (see Josh 7:1–26; 15:7; Is 65:10). As the prophet reversed the meaning of the names of his children, so also the meaning of Achor ("trouble")—where God first judged His people in the promised land—became a symbol of new opportunity.
2:16–17 Ishi . . . Baali . . . Baals. Ishi means "my husband," and

So that they will be [1]mentioned by their names no more.

The birds of the sky
And the creeping things of the ground.
And I will [1][b]abolish the bow, the sword and war from the land,
And will make them [c]lie down in safety.

Yes, I will betroth you to Me in [b]righteousness and in justice,
In lovingkindness and in compassion,
20 And I will betroth you to Me in faithfulness.
Then you will [a]know the LORD.

21 "It will come about in that day that [a]I will respond," declares the LORD.
"I will respond to the heavens, and they will respond to the earth, 22 And the [a]earth will respond to the grain, to the new wine and to the oil,
And they will respond to [1]Jezreel.

Hosea's Second Symbolic Marriage

3 Then the LORD said to me, "Go again, love a [1]woman who is loved by her [2]husband, yet an adulteress, even [a]as the LORD loves the sons of Israel, though they turn to other gods and love raisin [b]cakes."

2 So I [a]bought her for myself for fifteen shekels of silver and a homer and a [1]half of barley.

3 Then I said to her, "You shall [a]stay with me for many days. You shall not play the harlot, nor shall you have a [1]man; so I will also be toward you."

4 For the sons of Israel will remain for many days [a]without king or prince, [b]without sacrifice or sacred [c]pillar and without [d]ephod or [1][e]household idols.

5 Afterward the sons of Israel will [a]return and seek the LORD their God and [b]David their Baali means "my master." Of the two Hebrew words for husband, one (master) is identical with the name of the god Baal (see NASB marg. on v. 16). There will be such a vigorous reaction against Baal worship that this Hebrew word for "master" will no longer be used of the Lord.

2:18 make a covenant. See 6:7; 8:1. Animals, the instruments of destruction in v. 12, as well as birds and insects, would no longer threaten life. Nature and history combine in a picture of peace (see Is 11:6–9; 65:25). bow . . . sword. See 1:5. War is terminated. land. Israel (see 1:2; 4:1,3; 9:3; 10:1). lie down in safety. See Jer 33:16; Ezek 34:24–28.

2:19–20 Rather than money, these five traits necessary to the covenant relationship make up the bride-price (see Ex 22:16–17; Deut 22:23–29; 1 Sam 18:25; 2 Sam 3:14).

2:19 righteousness. See 10:12; Jer 23:6; Amos 6:12; Mic 6:5. justice. See Amos 5:24. lovingkindness. See 4:1; 6:4; 10:12; 12:6. compassion. A reversal of God's threatened withdrawal of compassion (see 1:6 and note). "Lo-ruhamah" means lit. "not shown compassion" (cf. Ps 51:1; 103:3–14).

2:20 faithfulness. Dependability (see Deut 32:4; Ps 88:11). know. The Hebrew for this word can refer to intimate marital relations (Gen 19:8; Num 31:17–18,35), but it also refers to active acknowledgment of a covenant partner (see 4:1,6; 5:4; 6:3,6; 8:2; 11:3; 13:4).

2:21 respond. The woman (Israel) responded to the Lord's overtures (see NASB marg. on v. 15); now God responded to her new behavior. The land also responded in becoming productive (vv. 21–22).

2:22 Jezreel. Here used in the sense "God sows" (see NASB marg. and v. 23; see also note on 1:11). The threats represented by the names of the children are turned into blessings (see 1:10). The terms of the covenant were: "I will take you for My people, and I will be your God" (Ex 6:7; see note on Zech 8:8).

2:23 You are my God. The people respond to God's graciousness. This verse is quoted in part in Rom 9:25; 1 Pet 2:10 and applied to Gentiles coming into the church.

3:1 said to me. Ch. 3 is narrated in the first person, ch. 1 in the third person. Go . . . love a woman. Hosea's love for unfaithful Gomer illustrated God's love for unfaithful Israel. God's love for Israel (see 11:1; 14:4) is the basic theme of the book. other gods. See Ex 20:3; Deut 31:20. raisin cakes. Offered to Baal in thanksgiving for harvest.

3:2 Gomer had evidently become a slave, and Hosea bought her back. fifteen shekels. Half the usual price of a slave (Ex 21:7,32) or of the redemption value of a woman's vow (Lev 27:4). a homer and a half. Probably about 10 bushels. Comparison with prices in 2 Kin 7:1,16,18 suggests that half was paid in money (silver) and half in produce (barley)—for a total value of 30 shekels.

3:3–5 A picture of exile and return.

3:3 many days. Not forever. There would be an "afterward" (v. 5), a future. be toward. Or "wait for"; suggests a period of isolation (see 2:6 and note), comparable to Israel's exile.

3:4 king. See 1:4; 5:1; 8:4,10; 10:15; 13:10–11. prince. See 5:10; 7:3,5; 8:4; 13:10. without sacrifice. See 6:6; 8:11,13. sacred pillar. See 10:1–2; Deut 16:22; 1 Kin 14:23; 2 Kin 17:10; Mic 5:13. ephod. Here an image associated with idols (see Judg 8:27; 17:5). idols. See Gen 31:30; 1 Sam 19:13,16.

3:5 return. A basic word in Hosea's vocabulary (see 2:7; 5:4; 6:1; 7:10; 11:5; 12:6; 14:1–2). seek. Israel's repentance is envisioned (cf. 5:15)—the reverse of her present stubborn rebellion (7:10). LORD their God. See 12:9; 13:4; Jer 50:4. David their king. The Messianic king from the dynasty of David (see Jer 30:9; Ezek 34:24). After the death of Solomon, Israel (the northern kingdom) had abandoned the Davidic kings. His goodness. The vineyards and olive groves that had been taken away (see 2:12–13,21) and all of God's gifts (see Jer 31:12–14). last days. The Hebrew for this phrase occurs 13 times in the OT, sometimes simply meaning the future ("days to come," Gen 49:1), but most of the time, as no doubt here, referring to the Messianic age ("after this," Joel 2:28; cf. Acts 2:17; Heb 1:2).

king; and [c]they will come trembling to the LORD and to His goodness in the last days.

God's Controversy with Israel

4 [a]Listen to the word of the LORD,
O sons of Israel,
For the LORD has a [b]case against the inhabitants of the land,
Because there is [c]no [1]faithfulness or [2]kindness
Or [d]knowledge of God in the land.
2 There is [a]swearing, [b]deception,
[c]murder, [d]stealing and [e]adultery.
They employ violence, so that
[f]bloodshed [1]follows bloodshed.
3 Therefore the land [a]mourns,
And everyone who lives in it languishes
Along with the beasts of the field and the birds of the sky,
And also the fish of the sea [1]disappear.

4 Yet let no one [1][a]find fault, and let none offer reproof;
For your people are like those who [b]contend with the priest.
5 So you will [a]stumble by day,
And the prophet also will stumble with you by night;
And I will destroy your [b]mother.
6 [a]My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge.
Because you have [b]rejected knowledge,
I also will [c]reject you from being My priest.
Since you have [d]forgotten the [e]law of your God,
I also will forget your children.

7 The more they [a]multiplied, the more they sinned against Me;
I will [b]change their glory into shame.
8 They [a]feed on the [1]sin of My people
And [b]direct their desire toward their iniquity.
9 And it will be, like people, [a]like priest;
So I will [b]punish them for their ways
And repay them for their deeds.
10 [a]They will eat, but not have enough;
They will [b]play the harlot, but not increase,
Because they have [1][c]stopped giving heed to the LORD.

11 Harlotry, [a]wine and new wine take away the [1]understanding.
12 My people [a]consult their wooden idol,
and their diviner's wand informs them;
For a spirit of harlotry has led them astray,
And they have played the harlot, departing [1]from their God.
13 They offer sacrifices on the [a]tops of the mountains
And [1][b]burn incense on the hills,
[c]Under oak, poplar and terebinth,
Because their shade is pleasant.

4:1–14:9 Deals with Israel's involvement in Canaanite religion, her moral sins and her international intrigues.
4:1 Listen to the word. See, e.g., Is 1:10; Jer 2:4; Ezek 6:3. case. As the Lord's spokesman, Hosea brought charges against unfaithful, covenant-breaking Israel (cf. v. 4; Is 3:13; Jer 2:9; Mic 6:2). faithfulness. Loyalty to the covenant Lord (Josh 24:14) and right dealing with men (Prov 3:3). kindness. See 2:19; 10:12. knowledge of God. See 2:20 and note; 5:4; 6:6.
4:2 swearing . . . adultery. The sins detailed (paralleled in Jer 7:9) transgress the Ten Commandments (see Ex 20:13–16; Deut 5:17–20). bloodshed. Includes (1) murder (see 6:8–9), (2) the assassinations following the death of Jeroboam II when three kings reigned in one year (2 Kin 15:10–14) and (3) human sacrifice (Ps 106:38; Ezek 16:20–21; 23:37). Where God is not acknowledged (v. 1), moral uprightness disappears.
4:3 land mourns. God's judgment on man's sin affects all living things in man's world (see, e.g., Is 24:3–6; Jer 4:23–28). languishes. See Is 19:8; Jer 14:2; 15:9; Joel 1:10.
4:4–9 An indictment against the priests, whose duty it was to be guardians of God's law and to furnish religious instruction (see Deut 31:9–13; 33:10; 2 Chr 17:8–9; Ezra 7:6,10; Jer 18:18). Hosea warned the priests not to lodge charges against the people for bringing God's judgment down on the nation, for they themselves were guilty, and the people could also bring charges against them—as Hosea proceeded to do (see v. 9; Is 28:7; Jer 2:26; 4:9; 23:11).
4:5 stumble. See 5:5. prophet. See Mic 2:6,11; 3:5–7. your mother. The nation (see 2:2,5; Is 50:1).
4:6 My people. Israel (see vv. 8,12; 2:1,23; 6:11; 11:7; Mic 6:3). destroyed for lack of knowledge. Partly because the priests had failed to teach God's word to the people. rejected knowledge . . . reject you. Punishment in kind. law of your God. Israel's source of life (see Deut 32:47), which the priests should have been faithfully promoting.
4:7 their Glory. God (see Ps 106:20).
4:8 feed on the sin. Priests devoured the sacrifices (1 Sam 2:13–17), profiting from the continuation of the sin rather than helping to cure it (see 8:13).
4:9 like people, like priest. Without exception, all would be punished for their sins.
4:10 eat, but not have enough. The punishment fit the sin. play the harlot. See vv. 12,18; 2:4; 6:10; 9:1; Ps 106:39. Instead of giving themselves to the Lord, they gave themselves to prostitution.
4:11 wine. See 7:5; 9:10; 14:7. new wine. See 2:8–9,22; 7:14; 9:2.
4:12 wooden idol. An image of a god (see Jer 2:27; 10:8; Hab 2:19). diviner's wand. See Ezek 21:21 and note. spirit of harlotry. See 5:4. Hebrew idioms often describe inner tendencies in terms of "spirit."
4:13 offer sacrifices. See 8:13. tops of the mountains. Places commonly chosen for pagan altars (see 10:8; Deut 12:2; 1 Kin 14:23; 2 Kin 17:10; Jer 2:20; 3:6). Clay tablets from Ugarit (see chart, p. xix) tell of fertility rites carried out by the Canaanites at the high places. oak . . . terebinth. Trees noted for their shade. play the harlot. Canaanite fertility rites involved sexual activity (v. 14) that led to general erosion of morals.

Therefore your daughters play the harlot
And your [2]brides commit adultery.
14 I will not punish your daughters when they play the harlot
Or your [1]brides when they commit adultery,
For the men themselves go apart with harlots
And offer sacrifices with [a]temple prostitutes;
So the people without understanding are [2]ruined.

15 Though you, Israel, play the harlot,
Do not let Judah become guilty;
Also do not go to [a]Gilgal,
Or go up to Beth-aven
[b]And take the oath:
"As the LORD lives!"
16 Since Israel is [a]stubborn
Like a stubborn heifer,
[1]Can the LORD now [b]pasture them
Like a lamb in a large field?
17 Ephraim is joined to [a]idols;
[b]Let him alone.
18 Their liquor gone,
They play the harlot continually;
[a]Their [1]rulers dearly love shame.
19 [a]The wind wraps them in its wings,
And they will be ashamed because of their sacrifices.

The People's Apostasy Rebuked

5 Hear this, O priests!
Give heed, O house of Israel!
Listen, O house of the king!
For the judgment applies to you,
For you have been a [a]snare at Mizpah
And a net spread out on Tabor.
2 The [a]revolters have [1][b]gone deep in depravity,
But I will chastise all of them.
3 I [a]know Ephraim, and Israel is not hidden from Me;
For now, O Ephraim, you have played the harlot,
Israel has defiled itself.
4 Their deeds will not allow them
To return to their God.
For a [a]spirit of harlotry is within them,
And they [b]do not know the LORD.
5 Moreover, the [a]pride of Israel testifies against him,
And Israel and Ephraim stumble in their iniquity;
[b]Judah also has stumbled with them.
6 They will [a]go with their flocks and herds
To seek the LORD, but they will [b]not find Him;
He has [c]withdrawn from them.
7 They have [a]dealt treacherously against the LORD,

5:1 [a]Hos 9:8
2 [1]Or waded deep in slaughter [a]Hos 9:15 [b]Is 29:15; Hos 4:2; 6:9
3 [a]Amos 3:2; 5:12
4 [a]Hos 4:12 [b]Hos 4:6, 14

7 [a]Is 48:8; Jer 3:20; Hos 6:7

4:14 not punish. The men would punish their women for immorality, but God would have no part in their hypocrisy. harlots. Common prostitutes (see Gen 34:31; Lev 21:14; Ezek 16:31). temple prostitutes. Women of the sanctuaries who served as partners for men in cultic sexual activity (cf. Gen 38:21–22; Deut 23:18). without understanding. Contrast 14:9.
4:15 Judah. An aside warning (see Introduction: Author and Date). guilty. See 10:2; 13:1; 14:1. do not go. The nation as a whole was addressed. Gilgal. A site near Jericho (see 9:15; 12:11; Josh 4:19–20; 1 Sam 11:13–15) where the Israelites had established a religious shrine. Beth-aven. A sarcastic substitute name for Bethel (Beth-aven means "house of wickedness," while Bethel means "house of God"; see also 5:8), site of one of the cult centers established by Jeroboam I (1 Kin 12:29). As the LORD lives. A form of solemn oath (see Judg 8:19; Ruth 3:13; 1 Sam 14:39; 26:10,16; Jer 4:2; 38:16). Though proper in itself—since it invoked the true God (see Deut 6:13; 10:20; Josh 23:7)—it was here forbidden because it was being used deceitfully, as though the Israelites were truly honoring the Lord (see Jer 5:2).
4:16 stubborn. See Neh 9:29; Zech 7:11. stubborn heifer. See 10:11; Jer 2:20; an apt figure for unruly Israel (see 11:4; Jer 31:18).
4:17 Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. idols. The golden calf (8:5; 13:2; 1 Kin 12:28) and the cult of Baal (2:8,13). Let him alone. Nothing could be done to help (see 2 Sam 16:11; 2 Kin 23:18).
4:19 The wind wraps them in its wings. Probably a metaphor from the threshing floor (see 13:3; Ps 1:4) for the sudden violence that would bring the exile. Since the Hebrew for the words "wind" and "spirit" is the same, there is a possible play on words with the "spirit of harlotry" (v. 12; 5:4). ashamed. By means of their sacrifices they hoped to flourish, but God's punishment for their idolatry would bring them into disgrace among the nations (see 10:6).
5:1 priests . . . house of Israel . . . house of the king. The three groups addressed were all responsible for maintaining justice, but it miscarried at their hands. snare . . . net. Devices for catching animals and birds, here used as metaphors for those who by economic and legal devices took cruel advantage of innocent people (see Job 18:8–10; Ps 140:5; Prov 29:5; Lam 1:13). Mizpah. Either (1) Mizpah in Gilead east of the Jordan (Gen 31:43–49) or (2) Mizpah in Benjamin (1 Sam 7:5–6; 10:17). Tabor. A mountain at the southeastern edge of the Jezreel Valley. Reference must have been to well-known events that illustrated Israel's corruption.
5:2 chastise. A significant word in the prophets for God's corrective action against His people (see Is 26:16; Jer 2:30; 5:3; 7:28).
5:3 Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. played the harlot. See 1:2; 4:10,18.
5:4 Their deeds. See 4:9; 7:2; 9:15; 12:2. Persistent sin can make repentance impossible (see Jer 13:23; John 8:34; Rom 6:6,16). spirit of harlotry. See 4:12. know the LORD. See 4:6; Is 1:2–4.
5:5 pride. Stubborn rebellion against the Lord (see Deut 1:43; 1 Sam 15:23; Neh 9:16; Job 35:12; Ps 10:2; Ezek 16:56–57). testifies. In the case God presented against His people (see 4:1 and note). stumble. Experience calamity (see 4:5). Judah. See Introduction: Author and Date.
5:6 seek the LORD. Go to Him with prayer and sacrifices (see 3:5; Amos 5:4–5). not find Him. Offering sacrifices in their situation was useless (see 2:7; cf. Is 1:10–14; Amos 5:21–25; Mic 6:6–8). The Lord would be "found" by Israel only when she turned to Him with integrity of heart (see 3:5; 5:15; Deut 4:29–31; Jer 29:13).
5:7 dealt treacherously. See Jer 5:11. illegitimate children. Chil-

For they have borne [1][b]illegitimate children.
Now the [c]new moon will devour them with their [2]land.

8 [a]Blow the horn in [b]Gibeah,
The trumpet in Ramah.
Sound an alarm at Beth-aven:
"[c]Behind you, Benjamin!"
9 Ephraim will become a [a]desolation in the [b]day of rebuke;
Among the tribes of Israel I [c]declare what is sure.
10 The princes of Judah have become like those who [a]move a boundary;
On them I will [b]pour out My wrath [c]like water.
11 Ephraim is [a]oppressed, crushed in judgment,
[b]Because he was determined to [1]follow man's command.
12 Therefore I am like a [a]moth to Ephraim
And like rottenness to the house of Judah.
13 When Ephraim saw his sickness,
And Judah his [1]wound,
Then Ephraim went to [a]Assyria
And sent to [2b]King Jareb.
But he is [c]unable to heal you,
Or to cure you of your [1]wound.
14 For I will be [a]like a lion to Ephraim
And like a young lion to the house of Judah.
[b]I, even I, will tear to pieces and go away,
I will carry away, and there will be [c]none to deliver.
15 I will go away and return to My place
Until they [1a]acknowledge their guilt and seek My face;
In their affliction they will earnestly [b]seek Me.

The Response to God's Rebuke

6 "[a]Come, let us return to the LORD.
For [b]He has torn us, but [c]He will heal us;
He has [1]wounded us, but He will [d]bandage us.
2 "He will [a]revive us after two days;
He will [b]raise us up on the third day,
That we may live before Him.
3 "So let us [a]know, let us press on to know the LORD.
His [b]going forth is as certain as the dawn;
And He will come to us like the [c]rain,
Like the spring rain watering the earth."

4 What shall I do with you,
O [a]Ephraim?
What shall I do with you, O Judah?
For your [1]loyalty is like a [b]morning cloud
And like the dew which goes away early.
5 Therefore I have [a]hewn them in pieces by the prophets;
I have slain them by the [b]words of My mouth;
And the judgments on you are like the light that goes forth.
6 For [a]I delight in loyalty [b]rather than sacrifice,
And in the knowledge of God rather than burnt offerings.

dren they had prayed to the Baals for and had credited to their fertility rites. new moon. Usually a festive occasion (see, e.g., 2:11; 1 Sam 20:5,18; Amos 8:5; Col 2:16), but now a time of judgment. Or the meaning may be that one month would be sufficient to accomplish their punishment.

5:8 Some interpreters suggest that the Aramean (Syrian)-Ephraimite (Israelite) war (2 Kin 16:5–9; Is 7:1–9) forms the background of this oracle. horn. Made of a ram's horn, which here sounds the alarm that an army is approaching (see 8:1). Gibeah. Two miles north of Jerusalem. Ramah. North of Gibeah. Beth-aven. See note on 4:15. Behind you, Benjamin. Thought to be the Benjamite war cry (see Judg 5:14).

5:9 desolation. See Jer 25:11,38.

5:10 move a boundary. Judah had seized Israelite territory (1 Kin 15:16–22; see Deut 19:14; 27:17; Prov 22:28; 23:10; Is 5:8; Mic 2:2). My wrath. See 13:11.

5:12 moth . . . rottenness. Both consume (see Job 13:28).

5:13 sickness . . . wound. Metaphors for the national wounds the two nations had suffered at the hands of their enemies (see Is 1:5–6; 17:4,11; Jer 30:12–13). went to Assyria. Assyrian records tell of the tribute paid to Tiglath-pileser III by the Israelite kings Menahem and Hoshea (cf. 2 Kin 15:19–20; 17:3). unable to heal. The alliances were worthless.

5:14 lion. See 13:7. The Lord might use human agents (Is 10:5–6), but He would be responsible for Israel's punishment, from which there was no escape (see Is 5:29; 42:22; Amos 9:1–4; Mic 5:8).

5:15 return to My place. God threatened to withdraw from Israel until, out of desperation, she truly repented. This idea sets the stage for the prophet's next theme.

6:1 let us return. A shallow (see v. 4) proposal of repentance (using phrases from 5:13–15), in which Israel acknowledged that God, not Assyria (cf. 5:13), was the true physician (cf. 7:1).

6:2 two days . . . third day. A brief time. Israel supposed that God's wrath would only be temporary.

6:3 know the LORD. A key concept in Hosea (see v. 6; 2:8,20; 4:1,6; 5:4). like the rain . . . the spring rain. Israel believed that, as surely as seasonal rains fell, reviving the earth, God's favor would return and restore her.

6:4 What shall I do . . . ? See Is 5:4. God saw through Israel's superficial repentance. Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. Judah. See Introduction: Author and Date. loyalty. Or "lovingkindness" (see NASB marg.) See 2:19; see also note on v. 6. morning cloud . . . dew. Figurative for that which is temporary.

6:5 the prophets. God's spokesmen (see Jer 1:9; 15:19) had denounced the people's sin. words of My mouth. The judgments spoken by the Lord's faithful prophets. like the light that goes forth. See Deut 32:41.

6:6 loyalty. See v. 4; Hebrew ḥesed, a word that can refer to right conduct toward one's fellowman or loyalty to the Lord or

7 But [a]like [1]Adam they have
[b]transgressed the covenant;
There they have [c]dealt treacherously

Tracked with [b]bloody footprints.
9 And as [a]raiders wait for a man,
So a band of priests [b]murder on the

Surely they have committed [1][c]crime.
10 In the house of Israel I have seen a
[a]horrible thing;
Ephraim's [b]harlotry is there, Israel has defiled itself.
11 Also, O Judah, there is a [a]harvest appointed for you,
When I [b]restore the fortunes of My
people.

Ephraim's Iniquity

7 When I [a]would heal Israel,
The iniquity of Ephraim is uncovered,
And the evil deeds of Samaria,
For they deal [b]falsely;
The thief enters in,
[c]Bandits raid outside,
2 And they do not [1]consider in their hearts
That I [a]remember all their wickedness.
Now their [b]deeds are all around them;
They are before My face.
3 [a]With their wickedness they make the [b]king glad,
And the princes with their [c]lies.
4 They are [a]all adulterers,
Like an oven heated by the baker
Who ceases to stir up the fire
From the kneading of the dough until it is leavened.
5 On the [1]day of our king, the princes
[a]became sick with the heat of wine;
He stretched out his hand with [b]scoffers,
6 For their hearts are like an [a]oven
As they approach their [1]plotting;
Their [2]anger [3]smolders all night,
In the morning it burns like a flaming
fire.
7 All of them are hot like an oven,
And they consume their [a]rulers;
All their kings have fallen.
[b]None of them calls on Me.

8 Ephraim [a]mixes himself with the
[1]nations;
Ephraim has become a cake not turned.
9 [a]Strangers devour his strength,
Yet he [b]does not know it;
Gray hairs also are sprinkled on him,
Yet he does not know it.
10 Though the [a]pride of Israel testifies against him,
Yet [b]they have not returned to the LORD their God,
Nor have they sought Him, for all this.
11 So [a]Ephraim has become like a silly dove, [b]without [1]sense;
They call to [c]Egypt, they go to both—the sum of what God requires of His servants. Here it perhaps refers to both. rather than sacrifice. Sacrifice apart from faithfulness to the Lord's will is wholly unacceptable to Him (see 1 Sam 15:22–23; Is 1:11–20; Jer 7:21–22; Amos 5:21–24; Mic 6:6–8; Matt 9:13; 12:7).

6:7 like Adam. The allusion is uncertain, since Scripture records no covenant with Adam. Two other possibilities exist. "Adam" could be a reference to the place named Adam (see Josh 3:16), as suggested by "There" in the verse. Or "Adam" could be a reference to mankind in general rather than the man Adam. transgressed the covenant. See 8:1; Josh 7:11.

6:8 Gilead. See 12:11; Judg 10:17; 12:7. bloody footprints. The allusion is unclear, but Hosea may have been referring to a more recent event than the bloodbath of Judg 12:1–6—such as Pekah's rebellion against Pekahiah (see 2 Kin 15:25).

6:9 murder. The specific event is unknown.

6:10 harlotry. See chs. 2; 4.

6:11 harvest. A figure for God's judgments (see 8:7; 10:12–13; Jer 51:33; Joel 3:13; Matt 13:39; Rev 14:15). restore the fortunes. Paralleling "heal" (7:1), the phrase refers to the restoration of the wounded national body (see Joel 3:1; Zeph 3:20).

7:1 heal. See 5:13; 6:1; 11:3; 14:4; Jer 51:8–9. iniquity. See 4:8; 5:5; 8:13. Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. uncovered. God sees them. evil deeds. See v. 3. Samaria. Another name for the northern kingdom, of which Samaria was the royal city, selected by Omri to be capital of Israel (1 Kin 16:24). deal falsely. See Jer 6:13; 8:10; probably refers to both feigned repentance and treacherous foreign alliances. thief. See 4:2. Bandits. See 6:9; Gen 49:19; Jer 18:22.

7:2 I remember. All is open before the Lord (see Ps 90:8), but the wicked believe God does not see (see Ps 10:6,11; 14:1; Ezek 8:12).

7:3 make the king glad. Probably in conjunction with one of the palace revolts (see 2 Kin 15:8–30). king . . . princes. Paired also in 3:4; 8:4; 13:10. lies. See 11:12; Ps 59:12; Nah 3:1.

7:4 adulterers. See 3:1; 4:2,13; Jer 9:2; Ezek 23:37. baker. Perhaps the leader of the conspiracy. fire. A metaphor for political intrigue (see vv. 6–7). The fire was banked until ready to use; then it broke out.

7:5 day of our king. Probably a coronation or birthday that became a drunken party. King Elah died in drunkenness (1 Kin 16:9–10). scoffers. See Prov 21:24. Isaiah (28:1–8,14) condemned Israel's drunkenness and her scoffers.

7:6 The intrigue was kept secret until a suitable time.

7:7 rulers . . . kings. Four kings were assassinated in 20 years, Zechariah and Shallum in a seven-month period (2 Kin 15:10–15). None of them calls on Me. The reason for the shameful situation.

7:8 cake not turned. A metaphor describing unwise policies. Baked on hot stones (cf. 1 Kin 19:6), the cake was burned on the bottom and raw on the top.

7:9 Gray hairs. He was old before his time, but ignored the danger signals. Tribute to Tiglath-pileser (2 Kin 15:19–20,29) and to Egypt had sapped the country economically.

7:10 returned. See 3:5; 5:4; Amos 4:6–11. sought. See 2:7; 5:6.

7:11 dove. See 11:11 and note, where a different image is intended. See also note on Ps 68:13. without sense. See Jer

12 When they go, I will [a]spread My net over them;
I will bring them down like the birds of the sky.
I will [b]chastise them in accordance with the [1]proclamation to their assembly.
13 [a]Woe to them, for they have [b]strayed from Me!
Destruction is theirs, for they have rebelled against Me!
I [c]would redeem them, but they speak lies against Me.
14 And [a]they do not cry to Me from their heart
When they wail on their beds;
For the sake of grain and new wine they [1b]assemble themselves,
They [c]turn away from Me.
15 Although I trained and strengthened their arms,
Yet they [a]devise evil against Me.
16 They turn, but not [1]upward,
They are like a [a]deceitful bow;
Their princes will fall by the sword
Because of the [2b]insolence of their tongue.
This will be their [c]derision in the land of Egypt.

Israel Reaps the Whirlwind

8 [a]Put the trumpet to your [1]lips!
[b]Like an eagle the enemy comes
[c]against the house of the LORD,
Because they have [d]transgressed My covenant
And rebelled against My [e]law.
2 [a]They cry out to Me,
"My God, [b]we of Israel know You!"
3 Israel has rejected the good;
The enemy will pursue him.
4 [a]They have set up kings, but not by Me;
They have appointed princes, but I did not know it.
With their [b]silver and gold they have made idols for themselves,
That [1]they might be cut off.
5 [1]He has rejected your [a]calf,
O Samaria, saying,
"My anger burns against them!"
How long will they be incapable of [b]innocence?
6 For from Israel is even this!
A [a]craftsman made it, so it is not God;
Surely the calf of Samaria will be broken to [1]pieces.
7 For [a]they sow the wind
And they reap the [b]whirlwind.
The standing grain has no [1]heads;
It yields [c]no [2]grain.
Should it yield, strangers would swallow it up.

8 Israel is [a]swallowed up;
They are now among the nations
Like a [b]vessel in which no one delights.
9 For they have gone up to [a]Assyria,
Like [b]a wild donkey all alone;
Ephraim has [c]hired [1]lovers.
10 Even though they hire allies among the nations,
Now I will [a]gather them up;
And they will begin [b]to [1]diminish
Because of the burden of the [c]king of princes.

5:21. Menahem turned to Assyria (2 Kin 15:19–20), and Pekah to Egypt. Hoshea alternated in allegiance to both (2 Kin 17:4).
7:12 My net. The Lord Himself was the hunter—not the nations—and Israel was certain to be caught.
7:13 Woe. Often used in conjunction with threats of judgment (see 9:12). Destruction. See 9:6; Is 13:6. redeem. See 13:14; also used for deliverance from Egypt (see, e.g., Ex 6:6; Mic 6:4). lies. Possibly of ascribing prosperity and destiny to gods other than the Lord.
7:14 wail. See Joel 1:13. grain and new wine. See 2:8,22; 9:1–2. assemble themselves. See NASB marg.; cf. Lev 19:28; 21:5.
7:15 I trained. As children (or, perhaps, as troops). strengthened their arms. See Ezek 30:24–25.
7:16 deceitful bow. See Ps 78:57. The arrow missed the mark; Israel missed her purpose for being. derision. Egypt would fail to assist Israel and then would belittle God's power (see Deut 9:28). Egypt. See 8:13; 9:6; 11:5. There is no record of a forced exile of large numbers to Egypt. Some captives were taken there (2 Kin 23:34; Jer 22:11–14), and some fugitives voluntarily went there (2 Kin 25:26; Jer 42–44). A return from Egypt is envisioned in 11:11; Is 11:11; 27:13; Zech 10:10.
8:1 trumpet. Of alarm (see 5:8; Joel 2:1; Amos 3:6). your. The prophet's. eagle. Or "vulture," referring to Assyria. house of the LORD. The land of Israel, not just the temple (see 9:15 and note; cf. Ex 15:17). covenant. The demands of the covenant.
8:2 we . . . know You. But their worship of the Lord was thoroughly corrupted by pagan notions and practices, as vv. 3–6 indicate (see Amos 2:4,7–8; 3:14; 5:26).
8:4 set up kings. After Jeroboam II, five kings ruled over Israel in 13 years (2 Kin 15:8–30), three of whom seized the throne by violence (see 7:7).
8:5 calf. Jeroboam I (930–909 B.C.) had set up golden calves in Bethel and Dan, saying, "behold your gods" (see 1 Kin 12:28–33 and note on 1 Kin 12:28).
8:6 A craftsman made it. For prophetic satire on idolatry see Is 40:20; 41:22–24; 44:9–20; see also Ps 115:4–8. Aaron (Ex 32:8) and Jeroboam I had said, "behold your gods"; but Hosea said, "It is not God."
8:7 sow . . . reap. A familiar proverb about the results of doing evil (see 10:13; Job 4:8; Ps 126:5–6; Prov 11:18; 22:8; 2 Cor 9:6; Gal 6:7). Israel sowed the wind of idolatry and reaped the whirlwind of Assyria. standing grain . . . grain. The prophet played on the similar sound of the Hebrew words. strangers. Assyria.
8:8 Israel was chosen to be God's own people (Ex 19:5; Amos 3:2), but since she had conformed to the other nations, she lost her special identity and so became worthless to God.
8:9 Ephraim has hired lovers. For the "prostitute's fees" of Assyrian protection. Menahem (2 Kin 15:19) and Hoshea (2 Kin 17:3), kings of Israel, paid tribute to Assyria.
8:10 Even though Israel paid tribute to Assyria, that would not

11 Since Ephraim has [a]multiplied altars for sin,
They have become altars of sinning for him.
12 Though [a]I wrote for him ten thousand precepts of My [b]law,
They are regarded as a strange thing.
13 As for My [a]sacrificial gifts,
They [b]sacrifice the flesh and eat it,
But the LORD has taken no delight in them.
Now He will [c]remember their iniquity,
And [d]punish them for their sins;
They will return to [e]Egypt.
14 For Israel has [a]forgotten his Maker and [b]built palaces;
And Judah has multiplied fortified cities,
But I will send a [c]fire on its cities that it may consume its palatial dwellings.

Ephraim Punished

9 [a]Do not rejoice, O Israel, [1]with exultation like the [2]nations!
For you have [b]played the harlot, [3]forsaking your God.
You have loved harlots' earnings on [4]every threshing floor.
2 Threshing floor and wine press will [a]not feed them,
And the new wine will fail [1]them.
3 They will not remain in [a]the LORD's land,
But Ephraim will return to [b]Egypt,
And in [c]Assyria they will eat [d]unclean food.
4 They will not pour out drink offerings of [a]wine to the LORD,
[b]Their sacrifices will not please Him.
Their bread will [1]be like [2]mourners' bread;
All who eat of it will be [c]defiled,
For their bread will be for [3]themselves alone;
It will not enter the house of the LORD.
5 [a]What will you do on the day of the appointed festival
And on the day of the [b]feast of the LORD?
6 For behold, they will go because of destruction;
Egypt will gather them up, [a]Memphis will bury them.
Weeds will take over their treasures of silver;
[b]Thorns will be in their tents.

7 The days of [a]punishment have come,
The days of [b]retribution have come;
[1]Let Israel know this!
The prophet is a [c]fool,
The [2]inspired man is [d]demented,
Because of the grossness of your [e]iniquity,
And because your hostility is so great.
8 Ephraim was a watchman with my God, a prophet;
Yet the snare of a bird catcher is in all his ways,
And there is only hostility in the house of his God.
9 They have gone [a]deep [1]in depravity
As in the days of [b]Gibeah;

buy her security, for God would send judgment by the king of Assyria. Israel's real "enemy" was the Lord Himself (see 2:8–9,13; 7:12).

8:11 multiplied altars. To Baal.

8:13 sacrificial gifts. See v. 2 and note. eat it. Some of the sacrifices were partly eaten by the offerer and priests (see Lev 7:11–18; Deut 12:7; Jer 7:21). taken no delight in them. See note on 6:6. Egypt. Israel, who had trusted in Egypt and Assyria, was to go back to "Egypt," i.e., into bondage in a foreign land, primarily Assyria (see 9:3). But see note on 7:16.

8:14 Israel has forgotten. The cause of all their problems (cf. Judg 2:10). built palaces . . . multiplied fortified cities. Israel's trust was not in her Maker but in what she herself had accomplished. Judah. See Introduction: Author and Date. fire. See Amos 1:4,7,10,14; 2:5.

9:1 This verse begins a section that was probably spoken at a harvest festival, such as the Feast of Booths (Lev 23:33–43; Deut 16:13–15). played the harlot. See 1:2; 2:2–5. harlots' earnings. See 2:5,12; not to be taken literally, but in the sense of spiritual adultery. on every threshing floor. Since the threshing floor at threshing time was a man's world—the threshers stayed there all night to protect the grain and feasted at the end of the day's labors—prostitutes were not uncommon visitors (see Ruth 3:2–3 and notes).

9:3 LORD's land. The promised land, which the Lord claimed as His own (cf. Lev 25:23; Josh 22:19; Jer 2:7; Ezek 38:16; Joel 1:6). Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. Egypt . . . Assyria. Israel was threatened with exile to the lands it depended on—where the temple sacrifice could not be offered (see 8:13 and note). unclean. A foreign country was ceremonially unclean (see Amos 7:17 and note). What grew there was likewise unclean, because it was the product of fertility credited to pagan gods (see Ezek 4:13).

9:4 bread will be like mourners' bread. Unclean, like bread in a house where there had been a death (see Num 19:14; Deut 26:14; Jer 16:7). All who touched it became ceremonially unclean. not enter the house of the LORD. In exile Israel would have no place (not even those places established by Jeroboam I; 1 Kin 12:28–33) where she could bring sacrifices to the Lord or celebrate her religious festivals (v. 5).

9:6 Egypt. See 7:16 and note. Memphis. The capital of Lower (northern) Egypt. Weeds . . . Thorns. Cf. a similar threat against Edom (Is 34:13).

9:7 inspired man. See Mic 2:11; 3:8. demented. See 2 Kin 9:11; Jer 29:26; cf. 1 Sam 21:15.

9:8 watchman. See Is 56:10; Jer 6:17; Ezek 3:17; 33:2–8. snare . . . hostility. Israel showed only hostility toward the watchmen (the true prophets) whom God sent to warn His people of the great dangers that threatened (see Jer 1:19; 11:19; 15:10; Amos 7:10–12).

9:9 depravity. The word used of the Israelites who worshiped the golden calf (Ex 32:7; Deut 9:12; 32:5). days of Gibeah. A reference to the corrupt events of Judg 19–21. He will remember. Sins unrepented of are remembered, as well as the accu-

He will [c]remember their iniquity,
He will punish their sins.

10 I found Israel like [a]grapes in the wilderness;
I saw your forefathers as the [b]earliest fruit on the fig tree in its first season.
But they came to [c]Baal-peor and devoted themselves to [1][d]shame,
And they became as [e]detestable as that which they loved.
11 As for Ephraim, their [a]glory will fly away like a bird—
No birth, no pregnancy and no conception!
12 Though they bring up their children,
Yet I will bereave them [1]until not a man is left.
Yes, [a]woe to them indeed when I depart from them!
13 Ephraim, as I have seen,
Is planted in a pleasant meadow like [a]Tyre;
But Ephraim will bring out his children for slaughter.
14 Give them, O LORD—what will You give?
Give them a [a]miscarrying womb and dry breasts.

15 All their evil is at [a]Gilgal;
Indeed, I came to hate them there!
Because of the [b]wickedness of their deeds
I will drive them out of My house!
I will love them no more;
All their princes are [c]rebels.
16 [a]Ephraim is stricken, their root is dried up,
They will bear [b]no fruit.
Even though they bear children,
I will slay the [c]precious ones of their womb.

Retribution for Israel's Sin

10 Israel is a [1]luxuriant [a]vine;
He produces fruit for himself.
The more his fruit,
The more altars he [b]made;
The [2]richer his land,
The better [3]he made the sacred [c]pillars.
2 Their heart is [1][a]faithless;
Now they must bear their [b]guilt.
[2]The LORD will [c]break down their altars
And destroy their sacred pillars.

3 Surely now they will say, "We have [a]no king,
For we do not revere the LORD.
As for the king, what can he do for us?"
4 They speak mere words,
[1]With [a]worthless oaths they make covenants;
And [b]judgment sprouts like poisonous weeds in the furrows of the field.
5 The inhabitants of Samaria will fear
For the [1][a]calf of [b]Beth-aven.
Indeed, its people will mourn for it,
And its [c]idolatrous priests [2]will cry out over it,
Over its [d]glory, since it has departed from it.
6 The thing itself will be carried to [a]Assyria
As tribute to [1][b]King Jareb;
Ephraim will [2]be [c]seized with shame
And Israel will be ashamed of its [d]own counsel.

shame [a]Hos 11:5 [b]Hos 5:13 [c]Hos 4:7 [d]Is 30:3; Jer 7:24 mulated sins of generations (see 13:12).

9:10 The covenant relation is traced back to the wilderness (see 2:14–15; 13:5; Deut 32:10). grapes . . . fig. Refreshing delicacies (see Is 28:4; Mic 7:1). The images used here (grapes in the wilderness, early fruit of the fig tree) beautifully convey God's delight in Israel when she, out of all the nations, committed herself to Him in covenant at Sinai. Baal-peor. A shortened form of Beth-baal-peor. Peor was a mountain (Deut 3:29). Baal-peor refers to the god of Peor (Num 25:1–4) and was used interchangeably with Beth-peor, "the temple of Peor" (see Deut 3:29; 4:3,46; Josh 13:20). Hosea refers here to the incident in Num 25. became . . . detestable. See Is 5:2,4,7.

9:11 Ephraim, their glory. Their large population and prosperity. The punishment fit the sin. Prostitution produces no increase (see 4:10).

9:12 to them. To the children.

9:13 Tyre. Noted for its wealth, pleasant environment and security (see Ezek 27:2–26).

9:14 Hosea did not pray out of hateful vengeance against Israel, but because he shared God's holy wrath against her sins.

9:15 Gilgal. See note on 4:15. drive them out of My house. As the unfaithful wife was driven from the husband's house, so Israel was driven from God's "house"—i.e., His land (see 8:1 and note). princes . . . rebels. A wordplay in Hebrew.

9:17 My God. Hosea's words alone, for God was no longer Israel's God. cast . . . away. See 4:6; 2 Kin 17:20. wanderers. Like Cain (Gen 4:14–15).

10:1 Israel. The nation personified and called by the name of its ancestor. vine. A frequent metaphor for Israel (Deut 32:32; Ps 80:8–11; Is 5:1; Jer 2:21; cf. John 15:1). the richer his land. The prosperity during the period of Jeroboam II (793–753 B.C.) was probably in view.

10:2 Their heart is faithless. Israel formally called to God (8:2), but they dishonored Him by pagan worship.

10:3 We have no king. Such would soon be their condition when Assyria destroyed the nation.

10:4 They speak mere words. The last kings of Israel were notoriously corrupt and deceitful.

10:5 Samaria. The royal city of Israel (see note on 7:1). calf of Beth-aven. The idol that Jeroboam set up at Bethel (Beth-aven means "house of wickedness," a name for Bethel, which means "house of God"; see also 1 Kin 12:32–33).

10:6 Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom.

7 Samaria will be [a]cut off with her king
Like a stick on the surface of the water.
8 Also the [a]high places of Aven, the [b]sin of Israel, will be destroyed;
[c]Thorn and thistle will grow on their altars;
Then they will [d]say to the mountains, "Cover us!" And to the hills, "Fall on us!"
9 From the days of Gibeah you have sinned, O Israel;
There they stand!
Will not the battle against the sons of iniquity overtake them in Gibeah?
10 When it is My [a]desire, I will [1b]chastise them;
And [c]the peoples will be gathered against them
When they are bound for their double guilt.

11 Ephraim is a trained [a]heifer that loves to thresh,
But I will [b]come over her fair neck with a yoke;
I will harness Ephraim,
Judah will plow, Jacob will harrow for himself.
12 [a]Sow with a view to righteousness,
Reap in accordance with [1]kindness;
[b]Break up your fallow ground,
For it is time to [c]seek the LORD
Until He [d]comes to [2e]rain righteousness on you.
13 You have [a]plowed wickedness, you have reaped injustice,
You have eaten the fruit of [b]lies.
Because you have trusted in your way, in your [c]numerous warriors,

14 Therefore a tumult will arise among your people,
And all your [a]fortresses will be destroyed,
As Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel on the day of battle,
When [b]mothers were dashed in pieces with their children.
15 Thus it will be done to you at Bethel because of your great wickedness.
At dawn the king of Israel will be completely cut off.

God Yearns over His People

11 When Israel was a youth I loved him,
And [a]out of Egypt I [b]called My son.
2 The more [1a]they called them,
The more they went from [1]them;
They kept [b]sacrificing to the Baals
And [c]burning incense to idols.
3 Yet it is I who taught Ephraim to walk,
[1]I [a]took them in My arms;
But they did not know that I [b]healed them.
4 I [a]led them with cords of a man, with bonds of love,
And [b]I became to them as one who lifts the yoke from their jaws;
And I bent down and [c]fed them.

5 [1]They will not return to the land of Egypt;
But Assyria—he will be [2]their king
Because they [a]refused to return to Me.
6 The [a]sword will whirl against [1]their cities,
And will demolish [1]their gate bars
And [b]consume them because of their [c]counsels.

6 [1]Lit his [a]Hos 13:16 [b]Lam 2:9 [c]Hos 4:16, 17

10:8 high places. See 4:13–14. Aven. Refers to Beth-aven ("house of wickedness"; see v. 5 and note). Cover us!... Fall on us! Cries of utter despair; quoted by Jesus (Luke 23:30) and alluded to in Rev 6:16 (see Is 2:19).

10:9 Gibeah. See 9:9 and note. As war came on Gibeah, so war and captivity would come on Israel.

10:11 trained heifer. Up to now Ephraim (Israel) had been as contented as a young cow that ate while threshing grain. But now God would cause Israel (here called both Ephraim and Jacob) and Judah to do the heavy work of plowing and harrowing under a yoke—a picture of going into the Assyrian and Babylonian captivities. Judah. See Introduction: Author and Date.

10:12 Reap in accordance with kindness. If Israel would only do what was right ("kindness" translates the Hebrew word ḥesed; see note on 6:6, "loyalty"), she would be blessed by God. Break up your fallow ground. Be no longer unproductive, but repentant, making a radical new beginning and becoming productive and fruitful. righteousness. God's covenant blessings that in righteousness He would shower on His people if they in righteousness were loyal to Him, their covenant Lord.

10:13 lies. Israel had been living a lie—and by lies (see 7:3; 10:4; 12:1).

10:14 Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel. The event is otherwise unknown, as are the names mentioned. Atrocities against civilians were common in ancient warfare (cf. 9:13; 13:16; 2 Kin 8:12–13; Ps 137:8–9; Is 13:16; Amos 1:13; Nah 3:10).

11:1 A third appeal to history (see 9:10; 10:9) traces God's choice of Israel back to Egypt, the exodus from that country (cf. 12:9; 13:4) having given birth to the nation. Israel's response to the Lord is now illustrated by the wayward son rather than by the unfaithful wife (chs. 1–3). For Israel as a son see Ex 4:22–23; Is 1:2–4; and for God as Father see Deut 32:6; Jer 2:14. Hosea saw God's love as the basis (cf. 3:1) for the election of Israel. Matthew found in the call of Israel from Egypt a typological picture of Jesus' coming from Egypt (see Matt 2:15 and note).

11:2 idols. See Deut 7:25; 12:3.

11:3 Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. walk. This picture of a father teaching his child to walk is one of the most tender in the OT. did not know. See 2:5–8. healed. See 5:13; 6:1; 7:1.

11:4 The imagery is unclear, but the figure seems to change to a farmer tending his work animals. Another interpretation sees a continuation of the son image, with the father lifting the son to his cheek. fed them. God supplied miraculous food in the wilderness (see Ex 16; Deut 8:16).

11:5 Egypt... Assyria. See 8:13 and note; 9:3. The tender tone (vv. 1–4) changes to threat of exile to the two countries between which Israel had vacillated. It is ironic that the people rescued from Egypt should be returned there because of their disloyalty to the One who had rescued them.

7 So My people are bent on [a]turning from Me.
Though [1]they call [2]them to the One on high,
None at all exalts Him.

8 [a]How can I give you up, O Ephraim?
How can I surrender you, O Israel?
How can I [1]make you like [b]Admah?
How can I treat you like [b]Zeboiim?
My heart is turned over within Me,
[2]All My compassions are kindled.
9 I will [a]not execute My fierce anger;
I will not destroy Ephraim [b]again.
For [c]I am God and not man, the [d]Holy
One in your midst,
And I will not come in [1]wrath.
10 They will [a]walk after the LORD,
He will [b]roar like a lion;
Indeed He will roar
And His sons will come [c]trembling from the west.
11 They will come trembling like birds
from [a]Egypt
And like [b]doves from the land of [a]Assyria;
And I will [c]settle them in their houses,
declares the LORD.

12 [1]Ephraim surrounds Me with [a]lies
And the house of Israel with deceit;
Judah is also unruly against God,
Even against the Holy One who is faithful.

Ephraim Reminded

12 [1]Ephraim feeds on [a]wind,
And pursues the [b]east wind continually;
He multiplies lies and violence.
Moreover, [2]he makes a covenant with Assyria,
And oil is carried to Egypt.
2 The LORD also has a [a]dispute with
Judah,
And will punish Jacob [b]according to his ways;
He will repay him according to his deeds.
3 In the womb he [a]took his brother by the heel,
And in his maturity he [b]contended with God.
4 Yes, he wrestled with the angel and prevailed;
He wept and [a]sought His favor.
He found Him at [b]Bethel
And there He spoke with us,
5 Even the LORD, the God of hosts,
The LORD is His [1][a]name.
6 Therefore, [a]return to your God,
[b]Observe [1]kindness and justice,
And [c]wait for your God continually.
7 A [1]merchant, in whose hands are false
[a]balances,
He loves to oppress.
8 And Ephraim said, "Surely I have become [a]rich,
I have found wealth for myself;
In all my labors they will find in me
[b]No iniquity, which would be sin."
9 But I have been the LORD your God
since the land of Egypt;
I will make you [a]live in tents again,
As in the days of the appointed festival.

9 [a]Lev 23:42

11:7 call . . . to the One on high. See 7:16.
11:8 The stubborn son was subject to stoning (Deut 21:18–21), but the Lord's compassion overcame His wrath and He refused to destroy Ephraim (Israel). Admah . . . Zeboiim. Cities of the plain (Gen 10:19; 14:2,8), overthrown when Sodom was destroyed (Gen 19:24–25; Deut 29:23; Jer 49:18) and symbolizing total destruction.
11:9 God and not man. Although Israel has been as unreliable as man, God will not be untrue to the love He has shown toward Israel (see vv. 1–4; see also 1 Sam 15:29; Mal 3:6). Israel was to be punished, but not destroyed. the Holy One in your midst. See notes on Is 1:4; 6:1; cf. Is 12:6. God's holiness is alluded to only here in Hosea.
11:10 The return from exile. roar like a lion. Rather than threatening destruction (cf. 5:14; 13:7), God's roar was now a clear signal to return from exile. the west. The islands of the sea (as well as coastlands).
11:11 from Egypt . . . Assyria. See 9:3. like birds . . . like doves. Suggests swiftness of return (cf. Is 60:8) and is not derogatory, as was the earlier comparison to a silly dove (7:11). declares the LORD. See 2:13,16,21.
11:12 lies . . . deceit. See 7:3; 10:13 and note. Judah. See Introduction: Author and Date. unruly against God. See Jer 2:31.
12:1 wind. See 8:7; Eccl 1:14. east wind. See 13:15; Job 15:2; 27:21; Is 27:8; Jer 18:17. Pursuing the wind symbolized Israel's futile foreign policy, which vacillated between Egypt (2 Kin 17:4; Is 30:6–7) and Assyria (cf. 5:13; 7:11; 8:9; 2 Kin 17:3).
12:2 dispute. See 4:1. Judah. See Introduction: Author and Date. Jacob. Israel (see 10:11). The Lord indicted both kingdoms—all the descendants of Father Jacob. In their deceitfulness, Israel and Judah were living up to the name of their forefather (Jacob means "he grasps the heel"; figuratively, "he deceives").
12:3 In the womb. See Gen 25:26; 27:36. took his brother by the heel. See note on v. 2. God's covenant people here relived the experiences of Father Jacob and now had to return to God, just as Jacob was called back to Bethel (Gen 35:1–15).
12:4 wrestled with the angel. See Gen 32:22–28. The Hebrew for "Israel" means "he struggles with God." Bethel. See Gen 28:12–19; 35:1–15. In Hosea's time, Bethel was the most important royal sanctuary in the northern kingdom (cf. Amos 7:13).
12:5 LORD, the God of hosts. Paralleled in Amos 3:13; 6:14; 9:5.
12:6 kindness. Hebrew hesed; see 6:6 ("loyalty") and note. justice. See Amos 5:15,24; Mic 6:8.
12:7 merchant. As Hosea had played on the meaning of Jacob in v. 2, he here uses a wordplay on Canaan (the Hebrew for "merchant" sounds like Canaan) to charge that Israel was no better than a Canaanite.
12:8 I have become rich. Riches brought a sense of self-sufficiency (cf. 10:13; Deut 32:15–18). find in me No iniquity. Like a dishonest merchant, Ephraim (Israel) was confident that her deceitfulness (cf. 11:12) would not come to light.
12:9 I have been the LORD your God. See 13:4; cf. Ex 20:2. tents. As during the wilderness journey long ago (cf. 2:14–15).

10 I have also spoken to the [a]prophets,
And I [1]gave numerous visions,
And through the prophets I gave [b]parables.
11 Is there iniquity in Gilead?
Surely they are worthless.
In Gilgal they sacrifice bulls,
Yes, [a]their altars are like the stone heaps
Beside the furrows of the field.

12 Now [a]Jacob fled to the [1]land of Aram,
And [b]Israel worked for a wife,
And for a wife he kept sheep.
13 But by a [a]prophet the LORD brought Israel from Egypt,
And by a prophet he was kept.
14 [a]Ephraim has provoked to bitter
anger;
So his Lord will leave his [b]bloodguilt on him
And bring back his [c]reproach to him.

Ephraim's Idolatry

13 [a]When Ephraim [1]spoke, there was trembling.
He [b]exalted himself in Israel,
But through [c]Baal he [2]did wrong and died.
2 And now they sin more and more,
And make for themselves [a]molten images,
Idols [1][b]skillfully made from their silver,
All of them the [c]work of craftsmen.
They say of them, "Let the [2]men who sacrifice kiss the [d]calves!"

3 Therefore they will be like the
[a]morning cloud
And like dew which [1]soon disappears,
Like [b]chaff which is blown away from the threshing floor
And like [c]smoke from a [2]chimney.

4 Yet I have been the [a]LORD your God
Since the land of Egypt;
And you were not to know [b]any god
except Me,
For there is no savior [c]besides Me.
5 I [1][a]cared for you in the wilderness,
[b]In the land of drought.
6 As they had their pasture, they became [a]satisfied,
And being satisfied, their [b]heart
became proud;
Therefore they [c]forgot Me.
7 So I will be [a]like a lion to them;
Like a [b]leopard I will [1]lie in wait by the wayside.
8 I will encounter them [a]like a bear robbed of her cubs,
And I will tear open [1]their chests;
There I will also [b]devour them like a lioness,
As a wild beast would tear them.

appointed festival. Probably the Feast of Booths (Lev 23:42–44), which commemorated the wilderness journey.

12:10 spoken to the prophets. See 6:5; Amos 2:11; Heb 1:1. There had been ample warning. visions. Revelations (see Num 12:6–8; Amos 1:1). parables. Containing messages of warning from God (see 2 Sam 12:1–4; Ps 78:2; Is 5:1–7; Ezek 17:2; 24:3).

12:11 iniquity in Gilead. See 6:8–9 and notes. Gilead was overrun by Assyria in 734–732 B.C. (2 Kin 15:29). Gilgal. See 4:15; 9:15. The Hebrew contains a wordplay between "Gilgal" and "heaps" (Hebrew gallim). Rather than assuring safety, the altars themselves would be destroyed. Beside the . . . field. Israelite farmers gathered into piles the stones turned up by their plows.

12:12 Jacob fled from Esau to Paddan-aram (Gen 28:2,5), serving Laban seven years for each wife (Gen 29:20–28), and then continued as Laban's herdsman (Gen 30:31; 31:41).

12:13 prophet. Moses (cf. Num 12:6–8; Deut 18:15; 34:10). he was kept. As Jacob had cared for Laban's flocks, so the Lord cared for Israel during her wilderness wandering. Earlier leadership by the prophet Moses stands in contrast with Israel's present disregard for prophets (cf. 4:5; 6:5; 9:7).

12:14 Ephraim has provoked. Despite warnings. bloodguilt. Cf. 1:4; 4:2; 5:2; 6:8. This may refer either to violence against the prophets or to human sacrifice (cf. 2 Kin 17:17). In legal passages (Lev 20:11–27), "their bloodguiltiness is upon them" describes guilt. The prophet drew a contrast between past divine preservation and present divine anger that would bring punishment. bring back. See Is 65:7.

13:1 When Ephraim spoke. In accordance with Jacob's blessing (Gen 48:10–20), Ephraim became a powerful tribe (Judg 8:1–3; 12:1–7; 1 Sam 1:1–4), from which came such prominent leaders as Joshua (Josh 24:30) and Jeroboam I (1 Kin 11:26; 12:20). Israel. The 12 tribes. died. The wages of sin was death (cf. Rom 6:23), and the end of the nation was at hand.

13:2 Idols. See 4:12; 8:5–6; 11:2. men . . . kiss the calves! This phrase calls to mind the calves (and the sacrifices made to them) set up by Jeroboam to win the allegiance of the northern tribes in Israel (see 1 Kin 12:26–33). kiss. Show homage to (cf. 1 Kin 19:18).

13:3 "Cloud" and "dew" (see 6:4), "chaff" (see Ps 1:4; 35:5; Is 17:13; 29:5) and "smoke" (see Ps 37:20; 68:2; Is 51:6) are all figurative for Ephraim, who was soon to vanish as a nation.

13:4 I have been the LORD. See 12:9; Ex 20:2–3; Deut 5:6. The contrast is with Jeroboam's declaration, "behold your gods" (1 Kin 12:28). know any god. See 4:1; 6:3; 8:2.

13:5 wilderness. See 2:14; 9:10.

13:6 satisfied. See Deut 6:11–12; 8:10–14; 11:15–16. forgot Me. Cf. Deut 8:14; 31:20; 32:15,18.

13:7–8 The Lord, previously pictured as a shepherd (4:16), would attack like the wild beasts that often ravaged the flocks.

13:7 lion. See 5:14. leopard. See Jer 5:6; Rev 13:2.

13:8 bear robbed of her cubs. See 2 Sam 17:8; 2 Kin 2:24; Prov 17:12.

13:9 help. See Ps 10:14; 30:10; 54:4.

13:10 Where now is your king . . . ? Help is only from the Lord, not from kings. The prophet likely alludes to the royal assassinations of his day (see 3:4; 7:7; 8:4; 10:3). Give me a king.

That he may save you in all your cities,
And your [b]judges of whom you [1]requested,
"Give me a king and princes"?
11 I [a]gave you a king in My anger
And [b]took him away in My wrath.

12 The iniquity of Ephraim is bound up;
His sin is [a]stored up.
13 The pains of [a]childbirth come upon him;
He is [b]not a wise son,
For [1]it is not the time that he should [c]delay at the opening of the womb.
14 Shall I [a]ransom them from the [1]power of Sheol?
Shall I redeem them from death?
[b]O Death, where are your thorns?
O Sheol, where is your sting?
[c]Compassion will be hidden from My sight.

15 Though he [a]flourishes among the [1]reeds,
An [b]east wind will come,
The wind of the LORD coming up from the wilderness;
And his fountain will [c]become dry
And his spring will be dried up;
It will [d]plunder his treasury of every precious article.
16 [1]Samaria will be held [a]guilty,
For she has [b]rebelled against her God.
[c]They will fall by the [d]sword,
Their little ones will be [e]dashed in pieces,
And their pregnant [f]women will be ripped open.

Though all Israel asked for a king in the days of Samuel (1 Sam 8:5,20), the reference here is only to the northern monarchy. They selected Jeroboam I (1 Kin 12:26) in preference to the Davidic kings.

13:11 The monarchy is here considered a rebellion (see 1 Sam 8:7).

13:12 iniquity . . . bound up. See 9:9 and note; Job 14:17. Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. sin . . . stored up. See 7:2; Deut 32:34–35.

13:13 pains of childbirth. Their helpless situation was comparable to that of a woman in childbirth (see Is 13:8; 21:3; 26:17; Jer 4:31; 13:21; Mic 4:9–10; Matt 24:8) who cannot deliver the child (see 2 Kin 19:3; Is 37:3) and consequently dies.

13:14 death. The personified reference is to the death of the nation (see v. 1). Paul applies this passage to resurrection (1 Cor 15:55). Sheol. For a description of Sheol see Job 3:13–19; Ps 18:5; 116:3; Is 14:9–10; see also notes on Gen 37:35; Jon 2:2.

13:15 flourishes. In Hebrew a wordplay on Ephraim (meaning "fruitful"). The drought-bringing east wind (cf. Job 1:19; Is 27:8; Jer 4:11; 13:24; 18:17) is here a figure for Assyria, an instrument of the Lord (Is 10:5,15). Assyria invaded the northern kingdom in 734 B.C., then crushed it and exiled its people in 722–721. every precious article. See Nah 2:9.

13:16 Samaria. See 7:1 and note; 8:5–6; 10:5,7; here, the northern kingdom. rebelled against. See Ps 5:10; Ezek 20:8,13,21. little ones . . . women. For atrocities against women and children see 10:14; 2 Kin 8:12; 15:16; Ps 137:8–9; Is 13:16; Amos 1:13; Nah 3:10.

14:1 Return. Another appeal for repentance (see 10:12; 12:6). Unlike that of ch. 6, this repentance would have to be sincere in order for the people to receive the gracious response from the Lord promised in vv. 4–8 (cf. Ps 130:7–8; Is 55:6–9).

14:2 Take words. None could appear empty-handed (Ex 23:15; 34:20), but animal sacrifices would not be enough. Only words of true repentance would be sufficient. fruit of our lips. As thank offerings to the Lord.

14:3 orphan. Penitent Israel (see Ps 10:14; 68:5; Lam 5:3). finds mercy. Cf. the name of the child Lo-ruhamah (see 1:6 and note; see also 2:1,23).

14:4 heal. See 11:3. apostasy. See 11:7. love . . . freely. See Is 54:6–8. love. See 3:1; 11:1,8–9. anger . . . turned away. Contrasts with the burning anger that brought destruction (see 8:5).

14:5 dew. Here not a symbol of transitoriness (cf. 6:4; 13:3) but of God's blessing (cf. Deut 33:13). cedars of Lebanon. See notes on Judg 9:15; 1 Kin 5:6; Is 9:10. cedars. See Ps 80:9–11. Lebanon. See Ps 104:16; Is 35:2; 60:13.

14:7 shadow. Protection (cf. Judg 9:15; Song 2:3; Lam 4:20; Ezek 31:6). vine. See 10:1; Is 5:1–7.

8 O Ephraim, what more have I to do with [a]idols?
It is I who answer and look after [1]you.
I am like a luxuriant [b]cypress;
From [c]Me comes your fruit.

these things;

9 [b]Ps 111:7, 8; Prov 10:29; Zeph 3:5 [c]Is 26:7 [d]Is 1:28

Whoever is discerning, let him know
them.
For the [b]ways of the LORD are right,
And the [c]righteous will walk in
them,
But [d]transgressors will stumble in
them.

14:8 Ephraim. Israel, the northern kingdom. cypress. Only here in the OT is God compared to a tree. For the point of the imagery see Ezek 31:3–7; Dan 4:12. fruit. Ephraim ("fruitful"; cf. Gen 41:52) received his fruitfulness from the Lord (cf. 2:8).

14:9 ways of the LORD. See Ps 18:21. The prophet concludes by offering each reader the alternatives of walking or stumbling (cf. 4:5; 5:5)—of obedience or rebellion.

Joel

INTRODUCTION

Author

The prophet Joel cannot be identified with any of the 12 other figures in the OT who have the same name. He is not mentioned outside the books of Joel and Acts (Acts 2:16). The non-Biblical legends about him are unconvincing. His father, Pethuel (1:1), is also unknown. Judging from his concern with Judah and Jerusalem (see 2:32; 3:1,6,8,16–20), it seems likely that Joel lived in that area.

Date

The book contains no references to datable historical events, but a good case can be made for its being written in the ninth century B.C. Many interpreters, however, date the book as late as the postexilic period (sixth century), after Haggai and Zechariah. In either case, its message is not significantly affected by its dating.

The book of Joel has striking linguistic parallels to those of Amos, Micah, Zephaniah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel. The literary relationships of these books are determined by one's view of the date of Joel. If it was written early, the other prophets borrowed his phrases; if it was later, the reverse may have taken place. Some scholars maintain that all the prophets drew more or less from the religious literary traditions that they and their readers shared in common—liturgical and otherwise.

Message

Joel sees the massive locust plague and severe drought devastating Judah as a harbinger of the "great and awesome day of the LORD" (2:31). (The locusts he mentions in 1:4; 2:25 are best understood as real, not as allegorical representations of the Babylonians, Medo-Persians, Greeks and Romans, as held by some interpreters.) Confronted with this crisis, he calls on everyone to repent: old and young (1:2–3), drunkards (1:5), farmers (1:11) and priests (1:13). He describes the locusts as the Lord's army and sees in their coming a reminder that the day of the Lord is near. He does not voice the popular notion that the day will be one of judgment on the nations but deliverance and blessing for Israel. Instead—with Isaiah (2:10–21), Jeremiah (4:6), Amos (5:18–20) and Zephaniah (1:7–18)—he describes the day as one of punishment for unfaithful Israel as well. Restoration and blessing will come only after judgment and repentance.

The Devastation of Locusts

1 The [a]word of the LORD that came to [b]Joel, the son of Pethuel:
2 [a]Hear this, O [b]elders,
And listen, all inhabitants of the land.
[c]Has anything like this happened in your days
Or in your fathers' days?
3 [a]Tell your sons about it,
And let your sons tell their sons,
And their sons the next generation.

4 What the [a]gnawing locust has left, the swarming locust has eaten;
And what the [b]swarming locust has left, the creeping locust has eaten;
And what the creeping locust has left,
the [c]stripping locust has eaten.
5 Awake, [a]drunkards, and weep;
And wail, all you wine drinkers,
On account of the sweet wine
That is [b]cut off from your mouth.
6 For a [a]nation has [1]invaded my land,
Mighty and without number;
[b]Its teeth are the teeth of a lion,
And it has the fangs of a lioness.
7 It has [a]made my vine a waste
And my fig tree [1]splinters.
It has stripped them bare and cast them away;
Their branches have become white.

8 [a]Wail like a virgin [b]girded with sackcloth
For the bridegroom of her youth.
9 The [a]grain offering and the drink offering are cut off
From the house of the LORD.
The [b]priests mourn,
The ministers of the LORD.
10 The field is [a]ruined,
[b]The land mourns;
For the grain is ruined,
The new wine dries up,
Fresh oil [1]fails.
11 [1][a]Be ashamed, O farmers,
Wail, O vinedressers,
For the wheat and the barley;
Because the [b]harvest of the field is destroyed.
12 The [a]vine dries up
And the fig tree [1]fails;
The [b]pomegranate, the [c]palm also,
and the [2][d]apple tree,
All the trees of the field dry up.
Indeed, [e]rejoicing dries up
From the sons of men.

13 [a]Gird yourselves with sackcloth
And lament, O priests;
[b]Wail, O ministers of the altar!
Come, [c]spend the night in sackcloth
O ministers of my God,
For the grain offering and the drink offering
Are withheld from the house of your God.

Starvation and Drought

14 [a]Consecrate a fast,
Proclaim a [b]solemn assembly;
Gather the elders
And all the inhabitants of the land
To the house of the LORD your God,
And [c]cry out to the LORD.
15 [a]Alas for the day!

15 [a]Is 13:9; Jer 30:7; Amos 5:16

1:1 The word of the LORD . . . came to Joel. Joel's claim of prophetic authority is similar to that of several other prophets (see Jer 1:2; Ezek 1:3; Hos 1:1; Jon 1:1,3; 3:1; Mic 1:1; Zeph 1:1; Hag 1:1; Zech 1:1; Mal 1:1). Joel. Means "The LORD is God"; cf. Elijah's name, which means "(My) God is the LORD."

1:2 elders. Either the older men of the community or the recognized officials (see v. 14; 2:16,28; see also note on Ex 3:16).

1:4 See 2:25.

1:5 drunkards. Although Joel calls for repentance, drunkenness is the only specific sin mentioned in the book. It suggests a self-indulgent life-style (cf. Is 28:7–8; Amos 4:1) pursued by those who value material things more than spiritual. weep. Various segments of the community (drunkards, here; general population, v. 8; farmers, v. 11; priests, v. 13) are called to mourn. The destruction of the vines by the locusts leaves the drunkards without a source of wine.

1:6 The locusts are compared here to a nation; cf. the ants and shephanim (or hyraxes or coneys) in Prov 30:25–26. Elsewhere they are called the Lord's "army" (2:11,25). The reverse comparison—that of armies to locusts in regard to numbers—is as old as Ugaritic literature (15th century B.C.) and is common in the OT (see Judg 6:5; 7:12; Jer 46:23; 51:14,27; Nah 3:15). without number. A phrase used to describe the locusts in the plague in Egypt (see Ps 105:34; see also Ex 10:4–6,12–15). teeth. Joel's comparison of the locusts' teeth to lions' teeth is reflected in Rev 9:8.

1:7 my. The personal pronouns here and elsewhere in Joel (vv. 6,13–14; 2:13–14,17–18,23,26–27; 3:2–5,17) offer a hint of hope, since they indicate that the people belong to the Lord (cf. Josh 22:19).

1:8 virgin. The community is addressed. In Israel, when a woman was pledged to be married to a man, he was called her husband and she his wife, though she was still a virgin (see Deut 22:23–24). This verse refers to such a husband who died before the marriage was consummated. sackcloth. See v. 13; Gen 37:34 and note.

1:9 offering. The locusts have left nothing that can be offered as sacrifice. The grain offering (Lev 2:1–2) and the drink offering, which was a libation of wine (Lev 23:13), were part of the daily offering (Ex 29:40; Num 28:5–8).

1:10 mourns. The land is thrown into "mourning" because of the locusts' devastation. grain . . . new wine . . . oil. An important OT triad, related to the agriculture of that day (see 2:19). dries up. See v. 12. The destruction caused by the locusts was intensified by drought.

1:13 your God. See note on v. 7. The phrase occurs eight times in Joel (here; v. 14; 2:13; 2:14; 2:23; 2:26; 2:27; 3:17).

1:14 fast . . . assembly. See 2:15. Fasting, required on the day of atonement (see note on Lev 16:29,31) and also practiced in times of calamity (see Judg 20:26; 2 Sam 12:16; Jer 14:12; Jon 3:4–5; Zech 7:3, "abstain"), was a sign of penitence and humility. The Bible speaks against outward signs that do not reflect a corresponding inward belief or attitude (see Matt 6:1–8; 23:1–36).

For the [b]day of the LORD is near,
And it will come as [c]destruction from the [1]Almighty.
16 Has not [a]food been cut off before our eyes,
Gladness and [b]joy from the house of our God?
17 The [1][a]seeds shrivel under their [2]clods;
The storehouses are desolate,
The barns are torn down,
For the grain is dried up.
18 How [a]the beasts groan!
The herds of cattle wander aimlessly
Because there is no pasture for them;
Even the flocks of sheep [1]suffer.
19 [a]To You, O LORD, I cry;
For [b]fire has devoured the pastures of the wilderness
And the flame has burned up all the trees of the field.
20 Even the beasts of the field [1][a]pant for You;
For the [b]water brooks are dried up
And fire has devoured the pastures of the wilderness.

The Terrible Visitation

2 [a]Blow a trumpet in Zion,
And sound an alarm on My holy mountain!
Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble,
For the [b]day of the LORD is coming;
Surely it is near,
2 A day of [a]darkness and gloom,
A day of clouds and thick darkness.
As the dawn is spread over the mountains,
So there is a [b]great and mighty people;
There has [c]never been anything like it,
Nor will there be again after it
To the years of many generations.
3 A [a]fire consumes before them
And behind them a flame burns.
The land is [b]like the garden of Eden before them
But a [c]desolate wilderness behind them,
And nothing at all escapes them.
4 Their [a]appearance is like the appearance of horses;
And like war horses, so they run.
5 [1]With a [a]noise as of chariots
They leap on the tops of the mountains,
Like the [2]crackling of a [b]flame of fire consuming the stubble,
Like a mighty people arranged for battle.
6 Before them the people are in [a]anguish;
All [b]faces [1]turn pale.
7 They run like mighty men,
They climb the wall like soldiers;
And they each [a]march [1]in line,
Nor do they deviate from their paths.
8 They do not crowd each other,
They march everyone in his path;
When they [1]burst through the [2]defenses,

1:15 day of the LORD. This phrase occurs five times in Joel and is the dominant theme (here; 2:1; 2:11; 2:31; 3:14). Six other prophets also use it: Isaiah (13:6,9), Ezekiel (13:5; 30:3), Amos (5:18,20), Obadiah (15), Zephaniah (1:7,14) and Malachi (4:5); and an equivalent expression occurs in Zech 14:1. Sometimes abbreviated as "that day," the term often refers to the decisive intervention of God in history, such as through the invasion of locusts in Joel or at the battle of Carchemish, 605 B.C. (see Jer 46:2,10). It can also refer to Christ's coming to consummate history (see Mal 4:5; Matt 11:24; 1 Cor 5:5; 2 Cor 1:14; 1 Thess 5:2; 2 Pet 3:10). When the term is not used for divine judgments in the midst of history, it refers to the final day of the Lord, which generally has two aspects: (1) God's triumph over and punishment of His enemies and (2) His granting of rest (security) and blessing to His people. destruction . . . Almighty. The Hebrew for each of these two words is a pun on the other (as in Is 13:6).
1:18 Cf. the description of a drought in Jer 14:5–6. groan. The Hebrew for this word is used for the groaning of Israel in Egypt (Ex 2:23) and of others in distress (Prov 29:2; Is 24:7; Lam 1:4,8,11,21; Ezek 9:4; 21:12). wander aimlessly. The Hebrew for this verb is used to describe Israel's confused movements in the desert (Ex 14:3). Even . . . sheep. Sheep are the last to suffer, because they can even grub the grass roots out of the soil.
1:19–20 fire. Although the destruction caused by the locusts is elsewhere compared to that of a fire (see 2:3), here the prophet likely is describing the effects of a drought. In both cases he evokes the fire of God's judgment (see, e.g., Jer 4:4; 15:14; 17:27; Ezek 5:4; 15:6–7; 20:47; 21:32; Hos 8:14; Amos 1:4,7,10,12,14; 2:2,5).
2:1 trumpet. See v. 15. Made of a ram's or bull's horn, it was used to signal approaching danger (Jer 4:5; 6:1; Ezek 33:3). Its sound brought trembling (from fear) to the people (see Amos 3:6). Zion. See v. 15; 3:17. Here, parallel to God's "holy mountain" (see note on Ps 2:6), it refers to Jerusalem as the capital of the nation.
2:2 day of darkness. Darkness is a common prophetic figure used of the day of the Lord (see Amos 5:18,20) and is generally a metaphor for distress and suffering (see Is 5:30; 8:22; 50:3; 59:9; Jer 2:6,31; 13:16; Lam 3:6; Ezek 34:12). dawn. Usually suggests relief from sorrow or gloom, the end of darkness (cf. Is 8:20; 58:8). Here, however, it is used as bitter irony, describing the locust infestation that spreads across the land like the light of dawn, which first lights up the eastern horizon and then spreads across the whole countryside.
2:3–11 The staccato character of the poetry is appropriate for the imagery of war.
2:3 before them. Joel creates a special impact by using this phrase four times (twice in v. 3, once in v. 6 and once in v. 10) and "behind them" twice (v. 3). Eden. See Gen 2:8,15 (the garden before the fall); Gen 13:10 (the Jordan Valley before the destruction of Sodom); and Is 51:3; Ezek 28:13; 31:8–9,16,18; 36:35 (all of which describe a desert that has become like Eden).
2:4 horses. Whereas Job compared the horse to a locust (Job 39:20), Joel does the opposite.
2:5 Mountains, though barriers to ordinary horses and chariots, are no deterrent to locusts.
2:6 in anguish. Because of the famine that the locusts will cause.

They do not break ranks.
9 They rush on the city,
They run on the wall;
They climb into the [a]houses,
They [b]enter through the windows like a thief.
10 Before them the earth [a]quakes,
The heavens tremble,
The [b]sun and the moon grow dark
And the stars lose their brightness.
11 The LORD [a]utters His voice before [b]His army;
Surely His camp is very great,
For [c]strong is he who carries out His word.
The [d]day of the LORD is indeed great and very awesome,
And [e]who can endure it?
12 "Yet even now," declares the LORD,
"[a]Return to Me with all your heart,
And with [b]fasting, weeping and mourning;
13 And [a]rend your heart and not [b]your garments."
Now return to the LORD your God,
For He is [c]gracious and compassionate,
Slow to anger, abounding in lovingkindness
And [d]relenting of evil.
14 Who knows [a]whether He will not turn and relent
And leave a [b]blessing behind Him,
Even [c]a grain offering and a drink offering
For the LORD your God?
15 [a]Blow a trumpet in Zion,
[b]Consecrate a fast, proclaim a solemn assembly,
16 Gather the people, [a]sanctify the congregation,
Assemble the elders,
Gather the children and the nursing infants.
Let the [b]bridegroom come out of his room
And the bride out of her bridal chamber.
17 Let the priests, the LORD's ministers,
Weep [a]between the porch and the altar,
And let them say, "[b]Spare Your people, O LORD,
And do not make Your inheritance a [c]reproach,
A byword among the nations.
Why should they among the peoples say,
'[d]Where is their God?' "

Deliverance Promised

18 Then the LORD [1]will be [a]zealous for His land
And [2]will have [b]pity on His people.
19 The LORD [1]will answer and say to His people,
"Behold, I am going to [a]send you grain, new wine and oil,
And you will be satisfied in full with [2]them;
And I will [b]never again make you a reproach among the nations.
20 "But I will remove the [a]northern army far from you,
And I will drive it into a parched and desolate land,
And its vanguard into the [b]eastern sea,
And its rear guard into the [c]western sea.

2:9 climb into the houses. As in the Egyptian plague of locusts (Ex 10:6). Latticed windows with no glass would not stop them.
2:10 earth quakes. See Ps 68:8; 77:18; Is 24:18–20; Jer 4:23–24; Amos 8:8; Nah 1:5–6. heavens tremble. See 2 Sam 22:8; Is 13:13; Hag 2:21; Heb 12:26–28. grow dark. Joel links God's judgment through the locusts to the cosmic phenomena of the day of the Lord.
2:11 Just as Isaiah saw the Assyrians (Is 10:5–7; 13:4) and Jeremiah the Babylonians (Jer 25:9; 43:10) as the Lord's instruments, so Joel sees the locusts as the Lord's army (cf. Josh 5:14; Ps 68:7,17; Hab 3:8–9)—the army of the Lord with which He will come against His enemies in the day of the Lord (see 3:9–11). This passage parallels Zeph 1:14 (cf. v. 31; 3:14; Mal 4:1,5). utters His voice. See 3:16. great . . . very awesome. Two ideas often associated in the OT (see Deut 7:21; 10:21; Ps 106:21–22). The terms are frequently used to describe the day of the Lord (see v. 31; Mal 4:5). who can endure it? See Nah 1:6; Mal 3:2; Rev 6:17. There is no escape except in turning to God.
2:13 gracious . . . abounding in lovingkindness. Recalls the great self-characterization of God in Ex 34:6–7, which runs like a golden thread through the OT (see note on Ex 34:6–7; see also Deut 4:31; Mic 7:18).
2:15 trumpet. Not an alarm as in v. 1, but a call to religious assembly (see Lev 23:24; 25:9; Num 10:10; Josh 6:4–5; 2 Chr 15:14; Ps 47:5; 81:3; 98:6; 150:3). fast . . . assembly. See note on 1:14.
2:16 As with the call to mourning in ch. 1, no segment of the community was exempt. congregation. The Hebrew for this word refers to the religious community (see Num 16:3; 2 Chr 30:2,4,13,23–25; Mic 2:5). elders. See note on 1:2. chamber. The place where the marriage was consummated.
2:17 Your inheritance. Israel is God's special possession (see Ex 19:5 and note; see also Ex 15:17; 34:9). Judah is to plead, not her innocence, but that God's honor is at stake before the world (see Ex 32:12; Num 14:13; Deut 9:28; Josh 7:9). byword. See note on 1 Kin 9:7. Where is their God? A rhetorical question with sarcastic intent (see Ps 42:3,10; 79:10; 115:2; Mic 7:10).
2:18 Joel begins a new section by turning from the destruction caused by the locusts to the blessings God will give to a repentant people. zealous. See note on Ex 20:5. The Lord will respond to the prayer of v. 17 and arouse Himself to defend His honor and have pity on His people.
2:19 grain, new wine and oil. See note on 1:10.
2:20 northern army. Since enemies in ancient times did not invade from the sea or across the desert, Canaan's geographical location made her vulnerable only from the south (Egypt) and from the north (Assyria and Babylon). The hordes of locusts are pictured here as a vast army of Israel's most feared enemies. stench. Because the locusts are now dead.

And its [d]stench will arise and its foul smell will come up,
For it has done great things."

21 [a]Do not fear, O land, rejoice and be glad,
For the LORD has done [b]great things.
22 Do not fear, beasts of the field,
For the [a]pastures of the wilderness have turned green,
For the tree has borne its fruit,
The fig tree and the vine have yielded [1]in full.
23 So rejoice, O [a]sons of Zion,
And [b]be glad in the LORD your God;
For He has [c]given you [1]the early rain for your vindication.
And He has poured down for you the rain,
The [2]early and [3][d]latter rain [4]as before.
24 The threshing floors will be full of grain,
And the vats will [a]overflow with the new wine and oil.
25 "Then I will make up to you for the years
That the swarming [a]locust has eaten,
The creeping locust, the stripping locust and the gnawing locust,
My great army which I sent among you.
26 "You will have plenty to [a]eat and be satisfied
And [b]praise the name of the LORD your God,
Who has [c]dealt wondrously with you;
Then My people will [d]never be put to shame.
27 "Thus you will [a]know that I am in the midst of Israel,
And that I am the LORD your God,
And there is [b]no other;
And My people will never be [c]put to shame.

The Promise of the Spirit

28 "[1][a]It will come about after this
That I will [b]pour out My Spirit on all [2][c]mankind;
And your sons and daughters will prophesy,
Your old men will dream dreams,
Your young men will see visions.
29 "Even on the [a]male and female servants
I will pour out My Spirit in those days.

The Day of the LORD

30 "I will [a]display wonders in the sky and on the earth,
Blood, fire and columns of smoke.
31 "The [a]sun will be turned into darkness
And the moon into blood
Before the [b]great and awesome day of the LORD comes.
32 "And it will come about that [a]whoever calls on the name of the LORD
Will be delivered;
For [b]on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem
There will be those who [c]escape,
As the LORD has said,
Even among the [d]survivors whom the LORD calls.

2:21–23 As there was a threefold call to grief (1:5,8,13), so there is a threefold call to joy: The land (v. 21), the wild animals (v. 22) and the people (v. 23) are called on to rejoice in the Lord's bounty.

2:22 The wild animals now find green open pastures (cf. 1:19–20). The same land, with its trees (see 1:7,12,19) that the locusts and drought had devastated, is now productive.

2:23 early rain for your vindication. See NASB marg. ("the teacher for righteousness"). The religious sect at Qumran (which produced most of the Dead Sea Scrolls; see essay, p. 1356) hailed their most revered teacher of the law, whom they called the "Teacher of Righteousness," as the fulfillment of this prophecy. The immediate context, however, seems to support the translation in the NASB text.

2:24 threshing floors. See note on Ruth 1:22.

2:25 See 1:4.

2:26 dealt wondrously. God worked wonders for the people when they were in Egypt (see Ex 7:3), and now will work wonders in restoring the devastated land.

2:27 Israel. Probably refers to all God's people, with no distinction between the northern and southern kingdoms, as also in 3:2,16. I am the LORD your God. This clause recalls the covenant at Sinai (see Ex 20:2). there is no other. See note on Deut 4:35.

2:28–32 Quoted by Peter at Pentecost (Acts 2:16–21), but with a few variations from both the Hebrew text and the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT).

2:28 after this. In the Messianic period, beyond the restoration just spoken of. pour out My Spirit. See v. 29; Is 32:15; 44:3; Jer 31:33–34; Ezek 36:26–27; 39:29; Zech 12:10–13:1. all mankind. All will participate without regard to sex, age or rank; and then Moses' wish (Num 11:29) will be realized (cf. Gal 3:28). Peter extends the "all" of this verse and the "whoever" of v. 32 to the Gentiles ("all who are far off," Acts 2:39), who will not be excluded from the Spirit's outpouring or deliverance (cf. Rom 11:11–24). prophesy . . . dream dreams . . . see visions. See Num 12:6.

2:30–31 These cosmic events are often associated with the day of the Lord (see Is 13:9–10; 34:4; Matt 24:29; Rev 6:12; 8:8–9; 9:1–19; 14:14–20; 16:4,8–9).

2:30 Blood. From war. fire . . . smoke. Signs of God's presence (see Gen 15:17 and note; Ex 19:18).

2:31 blood. The moon will become blood-red.

2:32 calls on the name of the LORD. Worships God (cf. Gen 4:26; 12:8) and prays to Him (see Ps 116:4). delivered. From the wrath of God's judgment (see Matt 24:13). As the LORD has said. Perhaps Joel is recalling the Lord's covenant with David (see 2 Sam 7; Ps 132:13–18). survivors. See Zech 13:8–9; 14:2.

3:1 in those days. At the time of Israel's final redemption. restore the fortunes of. Or "bring back from captivity" (see vv. 6–7; see also Jer 29:14 and note).

When I [b]restore the fortunes of Judah
and Jerusalem,
2 I will [a]gather all the nations
And bring them down to the [b]valley of [1]Jehoshaphat.
Then I will [c]enter into judgment with them there
On behalf of My people and My inheritance, Israel, Whom they have [d]scattered among
the nations;
And they have [e]divided up My land.
3 "They have also [a]cast lots for My
people,
[1][b]Traded a boy for a harlot
And sold a girl for wine that they may drink.
4 "Moreover, what are you to Me, O [a]Tyre, Sidon and all the regions of [b]Philistia? Are you rendering Me a recompense? But if you do recompense Me, swiftly and speedily I will [c]return your recompense on your head.
5 "Since you have [a]taken My silver and My gold, brought My precious [1]treasures to your temples,
6 and sold the [a]sons of Judah and Jerusalem to the [1]Greeks in order to remove them far from their territory,
7 behold, I am going to [a]arouse them from the place where you have sold them,
and return your recompense on your head.
8 "Also I will [a]sell your sons and your daughters into the hand of the sons of Judah, and they will sell them to the [b]Sabeans, to a distant nation," for the LORD has spoken.

15 [a]Joel 2:10, 31
16 [a]Hos 11:10; Amos 1:2 [b]Joel 2:11

3:2 valley of Jehoshaphat. See v. 12. Called the "valley of decision" in v. 14, it seems to be a symbolic name for a valley near Jerusalem that is here depicted as the place of God's ultimate judgment on the nations gathered against Jerusalem (see NASB marg.). There King Jehoshaphat had witnessed one of the Lord's historic victories over the nations (see 2 Chr 20:1–30). My inheritance. See note on 2:17. Seven times in four verses (vv. 2–5) God uses "My," emphasizing His covenant relationship with Israel. Israel. See note on 2:27.

3:3 cast lots for My people. This happened to Judah at the time of the captivity (586 B.C.) and is mentioned in Obad 11. The Israelites were treated by their enemies as mere chattel, to be traded off for the pleasures of prostitution and wine.

3:4–8 A parenthetical interlude. In vv. 1–3,9–11 God announces judgment against the nations hostile to Israel, but here He addresses the nations directly.

3:4 Me. The Lord. Tyre, Sidon . . . Philistia. Tyre had sold Israelites as slaves (see Amos 1:9), and Philistia had often plundered Israel (see Judg 13:1; 1 Sam 5:1; 2 Chr 21:16–17; Ezek 25:15–17). God punished them by allowing Sidon to be enslaved by Antiochus III in 345 B.C. and by allowing Tyre to be besieged by the Babylonians in 586 and to be captured by the Greeks (under Alexander the Great) in 332.

3:6 The Greeks were trading with the Phoenicians as early as 800 B.C.

3:8 Sabeans. From Sheba, whose queen visited Solomon (see 1 Kin 10:1–13). distant. It was located in the southern part of the Arabian peninsula (present-day Yemen).

3:9–21 In vv. 9–11 Joel is the speaker; in vv. 12–13 God speaks; in vv. 14–16, Joel; and in vv. 17–21, God. When Joel speaks, he does so as the spokesman of the Lord, who has commissioned him to be His prophet.

3:9–11 Joel commands that the nations be told to prepare for battle, for the Lord would come against them with His invincible heavenly army and bring them into judgment (cf. Ezek 38–39; Rev 19).

3:10 The first part of this verse is the reverse of Is 2:4 and Mic 4:3, where the peaceful effect of God's reign is portrayed. Here God's enemies are summoned to their last great confrontation with Him.

3:11 gather yourselves there. In the valley of Jehoshaphat for judgment (vv. 2,12).

3:13 As a result of the Lord's great army that had marched against Judah (2:3–11), there had been no harvest (2:3). That harvest was to be restored (2:19,22,24,26). In the final great day of the Lord, there will also be a harvest—the harvest of God's judgment on the nations. Rev 14:14–20 draws heavily on this picture of judgment.

3:14 valley of decision. The valley of Jehoshaphat (judgment) of vv. 2,12. "Jehoshaphat" speaks of God's role as Judge (see note on v. 2). Here "decision" (from a different Hebrew word) refers to the heavenly Judge's decision or judicial decree. The valley is now viewed as the place where that decree will be executed.

3:15 See 2:10 and note.

3:16 roars. Like a lion, God will destroy the nations. The first two lines occur also in Amos 1:2 (see Jer 25:30). utters His voice. As God at the head of His army had thundered against Jerusalem (2:11), so He will then thunder against Jerusalem's

And the [c]heavens and the earth tremble.
But the LORD is a [d]refuge for His people
And a [e]stronghold to the sons of Israel.
17 Then you will [a]know that I am the LORD your God,
Dwelling in Zion, My [b]holy mountain.
So Jerusalem will be [c]holy,
And [d]strangers will pass through it no more.

Judah Will Be Blessed

18 And in that day
The [a]mountains will drip with [1]sweet wine,
And the hills will [b]flow with milk,
And all the [c]brooks of Judah will flow with water;
And a [d]spring will go out from the house of the LORD
To water the valley of [2]Shittim.
19 Egypt will become a waste,
And Edom will become a desolate wilderness,
Because of the [a]violence [1]done to the sons of Judah,
In whose land they have shed innocent blood.
20 But Judah will be [a]inhabited forever
And Jerusalem for all generations.
21 And I will [a]avenge their blood which I have not avenged,
For the LORD dwells in Zion.

enemies, and He will do so from His royal city, from which He rules His "inheritance" (see v. 17; Amos 1:2).

3:17–21 God blesses His people in a dual way: negatively, by destroying their enemies; and positively, by giving them good things.

3:17 I . . . Dwelling in Zion. The Lord Himself will dwell with them (see v. 21). The same picture is found in 2:27; Ps 46:4 (cf. Rev 21:3). The final blessed state of the now unholy and vulnerable city will be God's abiding presence in her (see v. 21 and note; Rev 21). Then she will be holy and impregnable.

3:18 in that day. The same as "In those days" of v. 1. The Edenic lushness pictured in this verse is in great contrast to the drought in 1:10 (see Amos 9:13). a spring will go out from the house of the LORD. Flowing from God's presence, streams of blessing will refresh His people and make their place endlessly fruitful (cf. Ps 36:8; 46:4; 87:7; Ezek 47:1–12; Rev 22:1–2). Shittim. See notes on Num 25:1; Josh 2:1. But see also NASB marg.

3:19 Egypt . . . Edom. As old enemies of Israel, they here represent all the nations hostile to God's people. waste . . . desolate wilderness. Figures for the removal of all life-sustaining blessings, thus setting in sharp focus the contrasting destinies of God's people and the enemies of God's kingdom. This picture of desolation also recalls the earlier description of Judah's condition (2:3).

3:20 will be inhabited forever. When God's judgment and redemption are consummated, His kingdom will endure and flourish eternally.

3:21 This book of judgment ends on a promising and encouraging note: "The LORD dwells in Zion," and therefore all is right with those who trust in God and live with Him.

Amos

Author

Amos was from Tekoa (1:1), a small town about 6 miles south of Bethlehem and 11 miles from Jerusalem. He was not a man of the court like Isaiah, or a priest like Jeremiah. He earned his living from the flock and the sycamore-fig grove (1:1; 7:14–15). Whether he owned the flocks and groves or only worked as a hired hand is not known. His skill with words and the strikingly broad range of his general knowledge of history and the world preclude his being an ignorant peasant. Though his home was in Judah, he was sent to announce God's judgment on the northern kingdom (Israel). He probably ministered for the most part at Bethel (7:10–13; see note on Gen 12:8), Israel's main religious sanctuary, where the upper echelons of the northern kingdom worshiped.

The book brings his prophecies together in a carefully organized form intended to be read as a unit. It offers few, if any, clues as to the chronological order of his spoken messages — he may have repeated them on many occasions to reach everyone who came to worship. The book is addressed also to the southern kingdom (hence the references to Judah and Jerusalem).

Date and Historical Situation

According to the first verse, Amos prophesied during the reigns of Uzziah over Judah (792–740 B.C.) and Jeroboam II over the Israel (793–753). The main part of his ministry was probably carried out c. 760–750. Both kingdoms were enjoying great prosperity and had reached new political and military heights (cf. 2 Kin 14:23 — 15:7; 2 Chr 26). It was also a time of idolatry, extravagant indulgence in luxurious living, immorality, corruption of judicial procedures and oppression of the poor. As a consequence, God would soon bring about the Assyrian captivity of the northern kingdom (722–721).

Israel at the time was politicaly secure and spiritually smug. About 40 years earlier, at the end of his ministry, Elisha had prophesied the resurgence of Israel's power (2 Kin 13:17–19), and more recently Jonah had prophesied her restoration to a glory not known since the days of Solomon (2 Kin 14:25). The nation felt sure, therefore, that she was in God's good graces. But prosperity increased Israel's religious and moral corruption. God's past punishments for unfaithfulness were forgotten, and His patience was at an end — which He sent Amos to announce.

With Amos, the messages of the prophets began to be preserved in permanent form, being brought together in books that would accompany Israel through the coming debacle and beyond. Since Amos was a contemporary of Hosea and Jonah, see Introductions to those books.

Theme and Message

The dominant theme is clearly stated in 5:24, which calls for social justice as the indispensable expression of true piety. Amos was a vigorous spokesman for God's justice and righteousness, whereas Hosea emphasized God's love, grace, mercy and forgiveness. Amos declared that God was going to judge His unfaithful, disobedient, covenant-breaking people. Despite His special choice of Israel and His kindnesses to her during the exodus and conquest and in the days of David and Solomon, His people continually failed to honor and obey Him. The shrines at Bethel and other places of worship were often paganized, and Israel had a worldly view of even the ritual that the Lord Himself had prescribed. They thought performance of the rites was all God required, and, with that done, they could do whatever they pleased — an essentially pagan notion. Without commitment to God's law, they had no basis for standards of conduct. Amos condemns all who make themselves powerful or rich at the expense of others. Those who had acquired two splendid houses (3:15), expensive furniture and richly furnished tables by cheating, perverting justice and crushing the poor would lose everything they had.

God's imminent judgment on Israel would not be a mere punitive blow to warn (as often before, 4:6–11), but an almost total destruction. The unthinkable was about to happen: Because they had not faithfully consecrated themselves to His lordship, God would uproot His chosen people by the hands of a pagan nation. Even so, if they would repent, there was hope that "the LORD God of hosts (would) be gracious to the remnant" (5:15; see 5:4–6,14). In fact, the Lord had a glorious future for His people, beyond the impending judgment. The house of David would again rule over Israel — even extend its rule over many nations — and Israel would once more be secure in the promised land, feasting on wine and fruit (9:11–15). The God of Israel, the Lord of history, would not abandon His chosen people or His chosen program of redemption.

The God for whom Amos speaks is God of more than merely Israel. He also uses one against another to carry out His purposes (6:14). He is the Great King who rules the whole universe (4:13; 5:8; 9:5–6). Because He is all-sovereign, the God of Israel holds the history and destiny of all peoples and of the world in His hands. Israel must know not only that He is the Lord of her future, but also that He is Lord over all, and that He has purposes and concerns that reach far beyond her borders. Israel had a unique, but not an exclusive, claim on God. She needed to remember not only His covenant commitments to her but also her covenant obligations to Him. (See further the prophecy of Jonah.)

Judgment on Neighbor Nations

1 The words of Amos, who was among the [a]sheepherders from [b]Tekoa, which he [1]envisioned in visions concerning Israel in the days of [c]Uzziah king of Judah, and in the days of [d]Jeroboam son of Joash, king of Israel, two years before the [e]earthquake.

2 He said,
"The [a]LORD roars from Zion
And from Jerusalem He utters His voice;
And the shepherds' [b]pasture grounds mourn,
And the [1c]summit of Carmel dries up."

3 Thus says the LORD,
"For [a]three transgressions of [b]Damascus and for four
I will not [1]revoke its punishment,
Because they threshed Gilead with implements of sharp iron.
4 "So I will send fire upon the house of Hazael
And it will consume the citadels of [a]Ben-hadad.
5 "I will also [a]break the gate bar of Damascus,
And cut off the inhabitant from the [1]valley of Aven,
And him who holds the scepter, from Beth-eden;
So the people of Aram will go exiled to [b]Kir,"
Says the LORD.

6 Thus says the LORD,
"For three transgressions of [a]Gaza and for four
I will not revoke its punishment,
Because they deported an entire population
To [b]deliver it up to Edom.
7 "So I will send fire upon the wall of Gaza
And it will consume her citadels.
8 "I will also cut off the inhabitant from [a]Ashdod,
And him who holds the scepter, from [b]Ashkelon;
I will even [1]unleash My [2]power upon Ekron,
And the remnant of the [c]Philistines will perish,"
Says the Lord [3]GOD.

1:1 Amos. Apparently a shortened form of a name like Amasiah (2 Chr 17:16), meaning "The LORD carries" or "The LORD upholds." sheepherders. The Hebrew for this word occurs elsewhere in the OT only in reference to the king of Moab (2 Kin 3:4, where it is translated "sheep breeder"). Cf. 7:14, where a different Hebrew word is used. Amos was not a professional prophet who earned his living from his ministry; he stood outside religious institutions. Tekoa. See Introduction: Author. envisioned. Received by divine revelation. Uzziah. See Introduction: Date and Historical Situation; see also note on Is 6:1. Jeroboam. See Introduction: Date and Historical Situation. earthquake. Evidently a major shock, long remembered, and probably the one mentioned in Zech 14:5. Reference to the earthquake suggests that the author viewed it as a kind of divine reinforcement of the words of judgment.

1:2–2:16 A series of oracles against the nations. After pronouncing judgments on Israel's neighbors for various atrocities—judgments that Israel would naturally applaud—Amos announces God's condemnation of His own two kingdoms for despising God's laws. His listing of Israel's sins under the same form of indictment used against the other nations shockingly pictures Israel's sins alongside those of her pagan neighbors.

1:2 A thematic verse, ominously announcing the main thrust of Amos's message. roars. Amos, a shepherd, was sent to Israel to warn her that he had heard a lion roar and that the lion is none other than the Lord Himself, who has only wanted to be Israel's shepherd. For the use of this imagery in other contexts see Jer 25:30; Joel 3:16. from Zion. The Lord established His earthly throne in Jerusalem, among His special people, and from there He announces His judgments on them, as well as on the other nations. pasture . . . summit of Carmel. See 9:3. From the driest portion of the land to the greenest, the Lord's judgment will be felt like a severe drought that devastates the whole land.

1:3 For three transgressions . . . four. For their many sins, especially the one named; see also vv. 6,9,11,13; 2:1,4,6. For similar numerical expressions see Prov 6:16; 30:15,18,21,29; Mic 5:5. Damascus. Capital of the Aramean state directly north of Israel and a constant enemy in that day. Her crime was brutality to the conquered people of Gilead, Israel's territory east of Galilee. threshed . . . implements of sharp iron. Heads of grain were threshed by driving a wooden sledge fitted with sharp teeth over the cut grain (cf. Job 41:30; Is 28:27; 41:15; see 2 Kin 13:7 and note on Ruth 1:22).

1:4 send fire . . . it will consume. See vv. 7,10,12; 2:2,5; cf. v. 14; a common description of the threat of divine judgment, usually carried out by a devastating war that resulted in the burning of major cities and fortresses. See the judgments mentioned in Jer 17:27; 49:27; 50:32; Hos 8:14. Hazael. King of Damascus c. 842–796 B.C. and founder of a new line of kings (see 2 Kin 8:7–15). citadels. See vv. 7,10,12,14; 2:2,5; perhaps referring to the fortress-like palatial dwellings of the rich and powerful. Ben-hadad. Son of Hazael (2 Kin 13:24) and the second king with this name (cf. 2 Kin 8:14–15), ruling c. 796–775.

1:5 inhabitant. See v. 8; lit. "one who sits [enthroned]." valley of Aven. Possibly the Beqaa Valley between the Lebanon and Anti-Lebanon mountains, but may refer to the river valley in which Damascus is located, calling it the "valley of wickedness" ("Aven" means "wickedness"). Beth-eden. Probably Damascus, the garden spot of that region. Aram. See note on Gen 10:22. Kir. An unidentified place, possibly in the vicinity of Elam (2 Kin 16:9; Is 22:6), from which the Arameans of Damascus are said to have come (9:7).

1:6 Gaza. One of the five Philistine cities (see map, p. 312); it guarded the entry to Canaan from Egypt. entire population. See v. 9; not just warriors captured in battle. The reference may be to villages in south Judah on the trade route from Edom to Gaza. to Edom. See v. 9; trading the people like cattle to another country.

1:8 Ashdod . . . Ashkelon . . . Ekron. Three more cities of the Philistine group (see note on v. 6). Gath, the fifth (cf. 6:2), may already have been subdued by Uzziah (see 2 Chr 26:6). the remnant. There would be no remnant. Philistia was finally destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar.

9 Thus says the LORD,
"For three transgressions of [a]Tyre and for four
I will not revoke its punishment,
Because they delivered up an entire population to Edom
And did not remember the covenant of [1][b]brotherhood.
10 "So I will [a]send fire upon the wall of Tyre
And it will consume her citadels."

11 Thus says the LORD,
"For three transgressions of [a]Edom and for four
I will not revoke its punishment,
Because he [b]pursued his brother with the sword,
While he [1]stifled his compassion;
His anger also [c]tore continually,
And he maintained his fury forever.
12 "So I will send fire upon [a]Teman
And it will consume the citadels of Bozrah."

13 Thus says the LORD,
"For three transgressions of the sons of [a]Ammon and for four
I will not revoke its punishment,
Because they [b]ripped open the pregnant women of Gilead
In order to [c]enlarge their borders.
14 "So I will kindle a fire on the wall of [a]Rabbah
And it will consume her citadels
Amid [1][b]war cries on the day of battle,
And a [c]storm on the day of tempest.
15 "Their [a]king will go into exile,
He and his princes together," says the LORD.

Judgment on Judah and Israel

2 Thus says the LORD,
"For three transgressions of [a]Moab and for four
I will not [1]revoke its punishment,
Because he [b]burned the bones of the king of Edom to lime.
2 "So I will send fire upon Moab
And it will consume the citadels of [a]Kerioth;
And Moab will die amid [b]tumult,
With [1]war cries and the sound of a trumpet.
3 "I will also cut off the [1][a]judge from her midst
And slay all her [b]princes with him,"
says the LORD.

4 Thus says the LORD,
"For three transgressions of [a]Judah and for four
I will not revoke its punishment,
Because they [b]rejected the law of the LORD
And have not kept His statutes;
Their [1][c]lies also have led them astray,
Those after which their [d]fathers walked.
5 "So I will [a]send fire upon Judah
And it will consume the citadels of Jerusalem."

6 Thus says the LORD,
"For three transgressions of [a]Israel and for four
I will not revoke its punishment,
Because they [b]sell the righteous for money
And the needy for a pair of sandals.

6 [a]2 Kin 18:11, 12 [b]Joel 3:3; Amos 5:11, 12; 8:6

1:9 Tyre. The senior Phoenician merchant city, allied to Israel by a "treaty of brotherhood" in the days of David (1 Kin 5:1), later in the time of Solomon (1 Kin 5:12) and later still during the reign of Ahab, whose father-in-law ruled Tyre and Sidon (1 Kin 16:30–31). they delivered. Their crime was like Philistia's (v. 6).

1:10 wall. Tyre was an almost impregnable island, boastful of her security (cf. Ezek 26:1–28:19).

1:11 Edom. The nation descended from Esau (Gen 36; cf. Gen 25:23–30; 27:39–40). brother. Israel (cf. Obad 8–10). Reference may be to treaty "brother" (see note on v. 9). Edom's crime was in violating this relationship by persistent hostility.

1:12 Teman . . . Bozrah. Major cities of Edom, the former thought to be near Petra, the latter now identified with Buseirah, 37 miles to the north. With their destruction, Edom would lose its capacity for continual warfare.

1:13 Ammon. Judgment centered on Rabbah (see note on Deut 3:11), modern Amman. Greed for land bred a brutal genocide that would be punished by a tumult of men and nature, leaving the state without leaders to continue such practices.

1:14 Fulfilled through the Assyrians.

1:15 Their king. See Jer 49:1,3 and notes ("Malcam" can be read as "their king").

2:1 burned the bones of the king of Edom. Thus depriving the king's spirit of the rest that was widely believed to result from decent burial.

2:2 Kerioth. Perhaps a plural noun meaning "cities" (therefore "citadels of her cities") or the name of a major town (see Jer 48:24) and shrine of Chemosh, the national god of Moab (see 1 Kin 11:7,33).

2:4 rejected the law of the LORD. Judah's sins differed in kind from those of the other nations. Those nations violated the generally recognized laws of humanity, but Judah disobeyed the revealed law of God. These sins may be included in the indictment against Israel that follows.

2:5 fire . . . consume the citadels. Judah's punishment is the same as Aram's (1:4), Gaza's (1:7), Tyre's (1:10), Edom's (1:12), Ammon's (1:14) and Moab's (2:2)—loss of the defenses and wealth in which they trusted.

2:6 Israel's sins revealed the general moral deterioration of the nation. the righteous. Probably those who were not in debt and whom there was no lawful reason to sell (cf. Lev 25:39–43). the needy. God had commanded that they be helped (Deut 15:7–11), but they were instead sold for failure to repay a (perhaps paltry) debt, for which a pair of sandals had been given in pledge (see 8:6).

7 "These who [1]pant after the very dust of

And a [c]man and his father [2]resort to 11 "Then I [a]raised up some of your sons to be prophets

And some of your young men to be

declares the LORD.
12 "But you made the Nazirites drink wine,

All the Tribes Are Guilty

3 Hear this word which the LORD has spoken against you, sons of Israel, against the entire [1a]family which [2]He brought up from the land of Egypt:
2 "[a]You only have I [1]chosen among all the families of the earth;
Therefore I will [2b]punish you for all your iniquities."
3 Do two men walk together unless they

he has no prey?
Does a young lion [1]growl from his den unless he has captured something?
5 Does a bird fall into a trap on the ground when there is no [1]bait in it?

2:7 helpless . . . humble. To care for them and to protect them from injustice were clearly commanded by Israel's law (Ex 23:6–8); also, throughout the ancient Near East, kings were supposed to defend such people. a man and his father resort to the same girl. Whether the girl in question was a household servant (in which case father and son used her as a family prostitute) is not clear. In any case, the law required that if there were sexual relations with a girl, marriage was obligatory (Ex 22:16; Deut 22:28–29). For a father and son to have sexual relations with the same girl or woman was strictly forbidden (Lev 18:7–8,15; 20:11–12). profane My holy name. Cf. Lev 18:21; 19:12; 20:3; 21:6; 22:2,32; Jer 34:16; Ezek 20:9,14,22,39; 36:20–23; 39:7.

2:8 garments taken as pledges. The law prohibited keeping a man's cloak overnight as a pledge (Ex 22:26–27; Deut 24:12–13), or taking a widow's cloak at all (Deut 24:17). beside every altar . . . in the house of their God. Israelites who broke the laws protecting the powerless brazenly used their wrongly gotten gains even in places supposed to be holy. fined. As restitution for damages suffered. Exorbitant claims or even false charges of damage seem to be suggested.

2:9 I who destroyed. Israel not only had known God's law but had been specially favored by His powerful help. Amorite. Here used for all the inhabitants of Canaan (see notes on Gen 10:16; 15:16; Judg 6:10; see also Deut 7:1 and note). his fruit above and his root below. That is, totally.

2:10 I who brought you up. See 3:1. God's great blessings to Israel in the past added to her guilt, and now they are recalled as a part of the Lord's indictment against His people.

2:11 I raised up . . . prophets and . . . Nazirites. Prophets, as God's faithful spokesmen (Deut 18:15–19), and Nazirites, as those uniquely dedicated to Him (Num 6:1–21; Judg 13:5), are singled out as special gifts to His people. These persons who were outside the priesthood were used by God through word and example to call His people to faithfulness.

2:12 But you. They showed utter disdain for God's faithful servants and thus betrayed their callous insensitivity to God's working among them (cf. 7:16).

2:13 A loaded cart crushes anything that falls beneath its wheels.

2:14–16 No one who might be expected to stand his ground or escape would be able to save himself.

2:16 that day. The day God comes in judgment—as He did through the Assyrian invasion that swept the northern kingdom away.

3:1–5:17 Oracles that underscore the certainty of God's judgment on Israel.

3:1 Hear this word. See 4:1; 5:1. The Lord calls His people to account because of their sins. He. Lit. "I" (see NASB marg.). He now speaks more directly than in 1:2–2:16.

3:2 You only. Israel's present strength and prosperity gave rise to complacency about her privileged status as the Lord's chosen people. She is shockingly reminded of the long-forgotten responsibilities her privileges entailed.

3:3–6 With these rhetorical questions (involving comparisons) Amos builds up to the statements of vv. 7–8, to explain why he is speaking such terrifying words. Each picture is of cause and effect, using figures drawn from daily life—and culminating in divine action (v. 6).

Does a trap spring up from the earth
when it captures nothing at all?
6 If a [a]trumpet is blown in a city will not the people tremble?
If a [b]calamity occurs in a city has not the LORD done it?
7 [1]Surely the Lord [2]GOD does nothing
Unless He [a]reveals His secret counsel
To His servants the prophets.
8 A [a]lion has roared! Who will not fear?
The [b]Lord [1]GOD has spoken! [c]Who can but prophesy?
9 Proclaim on the citadels in [a]Ashdod and on the citadels in the land of Egypt and say, "Assemble yourselves on the [b]mountains of Samaria and see the great tumults within her and the [c]oppressions in her midst.
10 "But they [a]do not know how to do what is right," declares the LORD, "these who [b]hoard up [1]violence and devastation in their citadels."
11 Therefore, thus says the Lord GOD,
"An [a]enemy, even one surrounding the
land,
Will pull down your [1]strength from
you
And your [b]citadels will be looted."
12 Thus says the LORD,
"Just as the shepherd [1][a]snatches from the lion's mouth a couple of legs or a piece of an ear,
So will the sons of Israel dwelling in Samaria be [2]snatched away—
With the [b]corner of a bed and the [3][c]cover of a couch!
13 "Hear and [a]testify against the house of Jacob,"
Declares the Lord GOD, the God of hosts.
14 "For on the day that I punish Israel's transgressions,
I will also punish the altars of [a]Bethel;
The horns of the altar will be cut off
And they will fall to the ground.
15 "I will also smite the [1][a]winter house together with the [b]summer house;
The houses of [2][c]ivory will also perish
And the [d]great houses will come to an end,"
Declares the LORD.

"Yet You Have Not Returned to Me"

4 Hear this word, you cows of [a]Bashan who are on the [b]mountain of Samaria,
Who [c]oppress the poor, who crush the

Who say to [1]your husbands, "Bring now, that we may [d]drink!"
2 The Lord [1]GOD has [a]sworn by His [b]holiness,
"Behold, the days are coming upon you
When [2]they will take you away with [c]meat hooks,
And the last of you with [d]fish hooks.
3 "You will [a]go out through breaches in
the walls,
Each one straight before her,
And you [1]will be cast to Harmon,"
declares the LORD.

3:8 A lion. Echoes 1:2. Who can but prophesy? Amos speaks because God has spoken.

3:9 The rich and powerful of Philistia and Egypt are summoned to witness the Lord's indictment against those who store up ill-gotten riches in the fortresses of Samaria (see v. 15). citadels. See note on 1:4. great tumults. The result of a violent, selfish power structure that was heedless of the justice called for in God's law.

3:10 who hoard. Cf. 2:6–8. The prosperity of Israel's wealthy depended on oppression and robbery. The following verses announce God's judgment on such greed (cf. Hab 2:6–11).

3:11 enemy. Assyria. citadels will be looted. Those that Samaria's wealthy had greedily filled with plunder.

3:12 as the shepherd snatches . . . a couple of legs. To prove to the owner that the sheep had been eaten by a wild animal, not stolen by the shepherd. the sons . . . dwelling in Samaria. In idle luxury (cf. 6:4). be snatched away. Only a mutilated remnant would survive. The nation as such would be more than wounded—it would be destroyed.

3:13 Hear and testify. Addressed to those summoned in v. 9. The rich and powerful of Philistia and Egypt are called upon to hear the Lord's indictment of the rich and powerful in Samaria and to testify that His indictment is true and that His judgment is warranted. Even these pagans will agree with God's judgment.

3:14 altars of Bethel. Israel's sins were rooted in the false shrine built by Jeroboam I at Bethel (1 Kin 12:26–33). horns of the altar. Even the last refuge for a condemned man (cf. 1 Kin 1:50–53) will afford Israel no protection.

3:15 winter house . . . summer house. Cf. 6:11; further signs of opulence that would not benefit their owners on the day of God's judgment—nor would expensive imported decorations, carvings and inlays of ivory (cf. 6:4; 1 Kin 22:39). Many examples of such carvings have been found in ruined palaces in Samaria and other cities.

4:1 Hear this word. See note on 3:1. cows of Bashan. Upper-class women, directly addressed, are compared with the best breed of cattle in ancient Canaan, which were raised (and pampered) in the pastures of northern Transjordan (cf. Ps 22:12; Ezek 39:18). Whether the metaphor was intended as an insult or as ironic flattery is uncertain.

4:2 The Lord GOD has sworn. Stresses the solemnity of the situation and the certainty of the events. by His holiness. Contrasts with Israel's sin, reminding them of what they could have been (Ex 19:6) if they had faithfully kept their side of the covenant—as God had His. hooks. According to Assyrian reliefs (pictures engraved on stone), prisoners of war were led away with a rope fastened to a hook that pierced the nose or lower lip (cf. 2 Kin 19:28; 2 Chr 33:11; Ezek 19:4,9; Hab 1:15). The Hebrew word here may, in fact, refer to ropes.

4:3 breaches in the walls. See 2 Kin 17:5. Harmon. Appears to be a place-name, though it is not otherwise known.

4:4–5 Spoken in irony.

4:4 Bethel . . . Gilgal. These towns had historical importance as places where God's help was commemorated (cf. Gen 35:1–15;

In Gilgal multiply transgression!
[a]Bring your sacrifices every morning,
Your tithes every three days.
5 "[1]Offer a [a]thank offering also from that which is leavened,
And proclaim [b]freewill offerings, make them known.

Declares the Lord GOD.

6 "But I gave you also [a]cleanness of teeth in all your cities
And lack of bread in all your places, Yet you have [b]not returned to Me,"
declares the LORD.
7 "Furthermore, I [a]withheld the rain from you
While there were still three months until harvest.
Then I would send rain on one city
And on [b]another city I would not send rain;
One part would be rained on,
While the part not rained on would dry up.
8 "So two or three cities would stagger to another city to drink [a]water,
But would [b]not be satisfied;

declares the LORD.

"Seek Me that You May Live"

5 Hear this word which I take up for you as a [a]dirge, O house of Israel:
2 She has fallen, she will [a]not rise again—
The [b]virgin Israel.
She lies neglected on her land;
There is [c]none to raise her up.
3 For thus says the Lord [1]GOD,
"The city which goes forth a thousand strong
Will have a [a]hundred left,
And the one which goes forth a hundred strong
Will have [b]ten left to the house of Israel."

4 For thus says the LORD to the house of Israel,
"[a]Seek Me [b]that you may live.

Josh 4:20–24), and both were popular places of worship in Amos's day (5:5; cf. Hos 4:15; 9:15; 12:11). sacrifices every morning. See Ex 29:38–42. tithes. Apparently the special tithe that was to be brought every three years (cf. Deut 14:28; 26:12). days. Or "years" (the Hebrew for "days" sometimes stands for years).

4:5 that which is leavened. The burning of leavened bread in the sacrifices was strictly forbidden (see Lev 6:17; 7:12). Either Amos rebukes the Israelites for willful transgression of the law, or he speaks of burning in a general way for offering inappropriate gifts to the Lord. Leavened bread could accompany a peace offering (see Lev 7:13). so you love to do. They loved the forms and rituals of religion but did not love what God loves—goodness, mercy, kindness, justice (see 5:15; Is 5:7; 61:8; Hos 6:6; Mic 6:8).

4:6–11 In the past, God had used natural disasters to discipline and warn His people, but those lessons were soon forgotten (cf. Deut 28:22,39–40,42,48,56–57).

4:6 I. These were not simply natural disasters; they were direct acts of God (3:6). Yet . . . Me. See vv. 8–11.

4:7–8 Lack of rain three months before harvest would prevent full development of the grain.

4:9 caterpillar. Or "locust" (cf. 7:1; Joel 1:4).

4:10 plague . . . after . . . Egypt. See Ex 7:14–12:30.

4:11 Sodom and Gomorrah. Exemplified total destruction, God's judgment on those cities (see Gen 19:24–25) having already become proverbial (cf. Deut 29:23; Is 1:9; 13:19; Jer 49:18; 50:40; Zeph 2:9). firebrand snatched from a blaze. Saved only by God's grace (cf. Zech 3:2).

4:12 Prepare to meet your God. Devastated Israel, brought to her knees by the Assyrians, would meet the God she had covenanted with at Sinai and had now so grievously offended.

4:13 See note on 5:8–9. The God of such power and majesty is easily able to execute the judgment announced in v. 12.

5:1 Hear this word. See note on 3:1. dirge. Amos sorrowfully fashioned a lament as if Israel were already dead.

5:2 virgin Israel. See Jer 18:13; 31:4,21; see also notes on 2 Kin 19:21; Is 23:12. neglected. Left like a dead body on the open field (cf. Jer 9:22).

5:3 city . . . one. The Hebrew expression denotes communities of varying size, all of which would suffer.

5:4 Seek. See vv. 6,14. live. If they would seek the Lord, they (or at least a remnant, v. 15) could yet escape the violent death anticipated in Amos's lament.

5 "But do not [1]resort to [a]Bethel
And do not come to [b]Gilgal,
Nor cross over to [c]Beersheba;
For Gilgal will certainly go into captivity
And Bethel will [2]come to trouble.
6 "[a]Seek the LORD that you may live,
Or He will break forth like a [b]fire,
[1]O house of Joseph,
And it will consume with none to quench it for Bethel,
7 For those who turn [a]justice into
wormwood
And [1]cast righteousness down to the earth."

8 He who made the [a]Pleiades and Orion
And [b]changes deep darkness into morning,
[1]Who also [c]darkens day into night,
Who [d]calls for the waters of the sea
And pours them out on the surface of the earth,
The [e]LORD is His name.
9 It is He who [a]flashes forth with destruction upon the strong,
So that [b]destruction comes upon the fortress.

10 They hate him who [a]reproves in the [1]gate,
And they [b]abhor him who speaks with integrity.
11 Therefore because you [1]impose heavy rent on the poor
And exact a tribute of grain from them, Though you have built [a]houses of well-hewn stone,
Yet you will not live in them;
You have planted pleasant vineyards,
yet you will [b]not drink their wine.
12 For I know your transgressions are many and your sins are great,
You who [a]distress the righteous and accept bribes
And [1]turn aside the poor in the [2]gate.
13 Therefore at [1]such a time the prudent person [a]keeps silent, for it is an evil time.

14 Seek good and not evil, that you may live;
And thus may the LORD God of hosts
be with you,
[a]Just as you have said!
15 [a]Hate evil, love good,
And establish justice in the [1]gate!
Perhaps the LORD God of hosts
[b]May be gracious to the [c]remnant of Joseph.

16 Therefore thus says the LORD God of hosts, the Lord,
"There is [a]wailing in all the plazas,
And in all the streets they say, 'Alas!
Alas!'
They also call the [b]farmer to mourning
And [1c]professional mourners to lamentation.
17 "And in all the [a]vineyards there is wailing,

5:5 Bethel . . . Gilgal. See note on 4:4. Beersheba. Located in the south of Judah, it also had evidently become a place of pilgrimage and idolatry (cf. 8:14). All shrines where the worship of God was abused would be destroyed.

5:6 The places of idolatry were doomed; yet if Israel turned to God, there was hope for her as a nation. Otherwise the people, too, would be destroyed. house of Joseph. The northern kingdom of Israel, dominated by the tribe of Ephraim, descendants of Joseph (also in v. 15; 6:6). Bethel. The main religious center of the northern kingdom (see 7:13; see also 3:14; 4:4; 7:10). The god the Israelites worshiped there would be powerless to save the place when the true God brought His judgment.

5:7 those who turn justice into wormwood. They corrupted the procedures and institutions of justice (the courts), making them instruments of injustice ("wormwood" was a synonym for bitterness = injustice; see Prov 5:4; Lam 3:19). Turning God's order upside down is inevitable in a society that ignores His law and despises true religion (see 6:12).

5:8–9 As in 4:13, a brief hymn is inserted (see 9:5–6). Here Amos highlights the contrast between "those who turn" good into bad (v. 7) and the One "who . . . changes" night into day and governs the order of the universe—and whose power can smash the walls His people hide behind.

5:8 Pleiades. A group of seven stars (part of the constellation Taurus); always mentioned in connection with Orion (see note on Job 9:9). darkness into morning . . . day into night. The orderly sequence of day and night (cf. Jer 31:35). waters of the sea. The waters above the expanse (see 9:6; Gen 1:7; see also notes on Ps 36:8; 42:7; 104:3,13); alternatively, waters evaporated from the sea and condensed as rain.

5:10 Continues the sentence begun in v. 7. This poetic paragraph is continued and completed in vv. 12b–13, which (in the Hebrew) use the third person, while the preceding passage (vv. 11–12a) uses the second person. The indictment of vv. 7,10,12b–13 is therefore more objective and descriptive, while that of vv. 11–12a is more direct and pointed. reproves . . . speaks with integrity. Those who are concerned that the courts uphold justice.

5:11 Though you have built. God would take away their prized possessions acquired through wrongful gain. Their prosperity would be turned to grief (cf. Deut 28:30,38–40).

5:13 prudent person. He knows he cannot change the state of affairs, and therefore only awaits judgment.

5:14 Seek good. Cf. "Seek Me" (v. 4); see Is 1:16–17 and note on Is 1:17. that you may live. The purpose is more definitely expressed than in vv. 4,6, and the way to change is explicit. with you. As your security and source of blessing.

5:15 Perhaps. Emphasizes the danger of presuming on God's grace. Even a widespread change of attitude would need the test of time to prove its genuineness. remnant. Implies that a change now would benefit the individual survivors of the disaster, though the nation as a whole would perish.

5:16–17 A return to the theme of lament with which this section began (vv. 1–2). plazas . . . streets . . . farmer . . . vineyards. All will be affected by God's punishment. Even farmers, usually too busy for such things, would join the professional mourners

Because I will pass through the midst

18 Alas, you who are longing for the [a]day of the LORD,
For what purpose will the day of the LORD be to you?
It will be [b]darkness and not light;
19 As when a man [a]flees from a lion
And a bear meets him,
[1]Or goes home, leans his hand against

And a snake bites him.
20 Will not the day of the LORD be
[a]darkness instead of light,
Even gloom with no brightness in it?

Nor do I [1][b]delight in your solemn

"Those at Ease in Zion"

6 [a]Woe to those who are at ease in Zion
And to those who feel secure in the mountain of Samaria,
The [b]distinguished men of the foremost of nations,
To whom the house of Israel comes.
2 Go over to [a]Calneh and look,
And go from there to [b]Hamath the great,
Then go down to [c]Gath of the Philistines.
Are [1]they better than these kingdoms,
Or is their territory greater than yours?
3 Do you [a]put off the day of calamity,
And would you [b]bring near the seat of violence?

4 Those who recline on beds of ivory
And sprawl on their [a]couches,
And [b]eat lambs from the flock
And calves from the midst of the stall,
5 Who improvise to the sound of the harp,
And like David have [1]composed
[a]songs for themselves,

3 [a]Is 56:12; Amos 9:10 [b]Amos 3:10 4 [a]Amos 3:12 [b]Ezek 34:2, 3 5 [1]Or invented musical instruments [a]1 Chr 15:16; 23:5; Is 5:12 in lament, and mourning would overflow from the cities to the vineyards. When the holy God "will go through" (as He did in Egypt, Ex 12:12), punishment for the unholy and unjust will be inescapable (cf. Is 6:5).

5:18 day of the LORD. The time when God will show Himself the victor over the world, vindicating His claims to be the Lord over all the earth (see notes on 8:9; Is 2:11,17,20). Israel expected to be exalted as His people and longed for that day to come. Amos warned that the day would come, but not as Israel expected—it would be a day of "darkness instead of light" (v. 20) for her, because she had not been faithful to God. (Cf. "the day of our Lord Jesus Christ" and variations in 1 Cor 1:8; 3:12–15; 5:5; 2 Cor 1:14; Phil 1:6,10; 2:16.) Amos speaks primarily of an imminent and decisive judgment on Israel, not exclusively of the last day.

5:19–20 The two pictures (v. 19) emphasize vividly the inescapability of God's coming judgment.

5:21–27 Again God directly addresses Israel with the charge of unfaithfulness.

5:21–23 These three verses summarize and reject the current practice of religion in Israel. The institutions were not wrong in themselves; it was the worshipers and the ways they worshiped that were wrong. The people had no basis on which to come to God, because their conduct reflected disobedience to His law (see Is 1:11–15 and note).

5:21 Nor do I delight in. Lit. "I do not inhale with delight."

5:24 justice . . . righteousness. Prerequisites for acceptance by God; but these are what Israel had rejected and scorned (cf. vv. 7,10,12b). waters . . . ever-flowing stream. In contrast to stream beds that are dry much of the year. The simile is especially apt: As plant and animal life flourishes where there is water, so human life flourishes where there is justice and righteousness.

5:25 Israel's right relationship with the Lord was never established primarily by sacrifices. It was above all based on obedience (see 1 Sam 15:22–23; cf. Rom 1:5). in the wilderness for forty years. See Num 14:32–35.

5:26 The obscure language of this verse speaks of Israelite idolatry, but whether it was in the wilderness long ago or more recently in the promised land, or both, is not clear. The proper names are derived from Akkadian and refer to idolatrous objects of worship. The Septuagint (the Greek translation of the OT) represents a somewhat different text, which is followed by Acts 7:42–43.

5:27 This punishment is the final one—exile from the God-given land to remote foreign places.

6:1 in Zion . . . in the mountain of Samaria. Although Amos spoke primarily to Israel, Judah (Zion) also deserved his rebuke (cf. 2:4–5), for Israel properly comprised all 12 tribes. foremost of nations. In Israel's self-complacent eyes in this time of her newly recovered power and prosperity.

6:2 Perhaps Calneh and Hamath had fallen in Jeroboam II's campaign (2 Kin 14:28), and the wall of Gath had been broken down by Uzziah (2 Chr 26:6). These words may have been spoken by the "house of Israel" (v. 1, i.e., people of Israel) who, when they came before their notables, flattered their vanity and thus reinforced their arrogant complacency.

6:4 ivory. See 3:15 and note.

6:5 like David. See 1 Sam 16:15–23; 2 Sam 23:1.

6 Who [a]drink wine from [1]sacrificial bowls
While they anoint themselves with the finest of oils,
Yet they have not [b]grieved over the ruin of Joseph.
7 Therefore, they will now [a]go into exile at the head of the exiles,
And the [b]sprawlers' [1]banqueting will [2]pass away.

8 The Lord [1]God has [a]sworn by Himself, the Lord God of hosts has declared:
"I [b]loathe the arrogance of Jacob,
And [2]detest his [c]citadels;
Therefore I will [d]deliver up the city and [3]all it contains."
9 And it will be, if [a]ten men are left in one house, they will die.
10 Then one's [1]uncle, or his [2][a]undertaker, will lift him up to carry out his bones from the house, and he will say to the one who is in the innermost part of the house, "Is anyone else with you?" And that one will say, "No one." Then he will [3]answer, "[b]Keep quiet. For [4]the name of the Lord is [c]not to be mentioned."
11 For behold, the Lord is going to [a]command that the [b]great house be smashed to pieces and the small house to fragments.
12 Do horses run on rocks?
Or does one plow [1]them with oxen?
Yet you have turned [a]justice into poison
And the fruit of righteousness into [2]wormwood,
13 You who rejoice in [1][a]Lodebar,
[2]And say, "Have we not [b]by our own strength taken [3]Karnaim for ourselves?"
14 "For behold, [a]I am going to raise up a nation against you, O house of Israel," declares the Lord God of hosts,
"And they will afflict you from the [b]entrance of Hamath
To the [b]brook of the Arabah."

Warning Through Visions

7 Thus the Lord [1]God showed me, and behold, He was forming a [a]locust-swarm [2]when the spring crop began to sprout. And behold, the spring crop was after the king's [3]mowing.
2 And it came about, [1]when it had [a]finished eating the vegetation of the land, that I said,
"[b]Lord God, please pardon!
[2]How can Jacob stand,
For he is [c]small?"
3 The Lord [1][a]changed His mind about this.
"It shall not be," said the Lord.
4 Thus the Lord God showed me, and behold, the Lord God was calling to contend with them by [a]fire, and it consumed the great deep and began to consume the [1]farm land.
5 Then I said,
"[a]Lord God, please stop!
[b]How can Jacob stand, for he is small?"
6 The Lord [1][a]changed His mind about this.
"This too shall not be," said the Lord God.

6:6 Joseph. See note on 5:6.
6:8 sworn by Himself. See note on Gen 22:16; cf. Heb 6:13–14. By this oath God declares that the verdict is final.
6:10–11 A fearful scene: Apparently a survivor is cowering inside the house, the relative forbidding him even to pray because God's wrath had fallen on the city.
6:10 undertaker. Lit. "one who burns him" (see NASB marg.). Reference may be to burning a memorial fire in honor of the dead (see Jer 34:5). Cremation was not generally practiced, being reserved primarily for serious offenders (see Lev 20:14; 21:9; Josh 7:15,25; cf. 1 Sam 31:11–13).
6:11 great house . . . small house. Cf. perhaps the "summer house" and "winter house" of 3:15.
6:12 plow them with oxen. The Hebrew for this phrase is sometimes translated (with a slight textual change) "plow the sea with oxen" (see NASB marg.). Israel's perversion of justice flies in the face of even common human wisdom about the right order of things.
6:13 Lodebar . . . Karnaim. See NASB marg. for Amos's ironic play on the meanings of these place names ("horn" signifies strength). They seem to have been regained from Hazael by Jehoash (2 Kin 10:32–33; 13:25), then taken by the Assyrians ("a nation," v. 14) soon after Amos's day (2 Kin 15:29)—beginning the sequence of events that would lead to the loss of all territory conquered by Jeroboam II.
6:14 the entrance of Hamath To the brook of the Arabah. From the Orontes River in north Lebanon to the Dead Sea—thus the whole land (cf. 2 Kin 14:25).
7:1 showed me. Introduces reports of visions that convey God's message through things seen as well as heard (see vv. 4,7; 8:1; cf. 9:1). locust-swarm. Cf. 4:9; Joel 1:4. spring crop. The growth that came up in the fields after the grains and early hay were harvested. On these the flocks and herds pastured until the summer drought stopped all growth (cf. 1 Kin 18:5). king's mowing. Apparently the earlier crop, from which the royal taxes were taken.
7:2 See v. 5. How . . . stand? Mass starvation would afflict all the people. Jacob. Israel. small. Powerless to withstand the calamity. Amos makes no appeal to the Lord's covenant with Israel—perhaps because Israel's unfaithfulness had removed all right to such an appeal.
7:3 See v. 6. The Lord changed His mind. In response to the prophetic intercession (cf. Gen 20:7)—but forgiveness is not offered.
7:4 great deep. Probably the Mediterranean Sea. land. Lit. "portion," probably referring to the promised land or, more precisely, to everything growing on the land (cf. Joel 1:19).
7:5 See note on v. 2.
7:6 See note on v. 3.

7 Thus He showed me, and behold, the Lord was standing [1]by a [2]vertical wall with a plumb line in His hand.

8 The LORD said to me, "[a]What do you see, Amos?" And I said, "A plumb line." Then the Lord said,

"Behold I am about to put a [b]plumb line
In the midst of My people Israel.
I will [1c]spare them no longer.
9 "The [a]high places of Isaac will be desolated
And the [b]sanctuaries of Israel laid waste.
Then I will [c]rise up against the house of Jeroboam with the sword."

Amos Accused, Answers

10 Then Amaziah, the [a]priest of Bethel, sent word to [b]Jeroboam king of Israel, saying, "Amos has [c]conspired against you in the midst of the house of Israel; the land is unable to endure all his words.

11 "For thus Amos says, 'Jeroboam will die by the sword and Israel will certainly go from its land into exile.' "

12 Then Amaziah said to Amos, "[a]Go, you seer, flee away to the land of Judah and there eat bread and there do your prophesying!

13 "But [a]no longer prophesy at Bethel, for it is a [b]sanctuary of the king and a royal [1]residence."

14 Then Amos replied to Amaziah, "I am not a prophet, nor am I the [a]son of a prophet; for I am a herdsman and a [1]grower of sycamore figs.

Basket of Fruit and Israel's Captivity

8 Thus the Lord [1]GOD showed me, and behold, there was a basket of summer fruit.

2 He said, "What do you see, Amos?" And [a]I said, "A basket of summer fruit." Then the LORD said to me, "The [b]end has come for My people Israel. I will [1c]spare them no longer.

3 "[1]The [a]songs of the palace will turn to [b]wailing in that day," declares the Lord GOD. "Many will be the [c]corpses; in every place [2]they will cast them forth [3]in silence."

7:7 Israel is compared to a wall built true to plumb—what she should have been, after all the Lord had done for her.

7:8–9 In vv. 1–6 God proposed wholesale punishments amounting to total destruction, but relented at Amos's prayer—though without promise of forgiveness. Now the Lord is no longer open to such intercession (cf. Jer 7:16; 11:14; 14:11; 15:1).

7:8 plumb line. God's people had been built according to God's standards (v. 7). They were expected to be true to those standards, but were completely out of plumb when tested (cf. 2 Kin 21:13). My people. Here, for the first time in the book of Amos, the Lord calls Israel "My people" (see v. 15; 8:2; 9:10,14). spare them no longer. See 8:2.

7:9 high places . . . sanctuaries . . . house. The centers of religious and political pretension and of self-righteous pride would be wiped out. Isaac. Israel's (Jacob's) father, a way of referring to Israel found only in Amos (see v. 16). Jeroboam. The oracles of chs. 1–6 were spoken to the leading people of Israel and Samaria as a whole; here Amos names one man, the king.

7:11 Amaziah's words summarize Amos's message (see note on v. 17). Jeroboam. That is, his "house" (v. 9), the king's name also representing his dynasty. will die. Jeroboam died naturally (2 Kin 14:29), but his son and successor Zechariah (2 Kin 15:8) was assassinated (2 Kin 15:10).

7:12 seer. Amaziah dismissed Amos as a prophet for hire whom he need not take seriously.

7:13 sanctuary of the king. Amaziah served the king in Samaria, not Israel's heavenly King; hence he would not allow a prophetic word to be spoken against Jeroboam or his realm at the royal chapel.

7:14 not a prophet, nor . . . the son of a prophet. Amos denied any previous connection with the prophets or their disciples (see note on 1 Kin 20:35). No one had hired him to come and announce judgment on Jeroboam and Israel. herdsman. See note on 1:1, but the Hebrew uses a different word here—one not found elsewhere in the OT. The Hebrew for this word is, however, related to a word for "cattle," suggesting that Amos may also have tended cattle. sycamore figs. A large tree, yielding fig-like fruit as well as useful timber. To ensure good fruit, the gardener had to slit the top of each fig—which may be the procedure referred to by the obscure Hebrew word here rendered "took care of."

7:15 following. See 2 Sam 7:8. The Hebrew stresses the location of the shepherd rather than his activity. Go. Amos was in Bethel because God had sent him to prophesy there.

7:16 You shall not prophesy. Cf. 2:12.

7:17 Amos turned to condemn the priest personally. harlot. With the exile of Amaziah, the death of his children and the loss of the family estate, Amaziah's wife would be reduced to prostitution to survive. your land. Amaziah's private estate would be divided up and given to others. unclean soil. Where his ceremonial purity as a priest would be defiled. Moreover, Israel . . . its land. Amos repeats—verbatim in the Hebrew—the last two lines of Amaziah's earlier summary of Amos's message (v. 11).

8:1 showed me. See note on 7:1.

8:2 summer fruit . . . The end has come. A wordplay in Hebrew; Israel was ready to be plucked.

8:3 that day. See note on 5:18. wailing . . . silence. There would be no thanksgiving songs for this harvest (contrast Lev 23:39–41)—only the silence of despair.

So that we may sell grain,

And that we may sell the refuse of the wheat?"

7 The LORD has [a]sworn by the [b]pride of Jacob,
"Indeed, I will [c]never forget any of their deeds.
8 "Because of this will not the land [a]quake

They will fall and [d]not rise again."

God's Judgment Unavoidable

9 I saw the Lord standing beside the [a]altar, and He said,
"Smite the capitals so that the [b]thresholds will shake,
And [c]break them on the heads of them all!
Then I will [d]slay the rest of them with the sword;
They will [e]not have a fugitive who will flee,
Or a refugee who will escape.
2 "Though they dig into [a]Sheol,
From there will My hand take them;
And though they [b]ascend to heaven,
From there will I bring them down.
3 "Though they hide on the summit of Carmel,

8:5 new moon . . . sabbath. The official religious festivals, when commerce ceased (cf. Num 28:9–15; 2 Kin 4:23). bushel smaller . . . shekel bigger . . . dishonest scales. See Lev 19:35–36; Deut 25:13–16; Prov 11:1; 16:11; 20:10,23.
8:6 See note on 2:6.
8:7 sworn by the pride of Jacob. Israel took pride in the fact that the Lord was her God.
8:8 rise up like the Nile. Because of the heavy seasonal rains in Ethiopia, the Nile in Egypt annually rose by as much as 25 feet, flooding the whole valley except for the towns and villages standing above it. Its waters carried a large amount of rich soil, which was deposited on the land—perhaps referred to by the words "stirred up."
8:9 that day. See note on 5:18. earth dark. As elsewhere, the "day of the LORD" is described as one in which the cosmic (world) order is disrupted and light is turned to darkness (see Is 13:10; 24:23; 34:4; 50:3; Ezek 32:7–8; Joel 2:10,31; Mic 3:6), as if creation is being undone (see Jer 4:23).
8:10 mourning. Illustrated by King David (2 Sam 18:33). bring sackcloth . . . baldness on every head. Signs of mourning (see Gen 37:34; Jer 47:5). only son. On whose life the future of the family depended (cf. 2 Sam 18:18). bitter day. The opposite of a "holiday" (Esth 9:22).
8:11 days. When God's judgment begins to take effect. famine . . . for hearing the words of the LORD. In times of great distress Israel turned to the Lord for a prophetic word of hope or guidance (see, e.g., 2 Kin 19:1–4,14; 22:13–14; Jer 21:2; Ezek 14:3,7), but in the coming judgment the Lord will answer all such appeals with silence—the awful silence of God (see 1 Sam 28:6; Ezek 7:26; 20:1–3; Mic 3:4,7).
8:12 sea to sea . . . north . . . east. Throughout the land of Israel, even to the Transjordan.
8:13 thirst. Both physical and spiritual. Their strength sapped, even the lovely girls and strong boys of the nation would faint and fall useless.
8:14 those who swear. By the gods of their various religious centers (see NASB marg.)—the false gods in which they trusted rather than in the Lord.
9:1 I saw the Lord. See note on 7:1. God is now poised on earth. beside the altar. God is about to initiate the destruction from the very place from which the people expect to hear a word of peace and blessing. capitals. God will shatter the temple completely, from the decorated capitals down to the heavy stone thresholds. The next lines depict the destruction. Whether the vision shows the Lord at Jerusalem or at Bethel is unclear, but we know of no temple structure at Bethel.
9:2–4 These verses emphasize the impossibility of escape from God's impending judgment. The imaginary extremes to which a person might go may be compared with those in Ps 139:7–12. God's domain includes every place, even the realm of the grave (v. 2).
9:3 summit of Carmel. See note on 1:2. serpent. In pagan

I will [a]search them out and take them from there;
And though they [b]conceal themselves from My sight on the floor of the sea,
From there I will command the
[c]serpent and it will bite them.
4 "And though they go into [a]captivity
before their enemies,
From there I will command the sword
that it slay them,
And I will [b]set My eyes against them for evil and not for good."

5 The Lord [1]God of hosts,
The One who [a]touches the land so that it melts,
And [b]all those who dwell in it mourn,
And all of it rises up like the Nile
And subsides like the Nile of Egypt;
6 The One who builds His [1][a]upper chambers in the heavens
And has founded His vaulted dome over the earth,
He who [b]calls for the waters of the sea
And [c]pours them out on the face of
the earth,
[d]The Lord is His name.

7 "Are you not as the sons of [a]Ethiopia to Me,
O sons of Israel?" declares the Lord.
"Have I not brought up Israel from the land of Egypt,
And the [b]Philistines from Caphtor and the [c]Arameans from [d]Kir?
8 "Behold, the [a]eyes of the Lord God are on the sinful kingdom,
And I will [b]destroy it from the face of
the earth;
Nevertheless, I will [c]not totally destroy the house of Jacob,"
Declares the Lord.
9 "For behold, I am commanding,
And I will [a]shake the house of Israel
among all nations
As grain is shaken in a sieve,
But not a [1]kernel will fall to the ground.
10 "All the [a]sinners of My people will die
by the sword,
Those who say, '[b]The calamity will not overtake or confront us.'

The Restoration of Israel

11 "In that day I will [a]raise up the fallen
[1][b]booth of David,
And wall up its [c]breaches;
I will also raise up its ruins
And rebuild it as in the [d]days of old;
12 [a]That they may possess the remnant of [b]Edom
And all the [1]nations who are [c]called by My name,"
Declares the Lord who does this.

13 "Behold, days are coming," declares
the Lord,
"When the [a]plowman will overtake the reaper
And the treader of grapes him who sows seed;
When the [b]mountains will drip sweet
[c]wine
And all the hills will be dissolved.

mythology, the fierce monster of the sea. If someone should seek to escape by hiding in the depths, he could still not evade God, for even there all are subject to Him.

9:4 go . . . before their enemies . . . I will command. Even those dispersed among the nations will not escape God's judgment. I will set My eyes . . . for evil. Contrast Ps 33:18; 34:15.

9:5 The Lord . . . who. Introduces a hymnic reminder that Israel's God is the Creator and Sustainer of the universe, thus underlining the pronouncements of the previous verses (cf. 4:13; 5:8–9). land . . . melts. See note on Ps 46:6. like the Nile. See 8:8 and note.

9:6 His upper chambers. Contrasts the scale of God with the scale of man, whose structures fall at the movement of the earth (v. 5). See Ps 104:3 and note. sea. See 5:8 and note.

9:7 sons of Ethiopia. A dark-skinned people who lived south of Egypt, probably in the upper Nile region. Have I not brought up Israel . . . ? See note on Ex 20:2. Israel could not rely on God's past blessings as an assurance of His future benevolence. Her stubborn rebelliousness robbed the exodus of all special meaning for her; her journey from Egypt is reduced to no more significance than the movements of other peoples. Philistines from Caphtor. See note on Jer 47:4. Kir. See note on 1:5.

9:8 sinful kingdom. Israel, the chosen, whose disobedience was far worse than the sins of other nations (cf. 1:3–2:16; 3:1–2).

9:9 sieve. Separates the wheat from small stones and other refuse gathered with it when scooped up from the ground.

9:10 All the sinners . . . will die. For their persistent rebellion.

9:11 The verse is also regarded as Messianic in the Jewish Talmud. I will raise up. Raises a hope underlying Amos's words—one that runs through the whole OT from Gen 3:15 on: God will bring blessing after judgment and will not ultimately reject Israel. booth. Lit. "hut" (or rough booth)—either the dynasty ("house") of David or the united kingdom of the 12 tribes (David's kingdom). The word "hut" may have been chosen to recall David's humble beginnings. as in the days of old. In the days of David and Solomon.

9:12 remnant of Edom. Whatever is left of Israel's bitter enemy (see note on 1:11) after her punishment. all the nations who are called by My name. Refers to the extent of the rule of the Lord's anointed future King, recalling that David had reigned over many nations surrounding Israel. It represents the fulfillment of the Abrahamic and Davidic covenants. The Messiah will reign even over former enemies, of whom Edom is symbolic (see note on Is 34:5). who does this. God does what He says.

9:13–15 After all the forecasts of destruction, dearth and death (cf. 5:9,11,27), Amos's final words picture a glorious Edenic prosperity, when the seasons will run together so that sowing and reaping are without interval, and there will be a continuous supply of fresh produce (a reversal of the conditions portrayed in 4:6–11).

9:13 Note the similarity to Joel 3:18.

14 "Also I will [a]restore the [1]captivity of
My people Israel,
And they will [b]rebuild the ruined cities and live in them;
They will also [c]plant vineyards and drink their wine,
And make gardens and eat their fruit.
15 "I will also plant them on their land,
And [a]they will not again be rooted out from their land
Which I have given them,"
Says the LORD your God.

14 [1] Or fortunes

15 [a] Is 60:21; Ezek 34:28; 37:25

9:14–15 I will restore . . . they will rebuild . . . They will also plant . . . I will also plant. In the promised land, God will make His people productive, fruitful and secure.
9:14 My people. See note on 7:8; contrast Hos 1:9, but cf. Hos 2:23. rebuild the ruined cities. See Is 58:12 and note.
9:15 not again. When Israel is finally and fully restored, she will never again be destroyed. your God. Contrast Hos 1:9, but cf. Hos 2:23.

Obadiah

INTRODUCTION

Author

The author's name is Obadiah, which means "servant (or worshiper) of the LORD." His was a common name (see 1 Kin 18:3–16; 1 Chr 3:21; 7:3; 8:38; 9:16; 12:9; 27:19; 2 Chr 17:7; 34:12; Ezra 8:9; Neh 10:5; 12:25). Neither his father's name nor the place of his birth is given.

Date and Place of Writing

The date and place of composition are disputed. Dating the prophecy is mainly a matter of relating vv. 11–14 to one of two specific events in Israel's history:

1. The invasion of Jerusalem by Philistines and Arabs during the reign of Jehoram (853–841 B.C.); see 2 Kin 8:20–22; 2 Chr 21:8–20. In this case, Obadiah would be a contemporary of Elisha.

2. The Babylonian attacks on Jerusalem (605–586). Obadiah would then be a contemporary of Jeremiah. This alternative seems more likely.

The parallels between Obad 1–9 and Jer 49:7–22 have caused many to suggest some kind of interdependence between Obadiah and Jeremiah, but it may be that both prophets were drawing on a common source not otherwise known to us.

Unity and Theme

There is no compelling reason to doubt the unity of this brief prophecy. Its theme is that Edom, proud over her own security, has gloated over Israel's devastation by foreign powers. However, Edom's participation in that disaster will bring on God's wrath. She herself will be destroyed, but Mount Zion and Israel will be delivered, and God's kingdom will triumph.

Edom's hostile activities have spanned the centuries of Israel's existence. The following Biblical references are helpful in understanding the relation of Israel and Edom: Gen 27:41–45; 32:1–21; 33; 36; Ex 15:15; Num 20:14–21; Deut 2:1–6; 23:7; 1 Sam 22 with Ps 52; 2 Sam 8:13–14; 2 Kin 8:20–22; 14:7; Ps 83; Ezek 35; Joel 3:18–19; Amos 1:11–12; 9:12.

Since the Edomites are related to the Israelites (v. 10), their hostility is all the more reprehensible. Edom is fully responsible for her failure to assist Israel and for her open aggression. The fact that God rejected Esau (Gen 25:23; Mal 1:3; Rom 9:13) in no way exonerates the Edomites. Edom, smug in its mountain strongholds, will be dislodged and sacked. Israel will prosper because God is with her.

  B. The Lord's Kingdom Established (19–21)

Edom Will Be Humbled

1 The vision of Obadiah.
Thus says the Lord [1]GOD concerning [a]Edom—
[b]We have heard a report from the LORD,
And an [c]envoy has been sent among the nations saying,
"[d]Arise and let us go against her for battle"—
2 "Behold, I will make you [a]small among the nations;
You are greatly despised.
3 "The [a]arrogance of your heart has deceived you,
You who live in the clefts of [1]the [b]rock,
In the loftiness of your dwelling place,
Who say in your heart,
'[c]Who will bring me down to earth?'
4 "Though you [a]build high like the eagle,
Though you set your nest among the [b]stars,
From there I will bring you down," declares the LORD.
5 "If [a]thieves came to you,
If [1]robbers by night—
O how you will be ruined!—
Would they not steal only [2]until they had enough?
If grape gatherers came to you,
[b]Would they not leave some gleanings?
6 "O how Esau will be [a]ransacked,
And his hidden treasures searched out!
7 "All the [a]men [1]allied with you
Will send you forth to the border,
And the men at peace with you
Will deceive you and overpower you.
They who eat your [b]bread
Will set an ambush for you.
(There is [c]no understanding [2]in him.)
8 "Will I not on that day," declares the LORD,
"[a]Destroy wise men from Edom
And understanding from the mountain of Esau?
9 "Then your [a]mighty men will be dismayed, O [b]Teman,
So that everyone may be [c]cut off from the mountain of Esau by slaughter.

10 "Because of [a]violence to your brother Jacob,
[1]You will be covered with shame,
[b]And you will be cut off forever.
11 "On the day that you [a]stood aloof,
On the day that strangers carried off his wealth,
And foreigners entered his gate
And [b]cast lots for Jerusalem—
[c]You too were as one of them.
12 "[a]Do not [1]gloat over your brother's day,
The day of his misfortune.
And [b]do not rejoice over the sons of Judah
In the day of their destruction;
Yes, [c]do not [2]boast
In the day of their distress.
13 "Do not enter the gate of My people
In the [a]day of their disaster.
Yes, you, do not [1]gloat over their calamity

1 vision. Commonly used in the OT to designate a revelation from God. Obadiah. See Introduction: Author. We. Either (1) the editorial "we," or (2) the prophet's association of Israel with himself, or (3) other prophets' pronouncements against Edom. In any case, the rest of the verse sets the stage for Obadiah's prophetic message, which begins with v. 2. report. An envoy had been sent to the nations, calling them to battle against Edom. Perhaps a conspiracy was under way between some of Edom's allies (v. 7). Although Edom feels secure (trusting in her mountain fortresses and her wise men, vv. 2–4,8–9), Obadiah announces God's judgment on her for her hostility to Israel.
2 I will make you small. Cf. the colloquial expression, "cut one down to size."
3 rock. See NASB marg. Sela was the capital of Edom. Perhaps the later Petra (both Sela and Petra mean "rock" or "cliff"), this rugged site is located some 50 miles south of the southern end of the Dead Sea. See note on 2 Kin 14:7.
4 eagle. A proud and regal bird, noted for strength, keenness of vision and power of flight. stars. Hyperbole for high, inaccessible places in the mountains.
5 If thieves . . . If grape gatherers. For a similar oracle against Edom see Jer 49:9.
6 hidden treasures. The ancient Greek historian Diodorus Siculus indicates that the Edomites put their wealth—accumulated from trade—in vaults in the rocks.
7 set an ambush for you. However the Hebrew for this expression is understood (its meaning is uncertain), it must indicate some act of treachery on the part of previously trusted close friends. Those who "eat bread with" are one's com-panions (Latin cum, "with," and panis, "bread"). See note on Ps 41:9.
8 on that day. The day of Edom's destruction; but the words also have an eschatological ring. Since in OT prophecy Edom was often emblematic of all the world powers hostile to God and His kingdom, her judgment anticipates God's complete removal of all such opposition in that day. wise men. In whom Edom put so much confidence for her security (see Jer 49:7). Eliphaz, one of Job's three friends, was a Temanite (see next note). Esau. Another name for Edom (see Gen 36:1).
9 Teman. A reference to all Edom, as in Jer 49:7,20 (see also Amos 1:12). Teman means "south," and the name probably refers to Edom as the southland. Some, however, identify Teman with Tawilan, a site about three miles east of Petra.
10 your brother Jacob. Edom's violent crimes are all the more reprehensible because they were committed against the brother nation. covered with shame. A striking expression since shame is usually associated with nakedness.
11 See Introduction: Date and Place of Writing. strangers . . . foreigners. These terms put in relief the sin of Edom: He did not act like a brother (v. 12) but was like one of the strangers.
12–14 A rebuke of Edom's hostile actions. The eight rebukes

In the day of their disaster.
And do not [b]loot their wealth
In the day of their disaster.
14 "Do not [a]stand at the fork of the road
To cut down their fugitives;
And do not imprison their survivors
In the day of their distress.

The Day of the LORD and the Future

15 "For the [a]day of the LORD draws near on all the nations.
[b]As you have done, it will be done to
you.
Your [c]dealings will return on your own head.
16 "Because just as you [a]drank on [b]My holy mountain,
All the nations [c]will drink continually.
They will drink and [1]swallow
And become as if they had never existed.
17 "But on Mount [a]Zion there will be those who escape,
And it will be holy.
And the house of Jacob will [b]possess their possessions.
18 "Then the house of Jacob will be a [a]fire
And the house of Joseph a flame;
But the house of Esau will be as stubble.
And they will set [1]them on fire and consume [1]them,
So that there will be [b]no survivor of the house of Esau,"
For the LORD has spoken.
19 Then those of the [1]Negev will [a]possess
the mountain of Esau,
And those of the [2]Shephelah the [b]Philistine plain;
Also, [c]possess the territory of Ephraim and the territory of Samaria,
And Benjamin will possess Gilead.
20 And the exiles of this host of the sons of Israel,
Who are among the Canaanites as far as [a]Zarephath,
And the exiles of Jerusalem who are in Sepharad
Will possess the [b]cities of the Negev.
21 The [a]deliverers will ascend Mount
Zion
To judge the mountain of Esau,
And the [b]kingdom will be the LORD'S.

in this section proceed from the general to the particular. See Ezek 35:13 and Ps 137 for examples of Edom's reactions to Judah's misfortunes.

15 the day of the LORD draws near on all the nations. If there was an eschatological glimmering in "on that day" (v. 8), it here becomes a strong ray. The day of the Lord brings judgment for the nations (including, but not limited to, Edom) and salvation for the house of Jacob. on your own head. The situation will be reversed in retribution for Edom's hostility against God's people detailed in vv. 11–14. Ezekiel's denunciation of Edom (ch. 35) reflects a similar punishment-fits-the-crime principle.

16 just as you drank. As the Edomites profaned the holy mountain by carousing, so the nations will drink and drink. Their drinking, however, is that of the bitter potion of God's judgment—which they will be compelled to keep on drinking. For drinking as punishment see Jer 25:15–16; 49:12.

17 But on Mount Zion there will be . . . escape. Beginning with this verse the blessings on the house of Jacob are mentioned. Eschatological references are twofold: judgment on God's enemies, blessing on God's people.

18 Jacob . . . Joseph. Previously it was stated that the Lord would destroy Edom, using other nations (v. 7); now it is to be done by God's people. no survivor. The final word to Esau is that his house (or nation) will be totally destroyed; there will be no Edomite survivors. Yet compare Amos 9:12 with Acts 15:17 and see note on Amos 9:12.

19 those . . . will possess. With Edom annihilated, others will occupy Edomite territory. Although not expressly identified, these are most likely the remnant of Israel referred to in the lines immediately following. Negev. See note on Gen 12:9. Philistine. See note on Gen 10:14. Gilead. See notes on Gen 31:21; Song 4:1.

20 Zarephath. See note on 1 Kin 17:9. Sepharad. Usually taken to refer to Sardis in Asia Minor (present-day Turkey), though some think that Sparta (the city in Greece) might be meant.

21 deliverers. Having developed the theme of possessing lands around Zion, the prophet now turns to the center. The "deliverers" come from Mount Zion and rule over the mountains of Esau. Mount Zion is exalted over the mountains of Esau. The Messiah, the Deliverer par excellence, may ultimately be in view. the kingdom will be the LORD'S. The conclusion of the prophecy—and the final outcome of history. The last book of the Bible echoes this theme (Rev 11:15).

Jonah

Title

The book is named after its principal character, whose name means "dove"; see the simile used of Ephraim in Hos 7:11 to portray the northern kingdom as "without sense." See also Ps 68:13; 74:19 and notes.

Author

Though the book does not identify its author, tradition has ascribed it to the prophet himself, Jonah son of Amittai (1:1), from Gath-hepher (2 Kin 14:25) in Zebulun (Josh 19:10,13). In view of its many similarities with the narratives about Elijah and Elisha, however, it may come from the same prophetic circles that originally composed the accounts about those prophets, perhaps in the eighth century B.C. (see Introduction to 1 Kings: Author, Sources and Date).

Background

In the half-century during which the prophet Jonah ministered (800–750 B.C.), a significant event affected the northern kingdom of Israel: King Jeroboam II (793–753) restored her traditional borders, ending almost a century of sporadic seesaw conflict between Israel and Damascus.

Jeroboam, in God's good providence (2 Kin 14:26–27), capitalized on Assyria's defeat of Damascus (in the latter half of the ninth century), which temporarily crushed that center of Aramean power. Prior to that time, not only had Israel been considerably reduced in size, but the king of Damascus had even been able to control internal affairs in the northern kingdom (2 Kin 13:7). However, after the Assyrian campaign against Damascus in 797, Jehoash, king of Israel, had been able to recover the territory lost to the king of Damascus (2 Kin 13:25). Internal troubles in Assyria subsequently allowed Jeroboam II to complete the restoration of Israel's northern borders. Nevertheless, Assyria remained the real threat from the north at this time.

The prophets of the Lord were speaking to Israel regarding these events. About 797 B.C. Elisha spoke to the king of Israel concerning future victories over Damascus (2 Kin 13:14–19). A few years later Jonah prophesied the restoration that Jeroboam II accomplished (2 Kin 14:25). But soon after Israel had triumphed, she began to gloat over her new-found power. Because she was relieved of foreign pressures—relief that had come in accordance with encouraging words from Elisha and Jonah—she felt jealously complacent about her favored status with God (Amos 6:1). She focused her religion on expectations of the "day of the LORD" (Amos 5:18–20), when God's darkness would engulf the other nations, leaving Israel to bask in His light.

It was in such a time that the Lord sent Amos and Hosea to announce to His people Israel that he would "spare them no longer" (Amos 7:8; 8:2) but would send them into exile "beyond Damascus" (Amos 5:27), i.e., to Assyria (Hos 9:3; 10:6; 11:5). During this time the Lord also sent Jonah to Nineveh to warn it of the imminent danger of divine judgment.

Since Jonah was a contemporary of Amos, see Introduction to Amos: Date and Historical Situation for additional details.

Date of Writing

For a number of reasons, including the preaching to Gentiles, the book is often assigned a postexilic date. At least, it is said, the book must have been written after the destruction of Nineveh in 612 B.C. But these considerations are not decisive. The similarity of this narrative to the Elijah-Elisha accounts has already been noted. One may also question whether mention of the repentance of Nineveh and the consequent averted destruction of the city would have had so much significance to the author after Nineveh's overthrow. And to suppose that proclaiming God's word to Gentiles had no relevance in the eighth century is to overlook the fact that already in the previous century Elijah and Elisha had extended their ministries to foreign lands (1 Kin 17:7–24; 2 Kin 8:7–17). Moreover, the prophet Amos (c. 760–750) set God's redemptive work in behalf of Israel in the context of His dealings with the nations (Amos 1:3—2:16; 9:7,12). Perhaps the third quarter of the eighth century is the most likely date for the book, after the public ministries of Amos and Hosea and before the fall of Samaria to Assyria in 722–721.

Interpretation

Many have questioned whether the book of Jonah is historical. The supposed legendary character of some of the events (e.g., the episode involving the great fish) has caused them to suggest alternatives to the traditional view that the book is historical, biographical narrative. Although their specific suggestions range from fictional short story to allegory to parable, they share the common assumption that the account sprang essentially from the author's imagination, despite its serious and gracious message.

Such interpretations, often based in part on doubt about the miraculous as such, too quickly dismiss (1) the similarities between the narrative of Jonah and other parts of the OT and (2) the pervasive concern of the OT writers, especially the prophets, for history. They also fail to realize that OT narrators had a keen ear for recognizing how certain past events in Israel's pilgrimage with God illumine (by way of analogy) later events. (For example, the events surrounding the birth of Moses illumine the exodus, those surrounding Samuel's birth illumine the series of events narrated in the books of Samuel, and the ministries of Moses and Joshua illumine those of Elijah and Elisha.) Similarly, the prophets recognized that the future events they announced could be illumined by reference to analogous events of the past. Overlooking these features in OT narrative and prophecy, many have supposed that a story that too neatly fits the author's purpose must therefore be fictional.

On the other hand, it must be acknowledged that Biblical narrators were more than historians. They interpretatively recounted the past with the unswerving purpose of bringing it to bear on the present and the future. In the portrayal of past events, they used their materials to achieve this purpose effectively. Nonetheless, the integrity with which they treated the past ought not to be questioned. The book of Jonah recounts real events in the life and ministry of the prophet himself.

Literary Characteristics

Unlike most other prophetic parts of the OT, this book is a narrative account of a single prophetic mission. Its treatment of that mission is thus similar to the accounts of the ministries of Elijah and Elisha found in 1,2 Kings, and to certain narrative sections of Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel.

As is often the case in Biblical narratives, the author has compressed much into a small space; 40 verses tell the entire story (eight additional verses of poetry are devoted to Jonah's prayer of thanksgiving). In its scope (a single extended episode), compactness, vividness and character delineation, it is much like the book of Ruth.

Also as in Ruth, the author uses structural symmetry effectively. The story is developed in two parallel cycles that call attention to a series of comparisons and contrasts (see Outline). The story's climax is Jonah's grand prayer of confession, "Salvation is from the LORD"—the middle confession of three from his lips (1:9; 2:9; 4:2). The last sentence emphasizes that the Lord's word is final and decisive, while Jonah is left sitting in the hot, open country outside Nineveh.

The author uses the art of representative roles in a straightforward manner. In this story of God's loving concern for all people, Nineveh, the great menace to Israel, is representative of the Gentiles. Correspondingly, stubbornly reluctant Jonah represents Israel's jealousy of her favored relationship with God and her unwillingness to share the Lord's compassion with the nations.

The book depicts the larger scope of God's purpose for Israel: that she might rediscover the truth of His concern for the whole creation and that she might better understand her own role in carrying out that concern.

Jonah's Disobedience

1 The word of the LORD came to [a]Jonah the son of Amittai saying,
2 "Arise, go to [a]Nineveh the great city and [b]cry against it, for their [c]wickedness has come up before Me."
3 But Jonah rose up to flee to [a]Tarshish
[b]from the presence of the LORD. So he went down to [c]Joppa, found a ship which was going to Tarshish, paid the fare and went down into it to go with them to Tarshish from the presence of the LORD.
4 The [a]LORD hurled a great wind on the sea and there was a great storm on the sea so that the ship was about to [1]break up.
5 Then the sailors became afraid and every man cried to [a]his god, and they [b]threw the [1]cargo which was in the ship into the sea to lighten it [2]for them. But Jonah had gone below into the hold of the ship, lain down and fallen sound asleep.
6 So the captain approached him and said,
"How is it that you are sleeping? Get up, [a]call on your god. Perhaps your [b]god will be concerned about us so that we will not perish." 7 Each man said to his mate, "Come, let us [a]cast lots so we may [1]learn on whose account this calamity has struck us." So they cast lots and the [b]lot fell on Jonah.

1:1 The word of the LORD came. See 3:1; a common phrase used to indicate the divine source of the prophet's revelation (see, e.g., 1 Kin 17:8; Jer 1:2,4; Hos 1:1; Joel 1:1; Hag 1:1,3; Zech 1:1,7). Jonah. See Introduction: Title; Author.

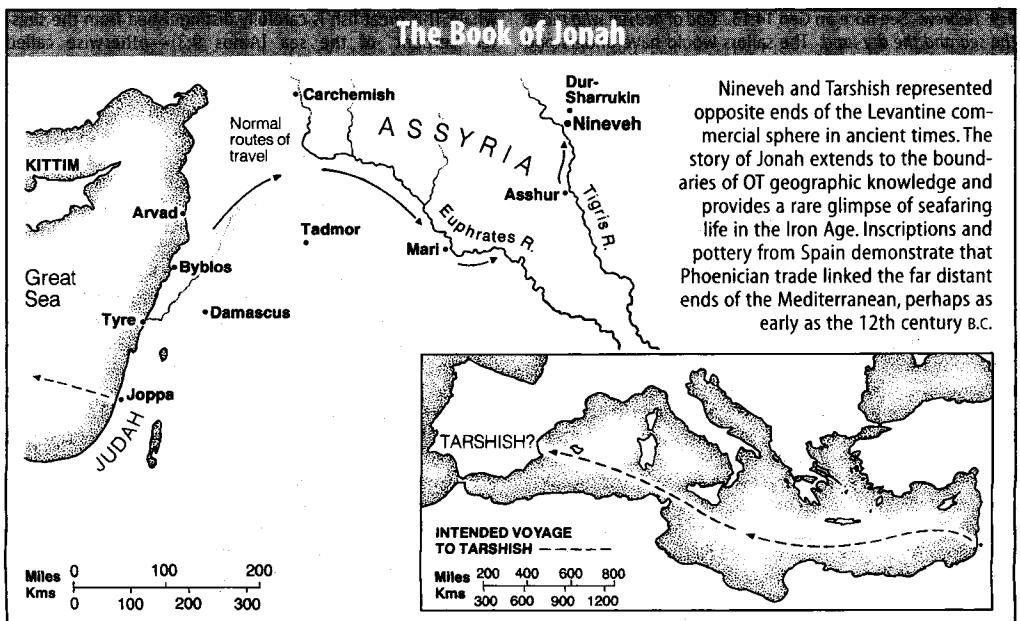
1:2 great city. See 3:2; 4:11; see also note on 3:3. According to Gen 10:11–12, it was first built by Nimrod (perhaps along with Rehoboth Ir, Calah and Resen) and was traditionally known as the "great city." About 700 B.C. Sennacherib made it the capital of Assyria, which it remained until its fall in 612 (see Introduction to Nahum: Background). Nineveh is over 500 miles from Gath-hepher, Jonah's hometown. their wickedness has come up. Cf. Sodom and Gomorrah (Gen 18:20–21). Except for the violence (3:8) of Nineveh, her "wicked way" (3:8,10) is not described in Jonah. Nahum later states that Nineveh's sins included plotting evil against the Lord (Nah 1:11), cruelty and plundering in war (Nah 2:12–13; 3:1,19), prostitution and witchcraft (Nah 3:4) and commercial exploitation (Nah 3:16).

1:3 rose up to flee. The reason is found in 4:2. The futility of trying to run away from the Lord is acknowledged in Ps 139:7,9–10. Tarshish. Perhaps the city of Tartessus in southwest Spain, a Phoenician mining colony near Gibraltar. By heading in the opposite direction from Nineveh, to what seemed like the end of the world, Jonah intended to escape his divinely appointed task.



1:4–5 Although Jonah's mission was to bring God's warning of impending judgment to the pagan world, his refusal to go to Nineveh brings these pagan sailors into peril.

1:4 The LORD hurled a great wind. God's sovereign working in Jonah's mission is evident at several other points also: the fish (v. 17), the release of Jonah (2:10), the plant (4:6), the worm (4:7) and the wind (4:8).

1:5 his god. Apparently the sailors, who may have come from various ports, worshiped several pagan gods.

1:6 the captain approached him. The pagan captain's concern for everyone on board contrasts with the believing prophet's refusal to carry God's warning to Nineveh.

1:7 let us cast lots. The casting of lots was a custom widely practiced in the ancient Near East. The precise method is unclear, though it appears that, for the most part, sticks or marked pebbles were drawn from a receptacle into which they

8 Then they said to him, "[a]Tell us, now! On whose account has this calamity struck us? What is your [b]occupation? And where do you come from? What is your country? From what people are you?"

9 He said to them, "I am a [a]Hebrew, and I [b]fear the LORD [c]God of heaven who [d]made the sea and the dry land."

10 Then the men became extremely frightened and they said to him, "[1]How could you do this?" For the men knew that he was [a]fleeing from the presence of the LORD, because he had told them.

11 So they said to him, "What should we do to you that the sea may become calm [1]for us?"—for the sea was becoming increasingly stormy.

12 He said to them, "Pick me up and throw me into the sea. Then the sea will become calm [1]for you, for I know that [a]on account of me this great storm has come upon you."

13 However, the men [1]rowed desperately to return to land but they could not, for the sea was becoming even stormier against them.

14 Then they called on the [a]LORD and said, "We earnestly pray, O LORD, do not let us perish on account of this man's life and do not put innocent blood on us; for [b]You, O LORD, have done as You have pleased."

15 So they picked up Jonah, threw him into the sea, and the sea [a]stopped its raging.

16 Then the men feared the LORD greatly, and they offered a sacrifice to the LORD and made [a]vows.

17 [1]And the LORD appointed a great fish to swallow Jonah, and Jonah was in the [a]stomach of the fish three days and three nights.

Jonah's Prayer

2 [1]Then Jonah prayed to the LORD his God [a]from the stomach of the fish,

2 and he said,

"I [a]called out of my distress to the LORD,
And He answered me.
I cried for help from the [1]depth of [b]Sheol;
You heard my voice.

3 "For You had [a]cast me into the deep,
Into the heart of the seas,
And the current [1]engulfed me.
All Your [b]breakers and billows passed over me.

4 "So I said, 'I have been [a]expelled from [1]Your sight.
Nevertheless I will look again [b]toward Your holy temple.'

5 "[a]Water encompassed me to the [1]point of death.
The great [b]deep [2]engulfed me,
Weeds were wrapped around my head.

6 "I [a]descended to the roots of the mountains.
The earth with its [b]bars was around me forever,
But You have [c]brought up my life from [1]the pit, O LORD my God.

had been "cast." lot fell on Jonah. By the lot of judgment the Lord exposed the guilty one (cf. Josh 7:14–26; 1 Sam 14:38–44; Prov 16:33).

1:9 Hebrew. See note on Gen 14:13. God of heaven who made the sea and the dry land. The sailors would have understood Jonah's words as being descriptive of the highest divinity. Their present experiences confirmed this truth, since, in the religions of the ancient Near East generally, the supreme god was master of the seas (see note on Josh 3:10). This is Jonah's first confessional statement, and, like those that follow (2:9d; 4:2), it is thoroughly orthodox. Though orthodox in his beliefs, Jonah refuses to fulfill his divine mission to Nineveh.

1:10 How could you do this? This rhetorical question is really an accusation.

1:12 throw me into the sea. Jonah's readiness to die to save the terrified sailors contrasts with his later callous departure from Nineveh to watch from a safe distance while the city perishes—at least he still hoped it would perish (see 4:5).

1:13 rowed desperately. The Hebrew uses the picturesque word meaning "to dig" (with oars) to indicate strenuous effort. The ship could be driven by sails, oars, or both. The reluctance of the sailors to throw Jonah into the sea stands in sharp contrast to Jonah's reluctance to warn Nineveh of impending judgment.

1:16 feared the LORD greatly. There is no evidence that the sailors renounced all other gods (contrast Naaman, 2 Kin 5:15). Ancient pagans were ready to recognize the existence and power of many gods. At the least, however, the sailors acknowledged that the God of Israel was in control of the present events, that He was the one who both stirred up and calmed the storm, and that at this moment He was the one to be recognized and worshiped.

1:17 the LORD appointed. This characteristic phrase occurs also in 4:6–8. great fish. The Hebrew here and the Greek of Matt 12:40 are both general terms for a large fish, not necessarily a whale. This great fish is carefully distinguished from the sinister "serpent" of the sea (Amos 9:3)—otherwise called "Leviathan" (Is 27:1)—and the "sea monster" (Job 7:12; see Ps 74:13; Ezek 32:2). three days and three nights. The phrase used here may, as in Matt 12:40, refer to a period of time including one full day and parts of two others (see notes on Matt 12:40; Luke 9:28; 1 Cor 15:4). In any case, the NT clearly uses Jonah's experience as a type (foreshadowing) of the burial and resurrection of Jesus, who was entombed for "three days and three nights" (Matt 12:40; see Matt 16:4; Luke 11:29–32).

2:2–9 A psalm of thanksgiving for deliverance from death in the sea. Jonah recalls his prayer for help as he was sinking into the depths. His gratitude is heightened by his knowledge that he deserved death but that God had shown him extraordinary mercy. The language of this song indicates that Jonah was familiar with the praise literature of the Psalms.

2:2 Sheol. Figurative for Jonah's near-death experience in the sea (see Ps 18:5; 30:3). See also note on Gen 37:35.

2:3 You had cast me . . . Your breakers. Jonah recognizes that the sailors (1:15) were agents of God's judgment.

2:4 Nevertheless I will look again toward Your holy temple. The same note of hopeful expectation found in the prayers of the Psalms (e.g., Ps 5:7; 27:4). "Temple" here probably refers to the temple in Jerusalem, while "temple" in v. 7 refers to God's heavenly temple. The Israelites held these two residences of God in inseparable association (see 1 Kin 8:38–39).

2:6 pit. The grave (see note on v. 2; see also Ps 30:3).

7 "While [1]I was [a]fainting away,
I [b]remembered the LORD,
And my [c]prayer came to You,
Into [d]Your holy temple.
8 "Those who [a]regard [1]vain idols
Forsake their faithfulness,
9 But I will [a]sacrifice to You
With the voice of thanksgiving.
That which I have vowed I will [b]pay.
[c]Salvation is from the LORD."
10 Then the LORD commanded the [a]fish, and it vomited Jonah up onto the dry land.

Nineveh Repents

3 Now the word of the LORD came to Jonah the second time, saying,
2 "Arise, go to [a]Nineveh the great city and [b]proclaim to it the proclamation which I am going to tell you."
3 So Jonah arose and went to Nineveh according to the word of the LORD. Now Nineveh was [1]an [a]exceedingly great city, a three days' walk.
4 Then Jonah began to go through the city one day's walk; and he [a]cried out and said, "Yet forty days and Nineveh will be overthrown."
5 Then the people of Nineveh believed in God; and they called a [a]fast and put on sackcloth from the greatest to the least of them.
6 When the word reached the king of Nineveh, he arose from his throne, laid aside his robe from him, [a]covered himself with sackcloth and sat on the [1]ashes.
7 He issued a [a]proclamation and it said, "In Nineveh by the decree of the king and his nobles: Do not let man, beast, herd, or flock taste a thing. Do not let them eat or drink water.
8 "But both man and beast must be covered with sackcloth; and let [1]men [a]call on God earnestly that each may [b]turn from his wicked way and from the violence which is in [2]his hands.
9 "[a]Who knows, God may turn and relent and withdraw His burning anger so that we will not perish."
10 When God saw their deeds, that they [a]turned from their wicked way, then [b]God relented concerning the calamity which He had declared He would [1]bring upon them. And He did not do it.

Jonah's Displeasure Rebuked

4 But it greatly displeased Jonah and he became [a]angry.
2 He [a]prayed to the LORD and said, "Please LORD, was not this [1]what I said while I was still in my own country? Therefore [2]in order to forestall this I [b]fled to Tarshish, for I knew that You are a [c]gracious and compassionate God, slow to anger and abundant in lovingkindness, and one who relents concerning calamity.
3 "Therefore now, O LORD, please [a]take my [1]life from me, for death is [b]better to me than life."
4 The LORD said, "Do you have good reason to be angry?"
5 Then Jonah went out from the city and sat east of [1]it. There he made a shelter for himself and [a]sat under it in the shade until he could see what would happen in the city.
6 So the LORD God appointed a [1]plant and it grew up over Jonah to be a shade over his head to deliver him from his discomfort.

6 [1]Probably a castor oil plant, and so in vv 7, 9 and 10

2:9 That which I have vowed. In the book of Psalms, prayers were commonly accompanied by vows, usually involving thank offerings (e.g., Ps 50:14; 56:12; 61:8; 65:1; 66:13–14; 116:12–19). Salvation is from the LORD. The climax of Jonah's thanksgiving prayer. It is Jonah's second confessional statement (see note on 1:9) and stands at the literary midpoint of the book.
3:2 proclaim to it the proclamation which I... tell you. A prophet was the bearer of a message from God, not primarily a foreteller of coming events.
3:3 arose and went. But reluctantly, still wanting the Ninevites to be destroyed (4:1–5). exceedingly great city. See 4:11, which says the city had more than 120,000 inhabitants. Archaeological excavations indicate that the later imperial city of Nineveh was about eight miles around. The fact, however, that the city was a "three days' walk" may suggest a larger area, such as the four-city complex of Nineveh, Rehoboth Ir, Calah and Resen mentioned in Gen 10:11–12. Greater Nineveh covered an area of some 60 miles in circumference. On the other hand, "three days" may have been a conventional way of describing a medium-length distance (see Gen 30:36; Ex 3:18; Josh 9:16–17).
3:5–6 fast... sackcloth... ashes. Customary signs of humbling oneself in repentance (see 1 Kin 21:27; Neh 9:1).
3:5 believed in God. This may mean that the Ninevites genuinely turned to the Lord (cf. Matt 12:41). On the other hand, their belief in God may have gone no deeper than had the sailors' fear of God (see note on 1:16). At least they took the prophet's warning seriously and acted accordingly.
3:6 king of Nineveh. King of Assyria.
3:8 Inclusion of the domestic animals was unusual and expressed the urgency with which the Ninevites sought mercy.
3:9 God often responds in mercy to man's repentance by canceling threatened punishment (v. 10). See note on Jer 18:7–10.
4:1 angry. Jonah was angry that God would have compassion on an enemy of Israel. He wanted God's goodness to be shown only to Israelites, not to Gentiles.
4:2 gracious... lovingkindness. See Ex 34:6–7 and note. Jonah again uses a fixed, confessional formula (see note on 1:9). slow to anger. In contrast, Jonah became angry quickly (vv. 1,9).
4:3 take my life. Cf. 1 Kin 19:4 (Elijah). To Jonah, God's mercy to the Ninevites meant an end to Israel's favored standing with Him. Jonah shortly before had rejoiced in his deliverance from death, but now that Nineveh lives, he prefers to die.
4:5 shelter. Apparently this shelter did not provide enough shade since the next verse indicates that God provided a vine to give more shade. until he could see. Jonah still hoped that Nineveh would be destroyed.
4:6 the LORD God appointed. This characteristic phrase occurs also in vv. 7–8; 1:17. plant. Probably a castor oil plant, a shrub growing over 12 feet high with large, shady leaves. God graciously increased the comfort of His stubbornly defiant prophet.

And Jonah was [2]extremely happy about the [1]plant.

7 But God appointed a worm when dawn came the next day and it attacked the plant and it [a]withered.

8 When the sun came up God appointed a scorching [a]east wind, and the [b]sun beat down on Jonah's head so that he became faint and begged with all his soul to die, saying, "[c]Death is better to me than life."

9 Then God said to Jonah, "Do you have good reason to be angry about the plant?"

6 Probably a castor oil plant, and so in vv 7, 9 and 10 [2]Lit greatly
7 [a]Joel 1:12
8 [a]Ezek 19:12; Hos 13:15 [b]Ps 121:6; Is 49:10 [c]Jon 4:3
10 [1]Lit was a son of a night [2]Lit a son of a night
11 [a]Jon 3:10 [b]Deut 1:39; Is 7:16 [c]Ps 36:6

And he said, "I have good reason to be angry, even to death."

10 Then the LORD said, "You had compassion on the plant for which you did not work and which you did not cause to grow, which [1]came up overnight and perished [2]overnight.

11 "Should I not [a]have compassion on Nineveh, the great city in which there are more than 120,000 persons who do not [b]know the difference between their right and left hand, as well as many [c]animals?"

4:8 Death is better to me. See note on v. 3.

4:10 came up overnight and perished overnight. Indicative of fleeting value.

4:11 Should I not have compassion . . .? God had the first word (1:1), and He also has the last. The commission He gave Jonah displayed His mercy and compassion to the Ninevites, and His last word to Jonah emphatically proclaimed that concern for every creature, both man and animal. Not only does the "LORD . . . preserve man and beast" (Ps 36:6; see Neh 9:6; Ps 145:16), but He takes "no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but (desires) rather that the wicked turn from his way and live" (Ezek 33:11; see Ezek 18:21–23). Jonah and his countrymen traditionally rejoiced in God's special mercies to Israel but wished only His wrath on their enemies. God here rebukes such hardness and proclaims His own gracious benevolence. do not know . . . their right and left hand. Like small children (cf. Deut 1:39; Is 7:15–16), the Ninevites needed God's fatherly compassion. as well as many animals. God's concern extended even to domestic animals.

Micah

INTRODUCTION

Author

Little is known about the prophet Micah beyond what can be learned from the book itself and Jer 26:18. Micah was from the town of Moresheth (1:1), probably Moresheth-gath (1:14) in southern Judah. The prophecy attests to Micah's deep sensitivity to the social ills of his day, especially as they affected the small towns and villages of his homeland.

Date

Micah prophesied sometime between 750 and 686 B.C. during the reigns of Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, kings of Judah (1:1; Jer 26:18). He was therefore a contemporary of Isaiah (see Is 1:1) and Hosea (see Hos 1:1). Micah predicted the fall of Samaria (1:6), which took place in 722–721. This would place his early ministry in the reigns of Jotham (750–732) and Ahaz (735–715). (The reigns of Jotham and Ahaz overlapped.) Micah's message reflects social conditions prior to the religious reforms under Hezekiah (715–686). (The reigns of Ahaz and Hezekiah seem to have overlapped from c. 729 to 715; see 2 Kin 18:9 and note on Is 36:1.)

Background

The background of the book is the same as that found in the earlier portions of Isaiah, though Micah does not exhibit the same knowledge of Jerusalem's political life as Isaiah does. Perhaps this is because he, like Amos, was from a Judahite village.

Israel was in an apostate condition. Micah predicted the fall of her capital, Samaria (1:5–7), and also foretold the inevitable desolation of Judah (1:9–16).

Three significant historical events occurred during this period:

1. In 734–732 B.C. Tiglath-pileser III of Assyria led a military campaign against Aram (Syria), Philistia and parts of Israel and Judah. Ashkelon and Gaza were defeated. Judah, Ammon, Edom and Moab paid tribute to the Assyrian king, but Israel did not fare as well. According to 2 Kin 15:29 the northern kingdom lost most of its territory, including all of Gilead and much of Galilee. Damascus fell in 732 and was annexed to the Assyrian empire.
2. In 722–721 Samaria fell, and the northern kingdom of Israel was conquered by Assyria.
3. In 701 Judah joined a revolt against Assyria and was overrun by King Sennacherib and his army, though Jerusalem was spared.

Literary Characteristics

Micah's style is similar to that of Isaiah. Both prophets use vigorous language and many figures of speech; both show great tenderness in threatening punishment and in promising justice. Micah makes frequent use of plays on words, 1:10–15 (see NASB marg. notes there) being the classic example.

Theme and Message

As the Outline shows, Micah's message alternates between oracles of doom and oracles of hope. The theme is judgment and deliverance by God. Micah also stresses that God hates idolatry, injustice, rebellion and empty ritualism, but He delights in pardoning the penitent. Finally, the prophet declares that Zion will have greater glory in the future than ever before. The Davidic kingdom, though it will seem to come to an end, will reach greater heights through the coming Messianic deliverer.

Destruction in Israel and Judah

1 The [a]word of the LORD which came to [b]Micah of Moresheth in the days of [c]Jotham, [d]Ahaz and [e]Hezekiah, kings of Judah, which he saw concerning Samaria
and Jerusalem.

2 Hear, O peoples, all of [1]you;
[a]Listen, O earth and [2]all it contains,
And let the Lord [3]GOD be a [b]witness
against you,
The Lord from His holy temple.

3 For behold, the LORD is [a]coming forth from His place.
He will come down and [b]tread on the high places of the [1]earth.

4 [a]The mountains will melt under Him
And the valleys will be split,
Like wax before the fire,
Like water poured down a steep place.

5 All this is for the rebellion of Jacob
And for the sins of the house of Israel.
What is the [a]rebellion of Jacob?
Is it not [b]Samaria?
What is the [c]high [1]place of Judah?
Is it not Jerusalem?

6 For I will make Samaria a [a]heap of ruins [1]in the open country,
[b]Planting places for a vineyard.
I will [c]pour her stones down into the valley
And will [d]lay bare her foundations.

7 All of her [a]idols will be smashed,
All of her earnings will be burned with fire
And all of her images I will make desolate,
For she collected them from a [b]harlot's earnings,
And to the earnings of a harlot they will return.

8 Because of this I must lament and wail,
I must go [a]barefoot and naked;
I must make a lament like the [b]jackals
And a mourning like the ostriches.

9 For her [1][a]wound is incurable,
For [b]it has come to Judah;
It has reached the [c]gate of my people,
Even to Jerusalem.

10 [a]Tell it not in Gath,
Weep not at all.
At [1]Beth-le-aphrah roll yourself in the dust.

11 [1]Go on your way, inhabitant of
[2]Shaphir, in [a]shameful nakedness.
The inhabitant of [3][b]Zaanan does not [4]escape.
The lamentation of [5]Beth-ezel: "He will take from you its [6]support."

12 For the inhabitant of [1]Maroth
Becomes weak [a]waiting for good,
Because a calamity has come down from the LORD
To the [b]gate of Jerusalem.

1:1 Micah. Means "Who is like the LORD?" Moresheth. See Introduction: Author. Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah. See Introduction: Date. For background on these kings and the book of Micah see 2 Kin 15:32–16:20; 18–20. Isaiah, Hosea and Micah prophesied at roughly the same time (see Is 1:1; Hos 1:1). which he saw. In a prophetic vision (see Is 1:1 and note). Samaria and Jerusalem. The capitals of Israel and Judah respectively. The judgment predicted by Micah involved these nations and not just their capital cities.

1:2 Hear. The Hebrew for this word introduces prophetic addresses also in 3:1 and 6:1 (see also 3:9; 6:2). peoples . . . earth. All nations—an announcement that the day of the Lord is at hand, when God will call the nations to account. In view of that day Micah speaks in his prophecy of the impending judgments on Israel and Judah. holy temple. Heaven (see v. 3), as in Ps 11:4; Jon 2:7; Hab 2:20.

1:3 the LORD is coming. An OT expression describing the Lord's intervention in history (see Ps 18:9; 96:13; 144:5; Is 26:21; 31:4; 64:1–3). high places. May refer to mountains as well as to pagan shrines, since both are cited here (vv. 4–5). Cf. Amos 4:13.

1:4 mountains will melt. See Ps 97:5; Nah 1:5.

1:5 Jacob. Jacob was an alternate name for Israel (see Gen 32:28 and note; 35:10). Israel. Here (and in v. 13) specifically the northern kingdom, but Micah uses the name also for the southern kingdom (see 3:1,8–9; 5:1,3) or for the whole covenant people (see vv. 14–15; 2:12; 5:2; 6:2). high place. Pagan center of idolatry (see 2 Chr 28:25).

1:6–7 God is the speaker. This prophecy was fulfilled during Micah's lifetime when Assyria destroyed Samaria in 722–721 B.C. (2 Kin 17:6).

1:6 into the valley. Samaria was built on a hill (1 Kin 16:24).

1:7 harlot's. Prostitution is often an OT symbol for idolatry or spiritual unfaithfulness (Ex 34:15–16; Judg 2:17; Ezek 23:29–30). earnings. The wealth that Samaria had gained from her idolatry will be taken by the Assyrians and placed in their own temples to be used again in the worship of idols.

1:8 this. The coming destruction of Samaria. barefoot. A sign of mourning (2 Sam 15:30). It is possible that Micah actually walked stripped and barefoot through Jerusalem (cf. Is 20:2). naked. Clothed only in a loincloth.

1:9 wound. The judgment about to overtake Samaria. incurable. See Is 17:11 and note; Jer 30:12. gate. The Assyrian destruction of the northern kingdom will spread like a malignant disease to the gate of Jerusalem (v. 12). The gate was where the process of town government was carried on (see Gen 19:1 and note; Ruth 4:1–4).

1:10–15 Micah employs several plays on words (see NASB marg. on these verses). The towns mentioned lie in the Shephelah, i.e., the foothills (500–1,500 feet high) between the Mediterranean coastal plain and the mountains of Judah.

1:10 Tell it not in Gath. These words introduce a funeral lament over Judah. Micah did not want the pagan people in Gath to gloat over the downfall of God's people. Cf. 2 Sam 1:20. roll yourself in the dust. As a sign of grief over the coming catastrophe. See Is 47:1 and note.

1:11 shameful nakedness. A reference to their future condition as prisoners (see Is 20:4). does not escape. Because of the invasion, the people will not dare to go outside their houses.

1:12 has come. Micah foresees the future so clearly that to him it seems as though it has already come.

13 Harness the chariot to the team of horses,
O inhabitant of [a]Lachish—
She was the beginning of sin
To the daughter of Zion—
Because in you were found
The [b]rebellious acts of Israel.
14 Therefore you will give parting [a]gifts
On behalf of Moresheth-gath;
The houses of [b]Achzib will become a [c]deception
To the kings of Israel.
15 Moreover, I will bring on you
The one who takes possession,
O inhabitant of [1a]Mareshah.
The glory of Israel will enter [b]Adullam.
16 Make yourself [a]bald and cut off your hair,
Because of the children of your delight;
Extend your baldness like the eagle,
For they will [b]go from you into exile.

Woe to Oppressors

2 Woe to those who [a]scheme iniquity,
Who work out evil on their beds!
[1b]When morning comes, they do it,
For it is in the [c]power of their hands.
2 They [a]covet fields and then [b]seize them,
And houses, and take them away.
They [1c]rob a man and his house,
A man and his inheritance.
3 Therefore thus says the LORD,
"Behold, I am [a]planning against this [b]family a calamity
From which you [c]cannot remove your necks;
And you will not walk [d]haughtily,
For it will be an [e]evil time.

5 "Therefore you will have no one

For you by lot in the assembly of the LORD.

1:13 Lachish. One of the largest towns in Judah (see Is 36:2 and note). Later, Sennacherib was so proud of capturing it that he decorated his palace at Nineveh with a relief picturing his exploits. Harness . . . the team. In order to escape. Lachish sounds like the Hebrew for "to the team." daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants.

1:14 parting gifts. The Hebrew for these words is translated "dowry" in 1 Kin 9:16. Jerusalem must give up Moresheth-gath, as a father gives a "dowry" to his daughter when she marries. Achzib. Achzib means "deception." The word "deceptive" is used in Jer 15:18 to describe a brook that has dried up in summer. Like such a brook, the city of Achzib will cease to exist. Israel. See note on 1:5.

1:15 Micah again represents God as speaking, as in vv. 6–7. glory of Israel. Either God Himself (see 1 Sam 15:29) or Israel's leaders (more likely in this context). will enter Adullam. In judgment (if reference is to God), or in flight (if reference is to Israel's leaders).

1:16 Israel was taken into exile by the Assyrians in 722–721 B.C., and Judah by the Babylonians in 586.

2:1–5 Directed primarily against wealthy landowners who oppressed the poor.

2:1 power of their hands. The rich, oppressing classes continued to get rich at the expense of the poor because they controlled the power structures of their society.

2:2 They covet. In violation of the tenth commandment (see Ex 20:17 and note; Deut 5:21). inheritance. Land that was to be the permanent possession of a particular family. See Lev 25:10,13 (year of jubilee); Num 27:1–11; 36:1–12 (Zelophehad's daughters); 1 Kin 21:1–19 (Naboth's vineyard).

2:3 Therefore. Because of the sins of Israel's influential classes, calamity will strike. calamity. The impending exile.

2:4 We . . . me. The rich landowners, on whom God's judgment will fall. He. God. apostate. The treacherous Assyrians (see Is 33:1 and note) who will capture the land.

2:5 you. The oppressing classes—the rich landowners. no one stretching a measuring line. They will be cut off from all the promises of the covenant people.

2:6 they. The false prophets whose words were addressed to Micah.

2:7 Verses 6–7a are spoken by Micah; vv. 7b–13 are spoken by God.

2:10 place of rest. A place that could be regarded as one's own possession, where a people could settle in security (cf. Josh 1:13–15; 21:43–44; 22:4).

11 "If a man walking after wind and
[a]falsehood
Had told lies and said,
'I will [1]speak out to you concerning
[b]wine and liquor,'
He would be [2]spokesman to [c]this
people.

12 "I will surely [a]assemble all of you,
Jacob,
I will surely gather the [b]remnant of Israel.
I will put them together like sheep in the fold;
Like a flock in the midst of its pasture
They will be noisy with men.
13 "The breaker goes up before them;
They break out, pass through the gate and go out by it.
So their king goes on before them,
And the LORD at their head."

Rulers Denounced

3 And I said,
"[a]Hear now, heads of Jacob
And rulers of the house of Israel.
Is it not for you to [b]know justice?
2 "You who hate good and love evil,
Who [a]tear off their skin from them
And their flesh from their bones,
3 Who [a]eat the flesh of my people,
Strip off their skin from them,
Break their bones
And [b]chop them up as for the pot
And as meat in a kettle."
4 Then they will [a]cry out to the LORD,
But He will not answer them.
Instead, He will [b]hide His face from them at that time
Because they have [c]practiced evil
deeds.

5 Thus says the LORD concerning the prophets who [a]lead my people astray;
When they have something to bite with their teeth,
They [b]cry, "Peace,"
But against him who puts nothing in their mouths
They declare holy war.
6 Therefore it will be [a]night for you—without vision,
And darkness for you—without divination.
The [b]sun will go down on the prophets,
And the day will become dark over
them.
7 The seers will be [a]ashamed
And the [b]diviners will be embarrassed.
Indeed, they will all [c]cover their
[1]mouths
Because there is [d]no answer from God.
8 On the other hand [a]I am filled with power—
With the Spirit of the LORD—
And with justice and courage
To [b]make known to Jacob his rebellious act,
Even to Israel his sin.
9 Now hear this, [a]heads of the house of Jacob
And rulers of the house of Israel,
Who [b]abhor justice
And twist everything that is straight,
10 Who [a]build Zion with bloodshed
And Jerusalem with violent injustice.
11 Her leaders pronounce [a]judgment for a bribe,
Her [b]priests instruct for a price
And her prophets divine for money.
Yet they lean on the LORD saying,
"[c]Is not the LORD in our midst?
Calamity will not come upon us."
12 Therefore, on account of you
[a]Zion will be plowed as a field,
[b]Jerusalem will become a heap of ruins,
And the [c]mountain of the [1]temple will become high places of a forest.

Peaceful Latter Days

4 And it will come about in the [a]last days
That the [b]mountain of the house of
the LORD
Will be established [1]as the chief of the mountains.

2:11 Anyone who promised greater affluence would gain a hearing.
2:12–13 Although Israel will be carried into captivity, a remnant will return (see note on Is 1:9).
2:12 Jacob . . . Israel. Here perhaps the entire nation, north and south. Contrast 1:5; 3:1,9–10.
3:1–12 Verses 1–4 deal with the sins of the leaders of Israel, vv. 5–7 with the false prophets and vv. 9–12 with the leaders, priests and prophets.
3:1 Jacob . . . Israel. Both names refer to Judah here (see vv. 9–10).
3:2–3 tear off their skin . . . as meat in a kettle. A series of figures of speech describing the cruel way the leaders treat the people.
3:2 hate good and love evil. Contrast Amos 5:15; Rom 12:9.
3:4 they. The leaders. He will not answer. See v. 7. hide His face. See Deut 31:17; Is 1:15 and note. Disobedience leads to separation from God.
3:5 cry "Peace." The false prophets predicted peace for Judah while Micah predicted destruction and captivity (see v. 12; 4:10). See also Jer 6:13–14; 8:10–11.
3:7 seers. An older term for "prophets" (see note on 1 Sam 9:9).
3:8 One of the chief purposes of Micah was to declare to Judah its sin. filled . . . With the Spirit. The prophets were Spirit-filled messengers (see Is 48:16).
3:11 for a bribe. See Is 1:23; 5:23.
3:12 The destruction of Jerusalem occurred in 586 B.C. This verse was quoted a century later in Jer 26:18. Jer 26:19 indicates that Micah's preaching may have been instrumental in the revival under King Hezekiah (see 2 Kin 18:1–6; 2 Chr 29–31).
4:1–3 See notes on Is 2:2–4, a passage that is almost the same as these verses.

It will be raised above the hills,
And the [c]peoples will stream to it.
2 [a]Many nations will come and say,
"[b]Come and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD
And to the house of the God of Jacob,
That [c]He may teach us about His ways
And that we may walk in His paths."
For [d]from Zion will go forth the law,
Even the word of the LORD from
Jerusalem.
3 And He will [a]judge between many peoples
And render decisions for mighty,
[1]distant nations.
Then they will hammer their swords
[b]into plowshares
And their spears into pruning hooks;
Nation will not lift up sword against nation,
And never again will they [2]train for war.
4 Each of them will [a]sit under his vine
And under his fig tree,
With [b]no one to make them afraid,
For the [c]mouth of the LORD of hosts has spoken.
5 Though all the peoples walk
Each in the [a]name of his god,
As for us, [b]we will walk
In the name of the [c]LORD our God
forever and ever.

6 "In that day," declares the LORD,
"I will assemble the [a]lame
And [b]gather the outcasts,
Even those whom I have afflicted.
7 "I will make the lame a [a]remnant
And the outcasts a strong nation,
And the [b]LORD will reign over them in Mount Zion
From now on and forever.
8 "As for you, [1][a]tower of the flock,
[2]Hill of the daughter of Zion,
To you it will come—
Even the [b]former dominion will come,
The kingdom of the daughter of
Jerusalem.

9 "Now, why do you [a]cry out loudly?
Is there no king among you,
Or has your [b]counselor perished,
That agony has gripped you like a woman in childbirth?
10 "[a]Writhe and labor to give birth,
Daughter of Zion,
Like a woman in childbirth;
For now you will [b]go out of the city,
Dwell in the field,
And go to Babylon.
[c]There you will be rescued;
[d]There the LORD will redeem you
From the hand of your enemies.
11 "And now [a]many nations have been assembled against you
Who say, 'Let her be polluted,
And let our eyes [1]gloat over Zion.'
12 "But they do not [a]know the thoughts of
the LORD,
And they do not understand His purpose;
For He has gathered them like sheaves to the threshing floor.
13 "Arise and [a]thresh, daughter of Zion,
For your horn I will make iron
And your hoofs I will make bronze,
That you may [b]pulverize many
peoples,
That you may [c]devote to the LORD
their unjust gain
And their wealth to the Lord of all the earth.

Birth of the King in Bethlehem

5 "[1]Now muster yourselves in troops, daughter of troops;
[2]They have laid siege against us;
With a rod they will [a]smite the judge of Israel on the cheek.
2 "[1]But as for [a]you, Bethlehem Ephrathah, Too little to be among the clans of Judah,
From [b]you One will go forth for Me to be [c]ruler in Israel.
[2]His goings forth are [d]from long ago,
From the days of eternity."
3 Therefore He will [a]give them up until the time
When she [b]who is in labor has borne a child.

4:5 walk In the name of the LORD. Confess, love, obey and rely on the Lord. Cf. Zech 10:12.
4:6 In that day. The Messianic period (see v. 1; see also note on Is 2:11,17,20).
4:7 remnant. The people of God (see 2:12; see also note on Is 1:9).
4:8 tower of the flock. The capital city of David, the shepherd-king. former dominion. The kingdom of David will be restored under the Messiah.
4:9–13 In vv. 9–10 Micah foresees the collapse of the monarchy and the impending exile in 586 B.C. as well as the restoration beginning in 538. Verses 11–13 are a prophecy of judgment against the gloating enemies of Jerusalem.
5:1 Jerusalem will be besieged, and her kings will be seized and taken to Babylon (the last king, Zedekiah, was blinded; see 2 Kin 25:7).
5:2 In contrast to the dire prediction of v. 1, Micah shifts to a positive note. Ephrathah. The region in which Bethlehem was located (see Ruth 1:2; 4:11; 1 Sam 17:12). ruler. Ultimately Christ, who will rule (see note on 4:8) for God the Father. goings forth . . . long ago. His beginnings were much earlier than His human birth (see John 8:58). From . . . eternity. Within history (cf. 2 Sam 7:12–16; Is 9:6–7; Amos 9:11), and even from eternity.
5:3 He will give them up. Until the Messiah is born and begins His rule. Israel. See note on 1:5.

Then the [c]remainder of His brethren
Will return to the sons of Israel.
4 And He will arise and [a]shepherd His flock
In the strength of the LORD,
In the majesty of the name of the LORD His God.
And they will [1]remain,
Because [2]at that time He will be great
To the [b]ends of the earth.
5 This One [a]will be our peace.

When the [b]Assyrian invades our land,
When he tramples on our [1]citadels,
Then we will raise against him
Seven shepherds and eight leaders of men.
6 They will [a]shepherd the land of Assyria with the sword,
The land of [b]Nimrod at its entrances;
And He will [c]deliver us from the Assyrian
When he attacks our land
And when he tramples our territory.

7 Then the [a]remnant of Jacob
Will be among many peoples
Like [b]dew from the LORD,
Like [c]showers on vegetation
Which do not wait for man
Or delay for the sons of men.
8 The remnant of Jacob
Will be among the nations,
Among many peoples
[a]Like a lion among the beasts of the forest,
Like a young lion among flocks of sheep,
Which, if he passes through,
[b]Tramples down and [c]tears,
And there is [d]none to rescue.
9 Your hand will be [a]lifted up against your adversaries,
And all your enemies will be cut off.

10 "It will be in that day," declares the LORD,
"[a]That I will cut off your [b]horses from among you
And destroy your chariots.
11 "I will also cut off the [a]cities of your land
And tear down all your [b]fortifications.
12 "I will cut off [a]sorceries from your hand,
And you will have fortune-tellers no more.
13 "[a]I will cut off your carved images
And your sacred pillars from among you,
So that you will no longer bow down
To the work of your hands.
14 "I will root out your [1][a]Asherim from among you
And destroy your cities.

On the nations which have not obeyed."

God's Indictment of His People

6 Hear now what the LORD is saying,
"Arise, plead your case [1]before the mountains,
And let the hills hear your voice.
2 "Listen, you mountains, to the indictment of the LORD,
And you enduring [a]foundations of the earth,
Because the [b]LORD has a case against His people;
Even with Israel He will dispute.
3 "[a]My people, [b]what have I done to you,
And [c]how have I wearied you?
Answer Me.
4 "Indeed, I [a]brought you up from the land of Egypt
And [b]ransomed you from the house of slavery,
And I sent before you [c]Moses, Aaron and [d]Miriam.
5 "My people, remember now
What [a]Balak king of Moab counseled
And what Balaam son of Beor answered him,

5:4 strength . . . majesty. The Messiah will shepherd and rule in the strength and majesty of God the Father.
5:5 our peace. Jesus is "our peace" (Eph 2:14). In addition to freedom from war, the Hebrew word for "peace" also connotes prosperity in the OT. See notes on Is 9:6 ("Prince of Peace"); Luke 2:14. Assyrian. Symbolic of all the enemies of God's people in every age. See Is 11:11; Zech 10:10–11. we. The people of God. Seven . . . eight. A figurative way of saying "many" (see note on Job 5:19).
5:6 land of Nimrod. Assyria. See Gen 10:8–11. He. The ruler of v. 2.
5:8 lion. Like the previous simile (v. 7) this pictures the inevitable progress of the people of God toward triumph over their enemies (v. 9).
5:10–14 In the Messianic era the people of God will not depend on weapons of war or pagan idols. The successes of His people are always achieved by dependence on Him.
6:1–16 This chapter depicts a courtroom scene in which the Lord lodges a legal complaint against Israel. In vv. 1–2 the Lord summons the people to listen to His accusation and to prepare their defense against the charges that follow in vv. 9–16. The Lord speaks in vv. 3–5, poignantly reminding the people of His gracious acts in their behalf. In vv. 6–7 Israel is speaking, and in v. 8 Micah responds directly to the nation, answering the questions of vv. 6–7. God charges the people with specific wrongs in vv. 9–16.
6:1–2 mountains . . . foundations of the earth. Inanimate objects were called on as third-party witnesses because of their enduring nature and because they were witnesses to His covenant (see Deut 32:1; Josh 24:27; Is 1:2 and note).
6:2 Israel. Primarily Judah here.
6:3 My people. Indicative of a tender rebuke (see also v. 5).
6:5 Balak . . . Balaam. See Num 22–24. Shittim to Gilgal. See Josh 3:1; 4:19.

And from [b]Shittim to [c]Gilgal,
So [1]that you might know the [d]righteous acts of the LORD."

What God Requires of Man

6 [a]With what shall I come to the LORD
And bow myself before the God on high?
Shall I come to Him with [b]burnt offerings,
With yearling calves?
7 Does the LORD take delight in
[a]thousands of rams,
In ten thousand rivers of oil?
Shall I present my [b]firstborn for my rebellious acts,
The fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?
8 He has [a]told you, O man, what is good;
And [b]what does the LORD require of you
But to [c]do justice, to [d]love [1]kindness,
And to walk [2e]humbly with your God?

9 The voice of the LORD will call to the city—
And it is sound wisdom to fear Your name:
"Hear, O tribe. Who has appointed [1]its time?
10 "Is there yet a man in the wicked house,
Along with treasures of [a]wickedness
And a [1b]short measure that is cursed?
11 "Can I justify wicked [a]scales
And a bag of deceptive weights?
12 "For the rich men of the [1]city are full of
[a]violence,
Her residents speak [b]lies,
And their [c]tongue is deceitful in their mouth.
13 "So also I will make you [a]sick, striking you down,
[b]Desolating you because of your sins.
14 "You will eat, but you will [a]not be satisfied,
And your [1]vileness will be in your midst.
You will try to remove for safekeeping,
But you will [b]not preserve anything,
And what you do preserve I will give to the sword.

The Prophet Acknowledges

7 Woe is me! For I am
Like the fruit pickers, like the [a]grape gatherers.
There is not a cluster of grapes to eat,
Or a [b]first-ripe fig which [1]I crave.
2 The [1]godly person has [a]perished from the land,
And there is no upright person among men.
All of them lie in wait for [b]bloodshed;
Each of them hunts the other with a
[c]net.
3 Concerning evil, both hands do it
[a]well.
The prince asks, also the judge, for a [b]bribe,
And a great man speaks the desire of his soul;
So they weave it together.
4 The best of them is like a [a]briar,
The most upright like a [b]thorn hedge.
The day when you post your watchmen,
Your [c]punishment will come.
Then their [d]confusion will occur.
5 Do not [a]trust in a neighbor;
Do not have confidence in a friend.
From her who lies in your bosom
Guard [1]your lips.
6 For [a]son treats father contemptuously,
Daughter rises up against her mother,
Daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law;
[b]A man's enemies are the men of his own household.

6:6 The same thought is expressed in 1 Sam 15:22; Ps 51:16; Hos 6:6; Is 1:11–15 (see note there). Micah does not deny the desirability of sacrifices but shows that it does no good to offer them without obedience.

6:8 man. The use of the singular makes the accusation personal, though Micah is speaking to all Israel (see also Deut 10:12–13). do justice . . . love kindness. The kind of obedience God expects from His covenant people.

6:9 city. Jerusalem.

6:10 measure. About half a bushel.

6:11 See Prov 11:1; 20:23; Hos 12:7; Amos 8:5.

6:12 Her. Jerusalem's.

6:13 So. See note on 2:3.

6:16 Omri . . . Ahab. 1 Kin 16:25,30 says that they did more evil than all the kings who preceded them.

7:1–20 The speakers in this chapter are Micah (vv. 1–7), Zion (vv. 8–10), Micah (vv. 11–13), perhaps Zion (v. 14), God (v. 15), Micah (vv. 16–20). The chapter begins on a note of gloom but ends with a statement of hope.

7:1–2 Looking for the godly is like looking for summer fruit when the harvest has ended (see also Jer 8:20).

7:4 day when . . . your watchmen. The day of judgment that the prophets warned about (see Jer 6:17; Ezek 3:17–21).

7:6 The family unit was disintegrating.

God Is the Source of Salvation and Light

7 But as for me, I will [a]watch
expectantly for the LORD;
I will [b]wait for the God of my salvation.
My [c]God will hear me.
8 [a]Do not rejoice over me, O [b]my enemy.
Though I fall I will [c]rise;
Though I dwell in darkness, the LORD is a [d]light for me.

9 I will bear the indignation of the LORD
Because I have sinned against Him, Until He [a]pleads my case and executes justice for me.
He will bring me out to the [b]light,
And I will see His [1][c]righteousness.
10 Then my enemy will see,
And shame will cover her who [a]said
to me,
"Where is the LORD your God?"
My eyes will look on her;
[1]At that time she will [2]be [b]trampled down
Like mire of the streets.
11 It will be a day for [a]building your walls.
On that day will your boundary be extended.
12 It will be a day when [1]they will [a]come to you
From Assyria and the cities of Egypt,
From Egypt even to the [2]Euphrates, Even from sea to sea and mountain to mountain.
13 And the earth will become [a]desolate
because of her inhabitants,
On account of the [b]fruit of their deeds.

14 [a]Shepherd Your people with Your [b]scepter,
The flock of Your [1]possession
Which dwells by itself in the woodland,
In the midst of [2]a fruitful field.
Let them feed in [c]Bashan and Gilead
[d]As in the days of old.
15 "As in the days when you came out
from the land of Egypt,
I will show [1][a]you miracles."
16 Nations [a]will see and be ashamed
Of all their might.
They will [b]put their hand on their
mouth,
Their ears will be deaf.
17 They will [a]lick the dust like a serpent,
Like [b]reptiles of the earth.
They will come [c]trembling out of their
[1]fortresses;
To the LORD our God they will come in [d]dread
And they will be afraid before You.
18 Who is a God like You, who [a]pardons
iniquity
And passes over the rebellious act of the [b]remnant of His [1]possession?
He does not [c]retain His anger forever,
Because He [d]delights in [2]unchanging
love.
19 He will again have compassion on us;
[a]He will tread our iniquities under foot.
Yes, You will [b]cast all [1]their sins
Into the depths of the sea.
20 You will give [1][a]truth to Jacob
And [2]unchanging love to Abraham,
Which You [b]swore to our forefathers
From the days of old.

7:14 possession. Israel (see also v. 18; Ps 94:14).

7:15–17 It is possible that these verses constitute a prayer that God will show His wonders again as in the exodus, that the nations will see and be ashamed, and that they will turn to the Lord in fear.

7:16 When the nations see God's power at the Messiah's coming, they will be amazed.

7:17 lick the dust like a serpent. A picture of defeat.

7:18–20 The conclusion to the whole book, not just to ch. 7.

7:18 Who is a God like You . . .? Perhaps a pun on Micah's name (see note on 1:1). Cf. Ex 15:11; Ps 89:6.

7:19 sins Into the depths of the sea. See note on Is 38:17.

7:20 Jacob . . . Abraham. God had sworn to Abraham (Gen 22:17) and Jacob (Gen 28:14) that their descendants would be as numerous as the dust of the earth and the sand on the seashore, and He had promised Abraham that he would be the father of many nations (Gen 17:5; cf. Luke 1:54–55). All believers are ultimately included in this promise (Rom 4; Gal 3:6–29; Heb 11:12).

Nahum

Author

The book contains the "vision of Nahum" (1:1), whose name means "comfort" and is related to the name Nehemiah, meaning "The LORD comforts" or "comfort of the LORD." (Nineveh's fall, which is Nahum's theme, would bring comfort to Judah.) Nothing is known about him except his hometown (Elkosh), and even its general location is uncertain.

Date

In 3:8–10 the author speaks of the fall of Thebes, which happened in 663 B.C., as already past. In all three chapters Nahum prophesied Nineveh's fall, which was fulfilled in 612. Nahum therefore uttered this oracle between 663 and 612, perhaps near the end of this period since he represents the fall of Nineveh as imminent (2:1; 3:14,19). This would place him during the reign of Josiah and make him a contemporary of Zephaniah and the young Jeremiah.

Background

Assyria (represented by Nineveh, 1:1) had already destroyed Samaria (722–721 B.C.), resulting in the captivity of the northern kingdom of Israel, and posed a present threat to Judah. The Assyrians were brutally cruel, their kings often being depicted as gloating over the gruesome punishments inflicted on conquered peoples. They conducted their wars with shocking ferocity, uprooted whole populations as state policy and deported them to other parts of their empire. The leaders of conquered cities were tortured and horribly mutilated before being executed (see note on 3:3). No wonder the dread of Assyria fell on all her neighbors!

About 700 B.C. King Sennacherib made Nineveh the capital of the Assyrian empire, and it remained the capital until it was destroyed in 612. Jonah had announced its destruction earlier (Jon 3:4), but the people repented and the destruction was temporarily averted. Not long after that, however, Nineveh reverted to its extreme wickedness, brutality and pride. The brutality reached its peak under Ashurbanipal (669–627), the last great ruler of the Assyrian empire. After his death, Assyria's influence and power waned rapidly until 612, when Nineveh was overthrown (see notes on 1:14; 2:1). (Further historical information is given in notes throughout the book.)

Recipients

Some words are addressed to Judah (see 1:12–13,15), but most are addressed to Nineveh (see 1:11,14; 2:1,13; 3:5–17,19) or its king (3:18). The book, however, was meant for Judahite readers.

Literary Style

The contents are primarily judicial (judgment oracles), with appropriate descriptions and vocabulary, as well as intense moods, sights and sounds. The language is poetic, with frequent use of metaphors and similes, vivid word pictures, repetition and many short—often staccato—phrases (see, e.g., 3:2–3). Rhetorical questions punctuate the flow of thought, which has a marked stress on moral indignation toward injustice.

Theological Themes

The focal point of the entire book is the Lord's judgment on Nineveh for her oppression, cruelty, idolatry and wickedness. The book ends with the destruction of the city.

According to Rom 11:22, God is not only kind but also stern. In Nahum, God is not only "slow to anger" (1:3) and "a stronghold . . . and He knows those who take refuge in Him" (1:7), but also one who "will by no means leave the guilty unpunished" (1:3). God's righteous and just kingdom will ultimately triumph, for kingdoms built on wickedness and tyranny must eventually fall, as Assyria did.

In addition, Nahum declares the universal sovereignty of God. God is Lord of history and of all nations; as such He controls their destinies.

God Is Awesome

1 The [1][a]oracle of [b]Nineveh. The book of the vision of Nahum the Elkoshite.
2 A [a]jealous and avenging God is the
LORD;
The LORD is [b]avenging and [1]wrathful.
The LORD takes [c]vengeance on His adversaries,
And He reserves wrath for His enemies.
3 The LORD is [a]slow to anger and great in power,
And the LORD will by no means leave
the guilty unpunished.
In [b]whirlwind and storm is His way,
And [c]clouds are the dust beneath His feet.
4 He [a]rebukes the sea and makes it dry;
He dries up all the rivers.
[b]Bashan and Carmel wither;
The blossoms of Lebanon wither.
5 Mountains [a]quake because of Him
And the hills [b]dissolve;
Indeed the earth is [c]upheaved by His presence,
The [d]world and all the inhabitants in
it.
6 [a]Who can stand before His indignation?
Who can endure the [b]burning of His
anger?
His [c]wrath is poured out like fire
And the [d]rocks are broken up by Him.
7 The LORD is [a]good,
A stronghold in the day of trouble,
And [b]He knows those who take refuge in Him.
8 But with an [a]overflowing flood
He will make a complete end of [1]its site,
And will pursue His enemies into [b]darkness.

9 Whatever you [a]devise against the LORD,
He will make a [b]complete end of it.
Distress will not rise up twice.
10 Like tangled [a]thorns,
And like those who are [b]drunken with their drink,
They are [c]consumed
As stubble completely withered.
11 From you has gone forth
One who [a]plotted evil against the LORD,
A [1][b]wicked counselor.
12 Thus says the LORD,
"Though they are at full strength and likewise many,
Even so, they will be [a]cut off and pass
away.
Though I have afflicted you,
I will afflict you [b]no longer.
13 "So now, I will [a]break his yoke bar from upon you,
And I will tear off your shackles."

14 The LORD has issued a command concerning [1]you:
"[2]Your name will [a]no longer be perpetuated.
I will cut off [3b]idol and [4]image
From the house of your gods.
I will prepare your [c]grave,
For you are contemptible."

15 [1]Behold, [a]on the mountains the feet of him who brings good news,
Who announces peace!

1:1 The title of the book. oracle. See note on Is 13:1. Nineveh. See Introduction: Background; see also notes on Jon 1:2; 3:3. Here the capital city stands for the entire Assyrian empire. vision. See note on Is 1:1. Nahum the Elkoshite. See Introduction: Author.

1:2–3 The covenant name Yahweh ("the LORD") is emphasized.

1:2 jealous. See note on Ex 20:5. avenging . . . avenging . . . vengeance. God acts justly in judgment toward all who oppose Him and His kingdom. The repetition is for emphasis.

1:3 the guilty. Such as Nineveh. whirlwind . . . storm . . . clouds. See notes on Ps 18:7–15; 68:4; 77:16–19; 104:3–4.

1:4 rebukes the sea and makes it dry. As at the crossing of the Red Sea (Ex 14). dries up all the rivers. As at the crossing of the Jordan (Josh 3). Bashan . . . Carmel . . . Lebanon. See notes on Song 7:5; Is 2:13; 33:9; 35:2; Amos 4:1. These three places were noted for their fertility, vineyards and trees, but at the Lord's word they wither.

1:5 mountains . . . hills . . . earth . . . world. Emblems of stability and permanence.

1:6 Who can stand . . . ? Who can endure . . . ? Rhetorical questions. If mountains quake before the Lord (v. 5), what human being can think that he is not vulnerable? Cf. Rom 2:3–5.

1:7 those who take refuge in Him. Such as Judah.

1:8 overflowing flood. Symbolic of an invading army (see Is 8:7–8). end . . . darkness. In 612 B.C. that end came for Nineveh, and the darkness enveloped her. Through the ministry of Jonah, Nineveh had formerly experienced the light of God. But she later rejected it, and the result was the darkness of judgment.

1:9 you devise. See note on v. 11. Distress will not rise up twice. God never permitted the Assyrians a second victory over the Judahites; the first was the fall of Samaria (722–721 B.C.) and of the northern kingdom (Sennacherib's invasion in 701 was not a complete victory; see 2 Kin 18:13–19:37; Is 36–37).

1:10 drunken with their drink. See 3:11 and note.

1:11 One who plotted evil. Possibly the Assyrian king Ashurbanipal (669–627 B.C.), the last great Assyrian emperor, whose western expeditions succeeded in subduing Egypt and to whom King Manasseh had to submit as a vassal (see 2 Chr 33:11–13).

1:12 they. The Assyrians. I have afflicted you. God had used Assyria as the rod of His anger against His covenant-breaking people in the days of Ahaz (Is 10:5) and again in the time of Manasseh.

1:13 I will break his yoke. Judah was Assyria's vassal; that yoke would be broken.

1:14 I will prepare your grave. God used the Babylonians, the Medes and the Scythians to dig Nineveh's grave in 612 B.C. For the fulfillment of this prophecy see Ezek 32:22–23.

1:15 mountains. Of Jerusalem and Judah. feet of him who

[b]Celebrate your feasts, O Judah;
Pay your vows.
For [c]never again will the [2]wicked one pass through you;
He is [d]cut off completely.

The Overthrow of Nineveh

2 [1]The one who [a]scatters has come up against [2]you.
Man the fortress, watch the road;
[3]Strengthen your back, [4]summon all your strength.
2 For the LORD will restore the [a]splendor
of Jacob
[b]Like the splendor of Israel,
Even though devastators have devastated them
And [c]destroyed their vine branches.

3 The shields of [1]his mighty men are colored red,
The warriors are dressed in [a]scarlet,
The chariots are enveloped in [2]flashing steel
[3]When he is prepared to march,
And the cypress [b]spears are brandished.
4 The [a]chariots race madly in the streets,
They rush wildly in the [1]squares,
Their appearance is like torches,
They dash to and fro like lightning flashes.
5 He remembers his [a]nobles;
They [b]stumble in their march,

And the palace is dissolved.
7 It is fixed:
She is stripped, she is carried away,
And her handmaids are [a]moaning like
the sound of doves,
[b]Beating on their [1]breasts.

8 Though Nineveh was like a pool of water throughout her days,
Now they are fleeing;
"Stop, stop,"
But [a]no one turns back.
9 Plunder the silver!
Plunder the [a]gold!
For there is no limit to the Wealth from every kind of desirable object.

brings good news. This verse sets forth a principle that is applicable in several contexts of deliverance. Here the reference is to the good news of deliverance from the Assyrian threat; in Is 52:7, deliverance from Babylonian exile; in Rom 10:15, deliverance from sin through the gospel ("good news") of Christ. Celebrate your feasts. In the joy of your deliverance. Pay your vows. Those you uttered in the time of distress (see note on Ps 7:17). never again will the wicked one pass through you. The Assyrian invasion in the days of Manasseh was the last. wicked. See note on Deut 13:13. cut off completely. Fulfilled in 612 when Nineveh fell (see note on v. 14).

2:1 one who scatters. Refers to the alliance of the Babylonians, the Medes and the Scythians—particularly the Medes under Cyaxares and the Babylonians under Nabopolassar. Man the fortress . . . summon all your strength. Probably irony, touched with sarcasm. road. By which the enemies will come.

2:2 restore the splendor of Jacob . . . Israel. The whole nation will be restored and united again.

2:3 his mighty men. Those of the attacker (v. 1), or perhaps those of Nineveh itself. red. Either (1) the color of the shields, or (2) a reference to blood on them, or (3) the result of the reflection of the sun shining on them. brandished. Ready to use.

2:4 chariots . . . rush. Refers to either (1) the Assyrian war chariots and their unprecedented speed as the Assyrians take frantic but vain steps to defend themselves, or (2) the chariots of Nineveh's invaders.

2:5 He. Perhaps the king of Assyria, though Nabopolassar is equally possible (see note on v. 1). wall. A moat 150 feet wide had to be filled in before reaching Nineveh's wall, which was almost 8 miles long with 15 gates. Then battering rams were moved up. mantelet. A defensive framework covered with hides to deflect stones and arrows.

2:6 gates of the rivers. Perhaps the dams on the Khoser River, which ran through the city to the Tigris River. They were either already in place, or quickly built, to back up the river water, then suddenly released so the flood would damage the walls. palace is dissolved. One ancient historian (the author of the Babylonian Chronicles) speaks of a flood that washed away some of the wall, making it easier for the invaders to enter the city.

2:7 handmaids. Possibly temple prostitutes, whose places of business and idols were being destroyed.

2:8 like a pool . . . fleeing. Some think that this refers to the Tigris and the smaller rivers encircling and running through parts of the city, and to a system of dams to make the city more impenetrable. Others take the language less literally as a reference to Nineveh's people fleeing, like water draining from a pool.

2:9 The cry of the invaders.

2:10 emptied! . . . desolate and waste! The Hebrew for all three words is similar. The Babylonian Chronicles confirms the fact that a great quantity of plunder was carried off by the invaders. Hearts are melting. . . ! The powerful, insolent Ninevites become helpless with fear.

2:11–13 Nahum ironically contrasts the devastated and desolate city of Nineveh with its former glory and power, expressed in figurative terms.

2:11 lion, lioness. Cf. Is 5:29; Jer 4:7; Hos 5:14; Mic 5:8. The lion is an appropriate image to apply to Assyria because of the rapacious ways of the Assyrian monarchs and because Nineveh contained numerous lion sculptures.

And filled his lairs with prey
And his dens with torn flesh.

13 "Behold, [a]I am against you," declares the LORD of hosts. "I will [b]burn up her chariots in smoke, a sword will devour your young lions; I will [c]cut off your prey from the land, and no longer will the voice of your messengers be heard."

Nineveh's Complete Ruin

3 [a]Woe to the bloody city, completely full of lies and pillage;
Her prey never departs.
2 The [a]noise of the whip,
The noise of the rattling of the wheel,
Galloping horses
And [1]bounding chariots!
3 Horsemen charging,
Swords flashing, [a]spears gleaming,
[b]Many slain, a mass of corpses,
And [1c]countless dead bodies—
They stumble over [2]the dead bodies!
4 All because of the [a]many harlotries of the harlot,
The charming one, the [b]mistress of sorceries,
Who [c]sells nations by her harlotries
And families by her sorceries.
5 "Behold, [a]I am against you," declares the LORD of hosts;
"And I will [1b]lift up your skirts over your face,
And [c]show to the nations your nakedness
And to the kingdoms your disgrace.
6 "I will [a]throw [1]filth on you
And [b]make you vile,
And set you up as a [c]spectacle.
7 "And it will come about that all who see you
Will [1]shrink from you and say,
'Nineveh is devastated!
[a]Who will grieve for her?'
Where will I seek comforters for you?"

8 Are you better than [1a]No-amon,
Which was situated by the [b]waters of the Nile,
With water surrounding her,
Whose rampart was [2]the sea,
Whose wall consisted of [2]the sea?
9 [a]Ethiopia was her might,
And Egypt too, without limits.
[b]Put and [c]Lubim were among [1]her helpers.
10 Yet she [a]became an exile,
She went into captivity;
Also her [b]small children were dashed to pieces
[c]At the head of every street;
They [d]cast lots for her honorable men,
And all her great men were bound with fetters.
11 You too will become [a]drunk,
You will be [b]hidden.
You too will search for a refuge from the enemy.
12 All your fortifications are [a]fig trees with [1b]ripe fruit—
When shaken, they fall into the eater's mouth.
13 Behold, your people are [a]women in your midst!
The gates of your land are [b]opened wide to your enemies;
Fire consumes your gate bars.
14 [a]Draw for yourself water for the siege!
[b]Strengthen your fortifications!
Go into the clay and tread the mortar!
Take hold of the brick mold!
15 There [a]fire will consume you,

2:12 filled his lairs with prey. Nineveh was filled with the spoils of war from many conquered nations.
2:13 I will burn up. Nineveh's fall will not be caused by merely natural forces or the superior power of her attackers; it will be an act of God. Nineveh had been put on trial, found guilty and sentenced to destruction. no longer will the voice . . . be heard. History has confirmed this prediction.
3:1 bloody city. Nineveh's bloody massacres of her conquered rivals were well known. prey never departs. The Assyrians were noted for their ruthlessness, brutality and terrible atrocities. Many of their victims were beheaded, impaled or burned.
3:3 mass of corpses. The Assyrian king Shalmaneser III boasted of erecting a pyramid of chopped-off heads in front of an enemy's city. Other Assyrian kings stacked corpses like cordwood by the gates of defeated cities. Nahum's description of the cruel Assyrians is apropos.
3:4 harlot. Probably a reference to the chief love goddess of Nineveh and, by extension, to the city as a whole. The lure of luxury and wealth brought multitudes to Nineveh. sorceries . . . sorceries. See Deut 18:10.
3:5 lift up your skirts over your face. The punishment of prostitutes and adulteresses.
3:6 Nineveh will be humiliated.
3:7 Who . . . ? Where . . . ? Rhetorical questions. Nineveh will receive no sympathy.
3:8 No-amon. Hebrew name for Thebes. No-amon means "city of (the god) Amon." Thebes was the great capital of Upper Egypt. Its site is occupied today by the towns of Luxor and Karnak. It was destroyed by the Assyrians in 663 B.C.
3:9 Put. A neighbor of Egypt, but its location is uncertain.
3:10 her great men were bound with fetters. Assyrian kings often did this; e.g., King Ashurbanipal gave this description of his treatment of a captured leader: "I . . . put a dog chain on him and made him occupy a kennel at the eastern gate of Nineveh."
3:11 will become drunk. Probably from the cup of God's wrath.
3:12 fig trees with ripe fruit. A metaphor for the eagerness with which the victors gather the rich loot of Nineveh. they fall into the eater's mouth. Nineveh's fortresses will finally fall just as easily.
3:13 your people are women . . . ! They are weak and unable to stand against the invading armies.
3:14 Draw . . . water. A normal preparation for siege. Strengthen your fortifications! Irony, the point being that it will do no good (see note on 2:1).
3:15 There. Inside your strong fortifications. fire will consume

The sword will cut you down;
It will [b]consume you as the locust does.

Multiply yourself like the creeping locust,
Multiply yourself like the swarming locust.

16 You have increased your [a]traders more than the stars of heaven—
The creeping locust [1]strips and flies away.

17 Your [1][a]guardsmen are like the swarming locust.
Your [b]marshals are like hordes of grasshoppers
Settling in the stone walls on a cold day.
The sun rises and they flee,
And the place where they are is not known.

18 Your shepherds are [a]sleeping, O [b]king of Assyria;
Your [c]nobles are lying down.
Your people are [d]scattered on the mountains
And there is no one to regather them.

19 There is [a]no relief for your breakdown,
Your [b]wound is incurable.
All who hear [1]about you
Will [c]clap their hands over you,
For on whom has not your evil passed continually?

15 [b]Joel 1:4

you. Confirmed by history and archaeology. Assyria's king died in the flames of his palace.

3:16 your traders more than the stars. Speaks of Assyria's vast trading and commercial enterprises. creeping locust strips. In the time of Nineveh's adversity the merchants stripped the land of its treasures, and the trade network was destroyed.

3:17 locust. Feared by the farmers of the ancient Near East, because they came in huge swarms and devoured everything in their path. Their activity provided an apt simile for the exploitative actions of Nineveh's officials during her destruction. where . . . is not known. Thus will Nineveh's officials disappear, without a trace. Interestingly, for centuries no one knew where Nineveh itself lay buried; in 1845 it was finally uncovered by archaeologists.

3:18 shepherds. Leaders. O king. The reigning king at the time of Nineveh's fall was Sin-shar-ishkun; so these words are prophetically addressed to him. are lying down. Die. people are scattered. The age-old scene of refugees fleeing a place of destruction is repeated at Nineveh.

3:19 Your wound is incurable. Nineveh was so totally destroyed that it was never rebuilt, and within a few centuries it was covered with windblown sand. So that "great city" (Jon 1:2; cf. 3:2) fell in 612 B.C., never to rise again—all in fulfillment of God's word through His prophet Nahum.

Habakkuk

Author

Little is known about Habakkuk except that he was a contemporary of Jeremiah and a man of vigorous faith rooted deeply in the religious traditions of Israel. The account of his ministering to the needs of Daniel in the lions' den in the Apocryphal book Bel and the Dragon is legendary rather than historical.

Date

The prediction of the coming Babylonian invasion (1:6) indicates that Habakkuk lived in Judah toward the end of Josiah's reign (640–609 B.C.) or at the beginning of Jehoiakim's (609–598). The prophecy is generally dated a little before or after the battle of Carchemish (605), when Egyptian forces, who had earlier gone to the aid of the last Assyrian king, were routed by the Babylonians under Nabopolassar and Nebuchadnezzar and were pursued as far as the Egyptian border (Jer 46). Habakkuk, like Jeremiah, probably lived to see the initial fulfillment of his prophecy when Jerusalem was attacked by the Babylonians in 597.

Message

Among the prophetic writings, Habakkuk is somewhat unique in that it includes no oracle addressed to Israel. It contains, rather, a dialogue between the prophet and God (see Outline). (The book of Jonah, while narrative, presents an account of conflict between the Lord and one of his prophets.) In the first two chapters, Habakkuk argues with God over His ways that appear to Him unfathomable, if not unjust. Having received replies, he responds with a beautiful confession of faith (ch. 3).

This account of wrestling with God is, however, not just a fragment from a private journal that has somehow entered the public domain. It was composed for Israel. No doubt it represented the voice of the godly in Judah, struggling to comprehend the ways of God. God's answers therefore spoke to all who shared Habakkuk's troubled doubts. And Habakkuk's confession became a public expression — as indicated by its liturgical notations (see note on 3:1).

Habakkuk was perplexed that wickedness, strife and oppression were rampant in Judah but God seemingly did nothing. When told that the Lord was preparing to do something about it through the "fierce" Babylonians (1:6), his perplexity only intensified: How could God, who is "too pure to approve evil" (1:13), appoint such a nation "to judge" (1:12) "those more righteous than they" (1:13)?

God makes it clear, however, that eventually the corrupt destroyer will itself be destroyed. In the end, Habakkuk learns to rest in God's appointments and await his working in a spirit of worship.

Literary Features

The author wrote clearly and with great feeling, and penned many memorable phrases (2:2,4,14,20; 3:2,17–19). The book was popular during the intertestamental period; a complete commentary on its first two chapters has been found among the Dead Sea Scrolls (see "The Time between the Testaments," p. 1356).

Outline

I. Title (1:1)
II. Habakkuk's First Complaint: Why does the evil in Judah go unpunished? (1:2–4)
III. God's Answer: The Babylonians will punish Judah (1:5–11)
IV. Habakkuk's Second Complaint: How can a just God use wicked Babylon to punish a people more righteous than themselves? (1:12—2:1)
V. God's Answer: Babylon will be punished, and faith will be rewarded (2:2–20)
VI. Habakkuk's Prayer: After asking for manifestations of God's wrath and mercy (as he has seen in the past), he closes with a confession of trust and joy in God (ch. 3)

Chaldeans Used to Punish Judah

1 The [1][a]oracle which Habakkuk the prophet saw.

2 [a]How long, O LORD, will I call for help,
And You will not hear?
I cry out to You, "Violence!"
Yet You do [b]not save.
3 Why do You make me [a]see iniquity,
And cause me to look on wickedness?
Yes, [b]destruction and violence are before me;
[c]Strife exists and contention arises.
4 Therefore the [a]law is [1]ignored
And justice [2]is never upheld.
For the wicked [b]surround the righteous;
Therefore justice comes out [c]perverted.

5 "[a]Look among the nations! Observe!
Be astonished! [b]Wonder!
Because I am doing [c]something in your days—
You would not believe if [1]you were told.
6 "For behold, I am [a]raising up the Chaldeans,
That [1]fierce and impetuous people
Who march [2]throughout the earth
To [3][b]seize dwelling places which are not theirs.
7 "They are dreaded and [a]feared;
Their [b]justice and [1]authority [2]originate with themselves.
8 "Their [a]horses are swifter than leopards
And [1]keener than [b]wolves in the evening.
Their [2]horsemen come galloping,
Their horsemen come from afar;
They fly like an [c]eagle swooping down to devour.
9 "All of them come for violence.
[1]Their horde of [a]faces moves forward.
They collect captives like sand.
10 "They [a]mock at kings
And rulers are a laughing matter to them.
They [b]laugh at every fortress
And [c]heap up rubble to capture it.
11 "Then they will sweep through like the [a]wind and pass on.
But they will be held [b]guilty,
They whose [c]strength is their god."

12 Are You not from [a]everlasting,
O LORD, my God, my Holy One?
We will not die.
You, O LORD, have [b]appointed them to judge;
And You, O [c]Rock, have established them to correct.
13 Your eyes are too [a]pure to [1]approve evil,
And You can not look on wickedness with favor.
Why do You [b]look with favor
On those who deal [c]treacherously?
Why are You [d]silent when the wicked [e]swallow up
Those more righteous than they?
14 Why have You made men like the fish of the sea,
Like creeping things without a ruler over them?

1:1 oracle. Such as the two found here (vv. 5–11; 2:2–20). Oracles were frequently received in visions. The Hebrew word for "oracle" (possibly meaning "burden," but perhaps only "pronouncement") often refers to revelations containing warnings of impending doom (cf. Is 15:1; 19:1; 22:1), but in Zech 9:1; 12:1; Mal 1:1 it refers to messages that also contain hope. Habakkuk. The name is probably Babylonian and refers to a kind of garden plant. prophet. Habakkuk is called a prophet also in 3:1, tying ch. 3 closely to chs. 1–2.

1:2–2:20 A dialogue between the prophet and God. The basic theme is age-old: Why does evil seem to go unpunished? Why does God not respond to prayer?

1:2 Violence! At this time Judah was probably under King Jehoiakim, who was ambitious, cruel and corrupt. Habakkuk describes the social corruption and spiritual apostasy of Judah in the late seventh century B.C.

1:3 cause me to look on wickedness. See v. 13. The prophet was amazed that God seemed to condone cruelty and violence.

1:4 law is ignored . . . justice is never upheld. Because wealthy landowners controlled the courts through bribery.

1:5 would not believe. To the people of Judah it was incredible that God would give them over to the arrogant Babylonians.

1:6 The apostate nation of Judah is to be punished by an invasion of the Babylonians, a powerful people who regained their independence from Assyria in 626 B.C., destroyed Assyrian power completely in 612–605, and flourished until 539. In this context, the Chaldeans are synonymous with the newly resurgent Babylonians. seize dwelling places. See 2:6–8.

1:7 authority originate with themselves. A mark of arrogance.

1:8 The speed with which Babylon conquered her enemies had become proverbial.

1:9 collect captives like sand. Like their Assyrian predecessors, the Babylonians deported conquered peoples as a matter of deliberate national policy (see 2:5).

1:10 heap up rubble. A siege method.

1:11 whose strength is their god. The Babylonians were so proud and confident of their military might that it had virtually become their god (see v. 16).

1:12 Habakkuk cannot see the justice in Judah's being punished by an even more wicked nation, and thinks that the Babylonians surely would not be allowed to conquer Judah completely. from everlasting. See Ps 90:2. You, O LORD, have appointed them. The prophet recognizes Babylon as God's agent of judgment (cf. Is 7:18–20; 44:28–45:1).

1:13 A classic statement of the problem of evil within the context of Israel's faith: Why does evil appear to flourish unchecked by a just and holy God? treacherously . . . wicked. The Babylonians. Those more righteous. Judah.

1:15 hook. See note on Amos 4:2. Drag them away with their

[b]Drag them away with their net,
And gather them together in their fishing net.
Therefore they rejoice and are glad.
16 Therefore they offer a sacrifice to their net
And [1]burn incense to their fishing net;
Because through [a]these things their [2]catch is [3]large,
And their food is [4]plentiful.
17 Will they therefore empty their [a]net
And continually [b]slay nations without sparing?

God Answers the Prophet

2 I will [a]stand on my guard post
And station myself on the rampart;
And I will [b]keep watch to see [c]what He will speak to me,
And how I may reply [1]when I am reproved.
2 Then the LORD answered me and said,
"[a]Record the vision
And inscribe it on tablets,
That [1]the one who [2]reads it may run.
3 "For the vision is yet for the [a]appointed time;
It [1]hastens toward the goal and it will not [2]fail.
Though it tarries, [b]wait for it;
For it will certainly come, it [c]will not delay.

4 "Behold, as for the [a]proud one,
His soul is not right within him;
But the [b]righteous will live by his [1]faith.
5 "Furthermore, [a]wine betrays the [b]haughty man,
So that he does not [c]stay at home.
He [d]enlarges his appetite like Sheol,
And he is like death, never satisfied.
He also gathers to himself all nations
And collects to himself all peoples.

6 "Will not all of these [a]take up a taunt-song against him,
Even mockery and insinuations against him
And say, '[b]Woe to him who increases what is not his—
For how long—
And makes himself [1]rich with loans?'
7 "Will not [1]your creditors [a]rise up suddenly,
And those who [2]collect from you awaken?
Indeed, you will become plunder for them.
8 "Because you have [a]looted many nations,
All the remainder of the peoples will loot you—
Because of human bloodshed and violence [1]done to the land,
To the town and all its inhabitants.

9 "Woe to him who gets [a]evil gain for his house
To [b]put his nest on high,
To be delivered from the hand of calamity!
10 "You have devised a [a]shameful thing for your house
By cutting off many peoples;
So you are [b]sinning against yourself.
11 "Surely the [a]stone will cry out from the wall,

net. Babylon's victims are as powerless as fish swimming into a net. Mesopotamian reliefs portray, in symbolic fashion, conquering rulers capturing the enemy in fishnets.

1:16 See note on v. 11.

2:1 I will stand on my guard. The figure of a guard looking out from a tower and expecting a response to his challenge. Any reproof would be for questioning God's justice. rampart. The walls of Jerusalem.

2:2–3 vision. See 1 Chr 17:15; Prov 29:18. The Hebrew for this word refers specifically to a prophet's vision (see, e.g., Is 1:1).

2:2 That the one who reads it may run. So that a messenger may run to deliver the message and read it to those to whom he has been sent.

2:3 wait for it. The following message deals with the fall of Babylon in 539 B.C., about 66 years after Habakkuk's prophecy. The Lord tells Habakkuk (and Judah) that fulfillment of the prophecy may "tarry," but that he and the people are to expect it (see 3:16).

2:4 proud one. Collective for the Babylonians, but with special reference to their king. But. In contrast to the Babylonians, whose desires are not upright. the righteous will live by his faith. See NASB marg.; see also Is 26, especially vv. 1–6. In light of God's revelation about how (and when) He is working, His people are to wait patiently and live by faith—trusting in their sovereign God. The clause is quoted frequently in the NT to support the teaching that people are saved by grace through faith (Rom 1:17; Gal 3:11; cf. Eph 2:8) and should live by faith (Heb 10:38–39). It became the rallying cry of the Protestant Reformation in the 16th century. The same principle that was applicable in the realm of national deliverance is applicable in the area of spiritual deliverance (salvation).

2:5 enlarges his appetite like Sheol. The grave never says, "Enough" (Prov 30:15–16; see note on Ps 49:14).

2:6–20 This taunt falls into two halves of ten (Hebrew) lines each (vv. 6–14 and vv. 15–20), each half concluding with a significant theological statement (vv. 14,20). Together these two statements set the five "woes" pronounced against Babylon (vv. 6,9,12,15,19; cf. Is 5:8–23; Matt 23:13–32; Luke 6:24–26; Rev 9:12; 11:14) in a larger frame of reference.

2:6 all of these . . . against him. The threatened victims of the Babylonian onslaught, especially Judah, will taunt ruthless Babylon. Woe. The Babylonians' greed for conquest is condemned.

2:8 human bloodshed. See v. 17. Therefore Babylon's blood would be shed (see note on Gen 9:6).

2:9 Woe. The Babylonians' pride in building is condemned. nest on high. Like the eagle building an inaccessible nest, the Babylonians thought their empire to be unconquerable (see Obad 3–4; cf. Is 14:4,13–15).

2:11 the stone will cry out . . . And the rafter. The stones and

And the rafter will answer it from the [1]framework.

12 "Woe to him who [a]builds a city with bloodshed
And founds a town with [1]violence!
13 "Is it not indeed from the LORD of hosts
That peoples [a]toil for fire,
And nations grow weary for nothing?
14 "For the earth will be [a]filled
With the knowledge of the glory of the LORD,
As the waters cover the sea.

15 "Woe to you who make [1]your neighbors drink,
Who mix in your venom even to make them drunk
So as to look on their nakedness!
16 "You will be filled with disgrace rather than honor.
Now you yourself [a]drink and [1]expose your own nakedness.
The [b]cup in the LORD's right hand will come around to you,
And [c]utter disgrace will come upon your glory.
17 "For the [a]violence [1]done to Lebanon will [2]overwhelm you,
And the devastation of its beasts [3]by which you terrified them,

God's Deliverance of His People

3 A prayer of Habakkuk the prophet, according to [1]Shigionoth.
2 LORD, I have [a]heard [1]the report about You and [2]I [b]fear.
O LORD, [c]revive [d]Your work in the midst of the years,
In the midst of the years make it known;
In wrath remember [3e]mercy.

3 God comes from [a]Teman,
And the Holy One from Mount [b]Paran. Selah.
His [c]splendor covers the heavens,
And the [d]earth is full of His praise.
4 His [a]radiance is like the sunlight;
He has rays flashing from His hand,
And there is the hiding of His [b]power.

beams in Babylonian houses were purchased with plunder, and thus testified against the occupants.

2:12 Woe. Babylonian injustice is condemned.

2:13 toil for fire. The cities built by the labor of the Babylonians (v. 12) will be burned.

2:14 The Lord's future destruction of proud Babylon and all her worldly glory will cause His greater glory to be known throughout the world (see Ex 14:4,17–18; Is 11:9; Rev 17:1–19:4).

2:15 Cf. Gen 9:20–22. Woe. Babylonian violence is condemned. Her rapacious treatment of her neighbors, which stripped them of all their wealth (cf. what she later did to Jerusalem, 2 Kin 25:8–21), is compared to one who makes his neighbor drunk so he can take lewd pleasure from the man's nakedness.

2:16 be filled with disgrace . . . your own nakedness. The Lord will do to Babylon what she has done to others. cup in the LORD's right hand. A symbol of divine retribution (see Is 51:17,22; Jer 25:15–17; Lam 4:21; Rev 14:10; 16:19).

2:17 violence done to Lebanon. The Babylonians apparently had ravaged the cedar forests of Lebanon to adorn their temples and palaces (cf. Is 14:8). devastation of its beasts. Assyrian inscriptions record hunting expeditions in the Lebanon range, and such sport may have been indulged in by the invading Babylonians as well. Babylonian violence was destructive of all forms of life, not only of lands and cities.

2:18 idol. The Hebrew for this word means "godlet" or "nonentity" (cf. Is 41:29; 44:9; Jer 10:15 and the condemnation of idolatry in Ex 20:4–5; Ps 115:4–8).

2:19 Woe. Babylonian idolatry is condemned.

2:20 But. The stone and wood idols of the nations (v. 19) are silent before people, but the people of the world are to be silent before the true God, who is about to judge (cf. Is 41:1; Zeph 1:7; Zech 2:13). holy temple. Heaven.

3:1 In the strict sense, petition is found in this prayer only in v. 2 but, as with many of the psalms, it is set in a larger context of recollection (vv. 3–15) and expression of confidence and trust (vv. 16–19). In fact, Habakkuk's prayer appears to have been used as a psalm; note the psalm-like heading (v. 1) and the musical and/or literary notations (vv. 1,3,9,13,19).

3:2 heard the report about You. In vv. 3–15 Habakkuk recalls a poetic celebration of God's mighty saving acts of old—perhaps one he had heard at the temple (see v. 16).

3:3 God comes. When celebrating the exodus, the OT poets (and poet-prophets) combined recollections of the mighty acts of God with conventional images of a fearsome manifestation of the Lord. He came down with His heavenly host and rode on the mighty thunderstorm as His chariot, with His arrows flying in all directions, a cloudburst of rain descending on the earth and the mountains quaking before Him (see Deut 33:2; Judg 5:4–5; Ps 18:7–15; 68:4–10,32–35; 77:16–19; Mic 1:3–4). Such figures characterize many of the references in the following verses. Teman. Means "southland." God is pictured as coming from the area south of Judah during the exodus. Mount Paran. See Deut 33:2; probably northwest of the Gulf of Aqaba and south of Kadesh-barnea, between Edom and Sinai. earth is full. See note on 2:14.

5 Before Him goes [a]pestilence,
And [b]plague comes [1]after Him.
6 He stood and surveyed the earth;
He looked and [a]startled the nations.
Yes, the perpetual mountains were shattered,
The ancient hills [1]collapsed.
His ways are [b]everlasting.
7 I saw the tents of Cushan under [a]distress,
The tent curtains of the land of [b]Midian were trembling.

8 Did the LORD rage against the [a]rivers,
Or was Your anger against the rivers,
Or was Your wrath against the [b]sea,
That You [c]rode on Your horses,
On Your [d]chariots of salvation?
9 Your [a]bow was made bare,
The rods of [1]chastisement were sworn. Selah.
You [b]cleaved the earth with rivers.
10 The mountains saw You and quaked;
The downpour of waters swept by.
The deep [a]uttered forth its voice,
It lifted high its hands.
11 [a]Sun and moon stood in their places;
They went away at the [b]light of Your arrows,
At the radiance of Your gleaming spear.
12 In indignation You [a]marched through the earth;
In anger You [1b]trampled the nations.
13 You went forth for the [a]salvation of Your people,
For the salvation of Your [b]anointed.
You struck the [c]head of the house of the evil
To lay him open from [1]thigh to neck. Selah.

3:5 pestilence . . . plague. Means of divine punishment (cf. Ex 7:14–12:30; Lev 26:25; Ps 91:3,6).
3:6 God's presence was frequently marked by earthquakes (see Ex 19:18; Ps 18:7; Jer 4:24–26; 10:10). Landslides may also be alluded to here.
3:7 Cushan . . . Midian. Arab tribes living near Edom. distress . . . trembling. When Israel was delivered from Egypt under Moses, neighboring peoples were filled with fear (see Ex 15:14–16; Josh 2:9–10).
3:8 Poetic allusions to the plague on the Nile (Ex 7:20–24) and/or the stopping of the Jordan (Josh 3:15–17), and to the parting of the Red Sea (Ex 14:15–31). But see note on v. 3.
3:9 rods of chastisement. Probably thunderbolts unleashed by the heavenly archer. cleaved the earth with rivers. Caused by the accompanying thunderstorms.
3:11 Sun and moon stood in their places. Probably an allusion to the victory at Gibeon (Josh 10:12–13), indicating that God's triumph over His enemies would be just as complete as on that occasion.
3:12 trampled. See note on Amos 1:3.
3:13 salvation of Your people. God fought against the nations of Canaan (v. 12) but delivered His people. salvation of. Giving of victory to. anointed. The covenant nation, the "kingdom of priests" (Ex 19:6), which God came to deliver. He destroyed the enemy, and in this great act of wrath (v. 12) remembered mercy (v. 2). head of the house of the evil. Pharaoh (see Ex 14:5–9).
3:14–15 Another reference to the destruction of the Egyptians in the Red Sea. God will likewise vanquish present foes.
3:15 horses. See v. 8 and note.
3:16 Hearing the hymnic recollection of God's mighty deeds of old in Israel's behalf (vv. 3–15) fills the prophet with an awe so profound that he feels physically weak. Alternatively, it is possible that the message from the Lord that Babylon would be sent against Judah (1:5–11) had so devastated him that he felt ill—until he heard the Lord's further word. wait quietly. See note on 2:3. people . . . who will invade us. Babylonia.
3:17 Probably anticipates the awful results of the imminent Babylonian invasion and devastation.
3:18–19 Habakkuk has learned the lesson of faith (2:4)—to trust in God's providence regardless of circumstances. He declares that even if God should send suffering and loss, he would still rejoice in his Savior-God—one of the strongest affirmations of faith in all Scripture.
3:19 made my feet like hinds' feet. Gives me sure-footed confidence. director. Probably the conductor of the temple musicians. This chapter may have formed part of the temple prayers that were chanted with the accompaniment of instruments (see 1 Chr 16:4–7). stringed instruments. Including harp and lyre (Ps 33:2; 92:3; 144:9).

Zephaniah

Author

The prophet Zephaniah was evidently a person of considerable social standing in Judah and was probably related to the royal line. The prophecy opens with a statement of the author's ancestry (1:1), which in itself is an unusual feature of the Hebrew prophetic tradition. Zephaniah was the fourth-generation descendant of Hezekiah, a notable king of Judah from 715 to 686 B.C. Apart from this statement, nothing more is said about his background. Whereas the prophet Micah dealt carefully and sympathetically with the problems of the common people of Judah, Zephaniah's utterances show a much greater familiarity with court circles and current political issues. Zephaniah was probably familiar with the writings of such prominent eighth-century prophets as Isaiah and Amos, whose utterances he reflects, and he may also have been aware of the ministry of the young Jeremiah.

Date

According to 1:1, Zephaniah prophesied during the reign of King Josiah (640–609 B.C.), making him a contemporary of Jeremiah, Nahum and perhaps Habakkuk. His prophecy is probably to be dated relatively early in Josiah's reign, before that king's attempt at reform (and while conditions brought about by the reigns of Manasseh and Amon still prevailed) and before the Assyrian king Ashurbanipal's death in 627 (while Assyria was still powerful, though threatened).

Background

See Introductions to Jeremiah and Nahum: Background; see also 2 Kin 22:1–23:30; 2 Chr 34–35 and notes.

Purpose and Theme

The intent of the author was to announce to Judah God's approaching judgment. A Scythian incursion into Canaan may have provided the immediate occasion. This fierce, horse-mounted people originated in what is now southern Russia, but by the seventh century B.C. had migrated across the Caucasus and settled in and along the northern territories of the Assyrian empire. Alternately the enemies and allies of Assyria, they seem to have thrust south along the Mediterranean sometime in the 620s, destroying Ashkelon and Ashdod and halting at the Egyptian border only because of a payoff by Pharaoh Psamtik (Psammetichus). Ultimately, however, the destruction prophesied by Zephaniah came at the hands of the Babylonians after they had overpowered Assyria and brought that ancient power to its end.

Zephaniah's main theme is the coming of the day of the Lord (see notes on Is 2:11,17,20; Joel 1:15; 2:2; Amos 5:18; 8:9), when God will severely punish the nations, including apostate Judah. He portrays the stark horror of that ordeal with the same graphic imagery found elsewhere in the prophets. But he also makes it clear that God will yet be merciful toward His people; like many other prophets, he ends his pronouncements of doom on the positive note of Judah's restoration.

Day of Judgment on Judah

1 The word of the LORD which came to Zephaniah son of Cushi, son of Gedaliah, son of Amariah, son of Hezekiah, in the days of [a]Josiah son of [b]Amon, king of Judah:

2 "I will completely [a]remove all things
From the face of the [1]earth," declares the LORD.

3 "I will remove [a]man and beast;
I will remove the [b]birds of the sky
And the fish of the sea,
And the [1c]ruins along with the wicked;
And I will cut off man from the face of the [2]earth," declares the LORD.

4 "So I will [a]stretch out My hand against Judah
And against all the inhabitants of Jerusalem.
And I will [b]cut off the remnant of Baal from this place,
And the names of the [c]idolatrous priests along with the priests.

5 "And those who bow down on the [a]housetops to the host of heaven,
And those who bow down and [b]swear to the LORD and yet swear by [1c]Milcom,

6 And those who have [a]turned back from following the LORD,
And those who have [b]not sought the LORD or inquired of Him."

7 [1a]Be silent before the Lord [2]GOD!
For the [b]day of the LORD is near,
For the LORD has prepared a [c]sacrifice,
He has [d]consecrated His guests.

8 "Then it will come about on the day of the LORD's sacrifice
That I will [a]punish the princes, the king's sons
And all who clothe themselves with [b]foreign garments.

9 "And I will punish on that day all who leap on the temple threshold,
Who fill the house of their [1]lord with [a]violence and deceit.

10 "On that day," declares the LORD,
"There will be the sound of a cry from the [a]Fish Gate,
A wail from the [1b]Second Quarter,
And a loud crash from the [c]hills.

11 "Wail, O inhabitants of the [1]Mortar,
For all the [2]people of [a]Canaan will be silenced;
All who weigh out [b]silver will be cut off.

12 "It will come about at that time
That I will [a]search Jerusalem with lamps,
And I will punish the men
Who are [1b]stagnant in spirit,
Who say in their hearts,
'The LORD will [c]not do good or evil!'

13 "Moreover, their wealth will become [a]plunder
And their houses desolate;
Yes, [b]they will build houses but not inhabit them,

1:1 The word of the LORD. A common introductory phrase in the prophets (see, e.g., Jer 1:4; Hos 1:1; Mic 1:1). Zephaniah. Means "The LORD hides" or "The LORD protects," perhaps referring to God's protection of Zephaniah during the infamous reigns of Manasseh and Amon, the predecessors of good King Josiah. son of Hezekiah. From the author's pedigree, scholars suggest that he was in his early 20s when he began to prophesy. He is more closely identified with the ruling class than was Isaiah, although Isaiah also moved regularly in court circles and was perhaps of noble birth.

1:2 completely remove. See v. 3. Zephaniah speaks of the coming catastrophe in language reminiscent of God's utterances prior to the flood (Gen 6:7). But this time it will be by God's fire (v. 18; 3:8).

1:3 ruins. See NASB marg. Alternatively, the sense may be that God will place formidable obstacles in the paths of the wicked and destroy them completely.

1:4–6 Seems to indicate that Zephaniah's main ministry took place before 621 B.C., since the practices condemned here were abolished in Josiah's reforms (2 Kin 23:4–16). Perhaps Zephaniah's message was partly instrumental in motivating King Josiah and the people to undertake the reforms (cf. 2 Chr 34:1–7).

1:4 Judah is censured for its unrepentant participation in the gross idolatry of Baal worship. Baal. See note on Judg 2:13. this place. Jerusalem, where Zephaniah probably lived.

1:5 on the housetops. See 2 Kin 23:12; Jer 19:13. bow down . . . to the host of heaven. See Deut 4:15–19; 2 Kin 17:16; 21:3; Is 47:13. swear to the LORD . . . by Milcom. Syncretism (worship of one's own god along with other gods). Milcom. Worshiped by the Ammonites, his rituals sometimes involved child sacrifice. Molech worship (Milcom and Molech were variant names referring to the same god) was forbidden to the Israelites (Lev 18:21; 20:1–5). Despite this, Solomon set up an altar to Molech on the Mount of Olives (1 Kin 11:7). Manasseh established the rituals in the Valley of Ben-hinnom (2 Chr 33:6; Jer 7:31; 32:35).

1:7 Be silent before the Lord GOD! See Hab 2:20. day of the LORD. Zephaniah's main theme (see Introduction: Purpose and Theme); not of deliverance for Judah, but of divine vengeance on the idolatrous covenant nation. sacrifice. The victim is Judah. consecrated. Since the coming slaughter of judgment is called a sacrifice, God's preparation of His guests is called His consecration of them—in preparation for their feasting on the plunder. His guests. The pagan conquerors (mainly Babylon).

1:9 leap on the temple threshold. Or "leap over . . ."; perhaps referring to a pagan custom that began in the time of Samuel (1 Sam 5:5).

1:10–13 Wailing throughout the city (contrast 3:14–17).

1:10 Merchants who had grown rich through corrupt business practices would be destroyed. Fish Gate. See note on Neh 3:3. Second Quarter. See note on Neh 11:9.

1:11 the Mortar. May have been an area in the Tyropoeon Valley, just south of Mount Moriah, where some foreign merchants lived (see 1 Kin 20:34 and note; see also NASB marg. here).

1:12 search Jerusalem with lamps. The Babylonians later dragged people from houses, streets, sewers and tombs, where they had hidden. The LORD will not do. A typical depiction of the arrogance of the wicked (see note on Ps 10:11).

1:13 The assets of those who have become wealthy through

And plant vineyards but not drink their wine."

14 Near is the [a]great [b]day of the LORD,
Near and coming very quickly;
Listen, the day of the LORD!
[1]In it the warrior [c]cries out bitterly.
15 A day of wrath is that day,
A day of [a]trouble and distress,
A day of destruction and desolation,
A day of [b]darkness and gloom,
A day of clouds and thick darkness,
16 A day of [a]trumpet and battle cry
Against the [b]fortified cities
And the high corner towers.
17 I will bring [a]distress on men
So that they will walk [b]like the blind,
Because they have sinned against the
LORD;
And their [c]blood will be poured out like dust
And their [d]flesh like dung.
18 Neither their [a]silver nor their gold
Will be able to deliver them
On the day of the LORD's wrath;
And [b]all the earth will be devoured
In the fire of His jealousy,
For He will [c]make a complete end,
Indeed a terrifying one,
Of all the inhabitants of the earth.

Judgments on Judah's Enemies

2 Gather yourselves together, yes, [a]gather,
O nation [b]without [1]shame,
2 Before the decree [1]takes effect—
The day passes [a]like the chaff—
Before the [b]burning anger of the LORD
comes upon you,
Before the [c]day of the LORD's anger
comes upon you.
3 [a]Seek the LORD,
All you [b]humble of the [1]earth
Who have carried out His [2]ordinances;
[c]Seek righteousness, seek humility.
Perhaps you will be [d]hidden
In the day of the LORD's anger.

4 For [a]Gaza will be abandoned
And Ashkelon a desolation;
[a]Ashdod will be driven out at noon
And [a]Ekron will be uprooted.
5 Woe to the inhabitants of the seacoast,
The nation of the [1a]Cherethites!
The word of the LORD is [b]against you,
O [c]Canaan, land of the Philistines;
And I will [d]destroy you
So that there will be [e]no inhabitant.
6 So the seacoast will be [a]pastures,
With [1]caves for shepherds and folds for flocks.
7 And the coast will be
For the [a]remnant of the house of Judah,
They will [b]pasture on it.
In the houses of Ashkelon they will lie down at evening;
For the LORD their God will [c]care for
them
And [d]restore their fortune.

8 "I have heard the [1a]taunting of Moab
And the [b]revilings of the sons of Ammon,
With which they have [2]taunted My
people
And [3c]become arrogant against their territory.
9 "Therefore, as I live," declares the LORD
of hosts,
The God of Israel,
"Surely [a]Moab will be like [b]Sodom
And the sons of [c]Ammon like [d]Gomorrah—
A place possessed by nettles and salt pits,

dishonesty will be exposed and plundered (see Deut 28:30).

1:14–18 In a dramatic passage of great lyrical power, the Lord describes the destruction that will sweep the earth in the day of God's wrath.

1:15 darkness . . . thick darkness. See Amos 5:18–20.

1:17 like the blind. See Deut 28:28–29.

1:18 Neither . . . silver nor . . . gold Will . . . deliver them. In the day of God's judgment, material wealth cannot buy deliverance from punishment.

2:1–3 The prophet's exhortation to repent. This call to repentance and the later indictment of Jerusalem for refusal to repent (see 3:6–8 and note) frame the series of judgments that illustratively detail God's acts in the coming day of the Lord (2:4–3:5).

2:2 like the chaff. See note on Ps 1:4.

2:3 Seek the LORD. Even though destruction is imminent, there is still time to be sheltered from the calamity if only the nation will repent. humble. Those who abandon the arrogance of their idolatry and wickedness and humble themselves in repentance before God.

2:4–3:8 God's coming judgment on the nations—including Jerusalem (cf. Amos 1–2).

2:4 Gaza . . . Ashkelon . . . Ashdod . . . Ekron. See notes on Josh 13:3; Judg 3:3; Amos 1:6,8.

2:5 Cherethites. See note on 1 Sam 30:14. Canaan. See note on Gen 10:6. I . . . no inhabitant. The Lord's announced purpose.

2:6 The once-populous Philistine cities will revert to pastureland.

2:7 The faithful remnant of Judah will occupy this land and graze their flocks on it. restore their fortune. Or "bring back their captives." Here and in vv. 9,11 the prophet anticipates the ultimate outcome of the day of the Lord, which he spells out more fully in 3:9–20.

2:8 Moab . . . sons of Ammon. See notes on Gen 19:36–38; Amos 1:13. For the hostility of Ammon and Moab toward Israel see Amos 1:13–15; 2:1–3. They had often threatened to occupy Israelite territory (see Judg 11:12–13; Ezek 25:3–6).

2:9 Sodom . . . Gomorrah. See Gen 19. They were used in the OT to typify complete destruction at the hands of God (see Deut 29:23; Is 13:19; Jer 49:18), and their mention added ominous overtones to the prophet's description of the day of the Lord. nettles. A symbol of depopulation (see Is 7:23–25). remnant . . . will inherit them. See note on v. 7.

And a perpetual desolation.
The remnant of My people will [e]plunder them
And the remainder of My nation will inherit them."

10 This they will have in return for their [a]pride, because they have [1][b]taunted and [2]become arrogant against the people of the LORD of hosts.

11 The LORD will be [a]terrifying to them, for He will [1]starve [b]all the gods of the earth;
and all the [c]coastlands of the nations will [d]bow down to Him, everyone from his own place.

12 "You also, O [a]Ethiopians, will be slain
by My sword."

13 And He will [a]stretch out His hand against the north
And destroy [b]Assyria,
And He will make [c]Nineveh a desolation,
Parched like the wilderness.

14 Flocks will lie down in her midst,
[1]All beasts which range in herds;
Both the [2][a]pelican and the hedgehog
Will lodge in [3]the tops of her pillars;
[4]Birds will sing in the window,
Desolation will be on the threshold;
For He has laid bare the cedar work.

15 This is the [a]exultant city
Which [b]dwells securely,
Who says in her heart,
"[c]I am, and there is no one besides me."
How she has become a [d]desolation,
A resting place for beasts!
[e]Everyone who passes by her will hiss
And wave his hand in contempt.

Woe to Jerusalem and the Nations

3 Woe to her who is [a]rebellious and [b]defiled,
The [c]tyrannical city!

2 She [a]heeded no voice,
She [b]accepted no instruction.
She did not [c]trust in the LORD,
She did not [d]draw near to her God.

3 Her [a]princes within her are roaring lions,
Her judges are [b]wolves at evening;
They leave nothing for the morning.

4 Her prophets are [a]reckless,
treacherous men;
Her [b]priests have profaned the
sanctuary.
They have done violence to the law.

5 The LORD is [a]righteous [b]within her;
He will [c]do no injustice.
[d]Every morning He brings His justice to light;
He does not fail.
But the unjust [e]knows no shame.

6 "I have cut off nations;
Their corner towers are in ruins.
I have made their streets [a]desolate,
With no one passing by;
Their [b]cities are laid waste,
Without a man, [c]without an inhabitant.

7 "I said, 'Surely you will revere Me,
[a]Accept instruction.'
So her dwelling will [b]not be cut off
According to all that I have appointed concerning her.
But they were eager to [c]corrupt all their deeds.

8 "Therefore [a]wait for Me," declares the LORD,
"For the day when I rise up as a witness.
Indeed, My decision is to [b]gather
nations,
To assemble kingdoms,
To pour out on them My indignation,
All My burning anger;
For [c]all the earth will be devoured
By the fire of My zeal.

2:10 in return for their pride . . . taunted . . . arrogant. In reprisal, the faithful remnant will occupy Ammonite and Moabite territory.
2:11 nations will bow down to Him. See 3:9 and note.
2:12 You also. Without elaboration, the prophet simply announces God's purpose against Egypt (see v. 5 and note). Ethiopians. People from the upper (southern) Nile region. Egypt was ruled from 715 to 663 B.C. by a Cushite dynasty. My sword. Probably Babylon.
2:13 north. Although Nineveh was east of Judah, Assyrian armies normally invaded Canaan from the north, having first marched west along the Euphrates. Nineveh. See the books of Jonah and Nahum. Since Nineveh was destroyed in 612 B.C., Zephaniah's ministry had to be before that date. desolation. Even the site of Nineveh was later forgotten—until discovered through modern excavations.
2:15 I am . . . no one besides me. See Is 47:10. Assyria's boast belongs properly to God alone (see Is 45:5–6,18,21). has become. Anticipating Nineveh's impending destruction.
3:1 tyrannical. See Jer 22:3. city. Apostate Jerusalem is condemned for its sins.
3:3–4 princes . . . judges . . . prophets . . . priests. All classes of Judah's leaders are castigated for indulging in conduct completely opposed to their vocations and responsibilities (see Jer 1:18 and note).
3:3 roaring lions . . . wolves at evening. Those in power are rapacious.
3:4 reckless, treacherous men. Claiming to be prophets of the Lord, they proclaimed only lies (see Jer 5:31; 14:14; 23:16,32). priests . . . have done violence to the law. When they should have been teachers of the law (see Deut 31:9–13; 2 Chr 17:8–9; 19:8; Ezra 7:6; Jer 2:8; 18:18; Mal 2:7).
3:6–8 Jerusalem's refusal to repent (see 2:1–3 and note).
3:6 I have cut off nations. The destruction of other nations was meant to serve as a warning to wanton Judah, but to no avail (see v. 7).
3:7 eager to corrupt. See, e.g., Jer 7:13,25–26.
3:8 wait. A sarcastic statement to Judah to wait for the threatened catastrophe. as a witness. To lodge accusations (see Ps 50:7)—and then proceed to execute judgments. My decision. The Lord concludes His announcement of judgment with a general declaration of His intent.

9 "For then I will [1]give to the peoples
[a]purified lips,
That all of them may [b]call on the name of the LORD,
To serve Him [2]shoulder to shoulder.
10 "From beyond the rivers of [a]Ethiopia
My [1]worshipers, [2]My dispersed ones,

Be found in their mouths;
For they will [d]feed and lie down
With no one to make them tremble."

[a]Shout in triumph, O Israel!
Rejoice and exult with all your heart,

You will [c]fear disaster no more.
16 [a]In that day it will be said to
Jerusalem:
"[b]Do not be afraid, O Zion;

3:9–13 The Lord gives assurance that the nations will be purified, the scattered remnant restored and Jerusalem purged.
3:9 God's fearful judgment of the nations will effect (or be followed by) their purification so that they will call on His name and serve Him. Israel's God will be acknowledged by the nations, and God's people will be held in honor by them (cf. vv. 19–20).

3:11 For then. This line begins the same as the first line of v. 9. Thus vv. 9–11a constitute a three-line unit (in Hebrew) and vv. 11b,c–12 a three-line unit. The latter speaks of a purified Jerusalem. Verse 13 is a summary conclusion. My holy mountain. Mount Zion (see Ps 2:6).
3:13 no one to make them tremble. See Mic 4:4.
3:14–17 Joy in the restored city (in two parts: vv. 14–15 and vv. 16–17)—the prophet's reassurance (contrast 1:10–13).

Haggai

THE BOOK OF

Author

Haggai was a prophet who, along with Zechariah, encouraged the returned exiles to rebuild the temple (see Ezra 5:1–2; 6:14). "Haggai" means "festal," which may indicate that the prophet was born during one of the three pilgrimage feasts (Unleavened Bread, Pentecost or Weeks, and Booths; cf. Deut 16:16). Based on 2:3 (see note there) Haggai may have witnessed the destruction of Solomon's temple. If so, he must have been in his early 70s during his ministry.

Background

In 538 B.C. the conqueror of Babylon, Cyrus king of Persia, issued a decree allowing the Jews to return to Jerusalem and rebuild the temple (see Ezra 1:2–4; 6:3–5). Led by Zerubbabel (but see note on Ezra 1:8, "Sheshbazzar"), about 50,000 Jews journeyed home and began work on the temple. About two years later (536) they completed the foundation amid great rejoicing (Ezra 3:8–10). Their success aroused the Samaritans and other neighbors who feared the political and religious implications of a rebuilt temple in a thriving Jewish state. They therefore opposed the project vigorously and managed to halt work until Darius the Great became king of Persia in 522 B.C. (Ezra 4:1–5,24).

Darius was interested in the religions of his empire, and Haggai and Zechariah began to preach in his second year, 520 B.C. (see 1:1; Zech 1:1). The Jews were more to blame for their inactivity than their opponents, and Haggai tried to arouse them from their lethargy. When the governor of Trans-Euphrates and other officials tried to interfere with the rebuilding efforts, Darius fully supported the Jews (Ezra 5:3–6; 6:6–12). In 516 B.C. the temple was finished and dedicated (Ezra 6:15–18).

Date

The messages of Haggai were given during a four-month period in 520 B.C., the second year of King Darius. The first message was delivered on the first day of the sixth month (Aug. 29), the last on the 24th day of the ninth month (Dec. 18). See notes on 1:1; 2:1,10; see also Introduction to Zechariah: Dates.

Themes and Teaching

Next to Obadiah, Haggai is the shortest book in the OT, but its teachings are none the less significant. Haggai clearly shows the consequences of disobedience (1:6,11; 2:16–17) and obedience (2:7–9,19). When the people give priority to God and His house, they are blessed rather than cursed. Obedience brings the encouragement and strength of the Spirit of God (2:4–5).

Ch. 2 speaks of the coming of the Messiah, called the "desired of all nations" in v. 7 (see NASB marg. there). His coming would fill the rebuilt temple with glory (see 2:9 and note). The Lord made Zerubbabel his "signet ring" as a guarantee that the Messiah would come (see 2:23 and note). These passages are linked with the judgment of the nations at Christ's second coming, when the nations will be shaken and kingdoms overthrown (see 2:6–7,21–22 and notes; cf. Heb 12:25–29).

Literary Features

Like Malachi, Haggai uses a number of questions to highlight key issues (see 1:4,9; 2:3,19). He also makes effective use of repetition: "Consider your ways" occurs in 1:5,7; 2:15,18, and "I am with you" in 1:13; 2:4. "I am going to shake the heavens and the earth" is found in 2:6,21. The major sections of the book are marked off by the date on which the word of the Lord came "to" (or "by") Haggai (1:1; 2:1,10,20).

Several times the prophet appears to echo other Scriptures (compare 1:6 with Deut 28:38–39 and 2:17 with Deut 28:22). The threefold use of "take courage" in 2:4 (see note there) reflects the encouragement given in Josh 1:6–7,9,18.

Outline

I. First Message: The Call to Rebuild the Temple (1:1–11)
   A. The People's Lame Excuse (1:1–4)
   B. The Poverty of the People (1:5–6)
   C. The Reason God Has Cursed Them (1:7–11)

   A. The Leaders and Remnant Obey (1:12)
   B. The Lord Strengthens the Workers (1:13–15)
III. Second Message: The Temple to Be Filled with Glory (2:1–9)
   A. The People Encouraged (2:1–5)
   B. The Promise of Glory and Peace (2:6–9)
IV. Third Message: A Defiled People Purified and Blessed (2:10–19)
   A. The Rapid Spread of Sin (2:10–14)
   B. Poor Harvests because of Disobedience (2:15–17)
   C. Blessing to Come as the Temple Is Rebuilt (2:18–19)
V. Fourth Message: The Promise to Zerubbabel (2:20–23)
   A. The Judgment of the Nations (2:20–22)
   B. The Significance of Zerubbabel (2:23)

Haggai Begins Temple Building

1 In the [a]second year of Darius the king, on the first day of the sixth month, the word of the LORD came by the prophet [b]Haggai to [c]Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, [d]governor of Judah, and to [e]Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, saying,

2 "Thus says the LORD of [1]hosts, 'This people says, "The time has not come, even the time for the house of the LORD to be rebuilt." ' "

3 Then the word of the LORD came by Haggai the prophet, saying,

4 "Is it time for you yourselves to dwell in your paneled houses while this house [a]lies desolate?"

5 Now therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts, "[1]Consider your ways!

6 "You have [a]sown much, but [1]harvest little; you eat, but there is not enough to be satisfied; you drink, but there is [2]not enough to become drunk; you put on clothing, but no one is warm enough; and he who earns, earns wages to put into a purse with holes."

7 Thus says the LORD of hosts, "[1]Consider your ways!

8 "Go up to the [1]mountains, bring wood and [a]rebuild the [2]temple, that I may be [b]pleased with it and be [c]glorified," says the LORD.

9 "[a]You look for much, but behold, it comes to little; when you bring it home, I [b]blow it away. Why?" declares the LORD of hosts, "Because of My house which [c]lies desolate, while each of you runs to his own house.

10 "Therefore, because of you the [a]sky has withheld [1]its dew and the earth has withheld its produce.

11 "I called for a [a]drought on the land, on the mountains, on the grain, on the new wine, on the oil, on what the ground produces, on [b]men, on cattle, and on [c]all the labor of [1]your hands."

12 Then [a]Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and [b]Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, with all the remnant of the people, [c]obeyed the voice of the LORD their God and the words of Haggai the prophet, as the LORD their God had sent him. And the people [1d]showed reverence for the LORD.

13 Then Haggai, the [a]messenger of the LORD, spoke [1]by the commission of the LORD to the people saying, " '[b]I am with you,' declares the LORD."

14 So the LORD stirred up the spirit of [a]Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, [a]governor of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and the spirit of all the [b]remnant of the people; and they came and [c]worked on the house of the LORD of hosts, their God,

1:1 second year . . . first day . . . sixth month. Aug. 29, 520 B.C. Darius the king. Darius Hystaspis (or Hystaspes) ruled Persia from 522 to 486 B.C. It was he who prepared the trilingual inscription on the Behistun (Bisitun) cliff wall (located in modern Iran), through which cuneiform languages were deciphered. first day. The new moon was the day on which prophets were sometimes consulted (see 2 Kin 4:22–23 and note on Is 1:14). Zerubbabel. See note on Ezra 1:8, "Sheshbazzar." Shealtiel. According to 1 Chr 3:17–19 he was Zerubbabel's grandfather (in Hebrew "son" sometimes means "grandson"). Joshua. Mentioned with Zerubbabel also in vv. 12,14; 2:2,4. Jehozadak. Had been taken captive by Nebuchadnezzar (1 Chr 6:15).

1:2 LORD of hosts. Used more than 90 times in Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi. See note on Is 13:4. This people. See 2:14. Because of their sin, the nation is not called "my people" (see Is 6:9; 8:6,11–12; Jer 14:10–11; see also note on Hos 1:9). time has not come. After the foundation of the temple had been laid in 536 B.C. (see Ezra 3:8–10), opposition hindered and then halted the work until 520 (see Ezra 4:1–5,24).

1:4 paneled houses. Usually connected with royal dwellings, which had cedar paneling (1 Kin 7:3,7; Jer 22:14).

1:6 sown much . . . harvest little. A curse for disobedience (see Deut 28:38–39). Lev 26:20 also describes the unfruitfulness of a land judged by God. drink . . . drunk. Cf. Is 55:1–2. The people experience futility in all their activities, legitimate or illegitimate (cf. Hos 4:10–11). purse with holes. Famine causes prices to rise sharply.

1:8 mountains . . . wood. Perhaps wood from the hills around Jerusalem was to supplement the cedar wood already purchased from Lebanon (see Ezra 3:7). be pleased with it. And with the sacrifices offered there (contrast Is 1:11). be glorified. An obedient nation would bring praise and honor to God (see Jer 13:11).

1:10 dew. Normally abundant, and often as valuable as rain (see 2 Sam 1:21; 1 Kin 17:1).

1:11 mountains. The hills were cultivated, especially through terracing (see Ps 104:13–15; Is 7:25; Joel 3:18). the grain . . . the new wine . . . the oil. The three basic crops of the land, often mentioned in a context of blessing or cursing (see Deut 7:13; 11:14; 28:51; Hos 2:8,22). Olive oil was used as food, ointment or medicine. men, on cattle. The drought affected men and cattle and so could be said to be "on" them too.

1:12 remnant. See note on Is 1:9. showed reverence for the LORD. Showing respect and obedience (see Deut 31:12–13; Mal 1:6; 3:5,16).

1:13 messenger. A title for prophets (see 2 Chr 36:15; Is 42:19 and note) or priests (see Mal 2:7). I am with you. A sure indication of success (see 2:4; Num 14:9; Gen 26:3 and note).

1:14 stirred up the spirit. See Ezra 1:5, where God stirred up many of these same people to return home and rebuild the temple.

1:15 twenty-fourth day of the sixth month. Sept. 21, 520 B.C.

2:1 twenty-first of the seventh month. Oct. 17, 520 B.C., the last day of the Feast of Booths. It was a time to celebrate the summer harvest (see Lev 23:34–43), though the crops were meager (see 1:11; cf. John 7:37). Solomon had dedicated the temple during this feast (1 Kin 8:2).

Shealtiel, [a]governor of Judah, and to [a]Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and to the [b]remnant of the people saying,

3 'Who is [a]left among you who saw this [1]temple in its [b]former glory? And how do you see it now? Does it not [2]seem to you like nothing [3]in comparison?

4 'But now [1][a]take courage, Zerubbabel,' declares the LORD, 'take courage also, Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and all you people of the land take courage,' declares the LORD, 'and work; for [b]I am with you,' declares the LORD of hosts.

5 'As for the [1][a]promise which I [2]made you when you came out of Egypt, [3]My [b]Spirit is abiding in your midst; [c]do not fear!'

6 "For thus says the LORD of hosts, '[a]Once more [1]in a [b]little while, I am going to [c]shake the heavens and the earth, the sea also and the dry land.

7 'I will shake [a]all the nations; and [1]they will come with the [b]wealth of all nations, and I will [c]fill this house with glory,' says the LORD of hosts.

8 'The [a]silver is Mine and the gold is Mine,' declares the LORD of hosts.

9 'The latter [a]glory of this house will be greater than the [b]former,' says the LORD of hosts, 'and in this place I will give [c]peace,' declares the LORD of hosts."

10 On the [a]twenty-fourth of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to Haggai the prophet, saying,

11 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, '[a]Ask now the priests for a [1]ruling:

12 'If a man carries [a]holy meat in the [1]fold of his garment, and touches bread with [2]this fold, or cooked food, wine, oil, or any other food, will it become holy?' " And the priests answered, "No."

13 Then Haggai said, "[a]If one who is unclean from a [1]corpse touches any of these, will the latter become unclean?" And the priests answered, "It will become unclean."

14 Then Haggai said, " '[a]So is this people. And so is this nation before Me,' declares the LORD, 'and so is every work of their hands; and what they offer there is unclean.

15 'But now, do [1][a]consider from this day [2]onward: before one [b]stone was placed on another in the temple of the LORD,

2:3 is left. Some of the older exiles (perhaps including Haggai himself) had seen Solomon's magnificent temple, destroyed by the Babylonians 66 years earlier. this temple in its former glory. See vv. 7,9. Zerubbabel's temple was considered a continuation of Solomon's. seem . . . like nothing. Cf. the reaction when the foundation of the temple was finished (Ezra 3:12).

2:4 take courage . . . work. David used these words in 1 Chr 28:20 when he encouraged Solomon to build the temple. Joshua son of Nun had been exhorted with similar words (Josh 1:6–7,9,18). I am with you. See 1:13 and note; 1 Chr 28:20. The same God who helped Solomon will empower Zerubbabel and the people.

2:5 My Spirit. The Holy Spirit had rested on Moses and the 70 elders as they had led the people out of Egypt and through the wilderness (see Num 11:16–17,25; Is 63:11). See also Zech 4:6 and note. do not fear! See notes on v. 4; Josh 1:18; Is 41:10.

2:6 An announcement of the coming day of God's judgment on the nations—which the fall of Persia to Alexander the Great (333–330 B.C.) would foreshadow. Heb 12:26–27 relates this verse to the judgment of the nations at the second coming of Christ. The background for the shaking of the nations here and in vv. 21–22 is the judgment on Egypt at the Red Sea. Cf. also Is 14:16–17.

2:7 they will come. "They" (or "The Desire"; see NASB marg.) can refer to individuals, as in 1 Sam 9:20; Dan 9:23 (where the same Hebrew verb is translated "highly esteemed"); 11:37. Thus it may have Messianic significance (cf. Mal 3:1). The same Hebrew word can also refer to articles of value, however (see 2 Chr 20:25; 32:27)—such as the contribution of King Darius to the temple (Ezra 6:8). If that is the intent here, the bringing of the "wealth of the nations" to Zion in Is 60:5 is a close parallel (see note there). fill . . . with glory. "Glory" can refer to material splendor (see Is 60:7,13 and notes) or to the presence of God (Ex 40:34–35; 1 Kin 8:10–11). The latter references connect the glory of the Lord with the cloud that filled the sanctuary. When Christ came to the earthly temple, God's presence was evident as never before (see Luke 2:27,32).

2:8 silver . . . gold. God provided for Solomon's temple (1 Chr 29:2,7) and for Zerubbabel's (Ezra 6:5).

2:9 glory . . . greater. Ultimately because the Messiah would be present there (see v. 7 and note). this place. Probably Jerusalem (see Is 60:17 and note). I will give peace. Probably an allusion to the priestly benediction (see Num 6:26).

2:10 twenty-fourth . . . ninth month. Dec. 18, 520 B.C.—when winter crops were planted.

2:11 priests. They were consulted about the precise meaning of the law (see Jer 18:18; Mal 2:7–9).

2:12 holy meat. Meat from an animal set apart for a sacrifice. will it become holy? A question about transmitting holiness. Consecrated meat made the garment "holy" because it was in direct contact with that garment (see Lev 6:27), but the garment could not pass on that holiness to a third object. Cf. Ezek 46:20.

2:13 will the latter become unclean? Ceremonial uncleanness is transmitted much more easily than holiness. Anything touched by an unclean person becomes unclean (see Num 19:11–13,22).

2:14 this people. See 1:2 and note. every work . . . is unclean. Even though the people were back in the holy land, that holiness did not make them pure. They needed to obey the Lord, particularly with regard to rebuilding the temple. See notes on vv. 12–13.

2:15 before one stone was placed. Before the 24th day of the sixth month (1:15).

2:16 grain heap. See Jer 50:26. only ten . . . only twenty. The poor harvests were related to the sin of the people. See 1:11; Is 5:10 and note. wine vat. A trough into which grape juice flowed. See note on Is 16:10.

ond time to Haggai on the [a]twenty-fourth

See also 1 Kin 8:37; Amos 4:9. hail. Sent to destroy the fields and livestock of Egypt (see Ex 9:25; Ps 78:47–48). you did not come back. See Amos 4:9.

2:18 when the temple . . . was founded. The same potential for blessing existed at the time when the foundation of the temple was laid in 536 B.C. (Ezra 3:11). This is a warning not to fail again.

2:19 vine . . . fig tree . . . pomegranate . . . olive tree. Grapes, figs and pomegranates ripened in August and September, and olives from September to November. These harvests, like the earlier grain crops, had produced little. See 1:11 and note. I will bless you. Because of their response to Haggai's message, future abundance is assured. Cf. Mal 3:10.

2:20 See note on v. 10.

2:21 shake . . . the earth. See v. 6 and note.

2:22 overthrow . . . overthrow. The Hebrew for these words is used with reference to Sodom and Gomorrah (see Gen 19:25; Amos 4:11). chariots . . . horses . . . riders. Cf. the destruction of Pharaoh's army at the Red Sea (Ex 15:1,4,19,21). everyone by . . . another. The plight of the armies of Midian (Judg 7:22), Gog (Ezek 38:21) and the nations fighting against Jerusalem in the last days (Zech 14:13).

2:23 On that day. The day of the Lord. See Is 2:11,17,20; 10:20,27; Zech 2:11 and notes. My servant. A term applied to prophets (see Is 20:3 and note), political leaders (Is 22:20) and the Messiah (see Is 41:8–9; 42:1 and notes). signet ring. A kind of seal that functioned as a signature (see Esth 8:8) and was worn on one's finger (Esth 3:10). Like other seals (cf. Gen 38:18) it could be used as a pledge or guarantee of full payment. Its mention here probably reverses the curse placed on King Jehoiachin in Jer 22:24 (cf. Judg 17:2). Zerubbabel would then be a guarantee that someday the Messiah descended from David will come (cf. Matt 1:1,12). In 2 Cor 1:22 the Holy Spirit is the seal guaranteeing the believer's future inheritance (cf. Eph 1:13–14). chosen you. See Is 41:8–9; 42:1 and notes.

Zechariah

Background

Zechariah's prophetic ministry took place in the postexilic period, the time of the Jewish restoration from Babylonian captivity. For historical details see Introduction to Haggai: Background.

Author and Unity

Like Jeremiah (1:1) and Ezekiel (1:3), Zechariah was not only a prophet (1:1) but also a priest. He was born in Babylonia and was among those who returned to Judah in 538 B.C. under the leadership of Zerubbabel and Joshua (his grandfather Iddo is named among the returnees in Neh 12:4). At a later time, when Joiakim was high priest, Zechariah apparently succeeded Iddo (1:1,7) as head of that priestly family (Neh 12:10–16). Since the grandson succeeded the grandfather, it has been suggested that the father (Berekiah, 1:1,7) died at an early age.

Zechariah was a contemporary of Haggai (Ezra 5:1; 6:14) but continued his ministry long after him (compare 1:1 and 7:1 with Hag 1:1; see also Neh 12:1–16). His young age (see 2:4) in the early period of his ministry makes it possible that he ministered even into the reign of Artaxerxes I (465–424 B.C.).

Most likely Zechariah wrote the entire book that bears his name. Some have questioned his authorship of chs. 9 to 14 — citing differences in style and other compositional features, and giving historical and chronological references that allegedly require a different date and author from those of chs. 1 to 8. All these objections, however, can be explained in other satisfactory ways, so there is no compelling reason to question the unity of the book.

Dates

The dates of Zechariah's recorded messages are best correlated with those of Haggai and with other historical events as follows:

1.	Haggai's first message (Hag 1:1–11; Ezra 5:1)	Aug. 29, 520 B.C.
2.	Resumption of the building of the temple (Hag 1:12–15; Ezra 5:2) (The rebuilding seems to have been hindered from 536 to c. 530 [Ezra 4:1–5], and the work ceased altogether from c. 530 to 520 [Ezra 4:24].)	Sept. 21, 520
3.	Haggai's second message (Hag 2:1–9)	Oct. 17, 520
4.	Beginning of Zechariah's preaching (1:1–6)	Oct./Nov., 520
5.	Haggai's third message (Hag 2:10–19)	Dec. 18, 520
6.	Haggai's fourth message (Hag 2:20–23)	Dec. 18, 520
7.	Tattenai's letter to Darius concerning the rebuilding of the temple (Ezra 5:3—6:14) (There must have been a lapse of time between the resumption of the building and Tattenai's appearance.)	519–518
8.	Zechariah's eight night visions (chs. 1:7—6:8)	Feb. 15, 519
9.	Joshua crowned (chs. 6:9—15)	Feb. 16 (?), 519
10.	Repentance urged, blessings promised (chs. 7—8)	Dec. 7, 518
11.	Dedication of the temple (Ezra 6:15–18)	Mar. 12, 516
12.	Zechariah's final prophecy (chs. 9—14)	After 480 (?)

Occasion and Purpose

The occasion is the same as that of the book of Haggai (see Background; Dates). The chief purpose of Zechariah (and Haggai) was to rebuke the people of Judah and to encourage and motivate them to complete the rebuilding of the temple (Zech 4:8–10; Hag 1—2), though both prophets were clearly interested in spiritual renewal as well. In addition, the purpose of the eight night visions (1:7—6:8) is explained in 1:3,5–6: The Lord said that if Judah would return to him, he would return to them. Furthermore, His word would continue to be fulfilled.

Theological Teaching

The theological teaching of the book is related to its Messianic as well as its apocalyptic and eschatological motifs. Regarding the Messianic emphasis, Zechariah foretold Christ's coming in lowliness (6:12), His humanity (6:12; 13:7), His rejection and betrayal for 30 pieces of silver (11:12–13), His crucifixion (struck by the "sword" of the Lord; 13:7), His priesthood (6:13), His kingship (6:13; 9:9; 14:9,16), His coming in glory (14:4), His building of the Lord's temple (6:12–13), His reign (9:10; 14) and His establishment of enduring peace and prosperity (3:10; 9:9–10). These Messianic passages give added significance to Jesus' words in Luke 24:25–27,44.

Concerning the apocalyptic and eschatological emphasis, Zechariah foretold the siege of Jerusalem (12:1–3; 14:1–2), the initial victory of Judah's enemies (14:2), the Lord's defense of Jerusalem (14:3–4), the judgment on the nations (12:9; 14:3), the topographical changes in Judah (14:4–5), the celebration of the Feast of Booths in the Messianic kingdom age (14:16–19) and the ultimate holiness of Jerusalem and her people (14:20–21).

There is also theological significance in the prophet's name, which means "The LORD (Yahweh) remembers." "The LORD" is the personal, covenant name of God and is a perpetual testimony to His faithfulness to His promises (see note on Ex 3:14). He "remembers" His covenant promises and takes action to fulfill them. In the book of Zechariah God's promised deliverance from Babylonian exile, including a restored kingdom community and a functioning temple (the earthly throne of the divine King), leads into even grander pictures of the salvation and restoration to come through the Messiah.

Finally, the book as a whole teaches the sovereignty of God in history, over people and nations—past, present and future.

Literary Form and Themes

The book is primarily a mixture of exhortation (call to repentance, 1:2–6), prophetic visions (1:7—6:8) and judgment and salvation oracles (chs. 9—14). The prophetic visions of 1:7—6:8 are called apocalyptic (revelatory) literature, which is essentially a literature of encouragement to God's people. When the apocalyptic section is read along with the salvation (or deliverance) oracles in chs. 9—14, it becomes obvious that the dominant emphasis of the book is encouragement because of the glorious future that awaits the people of God.

In fact, encouragement is the book's central theme—primarily encouragement to complete the rebuilding of the temple. Various means are used to accomplish this end, and these function as subthemes. For example, great stress is laid on the coming of the Messiah and the overthrow of all anti-kingdom forces by Him so that God's rule can be finally and fully established on earth. The then-current local scene thus becomes the basis for contemplating the universal, eschatological picture.

2. The Messiah's coming and His kingdom (ch. 14)

A Call to Repentance

1 In the eighth month of the second year of [a]Darius, the word of the LORD came to [b]Zechariah the prophet, the son of Berechiah, the son of [c]Iddo saying,

2 "The LORD was very [a]angry with your fathers.

3 "Therefore say to them, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, "[a]Return to Me," declares the LORD of hosts, "that I may return to you," says the LORD of hosts.

4 "Do not be [a]like your fathers, to whom the [b]former prophets proclaimed, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, "[c]Return now from your evil ways and from your evil deeds." ' But they did [d]not listen or give heed to Me," declares the LORD.

5 "Your [a]fathers, where are they? And the [b]prophets, do they live forever?

6 "But did not My words and My statutes, which I commanded My servants the prophets, [a]overtake your fathers? Then they repented and said, '[b]As the LORD of hosts purposed to do to us in accordance with our ways and our deeds, so He has dealt with us.' " ' "

Patrol of the Earth

7 On the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month, which is the month Shebat, in the second year of Darius, the word of the LORD came to Zechariah the prophet, the son of Berechiah, the son of Iddo, as follows:

8 I saw at night, and behold, a man was riding on a [a]red horse, and he was standing among the [b]myrtle trees which were in the ravine, with red, sorrel and [c]white horses behind him.

9 Then I said, "My [a]lord, what are these?" And the [b]angel who was speaking with me said to me, "I will show you what these are."

10 And the man who was standing among the myrtle trees answered and said, "These are those whom the LORD has sent to [1][a]patrol the earth."

11 So they answered the angel of the LORD who was [a]standing among the myrtle trees and said, "We have [1]patrolled the earth, and behold, [b]all the earth is [2]peaceful and quiet."

12 Then the angel of the LORD said, "O LORD of hosts, [a]how long will You [b]have no compassion for Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, with which You have been [c]indignant these [d]seventy years?"

13 The LORD answered the [a]angel who was speaking with me with [1]gracious words, [b]comforting words.

14 So the angel who was speaking with me said to me, "[a]Proclaim, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, "I am [b]exceedingly jealous for Jerusalem and Zion.

15 "But I am very [a]angry with the nations who are [b]at ease; for while I was only a little angry, they [1][c]furthered the disaster."

1:1 eighth month of the second year. October-November, 520 B.C. Haggai also began his prophetic ministry in Darius's second year, on the first day of the sixth month, i.e., on Aug. 29, 520 (Hag 1:1). the word of the LORD. A technical phrase for the prophetic word of revelation (see 9:1; 12:1; Jer 1:2; Ezek 1:3; Hos 1:1; Joel 1:1; Jon 1:1; 3:1; Mic 1:1; Zeph 1:1; Hag 1:1; Mal 1:1). See also note on 6:9. prophet. One called by God to be His spokesman (see note on Ex 7:1–2). Iddo. See v. 7; Ezra 5:1; 6:14; Neh 12:4,16; see also Introduction: Author.

1:2 very angry with your fathers. The Lord was angry because of the covenant-breaking sins of the Jews' preexilic forefathers, resulting in the destruction of Jerusalem and the temple in 586 B.C., followed by exile to Babylonia. God's anger should not be explained away, for to deny that God has genuine emotions is to deprive Him of one of the clear marks of personality.

1:3 Return to Me . . . that I may return to you. Cf. 7:13. If the people of Zechariah's day would change their course and go in the opposite direction from that of their forefathers (v. 4), the Lord would return to them with blessing instead of with a curse (see v. 16; see also Jer 18:7–10).

1:4 former prophets. Such as Isaiah (see Is 45:22), Jeremiah (see Jer 18:11) and Ezekiel (see Ezek 33:11). See also 7:7,12; Jer 25:4–5; 35:15.

1:5 do they live forever? No, but God's words through them live on to be fulfilled (see v. 6).

1:6 did not My words . . . overtake your fathers? Cf. Is 40:6–8; 55:10–11. For the imagery of "overtake" see Deut 28:2,15,45. My servants the prophets. See 2 Kin 9:7; 17:13,23; 21:10; 24:2; Ezra 9:11; Jer 7:25 and note; 25:4; Ezek 38:17; Dan 9:6,10; Amos 3:7. they repented. Apparently a reference to what happened to some of the preexilic forefathers and/or their offspring during the exile and immediately afterward (cf. Ezra 9; 10:1–17; Dan 9:1–19).

1:7–17 The first vision. Although God's covenant people are troubled while the oppressing nations are at ease, God is jealous (see note on Ex 20:5) for His people and will restore them and their towns and the temple. The imagery of the first vision is reflected in that of the eighth and final vision (6:1–8).

1:7 twenty-fourth day of . . . Shebat. Feb. 15, 519 B.C., about three months after the date of v. 1.

1:8 I saw. Not in a dream (see 4:1) but in a vision. The visions were given to Zechariah while he was fully awake. at night. Zechariah had all eight visions (1:7–6:8) in one night. man was riding. The angel of the Lord (v. 11). He must not be confused with the interpreting angel, who is mentioned in vv. 9,13–14,19; 2:3; 4:1,4–5; 5:5,10; 6:4–5. horses. Perhaps angelic messengers (v. 10).

1:11 angel of the LORD. See note on Gen 16:7. peaceful. Cf. 6:8. While the Persian empire as a whole was secure and at ease by this time (v. 15), the Jews in Judah were oppressed and still under foreign domination (v. 12).

1:12 seventy years. See 7:5 and note; Jer 25:11–12 and note; 29:10; cf. 2 Chr 36:21; Ezra 1:1; Dan 9:2.

1:13 comforting words. Those of vv. 14–17.

1:14 jealous. See 8:2. Through the use of such language the Lord's love for Judah is shown (see note on Ex 20:5; cf. James 4:4). The key idea is that of God vindicating Judah for the violations against her (v. 15).

1:15 furthered the disaster. God was angry with Israel and used the Assyrians (Is 10:5) and Babylonians (Is 47:6; Jer 25:9) to punish her, but they went too far by trying to destroy the Jews as a people.

16 'Therefore thus says the LORD, "I will [a]return to Jerusalem with compassion; My [b]house will be built in it," declares the LORD of hosts, "and a measuring [c]line will be stretched over Jerusalem." '

17 "Again, proclaim, saying, 'Thus says the LORD of hosts, "My [a]cities will again overflow with prosperity, and the LORD will again [b]comfort Zion and again [c]choose Jerusalem." ' "

18 [1]Then I lifted up my eyes and looked, and behold, there were four horns.

19 So I said to the angel who was speaking with me, "What are these?" And he answered me, "These are the [a]horns which have scattered Judah, Israel and Jerusalem."

20 Then the LORD showed me four [a]craftsmen.

21 I said, "What are these coming to do?" And he said, "These are the [a]horns which have scattered Judah so that no man lifts up his head; but these craftsmen have come to terrify them, to [b]throw down the horns of the nations who have lifted up their horns against the land of Judah in order to scatter it."

God's Favor to Zion

2 [1]Then I lifted up my eyes and looked, and behold, there was a man with a [a]measuring line in his hand.

2 So I said, "Where are you going?" And he said to me, "To [a]measure Jerusalem, to see how wide it is and how long it is."

3 And behold, the [a]angel who was speaking with me was going out, and another angel was coming out to meet him,

4 and said to him, "Run, speak to that [a]young man, saying, '[b]Jerusalem will be inhabited [1c]without walls because of the [d]multitude of men and cattle within it.

8 For thus says the LORD of hosts, "After [1a]glory He has sent me against the nations which plunder you, for he who touches you, touches the [2b]apple of His eye.

9 "For behold, I will [a]wave My hand over them so that they will be [b]plunder for their slaves. Then you will know that the LORD of hosts has sent Me.

11 "[a]Many nations will join themselves to the LORD in that day and will become My people. Then I will [b]dwell in your midst, and you will [c]know that the LORD of hosts has sent Me to you.

12 "The LORD will [1a]possess Judah as His portion in the holy land, and will again [b]choose Jerusalem.

13 "[1a]Be silent, all flesh, before the LORD; for He is [b]aroused from His holy habitation."

Joshua, the High Priest

3 Then he showed me [a]Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, and [1b]Satan standing at his right hand to accuse him.

1:16 I will return. See note on v. 3. My house will be built. See Ezra 6:14–16. measuring line. A symbol of restoration (cf. Jer 31:38–40).

1:17 choose Jerusalem. See 2:12; 3:2.

1:18–21 The second vision. The nations that devastated Israel (v. 19) will in turn be destroyed by other nations.

1:18 four. If the number is to be taken literally, the reference is probably to Assyria, Egypt, Babylonia and Medo-Persia. horns. Symbolic of strength in general (Ps 18:2), or the strength of a country, i.e., its king (Ps 89:17; Dan 7:7–8; 8:20–21; Rev 17:12), or, as here (see v. 21), the power of a nation in general.

1:20 four craftsmen. If the number is to be understood literally, probably the reference is to Egypt, Babylonia, Persia and Greece. What is clear is that all Judah's enemies will ultimately be defeated (v. 21).

2:1–13 The third vision. There will be full restoration and blessing for the covenant people, temple and city.

2:1 measuring line. See note on 1:16.

2:4 young man. Evidently Zechariah. without walls. The city's population will overflow to the point that it will be as though it had no walls (see 10:8,10; see also note on Is 49:19–20).

2:5 wall of fire. Here symbolic of divine protection (see Ex 13:21 and note; Is 4:5–6 and note). glory. See Ex 40:34.

2:6 land of the north. Babylon (v. 7) invaded Judah from the north (Jer 1:14; 4:6; 6:1,22; 10:22). as the four winds. In all directions. The exiles would return from north, south, east and west (Is 43:5–6; 49:12).

2:7 Zion. Jerusalem's exiles in Babylon. Escape . . . Babylon. Cf. Rev 18:4–8.

2:8 apple of His eye. See note on Deut 32:10.

2:9 hand. Power.

2:10 See 9:9. I will dwell in your midst. See v. 11; 8:3; Lev 26:11–12; Ezek 37:27; John 1:14; 2 Co 6:16; Rev 21:3.

2:11 Many nations. In fulfillment of the promise to Abraham (Gen 12:3; cf. Zec. 8:20–23; Gen 18:18; 22:18; Is 2:2–4; 60:3). that day. The day of the Lord (see 3:10; see also note on Is 2:11,17,20).

2:12 holy land. This designation occurs only here in Scripture. The land was rendered holy chiefly because it was the site of the earthly throne and sanctuary of the holy King, who dwelt there among His covenant people. See note on Ex 3:5. choose Jerusalem. See 1:17; 3:2.

2:13 Be silent . . . before the LORD. See Hab 2:20; Zeph 1:7. aroused. To judge (cf. v. 9).

3:1–10 The fourth vision. Israel will be cleansed and restored as a priestly nation (see Ex 19:6 and note).

3:1 Joshua. A variant of Jeshua, here and elsewhere in Zechariah and in Haggai. In Ezra 2:2 and Neh 7:7 he is referred to as Jeshua. Here he represents the sinful nation of Israel (see vv. 8–9). The names "Joshua" and "Jeshua" were common in ancient times. The Greek equivalent is spelled "Jesus" in English, and all three forms of the name mean "The LORD saves" (see note on Matt 1:21). standing before. Ministering before—as priest (see

2 The LORD said to Satan, "[a]The LORD rebuke you, Satan! Indeed, the LORD who has [b]chosen Jerusalem rebuke you! Is this not a [c]brand plucked from the fire?"

3 Now Joshua was clothed with [a]filthy garments and standing before the angel.

4 He spoke and said to those who were standing before him, saying, "[a]Remove the filthy garments from him." Again he said to him, "See, I have [b]taken your iniquity away from you and [1]will [c]clothe you with festal robes."

5 Then I said, "Let them put a clean [a]turban on his head." So they put a clean turban on his head and clothed him with garments, while the angel of the LORD was standing by.

6 And the angel of the LORD admonished Joshua, saying,

7 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, 'If you will [a]walk in My ways and if you will perform My service, then you will also [b]govern My house and also have charge of My [c]courts, and I will grant you [1]free access among these who are standing here.

The Branch

8 'Now listen, Joshua the high priest, you and your friends who are sitting in front of you—indeed they are men who are a [a]symbol, for behold, I am going to bring in My servant the [1][b]Branch.

9 'For behold, the stone that I have set before Joshua; on one stone are [a]seven eyes. Behold, I will engrave an inscription on it,' declares the LORD of hosts, 'and I will [b]remove the iniquity of that land in one day.

10 'In that day,' declares the LORD of hosts, 'every one of you will invite his neighbor to sit under his [a]vine and under his fig tree.' "

The Golden Lampstand and Olive Trees

4 Then [a]the angel who was speaking with me returned and [b]roused me, as a man who is awakened from his sleep.

2 He said to me, "[a]What do you see?" And I said, "I see, and behold, a [b]lampstand all of gold with its bowl on the top of it, and its [c]seven lamps on it with seven spouts belonging to each of the lamps which are on the top of it;

3 also [a]two olive trees by it, one on the right side of the bowl and the other on its left side."

4 Then I said to the angel who was speaking with me saying, "What are these, [a]my lord?"

Deut 10:8; 2 Chr 29:11; Ezek 44:15). angel of the LORD. See 1:11; see also note on Gen 16:7. Satan. See NASB marg.; cf. Job 1:6–12; 2:1–7; Rev 12:10. right hand. See Ps 109:6. accuse. The Hebrew for this word has the same root as the Hebrew for "Satan."

3:2 rebuke . . . rebuke. Repeated for emphasis (see 4:7; see also note on Is 40:1). chosen Jerusalem. See 1:17; 2:12. brand plucked from the fire. The Jews were retrieved from the fire of Babylonian exile to carry out God's future purpose for them (see Amos 4:11; see also Zech 13:8–9; Deut 4:20 and note; 7:7–8; 1 Kin 8:51; Is 48:10; Jer 11:4; 30:7; Rev 12:13–16).

3:4 those who were standing before him. Probably angels (see also v. 7). Remove the filthy garments. Thus depriving him of his priestly office. The act is here symbolic also of the removal of sin (see note on v. 9).

3:5 put a clean turban on his head. Thus reinstating him into his high-priestly function so that Israel once again has a divinely authorized priestly mediator. On the front of the turban were the words: "Holy to the LORD" (Ex 28:36; 39:30; cf. 14:20).

3:7 If Joshua and his priestly associates are faithful, they will be co-workers with the angels in the carrying out of God's purposes for Zion and Israel. these . . . standing here. See note on v. 4.

3:8 friends. Fellow priests. My servant. See notes on Ex 14:31; Ps 18 title; Is 41:8–9; 42:1–4; 42:1; Rom 1:1. Branch. A Messianic title (see 6:12; Is 4:2 and note; 11:1; Jer 23:5; 33:15).

3:9 stone. Probably another figure of the Messiah (cf. Ps 118:22–23; Is 8:13–15; 28:16 and note; Dan 2:35,45; Matt 21:42; Eph 2:19–22; 1 Pet 2:6–8). seven eyes. Perhaps symbolic of infinite intelligence (omniscience). See note on 4:10. I will remove the iniquity of that land. The symbolic act of v. 4 is now explained. "Land" stands for the people of Israel. For the cleansing spoken of here see also 12:10–13:1. in one day. Ultimately Good Friday, though some believe that the reference also includes Christ's second coming.

3:10 that day. The day of the Lord (see 2:11; see also note on Is 2:11,17,20). sit under his vine and . . . fig tree. A proverbial picture of peace, security and contentment (see 2 Kin 18:31; Mic 4:4 and note).

4:1–14 The fifth vision. The Jews are encouraged to rebuild the temple by being reminded of their divine resources. The light from the lampstand in the tabernacle/temple represents the reflection of God's glory in the consecration and the holy service of God's people (see note on Ex 25:31)—made possible only by the power of God's Spirit (see v. 6; the oil, v. 12). This enabling power will equip and sustain Zerubbabel in the rebuilding of the temple (vv. 6–10). And in the performance of their offices, Zerubbabel and Joshua (as representatives of the royal and priestly mediatorial offices) will channel the Spirit's enablement to God's people (vv. 11–14).

4:1 roused me. On the same night (see note on 1:8).

4:2 What do you see? See 5:2; see also Jer 1:11 and note. The vision here was probably of seven lamps arranged around a large bowl that served as a bountiful reservoir of oil. Each lamp had seven "spouts" or "lips" that held the wicks of the oil lamps. Each lamp had seven "spouts," meaning a total of 49 flames. Another possibility is that the "spouts" were "channels" conveying the oil from the bowl to the lamps. In any event, the bowl represents an abundant supply of oil, symbolizing the fullness of God's power through His Spirit, and the "seven . . . seven" represents the abundant light shining from the lamps (seven being the number of fullness or completeness).

4:3 two olive trees. Cf. Rev 11:4. The two olive trees stand for the priestly and royal offices and symbolize a continuing supply of oil. The two olive branches (v. 12) stand for Joshua the priest (ch. 3) and Zerubbabel from the royal house of David (ch. 4; cf. v. 14). These two leaders were to do God's work (e.g., on the temple and in the lives of the people) in the power of His Spirit (v. 6). The combination of the priestly and royal lines and their functions points ultimately to the Messianic King-Priest and His offices and functions (cf. 6:13).

4:4 these. The two olive trees of v. 3, as v. 11 makes clear. The answer to the question is postponed until v. 14.

5 So [a]the angel who was speaking with me answered and said to me, "[b]Do you not know what these are?" And I said, "No, my lord."

6 Then he [1]said to me, "This is the word of the LORD to [a]Zerubbabel saying, '[b]Not by might nor by power, but by My [c]Spirit,' says the LORD of hosts.

7 'What are you, O great [a]mountain? Before Zerubbabel you will become a plain; and he will bring forth the top stone with [b]shouts of "Grace, grace to it!" ' "

8 Also the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

9 "The hands of Zerubbabel have [a]laid the foundation of this house, and his hands will [b]finish it. Then you will know that the LORD of hosts has sent me to [1]you.

10 "For who has despised the day of [a]small things? [1]But these [b]seven will be glad when they see the [2c]plumb line in the hand of Zerubbabel—these are the [d]eyes of the LORD which [e]range to and fro throughout the earth."

11 Then I said to him, "What are these [a]two olive trees on the right of the lampstand and on its left?"

12 And I answered the second time and said to him, "What are the two olive [1]branches which are beside the two golden pipes, which empty the golden oil from themselves?"

13 So he answered me, saying, "[a]Do you not know what these are?" And I said, "No, [b]my lord."

14 Then he said, "These are the two [1a]anointed ones who are [b]standing by the [c]Lord of the whole earth."

The Flying Scroll

5 Then I lifted up my eyes again and looked, and behold, there was a flying [a]scroll.

2 And he said to me, "[a]What do you see?" And I answered, "I see a flying scroll; its length is twenty [1]cubits and its width ten cubits."

3 Then he said to me, "This is the [a]curse that is going forth over the face of the whole [1]land; surely everyone who [b]steals will be purged away according to [2]the writing on one side, and everyone who [c]swears will be purged away according to [2]the writing on the other side.

4 "I will [a]make it go forth," declares the LORD of hosts, "and it will [b]enter the house of the [c]thief and the house of the one who swears falsely by My name; and it will spend the night within that house and [d]consume it with its timber and stones."

5 Then [a]the angel who was speaking with me went out and said to me, "Lift up

4:6 Not by might nor by power. Even though Zerubbabel does not possess the royal might and power that David and Solomon had enjoyed. by My Spirit. Interprets the symbolism of the oil (v. 12). The angel encouraged Zerubbabel to complete the rebuilding of the temple (vv. 7–10) and assured him of the Spirit's enablement.

4:7 mountain . . . plain. Faith in the power of God's Spirit can overcome mountainous obstacles. The figurative mountain probably included opposition (Ezra 4:1–5,24) and the people's unwillingness to persevere (Hag 1:14; 2:1–5). Cf. the same or similar imagery in Is 40:4; 41:15; 49:11; Matt 17:20; 21:21; Mark 11:23; 1 Cor 13:2; 2 Cor 10:4. top stone. The final stone to be put in place (see Ps 118:22), marking the completion of the restoration temple by Zerubbabel (see v. 9). Grace, grace to it! Repeated for emphasis (see 3:2; see also note on Is 40:1).

4:8 See note on 6:9.

4:9 laid the foundation. In 537–536 B.C. (Ezra 3:8–11; 5:16). finish it. In 516 (Ezra 6:14–16).

4:10 day of small things. Some thought the work on the temple was insignificant (Ezra 3:12; Hag 2:3), but God was in the rebuilding program and, by His Spirit (v. 6), would enable Zerubbabel to finish it. plumb line. The meaning of the Hebrew for this phrase is uncertain. If "plumb line" is correct, the text states that the people would rejoice when they saw this implement in Zerubbabel's hand to complete the task. But the Hebrew for these words may also be rendered "separated (i.e., chosen) stone," referring to the top stone of v. 7. these . . . eyes. See note on 3:9. God oversees the whole earth and is therefore in control of the situation in Judah.

4:14 The meaning of the vision is now explained. two anointed. Zerubbabel from the royal line of David and Joshua the priest. The oil (v. 12) used in anointing symbolizes the Holy Spirit (v. 6). The combination of ruler and priest points ultimately to the Messianic King-Priest (cf. 6:13; Ps 110; Heb 7). Lord of the whole earth. The master of the circumstances in which Zerubbabel and the people found themselves.

5:1–4 The sixth vision. Lawbreakers are condemned by the law they have broken; sinners will be purged from the land.

5:1 flying. Unrolled and waving like a banner, for all to read. scroll. See note on Ex 17:14.

5:2 What do you see? See 4:2; see also Jer 1:11 and note. twenty . . . ten. Thirty feet long and 15 feet wide; unusually large (especially in its width), for all to see. Such a bold, clear message of judgment against sin should spur the people on to repentance and righteousness.

5:3 curse. See Deut 27:26 and note. on one side . . . on the other side. Like the two tablets of the law (Ex 32:15), the scroll is inscribed on both sides (cf. Ezek 2:9–10; Rev 5:1). everyone who steals. He breaks the eighth commandment (Ex 20:15). everyone who swears. See 8:17. Such a person violates the third commandment (compare v. 4 with Ex 20:7). Although theft and perjury may have been the most common forms of lawbreaking at the time, they are probably intended as representative sins. The people of Judah had been guilty of infractions against the whole law (cf. James 2:10).

5:4 it will enter . . . and consume. "It" refers to the curse (v. 3). God's word, whether promise (ch. 4) or warning (as here), always accomplishes its purpose (cf. Ps 147:15; Is 55:10–11; Heb 4:12–13).

5:5–11 The seventh vision. Not only must flagrant, persistent sinners be removed from the land (vv. 1–4), but the whole sinful system will be removed—apparently to a more fitting place (Babylonia).

8 Then he said, "This is [a]Wickedness!" And he threw her down into the middle of the ephah and cast the lead weight on its [1]opening.

9 Then I lifted up my eyes and looked, and there two women were coming out with the wind in their wings; and they had wings like the wings of a [a]stork, and they lifted up the ephah between the earth and the heavens.

10 I said to the angel who was speaking with me, "Where are they taking the ephah?"

11 Then he said to me, "To build a [1]temple for her in the land of [a]Shinar; and when it is prepared, she will be set there on her own pedestal."

The Four Chariots

6 Now I lifted up my eyes again and looked, and behold, [a]four chariots were coming forth from between the two mountains; and the mountains were bronze mountains.

2 With the first chariot were [a]red horses, with the second chariot [b]black horses,

7 "When the strong ones went out, they [1]were eager to go to [2][a]patrol the earth." And He said, "Go, [2]patrol the earth." So they [3]patrolled the earth.

8 Then He cried out to me and spoke to me saying, "See, those who are going to the land of the north have [1][a]appeased My wrath in the land of the north."

9 The [a]word of the LORD also came to me, saying,

The Symbolic Crowns

5:6 ephah. A normal ephah-sized container would not be large enough to hold a person. This one was undoubtedly enlarged (like the flying scroll of vv. 1–2) for the purpose of the vision. appearance. See NASB marg. and v. 8 ("Wickedness").
5:7 woman. Perhaps the reason the people's wickedness was personified as a woman (cf. also Rev 17:3–6) is that the Hebrew word for "wickedness" (v. 8) is feminine in gender.
5:8 Wickedness. A general word denoting moral, religious and civil evil—frequently used as an antonym of righteousness (e.g., Prov 13:6; Ezek 33:12). The whole evil system was to be destroyed (cf. 2 Thess 2:6–8).
5:9 two women. Divinely chosen agents. wind. Also an instrument of God (Ps 104:3–4). The removal of wickedness would be the work of God alone.
5:11 Shinar. Babylonia (see Gen 10:10; 11:2; Rev 17–18). Babylonia, a land of idolatry, was an appropriate locale for wickedness—but not Israel, where God chose to dwell with His people. Only after purging it of its evil would the promised land truly be the "holy land" (2:12).
6:1–8 The eighth and last vision. It corresponds to the first (1:7–17), though there are differences in details, such as in the order and colors of the horses. As in the first vision, the Lord is depicted as the one who controls the events of history. He will conquer the nations that oppress Israel.
6:1 four chariots. Angelic spirits as agents of divine judgment (v. 5). two mountains. Possibly Mount Zion and the Mount of Olives, with the Kidron Valley between them. bronze. Perhaps symbolic of judgment (cf. Num 21:9).
6:2–3 red . . . black . . . white . . . dappled. The horses may signify various divine judgments on the earth (see note on v. 8). See also Rev 6:1–8 and note on Rev 6:2.
6:4 these. The chariots, with the horses harnessed to them.
6:5 four spirits. See note on v. 1. Lord of all the earth. See note on 4:14.
6:8 north. Primarily Babylonia, but also the direction from which most of Israel's foes invaded their nation (see note on 2:6). have appeased My wrath. The angelic beings dispatched to the north have triumphed and thus have pacified or appeased God's spirit (i.e., His anger). See 1:15, where God's displeasure was aroused against oppressive nations. Another view reads "have given My Spirit rest." In either case, since conquest was announced in the north, victory was assured over all enemies.
6:9–15 The fourth and fifth visions were concerned with the high priest and the civil governor (in the Davidic line). Zechariah now relates the message of those two visions to the Messianic King-Priest.
6:9 Introduces a prophetic oracle (see 4:8; 7:4,8; 8:1,18; see also note on 1:1).
6:10 an offering. Gifts (including "silver and gold," v. 11) for the temple (cf. Ezra 6:5; Hag 2:8).
6:11 crown. The Hebrew for this word is not the same as that used for the high priest's turban, but one referring to an ornate crown with many diadems (cf. Rev 19:12). The royal crowning of the high priest foreshadows the goal and consummation of prophecy—the crowning and reign of the Messianic King-Priest (see vv. 12–13; cf. Ps 110:4; Heb 7:1–3).
6:12 Behold, a man. Cf. Pilate's introduction of Jesus in John 19:5. Branch. See note on 3:8. According to the Aramaic Targum (a paraphrase), the Jerusalem Talmud (a collection of reli-

Hearts like Flint

7 In the fourth year of King Darius, the word of the LORD came to Zechariah on the fourth day of the ninth month, which is [a]Chislev.

2 Now the town of Bethel had sent Sharezer and Regemmelech and [1]their men to [2a]seek the favor of the LORD,

3 speaking to the [a]priests who belong to the house of the LORD of hosts, and to the prophets, saying, "Shall I weep in the [b]fifth month [1]and abstain, as I have done these many years?"

4 Then the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying,

5 "Say to all the people of the land and to the priests, 'When you fasted and mourned in the fifth and seventh months [1]these [a]seventy years, was it actually for [b]Me that you fasted?

6 'When you eat and drink, [1]do you not eat for yourselves and do you not drink for yourselves?

7 'Are not these the words which the LORD [a]proclaimed by the former prophets, when Jerusalem was inhabited and [1b]prosperous along with its cities around it, and the [2c]Negev and the [3]foothills were inhabited?' "

8 Then the word of the LORD came to Zechariah saying,

9 "Thus has the LORD of hosts said, '[a]Dispense true justice and practice [b]kindness and compassion each to his brother;

10 and [a]do not oppress the widow or the [1]orphan, the [2]stranger or the poor; and do [b]not devise evil in your hearts against one another.'

11 "But they [a]refused to pay attention and [1b]turned a stubborn shoulder and [2c]stopped their ears from hearing.

12 "They made their [a]hearts like [1b]flint [2]so that they could not hear the law and the [c]words which the LORD of hosts had sent by His Spirit through the [d]former prophets; therefore great [e]wrath came from the LORD of hosts.

13 "And just as [a]He called and they would not listen, so [b]they called and I would not listen," says the LORD of hosts;

14 "but I [1a]scattered them with a [b]storm wind among all the nations whom they have not known. Thus the land is [c]desolated gious instruction) and the Midrash (practical exposition), Jews early regarded this verse as Messianic. branch out. The NASB here reflects the wordplay in the Hebrew text. temple. Cf. Is 2:2–3; Ezek 40–43; Hag 2:6–9.

6:13 His throne. See 2 Sam 7:16; Is 9:7 and note; Luke 1:32. priest on His throne. The coming Davidic King will also be a priest. two. Probably the royal and priestly offices. Such a combination was not normally possible in Israel. For this reason, the sect of Qumran (see essay, p. 1356) expected two Messianic figures—a high-priest Messiah and a Davidic one. But the two offices and functions would in fact be united in the one person of the Messiah (cf. Ps 110; Heb 7).

6:14 Hen. Means "gracious one" perhaps another name for Josiah—to honor him for his hospitality (v. 10).

6:15 Those who are far off will come and build. Cf. Is 60:4–7.

7:1 fourth year . . . fourth day . . . ninth month. Dec. 7, 518 B.C.—not quite two years after the eight night visions (see note on 1:7).

7:3 prophets. Including Zechariah. I. The people of Bethel collectively. weep in the fifth month. See note on 8:19. these many years. "These seventy years" (v. 5).

7:4–7 A rebuke for selfish and insincere fasting on the part of the people and the priests.

7:4,8 See note on 6:9.

7:5 fasted . . . fifth and seventh. See note on 8:19. seventy years. See 1:12 and note. Since these fasts commemorated events related to the destruction of Jerusalem and the temple (see note on 8:19), the 70 years here are to be reckoned from 586 B.C. Strictly speaking, 68 years had transpired; 70 is thus a round number.

7:6 for yourselves. Cf. Is 1:11–17; 58:1–7,13–14.

7:7,12 former prophets. See note on 1:4.

7:7 Negev. See note on Gen 12:9. foothills. Sloping toward the Mediterranean.

7:9–10 Four tests of faithful covenant living, consisting of a series of social, moral and ethical commands.

7:9 justice. The proper ordering of all society (cf. 8:16; see Is 42:1,4; Mic 6:8). kindness. Cf. Hos 10:12; 12:6. compassion. See note on 1:16.

7:10 oppress. Oppression is denounced frequently in the OT (e.g., Amos 2:6–8; 4:1; 5:11–12,21–24; 8:4–6). widow . . . orphan . . . stranger . . . poor. For the Biblical concern for such people see, e.g., Deut 10:18; Is 1:17 and note; Jer 5:28; James 1:27; 1 John 3:16–18. In the ancient Near East, the ideal king was expected to protect the oppressed and needy members of society. devise evil . . . against one another. See 8:17.

7:11 they. The preexilic forefathers, as the reference to the "former prophets" in v. 12 shows. turned a stubborn shoulder. See Deut 9:6,13,27. stopped their ears from hearing. See Ps 58:4; Is 6:10 and note; cf. Is 33:15.

7:12 like flint. See Ezek 3:8–9. words . . . sent by His Spirit. The words of the prophets were inspired by God's Spirit (cf. Neh 9:30; 2 Pet 1:21). great wrath. See 1:2,15.

7:13 See note on 1:3.

7:14 scattered them. One of the curses for covenant disobedience (Deut 28:36–37,64–68; see note on Deut 28:64). storm behind them [2]so that [d]no one went back and forth, for they [e]made the pleasant land desolate."

The Coming Peace and Prosperity of Zion

8 Then the word of the LORD of hosts came, saying,

2 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, 'I am [a]exceedingly jealous for Zion, yes, with great wrath I am jealous for her.'

3 "Thus says the LORD, 'I will return to Zion and will [a]dwell in the midst of Jerusalem. Then Jerusalem will be called the City of [b]Truth, and the mountain of the LORD of hosts will be called the Holy Mountain.'

4 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, '[a]Old men and old women will again sit in the [1]streets of Jerusalem, each man with his staff in his hand because of [2]age.

5 'And the [1]streets of the city will be filled with [a]boys and girls playing in its [1]streets.'

6 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, 'If it is [1][a]too difficult in the sight of the remnant of this people in those days, will it also be [1][b]too difficult in My sight?' declares the LORD of hosts.

7 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, 'Behold, I am going to save My people from the land of the [1][a]east and from the land of the [2]west;

8 and I will [a]bring them back and they will [b]live in the midst of Jerusalem; and they shall be [c]My people, and I will be their God in [1]truth and righteousness.'

9 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, 'Let your hands be [a]strong, you who are listening in these days to these words from the mouth of the [b]prophets, those who spoke in the day that the foundation of the house of the LORD of hosts was laid, to the end that the temple might be built.

10 'For before those days there was [a]no wage for man or any wage for animal; and for him who went out or came in there was no [1][b]peace because of [2]his enemies, and I [c]set all men one against another.

11 'But now I will [a]not [1]treat the remnant of this people as in the former days,' declares the LORD of hosts.

12 'For there will be [a]peace for the seed: the vine will yield its fruit, the land will yield its produce and the heavens will give their [b]dew; and I will cause the remnant of this people to inherit [c]all these things.

13 'It will come about that just as you were a [a]curse among the nations, O house of Judah and house of Israel, so I will save you that you may become a [b]blessing. Do not fear; let your [c]hands be strong.'

14 "For thus says the LORD of hosts, 'Just as I [a]purposed to do harm to you when your fathers provoked Me to wrath,' says the LORD of hosts, 'and I have not [b]relented, 15 so I have again purposed in these days to [a]do good to Jerusalem and to the house of Judah. [b]Do not fear!

16 'These are the things which you should do: speak the [a]truth to one another; [b]judge with truth and judgment for peace in your [1]gates.

17 'Also let none of you [a]devise evil in wind. See Prov 1:27; Is 40:24; Hos 4:19. land . . . desolated. See Deut 28:41–42,45–52. for they made. By their sins. pleasant land. Cf. Ps 106:24; Jer 3:19.

8:1–23 Ten promises of blessing, each beginning with "Thus says the LORD [of hosts]" (vv. 2,3,4,6,7,9,14,19,20,23).

8:1,18 See note on 6:9.

8:2 jealous. See 1:14; see also note on Ex 20:5.

8:3 I will return. See 1:3 and note; 1:16. dwell. See note on 2:10. the City of Truth. Cf. v. 16; see Is 1:26 and note. the Holy Mountain. Cf. 14:20–21.

8:4–5 See Is 11:6–9 and note; 65:20–25.

8:6,11–12 remnant. See notes on Is 1:9; 10:20–22.

8:6 will it also be too difficult in My sight? "Difficult" can be translated "wonderful" or "marvelous" in both instances in this verse (see NASB marg.; see also Gen 18:14 and note; Jer 32:17,27.

8:7 save My people. Deliver them from exile, bondage and dispersion (cf. Is 11:11–12; 43:5–7; Jer 30:7–11; 31:7–8). from the land of the east and . . . the west. Lit. "from the land of the sunrise and from the land of the going in of the sun," i.e., from everywhere—wherever the people are (cf. Ps 50:1; 113:3; Mal 1:11).

8:8 they shall be My people, and I will be their God. Covenant terminology, pertaining to intimate fellowship in a covenant relationship (see 13:9; Gen 17:7 and note; Ex 6:7; 29:45–46; Lev 11:45; 22:33; 25:38; 26:12 and note; 26:45; Num 15:41; Deut 29:13; Jer 24:7; 31:33; 32:38; Ezek 34:30–31; 36:28; 37:27; Hos 1:9–10; 2:23; 2 Cor 6:16; Heb 8:10; Rev 21:3). truth and righteousness. Judah's restoration to covenant favor and blessing rests on the faithfulness (truthfulness, dependability) and righteousness of God.

8:9 hands be strong. See v. 13. prophets. Including Haggai (1:1) and Zechariah (1:1; cf. Ezra 5:1–2).

8:10 before those days. Before the temple foundation was laid (see v. 9). no wage. See Hag 1:6–11; 2:15–19. enemies. For example, the Samaritans (Ezra 4:1–5).

8:11 But now. The reasons for discouragement have passed; God will now provide the grounds for encouragement.

8:12 Contrast with Hag 1:10–11. In Hag 2:19 God had predicted just such a reversal as is depicted here. Fertility and bounty are part of the covenant blessings for obedience promised in Lev 26:3–10; Deut 28:11–12; cf. Ezek 34:25–27.

8:13 curse among the nations. Part of the covenant curses for disobedience threatened in Deut 28:15–68 (see Deut 28:37); cf. Jer 24:9; 25:18. Judah and . . . Israel. The whole nation will experience this deliverance and blessing (cf. Jer 31:1–31; Ezek 37:15–28). blessing. See vv. 20–23; cf. Gen 12:2. hands be strong. See note on v. 9.

8:14–17 Verses 14–15 specify God's part in the people's restoration to favor and blessing; vv. 16–17 delineate their part.

8:14 your fathers provoked Me to wrath. See note on 1:2.

8:15 do good. See vv. 12–13.

8:16–17 See 7:9–10. Such moral and ethical behavior sums up the character of those who are in covenant relationship with the Lord.

8:16 gates. See Gen 19:1 and note; 2 Sam 18:24.

your heart against another, and do not love [1][b]perjury; for all these are what I [c]hate,' declares the LORD."

18 Then the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying,

19 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, 'The fast of the [a]fourth, the fast of the [b]fifth, the fast of the [c]seventh and the fast of the [d]tenth months will become [e]joy, gladness, and [1]cheerful feasts for the house of Judah; so [f]love truth and peace.'

20 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, 'It will yet be that [a]peoples will come, even the inhabitants of many cities.

21 'The inhabitants of one will go to another, saying, "Let us go at once to [a]entreat the favor of the LORD, and to seek the LORD of hosts; [1]I will also go."

22 'So [a]many peoples and mighty nations will come to seek the LORD of hosts in Jerusalem and to [b]entreat the favor of the LORD.'

23 "Thus says the LORD of hosts, 'In those days ten men from all the [1]nations will [2][a]grasp the [3]garment of a Jew, saying, "Let us go with you, for we have heard that God is with you." ' "

Prophecies against Neighboring Nations

9 The [1]burden of the word of the LORD is against the land of Hadrach, with [a]Damascus as its resting place (for the eyes of men, especially of all the tribes of Israel, are toward the LORD),

2 And [a]Hamath also, which borders on it;
[b]Tyre and [c]Sidon, [1]though [2]they are [b]very wise.

3 For Tyre built herself a [a]fortress
And [b]piled up silver like dust,
And [c]gold like the mire of the streets.

4 Behold, the Lord will [a]dispossess her
And cast her wealth into the sea;
And she will be [b]consumed with fire.

5 Ashkelon will see it and be afraid.
Gaza too will writhe in great pain;
Also Ekron, for her expectation has been confounded.
Moreover, the king will perish from Gaza,
And Ashkelon will not be inhabited.

6 And a [1]mongrel race will dwell in [a]Ashdod,
And I will cut off the pride of the Philistines.

7 And I will remove their blood from their mouth
And their detestable things from between their teeth.
Then they also will be a remnant for our God,
And be like a [1]clan in Judah,

8:17 perjury. See note on 5:3. all these . . . I hate. Prov 6:16–19 lists seven things the Lord hates, three of which relate directly to vv. 16–17 here: "a lying tongue," "a heart that devises wicked plans" and "a false witness who utters lies."

8:19 See 7:2–6. fourth. The fast that lamented the breaching of the walls of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar (2 Ki 25:3–4; Jer 39:2; 52:6–7). fifth. Commemorated the burning of the temple and the other important buildings (2 Kin 25:8–10; Jer 52:12–14). seventh. Marked the anniversary of Gedaliah's assassination (2 Kin 25:22–25; Jer 41:1–3). tenth. Mourned the beginning of Nebuchadnezzar's siege of Jerusalem (2 Kin 25:1; Jer 39:1; 52:4; Ezek 24:1–2). cheerful feasts. Cf. Is 65:18–19; Jer 31:10–14.

8:20–23 For similar predictions about Gentiles seeking the Lord see 2:11 and note; Is 2:2–4; Mic 4:1–5.

8:22 mighty nations. Anticipates a fulfillment of the promise of Gentile blessing in the Abrahamic covenant (Gen 12:3; Gal 3:8,26–29; see also Is 55:5; 56:6–7; cf. Mark 11:17).

8:23 ten. One way of indicating a large or complete number in Hebrew (see Gen 31:7 and note; Lev 26:26; Num 14:22; 1 Sam 1:8; Neh 4:12). Jew. The word, used of the people of the kingdom of Judah after the exile, occurs first in Jer 32:12. we have heard that God is with you. True godliness attracts others to the Lord (see Gen 26:28; 30:27; see also notes on Gen 39:2–6; 1 Cor 14:24).

9:1–8 Probably a prophetic description of the Lord's march south to Jerusalem, destroying—as Divine Warrior—the traditional enemies of Israel. As history shows, the agent of His judgment was Alexander the Great (333 B.C.).

9:1 The burden of the word of the LORD. The Hebrew for this phrase occurs only two other times in the OT (12:1; Mal 1:1), making it likely that Zech 9–14 and Malachi were written during the same general period (see Introduction: Date). Hadrach. Hatarikka, north of Hamath on the Orontes River (see v. 2). Damascus. The leading city-state of the Arameans. eyes . . . toward the LORD. The thought may be that the eyes of men, especially all the tribes of Israel, are turned toward the Lord (for deliverance).

9:2 And Hamath also. Judgment will rest upon Hamath, just as upon Hadrach and Damascus. Hamath is modern Hama. See Amos 6:2. it. Damascus. Tyre and Sidon. Phoenician (modern Lebanese) coastal cities. Their judgment (vv. 3–4) is also foretold in Is 23; Ezek 26:3–14; 28:20–24; Amos 1:9–10.

9:3 fortress. The Hebrew for this word is a pun on the Hebrew for "Tyre" (meaning "rock"). The stronghold was Tyre's island fortress (Is 23:4; Ezek 26:5). It fell (v. 4) to Alexander in 332 B.C. silver like dust . . . gold like the mire. Cf. 1 Kin 10:21,27. Tyre was a center of trade and commerce, and her wealth was proverbial (see Is 23:2–3,8,18; Ezek 26:12; 27:3–27,33; 28:4–5,7,12–14, 16–18).

9:5–7 The Philistine cities were greatly alarmed at Alexander's steady advance.

9:5 her expectation has been confounded. As the northernmost city of Philistia, Ekron would be the first to suffer. Her hope that Tyre would stem the tide would meet with disappointment.

9:6 mongrel race. People of mixed nationality; they characterized the postexilic period (Neh 13:23–24). I. God. Philistines. See note on Gen 10:14. At one time their control of Canaan was so extensive that the land was eventually named after them ("Palestine").

9:7 blood. Of idolatrous sacrifices. detestable things. Ceremonially unclean food. Jebusite. These ancient inhabitants of Jerusalem (see note on Gen 10:16) were absorbed into Judah (e.g., Araunah in 2 Sam 24:16–24; 1 Chr 21:18–26). So would it be with a remnant of the Philistines.

And Ekron like a Jebusite.
8 But I will camp around My house
[1]because of an army,
Because of [a]him who passes by and returns;
And [b]no oppressor will pass over them anymore,
For now I have seen with My eyes.
9 [a]Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion!
Shout in triumph, O daughter of Jerusalem!
Behold, your [b]king is coming to you;
He is [1c]just and [d]endowed with salvation,
[e]Humble, and mounted on a donkey,
Even on a [f]colt, the [2]foal of a donkey.
10 I will [a]cut off the chariot from Ephraim
And the [b]horse from Jerusalem;
And the [c]bow of war will be cut off.
And He will speak [d]peace to the nations;
And His [e]dominion will be from sea to sea,
And from the [1]River to the ends of the earth.

Deliverance of Judah and Ephraim

11 As for you also, because of the [a]blood of My covenant with you,
I have set your [b]prisoners free from the [1]waterless pit.
12 Return to the [1a]stronghold, O prisoners [2]who have the [b]hope;
This very day I am declaring that I will restore [c]double to you.
13 For I will [a]bend Judah [1]as My bow,
I will fill the bow with Ephraim.
And I will stir up your sons, O Zion, against your sons, O [b]Greece;
And I will make you like a [c]warrior's sword.
14 Then the LORD will appear [a]over them,
And His [b]arrow will go forth like lightning;
And the Lord [1]GOD will blow the [c]trumpet,
And will march in the [d]storm winds of the south.
15 [a]The LORD of hosts will defend them.
And they will [b]devour and trample on the [c]sling stones;
And they will drink and be [d]boisterous as with wine;
And they will be filled like a sacrificial basin,
Drenched like the [e]corners of the altar.
16 And the LORD their God will [a]save them in that day
As the flock of His people;
For they are as the stones of a [b]crown,
[1]Sparkling in His land.
17 For what [1a]comeliness and [b]beauty will be [2]theirs!
Grain will make the young men flourish, and new wine the virgins.

9:8 camp around My house because of an army. See 2:5. Alexander spared the temple and the city of Jerusalem. oppressor. The Hebrew for this word is translated "taskmaster(s)" in Ex 3:7; 5:6,10 and elsewhere; thus it echoes the Egyptian bondage motif. I have seen with My eyes. See Ex 3:7; Ps 32:8.

9:9 Quoted in the NT as Messianic and as referring ultimately to the Triumphal Entry of Jesus into Jerusalem (Matt 21:5; John 12:15). daughter of Zion. A personification of Jerusalem and its inhabitants. your king. The Davidic ("your") Messianic King. just. Conforming to the divine standard of morality and ethics, particularly as revealed in the Mosaic legislation; a characteristic of the ideal king (see 2 Sam 23:3–4; Ps 72:1–3; Is 9:7; 11:4–5; 53:11; Jer 23:5–6; 33:15–16). Humble. Cf. Is 53:2–3,7; Matt 11:29. mounted on a donkey. A suitable choice, since the donkey was a lowly animal of peace (contrast the war-horse of v. 10) as well as a princely mount (Judg 10:4; 12:14; 2 Sam 16:2) before the horse came into common use. The royal mount used by David and his sons was the mule (2 Sam 18:9; 1 Kin 1:33).

9:10 cut off the chariot . . . horse . . . bow of war. A similar era of disarmament is foreseen in Is 2:4; 9:5–7; 11:1–10; Mic 5:10–11. Ephraim. See note on v. 13. peace to the nations. In sharp contrast to Alexander's empire, which was founded on bloodshed, the Messianic King will establish a universal kingdom of peace as the ultimate fulfillment of the Abrahamic covenant (cf. 14:16; see Gen 12:3; 18:18; 22:18). His dominion will be from . . . to. It will be universal (see Ps 22:27–28; 72:8–11; Is 45:22; 52:10; 66:18).

9:11 blood of My covenant with you. Probably the Mosaic covenant (Ex 24:3–8). prisoners. Perhaps those still in Babylonia, the land of exile. waterless pit. Cf. Gen 37:24; Jer 38:6.

9:12 stronghold. Either (1) Jerusalem (Zion) and environs or (2) God Himself (cf. 2:5). hope. In the future delivering King (vv. 9–10). double. Full or complete restoration (cf. Is 61:7).

9:13 See note on 10:4. The Lord compares Himself to a warrior who uses Judah as His bow and Ephraim (the northern kingdom) as His arrow. your sons, O Zion. The Maccabees (see note on Dan 11:34). your sons, O Greece. The Seleucids of Syria (after the breakup of Alexander's empire).

9:14 See Ps 18:7–15; Hab 3:3–15. trumpet. Probably a reference to thunder (cf. Ex 19:16–19). south. In the region of Mount Sinai, where the Mosaic covenant was given (see v. 11) and where the Lord's dwelling was (see Judg 5:4–5; Ps 68:8; Hab 3:3).

9:15 The Apocryphal book 1 Maccabees (3:16–24; 4:6–16; 7:40–50) records a partial fulfillment of this verse. sling stones. Hurled at defenders on the city wall and onto the inhabitants inside. sacrificial basin. See Ex 27:1–3; Lev 4:6–7.

9:16 that day. See note on 2:11.

10:1 The LORD . . . give them showers . . . vegetation. The Lord, not the Canaanite god Baal, is the one who controls the weather and the rain, giving life and fertility to the land (see Jer 14:22; Amos 5:8). Therefore God's people are to pray to and trust in Him. See further Is 55:10–12; Hos 2:8; 6:3; Joel 2:21–27; Matt 5:45.

Therefore the people [3]wander like [d]sheep,
They are afflicted, because there is no shepherd.
3 "My [a]anger is kindled against the shepherds,
And I will punish the [1]male goats;
For the LORD of hosts has [b]visited His flock, the house of Judah,
And will make them like His majestic horse in battle.
4 "From [1]them will come the [a]cornerstone,
From [1]them the tent peg,
From [1]them the bow of [b]battle,
From [1]them every [2]ruler, all of them together.
5 "They will be as mighty men,
[a]Treading down the enemy in the mire of the streets in battle;
And they will fight, for the LORD will be with them;
And the [b]riders on horses will be put to shame.
6 "I will [a]strengthen the house of Judah,
And I will [b]save the house of Joseph,
And I will [1][c]bring them back,
Because I have had [d]compassion on them;
And they will be as though I had [e]not rejected them,
For I am the LORD their God and I will [f]answer them.

The Doomed Flock

11 Open your doors, O Lebanon,
That a [a]fire may feed on your [b]cedars.

10:2 teraphim. Household gods (see Gen 31:19 and note). They were used for divination during the period of the judges (Judg 17:5; 18:14–20). diviners. Included among false prophets, they were the occult counterpart to true prophets. Cf. Jer 23:30–32; 27:9–10. Resorting to such sources for information and guidance is expressly forbidden in Deut 18:9–14 because God provided true prophets (and ultimately the Messianic Prophet) for that purpose (Deut 18:15–22; see John 4:25; 6:14; Acts 3:22–23,26; see also note on Gen 30:27). people wander like sheep. See Is 53:6 and note. there is no shepherd. Spiritual leadership is missing (cf. Mark 6:34). "Shepherd" is primarily a royal motif, whether referring to human kings (2 Sam 5:2; Is 44:28; Jer 23:2–4) or to God as King (Ps 23:1; 100:3; Ezek 34:11–16) or to the Messianic, Davidic King (Ezek 34:23–24; John 10:11–16; Heb 13:20; 1 Pet 5:4).

10:3 I will punish the male goats. Cf. Ezek 34:1–10. like His majestic horse. Triumphant.

10:4 Probably Messianic (indicated by the Aramaic Targum). From them. See Gen 49:10; Jer 30:21; Mic 5:2. cornerstone. See note on 3:9; see especially Is 28:16; Eph 2:20. tent peg. The ruler as the support of the state (see note on Is 22:23; see also Is 22:24). bow of battle. Part of the Divine Warrior terminology (cf. 9:13; Ps 7:12; 45:5; Lam 2:4; 3:12; Hab 3:9).

10:5 They. Judah (v. 4), i.e., its people. the LORD will be with them. See Josh 1:5; Jer 1:8,19; 15:20. put to shame. Partly fulfilled in the Maccabean victories (during the period between the OT and the NT).

10:6 Judah . . . Joseph. The people of the southern and northern kingdoms will be reunited (see note on 8:13).

10:7 Ephraim. See note on 9:13. glad as if from wine. Cf. Ps 104:15.

10:8 whistle. A continuation of the shepherd metaphor (see Judg 5:16). redeemed. The Hebrew for this word is often used of ransoming from slavery or captivity (see Is 35:10; Mic 6:4; cf. 1 Pet 1:18–19). as numerous as . . . before. See Ex 1:6–20.

10:9 They will remember Me. According to the meaning of Zechariah's name, "the LORD remembers" (His covenant people and promises). Now they will remember Him.

10:10 Egypt . . . Assyria. See v. 11. Probably representing all the countries where the Israelites are dispersed, these two evoke memories of slavery and exile. gather them. See Is 11:11–16; Ezek 39:27–29. Gilead. See note on Gen 31:21; see also Song 6:5; Jer 50:19; Mic 7:14. Lebanon. See 2 Kin 19:23; Is 33:9 and note; 35:2 and note; Jer 22:6. no room can be found. See v. 8; 2:4; see also note on Is 49:19–20.

10:11 pass through the sea of distress. As at the Red Sea (see Ex 14:22 and note).

11:1–3 Some interpret this brief poem as a taunt song relat-

2 Wail, O [1]cypress, for the cedar has fallen,
Because the glorious trees have been destroyed;
Wail, O oaks of Bashan,
For the [2]impenetrable forest has come down.
3 There is a sound of the shepherds'
[a]wail,
For their glory is ruined;
There is a [b]sound of the young lions'
roar,
For the [1]pride of the Jordan is ruined.
4 Thus says the LORD my God, "Pasture the flock doomed to [a]slaughter.
5 "Those who buy them slay them and [1]go [a]unpunished, and each of those who sell them says, 'Blessed be the LORD, for [b]I have become rich!' And their [c]own shepherds have no pity on them.
6 "For I will [a]no longer have pity on the inhabitants of the land," declares the LORD;
"but behold, I will [b]cause the men to [1]fall, each into another's [2]power and into the [2]power of his king; and they will strike the land, and I will [c]not deliver them from their
[2]power."
7 So I [a]pastured the flock doomed to slaughter, [1]hence the [b]afflicted of the flock.
And I took for myself two [c]staffs: the one I called [2d]Favor and the other I called [3e]Union;
so I pastured the flock.
8 Then I annihilated the three shepherds in [a]one month, for my soul was impatient with them, and their soul also [1]was weary of
me.
9 Then I said, "I will not pasture you.
What is to [a]die, [1]let it die, and what is to be annihilated, [2]let it be annihilated; and [3]let those who are left eat one another's flesh."
10 I took my staff [1a]Favor and cut it in pieces, to [2b]break my covenant which I had made with all the peoples.
11 So it was [1]broken on that day, and [2]thus the [a]afflicted of the flock who were watching me realized that it was the word of
the LORD.
12 I said to them, "If it is good in your sight, give me my [a]wages; but if not, [1]never mind!" So they weighed out [b]thirty shekels of silver as my wages.
13 Then the LORD said to me, "Throw it to the [a]potter, that magnificent price at which I was valued by them." So I took the thirty ed to the lament that will be sung over the destruction of the nations' power and arrogance (ch. 10), represented by the cedar, the pine and the oak (vv. 1–2). Their kings are represented by the shepherds and the lions (v. 3). Understood in this way, vv. 1–3 would provide the conclusion to the preceding section. Other interpreters, however, without denying the presence of figurative language, see the piece more literally as a description of the devastation of Syro-Palestine due to the rejection of the Messianic Good Shepherd (vv. 4–14). Verses 1–3 would then furnish the introduction to the next section. The geography of the text—Lebanon, Bashan and Jordan—would seem to favor this interpretation. Part of the fulfillment would be the destruction and further subjugation of the area by the Romans, including the fall of Jerusalem in A.D. 70 and of Masada in 73. Understood in this way, the passage is in sharp contrast with ch. 10 and its prediction of Israel's full deliverance and restoration to the covenant land. Now the scene is one of desolation for the land (vv. 1–3), followed by the threat of judgment and disaster for both land and people (vv. 4–6).

11:1 Lebanon. See 10:10 and note.

11:2 Bashan. See note on Is 2:13. The Israelites took this region from the Amorite king, Og, at the time of the conquest of Canaan (Num 21:33–35). It was allotted to the half-tribe of Manasseh (Josh 13:29–30; 17:5). impenetrable forest. Of Lebanon.

11:3 If the language is figurative, the shepherds and lions represent the rulers or leaders of the Jews (see v. 5; 10:3; cf. Jer 25:34–36). pride of the Jordan. Where the lions had their lairs.

11:4–14 The reason for the judgment on Israel in vv. 1–3 is now given, namely, the people's rejection of the Messianic Shepherd-King. Just as the Servant in the "servant songs" (see note on Is 42:1–4) is rejected, so here the Good Shepherd (a royal figure) is rejected. The same Messianic King is in view in both instances.

11:4 says. To Zechariah. flock. Israel.

11:5 Those who buy. The sheep (the Jews) are bought as slaves by outsiders. Part of the fulfillment came in A.D. 70 and the following years. those who sell them. "Their own shepherds (rulers or leaders)."

11:6 land. The Holy Land. king. Perhaps the Roman emperor (cf. John 19:15). they. Includes the Romans prophetically.

11:7 I. Zechariah, as a type (foreshadowing) of the Messianic Shepherd-King. one I called Favor. To ensure divine favor on the flock. Union. See Ezek 37:15–28. Such unity would be the result of the gracious leadership of the Good Shepherd. (For the significance of the subsequent breaking of the two staffs see vv. 10,14.)

11:8 annihilated the three shepherds. Although the three cannot be specifically identified, the Good Shepherd will dispose of all such unfit leaders. my soul was impatient with them. Cf. Is 1:13–14.

11:9 What is to die, let it die. The Good Shepherd terminates His providential care of the sheep. eat one another's flesh. According to Josephus, this actually happened during the Roman siege of Jerusalem in A.D. 70 (cf. also Lam 4:10).

11:10 covenant. Apparently a covenant of security and restraint, by which the Shepherd had been holding back the nations from His people (cf. Ezek 34:25; Hos 2:18). Now, however, the nations (e.g., the Romans) will be permitted to overrun them.

11:11 the afflicted of the flock. Probably the faithful few, who recognize the authoritative word of the Lord (see also v. 7). it. Probably Israel's affliction by the nations. word of the LORD. The faithful discern that what happens (e.g., the judgment on Jerusalem and the temple in A.D. 70) is a fulfillment of God's prophetic word—as a result of such actions as those denounced in Matt 23, which led to the rejection of the Good Shepherd.

11:12 give me my wages. Refers to the severance of the relationship. never mind. A more emphatic way of ending the relationship. thirty shekels of silver. The price of a slave among the Israelites in ancient times (see note on Ex 21:32); also, a way of indicating a trifling amount.

11:13 magnificent price. Irony and sarcasm. threw them to the shekels of silver and threw them to the potter in the house of the LORD.

14 Then I cut in pieces my second staff [1][a]Union, to [b]break the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.

15 The LORD said to me, "Take again for yourself the equipment of a [1][a]foolish shepherd.

16 "For behold, I am going to raise up a shepherd in the land who will [a]not care for the perishing, seek the scattered, heal the broken, or sustain the one standing, but will [b]devour the flesh of the fat sheep and tear off their hoofs.

17 "[a]Woe to the worthless shepherd
Who leaves the flock!
A [b]sword will be on his arm
And on his right eye!
His [c]arm will be totally withered
And his right eye will be [1]blind."

Jerusalem to Be Attacked

12 The [1]burden of the word of the LORD concerning Israel.

Thus declares the LORD who [a]stretches out the heavens, [b]lays the foundation of the earth, and [c]forms the spirit of man within him,

2 "Behold, I am going to make Jerusalem a [a]cup [1]that causes reeling to all the peoples around; and when the siege is against Jerusalem, it will also be against [b]Judah.

3 "It will come about in that day that I will make Jerusalem a heavy [a]stone for all the peoples; all who lift it will be [b]severely [1]injured. And all the [c]nations of the earth will be gathered against it.

5 "Then the clans of Judah will say in their hearts, '[1]A strong support for us are the inhabitants of Jerusalem through the LORD of hosts, their God.'

6 "In that day I will make the clans of Judah like a [a]firepot among pieces of wood and a flaming torch among sheaves, so they will consume on the right hand and on the left all the surrounding peoples, while the [b]inhabitants of Jerusalem again dwell on their own sites in Jerusalem.

7 "The LORD also will [a]save the tents of Judah first, so that the glory of the house of [b]David and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem will not be magnified above Judah.

potter in the house of the LORD. For the NT use of vv. 12–13 see Matt 26:14–15; 27:3–10; see also note on Matt 27:9.

11:14 cut in pieces my second staff called Union. Signifying the dissolution of the covenant nation, particularly of the unity between the south and the north. The breaking up of the nation into parties hostile to each other was characteristic of later Jewish history; it greatly hindered the popular cause in the war against Rome (cf. John 11:48).

11:15 again. See v. 7. foolish shepherd. With the Shepherd of the Lord's choice removed from the scene, a foolish and worthless (v. 17) shepherd replaces Him. A selfish, greedy, corrupt leader will arise and afflict the flock (the people of Israel).

11:16 seek the scattered. Cf. Gen 33:13; Is 40:11. tear off their hoofs. Apparently in a greedy search for the last edible piece.

11:17 worthless shepherd. See note on v. 15. This counterfeit shepherd may have found a partial historical fulfillment in such leaders as Simeon bar Kosiba or Kokhba (who led the Jewish revolt against the Romans in A.D. 132–135 and who was hailed as the Messiah by Rabbi Akiba). But it would seem that the final stage of the progressive fulfillment of the complete prophecy awaits the rise of the final antichrist (cf. Ezek 34:2–4; Dan 11:36–39; John 5:43; 2 Thess 2:3–10; Rev 13:1–8). leaves the flock. Contrast the Good Shepherd of John 10:11–16. His arm will be totally withered. His power will be paralyzed. his right eye will be blind. His intelligence will be nullified. Thus this leader will be powerless to fight.

12:1–14:21 This second oracle in Part II of the book revolves around two scenes: the final siege of Jerusalem, and the Messiah's return to defeat Israel's enemies and establish His kingdom.

12:1 burden. See note on 9:1. Israel. The whole nation, not just the northern kingdom. Judah and Jerusalem, however, are the main focus of attention. the LORD who stretches . . . lays . . . forms. This description of the Lord's creative power shows that He is able to perform what He predicts; it also strengthens the royal and sovereign authority of the message.

12:2 cup that causes reeling to all. See note on Is 51:17.

12:3 that day. See note on 2:11. The phrase is used often in chs. 12–14 (12:4,6,8–9,11; 13:1–2,4; 14:4,6,8–9,13,20–21). all the nations . . . gathered against it. See 14:2,12; Joel 3:9–16; cf. Rev 16:16–21.

12:4 bewilderment . . . madness . . . blindness. Listed in Deut 28:28 among Israel's curses for disobeying the stipulations of the covenant. Now these curses are turned against Israel's enemies. watch over. See Ps 32:8; 33:18.

12:6 Like a fire destroying wood and sheaves of grain, Judah's discerning leaders (see v. 5) will consume their enemies (cf. Judg 15:3–5; see note on Is 1:31).

12:8 like David. Like a great warrior. like God. Cf. Ex 4:16; 7:1. like the angel of the LORD. See Gen 48:16 and note; Ex 14:19; 23:20; 32:34; 33:2,14–15,22; Hos 12:3–4; see also Gen 16:7 and note.

The emphasis seems to be on looking "to" the Messiah in faith (cf. Num 21:9; Is 45:22; John 3:14–15). pierced. Cf. Ps 22:16; Is 53:5; John 19:34; partly fulfilled in John 19:37. mourns for an only son. Cf. Jer 6:26. like the bitter weeping over a firstborn. Cf. Ex 11:5–6.

False Prophets Ashamed

12:11 Hadadrimmon. The name of either (1) a place near Megiddo, where the people mourned the death of King Josiah (2 Chr 35:20–27; see v. 22 there for the plain of Megiddo and vv. 24–25 for the mourning), or (2) a Semitic storm god (see 2 Kin 5:18), whose name means "Hadad the thunderer" in Babylonian (as in the Epic of Gilgamesh, 11:98; see also Ezek 8:14 for an example of the practice of weeping for a Babylonian deity).

12:12 Nathan. David's son (2 Sam 5:14; cf. Luke 3:31).

12:13 Shimeites. Shimei was the son of Gershon, the son of Levi (Num 3:17–18,21). The repentance and mourning are led, then, by the civil (royal) and religious leaders.

13:1 for sin and for impurity. See 3:4–9; one of the provisions of the new covenant (Jer 31:34; Ezek 36:25).

13:2 names of the idols. The influence and fame, and even the very existence, of the idols. prophets. False prophecy was still a problem in the postexilic period (see Neh 6:12–14) and would again be a problem in the future (see Matt 24:4–5,11,23–24; 2 Thess 2:2–4).

13:3 spoken falsely. False prophecies. father and mother . . . will pierce him. In obedience to Deut 13:6–9. The Hebrew for "pierce" is the same as the verb for "pierced" in 12:10, perhaps indicating that the feelings and actions exhibited in piercing the Messiah will now be directed toward the false prophets.

13:4–6 Because of the stern measures just mentioned, a false prophet will be reluctant to identify himself as such and will be evasive in his responses to interrogation. To help conceal his true identity, he will not wear a "hairy robe" (v. 4), such as Elijah wore (2 Kin 1:8; see also Matt 3:4). Instead, to avoid the death penalty (v. 3), he will deny being a prophet and will claim to have been a farmer since his youth (v. 5). And if a suspicious person notices marks on his body and inquires about them (v. 6), he will claim he received them in a scuffle with friends (or perhaps as discipline from his parents during childhood). Apparently the accuser suspects that the false prophet's wounds were self-inflicted to arouse his prophetic ecstasy in idolatrous rites (as in 1 Kin 18:28; cf. also Lev 19:28; 21:5 and note; Deut 14:1; Jer 16:6; 41:5; 48:37).

13:6 Some take this verse as Messianic, but the interpretation given above seems preferable from the context (e.g., v. 5).

13:7 My Shepherd. The royal (Messianic) Good Shepherd (cf. the true Shepherd of 11:4–14; contrast the foolish and worthless shepherd of 11:15–17). Strike the Shepherd. In 11:17 it was the worthless shepherd who was to be struck; now it is the Good Shepherd (cf. also 12:10). sheep may be scattered. In fulfillment of the curses for covenant disobedience (Deut 28:64; 29:24–25). This part of the verse is quoted by Jesus not long before His arrest (Matt 26:31; Mark 14:27) and applied to the scattering of the apostles (Matt 26:56; Mark 14:49–50), who in turn are probably typological of the dispersion of the Jews in A.D. 70 and the subsequent years.

13:8–9 These verses depict a refining process for Israel (see note on Is 48:10).

13:8 the third. A remnant, thus revealing God's mercy in the midst of judgment.

13:9 They are My people . . . The LORD is my God. See note on 8:8. They will be restored to proper covenant relationship with the Lord (see also Ezek 20:30–44).

God Will Battle Jerusalem's Foes

14 Behold, a [a]day is coming for the LORD when [b]the spoil taken from you will be divided among you.

2 For I will [a]gather all the nations against Jerusalem to battle, and the city will be captured, the [b]houses plundered, the women ravished and half of the city exiled, but the rest of the people will not be cut off from the city.

3 Then the LORD will go forth and [a]fight against those nations, as [1]when He fights on a day of battle.

4 In that day His feet will [a]stand on the Mount of Olives, which is in front of Jerusalem on the east; and the Mount of Olives will be [b]split in its middle from east to west by a very large valley, so that half of the mountain will move toward the north and the other half toward the south.

5 You will flee by the valley of My mountains, for the valley of the mountains will reach to Azel; yes, you will flee just as you fled before the [a]earthquake in the days of Uzziah king of Judah. [b]Then the LORD, my God, will come, and all the holy ones with [1]Him!

6 In that day there will be [a]no light; the [1]luminaries will dwindle.

7 For it will be [a]a unique day which is [b]known to the LORD, neither day nor night, but it will come about that at [c]evening time
there will be light.

8 And in that day [a]living waters will flow out of Jerusalem, half of them toward the eastern sea and the other half toward the western sea; it will be in summer as well as in winter.

God Will Be King over All

9 And the LORD will be [a]king over all the earth; in that day the LORD will be the only [b]one, and His name the only one.

10 All the land will be changed into a plain from [a]Geba to [b]Rimmon south of Jerusalem; but [1]Jerusalem will [c]rise and [d]remain on its site from [e]Benjamin's Gate as far as the place of the First Gate to the [f]Corner Gate, and from the [g]Tower of Hananel to the king's wine presses.

11 [1]People will live in it, and there will
[a]no longer be a curse, for Jerusalem will [b]dwell in security.

12 Now this will be the plague with which the LORD will strike all the peoples who have gone to war against Jerusalem; their flesh will [a]rot while they stand on their feet, and their eyes will rot in their sockets, and their tongue will rot in their mouth.

13 It will come about in that day that a great panic from the LORD will [1]fall on them; and they will [a]seize one another's hand, and the hand of one will [2]be lifted against the hand of another.

14 [a]Judah also will fight at Jerusalem; and the [b]wealth of all the surrounding nations will be gathered, gold and silver and garments in great abundance.

15 So also like this [a]plague will be the plague on the horse, the mule, the camel, the donkey and all the cattle that will be in those camps.

16 Then it will come about that any who are left of all the nations that went against Jerusalem will [a]go up from year to year to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, and to celebrate the [b]Feast of Booths.

17 And it will be that whichever of the 14:4 Mount of Olives. Called by this name elsewhere in the OT only in 2 Sam 15:30. This prophecy is probably referred to in Acts 1:11–12. east. Thus it faced the temple mount and, being about 2,700 feet high, rose about 200 feet above it. Cf. Ezek 11:23; 43:1–2.

14:5 Azel. The name of a place east of Jerusalem, marking the eastern end of the newly formed valley. The location is unknown. holy ones. May include both believers and angels. They will accompany our Lord when He comes (cf. Matt 25:31; 1 Thess 3:13; Jude 14; Rev 19:14).

14:9 the LORD will be king over all the earth. A pervasive theological theme in Scripture. the LORD . . . the only one. See Deut 6:4; Is 43:11 and notes.
14:10 plain. Hebrew Arabah (see note on Deut 1:1). All the land around Jerusalem is to be leveled. Geba. About six miles north-northeast of Jerusalem at the northern boundary of Judah (2 Kin 23:8). Rimmon. Also called En Rimmon (Neh 11:29; cf. Josh 15:32), it was about 35 miles south-southwest of Jerusalem, where the hill country of Judah slopes away into the Negev. Jerusalem will rise. See note on Is 2:2–4. The elevation may be both physical and in prominence. Benjamin's Gate . . . First Gate . . . Tower of Hananel. All were probably at the northeastern part of the city wall (cf. 23:14–17), perhaps Booths was selected as the one for representatives of the various Gentile nations because it was the last and greatest festival of the Hebrew calendar, gathering up into itself the year's worship. (See note on Ezek 45:25.) It was to be a time of grateful rejoicing (Lev 23:40; Deut 16:13–15; Neh 8:17). Beginning with the period of Ezra and Nehemiah, the reading and teaching of "the book of the law of God" became an integral part of the festivities (Neh 8:18; cf. Is 2:3). The festival seems to speak of the final, joyful regathering and restoration of Israel, as well as of the ingathering of the nations. See chart, pp. 164–165.

14:17 no rain. One of the curses for covenant disobedience (Deut 28:22–24; cf. Zech 9:11–10:1).

14:18 family of Egypt . . . no rain will fall. Another possible reading is, "enter, then the LORD will bring on them the plague with which He smites . . ." With either reading, the withholding of rain may still be included, for drought would cause even the Nile inundation to fail.

14:20 HOLY TO THE LORD. Engraved on the gold plate worn on the high priest's turban (Ex 28:36–38) as a reminder of his consecration to the Lord's service. See note on 3:5. God's original purpose for Israel (see Ex 19:6 and note) will be realized.

14:21 Every cooking pot in Jerusalem . . . holy. See Joel 3:17. Even common things become holy when they are used for God's service. Canaanite. Represents anyone who is morally or spiritually unclean—anyone who is not included among the chosen people of God (cf. Is 35:8; Ezek 43:7; 44:9; Rev 21:27).

Malachi

INTRODUCTION

Author

The book is ascribed to Malachi, whose name means "My messenger." Since the term occurs in 3:1, and since both prophets and priests were called messengers of the Lord (see 2:7; Hag 1:13), some have thought "Malachi" to be only a title that tradition has given the author. The view has been supported by appeal to the early Greek translation (the Septuagint), which translates the term in 1:1 "His messenger" rather than as a proper noun. The matter, however, remains uncertain, and it is still very likely that Malachi was in fact the author's name.

Background

Spurred on by the prophetic activity of Haggai and Zechariah, the returned exiles under the leadership of their governor Zerubbabel finished the temple in 516 B.C. In 458 the community was strengthened by the coming of Ezra the priest and several thousand more Jews. King Artaxerxes of Persia encouraged Ezra to develop the temple worship (Ezra 7:17) and to make sure the law of Moses was being obeyed (Ezra 7:25–26).

Thirteen years later (445) the same Persian king permitted his cupbearer Nehemiah to return to Jerusalem and rebuild the walls (Neh 6:15). As newly appointed governor, Nehemiah also spearheaded reforms to help the poor (Neh 5:2–13), and he convinced the people to shun mixed marriages, to keep the sabbath (Neh 10:30–31) and to bring their tithes and offerings faithfully (Neh 10:37–39).

In 433 B.C. Nehemiah returned to the service of the Persian king, and during his absence the Jews fell into sin once more. Later, however, Nehemiah came back to Jerusalem to discover that the tithes were ignored, the sabbath was broken, the people had intermarried with foreigners, and the priests had become corrupt (Neh 13:7–31). Several of these sins are condemned by Malachi (see 1:6–14; 2:14–16; 3:8–11).

Date

The similarity between the sins denounced in Nehemiah and those denounced in Malachi suggest that the two leaders were contemporaries. Malachi may have been written after Nehemiah returned to Persia in 433 B.C. or during his second period as governor. Since the governor mentioned in 1:8 (see note there) probably was not Nehemiah, the first alternative may be more likely. Malachi was most likely the last prophet of the OT era (though some place Joel later).

Themes and Theology

Although the Jews had been allowed to return from exile and rebuild the temple, several discouraging factors brought about a general religious malaise: (1) Their land remained but a small province in the backwaters of the Persian empire, (2) the glorious future announced by the prophets (including the other post-exilic prophets, Haggai and Zechariah) had not (yet) been realized, and (3) their God had not (yet) come to His temple (3:1) with majesty and power (as celebrated in Ps 68) to exalt His kingdom in the sight of the nations. Doubting God's covenant love (1:2) and no longer trusting His justice (2:17; 3:14–15), the Jews of the restored community began to lose hope. So their worship degenerated into a listless perpetuation of mere forms, and they no longer took the law seriously.

Malachi rebukes their doubt of God's love (1:2–5) and the faithlessness of both priests (1:6—2:9) and people (2:10–16). To their charge that God is unjust ("Where is the God of justice?" 2:17) because He has failed to come in judgment to exalt His people, Malachi answers with an announcement and a warning. The Lord they seek will come—but He will come "like a refiner's fire" (3:1–4). He will come to judge—but He will judge His people first (3:5).

Because the Lord does not change in His commitments and purpose, Israel has not been completely destroyed for her persistent unfaithfulness (3:6). But only through repentance and reformation will she again experience God's blessing (3:6–12). Those who honor the Lord will be spared when He comes to judge (3:16–18).

In conclusion, Malachi once more reassures and warns his readers that "the day ['the great and terrible day of the LORD,' 4:5] is coming" and that it will burn "like a furnace" (4:1). In that day the righteous will rejoice, and "you will tread down the wicked" (4:1–3). So "remember the law of Moses My servant" (4:4). To prepare His people for that day the Lord will send "Elijah the prophet" to call them back to the godly ways of their forefathers (4:5–6).

Literary Features

Malachi is called an "oracle" (see 1:1 and note) and is written in what might be called lofty prose. The text features a series of questions asked by both God and the people. Frequently the Lord's statements are followed by sarcastic questions introduced by "But you say" (1:2,6–7; 2:14,17; 3:7–8,13; cf. 1:13). In each case the Lord's response is given.

Repetition is a key element in the book. The name "LORD Almighty" occurs 20 times. The book begins with a description of the wasteland of Edom (1:3–4) and ends with a warning of Israel's destruction (4:6).

Several vivid figures are employed within the book of Malachi. The priests sniff contemptuously at the altar of the Lord (1:13), and the Lord spreads on their faces the offal from their sacrifices (2:3). As Judge, "He is like a refiner's fire and like fullers' soap" (3:2), but for the righteous "the sun of righteousness will rise with healing in its wings; and you will go forth and skip about like calves from the stall" (4:2).

1 The [1][a]oracle of the word of the LORD to [b]Israel through [2]Malachi.

2 "I have [a]loved you," says the LORD. But you say, "How have You loved us?" "Was not Esau Jacob's brother?" declares the LORD. "Yet I [b]have loved Jacob;

3 but I have hated Esau, and I have [a]made his mountains a desolation and appointed his inheritance for the jackals of the wilderness."

4 Though Edom says, "We have been [a]beaten down, but we will [1][b]return and build up the ruins"; thus says the LORD of hosts, "They may [c]build, but I will tear down; and men will call them the [2]wicked territory, and the people [3]toward whom the LORD is indignant [d]forever."

5 Your eyes will see this and you will say, "[a]The LORD [1]be magnified beyond the [2]border of Israel!"

Sin of the Priests

6 " 'A son [a]honors his father, and a servant his master. Then if I am a [b]father, where is My honor? And if I am a master, where is My [1]respect?' says the LORD of hosts to you, O [c]priests who despise My name. But you say, 'How have we despised Your name?'

7 "You are presenting [a]defiled [1][b]food upon My altar. But you say, 'How have we defiled You?' In that you say, 'The [c]table of the LORD is to be despised.'

8 "But when you present the [a]blind for sacrifice, is it not evil? And when you present the lame and sick, is it not evil? [1]Why not offer it to your [b]governor? Would he be pleased with you? Or would he receive you kindly?" says the LORD of hosts.

9 "But now [1]will you not [a]entreat God's favor, that He may be gracious to us? [2]With such an offering on your part, will He [b]receive any of you kindly?" says the LORD of hosts.

10 "Oh that there were one among you who would [a]shut the [1]gates, that you might not uselessly kindle fire on My altar! I am not pleased with you," says the LORD of hosts, "[b]nor will I accept an offering from [2]you.

11 "For from the [a]rising of the sun even to its setting, [b]My name will be [c]great among the nations, and in every place [d]incense is going to be offered to My name, and a grain offering that is pure; for My name will be [e]great among the nations," says the LORD of hosts.

12 "But you are [a]profaning it, in that you say, 'The table of the Lord is defiled, and as for its fruit, its food is to be despised.'

13 "You also say, '[1]My, how [a]tiresome it is!' And you disdainfully sniff at it," says the LORD of hosts, "and you bring what was taken by [b]robbery and what is [c]lame or sick; so you bring the offering! Should I [d]receive that from your hand?" says the LORD.

14 "But cursed be the [a]swindler who has a male in his flock and vows it, but sacrifices a [b]blemished animal to the Lord, for I am a great [c]King," says the LORD of hosts, "and My name is [1][d]feared among the [2]nations."

Priests to Be Disciplined

2 "And now this commandment is for you, O priests.

1:1 oracle. See Zech 9:1 and note; 12:1; see also Hab 1:1 and note.

1:2 loved you. The Lord's reassuring word to His disheartened people.

1:3 I have hated Esau. If Israel doubts God's covenant love, she should consider the contrast between God's ways with her and His ways with Jacob's brother Esau (Edom). Paul explains God's love for Jacob and hatred for Esau on the basis of election (Rom 9:10–13). God chose Jacob but not Esau. For the use of "love" and "hate" here, cf. how Leah was "hated" in that Jacob loved Rachel more (Gen 29:31,33; cf. Deut 21:16–17). Likewise, believers are to "hate" their parents (Luke 14:26) in the sense that they love Christ even more (Matt 10:37). desolation. Malachi's words about Edom echo those of the earlier prophets (see Is 34:5–15; Jer 49:7–22; Ezek 25:12–14; 35:1–15; Obadiah). Between c. 550 and 400 B.C. the Nabatean Arabs gradually forced the Edomites from their homeland.

1:4 Though Edom says. Her proud self-reliance has not assured her security and will not secure her future (cf. Jer 49:16).

1:5 The LORD . . . Israel! When she sees the ultimate fate of Edom, doubting Israel will acknowledge that the Lord is the great Ruler over all the nations.

1:6–2:9 The Lord rebukes the priests.

1:6 son honors his father. Cf. Is 1:2–3. priests who despise My name. Contrast 2:5; cf. Is 1:4.

1:7 food. The offerings (see v. 12; Lev 21:8,21). defiled You. By offering defiled sacrifices they defile the Lord Himself. The table of the LORD. The altar (see v. 12; Ezek 44:16). Since the priests ate from the sacrifices, the altar was also the table from which they got their food. despised. As the priests despised the Lord's altar and its sacrifices, so the Lord would cause the priests to be despised by the people (see 2:9 and note).

1:8 blind . . . lame. Animals with defects or serious flaws were unacceptable as sacrifices (see Deut 15:21). governor. Probably the Persian governor.

1:10 shut the gates. Better no sacrifices than sacrifices offered with contempt (cf. Is 1:11–15).

1:11 great among the nations. Cf. v. 14. God's judgment on Edom (v. 5) and other nations demonstrates His superiority over their gods, and it ultimately will evoke their recognition of Him (see Zeph 2:11). incense . . . offering that is pure. Cf. the acceptable offerings presented by foreigners in Is 56:6–7; 60:7. Some interpreters understand "incense" to mean "prayer" (cf. Rev 5:8) and "offerings" to mean "praise" (cf. Heb 13:15).

1:12 defiled . . . despised. See v. 7.

1:13 disdainfully sniff at it. Cf. the behavior of Eli's sons in 1 Sam 2:15–17. taken by robbery . . . or sick. See v. 8 and note.

1:14 vows . . . a blemished animal. An animal sacrificed in fulfillment of a vow had to be a male without defect or blemish (see Lev 22:18–23). great King. See Zech 14:9. My name is feared. More than the governor of v. 8 (see v. 11 and note).

take it to heart to give honor to My name," says the LORD of hosts, "then I will send the [b]curse upon you and I will curse your blessings; and indeed, I have [c]cursed them already, because you are not taking it to heart.

3 "Behold, I am going to [a]rebuke your [1]offspring, and I will [b]spread [2]refuse on your faces, the [2]refuse of your [c]feasts; and you will be taken away [3]with it.

4 "Then you will know that I have sent this commandment to you, [1]that My [a]covenant may [2]continue with Levi," says the LORD of hosts.

5 "My covenant with him was one of life and [a]peace, and I gave them to him as an object of [1]reverence; so he [2b]revered Me and stood in awe of My name.

6 "[1a]True instruction was in his mouth and unrighteousness was not found on his lips; he walked [b]with Me in peace and uprightness, and he [c]turned many back from iniquity.

7 "For the lips of a priest should preserve [a]knowledge, and [1]men should [b]seek [2]instruction from his mouth; for he is the [c]messenger of the LORD of hosts.

8 "But as for you, you have turned aside from the way; you have caused many to [a]stumble [1]by the instruction; you have [2b]corrupted the covenant of Levi," says the LORD of hosts.

9 "So [a]I also have made you despised and [b]abased [1]before all the people, just as you are not keeping My ways but are showing [c]partiality in the [2]instruction.

Sin in the Family

10 "Do we not all have [a]one father? [b]Has not one God created us? Why do we deal [c]treacherously each against his brother so as to profane the [d]covenant of our fathers?

11 "Judah has dealt [a]treacherously, and an abomination has been committed in Israel and in Jerusalem; for Judah has [b]profaned the sanctuary of the LORD [1]which He loves and has married the daughter of a foreign god.

12 "As for the man who does this, may the [a]LORD cut off from the tents of Jacob everyone who awakes and answers, or who [b]presents [1]an offering to the LORD of hosts.

13 "This is [1]another thing you do: you cover the altar of the LORD with tears, with weeping and with groaning, because He [a]no longer regards the [2]offering or accepts it with favor from your hand.

14 "Yet you say, 'For what reason?' Because the LORD has been a witness between you and the [a]wife of your youth, against whom you have dealt [b]treacherously, though she is your companion and your wife by covenant.

15 "[1]But not one has [a]done so who has a remnant of the Spirit. And [2]what did that one do while he was seeking a [b]godly [3]offspring? Take heed then to your spirit, and let no one deal [c]treacherously against the wife of your youth.

2:2 curse your blessings. It was the function of the priests to pronounce God's blessing on the people (see Num 6:23–27), but their blessings will become curses so that their uniquely priestly function will be worse than useless.
2:3 spread refuse on your faces. To disgrace you (see Nah 3:6). refuse. The entrails of an animal that were taken "outside the camp" and burned along with its hide and flesh (see Ex 29:14; Lev 8:17; 16:27).
2:4 Levi. The priests were chosen from the tribe of Levi (see Num 3:12–13; Neh 13:29).
2:5 covenant . . . of life and peace. An allusion to the covenant with Phinehas, Aaron's grandson, in Num 25:10–13. Phinehas defended God's honor by killing two offenders involved in the idolatry and immorality connected with the Baal of Peor (Num 25:1–3). he revered Me. Phinehas showed this by his zeal for God (see Num 25:13).
2:6–7 instruction. Priests were responsible to teach the law of Moses (see Lev 10:11; see also notes on Zeph 3:4; Hag 2:11).
2:6 peace and uprightness. Linked together also in Ps 37:37, but here "walked with me in peace and uprightness" probably refers to covenant loyalty.
2:7 messenger. As teacher of the law and as one through whom people could inquire of God (see notes on 3:1; Hag 1:13).
2:8 corrupted the covenant. By unfaithful teaching, but also, it seems, by intermarriage with foreigners (see Ezra 9:1; 10:18–22; Neh 13:27–29). of Levi. See v. 4 and note on v. 5.
2:9 despised. See 1:7,12 and note on 1:7. showing partiality. Forbidden in Lev 19:15. The priests were to be like God in this respect (see Deut 10:17).
2:10–16 Malachi rebukes the people—in a passage framed by references to "dealing treacherously." Two examples of their sin are specifically mentioned: marrying pagan women and divorce.
2:10 one father. See Is 63:16. created us. As His special people (see Is 43:1 and note). deal treacherously. One could not even trust his own fellow Israelites or the national leaders—like the priests. covenant of our fathers. The covenant God made with their forefathers at Mount Sinai.
2:11 daughter of a foreign god. A pagan woman. Such marriages were strictly forbidden in the covenant law because they would lead to apostasy (see Ex 34:15–16; Deut 7:3–4; 1 Kin 11:1–6; cf. Josh 23:12–13). Ezra and Nehemiah both wrestled with this problem (Ezra 9:1–2; Neh 13:23–29).
2:12 An alternative reading of the Hebrew text offers another possibility: If anyone "gives testimony" (instead of "awakes and answers") in behalf of one marrying a foreign woman, the one giving testimony is to be cut off. The verb for "gives testimony" is found in the same sense in Gen 30:33; Deut 5:20; Ruth 1:21; 1 Sam 12:3; 2 Sam 1:16; Is 3:9; Jer 14:7. On this reading, the one to be cut off is the one who speaks in defense of the wrongdoer. tents of Jacob. A figurative expression for the community (see Jer 30:18).
2:13 weeping and . . . groaning. Because the Lord does not respond to their sacrifices with blessing, they add wailing to their prayers.
2:14 witness . . . wife by covenant. Marriage was a covenant (see Prov 2:17; Ezek 16:8), and covenants were affirmed before witnesses (see notes on Deut 30:19; 1 Sam 20:23; Is 8:1–2).
2:15 Although the verse is difficult, it may refer to Abraham, who "married" the foreigner Hagar in order to have a son (Gen

16 "For [1]I hate [2a]divorce," says the LORD, the God of Israel, "and [3]him who covers his garment with [4b]wrong," says the LORD of hosts. "So take heed to your spirit, that you do not deal treacherously."

17 You have [a]wearied the LORD with your words. Yet you say, "How have we wearied Him?" In that you say, "[b]Everyone who does evil is good in the sight of the LORD, and He [c]delights in them," or, "[d]Where is the God of [e]justice?"

The Purifier

3 "[a]Behold, I am going to send [b]My [1]messenger, and he will [2c]clear the way before Me. And the Lord, whom you seek, will suddenly come to His temple; [3]and the [1d]messenger of the covenant, in whom you delight, behold, He is coming," says the LORD of hosts.

2 "But who can [a]endure the day of His coming? And who can stand when He appears? For He is like a [b]refiner's fire and like [1]fullers' soap.

3 "He will sit as a smelter and purifier of silver, and He will [a]purify the sons of Levi and refine them like gold and silver, so that they may [b]present to the LORD [1]offerings in righteousness.

4 "Then the [1]offering of Judah and Jerusalem will be [a]pleasing to the LORD as in the [b]days of old and as in former years.

5 "Then I will draw near to you for judgment; and I will be a swift witness against the [a]sorcerers and against the [b]adulterers and against those who [c]swear falsely, and against those who oppress the [d]wage earner in his wages, the [e]widow and the [1]orphan, and those who turn aside the [2f]alien and do not [3]fear Me," says the LORD of hosts.

6 "For [1]I, the LORD, [a]do not change; therefore you, O sons of Jacob, [2]are not consumed.

7 "From the [a]days of your fathers you have turned aside from My statutes and have not kept them. [b]Return to Me, and I will return to you," says the LORD of hosts. "But you say, 'How shall we return?'

You Have Robbed God

8 "Will a man [1]rob God? Yet you are robbing Me! But you say, 'How have we robbed You?' In [a]tithes and [2]offerings.

9 "You are [a]cursed with a curse, for you are [1]robbing Me, the whole nation of you!

10 "[a]Bring the whole tithe into the storehouse, so that there may be [1]food in My house, and test Me now in this," says the LORD of hosts, "if I will not [b]open for you the windows of heaven and [c]pour out for you a blessing until [2d]it overflows.

11 "Then I will rebuke the [a]devourer for you, so that it will not [1]destroy the fruits of the ground; nor will your vine in the field cast its grapes," says the LORD of hosts.

12 "[a]All the nations will call you blessed, for you shall be a [b]delightful land," says the LORD of hosts.

16:1–4). But Abraham did not divorce Sarah, who had suggested the union with Hagar in the first place.

2:16 I hate divorce. See Is 50:1 and note. wrong. See 3:5.

2:17–4:6 The second half of Malachi's prophecy speaks of God's coming to His people. They had given up on God (see 2:17, which introduces this section) and had grown religiously cynical and morally corrupt. So God's coming will mean judgment and purification as well as redemption.

2:17 wearied the LORD with your words. In Is 43:24 Israel's sins had wearied God. Everyone who does evil is good. Such was the depth of their cynicism. Where is . . . justice? Cf. the sarcastic taunts of Is 5:19.

3:1 My messenger. The Hebrew for these words is mal'aki; it is normally used of a priest or prophet (see Hag 1:13 and note). This is fulfilled in John the Baptist (see Matt 11:10; Mark 1:2; Luke 1:76). he will clear the way. When the Lord comes, it will be to purify (v. 3) and judge (v. 5), but He will mercifully send one before Him to prepare His people (see 4:5–6 and notes; see also Is 40:3 and note). the Lord, whom you seek . . . in whom you delight . . . is coming. See Hag 2:7 and note. messenger of the covenant. The Messiah, who as the Lord's representative will confirm and establish the covenant (see note on Is 42:6).

3:2 day of His coming. The day of the Lord (see 4:1; see also note on Is 2:11,17,20). Malachi announces the Lord's coming to complete God's work in history, especially the work he outlines in the rest of his book. His word is fulfilled in the accomplishments of the Messiah. who can stand . . . ? Those who desire the Lord's coming must know that clean hands and a pure heart are required (cf. Ps 24:3–4; Is 33:14–15). refiner's fire. See Is 1:25; Zech 13:8–9 and notes. fullers' soap. See Is 7:3 and note. White clothes signified purity (cf. Mark 9:3; Rev 3:5).

3:3 purify the sons of Levi. Those who are supposed to be "messengers" of the Lord and who serve at the altar will be purged of their sins and unfaithfulness—such as the Lord has rebuked in 1:6–2:9.

3:4 be pleasing. See 1:8 and note. days of old. Probably the time of Moses and Phinehas (see note on 2:5).

3:5 When He comes, the Lord will both purify the Levites (vv. 3–4) and judge the people. sorcerers. Common in the ancient Near East (see Ex 7:11; Deut 18:10).

3:6 do not change. See James 1:17. Contrary to what many in Malachi's day were thinking, God remains faithful to His covenant. not consumed. In contrast to Edom (1:3–5) and in spite of Israel's history of unfaithfulness.

3:7 Return . . . and I will return. If the Lord is to come for Israel's redemption, she must repent.

3:9 curse. See 2:2 and note.

3:10 storehouse. The treasury rooms of the sanctuary (see 1 Kin 7:51; 2 Chr 31:11–12; Neh 13:12). windows of heaven. Elsewhere the idiom refers to abundant provision of food (see 2 Kin 7:2,19; Ps 78:23–24). pour out . . . blessing. The promised covenant blessing (see Deut 28:12; cf. Is 44:3).

3:11 devourer . . . cast its grapes. Examples of the threatened covenant curses (see Deut 28:39–40).

3:12 call you blessed. In fulfillment of the promise to Abraham (see Gen 12:2–3; see also Is 61:9 and note).

against Me," says the LORD. "Yet you say, 'What have we spoken against You?'

14 "You have said, 'It is [a]vain to serve God; and what [b]profit is it that we have kept His charge, and that we have walked in mourning before the LORD of hosts?

15 'So now we [a]call the arrogant blessed; not only are the doers of wickedness built up but they also test God and [b]escape.' "

The Book of Remembrance

16 Then those who [1]feared the LORD spoke to one another, and the LORD [a]gave attention and heard it, and a [b]book of remembrance was written before Him for those who [1]fear the LORD and who esteem His name.

17 "They will be [a]Mine," says the LORD of hosts, "on the [b]day that I [1]prepare My [2c]own possession, and I will [3]spare them as a man [3d]spares his own son who serves him."

18 So you will again [a]distinguish between the righteous and the wicked, between one who serves God and one who does not serve Him.

Final Admonition

4 "[1]For behold, the day is coming, [a]burning like a furnace; and all the arrogant and every evildoer will be [b]chaff; and the day that is coming will [c]set them ablaze," says the LORD of hosts, "so that it will leave them neither root nor branch."

2 "But for you who [1]fear My name, the [a]sun of righteousness will rise with [b]healing in its wings; and you will go forth and [c]skip about like calves from the stall.

3 "You will [a]tread down the wicked, for they will be [b]ashes under the soles of your feet [c]on the day [1]which I am preparing," says the LORD of hosts.

4 "[1a]Remember the law of Moses My servant, even the statutes and ordinances which I commanded him in Horeb for all Israel.

5 "Behold, I am going to send you [a]Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and terrible day of the LORD.

6 "He will [1a]restore the hearts of the fathers to their children and the hearts of the children to their fathers, so that I will not come and [b]smite the land with a [2]curse."

3:14 It is vain to serve God. Because the redemption they longed for had not yet been realized. walked in mourning. In sackcloth and ashes.

3:15 arrogant. Evildoers—those who challenge God (see note on Ps 10:11). blessed. In their unbelief, the Jews call blessed those whom the godly know to be cursed (see Ps 119:21)—but it is they who will be called blessed if they repent (v. 12). doers of wickedness built up . . . escape. Note the psalmist's struggle with the prosperity of the wicked in Ps 73:3,9–12.

3:16 those who feared the LORD. Those who had not given way to doubts and cynicism. spoke to one another. In the face of the widespread complaining against God (vv. 14–15), they sought mutual encouragement in fellowship. book of remembrance. Analogous to the records of notable deeds kept by earthly rulers (see Esth 6:1–3; Is 4:3; Dan 7:10; 12:1). esteem His name. Contrast the priests (1:12) and many among the people (vv. 14–15; 2:17).

3:17 My own possession. See note on Ex 19:5. spare them. In the day of judgment (see 4:1–2). who serves him. Cf. 1:6.

3:18 you will again distinguish. As they apparently do not now; hence their cynicism. the righteous and the wicked. See 2:17 and note.

4:1 the day. The day of the Lord (see v. 5; 3:2 and note). burning like a furnace. See 3:2–3; Is 1:31; 66:15–16 and notes. arrogant. See 3:15 and note. chaff . . . ablaze. See Is 47:14 and John the Baptist's prophecy about the work of Christ in Matt 3:12. neither root nor branch. Nothing of them will be left (see Ezek 17:8–9).

4:2 sun of righteousness. God and His glory are compared with the sun in Is 60:1,19 (see notes there). Christ is the "Sunrise" from heaven (see Luke 1:78–79; see also Is 9:2 and note). righteousness . . . healing. Salvation and renewal are intended (see Is 45:8; 46:13; 53:5; Jer 30:17 and notes). its wings. The sun's rays (cf. Ps 139:9). like calves from the stall. Frisky young calves often frolic about when released from confinement.

4:3 tread down the wicked. As one treads the wine press (see Is 63:2–3 and notes).

4:4 Remember the law. A final exhortation to those who impatiently wait for the Lord's coming. My servant. See Ex 14:31; Deut 34:5; Judg 2:8; Ps 18 title; Is 20:3; 41:8–9; 42:1 and notes. Horeb. Mount Sinai (cf. Ex 3:1).

4:5 See 3:1 and note. Elijah. As Elijah came before Elisha (whose ministry was one of judgment and redemption), so "Elijah" will be sent to prepare God's people for the Lord's coming. John the Baptist ministered "in the spirit and power of Elijah" (Luke 1:17; see Matt 11:13–14; 17:12–13; Mark 9:11–13). And some feel that Elijah may also be one of the two witnesses in Rev 11:3. great and terrible day. See v. 1; 3:2 and note; Joel 2:11,31.

4:6 restore the hearts. Cf. Gen 18:19; Deut 7:9–11. According to Luke 1:17 John the Baptist sought to accomplish this. curse. Total destruction. If Israel does not repent, she will be dealt with as God had dealt with Edom (see Is 34:5; cf. Mal 1:3–4).

From Malachi to Christ

THE PERSIAN PERIOD
450-330 B.C.

For about 200 years after Nehemiah's time the Persians controlled Judah, but the Jews were allowed to carry on their religious observances and were not interfered with. During this time Judah was ruled by high priests who were responsible to the Jewish government.

Rule of Alexander the Great

THE HELLENISTIC PERIOD
330-166 B.C.

In 333 B.C. the Persian armies stationed in Macedonia were defeated by Alexander the Great. He was convinced that Greek culture was the one force that could unify the world. Alexander permitted the Jews to observe their laws and even granted them exemption from tribute or tax during their sabbath years. When he built Alexandria in Egypt, he encouraged Jews to live there and gave them some of the same privileges he gave his Greek subjects. The Greek conquest prepared the way for the translation of the OT into Greek (Septuagint version) c.250 B.C.

Rule of the Ptolemies of Egypt

Rule of the Seleucids of Syria

THE HASMONEAN PERIOD
166-63 B.C.

When this historical period began, the Jews were being greatly oppressed. The Ptolemies had been tolerant of the Jews and their religious practices, but the Seleucid rulers were determined to force Hellenism on them. Copies of the Scriptures were ordered destroyed and laws were enforced with extreme cruelty. The oppressed Jews revolted, led by Judas the Maccabee.

THE ROMAN PERIOD
63 B.C. . . .

In the year 63 B.C. Pompey, the Roman general, captured Jerusalem, and the provinces of Palestine became subject to Rome. The local government was entrusted part of the time to princes and the rest of the time to procurators who were appointed by the emperors. Herod the Great was ruler of all Palestine at the time of Christ's birth.

The Time Between the Testaments

The time between the Testaments was one of ferment and change—a time of the realignment of traditional power blocs and the passing of a Near Eastern cultural tradition that had been dominant for almost 3,000 years.

In Biblical history, the approximately 400 years that separate the time of Nehemiah from the birth of Christ are known as the intertestamental period (c. 432–5 B.C.). Sometimes called the "silent" years, they were anything but silent. The events, literature and social forces of these years would shape the world of the NT.

History

With the Babylonian captivity, Israel ceased to be an independent nation and became a minor territory in a succession of larger empires. Very little is known about the latter years of Persian domination because the Jewish historian Josephus, our primary source for the intertestamental period, all but ignores them.

With Alexander the Great's acquisition of Palestine (332 B.C.), a new and more insidious threat to Israel emerged. Alexander was committed to the creation of a world united by Greek language and culture, a policy followed by his successors. This policy, called Hellenization, had a dramatic impact on the Jews.

At Alexander's death (323 B.C.) the empire he won was divided among his generals. Two of them founded dynasties—the Ptolemies in Egypt and the Seleucids in Syria and Mesopotamia—that would contend for control of Palestine for over a century.

The rule of the Ptolemies was considerate of Jewish religious sensitivities, but in 198 B.C. the Seleucids took control and paved the way for one of the most heroic periods in Jewish history.

The early Seleucid years were largely a continuation of the tolerant rule of the Ptolemies, but Antiochus IV Epiphanes (whose title means "God made manifest" and who ruled 175–164 B.C.) changed that when he attempted to consolidate his fading empire through a policy of radical Hellenization. While a segment of the Jewish aristocracy had already adopted Greek ways, the majority of Jews were outraged.

Antiochus's atrocities were aimed at the eradication of Jewish religion. He prohibited some of the central elements of Jewish practice, attempted to destroy all copies of the Torah (the Pentateuch) and required offerings to the Greek god Zeus. His crowning outrage was the erection of a statue of Zeus and the sacrificing of a pig in the Jerusalem temple itself.

Opposition to Antiochus was led by Mattathias, an elderly villager from a priestly family, and his five sons: Judas (Maccabeus), Jonathan, Simon, John and Eleazar. Mattathias destroyed a Greek altar established in his village, Modein, and killed Antiochus's emissary. This triggered the Maccabean revolt, a 24-year war (166–142 B.C.) that resulted in the independence of Judah until the Romans took control in 63 B.C.

The victory of Mattathias's family was Pyrrhic, however. With the death of his last son, Simon, the Hasmonean dynasty that they founded soon evolved into an aristocratic, Hellenistic regime sometimes hard to distinguish from that of the Seleucids. During the reign of Simon's son, John Hyrcanus, the orthodox Jews who had supported the Maccabees fell out of favor. With only a few exceptions, the rest of the Hasmoneans supported the Jewish Hellenizers. The Pharisees were actually persecuted by Alexander Janneus (102–76 B.C.).

The Hasmonean dynasty ended when, in 63 B.C., an expanding Roman empire intervened in a dynastic clash between the two sons of Janneus, Aristobulus II and Hyrcanus II. Pompey, the general who subdued the East for Rome, took Jerusalem after a three-month siege of the temple area, massacring priests in the performance of their duties and entering the holy of holies. This sacrilege began Roman rule in a way that Jews could neither forgive nor forget.

Literature

During these unhappy years of oppression and internal strife, the Jewish people produced a sizable body of literature that both recorded and addressed their era. Three of the more significant works are the Septuagint, the Apocrypha and the Dead Sea Scrolls.

Septuagint. Jewish legend says that 72 scholars, under the sponsorship of Ptolemy Philadelphus (c. 250 B.C.), were brought together on the island of Pharos, near Alexandria, where they produced a Greek translation of the OT in 72 days. From this tradition the Latin word for 70, "Septuagint," became the name attached to the translation. The Roman numeral for 70, LXX, is used as an abbreviation for it.

Behind the legend lies the probability that at least the Torah (the five books of Moses) was translated into Greek c. 250 B.C. for the use of the Greek-speaking Jews of Alexandria. The rest of the OT and some noncanonical books were also included in the LXX before the dawning of the Christian era, though it is difficult to be certain when.

The Septuagint quickly became the Bible of the Jews outside Palestine who, like the Alexandrians, no longer spoke Hebrew. It would be difficult to overestimate its influence. It made the Scriptures available both to the Jews who no longer spoke their ancestral language and to the entire Greek-speaking world. It later became the Bible of the early church. Also, its widespread popularity and use contributed to the retention of the Apocrypha by some branches of Christendom.

Apocrypha. Derived from a Greek word that means "hidden," Apocrypha has acquired the meaning "false," but in a technical sense it describes a specific body of writings. This collection consists of a variety of books and additions to canonical books that, with the exception of 2 Esdras (c. A.D. 90), were written during the intertestamental period. Their recognition as authoritative in Roman and Eastern Christianity is the result of a complex historical process.

The canon of the OT accepted by Protestants today was very likely established by the dawn of the second century A.D., though after the fall of Jerusalem and the destruction of the temple in 70. The precise scope of the OT was discussed among the Jews until the Council of Jamnia (c. 90). This Hebrew canon was not accepted by the early church, which used the Septuagint. In spite of disagreements among some of the church fathers as to which books were canonical and which were not, the Apocryphal books continued in common use by most Christians until the Reformation. During this period most Protestants decided to follow the original Hebrew canon while Rome, at the Council of Trent (1546) and more recently at the First Vatican Council (1869–70), affirmed the larger "Alexandrian" canon that includes the Apocrypha.

The Apocryphal books have retained their place primarily through the weight of ecclesiastical authority, without which they would not commend themselves as canonical literature. There is no clear evidence that Jesus or the apostles ever quoted any Apocryphal works as Scripture (but see note on Jude 14). The Jewish community that produced them repudiated them, and the historical surveys in the apostolic sermons recorded in Acts completely ignore the period they cover. Even the sober, historical account of 1 Maccabees is tarnished by numerous errors and anachronisms.

There is nothing of theological value in the Apocryphal books that cannot be duplicated in canonical Scripture, and they contain much that runs counter to its teachings. Nonetheless, this body of literature does provide a valuable source of information for the study of the intertestamental period.

Dead Sea Scrolls. In the spring of 1947 an Arab shepherd chanced upon a cave in the hills overlooking the southwestern shore of the Dead Sea that contained what has been called "the greatest manuscript discovery of modern times." The documents and fragments of documents found in those caves, dubbed the "Dead Sea Scrolls," included OT books, a few books of the Apocrypha, apocalyptic works, pseudepigrapha (books that purport to be the work of ancient heroes of the faith), and a number of books peculiar to the sect that produced them.

Approximately a third of the documents are Biblical, with Psalms, Deuteronomy and Isaiah—the books quoted most often in the NT—occurring most frequently. One of the most remarkable finds was a complete 24-foot-long scroll of Isaiah.

The Scrolls have made a significant contribution to the quest for a form of the OT texts most accurately reflecting the original manuscripts; they provide copies 1,000 years closer to the originals than were previously known. The understanding of Biblical Hebrew and Aramaic and knowledge of the development of Judaism between the Testaments have been increased significantly. Of great importance to readers of the Bible is the demonstration of the care with which OT texts were copied, thus providing objective evidence for the general reliability of those texts.

Social Developments

The Judaism of Jesus' day is, to a large extent, the result of changes that came about in response to the pressures of the intertestamental period.

Diaspora. The Diaspora (dispersion) of Israel begun in the exile accelerated during these years until a writer of the day could say that Jews filled "every land and sea."

Jews outside Palestine, cut off from the temple, concentrated their religious life in the study of the Torah and the life of the synagogue (see below). The missionaries of the early church began their Gentile ministries among the Diaspora, using their Greek translation of the OT.

Sadducees. In Palestine, the Greek world made its greatest impact through the party of the Sadducees. Made up of aristocrats, it became the temple party. Because of their position, the Sadducees had a vested interest in the status quo.

Relatively few in number, they wielded disproportionate political power and controlled the high priesthood. They rejected all religious writings except the Torah, as well as any doctrine (such as the resurrection) not found in those five books.

Synagogue. During the exile, Israel was cut off from the temple, divested of nationhood and surrounded by pagan religious practices. Her faith was threatened with extinction. Under these circumstances, the exiles turned their religious focus from what they had lost to what they retained—the Torah and the belief that they were God's people. They concentrated on the law rather than nationhood, on personal piety rather than sacramental rectitude, and on prayer as an acceptable replacement for the sacrifices denied to them.

When they returned from the exile, they brought with them this new form of religious expression, as well as the synagogue (its center), and Judaism became a faith that could be practiced wherever the Torah could be carried. The emphases on personal piety and a relationship with God, which characterized synagogue worship, not only helped preserve Judaism but also prepared the way for the Christian gospel.

Pharisees. As the party of the synagogue, the Pharisees strove to reinterpret the law. They built a "hedge" around it to enable Jews to live righteously before God in a world that had changed drastically since the days of Moses. Although they were comparatively few in number, the Pharisees enjoyed the support of the people and influenced popular opinion if not national policy. They were the only party to survive the destruction of the temple in A.D. 70 and were the spiritual progenitors of modern Judaism.

Essenes. An almost forgotten Jewish sect until the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Essenes were a small, separatist group that grew out of the conflicts of the Maccabean age. Like the Pharisees, they stressed strict legal observance, but they considered the temple priesthood corrupt and rejected much of the temple ritual and sacrificial system. Mentioned by several ancient writers, the precise nature of the Essenes is still not certain, though it is generally agreed that the Qumran community that produced the Dead Sea Scrolls was an Essene group.

Because they were convinced that they were the true remnant, these Qumran Essenes had separated themselves from Judaism at large and devoted themselves to personal purity and preparation for the final war between the "Sons of Light and the Sons of Darkness." They practiced an apocalyptic faith, looking back to the contributions of their "Teacher of Righteousness" and forward to the coming of two, and possibly three, Messiahs. The destruction of the temple in A.D. 70, however, seems to have delivered a death blow to their apocalyptic expectations.

Attempts have been made to equate aspects of the beliefs of the Qumran community with the origins of Christianity. Some have seen a prototype of Jesus in their "Teacher of Righteousness," and both John the Baptist and Jesus have been assigned membership in the sect. There is, however, only a superficial, speculative basis for these conjectures.

The New Testament

The Synoptic Gospels

A careful comparison of the four Gospels reveals that Matthew, Mark and Luke are noticeably similar, while John is quite different. The first three Gospels agree extensively in language, in the material they include, and in the order in which events and sayings from the life of Christ are recorded. (Chronological order does not appear to have been rigidly followed in any of the Gospels, however.) Because of this agreement, these three books are called the Synoptic Gospels (syn, "together with"; optic, "seeing"; thus "seeing together"). For an example of agreement in content see Matt 9:2–8; Mark 2:3–12; Luke 5:18–26. An instance of verbatim agreement is found in Matt 10:22a; Mark 13:13a; Luke 21:17. A mathematical comparison shows that 91 percent of Mark's Gospel is contained in Matthew, while 53 percent of Mark is found in Luke. Such agreement raises questions as to the origin of the Synoptic Gospels. Did the authors rely on a common source? Were they interdependent? Questions such as these constitute what is known as the Synoptic Problem. Several suggested solutions have been advanced:

1. The use of oral tradition. Some have thought that tradition had become so stereotyped that it provided a common source from which all the Gospel writers drew.

2. The use of an early Gospel. Some have postulated that the Synoptic authors all had access to an earlier Gospel, now lost.

3. The use of written fragments. Some have assumed that written fragments had been composed concerning various events from the life of Christ and that these were used by the Synoptic authors.

4. Mutual dependence. Some have suggested that the Synoptic writers drew from each other with the result that what they wrote was often very similar.

5. The use of two major sources. The most common view currently is that the Gospel of Mark and a hypothetical document, called Quelle (German for "source") or Q, were used by Matthew and Luke as sources for most of the materials included in their Gospels.

6. The priority and use of Matthew. Another view suggests that the other two Synoptics drew from Matthew as their main source.

7. A combination of most of the above. This theory assumes that the authors of the Synoptic Gospels made use of oral tradition, written fragments, mutual dependence on other Synoptic writers or on their Gospels, and the testimony of eyewitnesses.

INTRODUCTION

See "The Synoptic Gospels," p. 1361.

Author

The early church fathers were unanimous in holding that Matthew, one of the 12 apostles, was the author of this Gospel. However, the results of modern critical studies—in particular those that stress Matthew's alleged dependence on Mark for a substantial part of his Gospel—have caused some Biblical scholars to abandon Matthean authorship. Why, they ask, would Matthew, an eyewitness to the events of our Lord's life, depend so heavily on Mark's account? The best answer seems to be that he agreed with it and wanted to show that the apostolic testimony to Christ was not divided.

Matthew, whose name means "gift of the LORD," was a tax collector who left his work to follow Jesus (9:9–13). In Mark and Luke he is called by his other name, Levi.

Date and Place of Writing

The Jewish nature of Matthew's Gospel may suggest that it was written in Palestine, though many think it may have originated in Syrian Antioch. Some have argued on the basis of its Jewish characteristics that it was written in the early church period, possibly the early part of A.D. 50, when the church was largely Jewish and the gospel was preached to Jews only (Ac 11:19). However, those who have concluded that both Matthew and Luke drew extensively from Mark's Gospel date it later—after the Gospel of Mark had been in circulation for a period of time. See chart, p. 1361. Accordingly, some feel that Matthew would have been written in the late 50s or in the 60s. Others, who assume that Mark was written between 65 and 70, place Matthew in the 70s or even later.

Recipients

Since his Gospel was written in Greek, Matthew's readers were obviously Greek-speaking. They also seem to have been Jews. Many elements point to Jewish readership: Matthew's concern with fulfillment of the OT (he has more quotations from and allusions to the OT than any other NT author); his tracing of Jesus' descent from Abraham (1:1–17); his lack of explanation of Jewish customs (especially in contrast to Mark); his use of Jewish terminology (e.g., "kingdom of heaven" and "Father in heaven," where "heaven" reveals the Jewish reverential reluctance to use the name of God); his emphasis on Jesus' role as "Son of David" (1:1; 9:27; 12:23; 15:22; 20:30–31; 21:9,15; 22:41–45). This does not mean, however, that Matthew restricts his Gospel to Jews. He records the coming of the magi (non-Jews) to worship the infant Jesus (2:1–12), as well as Jesus' statement that the "field is the world" (13:38). He also gives a full statement of the Great Commission (28:18–20). These passages show that, although Matthew's Gospel is Jewish, it has a universal outlook.

Purpose

Matthew's main purpose is to prove to his Jewish readers that Jesus is their Messiah. He does this primarily by showing how Jesus in His life and ministry fulfilled the OT Scriptures. Although all the Gospel writers quote the OT, Matthew includes nine additional proof texts (1:22–23; 2:15; 2:17–18; 2:23; 4:14–16; 8:17; 12:17–21; 13:35; 27:9–10) to drive home his basic theme: Jesus is the fulfillment of the OT predictions of the Messiah. Matthew even finds the history of God's people in the OT recapitulated in some aspects of Jesus' life (see, e.g., his quotation of Hos 11:1 in 2:15). To accomplish his purpose Matthew also emphasizes Jesus' Davidic lineage (see Recipients above).

Structure

The way the material is arranged reveals an artistic touch. The whole Gospel is woven around five great discourses: (1) chs. 5—7; (2) ch. 10; (3) ch. 13; (4) ch. 18; (5) chs. 24—25. That this is deliberate is clear from the refrain that concludes each discourse: "When Jesus had finished these words," or similar phrases (7:28; 11:1; 13:53; 19:1; 26:1). The narrative sections, in each case, appropriately lead up to the discourses. The Gospel has a fitting prologue (chs. 1—2) and a challenging epilogue (28:16–20).

The fivefold division may suggest that Matthew has modeled his book on the structure of the Pentateuch (the first five books of the OT). He may also be presenting the gospel as a new Torah and Jesus as a new and greater Moses.

The Genealogy of Jesus the Messiah

1 The [1]record of the genealogy of [2]Jesus [3]the Messiah, [a]the son of David, [b]the son of Abraham:

2 Abraham [1]was the father of Isaac, [2]Isaac the father of Jacob, and Jacob the father of [3]Judah and his brothers.

3 Judah was the father of Perez and Zerah by Tamar, [a]Perez was the father of Hezron, and Hezron the father of [1]Ram.

4 Ram was the father of Amminadab, Amminadab the father of Nahshon, and Nahshon the father of Salmon.

5 Salmon was the father of Boaz by Rahab, Boaz was the father of Obed by Ruth, and Obed the father of Jesse.

6 Jesse was the father of David the king.

David [a]was the father of Solomon by [1]Bathsheba who had been the wife of Uriah.

7 Solomon [a]was the father of Rehoboam, Rehoboam the father of Abijah, and Abijah the father of [1]Asa.

8 Asa was the father of Jehoshaphat, Jehoshaphat the father of [1]Joram, and Joram the father of Uzziah.

9 Uzziah was the father of [1]Jotham, Jotham the father of Ahaz, and Ahaz the father of Hezekiah.

10 Hezekiah was the father of Manasseh, Manasseh the father of [1]Amon, and Amon the [a]father of Josiah.

11 Josiah became the father of [1]Jeconiah and his brothers, at the time of the [a]deportation to Babylon.

12 After the [a]deportation to Babylon: Jeconiah became the father of [1]Shealtiel, and Shealtiel the father of Zerubbabel.

13 Zerubbabel was the father of [1]Abihud, Abihud the father of Eliakim, and Eliakim the father of Azor.

14 Azor was the father of Zadok, Zadok the father of Achim, and Achim the father of Eliud.

15 Eliud was the father of Eleazar, Eleazar the father of Matthan, and Matthan the father of Jacob.

16 Jacob was the father of Joseph the husband of Mary, by whom Jesus was born, [a]who is called [1]the Messiah.

17 So all the generations from Abraham to David are fourteen generations; from David to the [a]deportation to Babylon, fourteen generations; and from the [a]deportation to Babylon to [1]the Messiah, fourteen generations.

Conception and Birth of Jesus

18 Now the birth of Jesus [1]Christ was as follows: when His [a]mother Mary had been [2]betrothed to Joseph, before they came together she was [b]found to be with child by the Holy Spirit.

19 And Joseph her husband, being a righteous man and not wanting to disgrace her, planned [1][a]to send her away secretly.

1:1–16 For a comparison of Matthew's genealogy with Luke's see note on Luke 3:23–38. The types of people mentioned in this genealogy reveal the broad scope of those who make up the people of God as well as the genealogy of Jesus.

1:1 the son of David. A Messianic title (see note on 9:27) found several times in this Gospel (in 1:20 it is not a Messianic title). the son of Abraham. Because Matthew was writing to Jews, it was important to identify Jesus in this way.

1:3 Tamar. In Matthew's genealogy four women are named: Tamar (here), Rahab (v. 5), Ruth (v. 5) and Bathsheba (v. 6). At least three of these women were Gentiles (Tamar, Rahab and Ruth). Bathsheba was probably an Israelite (1 Chr 3:5) but was closely associated with the Hittites because of Uriah, her Hittite husband. By including these women (contrary to custom) in his genealogy, Matthew may be indicating at the very outset of his Gospel that God's activity is not limited to men or the people of Israel.

1:4 Amminadab. Father-in-law of Aaron (Ex 6:23).

1:5 Rahab. See Josh 2. Since quite a long time had elapsed between Rahab and David and because of Matthew's desire for systematic organization (see note on v. 17), many of the generations between these two ancestors were assumed, but not listed, by Matthew.

1:8 Joram the father. Matthew calls Joram the father of Uzziah, but from 2 Chr 21:4–26:23 it is clear that, again, several generations were assumed (Ahaziah, Joash and Amaziah) and that "father" is used in the sense of "forefather."

1:11 Josiah became the father. Similarly (see note on v. 8), Josiah is called the father of Jeconiah (i.e., Jehoiachin; see NASB marg.), whereas he was actually the father of Jehoiakim and the grandfather of Jehoiachin (2 Chr 36:1–9).

1:12 Shealtiel the father. See note on 1 Chr 3:19.

1:16 Matthew does not say that Joseph was the father of Jesus but only that he was the husband of Mary and that Jesus was born of her. In this genealogy Matthew shows that, although Jesus is not the physical son of Joseph, He is the legal son and therefore a descendant of David.

1:17 fourteen generations... fourteen... fourteen. These divisions reflect two characteristics of Matthew's Gospel: (1) an apparent fondness for numbers and (2) concern for systematic arrangement. The number 14 may have been chosen because it is twice seven (the number of completeness) and/or because it is the numerical value of the name David (see note on Rev 13:17). For the practice of telescoping genealogies to achieve the desired number of names see Introduction to 1 Chronicles: Genealogies.

1:18 had been betrothed. There were no sexual relations during a Jewish betrothal period, but it was a much more binding relationship than a modern engagement and could be broken only by divorce (see v. 19). In Deut 22:24 a betrothed woman is called a "wife," though the preceding verse speaks of her as being "engaged to a man." Matthew uses the terms "husband" (v. 19) and "wife" (v. 24) of Joseph and Mary before they were married.

1:19 righteous. To Jews this meant being zealous in keeping the law. send her away secretly. He would sign the necessary legal papers but not have her judged publicly and stoned (see Deut 22:23–24).

20 But when he had considered this, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, "[a]Joseph, son of David, do not be afraid to take Mary as your wife; for [1]the Child who has been [2]conceived in her is of the Holy Spirit.

21 "She will bear a Son; and [a]you shall call His name Jesus, for [1]He [b]will save His people from their sins."

22 Now all this [1]took place to fulfill what was [a]spoken by the Lord through the prophet:

23 "[a]BEHOLD, THE VIRGIN SHALL BE WITH [b]CHILD AND SHALL BEAR A SON, AND THEY SHALL CALL HIS NAME [1]IMMANUEL," which translated means, "[c]GOD WITH US."

24 And Joseph [1]awoke from his sleep and did as the angel of the Lord commanded him, and took Mary as his wife,

25 [1]but kept her a virgin until she [a]gave birth to a Son; and [b]he called His name Jesus.

The Visit of the Magi

2 Now after Jesus was [a]born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of [b]Herod the king, [1]magi from the east arrived in Jerusalem, saying,

2 "Where is He who has been born [a]King of the Jews? For we saw [b]His star in the east and have come to worship Him."

3 When Herod the king heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.

20 [1]Lit that which [2]Lit begotten [a]Luke 2:4
21 [1]Lit He Himself [a]Luke 1:31; 2:21 [b]Luke 2:11; John 1:29; Acts 4:12; 5:31; 13:23, 38, 39; Col 1:20-23
22 [1]Lit has happened [a]Luke 24:44; Rom 1:2-4
23 [1]Or Emmanuel [a]Is 7:14 [b]Is 9:6, 7 [c]Is 8:10
24 [1]Lit got up
25 [1]Lit and was not knowing her [a]Luke 2:7 [b]Matt 1:21; Luke 2:21

2 [a]Jer 23:5; 30:9; Zech 9:9; Matt 27:11; Luke 19:38; 23:38; John 1:49 [b]Num 24:17

4 Gathering together all the chief priests and scribes of the people, he inquired of them where the [1]Messiah was to be born.

5 They said to him, "[a]In Bethlehem of Judea; for this is what has been written [1]by the prophet:

6 '[a]AND YOU, BETHLEHEM, LAND OF JUDAH, ARE BY NO MEANS LEAST AMONG THE LEADERS OF JUDAH;
FOR OUT OF YOU SHALL COME FORTH A RULER
WHO WILL [b]SHEPHERD MY PEOPLE
ISRAEL.' "

7 Then Herod secretly called the magi and determined from them [1]the exact time [a]the star appeared.

8 And he sent them to Bethlehem and said, "Go and search carefully for the Child; and when you have found Him, report to me, so that I too may come and worship Him."

9 After hearing the king, they went their way; and the star, which they had seen in the east, went on before them until it came and stood over the place where the Child was.

10 When they saw the star, they rejoiced exceedingly with great joy.

11 After coming into the house they saw the Child with [a]Mary His mother; and they [1]fell to the ground and [b]worshiped Him.

4 [1]Gr Christos (Christ)
5 [1]Or through [a]John 7:42

11 [1]Lit prostrated; i.e. face down in a prone position to indicate worship [a]Matt 1:18; 12:46 [b]Matt 14:33

1:20 in a dream. The phrase occurs five times in the first two chapters of Matthew (here; 2:12–13,19,22) and indicates the means the Lord used for speaking to Joseph. son of David. Perhaps a hint that the message of the angel related to the expected Messiah. take Mary as your wife. They were legally bound to each other, but not yet living together as husband and wife. the Child who has been conceived in her is of the Holy Spirit. This agrees perfectly with the announcement to Mary (Luke 1:35), except that the latter is more specific (see note on Luke 1:26–35).
1:21 Jesus . . . will save. Jesus is the Greek form of Joshua, which means "The LORD saves"
1:22 fulfill. Twelve times (here; 2:15,23; 3:15; 4:14; 5:17; 8:17; 12:17; 13:14,35; 21:4; 27:9) Matthew speaks of the OT being fulfilled, i.e., of events in NT times that were prophesied in the OT—a powerful testimony to the divine origin of Scripture and its accuracy even in small details. In the fulfillments we also see the writer's concern for linking the gospel with the OT.
1:23 See note on Is 7:14. This is the first of at least 47 quotations, most of them Messianic, that Matthew takes from the OT (see marg. refs. throughout Matthew).
1:25 kept her a virgin until she gave birth. Both Matthew and Luke (1:26–35) make it clear that Jesus was born of a virgin. Although this doctrine is often ridiculed, it is an important part of the evangelical faith.
